Act 1: The Note Desolation Plays

Note: Because of the style of the drawing, it appears that the boy has no arms]

A young man stands in his bedroom. It just so happens that today, the 13th of April, 2009, is this young man's birthday. Though it was thirteen years ago he was given life, it is only today he will be given a name!

What will the name of this young man be?

Enter name.

[Image description: It zooms in on the boy's face and a text box appears above his head. It types]

Zoo smell Poop lord

[Image description: The boy makes an irritated expression and the words Try again, smartass appear in red]

Try again.

[Image description: it types
John Egbert
A green check mark appears and the boy, John, smiles]

Examine room.

[Image description: The rest of the room appears. There are 5 posters on the wall for Con-Air, Ghostbusters, Mac and Me, Deep Impact, and one poster with an image of a cartoon man smoking a cigarette, along with a calendar for April. Part of a tree is visible through a window. There is a computer desk in the corner with a computer and a magazine on it and a cd rack next to it. There is also a toy chest decorated with stars and moons with a cake on top. On the floor next to the chest are a hammer and nails.]

Your name is John. As was previously mentioned it is your birthday. A number of cakes are scattered about your room. You have a variety of interests. You have a passion for really terrible movies. You like to program computers but you are not very good at it. You have a fondness for paranormal lore, and are an aspiring amateur magician. You also like to play games sometimes.

What will you do?

John: Quickly retrieve arms from drawer.

[Image description: John stands by the dresser with an irritated expression on his face. A thought bubble is over his head with an image of the toy chest flashing in it]

Your arms are in your magic chest, poop lord!

Remove cake from magic chest.

[Image description: John stands near the chest. A large cursor appears to select the cake and drag it away]

Out of sympathy for John's perceived lack of arms, you pick up the cake for him and put it on his bed.

John: quickly retrieve arms from magic chest.

[Image description: John holds the fake arms using his real ones, which he apparently has, though they weren't drawn. The chest is now open, there are many items inside]

You retrieve your fake arms from the chest. You use these for hilarious antics.

[Image description: A pink rectangular card appears in the corner. On it, in a smaller white rectangular shape, are 2 arms. The card reads 'captchalogue x2']

You captchalogue them in your sylladex. You have no idea what that actually means though.

There are other items in the chest.

John: examine contents of chest.

[Image description: The following items are now on screen with the captchalogue card.
Colonel Sassacre's Daunting Text of Magical Frivolity and Practical Japery, a large, thick book with a whimsical font
Harry Anderson's 'Wise Guy', a green book with a man from the 50's on the cover
A pair of handcuffs
3 small purple capsules
A pair of glasses with a fake nose attached
4 small red capsules
A wizard hat
A sword]

In here you keep an array of humorous and mystical artifacts, each one a devastating weapon in the hands of a skilled magician or a cunning prankster.

You are neither of these things.

Among the artifacts are: two fake arms [currently captchalogue in your sylladex], one pair of trick handcuffs, one stunt sword, one magician's hat, one pair of beagle puss glasses, several smoke pellets, several blood capsules, and one copy of Colonel Sassacre's Daunting Text of Magical Frivolity and Practical Japery, and one copy of Harry Anderson's "Wise Guy", by Mike Caveney.

Some of this stuff may come in handy at some point. For now, you decide to just take the smoke pellets.

John: captchalogue smoke pellets.

[Image description: A second pink captchalogue card appears, blocking the image on the first. On the new card are the 3 small purple capsules, the smoke pellets. At the bottom of the screen, a pink band labeled 'sylladex::captchalogue deck' comes up with 4 captchalogue cards. In the first are the arms, then the smoke pellets appear in the first slot and the arms move to the second card]

You stow the smoke pellets on one of your captchalogue cards in your sylladex.

You still aren't totally sure what that means, but you are starting to get the hang of the vernacular at least.

You have two empty captchalogue cards remaining.

John: equip fake arms.

You aren't totally sure if "equip" is a verb copasetic with the abstract behavioral medium in which you dwell, but you give it a try anyway.

Unfortunately, you cannot access the fake arms! Their card is underneath the one you just used to captchalogue the smoke pellets. You will have to use the pellets first in order to access the arms. But this is probably unadvisable, since you'd just make your room lousy with smoke!

Your sylladex's fetch modus is currently dictated by the logic of a stack data structure. You were never all that great with data structures and you find the concept puzzling and mildly irritating.

But with any hope, perhaps you will advance new, more practical fetch modi for your sylladex with a little more experience.

John: examine Problem Sleuth poster.

[Image description: The poster with the image of a man smoking is now on screen]

Is it even possible to get any more hard boiled than that? You really doubt it. This poster was one of your wisest purchases.

[Note: The previous sentence is also a link to the author's Topatco shop where this poster is for sale. It's a not-so-subtle hint to give him your money]

There is a nice spot on the wall next to it. You've been meaning to hang another poster there soon.

John: read note on drawer.

[Image Description: the note reads
Happy birthday son.
I am so proud of you.]

This note is rich with the aromas of fatherly aftershaves and colognes.
Beside the note is a rolled up poster.

John: take poster.

[Image description: The captchologue cards and deck reappear. The poster takes the first slot, bumping the arms to the third slot and the smoke pellets to the second]

Another birthday artifact. You wonder what is printed on the poster.

You'll need some way to hang it on your wall.

John: acquire hammer and nails. They will come in handy.

You first place the hammer into your sylladex.

But now all of your captchologue cards are full. You wonder what will happen if you try to take the nails?

You guess it doesn't hurt to try.

John: take nails.

You captchologue four nails into the top card, and push all the artifacts down a card.

The fake arms are pushed entirely out of the deck!!!

Oh well. They're probably completely useless anyway. But you probably don't want to do that again, unless you want to drop the smoke pellets and suffer the consequences.

In any case, you now feel like you have gathered enough things to get down to business and do some really important stuff. The next thing you do will probably be exceptionally meaningful.

John: squawk like an imbecile and shit on your desk.

This is the dumbest idea you've had in weeks!!!

Stupid stupid stupid.

And yet the polished surface of your desk…. It beckons.

John: combine the nails and hammer.

You merge the top two cards.

The hammer and nails are now captchalogued on the same card and can be used together.

[Image description: The poster moves to the second slot and the smoke pellets to the third, leaving the fourth slot open]

John: use hammer/nails on poster.

You use the hammer and nails card in conjunction with the card beneath it.
John: nail poster to wall.

You use the hammer, nails, and poster on the blank space on the wall.

It's glorious. Exactly what you wanted. The old man really came through this time.

John: examine Con-Air poster.

Put the bunny back in the box.

I said, put the bunny back in the box.

Why couldn't you put the bunny back in the box?

Morgan Freeman's genteel, homespun mannerisms were perfect qualities for a president residing over a crisis.

Oceans rise. Cities fall. Hope survives.

Wow.

Films about impending apocalypse fascinate you. Plus, a black president?? Now you've seen everything!

John: examine calendar.

You've marked your birthday, the 13th of April. Another day you marked was supposed to be the arrival date for the highly touted sburb beta launch.

It's been three days already. It's starting to become a sore subject with you.

John: eat cake.

You are sick to death of cake!!! You've been eating it all day. And you have no intention of clogging your sylladex with it either. The cake stays put for now.

You hear a notice from your computer. Someone is messaging you.

John: examine incoming message.

[Image description: John sits at his computer desk. An image of his desktop appears. There is an...]
You pull up to your computer. This is where you spend most of your time. You decorated your desktop with some rather handsome wallpaper which you made yourself. You are really proud of it.

Your desktop is also littered with various programming project files. You are so bad at programming sometimes you wonder why you even bother with it.

Your pesterchum application is flashing. Someone is trying to get in touch with you.

John: open pesterchum.

[Image description: a yellow window labeled pesterchum 6.0 Chat client appears on the right side of the screen. Along with a list of usernames.
Chumroll:
turntech Godhead tentacleTherapist
gardenGnostic

A button labeled pester! Is below them

turntech Godhead and ectoBiologist have yellow smiley faces next to their names

At the bottom is a list of moods

Pesterlog

[Note: turntech Godhead speaks with red text and ectoBiologist speaks with blue.]
T.G.: hey so what sort of insane loot did you rake in today
E.B.: I got a little monsters poster, it's so awesome. I'm going to watch it again today, the apple juice scene was so funny.
T.G.: oh hell that is such a coincidence I just found an unopened container of apple juice in my closet it is like fucking christmas up in here
E.B.: ok thats fine, but I just have one question and then a word of caution. Have you ever seen a movie called little monsters starring howie mandel and fred savage?
T.G.: but the seal on the bottle is unbroken are you suggesting someone put piss in my apple juice at the factory
E.B.: all im saying is don't you think monster howie mandel has the power to do something as simple as reseal a bottle?
try using your brain numbnuts.
T.G.: why did the fat kid or whoever drank it know what piss tasted like
I mean his reaction was nigh instantaneous
E.B.: it was the 15th day in a row howie mandel peed in his juice.
T.G.: ok I can accept that monster b-list celebrity douche bags are cunning and persistent pranksters also fred savage has a really punchable face but who cares about this lets stop talking about it did you get the beta yet
E.B.: no.
did you?
T.G.: man I got two copies already but I dont care im not going to play it or anything the game sounds boring did you see how it got slammed in GameBro?????
E.B.: GameBro is a joke and we both know it.
T.G.: yeah
why dont you go check your mail. maybe its there now
E.B.: alright.

John: look out window.

You see the view of your yard from your window.

Hanging from the tree is your tire swing. In a kid's yard, a tree without a tire swing is like a proper gentleman without a monocle. That is to say, he can hardly be considered a terribly proper gentleman at all.

And there beside your driveway is the mailbox.

John: examine mailbox.

The little red arm-swingy-dealy thing or whatever it is called is flipped up!

What the hell is that thing called anyway. You do not have time for these semantics. The red flippy-lever thing means you have new mail. And that means the beta might be here!

John: go outside and check mailbox.

You are about to hurry down stairs when you hear a car pull into the driveway. It looks like your Dad has returned from the grocery store.

Oh great. He is beating you to the mail.
John: forget it. Check mail later.

If you go down stairs to get it, he will likely monopolize hours of your time. You decide to chill out up here for a while until the dust settles.

Sometimes you feel like you are trapped in this room. Stuck, if you will, in a sense which possibly borders on the titular.

And now your chum is pestering you again. The clockwork of friendship turns ceaselessly, operating the swing-lever dealies of harassment in perpetuity!

Whatever. The dude can just hold his damn horses.

John: examine games on cd rack.

You've put countless manhours into this assortment of quality titles.

John: read Colonel Sassacre's Daunting Text.

You decide to consult with the colonel's bottomless wisdom. Good grief this thing is huge. It could kill a cat if you dropped it.

But to really dig into this hefty book, you will have to captchalogue it. You are not sure you are ready to logjam your other artifacts beneath it just yet.

John: captchalogue fake arms again.

What did you just say?? You don't want to clog up your...

[Image description: a third captchalogue card appears with the fake arms in it. John makes an Oh, jesus. In a momentary lapse of concentration, you accidentally captchalogue the arms again.

John: set pesterchum status to "bully".

You don't think the situation is quite dire enough to go all the way to "rancorous", but you still feel the pesterchum client should reflect your mood change in some way.

"bully" will have to do. You guess.

This unsurprisingly does nothing whatsoever.

Oh, right, you forgot your chum is still pestering you.

John: answer chum.

Pesterlog
T.G.: is it there plz say yes
maybe you can play with tt she's been pestering me all day about it she's mackin on me so hard all the time I start to feel embarrassed for her
I mean not that I can blame her or anything
E.B.: yes, it is understandable because you are really attractive. I am attracted to you.
T.G.: thank you
E.B.: jk haha.
no, I don't have it yet.
my Dad has the mail and I guess I have to go get it from him and see if it's there.
and I've been busy spending all afternoon shitting around with my stupid sylladex.
it's so frustrating.
T.G.: what's your modus E.B.: what?
T.G.: how do you retrieve artifacts from it
E.B.: oh. Like one at a time I guess. And if I put too much in, something falls out.
T.G.: stack?? Hahahahaha
E.B.: what is yours?
T.G.: hash map
my bro taught me a few tricks. he basically knows everything and is awesome E.B.: what the hell is that?
T.G.: you should probably brush up on your data structures
E.B.: I guess.
T.G.: did you at least allocate your strife spesibus
E.B.: no.
T.G.: it could free up a card for you plus let you attack stuff whenever things get too hot to handle which is never what have you got
E.B.: well, I've got a hammer but it's trapped under some arms.
T.G.: wow you really suck at this dont you just get rid of the arms and then allocate the hammer to the spesibus E.B.: how?
T.G.: I dont know, just use the arms on any old thing and see if it works

John: combine fake arms with cake.

[Image description: John stands by the bed. The cake that was moved from the toy chest to the bed now has the two fake arms sticking out of the top of it. The captchalogue deck appears at the bottom of the screen. The hammer and the smoke pellets are still inside but the last two cards are blank.]

You stick the fake arms in the cake on your bed.

This definitely makes the cake at least 300% more hilarious. You're sure Colonel Sassacre would know the precise index of elevated hilarity.

John: allocate hammer to strife spesibus.

[Image description: the strife spesibus appears on the screen. It is the same shape as the captchalogue card but in black and grey instead of pink and white. Currently, it is flipped so the back is visible. On the back is a long list of strife spesibye in three columns.

It reads:

You check the back of your strife spesibus for the kind abstratus you have in mind for it.

John: select "hammer".

[Image description: the cursor drags the hammer captchalogue card to the strife spesibus card, which has turned over. It has a large rectangular shape that takes up most of the card, but a rectangular box runs along the bottom of the card and there are three small, empty squares on the right side of the card which are currently blank. Their purpose is unknown. As the cursor releases the card on top of the strife spesibus, it turns green. The word hammer kind appears at the bottom of the card along with a stylized image of a hammer in the center box and a picture of the hammer John added in the bottom rectangle.]

Your strife spesibus has been allocated with the hammer kind abstratus.

The hammer has been moved from your captchalogue deck to your strife deck.

John: report progress to TG.

[Image description: John sits at the computer again, now with the strife spesibus in the corner where the captchalogue cards were]

Pesterlog
E.B.: ok, I did it.
T.G.: hammer kind?
E.B.: yeah.
T.G.: ok that will be the permanent allocation for your spesibus I guess I should have mentioned that
E.B.: um...
T.G.: hope you like hammers dude!
E.B.: yeah, that's fine I guess. I can't imagine it's going to be all that relevant.

[Image description: the captchalogue cards reappear and the strife spesibus card disappears. The captchalogue deck reappears at the bottom of the screen. The top card now has the book in it]

Now that you've got some space in your sylladex to work with, you figure you might as well start squandering it immediately.

Ordinarily this ridiculous book would be way too heavy to carry around in any practical way. You guess maybe this is one respect in which the cards present some convenience.

John: examine GameBro magazine.

[Image description: the cover of the magazine that was on John's desk now takes up the screen. On it is the word GameBro in large red letters. The stylized house from the sburb poster is on the cover. The commentary on the cover reads Sburb: why the "game of the year" or whatever isn't as good as some other stuff I like that's better.

John: read article.

GameBro feature
Sburb
So ok.
Sburb is this game that a lot of cats seem hella pumped of. And this beta is sitting on my desk for review, so I'm like, yeah man I'll write something.
But I don't know. I'm like, so this is about houses or some noise? That's fine, I'm sure that's like fucking dynamite in a handbag for some bros. But all I'm saying is, when do you get to thrash anything? While you're playing house or some shit, are you ever in jeopardy of getting mud on your doll's dress or whatever from busting out, and I quote, "the mad stunts all wicked up-ins"?
Know what I'm saying, bro-yo ma? I didn't actually play this game, but I gave it 1.5 Hats out of 5 hats to keep it real.
At this point I'd like to give a shout out to my boy dennis who was over the other day. We were going to chill in front of the dark knight and he was so psyched of it y'all.
So this one time he was leaning against the screen door and the shit popped open, and the back deck was wet and he slipped down the steps and broke his thumb on the lawn. It wasn't a long fall, but hey I guess a thumb bone wasn't made for supporting the brunt of a huge useless tool against wet grass. We never did watch dark knight on account of ron trucking his bawling candy-ass girth to the hospital.
But it's cool, I still got another watch in me, brotel rwanda.
Bro-notes: dennis was so wasted, ha ha. I mean damn.

Rating for : sburb
An image showing 5 grey hats. One and a half are darkened.]

John: captchalogue GameBro.

[Image description: John stands next to his computer desk. The captchalogue deck and cards are on screen with the GameBro magazine now in the first slot.]

It might come in handy if you ever need something that burns easily.

John: captchalogue magician's hat.

You expend your final card on the magician's hat.

John: get funny glasses too.

You don't have a free card in your sylladex!

However, you are able to merge the beagle puss with the magician's hat to create a clever disguise.

[Image description: the glasses with the fake nose attached to join the magician's hat on the first John: wear disguise to fool Dad.

While you are wearing the items, they remain on the card, but it is temporarily removed from the deck, thus freeing up the cards beneath it.

John: leave room.

You exit into the hallway.

On one wall hangs a picture of a fella who sure knows how to have a laugh, a man after your own heart. You always thought he looked a lot like Michael Cera. But your Dad swears on the many hallowed tombs of Egypt that it is not. You're not sure about that though.

On the other wall is one of your Dad's stupid clowns. Or harlequins, as he is quick to correct anyone who would venture such brazen assumption.

John: go downstairs.

The accursed odor of fresh baking wafts into your newfound nostrils. Something is brewing in the kitchen. It must be the connivings of your arch nemesis, Betty Crocker, and the rich, buttery aroma of her plot stinks to high heaven.

This mission is going to be more difficult than you imagined.

John: admire harlequins.

[Image description: John stands in front of the curio cabinet. There are six statues of harlequins, two of which are on top of the cabinet and four of which are inside. They are all ugly as sin].
You check out the shelves of fanciful harlequins.

Look at this fucking garbage. You hate this stuff. Funny is funny, but your Dad sure can be a real cornball.

Sometimes at night you pray for burglars.

John: examine fireplace.

A bright orange flame flickers in the fireplace. It doesn't matter that it's april and not terribly chilly outside. In a home, a fireplace needs a fire, because that's what fireplace is for. A fire belongs in a fireplace, dammit, categorically, at all times, without exception.

As domestic myth of unaccountable origin holds, a home borrows the spirit of the flame for as long as it makes a guest of it, much as the moon takes liberty with the sun's rays.

"the moon's an arrant thief, and her pale fire she snatches from the sun." -Mark Twain

You are almost certain Mark Twain said that.

John: toss GameBro into fire.

[Image description: the GameBro magazine appears in the fire, darkening where it overlaps with the flame. The page with the article appears in the second image. It turns a brown yellow color and holes appear in it, making it look like it is burning.]

It doesn't burn as quickly as you hoped.

Each GameBro magazine is guaranteed to be printed on 40% recycled asbestos. For big ups to mother earth, yo.

John: fondly regard cremation.

[Image description: the image zooms in on the urn and painting of the old woman.]

You examine the sacred urn containing your departed Nanna's ashes.

When your father gives her portrait a wistful glance now and then, you can tell it brings back painful memories. A tall bookshelf. A ladder. An unabridged Colonel Sassacre's.

He never wants to talk about it.

John: topple urn.

[Image description: John makes a frustrated expression. The urn lays on its side and a pile of ashes sits on the mantle next to it.]

You clumsily mishandle the sacred urn. Ash is everywhere.

In retrospect, upon mulling cinematic tropes regarding ash-filled urns, this outcome was a virtual certainty.

You'd probably better clean it up before Dad finds it.
John: combine father's pipe with clever disguise.

[Image description: John stands near the couch. The captchalogue card with the clever disguise on it appears in the top right corner, still mostly transparent. A pipe joins the wizard hat and glasses with a fake nose, both on the card and on John's face]

You think now would be a good time to beef up your clever disguise.

John: examine oversized gift.

[Image description: John faces the large present in the center of the room. A second picture has a zoomed-in image of the tag. It reads Champ. You can do anything if you put your mind to it. I believe in you.]

Contemplating what could be inside this package is sort of exciting, but it makes you a little nervous at the same time.

John: open large present.

[Image description: the present disappears, replaced by an oversized harlequin doll with no arms. A large wad of paper sits on the floor next to it, along with a bow]

Oh hell no.

John: captchalogue ashes.

[Image description: John stands near the two doorways. The urn is still knocked over and the GameBro magazine is still in the fire. The harlequin doll sits on the couch next to a cake]

First you prop the harlequin doll up on the couch. Having it in the middle of the floor sprawled out all akimbo like that struck you as unseemly.

You captchalogue the ashes to your available card.

John: combine ashes with urn.

[Image description: the cursor appears and clicks on the urn. As it does, the captchalogue cards reappear and the urn moves to the first card. The outside of the urn is smeared with ashes]

You merge the sacred urn with the ashes.

Most of the ash is back in the urn, but it's a total mess. Really it probably would have been tidier if you just used a broom and dustpan.

John: put urn back.

[Image description: the cursor appears and clicks the card with the urn in it. It drags the urn back to the mantle and releases, making the urn reappear in place on the mantle]

No one will be the wiser.

Except maybe for people with eyes.

John: Go get fake arms again.
You just got another brilliant idea for something to do with those pointless arms. You pry them out of the cake and captchalogue them.

Looks like pesterchum is acting up again.

John: Examine 3rd and 4th walls of room.

John: Check Pesterchum.

Another one of your chums is messaging you.

John: Check message.

Note: tentacleTherapist speaks with a light purple text]

pesterlog

T.T.: I understand you have recently come into possession of the beta release of "The Game of the Year", as featured in respectable periodicals such as GameBro Magazine.
E.B.: that's an ugly rumor.
whoever told you that is a filthy liar.
and you should probably stop hitting on him all the time or whatever.
T.T.: I can't control myself.
I must have a weakness for insufferable pricks.
E.B.: anyway i still haven't checked the mail, my dad has it.
I'm trying to go get it from him, so brb
T.T.: John.
E.B.: what?
T.T.: You're wearing one of your disguises now, aren't you?
You are typing to me right now while wearing something ridiculous.
E.B.: no, why would you even think that??
that's so stupid.
T.T.: Ok.
Why don't you go get the game from your father?
E.B.: alright, wish me luck.
oh, btw...
jk I was wearing a funny disguise this whole time.
gotcha! hehehehe
T.T.: I know, John.
John: Go back downstairs.

[Image description: John stands near the couch looking at the giant Harlequin doll. The captchalogue cards are on screen with the fake arms in the first slot.]

You can now execute that brilliant idea you had.

There should be just enough frosting on the fake arms to serve as an adequate adhesive.

John: Attach arms to doll.

[Image description: The fake arms are now sticking a directly out from the Harlequin doll's sides in a manner that makes them look like they are dislocated. The Harlequin is still smiling anyway.]

Hehehehehehehehe.

You don't care what Colonel Sassacre says, that makes it at least a million percent funnier.

John: Inspect burnt paper on the floor.

[Image description: John moves to stand near the fireplace again, looking at a brown square on the floor. The second image is of a skier with a motion blur on him flying through the air on a giant chocolate bar labeled Broblerone. The edges of the advertisement are charred.]

You put this back in the fire where it belongs.

John: Throw present wrap in fire.

[Image description: The wad of paper appears in the fireplace and vibrates gently as it burns.]

As long as you're cleaning up...

John: Captchalogue doll.

[Image description: John faces the Harlequin on the couch. Its arms still look painfully dislocated.]

You can carry hefty items, but that thing is just way too big. Get real!

Besides, you don't even want it.

John: Read Colonel Sassacre's text.

The Creepy-crawlies!

Hell's bells, we are having a mighty sporting time of it!

Hold fast my intrepid fellow prank-smiths! We've merely nicked the mahogany of our japing chests.

If I may direct the incisive ogle of of your beagle puss to the wriggling regency of rubber bugs, plastic parasites, squirming serpents, pliable pests, and every such order and phyla of creepy-crawlie!

Land sakes alive, we are cooking with petrol now!

In further exhibits we shall dwell on artifice useful to your exploits. Is your pappy's rod and reel handy? What about a bit of iron cord; it shouldn't prove elusive. Bring those wriggling rascals to life, and set the nerves of some old maid to the wreck of Hesperus!
Do you have a bothersome aunt who never seems troubled to find ways with your sunny afternoon hours? A board, splintery fence - a bucket of whitewash perhaps?
By gum you'll fix her wagon!
And what of that tawny gent who puts his lackadaisical lean near the sarsaparilla font? You'll have that listless octoroon find the spring in his step just yet!]

You thought about consulting the text to determine exactly how hilarious the doll is now.

But this text is way too big to navigate in a timely fashion. You decide to forget it.

John: Find dad and retrieve mail.

The door on the left leads to the kitchen, from which the smell of baking wafts a powerful aroma which could lift an especially portly hobo off his feet.
The door on the right leads to the study, where your dad spends a lot of time.
He could be in either room. Where will you go?

John: Go in the study.

[Image description: John stands in the study. On the wall are three posters. One is very large, featuring a large number of people near a swimming pool. It takes up the entire wall. On the second wall is one poster of a young child in a joker's hat and a poster of a man and a very intricate jester costume. There is a piano with two clown statues and a pipe on top of it. There is a desk next to a coat rack. On the desk are playing cards, a pipe, a captchalogue card, and a few other unidentifiable items. An umbrella leans against it. On the coat rack are a bowler hat and a top hat.
In the back corner there is a safe with another clown statue on top of it. A window looks out into a yard.]

It doesn't look like he's in here right now.

John: Examine father's desk.

[Image description: John stands near the desk.]

On the desk is a deck of playing cards, one of your dad's pipes, the April issue of the Serious Jester Magazine, and a stray captchalogue card.
There is also a can of peanuts on the desk. Ha ha, oh dad. You won't be falling for that one again any time soon.
A severe peanut allergy is a terrible affliction to cope with.

John: Upgrade costume with hat from hat rack.

[Image description: John stands on the other side of the desk near the coatrack. The bowler hat is now on the transparent clever disguise captchalogue card and John's head. The wizard's hat has taken its place on the coat rack.]
You swap the magician's hat with the bowler hat.
This disguise is somewhat less funny, but a lot more distinguished looking.
John: Combine second pipe with clever disguise.

[Image description: It zooms in on the pipe sitting on the desk]

Your dad maintains numerous pipes around the household. A father without a pipe is like a strapping roughneck without a toothpick. That is to say, he is a rather piss-poor excuse for a roughneck if you ask me.

You'd rather not take the pipe, though. The first one tastes bad enough as it is.

How you suffer for your comedy.

John: Examine captchalogue card.

[Image description: The focus shifts to the right. Now on screen are the serious Jester magazine and the captcha log card]

Yes!!! This will be perfect for expanding the space in your sylla...

John: Captchalogue captchalogue card.

[Image description: A captchalogue card appears on the first captchalogue card. John makes the irritated expression again and scribbles appear above his head as if he were blanking out curse words that he was thinking.]

ARGH!!!

John: Play 52 Pick-Up.

[Image description: John stands next to the piano, a deck of cards scattered on the floor in front of him. He makes a very frustrated expression. A second image shows a close up of one of the statues on top of the piano and the poster of the boy in the Jester's hat.]

You play the prankster's favorite card game, even though you are alone in the room, thus rendering it an especially foolish version of Solitaire.

So stupid. Look at this mess.

The peanut gallery over there sure is getting a kick out of it. You are allergic to their scorn.

John: Attempt to leave the house.

[Image description: John once again stands in the living room. This time we see it from another angle. A portrait of John and a man who presumably is his father are on a wall next to a black stain and a window. A television shows a silhouette against a brick wall next to a shallow alcove with the front door in it. A creepy harlequin bust on a pedestal stands in the corner. The second panel zooms in on John who is now standing in front of the television. The television cycles through a few different shots from a commercial of Hi-C ecto cooler juice, featuring the Ghostbusters]
You go back into the living room and contemplate checking the mailbox outside. You think perhaps you should exhaust all possibilities before plunging headlong into a Dad encounter.

Your television is currently airing a commercial.

John: Exit.

[Image description: John stands outside the front door of his house. To the left of the screen is a tree branch with a tire swing hanging from it. Above the front door a balcony has a telescope on it. To the right of the screen there is the top of Dad's car.]

You exit the house.

John: Check mail.

[Image description: John moves down the driveway to stand next to the mailbox, which is open.]

Predictably, the mailbox is empty. You have already been scooped by your father.

[S] Next

[Image description: An animation of John taking off his clever disguise plays. It shifts to an image of the sky, then zooms out to show houses on the street. It returns to John and zooms out to show the entirety of his house. A stylized image of a sun appears in the sky, along with the word Homestuck. Over all of this the sound of wind plays.]

The streets are empty. Wind skims the voids keeping neighbors apart, as if grazing the hollow of a cut reed, or say, a plundered mailbox. A familiar note is produced. It's the one Desolation plays to keep its instrument in tune.

It is your thirteenth birthday, and as with all twelve preceding it, something feels missing from your life. The game presently eluding you is only the latest sleight of hand in the repertoire of an unseen riddler, one to engender a sense not of mirth, but of lack. His coarse schemes are those less of a prankster than a common pickpocket. His riddle is Absence itself. It is a mystery dispersing altogether, like the moon's faint reflection, with even one pebble of inquiry dropped in its black well. It is the most diabolical riddle of all.

"Absence diminishes little passions and increases great ones, as wind extinguishes candles and fans a fire." -Walt Whitman

Yes, you are certain Walt Whitman said that. One hundred percent positive.

You have a feeling it's going to be a long day.

Next

[Image description: John still stands next to the mailbox.]

John: Leave a surprise for the mailman.

[Image description: John holds his head and makes a frustrated expression then looks towards the mailbox.]

N...

No!
John: See if your father left the mail in the car.

[Image description: John moves to stand near the car. A second image shows the inside of the car from the perspective of someone looking through the driver side window. In the passenger seat is a green box with a paper underneath it.]

The door is locked and your dad has the car keys. You peer in through the driver's side window.

You don't see any mail, but you do see a GREEN PACKAGE. There is also something underneath it that looks like a slip of paper.

Could these items have come in the mail? You don't see anything else that's usually in the mail, like bills and coupons. Maybe your dad forgot to take this stuff inside.

John: Spy in the kitchen.

[Image description: John stands near the house looking in through a window. The window is foggy, but through it, a red box is visible along with a few more sheets of paper and a brown square with the stylized house logo on it.]

You try to get a gander through the kitchen window, but you can't see a whole lot! It seems your dad has been doing so much baking, the glass has steamed up.

God he is so weird.

But you can see what's on the table just beside the window. It looks like the mail is there! Included among it is a red package, some bills, your dad's pda, and an envelope that appears to be suspiciously labeled with the sburb logo. Could it be???

Unfortunately, the window is locked.

John: Go back into the kitchen.

You have no other choice. You are going in.

Clever disguise, it's time to work your magic.

[Image description: The song Harlequin plays. A dark outline against a fridge. Fade to black. A close up of a pipe. Fade to black. A close up of a hand near an oven. Fade to black. A close up of a hat. Fade to black. A close up of a cake in someone's hands. Fade to black. The figure, presumably John's father, turns to face John who now stands in the kitchen. Fade to black.]

Next

[Image description: A static image shows the kitchen. There is a door next to a telephone on the wall. A broom leans in the corner next to the refrigerator. On the other side of the refrigerator there is an oven. A counter has the red box, the mail, a small grey PDA, and the sburb beta. Dad, a fatherly man with a fedora and a pipe, but no face, only a nose, holds the cake and faces John. A speech bubble next to his head flashes between an image of John and an image of John in his clever disguise. John still wears his clever disguise and above his head a red exclamation point flashes. A second image shows John removing the clever disguise and replacing it in his captchalogue, where it becomes the first card.]

Your dad sees right through your costume! You don't know what you were even thinking with this foolish ruse!!!

You unequip the clever disguise. Your dad wields a dreaded artifact of confection. He stands between you and the mail.

There is only one way to settle this.

[S] STRIFE!

[Image description: The song Showtime (Original Mix) plays.
Dad takes out a lighter and lights the thirteen candles on the cake. He begins moving back and forth slightly. John takes out his hammer from his strife spesibus and also begins moving in back and forth motions. His expression is one of angry determination.
This panel is Interactive. Above John's head are two boxes. The top one reads aggrieve in green. The bottom one reads abjure in blue.
Click Aggrieve. A green slime creature like the one on John's shirt appears in the background and the kitchen fades to a green screen. John dashes forward and swings his hammer at the cake. The kitchen reappears and the word Auto-pastry appears in pink.
Click Abjure. A dark blue band appears at the top of the screen with the words Guardian rubric: coddlebrand appear. Dad dashes forward and flashes light blue as the kitchen fades to a swirling blue background. John backs up and shakes his head as the word dote smight appears on screen.]

John: Retrieve the package and flee to your room!

You cannot abscond! This pesky guardian is blocking your path! You will need to engineer some sort of distraction.

And now he brandishes yet another artifact of confection! The man is ruthless.

You'd better brace for impact in the most comedically striking fashion possible.

John: Equip disguise for defense.

The beagle aegis absorbs the brunt of the treat. Looks like dad will enjoy the prankster's gambit on that exchange, as is usually the case.

John: Captchalogue pie tin.

[Note, this is how captchalogue is spelled in this instance. Normally it does not have the extra A after the T]

[Image description: The captchalogue cards and deck reappear on screen. John removes the clever disguise, which takes the first card slot in the captchalogue, then he takes the pipe tin from his face. He looks understandably irritated. As he takes the pie tin, the three smoke pellets are ejected from the captchalogue and land on the floor to John's right.]

You take pie tin and unequip the beagle puss.

Everything in your sylladex is pushed back a card. The smoke pellets are ejected from the deck.

Yes! This could be just the distraction you were...

Next

[Image description: The three smoke pellets sit on a white background doing absolutely nothing.]

Nothing happens.

What a huge letdown.

John: Take the cake!

[Image description: Four text boxes appear on screen above John's head. A green Aggrieve, a blue Abjure, a purple Accede, and a pink Abscond. The cursor comes on screen and clicks Accede. Immediately afterwards dad crouches down and shoves the cake towards John, who grabs it and makes an expression like he is shouting. The captchalogue cards reappear and the cake takes the first slot. This forces the Colonel Sassacre's book from the stack. It begins flying towards the three smoke pellets.]

"When two great forces oppose each other, the victory will go to the one that knows how to yield."

-Oscar Wilde

Wise words by a man who likely could resist everything but temptation.

The cake forces Colonel Sassacre's text out of your sylladex.

Next

[Image description: The book flies and lands on top of the three pellets on the ground. Immediately, the background turns grey and darker gray lines wiggle across the screen.]

Sassacre you beautiful bastard.

Now's your chance!!!

John: Abscond.

[Image description: Dad holds the broom and begins waving it around as if trying to clear the smoke. A smoke detector on the wall has a red flashing light on it. John stands in the middle of the room doing nothing.]

Now that dad is busy placating the smoke detector, you can safely sneak away.

John: Take PDA.
You snag your dad's PDA. Maybe later you'll switch the background image to something hilarious as a prank. Besides, it may come in handy later.

Your spare captchalogue card is forced out of the sylladex, and consequently integrated with the deck. You now have five cards to work with.

John: Take package.

This red package is addressed to you.

John: Take envelope.

You got the sburb beta!!!

John: Exit kitchen.

You pause at the juncture and head down the hall. You are going to need something to clean up the mess you are about to make by dissecting this cake.
To the left is the bathroom. To the right is your dad's room. It is locked, and you are forbidden from ever entering. He has secrets.

John: Go to bathroom and grab a towel.

