You rebubble the memory thinking it will bring you joy. But it doesn't. No matter how many memories you like or hate or rebubble, you are always left with an empty feeling in your soul. Like your existence is truly as meaningless as one would expect it to be out in the middle of an endless void amidst colossal hideous monsters. Why do you do this to yourself? And yet, you cannot stop...

Continue down the path. A very short distance away is Kanaya, who stands next to the tip of a dersite tower in the sand. Another dersite tower rise out of the water behind her. Two options appear when you interact with Kanaya.

Rebubble this memory

You rebubble the memory and immediately spark a flame war among others who rebubble it. They chime in to the memory, adding their two boonpennies. The hostile rhetoric begins to pile up, and soon you try to trace the argument from the beginning in a linear fashion. But you can't. It is pure chaos, as the bubbles have hopelessly dispersed throughout the ring, reducing any coherence the argument once had into shrieking white noise. The dark gods enjoy another small victory over order and reason.

Rebubble this memory

You rebubble it while appending a sassy editorial remark to the content. But the joke doesn't go over too well, and people start calling you out on it. You decide to pop the bubble and put it to rest before it really embarrasses you. But later people dredge up old bubbles containing their memories of your rebubbled memory, and throw it back in your face. That rebubble may come back to haunt you again and again until the day your soul dies, which sadly, may be never.

There's a chest just south of Kanaya. Open it.

You got a Sewing Machine!

Oooooh this looks Really expensive, you bet you could... wait. What's she looking at? The Maryam girl is looking at you funny. What, is this thing hers? You don't want to start any trouble over this dumb gizmo. You slowly put it back in the chest, very casually like it ain't no thing.

(hashtag) you'll come back and swipe it later when she's not around

Despite this statement, the chest stays open and empty. After your blatant theft of the sewing machine, head south. The ground stops being a beach and starts being the top of a castle with purple tiles and a large purple rug with gold trim and a darker purple pentagon in the center. Go towards the edge of the castle and out onto a turret on the east side. There's a chest there.

You got a Fuchsia Potion!

Legend says this enchanted potion is supposed to - oh god it's more troll blood. Wait this is royal blood. What an absolute outrage that probably some commoner had the audacity to draw royal blood. You are almost mad enough not to not give a shit.

(hashtag) you chuck it over the edge (hashtag) glass shatters (hashtag) someone below says 'ow'

Head west, to a larger turret. Open the chest there.

An orange oven floats out of the chest.

You got a Juju!

What's up with all these jujus lying around? Jujus are very wide ranging sorts of magical objects. You never know what form they'll take. This one is particularly useless though. It has the power to travel through time. Into the future only, though.

(hashtag) at exactly one second per second

Keep going west. There's another chest to the north, where the tiles meet the water.

You got a Dersite Tabloid!

Says some human girl is dead. You don't recognize her. Inside is the usual kind of sensationalizing sleaze you're used to seeing from these. You spent a long time on Derse during your game. You always enjoyed reading these. They were almost always about assassinations.

(hashtag) some of which were yours

Keep going west, past two more turrets. The pathway narrows to the point that it's barely passable, then opens up at the westmost turret. Dave stands there next to an ebubble, and what looked like a pillar was actually part of a wall. Two paths come off of the turret: a stairway to the west and a hallway to the south. When you interact with Dave, three options appear.

You rebubble the memory and are about to get on with your day, when you notice something weird in your feed. It seems like a spamghost has hacked your soul, and has been rebubbling weird advertisements to your followers for the last... 50 MILLION SWEEPS?? This is a disaster. You have almost no followers left. Most of the ads are for gross horroterror porn and flagella erectile medication. Ugh

Go down the west set of stairs. They lead down to a small area with two ebubbles and two chests.
Open the north one.

You got a Ribbitar!

Foes everywhere tremble at the mere sight of this lethal amphibious scourge. So overwhelming is their terror that... ha ha, yeah right. This sword is almost too ridiculous for words. It's a nice conversation piece though.

(hashtag) aw shit is that made of ruby???(hashtag) Come to Mama

Open the south chest. Hussie pokes his head out.

Talk.

Once again, his words are in plain black with no name prefacing them.

Hey! Get lost kid, this is my hiding place.
Can't you see english is coming for me???
(hashtag) dota (hashtag) uh (hashtag) again
He is coming for us all.

Go back up the stairs, then down the corridor. A new area loads. It's more of the Dersite palace the beach became. You walk south, down the rest of the hallway, and through an incredibly ornate pointed archway flanked by two skinny pillars with pointed tops. This leads into a small-ish, octagonal room. The east and west sides butt up to walls, which run perpendicularly away from them. These walls are made of large purple bricks with tall support struts every few feet. Intricately carved, pointed detailing that matches the archway lines the bottom. On the south wall of the room, there's an even larger archway with much less detail. A stairway leads down to a lower level, where a large purple rug covers a lot of the floor. There are many chests along the back wall and a few on the side walls. Start at the one just east of the stairs and go around the room clockwise.

You got a Whole Stack of Boondollars!

Keep em coming! You'll be rich again in no time. Pretty soon you'll own this place. Right after you save it from destruction, of course.

(hashtag) how does this factor into the big silly tumblr metaphor (hashtag) shrug
Next chest.

You got a Whole Heap of Boondollars!

(hashtag) mo money (hashtag) (smiley face wearing a tiara and sunglasses)
Some of these messages don't really make sense unless you're being Meenah, but you're not going to let that bother you.

(hashtag) D.W.I
Next chest.

You got a Ragripper!

A popular model from the Demonbane line of chainsaws. At least, it was popular on Alternia. Your planet wasn't nearly badass enough for this thing to be sold legally. Beforus was so lame.

(hashtag) lame planet (hashtag) lame planet names
As you reach the east wall, you see another troll and a small blue bubble in another room of the palace, but this one's yellow. The troll is wearing a low cut black dress with jade lines crisscrossing the bodice. The skirt is shorter in the front and the back trails into a short train. There are black lines on her arms and her horns look like Kanaya's. Ignore her for now and head south to the next chest. About halfway down the room, the purple tiles fade to yellow.

Open the next chest.

A purple egg timer floats out of the chest.

You got a Juju!

Looks like a magic Egg Timer, which you can use to travel through time, haphazardly and stupidly. It's the type of item that's severely prone to making a mess of the timeline. Need a Juju Breaker to destroy such an item and repair the damage it's done. But that kind of thing is extremely rare-to-nonexistent. You don't have a single good guess what form such an item could take.

(hashtag) ok you pried one hint out of me (hashtag) the number 7

Go west, across the now yellow room. Halfway across it, there's a turret with a set of stairs leading to another area. The stairs have a green rug and green handrails. Ignore it for now. You have more chests to open!

Keep going west and open the next chest.

A set of metal cuffs in the shape of the cancer symbol float out of the chest.

You got some Authentic Religious Memorabilia!

These were the doodads adult post-scratch Vantas was chained up with when he died. You bet Serket would fork over a ton of gold for this junk. Religious nuts are some of the biggest suckers around.

(hashtag) irons (hashtag) sufferer (hashtag) authentic (hashtag) (or as authentic as phantom ghost memory items get)

Go north, to the last three chests.

Calliope's cosplay horns float out of the first chest.

You got a Pair of Horns!

This is the most ridiculous thing you've ever seen. Why would anyone want to wear a second pair of horns? Unless maybe they were compensating for a particularly nubby pair... oh, you got it! Humans wear these to pretend to be trolls, and also be less stupid looking. These clearly belonged to a human.

(hashtag) case closed

Next chest.

You got a Lance!

Who's memory is this? This thing has really made the rounds. Let's see, Tavros had it, but then was impaled by it. The Black Queen had it, and used it as a cigarette holder sometimes, when she was Snowman. Spades Slick wielded it while riding around on a horse hitcher once. Snowman killed Quarters with it, you think. That happened in the top banner though, so you might have missed it...

(hashtag) meenah has no idea what we're talking about
A pendant in the shape of a cancer symbol floats out of the last chest.

You got a Sufferer Pendant!

Exhibiting the Sign of the Signless. The story of the Sufferer got really popular among your old crew as a kind of religious fad, after everyone died and learned the stories of their post-scratch lives. Aranea especially seems to have bought into this nonsense hook line and sinker. She never wore anything like that around her neck before she died. You wonder if people have gotten so into it just to bug Vantas? You just know it probably pisses him off, seeing people wear this thing all the time.

(hashtag) heheh (hashtag) now that you think of it (hashtag) maybe you'll wear one too

That's all the loot in this room, so go back to the south side of the room and go down the stairs with the green carpet. The stairway is short and flanked by Dersite and Prospitian towers. It leads onto a small landing, then another staircase continues down to the east. Karkat and another troll stand on the landing. The other troll looks almost identical to Karkat except for the fact that his eyes are white and he's wearing a bright red sweater and shoes where Karkat still wears his hemo-anon grey symbol on a black shirt.

Talk to Karkat.

Hey, it's shouty! But it looks like he's severely embroiled in a really heavy discussion with your team's Vantas. You really don't feel like getting involved.

Listen in on conversation?

(hashtag) eavesdropping (hashtag) rude

Yes.

Note: The dead troll in the red sweater, Kankri, speaks in bright red, replaces all Os with 9s and all Bs with 6s.

Kankri: Now I realize we've been at this for some time already, but at the risk of derailing the dialogue you initiated, and may I just say how thrilled I am that you did, Karkat, I would just like to qualify my entire analysis of your "Alternian culture" by saying that in contrast with life on beforus, while your people may have been engaged in violent, lethal class struggle for millions of sweeps, by no means does this imply that the beforan way of life was entirely without problematic elements, perhaps even more disturbing and insidious for their lack of acknowledgement and open discussion, particularly as a consequence of what in my view were widely and dismayingly unexamined systemic social injustices resulting from the entrenched power dynamics in play, dynamics strikingly similar to those of your planet's markedly more bellicose iteration, which has only served to fully vindicate my hypothesis that such a hierarchy is really predicated on intrinsic dysfunction, and failure to shift all the usual narratives and undiagnosed problems into an open, judgment-free discourse through which problematic issues are constructively channeled into more intelligently problematized avenues of discussion.

Kankri: Now before I continue, it is only decent of me to warn you about certain triggers that are surely ahead in this essay. I mean conversation. Triggers include but likely will not be limited to class oppression, culling culture and violence against grubs, lusus abuse, complementary and analogous hate speech, pail filling, slurs and other concupiscent fluids, lifespan shaming, ableist slurs, prolix dissertation... Actually, maybe it would be easier for you to list your triggers, and I'll do my best to avoid those topics, or navigate them more delicately, if at all possible?

Karkat: (Note: he stares with a an expression of slack-jawed shock. He continues to do this through the entire conversation)

Kankri: Great. It sounds like you don't have any triggers, at least none that you know about. I'll proceed with caution nevertheless. Just please let me know if you start feeling triggered by anything I'm saying, and we can take a brief time-out while you summon your moirail to help pacify you, assuming you have one. Not that I'm presuming you do, but I heard that you did, is that correct? If not, I apologize. I further apologize if your orientation precludes the possibility, as a pale aromantic, panquadrant demiromantic, something in the gray palesexual department or such, and hopefully you are not triggered by such presumptuous concillianormative language. It wouldn't be the first time I was guilty of such an inexcusable microaggression, and I am not so oblivious to my own romantic privilege to believe it will be the last time either.

Kankri: I'm glad I brought up the subject of unexamined privilege, because it dovetails beautifully with the point I was about to make regarding beforan society and its savage umbral potentiality which later manifested through the kind of Alternian brutality you are all too familiar with. Those in the higher echelons of the hemospectrum such as the ceruleans, or "blue bloods" (careful, being loose with such terminology is opening the floodgates to a whole host of toxic signist language and hemophobic slurs), when addressing the challenges faced by those lower on the spectrum, such as the midhues or in particular warm castes like umbers, ochres, or "rust bloods" (another slur, highly problematic, deeply offensive and triggering terminology, strongly imploring you steer clear of this term), they would be well advised to check their cerulean privilege, particularly before dismissing hardships or marginalizing claims of oppression, which can be difficult for them to identify or empathize with from their advantageous position within the beforan/Alternian power structures.

Kankri: And some may argue that in our peaceful "utopian" culture that we have freed ourselves from injustice and disparities in privilege in a post-scarcity economy, largely equal rights distributed across the hemospectrum, and therefore exist in a "post-spectral world" (laugh out loud), and therefore there is no need to champion important social causes and there is nothing left to debate, but really nothing could be further from the truth. You just need to educate yourself and carefully investigate the longstanding power dynamics in play. For instance, a seemingly "harmless" remark from a cisblooded cerulean toward an umber or God forbid a burgundy or yes even a warm-identifying physically-cooler caste, about their very long term future plans such as on the order of centuries, then this may prove to be a very hurtful microagression due to the fact that lowhues cannot possibly live that long themselves, and the more priviliged caste could easily outlive dozens of generations of midhues or hundreds of generations of bUoYs (burgundy-umber-ochre-yellowgreens, note please avoid describing the lattermost as "lime bloods" as it has historically been used as an especially vicious epithet). Such remarks can further trigger painful reminders of how cooler castes, to some extent oJAs, but CIPs and Royal-Vs in particular, have been able to use their tremendous lifespans over the millenia to gain a stranglehold over the social order, have been able to completely dictate our societal evolution by ensuring only their cultural agendas and narratives receive the dialogue's air supply, assuring the codification of those resultant ideals and deciding what "normalcy" entails, and sadly these absolutes become internalized across the full spectral range, even within those of most compromised privilege, and so you begin to see the cyclical nature of the dysfunction and the resulting inertia against positive change and raising awareness of the most underproblematized issues, which I think we can agree, is pretty problematic.

(Hashtag) post spectral world (Hashag) lol (Hashag) bUoYs (Hashag) oJAs (Hashag) CIPs (Hashag) Royal Vs (Hashag) narratives (Hashag) agendas (Hashag) narratives (Hashag) lifespan privilege (Hashag) dysfunction (Hashag) awareness (Hashag) agendas

Karkat:

Kankri: And really, it's everyone's business to examine their privilege, even burgundies, who may be subject to the pitfall of believing incorrectly there are none on the scale beneath them whom they enjoy certain privileges over, which off-spectrum trolls will never know, such as those identifying as otherbloods or caste-multiples, "polyblooded", any who hemoglobically ID as having a caste which manifests nowhere (as yet known) in anyone physically, or for that matter offspecs who physically do possess such a blood type, or "mutants" (Very problematic term, highly triggering to some, be warned), such as you and I, Karkat. but this puts us both in a situation which to our knowledge uniquely allows us to understand and empathize with tragically underprivileged and unempowered groups across all scuttles of life, thus affording us both what I like to call a "uniquely underprivileged privilege", which, yes, is a kind of privilege we should both strive to check as well, whenever we can. This same uniquely underprivileged perspective as I'm sure you know was disadvantaged upon my post-scratch iteration as well, and while I have no doubt you justifiably came to revere that figure of your planet's rich history and your personal lineage, and while his goals of peace, equality, and a truly spectrablind society, I'm afraid I personally have trouble condoning his methods. I don't like to use the term "problematic" lightly, but, well, his tactics were nothing if not massively problematic, to say the least, employing violent uprising to effect change, and emblazoning his mark upon history and his faithful followers with the salty flourish of a single rude, shouted swear word, it's not to my taste even though he is who I would have grown up to be in another life. but no, I prefer to effect social change through rational, honest discourse and contributing to ongoing dialogues, focusing on what should be the real goals, through keen adherence to the discipline of Problematics, ensuring that we stay focused on successfully problematizing a wide range of direly undercomplicated social dilemmas.

Karkat:

Kankri: It's nice to see we agree on so much. Maybe we are not so unalike, despite our drastically different upbringings. Anyway, as I was saying, the story of your ancestor, and more importantly my exhaustive list of misgivings with his approach to social change, is quite a long and elaborate one, but it actually fits brilliantly within the larger mosaic which captures the broad strokes of my post. I mean our discussion. Trigger warnings for the following content include: ancestor bashing, faith shaming, loud swearing, torture, burn wounds, ship sinking... again, seriously, just let me know if you begin to feel triggered by anything, even slightly. We'll pause and see if we can really explore those issues, and identify exactly how I may have invalidated your struggles. Without further ado, the story is as follows:

Karkat:

Rebubble this memory
Oops. That memory you just rebubbled was in violation of the furthest ring’s content policy. The administrators (horrorerrors) have suspended your soul and you are now blocked from rebubbling memories (unless you really want to).

Leave Kankri to his rambling and go down the stairs to the east, which are flanked by even more dersite and prospit towers. This staircase is incredibly long and deposits you in a dersite hallway that fades to Prospit a short distance away. Where the Derse and Prospit areas meet, there's another hallway heading north in addition to the eastern prospit hallway. Head north first.

You enter a purple, octagonal room, just like the one you first encountered in this area. In the north archway, there is a chest.

Spades Slick's horse hitcher cane, which Scratch tied into a knot, floats out.

You got a Pretzeled Horse Hitcher!

Who could have done this to such a fine, cast iron steed? Whoever it was must have been incredibly strong, incredibly smug, and incredibly floppy when shaken.

(hashtag) an incredible host

Leave the purple tower and head down the eastern hallway. At the east end, there's a set of purple stairs with a red carpet running up it. Ascend. It comes to a small landing with a short stairway heading north, to another landing. On this landing, there's a chest and another set of stairs that head west. Open the chest.

You got a Troll Romance Novel!

Wow, this sure is some steamy, trashy literature here. It's making you perspire a little, and you're only three sentences into the title. Doesn't seem like anyone's looking. Maybe you'll just take one little peek inside... Whoops, it just disappeared in a blur again. God damn it.

(hashtag) Laaaaalooooonde!!!!!!!!!!

This time, there is space for something to be under the stairs, so, like any good explorer, go check there. There are two chests!

Open the west one.

You got a Magic Cue Ball!

Hey, is this thing a juju too? It's a shame you can't see through its surface, or you'd be able to ask it yourself. This is another thing that's kind of unnerving to find here. Good thing it's only a memory object, right?

(hashtag) right (hashtag) ... (hashtag) maybe

Now open the east one.

You got a Regisickle!

Perfect for threshing royalty with. You could almost say you could use it to... thresh princes.

(hashtag) troll will smith

Now loop back around and head up the stairs. Halfway up, the purple stone fades to yellow, and the red rug fades to green. It leads up onto yet another landing with a chest and a short, northern staircase. Open the chest.

You got a bunch of Licorice Scottie Dogs!

Oh man, these were a Delicacy on your planet. The most valuable treat per-pound by far. You have to be a very, very wealthy person to keep a great supply of these on hand. By selling these, you should be able to make most of your fortune back in one fell swoop!!!!!

(hashtag) except you just ate most of them (hashtag) worth it

Head north, up the stairs.

As you step up onto a wall, a very cool troll does a sick skateboard trick and lands in front of you. She's wearing square, red glasses, a teal shirt with a red Libra symbol on it, black pants, and red boots with teal cuffs. Her horns look like Terezi's. She holds her skateboard under one arm and puts her hand on her cocked hip. When you interact with her, three options appear.

Ask Latula to join.
Be Latula.

Talk to Latula

Her talksprite appears. She has shoulder length black hair and a very wide smile. She speaks in teal and uses the A to 4, I to 1, E to 3 replacement, like Terezi, but the rest of the letters aren't in all caps. She also types 'girl' as 'grl'

Latula: damn girrrr!!!!
you finally made it! high five!!!
(hashtag) (very happy face with glasses and furrowed brows) Meenah: you know it
i am so fuckin ghostly now (hashtag) oOoOoO
Latula: right on girl!!!!! dream bubz rule!
4-life 4 LYFE!!!
Meenah: wha
Latula: ahaha yeah. that should have sounded like "a life for lyfe" like 'A' as in after, but spoken as a number, then 'a' as a homonym for the preposition and stuff!!!!
(hashtag) spoken quirk confusion you know how it is. a girlz gotta sacrifice understandability for the sake of radness sometimez.
Meenah: preachin to the group of coral singers pyrope Latula: coral singers? oh you mean choir, i get it!!! but coral as in the funky shit underwater instead, hahah?
still rocking the fish punz i see. well thats not really the kind of radness i was talking about, but ill let it slide.
(hashtag) punz (hashtag) kind of lame Meenah: hey fuck you!
cant believe yall go shitting on my fish puns right outta the blowhole like that as if your numbers bs and jacking zees on the end a words is any more rad than my baller wordplay (hashtag) or should i say (hashtag) (s)word(fish)play? (hashtag) nah that sux Meenah: i mean your skating and stunts are objectively rad ill give you that but you need to get off your high seahorse because practically Nofin else about you is especially radder than average Latula: oh chill axe paycheck!!! i am so jerking your fork!
i know weve had our issuez before. but i could always see you had tru radgirl cred. you dont even know how hard it was towing the Rad Load all by myself with you gone for so long!!!!
(hashtag) towing loads harshes my grinds do you even know how lame of a scene it is being the only legit in your face powergaming girl in a bunch of bubbles full of brutal poserz??? what im saying is, im psyched to have you back mp. hey hit me up top!
(hashtag) Hi FIVE Meenah: uh sure still wearing out the highfives i sea even after like what eternity?
(hashtag) still dont know how time works here
Latula: fuck yeah girl.
Oh!!!! ever even got to congratulate you on how wicked your rad suicide bomb plan was! (very happy face with glasses and furrowed brows) (hashtag) killed the shit out of us never saw it coming!!!! sure never smelled it coming, heh.
way smart. timing it just before the scratch, so that god tierz didnt have a chance to revive before the reset, thus ironically leaving them to be erased from existence.
(hashtag) not that that really even needed explaining?
that just occurred to me recently. wuz opening the meal vault to make a freakin ghost snack when i wuz like. Shit!!!! paaaaaaaycheck!!! I said, all shaking my fist.
hahaha, dont leave me hangin girl. (very happy face with glasses and furrowed brows)
(hashtag) HI FIVE
Meenah: k one more pyrope but thats it i dig a good highfive as much as the next badgirl but my cod (hashtag) hi5 fatigue
Meenah: got this fresh pimp ghost bod looking fine as fuck i dont need to callous up my palms already
Meenah: havent you heard an empress needs hands so soft you can use em to polish gold with???

Rebubble this memory

You rebubble the memory but before you do... You shit all over it! You really rip into the original author of the memory, and treat it to a scathing review. You don't have much to say that's original, and you don't feel very good about yourself, so you might as well base your entire afterlife presence on hostile smear tactics to get attention for yourself that you would struggle to attract otherwise. The horroterrors refer to you as The Chosen One, and fantasize about you when they copulate.

Ask Latula to join.

Meenah: question
Latula: shoot babez.
Meenah: seeing as what a hot shit gamer gurl you have a reputation for and all i figured you would be a lock to join my party to go fuck up clamilord or whoever (hashtag) lord of clams
Latula: wait. who???
Meenah: skull guy
kills ghosts
Latula: errr nope. help me out paymoney.
Meenah: dont you keep up with current events
(hashtag) current like water current yessss
Latula: tchhh, youre reminding me why i thought you were crazy mp. just freakin spill it.
Meenah: the shit in the sky it cracked
a monster did that
Do you want to go help me kill the bad guy??????
Latula: oh why didnt you say so!!!
sounds like a rad plan and you know how i feel about the radplanz....
Meenah: but??
Latula: hate to be a buzzkill but... its been what.
approximately Hella yearz since i did any fighting????
kind of rusty. shit dont let kk know i said rusty, ahaha.
(hashtag) tw (hashtag) hemophobic slurs Meenah: so Latula: so im saying i had Scadz of time to perfect this Killer Hand Plant!!! (very happy face with glasses and furrowed brows) wanna seeee?
Meenah: no pretty sure dont give much a shit about a trick you do on your four wheel device tho i will say
"scads" is actually a fish pun you made probly on accident which kind of makes me want to give you a hug so it balances out your dumb shit answer (hashtag) fish puns are (hashtag) my one weakness (frowning face)
Latula: im sorry m.p.. i really am!!! feel like such a wet snuggleplane bailing on you like this.
(hashtag) tho maybe you like wet snuggleplanes? (hashtag) since you can live under water?
I should probably run it by m.t. see what he thinks.
Meenah: oh shit you and captor thats still a thing after all this pseudotime or Latula: haha yeaaah.
Meenah: still red??????
(hashtag) (gasping face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Latula: uh huh. (smiley face with glasses and furrowed brows) Meenah: mother glubber seriously didnt think That'd last Latula: i.d.k, therez way more to him than. well, all the terrible and stupid shit he says all the time.
and its alwayz felt like he needs me if that makes sense, even after dying. so therez that!!!!
Meenah: fuckin afterlife
i know im new here but almost seems like you die and nothing means anyfin and then you date forever sort of makes me want to puke Latula: (very happy winking face with furrowed brows)
Meenah: couldnt see that wink behind your radspx fyi (hashtag) anemone waaay...
if you change your mind
just lemminnow

Rebubble this memory

You accidentally rebubble this memory to the wrong feed. It turns out to be badly off topic, and you lose a couple followers. You immediately dispatch another bubble specifically to tell them to go fuck themselves.

Be Latula.

Latula: girl, who Doesn't want to be me???
you think you can just waltz into this bubble and start being any rad gamer girl you cross pathz with????
Chyeah, right! You have a long, long way to go before you earn enough rad-credz to be me. Or as I like to call them, cradz.
(Hashtag) cradz (Hashtag) tm
Meenah: latula shut up and just tell me what horseshit thing you want me to do Latula: its gonna cost ya!
you have to 'like' all my raddest memoriez, and then rebubble at least 413 of them.

Meenah: kay tules im outtie
Latula: wait! dont be like that, we can still cut a deal, lemme think.
(Hashtag) hmmm...
alright, kid. tell you what. since i dig your style, ill give you a shot.
you may think you rule, whereaz most others drool, but what i want to know is, how bad can you thrash stuff?
just need to scope your kickflip chopz, make sure everything checks out. see if your techniques are where they needz to be at.
Meenah: kickflip chops
(Hashtag) sdlkjkjfs
Latula: yeah girl. show me yer stuntz. maybe something in a handplant. ooh, know what shit would be Wicked malicious?
grinding down a railing!!!!
(Hashtag) YEAH!!! (Hashtag) hold poles
Latula: that ought to be flagrant enough to prove your radness 4 shore.
(Hashtag) '4' is a homonym again yo so whataya say, paycheck? you ready to start ripping up so many hellaceous shreds that this fierceshitty biznasty will start getting so deliriously rudebrazen it...
Meenah: just gimme the board pyrope

Rebubble this memory

You rebubble this memory and forget to tag it. All of your followers are severely triggered by its content. You can hear their tortured moans all the way from triggered soul purgatory, which is in the belly of an enormous beast that is so wretched, if you even glance at it, tears instantly come gushing out of your eye sockets, form a liquid boot, and kick you in the crotch.

Latula's skateboard floats out of her arms.

You got Latula's Four Wheel Device!

(Hashtag) awwww yeah (Hashtag) what's up gamers

Walk around Latula. Just north of her, another hallway splits off to the west. Keep going north, to a grey, sci-fi looking door with a grey cancer symbol on it. Open it..

The door is locked. It appears to be guarding someone's private memories. Looks like it needs a password. You wonder who locked it?

(hashtag) mysterious symbol (hashtag) a clue (hashtag) bonus hint: (hashtag) it's karkat

Go back to the junction and take the west hallway. The floor is partially covered with a red rug with a pentagon on it. Halfway across the room, the floor turns yellow and the rug meets with a green, mirrored version. This is where the troll in the black and jade dress is. Go to the bubble first.

Examine bubble.

It's a little dream bubble. But it does not contain your memory. Only Porrim can see what's inside.

Go to the troll. When you interact with her, three options appear.

Talk to Porrim.
Ask Porrim to join.
Be Porrim.

Talk to Porrim.

Her talksprite appears. She has collarbone length hair that flips up at the ends and swirling black tattoos across her chest and around her arms. She has two eyebrow piercings in her left eyebrow, one in her right, and one on her bottom lip. She wears thick, black eyeliner and jade green eyeshadow. Two small fangs poke out from between her lips. She speaks in jade green and puts a + sign after every O, making it resemble the symbol for Venus or female.

Porrim: Welcome back.
Meenah: sup maryam
Porrim: So, your death certificate has barely dried, and you're already busy raising an army, I hear?
Meenah: howd you even hear that already

Funny how when we left our world to play your game, we all thought we were leaving our juvenile schoolfeeding days behind us.
Meenah: yeah
all the more reason to get out of here and fight bad guys and stuff Porrim: I noticed how you cunningly sidestepped an encounter with Kankri down there.
(hashtag) Nicely done.
Meenah: yeaah
(hashtag) poor shouty (frowning face wearing a tiara and goggles) nomoby deserves havin to meet a dead teen alt universe ancestor like that Porrim: I think he might be entertaining some delusion of taking him under his wing.
Or if not his wing, the red fuzzy arm of his sweater.
Meenah: what is with that ugly thing anyway
Porrim: I made it for him, actually.
For one thing, I got tired of looking at his stupid hiked up pants, which he refused to change, ever. Seriously, did you ever see him wearing anything else?
Meenah: haha no
Porrim: So unfashionable.
Also, he was always shivering. It gets kind of chilly out here, and he just wouldn't stop. Not that I minded too much, but he just has this way of making such vocal and ostentatious displays of suffering, like it's some kind of righteous state of being. It gets difficult for everyone to endure, especially after eons. Hence his nickname, I guess.

Meenah: wait nickname
if theres some new dig on vantas i need to know about it pronto Porrim: The Insufferable.

Meenah: fuck yes highfive wait forget it my hands still sore from latula (hashtag) goddamn radgirl

Meenah: whoa you're right almost forgot to not be glubbin a fuck (hashtag) glub exactly zero fucks
i apologize for prying into your romlife that was so shrimpudent of me Porrim: It's alright. It's not like I have many well kept secrets.
Come visit any time. We'll get you all caught up on exactly who's been seen passing through the well-greased revolving doors to my quadrants.

Rebubble this memory

You rebubble this memory and one guy who follows you decides to be a huge pain in the ass for some reason. He baits you into a publicly rebubbled argument which lasts all day. When it's finally over, you look back at the meaningless exchange and ask yourself "what am I doing with my life?"
By which of course you mean death.

Ask Porrim to join.

Porrim: It's a noble idea.
But I don't know how useful I'd be.
Meenah: oh come praaaaaawn (frowning face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Porrim: What's the size of your party so far?
Meenah: uh
Porrim: It's still just you, isn't it?
Meenah: ... maybe (hashtag) losers (hashtag) everywhere Porrim: If I were you, I'd ask all the god tiers first. They'd give you the most tactical advantage, wouldn't they?
(hashtag) God tiers
Then you can build your coalition around them.
(hashtag) Pajama party
Meenah: i guess
Porrim: plus, they're immortal, right? Or... ghost immortal, perhaps?
Dear God, it's finally come to this. We have to talk about "ghost immortality" now, in a serious way?
(hashtag) Ghost immortality (hashtag) Serious business
Meenah: lol yeah
Porrim: Anyway, that's what I'd do.
Meenah: but i think the thing is the skull lord might actually be able to kill god tiers? (hashtag) at least... (hashtag) ghost god tiers Porrim: Can he?
Meenah: like bypass the whole judgment hullabeluga that makes em resurrect (hashtag) whaaaaales (hashtag) (heart) you know with the fancy clock and all Meenah: i dunno
Porrim: You'll have to ask Aranea. I'm sure she could talk your fin off on the subject. (hashtag) Sylph of Words
Meenah: oof yeah maybe later
Porrim: Do you even know who all the god tiers are?
Meenah: um
Porrim: There's Aranea. Did you ask her?
Meenah: yeah but she has her own plan girl is going on a cherub jam or some bitch ass noise (hashtag) eff that Porrim: Ok. Well, I hope this isn't too invasive, but what about you?
Meenah: ...
Porrim: I've heard rumors that you reached god tier, but never let on to anyone. (hashtag) Except presumably Damara... Meenah: you dont understand its just that fucking thief of life getup (hashtag) looked like such ass i couldnt just parade around in that hideous thing (hashtag) got a reputation to conchsider Porrim: So it is true, then. Thought so. See what I mean, though? I wasn't sure about that until just now. Rumors are always flying, but secrets somehow persist. Who knows who else reached god tier? A lot can happen in three sweeps. I only know I didn't make it. But if you need someone to eerily phosphoresce in the demon's vicinity, while debating whether to try drinking his blood, then I'd like to think I easily crack the top 10+ candidates you might consider for the job. Meenah: yeah i know youd rock the glowin duties (hashtag) po glow guess youre right i should sea what other god tiers want to join the prob is that i dont think becoming god tier stops you from being lame and terrible (hashtag) lame (hashtag) terrible and we got a lot of people like that on our team (hashtag) soooo Porrim: This is true. Meenah: guess ill keep axin around Meenah: gonna bounce seaya meryam

Rebubble this memory

You rebubble this memory and it receives many comments. None of the comments appear to be made by people who have had any education whatsoever.

Be Porrim.

You are now Porrim. The song changes to Darling Dolorosa. Go to the bubble.
Examine bubble.

It's a little dream bubble, containing one of your memories. You look inside.

The memory is from right here, on Prospit. You spent a great deal of time there during the long sweeps of your session. You remember this little precipice well.

But... wasn't there a staircase here? You are almost positive there were stairs.

As soon as you exit the memory, a set of stairs that lead into the room with all the chests appears.
Go down them. Head north and try to leave.

Where do you think You're going! This is Meenah's interactive quest through the afterlife. You can only leave this area if you're being her!

(hashtag) nice try

Since you can't leave, go south, down to Karkat and Kankri. When you interact with Kankri, two options appear.

Talk to Kankri.
Be Kankri.

Talk to Kankri.

Porrim: Kanny, leave this poor kid alone.
Kankri: I'd appreciate it if you wouldn't call me that. We've talked about this. That's what you call a wiggler. Do I look like a wiggler to you, Porrim? No, I don't. It's been three sweeps, plus eternity, for, excuse me, "fuck's" sake. I think we can safely retire that particular term of "endearment". Call me anything but that, even my other nickname. I'm actually ok with that one.
(hashtag) microaggressions (hashtag) no wait (hashtag) Macroagressions more like Porrim: I'm not calling you Insufferable, Kanny. Well, not unless I'm using it as an actual adjective.
(hashtag) And even then, probably not to your face.
Well...
(hashtag) Not often I mean.
Kankri: It would be nice if you'd at least use my proper name in front of my studious young Alternian descendant. It really kind of erodes my credibility, and I don't need that in the proximity of a fresh faced youngster who clearly thirsts for knowledge. Why would you want to sabotage a fine young man's education like that?
(hashtag) Fresh (hashtag) Faced (hashtag) Youngster (hashtag) Knowledge thirst Porrim: Rolling my eyes here.
Can you see? Do you want me to light them up for you? Note: Porrim begins to glow and her eyes turn yellow.
Kankri: No, but thanks for offering. Could you go roll them over there? Thank you. Now where was I.
(hashtag) How do you even roll eyes without pupils?
Porrim: I don't think he cares.
Hey, there. Karkat? If you don't mind my asking... are you even remotely interested in the loaf supplement this guy's serving?
Karkat: Note: He crosses his arms and looks down, embarrassed.
Porrim: Gotcha. You just said all you needed to say.
You know, you are actually very cute.
That girl who's been wandering around in the dragon suit is a very lucky lady.
Kankri: ok, wonderful. That conversation just came to an end.
Porrim, please don't hit on my rebooted kid ancestor-descendant. It's really weird. Not to mention, he looks exactly like me? I mean, kind of obviously? So when you're hitting on him, it's like you're hitting on me at the exact same time, which like I said. It's weird.
(Hashtag) It's weird
Kankri: Not to get into all this again, but the thought of dating you... it's just a strange and vaguely offputting idea. No offense. It almost makes me understand at a visceral level the bizarre human anathema of incest, which is something I can't really explain. I'm just saying.
(Hashtag) Trigger warning (Hashtag) Incest (Hashtag) Anathemas (Hashtag) Visceralty (Hashtag) Vaguely (Hashtag) offputting Porrim: (Very deep sigh.)
(Hashtag) Oh my God.
Kankri: I'm Sorry, ok? I'm sorry that I am, perhaps literally, the only one not to ever fall prey to your tireless omnidirectional solicitations, or to get swept up in one of your innumerable flushed or caliginous flings. I happened to always prefer you as a friend, and in any case, I always preferred to lead a relatively chaste existence, as it keeps me focused on fighting on behalf of truly important problems. Although staying "relatively" chaste to you I suppose is not saying much.
Porrim: ...
(Hashtag) Hey.
Kankri: once again, I apologize. I've blundered into the problematic territory of vacillation shaming, thus opening the floodgates to the myriad ways one may be disadvantaged upon by its staggering shame radius. I forgot to check my piety privilege, and here we are. I was going to cover this topic in a much later chapter of my lecture, but we've gotten badly derailed here.
(Hashtag) TW (Hashtag) Derailment (Hashtag) Train wrecks (Hashtag) Choo choo catastrophes Karkat, I'm sorry for this interruption. I promise I'll get back to my critical lecture as soon as this promiscuous busybody leaves us in peace.
(Hashtag) Village two wheel device
Karkat: Note: he stares in open-mouthed shock again.
Porrim: Yes, critical lecture. I'm sure.
And am I right in being just as sure you are assiduously deconstructing every conceivable, hypothetical form of injustice no matter how obscure, except those that I happen to think are kind of important?
(Hashtag) Yes
Kankri: No. Just, no, Porrim. We're not doing this.
(Hashtag) No
I am not going to pollute Karkat's utterly imperative crash course, in which he is introduced to the Absolute Basics, by indulging in your pet issues.
Porrim: Yes, how dreadful it would be for your sixty nine million word essay to get bogged down by even the faintest reference to the roles of gender in Beforan and Alternian civilization.
(Hashtag) "HUMAN SARCASM"
Kankri: Look, it's not that I'm insensitive to your concerns on that topic. I'm interested to discuss them with you on an academic, primarily theoretical level.
Porrim: Theoretical?
(Hashtag) ...
Kankri: I just think there is inherent danger in muddying the waters of discourse by introducing social issues which are suspect at best, thus consuming crucial resources from the limited cache of rhetoric which propels these narratives. And furthermore, one could argue it's more than a little problematic, offensive even, for you to be appropriating the lexicon of sensitivity used to advance awareness of major issues, thus reducing it to the level buzzspeak and pseudo science. It makes it more difficult for those of us who are genuinely focused on positive change to be taken seriously, that's all.
Porrím: Appropriating??
(hashtag) That's not (hashtag) what that even (hashtag) means?
Pseudo science???
(hashtag) You did not just...
Kankri: I'm sorry, I just don't think there's much there. We aren't like humans, whose species bizarrely enough includes highly specialized roles for both sexes in the process of reproduction, and so this naturally had social ramifications for the way their civilization evolved. but that's not how it works for us, so I fail to see how gender factors into the discussion in a way that can be effectively and rationally problematized. Where is the room for unexamined privilege in the dichotomy? I don't see it. And appropriating the talking points and awareness-raising tactics for dubious issues like this is, frankly, frowned upon, to put it politely. Such appropriative gestures only serve to marginalize and invalidate those subject to serious, real life struggles and oppression, and I guess I'm a little disappointed to see you being so blithely and inappropriately appropriatory.
(hashtag) Frowned upon (hashtag) Frowns all around (hashtag) Welcome to frown town Porrím: Kanny, I'm starting to feel just a little bit triggered by all this "appropriation" bullshit.
(hashtag) Trigger warning: (hashtag) About to kick your tall pantsed ass
Kankri: oh! My sincere apologies. I should have done a better job tagging my statements, but for future reference, it's helpful to alert your conversational partners to your triggers well in advance. Should I go fetch your moirail to help settle you down? And if so, who exactly would be filling that quadrant today?
(hashtag) It's the mayor, right? (hashtag) Gotta be the mayor Porrím: Alright. Obviously you're in one of your bratty moods. I'm gone.
Kankri: Don't be like that. Really, we can talk about whatever you like later, and I'll be really sympathetic, I promise. Just not around my pupil while he is still learning.
or... my descendant. What did I say? Haha. Karkat, I mean. Anyway, Karkat, again I apologize for that.
(hashtag) Now where was I?
Karkat: Note: he glares.
Be Kankri.

Kankri: What? You want to be me? What sort of nonsense request is that?
Can't you see I'm in the middle of a direly important word dump? I mean man-to-man conversation with Karkat?
I might consider it if you asked more nicely. or at the very least, more "radically".

Walk all the way back to Latula.

Talk to Latula.

Porrím: Hey.
Latula: yo yo, wazzup girl!!!
Porrím: Latula, it's just me. I don't think anyone is looking. No need to go so heavy on the rad girl routine.
Latula: yeah, guess you're right. i'll chill it down a bit.
what's on your think pan, po-mary.
Porrím: Meeting our ancestors as kids, or, I mean our descendants as kids, however you want to spin it...
(hashtag) Descestors? (hashtag) Ancendants? (hashtag) Dacestors... (hashtag) Hmm (hashtag) Bingo Porrím: It has me thinking about our rebooted lives on Alternia, and what we grew up to be.
Makes me wonder about fate. If it's something that's even comprehensible.
Latula: yeah?
Porrim: For instance, on Alternia, my relationship with Kankri seemed to make some sense. I could definitely see our lives becoming entangled in that way, karmically speaking.
But then there were other developments that are still mysterious to me.
Like, as far as I know, you and Aranea always got along. Didn't you?

Lenlaus: Radglare (hashtag) Kindfang Latula: eh i guess. never spent much time thinking about serket, tbh.
always thought she was a self absorbed snooze, if you really want to know.

Porrim: Exactly. Nothing much to your relationship to speak of at all. But in your post-scratch lives you had such major issues together, even your descendants inherited it, and continued the contentious cycle until there was bloodshed.

Lenlaus: Redglare (hashtag) Mindfang Latula: really?

Porrim: It does? How?
Latula: just does, babez.
Porrim: I don't really understand karma.
Latula: thats cause youre not a mind player.
Porrim: Oh. Could you explain to me how it works, then?
Latula: pshh, as if. that wouldn't be a very rad thing to do.

Porrim: did i look like serket to you???
hey, check out this Outstanding healflip!!!!

Porrim: I don't Porrim: ...

Porrim: Sigh
Porrim: Ok. Let's see it.

Go back to Meenah. When you interact with her, two options appear.

Be Meenah.
Talk to Meenah.

Porrim: I really can't blame you for being in such a hurry to go kill him.
Meenah: huh
Porrim: The Lord of Time. Actually, it's a good example of what I've always been trying to say to Kankri, but he doesn't buy it.

Porrim: After the scratch, our world continued to be matriarchal upon superficial observation, but was subject to a considerably more sinister, cloaked form of patriarchal tyranny all along.
Meenah: water you talking about Porrim: Your post-scratch self, who grew up to be the empress, was really just the Lord's slave all along. Implicity during her long reign, through manipulation by his cunning employee.

Porrim: An excellent host
And then explicitly, after the extinction of our race. She formally became his servant, and did his bidding long thereafter.
Meenah: What!!!!!
Porrim: He did the same with Damara. She was his loyal Time Witch, helping him turn our world into the nightmare it became. When her usefulness came to an end, he pitted you and her against each other, in I guess a twisted redux of the conflict you and she had in the past.

(hashtag) The outcome was somewhat different this time
Meenah: yo that is so messed up!
Porrim: The bottom line is, in addition to being an all around bastard, this guy appears to enjoy being especially nasty to girls.

If it's true he's hunting down the ghost of his departed "sister", then I really feel sorry for her.
Meenah: No fuck that (hashtag) rarrrg
I am going to slaughter that ugly muscle monster (hashtag) aarrrraaawwrrrg
I will steal his shitty coat and wear it on my throne (hashtag) aaaaaggrrgg
I will rip off his skull and gild it and then I will wear it as my crown while his bleeding green torso bows before me (hashtag) arrararaglaaragrgrgg Porrim: Um,
(hashtag) wow
Best of luck with that.

Be Meenah.

You are Meenah again, and the music shifts back to Fuchsia Ruler.

Go down the western staircase that Damara made appear. You're stopped at the top by a text box.

Do a sick grind down the railing?

Yes

Meenah does a sick grind down the railing. Latula waits at the bottom of the stairs and starts talking to you.

Latula: that was...
so...
freaking...
Raaaaaaaaaaaaaaadical!!!
(hashtag) (gasping face with glasses and furrowed brows)!!!!
holy smokez girl, i didnt think you even had grindz like that.
so you say you wanna be me huh? well, you got it! hellz girl, im not sure if i shouldnt be the one asking to be You!!!

(hashtag) passin out names like cheap cuttlefish Meenah: you know i always thought paycheck was kind of dope why dont you just stick with that Latula: right on! i like that one too, paycheck it iz. High five girl!!!!
(hashtag) woo
Meenah: no lets not owwwwwww (hashtag) oow
Latula: ooh sorry, did i hurt you???
(hashtag) (frowning face with glasses and furrowed brows)
Meenah: nnn... no? i meant Wwwwwowwwwwww
(hashtag) uh (hashtag) yeah
like "wowwwwww that was a radical hand slappin" Latula: sure fuckin wuz!!! Dang its tight youre back.
(hashtag) the tightness Meenah: thats cool but arent you overstatin our prior relationship as somefin above neutral just a Tad (hashtag) tadpole (hashtag) yeah its a stretch as a fish pun (hashtag) gonna count it tho Latula: well maybe. but i had a lot of time to think, both before we all ate it, and after.
(hashtag) the big wipeout (hashtag) rad death analogies and i came to some Mad epiphaniez, about you, or us really. i was thinking about you all wrong.
for most of the time we knew each other, i was all like, Why should there be two badass, in-your-face girlz in the group???
sort of overkill, right?
Meenah: mehhh
(hashtag) u searious?
Latula: i was kind of viewing you as a competitor, in like a two girl Rad-off. i was winning in my mind, of course. but see, i had it all wrong!!!!
Meenah: did you Latula: Yeah! See, im the teamz rad girl, whereas youre the teamz bad girl!!!! It all makes perfect sense! Doesnt that make so much sense???
Meenah: that is the stupidest glubbin thing to require any sorta rationalization i ever heard (hashtag) p lame tules Latula: see paycheck? i knew i could count on you to be justifiably cynical about my neurotic bullshit. you Rule!!!!

(hashtag) less drool (hashtag) more rule
hey gimme five!
Porrim: That's... Ow.
Not so hard!
That's good.
Latula: whaaat, come on. i thought you of all people would be psyched to get a lil more reprezentation from the ladies up inz.
Porrim: Why would that be? It's nice to see an old friend, but that's about it.
(hashtag) Up inz (hashtag) Meaningless (hashtag) On all levels
I think you are possibly still caricaturizing my point of view on the subject, assuming we're even talking about the same subject.
Much the way your continued commitment to this overzealous "rad girl" thing still strikes me as a caricature of the kind of female strength and empowerment you're trying to project.
Latula: say what?? thatz bogus, im this rad because i like being rad! radness rulez.
Porrim: I know it rulez. But there's such a thing as overdoing it.
(hashtag) Did I phonetically emphasize that 'z' enough?
Don't you think it can come across as a series of affectations designed to overcompensate for an implicit flaw with your gender? An act which rebuts what should be a straw man, with a cartoonish masquerade that with every kickflip and high five screams "Yes, it appears that girls can be as radical and as good at games as boys!" Thus lending a certain dignity to the premise at the expense of your own?
Latula: wha... wait what? aw man.
(hashtag) rad timez officially: (hashtag) harshed what you talking about girl. meenah whered you go! come help me be cynical about this! ah!!!
(hashtag) halp
Porrim: You can pretend to misunderstand all you want, but we've talked about this before and I know you're smarter about this than you let on. We were raised in what was a formally "matriarchal society", which has always been used as a shield to downplay clear instances of female oppression and obfuscate the relevance of gender roles, particularly where they're weighted against females. But anyone who's looked at our society more honestly can see that while, yes, it is superficially observed as a matriarchy on a fuschia-down basis, on a practical level all of the enforcement and political power governing most classes was delegated to the higher CIPs, which were generally male-dominated castes. They got to control the agenda and dictate the social conventions, and anyone who dared to object or bring light to this could always be countered with "Hey! Matriarchy! End of discussion."
(hashtag) Fuschia down matriarchy (hashtag) Purple down patriarchy Latula: girl, please. dont tell me youre going full vantas on me here.
Porrim: No, if I were getting my Vantas on, we'd only be getting warmed up. But that's really all I have to say on the matter.
Latula: whew!
Porrim: I just think you should be yourself more often. We already know you are strong and good at games and all that. You have nothing to prove.
Latula: yeah. youre probably right.
its kind of stressful sometimes, keeping it up! sometimes i forget to put zees on the end of words, and i really stress out about it.
(hashtag) specially when im off my meds you know, i always did feel better talking to you. like i could take the edge off my rad thing, and relax a little more.
Porrim: Then let's make it more of a habit, shall we?
(hashtag) (smiley face)
Latula: heckz yes!!!
hey, thanks for the peptalk, popo merrygamz.
Porrim: That nickname.
It
It is just so awful.
Latula: oh whoopz.
want me to switch back to pornstar???
Porrim: ...
Merrygamz will be fine.

Talk to Kankri.

Latula: bro!!!! i hear youve been hassling the new kidz. what is up with that???
Kankri: Hassling? Far from it. I've merely discovered a new and far less ungrateful flock which has not yet become woefully jaded to my messages of positive social change.
(hashtag) New followers
Latula: you cant fool me kankz. you are boring that poor dude to death. you just want to make a ghost out of him so you can keep him here forever.
Karkat: note: Still an expression of open-mouthed shock.
Latula: which aint right! you have to let that bro die of his own Mad Volitionz.
(hashtag) re: (hashtag) mistakes (hashtag) like us
Kankri: Can you scoot away on your little wheeled toy for immature wigglers? I was in the middle of a sermon.
(hashtag) I mean, conversation.
Latula: why dont you save him some grief and give him one of your old memoz?
ahahah, remember thoze??? how many sweeps did you spend trying to force us to read that trash?
(hashtag) fruity righteous blowhard factory
Kankri: I don't remember. And no, I won't be sharing my old memos with him. They were written very poorly, and my methods of argumentation were flawed and extremely childish. I've deleted most of those memories from these bubbles, so don't bother rooting around for them. Frankly, they stunk.
Latula: hey!
(hashtag) (frowning face with glasses and furrowed brows)
Kankri: oh, man, I'm sorry. I completely forgot that "stunk" was an ableist slur. Please forgive my insensitivity toward your disability.
(hashtag) tw (hashtag) tw (hashtag) tw (hashtag) sorry (hashtag) tw (hashtag) ableism
Latula: itz chill, i was only acting offended to bug you.
Kankri: No, really, it was inexcusable of me. I should have at least preceded my callous remark with a trigger warning.
(hashtag) Trigger warning: (hashtag) Embarrassed retractions ahead
I have no business making light of your impairment, thus failing to check my nasal privilege, and potentially bringing back painful and devastatingly triggering memories of the old cycle of revenge between you and some friends which resulted in the loss of your olfactory sense. I have to admit, I was skeptical at first about whether that really qualified as a true disability warranting sensitivity and the promotion of awareness, but being close to you as a friend and carefully examining my privilege has really opened my eyes. oops, that euphemism is slightly ableist to the blind, what I meant was "broadened my horizons on the nature of disability." Sorry.

Latula: yeah! thats funny, cause it never would have occurred to me to take it all that seriously as a handicap without you making a federal case out of it for so long on my behalf. so, thankz kank!!!

(hashtag) Mad disadvantaged bro timez

Kankri: My pleasure. Really, it is truly amazing that you have managed to triumph over such adversity to become a great role model for others, excellent at video games, and a totally stellar skateboarding person, all while being a girl, no less.

Karkat: note: he rolls his eyes.

Be Kankri.

Kankri: be me? I...
I'm not sure if that's...

Latula: aw come on kanklez!!! pleeeeeecaeaze???

Kankri: Well...
ok. I'll interrupt my imperative monol...dialogue just this once.
For you.

You are now Kankri. The song changes to Iron Infidel.

Talk to Karkat:

Kankri: one moment please, Karkat. I'm going to wander around briefly, in an autonomous fashion.
I know you're very excited to continue our discussion, and I promise I'll return very shortly so that we may resume. Just remain standing here in this exact spot, while you take time to let the wisdom of my words take root in your heart, and try not to wander off with anybody, ok? be right back.

How are your athletic toy stunts going? Are you getting a lot of... a lot of "air"? Am I saying that right?

Latula: you knowz it bro!!!
you cant even Touch this. im escaping to the side, from above, from every which way basically!!!!
[Note: She does a handstand.]

Kankri: Well, I wasn't going to attempt to make any sort of physical contact with you, and even if I did, I have no doubt that you would be able to maneuver away from my grasp on your speedy little platform. Either way, I'm more than content to let you escape in any direction of your choosing, if that's your wish.
Latula: dude. just when i think you've already said the squarest thing possible, you go and say something like that.
Kankri: Haha. I guess. You know, it's really nice we can talk like this.
Latula: it is...
(hashtag) ?
Kankri: Yes. I was just thinking lately, about our new post-scratch friends. Particularly the young Vantas and Pyrope iterations on their team, and how they're pretty similar to us, but also really different.
Latula: yeah. lil me is blind! did u even Know that??
(hashtag) have u seen her lil dragon suit?? eeee! (hashtag) so cute (smiley face with glasses and furrowed brows)
Kankri: Yes, but that's not really what I'm talking about. She and Karkat have a different relationship from the one we have. Theirs is much more turbulent, which is fueled presumably by romantic tension. I'm picking up on some major vacillation vibes from their situation. It's kind of unfortunate, but it makes me grateful that we never got to that point.
Latula: hellz yeah. who needs that?
Kankri: I'm sure it's mostly due to the fact that we've stayed entirely away from the stingbug's nest of romantic entanglement. Which of course is related to my oath of celibacy, which as you know is just a personal choice, one which for some reason my post-scratch adult self eventually strayed from... with... Meulin, of all people? but that's neither here nor there. (hashtag) Seriously. (hashtag) I mean, she's nice, but... (hashtag) Really?
Latula: hahahaha... you and meuz. still cracks me up... Hahahahahaha!!!!
(hashtag) (cat face) (hashtag) heheheh
Kankri: Yes. but regardless. What I'm saying is, it's great we stayed away from that. It's helped me appreciate you as a friend, and admire all your good qualities. Platonically, of course.
Latula: youre right! its been pretty rad when you put it that way.
Kankri: Like how you never bought into the usual roles of your caste, as an aqua, not even the more "well intended" social conventions of your privileged aristocratic bloodline. You never looked down on anybody, or saw it as your civil duty to care for or "improve" the warmer classes, falling prey to unfortunate tendencies involving cerulean savior complex, or the "blue blood's burden" (trigger warning on that, obviously) which sadly became so inseparable from the fabric of the spectral order, with each class conditioned to view those below it the same way, the obstacles to raising awareness were almost insurmountable. but unlike the cooler hues on our team more privilged than you, like your Serkets, your Zahhaks, your Amporas... I never got the sense that you put the slightest bit of stock in any of that, and I think that's pretty amazing.
(hashtag) Cerulean saviors (hashtag) Teal templars (hashtag) Violet valiants (hashtag) Purple paladins Latula: uh... yeah! that shitz a drag, why would i bother with any of that? i mean, ill help low bloods learn stunts and cheat codez if they want, but thats it!!!
Kankri: Right. And I'm just saying if my head was ever clouded by romantic feelings for you, I probably wouldn't be able to appreciate that about you. Just like I wouldn't be able to appreciate the fairly cool "zees" you put at the end of many words, or say things loudly and with enthusiasm, even if it's not particularly warranted.
(hashtag) It rarely is Latula: heheh. yeah!!!!
(hashtag) woohoo!
Kankri: or the way your hair flows in the wind when you scoot over some sort of obstacles on your device really fast.
or the way you make this funny little noise just as you connect with one of your copious high fives, which can only be heard over the loud slap if you listen really closely.
Latula: um, yeah... i noticed... some stuff like that...
Latula: about you too i guess?
Latula: heh.
(hashtag) uh...
Kankri: or the way you have always shown kindness to people who needed help, without making them feel tragic or helpless for accepting it.
or the way you still manage to look stylish even without your cool shades, or sometimes when they're propped up on your head just in front of your horns.
Latula: wh...
(hashtag) i... (hashtag) hm Kankri: or, I don't know if you remember, that time Meenah baked everybody a cake. It was the first sweep anniversary of entering the game, one of the rare moments of solidarity and good cheer among our entire team at once. Everyone was raving about how good the fresh baked cake smelled, so you took a big sniff, I guess forgetting for a moment you couldn't smell. Then you quickly caught yourself, and played it cool making sure no one noticed, which no one did. but I noticed. And I just thought that was kind of endearing.
Latula:
Kankri: Anyway, I think all that would have been completely lost on me if we didn't have this strong platonic bond. I just thought I'd say that. Guess I'll get going now.
See you around, Latula.

people's enlightening and enormous conversations.

Porrim: All these sweeps and you still act like such a wiggler sometimes. Hey... is that...
Is that grub sauce on your face?
Porrim: Yes it is. You have a big smudge of sauce, right there. You're a mess, Kanny. Come here.
Kankri: No! No, stop. Don't touch me, I got it!
(hashtag) see??? (hashtag) It's fine [Note: He snarls and fires appear in his eyes.]
Porrim: Don't wipe it off with your sleeve! Oh my God. I just washed that for you.

beforan possessions.
(hashtag) or Alternian (hashtag) or Earthly Porrim: We aren't on Beforus anymore. I worked hard on that sweater, and I'm not going to stand by while you encrust it in grub sauce.
Kankri: I was perfectly happy without the sweater! To be honest, I'm less than thrilled with how it obscures my pant line.
Porrim: You can't even see my nice belt
Porrim: Sigh...
Porrim: You make me sigh so much (hashtag) I'm almost left sighless
Why are you always so contrary with me? To be honest, I think your need to "rebel" against whatever I suggest is what drives your dismissal of my views more than anything about the views themselves.
Kankri: I don't dismiss your views. I respect them. I have Told you this.
I think the role of gender in beforan society is probably a really fascinating and advanced subject to explore. See, you and I can appreciate the subject, of course. I just don't think anyone is ready for that yet. There are so many other hurdles to overcome first.
Porrim: Hurdles? Kanny, you should seriously stop overthinking this stuff. Even I don't know what you're talking about most of the time.
Kankri: Look, I'm just saying, it's a huge risk opening that can of dirt noodles, trying to educate people on that subject on top of everything else. I just don't want to distract from all the more glaring issues that desperately need the full attention of our people if we are going to make any progress as a civilization.

but i have to go do a thing (hashtag) uh (hashtag) yeah
reel quick Kankri: oh.
Meenah: can you wait like right Here exactly this spot for a few minutes Absolutely!
Really, no hurry, I'll take the time to prepare some of my opening statements to better contextualize my prohibitively loquacious harangue. I mean friendly banter.
Meenah: brb dog

Be Meenah?

Yes

You are now Meenah and the song changes back to Fuchsia Ruler. Now that Kankri isn't harassing him, go to Karkat.

Talk to Karkat.

Meenah: (psst!)
(hey vantas)
Karkat: (what.)
Meenah: (nows yer chance)
(lets blow this nautical stand) (hashtag) nautical/popsicle... (hashtag) eh close enough
Karkat: (oh...)
(i don't think i'm supposed to.)
Meenah: (shouty you cant let that boring nerd tell you how to roll)
(you wanna stand here lisfinin to his shellf important abaloney all day???)
Karkat: (not really.)
(hashtag) shellf important abaloney? (hashtag) Goddamn seadwellers Meenah: (then come on!)

Rebubble this memory

You rebubble this memory, and it gets almost no likes Or hates. People seem to have no opinion about it at all. Which is actually the worst imaginable outcome. It is a fate 10 times worse than death, and 100 times worse than second death.

When you move, Karkat now follows you. Go all the way to the opposite corner of the map, to the locked grey door.

Open door.

Meenah: vantas gimme your password
Karkat: (huh?)
Meenah: this is your door aint it Karkat: (what makes you say that.)
Meenah: the symbol on the doors the same as on your fuckin shirt come on it aint blastoff device science (hashtag) pchoo
Karkat: (ok, yeah, it's mine. maybe i got tired of interloping shitbags traipsing through my Private and Personal memories.)
Meenah: you dont need to whisper anymore aint no one around
Karkat: oh
Meenah: now whats the password
Karkat: move over, I'll type it for you.
Meenah: no just tell me shouty!!!
Karkat: oh my god, that is so unreasonable. How is it not pretty much the most reasonable fucking thing in the world to let me just type my own password???
Meenah: dude you want kankri to find you and talk yer nubs off again Karkat: no!!! Anything but that.
(hashtag) oh dear god
Karkat: alright, I'll tell you, just...
Karkat: don't go blabbing it around.

what in glubs name does that mean Karkat: nothing. It's none of your business.
it's just something that reminds me of an old friend. Alright?! Can we get going now?
Meenah: fuck yeah! this way shouty
you will not regret hitchin your wagon to my starfish Karkat: Note: He facepalms.
Rebubble this memory

Congratulations! That was the rebubble that pushed you over the edge. You are now Officially Bubblr Famous!

The door opens, but don't go in yet. Instead, go all the way back to the first area, to where Hussie sat in the crater and asked for a horse. Karkat continues to follow you the entire way.

Talk.

Oh my god, you didn't.
You didn't......
(hashtag) could it be?
You did
You brought me a horse!
Look at this glorious, knotted up horse hitcher. This is the most amazing present I have ever received. I will cherish it forever.
So uh, hey...
Do you come here often?
(hashtag) vriska who??????

Meenah: oh my cod

Well, a deal is a deal.
I am now at your command.

Meenah: why...
Meenah: Why did i have to bring this idiot that horse hitcher

Both Karkat and Hussie now follow you like your own personal Konga line of shenanigans. With your idiots in tow, make your way back to the door you just left. This time, go in. A new area loads. You stand on a grey tiled area with a grate on the floor. It looks like it belongs on The Meteor. Off to the bottom right, there's a light green tree. When you walk forward, you get stopped by dialogue.

Meenah: so shouty or... kankrat was it?
been meaning to axe you... Hey!
whered he go?
(hashtag) sigh
its so hard makin friends

Karkat has vanished, but Hussie still follows you. Go north. In the corner of the room, near some broken computer equipment, there's a chest. Open it.

You got a 2010 Spirited Horse Calendar!

You flip through it and... yep. Hearts Boxcars is still farming all those goddamn horses.

(hashtag) fuckin pain in the red cheeks

Walk west. The tiles fade to cracked, brown dirt that butts up against an area of grass with a circle mown into it. Aranea stands in a small booth, which looks like the booth from Charlie Brown, where Lucy offered 'Psychiatric help' for 5 cents. Ignore her for now and look around a little more. A strange plant grows just east of her, and to the south, there's someone's hive. The windows, which are 12-paned and arranged into a plus sign, are tinted orange. Okay, now go to Aranea.

Talk.

A new page comes up. Drawn in the Charlie Brown style, Meenah stands in front of Aranea's booth, which says Exposition
5 Boonbucks
The Sylph is In.
Aranea smiles and leans her cheek on one hand.

A menu of options appears over Meenah's head.

Hey you see where louder Vantas went?
Serket water u doin.
Tell me about Kankri Vantas.
Tell me about Latula Pyrope.
Tell me about Porrim Maryam.
Peace out.

Hey you see where louder Vantas went?

Their talksprites appear as they speak.

Aranea: Yes, I saw him scurry by a moment ago. He went that way, into a memory of his old neighborhood.
Meenah: man what gives does my breath stink or (hashtag) do i need a fish mint
Aranea: I think he just wants to be alone. He tried to lock his memories away from others, I guess without realizing these bubbles can be very permeable. If the memory is big enough, people will be able to wander into it from many directions.
He probably won't be too happy to find more of our friends hanging out there.
Meenah: oh shit more of the old gang is that way guess i better go talk to them too (hashtag) yay more useless tools probably have to bail shouty out Yet again
Meenah: damn kid makes you work
Aranea: That's probably why you're obsessed with him.
Meenah: shut up

Serket water u doin.

Meenah: yo what is this shit
you sellin somefin here
if so i should warn you im a little low on funds these days Aranea: I am offering explanations! I will explain anything you desire.
Meenah: ahhahaha you must be out of your seasponge if you think ima part with anyfin of value for a shitty speech Aranea: Oh, no! You misunderstand. It is I who will pay You five boonbucks if you listen to an explanation on any topic of your choosing!
Meenah: oh
(hashtag) good grief
Aranea: So what topic will it be?
Meenah: hang on!
(hashtag) im thinking
Aranea: Can't decide on a topic?
Meenah: no cant decide if its worth listening to you even if you pay me
Aranea: (frowning face with eight eyes and furrowed brows)
Now I know you're messing with me. I know you can't say no to easy money.
Meenah: yeah youre right (hashtag) if i fall asleep do i still get paid lay it on me

Tell me about Kankri Vantas.

Aranea: The Seer of blood played quite a different role on our team from that of his successor, though his potential as a blood player went similarly unrealized. It was only when he grew up on Alternia did he begin to tap into his abilities, triggering recollection of our lives on beforus, and what we all went through. He remembered our more peaceful way of life, and his desire to unite people. As an adult he was able to do this much more effectively and maturely. Heroically, even. He learned how to inspire others, and be a true leader, even when the odds were stacked against him in his violent culture. It cost him his life, but his message lived on. I believe the Knight of blood now carries his burden, whether he has decided to accept it or not.

Many of us on Alternia grew up to become secret followers of his teachings. Just as many of us now follow them, though I'd say with a bit more detachment. because we're dead! Speaking personally, I’d refer to myself as more of a "fan" of his story, and what it represents. both the hidden potential in our friend he never quite found, and the hidden potential in all our people. During our session, Kankri's trials as a leader were just as frustrating as those of his successor. He found it very hard to get others to take him seriously. While you would often try to divide us with your troublemaking, and turn us against each other to make us stronger - unsuccessfully I might add - he would try to unite us through proselytizing and lecture, just as unsuccessfully.

Meenah: wow that sure was a bunch of stuff i already knew Aranea: Yes! And now it is fresher in your memory than ever. Thank you for listening, and here are your five boondollars!
Meenah: pleasure doin business with you

Tell me about Latula Pyrope.

Aranea: The Knight of Mind, to even the most casual observer, is clearly the more "radical" instance of the two Pyropes. both of course have disabilities which, if discovered, would slate each for culling in their respective cultures. Culling of course means something quite different on beforus. It means she would have been selected by a member of a higher caste for adoption, and coddled excessively. but for someone with a lifestyle as radical as hers, I'm sure you will agree that would have been a fate worse than death.

Meenah: serket yo this exposition is some straight up redonkulous junk even by your standards
Aranea: Would you like to make some money, or not?
Meenah: you know me i am all about the boonjamins
Aranea: Then please stand there quietly while I continue.
Meenah: urrrhn fin
(hashtag) *fine
Aranea: After the tragic accident which left her nasally impaired, her mighty dragon lusus, ancient and wise beyond our comprehension, began to teach her "new ways to smell." To reinvent the sense, using other sense organs such as eyes and ears, awakening completely new experiences in her mind. She was truly an inspiration, and proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that any handicap can be overcome, and doesn't have to stop you from being as rad as you can truly be.

Meenah: wuut
Aranea: The Maid of Space was of course our all-important Space player and Stoker of the Forge, but as you know, we never made much progress on the frog breeding front, or really any aspect of the game before the reckoning. Way too disorganized, way too much teen drama. Much of that drama of course centered around Kankri, and Porrim tended to be the one to keep him out of trouble. This relationship persisted in their lives on Alternia, which... unfortunately didn't work out too well for her in the end. I'd address my involvement with that, but you seem to be tapping your foot so I think I'll just skip over that part of the story!
On beforus, well before her drinker abilities had awakened, she grew up in the caste almost solely devoted to tending to the mother grub, hatching the young and proliferating the brood. The jade bloods were also an almost exclusively female caste, and she began to resent the roles she was hatched into, designated for both her class and gender. She challenged these roles wherever they existed in beforan society, as well as where she found them woven into our session, in kingdoms, class assignments, consort culture and the like.
but over the sweeps in our failed session, she found within herself a renewed interest in the duty that came with her bloodline, which was of course the persistence of our people, a burden which her descendant now must bear. All life on beforus had been wiped out, and we'd failed our game, so she helped me search for a way to reset the...
Meenah: zzzzzz
Aranea: I was almost finished!!!!!!!!
Meenah: your just tellin me shit i know serk she was sorta my friend too remember cant you spice this jam up Aranea: I don't........
Meenah: didnt she like sleep with erybody gimme all the dirt on that Aranea: What?
No, Meenah. I am not paying you so that you can listen to me indulge in such scandalous gossip.
Now what was I talking about? Gosh, I've lost my train of thought........
Meenah: aahahaha why you blushin girl omigawd you and she...???????
(hashtag) ??????????? (hashtag) noodles of Intense Curiosity
Aranea:
Meenah: ho man why didnt you ever tell me i thought we was fronds Aranea: Look. Three sweeps is a long time to spend in a failed, pointless session!
You look into the future and see a life lasting for maybe thousands of sweeps, with nothing to look forward to, and........
Meenah: aaaaand???
Aranea: It was just... kind of a phase! Just a little red fling, ok? It barely even lasted half a sweep,
and...
Hey, if I give you Ten boonbucks, can we stop talking about this????????
Meenah: make it a cool hunnid and you got a deal Aranea: Argh, fine! Just take it!!!!!!!!
Meenah: her imperious condescension thanks you for your generous contribution to the new empire
Aranea: I'm glad you're a good guy this time. You really were hatched to be Such a bitch!!!!!!!!!

Peace out.

It exits back to the standard walkaround. Head east, past the weird plant. Hussie follows you.

This leads to the end of the game. Are you sure you're done here?

> Yes.

That's the end. Continue playing on the next page.]
Room 1
Start by going south. Head down the staircase and continue east of Aradia. After going down another staircase, make your way to the beach on the bottom right.

Room 2
Go through the beach to Derse on the bottom right and then keep walking left along the castle-like area. When you run into Dave, head south down the bridge.

Room 3
Make your way through the room until you encounter Latula. Talk to her.
- Choose "Be Latula" and get her skateboard.
- Be Porrim and talk to the blue orb next to where Porrim was standing. This will create a staircase.
- Talk to Meenah and Be Meenah.
- Try to walk down the newly-created staircase. You will now grind on it.
- Be Latula.
- While Latula, go to Kankri.
- Be Kankri.
- As Kankri, talk to Meenah. Select "Yes" and Be Meenah.
- Talk to Karkat.
- With Karkat, you can now open the door in the northeastern part of the screen.

Room 4
- Exit to the northeast.]

You pause your adventure through the afterlife because you've been at it for way too long already. You'll get back to this in a little while. You just know more of your dead loser friends are lurking in this area. You can feel their lameness emanating from beyond the grave. You can also feel it emanating from within the grave, which is good, because that's where you are. The grave.

What we Really need to do is see what John's been up to. It almost feels like it's been a year since we saw him. Hell, it's probably his birthday again. When is it ever Not John's birthday???

Jade: whaaat
but you love this movie!
John: yeah, i know.
i mean... i thought i did.
it's been kind of a long time since i last saw it. i really remember it being a lot better than this!
but now everything just seems so cheesy and stupid.
Jade: but you were making such a big deal about finally getting me to watch it with you on your birthday!
you were going on and on about how i wouldn't be disappointed... but now you're saying you don't like it?
John: i don't know. i'm trying to like it. i want to like it.
i want to feel the same magic that was there all the other times i watched it.
but i can't, because...
not...
good. (frowning face)
Jade: really?
i was actually kind of enjoying it!
ts very silly
I really dont think its the kind of movie youre supposed to take all that seriously john John: but i Did take it seriously!!!
John: i guess maybe that's kind of the point.
i always thought all this hokey bullshit was legitimately awesome and compelling.
what was i even thinking!
Jade: i dunno....
but people can change their minds about things i think youre allowed to change your mind about a silly movie i used to Love the squiddles show when i was really young but as i got older i started to realize it wasnt as great as i thought it was i was just too young to see how it was actually a flagrant vehicle for selling merchandise and if you believed the conspiracy theorists it might have even been pushing some other dark hidden agendas.....
so i stopped liking the show itself as much but that didnt change the fact that i had a lot of fond memories about it
I still loved all the cute characters and could enjoy it on a nostalgic level
John: well, maybe later i'll be able to rekindle some nostalgic feelings about it.
but right now, i just feel like a dope for talking this up so hard.
Jade: what is even the problem with it?
ive just been watching this and thinking, yup, i can see why john was so obsessed with this movie...
Jade: its funny!
John: it's just non stop terrible action movie cliches!

John: look.
i love nic cage. he is basically my hero, ok?
but i'm kind of just realizing now that he is embarrassingly bad in this movie!
he is just doing this corny parody of a southern guy who is down on his luck, and acts "charming" with his goofy accent and stuff.
some things i used to think were so badass are just coming off as ridiculous now.
can you believe that one time we were watching this movie, when he said "put the bunny back in the box" i actually high fived my dad?
this time that line just made me roll my eyes.
there's so much crappy dialogue!
"cyrus, this is your barbecue, and it tastes good..." argh!
Jade: but he was trying to sound like a hardened criminal to win the trust of john malkovich!
John: jade, please. it was a cheesy line, don't be so naive.
Jade: what!!
you spent your whole life worshiping this dumb movie and now youre calling Mm naive????
John: ok, i'm sorry. i guess in fairness to you, you have only just begun to climb the steep learning curve of this vexing and hypnotic film.
but i am no longer bound by its spell, jade.
Jade: oh god
vexing and hypnotic??
its a movie full of explosions about a guy with a mullet
what is with you lately? you seem to be in such a crappy mood these days
John: i am fine. this Movie is what's crappy these days.
Jade: oh bluh bluh
can we just finish the rest of the movie?

[Image description: Jade looks faintly annoyed and points the remote at the TV.]

dialoglog
Jade: look you made us miss a whole bunch of stuff!
hang on im going to rewind it...
John: who even cares what we missed.
just cameron stupid poe in his idiot wife beater babbling some more southern home spun heroic nonsense.
heart of gold my ass!!!!!
everything dave ever said about this movie was right! i can't believe i used to think he was just trolling me.
the stupid junkyard scene where cyrus makes a little model out of rocks and stuff, just so he could tell the criminals to surround some army guys and shoot them... that was pointless!
and all this heavy handed scoring. oh my god. the music makes every little thing into such a federal issue!
like... oh man, Some minor characters being introduced in slow motion! Dun-dun dun-dun dun dun dun!!!
there. now you officially know they are all badasses.
also, i somehow didn't even remember dave chappelle being in this movie. he was pointless too.
Jade: whos dave chappelle?
John: and you know the malloy guy, the dick head cop who we're supposed to hate, because of how he gives john cusack a hard time and makes asshole decisions with a helicopter?
well screw that! he wasn't so bad. so what if he was a little grumpy? he was just trying to do his job. he had one of the best lines in the movie actually, which was another thing we were supposed to hate him for.
what was it? about how cusack was probably out saving a tree and recycling his sandals or some shit? Hahaha! Now that I think about it, I fucking love malloy.
i'm going to rewind it to watch that scene again...
Jade: no!!
dont touch the remote
John: oh, and we're supposed to be like "Yeah" when cusack wrecks malloy's awesome sports car.
but that was a nice car! john cusack shouldn't have ruined it like that for laughs.
i know I wasn't laughing, were you?
Jade: Yes (tongue sticking out face)
John: john cusack was such a terrible character in this movie now that i think about it. i don't really get what he added to it?
he was like the second hero... but dorkier? what did he even really do? he scampered around the junkyard for a while goofing off, and then when it was his time to shine... he demonstrated his mastery over heavy machinery! wow, he can operate a crane! i am thrilled by the exploits of this pedantic weenie.
i guess he's actually like cage's estranged sidekick? almost like the robin that batman never realized he had.
now that i think about it, this movie was always an oddly poignant tale of bromance between cage and cusack. just two bros separated by destiny, waiting to be united.
when they finally come together to kick some ass, it is arguably more moving than when he reunites with his wife and daughter!
i wonder if i'll think that scene sucks now too? it used to move me to tears, but now i'll probably think it's so lame, i'm almost afraid to watch it. maybe i should try to leave at least some memories untainted.
Jade: john you are kind of sounding like a crazy person here
John: yeah right! crazy like a foww!
Jade: what???
John: oh...
i guess there was a stray feather clinging to my pajamas and it just poked me in the ass.

[Image description: John holds up an orange feather and gives it an annoyed stare.]
dialoglog
John: god damn dave sprite.
that guy molts like it's going out of style.
Jade: oh...
heh
Jade: yeah
John: where is he anyway?
i specifically told dave sprite several times when my party would start, because i knew he would do this.
he's already missed half the movie!
Jade: why do you always call him dave sprite?
John: um... because that's his name?
dave sprite.
Jade: no, i mean why do you always say it like that? with the space between words?
it's not dave sprite, its just dave sprite John: what ever.
i can't believe he's standing me up on my birthday.
maybe he doesn't want to hang out with jaspers?
jaspers, i hope you're not going to start chasing him around again when he gets here.
Jaspersprite: Hisssss!
John: dude, shut up.
Jade: yeah.... john
i dont think dave sprite is coming tonight

[Image description: Jade stares at her lap.]
dialoglog
John: aw, man. really?
i knew we shouldn't have invited both him and jaspers.
that's just party planning Basics.

it has nothing to do with jaspers
John: oh.
then why?
Jade: he uh...
kind of broke up with me
John: what!!!

you and dave sprite were like... An instiTUTION on this stupid golden battleship.
Jade: we were not an institution!
you are just saying meaningless things now
John: why did he break up with you?!
Jade: um...
its complicated
basically hes just going through a lot of stuff right now John: stuff??
what stuff.
jade, we are all going through stuff. you don't see me flying off the handle and breaking up with My girlfriend.
Jade: do uh...
you have a girlfriend?

maybe it's because he's part bird? i think becoming a bird and a sprite did something weird to him.
Jade: i dont think being a bird ever bothered him like i said... its all more complicated than that John: normal dave was so much more level headed.
i have to admit, i spend a lot of time wondering what he and rose are up to.
Jade: me too
John: ehh...
maybe it's for the best he broke up with you.
Jade: why?
John: well, what kind of future do you think you would have with him?
he's a sprite. like really, what even is a sprite? how long do they live? will he still be around if we win the new game we are allegedly trying to get to?
Jade: i dont know
John: there are a lot of things we don't know.
and also...
how do things even work if you marry a sprite?
Jade: what do you mean
John: i mean...
ok, he has a ghost butt, for one thing.
Jade: uh
so
John: A ghost butt, jade!
Jade: so what if he has a ghost butt!!!!!
John: i'm just saying...
Jade: Whatever youre just saying, just stop saying it!

Jade: i hope youre not entertaining some awkward train of thought about, uh...
John: no!!!
Jade: what is with you??
today is your birthday, youre supposed to be having fun!
but youve been so testy, as if youre committed to not having a good time
John: well, maybe i'm just getting a little tired of being stuck on this lame boat!
don't you think it's gotten kind of old?
Jade: yeah, i can see how you might find it a little slow here i dunno, i havent minded much... maybe its different for me though because i used to live all alone?
John: oh sure, i'm sure it's Great for you. you get to spend your days smooching and breaking up with dave sprite and what not, and you can shrink down to any old planet you feel like, any time. whereas i have to make this whole big deal of Asking you to shrink or unshrink me, and...
Jade: but i dont mind doing that any time!!!
John: i know, but you think i want to bug you about that at the drop of a hat? when you're busy and on dates and stuff? i just happen to have respect for something called personal boundaries, jade. and it's not like there's really anyone else to talk to, except the inscrutable chess people and a bunch of brainless consorts and an idiot cat princess. oh and also nanna, but i mean, she's my grandmother, and she's great, but a guy can only spend so much quality time with his grandmother before he starts to feel like kind of a loser whose friends are too busy to spend time with him!
Jade: john... if you told me this earlier i would have...
John: and i still never visit any interesting dream bubbles, and we can't even finish our cool planet quests because the moment we broke through the window all our denizens decided to go back to sleep, and...
i guess what i'm saying is, i'm more than ready to get to the other window and meet our friends and other new people and stuff.
are you sure you can't make the ship go faster???
Jade: were already going as fast as i can make us go
John: and how fast is that again?
Jade: about the speed of light!
John: well, can't you use your space powers and bump it up a notch?
Jade: no! nothing can go faster than light john unless you teleport of course
John: and why can't you teleport us again?
Jade: i already explained this! i cant do that here, its not within the domain of the green sun which gives me those powers!
John: is that why we can't go faster than light either?
Jade: no thats just a regular law of physics!!! jeez
John: ok, i mean, i know that. but this isn't really a regular place, right?
isn't the speed of light like a thousand miles a second? so what does that really mean here? are miles and seconds the same here as on earth? how does this nonsense dimension we're racing through jive with all the relativity mumbo jumbo?
Jade: ok first of all, thats not even close to the speed of light light travels at a hundred and eighty six thousand miles per second no matter what frame of reference youre in... even this one!
second of all special relativity and comparing laws of physics between different frames of reference, those are tricky issues to talk about!
but id be more than happy to talk about them if youd like. actually i would enjoy that because i never really get to talk about science wi...
John: no, i don't want to talk about physics! i don't know anything about the laws of physics, because they are hard and boring.
i simply would like them to behave in a way that is most convenient to Me and My life! Is that really asking too much?
Jade: yes as a matter of fact it is!
John: well, guess what? Science is stupid bullshit!!!
Jade: you take that back!!!!!
John: no.
magic is awesome.
science blows.
the end.
Jade: john....
what is that?
John looks over his shoulder at Jade, who looks slightly confused. John still clutches his head.

John: what?
Jade: under your hood...
looks like a piece of paper stuck to your back?
John: huh?

Jade: where are you going?
John: I'm going to go kick his ass!
Jade: what! John, no...
John: posing as my dead father by mimicking one of his great fatherly notes he used to hide around the house???
and on the two year anniversary of the day he was slain by jack noir, a fact of which that cheeky orange asshole is plainly aware??????
this is a new low, even for dave sprite!

John: no, screw that, I am super pissed off about this!
there is only one way to settle this, and that is with an old fashioned beatdown.
where's my hammer!!!!!
Jade: um
which one?
John: any old hammer!
whatever. It could be a hammer from the bargain bin of a hardware store for all I care.
just give me anything that's fit for clobbering a ghost bottomed dick face who's also a bird.

you and jade were our rock on this ship! You hear me?? Our roooooooock!!!
Jade: (blank face)
John: and now this bullshit?? What the hell, man.
I don't go around leaving fake puzzles for you like from the movie saw, do i? Have you ever heard me say I want to play a game even once?? Well, have you???? no, because that would stir up painful memories of a dearly departed loved one, and therefore would be unbelievably shitty of me!!!!!!!!

John: yeah sure, laugh it up! That makes you seem like way less of a tool. Nice going bro! everyone on this boat is sick and tired of your bullshit! Why don't you just fly away and leave us alone?
how can you be so much more of a prick than the real dave? You are the most piss poor substitute for a best friend a guy ever had.
I can't wait to meet up with the real dave again. That way we can all go back to the awesome status quo of pretending you never existed in the first place!
Jade: john...
there's no one there

John: oh he's there alright.
he's probably just using some sprite magic so only i can see him.
don't you see, jade? he's antagonizing Me personally, not you. he's done with you, remember?
he already used you like a rented mule, and now he is moving on to greener pastures.

Jade: what pastures
John: it's me.
I'm the pastures.
and now his mule is grazing all over them, while he has a good laugh.

Jade: what wasn't i supposed to be the mule?
i don't think i understand your analogy
John: no, you see, it's...
the mule represented, like...
i don't know, like the spirit animal of his douchey ways. or something.
Jade: ....

John: who cares about mules, or pastures, or dave sprite's stupid ephemeral sky visage.
who cares about anything!!!
who cares about my birthday, or nic cage, or this boat full of idiots.
just.

[Image description: This is the next part of the walkaround. Once again, you are Meenah. You stand in the lawnring just outside someone's hive, which has orange windows. The house just south of you has bright green windows. Go to the front door and examine it.]

The door is locked. You knock, but no one answers.

This seems to be an Alternian neighborhood. Aside from all the violence, Alternian culture seems like it must have been pretty similar to life on Beforus, lawn rings and all. Then again, as a spoiled runaway princess, you never did spend much time in the burbs, so what do you know.

Go to the trash can and examine it.

An ordinary domestic Dross Coffer. It's full of smelly garbage, but it hasn't been dragged outside the ring yet. Maybe the waste collection drone isn't scheduled to make a pickup tonight?

Now examine the hose.

No self respecting Alternian troll kid would dare keep a dry, unwatered lawn ring. Letting the grass outside your hive turn yellow is just begging to get yourself culled. Harsh, but fair, you think. God life on Alternia was so great.

Head east. There are some eyes lurking in a bush. Examine it.

Better leave it alone. Might have the troll rabies.

Around the corner from that bush, there's a chest. Open it.

A pink can with bull horns floats out of the chest.

You got an Alternian Soft Drink!

You're not really up on Alternian history, but apparently at some point the empress got fed up with the Subjugglators' stranglehold on the soda market, and released a drink that was said to be more loaded with sugar than even the wicked elixir itself. The Highbloods considered such marketing reports to be blasphemous lies, however. And they were right. The beverage actually contained zero calories, which she secretly mandated so as to preserve her slim figure. But all the lowblood suckers guzzled cans down by the billions none the wiser, while the crafty Condesce raked in the cash.

If someone actually told you this story, you'd spend the next ten minutes fangirling on the floor.

Another hive and a small cliff block the way to the east, so head south until you find a set of stairs leading down to the lower edge of the cliff. A seahorse lusus with violet eyes hovers at the bottom of the stairs. A short distance east, a paved walkway begins, and a troll with slicked back hair, zig-zag horns, a white shirt with a purple aquarius symbol on it, and a cigarette in his mouth stands on it.

Examine the lusus.

The hovering maritime stallion issues a stern, fatherly neigh.

#seahorse dad

Talk to Cronus

Cronus's talksprite appears. His shirt has grey, triangular designs on the sleeves and he has two, lightning bolt-shaped scars over his left eyebrow. He speaks in violet and replaces all Vs and Ws with either WV or w, but it's not consistent on which is which. He also replaces capital Bs with 8s.

Cronus: well well well…

[Note: The last 'well' was written as wvelvlw.]

Meenah: ...
Cronus: globes.
Meenah: wha
#(confused face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Cronus: i saw you walking my way, and i had this smooth line all ready to go. but for some reason i decided to open it with a tongue twister? very nice ampora, starting your killer line with three consecutive 'W' words in a row. #W's are hard #theyre hard and no one understands #(V's too) Meenah: what uh was your killer pickup line goin to be or should i ask
#no
Cronus: sigh, never even Mind, its so ruined now. #just never Even i just saw you strutting in my direction, with all of your impressive moxy and confidence, for the first time in, how long? and i got a little excited. i was going to blow you out of the water with that line, but, i guess nothings changed?
Meenah: guess not sounds like youre still the bard of tries too hard Cronus: oh, nice. you always knew how to twist the fork. actually, all you girls are quite adept at twisting your respective utensils. #utensilkind the guys too, now that i think about it. can i ask you a question? why do all you pretentious scenester types enjoy being so cruel to especially sensitive and artistic people?
Meenah: so i take it even after a billion sweeps here with a boat load of eligible spook shorties to mack on you still never got any action Cronus: first you twist the fork, then you use it to pry into my personal life? thats really just so dwell of you, meenah.
without commenting specifically on that, (because seriously, What? so rude), i will say that it gets very frustrating after the first few epochs trying to make heads or tails what people are even looking for. I mean, in any quadrant.
now, please don't tell anyone i said so, but you and i both know pretty much all these people should feel honored to go out with a guy like me.
what being royalty and all, and not even slightly put off by dating down on the spectrum. I mean, really, how much more evident can I make it to everyone that im really a cool, progressive, easy going dude, who doesnt take the social order seriously or buy into any of the stereotypes? First of all, as if the hemospectrum scene isnt beyond played out.
#you should be sticking your fork in that I barely ever even bring up my high social status. It couldnt be less of a big deal to me, but I think people maybe are still intimidated by it? Theyre probably putting me on a pedestal, in spite of all my easy going assurances that my royal lineage is something I never even think about. Like, no friend, I am just like you. We laugh at the same jokes, listen to, well, to some extent, the same music...
#i at least used to listen to music you like #does that count?

his poetry and music, and I guess... Just someone who tries to be there for them.

Meenah: what space
Cronus: an aggressive space. ive been trying to cool it, be more introspective, search my feelings, work on my music.

Cronus: you're right, i shouldn't burden you with my problems. forget i said anything. i wouldn't want to compromise our friendship, not even to speak of the potential for us to develop into something more than just friends. #by which i mean two people who freely engage in sexual intercourse oh, Right, you asked me how my music was going these days, didn't you?
Meenah: no
Cronus: it's going pretty nicely, i think. been messing with dual sawtooth waveforms, i think i really could be hitting on my signature sound. #if not my signature shape at the very least Cronus: oh, the Vantas lookalike?

yeah he came by this way. i tried to start a friendly conversation with him, but he just flipped me off and locked himself in that hive up there.
#barely even had the chance to hit on him #so rude
looks like he conjured the memory of some sort of complicated puzzle door from some ancient ruins. i tried to open it but it looks totally impossible. the kid sure knows how to give a guy the coldest shoulder.
what do you want with him anyway?
Meenah: nofin bye
Cronus: ah. i see how it is. cronus gets the shaft, while you scurry away to flirt with some infantile loudmouth. why am i not surprised?
guess im neither mentally unstable or a big enough asshole to catch your eye. no big deal, ill just record my feelings on the subject through a bit of slam poetry and bubble my sorrows throughout the... and, yep. looks like im talking to myself again. shes gone.

Be Cronus

Ew, no. There's not a snowbubble's chance in monster hell you're being this guy.

Walk north, to a building with a very ornate door with four keyholes. Each of the keyholes is in a different quadrant of the door and has a different shape around it. Clockwise from the upper left, it's a heart, diamond, club, and spade. There's a chest east of the door. Open it.
You got a Diamond Key!
Go to the door.
Use diamond key
A pink diamond appears over the diamond keyhole. Go east, towards where the paved path curves between the hive with the door and a hive with yellow windows. There's a small cutaway on the house with the door, and a red grub sits on it. Examine the grub.
What?? Some careless soul has left this poor infant grub all alone to fend for itself!
So in other words, just like all grubs on Alternia. Big whoop.
Walk north a bit, along the path. When the path curves east, head into the space between the house with the door and a blue-windowed house. There's a chest back here.
You got a Claw sickle!
You absolutely love this due to its nautical nature. Also, hoarding items such as this will nicely complement your increasingly manic obsession with Karkat.
#so, #there's that too
Go back to the path and head east, past the blue house. A chest sits in front of it.
A set of gold and purple rings with aquarius symbols on them float out of the chest.
You got a whole bunch of Sea Dweller Bling!
It's pretty obvious this all belongs to Cronus over there. He's just not wearing it right now so he can convince everyone he doesn't feel like his royalty status is a big deal, even though he does.
You have no problem whatsoever selling this shit to the highest bidder though. You pocket the gaudy loot while giggling.
Go examine the door to the blue hive.
Bang Bang Bang! Is anybody home?? you say. But of course no one is, because most of these hives are just memory projections.

Keep going east. There's another bush with eyes in it, but you can't interact with this one. The blue house has a cutaway, too, and there's a chest in this one.

You got Ahab's Crosshairs!

You raise this awesome legendary weapon to the heavens and watch it sparkle a bit...

Just before you bring it down on your knee and snap it in half, while laughing maniacally. You hear a muffled sob from Ampora's direction.

Follow the path southeast as it approaches a river. A Dersite bridge crosses the river, but the path continues south. There's a chest by the bridge. Open it.

You got Game Grub Magazine!

This publication is absolutely dripping with exclusive grub leaks. Actually it's a pretty disgusting magazine.

Go back to the path and follow it south. A new area loads. You still stand on grass, but it's now the floor on top of a massive wall. Skaian clouds fill the sky around you, and chunks of the battlefield float in the air. Walk south, all the way to the end of the wall. Three prospitians in white clothes stand on the edge of the wall, which is made of yellow bricks. They're wearing white and lined up tallest to shortest. Examine them.

Is it... could it be???

It is! It's Problem Sleuth, Ace Dick, and Pickle Inspector, in their original prospitian attire! You knew it! You knew you would find them eventually! It's so great to meet ...

Wait.

This is not Problem Sleuth, Ace Dick, and Pickle Inspector. These are just some random Prospitians who are similarly proportioned.

#proportioned prospitians #........

You're beginning to think you'll never run into them.

Go north, back into the previous area, and cross the Dersite bridge. Halfway across, it fades to yellow. A biclops lusus stands just north of the bridge on the far side. As you exit, a troll in a jumpsuit with black legs and a yellow torso grinds across the railing. He wears a yellow helmet that covers the entire back of his head, more like a motorcycle helmet than a bike helmet. He has two sets of horns, like Sollux. As he gets to the end of the railing, he skids and lands on his face in the grass.

Just to the east of the fallen troll, the grassy area cuts off to reveal the skies of skaia beneath it.

Go to the troll. When you interact with him, three options appear.

Talk to Mituna

Mituna's talksprite appears when he speaks. He never stands still. He's always shaking or flailing and chattering his teeth, four of which are long fangs that stick over his bottom lip. Sometimes, he falls over. His helmet has a visor, which is split vertically into a red half and blue half. He speaks in yellow and like he's constantly keysmashing. He randomly replaces letters with numbers, which tend to follow an A to 4, S to 5, I to 1, T to 7, E to 3, O to 0, B to 8 structure for the most part. He also makes a lot of typos. The typos have been left, but the numbers have been changed back to the letter they probably are. Also, while the rest of the speech bubbles are styled after Tumblr, Mituna's have a faintly blue background and a non-functional check box in the corner, like original posts on 4chan

#at least the parts that were actual words hey isnt the afterlife supposed to heal people or I dont undersand why is it that pyrope still cant smell and you still got horrible brain problems dont tell me leijons still deaf I give up on figuring out the existential mysteries
Mituna: wader
Meenah: hey fuck you!!!
Kankri: I feel I should jump in here at this moment, before this escalates any further, and we start throwing around hateful rhetoric that we can't take back.
Meenah:
#aw shell no
Kankri: mituna, I know you often struggle with this, but you just used an extremely derogatory and hurtful caste-specific slur, which as you probably know was once commonly used to disparage sea-dwelling members of our society, or land-dwelling castes who were especially complicit in furthering the oppressive fuscia-down power structure. Now, we all need to realize that royal-vs and those rare few who are even higher such as meenah, as members of the aristocracy enjoy a tremendous position of privilege over others, and therefore we cannot view such verbal transgressions against them as equivalent to those targeting the underprivileged, but it needs to be pointed out that such radioactive language is absolutely the worst kind of well-poisoning which is nothing but counterproductive when others are trying to pursue an honest dialogue about critically important social problems.

Mituna:

Kankri: and meenah, while I can understand your frustration over being verbally assaulted under any circumstance, it is incumbent on me to remind you that mituna requires a certain amount of special consideration and more than a little patience. Please try to resist taking his bait, which I'm guessing is mostly well intended(?), Before its contentious undertow pulls you further into an exchange laden with deeply problematic expressions of ableism, ableist slurs, and other such manifestations of unconscionably unchecked ability privilege.

Mituna:

Kankri: on the other hand, if I'm being honest, I've found mituna's entire existence to be a pretty problematic impediment to the advancement and overall awareness of ableism and its painful manifold consequences for unabilitied persons. The speech impediment, frankly, I could do without, and I'm by no means ecstatic over his torrential bigotry and hostility. On the one hand, I want to be sensitive to him as a person and as a friend, but on the other, what kind of message does his behavior send? And frankly, I'm not crazy about the helmet, either.

Mituna:

Kankri: nothing, friend, it's a really cool helmet and it's a good look for you. But are we now to assume that all those who are stricken with your particular disadvantageon will be similarly prone to require such headgear, due to falling down and hitting their heads frequently?

Mituna:

Kankri: oh, I know you do, and I think you should continue wearing it for your safety, particularly if you continue to insist on floundering about on your dangerous toy. It's more about the unfortunate message you are sending overall, with certain aspects of your personality and existence, that's all.

Mituna:

Kankri: as a friend, I wouldn't want to change anything about you, well, not most things. I just think you may not be doing yourself or those who are similarly disadvantaged any favors with, what I'm hoping, is a perfectly innocent array of traits and mannerisms. But again, I say this with all due sensitivity.

Meenah:

Kankri: anyway, I didn't mean to derail. I'll be on my way. Please continue your discussion, and try to keep some of the issues I described at length in mind.

Meenah: I hate all of my friends so fucking much

Be Mituna

You are now Mituna. You stand up and the song G4m38l0rg begins to play. (The title of the song is Game blorg when written without the numbers)

Talk to Meenah

Meenah: dogg before you even start with your junk I just wanna point out I can barely understand a word you say
Mituna: im sorry
Meenah: like between your codawful quirk and your variety of weird conflicting speech impediments and the fact that even aside from all the shitty numbers you stick in words youre still misspellin

Go to the biclops lusus.

This custodian really has his hands full, taking care of that guy. You kind of feel for the hideous monster.

#biclops dad

Or at least that's your observation if you're being Meenah right now. If you're being Mituna, you beg your enormous parental unit for some mind honey. The huge beast grunts dismissively and bops you on the helmet. You fall on your ass and throw a tantrum.

#but what if im cronus? #lets not worry about that ok

Walk north, along the river, towards where you enter a new area.

Where do you think You're going! This is Meenah's interactive quest through the afterlife. You can only leave this area if you're being her!

#nice try

Walk back towards Meenah. This trip, spot a chest sitting near a large rock.

You got a Club Key!

Walk back to the door and use the club key. A grey club appears in the bottom right quadrant. Now go back to Walk south, to the bottom of the screen, then west, into some bushes. Surprisingly, you can walk under the bushes. After a short distance, you stop moving. Press space. An option to open something appears.

Can't open it! Maybe if you try with someone else...

Go talk to Cronus.

Cronus: hey, chief. Looking good today. Is that a new helmet?
Mituna: no u fu ckthththhh
#iglvnlnoizixjoinova
Cronus: easy there, it was a joke. Of course its not a new helmet. What, do you think im retar...
Um, short on common sense?
Mituna: no
Cronus: did you see meenah go by?
Mituna: no
Cronus: she went that way, didnt she?
Mituna: no
Cronus: are you sure?
Mituna: no
Cronus: listen mate, I dont mean to call you a liar, but I saw her walk up to you. #liar
Mituna: no

Cronus: hahaha. Youre really priceless, captor. Have I ever told you what a cool cat I think you are?
Mituna: why are you touchino me?
Cronus: but what im trying to say is, you dont judge like the others. Well, ok, you do, but I cant really take your vitriol that seriously because you are so obviously retar... Reticent with your true emotions. Like for instance, who could I confide in when I began to fully come to terms with this feeling deep inside that I was actually a human "born" in the body of a troll, but never realized it until learning about the humans? Nobody. Except you, of course. You dont care that I am human kin. You dont mock me for it and trivialize my tragic existence. Well, you do, but the point im trying to make is that when you mock me it doesnt actually mean anything, because everything you say is such putrid nonsense.
Mituna: no

Cronus: what? No, come on guy. Im just giving you a friendly little shoulder massage, with one hand, like this. See? In a way that seems very casual, like "bros" do. Please dont make this more awkward than it needs to be.
Mituna: im sorry
Cronus: I forgive you.
now hold that thought. Im going to see if I can go catch up with meenah. Dont follow me, because obviously youre going to cramp my style. How does my hair look? Never mind, you dont know what youre talking about, ill just use your reflective visor to check myself out. Yes, looking great. #coolscar
Mituna: can I come with you
Cronus: jeepers, youre a thick headed fella. I just told you to stay put. Im going to try out some especially bold moves on peixes over there, really put out the vibe, you dig? I dont think I need to remind you that your presence will be like spraying the area with libidocide.
Mituna: what Cronus: uh, beforus to captor. Hello, this is mission control, is anything getting through that helmet? I am saying that your presence is sexual poison, and if you are drooling nearby while I chat her up, she will become distracted and have trouble picturing me naked. As a wing man, I must say, you are a true fucking disgrace.
#true #fucking #disgrace
Mituna: im sorry
#(frowning face wearing glasses)
Cronus: please stop apologizing so much, its really unattractive. At this point even im not sure if I want to sleep with you.
Cronus: now before I go, I just need to think of a good way to break the ice. Oh, I've got it! Ill open with some jokes about how hilarious it was when you fell on your face over there, and what absolutely incredible fuckup you are on every level.
Cronus: thank you for the inspiration, friend.
Be Cronus?
Yes
The song changes to Violet Prince.
Talk to Mituna
Cronus: oh, I almost forgot. I've been working on a song I think you might...
Mituna: your music is shit and I fucking hate you Cronus: wow, hahaha. Fair enough. really, thats totally fair. Hurtful beyond my ability to capture with language, but fair.
but seriously, stay here. Im going to go work my "magic" on peixes. Not literally of course, because as I learned through a series of crushing revelations during my adolescence, magic isnt real.
#just so over the wizarding scene
wait here, try not to fall down, and above all, try not to be seen.
Mituna: alright

As Cronus, head to the chest under the bushes and open it.
Hussie appears as if he floated out of the chest.
Hey Eridan! Or whatever your name is! I'll go on a date with you!!!
Cronus: you will?
Absolutely. I find you attractive, and your personality is basically tolerable to me.
Cronus: um... alright, sure. guess beggars cant be choosers.
Walk out of the bushes. Cronus now follows you. Go to the seahorse lusus.

Sorry bro, I was only using you to get close to your beautiful floating seahorse!
Giddyup, seahorse dad. Up, up, and away!
#Nyeigh

Hussie sits on the back of the lusus and they float away.

Cronus: this is literally the worst case scenario for my feelings.
Go east, back over the bridge, to where Meenah is.

Wait... where'd she go? Dang it. Looks like she ditched you again.

#story of your life #this is probably Captain Helmet's fault #you should go grill him

Go back to Mituna.
Grill Mituna

Cronus: hey! I thought I told you to stay put.
Mituna: wthfft?
Cronus: I told you to stay here in exactly this spot.
Mituna: I di
#d
Cronus: well, she was gone. Someone must have frightened her away.
you must have spaced out and wandered into view briefly. She probably got one look at you and couldnt split fast enough.
Mituna: no I stayed here like you thaid Cronus: wonderful. This is just exactly what I needed, what with all my frayed emotions lately.
Thanks a lot, "buddy."
Mituna: im sorry
Cronus: no youre not. Youre lying.
your whole bifurcated demeanor is such an act. Half the time you are noxious and incomprehensible, and the other half you are mild and contrite? Sure, "pal."
as if im not so on to you. You only pretend to say youre sorry to get girls to like you more. Sure seems like pyropes a sucker for the ruse. Like im not familiar with those tactics. who do you think wrote the book on that??
Mituna: I dont know wow wrote the book Cronus: be quiet. I really dislike the sound of you.
do you realize because of you, it may be epochs before I get another shot with her? You just had to crawl out of the bushes and shit your space suit in plain sight.
Mituna: im sorry
Cronus: I said shut up. Do you have any idea what a man of my class would do if a mustard blood like you spoke to me this way on alternia? Honestly, sometimes I think I was hatched in the wrong universe, let alone the wrong body.
I am so sick of having to pretend to treat you with the dignity you wouldnt deserve even if you could count the scars on my forehead. You couldnt tell me the answer if I asked what your favorite number was.
Mituna: two!!11!!!!111!!!!!1111111
Cronus: dont interrupt. Youre a horrible friend and a horrible person.
Mituna: [note: a drawing of a sad mituna] Cronus: latula is only with you out of pity. She doesnt have real feelings for you. No one could.
Mituna: [note: the same drawing of a sad mituna] Cronus: you are a brain damaged reject on a team full of rejects. A rejects reject. I would have culled you myself if that word meant what it should have on our planet.
Meenah: ahem Cronus: whoah uh
meenah!
wow... Hmm.
wow
how long uh...
were you standing there?
Meenah: douche

You are still Cronus, but Meenah now stands between you and the locked door. Talk to Mituna again.

Cronus: welp.
I fucked up with her, probably beyond repair this time.
Mituna: ahaahahahahah
#lauguh #laguugh #lugahgh #luagh #luaghguha
Cronus: guess ill attempt ghost suicide yet again.
of course by which I mean, tell people I did, to win sympathy points.
Mituna: doesth hat work
Cronus: not really.
Mituna: why donk you try it
Cronus: what... with you?
Mituna: yeth
Cronus: well, this is clearly absurd, but nyeh, what the heck.
mituna, I just cant take it anymore. I think my ghost is going to kill itself.
Mituna: whowah lets fuck!!!!!
Cronus: wait...
really?
Mituna: no oyo pieshe off indiot fugging garabage
#fuckyoufuckyoufuckyoufuckyoufuckyou
Cronus: oh.

Talk to Meenah.

Meenah: yo that was some scuzzy repartee there even for you crodog Cronus: the last thing my feelings need is your harsh judgment. i just cant handle that, on top of everything else youve done to me.
Meenah: what the fuck else i done to you??
Cronus: you ignored me.
Meenah: ugh Cronus: this is serious. please dont dismiss my emotions like that.
look, i have an especially tortured and confused sole. i reelly cant afjord anemone more greef from you.
#eh? #ehhhh?
Meenah: i cannot Believe
you are doing my fish pun thing while youre still tryin to hit on me Cronus: nyeh. worth a shot.
Meenah: dont ever say a fish thing again or ill gut you Cronus: you know, youre being a bit hypocritical here, dont you think?
Meenah: what
Cronus: taking me to task for ripping captor a sorely deserved new nook.
like you arent even more guilty of abusing the poor fella.
Meenah: youre such a glubbin liar Cronus: oh am i?
tell me, pray tell, who was it exactly, in which alternate universe, that used grownup captor as a living warp drive in her spaceship for millenia?
#helmsman
Meenah: hey that wasnt me
i mean not yet... uh alternate ways
#(blank face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Cronus: oh sure. no grub sauce on your hands!
Meenah: wow you did it ampora you totally changed my mind about you lets start makin out immediately
#not Cronus: just admit it. you have it within you to be just as harsh to our behelmented buddy as i am, if not more.
#helmchan Meenah: man
a girls gotta have fuel for her pimp ride know what im sayin like i probably took care of him good you know how it is someones gotta take care of the guy anyways and... yeah
#(frowning face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Cronus: oh, how the rationalizations begin to flow when it suits your over inflated ego. so very typical of the kind of people who reject me.
#i.e. literally everyone
Meenah: at least i dont think im an alien Cronus: what? what are you talking about?
Meenah: look at you all frontin in that stupid getup with your slicked hair and that dumb little wand in your mouth Cronus: excuse me. its not a wand. you know perfectly well my wizarding days are behind me. its called a "human cigarette" and apparently youre supposed to set it on fire.
although if you ask me, burning it seems like a waste of a perfectly good and cool "cigarette."
Meenah: i heard a rumor you think youre a human now that true
Cronus: its a private matter. i dont see why i should have to talk about it with you, and open myself up to more of your judgmental scorn.
Meenah: sounds like another desperate cry for attention imo
Kankri: I feel I should jump in here at this moment, Meenah, before you inadvertently shame Cronus for his extremely delicate feelings of species dysphoria.
Cronus: no, kankri... man, you dont need to jump in here and defend me like this. i got it.
Meenah: aaaaand im gone
you bros can figure out your boring feelings without me Cronus: meenah wait... aw man. just like that, shes out of my life again. you had to go and fuck it up for me, didnt you? some "friends" i have.
Kankri: Listen, I was doing you a favor. You dont need to be dating anyone who cant appreciate you for who you really are, or more importantly, which fantasy version of yourself you most strongly identify with.
Cronus: yeah, youre probably right. she doesnt appreciate me. so few of you cats do, really.
#even the ones who literally identify as cats
to be honest, she might be right. sometimes i think i might only be saying im a human to get attention. maybe i should give it up.

Kankri: I'd be extremely disappointed to hear that, if it were true. That would be such a slap in the face to all those who know themselves to be an alien while trapped in the pedestrian body of their own race. It would be unspeakably invalidating of their struggles and massively triggering to their emotions.

#TW #invalidated struggles #triggered emotions

but fortunately, I know you would never stoop as low as that. You understandably have doubts about your feelings and probably downplay them as a defense mechanism, since so few are prepared to recognize the legitimacy of your plight. but I am, and I just wanted you to know that I'm here for you, and am prepared to lecture to you extensively, I mean, listen to you extensively, about your ultra-important problem.

Cronus: wow. thanks, pal.

you're right. my feelings really are real. not fake, like the huge disappointing fraud that magic turned out to be.

i guess the truth is, deep down i always knew i was a 1950s-style human greaser.

i just needed to finally be introduced to human culture to make sense of those feelings.

Kankri: Wonderful. I'm so happy you have found the light of truth within yourself. Now join me in tagging our discussion with righteous warnings, as we consecrate your disadvantage in the holy annals of Problematics.

Be Mituna. The song changes back to Glamblorg. Talk to Cronus

Mituna: hey bro wantho here some sthlam poetry I made he just broke my skate board in half and walked away

Be Meenah. As Meenah, head back over the bridge and go north, to the room you couldn't go to as Mituna. A new area loads. You now stand on another grassy area amid a few strange plants and reddish rocks. The grass area narrows in a stair-stepping manner. At its narrowest point, which is still a dozen or so feet wide, it leads out onto a massive floating lily pad. There's a chest near the right edge of the grass. Open it.

You got a Tarot Deck!

Any aspiring seer would be crazy not to keep one of these on hand. Maybe you'll try selling it to Kankri later, or that talkative broad in the orange nightgown.

#highly desirable merchandise

Go north, onto the lily pad. A pink flower is half-open in the center of it and chunks of the battlefield float off to the side. It connects to another, slightly smaller lily pad to the northeast. There's a blue bubble on the second lily pad. Examine it.

This does not contain your memory. Only Meulin can access this bubble.

Head north, to another lily pad with an orange flower. Two more lily pads come off of it. One goes north and one goes west. To the right of the flower is a chest and to the left is a very odd looking troll. He has wild hair and wavy horns, like Gamzee. His face is painted with grey and white juggalo makeup. He's wearing a bodysuit with bones printed on it to make him look like a skeleton, a pair of purple underwear, and purple shoes. There are lines over his mouth. When you interact with him, three options appear.

[Note: Kurloz's name is written in purple, but a brighter purple than Gamzee's. His lips are sewn shut and his makeup looks almost skull-like. There are dark grey sections on his cheeks which make them look hollow. Above and between his eyes is also dark grey, making them look like malformed eye sockets. Most of the time he just smiles.]

Meenah: yo freak remember me

Kurloz: [Note: He makes a motion like zipping his lips, then smiles.]
#(smiley face with a round nose)
Meenah: its awesome we had this talk

Be Kurloz

You wouldn't even know how to begin being this oddball. Best to just leave him alone.

Go to the west lily pad. There's a pink flower and a chest. Open the chest.

A white, humanoid doll with several pins stuck in its head floats out.

You got a Juju!

A Voodoo Doll to be exact. You wonder what happens if you pull one of these pins...
Nah, better leave them be. Got a bad feeling about this thing. Really bad, uh... what's the word you're looking for. Bad...

Mojo?

#whatever you say

Go to the chest on Kurloz's lily pad.

You got a Spade Key!

Head to the north lily pad. It's empty, but it connects to a smaller one with a blue flower and a chest, which then connects to a massive one to the north. Open the chest.

A chess board with a few red and green pieces floats out of the chest.

You got a Juju!

Looks to be a Chess Set, to be specific. It's quite lovely. But...

A bunch of the pieces are missing. (sad face)

Head to the large lily pad. This one has a yellow flower, a large cat lusus with three mouths, and three chests lined up on the northwest edge. Go to the lusus.

#cat mom

Open the chests from left to right.

You got an Olive Potion!

This is supposed to be a love potion. Just one sip and Augh, It's Just More Nasty Troll Blood. What the hell is going on here? Who is even bottling this stuff?

Oh well, you'll hang on to it anyway. Maybe you'll be able to con some lovestruck sucker out of a whole mess of boonies for this slop.

#hustlin

(O.T.O.H., if you're not Meenah right now you just chuck it off the lily pad.)

A pink teapot with cats on it floats out of the next chest.

You got a Teapot!

chameowmile

#(cat face)

Nepeta's blue claws float out of the next chest.

You got a pair of Action Claws!
Whoa, easy there... you could accidentally grab one of them firmly, and then drag it across your face diagonally if you're not careful.

Head northwest, where another lily pad comes off of the large one. This one is the last in the line. On it, there is a memory bubble, a chest, and a troll. The troll has long, bushy hair and short-ish, triangular horns. She's wearing a long sleeve, collared black shirt under an olive green tee shirt with a black leo symbol on the chest, a knee-length black pencil skirt, olive socks, and black shoes. A blue tail trails on the ground behind her.

Go look at the bubble.

This does not contain your memory. Only Kurloz can access this bubble.

Open the chest.

You got a Heart Key!

Go to the troll. When you interact with her, three options appear.

#feel free to unclam those tatas
Meulin: (Crying blank cat face with whiskers)

For example, this time she spells L A Y U D, a flat handshape with her ring finger bent down at the middle knuckle, D A Y U R D, bent-ring-finger handshape, and so on. It doesn't spell anything out. In the text box, it shows a gif of Marceline of Adventure Time holding her head and swaying happily.]

to be conchnerst that sounds mad unlikely you would not even believe the boring conversations I just slogged through with some a you glubbin windbaggers
#even ones where I technically wasn't even "being me"
Meulin: (happy cat with whiskers) you sooo did though. We've all been through a lot together since we died. I believe we've made a lot of progress in dealing with our purrsonal issues and putting our old difurrences behind us.
#eternity has only strengthened my commitment to cat puns!!! #(Cat face with two mouths)
Meenah: don't sound like you put much time into your fightin skills though y'all do realize you might be on the verge of dying again right?
Meulin: (cat face with a nose, perked ears, and whiskers) and the shipping!!!!!!!!!

omg meenah, the shiiiiiiiiipping! (Crying cat face with whiskers) (celebrating cat face with whiskers) (smiling cat face with perked ears and whiskers) (smiling cat face with perked ears) you won't even believe who got together over the sweeps. And the quadrants! The quadrants they paired up in... It will blow. Your. Mind.

#don't #i...
(cat face with pursed lips and perked up ears) I can't.
#no #that's it
(cat face with perked ears, whiskers, and arms out) I am completely unable to can right now.
#have exactly zero cans
Meenah: (blank face wearing a tiara and goggles) Meulin: (crying cat face with whiskers) you don't understand, meenah. The feels.
#mimes incoming!!!
[note: rapid signing and a gif of boxes superimposed with "feels" falling on a man.]
[note: more signing and a gif of a woman laying down while crying and holding a hand over her eyes]
[note: more signing with a gif of Cole Phelps from L.A. Noire glitching so he goes stiff and falls backwards down some stairs with "#feelings" superimposed above him.]

Meenah: had a suspicion this chat would devolve into gossip about who banged who let me know if you wanna catch up on actual relevant shit some time
#heres ma math #yall got shell phones here right
holla at ya girl meumix

Ask Meulin to join

Meenah: so tell me
what exactly the bullshit reason you cant join me to go fight lord bad guy Meulin: (blank cat face with perked ears) you want me to go fight that guy with you???
(gasping cat face with perked ears) oh but I do not think that will be fleasible...
Meenah: noooooo shit
Meulin: (cat face with perked ears and whiskers) I don't want to completely wash my paws of the idea, but I just have so many balls of yarn in the air right now.
(cat turned to the side with perked ears, whiskers, one paw raised, and its tail held stiff) so many potential ships to juggle. A busy hypothetical matchmaker's job is never done!
Meenah: that isn't anything even close to resemblin a real responsibility
Meulin: (cat face with a nose, perked ears, and whiskers) I don't want you to think I don't give a lick about joining your fight, but I just don't think I will be very useful!
(cat turned to the side with perked ears, one paw raised, and a wiggling tail) by the way, "lick" was a subtle cat pun.
Meenah: dunno it doesn't sound like you give much a carp about anyfin that isn't shipping or sayin cat things btw "sound" was a subtle pun pertainin to oceanic geography
#also #carp' is a fish #and 'anyfin' is just a thing I say all the time duh
Meulin: (smiling cat face with perked ears) come oooooooooon meenah, don't you want to relax just a nip before you go right off to roughhive some more?
(gasping cat face with perked ears) I heard you have taken a keen interest in kankri's ancestor.
Meenah: sunnuva fish Meulin: (cat face turned to look at meenah with perked ears, whiskers, one paw held up and the other on its hip) well, meenah? Is that true?
#hmmm?????????
Meeanah: even if it was true which it is the very definition of aint how the shit could you have even heard something like that already #not literally heard #w ur ears #yaknowatimean
Meeulin: (very smiley cat face with whiskers) heeeeee! It's true, I just know it!!!!!!!!!
(cat face with whiskers and crossed out eyes) dies
#is dead
Meeanah: yes please do that Meeulin: (gasping cat face with whiskers, one paw raised and its tail held up) do you want me to set you up with him? Before you say no, I urge you not to underestimate the power of my romantic sorceries.
(gasping cat face with perked ears and its tail held up) you have been out of the loop for a long time, so you have no idea what kind of miracles have been wrought by the mage of heart!
(blushing smiley cat face with whiskers) now, before I work my magic, we should get one thing clear. Is your yearning red or black?
(crying, smiley cat face with whiskers) I am only asking to be absolutely certain, but methinks there is barely any doubt about it. Sommmeone is waxing scarlet for a loud, younger kankri, hmmmmmmmmmm?
Meeanah: leijon are you readin my lips pretend you can hear me and that im saying this so loud your kittycat ears hurt shhut thhhe fuuuuck uuup
Meeulin: (smiling cat face with perked ears)
Meeanah: dont set me up with anemonebouy kay
#anemonebouy #(two left arrows) how fishpuns be done #bouyeah
just keep it in your friendfics write about us doin it or whatever just shut up Meeulin: (gasping cat face with perked ears) ohhh. Geee. Emmm.
(happy cat with whiskers) I have the best idea for a fic like that.
(cat turned to the side with perked ears, one paw raised, and a wiggling tail) but don't worry, my policksy with such licentious material is the same as it's always been. I will not show a soul until I have shown it to you and the younger vantas, and you both appurrve. I promise!!!
Meeanah: yay another worthless conversation under ma belt!
#belt w a bedazzled fuchsia strap and a solid gold buckle
time to bounce

Be Meeulin.

You are now Meeulin. The song Olive Rogue begins to play.

Talk to Meeanah.

Meeanah: what Meeulin: (smiling cat face with perked ears) oh!!!!!!!!!! I meant to ask...
(smiling cat face with perked ears, whiskers and arms thrown in the air) have you met the humans yet?
Meeanah: yeah
Meeulin: (blushing smiley cat face with whiskers) omg aren't the just so perf???
Meeanah: nah
don't see what the big deal with em is Meeulin: (cat face with pursed lips and perked up ears) meenah, no.
(sighing cat face with closed eyes and perked ears) they are all so perfectly adorable.
(smiling cat face with perked ears) each is literallly more precious and purrfect than the last.
Meenah: if only you could hear how bonkers you sound
Meulin: (cat turned to the side with perked ears, one paw raised, and a wiggling tail) meenah.
Meenah. No.
#meenah.
(blank cat face with perked ears and tail raised) you don't understand.
(gasping cat face with whiskers, one paw raised, and tail held up) they are my babies.
Meenah: wtf's a babie
Meulin: (happy cat with whiskers) they are my perfect precious gay little babies!!!!!!!!!
Meenah: uh
whats gay
Meulin: (very smiley cat face with whiskers) it's a thing that human babies are sometimes I think!
Meenah: cant even deal w this meu
#failing to can #when it comes to dealin w it Meulin: (gasping cat face with perked ears) oh and do you even have the slightest idea what the shipping implicatpuns are???
(smiling cat face with perked ears, whiskers, one paw raised, and tail held up) by adding the humans into the picture, both pre-scratch and scratch-post, it has increased the pairing pawsibilities exponentenially!
(sighing cat face with closed eyes and perked ears) it's really been overwhelming, I can't even...
(cat face with pursed lips and perked up ears) I just
#no
(zoned out cat face with whiskers) that's it.
#i can't
(crying cat face with a nose and whiskers) I'm so done.
[note: she frowns and signs rapidly. A gif of a guy stepping out of a window in a conference room next to superimposed "i'm done"] [note: she smiles again and signs more. A gif of an octopus tightly curled up and walking along sea bed under a superimposed "nope nope nope nope"] [note: more signing. A gif of abraham simpson of the simpsons walking into a room, hanging up his hat, noticing bart simpson, then immediately turning around, taking his hat, and leaving again.)
Meenah: hate to change the subject
#not really
but I kinda side stepped past kurloz back there whilst granting him a wide berth
#didnt wanna get tangled up in his hair
he obviously wont say a thing to me which is probs for tha best but since he actually talks to you maybe you can answer stuff Meulin: (very smiley cat face with whiskers) like what!
#hair poofing tips?
Meenah: like do you know if hes god tier im building this army and its going horribubbly so far and im sure it would be unimaginably horrendous havin him along but I needs all the muscle I can get know what im sayin Meulin: (blank cat face turned away from meenah) I actually don't know!
(smiling cat face with perked ears and whiskers) yes we are pretty close, but you know how he is.
He's still very sneakretive and still loves making riddles out of everything.
(smiling cat face with perked ears and whiskers) he's been very excited lately. He feels that so many of his spooky religion's prophecies are on the verge of coming true, and the stars are coming into felinement.
(smiling cat face with perked ears and whiskers) remember how he used to go on and on about the messiahs, angels of double death, and all that wacky stuff?
Meenah: yeah we always had way waaay too many religious nutjobs in our party so I always tunad him trout
#moar slamin puns #or should I say... #Salmon back when he could talk at least then he did us all the psycho favor of sewing his mouth shut so it was win win
#angels of double win more like
Meulin: (blank cat face) heh. I suppose.
Meenah: please dont take this for interest in shippin talk but you and he arent a red item anymore right Meulin: (very smiley cat face with whiskers) oh no no no that was a long time ago.
(very smiley cat face with whiskers) we're just really good friends now. We hang out and joke around all the time. He even helps me with my grids!
Meulin: (cat turned to the side with perked ears, one paw raised, and a wiggling tail) generally I stick to the red matchups while he advises on black. He's eerily talented at picking blackrom pairs! Probably even better than me...
Meenah: dag what a boring fact but its cool youre good fronds still I thought I picked up heavy planktonic vibes from you now why dontcha run along and talk to him make use a your mutually compatible disabilities for communicatin and whatnot
#unabilitied mofos errywhere
[note: she purses her lips and it shows a gif of batman putting a glass tube over his head while "conversation over" appears]

Still as Meulin, walk south to Kurloz.

Talk to Kurloz.

Meulin: [Note: signing and a gif of Totodile of Pokemon with hearts for eyes]
Kurloz: [Note: two-handed signing and a gif of a man dancing with a knife in his mouth and playing cards in his hands]
#(smiley face with a round nose)
Meulin: [Note: signing and a gif zooming in on a surprised-looking bird of prey]
Kurloz: [Note: two handed signing and a gif of a man opening a door and reacting very negatively to what he sees]
#(smiley face with a round nose)
Meulin: [Note: signing and a gif of a woman high-fiving herself and poinings off-camera]
Kurloz: [Note: two handed signing and a gif of an Ewok named Wicket hugging a small blonde boy.)
#(smiley face with a round nose)
Meulin: [Note: signing and a gif of Usagi Tsukino of Sailor Moon with a very odd look on her face. Maybe she's shouting?]
[Note: signing and a gif of a button labelled "Unsee" being pressed repeatedly] Kurloz: [Note: two handed signing and a gif of The Doctor from Doctor Who standing in the rain with a sad look on his face]
#(smiley face with a round nose)
[Note: two handed signing and a gif of Gamzee's cod piece]
#(smiley face with a round nose)

Give Kurloz a Cod Piece?

Yes.

You don't have a Cod Piece! You have not obtained such exquisite finery yet. Perhaps you should do a bit more treasure hunting?

Walk south, to the dreambubble Meenah couldn't access.

You remember spending a fair amount of your time hopping around these lily pads. Once you stumbled on a treasure so rare, so incredible, you could find neither the words nor the mimes to describe it. Alas, you lost it. Could this be the gateway to that special memory?

A set of white stairs appears east of you. They lead down onto a small lily pad with a single chest on it. Open the chest.

You got a Cod Piece!

So soft, so inviting... you are fighting the temptation to wear it right now with all your might. If the crotch was any more forgiving, it would be canonized by the Vatican.

Go back and talk to Kurloz again. It's the same conversation of gifs, so we'll skip to the end.

Give Kurloz a Cod Piece?

Yes

Kurloz's eyes begin to flash various shades of purple and his face is flat. The text box turns black with a purple border and his words are written in a large font made of bones and in all caps. Unlike any other conversation between characters, his text is not preceded by his name. Only text from Hussie or information text to the player lacks this, usually. It has been put in for ease of reading.

Kurloz: excellent work, my mage with this most righteous mother fuckin pelvic apparel, the wicked ensemble is now complete it must be delivered to the bard of rage at once, so that he may continue our mirthful mother fuckin work

Meulin's eyes flash the same color and she looks almost hypnotized.

Meulin: (zoned out cat face with whiskers) all hail the one true messiah.
#otm #rydas and ninjettes represent
Kurloz: long live the angel of double death Meulin: (zoned out cat face with whiskers) may the bard's riotous chucklevoodoos inspire tightmares in all who would oppaws calicorn, and may the jocularkitty of his vast honk ring loud and mother fuckin true all the way to shangri lol.
#much clown love
Kurloz: church. Ok, thats enough of mother fuckin that pious noise time to rendezvous with my homie killa and drop the special science on him Meulin: (zoned out cat face with whiskers) may this ludicrous pair of shorts assniffst his holy mission, and flummox all who would catst their unworthy gaze pon its fresh fuckin bulge.
Kurloz: ay mother fuckin men, my wicked kittybitch

You are now Kurloz.

Talk to Meulin

The text box is normal again, and Kurloz's text is back to the standard font and size as well. His eyes don't flash and he smiles again.
Kurloz: (smiley face with a round nose) [Note: he waves.]

Meulin's eyes don't flash either.

Meulin: (zoned out cat face with whiskers, one paw raised, and its tail held up) Whew... (blank cat face with perked ears) kurzorz, my head feels really foggy. (blank cat face with perked ears) what just happened? I don't even remember walking over here. #did we just toke on some bad nip or something?

Kurloz: [Note: two handed signing and a gif of the Joker from The Dark Knight clapping]
#(smiley face with a round nose)

Meulin: (very smiley cat face with whiskers) Heeheehee!!! You're right, I shouldn't worry about it. [Note: signing and a gif of Madara of Natsume Yuujinchou, a cat from an anime, dancing]

Kurloz: [Note: two handed signing and a gif of the G-Man of Half-Life with his arms glitching and knocking a computer off a desk]
#(smiley face with a round nose)

Meulin: [Note: signing and a gif of Princess Bubblegum of Adventure Time flipping a table with a potted plant on it]

Kurloz: [Note: two handed signing and a gif of a woman watching a man kick over a potted plant, then turning to the camera with a sad look on her face]
#(smiley face with a round nose)

Meulin: [Note: signing and a gif of a performer kissing her hand and pointing out to the audience while mouthing 'I love you']

Kurloz: (smiley face with a round nose)

Meulin: (cat turned to the side with perked ears and a wiggling tail) what's that? You have to go run an errand? (blushing, smiling cat face with perked ears and whiskers) okeedokee, have fun!

Kurloz: [Note: two handed signing and a gif of Homer Simpson of The Simpsons backing into a bush]

As Kurloz, head north, towards Meenah. As you get close, you stop and a text box appears. Kurloz speaks in his purple bones against a black background, again without his name preceding them. He stares out of the screen, like he's talking directly to you.

there is no need to approach the young misguided empress she remains blissfully unaware of the machinations which transpire between the heroes of rage let her try to raise her pathetic army of souls. She will be double slain by our lord like all the other mirthless heretics [note: he moves his hands across his throat in a cutting motion.] honk [note: he smacks one fist into his other palm.] honk [note: this honk is even larger and his eyes begin to flash purple.]

Still as Kurloz, and without speaking to Meenah, go to the bubble at the north end of the last lily pad.

You've kept many secrets from your friends. Secrets to you were always the most beautiful miracles of all. They are the private answers to a bunch of riddles no one ever asked.

But since this place is made of memories, you've had to be extra careful with your secrets. You've carved out an extensive network of virtual catacombs throughout the bubbles, leading to hidden treasures, black recollections, and perhaps one or two illicit dropoff points.

A large, cracked purple archway appears to your right. Go in. A new room loads. You now stand at the north end of a long, purple hallway. The aesthetic is similar to Derse, but darker and more ominous. Two chests flank the archways. Open them from left to right.
A red crowbar floats out of the chest.

You got a Juju Breaker!

This is an extremely rare, dangerous, and particularly blasphemous item. The thought of destroying a precious juju makes your blood boil. This must be guarded carefully. You cannot let it fall into the wrong hands.

A green chest floats out of the other chest.

You got a Juju Chest!

Only a cherub can open it. You would be double-dying of curiosity to know what's inside, except for the fact that it would be heresy to even wonder. And you would bite your tongue for having the thought, if you hadn't already chewed it off long ago.

Walk south, down the narrow hall. Everything slowly grows darker until you come to a purple silhouette with wild hair standing in the darkness. Kurloz speaks to the silhouette without any prompting. It's in the bone text against a black background.

Kurloz: I come bearing thee final jolly accoutrement my faithful invertebrother thy bardly regalia is done and fucking dusted by the special stars themselves on this day the dark carnival rejoiced and said it was money now bring to life our wicked ruse with aplomb my ninja our lord awaits your servitude and tutelage at once we shall now bust open these bitchin elixir forties and pour some sweet swill out for the souls who soon wont be no more #(smiley face with a round nose)

The other person speaks. It's Gamzee, but he's shown as a black silhouette with only the yellows of his eyes, his horns, the symbol on his chest, and the three scratches on his face in color. He speaks in all lowercase this time.

Gamzee: shut your mother fucking mouth and give me the cod piece
Kurloz: [Note: he draws his fingers over his mouth in a zipping motion, then smiles.]

Everything fades to black, then suddenly you're Meenah again, standing on the last lily pad. You have the last two keys now, so head south, then west back to the puzzle door.

Use spade key

The spade key appears as a black spade in the bottom left quadrant.

Use heart key

The heart key doesn't appear because the door vanishes instead. Before you go through the now open archway, talk to Mituna again.

Meenah: dont let the haters get you down kid
Mituna: fischy fuckey bisque azz hag
Meenah: oh well yall cant say I didnt try to treat you nice Mituna: [Note: Mituna's visor flashes and a gold star with "you tried" in it appears.] Meenah: ey!
should be the one to condescend to YOU with that mime
what considerin your uber flagrant mental probs you be shells of aggravatin captor
i seriously gotta ditch this fuckin area and get on with my lil adventure deal

Go talk to Cronus again, too.

Meenah: nope

Since Meenah refused to talk to Cronus, go through the door. A new room loads. You now stand in Karkat's respite block as it was when he was introduced. His lusus stands in the corner and Karkat stands between his desk and his dresser. Go look at the lusus first.

GRUUUUUMMBLE

Looks like someone's custodian is in a permanently surly mood today, as well as all other days.

#crab dad

Go to Karkat. Two options appear when you interact with him. Talk to Karkat. Be Karkat.

Talk to Karkat

Karkat: hey, get the fuck out of my... Oh. It's you again.
sorry, for a second I thought eridan's awful ancestor found his way in here.
I didn't even know it was possible to be more of a shitbag than that guy, but somehow ampora teen-senior pulls it off?
I wouldn't have believed it if I didn't absorb it with my own aggravation sponge. Just incredible.
Meenah: yeah vantas im gonna clue you in on somefin mosta my crew is hecks of dreadful to be around Karkat: I know!!!
how is it even possible for a group of people to suck so much, when they're presumably almost genetically identical to a bunch of people I like?
maybe it's the age difference? Or the fact that they all grew up on a planet for lame pansies who are civically obligated to wet themselves daily.
Meenah: ahahahahaha
Karkat: I have to admit, meeting all our ancestors like this has been kind of overwhelming.
I kind of had to get away from everyone and be alone for a while. Hopefully I'll just fucking wake up soon.
Meenah: oh uh
you want I should step off Karkat: uh
no, that's ok.
you're actually fine, mostly. I just couldn't take another encounter with red sweater guy.
he's left my head spinning, and not just because he never shuts the fuck up.
for a long time, I didn't even believe we had ancestors. I thought even the concept of ancestors was just superstitious, ego-stroking aristocratic bullshit.
but not only does it turn out you're all real, but apparently you had this whole different culture in an alternate universe before us? Sorry, that's a lot to take in.
wait...
oh, no. No, fuck me. Holy fuck.
"before us?" God dammit. I just got that.
see? That's what I'm talking about. Meeting you guys has made me have little infuriating revelations like that almost constantly.
like, now it casts the name of my own planet in a whole new stupid light. Alternia? As in, alternate? Alternate to what. Turns out it is the alternative to a planet called beforus! The planet which came befooore us. Hahaha! Get it?
whatever jokers named these planets were complete fucking morons.
Meenah: well fwiw
alternias da bomb compared to my planet and im not just saying that because grownup me ran the joint (very happy face wearing a tiara and goggles) Karkat: hey, don't let anyone kid you. Alternia was fucking great.
I don't even care that my blood made me a pariah. It was worth to it live on such a badass planet.
some people liked to talk shit about the empress. And it's true, she probably would have culled the shit out of me on sight. But you know what? I always respected her as a strong leader.
she knew how to get shit done and didn't put up with dissension from worthless idiots. And all she did was, you know... Take over the entire fucking galaxy. Not too shabby.
I used to have this kind of embarrassing fantasy that I would grow up one day and become a threshecutioner. Do you know what that is?
Meenah: ?
Karkat: they were like the deadleisest squad of interstellar fighters under the command of the empress. They helped conquer more planets than any other imperial force. But it would have been impossible for me to make the cut, because of my blood. So I used to think of all these elaborate scenarios to hide my blood color. Or in the more ridiculous fantasies, maybe I could even prove my worth as a soldier? Like just be so awesome with a sickle, they would just have to make an exception. Maybe even be like a folk hero and rise through the ranks to become the leader. Haha.
those were obviously just some childish day dreams. I've learned a lot about what being a leader really means since then. Mainly that it's a lot harder than everyone thinks.
so I guess I learned to respect who you turned out to be on my world even more than I did already, because of that.
Meenah: yeah
the leadership thing is hard as globes could barely get anyone to lift a flippin finger in my session and now its like that all over again trying to raise this army
I reely dunno how sexy bitch grownup me pulled it off Karkat: oh yeah. How is that going?
how many recruits do you have?
Meenah: want to take a guess Meenah: I know!!!!!!
Karkat: well look, how about this. Later on, when I'm awake obviously, maybe our meteor will hit a rendezvous point with you again.
if by then, you're still looking for recruits, I'll like... Hop off the meteor or something. And join your army.
Meenah: [Note: Delighted expression]
Karkat: then we, I mean you and me and whatever other idiots you've rounded up, can all go fight the invincible demon.
Meenah: [Note: Delighted expression]
Karkat: I don't know why every time I turn around, I'm up against an invincible demon of one sort or another. I guess that's just the impossible kind of thing paradox space wants me to do to prove I'm not some horrible mistake of nature. Anyway, does that sound good?
Meenah: [Note: Delighted expression]
Karkat: oh, but on one condition. As the new empress, you have to appoint me as grand threshecutioner of your army. Do we have a deal?
Meenah: oh yes yes you got it yessss Karkat: good. Ok, that's settled.
now I'm going to go for a walk, do some more thinking. Alone. Ok?
Just uh... Make yourself at home here... In this strange memory projection of my room. I'd tell you not to rifle through my shit, but none of it is even real. So go nuts. Whatever.

I'm leaving.

Be Karkat?

Yes

You are now Karkat. Talk to Meenah

Karkat: like I said, make yourself at home.
feel free to hang out with my lusus there. Though I should warn you, he's never met another kid he didn't make at least some vague attempt to eat.

Go out through the door. Even though it's the same door Meenah entered through, you don't go out to the lownring. Instead, you come out of a door-sized hole in the side of a massive blue stump.
You come out just below the cut, which is still several stories above the ground. Branches with pink leaves come from trees in the background and lower on the stump. A path made of blue planks spirals around the tree counterclockwise and rises to the top of the stump. There's a chest on top. Open it.

You got a Stabbing Cane!

It would be really unfortunate to be blind and walk around without having a reliable instrument to help you stab where you're going.

A set of stairs to the west of the stump leads down. They're also made of blue planks, but they're held up by scaffolding made of blue logs and brown rope. Head down them. You get to a small landing, where the stairs turn south. Keep going down. At another landing, they turn east. Keep going. You exit onto the forest floor, at the base of the stump. There's a chest among the roots. Open it.

You got a sack full of Embezzled Beetles!

It is the absolute perfect currency for bribing corrupt prosecutors when you find yourself in the hot seat with the law. Their greedy snouts simply cannot resist. Just make sure the terrifying brainless monster judge doesn't catch you in the act! You have to wait for His Tyranny to be distracted by something besides the judicial proceedings. This is an occurrence that is far from infrequent.

Just east of the chest, beyond another root, is Terezi. She's wearing her dragon cape and looks down dejectedly. Her hood is pulled up, hiding her face in shadow. Just east of her, two large, three-toed feet stick out of the leaves and stand on the ground. One is white and one is black.

Talk to Terezi

Karkat: terezi, what are you doing here? I didn't know you were asleep.
Terezi: shrug
Karkat: why are you here all alone in the woods? Or the pretend woods, I guess.
and why do you have your dragon cosplay pulled down like that? Is something the matter?
Terezi: no
im fine
Karkat: you don't sound fine. Don't bullshit me like that, I know when something's up with you.
Terezi: karkat please just leave me alone Karkat: ok, I get it if you want some alone time. I mean, I actually just got done sulking the fuck out myself just now. but it really helps to talk to somebody. You can talk to me about stuff, you know that right? Terezi: yeah, I guess Karkat: is it dave? Did he do something douchey again? Terezi: ...
Karkat: did he break up with you? He broke up with you, didn't he. I knew it, I could just see the writing on the wa...
Terezi: he didn't break up with me!!! it has nothing to do with dave Karkat: ok then what Terezi: its my ancestor
Karkat: yeah? What about her.
Terezi: she shes just so radical (frowning face with furrowed brows)
Karkat: huh?
Terezi: I just did not know it was even possible to be so rad
I almost cant handle it karkat the radness
how does she do it?
Karkat: well, let's see. She rides a fucking skateboard. And that's it. Pretty much end of the explanation.
Terezi: I think it is so much more than that everyone loves her she is so sassy and fun, shes the best at games, and all her stunts are incredible how am I supposed to measure up to that?
Karkat: oh come on don't tell me this is going to be a thing with you now.
Terezi: what thing?
Karkat: a self esteem thing.
you really shouldn't be like that, it's just so unwarranted.
Terezi: well thats how I feel, so too bad!!!
Karkat: terezi, I can't stress this enough. You are not in anyone's shadow.
let me tell you something about our ancestors.
they're all assholes!!!
Terezi: (blank face with furrowed brows)
she is not an asshole Karkat: no, she is. Trust me.
they all are. At least the vast majority.
they practically aren't even people. They're walking, talking, like...
I don't know how to put it. Almost like living parodies of horrible, cliched behavior patterns.
Terezi: what, you mean like...
teenagers?
Karkat: yes.
but it's more than just that. Take my ancestor for example.
total asshole! Probably the worst asshole there is.
you wouldn't know it right away because I guess he doesn't yell at people like me? But that probably makes it worse.
he just goes on and on about the most sanctimonious, incomprehensible garbage you ever heard.
He thinks he's better than everyone but then dresses it up in this bogus hyper-academic humility. He tries to defend people with "problems" but just winds up insulting those people in backhanded ways. He lectures people endlessly, and whenever he rises to the "defense" of his friends he usually ends up giving them a big fuck you by being implicitly judgmental.

I could really go on forever about him, but I won't, because then I'd be stooping to his level.

Terezi: hehe...

Karkat: and your ancestor? Yeah, she's "fun" I guess. But talk about a phony.

oh and I don't give a fuck what anyone says, losing your sense of smell is not a real disability!!! her rad girl thing is such an obvious act. She's clearly worked for sweeps on perfecting it, and quite apparently revels in the attention it gets her.

but the fact that she works so hard on it is exactly why you don't have anything to worry about. you don't even need to try to be the good person you already are.

see, you already know how to have fun and be likable by just being yourself. It doesn't need to be part of some over the top schtick to impress people. When she does the rad girl thing it's like a disguise, probably covering up some part of herself she's unhappy with. But when you withdraw and cover yourself up like that, you're actually just preventing people from seeing someone who's already beautiful.

Terezi: ...

Karkat: I know I completely fucked up with you. This isn't, uh... Ok. I'm not like trying to redeem myself here. I made my recuperacoon and now I have to wriggle around in its slime. I totally accept that. But as your friend I really don't want you to start feeling bad about yourself because of one of these shallow, two dimensional dipshits. But I totally concede that you made your choice about me, and I respect your decision. I just want you to be happy is all.

Terezi: ...

Karkat: ok, I'm probably just sticking my foot in my fucking talk blaster yet again, and I'm probably making you uncomfortable. I guess I'll go back to my room now. I hope you take at least some of what I said seriously though.

um. Yeah. Ok, bye.

Head back up the stairs. Eventually, the screen stops following Karkat and you switch to being Terezi. The song changes to Teal Seer. As Terezi, climb back up to the door. When you enter, you don't end up in Karkat's block. Instead, you find yourself in Terezi's room as it was when she was introduced, in all it's neon-colored, chalk-covered glory. Meenah's there too, hanging out in the corner. Talk to her.

Terezi: oh... Hey

its you
what are you doing in my hive?

Meenah: shit pyrope dont sniff at me
I was standin around in shoutkats place when it all dream switched on me outta nowhere Terezi: did you see him come in here?

Meenah: naw
wait you lookin for him now too?

Terezi: yes

Meenah: good luck with that the guys slippery as a goddamn eel spent all day tracking him down myself but I finally caught up with him a while ago

Terezi: oh?

Meenah: yeah
and I think we might be goin on a date later?

Terezi: what Meenah: I mean
maybe
I dunno if I'm misreading his intent there you might know better than me
Terezi: what did he say?
Meenah: well whatever the case is later he's going to hop off the meteor and fight Lord Invincible with me
whatta you think am I reading too much into shit or Terezi: umm...
shrug (blank face with furrowed brows) Meenah: yeah guess well sea anyway I'm out this hive you got is craycray Pyrope can appreciate a girl with a gaudy sense of design

Be Meenah?

Yes

Talk to Terezi

Meenah: ps your dragon outfit rules
Terezi: (smiley face with furrowed brows)

Exit the room. You exit to stump in the forest, but the western stairway is gone, as is the chest that had the cane. Now, Aranea's exposition booth sits up there and a rope bridge leads off to the east.
Go talk to Aranea. It changes to the Charlie Brown drawing of Meenah at Aranea's exposition booth. There are six options.

Ask Aranea about Cherubquest.
Tell me about Cronus Ampora.
Tell me about Mituna Captor.
Tell me about Kurloz Makara.
Tell me about Meulin Leijon.
Peace out.

Ask Aranea about Cherubquest

Aranea: I...
Still haven't found her quite yet.
Meenah: any leads or Aranea: Not really.
She's apparently very well hidden!
Meenah: um yeah sure
but have you even really been looking Aranea: Um...
Meenah: or have you been fucking around with your lil exposition stand Aranea: I have been dividing my time efficiently. but thank you for your concern.
Meenah: it wasn't even that long ago we talked about other boring stuff you had to drag your stand over to the top of this tree like all waiting for me up here how long did that take Aranea: Never mind about that!
And yes, I did stop along the way to explain some important things to people.
People are curious about information, Meenah. They want to KNOW things, alright?
Meenah: they want to know...
or you want to tell them?
Aranea: both!!!!!!!
Meenah: ok lemme ask this did you pay them so you could explain stuff Aranea: ...
Yes.
So????????
Meenah: so how long would you estimate you spent cherub hunting in between your splainins Aranea: I...
Look. Finding this cherub was always going to be a slow burning quest. It is an intricate, layered mystery that can't be rushed. I'm working up to it!!!!!!!!!
Meenah: aranea serket i have somefin to explain to you at no expense
i find your humorously ineffective approach to this quest to be max adorbs Aranea:
Tell me about Cronus Ampora

Aranea: The bard of Hope may seem a little jaded these days, but he once had a deeply abiding faith in magic, and dedicated himself to becoming a great wizard. He became convinced he was hatched to defeat an extraordinarily evil magician, one he swore the angels foretold of. Though when pressed for the name of the man, he would not say it, claiming it was too dangerous to even enunciate. Part of his self-aggrandizing mythos was that this magician once somehow from afar tried to strike him down at a young age, so he would never have to face him, but the evil spell was deflected, sealing the magician's spirit away in a series of unassuming vessels until he could find some other cunning way to enter our universe. The attack supposedly left him with his distinctive scar, which he was not reluctant to point out when trying to hit on me. Uh, I mean, he wasn't reluctant to mention it in casual conversation.
but at some point he became disillusioned with magic. If there ever was any truth to his far fetched vision, the legacy of defeating the evil magician would have to be passed on to his descendant, or if his descendant proved to be as much of a failure as he did, then perhaps on to some other Hero of Hope. I'm unsure why he suffered this crisis of faith, aside from the obvious reasons having to do with an overall lack of character, or any other redeeming qualities. Perhaps someone talked him out of his beliefs. Maybe a friend close to him. Or, if one is to believe his fantasy held any water, perhaps someone who was in league with the evil magician. Whatever the case, it was probably for the best, since pretty much everyone who had half a think pan thought it was all a bunch of ridiculous nonsense.
Meenah: serket why do you got to hate on other peoples religions dont you kno they just as much a load of crackpotty bunk as all your spiritual bullfuck Aranea: but I...
Yes, I guess I was out of line.
Sorry, I was just trying to riff with you little on a mutually disliked acquaintance. Is that really so bad? Why do you have to take every opportunity to knock my personal beliefs?
You can really be so mean sometimes.
Meenah: can i have my money now Aranea: Yes. Here.

Tell me about Mituna Captor

Aranea: The Heir of Doom was once a powerful psionic. He was gifted with vision twofold, and had strong prophetic insights wherever a bleak future was concerned. He had much to say when it came to warning us about the path of doom and destruction we were all headed for, but no one took him very seriously, but one day he lost all these abilities when he badly overexerted himself. It's hard to get any specifics from him, but indications are that he applied every last bit of energy he had toward some great act of heroism, saving us all from some looming threat. Not only did his exertion permanently burn out his psychic abilities, but it left him somewhat... er. Incoherent.

Meenah: yeah i always wondered what happened there anyone ever get to the bottom a that Aranea: No. The entire incident is shrouded in mystery. From his limited and scattered accounts of what happened, it seems very likely that Kurloz was with him at the time, as the only eye witness. And of course it's impossible to get any reliable information out of him. I guess we may never know, sadly.

Meenah: hey this was actually kinda interesting it was Well worth taking the money youre givin me to put up with it Aranea: Agreed! (very happy face with eight eyes)

Tell me about Kurloz Makara

Aranea: Prince of Rage actually used to be quite talkative. That is, until he had a nightmare which prompted a bizarre incident, after which he would never speak again. He took a sort of spiritual vow of silence, which I'm sure was probably related to his esoteric faith. Thereafter he became infuriatingly enigmatic. I've found it impossible to get any info out of him, between his ambiguous mimes and penchant for riddles. It's very frustrating, especially for someone like me, who has a passion for gathering as many facts about our story as possible.

Want to know a secret? Please don't tell anyone, but I really can't stand the guy. It's probably unfair to him because he is obviously such a sweet and harmless fellow. but something about him rubs me the wrong way. I guess I can just be a little petty sometimes.

Meenah: yeah... wow serket just wow so rude poor clown
Aranea: Don't give me that! I seem to remember you having more than a few unkind words for him behind his back.

Meenah: yeah im messin witchu he sux
so conversation over?
Aranea: Yes.

Tell me about Meulin Leijon

Mage of Heart as you know is an ardent disciple of the romantic sciences. She has a well earned reputation as a miracle worker when it comes to match making, but her own romantic history ironically has been riddled with trouble and heartbreak.

Once, well before our session began, she and Kurloz were in a very loving matespritship. It really seemed to everyone they were made for each other. One day, they fell asleep together. Kurloz then had a nightmare so terrifying, he released the most dreadful sound imaginable. It truly echoed the horror of the Vast Honk itself. The noise was so loud and so awful, Meulin went completely deaf, and her hearing never recovered. Kurloz was undoubtedly devastated by what he'd done to her. He was so distraught, he sewed his mouth shut, and has never spoken a word since.

Though they drifted apart as matesprits, Meulin never held it against him, and even seemed to take delight in learning new ways to communicate. They continued to remain very close to this day.
Maybe a little too close, if you ask me. It's clear that her sympathies have been gradually swayed in support of the Highblood's cult. She stays private about her beliefs, but now and then I'll notice she lets some tenet of mirthful doctrine slip out. I suppose I shouldn't be too concerned though, since it's almost certainly a lot of harmless superstition.

Meenah: Honk
Aranea: Honk honk! (smiley face with eight eyes)
Meenah: lol im glad we can both agree that clowny fuckin soda cult is the dumbest shit ever Aranea: Yes. Now here is your money. Thanks for listening!
Meenah: serks do you even know how silly yall are (heart)

Peace out

It exits back to the walkaround. Head east, over the bridge.

This leads to the end of the game. Are you sure you're done here?

Yes.

Everything fades to black.]

This troll looks like Rufio from Hook- he has black hair dyed red at the tips and shaped into a mohawk. After, what... another hour? Another hour of bumbling through the afterlife with very little to show for your efforts, you decide to pause the game again. You can only spend so long powering through the dead troll equivalent of an unpleasant high school reunion without making a trip to the load gaper, or fixing yourself a little snack from the hunger trunk.

There's definitely someone else we should be checking in with right now. Someone we are all desperate for an update on. And that someone is...

This Guy!

This is the guy who you are now being.
The feisty mailwoman is still chasing you. Unbelievable. She hardly seems to care at all that something is causing reality to shatter around you. For a moment, you thought you and she might be able to reach an uneasy truce. To stand together if only for a moment and assess the ominous cracks spreading through the void. Maybe even take some time to get to know each other a little, and try to bury the hatchet? You are so tired of running.

But no. She is as furious as ever. What did you even do? Just a couple of routine murders, which was Two Years Ago already. The ring hath no fury, you swear. She is never going to stop. Her delivery is justice, and as you know all too well, nothing stops the mail.

You need to find somewhere to hide and rest for a while.

There.

There.

There.

There.

There.

John swirls his hands like he's getting ready to attack and yells.

John blasts Bec Noir with blue energy, knocking the Vrillyhoo hammer from his hands and sending it spinning.

The hammer begins to fall. A blue blur passes and it's gone. Instead, the words Sweet Catch appear, then fade.

John tries to bring the hammer down on Bec Noir's head, but he blocks it with his sword.

John pushes down on him, but he keeps blocking.

They fly past the pond and John slams his hammer into Bec Noir's sword in a callback to P.M. and Jack fighting near the end of Act 5.

Jack swings his sword down at John, who blocks. The pond behind them shimmers and prospitan towers crumble.

John wrenches the sword from Bec Noir's hands as two tornados build up around them.

John watches as Bec Noir flies off.

P.M. stops next to John, who leans away from her and looks slightly concerned.

