Your parents use you as a scapegoat and that ISN’T OKAY. Georgie’s accident was not your fault, your being trans does not lessen your value as their kid, and you have a right to feel happy and safe and supported. We’re definitely not more than you deserve, if anything you deserve more than we can offer.

Mother: would you care to explain why your seven year old brother made his own way home from school and had to look after himself in an empty house for three hours?
Mother: that’s ridiculously irresponsible, emily.
Mother: he could have been kidnapped, or hurt, or worse.
Mother: you are GROUNDED for the next month young lady delicate man boy dude: Hi, Mrs. Denbrough, it’s Stanley. BILL wasn’t able to collect Georgie today because HE was in hospital at pickup time. HIS arm is broken, and we’ve agreed that HE won’t be staying home until we know HE will be safe from further injury under your care. Please stay away from BILL. :)
Mother: listen here you bitchy little madam, stay the fuck out of my business with my daughter and tell her to come home this fucking minute

Ridiculous: Hey mom, I’m staying at Beverly’s this evening. Bill was hurt at home and I had to take him to the hospital, we don’t want t send him back to his parents. I’ll be in school on time tomorrow and home after, I just don’t want to leave him alone.
Mom: Totally fine sweetie, send Billy my love. Tell him he always has a place in our home x Ridiculous: Thanks mom, I love you.
Mom: No problem, kiddo. I love you son x
Mom: Bring Billy with you tomorrow, have him stay over. I’ll get the spare room set up.