You enter the bathroom. You can see your back yard from the window. The jewel in its crown is the swing set which has provided you with years of joy. There is also a spring-mounted pogo-ride, which has been responsible for more than one painful injury, and has provided you with years of lament.

On the sink is your dad's razor. On the rack to the side is a fresh towel.

John: Remove PDA, envelope and package from cake.

[Image description: John stands near the sink with the cake monstrosity in front of him. Sitting on the counter next to the sink are the red package, the sburb beta, and the PDA, all of which are smeared with icing. He holds a straight razor in one hand and it is also in the top captchalogue card. A second image shows John standing next to the toilet. He captchalogues the towel from the towel rack. The third image shows John standing by the sink again. All the icing has been cleaned off of the package, the beta, and the PDA.]

You take the razor and use it to perform surgery on the cake.

You take the towel and clean off the extracted goods.

John: Retrieve your items.

[Image description: The captchalogue deck re-appears at the bottom of the screen. John captchalogues the red package, the sburb beta, and the PDA. This forces the cake monstrosity out of his captchalogue deck. It flies away and lands on the toilet. John makes a disgusted expression.]

The items force the manhandled cake into the toilet.

And just like that, your sylladex is full again. God this thing is annoying.

John: Go to bedroom.

John: Admire "Failure to Launch" poster.

[Image description: It zooms in on three of the posters on John's wall. All three are for Matthew McConaughey movies. One shows two people standing in front of a line of satellite dishes. The title is obscured by another poster. A second poster shows a man looking off into the distance while wearing circular glasses. The title says A Time to Kill. The last poster shows one woman and one man. The man leans back on his heels and the woman holds him up. The title reads Failure to Launch.]
You're not usually into chick-flicks, but Matthew McConaughey's cool charisma could salvage any heap of smoldering wreckage.

This is your "McConaughey Wall", a casual shrine to an amazing actor. The film above that one is a lot better, you think.

Can you see her? I want you to picture that little girl. [Chokes up] Now imagine she's white.

You got us Matthew! Your smooth talking exposed our latent racism! Damn you are good!

[Image description: A three-trill notification sound plays. John's computer desktop reappears. At the bottom of the screen two chat windows flash. One for gardenGnostic, one for turntech Godhead. John's mood is still set to bully.]

Note: gardenGnostic speaks with a vibrant green text.

G.G.: hi happy birthday john!!!!! (heart) hellooooo??
ok i will talk to you later!!! (Very happy face)

turntech Godhead [T.G.] began pestering ectoBiologist [E B] at 16:40

T.G.: hey GG is looking for you. why are you even so popular all of a sudden is today some sort of special occasion or something did you do something to curry favor with ladies did you break your leg on a puppy or some shit dude what are you doing turntech Godhead [T.G.] is now an idle chum!
E.B.: i discovered a comet that is going to destroy the earth, and it was named after me. now i am famous, and everyone wants to talk to me a lot.
T.G.: no stop just no dont talk about your awful stupid movies or make references to them your gross man-bro crush on matt macconahay is an unsavory thing to behold E.B.: mcconaughey.
T.G.: sounds like a noise a horse would make ie dumb equally dumb are all those pictures of that clown youve got hanging up E.B.: those are my dad's.
T.G.: i was talking about nick cage E.B.: oh, what?! no man, cage is sweet. so sweet.
T.G.: ha ha so lame you dont even like him ironically or anything. this is like for real isn't it hahaha E.B.: i do things ironically sometimes.
what about what i sent you for your birthday?
T.G.: no those are awesome
E.B.: what? no, they're stupid, which was the joke. the IRONIC joke. get it?
wait...
you're actually wearing them, aren't you?
T.G.: im wearing them ironically because they're awesome
the fact that they're ironic makes them awesome and vice versa are you taking notes on how to be cool?? jesus get a fucking pen
E.B.: you do realize they touched stiller's weird, sort of gaunt face at some point.
T.G.: ew. yeah
oh well anyway speaking of which did you get the mail
E.B.: yeah.
T.G.: did there happen to be a package there
E.B.: yeah, there's a big red one.
T.G.: you should probably open it
E.B.: i would, but it's trapped under the sburb beta, so i will probably open it after i install the beta.
T.G.: oh man the beta came E.B.: yeah! wanna play it?
T.G.: haha no way
E.B.: why not!
T.G.: it sounds so HELLS of boring. just get TT to play it. she is all about that E.B.: where'd she go.
T.G.: her internet is blinking in and out i guess probably be back online soon oh and christ in a sidecar are you still using the stack modus??? seriously dude
you need to BONE UP on your data structures that shit is just ridiculous E.B.: ok, i will.

John: Open browser and go to mspaintadventures.com

[Image description: John clicks the typheus icon- the green snake with a white head. The green tail flashes pink and the white head flashes black. A moment later a teal-colored internet browser pops up. John clicks the home button and mspaintadventures.com begins to load on the screen.]

You decide to space out on the computer for a while before doing anything important.

You open the typheus web browser and direct it to what is indisputably the most amazing website ever created.

The last one is medium sized and twiggy, and has an angry expression on his face. The new adventure is ok, but you're not sure if you like it as much as the last one.

John: Install the Sburb beta.

[Image description: John sits at the computer, which shows mspaintadventures.com for a moment before returning to the desktop. The captchalogue cards reappear in the top left corner and the cursor comes on screen to click the sburb beta, which is in the top card. Free fetch modus in back!!!]

You're not sure you really want to dig into this huge tome. It looks really boring. And kind of ornery.

Maybe you'll just check out that free modus instead.

John: Get free Fetch Modus.

[Image description: It shows the inside cover of the book. In a small pocket attached to the book is a fetch modus. It is in the same shape of a captchalogue card and strife spesibus, but the outside border is gray and the inside shape is orange. Inside the inner shape is the outline of a captchalogue card followed by an arrow. This sequence repeats three times. It reads fetch modus FIFO, an initialism for 'First in, First out' Queue]

You turn to the back inside cover, where a free fetch modus is included in a plastic sleeve.

This one is dictated by the logic of a queue data structure, operating on a "First In, First Out" method, rather than a "First In, Last Out" method of a stack.

John: Apply Fetch Modus to Sylladex.

[Image description: The image returns to John, who still stands by the CD rack. The captchalogue cards and deck reappear on the screen. In the top card is the new fetch modus. The cursor comes on screen and clicks it, dragging it down to the captchalogue deck. The cards and deck, which were pink, now turn orange and the red package card turns grey. The bottom card bearing the razor slides out of the stack for a moment before returning to the bottom of the pile.]

Items captchalogue in your sylladex are no longer immediately accessible. You can only use the item on the bottom card, and must wait for items on upper cards to be pushed back to it.

For instance, the red package is now inaccessible. You can only use the razor at the moment.

This modus doesn't strike you as a significant upgrade to your previous one. In fact, it almost seems more inconvenient. You figure you might as well give it a chance though.

John: Switch back to Stack Modus.

[Image description: It zooms in on John. In a thought bubble next to him, it shows the fetch modus Put it... Down?

You're not quite sure you understand.

John: Pick up two items.

You captchalogue one of the cakes.

You've finally found a use for all these loitering pastries: dead weight.

John: Get other cake.

[Image description: John stands near his bed and captchalogue the cake on top of it, the one that he previously stuck the arms into. As he does this it forces the razor from his deck and it flies through the air, slicing off part of his hair. He makes a concerned and frightened expression. A second image shows the razor lodged in the forehead of the man from the A Time to Kill poster.]

The second cake causes the razor to launch out the front of your sylladex.

Oh good lord.

That beautiful face.

You wish the razor would have failed to launch.

John: Get more stuff.

[Image description: The toy chest reappears on screen. The sword, the four red capsules, the handcuffs, and the Wise Guy book are still with the chest. You open your magic chest and captchalogue one of your favorite books of all time, Wise Guy by Mike Caveney.

There goes the fresh towel.

John: Might as well grab those cuffs.

It's bound in packing tape though. You'll need something sharp to open it.

Ah, of course! The razor! It's all so simple, you wonder why you didn't...

John: Get razor.

[Image description: John captchalogue the razor, which forces the red package out of his sylladex. It flies through the air and smacks him in the back of the head. The word Bonk appears in red letters as the package falls to the floor.]

John: Pick up package again.

[Image description: John captchalogue the package again and quickly ducks as this sends one of the cakes flying out of his captchalogue. A second image shows it smacking the face from the A Time to Kill poster, then slowly sliding down the wall.]

Let's take this from the top.

John: Captchalogue glass shards.

[Image description: John captchalogue three glass shards, then jumps to the side as this throws a cake, the Wise Guy book, and of the handcuffs from his captchalogue. A second image shows the window again. The entire thing is completely shattered.]

You take three glass shards in quick succession and duck for cover.

Your sylladex rains devastation on your room from above.

And now that your cards are packed with glass, you probably don't want to do that again any time soon.

John: Use the razor on the red package.
You open the package. There is something suspicious inside.

Something suspiciously dirty and smelly.

It is a stuffed bunny. Much like the one held hostage briefly by Malkovich's Cyrus "The Virus" while taunting hard-luck protagonist Cameron Poe. And strikingly similar to the one scooped up from the soot of a burning Vegas strip by Cage's Poe and offered to his daughter, a gesture symbolic of a tattered exterior surrounding a heart of gold. Poe wasn't much to look at. But he was a good man.

But no, it is not merely like that bunny. According to this note of authenticity, it is the very same bunny.

This is so awesome.

John: Check status of Sburb beta.

It looks like your computer is trying to get your attention.

John: Look at monitor.

It looks like you managed to retrieve the beta. Excellent. I'm going to try to connect.

E.B.: whoa ok but i just got the most awesome present.

T.T.: The rabbit?

E.B.: SO SWEET.
T.T.: I've heard tales of this wretched creature often. Its Homeric legend is practically ensconced in the fold of my personal mythology by now.
E.B.: ha ha, what?
T.T.: Why don't we focus on the matter at hand?
E.B.: oh the game, ok.
i don't really know how this works. what am i even looking at here?
T.T.: You are running the client application. I am running the server, so I am the host user. I have established a connection with you. This is sufficient for us to play the game.
E.B.: oh, ok then.
T.T.: Why don't we get started?

John: Press [ENTER]

At the end of the animation the background fades back to white and the spirograph grows larger for a moment before disappearing and the background turning to black. The word sburb appears in green in the center of the new black background and bounces gently up and down.

Next

This panel is interactive. The buttons near the spirograph do nothing but the icons pull up a large box showing the icon and a description of what it does. The leftmost icon is a sburb house logo icon that is slanted slightly back and to the right. When hovered over, it shows the word Select. The second is a similar but disassembled icon, which pulls up the word Revise. Third is an upside down sburb logo icon which pulls up the word Deploy. The fourth icon is a captchalogue card with a small green cube next to it, which pulls up the words Phernalia Registry. Fifth is a blue shape resembling a gushers candy that brings up the words Grist Cache. The sixth shows a stack of captchalogue cards in various colors with a green cube on the top card and pulls up the words Explore Atheneum. The last icon is a captchalogue card with several columns of dashes along it next to an Erlenmeyer flask partially filled with a green liquid. Hovering over this one brings up the words Alchemy Excursus.]

[Mouseover the interface buttons. -AH]

T.T.: Select magic chest.

[Image description: A small cursor comes on screen and clicks the Select icon. It turns into the icon then moves to click the chest. It lifts the chest up into the air, revealing a pink card that was underneath it.]

T.T.: Zoom out.

[Image description: The cursor clicks the rotate right button and the screen changes to show John sitting at the computer from behind. The cursor clicks the zoom button twice and the scene zooms out to the point that John's room is no longer visible. Instead, we see the outside of the house, including a door that leads out to the balcony with the telescope on it.]

T.T.: Drop chest.

[Image description: The select cursor drags the toy chest towards the roof. It clicks to drop the chest, which falls onto the roof and slams shut. It slides down a few feet before coming to a stop a few feet short of the edge of the roof.]

pesterlog
E.B.: whoa, what are you doing??
T.T.: Sorry. I'm just getting a feel for the controls.
E.B.: is my magic chest on the roof now??
T.T.: Yes.
E.B.: (sad face)
T.T.: I will try to be more careful next time.

John: Get the card.

[Image description: The scene returns to John, who now stands next to the pink card on the ground where the chest was. He picks it up and as he does it is revealed that it is the stack fetch modus card. His captchalogue cards and deck turn pink as he places it on top of the queue modus, which has appeared in the top right corner of the screen. A second image shows John smiling foolishly while quickly switching back and forth between the stack and queue modi.

Note: for some reason, in the second panel, the slime creature on John's shirt is blue, likely due to
You find your missing stack fetch modus, and quickly reapply it to your sylladex. You can now opt for either the stack or queue modus any time.

You toggle between your fetch modi with gleeful abandon.

[Image description: John stands near the window, looking out into the yard. The next image shows a wide view of the house, the tree in the front yard, and Dad's car, which is now pulling out of the driveway.]

It looks like your dad is leaving again for more baking supplies. You're relieved to have the house to yourself again, if only for a few minutes.

You just hope he doesn't notice the magic chest on the roof. Or all the shit you threw out the window, for that matter.

T.T.: Select stuff in yard and move it back into room.

[Image description: The image of the front yard where the PDA and broken glass flew out reappears, but now the PDA and glass are joined by the cake, the handcuffs, and the book that were thrown out when John captchalogged the glass shards. A curved red line crosses the yard as if it's part of a circle that surrounds the house. The select cursor moves towards the items, but as it crosses the red line, everything beyond that line gains a red tint.]

pesterlog
E.B.: hey, do you think you could do me a favor?
can you grab all that stuff outside my broken window and bring it in for me?
T.T.: I'll give it a shot.
E.B.: thx!
T.T.: No luck.
it appears to be out of range. I'm guessing it is too far away from you, the "player".
E.B.: (very sad face)

[Image description: The scene returns to John's room, where the select cursor moves towards him and clicks on his chest. This causes him to flash red and wave his hands like he is trying to smack it away while making an expression that makes it look like he is shouting at it.]

You cannot select a player!

John abjures the meddlesome cursor.

T.T.: Select bunny.

[Image description: The image shifts to focus on the bed with the box, the bunny, and the certificate of authenticity on it. The select cursor clicks on the bunny and lifts it into the air slightly. John stands next to the bed and watches.]

T.T.: Put the bunny back in the box.

[Image description: The cursor drags the bunny and drops it back into the red box. This causes]
John to smile. His mouth is shaped like a jelly bean, which is really freaking adorable. He's just so pleased with strange movie references.]

T.T.: Revise room.

[Image description: The image shifts over to the far right side of the room so that it is only partially on the screen. The rest of the space is blank. A cursor moves to select the revise tool, the second icon that looks like a disassembled sburb house logo. With the revise icon, it clicks and drags a large square that starts inside the bedroom but ends outside of it, in the blank space. When it releases, the entire image shakes a little bit like something has been dropped, and where the square was, the room is now extended.]

Next

[Image description: The image returns to the outside of the house, where we see the new extension of John's bedroom drop into place. The toy chest is still on the roof.]

T.T.: Open Phernalia Registry.

[Image description: It returns to John's bedroom, focused on the new extension. John stands by the window. The cursor selects the 4th icon- the Phernalia registry, which looks like the captchalogue card with the green cube and next to it. This causes a drop down menu to appear containing three strange looking machines. The first one looks like a rectangular prism with a smaller rectangular prism on top of it. On top of the second prism is a cylindrical object with a spirograph printed on the top. The mouse hovers over this first item and brings up a label that calls it a Cruxtruder. The cursor hovers over the second item, which looks like a large, complicated sewing machine or 3D printer. The name that appears underneath it is the Totem Lathe. The third item, which looks like a round platform on top of a rectangular platform with a robotic arm sticking up from one corner, has the name alchemiter appear underneath it. Underneath each of the names is a gray image of the Grist item, the item that looks like a gusher candy, and two dashes.]

T.T.: Deploy Totem Lathe.

[Image description: The cursor clicks the deploy icon, the one that looks like the upside down sburb logo. The cursor turns into the deploy cursor and moves to click the totem lathe. It drags this to sit along the wall in the new section of the bedroom.]

John: Examine Totem Lathe.

[Image description: John stands next to the totem lathe with a red question mark flashing over his head. The totem lathe has a variety of levers and buttons, and what looks to be a clamp for cylindrical objects.]

You don't know what the heck this thing does, but it looks neat!

T.T.: Open Grist Cache

[Image description: The cursor comes on screen and clicks the grist cache icon, the one that looks like a gusher. Right below this, it says 'Grist Cache limit: 20". A screen pops up with the gusher icon in the top left corner and and 36 small rectangular slots for different types of grist in a nine by four grid. The top 5 in the first column have icons and fill bars, but the others all have nothing but a grey question mark. The different types of grist are]
A blue gushers shape grist, labeled build grist, which currently has 16 out of 20 filled.
A purple gusher shaped grist with none available.
A white cube shaped grist with none available.
A yellow teardrop shape grist with none available.
And a green gusher shaped grist with none available.]

pesterlog
T.T.: It seems expanding the dimensions of your room cost us some "Build Grist". But deploying the lathe did not appear to incur any expense. It looks like certain objects are freebies, probably to help you set up the game.
E.B.: wow, ok.
what do they do?
T.T.: I think it's up to you to find out.
All I can do is drop stuff in your house, and move it around, apparently.
E.B.: how do i move stuff around? it sounds fun!
T.T.: I don't think you can as the client. You will need to install the server application. You should have received both in separate envelopes. I am running both on my computer right now.
E.B.: what??
T.T.: Did you get another envelope in the mail?
E.B.: no!
T.T.: Once you install the server and establish a connection, I'm sure you will be able to manipulate my environment in the same manner. Are you sure you didn't get it?
E.B.: oh man.
i think i might know where it is.

Next

[Image description: We see the inside of Dad's car again and a second image zooms in on the green package and envelope in the passenger seat. Now visible is the very edge of the green house logo on the the envelope.]

pesterlog
T.T.: Now that your room is bigger, why don't you move to the far corner?
It will extend the range of the cursor, and I can reach the items. Which... you threw out the window for some reason?
E.B.: good idea!
T.T.: What have you been doing in here all afternoon, anyway?
E.B.: ugh, i was fussing with my retarded sylladex. but i think i have it under control now.
what modus do you use?
T.T.: I like to use trees.
E.B.: oh no, that sounds so awkward.
T.T.: It's not exceptionally practical.
But I think they are elegant.

John: Stand in corner.

[Image description: John stands in the corner of the room as the select cursor drags the Wise Guy book and PDA back into the bedroom. As it drops them on the floor, John smiles.]

T.T.: Deploy Cruxtruder.

[Image description: The scene returns to the living room. The deploy cursor appears and selects the Cruxtruder. It drops it in the living room right in front of the doorway. The Alchemiter has moved to the second slot, where the Totem Lathe was, and the last slot is filled with a captchalogue card with a blue apple and several rows of dashes on it labeled a Pre-punched card]

T.T.: Deploy Alchemiter.

[Image description: The image shows the balcony with the telescope on it and the deploy cursor hovers over the Alchimeter, which is now in the first slot. The captchalogue card with the dashes and blue apple has moved to the second slot, and the final slot has been taken up by an item that looks like a sound mixing board with legs that is named the Punch designix. This item says it has a cost of four purple grist.]

pesterlog
E.B.: why is the floor shaking?
Are you dropping more stuff in my house?
T.T.: Yes. Two more large gizmos.
E.B.: sweet!
what is with all these big contraptions?
T.T.: If I had to guess, they appear to facilitate a sort of system involving punch card-based alchemy.
E.B.: huh. to what end?
i mean what are we supposed to be doing in this game?
T.T.: That remains to be seen.
Maybe you should go investigate?

John: Get PDA.

[Image description: John still stands in the corner of his bedroom, next to the Wise Guy book and PDA. The captchalogue cards and deck appear on screen, with three shards of glass in the first three slots. John steps towards the PDA and picks it up, making it appear in the first slot. A second image shows the screen of dads PDA, which appears to be a forum of some sort. It reads Serious Business. Next to this is a logo that looks like a the square with a hat The following matters have been submitted in a frank and forthright manner for pipefan413’s judicious appraisal.

You grab the PDA, switching back to stack modus so it is readily accessible.

The interface is oddly sterile. No hilarious clown wallpapers or anything like that. (Oops, you mean harlequin wallpapers.)

The serious business application is open. It seems your dad uses it to keep tabs on various acquaintances... his fellow street performers, maybe?

You guess the performing arts must be pretty serious business after all.

John: Install Pesterchum.

[Image description: It now shows the home screen of Dad's PDA, which has a pipe as the background image, a system icon, and a square wearing a hat icon labeled SB. Above the SB icon is a pesterchum icon. The pesterchum chat client pops up. It reads tentacleTherapist and ectoBiologist have yellow smiley faces next to their names.

John's mood is still set to bully.]

This should be useful. Now you can keep tabs on your chums while you wander around the house.

John: Go out to balcony.

[Image description: John stands on the balcony near the Alchemiter]

pesterlog
E.B.: hey, i'm out on the balcony now.
i am messaging from my dad's pda.
T.T.: The one you threw into the yard?
E.B.: no, i am telling you.
it jumped out of my sylladex like a frightened weasel.
T.T.: What were you doing with it in the first place?
I am not sensing a lot of regard for the personal property of others.
Is this how your pent-up frustration with your father manifests itself?
those were all accidents.
please take your psycho-babblery elsewhere, miss!
T.T.: Your bathroom is a mess.
Did you do that too?
E.B.: oh man, see this isn't cool.
all this snooping nonsense!
T.T.: There's a cake in the toilet.
E.B.: yes. there is.
T.T.: I'm tempted to clean it up for you.
E.B.: ok, if that will satisfy your weird ocd complex then go ahead.
T.T.: My Obsessive-Compulsive Disorder complex?
Can a disorder also be a complex?
E.B.: in your case, probably!
T.T.: Sounds complicated.
E.B.: anyway...
i am going to have a look at this enormous platformy thing you put on the balcony.

John: Examine Alchemiter in a cautious manner.

[Image description: John stands right in the middle of the round platform, well within smacking distance of the robotic arm.]

You have no idea what to do with this thing. You can't find any controls for it.

Having exhausted all other possibilities, you just decide to stand on it.

This isn't very cautious of you, actually.

John: Look through telescope.

circular section of the sky with a stylized sun inside it.]

It is a clear, sunny day. Nothing out of the ordinary to report. At least, not beyond the walls of your own home.

T.T.: Grab the soiled toilet.

[Image description: the scene returns to the bathroom, now with the build grist bar in the corner.
The select cursor appears and clicks the toilet with the cake in it. As it does, the build grist jumps down from 16 to 14. The select cursor rips the toilet out of the wall, pulling a chunk of the floor with it.]

pesterlog
E.B.: whoops what?

Next

[Image description: The select cursor gently places the toilet and cake into the backyard next to the swingset and pogo bouncer.]

pesterlog
E.B.: what was that noise?
is this something i should go investigate?
T.T.: No, I have it under control.
You can keep playing with your telescope.

John: Investigate.

[Image description: John stands in the bathroom and makes an irritated expression. The broken pipe sticking out of the floor where the toilet was now gushes water. A second image shows the next room down, where a sledge hammer and green card sit.]

pesterlog

E.B.: augh!

T.T.: I think I can patch it up.

Just give me a little space.

T.T.: Why don't you go have a look at the Cruxtruder?

E.B.: the what?

T.T.: The thing I put in your living room.

John: Hop down the hole.

[Image description: It shows the utility room, which has a washer and dryer towards the left side of the screen. Towards the right are two cabinets with the sledgehammer and green card next to them. In the background, there's a window and a door that leads outside. John drops down from the ceiling and lands on top of the dryer.]

You jump down to the utility room.

John: Get sledgehammer and card.

[Image description: John stands near the sledgehammer and card, then steps towards them. The green card appears in the top right corner with the sledgehammer now on it. It stays there for a moment before sliding to the captchalogue cards and appearing on the top card. A second image shows the strife spesibus. The large rectangular shape that takes up most of the card still shows a stylized black hammer, the three boxes along the right side are still blank, but the bottom rectangle now shows John's hammer from before and the new sledgehammer.]

You take the sledgehammer and the captchalogue card, combine the two, and quickly apply it to your strife spesibus.

You think it's cool that things don't always have to be a federal fucking issue.

Next

[Image description: The PDA in the first slot of the captchalogue deck has a speech bubble with an ellipsis inside it flashing above it.]

It looks like another one of your chums is pestering you on your PDA.

John: Answer chum.

[Image description: It shows a close up of the PDA with the pesterchum chat client open on it. tentacleTherapist, gardenGnostic, and ectoBiologist have yellow smiley faces next to them, but a box around gardenGnostic is flashing.]

pesterlog

G.G.: john did you get my package??

E.B.: oh hey!

no, not yet.

G.G.: darn! are you sure? it was in a green box.....

E.B.: oh!
yes, but it is in my dad's car and he is still out at the store.
he should be back soon.
G.G.: great!!! so what are you up to today?
E.B.: i am up to my neck in this sburb stuff.
TT is making a royal mess of my house.
G.G.: lol!
whats sburb??
E.B.: oh, it is this game.
it's ok i guess. i'm still figuring it out.
G.G.: whoa what was that?????
E.B.: what was what?
G.G.: there was a loud noise outside my house!!
it sounded like an explosion!!!!
E.B.: wow, really?
G.G.: i will go outside and look....
E.B.: oh man, alright but be careful, ok?
G.G.: i will! (smiley face)

John: Might as well check out the Cruxtruder.

[Image description: John stands in the living room and looks at the Cruxtruder.]

pesterlog
E.B.: oh hell no, you put this thing in front of the door?
T.T.: There's a door there?
E.B.: um, YEAH???
T.T.: I didn't see it.
I just thought it fit nicely into that groove.
E.B.: you mean you thought it was elegant?
ok well what do i do with this thing.
hello?
what are you doing up there now?

Next

[Image description: The scene shows the bathroom. The select cursor clicks the bathtub and rips it out of the floor. The amount of build grist decreases from 14 to 12.]

pesterlog
T.T.: Oh fuck.

John: Examine wheel on the Cruxtruder.

[Image description: John stands on the lower prism of the cruxtruder and turns the wheel on the side of the cylinder with the spirograph on top. The top section of the cylinder begins to lift slightly.]

When you turn the wheel, something seems to be pushing up from underneath the lid.
But you aren't strong enough to make the lid come off!

T.T.: Put bathtub in driveway.
On the tub's journey to the driveway, the connection is interrupted.

John: Scold TT.

E.B.: you can see me, right.
tell me what is wrong with this picture.
T.T.: Sorry. I keep losing the wireless signal.
Must be the weather.
I would look for a stronger signal in another part of the house, but I'd rather not risk an encounter with my mother.
I battled through her cloud of gin and derision once already this evening.
E.B.: haha, yeah I hear you.
T.T.: Yes. Cake, jesters, unfaltering love and support.
Quite a road to hoe there.
T.T.: Though I suppose I'm complicit for not informing Social Services about your situation.
E.B.: i know!
what about going outside?
maybe you could catch a neighbor's signal.
T.T.: That presents the same problem.
Also, it's raining, remember?
And dark.
E.B.: It's dark already?
T.T.: Yes, the sun has already had its way with us here on the east coast.
Its lurid glare has moved on to younger timezones.
E.B.: haha, um, ok.

John: Hit Cruxtruder with sledgehammer.

pesterlog
T.T.: Need some help?

T.T.: Pick up sledgehammer.

[Image description: The harlequin bust's pedestal stands next to the Cruxtruder. He stands on top of it and holds the sledgehammer, making a pained expression as he tries to swing it.]

Next

[Image description: John stands on the floor next to the pedestal. The cruxtruder shakes and turns blue as blue rays of light beam out from it. Suddenly, the lid explodes off, landing on the pedestal John recently vacated. From the now open cylinder, a spirograph flashing blue, white, and black floats up. Screens on the base of the Cruxtruder read 4:13.]

E.B.: what is this thing?
and what is that clock counting down to?
T.T.: I've been looking at the Game F. A. Q. walkthroughs to figure some of this stuff out.
Hold while I read further.
E.B.: ok.
T.T.: All of these walkthroughs are extremely short.
None progress much further than this point.
E.B.: weird.
well, i mean it is a new game.
T.T.: True.
Now that the lid is off, you will need to extrude some "Cruxite".

John: Turn wheel again.

[Image description: John stands on the base of the cruxtruder and turns the wheel again. This makes the open cylinder spit out a light blue cylinder of an unknown material. It flies towards the spirograph, which swoops out of the way. The cylinder lands on top of the fallen lid. The timer still counts down
4:03
4:01]

You extrude one cruxite dowel.

John: Get cruxite.

[Image description: John captchaluges the cruxite dowel. Now in his captchalogue are the cruxite dowel, the PDA, and three shards of glass.]

pesterlog
T.T.: I feel like we should be hurrying. That countdown is making me nervous.
John?
Oh. Your PDA is trapped under the cruxite now, isn't it.
Anyway, it looks like you are going to need this card too.

T.T.: Deploy Pre-punched Card.

[Image description: The select cursor hovers over the Pre-punched card. A second image shows the select cursor dropping the card on the floor next to John, who now stands near the door to the kitchen.]

John: Get card.

[Image description: John captchaluges the pre-punched card, which forces a shard of glass out. It flies through the air and slices off one of the tips of the harlequin's hat before landing in the pie]
A shard of glass is expelled from the deck and maims the harlequin doll.

John: Captchalogue fanciful harlequins.

[Image description: John stands in front of the curio cabinet and captchalogue two of the ugly harlequins. This forces the other two glass shards from the captchalogue cards. Both of them maim the poor harlequin more; one slicing it's face open, another cutting a gash in its side.]

You take two fanciful harlequins.

The additional useless freight pushes your PDA to the last card. You then switch to the queue modus so you can access the PDA.

More glass shrapnel flies from the deck.

[Image description: The flashing spirograph has a square speech bubble above it, which shows strange blue and black textures as if they're being typed.]

PESTERLOG

E.B.: this thing keeps following me around. i think it's trying to talk to me or something.
T.T.: That is probably the "Kernelsprite".
It apparently needs to be "prototyped".
Twice, actually.
Whatever the hell that means.
These walkthroughs are horrendously written.
E.B.: hmm, ok.
well, you are the one with the cursor so just do whatever you think is the right thing to do! also, fix my bathroom.

T.T.: Drop maimed harlequin into Kernelsprite.

[Image description: The select cursor clicks the beat-up harlequin and drags it to the spirograph, which is named a Kernelsprite. As it releases, blue beams of light shoot from the kernelsprite and the screen fades to white.]

[S] Next

[Image description: The kernelsprite flashes and morphs, then grows to take up most of the panel. Immediately, it begins shrinking down to nothing and beams of blue light shoot out from it. The song Harlequin plays. A harlequin head with one of the tips of its hat missing, a scar across its eye, and an arm floating next to it appears inside a blue ring. The head flashes white, blue, and black.]

The kernelsprite has been prototyped with the harlequin doll.

Next

[Image description: the kernelsprite vibrates intensely in front of the couch, flashing quickly. Above its head, a square speech bubble has blue and black fleur-de-lis appearing as if being typed in. John simply stares at this spectacle.]
pesterlog
E.B.: i still can't understand this thing's gobbledygook.
T.T.: That was only "Tier One Prototyping".
There is still another tier to the prototyping process.
Which for all we know merely advances this entity through increasingly esoteric states of linguistics.
E.B.: the clock is ticking.
we don't have time for this asinine tomfoolery.
T.T.: This unmitigated poppycock?
E.B.: extravagant hogwash!
ok stop stop typing whatever silly thing you're typing.
i'm going upstairs to the big platformy thing.
T.T.: The alchemiter?
E.B.: ??
T.T.: Try to learn the lingo.

John: Use pre-punched card with the alchemiter.

[Image description: John stands on the balcony next to the alchemiter. The kernelsprite hovers near the door.]

There is no slot for a card anywhere to be found on the alchemiter!
The kernelsprite followed you upstairs.

T.T.: Explore Atheneum.

Acquiring a cruxite dowel seems to have populated the atheneum with one item: a perfectly generic object.

John: Captchalogue telescope.

You snatch the telescope from its tripod. Who knows, it might be useful. But more importantly, it pushes the cruxite to the last card making it available for tinkering.
The PDA is predictably jettisoned into the yard, over the neighbor's fence.

John: Put cruxite on weird pattern on alchemiter.

[Image description: John stands by the robotic arm portion of the alchemiter, where he has now placed the cruxite dowel. The kernelsprite flashes and vibrates on the right side of the screen.

You place the cruxite dowel on the alchemiter's small pedestal.

Something is happening...

Next

[Image description: John stands to the right of the alchemiter. The robotic arm folds out and scans the cruxite dowel with a red laser.]

Next

[Image description: a grey box appears in the top left corner with the number one and up and down arrows in it. To the right of the box, it says minus two next to a build grist. A cursor clicks the up arrow twice, increasing the number inside the box to three and decreasing the number next to the build grist to minus six. A moment later, the large round platform on the alchemiter fades to black, then pops back to white as three green cubes appear in an explosion. The build grist bar decreases from 12/20 to 6/20]

You set the alchemiter to cast three perfectly generic objects for some reason, expending a total of 6 units of build grist.

These things look completely useless. What a waste!

Out of the corner of your eye, you notice there's something in the sky.

John: Switch modus and use telescope to inspect sky.

You switch back to stack modus and get a closer look with your telescope.

Whatever it is, the kernelsprite seems particularly agitated about it.

Next

[Image description: It shows a circular section of the sky with two clouds. At the top of the screen, a white streak points downwards like it is plummeting towards the earth.]

This is a troubling development.

John: High-five Kernelsprite.

John: Attempt to ingest a unit of build grist.

It is tempting because they strongly resemble Rockin' Blue Raspberry Gushers. However, units of build grist are a gaming abstraction and do not seem to exist on the physical plane!

There is apparently no crisis so imminent that will deter you from contemplating idiotic and frivolous actions.

E.B.: i don't know, maybe! what do i do!
T.T.: I think it's very likely.
The walkthroughs vaguely suggest an impending threat before they end.
The already poorly constructed sentences become even more curt and ambiguous.

Actually, their dedication to updating the walkthrough under such circumstances is admirable.
E.B.: wow, FASCINATING.

E.B.: ok i'll do that.
T.T.: Really, it is a labor to read this drivel.

John: Use pre-punched card on totem lathe.

You slip the pre-punched card into a slot on the totem lathe. Above, the tool arm deploys a configuration of chisels.

Now you just need something to lathe.

John: Take cruxite to totem lathe.

If only he knew you were hard at work saving his ass.

John: Use cruxite dowel on totem lathe.

[Image description: John stands near the totem lathe with the cruxite dowel in the clamp. It holds it so the curved surface is parallel to the floor.]

You clamp the cruxite in the lathe.

John: Activate lathe.

[Image description: The cruxite dowel spins as the chisel tip descends. It carves into it, creating a deep valley followed by a bulge and a shallower valley. A second image shows John standing by the totem lathe's clamp with the cruxite totem in his top captchalogue card.]

[Image description: A large timer counts down at the bottom of the screen. John stands at his bedroom door, jiggling the handle with an irritated expression on his face. The door won't open. 2:10 2:09]
A young lady stands in her bedroom. Due to a violent storm, her house has just lost power, along with her wireless internet connection. This has severed her link to a popular video game she was playing with a young man at a critical moment. That young man is relying on this young lady to reestablish a connection somehow. This young lady named...

Named...

It's on the tip of your tongue. What was the name of this young lady again?

Enter name.

[Image description: The image zooms in on the girl and a textbox is above her head. It types Flighty Broad
The words fade away and the girl makes an angry expression.]