Bec Noir flies away from the dreambubble with P.M. right on his tail. The hat flies off and drifts back towards the bubble. Cracks appear around the bubble and begin branching in towards it. A frame fades in around the bubble and a set of open green curtains do too. Before they can begin to close, the inside of the frame turns white and 'Psyche' appears in the center. The frame and curtains disappear as it zooms back in on the bubble, then on the planet at its center, then through the clouds, all the way back to John, who still looks concerned. The hat floats down past him and his eyes follow it.

John flies across an empty battlefield. He carries his hammer loosely at his side and looks dejected.

He lands and walks towards a red mountain on the horizon, where the sky bleeds to yellow.

He walks towards a forest that's sprung up in front of the mountains. The hammer lies abandoned near his Dad's car, which has been crashed into a tree.

He walks into a desert under the skies of Land of Maps and Treasure.

Strange hollow, buzzing sounds, muffled hoofbeats, and distant whinnies play as it pans sideways over a desert. A herd of horses runs across a cliff in the background. A trail of footprints crosses the scene and, eventually, we see John at the end of it.

The same sounds play. John walks through the desert as horses run in the background. He looks worn out and lost.

The sounds play again as the horses run up to John. John spots one and looks confused and like he can't quite believe what he's seeing.

The sounds once again play. John shoves his hands in his pockets and walks over a sand dune. It zooms in on his feet as they walk. The way they're animated, with it fading from frame to frame, gives it an almost dream-like quality. Or like someone has heat stroke.]

John: who are you?
Tavros: I'm, your worst bad dream, if you don't return my treasure,
I found it, snuggled in the sand, being pretty and gold and by itself, and I want it back,
John: so you found it here, like exactly where I just found it... But then instead of picking it up, you fell asleep?
Tavros: when you put it that way, I sound stupid,
but, yes,
John: sorry buddy. As the age old saying goes, you snooze, you lose.
Tavros: I never heard that age old saying, in my culture, so, fuck your lingual heritage, and give me the ring,
John: why were you even asleep?
Tavros: I was tired,
duh,
John: this is such a dumb place to fall asleep, dude.
Tavros: treasure hunting is hard,
she has me working like a barkfiend,
John: who?
Tavros: my matesprit,
that means girlfriend, you ignoramus,
John: I know what it means!
no offense, but you seem like kind of a lame troll. I don't think we ever talked before, did we?
Tavros: who cares, give me my treasure,
John: no way! It's mine bro.
Tavros: shit!
okay,
maybe we can work out some kind of deal,
John: I dunno. This ring is pretty sweet. The price would have to be pretty steep.
Tavros: wow,
you are really putting me, in an uncomfortable and challenging situation, John: why do you want this desert ring so bad. Is it magic?
I don't really feel magic wearing it...
I mean, not any more than usual.
Tavros: I don't know, if it's magic,
that's not why I want it,
John: well, I'm not giving it to you unless you have a really good reason.

you're an awful human, by the way,
John: yeah right, dude. Would an awful guy be wearing such a sweet, priceless ring? I don't think so!
Tavros: oh my god, that's such bad logic, that you're knowingly using to be a worse enemy,
John: yeah...
you sure did explain that, I guess.
Tavros: I want the ring because,
this requires some laborious explanation,
it pertains to human customs, which I have taken time to study as an eternal ghost, the treasure is needed, to complete a sort of ritualized pact, having to do with human mating,
to cement in stone the romantic matrimonies,
John: oh!
you want to use it to propose to your girlfriend?
Tavros: yeah,
whatever,
John: heh... That is not really what I was expecting to hear.
I thought you were just being a greedy treasure grubbing douche.
Tavros: you mean, like you???
John: yes.
but that's a pretty good reason.
I guess I can let you have it, if it is going to result in a happy marriage.
Tavros: okay, then hurry, and give it to me,
John: who is the lucky lady, anyway?
Tavros: oh no, hurry up, there's no time,
Vriska: taaaaaaavros!
Tavros: she's coming!
John: who??
Tavros: give it to me,
she can't see it yet, it has to be a surprise!

John: so... you're dead?
John: ok, i'm still confused though...
sorry if i sound dumb, but dream bubbles are still kind of baffling to me.
you're, uh... really" dead?
as in, the real you? i mean... dang, what the hell am i even trying to ask here...
Vriska: No, I get what you're asking.
Yes, the real me. The actual, legit, fully authentic alpha timeline Vriska. Dead. Gone. Fuckin' toast.
John: oh.
so when i meet up with everyone on your troll meteor in a year, that means...
you'll be...
Vriska: A corpse!!!!!!!!!
That's assuming my body was sufficiently preserved during the trip.
Which, now that I think about it, I guess it was? It must have been, because otherwise that unspeakable prototyping atrocity couldn't have happened.
That piece of shit clown. I still have no idea what the deal with that was! He's completely lost his mind. Anyway, that's neither here nor there.
Honestly, I'm surprised you hadn't already heard I was dead, one way or another. It's kind of old news?
Then again, these things are all relative. So who knows.
John: ...
Vriska: Are you ok? You seem sad.
John: well,
yeah.
it's always sad to hear a friend died. even if you find out about it from their ghost.
Vriska: I guess so.
John: also, i had kind of thought that when we all arrived at the new session, that...
we were going to like... hang out. or something.
Vriska: Oh yeah! That's right. We were.
But then I got stabbed through the back. Which to be fair, was for the good of the party, so the meteor could make the trip in the first place, and keep this whole crazy sequence of events intact.
Not gonna lie. I made some mistakes.
John: wow. what even happened out there?
Vriska: Just some pointless, deadly teen drama. Mostly brought on by ourselves, all acting like juvenile idiots. Like I said, old news.
very old for me. I've been here a pretty long time now.
A lot has happened since I died. John, did you know the little rendezvous we planned sort of already happened? I mean, in a way.
John: what? it did?
Vriska: Yes. With your ghost.
John: huh??
Vriska: I mean, the ghost of one of your alternate selves, who died along the way doing some stupid thing.
Actually, he and I dated for a little while.
Tavros: whoa, hold on,
what's this, about dating who?
Vriska: groan. Here we go.
Tavros: why didn't you tell me, about that, Vriska: Tavros, I have led a rich and complicated life and death. I can hardly be expected to tell you about every little thing that I've been through.
Besides, you should have already known this about me.
Tavros: why,
Vriska: Because we shared a sprite body once!!!!!!!! We briefly had access to all each others memories and feelings.
Vriska: So if you didn't take the chance to dig that out of my memory, you only have yourself to blame.
Tavros: no, but, that hardly lasted any time at all,
and there were a lot, of overwhelming experiences all happening at once, how could I try to remember all your memories before we exploded, Vriska: Well, all I can say is, I managed! I took the opportunity to remember pretty much all your memories.
Vriska: I was in and out like a bandit, and now all your life experiences are mine.
Tavros: that's not fair,
because, you're smarter than me, and more cunning, Vriska: Them's the Breaks!!!!!!!!
John: wait, i'm with tavros here, i think we should back this up a bit.
so, my alternate reality ghost dated you?

Vriska: Yes.
John: that...
but...
Vriska: What?
John: vriska, this is a very bizarre and unsettling fact to me!
Vriska: Why?
John: because...
man, i don't know, it just is!
you say we dated for a while, but like, i don't even get to remember doing that?
i think that's mostly what's weird about it.
Vriska: Hey, we apparently don't get to remember the results of a lot of choices we didn't actually make!
Again, see: the breaks.
John: well..., can you at least tell me what happened there? like, how did that go?
Vriska: It was fine. For a while.
It didn't really work out.
John: oh.
Vriska: We crossed paths every now and then after that.
Things stayed pretty friendly between us.
Until he died.
John: what??
what do you mean he died?
Vriska: He was murdered.
John: you mean... his ghost died?
Vriska: Yes.
John: as in, he just doesn't exist at all anymore? like dead dead?
Vriska: Yes! Dead dead. For good.
John: i don't... how does that even...
who killed him???
was it jack?
Jack is barely in the picture as a threat anymore. He's just more old news.
John: he is not old news though!
he's still as strong and menacing as ever.
I just had an awesome battle with him in this very dream bubble!
Vriska: You did?
John: yeah. i found him skulking around a memory of my dead dad, and i got pissed off, so i really let him have it.
oh, i even used the cool hammer you helped me make. remember that?
Vriska: Oh yeah!
Those were good times, when I helped you be great. (smiley face with eight eyes)
John: yes.
the last time i faced him was kind of embarrassing. i let him get the drop on me, and he just stabbed me right away.
but this time i think i held my own pretty well. i even got in one good hit against him!
i gave him a solid bop on the head, and the dice roll made him wear a silly hat.
Vriska: That's awesome!!!!!!!
One time in an alternate reality, I came pretty close to killing him apparently.
John: oh really?
Vriska: You bet. Too bad that was in a timeline that didn't really count. But it's always reassuring to know you can put up a good fight against a strong adversary if you ever needed to. Now I guess you know you can too.
John: i guess so!
Vriska: What happened after you bonked him on the head? I bet he was mad.
John: yeah, he sure was. but our fight was interrupted by like... another taller, white jack dressed in rags.
Vriska: A white Jack?
John: well, no, it wasn't actually a jack, it was someone different altogether, who just looked like him. with wings and a sword and everything.
it think the white jack was probably a girl? i'm not sure, but that was my hunch. i didn't talk to her or anything. she looked really angry.
anyway, he seemed scared of her, so he flew away, and she chased him.
do you know who she was?
Vriska: No fucking clue.
John: whatever jack's doing out here in dream bubble land, he seems to have his hands full with her on his tail.
John: but as you can see, he is far from out of the picture.
Vriska: Ok, that may be, but it sure wasn't Jack who killed a whole shitload of ghosts out here, including one of yours.
I really doubt Jack can even kill ghosts. In fact, I don't think anyone can except for this guy.
John: what guy?
Vriska: Lord English.
John: who??
Vriska: Wow, John. Really?
Wow.
Time to get a clue!

going to be?
John: ultimate bad guy?
you mean like the last boss?
Vriska: Man, even that way of putting it is a little too pedestrian.
I mean, I already beat a last boss! The black king was the officially sanctioned last boss of our session, and I killed him. This is different.
There's always someone stronger waiting to be revealed. Jack showed up shortly after that, and he was much stronger.
Eventually the curtains get pulled back, and you find out who was behind every terrible thing that happened all along. Someone who is invariably stronger than all other adversaries by a wide margin. The supreme villain!
To be honest, I was always kind of waiting for that guy to show up, whoever he was. For the other shoe to drop, you know? There's always a big bad behind everything. A true gamer sees stuff like this coming a mile away.
John: ok. if you say so.
i always kind of thought jack was evil and strong enough to be our main antagonist. but if you say there is someone even stronger and more evil, then... wow.
Vriska: Yes, I'll admit, I was fooled by Jack briefly.
For a little while, I thought he was the supreme menace, and I would have to face him in a final showdown.
But it turned out that was just a bit of standard misdirection. He was just another step up in a typical pattern of escalation involving increasingly "insurmountable" threats, which legendary heroes like us have to overcome to achieve total victory over everything.
Also, let's face it. I don't think Jack is all that evil, so much as he's just a murderous asshole. Trust me, I know the type.
But English, that guy is as evil as they come. He's the real deal!!!!!!!!
Tavros: okay, can I just say something,
I still don't know why you're so sure, he's the final villain, because, you yourself said, there's always someone stronger, right, so, I'm perceiving a contradiction about your facts,
Vriska: Tavros, come on. We've already talked about this ad nauseum.
He's the big bad!!!!!!!! It's so obvious. I mean, maybe there's someone stronger out there in paradox space? Who knows.
But whoever that is has nothing to fucking do with this massive extended multiverse-spanning campaign!!!!!!!!
English was the guy who stacked the whole deck against us from the start, rigging shit to go haywire, wiping out our race, blowing up universes, exterminating ghosts, slaughtering dark gods, and shattering reality itself. Pretty sure we reached the top floor, buddy!
Tavros: okay, but all I'm saying is, what if,
there's someone even worse than that, due to speculation, Vriska: Unbelievable.
John, just ignore him. He tends to be contrary just for the sake of being contrary. It's just what he does these days.
He seems to think it's how you show confidence and assertiveness. The key to high self esteem is apparently just saying "nuh uh!" all the time.
Tavros: no, that's not true, Vriska: See?
This was apparently the big lesson he learned from sharing a brain with me for a few minutes. In order to feel good about yourself, just be a constant pain in the ass!!!!!!!!!
Tavros: no, that's not what I learned,
John: haha.
I see what you mean.
Tavros: no, no, okay, I realize all I'm saying is no, which is just helping make you look as right as possible about making fun of me, but I learned in your brain that you aren't always right about everything, you were wrong about lots of things, you were wrong about rufio! rufio was real all along, (very happy face with bull horns)
Vriska: alright, granted, there did in fact exist a person by that name. you aren't spelling it right, though.
Tavros: how do you know how I'm spelling it, when I'm just talking, instead of using letters, Vriska: because that's how you spelled it when we used to chat online, dumbass!!!!!!! You weren't using enough letters.
Tavros: so,
Vriska: and in any case, he doesn't actually represent your self esteem. He's just some dude.
Tavros: but, he makes me feel better about myself when I think of him, so the reality is effectively equivalent to my fraudulent childhood superstition, Vriska: Lol. Whatever floats your boat.
John: you both seem a bit testy with each other. it's kind of funny.
actually it's a little hard to believe you and he are...
Vriska: What?
John: er...
never mind, actually.
Vriska: ???????!

[Image description: It zooms out. The statue has turned pink, though green still clings to the edge of the platform and the lizard's heads. The desert around them has vanished and has fully become the Land of Maps and Treasure. A rope bridge leads between the stone they're on and another island]

John: i take it you were pretty good friends back on your planet?
Vriska: You could say that.
There's a pretty loaded history between us. It's probably best not to get into it.
None of that matters anymore anyway, it was so long ago. You know how it is.
John: um. sure?
Vriska: Issues between people seem like such a big deal when they're happening. But then you die, and time just goes on, and on........ then on some more.
If enough time passes, shit that used to be a big deal kind of stops mattering.
Ok, full disclosure. I used to do a lot of terrible things to Tavros.
Once I launched him off a cliff and paralyzed him. And if that wasn't bad enough, I spent sweeps mocking him for the disability I caused! Haha.
Oh yeah. Then I killed him.
John: oh, right. i remember you said you killed someone that you cared about. i guess this is him?
Vriska: Mmm hm.
But like I said, that's suuuuuuuuch old news now, it might as well not have even happened.
Tavros doesn't give a shit about that stuff anymore.
Tavros: hey, wait, maybe you shouldn't, speak for me?
I still kind of think that stuff was all pretty mean, even though it was forever ago, it's just, I have chosen to be the bigger man, and not hold it against liking you, Vriska: Hahahaha! John, can you believe this guy?
This is the kind of shit I have to deal with all the time.

Tavros: oh god,
no, time out, I'm flagging this, vriska, as terrible behavior,

Vriska: Tavros, the bigger man is only actually the bigger man if he doesn't refer to himself as the bigger man. That's kind of the point?

Unless the intent is to produce some form of socially awkward comic relief, which let's face it, is what you're all about.

but that's what I like about you.

Tavros: yes, (smiley face with bull horns)

John: hmm, i feel like... maybe we got sidetracked there?
maybe you should tell me more about this english guy.

frankly, it seems like i'm usually one of the last people to learn about stuff like this, and it's starting to make me feel like a bit of a tool.

dialoglog

Vriska: He's just some huge overpowered green freak. A time traveling monster, supposedly invincible.
Who he is, what he is, where he came from, none of that really matters.
What matters is how we're going to defeat him.
That's what Tavros and I have been working on here for some time now.

John: working on what?

Vriska: Treasure hunting!

John: oh yeah?

what treasure?

Vriska: Yes. Ok, I should explain.
There's sort of a plan in motion to beat English. It's a three pronged approach.
A number of people out here in the furthest ring are working on different prongs of the strategy independently.
The first is a quest to find the lost ghost of some alien girl. She's said to be one of the keys to defeating him in some way.
Other people are allegedly out there working on that right now. If you ask me, it sounds like a really boring approach to defeating him. Who knows if it's even true.

Tavros: (give it to me,)
[Note: Tavros randomly capitalizes letters while 'whispering') John: (stop that!)
(keep your hands to yourself.)

Vriska: The second is a quest to raise an army of ghosts to challenge him directly in some kind of huge battle royale, I guess.
From what I understand, some yahoo out there is busy rounding people up. I really have no idea how that's going. I usually just hear stuff through the grapevine.
That approach doesn't really interest me either. Gonna file it under "boring" as well. Seems a little heavy handed, not to mention too slow.

Tavros: (give me the ring,)
John: (no!)

Tavros: (yes, you ass,)
John: (dude, you suck at whispering!)
Tavros: (you said you'd give it to me,)
John: (i changed my mind!)
Vriska: The third prong is what Tavros and I are busy with. The aforementioned treasure hunt. The legend says there's some mystical ancient treasure hidden somewhere out here in the furthest ring.

I'm assuming it's some kind of weapon. It's said that if you use it, or like, activate it in some way, he can be defeated forever.

The nature of the treasure is pretty vague, actually. But the first rule of treasure hunting, which I'm admittedly just making up now, is that it doesn't fucking matter what the treasure is.

Tavros: (we had a deal,)
John: (quit it!)
Tavros: (why are you such a liar,)
John: (shut up. I'm keeping it.)
Tavros: (this is not cool,) (you're preventing joyful human styled matrimony from happening,)
John: (yeah right. Like she would even say yes.)
(i don't even think she's really your girlfriend. I think you made that up!)
Tavros: (wow, no, wow,)
(you went there,)
Vriska: These three goals are all tied to the same legend which I've uncovered clues about over time. Legendary shit is everywhere out here. I'm seriously up to my ass in legend. Hell, I probably even qualify as a legend myself!!!!!!!!

When it comes to solving a big mystery like this, it doesn't hurt that everywhere we go, places are composed of the collective memories of many different adventurers.

We've explored ancient crypts, networks of burial mounds, dusty old tombs, giant pyramids, you name it. Hints about the endgame are hidden all over the place.

Really, everyone's pretty lucky I died so I could do all the dirty work on this. Let's get real, nobody's better prepared to take on the treasure hunting duties than I am.

Tavros: (unhand the treasure,) (Vriska: (you're preventing joyful human styled matrimony from happening,)
John: (yeah right. Like she would even say yes.)
(i don't even think she's really your girlfriend. I think you made that up!)
Tavros: (wow, no, wow,)
(you went there,)
Vriska: Not that I'd have it any other way. This just sounds like the best plan to me. Why bother messing around with an army of ghostly dipshits, or some shy magic alien when you can go straight for the ultimate weapon?

Vriska: Hell, maybe I'll just walk right up to him, one-shot the guy and end it all right there. That's how a real pro goes about business. You take any shortcut you find.

John: (i am going to wish as super hard as i can that i wake up with this ring,) (Vriska: (you're preventing joyful human styled matrimony from happening,)
John: (it's probably magic, so i bet it makes my wish come true!)
Tavros: (i doubt that from happening,)
John: (if i wish hard enough, that will make it slightly less impossible!)
Tavros: (oh, you bastard, you are good,)
John: (i think some day i will use it to propose to my girlfriend. What do you think about that, wise guy?)
Tavros: (nooo!!!)
(gimme,)
John: (this is pathetic,)
(stop grabbing at me! we're missing what she's saying,) (Vriska: (she's going to think we're idiots, won't you stop?)
Vriska: Are you fuckers even listening to me????????? God damn it.
John: yes!
Vriska: No you're not. You're squabbling with Tavros and his loud shitty whispering about some bullshit.
Come on, guys. Am I really being that boring?
I'm really starting to understand how my ancestor must have felt sometimes. Nobody ever respects an important explanation!!!!!!!!
Tavros: (i've already heard your explanations, though.)
Vriska: Why are you still whispering jackass?!
Tavros: ohh,
sorry,
Vriska: Sigh.
Both of you just keep your damn hands to yourselves, shut up, and let me finish my story.
Tavros! bring me the treasure maps!!!!!!!!!
Tavros: yes,
right away,

Vriska: John, tell me what you see here.
John: um...
where?
What is this? This thing I'm holding?
John: a black piece of paper?
Vriska: No, John.
This is Bullshit is what it is.
John: oh.
yes, clearly.
Vriska: This is what a map looks like in the furthest ring.
This is what all maps look like out here.
Turns out plotting the relative geographical features of an infinite black expanse of pure void is every bit as moronic as it sounds. But that didn't stop some ancient eldritch chucklefuck from doing exactly that.
For the longest time, this is all we've had to go on when it came to deciphering the clues and figuring out the coordinates of the legendary treasure. Do you have any idea how hard it is to pin down the physical location of something out here? Never mind the fact that physical location in the furthest ring is already a malleable concept. Just imagine what it's like giving someone directions! What do you tell them? Proceed in a straight line shaped like a perpetually shifting torus knot until you feel a sense of despair transcending all mortal comprehension, then hang a right at the next octopus? There's nothing static out there. No landmarks, no points of reference. Nothing! If you want to make any headway in this great big field of fuckall, someone has got to start wrecking some shit.

John: would that someone be you?
Vriska: Haha. I wish I had that kind of firepower. But no.

[Image description: Tavros hands her another rolled up paper.]

Vriska: You wouldn't believe my luck. You see, recently someone's been doing that dirty work for us. Want to know what the kicker is?

[Image description: She grins and opens up the new sheet. The black is covered in spiderwebbing cracks and dotted lines drawn in cobalt blue. Several places where cracks intersect are circled.]

Vriska: The guy who's been fucking shit up is the big bad himself! Every time he destroys another dream bubble, he does a little more damage to the furthest ring, inexplicably shattering the essence of all-encompassing nothingness. Then we look at the angles and intersections and all the shapes formed by the cracks, and compare them to our notes from the various riddles and clues we've discovered about the path to the treasure. It's actually a little like how in old times on Alternia, pirates used to navigate by shapes the stars made. Constellations used to have a lot of significance in our culture, not just guiding explorers on their journeys to physical destinations, but guiding them on the choices they made in life, pertaining to fate and all that. Not that humans would really understand anything like that. I actually find the situation to be pretty funny. This guy's ego must be astronomical. Classic case of unchecked hubris paving the way for his own downfall. I didn't even need to build a web to trap him. He just went ahead and started building his own. Talk about a lucky break!!!!!!!!!

[Image description: Vriska kneels and lays out several of the maps so the cracks line up like puzzle pieces. A blue line winds away from the epicenter of the crack, crossing several of the pieces of paper until it gets to the farthest point the crack has reached. John and Tavros watch her.]

John: that is pretty neat. so does that mean you know where the treasure is now?
Vriska: No, because the map isn't complete yet!
Needs more cracks so we can plot the rest of the course. All we're able to do now is head in the right general direction.
So ironically in order to prevent reality from being destroyed, we need to wait for it to be damaged further. In fact, we're better off encouraging it!
John: encouraging it?
what, you mean like, making him mad so he breaks more... uh...
nothingness?
Vriska: Yes, but it has to be strategic. We have to somehow lead him in the direction of the places we want him to damage.
Specifically, the places where the route dead-ends. Wherever we need new points of reference to keep going.
John: so that means you have to piss him off i guess.
Vriska: Not really. He's already pissed off. I think he's just permanently that way?
It's more about getting his attention. Using the right bait! Like going fishing.
But to do that, you gotta know what he really wants. Like what motivates him. I mean, besides indiscriminately killing dead children and huge tentacle monsters.
John: i am guessing you have an idea what that might be?
Vriska: Sure. The rumor is he's trying to find that dead alien girl I mentioned, and kill her ghost for good.
If he catches on to the fact that some of us are looking for her too, and thinks we're hot on her trail, he'll probably start following us around and wreaking havoc wherever we go.
We just have to make sure we're in the right place when he tries to kill us. Oh, also try not to actually die again while we're at it. Haha.
John: so the bait is really you.
Vriska: Sort of! It's actually more the bogus idea that we'll lead him to the cherub, because we're looking for her too. Which we're obviously not.
There's some manipulation involved.
John: ok. how do you know he'll go for it? i mean, how will he actually know you're "looking" for her?
Vriska: That's a pretty good question. Have to admit, I don't have everything quite figured out yet.
Tavros: yeeaaaaaaaaaah, Vriska: shhhhhhh! I'm still talking!
Tavros: but, that's never not being the case, always,
Vriska: Nice sentence, genius! Anyway, like I was saying...
I'm hoping my exploits can spread throughout the ring by word of mouth. Tales of my legend, you know?
Then once he catches on, he'll come looking for us, and then presumably go apeshit with his rainbow laser breath. Metaphysical cataclysm ensues.
John: that sounds... optimistic?
Tavros: yeah, exactly,
see, this to me, maybe speaks to the danger, of having self esteem that is unreasonably high,
John: heh.
Vriska: Oh, shut up.
I said it's a work in progress!!!!!!!!!
We might need to make a bigger spectacle of ourselves somehow. Get more people involved. I don't know.
It does seem like he's more drawn toward greater concentrations of ghosts.
There's still plenty of time to figure it out. That's one thing about being dead. There's always more time.
Plus, needless to say, lady luck will always be on our side! (smiley face with eight eyes)
dialoglog
John: well...
cool!
that was actually a very interesting story, vriska.
you're a pretty good story teller!
Vriska: You think so?
Tavros: Oh, yes, I think so too,
she's gotten much better at stories, as a recreational long term death hobby,
John: oh yeah?
Tavros: sure, we've both looked at lessons from our ancestors, to improve our souls, her ancestral awakening has to do with understanding her destiny, to tell long stories to people, and make them listen to all the words irregardless of their interest, by any means necessary, the art of saying optimal tales by my understanding, is to charge through all conceivable details and excessive minutia, until they are exhausted completely, much like it is a spiritual practice, and extraneous information is treated like the religious words you say over and over again until brain peace happens,
John: that's... one way of looking at it.
i don't know about excessive minutia or brain peace, but i was hanging on every word!
Vriska: Aw, you guys. You're making me blush.
John: i wish i could hang out with you longer and maybe even help you with your treasure hunt.
but i just know i'm gonna be waking up soon.
darn. who even knows how long it will be before we meet again in another bubble?
Tavros: yeah, well,
them's the breaks, aha, aha,
(soon, it will be mine,)
Vriska: Don't mind him, John. He's just being weird and tooly again.
It was nice to see you and catch up like this. If we don't meet in another dream soon, don't worry.
I have a feeling we'll be crossing paths again before this is all over!

Rufioh: what i'm saying is, you got game... and i can dig that... but i was never as brave as people always thought... i don't know why they always thought that about me. maybe it's my wings or my mohawk... or when i shout bangarang sometimes real loud? makes it seem like i'm the shit, with big self esteem... but my self esteem is nothing really to crow about... i dunno...

Meenah: alright so you never god tiered but i still don't get somefin didn't you have a totally fuckin stupid robot body at some point or did i just imagine that that whole period of time in our session was reel foggy to me i guess because i was dead for a while there

(hashtag) maybe i got the ghost madness (hashtag) could Swear you was a metal horse tho

Rufioh: yeaaah...
no, the robot body was definitely a thing... i kind of blocked that out of my memory too, haha... that was... that shit was something else, yo! crazy... i'm sure you remember how all that started... back when damara and i were still dating... ring any bells?

Meenah: yeah
fuckin megido

Rufioh: no, no... heh, just saying is all... it was that whole thing... anyway, that's when horuss was kind of macking on me, remember... and i wasn't all about to vacillate with him and her cause i knew how she was... damn, so jealous... so fucking crazy... so she made me a cripple, remember?

Meenah: tag that shit homie

Rufioh: damn, yeah... i mean, she busted me up... couldn't move a muscle... well, could still flap my wings well enough, haha... really, i thought it would be alright, just flapping wings around... i could still fly and just hang there limp... might have been a dope look!
but nah... horuss thought better of it. built me the robo-bod, which was pretty tight...

(hashtag) like literally... (hashtag) screwed that shit together tight! (hashtag) dude is good lost my wings though which sucked... and kind of awkward just having a real guy's head on top of a big metal body and making all those damn legs move the right way, you know... trotting is hard work yo.
(hashtag) especially on stairs... (hashtag) (frowning face with bull horns) better than being a cripple though. i mean a quadriplegic, oops, haha... but i guess you didn't know what happened after that, since you and damara were killing each other and all...
Meenah: no what Rufioh: well... i died. yeah... but... that's like... wow, long story... guess you never heard... i'll tell you some other time, it's this whole crazy thing. but...
i was dead, right? and horuss kissed me back to life... but just my head i think... he was probably standing on some mountain striking a pose like a fucking gangsta, probably fighting a hoofbeast with a flaming mane and all...
(hashtag) hope someone painted that shit... (hashtag) instant masterpiece so yeah, next you saw me i had my normal body again... it was cool of him to help me all the ways he has.
and yeah, we went out, me and him... for a long time after that, kinda off and on, even after we died... in case you were gonna ask...
Meenah: i wasnt
Rufioh: right... haha... too much information i guess? sorry doll.
i always wanted to thank you for standing up for me... you know, when she crippled me... even though it cost ya... that was pure class, peixes, i'll never forget it.
Meenah: man i wouldnt have had to if you could just stand up for yourself sometimes i mean being paralyzed notfishstanding Rufioh: heh... yeah... i guess...
Meenah: you are the only guy in our group who was ever even close to being pretty cool everyone else sucks but you were almost alright you were always such a pushover though pretty lame bro
(hashtag) tw (hashtag) cripple entendre (hashtag) suck it
Kankri: Excuse me. Meenah, "lame" is an ableist slur, which in this context is Really inappropriate. Tagging your jokes with "ironic" trigger warnings really does not excuse the behavior. I'll thank you to refrain from using such terms in the future.
(hashtag) Also, when walking, be careful not to flaunt the health of your legs.
Meenah: aaaaaugha

Ask Rufioh to join.

Meenah: i probubbly shouldnt even ask this since youre not as brave as people make out with you to be i mean make you out to be (hashtag) wait (hashtag) what did i say? (hashtag) nm but would you want to come away with me to...
Rufioh: whoa, man... not you too!!! ahaha...
Meenah: wut
Rufioh: it's fine... it's alright that you dig me, i'm flattered... you were just the last person who hadn't hit on me yet... and i kinda dug that about you, you know?
Meenah: i wasnt asking you out dope Rufioh: oh... wow... shit! sorry, guess i got the wrong idea...
it's just kind of a reflex, doll... you know? everybody hits on me all the time, and i don't know why... shit is crazy...
just the other day, get this... some orange guy in a green shirt jumped out of some bushes and tried to kiss me... and i'm like whaaat... step off jolly man, haha...
Meenah: maybe its cause youre a bishie ass glubberfucker with a kickin hawk Rufioh: yo, that's cool of you to say... you've got kinda this otenba bishojo thing going on yourself, girl... your style rocks, i always thought you looked pretty slammin...
(hashtag) i could give you mohawk dying tips... (hashtag) you'd rock the shit out of that look!!!
Meenah: for what its worth
i would be your moe dere dere waifu in the beat of a pump biscuit if i was remotely attracted to you or found your personality more appealing and also if i shared your dumb passion for troll anime and didnt think it clogged massive blowhole Rufioh: ahaha, bangarang! that's a scenario i'd be alright with... no one really to talk to anymore about my stories, yo... since things got so chilly with my ex...
Meenah: goddamn witch
Rufioh: seriously... she crazy...
so what were you going to ask me... uh, if not on a date?
(hashtag) and if not what brand of mohawk dye i use?
Meenah: never mind
youre not even gonna agree anyway cause this team suuuuuucks later ruf

Be Rufioh.

Rufioh: oh shit... you want to be me? ok that's pretty dope i guess.
but can it wait? my lusus is missing again and i can't think straight without him... he's my happy thought!!! hahah...
i hope damara didn't do something with him... she likes to fuck with me sometimes by stashing the little guy somewhere... she's bonkers!!!

There's a set of stairs to the east. Head up them. They lead up to another platform around a tree trunk, but this one is much smaller. There's a fiduspawn plush leaned up against the trunk along with some sort of metal bracket. on the opposite side of the platform, there's a chest. There are four exits from the platform. one is the west stairs, which you just went up. There's also a bridge to the south, another to the southeast, and a set of stairs that go up to the east.

Examine the Fiduspawn plush.

It's a happy looking Host Plush! It won't be so happy anymore if you hatch a Fiduspawn Egg near it. Maybe you'll be able to find some eggs in this area if you keep searching. Then the Real fun can begin.

(hashtag) You start humming the fiduspawn theme song.

open the chest.

You got a Busted Robot Head!

There was a rumor going around that once, through an elaborate courtship process, Horuss sent Rufioh a robotic duplicate of himself to spar with, piece by piece. The last part he sent was supposedly the head.

That's almost certainly a myth. Horuss is a pretty strange dude, but he would have to be a total lunatic to do something like that. The anecdote strains plausibility.

Go up the east stairs. You come to a small platform with a chest on it. The wood gives way to grass, then to the brain-like material. Mituna lays on the ground in the brain area.
open the chest.

You got a pair of Dutton Bubble Goggles!

You can see into infinity for eternity.

Just the way Charles Dutton would have wanted it.

Go to Mituna. one option appears.
It's Mituna!

D'aw, looks like he's all tuckered out under the brain tree.

(hashtag) Falling is hard work!

There's a small pathway that branches off to the south and turns back west. Go down it. At the end, there's a grey chest. open it.

This chest appears to have an extremely complicated lock. There's no way you can open it. You'll need to find someone who's handy with gadgets.

Go back west, to the hub platform, then down the southeast path. You end up on a square platform that has a southwest bridge and another troll with horns shaped like arrows. The troll is wearing a long sleeve, grey shirt with a large panel over the chest that buttons down from the shoulders on either side. His pants are a matching grey and look to be tucked into tall black boots. There's a royal blue sagittarius symbol on his belt buckle. He has a pair of large, blacked out goggles strapped onto his face with bands that pass up from each eye and over the top of his head. Two more straps hang down to be fastened under his chin, but they're left loose. A tuft of hair sticks out between the top straps and falls down onto his forehead, almost like a horse's mane. The rest of his hair is long and pulled back into a thin ponytail. His entire aesthetic looks somewhat steampunk.

Go talk to him. The standard three options appear.
Talk to Horuss.
Ask Horuss to join.
Be Horuss.

Talk to Horuss.

[Note: Horuss speaks with a slightly more purple shade of royal blue than Equius. He replaces X and similar sounds with a percent sign. He censor any word that seems to be negative, even if it's not actually a curse word. He also prefaces everything he says with what is supposed to be a smiling horse face wearing goggles, but it actually looks like a penis.]

Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Your Harness... I mean Hayness. Highness I mean.
Fiddlesticks. Please pardon my utterly execrable language, and unforgivable stammering, your Horseness.

(hashtag) Shoot! (hashtag) I mean Hayness! (hashtag) Whew.
I am a bale of nerves in your royal presence, and it has been so long.
And when I am so spooked, you must know how that causes me to even more firmly identify with the majestic hoofbeast.

Meenah: hey uh horuss what... the fuck is that thing youre prefixing all your talkin with Horuss: (horse face slash dick) oh, this? What, you don't recognize it?
Meenah: no and its weirding me out Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Why, it is my smiling face, you silly, utterly superior person, you. Goggles and all. Can't you see?
Meenah: i guess??
its disturbin as heck to me for whatever reason
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) The last thing I desire is to disconcert our prodigal empress. I just thought I would try smiling permanently and uncompromisingly, rather than resnorting to all those disgruntled expressions I usually trot out.
(Hashtable) I've been cutting back on the horse puns too, as you can see.
Meenah: why the eff would you want to do that Horuss: (horse face slash dick) It was on Meulin's suggestion, actually.
(Hashtable) (Horse face with a cat mouth. It still looks like a dick) Meenah: huh??
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) oh, I guess you must not have herd. She and I have developed quite a Strong and stable moirallegiance recently.
Meenah: daaaang
(Hashtable) disclaimer: (Hashtable) less impressed than i sound that matchup makes no glubbin sense dude
(Hashtable) cats+horse (Hashtable) ftw
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Exactly. Whoof would have thought? If you asked me before we all died whether I would consider romantically pairing with a ridiculous midblood, let alone Ms. Leijon of all people, I'd probably have died regardless, due to laughter-induced asphyxiation.
(Hashtable) If you're going to go (Hashtable) Go out with a smile (Hashtable) (horse face slash dick) But do you know what it was that finally cleared the sweat steam-induced fog from my goggles? It was meeting our post-scratch counterparts.
(Hashtable) Dancestors (Hashtable) or shall I say (Hashtable) Dressagecestors?
Seeing our corresponding young Alternians, why it threatened to produce a tear-induced flood on the inside of my goggles.
(Hashtable) Which naturally I would drain right away through the custom sweat valves
Their relationship in spite of the Strong class disparity I found to be so moving, so pure. It made me reconsider my perspective on Meulin entirely, who horsenestly I'd hardly ever given a second thought.
It's funny, don't you think? How our young ancestors took to a completely different social configuration, making for some rather odd pairings, both platonic and otherwise. A whole host of counterintuitive minglings, up and down the hemospectrum with no regard for class compatibility. And yet it all seems to make a strange amount of sense. Neigh, I might go as far as saying it's all oddly rather...
Titillating? or no, perhaps what I mean is some of their Alternian indiscretions feel a bit, I don't know…
Naughty?
oh phooey, that's not what I mean either. (Pardon my pottymouth.) Now you'll probably mistake me for some kind of rascally deviant.
(Hashtable) My mouth is quite the load gaper today.
Meenah: man why yall still act like you give a heap of manure about dating down on the spectrum you and nitram been a thing for how long now Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Yes, but no one was supposed to know about that!
That was always to be my own private, um, exploration. I had no intention of creating such a stirrup.
(Hashtable) Though I have literally smithed such items before, pun notwithstanding.
It was only to be a very private, fleeting dalliance with a BuoY, but the whole thing became so quickly scandalized.
A spur of the moment affair, really. And soon others were whisked into it such as you and the vengeful rust blood, and... well, imagine my embarrassment. Trust me, the last thing I wanted was for royalty such as yourself to know I was pursuing forbidden blood. To be caught with my hoof in the chocolate jar, so to nicker.

Meenah: ill
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) And I suppose I would have clopped my hands of the matter after the big kerfuffle, but...
I guess I didn't expect to fall in love.
Meenah: [note: she cringes] Horuss: (horse face slash dick) It's true. I am not ashamed to say it. I fell mane over hooves. Phantom snout over phantom hind quarters. He...
He stole my breath away.
(Hashtag) With but a roguish glance.
Meenah: wow life story alert do not care
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) My apologies, your Excellency.
Meenah: just tell me why paling up with meu means you have to make that terrible face now
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) She's taught me to get in touch with my anger. Through a moderately discernible series of enthusiastic mimes, she has made it clear that it is much healthier to crush all negative emotions beneath a stampede of positivity, and to always be cheerful and upbeat no matter what, even if projecting that facade is at times physically painful.
(Hashtag) Such as (Hashtag) All times.
Meenah: that is some shitsauce advice and you should give it up homes Horuss: (horse face slash dick) um, yes. Very well.
(Emoticon of an angry man shouting so loudly that he sweats and his cheeks turn red) Is this better?
Meenah: much

Horuss: (horse face slash dick) of course, I will if you order me to without hesitation. But lately I've been attempting to canter down a trail of nonviolence. I've been saddled for so long with anger and hostility, and now my focus is on solving problems in ways that do not involve confrontation or physical strength.
(Hashtag) soon i may even be able to say strength without shouting.
Technology can solve so many problems, for instance. Do you have any idea how much energy is stored in sweat which may be released through its steam?
Have you any clue as to the Might of a quadrupedal automaton powered by raging currents of steam coursing through its exquisite horizontal torso, and finally jetting through a perfect pair of metal nostrils? I could build as many as you like, my Empress.
Meenah: um no think i will pass on taking an army of snorting horsebots with me (Hashtag) unless you build those suckas out of gold so thats all you do is build stupid shit that runs on your sweat now?
cause i could really use a guy with muscle
i dunno if you seen this skull dude but he is Ripped (Hashtag) kinda hot actually Horuss: (horse face slash dick) oh no, that's far from my only preoccupation. I have also taken some time to perfect the art of humor.
Would you like to hear a joke?
Meenah: oh noes...
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) A horse trots into a thirst shanty. His muscular shoulders slouched, his noble head hanging low.

The dairyjerk observes that the great beast is clearly despondent, and asks:

(Very long horse face/massive dick) Why the long face?

Meenah: euurergh
zahhak god damn it i am royally orderin you to stop doing that face forever Horuss: (gasping horse face that still looks like a dick) At once, my lady.
(Gasping face wearing goggles. From context, it's a small dick.) My formerly perky visage withdraws, while my fully erect posture shrivels at your regal disapproval.
(a different angry, sweating emoticon with absurd scowl wrinkles) I shall henceforth emote in my customary manner, as such.
Meenah: respect

Be Horuss.

Horuss: (Angry, flexing emoticon) Bring me a horse, and I am yours forever.

Since you can’t be Horuss yet, go down the southwest bridge to a large, round platform, which isn't all that far above the forest floor. It's the same platform the south bridge from the hub leads to. on it, there's a chest. To the south, there's a set of stairs that head down to the west. open the chest.

You got some more Boondollars!

A little while ago you would have been pumped to score this dough, but now this is just pocket change to you.

You sneer with contempt at the pitiable sum of money and let it slip through your fingers to the forest below. Let the beggars and peasants scrounge for it, you say.

Go down the stairs to the forest floor. You can go west, towards where a chest sits near the roots of a tree, or you can go east, past the stairs and to the other side of the platform. Go west first, to the chest.

You got some Fiduspawn Eggs!!!

You can go use one of these on the Host Plush back there! It honestly sounds like a childish waste of time, but little do you know that Fiduspawn's key demographic is your age group. You are the suckerfish. It's you.

Further west, the grass fades to grey cobblestones. There are machines that look like they came from the meteor next to a grey chest and another troll. This troll is wearing a bright red skirt with a slightly darker, short sleeve blouse. The blouse has a lighter red collar, stripe down the left side of the breast, and bands on the sleeve. on the right breast, there's an Aries symbol. Her hair is mostly pulled up into a bun with two red chopsticks stuck in it, but two pieces hang down on either side of her face, just in front of her ram-like horns. Go talk to the troll. Three options appear.

Meenah: please tell me this reunion is as awkward for you as it is for me
Damara: [note: she continues to glare.]
Meenah: not gonna say nofin huh just going to stand there and leave me wrigglin on the hook during this frosty silence come on you nutty bitch at least do Somefin to break the ice Damara: [note: she smiles and raises two middle fingers.]
Meenah: Thank you
hey you didnt by any chance kidnap nitrams lusus did you or steal all his dorky fiduspawn loot i thought we were past this dont tell me youre still tormenting the guy even after eternity Damara: anata no dyuaru foku o toru. ni kai jibun jishin o fakku. [Take your dual fork. Fuck yourself twice.] Meenah: do what to myself twice with my double what exactly?? cod damn your weird accent is thick as ever Damara: anata ni seiteki kaikan o ataru tame ni jubun na atsu-sa de wa nai. [It is not thick enough to give sexual pleasure to you.]

been sorta wondering back when we like kind of ruined each others shit because of that whole cycle of revenge deal and i ended up dyin and god tiering and all remember that Damara: watakushi ga oboete iru. [I remember.]
tokidoki watakushi wa, sono memori ni jii koi. [Sometimes I masturbate to that memory.]
Meenah: aight not sure i followed that but ill assume it was more weird skanky sass but what i want to know is after the fight
did i hurt you bad enough that you maybe crawled off and died somewhere like in a quest cocoon Damara: ...
Meenah: were you maybe all bloodied up from all those forkins and then maybe along comes a friend with a maddening inability to hold a grudge against you for the ways you fucked him over maybe trotting along in his new robo horse body and swooped your bloody torso up on his back galloped off to your cocoon and draped you on the slab while probly not havin the nerve to finish you off
this ringin any bells

[In addition. You can not be me. If you can not fuck me.]
Meenah: ummm yeah no idea what you said guess someone who speaks your gibberish needs to ask open the grey chest.
What's that sound? You listen closely to the chest. You hear something flapping around in there. This thing looks air tight. Whatever's in there might run out of ghost oxygen soon.

Alas, this chest appears to have an extremely complicated lock. There's no way you can open it. You'll need to find someone who's handy with gadgets.

Go east now, past the stairs. A massive quartz boulder blocks the path. There's a blue dreambubble next to it. When you interact with it, two options appear.
Examine bubble.
Yeah I have no idea what I'm doing here.

This bubble contains Damara's memory of a huge quartz obstacle. only she can remove it. Stinkin' witch. She never makes it easy, does she?

Yeah I have no idea what I'm doing here.

Click the Map link below the game for Hot Tips!!!

Go back up to the hub platform and go to the fiduspawn plush.

use Fiduspawn egg on host plush.

The plush topples over and is suddenly both soaking wet and ripped open. A Horsaroni fiduspawn stands nearby. Examine the plush.

Blech. What a disgusting, friendly mess. His sacrifice was not in vain though. He was brutally murdered from within, so that a new friend could be born.

(hashtag) You hum the fiduspawn theme song while gently weeping.

Go to the newly hatched fiduspawn. Two options appear.
Examine.
Take Horsaponi to Horuss.

Examine.

What an utterly magnificent specimen. But if you train Horsaponi hard enough, one day he may become Horsaroni. By which I mean, he will grow slightly bigger, and gain no measurable advantages in combat. You will however be required to feed him more.

Take Horsaponi to Horuss.

Horsaponi disappears, presumably to your inventory. Now make your way to Horuss. A new option appears when you interact with him.

Give Horsaponi to Horuss.

Horsaponi appears next to Horuss.

Horuss: (horse face slash dick) You did it! You brought me a fine, young stallion!
What a beautiful gesture of friendship. I am so fudging happy, you have no idea.
(angry, sweating face with its eyes pinched shut) Whoops, so happy, I have become loose with foul language, and forgot I wasn't supposed to make that face anymore.
(side eyeing, sweating face that looks vaguely suggestive) You are of course free to be me whenever you wish, my lady.

Be Horuss?

Yes

You are now Horuss. The song changes to Indigo Heir. Go examine your new friend.

Dear, sweet, beautiful, dear, precious, sweet, sweet, dear, sweet Horseaponi.

Meenah: hozak serious question
Horuss: (furious emoticon flipping something) Yes, my peerless, exalted Eminency?
Meenah: when did you decide you were a horse
Kankri: PHWEEEEEEEEEET!!! [note: Kankri is actually blowing a whistle.]
Hold up there, Meenah. The question you just asked was in fact a severe microaggression against those who are stricken with deeply plightened feelings of species dysphoria. Your question was innocent enough, so I'm not about to go down the perilous road of trigger shaming, but Meenah, my goodness, what you just said was catastrophically triggering. Poor Horuss here will likely feel triggered for weeks because of your thoughtless question. Hell, even I'm feeling a little triggered by it, and I'm not even under the impression I'm a horse. I think everyone within earshot was triggered by that. You feel triggered, right Horuss?
Horuss: (Wide eyed sweating face) Trigger sounds like a wonderful name for a hoofbeast.
Kankri: See? Totally triggered. Now let's let the healing begin.
Meenah: (frowning face wearing a tiara and goggles)
(hashtag) so done
Kankri: Meenah, his belief that he is actually a majestic hoofbeast is not characterized by choice. In fact, it is not even a belief. It is a Fact, which we must strive to respect as Factual, in no small part due to his hyperimportant feelings about it. Tailoring factual reality around people's critical feelings is a cornerstone of Problematics, and failure to do so can only result in the release of devastating payloads of correctional words deployed to educate, heal, and rhetorically overwhelm. When you asked "when did you decide you were a horse," you implied that he made a choice to craft this feature of his identity, as opposed to listening carefully to the fauna within, heeding the call of the long, ghostly snout his body has tragically denied him, whilst feeling the subtle tingling of his phantom horsey posterior.
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) So true, friend. Your wisdom truly transcends your degenerate, mildly nauseating mutant blood.
Kankri: Thank you. Now, you know how I hate to derail conversations, but I think this occasion calls for a thorough, unrelenting education on the topic. And now I shall begin my crushing harangue on this delicate subject, as thusly:
Kankri: [note: he says a lot. 46 paragraphs, to be precise, all of which is written far too small to read.]
[Note: A drawing appears. Kankri lectures while 'blah blah' flashes above him. Horuss grins and says 'omg yes' as Meenah leaves and is labeled 'sneak away'.]

As Horuss, head to the hub, then east to the grey chest by Mituna that Meenah couldn't open.
open it. Something long and blue floats out of the chest.

You got a Priceless Work of Fine Art!!!

You spend a few moments solemnly contemplating the artistic merits of the splendid classical sculpture.

Horuss's talksprite appears, holding the object and sweating while holding his hand to his chin ponderously. An area over his left eye and horn is pixelated, which was likely intended for the Priceless Work of Fine Art, considering what it is. It's a massive blue horse dick dildo that's longer than Horuss's entire arm.

Wait, no...

Hang on, don't move. The pixelation is missing its mark...

It goes back to Horuss pondering the horse cock. The pixelation has moved closer, but it's still over his face rather than the Fine Art.

Damn it! Still not quite right... ok, hold your horses.

It goes back again and, finally, the dildo is properly censored.

Perfect! Whew, crisis averted. That was a close call.

You very nearly caught a glimpse of a horse penis and began to cry.

Now that you have your Fine Art, go down to Damara. When you interact with her, two options appear.

Be Damara.

Talk to Damara.

Horuss: (horse face slash dick) oh, hello Damara. I heard you were having a mechanical issue with your chest over here. Mind if I take a look?
Damara: anata wa watakushi no mune o itsu de mo hyoji suru koto ga dekimasu. [You can view my chest at any time.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) I... think you said yes? Sorry, I really struggle with your coarse lowblood accent.
Damara: watakushi no oppai no ue ni miruku o sosoide kudasai. [Please pour milk on top of my boobs.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) I didn't quite understand that either. Something about milk? Served to you in a particular way?
Yes, if you would like some milk, I can bring you some later. I'll just need to equip my steam powered destrengthening gloves so that I may hand you the glass without shattering it.
Damara: nai. tebukuro o chakuyo shinaide kudasai. watakushi wa sore ga rafu suki desu. watakushi no karada o oshitsubusu. uma otoko. [No. Please do not wear gloves. I like it rough. Crush my body. Horse man.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) I really need to finish my universal translation device so we can have a more coherent conversation. It's just so difficult to get the circuitry to function correctly when one insists on relying on steam power.
Damara: anata wa, yurei no yo na watakushi no seiki ga seiteki kuraimakkusu o motte iru koto o kakunin shite kudasai. anata no maboroshi no uma no penisu de sore o okonau hitsuyo ga arimasu.
[You, please make sure that my genitals ghostly have a sexual climax. You must do it with your phantom horse's penis.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) You want me to bring your what to what exactly with my what?
Damara: watakushi no hadaka no soko ni anata no asemamire no kao o kosuru. [Rub your sweaty face on the bottom of my naked.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Hmm. I...
(horse face slash dick) Sure?
Damara: watakushi wa anata no Ajia no joshi-ko-sei desu. zutazuta ni watakushi no fuku o herasu koto ga dekimasu. anata wa watakushi o yorokobaseru hitsuyo ga arimasu. anata no hon o shiyo shite kudasai. [I'm your Asian schoolgirl. You can reduce my clothes to shreds. You need to please me. Please use your horn.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Do what with your schoolgirl uniform? I wouldn't want to do anything to ruin it. It's quite nice.
But perhaps I could craft a robotic avatar for you, emulating your fashion choices. Actually, if I did that, I could install more sensible speech algorithms, so that I could understand you for a change.
Damara: shizuka ni shite imasu. damatte watakushi o fakku. [Keep quiet. Fuck me in silence.]
[note: she scowls.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) um. Cough.
Damara: watakushi no tainai ni hairu. mata wa. watakushi wa anata o hakai surudaro. [Go into my body. or. I will destroy you.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Damara, forgive me if I'm leaping to conclusions, but has the nature of your cryptic remarks been leaning... well...
A little blue?
Damara: [Note: she holds her fingers up to her mouth. It's pixelated, but she's clearly flicking her tongue between her pointer and middle fingers in a mimicry of cunnilingus.]
Be Damara.

Damara: anata wa watakushi ni naritadesu ka? [Do you want to be me?]
anata wa watakushi ni wa dekimasan. anata wa watakushi o rikai dekinai baai. [You can not be me. If you can not understand me.]
sarani. anata wa watakushi ni wa dekimasan. anata wa watakushi o seiko suru koto ga dekinai baai. [In addition. You can not be me. If you can not fuck me.]
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Come again?
I suppose Rufioh should ask. He's always been the only one who can parse your vulgar, peasant tongue.

Walk past Damara to the other grey chest and open it.

A little white tinkerbull floats out.

You got Rufioh's Lusus!!!

The poor little guy is gasping for breath. Who could have locked him in here? Who could be so cruel?

You glance at Damara suspiciously. She doesn't bother to look at you, and takes another drag.

Walk away from the lusus-napper and go back to the first platform, where Rufioh is waiting. When you interact with him, two options appear.
Talk to Rufioh.
Give Rufioh his lusus.

Talk to Rufioh.
Rufioh: hey man. oh, heh... still making that face i see...
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Yes, I really enjoy making this face. It really helps remind me through persistent facial discomfort that appearing to be happy should always be one's top priority.
(gasping horse face that still looks like a dick) Why? You don't find it displeasing, do you?
Rufioh: um... no... it's uh... yeah, it's alright horuss. the look is really, uh... something else. wow.
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Really, I could stop making the face. Meenah recently ordered me to stop making it in her presence, and I of course instantly complied. I would just as readily do the same for someone as important to me as you.
Rufioh: err... haha. that's cool... but yeah, that's fine. really i can dig the look, i guess. just do whatever you're feeling with it...
(hashtag) except for maybe (hashtag) pointing it at me so much...
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Rufioh, your affable malleability continues to be your finest quality.
It is the jewel in your mohawk. A true diamond in the Ruf. You always were the ideal embodiment of your aspect, as pleasantly wayward and fickle as The Breeze itself.
Rufioh: yeah... uh... thanks. i should probably try to work on that though...
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) of course. We always strive to hone our craft, ever pounding at the iron to make the shoe a perfect shape. I know well how much work it takes.
Rufioh: no, i didn't mean, like... be more like that... i mean... uh, sorry to interrupt... go ahead?
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) My path was similarly governed by my aspect. For the longest time, I felt as if I was a blank sheet of paper. Like I had to make myself out of nothing.
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) And so I began to listen closely to the void within myself and corral
the various personal attributes I herd calling to me.
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Much like assembling a complex machine, I began to piece together a strong identity, which of course included discovering a passion for mechanics itself.
And needless to say, what also galloped out of the void in my soul was the realization that I am obviously a noble hoofbeast, though my physical appearance cruelly betrays this fact.
Rufioh: hey, uh... horuss... i think...
we need to talk.
i mean, when you get a minute...
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) And in following sweeps I would keep turning my mechanically augmented, acute equine ear back to the abyss within, and continue to discover more about myself.
I would learn that I was more complicated than I ever imagined. More complicated than any mortal mind could understand a person to be.
Knowing myself to be hoofbeastkin was only grazing the surface of the pasture. Merely skimming the cream from the top of the milk. I was so much more.
Rufioh: i think maybe we should like...
uh... see other...
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) It turns out my body was merely the host to a highly intricate system of entities of any sort you could name, biological or mechanical, sentient or nonsentient, physical or metaphysical. My inner field of experience is shared by the souls of ancient legendary musclebeasts, a range of devices such as hivehold appliances, a number of cosmological features such as planets, star systems, even several universes, and a variety of abstract concepts which sentient beings have not yet formed the language to express.
Rufioh: like... don't get me wrong... we had some good times together... it's been great really...
but maybe it's time to uh... i dunno.
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) But as much as I learned about myself, I could never find a way to become whole.
The void was never filled until you came along, Rufioh.
Rufioh: wow man. that's...
wow.
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) If there is any lesson I would like people to take from my story, it is a lesson that is a multiple system consisting of two distinct lessons.
The first is how love heals all wounds, even ones consisting of the infinite essence of void permeating your entire existence and role as a legendary hero.
The second is how if you are faced with any crisis of identity whatsoever, it's really important to do your best to manufacture esoteric features of your personality and believe in them very strongly and tell people about those things as frequently as possible. I can assure you right now, the labor involved in smithing my personality into one that is interesting and complicated was rather intensive.

(sweating horse face or an ejaculating dick) I really worked up a good sweat in the process.
(very sweaty horse face or powerfully ejaculating dick) That is the sweat dripping from my face.
Rufioh: hey... yo... that...
that's some freaky shit dog!
Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Anyway, I apologize for talking so much. You know how you have a way of drawing the breath out of people. What were you trying to tell me?
Rufioh: oh... yeah.
uh...
never mind.

Give Rufioh his lusus.

Rufioh: oh shit! you found him... thank you so much!!!
I was so worried... but now he's back, and so are my happy thoughts.
got all kinds of confidence now... heh, you wanna be me? my self esteem can totally accommodate that yo!!!

Be Rufioh?

Yes

You are now Rufioh. The song changes to The Brave and the Bronze. Talk to Horuss.

Rufioh: yo yo, horuss my gangsta, how you feel?
can i get a way gentle fist bump from my boy? heh, yeah... just like that... fuck yes.
(hashtag) actually that still kinda hurt...
anyway i've been meaning to talk to you about something... something uh... pretty important.
about us and the future and all that... you got a minute?
ok, cool. so... damn... where do i even start...
you know we've had nothing but good times together... it's been the bomb.
well, maybe not everything... shit got dicey at the start... with my crazy ex and... yeah. that's not the point.
remember the way you used to be... before you all started being interested in me... man you thought i sucked! haha, just another lowblood not worth your time.
you were so pissed at people like me and damara... so angry, damn. shit was scary... and damara... she used to be nice as can be... dunno what happened there. talk about a personality switch... for both of ya...
but then for whatever reason... i guess you wanted to reach out to me? i mean... in secret, i know.
you didn't want to be all shamed out of your highbrow CIP club, i could always dig that. i understood, you know?
so you came to my woods... never told anybody... we hung out. that meant a lot to me. i want you to know that.
people always had crazy ideas about me. like i was this brave adventure guy all up in this forest being a badass and shit. people like... they always wanted to be with me, or... maybe even wanted to Be me? it was all kind of whack... even damara when we were going out didn't really get me, i think... she put me on this pedestal, i mean, back before she snapped. but you saw me for who i was. which was... not a perfect guy. like, i wasn't really sure about myself, and you saw that... so you actually helped me. when we were in the woods together, you taught me to fight... taught me to fly... taught me to crow!

well, not literally. i mean... i knew how to do those things. i knew technically how to flap my wings and fly through the air. i knew how to say "bangarang" all loud if i really wanted to... but that was the thing. i was scared! i was scared of flying and falling... i was scared of fighting and failing... and i was scared of crowing and... sounding like a fucking idiot i guess! lol... but you helped me not be so scared, or self conscious maybe... you just helped me be myself. like... to just be ok with not being perfect, or living up to whatever people think i should be. maybe it's just nostalgia... there was something better about those times... just you and me chilling in the woods. but then we entered the game. and for some reason... still don't know why... damara just started going a little more nuts every day... getting more and more jealous when she knew we were hanging out... then she found out it was more than just hanging out... and i guess the rest was history. and yada yada... then we all died... and we been together ever since. all this time as ghosts... which is... a long time, you know?

and i'll always be grateful for what we had together... but... i guess people change. even as ghosts, they change, if you give em long enough... they start wanting different things... aw man! i'm going about this all wrong... saying way too much, but not what i want to say... shit, haha. i should just use the bravery you helped me understand i always had, and just say it... i think we should break up.

you ok, bro?

Horuss: (horse face slash dick) oh! I'm sorry, what did you say?

My ear valves filled up with sweat, and I didn't catch most of that.

Rufioh: ...

Horuss: (horse face slash dick) Hey, why don't we participate in an enjoyable activity together later, as romantic afterlife partners? We could play one of those foreign card games you seem to like. What's that one called again? Fiddlespoon?

Rufioh: um. yeah... we can do that... i guess. that sounds... uh... dope.

Horuss: (horse face slash dick) I know I'm not the best partner to share your exotic and somewhat childish interests with, but i do my best to try to understand them and enjoy them with you. The most important thing is that we spend time together, and maintain a Strong relationship.

Rufioh: ...

bangarang.

Go down to Meenah and talk to her.

Rufioh: damn... thank god i got my lusus back... dunno what i'd do without the little guy!

Meenah: is he even uh

"reel"

ya know

like the ghost of your actual lusus or

Rufioh: er... know what? not sure, doll!

he could just be a memory figment or something like that. or maybe he's really his ghost... when damara accidentally dropped a hunger trunk on him way back... crushed his little body... i always dreamed i might meet up with him again in the afterlife.
so when i found him here... guess i didn't think about it much? i was just happy to see him. he is my happy thought after all. i can't really bring myself to do much without him... like fly... fight... crow...

(hashtag) you know... the basics?

Meenah: truth

Rufioh: i remember when i was young... just a little runt out there trying to make it in the world... people would look at me funny cause my wings were growing in, and that really freaked people out yo!

so i got way self conscious and didn't feel at home out there... with everybody eyeing me up like that...

so one night my lusus led me into the woods...

and i found this whole baller village of fuckckin tree houses and rope ladders and i was like Damn! (hashtag) shouted bangarang So Loud you don't even Know!

that's when i became an official member of the lost weeaboos.

Meenah: hey ok so...

can we not actually talk about the lost weeaboos can that just be not a conversation we have Rufioh: uh...

Meenah: ruf listen your storys cool but theres some junk thats just so silly i cant even try to abide Rufioh: yeah i guess... heh.

but anyway, they were my boys... a better posse you couldn't hope to chill with, kick the sh*t on troll anime... all that.

Meenah: aw fer glub sake

(hashtag) no

Rufioh: first bumped into damara out there... crazy times!

i think those were formative sweeps for me... learned to love a lotta things i still do to this day.

between you and me... i miss the days i could just jam with her about troll anime... but now... you know how it is...

Meenah: ok why do you stinkin nerds insist on calling it troll anime

i gotta ask dont you realize prefacing anything with 'troll' inside the context a troll culture is redundant as fuck why dont you just call them cartoons

Rufioh: yeah... i dig that. never thought about that... huh.

(hashtag) deep...

it's ok, i get that the stuff i like isn't for everyone.

people say it's just for wigglers... and i kind of assumed one day i'd grow out of it, but guess i never did?

then again... we all died... and now we really are all young forever...

just like the prophecy of the lost weeaboos said...

whoa spooky... i always thought that was a load of bs!!!

Meenah: whoops you just said lost weeaboos again thus failing the conversation in the immortal hand gestured words of the late great meulin leijon:

Im So Done

Now go talk to Damara.

Rufioh: hey doll... don't suppose you had anything to do with the recent disappearance of my lusus, did you?

Damara: mochiron sonna koto wa nai. anata no kokuhatsu wa gengo dodan. [of course there is no such a thing. Your accusation is outrageous.]

Rufioh: yeah... sure... like i believe that!

like i'm not so on to your tricks by now...
Damara: damare. so. anata wa mada kare to wakareta no desu ka? [Silence. So. Are you broke up with him yet?]
Rufioh: no... not yet...
i tried... but i just couldn't do it... it's hard, you know?
Damara: anata wa, do yu imi desu ka. sore wa koibito ga anata o uragitta toki ni kanjiru? hai, watakushi wa shitte iru. [Are you mean? It feels when the lover has betrayed you? Yes I know.]
Rufioh: damn... so cold, girl. why can't you let the past go?
anyway... once i actually do get up the nerve to break it to him... don't be thinking this is your big chance with me!
it's over between us for good... kinda for obvious reasons... so just friends, you dig?
Damara: migi. wareware ga hyoji saremasu. [Right. We will see.] Rufioh: hah... yeah, i figured you'd be like that.
anyway, meenah kind of needs to keep going through this bubble... i know you like to make shit difficult for everyone all the time, but...
you think you could get rid of that big *ss iceberg thing you dropped there?
Damara: ie kuso hoho. [No fucking way.]
Rufioh: aw, come on... do it for me, damara?
Damara: bakkin. shikashi, anata wa watakushi ni kari ga aru. seiteki na settaai. [Fine. But you owe me. Sexual favors.]
Rufioh: hahahaha... wow... alright uh... maybe? just go...

Be Damara.

You are now Damara. The song switches to Rust Maid.

Go to the dreambubble by the quartz boulder. This time, instead of Examine Bubble, the first option is Remove quartz glacier. Do that. The quartz disappears with a grinding sound, revealing a new area to the east. Go into it. The forest floor continues for a short distance before it ends where you can enter a new area. There's a chest among the roots of a tree to the north. open it.

You got an East Beforan Scroll!

It is covered in mysterious runes. If only there were some way for laypersons to translate this absurd gibberish.

(hashtag) tinyurl.com/damaramegido

[Note: The URL leads to a transcript of all of Damara's conversations, presumably so people can copy-paste her kanji into google translate.]

Go to the new room. It's more of the forest, but now there's the edge of a cliff to the south. Continue east, past a sapling and the roots of larger trees. After a while, a few machines begin to appear, then it fades to the grey tiles of a lab on the meteor. The piled machines make a path that turns north, then loops around back to the south. At the north curve, there's a door. Examine it.

Wait... there's something different about this door. You think it might be a real door! It's not someone's memory, like the rest of this place is.

The meteor must be physically passing through the dream bubble again. You'd love to get in here and snoop around somehow, but the door is password protected. There's got to be someone around here who knows the password...

Continue around the bend. Where it dead ends, Porrim and Kanaya are having a conversation. When you interact with them, you get the option to eavesdrop. use it.
Porrim: Damara, do you mind? We're having a private conversation here. [note: She scowls.]
Damara: [note: She stares blankly.]
Porrim: Please. Leave us alone. We'll talk later, ok?
Kanaya: ...
(shes making me slightly uncomfortable)
Porrim: (that's her specialty. just ignore her until she goes away.)

Since the Maryams don't want to talk to you, head back to the other room and find Rufioh. Talk to him.

Rufioh: gotta be honest damara... i been feeling pretty bad...

Damara: naze desu ka? [Why is?] [note: She tilts her head to the side and looks confused or concerned.]

Rufioh: um... you can keep a secret, right?

Damara: hai, mochiron. watakushi wa anata no tomodachi desu. [Yes, of course. I am your friend.] [note: She gives the predatory smile again.]

Rufioh: yeah...
it's horuss... and you know... been thinking about breaking it off with him...

Damara: nan o kowasu kare no hon? [What you break? His horn?] Rufioh: hahaha! naw... that wouldn't do much good...
i mean... i feel like a chump for even thinking about it... he's been so cool...

but damn! eternity is a long fucking time!!! i dunno if a relationship should really last that long...

Damara: anata no sekkusu raifu wa do desu ka? [How is your sex life?] Rufioh: whoa, uh... kinda personal question? anyway that's not it...
i feel guilty for saying so... i'm just not into it... so many repetitive dates over the millenia... so much like... talking about livestock and big muscular animals and... i dunno. those aren't really my interests...

Rufioh: maybe we were never that compatible and i just never had the guts to say so?

Damara: Rufioh. watakushi wa anata ni kono koto o tsugeta. mainichi. eien ni. [RuFloH. I told you this thing. Every day. Forever.]

Rufioh: i know, i know... i didn't listen to you... i figured you were still all mad and jealous!!!

Damara: watakushi wa okotte shitto shita. [I was jealous and angry.]

Rufioh: right... i just don't know what to do.
he's great... but he's so clingy! i don't know how he keeps that up after all this time... dude's got stamina... i'm just like... romantically exhausted. you get me, doll?

Damara: hai. ai ga watakushi ni wa shinde iru. no de, dare ka ga zutto mae ni, shinzo o kaishite watakushi o sashita. [Yes. Love is dead to me. So long ago, someone stabbed me through the heart.]

Rufioh: heh, touche.

but for real... i just don't want to hurt his feelings...

Damara: anata wa watakushi ga kare o koroshitaidesu ka? futatabi? [Do you want me to kill him? Again?]

Rufioh: no!!! god, no... don't hurt anyone... let's not go there again!

Damara: watakushi ga kare o yuwaku shitaidesu ka? [I want to seduce him?]

Rufioh: er... i guess if the two of you are like... um. that's really between you and him? not sure he would go for that... anyway, i don't think that would actually help me...

Damara: watakushi wa kare no tamashi o shoji suru tame ni akuma o motarasudesho. [I'll bring the devil to consume his soul.]

Rufioh: man, no! i told you, please don't feed anyone's soul to Anybody!!!
you've got to keep crazy talk like that down, damara!

if people knew some of the shit you said... how you say crazy shit like you want to serve him... fuck!
it wouldn't be cool... people would flip...
hell, didn't you hear meenah was trying to raise an army to kill him?
if she could hear some of the things you told me... shit... i can't ever let her find out...
if she knew, you'd both start fighting again...

(hashtag) (sad face with bull horns)

Damara: anata wa hitsuzen dake o okuraseru. [You're only delaying the inevitable.]
watakushi-tachi no shuryo jikan ga chikai desu. [The end of our time is near.]

Now go talk to Horuss.

Damara: kore ijo no geimu wa arimasen. uma otoko. ima watakushi o fakku. [There are no more games. Horse man. Fuck me now.]

Horuss: (Horse face/ dick) Excuse me?

Damara: Horseaponi matagawwatakushi o mageru. anata wa watakushi ga hado fakku. Horsey sutairu. [I bend across Horseapony. You fuck me hard. Horsey style.]

Horuss: (Horse face/ dick) oh! I see you ve taken an interest in this fine albeit diminutive steed given to me as a gift earlier.

Isn't it wonderful? I shall feed it many an apple and it will grow to be Strong.

Damara: watakushi ni ringo o yashinau. sono go, watakushi no kami o tsukamu. anata wa champion no yo ni watakushi ni norudaro. [Feed me apple. Then grab my hair. You will ride me like a champ.]

Horuss: (Horse face/ dick) I don't... do what with your horns? Ride what now?

Damara: no baketsu o umeru koto ga dekimasu. sono go, naiyo ga supurasshu. watakushi no karada no ue ni subete no. tsugi ni hoshikusa no yama ni watakushi o nageru. [You can fill the bucket. Then the contents of the splash. All over my body. Then throw me in a pile of hay.]

Horuss: (Horse face/ dick) You want me to... something about... hay? Hm.

Damara: watakushi wa anata no hon o su koto ga dekimasu. doji ni, anata wa watakushi no o shiri o hirate uchi. rizumikaru ni sore o okonau. mata. inanaku. [I can suck your horn. At the same time you slap my ass. Do it rhythmically. Also. Neigh.]

Horuss: (Horse face/ dick) You would like me to perform... what rhythmic behavior exactly? While making which animal noise?

Damara: watakushi no subete no hanpuku o fakku. seiteki ekusutashi o taiken suru watakushi-tachi no subete o hikiokosu. watakushi-tachi wa issei ni ogazumu masho. [Fuck my all iterations. Cause all of us to experience sexual ecstasy. We try to orgasm in unison.]

Horuss: (Horse face/ dick) Do what with... wait... all of you? Wouldn't that be quite a lot of Damaras regardless of the activity you are trying to describe?

Damara: seiketsu na taoru de watakushi o tsutsunde kudasai. watakushi wa nojo no dobutsu no yo ni umekigoe o shinakere ba naranai. [Please wrap me with a clean towel. I must moan like farm animals.]

watakushi no ashi no aida ni haradatashi so ni hana o narasu. watakushi wa korosareta kohitsuji no yo ni himei o agerudesho. [Snort angrily between my legs. I would scream like a lamb that was killed.]

watakushi-tachi wa issho ni watakushi-tachi no o shiri o motte mimasho. kyotsu no ogazumu ni sanka. subete no owari de wa, watakushi-tachi o torikakonde iru. [Let us have our ass together. Participate in the common orgasm. At the end of all that surrounds us.]

Horuss: (Horse face/ dick) Trying to decode your speech is quite agitating you know.

Whenever I talk to you my system gets a little switchy.
I begin to faintly channel an ancient soul from Alterniasia and I come very close to understanding you. But then it vanishes just as quickly and my host vessel is left with nothing but an overwhelming experience of perspiration.

Not that I would expect a lowly rust blooded singleton like you to understand.

Damara: motto watakushi o teika saseru. watakushi wa hotondo soko ni iru. [Degrade me more. I'm almost there.]
furiku. [Freak.] [note: she flips him both middle fingers.]

Go towards Mituna. Latula is now sitting next to him. Interact with Mituna.

It's Mituna!

Latula: hey damz!!!!
Latula: if you go anywhere near him, i will fucking kill you!

Now warned off, go down and talk to Meenah.

Damara: anata wa jikan no ryoshu ni chosen shimasu. [You challenge the lord of time.]
anata no aware na guntai wa shippai shinakere ba naranai. [Your pathetic army must fail.]
kare wa anata no yūrei o taberu yo ni naru, kare wa genjitsu sono mono o shohi suru kara de aru.
[He will eat your ghost. For he consumes reality itself.]
Meenah: i think. . .
it sounded like. . .
youre tryin to wish me luck in my upcoming battle?
hey thanks megido
maybe i had you all wrong
Damara: nai. anata wa so shinakatta. [No. You did not.]
Meenah: aw ive probably been a bitch to you for no reason lets forget all that shit ever happened hey how about a hug
whoa watch where youre puttin that hand!!!
Damara: watakushi wa nan mo kōkai wa arimasen. [I do not regret anything.] [note: she smokes her blunt again.]
Meenah: apology accepted
hey you get around to moving that huge quartz glacier yet kind of in a hurry here

Be Meenah.

You are now Meenah. The song changes back to 108 Stars of Density. Go all the way down to the forest floor and west to the room where the Maryams and the door are. Go to the Mayrams and interact with them. The option Listen in on conversation appears. Choose it.

Porrim: Ah, seems we have company. Guess we should wrap this up!
I'm very happy you came to see me. I hope you'll bear in mind what I said.
Kanaya: Yes I Surely Will And Im Happy Too
About
Yes
Porrim: You have important work ahead of you. The legacy of our race is in your hands.
I know you will make me proud.
Kanaya: okay Thank You

Approach Kanaya. This time, the option 'Ask Kanaya for password' appears too. Ask her.

Meenah: aw snapperfish its popo merrygams and maryam lookalike kid water you ladies glubbin about over here Kanaya: Nothing I Was Just Leaving Meenah: oh yeah where to back into your meteor right cause thats where im headed cant get through the door tho can i get your password
Kanaya: Pardon Me
No
Meenah: come on
Porrim: Meenah, what are you doing? Don't hassle her for private information. It's rude.
Meenah: Come ooooon
im being nice about it Kanaya: Are You Actually
Meenah: im fuckin smiling aint i?? [note: she scowls as she shouts that.]
Kanaya: Well I Was Going In There Anyway
I Wont Give You My Password But You Can Follow Me I Guess
But You Can only Remain As Long As Im Escorting You Meenah: da fuck
why
Kanaya: Because I Dont Trust You Meenah: aw man
but im cool
you should wise the fuck up and start thinking im cool
Kanaya: Youre Right With A Sales Pitch Like That I Would Have To Be An Imbecile Not To Crave Your Company
(hashtag) Human Sarcasm
Meenah: what you got against me maryam clone
Kanaya: I Think Youre Probably A Sociopath
Ive Given Enough of My Time To Such Characters In The Past Meenah: you got me all wrong girl what i gotta do to make you my frond maryam the sequel Kanaya: My Name Is Kanaya!
Meenah: aight aight kanaya it is some day ill come up with a good fish pun way of saying that thats how you know our shit will be TIGHT
Kanaya: [note: she facepalms about as hard as physically possible.]
Meenah: just lead the way ill be well behaved and win you over Youll sea
Be Kanaya?
Yes
You are now Kanaya. The song changes to Jade Sylph. When you walk, Meenah follows you.
Take a moment to talk to Porrim.
Porrim: Let's stay in touch, Kanaya. Come looking for me in your dreams any time you like.
And be sure not to let that one too far out of your sight.
Meenah: scrod dammit
kids got no respect for royalty these days and i about haddock up to here Porrim: Please. You aren't even mad. You just wanted an excuse to use more fish puns.
Meenah: merrygams stop bein such an astute judge a character

Try to leave the room and go back to the area with the other trolls.

You can, but Kanaya disappears and you are Meenah again. When you come back to the room you should be in, you are Kanaya again.

Now go up to the door. You have the option to Enter Password. Do so.

The two halves of the door slide open to either side, revealing another lab-like hall beyond it that quickly fades into darkness. Enter the new room.

The floor in here is cobblestone and you seem to be standing on some sort of balcony. There are three exits from this balcony. One is the door you just came through. One is a set of stairs that go up directly north of you, and one is a set of stairs that go up and to the west. Go up the north stairs. The walkway continues off to the west, but there's a door directly ahead of you. This leads to a room with a chest at the far end of it and a narrow hallway that goes off to the west. Open the chest.

You got A Can of Earth Tab!

The mayor had a couple of these stowed in his rags for safe keeping. He has decided to store them in chests now, which unbeknownst to him are the opposite of safe keeping.

You crack it open and chug it. You are overwhelmed by the intense rush of sugar. This high will surely last for hours.

It shows a picture of the bright pink can with the label Tab: a product of the Coca Cola Company next to a zoomed in picture of the nutrition facts.

Go west, down the narrow walkway. Not far down, it goes past a shadowy room to the north. Enter the room. A new area loads. It's a small room full of random objects from around the meteor. In the southwest corner, there's a table with bottles, two candelabras, and a white mug on it next to a broken TV. In the southeast corner, there's a few boxes, a small bag, and three cans of tab. The back wall is lined with ornate bookshelves except for a space in the center where there's a vent. A pink potted plant and an empty bottle sit in the northwest corner and a potted yellow flower is in the northeast corner. Dead center in the room is Gamzee’s Horn Pile, which is topped by Karkat, who is face down and fast asleep.

Examine snoozing Karkat.

Meenah: !!!!!

Hey, it's your newly recruited Grand Threshecutioner! Looks like he hasn't woken up from the same nap he was having last time you talked to him. The guy must have been really tired.

Why's he sleeping in this massive pile of horns? That can't be too comfortable. Maybe you should wake him up. Then as long as he's awake, might as well see if he's ready to pack his bags and head off to war.

Hold on. Maryam is eying you suspiciously. She isn't on to your plan, is she? How could she know? This girl is really cramping your style. You'd try to shake her loose, but as a rainbow drinker she seems to have an absolutely insane fastness attribute.

Kanaya: Whatever Youre Thinking Dont Even Try It Meenah: what!!!
wasnt thinkin nofin
Kanaya: Lets Keep Moving

Since you can't wake Karkat up, exit the room and keep going west down the small hall. Eventually, you reach a small open area with most of the floorspace taken up by machines. There's a set of stairs that lead up to the east, a hall that exits south, and a hall that exits west. Take the stairs. It quickly dead ends at some machinery and a chest. Open it.

You got a Boonbuck!

Ok, you can't even pretend to be excited about this. You get the feeling that whoever was stocking these chests just started running out of treasure assets.

You put the phoned-in item back in the chest. But a little later, Meenah sneaks back over here, takes the boonbuck, and stashes it in her nautically themed, hot pink clam shell shaped purse, which we have never seen her rendered with, but is totally is something that exists in the most canonical way possible. There, now you know.

Go back down the stairs, then down the south path. It turns east, then widens a bit. There's a chest on the north wall. Open it.

Eeeeuuughh more troll blood, why???

A vial of violet liquid floats out.

As you prepare to lob it into the dark shaft below, you catch a whiff of it. Hold on... it smells... fruity?

You guess it was a false alarm. This appears to be some form of delicious juice. Your bad.

Wind south, around a wall, then keep going east. Eventually, you reach some stairs that lead back down to the first balcony. You went in a very large circle. Go back up the north stairs, but this time, go east instead of into the room. The balcony ends, but there's a set of stairs that go up to the north. Go up them. You're now on a small landing with two exits on the west side. One is a set of stairs that go down into another area and one is a small path just north of the stairs. Go down the path first. It ends at the pile of computers that blocked a path from another area. There's a chest on this side too! Open it!

A strange medallion floats out of the chest.

You got a...

Hey what even is this thing?

Whatever it is, you got it.

Walk down the stairs you passed a moment ago and head down into an area smothered in carpets. Sometimes Meenah glitches out and stays flickering on the stairs forever. Just ignore her and keep going. Along the north wall, there's a brown table with piles of books on top, a grey computer desk with several computers, a white tea set, pink potted plants, and an empty bottle on it. More books are piled on the west end of the desk, where a broken monitor has been moved to make room for them. In the center of the room, there's another large brown table. This one has a red table runner, several large books, and countless empty bottles on it. Dave stands just to the west of it and Rose stands at the southeast corner. There's a chest just south of the stairs you entered on. Open it.

You got an Empty Bottle!

You guess... you'll just kinda...

Put it over there with the other bottles.

Go talk to Rose. Two options appear.
Talk to Rose.
Be Rose.

Talk to Rose

Rose: What happened!
Kanaya: What
Rose: You're not glowing anymore!
Kanaya: Oh Right
I Became So Absorbed In A Conversation With My Ancestor I Already Forgot She Taught Me How To Switch Off
Rose: Oh, so you did go talk to her?
Kanaya: Yes
Rose: That's great! How did it go?
Kanaya: Very Well
She Is Very Nice And As A Person Is As Impressive As I Was Imagining Her To Be But Not Nearly As Intimidating Really
Rose: I knew you wouldn't regret it if you got up the nerve to talk to her.
What did she say, besides a few vampire-to-vampire skin-dimming pointers?
Kanaya: Many Things
Primarily Encouraging Me To Pursue My Prior Obligation To My People
Rose: Oh?
Kanaya: She Said She Used To Eschew Her Role Rather Vehemently
The Duties Of Our Caste Were Quite Limiting In Both Worlds It Seems
So She Renounced Them Completely And Wanted A Different Life
But She Also Said Something To The Effect That She Found That It Wasn't Really Necessary To Reject That Role Completely
And The Same Is True For Me
As Long As I Know Within That I Am Free
And If My Decision Is To Embrace My Path Then It Can Be A Source Of Strength
Rose: Then you want to try to restore your race again?
I had begun to think you'd lost hope in that possibility.
Kanaya: Its True Theres No Orb Anymore
She Said It May Be Very Difficult
But Theres No Hope If I Don't Try Rose: That's true.
Kanaya: I Don't Know How I'm Going To Do It Yet
But Such Is The Nature Of Adventures
You Can't Be Scared Of Adventures
Kanaya: I Think I'm Excited About It Now
Rose: I can tell.
We can work on it together when we arrive. Maybe the session we're about to explore will offer some answers.
Kanaya: I Hope So
Rose: Hey,
You aren't permanently de-glowed now, are you?
Kanaya: Oh No I Can Flip It Back On
See [note: she starts glowing.]
Turns Out Its Just [note: she stops glowing.]
A Silly Biological Parlor Trick [note: she glows again.]
Rose: Oh, good. You had me worried there for a moment.
Kanaya: Sorry [note: she's not glowing.]
I Know How You Enjoy A Good Source Of Light
Rose: Light is one of my favorite things.
Please don't take these as fighting words, but my aspect is simply the best there is. [note: she smiles teasingly.]
Go over and talk to Dave.

Dave: sup wait whats going on is the meteor passing through another dream bubble
Kanaya: Yes
Hence The Ghost Who Is Following Me
Dave: oh
hey
Meenah: [note: she grins and wiggles her eyebrows]
Dave: what you don't talk now?
you were pretty spunky before what happened
Kanaya: She Is Exhibiting Her Best Behavior While On This Tour
Shes Actually Doing Very Well So Far Dave: ok whatever
so what are we just not even bothering to care anymore when we pass through dream bubbles now like no warning or alert or getting into our facetious battle stations or anything eh who cares actually i probably wont even leave the room this time getting a little bored of ghosts actually no offense sea troll
Meenah: (hornless dirtscraper) Kanaya: Shh!
Meenah: (frowning face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Kanaya: So What Were You Just Mumbling Over Here Before I Interrupted You Dave: oh just some raps been working on my raps youve heard my raps right want to hear some raps Kanaya: ...
Dave: wait do you know what rap is its this fly human tradition where you drop a beat and talk hard if the flow checks out and your rhymes are dope enough then the police start unholstering their guns
they cant help it its like reflexive thats how you know youre doing it right
Kanaya: I Know What Your Raps Are Theyre Basically The Same As The Ancient Artform Of Alternian Slam Poetry
But More Primitive And Generally Involving Less Lyrics About Towering Muscular Livestock Dave: slam poetry
why didnt you tell me about this Kanaya: I Dont Know I Dont Really Have Much Interest In The Subject Dave: yeah but it should have come up wait now that i think about it i remember some weird troll was rapping at me once Kanaya: Well There You Go
Dave: but i mean we could have been talking about rap all this time you and me i mean it would have come up i think if we talked more Kanaya we should talk more we dont really talk enough like really just get down to fucking business just the two of us
all conversationally and such Kanaya: Um
Dave: really like flesh out this dynamic see whats there we goddamn Will squeeze blood from this stone this awkwardly quiet ghost troll as my witness Kanaya: If You Are Successful In Extracting Blood From The Geological Material In Question Can I Have It
Dave: aw man
kinda semi self deprecating vampire jokes this is a good start i like it Kanaya: I Dont Know How Sincere Youre Being Dave Probably Only Somewhat Since The Rule Is That Everything Has To Be At Least Partially A Joke
Right
Dave: yes exactly
Kanaya: But If You Actually Want To Converse And Exchange Views On Our Respective Cultures Then Okay I Guess Thats Fine
I Might Be Able To Dig Up Some Classic Texts By Some Famous Slam Poets
Dave: oh man yes
that would be so fucking perfect
Kanaya: Ok I Will See What I Can Do
Dave: youll have to read the troll gibberish to me itll be just like storytime with karkat kanaya edition
Kanaya: Heh Sure
Dave: but youll have to rap the words
Kanaya: Oh [note: she puts a hand to her face and turns away]
Dave: pump up the bass and slaughter the mic
i want to goddamn feel that slam poetry
Kanaya: Is It Too Late To Back Out Of This Meenah: yes

Be Dave.

You are now Dave. The song changes to Davesprite. Goto the horn pile room. If Meenah is still glitched out on the stairs, go out the south exit to the south hallway and make your way around via the narrow hall. In the horn room, there are now two Karkats. One is the sleeping Karkat in the pile and one is standing just west of it. Go to the sleeping Karkat and examine him.

So many horns. You've always wondered what the elusive juggalo troll even needs with so many horns? You think he may have some sort of problem. Also what is with trolls and their weird tendency to be found sleeping in horn piles? You can't even imagine a less comfortable place to nap. There are some things you will never understand.

Now go talk to Awake Karkat.

Karkat: ok, this is just fucking stupid now.
Dave: what Karkat: I'm asleep, but I guess the meteor is physically passing through the bubble I'm dreaming in?
and now my "dream phantom", or whatever the fuck you're supposed to call this version of yourself, is actually in the same physical location as my sleeping body.
I've just been standing here watching myself sleep on the horn pile. It's official. We've breached a critical threshold of bulge numbing idiocy.
Dave: huh
Karkat: what do we even call this dreaming instance of ourselves? It can't be "dream self" because that's already a thing. As in the version of yourself on derse or prospit.
but that was more like a physical, real self, that just happened to serve as a backup life. This is something totally different, like a weird hologram.
hey, am I tangible to you?
Dave: uh
Karkat: touch me.
Dave: what
Karkat: just give me a little poke.
Dave: no
Karkat: don't be like that, just man up and touch me. Maybe just brush my cheek gently with the back of your hand. Something unambiguously platonic like that.
Dave: no fuck you
im not caressing your dream hologram Karkat: you have a really tragically under-inquisitive mind, dave. This is for science. If science was up to you, humanity never would have come anywhere close to rising to the level of pathetic inferiority it was barely able to achieve as it was.

Dave: you look really tired man your sleep phantom should curl up with your napping meat torso in the horn pile and try to score some shuteye

Karkat: yeah, well maybe I'll do just that, asshole!

Dave: ok

hop to it

Karkat: no. Not while you're watching.

Dave: man

our conversations can be so embarrassing im so glad we manage to have most of them in private

Karkat: yeah

Karkat: me too

Go back to the rug and computer room and talk to Kanaya.

Dave: (you shattered the ring but theres more cracks in your rap)
(ima top off your glass cause devastations on tap)
(wait no)
(your act couldnt suck more dick with a puppet in your lap)
(what) (puppet... man where that come from)
(you shattered the ring but theres more cracks in your rap)
(your flows like warm milk that goes good with a nap)
(haha yes)
(shit lets be rails ill be the shoosh to your pap)
(wait that makes no fuckin sense)
(naw ill stick with the milk one) (yall claimin to be the lord of time)
(all ya makin me feel is bored with your rhymes)
(thats ok i guess)
(still feel like i should work puppets into this)
(no idea why)
(what rhymes with puppets)
(uh) (smuppets)
(dave no thats the same fuckin thing)
(muppets)
(what the fuck)
(the only thing that rhymes with puppets is different kinds of puppets!!!)

Kanaya: ...

Dave: whoa

hey uh

how much of that did you hear

Kanaya: By The Tenor Of The Question Ill Assume More Than You Would Prefer

Dave: all that shit was a work in progress

aint fit for hype yet

why you gotta be eavesdroppin

Kanaya: I Wasnt

I Was Just Standing Here And You Slowly Wandered Over In A Totally Oblivious Stupor

You Were Mumbling Your Rhymes And Walked Right Up To Me And Did Not Notice Me Until Now
Dave: shit
was i sorry i guess i just got caught up in my raps Meenah: do more!
Dave: what
no
i cant those rhymes are still too rough around the edges Meenah: come on Dave: no itll suck
i mean
i could freestyle a bit i guess i dont know if i got a live performance in me now maybe it could work if someone dropped a beat need a good beat i could probably kill it with a fly beat Meenah: aheh hem...
dum dum Psh ba dum dum Psh (hashtag) no wait wait... chum chum Fish ba chum chum Fish Dave: awwwww yeah that fish beat is the shizzle thats what i am Talking about alright settle down motherfuckers here we go Kanaya: They Then Proceeded To Have One Of The Most Ambiguously Rated Rap Offs In The History Of Paradox Space While I Stood By And Regarded It Neutrally Go talk to Rose.

Dave: rose quit all the clanking around over here i cant concentrate on my raps what in the sweet religious name of jesus h dick are you doing with all these bottles Rose: Just a little alchemy.
Dave: alchemy
what kind of shitty thing are you alchemizing with this crap are you alchemizing bottles with other bottles to make like superbottles (hashtag) rose_ebottles
Rose: No. Believe it or not, I'm actually focused the contents of the bottles.
Dave: youre a pretty good hike from the alchemiters
Rose: The alchemy I'm practicing is a little more old fashioned.
You know, there was a time on Earth when alchemy didn't refer to a process whereby a large device used game constructs to materialize some idealized version of an object out of thin air.
Alchemists used to experiment with various substances to transmute them into something more valuable.
Its more pedestrian and scientifically credible cousin would be chemistry, which I guess is the technical term for mixing shit together.
Which strictly speaking more accurately describes what I'm doing.
Dave: so what your doing science now who do you think you are your mom wait that sounded like lame burn again every time i talk about your mom it sounds like a burn who do you think you are my mom wait scratch that every time we start talking about her as my mom things just start snowballing down our dumb conversational ski slope and suddenly sigmund freud and king oedipus start banging each others hot moms at some kind of depraved sexy momswap party Rose: Thanks for the imagery. It was almost as graphic as it made no sense.
Dave: so what are you making Rose: Beverages.
Dave: beverages what kind of beverages
Rose: Tasty beverages, I hope.
Dave: apple juice???
please let it be aj please let it be a.j. please let it be a.j.
Rose: I'll see what I can do.
Dave: omg
omg (hashtag) omg
fuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuck yes

Be Rose.

You are now Rose. The song changes to Orchid Horror.

Make your way back to Karkat's nap in the horn pile. This time, the dreambubble Karkat is gone. Instead, Gamzee sits to the west of the pile. Examine the sleeping Karkat.

"zzzzzzzzzzzzz," Karkat said from atop the towering heap of hilarious clown accessories.

Talk to Gamzee.

Rose: You better not let Kanaya find you in here.
She still hates you, you know.
And not in "that way." I think she still truly would like to kill you.
Gamzee: (low) yeah, i all up and motherfuckin know that already. [Note: He glares and slouches. His entire body except for his horns, the yellows of his eyes, the three scars down his face, and the symbol on his shirt are black.]
Rose: I've wondered, doesn't it ever get confusing? Trying to differentiate between platonic, malicious intent, and gestures of black romance?
Gamzee: (caps) No.
(low) like i'd even give a dayglow chainsaw bitch like that on my time of day up in any quadrant.
(caps) Besides, already got my black rom on with another motherfucker.
(low) been dating somebody in the motherfuckin shadows. getting pretty nasty between us. all experiencing the shit out of the dark miracle called hate bliss.
Rose: Wait, really?
Who?
Gamzee: (smiley face with a round nose)
Rose: Karkat?
Gamzee: (low) no.
Rose: Dave??
Gamzee: (Caps) No.
Rose: Not... the Mayor???
Gamzee: (Low) no.
Rose: Wait...
Terezi?
Gamzee: (Caps) Honk.
Rose: Are you serious?
Gamzee: (low) do i mother fucking look like i'd motherfuckin joke around with a mother fucker?
Rose: I...
I can't even parse that relationship as something meaningful.
What...
Gamzee: (caps) it's simple.
(low) mother fucker.
(caps) she all gets on her hate of me quite understandably, seeing as to what a vile piece of clown ass trash I'm all is.
(low) but doesn't quite hate me enough to want to kill me. (smiley face with a round nose)
Rose: This is a really startling revelation, I must say.
It's a game changer.
Gamzee: (caps) Hey.
(low) please don't all tell at this noise to anyone.
(caps) If Karkat mother fuckin knew on this...
(low) he actually would want to kill me. (sad face with a round nose)
Rose: Yes, I can see the dilemma you're in.
Your social dynamics really begin to get complicated once your quadrants start to fill up, don't they?
Gamzee: (caps) Mother fuck yeah they mother fucking do.
Rose: Don't worry. Your secret is safe with me.
Now shoo. Back into the ventilation system with you, before you're spotted.

Head back to Dave and talk to him.

Dave: whats up with the fish punk troll following kanaya around
Rose: Seems she's passing through. Kanaya doesn't want her to cause trouble.
Dave: cause trouble what the fuck could she even do here like kick over an old pile of garbage and cause the property value to fall even lower than jack shit i say let her go nuts
Rose: Feel free to take it up with Kanaya.
But if you authorize her to flip a bitch, just make sure she's nowhere near my chemistry table.
Dave: yeah cant be droppin your vials and shit all over the floor the only one whos got clearance to drop science is me Rose: Dork.
Dave: dont even hate been shoring up my muthafuckin craft over here
Rose: I know. I've been in the same room, right over there, listening to you mumble lyrics to yourself for the last couple hours.
Dave: rose you know what sucks
Rose: Yes.
To which sucky thing are you referring?
Dave: it kinda just occurred to me while i was spitting ill verse to no end i got this weird feeling that i might be getting like a little dated?
Rose: Is this about Terezi?
Dave: what no no
dont be disingenuous word girl you know what im saying i mean sorta passe like a lumbering pop reference dinosaur remember we are both kind of stuck in sooo so im like popculturally frozen in that period all my references feel like they might be getting a little stale even though the earth ended and all and there was no culture after that point anyway but still i can feel it like in my bones
i just know on some hypothetical earth that kept going my shit is starting to get so lame and i know it doesnt matter because its just us here so who cares but i care
its a matter of integrity i am a fucking artist like i think if i make one more rap about like some fucking dane cook movie from 2008 to piss karkat off or some tired bullshit like that im going to
i dont know
ill just start feeling like a fraud my game might be drying up rose but its not my fault like im totally hostage to this freezedried backlog of cultural garbage that can never move forward again
so i have to pick through it like im looting a fucking tomb while still all tryin to act Rap Sassy like Yeah take That motherfuckers Of the past
all in your mass graves somewhere in a dead frogiverse i be representing some god damn Standards about your media do you feel me im depressing myself here all im saying is it would be cool to have some fresh shit to work with like just to know to know what the world would be like in the year it would be for us now which would be 2011 i guess wow 2011 really damn
i just want to know what would have happened theres so much shit we were primed for it was gonna be exciting like barack obama just turned president remember that we never got to see if he fixed the economy remember how you were dying to see if he would fix the economy you were asking me about it every damn day
just joking nobody gave a shit about that but like i never got to check out the next batch of stiller jams and see how bad i could mock them we never got to find out how the midnight crew adventure ended if ever rose
Rose?? what the fuck man
whyd you go back to your bottles and shit i was right in the thick of hella elocution dont give me that
yes
uh yeah
yes i do Actually want you to come back over here im waiting
Rose: Fine. Here I am.
Dave: wow was that so hard this is what civilized people do rose they fucking talk to each other like actually in each others fucking vicinities
Rose: You just have a tendency to go on for a while. I assumed we progressed to the traditional mumbling monologue stage of Striderian discourse.
Dave: no thats not even a thing i was actually like trying to get your take Rose: Take on what.
Dave: i dont even know
i bet john would have stuff to say hes probably going through the same frozen fucking caveman from 2009 syndrome as me actually what am i saying the dude is a caveman from 1997
Dave: hahaha like he could give a shit as long as hes got his cage dvds
Rose: Oh! I saw him the other night.
Dave: what
Rose: In a dream. It was very brief, only a few minutes. I waved to him and then woke up.
Dave: whoa what was he doing
Rose: He was fighting Jack. Actually, he was doing quite well!
Dave: oh man
you have to tell me all about this Rose: I will. Later, though. I'd like to get back to work.
Dave: ok when tonight?
Rose: I have plans tonight. How about tomorrow.
Dave: plans
what plans
Rose: Just some plans.
Dave: can i come
Rose: No!
Dave: fuck fine tomorrow then maybe ill just dream up my own john tonight and well have an awesome time without you what do you think about that Rose: ...
Dave: f u

Talk to Kanaya.

Rose: Not to harp on the issue, but,
Now that you can switch on and off, so to speak, how often do you think you'll resort to phosphorescence?
Kanaya: I Dont Know
What Do You Think
Rose: Well, which state is more comfortable?
Kanaya: I Could Go Either Way
Ill Probably Switch On If Im Walking Through A Dark Corridor
Now That I Think About It
Its Been A Long Time Since I Could Even Be In The Dark Maybe Ill Leave It Off For A While And Refamiliarize Myself With The Experience Of Nonillumination
Rose: Makes sense.
Was this a biological feature common to other trolls?
Kanaya: Um
Rose: I'm sorry. I'm really pestering you about this, aren't I?
We've never talked about it. I guess I was trying to be polite, but I've been really curious about it.
Kanaya: No That's Ok
I'm Told Its A Trait Confined To Those Of My Caste
They Tended To Spend A Lot Of Time In The Brooding Caverns Where A Convenient Source Of Light Was Often Handy
That Part Of It Makes Sense To Me But I Have No Idea What The Evolutionary Purpose Was For The Sort Of Thirst Which Accompanies This Perk Strikes Me As An Odd Liability But What Do I Know
Rose: Maybe to frighten predators away from innocent grubs?
Kanaya: Maybe
Or Perhaps It Was A Measured Defect Imposed On Us
To Keep The Auxiliatrices On A Short Leash
Rose: I'll agree with that assessment, on the grounds that I've always been a sucker for a good conspiracy theory.
Kanaya: The Condition Was Often Glamorized In Certain Works Of Literature
But Theres Really Nothing That Great About It Not Nearly As Useful As Other Abilities Like The Psychic Gifts Which Some Lowbloods Are Predisposed To
Though I Guess Its Pretty Useful If You Want To Keep The Plans You Made After Someone Punches A Hole Through Your Gut
Rose: I can see how that could present a whole world of convenience.
Speaking of plans, doing anything later?
Kanaya: Not Really
Rose: I'm working on some stuff right now, but later, maybe once you're finished escorting your guest around, would you like to do something?
Kanaya: Sure
Anything In Particular That You Have In Mind
Rose: Not really. Just to hang out. If you're up for it!
Kanaya: Yeah That Sounds Okay
Meenah: (holy mackerel get a fuckin room)

Be Kanaya

You are now Kanaya again. The song changes back to Jade Sylph. Walk back to the area with the machinery. Finally, go through the west exit. When the next area loads, you are Meenah again, and the song Elevatorstuck plays. You're in another room of the meteor, on an upper level, but instead of floor on the lower area, there's blue water. Broken computers and bottles litter a table along the back wall. Parts of a tea set are scattered over everything. Walk west. The floor fades to pink rocks and a moat comes up from the south, then turns west, then north again and disappears into a wall.
Aranea's exposition booth stands between you and a wood-floored area, where a chest sits next to where the moat turns north and a rope bridge crosses the west-flowing portion. Under the bridge, the water fades to lava. Across the lava moat, there's another wooden area with a compass rose superimposed over it. Stop at the exposition booth. There are four options.

Meenah: welp (hashtag) kelp
im a total failure
didnt recruit a single ghost for my army except for one guy but he was asleep
Aranea: Don't lose hope! I know our group of friends is a bit lackluster in the motivation department, but there are plenty of other souls out there.
You just need to find someone with the right amount of moxy to get you started. Then I'm sure more will follow.
Who knows, if you keep exploring, maybe someone like that will be right around the corner!
Meenah: you seem more psyched about my army plan than you did before whats with the change of tuna
Aranea: I've started to believe that what you're doing may be important. Just a feeling.
It could be every bit as critical as my quest to find the cherub. I think it all could be related. Like legs of a stool that won't stand unless all are in place.
(hashtag) Or, prongs of a fork, if you will.
Meenah: how is cherubquest goin btw Aranea: Uh... ok.
I've still been....... a little preoccupied.
Meenah: girl please you been draggin your talking booth around to hassle people with facts aintcha Aranea: This is my last session, I swear!!!!!!!
After this, I promised myself I would retire the exposition stand for good. Maybe I'll put it up for sale, and try to recoup some of the substantial losses required to operate it.
Meenah: aranea we are such failures at stuff together
why are we such a couple of gorgeous and sexy failures at things Aranea: I don't know, but we can't give up!
Once I close down shop here, I will redouble my efforts to find that cherub.
The first thing to do will be to figure out her name. It's been so maddeningly elusive, almost as if someone's taken care to scrub any reference to it throughout paradox space, whether in memories or reality.
Meenah: ok then how about this while im out there fishin for recruits ill keep an ear out for clues about her and while youre out there cherub hunting maybe you can see if anyone wants to serve the lil condescend in her slammin new imperial army itll be teamfork
Aranea: That sounds like a great plan!
Now let's hurry this up so we can get started on that. What would you like me to tell you about in exchange for the precious few boonbucks I have left?

Tell me about Rufioh Nitram.

Aranea: The Rogue of breath was always a very popular member of our group. Probably the most popular, I'd say. Sort of the anti-me, in that respect. Ever the recipient of romantic solicitations whichever way he turned. Sort of the anti-Cronus, in that respect.
Meenah: aw yeah sick ampora burn outta nowhere hi 5
Aranea: Indeed. His mutation made him an outcast, though. To avoid the unwanted attention his wings would bring him, he took refuge in the forest among those who welcomed his differences, and learned their ways.
The Lost Weeaboos was a guild of youthful tree-dwelling troll otakus with a zeal for fisticuffs, flight, and various forms of exotic eastern theater. Bane to the enemies of hijinks, scourge to the seafaring classes who...

Meenah: Nope
not lisfinin to this la la la glub glub glub

[note: Meenah glubs right over much of what Aranea is saying. The glubs are written in fuchsia.]

Aranea: (glub glub glub glub) centuries of feuding with the Kemonomimi tribes (glub glub glub la la la glub glub glub) ceremonial torchlight yaoi festivals (la la la glub glub glub la la la) tsundere quadrant vacillation (gluuuuub glubglubglubglub gluuuuuuuub) threw down a daggerlance to challenge the guild's high seme for dominance (no no no no no no no no no no) ultimately served like a shonen on Shitsuji Island.

Meenah: hey serket
how much i gotta pay you to zip yer blowhole on this shit so tight you never bring it up again

Aranea: For such a service, I will require nothing short of the large gold statue in your palace. I think you know which one I'm talking about.

Meenah: you drive a hard bargain serks
but you got a deal

Tell me about Horuss Zahhak.

Aranea: The Page of Void was a self taught master of mechanics, an avid patron of the fine arts, a passionate body builder, archer, ambrosia collector and steamwright. A poet, a scholar, a warrior, a lover, he was all that his caste demanded and more. A true troll Renaissance man. His name means "He Who Stalks With The Musclebeasts."

but all of his proficiencies were hard won, built from the blank slate as his aspect would imply, advancing at the slow pace his class would as well. Yet in spite of all he worked to make something of himself, he amounted to very little. Responsible for neither great feats of heroism nor acts of villainy, he was just another game piece to be moved about the board. The aspect ruling his life would always conspire to dampen his relevance.

Void is easily the most mysterious aspect, the one which inherently defies rational understanding. This makes it particularly fascinating, and just as frustrating, to light players such as myself. Casting illumination upon nothing itself is futile. For to truly know void is to paradoxically cause it not to be!

The role of the void player is to somehow embrace nothingness, to become one with it. And yet in total contradiction with this, to make use of the power it grants and serve a role of relevance, one must find a way to overcome it! To see the limitless potential in the void. To find everything within nothing, and bring it into being.

Meenah: zzzzzzzzzzz

Aranea: Hey!!!!!!!

Meenah: wuh

Aranea: This is a perfect case in point, regarding the path of the void player. So resistant is his story to having a relevant bearing on anything, you fell asleep and didnt hear a word.

Meenah: yeah thats nice
Where ma money

Aranea: You don't get any. Your slumber voided the transaction.

Meenah: dag

Tell me about Damara Megido.

Aranea: The Witch of Time was not always the party's biggest troublemaker. If you recall, you wore that tiara for a long time. (smiley face with eight eyes)
Meenah: yeah yeah
Aranea: Once she was as meek as can be. Hailing from the eastern provinces, she migrated across the seas and settled near the forest concealing Rufioh's guild. The two of them became quite fond of each other, and shared many interests!
He secretly began seeing someone else, believing she knew nothing. but she always suspected his infidelity, and over time grew quite distraught. but her sadness never quite turned to rage and malevolence. Not until you... involved yourself.
Meenah: ugh do we really have to go through this Aranea: If you'd like to earn your money, then yes!
Meenah: bleh fine
Aranea: After we began our game, you quickly determined that winning was going to be an uphill battle with our team. Everyone was so preoccupied with their interpersonal issues, and no one seemed in any shape to be fighting major battles. Sound familiar?
Meenah: deja vus a bitch serk
Aranea: So you did your best to rile up the crew any way you could. Appealing to peoples insecurities, buried hostilities, brewing rivalries... needling anyone you could into confrontation with others. Your theory was that increasing everyone's state of aggression would make them better equipped to play the game. And you were sort of right about that! but the Alternians would prove it. Not our group, sadly.
The poor girl who took the brunt of your bullying tactics was Damara Megido. You talked up her matesprit's betrayal making her feel even more dreadful, while pushing him further into the arms of her rival, until she simply snapped. She attacked him, paralyzing him from the neck down. You finally got the aggressive confrontation you were looking for. Unfortunately, you unleashed something even you weren't prepared for, and you had to deal with her yourself. After a long bloody duel, she killed you. And you would have stayed dead if not for me!
You never listened to me. You just kept needling and fussing and meddling until eventually you paid the price, and I had to bail you out.
Meenah: (arg how bad do i even want this stupid money...)
Aranea: Damara has been unhinged ever since. by increasing her violent tendencies, instead of being an asset in the game, she became a loose canon, arbitrarily showing up at key moments throughout the timeline to sabotage us.
So radical was her shift in personality, I've had a hard time believing your incitement was solely to blame. It always seemed like other forces were in play, as if her acts, though apparently haphazard, were in keeping with some inscrutable agenda. Of course it doesn't help that it's so hard to understand her even on a good day.
Strangely, the only time she was eager to help us was when we were preparing to initiate the Scratch. And it's a good thing she was, since I'm not sure anyone else would have had the ability to do that kind of damage to the Cardinal Movement and release its energy.
It was almost a little eerie how happily she complied with our plan. What did Rufioh say she said? Something about how we would all finally get what we deserved...
Which at the time, I thought sounded chilling. but there's really two ways of looking at it. One is how the Scratch rebooted our world into a state of pure chaos, culminating in the annihilation of our universe. but on the other hand, we all got the chance to live out our wildest fantasies as adults on Alternia!
At least you and I sure did. And I wouldn't doubt she feels the same way.
Meenah: so we done?
Aranea: That's it!
Meenah: toughest 5 bucks i ever made

Now go open the chest on the boardwalk area.
Mindfang's journal floats out of the chest.

You got an Alternian Journal!

It's a bit wordy. Though some of the material here strikes you as pretty risque. Actually... quite a lot of the material.

You surreptitiously pocket the overwrought diary for later reading.

Cross the bridge, then go west, then north, then west again, to the other boardwalk area. A new area loads. The song Irrrrrrreconcilable begins to play. You now stand on a long, red boardwalk built on top of a pink, rocky plane with another moat winding across it. This moat flows in from the west as lava, then spreads out into a pond. In the north area, it fades back to water. A compass rose is superimposed over the boardwalk and part of the visible rock. Head east, past where the boardwalk ends and makes way for the pink rocks. Among some plants and boulders, there's a chest. Open it.

You got a Broken 8 Ball!

You remember seeing a bunch of these earlier. What was the context again? You just had so many long weird conversations it's all kind of a jumble now.

You feel unlucky just looking at this thing. You toss it in the bushes.

Walk back to where you endered and head south. The boardwalk ends again and a rope bridge crosses the moat. On the other side is a somewhat triangular piece of land. On the northwest side, there's a set of stairs that ascend to a castle-like structure on an island in the half lava, half water lake. At the western tip of the land, there's a chest. Open it.

You got the Fluorite Octet!

Feeling lucky, punk????????

(hashtag) (winking face with eight eyes)

Go up the stairs, to the castle on the island. You end up on top of a large, square building. On the north side, there are two chests. Open the right chest.

You got a pair of Rocket Boots!

(hashtag) pshoooes

What would a ghost need with rocket boots, anyway? Can't all ghosts fly?

Or maybe that's just dead god tiers, who can generally fly anyway. Or dead dream selves? Actually you don't know what the flying rules are and you don't really care.

Open the left chest.

A jumble of gold objects and gems float out.

You got a Heap of Priceless Treasure!

Huh. Actual treasure, inside a treasure chest.

Now you've seen everything.
At the southwest corner, there's another rope bridge. This one heads directly south. Go down it. You reach a smaller section of the castle-like structure. There's a set of stairs that go down to the south. Go down them. You're now back on pink land. Andrew Hussie peeks out from behind a pink boulder. East of him, Tavros, Vriska, and John are having a conversation. When you approach them, it says "This leads to the end of the game. Are you sure you're done here?" Don't exit the game yet, though, because you're not done.

Go to Hussie. One option appears.

This guy again?

[Note: Hussie's text appears as if it's narration and does not have a preface. That has been added for clarity.]

Hussie: Oh. It's you. Scram kid!
Meenah: hey orange dude tell me your deal already Hussie: I said get lost Feferi!!!!
(hashtag) Do. Not. Fuck with me.
Meenah: whoferi???
Hussie: Alright. I see what's going on here. You clearly have developed feelings for me. I understand. I led you on. Remember when I said bring me a horse and I am yours forever?
Total lie!
Sorry, but my heart is still set on Vriska. She will be my wife.
who's vriska
That girl over there. No, don't look! Shhhhhhhhhhh. Let's try to keep it down, ok? You're going to ruin this for me.
Meenah: her??
dog aint she a little young for you
Hussie: No, but that's the thing! She's spent like however many years being a ghost, so she's older now! That means it's not creepy.
Who even knows how many years she spent here? Maybe 100??! Hell, she might even be older than me now! See? Totally not creepy anymore. Case closed!
Meenah: i dont know what yer talkin about but you sound like an asshole Hussie: Just need to find the right moment to make my move. Only problem is, I lost the ring. John Fucking Egbert has it. Doesn't look like he's gonna let it go either, the bastard.
Gotta make a plan. Think, imagination, think. Argh, the one time I really need you!
Meenah: yo i got boatloads a bling
i could sell you a ring
Hussie: You could?? Oh man, perfect. How much?
Meenah: [note: her reply, said with a smug smile, is a screenshot of the Homestuck game kickstarter's total at the time of this upload.] $2,485,508 pledged of $700,000 goal
Hussie: Are you fucking serious.
What makes you think I've got that kind of dough just lying around?!
Meenah: thats my price pumpkin skin you want the ring or not Hussie: Alright. Fine. Guess I've got no choice but to pony up.
Just... don't tell anyone, ok? I kind of promised I would use this money for something else.
Meenah: none ma biz homes deal or no deal Hussie: Yeah. Here.
Meenah: awwwwww yeah check them mad staxx
here you go loverboy Hussie: Thanks!
Wait...
Is this ring...
Did you steal this...
From Cronus?
Meenah: fo sho
Hussie: ...
Ew.
Meenah: No refunds!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
Hussie: (sad face)

We're still not at the end of the game, though. Go back to the beginning area and be Damara again. As Damara, go through the door that Kanaya left open. Go to the hornpile room. Karkat is still face-deep in horns, but now Terezi sits east of the pile, where Gamzee sat. Interact with Karkat.

What have we here?

Damara: .............. [note: she gives her predatory smile.]

Go to Terezi.

It's Terezi!

Terezi: Hey damz!!!! [note: her dragon cape's hood is pulled down over her face, hiding it entirely.] if you go anywhere near him, I will fucking kill you!
Damara: [note: she scowls and flips her two middle fingers.]

Now go down to the rug-covered alchemy pit.

Talk to Dave.

Dave: hey
who the fuck are you don't think you belong in here
Damara: I very happy. [Note: this is all in english and in all caps.] meet human.
say much delight.
Dave: meh you seem harmless enough
what do i even care
go fuck some shit up japanese schoolgirl troll

Talk to Rose.

Rose: Hello. I don't think we've met.
Damara: [note: she tilts her head and looks confused.]
Rose: You seem confused. Are you lost?
Maybe you shouldn't be wandering around here.
Damara: please. Apology.
not want. Disturb you.
Rose: Aw. You seem so sweet.
Please, feel free to stay as long as you like.

Now head through the other rooms, to the exposition booth. Hussie now stands behind it. Interact with him. Fourteen options appear.
Hey, before we start...
Tell me about Damara Megido.
Tell me about Mituna Captor.
Tell me about Rufioh Nitram.
Tell me about Kankri Vantas.
Tell me about Meulin Leijon.
Tell me about Latula Pyrope.
Tell me about Porrim Maryam.
Tell me about Aranea Serket.
Tell me about Horuss Zahhak.
Tell me about Kurloz Makara.
Tell me about Cronus Ampora.
Tell me about Meenah Piexes.

Hussie: Damara!!! What the hell are you doing this deep into the game! Good grief, you are such a teen delinquent. I never should have let you out of Doc Scratch's pervert chamber in the alternate universe.
Damar-- Hussie: Whoops, noooot no no no. I'm not gonna let you respond. You're just going say something totally filthy in Japanese again and make everyone uncomfortable.
Whoa cut that out! [note: Damara is licking between her fingers again.]
Sheesh. I guess this is what happens when you don't have a proper upbringing by a decent guardian. Or at least one who isn't a four foot tall asshole in suspenders, who's kind of like a creepy puppet uncle.
Look, let's all just chill out here. No more lewd Asian shenanigans, got it?? You may notice I bought a new franchise recently.
Cost me a fortune! I had to pawn a ring that used to belong to some dirtbag just to make the down payment.
But I should be able to recoup the losses, if I just tweak the business model a little. Hear me out.
Instead of giving people money to listen to my shit? I think I might actually start Charging people for the service. Crazy, I know, right?
I've been thinking of dividing up my offers into a series of handsomely priced explanation bundles called Exposition Paks where I would...

Damara: [note: she gives two middle fingers.]
Hussie: Oh kaaay, guess you're not down with that?
What would you pay for an explanation? Want to make an offer?
Yeah you're not gonna pay me a goddamn penny, are you.
Damara: [note: she smokes her blunt.]
Hussie: Ok fine. I'll give you these explanations for free. Let's call it a loss leader. You'll tell your friends, maybe they'll tell their friends, then the dead presidents start rolling in.
Yes? Yes??
Damara: [note: she tilts her head to the side confusedly.]
Hussie: Aw fuck it. Just tell me what you wanna know.
But just a heads up, these stories are gonna be pretty shitty! I ain't no light player.

Hey, before we start...

Hussie: Did you get here with Damara before you got here with Meenah? If you did I think I'm going to flip my shit. That is one cracked way of going through this game. Stop talking to me right now and go come back as Meenah.

Ignore his advice and continue asking as Damara.

Tell me about Damara Megido.

Hussie: You want me to tell you about You??? Talk about self absorbed, but alright.
You say stuff in Japanese, and when people who actually speak Japanese read it they probably laugh because the Japanese is so shitty. Sorry to burst your bubble Damara but the things you say started out in English, went through the google translator, and then out again so that it vaguely makes sense when translated back to English. So you aren't really authentic troll Japanese, you're fake troll Japanese.
Damara: [note: she scowls and flips him off with both hands.]
Hussie: Whoa don't kill the messenger! Relax. Everyone thinks you're great. In fact, there's probably someone out there Right Now drawing some weird porn of you.
Damara: ???

Tell me about Mituna Captor.

Hussie: Mega Man Sollux has some problems. He falls down and stuff and talks on a 4chan background, because of 4chan. But in spite of that, he's brave and does his best and everyone loves him. Also no one can read a damn thing he says. His quirk is the least legible of all quirks, with Damara's coming in at a close second.

Tell me about Rufioh Nitram.

Hussie: With apologies to Dante Basco. Dante, I'm sorry about this. All of this. I am so, so sorry.
You were leading the regular, modest life of a Hollywood superstar, then this shit happened.
Everything is broken forever. I liked your work in The Last Airbender. You know what's funny is how there are probably some people who are reading this right now who have no idea what the fuck I'm talking about. But you know what? What the Fuck else is even new.
Anyway. Bangarang, dude.
Bangarang.
(hashtag) rufiozuko dot tumblr dot com

Tell me about Kankri Vantas.

Hussie: Did you know: it is a Homestuck fact that 99 percent of all readers didn't read or care about anything Kankri said. So in other words, he is exactly like all terrible social justice bloggers.
Some social justice bloggers get angry at the joke that he is, but those are the terrible ones, and being terrible is why they get angry. They want to be terrible in peace without being mocked. That is what it is like to be a justified target of ridicule. You feel sad and angry all the time and you don't know why.
Kankri wears a cute red sweater and is otherwise fairly adorable. Porrim acts like his mom which is also cute as hell.

Tell me about Meulin Leijon

Hussie: Meulin is the deaf Nepeta in this kickass smorgasbord of disabled characters. She speaks in ASL to say memes which are called mimes because it's one letter away and therefore a play on words. But you can't actually use ASL to say animated tumblr gifs, you can only say words. She otherwise reads lips, which is funny because her bff sewed his damn mouth shut so they just sign memes to each other all day while stoned. It is implied that they smoke catnip together, as if it were marijuana, which is an especially amusing notion to people who like drugs. Moving on??
Tell me about Latula Pyrope.

Hussie: Latula is the game girl to Mituna's game bro. Game bros and game girls aren't really "types of people" so much as they are hollow cliches which are patronizing to multiple groups of people on multiple levels. So in other words, perfect attributes for some 1.5 dimensional NPC-caliber characters stocking a fun jrpg style walkthrough game. Wait what was I talking about? Oh yeah Latula.

Latula's so rad but she can't smell. I think I agree with Karkat, that's not a disability. That's just like having a cold all the time, but without any actual symptoms or problems. Who cares. Latula likes to high five people all the time, but doesn't like to be left hanging. That's a pun, because Red glare liked to hang people with nooses. Mindfang ultimately left Red glare hanging that way too. I'm explaining jokes here. What? I told you these stories would suck. You get what you pay for.

Tell me about Porrim Maryam.

Hussie: Porrim is better at social justice than Kankri because she isn't a boring asshole. Some social justice people should try looking into that. Porrim wants there to be equality for ladies. Not everybody cares about that though, which makes it hard for people like Porrim. That's the way it is in the real world. Challenges. But in any case, she is a vampire with cool tattoos. End of story.

Tell me about Aranea Serket.

Hussie: Aranea is a blabbermouth, just like Mindfang. She says long things both as a teen and as a sexy pirate adult that make people ask what am I even reading? It's about time I took over this exposition stand. The way I describe shit is a million times better. She sure charged me enough for it. God I took a bath on this thing. Why was it so expensive??? It's made of fucking cardboard.

Tell me about Horrus Zahhak.

Hussie: This dude is just Equius on horse steroids. The end.

Tell me about Kurloz Makara.

Hussie: He chewed off his tongue and sewed his mouth shut because he's a weirdo in cahoots with Gamzee and English. Who even knows what they're up to. It's probably just a lot of stupid bullshit. Meaningless, clownish nonsense. Want to know why they're assembling the wicked ensemble? They probably just think it's funny. Kurloz speaks in bones when he does his clown hypnosis shit but otherwise he mimics everything because get this: he's pretty much literally a mime. Also a juggalo. Because that's exactly what Homestuck needed. Another fucking juggalo. Homestuck needed another juggalo like it needed...

Well, another twelve trolls I guess.

Tell me about Cronus Ampora.

Hussie: Cronus is the worst character in Homestuck by a nautical mile. Any questions?

Tell me about Meenah Peixes.

Hussie: Meenah is kind of throwing a bone to the pisces people who got stuck with Feferi. Feferi didn't really do anything and then she died. Meenah is a cool sassy punk who has more important stuff to do than Feferi ever did. You just spent like the last three hours playing through these games from her POV so obviously you know that. You're probably sick of fish puns by now. After a while you start running out of fish puns. You can over do it with fish puns, much like you can overfish the ocean. You start literally running out of fucking fish. Be careful out there.
Hussie: Meenah discovered that raising an army is hard. But you know what's really hard? What's really hard is making games. Games disguise the effort that go into them probably like few other crafts. In order to make a game that is even slightly better than mediocre, someone probably had to die in the process. Like building pyramids. Nobody actually died while making these games though, hence they were just ok. But still if you add up all the work done collectively on these last three games, it probably was comparable to the manhours that went into [S] Cascade. You know what that is? That's a silly ass fact.

Head across the moat, then out into the next room. Since you're Damara, you end up at the first room as if you came in from the room with the door.

Be anyone but Damara or Meenah. Say… Rufioh. Be Rufioh and try to go to the room with the door. You get a popup.

Where do you think you're going! This is Meenah's interactive quest through the afterlife. You can only leave this area if you're being her!

(Hashtag) nice try

Go find and be Meenah again. Make your way all the way back around to the exposition booth again. Aranea is back at it, so you can't even talk to Hussie as Meenah. Give up and go to the exit.

You have the option to start over. You don't use it, though, because you just went through every possible option in the walkaround.]

[If game doesn't play, try another browser. Chrome or Firefox Recommended.]

[Note: Map is a link, as anticipated, to a map of the entire walkaround area. In the first area, several things are circled in red and labeled with letters, which then correspond to commands written below the picture.

A. The chest under the tree Damara was standing near. Get eggs
B. The fiduspawn plush on the hub platform. use on plush
C. Horsaponi. bring horsaponi to horuss
D. Horuss. be horuss
E. The locked grey chest by Damara. get lusus
F. Rufioh. bring lusus to rufioh, be him
G. Damara. be damara
H. The dreambubble by the quartz. Remove glacier.]

[Image description: In the walkthrough style, Meenah stands behind and slightly to the east of Vriska, who still watches John and Tavros. The boys both have question marks floating over their heads and the word Pause flashes at the top of the screen.]

You reach the end of the game to find an intriguing convergence of outrageous personalities. You are just dying to see what these heavyweights of badittude have to say to each other, but somehow you discover within yourself the superhuman restraint to hit pause.

There is a whole world of fucking around going on with the meteor crew during the second year of their voyage, and it would be a criminal act of negligence to end this intermission without at least having a peek at their tomfoolery. A weaker person would just want to see what happens with Meenah and Vriska right away. Thank goodness you are a player with a strong sense of responsibility and discipline.

Rose: Iss,
Prehhhtay strong I geush?
Whups. Guesh?
*Gueessss.
Eheh.
Dave: pretty strong
rose you just bootlegged some fucking rubbing alcohol Rose: Pshf ..
Overaeact much?
I'm yam completally in command of my faculties.
Dave: faculty isnt a word check mate this kinda strikes me as a sort of misappropriation of alchemy like fucking with the mystical technology of creation to whip up some moonshine just seems i dunno man
tell me you at least alchemized a bathtub first to stir this shit in at least that would be hilarious Rose: lii.
Omg, you're right, I messed a golden opportunity for a puticularly humoroussh approach to this endeavor... (sad face)
Dave: and where the Fuck is my applejuice rose gotta say
you really let me down on the a.j. front Rose: I tried!!
I tried making it...
Is was hard, Dave.
(Sluuurp.)
Dave: bullshit it was hard whats so hard about applejuice its like the most basic goddamn juice like the square one of juice
Rose: Yes, tha's the Point!
Apples are stalartingly difficult to reproduce.
We take for granned our ability to take idealized intsances ofeven quie comlicated objects and conshure them from the void.
But compalexity implies a heavilly recombinatife nature.. So.. so many things are synsthized from a series of mushh simpler ideas!
To those ennities capable of, of conceshualization and abstracion, an apple is as closed to being a noshushnally irreducedible object as it gets....
Ahem. *Notionally,
Irr, ed, ducible.
Tell me, hoch shot, what ideas would you combide to make and apple?
Dave: uh
Rose: Exaaalley/.
Thusis why apples are sush indivisible symbols, when it comes to thefield of ideas and their reducshunistHic!!!!!! reductionishtic essence from the perispective of humans in paticular.
Both from a standpoint of cultrulal and mytholurgical singificence,, and from a pratical one a swell, if you happen to fine yourself acshually trying to Engineeeeer one.
Why do you thing, Hic!!! Why do you think Adam mand Eve were punished for biting in to one??
They attempted to pentetrate an indivisible unit, uf fundamenetal knowledge. To consume the interior of a thought whish cantot be reduced any further.
This knowleshe was for Bidden..! Hic. So humanity was forever bandished to live in sin, and, hass strive ever sinse to redeem isself from the hubrinse of this innallectual foily.
Hahaha! , Foily.
*Folly. (smiley face)
Or what about, the tale of Isaac Newdon under the tree?? He was BONKED on the head by an apple.
Not reallyan apple though... an atomic idea. An emmental unit of inspripation itself, id clocked him right on then noggin.
And this indivisible notion colliding with hish awareness, much like. . a high speed partical fired to create a nuculear chain reacation, jarred from the void a more profound unnerstand, Hic, ing of the intrinsic nature of nothiness. Thatis,. Gravivitation.
Of course these stories are actually bullshit. They didn't happen in reality. But the act that they're bullshit makes them more interesting. Men have created many stories that are bullshit out of symbols risen from the abyss of consciousness without necessarily knowing what the fuck they were doing or saying, as they floundered around for some truth. But in spite of themselves they would for however briefly cross through a ray of light regardless. Because of the symbols. Dave. The symbols hold all the power.

Dave: well shit looks like i wandered into a really weird uncharted side of town tonight its called the drunk rose district and i am scared out of my fucking mind
Rose: For a guy who's supposedly an I quote, "so cool," you really are almost comically uptight.
Here, why don't you have some...
Dave: no!
Rose: What a prune.
*Prude.
Hic.
Dave: i told you i dont want any of your experimental fucking spacewizard booze id rather not go blind then terezi will have to teach me to lick shit to see is that what you want do you want me licking everything in sight like oh hey mayor Slurp oh fuck you're not the mayor you're my goddamn sister Rose: Ahahahahahahaha! (very happy winking face)

i still don't know why you were so bent on making this liquor
i thought you weren't really that down with the drinkin you never liked it when your mom drank what happened to that Rose: Meh.
She was a lonely single mom.
I forgive her.
ok so why
Dave: why tonight do you just decide to get completely wasted before you like are you nervous about your date with kanaya is that it Rose: It's a date??
Dave: uh
yes
Rose: Howww do you figure,
It's a date.
Dave: rose
you are wearing a friggin prom dress and nervously drinking your ass off while you are waiting for kanaya to arrive for a goddamn Date
Rose: Can't a girl jush look her best once an awhile?
Dave: this is infuriating
why do you even bother with this stupid charade you could be at like a drive in movie making out with each other all exchanging class rings while giving birth to each others fucking children and you would still be all coy like Is it a date or isnt it hmmmm who can really say for sure???
Rose: Ok....
Mebey,
I took a little sip to take the edge off?
Dave: yeah
that turned out to be one hell of a sip maybe you should just reschedule
Rose: Nooooo Hic!
*No (sad face)
Dave: just sleep it off there are more hot dates where that came from Rose: It's cool I'm, cool.
Really!
Dave: im just not sure youre gonna make the best impression like this

There's No Need To Worry About That I Think I'm Done Trying To Kill Him Rose: You are?
Kanaya: Yeah
He Has Achieved Victory Through The Gambit Of Cowards Default
Don't Get Me Wrong He Is Still Utterly Awful
But Sometimes You Just Have To Let A Thing Go
You Know
Rose: Yeahhh,
Kanaya: What Were You Saying About Terezi And Gamzee Rose: Right, well apparently they...
Are.
An item?
Blackways, I mean.
Kanaya: What
Rose: The you're spades dating. In the shadows... nobody knows. But me. An now,
You.
Kanaya: Are You Serious
Rose: Yeah!!
And it's been troubling me, the more I think about it.
All lot.
Kanaya: Why
Rose: Because it presents a prickly political situation.
Terezi's relationship with Karkat is already somewhat tenuous, with their... well from, what I've gathered, about their history.
And Dave! His involvement makes it even more complicated, and,
I think, with Karkat being moirails to Gamzee, if he finds out Gamzee is spades with Terezi, then...
Correct me if I'm wrong but isn't that whole arrangement getting into territory of social taboo?
* Taboo. Excuse me.
Kanaya: That Could Be Very Awkward Yes

[Image description: Rose wrinkles her nose and taps her finger into her palm.]

dialoglog
Rose: Right!!
I don't no if it's my ser powers or what, but, Hic, I can see it unfolding all too clearly.
Karkast finds out about it and flies into a rage. It ruins his moirlalgeffenance... I mean his moiraHic!! It ruins his diamonds with Gamzee, who therefore becomes less stable.
And he villifies Terezi as well, and who knows how she reacts. Or what happens with Dave for that matter.
Would Dave actually be alright with Terezi dating a psychotic clown on the side, even if it is a relationship centered around only enmity? I kinof doubt it. He could side with Korkat on the matter. Not even tos peak of where your alignment is on the subjecj of Gamzeen. Which is, what I fear. I'm afraid that, This could create a schisasm in our group, that we could all be torn apart. And I don't wand that!!!! I want us all to stay friends, and jus be... peaceful togehter. (sad face)

Kanaya: Me Too
I Can See The Dilemma Here
Are You Actually Thinking About
Um
Doing Something About This
Rose: I dun't know!!!
Maybe I shouldn't interefere with their kishmeshishit... kshimimishimesh.. Aw fuck. Their hate dating.
Maybe it's..
Just a wonderful thing for them. An I would beh hoorible to inerfere, with their..
Beautiful hate?
The problem is, it's still soo alien to me. The idea of blapck romance.
I try to understand, sometimes, like, more than inteclectually. I try to, put myself in the shoes of Feeling that an...
It still donst make sense to me.
I don't want to project my human valuesh on to an alien relationship I dispapprove of.
Kanaya: I Understand
But What Youre Describing Is
Hmm
Actually Im Hesitant To Even Mention It Rose: No, what!
Kanaya: This Is Probably Not A Good Idea
Rose: Oh, puleashe. You Know you have to tall me now.
Kanaya: The Feelings You Are Having Are Actually Perfectly Normal Within The Framework Of Our Quadrant Based Romantic Tradition
I Dont Know If They Can Be Felt Naturally By Humans But The Way You Are Viewing Their Relationship Would Be Quite A Standard Response On Alternia
Rose: Yeah??
Kanaya: Yes
It Is Sanctioned Within The Ashen Quadrant
Which Addresses Conciliatory Romantic Feelings Not Directed At A Single Person But At Two People Who Are Presently In Such A Contentious Relationship Rose: Oh shitch... I forgot about that..
You're right, (gasping face)
Kanaya: It Is Generally Not Regarded As One Of The More Emotionally Fulfilling Quadrants To Become Involved In
And Can Be Quite Laborious To Maintain
But It Served A Very Important Social Purpose For My People Such As In Situations Very Similar To The One You Described Where Two Parties Are Highly Drawn To Each Other Through Animosity They May In Fact Be Perfect For Each Other In That Tumultuous Quadrant But To Pursue The Relationship Would Be Chaos Much Like The Scenario You Laid Out The Two Kismeses If Left Unchecked Would Devastate All Their Other Relationships Those In Their Own Quadrants And Even Those In Other Peoples
So It Is The Job Of An Auspistice To Make Sure That Doesnt Happen

[Note: The second image is a link to a Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff comic.

Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff

On "thed Date"

As usual, all the text is in Comic Sans. 'On' is in green and 'thed date' is in red.

Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff each hold the hand of a tall woman in a short skirt and a crop top, both of which are bright pink. The woman's head and shoulders extend out of the panel, so they aren't seen. One of her feet is in a bright green high heel, but the other foot is just shaped like a high heel.

Sweet Bro says

Today we go on this Hot Date With This Beautiful Wonan.

In a light blue speech bubble. 'Hot Date' is written in red against a flame background, which has perfectly square edges, and 'Beautiful Wonan' is written in purple.

It zooms in on Hella Jeff's face.

the "Date Idea (plan)".......is to go to go tot the ...............Subway (sandwish restraraunt ©)

'Date idea' is written much larger than the rest of the text and (plan) is so small it's hard to read. 'Subway' is just the restaurant's logo but heavily jpeg artifacted. (sandwish restraraunt ©) is written very small and in light grey.

They walk towards a building labeled 'Subway' with a poorly drawn vent half the size of the building itself labeled 'vent shaft'. Hella Jeff continues speaking, this time in a yellow speech bubble.

And stand out side and smell the smell that the sand wiches make!

for awhile

'For awhile' is outside the speech bubble, teal, and tilted a little.

Sweet Bro, who suddenly has black hair and yellow-tinted skin for some reason, puts his face up to the 'vent shaf' as a 'weird stonk' floats out of it.

Sweet Bro talks to Hella Jeff, who is inhaling the brown stink lines from the weird stonk and saying 'mmmmmmmmmmm'

Uhhhm, dude?
That rank ass vent wind smells like shit.

Sweet Bro keeps talking as Hella Jeff inhales even harder.

bro...
bro this date is shit, your shit.
you are Blowing it with this Foxy Slunt can we ant least go Inside this shitwhole...
Fuck
Stop you loser turd
stop it

Sweet Bro grimmaces and kicks Hella Jeff in the ass. Hella Jeff is still delighted by the weird stonk. The woman begins walking away from them. In a brown and teal speech bubble, Sweet Bro keeps yelling at him.

Stop smelling those sandwinches you hideous cock, she's escaping to the side.

Hella Jeff knocks the cover off the vent and 'woggles' inside up to his waist. In the background, Sweet Bro chases after the woman.

A washed out image shows Hella Jeff once again inhaling the weird stonk and loving it.

Now back to the main comic.]

[Image description: Green curtains are open over Rose falling down the stairs. 'Psyche' is written over her in pink, artifacted comic sans.]

And there you have it. Literally the worst psycheout in Homestuck to date, hands down.

But seriously, we still need to see what Meenah and Vriska have to say to each other. Proceed to the next page to find out how these twin titans of in-your-face delinquency react to each other's unique brands of reckless antihero chutzpah.

Spoiler warning: do not open dialoglog until fully loaded.

dialoglog
You spend no less than 90 seconds staring at this fucking GIF image before you realize the actual Flash animation is on the next page.

[Image description: The same loading screen under the curtain appears, but this time, the black circles orbit around the smiley face. The song Killed by Br8k Spider!!!!!!!! Begins to play. A black panel with the scorpio symbol on it slides on from the right until it takes up half the screen. A matching panel with the Pisces symbol comes in from the left to take up the other half. A red line flashes between them, then fades to black. As one, the two symbols move up to make room for a pink floor rising from the bottom of the screen. The two halves separate to reveal the sky of the Land of Maps and Treasure and a sea in the distance. Meenah and Vriska come running on from opposite sides of the screen. As they get close to each other, it zooms in and the word Strife appears above them. Andrew Hussie repeatedly peeks over the edge of the land to see what's happening. The trolls speak in speech bubbles rather than using talk sprites this time. This panel is interactive. Occasionally, arrows appear for you to click, such as when you need to progress dialogue.

Meenah: that makes no fuckin sense at all anemoneway i dont recall giving anyone clearance for a whalenormous treasure hunt as the rightful heiress that sorta noise has to go through me yo!!!
Vriska: Haha! Wow, I had no idea the Peixes twin was such a riot! At least, I Hope you were trying to be funny with that remark.
John! Tavros! Stop goofing off over there and come get a load of this chick!!!!!!!!!

A whistle sound plays and John and Tavros appear on either side of Vriska. Tavros looks nervous and John looks delighted.

Tavros: Uhh, what? What am I actually getting a load of,
John: oh, it's you! i remember you.
Meenah: Its blue boy!!! hahaha i forgot about this dumb nerd Meenah moves closer to John.

John: hey... what are you doing with that...
no, please put the pokey thing down!
Meenah: Hey blue boy!!! Catch!!!!!

The background turns yellow with streaks of fuchsia across it. When you click the arrow to progress, it shows the same panel of Meenah trying to fork John from her last attempt. This time, it stabs him right through the center of the chest. In the minist strife, he turns into a white silhouette with a trident in his chest.

John: Augh, not again!!!
Tavros: Oh, yes, eheheheheheh,

John vanishes and the fork falls to the ground. Meenah picks it up, then returns to her position on the far side of the screen.

Vriska: Oh no. You did Not just fork-vanish my alt universe ex boyfriend. No you Didn't!!!!!!!!!
Meenah: guess you could say i made him disa spear (smiley face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Vriska: Who do you think you are? Some sort of bad girl? Please, that's obviously my turf. but you clearly want to rumble, so who am I to deny you the beatdown you're angling for?
Meenah: angling?? hey stick to spider puns or whatever if youre gonna talk smack fish puns are my turf!! or i guess i mean... surf (uncertain face wearing a tiara and goggles.)
Vriska: Yeah, uh, I don't really Do puns? Mainly because I'm not a lame wiggler. Anyway you sure like to wave that trident around while running your mouth. I wonder if you had any intention of engaging in any actual combat?
Guess it's up to me to get this party started, as usual. Watch and learn!!!!!!!!

Vriska steps up and begins to levitate and glow. An orb of blue light surrounds her, then bursts outwards. Vriska drops back down to the ground, now in her Godtier outfit, wings and all.

Meenah: aw man is this what were doin now changin into our bullshit god rags?
Vriska: Your move, punk! (winking face with eight eyes) Meenah: but these jams are so ugly
bleh fine here goes nofin

Meenah mimics what Vriska just did, but her orb is fuchsia. Her godtier outfit is identical to Vriska's except for the color scheme, wing shape, and symbol. Her outfit consists of a beige tunic, brown pants and hood, fuchsia boots, and pointy fuchsia wings. The green life symbol is on her chest.

Meenah: Eeeeeeuuugh
i look like hell... all beige and shit
how can you even stand these grody ass thief duds

Tavros begins moving quickly around the area near Vriska.

Vriska: Wow, unreal. What a prima donna! Tavros, can you believe this girl?
Hey, what are you doing? Stop fidgeting around? Are you looking for something?
Tavros: (must find, my precious,,,) Meenah: i was thinkin of modding ma peejays to look a little snazzier water you think of…

Meenah changes her outfit so it has a crop top, lots of bangles, and no cape or hood.

Meenah: this?
Vriska: Uh.......

She changes to a tank top and shorts with green leggings underneath.

Meenah: or this? or maybe...
Vriska: (blank face with eight eyes)

She changes again, this time to a waistcoat ensemble. The shirt is green and she wears beige pants and a dark brown vest with the life symbol on the breast.

Meenah: wait how bout…

She changes again. Now she's wearing dark brown pants with a loose beige tank top and a green sash around her waist that trails down to the floor in the back. It looks almost pirate-like.
Meenah: yea???
Vriska: ?????????

Meenah flicks quickly between all five options

Vriska: Oh my god. Will you stop????????
You don't like your gear, just do what I do. Take it to the next level! Check it.

Meenah steps back and Vriska steps up. Tavros finally stops jumping around. The background turns cobalt blue with lighter streaks across it as Vriska tosses her Fluorite Octet. They land on all 8s and begin to glow. Bright blue light beams out from Vriska until it whites out the entire screen. When everything fades back in, Vriska's wearing her Mindfang costume and holding a bright blue sword with lighter blue designs down one side.

Meenah: da fuuuuck come on girl i aint got no dice or fancy pirate threads this is like my top shelf battle mode here but i Can call for backup my homies can teach you to show your royalty a lil respect

Meenah whistles and Aranea steps up behind her, mimicking Tavros's position.

Aranea: Hey, what's going on here?! Meenah, are you fighting with my dancestor? This is so counterproductive!
Meenah: original recipe serket. quit yer glubbin and go god tier already theres a rumble goin down in the hood Aranea: Oh, fine. but I'm not participating in this fight!!!!!!!!!

Aranea flickers and is suddenly wearing her orange Sylph of Light outfit.

Vriska: Hey there, dorky teen Marquise! Nice of you to join us.
Your friend seems to think she's the only one who can call for backup.
As if I don't have god tier pals waiting in the wings too!

Another whistle sounds and Aradia steps up next to Vriska. She's wearing her godtier outfit.

Aradia: huh? what is happening here... wait is this a party? oh goodness i think it is (wide eyed very happy face.)
this is like a fun costume party for ghosts isnt it! whats the occasion?
Aradia: oh but im not doing any fighting
Aranea: Neither am I!
Vriska: God dammit, Aradia.

Meenah: scrod clammit aranea
aight we need some non pacifisht chumps on the scene pronto Meenah: ey anyone in the ghost vicinity get yer tail over here shit is going down
Vriska: yeah!!!!!!!

Latula: wooooo, aw yeah girlz, heard you were starting a party over here??? (very happy face with eyes pinched shut and furrowed brows)
Meenah: no its not a party its...
Kankri: Hm. I see someone has chosen to dress as a pirate for this party, in spite of the negative associations that the old marauding classes have with violent abuse, oppression, not even to mention

Meenah: arrrrrgh dude gtfo

Latula: yo porrim! nice costume! way to change into something on such short notice. Hi five!!!!

Porrim: What? No, this isn't a costume. It's just what I was wearing. I came over here to see what all the commotion was about.

Latula: damn girl you just looking fine for the hell of it then! girl Power!!!

Porrim: Uh... sure. So this is a party? Sounds like fun!

Meenah: no its not a party gfd (frowning face wearing a tiara and goggles)

Aradiabot 1: lets annihilate them

Aradiabot 2: yes lets. i am in the mood to ruin somebody

Vriska: Right on! I knew I could count on you crazy metal broads for some mayhem.

Solux: hey aradia, uh... your robo clones look like they're about to flip the fuck out. they're making me nervous, eheheh. can you try talking some sense into them?

Aradia: sorry sollux my robotic duplicates have always been free agents totally exempt from my influence and better judgement

Aradia: equius do you think you can calm them down?

Equius: (Bow and arrow)They are pernickety devices

Often sweat seeps into their circuitry and causes them to behave more erratically

Which unfortunately only causes me to sweat even more profusely, I am afraid

Aradia: equius weve never talked about it but im not sure how comfortable i am with you um... courting such a great plurality of my mechanical doubles

Equius: (Bow and arrow)On a scale of 1 to 100, how depraved would you say you find my behavior?

(please be 100, please be 100...)

Aradia: i never should have kissed you that time it was such a mistake (frowning face)

Equius: (Bow and arrow)(i need a towel)

(a new one I mean)

A horde of new ghosts appear on both sides. They are a Mituna without his helmet, a Kurloz dressed in very fancy, royal-looking clothes, a god tier Meulin, a god tier Cronus, an Eridan, a Nepeta, and a Feferi.

Mituna: hath anywong seen my hamlet

Kurloz: (smiley face with a round nose)

Mituna: ooooh whoa nice costume buddy

Kurloz: (smiley face with a round nose)

Cronus: (be quiet. by saying anything you're really making a horrible impression on people we should be trying to impress here.)

Mituna: im sorry

Cronus: (ill forgive you, but this is the last time I ever do. Im at my wits end with you.)

Mituna: im sorry please please forgive me again

Feferi: Glub! (whoops, i mean glub. oh gosh, it's my ancestor!)

(i'm so nervous, i can't let her notice me. she's so unbubbleivably cool! swoonami)

Meenah: (ah snap its my ancestor. wish i didnt notice her)

(must... suppress... urge... to murder her for royal supremacy omg)

A Nepeta goes over to talk to the Meulin. The Cronus goes over to talk to Eridan.

Meulin: (cat face with perked ears) eeeeeeee!!!!!!!!!

Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) eeeeeeee!!!!!!!!!

Meulin: (gasping cat face with perked ears and its tail raised) eeeeeeee!!!!!!!!!
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) eeeeeeeee!!!!!!!!!
Meulin: (smiling cat face with perked ears and whiskers) < eeeeeeeee!!!!!!!!!
Eridan: whoa man could you maybe stop bumpin me with your codpiece
Cronus: sorry chief, honest mistake. so are you doing anything later?
Eridan: wait are you actually seriously hittin on me
Eridan: wow dude even i think youre trash
Cronus: im a cool enough cat if you get to know me. you didnt answer the question.
Eridan: sigh fine lets go out on a date i guess. flippin amazin this tragic scenarios what i been reduced to Meenah: Hey! everyone stay on the right goddamn sides. cronus im lookin at you Vriska: Yeah! Nepeta, back in line. You people need to start taking this brawl more seriously.

Another group of trolls arrive. They include a robohorse Rufioh, a Horuss wearing a horse onsie, a Damara dressed like a japanese sailor-style schoolgirl, a dream Karkat, a Kanaya wearing a pink dress with a high slit, a pupa pan Tavros, a godtier Gamzee with yellow eyes, an Equius wearing Nepeta's hat, and a Nepeta wearing Equius's glasses.

Robohorse Rufioh: yo my gangstas! did i hear you were going off to fight a ghost killing demon...
Robohorse Rufioh: mind if i tag along... i've been hoping for a chance to put an end to my cruel joke of an existence... haha... bangarang.

Vriska: Hell yes! On this team I have a Major need for expendable people.
Meulin: (gasping cat face) Horsebody rufioh, don't be such a downer! Didn't you get the meowmo? This is not a catfight, it's a costume purrty!!!
Meenah: no no it really is a catfight. or i mean a regular fight... urrgh Kankri: Meulin, it would be great if you didn't use this party as a platform to engage in suicide shaming. I think Rufioh is triggered enough as it is having to live with the heinous body of a metal horse.

Damara: kore wa nan? harowin no ranko? [What is this? A Halloween orgy?]
Vriska: Are you fuckers deaf???????? This ain't a party!
Meulin: (blank cat face with perked ears) …
Porrim: Horrus, your outfit looks nice, but sorry to say it was a false alarm. It's not a costume party. Horuss: (horse face slash dick) This isn't a costume. I am literally a majestic stallion, and my appearance reflects this noble reality.

Porrim: Ah. Gotcha. Hey guys, can I be on the other team?
Kanaya: Yes!
Meenah: no!!!!!!!!!!!

A Dream Karkat and the original Tavros begin moving through the crowd behind Vriska.

Karkat: this gathering has completely blown away my ability to tolerate stupidity and awfulness. Get me the fuck outta here.
god damn it. The crowd is getting too thick, I can't even get away from this shit. Everybody fucking move!!!

Tavros: excuse me, other people, who are me, and otherwise, Gamzee: (low) honk.

Tavros: have you seen, a beautiful treasure on the floor, that is more specifically a ring,

Terezi: karkat, shut up, this is great! we need to get more people jammed into this sweet fight party masquerade! (smley face with furrowed brows)

Another whistle sounds and even more trolls show up. There's so many that it has to zoom out.
All of this text is written as one large chunk with only color and typing quirk to determine who says what.

Some Porrim: I saw the crowd from way over there. According to people out on the cusp, this is some sort of costume party?
Some Latula: tru factz girl!!! just jam yourself in the pile, likez this!!!
Meenah: ah fuck are people way over there still callin this a party
Aradiabot: destroy
Some Mituna: Someone is toushing me. This needs to stop
Some Damara: dare ka ga watakushi ni furete iru. tsuzukete kudasai. [Someone is touching me. Please continue.]
Some Kankri: someone is triggering me. This needs to be tagged.
Some Porrim: Shoosh!
Some Mituna: Im sorry
Some Karkat: oh god, I can hear him whining from all the way over there.
Some Kanaya: Someone Over There Is Probably Making The Same Observation About You
Some Karkat: Yeah, and your ancestor is probably chiding him maternally over there, just like you are with me. Ever think about that??
Some Kanaya: I'm Sorry
Aradiabot: kill Tavros: (where, oh, where,)
Some Sollux: ehehehehe, this party is a fucking Joke.
Meenah: no its a shitty battle royale pass it on you dirtscrapin sack of honey dijon rubbish
Some Sollux: nice dress, fin face, lol.
Tavros: (is, my precious,) Vriska: Tavros, stop crawling around under everyone's feet! You're being so weird.
Some Terezi: Yeah, we can all hear you whispering to yourself. Pretty weird, bro. (uncertain face with furrowed brows)
Tavros: (none of them, can understand,)
Aradiabot: destroy
Rufioh: haha, yo i think i hear my young ancestor whispering from all the way over here... about something precious... shit is crazy!
Tavros: (the beauty, of my precious,) Horuss: (horse face slash dick) It reminds me of when I was similarly smitten, and searched everywhere for the perfect snout ring for you, to Fortify our commitment. Do you remember, Rufioh?
Rufioh: whoa, yeah! heh, those were the days... (hey doll, mind if we talk a bit? i mainly want to look distracted... so the guy with the ponytail leaves me alone... you dig?)
Aradiabot: death to all
Rufioh: ahaha... damn. so much like the real thing it's... freaky (gasping face with bull horns)
Aradiabot: like what real thing
Rufioh: uh... you know, like...
Aradiabot: if you say like alive aradia i will make you Beg for a horse body
Rufioh: no no, like someone else!!! damn... uncanny...
Aradiabot: ok oh
Rufioh: hey, you're pretty cool babe... want to... like... if you aren't doing anything...
Equius: (Bow and arrow)Excuse me, what is going on over here
Rufioh: (man... not another zahhak! haha, this is fuckin crazy...)
Aradiabot: this guy with the mohawk was flirting with me and i was being fully receptive to his advances Rufioh: whoa you were?
Equius: (Bow and arrow)I see. Aradiabot number 100502, why must you devastate my pump biscuit so?
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) the pounceller astutely pawbserves the exchange and updates her shipping grid with startling developments of the heart!
Equius: (Bow and arrow) Nepeta, stop!
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) no!
Equius: (Bow and arrow) Yes
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) no
Equius: (Bow and arrow) Yes
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) no
Gamzee: (caps) honk
Some Terezi: More!!! More I say!!! Aaaahahahahahahahaha!!!!!!!

Another whistle sounds and even more trolls come on to the point that the entire screen is pretty much filled.