No, that wasn't it!

One more time.

[Image description: It types Rose Lalonde
And a green check mark appears next to the name]

Examine room.

Image description: It shows the rest of the girl's, Rose's, room. It's an absolute mess. On top of the dresser, a violin and bow are propped against the wall. On the wall nearby are the posters of the squid-headed gentleman, a boy with an eye patch and a gun, and a woman's head. Sharing the wall with the posters is a window that takes up three quarters of the wall. Outside it is a tree branch and rain. A sock and a knitting bag sit on the unmade bed. On the wall behind the head of the bed, there are three posters of increasingly horrific tentacle monsters. Next to the bed is a door and on the other side of the door is a bookshelf filled with books. On top of the bookshelf are a black jar, a snowglobe, and a plushie version of the squid creature on Rose's shirt. Opposite the window is Rose's desk, with a laptop, two sburb envelopes, and a book on it. Purple clothing is scattered all over the floor.]
Your name is Rose. As was previously mentioned you are without electricity, although your laptop computer still functions on battery power. You have a variety of interests. You have a passion for rather obscure literature. You enjoy creative writing and are somewhat secretive about it. You have a fondness for the bestially strange and fictitious, and sometimes dabble in psychoanalysis. You also like to knit, and your room is a bit of a mess. And on occasion, if just the right one strikes your fancy, you like to play video games with your friends.

What will you do?

Rose: Retrieve arms from the purple box.

[Image description: Rose slowly nudges the purple box into the dresser with her foot.]

The purple package's contents are private! No one is allowed to look inside.

Rose: Writhe like a flagellum and puke on your bed.

Ugh, what a terrible idea! The thought alone makes you sick to your stomach.

Rose: Stroke writing journal and mutter, 'My precious...'

You would only resort to such an embarrassing activity while no one was watching!!!

These journals are for your eyes only.

Rose: Get violin.

[Image description: Rose stands by the dresser and captchalogues the violin and bow. Her captchologue is a bright green-yellow color and her deck has eight cards in it, the first now taken by the violin. The rest are empty.]

You captchologue the violin, storing it the root card of your sylladex.

[S] Rose: Play a haunting refrain on the violin.

[Image description: Rose holds the violin and plays Aggrieve (Violin Refrain). Outside, lighting flashes.]

You waste approximately 40 seconds playing the violin while your friend is in peril.

Nice time management skills there, sweetheart!

John: Tell Liv Tyler you love her before impact.

Since your good for nothing friend is obviously not going to bail you out in time, you issue words of parting fondness to dear, sweet Liv. Oh, if only Affleck could have been the one to make the final sacrifice instead of her stubborn, blue collar, salt-of-the-earth father. Then she would fall into your arms for consolation, and you would be the one to make the deceased Bruce Willis proud.

Rose: Captchologue knitting supply bag.

[Image description: Rose stands on her bed and captchalogues the knitting bag. The knitting bag's card appears down and to the left of the violin card with the corner of the violin card on top of it.]

You get the knitting bag. It occupies the left leaf card under the violin, per the tree modus's alphabetical sorting method.

K < V.

Rose: Look out window.

Your panoramic window offers a view of your yard below, and the mausoleum housing your dead cat, Jaspers, who died when you were young. Your mom had the structure erected with a spirit of scornful irony in response to your youthfully innocent request to hold a funeral for the animal. At least, that is how you have come to interpret the gesture in retrospect.

You can also make out a silhouette of the laboratory next door, a facility which likely broadcasts a strong wireless internet signal. You may be able to connect to the signal from a different part of the house. Perhaps if you seek higher ground?

Rose: Get laptop.

[Image description: Rose stands by the desk and captchalogues the laptop. It pops into the cards and they all shuffle around a little before settling into position with the laptop in the top card, the knitting bag in the lower left card and the violin in the lower right.]

You take your laptop and prepare to make the journey through the house.

L < V. L > K.

This causes the tree to be unbalanced, so your sylladex auto-balances itself. Now the laptop occupies the root card, while the other two items comprise the leaves.

K < L. V > L.

Rose: Examine book on desk.

[Image description: Rose holds the book, which is titled Grimoire for Summoning the Zoologically Dubious, which has a one-eyed monster with eight tentacles arranged in a wheel shape on the cover. Below the monster is a series of small bone and skull illustrations.]

This book is absolutely indispensable for enthusiasts of your ilk. Of which there are very few.

Rose: Take book.

[Image description: Rose captchalogues the grimoire, which shuffles down onto a leaf card below the knitting bag.]
You take the grimoire.

G < L, G < K.

Rose: Go explore the house.

[Image description: Rose stands in a hallway outside the door to her bedroom. On the wall nearby is a very intricate painting of a wizard with swirling clouds, planets, lighting, and a unicorn in the background. It looks just as tacky as it sounds. The frame it's in is equally tacky.]

You leave your bedroom.

Hanging just next to your door in the hallway is a painting of an exquisite wizard. Your mother collects these awful things ironically. She must know how much you detest them, and there is no doubt in your mind she stores these dreadful things in the house to bother you.

Down the hall to the right is the way to the observatory. Perhaps you will be able to connect from up there?

Your mother's room is also in that direction. You will have to watch your step.

Rose: Tiptoe to observatory.

[Image description: Rose stands in a different section of the hallway with the first tacky wizard still visible, though her bedroom door is now off screen. A wizard statue stands in the corner next to another tacky wizard painting in an ornate frame. A set of stairs descends off screen and a junction splits the hallway into two paths that both lead off screen.]

You approach a juncture in the hallway. Beyond the juncture is the observatory.

Next

[Image description: Rose presses herself against the wall and slowly inches towards the juncture. The other section of hallway is shrouded in shadow. Suddenly, lightning flashes and a silhouette of a woman is visible for just a fraction of a second.]

Rose: Sneak by.

[Image description: Rose dashes past the opening in a blur and freezes on the other side.]

Next

[Image description: Rose stands on the other side of the junction, where a painting of a wizard holding a staff and reaching for a phoenix hangs on the wall next to a black stain. On the opposite side of the tacky painting is a door with a label next to it that looks like a cartoon observatory telescope. And a wizard statue. A second image shows Rose standing right in front of the door.]

This door leads up to the observatory. You haven't ventured up there in quite some time.

Rose: Go through door.

[Image description: Rose stands on a narrow, outdoor walkway suspended a long way above the ground. She braces herself against the wind. At the other end of the walkway is a door.]

The door opens to an exterior walkway, leading to the observatory entrance.
You've seen less inclement weather before. Oh the things you'll do to help out a friend.

Rose: Hurry up to that observatory.

[Image description: Rose stands inside a round room with a domed roof. A large telescope takes up much of the room inside. A set of stairs leads downward, following the curve of the room.]

Rose: Try to connect!

[Image description: Rose takes the laptop out of the captchalogue. As she does, the other three cards flash and disappear, dropping the items on the ground]

You first put your laptop down on the floor to get it situated.

But removing it from the root card causes all the branches and leaves to be severed! Your items are dumped unceremoniously on the floor.

Rose: See what you can observe.

You're in a hurry, sure, but that doesn't mean you can't take a moment to peek through the huge telescope.

You find a gap in the clouds. It seems a flurry of smaller meteoroids is streaking steadily overhead. You're not sure what this means, but it is somewhat disconcerting.

Rose: Stack laptop on Grimoire to maximize elevation.

You'll need every advantage you can get.

Rose: Access laboratory wifi network.

SN_LAB 0413 - UNSECURED
SN_LAB 9687 - SECURED
SN_LAB 1802 - SECURED
SN_LAB 5565 - SECURED
Rose clicks SN_LAB 0413 and the list disappears. The sburb server screen reappears, now reading Lost connection with client.]
Reconnecting...
Server has established connection with client.
The screen fades to an image of John's bedroom with the row of icons across the top. John stands by his bed.]

There are several signals being broadcasted from the laboratory, each of relatively decent strength.
One of them is mysteriously and quite conveniently unsecured, requiring no password.
You select the signal, and reconnect to the game with John.

A wayward vagabond records a stuttering step in the sun-bleached dust.

Caveats and Condolences

I'd be inclined to dispense with the trite even under less pressing circumstances. Needless to say I'll forego the inscrutable ASCII banner which typically heralds the striking freefall of these documents. I'll also resist the urge to brandish any copyright marks, or the particular neurosis that concerns itself with the theft of the utterly mundane -- I'll allow other deranged prospectors to stake claims on their worthless plots as the woods burn around them. My introduction will be sparse. There will be no majestic prose blustering into the sails of a galleon as we embark on this voyage together. Nor will there be any hamfisted prose whipping its limbs under a bedsheet like a retarded ghost, for that matter. I won't set the stage, or dim the lights. The mood, you will see, will be set soon enough.

Since you are reading this, chances are you have installed this game on your computer already. If this is true, like many others, you have just participated in bringing about the end of the world.

But don't beat yourself up about it. There was never anything you could have done to prevent it. The end is happening right now, as I type, and as you read. I have come to understand that we were always doomed through our collective ignorance, and now further doomed by those few who know, and struggle to flee. If you're lucky, you'll be among the smaller subset of the latter who are successful.

What I mean is, while that game you installed is just one more grinding slab of rock sealing our planet's crypt, it is also your only hope to live. I'm presently faced with the same conundrum as you, and though I speak with more experience, my own outcome is far from assured. I will "play the game", as much of it as there is to play, and record my findings here. If you want to live, you will do as I instruct.

My condolences.

[Image description: The sound of a heartbeat plays. It pans over white silhouettes of John and the kernelsprite on a black background. It pans over Dad's office as the view of the yard outside the window fades to black. It pans over the fireplace as the fire burns out. It pans across John's bedroom as the view of the tree outside the window fades to black. The shadows deepen and a pair of menacing eyes fades into view under the bed. It pans over Dad in the kitchen as the view through the back door fades to black. Two pairs of eyes peer in. It cuts back to John and the kernelsprite on the balcony with the alchemiter. The sound changes to one of dry wind. The image slowly zooms out. John's house stands atop a tall spire of earth at least a hundred and fifty feet above the remnants of the neighborhood. Only it, the tree with the tire swing, and Dad's car survived the impact. The rest is a grey, ashy wasteland.

Next

[Image description: John stands on the balcony, the blue apple in his hand. It now has a bite taken out of it. The kernelsprite vibrates intensely next to him. Suddenly, the screen fades to black and the kernelsprite takes up the center of the screen. It pulses a few times, then the screen flashes white. When the white fades, the kernelsprite has split into three pieces. A blue harlequin head in the center, a grey harlequin head in a circle below, and a white harlequin head in a circle above. The grey harlequin head flies downward and pushes through the ash. The white harlequin head flies into the sky, leaving a trail of four pulsing blue spirographs in its wake.

The kernel divides. The two halves go their separate ways, leaving behind the sprite portion.

BOY.

[Image description: The blue harlequin head turns white, then pops into a new shape. It has the same head as before- the harlequin head missing one of the tips of its hat and a scar over it's eye, but it has an almost snake-like body that tapers to a tail. It has markings like a zigzag edged collar and three buttons down it's chest. Like the harlequin prototyped into it, it only has one arm. A second panel shows John staring at it.]
What is left of the sprite undergoes a mysterious transformation.

For a moment you thought you heard someone say "BOY", as if whispered in the periphery of your awareness.

It was probably just your imagination though.

[S] YOU THERE. BOY.

A white text box with a green outline appears across the middle of the screen. It reads To walk around, use the mouse, arrow keys, or WASD keys. Click on various objects to open command menus for them! Outstanding Flash programming by Alexis 'Gankro' Beingessner. It disappears when clicked.

Click the sprite
A black textbox appears that reads What's That

Click the message
It brings up a green and white text box that reads It looks different now.

After you bit that apple, your whole house seemed to be transported somewhere. Then the apple disappeared and the kernelsprite underwent a transformation. Aside from the change in appearance, the transformation doesn't seem to have any relevant ramifications. You still can't understand a word this idiot says.

Click the sprite
The ghost clown. Do something with it.

Click the message
The 'ghost clown' is called the kernelsprite! Or, rather just the sprite now, I suppose. You can't 'do something' with it at the moment! The only thing you can theoretically do with it is tier 2 prototype it, assuming that's still possible…

Click the sprite
Tier prototype the sprite, or the thing you said. Do it.

Click the message
You are not the one who is supposed to prototype it! The sburb server user is supposed to do that.

Click John
You there. Boy.

Click the message
What?

Click John
Boy. Listen to me, boy.

Click the message
His name is John, you nincompoop.

Click John
Boy who is John. Do as I say.

Click the message
What would you like 'boy who is John' to do?

Click John
Obey my commands, John boy.

Click the message
And those commands would be...?

Click John
I would like the boy to interact with his environment in a constructive manner.

Click the message
Maybe you should be a little more specific?

Click John
Have the boy assess his current situation.

Click the message
I'm afraid I can't 'Have the boy' do that. Tell him to do it yourself!

Click John
Very well.

Click the message

...?

Ok.

Click John
Next

Click the message
That instruction does not do anything at the moment!!!

Click John
Next

Click the message
Sigh. Could you please turn the controls over to a more competent user?

Click John
ASLFSAKLADAK

Click the message
Increasingly sophomoric.
Also, you almost spelled 'SALAD' in there.

Click the balcony railings
Peek over the railing.
Click the message
Getting close to the railing makes you a little nervous. It's a long way down.

Click the large alchemiter platform
This large platform. Good grief, what is it boy?

Click the message
The alchemiter created the apple, or the tree that sprouted it rather, right on time to save you from destruction. You're not sure if you can say the same for your neighborhood though.
You wonder what happened to your dad?

Click the cruxite dowel Examine the strange blue vase.

Click the message
It is the piece of cruxite you carved with the totem lathe.
When its contours were scanned, the alchemiter was able to produce that tree. How odd!

Click the door
Boy, open this door and walk through it.
The screen fades to black, then to an image of John standing in the hallway outside his bedroom.
The sprite still hovers behind John.

Click the door to John's bedroom.
Boy, go in here.
John stands in his bedroom. Something black is splattered across the bed and onto the floor. A speech bubble with an ellipsis flashes over his computer.

Click the little monsters poster on the wall to the left of the door Inspect this ghastly man and his boy.

Click the message
'Fred Savage has a punchable face' your ass! More like a talented young actor's face who you would want to hang out with if you got the chance, and also if he were not a fully grown man now. Anyway, the thought of monsters lurking in your house scares the shit out of you, which is why this movie is so awesome. But the fact that those monsters could also be your best friend is what makes it doubly awesome.

Click the Con Air poster
Is that John Cusack?

Click the message
Yeah, you guess so, but damn that door be coverin' up your man Cage something serious. That ain't cool!

Click the detached door
This door. Explain this.

Click the message
Rose sure did a number on your house. But you guess she did manage to save your life.
You guess.

Click the red box on the bed
Observe this box.
Click the message
The bunny is not in the box.
I said, the bunny is not in the box.
Why couldn't the bunny be in the box?

Click the ghostbusters poster
Armed foes of the deceased?

Click the message
Most people say the second one was not as great as the first, but you feel just the opposite. It was really cool and sort of gross how they hosed each other down with slime that made people angry. TG refers to the film as 'nasty manbro bukkake theater', whatever the hell that means.

Click the Mac and Me poster
Marvel at this adventure in outer space.

Click the message
This movie is...
Ok, this movie is really bad. Not even you can defend it. You've been meaning to take this poster down, actually.

Use the arrow keys to move John towards the right, further into the room.

Click the window
Boy, look through this window.
An image appears of the remnants of the front yard. The tire swing hangs from the tree, but the yard is rifted in two and there is nothing but blackness beyond the end of the driveway. The mailbox just barely clings to the edge of the platform.

Click anywhere
It brings up a green and white text box that reads
At least your tire swing remains unmolested. A tree without a tire swing is like...
Like a house without a surrounding neighborhood, you guess.
Clicking the message causes the scene to return to John's room.

Click the towel on the floor
Acquire this small persian rug.

Click the message
It's a towel, dumbass! It will probably come in handy for cleaning up this weird mess in your room. Not that it's a huge priority, though.

Use the arrow keys to move John towards the right, further into the room.

Click the totem lathe
This huge sewing machine. Of what use is it.

Click the message
The punch card seemed to contain the instructions for carving a totem of a certain shape. You guess maybe other punch cards will produce different shapes? It bears further exploration.

Click the Wise Guy book on the floor
This funnyman text. You should ignore it.

Click the message
Just looking at the cover cracks you up! What a great book. Harry Anderson is your hero, and Mike Caveney's glowing treatment of the man does him every bit of justice. You'll have to give this another read soon.

Use the arrow keys to move John towards the left, towards the door.

Click the computer
Investigate this device.
John's computer screen appears. The pesterchum client is open as well as a chat with tentacleTherapist. The chat reads tentacleTherapist: John?

Are you there?

Click anywhere.
It seems you are still connected to the internet. Rose is trying to get in touch with you. You will reply in a moment, once you have fully assessed your situation.

Click the black splatter on the floor Examine this unpleasant fluid.

Click the message
What is this stuff?

Click the doorway
Go out of the door that is not here.
John stands in the hallway again.

Click the poster of the beaglepussed man on the wall
That man with the humorous spectacles. Admire him.

Click the message
Oh, Michael Cera. Your warm smile is a shining beacon in these dark times.

Click the junction in the hallway.
What is down here. Proceed, boy.
John now stands in the section of the hallway with the bathroom and Dad's bedroom.

Click the poster on the wall at the end of the corridor
I am not fond of this smug fellow.

Click the message
The man. The myth. The legend.
What do you have up your sleeve there, Anderson?
Look at that poker face. He's not telling a soul!

Click the door on the left-hand wall
Go in there now.
John stands in the bathroom that Rose poorly reconstructed.

Click the bathtub or the toilet.
Your plumbing appears faulty.

Click the message
Man, Rose did such a piss-poor job of fixing the bathroom. It would almost certainly be a mistake to try to use the toilet!
You guess you could just go pee over the edge of the cliff...

Click the window
Peer through that window.
It show's John's backyard. The swingset only partially hangs on to the ground- the rest dangles over the cliff. The pogo bouncer still has the cake and fake arm from the toilet on top of it.

Click anywhere.
It brings up a green and white text box that reads
At least your back yard was salvaged too.
Sort of.

Click the arrow where the door would be.
Leave at once.
John stands in the hallway again.

Click the door on the right-hand wall.
Open this.

Click the message
Your dad's room is still locked!!!

Click the arrow that leads back towards the other section of the hallway.
No go back.
John stands in the hall outside his room again.

Use the arrow keys to move John towards the right, towards the stairway.

Click the first garish clown painting.
I detest this! Disregard it?
Click the message
The harlequin painting?
You have the sentiment in common with John then, I suppose.

Use the arrow keys to go downstairs.

Click the second garish clown painting.
Vile. Pay no mind to this filth.

Click the message
What is he even doing there? Playing with a ball or something?
Clowns are stupid.

Click the third garish clown painting.
No no no no. Keep moving.

Click the message
Believe me, you have no intention of turning your head to observe this dreadful thing.

Go stand in the living room.

Click the harlequin statue that is the base of a lamp.
Why does this small man stand here?

Click the message
This harlequin is always ready to serve you with illumination, whether you're reading a book, or just enjoying a nice pipe.

Click the pie tin and sliced off tip of the harlequin doll's hat.
A small dessert tray? Useless.

Click the message
In retrospect, it was pretty funny when your dad pied you like that. Gotcha'd again by the old man!

Click the harlequin bust on the floor, the one that used to stand on the pedestal John used to reach the lid of the cruxtruder.
What is the meaning of this rubbish.

Click the message
Ok, even you have to admit. This one's pretty funny!
Hehehehe!

Click the cruxtruder lid that sits on the pedestal.
Use this to reseal that opening there.

Click the message
If only putting the lid back on the cruxtruder would undo all it's done. Alas, Pandora's Tube has been opened.

Click the cruxtruder that blocks the door
Move this absurd edifice and exit your house, boy.

Click the message
This thing weighs a ton! You'd honestly be surprised if the game cursor could lift it, or at least not without a significant expense of grist.
Of all the places for rose to drop the infernal thing. More than ever you feel... What's the word you're looking for? Of course. Housetrapped.

Go to the fireplace.

Click the curio cabinet.
Destroy these diminutive soldiers of merriment.

Click the message
It hardly seems worth it to go to the bother.
You doubt you could get much for them at a garage sale even. Maybe a grubby palm of pennies and a kick in the nuts for the whole lot of 'em.

Click the fire pokers.
Wield these instruments of combat.

Click the message
Any one of these things would make a fine weapon. If only your strife specibus wasn't already allocated. Oh well.

Click the garish painting on the wall above the pokers.
Ugh, no.

Click the message
So coy. So mysterious.
Click the urn of ashes on the mantle.
Topple this urn immediately.

Click the message
That would be disrespectful to your Nanna! You just won't do it!! Or not intentionally at least!!!
You consider that it is fortunate she is no longer around to witness this sorrow. On the other hand, you would probably benefit from her elderly wisdom now...

Click the extinguished fire.
Stow lump of soot for future use, boy.

Click the message
That stuff is really dirty and you don't want it!
Besides, you have it on good authority that a significant portion of it is comprised of asbestos.

Click the right hand door, which leads to the study.
Here boy. In here.

John stands in the study, next to the cards he never picked up after his solo game of 52 pickup.

Click the large poster of people near a pool.
Inspect this merry band of performers.

Click the message
Cirque du soleil once filed a restraining order against your father. You were never so embarrassed in your life.

Click the cards on the floor
This is a mess, boy.

Click the message
You're so glad your dad wasn't watching when you did this. He never would have let you hear the end of it.

Click the can of peanuts on the desk Consume nut.

Click the message
You would, but you're not sure if this dark realm has any hospitals.

Move to the right, further into the room.

Click the magazine on the desk.
Read unpleasant literature.

Click the message
It shifts to an image of the magazine cover, titled The Serious Jester. Three people in intricate jester costumes and masks are on the cover.
Click anywhere.
Serious jester magazine.
For those for whom clowning around is serious business.
Clicking returns the scene to the office.

Click the hat rack Disregard this nonsense.
Click the message
Your dad used this stuff sometimes to dazzle you with his silly vaudevillian escapades. Really, you couldn't roll your eyes hard enough at his corny act.

Click the piano.
Operate this instrument.
Sheet music for Showtime, Haunting piano refrain appears on screen and Showtime (Piano Refrain) begins playing.

Click anywhere.
It brings up a green and white text box that reads
You play your favorite haunting refrain.
Clicking returns the scene to the office, but the music continues.

Click the pipe to the left on top of the piano
Is this tobacco burning apparatus?

Click the message
Yuck. You still have pipe-taste in your mouth.

Click the statue in the middle on top of the piano
Throw this ugly thing out the window.

Click the message
You will not do that intentionally!
You only resort to throwing stuff out the window via sylladex mismanagement.

Click the Joker statue to the right on top of the piano
It has a knife. Be alarmed by this.

Click the message
R.I.P. Ledger.

Click the poster of the boy in the Jester's hat.
This man is an imbecile. Ignore him.

Click the message
He's alright. Looks like he doesn't take himself too seriously, and knows how to have a good time. You can only assume your dad hung it crooked to make it look more 'whimsical'.

Click the window
Look here.
The scene changes to the view out the window, which is nothing but ash-filled wasteland and a small strip of the yard.

Click anywhere
It's dark out there. Can't see anything for miles.

Click the safe
Open this iron vault, boy.

Click the message
You don't know the combination!!!

Click the statue on top of the safe
Seek the riches he guards below.

Click the message
This one offers a friendly wave.
But yeah, this is really just another stupid piece of shit.

Click the painting of the man in the complicated costume above the safe
I see treachery in his eyes.

Click the message
Oh, he doesn't look so bad.

Click the door.
Return to the large room with the gross paintings.

John stands in the living room again.

Click the left hand doors, which lead to the kitchen.
This way. Through the doors like you see in a cowboy saloon.

John stands in the kitchen. It's a complete mess. Black stuff is splattered across the floor and back door, and Dad's mixing bowl lays abandoned on the floor. In addition to the section of the kitchen previously shown, a china cabinet with dishes and game boxes inside, and potted plant are on screen.

Click the potted plant.
Sniff vegetable.

Click the message
Doesn't smell like anything.

Click on Colonel Sassacre's book.
This book is too big for a young stupid boy.

Click the message
Colonel Sassacre's is your favorite book! Almost as favorite as Wise Guy! They are both your favoritest of all time!

Go to the far left corner of the room, where a box of Betty Crocker Cake Mix sits on the counter.
Click that box.
Sample powdered uncooked dessert.

Click the message
Back ye miserable wench! Stay thy choking airborne particulates of temptation!!!

Click the drawing on the fridge.
Examine this artwork.

It zooms in on a crude drawing of a slime creature, which is stuck to the door with a purple harlequin head magnet.

Click anywhere
Your dad was so proud when you drew this. He hung it up immediately and it's stayed there ever since.
That was one week ago.
Clicking again returns the scene to the kitchen.

Click the bowl on the floor
Peek in bowl of goo.

Click the message
Wherever your dad went, he seems to have left in a hurry.
For all his absurdities you have to put up with, you sure wish he were here right now.

Click the telephone on the wall
This is a telephone, boy. Use it.

Click the message
The phone doesn't work!

Click the black splat on the floor Examine this smeared substance.

John stares quizzically at his finger, which he apparently dipped in the strange black substance.
Click anywhere.
Is this...
Oil?
You wonder what happened in here. Where's your dad?
Clicking again returns to the kitchen.

Click the china cabinet.
Plunder chest.

Click the message
Would you like to play a game?

Click the door
Open this door now.

John stands in the utility room.

Click the washer and dryer to the left.
This is no time for laundry.

Click the message
You're right. Thank you for being sensible about it.

Click the cabinets to your right
Open these and rifle through them for goods.

Click the message
You don't give a shit about what's in there! Probably nothing you'd be inclined to use now anyway.

Click the door to the upper right Exit, boy.

John stands in the backyard, near the cake-covered pogo bouncer. Broken wires lead to the edge of the cliff and spark occasionally.

Click the box the cables lead to.
Admire this wall-mounted gadget.

Click the message
Through some mysterious force, your house still seems to be powered, even though the wires are severed. Quite bizarre.

Click the sparking wires
Fiddle with the bright sparkly things.

Click the message
That sounds incredibly dangerous! John sensibly disregards your awful advice.

Click the pogo bouncer.
Ponder lawn amusement.

Click the message
Your childhood nemesis, the spring-mounted pogo-ride, sadly was not swallowed by the void. It will have to wait another day for its comeuppance.

Click the busted swing
Boy, engage this mangled trapeze-display.

Click the message
Looks like your swing set is toast. You relive fond memories in a moment of sorrow.

Go right. The handcuffs hang from a tree branch. Click them.
Claim the dangling tree-bauble.

Click the message
The trick handcuffs are still there! Thank god.
And no, you are not about to try to 'claim' them just now.

Trickster mode activated.

John turns upside down and becomes very blurred and mostly transparent. Hovering above him is a version of him with a mischievous expression on his face, blue clothes, pink shoes, a pink slime on his shirt, and a pink lollipop in his hair. Next to him is a black and white rendering of Andrew Hussie's face. Now you can walk through scenery because tricksters don't follow the laws of physics or flash animations.

Stand by the front door and head upwards, climbing up to the chimney
Text hovering above the chimney reads This is not safe

Click the top of the chimney
Shenanigans

Upside Down John, Andrew Hussie, and Trickster John now stand in a small office with a desk, a window, and a safe. On the wall is an image of a pumpkin.

Click the desk.
Make desk into fort and visit imagination land!

Click the message
Wow...
...So like... Where can I get some of YOUR drugs?

Click the window.

Two options appear.

Option 1: Unplug window

Click the message
...It's a window...

Option 2: Pick up window

Click the message
That is so infeasable it hurts me.

Click the pumpkin
Woah, what? This is the pumpkin? Holyshitholyshitholyshit!!!!!!!1111

Click the message
No it's pumpkin shaped graffiti...

Game dev facts:
all elements (but the pumpkin) drawn by andrew hussie in photoshop, imported and subsequently vectorized, organized, named, and scripted by alexis 'gankro' beingessner... Who is a guy... 148 Objects, 538 lines, 140 bitmaps, 9 souls, 2 pumpkins, this line of code is 16732 characters...

Click the safe.

Three options appear.

Option 1: Retrieve arms from safe.

Click the message
You already have arms stupid!

Option 2: Shoot safe

Click the message
With what?

Option 3: Open safe

This option returns John to the backyard

Go to the top right corner of the scene.
Upside down text reads Gankro was not here

Go to the left side of the screen.
Pumpkin graffiti is on the wall beneath a window.
A series of dots and dashes is cut into the grass.
Dash Dash Dash Dash Dash.
Dot Dot Dash Dash Dash.
Dot Dot Dot Dot Dash.
Dash Dash Dash Dash Dot.
Dot Dash Dash Dash Dash.
Dot Dot Dot Dash Dash. which is morse code for 024913
This code will come in handy later in the comic.

You can continue to wander around and click things all you want, but this concludes every unique option in this flash.]

Boy, quit all this scurrying around.

[Image description: John stares directly out from the screen, blinking every now and then.]
For the last time, this boy's name is John!!!

[Image description: John stands in his bedroom, next to his bed and the black oil splatter. The alert is still above his computer.]

You go back up to your bedroom, tiptoeing around this weird petroleum-based sludge.

Now John. Respond to your friend unit.

[Image description: John sits at his computer, tapping at the keyboard.]

pesterlog
tentacleTherapist: John?
Are you there?
-- tentacleTherapist [TT] is now an idle chum! -- ectoBiologist: hey, yeah i'm here!
and not dead i think.
tentacleTherapist: I know.
I've been watching you scramble through the house like a lunatic.
You should have answered me sooner.
ectoBiologist: oh man, sorry, i was looking around for my dad and i can't find him anywhere!
have you seen him?
tentacleTherapist: No. I'm sure he'll turn up.
We have more important things to address right now.
ectoBiologist: yeah, like where am i?? tentacleTherapist: I don't know that either. But I've determined your neighborhood was destroyed by the meteor. Wherever you were transported, it saved you from the impact.
I've been reading reports in the news. Over the last few days, there have been many smaller meteor collisions with people's homes around the world.
tentacleTherapist: And they seem to be getting bigger. Yours was the biggest they've identified so far.
ectoBiologist: wow, ok.
so then i guess if this is all the game's doing, then the point is for us to save the world?
tentacleTherapist: Perhaps.
ectoBiologist: then we'd better get moving and figure this game out!!! tentacleTherapist: Yes, but wait. We should retrieve your PDA. Yet again. It will help to keep tabs on each other while you investigate. I think I can get you closer to it, if I can replenish our grist supply somewhat. There may be a way to recycle some that we already used.

tentacleTherapist: I'll meet you out on the balcony.

tentacleTherapist: I was working on something to send you, but I was running late with it. I didn't want you to think I believed meager well wishes alone would suffice for the occasion.

tentacleTherapist: That said, happy birthday, John.

ectoBiologist: haha, oh jeez, that is silly! anyway, thanks!

First, take the fabric item on the floor there.

[Image description: John stands by the towel and captchalogues it. The sylladex is pink, meaning it's in Stack mode.]

The towel? Why?

Oh well, you're the boss. You captchologue the towel. What now?

Do as the purple text says. To the balcony.

[Image description: John and the sprite stand by the alchemiter.]

John makes his way to the balcony per your awkwardly-worded request.

Wait. Take that. The blue wobbly thing.

You whimsically decide to captchologue the totem which was used to create the apple tree earlier.

John. Recycle the grist as was dictated by your cohort.

John cannot do anything with the grist as of this moment! That is up to the sburb player.

I see. Next

[Image description: The menu Rose stored the Perfectly Generic Objects in appears. Rose clicks a small trash can in the corner of it's slot and they disappear in a small blue burst.]

Yes, that will suffice.

Rose deletes the perfectly generic objects. 6 Units of build grist are restored to your grist cache.

Next
Rose expends the grist to drag a new plank from the balcony in the direction of the pda.

John runs across precarious platform swiftly.

John isn't sure about that. It's a long way down.

Boy I said make haste on the narrow catwalk!

John is very nervous about the idea, and the strident tone of your commands is starting to make him a little upset!

Fine. Proceed as your level of comfort dictates.

You cautiously walk within range of the pda. Rose retrieves it.

You grab the pda, launching one of the harlequin figurines into the night.

You can kiss that one goodbye.

tentacleTherapist: John, are you ok? You seem a bit tentative.
ectoBiologist: I'm fine I guess. Since I got here I feel compelled to do these weird things I don't really want to do. By some kind of voice that I can't really even hear. I don't know, it is hard to explain.
tentacleTherapist: Perhaps the early symptoms of an anxiety disorder, like post-traumatic stress?
ectoBiologist: Yeah, maybe. Who knows!
tentacleTherapist: Well, if you can pull yourself together, there are a few more things we should try. Like prototyping the Kernelsprite again, if possible. We should hurry. My laptop battery won't last forever.
ectoBiologist: Ok. I will go back inside.

No don't do that. Hop off this ledge on to that car.

[Image description: John stands about halfway down the path, frowning at the car. The sprite hovers just below him.]

What? No! That sounds incredibly dangerous!

[Image description: The image returns to the Wayward Vagabond in the desert. The white cylinder with the spirograph on it is now open, revealing a ladder leading down.]

An unsealed tunnel welcomes hot desert air into its stagnant depths.

[Image description: The sentence is a link to a new set of images. It shows the ladder from the perspective of someone descending it. It shows the inside of the structure, which is made of many] metal panels riveted together. At the base of the ladder, a small pile of sand sits in a circle of sunlight. Many cables are strung around the room, though their purpose is unknown. The wayward vagabond walks through the room, past two purple machines with white spirographs on them. The right hand one has a red bar on it that's about a fifth full, possibly a battery indicator. Wayward Vagabond blinks up at a set of four screens in a square within a house shaped case. The screens are each about the same height as the wayward vagabond. In the top right corner, the screen shows John's house on its spire and a smaller image of John holding the apple just after he took a bite. Wayward Vagabond takes the keyboard and types

Boy.
You there. Boy.]

An Examination of the Basics

Upon connecting with the client user, you, the server user, will be met with a control panel allowing you to manipulate your co-player's environment. You will find that you are allowed to deploy four items at no expense. Three of these are rather large machines, and one is a punch card.

It's quite possible that you have already deployed some of these items before reading this. If this is the case, and you have activated the machine called the "cruxtruder" such that it displays a countdown, you must proceed to section a100 of this walkthrough immediately. The life of the client user depends on it, and if your co-player has activated this device in your environment too, then yours does as well.

But if not, please refrain from doing anything with the cruxtruder, aside from merely deploying it. This will buy us some time to think things through properly, and to go over the basics of the game before you find your soft, easily-punctured head in the jaws of the lion.

As mentioned, there are four items to consider, each playing a role in a process which appears to have a singular purpose: to manufacture objects out of thin air. The designers of the game, judging by the language used, regard this process as a sort of alchemy. This may allude to complexities in the production process yet to present themselves. But for now, the variety of objects you are able to create remains quite limited.

The items in question are the cruxtruder (again, tread lightly with this one), the totem lathe, the alchemiter, and the pre-punched card. I will describe how these devices work in conjunction with each other, and I will use the analogy of having a key made at a hardware store to help you understand.

First, deploy all of these objects in convenient proximity to each other. Be sure not to block doors or pathways with them. You can always "revise" the dimensions of rooms to make space for them, but I'd advise against this, or even experimenting with the function. Doing so comes at the expense of "build grist", a commodity which appears to be at a premium at the onset, and one you'd best be advised to save for later.

The cruxtruder

Removing the lid signals the moment your life becomes a great whirling batshit pandemonium, somewhat resembling the chaos of an especially ethnic wedding. Somewhere, a soused uncle deliberately shatters china on the floor. Muddy livestock is decorated, and then lost track of. The question "Who's mule is this?" at times can be heard over the din. This is now your reality.

But aside from that, it marks the beginning of the process I am about to describe. The countdown begins, yes. Also, an entity called the "Kernelsprite" is released. But neither of these things are all that relevant to this process, to my knowledge. More on these things later.

What is relevant is the un-lidded cruxtruder's ability to dispense "cruxite dowels". It will dispense at least one, though I suspect it is capable of producing more, given parameters I'm not yet familiar with. In my key-making analogy, these dowels represent the uncarved pieces of metal which the hardware store employee retrieves from a drawer or a rack, and sets about carving into a key. The two following items are needed to do the carving.

The pre-punched card

It is a simple sylladex card containing an item. There is evidence to suggest the specific item it contains is variable from session-to-session. The card I deployed contained a blue apple. Yours may be different. It shouldn't matter, hopefully.

Additionally, the card as you may guess is "punched", like one used with antique computing systems. The pattern of holes comprises data, which I believe corresponds to the instructions for creating the item the card contains. That it is "pre-punched" suggests there is a way to punch an un-punched card, possibly imprinting it with the data for the item it contains, though no mechanism for this has presented itself yet.

But the data on the card cannot be used to create the item directly. There is a middleman. That middleman is the totem lathe.

The totem lathe

This is essentially the key carving machine. It will carve into your cruxite dowel a pattern of grooves and contours, the sort which makes a key unique. The instructions for this pattern are supplied by the punch card, which is inserted into the lathe pre-activation to configure its chisels.

Once the dowel is carved, you have a totem serving as your "key", which can then be used to "unlock" the card item through the alchemiter. But at this point, I will diverge from my key-making analogy and switch to a bar code analogy. Which is not a terribly strenuous leap to make, since the concepts of a key and a bar code are essentially the same - one being a unique pattern of grooves; the other, of varying black lines.

The alchemiter

If you place a cruxite dowel, carved or uncarved, on the alchemiter's small pedestal, its robotic arm will scan the contours with a laser. Hence the bar code analogy. This is the machine's way of reading the data originally imprinted from the card, and transforming that data into a physical object.

Though typically, this is not done without expense, I believe. An uncarved dowel results in the creation of a "perfectly generic object", which is a seemingly useless green cube. It costs two units of build grist to make, and I do not advise you to waste resources on it. There appears to be many other varieties of grist, ostensibly used in combinations to create different sorts of items, which possibly offers some insight into the game's use of the term "alchemy".

But quite conveniently, there is an exception to this. Creating the item on the pre-punched card costs nothing. This is good, because creating this item turns out to be essential.
Now that you know this, you can in your own time begin the process. Once you initiate it, naturally there is no going back, so best to be prepared. But you probably shouldn't drag your feet too long. As I mentioned earlier, this is your only means of escape.

When you're ready, be prepared to follow the steps in the next section swiftly.

[A100] So your cruxtruder is ticking. Do this to live.

[Image description: Rose stands in front of her laptop in the observatory. The laptop is still set on top of the grimoire and the violin and knitting bag still sit on the floor.]

Your laptop is out of battery power. There's only one thing left to do. Time to make your way to that backup generator.

Rose: knit laptop cozy to shield your laptop from the rain.

That would be such a waste of time!
Besides, you already knitted one a while ago. You retrieve it from your knitting bag and apply it to your laptop.

You captchalogue the laptop plus cozy.
Rose: equip grimoire to strife specibus.

[Image description: A cursor drags the grimoire towards a grey strife specibus card, but as it gets there, screaming skulls appear on the card and blood spatter covers the background.]

That would be incredibly ill-advised!

There are some dark forces you just don't want to mess around with. You understand this better than most.

You put the book down.

Rose: recaptchalogue your items!

[Image description: Rose captchalogue the grimoire and the knitting bag and her captchalogue cards shuffle around. Now the knitting bag is in the top card, the grimoire in the bottom left, and the laptop in the bottom right. The violin is still on the ground.]

You grab the knitting bag and the grimoire, in that order. It's always a logistical puzzle with your tree modus.
The tree auto-balances, leaving the knitting bag accessible in the root card.

Rose: allocate knitting needles to strife specibus.

[Image description: A cursor drags the knitting bag to the strife specibus card. It turns green and the text Needle kind appears at the bottom. A black outline of knitting needles appears in the largest section of the card and the bottom rectangle shows the knitting bag.]

You feel a lot more comfortable with this as a weapon. You're so handy with those needles, you feel like you could probably use them to filet a swordfish.

Next

[Image description: The top card with the knitting bag in it flashes, then disappears. Rose dashes forward and catches the laptop and grimoire before they can fall on the ground.]

You lose the root card in the process, severing the tree.

Hey, careful with all that stuff!

Rose: knit plush cuddle-cthulhu to soothe nerves.

That would also be a preposterous waste of time!!!

Besides, you're quite sure you've never heard of this creature called "cthulhu" before. There are however many other specimens of the zoologically dubious you're familiar with.

Such as...

Rose: consult the grimoire.

Fluthlu, foul patrician of misery. To hear his mammoth belly gurgle is to know the epoch of joy has come to an abrupt end.

And nrub'yiglith, shamebeast king of grotesquery, writhe-lord of the moist beyondhood. Hearing his melodious chirps and tongue-clicks causes one's bones to explode.

Next

[Image description: Another page of the grimoire appears, this one for Oglogoth. It has many tentacles arranged in a circle around a round body. It has a large mouth on its 'forehead' and a large eye where a nose would be. On either side of the large eye are two smaller eyes. Below them is a] small mouth. Off to the side, it shows Nrub'yiglith for scale. Nrub'yiglith is about as wide as three of Oglogoth's teeth.

And of course there's oglogoth, the deep one. Whenever he grinds his teeth, all the children of a random galaxy somewhere will frown continuously for a nine thousand year span. He is the first and smallest of the smaller gods, appointed in servitude of a vile, unfathomable pantheon of middling gods which caters to the whims of the noble circle of horrorterrors, an omniscient, omnipotent order of the elite few, forever cloaked in the darkness of the furthest ring.

Next

[Image description: A page shows several different styles of windows. The top one has a power cord coming out of it for some reason.]

And then there's this strange page containing some rather mysterious notes on summoning procedures. You've never been quite sure what these diagrams are getting at.

Rose: take items and proceed downstairs.

You re-captchalogue everything the way you want it to appear in the tree, and head downstairs.

You figure that's enough dilly-dallying. Time to get a move on!

Surely your mother is lurking nearby. You should be prepared for an unpleasant confron...
What??

There's this really cool dude, ok? He's standing around being all chill, like cool dudes are known to do sometimes. A cool dude like this probably has a real cool name. But he probably wouldn't just tell you what it was if you asked. He'd be way too busy for that. Busy being totally sweet.

But you could always try to guess his name. And if you were right, he might nod ever so slightly. That's a cool dude's way of letting you know there might just be hope for you yet.

Enter name.

This guy doesn't have time for this sort of bullshit.

Try again.

Examine room.

Your name is Dave. It is an unseasonably warm April day. Your bedroom window is open to let some air in, and your fan is cranked. Arguably even more cranked would be your fly beats, which brings us to your variety of interests. A cool dude like you is sure to have plenty. You have a penchant for spinning out unbelievably ill jams with your turntables and mixing gear. You like to rave about bands no one's ever heard of but you. You collect weird dead things preserved in various ways. You are an amateur photographer and operate your own makeshift darkroom. You maintain a number of ironically humorous blogs, websites, and social networking profiles. And if the inspiration strikes, you won't hesitate to drop some phat rhymes on a mofo and represent.

What will you do?

Dave: quickly retrieve arms from cinderblocks. which means it is the host-side disk. Both envelopes have Dave written on them in red ink.]

Nah.

Dave: get the damn beta and save your friend's life!

[Image description: It zooms in on Dave and the envelopes.]

This notion strikes you as nonsensical. You can't imagine how a video game could save someone's life, and in any case, you're quite sure no one you know is in any danger.

Anyway, these are your copies of the beta you received in the mail recently. You've labeled them with your name in bold red print to distinguish them from your bro's copies, who labeled his in kind. Neither of you really gives a shit about this game or has any intention of playing it, but you'll be damned if you'll let that get in the way of your campaign of one-upmanship.

Dave: bleat like a goat and piss on your turntable.

[Image description: Dave slowly turns to look at the turntables.]

You would never consider allowing any fluid even remotely resembling urine to touch your beloved turntables. That would risk breaking them, and a world without the gift of your godly science just doesn't sound like a place you want any part of. While you're at it, you might as well wipe out human civilization with a meteor or something ridiculous like that which will probably never happen.

That sort of thing only happens in stupid idiot movies for stupid idiots.

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Dave's face. He holds his hand to his chin ponderously. In a thought bubble, a drawing of a goat vibrates faintly.]

You will however contemplate bleating like a goat for ironically humorous purposes at a later date.

Dave: examine closet.

[Image description: Dave stands by the closet.]

This is your closet. This is where you keep a lot of your crap.

Like that box. And that bottle of... What is that?

Is that...?

Dave: check the blue box.

This is the package that your friend John Egbert sent you for your 13th birthday a little while ago. It now contains nothing except a note and a certificate of authenticity vouching for the genuine hollywood memorabilia which the box originally contained, and which you are now wearing to be ironic but also to be incredibly cool in a way somehow intangibly related to the ironic nature of the accessory. You find it sort of exasperating to explain these subtleties to people.
The box also included a signed photo of Ben Stiller which now proudly hangs above your closet. Proudly and ironically.

Dave: take box.

[Image description: Dave takes the box. A yellow captchalogue deck with ten cards numbered 0 through 9 appears. The cards also appear in a line down the left side of the screen. A card that looks like an exceptionally wide captchalogue card appears at the top of the screen. It is labeled Hash Function. The word BOX appears in the card. B and X turn blue while the O turns red. Below each letter, a number appears. B=2 O=1 X=2. Underneath that, 2 + 1 + 2 = 5 appears. Underneath that, it reads (divided by) 10 = (remainder) 5

You captchalogue the box through your hash map fetch modus.

Your modus's current hash function resolves the index by valuing each consonant at 2, and each vowel at 1. The total is divided by your number of cards, and the remainder is the index.

Box = 2 + 1 + 2 = 5
5 (divided by) 10 = (remainder) 5
The box is captchalogue in card 5.

Dave: examine jar of unknown yellow substance in the closet.

[Image description: The yellow bottle appears. It turns so the label faces outwards and the background changes to alternating wedges of red and yellow.

Oh hell yes. It is an unopened container of apple juice. You thought you were all out. It is like fucking christmas up in here.

This is so great. You've got to tell John about this immediately. He'll be so excited.

Dave: take juice.

[Image description: The hash function reappears.

J=2 U=1 I=1 C=2 E=1

You captchalogue the juice into card 7.

2+1+1+2+1 (divided by) 10 = (remainder) 7.

Dave: access pesterchum and pester John.

[Image description: Dave sits at the computer, which is at the desk with all the electronic equipment. On the desk are two different editions of GameBro magazine.]
In addition to letting your buddy know about this outstanding juice windfall, you figure you'll wish him a happy birthday while you're at it. In your own cool, sort of roundabout way of course. Good thing you looked at that box he sent you, or you might have forgotten.

You also might as well ask him about that beta. The kid's been harping about it for weeks. It would be cool if it came on his birthday. He'd be one happy camper.

In the bottom right corner is an icon that looks like the head and shoulders of a man with a blank expression. The man is on fire. This is labeled Hephaestus. To the left of Hephaestus is a red folder labeled Dope Rhymes. So Dope. The top right corner has the pesterchum icon, but it is rendered to look more three dimensional than the original. turntech Godhead: hey so what sort of insane loot did you rake in today tectoBiologist: i got a little monsters poster, it's so awesome. i'm going to watch it again today, the applejuice scene was so funny.
turntech Godhead: oh hell that is such a coincidence i just found an unopened container of apple juice in my closet it is like fucking christmas up in here tectoBiologist: ok thats fine, but i just have one question and then a word of caution. have you ever seen a movie called little monsters starring howie mandel and fred savage?
turntech Godhead: but the seal on the bottle is unbroken are you suggesting someone put piss in my apple juice at the factory ectoBiologist: all im saying is don't you think monster howie mandel has the power to do something as simple as reseal a bottle?
try using your brain numbnuts.
turntech Godhead: why did the fat kid or whoever drank it know what piss tasted like
i mean his reaction was nigh instantaneous
ectoBiologist: it was the 15th day in a row howie mandel peed in his juice.
turntech Godhead: ok i can accept that monster B-list celebrity douchebags are cunning and persistent pranksters also fred savage has a really punchable face
but who cares about this lets stop talking about it
did you get the beta yet ectoBiologist: no.
did you?
turntech Godhead: man i got two copies already but i dont care im not going to play it or anything the game sounds boring did you see how it got slammed in game bro????
ectoBiologist: game bro is a joke and we both know it.
turntech Godhead: yeah
why dont you go check your mail maybe its there now ectoBiologist: alright.

The article reads
sweet bro's hella blog review of gamebro's march issue - March 13, 2009
oh man
when this heady volume of unabridged awesome hit my doorstep it made a sort of thunderclap, like the kind im sure moses heard when god dropped stone tablets containing a review of a game involving the ambiguous marriage of insane stunts and extreme hunger management solutions for dudes on the go. it's like you see that little bag of chips there? you just grab it and go bro, and keep thrashing shit up.
i am so "hella pumped of" this. there are some obvious questions. like just HOW outrageous are these snacks? Will popular beverages play a role, and how critical will they be in your quest to attain absolute sweetness? Will this game land in the coveted but elusive 5 hats out of 5 hats?

To the right of the article is a picture of the cover. It reads GameBro in large blue letters at the top and has several motion-blurred images of people on skateboards eating doritos, pringles, and frito lays chips. Text off to the side of the picture reads Grand Snack Fuckyeah.]

You open the hephaestus web browser and direct it to your ironically maintained blog where you post monthly satirical reviews of gamebro magazine. Your latest post is a review of the march issue.

You've been meaning to write a review for the latest issue too, but you've been sort of dogging it. Something about the game they're reviewing just doesn't strike you as ripe for satirical purposes.

Next

[Image description: The website on the screen changes to sweetbroandhellajeff.com, which looks like the biggest clusterfuck of a website the internet has ever seen. It's like the visual equivalent of nails on a chalkboard. The font for the entire website is comic sans.

The navigation for the website consists of four buttons

Next comic backwards, with backwards crossed out and First written over it in all caps.
Next comic backwards
Next ……. comic
Next ……. Comic, with next crossed out and Newest written over it in all caps.

It shows the top two panels of a crudely drawn SBaHJ comic.

In a new tab you open another one of your sites, a webcomic ironically maintained through a satirical cipher vaguely similar to that of your blog. It's called sweet bro and hella jeff.

You have legions of devoted fans, most of whom are totally convinced of your creative persona's sincerity. Which is just how you like it.

[Note: the words sweet bro and hella jeff are a link to the actual website for the SBaHJ comic with the page for the comic partially shown here. The comic is Sweet Bro, a disproportionate man in a red shirt, walks down a hallway with a pile of scribbles in his hands.
"I can't wait to be a useless piece of shit all day and play all these games"
The next panel shows him falling down a set of stairs.
"Fuck, I'm falling down all these stairs.............."
Hella Jeff, a stupid-faced man in a blue shirt has an uncomfortable close up.
"I warned you about stairs bro!!!!
I told you dog!"
Sweet Bro falls down the stairs in a slightly different position.
"It keeps happening"
It shows 25 miniaturized versions of the first panel where Sweet Bro falls.
The last panel is an even more uncomfortably close image of Hella Jeff. The text is right on his face.
"I told you man
I told you about stairs!"]

Dave: check the latest page of the midnight crew.

[Image description: Dave goes to Mspaintadventures.com. The comic panel shows a darkened room with a single bare light bulb above the table. Around the table are four black figures. On the table are a stack of poker chips, a piece of paper that has been stabbed through by a short sword, two dice, and a deck of playing cards. There are three doors visible, one on each wall. The leftmost one has a red heart on it. The next has a black spade. The last has a red diamond. In the back left corner a ladder is embedded in the wall with an arrow pointing up towards a hatch in the ceiling. Part of the wall is cracked. Unlike when John opened it, the text below the panel is off screen.]

You figure as long as you're chilling at your computer you might as well see how that new mspa story is going. You haven't looked at it in a while.

Midnight crew.

[Image description: It shifts focus so the panel that was on Dave's screen is now the actual panel.]
"You are members of a sinister gang called the midnight crew. Your nefarious plots are serpentine in complexity. Your schemes, convoluted. You are planning a heist in your underground hideout.
What will you do?"

Use occam's razor on plans and schemes.

"Spades Slick uses occam's razor to carve a circular hole into the heist plans, freeing it from the knife."

You wonder what moron would jam the knife so hard into the table in the first place."

SS: climb ladder and exit hideout. Implement nefarious plots

"You push against the manhole cover, but it seems some unbelievable jackass has parked your getaway van on top of it."

A familiar feeling stirs. That feeling is overwhelming, soul-blackening rage.

It's the sort of rage that'll make a man feel totally justified in sporting an unnecessarily elaborate assortment of fancy blades."

Dave: skip ahead a hundred pages or so.

"You don't remember where you last left off, so you jump way ahead. You always forget to save your place in the story."

It looks like tempers have become short in this pressure cooker already. You speculate that the tipping point may have been an ill-advised motion for a game of 52 pickup.

Dave: save your place, read it later.

Even though the adventure began recently, it's already over 3000 pages long. You just don't have time for this bullshit. You'll catch up later.

Besides, it looks like someone's pestering you. You're pretty sure you know who it is.

Meanwhile in the present, in a place where the present may be a concept of dubious merit, John is spacing out.

But a vague and forceful thought jolts him to attention.

Or maybe it is that bumping sound coming from the other side of the door. What is that?

Next ??

A thick, unpleasant fluid pools from beneath the door.

Troubling. Investigate this.

There is a trail of this fluid in the hall leading to your room.

Dave: play some hauntingly sick beats.

[Image description: It cuts back to Dave's room, where he stands by one of his DJ things, the one near the shelves of jarred dead things.]

You've had enough of the computer for a while. You feel like you've been messing around on it all week. It's time to get your jam on.

You pull up to your trusty Akai MPC-1000 sampler and prepare to get sick nasty.

Right knob: master volume.
Store patterns in f1, f2, f3... buttons.

Dave: take sip of the apple juice, despite what John said.

[Image description: Dave removes the apple juice from his captchologue cards. He uses the has function to fetch it, using the word swig, which has the same value as juice.

G=2]

Those beats were so fresh they belong in the produce aisle, is what you're talkin' about. Soccer moms be thumpin' that shit for ripeness like melons. Know what I'm sayin'?

After beats that fresh, it would be a crime not to reward yourself with a celebratory swig.

2+2+1+2 (divided by) 10 = (remainder) 7.

Next

[Image description: Dave lifts the apple juice to his mouth. As he does, his mouth opens in a faint grimace. His expression changes to one of angry disgust. A second image shows a blue skinned monster with horns pissing into the bottle of apple juice.]

You can't do it!

John's got you all twisted up inside now. All you can think about is mandel's gross monster piss. Damn you, Egbert!

Next

[Image description: The juice goes back into card 7]

You re-captchalogue the juice.

Dave: allocate sword to strife specibus.

[Image description: A green strife specibus card appears with a black outline of a sword in the main box. There is nothing in the lower rectangle. The bottom of the card reads Blade kind.]

Your strife specibus is already allocated with the blade kind abstratus! There is no need to allocate it.

You can wield your sweet ninja sword as a weapon once it is in your strife deck. But you will have to captchalogue it first before moving it there.

Dave: captchalogue sword.

[Image description: Dave captchalogue the lower sword from the rack on the wall.] The ninja sword \((2+1+2+1+2+2+1+2+1+2+2 = 17 \text{ (divided by) } 10 = \text{ (remainder) } 7)\) occupies the same card as the juice \((2+1+2+1+2+2+1+2+1 = 7 \text{ (divided by) } 10 = \text{ (remainder) } 7)\), expelling the juice from your sylladex.

It splashes all over your turntables and your copies of the beta.

Argh!

Dave: get a towel or something!

You glance at one of the many radical puppets in your bro's collection and nod in approval.

Is there anything not awesome about your bro? No, you think not.

Next

[Image description: Dave stands in a bathroom. There's a towel on the floor and a marionette hanging inside the shower. A toilet and a sink sit opposite the shower.]
You enter the bathroom. There's a damp towel on the floor you can probably use for this crisis.

You stop to pay a little respect to one of your bro's boys up there. Hey lil' man. How's it hangin’?

Dave: captchologue damp towel.

[Image description: Dave takes the towel. The box comes flying out of the sylladex and hits him in the back of the head before landing on the back of the toilet.]

You take the damp towel \(2+1+2+2 + 2+1+2+1+2 = 15\) (divided by) \(10\) = (remainder) \(5\), expelling the box \(2+1+2 = 5\) (divided by) \(10\) = (remainder) \(5\).

Dave: search the bathroom for something slightly less damp.

Nah, you just decide to wring this towel out into the toilet to make it less damp.

It is now just a towel \(2+1+2+1+2 = 8\) (divided by) \(10\) = (remainder) \(8\).

Dave: take towel.

[Image description: The towel goes into slot 8 and the box back into slot 5.]

You take the towel, and grab the box again while you're at it.

Dave: clean up the juice.

You clean \(2+2+1+1+2 = 8\) up the juice with the towel and hang the damp beta envelopes on your line to dry off.

[Image description: It shows a close up of the beta envelopes hanging from the line. One of the photos is now visible at the edge of the screen. They are indeed bad selfies. A second image shows the fan spinning.]

In the breeze of the fan, the betas jostle near the open window.

This arrangement is a little disconcerting. If they fell out, it sure would be a stupid way to lose them.

Dave: turn off the fan.

[Image description: Dave stands by the fan and turns it off with a small click, which is written out to the side.]

The crisis is easily averted. You can't imagine it will ever resurface later in any way, shape, or form. That beta is as good as yours, forever.

Next

[Image description: Dave stands in the middle of the room.]
You should probably go pester Egbert again. You wonder if he found the beta yet. You also might chat about your respective sylladices and fetch modi, if the topic happens to come up. You wonder if he is anywhere near as smooth with his sylladex as you are. Probably not. It's probably not even humanly possi...

[Image description: A bird flies near the window with the envelopes in its talons. The words Caw Caw flash around it. Dave makes an expression that looks like he's shouting as a red exclamation point flashes in his hair.]

Suddenly a rambunctious crow flies in the open window and snatches the beta, possibly to make a nest with, or maybe just for the sake of being a brainless feathery asshole.

You yell at the bird.

Next

2+2+1+2 = 7

The sword flies out of the deck.

Next

[Image description: The sword flies and skewers the bird.]

You accidentally launch your ninja sword. Everything goes flying out the window, dead bird and all.

Next

[Image description: Dave puts his hands over his mouth in a surprisingly dainty way. A teeny tiny exclamation mark flashes next to him.]

No one can ever know about this.

Dave: Look out window.

[Image description: Dave leans out the window with a grimace on his face. Suddenly the words OH SNAP flash on screen and the scene changes to an uncomfortable close up of a wizard statue.]

Yeah, you can kiss all that stuff goodbye. You feel sorry for the bird, but at least you never planned on ever using that beta, ever.

Anyway, now that that bit of ugliness is behind you, you guess you can look forward to several more hours of messing around in your room WHOA WAIT WHAT???

Next

[Image description: Rose stands at the top of the stairs in her house. A second panel shows a much less close image of the wizard statue and now we know he's holding an orb in his left hand. He has an incredibly long beard, a pointed hat, floor length robes, and an expression that makes him look cross eyed and like he's yelling.]

You prepare to descend the stairs to your living room. You are standing eye-to-eye with a familiar foe, a 20-foot tall granite statue of the mighty wizard, Zazzerpan the learned. Your mother had him installed through a hole in the roof with a heavy-duty crane.

Just look at that mystical gaze. To peer into those aloof, glassen eyes is to arrest the curiosity of any mortal. To behold the wisdom concealed in the furrows of that venerable face is to know the ceaseless joys of bewonderment itself. Any man so fortunate as to catch askance his merry twinkle or twitch of whisker shall surely have all his dreams fulfilled.

Next

[Image description: Rose glares.]

You find this grisly abomination utterly detestable.

Rose: psychoanalyze mother's love of wizards.

[Image description: Rose stands halfway down the stairs, glaring at a statue of a wizard looking into a crystal ball with three dragons underneath it. In the background is a large, fancy rug and the legs of two intricately carved pieces of furniture.]

There is nothing to psychoanalyze. Your mother clearly has no real affinity for these damnable things. She only collects them to spite you.

If anything, she finds them even more repellent than you do. She's just a committed woman.

Rose: go downstairs to the kitchen back door.

You descend to the living room area of your home's expansive open layout. There is the sound of rushing water beneath the floor. It tends to strike guests as a strange presence in a living space, but it's become hardly audible to you through familiarity.

There's the front door. But hopefully there's no need to make the long trek around the house in the rain. You might as well see if you can slip through the kitchen and out the back unnoticed.

Rose: view mother's solid copper vacuum statue.

[Image description: Rose looks at the vacuum.]

Ok, but it's bronze, not copper!

But it wasn't always. A while ago you gave this as an ironic gift to your mom for mother's day. You even customized it with a drink holder to support one of her ubiquitous alcoholic beverages.
She "liked" the gift so much, she had it bronzed and put on this pedestal. She even left it plugged in so it can still be turned on now and then. But never to do any cleaning. It never leaves this display.

Sometimes at night when you are in your room, you can hear it wailing from downstairs. She must know you can hear it. She's completely deranged.

Rose: grab the eldritch princess.

[Image description: Rose stands by the couch and looks at the tentacle monster doll in the princess dress.]

It's too big to captchalogue!

Not that you would want to move it anyway. The pretty princess doll has been sitting there for months, ever since your mother got this abomination for your birthday as a totally passive-aggressive gesture.

You decided to make it much less abominable by knitting her majesty a new head and new arms. Now it brings a mischievous smile to your face whenever you walk by. Your mother hasn't removed the doll yet, and probably never will. She would never be the one to blink first.

Rose: acquire umbrella for protection from elements.

[Image description: Rose takes the umbrella. It pops into her captchalogue on a card underneath and slightly to the right of the violin.]

U > l. U < v.

You're going to have a hell of a time accessing that card when you need it. You guess you'll just cross that bridge later.

Rose: peek inside kitchen.

[Image description: Rose stands in the kitchen, which is just behind the couch. There are two wizard statuettes on the counter along with four glass bottles. There's a large portrait of a wizard on the back wall next to the fridge, which has a bunch of letter magnets and a large frame on it. Also, a note is pinned near the bottom of the fridge and a purple pillow rests underneath it.]

The liquor bottles are out in full force. Mom is surely nearby.

Rose: investigate richly colored object in middle of screen.

[Image description: It zooms in on the fridge, focusing on the frame mounted on it.]

That would be your refrigerator, whose surfaces have customarily served as the battlefield for a chilly siege of passive-aggressive one-upmanship.

This was a drawing you did of your cat Jaspers when you were younger, along with a poem about him. Your mother bought this ostentatious $15,000 frame for it, and had it welded to the door.

Next

[Image description: The focus shifts down a little and the letter magnets come on screen. The left door has them arranged randomly. The right door has some arranged to spell SHREW.]

Using the colorful magnet letters, you recently left a succinct message, which may or may not have been directed toward anyone in particular. But you couldn't find the letter w, so you just stuck two v's together.

Next

[Image description: The focus shifts down again and a white square with 12 green W magnets comes on screen. Also on screen is the note, which is pinned to the door with a squid-shaped magnet.]

Your mother then purchased a fresh pack of w's and left them there for your convenience.

Appreciative of the thoughtful gesture, you left her a sincere thank you note, which you had legally notarized, and then marked with a drop of blood.

Next

[Image description: The focus shifts down a little and a purple pillow with gold trim and tassels comes on screen.]

But part of it was touching the floor, so your mother was kind enough to lift the lower portion of the document with a velvet pillow.

Rose: attach a w to face as a fake moustache.

This is incredibly silly, and you're not sure how it fits into your campaign against your mother, or getting your computer back online to escape your doom!

But it's hard to resist getting a little silly sometimes. Especially when you are absolutely positive no one is watching.

Rose: captchalogue w.

[Image description: Rose takes the W, which goes into a card below and to the right of the violin.]

W > l. W > v.

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Rose standing next to the package of Ws. The top left one is missing and in it's place are a few coins.]

But that unsightly void in the w pack won't do, nor will the gash in the plastic.

You deposit 12 cents in its place, which is your approximation of the letter's value. You also make a vow to return later and neatly sew the plastic shut.

Rose: think of ways to one-up mother.

[Image description: It focuses on the note and pillow, the entire scene pulsing faintly.]

You now wonder how to address the pillow situation. It seems the woman has you at a clear disadvantage.

Perhaps slipping a fresh doily under the pillow will do the trick? Or maybe spilling a bit of worcestershire sauce on it, and then having it dry-cleaned and returned along with a laboriously ingratiating apology note? No, there's no time for anything like that. Or maybe (just thinking out loud here) you could use the entire pack of w's as m's? Oh yes, that would burn.

But you've already done something with that w pack, and there's no need to go back and gild that lily. This is delicate business. And that pillow is screaming for rebuttal.

Rose: captchalogue velvet pillow.

[Image description: Rose takes the pillow and it goes below the umbrella card.]

You decide to take the velvet pillow and lovingly embroider a poem in praise of motherhood on it. Hopefully you can pull this off before she notices it's gone.

Ve > l. Ve < vi. Ve > u.

But it causes your tree to be pretty badly unbalanced. It surely will auto-balance itself in a moment.

Next

And just like that, the umbrella becomes accessible in the root card. That's one of the things you love about the tree modus. The happy surprises.

Rose: head out the back door.

[Image description: Rose turns to leave the kitchen. Suddenly, the black silhouette of a woman carrying a martini glass and a mop appears. A silhouette of a bucket sits on the floor next to her. Rose ducks behind the fridge.]

Ok, enough's enough. Time to get goi- AUGH

Next

[Image description: The silhouette begins quickly mopping the floor. Rose looks angry.]

You don't know how she does that. You're never safe in this house.

And of all things to be doing during a power outage. She's up to her ironic housewife routine again. That mop bucket doesn't even have any water in it! What an absolute madwoman.

Rose: hop over counter, landing in a roll.

[Image description: Rose jumps towards the couch in a blur.]

This bird's gotta fly!

Next

[Image description: Rose flies over the counter with her knees tucked up to her chest, spinning as she does. The words Youth Roll flash at the top of the screen.]
Lousy goddamn stupid wizards.

Meanwhile, in the past again.

You're almost done patching up the hole in your window with the gaffer tape.

gardenGnostic: great! feeling cool today?
mr cool guy?
turntech Godhead: oh man you know it gardenGnostic: so cool!!!
turntech Godhead: you know shit is ice cold up in here shit is wicked bananas i am telling you gardenGnostic: (smiley face)
so have you talked to john today???
turntech Godhead: yeah we were just talking a while ago about how he sucks at his sylladex can you believe he uses stack. that kid is ridiculous gardenGnostic: lol well that doesnt sound like much fun!
turntech Godhead: what was it you use again...
wait never mind
i forgot whenever we talk about your goofy modusses i get a migrane. what do you want with john gardenGnostic: (smiley face)
i want to tell him happy birthday and ask him about his birthday package!
turntech Godhead: oh yeah
i was being sort of cagey and told him to check the mail cause i was wondering if mine came yet gardenGnostic: i think it did!
turntech Godhead: yeah?
gardenGnostic: and i think mine came too turntech Godhead: so um
i guess you want to know if he likes it or something?
gardenGnostic: no!!!!!!!
he will not open it
he will lose it!!!
turntech Godhead: oh
um
wow sorry to hear that i guess?
gardenGnostic: no its good actually!
because he will find it again later when he really needs it which of course is why i sent it in the first place!
turntech Godhead: see like i never get how you know these things gardenGnostic: i dont know i just know that i know!
turntech Godhead: hmmm alright gardenGnostic: anyway i have to go!
i have to feed bec which is always a bit of an undertaking turntech Godhead: man
if i were you i would just take that fucking devilbeast out behind the woodshed and blow its head off gardenGnostic: heheheh!
i dont think i could if i tried!!!
turntech Godhead: yeah
say hi to your grand dad for me too ok gardenGnostic: (uncertain face) yes i guess an encounter with him is almost certain it is usually........
intense!!!
turntech Godhead: well yeah isn't it always with family but he sounds like a total badass gardenGnostic: yeah he totally is!!! anyway gotta go!
turntech Godhead: see ya
gardenGnostic: (heart)

Dave: Get phone.

[Image description: Dave stands near the closet and looks at the iphone that's on the table next to the turntables.]

It will be handy to have your phone \((2+2+1+2+1 = 8 \text{ (divided by) } 10 = \text{ (remainder) } 8)\) on standby so you won't always have to go back to your computer whenever someone pesters you. This way you can Text message \((2+1+2+2 + 2+1+2+2+1+2+1 = 18 \text{ (divided by) } 10 = \text{ (remainder) } 8)\) people no matter where you are or what outrageously cool thing you're up to.

So. Cool.

John, pursue adversary into that room.
And even meanwhile, in the present. Sort of.

Once again, the slippery antagonist eludes you. You only find more of these unpleasant oily smears.

Someone is pestering you. Both your PDA and computer register the message.

This chum will know what to do.

[Image description: John pokes a the PDA.]

pesterlog

Turntech Godhead: alright im out of my room now looking for my bros game ectoBiologist: oh, good!
yeah, there is no sign of rose yet, i hope she is ok Turntech Godhead: well if she comes back ill be ready you better know what youre talking about cause this could get ugly brought my phone and i also took my awesome katana with me in case things get too hot to handle and they always do
EctoBiologist: you mean that cheap piece of shit you have on your wall?
Turntech Godhead: F.U.
its sharp and its awesome and its a sword end of story
EctoBiologist: ok i don't really care.
i'm in my room again, i really think there's someone else in this house.
like monsters or something.
Turntech Godhead: howie???
EctoBiologist: haha I WISH.
Turntech Godhead: dude monsters aren't real thats stupid kids stuff for stupid babies EctoBiologist: maybe. yeah you're right.
Turntech Godhead: what are you an idiot of course there are monsters in your house you're in some weird evil monster dimension come on skepticism is the crutch of cinematic troglodytes like hey mom dad theres a dinosaur or a ghost or whatever in my room. "yeah right junior go back to bed" fuck you mom and dad how many times are we going to watch this trope unfold it wasn't goddamn funny the first time i saw it just once id like to see dad crap his pants when a kid says theres a vampire in his closet
"OH SHIT EVERYONE IN THE MINIVAN" be fuckin dad of the year right there EctoBiologist: ok ok stop!
what do i do?
Turntech Godhead: what do you have, a hammer?
man so lame ok whatever you should look into weaponizing your sylladex my bro is always getting on my case about it but man its not as easy as it sounds but if you're fighting monsters left and right you don't have much choice ectoBiologist: hmm...
ok, I guess I can read up on data structures some more.
how's it going there?
turntech Godhead: I'm out in the living room. He's usually here but I don't see him might be playing his mind games. He's always pulling this ninja shit all I see is Lil Cal over there so I guess he can't be far ectoBiologist: hahaha.
oh god.
SO LAME. turntech Godhead: what ectoBiologist: see...
i just don't know why you think it's cool.
his ventriloquist rapping thing.
turntech Godhead: oh Lil Cal? No man Lil Cal is the shit ectoBiologist: that's fine, you are entitled to your opinion, I am just saying that being a white guy who is a rapper with a ventriloquist doll is not cool by any stretch of the imagination or by any definition of word cool, ironic or otherwise. that's all I'm saying.
turntech Godhead: yeah bullshit cal is dope puppets are awesome
John Egbert blows
turntech Godhead: the end
ectoBiologist: yeah, more like the opposite of all those things is the thing that is true!
i'm going to read.
good luck with your bro.