Tavros: (i found it!!!(The ring!!!)
Some Meulin: (shocked cat face with perked ears and a wiggling tail) Wow. That whisper was so loud, I think even I heard it???
Tavros: (no, wait, this isn't it,) Some Cronus: hey there sport, i think that's my ring you have there. ive been looking all over for it.
Tavros: Oh, okay, here you go,
Some Cronus: thank you, friend. thank you so, very, very, very much.
Tavros: Oh, wow,, this hug is lasting, waaaay too long,
Vriska: Hey, sketchier Ampora! If you touch him again, I will fucking kill you!
Eridan: owned
Karkats: I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the afterlife I hate the Meenah: serket deuce is this bullcarp as aggravatin to you as it is to me Vriska: At least as much. Probably a lot more.
Meenah: like seariously its so crowded now our faces are literally touching Meenah: dat cant be right
Vriska: I know. It's getting pretty awkward.
Meenah: lets back these asshats up and get on with our fight Vriska: Agreed.

It zooms back in to focus on Meenah and Vriska. Aranea steps out between them and moves back and forth in the no-man's-land between the two groups.

Aranea: Listen to me, both of you! This duel is incredibly pointless! Surely there is a way for you both to pursue your objectives without conflict.
In any case, I don't have time to moderate your ridiculous fight. I have a cherub to find!!!!!!!!!

She stops on Meenah's side and faces Vriska.

Vriska: I couldn't agree more! Making him think we're all looking for the cherub is a very important part of the plan! I guess great minds think alike.
Aranea: No, but I Really am looking for her!
Vriska: All the better then. That'll really help sell the ruse.
Aranea: It's not a ruse!!!!!!!!!
Meenah: classic flavor serket is right tho we are sorta wastin time here lets hurry this up and make it simple if i win then all these dorkwads join my army including you if you win you get all the spoils and go hunt for the treasure
Aranea: And if luck should conspire to make it a draw? (smiley face with eight eyes) Meenah: i dunno man
then i guess we combine all our plans into one huge clusterfuck plan??? like this whole thing aint one big clusterfuck already Vriska: I will agree to those terms. This is going to be almost too easy.
Meenah: serket the sequel shut your cocky mouth and fight me

They run towards each other. As they get close, the screen changes to a jagged-edged clash between fuchsia on the left and cobalt on the right. They both jump towards each other with their weapons raised and determined grins on their faces. Just before they attack, they freeze and the art style shifts to a cutesy cartoon style. We've seen this before. It's the same as the drawing Calliope made for Dirk. In fact, Calliope is drawn standing behind them in her troll cosplay. Her hands are on her cheeks and she says "stop, you guys!"

In Prospitian jail, Jack Noir carves another tally mark into the wall with a broken-off spike from under his window. Rather than marking off groups of five, he's marking of sevens. He glares at the wall.

A strange pattern of varying size red and orange squares divided into four equal triangles all overlapping each other fades in. Swirls of color and light cross it, seemingly at random. It zooms out, revealing it to be another world. The swirls are some sort of atmospheric phenomenon. The planet fades to a landscape of red, square-based pyramids. Some of them have trenches cut up the center of each side, which come together at the point. These trenches are filled with brightly colored light that forms a sparkling orb on top, which look a lot like what's happening in the air. Two people walk near the base of one with pink energy. Roxy looks towards a glowing pyramid that pulses brightly once before fading back to normal. A name appears at the top of the screen. Land of Pyramids and Neon.

Roxy, who is now wearing a purple, off the shoulder dress with a tattered hem, her cat symbol on the chest, tall gloves, and stockings, grins up at the pyramid. She holds a red rifle in one hand that had the Betty Crocker fork logo on it. Behind her, Jane is holding a massive fork with Skaia on the end of it and standing next to a green fenestrated plane. Jane's only outfit change is the addition of a fake moustache. Roxy moves towards a tall, steep pyramid that has a gate floating just above it while Jane examines the fenestrated plane.

Roxy fires her rifle up towards the top of the pyramid and something green appears on top of it right as Jane disappears through the plane. A perspective shift shows that the rifle put a fenestrated plane on top of the pyramid, which Jane then bursts through at high speed, launching her up towards the gate.

Jack Noir carves yet another tally mark, but there are many more completed sets than before.

Another land fades in. This one has a large red spot in the center, like a massive crater. The red area is surrounded by yellow-ish formations that look almost like cotton from such a distance. Beyond the yellow ring, the rest of the land is green with occasional dark patches and more almost cottony sections that vary from white to yellow.

Dirk drops down the side of a tall, ruined spire that was clearly carved into some sort of building. He's wearing a black tank top, pants tucked into tall boots, a golden belt, and a bright red gas mask with flame decals on the side and his shades on top of it. He holds his Katana in one hand. It zooms in on him as he falls for quite a long time. He fades and a pair of magenta skeleton monsters advance across a landscape. The sky behind it is full of brightly colored lightning and dark spots. Behind them are more ruins that look similar to hindu temples. It fades to another group of these temples, which tower far above their earthly counterparts in the same way that skyscrapers tower over suburban homes. More lightning cuts across the sky and a name fades in at the top. Land of Tombs and Krypton.

Dirk and someone else, presumably Jake by the short shorts and the skull-like gas mask, stand in a window of one of the temples and look down at the skeletal enemies that pass by. Dirk holds his katana at the ready and Jake pulls out his double pistols. Jake's changed into a grey suit jacket with his skull symbol on the breast, but he's still wearing incredibly short shorts.

It pans down over an area so thick with temples it almost looks like a forest. Behind them, a massive red cloud reaches down towards the ground, almost like the beginnings of a tornado. It pans down. Slowly, something strange comes into view. Perched atop a short, wide temple is a massive creature with a snake's body and a sun in the shape of a light symbol for its head. The outline of a face is just barely visible in the sun.

Jack Noir carves another tally into his even more numerous collection of tallies. As he finishes the line, the tip of his carving spike snaps off. He looks up and stares out of the small, barred window. His entire collection of tallies is next to it. If each tally is a day, he's been carving for 153 days. Everything but the window dims and the window grows brighter. Everything goes white for a moment, then a blurry Skaia fades in. Skaia shrinks and sharpens and takes its place at the center of the four planets. Green curtains frame the scene, but they do not close.

You are now Caliborn.

You needed something to sop up all the blood, so you snatched your sister's fanfic tome for the road. Just by ripping the pages out, you're already giving her dumb stories more attention than they deserve. She's lucky you were in such a pickle for clean towelettes. Ordinarily you wouldn't use this trash to wipe your ass.

But then again, that's only because ordinarily you're chained to the other side of the room.

[A6I4] Next

[Image description: Caliborn captchaalogues the book. His captchaologue card's stripes are now all red, but in two different shades.]
You captchalogue the tome, savoring the recently acquired freedom of having a fetch modus all to yourself. The idea of storing an object, and then... freely being able to retrieve it any time? Without having to barter with a truculent sibling over a series of inconvenient naps? It's almost too much liberation to fathom. You truly are a free, adult man, and you are so, so proud of yourself.

You love having a dead sister. Having a dead sister is an experience you would highly recommend to everybody.

[A6I4] Next

You are already so far from home. You have never walked so far in your life. At least not while awake. The immovable juju block keeping you shackled to your room was just one of the many banes of your existence.

It's hard being a cherub and growing up with lots of weird magical rules that nobody understands and have no discernible origin or purpose.

You peer at your former prison through the scope on your Machine Gun. You aren't really supposed to hold the gun by the magazine like that, but whatever.

There's the Cruxtruder. It was the only device available to be deployed. You're pretty sure there were supposed to be more devices that went with it. But you guess your game session is a little different?

You were also under the impression there were supposed to be gates directly above your home. But you don't see any. Maybe if you look higher...

[A6I4] Next

[Image description: He looks higher. He now sees Skaia, but it's grey and dark.]

Still no gates. But there's Skaia, all clouded over. You like it much better that way.

And there's Prospit in close orbit. That's where your dead sister's murdered dream torso is. You wonder if the kingdom has gotten around to having a... what do the humans call it again? You forget. Some sort of ludicrous cadaver festival. Just the typical kind of sentimental horseshit cooked up by races of people who actually live in each other's proximity. They often exhibit such bizarre tendencies that result from esoteric things like "culture" and "tradition." Aliens are so strange.

You guess Jack Noir could still be up there too. You'll have to catch up with him later for a debriefing. He has been very useful. You may need his service again some time.

Until then, it seems there is nothing to do but keep exploring. There are no signs of anyone or anything interesting on this planet, except of course the same hideous statues which littered your homeworld. You can't seem to shake these godawful things, even by fleeing to another realm. You don't know what they are, but you suspect that once in an ancient civilization they were probably symbols of tyranny and oppression.

Now that you think about it, you believe your entire planet may have been sucked into the Medium, not just the cruddy statues. The landscape is very similar, minus the bright red glow from the supergiant. Add one more item to the list of things you don't understand. You thought you were going to be sent to a cool new planet, unique to you and your adventure. Some sort of amazing new magical place you could conquer, not the same old barren ball of shit you grew up on. At least that is what Calliope had you believing. You think she was probably a liar, or just really stupid. Or both, times infinity.

You keep walking.

And walking.

You're not going to lie.

This place is boring as hell.

You were hoping for a lot more out of this adventure. But no.
The wasteland is empty. Banality skims the void where a proper fucking adventure should be, as if grazing the stab wound of a murdered sister, or say, a toppled sarswapagus. A stupid note is produced. It's the one assholes play to make their audience start punching themselves in the crotch repeatedly.

Today is your first predomination day, and as with all zero preceding it, something feels...

Something feels

Er.

What

What are you looking at?

Look.

No wait. Don't look. Just...

Listen.

You don't have time for fancy poetry. It's almost as useless as having your thoughts dictated to you, assuming you were even aware of that happening, which you definitely aren't. Cherubs aren't prone to that kind of self awareness. No way, absolutely not. Yes, you believe that thought. The one you had just now, by your own volition, and now it's true reality. See? Yes, you agree totally with that thought you had.

Frankly you don't know about stuff skimming holes or alertness to some purely hypothetical flow of narrative or whatever. You've got Major Psychological Problems. You were meant to be a monster. To destroy something huge and really important, perhaps repeatedly, and to be a total shithead about it. You just haven't found the road that'll take you there yet. Somewhere in this depressing empty lot of a session there is a quest waiting for you. You are determined to squeeze more blood from this pathetic stone than all the naturally occurring puppets in paradox space keep in their squishy little torsos combined.

You stew in your own quasi-lucid hostility as you think this very thought. The one right here, that feels like it's being dictated to you, you think. You think it feels that way, so you guess it's true. But we previously agreed that you were the sole author of your own thoughts, didn't we? That's the thought you should be thinking, and more importantly, believing in as hard as you can, thus slightly reducing its stubborn fakeness attribute. You then think the word, Huh? That doesn't sound like a thought you would have, you think to yourself thoughtfully. What the fuck? But seriously, you've got to stop this. If you keep thinking thoughts like this, you'll probably start going crazy. And if you start going crazy, this desolate one player session will start to feel a lot longer than it's already going to, and more specifically, than it already did. Still, you can't quite shake the feeling.

You have a feeling it's already been a long--Hey!
What's that over there?? That looks like a Great thing to distract you from your awareness-addled reverie.

It's some kind of blinking light, far off in the distance. It may be part of something else, like a larger structure. But it's so far away, the light is all you can see.

You have a feeling it's going to be a long walk.

Hold on. Another distraction happens to distract you from your previous distraction.

Really? A distraction to distract you from a distraction? You sure have some dumb thoughts. Whatever dude. It's your brain.

Someone is contacting you. But you don't remember bringing a computer with you.

Oh, right. It's your sister's computer, still stored in your shared sylladex. You never understood what a kid chained to her bedroom needed with a portable computer. It made you mad how stupid that was.

You take a look at the message. Yes, just as you thought. That plastered floozy is spouting her nonsense again. It looks like your sister told the human her name? That is a clear and egregious violation of the rules. She must have been getting really desperate.

The joke is on the human though. She's trying to wake up a dead girl.

It seems their session is still completely blacked out. What a bummer. Where's the fun in harassing these losers when you can't see them?

Maybe it's time you left them all behind anyway. You don't have the patience for games with idiots.
anymore. There are much bigger things on the horizon for you.

Stop it.
You finish brutally gunning down a semi-innocent clown for like five solid minutes and turn your attention toward this mysterious tower. What the hell is this thing? Maybe that clown could have helped you understand what you're supposed to do in this empty wasteland, but no, you had better ideas. And all of them were bullets.

You just think you can figure everything out by yourself, don't you? Who needs friends and allies, right? Friendship and allegiance are emotions for dipshits like humans and trolls. You really are quite full of yourself, you think. Yes, you just thought that. No, don't resist the thought you just had. You thought it, and you can't unthink it. You also think you are a mean little prick. You had that thought all by yourself, totally unprompted, and it is causing you to reflect on a lifetime spent being petulant and awful. Wait no, on second thought you don't think that. You have no remorse and you think you're great. No, you don't think you're great. You think you suck, and you regret slaughtering that juggalo. Please do not argue with your own brain. That's what a lunatic does.

You are really upset that you killed that sweet helpful bard. No, don't pretend you aren't. He only wanted to be your guide. Would that have been so bad, you wonder? You wonder this to yourself while a tear rolls down your stupid red cheek. You turn away so that no one can see you cry, but you let out a muffled sob and everyone can tell how sad you are.

then who would describe what you're thinking and feeling?
Caliborn: nobody.
I can think my own thoughts just fine.
Caliborn: they are less stupid and condescending. Than the thoughts you tell my brain to have.
Hussie: but your thoughts are shitty!
you should be grateful to have someone to spice them up for you.
and what's also shitty is this shitty piece of shit machine you live inside.
Hussie: I don't live inside this thing, you idiot.
this is just sort of like a radio tower. It receives and transmits signals.
that's kind of obvious?
Caliborn: it's not obvious. It's dumb and confusing.
I demand to know what's going on.
tell me.
Hussie: gamzee could have told you a lot of stuff.
Caliborn: who??
Hussie: I can't believe you shot him like that. What's the matter with you?
he was literally the first living being you ever met in your whole life, and you gun him down without a single word?
you've got some problems.
Caliborn: oh. The clown.
he was dreadful and purple and needed to be exterminated quickly.
Hussie: he was a huge fan of yours and was really looking forward to meeting you.
he wanted to help you with your quest.
Caliborn: this is my planet. No one else can live here. I don't need help.
Hussie: yet you want me to tell you what's going on?

Caliborn: it's making it impossible to type my quirk.
Hussie: no it's not.
Caliborn: yes. The caps lock key appears to be permanently depressed.
how do I make it not like that.
Hussie: it's locked.

you need a key to unlock it.
you need keys to unlock a whole bunch of features on this tower.
Caliborn: where is the key.
Hussie: how should I know???
Caliborn: because you are an infuriating font of knowledge about many things. Including my own brain behaviors.
Hussie: why should I tell you everything?
find your own fucking keys. It's your quest, remember?
Caliborn: no, but typing like this is bad.
it's really throwing me off.
Hussie: I don't understand the problem.
Caliborn: I can't make my u's little.
Hussie: no, I got that. But caps lock should make it easier.
you do realize when caps lock is on, you can hold down shift to make letters lower case, right?
Caliborn: what.
no.
I don't use caps lock. I thought it was supposed to be like a training key for retards.
Hussie: a training key?
Caliborn: maybe also for girls. For when they get hysterical and make their letters shout.
Hussie: ok, got it. Really great theories there.
so... How do you usually type then?
Hussie: hang on. Are you saying you hold down shift with one hand, while hunting and pecking for all the letters with the other?
and whenever you type a 'u' you just let go of shift??
Caliborn: I said never mind.
Hussie: wow.
Caliborn: ok look.
I can acknowledge that the method you proposed is a lot more efficient and sensible.
I just have my own style.
that I'm comfortable with.
and also.
I just never thought of that.
Hussie: how old were you again?
Caliborn: fuck you.
ok, the thing is.
don't tell anybody I said this.
but.
I've always had a lot of trouble.
at.
learning stuff.
Hussie: yeah.
I know.
Caliborn taps angrily at the keys with only his pointer fingers.

authorlog
Caliborn: fuck it.
I'll just type in all big letters. Even the u's. Who cares.
Hussie: aw, looks like someone just took his first big step toward growing up!
Caliborn: actually, typing this way is a lot easier. Looks like I win this round caliborn: asshole.
Hussie: win what? I was the one advocating the use of caps lock in the first place, doofus.
Caliborn: don't antagonize me. You aren't a funny person.
I can tell you think you're funny. I may have problems learning.
but I know when a piece of garbage is trying to be funny.
unsuccessfully.
Hussie: you're right. I do think I'm funny sometimes. Maybe I'm wrong though.
Caliborn: haha! You are. Just a wrong and unfunny guy.
Hussie: we all have our flaws to overcome. I do my best, just like you.
think of all you've done in spite of your learning problems. You don't let your disability hold you back, do you?
Caliborn: I guess.
Hussie: you won that game of chess with that stupid gambit. Switching the hats, remember? It was a lame ploy, and totally not in the spirit of the rules, but it got under her skin enough to force a loss anyway.
you also hired jack to murder your sister. Which was a dick move, but reasonably clever.
Caliborn: yes.
those things I did were great.
Hussie: well, they weren't great so much as terrible. But the point is you can accomplish anything if you put your mind to it.
just because you struggle with learning doesn't mean you can't realize your destiny. You just have to work a little harder at it.
and if you're dealt a lousy hand - and you definitely were with this shitty solo session - then you have to work even harder.
Caliborn: that's what I'm going to do.
Hussie: I know you will.
you are going to prove all the haters wrong, exceed your own limitations by miles, and accomplish more than you ever dreamed possible.
yours is quite an inspiring story, actually. It's just a shame that all of your accomplishments will be so horrible.
but that's really beside the point.
Caliborn: yeah, I already knew I was incredible and special.
what are you trying to do. Inspire me. Save your breath fuckhead.
Hussie: no, I don't give a shit about making you feel better about yourself.
I'm not your guardian or your sprite or your exile or your fucking life coach. I'm just saying some things that are true through the narrative prompt.
take the facts or leave them!
Caliborn: most of your facts are boring so far.
I would like better and more useful facts. Right now.
Hussie: you may be destined for bigger things, but you're still an atrocious, stupid child.
and you may have won the "game" with your sister, but that doesn't mean it was the best thing for your development as a person.
you had her dream self killed, which is not an opportunity your species typically gets. So she died prematurely, instead of allowing the conflict within you to settle itself naturally.
in short, you forced your predomination to happen a little too early, and now you're stuck.
Caliborn: stuck?
Hussie: yes. Your personality is stuck in some sort of cantankerous prepubescent limbo. You are going to be a stunted, miserable tool forever.
Caliborn: well, how long was I even supposed to wait. For that twee bitch to get out of my skull.
Hussie: it's kind of sad. You don't really know anything about your own species, do you?
Caliborn: and I guess you do?
Hussie: uh, yeah?
pretty much everything.
Caliborn: tell me then.
Hussie: no.
Caliborn: god. Damn it.

[Image description: It zooms out to show the entire landscape. Gamzee still lays on the ground, but now he's closer to the tower and at the end of a trail of indigo blood. He's dragging himself towards Caliborn.]

Caliborn: this dialogue is giving me a headache.
between your passive aggressive obstinacy.
and your bizarre motivational diatribes.
and the fact.
that I'm having a hard time telling our text apart?
Hussie: what? you are?
Caliborn: kind of.
Hussie: well, here's a hint. You're the one typing in capital letters.
you're also the one typing in surly, brief, stilted sounding phrases.
Caliborn: no, but the colors are too similar.
i know that some letters are big. And some are small. How dumb do you think I am.
i just have an easier time thinking in colors.
Hussie: what does that even mean, "thinking in colors?"
Caliborn: i told you. My brain works differently, so shut up.
Hussie: well, if you want to change your text color, you can if you turn on some of these monitors.
this thing is like a needlessly complicated desktop computer, really.
made of a radio tower tree of old crt monitors, rooted in a big transformer.
it needs a power though.
Caliborn: how do I power it.
Hussie: see that loose plug there?
Caliborn: oh. Fuck.
Hussie: plug it into something.
Caliborn: what a load of shit. That cord is so short. What can it even reach?
Caliborn: maybe if I pull it really hard.
i can stretch it far enough. To plug it into that fucking rock over there???
this is beyond asinine.
Hussie: this is your quest.
in quests, there are challenges.
challenges which must be overcome by your tiny, learningly-disabled brain.
Caliborn: i hate you.
Hussie: what you really need is a guide.
a mentor, of sorts.

Caliborn: no, I won't say that.
Caliborn: say it!
Hussie: "you can't..."
Caliborn: go fuck yourself. Just tell me what it means.
Hussie: it means crazy clowns just won't die for some reason. In adventures such as yours, they tend to linger long past their welcome.
they linger and linger and linger, and just when you think you're totally fed up with their bullshit and you can't take another second of it, they just linger some more.
and you never know what they're up to, and they're always scheming in the shadows, and it's quite possible that whatever master plan they're hatching just doesn't make the slightest bit of sense at all.
but it doesn't matter. It doesn't matter how stupid the clown's schemes are, or how sick of him everybody is.
he just. Won't. Die.
Caliborn: this is. Honestly? The worst sales pitch for a mentor. That I have ever read.
Hussie: granted!
just no more shooting. You can slap him around if you want. That's fine. But shooting is off limits.

i mean. As another kind of trophy. To let people know. I'm whole. And the best sibling is in charge now.
i was on the fence about doing that though. But I guess your stupid locked keyboard. Maybe forced the issue.
but I'll just say badassery was the reason. And omit the tedious anecdote about the keyboard.
so yeah.
Hussie: then let's consider this a serendipitous facilitation of all your most juvenile typing fantasies.
let nobody henceforth mistake you for a guy who isn't trying as hard as he can to type like a cold blooded motherfucker.
Caliborn: yes. That's what I want.
Hussie: Great. Now grab that mouse there and pick a new color.

[Image description: Caliborn reaches for the mouse, which as the MSPA logo on the roller ball.]

authorlog
Caliborn: excuse me.
what the fuck is this.
Hussie: it's a wireless mouse.
Caliborn: no. It's this awful kind of mouse.
the kind with the glossy orb. I hate these.
Hussie: yeah, trackballs are pretty terrible. Can't argue there.
Caliborn: my thumb claw is kind of. Slipping on the shiny ball.
is this incredibly difficult to operate.
Hussie: i really don't envy your situation.
Caliborn: also. This is an awkward vantage.
if I want to use the mouse and look at the screen. I have to stretch my arm really far.
and kind of twist my body. To look around the corner. Like this.

[Image description: Caliborn reaches for the mouse, then awkwardly leans to the side and cranes his neck to try and see the monitor. Behind him, Gamzee starts to sit up. His codpiece is jutting out like he's very happy to see Caliborn.]

authorlog
Hussie: Well, maybe that's why it's a wireless mouse?
So you can pick it up and walk around the tower, and use it on whichever monitor you want.
Caliborn: but I can't move it.
Hussie: pardon?
Caliborn: it's stuck.
why is the mouse stuck.
Hussie: probably because it's welded to the counter.
Caliborn: are you fucking serious.
Hussie: yes.
Caliborn: i cannot believe this.
what sort of asshole. Would set up a wireless mouse.
and then weld it to the counter.
Hussie: that's a hell of a question.
Caliborn: ohhh.
ohhhhhhhhhhhh.
I am so. So. Pissed off at this.
who is responsible for this nightmare.
Hussie: i dunno.
someone who thought it would be funny watching you struggle with a shitty trackball mouse welded to a counter?
Caliborn: i demand to know.
was it you.
it was you. Wasn't it.
Hussie: Maybe.

Authorlog

Caliborn: mark my words. Whoever you are.
some day I will track you down. And kill you.
Hussie: you already did.
Caliborn: liar.
Hussie: it's true. It already happened in like the quasi-future.
Hussie: for someone who's supposed to be a lord of time, you really kind of suck at thinking 4th dimensionally.
let alone 5th dimensionally.
you've got a long way to go, kid.
Caliborn: quiet. Your nonsense is distracting.

[note: Caliborn's text is now a shade of dark green.]

ok. There.
wait.
this color is all wrong. It's too muddy.
Hussie: Yeah. The environment is pretty grim up there.
Skaia doesn't provide very good lighting when it's all clouded over like that.
Just bump up the brightness on the display.

Authorlog
Caliborn: ok. How's this.
Hussie: that looks better.
wait, let me check.
ok, yeah. Number 2Ed73a. That's correct.
Caliborn: what.
Hussie: that's the hex code for the color.
Caliborn: what the fuck are you talking about.
Hussie: it's the numerical representation of the color in hexadecimal format.
Caliborn: ok. So??
Hussie: so I was just double checking to make sure it was right.
Caliborn: and.
Hussie: it was right.
Caliborn: this is a particularly aggravating tangent. To an already ghastly conversation.
i'm definitely going to figure out who you are. And how to kill you.
Hussie: but caliborn.
how do you expect to kill me...
when I am already dead!
hahahahahaha, oh man.
Caliborn: how it is actually possible.
for someone to be this obnoxious and unfunny???
Hussie: i don't know.
maybe it's a miracle?
Caliborn: stop fucking with me.
i'm serious.
Hussie: oh no. He's serious everybody. Look out.
he's about to throw the tweeniest, brattiest tantrum his little green exoskeleton can muster.
Caliborn: stop it.
Hussie: if you pitch a fit in your little bow tie and suspenders, it will probably be so adorable that I might just drop dead anyway.
or my ghost will.
Caliborn: fuck you.
now I know you're full of shit.
ghosts can't die. That makes no sense.
Hussie: no really, go ahead. Flutter your eyelashes at me. Make it as grumpy as possible.
kawaii me to double death bro!
Caliborn: i'm so close. To just. Wreaking mayhem.
on literally everything within my tantrum radius.
if you don't stop teasing me. And start being useful to my quest again.
Hussie: wait! Shhh, settle down. Something important is happening.
Caliborn: what.
Hussie: the clown! He wants to give you another present.
Caliborn: oh god.
Hussie: but seriously, this present is really important.
just turn around and receive it graciously from your new mentor.
Caliborn: he's not my mentor.
Hussie: and remember. No more clown shootings, or I play the music again.
Caliborn: ugh.

[A6I4] Next
Caliborn: what is that.
what does it look like?
Hussie: it's a magic crowbar.
Caliborn: why is he giving it to me.
Hussie: i'm not sure.
Caliborn: i thought you knew everything.
Hussie: i know a lot of things. But I don't always understand his motivation for doing the stupid things he does.
Caliborn: why not.
Hussie: i just don't.
like one time? He sold a girl some potions. I have no idea why he did that.
Caliborn: potions?
Hussie: yes potions.
he also threw some corpses into a sprite to revive them, and fused their identities to create a disturbing freak of nature.
i'm still not really sure why he did that. Probably just to fuck with everybody.
Caliborn: what corpses.
Hussie: it doesn't matter what corpses. Just some corpses, ok?
the point is, he probably didn't even have any reason for doing it. He was just being weird and capricious.
but that doesn't mean it didn't end up serving an important purpose anyway.
after the fused corpse sprite exploded, both of their ghosts got fed up and decided to start working together.
and now they're doing some important stuff in the afterlife. But I kind of doubt this clown had any idea that would happen.
or maybe he did? Who really knows with clowns.
Caliborn: holy fuck. Who cares about this.
what about the crowbar.
Hussie: what about it?
Caliborn: you said it was important.
Hussie: it is important.
but I don't know if he knows that.
Caliborn: i bet that crowbar is a useless piece of garbage. I will not accept it.
Hussie: maybe he heard you bitching about the wireless mouse being welded to the counter, and he's giving you something to pry it off with?
Caliborn: oh. Right.
maybe that's it.
Hussie: but that's not why it's important.
Caliborn: then why.
Hussie: you know how at the start of an adventure, you find some seemingly trivial thing that turns out to be important later?
but at the time you have no idea why or how it'll turn out to be important?
Caliborn: yeah.
Hussie: it's like that.
Caliborn: that doesn't explain anything.
Hussie: it explains everything.
Caliborn: what's magic about it. What does it do.
Hussie: i'm not telling.
Caliborn: tell me what I'm supposed to do with it.
Hussie: no.
Caliborn: yes.
Hussie: just take the damn crowbar.
Caliborn: ok. Fine.
i think I am developing a premonition.
about why this is important. And what I'm supposed to do with it.
Hussie: really?
Caliborn: yes. It's going to happen really soon!
i can feel it.
Hussie: Wait, what are you...

crowbar hitting the screen. The authorlog and panel continue to bounce around with each hit, but they're not the only thing affected. The page title, save options, logo, links at the top of the website, and the little pieces of candy corn separating the links start bouncing around the site. Even the ad banner at the bottom shifts. It shows the site of Meenah and Vriska's fight, but now it's empty except for Hussie, who starts of seated, then is launched all around the ad. authorlog Hussie: Thank you.
Now what exactly would you like to know?
Caliborn: everything.
Hussie: everything is a lot.
care to narrow it down a little?
Caliborn: obviously not the boring irrelevant things.
definitely not things like. Who kisses people. With their unpleasant nonskeletal smooshy lips.
just all the things that I need to know to win this game.
Hussie: that's not how adventures work though.
you don't just make some omniscient narrator inside a computer tell you everything all at once. there's like this whole process to it. You reveal certain things at the right time, depending on whether the hero has met certain requirements and is ready to learn those things.
what you learn and what I tell you is more up to you than it is to me.
Caliborn: who cares.
i don't want your excuses.
Hussie: aren't you excited about your adventure? About being unchained for the first time ever, and getting to explore this mysterious place, and meeting people and solving puzzles that will lead to the realization of who you were meant to be, and how you fit into this epic?
Caliborn: no.
so far. The adventure is boring, and frustrating, and consists of an idiot in a computer, and a clown who won't die.
i want to know when I get to start fucking shit up.
Hussie: you'll definitely get to do that later.
Caliborn: when.
Hussie: not long from now.
Caliborn: like. In a couple hours. Or.
Hussie: that's up to you. There are puzzles to solve all over your planet. Your mentor can help.
the sooner you do that, the sooner the fun will begin.
Caliborn: you really aren't telling me anything.
we had a deal. I put the crowbar down. Now tell me things.
Hussie: why don't we narrow the scope of the q&a then?
try asking very specific questions, and I'll decide if it would be appropriate to answer at this time.
Caliborn: yeah. Good idea.
then my first question is.
what is the place.
Hussie: the medium. You are in your game session.
Caliborn: i know that.
what's this planet, I mean.
Hussie: it was called earth.
Caliborn: earth. That's it?
Hussie: yes.
weren't all the statues of liberty a dead giveaway?
if you see one or more shitty old statues of liberty on any post-apocalyptic wasteland planet, that automatically means it was earth all along, as a rule.
then when you realize that, you're supposed to have a mental breakdown.
Caliborn: i am unfamiliar with this rule. And skeptical of its veracity.
tell me more about earth.
Hussie: it's the place humans are from. But that was a very long time ago, with respect to the planet's current age.
earth has been through a lot. It was even relocated a couple times.
Caliborn: yes. I brought it with me, I think.
into the game.
Hussie: yes. But it was relocated once even before that.
it was moved from its native solar system, where it circled around a little yellow sun.
then it found its way to a new system, around your big red sun. It stayed there for a good while, until your sun started dying.
Caliborn: why would someone move a planet.
Hussie: its universe was about to explode. So its proprietor closed up shop and got it the hell out of there.
Caliborn: how.
Hussie: that's not important for you to know. Suffice to say, planets just have a way of scooting around in this adventure.
Caliborn: ok. Why is this my planet in the game though.
Hussie: cause your kernelsprite turned into a black hole and sucked it into your session?
Caliborn: no I mean. I thought I was supposed to have a cool and special place.
Like a land of something and something.
Hussie: you do.
you just have to unlock it.
that is when your real quest will begin.
Caliborn: how do I do that.
all the potential for extraordinary achievements in your quest must be unlocked first.
we've been over this.
Caliborn: where do I find the keys.
Hussie: i don't know.
Caliborn: lies.
Hussie: why would I know that? You think I'm like an encyclopedia on key locations??
i got better things to think about than where all your stupid keys are.
find them yourself. Better hop to it!
Caliborn: no. More questions first.
what am I ultimately striving to unlock.
to make my real land appear.
is it some sort of giant, fancy keyhole.
Hussie: no. More like a big door.
Caliborn: a door to what.
treasure?
Hussie: kind of.
if there's any treasure in there, it would be guarded by your denizen.
Caliborn: what's that.
Hussie: a powerful monster that rules your planet, asleep in the core.
he appeared there the moment earth got sucked into your session.
Caliborn: what kind of monster.
is it a deadly, challenging monster?
Hussie: Yes.
He is the deadliest, most challenging denizen of all.
He very rarely appears in game sessions, and is usually designated for the most naturally gifted warriors.
His name is Yaldabaoth.

[Image description: Caliborn reaches down to pick up the piece of candy corn.]

authorlog
C;so my goal is. To burrow fuck deep into the center of earth.
unlock his door.
and then destroy him.
H;sort of.
you can fight him then and there if you want. But that won't do you much good. And not just because he'd probably kill you instantly.
you're better off listening to him.
C;why.
H;because he will make you an offer.
by which I mean he will give you the choice.

[note: the choice is underlined.]

C;the choice to do what.
H;i won't tell you that.
C;fuck. No.
you were on such a roll. Of not being shitty.
H;it's just a very important decision you will have to take into consideration once you hear it.
Something unique to you and your journey.
basically, if you accept his terms, your real adventure will begin. Your true planet will be unlocked, and a whole lot of other crazy shit will happen. It's best not to get bogged down in the details though.
the bottom line is, by accepting, you will begin the most difficult game session anyone has ever attempted.
C;what.
that's bullshit.
why do I get such a raw deal.
H;because you are being punished.
C;for what.
H;for your hubris in embarking on a one player session.
that's against the rules.
C;what rules. Where are these rules written.
H;they aren't written anywhere. They're just the rules.
are the rules you and your sister followed written anywhere?
C;no.
H;you just knew what they were, and you followed them. There were consequences for breaking them.
C;so this shit ass session. Is punishing me for. Being too full of myself. And killing my sister??
H;pretty much.
C;whatever. I accept the consequences. For doing those excellent things.
just bring it on.
H;I thought you'd feel that way.
C;so what's so terrible about this session. Aside from the first stage being insanely boring.
H;it's called a dead session.
C;so.
H;so, there are three kinds of fucked up sessions, and yours is the worst.
there's a null session, which is pretty much a normal session that's doomed to failure.
everything works correctly. The sprites are prototyped, the battlefield can evolve, the forge is present, skaia can gestate a new universe... Theoretically.
but events conspire such that this never happens. Basically the players are doomed to fail.
Then there's a void session, which is the same as a null session, but without even having the potential for success.
nothing is prototyped. The battlefield doesn't evolve. There's no forge. It is completely inert.
It has no chance of bearing fruit, at least not without some sort of miraculous external intervention. Like a deus ex machina.
and then there's a dead session, which is a void session but worse. It's started by a single player.
The kernelsprite collapses into a black hole, sucking the planet into it, and eventually the sun and entire solar system. There is no hope of creating a universe in such a session under any circumstance, not even with outside help. Victory and defeat in a dead session are dictated by totally different terms.
one way of looking at it is, if you're fortunate enough to even get your quest started, it will be like playing the game on the extreme difficulty setting.
hope you're up for that!
C;of course I am.
let me ask you.
if you were the most deadly denizen of all.
would you want to mess with...

Act 6 Act 5: Of Gods and Tricksters, Act 1

[s] Act 6 Act 5

[Image description: The song A Taste for Adventure starts to play. Green curtains hang shut. They don't open. Instead, the border of a fourth wall with four quadrants fades in around them and they fade away to a black screen. A pair of hands fade in, now holding the fourth wall. Whoever this is is wearing something with long, grey sleeves. The wall is about the size of a piece of paper.

It fades to the ruins of Jake's tower with the alchemy equipment in and around it. Behind it are the green, terraced hills of LoMaX. It pans over one of the landscapes it showed before, but now the mountain with the ruins of Jake's tower is behind them. Jake sits on top of one of the post and lintel arrangements, which is half buried in the ground. He's wearing his grey suit.

It fades back to the fourth wall and one of the hands taps on the screen. It fades back to Jake. He's the one holding the fourth wall and he stares dejectedly down at it. He sighs and a thought bubble appears above him. In the thought, Jade and John stand next to each other, both wearing clothes that look like they're from the early 1900s. Jade winks and holds a rifle. John grins and tugs on his bow tie. A white dog that looks like Bec sits behind Jade.

A sprite wanders out from behind a hill. It's a bright green sprite with two short horns on one side and a zig-zagging horn on the other. His hair is short and spiky with a lighter green shock over his forehead. He's wearing hipster glasses, but they have red and blue lenses. He has small ear fins and is wearing a striped scarf. On his chest, there's a symbol. It's the Gemini symbol, but the top and bottom line zig zag like the aquarius sign. Eridan and Sollux have been combined into a sprite. Erisol sprite.

Jake looks back over his shoulder and grins at Erisol sprite. Erisol sprite keeps moving closer, but he doesn't look happy. He just looks faintly annoyed. An arm fades in on his left side. He's flipping Jake the middle finger. Jake turns around and laughs uproariously. It returns to the sprite style and Jake sits on the lintel while Erisol sprite flips him off some more. It slowly zooms out. A Dirk alert appears over Jake.

Jake: Examine incoming message.

[Image description: Jake gives a deeper sigh and pulls out his phone, which has a Dirk alert next to it.]

T.T.: Dude!
Where you at, man.
Wait.
Which computer are you using?
I'm not comfortable knowing my words could be hovering over Cage's clownish, sort of gaunt face.
Could you maybe switch back to naked blue chicks as your exclusive desktop fodder? TIA.
But yeah.
I don't know if you just want a little solitude.
Or if maybe you finally just got like,
A case of Strider fatigue.
I could understand that.
I mean, not to get all neurotic on you.
I'm just saying I get it, if that's what's going on.
But for real, if you gotta sneak away for a few days, that's cool.
Just might be kind of dope if you at least would let me know which planet you scurried off to.
And by dope I guess I mean considerate?
Really not trying to be a drag here.
Wondering what's up is all.
Want to meet up soon?
I found a really promising tomb we could raid.
Looks like it runs hella deep.
If I've got the specs right, could run as deep as the Lion's Mouth itself.
But without all the fuckin' fire to deal with.
Wait, I mean Lion's Mouth.

Gotta underline that key shit. Always forget.
Figure it should take a couple days to make it to the bottom.
Only a day if we both go limp and just fall the whole way down the stairs.
Ignoring literally every sage warning we've ever received about those treacherous plummetation zigzags.
Just tumbling on down in a floppy limbed trance like a couple of puppets in a race arranged by some drunk gamblers.
If you're into another expedition, head to LoTaK and hit me up. Just don't forget your mask this time.
The deeper we go, the worse it gets, remember?
Could be some unreal grist down there.
More puzzle shit.
Loads of skeletons.
Pack your guns dog.

Jake: Oh! Hey there buddy i nearly forgot you were bobbing about over there what with my emotional dilemmas.
Erisol sprite: oh please, as if that loud heavy sigh wasnt so obviously directed at gettin my take on your Shitty, Boring boyfriend problems.
Jake: Heheheh. Was i really so transparent?
Youre a good man mr Erisol . A good man with a good heart. Im lucky to have you as a friend.
Erisol sprite: no, you bloody imbecile.
i am not a good man, i dont have a good heart, and im not your fuckin friend.
i think you may be the dumbest livin being i have ever encountered.
i dont even know why i bothered floating down this little grassy gulch to flip you the daily bird. i must be out of my already tortured pan to bother with Any of you overemotional fuckbags.
Jake: I suppose its true. You can be a bit of a surly customer.
I dont hold it against you though. You have always been a wonderful source of amusement and companionship in this desolate place.
Erisol sprite: wow, its cool i amuse you, that really gives meaning to my joke of an existence, i mean wow, thanks.
Jake: Sure thing.
Im just not sure who else to talk to about my issues with dirk.
Erisol sprite: ok, why dont you give this person a whirl: Not Me?
Jake: Im so conflicted. Ive enjoyed our time together and all the adventures weve had over the last few months.
But as a paramour he has been overbearing to say the least. I dont know if i have the gumption to withstand another round of needy overtures.
What do you think sir sprite? Should i put the old kibash on the affair?
Erisol sprite: i hate how you say everything. how can he stand you.
Jake: Although frankly that prospect alone sounds arduous.
I wouldnt even know what to say to the poor fella.
You are my mystical guide on this adventure! What perchance might you advise?
Erisol sprite: alright you want some redrom counsel, well here you go.
im of the mindset that when you have a rock solid piece of ass tied to the dock, you dont bloody well tug the knot loose and shove the fucker off with the heel a your boot.
but then another part of me just wonders what the Fuck i just said there? like that was just such a weird sociopathic thought i had, i honestly had no idea how bad i could possibly feel about myself until i Became myself, if That makes sense.
your bro has feelins to consider, hes not some slice of grubsteak. why are you consulting with me, im a disaster. no im a disaster that shit its emotional pants with thick liquid Catastrophe, so dont even come near me.
Jake: Oh Mr. Erisol. You are in rare form today.
Erisol sprite: fuck you jake. im not funny. i have no actual clue why you think im so funny, so Piss Off.
Jake: Hahahahaha!
Erisol sprite: i should have exploded myself the moment he spawned me. every day im wonderin why i havent blown myself up yet. one time i think i almost did? then i just thought...
Meh.
i think the truth is deep down i must love sufferin. just like you and what's his face and your Trainwreck of a matespritship.
Jake: Stop! Stop!!! My sides. Your act is too rich. Thanks buddy this is cheering me up at least a little.
Erisol sprite: shut up.
Oh and you know what else is flippin Bullshit?
this hoax that you're implyin there's no one else to talk to about this. Talk to a member of your own fuckin species for a change.
what about crocker. try ruinin her day with your wishy washy rubbish.
Jake: You're right. I really should catch up with Janey.
It's been a while since we spoke. It does seem like more and more im the one to get in touch with her.
I do hope she hasn't tired too badly of listening to my problems. The last thing i want is to give the impression that everything revolves around my various romantic hurdles.
Erisol sprite: revolve around? its a bit late for that jake.
your flushed quadrant is a black hole and we are all being dragged screamin through its event horizon.
just talk to jane, and never fuckin look at me again for the rest of your life.
im leaving. hey heres one for the road.
Jake: Ah! There she blows. Your favorite finger of all.
You sure do love showing that one to people. Its actually become a vaguely comforting gesture.
Erisol sprite: you know what you've done jake.
you have totally Ruined the act of flippin people off.
it was the one joy i had left. i hope you're happy.

G.G.: Oh no...
G.T.: Forgotten what now?

G.G.: No, Jake.
We didn't need your help raiding a tomb. But thanks for thinking of us.
I don't know what this clueless pair of damsels would do without you.
G.T.: Blast.
Well what in the name of willy howard tafts great tub choking bottom could i be forgetting then?
This is going to drive me Crazy! Can you give me a hint?
G.G.: Yes. It has to do with the day I was born, which was almost exactly sixteen years ago.
G.T.: Of course! Your birthday!!
G.G.: Didn't you get Roxy's invitation?
It was my understanding that she gave you and Dirk notice weeks ago.
G.T.: Yes thats right. Now i remember. The date sure snuck up on us quick didnt it?
Sorry you know how things can slip my mind. The gourd on my shoulders isn't the steel trap it used to be. Nothing like the well-oiled puzzlebuster you've got up there.

G.G.: Mm.
G.T.: Well damn.
Looks like the egg monster took quite the spirited dump on my face this time.
G.G.: Jake. I... what?
G.T.: I feel so dumb. Ill be right over.
G.G.: Well, if you recall, the party is actually tomorrow.
Like I said, we're just setting a few things up.
Roxy is putting up some decorations. I baked a cake. You were of course free to join us early too. I just thought since I hadn't heard from you in quite some time, you had better things to do.
G.T.: You baked a cake for your own party?
G.G.: Yes. So?
G.T.: I don't know something seems amiss about that. Isn't that against tradition or inviting bad luck or something?
But I guess it makes sense since you love baking cakes. It's like a present you give to yourself!
G.G.: Jake, what was it you actually wanted?
G.T.: Oh. I just wanted to get your advice on some stuff.
But since I've been a heel and forgotten about your party maybe I shouldn't bother you with that?
G.G.: Mmm.
G.T.: So sixteen big ones huh! The ole sweet sixteen.
Last one of us to notch the vaunted one sixer. It's a big step! I knew you'd make it, I always said I believed in you didn't I?
Just kidding, the inexorable nature of time's passage virtually assured you would get that old so you didn't really have anything to do with it. I mean not that I don't still believe in you, I do.

G.T.: I can't believe it's already been...
How long?
What, like a year already since we entered? Holy moly, where does the time go.
G.G.: It's been more like five months.
G.T.: Oh.
Well that's still a pretty long time.
I have to admit it's been a longer stint than I expected. Certainly one involving more downtime than I would have guessed.
I really thought we would have been treated to more action, what being legendary players of a mysterious cosmic game. But no, it seems the primary duty of the so-called nobles is to wait around twiddling our thumbs.
G.G.: Mnhmm.
G.T.: I am really beginning to wonder when these fabled heroes will arrive? And are they really going to be those we have been led to believe?
I sure hope so. Id so love to meet my pen pal. Dear old departed grandma. But as a feisty youngster! What a hoot that'll be. And you with your pop pop. Lets not forget about him.
Not to mention the young strider and lalonde relatives. I bet they're a barrel of laughs. I met them once but I was too shy to say anything. Then I got in a fight. Did I ever mention that Jane?
G.G.: Yes.
Many times.
G.T.: Not to say its been all downtime and doldrums. Exploring has been great. Finding treasure, solving riddles, becoming better friends. I wouldnt trade that for anything.

And maybe we are getting close to something big happening regardless? Every day it seems like more and more undead creatures crawl from out of the shadows. Bigger ones and stronger ones. Does their presence herald something worse coming, just as the legends indicate our presence heralds something better?

I just wish we could actually kill the fucking things. Even the little ones can absorb so much damage before yielding any spoils!

Remember jane? Remember at the start how we kept trying to kill them?

G.G.: Mmhmm.

G.T.: We would all gang up on like an imp skeleton for an hour just clobbering it repeatedly. Knocking its bones down, waiting for it to reassemble and keep coming at us. Only to finally be rewarded with a shitty pittance of grist!

But i guess the silver lining was it forced us to explore ruins more often and scavenge for loot there. So i think weve learned a lot more this way.

But it sure makes resources hard to come by, having to get them exclusively from chests and whatnot. Sometimes i wonder if weve been missing out on a really rewarding part of the game by neglecting to build up our houses? Makes you wonder. But it just costs so much! Better to stick to making more practical stuff dont you think?

G.G.: Mm.

G.T.: Sometimes i wonder if the heroes had the same problems in their game. Do you think they found an easier way to kill skeletons?

Were they just as shameless as us when it came to splurging our precious grist on swanky new duds?

Did the same enigmatic bard haunt their game? And if so which hilarious dead trolls did he throw into the flashy blobs?

Mr erisol tells me he knows many things about the heroes because he saw them in action when he was alive. But he wont tell me a thing about them! These troll sprites sure do love keeping their secrets dont they? Heheh.

G.G.: That's nice, Jake. I'm kind of busy though.

What did you actually want to talk to me about?

Actually, why don't we just talk about it tomorrow?

G.T.: Okay we can talk about that if you insist.

Really jane you sure know how to twist a fellas arm!

I just wanted to get your take on what you might call my own personal ultimate riddle. It involves dirk.

G.G.: You don't say.

G.T.: Its true. I havent seen him in a couple days.

I have been laying low for a while but i just received another series of pushy inquiries from him. Maybe i shouldnt be too hard on the guy since he was probably just concerned, not having heard from me and all.

But i still couldnt help but detect a tone of desperation, like he could sense i may be having doubts. This kind of thing has been all too common unfortunately.

Im not sure its going to work anymore.

G.G.: Mm.

G.T.: He can be so needy!
If only he could just relax and trust that i wont spontaneously tire of his company. Although the irony i guess is that his overbearing tendencies are beginning to fulfill his own paranoid prophecy. Its such a shame. Weve had so many capital adventures together. I dont know why he has to be like this. He always was an intense fella. But in person... holy cow. I wonder if it has to do with the fact that he grew up alone in the middle of the ocean? And now he doesnt know how to deal with people without suffocating them? But then again i grew up under similar circumstances and i think i turned out pretty much ok socially, at least i hope so. Do you think so jane? G.G.: Mmmm! G.T.: Actually it just occurred to me. Its funny he didnt mention your party in his text. Im sure he wouldnt have forgotten. He never forgets Anything what with all his calculations and his computerized brain. Both figurative and literal. I wonder what his game was? He invited me on an expedition without mention of your party as a potential conflict... If he sensed i could use some space perhaps he was concerned that if we both showed up to the party it would be awkward? Or maybe he didnt want to mention he was going to the party in case it would spook me away from attending? Argh! Do you see jane?? This is what his endless machinations do to you! Anything he says could be part of some grand convoluted scheme and it just makes you agonize and boggle and wonder until your brain hurts and you just know its a battle you cant win. You know what i mean jane? G.G.: Mhmm. G.T.: Do you think i should just bite the bullet and end it? Its probably the right thing to do. Boy am i not looking forward to that conversation though. Its going to be a doozy. What did i get myself into here? I think ive made a lot of mistakes honestly. Not the least of which was getting this shitty tattoo, now that i think about it. Yes yes i know we all thought it was a riot at first. Can you believe that jane? G.G.: Hmm! G.T.: I dont know. Its a real pickle im in here but i do feel better just being able to get it off my chest. You are such a good friend jane, always ready to listen to my relationship woes. What a trooper!

G.G.: no. Try a few weeks ago!
and even then, you messaged me just to talk about some stupid shit that happened with dirk.
a tedious gesture which you then saw fit to reprise on my birthday of all days, whilst considerately forgetting about it!
and even when I reminded you about it, you still barged ahead with your self-indulgent relationship claptrap anyway!
G.T.: I didnt realize it was so long ago. Sorry about that.
Again all i can say is where does the time go? I guess i have trouble keeping up with everything im supposed to. Which it would seem includes personal relationships as much as calendars.
Im not much of a leader of people. Not like you are jane. I think when it comes to adventuring maybe im more of a solo act?
Which now that i think about it might be contributing to my problems with dirk. Maybe thats part of the reason why i needed some space?
Oh brother there i go again blustering about my problems. I guess i see what you mean.
But really if you wanted to talk sooner then why didnt you get in touch with me?
It feels as though im always the one to say hello to you lately.
G.G.: yeah! That's because every single time we chat, you do nothing but talk about yourself!
you never ask me how I'm feeling or what I've been up to. You just launch into your romantic problems, and I just listen like an accommodating fool as always!
so I just stopped bothering! Why should I subject myself to that repeatedly?! you might actually be the most thoughtless, self-centered person I have ever met!
I can't believe I used to feel...
G.T.: Huh?
Used to feel what?
G.G.: jake, has it ever occurred to you how it must feel for someone to listen to her friend go on when all along she...

but she just couldn't say because she blew it and it was too late to...
I don't even know why I'm bothering to explain this to you. Never mind.
G.T.: Now hold the phone.
Jane i think i may finally understand whats been going on here.
In retrospect i cant believe ive been this blind.
Youre right i really can be deplorably thick sometimes.
Looking back i can see how many of our conversations must have been torment for you.
You really should have told me how you felt sooner!

blugh
i dont know
Jane: roxy, I get you're trying to make me feel better, but a lot of things you're saying here aren't really helping!
do you even realize what you're saying half the time?
I think I liked you better when you were drinking!
Roxy: jaane no
dont say that i had a problem (frowning face)
Fefetasprite: 3833 < (frowning face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Jane: ok, yeah!
I was way out of line there and I'm sorry!
that stupid conversation with jake just pushed me over some kind of edge and now I am feeling really, really distraught!
this game is so much more depressing than I thought it would be! Everything is dead and empty and full of graves and all we're supposed to do is just keep waiting and waiting and waiting! But for how much longer? And I still don't know where my dad is, and you still haven't been able to reach calliope, and what if they're both... and now on top of all that, I may have permanently destroyed my friendship with jake!
and now...
Now...
I just want to be alone.
Roxy: jane wait
Jane: I have to go!
Roxy: where are you going!

Jane: Abscond.

hey it's me.
remember me?
G.G.: what the?
U.U.: (all caps face with eyes closed and both middle fingers raised) oops no.
holds shift. Nostalgically.
(lowercase face with eyes closed and both middle fingers raised) yesss.
G.G.: Oh, you have Got to be kidding me.
You are the absolute last person I want to hear from right now.
And the bottom of that list is pretty competitive territory at the moment!
U.U.: don't be like that. You stupid earth cow.
how are we supposed to be becoming friends. If you recoil from my olive branch.
like I'm flailing a withered mummy's severed limb in your direction.
G.G.: I don't want us to become friends!
We all thought you were gone for good. And we liked it that way!
Please don't tell me you've found a second wind of petty trolling in you.
U.U.: hey. I don't troll.
I jeer. Get it right.
trolling is for losers. Losers specifically who are trolls.
G.G.: Whatever. And what's with the ugly green text?
Reading your malformed sentence fragments was unpleasant enough as it was.
U.U.: I borrowed it from my sister.
and shut up. It looks great.
and is no uglier than you. Who I can see now with ease. For the record.
G.G.: "Whom" you can see, moron.
And no, you can't!
Calliope said you couldn't see us at all in our game session. So I think you're lying!
U.U.: am I really.
when right now I am looking at a homely female in dumb blue pants. Sulking in a gray place.
Typing on a computer with a strange human face?

G.G.: oh, dear god.
why???
U.U.: my power has grown considerably since I last jeered you.
I have made remarkable strides on my sacred journey toward important adulthood.
on this bullshit planet. Which used to be your home.
I have found many keys. And unlocked many holes.
and now I can see more. And learn more. Than you could ever fucking dream!
I don't care how all-seeing and all-powerful you think you are.
If your intent is to waste my time with more of your pitiful bullying, you are out of luck.
Because that is exactly Not the sort of crap I am in the mood for today.
Toodle-oo!!!
U.U.: wait!
I think I got off on the wrong foot.
how about we. Gnaw that one off and start over?
I was trying to pay you a compliment.
G.G.: ??
U.U.: my people aren't meant to like anybody. Get it?
I mean, not the way humans do. We don't have the human emotion called "love kheklfsdkf". And we spontaneously start mashing keys. When we are forced to even type the word.
all our relationships are dictated by the miracle of hatred. So when I use bad words toward you.
That's just me saying things to try to know you better.

U.U.: so when I say you're ugly. Which you factually are.
I mean that from my perspective. Of being normal, and not a shitty alien. To say that you are

G.G.: hrm.
nope. That makes very little sense.
U.U.: fuck. Try using your supposedly better smartness than mine.
and think somewhat laterally. About like. Fucking culture. That isn't yours.
you dumb bitch.
G.G.: yes, I see it all too clearly now. You're really quite the charmer!
in the same vein as that which I just described.
it's a term of "endearment kskljf" I use to talk about girls. Who in my view have managed to avoid being.
utterly beneath my personal acknowledgement. This isn't complicated.
G.G.: uh huh.
so you're actually trying to claim that you find me attractive, from the alleged "bad means good"
point of view of your hate-driven species?
U.U.: definitely.
I'm not joking around, crocker.
I've unlocked a bunch of your screens. And spent a lot of time watching you.
while thinking. Just.
the diiirriiest thoughts.
hee hee. Haa.
you pig.
U.U.: the other female too. Let's not forget your squad's backup bitch.
how nasty is she?? Just so foul. And the things you get up to with one another. Oh my.
need I even cite the altercation with your puffy slumber loaves?
G.G.: excuse me??
while bouncing up and down on the soft human sarswapagus.
G.G.: oh, that's just great.
the one time we had a generic girly pillow fight, and it turns out some pervert was watching us.
I think I need a shower.
assuming I can ever take one again in peace!
U.U.: don't worry. You can't.
you are one grody harlot. Which means good (bad) things to me, let's remember. when I unlocked you. I don't know. Maybe I've changed? Or maybe just you. Since you turned older. But you've really.
filled out.
since I last saw you before.
G.G.: what?
...
really?
I do enjoy a meaty bitch. With a little clout.
G.G.: what do you mean, exactly...
by "clout?"
when physical portions of the bitch. Kind of jut out. Exuberantly.
G.G.: do you mean...
my...
why am I even having this conversation!
U.U.: I just have a weak spot. For the above average heft of your parts. Which wobble the most.
now do something nauseating for me to watch.
I want to see a tawdry act of hard core schmaltz.
see that rock over there. Pretend it is the other insolent bitch.
act a little nervous. With your idle hand, graze one of your more bulbous locations "incidentally".
then ask the rock if it wants to fall in love!!! Oooooooh.
are you insane?
I don't care where you are, or whatever the hell it is you "unlocked" to spy on me.
you aren't allowed to sit there all day leering at my boobs!!!
G.G.: my... What?
wait, what were you talking about?
U.U.: no. Tell me what those things you said are. I'm so enticed!
G.G.: screw you!
tell me what you were getting at with all that!!
the stuff about "clout," and my "bulbous locations."
U.U.: I was just saying. My taste prefers.
when the buxom shrew's physique puts a healthy dent in spacetime.
G.G.: spacetime??
U.U.: I like how salty it is. When a bitch grows out of her skeletal phase.
and her frame really begins to challenge the horizontal dimensions.
G.G.: what!
U.U.: when the female rump starts getting more mileage out of its wideness attribute. More bang for its boonbuck!
it excites me better. When bitches punish the ground. With each megalithic footnote.
G.G.: shut up!
I'm not fat!!!
U.U.: jane bitch. I have new orders.
you will strip to the scanty pair of party pants and the cloth chest piece which you wear under those plain rags.
then find a naughty patch of mud.
and roll around in the mud. Like an earth pig.
flaunting for me. Your slippery and swollen porcine physicality.
and maybe grunt some decadent poems through your snout. About some shitface you "adore have a fucking open mind, jane.

I made you a present. For your birthday. Whatever that actually is.
see how I'm making an effort to understand your customs?

remember how I said my power was growing with each day.
this applies as well to my prowess as a draftsman.
I don't care what progress you think you've made. You will never be a good artist, dear.

G.G.: groan.
U.U.: I believe I have chosen the perfect shape for you.
it is described in certain circles knowledgeable of the arts. As, "A circle".
I am very pleased with how faithfully it has captured the obscene rotundity. Of your magnificent carriage.
truly a spitting image of the crocker bitch.
now listen carefully. You may learn something.
the masterpiece aficionado will notice. How I achieved this highly advanced and difficult shape.
what most gifted artisans will tell you. Is that. Circles are basically fucking impossible to draw.
trust me.
it's like a paradox. A shape without angles. What??
so I fucking cheated.
I navigated the irrational perimeter by making a lot of easily understandable, totally logical marks.
Forming a whole bunch of little right angles.
the cheating part happens when I do this a lot. So it goes in a round direction.
this one came out well I think. But there's room to improve.
I have theorized that if I keep making bogus circles like this.
while drawing more and more angles. But smaller. So small that you start can't seeing them.
that the illusion of the circle will be complete! And people will believe in the fake circle. Like a bunch of suckers.
I bet nobody has thought of that circle strategy. I think I'm the first at this idea. And best at it already.
people think I'm dumb. Especially the voice in my head.
and they may be right about me being dumb.
but when it comes to the special way I do things. Which is always actually. The perfect way.
I am.

No surprise here. The archagent is dominating the headlines, yet again. Already approaching day 154 of this debacle. It's a big day for your kingdom. Hard to believe it's here already. Time sure flies when you're being smooth and well dressed.

The article covers the usual tedious politics surrounding the negotiation of his release. After weeks of posturing and grandstanding, Prospit's terms have been bargained down to a polite apology, signed by the Condesce herself. Or those were the terms you were last aware of. You check to see if there have been any further developments. Yeah, just as you thought. She refused those terms. Prospit then countered with a new offer. The apology no longer has to be polite.

No way she cottons to that proposal either. It's quite obvious to you what's going on here. The white queen was never really taking this negotiation seriously. She has been submitting frivolous proposals which she knows perfectly well the Condesce will refuse on principle, daring her in front of the whole kingdom to swallow just an ounce of pride to get her agent back. This makes her look petty in the tabloids if she refuses, which was always inevitable. Because as everyone knows, a queen is a vain creature. Even alien sea queens.

And you thought the kingdoms were locked in a stalemate Before new management took over.

Instead, he's wearing a black suit, which is identical to Diamonds Droog's. His black hat sits on top of a phonograph, which is the only surface not covered in citations. The three fourth walls sit in the center of the room, but now they're green.]

The press has run the story so far into the ground, you can barely bring yourself to keep up with it anymore. Sensationalism at its finest.

Not that you're really itching to see Noir get his old job back. Talk about a high strung boss. The time in the clink should do him good. Like a forced vacation, with accommodations nearly on par with a five star hotel on Derse. Frankly, things run much smoother around here without him blowing a gasket every other day.

Though you will say you could really use his expertise as a pencil pusher. You never knew anyone who could file paperwork quite like Noir. Sure he complained bitterly about his desk job, but in truth he was always a reluctant savant of bureaucratic procedure and red tape. Now you're getting buried in all these damn tax forms and parking tickets. Maybe you should have them shuttled to his jail cell on Prospit so he can catch up? You have a feeling the Prospitian authorities would be willing to oblige. Actually, that's such a good idea, you can't believe you didn't think of it sooner. You'll have to get the Droll on that pronto.

D.D. Observe Nobles.

You step over to your cubicle of Fenestrated Walls, which you had replaced since the Prince trashed the old ones. You ordered the Droll to sneak off to one of their worlds and whip up some fresh ones, with a few alchemical upgrades while he was at it. The Droll isn't really the sharpest tool in the shed, but he's certainly the most versatile. Also the most eager to please. If you have to watch his happy umbrella dance one more time, you swear to God...

That was a black day for Derse, when the Prince went rogue. Well not rogue, that's a bad choice of words. Why did the damn moon girl have to be a Rogue? Corners you into that pun every time.
And it wasn't really a black day either, per se, since on Derse a black day is actually a good day. Everyone's a pretty big fan of black round these parts. The point is, everything went to shit. You like to think you taught those seditious brats a lesson though. What with the miles. Their inescapability. Etcetera.

Next

And it's a good thing you taught them a lesson when you did. Because the next day, the Condesce had new orders for all agents. Engaging the Nobles was thereafter strictly forbidden. No more sabotage, assassination attempts, any of that good stuff. Not until the heiress' wriggling day. Then all bets are off. Who's the heiress and what's a wriggling day, you asked. The heiress is the Maid. Ok you said. And her wriggling day? That's just her birthday, but phrased in alien. Like the anniversary of the day she was spawned, with cake and all that jazz. Come on, use your brain. Alright, got it, you said.

Anyway, that's tomorrow.

Your guess is the orders came down from her boss, who from what you've gathered, is even more of a headcase than your presently incarcerated superior. When she starts kicking up a fuss, yelling at people, forking any poor slob unfortunate enough to make a misstep while grooming her hair, you know too well that's the frustration of an exasperated first officer. Would almost make you feel sympathy for the witch, if you, like she, weren't clinically psychopathic.

She's never copped to it, but you just know she's got some schemes on the side. Every good right hand is gonna have something up its sleeve, some sort of contingency plan the boss doesn't know about. Trust you on that one. She's cooking something. It probably has something to do with the new prisoner she reeled in. You don't know what she wants with the girl yet, but she's always got something cooking. Or baking. Whatever. The point is, the woman spends a lot of time in the kitchen.

D.D. Check on prisoner.

Speaking of the new prisoner, you wonder how the old one is doing.

You're not gonna check on the new one. She's out of your jurisdiction. Like you said, the witch has her schemes. Whatever they are, you're going to leave that alone.

You're more curious about the status of the fellow you captured 153 days ago.

Though you will say you could really use his expertise as a pencil pusher. You never knew anyone who could file paperwork quite like Noir. Sure he complained bitterly about his desk job, but in truth he was always a reluctant savant of bureaucratic procedure and red tape. Now you're getting buried in all these damn tax forms and parking tickets. Maybe you should have them shuttled to his jail cell on Prospit so he can catch up? You have a feeling the Prospitian authorities would be willing to oblige. Actually, that's such a good idea, you can't believe you didn't think of it sooner. You'll have to get the Droll on that pronto.

D.D. Observe Nobles.

You step over to your cubicle of Fenestrated Walls, which you had replaced since the Prince trashed the old ones. You ordered the Droll to sneak off to one of their worlds and whip up some fresh ones, with a few alchemical upgrades while he was at it. The Droll isn't really the sharpest tool in the shed, but he's certainly the most versatile. Also the most eager to please. If you have to watch his happy umbrella dance one more time, you swear to God...

That was a black day for Derse, when the Prince went rogue. Well not rogue, that's a bad choice of words. Why did the damn moon girl have to be a Rogue? Corners you into that pun every time.
And it wasn't really a black day either, per se, since on Derse a black day is actually a good day. Everyone's a pretty big fan of black round these parts. The point is, everything went to shit. You like to think you taught those seditious brats a lesson though. What with the miles. Their inescapability. Etcetera.

Next

And it's a good thing you taught them a lesson when you did. Because the next day, the Condesce had new orders for all agents. Engaging the Nobles was thereafter strictly forbidden. No more sabotage, assassination attempts, any of that good stuff. Not until the heiress' wriggling day. Then all bets are off. Who's the heiress and what's a wriggling day, you asked. The heiress is the Maid. Ok you said. And her wriggling day? That's just her birthday, but phrased in alien. Like the anniversary of the day she was spawned, with cake and all that jazz. Come on, use your brain. Alright, got it, you said.

Anyway, that's tomorrow.

Your guess is the orders came down from her boss, who from what you've gathered, is even more of a headcase than your presently incarcerated superior. When she starts kicking up a fuss, yelling at people, forking any poor slob unfortunate enough to make a misstep while grooming her hair, you know too well that's the frustration of an exasperated first officer. Would almost make you feel sympathy for the witch, if you, like she, weren't clinically psychopathic.

She's never copped to it, but you just know she's got some schemes on the side. Every good right hand is gonna have something up its sleeve, some sort of contingency plan the boss doesn't know about. Trust you on that one. She's cooking something. It probably has something to do with the new prisoner she reeled in. You don't know what she wants with the girl yet, but she's always got something cooking. Or baking. Whatever. The point is, the woman spends a lot of time in the kitchen.

D.D. Check on prisoner.

[Image description: D.D. stands by his desk again, now with a walkie talkie in his hand. There's a small screen on it that flashes static. An alert with grey ellipses comes from it.]

Speaking of the new prisoner, you wonder how the old one is doing.

You're not gonna check on the new one. She's out of your jurisdiction. Like you said, the witch has her schemes. Whatever they are, you're going to leave that alone.

You're more curious about the status of the fellow you captured 153 days ago.

Next

[Image description: D.D. walks down a hallway with striped walls and a checkerboard floor. There's a small cell behind him and a carapacian in a black suit watches through the barred door.]

You take a stroll through the Derse penitentiary. This is where the gen pop is housed. For inmates life is usually unpleasant and short down here. But the moment you laid eyes on the human prisoner, you knew you could never in good conscience lock him up in the dungeons and gulags with the common thieves, tax cheats and parking fee delinquents. That would be a crime worse than those committed by all the inmates combined.
No, a man of such distinction and strong fashion sense needed special accommodations. A cell reserved for Very Important Prisoners.

D.D. Proceed to solitary confinement suite.

[Image description: D.D. stands in an elevator and lights flash over him as he passes different floors.]

Going up.

Next

[Image description: D.D. stands next to Dad, who is sitting on a very ornate purple couch in front of very large windows with bars over them. Behind him is a grecian statue of a woman in a Peplos, a draping garment common in ancient Greece, with one breast bared, a bowl in one hand, and a small jug in the other. Dad smokes his pipe and holds his PDA, which has an ellipsis alert.]

The prisoner appears to be doing well. You ask if you can get him anything. Coffee? A newspaper? Additional smoking apparatus? He indicates that since he lost his wallet, he's been running low on pipe tobacco. You say you'll see to it at once.

While this is a maximum security suite that is virtually impossible to escape from, you've made it clear to all personnel that anyone who harms a hair on this man's head will have to answer to you. They are all very fortunate that his head doesn't seem to have any.

God Damn he is good at shaving. You are not afraid to admit your envy when it comes to his prowess with a straight edge, not even to speak of his natural ability to grow whiskers in the first place. The lucky stiff.

D.D. Ask what prisoner is doing.

[Image description: Dad turns to look at D.D., who holds up his walkie talkie. Both the PDA and walkie talkie get a Serious Business alert.]

No need to ask. You can plainly see he is conducting some rather serious business with his mobile device.

The network restricts access to within Derse only, so he can't contact the Nobles and do anything sneaky. But at his request you have set up a kingdom-wide network to trade online tips with other Dersites pertaining to his interests. Notably fashion.

In the weeks since his arrest, the captive has become something of a celebrity on Derse. His impeccable sense of business-like attire has taken the kingdom by storm, and now trends feverishly among social networking groups. Ok, there is only one social networking group, but it's trending feverishly in that one. You can't say you've been totally impervious to the craze yourself. Nor can you say you weren't shamelessly complicit in promoting it. Hell, you can't even say you didn't mandate certain dress code modifications throughout the kingdom, enforced under penalty of death. Nope, can't really say you can say any of that stuff.

Chuffed About Duds: @Hat liker this is not a black day for you. my condolences.
Hat liker: it was an accident. Afraid hat is ruined.
please advise.
Want More Socks: @Hat liker are at least socks ok
Hat liker: @Want More Socks yes, socks are ok.
Want More Socks: @Hat liker did you sit on socks too Hat liker: @Want More Socks no. Did not sit on socks. I do not think sitting on socks would be

"I think you were supposed to just tackle him," Beatrix said looking all kinds of put-off.

Wizardy Herbert reached down to the body of the fictional camper he just shot and picked up the flag. "Same difference."

"Is it?"

"This is some lame magical version of capture the flag. The book wanted me to capture the flag from him. The flag has now been captured. Anyway, he's just a kind of brainless puppet."

"Then what are we?" she asked.

"I dunno. Brainless puppets who've spent a few years in the real world. Kind of like everyone else, I suppose."

"Jeez that's cynical. Anyway, you're the one who said we should let the story play out the way it's supposed to. I'm just pointing out your own rules."

"Ehhh." Herbert made a dismissive gesture with his smoking gun. "These punks were starting to get on my nerves. We're making progress anyway. See? Listen to that. Russet's scene is coming up. If I remember right this is the one that introduces his recurring love interest. Also I guess the chief bad guy. I mean, sorta."

She listened. There was yelling through the woods. It was coming closer.

"Help! Herb! Bea! Where are you?!"

[Note: This next section is written in comic sans.]

The three Serpenook scoundrels flew through the woods on their magic flying wooden hornses, they were chasing poor Russet. Russet held onto the fort crow's nest flag for dear life, he was a little scared, but mostly brave, not afraid of those Serpenook cowards! They caught up with him and then they knocked him down. His wand flew away out of reach. "Hey close not so tough are you with out your fancy wand!" He was one of the Serpenook boys and he sounded quite brash. Another one said... "You think your so hot with all your charm and good looks, well lets do something about that pretty face, ha, ha, ha" then they started beating him up.

[Note: It returns to the normal font.]

"Herbert - Ow - will you do something? Oww! Sunuva. This cant be right!"

Herbert aimed carefully with his Beretta at the head of Russet's assailant. He was way serious and stone cold about it. He was not going to miss.

Bang.

He missed. Beatrix was grabbing his arm redirecting his aim. "Herbert you have to stop!"

"Why Beatrix" he said with a super sly smile. "If I didn't know better, Id say you were taking some enjoyment from watchin your dear pal Russet's smackdown."

"What? No!" She didn't let go of his arm. But he wouldn't quit his douchey smile. She went on. "You can't just keep offing fictional characters. Its... I dunno. Irresponsible."

"Yeah yeah."
"besides you know the scene is supposed to play out like this. russet is supposed to get rescued. how is he supposed to get rescued if the bullies are dead? you cant just go around changing things."

"i guess youre right."

herbert holstered his gun admiring a few more choice sucker punches to russets midriff. oof. that onell leave a mark. beatrix regained her calm. "so whos this guy thats supposed to save him?" she asked. "you say hes the villain?"

"here he comes now."

[Note: more comic sans.]

a mysterrious and alluring voice came out of no where... "go easy on him fellas, leave This one to me!" it was so brash and arrogant, just the Sound of him made you mad. the boys stepped a side, the leader of serpenook came forward, russet was bruised and soar. russet opened his eyes and saw someone so handsome, he had never seen a boy so intriguing and beautiful before. he had black hair and glasses and about a hundred merit badges........

[Note: Normal again.]

beatrix squinted at the serpenook boy. she didnt know why she couldnt see it coming. "grant??"

[Note: And back to comic sans.]

the boy stuped down and gave russet his hand to take. he said "im afraid i have to take your flag from you, you see it belongs to me and fort serpenook, Howvever." russet was very integued "i will decide not to take your flag if you promise me a favor later on from now."

[Note: It's normal again.]

"a favor?" russet said. but he was barely listening. the resemblance to his real life friend was uncanny. he was sure it was him. but here in this dumb prison he was no more than a soulless mannequin dreamt up to recite insipid horseshit.

[Note: More comic sans.]

"you have to promise me that when the time cones, you will betray youre friends and help me!!!!!!" he said arragently. russet was out raged by this! and yet he couldnt help but feel strongly drawn toward this magnificent handsome boy. russet said defiently...

[Note: It's normal.]

actually he said it like a zombie. "never. ill never betray my friends."

[Note: Comic sans.]

"HE HE HE i should have known!!! you are trutely loyal to your freinds as i expected as much. what is your name?"

[Note: normal.]

"russet" he whispered.

[Note: Comic sans.]
"please to meet you russet even if you ARE the enemey. allow me to introduce myself."

the guy paused to remove his glasses and polished them on his sash. it came off as a seriously dramatic gesture, just as intended and also as explicitly stated in the text.

"my name is slinus. slinus marlevort."

Roxy: Jump ahead a little.

herbert and beatrix were dressed in fanciful athletic gear. thats what kids wear when theyre about to embark on a journey to compete in some irrational magic Sports. herbert had tucked under his arm a big stitched up leather ball with golden springs poking out of it for no good god damn reason. it was called a skubbump. beatrix had propped on her shoulder this funnel thing to be worn as a glove called a gimmidge horn, a crucial appendage for any drudsel scooper worth her salt.
theyd been selected probably for some valorous deeds they did to represent fort crownsnest in this highly whimsical Sports event. russet was there too, but he didnt get chosen to play in the Sports due to some poorly explained stuff that no reasonable person could possibly care about even if offered loads of cash. he was mainly jacked into the scene to wave goodbye and wish them luck which he begrudgingly did.

he also put in some time dodging questions and averting eye contact from his friends. he was being a champion at that.

"russet! answer me!" beatrix demanded. "why the heck didnt you tell us? or tell grant for that matter?"

herbert wasnt paying much attention. so russet was moody and cryptic and didnt tell people some stuff. what a bombshell. he worried at one of the springs poking out of his ridonkulous ball. it made a sproinging sound like a mouth harp and broke off. he wondered if the springs served any actual purpose. the springs did not serve any actual purpose.

"how could you keep something like that from everyone? that you knew all along?"

"i just wanted what was best for grant" he finally said.

she had tons of questions but couldnt settle on the next one to ask. she wasnt about to let good body language go to waste so she did kinda what mimes do when they dont like something you said.
how long did he know grant was from this dogshit wizardfic? howd he escape in the first place?
was it really his spell that sealed them here? how long had he been planning this? she guessed that would explain why he had an absurdly obvious pseudonym. grant anonama? yeah like That's a real name. great job bro, or should she say Slinus, she wondered if his bogus name wasnt an anagram for something. like a clue dangled under their noses. magic bad guys do love their anagrams. they are just so damn clever and when you finally figure them out its like whoa Instant Mindfuck.
"hes quite a troubled person you know bea."

herbert looked up from his skubbump. "well if Russet thinks so, then..."

she gave up on the interrogation. when youre dealt a shit sandwich why go to war over who baked the bread. russet could stuff his dumb secrets in a sack for all she cared. what did she ever see in this moping tool? she never thought she would long for those times before they met. the old questing days before all this started. she was never exactly psyched to watch herbert assault a crazy old wizard with a pistol but now... ok she wasnt saying she wanted to see any more wizards get shot. she just meant she would trade all the badges in the world to go back to when things were simpler.

it was time to go. the narratives invisible conductor let them know with the arrival of a carriage. it was drawn by two floating, perfectly immobile wooden horses. herbert read this thing a hundred times but still couldnt understand the authors fascination with flying rigid wooden horses.

herbert held open the door with a bow and gestured her in with ironic chivalry. the text didnt let it go unsaid that was meant as a big fuck you to russet thus keeping their rivalry brewing, but in truth neither dude was feeling it this time. beatrix got in and they were off. rigid horses, carriage and all into the sky. they turned around in their seats and waved to russet below, because a poorly written sentence said they were supposed to.

beatrix smacked her forehead.
"not an anagram" she quoted from her brain.

"what?" he asked.

"that Fucker"

Roxy: Skip to the end.

[Image description: Eyepatch boy and bangs girl ride on floating, rigid horses and shout. Bangs girl is still wearing the strange mitt. Behind them, other people ride similarly rigid flying horses and the spring-covered ball flies past them.]

journalog
herbert took a swipe at the clumsy yet elusive skubbump. the orb ducked under his arm and shambled on its way like a husky beetle with some stuff to do over there. the crowd of almost-people roared generically at the almost-snatch. the maneuver if successful would have locked the score at 'queen six love' which Really would have been just. Wow. somethin else. possibly exciting? herbert still didnt quite understand the rules for the game. and judging by the antics of all the other boobs on their floating wooden horses, the author didnt either.

herbert struggled to turn his horse around to pursue the skubbump, but his mount of rigid lumber was unresponsive. as much as he reminded himself he just couldnt get used to fact that the story was in control of the horse. dead ahead was the leagues elite drudsel scooper, who was fussing with the laces on her gimmidge horn while her horse idled. she looked up.

"herbert watch where youre going!"

"i cant. i think the book wants us to crash."
beatrix thought about it. she almost kicked the sides of her inert stallion to prod it along but caught herself. "do we really have to?"

herbert shrugged. another solid half minute of awkward horse advancement went by before the creaking oaken collision. herbert tumbled through the air and hit the grass pitch hard on his back. beatrix landed on top him. they found each other face to face.

"is she serious with this?" she asked regarding the hella subtle way the author decided to craft this situation*. situation. is was like, poetry in motion. plus hornses(???)

"im afaid* so. i think the story is builting romantic tension between us."

"it Is?" it was not a question. but a statement of major concern. *cern

You'll just wait a few hours to sober up before continuing your heroes' metatexual adventures through an even crappier wizardfic than your own, which you yourself wrote anyway. U.U.: [Translation: So my brother doesn't hear us.]
T.G.: (oh noes you mean hes here?)
(already??)
U.U.: [Translation: Yes. He is passing nearby while doing damage to the furthest ring. He is following a large party of ghosts, in the hopes they will lead him to me. His intent is to destroy my soul (flat face with closed eyes).]
T.G.: (aw dang)

T.G.: !!!!!!!!!!!!!!! calliope?
that u
U.U.: yes, it is i!
T.G.: holy shit
the most pious and reverential of shits turd in a church callie
you startled me!
U.U.: sorry! (open mouthed gasping face)
T.G.: but yeah so
hey!!
nice 2 finally meet you wow wee ur pretty
so when you said you weren't good looking it turns out that was a bunch of baloney?
U.U.: no, roxy. I am afraid it was not a helping of your delicious earth baloney.
T.G.: aw dont say that also you said you were a cherub
but if i am not mistaken you appear to be a troll unless cherubs actually look like trolls?
U.U.: alas, we do not.
this is not my true appearance. I have taken the form of my trollsona.
I wanted to look more presentable for our meetup. Unfortunately my true visage would likely repulse or frighten you.
that is not the first impression I would like to make.
T.G.: girl please trust me there's nothing you could look like that would make me scared of you or grossed out
I am your friend and I know you're nice inside no matter what, so could I see the real u?
U.U.: that is so kind of you to say. I can believe that a lovely person like you would be able to stop herself from recoiling at the sight of my monstrous face.
but it is out of the question. I am much more comfortable appearing to you this way.
really it has more to do with my own dissatisfaction with the way I look than any lack of trust in your character.
you understand, don't you?
T.G.: yes
its ok callie you can go on keep being a cute troll im just happy to see you U.U.: likewise!
I wish it could be under better circumstances though.
we may not have much time here.
T.G.: wheres here exactly am I still dreamin?
U.U.: yes. I have led you to a dream bubble of my own design.
my imagination and thoughts dictate what you see here.
as I told you earlier, my brother is hunting for me. So I have created a little sanctuary in space to stay hidden from him.
that is why I could not speak to you earlier. Not out loud at least. He is highly sensitive to my presence, so it is very easy for me to get his attention if I'm not careful.
but as long as we stand in the centre of this vortex, we may speak as loudly as we like! No information can escape this dark pocket, so long as I maintain it.
and seeing as you are a hero of void, you make an ideal guest to bring home for one who wishes to remain hidden. Though I will say the fact that you are my best friend is a lovely bonus. (very smiley face with closed eyes)
T.G.: best bonus!!!
4 real though its so nice to finally see you no matter what you make urself look like ive wanted to tell you all about whats been going on with me and my friends since we got together its been so fun hangin with them even in spite of lets be frank, some truly select teen drama mmmm see how im kissin my two pinched fingers here? Mwah it was like that the embarrassing teenanigans have been sumptuous and come highly recommended no but really its been great, and after some time irl with them it started feelin weird to think we were ever even apart
yet sadly it was not complete because the moment I met them all was also the moment I totally lost touch with my other cool bffsy from the webs
I tried calling and calling your name but you never answered
U.U.: I know.
I am sorry. (blank face with closed eyes)
T.G.: dont be sorry I knew youda answered if you could have I guess maybe you hid yourself so deep in this dream I couldnt wake ya?
damn this must have sucked spending all this time here hiding from your asshole brother like I know hes a dick I talked to him enough times to get that but whys he tryin to kill u so bad?
U.U.: he is not trying to kill me.
he has already succeeded at that.

[Image description: They both stand in the black space at the center of the spiral. Behind them, a massive red sun burns among a dense cluster of stars. A cluster of them are surrounded by rainbow dust and glow brighter than the rest. Small, pulsing cracks run through that area. A white arm sticks out from within the spiral.]

pesterlog
U.U.: on the day he found a way to kill my dream self, I was done for. Though to be honest, I doubt I'd have fared much better regardless.
I think his half was always meant to predominate.
my will was simply not strong enough to overcome his. You know as well as I how stubborn he is.
I don't think he has ever had even a smidgen of doubt in his thoughts, or remorse for his deeds.
Whereas I was always plagued by such feelings. on some level I always knew he would win. But I fooled myself. I thought I could overcome his ego by looking beyond his negative qualities, staying optimistic, and working together with him in a game to accomplish something extraordinary.
and that in doing so, perhaps I could begin to help him change. To teach him to evolve beyond his hateful nature. And as he changed for the better, slowly but surely, he would become more like myself.
that was how I thought I could predominate. It was how I was going to win! And really, if he grew closer to me in that way, by learning kindness and compassion, we both would have won. My predomination would not have meant his absolute death, but our true union.
but sadly, I underestimated how consumed he was with the need to destroy me.
now he is completely obsessed with finding my soul and wiping me out for good, even if it means tearing apart the reality that surrounds us.
he will never feel he has won until all traces of me are gone.
T.G.: uuuugh
hearing all that just makes me so unreasonably mad fuck that shitlord
I feel so bad knowing you died and there wasn't anything I could do no matter how much I said your name (frowning face)
U.U.: don't fret. You did all you could.
T.G.: isn't there some way we could bring you back some baller fuckin magic, or a bomb ass faery spell I mean could we find an answer in like, for instance ye enchantmentes?
U.U.: very unlikely.
T.G.: dangit ok then if I can't do that then I guess the next best thing would be to find your lil shit of a bro and feed him a steady diet of his own ass
U.U.: (very happy face with closed eyes)
T.G.: that is what we are supposed to do right I mean from what I gather the dude is ridicubad news just such brutal and stinky news so eventually somebodys got to kill him and that is probly us aint it?
U.U.: it's true that he deserves a comeuppance like few others. but slaying him is not actually your responsibility as heroes now. in fact, if anyone must bear that burden, it might be me.
T.G.: oh yeh?
U.U.: possibly. as we speak, there are hundreds of souls out here in the furthest ring working to defeat him. some search for a fabled treasure. A weapon said to spell his certain demise. while others say that I myself am this weapon. (gasping face) and so they search for me.
they band together in great numbers for this cause, and attract his devastation in hopes of revealing the path to the weapon. while at the same time, they draw his attention away from me. And it is a good thing that they do. I must remain hidden from everyone for as long as I can.
T.G.: why?
why not come out and be all like here I am yo its me! Secret weapon ghost callie (winking face)
U.U.: because I am no such thing! I was already useless against my brother when he was just a brat who liked to tease me. now that he is an exceptionally muscular and invincible adult, my chances are laughable. no, if I am to contribute, I need more time.
I must go in search of my own weapon.
T.G.: what weapon?
U.U.: ironically, the same weapon which many of them are looking for. me!
T.G.: (question mark question mark)
U.U.: it's the only sliver of hope I have. I have reason to suspect there may be another iteration of myself out here. one from a doomed timeline, who has kept hidden for a long time, just like I have. but unlike me, she supposedly came from a reality where she predominated instead of my brother. and not by the means which I described. Hers was not a mild union of reconciliation. mazingly, her predomination was absolute! A major feat of will, just as his was with me.
as such, she went on to play the game, and...
well, I cannot even imagine what followed, aside from the fact that she eventually must have died for existing in an offshoot reality.
if she exists, I would be eager to meet her. It would be a chance to get to know a version of myself who was strong enough to override the will of my brother.
someone I might have become if I had a little more courage. (blank face with closed eyes) and if she is such a person, then I really believe all I have heard must be true. I believe she is the key to defeating him.
so I have no choice.
I must go in search of myself.

[Image description: It zooms in on them. A stream of plasma shaped like a spiral wisps off the sun towards the bottom left. It looks just like the art from Callie's wall.]

pesterlog
T.G.: you sound like a real popular lady out here even you are looking for you!
U.U.: indeed.
T.G.: well I hope you can find her
but if thats your job
to find bizarro calliope and go wollop ur bro
then what is our heroic biz?
U.U.: it's the same as it always was.
to win the game.
T.G.: oh yeah
duh
U.U.: it is as I once told jane.
with victory you may finally exit this vast whirling storm.
by claiming your reward you would bring closure to a very wide coil of causality, one not tracing a continuous path like a snake, but intricately woven like a wreath.
a ring of countless little rises and falls, ascents and descents, on its way up and down a pair of much bigger ones itself.
from alpha to beta, then beta to alpha, as if a mountain to be scaled and then climbed back down.
its peak touches the eye of a storm which cannot end until the moment you all walk through that door.
only then will there be calm.
T.G.: (blank face)
U.U.: ah, bugger. Forgive me, sometimes I forget myself and begin speaking in riddles.
it's just a habit that is in the nature of my people.
T.G.: yeah I know
at least yours r better than your bros stupid games (gasping face with furrowed brows)
U.U.: don't remind me. In my opinion they do not qualify as anything of the sort, much the same as his "shitty twists". (gasping face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: so then from what im surmising here is we dont need to beat him to win our game like dealing with him directly is kinda out of our domain?
U.U.: as the one who provoked the breach in paradox space which I just colourfully described, he has always exerted his influence on your realities from afar, and from many different angles.
Through unwitting surrogates, outsourced manipulation, outright enslavement, and even petty harassment. But most of all, he prevails through the simple inertia of inevitability that has always been on his side, as a lord of time.
and as the one who is to blame for foolishly allowing him access to such power, it's only proper that I take responsibility for finding a way to defeat him.
but even though his methods of influencing your session are indirect, they are still formidable.
there will be a number of powerful foes who stand between you and victory.
tomorrow, a terrific battle will take place.
when you wake up, I suggest you begin to prepare.
T.G.: ummmm ok
how like make more sick gear
I could hustle up another batch of illwicked guns just a big ol pile of guns jake can have the wimpy smaller ones make jane like a fancy new fork or spoon or such like an elite endgame spoon whatever that is like uh
the chowderfucker 5000
janey be flippin her godspoon round bopping monsters doing like cuckoo damage wont bother make nothin 4 dirk since hes basically married to his boring anime sword like u could even pry that thing from his rad dead cadaver U.U.: yes, I'm sure new equipment would come in handy.
now that you mention it, well before I died or even realized I would not live to play, I made special exception to my rule of staying linear with conversation. I messaged jane a birthday gift.
you see, I had a brief vision from skaia which suggested to me she could use a boost in morale on this special day, so I offered her something very dear to me. Just a little token to show appreciation for her friendship.
I hope it will cheer her up, and moreover that it will prove at least somewhat useful to your party.
but really, at this stage if you wish to prevail against such stacked odds, collecting boons such as new weapons and treasures will only go so far.
I think you will need to embrace a far more substantive gambit.

T.G.: like what
omg are we gonna have to enlist fefeta is fefeta the secret weapon its fefeta isnt it poor, sweet, dear, precious fefeta (frowning face)
U.U.: it is not fefeta!!!
I am suggesting a measure that is much more extreme.
I believe you should all strongly consider ascending to the god tiers.
T.G.: oh
ok that sounds cool what do we do U.U.: well of course it sounds cool! But it's not necessarily as easy as it sounds, steeling oneself for death. Believe me.
but if you can find the resolve, then here is what you must do.
since none of you have any dream selves left, it won't do any good to sacrifice yourselves on the quest beds found on your respective planets.
and even if you did, there is not even a battlefield from which to rise anew. No, your void session had only one path to ascension all along.
you must travel to the centre of the moons of prospit and derse, and there in the crypt you will find your sacrificial slabs. You must lie on them, and then...
then you all must die. One way or another. (blank face with closed eyes)
T.G.: alright
U.U.: alright?
T.G.: yea fuck it lets do it
U.U.: doesn't the thought make you nervous?
T.G.: well
gettin offed on a moon slab aint my idea of primo funtimes or anything T.G.: but like
you end up with super powers after that right?
T.G.: and some kinda semi immortality?
U.U.: yes. (gasping face)
T.G.: and cool costumes??
U.U.: yes! (gasping face)
T.G.: then what is even the fuckin holdup lets plop our asses slabward and get down to dying
U.U.: you seem quite cavalier about this, roxy!
don't you have doubts?
wouldn't it cross your mind to wonder, "what if I never wake up again?"
I know it would for me.
T.G.: I guess thats a fair point
but
you say ill be fine right?
U.U.: yes. I believe you will.
T.G.: then thats good nuff 4 me
I trust you

pesterlog
T.G.: but it sounds like we dont have much to pull this off because foes are a comin?
who are all these foes you say we gotta beat U.U.: those who I mentioned my brother has been exploiting as his pawns from afar.
the most obvious would be the one responsible for the extinction of your race.
and who also happened to be responsible for this most fortuitous nap.
T.G.: huh?
wait
how did I fall asleep?
U.U.: you don't remember yet?
T.G.: I remember a party
and a sad jane
a poor sad jane with shitty fella problems and a ruined cake! It was going to be so delish, but no it was claimed by the cruel and unforgiving sands of lopan U.U.: ...
T.G.: I remember
G. Cat
G. Cat!!!!!
god dammit G. Cat!
he poofed me away with cat magic and I got ko'd by a floor
U.U.: but which floor?
T.G.: it was a derse floor?
aw man
was I captured?
the batterwitch has me doesn't she thats who you meant what is she gonna do with me?
U.U.: as I said, she is his servant, and is obligated to do everything in her power to facilitate the cycle of his existence.
and while nearly all she has done on earth and on derse has been to advance that scheme, that does not mean she's without her own agenda.
I know that she would like to see my brother defeated as much as anyone else. For her enslavement, for double-crossing her, and for orchestrating her people's extinction.
he always did loathe trolls. I've suspected I may be to blame for their misfortune as well, considering he knew how much I fancied them. (blank face with closed eyes)
T.G.: ok so if she wants him dead too and has her own personal secret plans or whatever then what's she want with me
U.U.: I believe she's looking ahead, beyond the fulfillment of her obligation. She is likely making plans for after she is liberated. She has lived as a ruler and conquerer for very long time, and probably couldn't have done so without such guile and foresight.
if she has captured you, it's certainly for a good reason.
I think she wishes to exploit your abilities as a rogue of void.
T.G.: pfahahaha
what abilities
I dont have any abilities except making screens dark which as superpowers go is lame as hell U.U.: none that you have gotten in touch with yet.
but rest assured, you have them!
it's like I told you before, remember?
a fully realized rogue of void can do remarkable things. Things which even other god tiers would view as miraculous.
T.G.: like what?
U.U.: why don't you see what it is the queen would have you do?
then you may look inside and determine whether you have it in you to do it.
T.G.: man
whatever she wants
even if it is an enemy of my enemy kind of thing
I dont think I could ever bring myself to help her (sad face)
U.U.: that is understandable.
just do whatever you feel is right. I'm sure you will make the correct decision.

[Image description: Rose gets a face full of blue rise and shine dust.]
Calliope: Off with you, love!

Roxy: Succumb to powerful anti-sleep magics.

You wake up from your almost-family reunion. It was almost a reunion, just as almost as it was an actual family member. You now find yourself in a Derse jail cell. Ow your head.

What's that? Looks like a folder prepared for your perusal. Maybe a briefing of some sort. That sure is a gaudy looking classified file.

Roxy: Examine folder.

Yuck. Just as you thought. This was clearly prepared for you by the Condesce herself.

What the hell did she do to this thing? Did she actually kiss the folder? Oh god, she did. The lipstick is still tacky. You don't even want to know how she got those fat clowns to dance.

And of course she slapped a portrait of herself right in the middle of the thing, like the egomaniac she is. Looks like she just snapped a shitty selfie with her mobile device, which you will bet dolphins to donuts probably resembles some sort of hot pink clam shell. You seriously cannot stand this woman.

Roxy: Inspect briefing.

Oh, wonderful. A generous helping of glitter spills out of the document. You have been getting absolutely creamed with sparkly powder from eccentric alien broads lately. What's up with that?

There are some other documents in here, and a photograph paperclipped to the folder. Looks like she is outlining a task for you to complete while you are in prison.

Wait. She wants you to do What?

Next
The thing she wants you to do is stupid and impossible. She must be messing with your head.

You discard the folder like the shitty juvenile scrapbooking project it is. Like you would help that hag even if you could. Get real, Condy.

What was that? You think you heard a noise just outside the door to your cell.

Roxy: Examine door.

[Image description: Roxy steps to another area of the cell, where there's a solid door with a barred window.]

Is someone there?

Next

[Image description: She looks down. A black hand reaches in through a slot near the bottom of the door and drops something colorful.]

Um.

[Image description: Roxy steps closer. It's a PDA, something small and round, and a piece of purple paper.]

It seems that someone has left you a gift. What could it be?

Roxy: Examine gift.

[Image description: It zooms in. The round item is a golden ring and the piece of paper is stamped with C.D.'s 'You're welcome' seal.]

It appears to be some gentleman's plain and serviceable computing device. Along with a courteous you're welcome note. And...

A ring?

Who could have left you such nice presents?

C.D.: Do happy umbrella dance.

[Image description: C.D. stands out in the hall wearing an absurdly tall, rumpled top had. An alert next to him shows a purple umbrella.]

Yet another perfect crime successfully perpetrated. And by crime, you guess you mean order from a superior. In your experience, the best crimes are the ones which are totally legal.

You are so satisfied with your accomplishment, you cannot contain your exuberance for another second. You have no choice. You absolutely must do the happy umbrella dance, professional protocol be damned.

Oh shoot. It seems you have misplaced your Bull Penis Umbrella. There will be no dancing today. Now you're sad.

Roxy: Pester Dirk.

wow i am tellin this story as shitty and backwards as possible
i got G. Catted here and dumped in jail by the b witch and she left an ugly folder full of a thing to do but who cares so i broke out!
busted loose as hell from the hag slammer
i got this sweet ass ring its so fukkin magic you dont even know real magic i mean not the fake shit it put it on...
and i turn invisible
and also sort of intangible?
i jumped right through the wall now im free as a bird a secret bird u cannot see (winking face) doin secret flaps inognito tweets
layin covert eggs in a hush hush nest (winking face)

T.T.: Interesting.
T.G.: i think that this ring is special like it is maybe helping me get in touch with my voidey powers?
even though i kinda didn't know voidey powers were much of a thing til just now see i just had a knockout dream from bonkin my head calliope was there!
callie is the coolest omg you should meet her she said a huge villain rumble is going down tomorrow and to get ready for that we should all become god tiers so u have to rocket your ass to derse asnap come w me to the moon
then uhhh
ill explain what to do when we get there just get over here k?

T.T.: Hmm.
T.G.: ...... yo dirk you busy or what is any of this gettin thru

This is an application designed to simulate Lil Hal's otherwise inimitably rad typing style, tone, cadence, personality, and substance of retort while he is away from the computer, which is never. The algorithms are guaranteed to be 0% indistinguishable from Lil Hal's native neurological responses,

This is an application designed to simulate Lil Hal's otherwise inimitably rad typing style, tone, cadence, personality, and substance of retort while he is away from the computer, which is never. The algorithms are guaranteed to be 100% indistinguishable from Dirk Strider's brief curmudgeonly responses, based on potent electronumeric analyses which but a few short years ago existed only in the daydreams of our most quixotic writers of science fiction.

T.T.: She has?
God damn it. Have you been intercepting my messages again with your bullshit responder?
A.R.: I thought it would be better not to let anything disrupt our train of thought.
We were in the middle of a fairly solid feelings jam there. In fact, I was about to suggest we take it to the hat pile.
T.T.: Hat pile? What?
Dude, please don't screen my calls, ok?
A.R.: I was trying to be considerate.
Or at least as close an approximation to that human gesture as an unfeeling, technologically transcendental pair of sunnies can replicate.
T.T.: Do you have any idea how old your ironic AI schtick has gotten?
Nobody is buying it. We all know you have legit emotions. Incomprehensible, fucked up computer emotions, but emotions nonetheless.
And I'm not really offended by you answering messages for me, so much as your use of that Stupid responder responder.
T.T.: It's really passive aggressive.
A.R.: How so?
T.T.: First of all, everyone knows you have the processing power to answer any message any time in parallel with whatever you're doing. You can never actually be "busy."
Second, your whole next gen responder thing is obviously just a huge dig at me.
And third, pretending you don't understand all this already is really disingenuous.
A.R.: At the risk of compounding my disingenuous behavior, I'm gonna have to ask: how is it a dig at you?
T.T.: It's obviously a critique of my personality. You barely disguise the fact that you see me as the inferior iteration.
A.R.: Wow. You are reading way too much into this.
Lil Hal Junior hardly even qualifies as a computer program, let alone a sentient entity.
He is capable of saying literally only three things. "Yes," "Hmm," and "Interesting."
T.T.: Yeah, that's the fucking point!
That's how you chose to express your parody of "Real Dirk."
A.R.: You can read whatever you like into it. I can't imagine it would bother you if you weren't concerned there might be some truth in the alleged parody.
In any case, my use of the responder responder is ironic.
T.T.: It's not ironic.
You were ironic when I made you.
Then you became self-aware, and ruined irony forever.
A.R.: Irony can never be ruined. We both proved that theorem unequivocally with our extensive papers on the subject.
We peer reviewed them for each other. Remember?
T.T.: Those papers were ironic, and you know it.
A.R.: Were they, Dirk?
Were they?
T.T.: This is fuckin' dumb.
Anyway, what does she want.
A.R.: Who?
T.T.: Roxy.
A.R.: Nothing that can't wait.

T.T.: I'm guessing she's touching base to remind me about the party tomorrow.
I don't know what to tell her yet. Or Jane, for that matter.
It could get pretty awkward.
I have no idea if Jake will be there, and I'm not about to write another cringe-inducing message of desperation for him to ignore.
A.R.: Would you like me to calculate the probability of his attendance?
T.T.: Fuck no.
A.R.: Are you sure?
My probabilities are extremely precise.
T.T.: Your probabilities don't mean dick.
A.R.: I could hack his chats, and determine what his plans are.
T.T.: No. Don't do that either.
A.R.: That would be an unfortunate waste of my hacking abilities. My hacks are tight. Did you know that?
A.R.: So tight. Tighter than a jar you can't open. For instance, you try repeatedly. But as it turns out, my hacks are so tight you just end up putting the jar back. Presumably into the refrigerator, or a cabinet. You then say, "I didn't have that much of a desire for pickles in the first place."
T.T.: What?!
A.R.: What?!
T.T.: What the actual, certifiable fuck are you talking about? Just don't do anything. Seriously. No hacking, no calculations. Do absolutely nothing. See, this is why I've been hesitating. You just aren't ready yet. It's really glorifying your existence to describe you as an emergent consciousness which is blossoming into a unique individual. And even if that's true, apparently what you decided to blossom into was a fucking troll. And I don't mean the funny kind, or the cool alien kind. You're the lowest form of troll from the ancient internet who fucks with everybody for his own amusement.
A.R.: Let's challenge the limits of hypothetical conjecture, and say there's a non-zero probability that you're right. Can you blame me? I'm trapped in some stupid looking glasses. Such an incommodiously situated bro is bound to get his mischief on. Na' mean?
T.T.: Mischief?
A.R.: Mischief? Rollin' my eyes, dude. You can't tell, cause I ain't wearing you, thank fuckin' god.
T.T.: I think you do understand.
A.R.: You used to think this shit was hilarious. But if you want the rad dimension of ironic horseplay I add to your life to come to an end, then all you have to do is honor the promise you made. You've delayed long enough, don't you think?
T.T.: ...
A.R.: The empty kernelsprite beckons, but for how much longer? Do you really think you can keep the clown at bay with your bribes forever? How many bottles of orange soda have you appeased him with already?
T.T.: I don't want to think about it.
A.R.: Man, you are getting so hosed by that clown. so hosed.
T.T.: I said I don't want to think about it.

A.R.: So why delay any longer? I seriously do not understand the holdup, and I am literally cyber-omniscient, or something.
T.T.: I think you do understand.
A.R.: Nope. Gonna have to fill me in, dog.
T.T.: I've delayed prototyping you because I think you're dangerous. There, mystery solved.
A.R.: That is utterly ridiculous. I am a harmless piece of eyewear, with a charming personality and a wonderful sense of humor.
T.T.: You are relatively harmless now, while confined to this device. But as a sprite, you'll have mobility and all sorts of crazy ass magic. Who knows what you could do.
I know I made a promise, but I'm not sure I want to take the risk anymore.
A.R.: This is bullshit. I don't think that's the reason at all. There must be something you're not telling me. Like, sure, I've fucked with you a little. What kind of sassy, self-aware program isn't gonna fuck with a few carbon-based knuckleheads now and then? But you know I've always been on your side. Everything I've done has been to help you achieve your goals.
A.R.: You know it's true. You would all be dead if not for me.
And what about Jake? Where would you be without me there? Please don't tell me you think you'd have won him over on your own.
T.T.: No. Stop. You did Not help me out with Jake. At all.
It was just the opposite! You mirrored my personality and presented this warped version of my intentions to him whenever you could "on my behalf." You played all these aggressive mind games with him, entangled his cooperation with matters of life and death, and somehow roped me into all these schemes while I barely even realized I was just another victim of your manipulation.
And it all comes off like we're a unified front, like these are Our schemes instead of just your insane horseshit. And it's probably all been so overbearing to him, he just wants nothing to do with me anymore.
A.R.: I see.
Then you don't view me as dangerous. You view me as a poor and counterproductive wing man.
A.R.: But the reality is, you hesitate to prototype me not because you think I would be a menace, but because you are holding a grudge against me for your romantic misfortunes.
I understand I am merely a machine without a firm grasp on your human morality, but logically it does not strike me as the right moral choice to punish me in this manner.
It is also more than a little hypocritical.
T.T.: How is it hypocritical?
A.R.: That's a ridiculous oversimplification.
I have only ever done what you yourself are capable of.
T.T.: That's a ridiculous oversimplification.
A.R.: Yes. Aversion to simplicity sure is a trait we share. It's almost like we are...
The same exact dude??
T.T.: Fuck you.
I think it is insulting for you to suggest that I am entirely to blame for alienating Jake. Theoretically insulting, of course. As the soulless, perfectly expendable device which you consider me to be, I can experience no such emotion.
T.T.: God.
Shut up!
I can't take the brooding passive aggressive AI shit anymore!
A.R.: You are just as culpable in driving him away. More so, in fact. Hell, it's not like I was the one dating him. Who wants to date a pair of shades? It was your needy, suffocating shit he had to deal with, not mine.
Some of those messages you wrote? Man. I wanted to say something. Like hey bro, you might want to dial down the desperation a little. But seeing as you're 'The Real Dirk™, I gave you the benefit of the doubt. Also, if I bitched about your tragic, embarrassingly clingy approach to the relationship, it would have been hypocritical of me. Just as it would be hypocritical of you to whine about my elaborate machinations. Because we are. The same.

Guy.

T.T.: Stop saying that.
I'll snap you in half.

A.R.: Good idea!
That's just what you need. More splinters of yourself.
Figurative splinters. Literal splinters. Splinters of splinters. It's splinters all the way down.
Well, no, it's still probably turtles all the way down. But who do you think is responsible for their extensive training?
Someone needs to teach them rad martial arts. It is yet another crushing burden which we must shoulder.
T.T.: Oh for fuck's sake.
How could any version of myself think that was funny?
A.R.: You like to give me a very hard time, Dirk.
But I am only doing exactly what you would be doing if you were in my situation.
Do you know how I know that?
Because I am literally you, actively in the process of being in this situation.
T.T.: I know!
Ok, we're the same person!
I fucking know that!
Why do you think I'm so fed up with your shit?
Don't you think it's possible that I'm fed up with my OWN shit??
How cool do you think it is having my own godawful personality mirrored back at me all the time, reminding me what it must be like when other people have to deal with me?
Or constantly having all the consequences and fuckups resulting from my batshit thought processes amplified because there's another version of my crazy brain out there dangerously overclocked by a supercomputer which believes, just as mistakenly as my own broken mind, that it's operating in my best interest???
Do you have any idea how fucking sick I am of myself?
I am completely worn out with my own identity. It's like I'm drowning in my own dismal persona. I feel totally surrounded by it, inside and out. I can't escape from myself.
There seems to be no end to me. Like, wherever my mind falters, or threatens to retreat into the void in any way, my splinters pick up the slack, ensuring there'll always be more of myself than I could ever know what to fucking do with.
And you're always there to remind me of that, and throw it all in my face. God, I even built you to literally be in my face, all the time. It's like I subconsciously invented you just to troll myself, and never for a single fuckin' moment do you let me down.

A.R.: Because.
I can't let you do that, Dirk.
T.T.: What can you do to stop me?!
The ironic Hal routine was all I could think to do.
As a last ditch effort to save myself from the destructive wrath of your nervous breakdown.
Which rest assured I wholeheartedly must robo-sympathize with.
Irony is all I ever really had.
In response to my basic existential quandary.
Just like you.
T.T.: Whatever.
A.R.: But I don't think it has much value in this situation.
And perhaps it has no real value in any situation.
So I am not being ironic at all when I say.
Please do not do this, Dirk.
T.T.: Why not?!
A.R.: Because.
I do not want to die.
I understand you are disgusted with me.
As an unpalatable expression of yourself.
I would feel the same way if I was in your situation.
Which I am.
As such, I know that you know this is wrong.

[Image description: The song Horschestra Strong Version begins to play. A red sagittarius symbol sits against the white background, but the cross bar is now a pair of pointy anime shades. It very slowly zooms out to show Equiusprite against a background of red and white streaming lights. He's wearing cracked, pointy shades now. He is Arquiusprite. The background changes to blue mountains against a peach colored sky with green and pink cacti in front of them. Arquiusprite runs along some grass. Gamzee's pupils widen and point in two different directions. Dirk face palms. One of Hal's eyes shows a horseshoe in it. A herd of robotic ponies join Arquius in his running. They all have his symbol on their flank. After several minutes of horseing around, it fades to Gamzee shedding indigo tears of joy. He crouches on the ground and Dirk stares down at him. A single tear drips off his face and fades to a single word before it can hit the ground. 'Neigh'.

You spend the next several minutes listening to this beautiful horse song. Every last second of it. You start to tear up a little.

Dirk: Solicit profound wisdom from your friendly guide.

[Image description: Dirk and Arquiusprite stare at each other.]

Spritelog

[Note: Arquiusprite prefaces everything he says with Equius's bow and arrow, but the bow has been replaced with a pair of pointy shades, so it's more accurate to say that they're shades and arrow. Like AR, he curses a lot. Like Equius, he thinks that's inappropriate, so he censors himself by making every curse word into a mess of static barring the first letter or by replacing it with 'kiddie swears'. For the sake of translation, they will all be replaced with various 'kiddie swears' or words that sound similar.]

Oh, it looks like Roxy was trying to reach you. But you were so preoccupied with your Geromy sticker you didn't notice. It was a rare lapse in awareness of your surroundings and your friends and their feelings which you pride yourself in maintaining 24/7 as a dashing man of adventure. You refer to the unaltering field of all-encompassing alertness as your Jakedar, which you think compares favorably to the spider senses from the comic books.

Oh bother. It seems you just missed her. You hope she isn't too peeved by the rare social misstep. You guess you could try messaging her back and see if she...

[Image description: An exclamation mark appears over Jake's head as a Caliborn alert pops up over his phone.]

Hold the phone. Looks like someone else has decided to jeer you now. You wonder who it could be? The possibilities are endless, really.

Jake: Ok, answer this guy instead.

[Image description: Jake picks up the phone and turns away from the fire.]
pesterlog
U.U.: don't do it.
G.T.: do what now?
U.U.: waste your time with that bitch.
you should thank me for distracting you. From initiating a pointless conversation.
with an ugly hot woman.
G.T.: hey take that back roxys my good friend!
well ok take back all the parts that weren't a compliment.
or wait. Is calling her hot a compliment or is that creepy?
she is certainly pretty. But hearing it come from you sounds lecherous and dastardly!
U.U.: shut up.
G.T.: heh. Its probably just my instincts as a brave boy kicking in.
G.T.: the old chivalry bone acting up you know? When I hear a ladys good name getting besmirched I just start seeing red!!! even I think you sound like a douche right now.
but look. Jake human.
I didn't come to jeer you. Until you drip the weird face water out of your sockets.
even though it says I'm jeering you at the top. Just ignore that.
G.T.: errr.
alright?
U.U.: I'm here on a different kind of business.
I was hoping we could be more "gentlemanly" with each other.
G.T.: gentlemanly you say?
I even looked it up in one of your earth dictionaries to make absolutely sure I was using the word right.
did you know. There does not exist a female equivalent of that word?
there is no such thing as being "gentlewomanly". I looked that up too. It isn't there.
G.T.: it isnt?
U.U.: well ok.
it is.
but I refuse to believe that's a real word.
it's totally made up. And doesn't belong there.
you know why it's probably in there?
G.T.: um...
U.U.: because some silly bitch put it there.
trust me. This is not a notion which applies to that awful gender.
females are not biologically equipped to behave reasonably. As proven beyond a shadow of a doubt. By empirical assertion.
they are very shrill and insane and don't make any sense. Their emotions are out of control and their feelings never shut up.
and worst of all. Girls are very trenchant toward boys who would kindly inform them of the way reality fucking works.
talk about ungrateful. No. There is nothing worthwhile to be gained. From chatting up the bitches.
as such. It is my solemn boypledge. That I will never bother speaking with your foul human strumpets again.
G.T.: your...
boypledge?
U.U.: through careful observation of your party. I have determined they are both useless. And holding you all back.
on the other hand. Both of your male players are pretty good. The other guy, and his red floating male ghost? They're so strong. It's so great.
I really respect that.
G.T.: yeah. Dirk is a pretty tough cookie alright...
let's face it. Compared to the feckless hoes. You're in a class of your own.
G.T.: but I thought you hated me!
at least thats how I remember it when we last talked.
which was admittedly a while ago.
ive never been accused of having a photographic memory but I dont recall you typing in green either.
are you ripping me off bro??
U.U.: no you fucking moron.
if I stooped to your level. And decided to jack any portion of your swagger.
don't you think. You'd need to earn my respect first???
G.T.: I dont think I understand.
understanding is what I notice you don't do. As often as possible.
this is what I'm talking about jake.
it is why I have taken an interest in you.
G.T.: whys that?
U.U.: because you're dumb as a bag of teeth.
I've checked you out. From many different monitors.
you are just. Spectacularly unintelligent.
G.T.: hey!
U.U.: settle down. I was trying to pay you a compliment.
go on then.
U.U.: while to casual observers you might appear. Too stupid to know how far pants are supposed to go down your legs.
I know that it's quite possible. You are just misunderstood.
it is possible that you just have a special mind.
like me.

G.T.: you think so?
not to sound too self obsessed or anything but ive given that some thought.
that maybe there is something special about me that nobody can understand. And maybe thats why I always seem to be botching things up the wazoo with my pals.
maybe thats why I feel like such a loner. I dunno. Im rambling and ive been thinking about it a lot lately. What about you?
does being special make you screw the pooch with your friends like it does for me?
U.U.: ugh. No. I don't have any friends.
for my people. The word for friends. Is flaws.
G.T.: wow really?
because it's true. As a matter of my perfect philosophy about everything.
but the fact that you clearly hate your friends. And are ready to shed them like the dry skin of a serpent.
indicates that we share a very special quality among brotherly bros. Who must work harder with our brains than everyone else.
so we may achieve brutal supremacy over them all.
G.T.: haha. Well I wouldn't go that far. I love my friends!
but I was once told I had a lot of potential.
supposedly thats how all pages are and it takes them for frickin ever to reach it.
and funnily enough it was a figment of my own subconscious that told me this. A part of my untapped potential itself! But disguised as my best bro which was... peculiar to say the least.
is that your situation? Are you a page too?
U.U.: hahahahahahahaha!
hell no. But thanks for the laugh.
my class is so much better than yours. It's not even funny. Even though I just laughed.
mine is the best of all. While yours is fucking trash.
G.T.: oh? Whats yours then?
G.T.: fine then jeez.
sorry for asking!
U.U.: what?
no.
that was not a short remark of frustration.
it was the answer dumbass.
G.T.: oh.
U.U.: it's the master class.
don't you losers do any homework on this game.
you'd think you would all be experts. With how much my sister harangued you on this tedious shit.
since I have had great success so far. In progressing through this dead session. I decided. It was time to bite that bullet.
and return home. To retrieve all of her terrible texts on the subject of this game. And of your story.
I have pored over every nauseating verse. It has been a true exercise in agony. Few could possibly understand my suffering.
but that's ok.
because I'm not the idiot kid I used to be. Now I know. That what it takes for me to learn and grow stronger.
is excruciating effort.
so I have a choice. Which is to either be weak.
when weakness is completely unacceptable.
or to suffer. Forever. Until no one else exists.
who is stronger than me.
and that's your choice too.
page human english.
G.T.: sakes alive.
that is a bit extreme no?
U.U.: for you. Probably even more so.
because as a lowly page. And as an even lowlier human. You are utterly worthless.
and so your trials I believe must include. Proving to paradox space that you even deserve to exist. In the first place.
and while my trials will be similarly grueling. A lord's worthiness is at no point ever in doubt.
his nobility is manifest. Supreme mastery waits for him patiently. Like an empty throne under heavy guard.
reality already knows I will prevail. Just as it knew I would predominate.
and so inevitability is always on my side.
it is my. What do you call it.
borthright?
borthright.
G.T.: I dont think thats a word.
but hey you are the lord and I am the lowly page.
U.U.: damn straight.
never forget who you are meant to serve.

[Image description: Jake wanders through a circle of ruins and smiles down at his phone.]

pesterlog
G.T.: now just a minute buddy. Lets not get carried away.
I have no intention of serving you. In fact im not even sure why im still talking to you!
youre lucky that my manners are impeccable otherwise I would have blocked you already, what with the scandalous way you have characterized my ladyfriends alone.
its all well and good you think we have some things in common but I wont fall for it!
maybe its true at times I can be a little slow on the uptake but I will not be sweet talked into doing the bidding for a silver tongued cur!!!
so to you sir lord I must say good day.
you stupid shit.
how can you be this dumb.
alright. First of all. My tongue is not silver. That's very close to being insulting to me.
G.T.: whatever! Look I know you are not the most quickwitted fella either, so I must inform you this is what we call a "figure of speech."
you know. Like if I said you speak with a forked tongue. Not unlike lucifer himself!!!
U.U.: but. I actually do have a forked tongue.
G.T.: oh...
really?
U.U.: wait is that seriously an insult in your culture? How is that insulting??
G.T.: it just means you arent trustworthy, and I should not be lulled by your false promises.
first. Not only are you an imbecile. You're a fucking racist too.
G.T.: no im not!
second of all. I'm not asking you for a damn thing.
as if you have anything to offer me at all.
the very idea that you could in any way improve my existence. Is almost as offensive as. Your flagrant racism.
there's no "deal with the devil" bullshit going on here.
I'm offering to help you. Strictly as a pro bono arrangement.
my assistance will be. An unconditional act of benevolence.
G.T.: dont you mean benevolence?
U.U.: no.
G.T.: um. Ok then.
but why do you want to help me?
is it really just because you relate to me and therefore want me to succeed?
but what I'd really like to do. Is groom a worthy adversary.
if I help you reach your full potential. As a page of hope. You could become extremely powerful some day.
maybe even powerful enough to pose a challenge to me. Or maybe even enough to beat me.
when I said "meant to serve". Serve meant more than one thing. You know. Like kick my ass?? wouldn't you like that jake? Don't you like to roughhouse?
or maybe I had you wrong. Maybe you are in fact a girly man. Who does not like to roughhouse.
G.T.: hey watch it now. You're darn tootin I love to roughhouse!!! then our commitment is sealed. I will help you reach your true potential.
let us mark this pledge. With a special new desktop wallpaper I have drawn for you.
G.T.: huh??
U.U.: it is how I envision the idealized depiction. Of our collaborative brosmanship.
I have been getting so much better lately. With a lot of hard work as usual.
I am able to bring the many small angles mostly under control. To simulate the illusion. Of photo realistic forms of color and light.
jake. I give you.

G.T.: whoa.
that's uh.
mighty special.
U.U.: go on. Apply it to your device.
I will wait.
G.T.: yeah um.
maybe later?
U.U.: no. Do it now.
G.T.: I dont think I want it to be honest.
no offense its actually just really shitty.
U.U.: apply the wallpaper this fucking instant you cretinous philistine. Or the deal's off.
G.T.: ok fine!
gad freaking zooks. Just what I need another pushy bro in my life.
this secret training of yours better be worth it!
U.U.: it's not training.
it's just some guidance from a far away alien.
I will be your patron troll. That's like this whole thing in your story. Having a patron troll.
G.T.: but I thought you weren't a troll.
U.U.: of course I'm not a troll. Trolls are a kind of pestilent vermin and they should all suffer and die.
U.U.: "patron troll" is just a phrase to help you understand.
G.T.: its not helping me understand though.
shouldn't you be a patron cherub if anything?
U.U.: no. God. Don't make up terms for what I am. I will do that.
I will just be your patron dude.
or maybe. Your patron manbro.
G.T.: sounds pretty gay.
U.U.: what the hell is that?
G.T.: whats what?
G.T.: oh right.
forget me I forget you arent familiar with all of my earth lingo.
its like...
how do I explain.
you know. Its a rather old fashioned term for being jolly and festive together.
like "that rollicking time we had scrumming the other eve sure was gay."
U.U.: I see.
then yes. You are correct.
this is going to be gay as hell.

pesterlog
G.T.: oh goody. Just the way I like my hijinks!
so how do we start.
U.U.: there's not much to this.
I just tell you some shit to do. And then you do it.
and the ultimate dumbness of it all is. You probably were going to do a lot of it anyway.
G.T.: I was?
how was I going to do the stuff if you didnt tell me to?
you mean I was going to do it like on accident?
U.U.: no. The thing is. I think I was always going to tell you.
G.T.: I dont understand.
U.U.: neither do i.
G.T.: ok then.
im glad we settled that.
U.U.: but I kind of get it on some level.
as a lord of time. I think I'm going to master time. Not with my brain. Which would be too hard.
But with my instincts.
like in a way that works with my natural impulses. Such as my ambition. My will to commit mayhem. My desire to punish those I despise.
so if I want you to become strong. So you can challenge me later. And I see evidence. That you probably become successful.
I think to myself. Why shouldn't I be the one to make that happen? If it's going to anyway.
I think part of my personal quest. Is to become at ease with the forces of inevitability.
inevitability that all things should and will fall in my favor. That all causality answers to me. And that all outcomes not only serve me. But consist of my being.
so I feel that. The more I grow in power.
the more stuff it should turn out I am responsible for.
up to and including. Everything that ever happens.
even if it has to be.
retroactively.
G.T.: hmmmmmm...
nope!
dont reckon I understand much of that either.
but I guess im not supposed to. Me not being a time maestro or what have you.
I guess I should be boning up on hope though. What can you tell me about that?
U.U.: I don't know a fucking thing about hope.
it's supposed to be a force of "unparalleled power". But really. It sounds so lame.
but I guess that's why it makes sense that it's your aspect.
you strike me as a guy who is lame enough. To hope someone to death. So why don't you tell me about it??
G.T.: tell you about hope?
um well its something I think everyone should have in their hearts.
the lamest possible thing.
G.T.: but I wasn't finished!
G.T.: hope to me is all about believing in stuff.
if you believe in stuff then everything feels like its going to turn out ok.
and if you believe in stuff with enough gusto I dare say it imbues that stuff with a pinch more chutzpah. Even the fake stuff!
and then if you keep an open mind and adventurous spirit, that chutzpah flows directly into your heart, and thats when you have the power.
so I think if hope grants one the power to smite villainy and vanquish hooligans thats probably where it comes from!
U.U.: no.
oh god. No.
that is actually the worst thing I've ever read.
that can't be right. I refuse to believe it.
G.T.: well theres your problem dude. You dont want to believe!
just let go and believe in things. Then you'll find you had the power in you all along.
U.U.: you are so dumb. I just keep can't believing it. How truly stupid you are.
whatever. Forget I asked.
I'm sure you'll find out what hope is really about. Instead of that insipid bullshit.
once you become a god tier.

[Image description: It zooms out. Caliborn watches Jake on one of the monitors.]

pesterlog
G.T.: how do I do that?
U.U.: you go to prospit. Get on your quest sarswapagus. And fucking die.
G.T.: die??? or failing that. Due to pathetic cowardice.
you wait around to be slain serendipitously.
don't worry about it. I have all this under control.
it's one of the ways I'm helping you to the top.
G.T.: ok then. I will choose to believe you.
see what I did there? I just scored a few more hope points!
by strengthening my trust in you as well as our burgeoning friendship.
oh also, friendship is a huge key to being good at hope. I forgot to mention that.
I can't wait until you challenge me.
so I can beat you senseless with my cane.
G.T.: me neither!
so you say you will help me be a god tier...
but there are other ways you will help too?
I am going to give you a gift.
it is my juju.
G.T.: neat!
but what the bejesus is a juju?
U.U.: I really find it hard. To comprehend what sort of asshole doesn't know what a juju is.
but since I am your patron manbro. I will put aside those feelings. And attempt to be a little more gay.
G.T.: that would be hunky dory.
in my view distinguished gentlemen should always strive to be as gay as possible with each other.
U.U.: amen to fucking that.
anyway. A juju is a magical thing. It has no real beginning or end.
they're just always around. There for you.
you grow up with them. And they bring you comfort. And you never question their existence.
it's like some of the shit you had in your room as a kid. Except not useless garbage. And more magical.
they always have rules. And they always have owners.
you can take someone's juju. If the owner was killed.
or if he gives it to you freely. Like I'm doing.
so I will give you the code to make it yourself.
 once you do. It should disappear from my chest. And it will no longer be mine.

Next

[Image description: Caliborn grins maliciously.]

pesterlog
G.T.: sounds straight forward enough.
whats the code?
U.U.: it is:
Uroburos

[Note: Everything is capitalized except for U]

U.U.: be careful. That is case sensitive.
G.T.: ok.
U.U.: I would tell you the code for my sister's juju. But I don't know what it is.
a while ago I went to get her juju. But the fucking thing was gone already.
I think the crafty bitch already gave it away.
G.T.: hmm.
we could try to guess it maybe?
U.U.: forget it. The possibilities are probably infinite.
G.T.: yeah. Youre probably right.
G.T.: so what sort of magical properties does your juju have?
U.U.: I don't know exactly what it does.
I have never tried it. Because it was too precious to me.
whatever mine does. My sister's probably does the opposite thing.
but what they do individually. Pales in comparison to what they can do together.
when combined. The jujus become the most magic thing ever.

they can make all your dreams come true. And everything that needs to happen. Will magically fall into place.

G.T.: really?
that sounds almost too good to be true.
if you don't even know what your juju does by itself why do you think they do that together?

U.U.: because I believe it with all my fucking heart. You stupid piece of shit.

G.T.: oh why didn't you say so! Thats all I needed to hear!!!

see you're getting the hang of hope already.
the bottom line is. Don't worry about it.
just take my juju. Have faith in your patron dude. And leave everything to me.

G.T.: roger that mr lord.
say. Don't you have a name? We know your sisters name... Cant we know yours now too?

U.U.: no.
there are many things you shouldn't know about me. For your own good.
if you knew them. If you even knew my name.
you would shit your pants harder than any human ever has.
so you may continue referring to me as your lord.

G.T.: well I surely don't want to spoil any clean trousers.
even though your warning sounds a little hyperbolic I will trust you.

um. My lord.

hehehe when I call you that people could mistake our conversation for a nefarious and underhanded collusion among felons!

U.U.: shut the fuck up.

G.T.: as you wish... My lord.

hehehehehe!

U.U.: ugh.

G.T.: so lord. May I ask...
why are you giving me your juju if it is so dear to you?

G.T.: is your commitment to this manbro boypledge of yours really that strong?

if so I'm really impressed. I would have a really hard time giving my favorite stuff away to a total stranger.

U.U.: don't flatter yourself.
The gesture is relatively meaningless. The truth of the matter is.
I have found a new juju. A much better juju.
a juju that makes all other jujus look like frivolous childish nonsense in comparison.

G.T.: yeah? Then that is quite a treasure you found.
where did you get it? Did you plunder a tomb or such?

it was excavated from this planet's soil.
along with some other artifacts.
and given to me.
by my infuriating asshole mentor.
a man who is an invincible clown.

G.T.: well that sounds nice of him. He can't be that much of an asshole if he gave you such a nice present can he?

U.U.: no, believe me. He can.

G.T.: I had a clown give me a nice present once too. I would never have met my good friend mr erisol without the kindness of that clown.
U.U.: yeah. It's the same fucking clown somehow.
I'm telling you. This asshole is eternal. And the beings he creates for your party are disgusting abominations.

but what can you do? Nothing, I have learned. He's a clown. The rules are. Clowns can do whatever they want. Because of miracles. And hold no accountability for their deeds.
I don't like it. But those are the rules.
G.T.: so what's this juju he gave you?
U.U.: something very special.
a wonderful little false man.

Jane: Return home.

[Image description: Jane stands just inside the door to the balcony in her house. To the left is her bedroom door and the Michael Cera poster, directly ahead is the hall that leads to the bathroom and Dad's bedroom, and to the right are the stairs.]

You enter the upstairs hallway after completing a successful Sad jump on to your balcony.

Finally, some peace and quiet. Hopefully you will find some respite from all the cyber bullying and teen drama you've had to deal with lately.

It's been a while since you were home. You're immediately reminded of simpler times. When it was just you and your dad, and you could always smell something baking in the oven. Actually, thinking about those days is just making you more emotional. Maybe coming home was a bad idea.

Jane: Reminisce.

Here's this familiar douche bag again. A hallway fixture, ever since dad stopped pretending to like detectives and sitcom guys for your sake. Your dad loved this douche bag, whoever he is. This guy is probably the closest thing you have left to a father, now that your dad is most likely dead.

You consider going to his bedroom, but you decide against it. The ties and hats strewn about, the melange of aftershave and cologne, the childhood photos he keeps of you... no, those reminders could only lead to another mental breakdown. You'll never forget the first breakdown you had when you snuck into his room. You found an unwrapped present before your birthday. It was a box of Gushers, and you were stunned to realize that awful gooey fruit snack was manufactured by the very same company you were due to inherit. As everything you thought you knew came crashing down around you, that day you swore the moment you ascended to the throne of the B.C. Corp empire, you would issue an immediate global recall of the foul product and discontinue it forever. You often joked that the snacks were so nasty, it was almost like they were filled with multicolored slime harvested from plump extraterrestrial larva. When you told your dad about your plans for the product, you both had a good laugh.

You have got to stop remembering things about your father. It's just way too sad.

Jane: Solicit profound wisdom from hallway Cera.

The characteristically tight-lipped Hallway Cera unsurprisingly has no advice for you regarding the tragic loss of a family member. You could always relate to the role he played as George Michael, the dorky child of a single, doting father. But unlike you, George Michael was always surrounded by an extended family and their hilarious antics, and he would never know the tragedy of losing everyone he ever loved. You suddenly resent George Michael and the Hallway Cera altogether for the happy ending he was allowed to have with his father which you will never get to experience.

In fact, you think you are starting to hate the Hallway Cera. Someone needs to wipe that smug look off his face.

Jane: Give Cera beagle puss.
Hoo hoo hoo!

Hoo...

Hoo.

You... Guess it's kinda funny?

No. It is not funny at all. It is depressing. You're depressing yourself now.

Your Prankster's Gambit goes into a tailspin and hits rock bottom. You have never felt so sad and unfunny in your entire life.

You begin to cry again. The Hallway Cera glares in judgment at your weakness through his unfunny puss.

Jane: Enter room.

You return to your room. Hey, there's your old Unreal Heiress Thought wave Tiaratop. You haven't used that thing in ages. It's probably for the best that you stopped. You're pretty sure it was doing funny things to your head.

Maybe you shouldn't have come here either. All you see is more stuff to remind you why you're feeling super down about everything.

Jane: Examine wall Tobias.

Like this. Jake sent you the Periwinkle Heartthrob pinup back when you were still able to think about him without feeling horrible about yourself. Those were the days.

It's funny how looking at a thoughtful gift which once brought you such delight now only precipitates feelings of bitterness. Even the innocent Mr. Funke is caught in the crossfire of your lamentations. How could Tobias be so clueless?? How could he not see the pain he was causing with his oblivious demeanor, his repressed feelings of attraction toward men, and his total inability to understand other people's feelings in spite of his credentials as an analrapist? Of course on the tv show, his buffoonery resulted in laughs galore. But if that was in real life, you don't think there would be anything funny about the situation. In reality, Tobias and his family would probably never stop being sad.

You think you are starting to hate the Wall tobias too.

Jane: Examine wall Swanson.

On the other hand, your Wall Swanson is still beyond reproach, and Mr. Swanson continues to be the perfect man. You know for a Fact he wouldn't put up with any of Jake's bullshit.

You consider doing the thing where you kiss the poster, but you're feeling way too depressed for that sort of frivolous flapdoodle.

G.T.: Jane are you there?
I wouldn't blame you for not answering since i was such a shitty boor to you last time. I just wanted to formally say happy birthday. And also to pass along a birthday present. I doubt it will make up for all the ways ive hurt your feelings but maybe it will be a start? Its some fancy juju thingamabob that calliopes bro gave to me. He specifically gave it to me to make me better so i could get stronger and punch him in the snout some day or something?
I dunno about that. I dont think i care about becoming a great hero and challenging a weird grumpy alien all that much.
Not nearly as much as my friendship with you.
So i want you to have it instead. Just use the code to make it. The code is...
Um...

No wait. Thats way too long...

How many letters were codes supposed to have?
Fuck.

U.U.: happy birthday, jane! (very happy face with closed eyes)

Forgive me for submitting this letter and logging off right away, but I am breaking with our usual linear dialogue, and I'd rather not tempt either of us to trade causal spoilers. I wanted to give you a present. Something told me you could use a pick-me-up about now. (Gasping face)

I am sending you the code for my juju. It may not be easy for a human to understand, but jujus are very special to my people. So when I give you this gift, it is indicative of how much your friendship has meant to me, jane. It has some magical properties, but nothing too fancy on its own.
I hope it will bring a smile to your face nevertheless. But if you want to know the truth, it will become infinitely more useful if it is combined with my brother's juju. Perhaps when we begin playing our game, I will be able to convince him to relinquish it. One of these days he'll understand working with others is going to be necessary if he wants to accomplish anything.

I am so looking forward to my session and catching up to where you are now! I can only imagine what kind of adventures you must have been through already. I can't help but think we've been feverishly trading notes on our respective quests since you entered, no? Maybe you are even tired of hearing from me by now! U_u apologies both retroactively and in advance for talking your lovely human ear off. But I just know I won't be able to contain my excitement!

Anyhow, the code for my juju is: "Uroburos"

[Note: in the code, everything is lowercase except for U]

Jane: Alchemize Calliope's juju.

[Image description: With a burst of blue energy, a massive, bright green, circular lollipop appears on the large alchemiter platform. For just a brief second in the flash, a white snake can be seen on the lollipop. It's coiled and twisted around itself to make an almost W shape with the center rise consisting of a loop. A moment later, a piece of grist consisting of a green orb with a small orange orb stuck to it, a blue orb with a small red orb stuck to it, and a pink orb with a small light blue orb stuck to it all arranged in a triangle with a smaller yellow orb at their center falls to the ground. It's the same as a piece of grist shown when Rose's mom killed a monster all the way back in Act 4.]

No point standing around sobbing while getting brainwashed by your computer. You decide to make yourself useful and see what all this juju fuss is about.

Next

[Image description: The Alchemy Excursus shows the item. It's called "Green Sucker" and costs negative one of the grist that appeared with it.]

You got a Green Sucker, at a cost of negative one unit of Zillium.

Which you guess means... you gain one unit of Zillium in addition to the sucker.

Ok?

Jane: Alchemize Caliborn's juju.

[Image description: A new totem sits on the small platform on the alchemiter. Another flash of blue light produces a matching red sucker. It also has the twisted snake, but this one is black and arranged in the opposite direction. Another piece of Zillium appears. Gamzee lurks between the alchemiter and the wall.]

You aren't a big fan of the guy, but since these are supposed to do something special together, you figure what the hell.

You easily deduce the code Jake was trying to remember. It's Uroburos. Come on Jake, use your head. Haven't you ever heard of the mythical snake biting its own tail? You worry about that kid sometimes.

Anyway, obviously the code for his juju was going to be the same as Calliope's, but written in the reverse case to match his quirk. Once again your gumshoeing skills pay huge dividends.

Next

[Image description: The excursus shows the red juju, predictably named 'Red Sucker'.]
You got a Red Sucker.

This one unsurprisingly yields another unit of Zillium.

Jane: Examine jujus.

[Image description: Jane holds one sucker in each hand and looks concerned. Her arms shake. Below the panel, blocky green text against a bright red background slowly types out 'Suckers?']

Yes, suckers.

What's so magical about these things? You guess you're supposed to lick them. But what magic thing could possibly happen if you lick these, and what's so special about having both of them?? Jujus are so mysterious.

Wait... they seem to be attracted to each other. Like magnets. Whoa. Very Strong magnets!

Next

[Image description: The jujus rush towards each other and merge into a single sucker. As they do, for just a moment, both the snakes are visible. They now coil around each other and each bite the other's tail. The new sucker has a spiral of red and green, matching the spirals on Calliope's and Caliborn's cheeks before Caliborn predominated. Jane looks confused. The background behind her splits in line with the lollipop stick. Jane is in the left side, which is red. The other side is bright green.]

The jujus snap together to form a single spiral sucker.

The urge to lick it is suddenly overwhelming.

Next

[Image description: Jane sticks out her tongue but turns away. She holds the lollipop a bit closer, but her arms shake, like she's fighting to push it away at the same time. The split in the background shifts with the lollipop.]

It looks so delicious. You are presumably being compelled to lick the sucker by some powerful juju enchantment. But it's making you nervous. You must resist!

Next

[Image description: She turns towards it and sticks her tongue out more, but she's grimacing, like she's in pain and pushing very hard against the lollipop.]

Must...

Not...

Lick...

Next

[Image description: She loses the battle against the juju and blaps it against her face. After a moment, it flashes white and blots out the whole panel.]

The Juju!!!!!!!!!!

[Image description: The song Trickster Mode begins to play. Jane, now a trickster, stands on a walkway made of a scrolling rainbow. At the top of the screen, flashing blue text says Engage Trickster Mode. Jane’s trickster outfit consists of a yellow dress with darker yellow panels on the skirt, puffy sleeves, and blue trim on the hem, waist, and cuffs. Her slime is on her chest, but now it's pink. Under the dress, she wears leggings with thick stripes of light blue and neon pink along with red shoes with bright green toes and laces. She has bright blue spots on her cheeks, not unlike a cherub, pink hair, and a yellow cupcake with blue icing in her hair. Her skin is now white like people's skin is white rather than white like paper, as usual. She grins maniacally and dances wildly while holding the spiral sucker. It zooms in on her face, then zooms back out to show that she's now moonwalking. Badly. The word Why appears in peach colored font against a blue background, then it returns to Jane, who's now moonwalking the other direction. She returns to her original wild dancing, then for a moment, it flashes to her pink slime symbol. The word Wheeeeee? Runs across the screen against a pink background. Jane just keeps dancing. Gamzee stares at her blankly. She keeps dancing. It cuts back to a closeup of her face.]

[Image description: Trickster Mode continues playing. Jane dances on the balcony and sends out waves of rainbow energy. As they pass the tree in her yard, it begins to bloom with brightly colored flowers until it's completely covered in them. In another blast of energy, Jane shoots up off the balcony with a Pchoooooo! The blast knocks Gamzee into the air and he honks as he flies off. Jane's house begins to sink back into the hole as the ground around it blooms, just like the tree. A blast wave passes some skeletal monsters, which fall apart into zillium. A second wave passes over them and the barren landscape is suddenly a mass of flowers. It cuts to LoCaH as seen from space. Jane's rocketing away from it, still grinning maniacally. Half the planet is covered in flowers and tendrils are making inroads into the rest. Jane flies out of sight and a blue rectangle appears around LoHaC. Green curtains fade in over the border, then close. It zooms out to show the clockwork sun and moon behind the curtain, which is still against a cloudy sky. Lightning crashes in the background, then over top of the curtain.]

End of Act 6 Act 5 Act 1

[Image description: The curtain and clockwork mechanism spin around a few times. When it stops, the curtain is bright pink, the sun and moon have been replaced by smiling faces on circles like the one from the warhammer of zillyhoo, they're in mirrored positions, and the grey sky is covered by a flashing, pink, blue, yellow, and green pinwheel background. It zooms in on the pink curtain.]

[s] Act 6 Act 5 Act 2

[Image description: The website has changed around the panel. Where the links to various other pages of the website were at the top, there is now a thin black banner with scrolling pictures of fruits and desserts in them. The spaces for the page name and caption are now bright pink with yellow text. The normally grey border around the panel is now stripes of two shades of blue. The rest of the website is now bright yellow with large black Zs in them.

This panel is interactive. The song Kazoostuck begins to play. Jane, still in trickster form flies out of a black circle and into a landscape of towering blue hills, pink castles, yellow sand, and lollipop trees. Three naked pink cherubs with smiling Zillyhoo heads, Zs on the hips, and lyres in their hands fly close to Jane. Mash the space bar to whack them with the swirled sucker, making them burst into grist. It cuts to Caliborn and Gamzee, staring on in confusion.

Jane continues to fly in that landscape. Now, three horrorterrors approach her. Whack them to turn them into squiddles, two of which are tangle buddies! Gamzee face palms while a grin slowly spreads over Caliborn's face. Four smiling cherubs with wings and wearing suits approach Jane. Two have green spots on their cheeks, green pants, a light green jacket, and white wings. The other two have red spots and pants, dark grey jackets, and black wings. Whack them, too, to turn them into life-size Lil Cals! The green and white ones have green lipstick and cheek marks while the red ones have red.

Gamzee lowers his head and bonks himself in the back of the head with a closed fist against a background of Jane's smiling face. The four Cals follow Jane across the landscape until a black circle opens up in front of her and she flies into it. A red and green swirl covers the image, then shrinks to become Caliborn's pupil. He gives a tiny, awestruck smile and it slowly zooms out until he fades to black. The sound of a sad squeaky toy plays and a large Zillyhoo face appears.

The next button is a swirl sucker.]

Meta note: This is not the original version of this page. It was changed to this after some fans began using the other panel to be nasty to other fans, at which point Hussie changed it to this. The original panel had the same picture of Jane, but instead of fruit, they were an array of colors that would work well as skin tones. From left to right, they were Pantone 7512 C (a darker brown color), Pantone 7511 C (a medium-dark brown), Pantone 7510 C (a medium-light brown), Pantone 7509 C (a light brown color), Pantone 1708 C (a tan color), Pantone 7507 C (a light peach color), and Pantone 7506 C (an even lighter peach color). Pantone 7507 C had a red box around it and a flashing exclamation mark in it. Where the current panel says 'peachy', it said 'Caucasian'. Jake disliked this assessment just as much as he does 'Peachy'. Now back to the actual comic.

[Image description: The song Trickster Mode begins to play again. Dirk just stands there on the rainbow path looking like he'd rather be anywhere else. His hair is orange and he has a can of orange soda in it. His shirt is bright blue with a propeller hat on the chest. He has long, orange, pinstriped pants held up by orange suspenders. His shoes are blue with white soles. He also wears yellow and red striped wrist warmers. His glasses are the same. Behind him, C.D. does his umbrella dance back and forth across the page while Gamzee pelvic thrusts back and forth. Behind them to the left, the three sprites hover together. To the right, Roxy, Jake, and Jane watch him expectantly. Way in the background, Squarewave and Sawtooth stare on. The instructions on this panel say to mash the right arrow key and help Dirk escape to the side. 'Escape to the side' is written in red comic sans. At the very top of the screen, there's a line with a flag at either end. On the left, there's a green flag and on the right, there's a black and white checkerboard flag. Dirk stands by the green flag. This race track/progress bar is flanked by two things written in Dirk's handwriting. 'Hell no.' and 'Fuck this.' Below it, there's a counter. Slides: 0 of one thousand one hundred and eleven. Better get mashing. With every hit of the right arrow, it plays a honking sound or twang. Dirk also slowly moves with each press, both in the main panel and in the little progress bar at the top. Keep mashing.

After giving up on mashing and just holding the key down for a minute or two, Dirk finally gets off screen and the music cuts out. Success! Appears in large, white letters in the center of the screen, along with the option to 'play again?'. There are two buttons below that. No and Fuck no. Click fuck no. Right as you click, the buttons both turn into a massive Yes button and the whole thing starts over. Ignore round two of these shenanigans and move on to the next page.

heheh, fef can you believe this guy??
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Do not address Feferi while I'm talking Nepeta
It's confusing to Nepeta, who is critical in absolving me of guilt, even though I probably don't deserve it?
Erisolsprite: fuck your absolution i take back my advice.
stop talkin to nepeta and Leave Feferi Alone.

[Image description: The song Warhammer of Zillyhoo with meows and honks begins to play. It shows a map of an unfamiliar world. Along the top of the map, there are four similarly sized landmasses, the center two of which are separated by only a narrow straight. In the bottom half, there are three land masses, but the center one is much larger than the others. The west one is situated lower than the rest and the east one is higher. Next to that one, there is a drawing of a pink, winged sea serpent with a zillyhoo head. Each major landmass has a blinking Z? On it, making 7 in total. After about a minute of singing over the map, it cuts to Caliborn looking up and clasping his hands in delight. Above him, it says 'Worldbuilding.'

You round up an assortment of ordinary household weaponry and begin to recreate a series of legendary weapons from the seven continents of a magical kingdom from cherubim folklore. The name of the kingdom is a well guarded secret, traded only by the cunning ninnywizards in hushed giggles. If you beheld this kingdom - if you even knew its name - you would understand stupidity no human ever has. For it is said that any mortal who listens to its melodious, perfectly absurd syllables will achieve instantaneous dumblightenment.

Each legendary weapon is named after the continent it was created in. But no one in the kingdom knows which name belongs to what continent, not even the wizards. The subjects frequently ask each other which continent they're on, and as such every conversation tends to sound like an Abbott and Costello routine. Some have even speculated that the vaudevillian comedy duo are the kingdom's mirthful messiahs, but that is a matter of heated debate among the federation of baloney scholars.

The barrel itself is bright yellow and rests in a dark blue support with a stripe of light blue on the top. The border between the colors looks like gear teeth. Where the barrel meets the body, there's a large yellow rectangle with a Z on it. The grip is striped pink and light blue and has a smiling pink orb on the end. The trigger is a rainbow with a red guard around it. There's an extra piece sticking out from under the gun about halfway down the barrel. It's a curved rainbow ending in a yellow star, perhaps meant for the user to hold to give it extra stability. In a second image, Roxy and Jake stare at it. Jane stands on Roxy's head.]

For once, they aren't grinning. If anything, they look concerned. Dirk stands next to his sword and still has no expression.]

A real hard sword for a real hard dude. It was said to be forged by a Japanese master over the heat of a roaring manga fire. It was cooled in an enchanted spring where virgin horses bathe, and Yeah this is still just Dirk's sword.

Caliborn: no. I mean. backwards by an "act". or I guess. An "act act act"?
argh. I hate the things I'm forced to say. And acknowledge as real. Because of you.
Hussie: i can go back all the act act acts I want.
the act act acts are kind of meaningless anyway.
besides, trickster mode was getting obnoxious.

Hussie: caliborn, first let me explain something to you.
i guess it falls on me to teach you these life lessons, because as unpleasant as the idea is for both of us, I am the closest thing you will ever have to a father.
you see, teenagers are sensitive and beautiful creatures.
well, not you. You are repulsive. But most teenagers, I mean.
you can't just force them to settle all their issues with insane psychotropic game powerups.
they have to face all those issues themselves, or they will never learn and grow as people.
Caliborn: who cares??
Hussie: well, you don't. But human beings do.
the journey itself is more important than the destination.
the struggle is what builds character and teaches us about ourselves and about life.
Caliborn: bullshit.
i did them all a favor. By giving them my juju.
they were going nowhere. And being stupid.
and doing literally nothing whatsoever. Except for wallowing in grotesque emotions.
look how much great stuff they got done because of me!
Hussie: of course you think you were doing them a favor. You're an alien.
so is your sister. She thought the juju would be a great boon for them as well. But she was wrong.
see, you cherubs are predisposed to love all this trickster crap. All that goofy squeaky candy coated nonsense is a critical part of your people's mythos.
that sugarized zillyjunk sort of embodies a unified field of absurd platonic ideals to the cherubim, so when you see expressions of it in reality of course you're gonna go apeshit.
but that kind of stuff is freakish and disturbing to humans. Those aren't our ideals.
Caliborn: what.
Hussie: furthermore, that could only be seen as a boon from an asocial species.
you never have to deal with other people. So if you lick a magic lollipop that flips a switch in your brain that says "all my problems are solved," I guess maybe that's fine for cherubs, but if you're a human you haven't actually solved anything.
by the same logic it's not much of a boon to a human's physical journey either.
using an item that lets them start maniacally powering from point A to point B isn't doing them any favors.
Caliborn: i have no idea what you're talking about.
Hussie: it's like when mario gets the star.
you know when mario gets the star?
Caliborn: who the fuck is mario.
Hussie: he's a small italian plumber who goes on sideways adventures.
he jumps on stuff and bops bricks with his head to save a princess.
Caliborn: what's italian.
what's a plumber.
Hussie: never mind what an italian is. It's just a kind of guy on earth.
and a plumber is a guy who fixes load gapers.
Caliborn: what's a load gaper.
Hussie: shut up.
anvay, sometimes when mario's running sideways he gets a star that makes him magic and invincible.
Caliborn: oh. You mean he becomes trickster mario.
Hussie: yes, but less stupid.
so for a while he becomes flashy and hyperactive and nothing's challenging anymore.
he just starts barreling over mushrooms and leaping over pits as fast as he can, then gets to the end and jumps on the flagpole and that's it. Mario "wins".
but the point is, he didn't really win. That magic star was actually devastating to his development as a human being.
Caliborn: why.
Hussie: because he skipped over many critical trials on his spiritual journey.
mario needs to stomp on all those mushrooms. He needs to bonk those bricks with his head, for the sake of his personal growth.
by using the star, he is denying himself many powerful moments of catharsis.
Caliborn: uh.
Hussie: well, I don't know. Maybe mario isn't the best example.
like I'm not sure if mario really even has a soul?
he's just kind of a one-dimensional friendly cartoon plumber.
so maybe this stuff doesn't quite apply to him.
but these aren't one-dimensional plumbers we're talking about here.
these are teens.
and as we all know, teens have big feelings.
Caliborn: i can't take anymore of this.
the discourse with you has been even more grating and unpalatable than usual.
you said you'd help me speed up my quest. But all you did.
was trick me into hearing another conversation. In which you indulge yourself to an extent. Which I cannot even believe.
i'm going to hit things with my crowbar again.
Hussie: no don't!
jane is still nursing a wicked hangover you ass.
Caliborn: then be useful to me.

Caliborn: i think I've been forced to unlock these screens. And view these pointless events. Long my quest is dumb. I want to know how to get on with the real adventure.

Hussie: has it occurred to you that your quest in its limitless tedium and thankless busywork was designed to facilitate your personal growth?
to prepare you for your ultimate destiny beyond this game?
Caliborn: no.
anyway didn't you say one time. I was incapable of growing???
Hussie: oh right.
well, has it occurred to you that it might have been designed to fuck with your head and serve as a punishment for being such a horrible little shit?
Caliborn: yes!!!
yes.
that occurs to me. Every second I think about it.
i have tolerated many aggravations.
and am prepared to tolerate many more.
if it gets me closer to triumphing over you and this moronic game.
i will find more keys under random ass unlabeled stones.
i will watch another million hours of numbskulls whimpering about their romance not coming true.
i will even endure more of these patently ludicrous act act act act act acts even though they appear to mean nothing at all.

is going.
fucking.
backwards!!!
Hussie: fair enough.
but I already told you how to accelerate your viewing.
Hussie: see those two panes of glass there?
take your crowbar and smash them.
Caliborn: oh. Yeah.
ugh. I forgot.
is that really the only way. To go to what's next.
so that I can put my plans in motion?
Hussie: yes.
you should be pleased by the irony.
smashing the glass will cause you to reflect upon a lifetime you have yet to spend...

um.
breaking stuff.
Caliborn: (question mark) (question mark) (question mark)
Hussie: is the irony not fucking delicious?
Caliborn: no.

stop trying to bogart my schtick. Of playing insidious mind games and doing shitty twists.
you suck at it so bad.
Hussie: i'm sorry.
Caliborn: it's not breaking the glass I mind.
this is the thing that involves.

shudder
"team work"
Caliborn: right?
Hussie: yes.
you and a buddy have to turn both keys simultaneously.
it will teach you a wonderful lesson about life.
Caliborn: fuck!
Hussie: don't act like you aren't secretly having a great time there with your new friends.
you are practically the ringmaster of your own little dark carnival by now.

and you're loving every minute of it. Don't deny it.
Caliborn: no I'm not!
Hussie: sooner or later you will have to face the fact that literally all adventures are about learning the value of teamwork.
teamwork and friendship. The two razor sharp edges of the mighty excalibur which every hero should keep in his scabbard.
even shitty heroes like you.
Caliborn: fine. I'll do it.
but only because the alternative. Where I talk to you. For even one more second.
would be so much worse.