Read your book. Stay wary of these foes.

The background turns pink and a white horse with a pink ribbon in it's mane and a pink heart on it's hip comes on from the left side. Rose shakes her head violently and looks like she's yelling. The words A Beautiful Pony appear on the screen in pink.

It looks like mom has satisfied her [s] strife! Quota for the day. She simply returns to her housework.

No point in going out the front door anymore. Might as well head out the back, like you originally planned.

Rose: first, be the pony. Second, trample mom.

You can't be this stupid pony, and frankly you can't imagine why anyone would want to!

But you give the pony a begrudging pat on the snout anyway.

Her name is Maplehoof.

John turn around!!!!!

[Image description: A page of a book appears on the screen. In the corner, a picture of a captchalogue card with a top hat, a magic wand, and a magnificent moustache waves its wand. The page reads Data structures for assholes Chapter 7 God damn it, why do I even bother? The good news: finally your revolting incompetence can be put to use. Instead of accidentally firing a sylladex full of steak knives into a priceless oil painting or your beloved great aunt, you can turn that fumbling fury toward one of your foes, such as the ability to grasp painfully simple concepts. The bad news: I'm tired of explaining myself hoarse to you jibbering fuckwads. In this chapter I will be phoning it in with the liberal use of diagrams and shitty clip art. What are you going to do about it? You are going to wriggle in your own viscous secretions like the worms you are. That's what. Here. Learn something for a change:

It shows a diagram of four captchalogue cards filled with cinder blocks. Next to it, a globe has an arrow pointing towards the first card. The second part of the diagram shows the globe in the first card and one cinderblock being ejected from the deck and hitting a disgusted looking emoji in the face.
At the bottom of the page it reads Asshole notes!
Purse your lips together to form a stiff pucker. Apply them firmly to my rear end. I now pronounce you man and wife.
Now get in the kitchen and make my ass some dinner, bitch.

You're trying to read, ok? This book is already unpleasant enough as it is without weird voices in your head nagging you to do things.

Besides, I thought we already agreed there's no such thing as monsters.

Next!!!

Fine, you'll interrupt your reading and turn around, but you don't see what could possibly be so oh my god it's a monster.

Rose: Exit.

[Image description: Rose stands outside in the rain. In front of her is a large piece of electrical equipment that looks like it's been burned.]

You leave through the back door.

Nearby is the transformer which distributes electricity from the underground generator powered by the river flowing beneath your house.

The transformer was struck by lightning though, and no longer works. You wonder if your mother has any plans to have it fixed. You guess she'd rather just play her mind games in a dark house like a weirdo.

You can see the mausoleum and the portable generator across your back yard. You're almost there.

Rose: use umbrella.

[Image description: Rose takes the umbrella out of her captchalogue and all the other items fall, several bouncing off the umbrella as she opens it. The grimoire lands with the pillow and laptop on top of it to Rose's right. The violin bounces off to her left and the W magnet sticks to the broken transformer.]
You regather your items and begin the soggy trek mausoleum-ward.

[S] get up John, this is no time for slumber.

Rose: Forget the W and make haste to the mausoleum.

Retrieving the W never even crossed your mind. It's just a stupid magnet.

Click the totem. This launches the PDA, which the imp blocks. John runs and does a wall run and jumps to catch the PDA as the background turns green. The words Sweet Catch flash on screen. This launches the hammer head, which kills the imp. The song ends as several types of grist explode from the imp. The bunny sits on the floor with a green card underneath it. John smiles. The words Pick Up flash over pieces of grist. The first piece is a light blue cube.

Now why couldn't he put the bunny back in the box?

Now exult. Victory, spoils are yours.

Pesky urchin
Champ-fry Anklebiter
Fidgety bopper
Plucky tot Juvesquirt

The Greentike box is colored in green where the rest are black.
The juvesquirt box colors in yellow and the text Climbed to rung: Juvesquirt! Appears under John's head. +5 Gel viscosity. + 10 Cache limit. The feather in his cap turns yellow.
The plucky tot box colors in pink and the text Climbed to rung: Plucky tot! Appears under John's head. + 10 Gel viscosity. + 20 Cache limit. The feather in his cap turns pink with a white tip and grows a little larger. Several brightly colored coins appear above the piggy bank and fall into it. Next to the B$ symbol, =125 appears.

A second panel shows John doing a victory dance that involves lots of jumping and punching the air while turning back and forth.

The amazing victory allows you to scale the first two achievement rungs on your echeladder. You are now a plucky tot, with a new feather in your cap to show for it.

The echeladder rewards your bold ascent with 125 boondollars. You waste little time in storing them in your ceramic porkhollow.

Additionally, climbing the rungs has boosted your gel viscosity and cache limit.

[Image description: The grist cache screen appears with the gusher icon in the top left corner and and 36 small rectangular slots for different types of grist in a nine by four grid. Cache limit: 50. The top 5 sots in the first column have icons and fill bars, but the others all have nothing but a grey question mark.
Build grist, 32 of 50
A purple gusher shaped grist, Shale, 10 of 50
A white cube shaped grist with none available.
A yellow teardrop shape grist with none available.
And a green gusher shaped grist with none available.

By expanding your cache limit, you've made room for all that nice grist you just collected. You now have 32 fragments of build grist, and 10 fragments of shale.

What about that card.

[Image description: A strife specibus card with a bunny head silhouette and the word Bunny kind appears.]

It seems the shale imp had allocated the bunny to its strife specibus.

Sort of a stupid thing to use for a weapon, but you might as well grab it, and stick the bunny in your strife deck while you're at it. It will at the very least be safer there.

Ok.

[Image description: It shows two strife specibus card- one bunny kind, and one handle kind, which has an outline of the sledgehammer's handle on it. A second image shows both cards sliding into slots in what looks like a large specibus card labeled Strife Portfolio. There are 16 slots shown at the bottom and the first two fill in with a handle and a bunny head.]

You group the two specibi in your strife portfolio.

No self-respecting strifer would be caught dead without one.

Gather the scattered bits of your large hammer.

[Image description: John stands by the end of the bed. On the floor in front of him is the sledgehammer handle and head, and a regular hammer head.]

Oddly enough, it seems breaking the sledgehammer altered the abstratus from hammerkind to handle kind, even going as far as expelling the head of your smaller hammer from your deck to force compliance. You didn't even notice in the heat of the battle.

You grab the sledgehammer handle, expelling the useless harlequin figurine.

Now repair the hammer.

[Image description: John picks up the sledgehammer head, which pops into place on the handle. In the top right corner is the handle kind specibus. John changes his modus from queue to stack and the sledgehammer flies towards the specibus. The hammer image reappears on it and the name changes to hammerkind.]

You merge the sledgehammer head with its handle, and return it to your strife deck, repairing the hammerkind abstratus in the process.

The smaller hammer handle is ejected from the deck, since of course handles of any sort no longer belong in there. Obviously.

Fine. Now what

Dave is pestering you. But you don't have time to deal with his nonsense right now.

Something is amiss in your room. You can't quite put your finger on it…

On a slab in the center of the small room, a tiny coffin with a cross on it sits beneath a carving of a cat with angel wings. Through a window in the back, the forest burns.]

You fire up the generator and drag a cord into the mausoleum.

It of course would be foolish to run the generator inside a confined space. Generator safety is everyone's business.

Rose: defile tomb.

[Image description: Rose squints at the coffin, then jumps up and kicks it off the slab with a 'konk'. The coffin falls to the floor and pops open, revealing a black cat with crossed out eyes and wearing a tiny suit.]

Sorry, Jaspers. Have to make space for the laptop.

Besides, your final resting place is already a mockery. You should have decomposed years ago under a bed of petunias like a normal cat. Not given to a taxidermist and fitted with a tiny, custom-tailored suit, and then stuffed in a coffin built for infants.

Rose: plug in your laptop.

[Image description: Rose looks at the laptop, which now sits on the slab. The rest of her items are scattered around her. Above the laptop, an alert showing Dave's face and another with the spirograph bounce slightly. A second image shows Rose's computer, which has the sburb host application open. It shows John standing by the door in his room. At the bottom of the screen, the pesterchum and sburb host icons bounce.]

You plug in your laptop and connect to the internet signal again.

Everything predictably falls out of your sylladex, but you're not about to get bent out of shape about it. You have bigger fish to fry.

Looks like Dave noticed you're back online. He pesters you like clockwork.

And there's John. What on earth is he up to now?

The door, John. Look at the door.

You're right. Didn't rose yank the door off its hinges and prop it on your bed?

Someone or something has put it back and left it slightly ajar.

Incredibly alarming. Investigate.

[Image description: John touches the door handle and a bucket of water falls from above and lands on his head. The pink bar with the harlequin heads from his strife with Dad reappears and it goes from about half filled to about a quarter filled.

Hoo hoo hoo hoo hoo!

john said your house was burning down are you on fire yet or what tentacleTherapist: No. For now I have retired to the safety of a smaller building which is much closer to the forest fire threatening my residence.
turntech Godhead: oh well that's a relief
john told me to get the game to help get you out of there so i'm working on that now tentacleTherapist: Working on it?
turntech Godhead: yeah my bros copy long story
hey
don't tell john this but i think he might have been right about the puppets they're sort of starting to freak me out a little

the semi-ironic puppet thing or whatever or semi-semi ironic
man i don't even know
im just starting to think some of this shit is going a little far and its kind of fucked up

turntech Godhead: oh god why did i just tell you my dream you're going to have a field day with that tentacleTherapist: I am currently scrawling notes furiously into one of the many psychoanalysis journals i maintain for you. Published papers forthcoming.
Because, you know, it's not like either of us have anything better to do at the moment than to evaluate each other's radically debilitating pathologies.
turntech Godhead: yeah i'm gonna get moving oh have you heard from john
he's not answering me
tentacleTherapist: He won't answer me either.
But i am watching him.
I suspect he is preoccupied with the fact that he just had a bucket of water dumped on his head by Nannasprite: yes, dear!

John: wow, you scared the living daylights out of me!
Nannasprite: hoo hoo hoo!
John: well, I guess it was a really great prank. Good one nanna.
John: anyway, are you really my dead nanna?
Nannasprite: of course, john! I have come back to help you on your journey through the medium and beyond! I am delighted to see what a fine young man you have turned out to be. Just like your father!
John: ok, I guess I will take your word for it. I don't remember you at all! My dad said I was really young when you died.
John: hey speaking of which, do you know where he is?? I looked everywhere for him!

spritelog
Nannasprite: your father was kidnapped!
John: oh no!
Nannasprite: when you crossed over to the medium, he was apprehended by the very forces of darkness which your presence here has awakened.
John: what? Ok, so what is the medium you are talking about?
Nannasprite: it is where we are now! A realm that is a ring of pure void, dividing light and darkness. It turns in the thick of the incipisphere, a place untouched by the flow of time in your universe.
John: you mean because we are inside a computer, or in the game software or something?
Nannasprite: a computer? Why, what is that, dear? Some new fangled contraption, like the horseless auto-boxcar?
John: well, uh, it's like this machine that, uh...
Nannasprite: hoo hoo hoo! Of course I know what a computer is, john! I was just pulling your leg! Hoo hoo hoo!
John: oh, ok.
Nannasprite: no, john. You are not inside a computer or software or anything like that! Try not to be so linear, dear. The software that brought you here was merely a mechanism that served as a gateway! Its routines in a way served to invoke this realm's instance, yet it stands independently of any physical machine, and somewhat paradoxically, always has!
John: I'm not sure I get it, but alright.
John: so what do I actually need to be doing here?
Nannasprite: I think it would be best if we started with the big picture!

[s] go on. Next

blue and white. Slowly, the image of an entire sky contained within an orb resolves and rotates slowly in the center of the screen.]

spritelog
Nannasprite: above the medium, beyond the seven gates, residing at the core of the incipisphere is a place known as skaia.

Nannasprite: legend holds that skaia exists as a dormant crucible of unlimited creative potential. What does this mean, you ask? I'm afraid my lips are sealed about that, dear! Hoo hoo!

Nannasprite: but needless to say, where a realm of such profound importance is concerned, forces of light will forever be charged with its defense, while forces of darkness will just as persistently covet its destruction!

Next

[Image description: The orb, Skaia, rushes towards the screen while spinning. A background of clouds floating across a blue sky appears. After a moment, a chessboard of only nine squares, a black king, and a black queen appear. The chess pieces begin stepping around the edge of the board in a slow, endless chase.]

spritelog
Nannasprite: and as it so happens, at the center of this realm whose fate is in question, these very forces duel on a stage, stuck in eternal stalemate.

Nannasprite: yes, they have dueled in this manner forever... That is, until you showed up!

Me?? Next

[Image description: It shows the splitting of the kernel again. This time, it follows the halves to their destination. The grey harlequin head descends and four purple towers with grey orbs on top, settling into orb on the front left tower. The white counterpart flies upward towards an identical set of towers but in yellow and upside down. It also settles into the front left tower's orb. The scene changes to a view of John's yard where two naked shale imps stand by the pogo bouncer. Harlequin hats and collars pop onto both of them. It cuts back to the chessboard and the tops of the king pieces transform into harlequin hats. The chessboard suddenly expands to a full sized board with the kings in opposite corners. Other pieces, all with harlequin hats, appear in opposing forces, though the dividing line is diagonal instead of horizontal. The game begins.]

spritelog
John: me??

Nannasprite: yes, you, john!

Nannasprite: before your mishap with my ashes, you may recall the sprite's previous incarnation, which resulted from its kernel's "hatching".

Nannasprite: you see, this hatching occurs automatically in response to your arrival! The result is a pair of kernels, one dark, one light, each carrying the information they were prototyped with before the hatch!

Nannasprite: one goes down, to a kingdom entrenched in darkness. The other, up, to a kingdom basking in light! Each comes to rest in an orb atop a spire, of which there are three others in kind. The four spires are situated above a throne, and these two thrones preside over the two respective sovereign powers!
Nannasprite: and once the kernels are situated, that is when the game is afoot. The true war begins, light versus dark, good versus evil.

Nannasprite: this is a war that the forces of light are always destined to lose, without exception!

A quest of futility then. Next

[Image description: an orange arrow points upwards through the spirographs left by the white half of the kernel.]

Spritelog
John: wow, really? Then what's the point?

Nannasprite: that remains for you to find out, dear! For you see, the journey you are about to take is the ultimate riddle!

John: whoa!!!

Nannasprite: for now, your objective is to proceed towards skaia, and pass through the first gate situated directly above your house, not even terribly far! The gates will become progressively more difficult to reach, so you had better be prepared to sharpen your adventuring skills!

John: how am I supposed to get up there?

Nannasprite: you build!

Next!

[Image description: john does his victory dance.]

Spritelog
John: ok, I think I get it now!
John: so I guess the battle against good and evil is sort of irrelevant? Well, I don't know, that all sounds kind of weird, but in any case, we build the house to get to these gates, and then I can save my dad!
Nannasprite: yes, john!
John: and then after that, we solve this ultimate riddle thing and save earth from destruction!!!
Nannasprite: oh no, I'm afraid not!

Next?

[Image description: john slowly stops dancing.]

Spritelog
Nannasprite: your planet is done for, dear! There is nothing you can do about that!
John: oh...
Nannasprite: your purpose is so much more important than saving that silly old planet, though!
John: and that is?
Nannasprite: hoo hoo hoo hoo hoo!

Yes I will have to agree with the float hag about that.

[Image description: nannasprite floats through the wall, leaving a blue smear behind.]

Spritelog
Nannasprite: john, you are such a good boy! I know you will succeed.
John: thanks, nanna.
Nannasprite: you are a good boy, and good boys deserve treats!
John: hooray!
Nannasprite: I am going to go bake you some cookies.
John: …

The hag mentioned cookies. Pursue her.

[Image description: john holds his head and looks like he's in pain as a betty crocker logo, a red spoon with betty crocker written on it, pulses in the corner.]

Betty crocker
Oh god dammit, that's just what you need. More baked goods.

John you do not say no to cookies. I command you to get them

You totally abjure the hell out of that idea.

You're so busy abjuring, you don't even notice Rose has been trying to pester you this whole time.

Rose: hit john in the head with box to get his attention.

[Image description: john continues flailing and shouting as rose taps him in the back of the head with the red box.]

You give john a swift drubbing in the noggin, but he is undeterred!

That is some fit he is throwing.

Perhaps you will take this spare moment to contemplate the Nannasprite's strange tale. It may also behoove you to record your thoughts on these developments in your Game F.A.Q.'s walkthrough/journal. It can be hard finding time to update it. In fact, you're not even sure where you found the time to write what's already there!

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Rose, who looks up from her laptop and looks annoyed. A second image zooms in on Jaspers in his tiny coffin.]

Oh is that so, Jaspers? And just who do you think you're looking at with that smug grin???

The last thing you need is sass from a dead cat. It's pretty much all his fault you're in this mess in the first place, so he can just button it.

You refuse outright!

This impudence is insufferable. Go get the cookies!!!!!

[Image description: John holds the pillow over his face, still shaking his head.]

Well when you put it so politely, how can John decline??

John you are stupid.

[Image description: John turns his back to the screen, still holding the pillow over his face.]

You really need to work on your manners.

Stupid stupid dumb

[Image description: John walks off screen, all that's visible is part of the back of his head and one hand, which he is using to flip off the screen.]

That's not a command. It's nothing.

It's stupid.

You're stupid.

FOR THE LAST TIME I COMMAAnd you to get the cookies boy

[Image description: John stands behind his computer desk and yells, jumping up and down so hard that all the items on the floor bounce with the force of his tantrum.]

It's just not going to happen buddy!

Years in the future...

[Image description: It shows the small black hands of the Wayward Vagabond typing at the computer in the little bunker he found. The screen reads FOR THE LAST TIME I COMMAAnd you In the middle of the word command, Wayward Vagabond's finger slips and deactivates the capslock button.]

But really not enough to write home about.

An agitated finger slips mid-keystroke.

[Note: the previous line is a link that opens another series of images. The first shows the two strange devices Wayward Vagabond walked by on the way into the bunker. The smaller one pops open. Several cans, a book, and a small potted plant fall out. Wayward Vagabond looks shocked and more than a little happy at this discovery. He grabs two cans, one of beans and one of mustard, and looks back and forth between them, trembling all the while. He picks up the book, which is titled Human Etiquette.]

I may have been a bit hasty in advising you not to bother with the prototyping process. If I spared any detail, it was only to optimize your chances of survival. And if you find yourself begrudging the absence of certain instructions, which if followed would have resulted in your demise, then I guess that makes two of us.

Otherwise, you're welcome.

But the fact appears to be that prototyping the Kernelsprite before making your getaway may offer the only opportunity to exercise control over your new environment, a place known as The Medium. Also, if prototyped with one (or two) sufficiently - albeit loosely - humanoid and/or sentient elements (living or otherwise), it offers the chance to have all this explained to you by an apparitional guide through whatever sort of cryptic, sketchy doublespeak your choice of prototyping elements engenders. In lieu of this, you may be forced to settle for my clear, thorough explanations and assiduous dissection of raw data.

Again, don't mention it.

If you have made it to The Medium with an unmolested Vanillasprite, well, I've already covered the bad news about this "missed opportunity", and I will go into this further soon. Though to what extent this actually is bad news, I'm not sure. I know only the result of my co-player's current configuration, wherein the sprite was prototyped once before the departure, and once after. Which brings us to the good news, which is that you can still prototype after your departure, and salvage the massively rewarding experience of haggling with an exposition-slinging phantom guide, so long as you avoid prototyping with terribly inert items, such as a brass doorknocker and your father's pornography collection.

Actually, that might be interesting. If you are struck by the spirit of such experimentation, please don't hesitate to contact me about it.

So, yes, you can enhance your sprite in this way, but doing so after your departure will no longer induce this "effect" on The Medium I alluded to. That can only be accomplished with one or more pre-departure prototypings. In fact, we can extrapolate there are only so many ways to prototype a sprite.

Tiers of prototyping in relation to departure:
- Both before
- One before, one after
- Both after
- Only one, either before or after
- None

Those occurring before will affect the Medium through the kernel's "hatching" process, and your guide, i.e. the sprite. Those occurring after will only affect the sprite.

The effects this process has on The Medium, or more globally, The Incipisphere, are still vague to me. They have to do with flavoring the forces you will struggle against, and generally, all forces at odds with each other in this realm. It has given me some insight into the nature of the game, which again I derive through extrapolation. We appear to be engaging an instance of a dimension with a highly flexible set parameters, and a series of objectives surrounding an equally flexible mythological framework. This framework seems to begin as a sort of blank template, and evolves with the players' actions, and likely further evolves with the addition of more host/client connections, and thus more prototyped kernels.

I regret to say I can't be much more specific than that, without loosely extrapolating further. There are plenty of questions that have occurred to me, however. Questions concerning the Kernelsprite, which I've raised implicitly already, such as what is the effect of an un-prototyped kernel on The Medium? Or a doubly-prototyped kernel, for that matter? And even more salient are questions about this dimension itself. Do all players world-wide make it to this dimension if they successfully complete their departure? Or is a unique "blank" instance of the dimension created for each new player? I have no evidence, but instinct tells me it is closer to the latter situation. There is no indication of any other players present in this realm. Alterations in the realm seem singularly centered on the actions of my co-player and myself. If I had to stake anything on it, I would guess every separate client/server pair activates its own fresh copy of an Incipisphere, or a unique "session", if you will.

But the quantity of players is a further complication which invites more questions. It seems the game was designed to suit two players most naturally, the server and the client. But through a mishap, my co-player and I have slipped out of the obvious tandem arrangement, and the only logical course of action to continue playing is to string a daisy-chain of server/client connections together, until presumably the chain is complete. Theoretically, we could complete this chain with only one other player, functioning as a server to my client, and the client to my current co-player's server (assuming he can recover it).

The strange thing is though, in our instance of this dimension, there are four receptacles for divided kernels, not three. Does this mean we are "destined" to have a four player chain? How could the game "know" such a thing?

Perhaps it does, and if this proves to be the case, I trust I will be sufficiently numbed to the realization. [Note: from here on, the words are crossed out.] I can consider nothing about this game surprising at this point, and in fact from the first moments of play, it managed to deviate so far from my expectations that I completely forgot what my original purpose with it was. I had chances to test some information I obtained on good authority during the prototyping phases, but it completely slipped my mind. Instead, the game's catacombs securing the dark twisting paths to necromancy were blundered into rather on accident.

But perhaps you don't need to know any of this.

[rethink organization? lead may be waist deep logorrheic sludge. trim down. bleh]

She's not finished with this yet! Jeez, cut her some slack.

Maybe you could go bug someone somewhere else for a while? Or at the very least, somewhen else.

Months in the past, but not many...

gardenGnostic: hi happy birthday rose!!! (heart) tentacleTherapist: Hello, and thanks.
gardenGnostic: did you get johns present yet?
tentacleTherapist: I just opened it this very moment. What a stunning coincidence you would ask about it now. I am stunned.
gardenGnostic: yeah i know!! what will you make with it?
tentacleTherapist: And who said it was something from which something else could be made?
gardenGnostic: well john did tell me what it was duh..... tentacleTherapist: I suppose I'll take a stab at learning the craft.
It's the least I can do in response to the subtle dig concealed in his gesture.
He often tells me I "need a new hobby" when I make perfectly reasonable analytical remarks.
gardenGnostic: oh but rose i dont think he meant anything like that by it!! you see not everybody always means the opposite of what they say the way you and dave always do tentacleTherapist: Maybe.
His birthday is in a few months, isn't it?
gardenGnostic: yep!
i finally finished a present for him
ive been working on it for years!!!!
tentacleTherapist: Years?
It's so hard to tell when you're joking.
Or if you're even capable of it.
gardenGnostic: heheheh.... (smiley face)
i just mailed it too so it is sure to get there on time mail takes a while to get anywhere from here!!!
tentacleTherapist: I'll probably craft something with strong sentimental value.
That should burn him.
gardenGnostic: i dont think you really mean that!
tentacleTherapist: I guess not.
So, shall I expect a green package dropped to my house via airmail from whatever screwball cranny of the globe you're tucked into?
gardenGnostic: err.......no (sad face) sorry but you are sort of hard shop for besides i have something for you today that i think you will like better than some thing in a box!
tentacleTherapist: Oh?
gardenGnostic: it is a tip!!!!
tentacleTherapist: This is already intriguing enough to compensate for the grave scarcity of lavish gifts parachuting from the sky. Please go on.
gardenGnostic: did you have a pet a long time ago that died?
tentacleTherapist: Yes.
gardenGnostic: ok well how did you feel about your cat, did you love him a lot?
tentacleTherapist: "ok well", I didn't mention it was a cat, or that it was a male. Let's pretend I'm surprised and you're embarrassed and move on.
To answer your question, I would describe my feelings toward the animal as lukewarm.
gardenGnostic: um ok....
ths fine!!!
it doesnt really matter i think, just..... what if someone told you you could play a game that would bring him back to life?
tentacleTherapist: If someone told me that, I would regard the remark with a great deal of skepticism.
If that someone was you, on the other hand, then I would have to ask preemptively: Is that someone you?
gardenGnostic: yes that someone is me!!!!!!!
i just thought you might find it interesting tentacleTherapist: So what is this game?
gardenGnostic: oh i dont know im just saying is all i think you'll hear about it later and maybe you can talk to john and dave about it eye are way more into all that stuff than i am!!!!
tentacleTherapist: I'll see what the word on the street is about it. In due time.
For now I should probably order a copy of Knitting for Assholes. It would be a shame if I ran late with John's present.

Dave: Get katana.

You captchalogue your KATANA \((2+1+2+1+2+1 = 9 \text{ (divided by) } 10 = \text{ remainder } 9)\) and prepare to venture out into the apartment to retrieve your Bro's copy of the game.

But first, maybe...

Just maybe...

[S] Dave: Retrieve dead bird.

[Image description: The sounds of a busy city play: traffic, police sirens, and wind. It shows a dead bird, holding the sburb envelopes in its talons and with a sword sticking out of its chest. It fades to an image of Dave looking down out of his window. It zooms out to show that he's in the top floor of an apartment building that's many, many stories high and that the bird is on the roof of an adjacent building that's several stories shorter. On the roof of the building is a tall spindly tower of some sort. In the distance, small meteors rain down on the rest of the city. It cuts to an image of a wavering red and yellow spiral. As it zooms out, it shows that it's a reflection in Dave's sunglasses as he looks towards the origin of the meteors]

Dude, that bird is long gone. It probably won't last long in this heat anyway.

You don't even know what's up with this sick heat. The sun threatens to set but won't step off. It's staring you down, like the big red eye of a hot needle skipping on a groove its tracing 'round the earth. While lingering in midair its heat seems to suspend time itself, stretching it like warped vinyl. It's meant to rain this season but there ain't been a drop in sight. Even a little drizzle would help. Might help to fizzle this sizzle a little bizzle, set the record straight on this global turn-tizzle.

"So don't change the dizzle, turn it up a little
I got a living room full of fine dime brizzles Waiting on the Pizzle, the Dizzle and the Shizzle
G's to the bizzack, now ladies here we gizzo

When the pimp's in the crib ma
Drop it like it's hot
Drop it like it's hot
Drop it like it's hot...

-English Romantic poet, John Keats

Dave: Exit your room, and go into the living room.

[Image description: Dave stands in the hallway, facing the marionette dressed like a pimp. A second image shows Dave standing next to it as it sits on the floor.]

Sorry little dude, coming through. Gotta put you down for a bit.

You figure you've left him hanging long enough.

Dave: Hastily enter the room with wild abandon.

You barge in and see a familiar face. A friendly face.

Next

You stand in the living room. Your bro spends most of his days in here. At night he crashes on the futon over there. You don't see him anywhere though.

There's the puppet chest he stores lil' cal in when he takes him out on gigs. But when he's home he usually leaves cal on display somewhere. And with good reason cause cal is totally sweet.

So sweet.

Man.

Dave: Pity da fool.

[Image description: The table the Mr T doll was sitting on comes completely into view, revealing that it is actually a sound board. Next to the doll is another doll wearing only a vest. Handcuffs connect the two. To the left of the screen is another desk with another two copies of GameBro magazine and a computer chair. In the background, there's a futon with a green version of the purple puppet on it. The green version is viewed from behind and has a very plush rump. A game controller sits on the floor in front of the futon.]

It's your brother's Mr T puppet, which of course is kept in the apartment with a sense of profound humorous irony. But as usual with your bro's exploits, this is no ordinary irony, or anything close to a pedestrian tier 1 ironic gesture which is a meager single step removed from sincerity. This is like ten levels of irony removed from the original joke. It might have been funny like eight years ago to joke about Mr T and how he was sort of lame, but that was the very thing that made him awesome and badass, and that his awesomeness was also sort of the joke. But in this case, the joke is the joke, and that degree of irony itself is also the joke, and so on.

Only highly adept satirical ninjas like you and your bro can appreciate stuff like this. It's cool taking stuff that other people think is funny but you know really isn't, and making it funny again by adding subtle strata of irony which are utterly undetectable to the untrained eye.

Also, for good measure, Mr T is wearing a leather thong and handcuffed to a pantsless Chuck Norris puppet.
God you hope you can be as good as your bro at this some day. You'd never tell him that though.

Dave: Find Lil' Cal and give fistbumps.

[Image description: The focus moves up, bringing the entire futon, a large speaker, and part of an entertainment center on screen. A yellow puppet thing is draped over the back of the couch and a blue one is partially stuffed under the entertainment center.]

Cal's nowhere in sight. All you see is a bunch of your bro's weird nude puppets strewn around haphazardly.

You...

You guess these things are kinda cool.

Sort of...

Dave: Play a game on the Xbox.

[Image description: Dave stands by the entertainment center and the TV is now shown. On screen, a man on a skateboard turns back and forth while various bags of chips vibrate around him. Next to the TV, a marionette of a wizard hangs by its strings. Another strange puppet, this one red, is jammed between the entertainment center and the wall. Outside the window is the red spiral shown on Dave's glasses.]

It looks like your Bro was playing. It's not like him to leave in the middle of some totally intense gaming.

Not like him to misplace Cal either... man you hope the little guy's alright.

Next

[Image description: Dave turns around and the focus shifts to the left, bringing the top of the speaker on screen. There's a strange looking marionette with orange arms and legs, a backwards baseball cap, and a blue shirt that says Cal sitting on top of it. The puppet has a gold chain and a bowtie. He seems to stare into your very soul.]

Oh there you are dude. Didn't see you there.

We be chill today, Cal? Yeah you better fuckin' believe we be chill.

Cal is the man.

Dave: Resist great urge to play Bro's Xbox.

[Image description: It shows a video game. A man on a skateboard glitches through part of a stairway. Glowing potato chips and doritos are dotted around the scene.]

You fail to resist the urge.

You start thrashing up stunts something uncannybrutal on your quest for "MAD SNACKS YO" and get this way rude hunger under control. Shit is basically flying off the hook. It's like shit wants nothing to do with that hook. The hook is dead to that shit.
But you get stuck in some poorly modeled 3D fixture or something. Like a railing or a piece of the wall? You'll have to reset.

Fuck this shit.

Dave: Give Lil' Cal a bro fistbump.

[Image description: The word Bump appears at the top of the screen as Dave gives Lil Cal's creepy little fist a bump.

Aw man you almost forgot. Gotta give the C-man some props.

Next

Dave: Check out your Bro's sweet gear.

Your Bro has so much sweet gear it's hard to keep up with it all sometimes. Here's his computer setup. He's usually got a lot of stuff cooking on here at any given moment.

Since he's not around you might as well sneak a peep.

Dave: Look at your brother's computer.

Your Bro's computer is password protected of course to protect all the incredible top secret shit he's got on the burners.

Of course you know what the password is, and he knows you know it, and you're both cool with that because the password is the most awesome thing it can be.

Next

[Image description: The password enters, though it doesn't show what it is. It's six letters long. The password screen fades to show the desktop, the background of which is a confusing mash of speaker-robots and strange contraptions. Icons on the screen are a green man in sunglasses pointing towards the user with finger guns and is labeled Delirious Biznasty. Another is a worried looking blue square with arms labeled Complete Bullshit. Scattered around the screen are 7 folders all labeled New Folder.]

You enter the password. On the desktop is a hodgepodge of unnamed folders to store all the stuff he's working on. No one can decipher his organization system but him.

He also tends to use the application Complete Bullshit to keep up with the ludicrous amount of websites and news feeds he monitors to stay hip to the scene.

Dave: Open Complete Bullshit.
Dave double clicks Complete Bullshit. A screen with a blue bar across the top and many multicolored stripes going vertically up the screen appears. The blue bar reads Complete Bullshit Content Aggregator v 4.13
In each of the vertical bars, there is text.

A second image shows the same screen, but every section vibrates independently, making everything even more chaotic.]

This is complete bullshit.

Dave: Check if Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff has a sweet update.

[Image description: A cursor hovers over the band that says
COMIC #5 : sweet bro comes thru..........AGAIN COMIC #4 : not even BARACK obana can bail him out of
It grows wider and shows a Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff comic.]

Your bro keeps up with your projects in his aggregator, just like you keep up with his. He's tuned into your various blogs, and of course sweet bro and hella jeff.

You navigate to the latest comic in one of the many bullshit feedbands.

Sweet bro and hella jeff

Hella Jeff holds a red rectangle in his poorly-drawn hand and says bro i got a ticket for the BIG GAME
its sports
Sweet Bro's shirt color seems to have migrated up onto his face and his skin color seeps into the background. Around him is the edge of a program window.
dog........i AM SO JEALOUS you KNOW i love the big game.

It zooms in on Hella Jeff's face, which is suddenly pale and washed out. It's literally pasted on top of a faded copy of the first panel. He says
oh yeah

It shows a badly drawn black man in a yellow shirt and shorts carrying a basketball to a hoop that's shorter than he is.
and there he goes

It zooms in on his weird looking face.
the big man.... HASS the rock

It zooms in on his feet, one of which is red and one of which is the same color as his skin. Is he only wearing one shoe? Who even knows.
he's driving SO HARD threw the paint DOWN TOWN!

The basketball player contorts himself wildly as he jumps towards the hoop that's probably nose height on him.
--ally-yoop-- (crossed out)
--ally-oop-- (Crossed out)
"ahly'yoop" for the SLAM-DUNK

Hella Jeff presses his face to the back of the backboard to watch this Sick Slam Dunk. It zooms in uncomfortably close on Hella Jeff.

Dave: Mouse over the orange stripe containing PlushRump.

[Image description: The Plush Rump website comes up. On the homepage are three pictures of those strange puppets that were scattered all over the room, but only of the plush rumps. The website reads Plush rump
Puppets puppets puppets Puppet cams
Go on the free tour!!
For all the fuzzy, fluffy, frolicksome fun you can stomach and more...

A chat room at the bottom of the screen reads Live puppet chat 24/7
softass joined #plushrump foamfiend: hi softass /quivers foam proboscis @ softass 1 implegsakimbo: bet theres a lot of give to that ass softass: bounce a coin off it. its not going anywhere foamfiend: yeah bet that coin'll take a good nap there]

Another one of your Bro's many ironic websites. The difference here is he rakes in thousands of dollars a month through this enterprise.

Smuppets are a multi-billion dollar a year enterprise, and it's awfully hard to resist taking a firm squeeze from the plump udder of that cash cow.

Dave: Stop wasting time and look for Bro's beta.

[Image description: Reflections of blue and yellow plush rumps, apparently belonging to puppets called Smuppets, vibrate in Dave's glasses.]

You guess you've messed around on his computer long enough. Better get a move on before it's too late for Rose, or worse yet, your Bro catches you.

But my God... the rumps. They are transfixing.

You know this is ironic and all, and your Bro reaches echelons of irony you could only dream of daring to fathom. But on rare occasions, when your guard is down, it all seems just a tad unsettling to you.

Next

[Image description: Dave slowly turns his head to the left, where Lil' Cal is now sitting on the speaker next to the desk. The marionette that was there sits on the floor nearby.]

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Cal's creepy little face, revealing that one of his top teeth is gold.]

Oh. Uh...

Hey...

Hey there, Cal.

Dave: Give Lil Cal a nervous fist bump.

[Image description: Dave's hand shakes as it approaches Cal's, but it never gets there.]

Next

[Image description: Dave looks around the room and it flashes to images of the various puppets scattered around the room. A green smuppet ass, Lil Cal, a yellow smuppet head, a blue smuppet ass that's shoved under the entertainment center, the puppet posters on the wall, the puppets from the Plush Rump website. Dave flickers between all of them.]

You are sort of starting to flip the fuck out.

Without losing your cool of course.

Dave: Pester John to ease your nerves.

You get Egbert on the line again to give him the lowdown on your progress. You feel it's important to keep the wires hot.

But he's not answering. You wonder what that guy is up to.

Looks like Rose is finally logged in again.

Didn't John say her house was burning down? You wonder if she's on fire yet or what.

Dave: Pester Rose.

pesterlog

turntech Godhead: oh there you are john said your house was burning down are you on fire yet or what tentacleTherapist: No. For now I have retired to the safety of a smaller building which is much closer to the forest fire threatening my residence.
turntech Godhead: oh well thats a relief
john told me to get the game to help get you out of there so im working on that now tentacleTherapist: Working on it?
turntech Godhead: yeah my bros copy long story
hey
dont tell john this but i think he might have been right about the puppets theyre sort of starting to freak me out a little tentacleTherapist: You're referring to your brother's collection?
turntech Godhead: i mean dont get me wrong i think its cool and all
the semi-ironic puppet thing or whatever
or semi-semi ironic
man i dont even know
im just starting to think some of this shit is going a little far and its kind of fucked up tentacleTherapist: I've seen his websites.
I like them.
turntech Godhead: haha yeah well YOU WOULD oh man i wish lil cal wouldn't look at me like that with those dead eyes jesus sometimes i dream that he's real and he's talking to me and i wake up in a cold sweat and basically flip the fuck out tentacleTherapist: Interesting...
turntech Godhead: oh god why did i just tell you my dream
youre going to have a field day with that tentacleTherapist: I am currently scrawling notes furiously into one of the many psychoanalysis journals I maintain for you. Published papers forthcoming.
Because, you know, it's not like either of us have anything better to do at the moment than to evaluate each other's radically debilitating pathologies.
turntech Godhead: yeah im gonna get moving
oh have you heard from john
he's not answering me
tentacleTherapist: He won't answer me either.
But I am watching him.
I suspect he is preoccupied with the fact that he just had a bucket of water dumped on his head by the ghost of his dead grandmother, who also happens to be dressed like a clown.
turntech Godhead: hahahaha alright im out later

Seconds in the future, but not many...

[Image description: It shows the incident where Rose hit John in the head with the red box while he threw a fit.]

pesterlog
tentacleTherapist: John, what are you doing?
Snap out of it.
We ought to discuss what your grandmother told you, don't you think?
Fine. Enjoy your stupor.
I'll go about my business elsewhere.

Rose: Deploy the Punch Designix.

[Image description: It shows the office. Rose drags the piano away and places the Punch Designix in it's place at the cost of 4 shale, leaving 6 in the cache. The designix has a slanted interface and a flat, table-like surface that butt up to each other. On the slanted portion, there are several panels, a slot about the length of a captchalogue card, and a typewriter that comes out and rests on the table portion.]

pesterlog
tentacleTherapist: John, whenever you read this, you should know I put the shale you collected to use and finally deployed the Punch Designix.
It is in your study.
I can only drop it though. You'll have to be the one to mess around with it and see what it does. When you're finished with your weird histrionics, maybe you could give it a try?
I'm updating my walkthrough, and it would help to know what it does.

John: Rebuild the claw hammer and return it to specibus.

[Image description: John captchalogues the hammer handle, then captchalogues the hammerhead onto the same card, merging them back into the hammer. The strife portfolio appears in the top right corner and the hammer flies into the hammerkind specibus.]

You are getting way better at this sort of thing.

John: Confront Pogo Ride to prepare yourself for Nanna.

[Image description: John looks down and shakes his fist, an angry but determined expression on his face. A second image shows him doing the same thing, but viewed through the window from the outside of the house. It looks decidedly more foolish from this perspective.]

Thank God your sanity has returned so you can entertain extremely rational, coherent thoughts like this one.

You examine the pogo ride from the bathroom window. You do not like what you see.

No one but you.

Rose: Drop something heavy on one of those imps.

[Image description: Rose picks up the piano, causing the imp at the piano and the imp eating cake to run away. She lifts the piano over the one on the pogo bouncer and drops it. This breaks the piano, but also kills the imp, leaving behind a large shale and three small build grist.]

ectoBiologist: rose my piano!!!
(Sad face)
tentacleTherapist: Sorry.
No nuance to these controls at all.
I was hoping to bludgeon the imp without letting go of it. Guess I can't really do that.
A broken piano isn't the end of the world though.
ectoBiologist: i guess you're right.
tentacleTherapist: You'll need to pick up the spoils in person. I can't interact with the grist.
ectoBiologist: so...
that means i have to go out the back door?
tentacleTherapist: Yes. Is there a problem?
ectoBiologist: well it may sound dumb, but i was hoping to avoid nanna and her spooky ghost cookies.
tentacleTherapist: You're right, that does sound dumb.
ectoBiologist: can you see her in the kitchen?
tentacleTherapist: Yeah.
ectoBiologist: what's she doing, is she baking?
tentacleTherapist: You could say that.
ectoBiologist: are you SURE you can't get that grist up to me somehow?
tentacleTherapist: Maybe.

Rose: Use pogo ride to fling grist through window.

[Image description: Rose clicks the pogo bouncer and drags it downward, compressing the spring. When she releases, it pops back up, but nothing else happens.]

Doesn't look like that grist is going anywhere.

You just never know with these gaming abstractions.

Next

[Image description: Rose clicks the pogo bouncer again, but this time she drags it upwards. The spring puts up a little resistance, but it pops out of the ground after just a moment, bringing a small bit of grass up with it. On the bouncer are the large piece of shale and the largest of the three build grist.]

Rose: Drop pogo ride in John's bathroom.

[Image description: John stands in the bathroom, watching as Rose deposits the pogo bouncer and grist into the bathtub.]

John: Get grist.

[Image description: The grist pops into John's grist cache, the bars for which appeared in the bottom right corner of the panel. Now John has 38 of 50 build grist and 26 of 50 shale. John smiles.]

pesterlog
tentacleTherapist: There you go. Now why don't you check out the Designix? You can do that while I get to work.
ectoBiologist: on what?
Piano: Level up for slaying the imp.

[Image description: It shows the yard where the broken piano sits with the two remaining bits of build grist.]

The piano in its valiant effort has unfortunately been slain.

But if it hadn't, it would have raked in so many boondollars, you have no idea.

So many.

Rose: It's time to build.

[Image description: It shows John's front yard and house. The yard is filled with imps, one of which clings to a tree branch. On the roof, one hides behind the magic chest Rose put there a while back. Using the Revise cursor, which looks like the sburb house logo disassembled, Rose drags a narrow rectangle from the narrow walkway up along the side of the house. When she releases, it turns into a stairway with a small platform at the top that ascends to the top of the roof. This action costs 18] build grist, bringing the cache down to 20.]

pesterlog
tentacleTherapist: Nanna said to build, so that's what I'm doing.
extoBiologist: oh yeah. ok.
tentacleTherapist: But this sure is going to take a lot of grist.
Looks like you're going to be busy, John.
extoBiologist: blargh!
well, what are you building?
tentacleTherapist: Stairs.
They are fairly expensive actually.
extoBiologist: oh man...
extoBiologist: i could have warned you about stairs, rose!

Next

[Image description: The image shifts over to focus on the narrow walkway. At the end of it is a shale imp. Still using the Revise cursor, Rose drags a rectangle over most of the narrow walkway. When she releases, the part she selected disappears, dropping the shale imp down into the void. This regains 6 build grist, bringing the cache up to 26. A second image shows Rose sitting in the mausoleum. A thought bubble showing a pulsing image of Hella Jeff saying I told you dog! Takes up the top right corner. Rose covers her mouth and giggles.]

pesterlog
tentacleTherapist: I'll try recouping some of the grist from the catwalk I built earlier.
extoBiologist: It Keeps Hapening tentacleTherapist: Ah, good. Looks like I can get a refund for earlier allocations.
extoBiologist: i told you rose
i TOLD you about stairs!
tentacleTherapist: Ok.
Consider me fully briefed on the matter of stairs.
Now if you don't mind, it's hard enough to concentrate on this without immersing ourselves in Strider's non sequitur.
extoBiologist: did you know he thinks puppets are cool?
tentacleTherapist: Does he?
extoBiologist: he's so dumb!!

Rose: Use build grist to construct observation tower on roof

[Image description: Rose drags a large square over the roof at the level of the top of the stairs she just made. This costs 25 build grist, leaving only 1 in the cache.]

Ok, you obviously don't have enough grist yet for something that ambitious. But you can get started with something of a foundation for upward construction, at least.

John: Check cabinets for imps or useful items.

No imps in here. Just a lot of shaving cream.

Dads love shaving. It's basically all they do. (When they're not baking, that is.)
John: Bring 2 cans of shaving cream.

[Image description: John captchalogues 2 cans of shaving cream. This forces the telescope out of the sylladex and sends it flying. It lands in the hole left from the pogo bouncer. Nearby, two imps look at the broken piano.]

You captchalogue two cans of shaving cream just in case. You never know when you'll need to bust out a hilarious shaving cream santa beard to ratchet up your prankster's gambit.

Your telescope goes flying out the window.

John: Ride pogo ride.

[Image description: John captchalogues the pogo bouncer, expelling the towel from his sylladex.]

It's a little cramped in here for any sort of proper reckless pogoing. You'll just grab it and hang on to it until the right moment presents itself.

Next

The Towel floats back down to the rack.

The circle of stupidity is complete.

Rose: Check up on Nannaquin, see what's cookin'!

[Image description: It shows Rose's computer screen as she watches Nannasprite in the kitchen. Nannasprite floats by the oven, which is currently baking something. Every flat surface is piled high with cookies. In the corner, a shale imp bounces.]

Next

[Image description: It shows a close up of the shale imp's gross, clawlike hands as it reaches for a cookie. Suddenly it cuts to Nannasprite's face as she charges an eye laser and blasts the imp. The imp explodes into a small piece of shale, two small pieces of build grist, and a large piece of build grist.]

John: Make your way to the study.

[Image description: John stands in the hallway outside his bedroom. The poster of Michael Cera and the clown painting are smeared with oil, as is the floor. Two imps stand at the top of the stairs. One brandishes a clown bust at John and the other holds a fire poker like it's a lance. The one with the bust wears John's wizard hat. John looks angry and shouts at them.]

Next

[Image description: It zooms out to show the rest of the living room. There are imps on the stairs and imps all over the room. One sits on the curio cabinet, two stand by the fireplace, one stands on the couch, one plays with the cruxtruder, and one rolls around on top of a cruxite dowel. There are blue dowels everywhere. Everything is smeared with oil.]

It looks like the imps have taken a shining to the Cruxtruder.

Cruxite and black goo. Everywhere.

John: Ride Slimer pogo and one-up that imp.
Well ok, it's not a Slimer pogo, but you mount it anyway and brandish your deadly armaments.

John: Ride your steed to victory.

This is incredibly dangerous!

John: Flip the fuck out.

Let's see how they like the old doublebarrel latherblaster WHOOPS OH SHIT.

mister john, respectfully ask that you please stand up.

Don't move or the pogo gets it now sir boy, flee from this boorish rabble post haste.

Things are really looking up for this feisty appliance.

well done, john. polite congratulations.

[Image description: John stands in the study, smiling. Everything is splattered with oil and an imp sits at the desk wearing the top hat and holding a few playing cards.]

For some reason you feel a sense of positive reinforcement. Wherever that feeling is coming from, it sure is a welcome change from your erratic moods earlier.

now my civil fellow, i have a well mannered query to ask

pesterlog
tentacleTherapist: I blocked the entrance to the study to give you some space to work with the Designix.
John, imps behind you.
Should I take care of it?
You trapped your PDA again, didn't you.
Why did you have to pick up all that stupid shaving cream?
So pointless.

Rose: Drop something heavy on one of those imps.

[Image description: Rose picks up the safe and carries it above the house. This reveals a note taped to the wall behind the safe and a pink captchalogue card below it. She drops the safe above the platform she just made on the roof and it falls, punching a hole through the platform and roof. It lands on top of the imp with the umbrella, killing it and breaking open the safe. A large, dingy version of Colonel Sassacre's pops out of the safe.]

john might i bother you for a can opener?

[Image description: John puts a finger to his chin in thought, a speech bubble with a can opener in it hovering above his head. Behind him, the imp that was at the desk looks at the safe that killed its comrade.]

Oblivious to the commotion behind you, suddenly you find yourself pondering the whereabouts of a can opener.

You think there is probably one in the kitchen, but the path is blocked by your refrigerator.

[Image description: It shows Rose's screen as she watches John, who shrugs and wiggles his head in a very strange-looking manner. A white arm pokes through the large poster on the wall.]

John is completely unresponsive.

But let's not get totally carried away here.

A studious eye darts about a page like a honeybee gathering the nectar of wisdom.

"Thank You"
"You Are Welcome"
"Good Day"
"How Do You Do?"
"Splendid, And You?"

Underneath them is the word Gratification. Underneath that is a grey outline of a head. An arrow points from the list to the head's ear and another arrow points from Gratification to the brain, which has a smiley face in it. An arrow goes from the head's mouth to a box that reads

[Z301] Appendix 3 -- Screen Captures, part 1

I can't take as many as I'd like to for comprehensive documentation. For what it's worth, here's what I've managed to collect so far. More captures forthcoming.

0413sprite [Image description: John and the sprite before it became nannasprite stand in the kitchen.] Co-player John assesses environment after transition to Medium. Followed by Sprite, sans Kernel, prototyped once pre-hatch. Completely useless in this form.

0413power [Image description: John and the sprite stand by the severed power cables in the backyard.] Severed from suburban grid, house remains mysteriously powered. Convenience presumably facilitated by game which perhaps deems navigating a powerless house to be a handicap less in keeping with spirit of game's principal statement of challenge.

0413internet [Image description: John sits at his computer desk.] Internet connection remains stable as well. Will likely remain stable until the Internet itself is compromised by some external threat. Something like, oh, let's say hackers.

0413build [Image description: It shows two images- one of Rose dragging the cursor to create the narrow walkway and one of the narrow walkway in place.] Kill monsters, get grist, build on to house. That's the game. Didn't know what the point of this was at the time. Floundering trial and error on exhibit.

0413prototype [Image description: It shows Rose dragging the Colonel Sassacre's book towards the sprite while John distracts it.] Unsuccessful attempt at tier 2 prototyping. Knowing what I know now, I might have avoided using a back-breaking vade mecum for practical jokesters rife with antiquated lexicon and racist aphorisms. Either that, or I might have tried harder to succeed.

0413disconnect [Image description: It shows the outside of the house as Rose attempted to lift the car right before it dropped into the ash.] Final screen capture before I lost my internet signal for a time. I don't know what happened thereafter, but when I returned, the car was nowhere to be found, and the driveway-plateau was in a state of disrepair. The mysteries -- will they ever cease?

0413nanna [Image description: John and Nannasprite stand or hover in John's bedroom.] Sprite prototyped once more with grandmother's remains. She treats John to some helpful exposition in a friendly and maternal (grandmaternal?) manner.

0413weirdo [Image description: It shows John in the midst of his temper tantrum over cookies.] Co-player has displayed inexplicably capricious behavior since arrival. Stress-related? Contracted virus indigenous to realm? It should be noted he was kind of a weird guy anyway.

0413designix [Image description: It shows Rose deploying the designix.] Designix deployed. Still no clue what this does. At mercy of co-player's foolish prioritization tendencies.

0413grist [Image description: It shows the pogo bouncer and piano after she killed the imp in the front yard.] Grist payload from slain foe. Whether I deal the damage or co-player does, yield is same. Though I have a significant advantage in battle, taking measures into my own hands deprives John of hand-to-hand combat experience, which ostensibly will become more critical later.

0413steed [Image description: It shows John beating up the imps at the top of the stairs while riding the pogo bouncer.] "Ah, steeds, steeds, what steeds! Has the whirlwind a home in your manes? Is there a sensitive ear, alert as a flame, in your every fiber? Hearing the familiar song from above, all in one accord you strain your bronze chests and, hooves barely touching the ground, turn into straight lines cleaving the air, and all inspired by God it rushes on!"

0413barbasolbandit [Image description: It shows John spraying shaving cream everywhere just before he falls off the pogo bouncer.] Yeah, I...
I have no idea what the fuck he's doing here.

0413really [Image description: It shows the broken open safe with the Colonel Sassacre's book.] Another one of these things. Really, Egbert family?
Really?

0413 hmm [Image description: It shows a screen with static over the whole image. The only things that can be made out are lines that give the faint impression of corners where walls meet each other or the floor.] A view of the kidnapped father's room. I can't see in here for some reason. Perhaps this is because John himself has never entered the room? It is possible that I can see only, in a sense, what John can see, or has seen already. I have not found the time to discuss this with him yet. If he enters the room, the question may answer itself.]

Rose: Construct loft above John's room.

[Image description: Rose clicks the chimney with the Revise cursor. This allows her to clone it, which she does 4 times on the roof above John's bedroom. This takes the build grist down by 10 each time, leaving 40 in the cache by the time she's done.]

Next

[Image description: She clicks and drags a large square over the chimneys she just placed, using them as legs for the platform. This costs 25 grist, leaving 15 in the cache.]

Next

[Image description: She clicks one of the railings of the balcony to clone it and drags it to the roof of the extension she put on John's room in the very beginning of the game. She turns it sideways and places it at the cost of 10 grist. She then extends it up to the new platform, taking the last 5 grist.]

fellow john, it appears we have reached an impasse

Yes, it seems so.

the opener dilemma remains unsettled, most unfortunately

[Image description: John holds a finger to his chin and the images in the speech bubble flash so hard that the whole bubble shakes. Behind him, where the imp was, the curio cabinet sits, surrounded by a few pieces of grist.]

It is unfortunate.

I guess.

What are we talking about again?

but it has been a pleasure nonetheless.

Thanks for the courtesy.

It's not really necessary, but thanks anyway.

oh, but thank you

[Image description: John shrugs even harder and looks angry and confused. The speech bubble above him flashes quickly between PLEASE, THANK YOU, and an image of Wayward Vagabond. An alert with Rose's face hovers next to him with the Dave one. She looks angry. She uses the Select cursor to hit John with the top hat, which was crushed when the imp wearing it was killed.]

Ok.

thank you so very very much, dear favorable small primate

[Image description: It shows Rose in the mausoleum. She covers her face with the pillow and vibrates faintly. Next to her laptop, two alerts hover; one of Dave and one of John with a stupid expression on his face as his head tilts side to side repeatedly.]

i shall take my leave now john. until next time

[Image description: It shows the entirety of the study. There's grist everywhere. John wears the hat Rose hit him with.]

Wait, where did all this sweet loot come from?

And why is there suddenly a crumpled hat on your head?

John: Gather grist, examine designix.

[Image description: John stands by the designix, still wearing the hat.]

Feeling especially economical with your behavior suddenly, you scoop up all the grist in the room, and turn your attention to the Punch Designix all in one fell swoop.

The device features a counter-top station design with a keyboard setup, not unlike an old fashioned computer. There is a blinking red light, and a diagram etched into a panel.

Next

[Image description: It shows the diagram from the machine. It shows a captchalog card, then an arrow makes a loop and it shows the backside of the captchalog card. An arrow points from there to a typewriter. Next to the typewriter, it shows a captchalog card being inserted into a slot.]

Rose: Answer Dave.

tentacleTherapist: Then let's hope there will be a squishy derriere somewhere below the handle to break your fall.

John: Observe back of the first visible captchalogue card.

You flip over the top card containing your Pogo ride. Any time you captchalogue something, a new code appears on the back of the card. You've always wondered what the code was for.

Damn these things are hard to read. But then, you've never really found any reason to decipher them.

Until now, perhaps?

John: Examine reverse side of hammer card in strife specibus

[Image description: It shows a green specibus card with the claw hammer. It reverses, revealing a Looks like cards from your strife deck have codes too.

John: Enter captcha code as seen on back of pogo ride card.

You enter the code "DQMmJLeK" into the keyboard. At least you think that's what the code is.

The red light switches off. A green light begins blinking.

John: Insert card.

In the interest of due diligence, you enter the other code and repeat the process with that card too.

Both cards are now punched with different hole patterns.

John: Attempt to retrieve pogo from card.

Oh, well that should just be a simple matter of...

Uh oh. It looks like it's trapped now. You don't see how you can access the item anymore, or store a new item there for that matter. These cards are pretty much useless now, and the items they contain are toast!

But maybe all is not lost. Recalling from your experience with the pre-punched card, you may be able to use the cards to replicate the items in question.

Assuming you got the codes right, that is...

John: Mash keys heedlessly.

Not quite through with your cowboy empiricism just yet, you mash at the keyboard to generate a random code.

You enter "dskjhsdk". The Designix stops you after eight characters, which appears to be the maximum length for a code. The green light goes on, signaling its readiness for a card.
You figure you might as well burn the shaving cream since the product is not exactly at a premium in your household. You also figure you might as well merge the two cans on to one card.

You're a little sad that your dad isn't around for this. You have a feeling he would get a real kick out of the idea of duplicating more shaving cream.

Mad science is a lot of fun.

Unfortunately, you just burned another card in the process. Your deck is really dwindling now. Maybe you should have thought this through a little better.

On the plus side, you just freed up your PDA, which is overflowing with the pent-up chatter of anxious pesterers.

John: Answer your chums.

they're so narrow! i'm supposed to climb those?

tentacleTherapist: Will you?
ectoBiologist: yeah, why not?
tentacleTherapist: Are you saying you've never wondered what's in there? Or why it's been kept a secret from you?
ectoBiologist: well, i mean yeah... tentacleTherapist: Then trust me. You won't be going "right on through."
ectoBiologist: wait, are you saying there's something, like... troubling in there?
tentacleTherapist: I don't know.
ectoBiologist: what do you mean? what do you see in there?
tentacleTherapist: I can't see in there.
ectoBiologist: oh.
tentacleTherapist: But I don't have a very good feeling about it.

i think i can handle a few more stupid clown paintings.

Rose: Move punched cards to John's room.

[Rose: Drag some cruxite dowels up to John's room.

John: Collect grist, examine safe.

You swoop up the bountiful supply of grist generated by your co-player's recent exploits. From now on it will probably go without saying that you'll nab any grist lying around without making a big fuss over it.

You check out the busted safe, which has made a noble sacrifice in battle. Some of your father's odds and ends have spilled out, including some old newspaper clippings, and two rather hefty tomes. It's a fair bet that these books comprised at least half the weight of the safe.

John: Examine family tome of humour.

It's another copy of Colonel Sassacre's Daunting Text of Magical Frivolity and Practical Japery. This one looks really old, perhaps an original printing. Could it be the same one involved with your grandmother's unfortunate accident on that fateful day? Dad would never speak a word about it, but maybe Nanna wouldn't be so tight-lipped?

You give it a cursory perusal. It appears to be similar to your reprinting, listing all the japes and chicanery you have come to know and love. You captchalogue it, thinking you may give it a closer look later.

John: Examine contents of safe.

The Fatherly Gent's Shaving Almanac

It is a grey book with the title written in an old-fashioned font at the top of the cover. Below the title is a white silhouette of a man wearing a fedora flanked by two old fashioned straight razors and a lather brush.

You take a look at the other book. You're sure DAD thought this was a scintillating read, but it looks pretty boring to you. Maybe you'll crack into it some day when you're old enough to shave.
Everything in this safe was obviously very important to your father. You wonder why he kept it locked away from you?

Some things about him you will never understand.

John: Turn the card over.

[Image description: It shows the back of the card, which reads 02-49-13.] You guess this is the combination to the safe.

This is completely useless.

John: Examine back of captchaclone card on floor.

[Image description: John picks up the captchaclone card. A second image shows the back, which has pink static-y designs with blue and yellow lines crossing it. The code reads 00000000.] You guess these are all zeros? Or are they capital O's? Zeros would probably make more sense for an empty card, you think.

John: Captchalogues the card.

John: Punch card.

Chump change for the genteel, aristocratic southern colonel.

Bathtub: Level up for slaying the imp.

[Image description: The bathtub pulses in the center of the screen against a vibrating background of wavy blue lines that resemble water. In the corners, 4 small bathtubs spin quickly.]

The bathtub surges heroically and surpasses the rung: Archimedes' Aquacradle, proceeding directly to vaunted rung: Taft-jammer. The tub makes off with a cool 490 boondollars.

The tub's Basin Capacity remains unaffected.

Safe: Level up for slaying the imp.

[Image description: It shows a burning viking boat floating on a green-black sea. In the boat is the broken safe. The sky behind it is banded in red, like it's a sunset.]

The safe was slain in battle. A great flaming nautical pyre carries it off to Vaulthalla.

John: Make your way up those stairs, posthaste.

You're not sure. They look pretty precarious to you.

But you've been assured the stairs are perfectly navigable.

You wander over to the place where your Bro keeps his sweet turntable gear. Man that setup is sweet. You feel pangs of jealousy whenever you walk by it. Really cool jealousy, though. Like the kind where instead of getting all worked up about it, you don't actually give a shit.

One of your brother's rad and extremely expensive ninja swords is missing though.

You know this drill all too well. Trouble's a brewin'.

Dave: Take expensive ninja sword.

[Image description: Dave stands a little closer to the tables. The sword on the rack disappears in a blur.]

What sword?

Dave: Exit your bro's room.

[Image description: Dave stands next to the door to the right of the turntables. A blur crosses the screen and suddenly Lil Cal is sitting on the turntables.]

Ok, some of this stuff you KNOW he's just leaving around to get under your skin. This is obviously another ploy in his relentless siege of one-upsmanhip to get your goat (the same goat you've been meaning to bleat like ironically, but that will still have to wait for a more appropriate time).

You think he knows that deep down you feel like you're still not ironic enough to get stuff like this, and this is probably some weird gauntlet he's throwing down to see if you will "GET IT".

But honestly you think this material is just a little TOO ironic. You just don't need to see this shit right now.

No sign of BRO in here either.

Well, aside from the absurd quantity of awesome dangerous stuff he leaves lying around.

Dave: Transfer katana to strife specibus.

[Image description: Dave's captchalogue cards appear on the left side of the screen. The number 9 card slides out and the strife specibus card appears in the top right corner. The katana moves from the captchalogue to the specibus.]

With an escalating sense of threat, you think it's time you shift (9) your katana (9) to your specibus.

You figure it's better to free up the card anyway, since you might need to grab some of this stuff.

Dave: Set Blender to "Mix".
You guess bro stuck some fake blood capsules in that puppet? Pretty gross.

Dave: Hide evidence in microwave.

See, like, his hobbies are cool and all, and you guess he's got to put his shit SOMEWHERE. But what if you just wanted to heat up a burrito or something?

This kitchen is pretty much useless.

Dave: Grab those fireworks.

Dave stands by the counter. It zooms in on the blender, revealing that the green shape inside was a small green puppet. Dave's hand comes on screen from the left and presses a button. The puppet vibrates for a second and swirling lines appear around it, then it breaks into small green pieces and red bursts from it.

Dave: Grab those fireworks.

Dave stands by the sink. The number 5 card with the box slides out of the captchalogue. The fireworks except 1 disappear from the sink and appear inside the blue box.

You captchalogue all the fireworks $(2+1+2+1+2+1+2+2+2 = 15)$ (divided by) $10 = (remainder) 5$ the sink has to offer.

You just KNOW these are going to come in handy. Why would they be in the sink if they weren't?

Looks like one of them is still stuck in the garbage disposal.

Dave: Captchalogue Shurikens.

[Image description: Dave stands by the counter and captchalogue the throwing stars, which are also called shurikens. This forces the box of fireworks from the deck.]

You grab the shurikens (5) and...

Hey! Careful where you're putting stuff, especially if you're looking to turn your sylladex into a powder-keg full of sharp things.

Or card 3, apparently. That settles that, you guess.

Dave: Take nunchaku.

[Image description: Dave takes the nunchucks, expelling the box of fireworks.]

You take the nunchaku (3), once again grabbing without thinking ahead.

Next

[Image description: Dave takes a grounded stance and captchalogue the box again, instantly jumping up as this throws the throwing stars from the deck. They embed themselves in the fridge as the words Dude Dodge appear on screen.]

First you captchalogue the box (5) again, while adeptly avoiding the shuriken trap, which you yourself set only moments ago.

Next

[Image description: Dave drops back down onto the floor and stands up, captchaloguing the fireworks back into the box.]

You again round up all the fireworks. Time to regroup here.

Dave: Captchalogue each shuriken individually.

[Image description: Dave turns towards the fridge and captchalogue each throwing star onto card 3, one by one. The nunchucks fall on the floor. The game bro magnet falls off the fridge and sticks to the microwave. The Hella Jeff picture gently floats to the floor.]

You grab each shuriken (3) one at a time, knocking out those nunchaku.
But no worries. You've got a plan.

Dave: Captchalogue nunchucks.

[Image description: Dave takes the nunchucks.]

You take the nunchucks (6). Everything seems to be in order now.

It would have been badass to go with the authentic Japanese names for each weapon, but sometimes you've just got to compromise with this modus.

Dave: Examine fetch modus.

C=1; V=2;
A=1; B=2; C=3; …]

You flip over your Fetch modus and check out the back.

You're not really sure where it is you're keeping this thing. Oh well, who cares.

Dave: Press EJECT button.

[Image description: The eject button depresses and a yellow box appears off to the side. A red exclamation point flashes inside a captchalogue card at the top of it. Below that, it reads Eject all items from sylladex? It has a yes and a no button below it.]

Oh hell no. Not after all that trouble you went through to get that stuff situated.

This is potentially a very dangerous button.

Dave: Change to Scrabble Points Hash Modus.

[Image description: In the Add box beneath the hash function list, it reads A=1; B=3; C=3; D=2]

A second screen shows this function at the top of the list inside a flashing grey box. The alert appears off to the side, now reading Changing hash function will eject sylladex. Are you sure?

First you program your modus with a scrabble points hash function, adding it to the list.

A=1;
B=3;
C=3;
D=2;
E=1;
F=4;
This might be a cool function to use, but it looks like you'll have to empty your sylladex to select it. You're just not gonna do that yet. No way.

Dave: Check the box "detect collisions".

[Image description: The detect collisions option now has a small black X next to it.]

Ok.

Dave: Take the skateboard.

[Image description: Dave stands by the stove, looking at the smuppet on the skateboard. Now visible past the end of the counter is a pile of sound boards on a bed of cinderblocks. On top of the pile are a bunch of hats, several of which have fallen onto the floor, and a marionette dressed in pink pants, a blue coat, gold chains, and red sunglasses.]

And just what is this guy so happy about? What's he looking at up there?

You think if you see one more soft, bulbous bottom being like kind of jutting out and impudent or whatever you're gonna fly off the handle.

Next

[Image description: The screen flashes black for a moment and the motion blur crosses it again. Dave slices off the tip of the smuppet's proboscis, sending it flying into the sink. The tip of the proboscis floats slowly down to land on the skateboard.]

Next

[Image description: Dave tries to take the skateboard, but the 6 card with the nunchucks flashes red. He places it in card 7 instead.]
You take the skateboard (6).

Actually, no you don't. A collision has been detected.

You take the... Uh...

Wheeled...

Uh...

Ride (7).

Man, your inventory's nomenclature is getting lamer by the minute.

Dave: Captchalogue the unplugged powercord.

[Image description: Dave stands next to the pile of sound boards, trying to take an item from the pile. The 5 card with the box of fireworks flashes.]

You take the power cord (5)... wait, no. Not going to work.

Dave: Think of a new word for powercord.

[Image description: Dave tries to put it in card 8 where the iphone is, but it flashes. He puts it in card 9 instead. A blur crosses the screen and suddenly the tip of the proboscis disappears from the stove.]

You take the battery pack (8). Dammit.

You take the battery pack (9), using the 'y' as a consonant. Your sylladex reluctantly accepts.

It's a tactic notoriously employed by hashmap noobs, but you just don't care about that now. Besides, it's not like your Bro is around to see.

Dave: Search for some MAD SNACKS YO.

[Image description: Dave stands by the fridge.]

Oh, it was just Lil' Cal again. You can never stay mad at him.

Anyway, you've got to get this way rude hunger under control. You figure you oughta scope the fridge for some grub. This hunger is so ill-mannered it would make a room full of snooty dowagers commit mass suicide.

Dave: Open refrigerator.

[Image description: Dave opens the left door of the fridge and does a backflip out of the way of a Oh god more shitty swords.

Of course you knew these were in here. You're not even sure why you looked.

If you want to keep any food or beverages in this apartment, you've pretty much got no choice but to hide stuff away in your closet.

Dave: Take swords.

[Image description: The swords go into card 2. The fridge door is now closed.]

The hell with it. You try to take the entire jumble of unbelievably shitty swords and brace yourself for...

Looks like that works, actually. (2)

You captchalogue the jumble of unbelievably shitty swords.

Dave: Use ice maker, it's still hot around here.

[Image description: Dave reaches up to press the ice dispenser on the right door of the fridge. Small round, red objects tumble out.]

You dispense several cherry bombs.

Next

[Image description: It shows a close up of the fridge where a faint reflection of Lil Cal stares out.]

Wait...

Who's that looking at you in the reflection?

Next

Where'd the little dude scamper off to this time?

Dave: Captchalogue cherry bombs.

[Image description: Dave tries and fails to captchalogue the cherry bombs into card 9 where the power cord is, then puts them in card 1.]

You go for the cherry bombs (9) unsuccessfully.

After mulling it over a bit, you take the red spherical salutes (1).

Dave: Take blender.

[Image description: Dave puts the blender into card 4.]
Blender (2) is a pretty simple word, and you can already tell that's not going to work.

Instead you take the...

Whirling blade pitcher (4).

That's really a much better name for it anyway, you think.

Dave: Activate garbage disposal.

Dave: Stuff down mr purple guy into the garbage disposal.

You're still not sure what he's so happy about, or what he's looking at up there.

Next

While you're at it, you dump the contents of the blender, oops I mean whirling blade pitcher, into the disposal. But you suffer an unfortunate garbage disposal head jam.

You notice something in the reflection. Something above you.

Dave: Look up.