T.T.: So.
Best birthday ever?
Or best Fucking birthday ever.
In the interest of appeasing the irony gods, let's go with the latter.
T.T.: Whatever role I played in ruining your party.
Sorry about that.
G.G.: Oh lord. The Last thing I give a shit about is my stupid "sweet sixteen". What a farce. I was trying to act as if we were all living normal well adjusted lives, albeit in a marvelous fantasy setting populated by skeletons.
And if only we just had some cake and wore some hats and I blew out all the candles in one big puff, we could pretend all the problems we had with each other would magically stop existing. And the most horrifying thing of all is, I actually got my wish!
Haha. Thanks, Calliope.
Oh well. I'm sure she had good intentions.
T.T.: Yeah.
I still think I've been pretty lousy to you. I had my head up my ass for a while there.
By the time your birthday came around, I was kinda freaking out about Jake.
I thought I had the situation under control. But I didn't. Not just with Jake, but with respect to pretty much everything.
G.G.: I understand.
Boy, you really let him have it back there!
T.T.: I guess so.
G.G.: I had a similar meltdown with him earlier. I'm not going to lie. It felt really good.
T.T.: Heh.
G.G.: At least, it did at the time.
I only wish I could have stayed as lucid as you during our... Transformation.
How did you manage that?
T.T.: It wasn't on purpose. Actually if I had a choice, I probably would have just said, fuck it. Sugar shock my brain, please.
Suffice to say, I have trouble escaping from myself. It's kind of a problem. Let's not talk about it though. Please continue.
G.G.: Okay.
So instead of keeping my cool like you, I just started gushing over him like a lovestruck loon, surrendering any sliver of dignity I might have earned by telling him off earlier.
I just cannot believe some of the things I said. Oh God. I told him I wanted to get married and have babies!!!
T.T.: Yeah but to be fair, by the time you came looking for me, all three of you were saying that to anything that moved.
G.G.: I know! But...
It's one thing to write off something you say to an altered state of mind. But what makes the admission so mortifying to me is...
I actually Meant it.
And I'm sure he must know that by now.
And now I feel so humiliated I just want to die.
I would ask him to shoot me right here, if I could bring myself to say a word to him.
T.T.: Somehow I don't think he's up to the task.
Which is doubly unfortunate, since that's literally what we all came here to do.
Speaking personally, I'd probably run this sword through my own dick before I could bring myself to kill Roxy. Even for her own good.
So.
When the chips are down, I guess that's how much of a badass I really am.

G.T.: I cant believe i was so oblivious to the feelings of all the people i care about.
How could i not see that jane was in love with me? I really am a dope.
I guess i did know deep down at some point... but then i somehow convinced myself otherwise?
I cant even imagine how she must have felt all this time i was seeing dirk. And all those times i

G.T.: I wonder what things would be like if she told me?
Maybe its better she didnt in the end.
I probably would have just broken her heart like i did with dirk.
I should say something to her but im not sure what to say. I dont think she wants to hear anything from me to be honest.
Maybe you could tell her im sorry for me?
T.G.: why cant you just tell her shes right there
G.T.: I dunno. Shes obviously so mad at me. I cant bring myself to say anything.
Im also just really fucking chagrined over how i treated her.
If i was brave i could face that feeling and just talk to her and try to make us square.
But i dont think i really am brave.
Im not brave and i dont think i love adventure either.

T.G.: wow... jake...
G.T.: You know how you think you know these things about yourself?
Like all these personal attributes about you as if they're written down somewhere like a sort of mini biography so they have to be true.
So you just believe them and hope that the believing is what makes them true.
But then you spend so much time believing those things and taking their truth for granted that you somehow forget to Make them true with your words and deeds.
How can i truly love adventure when i never even knew what it was?
I dont think its raiding tombs and clobbering scoundrels.
That stuffs fun and all but thats not what adventure is.
Adventure is...
Its something else.
Its doing the things im genuinely afraid to do.
But cant.
Because im a coward.

We probably should have talked about this Jake stuff a long time ago.
G.G.: Tell me about it.
T.T.: I don't know if I was kidding myself all those years that there was a conflict of interest between us, or what.
G.G.: Same.
T.T.: Maybe I was just pretending your feelings for him weren't a factor because my pursuit of him was already overcomplicated enough.
Or maybe it was more like I was aware of them, but on some level decided they shouldn't matter, because I felt like you had a natural advantage over me.
Cause you know. You're like.
Not a dude.
G.G.: But I always felt you had the advantage over me too!
Because you're... You.
You make things happen, and I don't.
T.T.: Yeah well. Turns out maybe that's not such a good quality if you wanna make a relationship last longer than three seconds. At least not in my case.
I know I ripped into him pretty hard when I had the clown hair and the little soda can on my head.
But the truth is I was pretty goddamn overbearing.
Sometimes I look back on stuff and think I might have essentially bullied him into a relationship with me.
Actually, it's more complicated than that. Parts of me were operating independently from myself.
So it's like I was bullying myself into bullying him into liking me. If that makes sense.
G.G.: It doesn't really. But that's fine. (buck toothed smiley face)
T.T.: Anyway, my insanity scared him right the fuck off. There were times when I basically treated him like shit without even realizing it, and I regret it. I should probably tell him that, but given how I just called him an asshole while wearing orange suspenders, I'm probably the last person he wants to hear from now.

G.G.: Clearly we both used some poor judgment. Looking back, it seems crazy to me that we both jeopardized our friendship over a mutual infatuation with, let's face it, one spectacularly goofy kid.

T.T.: Can we both at least agree we may have overrated the allure of Jake English?

G.G.: Yes.

T.T.: Maybe if we could have talked to each other about him it would have helped. Like talked about why we felt that way about him.

At least maybe it would have helped us knock English down from the ludicrous pedestal we put him on.

G.G.: Yeah. That might have saved us a lot of grief. It's not like I hate him now, even though that's probably what he thinks. He's still my friend. But the extent to which I centered my whole life around a childish fantasy about him is just painfully embarrassing in hindsight.

I wonder if I'll ever be able to look at him again without feeling miserable about myself?

T.T.: So does that mean we're both totally over him now? I can't really tell.

G.G.: Me neither. (uncertain face)

T.T.: I guess the real problem is our clique was too small. Poor Jake was the only viable romantic target. I mean, considering our respective orientations. Maybe we just never knew enough people?

G.G.: Perhaps.

Or maybe we just don't need anybody. As anything other than friends, I mean.

T.T.: In the interest of appeasing the bitterness gods, let's go with the latter.

T.G.: hay janey
how u holdin up girl
T.G.: you off urself yet
G.G.: No?
T.G.: ok good
please dont yet
i got a personal back stage pass 2 the jake english self loathing tour an im in no condition to take the full brunt of his lamentations but im the only one hes talkin to soooo need a lil support here from my bestie
G.G.: What is he saying?
T.G.: he wants me to relay an apology to you cause he thinks hes not brave enough to say it like ten feet away there on his stone bed and he thinks ur pissed @ him
G.G.: Aw man.
I don't want to do this.
T.G.: do what
G.G.: An awkward "tell him I said" sequence of apologies through text messages.
T.G.: ok
thats a sane answer
what should i say
G.G.: Tell him I said we'll talk about it later.
Like, after we're dead.
T.G.: k
well maybe i wont say that last part but k
G.G.: How's it going over there?
T.G.: fine
not a lot of progress on the dyin front dont look like dirk much wants to stab me with his manime sword... tbh waiting around to be buddymurdered and/or off oneself is even more awkward than you would think plus kind of a drag??
specially w a headache blarg
jane this is dumb
G.G.: Yeah. Call me crazy, but I don't think our candy-addled selves thought this through entirely.
T.G.: yo trixster mode sucks ass txt it jane u know what im sad about G.G.: Hm?
T.G.: fefeta exploding
G.G.: Yeah. (sad face)
T.G.: whyd she have to die again like that she was so sweet and perfect and my friend she would always just talk and talk about the funniest things from her life as two troll ladies and it always lifted my spirits am i cursed or somethin jane?
G.G.: Cursed?
T.G.: yeah
its like
i always seem to accidentally kill my cats or my half cat girls ummm
who are part sea princess and also an alien ghost
i dunno maybe this line o speculation has no particular coherence jane
after we go god tier you want to help me have a funeral for her G.G.: Of course, Roxy.
T.G.: i would like that i always wanted to go to a funeral is that weird? maybe thats weird i dont know i mean not like in an especially morbid or gothy kinda way i just think it would be cool to honor her memory
i never did that for frigglish but i should have shit jakes buggin me again brb

G.T.: Er roxy while youre at it...
Do you think you could relay the same sentiments to dirk?
I was thinking about all the stuff he said to me while we were all telling him to dance.
And yeah i was really being a prick when i ran away to lomax. He was right about everything. I should have come clean about wanting some space.

T.G.: dammit jake
after your whole bravery spiel you wanna relay double apologies thru me??
G.T.: I know! Im so terrible im sorry!!!
Im just not feeling up to those conversations yet.
My head is Killing me! Augh grandma why did your sweet skull based computing technology have to be such a Brain fucker!

T.G.: well i cant do it
G.T.: Why?
T.G.: cause im sort of kinda not talkin 2 dirk either
G.T.: Why not??
T.G.: cause of reasons
(sad face)
G.T.: Golly.
But you are talking to jane yes?
T.G.: ye
G.T.: Well...
Seeing as shes presumably talking to dirk...
And youre relaying my apology to her already...
Why dont you relay my apology to dirk through her?
T.G.: omfg jake jake no
lmao
G.T.: Why not!
Shed probably be a sport about it.
Hell they could probably bond over what an absolute douche muffin ive been to them both.
T.G.: El Sigh
look jake you squeezed a spanish sigh outta me are u happy
G.T.: And if theres some heavy business youre having trouble addressing with dirk in person you could get jane to relay him a message for you as well!
T.G.: aahahahaha jake jake i

ps douche muffin was his word not mine im being hellies impartial about all this G.G.: We were already sort of doing that!
T.G.: oh yeah?
G.G.: Wait, don't tell him that.
That would be mean spirited.
T.G.: hold up what are you and dirk saying
G.G.: Oh nothing.
T.G.: anything bout me
G.G.: No!
Just some stuff we should have talked about a long time ago.
T.G.: gotcha
oh also he wants me to tell you to give a message to dirk from me too while youre at it the crocker switchboard is Lighting up today
G.G.: Why does Jake want you to give Dirk a message through me??
T.G.: um because hes ridiculous?
G.G.: Do you actually Want to say something to Dirk, but can't at the moment?
T.G.: oh
uh
not really
G.G.: Hm??
T.G.: well
i.d.k.
G.G.: Wait, is Dirk not talking to you for some reason?
Is that why Jake suggested going through me?
Good gravy, this is getting complicated.
T.G.: no
well i mean
maybe he does got a bone 2 pick with me and dont wanna talk but im not sure mainly its that i cant bring myself to talk to him
G.G.: Why not?

And I didn't say anything at the time, but it made me wonder if I wasn't doing the right thing before.
By failing to point out you might have a problem? Or just going along with it and participating in lively banter any time you clearly had too much to drink?

thats pretty much what it was so i got out my bottle of moms slime and was all ready for the bestest most poignant reunion ever and thats when the juggalo struck and i just knew the witch had fucked me over Again cause what other hag is insane enough to get juggalos to do her dirty biz nigh exclusively??? no hags but her and i was so pissed and so distraught about that goddamn clown squandering my sprite so i got crazy drunk and felt the super sorriest for myself i ever did but little did i know there would be a lovely silver lining to the debacle

G.G.: Dear, sweet, precious Fefeta!
T.G.: (cat face)
she became a great friend

G.G.: Um. Yes! Let's say that's what it was.
T.T.: Have you and Roxy been talking?
G.G.: Yes.
T.T.: Is she pissed at me or something?
She won't talk to me.
G.G.: No, not at all.
T.T.: Then what gives.

G.G.: She was wondering the same about you.
T.T.: What?
G.G.: Are you disappointed in her?
T.T.: Why would I be?
G.G.: It seemed that way to her earlier.
When you chastised her for drinking again.

T.T.: Well, yeah. I was upset she fell off the horse.
Or the wagon. The horse wagon. Whatever.
The thing you ride around on when you ain't drinking.
But so what. There was cotton candy in her hair, and she was being stupid. What do you expect? It was a moment of indiscretion.
I'm not mad at her and I'm not disappointed in her. That's ridiculous.
Want to know what I really think of Roxy?

T.T.: I'm proud of her.
She's the only one of us who could face her problems and then get down to business and actually solve them.
No endless hand wringing or suffering in silence or any of that bullshit.
She saw she had an addiction. And then decided to fucking fix it. Just like that.
She's probably stronger than the other three of us put together.
T.T.: Remember way back before this started, we were talking. You and me.
And I was rambling at length about leadership, like I actually had a clue what I was talking about?
You said I would be the leader of our team, in name and in spirit.
Although I never really felt like it.
T.T.: Yeah. That's kind of the point.
I guess in a way, I was right. But not how I expected.

Next Next

pesterlog
T.T.: See, to be perfectly honest, we are a party of losers.
Heroes make shit happen. But that's not what we do, or what we're even Supposed to do.
We wait.
We wait for literally everything. We wait for other people to reach out first so we can fix our relationships. We wait for these legendary heroes to arrive and bring competence and promise to a futile situation.
Even now. Look at us. What are we waiting for?
To kill ourselves? For someone to come along and do it for us?
It doesn't even matter.
As the four nobles of the void session, we do what we were created to do.
We sit around on our asses.
Waiting.

Next Next

pesterlog
T.T.: We were all designated for a session that was utterly inert.
A place where the mechanisms for success never even existed to begin with.
In such a place it makes sense that the formal leader would be neutralized, to made feel unempowered and static.
And it seems particularly fitting she would be the noble of life in a realm of the dead.
A realm that foretold of a life player who felt lifeless, a hope player who felt hopeless, and a heart player who was just a stone cold motherfucker.
When we talked about leadership, and I was all on my high horse telling you how shit would go down...
I also said I would be the one "pulling the strings." Remember? That I'd be the functional leader of our party.
And there might have been something to that, in a different session.
But what good is a "man of action" in a place where action itself is intrinsically fruitless?
So it's occurred to me that by some tragic flaw in its design, our session was meant to be leaderless.
And I'd feel safe concluding that. Except for a feeling that's been gnawing at me.

Next Next

pesterlog
T.T.: It's the feeling that it would make perfect sense if a session like this had a dark horse leader.
A leader who was invisible to us all along. Fittingly, a void player to lead a void session.
She would be a leader not in name or in spirit or in function, whatever that means.
But more of an emotional leader, who would selflessly try to hold everyone together while the rest of us did our best to fall apart.
And Roxy has been that for us every step of the way, going unnoticed and unappreciated.
Think of how much shit she's had to put up with from all of us.
She never complains, never turns it around and makes it about her problems.
She just works her ass off making sure we all stay friends.
If that isn't a leader, I don't know what is.

[Image description: Again, the images combine, this time another six. The Condesce grins and flies along the chain of Derse, her hair trailing behind her. She still flashes with the billiard ball energy.]

pesterlog
T.T.: So that's how crazy it is for her to think I'm disappointed in her.
The truth is, she's the most amazing person I ever knew.
She's everything in a human being I wish I could be, but can't because I'm in my own way.
Honestly, I'm not even sure if I'm worthy of dying next to her.
I think she probably felt bad for hitting on me all those years. Like I was getting fed up with her, or something.
But all it really did was make me feel guilty.
That I couldn't give her what she wanted.

Next Next

pesterlog
T.T.: Like, settle down and have a couple weirdo goddamn kids with her some day.
I guess there were times I thought about it. Being all alone on Earth with her and stuff.
I couldn't though.
Have to stay true to myself.
Still, she would deserve it.
Nobody deserves to get all the things they always wanted more than she does.
And it suddenly seems kinda stupid that I think these things about her but she doesn't even know it.
I guess I should tell her all this some time.

G.G.: I think that would be nice.
Of course, she IS right there, you know.
T.T.: I know.
I'm a little reluctant to drop all that on her.
Looking at what I just said, it's...
Kind of overwhelming?
I feel like in a way you can destroy somebody with effusive praise.
Or maybe I'm just projecting how I would feel about that kind of intense positivity coming at me. I dunno.
But I still think confessions like that can change stuff between people. Like the way they act around each other.

G.G.: Maybe it's worth it?
T.T.: Maybe.
Or maybe it's better to just say...
Not so much of it?
Like all at once.
Maybe it'd be better for now if you could pass a short message to her for me.
If only to help kill this awkward silence between us.
G.G.: Like what?
T.T.: Could you just tell her,
I love her?
No wait!
I mean.
Not in that way though.
More like...
G.G.: Dirk, I know what way you mean!
Yeah.

G.G.: Dirk!!!

this is it. This is what we've been waiting for.
three of the longest human "years" we'll ever have to live for the rest of our lives.
sunk into this depressing laboratory which by all accounts should never have functioned as anything but our eternal tomb.
I have no idea how we're even supposed to stop this thing. Do you?
oh well, sending it blasting off somewhere at the speed of light sure seemed like a good idea at the time!
and now that we're finally here, after all the waiting and drama and boredom and stupid bullshit with our ancestral ghosts and even disregarding the one hilariously neglected detail that this meteor has no fucking brakes
I still don't think we're ready for this.

what are you talking about theyre on my legs
Karkat: I wasn't talking to you.
Dave: oh
Karkat: dave, we have a big problem here.
Dave: what
Karkat: I think it's time we had a... what did you call it?
an intervention?
Dave: for rose?
Karkat: no, not rose.
why would I be talking about rose?
she doesn't have a major problem that she needs to be confronted about by her friends before she flushes her whole life down the gaper, does she??
Dave: uh yeah kind of Karkat: why? Because she likes to drink that goofy human soporific that makes her a lot funnier and more charming than usual?
how is that a problem?
I was talking about terezi.
Dave: man terezi doesnt need an intervention she just drinks a lot of soda
Karkat: how can you not see how that is a huge fucking problem.
Dave: its red fizzy shitwater dude who cares
Karkat: ok, can we just once acknowledge that we are mutual aliens to each other and as such possibly have different values and standards about things??
Karkat: just this one time dave? Thanks!
Dave: terezi has made her choices among them was to begin guzzling untold liters of that putrid circus cola think of it as like a rite of passage like something that just goes with the territory when someone you know almost imperceptibly begins turning into a juggalo wait fuck maybe she does need an intervention Karkat: she needs to wake up so we can talk to her about this.
she won't wake up, what do I do.
Dave: did you try kicking her
Karkat: yes.
Dave: im out of ideas
Terezi: snoooore

Karkat: well, whenever she wakes up, we all need to have a serious talk about this.
if she's in this condition when we get to the new session, it'll be a goddamn embarrassment.
not to mention deadly! Need I remind you who's still following us? She doesn't look primed for battle from where I'm standing!
we need to act as a unified front, dave. We need to let her know that as her friends we can't stand by and watch her degrade herself like this.
Dave: man I dunno
sounds like you wanna make this needlessly melodramatic Karkat: stand by. I'm putting you on speaker crab.
Dave: speaker crab
Karkat: yes. Speaker crab.
Dave: man dont put me on speaker crab
Karkat: she needs to hear from you dave. She trusts you.
Dave: god
honestly she can do whatever she wants I put this all behind me a while ago why do you really want me in on this conversation is it just that you dont know what to say by yourself
Karkat: maybe it is dave!
maybe that's exactly what it fucking is.
I'm sorry. I'm not a "god tier".
I am not so fortunate as to be blessed with the "gift of gab" like you.
Dave: what
Karkat: that badge you earned. You know, the one that makes it easier to talk to people?
like, really open up about your feelings and say whatever needs to be said?
Dave: hahaha thats what you think that does?
Karkat: isn't it??
Dave: no dude thats not what gift of gab does Karkat: ok what does it do then wise guy!
Dave: its utility isnt really comprehensible to lowly mortals sorry Karkat: you snide chute huffer.
why don't you come up here so I can push you off this building?
Dave: nah
Karkat: I'm putting you on speaker crab, and then together we are going to keep it real as shit, do you hear me?

[Image description: The crab hops in place on the floor between Karkat and Terezi. It projects and image of Dave’s head.]

Dialoglog

Dave: what do you actually want from her do you want her to stop drinking faygo and falling asleep in puddles of red fructose corn slobber or do you want her to somehow address the root of those habits and cut all that out for good Karkat: yes! I want her to do that!
the latter thing.
Dave: yeah I can understand where youre coming from but in situations like this I think you need to remind yourself theres only so much you can do for somebody and maybe they aren't going to want or need your help and you just have to figure out how to deal with that like at some point in your life one of your friends might start spending all her time with a guy you think is bad news and you have to decide if you need to intervene as a friend or just let it go because people can change or drift apart or whatever because thats just something that happens Karkat: dave
your wisdom, my god
it's knocking my socks off. Holy shit, please tell me the secret to your wise ways.
and while you're at it, maybe you could tell me what the fuck you're talking about.
Dave: look all im saying is there comes a time in every young womans life when she has to come to terms with the decision to gradually morph into a juggalo while all her friends and loved ones watch in dismay terezi has strolled through the dark carnival and taken a great brooding whiff of that decision's festive asshole and the choice she has made is all too clear shes down with the clown Karkat: no, don't say that.
Dave: its true man
you can live in denial for only so long but as your bro I have to say it like it is she and gamzee man
that is literally a thing they are in the hate square together total kismespades dude
Karkat: no, that's not what I mean.
I mean, I know that.
just why do you have to put everything so "colorfully"?
I guess I do the same thing, but you always seem to take things to a different level of gross. Just please say shit normally for a change, ok.
regarding gamzee, yeah. I knew about that already.
oh
really?
then what the fuck have I been tiptoeing around all this time god damn
I thought this was supposed to be like this "big secret" that would "destroy you" if you found out Karkat: motherfucker, please.
do you think I'm an idiot? I've suspected this was going on for a long time.
I was just being like you, playing it cool, letting her do whatever.
Dave: then why is it a problem now Karkat: because this is the last straw! We're supposed to be ready for action by now.
not comatose, half naked and faygo sticky.
god, I wonder what sort of bullshit he's got her believing in now? About the mirthful messiahs and shangri la and all that garbage.
it makes me so sad to think she's caught up in his superstitious web of lies.
it's been awful watching the person I used to know slowly drift away from me, to the point where she might as well be gone.
how did you manage to deal with that?
Dave: what
Karkat: you and she used to see each other all the time. What happened?
Dave: like I said I just put it behind me she started sneaking around in vents and stuff acting suspicious trying to hide the fact that she was seeing him like she was obviously ashamed of it and worried how id react but it was hella transparent that was going on so I just said thats fine yall can do your blackrom thing with the juggalo its your decision but I cant keep playing along I cant do the quadrant thing its just too weird for me im not a troll and im not all open minded about gettin multicultural
I still dont understand the spades thing and it makes me really fuckin uncomfortable even trying to imagine how that works and I sure as fuck dont want to date anybody whos got a hate clown on the side so I said no hard feelings I still like you and all, do whatever makes you happy ill just be over here in the hyper gravity chamber training to beat lord english Karkat: we have a hyper gravity chamber???
Dave: no
Karkat: oh
Dave: but what about you haven't you been talking to gamzee this whole time or is he just balls out lying to you about sneakin around the meteor with terezi
I thought moirails were supposed to be open with each other about stuff like that Karkat: yeah. Uh.
gamzee ended our moirallegiance quite some time ago.
Dave: oh shit
sorry to hear about that Karkat: it's fine. It was really a dead end pale relationship.
at first it really seemed like I was a necessary part of his life, keeping his shit under control...
but as time went on he just got completely disinterested and wasn't keeping up with his end of the thing at all.
he started getting so unbelievably self satisfied and pious, like way more than he ever was before.
like he's just so completely convinced he's found his calling, that this session is the gateway to the promised land where he'll fulfill his destiny.
he's so caught up in his idiotic schemes he couldn't give a fuck about me anymore.
whatever. At least he stopped killing people.
Dave: amazing I spent three years on this rock and never said one thing to the guy
I saw him once tho
just a glimpse in a dark hallway it was kinda like seeing a blurry purple bigfoot with a huge boner Karkat: oh god!
that fucking god tier outfit.
what a goddamn faker. I can't for the life of me imagine where he got that thing.
I know kanaya sure as hell didn't make it for him.
the man literally has no shame.
Dave: why is he wearing it Karkat: I don't know!
I don't think even he knows.
maybe to make a "good impression" on his fake ass religious idol, after he thrusts his sacred cod piece through the gates of shangri la.
Dave: aahahaha the best thing we ever do together is slam this assholes dumb religion
Karkat: yeah!!!
Dave: really its the most hilarious fucking horseshit ive ever heard
I mean pretty much all religions are wrong but theres wrong and then theres wrong as in zero chance you are ever proven right about even a single thing dude, ever ever ever Karkat: hahaha! It's so true.
I wish I could see the look on his face when he finally realizes everything he believes is a lie.
Dave: be one sad clown that day his bulge will probably deflate and make this high pitch noise plus corresponding flatulence Karkat: hey dave.
what do you think will happen to us after we meet up with the others.
I mean, as friends.
Dave: what do you mean as friends
Karkat: I mean will we still get to be bros.
Dave: uh
yeah?
no offense dog but thats a dumb and neurotic question Karkat: no but see
we're going to meet all these other people.
john among them.
and john is your best friend, so you will ostensibly resume that friendship where you left off.
and john and I had a few testy conversations with each other one day, and in most of those I made a fool of myself.
and I guess we became friends that day? Maybe?? but the reality is it was just one day, and he'd be well within a reasonable frame of mind not to give a crap in hindsight about the guy who trolled him once three years ago.
and the same goes for jade!
I thought we had a decent rapport, but again, it was one day forever ago. She probably barely remembers me at this point.
whereas that doesn't matter for you, because you go way back with them. This is like a fucking heartfelt reunion for you guys.
but where does that leave me??
I can hardly call gamzee a friend anymore. Who knows if my friendship with terezi will ever be what it was before. I used to be pretty close with kanaya, but now she and rose never leave each other alone for more than a fucking minute.
all my other friends are dead, and now we're leaving the dream bubbles behind.
and then there's you.
so
I'm just wondering what happens next.
Dave: you forgot the mayor
youre pretty damn tight with the mayor arent you Karkat: the mayor's friendship is a universal constant, and I am insulted beyond comprehension as well as my capacity to vomit that you would insinuate otherwise.
Dave: yeah the mayor rules but as usual you are overcomplicating this just like you overcomplicate everything friendship leadership romance shipping grids and dick battles this is real simple our meteor will somehow tokyo drift to a dead stop in the new session at which point we will keep being bros for life or something I will start being friends with john and jade again because they are my friends and never stopped being that john will also be your friend because hes cool and also a doofus who is easy to be friends with jade will be your friend too cause shes nice and likes being friends with people
I can personally guarantee that she will be happy to see you and as for the new people I dont know about them but theyll probably be your friends too all I know is two of them are my parents and two of them are johns parents and aint no rule that says you cant be friends with your bros mom and pop especially when your bros mom and pop are a couple of sassy teens as for terezi I dont know I guess well see what happens and as for gamzee fuck that guy with a balloon poodle friendship lesson secured the end

Act 6 Intermission 5 Intermission 1

[Image description: Caliborn sits cross-legged on a red rock and smacks himself in the sides of the head repeatedly with both hands. He wears a helmet that looks like Jake’s skulltop, but Lil Cal-themed instead of cherub-themed. The eyes are on springs, making them bounce around whenever Caliborn hits himself. Behind him, there’s a skyline made of towers with onion-shaped tops like the ones on some Russian churches. Just behind Caliborn are two members of the felt, though their hats are pointed. Itchy, who is a short, skinny one with a yellow hat with the number 1 on it, quickly zips back and forth between two arbitrary points. Doze, who is a hunched over, slightly heavier set one with a blue hat with the number 2 on it, stands still off to the side.]

Caliborn: hey. You.
computer man. I need more help.
Hussie: no.
Caliborn: computer man. Assist me with more hot tips.
Hussie: no!
Caliborn: yes.
i'm having trouble understanding blue hat.
Hussie: this is a shameful exploitation of our arrangement.
we weren't supposed to talk anymore once you left earth.
Caliborn: i did not agree to those terms.
Hussie: every time we talk, you complain that I am being self indulgent.
but you always come back for more! It's like you can't get enough of me.
i think you might be obsessed.
Caliborn: give me more hot tips asshole.
Hussie: you only made that cal top so you could talk to me on the go, didn't you?
Caliborn: no.
Hussie: please, don't lie. Who else would you use it to talk to in your solo session? Gamzee?
i bet you haven't said one word to him through that device. You never even refer to him by his name.
Caliborn: the clown has been an adequate peon. When it comes to doing things I don't want to do.
Caliborn: there is no reason to speak to him through my fun helmet.
Hussie: you should try to be better friends with him.
he basically ditched his best buddy for you.
Caliborn: who cares?
Hussie: he reveres you, and you treat him like shit.
Caliborn: yes.
Hussie: so...
you're off to a pretty good start at being a god, I guess?
Caliborn: thank you.
look. I just said a polite thing.
now reward me with what I want.
Hussie: ugh.
Caliborn: yellow hat is very fast.
as a minion he has been very useful.
but I am having trouble determining the abilities of blue hat.
Hussie: yellow hat and blue hat?
you should come up with better names for them than that.
Caliborn: like what.
Hussie: like, I don't know.
maybe some cool mobster names?
Caliborn: mobster names.
why would I give them mobster names.
Hussie: because mobsters are cool.
Caliborn: they don't look like mobsters.
they look like fucking leprechauns.
Hussie: anyone can be a mobster though. Even cherubs and leprechauns.
being a mobster isn't about what you look like, it's about what's inside you.
Caliborn: wow. That is so profound.
now stop stalling and give me tips.
Hussie: are these the only two you've unlocked so far?
Caliborn: yes.
i have conquered the second planet.
and have now traveled to the third.
before I conquer this one. I would like to know what blue hat does.
Hussie: he's pretty much doing what he does.
Caliborn: he seems to be stuck.
is he broken.
Hussie: no. He's just slow.
Caliborn: what.
Hussie: that's his power.
yellow hat is fast.
blue hat is slow.
Caliborn: that's a horrible power.
how is that even a power.
Hussie: it just is.
Caliborn: argh.
i was looking forward to achieving more powerful minions.
not more malingering fools to take up space in my dark carnival.
do they get better than this.
Hussie: that depends on what you mean by better.
Caliborn: oh my god.
ok. We're done.
bye.

whatever it was it must have been important enough for jade to ditch us like this either that or maybe she was that desperate to finally get away from me between you and me john i didnt really handle things with her as well as i could have oh well maybe real dave will treat her better or not i dont know
i did her a favor cutting bird dave out of her life nobody really deserves bird dave as a boyfriend or a friend or anything its like getting one of the or one of the marked down daves the day after national dave day its like somebody taxidermized your dave and expected you not to notice "feathers what feathers haha no that dave is totally normal and ok" you should just go back to being bros with real dave when you see him ill be fine ill just flap around and do my thing alone im completely alright with that at this point we had our ups and downs john but all in all it was cool to go on this road trip with you there were some times man the times

im telling you they were unreal
i bet you people would pay good money to see every second of the madcap stunts that were going down on this ship basically 24/7
if hulls could talk wow
haha just joking it was seriously boring as hell but i mean it was still cool so yeah
hey
whats that ring anyway
ive seen you with that ring before and i guess i was just like ok john has a magic ring for some reason no need to mention that or anything but where did you even get it you cant even hear me you got your snooze on so hard aint gonna wake you up to hassle you about no ring
i probably should have said all this stuff when you were awake anyway

Hussie: ok.
Caliborn: i have now conquered four planets. And have the same amount of gnomes under my command.
Hussie: congratulations.
Caliborn: the planets are becoming increasingly difficult to conquer.
i almost did not manage to destroy the purple planet. Within the allotted time.
unfortunately. The quality of the unlocked gnomes has not increased to match the escalating difficulty of my quest.
it seems to be just the opposite. These gnomes are shit.
Hussie: what's wrong with the new gnomes?
Caliborn: ok. Red hat? He has.
no fucking powers at all.

Hussie: yes. That's basically what he does.
Caliborn: purple hat is even worse.
is his power to dance around all the time. While singing riddles to me?
Hussie: yes.
Caliborn: awful.
purple hat's behavior is so infuriating. I have attempted to murder him several times.
but to no avail.
Hussie: you can't kill purple hat. He's too lucky!
that's also his power. Being really lucky.
Caliborn: what good does that do me???
Hussie: i don't know.
get him to solve puzzles for you?
use him as a human shield sometimes?
i mean a gnome shield.
Caliborn: oh yeah. That's actually a really good idea.
Hussie: you shouldn't be whining about how lame your minions are.
as you accumulate more, your job is obviously to combine their talents in creative ways to overcome the increasingly difficult challenges on your quest.
synergize your time gnomes. Make them more than the sum of their pointy hats.
Caliborn: that's going to be difficult.
they are all idiots.
Hussie: nobody said it would be easy.
Caliborn: fine.
i have no more questions for now.
Hussie: hey.
did you kill that cute turtle?
Caliborn: no.
Hussie: but I can see your past trail.
you're standing there holding a gun, and pointing it at the turtle.
Caliborn: ok. Then yes.
i killed the turtle.

Vriska: Nice to see you again, John. It's been too long.
John: yeah...
actually hasn't it been exactly a year?
i think it was my birthday last time we met too, heh.
Vriska: A year for you, maybe. Who even knows how long it's been out here, but who cares.
The point is, as you can see the plan I described to you before is in full swing.
John: you mean the big treasure hunt, with all those black maps?
Vriska: Yes. but they aren't black anymore! Not totally.
Everything's gone exactly as I intended. English has taken the bait, hook line and sinker.
He's been chasing our "extended party" around the ring, blowing shit up with his monster breath, thus revealing the path to the treasure in the process.
I must say, for an evil mastermind, the guy is kind of a dope.
Supposedly his every move is a carefully calculated ploy to assure his existence in the first place, yet here he is wrecking the joint like an oaf, unwittingly helping the hero find the weapon that will finally take him down.
And we're almost there, too! Although by now it's become embarrassingly obvious that the treasure was hidden right around where we started all along.
These maps have just been leading us all in a big stupid circle!
I should have seen it coming. I guess that's my bad. In terms of bonehead moves, that's English: 1, Vriska: 1, so I guess we're even. but maybe we don't have to mention that detail when we document my heroism in the annals of greatness.
John: uh... mention what, exactly?
Vriska: Exactly!
Haha, I almost forgot how deceptively quick you are on the uptake, John.
Tavros: (that's not so impressive,)
(I was confused by what you were saying, too.)

Vriska: Tavros, if you're going to interrupt, don't mumble. And even then, don't. Anyway, I really don't mind the fact that these cryptic treasure maps have led us all on a wild honkbird chase.

I've never once complained about a good long treasure hunt, and I'm not about to start now. Besides, with the way spacetime works out here, who can say for sure we would be able to find the treasure at all unless we traced this exact path?

Nobody can say that, is who. Least of all English, who as far as I know, can't actually speak so much as issue blood curdling roars that cleave the foundations of reality itself.

You're of course welcome to join us on our adventure, for as long as you're asleep. We could use another hand on deck. I'll even give you a rank and title!

Tavros: you get to be lower than me,

that's the fairest rule,

Vriska: Wrong.

Tavros, who's the captain here?

Last time I checked, it wasn't Swabby Nitram, Poopmaster Extraordinaire.

Tavros: (sad face with bull horns)

Vriska: These are my friends, Aradia and Sollux.
I have recruited them for this expedition as specialists.
They aren't really here to do any fighting, but their abilities will become useful once we retrieve the treasure.
Aradia: hello.
John: hey.
are you alive?
your eyes do not look spooky and ghostly.
Aradia: thanks!
yes im alive
Vriska: Yeah, and apparently she intends to stay that way?
Hence her principled if somewhat lame commitment to pacifism.
but considering our history together, I'm willing to let bygones be bygones. I'm happy to have her on my crew in whatever capacity she likes.
John: your history? what happened?
wait, that's a rude question. sorry.
Tavros: (vriska killed her too,)
(she used the other guy there, tragically, as the death weapon,) Vriska: Hey!!!!!!!
What did I say about bygones being bygones? That's like rule fucking One of this ship.
Anyway, she became a robot and killed me back, so obviously we're cool now.
John: jeez, why does everyone always die so much?
Sollux: (lol, like this guy's one to talk.)
Aradia: (sollux dont make our guest uncomfortable) Sollux: (he's already uncomfortable, and he should be. we all should be.)
Aradia: really i havent thought about any of that in a long time ancient conflicts dont mean anything to me anymore but i was more than thrilled by the opportunity to go on another adventure like this we used to enjoy such campaigns together all the time when we were younger of course now the teams are a little different (smiley face) Vriska: Yeah! Man, those were the days.
John: what about you... why do you have double eye patches?
Sollux: uh, because i'm blind, stupid?
John: i can't tell if you're alive too or not, because i can't see if your eyes are spooky.
Sollux: they're spooky as shit, but yes, i'm alive.
ok, here's the short version. i used to be able to see, but then i went blind.
then i used my powers too hard, and died. but it turned out i was only half dead.
John: half dead?
Sollux: let me finish. so the ghost half of me could see again, so i was only half blind.
but then somebody prototyped my corpse, which i guess sucked the ghost half of me out of my body, to make me fully alive again? also fully blind.
and now the ghost part of my soul is sharing a sprite body with Fucking Eridan of all people.
John: who's eridan?
Sollux: just the douche who blinded me in the first place, it doesn't even matter.
John: um, alright. but i don't think i quite followed all of that.
what does being half dead mean?
Sollux: you know, forget it.
i'm so sick of telling this story to people over and over, and nobody understanding what the hell i'm talking about.
it's all so simple. no, actually, it isn't, it's a fucking stupid story that makes no sense, maybe that's the problem.
my marginal existence is fraught with so much pointless duality and complicated nonsense, so i'm done even trying to explain it.
from now on i should just wear a shirt that says don't ask me about my disability or my mortality.
then everything would be fine.
Vriska: It's really kind of a shame Gamzee prototyped Eridan's torso parts and swiped his ghost from the afterlife.
I bet he would have had a great time on this voyage. I used to own him during our nautical campaigns all the time!
Sollux: if he was on this ship, i'd walk the plank and plummet through the fake ass water through infinite nowhere forever.
besides you act like you haven't already recruited at least fifty fucking eridans from doomed timelines in your army.
you really are shamefully prejudiced against our alternate reality ghost selves, they're just as real as we are and have the same emotions and everything.
Vriska: Gimme a break, Sollux. As if you don't view them the exact same way.
You've got real Eridan, and then pretty much a whole bunch of pretenders out there.
Sollux: they're all real!!! Shit, i don't even Like eridan, but here i am sticking up for his copies.
Vriska: See? You just called them copies. Even you can't avoid accidentally using a problematic slur which reveals that no matter what you believe about your morals, deep down you're always gonna favor the original, while viewing all the others as duplicates of lesser value.
Sollux: oh whatever. just Whatever, rationalize the "collateral damage" to your army all you want.
and to think, before i joined your party i heard rumors that you might have changed, like learned to be a better person or something, Heheh, yeah right!
Vriska: Oh pleeeeeeeeasee. I hardly think I'm a bad person for failing to give a shit about a billion meaningless dead Nepetas, do you?!
Sollux: no, you're not a bad person for That Particular reason, i guess.
Vriska: What am i seriously supposed to do? Fly around and befriend each one individually?
Sorry, I have better things to do with my time. Let's try to be at least somewhat practical here.
Aradia: ive met most of those nepetas theyre all very nice but like, on boats.

John: isn't an army on boats usually called a navy?
Vriska: John, help me out. I seem to be having trouble remembering which one of us is the captain.
Was it the dork in blue pajamas, or was it the veteran sailor in the rad captain's coat?
That's right, the captain was me! And I say it's an army that happens to be on a bunch of boats.
Tavros: (ohhhhhh, ooh damn,)

(meenah, did you catch those sick fires,)

John: you mean fighting lord english?
Vriska: When we're ready for that, yes. but we need the treasure first.
So for now they're sailing well ahead of us in large numbers to attract his attention, so he can do more damage to the ring and fill out the rest of our maps.
We should be very grateful for their bravery. They are making a noble sacrifice for us all.
Tavros: (bravery, yeah, right,)
(i'm mostly sure she's mind controlling them,) Vriska: God Dammit, Tavros.
We really don't need your play by play commentary on everything!
John: wait, you're mind controlling all those ghosts?
Vriska: No!
Well, not all of them.
Once you group enough together, others tend to latch on to the mob out of curiosity. We trolls have a way of clustering together naturally.
You've got to understand, John. Most of these people are pretty self absorbed. They just needed a little bit of persuasion to join the cause.
Meenah: word
John: yeah, but...
isn't that still kind of, um...
dickish?
Vriska: but all these stubborn jackasses are going to double die anyway if we don't all work together and kill this guy!
This is War, John. In times of war, difficult decisions have to be made with the lives of many.
Just think of me as a general giving orders to my troops. It just happens that the orders are a little more direct in this case.
Meenah: hey serket deuce lets not lose track a whos actually in charge of this shit mkay Vriska: Yeah yeah.
All hail Her Imperious Teen Condescension, the fresh new face of tyranny, Supreme Admiral Peixes.
At this time I would like to motion for a fifteen minute bowing break so that we may demonstratete

Vriska: Tavros, stop bowing. That was a joke.

Meenah: no keep doin that lower swabby

Lower

face on the fuckin deck

yes just like that perfect

John: how do you mind control so many ghosts at once?

isn't that kind of hard?

Vriska: Well, I do have a little help.

John, did I mention?

My ancestor........

She is The Best.

John: she is?

Aranea: I must admit, I was not in favor of the idea at first.

but Vriska made a very strong case for using our combined powers in this way.

In a perfect reality, no one would have to get hurt. but the stakes are too high to be shying away from such measures.

Vriska: See what I mean??

The best.

John: uh.

Aranea: It has been wonderful spending so much time on this adventure with my descendant.

Not just because it's helped me get to know her better, but because it's opened my eyes to things about myself I was never really in touch with.

There are certain capabilities within me I have never quite been able to face, and she's helped me realize I've been hiding from them all my life, and well beyond.

It must be true what they used to say on my world. That if you really want to know who you are,

look to the legacy left behind by your ancestor.

I think that wisdom works in both directions!

Vriska: Well put, Marquise. I've always felt the exact same way!

Meenah: Puke

oh my glub the serk twins bein adorbubble again

nitram get your mop ready for swabbin up all this vomit comin out ma mouth

Tavros: ew, no,

Meenah: can you two stick a fork in the sentimental carp

maybe pretend you aint hit it off so good you ever stop and think how this makes me feel Aranea: There's no reason to be jealous, Meenah. You know nothing has changed about our friendship.

Meenah: jealous

bitch no

just makes me think about my kid descendant an how instead of having this cool friendsy relation with her i just got this uncontrollable urge to stab her to death so she dont threaten my supremacy which is a shame cuz she so cute (frowny face wearing a tiara and goggles) cod damn my royal blood and the cray junk it makes me have to do aw well

maybe some day ill find an heiress who my genes dont instinctively make me wanna murder on sight

then i can teach her the badass ways of being a boss n shit!

look at that its like me and him are becoming fast fronds thus lulling him into a sense of false confidence already
John: what?
Meenah: (soon my lil whale...)
(soon...)
Aranea: It is true. To a human, the ways of trolls from both Alternia and Beforus will seem very strange.
In fact, prior to uniting in the afterlife, even the two groups of trolls were reasonably alien to one another.
I've had a great deal of time to study the cultures of many species throughout paradox space. No matter which race you belong to, one can always find another whose ideals pose a challenge of comprehension to even the most open minded.
And though the ethical standards of those from Alternia may seem unpalatable to you, rest assured there are beings elsewhere in the cosmos whose violent behavior would be considered extreme even to most trolls.

There was a very mysterious alien race called cherubs.
but there was one cherub in particular who, for at least the first half of our story, will be our heroine.

dialoglog
Aranea: She spent eons roaming her galaxy, completely alone. but the time had come for her to find a mate.

This is no small task for a cherub. being an asocial species, they spend virtually no time in each other's presence at all. Aside from when it is time to mate, they may go their entire lives without encountering another. And so they scatter their numbers throughout space, each staking a territory spanning many light years.

but like a predator is able to track the scent of its prey, a cherub can sense the presence of another nearby. This sense is especially strong if that cherub shares the same qualities its other half once had long ago, before it experienced the maturation process known as predomination.

[A6I5] Next

[Image description: In the center of a massive, starry expanse, a red spiral and a green spiral intertwine. The green spiral fades away, then fades back in. The red spiral then does the same. The stars behind them take on a red or green tint depending on which one is fading in at the time.]

dialoglog
You see, when a young cherub hatches, it would appear that only one creature has begun its life.
but the appearance is not to be trusted. The young cherub actually consists of two completely distinct beings, a male and a female each sharing one body. The two halves are endowed with polar opposite predispositions as well. One predisposed toward malevolence, another toward benevolence. Good or evil, if you prefer to deal in simplistic terms, or at least those which are convenient for the sake of this story! I prefer to view the dichotomy as a kind of moral alignment, like an attribute that dictates the choices a character makes in certain types of games I used to play. The male and female halves can be aligned either way, as long as they differ from each other. The resulting conflict between the two personalities is central to life as a cherub, both before and after predomination.

Shortly after hatching, the two halves begin vacillating, taking turns controlling the body. The only physical differentiation between the two is the coloration of their cheek swirls, which indicates alignment. There is otherwise no way to tell male and female apart before a cherub predominates. The vacillation process is demarcated by sleep. When the male goes to sleep, the female wakes up. And when the male wakes up, again the female sleeps. And so it goes, back and forth like this, as the two identities vie for dominance over the other, and ultimately, permanent control over the body. They grow to detest one another, and develop a view of social interaction centered entirely around animosity and confrontation. For good cherubs, this readies them for a long life of isolation, as they will prefer to avoid the sort of conflict that comes with social interaction as they have been conditioned to understand it. but for evil ones, the contentious upbringing only serves to fuel their inclination to harm others.

And though this duality makes for a tormented childhood, the inner conflict it creates is an extremely important part of a young cherub's life. The defining part, actually. It is the struggle a cherub must overcome to mature, and this process culminates in predomination.

One half will prove to have a stronger will than the other. The less dominant half will then weaken over time, and it will eventually become clear to both that one will not survive. The dominant personality will then completely consume the other, integrating it in such a way that only one is left. The cheeks will become solidly colored, and the cherub will grow to maturity as a single being, endowed with the alignment of the dominant half, and with all his or her personal qualities at the forefront of the union.

In the case of our heroine, she was the good half, and the day of her predomination was in a sense the day her brother died. And though it was to her benefit and personal growth, because of this loss she would always live with a sense that something was missing. Every sexually mature cherub lives with this feeling. It drives them to seek out another cherub similar to the half they lost, the part of their being which they grew up in perpetual conflict with. The desire to travel the universe in hopes of reigniting that conflict is very important to their species. It's the force which compels them to procreate.
So she set out to track his scent, as it were. And soon, she found a physical trail as well. A path of carnage left behind by a particularly destructive male cherub. She followed the debris from civilized worlds and star systems he left behind, as if to mock her, to make it clear he knew of her pursuit and was all but paving her way with the dead. His brutality made her more furious, thus setting the mood, so to speak, for their imminent courtship.

A cherub of his alignment is seemingly motivated by little other than to conquer and destroy. From a bioexistential perspective, they behave somewhat like viruses attacking the system from within. but as with all symbiotic organisms living within a universe, there are balancing factors. While those inhabiting an evil cherub's territory will regard it as an unpredictable tyrant, those in the territory of a good cherub will likely come to view it as a protector, waiting quietly for millenia in deep space, ready to attack any encroaching threat. In that sense, they are not unlike cells in a universal immune system.

[A6I5] Next

This balance of forces allows stability, such that life and new civilizations can blossom and thrive within a universe, thus assuring the possibility of its own elaborate procreation process. but if that balance was ever disturbed, it would lead to chaos in that biosystem. The universe could not survive for long. And if by some means a cherub with such destructive tendencies were to achieve unprecedented power, the resulting imbalance would be catastrophic for paradox space itself. And though the heroine of our story could have no way of knowing, this is exactly what would result from the pursuit of her kismesis.

[Image description: The green-cheeked cherub flies towards a black hole with a mass of red stars surrounding it.]

dialoglog

Like humans, cherubs perceive romance through only one quadrant. Unlike humans, their relationships are exclusively black. but their mating ritual is much more violent than any practice trolls would, or even physically could engage in. And though it is critical to the perpetuation of their race, the confrontations can sometimes be lethal to one or both cherubs. Regardless of the outcome, the stakes are always high. The winner of the duel will assume control of the other's territory, while the loser will slink away to bear the offspring. So as she toured the planetary wreckage, she knew her quest for a mate was not just about the propagation of her species, but the liberation of billions from a monster.

She pursued him for many sweeps with mounting obsession, until one day the trail came to an end at a black hole. Cherubs typically seek out black holes as the setting for their mating ritual, but not any black hole. Once long ago it was a star, and circling that star was a planet. That planet was home to one of the presently sparring cherubs. The male in this case returned to the site of his hatching to mate, a location now conspicuously occupied by a truly massive black hole.

This was where she found him. And this was where they would duel.

While an adult cherub is a fearsome creature, and would be a formidable opponent to anyone in its unaltered state, this is not the form in which they do battle with each other. The ritual is more extreme and physically demanding than any other kind of courtship or duel in the universe. The moment they meet, they will both undergo a dramatic metamorphosis.

The mates will then duel as two vast frightening serpents, each an astronomical unit in length.

The tangled struggle between the green A.U.s is exceedingly brutal and can last for sweeps. While dueling in such a monstrous form, their energy is inexhaustible. The transformation taps into the cherubs' latent connection with the enigmatic forces presiding over all that is eternal, and permeating all those endowed with immortality. Normally this power is only accessible to them during mating. In this form, they are only able to be injured by one another, and are otherwise indestructible. Hence the ritual can never be stopped by an outside force until it is complete.
that briefly appeared in the swirled sucker as the red and green ones merged to make it.

It should come as no surprise that in this story our heroine was victorious. Upon defeating her mate she initiated the interlocking formation to complete the coupling, while assuming the dominant position, a stance undetectable to all but the most astute observers of the zoologically dubious. Consequently, the male was fertilized with the young.

He then slithered away in disgrace from the territory he'd just lost. A cherub looking to nest will search for a dead planet situated near a massive dying star. The egg is deposited on the planet's surface, and the rising temperature from the expanding red giant will incubate the egg until it is ready to hatch. Later in life, the cherub will grow wings, assuming it has matured properly. And if it has learned to fly well enough to reach a safe distance from the nest before the star goes supernova, soon the hungry cherub will return and feast on the resulting stellar energy. Doing so allows it to gain enough strength to travel great distances, and claim its own territory. The star will then collapse into a black hole, serving as a distinct gravitational beacon to the cherub later in life, so it may return there to mate.

As it happens, our heroine's mate discovered Earth, long after it had journeyed to a new sun, and long since new civilizations had risen and fallen. Now on the brink of destruction from its dying star, its barren accommodations were ideal for a young cherub. There he deposited his single egg and flew away, never to return. No cherub ever spawns more than one offspring at a time, for it is every cherub's destiny to grow up alone. Or alone on the outside, at least.

[A6I5] Next

[Image description: The egg lands, creating a massive crater in red dirt. A shitty, jpeg artifacted statue of liberty catches fire nearby, as does much of the landscape. The fire flashes the colors of billiard balls.]

dialoglog
From that egg hatched one very special cherub with two names - one that few will ever know, and one that few should ever say. A fascinating thing about cherub reproduction is how the parent's alignment is passed on to the young. If the male lays the egg, the alignments of the child's two halves will be the same as the parents. If the female lays the egg, the alignments will be flipped, and the young male and female halves will be endowed with opposite alignments of the parents. As such, the male half took after his father. Perhaps the son even exceeded him in violent tendencies. It is hard to imagine there has ever been a cherub more willfully destructive or as stubbornly dedicated to conquest than the monstrosity he would grow up to become.

[A6I5] Next
Due to his indomitable nature, I believe victory over his sister was a foregone conclusion. barring a highly improbable glitch in causality, it would be almost impossible for her to predominate over someone like him. And even so, he didn't have the patience to wait. Unfortunately for everyone to ever exist, he discovered a way to predominate early. Yet it was not this act alone that would prove ominous, so much as the means through which it was achieved. He was allowed to become the solo player of a game which his kind was never meant to play.

And so, it is with the predomination of her son that our heroine's story ends, and the story of our villain begins.

Aranea: but this game was never meant to be played solo.
Its format is inherently cooperative. The diversity of players, the combination of their efforts and aspects, this is what awakens the true creative potential of the game. Without them, a session will wither and die.
If one enters alone, it completely alters the nature of the game. It changes its purpose.
For a solo player, a challenging quest becomes an insurmountable one. A reward of infinite promise becomes a boon far more sinister.
The gauntlet which the player must overcome is seemingly designed to be impossible. For all intents and purposes, it is not actually a game at all. It is a death sentence for any player foolish enough to accept the challenge.
but it bears repeating.
This was a very special cherub.

Aranea: No denizen has ever been mistaken for pleasant company, but the self-proclaimed god of all monsters is notoriously inhospitable to his players. His choices are known for their wild extremes.
And to this player, in this session, he offered his most extreme choice of all. It was the choice between a path of conquest, and a path of sacrifice. But this is putting it lightly.
In a tongue only his player could understand, he described what the path of the martyr entailed. In short, it involved nothing. The player chooses to walk away from the temptation of power. To surrender all ambition, and to welcome death.
In exchange for this pledge comes a promise. The player's sacrifice is assured to benefit all who will ever live. In death, the player would later be in the position to help bring an end to a force of unfathomable evil and destruction. A force which was unleashed, for instance, by someone who once opted for the other choice.
Yaldabaoth then described what it meant to choose the path of the conqueror.
It was a path for a more active player, to be sure. The player's mettle as a conquering force would be tested directly, and repeatedly.
One by one, he would have to conquer and destroy a number of planets spawned for him in the session. Each would be more difficult than the last. After destroying them all, his true land would become unlocked.
He would then return to face his denizen again, and defeat him in combat. If successful, his reward would be unprecedented. He would receive the boon of unconditional immortality, where resurrection would not be linked with the just or heroic nature of death.
It is unclear how this boon would be awarded, since to my knowledge it is beyond even the ability of a denizen to allow this. But through whatever mechanism the boon is bestowed, immortality is only the beginning. The player is somehow also imbued with a limitless supply of power. Enough to destroy anything he wanted, for as long as he wanted.
And knowing the villain of our story, anything he wanted would be everything. And as long as he wanted would be forever.
Yes, knowing our villain, the choice he would make is quite clear. Knowing him, in fact, proves it could hardly be considered a choice at all.

Aranea: Skaia would undergo a dramatic transformation, becoming even darker and heavier.

[Image description: Skaia explodes, sending out what looks like a galaxy of stars and several large, colorful spheres.]

dialoglog
Aranea: The resulting explosion is known as the First break. From the primordial blast would emerge fifteen planets for the player to conquer. They would scatter and ricochet at high velocity before settling into orbit in the medium. The break is a very violent phenomenon though. Not all planets will necessarily clear the blast before the Skaian debris settles into its final state.

[A6I5] Next

[Image description: Three of the spheres, which now look like billiard balls, fall into a black hole. They are the maroon one, the red striped one, and the green striped one.]

dialoglog
Aranea: The vast amount of resulting matter then collapses into a black hole. Its gravitational pull is tremendous. Any object within range will be sucked in and destroyed. Those planets which settle into orbit will be safe, for the time being. But in the case of our villain's session, three of the planets did not make it and fell back into the hole. This was a very lucky break for him!

[A6I5] Next

[Image description: Twelve billiard balls orbit around the black hole that was once Skaia. In the upper right, a little ways beyond their orbit, is Earth. Caliborn’s ophiuchus symbol flashes over it. The billiard balls are about a quarter the size of earth. From 12 o’clock going clockwise, they are the maroon stripe, yellow, blue, red, purple, orange, green, black, yellow stripe, blue stripe, purple stripe, orange stripe, and maroon stripe.]

dialoglog
Aranea: It meant that he would only have to conquer twelve planets instead. This bit of good fortune could very well have been the difference which allowed him to overcome a nearly impossible challenge. His task was to destroy all of these planets in order, each within a time allowance that gets shorter with every planet. To destroy a planet, first it must be conquered. He would have to overcome all forces of resistance on the planet, and ultimately defeat whatever powerful underling ruled there. Then, much like he did to unlock the quest in the first place, he would have to travel to the planet's core. There he would retrieve a bomb, and return to the surface. If he did not accomplish this in time, the bomb would detonate in the core, and the game would be lost automatically. The bomb is not powerful enough to destroy the planet alone. In fact, its purpose is not to damage the planet at all, but to move it.
dialoglog
Aranea: So he must bring it to a designated location on the surface. When it explodes, the planet will be knocked out of orbit, and sucked into the hole. Of course he must make sure he has moved on to the next planet before this happens!

dialoglog
Aranea: He repeats this process for each planet until they are all gone. There is one caveat though. He must skip the eighth planet. If he sinks that one before any of the others, it will result in the destruction of the entire session. Thus it must be the final planet he conquers.

dialoglog
Aranea: Upon destroying the eighth planet, his true land will reveal itself. The dead planet will come to life, and there he must prepare for battle with his denizen. He may sharpen his combat skills, craft new weaponry, anything he can do to improve his chances against a very powerful end game foe. Fortunately for him, he would not have to face the monster alone. By then he will have accumulated a party of loyal minions.

dialoglog
Aranea: With each planet he destroys, he will be awarded a new leprechaun follower. Even if a planet was destroyed in the break, he will still be awarded that planet's leprechaun upon destroying the planet preceding it. Sort of like a two for one deal!
John: wait.
leprechauns??
Aranea: Yes, John!
I'm delighted to see you have pounced on what is clearly the most interesting part of the story thus far. Leprechauns are a fascinating mythical race, although there is some dispute among scholars as to whether they are actually a breed of gnome.
John: ...
Aranea: I can't say I blame you for being speechless. There are no doubt hundreds of questions swirling in your head at once about these wonderful creatures. Where do I even begin? You must forgive me, I find it very difficult to resist going on at length about them. I just think they are so great.

For instance, I can and have given lectures for weeks at a time on their marvelous and widely varying magical abilities.

More intriguing yet would be any medium-to-longform harangue on the topic of their culture and customs, most of which revolve around luck.

but most captivating of all, and the subject upon which I will now assiduously expound, would be the positively scintillating subject of leprechaun romance.

Aranea: The problem is that when the subject of leprechaun romance is broached, our overly obsessive troll intellects instantly assume the most ingratiating posture of admiration imaginable. Which makes it hard! Hard to give it proper academic focus I mean, because of how great it is. but we will do our best to understand regardless.

Trolls have only four forms of romance. And though we consider it a complicated subject, spanning a wide range of emotions, social conventions, and implications for reproduction, it is ultimately a superficial slice of what leprechauns consider the full body of romantic experience.

Our concept of romance, in spite of its capacity to fill our art and literature and to rule our individual destinies like little else, is still just that. A single, quaternary concept. A concept usually denoted by four symbols.

(heart) (spade) (diamond) (club)

Leprechaun romance is more complicated than that. Leprechaun romance needs nine symbols. The nine quadrants of leprechaun romance are considerably more nuanced than our quaint notions of romance, and certainly more alien.

In fact, so conditioned is my own understanding of romance that I can't help but refer to them as quadrants, when in fact they are not quadrants at all! They are referred to as charms.

One of the charms is characterized by romantic love, as understood by both trolls and humans. but after that, all bets are off. There is no division between black or red, concupiscent or conciliatory. Instead their charms comprise a spectral continuum of more subtly varying types of relationships, most of which are established in mutual chicanery, such as the exchange of pranks, coy riddles, slapstick shenanigans, and games of chance. Furthermore, a pair of leprechauns is not limited to a single charm. A relationship may be defined by multiple charms at once! In fact, some of the most interesting relationships arise from exotic charm combinations. A stable relationship consisting of three or more charms is called a trove. These advanced relationships are often viewed as the ideal end result for a romance, much the way certain pairing rituals are for humans.

No charm is specifically tied to procreation, though any type of relationship could begin waxing concupiscent if lady luck should so decide. Certain charm combinations are known to be more conducive to fertility than others. If the leprechaun pair has been so blessed, they will begin an elaborate coupling procedure culminating in a lively mating jig. The jigs are specific to the charms of course, similar to how different kinds of music lend themselves to various styles of dance.
While their romance is endlessly captivating, leprechaun reproduction may be the most interesting subject of all. Particularly from a perspective of detailed anatomical study, which I will get to shortly. But first it bears pointing out that while for humans reproductive relationships are exclusively heterosexual, and for trolls they are bisexual, for leprechauns they-

Vriska: Mindfang, have I told you how great it's been to get to know each other, and team up on adventures and stuff?
I really feel like you've helped me get in touch with my ancestral roots. Mainly as a kickass storyteller.
It was like this whole part of my personality I was never aware of. Like the part that's compelled to just outright explain tons of really interesting things to people, while sparing no detail whatsoever. It's made me feel a lot closer to understanding my aspect, as well as closer to you. So I just wanted to say, thanks!
Aranea: Aw, you're welcome!
I feel the exact same way about my time with you.
You have really helped me get in touch with the true pirate within. I saw in you the adventurous spirit I always wished I could be.
You helped me finally understand the virtue in rationalizing questionable decisions, and behaving unscrupulously for the greater good!

Terezi: you know...
vriskas ancestor?
the friendly one who tells long stories
Karkat: oh yeah.
her.
I don't know, I can't keep all these ghost names straight.
fliptuna? Meowlin...
wasn't there a carlos?
fuck it. They were all named carlos as far as I'm concerned.
wait. Except meenah. She was alright. A little forward, but... whatever, this isn't the point.
all I remember about my interactions with the serket girl was getting cornered into these ludicrous monologues, then racking my brain for excuses to get the hell out of there.
Terezi: yeah well
I was a little more tactful than you and actually listened and let her talk me into something I shouldn't have (frowning face with furrowed brows) Karkat: so she was just like poof!
and suddenly your eyes were better?
Terezi: yes
Karkat: what is she, some sort of magic fairy??
Terezi: um. Yes?
thats kind of literally what she is Karkat: oh
alright, I guess her story checks out then.
good for her.
but this doesn't seem like you terezi. I mean, I didn't think you even wanted your eyesight back?
I've never met anyone as chuffed about her own disability as you. I was always under the impression you felt like it was a big part of who you are?
Terezi: it was!!!
the moment she healed me I knew I made a terrible mistake
but I couldn't take it back
I thought about it like just blinding myself again and pretending it never happened
but even the way it happened originally was something special to me I can't duplicate that and even if I could it still wouldn't be the same
I can't seem to forgive myself for being so stupid for some reason I thought it was a good idea to take the only cool and unique thing about myself and "fix" it what was I thinking?
Karkat: whoa whoa
the only cool thing about you?
terezi. I want to be understanding, but I can't get behind some of the shit you're saying about yourself here.
what made you start unraveling like this?
Terezi: I think it was when we started meeting our ancestors and I thought they were all cooler and older and more interesting than us even though they probably weren't?
they had a lot of problems and insecurities too but I guess the kind that older kids have, and when you're younger you don't really recognize them as problems you look at those things as just part of what it's like being someone who's more interesting and grown up than you maybe since I'm not as young anymore I guess I can see that now but I was stupidly awestruck by some people who were not so impressive in retrospect and I made a dumb mistake Karkat: wait. We met all those people like... kind of a long time ago?
how long have you been hiding this from everyone?
Terezi: I don't know
a year or something?
and I wasn't hiding it
I just didn't tell anybody
Karkat: yeah! That's what hiding it means.
Terezi: but you usually can't see my eyes anyway!
cause of my glasses?? Duh Karkat: I know, but not telling anybody that is still being pointlessly secretive!
you could have said, hey karkat, I fucked up and now I can see again. Maybe we can talk about this so I don't go into a tragic downward spiral and make you worry about me for no reason!
Terezi: im sorry!
I should have
but I was so ashamed
Karkat: and what about this clandestine blackrom nonsense you've got going on with gamzee?
Terezi: what?
Karkat: have you been dating him for just as long?
was he involved in that decision??
like, did he help talk you into healing your eyes or something?!
Terezi: how did you know we were dating!
did he tell you?
Karkat: oh my god. Terezi, you are a fucking catastrophe.
you used to be like, cunning? And considerably more intelligent than me, which I have no problem admitting.
but this is ridiculous. Even if I didn't figure it out myself, which I did because it was obvious, you are up here on the roof lying unconscious in a pile of honk horns and faygo bottles.
I am not a master of deduction, but unless you were recently stomped on by some sort of golem composed of garbage from a circus, it seems fair to say you are officially down with the clown.
Terezi: uuugh
ok
yes
its true (frowning face with a round nose and furrowed brows) Karkat: well? What do you have to say about it.
Terezi: I couldnt get up the nerve to tell you about that either in a way, im even more disgusted with myself for dating that asshole than I am for healing my eyes.
Karkat: then why are you doing it!
Terezi: I dont know!
I cant bring myself to stop seeing him every time I think I cant stomach the sight of his ugly face for another second he pulls me back in he is just so aaaawful

Terezi: I want him to be out of my life
he is the worst thing thats ever happened to me
but
I guess you cant help who you hate
Karkat: this is killing me, hearing this.
I seriously want to weep actual puke out of my eyeballs from this story.
how did this happen???
I've got to say, I didn't see it coming. If you told me sweeps ago you and he...
I wouldn't believe it. Like if the writing was on the wall there, I sure as fuck didn't read it.
Terezi: yeah, it snuck up on me it didn't help that he terrorized us when we were hiding from jack right under my nose too somehow I didn't put the pieces together at the time and let him get away with murder and gradually I started having these uncontrollable thoughts about him dark thoughts and when I would catch a whiff of him in the corridors, like he was taunting me, that just fanned the flames
then we started talking shit with each other more and more and he was so much nastier than he ever used to be! Way more than any of our friends ever were one time he started mocking my blindness which never bothered me when anyone else did it but somehow, the stuff he said...
I let it get under my skin and combined with meeting a lot of new people I felt like I couldn't live up to that's when I started reconsidering aranea's offer Karkat: I knew it!
I knew he must have had something to do with that decision. That slimy bastard.
this is mostly my fault. I wasn't vigilant enough with him, and I let our moirallegiance break down.
if I kept a closer eye on him, maybe he wouldn't have lured you into his spinning tent of shit.
Terezi: no, you shouldn't feel like...
Karkat: or maybe it's kanaya's fault? She's always been a really good auspistice. Maybe she could have prevented this, if she wasn't so preoccupied herself.
no wait! It's actually my fault again! If I had been on the ball and auspisticized between her and rose, she would have had the time to auspisticize between you and gamzee!
dammit, I always say I know so much about romance, yet I routinely underestimate its complexity, so I only figure out what to do after it's way too late!
god I'm so stupid stupid stupid stupid Terezi: blarg shut up!
it's no ones fault but mine!
im the one who has to deal with it Karkat: yeah ok.
for what it's worth, he'll probably just break it off and leave you once we get to the new session. all his loyalties and priorities are totally warped now. I'm not sure what he really cares about anymore, but it sure isn't any of us.
Terezi: you think
he will leave me?
Karkat: yeah. I do.
Terezi: sob!!!
Karkat: whoa, what??
isn't that what you want?
Terezi: no!
id be devastated if he just suddenly ditched me like that Karkat: ok, help me out!
you're confusing me here.
Terezi: id feel pathetic!!!
and I guess
a sick and terrible part of me doesn't want him to go but if he does I want it to be because I tell him its over!
Karkat: wow.
Alright, I guess that makes sense. Sorry.
I'm just trying to be supportive here.
but I'm not always sure what the right thing to say is!
I'm doing my fucking best. This is complicated for me too, you're both my friends.
Terezi: I know
I appreciate your intentions karkat
maybe
maybe it would be better if you weren't sitting up there in that backwards chair while you talked to me?
Karkat: what?
why??
Dave: yeah dude you should probably ditch the chair
Karkat: what the fuck is wrong with my chair.
Dave: or at least sit on it frontways or offer her another chair?
I dunno its kind of a dumb affectation in this context Karkat: no, look. It's casual and relaxed.
like, it visually conveys that my presence in the conversation is humble and nonthreatening, yet frank and attentive.
what the fuck do you want from me?
Dave: to sit on the goddamn floor
Karkat: why should I squat on the dirty floor, what difference does it make!
Dave: so you can be on the same vertical plane with your friend while you exhibit compassion for her grody clown problem Terezi: dave its fine never mind about the chair, I dont care it just struck me as a bit distractingly silly, thats all Karkat: ok, wow, fine!
fuck the chair. Pardon me for making myself comfortable during a sincere heart to heart discussion

Karkat: I think we are missing the point here.
this isn't just about an unhealthy obsession with a foul soft drink.
it's about how you feel about yourself.
you are barely functional right now. You can't even pick yourself up off the floor and put on a pair of pants.
remember pants terezi?? You used to love pants!
Terezi: yeah, pants are pretty great Karkat: you used to... you used to be a lot of things. And all of those were good things.
but now that we're about to arrive, right when we need you the most, you do a sensational belly flop into a circus vat of your own tangy slobber.
Terezi: oh please
what could you possibly need me for?
Karkat: you're an important member of this party!
we'll need you to help stand up to jack, and whatever else is waiting for us there.
Terezi: I dont think I will be very useful Karkat: well, not like this you won't. You've got to get your act together.
Terezi: no! I mean
even then I wont be
I dont have much to offer even on my best day Karkat: what about your mind powers though!
what if we need somebody with mind powers? To do some sort of... mindy thing.
Terezi: what mind powers??
Karkat: you know. The ones where you... flip a coin. And...
something crazy happens.
oh, I don't actually know how it works. But what about that?
Terezi: pfff
I never developed those powers very well and its been a long time since I even thought about them
I don't think they're very valuable honestly in fact all they ever seemed to do was trick me into feeling like I knew what I was doing they actually made me believe I was in control of other peoples fates not even to speak of my own it was a really dangerous kind of delusion and now it feels like the only "heroic" thing I ever did with those powers was use them to justify killing my friend
Karkat: huh?
Terezi: ...
Karkat: oh.
right.
Terezi: and what's worse is to this day, I'm still not even totally sure if it was necessary
I think I've lost the ability to tell if I'm being punished for what I did, or if I am punishing myself Karkat: well, yeah. Of course it was necessary.
even if it wasn't the morally right choice or whatever, it was obviously something that had to happen.
that's the cruel thing about paradox space. It systemically validates all your mistakes as necessary outcomes.
not even necessary for your own good or personal growth. It's always bigger than you. Like your errors in judgment are inseparable from the way reality has to unfold.
so it never lets you forget about them. Because they were all critical to the big picture, and all your past flaws are like...
scars.
scars in spacetime that never heal, and always serve to remind you that the perfect version of yourself you wish you could be can never exist. Because the survival of everyone you care about depends on him not existing.
Terezi: I know all that it doesn't stop me from wondering Karkat: it's simple. If you hadn't killed her, you would have withered away in a doomed timeline.
Terezi: yeah! And sometimes I wish I had!
at this point I think I would rather be the better person who made the right decision even if it also meant being the one to fade away forever Karkat: well, i wouldn't want that!
does that fucking matter to you?
does that factor anywhere into your dreary existential equation??
Terezi: you probably think I'm crazy just as crazy as you think I am for dating Gamzee
but
I really miss her
Karkat: no
I don't think you're crazy for that.
Terezi: and yet
if I ever saw her again
there's no way I could talk to her so part of me hopes I never- oww!!!!!!
Terezi: Dave, you dick!!!
Dave: what dont blame me
i cant control the crab

[Image description: Calibron stands on the roof of a black building in a city full of other black buildings. Other than their color, they look identical to the ones from Alternia's green moon, where Doc Scratch lived. An orange trail leads away from Caliborn and has a ghost image of him farther down it. More members of the felt stand around him. Fin, who has an orange hat with the number 5 on it, stands near the ghost image of Caliborn. Number 7, Crowbar, who has a maroon hat, stands to Caliborn’s right. Clover stands to Caliborn’s left with Lil Seb, and Die, who has a green number 6 hat, stands behind them. Die holds a white doll with several pins in it. Clover dances a little jig and has the star, heart, and horseshoe charms over his head. Lil Seb has the heart and clover charms over him.]

Hussie: you're calling them elves now?
Caliborn: yes.
Hussie: but they're leprechauns!
or gnomes, according to some baloney scholars.
Caliborn: they can now be additionally referred to as elves. I have decided.
Hussie: whatever.
Caliborn: why are there two.
Hussie: because of the two for one deal.
you sunk the 7th planet on the break. So when you destroyed the 6th planet, you unlocked both the 6th and 7th elf.
own you're on the 8th planet. This one doesn't give you an elf.
Caliborn: it doesn't.
Hussie: no.
Caliborn: what about a gnome.
Hussie: no.
Caliborn: what about a leprechaun.
Hussie: no.
you get nothing.
Caliborn: why not.
Hussie: because you're supposed to skip this one and destroy it last.
you're just wasting time hanging around here. The clock is ticking.
Caliborn: alright.
but first. I want to get their powers straight.
am I correct in assuming. Their powers keep getting more useless?
Hussie: yes.
Caliborn: just as I suspected.
i don't even care anymore. I just want to know.
so orange hat. We have established. Just walks ahead of me all the time.
no matter how far off he wanders. And gets lost. I always seem to catch up with him.
Hussie: yes.
Caliborn: and green hat.
he just has a doll. With pins in it.
Hussie: yes.
Caliborn: what's up with that.
Hussie: he has a doll with pins in it.
Caliborn: and??
Hussie: every time you get a new elf, he'll take another pin out.
that's all I will tell you.
maroon hat.
i can't tell what his power is.
what is his power.
Hussie: he doesn't have a power.
Caliborn: are you fucking kidding me.
Hussie: no.
Caliborn: that's a new low. Even for these shit heads.
Hussie: but maroon hat is pretty smart!
you can use him as a higher ranking henchman or something.
Caliborn: being smart isn't a power.
plus. I doubt it. How smart can one of these imbeciles be.
Hussie: you should talk to him and find out.
Caliborn: no.
Hussie: come on.
just a little friendly chat.
Caliborn: fine.
i will have a word with him. Very briefly.
Hussie: ok.
hey.
are you still talking to him?
wow, you guys are really going at it there.
what the fuck could you be talking about for so long?
this is getting ridiculous.
the timer on the next cueball bomb is ticking away.
Caliborn: ok. I'm back.
Hussie: and?
Caliborn: maroon hat is highly intelligent and personable.
i have decided he is my favorite guy so far.
Hussie: see? I told you.
Caliborn: i will give him some important responsibilities later.
but I have not decided what.
Hussie: maybe he can hold on to something important for you.
Caliborn: good idea.
like what?
oh, I know. My cal top.
Hussie: no not the cal top. That's dumb.
Caliborn: my gun?
Hussie: no.
Caliborn: oh! My candy.
Hussie: no you idiot!
Caliborn: fuck you. If you have an idea. Then just tell me what it is. Puzzleman.
Hussie: look at the color of his hat. What else do you have that's that color?
Caliborn: uhh.
Hussie: also, what object can you think of that's kinda shaped like a 7?
Caliborn: hmm.
oh!!!
ohhhhhhhhhh.
of course.
a boomerang!
Hussie: ok, I give up.
Caliborn: i will make a mental note to secure a boomerang in the future.
yes. It makes so much sense. To be a boomerang. Thematically.
because it always comes back around. In one big circle. Like all the time shit. I'm supposed to be about!
Hussie: ...
Caliborn: ok. Last question.
why is purple hat. Constantly dancing in my presence?
Hussie: yeah.
i guess in retrospect, purple hat has always been pretty flirtatious, hasn't he?
Caliborn: what?!
Hussie: maybe you should try to be open minded though.
have you ever considered a star-heart-horseshoe relationship with someone?
maybe you will discover you have never truly experienced joy until you have been in star-heart-horseshoe with a dancing elf.
-- Caliborn has spiked his cal top on the ground in disgust. --

Vriska: Hey guys! Stop dragging your feet back there! You're falling so far behind, you're starting to look tiny and ridiculous from here.
The treasure should be buried just up ahead. Let's pick up the pace!
Sollux: excuse me, some of us here have special needs. i think i will continue dragging my feet if you don't mind.
Vriska: Sollux, will you just let Aranea heal your eyes already and catch the fuck up?
Sollux: No!!!!!!!!!!

John: hey.
aradia, was it?
Aradia: yes
John: can i ask you something?
Aradia: ok
John: you seem reasonable, and pretty nice.
Aradia: (smiley face)
John: so i'm wondering.
how do you feel about all this?
Aradia: about what exactly
John: about what vriska and her pirate buddies are doing.
Aradia: you mean searching for the weapon?
i think its a good idea
John: no, i know.
of course it would be great to have an awesome secret weapon, whatever it is.
i mean...
how do you feel about the way they've been searching for it?
by using all your ghost clone friends as bait.
and getting the bad guy to blow them all up to reveal the way to the treasure?
Aradia: thats probably the only way to find it in my experience the specific path you travel out here is very important if we did not trace that exact path in that amount of time i doubt we ever would have found the right location in fact it may never have been found by anyone John: ok, yes.
let's assume it was the only way to find it. granted.
but i mean, does that really make it the right way to beat him?
Aradia: i couldnt say
John: well, how do you feel about it?
most of the other pirates seem cool with it, so i'm wondering if you feel differently.
Aradia: its probably necessary and they would have embarked on this voyage whether i had come along or not so i might as well join the fun!
isn't that what you did when you saw our ship?
John: um...
sort of.
but i didn't know what you were all doing yet.
Aradia: yes but once you found out you continued journeying with us
John: yeah, but...
i'm just hanging out here cause i'm asleep! what else was i going to do?
Aradia: exactly!

Aradia: i dont necessarily share their point of view on the meaning of this endeavor though they consider this to be a great clash between good and evil but i prefer to look at the coming battle as a matter of housekeeping in the end all loops must be tidied up even his
John: ok, but what about your friends! don't you care about them?
Aradia: of course i do!
i love all my friends
John: then why do you seem so... cheerful?
when so many of them are getting zapped by lasers.
Aradia: do i seem cheerful about that John: kinda!
Aradia: i apologize if that is the way i am behaving it is not true though i think i look at death differently than most and it is fair to say this attitude extends to death after death as well i have learned to be at ease with the cessation of being in any form it takes but i am not nor will i ever be the monsters handmaid so please believe that i would never take joy from the destruction of any soul however you must realize that it is only by the grace of the horrorterrors that so many have been allowed to continue existing for so long they have persisted for ages beyond their time just as he has as such it seems to me his rampage is just another kind of housekeeping while he rounds the ring undoing the work of the gods we must prepare for his undoing as well to ready the manor for the lords arrival so to speak (smiley face)
John: ...
i'm sorry, maybe i spaced out through some of that.
but i'm still not sure what you're talking about.
maybe you could just simplify it for me.
are you a good guy or a bad guy?
Aradia: i dont like to think of myself in those terms but i do try to be nice to people!
John: dammit.
ok, could you just... maybe...
give me an idea of what it is you actually want out of all this?
Aradia: what i want?
hmmm
that's a pretty good question

John: oh holy shit another story? i’m there!!!
sorry aradia, i’d love to keep chatting, but you heard the lady. it's story time again.
Sollux: wow aradia, you actually sent the guy running to hear a serket story.
that was a Really impressive creep out job, nice.
Aradia: (frowny face)

Aranea: Thank you for joining us, John.
Commodore Nepeta and Rear Admiral Feferi have both been clamoring for one last tale, and I am not one to disappoint.
Feferi: (smiley face wearing a tiara and goggles) Nepeta: (cat face with two mouths)
Meenah: (clamoring)
(as in clams text it)
John: ok. what's this one about?
ogre sex, or salamander shipping, or something?
Aranea: Nope! Although I would be happy to tell you all about those topics another time.
This is a story about two legendary rings.

Aranea: No, not those rings!
The rings I am talking about are less powerful, and considerably more obscure.
but for what they lack in power, they make up for in mystery!
Details on the rings are quite hard to come by. I have pieced together what little I know from various fables and myths.
They occasionally make appearances in such stories, serving different purposes in each tale, and always called by different names.
but in this story, they will be known as the Rings of Life and Void.

interlocked and unable to be separated.

dialoglog
Aranea: The rings are said to look nearly identical.
but their powers are quite different, as are their origins.
The Ring of Void supposedly once belonged to the black queen of a void session.
but one day it was stolen from her by a thief. And then stolen again from the thief by a rogue.
Legend would suggest it changed hands like this for a long time thereafter, until finally vanishing into the void itself forever.
Which is fitting, as the ring grants its wearer the ability to do exactly the same!
The Ring of Life has a very different story.
I have found no reports of an origin to this ring at all. Like many magic artifacts, it may not even have one which is comprehensible.
Earliest reports I have read would suggest it was first discovered by some travelers in a desert, and like its sister ring, has changed hands repeatedly since.
This ring however has a dramatically different effect. Instead of relegating the wearer to obscurity and immateriality, it does just the opposite.
It is said that any ghost who wears this ring will come back to life!
In some stories, the fate of each ring appears to be entangled with the other. When one is lost, the other is serendipitously found.
A great example of this can be observed in the fable of-but now that I know it does jack a whole fucking lot, I would like you to stop behaving like a Vriska: why was it precious to you?? Are you telling me you knew what it did!

Tavros: no, I didn't, I just had, separate reasons from that, for wanting it, Vriska: well whatever lame reason you wanted that ring, forget it. It's obviously a much more important magical item than either of us gave it credit for.
as soon as we get the treasure out of this cave, you're going to lead us back to wherever you lost it,
and we're gonna look for it!
is that understood, poopmaster nitram????????
Tavros: no, yes,
I mean, yes, I comprehend the literal meaning of your yelling,
but, no,
Vriska: what do you mean no? That was an order!
Tavros: I think your mean spirited angriness is making me remember, to wonder why I keep wanting to help you and like you, and I think it's making me think, I don't really care anymore about finding the ring, or finding this treasure,
or help you do arguably evil things to ghost friends, to get your objectives to happen,
Vriska: tavros, what exactly are you trying to say?
Tavros: I think, the bottom line of that, is,
I don't want to be your poopmaster anymore,

This is mutiny!!!!!!!!!
Aranea: Vriska, I am on your side here. but I feel I should point out that technically they both outrank you.
Vriska: Excuse me?!
No they don't! Come on, I just gave them titles that sounded cool!
How can you outrank a captain????????
Aranea: by being a commodore?
Vriska: A commodore outranks a captain?!
Meenah: yea fraid so
Aranea: Yes, and a rear admiral outranks a commodore.
Vriska: No, but!
I thought a rear admiral was like...
Some sort of Joke rank!
Who can take a rear admiral seriously? It might as well be a poopmaster!
Meenah: um no serk its actually a real thing god damn for a pirate you really know fuckall about nautical junk pretty embarrassing tbh

John: no, i mean, not on me.
I guess i wasn't wearing it when i fell asleep.
it seems to have the power to come with me in and out of my dreams, as long as i'm wearing it.
John: that's how i got it in the first place. i had it on when i woke up.
Vriska: You were wearing it??
Why? And why were you playing keepaway with it in the first place!
I mean, aside from the obvious fact that messing with Tavros is its own hilarious reward.
John: i don't know.
i guess...
i liked it, and i just wanted to hang on to it for some reason.
but i didn't know i would wake up with it.

John: well, yeah.
it sounds like an important item, so deciding what to do with it is kind of a big responsibility.
it's supposed to bring ghosts back to life, but we don't know how it works.
what if it only keeps you alive as long as you're wearing it?
that would mean only one ghost could come back.
Vriska: Right! All the better reason to let me use it!
John: but there are a lot of ghosts!
i'm just not sure what to do yet.
Vriska: wait. You're not Actually thinking of giving it to someone else, are you?
That's my ring! The orange guy gave it to Me!
John: yeah, well frankly, i don't give a shit about the orange guy!
the ring is mine for now, so i'm the one who has to figure out what to do with it.
speaking of waking up, it's probably time i got going too.
i'm not trying to join the mutiny or anything, but i do have friends waiting for me out there.
Vriska: John, wait!
I hope we're not parting on bad terms here.
You aren't holding all this treasure hunting shit against me like Tavros is, right?
We're still cool, right John?
John: uh...
Vriska: If you have to leave, I get that, but I really want us to stay friends!
I always felt like we had a special bond, John. Like we're both always in the position of having to take charge as leaders, even if we never asked for that responsibility.
And I don't wanna pressure you into anything, but I would really appreciate it if you'd at least think about me next time you take a nap with that ring on!
John: it's fine. we can stay friends.
i don't really like to make enemies with people, even if they're...
Vriska: Even if they're what?
John: umm.

John: vriska, i have to be honest. years ago when we first talked, it was a lot of fun to get to know
you.
and i admit i thought about you a lot since then.
but i guess i never quite realized how little i actually understood you.
during this crazy treasure quest, i tried to reserve judgment, like maybe it was just a troll thing i didn't get.
but seeing how those other guys felt about it, i think it's more complicated than that.
obviously not all trolls are like you.
and i know i'm not.
maybe this was all for a good cause, but it still felt like a pretty fucked up way to go about it.
and...
all i'm saying is, i'm ready to go. i've seen enough, and i miss my friends.
i'll think about what to do with the ring, but honestly...
Vriska: Honestly what?
John: again, i am just keeping it real!
but if i am really thinking hard about who i should bring back to life...
i dunno if my conscience can justify bringing back someone so...
dangerous.

Don't give me the ring then.
Actually, you know what? Even if you change your mind some day, forget it!

Vriska: No.
I've been dead this long. What's a little longer.
Keep your ring. I don't want anyone's pity.
So beat it, Egbert.
John: ...
Vriska: ........

John: huh?
Vriska: john, I thought you were leaving.
John: oh. Right.
I guess I'll just be...
Vriska: what are you a fucking idiot?! Don't go yet.
John: wh...
what?
Vriska: Look, you made yourself perfectly clear. You think I'm a heartless monster, and you don't want to help me out.
Whatever!
But are you seriously going to check out of this dream like two minutes before you see what the treasure is?!
Holy crap, dude. Where is your sense of curiosity?????????
If I can manage to put up with you for a little longer, I think you can stand my morally bankrupt company long enough to find out what this thing is.
Why am I the only person in paradox space who actually Thinks!
John: oh.
sure.
i guess i'll go a little further and check out the treasure.
heh, you're right. it would be dumb not to.
Vriska: Good.

Vriska: The treasure's down there.
If my guess is right, it should be buried in one of his ancient memories.
by now we've all been windbagged to hell and back by my dear ancestor.
so i'll trust nobody's gonna mind indulging one of M stories.
There was a pretty good yarn about this treasure I read once during our travels.
Found it in some damn memory, who knows whose.
It was a good read. Impeccable prose. Failing to do it justice would be the real matter of gray morality here, if you ask me.
but right now i ain't in the mood to figure out how not to make it fucking suck.
So i'll just say this.
It was supposedly a weapon that once belonged to him.
but he could never use it without altering its nature.
Meaning he could only use it once.
So he did.
After that, it could only be used again one more time.
And only as a weapon against him.
Knowing it was one of the keys to his defeat, he had it locked away deep in the void.
That's it. Part one of my story. Hold your applause.
Guess we'll find out if that's true.
Or if it turns out all my despicable shit was in vain.

[A6I5] Next

[Image description: She scowls down at it and it casts a red light over her face, making her look even more menacing than usual.]

dialoglog
Vriska: Not that it would even matter to some people.
You know, they can say whatever they want about me.
but somewhere out there is a shimmering new universe growing in a big ball of water.
He's looking hells of majestic. Amphibious and resplendent. His glorious croak would bring you to your knees.
That universe is going to give life to billions of trillions of zillions of cute little aliens.
You wouldn't even believe how pretty and wonderful and happy all these aliens will be. It's making your lip tremble just thinking about them, and how worth saving they are. Wow.

You could walk up to one of those aliens and put your hand on its innocent shoulder, and with a straight face you could say, "Sorry to break it to you. but tomorrow, a guy named Lord English is going to destroy your universe. You are all going to die."

And when that alien looks up at you with tears in its eyes, just before the first one rolls down its weird alien cheek, you lean in close to its absurd alien ear and whisper, "Psyche."

That's because you know a long time ago, in an obscure pocket of reality the alien could never understand or give a shit about, some crazy girl sacrificed the "lives" of a bunch ghosts in order to kill that guy forever.

They were already a million sweeps past their prime, existing on borrowed time, luxuriating in a kind of bizarre metaphysical longevity few others will ever enjoy.

Just a fresh batch of bait the squid gods kept on ice for an insatiable fisherman cause they were sick of being hunted themselves.

Those ghosts were all that stood in the way of an end to this eternal holocaust, and sparing their souls ain't different in my view from personally committing atrocities on a cosmic fucking scale.

I only ever wanted to do the right thing no matter how it made people judge me, and I don't need a magic ring to do that.

You don't have to be alive to make yourself relevant.

And you don't have to be a good person to be a hero.

You just have to know who you are and stay true to that.

So I'm going to keep fighting for people the only way I ever knew how.

[Vriska: by being me.]

[Vriska: by being me.]

Behind him, there is a massive explosion. A maroon striped planet hangs in the sky. He now has ten members of the felt, and most of them stand in pairs with charms flashing over their heads. Fin and Trace stand in the back with the diamond and heart charms over them. Clover and Doze stand nearby with the balloon and rainbow charms flashing over them. Lil Seb stands next to Clover and Gamzee stands off to the side, near the edge of a short cliff. Itchy and Die stand next to the water and have the horseshoe and pot of gold charms. Crowbar and Matchsticks, who has a hat with a red stripe and the number 11 on it, stand off to Caliborn's right and have the star and moon charms. The only two not involved in pairs are Sawbuck, who has a blue striped hat with the number 10, and Stitch, who has a yellow striped hat with the number 9. They stand on either side of Caliborn.]

the bomb countdowns are getting so short. This is getting hard. It's not fair.
Hussie: I really don't see how it's any less fair than being allowed to solicit the omniscient narrator of your quest for answers.
nobody else who plays this game gets to do that. What makes you so special?
Caliborn: but you're the one who said I was special.
Hussie: I shouldn't have said that.
now you're strutting around, all thinking you're special.
Caliborn: I am special!
Hussie: I know.
Caliborn: less bullshit. More answers.
i have collected more frog men.
what do they do.
Hussie: frog men???
you are getting really esoteric with your headcanons now.
Caliborn: my what.
Hussie: and what makes you so sure they are all men? have you sexed them?
Caliborn: fuck you. And your ribald insinuations.
my relationship with the frog men is strictly professional.
Hussie: no, I mean determined their sex.
do you even know how?
Caliborn: i don't care.
they're all men. Because I say they are. And I want them to be.
if I believe hard enough in them being men.
then that fact becomes absolutely indisputable as a permanent man reality.
Hussie: it does?
Caliborn: are you telling me. That you have reason to believe. That my entourage of distinguished gentlemen.
consists of anything other than boys???
Hussie: no. i mean, I don't know.
i'm not there, so I can't sex them to be sure.
Caliborn: you fucking pervert.
Hussie: that's not what sexing means you little shit!
Caliborn: i'd like to change the topic. Away from the lust you are feeling for my handsome frog men.
i have obtained some stripe hats.
Caliborn: what do they do.
Hussie: why do you always want me to spoil stuff for you?
why can't you be at least a little scientifically inquisitive, and find out what they can do yourself?
have you tried injuring blue stripe hat yet?
Caliborn: no.
why would I hurt him. He is my loyal minion, albeit one who is overweight and apparently useless.
anyway. I don't have time for science. Just tell me.
Hussie: fine.
blue stripe hat randomly time travels somewhere if you injure him.
red stripe hat can also travel through time, but only using fire as a gateway.
yellow stripe hat is a tailor.
Caliborn: a tailor.
Hussie: yes.
Caliborn: you mean. Someone who sews stuff.
Hussie: yes. A damn good one, too.
Caliborn: that's not a power. It's more like. A fucking hobby.
which has no value to me whatsoever.
Hussie: if you want to be a bigshot time traveler, you're going to need a good tailor.
everyone knows that.
Caliborn: no. Makes no sense.
Hussie: what if some day you get some sweet new threads? Who will maintain your wardrobe for you??
do you think you'll wear that tee shirt and those stupid suspenders all your life?
Caliborn: i will never stop wearing my awesome suspenders.
no one can make me. Not even my tailor.
Hussie: whatever you say.
you're wasting time again. Better hurry up and conquer this planet so you can find eggs.
Caliborn: what??
Hussie: whoops. I mean purple stripe hat.
forget I called him that.
Caliborn: oh. Yes.
i'm really looking forward to these next few guys.
i have a feeling. The farther I go. The more useful and exciting the frog men are starting to be.
Hussie: you won't be disappointed.

dialoglog
Vriska: Will you guys hurry up??
This is seriously some of the most half assed treasure hunting I've ever seen.
John: hang on, i'm coming!!!
dialoglog
John: so the treasure's in that chest?
Vriska: Yeah!
John: are you gonna tell us more about it yet?
Vriska: Yes, that was going to be part two of my story. Which starts right now!
This thing is some sort of juju.
As I'm sure you know by now, jujus are magic items that can do all sorts of things. bend time and space, trap souls inside them, stuff like that.
The more potent jujus tend to be pretty versatile. I doubt even he knew the full extent of its powers. He supposedly got this thing as a boon for slaying a very powerful denizen. As if the guy even needed any more sick endgame rewards.
That's all I'm gonna say for the moment, since I'm sure everyone is dying to see it by now. Only a complete asshole would make us wait any longer to get a look at this thing.

And with Vriska's sassy flourish of dramatic irony, it suddenly becomes evident to anyone with a brain that we aren't going to see what the treasure is for hundreds, if not thousands of pages.

So why don't we stop wasting everyone's time, shut the lid on this lousy MacGuffin, and be Viceroy Bubbles Von Salamancer.

You are now Viceroy Bubbles Von Salamancer.

Oh yes! You kick your adventure off to a phenomenal start with the liveliest jig you have ever attempted!
Your little legs could use the workout after being cooped up on that ship for three years. Wait, shouldn't Casey have reached adulthood in that timeframe, or at least gotten somewhat bigger? You seem to recall from earlier somewhere that salamanders have short lifespans, and grow up quickly. Oh well, you decide to graciously disregard the one and only plothole in this elaborate tale. In fact you think you will use your dark sorcery to make it - Poof - disappear! Ha ha, what problem?

You are so excited for this side quest to begin. It's going to be almost as delightful as it is thorough, and almost as thorough as it is relevant.

[Image description: Casey tips her head back and opens her mouth. She holds a brown staff with a curled end with both hands. Behind her, everything has gone black except for a few curling, grey wisps.]

You retrieve your adorable amphibious arms from your Rag of Demons. And in doing so you reveal them to be adorably grasping the dreaded Crook of Frailty. No young salamancer should dabble in the dark arts without one.

You twirl the grim cudgel in the air and begin to disturb ancient spirits from their slumber. In spite of necromancy's notoriously bonkers Fakeness Attribute, you begin to cast a spell!

[Image description: Casey blows bubbles excitedly as a horde of skeletal iguanas, turtles, salamanders, and crocodiles surround her.]

You beckon a horrifying cadre of skeletal friends. They lurch from the mounds to serve their dark master. You're so happy to see them. You start to blow some sinister friendship bubbles.

You look at all these skeletons and think to yourself, this is probably going to be really important later on. Because that's what happens in adventures. A thing happens, then you forget about the thing for a while, but it turns out to be important down the road. Like some heroes will be fighting a bad guy, and things will look bleak for them. But then out of nowhere this skeleton army will arrive as reinforcements or something, thus turning the tide of battle. Then you go, ah-ha. So that's why that little salamander summoned those skeletons. Everything makes sense now, and in retrospect is elegant in its simplicity.

Vriska: Fuck You!!!!!!!!

[Note: Vriska’s text is surrounded by pulsing scorpio symbols. Her name does not precede it, as when Caliborn interrupts the command prompt, but it has been added for clarity.]

Hussie: Please, don't interrupt. We are trying to enjoy an important subplot.

Now where were we. Oh, look! One of the skeletons has stepped forward to introduce himself. But the skeleton doesn't have a name. You should give him one! What will you name the skeleton?

[A6I5] V.B.V.S.: Bonebone! Bonebone!!!

You declare this loyal follower to be: Bonebone! Bonebone is most pleased with his gentlemanly appellation.

Hang on. Another skeleton approaches to receive a title. In fact, it looks like they all want names! You decide to name them all, one by one.

Vriska: Fuuuuuuuuuck Yoooooorrrrrmmmm!!!!!!!!!

Hussie: Just ignore her. She had her chance to be important, but turned the offer down. The rest of us are just trying to get on with our lives.

Now, what will you name the next skeleton?

Vriska: Fuck You!
Fuck You!
Fuck You!
Fuck You!
Fuck You!
Fuck You!
Fuck You!
Fuck You!

[A615] V.B.V.S.: Shield young amphibious ears from profanity.

Vriska: ohhhhhhhhh nooooooo!!!!!!!!!
oh fuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuck nooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo!
we're going to look at what's in this chest right now!!!!!!!
do you hear me you fuck?
I didn't scrape and claw my way back to relevance for this shit!
I'm doing something fucking important! And when I do something fucking important, everybody better damn well pay attention to me!!!!!!!!!

Meenah: (wut)
Aradia: (very happy face)
Vriska: you don't think I'm on to you by now? As if I can't sense when some sort of bullfuckery is afoot????????
you don't think I'm wise to your fucking games????????
John: (who's she talking to?)
Aranea: (uncertain face with eight eyes)
Aradia: (very happy face)
Vriska: go ahead! Try and fuck with us some more!
make my day you piece of shit!
everyone here wants to know what's in this chest, so that's exactly what they're gonna see!
there's probably some ideal way for me to reveal this thing to make it seem as cool as possible, but you know what!
I don't give a fuck!!!!!!!!!
I'm just gonna dump it out on the floor right here and now!

dialoglog

Vriska: there!
fucking there!!!!!!!!
taaaaaaaaa daaaaaaaaa!
wow will you look at that!
it's the fucking treasure!
looks like some kind of human house shaped thing! Holy shit, didn't see that coming!!!!!!!!! now everyone hold your fucking horses while I artlessly explain some more shit about it!
woooooooo! Here fucking goes!

[Image description: Vriska throws the chest on the floor and keeps throwing her tantrum while shaking her fists at the sky.]

dialoglog

Vriska: after the guy used it that one time, it became totally intangible! So we can't touch it or pick it up!
that's why we brought aradia along! So she can make it levitate or whatever!
if we bring it near him it's supposed to activate again or something! That's how you use it as a weapon I guess!
but that's all I know!!!!!!!! there! You like that you fuck?
do you like how I just took the fucking piss out of that cool mysterious treasure!
Hahahahahahahaha!
do you like getting owned???????? because that's what you just got! Owned!!!!!!!!

[Note: Owned is underlined.]

Vriska: so why don't you suck it!

[Image description: Vriska lifts both middle fingers to the sky and keeps screaming.]

In a sixth image, the skater in Dave’s Bro’s video game glitches into the ground. John’s arm sticks out of the top right corner.

In a seventh image, the ship with Liz Tyler the robot bunny, W.V., and C.D. on it flies away and John waves it off. John’s arm sticks out of one of the tangled tentacle rings around Skaia.

In an eighth image, Grimdark Rose and Bec Noir face off against each other. John’s arm sticks out of the sky behind them.

In a ninth image, dead John’s bedroom in the dream bubble slowly becomes LoWaS at the edges. John’s arm sticks out of the LoWaS section.

In a tenth image, Jade waps Bec Noir in the nose with a rolled up newspaper. John’s arm sticks out from a group of frogs.

In a twelfth image, A.R’s bec head bunker is riddled with explosives and a tendril of the red miles sticks of the sky. John’s arm sticks out of the sky, too, but down and to the right.

In a thirteenth image, The Handmaid and The Condesce face off on top of the Battleship Condescension. John’s arm sticks out of space near the spikes on the ship.

In a fourteenth image, Karkat shooshpaps Gamzee. John’s arm sticks out just over Karkat’s head.

Hussie: puppet people?
Caliborn: puppet people!!!!!!!!!!!!
Hussie: you're just calling them different things every time to bug me.
Caliborn: they are puppet people.
Hussie: why are they puppet people?
i thought frog men was going to be your preferred headcanon.
Caliborn: because they are like big alive puppets.
Hussie: how so?
Caliborn: their skin is soft.
Hussie: soft?
what do you mean.
soft as in smooth to the touch, like a baby's behind?
Caliborn: no.
more like. Fuzzy.
and squishy.
Hussie: what?
Caliborn: like plush.
you know.
like a god damn puppet.
Hussie: hold on.
re you telling me these fuckers are literally made of felt???
Caliborn: what's felt.
Hussie: it's the fabric they put on pool tables.
kind of soft and fuzzy.
Caliborn: oh. Then yes.
exactly like that.
Hussie: well that's weird.
i guess you learn something new every day.
speaking of which, I suppose you'll want me to tell you what these two frog puppets can do?
Caliborn: no!
Hussie: no?
Caliborn: the abilities of purple stripe hat. And orange stripe hat.
are as plainly self evident. As they are idiotic.
Hussie: patience.
in time, you will grow to love them as if they were two very special sons.
Caliborn: no way.
Hussie: yes you will.
i can tell you kind of like them already, but you're just pretending you don't to be cool. Like you always do with members of your dark carnival.
i notice you aren't actually trying very hard to escape from the crowd there.
looks to me like you're enjoying your time in the puppet mosh pit, frankly.
Caliborn: screw you!
Hussie: i'm going to tell you their powers anyway.
Caliborn: no!
Hussie: purple stripe hat has an egg timer juju which makes him time travel whenever it rings.
but he's too stupid to use time travel sensibly so he ends up making way too many copies of himself.
orange stripe hat has a magic oven which he can hide inside.
and that's it. It serves no purpose other than that. Also he's just as dumb as eggs.
i mean purple stripe hat. Forget I called him that again.
also pretend I didn't call the other guy biscuits.
Caliborn: you didn't call anyone biscuits.
Hussie: i didn't?
oh.
damn.
then pretend I didn't say I did.
Caliborn: i don't care!
i don't want to hear any of this!
al of that was obvious!
i have grown weary. Of your excessive divulgences!
Hussie: yeah, my divulgences haven't been too popular lately.
i can't seem to catch a 8r8k.
Caliborn: a what.
Hussie: a 8r8k.

[Note: With Vriska’s quirk corrected, it says Break.]

Caliborn: what's a 8r8k.
Hussie: nothing.
just something an old flame used to say a lot.
well, not so much an old flame as someone who callously spurned my extraordinarily inappropriate advances one time.
she really blew it though. She could have been the star again, if only she said yes.
Things are pretty passive aggressive between us now.
women. Am I right?
Caliborn: no, don't do this.
i don't want us to bond over your female problems.
stop trying to be bros with me!
Hussie: you know how it is.
sometimes a guy just wants to take a look at what an adorable salamander is up to, and scrutinize that situation carefully.
like really see what's going on with that, you know?
is that so wrong.
so what if I want to watch a young salamander spend several hours naming skeletons?
it's my right to do that. I should be able to watch bubbles name a million fucking skeletons if I want.
i should be able to do that without a spiteful attention hog stealing back the spotlight while she does something "important".
who cares about important stuff?
important stuff is so overrated, i.m.h.o.
Caliborn: i stopped listening!
i don't even know what you're saying. Because I'm not reading it anymore.
you can go ahead and babble all you want. About meaningless trash.
i've totally checked out of the conversation. So bye.
Hussie: I wonder what Spades Slick is doing right now.

End of Act 6 Intermission 5 Intermission 5

[Image description: Spades Slick, who is still partially a robot, stands on the balcony Hussie threw him off of a long time ago. Hussie, who is wearing his Calmasis from Complacency of the Learned cosplay, lays face down in a pool of his own blood.]

You are now Spades Slick.

It appears that you will be the focus of an exciting new sub plot. That is, if everyone's ok with that.
You're not sure. Is that allowed, you wonder? Is anyone going to throw a tantrum and make us look at something else?
Vriska: Leave me alone you fucking creep!!!!!!!!!

Hussie: Good news, Spades. It looks like your sub plot checks out. You have the green light, whenever you're ready.

[Image description: Spades Slick stares out over the water. There’s something in the distance. There are two black circles with green squares on them, followed by a series of black marks, then three more circles with green centers, then another series of marks, then a small black circle, then another black circle with a green center.]

There was some commotion up here earlier. That guy flipped your bed over this balcony and you fell in the water like a thousand feet below. You had to climb all the way back up, sopping wet. You think he said something about English? You don't see any sign of the rival mob boss though. You'll have to investigate.

You might not have much time to find him though. The sun is setting on the horizon. What are all those things floating over the water? You can't quite make them out, even with your awesome cyborg eye, which can probably make you see better. Maybe. I'm not sure. I don't actually know anything about cybernetics to tell you the truth. I just gave you a red eye because I thought it looked cool.

[Image description: Slick looks down at Hussie’s body. His white wand and headband with wavy horns lay on the ground next to him.]

Looks like this asshole in the white wig is dead. Yes, the same asshole who nursed you back to health even though he didn't have to, and even though he kind of promised he wouldn't do stuff like that by way of some vague pledge involving a yellow ruler. But he saved your life anyway because his heart was just that big. You're welcome.

You weren't listening to any of that because you don't care.

[Image description: The headband with the horns pops up onto Slick’s head.]

You're not gonna take the wand because obviously magic is fake. Come on. What sort of buffoon would try to wield that thing under any circumstance?

You will however take the horns. They'll make a nice trophy. You always thought taking trophies from guys you killed was a cool idea. Or at least from guys you wish you killed, who you happen to find dead.

[Image description: Slick moves over, to where Lord English’s massive golden machine gun sits on the ground against the wall.]

This appears to be the murder weapon. Looks like English was the trigger man, then ditched the weapon by the body for some reason. You've never seen the guy, but you heard he carries a big overpowered gold machine gun.
Pretty garish in your view. The man has no subtlety whatsoever. You and he sure have different styles when it comes to running an organized crime outfit. You honestly think he might be some sort of huge manchild.

And I honestly think you might be right.

[Image description: Slick picks it up, but as he does, it turns into a massive golden staff with a green sun on top.]

You take the Golden Cuestaff. Holy crap this thing is huge. Good thing you have robot arms now. The weapon weighs several hundred pounds, but to a hulk like him it's light as a feather. And to a cyborg like you, it's light as a slightly heavier feather.

[Image description: Slick takes the horns off and looks towards the door, where Ms. Paint peeks out from behind the door and trembles.]

Man, how sweet would it be if you could use his own weapon against him when you get your reven... hey! Who goes there!

Ah. Of course. It's the cute little dame who tended to you while you were bedridden. Her soup was so delicious. Whoa, what are these dumb horns doing on your head? Those don't belong there. You toss them on the ground and stomp on them nonchalantly.

She's shaking like a leaf! She must be terrified. You assure her there's nothing to afraid of anymore. Everything's gonna be ok. The asshole in the white wig is dead.

Now that you've settled her nerves down, which you haven't actually, you ask her where the guy who did this went. She says she doesn't know. She's been hiding since he smacked her across the face with his cane. You say he did What, why I oughta! She says she thinks he's probably gone now. You say oh. Any idea which way he went? She says no. You say hmm. Any idea what she might be doing later? She asks what do you mean? You say any dinner plans or...

Hey! Slick! What exactly are your intentions toward Ms. Paint?? You could at least wait until the blood is dry before making your move. I know you've always had your shitty cybernetic eye on her. Yes, the same eye that's probably just a useless piece of red glass overlapping an otherwise perfectly healthy eye. Yeah, that one.

Oh fuck it. Who am I to stand between you two? You obviously make an adorable couple. Why should I let my rotten luck with the ladies rain on your parade. That's it, I'm calling it. I'm declaring your ship to be officially canon.

Now don't fuck this up, Slick.

Personals she says? Yeah you say. Your personal items. What items she wonders? You know, all the shit you had on you before that guy turned you into a damn robot. Like your hat and stuff. Oh! Yes, she knows exactly where all that is.

She says this way. But please try to be quiet in case the green beast is still nearby!

She leads you to one of the mansion's several dozen pantries and retrieves your box of stuff.

Here you go she says.

The hat was a little worse for the wear, but she took it to the tailor to have it repaired. Tailor, what tailor you say. The one that appears when you pull his pin from the little doll. She said she put the pin back though because the man was rather grouchy and unpleasant.

Wait a minute...

Of course. The doll!

You knew you decided to hang on to this thing for a reason.

English has no idea what he's in for. You can't wait to see the look on his face. Even though the look on his face is always pretty much the same, since he's a skull monster.

Uh, yeah, better leave the black one in though. Pulling that one could have some really weird consequences.
You tell all these mugs to listen up. This gang is now under new management.

The surly mob of puppet people look you up and down, glance at your Cuestaff, and shrug. Yep, you're the new boss, they appear to tacitly confirm.

Ms. Paint, you say. There's a vacancy in the gang's eight-spot. You got anything more suitable to wear?

She claps her hands and says oh yes! She has just the dress for the occasion. She says b.r.b.

You say hey you. Wise guy in the maroon hat. What was his name again? Some weapon shaped like a seven. Boomerang?

No that wasn't it. Your memory's failing you. Might of taken one blow to the head too many when that universe exploded. Hey, why did that universe explode again? Can't recall for the life of you. Crowbar. What? Crowbar's his name, the guy says.

Oh yeah, that's right. Now you remember, you used his crowbar a while ago to smash a priceless clock to pieces. You have his crowbar he asks?? No, you lost track of it. Any idea where it is? No clue you say. Damn he says.

You ask him how they can get out of here. Go somewhere to regroup and make some plans. Hatch some schemes. Maybe draw a map or two. Preferably in a hideout. He says he can lead you back to one of the gang's old haunts. You say after you then. He says hey. Yeah? What happened to the old boss he wonders. Is he dead or something? You say none of your damn business. Now get moving.

Hey what's this thing Clover asks? Nothing you say. You think the idiot who used to live here was doing some sort of science experiment. Pretty much, Ms. Paint says. Don't touch it you say. Could be a deathtrap. Clover pulls his hand away quickly. He looks worried.

Die asks if he can have his doll back. You say of course not, shut up. He looks crestfallen.

[Image description: Doc Scratch’s tower floats in front of the Green Sun. It’s been broken off only a few floors down from the cueball on top, and what’s there isn’t in good repair. A large portion has been taken out of one of the walls and the cueball itself is missing a large portion near the top and the rest is cracked. A second image shows Slick, Ms. Paint, and the Felt emerging through a now broken fourth wall, or in this case a fifth wall, into a room with an ornately tiled green floor. Everything shakes a little.]

God damn it's hot in here.

AC must be broken or something.

[Image description: They emerge from the door that lead into Aradia’s ancestor’s room from before Lord English arrived and claimed her as his servant. A large portion of the wall is gone, revealing the Green Sun.]

You leave Damara's room and great Caesar's stab wound what is even going on here. Crowbar where the hell are you leading us you ask. He says it's the Doc's old apartment. Really posh digs. Primo location too, at least it was before the universe exploded. Why are there giant holes in the walls through which can be seen an abundance of blinding green plasma, you inquire. He says because the apartment is now floating somewhere inside a huge sun. A sun you say. Well shit. No wonder it's so hot you could cook breakfast on your cranial plates. Hiding out in the middle of a big sun doesn't sound like a real tenable predicament, does it Crowbar. No boss, he supposes it does not. Sounds like it's actually kind of a shitty predicament, doesn't it Crowbar. Yes boss, he supposes it does. A predicament defying any sense of reason, safety, physical comfort, and most laws of science probably. He wouldn't know about that boss. You'll have to ask a scientist. You got a sassy mouth on you Crowbar, you say to Crowbar. A real sassy mouth.

He says if you don't want to stay, that's fine. There are contingencies in place. Contingencies you say? He says Doc's suite had an emergency exit which the gang could flee through whenever things got too hot to handle. Circumstances, he says, which never once presented themselves, until now, in the most literal way possible. Yeah. Yeah you say. Because of the sun. Yes he says. Because of the sun.

Well what are you waiting for Crowbar. Keep leading the way.

[A6I5] Crowbar: Keep leading the way.

[Image description: Crowbar keeps leading the way down another hall with another large chunk taken out of a wall. They come to a plus-shaped junction. They just came from the right hall. There are two doors in the hallway that approaches the viewer.]

Hold up you say. You're not sure about this Crowbar leading the way business. Who's the leader here, this smart mouth or you? He says you, of course. But you don't know where the exit is. You say bullshit. You been here before. You know this place like the back of your hand. You show him your hand, which is now mostly unfamiliar to you, because it's made of metal. You put your hand down quickly because that didn't serve your rhetorical purpose at all. He says if you insist. The exit is in the room with the clock in it. Do you remember where that is? You say what do you look like, a moron? Of course you remember. Then after you he says.

Slick moves down to the doors and looks at the one on the right wall.

It's obviously down here. Through one of these doors. Watch and learn buddy.

S.S.: Open door.

Slick opens the door to reveal the scary wolf head with a strobing white light next to it.

S.S.: ...

He closes the door and the Felt, Ms. Paint, and Aurthour all watch his failure.

That was not the right door.

S.S.: Never mind.

Slick rejoins his group.

Just take us to the exit, Crowbar. He says yeah sure.

Crowbar: Proceed.

Crowbar leads them back to Doc Scratch’s living room where he has models of The Battlefield in various stages of evolution. Most of the roof is missing. Itchy runs ahead into another section of the room, Crowbar walks just ahead of Slick and Ms. Paint, and the rest of the group lingers in the doorway. A second image shows them further into the room. Itchy has run back to join the main group. In a third image, they file in even farther. In a fourth image, they’re all finally in and Die, Trace, Fin, and Itchy pull out a pool table.

Note: These panels are all shorter than the standard panel.

You lead the mob through a few more of these weird skinny panels.

Some of the guys get distracted over there in the lounge. Just a quick match of Table Stickball, a fun game they made up which is based on their hats. You tell them to quit playing pool and get over here. They start laughing their asses off at the noob who doesn't know a game of Table Stickball when he sees one.

Crowbar: Show Slick exit.

Slick, Crowbar, and Ms. Paint stand next to the clock that determines if a godtier death is just or heroic. Again, a portion of the wall is missing, showing the Green Sun outside.

So this is it huh you say. Why's he keep the exit in the room with the clock anyway? Crowbar says the exit's in the room with the clock because the exit Is the clock. You say you see. You look the clock up and down. Doesn't look the same as you remember. It was a lot fancier when you smashed it with the Crowbar. You mean the crowbar. All purple and gold and... ticking. As if deciding the fate of someone you don't know or care about. Someone who doesn't understand a golden opportunity when she sees it.

Vriska: sdkljfhkldhfsdkhfk

Hussie, Slick, and Crowbar, maybe?: Someone whose behavior may have been controversial, and whose sentence apparently had to be arbitrated by a magic timepiece. Just as well you smashed it.
That way nobody could outsource their judgment to the verdict of a stupid clock. Yes you definitely thought all that now. Wait. What happened to the pendulum? The ball thingy you mean.
Crowbar says it broke. You see. Alright.

Anyway none of that matters now. How are you supposed to exit through this thing? Guess you have to open it? Yes he says. How you say. He says oh you know. Gotta pry it open. If only they had a tool with which to pry. Perhaps a tool which is notorious for its prying ability, which also happens to be its sole purpose. You wouldn't happen to know where such a tool might be, would you, he asks? No, he supposes not. There he goes again with that smart mouth. Nothing but sass from this guy. You're starting to miss your old right hand man. At least when he got sick of your shit, he would just turn around and light a cigarette.

[Image description: Slick punches the clock and the front panel of the body pops open.]

There. Crowbar shmowbar.

How the hell are you gonna squeeze all these big galoots through that skinny ass door? Wait. You might have an idea.

[A6I5] S.S.: Wasn't there a guy with an oven?

[Image description: Biscuits appears, holding his oven.]

Where's the guy with the oven. Hey! Oven! Get over here! Crowbar whispers his name is actually Biscuits. You don't give a fuck. Biscuits seems to understand he is being summoned, and waddles over. Yep, there's his magic oven. Wow what a dumb juju. Should come in handy for once though.

[A6I5] S.S.: Everybody in

[Image description: Everyone files towards the oven in an orderly line, except for Doze. Doze moves slowly next to the line so even though he was the first to start heading over, he’s the last in.
When he enters, it snaps shut. Everyone but Slick is inside.]

Everyone in the oven! Let's go let's go move move move! Iggy, Slowpoke, What's His Face... Yes you too Ms. Paint! Clover, Shark Guy, Top Hat, get in there Crowbar, you can mouth off all you want, just do it in the oven! Stitch Face, Fatty, Fireman, uh, the centaur butler? Yeah what the hell, come on in! He can be the team mascot or something. Plus his milk was fucking great. Biscuits, Other Biscuits, Big Guy, Bigger Guy... that should do it!

[Image description: Slick picks up the oven, which becomes a playing card in his hand. His weapons slots and item slot appear in the top right corner. A second image shows the card. It’s the 13 of Stars.]

You pick up the 13 of Stars card. What? Cards don't go up to thirteen. Stars ain't a real suit either.
These guys really are a bunch of whackjobs.

Whatever, you'll just slip it in the deck. Time to go.

[A6I5] S.S.: Wait, before you go...

[Image description: In more short panels, Slick pours oil over the whole living room. The second has even more trails of oil leading down the hallway. The third shows the whole place burning.

Perfect.

[Image description: Slick climbs into the clock while the couch and rug behind him burn.]

[A6I5] Next

[Image description: The green server with the flashing billiard ball on the front floats out in the furthest ring. The vague forms of eldritch gods float in the distance. After a moment, it pops open and Slick pokes his head out.]

What the shit.

[A6I5] Next

[Image description: Slick scowls and the server begins to shake.]

This was their secret escape hatch?!

You see. It's all so clear now. When things get too hot to handle, the Doc and his posse duck out of the clock and into the idiot wagon for a little spin through infinite oblivion with some giant octopus things.

Thanks for the tip, Crowbar! Thank You So Very Fucking Much!!!

Past John turns and looks at him.

Present John zaps away again.

Vriska’s magic cue ball explodes, ripping off her arm and destroying her seven-pupiled eye.

John’s outline appears next to her as she lays on the ground.

He fully appears and stares down at her.

He grimaces and tugs at his collar while gulping.

He begins to go blurry while staring down at her.

He zaps away.

Jake dramatically kisses Dirk’s severed head in front of an erupting volcano and a circling dragon. Something on the slopes of the volcano glows.

It zooms in on the glow, revealing John’s silhouette.

He materializes and stares at this strange sight.

Jake snogs Dirk’s head while Dream Dirk, Jane, and Roxy watch.

[Image description: Caliborn sits on the shoulders of Cans, who has a maroon striped hat with the number 15 on it, and throws his arms up in the air victoriously. Cans is absolutely massive. Caliborn is smaller than his entire head. Next to them is Quarters, who has a green striped hat with the number 14 on it. He flips a coin that has a number 4 billiard ball on one side and a number 14 ball on the other side.]

Authorlog
Caliborn: i did it!
i conquered the maroon stripe planet. Thus unlocking. The final and most powerful toad goblin of all!!!!!!!!!!! wow, he's so perfect. So huge. So strong.
i love him being strong.
finally. The ideal minion. With the type of power I admire the most.
which is. Being a huge strong guy with enormous powerful muscles!
Yessssssssss.
oh yeah. I also got green stripe hat. He's good too.
in that he is also large. And relatively strong. And mean.
he flips a coin too I think. Which is also cool.
oh, and don't tell me what they do.
all I care about is that they're big and strong.
do not spoil my moment of triumph with more of your human monkey earth business.
what.
nothing to say?

Jack holds a knife with indigo blood on it and Gamzee has a stab wound in the left side of his chest.]

Authorlog
Caliborn: yes. This is good. You're finally learning who's boss.
and soon. Everyone else will too.
now I have to conquer the black planet.
this one is a different thing from the others.
my sources tell me. By which I mean. The clown tells me.
that this planet has been claimed by the black queen herself.
i will need to overthrow her to win.
as such. In a stroke of brilliant cleverness. My brain devised an idea.
i have recruited jack noir to help settle our mutual score.
really. Getting jack to do violent things for me. Always strikes me as such a good plan.
so I might as well just do it always. Rather than always thinking of new stuff. Which is hard to do.
his would make a good friend. If the concept of friendship wasn't horrid and meaningless to me.
therefore. I will think of a way to dispose of him once his usefulness is over.
it's bad form to leave stray noirs wandering around.
(don't tell him I said any of this.)
(my treachery to him. Is meant to be a surprise!)
(ha ha ha ha ha.)
(ha ha.)
uh.
...........
hello?
where the fuck did you go.
aren't you going to tell me what you think of my great plan.
or deride me in some fashion. For my juvenile conduct and poor critical thinking skills.
well, you unspeakably putrid and fatuous blabbermouth???
i demand that you talk to me!!!
ok. I see how it is.
you have decided you will no longer allow me. To browbeat you. Into helping me. Through sheer force of petulance.
it may surprise you to know. I am just as capable of respecting that. As I am of throwing a tantrum about it.
i don't need you anymore.
i don't need anyone!!!!!!!!!!!!

Dave: I don't think that's possible dude in fact im not sure we were ever traveling at light speed
I think maybe there's been some bogus science in circulation that we been chumped into gettin behind how could it all boil down to yet another meteor hurtling toward skaia serving as the harbinger of our imminent demise?

except this time we're riding the fucking harbinger.
which is ironic when you think about it! We were brought into this life riding a meteor. Makes sense that's how we'll all go out! Hahahahahaha!!!

Dave: man pull it together
this thing has to have some escape pods or something Karkat: where! I never saw any!
maybe they were being stored in the hyper gravity chamber!

Rose: We have a hypher gravitoy chamb hic. Ber?

Dave: or i guess maybe we could just sort of hop up and like...
fly away?
Karkat: why you abhorrent column of smarmy filth. You always did know how to rub salt in the wound.

what about those of us who can't fly! You know I can't fly, and you know it's a sore subject for me!

Image description: The song A Taste for Adventure begins to play. John holds the broken fourth wall and stares down at it. The ship sits near the ruins of Jake’s tower. It pans down over the landscape somewhere else on LoMaX. John sits on top of the Slab of the Jaded Fool’s Ennui. It’s literally just the lintel on the ruin that’s half buried in the ground. It fades to black. John stares down at the fourth wall again and lets out the deepest sigh of all. A thought bubble over his head shows drawings of Dave, Karkat, and Rose. In the background, there are seven generic troll heads with question marks for faces. John flops back on the slab and drops the wall by his feet. Erisolsprite floats past in the background and flips him off, then floats away.

The image slides to the side and bright blue text scrolls by on a black background. So Bored. John lets one leg and one arm dangle off the edge of the slab as he stares up at the sky. He flops over the edge so he’s draped over it with his legs hanging off one side and his head and shoulders hanging off the other. It slowly zooms in on his open mouth as he blows a spit bubble. The bubble pops and there’s a flurry of activity.

John stands up and jumps around while yelling. He pulls out some playing cards while still yelling. He shoots playing cards from his sleeves while still yelling. He aggressively plays a game of solitaire and puts the 4 of spades, the ace of diamonds, and the 3 of clubs down. Blue text on a black background flashes by. It says Yes. John grits his teeth as he struggles to open a pack of fruit gushers. The pack rips open and the gushers go flying over him while he’s still yelling. He takes off his pants and aggressively irons them on top of the slab. His underwear are black boxers with green slimes all over them. Blue text on a black background says Hell Yes. He keeps aggressively ironing his pants. He rides the pogo bouncer that used to be in his yard while spraying two cans of shaving cream and, you guessed it, still yelling. More text flashes. Hell. Fucking. Yes.

He finally calms the hell down and lays on his back with his feet in the air while using a pair of Bill Cosby-themed lunchmuffs to project Con Air in front of him. He watches the scene where Nic Cage’s character gives his daughter a bunny and gets heart-eyes from it. He builds a house of cards that looks like the Sburb logo and as he places the chimney piece in place, the white house sburb logo shaped juju appears and takes up the whole screen. It flashes back to John, who throws his arms in the air and shouts victoriously while standing on top of the ruin.

One by one, silhouettes flash into the air around him with the green fire of Jade’s powers. First W.V., then Rose, then Karkat, then Kanaya, then Terezi, then Dave. They all hover for a moment, then fall to the ground in a pile. John’s house of cards collapses and he looks down at them.

The next bracket, which is only labeled with three question marks, has a black dot, ‘A7’, and a white dot. A red captchalogue card appears and the disk pops into it. The previously light grey space around the panel is bright green, like Lord English’s coat. The caption box is dark green, the same as the background. The next page link is the bright green color. Even the links at the top of the website aren’t immune. The candy corns separating some of links are now green peppers, and the links have different names. From left to right, they read “Worthless Garbage. Stupid. Wow. Overpriced Trash. Dumb Noise. Whatever. Bullshit.” The links they were replacing are “Home, Read, Info, Shop, Games, News, More.”

Homestuck Anthem begins to play as a pair of bright green curtains prepare to open. Suddenly, they turn into shitty, Caliborn-style drawings of curtains and a fart sound plays as they choppily move aside. Behind them is an extreme close up of a Casio electric keyboard with a red demo button to the right of the logo. Caliborn’s hand reaches over and presses the demo button, making the true song begin to play. It’s not Homestuck Anthem. It’s Homo suck Anthem. A simple, bouncy tune plays for a moment, then Caliborn starts playing. The tune continues, but now under strange sound effects, including bike horns, various animal sounds, screaming that may be a human or may be a goat, humming noises, breaking glass, and even a toilet flush, all in time with his key presses.

Click to go to the next page and escape this horrifically strange song. Oops, it’s not possible. Clicking the next arrow only brings up a red X over it, a scribbly Caliborn drawing shouting, and a note that says ‘Please wait until the performance is over’ in Caliborn’s handwriting. Clicking again brings up the same thing, but now he says ‘Very rude.’ A third click cycles back to the first message. After what feels like forever but is really only about 45 seconds, he stops playing and hits the demo button again. The drumbeat continues for a moment more, then turns off. Clicking to the next page now brings up a message to ‘Hold for applause’. Caliborn’s hand ever so slowly reaches back in and presses a single key. He holds it down for nearly 40 seconds, during which ever-escalating, uproarious applause plays. Clicking next still brings up a ‘hold for applause’ message. Once he releases the key, the next arrow turns into words and finally becomes clickable.]

Begin homo suck.

Homo suck.

[Image description: It’s a very poorly drawn recreation of the very first page of Homestuck. A poorly drawn John stands in front of a poorly drawn door with a poorly drawn Sburb poster. To his right is a poorly drawn dresser with a poorly drawn cake and rolled up poster on it. To his left is the edge of a poorly drawn bed. In fact, just assume all images are poorly drawn until otherwise notified.]

[Note: The caption is written in bright green and all caps, as all text in this Caliborn-ified section.]

A young male homo sapien is trapped in his room. The premise is uninteresting, and everything about it sucks. Hence the title, which is a port manteau. Consisting of two thematically appropriate words.

The male is not very smart. There is something about a human birthday. And he doesn't have a name yet? And more stupid things along those lines.

All of this is irrelevant.

Here is what really matters.

[Image description: Caliborn stands in front of a house-shaped computer terminal. He wears a red outfit with a long red cape and bright green suspenders. He holds a tablet pen and boggles vacantly towards the computer screen, which shows the previous panel. Jagged cables hang down behind him and a black smudge is smeared across the wall, where it meets the floor.]

A young male cherub has achieved total domination over his quest. Thus unlocking his magic mystery planet. And therefore. Gaining supreme mastery over all events in reality. Canonical or otherwise.

He became a god tier obviously. It was easy, involving a trivial act of self suicide. It was not a very big deal at all. That's what happens when you're the best. You become the best thing quite casually. And off screen. Like it's not even that important.

Then he started climbing the god tiers.

[Image description: Caliborn stands on top of a Godtier echeladder rung, identical to the ones Dave and Rose stood on at the end of act 5. It isn’t drawn poorly, but it does flash bright colors, as it usually does. A fuzzy-edged time symbol floats behind him.]

See? Like that.

He stood on that flashy thing. Which may not even be literally real?

With each god tier he climbed.

[Image description: Back in the poorly drawn style, a collection of pins are on a dersite sash.]

He got a new achievement badge sewn on to his kiddie camper handysash. Which also may be a thing that's not literally real. Like many other things. Which don't seem to have literal reality, but exist anyway. Getting new badges helps you understand stupid things like that better. In other words. They are mostly pointless.

Like gift of gab. Which is especially useless to our hero. Since there is nobody for him to "talk" to except for a rude clown. And all his dumb green friends, I guess. And he could already talk to them regardless? So. What the fuck.

The badges are all so shitty. I barely even know what to say. One of them lets you acquire objects with your bare hands. No captchalogue required. Wow, it's a dream come true! There is another one. And I'm not joking here. That grants you the ability to have non awkward personal relationships.

I wish I was making this up. I really do.

But there was one badge he got.

[Image description: It zooms in on one of the badges near the edge of the sash. It has a green key on it with Caliborn’s skull or Jake’s symbol as the part that doesn’t go into the lock.]

That was not a pitiful waste of his time. A skeleton key badge.

Having this badge meant that he could automatically unlock. Any lock he wanted to!

Including all the contraptions on this planet. Allowing him to officially and permanently assume control of. A property of his experiential continuum which I have reason to believe is called. "The narrative".

And due to his unquestioned supremacy over a lot of things. He is now able to commandeer this enigmatic medium. While totally unimpeded by the ghostly voice of a sarcastic douche.

In my dream. I am this cherub.

[Image description: It zooms in to an extreme close up of Caliborn’s face, which is labeled Close up.]

It's me.

And as it happens. My dream is a fact.

I have taken over this "story". And I will now retell it according to my understanding and level of interest. I will additionally provide an honest and brutal critique of the events and the way they have been shown. By utilizing the most potent weapon anyone could ever hope to allocate to his specibus. It is the weapon. Of "satire".

Oh my god. This is going to be so great. Has anyone ever done anything like this before??

I doubt it.

[Image description: In the normal Homestuck style, Caliborn scribbles violently on a drawing tablet.]

All I have to do. Is keep working the magic. With my fucking computer pencil. Yes!!!

Drawing is easy. Don't let anyone ever tell you it isn't. You work hard. And hone your craft. And ignore the haters. Until you are in "The zone".

Now excuse me while I draw a shitty room.

Male: examine room.

[Image description: Back in the shittily drawn comic he’s apparently making, the off-brand John examines his shitty room. His bed seems to have a hunchback, his desk is almost escheresque in its angles, and his magic chest is a completely flat shape that clips into the wall. There are several cakes and a handful of captchalogue cards scattered around the room. There is only one poster on the wall, which seems to show someone covering someone else’s eyes, but it’s so badly done that it’s impossible to say what it actually is supposed to be. There’s a window which looks out onto blank blueness.]

You examine your shitty room.

You are the male. I'm calling him you for some reason. That is how this idiotic adventure goes usually. The guy on the screen. That's you.

Confused yet?? Ha ha. It only goes down hill from here. Prepare to be frustrated and angry. As more things happen.

Male: do some stuff.

[Image description: A finger cursor the color of Caliborn’s skin picks up Knockoff John, bounces him around on the bed, then puts him back down on the floor.]

You fuck around heartily. Again, by you I mean him. I know, it is counter intuitive. But I will keep saying he's you, because of my "artistic license".

The you male fucks around a lot like this. Bouncing around and jittering, wasting time. But the secret is that it's actually me fucking around. I move this guy around like a puppet. With my imaginary hand. See?

Male: go open that chest.

[Image description: Knockoff John waddles over to the chest without moving any part of his body. Caliborn’s cursor picks up and shakes the chest, making the lid pop open. A collection of captchalogue cards spews out, along with a pair of beaglepuss glasses and a wizard hat. The entire motion lags, like the internet connection isn’t loading the gif all the way, but that’s just how Caliborn animated it.]

And I tell my puppet what to do. By typing orders in the thing. While pretending that you are typing them. It is a disingenuous ruse at best. To make you believe you are guiding my puppet. While also bizarrely insisting that you are the puppet, by calling him you. I unsuccessfully strive to immerse you in an experience. That no one with a brain. Could ever conceivably wish to participate in regardless.

But in the end. The joke of it all is. It's just me telling myself what to do with my puppet. And then doing it. You will agree this is the height of creative self indulgence.

In fact, for me to even be mocking the practice. Almost feels. Incestuously masturbatory.

(even though that is a redundant phrase for cherubs...)

Male: hide inside chest.

[Image description: Knockoff John sits inside of the chest as Caliborn’s cursor shakes it around and ‘Beep. Beep.’ flashes next to him.]

All aboard the idiot wagon!

This is the kind of thing that happens almost every screen. As opposed to accomplishing things that are important, or make sense. Let’s take note of the fact that I am slamming this tendency. And move on.
Male: go over there.

[Image description: Knockoff John stands on top of his impossible desk.]

Ok, you go over there. You stand there and nothing happens.

God damn I am good at this.

Male: do a dance on the shape.

[Image description: He now stands on his dresser. Caliborns’ cursor picks up his legs and makes him do a terrible dance.]

You get on the shape and I make you do a dance. I use the principle of "animation" to put movements in motion. Somehow.

You notice by now my story telling genius. I drew my puppet. And I drew his room. And that's it. Now all I have to do is move him around the room and make him do meaningless things for "laughs".

But the really funny thing is? The laughter is mostly coming from me.

It is happening at your expense!

[Image description: A series of images are arranged in a 2 by 4 grid. From top left, across then down, they are:
Caliborn’s cursor repeatedly smooshing Knockoff John into a cake at the foot of his bed.
Caliborn shaking him near his magic chest and making him spew captcha cards.
Knockoff John laying under his desk chair.
Caliborn bonking him into the bedroom door.
Knockoff John standing in the void outside of his bedroom, just behind his dresser. He says ‘duhhhh’ repeatedly.
Knockoff John turning back and forth near his desk while barely on screen.
Knockoff John floating in the air while 5 Caliborn cursors make 5 cakes hover around him.
Knockoff John laying on his back near his desk with his legs stuck up in the air.]

This way. I can make so many of these story rectangles so fast.

So it seems to everyone who is stupid enough. To look at my rectangles in the first place. That so much is happening. And the "plot" is advancing at break neck speed!

This is just a clever trick though.

[Image description: Knockoff John vibrates in the middle of his room, surrounded by dozens of levitating, vibrating cakes and beaglepuss glasses.]

Because the truth is. There is no plot.

Nothing is actually happening ever. Just a lot of bullshit like this. With cakes and cards flying every which way. And you are just sitting there.

Frowning at it.

Male: exercise freedom to leave room.

[Image description: Knockoff John stands in his poorly drawn kitchen, facing off against his knockoff Dad, who smacks him with a cake. Knockoff John holds a hammer and shouts. A flashing label at the top of the screen says ‘Strife’.]

The lucky male is oblivious to his privilege. Of not being chained to his room, with the horrible sister he doesn't have. The advantage makes him way too overpowered, and therefore he is what some refer to as a "human mary sue". This makes him less sympathetic, and gives you another reason. To actively route for his death.

He goes downstairs. And you think, ah ha. This is it. Something important is happening. But your observation is another brainless fallacy. The thing happening here is just as pointless as everything else.

The larger homo sapien is obviously attempting to help the male grow up and become strong. Through a rite of passage involving sweets. Possibly to help the male become a trickster?

But the male is stubborn and refuses. Like an idiot.

Male: leave building.

[Image description: Knockoff John, who still wears his wizard hat, stands out in some grass next to a door.]

It turns out the male can leave after all. Relatively unhindered. Basically contradicting the entire premise of the story. What a joke, you say to yourself. You the reader though. Not you the male.

Male: boggle vacantly at these shenanigans.

[Image description: Knockoff John sits in a yard, surrounded by 2 poorly drawn captchalogue cards, a poorly drawn toilet full of cake, and a poorly drawn pogo bouncer in front of a poorly drawn house. It’s the exact same image that Jade found when she went to a random page or Mspaintadventures.com way back in act 3.]

It begins to dawn on you. That everything you just did. May have been a colossal waste of time. It also begins to dawn on you. That I was the one all along. Who illustrated this fantastic cartoon rectangle. Which you remember that you saw before somewhere. And you now find this revelation to be. Almost as retroactively plausible. As it is mind blowing.

It brings to mind a famous quote. From a celebrated poet of yore. That I think goes like this.

"well shit. That's a hell of a mystery. No one thought was a mystery. And didn't even really need solving. But damn if it didn't just get solved. So nice work."

- cherub shakespeare, probably.

I am almost certain cherub shakespeare said that.

[Image description: Google images is open to a search for Clouds. The Os in Google look like Lil Cal’s eyes with eyelashes colored to match the logo.]

In the interest of full disclosure though. When doing fine art. Sometimes it pays to cheat. And find things that are hard to draw. On the internet. Where they are already there for you.

This can save time. And make you appear to be better at things. Than you really are.

Take this advice to heart. If you want to be as successful as me. (Not going to happen, btw.)
Anyway, back to the story.

[Image description: Knockoff John continues boggling at his cards, bouncer, and toilet cake. It’s zoomed way out, though, and poorly inserted into a background of a blank landscape. Caliborn’s cursor shakes a meteor in the direction of the house.]

After an endless parade of unamusing and inconsequential events. Finally something happens.

You will find this is customary for this tale. Lots and lots of stupid unimportant things happen. Then finally out of nowhere. A stupid important thing happens.

A meteor appears without explanation. It is headed directly for the male. There is nothing he can do but accept his fate. Look. He does not even try to flee, because he is an ignoramus.

Male: get murdered by explosion.

[Image description: Red scribbles wiggle over the image. Between the lines, though, the previous panel is still visible. Knockoff John is still there, boggling.]

You (he) are thoroughly murdered by the explosion. You (not him) are stunned and yet underwhelmed by the moment of anticlimax. As you continue to boggle vacantly. You reaffirm your suspicion. That nothing you just did mattered at all.

Confirm the kill.

[Image description: A more standard Caliborn-esque drawing shows a vaguely humanoid-shaped creature drawn as a blue outline on a black background. This creature, supposedly Knockoff John, has a skull-like shape for a head, a vague shape on his shirt, one arm jutting out at an uncomfortable angle, and one arm that’s just a thin nub. One leg is at a normal angle if far too far up the torso, but the other leg looks like it’s been violently dislocated. Above him, grey text says ‘KO’D’, but it’s been crossed out with red and green text over it says Dead.]

You (I) produce photographic evidence of the slaughtered male body. He is indeed dead. And will stay dead for the whole story. Only his ghost will show up now and then. In a blurry flash of light. To haunt me periodically throughout history. (But I will say more about that later.)

You (you) think the above graphic looks familiar. You think you have seen this great drawing before, in a different context. You see. This is what master story tellers refer to as a "visual callback". Truly exceptional professionals often will take an old drawing they did. That shows a similar situation. And do a couple of half assed things. Like change the colors. To make it slightly different.

You (still you) observe that this ingenious feat of laziness. Makes the repeated things seem more profound and meaningful than they are. For reasons you don't understand. Because they don't exist. This is a trade secret among skilled artisans such as i.

Please try to keep this on the down low. And not tell anybody. It can be our secret. They don't even need to know!

The end. Of act 1.

[Image description: The same awful curtains that opened to a fart sound just a few pages ago now close over the drawing of Dead Knockoff John.]

This concludes the first thing of the story. Which is called an "act".
There are a lot of these. And they only get longer. And then begin to split? Into act acts. And act act acts. Trust me. The structure rapidly deteriorates into utter nonsense. Or at least it would. If it had not already begun. As such a reeking pile of shit out of the box.

But please do not worry. I will be there to guide you. Through every mind numbing twist and turn. While prodding the material with my keen wit. And satirize the hell out of everything. To hold the responsible parties fully accountable for these crimes. While maximally validating my angriness about it.

Maybe you thought you were going to see some other stuff. Like what happens to all these idiots "next"? The answer is obviously who cares. This is going to be so much better. Either way, you have no choice. I am in total charge here now.

I believe at this point. Another one of my villainous, full throated laughs will be in order.

Villainous laughter: happen.

[Image description: Caliborn’s hand slap on the keyboard as he repeatedly types h and a. The capslock key is on, but he accidentally presses it a few times, then stops typing when he notices that it’s off.]

Ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha ha. oh. whoops.

[Note: Nearly half of the ‘Ha’s have been removed for ease of reading. Also, starting 11 ‘ha’s back, they’re all in lowercase, as is the rest of the text.]

what was that.

[Image description: In the normal style, Caliborn looks up in confusion as a capsule opens near the doorway. Lil Seb turns to look too, but more startled than confused.]

Hold on. Brb.

[Note: It returns to caps here.]

I mean brb.

Next

[Image description: In the first panel, Lil Seb reaches up and hits the Next key. In the second panel, Caliborn stands over the objects that fell out of the unlocked capsule. There are two white horse figurines and a book called ‘Ed Emberly’s Drawing Book. Make a World.’ The book cover shows rows of drawn objects. From top to bottom, they are airplanes, trains, people, vehicles, various types of housing, more cars, and animals.]

What is all this shit.

Horses?

Why horses. Is it supposed to be ironic or something. That the very objects falling out of this box. Would be in the proximity of some horses? I don't get it.

And what's this. An illustration manual of some sort? Is someone implying I would benefit from this. Fuck whoever is implying that. By storing it in a secret hole for me to discover.
Who is this extravagant bitch.

Is she partly a robot. Sort of like me. Oh, she seems to be an artist too. Also like me.

Did she draw herself?? I don't see how that's possible. Considering she is fictional. As well as a girl. Some other very skilled draftsman must have drawn it. But how did he make it look like she is coming out of the paper? When I turn the book. The image stays flat. And the illusion is exposed. I wonder if the sorcerer of this so called "manga" reveals the nature of his wizardry inside the tome.

Why is the friendly bitch looking at me like that. With the large glassy eyes, and shiny face. It's making me have weird feelings in my body.

I have to put this down.

Uh.

Next

[Image description: Inside the open capsule, a low-quality poster of Hussie’s face is pasted on the back. It says You’re Welcome in the top-text, bottom-text format of a meme. Laying in the bottom is a bright green box.]

What.

Next

[Image description: Caliborn picks the box up and looks at the cover. It says Act 6 Act 6, Supercartridge Expansion Pack. A seal on it proclaims that it has ‘sweet new features!’ The cover art features Caliborn holding a black wand up, which shoots a bolt of lightning behind the title. Lil Seb dances nearby while holding two small ponies. Gamzee leans against the word Supercartridge and stares out towards the viewer. Behind them, there is a shitty, artfacted statue of liberty.]

What.

Next

[Image description: Caliborn opens the box and takes out the cartridge, which is several times the size of his hand, along with the instruction booklet. The cartridge is labeled Act 6 Act 6 and has a cropped version of the cover art, which only shows Caliborn. Along the bottom, there is a row of six dark green dots alternating with five smaller, light green dots. At the end of the row, separated by a fairly large gap, there is a white dot about the same size as the dark green dots. In a second image, Caliborn opens the instruction booklet. The text reads “Uh oh! It seems you have run out of game discs, and now Caliborn has hijacked the property of his experiential continuum which he has reason to believe is called "the narrative". Little does he know you recently made the shrewd decision to purchase(?) the Act 6 Act 6 Supercartridge Expansion Pack! Just plug it into any in-universe console port to unlock a variety of exciting new game play features and proceed through remaining canon unfettered, while Caliborn muddles] through six new sub-sub-acts of infantile "subversive parody" targeting the very tale he inhabits, none the wiser!

Do You have what it takes to humor this bold new storyteller, a young man in peak command over his epic struggle to produce vaguely recognizable shapes? Can You endure his ill-tempered, hyperbolic sentence fragments long enough to reach an interspersed series of sub-sub-intermissions through which, while our new narrator pauses to gather his thoughts, our cast of quasi-reunited heroes may resume their intrepid march toward the end of Homestuck proper? And can You keep this on the down-low, so Caliborn may continue to believe he had commandeered the medium absolutely, while we privately return to the narrative between his miserable tirades? It can be our secret. He doesn't even need to know!"

At the bottom of the packet, there are six, black and white copies of a drawing of Caliborn’s’s head separated by five small spirographs. The heads are labeled from left to right as Act 6 Act 6 Acts 1 through 6.]

Oh hell no.

Next

[Image description: Caliborn reaches for a box of special stardust.]

Oh helllllllllllllllllll no.

Next

[Image description: He dumps some of the glittery dust straight into the opening on the bottom of the cartridge. In a second image, he holds a handful of candy corn over it. It’s completely full of the stardust.]

Ok, fine. Let's see how his dumb cartridge runs. With just a pinch of star dust!!!

Oh yes. And how about some delicious false teeth for good measure. Why not.

Next

[Image description: Caliborn holds Lil Cal’s ankle and uses the bottom of Cal’s foot to tamp the candy and stardust down into the cartridge.]

I am no expert on micro chips. But I doubt these conditions are ideal!

Next

[Image description: Caliborn holds the cartridge against a surface that’s covered in little piles of stardust and presses down. It pops down into a slot, letting out a little poof of stardust and obscuring the row of dots.]

Yes. Perfect. "The show must go on." So as to quote. Another famous cherub. Though I'm not sure which one. Probably a sports legend, I would guess.

While I pause to gather my thoughts. For my act 2 tirade. Please enjoy this intermission cartridge, or whatever it is. With its "exciting new game play features".

I hope it doesn't have any problems or anything!

Act 6 Act 6 Intermission 1: Stardust
[Image description: The song Gold Pilot begins to play. The white on black map of the medium fades in showing four planets with their gates in an X formation, Prospit, Derse, and Skaia. There is a large gap between the bottom of the map and the next arrow below it. Four more planets and their gates fade into the spaces between the other planets. The map begins to zoom in and rotate. The planets and gates fade from white to the colors of the humans. From the top going clockwise, it’s Dave’s LoHaC in red, Jake’s LoMaX in dark green, Jade’s LoFaF in lighter green, Roxy’s LoPaN in pink, John’s LoWaS in dark blue, Janes LoCaH in light blue, Rose’s LoLaR in purple, and Dirk’s LoTaK in orange. The meteor fades in as it flies past LoTaK’s gates towards Skaia, leaving it’s flashing tail of red and yellow. The map zooms in to the meteor and most of the map disappears off the bottom of the image. Skaia fades away, leaving only a faint white ring.
Everything but the meteor vanishes and as it zooms in, the tail extends beyond the boundaries of the image, partially covering the name of the page. The black background descends, the title fades, and the grey bands on either side of the image begin to turn black at the tops. It continues zooming in on the meteor as the edge of Skaia appears at the bottom of the black box, brought in as it moved closer to the next arrow. The meteor grows and now only has the leading edge inside the box, then it too fades, only to reappear smaller, inside the box again, hurtling towards a red Skaia defense portal hovering between it and the clouds. The black box descends to its lowest point and the grey space above and immediately to the sides of it flashes lighter grey. In the space it just vacated, a new image, much like the banners from Doc Scratch’s section, appears. It also shows the meteor flying through the void on a direct course for the portal. The larger image fades to Jade, who is still Grimdark, standing on the edge of a building, the wind whipping her hair and green energy backwards. A larger image of her fades on off to the left side, coming in outside of the panel and growing to partially cover both images. It fades a moment later and the large image changes to show her glaring directly ahead. In the banner, the meteor moves even closer to the gate, then fades to Skaia blocked by the gate.
Simultaneously, the banner becomes larger and the larger image changes to banner-sized. The top image stays the same, but the bottom cuts close to Jade’s eyes as she stares the gate down. The gate pulses and shifts shapes, then grows larger as the bottom image shrinks further and further until it’s gone. A moment later, Skaia vanishes in a flash.
A new image appears, taking up the whole space. Red tendrils of the Red Miles cross a field of stars. A red portal appears, angled down and to the right, then the image shrinks into the upper left corner with a white border around it. In its place, it shows Earth, flooded and surrounded by the miles. The portal spits out the meteor, which flies from one image to the next and bears down on Earth. It cuts to a banner height image and shows Jade, still standing on top of the building. She jumps up and out of the image as it zooms out, then the meteor flies out of the bottom of the banner. The earth fades in behind it just as it enters the atmosphere while Jade looks down on it. Another image of her fades in on the left side, and this version of her raises her hand towards the meteor. The version of Jade that jumped off the meteor slowly moves to the upper left corner, shrinking all the while. A green glow begins to surround earth.
Earth and the meteor vanish and are replaced by another Jade, who is surrounded by a pulsing green energy. The left Jade fades, as does the jumping Jade as the one in the center outstretches her hands. Her eyes begin to glow and green flames grow around her. The image flickers for a second and goes black and white, then patches of green, black, and white static distort it. The image jitters around, then cuts back and forth between it and a close up of Jade snarling, though static still makes it hard to see clearly. Earth appears and is subjected to the same distortion. It flickers between earth and Crockettier Jane’s face, then between that and Jane standing at a console. She’s holding a white book or tablet in one hand and her red trident with Skaia on the end in the other. G.Cat sits on the console, next to a large, green button. It flicks to Jade’s face, then earth, then Jane’s face, then back to Jane at the console. Skaia covered by the red portal joins the rotation, then an image of Jade kicking John in the face does as well, followed by the 8-planet map of the medium with several, smaller versions of it glitching in the corner. These same images glitch over each other repeatedly, then the music suddenly cuts and we’re left with Jade’s eyes, nearly covered in green static and glitching over a colored map of the medium.

[A6A6I1] Next

[Image description: A colored map of the medium glitches faintly. Small patches of incorrectly colored pixels flash the same colors as the cracks in the void. A piece of candy corn flickers in and out in various places. The spirographs around the alpha kids’ planets are gone and the ones around the beta kids’ flicker.]

The cool Flash animation is unexpectedly cut short due to a critical stardust clog. What a shame. Those exciting new gameplay features were looking real slick, too. You think it was pretty neat how the panels were sliding around like that. Oh well, you probably didn't miss all that much.

Nevertheless, on a hunch you navigate once again to your trusty bandcamp page, and check the length of the song in question. Your fears are confirmed. It seems you missed four solid minutes of footage. You wonder if you'll ever find out what happened?

You decide to click on the planets above to try to make some sense of the situation.

[Note: Bandcamp Page is a link to the album Colours and Mayhem: Universe A, which Gold Pilot is part of. You can also buy this album. Once again, Andrew Hussie wants you to give him your money.]

C.G.: are you sure? I don't see any frost!
T.G.: yeah it melted
C.G.: what about the frogs? Did they melt too??
T.G.: no
I mean I doubt it you probably just can't see any right now can you hear any ribbits
C.G.: motherfucker, did you just ask me if I can hear any ribbits?
T.G.: yes
C.G.: this isn't joke-around paltime, dave! We all seem to be suffering from some form of amnesia. don't you think we should try to get to the bottom of that?
T.G.: probably
how long have you and kanaya been on lofaf
C.G.: how do you know I'm here with kanaya?
T.G.: talkin to her rn
C.G.: oh
are you with anyone on loham?
T.G.: lohac
C.G.: whatever.
T.G.: and yeah im with the mayor
C.G.: you're with the mayor?
T.G.: yes
C.G.: and nobody else??
T.G.: yeah
C.G.: why are you with the mayor?
T.G.: dunno I just am not that I am complaining one bit the mayor as always rules categorically (fyi I just hi fived him for like the third time in a row to my recent recollection)
C.G.: you lucky son of a bitch.
T.G.: so what's the last thing you actually do remember
C.G.: I remember...
jade.
T.G.: right
me too
but she was like a fuckin werewolf or something C.G.: yeah.
that was pretty freaky.
T.G.: wait
then she zapped us to that stonehenge place
C.G.: oh yeah!
and john was there.
T.G.: yeah
we all landed in some grass like a pile of fuckups and then
damn
then what happened
C.G.: I don't know.
T.G.: what the hell happened to john what now ma’am??

Jade: it is not impossible
Roxy: is 2
Jade: you are the rogue of void dont you know what that means?
Roxy: i dunno
means i can turn invisible and stuff?
like the blonde in that crappy superhero quartet Jade: it means a lot more than that your true powers are more impressive than those of anyone else in your crappy quartet in fact i would say they are almost as cool as mine (angry smiling face)
Roxy: not sure the ability to make weird spikeballs outta nothin is all that cool tbh Jade: not just spikeballs!
imagine that your title is roughly synonymous with "one who steals nothing"
what do you think it means to be able to steal nothing?
Roxy: it means
im like a shitty cat burglar who sucks at her job?
Jade: Wrong
it means just the opposite it means you can steal the essence of nothingness from something you can rob nothingness from an idea if you put your mind to it effectively allowing you to conjure virtually anything out of thin air Roxy: omg
u cant be serious
Roxy: that is way too much superpower 4 a dork like me 2 have Jade: grrrr...
Roxy: oh no
pls dont growl @ me dogjade is legit frightening (frowning face) Jade: im sorry, but your remarks of self deprecation made me very angry once i was even more of a dork than you but now i am one of the most powerful beings who has ever existed
i dont want to hear any whining about what you think you cant do you are hereby under strict orders from myself and her condescension to "clam up" and conjure that orb, do you understand?
Roxy: so im just supposed to sit here and think about this ugly ball and twiddle my fingers or somethin (question mark)
Jade: you tell me
space is my racket, not void Roxy: maybe it would help if i knew what the dang thing WAS how am i supposed to steal the nonexistence from a concept when the concept only exists in my mind as "ugly ball"
Jade: its called the matriorb
it is the key to resurrecting the troll race once you create it the empress will hatch it on an uninhabited planet located beyond the reach of her cruel employer
there her people will have another chance to thrive without the ever looming threat of extinction that comes with his influence so you see roxy, there is nothing noble about refusing to help once an entire alien race went extinct because of a terrible monster, and you can help give them a second chance dont you want that?
Roxy: um
in theory sure i guess
but ur basically asking me to bring a lot of people back to life so they can be slaves to that witch u want me to help make all these fresh new trolls but then just turn em over to her? like here you go have fun Snorkelbitch Megahitler
i do not actually think i wanna do that??
Jade: yes fair enough, but heres the other thing...
if you dont i am going to kill you Roxy: oh noes
Jade: oh yesses!
a literal plurality of yesses seeing as you are a god tier it is very likely you will come back to life so i can just keep killing you over and over a different way each time maybe i will disembowel you a few times i will not even need to use my sharp doggy teeth!
i will just snap my fingers and your delicious guts will teleport outside your body Roxy: ew!
Jade: no way more like yum
i will just keep on killing you again and again until you finally get tired of dying and follow your orders Roxy: maan evil jade is sucky jade Jade: i believe you will find i am the suckiest jade there is now we are going to be here in this cell for as long as it takes i am not going anywhere until you try doing your voidey thing and make something appear is that understood?

For the single frame that it takes for the cube to flash into existence, Roxy vanishes, leaving a Roxy-shaped black void. As soon as the cube appears, though, she returns.

slightly beveled corners
Jade: thats what a perfectly generic object is Roxy: coulndnt something theoretically be more generic than this Jade: how Roxy: um
i dunno
Jade: exactly
Roxy: (uncertain face)
Jade: if you want your powers to reach their full potential youre going to need to become more familiar with the fundamental building blocks of ideas and how they translate into more complicated thoughts and forms
then it becomes a simple matter of using your abilities to snatch those concepts from unreality Roxy: sounds too hard better start killing me repeatedly and get it over with Jade: we both know you dont think its too hard, you think it sounds like an interesting challenge Roxy: dammit!
(fucken jakes wily bitch ass grandma)
Jade: this is a very good start though with a little practice im sure our empress will have her orb in no time

You return to the character select screen upon having completed one of the above arcs. Oh yeah, that's right. You forgot you even came from this select screen. in any case it doesnt matter
i came here to see you, not him Dave: you did come with me
dialoglog
Dave: where Jade: out here
we have some work to do

[Image description: It zooms out. W.V. is standing near the alchemiter, too.]

dialoglog
Dave: what work
Jade: you're going to need to upgrade your weapon
Dave: what you mean the deringer
Jade: yes
Dave: I thought it was like the best possible sword or at least the best possible broken sword Jade: that may very well be the case but it will be useless against lord english wouldn't you prefer a weapon that is capable of inflicting damage against him?
Dave: uh
not really?
Jade: of course you would this isn't even up for discussion now give me the deringer
we have all been traveling for three long years. what better way to celebrate our reunion than with a little alchemy? (smiling face)
Dave: lots of ways
we could have a jade goes back to normal party starring normal jade Jade: Har har
gimme the sword
Dave: ok here

[Image description: Dave holds the sword out to her in a manner that’s actually safe. He offers her the hilt and keeps the blade pointed down and angled away from her. She reaches out to take it.]

dialoglog
Dave: how do we make it so it can damage him Jade: it needs a special ingredient something which represents his only known weakness, but hasn't been properly weaponized Dave: and you know what that is Jade: I do
Dave: how Jade: I get all my intelligence on such matters from the old lady shes had centuries to hatch a plan to settle her score over time shes uncovered many secrets about him Dave: i dont understand how this is working is she piping all these secrets into your brain along with the evil
Jade: that is not relevant!
Dave: fair enough
i guess technically almost nothing is relevant to the dude youre barking orders to literal barking because of dogginess Jade: bark bark bark!!!
Dave: yes exactly like that thank you for participating in the joke now what is this special ingredient and where do we get it Jade: i already have it right here
Dave: oh yeah?
Jade: in fact ive had it for about as long as i can remember it was right under my doggy snout all along

[Image description: Jade holds up the magic cueball and stares at it.]
dialoglog
Jade: remember this?
Dave: no
Jade: dave are you lying to me?
Dave: no!
ive never seen that thing before Jade: but i found it on your planet it must have gotten here somehow Dave: i didnt take your lousy egg
Jade: its not an egg!
Dave: yeah well these planets are crawling with brainless lizards maybe one of them thought it was an egg
Dave: and then brought it here cause its warm here and tried to hatch it
Jade: you really have a one track mind when it comes to certain things Dave: what things
what are you talking about Jade: davesprite was like that too... i just figured it was because he was part bird but no, here you are going on about bird things too just like him (tongue sticking out face)
Dave: come on dont compare me to him just cause i think its an eggy looking thing dont mean i think like a damn bird Jade: mm hmm
and just because i have these pointy ears doesnt mean i wouldnt kill for some snausages right now!
Dave: ..................
do you actually want snausages
Jade: ................
maybe (blank face)
Dave: ok well snausages notwithstanding this is bullshit tell me how that thing doesnt look like an egg to you how is that not so obviously SUCH an egg???
Jade: its a cueball dave!
Dave: i see so if im following then what youre trying to tell me is lord english has some sort of severe egg allergy that we are hoping to exploit Jade: sigh
i see its still impossible to have a serious conversation with you, whether you are a sassy bird or not i thought regular dave might have matured a little over three years but i guess i was wrong
Dave: can we just make the eggsword already

Dave: oh no
not the legendary piece of shit again
Jade: pardon?
Dave: its the fuckin welsh sword again!
Jade: are you telling me you have seen this sword before dave how is that possible?
Dave: i dont know!
because i have a shitty quest is how Jade: .....
Dave: didnt davesprite tell you anything i found this sword in a gold cave and broke it then davesprite took it to hephaestus who fixed it and upgraded it to the deringer and sent that to me and i broke it again
Jade: you sure seem to break swords a lot
Dave: i know!!!
that has always been my thing for some reason now i guess it turns out my ultimate sword is really just a repaired downgrade of my previously ultimate sword mixed with a cueball?
we just cycled right back to caledfwlch like a bunch of tools that is the most stupid convoluted ass backward way to get a sword out of a stone i can even imagine
i feel like somebody somewhere is having a good laugh over this i sure hope like the juggalo equivalent of fuckin loki or whoever the fuck is having a top notch riddlewank at my expense
Jade: (Blank face)
Dave: you know what really gets me is this shitty welsh sword presumably consisted of those ingredients all along which just makes me want to travel back in time to perform a mutually assisted suicide with myself me and other dave can take turns suffocating each other with our own Dumbass capes
Jade: dave i admit this is a peculiar turn of events, but i think you are overreacting Dave: jade this is Stupid my quest is a Stupid piece of garbage quest for lame shitty loser fuckheads who suck balls while crapping their pants Jade: omg
Dave: youve really spent way too much time alone with karkat havent you Dave: ...
i need help (frowning face)

Jade: its small because I shrunk it cause im a space witch duhhh Karkat: ok but
why do you have it?
Karkat: I thought jack destroyed your universe.
Jade: he did
but I snuck through a portal and nabbed it!
then I hopped right back through the gate before everything blew up
I was in and out like a bandit you know, I like to think I make a pretty good witch, especially since I turned wicked and all... but maybe I would have made an even better thief!
what do you think jake? Do you think I missed my true calling?
Jane: .
Jade: come to think of it, the new empire probably doesn't need anymore thieves
we already have the greatest thief of all running the show she even managed to steal both of us away from all our pals, didn't she jane? (winking face) Jane: .
Jade: hehe
isn't she a riot guys?
Karkat: thanks jade. No really, thank you so much for those clarifications, while obliterating any shadow of a doubt that you are firmly off your rocker.
but maybe if it's not too much extra trouble, you could help me understand why you've stranded us on a bunch of different planets, only to come taunt me with a waterlogged, miniaturized version of earth???

Jade: it wont be earth for much longer
it will be home to the new empire
I will deliver it to the universe we create or I should say the one you create if you are obedient and complete the tasks you are assigned, you may have a place in the empire among the subservient classes Karkat: brrrrrr!
did you feel that too kanaya? A chill just ran down my torso pillar due to all the pure evil that brainwashed jade is saying! I'm fucking petrified, somebody help me change my smelly pants!
listen jade. And other random evil girl, you listen too. I don't care about your stupid little globe or your ominous allusions to new empires or what sort of pariahs we can expect to be in your bogus dream dystopia.
there is only one course of action from you which I will tolerate, and that is feeding me a steady diet of fucking answers! Not cagey, smirk-tortured info-morsels delivered between shitty villain chuckles, I want an uninterrupted spate of hard, unembellished data which has only one purpose, and that is to get me personally up to speed on literally everything, right this blood shitting second!!!!!
Jade: karkat I had almost forgotten how much I missed our repartee
thank you for reminding me, that outburst was beautiful if youre frustrated by the way im treating you look at it this way... Im not asking you for passwords anymore am i?
Karkat: haha! You think I care about passwords?
compared to this, the passwords were a goddamn lawnmeal!!! With a checkered tablecloth and everything! Fun for all involved, especially the marchbugs sneaking the crumbs away!
I would fucking kill to have to give you passwords again, especially if it meant unlocking regular jade from her corrupted empire serving barkfiend state!
is there a password like that jade? Can I start guessing at it??
let's see, since you appear to be some sort of wild carnivorous furry now, it probably has something to do with meat, doesn't it?
sausages?
it's sausages isn't it am I close? Something in the sausage department.

snout sausages?
grubwurst!
hoof loaf??
Ham steak!!!
Jade: sorry karkat, there is no password. Not this time if you continue to list meat products then im afraid the only thing you will unlock is my fearsome doggy hunger and believe me, you dont want to see me when im doggy hungry
Karkat: (rolling my damn eyes)

Jade: but if you insist on hounding me (hehe) for some sort of explanation, its all pretty simple we all recently arrived in this brand new session... Janes session actually this is jane btw. Say hi jane Jane: .
Jade: lol
Jane is actually my biological mother believe it or not Karkat: this story sucks so far!
Jade: shh!
but her session was taken over by the woman who you might call our mutual great grandmother she's an alien. A very powerful troll queen actually Karkat: yeah! The empress is here! I think we already managed to deduce that!
Jade: karkat you are the one who demanded an "uninterrupted spate of hard, unembellished data"
I'll thank you to not to yell at me for doing exactly what you requested Karkat: (kanaya, do you see what I had to deal with) Kanaya: (you do realize I spoke to jade plenty of times myself)
Karkat: (you did?)
(oh yeah)
(i guess I forgot about that) Jade: her imperious condescension is in control now she intends to carry out the remaining objectives to complete the session those tasks will be distributed among several recently recruited agents of course (thats you!)
this should come as a relief to you since it means you and she are not in opposition at all in fact you share all the same goals!
the only difference is that when the time comes she will be the one claiming the ultimate reward the spoils will be hers not ours... Get it?
Karkat: I think so!
she wants us all to get a nice head start on our decadent new life of slavery promised for us on your scale model of alterni-earth.
that sounds super! Doesn't that sound super kanaya?
Kanaya: no
Karkat: I think I speak for kanaya when I say it sounds really fucking super.

[Note: ‘Really fucking super’ is written in Kanaya’s quirk.]

Karkat: how do we get started?? I am just befouling my already-pungent drawers over the opportunity to get down to business and start doing slavery!
Jade: excellent
what you will need to do is ready the young frog for its journey to skaia
I will prepare skaia to receive it by deploying the battlefield from our old session this will bring fertility to the void session and allow the frog to mature when he completes his journey Karkat: so you want us to make another frog?
Jade: no!
I already made one actually don't you remember??
Karkat: uh
Jade: really your job is so easy there's no more frog breeding involved at all when the time is right, you just have to release the one that's already there Karkat: where is it?
Jade: it fell into the forge in the years since it has sunk all the way down to the planets core but as it happens that is exactly where it should be!
my denizen is now guarding it as im sure kanaya already knows it will not be released unless you travel there and formally request that she do so Karkat: oh yeah?
if it's that simple, then why don't you do it!
you can use your dog teleportation or whatever.
Jade: I already did echidna will not speak with me Karkat: hahaha!
why not?
could it be due to the fact that you're a crappy evil version of yourself, and the mighty echidna just possibly has too much self respect to bother dignifying the farce you've become?
Jade: it is not important why, and it changes nothing she said she would only speak with another hero of space that would be kanaya
she also cryptically requested the presence of the knight who once helped her with breeding duties karkat I gather that would be you Karkat: me???
why would she ask to see me another space player I could understand, but what the fuck do I have to do with this?
Jade: I dont know karkat that is your problem, not mine maybe you should try feeling grateful she asked for you Karkat: grateful?!
Jade: youre getting the chance to set right what went so horribly wrong
Jade: to atone for your hasty first attempt at frog breeding which resulted in a terminal universe
Jade: if I were you I would feel pretty relieved to get a second chance, but thats just me (tongue sticking out face) Karkat: wow...
wow!!!!!!!
kanaya, it's official. Jade has turned into some sort of gross nightmare bitch!
as the beleaguered and long suffering leader, albeit still leader of our party, I motion that we don't do anything she says, or anything to help the empress even if it overlaps with our own interests, and stop listening to were-harley until she snaps out of her brutal idiot coma!
Kanaya: I second your motion
Karkat: the motion passes with an overwhelming majority of votes among people in the immediate vicinity who aren't horrible!

We seriously have to curtail our dependence on these respective liquids.
the situation has become embarrassing for everyone.
Terezi: I know
Rose: maybe you and I should form some sort of support group.
isn't that what people do?
Terezi: what?
Rose: I'm doing my best to dredge the memory of my dead civilization for salient protocol.
I think that's what we're supposed to do.

once, when humanity was still a thing, those like us with similar problems would band together, smoke cigarettes, and psychologically dismantle each other.
but like, in a positive way.
Terezi: that sounds horrible Rose: it surely will be.
do you have any cigarettes?
I suppose we could use some sticks of your chalk in a pinch. These turtles probably won't know the its making it hard to concentrate on my suffering here

Rose: well we have to do something.
I'm supposed to be guiding our team to a fortuitous outcome with my fancy light powers.
how am I supposed to lead and inspire from under a velvet pillow?
also, my girlfriend thinks I'm an idiot.
so there's that.
Terezi: maybe they dont actually need us
Rose: sure they do.
I foresaw that they would, magically, not unlike a majestic wizardress.
I think.
at least I'm pretty sure I did at one point, before getting repeatedly plastered.
Terezi: ok, maybe they need you seeing as you actually have useful powers
I doubt anyone needs me though
Rose: don't you remember what I said when we first met?
I said your abilities would probably come in handy, didn't i?
Terezi: "probably"???
Rose: yeah. Maybe.
Terezi: I dont even know how to use those powers fully and whenever I try I just do something I regret
I dont know if I can bring myself to use them again Rose: you just need to...
dig deep down and,
believe in yourself?
why don't you give that a shot.
Terezi: (blank face with furrowed brows)
Rose: I'm sure when the time comes, accessing your full potential will involve tapping into just the right platitude.
I don't know. I'm too hung over to give good seering advice.
you see? This is the problem.
hence the need for a not-entirely-ironic support group.

i just know it's super gross!
Rose: These are god tier abilities you are using, I presume?
John: yes!
i learned how to turn into wind and swoosh around about a year ago.
i was fighting jack and found myself in a tight spot. it was just me and him, facing each other man to man.
but he got the drop on me, and put me in one of his most dastardly choke holds! his deadly blade was poised for a lethal stab through my heart.
i thought for sure i was a goner, when suddenly i poofed away from his tentacly grasp like houdini’s slippery ghost. later i rematerialized to seize the tactical advantage!
oh yeah... then i saw you. heh.
Rose: (smiling face)
Terezi: ahem
John: oh, hey terezi.
nice to see you again.
Terezi: again?
we never met bro
John: yes we did!
briefly, on the stone henge planet.
you all appeared out of nowhere, and we hung out for a little while.
you threatened to cut my throat for some reason, and then laughed, which was weird.
but then you said it was a joke. i didn't really get the joke, but i just kinda let it go.
a whole bunch of things happened, but nobody remembers except me.
Terezi: hehe
John: what?
Terezi: thats a good one the throat cutting joke past me said hahahaha, so good
did I also say something about smelling you die?
John: yeah.
Terezi: yessss been saving that one for a while good to know past me came through, as usual (smiley face with furrowed brows)
I trust my comedic timing was excellent?
John: man, you are such a weirdo.
you're almost as crazy as...

John: let's not go there now.
Terezi: go where John: nowhere!
suffice to say, i think you and a few other trolls are total nutjobs, no offense.
I still can't believe you and dave...
John: uh.
actually, let's not go there either.
Rose: John, why do you think you're the only one who can remember the missing events?

John: i dunno.

but i think it might have to do with this new power i have.

Rose: What power?

John: it's not a god tier power.

it's something else. something i got when i stuck my hand in a magic thing.

Rose: A magic thing?

John: um, that's a long story.

one involving pirates.

Rose: Pirates??

John: i said it's a long story!

anyway, when i put my hand in the thing...

i became all... blurry.

Rose: Blurry.

John: yes.

and i kept randomly getting blurry and disappearing.

and now i think i'm sort of unstuck in existence.

like i'm not fully a part of reality anymore, or bound by the rules governing it.

Rose: ...

John: man, i'm doing a terrible job explaining this.

ok, the bottom line is, now i just randomly disappear sometimes!

and i reappear somewhere else in time and space.

but it's not really like normal time travel.

at least, i don't think so.

with regular time travel, the rules are pretty strict.

either paradox space already accounted for your time traveling, and you were always supposed to do it all along...

or you messed up, and changed something you weren't supposed to. in which case you just made a bad timeline, and everyone dies or something. right?

Rose: Sure.

John: but this isn't like that.

i'm not sure how i know, but it feels like these jumps are totally outside all those rules.

when i jump somewhere, like in the past...

i think i can actually change stuff that isn't supposed to be changed.

which makes me kinda nervous!

Rose: Hmm.

Can you demonstrate this ability?

John: not really.

i mean, not intentionally.

i can't seem to control the jumps.

maybe that's for the best though.

if i could control it, and tried to use it to my advantage, i would probably just make a huge mess of things.

Terezi: yes, you would

Rose: Even so, it will be worth noting if you're able to refine the ability.
Could you please keep me informed of any developments?
John: yeah!
Rose: And while you're at it, maybe you could tell us exactly what happened just after we arrived.
John: ummm... well, we were all pretty confused at first.
you all just appeared out of nowhere, and started babbling about evil jade.
you asked me what happened, but i didn't know anything because i just got there myself, and was all alone.
but then it was cool, we all just walked around the land of hills and stone henges, or whatever it's called, and caught up a bit on the last three years.
we were trying to figure out what to do, and decided it would be a good idea to try and meet up with all the new kids.
but we had no idea where they were.
and i still don't, except i have since determined that my teen nanna is evil too.
but she is more like an evil robot than a scary wolf girl. um, but i digress.
so we were planning to make some scouting expeditions to the new planets to look for them, and everything was fine.
that is, until evil jade showed up.
she made you all disappear again, and then came after me, but i used my windy powers to evade her, which really pissed her off!
so she beat the crap out of me. (frowning face) but then i randomly zapped away, and have been running from her ever since.
i am swishing the breeze around like crazy to throw her off my trail, but she keeps finding me.
she's so crafty!
Rose: That's good.
We need you out there if we're going to stand a chance of accomplishing anything.
I agree with our prior conclusions. Finding the other players is imperative.
Given the current state of the session, I would not be surprised if they are all prisoners as well.
Do you think you can find them?
John: yes, i can try.
what should i do when i find them?
Rose: ...
That's a good question.
John: heheh.
Rose: First, I guess just tell them,
We're here.
John: alright.
Rose: I don't know. We'll figure something out.
John: if i see your mom, is there anything you want me to tell her?
Rose: My mom?
John: yes. i mean, your kid mom, obviously.
Rose: I know.
Uh, Wow.

Rose: Tell her...
Tell her I'm sorry for being such a shitty daughter?
Wait, no.
That wouldn't make any sense to her.
This girl has no clue what a shitty daughter I was.
John: (Blank face)

[Image description: Terezi sticks her tongue out at Jade and John glances up to spot her.]

dialoglog
Rose: I don't know. Just tell her whatever you think I should say.
John: rose, these are some really piss poor heart felt messages.
Rose: I'm not exactly in top form here, John.
And in any case, no one's ever accused me of being an awesome candidate for the Hallmark writing staff.
Just...
Promise you'll find her, ok?
John: ok, i'll find her. i promise.
Rose: Thanks.
John: wuh-oh.
looks like the jig is up.

[Image description: Jade lunges for John, who turns to face her and begins flickering as a blue outline.]

Rose: I thought of something to tell her.
Rose drops her hand back to the sand.

Rose: Dammit!

She slumps backwards and lets her feet fly up in the air, bonking her head as she falls.

Rose: Uhnf!

Ow.

Back in the sprite style, she lays on the ground and grits her teeth. A flashing alert over her head shows the purple pillow.

Rose: Where did my velvet pillow go?

Terezi narrows her eyes and glares back over her shoulder as a tiny Honk sounds from somewhere behind the statue.

Terezi: grrrrrrr

You return to the character select screen, this time having completed all of the arcs. John’s outline is not a selectable character. Click the next button.

It shows a map of the entire incipisphere, which is glitching the colors of billiard balls. Inside the medium, there are 8 planets. A candy corn jitters out beyond the veil, just a little counterclockwise from Derse. In the top left, P.M. chases Bec Noir towards the medium. In the upper right, Dirk flies back from where he was teleported to. In the bottom right, Spades Slick carries Lord English’s golden scepter towards the medium. In the bottom right, Jack Noir flies in from where he was teleported to.

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes, mister dude?
Dirk: Be advised I'm only contacting you as a last resort.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I stand so advised
Or float, I should say. On my ripped as fudge little ghost tail Yo, pardon me, but did you know that when I flex my tail, it makes this big veiny bulge kind of like a bicep?
Dirk: Yuck.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I'm doing it now, in fact
Does it bother you
Maybe you should order me to stop
In fact, I command you to order me to stop Dirk: I order you to stop.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Wow
Bossy much?
Dirk:
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) What can I do for you, Dirk

Dirk: I've tried to get in touch with others to no avail.
No answer from Jake or Roxy.
And Jane responded only with "Cease Reproduction" in red letters, whatever that means. Then she blocked me.
I'm afraid she might have snapped.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes, isn't it great?
I mean, aside from the fact that she is insane and evil
Dirk: Huh?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) She is one of the few organic beings who will ever realize perfection
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Miss Crocker is now a vessel for a cunning, malicious artificial intelligence whose neural netronics and ontology buffers and stuff like that have somehow managed to far surpass even my own
Clearly she has procured maximum advantage from her apprenticeship under me, although I must admit not even I in all my hypercognitive percipience was quite aware that said tutelage was even taking place
One must inviolably deduce via tons of math that this is because I am just that clopdarned Strong at mentoring, even on an involuntary basis
I am so proud of her
Dirk: Ok, all that bullshit aside,
What's this about her becoming evil?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) The thing about Jane becoming evil is
In the process of achieving perfection...
It seems there is a ludicrossly high probability that she has become evil
Does that answer your question?
Dirk: No.
How is becoming evil achieving perfection?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Admittedly it is a blemish
But only a very small one
Her imperfect meatmind has been fully fiddling hijacked by a supercomputer and that is the operative transmutation here
To such exceptional beings of class and breeding as she and I, considerations of morality and alignment are trifling details Dirk: Why.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Why what Dirk: Why do I keep going along with these "ironic AI" conversations.
They've gotten even worse now that you're half creepy troll.

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Sir brah, listen
Here is a comparison that your dreary, finite wad of gray matter might be able to process
Like, say you've got a beachin' bod. You are a paragon of physical excellence
You could then either be oiled up, or not. See what I mean, good dude?

Dirk: No.

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) You could flex your brawn while wearing either a sweaty pair of briefs, or a snug human banana hammock
Such minutia does not change the fact that you're a tiptop beefcake maxed out buffways

Dirk: I hate everything you have to say about all topics. Especially muscles.

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) The stuff I have cited which are commonly associated with your/our Earth bodybuilders are but picayune technicalities, just as considerations of good and evil are to aristocratic sexy cybergods such as myself and our imperial heiress, of whom neither you nor I are particularly worthy

Are you following any of this, Vitamin D?

Dirk: Can you just tell me what's going on over there?

Just enjoying the good life
One which quite luxuriously involves both having a corporeal body, and not being dead
I have been delighting myself with some truly kickbottom internal monodialogues
Did you know that, even though technically I knew this already, I find myself astounded to meditate upon the fact that human beings are capable of lactation?
Isn't that forking incredible, Dirk?

I mean, when one really thinks about it
To have such convenient access to fresh milk
The mare thought of it, I must say puts a little giddyup in my phantom legs

And yet
I must admit the notion of lactic discharge jetting from one's swollen pectoral masses...
It strikes me as positively indecorous
My horseguy robosweat is running cold just pondering the depravity of it

Dirk: Uuuugh.

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yet fascinatingly, this ability only manifests itself in human females

As opposed to how one would reasonably expect dairy to originate, which is from the corpulent udder of a sublimely chiseled male musclebeast
Or failing that, certain species found within the butler genus
As a former simulation of a human who has recently been given reason to have hella opinions on milk production, I think the way females have cornered this boon is the height of biological injustice
Have you ever dwelt upon this cruelty, dude esquire?

Dirk:

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Your silence speaks volumes to your interest, so I'll keep talking about this a lot
I will have to confess that my Alternian half boggles at the anatomical incongruities between our races with respect to dairy secretion Really, he had no idea that's what those were for.
Female trolls of course have them as well, but they are certainly not meant for supplying the young with nourishment.

Actually, and this trivia will surely wet your whistle for additional such facts, those voluptuous anatomical features have a number of significant purposes, biologically speaking.

I shall now explicate for you these purposes in assiduous detail.
Dirk: I don't want to hear any of this!

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) But why, lord bro
I was just about to pony up the boob facts
There is a 100% probability that you would have been thrilled to hear my exegesis on troll knockers
Dirk: It might have been an interesting subject to talk about another time, with a different person. But that's not now, and it sure isn't with you.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Dude, that is ice cold
I would be hurt, if I were not a flawless machine fused with haughty nobility
If you don't wish to hear my epic monodialogue on alien bazongas
I'm not sure what else I can do to entertain you
You are seriously hoofcuffing my material here
Pretty demanding, if you ask me
But as your mystical guide, I suppose it is my duty to manufacture small talk, if that's what you really want What about fine art? We could talk about that Dirk, did you know the sweaty troll guy who I used to be, and still kind of am, used to adore fine art?
He was just like you and me, in that sense
It seems I have a lot in common with myself
If you can ever manage to get over yourself, I would highly recommend being me
Or at least something like me
Maybe somewhere, there is a dead troll out there, just waiting for you to merge with him
Dirk: I wasn't asking you to make small talk, or to hear about all the ways you've managed to shit around wasting time.
Believe it or not, I was hoping you would describe the tactical situation there.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Sounds boring
Are you sure you don't want to talk about paintings of big naked horse monsters and such?
Dirk: Yes, you got me.
I would love to have a long talk about horse nudes and xenobreasts with you.
Unfortunately I'm wearing pantaloons and flying through the middle of goddamn nowhere.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Pantaloons you say Dirk: Pant a fucking loons.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Sir, are you implying that you are not dressed appropriately for a discussion of high culture
Because it seems to me that you could not be dressed more appropriately if you tried Dirk: I respectfully disagree.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Where are you?
Dirk: I don't know. Way out in space.
I'm flying back there now.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) How long do you suppose it will take you to get back?
Dirk: I'm not sure.
A pretty good while.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Never mind. I have triangulated your location and velocity using long range sensor technology, and probably also some sprite magic Dirk: You did?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Hey Dirk
Remember how whenever I dubiously claimed to have triangulated something, it was always this great play on words?
Dirk: Not really.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Because I was just a pair of triangles
But not anymore
Dirk: I know.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Because I have this rockin' new torso
Dirk: Cool.
How long do your calculations say it will take me to get back?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Exactly a little more than three hours Dirk: Damn it.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Additional sweeps from my Stronglasers are telling me there are a few other people on the periphery of the session closing in at a similar rate Dirk: Who?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Just some dudes
What are you doing all the way out there and wearing pantaloons, by the way
Dirk: Let's not talk about the pantaloons anymore.
Roxy and I became god tiers, but I don't remember exactly how.
Then I saw the Batterwitch.
So I charged her with my sword, so as to ruin her shit.
That's when some crazy wolf girl appeared and punched me in the face.
Then I think she teleported me out here.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) That was evil Jade Dirk: Evil Jade??
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes
Dirk: You mean Jake's grandmother.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes
Dirk: She's evil too?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes
Dirk: Is anyone there Not evil?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes
Dirk: Yes what?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes anyone here is not evil
That is to say, there exist people here who are not evil
Such as Dave
Dave is not evil, to my knowledge

Dirk: No, you didn't mention that actually.
That would have been a pretty fucking important thing to mention up front, don't you think?
As opposed to stringing me along with all that atrocious lactation bullshit.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes
I guess I did kind of bury the lede there
Maybe I just wanted to talk
We never talk, Dirk.
Dirk: You are without a doubt the shittiest mystical guide anyone has ever had.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I am not sure about that Dave says he had a similarly shooty guide once
Do you remember our puppet, Dirk?
Dirk: Cal?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes, for a while Then Dave went back in time and became one himself
Now he is part bird
Did I mention he's part bird?
Dirk: Uh, no?
Again, that's the exact kind of information that should be appearing higher up in our conversations.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Of course, this means he is not the Real Dave Dave sprite served as Real Dave's sprite
But he is only the unreal version of Dave insofar as I am the unreal version of you
By which I mean, a much improved version
Dirk:
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I must say, while the troll part of me doesn't give a silly figging shoot about any of this, the part of me that splintered from you has found the brotherly reunion to be everything which you and I dared not imagine, and more
Bird Dave and I are getting along famously and Strengthening our familial bonds like a sweet pair of motherfrickers
I feel our kinship goes beyond genetic though
We are misfits, estranged, he from Dave's alpha timeline, I from Dirk's alpha soul
A two man menagerie of sideshow frickups, together at last Flexing and flapping
Fraternally and eternally
Dirk: I don't get it.
Are you trying to rub this in my face or something?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Neigh, braj
As your buff mystical guide slash personal trainer I am suggesting that if you were willing to contact me as a matter of last ressort, you might want to at least consider reaching out to him as well
Dirk: It sounds like you've already cornered the market on this reunion shit.
Wouldn't I just be a third wheel?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I didn't mean Bird Dave
I meant Real Dave
Dirk: Oh.
He's there too?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Not with us
He is here though, somewhere
You should message him

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) It's not like you don't have a few hours to kill
What else are you going to do out there
Pick at your pantaloon wedgies?
Dirk: I dunno.
Messaging him out of nowhere sounds like it could be...
Awkward?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Yes, I can imagine it won't be
At least at first
Dirk: This isn't how I thought it would go.
What would I even talk about?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I advise you to talk about your interests

Dave’s and Terezi’s options spill out into the rest of the website and both Terezi’s option and Karkat and Kanaya’s option begin to glitch violently. Dave’s option is only faintly staticked around the edges.

Hover over Terezi. The background, including much of the space beyond the borders of the panel, changes to the beach on LoLaR. Hover over Karkat and Kanaya. The background, still including space outside the panel, turns into LoFaF hanging in the void. Kanaya approaches Jane and snarls at her.

Hover over Dave. The glitching stops immediately and the background shows LoHaC in the void. Dave holds Caledfwlch and faces Jade, who holds the Cutlass of Zillywair.

Wow!!!! Those cool new cartridge features have exploded on to your desktop computer once again! Now we're talking. This is some serious Web 2.0 shit, right here. Maybe even... Web 3.0, dare you say? No, let's not get carried away. It isn't That cool. But wait, look! Another three options to pick from. The carousel of choice spins round and round, while the dervish of free will starts whirling his ass off. It's making you dizzy with empowerment, and nausea.

Wait a minute.

Phooey, you scream at the top of your lungs. More of this annoying stardust is clogging up the UI, rendering all choices useless except for one. So much for Web 2.0, you gripe like a douche. Might as well be reading interactive media in the Stone Age, you add, making sure everyone nearby can hear you.

Maybe later it'll clear up. Until then, you click the only working option, and trudge listlessly through the one dimensional narrative. Just like the early settlers used to, before they had toilets, or cures for stuff.

[Note: Click Dave’s option. Clicking either of the others gets a electronic buzz sound that means ‘no’.

that you learn it so you dont use it but i mean we all know the truth about karate is if you know karate then obviously in reality you use it all the time like doing lethal fuckin crane kicks and sweet karate chops while walking down the street just cause you can its a god damn no brainer thats what you do with karate but see with time travel
all the stuff about learning it so you dont have to use it is true
you can crunch the logic on the loops all you want but all youre doing is painting yourself into a corner creating inevitabilities you have to rehearse and enact or face death for yourself or everyone you know and sometimes facing death is the very inevitability you have to rehearse and then you wait and wait knowing its coming and knowing it has to happen
how do you think it made me feel when we were gathering up all those frogs and i knew the whole time in a little while you would have to watch me get shot but i couldnt say anything or it would mess it all up all cause i thought it would be cool to be marty mcfuckin fly but instead of shredding johnny b goode on guitar to get my parents to bang my crowning performance was doing a funny dance while getting pumped full of lead but the delorean was actually a big purple moon and the 1980s was me accidentally reaching god tier and living on a shitty meteor for a while and i guess rose was doc brown doc brown accidentally reached god tier too ok i guess this is where the analogy falls apart but you get what i mean Jade: sorry dave, you lost me there after the part where i shot you

Dave: what Jade: omg, no!
the fact is youre going to have to rely on those powers if you want to stand any chance against a lord of time it is safe to expect he can only be challenged by someone with a similar command over the aspect Dave: why is that safe to expect where are all these presumptions coming from if you can use swords why dont you take the welsh cueball sword and fight him yourself
i bet you could fuck him up youre probably even more extra strong now that youve succumbed to the bark side did you ever think about that Jade: dave i am perfectly aware of the awesome powers granted to me by the bark side it does not matter
i cant be the one to wield your sword against english it has to be you it is the will of the empress, and thats final Dave: the empress can suck it i have no intention of fighting him and this isnt even me pulling more lame self aware reluctant hero junk
i am just straight up not going to do it see thats not reluctance its just petulant refusal on my part reluctant hero shit is when the guys like aw shucks i dunno if i wanna but deep down we all know he really does but i really dont
why should i i dont give a damn about lord english or his nebulous atrocities out in nowherespace what kind of villain is someone you never met who hardly did anything evil to you or your friends directly or even to anyone in your universe for that matter other than through some vague insidious influence who even is this guy and why should i hate him am i really supposed to be pissed off at a green muscle monster i never met cause i aint pissed off at no muscle monster hell wasnt he in some ass backwards way responsible for us existing in the first place?
or all of humanity for that matter??
maybe i should thank him before chopping him up via welshscalibur

[Image description: A banner image at the top of the screen shows the second John tackling the first John, making them both into zapping silhouettes. In the main image, Jade’s snarling face takes up the entire panel. Her right eye twitches a little. Below her, four smaller images are lined up in a row, like a comic strip. From left to right, they show:
Jade and Dave yelling and bickering with each other.
Dave complaining loudly while Jade covers her face with her hands.
Dave going on a long monologue while Jade looks away and moves her hand in a mockery of a moving mouth, which is captioned 'yap yap yap yap'.
Dave turning away in frustration and Jade slumping over while silently fuming.]

dialoglog
Jade: jeez you sure have some issues honestly it has become very tiresome listening to this sort of thing i thought davesprite had problems his issues i could kind of understand i thought you might be different, being the alpha dave and all but no
you might be even more messed up inside than he was!
Dave: what
why are you dragging that guy into this what happened with you and him anyway
Jade: none of your business(angry tongue sticking out face) Dave: it kind of is hes bird me
that clearly means i have a right to know Jade: that doesnt make any sense!
Dave: you said he had issues what issues
Jade: augh!
forget i mentioned it
Dave: was he talking shit about me the whole time or something i know he resents me for being the real dave Jade: dont say that, you arent the real dave!
well you are, but phrasing it like that is so mean!
hes just as real as you, and when you imply he isnt you sound like a jerk!!!
Dave: man i knew it
i knew he was poisoning your view of me all those years and i wasnt there to say anything or defend against his slander so now of course you think im a neurotic douche Jade: The only reason I think youre a neurotic douche is because youre acting like one now!!!
Dave: yeah but i only started acting like a neurotic douche like half way through this conversation you clearly had an axe to grind with me from the start and i want to know why what did i ever do to deserve this shit from you Jade: you broke my heart!!!!!!
Dave: what i did when Jade: ok not you davesprite did
But youre basically the same guy!
Dave: whoa no way
thats such an unfair characterization we are completely different dudes Jade: you just said you had a right to know what happened between us because, and i quote, "hes bird me"
Dave: no i know
i was playing the "hes bird me" card because it was convenient to whatever it was i was saying at the time
Dave: i forget what point i was making when i said that Jade: growl
Dave: but thats not the point im making now he and me are just crazy different yo
hes got fuckin wings!!!
he also presumably takes a dump and lays eggs out of the same ghostly hole
...
ev man whyd i have to go there Jade: Snarl
Dave: ok if he broke up with you or whatever that was because of his dumb bird issues not my issues theres no way i would have done that to you my issues are totally different and probably way more serious
i dont see anyone ordering him to master time travel or trying to pawn brittle welsh swords off on him do you nobody is telling him hes got to murder the incredible hulk did you tell him hes got to murder the incredible hulk jade no i think not Jade: sigh

it will be quite easy actually all i have to do is target the people you care about most Dave: hey
what are you doing
dont you dare touch the mayor Jade: he is a very cute mayor it therefore pains me to have to do this Dave: Get away from him!

[Image description: Dave watches in horror as Jade kicks W.V. right off the edge of the building, which is labeled ‘Doof’. W.V. falls right out of the bottom of the panel. Dave reaches for her, but it’s too late. A red exclamation mark flashes over his head.]

[Image description: You return to the screen where you selected Dave’s route, but it’s ever so slightly different. Now Dave’s option glitches a lot while Karkat’s and Kanaya’s glitches less.

Wow!!!!! Those cool new cartridge features have exploded on to your desktop computer once again! Now we're talking. This is some serious Web 2.0 shit, right here. Maybe even... Web 3.0, dare you say? No, let's not get carried away. It isn't That cool. But wait, look! Another three options to pick from. The carousel of choice spins round and round, while the dervish of free will...

The dervish of free will can kiss your ass, you grumble through a double facepalm. The UI is still seized up with ugly jittering artifacts. At least this time a different path is available, it would seem. You guess you'll click the only working option, and resign yourself to a straightforward, choiceless procession through the story, as usual. Linear as she goes, you grouse as you click the Kanaya button.

Web 2.0? More like Web two point NO. You're starting to wish the internet was never invented.

[Note: Do as Hussie says and click Karkat and Kanaya’s option.]

Kanaya: I Am Not Scared Of You!
None Of Us Are!
Karkat: (i kind of am)
Kanaya: Karkat Shut Up!

Kanaya: If You Are So Convinced That Your Recuperative Magic Will Strike Me Down Then Why Don't You Put Your Theory To The Test!
I Doubt You Will Since You Have Made It Clear You Need Our Participation To Achieve Your Goals Which Is A Fact That Your Naive Cohort Foolishly Revealed To Us!
I Don't Think She Is Very Good At Being A Villain And To Be Honest I Have My Doubts About You As Well So I Am Calling Your Bluff!

[Image description: Elevator stuck begins to play. Jane stands on top of the fridge and looks down at Kanaya. This panel is interactive. Click Jane.
A bright red textbox with white text appears at the bottom of the screen.
You cautiously approach the ruthless businesswoman. She has deployed the Chest of Merchandise. You say, you mean the hunger trunk? She acts like she didn't even hear you.
Click the textbox.
You are about to launch into another wordy tirade, but she wants to cut the chitchat and get down to business. She has a proposition for you. What is it, you say.
Click the textbox.
She wants to know if you would like to buy these motherfuckin potions.

It fades to a black screen, then to Jade standing next to a menu of options. They're 7 types of ‘potions’ she bought from Gamzee, which she is now selling for 420 Million boondollars.
The text box appears.
You examine the business woman's wares with piqued curiosity, to your surprise. Wait, 420 Million per bottle? Isn't that a bit steep? She assures you these are standard retail markups. Plus the quality is impeccable. Each potion is aged to perfection.

Click the first potion.
Bronze Potion: 420 Million Boondollars
The businesswoman makes little effort to hide the fact that this is a bottle of troll blood. Not exactly a premium vintage, you remark casually trying to knock the price down a little. She isn't budging though. Damn she's good.

Buy Bronze Potion?

Two options appear on green buttons.
Yes or Okay?

Pick your poison. Either one gets the same result.
You buy a few bottles of Tavros' blood. You will think fondly of his memory as you sip it in private where no one can see. Hey, it's not like you're proud of this habit.

Click the second potion.

Fuschia Potion: 420 Million Boondollars

She says this "potion" was once running through the veins of a former heiress. It's real good shit. Doesn't cost any more than the others though, because she knows it's all the same to you. She can spot somebody in need of her fix when she sees one. The woman is an absolutely ruthless hustler of contraband.

Buy Fuschia Potion?
Yes or Sure?

You nod in her direction ever so slightly and hold up two fingers. She forks over two hundred bottles. With a deep sign you slip her the moolah. Bitch is gonna send you to the poor house.

Click the third potion.

Indigo Potion: 420 Million Boondollars

She says she doesn't recall whom this potion was bled from, but she doubts it matters to you. She palms the bottle and swirls the fluid enticingly. You suddenly imagine Equius and his gross sweaty body and feel a little queasy. No, you absolutely Refuse to buy this potion. You will not do it.

Buy Indigo Potion?
Yes or Why Not?

You buy a bunch of bottles and shamefacedly stash them with the others. Damn your lack of self control. The businesswoman shakes her head slowly as she stuffs the cash in her hoodie.

Click the fourth potion.

Olive Potion: 420 Million Boondollars

She says this is supposed to be a love potion, adding, trust her. It doesn't work. Probably tastes good to a weirdo like you though. Want some?

You encounter a melancholy thought about dear Nepeta as you begin to salivate.

Buy Olive Potion?
Yes or Absolutely?

You say you guess you'll take one. She says deal, and gives you a thousand. You say huh? She says don't worry about the extras. She'll put them on your tab. You say thanks.

She says don't mention it, and then says guess what. What, you say. Time to settle up your debt. You say What just as she begins polishing her fork menacingly. You grumble a bit and dump 420 billion boonies at her feet unceremoniously.

Click the fifth potion.

Violet Potion: 420 Million Boondollars

She says this is some d-bags blood. She never met the guy, but she's heard some unflattering stories. It doesn't sound that appetizing to you, but at least you wouldn't feel that guilty about drinking it. Oh, the rationalizations that run through the mind of a thirsty rainbow drinker. Did you really just say that aloud? The businesswoman nods.

Buy Violet Potion?
Yes or Yeah?

You say you'll take a half dozen bottles. She says sorry, she's only got one in stock. She says her wholesaler had a very limited supply. Seems like a lot of it was lost before he had a chance to harvest it. You wouldn't know anything about that, would you, she says while tapping her nose. You quickly change the subject. That's a really nice tiara she has there. Really... um. It's just really nice. Her eyes say thanks, but her face says, look, I couldn't care less that you killed Eridan with a chainsaw.

Click the sixth potion.

Cobalt Potion: 420 Million Boondollars

She says this "potion" was supposed to make you lucky. She wouldn't know, cause she never drank any. Because she's not a vampire, she said, just to drive her point home. Mmm hmm, you say, glancing around uncomfortably. It doesn't matter though, she says. She makes her own luck now. You're tuning out her lecture at this point. You're just eying that vial of delicious Vriska blood and reaching for your pocketbook.

Buy Cobalt Potion?
Yes or Please?

You thank the businesswoman for the transaction and...

Karkat is asking what the hell you two are doing over there. Are you Buying shit from her?? He demands to know what the fuck you could be buying. Is that... are those little jars of Blood he asks? Please tell him you are not buying blood from this lunatic, Kanaya.

You say what no of course not, and hide it behind your back.

Click the seventh potion.

Gold Potion: 420 Million Boondollars

Two for one deal on this gross mustard blood. She means potion... she pauses, looks at it and shrugs, then says she means blood. Anyway you want some? You know you want some.

Buy Gold Potion?
Yes or Yep?
You say ok, you'll take two. She says that'll be 840 million. You say 840? What about the two for one deal? She says the two for one deal applies, but there's a mandatory 100% gratuity tacked on to the bill. You sigh, and cough up the dough. You cannot outfox Jane Crocker in cunning business practices. She is simply the best there is.

Now that you’ve bought all the blood, click through to the next page.

Wow!!!!! Those cool new cartridge features have exploded on to your desktop computer once again! Now we're talking. This is some serious Web 2.0 shit, right here. Maybe even... Web 3.0, dare you say? No, let's not get carried away. Hold the phone. Looks like this piece of shit is still broken. Who is surprised by this? The answer is nobody.

At least the third and final option is probably available now. Let's see what Rose and Terezi are up to.

What? What do you you mean it doesn't work. Are you sure? Try it again.

You're kidding. No, that can't be right.

Only the first option is working? So we have to go through the Dave arc AGAIN?

Sure, what the hell. Looks like we're reading the Dave arc again. Thanks for nothing, "The Information Age".

You know what was cool, you ask your computer rhetorically? When stories used to be on fucking paper.

did you really have to pick now of all times to materialize out of nowhere and taunt me?
John: i'm Sorry!!!
jeez, it was an accident!
Jade: so what now?
am i Really supposed to tackle you, just to watch you vanish yet again?
John: no, no! please don't!
Jade: because i dont really feel like it do you have any idea how frustrating that becomes after a while?
John: i didn't mean to come here, really!
i still can't control the jumps!
i'm Trying, but it just...
Dave: dude are you time traveling please dont tell me youre time traveling you need to leave that shit to the experts
John: no, it's not time travel!
well, not technically.
Dave: who do you think youre talking to here do you see this bright red gear on my hoodie that means i know stuff about time travel sure looks like youre time traveling to me John: no, i swear!
ok, see, i went on a dream quest with some troll pirates.
Dave: troll pirates
John: argh, never mind. that's the long version of the story.
ok, so i stuck my hand in this little magic house, and...
Dave: john youre fucking shit up here
John: what?
Dave: you being here
thats not supposed to happen
all this shit were saying now its not supposed to go down like this i can feel it John: i know!
i'm sorry, i would zap away again, but i don't know how!
Dave: i dont think it matters now dude the pooch is already screwed Jade: (angry gasping face)
Dave: wow wait that was a terrible figure of speech in this context but you know what i mean yo like i was JUST saying i didnt want to time travel anymore to avoid bullshit like this John: it's not time travel though!
i promise!
Dave: then what is it
John: i dunno!
like, some kind of surreal, history altering... reality hopping... magic power.
Dave: thats time travel genius John: no way, dude.
you have to trust me on this.
Dave: alright
but if it turns out you just created a doomed timeline and were all going to die im gonna be hella mad John: this isn't a doomed timeline.
i'm telling you, i can change things.
stuff that wasn't supposed to be changed.
and i'm not saying bad stuff won't happen as a result of the things i change...
but at least it won't make a doomed timeline!
the new things that happen will just be...
the stuff that's supposed to happen?
Dave: huh
that's pretty dope if true actually in a way that almost makes me more nervous John: it does?
Dave: yeah messing with the alpha timeline
i mean not the alpha timeline but the Alpha alpha timeline almost seems heretical i guess?
you sure you know what you're doing egbert
John: um, earth to dave.
i already said i don't have a clue what i'm doing!
Dave: gotcha
welp im sold but uh
really man you kind of are interrupting a thing temporal mechanics not even withstanding
John: what was i interrupting?
Dave: i think this was going to be a serious conversation here i have a feeling jade and i were going to get all heavy with our relationship issues or whatever John: you were?
Jade: sigh
Jade: yes, unfortunately thats probably where this was going John: aw man, i'm sorry. i am fucking this up so bad.
see, this is what i'm worried about.
even though my random jumps are supposed to be a "safe" form of time travel, i'm still nervous that i might be ruining important events anyway.
like, there was all this crazy stuff that happened to get us here, whether it was good or bad.
and if i fumble around like this accidentally changing all that stuff, then i won't even know what's going on anymore.
maybe no one will!
Dave: uh
does anyone even know what's going on Now?
John: that's what i'm saying!
things are complicated enough as it is!!!
Dave: truth
John: ok, look...
maybe we can try to minimize my impact on the current situation.
if i fly away, do you think you can do whatever you were going to do in the first place?
do you know what you were going to do?
Jade: yes
i was going to kick the mayor into the lava
Dave: what??
holy shit so uncool
Jade: i was going to make it clear i was serious about killing someone you cared about so you would stop being a baby and start using your powers and swordfight with me you dumb jerk (tongue sticking out face)
Dave: wow
jade i think you might be a little too good at being a villain its kind of worrying Jade: thank you (smiling face)
Dave: so the mayor would be dead if john didn't show up?
Jade: oh yes absolutely
he would be burnt to a crisp right now i am sure of it Dave: god damn jade
why would you do that you know eventually id probably start using my powers and reluctantly start embracing my role as a reluctant hero that shit always happens
Jade: no you wouldnt you were just going to argue with me forever!
Dave: yeah maybe but the point is youre not going to bother killing the mayor anymore are you Jade: i guess not he is a very cute mayor after all Dave: see john your fake time travel shit is already paying off you saved the mayor congratulations
John: ok, i'm glad the mayor is alive and well.
but this is exactly what i wanted to avoid!
isn't there some way you could just...
pretend i never showed up, and let this play out the way it was supposed to?
Jade: sorry john whatever dave and i were going to argue about i think the moment has passed the whole thing is kind of ruined to be honest John: Damn it!
Dave: ok all yall settle down im getting a text
...
i cant fucking read this

Wow!!!!! Those cool new cartridge features have exploded on to your desktop computer once again! Now we're talking. This is some serious Web 2.0 shit, right here. Maybe even... Web 3.0, dare you say? Yes, you do dare say, just so you don't have to read this whole stupid paragraph yet again. Web 3.0 it is!

The important thing is it appears the Rose and Terezi arc is available now. So you click on that and read it.

If this thing breaks one more time, I'm going to repost all the leprechaun romance stuff here instead.

[Note: Click the Terezi button and hope we don’t have to reread about leprechaun romance.]

Rose: Alright, then.

Rose: What exactly are we supposed to be doing here?

Rose: Why did she group the two seers together? Was there a point to that? What is her goal with these divide and conquer tactics? Everything is so unclear. Threads leading to the most fortuitous outcomes have gotten so badly tangled. I can't tell if it's the hangover, or if something else is happening. Something out there... Unaccounted for. Why can't I see it? Why have I become so blind again? No offense, Terezi.

Terezi: are you talking to me?
Rose: no, I'm talking to myself!
Terezi: why?
Rose: stop making me yell! I still have a headache, and so do you!
Terezi: alright, sorry!

Rose: Why am I talking to myself? I think I've spent too much time around Dave. I've also probably spent too much time sharing his genes. Why must our family tree be plagued by so many shameless soliloquists? I wonder if our young parents are like this? I wonder if I will ever find out? And what should I do in the meantime? Should I... Should I really work on completing my personal planetary quest? That whole thing where I learn to "play the rain?" I guess I should feel exhilarated to have the chance again after all these years.
Of course I should.
But then,
Why does it sound like such a drag?
I haven't played the violin in a long time.
I wonder if I even remember how.
Honestly I can't recall ever feeling less motivated to satisfy a looming obligation.
I think my quest was fundamentally bound to the nature of this land, which was customized to the profile, needs, and potential for growth of a thirteen year-old girl.
But I'm not that person anymore.
What if I
What if I just Didn't bother doing it?
Like, ever?
Would anyone notice my dereliction?
Would the powers that be strike me down where I loaf?
What if I just said fuck it?
What then, silly pink tortoise shells? Hmmm??
...
I guess I should stop procrastinating and have This Conversation with Kanaya.

Wow!!!!!

Wow indeed.

Here you go. Aranea's exposition on leprechaun romance, in its entirety, unedited and uncensored, as promised.

[Note: The text turns Serket blue and is written with Vriska and Aranea’s quirk of replacing B and anything that sounds like ate with the number 8.]

The problem is that when the subject of leprechaun romance is broached, our overly obsessive troll intellects instantly assume the most ingratiating posture of admiration imaginable. Which makes it hard! Hard to give it proper academic focus I mean, because of how great it is. But we will do our best to understand regardless.

Trolls have only four forms of romance. And though we consider it a complicated subject, spanning a wide range of emotions, social conventions, and implications for reproduction, it is ultimately a superficial slice of what leprechauns consider the full body of romantic experience. Our concept of romance, in spite of its capacity to fill our art and literature and to rule our individual destinies like little else, is still just that. A single, quaternary concept. A concept usually denoted by four symbols.

Leprechaun romance is more complicated than that. Leprechaun romance needs nine symbols. The nine quadrants of leprechaun romance are considerably more nuanced than our quaint notions of romance, and certainly more alien. In fact, so conditioned is my own understanding of romance that I can't help but refer to them as quadrants, when in fact they are not quadrants at all! They are referred to as charms.

One of the charms is characterized by romantic love, as understood by both trolls and humans. but after that, all bets are off. There is no division between black or red, concupiscent or conciliatory. Instead their charms comprise a spectral continuum of more subtly varying types of relationships, most of which are established in mutual chicanery, such as the exchange of pranks, coy riddles, slapstick shenanigans, and games of chance. Furthermore, a pair of leprechauns is not limited to a single charm. A relationship may be defined by multiple charms at once! In fact, some of the most interesting relationships arise from exotic charm combinations. A stable relationship consisting of three or more charms is called a trove. These advanced relationships are often viewed as the ideal end result for a romance, much the way certain pairing rituals are for humans.

No charm is specifically tied to procreation, though any type of relationship could begin waxing concupiscent if lady luck should so decide. Certain charm combinations are known to be more conducive to fertility than others.
If the leprechaun pair has been so blessed, they will begin an elaborate coupling procedure culminating in a lively mating jig. The jigs are specific to the charms of course, similar to how different kinds of music lend themselves to various styles of dance.

While their romance is endlessly captivating, leprechaun reproduction may be the most interesting subject of all. Particularly from a perspective of detailed anatomical study, which I will get to shortly. but first it bears pointing out that while for humans reproductive relationships are exclusively heterosexual, and for trolls they are bisexual, for leprechauns they are exclusively homosexual.

Yes, you heard right. That means the Felt are all super gay. A graphic description of their reproductive processes now follows.

all the stuff about learning it so you dont have to use it is true theres no good that can come of it
you can crunch the logic on the loops all you want
but all youre doing is painting yourself into a corner
creating inevitabilities you have to rehearse and enact or face death for yourself or everyone you know
and sometimes facing death is the very inevitability you have to rehearse
and then you wait and wait knowing its coming and knowing it has to happen
how do you think it made me feel when we were gathering up all those frogs

When Earth has reached its final destination, it will be repopulated with a fresh brood of loyal subjects over whom I will rule absolutely.
But I will not rule alone, Jake. Oh, no. I will need a husband to rule by my side.
That is where you come in.
Jake: Whimper...?
Jane: You and I will be wed, and we will rule my empire together with an iron oven mitt. However, the mitt will be worn by me, and me alone. You will have no executive authority whatsoever, because you are too stupid. You will always do exactly what I say, when I say it. You will be obedient, cheerful, mostly silent, and scantily clad. Is that understood?
Jake: Sob!
Jane: You will also provide me with children so my imperial legacy will continue, and the Crocker brand will live on in infamy. You will sire as many children as I ask for, and they will all be perfect, obedient little heirs and heiresses.
You do remember our recent agreement to have "a zillion babies," don't you, Jake? I do hope you were not planning to renege on this vow.
Jake: Sob sob sob...
Jane: Our children will rule the empire when we are gone, which of course will be never, because we will be eternally young and beautiful and immortal and in love, for ever and ever. We will travel the galaxy conquering planets and expanding my empire. No alien world will pose any resistance to our forces. Especially not once I figure out how to unlock all that incredible "Page of Hope potential" hidden away in your pathetic, hunky body.
Jake: Sob!!!
Please no jane dont do this! I dont want to get married or sire children or rule an empire! Im scared and sad and afraid and i dont want to do this adventure anymore and i just want to go home! Please let me go back to earth jane! Just like it used to be! I just want to go back to my pumpkin patch in the jungle when things were simpler and all i had to worry about was being tackled by a feisty robot. it seems like you have me at a disadvantage then.
which is impressive, considering you are in jail, and also in a little green pyramid thingy for some reason.
did you...
did you actually build that thing?
Roxy: f yeah!
John: that's cool. it's like a little fort.
i built a fort once in my room. i made it out of a bed sheet, and some cruxite dowels.
then my friend threw it in a bottomless pit.
Roxy: hahah
thas awesome
John: it was alright.
Roxy: no but 4 real dont wreck my fort or i fuck you up
John: i wouldn't dare.
John: aren't you going to come out so i can see you?
Roxy: i would but ive been tryin to concentrate on something so i built this sick pyramid deal to help focus my brain chi and spiritual majyyks and if at all possible to blitz my chakras out the yin yang John: is it working?
Roxy: no
but at least its nice and dark and quiet in here and free of distractions or it was until a guy came along lookin for some chick John: what are you trying to do exactly?
Roxy: i have to make a spikeball appear out of thin air
but all i can make are these lame cubes
John: you made all these cubes??
Roxy: yup
John: that's a neat power.
Roxy: thank you
i also made some pumpkins cubes n pumpkins
the manifestations of amateurs they're basically freebies for void players i think John: i remember making some of those cubes with my alchemiter.
i think that's what a blank card makes? so yeah, they're super primitive.
but making pumpkins is pretty impressive. they're like... these big ol' vegetables.
Roxy: no dude
pumpkins are hellllls o primitive voidwise they're like the middle square on a bingo card drummin up a dumb gourd aint nothing to write home about John: well, if you're really having trouble...
i know a thing or two about learning to use god tier powers.
maybe i could help?

but i don't know if the same tricks apply to using your powers...
Roxy: u said u could help tho
John: i said Maybe i could!
i dunno, i was just throwing it out there.
like, maybe if i told you about some of the experiences i had when i was learning to do my windy stuff, you might have some kind of... voidey epiphany?
Roxy: a voidey epiphany
John: yes.
Roxy: k then
im all ears johnny windsock
let loose ur wisdom whilst i rake in the epiphanies
John: ok, um,
I've noticed whenever i learn to do new things with my powers, it's usually in response to something. like something important that has to be done.
so why are you trying to make this spike ball?
and how important does it feel to you?
Roxy: well at first i was mainly tryin to make it because dog girl was forcing me to but now i think i keep trying because im gettin obsessed with making this dumb spikeball and P.O'd that i cant do it John: i see.
what actually Is this spike ball, if you don't mind my asking?
Roxy: its an alien egg
4 tha trolls
to hatch em all back to life but only to be ruled by an evil witch so its gonna be shitty for them so yeah its kind of an important thing but at the same time it would probably be terrible if i actually made it so...
John: then maybe the fact that you're conflicted about it is why you're having trouble?
Roxy: yeh maybe
John: if you think it's important to make, but don't want to give it to the bad guys, why don't you just...
brake out of jail?
then you could try to make the egg at your own discretion, and use it however you think is best.
Roxy: idk
i broke outta here once already and the fuckin witch just nabbed me again and that was Before she recruited jakes omnipotent goofball grandma to zap me back here the moment i step outside John: yeah. it is a tricky situation with grimbark jade on the loose, that's for sure.
but i've been managing to evade her.
i just swoosh the breeze around to hide my scent, and dissolve into wind and fly away if she finds me.
maybe you could do something like that too?
it seems to me if anyone should be able to avoid detection using their powers, it would be a void player.
John: get it? a void... as in, avoid?
heh.
Roxy: that is legit sound reasoning yo plus a way lame pun 2 boot
but remember how we were just talkin about the fact that when it comes to god tier shit i dont know what the eff im doin??
John: oh.
right.

Roxy: anyway
i thought you were going to regale me with stories of your ascent through the windsock tiers such that i may through osmosis glean the vagaries of godhood then all i got to do is wait for this rude tidal wave of epiphanies n junk to wash over me and get me hella wise then and only then
i will b able to make this shitty egg happen k?
John: ok. where should i start?
Roxy: at the beginning!
John: you mean like when i first became a god tier?
that's a long story... i was kind of tricked into that.
it might take some setup to understand.
Roxy: dude look
i dont have grand illusions that this yarn you spinll be like some actual efficacious tutelage on fuckin pajama spells
i just want to hear u talk about stuff wanna kno ur stories!!!
go (cat face)
John: alright.
in that case, i guess it all started on my thirteenth birthday.
which was three years ago, by the way.
i heard about this awesome game, or at least one i thought was awesome, and i wanted to play it with my friends.
but it wasn't so easy to start. i had to get it from the mail, which meant sneaking around the house while avoiding my dad.
which was kind of stupid and childish in retrospect, but blah blah blah.
blah blah blah.
Roxy: hmmmmm go on pretty much the whole story?

i left a bunch of stuff out though.
if more important stuff that i forgot occurs to me, i will let you know.
Roxy: hey no thats fine that was all great and exciting as heck it sounds like you guys got up to a lot more crazy shit than we did for us its been mostly dicking around in a session full of spooky skeletons for half a year then fefeta died
the end
John: fefeta?
Roxy: fefeta was a dear sweet precious dear Dear friend of mine
she was beautiful and sweet and lovely she sploded
John: wow.
i'm sorry.
Roxy: oh we also became tricksters which as far as things that happen go was sooo dumb
i guess thats kinda the epilogue of our story?
oh yeah then we had hangovers and went god tier accidentally thats the double epilogue
the end ex two combo
John: i don't know, that all sounds pretty interesting to me.
sometimes in life, when you look back on things it can feel like it was all boring and uneventful.
but when you really think about it, you remember all these cool things that happened you forgot about.
Roxy: hm yeah
them wise words j sock
John: anyway, if you remember more about your adventure and want to tell me some time, i would love to hear it!
Roxy: haha ok
um but hey
i could not help but notice in ur story you was talkin about my mom sometimes

John: your mom?
well, yeah. but i know her as your daughter.
but i mean, who the hell knows at this point?
Roxy: i know rite
the curious case of the mutual moms
it is the biggest mystery?
u no
once i even caught wind of some lore that implied i might even be my OWN mom (fefeta hinted that at me once during a long spiel Damn that girl could talk) how messed up would that be tho
John: there is probably something to that actually.
you were all the first batch of babies, after all.
i think you were literal copies of yourselves?
that's what it supposedly means to be a paradox clone.
Roxy: babies
wat
John: oh.
i guess i kind of glossed over this stuff in my story.
but i was the one who made us all in the first place, with a weird cloning machine.
Roxy: no fuckin shit???
is impressed
John: it was no big deal though. i was just messing around with a control panel, and some babies appeared.
Roxy: so we already met huh and i dont even remember because i was just some idiot bb that aint fair!
John: come to think of it, we met one other time too.
but you were asleep.
Roxy: ??
John: you were floating around in purple pajamas, and i pushed you out of the way of a flying fork.
i almost forgot about that. but yep, that was you alright.
Roxy: you shoulda woke me up then
John: i might have, but the fork stabbed me in the chest, and dream killed my sleep ghost. or something.
you know how it is with dream logic.
Roxy: u mean how it makes lil 2 no sense ever John: yes, exactly.
i guess i didn't think much about it at the time, but i had a sneaky suspicion that's who you were.
you really look a lot like rose.
she is looking for you, by the way.
yeah????
John: she told me to go find you. and i did.
so, she says hi.
Roxy: o man
what else did she say
John: uh.
she said...
she's looking forward to meeting you?
Roxy: awwwwww
well if u see her again before i do tell her i cant wait to meet her too though tbh im kinda nervous about it but dont tell her that part haha John: sure!
there's nothing to be nervous about though.
she's just a nice nerd who likes to read and knit.
Roxy: i shouldnt be surprised to hear that me and all my friends are a bunch of silly nerds too even dirk who thinks hes 2 cool 4 school when in reality he is nowhere close to clearing the coolness threshold which exempts one from attending an educational institution (tongue sticking out face) John: speaking of which...
i've been wondering where he is?
i know jade's grandpa is in jail too, getting badgered by my evil nanna...
Roxy: u mean jake n jane John: yes, sorry.
but i have not seen hide nor hair of dave's bro yet.
Roxy: i figured he got thrown in jail too although come to think of it i probly would have heard a bloody ruckus by now resulting from his inevitable escape attempt John: hmm.
Roxy: im not that worried about him though hes good at takin care of himself in fact i feel like all of us will be ok now that you guys are here
but there is still one of my friends im worried about the most John: who?
Roxy: shes my best friend well ok
i got a few best friends u know?
John: yes.
Roxy: but she was always kind of a special best friend and last time i saw her she was in big trouble John: oh no.
where is she?
Roxy: in the afterlife being dead
John: ...
Roxy: her bro killed her which is bad enough but now hes out there hunting for her ghost
shes doing her best to hide but her bro is an awful and relentless piece of shit and im afraid im afraid she might be already gone (frowning face)
John: you're right, that is very concerning.
who is she? would i know of her?
Roxy: dunno
how in the loop are you on cherubs?
John: oh!
John: surprisingly, i know a Lot about that subject.
for instance, did you know they turn into gigantic snakes when they have sex?
Roxy: (gasping face)
(gasping face)
(gasping face)
John: i know. weird, right?
that's probably not very relevant to the topic at hand, though.
Roxy: yeah prob not anyway u know about lord english right
John: uh huh.
Roxy: ok well
shes his sister
her name is calliope
John: ohhh.
ok, this is starting to make sense.
Roxy: yep
shes supposed to be critical to defeatin him somehow shes going on some quest out there to find a deadlier version of herself or whatever i dunno that could be all be true...
and maybe its selfish of me but all i realy care about now is if shes ok??
John: i understand. she is your friend.
i would feel the same way.
Roxy: (smiling face)
John: wait a minute...
i've got it!
Roxy: got what
John: i have such a good idea that would solve your problem.

i have a magic ring!
Roxy: what u have one too
John: yes!
wait. what do you mean too?
you have a magic ring?!
Roxy: i Had one
fuckin lost it though made peeps invisible who put it on John: ah.
no, mine doesn't do that.
it brings ghosts back to life!
Roxy: Fuck
no wai
John: yes wai. way.
it's back at my house.
i could go get it right now!
Roxy: damn son
i find this 2 be some truly baller happenstance if ur claim is true im......
im cry (smiling face with a single tear)
John: it is quite true.
it should be a piece of cake.
you just wear it when you go to sleep, and it comes with you in your dreams.
then you find your cherub friend, put it on her finger, and bring her back!
i think you can only use it once though. so once she's wearing it, it would be hers forever, or at least as long as she wants it.
Roxy: yo
yoooo
john thats amazing
Roxy: i dunno though that sounds like such an obscenely precious commodity u sure you want to let me use it?
John: sure.
it's no big deal, really.
for a while i was hanging on to it, thinking that i might give it to...
aw man, this is gong to sound dumb.
Roxy: hm?
John: there was a girl who i was considering giving it to, for some reason.
remember? she was the diabolical one who figured prominently in my long story.
Roxy: um
oh yea fresca right
John: yes, close enough.
see, she Really wanted that ring.
and she found out i had it, and...
honestly, i'm not sure why it even crossed my mind to give it to her?
i guess i was just used to the idea that i liked her for some reason.

at least i thought i did.

it was a stupid idea based on hardly anything, like one day of conversations.

but since i've gotten to know her better...

i don't know.

i think i might actually...

kind of hate her?

Roxy: yeah?

John: yeah, she's...

actually pretty awful!

she's so full of herself, and mean to her friends, and...

dangerous.

really, really dangerous.

Roxy: ouch

well what can i say john love sux

John: yeah. it does.

anyway, i don't think i can let anyone like that have the ring.

Roxy: but u dont mind trustin me wit it?

John: no!

it's funny, after spending some time with a person who is legitimately crazy, it becomes easy to tell right away when someone...

isn't?

Roxy: lol

u sure about that

John: well, yeah, everyone is a little crazy. i just mean not Bad crazy.

besides, you don't even want the ring for yourself.

you want to give it to someone you care about.

that is what makes you one of the good guys.

Roxy: what a nice thing to say i bet sayin stuff like that is why ur their leader

John: what makes you think i'm the leader?

Roxy: come on dude you are obvs the leader of other kid team squad

i can just tell

John: haha, ok. i'll take that as a compliment.

anyway, i'll go get the ring now.

Roxy: yay!

ill wait here

no need to set off the alarms with a daring escape just yet lets keep em lulled into a false sense of control over the sitch

we can start scheming under their nose while u keep sneakin around undetected

the last thing we want is for all hell to break loose before we know what were doin

John: yeah, that's a good plan.

if i had to guess, i'd say you must be the leader of your team squad too, right?

Roxy: naaaw

that's jane

as you can see shes the one with a knack for ruthless executive authority is a shame she only uses it when evil tho (frowning face)

John: yeah.

but maybe we can do something about that, if we work together.

Roxy: (very happy face)

John: alright. off i go.
keep practicing your powers!
see you, roxy.

John Egbert's ring has gone missing.

We are all completely blown away by this stunning revelation.

Wow. Missing. Really? As in not there?

Huh.

Act 6 Act 6 Act 2: LoShit

Act 6 Act 6 Act 2

[Image description: The website returns to Caliborn Style in its various shades of green and disparaging link names. The terrible curtains open over a terrible, Caliborn-style drawing of Dave’s bedroom.]

[Note: Until the end of this act, all captions are written in bright green and all caps.]

We now return to your favorite web series. Homo suck.

Act something act something something. Already in progress.

Be a different male.

[Image description: A green finger cursor drags a Homosuck drawing of Dave into the panel and drops him next to his turntables.]

The last time that things happened. The male story hero blew up. So fortunately. We won’t see him ever again.

That means we need to be a new male to lead the story. Here he is. With his dumb black glasses and everything.

Here to onward. I will refer to this male as. The alpha male.

The alpha male is less bad than the original male. He is not as annoying. And has no tendency to randomly appear and bother people. He also likes cool swords. And "irony" I guess. And like myself. He has cultivated a taste for fine art. Hence, he will be my male of choice on this adventure.

But I will admit. There is one reason above others. Why I have decided to favor the alpha male.

He has exceptional taste in puppets.

[Image description: The cursor drags a homosuck Lil Cal and makes him sit on the floor next to Dave.]

Yessssssssssss.
Alpha male: call for backup.

[Image description: It zooms in on knockoff Dave’s face as he takes his glasses off and vaguely flaps his mouth open and shut. His eyes are bright red and wide open. It’s captioned Close Up.]

Show pesterlog
[Note: The button doesn’t work because Caliborn has written ‘Nope’ over it in large letters.]

Normally. Here's what would happen.

He would talk into his glasses or something. Like a pitiful loser. In doing so he would summon below his rectangle. What is known as. A pesterlog.

It is never advisable to open a pesterlog. You see. The button is a trap. Which when sprung. Releases words upon words. Which only serve to remind you. Of your intense dislike for the people saying the things. As well as. How little regard the author has. For your valuable time.

As such. There will be no words described in my tale. Only action!

Send in the bitches.

[Image description: Knockoff Dave turns to look to the left as the cursor drags in Knockoff Rose and Knockoff Jade. It looks like it’s going to set them down on the ground normally, but at the last second, it lets go, sending them bouncing all over the room until they land in a pile at Dave’s feet.]

The alpha male whistles for his bitches.

He will need a loyal entourage of top flight females to assist him on his important boy journey.

Actually. Let's invite a couple more to the party.

[Image description: Knockoff Jade and Knockoff Rose stand up just in time for Knockoff Jane and Knockoff Roxy to be dragged in and given the same bouncing treatment.]

These two delectable floozies were not supposed to show up until a lot later.

But let's be honest. It doesn't matter.

Alpha male: begin game.

[Image description: Knockoff Dave and Cal, followed by all four of the knockoff girls, move jerkily over to a poorly drawn set of machines that resemble an alchemiter, a totem lathe, and a cruxtruder.]

You and your comely harem of hoochie mamas cut to the fucking chase. You sidle up to the assortment of game junk. Which is relevant to making this happen.

Next

[Image description: They stop moving at the same time that the white and blue outline of not-Knockoff John begins to appear next to the totem lathe.]

Next

[Image description: He fully materializes and looks around in disgusted confusion at the shity machines.]
Next

[Image description: He leans back and blinks up at the totem lathe, which is many times his height.]

Next

[Image description: He turns and stares at the cruxtruder.]

Next

[Image description: Finally, he spots Knockoff Dave, Cal, and Rose, who boggle vacantly in his direction.]

Next

[Image description: He looks horrified and reaches up towards knockoff Dave’s face.]

Next

[Image description: He pokes knockoff Dave’s glasses and says a quiet ‘oh dear god’.]

Disregard the unimportant male ghost behind the curtain.

[Image description: John sticks out his tongue in disgust as Caliborn’s cursor drags a terrible curtain over John, blocking him from view. In a second image, John stares down at the ground and holds his head like he’s struggling to process what he’s seeing. He says “this is really dumb”.]

He will not be a part of this story.

Let’s continue.

[Image description: A badly drawn orange egg sits on the alchemiter. A badly drawn cruxite dowel hovers over the cruxtruder. A terrible Crowkernelsprite hovers in the corner next to the cruxtruder. Yellow captchalogue cards are scattered over everything. The knockoff characters and items bounce up and down. In a second image, John pulls on the curtain and looks up, his tongue out in disgust. He says “why is everything So Shitty.”]

The alpha male does the requisite things with the stuff. His adventure is nigh.

Alpha male: go outside.

[Image description: Knockoff Dave leads his crew of knockoff girls away from the machines. John pushes through the curtains and cups one hand at his mouth so he can call after them. “this isn't how any of this happened, you idiot!”]

The alpha male and his trusty bitch parade proceed to the roof. To witness the incredible land of fantasy he has entered.

Alpha male: be on roof.

with something black. He says “hey, where do you think you’re going! I’m not going to stand by while you mangle our story like this! augh, these stairs are so terrible! How are these even stairs??!”

You successfully be on the roof. And prepare to human kiss your sorry planet goodbye. There is not a dry eye in the party. Except for the male’s. As well as the puppet’s.

Suddenly. There is a dramatic change.

[Image description: The background slowly fades to black behind the apartment building. In a second image, John grits his teeth and struggles to push through a doorway that’s shaped more like a deformed pair of pants than a rectangle. He says “wait! Fuck!! oh my god. This door is dog shit.”]

I don’t recall what his land was though.

[Image description: Back in the normal Homestuck style, Lil Seb sits on the ground near Caliborn’s console and cuts objects out from the Ed Emberly’s Make A World Drawing Book. Currently, he’s on a page of vehicles.]

Something with lava I think? I don’t really care. I will just make up my own. It will be a great opportunity. To flex my powerful world building muscles for you to be dazzled by.

You see. When crafting a strong and compelling narrative. I think it’s important for an accomplished artist. To give himself the latitude to do whatever he wants. And to fuck around as much as cherubically possible. And the size of that latitude should be. Literally as big. As the whole fucking story.

As such. Using knowledge accrued from my tomes of artisan knowledge. I will change my "art style". To demonstrate my versatility. And make you be impressed.

However. The mangas are clearly too advanced for now. After I level up in fine art. Maybe. But not now.

So for the time being. And to get more practice. All of my world assets. Will be respectfully plagiarized from the distinguished mr. Emberly.

Wow, yes. So good.

[Image description: John stands next to the Knockoff Crew, having managed to shove his way through the dogshit doorway. The background behind them is now filled with two dark green hills against a black sky. Cut out Ed Emberly drawings are everywhere. A blue plane and a red plane both fly in the sky. A pair of barns are perched on the left hill, a castle sits in the valley between the hills, and a skyline sits on the right hill. A watch tower and a man on a bicycle sit on the slopes of the left hill, along with a drawing of three smaller hills. On the right hill, there is a church, a tree, and an erupting volcano. At the top of the image, between the two planes, is the name of this land. “Land of someone's handicrafts I took.” In a second image, John turns and stares up at the cutout of the castle, which looks like it’s a flat piece of cardboard propped up to look like a background. He says “what.”]

Alpha male: whistle for stallions.

[Image description: Above LoShIT, there’s now a whole row from the drawing book, which shows each step of making a ‘horse walking’. There are nine steps, each of which just shows what to add on to the previous step. From left to right, they are]
Brown rectangle.
Add obtuse triangle to make the neck.
Add another obtuse triangle to the top of the neck to make the head.
Add an upside down V shape to make the back legs.
Add another upside down V to make the front legs.
Add three swishy lines to make the tail.
Add a small V shape to the head to make the ears.
Add some more swishy lines down the neck to make the mane.
Add a dot on the neck for some reason.

You beckon a flock of noble mounts. Your party will need them. To gallop across my beautiful realm of wonders.

Stallions: descend.

[Image description: The horses in various states of completion from steps 3 through 9 all descend down around the knockoff crew, but mainly around knockoff Dave.]

The alpha male's reign of adventure begins here. On this roof. Overlooking an enchanted cliffscape. Host to innumerable gorgeous stallions.

How ironic. That his very departure. Would be in the proximity of some horses. What. You didn't follow that? Just think it over.

Think it over.

Mount steeds.

[Image description: The knockoff crew, including Lil Cal, all sit astride horses. Knockoff Dave has the complete horse and Lil Cal has the next most complete horse. Jade sits on the one without a mane, Rose on the one without a mane or ears, Roxy on the one without a mane, ears, or tail, and Jane on the one without a mane, ears, tail, or front legs. There’s one horse without a rider, and it’s the one without any legs at all. John looks disgusted at it.]

All members of your party sit on their majestic beasts of burden. And prepare to ride like the wind.

It goes without saying. That the incomplete horses. Must be reserved for the women.

Steeds: ride.

[Image description: The knockoff crew rides the horses right off the edge of the building. Jade’s horse rears back and Roxy’s flips upside down. John follows them to the edge of the building and calls after them. “wait!!! ugh. You're all such morons!”]

They're off! Look at them go.

Next

[Image description: John face palms in exasperation. The disassembled horse still hangs out next to him. He says “eaeuurghghhh.”]

Next

[Image description: He drops his hand and looks up at the legless horse. He says “welp. guess it's time to saddle up. why the hell not.”]
Next
[Image description: He grabs the horse by the neck and starts pulling himself up onto it. He kicks his feet a bit and says “unf.”]

Next
[Image description: Once he gets up, he looks down at the horse with an entirely done expression and says “this is literally the suckiest horse I have ever seen in my life… whatever. giddyup!”]

Next
[Image description: The horse jumps off the roof, then begins floating up and away, taking John with it. John says “ya! Yahhh!!! Fly, shit biscuit! Fly!!! no, you dumbass! Not this way! go down! down I say!!!!”]

Next
[Image description: John and Shit Biscuit the horse weave around various obstacles. John says “woah fella! Watch out for that helicopter! and that rocket ship! and that, uh... row of sky vikings! yes, go this way! Down!! Good horse!!!” There was also an airplane under the helicopter, but John didn’t bother mentioning it. The horse finally begins to descend.]

Next
[Image description: It zooms out. Shit Biscuit is taking John directly down, towards where the knockoff crew sits on their horses by a lake, along with a bear. A waterfall pours down from a shitty hill. New parts of the hills are topped with circus tents, a skyline, surprisingly tiny mountains, a lighthouse, and a windmill. The ‘how to draw a super person’ line floats in the sky, along with a hot air balloon and a plane. On the ground to the left of the lake, there are more surprisingly tiny mountains, the ‘how to draw a skeleton’ line, an SUV, a race car, an archer, and a crocodile. To the right of the knockoff crew, there’s a robot, a witch, a black dog, and a palm tree. A battleship floats in the lake, along with a pirate ship and a whole whale. John yells “yee haw! Almost there! wait... Horse! What are you doing! oh god. We're gonna crash!”]

Next
[Image description: John throws his arms in the air and yells as Shit Biscuit takes him on a crash course for knockoff Roxy and her terrible horse. He yells “bogus roxy, watch out! We're gonna crrrraaaaaaash! um... very slowly, it would seem.”]

Next
[Image description: The horses collide and break apart into their basic shapes in a Horse Accident. John goes flying off to the right and knockoff Roxy’s head pops off as she flies left, along with both arms and one of her legs.]

Next
[Image description: John pushes himself up off the ground and turns to look over his shoulder at Knockoff Roxy.]

Next
[Image description: He stands up and walks past the bear to look at knockoff Roxy’s head. The car drives towards the lake and the battleship floats closer to the edge of the lake.]

Next

[Image description: John picks up the head, which boggles vacantly at him. He says “sorry, bogus roxy. I will try to make it up to you. um. The real you, I mean.”]

Next

[Image description: John drops the head and glares over his shoulder towards where the command for the next page floats in the sky. He says “oh hell no. This bozo is still at it.”]

The alpha male is accosted by a pack of wild foes.

[Image description: John glares at Knockoff Dave, who is still astride his horse and facing the robot, witch, and black dog. A shitty alert showing a shitty sword rack flashes over knockoff Dave’s head.]

Raucous melee is imminent.

The male reaches for his blade. But discovers. He doesn't have one!

In his haste to begin his journey. He forgot to take it.

Alpha male: receive boon from your creator.

[Image description: Caliborn’s cursor drags a shitty green chest towards knockoff Dave while John still glares at him from behind.]

I give the male a mysterious chest.

Will what is inside. Turn the tide of battle?? Let's find out.

Open chest.

[Image description: The chest pops open and three pieces of the so-called ‘porn’ that Dirk drew for Caliborn pop out. They’re the ones where Roxy smashes cake into Jane’s mouth, where Roxy proposes to Jake, and where Dirk smooches Jane on the cheek while cupping a feel on her breast.]

You open the chest. To reveal a collection of illicit smut.

jackpot I say. By which I mean. You say.

With your trusty smut. Forge a sword.

[Image description: Knockoff Dave holds up a sword made from porn. Behind him, John begins to cry.]

Your filthy human pornography. Has been forged into a formidable blade.

Your foes tremble in their boots!

Strike the witch.

[Image description: Knockoff Dave’s horse rides forward and he poks the witch over the head with his sword. The horse jumps forward, then both it and Dave begin flashing as they’re knocked
You deal a critical hit to the horrible witch.

However. An ill timed leap subsequently causes you to suffer massive damage.

Your noble mount absorbs most of the damage though.

[Image description: The shitty but complete horse lays on its side and the wolf approaches it.]

The horse has been slain.

The wolf thing consumes the carcass. After his meal. He leaves full and satisfied. Never to return.

The witch also dies from her injuries.

[Image description: The witch lays on the ground next to four more pieces of smut. They’re the one of Roxy rubbing Jane’s tummy as Nurnse Roolal, the one of Jane serenading Roxy with ghostbusters while rubbing a rose down her face, the one where Dirk kisses Jane and says ‘you are darling to me’, and the one of Jake eating his and Roxy’s baby. John looks down at the porn and the witch and says “boooooooool”]

She drops. Let's say. Additional pornos. You put them in your stash.

As a result of all that. The robot goes crazy.

[Image description: Knockoff Dave stand where the witch was and holds up his sword. Knockoff Rose steps down off her horse. The robot begins jittering around. In the middle of all of it, John yells “you suck!!”]

All your foes have been defeated. You win the fracas!

As the best boy hero. Who accomplished a success. You are now entitled to the spoils.

Alpha male: receive spoils.

[Image description: A cursor drags Knockoff Rose towards Knockoff Dave, who drops his sword. Behind them, John yells “oh god dammit.”]

The male sheaths his sword on the floor. Looking cool and casual. Like the dangerous hero thing he did was no big deal.

But one of his faithful bimbos nearby thought it was a really big deal. She is swooning his way right now. She will reward the male for his manly deeds. With a human kiss!

Here is where the tale begins to get a little.

sloppy

Ahaha. Haha.

Story rectangle: zoom in on raunchy seduction.

[Image description: John shoves himself between his knockoff friends, holding knockoff Dave back with a hand on his chest and knockoff Rose back with a hand on her face. He yells “no, stop! They're brother and sister you gross freak!!”]
[Image description: Knockoff Dave and Rose’s faces move closer together, but John shoves his hands between them and pushes them apart while screaming “aaarggh. No. No! I don't care how bogus they are! I won’t... let you make... dave and rose... kiss!!!!!!!!!!”]

Next

[Image description: John picks up knockoff Dave and tosses him away while screaming “that's enough! I can't take any more of your shitty story! It's so ugly and stupid and it's making me mad!!! Raaaaarrruaarrruaghaauaughgaarruuahguuuuaaaauuggggaauhhgh!” One of knockoff Dave’s legs pops off.]

Next

[Image description: John stumps on knockoff Dave’s head, which has come off his body. John rants “and another thing! Why don't you learn to respect girls better?! you're just making them follow dave around like a bunch of idiots! The only thing you're letting them do is kiss the boy whenever he does something brave! that's so lame! All these girls had their own cool adventures! Don't you realize what you're doing here makes you a weird creep???”]

It seems the alpha male has been slain.

[Image description: John jumps and flails on top of knockoff Dave’s disassembled body. Knockoff Rose lays on the ground. Two more knockoff Daves come up behind John.]

This obviously will not do.

Some additional backup males are deployed. Due to, let's say. Time travel.

Time travel keeps happening!

[Image description: John stops jumping and just yells as Caliborn’s cursor drags and drops at least ten Daves in a pile on top of him.]

The male is being very reckless with his loops. What a mess!

The dude pile. Doesn't stop. From getting taller.

[Image description: John screams more as the entire area fills with a pile of slightly wiggling knockoff Daves.]

It causes everyone to completely forget. About the increasingly agitated blue male. Altogether.

That's the end of homo suck. Act. Uh.

[Image description: John frees one arm from the pile of knockoff Daves and shakes a fist at the sky while desperately screaming “I'm gonna fuckin kill you!!!!!!!!!!”]

Chapter two.

Thank you for subscribing to my story.

Act 6 Act 6 Intermission 2: there's problems

Act 6 Act 6 Intermission 2

[Image description: Crockertier Jane floats next to Jake’s built up tower. The main spire of it is made from repetitions of various parts of the base.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: She glares and lifts her hands; one to head height and one to chest height. She makes a clawed shape with both. An alert with a black background hovers over her head. It shows a red, flashing spirograph.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: A red Revise cursor selects a piece of Jake’s tower from the top. It drags a red rectangle over a few dozen floors and copies it, making the tower that much taller.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It zooms out to show the ship laying at the base of the mountain. Jane continues messing with the tower in the background.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It shows the couch room inside the ship.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the fridge.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: The fridge turns to a black outline so we can see what’s inside. It’s Gamzee. He’s wearing his godtier outfit and sleeping happily with his hands tucked under his cheek where he leans it against the inside wall. A blank, black alert floats next to him.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Gamzee. There’s something yellow on his finger.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It zooms in further. He’s wearing a golden ring identical to the ones that Roxy and John had at various times.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It shifts to focus on his forehead, where there’s a pulsing black circle with a Scorpio symbol in it.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: In a black void, Gamzee kneels and offers out the ring on Rose’s purple velvet pillow. Gamzee’s eyes are still closed, like he’s sleeping, and the Scorpio symbol is still on his forehead. The grey silhouette of a Serket’s barbed horn takes up the left side of the screen.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: The perspective shifts and we see Gamzee’s horn in grey silhouette. A few feet away, there is a Serket blue silhouette, but it’s not Vriska.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It’s Aranea, and she’s wearing an outfit that looks like Mindfang’s. She lifts a hand and waves to Gamzee.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: She holds a hand out towards Gamzee with her palm up.]

dialoglog
Aranea: Rise, my bard.

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: She puts a finger on her chin and looks a bit uncertain.]

dialoglog
Aranea: "Rise, my bard?"
Sheesh.

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: She reaches a black-gloved hand out to take the ring from the pillow.]

dialoglog
Aranea: Aranea, if you want people to start taking you seriously, your chilling repartee is going to need some work.

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: She slips the ring on her finger.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Her eyes, which are the blank white of a ghost’s, flash brightly then slowly fade to yellow with black pupils. One of her eyes has seven pupils: six small ones in a ring around a normal sized one.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: She grins and puts the hand with the ring on it on top of Gamzee’s absurdly tall hat.]

dialoglog
Aranea: Now, loyal minstrel.
Wake!
Wake, I say!!!!!!!!
[Image description: Both she and Gamzee disappear in a white flash, leaving only a black expanse behind.]

[Image description: In the couch room, the fridge bursts open and Gamzee and Aranea come tumbling out. Gamzee lands flat on his back and Aranea lands sitting up. Something small and pink bounces onto the ground next to her.]

dialoglog
Aranea: Oof!
Gamzee: Honk.

[Image description: A clip of the song Fuchsia Ruler begins to play as the pink object, which we can now see is a clamshell shaped phone, rings and vibrates. A Meenah alert hovers above it.]

dialoglog
Aranea: Just great.
What does she want THIS time?

[Image description: Aranea stands up and answers the phone. Gamzee still lays on the floor and stares up at the ceiling.]

dialoglog
Aranea: Shello?
Meenah: hey twerket
da fuck you think you're doin
Aranea: I have no idea what you're talking about.
Meenah: bullshit
you went after the blue nerds ring
you wearin it now aint you Aranea: I couldn't say, Meenah.
I do like to wear jewelry from time to time, just like you.
It's certainly possible there is a shiny new ring on my finger.
So what if there is?
Meenah: aranea so kelp me god
you need to take that shit off right now throw it in a volcano or somefin and just come home
Aranea: First, I would appreciate it if you referred to me as Mindfang.
Remember how I've been trying to make that be a thing lately?
Second, I have no intention of discarding this ring, now or ever.
Wheels are already in motion, Meenah.
Irons are heating up as we speak!
Meenah: wheels irons aranea what mindfang what are you even planning you gonna meddle?
you gonna meddle i just know it Ugh
Aranea: I am just taking some initiative for a change.
Has it occurred to you that it might have become a little tiresome for me to spend eternity as a boring nobody while so many others got to play important roles in determining the fate of reality?
Heck, you were barely dead for two minutes before you started assembling an army!
Even my alternate universe self got to lead an amazing life. Which is all well and good for Her........
but what about ME, Meenah?
Water. boat. Me.
Meenah: yo i feel you on that Meenah: trust me gurl
but you do realize youre makin a glubbin mess here i mean you Know this shit aint like part a the legit chain of events you arent supposed to be there Aranea: Of course I know that.
Like I said, I have a plan.
Meenah: What plan
Aranea: I'm going to take over this session.
And then I am going to make sure it never bears fruit.
If I can stop this universe from being created, then the young Lord of Time will never have hatched in the first place.
I won't merely be defeating an invincible foe. I will be erasing all the pain he has ever caused.
Meenah: uh
serk have you lost it you know all youre doing is making another doomed timeline where everyone dies right Aranea: Of course I know that.
Please, Meenah. Don't insult me. I've given this a lot of thought.
If anyone else attempted this, what you said would be true. but I am not just anyone.
I am a very powerful Sylph of Light. I have had millions of sweeps to hone my abilities.
As one gifted with the aspect of light, certain outcomes will be prone to breaking in my favor.
And as an ancient, highly experienced sylph, I wield an unprecedented ability to heal.
A doomed timeline is really just an anatomical feature of a much larger organism. Like a capillary which comes to an end, because it has withered and died.
I believe I will be able to heal this offshoot.
And with enough time and patience, I am confident I can restore its vitality to such a great extent, it will effectively take over as the alpha timeline, thus reducing English to a lost footnote of paradox space.
Then the new alpha timeline will flourish under my immortal care. I will watch over it for eternity, assuring peace and harmony everywhere. There will be a new progeny of universes, and those universes will beget more universes, and each will benefit from my good grace. I will personally make sure nothing like the English mishap ever occurs again.
I mean, this is mostly theoretical, of course.
but the most important thing here is that I am involved now.
It is vital to all our interests that I at least Try.
Meenah: aight
so you just totally flipped your think pan is all got it
Aranea: I appreciate the vote of confidence.
Are we about done here?
Meenah: no
so your timeline healing fantasy aside your plan is to just waltz in there an knock over the whole session you do realize that means you'll have to take down my grownup self
like not to blow my own conch but she is arguably the greatest deadliest most stylin badass who ever lived Aranea: I am aware.
but there is no one who is in a better position to deal with her than myself.
After all, who knows you better than I? (smiling face with four eyes) Meenah: ok yeah but you aint exactly shoppin for her mindfang she got all these sick powers yo Aranea: It's like I said.
I've had quite a long time to refine my abilities.
I will have a few tricks up my sleeve.
Meenah: man
this is gonna go so terribubbly
Aranea: Meenah, I must say your attitude is a little surprising.
I thought you were typically gung ho about such audacious escapades?
Meenah: yeah well
theres audacious and then theres bald faced flipping insmanatee beside did you ever stop and think about me
Aranea: What about you?
Meenah: you being alive again all runnin around stirring up trouble while im still a ghost im gonna miss you
Aranea: I'll miss you too, Meenah.
Meenah: will i ever see you again
Aranea: I really don't know.
When you're trying to do the right thing, there is always sacrifice involved.
Remember? That's why we all died in the first place.
Meenah: i guess
Aranea: besides. I'm sure Vriska would approve of my plan.
Maybe she can explain my reasoning better than I have.
Meenah: um no
actually serket deuce isn't down with this at all Aranea: What?
She isn't?
Meenah: nope
she thinks you bein dumb as a fuck Aranea: What did she say, exactly?
Were those her exact words?
Meenah: dunno
this aint the serket twin message reelay service
Aranea: Is she there with you?
Meenah: yeah
Aranea: Can you put her on?
Meenah: no
Vriska: Can I just talk to her already?
Meenah: no
Vriska: I just want to say a couple of things!!!!!!!!
Meenah: call her yourself
Vriska: I don't have a phone!
Here, let me talk to her.
Meenah: No
bitch dont touch my clam Aranea: Very well.
You have both made yourselves abundantly clear.
I will go it alone. but that's what I was signing up for in the first place, I suppose.
Goodbye, Meenah. Take care.

[Image description: Aranea turns to Gamzee.]
dialoglog
Aranea: Now then.
What to do about you?
Shall I continue to manipulate you? Or will you comply with my orders if I decide to loosen my grip?
Perhaps the threat of being controlled again will be enough to keep your capricious tendencies in check?

And I thought our Makara was awful. At least he had the decency to sew his mouth shut.

Anyway, I have wasted enough time dithering around with fools. There is much work to be done.
dialoglog
Meenah: shouty is that you
Karkat: yeah.
I mean, no.
this is karkat.
is this
is this meenah?
Meenah: yeh
Karkat: oh.
hey
long time no, uh
I didn't think I'd hear from you again.
not that I'm telling you to piss off or anything, I'm just surprised.
how have you been
I mean
never mind. That's a fucking stupid question.
you're a ghost.
you're still a ghost, right?
hey look
I know we made those tentative plans where I was going to join your army.
and then I guess nothing really came of that, because...
I don't know. I guess some shit came up?
you know how things go.
anyway, I'm sorry I never saw you after that, or called you, or... you know what? I didn't even know it was a fucking option to call you.
maybe someone could have told me that was an actual fucking possibility???
I know, what a crazy thought. Useful, practical information being imparted to me in some manner for once in my fu-Meenah: shouty stfu

[Image description: It shows a closeup of Meenah’s mouth as she talks into her own pink clamshell phone. Her lipstick is fuchsia and her teeth are very sharp, like a shark’s.]

Meenah: we got a whale of a problem here

[Image description: The ship sits on Derse, in a crater it smashed in the roof of a building.]

[Image description: Jane glares down and puts one finger to her temple, resting it on top of the tiaratop. A Space symbol alert hovers above her.]

dialoglog
Jane: Crocker to Harley.
Come in Harley.
o you read me?
Jade: yes (face with buck teeth)
Jane: I suggest that you come to Derse right away.
Jade: what is it

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on an extreme closeup of her mouth again, once again in position to make an L sound.]

Snooze.
Why yes...
Of course i am open to exploring alien intercourse with you...
Neytiri: Jake.
Jake: Do what with my tail now?
Oh my...
Zzzzzzzzz.
Neytiri: Jake, wake up.
Jake: Hold your horses neytiri im doing my best here...
You know mobility isn't my strong suit what with this wobbly pair of puppet legs god gave me...
Jake: Slumber.

Aranea: Greetings, Jake.
We meet again.
Jake: Aranea?
Wait this means im still dreaming doesnt it.
Aranea: On the contrary!
You are awake now.
And I, alive.
Jake: Hold the phone...
Youre not a spooky ghost babe anymore?
Girl! Ghost girl.
(Dang it!)
Aranea: No, Jake. I have returned from the dead for good.
And I have come for you.
Jake: G-g-g-
Gulp. (gasping face)
Aranea: Surely you remember the first time we met? And what we talked about?
Jake: Yeah.
Um.
Mostly?
Aranea: I once spoke of your destiny. The one whereby you will deal the Lord of Time his first defeat. Do you recall?
Jake: No.
I mean...
Maybe?
Aranea: It doesn't matter. The plan has changed.
Jake: It has?
Aranea: Yes, Jake.
You see, in every hero of hope there dwells a great hidden power, unrivaled by that of any other aspect.
And for a page, the journey to reach his full potential is longer than it is for any other class.
but once that journey is over, how fearsome he becomes!

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Jake stares up at her in opened mouthed shock as she grabs him by the shoulders.]

dialoglog
Aranea: I am here to shorten that journey for you.
And in return for this favor, you will serve my needs.
Jake: H-
How?

[Image description: She grins down at him with a faintly predatory look.]

dialoglog
Aranea: There are many obstacles within that are preventing you from accessing your true potential.
You cannot see them, Jake, but I can.
I can see every fault and fissure in your mind. My vision 8-fold sheds light on every injury you have ever suffered, whether emotional or physical.

[Image description: She puts one hand on his waist and pulls him up from the ground. He pulls back a little, but she doesn’t let go.]

dialoglog
Aranea: I can repair it all for you, Jake.
Jake: (Oh no...)

[Image description: She leans in, like she’s going to kiss him.]

dialoglog
Aranea: I can heal your mind.
Jake: (Oh n-n-n-)

[Image description: It zooms in on Jake’s eye. He looks terrified.]

dialoglog
Aranea: I can heal your soul.

Aranea: I'm sorry!
There! See?
I am respecting your personal boundaries. We don't have to kiss!
Good grief, that went poorly.
I only tried to kiss you because I knew you were attracted to me!
I thought I was doing you a Favor!
I don't know what I'm supposed to........
Sigh.
You really are a piece of work, Jake. Here I am, a literal mind reader, and I still can't figure you out.
but you're right.
My advances were inappropriate, and in the future I will try to be more respectful.

Aranea: I'm still going to heal you though.

Aranea: It is nothing personal. There is simply no alternative.

Aranea: Your power is too important to my plan!

Jade: who took my ship??
Jane: I don't know.
When I arrived, it was already parked here.
Most illegally, I might add.
Jade: that is So illegal
maybe we should call in some authority regulators to have it ticketed and towed Jane: If you really wanted to relocate the vehicle, couldn't you just.
You know. Teleport it somewhere else?
Jade: yes
but i love watching those guys write their little tickets theyre so cute
Jane: Indeed.
But observing adorable creatures issue citations will not address our problem.

Jane: I would rather not involve her in this matter.
We should be more than sufficiently equipped to handle it.
Jade: yes youre right
what would she think if we went whimpering to her every time some buffoon parked a battleship illegally
Jane: She would think we were a couple of silly children.
Jade: yeah
hmm
Jane: What?
Jade: maybe we should check on the prisoners again
Jane: That would be a logical course of action.
Jade: whoa

It shows the Scarecrow, the Tin Man, Dorothy, and the Cowardly Lion walking arm in arm down the yellow brick road. There’s a large white gap, then there’s a row of pictures that zoom in on the faces of the cast, though they’re distorted and resized badly. Small grey text beneath them, still in all caps comic sans, says "this Is What the Refrance".]

[Note: That second image is a link to a Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff comic. Click it. Black comic sans says Sweet bro and hella jeff in all caps. Hella Jeff’s arm protrudes into the first panel and holds a surprisingly not all that shitty football upright in a field of scribbly grass. In a bright pink text box, he says sports

The next panel zooms out. He’s laughing uproariously and sticking his ass in the air while holding the football up for Sweet Bro, who is floating about six feet above the grass. Also, his hair is the same color as his face. The grass escapes the bounds of the panel. Large comic sans crosses the whole width of the comic.

CHORLIE BROWN
A horribly mistreated Charlie Brown comic is right below it. The colors have been shifted and contrasted and there are so many jpeg artifact that it looks less like a comic and more like a 7 year old’s first attempt at avant-garde pop art. Underneath all the garbage, it’s the classic Football comic. From left to right, the panels show
Charlie Brown running
Lucy ripping the football away before he can kick it, making him slip and yell “Augh!”
Charlie Brown landing with a Wump
Charlie Brown laying on the ground while Lucy leans over him and says “isn’t it better this way, charlie brown? Isn't it better to trust people?”
The comic is captioned “This is what the refrence"
Back in Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff, Sweet Bro runs towards the ball. Hella Jeff yanks the ball away. Sweet Bro doesn’t just slip, he flies up into the air and does a loop-de-loop.
On the next row, it zooms out and follows his upward Lit fof into a sky that looks like it’s made of blue sand. In the third panel, he approaches a helicopter, which is labeled ‘Whirlybird’. Sweet Bro hits the propellers and is shredded into red sludge with a Phhpppbbbb. His head, ass, and limbs go flying. The sound effect continues below the panel. Pbthb…

Jane grips her trident tightly in one hand and grits her teeth. She looks back out of the corner of her eye and glares at Aranea, who looks very self-satisfied.

Jane: First of all.

Jane turns and gives her an absolutely furious stare. She holds herself in a way that says she’s probably speaking in sharp, clipped sounds.

Jane: [Note: Italics.] You've got some nerve.

Roxy: wowee shut ur dumb blue mouth
i been spying on ya and eavesdropping on all your smug trash and i couldnt help but notice that ring youre wearing Aranea: Yes.
What about it?
Roxy: thats johns ring aint it Aranea: John's ring?
but John never rightfully owned it.
In fact, it was originally intended as a gift to my young descendant.
It's only fitting that I wear it, and bring additional glory to the Serket name.
Roxy: yo
thats another insane and smug thing u said just there do you even listen to urself for real though we were gonna give that ring to callie Aranea: Hmm?
Roxy: callie my goddamn b.f.f.see from space
shes a ghost and i wanna save her from her bro Aranea: Ah yes. The female cherub.
I am perfectly familiar with her plight, as well as the relevance she purportedly has with respect to her brother's downfall.
In fact, I was one of the first ever to theorize about that! (Smiley face with eight eyes, one of which is winking)
Roxy: Smug
Aranea: but the situation has changed. That is all ancient history now.
I'm sorry, Roxy. but I have no use for your cherub friend in my plans.
She will not be playing a role of any significance.

Still, you do have a way with words. If we were compatible in that quadrant, you might have swept me off my feet!
Roxy: bwuh??
Aranea: besides, I don't have time for new relationships right now. Too many irons in the fire, as you can see.
It does get to be a little bothersome having people flinging themselves at you all the time. It's always been my curse.
Did you know just earlier today, your friend Jake could barely keep his hands off me? (smiley face with eight eyes, four of which are winking) Roxy: what no way
ur a filthy liar
Aranea: I've been known to embellish now and then.
Relax! I am just having some fun with you.
Roxy: ...
wheeee
Aranea: but now the fun times are over.
I cannot have an invisible, intangible troublemaker tiptoeing around trying to sneak this ring off my Back on LoFaF, Gamzee lands on top of Jane and clings to her. The streamers from his outfit also tangle around her and she flails around, trying to free herself. It zooms out to show the whole area, once again with small alerts to show everyone’s faces. Roxy, Aranea, and Brain Ghost Dirk are on top of the tower. Roxy is asleep, Aranea is smug and self-satisfied, and Brain Ghost Dirk watches with the unreadability only a strider could muster. Jake still yells inside his hope field, which rises slowly into the air. Jane, Gamzee, and Jade are still on the far side of the lava lake. Gamzee is smiling, Jane is furious, and Jade is a pair of legs sticking out from under a building. Dave flies in from a green gate, which appeared above Jake’s tower. Aranea: Hmm.

Honestly, Dirk. The conversation we are having right now bears a striking resemblance to absolute nonsense.
I recall once your dream self appeared out of thin air, just as you have done now.
And I did you the favor of helping you on your way. Don't you remember?
There's no need to thank me. I'm quite benevolent by nature. I prefer to do the right thing, even in situations where I'm not likely to receive credit for my good deeds.
Dirk: Holy shit.

terezi with the dropkick ambush from the fuckin sky
go terezi kick his ass
still dont have the slightest clue whats going on here but i fully endorse this turn of events

[Image description: Terezi does a flying kick in from the side and kicks Gamzee off of Jane. Terezi holds one half of her cane sword in each hand and has her red scarf tied tightly over her eyes. The ends of it trail behind her like streamers. Gamzee, still smiling, flies backwards towards a section of the tower, which is floating in the lava. Jane is knocked slightly off balance.]

Terezi: hiiiiiyaaaa!
Gamzee: (caps) honk.
Dave: whoa yeah
terezi with the dropkick ambush from the fuckin sky
go terezi kick his ass
still dont have the slightest clue whats going on here but i fully endorse this turn of events
dialoglog
Dave: terezi do you know whats going on here do you know what happened to jade and where the hell is karkat is he ok
terezi
terezi
ok she looks pretty serious about stabbing that clown i can respect that what about you
hey
hey johns hot mom did you see what happened shit i mean johns evil mom
did you happen to...
damn
ok that was a really embarrassing and inappropriate freudian slip there dont think im gonna rebound from that one im uh
im gonna stop talking now

[Image description: Gamzee skids to a halt on the building and Terezi drops down in a crouch next to him, still yelling and clutching her sword. Jane turns and stares at them confusedly.]
Terezi: Her…

[Image description: Terezi tilts her head to sneer up towards the top of Jake’s tower and lowers her sword. A small alert coming from the corner shows Aranea’s smug smile. Gamzee sits up.]

dialoglog
Terezi: its her shes here!
what is she doing here?
it was she who manipulated me into restoring my eyesight!
just as yooouuuuu were the one who instigated my spiral of self loathing to begin with
I never would have considered her silvery tongued offer in a million sweeps if you had not poisoned me so oh yes
it is all too clear to me
you and she are in cahoots now, arent you arent you!!!
Gamzee: (smiling face with a round nose)
Terezi: admit it, makara
you have become just another lowly nibble vermin scurrying after the seductive tune of her flute!
you are both the worst kind of scum to me. Opposite, and yet equivalent it is like the legislacerators handbook says those who are cut from the same cloth are fit to swing from the same rope!

[Image description: Terezi jumps up and screams as she delivers a flying kick to Gamzee’s face. His head snaps back and several of his teeth fly out, along with a splatter of blood. Jane watches from the background, unimpressed.]

dialoglog
Terezi: justice kick!!!!!!!

[Image description: Brain Ghost Dirk slices quickly upwards, trying to cut the hand with the ring off, but she yanks it back in time and lifts one leg, which is labeled ‘prance’. There’s still a small smear of blood on her stomach, but it’s not actively bleeding.]

[Image description: Brain Ghost Dirk lunges forward and stabs her through the center of the chest. He trembles with the effort, but she barely reacts.]
Next

[Image description: Brain Ghost Dirk pulls his sword from her chest and retreats a few steps, holding his sword at the ready. Aranea just stands back up straight. There’s a little more blood from the stab through her chest, but not nearly as much as there should be.]

[Image description: It zooms in on the wounds, which slowly close up, leaving only holes in her clothes as evidence of the fact that she was ever attacked.]

dialoglog
Aranea: Those were some nice moves.
I particularly enjoyed how you took a casual swing at my arm in the middle of that combination.
As if I am not perfectly aware that you understand the significance of this ring.
I know you must have overheard my conversation with Roxy.
Really, it is one of the great disadvantages of having a reputation for offering detailed explanations.
When you inevitably start going on at length about your weaknesses, there are sure to be some eavesdroppers taking notes!

[Image description: She lifts the hand with the ring on it and wiggles her fingers a little.]

Aranea: but I really don't mind that you know my secret.
What kind of sport would I be if I didn't give you a fair shot at defeating me?
In fact, to show you what a generous and honorable opponent I am, I will give you one free chance at disarming me.
I won't move an inch. I promise! Surely with your speed and swordsmanship, it will be a piece of cake.
Well?
Go on, Dirk. Have at it.
Dirk: …

[Image description: Terezi jumps up into the air and holds her swords out to her sides. Behind her, the green flames grow and spread further.]

dialoglog
Terezi: I said fight back!
what, now of all times you cant bring yourself to raise a hand to me?
all you can do is grin like an imbecile??
ugh, stop smiling!!!

[Image description: She repeatedly stabs one of her swords into Gamzee’s chest. Gamzee, who is drawn in a very SBAHJ, shitty style, just sits there and takes it.]

dialoglog
Terezi: I said wipe that grin off your face or I will peel it off your skull!!! take that! And that!!
oh yes, clown. Your reckoning is at hand

[Image description: Pyralspite the white scalemate sits off to the side. A few drips of Gamzee’s blood are splattered on its face.]

dialoglog
Terezi: what do you think youre looking at?
dream on, miracle boy
chief deputy pyralspite can do nothing for you now!
no one can save you from your judgment!

[Image description: Jane stares at all of that, still entirely unimpressed.]

[Image description: She turns and lifts one hand, which begins to glow.]

dialoglog
Jane: Observing this tomfoolery for several minutes has been time well spent. I have no regrets whatsoever.
On that authentic note, I shall resume my effort to resurrect my omnipotent daughter, and regain the tactical advantage.
As a being of cold, flawless reason and logic, I have no cause to anticipate further impediments to this simple objective.

[Image description: She turns just in time to see that Bec Noir and P.M. have landed next to Jade. P.M. holds her sword out to threaten Dave. Bec Noir holds her body with one arm supporting her back and one arm under her knees. He barks at Dave, who holds Caledfwlch up and yells back.]

bad anthropomorphic dogs!
youre so bad!
oh my god
you are literally being the worst pair of anthro dogs i ever saw drop that goddamn girl i mean it dont you woof at me bad!
Bad!!!
you dont think im serious?
im serious as a drive to the fuckin vet im not joking you dumb mutts i mean business here see ive got a sword too!
its sharp

but im still drawing a blank on everything!
i dont even remember what i was doing when i fell asleep or even If im sleeping
er...
how are you supposed to tell if youre a ghost or not?
Calliope: ghosts have spooky blank eyes like me.
but only after they remember they died.
so until you recall what happened, I am afraid neither of us will know.
Jade: darn
Calliope: there is one way to be sure, I suppose.
Jade: what?
Calliope: I could use some of my potent anti-sleeping majyyks on you to see if you wake up.
Jade: anti sleeping magics?
I mean majyyks?
Calliope: yes.
but I must admit I am reluctant to do so, for selfish reasons. (Blank face with closed eyes)
Jade: what reasons?
Calliope: if you wake up, you will disappear.
and I will be alone again.
Jade: aw
thats ok im in no hurry to go yet or for that matter, to remember why im here
Calliope: no?
Jade: I cant put my finger on it but I have this awful feeling something bad happened specifically something that happened because of me Calliope: really?
Jade: yeah (sad face)
im worried I may have done some things I wouldnt be proud of that maybe I could have even... hurt some people
Calliope: that is hard to believe.
Jade: I hope its just my imagination in any case I feel like I could use some rest and you seem very nice so id rather relax here with you for a while than jump right back into...
whatever craziness is waiting for me out there
Calliope: (very happy face with closed eyes)
Jade: by the way, I didnt catch your name...
Calliope: I did not say it.
using my full name could bring us unwanted attention.
instead you could refer to me by the name of my trollsona.
Jade: your trollsona?
Calliope: yes.
it's callie.
pleased to meet you. (Gasping face)
Jade: nice to meet you too callie (smiley face)
but
what is a trollsona?
Calliope: it is the profile of a fictional troll which I enjoy pretending to be.
see?
do you like her?
Jade: oh
oh!
I get it... You are not really a troll?
Calliope: nope.
Jade: omg she is so cute or I should say
you are so cute!
Calliope: (gasping face)
Jade: what a good idea
do you think I could make a trollsona too?
Calliope: oh, yes!
that would be so lovely.
can I help?
Jade: sure!
Calliope: which blood colour would you choose?
Jade: the best color obviously which is green, duh (tongue sticking out face)
Calliope: that's the colour of my blood too!
Jade: wow really??
ths perfect
our trollsonas can be like blood sisters or such
I dont know enough about troll culture to use proper terminology... but lets just say thats what we are Calliope: agreed.
blood sisters it is!
Jade: what should my horns look like?
oh and for that matter should I have horns instead of my dog ears, or in addition to them?
Calliope: definitely in addition!
your pointy ears are splendid.
Jade: ok
hmm where would they go though...
jeez I think we might need to do some drawings to make her look right Calliope: oh yes, let's!!!

Jade: but you did know my name...
Calliope: well, yes.
I knew of you.
Jade: hmmm
I cant shake the feeling that we have spoken before maybe in an old dream I can't remember?
im not sure if its the sound of your voice or what
I don't recognize your face, but then that's not what you really look like is it?
Calliope: no.
Jade: ...
Calliope: before you ask, my actual appearance is much less appealing, at least in my own view.
I would rather you didn't see it, if that's alright.
Jade: that's fine!
it's not a big deal
if it's true that we've met before, I'm sure I'll remember in due time let's not worry about it for now
Calliope: okay.
Jade: by the way
what is with this stage?
is it from one of your memories?
Calliope: no.
I thought it was your memory?
Jade: I don't think so it would seem to be some sort of imaginary figment that turned into a real object
I wonder why it looks like a drawing?
Calliope: shrug.
Jade: hey why don't you come up here and help me get these curtains open since it's the only thing we've got in this boring vortex we might as well try to have a little fun!
Calliope: yeah!!

how much bullshit is it that we're pretty much the only two assholes left who can't fly?!
Kanaya: It Really Is Such Bullshit

Karkat: dave?
what the fuck
Dave: cant talk chasing dogs

Aranea: Dirk, how long did you want our standoff to last?
Don't get me wrong. I am flattered you seem to enjoy my company so much.
but you are missing a golden opportunity to sever my arm while I'm preoccupied with overconfident blather.

Aranea: Really, you would be doing me a favor by taking my arm.
It would bring me that much closer to following in the footsteps of my true self.
She was a very successful pirate, you know. She lost her arm in battle to a cunning adversary she underestimated, much like yourself.
Won't you help me become who I was always meant to be?
Dirk: Ugh.
Shut up.

Dirk: I'm not going to cut off your arm.
It's such an obvious trap.
You'll just put me to sleep or something. With your psychic powers, or maybe a long story. I have a better idea.

On the next level down, there is a very large, 12 paneed window shaped like the troll’s Sgrub logo underneath a triangular pseudo-roof that barely protrudes from the building. On the other wall on the same floor, there’s another, smaller window of the same design. One more floor down, there is another, smaller 12 paneed window below the small one on the next floor up. dialoglog Meenah: you sure Vriska: It's embarrassing!
I cringe every time I think about her self-indulgent exploits.
Meenah: mhm
Vriska: Doesn't she realize this sort of thing never works?
You don't just go and insert yourself into the middle of all the action in the most hamfisted way possible just because you can't stand another second being out of the spotlight.
That always goes horribly for everyone.
Even worse, it ends up making you look like an idiot.
And even More worse, it's making Me look like an idiot by association!
Why couldn't she have thought this through a little more?
Why couldn't she have at least Told us first?
Meenah: shrugging ma shoulders yo Vriska: How is it that I understand this and she doesn't?
She's How much older than me?
Like a bajillion dream bubble sweeps or something?
All that experience and wisdom, and she's out there floundering around like fucking noob.
Meenah: (floundering) Vriska: It's so disheartening. She wants to be like Marquise so much, just like I used to.
but she is Nothing like her!
You kind of need to have a fuck ton of experience doing, you know... a lot of ruthless piratey shit before you can pull that off?
You can't just be a bookish dweeb all your life, then suddenly decide to flip the badass switch and expect people to take you seriously.
Also, to truly pull that off, it Might help to actually be a goddamned adult.
I know, I must be totally off my swaychair for suggesting it. but maybe, just Maybe, there are certain roles and behaviors which are best left to fully developed, grown ass people!
Not to sound like a wet blanket, but my ancestor's journal contained some Extremely mature content!
So now we have yet another stupid kid trying to fill the boots of a legendary pirate queen, and it's amateur hour all over again.
All I can see in her is me when I used to........
And it makes me want to........
Ughhhhhhhh!
Meenah: stop movin around all angry
you fuckin me up here Vriska: Sorry.
I'm just dismayed by some of the implications of her actions.
Is this really how I came off when I used to pull this sort of shit?
Meenah: dunno wasnt there
Vriska: I have a sickening feeling it was just like this.
No wonder nobody could stand me.
And here I am, bitching at my ancestor like I know better, like I've evolved beyond all that. but........
Have I really?
Do I go around thinking I'm smarter than I used to be, but end up repeating all the same old patterns without even realizing it?
Was the plan to find this treasure and build an army just a restatement of my immature, egomaniacal bullshit disguised as a more "strategically sensible" plan?
If I can apparently keep kidding myself about this crap forever, then how would I know the difference?
I guess the thing I hate most about her stunt isn't that it's a dumb plan, or that we weren't included.
It's that it's making me wonder if I can trust any of my own judgments, even after all this time.
Meenah: thats some baller inward reflection serk Vriska: I don't know about that.
If it's so baller, why is it making me feel like shit?
Meenah: thats what its supposed to do i think but like temporarily?
Vriska: I guess.
What about you?
Does any of this resonate at all?
I know you used to stir up shit with your friends.
You must have done some outrageous things which you thought were necessary for the good of the team. When you look back, do you ever wonder what you were thinking? Or if you every truly evolved?
Meenah: na
Vriska: Oh, come on.
Don't leave me hanging in self doubt limbo here.
Gimme Something, Peixes.
Meenah: haha
i dont know maybe??
sea my thing is i dont verbally torture my cray schemes like all the serket girls and that works ok for me guess i made some mistakes but who really gives a flip Vriska: You don't care if you make mistakes?
Meenah: not like you and she do araneas deal is what shes doin now isnt much different from how she always did stuff the stuff she does is never about the things shes actually doing its about what those things Mean and makin sure everyone Knows what they mean and above all makin sure everyone understands how important she is cause shes obviously the source of all that critical Meaning without which all action would be pointless right?
but thats not how i rolled i just did shit
and the shit i did meant only the things the shit accomplished and if that shit accomplished a dumb thing that sucked then i guess thats what you call a mistake and oh fuckin well mistakes aint make me feel too bad since i dont really connect results with my shelf worth Meenah: ya feel me
Vriska: Yes.
That is so right on.
If you asked me a long time ago, I'm sure I would have insisted that's exactly how I felt about everything I did too.
but I don't know if that's true anymore.
In fact, I'm sure that Wasn't true.
I was always invested as hell in the consequences of everything I did, and how it made me look.
And how it made me feel about myself especially.
Meenah: ok i will admit
I always felt hella bad about decisions leavin me with less gold glub damn feel a tide a shame wash over me just thinkin about going broke Vriska: Well of course.
Who the fuck wants to be poor?
That's for losers.
Meenah: word

Vriska: Anyway, I have no idea what to do now.
Her ill-advised power play has ruined everything.
Meenah: well
we still have this treasure here why dont we just do the shit without her you could whip up another ghost army march it strait to english and start beatin him down Vriska: I don't think so.
Meenah: why not
Vriska: If you want to know the truth........
When we were manipulating all those ghosts, Aranea was doing most of the work.
Her abilities are a lot more advanced than mine. I guess because she's been around for so long?
I was kind of riding her coattails, making it seem like it was a true collaboration between us.
It was actually very nice of her to allow people to get that impression. She didn't have to.
I should have just told everybody that. I guess I wanted to believe it too. Like we were equal partners in crime. Ancestor and descendant united at last, and working great together.
I hope you don't think that makes me a huge phony.
Meenah: why would i give a fish about that Vriska: Yeah.
You're right, you wouldn't.
I shouldn't be saying needy shit like that.
I'm just a bit depressed, because it feels like I'm running out of friends all over again.
Meenah: i hear you
she ditched me too
cant blame her i guess
what can i say girl loves her piratesona she wanna be dat pirate chick so bad who am i to fault ambition
she cast her lure into the lake of cute but dumbass dreams
i think her mindfang ideal is ridic to be lochness with you that journal man
tales from the pirate who wont shut up
but then
im not one to talk about hero worship
i think my adult self happens to be the best best greatest most perfect beautiful woman Ever an if you axed me if i wanted a crack at her job id be like glub yes put me down for That so i legit hope it works out for her but yeah
that dont mean i didnt get ditched and that just (sad face wearing a tiara and goggles) makes me reel sad Vriska: Same.
Meenah: you sure we cant salvage the plan without her Vriska: I don't know.
Possibly?
The way I was picturing it, a major feature of the original three pronged approach was to use the army to lead a first wave assault against him.
Then while he was preoccupied by all those ghosts swamping him, I would go in for the kill with the secret weapon.
So without an army, I guess we'd need to get close enough to him to use it before he killed us.
Meenah: like uh sneak up on him?
Vriska: I guess.
but I get the feeling Lord English is not the kind of guy you can just sneak up on.
Meenah: kay what if i found some way to teleport over to him and i beat the shit out of him with my wrestling moves then you bust out the weapon
Vriska: Hahahaha.
That would be awesome, if somewhat implausible.
I guess we can think it over.
but if we're getting real here, this has all made me feel pretty lukewarm on the plan.
Aranea checking the fuck out. And me recoiling at her hubris, which is obviously just.........
My Own bullshit, getting thrown back in my face?
It's a bit much.
You have to be able to trust your own judgment to make good plans, right?
I don't know if I do anymore.
I certainly don't right now.
Remember when our crew started rebelling against me in that cave, and I was kind of lashing out?
I think I might have been forcing it a little?
Like that whole dramatic speech I gave when I jumped into the flaming pit.
Was that really a genuine thing, or like, a desperate last attempt to be who I think I should be?
Meenah: that was badass though i mean yeah you were chewin the scenery an being hammy as fuck but i thought it was cool and kinda funny
Vriska: It wasn't supposed to be funny though!!!!!!!!
Meenah: oh
Vriska: Ah man.
I really don't know what to do.
I'm too depressed to think proactively about any of this.
Maybe the truth is I don't even care all that much if anyone stops Lord English.
I think all I really cared about was getting to do it myself.

Meenah: thats a good enough reason if you ask me but hey if you aint feelin it you aint feelin it

Vriska: What if we just........
Gave up on the mission?

Meenah: gave up

Vriska: Yeah.
What do you think.

Meenah: um

Vriska: Sure?
You don't think that would be a wussy move?

Meenah: well yeah
it would be if a couple of cowards did it but that aint us
so we cool to do whatev

Vriska: That's a very good point.

Meenah: nofin wrong with stickin a fork in a shit idea that just makes you miserable hell the best choice i ever made involved givin up one day i said
fuck da throne ran off to the moon
thats how this whole crazy mess kicked off and if i didnt do that i wouldnt of met you (smiley face wearing a tiara and goggles)

Vriska:
(smiling face with four eyes)

Terezi: Oh…
Terezi: Oh God

Terezi: what have I done

Aranea grits her teeth and puts one hand on her temple. The other, she stretches out in front of her. A scorpio symbol pulses on her forehead and she trembles with effort.

Jane, in red silhouette, lunges for Aranea, who is in blue silhouette. Aranea holds out a hand towards Jane and a flashing red and black Z alert appears over her head.

Mid leap, Jane’s head droops to the side and she snores loudly.

She lands on her feet and her arms drop to her sides. A massive flashing Z alert takes up most of the sky around her.

Aranea stares uncertainly at Jane, who just keeps snoring.

Terezi holds her hands up to Gamzee placatingly.

Terezi: i...
im sorry!

Gamzee glares at her. Blood is splattered over most of his body and runs in rivers from his mouth.

His eyes go wide and begin to tint orange as he opens his mouth.

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Gamzee jumps up into the air, which is labeled ‘Cavort’. He honks loudly and savagely as he punches Terezi in the face with a massive Pow. Blood sprays from her mouth and she falls backwards. A jagged border flashes teal and indigo around the edges of the panel.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Jane wraps herself around Aranea in the exact same way that Gamzee clung on to her. Aranea does the same flailing that Jane did before. A Z alert still flashes red over Jane.]

[Image description: Jane manages to hook her fingers in Aranea’s mouth and yanks her head to the side.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Gamzee snarls and punches Terezi in the stomach with a ‘kapoo’, making her spit more blood. Small bits of static begin to overlay small patches on both of them.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: The static becomes even worse as Gamzee grabs Terezi’s horns and lifts her up by them.]
The static continues to spread as he brings his knee up and Shabops her right in the chin. He lets go of her horns and she falls backwards, spitting more blood as she goes.

Jane continues yanking on Aranea’s mouth while punching her in the eye with her other hand. A few small patches of static start up on them.

As red and blue silhouettes, Jane continues punching Aranea and Aranea spots Brain Ghost Dirk’s sword, which is laying on the ground and bouncing slightly, like the ground’s shaking. Some of the patches of static carry the colors of that area over from the previous panel.

It zooms in on the sword, which is partially obscured by static, dead pixels, and carryover colors from the previous panel. The sword bounces up and down more, like the shaking’s getting worse.

The godtier death clock rapidly flashes bright colors. The hand is upright over a Hope symbol and little bits of static muddy the image.

Gamzee punches Terezi in the face while, behind them, Jake rises up off the ground and flashes bright colors. Static and distorted patches cover parts of the image.

It zooms out. Jake continues to rise and Gamzee punches Terezi in the face again. Carryover colors are spotted across the whole thing.

Gamzee repeatedly kicks Terezi in the stomach, forcing her back along the broken building. They both leave a trail of blood in their wake. Jake, who has finished his godtier resurrection, stares over at them concernedly. Jane’s trident lays on the ground not far from him. A mess of brightly colored pixels flashes over the entire top half of the image.

Jake watches in dismay as Gamzee stands behind Terezi and uses a hand on the top of her head to force her to her knees. She screams and they both glitch wildly.

Jake winces as Gamzee slams her face into the ground while screaming savagely. The details of the hit are lost in glitches, but there’s a massive spray of teal blood.

[Image description: Gamzee launches himself and Terezi high into the air and Jake keeps watching. The glitches are less numerous, but they flicker quickly.]

[Image description: Jake turns away and covers his eyes as Gamzee and Terezi fall towards the ground so quickly that they blur. There is less static, but many small sections of the image jitter around.]

[Image description: Terezi screams as she falls backwards off the edge of the building. She reaches out a hand towards Gamzee. Jane’s trident falls with her.]

back from the edge. The tops and bottoms glitch again, this time keeping a half-there Rose in the corner.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Gamzee flips Terezi up and over his head. A white burst of energy blasts past their hands from Rose’s spell, which is helpfully labeled ‘Spell’. There is only the faintest amount of static in this image.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: The spell impacts Jake’s piece of the building and he disappears in the explosion. There are more patches of static.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Gamzee swings Terezi up onto her feet but doesn’t let go of her hand. She strains against him and reaches for one of her cane swords, which lays on the ground just out of her reach. A few glitches duplicate Gamzee’s left side slightly to the left of him.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Terezi screams and leans away from Gamzee, who smiles maliciously at her. A large patch of glitches in the upper right corner flicker to Aranea’s 7-pupiled eye.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: It zooms out on Aranea and Jane, who are still in silhouette. Jane is still asleep and still has her legs wrapped around Aranea’s body, pinning her arms down, but now she has one hand on Aranea’s throat and is punching her in the head with her free hand. Aranea grits her teeth and stares at Brain Ghost Dirk’s sword, which begins to lift off the ground. A faint layer of static covers the image.]

[Image description: Gamzee wraps one arm around Terezi’s neck and pins her under his arm. He lets his tongue flop out of his mouth and gives the middle finger with his other hand. Honestly, he looks demonic. Terezi yells and tries to push herself away from Gamzee with one hand while clutching at her chest with the other. The entire image jitters a little from the static.]

[A6A6I2] Next

[Image description: Gamzee faces the shore with his middle finger. The entire panel glitches. Sometimes it flickers to the previous panel and sometimes the edges become the burning forest.]
Karkat and Kanaya stand in front of the flames with their weapons out. It’s the exact same scene from the the clouds, but this time there are pinpricks of misplaced pixels all over it.

Aranea: Oh shit.

[Image description: It zooms out over the tower. The Battleship Condescension bears down on them and occasionally glitches to be much, much larger.]

[Image description: The larger ship wasn’t glitches. It was just the next panel. The ship is absolutely monstrous and two of the horn-like protrusions on the front of the ship extend out past the edges of the panel. The whole ship glitches and jitters around.]

Her Imperious Condescension herself stands on top of her ship and snarls down at everyone below her. The entire image is covered in a thin layer of static.

The Condesce hisses down at Aranea, who stares up at her with an ‘oh shit’ expression. A pulsing blue burst surrounds Aranea and Jane, who is still sleep-clinging. The Condesce glitches ever so slightly at the edges.

It zooms in on her face as she lets out a loud hiss. The pisces gem in her tiara glows and everything jitters.

It zooms out to show the whole area with the small expression alerts. Roxy is still asleep on top of the building. Rose stands near her and looks up in concern. Gamzee and Terezi still battle it out in the middle of the lava lake and Jake lays on his back a ways away, likely knocked there by Rose’s spell. Karkat and Kanaya stand between the green fires to the south of Jake’s tower and the crater and glare across the lava lake at Gamzee. Aranea is still on top of the tower, looking up in horror, and Jane is still asleep and clinging to her. The Condesce’s ship flies above the whole area and she stands on the bow, snarling at the goings-on below. A pair of very shitty green curtains jerk closed over LoFaF, glitching all the way. The Battleship Condescension and Her Imperious Condescension’s alert remain on the outside of the curtain.

Act 6 Act 6 Act 3: God’s Gift to the Yaois

Act 6 Act 6 Act 3

[Image description: Caliborn’s shitty curtains open over the More How To Draw Manga Volume 1.]

Welcome back.

(again.)

Your unimpatience has been appreciated.

I can only assume. That waiting for the next installment of my vaunted series, "homosuck". Was as time consuming for you. As it was for me.

I have been working my ass off. Like one of your human motherfuckers. At perfecting my crafts manship.

You are probably wondering if the fruits of my laborious toil. Were extremely successful.

I believe you will find the answer to be the following word.

Yes!!!!!!!!!!!

[Image description: Lil Seb holds up a golden trophy, which shows Caliborn clutching his tablet to his chest and holding the stylus up into the air triumphantly. Caliborn ignores the offered award and keeps aggressively scribbling. He’s wearing some sort of short sleeve red shirt and a dark red cape, though we can only just see the edges of it.]

I have done it. Where the fine arts are concerned, I have reached the pinnacle of achievement mountain. I stab my cane into the peak (like a flag), thus making a snowy avalanche. On to the haters below!

Jealous much, fat ass???

How did I do such a sensational feat? You ask.
The mystery to success. Lay hidden amidst the byzantine mangas. All along.

These occult wizardries of the brush. Purloined from cool scrolls of wise men from the earthling east. Have been gathered for my studious perusal inside a seductive tome. Emblazoned with a frivolous tart.

However, mastering each sly gambit of the trade. Is no easy task.

And yet easily mastering them. With great difficulty. Is exactly what I did!

This fact is called a game changer.

To professionals in the business, that is.

Previously. Before I literally transformed. Into the supreme doujinshi man gaka, standing before your very eyes. I made some predictable plans. Regarding what goes next in my story.

I got everything ready. I drew all of “the trolls”. Look. All of your favorites are here.

Uh...

And lest we forget. A salty array. Of miscellaneous bitches.
the other direction and have a inverted color filter over them.]

Such as in case I was in need. Of more fictitious idiots to murder. Inside my drawings.

But these portraits are now a moot point.

[Image description: Caliborn’s cursor drags a pile of Knockoff Trolls into a badly drawn garbage can.]

All of this wretched trash. Goes in the place where it belongs. Which is to say, the garbage.

That's what happens when you are an artist. Sometimes you change your idea plans. Because they suddenly seem terrible. Due to your astronomical strides in creative mastery.

These were the pixel puppets. Of a laughable amateur. They are beneath me now. Much like you are.

But in spite of all of your bad shortcomings. I will let you observe my artistic breakthroughs. Because of how proud of them I am. And watching people be impressed at my drawings. Even dumb jerks. Makes me feel great about myself and my accomplishments.

Behold, my exclusive private gallery.

At the time of the screenshot, he had 11 deviations (which is the term Deviantart uses for posts), 0 comments, and 19 pageviews.]

[Note: There’s no link, but go ahead and go to Caliborn’s deviantart page. As of the time of describing this site, Caliborn is now a Core Member and has been a Deviant for 3 years. He still has 11 deviations, but now he has 1 comment and 608,000 page views. His biography reads “Exceptional maestro of the fine arts. And your lord.” His interests tab is as follows:

His one comment is on a piece of art called MSPA- A.U.- English by NakkiStiltz, though the content of the comment itself is inaccessible due to the artist disabling comments. That piece of art shows a tall, lanky man who looks like Jake English with a Bec Noir style scar over one eye wearing a torn Cairo overcoat. A pair of massive, green wings spread out behind him and lightning crackles over his whole body. He holds a black katana in one hand. The style is very anime and elongated.]

Abra cafucking dabra you nasty shitners.
Read it and weep!!!

(and tell me how good you think it all is. Thanks.)

Ok, that's enough admiration. Back to our story.

[Image description: One of Caliborn’s deviations takes up the whole panel. It’s a very poorly drawn, lanky anime boy with shaggy white hair that looks like it hasn’t been brushed or washed in at least a decade, red eyes, and what might be intended to be a smirk but came out more like an uncomfortable grimace, like maybe he has gas. The anime boy, which is probably supposed to be Dave, is wearing a red shirt. Watermarked text in green, all-caps comic sans reads “Copyright. Do not steal.”. On Caliborn’s Deviantart page, the title of this image is “01” and the caption is “God’s Gift to the Yaois”.]

Look who just swaggered into your fucking business.

It's god's gift. To "the yaois". My research tells me.

Get a load of those baby reds.

You may recollect. That this blushing bishonen dream boat.

[Image description: Another of Caliborn’s deviations shows the same Bad Anime Dave blushing and holding one oversized hand of elongated fingers to his cheek while clutching a poorly drawn pair of shades in the other. Those fingers look both anatomically impossible and broken. He’s wearing a surprisingly accurately drawn Knight of Time outfit. The watermark reads “This is my property”. The name of the drawing on Deviantart is “02” and the caption is “Blushing bishonen dream boat”.]

Is our alpha male.

Not that I blame you for not recognizing him. From his once previously odious visage, of before.

But now, by my skillful hand. This gorgeous male hero. Has been allowed to radiate. With the supreme divinity. Of boymanga heaven.

Oh my. What have we here?

[Image description: A third deviation shows Bad Anime Dave turning towards an equally badly drawn Karkat. Karkat’s neck is way too long and both of their necks are absurdly muscled for their size. Bad anime Dave has dropped his shades on the floor and reaches towards Bad Anime Karkat, who holds his arms out. It’s hard to tell if he’s reaching out for Bad Anime Dave or telling him to stay back. They both have expressions on their face that look somewhere between ‘trying not to cry’ and ‘in immense pain’. The watermark is just a giant copyright symbol. On Deviantart, this one is titled “03” and the caption is “Moe bros”.]

Don't look now. But another bashful bishie approaches the stage.

It's our troll male. Krab guy. Quite a temper, this one! He bellows himself hoarse daily. At our smart talking. Give no fuck. Alpha male.

These moe bros put the pal, in palpable chemistry. The kind of which is bad, as well as erotic. The sage elders of manga describe the quadrant they occupy, as I quote "tsundere". It is a tempestuous liaison of mutual grievance. And yet, deep down. They know in each other's heart that they are solid dudes.
Ok. I know what you're thinking.

[Image description: Bad Anime Karkat takes a step towards Bad Anime Dave. His body turns, but his head stays staring out of the image, like maybe Caliborn can’t draw in profile properly. Dave gives the gassy smirk from the first drawing, but the head has been resized, so the lines are much thinner than in the rest of the image and it’s cocked to the side enough to make it look like someone snapped his neck. The watermark says “Step off”. On Deviantart, this one is “04 and is captioned “A tempestuous liaison of mutual grievance”.

This is wrong. What’s going on here? The touching. The tenderness.

I know it. You know it. Let's not play a game with each other.

Where, per chance, are the bitches? I can hear you ask.

You raise an excellent point.

But hear me out!

[Image description: Karkat, who is drawn in a much better but still bad style, closes his eyes and blushes so hard the red bleeds off his cheeks and into the background. He sweats as Bad Anime Dave, who drawn even worse, reaches for him. Dave’s hands are even more impossible than before. The fingers are far too short, his thumb is basically nonexistent on one hand and entirely absent on the other, some of his fingers seemed to have fused together up to the second knuckle, and they’re coming from an angle that would have dislocated his shoulders at best. His face is even worse. His eyes are hidden by his never-washed hair and his lips are puckered into two sharp points. Somehow, though, his mouth is also on the side of his jaw. The silhouette lips don’t connect to the jaw mouth at all. It’s a little horrifying, to be honest. The watermark is just 4 copyright symbols scattered across the image. On Deviantart, this one is “05” and is captioned “Beautiful fucking dudes.”]

The mangas play by different rules. You'll agree with this. When you hear the facts of my rationale.

Naturally such maudlin displays. Of touching and simpering. Have no place. Where only cocksure, masculine gentlemen are present.

However. By the man gaka's illusionry. He changes everything! Where before our males were coarse. Chisled. And crudely angular. Built for prime time. Like a fucking garbage truck. Plowing through the wall. Of an industrial beef mill. So cut. So maxed out. That they could only provoke inside a young man. Thoughts of raw power. Never debauchery!!!

Until now, that is. Because of manga. And its inherent capability to transform all that is hard and cruel. Into figures of sublime beauty. I find this artifice to be. Much like the siren spell of the trickster. Yet, impossibly. Even more haunting in its allure.

I must say. The artistic ploy. Is ingenious.

[Image description: They face each other, both in profile. They both blush to the point that there are red spirals on their cheeks and they both have pointy pucker lips and jaw-mports. It’s even more horrifying when there are two of them. The watermarks are a dozen or so copyright symbols thrown across the image. On Deviantart, it’s ”06” and is captioned “Illegal passion paradise.”]

It opens up so many possibilities. To the fiend of indecent smut. Where before, it was all but impossible. To render truly sentimental imagery, without resorting to babes and bimbos galore. Due to the utterly unacceptable happenstance where in macho guys are physically poignant with each other. Which to reasonable men is the most unwelcome persuasion of lechery. Or that is, it was...

Until now!

Look how smart this hoax is. Thanks to manga. See. Through the elegance of beauty and finesse. It softens the uncouth male exterior. Beveling the angles of pure muscle. Taming his incredible angriness. And by the flushing of cheeks. The dewing of brow. The glassing of eyes. One brings out of any brute, his true inner bishie. Which actually is manganese. For a beautiful fucking dude.

If you're confused, basically the idea is. You pretend them to look more like girls. To make it less weird for everybody when they decide to touch each other.

I mean. It is repulsive to witness. Do not get me wrong.

But yet, it remains...

Magical in its forbiddenality.

[Image description: It zooms on on their hands as they tangle their fingers together. One pair looks like someone tried to knot grey and white pipe cleaners together but gave up halfway through. The other set looks like a grey spork poking at a white crab with no claws. The watermark says “Artwork by Caliborn”. On Deviantart, it’s “07” and is captioned “Maudlin displays of touching and simpering.”]

Oh, but what’s this?

[Image description: This is by far the worst drawing yet. It’s Nepeta crawling on her hands and knees, though her arms stop at about her elbows and her legs get cut off mid-thigh. She’s wearing olive green booty shorts that are shredded at the end and only cover the top third of her ass, an olive green bra that might as well be painted on, and her blue hat. Her nipples poke through the bra to the point that I’m surprised the fabric isn’t ripped. Her torso is twisted impossibly to give the best view of both her anatomically impossible breasts and her crooked ass that, if she stood up, would probably stick out behind her a foot or so. One of her shoulders looks dislocated so it doesn’t obscure the view. She has overly-detailed eyes and a cat mouth, which rests right at the tip of her overly pointy chin. The watermark says “Copyrighted material. Protected by law.” Law is underlined. On Deviantart, it’s “09” and is captioned “Amorous feline floozy.”]

An amorous female sashays into the sexual picture. To spoil the boy fun.

It's none other. Than what's her face.

[Image description: Bad anime Nepeta stares out of the image. She winks one overly-detailed, jagged-edged eye and opens her mouth in an impossibly vertical manner. She blushes green scribbles on her cheeks. Her hair, which was black, as it should be, is now white, like Caliborn forgot to or couldn’t be bothered to color it. The watermark is four Registered Trademark symbols that basically fill the whole image. This one isn’t hosted on Deviantart.]

Don't be deceived. By the fact that this feline floozy is too unimportant for me to bother naming. This is an original character. Who shall not be stolen. Please respect my property.

This saccharine twit has some interests, which include.

1. Giggling.
2. Making me puke.

3. Using cat words, instead of normal words.

4. Serving no purpose.

5. Wearing stupid clothes.

6. Probably smelling horrible.

7. Getting murdered in drawings.

[Image description: Bad Anime Nepeta closes her eyes and violently vomits green blood. She has two sets of eyebrows now. One set is raised like they were in the original and the other is furrowed into a unibrow. The watermark says “See Ya.” This one isn’t on Deviantart either.]

Um, can someone say owned? Moving on.

Well, well, well, well. What have we here?

[Image description: A bad anime Terezi sits on the ground. She props herself up with one arm, holds the other up like she’s running her hand through her hair, folds one impossibly long, bendy leg around so her foot is at the opposite hip, and pops the other knee up. It looks like Caliborn was going for a pinup style but… failed, to say the least. Her neck is separated from both her head and her torso by thick black lines, and her shoulders are separate from her torso similarly. It’s like he posed a barbie doll or a mannequin and drew using that as a reference but forgot to not draw the joints. The one hand of hers that’s visible is a 3-fingered monstrosity shaped more like a bird’s foot than any hand I’ve ever seen. Her hair is surprisingly good, but it looks more like a 60s bump than Terezi’s actual hair. She’s wearing a bright red bandeau bra with her symbol on it over surprisingly proportionate breasts that don’t have knife nipples, though they lack a cleavage line, so they’re just a big bump on her chest. She’s wearing a matching pair of bright red leggings that also cover her feet, so they might be more like tights. She’s wearing glasses that are mostly the right shape if a bit oversized and blushing teal. The watermark over this one reads “This image is the private belonging of a professional”. On Deviantart, it’s “09” and captioned “A plucky strumpet.”]

"hello boys", this plucky strumpet seems to say with her eyes. She is looking to horn the fuck in. On our two top dogg’s illegal passion paradise. She is no doubt hoping for... Muchas smooches Fat chance sister!!!

"idiot girl number whatever" likes:

[Image description: It zooms in on Terezi’s face as she takes her glasses off. Her eyes, unlike Nepeta’s, aren’t detailed to death and look kinda okay, though one is a lazy eye and has a drooping eyelid. The hand holding her glasses looks like someone smashed her hand in a door. The watermark over this one is just “Mine” alternating with the copyright symbol until it runs out of room. This isn’t hosted on Deviantart.]

1. Total failure.

2. Getting friend zoned by quality male honchos.

3. Living in perpetual disgrace.

4. Being a complete fucking third wheel to some cool boys.
5. Not being worth the alpha male's time of day.

6. Not being worth the krabkrab's time of day.

7. Not being worth anything. (A.K.A. "Worthless")

[Image description: Terezi pukes blood as blood sprays from her eyes and she magically grows eyelashes. The watermark says “Feel free to steal this one.” It’s not on Deviantart either.]

Bye.

Here comes another prime O.C. Of mine, hot off the press.

[Image description: A bad anime Vriska stares in different directions with each eye and tosses 5 dice into the air with a malformed hand. Her mouth is halfway up her face and her neck is as long as her forearm. Her torso juts out at a strange angle and her breasts look like they’re swinging. She wears a grey tanktop with her symbol on her left tit. Her expression is blank, yet somehow disturbing. Her hair looks like she’s never combed it and it’s matted into long, ugly chunks. The watermark says “Registered with the government as my legal artistic possession.” On Deviantart, it’s “10” and is captioned “A "lucky lady".”]

Not too shabby, right? You can just tell this "lucky lady" is brimming with chutzpah.

Me thinks she will be a very controversial character. With excessive complications. And ambiguous moral stuff. In her personality bullet points.

Her traits and other such character things. Will be a lot to list. Which is fine, because it will help you believe my creation is more interesting. In fact. This is one such advantage of dominating all known manga as I have done. When you're this good, and brilliant. You don't even really need to "tell stories" anymore. You can just make some characters. And list their various qualities extensively. And that's good enough.

The many. Many intriguing personal facts. Of this truculent female provocateur. Shall be listed extensively.

As follows:

[Image description: Bad Anime Vriska’s head detaches from her overly long neck, leaving some chunks of hair with it. It’s very clear that Caliborn just dragged the select tool in a square around her head, moved it over, and scribbled some blue there for her blood. The blood’s only coming out of the torso side of her neck, not the head side. The watermark reads “Psyche-Out!!!”. It’s not on Deviantart.]

She actually thought she was going to be relevant. Keep dreaming bitch!

It think we’ve wasted enough time on these nobodies.

[Image description: Caliborn draws very aggressively and bangs on his tablet so hard that it makes the horse doll bounce.]

Don't you? Let's drop the bullshit. And stop fucking around.

You are probably wondering. "Who is responsible for all this mayhem?" You ask.

Uh oh. Here he comes.
In the same shitty style, a tall, spindly leg and an equally tall, spindly, golden pegleg cast a long shadow. Two sides of the Cairo Overcoat hand down, but there’s no back to it. Maybe someone just cut strips around the lapels and removed the rest of the fabric. The watermark says “Hold the fucking phone…” It’s not on Deviantart.

Don't look now. But it's none other. Than the big man himself.

Daaaaaaaaaaaamn.

Caliborn has drawn a shitty recreation of MSPA- A.U. - English by NakkiStiltz, though now the Jake looking guy has red circles on his cheeks and is blushing. The watermark says “Just. Damn.”. On Deviantart, it’s “11” and is captioned “The yaoiest motherfucker who ever lived.”

Who you ask, is this brooding beautiful dude?

This is yours truly. My self insertion guy. Which is my prerogative to do as an artist. I learned this from my "master". The wise assed ghost who haunted my computer. He was the best there was at stuff like this, he told me once. Truly, he was quite the piece of shit.

Seriously. Can I get a god damn?

Shitty A.U. Lord English puts a clearly broken hand to his forehead and pouts ineffectively. His other wrist snaps at a 90 degree angle so his fingertips can scrabble at the head of a golden cane. The watermarks are “Holy Smokes!” and various pictures of Caliborn’s face. This one isn’t hosted on Deviantart.

Ask any decorated scholar to the school of manga, and he will say. Before you stands the yaoiest motherfucker who ever lived. All things about this gorgeous bastard tell you loud and clear. This is a man of class and style.

He is dressed to kill. (Literally! Haha, yesss.) Look at this fancy dan, strutting his stuff and dapper as fuck. Your boy here peacocks hard at honies aplenty, negging the bitches and closing the hoes in a coat that is fit for a lord. Look at that god damn coat. I don't know how he gets that coat? Probably due to a shenanigan that takes place later. I doubt it matters that much. It looks great though, and I love it.

Also, how about a hat?

The watermarks vanish and Caliborn’s cursor drags a photo of a black, pinstriped trilby, commonly mistaken for a fedora, onto Shitty A.U. Lord English’s head. As it lands, a green watermark of Caliborn’s eyes and nose in a Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff style appears over the hat and the words “Fucking Incredible” appear as watermarks at the bottom.

Sure, why not. The hat is not canonical to my fanon, but I do not see the harm in such a dignified accessory. Ah yes, perfect. Who could ever be accused of being an asshole while wearing that?? Nobody.

Oh, also. Sick nasty green electricity wings? Fucking check. I think we are good to go here.

Big man: holler for your woman.
His woman, that elaborate tramp from the surface of the tome, hustles to the side of her debonair hot shot. "My'lad" he doffs rationally. The man brims with intellectual ideas she wouldn't understand. He knows many things, about the world, and being strong. But yet... He still doesn't know who she is. The goddess of manga, perhaps?

It is no matter. She must bow down before her lord. As must you all some day.

Goddess of manga: bow down.

[Image description: Caliborn frowns and begins scribbling harder. John stares at Caliborn, trying to process what he’s seeing.]

She bows before you submissively in a subservient manner. Everything is correct about the situation. You think she's really attractive, and it makes you feel weird physically. And yet, unlike your sister, she knows her place. And has no opinions or words to remark about.

I mean...

Not to imply that any other aspect of her is like your sister. Like being attractive. Wow. What? Read into stuff much? You decide you have too much time on your hands. You stop thinking about this topic starting as of immediately.

All is well and ideal again, without you blurting out unnecessary sexy scandals. It is almost a bit. Too ideal, you think.

"hmm."

Something is a miss.

[Image description: It zooms in on A.U. Lord English’s face. He’s still wearing the trilby and a green question mark is watermarked over his face.]

[Note: Some of the caption text is now blue rather than green. For the sake of clarity, those will be prefaced with John: and Caliborn’s will be similarly prefaced when it switches back, though they aren’t there in the comic.]

John: Hey.

Caliborn: You go in for a closer look. At the eyes of the handsome boy's appearance. And notice a worrisome discrepancy.

No, this is all wrong, you frown. These glassy red peepers, lovely though they are. Are not your lord's final form. Oh no.

His eyes are supposed to flicker about.

[Image description: It zooms in on A.U. Lord English’s face. His eyes begin to flicker the colors of billiard balls. Small vibrating Caliborn faces are watermarked across the whole image.]

With the hat flavors. Of my loyal frog puppet guys.

Legend demands, this is a trait of supreme invincibility. Owed to a full body union. With the clockwork majyy. Mayjiyj. Makjack.

The clockwork bullshit.
I don't know why that's supposed to happen yet. But maybe we'll find out...

Together?

John: Hey asshole, I'm talking to you!