It's the hatch to the crawlspace above your apartment. Bro's always tucking away in there when he's busting out his rad stealth stunts. He's so slick that dangling cord never even jostles.

You just know he's being ironic with these weird mind games. There's no way anyone could be serious about aping those shitty movies.

Dave: Use the turntables and cinderblocks to make a fort.

It's a pretty sweet fort you just made and you're pretty sure your brother would agree. Under different circumstances, you might be high-fiving over it right now.

But rather than get inside and take her for a spin, you really just need to use it to get up to that hatch.

Dave: Yank cord.
It is time to face your destiny. No going back now.

Next

This is so much fun.

A huge waste of time, yes. But so much fun.

John: Carve a totem of the punched pogo card.

cards in a much less orderly arrangement. John takes one of the punched cards and a dowel, inserts them both into the machine, and watches it carve a new totem. This one has a small dip, a small bulge, a large dip, then a large bulge.

You put the punched card containing the pogo ride in the slot, and carve a totem from one of the cruxite dowels.

John: Repeat process with other cards and dowels.

You use the card containing the code for the hammer, as well as the one with the random code you punched over the shaving cream card for the hell of it. You carve the respective totems for the cards.

John: Do same thing with captchalogue captchalogue card.

You make a totem for a captchalogue card.

Pretty bare bones looking totem, if you ask me.

Rose: Collect totems.

[Image description: It shows the back of two fetch modi. The left one is pink and the right one is orange. Other than that, the backs are identical. At the top, there's a large Eject button, and below that is two buttons reading FILO and FIFO in a toggle arrangement- if one is pressed, the other un-presses. A cursor clicks the FILO and FIFO buttons alternatingly on both cards. When FILO is pressed, they are pink and when FIFO is pressed it is orange. Apparently, John has 2 copies of the same fetch modus in different modes, not 2 different modi like he believed.]

You flip your fetch modi but find no such option.

This is idiotic.

John: Read book. Be the wise guy.

A second image shows a page from the book. At the top of the page it shows a white silhouette of a man playing a wind instrument, perhaps an oboe, against a city skyline. To the right of the image, it shows a man wearing a fedora and a suit. He has a mischievous smirk on his face.

An Introduction: Who's This Wise Guy?
"Blood Loss in the Big Easy"

The text is in two columns with a picture of a man with his feet on a desk and a gavel in his hand between them. The picture is captioned "Harry and I never speak anymore"

New Orleans, 1977. The close-up room at the Magic Castle was this mean little box that tended to fill up with so much smoke you'd swear someone was cremating a wet dog in there.

In walks Anderson. There isn't much that gets liquor to pause its journey from the table to my lips but I'll be the bastard lovechild of a listless octoroon if that kid wasn't the cat that swallowed the canary in a dapper little hat. It looked like he was testing the tensile strength of his suspenders to the damn near limit with a pair of cocky thumbs. I wasn't impressed.

But I was a fool.

Somehow in my motion for another beverage he'd already slipped into polite conversation at a table held down by some notoriously brusque regulars. He had them in no time flat. They were melting butter in his glass ramekins. Whatever tidy yarn he'd spun to win them over, I didn't catch a word of it. One of them laughed. I was angry. Envious? Maybe a little. Yeah, you bet I was.

Anderson had one of those little wooden finger choppers that Micky Hades used to sell. The kind where the blade could be removed and clearly shown. It was a very convincing little guillotine that did not look like a novelty store toy. Harry would get a guy to examine the chopper and then cut a cigarette in half. Then he held the guy's hand up and told this silly story. The story of course was artifice, a distraction for the guy and the audience while he worked his stuff with the chopper.

Or it would become that, once his famous chopper trick was perfected, vaulting him to fame, fortune, and the crowning position in the television judiciary.

With what became his signature aplomb, Anderson was in moments a font of breast-pocket gauze, profuse apology, and redoubling determination. It's really amazing how hard it is to find a bloody sausage-sized piece of a guy on the floor of a room that dark and smoky. Impossible, I think we all proved. Just as impossible as Blind Willie Buttermilk Stubbs was going to find it to work his trumpet tomorrow night without his "twiddlin' fingers", a-

You never really understood what Caveney's relation to Anderson was, or why he wrote this book about him. His ambivalent attitude toward your favorite magician in these anecdotes always struck you as a little weird, and to be honest, you tend not to read much of the text in the book. You mostly like to look at the diagrams for all the cool tricks.

"A Hole in the Ace"
(a.k.a. The A-Hole Trick)

Here is a perfect example of how Harry could ruin several decks of cards, waste everyone's valuable time, and have you love him for it. He was good at that.

One day he noisily emptied his suit jacket pocket onto the hood of his car in search of change for the meter. A clunky metal thing slid from the pile and bounced on the sidewalk. As I retrieved it for him I asked what he was doing with a hole puncher in his pocket.

His face lit up at the question like he was an elf and I asked him how he felt about climbing into the hollow of a big tree to bake some cookies or something. (The two foot, six inch height differential between us causes these comparisons to enter my mind.)

A small crowd had already gathered around even before he produced the first pack of unmolested cards. How people seem to gather, and how they even know a street performance is about to take place, I'll never know. It's perhaps Anderson's greatest trick. Luring the marks like that.

I wanted to ask if he was sure about this, performing in broad daylight. He was used to working in dark rooms. It was usually the first thing out of his mouth when he would queer a trick. "I'm really more accustomed to working in a darker room than this." But Harry was excited, and had already butchered the first deck of cards with the hole puncher, and issued the first round of apologies to the crowd. These were the primer apologies, the sort that got the folks loosened up a bit before the seven course meal of ingratiating that would inevitably follow.

He asked me for a fresh deck of cards and I gave him one.

The principle behind the trick in theory, as he explained to me later, was to punch holes in what appeared to be one card, but was in fact two or more together (hence the difficulty he often had in squeezing the puncher with his little elfish hands). Then using some coy maneuvers with his thumb, temporarily concealing the hole while he slid the card beneath it with his palm, the hole would seem to disappear, or move to another part of the card.]

Oh yeah, that's right. The old Hole in the Ace trick, interestingly enough, pertaining to punching holes in cards and making them "disappear" and stuff. Your hands were never really strong enough to make this one work all that well either.

But actually... this gives you an idea.

Next

You overlap two of the punched cards. They mask each other's hole patterns.

John: Put both cards in totem lathe.

You carve another totem using the new combined hole pattern.

John: Take it to the alchemiter.

Oh man, looks like Rose made like a million hammers for some reason.

Get all this shit out of the way, you're about to make something sweet!

Next

You got the pogo hammer.

John: Practice with new weapon.

pesterlog
tentacleTherapist: What did you do?
ectoBiologist: i combined the cards in the lathe thingy and made this!
it is so sweet, man look at me go.
tentacleTherapist: I see.
That was a really good idea, John. Nice work.
ectoBiologist: thanks!
i got the idea from harry anderson.
tentacleTherapist: Who?
ectoBiologist: uh, you know the show night court?
tentacleTherapist: No.
ectoBiologist: oh.
well bottom line is...
he's awesome
that's really all there is to say on the matter!

John: Attack the nearest imp to test pogo hammer's strength.

[Image description: John bounces the hammer back and forth, getting faster and faster each time until he flips off of the platform and smashes the imp so hard that both the pogo bouncer and John fly up and off the screen.]

You get a vicious rhythmic bouncing combo going and easily slay the imp in one blow.

You and the pogo ride are catapulted sky-high in the process.

Next

[Image description: It shows the pogo bouncer flying through the air above the platform Rose made above John's room. In the top right corner, a white arm floats in the sky.]

Next

[Image description: It shows John's front yard. The pogo bouncer falls from the sky and lands in the tree, knocking an imp from one of the branches.]

Next

[Image description: It shows the hole punched in a platform. Rose drags John's bed over the hole just moments before John tumbles on screen, dropping the hammer as he lands. Below the panel, the words Sweet Catch flash.]

Next

[Image description: It shows a zoomed out image of most of the house, showing John on the platform and imps standing on the roof, one of which is near a hammer. A second image shows a lower view of the house. The imp on the roof picked up the hammer and several imps stand in the front yard. A third image shows a close up image of the side of the house. Through the hole into the study, a very large black leg and part of a side can be seen. The creature, whatever it is, is wearing harlequin clothes.]

Next

[Image description: It shows a long, 3-panel long image of the tree in the front yard with the pogo bouncer in it. At the bottom, a large creature wearing a harlequin hat begins to climb up onto the plateau.]
Rose: Pester John.

[Image description: Rose clicks the bed, which John still lays on. It flashes red and refuses to move. Meanwhile, John pokes at the PDA.]

pesterlog
ectoBiologist: hey, that was a pretty, uh…
nice...

uh...
tentacleTherapist: Sweet catch?
ectoBiologist: ... save.
oh, yeah.

this is pretty comfy.

why don't you just like,
carry the bed around with me on it?

up to the gate up there!
tentacleTherapist: I can't interact with you directly, or anything that you are touching, if it will result in moving you.
See?
ectoBiologist: oh.
lame!
tentacleTherapist: The game probably regards that as a kind of cheating.
In a way, thieving you of your free will as an adventurer, and the need to advance by your own skill and ingenuity.
The server player is just a facilitator.
ectoBiologist: well, ok.

all that scurrying around kind of wore me out, i think i'm going to rest here for a bit.
rose, can you keep the imps at bay? like, drop some stuff on them if they sneak too close.
tentacleTherapist: No, you should pick up your hammer and defend yourself.
ectoBiologist: what, come on!
tentacleTherapist: I have no idea what the hell Dave is up to, or if he's any closer to recovering the game.

There's some stuff I'd like to try, in case he doesn't come through.
ectoBiologist: oh alright.
i'm just gonna rest my eyes here a second though.

[Image description: The song John Sleeps begins to play. John lays on his back, staring up at the blue spirographs in the sky, which cast a blue glow over him and reflect in his glasses. It cuts to an image of the spirograph against the black sky, then back to John. John slowly closes his eyes and the screen fades to black. A speech bubble with a large Z inside it bobs in the center of the screen.]

Rose: Check Alchemy Excursus.

[Image description: It shows the game menu with the last option, the Alchemy Excursus, which looks like a punched captchalogue card with an Erlenmeyer flask of green liquid next to it selected. There are three white boxes across the rest of the screen. The first one shows the pogo bouncer && the hammer equals the pogo hammer]

Looks like a sort of index documenting all the known results for punch card alchemy combinations.
This could be a convenient resource as you start to stumble on more useful card combinations. But ever since John started punching cards, you've been contemplating other ways this item manufacturing system could be put to use. In particular, if you obtain the code for any item at your disposal, you think you could theoretically send the code to John and he could make it himself.

That is, if you can think of anything that would be worth sending to him.

Rose: Captchalogue sburb Server CD.

You eject the disk and captchalogue the server cd.

Rose: Message John the Captcha code.

Oh God damn it.

gardenGnostic: hey!!!!
etcoBiologist: whoa, there you are!
gardenGnostic: how is your adventure going john?
etcoBiologist: it's ok, i am making some progress, and rose finally connected again so she is helping me now.
gardenGnostic: thats good!!
etcoBiologist: oh but, like...
i don't think i am actually saving the world here. (sad face)
i dunno what i'm really accomplishing but i guess it's not that.
gardenGnostic: hmm well i think whatever it is it must be pretty important!
dont lose hope john i think it will all turn out for the best if you stay positive....
just keep listening to your grandmothers advice!!!
etcoBiologist: yeah, you're probably right.
but, um...
i don't think i mentioned nanna to you, did i?
gardenGnostic: oh uhhhh.......
i dont know didn't you???
etcoBiologist: hmm, i dunno, maybe you talked to rose or dave about it or something.
gardenGnostic: yeah maybe that was it!!
etcoBiologist: they're really weird when they talk to me about you, like they're always trying convince me you have some spooky powers, but i'm always like no she seems like a pretty regular girl to me!
gardenGnostic: heheheh (Very happy face) etcoBiologist: but then when i think back maybe there are times when it seems like you know some things?
like maybe you know more about a thing than you are telling me? i dunno.
gardenGnostic: oh well john
i want to explain lots of things to you....
some things that i know
i'm just......
waiting!
etcoBiologist: waiting for what!
gardenGnostic: oh! john!!
i forgot i was messaging you about that meteor that fell near my house!
etcoBiologist: oh yeah.
what ever happened with that?
gardenGnostic: oh boy.... well.......
it turns out i was confused about it...
really confused! (Concerned face)
see i guess i fell asleep for a while and.....
lost track of time
that happens!!
etcoBiologist: yeah i know, tell me about it!
maybe you should like, wear an alarm clock or something.
so what was the deal with the meteor?
gardenGnostic: well.....
it's hard to explain!!!
but...
i know what it is now!
and now i know everythings going to be ok!!!
etcoBiologist: so what is it???
or is this just another thing you're "waiting" to tell me???
gardenGnostic: oh gosh john i really want to tell you all this stuff!!!
but i cant yet
i really think you need to wake up first!
ectoBiologist: huh?
gardenGnostic: well ok not literally
well ok maybe KINDA literally!!
ectoBiologist: AUGH!!!!!!!!!!!!
stop being so confusing!!!!
gardenGnostic: lol (smiley face)
anyway time for you to go john
i think you have some company!!!

John: Quickly grab the pogo hammer.

in the top left corner with the pogo hammer now in the bottom rectangle. The imp behind the bed part of the pogo bouncer that landed in it poke up above the edge. The very top of something

You be the imp and quickly abscond the fuck outta there!!!

This is what weaker adversaries do whenever things get too hot to handle, which is frequently.
John: Prepare for a boss battle.

[Image description: John stands on the roof above his bedroom, next to the magic chest. Two imps stand nearby.]

You stop being the imp because that was stupid, and scurry over to your magic chest that you suddenly remembered was on the roof. There are some things in here that would be good to stock up on for a major battle.

But it looks like someone has plundered your chest!!! This is so outrageous.

A third image shows the foot stepping up from the window. An imp clings to the tree with the pogo bouncer in it. The tire swing hangs along the wall like the owner of the giant foot is carrying it as it climbs.]

Next

[Image description: It shows John on the roof. A large hand suddenly slams into the roof, cracking it and making John jump.]

You are being ambushed!

There isn't much room to maneuver on this sloping roof. Maybe you should consider making your way to higher ground.

John: Ascend to the highest point of the house.

[Image description: John stands on top of the platform Rose built above his room near an imp. He smacks the pogo hammer into the ground repeatedly. Below the platform, the top of two large harlequin hats poke into the panel.]

You go up here.

John: Look down.

[Image description: John looks off the back left side of the platform. The imp is gone, replaced by grist. The two large creatures climb closer to the platform. One has a hand on it.]

You peek over the edge.

It already seems like a long way down to your yard. Not even to speak of whatever's below.

Hey, weren't your trick handcuffs dangling from that branch earlier? Dammit, why do imps got to be making off with all your sweet gear??
John: Turn around...

You are confronted with a pair of enormous foes.

This is it. You have no choice but to wage a fierce rooftop battle. This is totally going to happen now, and could in no way conceivably be interrupted by a sudden shift in our attention. It's go time. It's time to do this thing.

[S] Dave: Ascend to the highest point of the building.

Dave crumples the note and looks up. He tries to captchaogue the puppet pile (6) but gets the MUPPET BUTTOCK MOUND (0) instead. He does a backflip and jumps up onto the counter in an Acrobatic Fucking Pirouette, using it to springboard onto the fort, then the top of the fridge. He slings Lil Cal over his shoulder and jumps down, grabbing a sword as he goes. The black screen with the white motion blur appears for a moment before it fades to Dave holding the sword out to his side. It zooms in on one of Lil Cal's eyes.

The scene changes to one of a dimly lit stairway with a door. Dave kicks open the door, spilling light out onto the stairs. It shows his legs as he climbs up the stairs. It shows his glasses, then Lil Cal.

The scene shifts again as Dave reaches the top of the stairs. The doorway at the top is open and Dave is silhouetted in red against the skyline. The red swirling design appears in a flare above the city. It then shows it reflected in Dave's glasses, zooming out to show him standing in the doorway. Dave sets Lil Cal on the lip around the edge of the roof and looks out as the scene zooms out to show meteors falling all across the city. Buildings shake with the impact.

It cuts back to Dave on the roof and the silhouette that brought Cal into the kitchen reappears. It steals Cal and is gone before Dave can turn his head. Dave does a flip off the screen and falls down in another shot, landing in a crouch on a different section of roof. It zooms out and suddenly, the screen is white and the word PSYCHE appears in the center of the screen.

It fades to an image of a girl standing in a greenhouse; the girl is the one from the silhouette in John's dream. The image is only there for a moment before the screen goes back to white and says OH WAIT x2 Double Psycheout Combo!!

It fades to show the Wayward Vagabond standing by the cans and other goods that tumbled out of the machine. In the corner is a dark reddish-orange pumpkin.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds up his hands, showing that his arms are firmly attached to his body. One of his wrists has a white mark on it.]

Got em already.
W.V.: Examine rotten pumpkin.

[Image description: The pumpkin in the corner is suddenly gone and the wrappings over Wayward Vagabond's mouth are speckled with dark red-orange.]

What pumpkin?

W.V.: Check the little red bar.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands by the purple machine with the white spirograph on it.]

It appears to be a gauge for a large power cell, perhaps fueled by some type of nuclear reaction. If this is the case, it is relatively low on fuel. But who knows how long it has been running here?

You do not care about this sort of nonsense and you will disregard it at once. You are very hungry.

W.V.: Captchalogue can of gravy.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands among the cans, a black question mark over his head.]

Captchalogue? You have no idea what that means. It is total nonsense and you do not know what to make of it. You will not give the foolish notion a second thought.

W.V.: Pick up the can of gravy. Just pick it up.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds the can of gravy and faces the opposite direction.]

You just pick it up.

You are now holding the can of gravy.

W.V.: Use sharp teeth to poke a hole in the lid of the can.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond Nibbles on the edge of the can's lid with very blunt teeth.]

Your teeth are useless for the task! They are blunt like that of livestock, presumably suitable for mashing up plant matter, and not for puncturing metal.

W.V.: Attempt to open can with your weak pathetic digits.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond taps at the lid with one finger. As he does, the word Dook appears in very small text.]

Your weak pathetic digits are not strong enough to penetrate the can!!!

Your fingers are certainly pointy enough, and your black carapace is suitably rigid, but you just don't have enough muscle for the task.

W.V.: Take the can labeled BEANS.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond now holds 2 cans and stands between the battery pack and the thing the cans fell out of.]

Ok, you take that too.
W.V.: Examine can of custard.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds a third can.]

The can clearly reads "MUSTARD", a fact of which you were perfectly well aware.

It is sort of cumbersome holding all these cans at once. You doubt you can hold many more than this. Maybe one or two.

You'll need to find something to put stuff in if you want to carry a lot of things around.

W.V.: Examine marking on wrist.

You drop all the cans and take a look at your wrist.

This brings back unpleasant memories and you would prefer not to dwell on it.

W.V.: Examine the small potted plant.

[Image description: The plant from the pot is gone and Wayward Vagabond burps.]

What plant?

W.V.: Check book on Human Etiquette.

[Image description: It shows a page of the book. It is a three step diagram. SUSTENANCE: It shows silhouettes of a cow, a horse, a chicken, a goat, and a bison. INTERMEDIARY: It shows a set of cutlery. Off to the side, it says THIS IS THE KEY, with an arrow pointing towards the cutlery. CONSUMPTION: It shows a mouth with very sharp teeth.]

You are somewhat skeptical about the nutritional value contained by these pages. However, of the practical wisdom they contain there can be little doubt. You have learned so much.

W.V.: Clear out all the cans inside the purple machine.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands off to the side and looks at his collection of cans.]
You empty the peculiar cabinet and take a quick inventory of your canned goods.

You have beans, mustard, gravy, bread, shrimp, asparagus, cheese, rice, corn, peas, flour, chestnuts, mayo, ham, potatoes, and squash.

Such bountiful plenty. And yet the delights taunt you from within their small metal prisons.

W.V.: Search room for can opener.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond looks into the purple container.]

You have already looked all over the place for a can opener, even making a few electronic inquiries about one, to no avail.

Nothing else inside the purple thing either.

W.V.: Locate a nearby sharp object.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds a strange looking red object that's partially wrapped with fabric, presumably to serve as a handle.]

You wield your trusty knife.

It is actually a...

You're not sure what they're called. It's an old rusted one of those red mailbox arm-swing flappy doodads, either for letting you know there is mail in the box, or maybe for alerting the mailman to outgoing mail to be collected. You don't know, really. You've wrapped a little piece of cloth around it for the grip.

It is useless for opening cans.

W.V.: Be the imp.

[Image description: It shows a close up of Wayward Vagabond's face and a black question mark appears over him. He vibrates faintly.]

This means nothing to you. You are not an imp, you have no idea what an imp is, and you will not entertain such frivolous and childish ideas ever again. You feel stupid and hate yourself a little for even considering it.

W.V.: Become the mayor of Can Town.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds his hands up in celebration, several cables looped around his body like a sash. In front of him is a small structure made of stacked cans with the open book for the roof. On top of the structure is the flower pot with the swingy-arm thing stuck in it. The rest of the cans sit on the floor near the structure.]

As the glorious founder and mayor of can town, you erect a dignified, majestic city hall out of cans, fittingly capped off with a tome of good manners for the roof. You have given yourself a very official and important looking mayoral sash made out of old cables to complete your look of authority. A number of rather civic-minded citizen cans gather in front of the building to offer adulation to their fair and magnanimous leader. All is well.

Next
You immerse yourself in this beautiful dream as you whittle away the minutes, or perhaps hours.

You love the idea of being a mayor. You love everything about mayors, and the concept of an orderly, civil democracy. It all seems so mannerly and reasonable to you. Everyone is friendly and happy, and the city runs like clockwork. The foundation of the government is based on mutual respect between the leader and its people. It is also built on having a really great mayor that everyone loves who is totally amazing and heroic and brave.

Next

Mayors are so much better than kings. You hate kings and you think kings are really stupid. They are petty, bossy tyrants and are really full of themselves and are basically awful in every way.

God do you hate kings.

W.V.: Explore west of Can Town.

Over here is the other side of the room. There is another one of those purple storage boxes, and some useless objects scattered on the floor.

W.V.: Use glowing green rock to open cans.

You pick up the nugget of uranium and...

Oh that was so stupid. Why would you do that?

W.V.: Examine box of crayons.

Crayola
Chalk 12
Non-Toxic
It's chalk numbnuts.

Next

[Image description: The box of chalk is now open. There's a red, a white, three shades of blue, an orange, a brown, two shades of green, a neon pink, a yellow, and a purple. The two green pieces disappear and a tiny Chomp takes their place.]

Inside the box, there are 12 pieces of chalk in every color of the...

10 pieces of chalk. In most colors of the rainbow.

You are excited by this.

W.V.: Try to open the storage box.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond still holds the box of chalk in one hand, but he presses at the hatch on the other storage unit with his free hand. The insect in the amber flashes very rapidly.]

It's locked!

There must be some sort of release mechanism for this thing.

W.V.: Examine contents of yellow container.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands off to the side and looks down at the yellow jug.]

The container is full of MOTOR OIL. This does not seem useful to you right now.

W.V.: Rescue that poor lightning bug.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds the bit of amber and the firefly flashes urgently.]

There is nothing you can do for this new little friend. Attempting to crush the amber encasing the firefly would likely cause it harm.

It nevertheless bravely flashes on. You find its light alluring. Inspiring.

To you it seems as if it could quite easily serve as the light of...

Next

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands in Can Town and places the firefly in the City Hall. The firefly still flashes.]

Democracy.

W.V.: Use the chalk to draw some roads.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds the piece of white chalk. The cans are stacked in groups of four off to the side. He drew and outline around the base of city hall and gave it a set of stairs and a plaza out front, in which he wrote City Hall. Streets snake around the floor and some are labeled.
Can Pkway
Can Blvd
Can Street]
Trees with blue leaves line the streets.

You sketch a handsome network of sprawling thoroughfares for your citizens to traverse. The adoring population applauds its mayor's keen instincts for city planning.

You even add some lush vegetation to your city with a piece of blue chalk, because you can't seem to find a more suitable color for some reason.

W.V.: Lay a chalk foundation for Can Town's civic growth.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands on the side where the firefly was. On the floor, he's drawn a large checkerboard pattern and extended Can Blvd out to meet it.]

You develop westward, settling those fertile plains and claiming them for your city.

You section off a number of residential and commercial zones for civic growth, arranged in the only logical pattern that occurs to you.

You color the residential zones with your piece of white chalk, but for some reason none of the colors in the box strike you as suitable for the commercial zones. Perhaps there is an alternative.

W.V.: Use your own pee for the commercial zones.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond shakes his head and looks concerned and a little offended.]

You cannot urinate because you have not had anything to drink in quite some time. You are very thirsty.

Also that is a really terrible idea and you would not consider befouling your wonderful city in that way for even a moment.

W.V.: Use motor oil to designate commercial zones.

[Image description: The uncolored squares are now daubed sloppily with black oil. Another street, Can Drive, comes to meet the checkerboard from the south.]

You fill each empty square with a bit of motor oil to complete the zoning. It looks rather striking to you. You can hardly imagine that an up and coming young can trying to make it in the world would not be delighted to live in your fair district.

You are very careful not to get any of the unpleasant fluid on your person.

W.V.: Peel label from can of MAYO and affix to sash.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands near the City Hall holding the piece of red chalk. The MAYO label is now stuck to his sash of cords with an R added at the end in chalk. Now he is an official Mayor because his sash says so.]

W.V.: Survey surroundings in search of more terrain for city.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond looks past the checkerboard towards the computer he used to harass John, then back towards the wall with the containers and battery pack on it.]

It seems you have run out of territory for your western expansion. But there is still a lot of empty wall space. Perhaps your citizens would be happier with a colorful backdrop that would make them feel more at home.

Next

[Image description: The wall and unopened purple container are colored to look like a sky. On the purple container, he drew a yellow circle surrounded by radiating white lines and a smaller yellow circle that looks to be in orbit around the larger one. On the side wall is a small black mark of oil surrounded by swirling white lines.]

Using most of your imagination and an entire piece of sky-blue chalk, you render a bright and cheerful sky full of clouds.

You have decided that very closely orbiting your city is a luminous planet, about which orbits a single moon.

You switch to another shade of blue and continue rendering on the western wall.

Next

[Image description: It shows the western wall in more detail. The black spot of oil is still there and the white lines around it are revealed to be tiny clouds. Three other planets are drawn nearby. One looks like a black gear with a red circle inside. One looks like it has a massive volcano taking up most of the surface. One is bright blue with pink bits and equally bright clouds surround it.]

Orbiting much further from your city are four planets. None of these have satellites, you have decided. Yes, that makes sense, you think.

Next

[Image description: Where the wall meets the computer, Wayward Vagabond switched to purples and pinks. He also smeared the pipes nearby with oil. In the center of the pink and purple section is a purple circle with a smaller one in orbit around it. Off to the side, John's monitor shows him bouncing the pogo hammer back and forth on the alchemiter shortly after its creation.]

And on the southern wall, beyond an impenetrable veil of darkness, occupying the furthest orbit yet, there is an ominous planet. A moon circles this one too.

W.V.: Check that rampaging boy on the screen.

Oh yeah, it's that guy. You had almost forgotten about him and his confusing shenanigans.

It seems like he has things well in hand at the moment. He does not appear to need your help, and you have already concluded that he cannot help you, at least for the time being.

W.V.: Turn on the other 3 screens.

You have no idea how to turn these on!

There is no mouse for this weird quadra-monitored computer. It can only be operated through text commands from its keyboard.
Perhaps there is a special key or command which will allow you to switch to another monitor?

W.V.: Press Tab.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond's finger slowly moves towards the tab key.]

Next

[Image description: It shows the west side of Can Town, including the purple box that Wayward Vagabond colored on. The hatch pops open and a bunch of pink cans spill out. They're all labeled TAB.]

Next

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds his hands up in surprise. A pink background flashes and two TAB cans vibrate intensely in the top corners. A second image shows him holding two cans and looking quickly between them.]

W.V.: Consume several cans.

[Image description: An animation switches between three images. Wayward Vagabond pours a can in his mouth. A vibrating line of cans. Wayward Vagabond holds a can in each hand as soda pours out in arcs over his head.]

You free the heavenly brown elixir from the jewels of pink carapace and imbibe like the wind.

It is so sweet and sugary. You wonder how so much sugar can fit in one can. Whatever mighty wizard concocted this potion is truly deserving of your fear and respect.

W.V.: Welcome the rest into the city.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands near the City Hall. Tab cans are stacked on top of the other piles of cans and others lay on the ground nearby.]

The tabs are naturalized as loyal new citizens of can town. All cans are welcome and equal in your city, regardless of can content, and whether empty or full.

It's not like emptying a can kills it or anything. They are just cans after all.

W.V.: Hit escape.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands in front of the computer. The screen with John on it changes to a black screen with white text.]

Feeling refreshed and heavily caffeinated, you go back to work on the big computer.

You hit escape, which seems to minimize the action window thingy and reveals a history of all the commands you've entered.

You scroll all the way up to your first command.

It looks like there are more commands above it. Maybe someone was entering commands on this thing before you?

There aren't many more. At the top of this list appears to be the very first command.

W.V.: Type Next SWITCH 2.

[Image description: The top right screen switches off and the top left one turns on. It shows the statue of Zazzzerpan, though his hand and part of his hat have been broken off. A second image zooms in on the screen as static overtakes it. In the bottom right corner of the screen, a white lock symbol flashes.]
You activate Screen 2.

The signal is garbled, and you have no idea what you're looking at. Some sort of filthy beggar pleading for help?

No one is around, And nothing is happening. You seem to be locked out of any sort of interaction with whatever's happening on this monitor.

W.V.: Type Next SWITCH 3.

It's another one of these rascallions. This monitor is locked too. You can't tell him what to do. Not that you really want to, since it just looks like more confusing nonsense to you.

You consider switching to screen 4, but decide against it. You have a feeling that whatever's there would just confuse you even more, and you don't even really care all that much anyway.

W.V.: Type Next HOME.

[Image description: The screen with Dave turns off, then all of the screens turn on. The sburb house is displayed in a way so that part of it is on each screen. Underneath it, a timer begins counting down.]

All four screens activate. Together they display a countdown, starting at four hours and thirteen minutes.

W.V.: Type Next REBOOT.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond pounds on the keyboard, but the command prompt just flashes red.]

You can't! Nothing is working anymore. The timer seems to have disabled the keyboard.

W.V.: Be the mayor.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands in his poorly drawn fantasy again. Cans are scattered all around him, including one that's an airplane. The firefly in amber sits inside the poorly drawn city hall. The top hat on his head is labeled Hat.]

Enough of this nonsense. You are an important mayor and this absurd contraption has wasted enough of your time. You've got a city to govern with a carapaced fist! (Which is to say firm, yet polished, and supple as the situation demands.)

Anyway this will help you kill some time while you wait for that clock to count down.

W.V.: Create employment opportunities for the citizen cans.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands in the actual Can Town. The cans that held up city hall are gone, but the book, firefly, and swing arm thing in the pot are still in place. A second image shows the checkerboard pattern on the west side of town. Wayward Vagabond has lined up cans of food on the north and south rows and placed cans of tab on the rows just in from the outer] ones. It looks like a game of chess.

You temporarily dismantle city hall to free up all the canpower available to create a vigilant town militia. You divide them into two groups, marking them with distinct teams and ranks using the piece of white chalk and the motor oil. You then organize them in phalanx across the countryside, preparing for a stiff training regimen. When you are through with them, your forces will be a well-oiled machine. Chalk another one up to bold leadership!

[S] W.V.: Lead your men to victory!

[Image description: The song Vagabounce begins to play. Wayward Vagabond flails around, moving cans in a game of chess against himself. After a while, it changes to show the computer and timer, which rapidly counts down. Then it shows Wayward Vagabond's fantasy world in which he leads a parade of cans down the street. He then uses a can of tab like a car, then drinks it. It shows 4 images of Wayward Vagabond holding cans as they spray sodas in arcs. It slowly zooms in on the firefly, which flashes slowly. The game of chess continues. Suddenly, Wayward Vagabond sits down and the word Checkmate appears at the top of the screen. Wayward Vagabond holds a tab cans and looks at it. A thought bubble in the top right corner shows a white king symbol and a black king symbol. The white one is crossed out. It cuts to the computer, which counts down from 4 minutes, 13 seconds.

You waste more than four hours on this tomfoolery.

W.V.: Mourn the loss of citizen tab.

[Image description: A mangled Tab can takes up most of the screen. A second image shows the timer counting down from 4:09.]

Your caffeinated jittering must have agitated all the little bubbles curiously hidden in the liquid, creating too much pressure in the can. You speculate this is why it exploded as you nervously eye the timer.

You are starting to wonder what will happen when it reaches zero. Maybe it would be best not to be near it when this happens.

Minutes in the future...

[Image description: A tiny figure walks across the desert.]

Though perhaps not as few as implied by circumstance...

A Peregrine Mendicant trundles precious cargo beneath the gleam of the celestially ominous.

[Note: The last line is a link that opens a series of images. The first shows a figure that looks very much like the Wayward Vagabond, though she is taller and have a longer hood. She pushes a cart of mailboxes in front of her. The second image shows her face against a background of a washed out sky. In up in the sky, something twinkles.]

W.V.: Go outside and get some sun.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands near the bottom of the ladder.]

You say a bittersweet goodbye to your beloved city. It is time to move on to greener pastures. By which of course you mean an arid, sandy wasteland upon which nothing green has grown in years.
The door shuts behind you. A panel on the door becomes illuminated.

As you ponder over the marks on the panel, you hear another mechanical sound overhead.

The diagram from the door appears against a black background. It is 4 concentric circles around three rectangles that each have a small arm sticking out that connect it to a small, central circle. The top rectangle has the sburb house logo. The bottom left has a spirograph, and the bottom right has a series of interlocking triangles. An arrow inside the small central circle points to the rectangle with the sburb logo. In the top right corner is a 1 in a circle.

The LCD PANEL appears to have a touchscreen interface.

W.V.: Curiously prod the funny-looking spirograph.

It appears the funny-looking spirograph room is locked!

The floor rotates a full 360 degrees beneath you, while the surrounding wall seems to stay put.

W.V.: Select the triangley fractal.

The triangley fractal room does not appear to be locked.

The floor turns 120 degrees and the door opens.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands just inside another room. All that can be seen is the] grey walls and a single purple pipe that curves towards off the left side of the panel.]

You go through the door to find another room. It's the same size as the other one you just wasted all that time in, while a clock was ticking down to something which may or may not be your doom. Maybe there is something in here that will help you escape.

Against the wall there is another perplexing contraption.

Next

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands in front of a complicated machine. There are two large screens, one of which shows a globe with the Americas visible. The other shows a circle with a strange arrangement of circles inside. There is a dark circle in the center with 4 lines coming off of it that go out in a plus-shaped pattern. At the end of each line there is another circle. Between the up and right lines, there's a smaller circle with an even smaller circle next to it really close to the center one. Directly opposite that pair there is another identical pair, though the second one is out beyond the large circle that contains the rest. Between these two screens is a small switch with a spirograph logo on it. It currently points to the earth screen. A screen below those two has coordinates and 4 icons.

Beside each number is a small dial. The icons are a series of vertical lines, a series of horizontal lines, what looks like a mountain peak, and a clock. There are three buttons on a panel below the third screen. A center blue button has the interlocking triangle symbol on it. On either side of the blue button, there is a green button. The left one has the sburb house on it and the right has the diagram from the ladder chute, which we now know is a map of the facility. A ruler leans against a wall nearby.]