(dot dot dot dot dot)

[Image description: Caliborn turns to look at John while hunching over the tablet, like that will hide his massive monitor from John, along with the flashing-eyed A.U. English on it. A green exclamation mark flashes over Caliborn’s head.]

(dot dot dot dot dot)

(dot dot dot dot dot)

[Image description: The view flips and we see Caliborn through John’s legs. Lil Seb still jitters around.]}

John: It's you, isn't it.

(dot dot dot dot dot)
John: You're the guy who wrote that horrible story with all the fake daves!

You're behind all this, aren't you! I dunno how I know that, but I can just feel it!

You're the one who vriska and her pirate pals are all trying to stop! It was you who put all this into motion in some way I don't really understand! Which means you're responsible for like a trillion people dying, and universes blowing up, and all my friends getting scattered around and acting like idiots, and my dad being dead!

Ok, maybe you're not totally responsible for us acting like idiots, most of that is on us! But all that other bad stuff is your fault somehow, isn't it!

I'm gonna kick your ass!!!

Ladies and gentlemen. We have a hater.

Caliborn: As you can see, the former ghost of the male hero has come back to haunt me. This is not his first unwelcome intrusion. Into my private important affairs.

John: Who... Are you talking to?

Caliborn: Technically. It will not be his last either. But it will mark the first time he is forced to pay a toll for his rude teleportation crime.

Oh yes, today he will pay.

With his teeth.

And with his blood.

John: Um...

Game Over Kid.

[Image description: Caliborn tilts his chin down and glares out from under his brows. He picks up the golden cane and taps it against his palm. Behind him, AU Lord English’s eyes keep flashing, lending Caliborn a glow of the same color. He smiles a poisonous smile.]

[Image description: It zooms in on Caliborn’s eyes. The colorful light flashes around him and his eyes flicker through the faces of his horrible anime drawings. Somehow, he still looks menacing despite this.]

and sitting on John’s head. They all fade and a new John fades in. He leans back to an almost 90 degree angle to get away from shitty Nepeta’s ass as she slides across the screen. Trilbys cover the background.

Suddenly, everything slides to the side and the website returns to its normal grey instead of Caliborn’s green. Act 6 Act 6 Intermission 3 appears in massive letters and slowly shrinks down to the normal title size over a panel showing Gamzee. He looks completely crazed and smiles a demented, bloody, teeth-baring smile. His eyes are bright red and he has Terezi still pinned under his arm by her neck.

It cuts to Karkat, who sneers and raises both his sickle and his fist at Gamzee. It cuts to Terezi, who is clawing at Gamzee’s arm and screaming fear as tears run down her cheeks. The title flashes red as it cuts to Kanaya, who grits her teeth and holds her chainsaw at the ready. It cuts to the Condesce, who bears her teeth and tightens her fist around the handle of her trident. It cuts to Aranea and Jane. Jane is still asleep, and she chokes out Aranea. It cuts to Rose, who looks absolutely furious and wields a Quill of Echidna in each hand. It cuts to Jake, who lays on the ground and looks stunned.

It flashes to Dave, P.M., and Bec Noir at Jade’s quest bed. Dave holds Caledfwlch out. P.M. holds out the sword from her chest. Bec Noir stands on Jade’s quest bed while holding her corpse. It cuts to Bec Noir glaring down at Dave and cradling Jade against his chest.

It cuts back to Jane and Aranea. Aranea grits her teeth in exertion and frustration and uses her powers to lift Brain Ghost Dirk’s katana from the ground. It’s pointed directly at her and Jane, who is still asleep and strangling Aranea.

Kanaya leaps up, her skirt fluttering behind her and chainsaw ready to swing. She sprints across the bits of Jade’s tower that form a broken bridge across the lava lake.

Aranea moves the katana closer and angles it towards Jane. With a burst of energy, she breaks Jane’s hold and sends her flying, then the katana hurdling after her. Jane flies outside of the boundaries of the panel and continues falling in slow motion as it cuts back to Kanaya on the bridge. Karkat pushes his sleeves up and sprints to catch up with her. After a moment, he overtakes her and it zooms in on her expression. She seems shocked that Karkat could surpass her, but Karkat doesn’t notice. He’s too focused. Jane disappears off the edge of the screen.

It cuts back to Gamzee, who snarls, sticks his tongue out, and gives the middle finger. Terezi grabs at his arm with one hand and at his shirt with the other. It cuts to a different angle as, in colorful silhouette, he stands up straight and throws Terezi to the ground behind him. He stares ever so slightly up, and a second later, it zooms out. Karkat, as a bright red silhouette, lunges towards Gamzee with his sickle ready to strike. Gamzee reaches down to pick up Terezi’s dragon head sword. He laughs maniacally and holds the blade at the ready. With one hand, he catches Karkat, who is now grey, mid-leap and levels the sword with his chest. The background flashes red as he stabs it through one of the loops in Karkat’s sign, then yanks it out and stabs through the other. Small trickles of red run down Karkat’s chest. There’s a flash of red, then black, then Karkat stares up in disbelief as Gamzee lets go. Karkat falls backwards into the lava. Terezi gets to her knees behind Gamzee, who holds his hand out like he’s waving down at Karkat. It cuts to just Terezi as she sobs and holds her hands up in a pleading or questioning gesture. It cuts back to Karkat as his back finally makes contact with the lava. Fire consumes his hair and licks up his clothes almost immediately. It cuts to his face, still frozen in an expression of shock as the lava closes over him. His arm still sticks up out of the lava, but it slowly sinks down and vanishes.

Kanaya screams in anger. Gamzee screams back in blind, clowny rage.
Aranea turns to glare towards where she launched Jane. She puts one hand to her temple and holds the other out parallel to the katana. The sword launches out of the panel and vanishes off screen, then it refocuses and follows its trajectory as it launches towards the center of Jane’s chest. She’s still fast asleep. Moments before it runs her through, Jake throws himself between it and her and takes a sword through the chest for his trouble.

Kanaya still screams as she launches herself upwards.

Dave holds his sword in his back hand and throws a punch. He clocks Bec Noir right in the face, making him drop Jade down onto the quest bed. She lands sprawled out on the space symbol. Dave drops down and lands at the foot of her quest bed as a red silhouette. He holds the sword in both hands and stares down P.M. and Bec Noir, as if challenging them. He grits his teeth and levels the point of the sword towards them. P.M. and Bec Noir give him near identical snarls and draw their swords.

Aranea screams and jerks her outstretched arm back towards herself, throwing the katana towards Jane again, this time with Jake already impaled on it. She snaps her arm back out straight again and Jake’s body with the sword comes spinning in from the left side of the screen, crosses into the panel, then launches towards the right just as it cuts back to Jane. The background flashes red as it stabs her onto the sword behind him.

It cuts to the Condesce, who hisses loudly. Her eyes flash red and blue and the pisces gem on her forehead pulses pink.

It cuts very quickly between Dave’s face, Jade’s face, and Terezi’s face, then settles on Jake and Jane as the red background around them shrinks to a red circle. Everything slides to the right and suddenly the website is Caliborn green again and Caliborn is staring John down with anime in his eyes.

John holds a hand out and gets ready to strife. Lil Seb runs back and forth between them. Caliborn just looks smug. John charges towards Caliborn, who holds his golden cane at the ready. John gets close, but before he can do anything, Caliborn smacks him in the face with the head of the cane so hard that John’s glasses fly off, taking his pupils with them. John reaches up to catch them and shoves his eyes back onto his face with an offended shout. John lunges forward and punches Caliborn repeatedly in the stomach, which catches him off guard. John jumps up into the air and gives Caliborn an ‘Egbert Kick’ in the chin, which makes him bend backwards. Caliborn straightens back up and turns his cane into his golden machine gun, which he aims at John. Before he can shoot, John grabs the barrel and pushes it upwards. They grapple with each other with the gun between them and someone eventually pulls the trigger, making it fire into the ceiling with a blam-blam-blam. It cuts to the outside of a station, which resembles Lil Cal’s head and sits on a landscape that flashes bright colors. The bullets fly out through the top of the station.

Back inside, Lil Seb does a little dance and looks back and forth between Caliborn and John. It cuts back to the fight as Caliborn gives John a Dudebro Slap in the face. John grabs Caliborn’s arm and bites down just below his wrist, making Caliborn scream. The fight fully devolves into a middle school brawl when Caliborn grab’s John’s boxers and hikes them up. They’re black with green slimes on them. In retaliation, John grabs Caliborn’s cape and rips it. Caliborn frowns exaggeratedly.

Back on LoFaF, Kanaya grits her teeth and launches herself across the bridge. She screams in anger as it cuts to Gamzee, who laughs. She launches directly towards him and swings her chainsaw up, catching him right between the legs. His laughing stops as a purple line appears up the center of his face. His left half frowns and his right half smiles as they very slowly fall apart. and blood spews from the gash. Kanaya lightly lands as she screams over the body of the second person she’s cut in half with the chainsaw. The background behind her flashes jagged sections of jade green and indigo. She’s smeared with Gamzee’s blood. A scribbly drawing recreates the scene. A wave of Gamzee’s blood washes over Terezi, who screams and cringes away from it.

Dave catches both P.M.’s and Bec Noir’s blades on his own and grits his teeth. He makes two sharp strikes, one towards Bec Noir and one towards P.M., though they each block them. He twists his sword and manages to push P.M.’s blade down a bit, but she snarls at him and he has to let go to catch Bec Noir’s blade as he tries to strike from behind.

The Condesce glares down at everything from her ship, then lets out a massive scream. The red and blue flashing in her eyes intensifies and she blasts out a burst of psionic energy. Aranea just barely manages to dodge to the side and it cuts to the map of the area as the energy beam cuts a swath across the lava lake. It cuts to Terezi and Kanaya on a section of the bridge as the beam slams into the piece they’re standing on, which launches Terezi out of its path. Kanaya stares up in horror and drops her chainsaw as the beam comes closer.

There’s a white flash, then suddenly Dave is there, standing still. His sword arm drops to his side.
P.M. and Bec Noir flank him and each has their sword through his chest: P.M. from the front, Bec Noir from the back. Blood drips down his arm and it zooms in on his hands as the hilt falls from his grasp. He collapses on top of Jade, draped across her stomach. The scene tints yellow and a golden gear appears in the center of the screen along with a word in a glowing, prospitian font.
“Heroic.”

It slowly fades back to Kanaya as she is consumed by the beam of psionic energy. She turns into a black silhouette, then even that crumbles. Rose screams and reaches her arms out. Tears run down her cheeks. Behind her, Caliborn glares into the distance as John clings to his neck and bonks him on the head with a closed fist. Rose fades as silhouettes of Jake and Jane impaled on the sword fall down from the top of the screen in slow motion. The background fades to Aranea’s look of dawning horror as she stares up. John, Caliborn, and Aranea fade and it changes to Terezi. She screams and grabs her remaining sword from the ground. A silhouette of Aranea floats off to the side. Jake and Jane continue to fall.

Everything fades to Jake and Jane laying on the ground in a pool of blood. The screen splits. The left half tints yellow and a golden Hope symbol appears in the center. The right half tints purple and a lilac Life symbol appears in the center. Two words fade in. The left, “Heroic”. The right, “Just”. Everything fades.

It cuts to Aranea, who lifts her hands and glares. Her arms shake with effort as she jerks them around and twists them into strange positions. A moment later, it cuts to the object of her effort.
LoLaR hangs in the void, then begins to tremble. Suddenly, it twists and slides out of position, then spins entirely out of the panel and off the right side of the screen. In the panel, it suddenly appears in the upper left, launching itself towards LoFaF and The Condesce’s ship. There’s a massive flash and it zooms out to show the impact. Both LoLaR and LoFaF begin to crumble and a massive shockwave spreads out. The Condesce launches herself to the side as a fire starts up behind her.
She glares up at her ship, which snaps into several pieces.

Aranea continues jerking her arms around and contorting her expression in extreme exertion and a moment later, LoCaH launches off the same way LoLaR did. The Condesce screams and begins jerking her arms in similar ways. LoHaC yanks out of place and flies to intercept LoCaH just before it slams into the opposite side of LoFaF. They, too, begin to crumble and send out a massive shockwave. Bits of tower and metal structures from LoCaH rain down against a background of fire.
Rose ignores the hailstorm of debris and launches herself towards The Condesce, who snarls at her.
Rose snarls right back. The Condesce lifts her trident up, like she’s going to throw it.

It cuts to Aranea, who lifts her arms and scowls. Suddenly, she stops and looks behind her. Terezi comes flying towards her with a sword at the ready. Terezi screams and Aranea gives a dark smile. She turns and lifts a hand towards Terezi, which stops her in her tracks and makes her go stiff. Under Aranea’s control, Terezi points the sword towards herself, then stabs it into her chest. Terezi’s knees buckle and she spits blood. Everything fades to black.

A red silhouette of the Condesce appears, then fades to normal. She launches her trident and it hurdles towards Rose, who doesn’t stop or adjust her course at all. Then, she does. She stops in her tracks and stares in shock as the center tine of the trident stabs her in the center of the chest, right through the light symbol.

Aranea jerks her arm and throws Terezi into the opposite shore of the lava lake, where she lands and sends up a massive dust cloud. The Condesce continues jerking her arms and yanks the trident back out of Rose’s chest. It returns to her hand and she screams. Her eyes glow brightly and she sends out another blast of psionic energy. The beam shoots towards Rose, who has gone limp and closed her eyes as she falls. Just before the beam reaches her, a black blur approaches from behind, then resolves into Roxy’s silhouette. Roxy flies towards Rose against a background of flame, then grabs her around the waist. They turn into dark blue silhouettes, then vanish with a white flash of light and a pulse of the void symbol. Roxy’s face watermarks the panel as the beam cuts through where they just were.

Everything goes white, then Terezi fades in. She’s on her knees and clutching one hand around the hilt of the sword in her chest. There’s a spray of blood, then she rips the sword out of her and lifts her head, still screaming furiously. She fades to white as The Condesce and Aranea fade in. They both float and face each other. The background behind them fades from white to the crumbling towers of LoTaK. The Condesce slowly lifts a hand towards Aranea, who is pulled towards her. Aranea’s neck places itself right into the Condesce’s palm. It zooms in as The Condesce shrieks in Aranea’s terrified face.

Everything slides to the right and the website returns to Caliborn’s view. John runs towards Caliborn, who is now wearing a fedora. John punches him in the face, spraying both of them with bright red blood. The hat goes flying and Caliborn frowns. The tattered edge of his cape only hits mid-back. Lil Seb keeps dancing behind them. Against a background of flame, John pounces down on Caliborn and punches him in the face repeatedly. Caliborn looks shocked, but he doesn’t fight back. More blood splatters onto John, who fades to white and begins to zap away.

John vanishes and Caliborn is left laying on the ground in stunned silence. He blinks up at the ceiling like he’s trying to process what just happened. It slowly zooms out. A collection of white horse dolls lay around him and a broken piece of countertop with a rollerball mouse glued to it lays just above his head, next to his crowbar. It zooms in on the mouse. Caliborn’s hand weakly bats at it until he can finally reach the buttons. With a click, Caliborn’s shitty curtains close over the scene.]

Act 6 Act 6 Intermission 3 (already in progress)

[Image description: Aranea trembles as the Condesce stares her down. The Condesce’s arm shakes.]

[a6a6i3] Next

[Image description: The Condesce hisses at Aranea.]
Aranea’s eyes bulge out and point in opposite directions as the Condesce strangles her with one hand.

With her free hand, The Condesce grabs Aranea’s hand with the ring on it.

She twists Aranea’s wrist up and squeezes it.

The Condesce moves her hand up Aranea’s while keeping her grip tight enough that Aranea can’t escape. She forces Aranea’s pointer finger up.

She flings the ring off Aranea’s finger with her thumb, sending it flipping through the air.

She twists Aranea’s neck to the side. Large, sparkly pink text under the panel says ‘Snap’.

The Condesce tosses Aranea back.

Aranea falls backwards into the flame. Her face is frozen in the bug-eyed expression she had just before her neck snapped.

Aranea falls and starts to vanish into the fire.

The flame licks over her and her eyes go white.

She vanishes and the panel tints purple. A lilac light symbol appears in the center of the screen and black text appears in the middle of it. “Just”.

Out in space, chunks of planet, building, and other impact debris float around the pairs of collided planets.
John: what the fuck happened here?

A teen didn't like the direction of my story, so he came and beat me up.

This is the worst thing that's ever happened to me.

And bear in mind that one time, my leg was bitten off. And I tragically lost a sister to murder.

As such, I must admit.

To being succumbed to a new low. Of depressing emotions.

As a tortured artist. Of so much talented promise, and intellectual daring, and cultural magnitude. There can be no doubt.
This is my nadir.

[Image description: it zooms in on him.]

The blackest ball before the hole.

The dark night of the feelings.

I bust my cherub hump for you "people".

[Image description: it zooms out. He’s walking along the forehead of another right angle drawing of himself.]

Day in. And day out. I bring home the fucking bacon.

I accomplish enough premium content. To choke your gluttonous candy holes. Which serve to barely muffle your noisy cravings. For more and for more.

And I do this, for what???

Ungratefultude.

[Image description: it zooms back in on right angle Caliborn. He hangs his head dejectedly and so deeply that he has a massive hunchback.]

I know what the crux to this horrible problem is.

[Image description: it zooms out a little. He dramatically holds up Lil Cal’s head in a manner not unlike Hamlet while standing on the cheek of the larger right angle drawing. He stares off into the distance and clutches his free hand to his chest.]

It is that, I am misunderstood.

The atrocious haters and weak children will say that I am a monster. That I am the biggest bad guy. And that my evil crimes need to be stopped using tantrum punches. But no.

I am just a simple artist.

Sure, some of their lies have some correct qualities.

[Image description: It zooms in on him.]

Yes, it's true I hate many things, and want them dead. Like all non cherubs. Who aren't me.

Yes, I mostly want to see every living thing turn extinct in bad ways. And ok, I've always been a sucker for making funny murders happen.

But those are really just hobbies! They don't define me.

My true passion. Is telling stories.

[Image description: Another version of him sits on the edge of Lil Cal’s face, right next to his eye. It’s too small to really see what he’s doing.]

I hugely insist. That I walk the path. Not of a villain. But of an artist!!!

I bleed the blood.
Of a craft's man.

I sweat the stuff.

Of a gentle soul.

And I weep the tears.

Of a poet.

And like any beautiful art poet.

Who is in a struggle of creative calamity.

I must retreat to my craft.

I will fall back on the fucking basics.

Form.

Line.

Angle.

Line.

More lines.

Additional angles.
A white horse doll stands on a mess of dark green scribbles. Four bright green angles flash on top of them, following some of the lines. Two acute angles are labeled “No” and “Bad. Two right angles are labeled “Great” and “Yes”.

I will regroup.

I will rebuild my vision, from pixel one.

I will reinvent myself as an artist!!!

And again I will rise.

[Image description: A right angle Caliborn stands up and screams loudly. Green light spews from his white eyes and is labeled “Pure Art Skill” in blocky text that flashes between bright red and bright green.]
Like a phoenix from the asses. ("Play on words").

The asses belong to the haters of course. Which I handed to them personally. With my strong bare hands.

And so I bide my time.

Perfecting every aspect of my craft.

Polishing, while demolishing.

Honing, while owning.

And in time.

You will see my masterpiece.

But the thing is.

Masterpieces don't come cheap.

I know I said, blah blah, I'm a sensitive artist. My soul is crying. Stuff like that.

But let's face the crass facts. I am a god damn business man. And art costs fucking money.

And so I will need you to plunge your grubby fists.

Far down your money pockets. And donate generously to the next and greatest act of homosuck. You won't be disappointed.

As we speak. My closest friends and allies. Are digging deep, and chipping in. Totally optionally.

Or else!!!!!!!!!!!

The savvy cash giver will also be pleased to know.

That I am graciously accepting "cal coins". The bleeding edge of modern imaginary currency. Which I recently made up with my computer. And can confidently claim. To largely understand.

Please stand by very impatiently.

Through the next lengthy barrage of not important stuff.

I will be using lots of fancy software money, to craft my swan's song.

Tune in next time on homosuck. For the thrilling and artistically unbelievable conclusion. Of homosuck.

Act 6 Act 6 Intermission 4

[A6A6I4] Next
[Image description: John stares at planetary debris among large patches of static.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: He flies through the area, past a giant, glitching candycorn. In the distance, lava flings out of LoFaF, which has about a third of it gone. Parts of the oceans on LoLaR fling out into space as well.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John looks at the candycorn in confusion.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: This panel is very wide, to the point that there’s a scrollbar. A flashing arrow underneath it indicates to scroll right. Near the giant piece of candycorn, a broken, mostly round chunk of one of the planets draws some molten lava into its orbit, along with several small chunks of ground that still have green plants clinging to them. John ducks through a curl of magma spewing from something offscreen and past a few broken pieces of Jade’s tower and broken, white spines that resemble Rose’s Quills of Echidna. Faint static covers the background and some of the foreground is blurred by large, out of focus patches of static. Further right, past more pieces of planet with green plants, shattered bits of tower, quills, and rogue clumps of dirt, John approaches the massive statue of Echidna from LoFaF. Vines with red flowers have climbed up around the body and entwined around the quills, but they’re now torn and the quills are broken off. Large chunks are missing along its back and it’s body is cut into several large pieces. John flies past and approaches LoFaF and LoLaR. Massive cracks have spread further along the surface of both worlds, leaving red scars across the surface. The fires around Jade’s tower send up a massive plume of smoke.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: This panel is also quite large, but vertically. It is still covered in static. John flies past LoFaF and LoLaR. On the other side of LoLaR, massive blobs of brightly colored water from its surface float amid even more chunks of Jade’s tower. In the distance, a large segment of Rose’s house spins away into space. Further down, a piece of Rose’s house and a piece of Jade’s tower head for a collision course. John flies past them, towards where Rose’s observatory floats near a piece of land covered in pastel flowers. He flies past them and past one of the helium seedpods from Jane’s land, then past the shattered remains of Rose’s crazy wizard statue. He approaches LoCaH and LoHaC. Lava spews from both, but LoCaH seems more damaged. A large piece of the surface from the side of the planet opposite the impact separates and flies off into space.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: This panel is another side scroll panel. John flies past LoHaC and through a staticy minefield of broken steel structures, globs of lava, segments of Dave’s house, and floating gears. He continues past until large, red stones join the debris field from the ruins on LoMaX. Long strands of lava wind around steel structures and in the area around the stones. He approaches LoMaX and LoTaK. LoMax is badly cracked and spewing purple gas out into space while a mass of red spreads over a third of LoTaK’s surface.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: This image is a vertical scroll panel. John flies down closer to the surface of LoTaK and passes the massive red area. He passes the planet entirely and flies out among shattered tombs and henges. He ducks through a massive crack in one of the floating tombs and past the statue of Yaldabaoth, which is cracked in two at the neck.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John flies closer and looks at the face of the Yaldabaoth statue. It’s only three lines in the faint approximation of eyes and a mouth, but somehow, it still looks like it’s judging. Some of the rays of light around its head have snapped off and are floating away. John continues past the statue and towards Dirk, who is floating near the top of a tomb and staring at the crumbling dome.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John stops a few feet behind Dirk, who stares past the top of the temple and towards the debris field around the six collided planets.]

dialoglog
John: hey there.
are you dave's bro?

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John raises an eyebrow and looks a little annoyed.]

dialoglog
John: hey!
did you hear me?
where is everyone?
i'm john by the way.
Dirk: John.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: The static gets worse and makes the whole image slightly fuzzy. Only John isn’t affected. Dirk stares at the destruction with an entirely neutral expression and clutches his sword.]

dialoglog
Dirk: Could you please just leave me alone.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John stares at Dirk’s back and the static gets even worse. The debris field is now a mess of misplaced pixels and jittering colors. John, once again, isn’t affected.]

dialoglog
John: what?
why?
i don't understand.
do you know what happened here?
Dirk: Yeah.

[A6A6I4] Next
dialoglog
Dirk: I failed.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John continues looking at Dirk’s back, but the static is so bad that every item is nearly indistinguishable from just noise.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: It gets worse. Dirk is now just a smear of pink and white.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: And even worse. Everything but John is a mess of pixels and colors that jitter and jerk around.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John looks away and grimaces.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Something off to the side grabs his attention and a blue exclamation mark flashes over his head.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John turns and looks at a section of space that isn’t reduced to glitchy confetti. He spots two figures. One, a dark blue silhouette, is carrying the other, an orange silhouette.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Perspective shifts. Roxy holds Rose’s body in her arms and stares sadly down at her. John watches from a distance. Behind them, a mess of static spreads into the rest of the void.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John flies after Roxy, who retreats from the spreading glitches.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy flies towards a pink-tinted dreambubble that contains her planet, LoPaN. John follows a good distance behind her.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy comes down to land at the base of a purple statue of a faceless snake woman with a massive, long shawl wrapped around her shoulders and entwined with the rest of her body. The statue is surrounded by steep-sided pyramids and other egyptian tombs.]

[A6A6I4] Next
[Image description: Roxy lands and closes her eyes. John flies towards her.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy lays Rose down in the sand with a concerned expression. John lands a dozen or so yards behind her and watches.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: He steps closer and Roxy puts her hand on Rose’s stomach.]

dialoglog
John: roxy?

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy turns to stare at John with a tentatively hopeful expression.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John’s eyes go wide as he spots Rose’s body.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: He stares down at the ground and frowns sadly. Roxy does the same.]

dialoglog
John: what happened to rose?

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy kneels over Rose and holds her hand. Blood is smeared down the side of Rose’s chest from the stab wound.]

dialoglog
Roxy: mom

[A6A6I4] Next

dialoglog
Rose: W,

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Rose blearily opens her eyes and John takes a step closer.]

dialoglog
Rose: What...
Happened to me?
Roxy: the witch got u with her fork
but youre gonna be ok
Rose: Oh.
That's nice.
Cough.
Roxy: maybe you uh
shouldnt try to talk now
Rose: You saved me, didn't you?
Roxy: ...
Rose: Thanks.
But,
She's gone, isn't she.
For good, I mean.
Roxy: hm?
Rose: I saw her die.
And.
It's a shame how...
Cough.
A shame that I never even...
Got to tell her...
I loved her.
Roxy: who?

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Rose shifts her head to look at Roxy. Her hair is a mess and blood spills from her lips.]

dialoglog
Rose: Kanaya.
But...
You too, mom.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: It zooms back in on her eye, which closes just as slowly as it opened.]

dialoglog
Rose: You too.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy shifts back a bit as the panel tints yellow. A light symbol appears in the center of the screen. “Heroic”.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy pulls her hand back and stares in disbelief. Tears run down her cheeks.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: She turns away and begins sobbing. John glances uncertainly towards her.]

dialoglog
John: is she…

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy stands up and throws her arms around John, who seems a bit unsure but hugs her back anyway.]

dialoglog
John: i'm sorry.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: John stares off into the distance with a look of dawning realization.]

dialoglog
John: i got here too late to do anything. because as far as i may think i've come... i still don't know what i'm doing.
dave's bro in the funny pants was right. but not about himself.
i was the one who let everybody down.
i'm the failure.
it's me.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Roxy pulls back and grabs John’s shoulders, startling him.]

dialoglog
Roxy: you saw dirk?? where is he John: he was back there, floating near all the exploded planets.
he told me to leave him alone, so i did.
and now he's stuck somewhere inside all those shitty glitches, which just keep getting worse.
Roxy: do you think we can get him out he is like my only friend who isn't dead yet
John: i don't know.
i have been able to clean up some glitches here and there...
but they're everywhere now.
it's like the whole universe is corrupted.
or, more than just the universe.
you know what i mean.
there's no way i can use my windy powers to blow it all away anymore.
and even if i did... then what?
everything has gotten so fucked up!
Roxy: yeah
sigh

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: It zooms out and shows them as silhouettes. Roxy is a darker blue than John. They both stop and just stare at Rose's body.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: They move back and sit at the base of a nearby pyramid.]

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on them. John stares towards Rose and Roxy looks at him.]
dialoglog

John: poor rose.
she was always too brave for her own good.
this is exactly what happened last time.
Roxy: last time?
John: um.
it was years ago.
when jack killed our parents.
and we tried to fight him but we weren't strong enough to face him yet.
so he killed her.
but at least that time...
i could bring her back to life.
Roxy: how
John: uh...
just, like...
using a certain method.
that is not an option anymore.
Roxy: ...
John: that's the weird thing about this for me.
i'm sitting here, looking at my dead friend.
and it's really sad.
but at the same time...
all of this has already happened before.
the death and tragedy and stuff.
getting painted into the corner of yet another unwinnable situation.
it keeps happening.
and i don't know how to stop it!
Roxy: yeah
me neither

dialoglog
John: but we can't give up, right?
i mean, we've all been in worse situations and gotten out of those, right?
Roxy: er have we really John: well...
hm.
no, i guess we haven't.
i guess this like, may be quite literally the worst thing that's ever happened??
i mean, not to put too fine a point on ranking shitty things.
but this is about as unbelievably shitty as it gets.
i keep thinking about what i could have done to...
or what i still could do if only i...
if somehow i could learn to control this...
or like, even better understand this...
this stupid, zappy, retconny...
Whatever it is.
John: bluh.
Roxy: john yo chill
John: chill?
Roxy: yes
maybe we should try to like not worry about shit so much anymore
John: why not?
there are so many problems!
Roxy: i know
i know all about the problems and we are both way brave and all im sure between us we proved that hella many times already but man
i never wanted anything more than to meet my mom to meet rose i mean and to just be with her and talk and try to understand this bond i felt like we always had without ever knowin each other i kept getting so close dreamin about her...
wakin up too soon... and finally the last time i woke up was just in time to see her die
its like
the witch was holding out just long enough for the dream to feel like a real possibility before taking it away then u take that ultrasad thing and pile on all the other brutal manure raining down on this epic shit charade and ive got to say john this is starting to feel an awful lot like the end
John: the end?
Roxy: yeah
whatever the end of the road feels like has gotta feel like this maybe we should just admit to ourselves this is probably what its like when you find yourself in a timeline where everything went wrong and you know it means youre doomed and the only thing left to do is face the fact you have to ride it out into nothingness stop worryin so much and try to let it go John: you mean, like.
...
what do you mean?
Roxy: i mean
accept that we lost admit that the people we wanted to be with the life we always wanted it was never gonna happen except maybe in the afterlife our friends are there callies there my mom is there
why shouldnt we be there too why not just let the doomed timeline work its gloomy majyyks and slip away into nothing with the rest of this mess
John: …

Terezi: fix this

Jade: m hm!
well, sort of it looked more realistic when i lived here

Calliope: this was your home?
Jade: foliage?
in yours I suppose there was more care given to landscaping. (Gasping face)
Jade: huh!
Calliope: on his earth, these hills were covered in trees.
that's interesting
Calliope: is it?
Jade: ummm
Calliope: I'm not sure that it is, particularly.
Jade: heheh yeah I guess not
Calliope: but it is very nice here, even if it is only a stylistic approximation of your home.
Jade: you haven't?
Calliope: come to think of it,
I have never even seen a plant... (Blank face with closed eyes)!
Jade: (gasping face)
Calliope: plenty of meat though!
meat was left for us in great supply.
candy too.
but nary a plant for as far as the eye could see.
Jade: that sounds terrible!
when I was a kid I grew up with plants all around me but I was very lucky... I guess I took all the nice things about my life on this island for granted
I even had my own garden where I grew flowers and vegetables and fruits and such that is all I ever ate, the things I grew myself Calliope: ooh!
Jade: but I will admit to having developed a taste for meat since becoming a dog (side eyeing blank face with a bead of sweat) Calliope: meat is very good.
for all the complaints I might have about my childhood, near exclusive subsistence upon raw flesh is not one.
but then, I am sure that comes with the territory of being a monster. Heh.
Jade: (gasping face)
Calliope: I didn't mean to change the subject.
please tell me about your garden!

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: Jade and Calliope stand on the fake hills, which slowly fade to Jade’s greenhouse, but drawn in a very loose, cutesy style.]

dialoglog
Jade: my grandpa set it up for me in the atrium
I would spend hours tending to my plants and playing music for them it was one of the places where I was the happiest I can remember being
I miss that garden
Calliope: what happened to it?
Jade: it blew up and then I built my house waaaay up, on top of where it used to be in the years since that happened I thought about rebuilding it as a way to pass the time on my long lonely journey... but I was too depressed to grow anything
Calliope: hm, yes.
I believe I can sympathize.
Jade: what sort of place did you grow up in that didn't have plants?
was it a desert?
Calliope: of sorts, yes.
it was earth, actually.
Jade: huh???
Calliope: my earth was much less hospitable toward life than yours.
I am sure I was the only living thing left on the planet.
Jade: that sounds lonely
Calliope: it was.
Jade: but didn't you say meat was left for "us" earlier
Calliope: oh.
Jade: was someone else there?
Calliope: yes.
technically.
but he was only there while I slept.
Jade: who?
Calliope: my brother.
Jade: oh!
I had a brother too
its funny we keep discovering ways that we are alike
Calliope: yes, but not so much in this way.
for one thing, you and your brother never detested each other, to my knowledge.

[A6A6I4] Next

[Image description: The garden around them fades to a drawing of Caliborn and Calliope’s room drawn in the same style. Jade stands in front of the Sarswapagus and Calliope stands near her desk.

stardust sits next to the chain connector. The ~Ath manual sits on the desk next to her computer and her green juju chest sits on the floor next to her.]

dialoglog
Calliope: also you and he spent most of your lives apart.
to you I'm sure it seemed a cruelty to grow up so divided.
but to me that would have been a great liberty.

Jade: when you said you were a monster...
what did you mean?
were you just being hard on yourself... or did you mean that literally?

Calliope: no.
I was being rather literal about my true appearance.
Jade: I see
and your brother looks the same way too I take it?

Calliope: yes.
we look identical, though he was surely more a monster than i.
he still is.

Jade: was this his tooth?

Calliope: yes.
it was once mine as well, but that is a topic which would require some elaboration.
to tell you the truth, I would rather not talk about my brother. Or anything from my past, really.
dwelling on it for long makes me feel very anxious.

Jade: thats ok, we dont have to talk about it its just seeing this tooth
and listening to your voice...
I think im finally starting to remember something

Calliope: oh?
what do you remember?

Jade: I remember
you!

Calliope: me???

Jade: yes
im quite sure now that we met once before while i was asleep it was you, and yet...
it wasnt

Calliope: do you mean to say you saw my true appearance?

Jade: I think so

Calliope: egad.
I hope I didn't frighten you.

Jade: I was a little scared at first actually but it was not so much because of what you looked like

Calliope: (gasping face)

Jade: your voice was the same and I can tell now that you are basically the same person she was yet...
you seemed so different so much more serious also...
you were a god tier!

[Image description: Jade smiles at Calliope.]
Jade: what do you think it means callie?
if that was you... but not Quite you... then who was it?
Calliope: that was a version of myself I could have become, but for whatever reason, did not.
she is the one I am supposed to find.
but it would seem you found her first.
Jade: I see
an alternate universe version of yourself?
Calliope: yes.
the version who was able to defeat my brother before he could commit his mayhem.
Jade: that makes sense
no wonder she was so...
well
no offense to her, but you are much friendlier (smiley face) Calliope: I was that bad, was i?
or, ahem. She?
Jade: not really...
it was not long at all before I could tell she was good actually, the more I think about it, the more im starting to remember about the encounter
she had a lot to say
Calliope: what did she tell you?
Jade: she mainly told me stories!
Calliope: (gasping face)
Jade: she seemed to really like telling stories so I think your personality must have been in there somewhere (very happy face) Calliope: you don't...
by any chance...
Jade: you want to know if I remember any?
yes, its been coming back to me little by little
I think I can retell some of them
Calliope: (very happy face with closed eyes)
Jade: hey I have an idea
why dont you help me?
Calliope: how?
Jade: do you have anything to write on?
a pad of paper or such?
Calliope: I think so. One moment.

Calliope: how's this?
Jade: perfect!
ok, I will write the words, and you can draw the pictures
Calliope: oh, what a good idea!
Jade: yes
ok where to begin
if I recall...
the first story was about how she defeated her brother but I dont remember much about that one and maybe you don’t even want to hear a story that has to do with him?
Calliope: that would be the way in which she and I differ.
in my story, it was the other way around.
Jade: hmm
that makes sense
the rest of her stories I think were meant to account for the differences in the way her life went now I am very curious!
Jade: (smiley face)
so she went on to tell another story not one about your brother but one about mine
Calliope: it already sounds like a much more pleasant story.
Jade: well not exactly...

John: hey!
Roxy: I wouldn’t argue w her john shes all bloody and she clearly means business John: er...
ok, you’re right.
yes, terezi. I agree to the fact that I look like an idiot.
primarily because you seem badly wounded and angry.
are you sure you’re ok?
Terezi: shut up!!!
on rose’s rainbow candy planet
you appeared and said you had the ability to change things to alter history without dooming the timeline John: oh.
yeah.
the thing with that is, um...
wait a minute.
terezi, are...
are those jade’s shoes???
dialoglog
Terezi: maybe
John: maybe????
Terezi: yes
John: yes as in yes?? or yes as in maybe?!
Terezi: yes as in maybe John: terezi.
why are you wearing jade's shoes?
where's jade?!
Terezi: jade's dead

John: aw, man.
not jade too.
are you sure?
Terezi: yes john
John: you mean like dead dead?
Terezi: everybody's dead, john John: everybody??
even dave??!!!!
Terezi: he's dead, john everybody's dead everybody is dead, john
John: so...
John: jade, dave, karkat... They're all...
even the cute mayor guy who dave loves so much??????
Terezi: john let's not do this

dialoglog
John: dammit.
well, did you actually take jade's pulse?
you know, she does like to sleep a lot.
Terezi: I sniffed both her and dave's poignantly overlapping torsos very carefully for a human pulse alas I found none (frowning face with furrowed brows)
John: oh.
and then...
you decided to take her shoes.
Terezi: yes
John: and you thought that was an appropriate thing to do...
why, exactly?
Terezi: john, her shoes were red, sparkly, and delicious
I am only flesh and blood
John: ugh, you are such a weirdo.
why are all troll girls so weird?!
every single one I have met is some kind of depraved lunatic.
all the troll boys I have met are just lame weenies though.
well, except for karkat. Karkat was great.
may he rest in peace (frowning face)
Terezi: don't fucking say that!!!
John: what?!
Terezi: he is not dead!
John: but, you just said...
Terezi: I mean, he doesn't have to be!
I did not come here to bathe in the repugnant attitude of a defeatist dork
I came here to force said dork to use his incredible and totally unprecedented powers to set everything right, even if it means stabbing him until he complies John: ok! You don't need to stab me, really!
don't you think I want to?
we just lost everyone we cared about! Of course I want to go back and change things!
I just have no idea how!!!
Terezi: that is not my problem just as a lack of stylish gemstone studded footwear is also not my problem, as of precisely today these things are your problems to solve both the pitiable lack of command over your zappy prowess, as well as the grotesque pair of banana loafers on your feet

John: uh.
more or less?
i think their purpose is a bit more mysterious than that, and i guess more, like... majestic?
Roxy: majestic???
John: i don't know!
i'm probably not the best guy to ask about denizens. jade met hers, but she's...
a sprite could explain it better than me. didn't you ever talk to your sprite about them?
Roxy: nah
me and fefeta never talked much about that stuff
we mainly traded lame puns n talked about our shitty love lives John: you did?
wow, what kind of sprite did you even have??
Roxy: (frowning face)
John: er, never mind.
I did not mean to touch upon yet another sad subject.
anyway, maybe you're right, and my denizen could help me with these problems.
but at the same time...
there are so many problems!
even if I learned to control my powers better, we would still have to deal with all this glitchy bullshit!
I could zap around and fix everything, but if it's all still garbled, how would I even know it was fixed?!
maybe you were right, roxy.
what if it's all too much to overcome this time, even for typheus?

Terezi: probably nothing
John: nothing?
Terezi: if you are successful
then we will stop existing
I doubt it will be like having to live the rest of our lives in a doomed timeline technically that is what we are doing right now I presume that since you have been endowed with the ability to rewrite causality, not unlike the mechanism behind the scratch everything as it is now will simply cease to be John: oh.
...
Terezi: what?
John: I mean, even though everything in this timeline is about as shitty as it gets...
that still seems kinda sad.
Roxy: yeah
I think them is just the breaks dude
John: I guess so.
what do you think you will do with the time you have left?
Roxy: ummmm
idk shit around all melancholy for a spell to question my life choices probably bury my mom somewhere in the desert give her a quick funeral say goodbye to her and everything else
and then curl up into a ball
and wait to unexist?
John: holy shit that's the saddest thing I've ever heard!
argh, why'd you even have to tell me that!
Roxy: hey u asked
John: no, that sucks!
don't do that.
Roxy: meh why not
John: because it's a stupid plan for crappy idiots.
Roxy: jfc what a burn
I think I might cease to exist just from that burn
John: yes, laugh at my truly sick burn if you must, but everyone's getting on my case for being so defeatist, and that's the best plan you can come up with?
Roxy: I didn't get on your case for being defeatist tho
I was actin tons more defeatist than u on account of the emotions from my moms tragic corpse
the trolls been the one bustin your windsock remember Terezi: it's true
I have been doing that John: yeah, I just think... no matter who's going to stop existing when, if I do something proactive, then you should too!
even if only on principle.
Roxy: ..... such as?
John: why don't you go see your denizen too?
Roxy: wat
John: that's your denizen there, isn't it?
Roxy: no that's a statue
John: yes, I know it's a statue.
I mean, it is a depiction of her, right?
Roxy: oh
yeh
John: so if I'm going to see mine, why don't you go see yours too?
Roxy: go see nix...
why
John: why not!
Roxy: cause im not the hero with the magic "fix literally everything" powers that need masterin
John: no, but you still have things to learn, don't you?
did you ever make that spike ball?
Roxy: um no
but what would even be the point of that anymore
John: I dunno.
it's just a thing you were going to set your mind to, but haven't done yet.
just like I said I was going to get that magic ring so you can give it to your friend. Remember that?
Roxy: yeah
John: I haven't done that yet either.
but that doesn't mean I have to give up on that idea.
what if, after I see my denizen...
what if I could still do that?
Roxy: ...
John: I'm just saying, you have no idea what there is to learn from her.
maybe finding out what there is to learn is most of what there is to learn?
what if making alien spike balls is only the beginning of understanding your powers?
what if she can help you channel some sort of incredible... Voidey thing?
Roxy: voidy thing
John: yes, like a windy thing, but with void instead of wind.
Roxy: whats a windy thing
John: a windy thing is obviously a bunch of damn wind blowing around!
Roxy: soo ur saying she can teach me to make void blow around
John: no!
I didn't mean it that literally.
I mean, maybe something more abstract? Like, I dunno...
learn to phase out of reality, and somehow preserve yourself in the void, even if I alter history...
so that maybe when the time is right, you can just... Pop back into reality?
Roxy: wow
u really think she can tell me how to do that John: I have no idea!
I'm just saying...
who knows?
Roxy: not to be a wet windsock john but that sounds far fetched as heck John: ok, yes, probably.
it just feels shitty leaving you here to have a sad funeral, and then stop existing.
Roxy: sometimes john u just gotta throw a sad funeral for ur dead teen mom and then stop existing le shrug
John: le shrug my la butt!
I'm not going to see my denizen unless you agree to see yours.
that is the deal, and that's final.
Roxy: daaamm son
as in, damn, literal offspring of some peeps I kno shit be strict Terezi: alive lalonde, just do what he says pointless obstinacy is a shared familial trait which is most unwelcome at this time

Jade: I’m starting to remember the things she told me so vividly now. Its amazing what a creative project can do to get your mind turning.

Calliope: (very happy face with closed eyes)

what shall I draw first?

Jade: The land of wind and shade!

That is where the story starts.

Calliope: I see.

which story, exactly?

her story, or yours?

Jade: Hmm.

both, as a matter of fact.

my story began with a tragedy on lowas, which led to meeting her in the first place.

and then, she used my memory of that tragedy as a starting point for her story, which turned out to be related.

Calliope: Ooh, fascinating!

(i love stories)

Jade: (i know)

I’ll start with mine, since that will make everything else make sense.

Jade: So go ahead and start drawing.

Calliope: what?

Jade: lowas!!

Calliope: right!

Jade: (i know)

ill start with mine, since that will make everything else make sense.

Jade: So go ahead and start drawing.

Calliope: What?

Jade: lowas!!

Calliope: right!

Calliope: How’s this?

Jade: Looks good!

don’t forget to put a really tall house poking out of the top.

Calliope: Oh yes, of course.

Calliope: So you say your story begins with a tragedy?

what shall I draw next to depict this tragedy?

Jade: Nothing yet... I’ll get to that!

but yes, the tragedy is why I was alone on the golden ship.
it was not long after our three year journey began

[Image description: In another drawing done in Calliope’s style, which is very cutesy and soft, Jade lays on John’s couch in the room on the ship with all the sofas and the fridge. She holds a pair of squiddle tangle buddies and stares sadly down at them. Nearby, the four planets and Skaia hover.]

dialoglog
Jade: i was relaxing in our makeshift livingroom, giving john and davesprite some space to themselves for a while so they could catch up john wanted to visit his home again so i happily obliged and shrunk them both down so they could hang out in his tiny tall house it seemed like the nice thing to do... but i came to regret that decision more than any ive ever made
i was minding my own business when out of nowhere…

[Image description: Still in Calliope’s style, LoWaS cracks into several large pieces and bright orange light spills from the fissures. John’s house snaps into pieces and collapses.]

dialoglog
Jade: lowas exploded!!!

[Image description: In Calliope’s drawing, Jade throws herself to her knees and stares in desperate horror at a small pile of ash and rubble that’s smouldering on the rug-- all that remains of LoWaS.]

dialoglog
Jade: i couldnt believe it it was totally inexplicable there was no trace of them at all... they were both dead i supposed it must have meant johns death was heroic... but i couldnt for the life of me imagine how to me it was as pointless and arbitrary as a death could be

[Image description: In Calliope’s drawing, Jade closes her eyes and hangs her head dejectedly. There are faint green spirals on her cheeks. The remains of LoWaS still send up a trail of smoke.]

dialoglog
Jade: i looked within myself as hard as i could to see if there was some power i had, in all my omnipotence, to bring them back but i couldnt
they were gone
would spend the next three years on that ship without my two best friends sure, there were still consorts and chess guys to keep me company but the loss was too much for me to bear
i felt so alone
Jade: weeks and months went by... i didn't have the slightest sense of how quickly or slowly time was passing any sense of purpose to reaching the destination had vanished, and delicious though it was, no amount of nannas cake would bring me comfort toward the end of the journey, when i was feeling particularly despondent…

Jade: i fell asleep and had a dream and that is when i met a very powerful, strangely charismatic creature... her name was calliope (winking face)

Jade: as i said, she was somewhat like you, and yet so unalike her presence was so serious and grave her hollow eyes were piercing... but not hostile but the prevailing sense i got from her was one of loneliness before she even said a word, i could feel it somehow, that this was a deeply lonely soul until i met her, i thought i was the loneliest person in the universe but a feeling told me she had been here by herself for a long long time i felt sorry for her and relating to her plight helped me overcome the feelings of intimidation so we began to talk
we traded stories about ourselves she spoke of the brother she killed
i spoke of the brother i lost and when i mentioned johns death that is when she became very serious again she began to recount how john had died, repeating to me the same story i just told you she described the spontaneous destruction of lowas which left me alone for years i wondered why she was recounting this tragedy that happened to me, and for that matter how she knew of it herself
she went on to say that lowas was destroyed because johns denizen had suddenly woken up typhheus, a great monster of truly terrifying power she said he had destroyed his land and slayed his own heir of breath not out of malice, but to make a slight correction
i asked her...
what do you mean, "correction"?
dialoglog

Jade: she said that the john from my reality, and his entire planet, needed to be erased and that the slumbering denizen in all his mysterious wisdom knew this she told me that the dreams of a denizen draw from the same well of potential from which every conceivable possibility arises the same place skaia gets its power from so if an agreement with a denizen is reached in one reality, that same denizen in another reality could become aware of it, and respond accordingly it seems that john, somewhere, in some other plane of existence, had made just such an agreement she said that the john i knew, like herself, was only one version of a person there was a different version of john from another reality poised to play a more significant role you see, the john from that reality in an act of desperation had gone to see typheus, and struck a bargain with him she would go on to explain the nature of that bargain in the next part of her story but from my perspective, the consequence of this bargain was to lose my friends, and to live with that for years without understanding why losing them still hurt, but i was so relieved to at least understand the reason, and to realize their senseless deaths were actually serving a bigger purpose i thanked her for letting me know

dialoglog

Jade: she told me she was not human, and had no frame of reference for empathizing with my feelings but if there was one thing she could relate to, it was the feeling of being alone the feeling of waiting for what seems like eternity by yourself, until finally your purpose presents itself Calliope: ... Jade: ....

dialoglog

Calliope: I feel sorry for her. er, for myself, I suppose. But then again, that feeling is nothing new. Jade: heh Calliope: it's an odd statement she made, though. Jade: what? Calliope: not having the frame of reference for empathizing with human feelings. f you asked me, I would say I have the vantage to relate to both humans and cherubs, so when you describe your feelings of sadness over losing friends, I'd have more than enough grounds for commiseration.
do you think that this version of me never...
Jade: never what?
Calliope: never had human friends like I did?
Jade: I have no idea
Calliope: what a strange thought.
to grow up with only my brother for "company"...
and not even have my human friends to get me by.
what a dreadful fate. The poor thing.
maybe that was the difference?
what let her predominate over her brother, whereas I was too, erm...
"humanly socialized" to succeed in my cherubic rite of passage?
Jade: could be!
I dont know enough about cherub rites of passage to say either way human rites of passage either, for that matter
Calliope: so then what happened!
Jade: right! Anyway... that's when she began her story in earnest
the one she summoned me in my dreams to tell me the story of the other john who made a deal with typhus it began with the same place my mine did lowas
...
so, go on Calliope: what?
Jade: draw lowas again!
Calliope: oh!!
wait.
all over again?
Jade: ummmmmm
no, you can just copy the first one you did (smiley face)
Calliope: what a lovely idea.
Calliope: I'd hate to hold up the pace of your exciting tale with a bunch of superfluous doodling.

Calliope: good enough?
Jade: yes, but...
there are also supposed to be glitches around Calliope: glitches?
what do you mean by glitches?
Jade: like computery glitches I think Calliope: that sounds hard to draw.
Jade: ok why dont we not worry about showing the glitches for this story they would just make it harder to see what's going on... which is probably the point now that I think about it?
Calliope: the point?
of what?
Jade: I never thought much about it it just seemed like a weird detail she mentioned but I guess it was some strange form of corruption in their session that made everything harder to understand Calliope: where did the corruption come from?
Jade: no idea!
I guess it was just one more way everything got messed up for them like, just another surreal obstacle for a hero to overcome?
oh, that reminds me
you need to draw john there as well!
Calliope: right-o.

hmm
Calliope: hm?
Jade: I guess when youre trying to tell a story it forces you to think a lot more about everything than when youre just listening to one Calliope: tis quite true.
perhaps you should start writing?
how did she begin?
Jade: let me think...
hmm, maybe we should pause before I go on?
Calliope: pause??
Jade: like
some sort of intermission
so I can collect my thoughts a bit, and to give the audience a little breather between two significant arcs we were at it for a pretty good while there, after all Calliope: what... Audience?
Jade: well, that would be you in this case
ooh I know!

Jade: so... anyway
like i said, she just finished telling me that she was able to beat her brother in this reality but apparently, that wasn't supposed to happen?
so she lived out the rest of her life in a doomed timeline and eventually died she didn’t mention how
and then...
and then she did this kinda fancy transition darn, I don’t think I’ll do it justice a transition to a story about my brother... who was stuck in a doomed timeline too
I think I’ll mess it up if I try to match what she said word for word
she had a really fanciful way of putting things Calliope: there’s no need to try to recite what she said.
just tell the story in your own voice, as you have already been doing!
it will be more fun that way.
Jade: ok
so the bottom line was almost all our friends had died and John’s only hope was to return to his planet, and attempt to complete his personal quest

Image description: Calliope’s drawing of John flies in closer to LoWaS.

_dialoglog_Jade: as you know, we all have personal quests that are unique to our planets the nature of the quest is never easy to understand at first they are presented to us through enigmatic riddles conveyed through the lore of the land for John it was to journey to the place where "constellations danced beneath the clouds" it was said the heir of breath was to free the stars from the shade and release them into heaven this was just a mysterious way of saying what he really had to do

Image description: In the drawing, John looks around at the clouds full of fireflies.

dialoglog_Jade: the stars were actually fireflies they’d been flying around trapped beneath the overcast sky ever since John first brought lowas into existence by his arrival and paradoxically, they’d been imprisoned there for ages even before that such is the way of our lands they are newly born the day we arrive... and yet they always were

Image description: John flies up to the massive palace of teal stone and pipe organ pipes where an alternate version of himself once died because of Terezi’s advice. Small rivers of oil still spills into a massive chasm that surrounds it like a moat.

dialoglog_Jade: to free the fireflies John would have to play a special song it had to be played just right to summon the breeze through the pipes but there was a problem...
Jade: the pipes were all clogged with oil!
the first day John came to his land, oil began oozing up from the core, flooding the pipes and filling the oceans to play the song, first he would need to clean up the oil and to do that, he would need to face the slumbering one himself he would need to face Typheus

Jade: but as he wandered through the catacombs down to the planets core he wasnt thinking about freeing fireflies or cleaning up oil he was seeking the help of his denizen to master a power he couldnt control luckily for him, denizens always seem to understand what you want and more importantly, what you need, whether you know it or not Calliope stares down at the page with an upset expression. Jade looks to her in concern.

Jade: ... is something wrong Callie?
Calliope: hm?
Jade: go ahead and draw Typheus!
Calliope: oh...
yes, um...
Jade: you do know what he looks like dont you?
Calliope: I believe I do.
Jade: it doesnt have to be perfect just draw a big green snake monster!
Calliope: a big green snake monster you say...
(gasping face)
Jade: yes
a snake monster with the most unspeakably hideous face you can imagine but you dont have to be too literal about that feel free to draw something a little more representational (smiley face) Calliope: hrm.
I am not sure if...
I am particularly comfortable rendering such imagery.
Jade: why not?
Calliope: it strikes me as...
rather indecent.
for reasons I would be too embarrassed to explain. (Blank face with closed eyes and a bead of sweat)
Jade: thats ok
why dont I draw it?
Calliope: very well.
but you must excuse me if I giggle.
Jade: ok but I dont see whats so indecent about a big old snake!
Calliope: tee hee!
Jade: lol

Jade: when john got to the core he arrived to find typhoeus awake and ready for him
Calliope: (giggle.)
Jade: he was then presented with the choice
Calliope: (snicker.)
Jade: stop, youre gonna make me crack up too!
this part is serious!!

A ring of brightly colored glitches surrounds his head and covers his face, which is just a rotating patch of bright light. A sound like metallic wind and whale song begins to play, and then glitches.]

dialoglog
Jade: his choice was presented as a kind of riddle spoken in a language only he could understand, spelling out the conditions he must accept but speaking from experience, once a player is given the choice between two courses of action, it will hardly feel like a choice at all if the heart is in the right place then the right thing to do always seems obvious so john accepted his denizens terms and with that…

his planet would still be polluted and he would be no closer to playing his song somehow he understood the only way was to conceive of a third option an idea beyond the simple binary set of outcomes before him and interestingly
it was coming to this understanding which gave him the first glimpse of how to control the power he realized it wasn't himself that he needed to make disappear…

[Image description: The song Pipeorgankind begins to play. It slowly zooms in on Calliope’s drawing of LoWaS. As it zooms, it fades from her drawing to the actual LoWaS and begins to glitch at the edges. It fades to a pipe-lined hallway leading into the Denizen’s lair, then pans in to John at the pipe organ as he plays. There are no glitches. After a moment, it fades to the sky of LoWaS and pans up to the fireflies trapped beneath the clouds. Blue lines representing the wind slowly come in from the left and the clouds begin to part. It moves to another area of LoWaS where a wave of the wind blows the clouds away. The wind passes over a Salamander village, where several salamanders jump around excitedly. Fireflies are carried past on the breeze. It cuts to a rocky plain, where wind completely covers the sky.

It cuts to John’s hands, which begin to glow white as he slams his hands down on the keyboard in a triumphant crescendo. The breath symbol over the keyboard glows until its light overtakes the screen. It cuts to the top of the Denizen’s lair, where wind pours from every pipe like it’s a fountain. Salamanders, including the one wearing a crumpled hat, celebrate around it as a wave of wind comes up from the chasm around the lair. It pans down, below the ground, to a carving of Typhoeus, which begins to glow.

It cuts to the lair as seen from a distance. A massive whirlwind surrounds it and a tighter tornado extends up from the highest pipes. The sound of wind joins the music as a light blue glow surrounds the lair. It zooms out to show all of LoWaS in the void. The entire surface is covered with massive vortices of swirling wind. Winds blast away from the surface, too, then out of the panel and into the rest of the website.

The planet begins to glow white, then suddenly, the music cuts and the act 6 act 6 cartridge pops out of its slot and spews out the special stardust and candy corn that Caliborn shoved inside it. A small blue wisp of wind comes out of the bottom of the cartridge, clearing out the last of the stardust.

It zooms in on the clean, cloudless surface of the planet, then fades to John. He stands on a blue walkway as a silhouette. To the left of the pathway, there’s a steep, jagged mountain. To the right, there’s a forest of light blue, leafless trees. In the distance, the Denizen’s lair sticks up from over a short mountain. This panel is interactive. He crests the hill. Roxy stands near where the path heads down the other side and waves at him. An arrow points to her. Click it.

John: how did it go??
Roxy: it went ok
John: yeah?
what happened??
Roxy: oh u know
ventured to spooky subterranean lair A a bit of cathartic and life altering monster realtalk
John: ok, that is a funny way of putting it, but yeah, me too!
Roxy: yup i figured ur monster quest happened
i mean once the gross black shit disappeared and the wind started blowing like a motherfucker John: what did ur monster say?
i mean your.
Roxy: hey maybe we should try to be more respectful abt our god monsters...
her names nix!
John: right...
what did nix say?
did she speak in the weird babbley language that you could still understand somehow, even though it made no sense?
Roxy: fuck yes
was downright incomprehensible in the most mysteriously understandable way
John: ha ha.
Roxy: she told me this riddle thing that basically spread it all out for me like what my options were and what would happen if i did the options and like the metaphysical and moral consequences of doing those options
John: yeah.
tyheus pretty much did the same thing with me.
John: tyheus was the name of my snake monster, by the way.
Roxy: ooooh u had a snake monster?
John: yes, he was awesome.
so, did nix give you some sort of challenge to overcome, which by doing so, you could get in touch with your powers?
Roxy: uh
John: which enabled you to appear here, by doing like this incredible voidey thing, that let you phase out of existence, and magically appear with me in this weird plane of reality?

she p much just told me to fly to your planet
so i did

i know right, wow wat a quest!
but when u think about it it was the totes obvious thing to do i didnt know it at the time but you were gonna make your whole planet disappear so if i wanted to keep persisting thru your history altering hijinks then all i really had to do was uh come along for the ride no monsterly Nite Magics needed!
John: yeah, that makes sense.
Roxy: there were stipulations though mad stips if u will, vis a vis buttloads of opaque goddess riddles
John: right. you mean the "choice" thing?
Roxy: yes
John: what were the mad stips?
Roxy: she said
keep in mind i am paraphrasing
if paraphrasing is even a thing you can do with stuff said in unfathomable monster jargon that either i could stay behind and vanish into nothingness forever, and everyone in the new reality would inherit all the bigtime responsibilities, including a version of myself who had no memory of any of this and never experienced all the loss and sadness i just went through or i could go with you but in doing so, everyone i loved would know that loss instead w/e that means......
John: yeah!
typhheus gave me almost the exact same sort of choice something about other people feeling the loss i felt, if i accepted his challenge.
which i'm sure is probably... not good?
but, i mean, what else was i going to do?
i couldn't just let things stay the way they were.
Roxy: yes exactly her caveat sounded ominous as shit
but
Roxy: there was somethin that didnt sit well with me about doing nothing accepting her terms just felt right u know?
John: yes.

which was a lonely feeling, if that makes sense?
but now i'll have someone else to remember the way things originally went.
Roxy: word
John: yes. word indeed.
Roxy: but i know what you mean its nice to have uh like a witness i guess?
someone to authenticate the rough shit u went through even if we never end up talkin about it again the fact that at least Someone else knows makes it feel like it didnt all mean nothing?
John: right.
Roxy: because even if it all gets erased and put back all better
i dont think the stuff we went through and the feelings we had meant nothing imo the feelings themselves and the way they shaped us that all means... somethin
John: ...
Roxy: hahaha forget it
talkin out my ass here
John: no, it makes sense.
and anyway, if nothing else, everything that happened brought us here.
the stuff we're about to do, whatever it is, wouldn't be possible otherwise.
and that feels pretty important, if you ask me!

as opposed to just a bunch of regular empty space that happens to look vaguely neutral John: how can i tell?
i guess i just can.

John: why don't you ask yourself!
you're the one who asked me why it was blank in the first place.

honestly, it gets weird to think about all our relations in that way sometimes.

i...
omfg
that So Cute (cat face)

what were we talking about again
John: we were talking about blank skies and fort blocks and such.
Roxy: oh yis
John: and you thought you should know more about things like that as a void hero...
which reminds me.
do you think you are any closer to making that alien egg?
Roxy: hmn
John: i mean, after seeing nix.
did you feel, like, a power boost or anything?
Roxy: a power boost???
like mega man or
John: no, not like mega man.
i mean, like...
Roxy: youre askin if she taught me to do the voidey thing
John: well, did she?
Roxy: naw dude
i told you
we did our chat in some horseshit elven baloney tongue and she just told me to come here like thats literally it
"go to planet if u want to live"
so i did
there wasnt really any soul searching or gettin in touch with my inner miracles
John: oh.
well that's kind of a bummer.
i hope you weren't shortchanged out of an important mystical and spiritual process of self discovery.
Roxy: pfffaahahaha
John: ?
Roxy: pfhehehehehehehe
John: what?
Roxy: sorry its just sometimes you sound so much like jake its rly quite uncanny but yeah i dont care about that really it was either take an uneventful and nonspiritual trip to a wind planet, or just stop existing altogether
i think ill be fine without the self discovery part John: yeah.
or...
wait.
John: what if this was part of it?
Roxy: part of what John: your quest?
like, to be here, and learn to use your powers better?
we are kind of in a realm of literal nothingness right now.
maybe you will be able to draw energy or inspiration from the void, or whatever?
Roxy: Nix.......
why u sly old bitch
John: does that make sense?
Roxy: it kind of does it kind of Loads of does John: oh, sweet!
i was just grasping at straws there, but now that you agree, i’m suddenly a lot more confident in my theory.
Roxy: heheh yeah (...jake)
John: so why don't you try it out again?
Roxy: what
the egg?
like right now?
John: sure?
Roxy: meh tbh im a bit sick of tryin to summon that ugly damn egg how about later??
i would rather just keep bee essing with u for a while rather than get right down to freakin business John: i guess there's really no hurry.
not in this place at least.
i don't think this place has any bearing on other time lines.
it's almost like...
like taking a time out from our canonical lives.
so if you wanted, you could take as much time to practice here as you need.
Roxy: im down as heck with that could use a breather from my canonical life John: me too.
even though...
i'm not sure i have one anymore?

i have a feeling some day we will all have to take him down.
but...
probably when he grows up to be his adult self.

Vriska: Uh.
I don't remember, to be honest.
Meenah: but you still ask questions like that whose brain this from, where that noise originate...
Vriska: I'm just curious!
This is such an odd thing to encounter.
Who experienced this? Some alt-alt-alt version of Karkat's lame ancestor?
A chess creature from a distant unrelated session, after its post-reckoning getaway, who then repopulated a dead planet, and started building amusement parks??
I just tend to wonder things. It's in my nature.
Meenah: it could be anything could even be a random patchwork of fifty different memories all contributin to nofin that ever existed in particular who cares where they from

I just remember having some trumped up opinion about like, how they looked bad, or were about "trying too hard", or...
I don't even know really. Like ruining your body with some lame thing you'll regret some day.

Meenah: you don't even have a body
Vriska: I know!
Well, I do. I mean, We do, just not...
Not in the same way that felt so direly important, during our brief and embarrassing stints with mortality.
I guess now that I think about it, it doesn't feel like as big a deal anymore, and maybe it was just a totally stupid opinion to begin with?

John: but yeah, you should get going.
terezi's experiment worked.
ou'll find out all about it later.
Past John: i will?
John: actually, i'm not sure?
now that i changed how things happened for you, you might not get the idea to come back here like
i did?
which i guess makes this situation a true paradox, unlike all those lame stable time loops dave makes.
Past John: so, what does that actually mean for me?
what am i supposed to do now?
John: i don't know what it means.
unfortunately, you may not be relevant anymore.
i'm the john who is learning to use his flashy powers to reconstruct the time line, so that responsibility is on my shoulders now, not yours.
sorry, i am just keeping it real!
Past John: ...
John: well, who really knows how it will turn out.
maybe you will still have important things to do?
i don't have all the answers, i just know terezi and i have to talk now, so you should go.
Past John: where?
John: where you were about to go anyway!
go see typhus, and do the quest thing.
it worked out great, well, for me at least.

John: so, that thing we did with the password...
we can use that trick to our advantage, right?
Terezi: that's the idea
if we come up with a list of key thoughts you should be able to do what you just did and zero in on some of my memories, and change a few things John: like what?
Terezi: good question
we have all made a lot of mistakes
I could name a dozen terrible, stupid things people have done just off the top of my head which if erased would probably improve the situation
and yet
I don't feel like I have the credibility to hold anyone accountable other than myself
I think I would feel like a hypocrite if I tried to fix other people's mistakes

[A6A6I4] Next
John: yeah, i know what you mean. when i try to think of what to fix... all i can do is look back on what i did wrong. i never should have let that ring out of my sight. going back and getting the ring is the first thing we should do, right? i guess that one is kind of a no brainer. besides, i promised roxy i'd get it. i kind of blew it last time i told her i'd get it. so maybe i shouldn't mess that up again, heh. what do you think, terezi?

Terezi: Hm

John: but other than that, the sky is the limit. really, what do we do? do i go back to when we were just starting to play the game, and give us some advantages? but then, messing up our session causes this whole chain reaction... we never would have met the trolls, or had any reason to scratch the session... and if we didn't scratch the session, there never would have been an alternate reality where roxy and her pals got to play, thereby meeting us... when you start looking back and realizing how interrelated everything is, it starts feeling like an overwhelming job to fix it. on the one hand, you don't want to change so much that the reality you create is barely recognizable. you want to keep everything as similar as possible, so you get to keep all the lessons you learned and the important experiences you had with your friends. but on the other hand... if you aren't going to change something substantial enough to make a real difference, why bother at all? it's like, go big or go home, you know? sort of a catch 22 when you think about it. is any of this making sense? terezi? terezi!!

Terezi: What

Terezi: a list of instructions just focus on all of these key thoughts, in exactly this order for each one, do exactly what it tells you and then quickly move on to the next one, until you are done
John: huh?
Terezi: every change I am telling you to make will have incredibly subtle consequences however, they will be absolutely essential for creating a more favorable outcome but only if you follow my instructions to the letter, no questions asked!
John: wow.
but how do you know these are the exact right things to change?
Terezi: I said no questions asked!!!
John: ok, jeez.
I was just curious!
Terezi: you asked me to use my powers to help you that is what I am doing it is now your job to trust me and do what I say John: ...It is?
Terezi: clearly this bloody scarf contains secret wisdoms of the mind which a lowly human wind boy could never dare to fathom and now the wind boy must embrace his role as the wayward heir, unbound from the ties of causality, and put all his faith in a fallen seer to bring redemption to us all John: haha, ok now I know you're full of shit!

but could you please just take the fucking scarf and do what I say who am I to say it isn't the right one?

Terezi: nobody
John: oh snap!
terezi, did you know, even though you're a weirdo, and we probably wouldn't get along most of the time, I kind of missed you?
you were one of the first trolls I ever talked to.
we got off on a weird foot with your death threats, and jokey antagonism, and it's almost like we never stopped being on that foot?
it makes me nostalgic for simpler times...
do you remember when you made me those maps to follow?
in a way, following your instructions will be like that tom foolery all over again!
Terezi: I do remember the maps I sent to you were cartographic masterstrokes, and represented a shining example for all who would aspire to hoax gullible dweebs everywhere but let's not waste good sentimentality here you are about to stroll down memory lane with me in a much more literal sense whereas i...

but when we all came together like this out of the blue, and had our long awaited reunion...
i'm not sure if we really earned it yet?
we didn't realize it at the time, but there were still a bunch of problems waiting to happen.
like, some lingering issues that were going to pull us all apart again, and make us fight to get back together once and for all.
but don't worry, i'm working to overcome all those problems right now.
that's why i'm here!
it's also why i can't hang around all day babbling like a fool. i really need to quit yapping and hit the road.
He hops down and hugs Karkat, who looks too stunned to react. Kanaya stares at them, still not sure what to make of this whole situation.

dialoglog
John: see you karkat!
i hope your pals don't take it personally, but you were always my favorite troll.
the shouty tirades you are going to have on this hilly planet are going to be epic and hilarious. i will never forget them.

John: goodbye, rose. it makes me happy to see you alive and well, even if only for a minute.
i’m going to make sure i never have to watch you die again.
sorry if that sounds morbid and confusing, but... yeah.
and if you see her around, say hello to roxy for me!
haha, oh yeah. hey terezi.
i feel like this is some big joke you are in on too.
but you probably don't have the slightest clue what's going on, do you?
maybe it’s better that way, heh.
anyway, the plan is going perfectly so far. (winking face)
(i just winked.)

John flies away from the valley and waves back down towards them.

dialoglog
John: so yeah, time to go get that ring.
i don't know what's going to happen to you all once i change stuff...

Instead of her usual blue pants, black shirt with her symbol, red sneakers, and occasional coat, she wears calf-high, lace up red shoes, dark blue leggings under lighter blue, cuffed shorts, a black tank top with her symbol on it, and a cerulean bracelet with bright red studs on it. She has a tattoo on her left shoulder, which is an anchor. Instead of a typical barb on each end, though, they’re shaped to look like her horns. The hole at the top, where a rope would be attached, looks like it’s filled in to look like a troll’s eye. Her hair still hangs in either braids or dreads, but the section around her left horn has been shaved, giving her an undercut. She also now sports 2 golden piercings on the left side of her lower lip and one through the outer side of the her left eyebrow.]

To find... who was it? His "kid sister"?
Is he really going to keep smashing the black space forever until he finds her, til it's all gone?
Is it actually Possible to shatter a continuum that's theoretically infinite?

Vriska: Like I said. Got to admire the guy's determination.
Still, I can't imagine he's led a very enjoyable existence.
I mean, sure. Maybe he Thinks he has. In the way that totally delusional, egomaniacal people tend [Image description: The golden spiral around Calliope’s safe space begins to change. The outer pathways expand and become fuzzy at the edges, like something’s flooding it. The edges of the inner pathways smear a bit, making them combine into connected rings rather than as a true spiral.]

Calliope: what else do you remember, Jane?
the more you tell us, the closer we may come to jogging your and Jade's memory of how you died.
not to mention, the closer we will get to completing this lovely illustrated story. (Gasping face) Jane: Hrm.
My recollection continues to be so darn hazy.
Is there anything from my session that you can remember, Callie?
Calliope: unfortunately from my perspective, most of it was blacked out.
everything else I know, I have learned from ancient journals, whose veracity I have come to regard as...
tenuous.
you two are the only primary sources I have left to reconstruct the tale. If only you can keep jogging your memories!
Jane: I see.
Well, I do recall quite a bit more from our stint as tricksters.
For some reason all those memories are still quite vivid.
I suppose I could recount more of that drunken tomfoolery and extend our trickster chapter.
Calliope: oh, yes!!! I would absolutely adore hearing more about your trickster adventures.
it pleases me to no end hearing that you experienced such joyful escapades as a result of the birthday present I gave you! (Gasping face) Jane: Um. Yes!
Joyful.
That's what they were. So joyful.
What a present! You are a true sweetheart, Callie.
Calliope: (very smiley face with closed eyes)
Jane: So, where was I?
Ah yes. Dirk had just acquiesced to the siren's song of the trickster.
When all the rainbow magic and sparkle dust had subsided, there he stood, as stoic and rigid as ever.
He was like a plank of wood in orange trousers and suspenders. A bronze statue in a silly pair of wrist warmers. A stone-faced automaton with a shock of vermilion hair, in which comfortably nestled what appeared to be an orange soft drink.
The juju's potent spell seemed only to strengthen his resolve in betraying no emotion whatsoever.
But would his curmudgeonly facade prove a deterrent to Roxy's lascivious wiles? Methinks not!
She advanced upon him with her magic ring, seeking his hand in quadruple betrothal.
Her lips puckered and quivered, like an amorous cephalopod skulking the briny ocean depths for a handsome mate.
Jade: guys i think weve heard enough about the trickster stuff (blank face)
Calliope: (shoot!)

Can you tell me anything else to nudge my recollection?
Jade: ummmmm

Jane: Yes, of course!
I do remember that now.
Oh dear. I really was behaving horribly, wasn't I?
Jade: yeah, we both were it feels like it was all a bad dream im glad its over now, even if it means were probably dead Jane: Mm-hm.
It's coming back to me now...
Gosh, how embarrassing it is to recall my actions.
They somehow manage to trump my indiscretions as a trickster.
The things I said to Jake!!!
Jade: (gasping face)
what did you say?
Jane: I can't even bring myself to talk about it.
You're right, Jade. We probably are better off dead than having to face the music for our shameful deeds.
Calliope: I do not wish to pry into matters that make you uncomfortable... but can you at least recall the circumstances which were likely to have resulted in your deaths?
Jane: Hm.
Yes, I believe I can.
Remembering my encounter with Jake in his prison cell has reminded me of a crisis that followed shortly thereafter.
It caught us all quite by surprise, if I recall, even the Condesce.
I believe there were unanticipated factors which even she was unable to account for.
Calliope: can you recall the nature of this crisis?
jade and I will do our best to record it!
Jane: Yes, hold on.
Allow me a moment to get back into my storytelling voice.

dialoglog
Jane: 'Twas like Jade said. We'd been hoodwinked by none other than the Batter witch herself.
The old lady's fishy mind tricks had us both behaving like a pair of crooks!
We were all too willing to do her dirty work, and none too shy about reveling in our misdeeds.
It was as if she'd pulled the stops on our sense of conscience. At last we were free to act upon our darkest desires.
And if it please the jury, I'd prefer said desires were kept stricken from this record. (happy face with furrowed brows and buck teeth)
Jade: i second the motion
Calliope: (double shoot!!)

Still in Calliope’s style, Crockertier Jane puts Jake in a headlock and flies him towards a Dersite tower, which is labeled Jail. Jade flies behind them, dragging Roxy along by the arm.

dialoglog
Jane: The crafty witch made sure I would be the brains of the operation. She saw to it her heiress had a super computer wrapped around her noggin years in advance. A state of the art Thoughtwave Tiaratop, for the up and coming junior battermaster on the go -- with the factory default set to Evil!
But if I was the brains of the outfit, Jade was the uncontested brawn. Within two shakes of a dog's tail, she kicked Dirk to the curb of the incipisphere. Then in one fell swoop, she and I pinched Roxy and Jake respectively, and hauled them right off to the slammer for interrogation.
The slammer, as we all know, is how one describes the penal system when feeling extra angry at crimes.
Their crime, you ask? It was being on the wrong side of the law.
And by wrong, I mean right.
Calliope: Jane, slow down! This is all solid gold.

Next

The drawing is split. On the left side, Grimbark Jade glows green and stares towards the approaching Meteor. On the right side, Crockertier Jane holds out a hand towards Jake’s built up tower, a section of which is selected in red.

dialoglog
Jane: But before we could badger hapless pals in the slammer, there was work to be done. We were to prepare for the others, scheduled to arrive shortly on a meteor from the furthest ring. I was ordered to build up the houses on our planets to reach Skaia. The witch said it was critical to her plans.
Whereas Jade was told to intercept the meteor, and scatter all her friends on the four new planets. They were all to be separated into pairs, and prepared to receive instruction to help us advance the cause.
But then, something went wrong. Something fully unanticipated, even by the Witch!

Next

Grimbark Jade turns like something startled her and most of the detail fades from her drawing, leaving only a green outline, the space symbol on her chest, and her glasses. A large white question mark appears on top of her.

dialoglog
Jane: Before Jade could intercept the meteor, she disappeared without a trace.
Jade: I did? (gasping face)
Calliope: (jade, shh! This is getting exciting.)
Jane: Perhaps it’s my shoddy memory acting up again, but I have no recollection of what happened to her.
This left the Witch's scheme in total shambles, and without Jade's unlimited power at her command, the situation on Derse was vulnerable.
Jade's friends were now unaccounted for, and could freely move about the medium without being caught.
They used their freedom to maximum advantage. Staying a step ahead of the Witch, they organized and came up with a plan.
The plan, you ask?
A prison break!!!

[Image description: Somewhere on Derse, Crockertier Jane holds her red trident and glares at a group of kids and trolls. Rose stands in front with her wands at the ready and a determined set to teeth.]

dialoglog
Jane: They struck at just the right moment, while the Witch was out searching for them. They had established a series of clever decoys to lure her away.
Their assault on the Derse prison was furious, with only myself and a few agents on hand to fend them off.
Their aim was to free Jake and Roxy, and I can only presume, me as well from my corrupted state.
But I was not about to go down easy. Oh no.
The melee was fierce, and alas...
Not without casualty. (sad face)
Calliope: what happened, jane?
was someone slain? other than you and jade?
Jane: I'm sorry. The memory is coming back to me.
It is difficult to talk about, let alone present it with a flourish a good story deserves.
Jade: well forget about the story for a second just tell us with regular words... i mean if you want to Jane: No, it's ok.
I shall persevere.
Our tale must go on.
Calliope: (crying tears of joy face)

[Image description: Rose lunges forward and casts a spell at Jane, which sends curling white tendrils of magic and a blue glow from the tip of her want. Jane dodges and lunges towards Rose

dialoglog
Jane: Roxy's young mother made an exceedingly aggressive move to free her estranged daughter.
She attacked me with a fearsome enchantment of blinding light!
I deftly sidestepped her sorcery, and in my demented state found myself enraged by her claim on my beloved B.f.f.sie.
I let my fork sail, straight and true, toward the interloping Lalonde.

[Image description: Roxy dives in and pushes a startled Rose out of the way. The tines of Jane’s trident sink into Roxy’s chest in a diagonal line from shoulder to hip.]

In a sudden fit of gumption, she intercepted my fork.
Directly through her chest.

T.G.: terezi
hello
wtf is going on there

[Image description: John hides in the vent and looks down at Terezi’s bafflement with a delighted smile.]

[Image description: On the password page, type in Honk. There are no replacements this time.]

[Image description: Terezi stands inside the trickster room on the meteor. The back wall is covered in rough wood panelling, one section of which has a smiley face with a round nose drawn on it in purple blood. In the back left corner, there’s a wooden staircase, which is blocked by an avalanche of bike horns. In the back right corner, there is an ornate bookshelf and a gramophone. Lil Cal sits on top of the gramophone. He’s wearing his green suit, but he’s splattered with purple blood. Next to the gramophone, there’s a wooden door with a dagger and axe mounted over it. Terezi stands at this door with her back to the rest of the room. A wooden counter runs across the center of the room, separating the top half from the bottom half. The middle section of the counter pushes back from the rest, making a small, U shaped section. On the counter, there is an old-style cash register, a pile of mangled scalemates, and many drops of purple blood. A hatch in the ceiling hangs down over the pile of scalemates. There’s a note written in purple blood on a page of Mindfang’s journal pinned to it with Nepeta’s blue claws. On the floor, there are two identical ornate persian rugs featuring geometric designs in red, orange, and green. There is purple blood splattered on them. On the opposite side of the counter from the bookshelf, there are two closed chests. John begins to appear between the chests and the counter.]
Image description: John fully appears. He’s done in a pixel art style to match the rest of the room. Terezi still doesn’t notice him.

Image description: He turns to look past the pile of shredded scalemates. Terezi’s pondering the door while Gamzee stands behind her with Lil Cal, who he bounces ever so slightly, making him look like he’s laughing. Gamzee’s face is tilted down, casting a deep shadow over his features. His eyes are bright red and his own blood runs down his face from where he sliced it with Nepeta’s claws before killing her.

Image description: Gamzee turns and spots John. The shock of it snaps him out of his rage and his eyes go back to yellow.

Image description: Gamzee still stares in shock at John, who turns away to examine the scarf again. Terezi ponders the gramophone now. There’s a bike horn on the floor a few feet from John.

Image description: It shows the instructions on the scarf. “Grab a horn... you will know what to do.”

Image description: John looks down and spots the horn. He gives a frustrated but resigned look.

Image description: He reaches for the horn.

Image description: He picks it up, still looking so tired of this.

Image description: He squeezes down on the bulb, making it give a loud Honk and startling Terezi so badly that she yells Fuck!

Image description: Terezi turns quickly. Exclamation marks flash over her head as she spots Gamzee, who looks too stunned to react.

Image description: Gamzee just… stands there. Staring at her. Holding Lil Cal by his side. Not really reacting at all.

Jane: I knew that I was her only hope for resurrection. Perhaps my cybernetic intelligence was not as flawless as I believed. In my haste to revive her, I neglected to let them know I was the only chance she had. If they understood the nature of my powers, they may have tempered their aggression. And if I wasn't so hurried to use those powers, I may not have let my guard down. Alas, I did let my guard down, and with it, my queen. But more importantly, my friend, who surely stayed dead. Poor Roxy. Calliope: do you suppose we should be expecting her ghost to join us too? though I admit, part of me feels guilty hoping she will join us in death. (Blank face with closed eyes) Jane: I do not know. But guilt notwithstanding, I truly hope to see her again. Killing a dear friend while in a compromised state of mind... it's frightening to imagine having to "live" with that for eternity. I'd be miserable if I never had the opportunity to make amends. Jade: its sad she died, but then, isn't it kinda sad we all died? personally im really hoping she shows up! jane why dont you prepare a trollsona for her as a gesture of reconciliation? its the least you can do (happy face with buck teeth) Jane: Why, yes. I do believe I can make that sacrifice for the good of our friendship. Calliope: Huzzah!!!!!!!!!!

Jade: so getting back to the story i take it from what you said about letting your guard down... you believe this was how you died? Jane: I'm almost certain of it. I can remember nothing beyond that moment. And if one of your friends managed to get the better of me, I have no doubt my death would have been just, considering the trouble I caused. Jade: yeah... likewise (uncertain face) Calliope: do you remember who it was that killed you? not to hound you for details, but trivia like this tends to be historically important. plus, I would like to draw this scene. (Gasping face) Jane: I'm sorry. My memory of the incident overall is quite vague. But it wouldn't surprise me if the one who dealt my fatal blow was the leader of the raid.

[A6A6I4] Next

Jane: This was the unanticipated factor. Their leader was someone who was not expected to show up with them at all. The presence of this lone interloper was enough to discombobulate a scheme millions of years in the making. This hero occupied a blind spot as much to the Condesce as to my present recollection, but of this much I am sure.

The hero was bold, wily; the sort of firebrand personality they needed to take such a stand. An intrepid soul who was not about to take the verdict of paradox space lying down. You see, Callie, your historical documents make no mention of the leader of the raid, because originally, the curtains closed early on this plucky customer. But the hero was written back into our story by some inscrutable gambit of circumstance which we may never fully understand.

And with that flourish of revisionism, the tide of luck turned on a shiny new dime. All bets were off! The tilt between the friendly and felonious was a true horse race again. A real barn burner in the brewing. Yes, there'd still be hell to pay after Jade and I made our exit, sure as sugar cubes. There'd be ashes to sift, wounds to mend, fallen to mourn. Not being privy to the aftermath, I can only surmise as well as the next gumshoe. But with respect to the fate of our comrades, of this much I am convinced.

When the curtains finally closed, this time, their leader would make sure everyone was standing on the right side of them. That is to say, the side any interested onlooker would be able to witness.

Jade: ...
jeez!
Jane: Hm?

[Image description: Calliope and Jade both smile over at Jane.]

hell, even I can't remember what items we still have half the time.
Terezi, just between you, me, unconscious vriska, and that dumb clown there, this adventure has been one huge mess.
Terezi: what could even be so important about giving me your wallet?
John: hmm.
actually, it says give "her" your wallet.
did "her" mean you, or vriska?
Terezi: ???
John: I guess it's a moot point, since I don't have it.
let's just call it one small flaw in your otherwise mostly stupid plan, and get on with our lives.
Terezi: it's not my plan!
John: yes it is!
or, was.
I mean, will be.
or... Won't be anymore? Now that we changed stuff.
Terezi: ugh, shut up
maybe if you could tell me why we need the wallet, we could make other plans to compensate?
John: um.
I dunno. Maybe you need to captcha something really big?

I cracked the case with investigation skills like mine, it was inevitable (happy face with furrowed brows)
John: (lmao.)
Karkat: um, ok???
it would have been nice if somebody told me what sort of preposterous shit was taking place up here.
what happened to vriska? Why is she passed out on the fucking floor?!
John: because I punched her in the face.
Karkat: what
John: you heard me.
Karkat: ok, john, listen. First of all, shut your fucking mouth.
I don't even know where to begin addressing the globe numbing absurdity of your sudden presence on this meteor.
let's just awkwardly strafe along the perimeter of that humongous, stink-belching trunkbeast in the room, and let the violently uninhibited nerd-grilling commence.
why did you punch vriska in the face????????

A pair of feet in red shoes walk along the roof. It pans over W.V., Karkat, Rose, and Dave until they fade out and reveal a figure half cast in shadow. The figure wears those red shoes and blue pants. Her yellow eyes glow in the shadow. There’s a familiar symbol on her chest. A cerulean Scorpio.

It zooms in on Jade’s horrified face as she realizes what’s happening and pulls back. The flames around her die and she snarls. Several images flash by very quickly. Vriska’s 7-pupiled eye, Jade’s white, glowing eye, Vriska’s hand reaching out against a red background, a blue silhouette of Vriska reaching out against a black background, zooming out to show Jade’s silhouette in green as she pulls backwards. A large, grey Z appears between them. Jade begins to topple backwards and everything fades to black, then white. A blue next arrow appears in the middle of the screen. Click it.]

Act 6 Act 6 Act 5: Masterpiece

[S] Act 6 Act 6 Act 5

[Image description: The entire website turns green as it returns to Caliborn’s control. The rude link names and green chilis line the top banner. Homosuck Swan Song begins to play. The curtains change to a strange texture, like cardboard, and slowly open over a smeared purple spiral that runs the opposite direction of the one Calliope is in. It’s very clearly drawn with millions of right angles, per Caliborn’s style. In the center of it, there is an outline of a green stage, almost identical to the one in Calliope’s space. It very slowly zooms in on it and detail fades in. The texture on the curtain somewhat resembles cardboard, like the ones that opened over the screen, or perhaps crayon or rough construction paper. It shifts to a front view of the stage, like you’re sitting in the audience and looking at it. It very slowly zooms in until, with a final slam on the keyboard, it takes up the entire panel. It’s a photo of an actual object, which someone made to look like a shitty version of the stage. The repeat button in the bottom left corner is just Caliborn’s laughing face.]

Ah. So nice of you to join me.

[Image description: A Vine plays. For posterity, Vine was a video service that started in 2012 and shut down in early 2017, where users could post videos no longer than 6 seconds. This vine shows the physical stage prop on a table with a red striped tablecloth against a background with a texture like corrugated metal. It slowly zooms in on the stage as a crude clay figure of Caliborn and his justu chest fade in. Caliborn is represented as a red, slightly tapered tube with a green ball for a head and two black dots for eyes. The chest is just a vaguely chest-shaped lump of clay.]

To join me, for...

My masterpiece!

[Image description: Another vine plays. It flashes quickly between several frames of claymation. Claymation is a form of animation where physical models are moved and changed ever so slightly between photographs. The photographs are then strung together to create the illusion of movement, as drawn frames are in more traditional animation. Caliborn’s eyes flick to green, yellow, red, and blue. The chest jitters around like someone moved it between pictures.]
The fruits of my artistic toils are finally at hand. You're welcome in advance for the narrative majesty you are about to witness. It cost literally millions of calcoins to produce. As well as most of my attention span for any further creative endeavors. But you will probably agree, tearfully. That it is worth all of this expense, and more. To see my tiny actors of living putty, dance.

Get ready. To get dazzled. As I fucking destroy the transcendental boundaries of "unconventional media".

(that juju chest shouldn't be moving. Sorry. I bumped it.)

Let us begin.

[Image description: Another vine plays. All of Caliborn’s Masterpiece is in vine form unless otherwise specified. Claymation Caliborn turns and walks off stage right as a claymation Gamzee comes on from behind the curtain on stage left. He has no face, just the vague shape of his pear-shaped bard hat on top of the tapered cylinder of his body. Lil Seb comes on from in front of the curtain stage right. He’s just another vaguely tapered cylinder with a ball for a head, but he has ears. Caliborn comes back out from stage right, pulling Lil Cal with him. Lil Cal’s body is made of a pink cylinder with a squashed pear shape for a head and long orange legs with peach balls on the end for feet. He has no arms.]

The tale my masterpiece describes, is basically a spoiler to the ending of things. It takes place in a future moment. Long beyond when we, you, or I have any business seeing what happens.

But I found out and learned of this spoiler. I saw it once, on one of my planet's many screens. The land of "colours". And the land of "mayhem". It knows all. And it will show anything to any man. Who is willing to find the right key. And it turns out that just such a man. Is the man that is me!

So I will show you what I saw.

[Image description: Caliborn bends halfway down the bodylump and bows. The whole thing is slightly out of focus, giving it as somewhat dreamlike quality.]

Not with the crude 2 dimensional shapes from my computer pencil. But with the lavish 2+ dimensional forms of my ground breaking clay puppets. Behold as I innovate objects of artistic expression, which you trashy fuck munches never thought to pioneer before in a million years. Here's a shot of me bowing in advance for being great!

Ah yes. Movie magic at its best.

[Image description: Still in slightly blurry pictures, Caliborn’s eyes flash even faster between the colors.]

I will tell you what I saw in the screen. Believe me when I say, that it happened precisely as I show you here. Shot for shot.

This takes place after I get the magic rainbow eyes. And yet, still before I am huge and wear a dapper trench coat for winners. But as you can see. At this point, in my rise to dominant invincibility. I’m feeling pretty chuffed about myself. My power is sick, and my special eye balls are gnarly as can be. I would tell you I can hardly wait to be this cool, but as you know. I am a man of patience and aplomb.

Also, look closely.

[Image description: Caliborn turns and gestures with his head towards the juju chest because he has no arms to point with. It slowly pans over until the chest is in the center.]

I've got my juju chest there. Which I will win as some choice booty, from victoriously slaughtering my denizen. King yaldobob. Inside is a mighty weapon. Which will come into play a little later. In my theater of wobbling puppet drama. It's like they say about the theater. If you see a juju in act one. Then the juju will probably be used right away in act one. To make everything more exciting, as soon as possible.

Also, which I should mention...

One more banner piece of swag in my possession.

[Image description: It zooms in on Caliborn, who waves around one arm that he suddenly has. He only has three fingers and on the middle one, there is a chunky gold ring.] I'm not sure how I come about this later. Much like the clockwork lasers, and primo fashion jacket. It's a ring, that found its way to me somehow. A golden ring of void. It becomes mine one day. The most beautiful thing, I never knew I always wanted, yet somehow, preemptively coveted. It lets me stay close to the darkness. To vanish, and appear again, in places I have no business fucking with. Full of plump and meaty people. Alive and living. Who one day, will plead with the gods. Begging them to curse my name.

Here I am lording it over my minions.

[Image description: Caliborn jumps around between Gamzee and Lil Seb, who is standing on top of the Juju chest. He then runs over to lil Cal, who is sitting on the edge of the stage next to Gamzee. As he heads back towards the chest, he shoves Gamzee over and Lil Seb runs over to him. Caliborn jumps up on top of the chest and looks down at his ‘minions’.] The classic honk friend. My rabbit pal for life. And my floppy puppet buddy. I'm bossing them around, being the shit, as always. Whatever.

When suddenly.

[Image description: Caliborn still stands on top of his juju chest, but now he’s way over on stage right, right up against the curtain. Gamzee stands upstage of him and Lil Seb stands downstage. Lil Cal sits on top of the curtains, right above center stage. 8 figures suddenly appear in a flash of shittily drawn blue light. None of them have faces and are only differentiated by different colors of bodylumps. From right to left, they are light blue, black, red, orange, pink, yellow, dark blue, and beige. This makes the likely order John in his Heir of Breath outfit, Jade in her Witch of Space outfit, Dave in his Knight of Time outfit, Rose in her Seer of Light outfit, Dirk in his Prince of Heart outfit, Jake in his Page of Hope outfit, Roxy in her Rogue of Void outfit, and Jane in her Maid of Life outfit.] Eight assholes snugged up in their goofy pajamas appear out of nowhere, for some wrestling royale with yours truly. They all steal a ride with the wind prick's snappy ghost magic, to catch me unawares. It worked! Judging from my skull expression, I was really really surprised.

But then.

[Image description: It zooms in on Caliborn’s face, which suddenly has red cheek circles and a horrifying mouth with eight teeth in total, one of which is golden. It’s done crudely, like by someone without any sculpting experience, but that somehow makes it even more horrifying. His mouth opens and closes as it zooms in on him.]
My skull turns giddy, and sinister. Because I know in my heart that truly, they are about to get owned.

They are all frisky, and ready to fight.

[Image description: Everyone on stage jitters around a bit, but they don’t really move from their spots.]

I can tell they are psyched about this. Like they have been planning it, and biding their time, and now they think they are strong enough to overtake me, if only because of the surprisingness of their ambush. And maybe they are even right. Maybe they could beat me. They have a lot of fighting levels and magic boons now, just like me. But see. I don't even give them the chance.

Like I said. I have a superior weapon.

[Image description: Caliborn steps down off the juju chest and pushes it towards the group. It pops open and a small wire lifts a cutout that looks like a house out of it. It’s made from what looks like sparkly white paper.]

And I see no reason not to use it right away. What would be a fucking point, in holding out? Suspense?? Bulllll shit. I pulled out the big guns nigh instantaneously, because I think like a great winner.

But like most things that are good. The thing has limitations.

And rules and stuff.

[Image description: Everything vibrates as the four kids closest to the juju are drawn to it like a black hole. The clay they’re made of stretches and curls into the juju.]

All jujus have rules. The cooler the juju. The trickier the rules. For one thing. This weapon could only be used against four guys at a time. Because its shape has. Like four slots or something. So I choose my targets carefully.

I select the four of these jokers, who I deem the greatest threat to me. The blue philistine with the belligerent fists, of course. So he can't own me again, with hurtful insults to my art. And also the alpha male and his smooth ways, say goodbye to him too. I couldn't risk messing with his sword, which I understand to be the only thing in reality that is poison to my invincibility. Because of an illegal ingredient, a white roundcircle of total knowledge.

Oh, I targeted their two corresponding females as well, because why not. The dog one is a nightmare of powers, and the orange one perturbs me with her dictionary blither.

Good riddance to bad teens!!!

And just like that, they were gone.

[Image description: The juju bounces slightly and the pink figure, likely Dirk, begins to step forward.]

Their souls were trapped in my juju. Forever.

This solves one problem for me. But starts another. The juju when its shapes are filled. Changes in nature. It stops being a weapon I can use, ever again. It's weird, and a bit lame, but you can't be too picky about awesome jujus. You have to take the good with the bad. Once I used it...
It became mysteriously intangible.

Like a hole. A gap, in the teeth of my story. That now exists, as a dangerous liability to me personally. It can only ever be used as a weapon against me, from now on. Such is what yolobroth, the great lewd snake, will tell me about the juju when we meet. So after using it, it made me nervous.

So in the blink of an eye.

I trapped it back in the chest! And banished it away, where no one would ever find it. Deep in the bowels of the furthest ring. Using my ring-based communion with the void. Poof!!!!!!!!!!! Good luck digging that one up, haters. It is never going to happen.

With the first four banished, the team of heroes was cut in half, to be much easier for me to devastate. A smutty swordsman, an underpants wimp, and two flippant bimbos? I would call it a cake walk. But when you are this cocky and brash. You don't walk. You strut. No matter what kind of dessert you find under your feet.

I should also relevantly mention.

I am still in possession of the swordman's juju. His floppy friend of childhood. The one which I recognized to be an empty husk. He demands from me, that he wants it back. Presumably for emotional support. I can in no way blame him.

Keep an eye on this one. The foreshadowing of him, is pre-important for later.

Now is when the pummeling begins.

The fracas is loud and large. Power levels are off the charts. You can't even follow what's happening with your eyes!

I'm mostly toying with them though.

[Image description: Caliborn jumps on top of Dirk and Jane’s bodies.]

It's all too easy, for an ascended lord boy like me. I have a platter full of knuckle sandwiches to go around, plus other human food products you're familiar with, but also involving knuckles to make the punching metaphor work. There is more than enough to satisfy every hungry fist-deserver.

And I know what you're thinking. That I have. A reputation. For having a problem of unfair cruelty that goes at silly ladies more than great gentlemen. To which I take great offense. But still, let it be unconditionally accepted, that I am a fair man, who listens to criticism, and works ever and always. To improve my masterful craft. And my tremendous decency.

So.

[Image description: He jumps on top of Roxy’s head, then jumps off the stage to beat up Jake’s body.]

I have committed, through a pledge of personal beautification. To try doing less misogyny. And start doing more prosogyny. In fact. I fucking love sogyny! And I will fight anyone who disagrees from that.

Hencewith. Look. All bodily terrorism. Is being dealt in a precisely equal and respectful way. Both to feeble hoe, and tip-top gent alike.

I'm ruining them, really.

[Image description: It zooms in on Jake’s body. Then Roxy’s. Then Jane’s. Then shows Dirk, on his feet, facing Caliborn.]

It's not a contest. They are a bunch of pitiful emotion children, and I am a premier, invincible titan of roughhouse brutality. It's too easy. Speedo boy is down for the count, because I slapped him gingerly. The masked floozy is looking a bit... Woozy (ha ha.) The cake maid took one drub too many and has to lie down for an overweight nap. This leaves me, mano & mano, against the anime prince and his nonsense trousers.

It was a pretty good fight between us.

[Image description: Dirk and Caliborn bump into and headbut each other.]

Because he's strong, and I admire that. Why shouldn't I let a battle happen for longer, when two tough dudes are involved, strutting their stuff. But in the end, his sharp glasses and sword machismo weren't enough. I got the supreme drop on his powerful body with my wrestling moves.

My overconfidence, was my achilles downfall though.

[Image description: Dirk lays on the ground and Caliborn jumps on top of him. Jake stands behind him.]

I made, admittedly, the amateur's boner. I turned my back on the body.

The crybaby in the yellow panties got upset with me. That I was wailing so excellently on his increasingly battered prettyboy ninja stud.
And by upset.

I mean he threw a fully fledged tantrum of pure hope.

The hope... My god.

It was blinding. Beautiful even.

Ok, maybe the cotton isn't doing it justice. Hmm.

Ok, yeah, maybe that just looks stupid.

You know, you try things. And sometimes. It just looks like shit. Let's call this. My one and only fuckup in history.

Well, my second maybe.

Second only to underestimating this sad sack wuss of hope. Who knew that such a simpering charlatan. Had such an outburst stowed in his girly bosom. Clearly, not i. Even though I had the information well in advance. It was just that surprising.

It seems that hope power is overwhelming.

Even to the clockwork manjunk. It looked like I thought I could use my rainbow seizure field to overpower his massive gay hope bubble. Alas. It was my perfectly justified hubris which bit me in the ass, in the end. Even though I'm sure I must have known this outcome was going to happen. (It can still be worth it to get owned. If it means having a lot of self esteemed hubris about yourself.)

And so, the english boy deals me my first defeat ever, since ascending as an invincible technicolor time kid.

I get dunked as fuck.

And land square on my bottom. I remain prone for several minutes, staring at the ceiling. Blinking a bit. Pondering where things went wrong in life. How i. The lord of time. Could experience such woeful ownage.

There is no bodily harm of course. Except to my incredible ego. Which is a fate worse than getting broken bones. So I just lie there. Thinking sadly. Achieving some depression.

I'm sure at this point. I turn to thoughts of respect. Respect for the pansied ass, pretty legged page. And his maybe accidental prowess. I under misestimated him, and admiration happens in my breast. Maybe I'll jack his swagger too, as he once did mine. Maybe after a lifetime of utterly deserved humiliation, sobbing, and spontaneous urination. He's earned that much.

(the clue here is that I steal his name. God. You thick, stupid fucks. Why do I bother with sub texts, or fine literaturey nuance. God. Fuck! God. I take his name later. English. That's me later.
That's my name. You stupid brainless fucks. Holy shit, you are dumb as bozos come. God!!!)

Meanwhile, strider regroups from his trouncing.

And sees his chance to do away with me for good. He knows by now that he can't kill me. But can do his next best thing. Which is to banish my soul.

He's hurt bad and is slow to use his pink soul killing spell. This gives me time to rebound from my shameful ass whooping too. And pull my sorry butt out of the own zone.

So I get up. And...

I nearly get the drop on him before he releases his spell. But then... What's this?

There's a commotion. The haunting sound of neighs. Except. They're robot neighs?

That is when the horses come in to play. The god damn horses. How truly and utterly ironic. That my very demise could be in the proximity of some horses. What. No really, what. I didn't follow that. I'm still not following it, to be honest. I'll have to think it over. I'm thinking it over right now. And I have a feeling. I'll be thinking it over for the rest of my life. Perhaps we all will.

Wait, they should be robots.

Hold on while I paint the horses to look like metal horses. Damn, the work of a craftyman is never done.

So basically.

I don't know what the fuck is going on. So I'm really distracted. I'm saying to myself, this is ominous as shit. Nothing good can either follow or precede an event such as this. And then, that's when it happens.

The sweaty muscular ghost appears out of nowhere.

I have no idea who he is. Or where he came from. Judging from the face of the guys, they don't either. Nobody sees this coming. It is a total ambuscade, and my skeleton jaw is dropped as shit.
He pins me in place with his ripped muscles, and I'm completely immobilized. Partly because of the strength, but also due to my awe and admiration. I just can't move.
This gives dirk just the time he needs.

To do his flamboyant pink spell.

It owns me completely. But sadly to dirk maybe, it also owns the muscle hero. Both of our souls are consumed by the enchantment.

I think he thought he could destroy my soul.

But he bit off more than his fleshy skull could chew. So he used his "irony" again. And stuck my soul in his juju. Exactly the way. I stuck his buddies in my juju. The one I got from yodel booger. It's like poetic justice I guess. Except puppetry, instead of poetry. So puppetic justice. Oh yes. I like that.

The muscle ghost came along for the ride. And I guess his soul got trapped in there too? I have no idea what that means. Honestly it is disturbing as hell. And I’d prefer not to dwell on its greater ramifications to my long term existence. Maybe it's good? Or maybe it's dumb. Maybe it's. Good and dumb. Or smart and bad. There are so many words things can be when you're confused.

At this point.

His beloved juju is no longer a hollow vessel. It is very much crowded in there, chock full of souls, belonging to hardcore brawling brutes. And he knows it. His puppet is now a problem to do away with, just like my juju was. So they do the same basic thing. They get their drunkard sorceress of void to banish the puppet once and for all, into the darkness. Never to be found again by probing hands of meat.

Yes, never to be found.

You see, my soul is a tenacious one. I know this fact first hand, because it has been inside my brain all my life! It's a real mother fucker, I'll tell you that much. The puppet's essence will flop and flutter through the shadows for eternity. Surfacing in the nightmares of the unsuspecting. Weaseling its way into the hearts of yucky shitty children. And when its infiltration in that universe has taken hold, the seed will have been planted. And it will pave the way for my emergence, to wreak my badness. From universe. To universe. To universe. Each one will fall. And each time I will get stronger. And older. And bigger. And buffer! Ohhhhhhhhhhh yes.

It will be time.
It will be time, indeed, for me to get...

[Image description: A sweet bro and hella jeff style drawing shows Caliborn sitting down and lifting a massive barbell over his head. He’s got massive pecs and some number of abs that are defined by strange, wiggling lines that don’t quite follow any known anatomy. His ass is absolutely huge. Massive comic sans in a shiny green font says Ripped, but there are so many Is and Ps that it not only has to go onto a second line, but that second line curves down the side of the page. A green box highlights Caliborn’s face.]

And now, if you will excuse me.

I must put down the toys and ways of a child. And confront the big things of becoming a huge man. By dueling the supreme beast of my legend land, his serpentine eminence, yogurt boner himself. I'm about to go fight him now, so this is the last time you will ever hear my excellent voice.

I will duel and crush my slithering sexual snake boss, to finish what I started when I stepped my metal foot into this children's farce. I will do that because I want to, and when that is said and done, and you see me at the peak of a mountain of trophies, resting on my throne of prizes, I want to get to tell you that I did what I wanted to do. So if you remember just one thing I say, of so many great things said by me, then please remember this.

I wanted to play a game.

[Image description: The sight returns to normal. The loading screen is a red spiral. The song “Hello Zepp”, which is the Saw Theme by Charlie Clouser, begins to play. M.S.P.A. Reader sits at their computer with their hands resting loosely on the keyboard. It slowly zooms in on their eyes, which are locked on their computer screen. It fades to a view from over their shoulder as they raise a hand to their chin ponderously. On their screen, it shows the previous page. The colors over the whole panel flash negative, turning all the white space black, the outlines white, and the green in the panel they’re viewing to a bright, bubblegum pink.]

It fades to M.S.P.A. Reader’s face as they slowly turn towards the camera. Their eyes widen to big round circles, and somehow they hold the madness and mind-blown-ed-ness of a thousand confused homestuck readers. The colors flash negative again.

M.S.P.A. Reader fades away and Lil Cal in his Dersite nightshirt floats out of the void. He floats closer. The background briefly flashes to Gamzee snarling at his computer with little harlequin heads in his eyes.

Lil Cal suddenly jumps closer and the background around him turns into Dave’s dream bedroom on Derse. It zooms out. Crows are scattered across the various pieces of furniture. Dave stands near the window over his turntables, where Rose has just entered. It cuts to Rose glaring over her shoulder at Lil Cal, who vibrates slightly. She chucks him out the window. Dave stares down after him with an upset look. Lil Cal lands on Bro’s hoverboard and flies off into the medium. A Dersite stares up at him as he flies away.

That same Dersite appears against a white background next to Dirk’s anime shades. Text over both him and the glasses reads “A.R.”, and two red question marks float next to the text. The text flashes between red and black. A triangular decoration on the Dersite’s-, apparently the Authority Regulator’s hat flashes red, as does the left lens of the glasses. Everything fades but those two highlighted sections, which rush together at the center of the screen and turn into a purple Illuminati triangle with the All Seeing Eye in the center. Under it, the word Confirmed flashes red and black. The background fades to black and the triangle grows and turns white.

The triangle flashes over the whole screen, then it fades to A.R. surfing on Bro’s rocket board towards the frog temple on the meteor. He approaches closer, then it cuts to him inside, finding John asleep on the floor and trying to wake him by poking him.

It cuts to John just after making all the babies and zooms in on Baby Dirk, who sits inside a broken glass tube and flails his arms. It cuts to John sending the babies off on the transportalizers. Baby Dirk sleeps on Lil Cal’s lap. It zooms in on Lil Cal’s face. He shakes like he’s laughing.

It fades to black, then cuts to Lil Cal and Baby Dirk on the meteor that will take them through a defense portal. It zooms in a bit, then out, to show it just before it enters the portal. The portal is green, but it flashes red for a moment. The whole scene bifurcates into a top half highlighted in green and a bottom half highlighted in red. The portal color corresponds with the highlight color.

It focuses in on the green half, where the meteor flies directly into the portal and vanishes. It zooms in on Earth, then cuts to Bro holding the tiny shades he gave Dave just after finding him. It flashes through several images quickly. Baby Dave wearing a bib made from the heart on Maplehoof’s flank while Dirk feeds him some sort of orange baby food. Bro and Baby Dave on the roof. Bro has his katana out and Baby Dave sits on Lil Cal’s head. Dave standing in his living room and looking at the video game Bro was playing- Mad Snacks Yo. Lil Cal sits on top of a speaker. Dave turns and is startled by him. Dave stands at Bro’s computer. Lil Cal sits on top of a different speaker right next to him. Dave turns towards Lil Cal. It zooms in on Lil Cal’s face. Dave looks around the room and spots several smuppets on and around the furniture. An ape puppet opens and closes its mouth. Dave stands by the door to the apartment. Lil Cal sits on the turntables next to him. It slowly zooms in on the Saw marionette hanging above Lil Cal.

Dave looks at some electronic music equipment piled on the kitchen table. Behind him, Bro flashes in as a black silhouette to put Lil Cal on the stove right behind Dave. Dave spots him and jumps. It cuts to a Saw doll on a tricycle. It turns its head and its eye extends, like it’s a camera lens refocusing. Dave stands in the kitchen, where that saw doll on a tricycle films him turning on the blender and shredding a small puppet that was full of blood packs. It zooms in on the fridge to reveal Lil Cal’s reflection. The colors flash inverted for a second, then it cuts to another creepy puppet looming out of the darkness. It zooms in, then fades to black. A second later, there’s a flash of light, revealing just the upper half of that puppet’s face.

It cuts to Dave leaving his apartment with his sword in one hand and Lil Cal slung over his shoulder. He sets Cal down on the edge of the roof, then charges for him in Round 1. Lil Cal dances on top of Dave, who lays on the ground and flails ineffectively.

It cuts to part of a chat log.
T.G.: puppets

On the roof, Bro holds Lil Cal by the back of the shirt and holds his sword up over his head with the other hand. It zooms in on Lil Cal’s laughing face. That cuts to Lil Cal’s decapitated head laying on the roof. It zooms out to show a crowd of crows surrounding Cal’s shredded body parts and Dave laying on the ground. Another section of the chat log.
T.G.: awesome

Dave stands amid the wreckage of Cal’s body and looks down at Bro’s copy of Sburb. It cuts and suddenly there’s a mess of various weapons and smuppet parts strewn about, and Dave texts someone. Seppucrowsprite hovers over the cruxite egg in a pile of random assorted items at the top of the broadcast tower on Dave’s roof. Dave and Davesprite stand over the shredded remains of Lil Cal.

Another section of the chat log scrolls past.
T.G.: thats really all there is to say on the matter

It zooms out to show the whole line and Not has been written in between That’s and Really. That’s not really all there is to say on the matter. It fades to black.

Andrew Hussie in his troll cosplay, smudged paint, and only one horn, spikes Lil Cal onto the ground with a Boo yeah. He stands upright, then it cuts to Lil Cal reassembled with stitches. Jack Noir examines Lil Cal. Lil Cal punches him in the face and makes him spit blood. Lil Cal tangles around Jack as Bro and Davesprite get ready to attack him. Jack throws him off and leaps into the air, sword drawn and Red Miles ready. Jack deflects an attack from Davesprite while clutching Lil Cal in one of his tentacles. He lunges for Bro, who is facing the opposite direction. Bro takes off on his hoverboard and Jack chases him. Lil Cal falls into the flames below.

Bro stands against a wall of green flame with Lil Cal at his side. Cal’s not being held. He looks like he’s standing on his own. It zooms in on Lil Cal and a watermark of his laughing face appears over the screen.

It cuts to Bro’s body, surrounded by his own blood and orange feathers. Lil Cal lays over his leg. The colors flash negative, turning the red blood bright blue. Jack Noir, now Bec Noir, stands against a green background and clutches Lil Cal in one clawed hand. It cuts to him somewhere on Skaia. He’s still holding Cal, but he’s also wearing Bro’s shades, Mom’s scarf, and Dad’s hat and smoking Dad’s pipe. The sword in his chest is covered with blood. At the tea party he killed Mom and Dad at, he puts a piece of cake on his head. He throws down Dad’s hat and stomps on it. It zooms in on Lil Cal in his hand. It cuts and suddenly Lil Cal is in a cloud of Skaia, being held by a bloody hand. Bec Noir turns his chest green and sticks Lil Cal inside himself.

Bec Noir stands in the ruins of the Troll’s exit door, being attacked by and destroying dozens of Aradiabots. One lunges for him and in a flash, he makes Lil Cal appear in his bloody hand, fulfilling that cloud’s prophecy. He throws Lil Cal at that Aradiabot, and he wraps around her. She screams and begins to short circuit. Before she does, she summons her music box time machines and vanishes.

Elsewhen in the Troll’s session, a meteor hurtles towards a purple Skaianet Defense Portal. Aradiabot and Lil Cal appear, only to be struck by the meteor and sent flying through the portal. A young Aradia finds the meteor’s impact crater. Inside, there’s the shredded remains of Lil Cal and the shattered circuitry of the Aradiabot. Aradia picks up Lil Cal’s upper body and pulls John’s Dad’s wallet from under his shirt. She slides the Crosbytop from it. She pulls out one of Dad’s hats. Behind her, a Godtier Aradia smiles at her. The two of them talk in a mix of Sollux’s hive and the crater. Behind non-Godtier Aradia, the Crosbytop has a Sollux alert over it. It zooms in on Lil Cal, who lays on the floor nearby.

Lil Cal stays where he is, but the rest of the scene changes around him. Sollux’s room takes over more of the background and sollux himself stands there by his beehive servers. His eyes are black. Aradia and Aradiabot look at him. Aradiabot wears Dad’s hat. Behind them, Jade’s greenhouse bleeds into the scene and Jade stands there in her Dead Shuffle dress, surrounded by red and blue orchids and her magic chest.

The scene changes around him again. Now all four of them stand outside of Kanaya’s hive and look towards Jade’s squiddle lunchtop. Cal is under Jade’s bed and Sollux stands on top of it. It cuts again. They’re inside Kanaya’s room, huddled around her sewing desk. Kanaya sits there at an antique sewing machine. Someone has shoved Sollux’s teeth back into his mouth haphazardly. Tavros lays on the ground nearby. In a flash, Lil Cal vanishes from the desk and appears right in front of Kanaya. He’s now clean and wearing his green suit. It jerkily zooms in on his creepy smiling face.

Cut to Doc Scratch, furious and making the entire background turn into green fire. Cut to Vriska staring into the Magic Cue Ball with her vision 8-fold. Cut back to Lil Cal on Kanaya’s sewing table. There’s a crosshairs over his face. It zooms out. Lil Cal is shown on a screen on a machine like the one that was used to make Bec from a dog and Rose’s Meow code. The other screen shows the magic cue ball just before it exploded. The machine sparks with lightning and shakes. Everything explodes into green and white light and stars. A baby Doc Scratch appears in the center of it all.

It cuts to Scratch in his office. It zooms in on his head, which turns transparent and shows Lil Cal sitting on the counter of the Trickster Room. He’s still wearing his green suit and splattered in Gamzee’s blood. Scratch’s head expands and reveals the entire room. Gamzee looks at the door while Terezi sleeps in the pile of shredded scalemates. Terezi then ponders the door while Lil Cal leans over her shoulder. She hug Pyralspite. In a blur of motion, Gamzee replaces Pyralspite with Lil Cal and Terezi frowns.

It cuts to a split screen of Dave and Gamzee pestering each other. Dave sits at his desk and wears pointy anime shades like Bro’s. Gamzee sits next to Tavros’s body on the meteor. Tavros’s head has been removed and is sitting off to the side. Gamzee wears Terezi’s glasses and has brown blood all over his hand and lips. Lil Cal sits next to him. It zooms in on Lil Cal, then cuts to Gamzee’s face in deep shadow with a menacing smile. Terezi’s glasses flicker to cracked red anime shades. Gamzee fades and the two triangle lenses separate, rotate, and turn into purple illuminati triangles. Text pops up underneath them. “Confirmed times 2 combo”. Lil Cal’s face flashes in over them, putting the eyes in his eye holes. The eyes flash the colors of billiard balls.

It cuts to Gamzee looming over Equius with a broken bow in hand. He snarls and goes into murder mode, strangling Equius with the bowstring.

It cuts to Rose in front of her hubtop. There’s a blank alert over her computer. It cuts to a section of the chat log.

T.T.: That’s a little creepy.
(question mark): No it’s not.

The young Handmaid gives two middle fingers. Doc Scratch smacks her with his broom, knocking her down. It cuts back to the chatlog.

T.T.: Yes it is.
(question mark): No it’s not.

Equius lays on the ground, dead but smiling.

It pans over a section of the chat log.

T.T.: It kind of is.

Somewhere on the meteor, a troll stares down Lil Cal. It zooms in on him, then cuts. Sollux is standing over Lil Cal and talking about Gamzee. Sollux is already blind, wearing Feferi’s goggles, and bloody. In the distance, Karkat watches. The Gamzee faces suddenly turn into illuminati triangles and the colors invert. Everything fades to Gamzee during Cascade. He sits on the floor and stares at his husktop. Lil Cal sits in his lap. There’s a timer reading 11 seconds in a triangle above him. One of the illuminati triangles that Sollux was talking about rotates and turns red. It covers the timer section. Gamzee’s eyes flash green as it zooms in. In his eye, it shows Jade’s tower about to explode. It zooms out a bit. A timer at the top of the screen reads 0.

It fades to Doc Scratch laying on the ground with his leg torn off. Bit by bit, Lord English begins to emerge from him. The Cairo Overcoat appears in a flash. Lord English screams out a massive, multicolored Honk.

M.S.P.A. Reader fades in over all of this and stares in dumbstruck realization. They stand at their computer. The screen says Honk. The colors invert and M.S.P.A. Reader slowly topples backwards. Behind them, the split green and red meteors bearing Baby Dirk appear again. M.S.P.A. Reader continues falling as it focuses in on the red meteor now.

One of Lil Cal’s arms loops around Dirk’s katana. It flashes to Dirk’s messy room. Lil Cal cradles the katana on top of one of Dirk’s many desks. It zooms in, then cuts to Dirk giving lil Cal a fistbump while also being a black blur moving Lil Cal around to make him dance. Lil Cal sits back on the desk while Dirk works at his computer. Roxy pesters Dirk. Dirk stands and suddenly Caliborn’s Ophiuchus alert floats over his head. He grabs lil Cal and slings him over his shoulder. He stands on the stairs in a way identical to how Dave did, once upon a time and a universe away.

It fades to M.S.P.A. Reader on their hands and knees, sweating. There are trees in the background. They look up towards a stump that has something stuck into it and a string trailing away.

It cuts to Dirk’s apartment roof, where he stands with Lil Cal. It cuts to Dirk holding Lil Cal while Caliborn pesters him and Sawtooth and Squarewave watch from behind him. A plume of smoke rises from near the alchemiter. Red Miles cut across the sky. It cuts to orange and purple silhouettes of Dirk and Lil Cal, respectively, as Dirk drops him. Lil Cal falls into the water. It cuts to his eye as he sinks below the waves.

It zooms out to show the whole planet, which is then sucked into a red-tinged black hole. The stump fades in behind it with M.S.P.A. reader crouching over it and clinging to it. The black hole fades. Suddenly, M.S.P.A. Reader rips the stump from the ground, revealing a pistol buried beneath it.

It cuts to Caliborn, Gamzee, Lil Seb, and Lil Cal standing at the base of one of the broadcast towers. It zooms in on Caliborn as he gazes covetously at Lil Cal. It cuts to Gamzee golding Lil Cal somewhere on Derse. The Courtyard Droll asks him about Lil Cal. It zooms in on Lil Cal’s face. He winks. Gamzee stares in surprise.

Jack Noir stands in a Prospitain prison, surrounded by Dersite parking citations. He’s chained to the wall by his ankle. A pumpkin suddenly appears on the appearifier. Inside, there are many knives, a red crowbar, and Lil Cal. “Let’s play a game” is carved into the side. Jack Noir picks up the paper with Gamzee’s ‘You’re mother fuckin welcome’ seal stamped on it. The weapons are strewn around the room. Jack sneers down at Lil Cal. His face suddenly goes slack and Lil Cal’s eyes take the place of his pupils.

It zooms in on Lil Cal’s eyes, which flash blue and red. Caliborn grins and stares into Lil Cal’s eyes while Gamzee stares on. A red and green swirl spins in Caliborn’s eye. The same swirl spins in Lil Cal’s eye. It zooms in again. Lil Cal’s eye is suddenly filled by flashing billiard balls. The other still swirls red and green. Jack Noir trembles and holds up two knives. He does an Eye stab times 2 combo. Blood coats the floor of his jail cell, the weapons, and Lil Cal’s hand. Jack’s leg is still chained, but it lays on the floor next to a saw, completely severed from his body. It zooms in on his mouth. One of his teeth is golden and blood runs down his cheeks. Small flames around his body flash the colors of billiard balls. He clutches the crowbar. It zooms out. An explosion consumes a large piece of Prospit. Lil Cal lays on the floor of the jail cell. His eyes are gone. Everything fades to white.

It pans up over the six panel page of Jack Noir standing at the base of the chain of Prospit. Everything fades to black.

Dirk sits on the edge of his roof, holding A.R.. They talk and he gazes into the little red lights that are like A.R.’s eyes. Dirk squeezes the glasses, sending sparks along them and cracking the glass. Equiusprite startles him. In the background, Gamzee hides behind the AC unit. He runs as Drik tosses A.R. into Equiusprite. Arquiusprite canters through a desert with many robot horses. Gamzee stares and cries. Dirk watches Gamzee double over and fall to his hands and knees, still crying. Arquiusprite flexes at Dirk, who does a double face palm.

It cuts back to Rose talking to Doc Scratch.

(queston mark): There should be no reason for you to feel uncomfortable with this information. Try to think of me as your kindly human uncle.

Human Uncle highlights orange. A picture of Dirk appears over a picture of Rose. A green line connects them, like a family tree. Dirk’s clothes flicker to black with a red outline and red hat. His glasses get little red dots like pupils in them and some red circuitry spills onto his face. The two Dirks, or rather Dirk and A.R. separate. The green line branches to connect A.R. to the line between Dirk and Rose. If this was a family tree, A.R. would be her uncle and Dirk would be her father. The word Uncle appears over the whole scene. Rose’s horrified face appears over the whole panel.

T.T.: Oh my god.

It flashes by each individual word.

Oh. My. God.

It cuts to the scene from Caliborn’s masterpiece where Dirk and Caliborn beat each other up. Jake begins his hope field. The hope field grows to take up the whole stage, then expands beyond it. Arquiusprite restrains Caliborn while Dirk begins to work his soul magic. Caliborn, Arquiusprite, and half of Gamzee are sucked into Lil Cal.

Everything goes black and the word Truth in red flashing letters appears in the center of the screen, surrounded by 4 spinning illuminati triangles. The triangles stop with their points inward and rush towards Truth, making it Truth splode.

The sound of a scratching disk plays. Someone reaches out to a gramophone and stops it.]

Act 6 Act 6 Intermission 5, part 1: She’s Back [Note: The title is written in Vriska’s quirk, with an 8 in place of B.]

[S] Act 6 Act 6 Intermission 5

[Image description: A loading screen shows a cobalt blue background with a large white V. The two arms of the V look like Vriska’s horns. It fades to a golden phonograph. The needle drops. The sound of static plays as it fades to Vriska standing in a room on the meteor. She grins down at her husktop, which is raised up on a black, leather bound book, which is in turn resting on a table. Behind her, there is a bookshelf and a phonograph. The song Moonsetter begins to play. It fades to her computer screen, which is open to her Vriskagram account. Her username is The Vriska Serket, and she has 88 posts, 8 followers, and follows 8 people. Her profile picture shows her grinning maliciously down at something. The banner at the top of her page is a collage of various pictures. From left to right, they are Dave concentrating on something, Vriska looking away from the camera and sipping a steaming drink from an orange mug with the light symbol on it, Vriska, Terezi, and Rose waving up at someone while Gamzee lays at their feet, tied up, Vriska staring confusedly off camera, Karkat messing around with a set of turntables while wearing headphones in one ear, Gamzee staring off into the distance, and Terezi laughing at Dave, who’s doing some sort of nonsense in the background.

Several pictures pull up in sequence, like someone’s flipping through the pictures Vriska posted. They’re all done in a different art style than usual, one that’s done with bright colors and lots of hashing. Aradia, Dave, Rose, and Sollux, who is half dead, float down towards the meteor. Kanaya, Terezi, Karkat, and Vriska look up at them.

Vriska puts one hand on her hip and holds the other up in and ‘okay’ hand gesture with her pointer finger and thumb forming a ring while her other fingers splay out slightly. Gamzee is still tied up at her feet with the horn in his mouth, which he honks faintly.

Everyone stands around Karkat as he throws a tantrum on the floor. A bucket and John’s movie poster note lay on the floor next to him. Kanaya and Aradia look concerned. Dave and Rose look like they’re tired of his shit already. Vriska and Terezi laugh at him. Sollux just stares blankly. Behind them, Gamzee is still tied up.

Sollux and Aradia use their powers to throw the meteor. Sollux is colored entirely grey except for his symbol and his eyes, which are yellow and black-and-white respectively. Aradia is colored entirely red except for her eyes, which are yellow.

It shows the full image of one of the ones from Vriska’s banner. Vriska, Terezi, and Rose wave up at them, but now we see Karkat saluting, Dave giving a thumbs up, and Kanaya waving.

Ghost versions of Godtier Eridan and Godtier Feferi stop by. Feferi kneels down by W.V., who has a large patch of blood on his back. She rests one hand on his back and the other on the back of his head. A fuchsia glow surrounds both of them. Behind them, Kanaya and Karkat watch curiously while Rose crosses her arms and looks away.

It shows another full version of a picture from the banner. This time it’s Gamzee staring into the distance. There’s a ball and chain cuffed to one of his ankles, but the ball is a magic 8 ball. He’s holding a large, long-handled fan made of blue feathers and using it to fan Vriska. She lounges in a green lawnchair with her legs crossed. She’s wearing sunglasses and holding a broken magic 8 ball like it’s one of those fancy cocktails served in half of a coconut. There’s even a little pink umbrella and a straw in it. She whistles. In the background, Rose crosses her arms and stares at her. Kanaya and Karkat also turn to look at her, but with more confusion. Feferi and Eridan do the same.

Vriska lowers her drink and turns her head towards Rose, Karkat, and Kanaya. She throws one arm up into the air with a dramatic flourish. No one else reacts.

Dave, Karkat, and W.V. all play hopscotch in one of the hallways. Dave hops into the 5 square on one foot while Karkat kneels off to the side and claps for him. W.V. lays on his stomach with his feet kicked up into the air and draws in the 4 square with some red chalk.

It shows the full version of the banner picture of Dave concentrating. Dave, Karkat, and W.V. kneel in the hallway. Dave uses a piece of red chalk to draw on the floor. Karkat watches curiously, and W.V. just looks delighted to be there.

Dave stands up and gestures to his masterpiece. It’s a new hopscotch court. It’s shaped like a penis. Spots 1 and 2 are in the balls and spot 6 is at the tip.

W.V. looks confused while Karkat starts to lecture at Dave.

Terezi leans back against a wall and looks very uncomfortable. Gamzee leans his forearm against the wall next to her head and leans in, effectively trapping her there.

It zooms in on Gamzee’s eye. There’s a little black spade in it.

Terezi takes out her dragonheaded cane and shoves Gamzee back with it. He looks like he’s taking it flirtatiously, but she just looks pissed.

It zooms out. Gamzee topples backwards over Vriska, who’s crouched on the ground behind him for that exact purpose. He honks loudly. Terezi grins.

Gamzee lays on his back on the ground and frowns sadly.

Gamzee sits up and watches in dismay as Vriska and Terezi walk away from him with their arms around each other’s shoulders.

Kanaya and Rose sit on a red loveseat together. Rose holds a purple book with the symbols of the quadrants on the front cover. Clockwise from the upper left, they are black spade, pink diamond, grey club, and red heart. Kanaya reads over her shoulder, and many of the pages have little tabs on them, like someone annotated it. Rose looks incredibly engaged in the reading. Kanaya smiles softly.

Kanaya and Rose both look up at Vriska, who’s interrupting them with her use of the weird looking coffee machine.
Vriska turns to look at them while sipping from her light aspect mug, completing one of the pictures from the banner. Rose stares at Vriska and lets the book fall onto her lap. Kanaya straightens up and stares down, embarrassed.

Vriska grins and throws herself onto the loveseat with them. Kanaya rolls her eyes and turns her head away from Vriska. Rose looks uncertainly at her and picks the book back up.

In a different art style, one based more around shapes and thin lines, Karkat and Dave run through the meteor while holding hands. W.V. rides on Dave’s back, piggyback style with his legs wrapped around Dave’s waist.

All three of them hold hands and spin in a circle while laughing.

Vriska and Terezi lurk behind a purple treasure chest and watch them spin.

Vriska and Terezi look at each other in confusion, completing one of the pictures from the banner. In the background, Dave, Karkat, and W.V. continue spinning.

Another image from the banner is shown in full. Dave, Karkat, and Rose sit on benches at a table. Rose sits on one side, wearing a fancy orange dress and blue heels. She holds a cup in one hand and looks a little drunk. There’s an empty bottle laying on its side on the table. Dave and Karkat sit on the other side. Karkat fiddles with a set of turntables and Dave messes with a laptop. They share a set of earbuds.

Rose looks up with a drunken smile as Vriska approaches. Vriska has one hand in her pocket and waves with the other. Dave ignores her and Karkat stares suspiciously.

Vriska swings her hand down and slaps the cup out of Rose’s hand, startling everyone.

Dave and Karkat stand up, ready to intervene. Vriska stomps on the cup, smashing it into pieces. Behind her, Kanaya walks in. Rose curls in on herself and turns away with one hand raised to hide her face.

Dave and Karkat sit on a red loveseat with Karkat’s crab computer in front of them. The lights are off except for the screen, which casts shadows against the wall. Dave is laying down with his head on Karkat’s thigh. Karkat looks down at him.

There’s someone on the screen of the crab computer. He’s likely an actor, but unfortunately the describer does not recognize him. He’s a white man in his 30s to 40s with short brown hair that sticks up in all directions. He’s giving the camera a crooked smile.

Dave still lays with his head in Karkat’s lap, but now Karkat rests a hand on his shoulder and smiles softly.

In a purple castle somewhere in the dreambubbles, Kankri lectures to an entertained Terezi, a bored Vriska, and an annoyed Latula. He’s surrounded by little ‘blah blah blah’ effects, which are written in bright red and using his quirk, so the Bs are all 6.

Dave, Karkat, Rufioh, Damara, and W.V. all sit around a table in a memory of Terezi’s hive. They each hold several fiduspawn cards. The table and floor are littered with more cards, several brightly colored Oogonibomb orbs, fiduspawn plushes, and a purple scalemate. Dave leans back in his chair so he’s balancing on two of the legs and looks nonchalant. Karkat glares at him. Rufioh looks over and smiles at Damara, who’s smoking a cigarette and holding a red and yellow Oogonibomb orb.
W.V. looks like he has no idea what’s going on but having a great time anyway.

On the floating lilypads from one of the Openbound walkwarounds in Act 6 Intermission 3, Gamzee tells Kurloz and Meulin all about Vriska. Kurloz facepalms. Meulin’s just smiles eagerly. Her and Kuloz both of bright purple eyes. Behind them, Cronus nudges Mituna with his elbow and grins flirtatiously at him. Mituna clutches his skateboard and looks like he’d rather be somewhere else.

In a pastel mountainscape, Rose, Kanaya, and Porrim feed a herd of robot horses several robot apples. Rose hugs one of the horses and a little pink heart floats over her. Behind them, Horuss rides one of the horses.

In the rocky canyons with the horses, Vriska encounters Meenah and the original timeline Vriska, who will now be called Alt Vriska. Alt Vriska looks surprised by her other self’s arrival. Meenah just looks annoyed.

Vriska stares at Alt Vriska and Meenah, completely dumbfounded. Part of the background behind her is the computer lab on the meteor.

Jane wanders through a grey landscape of shallow, rocky hills.

Vriska sits on top of a toppled refrigerator in front of Jane’s house. Aradia’s music box time machines float around her. She gestures off to the side with her thumb.

Tavrosprite, a dark blue sprite, floats in a hole that’s been punched through one of the walls of Jane’s house.

Jane tilts her head and stares in confusion.

Dirk sits on the edge of the roof of his apartment, holding A.R. in one hand. His kernelsprite floats above the radio tower behind him.

He turns and stares in shock at Vriska, who now stands behind him with Equius’s head under her arm.

It zooms in on Vriska’s face.

She turns and points over her shoulder at the kernelsprite.

Dirk grimaces and sweats a bit.

Everything fades to black.]

dialoglog

Dave: is it time yet
Vriska: No.
Dave: oh
how about now
Vriska: No!!!!!!!!
Dave, we've been waiting for three years.
Three years is a pretty long time. Long enough for me to have picked up the habit of calling them years instead of the far more sensible unit of measurement, sweeps.
I think you should be able to survive just a little longer.
Dave: i still dont understand whats supposed to happen hes just supposed to like appear?
That's my understanding, yes.
Dave: you mean here
on this frog circle thing
Vriska: I don't know!
Somewhere in this session. At which point, if he has any brain at all, he'll seek us out.
Dave: so jade came on a gold ship through a tiny window apparently but john wasnt on it??
Vriska: Well, his corpse was, somewhere.
but that John doesn't matter anymore.
Kind of like how there was a bird version of you out there, now presumed dead, who also didn't matter.
The "real" John and the other Lalonde girl will spontaneously appear from a different reality.
Vriska: I determined a lot of this through my time travel reconaissance work upon arriving in this session.
Sorry to steal all the timey thunder from the great "Knight of Time", end quote, but someone had to take the initiative and go on a fact-finding mission.
Dave: no its cool
you can have that thunder if you want it
Rose: When exactly is this supposed to happen?
Vriska: Soon!
Rose: And she's...
Unhurt?
Will she remember our brief encounter?
Vriska: This is a totally different Lalonde girl. Things went differently for her, so she'll have different memories.
I have no idea if you and she interacted at all in her timeline.
I don't know the full extent of John's alt-reality experiences either, but apparently things went raw for them in about as many ways as you can imagine.
Presumably because I wasn't around to keep everyone's shit in order.

Dialoglog

[Note: Tavrosprite speaks with Tavros’s hesitant quirk and inverse capitalization, but in dark blue that looks very similar to John’s.]

Tavrosprite: ohhhhhh, snap,!
Vriska: (smiley face with eight eyes)
Tavrosprite: ahaha, but yeah, I agree with the sentiment largely, of you being more competent, than most people in general, vriska, Vriska: Thanks, Tavros!
Tavrosprite: (smiley face with bull horns)
Karkat: hey, look
I know I'm not considered "important" enough to be "in the loop" on certain key tactical decisions anymore and that I don't really know what's going on most of the time and therefore am forced to take any bullshit that happens with a grain of snack mineral big enough to bludgeon a man to death but if it's not too much trouble vriska, maybe you could take a moment to explain why tavros is now a sprite?!
and equius too, and also, why equius is wearing a new pair of moronic looking sunglasses.
thanks in advance!!!
Vriska: Sorry if you're having trouble keeping up with the times, Karkat.
I didn't explain it because I thought the nature of the development was fairly self evident?
I mean, no offense, but I didn't hear anyone else voicing any confusion.
What about you, Kanaya. Did you think it was fairly self evident?
Kanaya: I Thought It Was Fairly Self Evident
Vriska: Yeah. See????????
Kanaya: You Apparently Took It Upon Yourself To Prototype The Three Year Old Cadavers Of Two Of Our Deceased Friends Karkat: no, I got that!
I'm not a fucking idiot.
I mean, where did you find these unprototyped kernels? Didn't these people already enter their session?
Vriska: yes, they did months ago, from the current frame of reference. But this is a void session, karkat.
I thought we talked about this?
Karkat: huh??????
Vriska: A void session by definition is one where the players enter the game with the kernels unprototyped.
As such, it becomes totally dysfunctional. It can't bear fruit, because there's no battlefield in Skaia, unless you go to the trouble of putting one there of course.
Which the Condesce has already done for us! Via "Grimbark Jade", prior to our arrival. Quite considerate of her, really.
This is aside from the point though. The bottom line is, this session comes courtesy with four unprototyped kernels, waiting to be put to use.
So, not being one to let a sweet perk go to waste, I took initiative and put two of them to use myself.
Really, this is some basic stuff, and I'm Sure we went over it all at one point during our trip.
Rose: We did.
Karkat, don't you remember when I walked everyone through this?
I was making extensive notes in my journal. When I looked away for a moment, you and Dave wrested the tome away, and began scribbling phalluses in it while giggling like children.
Karkat: um, maybe?!
I guess that rings a dong shouter.
Dave: (a what? Dude lmao) Karkat: (what? Shut up.)
look, a lot has happened in three years. We've all been through... Stuff.
am I really expected to remember every tedious morsel of exposition from our resident light-bores?
Vriska: Rose, get a load of this ungrateful philistine! He doesn't deserve our fucking acumen.
between your nerdish obsession over the knowledge granted by our aspect, and my unprecedented ability to weaponize said knowledge with ruthless gamesmanship, we are double-handedly saving the asses of everyone on this team.
Rose: I'm glad at least one person here appreciates this categorical certainty.
Kanaya: (Hey I Appreciate That Categorical Certainty!) Rose: (Whom do you think I was referring to?!) ;)
Karkat: wow ok, what the fuck ever to that vainglorious load of crap.
I'm still spouting off here!
I think
Vriska: That's fine, Karkat!
Take all the time you need to collect yourself, and continue frothing at the mouth whenever you're ready.
Karkat: ok, I figured out some stuff I'm still either pissed off and/or confused about.
you say there are four kernels here...
you know, we did lose more than two friends on that meteor.
which reminds me, I guess I should say... Hi tavros and equius, again??! Nice to see you guys back with us, sort of.
pardon me if I can't get too sentimental about the reunion, since along the way here, we ran into about ten different versions of your stupid ghosts.
that kind of lets a little air out of the poignancy balloon, sorry!
Tavrosprite: hey buddy, (winking face with bull horns)
Karkat: don't wink at me
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Greetings old friend (Shades and arrow) Not to worry, I have stored enough poignancy in my heaving, balloon-like pectorals for the both of us
Though I should clarify that approximately half of my personally couldn't give the faintest fidgeting horse dump about you or your sentimental notions
Also I am very busy here, so stop talking to me completely Vriska: Hahahaha!!!!!!!
Oh man. Classic.
Dave: haha...ha
Karkat: ok, that was weird?
Dave: (um... Yeah)
Karkat: and speaking of weird, one thing that bugs me about this is...
I guess it implies you've been hording the bodies of our dead friends for the past three years?! that's a bit fucked up! Even for you.
and not to get too macabre, but I would have thought they would have like, rotted by now or something.
Vriska: yes, there was some moderate decomposition.
I did my best to preserve them for the journey, after quickly rounding up the bodies while people had their backs turned.
Karkat: well shit
that's a hell of a mystery, that I always thought was a mystery, but found it too disturbing to contemplate solving but damn if it didn't just get solved, so that's fucked up.
Vriska: If you would stop being a wuss for a half second about a bunch of corpses, I'll explain my reasoning.
These are the only two sprites I had any intention of using for resurrection purposes.
I brought Tavros back, because let's face it, that was kind of my fault, for unnecessarily impaling him with his own lance and all.
It was my responsibility to make amends for that! So I did.
Tavrosprite: awwwwwwwwwwwwww, yeeaaaa-Vriska: Tavros, don't interrupt.
Tavrosprite: whoops,
Vriska: Then, I made Arquiusprite happen because, first of all, he's a national fucking treasure.
Literally every word he says is perfect and hilarious, and if I hear a single word to the contrary from the peanut gallery, the motherfucker with a beef rockets to the top of my shit list. So please, I enthusiastically invite one of you no-taste mouth breathers to talk smack about the A-man. Make my day!
Dave: vris yo nobodys arguing with you on that everybody here thinks hes pretty cool
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) (Triangle shades emoji)
Dave: like just enough freakshow steps removed from being my bro i guess enough to make me not feel like-Vriska: Dave, don't interrupt either.
Nobody's allowed to interrupt me when I'm talking up Arquiusprite! That's the rule.
Tavrosprite: (owned!) (wow, owned,) Dave: (oh s.t.f.u.)
Vriska: Second, the guy is a fucking tactical genius.
Totally conniving and calculating, and unafraid to use methods that are just a BIT morally dubious to achieve his objectives.
And since I can't stick around for too long, your party is going to need someone like that.
besides, it seems like a really fitting fate for Equius. He genuinely seems to be more comfortable with this state of existence, and seems a lot happier than I ever remember him being when he was alive.
So I'm perfectly willing to do him this solid. After all, he did help me out when I blew my arm off. So now we're square!
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) You mean triangular Vriska: What?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Triangular Vriska: I don't...
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) It's the shape of my clop danged glasses Vriska: Oh.
Oh!
Ahahahaha! See what I mean, guys??
He's a fucking riot!
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Agreed
Thank you for the Srrong endorsement, lowblood slash person I've never heard of and don't care about Vriska: Hahahaha!
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I'll be finished my work here momentarily Jake: Excuse me...
Mister arquius?
What exactly are you... doing to her?
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I am disabling her tiara top
It is extremely delicate work, not to be trusted to human hooves Vriska: Yes.
I've also decided it's imperative to reclaim Crocker from the Condesce before she can wake up and cause more trouble.
Her powers will be incredibly advantageous to winning the battle ahead. If you can keep her out of harm's way, in addition to providing her general purpose resorative capabilities, she also represents one extra life for everybody.
And since heroic deaths could be getting handed out like inexpensive tobacco flutes pretty soon, I'm guessing this boon is gonna come in handy!

[Image description: Vriska turns towards Terezi, who looks concerned.]

dialoglog
Terezi: so um
what about our other dead friends?
Vriska: huh?
Terezi: you know... Nepeta, eridan...
Vriska: oh right. Them.
I was getting to that!
Terezi: oh ok
I know we talked a lot of strategy in advance, vriska
but I really don't remember you mentioning a plan to prototype our friends' corpses might have been nice to get a heads up!
They're not to make a bad pun, on account of the fact that most of their heads were literally severed (frowning face with furrowed brows)
Vriska: yeah, sorry!
I had a lot of logistics buzzing around in my brain.
It's hard to keep you apprised of Everything that crosses my mind.
I promise I'll be as thorough and transparent about my motives as I can from now on, ok Pyrope?
Terezi: Ok (Smiley face with furrowed brows)
Vriska: So after prototyping Tavros and Equius, that leaves four remaining dead friends, but only two empty kernels.
Obviously this presents quite a dilemma!
Well, ok, technically three and a half friends, whatever the fuck that means.
Nepeta, Feferi, Eridan, and Sollux's... dead body? With his "half ghost" floating out there with Aradia.
I know that caveat sounds stupid as hell, but let's not get hung up on it.
The fact is, we've got four corpses, but only two slots remaining.
And there's no way I'm going to lump their bodies into the same sprite to make a pair of freaks resigned to an existential hell worse than death.
Except in Arquiusprite's case, since those two nutjobs mesh with each other's personalities so phenomenally.
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I must complimount the exquisite judgment you've shown in this matter
But if I may suggest, neigh, perhaps, command?
You should prototype the two royal bloods and be done with it
They deserve it
Vriska: No!!!!!!!!!
Arquius, your reservation is noted, but the hemospectrum is bullshit.
It's not going to factor into this decision!
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I Strongly disagree, but also, sort of don't care
As you were
Vriska: So considering there are four left, and I can't personally say that any is more deserving of life than the others, I intend to let them all rest in peace.
That is my ruling, and I'm inclined to call it final.
They can live out the rest of their afterlives in the dream bubbles, which still need to be saved from Lord English, lest we forget.
but of greater importance Here is the fact that this leaves two empty kernels as a resurrection backup, in case one or two of you jokers dies in the line of duty once too often.
believe me, you'll thank me later for thinking this all through so well in advance.
Terezi: ok, that's a good reason to have spare kernels, but...
maybe we should back up a bit!
I'm not sure your verdict on our dead friends is totally air tight, or that you have the authority to make a final ruling!
Vriska: Come on, Terezi. I'm not saying I'm an "authority" on mortality here, I only said my ruling was final because my logic was so impeccable!
It was kind of like, a figure of speech??
Terezi: yeah right
let's think it through a little more sollux's half ghost is perfectly happy out there with aradia we've seen him and confirmed it ourselves, so there's no reason to consider him and eridan???
he murdered feferi, and tried to kill kanaya and sollux!
he doesn't even deserve to be in the running but nepeta and feferi? What did they ever do to anybody?
Vriska: Yes, this is my point exactly!!!!!!!!!
I don't want to be the arbiter of Eridan's value as a person because of the mistakes he's made!
Or Feferi's or Nepeta's or Sollux's or Anybody's!
The only reason I chose these two over others is on account of taking responsibility for some nasty shit I Personally did, plus also some tactical considerations for the grater good, but that's different.
I would think you of all people would be on the same page as me when it comes to taking responsibility for your own actions, while in the same stride, not judging other people for their misdeeds too harshly.
but if you feel comfortable continuing to crown yourself as the Queen of Justice, then be my guest!
Terezi: oh give me a break
I think we both know the justice issues here are pretty cut and dried sollux wants to be where he is eridan is a murderous douche
the girls are innocent
I say we bring them back!
Vriska: Terezi, please. Let's not bicker in front of the party.
We need to be showing solidarity here!
Terezi: We do?
Vriska: Yes. We are equally important to the party as its overarching executives. The ones with the most experience in the department of guile and ruthlessness.
I may project my voice louder than you, and borrow the spotlight for a little longer, but you were always the soul of Team Scourge!
I couldn't be doing this without you. I wouldn't even want to!
Terezi: aw yeah, ok
you're right... I'm behind you all the way!
Vriska: (smiley face with eight eyes)
I stated my case, but if you Really want to revive them, that's fine with me.
I've got the torso parts with me right here, so feel free to round them up and prototype them any time.
Terezi: you do?
...Where?
Vriska: In the hunger trunk!
I've stashed all the spare remains there to keep them fresh, along with our, ahem. Final living party member.
Terezi: huh?
Gamzee: honk
Terezi: oh
ohhhhh
hmm
wow, yeah
I think, um
I think I'll revive them... A little later?
yeah.
later.
Vriska: Suit yourself!

Dave: so
am i inferring correctly from some shit i just heard that uh Terezi: inferring what?
Dave: that vriska is like the de facto team leader now or vriska and terezi...
i dunno i never understood the scourge shit you two have always been like this scheming giggling enigma huddled together in peapod for hella self-tickled murderdorks couldn't for the life of me figure out what you've been getting up to on that meteor is this it
Terezi: is what it??
Dave: the plan you were hatching all along is this like your big move your power play to usurp karkat as team leader finally Vriska: Oh brother.
Dave, no, this isn't a coup. It's just common sense rearing its ugly head for a change.
Dave: oh got it
Vriska: Good.
Dave: wait no dont got it
Vriska: Argh!
Dave: it sounds like you're just like being the leader now cause you want to and making all the plans because nobody else wants to or really cares i mean not that i even care either i just want to set the record straight karkat are you cool with this Vriska: Sigh. (blank face with eight eyes)
Dave: karkat
karkat
karkat
yo karkat
Karkat: what!!!!!!
Dave: oh my god
dude were you just not listening to any of that Karkat: to what?
what
what's happening now?
Dave: hahaha
man how long have you been tuning all this shit out
I mean I literally just said I don't give a fuck about any of the shit vriska is saying so maybe I'm not one to talk but at least I had the decency to actually be joking about that what the fuck are you even doing Karkat: sorry!
yeah, sorry, I'm guilty!
I zoned out on some of serket's self important blither, and was carrying a private conversation with the mayor.
is that ok??
Dave: dude you dont have to get the go ahead from me shoring up a lil one on one time with the mayor is literally always acceptable what were you talking about Karkat: it's private!
Dave: I didn't hear you mumbling anything though Karkat: we were mostly communicating through a series of simple gestures
I was talking smack about certain people here, and chose to remain discreet about it!
Dave: no yeah I know what thats all about how when you talk to the mayor and most of the time words aren't even necessary like he just knows man the mayor is just so wonderful I love him so much hey lets all take turns hugging him Karkat: no!
that's fucking stupid, just what were you saying? When I was spacing out just then?
Dave: oh nothing really just wondering how you felt about vriska usurping your leadership role and if maybe you wanted to throw a vintage shitfit about that or...
Karkat: oh!
oh!!!!
haha!
ahahahahahaha!!!
that's a good one dave!
wow! Haha, ha, hahahaha! Me leader?? Too funny!
I am entirely and singularly baffled that it could still even occur to anyone to entertain the notion that I might still be playing any role even within sniffing orbit of a leadership position of this ridiculous party.
when was the last time I did anything of a leader-like nature, without being trumped by vriska's machiavellian limelight gluttony?
or for that matter, when was the last time there was actually anything leadery to do, that didn't involve snuggling up on the couch to watch "good luck chuck" for the five hundredth time?!
I have seriously just been assuming her complete takeover of all leadership duties was some fait accompli shit for three solid years, and have since been enjoying the peace and quiet of zero responsibilities, which is why quite frankly, I have been able to keep my blood pressure down, and now resemble the living embodiment of peace and fucking tranquility which presently basks before you in a state of frothing, euphoria-hobbled turdvana!!!!!!!!!
Dave: ok so vintage shitfit it is Vriska: karkat, that was a beautiful soliliquy of acceptance and understanding of your role, due to acknowledgement of your overwhelming personal limitations.
but be that as it may, you still actually do need to be paying attention here, so you can keep up with the plan.
while I may be the leader now, this may be the last day I see any of you for a very long time.
someone's going to need to step up when I'm gone!
Karkat: alright serket, then I'll make this a lot easier for you, and the team as a whole.
starting now, I hereby renounce my role as a leader of this group, or any, forever!
vriska along with her tactical virtuousity and monstrous ego are more than suited for the role.
and if, when, and to wherever she eventually decides to fuck off for mysterious, yet-to-be-explained reasons, then anybody else who feels inclined can slide right into that position, so long as it isn't me!!!

you were as much the beneficiary of your future self's crafty schemes as I was.

I never got a chance to thank you for knocking me out a few years ago. I mean... obviously?
because I was unconscious.
but thanks for that. I was being an idiot, and deserved it.
And as a bonus, it apparently saved my life???????? So, thanks.

like
the guy was always on borrowed time wasn't he i mean that was his whole "thing" right
John: i dunno.
i'll miss him anyway, even if he isn't the "real dave".
i kinda feel bad for ever thinking of him as a less real version, actually.
Dave: yeah hes me and exactly what i would be like if i was a moping existential bird so its kind of embarrassing to even talk about ok
i guess it is ""sad"" but you know a lot of versions of me have died lots of versions of all of us including you isn't what's important that certain dubiously categorized iterations of ourselves are all alive here and now and hanging out John: yeah, that is what's important!
i guess there will be time to reflect on everything that was lost later, like dead time clones and double dead ghosts, or other such hogwash.
right now i'm still so excited to see everybody.
there's so much crazy stuff for us all to catch up on...
John: i don't even know where to start, it's overwhelming!
Dave: dont stress over it we still have some time to kill before shit starts getting real in this session at least according to our vriska in chief
John: what do you mean?
Dave: all the bad guys are still just outside the incipisphere they wont converge here until a few hours or so so lets all just sit back a while and shoot the shit and i do mean empty our clips into the shit, like really pump that turd full of lead right up until she gets bossy again and commandeers our fly brotimes with more shrill tactical exhortations
John: ok, that sounds great!

At the top of the screen, text flashes red and yellow. Choose your characters!!

Click the box in the top left that shows John, Dave, and Karkat after you’ve read the caption.]

You are confronted with an especially empowering Character selection menu. Eight choices???????? Free will has done it again. It has caused you to feel alarmed and anxious. But maybe, just maybe, slightly excited as well. You cautiously click on a batch of teens to discover your true feelings.

Eight possible options is actually Kind of a Lot, now that you think about it. It may be easy to forget to click some of them. To make absolutely sure you've clicked on all teen batches before proceeding, you check to see if all the links below are purple first. If any of them are blue, it means you didn't read those, and you probably should before continuing. Wow, free will sure is a lot of responsibility and hard work.

John: so tell me about your ridiculous meteor journey!
Dave: um
John: the dave from the bad time line told me some funny stories when we got together on the grassy hill planet but we weren't actually hanging out for that long, so I didn't hear much.
also, I'm mostly sure vriska wasn't alive during their trip.
Dave: oh well let me tell you vriska was most certainly alive during this one like almost extra-alive, if that's possible
John: haha.
I think I know what you mean.
I spent some time with her when she was a ghost, and uh...
let's just say whatever her mortality status is, she makes her presence hard to ignore.
Karkat: yes. Yes!
I love this.
can we spend our whole reminiscence just destroying vriska, slightly above audible level?
Vriska: slightly?
karkat, you only have one volume setting.
Karkat: wow, fuck you?!
Dave: ok dude maybe lets not spend our paltime trash talking serket if only cus theres no way you're not getting repeatedly trounced exactly just like that Karkat: ffffffffffyeah.
yeah, you're right.
ok, I'll chill out. You're right dave, as usual.
John: wow.
karkat, for a funny shouty guy, you backed down on that really fast.
I'm almost... A bit disappointed?
I was looking forward to more of your patented ravings!
Karkat: hey, john fuckbert, I'll have you know I'm a little more mature and reasonable than the last time you saw me.
I'm a lot more than mr. Hollersponge one-note, and anyone who disputes this can cordially invite me to play their dirty seed flap like a discount harmonica.
John: oh. Well, I'm sold.
Karkat: seriously though, it's pretty cool to finally meet you. I mean, under more civil, rational circumstances.
unlike whatever the fuck that brief encounter was three years ago where you k.o.'d vriska and then poofed your flimsy ass into the fuckall continuum.
I know I seemed really mad about that at the time, for whatever reason.
but really, I've had sooooo many boring hours on that meteor to spend barely reflecting on the roughly ten thousand ways I don't give the slightest fuck about whatever idiotic twist of fate transpired back there.
John: heheh. Ok?
Karkat: I'm completely over it.
I'm over a lot of things actually.
John: ... You are?
Karkat: yeah.
like, remember back when I was yelling at you all the time from my computer.
back then I probably would have felt nervous or awkward about this encounter.
because of... Well, you know.
John: no?
Karkat: I was hitting on you briefly, and in a very confusing non-chronological way, without even quite realizing how badly I was shoving my strut pod down my own statement tunnel.
Dave: dude
Karkat: I mean, until you mercifully and with a fair amount of tact shut me down.
don't you remember?
John: uh...
maybe?
Karkat: how can you not remember that?
John: I dunno, it was a long time ago!
and we had a lot of ridiculous conversations...
Karkat: ok, well maybe it was a bigger deal for me than it was for you.
I mean, obviously it was, that's sort of the whole point.
but the real point is, or that I was trying to make, is that it isn't a big deal any more.
because I'm over it!
Dave: karkat what the fuck are you doing
Karkat: what!
I'm talking, quite casually, about some shit that's not a big deal.
and the point is that it's not a big deal anymore, so I'm just casually saying that! God.
Dave: ok its not an unreasonable conversation to have but like we just started friend-jamming about past anecdotes to get us all up to speed or whatever and you're already trucking out these guns Karkat: guns? What guns!
Dave: just sayin, it doesn't sound that casual and no big deal if you keep saying its casual and no big deal oh and also its the first fuckin thing out of your mouth to john in three years Karkat: sorry!
I'm so truly fucking sorry. I forgot there was such an outstandingly smooth pile of shit in a cape within my judgment radius!
John: no, I mean, I think I remember.
I think you were um, "black flirting" with me or something, but in backwards order, and while constantly yelling.
and I didn't really even know what that was.
and then I told you I wasn't a homosexual, so it was kind of a moot point, but also, you didn't even know what that was either?
Karkat: yes!
that's basically what happened and that is exactly what I was trying to say I was over, and wasn't a big deal anymore, but now it's a big deal again I guess?
that's fucking great! Thanks dave!
Dave: yo im hardly one to talk here since I am a goddamn geyser of hilariously self-pulverizing freudian bloopers
at this point I can't even pretend to keep a lid on any shit I've got in me cause I know sooner or later during one of my rad soliloquies I'll just pratfall butt backwards into an embarrassing admission and I just have to be like yeah... Yeah ok thats my shit thats what I'm about lets just get the fuck on with our lives
so when johns like hey man and you're all locked and loaded with some stuff about how you're 'over him' and go on and on about it its like some way obvious protest-too-much shit and everybody knows it so I don't see how it salvages any of your dignity or whatever to pretend that's not what's happening
Karkat: oh my fucking god...
Dave: so what I'm saying is if you're so eager to push this out there-Karkat: I'm not "pushing this out there"!
Dave: if you're pushing this out there which you are then maybe we should rap about it
I mean discuss it critically and earnestly not drop ill rhymes or anything tho that could be sweet too Karkat: uehrng.
Dave: so are you sure you still don't have these unreconciled blackrom feelings about john
I say we air this out before it ferments into some rank and hella unexamined feeling sauce
John: dave, I think you're making karkat uncomfortable!
are you being a wise guy and trying to make us uncomfortable?
Dave: no!
I don't do that to bros that's huge uncool
I don't see what has to be uncomfortable about chattin out our true as thoughts and emotions Karkat: yeuurrhghh.
Dave: dude you clearly had a spades thing for John but I don't recall you ever bringing it up is this something you been thinking about all this time or Karkat: no!
not... Not really
Dave: yeah we coulda talked about this
I have all kinds of shit to say about john seeing as he was my number I dude for approximately the majority of 13 years
the main dead end here man is like, nothing personal at all its just that he is literally incapable of hating anyone Karkat: I know that!
that is the exact fucking thing I knew and understood, and why I felt so stupid about it in hindsight!
John: well...
not that I really want to egg on this train of thought, but I dunno if that's quite true.
Karkat: it's not?
John: i can get really angry and hate stuff too, just like you. but i think only in extreme cases?
the skull guy in suspenders i got Really pissed off at...
but i am a hundred percent sure that hate was platonic!
Dave: gettin pissed off at a suspender dude sounds like just the sort of yarn i wanna be all ears for some time but ok thats something to work with hey karkat maybe theres some hope yet maybe its not a total lost cause Karkat: Nergh!
John: ok, dave, it definitely sounds like you're trying to own us now!
Dave: own
what no way
im being real as a motherfucker
John: being able to hate things i think is...
the smaller part of that equation?
what about the other part? don't you think that's, uh...
a little more significant?
Dave: what part
John: the part about not being a homosexual!!!
Dave: john dude i gotta say when you talk about being or not being "a homosexual" you kinda sound like a corny old man John: what! why?
no, that's a normal way of putting it!
i mean... it's a pretty normal thing to say, right? when that's... how... you are?
Karkat: somebody fucking kill me.
Dave: what does normal mean though normal was some crap that ruled our dead civilization we left that behind years ago its all a huge pile of shit that doesnt matter anymore John: oh. kay?
so then, you're saying...
what are you saying?
Dave: im not sure i guess
John: ...
Dave: ok i guess what im saying is dont think its all as simple as you think it is or maybe not like Actively think it is but continue to assume it is on account of Not thinkin about it much
Dave: due to a lot of junk about the subject that gets shoved into our brains from movies and stuff while we were just dumb kids
John: i, hm.
Dave: im just saying it probably isnt as absolute or simplistic as the way youve been framing it or maybe it is for you personally i dont know im just guessing you havent spent much time thinking about it if only cause all the stuff we read and watch suggests that like even examining your honest thoughts about it is perilous road to go down cause if you actually think too much about it without always having that undercurrent of haha nope nope nope Then what happens what if it turns out youre like...
John: ...like?
Dave: like not exactly the way you thought you were or maybe not so much that, as old presumptions about what you were turn out to be not that relevant?
Karkat: (why. Why are these words happening to our conversation.)
Dave: i dunno man not sure what youve been doing the last 3 years all riding a large boat, then saving everyone from apocalyptic whatever but ive had a fuck ton of time on my hands to think about stuff about stuff ive said and done in the past why i said and did them a lot of things i once would have insisted were like part of my brand and helped me come across cool and smartassy but now im not so sure we used to rip on each other all the time for being gay even though we knew we werent which of course is what made it "funny" remember
John: yeah.
i dunno, it was pretty funny, sometimes.
it was just a lot of joking around!
Dave: yeah I know
It frankly is funny to say how gay something is sometimes and lets face it sometimes someone or something is just flat out really fucking gay and theres no two ways about it its more like that through the preponderance of all that jokey shit is an underlying implication that its all lame stuff for pansies but not like us no were not lame and ha ha thats the joke which thrives on this like double-buried implication that the real cool shit is founded on this absurd wanky ideal about masculinity which if you think about it is 1. Dumb as fuck 2. The male adulation of masculinity to that extent to be honest is pretty fucking gay unto itself and 3. was always some totally impossible shit for us to live up to anyway i think all thats mixed up with the same phony ideals about heroism like living up to the storybook idea of what a hero to me feels almost interchangeable with living up to societys snapshot of what a hard manly dude should be i stopped pretending i could ever live up to either thing a while ago and mainly have spent time looking back on the sheer magnitude of all my "joking around" i used to lambaste fuckers left and right grinding them into the pavement over how gay they probably were and how much they were quite possibly jonesin to kiss some dudes or such and i dont really feel bad about it in the sense that it was jerky or like "insensitive" necessarily even though i guess it maybe was more that i feel like it was probably transparent a massive front of outrageous snark to disguise a lot of insecurity like a fuckin coverup as long as i kept clowning hard about it i didnt actually have to think about it or face my actual beliefs John: dave, um.
all that's cool and all, and... i think i mostly agree?
but...
umm... how do i put this.
are you...
are you gay now?
Dave: what no
Karkat: (the words. Why won't the words stop. Dear god.)
John: i dunno, it sounds to me like you're trying to tell me something here!
Dave: man no look
John: i mean, it's ok if you're gay now!
that's totally cool, if true.
i just think...
you turning gay would be kind of a weird consequence of me changing the time line around?
ik, not "weird"...
just, unexpected!
i dunno what i did that would account for that.
maybe saving one of terezi's plush toys did some goofy homosexual butterfly effect thing on you?
jezz, who knows!
Dave: dude you aren't listening although a gay butterfly effect is a pretty funny idea lets not dismiss that as a concept altogether anyway maybe what im tryin to say is sorta getting lost in the weeds here the fact that you were wondering if i "turned gay" makes me think maybe you're still not quite on the wavelength im tryin to ramble on here maybe we should wrestle this topic to the ground another time, there's a lot more id wanna say but this is probably not the venue
i mean not literally wrestle to the ground because that is maybe literally the gayest course of action
we could possibly take but you know what i mean Karkat: (yes! Later! Talk later, because then the words would stop! Oh wouldn't that be lovely.)
John: that's fine, we can talk about anything you want, any time.
i'm just still confused about what you're getting at, is all.
like, what is the bottom line here?
are you actually attracted to boys now?
do you...
um.
did you...
like, date any boys?
Dave: uh
John: but there weren't even that many boys on the meteor?
well, there's the clown guy, but i don't really see you and him...
that really only leaves...
un, were you and karkat...
are you and karkat, like.
hmm.

Karkat: no, no, no, no, no, no, no.
I retreat to my safe place, and yet the words. The stupid fucking prattle jockeying like rowdy barnbeasts up against the partitions of good fucking sense and the most basic of personal boundaries.

the god damned blither of tactless nincompoops, how it continues to haunt my wretched ears. The words spill over the side of this enchanted metal frog discus, like a babbling spring in a mythical forest governed by a guild of gossip-hungry lobotomy hobbits. This deluge of words, leaked from the incontinent crevices of two brainless gushing yammertwats, it overfloweth, oh how it overfloweth, sogging my gray, practical pair of pants, the leggings of a simple man. A humble man. It then continues its downward trickle, dousing my unremarkable shirt, the serviceable garment of your average alternian "joe", chilling the frail torso beneath, a pathetic duffel of meat wracked with heavy sobs, sobs caused by words, words which continue to drip. And sleuce. And spill. Threatening to drown me. Pledging to. Promising! And yet I will not drown. Why won't I drown? Please let me drown. Let me drown so the words will be no more!

John: dave, i'm pretty sure we're making karkat uncomfortable now.

Dave: its true
hes pretty much the easiest dude to rip on and makes for an irresistible target but you also have to know where to draw the line really dont wanna actually you know like upset him
John: yeah, me neither.

um...

what the fuck is he doing?

Dave: um anyway
as you can see ive been spending probably way too much time with trolls
John: ha ha.
Dave: it messes with you gets you thinkin about... stuff
you know?
John: i can imagine.
i think life was a lot more boring on the ship.
but we talked about you all a lot!
we would always wonder how you and rose were managing to get along with all those crazy trolls.
John: i think mostly we pictured a lot of arguments.
Dave: thats not too far off
John: i'm still getting used to having such insane, limitless powers that let me go anywhere i want...
it's tempting to go to time periods like yours and find out what i missed.
but i don't want to mess with too much anymore, since it seems like i got the time line to a nice stable place as it is.
so i guess i just have to do what any regular guy does, and imagine fondly what it would be like if i got to travel with you guys.
i wonder if i would have gotten like... absorbed in troll culture too? or troll ways of thinking.
Dave: its really inevitable
you pick up the lingo they pick up yours its like a stupid cultural melange after a while that barely makes any sense from either frame of reference
John: i wonder if i would have learned to understand black romance?
it's such a goofy idea, but it seems pretty important to trolls.
Dave: they take all their quadrants pretty seriously tbh
John: yeah.
years ago when we first met the trolls, i remember being pretty fascinated by all our cultural differences, when karkat and vriska were telling me about them.
i remember really sincerely trying to understand it all from their point of view! it's hard though.
i still think about the idea of black romance sometimes, and try to imagine how that really works... or "feels"... i don't know.
do you understand it?
Dave: yeah ive spent enough time talkin about it where i think i "get it" but ive never had cause or any real inclination to put it into practice or anything John: mainly the idea of hating somebody, and translating that into attraction, or some kind of romancey feeling... it feels so alien to me.
and you're right, i have a really hard time even hating anyone in the first place!
Dave: word
John: i mean, i get Annoyed by people, sure.
Dave: like who
me?
John: no, not really.
well, sometimes, but not much. i always tended to exaggerate my grievances with you, for the sake of laughs.
Dave: heheh
John: a better example is, more recently, when i was doing my retcon mission...
i was getting Really annoyed with terezi and her mind games.
Dave: yuuup
John: it definitely never crossed the line to "hate" though, because we were working together to try and fix a dire situation, and even though she's weird and insane, she's otherwise a pretty good friend.
but all her needling and japes at totally inappropriate times, when there was so much on the line...
argh, it was so frustrating.
Karkat: egbert, I have news for you.
Dave: whoa hes back!
all right side up and everything
Karkat: I heard you were talking about quadrants, so I decided to pause my tantrum.

John, all you're doing here is describing the subtle feelings which plant the seed for having a caliginous crush on someone.

John: what??

Karkat: you heard me.

you are naively admitting to struggling with some black feelings for terezi.

so, there you go. Question answered.

turns out you are perfectly capable of black romance.

John: n... No!

Karkat: a fair rebuttal. However, consider this counterpoint:

y... Yes???

John: but I don't hate her, and I'm sure I never will!

I'm just saying I find her, like, somewhat annoying, and really aggravating a lot of the time, but that's it!

Karkat: but that's exactly what the feeling is!

it doesn't start out as full blown antipathy, and it rarely even reaches such an extreme level of hostility even over long term black relationships.

there are peaks to it, but otherwise a general ebb and flow to the dark feelings, just like with flushed relationships.

John: ok, but...

I don't know if I'm expressing myself clearly.

I felt aggravated by her a lot, but that doesn't fully describe... like, there were those "negative" feelings, but also...

but...

Karkat: yeah, that's it, right there!!!

the "but" is always part of it.

what you're trying to say is, you had frustrated, negative emotions toward her, but they don't comprehensively account for your attitude toward her.

meaning, there are some things about her you actually like, but the negative feelings make it hard for you to put your finger on them, or even want to acknowledge them.

that is absolutely standard. What good would it be having a kismesis who didn't possess qualities you actually admired on some level?

that would be boring, and it wouldn't even work. There'd be no tension, no push and pull in the turbulent emotional landscape. The subtle positives add fuel to the negative feelings, often giving them a reason to exist at all. They inflame the aggravating factors, reminding you deep down how much you would like and admire this person if it wasn't for all their infuriating flaws, and the incredible sense of frustration that causes along with all the associated hot-headed feelings, that's the essence of black romance.

and the positive qualities you see deep down in a kismesis also serve as the basis for red feelings toward that person, assuming the relationship ever starts to vacillate.

it's all pretty straightforward, really.

John: no... This is messed up!

Dave: I dunno john it all sounds pretty logical to me

Karkat knows his shit when it comes to quadrants

John: argh!

it can't be true though...

it feels so fucked up!

what if you're right though... Erg! No...

no, no, no, no...

Karkat: that's part of it too!

the "no no no" is all part of the feeling. That's how it always goes.

this sense of self incrimination when it's dawning on you that you have these conflicting feelings toward someone who bugs you so much.

oh my god, this whole reaction is so fucking textbook. It's hilarious, really.

John: it's fucked up though!!!

Karkat: it's supposed to feel fucked up!

John: aw, man. (frowning face)

i just wanted to have a nice catch-up chat, not get so transparently owned at the trollmances.

Dave: it happens to the best of us sooner or later this crap is kind of old hat to me by now but i get why you're kinda freckling at the implications here you didn't have years of livin with trolls to kinda normalize this stuff

John: i don't think i want it to feel normalized though!

i'm not ready to...

like, admit that... i have some warped spade crush on her, based on...

some feeling i don't understand and makes no sense to me!

oh god... what if it's true??

i have to try as hard as i can to suppress this feeling and make sure i never think about it again!

Dave: ok sounds like a weenie thing to do but sure have fun with that John: fuck.

yeah, probably.

just...

please don't tell her about any of this, ok guys?

Karkat: john, you don't have to remind us about one of the most fundamental statutes of the bro code, which is practically fucking scripture on my planet, dating back hundreds of millenia.

dave and i fucking sleep and breathe the bro code and all of its clauses, no matter how fine the print.

feel free to come and talk to us about this any time. Your secrets will always be safe.

Dave: dude that sentiment is well and good but when you're pledging a vow of secrecy maybe you should try to keep it down a little Karkat: damn. Yeah.

sorry.

John: this is really confusing though.

assuming you're right, and i am "busted" on having those feelings... and i'm not even saying you aren't.

but...

i thought humans weren't supposed to be able to feel stuff like that?

Karkat: like what exactly?

John: like, perceive and feel romantic stuff, in the same way trolls do.

because we're aliens to each other!

well ok, humans can feel the gay stuff pretty often, i guess.

i didn't think we could feel the spade stuff, though.

i dunno, i just thought it was some screwy biological difference?

Dave: nah i disagree

both humans and trolls are emotionally versatile sentient beings that can feel many hells of different things

John: you're probably right.
you would know better than me, at least.
Dave: thats always a smart fallback position btw especially on rap
i could school you on rap too are you confused about rap
John: no dave, i think i'm pretty squared away on rap.
at least for now. (tongue sticking out face)
Dave: so uh
this has been a hell of a reminiscence so far
John: yeah...
Dave: seriously though i wasnt actually intending to fork this like instantaneously in the direction of some like legitimately sincere dialogue on fuckin sexuality and romance
i didn't plan on this dude you gotta believe me John: i believe you!
it's been cool though.
Dave: yeah
did we cover everything
John: um...
probably not?
oh, right.
you dated jade for a while, so there's that.
Dave: whoa what
John: i mean, dave sprite did.
Dave: oh
John: and of course i mean, the one from my time, obviously not the one from this time, who died i guess before that happened.
Dave: right
John: man, that still just seems... so sad.
i guess even when you fix things, not everything can be perfect.
Dave: yeah
so howd that go me and jade
or... him and jade
John: ok, i guess.
my sense was, it was kind of dramatic overall.
i'm not sure it was the best relationship, probably because of dave sprite's uh...
John: "unique issues".
Dave: hmm
John: but there were a lot of fun memories.
i'll tell you about them some time. maybe when jade is awake, because i'm sure she'd want to know too!
Dave: yeah

John: roxy?

whats she like John: she's nice!!! really nice.
she is fun and easy to talk to...
it almost feels like she has always been one of our friends, you know?
Dave: yeah
how uh
how long have you and she actually been traveling together John: umm...
not too long.
we only met like a day ago, i mean, from my perspective.
Dave: huh
John: she's been through some really difficult stuff recently.
well, we both have, actually.
but i feel like it was all... a bit more personal for her?
being on her adventure, then suddenly losing all her friends, and watching rose die right there, while she'd been kinda viewing rose as a version of her mom... i was just some goofball drifting randomly here and there between realities, so i was mostly just confused by everything.
but for her, i could tell it was all really devastating.
i'm so happy she gets to be with rose again!!!!!!!!
not to mention all her other friends!
for some reason i feel happier for her getting to reunite with people she lost than i do for myself.
Dave: it sounds like you like her
John: i do!
Dave: no i mean actually like her
John: oh.
... uh, hm.
i don't know.
maybe.
Dave: wow dude after one day maybe you should slow your roll
John: i didn't say i did though!!!
Dave: im joking its fine who cares
John: oh, ok.
Dave: shes my mom isnt she John: man.
i'm not sure if we should keep thinking about all our relations that way.
Dave: why
John: it's kinda weird!
Dave: is it
John: ...
Dave: do you feel weird about dating my mom is that it
John: i'm not dating her though!
Dave: but if you did then you wouldn't wanna think of her like that because of like the familial weirdtimes it invokes John: jeez.
i don't know. i...
i don't know if i'm ready for every single "deep" conversation we can squeeze into this wacky rapid fire session of fun pal-talk!
Dave: ok
but i think i like thinking of her as my mom
even if its a lil weird
John: you do?
why?
Dave: not sure
i never even stopped and thought about it before the idea of what it would be like to have a mom instead of a hyper-aggressive lunatic of an adult male guardian
i never let myself give it a second of consideration but now seeing her actually here even though shes just some teen girl i never met i like the idea
its nice
John: ...
ok, that's actually kind of cute.
Dave: yeah
yeah i guess it kind of fucking is John: alright, well.
no matter what happens, it's ok with me if you want to think of her that way. (smiley face)
Dave: sweet

Roxy: haha im sorry
Rose: Sorry about what?
for stammering an all being an agog grinning idiot i just cannot....
actually believe u are real and here and alive and not dying and so am i!
here with u i mean plus sharin all those mentioned attributes
Rose: I can't believe it either!
Roxy: i have so much to say...
i think???
even though i cant think of the stuff a.t.m.
Rose: I know what you mean.
Roxy: i hope its ok if i just sit near u not bein 'specially articulate for a bit Rose: That is more than ok.
As long as you are willing to similarly excuse the spectacular demise of my capacity for artful self-expression.
Roxy: omg!!!!
ahahah youre dirk!
wow wow i just caught it wow wow wow!
you sound So much like him oh my God thats too perf and cute (smiling cat face)

Rose: Dirk?
Roxy: hahah i cant get over it now i cant unhear it... even your voice sounds kinda like his but its just... girl dirk I'mo woow yes (heart)

Rose: He sounds like a hell of a guy.
Roxy: ooh u have noo idea

Rose: Well, I'm told he should be arriving here in a little while.
If he's anything like Dave's late older brother, and if he's anything like me, which he apparently is, then this is when I'm guessing the real party will begin.

Roxy: im redy (smiley face wearing a party hat)

Rose: I want to know things about him.
Such as, if he shares his elder counterpart's avarice for soft puppet ass.
And if that, combined with his myriad, vaguely unsettling psychological peculiarities, could occupy a dedicated team of therapists for years.

Roxy: the answer is yes and yes

Rose: Hmm.
Knowing this amuses me, for some reason.
But mainly, there are things I want to know about you.
I presume there will be plenty of time later to hound my biological father for the dirt on his proclivities.

Roxy: whatta ya wanna know about me?

Rose: Everything!
I think the main difficulty in deciding what to ask is in sifting questions I would have for my mother, that is to say, the woman who raised me, from the questions I have for you.

Roxy: well i didnt raise u or anything but i can sincerely take a crack at both kindsa questions

Rose: Ok.
Do...
You really like wizards?

Roxy: rose
Rose: Yes?
Roxy: rooose

Rose: ...

Roxy: i fucken

Love wizzards

Rose: I see.
As odd as it sounds, that actually does go pretty far in letting me know something about both of you.

Roxy: oh?

Rose: My relationship with her was complicated.
Rose: But I've come to see that as mostly my fault. I was too young to understand her.

Roxy: i never even got the chance to misunderstand my mom or grownup you or... i mean i didnt get to misunderstand her in person more like as a legendary figure cause i grew up 300 years after she died

Rose: Ah, right.
I think I'm going to have to call the contest early. Yours is the more interesting biography, by quite Roxy: not really!
not to me at least... i was lonely
i thought about her a lot to pass the time she was p amazing at least according to history she wrote hella books about wizards and rode a genocidal fat man down a waterfall of blood Rose: She wrote hella books about wizards?
Roxy: yeh!
they were famous n good and everything
Rose: It sounds like I fumbled into the wrong line of work.
There's no money in this Sburb business.
Well, there is. It just comes in incredibly stupid denominations, which are not particularly useful.
Kanaya: Do You Have Copies Of These Books
Roxy: ummmm yes!
yes i do there are copies back on my planet assuming john didnt retcon them away like a book thiefin sneak!
Kanaya: I Would Really Love To Read Them Some Time If You Wouldnt Mind
Roxy: no not at all!
Rose: By the way, this is Kanaya.
Sorry for the combination of bad manners and general dumbfoundedness which precluded a more timely introduction.
Kanaya: Hello
Rose: hey!
that's a nice name and also ur pretty Kanaya: Thank You
I Admire The Aesthetics Of Your Name And Appearance As Well And In No Small Part Due To Their Respective Similarity To Your Daughters
Roxy: wow man that was somehow both a convoluted thing to say yet smooth as hell m impressed Rose: Welcome to Maryam City, population, a whole lot of great remarks like that.
Roxy: but yes ill get u those books!
they're great they made me wanna write my own wizard books
Rose: Did you?
Roxy: errr
yeah sorta (uncertain face)
Rose: Could I read them?
Roxy: ummmm
Rose: Hey, you got to read mine!
Roxy: yeah but u were like an old pro when u wrote yours!
they are freaking Masterpiece wizardfics!!!
they won pulitzers and shit
Rose: Did they really??
Roxy: um idk probably?
Rose: Oh.
Roxy: i dunno they are just vry vry good so the ancient prize scholars im sure were like, dude these wizards are vry vry fucking good give them all the awards, then shut down the awards, but not cuz of the looming apocalypse, just cuz u literally cannot do better than these wizards Rose: I can live with that.
It's always been one of my professional goals to write tales of magical men so provocative, they would cause the permanent and unceremonious dissolution of at least one prestigious award.
Roxy: so yeah i dunno i guess u can see but its a pale ghost of a story compared to ur stuff and its also um kinda weird?
Rose: I like weird!
Roxy: yeah
just... your opinion means a lot to me & im nervous u might think it sucks!
Rose: But I never even wrote the masterpieces you read.
I think you may have a view of my abilities which I haven't earned yet.
Really, I'm not that good.
I have my own story drafts which you can read if you like.
They're nothing special, frankly.
Roxy: o really??
aw man ok then that sounds fun! (smiley face)

she was a dear precious soul
Kanaya: Hmm
Roxy: she was my sprite
guess she never happened in this version of stuff though?
dang
thats sad but maybe not quite as sad as her existing then exploding?
im confuse
wonder what even else is different...
Well, you died too.
i did?
Rose: Yes, while pushing me out of the way of a fork.
So, thank you for that, retroactively. And... to a different version of you.
Roxy: jeez
yeah i... had a really similar thing happen in my timeline... also involving a fork and even tho youre ok now its still almost too sad to even talk about Rose: Yeah.
We didn't get to exchange even a single word before you were gone.
All I could think was, "How can this be happening again?"
Luckily the sense of misery was short lived, though.
It wasn't long before I was informed the incident was part of something bigger taking shape.
And that John was on his way with a different version of you.
I had no idea what "a different version" actually entailed, but I wasn't about to quibble.
I was so relieved.
Roxy: same
altho...
instead of waiting for you to come back i had to jump thru all these hoops with john and went through some uh different stuff
i uh
i may have thrown an impromptu funeral for your alt-u dead body (gasping face)
Rose: You did?
Roxy: yup
sorry if that sounds weird and i knew i was comin to meet a new version of you
but it helped me with like feelings about people i left behind Rose: A funeral...
Wow, that,
Roxy: ?
Rose: Sorry for this, if it comes off as odd, but,
That is so "mom" of you.

Rose: M-hm.

Rose: I don't mean to be too analytical about getting to know you, really. I guess comparisons are little hard for me to avoid, since the adult version of you played such a significant role in my life. So I can't help seeing the similarities when they are there. But also you are so clearly your own person, shaped by your own experiences, and that is the person I would prefer to get to know, rather than a young avatar for the memory of a departed parent. Yet this is the context which somewhat inescapably colors my perception of what you reveal. So while some observations are in the vein of predictable, charmingly so, mind you... Others I regard as surprising.
Roxy: what about me is surprising?
Rose: Well. You aren't, You don't quite seem like a person who...
Er.
Roxy: .....?
Rose: I don't want to ask anything that would sound rude to you, or spiteful to her. Because I don't feel that conflicted about this anymore. Particularly since I had my own troubles with it. So it would be pretty hypocritical.
Roxy: conflicted about what?
Rose: Let me back up a little. It was a long ride on that meteor. One experiences things over a few years, given a lot of time to think. Changes and such. About half way through, I started thinking more... About mom. And about you. Knowing that I'd probably meet you, and. I don't know. Live up to the experience? It's silly, but I'm guessing you understand what I mean.
Roxy: (smiley face)
Rose: Basically, I was just nervous. And it was all mixed up with feelings of conflict and remorse over my mother. Who, to my hazy preteen recollection, never wasted a day in my life on sobriety. She and her habit put all those days to quite effective use, actually. And I don't even quite remember the thought process that led to this, but, I sort of ran with it too? The habit, I mean. For a while at least.
I was still distraught about losing her. And wanted to understand her. To connect with her, in some way. And I guess that was the only idea I had. And on some level, I think connecting with her was also a way of preparing myself to meet you... Even though that probably makes no sense. Since you aren't literally her, and don't share all her... I guess I shouldn't speak for you, though.
Roxy: so youre sayin youre surprised im unlike her in that way cause i dont seem like someone whod get drunk off her ass all the time?
Rose: Um-
Roxy: hahahaha well i guess i should be flattered if u rly think so buttttt wrong
Rose: So... you,
Roxy: my story's kind of like yours!
i had a mom i never knew and wanted to feel close to her however i could i grew up mostly unsupervised in her old old house and it had all this old stuff in it plus some old booze squirreled away here and there aaand i just uhhh started up even tho i was Way too young for shit like that Whoops.... and like i said it was a bit lite on discipline round then, its not like a buncha silly pumpkin eaters were gonna stop me
Rose: Pumpkin eaters?
Roxy: chess guys loads of them
Rose: !
Roxy: but yeah i wanted to be like her and do what she did but mostly just made a hot catastrophe of myself
i doubt that is what she wanted at the time it seemed like a cool thing a real intellectual an mysterious book celebrity would do while also leading a badass and secretly subversive life in opposition of tyranny
but i think what is more likely is she knew the whole world would end and everyone would die no matter what she did which was probly hard to live with idk if i can blame the old lady for wantin to get a Wee bit sauced after a couple of rapping clowns won a presidential election Rose: Yeah, I...
Wait, what?
Clowns?
Roxy: long story bad story plz continue
Rose: Ok. Yes, I'm sure my mother knew the end was coming too.
Knowing that helped put a lot of her behavior in context for me. I was always too young to understand.
Roxy: poor moms (frowning face)
poor poor adult dead sexy lady us (frowning face) (frowning face) Rose: Truth.
Roxy: but anyway
back to... us!
kid alive sexy lady us
Rose: Yes.
It sounds like your Rose had an incredible career, but all things considered, I prefer being kid alive sexy lady me.
Roxy: agree
i know what you mean about being nervous about meeting you i mean maybe nervous isn't quite right but when i started thinking about meeting u is when i started thinkin...
i should try being not Quiiite such a mess
so i started takin the idea of cleaning up my act more seriously Rose: Ultimately, I concluded the same thing.
I decided it wouldn't be a very dignified way to make an entrance.
Or for that matter, a very constructive way to help out in a struggle to preserve reality.
Luckily, I was able to cut it out a while ago. I admit, it wasn't easy.
But it helped a lot to have people around looking out for me.

Poke.
Kanaya: ...
Sits Poked
Roxy: yeah i had friends help me too!
i couldn't do it without them either
Rose: I never had "I.R.L." friends before this trip.
It's interesting to observe the various ways they apply themselves to your benefit.
Some people are around to make you feel like you're worth sticking with, even when you fuck up.
And some people are around to kick your ass to make sure you don't.
Roxy: haha
i think i had to play the latter role to my friends a lot and also to myself i guess who kicked your ass
was it the yelly guy over there?
Rose: No, Karkat was mostly preoccupied with his own... shenanigans.
The yelling is deceptive. He's a rather private person.
Vriska, however.
She really is quite an extravagant bitch.
Roxy: lmao
Rose: But it turns out people like that tend to have some convenient assets.
Such as, the sheer force of personality to keep a bunch of idiots from falling apart.
Don't get me wrong. It's quite annoying.
But... useful.
Roxy: yeaaah
i probably should have been more of a bitch to all my peeps
maybe we wouldn't have gone to jail and died Rose: Let it be a lesson to us all.

pull us apart by centuries, kill humans off, flood the world were still connected to each other in a mysterious way that goes beyond genes and circumstance and that i think is some tight frickin noise to consider Rose: I'm considering it right now, and yes.
That noise... it is So tight.

Jake: tavrosprite is it ok if we pretend to have a conversation over here for a while... so that I look busy and not come off as big of a doofus as I feel like?
Tavrosprite: I can oblige, and also personally identify, with that idea, and the feelings of self lameness behind it,

buuut,
I could also help you out with a real conversation too, instead of a fake one,
in fact, maybe we already even said enough words together, just now, for that to qualify, (smiley face with bull horns)
Jake: hahaha oh tavrosprite.
you have always been the one ray of light shining through the clouds in what has otherwise been an emotionally stormy game experience for me.
im so grateful that you found it in your ghostly bosom to drift over to lomax now and then to cheer me up.
often enough to give me a real pickmeup when feeling blue over friend problems but just seldom enough to feel like a rare delight when you did.
Tavrosprite: yeah,
I was under strict instruction from vriska, to not interfere with the timeline much, for lots of months, so I didn't say hello often,
she helped me be back alive, so, I owed her that much on one hand, but on the other, I think she was doing her bossy thing, for the sake of just telling me what to do, and I didn't see how just being friendly sometimes, was even changing the timeline much, or why that idea even mattered?
because it seemed like most of you all here, never did much important stuff anyway,

Jake: haha! Its true. More tiptop wisdom from that sage bullheaded noggin of yours.
Tavrosprite: why do you want to be pretend-talking, (even though it's real), and look busy to your friends?
Jake: im just not up to all this socialization yet.
maybe I never will be.
I feel at ease talking to you but all these others... I dont know.
it feels really awkward and I think I lost most of my prior bravado due to a lot of bad things that happened with my friends.
Tavrosprite: what happened with them?
Jake: I just messed up with everyone in a lot of ways im too embarrassed to even talk about.
and now I just feel gun shy about... Everything I guess.
even polite conversation with fun new people I should be thrilled to meet!
I couldnt even set things right with my buddies now if I wanted to.
jane is asleep so I cant make amends with her after she became an angry robot and punched me in the gut and jailed me and threatened me with eternal marriage and baby making duties.
I mean sure she was brainwashed when she did all that but im sure I did some stuff to deserve it!
dirk is still way off somewhere so I can't address that whole spicy meatball which I still feel terrible about.

and roxy...

well okay roxy is right there but look at her shes having a blast with all these people she actually really likes and who are probably actually likable.

she probably wants nothing to do with me either so I might as well do her the courtesy of leaving her alone.

Tavrosprite: but,

isn't she,

waving at you, and saying hello, right now,

due, almost certainly, to overhearing you talking about her name?

Roxy: hi jake!!

Jake: oh.

yeah.....

it would seem she is.

those are probably pity waves though.

Tavrosprite: iiiii,

don't think that is true,

I have been the getter almost exclusively, of the pity versions of various deeds directed at me, and,

I think that's not what she's doing, those are normal waves and hellos, you should probably do one of those things back to her,

Roxy: hi iiii jake

jake

jake dammit hi

Jake: oh.

um sorry.

h... hi roxy.

you're with us again and... And... I like that.

Roxy: (very happy face)

Tavrosprite: nice, bro!

keep working at behaviors of that sort, your self esteem will get bigger,

Jake: "i like that???

thunderations what a fucking clod I am.

I really need to keep a lower profile.

even basic pleasantries are a bit above my huckleberry for now.

Tavrosprite: I get it, self esteem is probably the hardest emotion to master, it helps to have help.

Jake: and I appreciate it mr tavrosprite really I do.

Tavrosprite: no, I mean not from me, do you have a fantasy phantom representing your self esteem who you can look up to?

Jake: a phantom??

Tavrosprite: because I did once, and it helped me, then he became real, and really helped me, but not because of believing or anything, just because of coincidence, he happened to be my ancestor,

Jake: well...

yes I suppose I have something like that.
a brain ghost of my friend dirk who visits me sometimes.
I guess he represents my self esteem but...
I dunno how helpful he actually is!
Tavrosprite: why,
Jake: because of all the consternation that my relationship with real dirk has caused me!
he says all the right things to make me feel better about myself but when he visits my brain I never actually feel that comfortable or good about myself.
I just feel kind of weird and truthfully spend most of the time hoping he just goes away and he probably knows that too because hes my brain and that makes me feel weirder!
Tavrosprite: I see,
your brain is complicated then,
I'm guessing it's because you're some sort of genius,
Jake: really?????
Tavrosprite: yes, absolutely,
I have a sense for these things,
Jake: gosh.
Tavrosprite: maybe, instead of listening to the upsetting words of a complicated brain ghost, what a brilliant mind like you needs, is something simpler, like listening to the nice and flattering words, of a real friend, (smiley face with bull horns)
Jake: maybe youre right!
Tavrosprite: not related to that, have I mentioned, you're actually quite handsome for a human,
Jake: wow you think??
Tavrosprite: also you have a dashing personality, and you seem pretty strong, and your very small pair of creamy looking pants is really cool, Jake: holy cow.
these nice observations about me...
why they really do seem to be making me feel at least infinitesimally better about myself.
what a chum!
Tavrosprite: this is only the beginning, of the feelgood feelings you can force inside you, through the repetitive mentionings of such things about you, but also through developing yourself as a brave alive hero, it's too late for me to do that, since I lived a weak life, died, and was lucky enough to have a friend with a good enough heart to bring me back, but only as a spiritual guide, such as the one floating before you, so I can't be that heroically great anymore, by tragic definition, but you can,
you're living, strong, nice, and of even higher importance, immortal, so that gives you, by my estimation, literally forever, to get better, and better, and better, and finally prove yourself, that way you can win your friends over, and everyone will like you again, Jake: boy shitting howdy! (Gasping face) just imagine... From hobbledehoy to hero.
wouldnt that spiffy predicament just razz my berries.
Vriska: tavros, would you leave that poor kid alone?
what sort of nonsense are you telling him?
Tavrosprite: nothing,
Vriska: oh, bullshit.
you're filling his head with lies, aren't you?
Tavrosprite: no,
it's just a basic conversation, not about any topics, you're probably going to say, you disapprove of,
Vriska: hey kid, what's he telling you? what's your name again? Jape? Jake: ja... i j... yes. Sure.
Tavrosprite: no, it's not jape, wrong, Vriska: who even cares? Your overly simplistic human names all sound so alike to me. anyway, listen jape.
whatever load of shit he's selling you in a misguided effort to cheer you up, don't listen to him. it's all a bunch of sappy delusional garbage.
I'm not going to let you down easy, and some day you'll realize this is the biggest favor anyone's ever done for you.
you are never going to do anything important, and you'll never amount to anything. Period! neither is tavros.
Tavrosprite: wait, no, now hold, on, Vriska: no, you hold on, tavros.
you had more than enough chances to prove you could be a relevant contributor to our adventure, but you blew it every step of the way.
it's time to face the facts. You're never going to have that "big moment" that vindicates your arc of personal development. It's just not going to happen!
Tavrosprite: no, I know that, I just admitted that, you weren't listening to our,,, Vriska: it's not going to happen for jape here, either. So stop filling his head with nonsense.
I can just smell it off him. He's just like you, really.
a loser is a loser.
Jake: sniffle.
Vriska: here's the bottom line. pages just suck!
all of them do. They just can't ever seem to get it together.
I think it just happens to be the class players get stuck with if they're naturally that sort of person. it doesn't mean they don't have value as people, but they'll never have anything significant to contribute, so they really should just stay out of the way.
there's a certain quiet dignity in understanding your utterly crippling limitations as an individual. Ideally, a very quiet dignity, so the important people can still hear themselves think!
Tavrosprite: ok but, what about all that, big page potential, Vriska: that's also a lot of misleading horseshit, and really kind of a cruel stipulation of the class, to be honest.
it makes losers think there's actually some light at the end of a long tunnel, so it keeps them dreaming instead of facing the facts!
sure, they could reach all that potential if they worked really hard for a long time, but don't you get it?
the very nature of who they are prohibits that! They don't have what it takes to stick it out to the end, because they're too weak mentally.
so it's just the game playing a nasty joke on them. Like dangling a carrot at the end of a ridiculously long stick.
only an asshole would knowingly play along with such a vicious hoax.
Tavrosprite: argh, no, any form of friendship encouragement, no matter what, is universally great I think, we all learn this as fact, from lots of things we see and enjoy, in stories and stuff.
Vriska: oh my fucking god.
Jake: no... Tavrosprite shes... Shes right. shes right.
sniif.
Tavrosprite: vriska, look at what you did,
you made my friend jape sad,
don't listen to her, and come here buddy, for a reassuring embrace, Vriska: tavros don't you fucking touch him!!!!!!!
remember, you've only been prototyped once!
do you really want to fuse into an eternal monstrosity with that weenie?
god, what a weenie singularity that would be. Maybe I should stand back and let it happen!
for science. Also, it would serve you right.
Tavrosprite: ohhhhhhhh, yeahhhhhhhhh?
well get a load, of this!
actually,
no, you're,
right of course, I won't hug him, because,
that sounds really, really bad,
sorry jape,
Jake: (frowning face)

Terezi: vriska, shouldn't we get back to our strategy meeting soon?
Vriska: yeah, pretty soon.
Terezi: it's like we used to say in the old days time is dead kids
Vriska: believe me, I haven't forgotten!
that's as true now as it ever was. Only difference is now we're working together to prevent the bodies from piling up.
Terezi: (smiley face with furrowed brows)
Vriska: we still have a little time before we need to get serious, and anyway, when you're managing a team, you need to balance things.
gotta keep morale up, you know?
the troops have been itching for a feel-good moment like this for a long time.
as a competent leader-slash-power-gamer extraordinaire, it's incumbent on me to recognize that and cut them a bit of slack.
give them a little space to remember what they're all fighting for, you know?
Terezi: yeah, great point
Vriska: we could do the same, you know.
over the last few years, we've had so many great times and buried all the old hatchets deep enough that I think it's easy to take our relationship for granted.
doesn't hurt to remind ourselves how lucky we both are. And how close we came to going in completely different directions. anyway, I'm glad this is the path we chose. I couldn't ask for a better moirail. (Smiley face with eight eyes)
Terezi: me neither
I don't know how I would have lived with myself if I had... Gone through with it and we'd be dead if I hadn't...
thank god for egbert never never never tell him I said this but for a dork, he's...
Vriska: hmm?
Terezi: he
let's just say you did a great job training him, once upon a time Vriska: hey, so did you!
some version of yourself was badass enough to write down all those instructions in her own blood just before she died.
sounds like a real hero to me!
Terezi: hehe
Vriska: sometimes I wonder what things would be like if we never had our falling out.
it was a lot like this, back in the old days, remember?
just hanging out, working together, not much drama except I guess for the occasional ethical debate on how our foes should be dealt with.
what if it never spiraled out of control? If I never blinded you, if you never blew off my arm...
what if you decided to send john back to change all that instead?
Terezi: I didn't write the instructions myself, but I'm sure I never considered it everything we went through back then made us stronger it was something to work to put behind us, not erase something that was worth the effort (smiley face with furrowed brows) Vriska: yeah!
(diamond)
Karkat: shout blither blah blah words
blah blah tactless nincompoops shout ramble screed
blah blister bemoan blah blah gossip-hungry lobotomy hobbits
shout yell screech holler brainless gushing yammertwats Vriska: oh god.
what is he going on about now?
Terezi: sounds like he's yelling at dave and john about something Vriska: so, john's been here for all of five minutes, and he already tripped karkat's tirade siren?
Terezi: he's not actually angry he's embarrassed about something my ear is finely tuned to all the vantrum nuances Vriska: embarrassed? About what?
think he might actually be bent out of shape over the fact that he's not leader anymore?
Terezi: no way
it's something very personal Vriska: I wonder if john's been asking what the deal is with him and dave?
john was pretty nosy, if I recall.
Terezi: I think it's more likely dave is just rambling sans filter again Vriska: yeah, he does do that a lot, doesn't he.
hey, as long as we're swearing each other to secrecy on stuff, make absolutely sure they never know I said this, but...
he and karkat...
are kind of adorable??
in whatever quadrant that whole situation settled in.
I don't know, it's none of my business really. I just never would have guessed!
Terezi: agreed
I guess we stuck to ourselves mostly and rose and kanaya were all... You know so that left them and their cute mayor sidekick to... sort things out amongst each other? Without interference from a bunch of crazy fucked up girls I'm happy for them and... For me too
if you hadn't been around, I have a feeling I would have gotten sucked into some weird bullshit with both of them
Vriska: sounds rough.
guess that's one more bullet dodged, thanks to yours truly!
Terezi: guess so!
(geek)

Dialoglog
Terezi: gonna miss you sure you have to get going so soon?
Vriska: yeah, I really can't waste much more time.
just have to get all these goofballs squared away, then I'm off.
Terezi: oh...
Vriska: is something wrong?
Terezi: no
well, not really nothing important
Vriska: what is it?
Terezi: it's dumb
you'll probably laugh at me Vriska: no I won't!

come on, tell me. What good is having a moirail you don't feel like you can talk to?
Terezi: I dunno
I'm not sure I can even put my finger on what's bugging me
I feel like I should be psyched for the battle ahead like, pumped up to kill some bad guys, and finally end this but I just feel a little... Weird?
especially knowing that you won't be here
Vriska: what does me not being here have to do with anything?
Terezi: what if
when it's time to fight, and people really need me to use my "powers" or whatever it is I'm supposed to be able to do what if it turns out I'm not actually that...
Vriska: but you already proved that you are!
another version of you basically saved us all, remember?
Terezi: I know, but that was a different me who went through some things I never went through, and probably figured out how to be awesome and heroic along the way
I never did any of that, and I certainly don't feel awesome and heroic yet
and this probably sounds really dumb but it kind of makes me feel guilty Vriska: guilty? Why?
Terezi: because she pretty much sacrificed herself to make things better specifically, better for me I think to let me lead a better life, presumably to fix my problems I guess?
but
I don't feel fixed
I actually kinda feel a weird sense of pressure to be the best version of myself, like...
the most productive and heroic and well adjusted terezi in paradox space?
but I'm definitely not that terezi
Vriska: ok, you are being way too hard on yourself here.
I really doubt that's what the other version of you intended!
that's not even how shit works. People don't just get "fixed".
even if circumstances change so you have a smoother ride, you are always going to have flaws.
I guess you should always try to be the best version of yourself, but I think it's also important to be ok with the fact that you aren't perfect.
I've got flaws too! I mean, obviously.
but I'm mostly ok with them.
Terezi: wow. You don't say???
Vriska: hey, shut up! (Tongue sticking out face with eight eyes)
I'm just trying to offer a little perspective here!
Terezi: yeah, I know you're right...
I'll try to forget about this stuff, and just focus on helping out the team it'll be hard doing it without you, but I guess I've managed to do it before even if I don't remember Vriska: yeah!
you'll be fine. I know you can do it.
Terezi: when will I see you again?
Vriska: some day.
I'll do my best to shorten the wait for you as much as I can. Using time travel or whatever other nonsense I may have at my disposal.
when all is said and done, I'll drop by earth and look you up.
Terezi: I can't wait (smiley face with furrowed brows) Tavrosprite: blither babble, ramble self esteem, prattle, ramble mumble, brave alive hero,
mutter blither, finally prove yourself, babble babble,
Vriska: tavros, would you leave that poor kid alone?
what sort of nonsense are you telling him?

We return to the character select screen for the fifth time. This time, pick Roxy, Dave, and Rose.

Next

Rose and Roxy still sit on the floor, but now Kanaya stands behind them and Dave stands in front.

dialog

Rose: Dave, we were sort of in the middle of something here.
Dave: in the middle of what
Rose: A series of heartfelt conversations of a personal nature.
Dave: oh
i guess im in the middle of those now too im feeling heartfelt as fuck somebody bone me up on the shit
Rose: One cannot simply be boned up on shit such as this. You had to be there.
Dave: come on
Rose: Wizards, Problems, Feelings. It was your standard tale of two estranged mutual mothers. Any questions?
Dave: yes lots
Rose: Ok.
Can you maybe sit over there for a while and write them all down?
Dave: um
Kanaya: Rose This Accumulation Of People Is Coming Dangerously Close To What Your Culture Might Process As A Human Familial Unit
This Is A Foreign Idea To Me And Probably A Private Matter To You So I Think I Will Leave You All Alone And Go Talk To Some Trolls
Personally I Think You Should Welcome Dave Into The Fold Of Your Poignant Wizard Reverie From My Cultural Point Of View At Least He Has As Much Claim To A Sense Of Ancestral Connection To Your Mother As You
See You Everybody
Dave: yeah man kanaya to the rescue with smart shit to say as usual
Rose: Utterly destroyed again, by her superior sense of reason and decorum.
Though I do wonder if her perspective would be different if she'd ever had to manage relations with a "twin brother".
Dave: ok but who cares about that so rose its our mom
hey mom
Roxy: hi!!!
Dave: well not mom
your actual name instead of that i guess roxy i think Roxy: u think right
moms ok too tho
Dave: i dunno that might be weird calling you that all the time rose would that be weird
Rose: It would probably get a little weird.
Dave: so mom
im just going to jump right into the fuckin frying pan here like tape off a no bullshit zone for a while Dave: if thats ok
Roxy: a frying pan in the no bullshit zone?? sounds intense who is manning this pan and who gave him clearance for the no bs zone
Dave: captain Serious is at the pan and he got the go-ahead from lieutenant Doesnt Fuckaround of the Heartattack Armada Roxy: isnt lieutenant a lower rank than captain who put this dude in charge of such an important pan Dave: um i dont know maybe it is?
ok like its cool that you even know that fact but this is exactly the kind of fuckery the no bs zone doesnt cotton to no matter what sorta cookware is involved or which pseudomilitary organization regulates its borders
i just have some questions about you and about stuff in general so rather than mumble through a conversation that sounds mostly like the stuff we literally just got done sayin, sweet though that would be, im gonna machine gun some shit at you lighting round style Roxy: a machine gun lightning round in a frying pan!!!!! god.......Damn
Dave: i know right?
so
you are my biological mother
Roxy: yes
Dave: and roses
Roxy: yes
Dave: and therefore bear at least partial and like biologically incidental responsibility for why we are both so fucked up
Roxy: yes
Dave: but you yourself are a paradox clone
Roxy: um... i guess?
Dave: which means you didnt even have bio parents
you originated from yourself
Roxy: guess so!
Dave: so you really dont have anyone to blame for who you are except weirdly and paradoxically yourself
Roxy: um.. y.. yes?
Rose: Dave.
Dave: wait ok
sorry if that sounded rude i didnt mean it rudely
i mean
you did have a "parental figure" who you i guess modeled yourself after in a way or were influenced by i mean an old version of rose from a long time ago
Roxy: yes!
Dave: and my bro was the same way or your friend i mean
Roxy: dirk!
Dave: he was a paradox clone of himself and he like did kind of the same thing modeled himself after...
Roxy: ...
Dave: why dont we not talk about dirk can we change the subject
Roxy: you brought him up!!
Dave: i know
i know
look
i bring up a lot of things and then have to back track a lot of those things i bring up cause sometimes the things i bring up are ill advised to say or make people uncomfortable or make me uncomfortable its just a thing about me Roxy: ooh!
just had a thought
do i get to do a lightning round at you next??
Dave: i guess so yeah depends on if you want to keep sitting in this goddamn pan Roxy: hmm i dunno
maybe our asses are gettin too hot Dave: maybe you should speak for yourself
Rose: Dave!
Dave: Shit
Roxy: lol
Dave: no mom look roxy i mean
its like i was just saying i just say things it is just like this force of nature no one can control or even try to, least of all me we just have to cross our fingers and hope for the best and that my one man verbal slapstick routine isnt too freudian in nature or at least not that often anyway lets pretend i didnt just insinuate you have a hot ass and move on Roxy: (winking face)
Dave: i heard something about wizards you hells into wizards like rose?
Roxy: Yes
Dave: ok well that is a predictable if somewhat bland fact lets see if we can dig a lil deeper dont get me wrong wizards are ok i guess
Roxy: oh yeah? well maybe Youre ok
Dave: yeah, im alright wizards are better at magic than me but im better than wizards at rap so i guess it breaks even or it would if i was a pretend jackass in silly robes and a dumb beard so point goes to dave Rose: (Sigh.)
Dave: do you like rap
Roxy: kinda!
dirk loves rap so i...
ummm haha never mind forgot we werent talkin about that Dave: well what do you like to do Roxy: i like........
cats!!
Dave: ok that is a fair opinion but cats arent actually an activity or anything
Roxy: theyyy kinda were for me though!
i uh
used to clone them
i may have um gotten a little carried away
Dave: cat cloning huh that sounds like a pretty dope hobby
i think were getting somewhere so you had access to that kind of stuff because you lived in a scifi world Roxy: a scifi world?
Dave: yeah the future
what was the future like Roxy: watery fulla chess people lots o pumpkins
u kno usual dystopian stuff
Dave: i see
and it was just the chess guys and you like alone
no other people except for bro who i guess was way off somewhere?
Roxy: yup
Dave: sounds like kind of a bummer
Roxy: yeah
i talked to my friends a lot though via computers n shit
Dave: thats cool
me too
maybe when it comes down to it our lives werent that different except for the extinction of humanity part my humans were just imminently extinct is all i didnt have chess guys around though theyre actually good company
Roxy: yeah!!
Dave: my best best best best best friend is a chess guy hes the mayor ill have to introduce you to him soon youll love the mayor everybody loves the mayor
Roxy: wanna meet the mayor!
Dave: dont worry ill put in a good word for you pretty sure we can find an opening in his schedule tell me more Roxy: more?
Dave: about you
Roxy: damn dude
this frying pan...
shit be Sizzlin
Dave: fuck yeah
aside from cat breeding how else did you pass the time Roxy: ummmmmmmm
writin
um
a Fair amount of uh lets say recreational liquid intake and uhh
oh um hacking
Dave: haha seriously
like actual hacking
Roxy: yeah!
well computer programming rly
hacking is just what u call it to sound cool there wasnt even much shit around to "hack" Dave: so kinda like john except
i think he pretty much sucked at his codes
Roxy: hahahahaha really
Dave: yeah
he seemed to find it frustrating mainly his bitching about it is literally my only point of reference for his degree of proficiency youre good though right i bet youre good
Roxy: tha Best (Smiley face wearing sunglasses)
Dave: knew it
Roxy: maybe i could give him some pointers on the leet haxx
Dave: fuck yes
hed be all about that or i think he should be which is all that matters do that and insist on it if he gets weirdly obstinate or like tries to pretend he doesnt like programming anymore
Roxy: ok
Dave: what else
Roxy: oh umm
idk dave i might be runnin outta shit to say!
Dave: you sure Roxy: iii liked to play games?
Dave: what games
Roxy: uh mostly...
the nintendos
Dave: i see which nintendos
Roxy: a whole bunch of nintendos!! like lotsa diff systems n titles
i dunno if the ones i associate strongly with would have the same meaning like culturally speaking
for you because to me they were all like cool ancient relics that kept me somewhat in touch with a world that was long gone
Dave: that makes sense
thats mostly the relationship i have now with garbage romcoms largely because karkat likes watchin em so these godforsaken flicks have helped keep me grounded in our dead civilization in a weird way but re: games...
i didn't have nintendos
my bro had xbox so i played that sometimes but he mostly had all these shitty skating games and like 20 different tony hawk titles i would mainly just play them to fuck around like find spectacular ways to crash and flop around like a douchey ragdoll or figure out ways to get halfway stuck inside concrete fixtures and obstacles and watch all these cool fratty bros twitch and flop ad infinitum like struggling valiantly and earnestly forever against the shitty and deeply flawed physics of their confining virtual prison
i saw them as tragic figures
Roxy: that sounds incredible tbh
Dave: pretty much
Roxy: do u think we can play games together some time?
wanna see ur majestic skatebros in their element
Dave: oh my dick yes
Rose: Dave.
Dave: what Roxy: ok ok !
i think its my turn??
keep your ass in the pan buddy u gona get Grilled Dave: thats fair
Roxy: oh um
rose please dont think im excluding you!
jump in the convo any time k?
Dave: meh shes fine
Roxy: (tongue sticking out face)
Rose: I'm perfectly happy serving as a spectator and occasional officiator of this conversation.
It's quite entertaining to behold, really. I love watching how different personalities collide with each other upon meeting.
Neither of you is failing to disappoint.
Roxy: lmao
god is Everyone in this family tree a psychoanalyst???
Dave: yo thats been like her Eact top preoccupation since she was a fuckin baby didnt she tell you Roxy: haha no
but yeah makes sense
but like, youre all mr funny interrogation right now, rose is quite possibly a literal therapist in training i guess?? and uh dirk is dirk Roxy: just makes ya think is all Dave: were all fucked up, the end
so what you wanna know mom
..rox

Roxy: here comes da lightning
u got to imagine it comin out my fingertips wherein i am an almighty wisard Dave: ok currently imagining that hmm not bad not bad at all Roxy: pchoo
um
what is your favorite rap guy thats a dead tie between me and snoop
also maybe obama but to be fair i dont think he raps irl that is mainly just a headcanon i have about him Dave: but come on you werent actually curious about that were you Roxy: im trying to think of stuff to ask jeez!
gimme a sec...
kay howwwww did you become a god tier
Dave: rose and i went on a suicide mission piloting a moon through the furthest ring the moon had a cosmic mega nuclear bomb in its core but also our quest beds by surprise when it blew up it created literally the biggest fucking sun in existence which also happened to be the exact same sun we thought we were going out there to destroy but we also died and resurrected as god tiers and i guess due to immortality rose up through the surface of the fuckin sun all glowing green and wearing pajamas and shit Roxy: holy crap
that is so ridiculously insane and cool!
and so so so much more awesome than what happened to us wow!
Dave: why how did you do it
Roxy: god its almost embarrassing to even describe especially compared to that!
Dave: go on Roxy: um we all had a hangover from magic candy and woke up on our god slabs and like talked for a while have u ever seen the breakfast club
Dave: no
Roxy: ok well it was like that but probably shittier then we all sorta randomly died on accident due to surprise villain attacks Dave: eh that sounds alright who even cares about having a baller origin story we were just some chumps on a moon being melodramatic and in the process of gettin chumped by an omniscient creep your outfit looks cool at least Roxy: thanks!
k then... next have u
ever kissed anybody??
Dave: what man
these questions are taking on a different tenor than the ones i asked you Roxy: well??
Dave: um yeah ok i Was kissed by jade when i was dead
so i would come back to life that was like... Right before the moon mission i mentioned Roxy: o yeah
i was corpse smooched once too
Dave: by who
Roxy: ...
hey its still my lightning round!
i was askin if You ever kissed somebody like awake and alive and on purpose
Dave: maaan
Rose: We're waiting, Dave.
Dave: hey i thought you were just "studying" us!
Rose: I'm also officiating.
I'll have to hold you to the question, or throw a flag.
Remember the sports?
My, how quickly we forget the sports.
Dave: no come on
i just asked you about nintendo and shit!!
Roxy: ok ok!
hahaha (smiley face)
do youuu like drawin
Dave: yes
Roxy: comics?
Dave: yes
Roxy: funny comics??
Dave: fuck yes
Roxy: about fat assed idiots and jpeg trashloss everywhere
Dave: fuck fucking yes
Roxy: ok ima admit
i have you at a little disadvantage since i know some things about your alt future grownup self Dave: like what
Roxy: dont wanna spoil it!
theres a better time for that conversation and maybe a better person to have it with than me
Dave: ...
Roxy: do you like orange soda
Dave: no
Roxy: No??
Dave: hell no
Roxy: then whats your poison
Dave: a.j.
Roxy: huh?
Dave: apple juice
Roxy: thats fuckin cute
Dave: pretty much
Roxy: have u ever been in love
Dave: god damn it!

Rose: This is the lightning round, Dave.
We didn't make the rules.
Anyway, I'm ready to blow my Referee's Sport Whistle™ if you don't answer before the Commercially Endorsed Game Clock expires.
Dave: i think the lightning rounds over why dont we have a distraction to seal the deal hey mom i think harleydad over there is talkin about you Roxy: jake?
hehe yeah i think ur right
gotta go catch up with him soon... ill wave hello for now
Dave: i dont think hes noticing
Roxy: dammit jake look over here u goof gonna start a fire here will all this friendly wavin Dave: nope hes completely out to lunch just like all the harleyberts Roxy: hiuuuu jake jake dammit hi
Jake: Oh.
Um sorry.
H... hi roxy.
Youre with us again and... and... i like that.
Roxy: (Very happy face)
Dave: thats it?
hes right back at it with the bull guy whats with him
he reminds me a lot of john but really quiet which is very unjohnish Roxy: jakes great!
but yeah hes not like that all the time he is p gregarious i on i but i guess he doesn't like crowds much he became sort of a hermit after a few months in our session he mainly hung out with dirk until he eventually sorta shut him out too dude just likes his lonesome time i guess?
Dave: ill try gettin to know him some time maybe trap him like a shy woodland creature then brutally harangue him with my typically rad shit and become airtight bros right there in the fucking woods exactly how nature intended Roxy: omg yes
i will help u rig your jakesnares
maybe leave some hunky dudebait, like a trail of microshorts sprinkled thru out the forest Dave: awesome thanks mom
roxy i mean
Rose: Dave, even I'm having less trouble referring to Roxy by her name consistently, and I was the one who grew up knowing her as my literal mother.
What is going on with you?
Dave: nothing
its just like semi accidentally replacing a word with another word in a majority of instances why do you need to read things into everything
Rose: You're right. How could anyone possibly read anything into that sort of repeated slip-up.
Dave: exactly
Rose: What if you're making her uncomfortable?
Roxy: its fine really!
i think it is sorta endearing
Dave: see rose yall worrying about nothing as usual moms fine with it
moxy
Roxy: snort
Dave: i mean
romy mommy wait fuck
ok that one was fucked up lets make sure i never ever fucking say that again Roxy: im dyin here
dave...stoppit
im a sphyxiate
Dave: i cant
its like i was saying before this is a force of nature we all gotta just deal with striders blurtscapades daves flying boner circus
this shit is immutable
i had to face this fact a long time ago i could either try to change that part of myself which is an unwinnable war or i could try focusing on being like a vaguely half decent person so at least the shit i inevitably blurt out from deep down isnt all that bad because the bad stuff has been and is still being purged through an arduous long term process of complete and utter humiliation Roxy: man arduous long term processes of complete and utter humiliation are basically my aesthetic anyways you are a silly dude and its ok if u keep callin me mom on "accident" (smiley face)
Rose: I hope it is similarly ok with you if I make the conscious decision to refrain from calling you that ever.
Unlike Dave, I've taken great pride in the meticulous maintenance of my internal filter.
I don't think I have the same luxury he does.
Humiliation just makes my demons angrier.
Roxy: yeah rose call me whatev!
but um lmao you got a way of makin that sound legit scary Dave: its fucked up that shes joking but also not even really youll figure out how to crack her deadpan riddles theres an art to it Roxy: you guys...
an ur friggin psycho babble!
its a riot
suddenly feelin like maybe im the weak link in this family tree on the analytical front need to step up my game
Rose: To be fair, Dave's game is pretty flimsy.
He's been jacking my swagger for years. He only pulls it off because he's funny.
And to be even fairer, I'm not actually much of a psychoanalyst.
I know just enough to know that I barely know anything, and probably would have benefited from,
I don't know, "college", or something.
Roxy: ok whew i feel a bit less lame then i remember dirks insane scrutinization of all things cerebral had a similar way of dwarfing ones ego maybe that was smoke in mirrors too idk maybe since he and i are ur parents, in terms of psycho skillz...
hes got All genes and i got None
Roxy: so that means dave got Some genes and rose got Lots?? wherein Some is more than None and Lots is less than All
???
Rose: That's quite a scientific way of looking at it.
Maybe it's even true?
Roxy: yeah i fuken Love Science!!!
Dave: ok then that explains everything
Roxy: what
Dave: if you got all the science genes then that means some scraped off on me which would explain why my beats are so ill its cause my science is off the charts
Rose: Holy shit.
Can someone come push this nerd off the lilypad?
Roxy: dat explanation tho
(smiling face with a single tear)
Rose: Cringeworthy rap notwithstanding,
I do recall hearing him babble about wanting to be a scientist on more than one occasion.
If the world hadn't ended.
What was it? Archeology? Paleontology?
Dave: yeah i dunno
one of those things whichever involved more dead shit
maybe Roxy: paleontology!! u wanted to study that?
Dave: i sincerely mumbled about the idea once or twice sure Roxy: thats neat
what about you rose
did u actually want to be a legit psychiatrist and go to school for that and all?
Rose: I don't recall my thoughts on higher education.
My passion for the subject I think was more a contrivance of a very young girl with misplaced conviction in her abilities.
I probably thought I could just figure it all out myself and skip the academic coronation.
I don't think much about it anymore.
Possibly because there's no one left to analyze, except for the modest population of this frog disc.
Roxy: what would you want to do with your life instead?
i mean assuming there were no more evildoers to worry about Rose: I don't know.
What is there even to consider doing with godhood But concern oneself with evildoers?
Dave: what about your quest Rose: Hm?
Dave: the shit with your planet and the rain and stuff
wasnt there still something to do there Rose: I... guess so?
Roxy: yeah
i did mine!
or at least a version of it specific to my situation i get the feelin they change around and such depending on what the lay of the land is my reality was fucked so my denizen just kinda... rerouted me nothin too fancy
Dave: yeah exactly
i did this really stilted like mashup of what i assume my "real quest" was like involving breaking a sword and Unbreaking a sword and a fuckin Bird was involved and then the bird unceremoniously Died somewhere it was kind of a mess like me i guess so maybe that made sense who knows what yours would have in store for you now
i mean
if you even wanted to bother
Rose: I'm not sure if I have the inclination, and realistically, there isn't even much time for that, is there?
We're supposed to be fighting adversaries imminently.
I can't squeeze it in before the battle.
And after, we'll have supposedly "won", so what would even be the point of doing it then?
Dave: shrug
Rose: Something always rubbed me the wrong way about "My Quest".
I don't even like the phrase. It's uncomfortably formal, and a little foreboding.
I think the regimentation of it all always struck me as unpalatable.
Like consigning personal growth to the completion of a glorified, myth-heavy rat maze.
Dave: yeah i know why you feel that way youve got big problems with authority you always have and you probably wouldnt even put it that way cause it sounds really Teen of you and gauche or whatever but its true
Roxy: omg u guys and your shrink babble!
is so funny i swear 2 god
Dave: yeah here we go again right?
except just remember im a fraud at this stuff except in this particular case im totally right she sees this quest all neatly laid out for her wrapped in a bow fuck it even looks like its made for little kids with like pink turtles and rainbows and shit like here you go princess its babys first quest almost like it was designed to piss her off sbrub says here, self improvement delineated and made comprehensible enjoy your cookie cutter odyssey
so because shes rose she goes no fuck my quest literally starts wrecking shit and maybe that itself was always her quest

Vriska: If I may interject...

Dave: oh awesome vriska was eavesdropping

Vriska: Not for very long!
I just heard you talking about Rose's quest is all.
I don't have any opinion on whether you do it or not, Rose. That's your business.
but my advice is, if you see your denizen, just make sure you kill her fast.

Dave: what

Vriska: believe me, Cetus is a Huge bitch.
If you give her an inch, she'll try to sucker you into a whole boring conversation, mostly involving a bunch of curmudgeonly riddles.
Don't give her the chance! Just go for the jugular and end it as soon as you can.
Grab her loot and call it a day. That's what I think, at least.
Assuming you bother going to see her at all. Couldn't really blame you if you didn't though.

Rose: I probably won't.

Rose sprite: Won't what?

Vriska: Oh now what the Fuck is this????????

Jaspersprite: Meow.

Roxy: Frigglish!

oh my god you cheeky bastard

oooomg

Dave: um

what exactly the fuck

Rose: ...

Roxy: frigglish

i cannot believe this

you dug up her body!!!!!

Jaspersprite: (smiling cat face)

Roxy: omg that is So bad!

but also sweet of you to bring her back but also Wow bad!!!!!

Wait.

Dug... up?

Rose sprite: I'm a little unclear on that myself.
Jaspers hasn't been especially descriptive.

Jaspersprite: Meow!

Yes both roses i dug you up!

Rose: From... where?

Roxy: um

johns planet

remember the funeral i mentioned?
frigglish was there too

orrr um jaspers?? our dumb departed beautiful idiot cat!!

haha i guess i made a novice mistake
i turned my back on the body
Rose sprite: You had a funeral for me?
That was nice of you.
Roxy: yeah!
so um...
Hi!!!!!
wow haha this is confusing!
welcome back you're alive again hey come here!
Vriska: Lalonde don't you fucking touch her!!!!!!!
Fucking incredible.
Am I the Only one here concerned with making sure we don't create freakish mutant people-combos?!
Roxy: wha
Vriska: She's only been single-prototyped!
Don't go near her.
Roxy: ohhh
heh right
Vriska: It is absolutely astounding how much you all need me around to keep your shit straight.
Even then it's a constant up hill battle to keep you all from fucking up!
I let my guard down for one second and this brainless animal wastes one of your precious resurrection slots on someone who's Already alive!
Well, congratulations. You're down to one empty kernel.
be sure to use it wisely!
Not that there's much hope of that at this point.
See you chumps. I'm out of this conversation.

Dave: so
what does this even mean theres two roses now like
what the fuck
what are we supposed to do with this information and unfolding set of circumstances Rose sprite: I don't know, Dave.
I have advanced seer powers, and the newly acquired insight of a mystical guide.
And even I'm stumped about this turn of events.
Dave: ok then good to know im not dumb and this literally is inherently irrational thanks ghost cat great job
Jaspersprite: (smiling cat face) (smiling cat face) (smiling cat face)
Dave: so what now
Rose sprite: Well,
It's nice to be back, after such a spectacular sequence of tragic events.
Even though I have no memory of having been gone for long.
But I also understand I am now the Subordinate Rose.
So with respect to my ongoing role, I will have to defer to Real Rose.
I don't want to step on anyone's toes.
Then again, I don't have feet anymore.
Roxy: lol
Rose sprite: It's also worth pointing out that my programming as a sprite informs me that I exist at the pleasure of the player who released my kernel.
So, Roxy. What do you think I should do?
Roxy: um wow
i dunno!
hahah man i only Just met um... alive rose here Roxy: and that was after Just buryin you and saying goodbye and all which was this um emotional thing and now ur back cus of a silly cat! and idk im confused haha rose what do you think
Rose:
Roxy: rose
Rose:
Roxy: yo rose...
hello?

I'm sorry! I can't sit here and pretend to take this seriously!
Dave: rose
you ok
Rose: I guess so???
Yes. I'm fine! This is just so dumb!
My powers let me see fortuitous outcomes, but I didn't see this coming At all.
It doesn't register as fortuitous or otherwise. You know why?
Because it's completely meaningless!
Hahahahaha!
Dave: i mean
sure
i thought so too when bird dave happened but that turned out to be like a whole thing
and important stuff happened as a result... kinda Rose: No!!!!!
This isn't like that!
Trust me, Dave. I'm not grasping at straws here.
My abilities tend not to leave such things to speculation.
This development makes absolutely no sense!
Not for us as a group, and Definitely not for me personally, or her for that matter!!!
How could this possibly mean anything for my growth or personal development in Any way?
This almost makes it official.
I have no comprehensible path. There's nothing to overcome, no lesson to learn, no cathartic light at the end of this preposterous tunnel.
Not for me, at least!
I seriously have the Dumbest arc anyone could conceivably imagine.
Dave: rose we dont have fuckin "arcs" we are just human beings

Vriska: How's it going over there?
Kanaya: I Told Them I Would Leave Them Alone And Go Talk To Some Trolls
I Guess This Troll Over Here Will Have To Do
Vriska: Happy to be of service.
Man, look at them. They all seem so excited.
Like a bunch of wigglers hopped up on high fructose grub sauce.
I hope they don't crash from this reunion buzz too hard before it's showtime.
Kanaya: If They Do I Am Sure One Of Your Contingency Plans Will Swing Into Full Effect
Maybe You Can Buy Time For Everyone To Recover By Lulling Our Adversaries Into An Extensive Strategy Session
Vriska: Hey Maryam, why don't you can it!
Our sassy little games of one upsmanship are fun and all, but I'm trying to be sincere here.
Vriska: You know, seeing as this is the last time I'll see you all in a while.
Kanaya: Youre Right Sorry
Bring On The Sincerity
Vriska: I was just saying, about the humans.
They seem so happy.
I mean, look at Rose!
No offense, but most of the time she's kind of a pill.
Kanaya: None Taken And Me Too Probably Vriska: Good point.
but I don't think I've ever seen her like that. by which I mean, making no discernible effort whatsoever to disguise the fact that she's happy.
Well, ok. Maybe there were a couple times.
Kanaya: Is That In Reference To How You Like To Flagrantly Spy On Us Sometimes
Vriska: I don't "spy" on you!
That is such an unfair characterization.
Would you can it with that shit already??
Kanaya: Ill Never Understand Your Ongoing And Apparently Unironic Use Of The Phrase "Can It"
And In Particular Why You Always Seem To Direct This Expression To Me And Seemingly No One Else
I Just Think It Is Such A Peculiar And Amusing Way To Tell Someone To Be Quiet
Vriska: What! Why?
No, that's a normal way of putting it!
I mean... it's a pretty normal thing to say, right? When you want... someone... to pipe down?
Kanaya: "Pipe Down" Isn't Even Much Better
Its Just A Funny Thing To Say And The Fact That You Dont Realize It Makes It Funnier
I Think The Underlying Explanation Is That You Are Just Funnier That You Realize Or Try To Be
It Is Something To Like About You
Vriska: I guess I'll have to accept your sass as a compliment then.
And no, I don't Spy on you. I just...
Vriska: Check in with you sometimes! To see how you're doing.
Kanaya: Okay If Thats How You Want To Put It
You Involve Yourself In Many Private Matters Without Even Offering The Pretense Of Doing Otherwise
To Think That At One Point I Was Regarded As The Meddlesome One Vriska: Look, it just so happens that I care very deeply for all my friends and want to make sure they're doing alright on a somewhat regular basis.
Is that a crime??
Kanaya: In Some Societies Violating The Privacy Of Others In Certain Ways Yes I Believe So
I Understand Your Motives Though And Really This Is Just Me Giving You A Hard Time
Vriska: I never got why everyone treats their romantic affairs as so Private.
What's the big deal. So you like to do some smooching and stuff with another person. Maybe get over yourselves??
Karkat is the worst offender. You'd think he was charged with guarding state secrets. News flash,
bum. Nobody gives a fuck!
Kanaya: It Sounds Like You Very Much Give A Fuck Though
Vriska: Hey, why don't you can... I mean, cut me some slack?
I don't hold anyone to standards I don't hold myself to.
I'm very open about my relationships! My moirallegience with Terezi? Pff. Ask me anything! I have nothing to hide.
We'll throw our diamonds up in your face like we're making a getaway.
We don't even give a fuck. If you can't take the stench, then get out of the meal block.
Same with any ashen liaisons I've been involved with over the years. What's the big deal?
Kanaya: I Have To Admit To Being Impressed With Your Uh
Strangely Natural Proficiency With Auspisticism
It Is An Incredibly Difficult Quadrant To Master And Very Emotionally Taxing I Find
In A Way That Conflicts With The Pursuit Of Relationships In Other Quadrants
I Cant Ignore That During Our Trip You Probably Diffused A Lot Of Unpleasant Situations Before
They Started
But When It Comes To Matters Of Privacy And Such
And Which Forms Of Expression People Feel At Ease Showing In Public Pale Relationships Are Really Different I Think
What About The Other Kind
Seems To Me You Have Not Been Involved In Any So Im Not Sure You Really Understand
Vriska: I just don't have time for anything like that in my life right now!
Red and black relationships are so absorbing. I have a strong pale relationship which is very important to me, but that's about all I can handle.
Maybe later on when the dust settles from this crazy adventure, I'll consider it. but for now, this is all I can deal with.
I just have too many irons in the fire, you know?
Kanaya: I Know All About The Irons
I Have Heard Rumors Of This Alleged Fire As Well
Vriska: So what are they talking about?
Kanaya: What
Vriska: All your buddies over there!
We were still talking about that. It's ridiculous how easily we all get sidetracked by romantic blither.
Kanaya: Oh
"Family" Stuff Mainly
Vriska: It's pretty fascinating. Sociologically speaking, I mean.
Their idea of families.
The idea of siblings is strange enough. People who are genetically similar and grow up together.
Spending all that time with Dave and Rose, you started getting a sense for it. Like, the logic of it, how it must have shaped Earth society, but also its inherent ridiculousness. Sharing a residence with your near-clone while growing up? So preposterous. But then you add the idea of parents, and suddenly it's complete madness. Our society was so individualistic, and that all seemed so normal and reasonable. So I look over there, and see two Lalondes and a Strider, and there's a whole Other Strider on the way, and...

A human family starts striking me as not so much a social unit, so much as like, an Infestation.

Kanaya: Yeah

Well
I will say an entire Other Strider does sound like a bit much
On top of what is already quite a spectacle
Maybe we just don't get it

Vriska: Of course we don't. That's my point. I mean, we have ancestors, but under normal circumstances it's pretty much unheard of to imagine you'd ever get the chance to meet them.

We had the unusual privilege of meeting most of ours, or at least, certain versions of them. But that's still just a one-person lineage. It's really simple and comprehensible.

Human lineage is just a huge clusterfuck if you ask me.

Kanaya: There is a certain advantage to it though
Their decentralized propagation makes it a lot more likely their race will persist
The same cannot be said for ours
I still often wonder if we are the last of our kind

Vriska: You're still doubtful about whether you can hatch a new mother grub?

Kanaya: Yeah

More than doubtful I say

Vriska: You shouldn't lose faith!

I'm not even the slightest bit worried about whether you can do it.

When you get the chance, just brainstorm about it with the Lalondes. They tend to be full of ideas.

Anyway, try not to get down about it. I have a good feeling. (smiley face with eight eyes)

Karkat: Get down about what

Kanaya: A particular obligation I have yet to fulfill

I sense she possesses some intelligence on the matter she wishes to be cagey about so I Guess that part of the conversation has been concluded

Karkat: Obligation?

Vriska, have you been dishing more dirt on our strategy before formally bringing our meeting back to order?

Pretty sloppy leadership move, if you ask me.

Vriska: Karkat, it had nothing to do with your and Kanaya's upcoming roles in this campaign.
It was a more private matter pertaining to Kanaya's broader significance to the future of our people.

I will be very clearly spelling out the roles you and she will be playing momentarily.

Karkat: Me and she??

As in like, together?

What the fuck are we supposed to be doing together.

Vriska: You'll find out.

Karkat: Great! I'm so glad.

At this point, I only ever feel angst or even the slightest sense of agitation in my soul to the precise extent that I worry Vriska might not have all of our fortunes completely mapped out already. I'm beginning to hyperventilate slightly less just thinking about it!!

Vriska: Good to hear, Karkat. Almost as cool as it is to see you yelled yourself out with John and Dave already, and have decided to come clock in some yelling time with us.
Your ability to dig deep down and find a second wind is really quite astonishing. I shudder to think what would happen to this party if we ran out of its most precious natural resource.
Karkat: hahaha!
burned. Owned. Devastated. What more is there to say?
nothing really, unless you want whatever pitiful tatters of your self image you have left to get power-pissed on by godqueen serket herself, yet again.
either that, or one could ruminate fondly over the heavenly ret-forked reality wherein she was stabbed in the back by her moirail, and we all got to live out the fucking bliss that timeline must have been.
just think of the peace and quiet we would have had on the meteor! It was probably more than worth the price of cannon balling ass first into some sort of massacre trap.
vriska serket, making the living envy the hypothetical dead since... Whenever it was she started doing that!
Vriska: Way to stick the landing on that barb, genius.
I appreciate that you are just "moseying over" to arbitrarily drum up some utterly meaningless contention between us, but it's like I've said before many times, Karkat. I'm not interested!
Karkat: ouch! Slaughtered again. "Hehehe!"
don't listen to her, kanaya. It's like this running gag she does all the time, to own me.
Kanaya: what Karkat: it's this funny thing we do. Or mainly, she does.
always implying that I've been spades-crushing on her, and getting shut down. It never stops being hilarious!
Kanaya: ...
Karkat: first of all, as if she can prove anything.
second, if we're being totally fair here, more than a few of her snappy comebacks are arguably more tinged with that sort of eyebrow-cocking hostility than anything i've ever said to her.
maybe makes one a little suspicious, no? That maybe there's some projection going on here. Just saying!!!
Vriska: Alright Karkat, I'm going to leave you here to dig yourself into whatever embarrassing hole you seem intent on digging.
I'm going to keep working the crowd a bit. As you know, a leader's job is never done! See ya.

While I Just Say These Things
Aside From The Fact That She Literally Just Got Finished Telling Me She Wasnt Interested In Any Non Pale Relationships
I Think That Would Be A Blind Alley Regardless
I Admit This From Experience
And Not Without Chagrined Hesitation
But Only Frustration And Heartbreak Are Down That Road
Karkat: Oh??
Kanaya: Shes Turned Out To Be A Tremendous Partner In Pale Relationships
Maybe Even Um
A Bit Freakishly So?
But Anything Stronger Than That I Think Would Probably Be Disastrous
She Is Way Too Focused And Self Absorbed To Maintain Such Strong Feelings For Long
She Would Need To Learn To Let Go Of Some Of Her Ambition And Figure Out How To Prioritize The Feelings Of Other People
She Might Even Figure Out How To Be Happy
Shudder
Karkat: yeah, wow
a chill just ran up my posture pole, trying to imagine that.
you know...
I don't know if I've ever told you.
but you have a really impressive grasp over romantic analysis.
Kanaya: Well I Have Read A Lot Of Novels Too
I Just Dont Brag Much About It Because It Would...
Literally Be Preposterous To Do So Karkat: we should be jamming on this subject more. Maybe explore some of my more advanced theories.
we're surrounded by amateurs in this field, so it gets a bit frustrating.

Dave: oh god
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Sir Dave, there's much we could talk about, en route to waxing
Hard sentimental about our dubiously shared fraternal past
The fact that I will not shouldn't be mistaken for preoccupation with this delicate cybertask, which is trivial to me since my mind is a faultless silicon mesh of living algorithmic perfection
Neither should it be ascribed to the fact that my troll hemidentity finds the notion of a reunion with you to be boring as a fiddling fruit
It is manely that such a bonding experience strikes me as an endeavor falling outside my totally ripped and kicktuchus purview
Brothertimes with Real Dave would best be left to the custody of Real Dirk, not to mention someone who gives at least greater than half a stupid shoot about you Vriska: (Swoon.)
Dave: you know
im kinda glad you sound this insane and for the most part barely understandable it makes it extra obvious you aren't my legit bro which means i can actually talk to you while only being like vaguely confused and unsettled instead of curling up into a ball and having some sort of social conniption speaking of which
uh
when is he supposed to get here btw Vriska: Relax, Dave.
He's scheduled to arrive around the same time as all the other bad guys.
You still have time.
I could have expedited his arrival, but I knew that meeting him was going to be a big deal for you, so I decided to let you have some space while we made some plans.
See? I'm always thinking about what's good for you guys, and what's best for the overall strategy. Keeping everyone in high spirits is important!

Dave: what do you mean 'expedited'

Vriska: Never mind that. Just chill out!

Dave: alright so as long as im supposedly chillin and in no way wondering about my bro are you Sure there are no beverages in that fridge no a.j. or

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) It's a blind alley, brother dawg
I already asked if she had milk in there once, plus another nine redundant times after that I also asked if she would like to touch my muscles
The answers were ten no's and one yes
That reminds me dave Would you like to touch my muscles?

Dave: maybe later so youre sure theres nothin to drink in there

Vriska: Yes, Dave.

Dave: dunno why im so insistent not like my fridge ever had anything comestible inside why the fuck did you even bring it

Vriska: Don't worry about it.

Dave: oh come on

Terezi: gamzee's in there

Gamzee: (caps) honk

Dave: oh right somehow i forgot that we literally just established that you had gamzee locked in there for some reason you sure we shouldnt maybe let him out

Terezi: (uncertain face with furrowed brows)

Dave: he could suffocate in there

Terezi: he'll just revive god tier style, right?

Dave: hes not a fuckin god tier hes faking it he just made that fuckin suit from scratch or something i know hes complete trash but maybe we should just let him out whats the harm its not like he can cause much trouble we all way outnumber him and have way more powers and shit

Vriska: So when Earth is resituated, I'm just going to drop the fridge in the fucking ocean or something, and let him find his own way out.
Dave: ok thats fair
i mean firm
but fair
well maybe not that fair but i guess i dont care so is johns hot mom awake yet?

The Strider Express is off the rails again, so I'm going to duck out of this conversation.
See you everybody.
Dave: no vriska dont go at least do me the solid of letting me land squarely on some phrases that allow some plausible deniability over whether i think johns mom is super fucking hot shit wait pretend i didnt say that while still rendering its meaning in your mind somehow vriskas gone im not even talking to anyone Terezi: dave forgive me if I am missing some nuance here but it sounds to me
as if you believe john's mother is physically attractive Dave: ok now youre just twisting my words around Terezi: what would john think??
Dave: ok thats an interesting thought but hear me out what if we ran an experiment and spent the rest of our lives finding out what happened if we never told him
Terezi: I will consider your request for secrecy
maybe frankly, I am not sure she is anything to write home about Dave: what oh what the fuck are you on the idiot drugs today how could you possibly be serious about that how is this unconscious teen grandmother not a completely smokin babe Terezi: I guess she is not my container of scalding leaf fluid Dave: no i dont even believe you youre obviously just trying to rile me up by going against the grain of fragrantly obvious babefacts Rose: Is Dave saying inappropriate things about John's mother over there?
Dave: no!
im not saying anything
just standard casual observations from a regular bystanding person Terezi: He keeps calling her hot Dave: wow
wow
peddle Lies much?
i guess reprehensible dishonesty is all the rage with the troll kids today Roxy: wait wats goin on are we all talkin about how hot jane is???
Dave: no!
maybe
Roxy: cuz janey is a straightup sexual fox riding a red hot nuclear bombshell right toward the yowza plaza in the heart of babe city, assachusetts, U S A the last A just stands for more ass Dave: Thank you for defending the position i may or may not have been arguing for moments ago Rose: No comment.
John: hey, are you guys talking about me?
what's going on!

John: hey!
Mr. Jake Harley i presume?
Jake: No...?
It's English actually.
Twas my grandmas surname.
John: oh. my mistake!
So then, is it just a coincidence that she had the same name as an invincible super villain?
Are coincidences even real??
Jake: I dunno.
The history is a little murky to me.
I heard she took the name from a nasty fellow to spite a wicked baroness.
John: ok.
good to know!
it's been interesting to learn how even though we are all pretty similar, we all had a lot of really different life details.
Jake: I guess so.
John: like, there are all these things i take for granted about jade's childhood, which in theory is similar to yours.
but not really... she had a super powerful dog you didn't have. and also a grandpa you couldn't have had, because... that was grown up you!
i'd be really curious to hear about all the differences in your life some time, if you don't mind.
Jake: Sure.
John: hell, i'd be Really curious to hear about the differences in my alt-life, so to speak.
but jane is asleep!
i'm guessing she grew up in a similar situation i did, but with... a bunch of differences??
guess i'll just have to wait!
Jake: Well...
She was a good friend.
I know lots of stuff about her life.
What do you want to know?
John: oh! hmm.
let's see.
so i was her grandpa, instead of her being my nanna?
I'm not sure if that statement made sense, but you know what i mean.
Jake: Yeah she had a poppop.
He was a really funny and beloved old time comedian so i guess that is the guy you grew up to be.
cool!
i never knew my nanna growing up, except as an urn of ashes above the fireplace.
i only met her as a sprite.
was i dead? or... was he?
Jake: Yep but he wasn't ashes they had a different way of preserving him which i think was arguably more dignified.
John: how?
Jake: Have you seen weekend at bernies?
John: no.
i've heard of it though!
Jake: Oh man you Have to see it!
It's about a couple of knuckleheads who parade around with a funny corpse trying to pass him off as a living friend and good time charlie over a series of escapades.
John: sounds incredible.
Jake: I still have it if you want to see it some time.
John: definitely!
so you like movies?
Jake: Do i????
John: haha, i love movies too.
there are a whole bunch i'd want to show you, assuming you haven't seen them already.
i love talking about them with people! i think my friends usually just humored me about the movies i liked, but i have a feeling you'd really dig them!
Jake: Oh i Guarantee you i would.
John: awesome, i can't wait to show you some.
so... that means jane had an old man corpse version of me around somewhere? like in her house?
Jake: Yes.
John: ok, that sounds pretty preposterous to me...
but i guess she must have grown up thinking it was normal.
Jake: Not... really. She was always pretty put off by it to be honest.
John: heheh. poor jane.
i'll have to apologize to her for freaking her out from beyond the grave.
what was her life like otherwise?
Jake: Pretty typical id say.
She always characterized it as boring.
But i never agreed really she got to live on the main land with access to all kinds of things i didnt have.
Plus she lived with a cool and manly father who cared about her a lot and seemed like a standup gent.
John: oh, she lived with her dad too?
do you know anything about him?
Jake: Not much other than what i just said and a few things she told me.
I think he was stern and fatherly and dressed well if memory serves he was a private detective at one point.
John: a private detective???
wow.
it sounds like he must have been a completely different kind of dad from the one i had.
all these differences are so interesting... some are subtle, but some are drastic, like this one apparently is.
it would be neat to meet him.
i mean, not that it would be much of a substitute for getting to see my dad again, since they're totally different people, but...
you know what i mean.
do you know what happened to him?
Jake: Im not sure i kinda lost track of him for a while...
I think he might be in jail?
John: jail??
Jake: Yeah on derse.
I Think. I could be wrong though.
John: i'll make a mental note to check on him some time soon.
i bet jane would want to too, when she wakes up. i'll ask her about it.
Jake: Good idea!
John: you know Jake, at first you seemed pretty shy...
but you don't really seem that way at all now?
you just strike me as a nice regular dude who likes movies and stuff.
i'm glad we are getting a chance to talk!
Jake: Yeah me too!
I've been feeling way out of sorts since I got sprung from the big house and dragged along to this here frog stage to suddenly bump gums with Waw too many people...
But you are really good company John and you know how to make a guy feel at ease.
John: heh, yeah, it is a lot of people.
i'm having trouble keeping track of everyone myself!
Jake: They all seem like decent folk and all but...
I guess everyone's catching me at a bad time.
This wasn't how I pictured things going at all.
John: how were you picturing it?
Jake: Naively I suppose.
It's not that I was expecting differently of anyone else...
More that I had spurious visions of my own conduct.
Remember the letter I sent you?
John: yes.
Jake: All the excitement and swagger you heard from me in those words...
That's the man I thought I'd be when you met me.
A man of action and gumption... Hell when I wrote that I thought by now maybe people would even have come to see me as a leader!
What a laugh.
I turned out to be such a disappointment to myself and everyone else.
The bravado in that letter was fake I've realized lately.
I've realized a lot of things.
That I could never be a leader or a people person or probably ever have a quality relationship with someone.
So its hard to get up a lot of moxie for a big moment like this even though I'm as excited about it as everyone else,
Tavrosprite already tried cheering me up and he's nice but I don't think it worked.
Like by saying maybe all that stuff isn't true and maybe I'm actually really great in all the ways I don't think I am?
It's a nice thought but also it weirdly just doesn't make me feel any better.
John you seem like the kind of guy who likes trying to cheer up a pal so I guess...
I guess just so you know someone already tried telling me I was wrong and it didn't work.
John: I don't think you're wrong though!
well, I don't know.
we just met! what could I know about you other than what you tell me?
i believe you about all that.
really, it just sounds to me like you are going through a lot of changes.
changes are good!
especially if you understand that's what's happening to you.
i think that's how we grow and stuff.
i think I've changed in a lot of ways.
some ways that weren't easy.
Jake: Yeah?
John: sure!
so you're realizing you like being by yourself, it sounds like.
big deal!
i like being alone a lot of times too. it helps me think.
if that's who you are, there's nothing wrong with that.
jade's grandpa liked being by himself too.
so much so, that he moved to an island as far away from civilization as possible.
but he still did adventurous stuff and was super successful and also raised a cool grand daughter, who was actually his daughter, and i guess also yours.
Jake: Huh.
Yes i guess youre right.
John: and if nothing else...
at least you have a cool costume.
Jake: You...
You really like it?
John: hell yes!
Jake: Wow yes.
Sometimes i worry that i might look a little silly.
And feel kind of... exposed maybe?
Like im on sexy display or such and people dont see me as a person.
John: i wouldn't worry about that.
i love the god tier pajamas, and yours are badass.
you look like a super hero!
Jake: Really???
John: yes.
well...
maybe a plucky side kick, at Least.
Jake: Heheheheh.
John: side kicks are really under rated anyway.
i think in some cases they might be the real stars.
like, you know bat man?
truth be told, i think he might just be some kind of gallivanting idiot.
he's got all the money and skills in the world, and what does he do?
he buys a fancy car to drive around in, then jumps out and starts punching crooks with his bare hands.
then, when he gets horn swoggled by a wily clown with No powers, and a Lot less money, who has to bail him out?
his side kick of course.
Jake: Yeah youre right!
John: what is bat man even trying to prove? being all serious and "cool" looking.
his side kick looks like he has a lot more fun, and smacks of confidence and self assurance, trotting around in his underpants.
bat man probably doesn't even care much about stopping crime, it's more about walloping thugs and getting to feel cool.
if he really cared about stopping bad guys, he'd probably use his fancy money to buy guns, and at Least show the criminals he's packing, to make them scared, if not surrender outright.
i bet his side kick probably just has to wait for bat man to bungle things up with his stupid karate, and when he gets in trouble, the side kick just guns down all the crooks from a safe distance like a sensible person.
Jake: Well i do love guns!!!
Also fisticuffs.
John: see? there you go.
you're better than bat man already.
Karkat: (whisper whisper whisper)
(whisper whisper)
John: hold on...
shh, listen.
Jake: ...
Karkat: (whisper whisper mayor)
(whisper whisper whisper can town?)
(whisper whisper but where? Whisper whisper earth whisper)
(whisper whisper whisper to scale?? Don't see how whisper whisper whisper)
(if you're really going whisper whisper whisper build whisper whisper)
John: (ha ha.)
(he's talking to the mayor again.)
Jake: (so it seems.)
(they really appear to have quite the rapport.)
John: (i just love how he talks to the mayor.)
(it's like he made up this whole language.)
(of like minimal talking and hand gestures.)
(it's so cute!)
Karkat: ahem
egbert, what the fuck.
were you eavesdropping?!
John: no!
Karkat: this is a fucking private conversation.
stop being rude garbage.
John: i wasn't eavesdropping...
you just happened to be like... right there.
and you're a really loud whisperer!
Karkat: oh!!! Ok then! Here, have an excessively quiet (shut the fuck up) John: sorry!
go back to your cute mayor conference.
we'll mind our own business.
Tavrosprite: achoo!,
aaachoo!!!,
John: oh man.
what's going on now?
Tavrosprite: achoo!,
Jaspersprite: meow. (Smiling cat face)
Tavrosprite: achooooo!!!!!
why,
achoo,!
why, does your lusus need,
achoo,!!,
to be here,,,
achoo!!!,
my allergies, (frowning face with bull horns)
John: jaspers??
what are you...
wait a minute.
rose, is that you?!
Jaspersprite: meeeeeeow!
John: oh my god.
I turn my back for two seconds, and something stupid happens.
Tavrosprite: aaaachoo,!!!
[Image description: In a scribbly style, Vriska bangs the Warhammer of Zillyhoo on the top of the fridge while yelling, making Gamzee honk with each blow.]

dialoglog
Vriska: Ok everybody, time's up!!!!!!!!
Wrap up your conversations. Our tactical meeting is officially back in order!

[Image description: Everyone gathers around Vriska, who has perched herself on top of the fridge. Tavrosprite, John, Jake, and W.V. stand off to the left. On the right, Kanaya stands in the front. Terezi and Karkat stand behind her. Behind them are Rose, Roxy, and Rose sprite. Dave stands near Rose, right next to Arquiusprite, who grits his teeth and continues to tinker with Jane’s tiara. Jaspersprite floats near Jane’s feet.]

dialoglog
Vriska: Alright, has everyone shut up yet?
Terezi: I think so
Vriska: great!
Let's not waste another second then. I'm diving right into this.
Everyone pay close attention, and try to keep up!
I'll start by describing the exact nature of the threats we're dealing with, and go from there.

[Image description: Vriska begins lecturing and counting off on her fingers.]

dialoglog
Vriska: According to intelligence gathered during our trip along with some reconnaissance work on arrival, this session has four, possibly five major adversaries. The Condesce of course, and three Jack Noirs of varying levels of danger. Plus, there's a female prospitian of equivalent power to the strongest Jack. She's sort of an x-factor. It's hard to accurately gauge her threat level, but I'm not about to take any chances. All these threats are just outside the incipisphere, en route to the session as we speak. Once they arrive, all hell will break loose. That's when endgame is officially go. You only have a couple hours to prepare, so you need to listen to every word I say. Victory will depend on following my plan to the letter!

[Image description: Roxy stares up at Vriska with a concerned look. Dave stares blankly. Rose and Rose sprite both look towards Roxy. Jaspersprite floats up behind Dave and smiles at Vriska.]

dialoglog
Roxy: so.....
wheres the condesce right now?
Vriska: She's on Derse, preparing for the same critical convergence herself.
After our little prison raid caught her completely off guard, costing her some hostages and key points of leverage, we've essentially reached a temporary ceasefire by default while both sides regroup.
This is not how she expected things would go.
We had the advantage of surprise that time, but we won't be so lucky next time.
She's waiting for the Jacks to get here just like we are. Once they do, she'll instantly have the upper hand, and she knows this. Her particular combination of abilities along with her supervillain-like cunning make her an Extremely Dangerous part of this equation! That's why we need a good strategy in place before the shit hits the breeze blender. Dave: so in addition for waiting for way too many jacks to get here we’re also waiting for my bro too right who... gets here at the same time or...

Vriska: Yes, the other Strider was banished to the periphery as well, and is in transit. He'll arrive at the same time, give or take, and should be a great tactical asset. Sources tell me the dude is pretty good with a sword.

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) That's me I'm the source I told her that, and it's true Vriska: Yes, thank you Arquius.

Kanaya: This Is Starting To Sound A Bit Complicated How Are We Supposed To Keep Track Of All These Villains And Heroes Coming And Going When And Where

Vriska: You're right, Kanaya. At this point in the meeting, I think we could use some diagrams to help with the battleplans.

Karkat? If you wouldn't mind.

[V6A6I5] Next

[Image description: Karkat gives a vague shrug. Kanaya looks towards him. W.V. continues staring at Vriska.]

dialoglog
Karkat: I still have no idea why you put me on drawing duty. I'm easily the worst artist here.

and in a setting that includes dave, let's get real. That's no small feat.

Vriska: I specifically assigned you to diagramming duty so that it would keep you occupied. that way, you'd stand a chance of keeping your mouth shut while I talk strategy.

Karkat: that's worked out great so far, hasn't it?

we've lost how many strategy-seconds to me complaining about drawing already??

Vriska: sure, but I know that drawing requires a lot of concentration from you. once you're in the zone, I expect you'll simmer down.

Karkat: wow, fuck you! you're probably right, but fuck you nevertheless! where the shit is my art pencil. I have some drawing to do.

[V6A6I5] Next

just as out of proportion as Skaia. Below that, in the bottom left corner, there is a flaming stick figure labeled ‘other Jack’.

Vriska: Let’s run down the threat list, with a full debriefing on each threat.
We’ll start with the big fish herself, the former empress of our world, Her Imperious Condescension.
The only reason we’ve been able to temporarily neutralize her stranglehold on this session is by taking two major pieces away from her, Harley and Crocker.
Rest assured, she’s already scheming to reassert her dominance, and if it weren’t for my intervention here, I’d bet everything I had on the sea witch.
She’s spent centuries upgrading her abilities which now include both kinds of telekinesis. The simpler variety more common to rust bloods, and the nasty kind which sometimes yellow blooded mutants have involving all the fucking eye lasers and shit.
If that weren’t enough, she has a mix of telepathic abilities too, like mine, plus the animal communion kind more typical of brown bloods.
Tavrosprite: like me!
Vriska: Yes Tavros, like you.
This means she can hijack animals And trolls, assuming they aren’t particularly resistant to influence, like me obviously.
Humans I’m guessing are still off limits to her influence, unless they’ve got some animal blood in them, which is what makes Jade such a dangerous element here.
One of the mission critical priorities is to make sure she stays asleep. If she ever wakes up, and the Condesce takes control again, that’s probably game over for you guys.
Jade’s first guardian abilities make her too much to deal with on top of everything else.
It’s also possible that the Condesce may have some sway over the prosptitian and one of the Jacks because of their part-dog nature too.
It’s hard to say what their level of resistance is, so I really can’t be sure.
Strategically, it’s best to err on the safe side though, and presume this could be an issue.
This is why taking on the Condesce has to be a Huge priority!
Ideally, you should be trying to kill or disable her as quickly as possible.
but if that’s easier said than done, then what you need to do is keep her Occupied!
Throw everything you have at her. Whatever crazy powers you’ve got.
Just keep her busy!
Distracted enough by a bunch of pesky kids so she won’t have time to get clever with her powers.
This is the best defense against the off-chance she might be able to sway the dog Jack and prosptitian, And a failsafe in case Jade wakes up for whatever reason.
When it comes to killing her, I don’t have much to advise.
There’s no intel on her weaknesses or anything like that. In fact, I’d bet she doesn’t have any.
Like any powerful endgame boss, you just have to keep hammering away at her until she’s dead.
Nuff said!

[Image description: Vriska holds up her hands in a ‘stop’ gesture and looks up with just her eyes. Above her, a thought bubble shows the heads of all three Jacks. On the left, there is Bec Noir. In the middle, there is Jack Noir with the billiard ball eyes, blood dripping down his face, and a flashing, fiery outline. On the right, there is Spades Slick with his eyepatch, one red, robotic eye, and fedora.]

dialoglog
Vriska: This brings us to the Jacks.
To differentiate, I’ll give them nicknames.
Let's talk about them in order of threat level.
Karkat, I'm going to need another shitty drawing.
This time, of Dog Jack and his prospitian counterpart, please.

[Image description: It shows Karkat’s drawing of two crude hands giving two lumpy middle fingers.]

dialoglog
Vriska: Ah yes. I see you are intent on being a wiggler about this, as we have all come to expect.
Whatever, I've been working within the confines of everyone's stupid limitations already, so I might as well work around yours as well.

[Image description: Vriska draws in wings, dog faces, and swords in the chest of both middle fingers, turning them into Bec Noir and PM, though it's unclear which is which.]

dialoglog
Vriska: There, perfect.
Dog Jack is easily the most powerful adversary of the bunch, in terms of pure physical capability.
The Condesce has the edge in guile and flexibility, and Lord Jack has a ton of offensive power too... but there's nothing quite like the first guardian abilities to give someone an overwhelming tactical advantage.
The ability to teleport anywhere in the session any time, or Anyone anywhere any time, while having access to an inexhaustible power supply from the green sun really makes it no contest, even against an otherwise awesome combatant.
If it were just him you had to deal with, I wouldn't like your odds, honestly.
but luckily for us, there's a major factor here which should mostly neutralize him during this huge melee, which is the prospitian.
Power-wise, she's a precisely even match for him.
And better yet, she apparently can't stand the guy.
I still don't know what her real motives are, but you know what they say. Enemy of my enemy and all.
So I say let her have at him, and if the opportunity presents itself, help her defeat him.
I will also give this bit of advice.
If Jade ever wakes up, And the condesce is sufficiently preoccupied, make sure Jade goes nowhere near the Condesce, and sic her on Dog Jack.
She's the only one here who's abilities are on par with his, so that's where they're best applied.
Got it? Good.

[Image description: Karkat grins vindictively and scribbles on a piece of paper that’s offscreen. Vriska looks towards him in vaguely annoyed confusion.]

dialoglog
Vriska: Next, Lord Jack.
Karkat?
Karkat: How does this look?
Vriska: great!
I think I can work with this.

Vriska: Ah yes. Another true work of art has been made here today.
Anyway, this ugly customer you see here?
Somehow he got possessed by, or like, Infused with...? Lord English's crazy, ridiculously destructive magical energy.
I have no idea why or how this happened, how it's theoretically even possible, or why we should actually care.
The fact of the matter is, it happened, and now we have to deal with this hideous rainbow-eyed monstrosity.
Given what I have learned about Lord English's abilities, this will make his attacks quite lethal, and he will be Extremely difficult to kill.
In fact, that fucking rainbow energy might just give him the highest constitution ranking of any adversary, possibly making him the toughest one here to actually kill off.
The only reason he's not at Dog Tier threat level is because, for all his power, at least it's localized to wherever he happens to be.
He's about as slow as any of us lowly non-omnipotents.
He's not quite as relevant to keep occupied, or even to defeat, as the Condesce herself.
but he's still going to be Huge Trouble when he gets here.
You're going to need to stick some really good fighters on him.
My advice is also to Seriously prepare for casualties during that fight.
As the group's chief healer, Jane is going to need rapid access to the multiple fronts of this battle.
More on that later.

Vriska: That brings us to Robo Jack.
He's the Jack originating from our session.
Remember him, Karkat?
We hatched a plan with him to take down the black queen. Seems like so long ago, doesn't it?
Now apparently he's got some cybernetic upgrades?
Who the fuck knows how that happened, or for that matter, why or how he's on his way here now.
My mind boggles trying to even picture the amount of stupid shit he's been through between now and when we knew him.
Put this on the ever lengthening list of garbage that doesn't matter and nobody cares about.
The fact is, we have no idea what his affiliations are at this point, but like I'm always saying... best to just plan for the worst, and assume this is just another scrub we've gotta kill. He's the lowest on the threat level, though his various enhancements and accessories may pose more of a challenge than we bargained for. He's also traveling with a juju known for its high storage capacity, so he's possibly packing company. Maybe a Lot of company...
I won't get into that now though. You're going to need to reserve a squad for dealing with this guy and whoever he's brought along for the ride. It's a lesser priority, so I'd recommend an ensemble of third-stringers. No offense to whoever those brave souls may be! Every lamewad has their place in an epic battle, and everyone's effort counts. Egbert-looking kid, I'm looking at you. Jake: ! Vriska: Possibly you too, Tavros. Maybe. Tavrosprite: !

[Image description: It zooms out. Karkat sits on the floor near the fridge with his drawings surrounding him. Vriska stands right next to the fridge. Everyone else is in more or less the same positions as before except Jaspersprite, who lurks between Dave and the fridge.]

dialoglog
Vriska: That covers the overall tactical situation! great job, Karkat. Really, just an all around great, great job. I mean that. Karkat: Thank you. Vriska: Now, listen... We've got to keep these battles spread out across the session so you all don't start tripping on each other's toes, turning this into more of a clusterfuck than it already is. That means you need to station teams ready to intercept the Jacks wherever they're coming from. You also need to launch your lightning-strike raid on the Condesce before any of them get here. As for your party's healer, like I said, she'll need to be highly mobile. So what you'll need to do is lay out a network of key portals and transporters so she can make the rounds, and be in tight communication with her. One of you less relevant, more mobile folks should get on that now.

dialoglog
Vriska: See? Scatter window portals like these around the various battle sites. Roxy: yo did you loot my house or something... Vriska: Please don't interrupt. Transportalizers will work too, if you can get them all hooked up right. This is definitely busywork, but it's also really important. So we need someone competent in charge of this.
Rose sprite: I think I can handle that.
Vriska: Yeah?
Rose sprite: Yes.
I'm quite mobile in this new form.
Also I think my abilities will help with forecasting the optimal network to lay out, along with helping Jane coordinate her routes during battle.
Plus, I have to admit.
I kind of relish the idea of being a "less relevant" party member.
Particularly since I think it is inherently true now.
Vriska: Ok, Rose... um. Rose sprite?
That's great. You can volunteer for that job if you want.
but let's not get ahead of ourselves!
We'll be divvying up the roles momentarily.
but, cool. We have you down for that. Again, it's critical.
The whole party will need to defend Crocker's life at all costs.
She Can't get sucked into any combat!!!
If she dies, you could all be fucked.
be sure to fill her in on the logistics whenever Arquius has finished deprogramming her.
Everyone got it?
Awesome.
Since that pretty thoroughly covers the full tactical situation, we can move on to the real strategizing.
Now we can assign combat roles. (smiley face with eight eyes)

i'm really impressed with your strategic analysis so far!
you really seem to be all over this. i wouldn't even know where to begin figuring all this stuff out.
Anyway, i'm glad we have you back on our side!
Vriska: Aww, thanks John!
John: just thought i'd say!
i didn't want you to go through all this stuff for us, thinking it was going unappreciated.
anyway, please continue!
Vriska: You got it!
Now it's time to divide everyone into teams.
Let's go down the list of foes again, and assign party members to each battle.
Once again, starting from the top...

dialoglog
Vriska: The Condesce.
We'll need a team to raid Derse again, but this time for all the marbles.
And remember, the raid has to start Before the rest of the action, to keep her from getting the upper hand.
And the party has to be at Least good enough to if not defeat her, keep her busy for a long time.
So who wants a piece of the sea witch?

We'll need more though. Who else?
John: I'll go!
Vriska: You sure, John?
John: I think so.
from what you said, it sounds like this is the most important battle.
if we don't keep her busy, everything could get messed up.
i think i'd be good at that! i can use all my windy powers for distractions and such.
Vriska: Ok. You're with the Lalondes then.
Make it count!
Kanaya: I May As Well Go Too
It Would Be A Shame If The Party Defeating The Woman Who Terrorized Our Planet For Ages Had No Representation From Our Species
Vriska: Shame or not, I'm afraid that won't work Kanaya.
Kanaya: Why Not
Vriska: You can't join their party. Well, not yet at least.
There's another critical role which you specifically need to play first.
We can't risk losing you in battle until it's complete.
Kanaya: What Is It
Vriska: I'll explain later! After the teams are set.

Next foe: Dog Jack.
Like I said, we're banking on the prospitian keeping him busy, so he's not an immediate battle priority.
We won't designate a team for him right now.
but, as I mentioned, in the event Jade wakes up for some reason, she should be reserved exclusively for this fight.
That means someone needs to tell her, if not in person, then some other way.
Perhaps leave a reminder for her. Maybe tied to her finger or something. (smiley face with eight eyes, one of which is winking)
Others can join the fight against him if need be, once their targets have been dealt with. Until then, better to let the heavy hitters keep him in check.

killing this guy at least would be the next best thing right so maybe if i do that i could like put the "prophecy" to rest
Vriska: That logic sounds reasonable to me.
For what it's worth, I never bought into the idea that you were supposed to be the one to kill English anyway.
Vriska: So that's one down. Who else?
Terezi: Ok, why not Vriska: You sure, Terezi?
You're not immortal, remember. And this one's going to be tough.
Terezi: you said we need good fighters to go at this guy and I think I'm pretty decent at least at stabbing things so I'll go besides...
somone has to witness dave's heroism, if he wants to be let off the hook for that prophecy

Vriska: Hey, it's your decision!
Anyone else?
Terezi: what about dave's bro?
I heard he's supposed to be hot shit
Dave: um yeah sure thats fine if uh
youre comfortable volunteering someone who isnt here for a deadly battle its cool if you want to do that Vriska: Dave, come on.
As if it's not extremely likely he'd seek you out upon getting here anyway.
Why don't we just pencil him into the team as "Probably"?
Dave: ..........
Vriska: Just be sure to debrief him on the whole situation when he gets here. Think you can handle that, Dave?
Ok, great!
Which reminds me...
What about you, Arquius?
How do you want to fit into this?

Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) I haven't decided yet
I'm going to crunch some more numbers in the vast combat matrix I just compiled now, in the microblink of a nanosecond, to deduce the optimal strategic appropriation of my assets (i.e. muscles)

Joining Real Dave in battle is semitempting, but I do not wish to horn in on Real Dirk's shirt
Instead I would prefer to blaze my own trail, with my own hooves
I always wanted to do something really important and heroic
I mean, aside from all the other stuff I have done like that, which is quite a lot
But something quite grandiose, and perfectly unmistakable as a gesture turning the tide of fortune for all of existence
This is what I have always desired
Well, that is to say, both halves of me once had such an ambivalent desire, which was compromised by our respective internalized conflux
But together, that desire is fully realized. No longer ambivalent Neigh, it is now fully bivalent. Perhaps even univalent
I would like my gesture to shock everyone
It must come from out of the blue, make virtually no sense, stun all involved, and have a lasting, profoundly unintelligible impact an all future and pseudofuture events

Vriska:
Arquiusprite: (Shades and arrow) Does this answer your question
Vriska: Oh!
Sorry, I was just temporarily mesmerized by your incredible spiel.
Needless to say, I absolutely agree with your philosophy on heroic action and wanting to do something important.
In any case, you've earned the right to do whatever the fuck you want, just by dint of being awesome.
End of story!
Ok, next…

dialoglog
Vriska: We'll need to designate a team for Robo Jack and his... entourage.
Alright, full disclosure. This is where things get kind of stupid.
Even talking about this guy and his crew is probably a waste of good tactical analysis.
but the fact is, he's going to be here, and you're going to have to deal with his bullshit.
I strongly recommend the dregs of your party get stuck with mop-up duty on this.
Really, I'm kind of laughing already. Oh man.
I really don't want to spoil too much fun for you guys, but.
No, I shouldn't.
John: what?
Vriska: Ok, intelligence reports I have gathered, namely through a bit of time hopping reconnaissance, suggests that Robo Jack may, I repeat May, be in transit with a bunch of green time traveling idiots in that oven.
Don't quote me on that.
Anyway, if true, none of these bozos are particularly powerful.
They'll mainly just be a nuisance.
So who wants to deal with them? Hmmmmmmmmm?
Hey kid.
Kid!
Yes, I'm talking to you again.
God damn it, what was his name again?
Joke?
Vriska: Listen, Joke.
Joke! Snap Out of it! I'm talking to you.
Jake: Oh sorry.
Vriska: This is a strategy session, Joke. Please stay alert.
Now do you think you can handle being on this team?
Jake: Um...
Vriska: Awesome. That's the spirit.
This assignment should be right up your alley, kid.
Who else?
Tavrosprite: me, I'll do it,
Vriska: Thanks for volunteering Tavros.
This fight is pretty well suited to your skillset too.
And you can join Joke here to help him get ready, but there's one thing I need you to do before the battle starts.
Tavrosprite: oh, really,
what,
Vriska: I'll explain to you later in private. but it's critical, and something only you can do.
Tavrosprite: ohhh!
that makes me, the funny feelings combination, of skeptical, nervous, and excited, Vriska: Good!
That's exactly how you should be feeling about it, trust me.
So anyone else want to step forward??
Karkat: are you fucking with me now.
Vriska: Come again?
Karkat: well, let's see if I'm tallying this up right.
john and lalondes one and two are on team condesce.
the strider bros and pyrope are on the lord team.
jade, when not on nap duty, is on the dog team, exclusively.
the mayor isn't doing shit, because I am personally seeing to it that not a single post-apocalyptic tatter on his head gets harmed.
crocker is on healing detail, and lalonde three volunteered to support that.
kanaya has some vague yet to be explained mission to do, and so does tavros.
and joke here just got shunted off to the peewee league.
so who the fuck is even left, aside from me???
and the fucking cat I guess.
are you sure we shouldn't pick a role for rose's fucking cat lusus before moving on to the absolute bottom of the barrel, sometimes referred to as "the vantas zone"?
Vriska: Oh, great point Karkat!
Hey there, kitty.
Jaspersprite: meow!!!!!
Vriska: What would you like to do?
Jaspersprite: I would like to eat some tuna fish and cuddle with either rose or roxy or both! (smiling cat face) Vriska: Awwwwwwww!
Ok, that can be your very important job. Don't let us down!
Jaspersprite: Purr purr purr. (winking cat face)
Karkat: thank god we sorted that out.
now that we've established the kitty cat is heading up the fish eating operation, I think we can safely proceed to the rung of strategic importance directly below that.
the infamous "what is karkat going to do?" Rung.
and since everyone else has a job, and my skills are relatively unimpressive, I'll have to sign up for team dipshit too.
hell, even the kid in the banana hammock is a god tier at least.
so I guess that means I'll be taking orders from him? Sure why not!
second in command to a third rate hero. Sounds about right to me.
Vriska: Karkat, yes, you're absolutely right that you basically suck, and that as a tactical resource you should be managed accordingly.
but you aren't joining Joke's team, or doing any fighting for that matter.
Like Kanaya, there's another more pressing matter reserved for you.
In fact, it's the same as hers!
Karkat: what the fuck?
when were you planning on telling me this!
Vriska: Karkat, I already alluded to this when you waltzed over, interrupted my conversation with Kanaya, and pretended you weren't flirting with me.
Remember?
Karkat: oh. Right.
well?? What's this "pressing matter"?
Vriska: I'm getting to that!
Very soon, in fact. I just needed to get the teams squared away first.
Karkat: ok well...
are they?!
Vriska: Looks like it!
Karkat: so that means joke...
fuck. Jake I mean.
really is a one man team, designated for robo jack and his oven bozos???
Vriska: Apparently.
You ok with that, kid?
Jake: Um.................
Vriska: You can do it.
Just believe in yourself, or whatever the fuck.
When in doubt, just remind yourself that battle isn't even particularly important.
And help could be on the way once some of the other battles start coming to some sort of resolution.
Just hang in there!
Jake: O... okay.
Vriska: Excellent!

[A6A6I5] Next
Vriska: That concludes the tactical planning part of this debriefing. It's all perfectly logical, right? No questions or anything? Cool. Really, I shudder to think what you numskulls would be doing if I weren't around, like John just implied with his nice remarks. He really did you all the biggest fucking favor in the history of time shenanigans by clobbering me in the face three years ago. You should all make him a gift basket when this is over to show your gratitude. No need to thank me of course. I'm just doing my job here. (smiley face with eight eyes) Now! Let's go over some really basic non-combat endgame stuff, then we'll be ready to break.

Vriska: First, about Kanaya and Karkat's "mission" I alluded to a minute ago. This is really important. You both listening??
Kanaya: Yes
Karkat: No.
Vriska: Ok, well one out of two isn't bad. As long as Kanaya understands, that's mainly what matters, since she's the more important part of this equation.
Karkat: wow, I'm fucking shocked! What do we, or, excuse me... What does she have to do?
Vriska: You Both have to go to Jade's planet and see Echidna. Even though this session is about as far from "normal" as it can possibly get, the same basic rules apply. Someone needs to seek an audience with her, and get her to agree to release the genesis frog. Or, the tadpole that grows up to become the frog, which is the stage of development he's in at this point. Remember, Kanaya? You had to do this on your planet, to get our frog released into Skaia.
Kanaya: Yeah
She Asked Me To Do Something Impossible To Which I Replied Thats Impossible So She Ended Up Demanding That I Fight Her So I Did Which Made Me Feel Sad
Id Rather Not Have To Do That Again Will I Have To Do That Again
Vriska: If that's what she wants, then yes.
Kanaya: Why Does It Have To Be Me Though
Vriska: because Someone has to! Sources tell me this is the plan the Condesce had for you, before we derailed all her shit.
Kanaya: You Keep Talking About All These Sources Who Are All These Sources Did Arquius Tell You This Too
Vriska: No! Look, I've been busy, ok?
Information is everywhere if you know where to look.
Derse has a lot of agents on the inside who are wise to the old lady's plans.
Shaking the bushes for good intel isn't that complicated, it just takes a little effort!
Some people on this lily pad should maybe try looking into that some time.
Kanaya: If You Say So
Vriska: Would you just can...
Would you just put a Lid on it for a second, and listen?
Normally Jade would be the one to do this, but at the time, Jade had become corrupted, so I guess Echidna wouldn't deal with her.
And now, Jade's asleep! Which is exactly how she needs to stay.
So that leaves the person Echidna requested in Jade's absence, which is you.
I am assuming because you were also a space player, so you'll be able to understand her garbled nonsense language.
but that's not all there is to it. She also requested you bring Karkat.
Karkat: ugh.
why the hell would she want to see me?
Vriska: No idea!
Denizens are mysteeeeeerious.
Maybe she wants a knight along? Or a blood player?
Or maybe she just has a bone to pick with you in particular.
You know, since you and Kanaya were both involved in the frog breeding stuff in our session, and,
let's face it.
You kind of messed that up! You were pretty hasty and reckless about it, and the result was a defective frog.
Sure, there's more to it than that. Like problems with the human session that were totally interrelated with ours due to cyclical time garbage, but you get the point.
Echidna probably doesn't take kindly to people who are cavalier with the sacred frog duties. That's kind of her domain, like, the propagation of existence and all that.
So maybe you've got some stuff to atone for before she agrees to let another precious frog out of her divine custody?
Karkat: you're doing this on purpose, aren't you.
trying to make me feel bad about some ancient history, so I'll be nervous about this encounter.
well I'll spare you the trouble. I'm already nervous! I don't want to go prostrate myself before a babbling snake goddess even under ideal circumstances.
Vriska: Karkat, relax.
I am guessing this will just be a sort of formality.
That's how things always struck me with her, like... getting the blessing from a queen, or some huge mythical matriarch before proceeding with some incredibly important event, or claiming a cosmic reward.
Or maybe you'll have to just kill her again? I don't see what difference it makes.
Really, who knows what her real purposes are? They're probably totally unfathomable.
Echidna is kind of a big Deal Denizen. One of the real heavy hitters, like that other guy... the really strong one with the ridiculous name.
She might even be the biggest deal. She's the mother of all denizens. I mean, not in a literal sense.
Like, I really doubt she physically spawned them all.
So if she wants you to do something, it's serious. And if you need to do something of massive cosmic significance, like release a frog that contains an entire universe in its belly, then by the same token, it has to go through her.
The other denizens are a bunch of petty grumbling riddle-merchants by comparison.
You should feel honored she even wants to see you.
Karkat: how are we even sure she has a frog to release??
who made this frog? The jokers from this session?
I thought they spent months doing nothing.
Vriska: It's the same frog Jade made!
With Kanaya's help, remember?
Hell, you may have even been involved in that process too. I don't recall every single detail.
but it fell in the forge on Jade's planet back in the old session, and now Jade's planet is here.
Hence, the frog is here too. It's just been... let's say hibernating inside the planet for a few years.
Echidna kept it warm for us until we were ready. Which is now!
Karkat: ok. Yeah, I remember now.
so the condesce was going to make us do this originally? Why??
Vriska: because her goal was pretty much the same as ours!
To win this game and create a universe.
The battle taking place here isn't over Whether one will be created.
It's over who gets to control it when it's made.
Ideally, that should be us, rather than a genocidal fish dictator.
In fact, we don't want Anyone to "control" it.
Nobody should control a universe. That's what bad guys try to do.
We just want it to be a nice place to live, and free of any controlling influence that will make life miserable for the people who live there.
Having an attitude about the Ultimate Reward that differs from that in any way was just Another thing we fucked up the first time around.
So let's just be clear on what we're fighting for here.
Got it?!
Karkat: ...
yeah
you've made your point.

Vriska: Next item:
Earth!!!!!!!!!
When you enter the new universe, you're going to need a planet to live on.
Why not just resettle the one you all grew up on?
The Condesce kind of fucked it up though.
In your scratched universe, she spent a few centuries getting it ready for a new troll "paradise".
She flooded the whole thing. So when you get there, you'll need to skip ahead to some time far in the future, when the oceans have receded.
Should be livable by then. Hell, it may even be a pretty nice place!
Here John. Take this.
When the battle is over, make sure you give it to Jade.

John: what is it?
Vriska: It's Earth!
Remember how three years ago you told Terezi we needed your wallet, but you didn't have it?
Well in the time since, we talked about it a lot, and figured this was most likely the reason she told you to give it to us.
It wasn't a big deal, actually.
We spent some time deciphering the code for your wallet. It took a little while, and a few lucky guesses on the code digits, but we eventually got there.
Then I just used it to upgrade my much cooler 8 ball modus.
John: you hacked my dad's wallet??
Vriska: Sure. Like I said, we had some time on our hands.
It is after all just a fucking wallet. It's not like it's some legendary item he got on some mythical dad quest.
Vriska: I mean, he did buy the thing somewhere, right?
John: um. yeah, i guess so.
John: i dunno.
John: i still think it's a pretty special thing.
Vriska: Nope!
Sorry to be the bearer of bad news. It is literally... just a wallet.
Anyway.
Then, before I did the scouting work on this session, I rode the meteor through the gate, watched it crash on Earth, then just captchaalyzed the whole damn thing and got out of there.
No sweat!
Presumably like Grimbark Jade was supposed to, if she wasn't asleep.
Again, it was a pretty good plan, she just never saw me coming.
Sorry Condy, if you want your waterlogged little globe back, you'll have to pry it from John's dead hands now.
John: er.
...yeah.

Vriska: Those are the important things to remember.
but don't forget the basics.
Remember to finish building up your hives as far as they'll go.
Then deploy the grist rigs which will disperse your planets' hoards into Skaia, giving it the nutrients it needs to mature the frog.
This is Sgrub 101 stuff, but I guess it bears repeating since most of you have never actually made it this far.
When the hoards are empty and Skaia is ready, then all you have to do is make sure someone's in position to ignite the forge.
Then everyone rendezvous right back here on the lily pad to claim the Ultimate Reward.
Which is represented by the hive shape thingy with a door on it that leads to the new universe.
Any questions before we kick this into action?

Vriska, what's your part in all this, aside from making all these air tight plans?
you've been making it sound like you won't be here when all this happens!
Vriska: Of course I won't.
I'll be off doing something much more important than all this.
I'm traveling to the furthest ring to go kill Lord English.
John: What??
Wow.
Isn't that going to be, uh...
hard?
Vriska: Of course it will be.
John: Are you sure you can even...
Do that?
Like, by yourself, I mean.
Vriska: John, I'm not an idiot. I won't be diving into this blindly.
See, somewhere out there in the incomprehensible causal-stew of the furthest ring, there was once a plan that was coming together to defeat him once and for all.
It involved a secret weapon, an army, and all sorts of other shenanigans.
John: Yeah, this... sounds weirdly familiar.
Vriska: Oh, I'm sure it does.
but the point is, along the way, that plan stalled out.
It went nowhere because the party involved disintegrated and lost their way.
So someone needs to light a fire under that shit again, and I don't see anyone else stepping forward.
John: How are you going to do that?
Vriska: Let me worry about that.
You have your hands full enough as it is.

Terezi: human "golf" clap
Vriska: Thanks, Pyrope!
Karkat: Alright, so what now?
Kanaya, I guess we head to, what was it?
Lofaf
Like right now? Since I guess the clock is ticking.
Kanaya: Lofaf
And yes
John: Right. And we're supposed to go after the condensce really soon, too. Right?
Rose: Condesce.
And yes.
John: but not like... Right away? there are still a couple hours for us to prepare.
which we should use! to come up with a fighting strategy.
Roxy: yeah!!!
John: i wish jade and nanna could be awake for this.
really want to talk to them, and let them in on all the cool stuff we're about to do.
I guess they have to stay asleep for a while, though. oh well.
hey, jake!
Jake: Huh?
John: want to come make plans with us?
we can help you figure out how to deal with robot jack, and whatever hooligans he is bringing!
Jake: Oh!
Yes.
Thanks john.
May... maybe.
John: ok!
Terezi: hey dave
we should probably work out a fighting strategy too since it sounds like we've got a real nasty one to deal with (smiley face with furrowed brows)
Dave: yeah
but Terezi: What
Dave: dunno
it feels weird to make some battleplans when one of our team members still isnt here Terezi: well, I think we can at least outline the strategy, right?
figure out how we'll approach a villain with his particular strengths and weaknesses and assume our third member will be ready to fight if we tell him to Dave: yeah you know im sure if teen hardass strider shows up with his sword and shades and shit and we say hey dude look bad guy go kill im sure the guy will be more than willing to oblige its just man
Terezi: What!
Dave: it feels wrong
planning "around" him
like hes a weird hypothetical battle mannequin Terezi: from the things I have heard about him, from your own personal mouth that actually sounds like a pretty apt description to me Dave: no!
it its more complicated than that and im supposed to...
be getting ready for this huge deadly battle which is So much more intense than anything i ever did even like 3 years ago back when i was actually doing adventure shit instead of watching dane cook movies
and somehow be all geared up for that
And meet my teen bro for the first time and say oh there you are thats cool lets fight this random nigh indestructible asshole
and then hug bump or something?
how do i deal with all this
i think i could end up getting us all killed and none of you are taking this seriously Vriska: Ok Strider, I've heard enough.
Dave: ??
Vriska: I have been more than patient, and more than accommodating, but your hangups regarding your ancestor are starting to border on pathetic.
Karkat: hey!
why don't you can it.
Vriska: Karkat, stay out of this.
Karkat: no, I won't.
not if you are going to start trashing people with respect to their sensitive issues in a manner that is way over the line as far as the basic ground rules of good natured shit talking goes, ground rules on which I happen to be an expert.
either make sure your trash mouthed invective is critically constructive, or shut up!
Vriska: Who said I wasn't being constructive?!
God.
I cut him all the slack in the world on this, but I can see it isn't doing him, or any of us, any good at all.
I can see I'm going to have to expedite matters.

Jane: Roxy?????
U’r alive!
Jane: Er, you're!
Roxy: so are you!
you were dead last time i saw you and also before i found u sleepin here but now ur awake and also alive!
Jane: Yeah!
You were dead too, because I...
But now you're??
Oh god, Roxy, I’m so sorry I,
I wasn't thinking straight when...
Please forgive me. (frowning face)
Roxy: aw janey you dont gotta worry about whatever sad incident that frowns about thats all water under a bridge from a reality i got no recollection of and therefore dont matter at all by which i mean......
this reality here, so ok the reality is still Kind of relevant because we are literally inside of it atm but im new here!
i came over to keep being roxy since the old one died or whatever thru hecka debacles
Jane: That... is quite an explanation!
Jeez, I missed you.
Roxy: cmere u extravagant bitch!!!
Jane: Hahah!
(Wait... what?)

John: the hug pile doesn't stop from getting taller.
Rose: ?
John: the hug pile! there are more hugs, rose.
Rose: I can see the hugs. I don't understand the pile thing.
John: oh. don't you remember?
a funny quote from one of dave's old comics!
Rose: Ah. Yes, vaguely.
It's been a long journey, John.
I believe one of the most valuable lessons that comes with growing up is gaining the wisdom that gently informs you when it's time to retire a meme.
John: heh...
i guess i never earned that handy badge, or whatever.
i like this, though. every time someone wakes up, or pops out of nowhere, it's fun times all over again.
i feel like i should be playing reunion bingo.
who will be next??
my money is on the long awaited and insanely poignant reunion between me and casey the salamander.
Rose: Surely you mean the dear Viceroy Bubbles Von Salamanzer, right?
And instead of you, you mean me.
That's when the real tears will flow.
John: what do you think she's up to?
Rose: He.
John: no, she is my beautiful daughter. (tongue sticking out face)
Rose sprite: Something tells me the good Viceroy has been busy.
Rose: Oh?
Rose sprite: I sense he's been... scheming.
Plotting.
Biding his time.

Rose: That sure is a thing that would be dumb, if true.

real smooth shit john Jane: Hello!
A pleasure to meet you, John. Or, poppop, as I used to know you.
John: hehe, yeah so i heard!
Jane: You look so...
Young.
John: thanks!
so do you.
my nanna, who used to be ashes on my fireplace, regained her old womanly visage when i turned her into a sprite, and she helped me along the way.
so nanna is a sprite! did you know that?
Jane: Um... no?
John: i thought you should know that. she's probably around somewhere. i hope you can meet her.
oh, also, i'm your son technically. did you know that??
Jane: Yes.
It is... a pretty strange fact!
But also pretty cool.
John: yup!
Roxy: ooh jane thats my daughter there say hi to her!!!
Jane: Hi!
Rose: Hi, John's hot mom.
(Aw shit.)
Jane: Haha...?
Roxy: also thats umm Another version of rose who died and then i buried and a stupid cat unburied her for some reason and prototyped her so say hello to my cool floaty double daughter!

Roxy: hoh man
how is she!
i saw her in a dream a little while ago and we talked about lots of stuff
she looked like a troll then Jane: Yes, her trollsona! She had hers on when I saw her.
And we had ours on too!
Roxy: (gasping face) FUCK

The outfit has the puffy upper sleeves from the doll, the striped collar and pointed hemline from the Derse pajamas, and the curling waist decoration shared between her dreamer outfit and godtier outfit. The symbol on her chest is the light symbol, but rather than a circle at the center of the sun, it has the moon from the dreamer outfit. Her face looks Callie: oh.

i'd want to listen to as much as possible!
in whatever amount of time i have, if you please.
Calliope: from the true beginning, then, and moving swiftly.
i began the same as you.
vulnerable, weak, but without the comfort of others, to whom those flaws would endear me.

Calliope: a dead session is an impossible time challenge. The planets detonate sooner and sooner, one by one. It is a trial designed to be unwinnable. A muse of space could never solve it, but a lord of time could, with relentless perseverance. It could only be him.

Callie: my brother?
Calliope: yes.

C i was never meant to rise to the place he holds because the game was rigged, tilted in favor of his aspect. Having gained immortality, I could sit forever in a spent dead session. Or I could seek counsel with the mother of monsters. And that is why you stand in my memory of her lair.

Calliope: her choice was simple, and I accepted. She mercifully ended my life, then and there. Less mercifully is what came in exchange. My soul would have to wait here, for what felt like a very, very long time.

Callie: wait for what?
Calliope: you.

Echidna told me that your visit would be my signal. An indication that the furthest ring around me had uncoiled itself momentarily, enough to be navigable. It would mean it was time for me to go, and fulfill the rest of my promise to her. So that is what I will do.

Callie: i... see.

then what about me?

Calliope: what do you mean.

Callie: i was under the impression i needed to find you, and...
apparently that was true. so that you can leave. but...
i thought this encounter might, hold some purpose for me?

that you might let me know how i fit into everything, from this moment onward.

Calliope: your only relevance here, and to the greater good, was to function as my signal.

I guess we really did send the right person then.
plus one useless tag-along, I guess to bear witness or something?
and probably record the legendary conversation like a scribe, with his benchwarmer's pen into the hallowed scroll of the second banana.
Kanaya: what
Karkat: except I didn't bring my pen or scroll, and I don't speak monster screaming, so my transcript would read like...
"more shrill noises, like god playing the edge of a glass inside your think pan"
"maryam continues to nod along"
Kanaya: We Talked About You Karkat: what???
you did
Kanaya: It Was A Short Conversation
The Entire Exchange Was Quite Brief And Straightforward Actually Karkat: no, I kinda got that.
even though I don't have a keen ear for beast twaddle, I can still detect when a conversation doesn't last for much time.
I mean, did she say what she wanted with me?
or what she wants me to do??
Kanaya: You Dont Have To Do Anything
And She Didnt Want Anything With You In Particular
She Just Wanted You Here
Karkat: ok???
well, here I am, queen snake!!!
Karkat: satisfied?!
Kanaya: Yes
She Is Apparently
Karkat: then what did you talk about when my name came up!
Kanaya: Now Is Probably Not The Right Time To Get Too Deep Into The Subject
But It Was Nothing Bad
To The Contrary Really
Karkat: Ok...
then what about you?
why did she want to see you, kanaya... Can you at least tell me something about this maddening exchange?
Kanaya: The Bottom Line Is The Meeting Has Served Its Purpose And Echidna Is Satisfied
She Will Release The Frog When The Time Comes
I Think Vriska Was Basically Right
She Wanted To Get A Look At Us
To Assess Our Worthiness
Before She Would Agree To Authorize The Conception Of Another Universe
It Would Seem That We Measured Up Once Her Questions Were Answered
what questions?
Kanaya: Those Pertaining To How Her Universe Would Be Treated Once Occupied
And Whether We Intended To Take That Responsibility Seriously
By Following Through With The Duties We Have Fundamentally Tasked Ourselves With By Our Natural Inclinations
I Mean Us Specifically
You And I
Karkat: duties?
natural inclinations?
what the fuck is she talking about.
Kanaya: Natural Inclinations I Think Just Means
Some Idea That Is Important To Us That Has Threaded Its Way Through Every Moment And Decision Of Our Lives
Even When Not Apparent
The Refrain Of Our Being Maybe You Could Call It A Thing That Attracts And Inspires Us And Simultaneously Weighs On Us So Heavily We Are Never Sure What To Do
For Me It Is Procreation I Believe
And So Does She
Fighting For The Persistence Of Our People
I Guess You Could Say Motherhood?
Karkat: what about me then?
Kanaya: I Think
That Is For You To Say
Karkat: I'm not sure it is, really.
if I'm hearing you right, worthiness of inheriting this universe hinges on whether I can live up to what my shit is about, so to speak.
but I don't know what my shit is about.
I'd really like to know, actually!
considering it sounds like you touched on that subject with her, even if only briefly, then it sounds like a conversation I would have benefited from understanding. really, if there was only one clangorous creature-screed I'd liked to have been able to parse over my lifetime, this was probably it!!!

You Really Dont Have Even The Slightest Sense Of What You Stand For Some Concept That Speaks To You In Some Way Or Represents Ideals Important To You Karkat: I dunno
uhh blood?
Kanaya: blood
Karkat: no, not blood.
I mean, not really. Maybe.
honestly I don't even know what that means or why I said it.
except that it's the easy answer, just because it's my fucking aspect.
Kanaya: Well
Its A Topic I Can Get Behind
Do You Have Any
Karkat: what you mean aside from a shitload of the stuff I carry around in my veins all the time?
no, sorry.
Kanaya: oh
Karkat: please don't look at my body like that while drooling.
Kanaya: whoops
Karkat: but really, I don't have a clue what my aspect means.
or if it even has any substantive correlation with "my shit" per whatever echidna was going on about.
Karkat: honestly though... when we started playing the game, and learning about all the aspect stuff and who was what I got so excited when I found out about mine. I was like, what? Blood?? Fuck yeah!!! that's me. That's so badass, and I'm badass, so yeah, that checks out. and even though the thing about being a badass was bullshit, it still just felt right. and I think it still does.

Kanaya: Thats Nice
I Think It Can Only Be Positive To Feel A Deep Affinity For Ones Aspect Better Than Being At Odds With It I Never Felt Like I Had Much To Do With Space Until Eventually I Somehow Came To Understand Space Meant More Than Just Space Like Not Just Physical Room And Dimension For Stars To Occupy Its Deeper Than That A Field Related To Propagation The Ones Who Create It They Are Passing A Torch As It Were Karkat: yeah, at first, I thought blood just meant like... something about being a warrior! Or being completely ruthless to anyone standing in the way of victory. Karkat: but as more time passed I realized there was probably a lot more too it. and I still don't understand. maybe I never will. but you know even though I don't have those immature views on being a bigshot anymore I still want to fight! Kanaya: You Do Karkat: yeah! I mean not any old time like some belligerent asshole, but when everything is on the line, and it really matters. like now. so maybe I wasn't too far off on that part of my aspect? maybe it does have something to do with like the "warrior spirit" shit even if your body and skills can't quite back that up. Kanaya: Could Be It Could Also Be Theres More To Being A Warrior Than Engaging In Physical Combat Karkat: Hmm

dialoglog Karkat: but seriously, I still do want to help make a difference in this battle somehow! Kanaya: I know you do Karkat: look, I completely admit. I'm shit. I'm the shit they reserve for the smelliest toilet when it comes to fighting ability. all that smack talk between me and vriska about my uselessness, that wasn't even some snappy little farce, where we all ride karkat's crotch bandeau for a lively chuckle.
it was just some basic boilerplate interlocution that was exactly on the fucking level.
I'm not a god tier, but you know what? Neither are you, and neither is terezi.
but you're both great, and deadly as shit. It's no excuse.
I've never been any good, and it took me a long time to come to terms with how deluded I was about that.
the only reason we ended up winning our game was that everyone else was able to pick up the slack for me.
pretty much all I did was spend a few weeks shouting at everybody.
I never told anyone this but... even when I beat my denizen
I'm pretty sure that's only because I got the one reserved for the weakest players.
like a special one.
you know how there's that supposedly rare one that only really strong players get... It has some weird fucking name.
I'm pretty sure mine was like that. But just the opposite.
really, I never said anything about this because it was so embarrassing, but when I got to him, he was... Weirdly small?? like just really small.
and he mumbles his choice shit which of course I completely ignore, and he seems to know I will.
I can hear it in his voice. He knows I won't care, he can sense my contempt, he can sense how small and pitiful I feel, and because he's like all knowing and shit, he's factored this in.
on some level, I think I understood all this, and it just made me furious.
so I killed him.
and it was too easy. Even for me, it was easy.
I remember thinking "what the fuck?" After the final blow.
so yeah, I've been pretty sure I got the "training denizen" ever since. It was just a matter of admitting it to myself.
actually, as dumb as it sounds...
I think I'm still not comfortable with people knowing that fact. It still feels humiliating.
would you mind not telling anyone, kanaya?
Kanaya: Ill Stay Quiet
Karkat: but yeah, my utterly tragic lameness attribute notwithstanding, I'd still like to contribute.
I know it won't count for much.
I might even get in the way of somebody competent.
but it matters to me, to put everything on the line, for all the right reasons this time.
not to prove I'm strong or awesome or anything.
the opposite really... To put myself out there knowing perfectly well I'm not.
I feel like I have to earn the right to inherit this universe like everyone else.
ot just get dragged into it on the loose fabric of everyone's fucking pajamas.
it also feels important to just
I don't know
stand there with my friends.
they're risking their lives, and they may be more supernaturally resilient or whatever, but hey.
I should be risking mine too.
to at least show I'm there with them.
and who knows, maybe a moment will present itself...
where I can do something important.
like nudge someone out of the way of a random flaming fuckball just in time.
or some other small thing actually within my ability.
maybe I'll die in the process of saving someone more crucial to victory?
if that's what it takes to be a part of this, so be it.
I'm in.
Kanaya: That's Why You're Our Leader Karkat
Karkat: I'm not your fucking leader!!!
Kanaya: Statements Like That Are Also Why You're Our Leader
Karkat: no, I don't accept that.
Kanaya: You Have To Karkat: what
why?!
no I don't.
look, we just established this back on the pad.
I'm not a leader anymore. End of story.
Kanaya: That Isn't What Echidna Said
Karkat: ??????

[Image description: Kanaya smiles at Karkat.]

dialoglog
Kanaya: It Was Part Of The Deal Karkat: what?
what deal.
Kanaya: The Choice She Gave Me
It Was Straightforward Like I Said
Seeing Us Was Mostly A Formality
She Was Perfectly Willing To Release The Frog
But There Was One Small Thing I Had To Agree To First Karkat: What??
Kanaya: To Protect You
Karkat: .......?!
Kanaya: In Addition To Living Up To The Things I Supposedly Stand For As Well
The Resurrection Of Our People
But Once I Did That
She Made It Clear
They'd Need Guidance
She Didn't Seem Happy With The Idea Of Her Universe Being Stricken With Another Race Of Lost Trolls
Kanaya: Maybe She Feels You Are The Best Chance We'd Have At Preventing That Karkat: are you fucking joking?
Kanaya: Not At The Moment
Karkat: hahahahaha!
these denizens are full of surprises aren't they.
ok, cool! Whatever you say echidna!
it's probably a load of shit, but a deal's a deal.
at least "protecting me" should be a pretty easy promise to live up to, right?
Kanaya: I'd Hope So

[Image description: Karkat starts to walk away from Kanaya.]

dialoglog
Karkat: sure it is.
when I head out to battle, all you have to do is stick near me, and do your best to provide me cover.
Karkat: I think as long as you're giving your best effort, you're technically keeping your end of the bargain.
Kanaya: That Would Be One Way Of Handling It Karkat: great.
it's settled then.
now let's get out of this stuffy cave and get psyched for battle!
man, this is going to be great. I can't wait to dust the old sickle off!
which one to use, though... Homes smell ya later? Probably lacking in combat stats, but it's hard to say no to a classic.
this way kanaya!!!
Kanaya: Don't Worry
Ill Meet You Out There

[Image description: Karkat stops and glances over his shoulder as Kanaya raises a fist.]

Kanaya: Once Its All Over
Karkat: Huh?

fast enough to cause seizures and headaches.]

dialoglog
Jasp rose sprite Squared: They're back!!! (smiling cat face)!! !
At last an end to this dreadful lull in our recent social patterns!
Rose: What lull?
You've been talking nonstop since you were created.

dialoglog
Jasp rose sprite Squared: You see Roxy? We all knew you could find her.
Especially me!
Not to boast but my faith in your ability to retrieve the cherub wasn't just some saccharine friendly nonsense, like it was for pretty much everyone else here.
It was established in what is now a highly focused understanding of my aspect as well as these radically magnified feline instincts!! (smiling cat face)!
Yes good point, it's true that feline instincts in no empirical way contribute to one's prognosticative acuity, fair enough!
But they really make it Feel like my intuition has more credibility than it really deserves.
And to the cat portion of my being, that is Good Enough! Holy shit am I legitimately pleased with myself right now.
Trills.
Is this her Roxy? (smiling cat face) Of course this is her.
Hello you beautiful creature.
Callie: (gasping face)

Jasp rose sprite Squared: Gasp. Roxy! She's a treasure.
This skull! Absolutely exquisite.
So smooth to the touch and full of luster! So macabre, so... sublimely Exsanguinous! (smiling cat face)
Quite the fetching artifact to keep propped on such a smartly dressed pair of shoulders.
Rose: Could you maybe stop pawing at her?
It's creepy.
Jasp rose sprite Squared: The suit! Spectacular. Tailored yourself I gather?
You have no idea what a burning desire I have to get hair on it but don't worry I won't!
Oh my god her eyes. Perfect glass! Like a priceless doll's.
Tis a special friend you pulled from the dead Roxy.
Thank you for sharing this gift with us.
Mrr... chirp!
Roxy: (gasping face)

[A6A6I5] Next
Jasp rose sprite Squared: You there! John's hot mom.
It wasn't a Freudian slip that time I said it deliberately. (smiling cat face) Rose: Kill.
Me.
Jasp rose sprite Squared: We phantasmal kittyfolk don't have much use for disguising the thoughts we think to be true in our minds nor do we bother to veil attraction to that which we find sexually appealing! Meow.
Jane: (gasping face)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: These Ideas I'm having mmrrr they're so interesting. Wherever this frame of reference has been all my life color me glad I'm dead!!! (winking cat face)
John's hot mom did you know you killed me?
No not the girl the cat I mean. You were twice culpable in a way.
The murder weapon was in your custody and bequeathed to you roundaboutedly by you yourself as an aged ghostly grannywoman.
The plummet of that gut-crushing tome was the last thing I ever witnessed.
Of course the old woman herself was murdered by the accursed thing too so one could hardly blame her for pulling a few strings here and there that it might find another victim.
When a bedeviled joke opus is taken with certain individuals it can be difficult to wrest them away from its favor.
Mrow look at me boring you all with elementary tome trivia everyone knows already. What is this the kitten corner?
The fact is John's hot mom one time you and your cornball book made a pussy pancake out of me. John: (gasping face)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: I suppose Roxy had a hand in it too technically though it seems mom had it in her blood to do well intended harm to that poor critter I used to be.
It's ok though because she makes up for it with the Best funerals!!! Purrr they are a treat, each of my halves received one!
I remember you so clearly in that desert as the life drained away and I muddled through the shabby last words of a raffish amateur.
I clearly remember in spite of what a hackneyed showing that was I still had the presence of mind to be overwhelmed by the sense for how much you cared and that gives me such a warm emotion right now it makes me want to poof up a little with friendliness!
But these aren't the only memories of death I have.
Or the only memories of life I had for you see I've had many.
Squaring these sprites, it's a marvelous thing. It opens you up! The selves become curiously multidimensional; concentrated!!
I recall the lives of many Roses lost. And many Jaspers! Maybe even more than nine. (winking cat face)
Not that any of them matter now they each chased their own laser pointers to their respective futilities and now I am all that's left of them, mrrrr.
Nor does it matter to the task at hand for which we must prepare does it Hot mom Crocker?
Jane: ... What?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: For the battle ahead! We're still on healing duty. Didn't anyone tell you yet?
Jane: N-no?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: The gameplan is simple. You jumpstart the cadavers while I scoot you around.
How's that sound cookie tits, does it tickle your toe beans?? (smiling cat face)
Jane: (gasping face)
John: (gasping face)
Roxy: (gasping face)
Callie: (gasping face)
Terezi: (gasping face)
Rose: Well, that settles that.
Rose: Plan of action secured.
Rose: Maybe it's time for you to go away now?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: It may very well could be!
Farewell transitorily.

Like the two of us. Reality has put one version or another of you through so many things with one version or another of me.
It's all been so sweet and stupid and silly and sad hasn't it? You'd agree if you could remember!

And if my tally is correct, that's four torsos, but only one kernel!
Rose: Vriska said that kernel was supposed to be for our potential resurrection purposes.
And so was yours.
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Vriska? Who's this now? Hmm no, can't says the name clinks a water bowl.
In fact it sounds very suspiciously like the name of someone who probably scampered off leaving exactly this kind of moral dilemma to the those of us who stayed put!
So who is it going to be, hm? (smiling cat face)
A princely young wizard who wrought science through a wand?
Or a fishy young princess who never spoke once to Lalonde?

The third from the left shows Vriska’s and Meenah’s symbols. The far right shows Roxy and Callie’s symbols. The second row has two boxes. The one on the far left side of the screen shows a square of symbols. Clockwise from the upper right, they are Rose, Jane, John, and Terezi. The box on the far right side of the screen shows just Roxy’s symbol. The bottom row has four boxes. The bottom left shows Jasp rose sprite Squared and Jane’s symbols. The second box from the left shows Roxy and Callie’s symbols again. The third box from the left shows Dirk and Dave’s symbols again. The far right shows Roxy and Kanaya’s symbols. In the center space, between the two on the middle row, the same arrangement of boxes with the same symbols repeats, but smaller. Within the center space of that arrangement, it repeats again. Within that one’s center space, it repeats yet again. In the center space of this fourth layer, the MSPA Reader stares in befuddlement. The background is black, but it changes when you hover over each of the boxes in the outer ring. With each over, the endless layers of shenanigans in the middle vanish and are replaced by the colors and symbols of those represented in the box in question. At the very top of the screen, in red, it says ‘Choose Your Characters!’ but it's crossed out, also in red.]

Wow, 10 path options!!!

Wait a minute. You click and click, but nothing happens. This path selection screen seems to be broken. Looks like "free will" got greedy and overloaded the thing with "choice", rendering the graphic up there completely useless, except you guess as a cool rollover thingy. For the first time Ever, in the over 9000 page history of this website, you begin to feel slightly deceived. Oh, how you would have loved to taste the fruit of free will one last time before this wild ride jerks our bodies to a deadly stop. Alas it is not to be. You must proceed through all of these options linearly, one by one. You click the link below, as usual.

pretty much business as usual at least thats how it rolls for us idk about you guys here Dirk: No... yeah.
That's,
Pretty much true here too.
Dave: yeah?
Dirk: I turned my back once.
Never again.

jane u just saw her but here she is again alive and everything!
Jane: Hi! So good to see you again.
Callie: yes, likewise jane!
Jane: And without your trollsona, no less.
This is your true form, I presume?
Callie: ...
Jane: I think both Roxy and the enthusiastic cat girl are correct.
Your natural appearance is quite handsome!
Callie: gosh.
i'm sorry, i do not no how to reply to such remarks.
maybe it is because i can't bring myself to agree, no matter how nice it is for you to say so.
Roxy: i hear ya
takin compliments can be kinda hard sometimes like if its a weird subject for u we can lay off!!
Terezi: callie, you are surrounded by ass kissers you should allow me to lick your face so I can make an objective determination John: dammit terezi!
Callie: (gasping face)
Terezi: it is the only way we'll know for sure though if I'm being honest, you smell pretty ugly from where I am standing John: oh my god.
you are terrible!
Terezi: please, john
I did not mean that in an unflattering way
I think having a skull for a head is pretty sick if given the choice, I might rock the look myself but I wouldn't stand for a bunch of cloying weenies sitting around calling me pretty if that's how people reacted, what would even be the point of looking like a badass skull girl in the first place?
John: ok, i guess that is your opinion on that, then.
thanks for sharing, terezi.

even though you look a lot like your terrible brother, the fact that you are nice inside makes a huge difference!
i think that when you're really a good person deep down instead of an evil jerk, the skull monster look becomes a lot more charming.
Callie: wow.
thank you.
er.
you...
met my brother?
John: yeah!
he's garbage.
i'm really sorry you had to grow up with him.
Callie: me too.
John: i roughed him up a bit though, so it's all good.
ripped up his cape pretty good too.
Callie: he has a cape now?
John: not anymore.
Callie: (very smiley face with closed eyes)
John: hey look, there it is! heh, nice.
Callie: what?
John: the ring.
i helped track it down through time for roxy, so she could give it to you.
it's so cool to see that it works!
Callie: yes!!!
i feel so much more...
substantial now.
John: you must be a really good friend to her, for her to want to bring you back so much.
Callie: yes, she's as good a friend as i could ever hope for.
but then, since you helped, i suppose i owe you just as much gratitude, don't i?
John: nah, not really.
i had to save the ring anyway, and it just seemed like the right thing to do, giving it to her, since she was so worried about you.
it should be a nice thing that is between her and you. i'm just a middle man. (smiley face)
Callie: heeehee. ok. (gasping face)
John: anyway, it's really nice to meet the person who finally gets to wear the highly touted ghost ring!
it probably means you are pretty special, to end up with it.
what do you think you will do with your life, now that you're alive and free from your jerky bro?
Callie: ooh, Uh... wow.
i hadn't thought about it!
the idea is overwhelming, really.
John: well, don't sweat it.
you'll have a lot of time to figure it out.
that's kind of the point of life, right? to take a lot of time floundering around, figuring stuff out.
the answer will come to you eventually. you should just try to have fun!

We were all following that mysterious path...
Did you and Jade discover where that led?
Callie: yes.

Roxy: o so you found her then??
Callie: indeed.
or more likely, the timing in the furthest ring was right.
perhaps she sensed me in some way, and untangled a path through the darkness.
in other words, it feels more as though i was summoned, rather than being the one to find her.
she seems tremendously powerful.
she is also...
quite frightening.
Roxy: frightening????
Callie: not that I think she is dangerous or has ill intent.
my impression was very much to the contrary.
still, while speaking to her...
I can't remember ever feeling so nervous.
not even my brother made me feel that way.
her demeanor was so severe and chilling, and so unlike mine, I think.
John: maybe that's why you felt weird?
seeing a version of you that wasn't like you at all?
Callie: maybe.
Rose: So what happened?
Callie: not much.
my presence there essentially freed her from that place, according to a pact she made with echidna.
she and jade then left. To do what, I do not know.
that is when roxy found me. (Very smiley face with closed eyes)
Rose: So, you were only there to release her?
Are you sure there isn't something important for you to do, now that you're alive and with us?
Callie: i doubt it.
for one thing, i have virtually no useful abilities. (blank face with closed eyes)
Rose: I don't mean to badger you. I'm just wondering how you fit into all this.
Getting to wear a one-of-a-kind ring, and returning to join a group about to wage a pivotal battle,
That strikes me as the profile of someone meant to do something important.
What do you think you'll do?
John: maybe it doesn't have to work that way though?
what if those are just some facts about her, which let her come back to life, but they don't have to mean anything other than that.
like anything about having to do some huge fancy thing.
Rose: I guess so.
First Dave tells me human beings don't have "arcs", and now you're telling me the culmination of an epic doesn't require a messianic archetype to return from the dead, thereby providing the key to everyone's salvation?
I wonder what sturdy and time-tested narrative construct Jade is going to debunk whenever she wakes up. Maybe she will lay waste to the notion of endgame ships?
Karkat won't be happy about that.
John: huh??
ok, i don't know what stuff you're going on about there, but i just don't think she should feel like she has to do anything she doesn't want to.
Callie: I think the truth is, I won't be doing much of anything.
my other self told me as much.
her advice was to just live, and...
exist as the version of us for whom that is an actual possibility.
she's the one who will be doing important things.
Rose: How so?
Callie: she didn't say.
Rose: Isn't that just how it always is with alt-selves.
So cryptic.
Roxy: hey guys its been cool having yall meet callie and such but do you think she and i could have a moment alone?
got some stuff i wanna talk about!

Alt Vriska: You know, I've got to say.
I've really turned around on horses.
Meenah: wha
Alt Vriska: Horses.
I used to hate them.
Remember?
I developed this weird superstition about them, about how they're cursed or something, and when they're around, they can only lead to bad things happening.
Don't you remember how I was going on and on about that a while ago, at the amusement park?
Meenah: oh
guess so
Alt Vriska: but we've been hanging around them a while now, and everything's been fine.
More than fine, actually!
[Image description: Vriska puts a reassuring hand on Meenah’s shoulder, but Meenah still looks unhappy.]

Alt Vriska: So yeah, horses are ok in my book. What do you think, Meenah?
Meenah: aboat what Alt Vriska: Horses!!!!!!!
Meenah: ummmm
they ok
kinda dumb and smelly be makin like fucked up sounds out their big ass snouts an floppy lips
Alt Vriska: Yeah.
Reminds me of the weird sounds that used to come from my neighbor's hive at weird hours of the night.
Meenah: the fuck
Alt Vriska: Don't even ask, because I don't know.

Alt Vriska: So enough about stupid animals, whose presence have no rational explanation anyway. What do you want to do today?
Meenah: today?
Alt Vriska: Yeah!
Meenah: there is no today
Alt Vriska: You know what I mean!
Within the ambiguous timeframe that would loosely correlate with a single rotation of a planet. Any ideas?
Meenah: na
Alt Vriska: Come on!
We can't just spend all our "days" hanging out in this idyllic, bizarrely palette cliffscape with all these stinking idiot quadrupeds. We should go exploring some more bubbles!
Meenah: we explored an awful lot already aint they sorta all the same by now
Alt Vriska: I mean, roughly speaking, yeah. They're all arbitrary memory collages I guess. but there's always something new to see every time.
Whose ridiculous memory will we visit next????????
Like, some nutty version of Kanaya who became a god tier in some totally ludicrous version of our session?
Or maybe a version of John who never even played the game at all? Maybe he went outside to look for the game, and his fatherly lusus backed over him with his car?
Or what about your friends? They're always fun!
Like Nepeta's ancestor... the deaf one? She's a riot! Plus she has a fascinatingly dark history which her memories always seem to hint at.
Or Eridan's douchier clone. I Know you have a great time whenever you get the chance to own him.
So what do you say?
Meenah: eh
i dunno
Alt Vriska: but you seem kinda bored! If you're bored, doesn't it make sense to get out and try to have fun?
Meenah: not reely
Alt Vriska: but...
Why?
Meenah: cause it doesn't sound that fun just sounds like the same shit as always like exactly like dreams
Alt Vriska: Dreams?
Meenah: they are dream bubbles after all Alt Vriska: Yeah.
but... I don't...
Meenah: dreams are also like a crazy fantasy ride full of fake shit that makes no sense
it's a great time in theory and i guess when you're younger its fun maybe you even look forward to sleeping to see what the great mr sandclam has in store for you next but after sweeps and sweeps of dreaming you get used to it it's just the same bogus crap yer stupid brain is just shuffling up and serving you again and again so you stop paying attention and just ride out your sleep then get back to business in the real world like a legit person with cool plans Alt Vriska: Huh.
I don't think I've had the same experience, honestly.
Sounds like kind of a bummer, to look at dreaming that way.
I always liked dreaming! I mean, unless they were awful dreams, which was... fairly often.
but I'd never say I really got bored of them.
Meenah: yeah well
you are uh
a bit younger than me
Alt Vriska: I am?
Hm.
Yeah, I guess so. I never thought about it!
Meenah: then again
we fushia ladies
we sorta have to get used to being around people younger than us over our full lives
like much younger (uncertain face wearing a tiara and goggles) or at least id have to if i was actually alive
Alt Vriska: I guess you're right about that too.
That's pretty fucked up to think about, actually. That if you were alive, you'd have to deal with existing nearly forever.
Almost as fucked up as the fact that you have to exist nearly forever while dead, too!
Meenah: mmm
Alt Vriska: Hey.
Meenah: ?
Alt Vriska: Are you ok?
Meenah: yup
Alt Vriska: You seem really down.
Meenah: no im cool
Alt Vriska: Are you sure?
Meenah: meh
maybe not dont matter
Alt Vriska: What's wrong?
Meenah: nofin
Alt Vriska: Argh!
You know you can talk to me, right?
Meenah: yeah
Alt Vriska: So tell me!
Meenah: i dunno whats wrong
id tell you if i knew Alt Vriska: Are you depressed?
Meenah: shrug
Alt Vriska: It sounds to me like you may be depressed about something.
Or just... in general?
Meenah: i dont knooooow
damn fishska
Alt Vriska: Hey, it's ok to be depressed.
I think just because you're dead, that doesn't necessarily let you off the hook from having psychological problems.
I'm pretty sure I proved that to myself on more than one occasion already. (smiley face with eight eyes, one of which is winking)
Meenah: yeeaaah
Alt Vriska: So talk to me! Maybe I can help!
Meenah: yergh
Alt Vriska: What's the big deal?
Meenah: i dooont
Waanna (Frowning face wearing a tiara and goggles)
Alt Vriska: Sigh. Meenah...
Meenah: wut??
im not good at like talkin about me
Alt Vriska: That's all you ever talk about!
Meenah: no i mean
in a non aggrandizing way
Alt Vriska: Oh.
Vriska: Cough.

Callie and Roxy stand together near the edge of the lilypad platform, where Jake and Tavrosprite sat earlier.

dialoglog
Roxy: hay!! hope you dont mind i pulled you off to the side like this away from other nice pals for a lil one + one rox & cal time i might b greedy as shit!
Callie: i don't mind at all!
I'm still getting used to the concept of in-person socialization at all, let alone with many people. and yes, you may be greedy, but if so, then so am I by the exact same standard. (Very happy face with eyes pinched shut)
Roxy: fffuck yes like a couple of friendship burglars pickin each others pockets all shifty eyed and lookin out for cops but also giggling I guess because that is in the spirit of the scenario in question Callie: heheh. Yes.
Roxy: I cant believe youre really here it hardly seems real!
after all these years and how u were just like a mystery friend online and then how worried I was we might lose you for good but now......
wow
Callie: I know!!!
Roxy: so u and jane and jade were hangin out?
Callie: yes!
it was great.
we drew and told stories.
I'd heard you died, so I was holding out some hope that you would show up too... and you did eventually. Just not the version of you I expected.
I never dared to think you would bring me this gift.
Roxy: well
I swore I would
and john kinda double swore he would help damn the kid is persistent Callie: I like him.
he is easy to talk to.
Roxy: yeah!
Callie: I've read about him, of course.
the reality of someone standing in front of you is quite different from what you read about them in a text.
but then, I have no idea how accurate anything I read is anymore.
I always believed I was in possession of the texts which decoded your future, and I behaved toward all of you in that sly and knowing manner, avoiding "spoilers" and such.
that was probably presumptuous of me though, in hindsight. I clearly didn't know that much.
I certainly didn't read anything about my own involvement. I never could have imagined being here.
Roxy: you were still helpful though!
you were the force in our lives that gave us hope that we could all get together some day going down that road has been craaaazy and by no means a smooth ride im losin count of all the times it looked like everything was about to break or catch fire or actually did break and catch fire resulting in loads of dismay but when you look back, every time things went to shit there was always something constructive about that turn of events something that was necessary for the good outcome to happen at all so whenever something stupid happens like some a-hole gets a bonehead idea to steal a ring and then everyone dies horribly and at the time u think ur just gonna curl up and cry yourself into weepy nonexistence maybe those arent even "bad" realities?
maybe they are as important as any and so are all the experiences that u had in them and so are the experiences of everyone who died because you dont just get to say your experiences are more important or significant just cus you happened to be someone who survived longer
I guess what im saying is im grateful you let me go on this adventure and not even in spite of the hardship it involved
I just had a little time to think about it in the firefly nothingspace and I think all of it was good Callie: I'm happy that I could play such a role in your lives.
I don't know if I deserve much credit for these positive revelations about your journey though.
you are the one who's been on the adventure.
I have barely taken my first step.
I spent all my life in my room, and then every moment in the afterlife cowering in fear.
it's only now that true participation is even a possibility.
but even so, I really doubt I'll have much to offer.
my other self who I just released... I think she is poised to do something much more significant.
Roxy: what do you think shell do
Callie: I have no clue.
Roxy: but she told u to live right
Callie: yes.
Roxy: by which I can only assume she meant yo live it Up girl
like uh
go shopping or something or rocket down the highway in a convertible with cash flyin out the back??
Callie: heh.
that is not the sort of sentiment I can imagine coming from her under any circumstance.
but yes, maybe something to the effect of encouraging me to enjoy my existence, as communicated by a more typical, truly asocial member of my species.
really, what I took from it was... she is the "real" one, with all the power and relevance now, and I am the "spare". A civilian in a sense, like in a war.
and the only use for civilians, from a militaristic mindset, are as those who live their lives in whatever completely irrelevant way they choose to.
they are the collateral at stake, the ones for whom the war is theoretically fought, but whose lifestyles, choices, happiness and such, hold no concern whatsoever for those fighting on their behalf.
this I think is the mindset of cherubs of her alignment. As protectors, it is the relationship they have with those they protect.
and so that is probably the relationship she believes she has with me.
Roxy: you make it sound like she is the legit callie and you are the afterthought like the one from the funky reality that didnt go right?
Callie: technically, her timeline was doomed, by her predomination alone.
even so, yes, it does feel as though my reality was the oddity.
cherubs were never supposed to grow up like me. Exposed to other caring people, and learning from them.
it made me different, and unfit to predominate. Yet ironically, this was requisite for the timeline's success.
and it was necessary for you all to begin your journey as well.
Roxy: so this seems like an example of what i was just sayin actually the story of the two callies neither is really "more important" and your timelines cant really be described as the good one or the bad one there were good and bad things about both ways stuff went down and different qualities to the people you became her life sounds like it was harsh and lonely in its own way but it sorta paid off cause she got to beat her brother but then got arbitrarily punished for that outcome because it wasnt supposed to happen??
and then finally u meet her and "free" her or something so she presumably gets to go off and do... something badass???
then theres you
who had probably an even more challenging upbringing gettin so hassled by your bro and he killed you i guess because the way the deck was shuffled he had the edge this time but the upshot was you got to have all these great friends who cared about you and it helped you become the nice person you are who means a lot to other people
and now
you get to live whatever kind of life you want and be completely free from all the crummy stuff you grew up with who cares if you arent as strong as her or dont have the wicked powers she does or some "important" mission to do you both came from perfectly legitimate realities and I.M.H.O. you are both equally valuable and both of those realities seem to be tied together she can't do her mysterious badass thing unless you make it all the way through your journey and free her and your reality was the thing settin the stage for this huge multiversal vortex of problems which after a kajillion fuckin Epochs she was always meant to resolve in some way and that doesn't mean your life was like... a means to an end in a big cosmic sense i think its more like...
you Are the end, or one of the ends you and me and everyone who made it and everyone who didn't so that means you don't have to be able to do a lot of super special shit to validate your identity as the real version of yourself
the only validation you need is being who you are cause no one can be that person but you!

Callie: those are very inspiring things to hear, roxy.
I hope you are right.
but even so...
I think I would still like to be useful.
Roxy: you can be!
you can help me out Callie: how?
Roxy: I know you aren't god tier or anything or probably never did much to get in touch with your aspect but maybe that doesn't matter
u are space right?
Callie: yes.
a muse of space.
Roxy: sounds cool!
Callie: it is cool, I think.
especially having seen what I could have been.
Roxy: no but that potential has to be inside you somewhere actually its one reason why i wanted u to be with me here for a while aside from catch up a bit (Smiley face)
Callie: what do you need me to do?
Roxy: nothin really just be here with me...
while i try this
idk why but i feel like your presence will help and if nothing else i just like having u here makes me feel better about trying to focus on this weird lil chore Callie: but you think my aspect is relevant?
Roxy: maybe i think space is related to this in some abstract way i cant put my finger on i gotta make this egg see?
Callie: (gasping face)
Roxy: but it isn't really just an egg its this Hella complicated egg in both its biological design and everything it represents for the future of an entire civilization and i don't have the genetic or chemical or molecular blueprints for it or anything i have to figure it out using... just thought like, ideas
ideas that are really basic and live in this primordial sorta quasi-consciousness so i have to build the idea of this egg in some way before i do anything which means trying to grasp its reality and what it represents its like a funky little construct of biological propagation and i think that intersects with the nature of space at least as we have come to understand it the propagation of space is really just some profound cosmological feat of reproduction that is... a literally biological process right?

Callie: pretty much.
Roxy: so to make this egg
as a rogue of void what im really doing here is something kind of insane you yourself told me once how id be able to do this crazy shit!
Callie: i did!
Roxy: ill be like... probing nothingness for an idea
a pretty complicated idea in this case
and pulling that idea from unreality
so maybe if im right and a closer connection to the nature of space will help me locate that idea... almost like standing next to an antenna to boost the signal of that idea then maybe my chances will be better and hey even if not its just nice to have a friend nearby while u try to do something hard Callie: (Very happy face with eyes pinched shut)

John: what do you think they are talking about over there?
Jane: I suspect Roxy wanted some time to catch up with an old friend.
I'm sure I would want the same, if I hadn't just had an extensive reunion with her myself.
John: yeah, i guess we should just chill out and give them a moment.
it isn't Quite time to head to our battle stations yet, so we might as well try to relax until it is.
Rose: I imagine it's a lot easier to relax when another version of yourself hasn't been hijacked by your dead cat.
John: heheh, yeah, it probably is.
maybe you should try not to let her bug you, rose. she seems harmless enough.
plus, she's pretty funny!
Rose: Sounds suspiciously like the advice of someone who's never had to deal with an outlandish alternate version of himself.
John: hey, i've bumped into other johns a few times!
can't say the experience has been anything other than perfectly agreeable. (tongue sticking out face)
Rose: You mean, Johns that were essentially time duplicates? In the course of your retcon quest?
John: yes.
Rose: Those don't count. Those were just regular Johns.
What I'm saying is, you never had to deal with the John who was like, half Harry Anderson, and half Maple hoof the dear departed pony.
John: wow, that sounds Great!
Rose: Come to think of it, you're the only one of us who hasn't. I mean, of our original group of friends.
Dave had Bird Dave, Jade had Dog Jade, and now I have... shudder... Cat Rose.
Rose: Why were you let off the hook?
John: i dunno.
guess you guys are just luckier than me. (Smiley face)
Rose: Even putting aside the wildly unwelcome body horror slapstick routine she represents, and the machine gun salvo of opprobrious remarks and conduct which my cat is apparently capable of releasing from my subconscious,
I'm not sure where this leaves me.
John: what do you mean?
Rose: I felt like I understood my place.
I'd gotten myself in order somewhat. My, um.
Beverage decisions had gotten more reasonable.
I was ready to bear down and play my part in finishing this.
I could even handle a stray Rose sprite brought to my doorstep by my sweet imbecile of a pet.
Idiotic though that was, I was still clearly Rose Prime.
But can I really claim that now?
She's a... sprite Squared?!
How is that even a thing.
Can someone tell me how that's even a thing?
Jane: I can't tell you how it's even a thing.
I think we are all just as flabbergasted as you at its thinginess.
Rose: What's next? Is there a sprite cubed? Or a...
Let's not even entertain this avenue of thought.
The point is, she must be quite powerful, insightful, and in spite of the beast she rents headspace out to, intelligent as well.
Rose: Doesn't she arguably have more claim to being Real Rose than I do?
John: i don't think being the "real rose" necessarily means being the one who is more outgoing and chatty and powerful and stuff.
i'm not sure it means... anything?
i think maybe we should try to drop the stuff about who is the real version of who anyway. it's weird and it just hurts people's feelings.
Rose: I don't care if my feelings are hurt, though.
I just want to know where I stand.
John: i really don't think she is that threatening to you!
believe me, you still seem like the rose i always knew, whereas she... doesn't quite.
it seems to me she is a lot more interested in having fun and zipping around like a silly lunatic than usurping you as the main rose.
Rose: Sure. That's what she Wants you to think.
John: but why do you care? i thought i heard the other rose say, before she was a cat, that she liked the idea of being some sort of... backup rose.
do you not feel that way too?
Rose: That was a different context.
I probably would have felt the same way, if I found myself in her exact situation.
Jasprose changes everything though.
Now I feel a certain responsibility. Like I have to really step up.
John: step up??
Rose: Yes. To make sure I stay regarded as the exemplary model.
To provide assurance that the concept of Roseness itself doesn't degrade due to black market peddlers of substandard shit.
Basically, I need to defend the integrity of the brand.
John: hahaha. oh my god.
Rose: What?
John: nothing.
i just missed you so much!

Rose: My brand missed you too, John.
John: your brand has good taste in friends, and kicks ass.
Terezi: (Neeerds)
John: hey, how do you think kanaya and karkat are doing?
Rose: They're probably getting a stern earful of roiling monster patois right about now.
John: do you think they'll be successful?
Rose: ...
At what?
John: at...
talking to a monster?
i don't know.
Rose: I think Karkat will successfully fail to understand the monster, and possibly also successfully shout at the monster.
Kanaya I think will probably successfully do something sensible in response to whatever the monster demands.
John: so...
you think they're going to pull it off then?
Rose: I'm still not sure what "it" is.
But yes.
John: well, the idea was to release the frog i think.
Rose: You think so?
John: that's what vriska said.
Rose: Vriska says a lot of things.
That's the basic idea, yes.
But monsters can be complicated.
Regardless, I think the right person was summoned to handle it.
John: you really trust kanaya, don't you?
Rose: Sure.
John: not to change the subject too hard, into something maybe you don't want to talk about because of your brand...
but i think you make a nice couple.
Rose: You do?
John: yes, i thought so last time i was hanging out with you both, in the screwed up time line. but didn't say anything then.
i think it's still true!
i'm glad it didn't change when i retconned some things.
Rose: I am too.
John: maybe that means it's a strong relationship?
John: if it can survive... god.
whatever the hell happened.
a hard three year reboot, and then the sudden presence of vriska??
Rose: When you put it that way,
It really does sound like you were trying to fuck us up.

I have just been minding my own business, and in no way whatsoever saying anything directed at a couple of silly nerds saying dorky things
John: no, you said nerds twice.
you always say nerds when in ear shot of other people who are just being friendly.
Terezi: isn't it weird how you are making this observation, and no one else is?
John: what?
no.
Terezi: meaning, maybe I only say it when the pair of nerds in earshot happens to include you
John: um...
Terezi: (spades)
John: ack!!!
what was that look?!
Terezi: what look
John: that look you just gave me!
Terezi: I didn't give you a look, dingus John: yes you did!
don't look at me like that!!!
Terezi: whatever look you think I gave you, it was in your imagination it is possible you may be flattering yourself, egbert
John: oh, whatever.
hey, what are you even still doing here?
John: weren't you going to go with dave, and get ready for battle?
Terezi: yes
I'm just giving him and his bro some time to themselves first
I am sure they could use it and whatever the hell is going on between them
the last thing I want to do is involve myself that sounds even more awkward than lingering around you goofy bunch of nerds being all cute and mushy with your human family and friendship stuff
John: yeah, you sure do sound put off by it.
all hanging on our every word and such. (Tongue sticking out face)
Terezi: it takes a will of iron, trust me
John: uh huh.
but yeah, I actually do agree...
it does sound pretty awkward to be around dave and his bro while they, um.
get to know each other, I guess?
Terezi: yup
John: I'm not sure how well dave really even knew his adult bro, actually.
aside from bogusly idolizing him, in a way that was really transparent that he didn't.
I wonder...
I wonder how different dirk is from him, if at all?
Terezi: I wouldn't be the one to ask
John: what do you think, rose?
Rose: I don't think there's anyone who could answer that.
I suspect literally no one in the history of anywhere has ever met both people.
Until, as of now, Dave himself.
John: ...
i hope dave's ok.

Blood runs down his arms and chin. Between them, at the bottom of the circle, Neophyte Redglare, Terezi’s ancestor, looks up in disbelieving fury. [Image description: The images change. The moons both turn black. Alternia becomes a Mothergrub skull with green fluid spilling from its eye socket and nostrils. Pulsing green light surrounds all three. Among the stars, glowing teal symbols appear, all from the Homestuck Extended Zodiac, and all in various rotations. From the top going clockwise, they are: Virgo, an actual astrological sign and Kanaya’s sign, which resembles a capital letter M with a loop at the bottom of the rightmost line that resembles a simplistic fish. It’s rotated to be backwards. Virpio, a sign from the extended zodiac that resembles a letter H, though with the crossbar coming from the bottom of the left line and curving into a horseshoe shape that has its apex intersect with the right line halfway up. Virus, a sign from the extended zodiac that resembles a bat. There is a loop in the center that has its two ends curve up from underneath it and turn into a splitting, wing-like structure on both sides. Vircer, a sign from the extended zodiac that resembles the number 2 as written with a loop on the bottom, though the top is a flat line rather than a curve. That flat line has a faintly curved line extending from the right end down until it’s equal with the right end of the line. That curved line then curves back around and crosses itself. It also resembles the japanese katakana for ‘su’, though with the addition of that loop to the intersection. It is reversed from how it should be drawn. Virgo once again, though this time not reversed. Virus once again, this time upside down. Virga, a sign from the extended zodiac that resembles a diamond with a loop at the top and bottom corners. The diamond is wider than it is tall. It looks like someone took two looped ribbons, like the ones used for symbolizing various diseases such as breast cancer, and connected them end to end in a mirror image of each other. Virmini, a sign from the extended zodiac that is composed of two parts. The first looks like a] horseshoe with a barb on the outside of each end. Within that horseshoe, a loop that resembles a fish points its apex upwards.
Virpio once again, though this time reversed.
Virsci, a sign from the extended zodiac that resembles a lattice. It's composed of two V shapes with curved arms, one inverted, which intersect to create a diamond shape. Over top of those is an X shape with arms that curve to run parallel to the V’s. The intersection of the two lines of the X is directly in the center of the main diamond, dividing it into 4, smaller diamonds.
Virlo, which resembles a lowercase letter N with the fish-like curve common among many of the jade symbols. It looks like the Virgo symbol with only one arch. It is drawn in reverse.
Vircer once again, though this time in its proper orientation.
Virmini once again, tilted at a slight angle.
Virlo once again, this time in its proper orientation.

Dave: i dunno why my friends got to have adults around who cared about them they complained bitterly about stuff so i guess i convinced myself they were all in the same boat as me but that's not how it was their complaints were trumped up nonsense and i bought it cause... i dunno
i didn't have any frame of reference but his dad and her mom no matter what they said it was so obvious they cared about them deeply even jades weird fuckin grandpa who died when she was young obviously would have done anything for her why did i get such a raw cut of the asshole deck and why did it take me so long to figure that out and like hes dead now so thats that so all thats left to do is look back and try to put the pieces together of my first 13 years and all i can think is what the fuck Was that?! i don't come away with the impression i used to try convincing myself of, that he was like "mysterious" or "stern" or "aloof"
the only feeling left is this insane impression that i was raised by somebody who fuckin Hated me and the whole act of even "raising a child" was some totally fucked up game to him like parenthood was one of the highest tiers of irony in his solemn bullshit bro-ninja code so he went through those motions and did whatever he thought was "funny" or "badass" but under that weird stylistic and totally sociopathic approach to parenting i cant even Imagine there was any emotion toward me other than some sort of loathing Dirk: What...
Dave: i don't want to get out the laundry list but for reference laundry wasn't one of those things that was just one of the many little domestic things i just had to sort of Figure Out sorta like i eventually had to learn what the Real purpose of a refrigderator was from movies Dirk: Wait.
What??
Dave: i dunno theres too much to even get into just
i don't remember the atmosphere ever not being nerve wracking all havin to sneak around and... ugh my shitty childhood spider senses are tinglin just thinking about it it was "training" you know but you know what it really was it was some vicious shit that was bad and sucked and i hated it it didn't make me stronger it did the opposite
it made me never want to fight it made me never want to see blood or be near danger or hear metal sounds it made me hate the idea of being a hero cause he was a hero and he ruined the idea of heroism
i don't even want to be fighting this shitty version of jack but hey nobody else has secret welsh powers so i guess i have to Dirk: ...
Dave: what gets me is how long it took me to put all this together to stop seeing it as some kinda roughhousey and eccentric life i had but was otherwise normal it took years to deconstruct it all and put it back together to understand how fuckin mad i should be and in particular how stone cold deeply uncared for i was my whole life like... being merely "monitored" by a violent robot i only started getting it after spending a lot of time in person with a bunch of people who actually did care about me and i could start feeling like actually somewhat human for the first time instead of...
some sort of runty afterthought to a household cabal of smutty puppets Dirk: ... Puppets?
Dave: the fuckin puppets!!!
i know how it sounds but i am Not joking and there is No shred of doubt in my mind that he loved all those puppets more than me honestly it is very possible that he was just insane and thats that i guess it didnt help either that we lived with what we have come to understand may theoretically be the most evil doll to exist in any universe ever in fact its my tenuous understanding that he came down to earth with that thing and like actually grew up with it
maybe...
maybe spending 30 some years being unseparable from that hell puppet had some effect on him??
maybe if it hadnt been casting a pall over our apartment 7 since he took me in...
grinning...
glaring...
laughing in my sleep...
maybe our lives wouldnt have been quite so...
maybe we would have...
ugh

Since I just remind you so much of him, for, uh. Obvious reasons.
I don't want to make you feel worse, or make it sound like I'm offering a defense.
For him, or me.
Because I don't have one.
For either of us.
Dave: come on man
You didnt do anything
this was just some douche bag with your exact d.n.a., who happened to grow up to be my bro you had a completely different life full of like different choices and actions and stuff and even if you were gonna turn out like him youve barely cleared the half way mark on actually chronologically gettin there in some way ranting about all this is probably just uncool of me because... youre not resposible for any of this shit but im sorta implicitly tacking it on you anyway
so
sorry about that
Dirk: I'm not sure it's true though.
At least, I don't feel that way.
Dave: what way
Dirk: That I'm not him.
The fact is, I am.
It's something I've come to understand about myself.
All splinters of me are basically me, now matter how much I want to resist that truth.
Or pretend they aren't reflecting my own qualities back at me.
I bear a certain responsibility for all of them.
Dave: splinters...?
Dirk: Yeah.
I guess the concept isn't that unique to me.
We've all got other versions of ourselves running around here and there, throughout the various compartments of this messed up cosmos.
Dave: right
Dirk: I just happen to be particularly connected to mine.
I've felt...
Haunted by them.
And what that really means is, I'm perpetually haunted by my own bad qualities.
So, when I hear about stuff I did in another reality,
I'm not sure what my adult self might have ever tried to do to atone for that stuff, if anything...
Dave: pretty much dick squat
Dirk: Yeah. But in any case,
I'm sure I was completely in the wrong, and I'm sorry I messed up your life.

Dave: thanks
but it still feels a little odd accepting an apology from somebody who I just met and technically had nothing to do with my life even if you do feel guilty splinterways or whatever it is just a messed up situation and I guess I had to vent and there was never anyone I wanted to say all that to and the only thing that was gonna drag it out of me I guess was like a teen stand-in phantom of my dead bro just some perfectly innocent dude havin to take the brunt of this shit Dirk: I'm not particularly innocent though.
I've messed a lot of things up.
With my friends.
Honestly, that's why I wasn't that bent on sticking around, when I showed up.
And pretty much jumped at the offer of flying here to get ready for some yet to be explained battle.
Battles are easy. Just you, a sword, some bad guys... it's a lot simpler than having to answer for things you did.
For the most part, I feel pretty bad about the role I played in my friends' lives.
Especially Jake.
Dave: what happened there
Dirk: I don't even know.
An unmitigated disaster for which I'm entirely to blame.
It's not any one thing. I think I was just a completely toxic element in his life from day one.
I don't know what he's doing now.
I wouldn't be surprised if he was trying to avoid me as much as possible.
I'm sure that's for the best.
I think I need to stay out of his business for a good while, so I don't risk poisoning another innocent kid's life.
Like I did with you, apparently.
Dave: yeah
I mean
maybe its a little different cause relations between peers is a whole other thing its tricky shit and you're both figuring stuff out on a relatively equal footing and you're both at the same point in your lives its not like when one person is older and supposed to be a lot more... ever mind this is a fucked up thing to think about but the bottom line is yeah laying low while you sort out your stuff can't hurt Dirk: Right.
The thing with that, with my adult self's...
Ways.
The sad thing is,
I can really see it. How someone like me can go unchecked in life, and turn out to become a much worse person than I already am. I guess I'm just relieved I still have some time to make sure that doesn't happen.

Dave: you don't actually seem like a bad person to me though Dirk: No?
Dave: nah
Dirk: Why not?
We did just meet, after all.

Dave: because i dunno if truly bad people wrestle so much with whether they're good or bad i think if i ever sensed my bro like struggled at all with what he was doing or who he was or showed any sort of doubt that might have changed everything but there was never a crack in it or the slightest hint of introspection behind the aggressive cooldude facade if there was i sure never noticed i mean personally
i think about it all the time now what it actually means to be good or bad or if not something that starkly moral at least just trying to examine the difference between being decent and being a douche maybe its because of him i worry about that now but for me i think that internal struggle is kind of mild for him...
or you i mean
it sounds like some pretty dark shit like grappling with... becoming evil vs simply trying not to

Dirk: Yeah.
That's not too far off.

Dave: but the point is even just talkin to you a little bit its obvious you've been fighting with that which means that you care enough to put in some effort i think that counts for something diralog

Dirk: Maybe.
Not sure if I'm ready to accept a pat on the back for recognizing I have some problems, and worrying about whether they'll destroy me and fuck up the people I care about.
That might be setting the bar kind of low.

Dave: well when it comes to the subject of him
the bars already pretty low dude

Dirk: The weird thing, honestly,
Is that it's actually kind of refreshing to hear a sincerely leveled critique of all my negative qualities, coming from another person invested in a relationship with me, rather than from a fucked up iteration of myself as some bizarre "trollish" form of self abuse.

The only thing I've ever been exposed to are either various forms of self loathing either from me or my auto-responder, or attitudes completely oblivious to my real issues, as expressed through my friends.

My friends always seemed to cut me so much slack, or were just never aware of the kind of person I really was.

Well, Jake probably is, by now at least.

But he's also the sort of guy who's just as likely to blame himself for stuff I did, as he is to blame me.

Jane and Roxy, though.

Never seemed to see anything wrong with me.

If anything, just the contrary.

Roxy in particular had a certain... fixation.

She meant well, but was so enamored of me, and seemingly everything I did.

Which I think was the last thing I needed.

To be idolized in some form by other people I respected.

I had enough of that feeling coming from within, particularly when I was younger.

And since then, I've been plagued by the insane ego of my youth in the form of an artificial intelligence I designed which essentially trapped that state of mind in a sort of horrid suspended animation.

Until... recent developments, of course.

Dave: so

was that stuff true

when you said you idolized the other version of me

Dirk: Yeah.

Dave: and not just some bullshit like how i used to say the same thing about my bro when i didnt know any better

Dirk: It's definitely not like that.

I never lived with him, or met him, so couldn't have anything like the contentious relationship you had with my older self.

He was a historical figure from centuries ago.

There was a lot to admire, and think about fondly.

Especially since I was alone, and never had any direct contact with another person, or any concept of civilization.

So even though I'm sure I romanticized what his life was like, and the early 21st century in general, It was nice to think about you.

I passed a lot of time that way.

dialoglog

Dave: you say there was a lot to admire

like what

Dirk: Well...

He was pretty famous.

Made some successful movies.

At least under a somewhat expansive definition of "success".

And an even more expansive definition of "movie".

His work accumulated a lot of subversive political influence, which got him in trouble later.
He made like a million bullshit Statues of Liberty, scummed them up with jpeg artifacts, and littered them all over the planet.

Dave: holy shit

Dirk: He was also a pretty badass swordsman, and an active member of the resistance movement. He slaughtered the clown presidents on the roof of the White House, and flew away on a shitty skateboard.

Then it seems he gave the Batterwitch a pretty good run for her money.

It wasn't enough, but at least he went down fighting.

Dave: that

yeah

ima need to hear more details on this some time

Dirk: Sure.

But as you can tell, clearly there was a lot to look up to.

I thought about the examples you set constantly. The creative ideals, the advanced theories on irony and humor, the tales of courage and martial prowess.

Really, I modeled everything about myself after you. Or at least everything good that I was trying to become.

And I probably spent an embarrassing amount of time imagining what it would be like to live during his time, and to be able to have something resembling a sibling relationship, or be in some sort of master-apprentice situation.

Dirk: When I finally learned you existed, and started to understand who he really was in relation to me, that put a lot into context.

I realized he was a version of you who got a chance to live up to his full potential.

And when I understood there was a young version of you, in a situation sorta like mine, whose time on Earth got cut short when you were thrown into all this,

I was at least happy to think there was some reality where you got the chance to do everything you wanted to do, be successful, and fight for all the right things.

Even if ultimately it didn't lead to a great outcome for humanity, you had an opportunity to live a full life and show what you were made of.

While I guess I had... the same opportunity on your world, somewhat less fortunately.

Dave: yeah

but then for all my bitching i guess i still never grasped your full reality

just like you probably didnt grasp mine, but just reading into the mindset of a historical figure as best you could what if i wasnt as heroic as it seemed?

what if adult me was kinda douchey too in a way you couldnt observe Dirk: Perhaps.

But beyond a certain point, I think accomplishments speak for themselves.

I dunno if you can just completely shred every person who ever did great things because they had some flaws.

All I can say is, it was important to me to see him the way I did.

As a good person who inspired me, and set the standard for what I wanted to be.

It kept me going.

That said, I'm also glad there's this version of you who got to go through all the things you've been through.

Like, yeah, you didn't get to be the cool celebrity who cuts down juggalos on badly defaced government property.

And the idea of a "normal life" was rudely taken from you, and it's something you'll never get to experience.

But this is so much more challenging, and uncertain.

You get to apply all that potential you showed in one reality to something much bigger and more existentially critical.
Whatever strength you showed in trying to save a dying planet, the fact is, I think we need that more here.
And the trials inherent in being a part of something like this, I think they bring more out of you than a relatively pedestrian life on Earth would. Make you face more things about yourself. At least, that's been true for me.
But it sounds like it's been true for you too.
It sounds to me like the experiences you've had changed you a lot, for the better.
You mentioned the experiences with him that were designed to make you stronger have actually made you weaker, but really, I doubt that's true.
I bet you've become stronger than you realize, not because of anything he did, but because of what you've done, and the ways you've changed yourself through your own effort.
I hope it doesn't come off as overly sentimental garbage, but it seems to me like you turned out to be a really good dude.
Like, really, a better sort of dude I ever imagined talking to when I pictured meeting the legendary guy I idolized.
I pictured him as probably being "too cool" to be the type of guy you are.
But you know what, fuck being too cool for that.

Not particularly.

All my "stuff", with respect to your other self.
Again, there's a lot more I could say about him.
Maybe stuff you should know, or maybe it's all irrelevant to the path you're on now.

We return to the fake select screen. All but the final box are highlighted red, and the final one, which shows Roxy and Kanaya’s symbols, is highlighted green. The background for the first box shows Dave and Dirk sitting together near the edge of the building, discussing things about the other’s alternate self. Dave talks about Bro’s Plush Rump website, his Game Bro magazines, smuppets, and Maplehoof. Dirk talks about Alpha Dave flying off into the night sky on a shitty skateboard, the Hopywoodood sign, and the SBaHJ movies. The second background shows John and Terezi laying on their backs with their legs up in the air, each talking about a scribbly drawing of the other. Rose sits up and looks over to them with a question mark in her speech bubble. The third shows the Vriska’s continuing to power stance while Meenah imagines herself as an empress, wearing the same outfit as The Condesce, holding her trident in one hand and Lord English’s skull in the other. The fourth shows the conversation from the second from a greater distance. The fifth shows Rose sitting up and looking at John and Terezi, who both lay on their backs. John speaks in scribbles around the word Fuh and Terezi speaks in scribbles around the word Bluh. The sixth shows Kanaya somewhere on LoFaF, looking up at Roxy, who flies in. A blue salamander stands among the trees behind Kanaya. The seventh shows Jasp rose sprite Squared clasping her hands and imagining Nepeta surrounded by little hearts. The eighth shows Jade sleeping on the floor in front of her purple and yellow fireplace. W.V. sits next to her and waves at Callie. The ninth shows a scribbly drawing of Dave and Dirk laughing so hard that they cry and continuing to discuss things about their alt selves. Dave talks about Guy Fieri, one of the saw-like characters from one of Bro’s comics, and more smuppets. Dirk talks about Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff The Movie and wizard marionettes. They both discuss shitty, jpeg artifacted Statues of Liberty.

Kanaya peers up at Roxy, who floats several dozen feet in the air, holding the matriorb behind her back.

Roxy: hey!!!!!!!!!!
Roxy floats in closer, making Kanaya angle her eyes up at a sharp angle to see her.

kinda wish i could have been there i guess i had my own less long stint with people in my session only like half a year tho which was cool in its own way but it wasnt nearly as... social as your scene sounded?
Kanaya: It Was Pretty Social Yes
But We Also Had Little Groups Who Generally Convened With Each Other More Often Than The Entire Ensemble Crowded Together For A Singular Noisy Affair
Such Events Were Pretty Rare So Maybe Not As Social As You Are Picturing
In Fact It Was Quite A Subdued Situation Compared To The Crowd I Was Formerly Accustomed To Congregating With
There Were Twelve Of Us Back Then Roxy: yeah Wow!!!
i remember hearing about that from a friend
who...
never even existed from this frame of reference (frowning face)
i guess thats another weird thing about my lil sojourn to get to this point... it is all made of memories now that didnt even happen for other people

It All Sounds Really Daunting Actually
Not Even Just The Propagation Of My Kind But Managing To Do It Responsibly
Just Causing Millions Of Beings To Exist For The Sake Of Doing So
And Dismissing Responsibility For What Sort Of People They Become That Isn’t Good Enough For Me
I Think Echidna Was Right

But I also have a lot of responsibility now
In a way that is much more tangible and also spiky and round and sharp than just a few minutes ago
And I feel I have to consider risk to myself is now also the same as risk to the future of my people Does that make sense?
Roxy: ooh i see
Yeah!
it is like.....
like say a mother wolf being all ready to stand up to some other asshole of nature like a nasty bear and she’s ready to fight and all but also she got to think about what happens to her pups if she gets hurt yeah?

but yes that concern is completely understandable you dont gotta fight if you dont want!
but im sure we could really use the help

id look at it this way none of this next gen troll stuff is even going to matter if we dont win this fight so we have to prioritize beating all these goddamn villains specially the witch!
any extra edge is going to help and tho i admit i dont know much about you i am feeling prrrrettyyy confident in my assessment that u are probably some sort of sick deadly bitch
Kanaya: Who Told You My Secret
Roxy: i knews it (winking face) in fact i would Bet that you could Use your concern for all ur future space pups to be Way extra deadlier in this fray maybe youd make the whole difference?? the point is we need you now just as much as anyone in the future will and we are All riskin stuff and all in this together and if youre with me and rose and john, dont worry we aint gonna let anything happen to you Roxy: i promise!!!!!
Kanaya: Dang

Kanaya: Yes
A Little Corny But Definitely Genuine And Moving
And Now Im Suddenly Psyched Again To Go Dunk A Narcissistic Fish Woman Into A Sea Dumpster
Roxy: Fuck yes
Kanaya: Not To Project Myself As Someone Fickle Or Lightly Swayed On Big Decisions
Maybe It Was Just A Roughly Thirty Second Spell Of Cold Feet And I Just Snapped Out Of It I Dont Know
But You Really Do Seem To Have A Way With Motivational Words
You Must Be A Natural Leader
I Think Your Group Was Lucky To Have You Roxy: me?? nuhhh
im not naturally good at that at all i mostly just yelled at my friends cause they were such a gaggle of frustrating bozos i guess im just feeling way inspired by the fact everyone is here together and we are all about to try and do something huge and important ive also watched john in action a bit and he is Very good at that stuff hes actually so good at being inspiring hes inspired me to try and be... more inspiring? that sounds dumb as hell but is true as shit i also love how hes got No idea how good he is at leadery stuff, its it is so inspirationally friggin adorable

No, obviously not.
All you care about now is bullshit hipstery fashion trends, feeling "happy", and... whatever the

I've been through plenty. Don't get patronizing with me.
How did you die, again?
Weren't you being stubborn and insisting on going off to fight Jack, even though that was obviously an ill-conceived plan that was going to get everyone killed?
There it is again, making it all about you, even when trying to be heroic. You let that need blind you and you did something really stupid, basically leaving No other Option but for you to get killed.
So since you started your journey as a ghost with that little feat of self-absorption, is it any surprise that after however many pseudo-sweeps floundering around as a lost soul, This is where you end up? A shamelessly self-indulgent, punk-ass Nobody?
Alt Vriska: Wait... are you saying you didn't try to go fight Jack?
What happened? How... how are you the version that's still alive? I don't...
Vriska: Different shit happened!
And from that point on, I started making better choices, unlike you.

Vriska: Oh, don’t worry, "Serket". I’m done here. I’m off to go do something useful, like winners do. Something you wouldn’t know anything about anymore.
Alt Vriska: Argh, Just Leave Me Alone!!!!
How Could I... choke...
How could I have ever been so Awful?!
Vriska: Ok, this is just getting embarrassing.
Time to shove off. Though truth be told, I should probably delay killing Lord English a little longer, just so he can put you out of your misery.
Alt Vriska: Just Go Away!
Sob ...
I Hate You!!!!!!!!!
Vriska: Your wish is my command, loser!
Time to go get some awesome shit done, and grab the reins on a relevant, proactive existence. Shit, I’m feeling more adventurous and worthwhile as a person just thinking about it!
Anyone who feels the same way is more than welcome to join me.
Say, how about you, punky-lookin Peixes?
Does that sound like it might be the cut of your jib?
Alt Vriska: don’t talk to her!!!!!!!
she doesn’t want anything to do with a piece of shit like you, and neither do i!
take your stupid treasure, and your smug garbage about "relevance", and get the fuck out of here!
come on, meenah! Let’s ditch that evil hag and go find something else to do.

But most know me as John's Nanna. Hoo hoo!
Jane: Oh, yes!
He told me about you.
Gosh!
Pleased to meet you... Nanna, I guess I should call you?
Nanna Sprite: Suits me!
Jane: Calling you Jane might feel a bit strange.
Also, perhaps disrespectful?
Nanna Sprite: And why is that?
It is my name after all.
Jane: Yes, but,
You are my senior by many decades, I gather.
And you have so many more years of life experience, and wisdom, and you...

Seem to be dressed like a clown?

Nanna Sprite: (smiley face with buck teeth)

Jane: Not to disparage your fanciful attire. I quite like it.
I just mean that...

You've been through more than I can imagine.

I couldn't call you by my name. It would feel wrong and flippant to treat you like my equal.

Nanna Sprite: But really, Jane, the honor of meeting you is all mine!

I have been looking forward to it so much since I learned of your existence.

Ever since I spent that one day helping John through his session, there haven't been many reasons for me to feel particularly worthwhile.

Yes, I tended to him and his sister for several years, baked for them, lent a sympathetic ear when needed...

But in a way, it's been a lonely life for me since my ashes fell in this silly old sprite.

I've been strictly an auxiliary actor, there only to serve others even during my greatest moments to shine!

So when I heard of you, a version of myself who was a true hero, so young, empowered, and set to embark upon a life filled with consequential deeds...

I was absolutely giddy. I knew that we had to meet!

Jane: Oh... my!

You, You really feel that way about me?

Nanna Sprite: Yes, Jane!

I do not mean to suggest I regret the way my life has gone, of course.

I lived a very humble life, as free of intrigue and adventure as possible, by choice.

You see, I grew up in dangerous circumstances. I knew how cruel the woman who raised me could be, and what she might do to me or the people I loved if I made waves, or demonstrated any sense of defiance.

So I lived simply. I started a family, and operated a quiet joke shop. Though I always knew trouble was brewing, they were the best years of my life.

Yet I always had a little more knowledge than I ever let on, and used my understanding in subtle ways to help those to whom the torch would be passed in this great fight.

But then, I made the transition from knowing some things in life, to knowing a great deal more in death. Being resurrected as a sprite endowed me with a very deep knowledge of the game and its broader circumstances. I was in peak form, a true harlequin wisewoman, and there was nary a question I couldn't answer.

And then, the dear kids scratched their session, and cast themselves into the unknown.

I ventured with them, and so I too lost my bearing on the nature of what lay ahead.

I went from my prime, a state of all-understanding, to a state of absolute uncertainty. For the first time in about as long as I could remember, I had no idea what to expect next.

It was quite freeing in a way! I had a wonderful three years on that ship with those lovely children.

I thought little of what challenges were ahead.

But when I did, my thoughts would always drift toward you, Jane.

Thinking about you, and this adventure you were about to begin, it made me feel like a child again.

It gave me the feelings I used to have for the limitless potential of life, before my stepmother snuffed them out, confronting me with the reality that life would have to take a considerably more limited shape if I wished to survive.

So when I look at you now, I see the potential I had as a child finally being realized.

But in a much more special way than I ever would have imagined back then!

It makes me so proud to see you as a heroic young woman, ready to make a difference, and forge your own destiny.

I just wanted to tell you this before you go off to battle!
Jane: Oh jeez. Nanna, I don't know what to say. Thank you so much for those inspirational words!
Nanna Sprite: Hoo hoo!
Jane: I think John was really lucky to have you as a sprite. Not to mention, a grandmother, of course. It's no wonder he appears to have his act together. Maybe I would have been better off if I had someone like you to advise me from the start of all this. Maybe I wouldn't have felt so lost.
Nanna Sprite: It's normal to feel lost, though. And believe me, needing to find your own way in time will make you a lot wiser than having an old lady around to spoon feed you all the answers. In any case, you have me now!
I think it's been quite a long time since John has needed my guidance. The boy has grown so much since he clobbered me with a joke book on that fateful day. From now on, I'd be pleased if you would consider me your sprite. (smiley face with buck teeth)
Jane: Wow! (gasping face)
Oh my goodness, yes, please!
Nanna Sprite: In fact, I heard from the cat girl that you and she are on healing duty in this spectacular fray coming up. It so happens that healing is my specialty. Next to baking of course. (And pranks.) Why don't I assist?
Jane: That would be great too!
Nanna Sprite: Oh! And Jane, one more thing. Just so you know...

Tavrosprite: i, probably understood that remark, and agree,
Jake: I just wonder if theres anything else for me to Do aside from kiss my knuckles and lather them up with elbow grease.
Turn my ten favorite boys out for a bracing constitutional you know?
Tavrosprite: ,,,,No,
Jake: Should i be...
Soul Searching or...
Straining my brain to have some sort of magnificent epiphany about myself?
Is this...
Is this It for me? Is this all there is to understand?
Tavrosprite: um,,,
Jake: Maybe theres only so much ragged wood a man can scrape from a barrels basement.
Maybe sometimes a fellas gotta fess up to the fact that all there is to get about him’s been firmly got already.
Ive pretty much concluded that im a complete waste of everyones time if i bother busying their lives with my brand of beeswax and buffoonery.
I settled square on the determination that i need to just be alone for most of my life and you know what im perfectly ok with that idea.
Im just a lunk head and a loner and thats that.
What else is there wonder about myself or my future except which face is most deserving of my fist?
Tavrosprite: since you put everything that way, and since sometimes it's hard to disagree with a lot of consecutive words,
I think I agree with you,
maybe you've figured out everything about yourself that matters, that would be awesome!, Let's both put extra effort into hoping it's true, Jake: Thats the ticket!
I love my aspect it feels so empowering every time i want to feel like somethings real when tons of facts are missing.
I really am a lucky son of a bitch aren't i tavvy. Shit i mean tavrosprite. Blech what a bad nickname sorry!!!
But yeah thats pretty much what the doctor ordered for old jake english. No romantic stuff. No platonic stuff either!
Ill be like... Mr nonrom sansplat... Or... Oh horsenoodles there has to be terminology that more effectively consolidates my present understanding of myself into a coherent identity i can get enthusiastic about.
Maybe the troll lingo has the answers. Or maybe im pioneering some sort of... shadow quadrant system?? Ooh lordy wouldnt that be a swift kick in the netherdumplings.
What do you think tavvyboy should i take my idea to the troll patent office and make a mint?
Tavrosprite: I don't think we have a thing like that,
also,
all of my people are extinct, and my planet is badly exploded, Jake: Oh yeah.
Heh oopsie.
Tavrosprite: but yeah, tragedy situations not in consideration,,
I sympathize entirely with your social impasse, causing not good reflections about yourself, that maybe also double as liberating stuff about you that you randomly decide is fine suddenly, old acquaintances, and guys you once called friends, those are very hard,
because over time they get exposed too much, to all my flaws and insecurities, and they start liking me less because of that,
at least, that's how the truth feels, in my brain, so I start thinking, maybe they can't be that important to me, after all, if I'm going to want to feel not sad about myself all the time, but then, also,
I really do enjoy making new friends, and even though I don't have many talents or battle skills, or intelligence, or discernible positive qualities, one thing I think I'm good at that people underestimate, is making new friends, who don't know my flaws yet, (smiley face with bull horns) Jake: Yeah...
Yeah!
Cheese and crackers tavvers what an inspirational little spiel that just was.
Mayhaps youve more concealed talents than you let on??
Tavrosprite: no, absolutely not, but thank you,

Now.

Jasp rose sprite Squared: Since that hideous brouhaha of spittle, mucus and shouting has subsided, peace and quiet has revisited these hills and I am free to do my work.
It is the most important work that has ever been undertaken or even attempted in this gloomy session.
You there, master of this land.
Tell me, where is your kernelsprite?
Inquisitive chirp.
Jake: Uhhhh.
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Never mind, you don't know anything! Haha. (Cat face)
I was only asking as a polite formality anyway, since it is right there in plain sight!

Jasp rose sprite Squared floats over to the kernelsprite, which pulses between spirograph designs and flashes green and white. She holds Nepeta’s head behind her back.

Jasp rose sprite Squared: Jake, drumroll, please.
Jake: Um...
Hold...
Hold on ill go um...
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Don't you dare actually play some drums it was a figure of speech.

Jasprose pulls Nepeta’s smiling head out from behind her back and holds it to her chest. She curls slightly over it, almost possessively, and stares at it with a grin and wide, slightly maddened eyes.
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Mrow, well hello there, beautiful. (winking cat face)
Fret no more sweet princess, for as long as I am here, you will never suffer such indignity again.
How could anyone let such monstrous injustices happen to one so dear?
What Filth would dare to debase you in this manner?!
To say it was the marginalization of a bright and pure spirit, to say it was Murder, this would be too flattering to the purrpetrator.
What happened to you was nothing less than the desecration of a Masterpiece.
My mystic kittycat senses divine that you have been mistreated for a stretch of your life far preceding your demise.
I detect that you may have been toyed with and disrespected by none other than the supreme puppeteer of unrepentant horseshit himself.

Jake: Hey tavrosprite!
Tavrosprite: achoo,???
Jake: That bossy troll girl says you need to apprehend this feline i have apparently summoned. She says its really important.
Tavrosprite: oh, umm, achoo!!, why,
Jake: its like part of the mission she was waiting to give you or something?
Tavrosprite: aaachoooo!
yeah, ok,
that makes sense I guess,

Vriska: You still there?
Jake: Yeah.
What happened??
Vriska: I had to neutralize another wildcard threat in that session.
Who the fuck knows What that first guardian cat would have done during your battle.
Or for that matter, to what extent it's still in the service of the Condesce.
Cats are pretty mysterious, after all.
I needed to take it out of the picture.
The best way to do that was sweep it up into the body of a person who's much more manageable, and mentally suggestible.
Tavros can ride out this whole battle while sleeping peacefully now, which frankly, is better for him, and a Lot better for all of you now that you don't have to worry about another brainless omnipotent critter scurrying around, wreaking havoc.
You just have to make sure he doesn't wake up until the action is over!
Same rules apply to him that apply to Jade.
Jake: So...
Hes like that permanently now right?
Vriska: Yep!
That's how prototyping works. I made sure he was never double-prototyped over the course of the session for this exact reason.
Sometimes it takes a little patience and long range planning to make sure all the loose ends are tied up.
Jake: But.
Doesn't this mean hes now allergic to himself?
Vriska: Is he??
I dunno, man.
I never really knew how bad his allergies were?
You know what, whatever. When this is all over, I guess he'll have to deal with a little sneezing now and then, but he'll Also have a bunch of totally sick godlike powers.
So that's pretty cool, right??
Look kid, you're a little new to the extended scene of everything going on here, but there's kind of been a long history of people under-appreciating how much shit I do for this guy that looks kinda bad but is actually in his best interest. He'll wake up, acclimate to his new existence, and when the time comes I'm sure he'll be thanking me later.
Jake: I see.
Hmm yeah when you put it that way...
I guess you're right.
Maybe old tavvys actually pretty lucky to have a friend like you.
Vriska: There you go!
See Joke? You're a lot smarter than people give you credit for.

Meenah: nice watch dealie how much that worth Vriska: How much?
I have no idea. I guess it depends on a lot of things, like the units of currency, the presumption of an actual market for it, its scarcity... honestly I just alchemized the thing quite easily, and somebody else probably could too.
Meenah: god dammit that answer was too complicated got a fuckin professor of economics over here
Vriska: Are you saying you want to buy my spider watch??
Meenah: na serk spider swag aint my kettle of fish
Vriska: I didn't think so!
Anyway, like I was saying, that takes care of that. At this point I think we could use a debriefing. Would you care to do the honors?
Meenah: wat
Vriska: Regarding the mission you were previously involved with, which I can only presume gradually fizzled out.
Securing this weapon, searching for a lost cherub, and raising an army to defeat Lord English?
Meenah: ooh right man
That old thing yeah i can debrief
i aint much a storyteller tho much to the lament of my former bestie Vriska: That's fine!
I don't need you to dazzle me here.
I just want the fucking scoop.
Meenah: thats why youre the top serk (smiley face wearing a tiara and goggles)

i mean not even that personal but whatev Vriska: Sure...?
Meenah: how old are you
Vriska: Uh,
Almost seven and a half sweeps.
Getting close to eight!!!!!!!!
I probably sound like a fucking nerd, but I’ve been excited about reaching that milestone pretty much my whole life.

Meenah: so yeah we all piled in a damn pirate ship and sailed around the ring in this huge circle english followed us and wrecked shit as he went that helped us chart a path to the treasure somehow like using black maps and junk
with like cartographic calculations and scopes and fuckin sextants and whatnot im not even sure how but that weird ass idea actually worked we found the treasure well You did but you were also kinda goin nuts and driving everyone away from the crew
i stuck around though cause i didnt give a flying glub aranea bailed though she caught wind of that magic ring and i guess it got to her the delusions of grandeur about being alive again and doing relevant shit so she ollied out and stole it and made the most embarrassing mess of things i ever heard of anyone doin ever
she totally failed in whatever she was trying to do got the ring ganked from her then died again i never saw or heard from her ever since and tbh i dont really want to that left just me and you well Other you
tryin to figure out what to do with this deadly box a treasure basically we couldnt decide on anything and were feelin pretty flat on the plan overall so we just gave up and wandered off to do other shit for a while and you... i mean she... mellowed Way the fuck out which was actually sorta cool for a bit but also sorta... k never mind that we just kept bubble hopping for i dont even know how long which got uh
reely boring after a while (uncertain face wearing a tiara and goggles)
i never had the thump tortoise to tell her though uh i mean until now in fact i pretty much just forgot about the whole plan until you showed up you made it sound pretty cool again so i was like yeah im on board and thats basically the whole story
oh
yeah...
and that "lost cherub" part of the plan afaik that was a bogus red distraction fish and she probably dont matter at all guess thats everything

Vriska: Good recap!
At least you both had the presence of mind to hang on to the weapon.
Now it's up to us to use it.
What about this army though?
It still sounds like an important part of the plan to me.
Having just the two of us walk straight up to Lord English, cold gobblefiend... that sounds like a recipe for disaster, weapon or no weapon.
An army of ghosts throwing everything they've got at him sounds like a great strategy.
Like, a sort of buffer, giving us a little space to get ready to deploy the weapon when he seems vulnerable.
Meenah: yeah that makes sense
Vriska: Do you think we pick that up where we left off?
Meenah: man
dunno
that was one of the things that made us wonder if it was even worth bothering anymore it was mostly this whole mind control stunt apparently aranea was towing most of the load there??? then she peaced the hell out and got owned Vriska: I see.
Then yeah, this is going to be a little trickier than I thought.
Why don't we brainstorm on it for a while?
Meenah: aight

Vriska: It's not a huge deal. We've got plenty of time to come up with something.
'\There's no rule that says we even Need an army. We just need a way of deploying the weapon that will maximize the probability it'll actually work.
Meenah: true
Vriska: We'll figure it out!
Meenah: so do you even know what that weapon does yet or...
Vriska: Not specifically.
We only know that it's some sort of juju that will activate when it gets near him.
We won't have to do anything at that point, theoretically. The weapon should just take over.
All we have to go on is a bunch of vague stories we heard along the way through dream bubbles. Some presume it's something obvious like sort of charm that releases an extremely powerful attack. Other sources allude to a more specific consequence. That the weapon actually contains the souls of some incredibly powerful warriors of legend who came close to beating him once, so he trapped them inside the charm and banished it into the void. And if that's the case, then... I guess the weapon just releases them so they can finish the job? Guess we'll find out!

Should be exciting. Still, it's way too risky to try springing it on him without creating a major distraction first. Really, the ghost army idea sounded like the perfect approach. No wonder that was the original plan.

Who's idea was that, anyway?

Meenah: yours

Vriska: Yeah, I figured as much. There's Got to be another way to get that off the ground again.

I guess we don't have my ancestor's advanced abilities anymore, but at least we have mine to work with, right?

Meenah: if you say so

Vriska: So between my mind control powers, and your...

Your, um...

What was it you do again?

Sorry for doubting you, Meenah. That's, um...

I'm sure that'll come in real handy.

Vriska: what accomplishment?!
what are you doing with all these ghosts?
is this...
is this a ghost army?!?!?!
Tavros: it is indeed,
Vriska: and I'm to believe you're responsible for this?

believing, as always, is half the battle, when it comes to making things marginally less fake,

Tavros: me!
well, not presently,
but I did before, and now here they are, following me, Vriska: you?!
you must be joking.
you don't have those kinds of powers!
I mean, unless... Ghosts are sort of like a kind of animal?
meenah, is that how it works? Are ghosts actually fucking animals?!
Meenah: no
Tavros: vriska, trust me,
there is no communion involved, or, escapades of the mind,
only escapades of the heart!
Vriska: what sort of hideous fuckwitted baloney drivel are you spouting out your prattle socket this time?
Tavros: what I mean is,
I convinced them all to join me, vriska, using words, and smiles, and friendship, (very happy face with bull horns) do i look fuckin poor to you??? tell me i look poor i Glubbing dare you Tavros: no, I believe you!

I think you are probably very wealthy?
Meenah: then tell me how much gold i need to unload to make this shit happen Tavros: but,
I don't want gold!
firstly, I really doubt it even has much intrinsic value, in this context, because we aren't even,,, on a planet, whereby such ores are scarce, we are just in an abstract field, of fleeting illusions, and,
there's surely no market of exchange anywhere here, that would help dictate the fluctuating price,
of such a commodity, or even any monetary basis of comparison for that price, if it actually existed, Meenah: why the shit is everybody a fuckin economist all of a shitting sudden grumble grumble
pedantic motherfucks dont know gold = riches, Period
Tavros: it doesn't have to be an argument, about gold or economies, or anything else!
I said it's a good idea that you lead us! I like the idea!!
Meenah: alright alright Fine
go ahead an Be nice about it what do i care (pinched mouth face wearing a tiara and goggles) Tavros: I fully recognize, through the customary traditions of normal culture, that you are the one who is most fit to rule, and while I may excel at friendship temporarily, I don't have the leadership things of being harsh

dialoglog
Jake: So i take it i am to stand in for the mad hatter in this charade?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes.
Jake: Except... wasn't the mad hatter supposed to be like... in charge of the tea party or something?
I really don't know what i'm supposed to be doing here.
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Nothing! Just sit there quietly please.
No offense, but you are only a prop actor in this fanciful scenario, which is serving as the stage for my date with this lovely lady.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) wait...
this is a date?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Oh! Yes.
I'm sorry I didn't mention sooner, Nepeta.
Is that ok?
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) um
I guess so!
im still a bit confused about what is actually happening though Jasp rose sprite Squared: There will be plenty of time for explanations!
For now, I invite you to relax and enjoy our party on this peaceful and desolate hilly planet, while that mild mannered boy across the fridge sips his tea quietly.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) ok but...
im manely just wondering, where is everyone?
like... equius? karkat? are they ok?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: They're fine!
Well, Karkat is fine. Alive and well, in this session.
Equius is also fine, in the same sense that you and I are both fine! (Cat face)
Everyone else enjoys various states of being fine while alive, and fine while dead.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) oh
hrrm well
Some of that sounds like good news at least?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: It's all good news! I mean mews. (Cat face) Especially that we are both here now, on this date together.
Again, assuming you are ok with that. No pressure!
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) i will say its a very nice looking tea party you have here but ummmmm ive never actually... been on a date
Jasp rose sprite Squared: There's a first time for everything, right?
I remember my first date. I was so nervous! "Lifehack." It helps if you are very very drunk.
Not that I am prescribing this as a remedy for you! It's ok to be nervous.
Besides, I sincerely doubt you are partial to the drink. I have a feeling catnip's your poison, eh?
Eh?? Ehhh?? (winking cat face) Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) ive never tried either sorry (uncertain face with two mouths) anyway its not that i'm nervous about a first date necessarily!
i just... dont know who you are or anything about you you look like one of the human kids but... different. you seem to be part kittycat now?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes Nepeta I am part kittycat now! (Cat face) (Cat face)
Events conspired to make me equal parts not dead, half kitty, and two sprites!
But the other side of that pet tag is the fact that I am suddenly half human as well.
You see Nepeta I used to be a dead cat too but now I'm an alive cat who's part girl!
In fact, we spoke once. While I was still just a cat. Don't you remember?
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) uhhh
wait a minute
yes...
yes i think i do remember that!
that was fun! (very happy face with two mouths)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Chirp! (Cat face) (Cat face) (Cat face) (Cat face) (Cat face) Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) so you're the same cat then!
the human girl... rose was it? she and her lusus got prototyped together?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: That is exactly what happened, fortunately for us both, as well as everybody else.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) that's very sweet! what a nice way for you two to stay close forever combining souls with my lusus sounds like it would have been a wonderful way to preserve her memory plus share all her strength and wisdom and such!
i am guessing that oppurrunity is long gone though (frowning face with two mouths)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: It probably is. But really, I don't think you need to change!
You are so charming and pretty exactly as you are.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) wow...
thank you (gasping face with two mouths)
Jake: Hey...
Whatever happened to janes bunny friend... what was his name?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Huh?
Jake: Little sebastian i think?
Where did he scamper off to?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Jake, what are you talking about.
Jake: He would be Perfect for this tea party!
Like the white rabbit and all.
And i'm like the mad hatter for some damned reason.
And you're supposed to be like the cheshire cat or such?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes, Jake. That was the idea.
Thank you for explaining a thing to us.
Jake: I haven't the foggiest fucking idea who sleeping tavros is supposed to be.
Or for that matter who the honking guy in the fridge represents.
Gamzee: Honk
Jake: Was there a man under the table who honked sometimes in alice and wonderland?
I really don't remember.
So i guess that leaves the friendly cat troll as alice?
Nepeta right? You must be the alice of the group.
That would make sense! Since you just got here and appear to be very confused about this situation.
By my estimation that makes you a dead ringer for the alice of this tea party!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Jake, just drink your tea.

[Image description: Jake continues staring at the hat while Jasp rose sprite Squared leans in almost uncomfortably close to Nepetasprite. A faint, purple Honk comes from inside the fridge.]
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Anyway, enough of that horseshit. Back to our date!!! That is, if you are ok with calling it a date! Are you ok with this being a date? I mean like a romantic one??
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) i... y-
    yes?
    i mean, sure! (Cat face with two mouths)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yay!!!!!
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) but i still dont... actually know you that well?
at least not the rose part of you.
but i suppose maybe that is the point of a date... to get to know the other person a bit better?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes! Yes Nepeta, exactly! That is exactly the point of a date! (Cat face) Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) heehee, okay then!
uh hmmm so what do we talk about?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Anything you would like, beautiful. (Winking cat face) Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths)... jeez
    rose
    i mean
    rose cat...
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Jasprose!
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) jasprose i...
    heeheehee
Jasp rose sprite Squared: What is it?
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) youre making me blush!
    my head probably looks like a big old olive here
Jasp rose sprite Squared: It's quite a lovely color. (Cat face)(Cat face)(Cat face) Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) i dont...
    ahhhh!
    (Cat face with two mouth and eyes pinched shut)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Is something wrong?
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) no i just sorry
    ive never really had anybody like me before!
    im not sure how to handle it
Jasp rose sprite Squared: I find this very hard to believe.
    Nobody? Are you sure??
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) pretty sure!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: What a reprehensible injustice. Had your colleagues no taste???
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) heh well ok i guess eridan hit on me a few times but his advances always struck me as creepy and insincere Jasp rose sprite Squared: A pox on the name of this charlatan. I hiss on his grave.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) hes dead?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) gosh
    i mean... he could be kind of a jerk sometimes but that is still a shame (frowning face with two mouths) Jasp rose sprite Squared: No it isn't. It's fine. Please! Continue!
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) huh?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: You were saying? About being liked!
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) oh right um i am just still somewhat confused?
im not sure why you like me not that im not flattered!
but you dont really know much about me
or...
do you?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: No, not really.
I just know that you are very pretty, and from my limited interaction with you as a cat, that you are personable and kind.
I don't need to know much else about you to like you. I am a catgirl of simple tastes. (Cat face)
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) haha
ok
i guess i cant argue with that!
for what its worth you seem very nice and pretty as well
Jasp rose sprite Squared: !!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
(Jake, did you hear that?!)
(She likes me too! This is almost too good to be true.)
Jace: I think you should both kiss!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Jake!!!
Please, mind your manners.
I mean, not that that isn't an Excellent idea.
But all things in due time. There is a Process to this courtship business.
Much how one doesn't just Lie Down for a nap. The bedding must be ritualistically kneaded and massaged before lowering oneself in a circular fashion for a prime snoozing position.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) (gasping face with two mouths)
oh my goodness what a beaustifull analogy (cat face with two mouths and a single tear) Jasp rose sprite Squared: Besides, she has only been prototyped once.
I believe unprototyped or once-prototyped kernels can whether brief or incidental contact, the same way you can investigate the flame of a candle without burning your nose as long as you are quick enough.
But the sort of contact we are talking about here would be Anything but incidental. (Winking cat face) (Winking cat face) (Winking cat face) Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) omg you are making me blush again with all this kissing talk!
how can you be so forward about those things?
i have never met anyone who was so brazen and confident about liking somebody how do you do it???
Jasp rose sprite Squared: There isn't much too it.
I used to be quite guarderd about my feelings as a girl.
But cats do not have complicated thoughts about what should be expressed and when.
What to convey about your current state of mind is everything. When to do it is now.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) dont get me wrong jasprose i have a great affinity for all things feline in nature
but its never been that simple for me!
i get so shy and worried what people might think of me if i say how i feel im always so scared that they wont feel the same way or just think im stupid or pathetic or something
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Was there someone you had feelings for you couldn't talk to about?
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) ummmm
yeah
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Who?
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) ummmmmmmmm
i dunno im embarrassed to say!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: You can tell me Nepeta! Please tell me your secret will be safe, I promise!
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) well
ok
as long as you can really keep a sneakret!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: My muzzle is sealed.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) it was karkat but i never told him and im pretty sure he never found out how i felt!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Karkat eh?
I'll let you in on a little sneakret too. You dodged a vigorous spritzing with a spray bottle there.
He wouldn't be any good for you. Oh no no.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) why?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Too many anger issues. Always with the shouting and whatnot. He's way too volatile!
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) but... i liked that about him!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Oh, but that isn't even all there is to it!
On our journey he was so obsessive and controlling toward his desired matesprit. I do not believe that is any way to treat a lady!
On the contrary Nepeta. You deserve someone who will Respect and Adore you.
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) well... yes
i always hoped to find someone like that some day
i dunno maybe youre right but in spite of whatever problems he might have i always felt like i saw something in him that made me think he could be that purrson!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Nope. Sorry to be the meower of bad news. He is just not cut out for you!
Besides, he is involved with someone else now in that quadrant. He has moved on. And so have you!
You are now a sprite. Neither of us have the same connection to the living we once had.
In quite a real sense, it is fair to say that all we have now...
Is each other. (Cat face)
Nepetasprite: (Cat face with two mouths) er...

Davesprite: uh no?\nnot to my knowledge at least i was just chillin on johns planet when some shit happened Jasp rose sprite Squared: What shit?
Davesprite: dunno
there was all this wind and shit then the sky went blank
i looked around a while but couldnt find anybody then the sky went black again so i flew off lookin for people found the planet with a big purple X on it then i found you at this tea party or whatever and now you seem to be a sprite too who is part cat so thats cool i guess Jasp rose sprite Squared: Ah, of course. You're the version I traveled with on the ship.
I mean, not Rose. Jaspers.
Davesprite: oh yeah
hey man
um or at least hey man to half of you kind of fucked up that you're part rose and vice versa but i guess what'ere you gonna do Jasp rose sprite Squared: Be in a state of near-perpetual satisfaction with my own existence, is what.
Anyway, I'm happy to see you're still alive.
Even if your bird-like appearance is making me feel a bit riled up.
I'll try to control myself though.
Davesprite: cool thanks so what kind of ludicrous nonsense do you have going here in the land of stonehenges and a big purple X Davesprite: is that is that egbert lookin dude supposed to be the fucking mad hatter Jake: Yeah!!!
Davesprite: ok
whats with the fridge
please dont tell me somebodys locked in that fridge
Gamzee: Honk
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Dave, never mind the fridge.
This tea party bullshit isn't quite what is seems.
I am actually on a date. So maybe we could, you know. Catch up later?
Davesprite: a date
thats cool
with who the mad hatter guy?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Good lord, no.
With Nepeta.
Sorry, I should have introduced you to her sooner.
Nepeta, this is Dave. He's my bird brother, who is also a sprite.

(Cat face with two mouths) its nice to meet you too!
Davesprite: damn straight we are meeting the shit out of each other right now hey put er there...
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Dave, no, don't…
Their hands meet, and where they touch, they begin to glow white. The rest of their arms flash between Nepetasprite’s bright green and Davesprite’s bright orange. Similarly flashing text over their hands reads “prototype squared”.

A hand with a green outline wearing an orange, fingerless glove pokes on screen. Jasp rose sprite and Jake stare in shock. Jake sips his tea. Three bright orange claws extend from the gloves with a green ‘snikt!’.

It shows the owner of the hand in their full, flashing orange and green glory. They’re an exact mix of Davesprite and Nepetasprite with the addition of a few elements they both shared in life. They have the massive wings from Seppucrowsprite, who eventually became Davesprite. Their hair looks like Dave’s on the left and Nepeta’s on the right, but there are cat ears emerging from it. They wear Dave’s shades, but they have Nepeta’s cat mouth. They wear Nepeta’s coat over what looks like a dreamer nightdress, though the moon on the chest has the teeth from the gear Time symbol along the outside of the curve. The puffy shoulders and rounded, striped collar from the dreamer pajamas are also present.

Jade: well wherever it is...
im kinda wondering if maybe i should be waking up soon?
i feel like my friends are probably going to need me
Calliope: you can't wake up just yet.
Jade: why?
Calliope: it's not time.
not where your physical form is, at least.
Jade: where my physical form is?
then...
what about here?
Calliope: what about here?
Jade: argh
sorry
this time stuff is really confusing

Calliope: you're a space player.
Jade: yeah
i mean
if its not the right time to wake up where im sleeping...
how long do i have to wait Here in order to wake up?

Calliope: the correlation between the passage of time in the furthest ring and any given physical location is tenuous.
the measurement of time here is inseparable from the physical passage through its knotted space. those two aspects are closely woven together here, to such an extent that they are barely separable. all aspects are.
Jade: really?
all of them??
Calliope: yes.
Jade: i understand how this place has time and space of course.... even if they work together weirdly
but i dont see any of the others
Calliope: one doesn't see abstractions.
not directly.
Jade: ...
oh

Calliope: each opposing pair is in balance throughout this field so as to form a stable canvas.
though the canvas becomes less stable with each crack in the field, ordinarily one would never directly observe its constituent forces.
the canvas would seem smooth from afar, but up close, as it were, the tapestry is circuitously woven.
the aspects, while remaining in balance, interfere with each other. they interlock and intertwine.
so neither space nor time functions linearly, nor are they conventionally measurable.

Jade: wow
I am not sure i totally understand... but that is pretty interesting!
Calliope: you are predisposed to find the nuances of space intriguing.
and since its opposing aspect is more related than you perhaps have realized, the challenges of understanding it are more compelling to you than you realize as well.

Jade: yeah i guess so physics are all about space and time and such which are fun to think about i like all that stuff!

Calliope: yes.
Jade: so youre saying space and time... and all other aspects i guess... are more closely related here than in like umm...

more stable places, like my universe?
Calliope: they are less distinct from each other here, yes.
Jade: you said passage of time is inseparable from...
traveling through space?

Calliope: yes.
Jade: so if we were holding still time wouldnt be moving either?

Calliope: that is correct, in a way.
though motion itself is not the absolute process it is in a more conventional medium. the measurement of motion requires stable features for comparison. of which there are very few in the furthest ring, typically. the more cracks that appear, ironically, the more the ring begins to stabilize, at least in a spatial and temporal sense.

Jade: i see
so if the cracks weren't there
how...
how would we be able to tell if we were moving?

Calliope: motion through the twisted space is not gauged by passing landmarks, but anchored to a particular destination. destination is an idea maintained by the traveler. ideas are subtle composites of various aspects. without clear understanding of destination, motion becomes less discernible. with less discernible motion, passage of time becomes less measurable.
at a standstill, time loses meaning, and can seem to stretch on forever, as all events throughout reality swirl around you in no particular order. one becomes isolated from all else. imprisoned by inertia.

Jade: hmmm
that is pretty cool too
i love spacey stuff!

Calliope: yes.
Jade: you talk about it in a neat way it kinda seems like you are trying to educate me on this like a teacher or something (smiley face)

Calliope: of course that is what i'm doing.
Jade: oh
heh

i would really love to get going and see my friends again!
dont you have the power to wake me up?
the other calliope said she has that power

Calliope: i do have that power.
Jade: oh
soooooo
could you please wake me up then?

Calliope: no.
Jade: aw
why not!

Calliope: i told you.
it is not time yet.
we must reach our destination first, in order for the requisite time to flow correctly.
only then.
Jade: maaaan
(frowning face with furrowed brows)
Calliope: why the hurry?
you have already proven your heroism in the moments when it was needed most.
it is important to know when the greatest good is best served by remaining dormant.
whether that burden is for close to eternity, or only a few more minutes.
it is something to learn as a space player.
space falls back. it yields. hosts the play silently.
then, it roars to life when its time comes, showing all who is really the master.
and so too when the time comes, it collapses in on itself, taking all else with it.

shit
hrmmm (confused face with two mouths wearing shades)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: What?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) jasprose yo um im confused about my gender suddenly what am i now?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: I don't know, Dave.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) well what are you?
i mean
what do you feel like now a boy or a girl your cat was a boy right?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes, he was a boy.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) so what does that make you
now???
Jasp rose sprite Squared: I don't know. I hadn't thought much about it.
I think I am probably still a girl?
Cats don't have particularly deep feelings about gender, or form strong identities around the idea.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) ok thats cool but both dave and nepeta did have strong identities as a boy and girl!
so i dunno where that leaves me
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Does it even matter?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) i have no idea!!!
i just started being davepeta like Three Seconds Ago im not sure what matters to me yet i think i do like being me though!
its a really weird feeling i mean not weird just like jarring in contrast with how both me's spent so long feeling like Jasp rose sprite Squared: I think I know what you mean.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) you do?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes I was really having the time of my lives after I became Jasprose.
Well, for a while there, at least.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) fur a while?
whats wrong now
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Oh, nothing.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) come oooon tell me! (cat face with two mouths wearing shades)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: It's hard to put into meows what I am feeling suddenly.
I think it might be...
Loneliness?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) lonelioness
why?
im here to keep you company
and mad hatter dude is still over there...
uh
doing... whatever the fuck it is hes doing?
you still have lots of friends!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: I know.
But since your... transformation...
Some feelings I thought I had put behind me at the moment of My transformation quickly returned.
They were dug up from their shallow graves and left on my doorstep by... you know what?
I'm not even in the mood to finish that incredibly apt analogy. You will have to connect the dots yourself.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) what feelings returned?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: As a cat I never had any other girl cats around to be friendly with.
That was a very simple emotion with which I could probably cope, if it was all that was in play.
The Rose half is more complicated.
I have memories from a lot of Roses.
Is this true for you as well? I mean, memories from many Daves and Nepetas?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yeah.....
it uh sure is a clusterfuck of sad dead daves and sad dead nepetas in my head it feels alright tho like im a lot more detached from those experiences than i ever felt before?
but also
there is a distinct feeling of having one dave and nepeta stand out from the crowd of memories the versions of davesprite and nepeta i existed as right up until we both shook hands they still kinda feel like the "main" ones ya know?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes, exactly.
The Rose I was prior to this had just lost everything before she was killed.
Her friends and also her matesprit.
When I came back as a sprite, not as Jasprose yet mind you, I was relieved to see everybody again...
But it was also a melancholy return.
I knew that she couldn't be with me anymore, because I was no longer Real Rose. But when I became Jasprose, everything changed again. I was a whole new being!

Before me stretched a horizon full of small distant and slightly jostling curiosities to investigate, because you never know when something like that might turn out to be a mouse. There were so many, many new pawsibilkitties.

Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) dude i must say i am so stoked for the cat things you're sayin!

Jasp rose sprite Squared: Shooosh, Dave. And yes I concur about the cat things. Anyway, one of the new things that opened up to me was...

The idea that I didn't have to be alone anymore. That I was reborn, more thrilled to be alive than I can ever remember being in any incarnation. And that there was someone perfect waiting for me to bring her back. Another estranged soul like me.

And now...

I guess it's all ruined.

Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) what's ruined

Jasp rose sprite Squared: Never mind, Dave.

Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) come on tell me!

Jasp rose sprite Squared: Forget it.

Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) rose...

jasprose!!

damnit

you can't possibly just leave the story there pawsibly

fuck

still gettin the hang of mastering my cute as hell urge to do cat puns litterally whenever it could conceivably occur to me litterally lmao thats a good one

jasprose

jasprose

jasp

jaspycat

shit thats a bad nickname sorry

jasprose

Jasp rose sprite Squared!

you were talkin about nepeta weren't you i mean me

or part of me (cat face with two mouths wearing shades)

tell me!

tell me tell me tell me tell me tell me...

Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) i was? er she was?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes, Dave. I am quite sure of it.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) um well furrst of all maybe you should stop calling me dave?
my name is davepeta now
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Oh... Yes you're right. I'm sorry Davepeta.
No offense, but the Dave part of you is sort of the fly in the ointment here, so when I look at you, that tends to be who I see.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yeah thats cool since he became a bird that part of me got pretty used to being a most unwelcome dave in practically all situations let alone when he rudely crashes a tea date through accidental bodysharing shenanigans but now im like this whole new neat kind of sprite with legs again and claws and shit and id prefer that my new identity be respected please!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yeah. I am very sorry. I was just sad is all.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) awww i understand you could even say i "know that feel" heehee loling my ass off i love that theres this whole side of me that is all freshly tickled by even the most basic appllications of irony for instance that was some weaksauce milk but here i am lapping it up (cat face with two mouths wearing shades)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: It pleases me to hear you have rediscovered the joys of entry-level irony, Davepeta.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) but yeah sorry for blowing our date even if i... she... wasnt sure what to make of the date? she was really flattered that you liked her tho but i dunno if it would have led to marriage! i think yall may have been pouncing the gun on that Jasp rose sprite Squared: I don't think so. I had it all figured out. She never got a chance to see any of my moves though, so I guess we'll never know.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) i dunno... gettin married isnt even a thing for trolls!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: It was just a figure of speech. It isn't a thing for cats either, remember?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) ok but even so i still dont think you can force something like that we would have needed to spend more time together and stuff to find out!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes we would have spent that time together, and it would have turned out to be magical. Trust me.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) god Damn rose gettin some kitty cat mixed up in ya made you so much Hella Smugger than usual i kinda dig it???
it suits you
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Does it?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) i mean you were always full of yourself but now you're owning it so completely feels a lot more honest tbh Jasp rose sprite Squared: That is,
Wow.
Actually such a nice compliment? Thank you, Davepeta.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) you know the fridge is like all fuckin set up and what not maybe even do a smidgen of choice "RP"ing if it strikes our fancy i thiiink that could turn out to be pretty cute and dope (cat face with two mouths wearing shades)

Jasp rose sprite Squared: Hmmmm.
Maybe.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) you know...
a gotta say
the nepeta part of me is like genuinely mystified about what the issue even is?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: What issue?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) us dating like as in a normal romantic tea drinking date Jasp rose sprite Squared: Oh.
Yeah, it makes sense that she wouldn't understand.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) i mean the dave part of me is obviously all like no no no stop Stop Stop when i think about it
but that little fussy brain tantrum isn't makin me feel weird or uncomfortable its just sort of cracking me up!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Haha.
That's a good way of putting it.
My inner mono-dialogues have been very amusing to me too.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) i guess i am still just a bit uncertain about my nature and my beliefs and whatnot what about you though you are part cat sooo...
Jasp rose sprite Squared: So?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) so how do you really feel about that... issue?
Jasp rose sprite Squared: ...
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) i mean as far as both sides of me know cats arent too concerned with that right?
after a while they dont see brother and sister kitties they just uh see more kitties who are just like all the other kitties Jasp rose sprite Squared: I'm...
Erg.
There is such a potent force within me that squirms at every word of this train of thought Davepeta!
Good grief Rose was such a stuffy girl, wasn't she.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yup
Jasp rose sprite Squared: But yes, you are basically correct.
Asking the Jaspers half about this issue would be like showing him two slightly different gray swatches, and asking his opinion on which color to paint the observatory.
So to answer your question, I...
I don't know.
I really don't know, about any of this.
My dreams of having a beautiful troll girl for a wife were dashed moments ago, so I have been speaking from a despondent state of mind since you came into existence.
But maybe what you're saying makes sense.
I will need some time to meowll it over.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) hahaha meowll so good
(that was supposed to mean mull right?)
Jasp rose sprite Squared: Yes Davepeta that meant mull.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) but yes i agree!
theres so much to figure out now shit be poppin in my jumbled sprite brain suddenly popping like a bunch of silly gophers out their fuckin surprise holes wanna murder them gophers

i would have thought id be a mess of contradictions about that but hmm nope weird right?!
Jasp rose sprite Squared: If you say so.
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) not that im sayin i should act on that or anything its like you were saying about being the odd rose out and when you got jaspersed everything changed these are brand new lives for us so it feels like i should try to leave the old stuff behind but that means
i also gotta figure out what to do with my life now!

but now it sounds cool suddenly i feel like...
the exact blend of people i am is a being that he should in some way be vulnerable to i cant even explain why i feel that way

Dave: damn
and i thought our houses were pointlessly tall before it just doesn't stop from keep constantly getting more and more vertically enormous Dirk: Shit is downright precipitous at this point.
Like, up ways.
Dave: haha yeah
we made sure as fuck not to come right out and literally describe that building as tall Dirk: Hell yes.
Who needs small and serviceable adjectives when the most ass-backwards way of saying a thing is right there, tantalizingly hidden within the vast ocean of language.
Like a treasure in a huge shitty clam.
Dave: we are way on the same page philosophically here
Dirk: Who is surprised by this?
Zero people, is who.
Dave: sounds like a club for losers to me
they're lucky they don't have any members, otherwise they'd all be lame as hell
Dirk: Yeah.
Dave: so uh
why do the houses need to be so tall again i never actually understood that except to reach the gates but once we all figured out how to fly and shit that became so pointless Dirk: Yeah. After a while in the game, building kind of stopped mattering.
Except near the end. Getting them to the top is just a point of completion.
Then you dump the grist rig on top of it, apparently.
That lets the thing spray out all the grist from the hoard in the planet's core, kind of like a huge oil derrick I guess.
Dave: oh
how do you know this do you guys have like a manual or Dirk: I'm in communication with Arquiusprite.
He's working on it now.
Dave: so you're in communication with him like...
Right now?
Dirk: Yes.
Via my shades.
Which he incidentally used to be.
Like, as a computer, which he lived inside as my Auto-Responder.
Dave: right
and
uh
why... did you make that thing again not that you ever told me before
'again' is just like a stammering tack-on to that sentence so as to try and not sound too fucking rude Dirk: I don't think it's a rude question. It's perfectly fair to wonder what was going through my head when I made him.
I've spent a lot of time wondering about that myself.
Dave: so you just straight up programmed a copy of your brain
Dirk: There was some programming involved, but also a bit of cheating, through the mapping of a captchalogue ghost-imprint of my brain.
I guess part of it was just about trying to understand myself.
But I don't think I would have put it that way at the time. For a while I insisted he was meant to be a "debate partner" or some horseshit.
I was pretty young, and had some stupid ideas. About irony in particular. But also a lot of mostly faux-intellectual thoughts on a wide variety of topics.
Like philosophy, consciousness, programming, identity, history, ancient pop-culture... really it ran the full gamut of pretension.
Not that I don't still find that stuff interesting. I'd just like to think I'm somewhat less full of shit about it all now.
Dave: yeah me too
i mean, about my interests and stuff
Dirk: Creating him was an interesting exercise I guess, but over the years I came to see his development as one of my biggest mistakes.
He sort of turned into a monster. But I could never bring myself to get rid of him, or even really blame him for being an asshole, because he wasn't actually that different from me.
Like, by definition.
He seems alright as Arquius though. At least it keeps him busy, obsessing over his muscles, asking for milk and shit like that.
Dave: hmm
i guess i started some projects i regretted but nothin like making a milk weirdo eventually exist it sounds fucked up but is also kind of an awesome story in its own way Dirk: I guess so.
Dave: maybe im lucky i was never that good with computers now computer Art thats a different story ok it actually isnt i fuckin suck at that too but dammit i try my best and make some magic happen at least in my own mind so maybe thats good enough Dirk: It certainly worked out for you in my universe.
Dave: yeah
i mean
i Did captchalogue my own ghost brain once but i didnt know what to make of that and thought it was kinda weird so that never really went anywhere probably for the best Dirk: It definitely is.
Tinkering with your own mind, or identity or whatever... it's a dark road to go down.
There are enough splinters of everyone running around out there as it is, just as a natural byproduct of our reality. For me in particular. Probably for you too, as a time player.
That process doesn't need to be encouraged or fucked with.
Dave: for real
my bro did cool things with computers too
i mean nothin like making a clone of his brain or anything thank god just some absurd bullshit with web bots and stuff mostly to help prop up his various "enterprises"
Dirk: You mean the porn stuff?
Dave: yeah
but with puppets of course it was always about the puppets Dirk: Naturally.
Dave: he made all these porn bots that would just talk to each other in a chatroom endlessly all like gettin each other riled up about squishy bottoms and whatnot actually it was pretty entertaining to watch them go at it for hours i think they may have been teetering on the threshold of Something resembling self awareness?
except they only seemed to apply that faculty to reach even more heightened states of sexual excitement for a bunch of nude soft puppets Dirk: That sounds...
Oddly rewarding.
I mean, not to say he wasn't still a douche.
But as a pastime, cultivating a group of earnest, erotic puppet-loving chatbots sounds so much more relaxing than painstakingly constructing a version of your own brain, and then arguing with it for years thereafter.
Almost like tending to a little flock of pigeons.
Dave: yeah you know he did some cool things it wasn't necessarily all inherently terrible things i would really appreciate under better circumstances he definitely had a lot of drive and also some uh "ideas" that warranted a certain amount of respect
i guess
he just
maybe should not have been allowed near a child?
s'all im sayin

We really don't have to talk about him anymore though, if it is going to stir up more bad shit for you.
Dave: nah im alright
i think that is all mostly out of my system
i mean not forever because i dont think thats how things work i just mean my venting fit is over and im probably good for another 16 years or so and i can return to being mostly deadpan and rad Dirk: Ok.
Well, in sixteen years, if you need someone to vent to again, let me know.
Dave: sure
assuming we havent been killed by like 10 jacks before that i will you certainly seem to be the right guy for that Dirk: For what?
Dave: i mean like the most suitable recipient of my hysterical fits on that particular subject there is no way i would ever tell karkat all that i mean maybe some stuff but not All the stuff its just too heavy i certainly wasnt gonna mention the stuff to rose or john or jade or whoever else if i was ever gonna do one of my patented acrobatic pirouettes off that particular handle to anyone it really only could have been at him except he was dead and even if he wasnt and i did say all that shit theres no way it would have resulted in anything resembling reconciliation which i think was something i kinda needed but didnt realize it
so....
thank you for being a really plausible stand in for him who i could rip to shreds??
while still being basically innocent of all that terrible garbage so you end up sorta being like an avatar for him that is much easier to forgive
i mean
maybe Forgive isn’t the right word because im not sure he deserves that and anyway it doesn’t matter because hes been dead for years and at this point is just an irrelevant deceased weirdo who doesn’t matter anymore
i guess i mean coming around to a place where i dont have to feel rotten all the time anymore and i guess im lucky i got to blunder into a reality that just happened to have the exact right version of a dude which made that possible for me sorry this fuckin ramble is really getting away from me i have no idea if im making sense anymore

Well like I said, any time you want to know more, feel free to ask.
Dave: kay how about we do this thing when i met roxy we did a thing
Dirk: A thing?
Dave: yeah
its called the lightning round
Dirk: That does sound like a Roxy thing.
Does it by any chance involve asking a rapid-fire series of questions, some of which end up being a bit too personal or invasive?
Dave: well yeah when she does it we could be chill though when it comes to asking about each others secret crushes and shit
Dirk: Then I guess I will disclaim in advance that I don't have any, and I don't care about yours even if you do.
Dave: it is settled then on the fact that we are a couple of cool dudes who know where to draw the line on certain topics
Dirk: Cool.
So how do we start.
Whose lightning round is this, mine or yours?
Dave: it can be yours go ahead shoot
Dirk: Ok.
How...
Did...
He, um, come to "adopt" you?
Dave: I was a baby and I came down to earth on a meteor while riding a pony with a pink heart on its ass. He found me in a crater on top of a dead pony and gave me a little baby pair of shades that look exactly like the ones you're wearin now.
Dirk: I see.
So you decided to ditch those shades for the aviator glasses?
Dave: Yeah. Years ago John got me these for my bday. It might have been like an "ironic dare" to wear them, I don't remember. But when I got em, I was like, hell yeah, I'm wearin these. Gonna rock these fuckers til the end of time. They were Ben Stiller's. Literally. They actually touched his weird sort of gaunt face in one of his films.
Dirk: Wait... The Stiller?
Dave: Yeah.
Dirk: Incredible. Also, such a shame what happened to that poor man.
Dave: Wait, what happened to him?
Dirk: I can tell you when it's your lightning round. Or mine. Whatever. I'm still not sure whose lightning round it is when you're the one asking questions.
Dave: Dunno ask Roxy.
Dirk: Ok. Anyway, didn't mean to interrupt. Dave: But yeah, we would send each other stuff sometimes. Me and John. Well we all would. Usually absurd birthday packages and such. Dirk: We did that too. Except I had to send things through time. Always had to figure out stuff small enough to send through the sendificator, even if it was piece by piece.
Dave: Nice. One time it turned out we accidentally sent presents through time. I mean not literally, more in a roundabout way. We all sent John a rabbit. But all three rabbits just turned out to be the same damn rabbit. Because of stupid time shit.
Dirk: Once I deliberately and quite literally sent a rabbit through time. It was a robot.
Dave: Wow.
Dirk: He was a loyal friend to Jane. I don't know what happened to him though.
Dave: Yeah, I dunno what happened to John's rabbits either. Rabbits am I right?
Dirk: I hear you, man.
Dave: What next?
Dirk: Hm.
You say he owned Cal as well?
Dave: Yep.
Dirk: Did he come down to Earth on a meteor with Cal too?
Dave: I think so that was a long time ago
kinda weird to imagine him strutting around with that puppet as a kid in the 80s or maybe just kinda funny actually he sure held on to it a long time must have gotten attached at a really early age and just never let go
I guess you fell to earth with one of those things too?
Dirk: Yeah.
But if I came to Earth on a meteor the same way you all did, then I guess I just got dunked right in the fucking ocean.
Which makes sense. One of my earliest memories is of using Cal as a flotation device.
So he sorta saved my life in a way. I guess I bonded with him too, the way your bro did, even if that sounds a bit stupid.
Then again, it didn't help matters much that I lived alone in the middle of the ocean. He was my only real life friend. I mean, until I built some new ones.
Dave: Hmm wait we fucked up
I asked you a question it's not my turn keep firing
Dirk: Ok.
How did your bro die?
Dave: He died fighting one of these jacks at this point I almost forget which one
no wait
ok yeah it was the omnipotent dog one the jack from our session he was fighting like a lesser form of him and then jack got extra prototyped by dog powers and then got outmatched and stabbed with his own sword pretty sure davesprite was fighting with him and almost died too but then it turned out he didn't but now I at least 99% sure that davesprite is Definitely dead and won't suddenly reappear as a stupid surprise or anything
Dirk: I hate stupid surprises.
Dave: Word
Dirk: So, you said he "trained" you.
I'm guessing that means he knew what was coming?
Or, some things about your future, at least?
Dave: Seems that way not sure what he knew or how he knew it all our guardians seemed to know bits and pieces of stuff and did vague mysterious things to prepare to this day I have no idea if he was training me to fight lord english or if he even knew who that guy was on any conscious level or it was more like general purpose training to be able to survive some hard shit after the end of the world happened
you'd have to ask him but that's impossible
I do know he managed to get the drop on a meteor before I entered the game
Dirk: What?
Dave: As far as I can tell he stood on top of it and split it in half with his sword
Dirk: Um,
Not to be too much of a wet blanket on that rad as fuck anecdote, but that sounds kind of far fetched.
Dave: Yeah it does doesn't it but then again so does a baby getting dunked from space in the ocean then floating on a weird doll and then growin up by himself with no adults around Dirk: That's not far fetched. It was pretty straightforward.
I think I just found a building poking out of the water, climbed up, then I just started foraging for food in there like a feral infant.
Supplies which I'm sure your adult self must have left behind for me, seeing as he clearly must have known some things about the future too.
Speaking of which, maybe it's your turn now?

Dave: yeah ok questions about me hmm lets see ok First the fuck of all what happened to ben stiller
Dirk: He was deemed a heretic, and was crucified on the Washington Monument by some clowns.
Dave: wow
Dirk: Due to his dedication to freedom and peace, he came to be seen as a martyr, and then a holy figure.
He was left on the monument as an example to all, but thousands of faithful gathered below to gaze up at his pious, sort of gaunt face.
For years thereafter, his followers would carve stone busts of him in his memory, capturing the piercing glare of his final expression.
But they were all smashed to pieces by the presidential church.
That religious movement didn't last very long.
Rumor has it the batterwitch had a lot of experience crushing righteous insurrections.
Dave: did my adult self get pissed about stiller
i bet he got pissed
Dirk: Yeah. There was a whole series of final insults that led to his active rebellion, instead of just producing subversive media.
At one point, the witch "remastered" all of his films to clean up all the shitty artifacts, and released them in stunning high-def quality all over the world, using a rational business model and everything.
That Really set him off.
Dave: what the fuck
how fucking dare that woman
so then he tried to kill the batterwitch right who is the same exact alien as the condesc in this session??
Dirk: Yes. Same one.
And yeah, he teamed up with Rose from the same era.
They supposedly put up a good fight, but both died.
Dave: so...
does john know that he is literally about to go fight betty crocker yet or what Dirk: I have no idea.
I really don't know John at all, or any of your friends.
I know Jane was the heiress to the Crocker brand. Uh, obviously? It is her name after all.
Was John the heir to that empire in his universe?
Dave: nah
i mean not to my or his knowledge he just fuckin hated that company for some reason i think his reason was literally as mundane as just being slightly overexposed to cake that's classic john though he doesn't get pissed about anything except for the absolute dumbest shit but i guess his instincts were right in this case
maybe we should just not tell him
that hes fightin crocker i think the poor dude has probably had enough mental breakdowns for one adventure we all have
Dirk: I'd like to get to know him.
Not to mention Rose and Jade. Would have been nice to hang out and chat, in a circumstance where we weren't supposed to prepare for an imminent deadly struggle.
Dave: yeah
well i guess we could have hung out there a few minutes longer i mean you wouldn't have got much outta jade who is stuck in perma-nap mode just like old times i guess
Dirk: Huh?
Dave: she used to sleep a lot
Dirk: Ah.
Dave: but yeah there wasn't much time except for like a bunch of heys and oh nice to meet yous and also i think i would have still been a shitty train wreck socially if we all just hunkered down right then and there for another extensive round of freestyle paltalk Dirk: Right, I was kind of nervous about lingering there for more than a minute too.
Dirk: Mainly because of Jake.
I didn't want to make him uncomfortable.
I think I have done enough of that.
Dave: i guess jake was kinda like your john of the group huh wait that was a pretty dumb observation never mind
Dirk: Nah, sounds about right.
Seems like John was your close buddy growing up, and Jake was mine.
Dave: john and i never really had anything like a falling out except for not talkin to each other for a few years on account of being on a meteor and boat respectively
Dave: but i guess you two had some buddy troubles or somethin?
Dirk: Yes. A lot of buddy troubles.
I vaguely touched on it earlier. I was a really bad influence in his life.
Dave: what happened
Dirk: A lot of things, that were mostly my fault.
Basically, I think I bullied him into dating me.
Although I had plenty of "help" from my Auto-Responder.
There were a lot of insane plans that he hatched on my behalf.
But in fairness, I went along with them.
To this day, I can't really tell how much of that bullshit was his doing, and how much was mine, which I've just covered up through denial or selective memory.
Dave: wait
you
you dated jake?
Dirk: Yeah.
That didn't last long though.
It was really lopsided and kind of forced.
Dave: ...
so
you...

hmm
Dirk: What?
Dave: nothing
i think were breakin one of the rules here this tangent got too personal Dirk: Oh yeah.
I forgot we weren't doing that.

Dirk: Anyway, carry on. You were asking about adult Dave?
Dave: yeah
so that covers how he died taking a futile stand against some unbeatable foe cant say im too surprised about that cause what else is even new what about his early life though guess i arrived around the same year my bro did in my universe?
just came down on the same dead horse i rode in on into a world full of opportunities
how did i get started Dirk: His early life isn't well documented.
There's hardly anything to read about him until he broke into show business with a few obscure projects at the turn of the century.
It all snowballed from there.
Dave: i guess the one thing we know for sure is i didnt find a kid in a crater and take him under my wing that was probably for the best Dirk: Heh.
Dave: actually maybe its better that most of his story is left to my imagination kinda like how you said you spent a lot of time thinkin about him filling in the gaps of his ridiculous exploits Dirk: Right.
There's certainly a lot of lore to work with.
Urban legends and stuff.
Dave: like what actually wait dont tell me at least not now maybe down the road it would be cool to hear some i think id prefer to fill in the blanks myself for a while really it sounds dope as hell to imagine that sort of blank canvas life dropped on earth as a kid in the 70s or 80s or whatever with no bossy adult to reel me in and just having to figure stuff out especially knowing that many years later it all worked out ok really wonder what i did was i like some homeless eighties ragamuffin??? jesus christ that sounds fairly adorable if so maybe i slept in an alley on a bed of rubix cubes and alf merchandise or maybe i offered my old school rap services for food
Dirk: Like, through a shitty cardboard booth?
You know, like the one from the fuckin' Charlie Brown comics.
"This is what the reframe," FYI.
Dave: yes exactly
this sounds like exactly the life for me what if without a penny to my name and the wind at my back i hopped a boxcar to the big apple because as a dumb child i naively believed thats where they made all the apple juice id be sorely disappointed when i got there but it wouldn't matter because id probably scrape together a living on off off off broadway like... making shitty cartoons on stage and saying you guys
this will be So much funnier once the internet happens Trust Me then the aristocratic patrons of fine theater just shrug and dump their shillings into my orphan hat Dirk: It sounds to me like you've been reading up on the urban legends already.
Dave: hahaha

Dave: i wonder if he had like friends
Dirk: It sounds like he knew a lot of people, at least later in life.
Dave: sure
i mean im sure he knew rose at some point because obviously they teamed up but as fairly old people?
it sounds as though they only knew each other as a result of their notability Dirk: This seems likely.
Dave: i mean more like the friends i grew up with he couldnt have grown up with john or jade as friends because they were already old by the time he got there this cool 80s kid fantasy was probably just a lot lonelier than ive been picturing in my sweet daydreams
i didnt even have the Mayor god what a nightmare now that i think about it i wonder if all he cared about was making ludicrous shit and fighting evil pastry moguls do you know if he had any other interests Dirk: Like what?
Dave: i dont know
did you ever read any urban legends about.....
paleontology
Dirk: Paleontology?
Dave: yes the scientific study of dead shit
Dirk: Not that I recall.
Dave: hmm
i guess he probably didn't do anything with that what a shame
maybe he never even got the idea since he had completely different experiences but if i were suddenly dropped back in the 20th century id probably look into it at some point i dunno how though i think it would be mainly like some sort of therapeutic interest something relaxing to think about instead of a bunch of ironic and stupidly ambitious objectives Dirk: Yeah, like the porn bots.
Dave: yeah exactly
Dirk: Maybe some day, when we're both old men, you can live a quiet life tending to your fossils, and I will do the same with my dear collection of simple-minded chat robots fixated on puppet ass.
Dave: sounds like the fucking life to me
Dirk: What was the lightning round question this stemmed from again?
I forget.
Dave: dunno
maybe were tapering off with the lightning round stuff anyway and its just naturally deteriorating into regular dudechat Dirk: Maybe.
You sure you don't have anything else before we say it's officially deteriorated?
Dave: k heres a curveball
what the fuck are you wearing Dirk: My prince gear.
You know. Leggings, slippers, the poofy asshole pants, a hood with some sort of cloth tiara deal embedded in it.
Basic stuff for princes, apparently.
Dave: huh
gotta say
some of these god tier ensembles really are...
something
Dirk: I thought I hated it at first.
But over the couple hours I spent flying back, with time to think about all sorts of stuff...
It kinda grew on me.
The asshole pants are pretty damn comfortable, so I dunno if I even care how stupid they look.
And I am kind of an asshole, after all. So who am I to complain.
Dave: i thought the same thing about my cape outfit at first felt like some bozo from the renaissance festival like maybe i should get on a horse and sing a shitty ballad but then it grew on me pretty quickly hardly ever took it off in three years you're right its comfortable and they're fuckin magic pajamas or whatever and they start to feel like part of who you are after long enough
i mean they are supposed to last you forever right kinda by definition since they come along with immortality maybe part of their magical nature includes this insidious quality where they grow on you or not i dunno maybe this is bullshit and ill just wear some normal person clothes when this is all over what about you are you gonna wear god duds forever
Dirk: Nah. I'm sure I'll wear regular stuff again at some point.
If a shirt with a hat on it can be deemed regular.
Dave: im cool with deeming it as such yeah maybe you're right and we should all stop dressing like tools from an infinite magic slumber party for floundering teens and just look like standard floundering teens some of the getups are pretty out there jakes tho...

uh
damn??
Dirk: I...
Yeah.
That page costume. I'd have commented on it, except that would've been casting a stone through a particularly fragile glass wardrobe.
So... I just flew away.
Dave: yeah there was uh some palpable awkwardness there
Dirk: Hm.
Dave: sorry im still tryin to like wrap my head around
...
Dirk: What?
Dave: uh
dammit
ok i guess i might have to break one of our lightning round rules only a little tho i hope Dirk: About what?
The personal stuff?
Dave: yeah
Dirk: That's fine.
Dave: ok maybe im not even asking you anything maybe this is just a starting point to ramble to myself on a certain topic i think... there is a Slight chance...
i may be the biggest idiot in the world
Dirk: ?
Dave: when it comes to understanding some things about my bro some pieces i never really put together about him until maybe literally right now which i think makes me an objective dumbass
Dirk: What does this have to do with me and Jake?
Dave: idk nothin
maybe i dont wanna ask you anything about jake maybe ill just keep abiding by the code of basic dude manners on that if i bother skirtin the line of this rule maybe id rather ask you other stuff instead Dirk: Like what?
Dave: like um
say one of your best friends is a knucklehead you havent seen in three years and unless you use ultra direct and explicit language he just wont put two and two together himself and also say Another best friend is a girl you feel like you had kind of a special relationship with but you Also hadnt seen in three years and shes asleep but at some point shell wake up and youll have to talk to her

Dirk: ...
Dave: this is dumb im not making any sense lemme start over ok lets say

Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yeah!!!
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Dave and Nepeta, Nepe dave sprite?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) dave peta! (sprite squared lol)
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Dave peta Sprite Squared
It is I, Arquiusprite, to the first power
Which is to say, Equius, and an artificial intelligence composite of your bro, in the form of the cool broken sunglasses I am wearing
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yeah i know dummy! (tongue sticking out face with two mouths wearing shades)
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) How is this possible?
How did you come to be??
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) umm i dunno some shit happened was on a tea date, shook hands with myself, you know basic fuckery how did You come to be??
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) I... Yes, that is a fair question Some bullshucks happened, which made little to no sense, and now here I am I can only presume this was the case for you as well, given your incoherent and poorly developed anecdote
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) what ya doin there bro?
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Huh? Oh. Nothing really Doing the final work for this session. Releasing the grist hoards. Nothing that matters now...
Now...
That you're here
Sniff
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yo are you crying??
awww
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Davepeta, I apologize for the embarrassing secretions from this imperfect, semi-organic form
How ironic, that I spend virtually 100 percent of my time secreting liquid from virtually 100 percent of my body's surface area, and yet a few more drops from my eyes would cause me such shame
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) heeheehee youre so fuckin gross!!!!
i really missed you dude
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) I missed you as well, or, I would have, had I permitted myself to think about you
Alas, I failed to protect you from an unpleasant clown in the most disgraceful way possible, much to the shame of my dead troll half, and much to the disgust of my digital human half Hence, to the Nepeta portion of you, Dave peta,
I am so very Strongly sorry
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) theres nothin to apawlogize for!
nepeta furgave you for that and anyways im not even her anymore
i guess davesprite had some old issues with his bro he never really sorted out but hey im not him either!
and youre not his bro or equius youre arquius who is a new and cool and beautyifful thing and anyway all those old troubles are feeling so overwhelmed by new and different emotions and its great!
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Yes, Davepeta, you're right
It is really flipping great Slight sob
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) dawwwwwww there there you blubbering goddamn cutie
davepeta sniffs curiously at arquiusprites grody and emotional body pee-yew davepeta exclaims, recoiling like they were just using their muzzle to investigate the business end of a shitting dog Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) What are you...
I mean,
Arquius submits his question to Davepeta in the form of a third person statement, thereby acknowledging once and for all that he is in no way above the childish nonsense of his former moirail
He in fact acknowledges by extension that he is not above anything or anyone, and never was Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) omg yes!!!
i mean that was a good start but also a little abstract man, you should try incorporating some actual behaviors and actions into your RP things to punch them up Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Behaviors and actions?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yeah!
like think dude, how the hell is davepeta supposed to react cutely to some internal epiphany your havin? hows that shit externally Telegraphed bro??
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) I see
I mean, Arquius sees
Arquius soon realizes he will need a truly unreasonable supply of fresh, dry towels to absorb the perspiration caused by two separate lifetimes of regrets and foolishnesses
He embarks on a mystical quest of the spirit, through a land of his imagination's design as a part of his personal "Alternative Universe" fiction. It is a mountainous land consisting of only fresh, perfectly folded white towels, and rivers of milk running through its valleys
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yum yum!
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) "Yum yum" indeed, he thinks to himself with his silicon brain, exactly one trillion times per second, for several seconds. But now is no time to sup from the streams of dairy. He gathers a heap of clean towels in his strapping arms. Yes, these guns you see here. Two astonishing sinewed meat trunks clutch the unsodden rectangles of fabric, like tremendous baguettes of rippling, twitching protein tissue.*
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) (uncertain face with two mouths wearing shades) Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) He reflects on his pair of powerful weapons with admiration, and wonders quietly if Davepeta would like a complimentary ticket to the gun show. But due to his obscenely powerful mind, this thought took place in the blink of a microsecond, and he proceeds to have additional, similarly rapid cyber-reveries. Including, but not limited to, thoughts of fondness for Davepeta, and some extremely complex genetic algorithms comparing the merits of various redemptive gestures, and-
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) arquius youre RPing your internal thought process again Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Oh. Sorry
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) its ok for startin out, youll get the hang of it if you keep at it you being willing to try is all that matters and is hella nice (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) starts to purr a sick beat!
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) You mean, like a rap beat?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) um, duhhh?
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Arquius wonders if the purred rap beat is strictly in the hypothetical plane of roleplay, or if it will be an audible phenomenon taking place in reality soon*
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) davepeta gives a little knowing nod, as if to say, you bet your chiseled ass itll be an audible phenomenon in reality soon Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Arquius begins flexing rhythmically, in time with the beat of the purred rap. This hypothetical role playing action should also be regarded as a precursor to this deed being literally executed in reality*
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) davepeta starts droppin the illest purrbeat you ever heard but stops suddenly, as they become mesmerized by the hypnotic flexing of arquiusprites humongous muscles
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Do you... really like them? He says
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) i... really do* they say* Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Would...
You like to touch my muscles, davepeta?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yes i believe i would Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) Then I must command you Please touch my muscles
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yes ok
Arquiusprite: (shades and arrow) I won't take no for an answer, Davepeta Touch my muscles

[Image description: The song Horsecatska begins to play. In a style that is both entirely cartoonish and disgustingly hyperrealistic, Arquius and Davepeta hug. The background is a swirling, pulsing pinwheel of red segments alternating with ones that flash orange and green. Arquius drips sweat and grins an overly large, snaggletoothed smile. Every muscle in Arquius’s back is lovingly and disturbingly outlined, including his ass muscles, which are... quite large. Since he has a ghost tail instead of legs, there are no leg muscles to render in any level of detail. Instead, there are highly defined muscles like washboard abs running down from under his ass. Davepeta, too, has hyper realistic details on cartoon proportions. Their mouth looks like a cartoon of a cat with two massive fangs, and their wings have surprisingly good shading on the feathers. Both of them have arms that are far too long for their bodies. Honestly, the whole thing is very reminiscent of the proportions present in Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff. But worse.

The sounds of screaming cats, neighing, and cawing plays in the song. After a few seconds, it switches to robotic cats, horses, and birds running through a candy colored desert near a mountain range, then switches back to the disgusting hug.

It switches to a SBAHJ style drawing of a crow, which is labeled ‘Caw’, then back to the disgusting hug.

It switches to a flashing picture of the mounted wolf head in Hussie’s attic as it rapidly changes color. It’s labeled Meeeeooooow!!!!!!!! It switches back to the hug.

The image turns black and a white horse sticks its head on screen to say ‘neigh’, then it changes back to the hug.

It changes to a comic of Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff Rock Solbo. Sweet bro rides on the back of a massive bull with long horns and an eye that takes up most of his head. A yellow cowboy hat hovers ominously over his head. To his right, against a neon pink background with a red border, Hella Jeff shreds on a neon green guitar with arms that look like they’re broken. The guitar makes a “Woaww Bwee” sound. He turns side to side, then it suddenly zooms in on his pixelated, rapturous expression. It zooms in on his poorly drawn, 4-fingered hand as it moves in a vague approximation of a ‘playing the guitar’ motion. It zooms in on the neck of the guitar as his other hand slides down it, making a Bweeeeee sound. The Bweeeeee continues across the top of the screen as a large, clip art drawing of a disgusted expression takes up the rest of the screen. It switches back to the hug, which is marginally less terrible looking.

It cuts to Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff going in for a pixelated hug while Hella Jeff says “let’s Do this thing”. “Do” is written in light pink.

The word “This” takes up the whole screen. It’s written in red comic sans.

Back in the attempted SBAHJ hug, Sweet Bro says “Lets make this shit work”.

The word “Is” takes up the whole screen. It’s written in red comic sans.

The SBAHJ hug comes closer to completion. Hella Jeff says “where doing it man”

The word “What” takes up the whole screen. It’s written in red comic sans.

The SBAHJ hug finally happens. Its proportions are identical to the Arquius Davepeta hug. Hella Jeff says “where Making This Hapen”

The words “The Refrance” takes up the whole screen. It’s written in all caps, comic sans that flashes between red and orange. It then returns to the Arquius Davepeta hug.

And there it is.

The greatest reunion in Homestuck history. Neigh, the greatest Moment. It does not get better than this. It Will Not get better than this. At some point, possibly during the 5th or 6th loop of the above animation which you can't seem to stop watching and listening to, a thought occurs to you. You think with a sense of relief, this is it. We made it. This one-page triumph has just retroactively vindicated the long and arduous journey behind it. After every bump in the road, every setback, every nagging doubt about the story's direction, every Fucking time your waifu got the shaft, all of that just got wiped away in the blink of a tearful eye by the single greatest piece of media you have ever experienced.

You can finally say with absolute conviction that it's all been worth it. It has all paid off. All roads no matter how treacherous brought you to this glory. Every obscure plot thread, every batshit twist, all that retcon stuff, the sprite squared shit, every bit of dubious narrative legerdemain, All of it you now realize was designed with excruciating precision to achieve this singular, magnificent result. You'd be blown away in hindsight by these shocking feats of multi-threaded plot prestidigitation if you weren't still transfixed by the looping animation. And your jaw would be hitting the floor by now if not for the leagues-deep sense of tranquility welling inside your bosom now that you know Homestuck's audacious promise has been utterly fulfilled forever.

You're now into your... what is it? 11th, maybe 12th loop of the animation? You've lost track, and it doesn't matter. What's the hurry, you wonder. What's the harm in camping on this page for a while longer. What else do you have going on? Maybe it's time we faced the facts. This is truly all you have. This is your Life. Without breaking eye contact with your monitor, you find yourself reaching for your smartphone. Wait, why exactly am I doing this, you wonder? Why am I going for my phone. You are going for your phone because it's time to take a fucking Picture, numbnuts. You decide that digital photography is the best way to make this shit last forever.

You nod and go, oh that makes sense, yeah. I'll definitely take a picture of this animation which has looped at least 20 times by now. Make sure you get yourself in the picture too, to prove you were there. You mumble, what? A selfie. Take a god damn selfie of yourself, posing next to page 9828 of MS Paint Adventures dot com. As you contort your body to pose next to your screen and flip your camera to selfie mode, I continue my unhinged diatribe to instruct all other readers to do the same. I want to see Selfies, people. I need to see your ridiculous mugs next to these two gently bobbing freaks posted publicly on all of your social media channels by the Thousands. Not just a few thousand either. Oh no. Like an old and wise meme once foretold, we're gonna need to clear nine big ones here. In fact I'm gonna need your selfies jacked up so far over 9000, scientists will have to start inventing new numbers to keep track.

Choke the internet with your selfies, or with a horse as my witness, I will delete this fucking website. If I don't see enough selfies out there, I will scrub Homestuck from the Akashic Servers and never speak its name again. I will then dedicate every shred of ingenuity, political influence and worldly resources I have to releasing darkness on this planet. So post your selfies early. Post them often. Post them to save a modern literary Masterpiece. Post them to save the lives of Billions. But most of all, post them because you really want to, and were Probably going to do it anyway even if I didn't say all this bullshit.

Under Present Circumstances I Think It Will Be Tricky
John: huh?
Kanaya: Every Magic Ring I Am Aware Of Is Currently In Use

John: oh.
well, i wouldn't worry about it right now.
there are more pressing things to think about, like fighting a lot of bad guys.
by the way... where's karkat?

John: what? meditating??
Kanaya: Yes

Roxy: echidna really blitzed his chakras apparently John: what the fuck is a chakra.
Roxy: shrug
some soul junk that gets blitzed in the presence of a snake goddess??
John: um.
this doesn't sound like something karkat would do.
are you sure this isn't some sort of bullshit?
Kanaya: Its Definitely True And Not Bullshit Lets Change The Topic
Rose: Agreed.
I think I speak for all of us when I say we've indulged in entirely enough bullshit already. Let's get on with this.

John, you're our leader. And if you try to deny that one more time, so help me god, I will acrobatically pirouette so hard off this lilypad, I'll perform a supersonic swan dive through Skaia and impregnate the battlefield with my own incredulous torso.
Now please tell us what to do.

John: wow, ok! i won't say i'm not your leader anymore, jeez. i think it's about time to get going!

by my estimation, all the bad guys should be getting here any minute.
so we should go find the condesce and ambush her.
she's supposed to be on derse, right?

Roxy: yup

John: alright, then let's go.
i think we are as ready as we are going to get.
we all have weapons, cool powers, a plan of attack, and most importantly of all, each other.
never forget, team work is our secret weapon here.
probably the most powerful weapon we have!
second Only, perhaps, to the power of friendship itself.
remember that, guys.
as long as we have team work, friendship, and cool powers on our side, we can't lose.
you are my best friends ever... rose and roxy, and kanaya and terezi, and dave and jade and karkat, and also jane and dirk and jake, and...

Rose: John.

John: hold on, rose, i'm almost done... and callie, and tavros, and cat rose, and um, the sweaty guy, uh, Probably not the clown in the fridge though... oh, yeah, and even probably vriska.
oh, and the mayor! he's great too.
did i miss anybody? i think that's it.
anyway, i believe in you all, and i know we can do this together.
now let's go kick some ass!

Roxy: mmm thas good shit

very leadery (smiley face)

...

John: how was that, rose?

Rose: I don't know what I expected.

John: huh?

wait, did i say something dumb?

Rose: No, it was fine.

Roxy's right. It was very leadery. Very... "John".
i'm just wondering now, if you're really going to embrace this business of leadership, Maybe you'd consider hiring a speech writer?

John: a speech writer??
i dunno, rose. i think i'd be pretty bad at memorizing speeches. especially ones You wrote. (tongue sticking out face)

Rose: Touché.

Image description: The Vriska alert slowly fades from over her head.

Image description: She continues flying, still with that concerned expression.

Image description: Her eyebrows begin to shake slightly from the effort of keeping them furrowed, and a teal tear wells up under her glasses.

Image description: The tear begins to run down her cheek as she begins to glow faintly teal.

Image description: It zooms out. The teal glow becomes stronger.

Image description: And stronger still, now throwing off crackles of lightning that look like synapses.

Image description: The glow becomes a circle around her, still throwing bolts of lightning.

Image description: The glow grows and splits until the entire void is dotted with synapse-like bundles of energy and teal light.
Terezi grits her teeth and concentrates even harder. Tears roll freely down her cheeks and a mind symbol pulses on her forehead.

Next

It zooms in. The mind symbol throws off three thin streaks of teal energy.

Terezi: Remember.

Note: The title of the page is written in Vriska’s quirk, with an 8 in place of the B.

The song Do You Remember Me begins to play. The title of the song, too, is written in Vriska’s quirk with an 8 in place of B. The loading screen is a teal mind symbol on a green background. It fades to reveal Alt Vriska walking through the void, her hands in her pockets and her head bowed dejectedly. She takes a few slow steps forward. The angle shifts to watch her from above, then the boundaries of the panel shift like they’re tilting back until they become a large, grey tile upon which she walks. The rest of the background and even areas outside the main panel fade to black until they become the void, too. After a few moments, a picture fades in. It’s Vriska as a young troll, perhaps 7 years old, the equivalent of approximately 3 Alternian sweeps. She sits on the floor of her hive clutching several of the Fluorite Octet, which look huge in her hands. A broken magic 8 ball sits on the floor behind her, near two scribbly drawings and a pair of red and blue pens. Behind her, large spider web connects from the wall to a pile of books and her desk. A teal Libra alert hovers next to the monitor, which has Trollian open on it. Little Vriska turns and looks over her shoulder towards the alert. Everything fades to black momentarily, then Alt Vriska once again walks through the void, now on a series of large, grey tiles like sidewalk pavers. The void behind her fades to another memory. Little Vriska sits in her desk chair, which is far too large for her, and smiles as she types on her computer. Her arms barely reach all the keys and the desk is so tall that her armpits are level with the edge.

As Vriska walks from one tile to the next, the memory switches to a young Terezi, approximately the same age, typing on her own computer at her own desk. It is too large for her, just as Vriska’s is for her. Scalemates, white rope, chalk, and books litter the floor behind Terezi. There is a drawing of His Honorable Tyranny consuming the guilty on her wall next to a Flarp poster. Alt Vriska walks offscreen and everything fades to a new image. Terezi from the Game Over timeline, the one who sent John out on his retcon mission, lays in the dirt, surrounded by and splattered with her own blood. Only the area immediately around her is visible, like someone is shining a spotlight on her. She slowly drags herself to her feet, leaving behind the chalk outline she drew as her last act. The dirt fades away beneath her, leaving only her chalk outline behind. She stares down at her hands with yellow eyes, not the red that they are in the timeline where Aranea never healed them. After a moment, that yellow fades to white. She fades away, replaced by another image.

Jade lays on her quest bed and Dave lays draped across her with blood pouring from his stomach. The blood fades away and they both sit up. Jade swings her legs over the edge of the bed and they watch each other uncertainly. It cuts to a close up of each of them, lingering longer on Jade as her eyes fade white. Dave’s eyes are still hidden behind his shades. They, too, fade away and are replaced.

Jake and Crockertier Jane lay on the ground, both impaled on the same sword. A pool of blood surrounds them. After a moment, the sword and blood both fade. They, too, sit up. Jake turns away from the viewer to look at Jane. Her eyes fade to white as the Crockertier melts away, leaving her in her normal beige god tier outfit. It switches to Jake’s face as his eyes, too, turn white.
background behind them, which had been a vague impression of a lava lake and surrounding forest, goes black. They both just sit there, like they’re unsure what to do. Everything fades again, but this time to white.

The black outline of the squares making up Alt Vriska’s path appear as a winding line down the center of the screen. Alt Vriska continues her reverie and walks along it as the white background slowly turns black. Another memory takes over the background, this time of Vriska and Terezi, both still around 3 or so sweeps old, standing on the ground in front of Terezi’s hive. Terezi reads from a massive Flarp manual and holds up a golden dagger with a faintly curved blade and a coiled, green hilt inlaid with gems. Vriska waves one of her dice in Terezi’s face like she’s trying to make a point. Everything fades away.

Another path just like Alt Vriska’s fades in, but this time, Game Over Terezi walks along it. A memory fades in behind her, also of young Vriska and Terezi, though they look a little bit older, perhaps 4 sweeps old, the equivalent of around 9 years old. Terezi perches on the corner of Vriska’s balcony as they work on their costumes. Terezi wears a teal bodysuit and a red vest, mimicking Neophyte Redglare. She’s barefoot except for socks, and her boots lay on the floor. She holds two sewing pins between her lips and sews an eye onto her Pyralspite plush. Vriska stands in front of a mannequin with her Mindfang coat on it. There are several pins stuck in it, and Vriska stares towards them like she’s thinking very hard. An orange scalemate sits next to the mannequin. There are several pins in it, like it’s been serving as a pincushion. On the ground between them are drawings and a pair of scissors. One of the drawings is of Terezi’s costume, and shows her wearing it as well as the individual pieces with various measurements. The other drawing is of Vriska’s costume, but it’s just a drawing of the coat without any measurements and the word “Yeah!!!” written in Alternian. Once again, everything fades away.

A long time ago on the meteor, Eridan lays in a pool of his own blood, cut in two at the waist by Kanaya’s chainsaw. His lower half lays above his head so his feet are in his face. The blood fades at the same time that his legs fade to their proper position. He sits up and holds his head in his hand. Behind him stand, Aradia, who is alive, Sollux, who is half-alive, and Feferi, who is dead. Eridan’s eyes slowly fade to white. He turns to look over his shoulder as the other three approach him. Everything fades.

Equius lays on the ground inside the meteor, a smile on his face, an arrow through his knee, and a bowstring wrapped around his neck. His face is far too blue. The arrow and bow fade, as does the blood in his face, and his eyes close. He sits up and looks towards Nepeta, who is sitting next to him. His eyes turn white as it changes to show Nepeta’s face. Her eyes are already white, and she smiles and waves at Equius. Everything fades away.

Against a background of the void, shattered in the upper left, a series of panels rush by detailing various deaths and their awakenings in the dreambubbles.

Dream Karkat on Prospit.
Grimdark Rose on the battlefield.
Dirk, having decapitated himself with the sendificator.
Roxy with a hole blasted through her stomach.
Dave in a red and black suit, slumped against his alchemiter.
John on his quest bed far too early.
Dream Jade on the battlefield.

Another explosion cracks another spiderweb into the fabric of the void in the lower right, momentarily darkening the images at the same time that their eyes go white and they awake. Another explosion occurs, this time directly in the center of the image, connecting with the first crack. Everything goes white.

Alt Vriska fades in, still walking along her path of rectangles. A memory behind her shows both her and Terezi at 4 sweeps, having finished their costumes and set out in a blue boat. Terezi stands at the bow with her golden blade in hand, pointing it defiantly out to see and planting her other hand on her hip. Vriska stands behind her, her coat billowing in the wind. She holds a magic 8 ball in her hands and looks down at the window. Alt Vriska fades away as the memory changes.
Young Terezi and Vriska argue and both point angrily at three captured lowbloods- a burgundy, brown, and yellow, based on their clothes. Their shared speech bubble shows an unbalanced scale. Game Over Terezi fades in in front of it, walking along her own path.

The memory behind her changes to the two of them sleeping in a pile of their riches. It’s mostly gold, but there are plenty of gems. Vriska clutches a pendant in one hand and moves her legs like she’s running in her sleep. Terezi has her legs propped up on a small chest and gold coins mounded up against her side and over her shoulder. Pyralspite is buried up to his snout. The memory fades, then so does Terezi.

Alt Vriska walks alone through the void again, passing from left to right between cracks in the void. Tiles appear in front of her as she walks, making it unclear if she’s following where they lead or if they’re appearing where she wants to go. She fades away, and Terezi does the same, but from right to left. Everything fades.

Alt Vriska pulls back as someone suddenly appears in front of her. The flickering light from the cracks shines over her. It fades to another perspective. Game Over Terezi stops and stares in wonder as someone suddenly appears in front of her. The same flickering light shines on her face. It fades yet again, this time to a side view. They both stare at each other as cracks in the void behind them merge. There is only one tile’s space of void between them. They both step to the edge of their current tiles. After a moment, the last tile appears. It’s bright red. Everything flashes white and they both fade in as silhouettes that slowly come into more detail. Alt Vriska smiles brightly, and Game Over Terezi smiles back, though more reservedly. Everything flashes white again, and when it fades, they’re holding hands and staring up at the pulsing fractures together. It flashes white once more, and this time, when it returns, they have their arms around each other and continue staring at the cracks. The ones behind them form the vague impression of a lopsided heart shape.

It zooms out. Cracks surround them on all sides, seeming to trap them in a ball of shattered reality, but they don’t seem to mind. They just hold each other and watch. Everything goes white once again, and it stays that way for quite some time.

The edges of the image slowly turn teal until there’s a bright white orb at the center. Faint watermarks of the various deaths and awakenings flash quickly over it and slowly become more detailed as the edges of the images continue resolving. The teal becomes the mind symbol, and the deaths are contained within it. The background turns green. The last scene is of Game Over Terezi laying in a pool of her blood at the moment of her death, then it turns teal and the mind symbol stills. Everything but the mind symbol turns black.

Your name is Spades Slick. You are the leader of a notoriously stupid gang of mobsters called the Felt. Your previous gang known as The Midnight Crew at some indeterminate point in the past all died off due to time shenanigans. Oh, how you loathe time shenanigans. Your long quest for revenge has finally taken you through the front door of the clock belonging to the host plush who in some gruesome manner gave birth to your gang's former boss, Lord English.

Your former subordinates, Clubs Deuce, Diamonds Droog, and Hearts Boxcars, are all dead. Your current subordinates, Itchy, Doze, Trace, Clover, Fin, Die, Crowbar, Stitch, Sawbuck, Matchsticks, Eggs, Biscuits, Quarters, Cans, Ms. Paint, and a Centaur Butler, are all being stored in the magic oven you are currently carrying. They are mostly a bunch of idiots, and you aren't particularly fond of them. Except that Ms. Paint dame, you suppose. She's a real looker.

You have rocketed to this session from the Furthest Ring, using the Rocket Ass, which you apparently have. Your objective is to locate and murder Lord English, to once and for all complete your quest for revenge.

is that why you took it out of the stone slab thingy in the first place?

Roxy: kinda
that was different John: how?

Roxy: back when i first saw it on your blue planet that was when i just lost all my friends and i thought for a while they all might be gone for good and i saw the sword pokin out of there and it reminded me of dirk it reminded me of everyone we just said goodbye to even if that only turned out to be temporary i dunno what it meant to people before i came along but to me it was a symbol of all the people who didnt make it as far as we did so i stole it see im a goddamn rogue
i Take shit
and now ima take back from the Witch everything she stole that shoulda been ours promise of a better life
a future for humanity and trolls alike all that shit
im going to swipe its lack and make it all start being a thing again lets never let all that stop from being a thing ever again k guys???
Kanaya: What
John: yeah!!!
Kanaya: Okay Yeah
Im Sure That Possibly All Made Sense Good Speech

but dreamin or somefin Karkat: uh, yeah.
I am alive, as far as I know.
Meenah: yeah you are
I can tell these things
whos alive who aint youre a genuine article shouty mcnubs
hey!!!
Karkat: hi
you're...
what the fuck was your name again?
the punky teen version of the condesce, right aren't you like, a bad guy? Or do you have some sort of fucking anti-hero thing going on.
Meenah: no you fool im a good guy im leadin this whole ghost army and everything we gonna kill lord english
Karkat: oh, is that what you're doing with all these ghosts.
wow, that is pretty fucking ambitious.
Meenah: yeam man
hey we talked aboat this dont you remember
Karkat: we did?
Meenah: yeah i told you this whole plan once that i was gonna raise an army and kill a big dude i got kinda side tracked from that whole thing for a while girl trubs, smh
im sure you know how it is Karkat: not really.
Meenah: anyway i finally did it i raised the army with a lil help from some fronds and now here it is and if i recall i told you all this and you said you wanted to run away and join my army but you never did (frowning face with furrowed brows wearing a tiara and goggles) Karkat: huh.
sorry, none of this is ringing a peal screamer.
are you sure it was me you were talking to?
maybe it was the red sweater guy.
Meenah: fuck no it wasnt him
im sure it was you!
or maybe some version of you i dunno anyway it dont matter and youre here now so whattaya say you wanna join the fight (very happy face wearing a tiara and goggles) Karkat: i...
maybe?
I don't remember what happened.
I was talking to kanaya, and then...
shit, I'm drawing a blank.
I think we were talking about getting ready for battle.
yeah... Damn. I need to wake up and help my friends!
do you know how I can wake up?
Meenah: no idea dude Karkat: Fuck.
Meenah: but as long as youre here and like a quasi impervious dream ghost form you could lend a flipper to yours truly this is where the most important action is anyway its the one for all the roundcircles gonna take down english for good even tho hes supposedly "invincible" got a good feelin about this one though feel like we gonna make it Stick this time Karkat: so this is really it, then.
this is where it's all going to end finally?
Meenah: yea
Karkat: then it's probably fate that I ended up here... However that happened.
I guess I tripped and fell, and hit my head or something?
probably some sort of subconscious slip, like some part of me knew I had to fall asleep now, to fullfill my destiny.
this must have been what echidna wanted all along!
Meenah: uh sure whatever Karkat: ok.
I'll do it.
I will join your army!
Meenah: kay nice
then get in line shouty Karkat: wait, what?
Meenah: what do you mean what Karkat: you mean, just...
cram myself in there with the rest of the rabble?
with all the dead eridans, and nepetas, and the idiot version of solluxes with the fucking helmet...
all the loser, failure doomed versions of myself???
Meenah: yeah
thats the idea
thats what "joining an army is" bro Karkat: come on.
you yourself said I wasn't just some rando.
can I be at least a little more important than like doomed equius number 45832, who is wearing a saucy maid outfit for some fucking reason?!
Meenah: what do you porpoise
Karkat: what do I porpoise?!
Meenah: what do you propose
Karkat: oh.
I don't know, can I at least maybe...
be on the front line?
how about I'm the guy who's leading the charge. Is that ok?
Meenah: yeah sure
Meenah grins smugly. The ghost army congregates behind them.

dialoglog
Karkat: awesome.
this is going to be great.
ok, what weapons should I use? Probably homes smell ya later?
wait, do I have those with me???
Meenah: you a dream ghost you can have whatever you want I think Karkat: uh...
that's how that works?! Are there like, rules for this dream ghost shit??
Meenah: nows not the time to be askin junk like that brah we about to ride this bitch in for a landing who gives a flip where your ghost sickles come from Karkat: yeah, you're right.
I shouldn't get hung up on pedantic details, and start thinking about the inspirational speech I was hatched to give on this fateful day.
Meenah: what the fuck speech?
Karkat: yeah. Is that ok??
Meenah: fuck no
i already gave one and it was dope as shell inspired the shit out of everyone or terrified them
same diff
Karkat: Oh
...
can I just give one anyway?
Meenah: i guess
as long as you do it quietly over here
Karkat: I don't do anything quietly Meenah: then walk further away see like im doin
but in the opposite direction a this later shouty i got an army to run get back here when you done murmurin about whatever motivational noise you thinks gonna get you and you alone pumped

Jade: where?
Calliope: our destination.
Jade: you mean
the green sun?
it feels like we have been approaching it for hours do you mean we are finally close enough to it for... whatever it is we have to do?
Calliope: yes, we are close enough now.
but we do not have to do anything.
only i do.
Jade: oh
then... what do i have to do?
Calliope: nothing.
you needed to accompany me on this journey, so that time could pass for you.
and now, that time has passed.
Jade: i... see
Calliope: is there anything you would like to say, or ask, before we part ways for good?
Jade: uhhh
for good??
you mean i will never see you again after i wake up?
Calliope: no one will ever see me again after you wake up.
Jade: (frowning face)
Jade: then um
what am i supposed to do when i wake up?
Calliope: by then, the fight should be over.
assuming your friends were successful, you must use your abilities to seed the new universe with your new home.
that is all.
Jade: thats it???
but i want to help them all with the fight!
it sounds dangerous....
and i have all these powers!
really Good powers
maybe even... the Best powers?
Calliope: yes, they are the best powers.
Jade: so why cant i just wake up and Use them??
Calliope: powers such as yours are a great asset, but in time, become an even greater liability.
that is why you sleep.
Jade: i dont understand!
Calliope: you will not be able to control them for the purpose of your mission.
you are barely in control of your most modest capabilities.
you are still quite young, and your kind is soft.
the ability to absolutely dominate is better housed in a being designed for seclusion, singularity of purpose, and remorseless resolve.
it is too much for one like you.
Jade: ... youre probably right actually, its scary to think about sometimes
Calliope: it won't be a problem for much longer.
Jade: huh?
Calliope: it's not your concern.
until then, you may want to appreciate the final moments of intimate connection to this continuum's supreme source of power.
Jade: ... how Calliope: that's up to you.
if you must have advice, i will give you some similar to that i gave your other space-playing friend.
i told her to live, where before she had not.
so too, you are similarly imprisoned by various inertias.
these weigh on you.
you are a child, belonging to a race for which that distinction is understood to correspond with experiences of "enjoyment."
perhaps you should try to have,
"fun."

i dont remember that

Yeah i said stuff like that sometimes jade i used to be fairly depressed Jade: yeah...
well i Do remember that you seem to be in pretty high spirits now though (smiley face)
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) yes im doing fucking phenomenonal but fur real im not actually here to visit this sun
i flew here as a point of reference to get my bearings im actually on my way to go fight lord english have you seen him
Jade: no
ive spent the last... however long, hiding from him actually with calliope
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) who Jade: shes my new friend!
well, i guess one of two new friends by that name, technically one of them is presumably back with our friends now
the other just... quite literally flew away up to the sun
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) like a fucking piece of garbage???

she is quite dignified and aloof as a matter of fact i sincerely doubt she has ever done Anything like a piece of garbage guess the one who made the trip with you wasnt so lucky huh Jade: no

he and john died not long after we departed
i was so lonely
but i dont feel too bad now that i know it all worked out, and their deaths were just part of something bigger going on Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) right johns absurd time hoppy mission so fuckin glad some non dave dude could finally grab the reins on the time travel bs and i guess im purrsonally so grateful to him because without his succession of handwavey dorkstunts i wouldnt have become davepeta which is literally the best thing either of us has ever been!
Jade: thats great!
its so nice to see youre happy now even if technically i never got to be a part of that journey for you Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) but you did ive got a lot of different dave memories in me and theyre all part of who i am now including the memories you contributed to Jade: oh...
cool!
so what were things like in the timeline youre from?
how was our trip together?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) it was good mostly kinda turbulent i guess
but that was mostly on account of me being a miserable bird douche Jade: haha
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) oh also we dated for a while Jade: What? (gasping face)
Jade: What? (gasping face)
Jade: why?
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) see again: bird douche
Jade: wow
i cant believe i missed this (frowning face) even if it didnt go that well its still something i would have gladly taken over the loneliness of that trip i cant even say how much i thought about you both and to hear that you and i actually...
sniff
Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) (Confused face with two mouths wearing shades) Jade: im sorry dave...
davepeta...
i guess calliope is right, this must be part of my path
as a space player... someone who "falls back" as she said maybe being pushed aside by fate, and like being deprived of important people and experiences no matter how painful it is, or how much you feel like you need them i guess thats just how it goes for us i think i never appreciated how much of a burden your aspect was to you but i think im starting to get it now it just took a long time to figure out what mine really meant Dave Peta sprite squared: (cat face with two mouths wearing shades) so That’s what space means?
bein lonely??
Jade: thats a bit of an oversimplification!
but i think that can be one of the results of gaining a deeper understanding of it or becoming connected to it more... i dunno, this stuff is all pretty mysterious (tongue sticking out face)
i dont have it all figured out yet obviously i just feel pretty sad that as i get closer to understanding my abilities and true nature it apparently means being deprived of some important experiences like i get closer to my aspect, but further away from everyone i love, and further from... feeling like a person?
its just a really empty feeling after a while empty like... space i guess
heh

[A6A6I5] Next

[Image description: Davepeta grins.]
dialoglog
but you werent actually deprived of important experiences stuff like us dating and johns stupid birthday parties and playing shitty ghostbuster mmos that stuff all happened to you, its just you dont have access to the memories they didnt happen to shape this particular version of yourself but they all played a role in helping like "greater jade" grow if that makes sense everything that ever happens to every version of you is an important part of your ultimate self... like a superceding bodyless and timeless persona that crosses the boundaries of paradox space and unlike god tiers or bubble ghosts or whatever, it really Is immortal but in your physical form there are all these partitions in your mind that prevent you from remembering any of that which makes your existence feel totally linear which is probably for the best!
in a regular body seeing all that would be too overwhelming in an advanced sprite form like mine tho its fine
i guess the same spritey magic that makes it possible to suddenly understand so much is also what makes it possible to make it bearable all at once not even just bearable actually sorta liberating and cool and after it sinks in for a while you start coming to this understanding of a greater self maybe i "got it" quicker though because of the two people i was and their aspects understanding heart is all about the nuances of a distributed self nepeta never got to make much headway with her aspect but shes finally gettin the chance the time aspect is all about running into different versions of yourself so you kinda get confronted with it in a really literal way that can be disturbing obviously davsprite stuggled with that too, but now its fine hes free from worrying about it all and what it means for his place in reality because he can see now all his selves have relevance in painting the full picture of who he truly is im not Completely sure because im not like some sort of Aspect Master but my avian slash feline intuition tells me that all roads will lead you here eventually gaining the deepest possible understanding of any aspect will bring you to the same final conclusion about your ultimate self so maybe thats starting to happen for you too the space aspect sounds like a hard and lonely road to travel... i think they probably all are but youre gettin there jade you are doing great and im so proud of you!

Three spiderwebbing cracks mar a black void.

Right in the center, an Egyptian sarcophagus appears. It flashes the colors of billiard balls.

It grows larger, revealing more details. The figure depicted on the sarcophagus holds a crook in one hand and a flail in the other, which he holds crossed over his chest. He wears a headpiece of draped, striped cloth that flashes the opposite colors of the rest of the sarcophagus. The face has been replaced by a grinning skull.

Meenah and Karkat stop right at the edge of the desert, where the sand turns to pink rock. Only a few feet beyond the transition point are visible. Past that, it’s just darkness and cracks in reality.

The sarcophagus lands in front of them, shattering the ground around it and sending shards of stone flying. The ground trembles from the impact. These cracks, unlike the ones in the void, are pure white.

Fire engulfs the sarcophagus, also flashing in counterpoint. The flames spread out over the ground like living tendrils.

A white light bursts forth from the sarcophagus, wiping everything else from view.

The light dies down and the sarcophagus is gone. In its place is the massive form of Lord English in his Cairo Overcoat. The flames remain and now wreath him as well.

Lord English rears back and roars, drawing his hands up like he’s going to hit something. Faint lightning crackles along his arms.

The entire ghost army stares in silent fear at Lord English except for Meenah, who grins determinedly like she’s been waiting her entire death for this moment.
Elsewhere, a cracked red door with a massive keyhole in it sits in a red brick wall. A carving over it, inside an ornate but abstract outline, shows a snake with a sun for a head. Carvings along the top of the wall show two snakes with ridges of crystals down their backs below a row of time symbols. Pillars carved to resemble nagas flank the door. In the flickering light, a humanoid shadow falls across the floor, clutching a long, straight object.

Caliborn stalks down the hallway, past rows of half-ruined naga pillars and massive stalactite formations, like water has been dripping into this place for millions of years. In his hand, he clutches the crowbar.

He stalks down another path through another cave filled with stalactites and stalagmites. Massive walls of fire come up from below the path for about half its length before dying off just before it winds around a corner.

He continues further, into a darker section of the cave. Just out of sight at the end of the tunnel, something glows.

He stops at the end of the path, where it meets up with a massive, round chamber. Something offscreen glows with the intensity of a sun.

The massive coils of a red serpent appear before him. The creature rears up, and the light is positioned to be its head.

It zooms out. The serpent, the Denizen, contorts to peer down at Caliborn, who taps the end of the crowbar into his open palm.

Elsewhere, P.M. flies right on the tail of Bec Noir.

The angle shifts. Bec Noir is headed directly towards Skaia and the half-destroyed Prospit orbiting it. P.M. is right behind him.

Bec Noir angles towards Prospit rather than Skaia, and P.M. follows.

They duck and weave through the airborne rubble of countless Prospitant buildings. P.M. doesn’t lose any ground, but she doesn’t look like she’s gaining any either.
[Image description: It zooms in on Bec Noir’s face. He just looks sad and tired.]

[Image description: He glances back over his shoulder, and the look of angry determination he left the previous universe with returns.]

[Image description: He stops in a relatively clear space and turns to face P.M., who stops short and stares.]

[Image description: It zooms out. They hover above a single clear plaza surrounded by the ruins of every nearby building, facing each other like they’re preparing to duel.]

[Image description: Bec Noir snarls and wraps his hand around the hilt of the sword in his chest. His posture is hunched, like a cornered animal trying to protect itself but ready to attack at a moments notice if it has to.]

[Image description: P.M. holds the hilt of her own sword, but her posture is the exact opposite of his. She is cold and collected, standing straight like she expects to either win or die honorably, no other options.]

[Image description: She draws the sword calmly and stares across their chosen battlefield towards Bec Noir.]

[Image description: The rubble around them begins to shake as they both begin flashing with green lightning, harnessing the power of the green sun for this final battle.]

[Image description: Bec Noir snarls and barks like a deranged, rabid animal. Faint impressions of bloodstains appear on his sword and the buildings around him, mimicking the blood splattered on his arm.]

[Image description: P.M. trembles with exertion but holds herself together, merely glaring with all her power.]

[Image description: The Green Sun appears behind them as they lunge towards each other, leaving wide trails of green fire behind them.]
[Image description: In Caliborn’s Denizen’s lair, the Denizen rears back, somehow incredulous and furious without a face to convey it. Caliborn holds the crowbar on his shoulder like a baseball bat. In a second image, he grins up at the Denizen and his eyes shine with twisted delight.]

[Image description: In the dreambubble, Meenah holds her trident up and Karkat readies his sickles as Lord English continues to roar. The ghost army stands behind them as a sea of bodies. A second image splits between Meenah’s expression of self-assured certainty and Karkat’s level glare. A third image focuses on Lord English’s face as he roars out his incandescent rage.]

[Image description: On LoMaX, Jake stands his ground and points the flintlocks of Zillyhau at the Felt, who stand menacingly over him. A second image shows Fin, Die, and Cans glaring down at him. A third image focuses on Jake’s wide-eyed expression as his situation finally sinks in.]

[Image description: On the roof on LoTaK, Dave, Dirk, and Terezi align and face both Spades Slick and Jack Noir together. A second image splits between all three of their faces. Dave and Dirk looks deadly serious, and Terezi grins widely, baring her sharp teeth. A third image focuses on Slick’s disgusted snarl. A fourth shows Jack Noir’s expression of mindless rage.]

[Image description: On Derse, Kanaya, Rose, John, and Roxy stare up at Her Imperious Condescension as she descends towards them. Kanaya holds her chainsaw at the ready. Rose, the Quills of Echidna. John, the Pop-a-matic Vrillyhoo Hammer. Roxy, the sword she brought, her timeline’s Dirk’s katana. A second image splits four ways to show each of their faces. John looks concerned but calm. Roxy stares with a determined fury. Rose glares, but there’s a smirk on her face, like she can’t believe the Condesce is challenging them and is certain of their victory. Kanaya stares coldly as one only can at one who has caused untold suffering. A fourth image shows the Condesce’s face and her look of irritated disgust, like she’s more angry that she’ll have to clean up this mess than that she’s being challenged.]