Against the opposite wall is some sort of control panel which catches your eye.

It has two large screens, but only one appears to be active. There are fields for numbers which appear to be modifiable with the dials to the right. Some numbers are already supplied by default, perhaps entered by the previous user. There are a few buttons below, the largest one bearing the symbol marking this room.

Also it looks like there is a Meter stick propped up there for some reason.

W.V.: Attach your trusty knife to the meter stick.

[Image description: It shows the rusted mailbox arm on the end of the meter stick.]

You immediately craft a measuring spear through possibly the most advanced form of alchemy employed thusfar. This is obviously the most important thing to do first.

obviously.

Next

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds the meter stick and trembles. The image from the previous panel and an image of the mailbox arm in the flowerpot shake in thought bubbles over his head.]

Or it would obviously be the most important thing to do if you had remembered to bring your
You feel so insecure without your trusty knife, it makes you want to slit your wrists. Or at the very least, flog your carapace with some sort of measuring apparatus.

W.V.: Look at the other wall.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands by a strange purple contraption. A platform just barely higher than the floor has the interlocking triangle symbol on it and pipes come from the floor and the ceiling to hold what looks like a laser from a cartoon villain's lair, which points down at the platform. Wayward Vagabond pokes this with his meter stick.]

You examine the perplexing contraption across the room. You of course have no idea what it could possibly do.

You adopt the only obvious course of action which is to poke and prod it with your handy ruler. You are quite sure this is what science is all about.

W.V.: Press the triangle pattern.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands by the control panel. He presses the blue button and the screen with the coordinates on it turns blue.]

You go back to the control panel which probably obviously controls that gizmo and you push the big blue button which is obviously probably the most obvious thing to push.

Next

[Image description: The word Appearify appears on the blue screen. It cuts to an image of the contraption. White lightning flashes under the laser for a moment, and after it disappears, a pumpkin appears. The pumpkin has an outline of an animal's head carved in it, but it's incredibly stylized and has no face.]

You appearify a pumpkin.

W.V.: Examine pumpkin.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond holds the pumpkin.]

It seems this mysterious gourd was transported (appearified!!!) from a specific time and location somewhere on this planet you are on. You wonder if the machine (Appearifier!!!) will take any object that exists at whatever time and location you supply.

There is a symbol carved on the pumpkin. You don't know what it means, and you doubt it will ever prove to be relevant in any way.

W.V.: Devour pumpkin.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond stands by the control panel again, this time with the pumpkin in hand and the meter stick on the floor. The coordinates are back on the screen. A white arm sticks out from one of the pipes. A second image shows Wayward Vagabond nibbling on the pumpkin stem.]

You consider dining on the ripe flesh of the plump vegetable, but your curiosity about the appearifier gets the better of you.
You try to sneak a nibble from the pumpkin nonetheless.

W.V.: Inspect green buttons.

[Image description: It zooms in on the right side button, the one with the map on it.]

You first examine the attractive green buttons.

The icon for the one on the left is that house shape you've seen plenty of times before.

The right one on closer inspection appears to be the map for this underground facility, with an X marking its center.

W.V.: Press green button on right.

[Image description: The pumpkin sits on the floor as Wayward Vagabond presses the button. His head blocks the screen.]

You push the button. All of the numbers change.

Perhaps these are the coordinates for the location of the center of this facility, along with the local date and time? If this is the case, it would make a useful reference point for your current bearings.

W.V.: Fiddle with the dials.

One way to find out would be to attempt to appearify something from this facility.

It should be easy to zero in on a location relative to the center because you have an uncanny knack for tracking precise distances you have already traversed, in whatever units you choose.

Your handy ruler gives you a good clue as to the basic unit of human measurement. You will go with that.

W.V.: Appearify your trusty knife.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond moves the dials. A second image shows the trusty knife and flowerpot on the appearifier's platform.]

You nudge the coordinates very slightly and bump up the elevation by 0.5 human measurement units. You make sure to keep the time approximately what it was to begin with.

You appearify your trusty knife.

W.V.: Appearify Can Town.

[Image description: the lightning flashes on the appearifier and a bunch of cans appear, along with the firefly in amber.]

You nudge the numbers a bit more and appearify a bunch of cans. This is so much more efficient than walking back to the other room to get them.
You are to believe that time is at a premium, after all.

W.V.: Deappearify the pumpkin.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond flails and hits himself in the head. The background is just the word Dumb repeated over and over again. In the background, drawings of the mayor wearing a dunce cap flip back and forth.]

Does this machine look like a deappearifier to you?? Honestly, the idea that an appearifier could both appearify and deappearify things is so laughably ridiculous, you would wish someone would deappearify your brain and reappearify it with a brain that is more smart and less dumb.

W.V.: Use trusty knife to carve spook schema in pumpkin.

[Image description: VW pulls the top off the pumpkin, which he carved out with the knife.]

What the hell are you talking about? That idea makes no sense at all and is basically meaningless. Try using that mushy stuff in your gourd next time.

Instead you just carve off the top, exposing a decadent cache of gorgeous, seed-laden ambrosia.

Needless to say you consume all of it rather quickly. But it turns out to be too gross for us to watch.

W.V.: Move spirograph switch.

[Image description: Wayward Vagabond looks at the control panel. He holds the knife and has pumpkin guts dripping from his face wrappings.]

You cannot move it! It has a spirograph-shaped indentation, and possibly will require a special kind of key to turn it.

W.V.: Appearify firefly out of the amber.

[Image description: The coordinates screen turns blue and says Appearify. Wayward Vagabond holds the amber in one hand and presses the blue button with the other. The screen flashes and the firefly disappears from the amber only to fly on from the left side and land on Wayward Vagabond's head.]

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the firefly, who flashes quickly.]

You release your blinky new friend. You will give her a name when something suitably whimsical occurs to you.

W.V.: Adjust time dial to appearify rotten pumpkin.

[Image description: It shows Wayward Vagabond reaching for something off screen while the firefly flashes behind him. A second image shows Wayward Vagabond in the room with the cans before he made can town with the words The Past across the top of the screen. Crosshairs focus in on the pumpkin in the corner.]

You and SERENITY consider new ways to waste more time with the appearifier. You are assuming she is a girl firefly even though you are not really sure that fireflies can even be girls.

You target the extremely tasty rotten pumpkin that was sitting in the other room hours ago.
It seems the appearifier cannot appearify something if it will create a time paradox.

A gelatinous ghost pumpkin appearifies and quickly dissolves into a pile of unappetizing sludge.

W.V.: Appearify the grate over the entrance to the facility.

Serenity blinks a message of urgency. You nearly forgot that while trapped in amber she was witness to all your tomfoolery and dillydallying in the other room, and knows the timer is about to expire. It is time to get this show on the road and escape.

You reset the coordinates with the right green button again, and this time only adjust the elevation by approximately 10 human measurement units.

Next

[S] W.V.: Hasten to the exit post-haste!

The mayor keeps grabbing cans.

He throws a can of tab, which lands on the reset button.

He grabs the pumpkin's lid, the meter stick, and his knife. He combines the knife and meter stick.

He waves his new weapon around before sliding it on his back under his mayor sash for safekeeping.
Serenity flashes morse code again. Is this really necessary???
Wayward Vagabond tries to put the lid on the can-filled pumpkin, but it falls off.
CHOMP CHOMP BURP. He eats the lid.
Serenity flashes. this is incredibly silly!!!
Wayward Vagabond makes a handle out of a cord and picks the pumpkin up.
He scrambles up the ladder.
Daylight gets closer and closer Progress reverses as Wayward Vagabond falls.
The timer disappears and Wayward Vagabond lands on his butt at the bottom of the ladder. The cans tumble down around him and the pumpkin lands on his head.
The image fades to Wayward Vagabond hitting himself in the head among turning dunce cap mayors again. The word PSYCHE and two question marks vibrates in the center of the screen.]

oh wait
[Image description: It says Unpsyche. In grey text against a white background.]
You attempt the rare and highly dangerous 5X Cliffhanger Combo, and fail.
We are doing it, man.
We are making this happen.
[Image description: The song Explore begins to play. It pans across the desert, the ruined city in the background against a grey sky. It pans over footsteps in the sand. Wayward Vagabond pokes out of the hatch, the pumpkin full of cans on the sand next to him. Serenity hovers above him. It pans over to where a broken bit of statue sticks out of the sand; it's a hand holding an orb from the Zazzzerpan statue. It zooms out, showing the location from above. Suddenly, there's an explosion and sand is blasted away from the hatch. The facility launches, revealing the entirety of the white cylinder with the sburb house on the side. It flies up into the clouds. In the bottom right corner, it shows coordinates.
X 44.517677
Y -74.821422
Z 1283
The Z coordinate rapidly increases as the facility goes higher.
Wayward Vagabond stands near the edge, watching the land rush by below. It crosses over the great lakes and the words A Continent Westward appear on screen and the coordinates appear again.
X increases slowly to 47.362101
Y decreases rapidly to -122.054144
Z stays steady at 4130

The image pans across North America and zooms in on the Pacific Northwest near Washington and Oregon. It zooms in and John's neighborhood comes into view. Text appears on screen.
And Years In The Past
But Not Many
A meteor crashes into the neighborhood, annihilating it and replacing it with a massive crater. A timelapse of the area shows all vegetation dying and the area turning to desert until the entire crater is covered over with sand. From the center of where the crater was, a white tree grows and drops a grey and green object.
The scene changes to the Peregrine Mendicant. The gleam in the sky behind her changes into the flying facility. Wayward Vagabond looks down and tries to wave, but he is too far away. It shows the Peregrine Mendicant staring up at the green and grey object, which is revealed to be an enormous apple several times PM's height with a sburb house painted on the side. Wayward Vagabond and the facility fly past, continuing westward. Words appear on the screen as it pans past the coast and towards where the Pacific ocean should be.
An Ocean Westward
And Years In The Past
But Not Many
A red X appears over Not Many.

It pans over jagged mountains with a volcano spewing lava among them. It zooms out from the planet and shows a pulsing spirograph out in space, which spits out a meteor. The meteor hurtles towards earth and crashes at the base of the volcano. Lava pours down to fill the crater halfway. The lava cools to dark rock and a tall green temple with several tall, spindly spires topped with spheres surrounding it. The temple has a large carving of a frog on top. A forest grows around the base of the temple. The lower areas between the mountains and at the base of the temple fill with water, which rises and submerges all the mountains except the volcano and a crescent shaped island around the crater. Where the crescent is open, several smaller islands cut a dotted line to complete the ring. The temple becomes dingy and grey, many of the spires toppling. A forest grows on the island and with a flash, clouds, pterodactyls, and giant water lilies appear around it. The image flashes white and when that fades, Rose is standing amongst a shower of small meteors, ash, and rain, shielding her eyes and glaring up at something. She yells in frustration and beats a fist against the generator. A flaming tree falls and smashes between Rose and the generator, knocking them both away. It cuts to Mom, silhouetted against a window looking out on the fires. It shows the burning forest with the lab in the distance. Lightning flashes. It shows Mom pressing keys on a number pad with an image of a cat's face- the code appears to be 413. It cuts to the mausoleum, where the slab Jasper's coffin once rested on slides away, revealing a ladder that descends below ground.
It cuts to the tall purple towers that half of the kernel went to. Inside one of them, two imps, one of which wears John's wizard hat and wields his fake sword, escort Dad down a hall. His wrists are cuffed in front of him with John's handcuffs. It shows a close up of Dad's hand as he wiggles his wrist and frees himself from the cuffs. He turns and brandishes a cake and a can of shaving cream at the imps, who cower away.
It cuts to Dave on the rooftop, wielding his katana. Meteors still fall on the city. The mysterious silhouette, presumably Dave's Bro, appears and draws his sword. Bro, who is wearing a grey baseball cap and triangular anime shades, slowly looks towards the left.
It cuts back to Wayward Vagabond's flying facility as it passes the ruins of the frog temple. It begins to touchdown and the coordinates reappear.
X -0.955766
Y -174.759521
Z descends to 3077

As it lands, a small square showing the battery pack appears in the corner. It is empty.

Wayward Vagabond looks up at the ruins of the frog temple. It pans past the building, up onto the grey sky, then fades to white.]

Act 3: Insane Corkscrew Haymakers

Dear John,

[Image description: It shows the cover of the old Colonel Sassacre's book. A second image shows the title page, which has an image of a dapper man wearing a suit and a wizard hat standing on a stage. He drops several cards onto the ground.

Colonel Sassacre's Daunting Text of Magical Frivolity and Practical Japery
The Colonel amuses men marginally less soused than he on a sweltering Mississippi evening. In true Sassacre form he puts his astonishing julep intake to use with a textbook execution of "Butterfingers Solitaire."

A second image shows the inside cover of the book, where a note in looping handwriting is written.

Dear John,

You are no doubt reading this as a handsome and strapping young man! Why, the mangrit needed to lift the book is itself a sign of your maturity, not even to speak of the wisdom needed to grasp the nuance of Sassacre's time-tested mischief. I am so proud of you, grandson!

How I wish I could have delivered this heirloom to you in the flesh. But I am afraid it wasn't in the cards! For you see, John, like you, this book must yet take a journey! Its journey will end on the Final Day of my life, and even then will continue some. Though I suppose that will be up to your Father. Perhaps he will discuss it with you one day, when he and you are ready.

But it is your journey I am writing about to wish you luck! There will come a day when you will be thrust into another world. And once you arrive, that is only the beginning! You will soon delve even deeper into a realm of Warring Royalty in a Timeless Expanse. A realm of Agents and Exiles and Consorts and Kernelsprites. Of toiling Underlings and slumbering Denizens. A realm where four will gather, the Heir of Breath and Seer of Light, the Knight of Time and Witch of Space, and together they will Ascend.

John, if only you knew how important you were! I regret my passing came so early in your life. And yet I feel in my heart we have already met. But what I know for sure is that we will meet again!

Until then, John, I do hope your Father keeps you well fed!

With Love,
A silly girl naps by her flowers. It is quite likely that she tired herself out with a variety of silly antics, as silly girls are often known to do. She may have a silly name too. Or maybe not. It is hard to say for sure without asking her.

But since she's slumbering peacefully, it would be a shame to wake her up. You might as well just give her a name right now.

Enter name.

[Image description: It zooms in on the girl and a text box appears above her. Farmstink Buttlass
A question mark appears next to the name.]

Uh...

I guess...

I guess her name is Farmstink.

Wake up!

[Image description: A cursor comes on screen and clicks the girl, who flashes red.] You try to roust Farmstink from her slumber, but she is really down for the count!

It looks like she is holding some sort of Note.

Retrieve arms from...

[Image description: the girl's arms flash red.]
they're right there.

In plain sight.

Look, they are flashing red.

Drop pumpkin on Farmstink.

[Image description: The cursor clicks the pumpkin and drags it over the girl's head. It drops the pumpkin, but just before it lands, it disappears in a green flash and -IFY! Flashes for a moment where the pumpkin was. The girl continues sleeping.]

What pumpkin?

You see no pumpkin, and frankly it is hard to imagine there ever was a pumpkin, in plain sight or otherwise.

Anyway, that would be a really terrible thing to do to poor, sweet Farmstink.

Read note.

[Image description: The cursor drags the note from under the girl's hand. A second image shows the note, which is written in green ink and has very loopy, whimsical handwriting. farmstink????? that is incredibly silly and a little bit rude!!!!!!! my name is (an arrow points to the corner of the note, telling the reader to turn it over.)]

Try again.

[Image description: The note flips over, but before the name can be revealed, it fades back to the name enter screen. Jade Harley.]

Next

[Image description: The girl, Jade, wakes and sits up, blinking for a moment before standing. The image on her shirt is a blue pumpkin]

Examine room.

[Image description: It shows the room from a different angle, revealing more planters full of rows of various types of plants. There are squash, asparagus, peas, and pumpkins in addition to the flowers. The image on Jade's shirt is now a blue leaf. A second image zooms out on the room, showing another set of flower planters beyond the vegetable planters. An entire wall is made of windows, which look out into the sky. The room is so high up that the ground is not visible. In the top corners of the room are what looks like speakers with pictures of atoms with electron orbits outlined on them.)]

Your name is jade. You have just woken from a restful nap, and as usual, you have no recollection of having fallen asleep. You have quite a number of interests. So many in fact, you have trouble keeping track of them all, even with an assortment of colorful reminders on your fingers to help you sort out everything on your mind. Nevertheless, when you spend time in your garden atrium, the only thing on your mind is your deep passion for horticulture.
What will you do?

[S] Jade: Play a silly flute refrain.

[Image description: It shows Jade between the two flower planters again. This time, she holds the flute to her mouth, In the top right corner, the game controller appears. When clicked, it disappears and is replaced by a tiny keyboard with the word Play above it. As you press keys on the keyboard, Jade plays the flute and flails wildly.]

Next

[Image description: Jade looks skeptically at the flute. The image on her shirt is the pumpkin again.]

Wow, you really suck at this thing!

Maybe you should try playing an instrument you actually know how to play instead, like the one in your bedroom. Honestly you have no idea where this flute even came from. Things seem to appear and disappear around here all the time. Especially, to your unending chagrin, any sort of large orange gourd that might be lying around.

You consider throwing the flute down in disgust.

Jade: Captchalogue flute.

[Image description: A captchalogue card appears to Jade's right. It has the flute in it, but also a large question mark above it. Her shirt now has a blue atom on it, like the kind on the speakers in the corners of the room.]

On second thought, it was a perfectly nice flute and there is no reason to take your frustration out on it. You just need some practice.

but before you captchalogue the flute you will need to set your fetch modus first!

Jade: Set modus.

[Image description: A line of 12 fetch modi appear along the left side of the screen. At the bottom is a narrow band reading Sylladex:: Captchalogue deck. This panel is interactive. As each modi is hovered over, it pulls out of the line and a more detailed version appears to the right. From top to bottom, they are fetch modus Boggle. A light blue modus with a 4 by 4 grid of white squares. Each square has a letter. Going across each row, the letters are BOGGEFELTCHMOSUDO, which rearranges to spell Boggle Fetch Modus.
fetch modus Pictionary. A dark green modus with a small white captchalogue card shape and a white outline of a pen. On the white card is a rough outline of a pumpkin.
fetch modus Monopoly. A light, minty-green modus with two dark green captchalogue cards.
fetch modus Yahtzee. A deep red modus with 5 white captchalogue card shapes, each with 5 dots in an X shaped pattern inside.
fetch modus Clue. A medium brown modus with 3 white captchalogue card shapes. Inside the first is a black silhouette of a man from the shoulders up. The second has the outline of a wrench. The third shows the outline of a pool table.]
fetch modus Connect Four. A bright yellow modus with a 7 by 5 grid of captchalogue card shapes. Some are filled in with red and black as if being played in a game of connect four.

fetch modus Jenga. A dark blue modus with a partially disassembled Jenga tower. To the right of the tower are 3 Jenga blocks.

fetch modus Battleship. A teal modus with a 10 by 10 grid of white captchalogue card shapes. Some of the shapes have red or black dots on them.

fetch modus Ouija. A beige modus with 6 white captchalogue card shapes in a row. Below the row is a heart-shaped Ouija pointer with a round hole near the pointed end. It points between the middle two cards of the row.

fetch modus Guess Who? A bright red modus with a 4 by 3 grid of white captchalogue card shapes. Each shape has a silhouette of a person from the shoulders up.

fetch modus Operation. A bright pink modus with a white silhouette of a person. The person has a round, red nose and a captchalogue card shaped hole over the heart.

fetch modus Memory. A purple modus with a 4 by 3 grid of white captchalogue card shapes. The second from the left in the top row and the bottom right shape each have a purple dot on them.

You have a wide variety of fetch modi to choose from. You were really excited when your grandpa bought you this modus set for christmas. He is a total badass, even if a little strict.

You typically opt for the memory modus when it comes to matters of day-to-day practicality.

Jade: Select Memory.

You set your modus to memory, and captchalogue the flute. You allot 9 cards to the modus from your deck, since that will be more than enough for your needs at the moment. The modus grabs 9 more cards for matching purposes.

The flute is split up on two blank cards, and mixed randomly into the grid. To retrieve the item you must first pick one card, and then pick its matching card.

For the typical sylladexer this modus presents a frustrating guessing game and a lot of wasted time on mismatching. But you like it because you seem to have a knack for always guessing right on the first try!

Jade: Squeal like a piglet and fertilize some plants.

It is an awfully silly idea and is basically a waste of everyone's time. You will predictably disregard this thought and focus on more sensible objectives at once.

Next
everything. A pink pig with the same hair and glasses as her also bounces around.]

oh my god this is so much fun

Next

[Image description: Jade stops between the planter with the pumpkins and a flower planter. She captchalogue the fertilizer. A second image shows the flashing grid with the flute and fertilizer before it returns to the question marks.]

You captchalogue the bag of fertilizer.

Jade: Consult colourful reminders.

[Image description: It shows Jade's hand. She has many colorful bands on her fingers.]

You tend to have a lot of things on your mind at once, and you can be a little forgetful. So you keep a variety of colored strings on your fingers as reminders. Each one means there is something different to remember at a certain time.

In fact, looking at your index finger reminds you that there is something important to remember now! It is your friend John's birthday. The green string reminds you that John's birthday package will arrive today. The blue string ALSO reminds you that John's birthday package will arrive today, though in a way that means something slightly different.

You are further reminded that you have some things to do outside your house soon. But you should stop by your room first for some supplies, and most importantly, to see if John is online and wish him a happy birthday!

Jade: Captchalogue the pumpkin growing next to you.

[Image description: Jade takes a pumpkin from her planter. Her shirt has a blue version of the slime creature from John's shirt.]

You snap up that pumpkin which seems suitably ripe for the taking. Hopefully the safety of your sylladex will prevent it from being spirited away like so many of its ephemeral predecessors.

Jade: Exit this room.

[Image description: Jade stands between the two flower planters on the far end of the room. A candy-cane striped pillar holds several hanging baskets of flowers. Just beyond the pillar is a spiral staircase that descends. Her shirt shows a blue spirograph.]

Next

[Image description: It zooms out to show more of the room. There are four pillars and many hanging baskets of flowers. Part of two more wings of the greenhouse are visible, each with flower planters. Another set of spiral stairs curves up opposite the downwards stairs. In the round space between the staircases, there's a platform with the interlocking triangle symbol from the appearifier.]

You make your way to the middle of the garden atrium, where a stairwell joins the four atrium wings.

Upstairs is your grandfather's laboratory as well as your bedroom.
Jade: Captchalogue something.

[Image description: Jade stands by a different flower planter that also has a small tree with red fruit hanging off of it. She takes one, which appears in a captchalogue card in the top right corner. It's an apple with a happy looking face on it. Jade's shirt has the leaf again.]

Your MEMORY modus is hardly any fun without much stuff in it, so you decide to stock up on fresh produce to fill some more cards.

You pick a juicy red crab apple.

Next

[Image description: Jade stands near the upwards stairs and takes a fruit from another tree, this one with green fruit. It appears in a captchalogue card, revealing that it's a lime with a vaguely disappointed look on it's face. Her shirt returns to the atom.]

You go pick a nice looking Key lime.

Next

[Image description: Jade takes a happy-looking orange from a tree near the downwards staircase. Her shirt has the spirograph on it now.]

Then a delicious Mandarin orange. Those are your favorite.

Next

[Image description: She takes an ecstatic lemon from a tree near the base of the upwards staircase. The slime creature is on her shirt now.]

And finally a ripe yellow eureka lemon.

Next

[Image description: Jade's sylladex grid shuffles all the items around and returns to question marks.]

Modus fun aside, you feel it is impossible to have too many fresh fruits and vegetables on hand.

Jade: Go upstairs to bedroom.

[Image description: Jade stands on the platform with the appearifier symbol, then disappears in a green burst. Her shirt has the leaf on it.]

You almost never use the stairs.

Next

[Image description: It shows another room with spiral stairs heading upwards and the top of another staircase that goes down, though it's not clear if it is spiral or straight. To the left, there is a tall, mechanical box with 4 cones on top, one in each corner. At the top of each cone is a red ball and a white ring. In the middle of the room is another platform. Jade appears on it in a green flash, now with a blue version of Rose's squid on her shirt.]

You transportalize upstairs. Just above is your room.
Jade: Ascend.

[Image description: Jade stands at the top of a spiral staircase in what is probably her bedroom. Plushie squids like the one from Rose's shirt are scattered about the room. There's a poster on the back wall of Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff with cat faces and whiskers drawn on, which is signed "To GG from TG". Next to it, a guitar is propped up in a stand. A dresser or some sort of cabinet is against another wall and has two puppets leaning against it. One has a red body, a human face, and light blue hair. The other has a dark blue body, crab claws for hands but a human face and feet, a long blue tentacle for a nose, red hair, and blue antennae. Two more puppets like those sit on the floor nearby. One has a purple body, a wolf nose, purple horns, and yellow hair. Another has a green body, pink hair, and a pink moustache. Next to the dresser is an arch shaped window with a potted green orchid on the sill. A blue orchid sits just below the window. On the other side of the window is a purple magic chest like the one John had. Above the chest is a poster of a green slime creature with Japanese text. To Jade's left is the corner of a 4 poster bed with deep blue sheets with suns and clouds on it. A pink orchid sits in the curve of the stairway. Jade's shirt has the atom on it again.]

You enter your bedroom. On this side of the room you are immediately confronted with numerous artifacts highlighting your various interests.

Next

[Image description: It zooms out, showing more of the room. There are more puppets and stuffed squids scattered around the room. On the walls are posters for Squiddles, which has 4 of the squid creatures on it in pastel colors. Above the Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff poster is a poster of a scantily clad anime witch riding a broom. Next to the slime poster is a poster of a green, anthropomorphic wolf. Hanging planters line the edges of the room.]

You are an avid follower of cartoon shows of considerable nostalgic appeal. You have a profound zeal for marvelous and fantastical fauna of an anthropomorphological persuasion. You have an uncanny knack for nuclear physics, and not infrequently can be found dabbling in rather advanced gadgetry. You enjoy sporadic fits of narcolepsy; your love of gardening transcends the glass confines of your atrium; and you are at times prone to patterns of precognitive prognostication.

You consider very briefly the question: what will you do?

But you quickly realize this is only one half of your room, and is therefore host to only half of your interests to choose from.

Jade: Explore the other half of your room!

[Image description: It shows the portion of the room on the other side of Jade's bed. There's a poster for Manthro Chaps on the wall, which shows two of the strange puppets. Against the wall and on the floor nearby are several types of guns, including a rifle and two old style pistols. On a table against a wall are several pieces of mechanical equipment, one of which has a radioactive symbol on it and a squiddle sitting on top. Small bits of uranium are scattered around the table and on the floor nearby. One of the items on the table is a rectangular contraption divided into 2 squares, one of which is divided into quarters. Small tubes make 3 arches on either side of the contraption, which almost resembles a window. Jade's shirt shows the outline from the pumpkin that Wayward Vagabond ate.]

Over here there are yet more articles of your aforementioned interests, and then some.

Additional telltale signs of your enthusiasm for nostalgic television mingle with your assortment of game hunting firearms. You are a skilled markswoman, though your cross-hairs would never settle on an innocent creature, anthropomorphically persuaded or otherwise.

Your worktable is littered with equipment to facilitate your tinkering. For you, experimentation is not a particularly exact science, and you lean heavily on sharp intuition for consistently and eerily optimal results. Nevertheless, you have still not been able to get that broad, flat gizmo there to work, which is a design you have borrowed from one of your grandpa's more mysterious inventions.

You are a great admirer of his, and you are not alone. Your grandfather is a world renowned explorer-naturalist-treasure hunter-archeologist-scientist-adventurer-big game hunter-billionaire extraordinaire. He has taught you everything you know.

But in spite of all his lessons, it is still difficult to escape his stern lectures when you are on the way out of the house to run your errands. He spends most of his time in the grand foyer, stewing in his own intensity and charisma.

Next

[Image description: It zooms out to show the entirety of Jade's room. In the one corner that wasn't previously shown is another pile of equipment.]

And today will likely be no exception. Among the errands you have planned is to venture out to find your pet and best friend named Becquerel. This animal must be fed and he will not be happy if he is not. And if he is not happy then you will not be happy.

But first you really should dig out your computer and say hi to John!

Now...

What will you do?

Jade: Quickly retrieve firearms from wall.

[Image description: Jade takes one of the rifles and puts it into her strife specibus, which is Rifle kind. Jade's shirt now has a blue radioactive symbol on it. A second image shows a close up of the rifle kind card.]

You equip your trusty hunting rifle. There would be hell to pay if grandad caught you leaving the house without it.

Jade: Wonder why the design on your shirt changed.

[Image description: Jade stands by the cabinet thing. As light shifts around on it, the image on her shirt changes. A pumpkin, a sun, the outline of the animal head, a flower, an atom, a slime.]

There isn't much to wonder, really. You left the Wardrobifier on its randomization setting.

Next

You may contemplate which shirt design you favor the most and commit to that setting in the near future.

Jade: Captchalogue nearest Squiddles doll and hug it.

[Image description: Jade looks at a blue squiddle doll near the base of the Wardrobifier. It slowly begins to move towards a pink one nearby. When they collide, their tentacles entangle and their undersides press together. The words Tangle Buddies! Appear next to them. Jade jumps and smiles, clapping as they collide.]

Just before you can grab one, the powerful electromagnets concealed in their underbellies become activated, and two of them get all tangled up with each other playfully.

Next

[Image description: Jade steps towards the dolls and captchalogues them.]

You captchalogue the tangle buddies.

Jade: Lose interest in fauna and never speak of it again.

[Image description: Jade clasps her hands under her chin and looks up dreamily. In thought bubbles behind her, it shows various anthropomorphic animals, including the drawn on Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff.]

Oh, but you could NEVER do that.

What marvelous creatures they are. What a daring dream, to combine the finest qualities of humanity with the elegance and nobility of the animal kingdom. How you wish you could know their world. To hear one night those muted pawpads traipse up your stairs. A low but friendly growl unsettles your slumber, and as the sopor seeps from your eyes they detect a sharp pair of ears cutting moonlight. A mysterious wolven tongue invites. Wouldn't these ears suit you? Would not this proud long snout assist you in the hunt?

No need to answer. Words slough from the busy mind like a useless dead membrane as a more visceral sapience takes over. Something simpler is in charge now, a force untouched by the concerns and burdens of the upright, that farcical yoke the bipedal tow. It now drives you through the midnight brush, your paws whisking through creepers, unearthing with each bold stomp bright odors demanding investigation. But not for long, as you and your new friend must claim the night with piercing howls moonward.

You eat a weird bug and don't even care.

Jade: Pick up your toys!

[Image description: Jade kneels on the floor, holding the green Manthro Chap with pink hair and moustache. She holds a pipe like she's about to put it in his mouth. On the floor nearby are a tiny top hat, a tiny monocle, a tiny pair of gloves, two syringes, a vial of medicine, and a tray with a black smudge on it.]

Speaking of which, you pick up and admire one of your Manthro Chaps. They are wonderful friends and are always cheerful and pleasant fellows.

Why dear Mr. Coxcomb, how ever will you be received at the Barnyard gala without the trappings of a proper gentleman?
Each manthro chap comes with a number of accessories, including articles of formal attire, a vaccination kit, and a dishwasher-safe slop trough.

Jade: Organize all your dolls.

You gather all your dolls into a rather cozy looking pile.

Jade: Change wardrobifier setting.

You deactivate the Wardrobifier's randomization mode and set it to cycle through these three shirt designs.

The decision was tough, but you think you came to the best possible conclusion.

Jade: Look out window.

It is another beautiful day in your neighborhood. It is peaceful and quiet as usual. A rather imposing volcano looms over your house, which has been inactive for centuries.

Though dormant on the surface, the volcanic activity deep underground provides your house with a source of geothermal power. You are not sure why your grandfather decided to draw from this source of energy when he had the unlimited power of the atom at his disposal. But it has been this way for as long as you can remember.

You have chalked it up to your family's longstanding propensity for eclectic fursuits wait you mean pursuits.

Jade: Retrieve fursuit from magic chest.
What is this nonsense about fursuits!!! You do not own a fursuit. You think anthropomorphic fauna are really cute and enchanting and all, but it has never occurred to you to dress as one. Sure, it is fun to imagine what it would be like to run wild with a pack of wolves, or purr and frolic with a litter of kittens, but dressing up as an animal just seems ridiculous. It would still just be a silly girl draped in a raggedy synthetic tufty piece of crap, and seriously who are you trying to kid with that sort of baloney!

Anyway it is not a magic chest, it it your gadget chest, which you have adapted for storing a number of useful gizmos. It was once your oracle's trunk, a gift from your grandfather of course, and still contains many silly fortune telling knickknacks, all of which are completely bogus.

Jade: Open chest.

Among the fortune telling knickknacks are these items: a crystal ball plus compulsory velvet pillow, a tarot deck, a magic 8 ball, a magic cue ball, and one of your favorite books of all time, Problem Sooth.

Among the useful gizmos are of course your computer, which you keep inside a fun lunchbox for easy transport, and a couple of gizmos you keep handy so you don't always have to make the long trip to the kitchen. There is a cookalizer for preparing delicious meals, and a refrigiificator, a name which clearly is a wacky variation on the much more common household item, the refrigerificator.

Jade: Examine magic 8-ball and magic cue ball.

These things are stupid and useless!

When the magic 8 ball isn't being frustratingly ambiguous, its forecast is always wrong! You have tested it numerous times with certain facts you know to be true. This is its reply when you ask if it is your friend John's birthday today. See? Stupid!

You guess maybe it could be used as a reverse-prediction device, and always trust the opposite of what it says. But that seems dumb to you. And anyway, the thing gives you a bad vibe. You might consider smashing it, but you are a little superstitious about whatever ominous consequences that might have, even if the occult talisman in question is a cheap piece of garbage.

Next

The Magic Cue Ball on the other hand is said to make predictions with alarming precision and specificity. Unfortunately it lacks a portal on its surface that allows you to view the prediction.
You put both of these pieces of junk back in the box.

Jade: Captchalogue refrigerator.

[Image description: The refrigerator and cookalizer disappear from the chest's items. The squiddles lunchbox does too, which replaces the flute in the sylladex. The flute flies off to the side and lands where the refrigerator and cookalizer were. A second image shows the 6 by 3 grid of captchalogue cards flashing with the items in her deck.]

You take the refrigerator.

You might as well grab the cookalizer too. No portable kitchen is complete without it.

You take your lunchtop too, because obviously you're going to be using that pretty soon.

Whoops, there goes your flute. But who cares.

Jade: Feed your friend.

[Image description: Jade stands by her table of equipment. She jumps up onto it and kicks all the items off of it except for a small lump of uranium and the window-like device.

Before you go out to feed Bec, you will need to prepare a meal for him.

You clear some space on your work table so you can set up your refrigerator and cookalizer.

Next

[Image description: The 6 by 3 grid of captchalogue cards appears with Jade's head below them. The cursor comes on screen and selects the second from the right on the top row, though Jade shakes her head. It flips over, revealing a lime. It selects the left card on the second row and Jade nods. It flips, revealing the refrigerator. Red Xs flash on both cards and they turn back over. It tries again. It clicks the second from the left on the top row and Jade watches in anticipation. It reveals an orange and Jade's gaze follows it to the leftmost card in the center row, which reveals the tangle buddies. Red Xs flash on both cards and they flip back over. It tries a third time. It selects the third from the left in the center row as Jade shakes her head. It reveals a lime and moves to select the third from the right on the bottom row. Jade shakes her head furiously and looks distressed as the card flips and shows a bag of fertilizer. Red Xs flash and they turn back over. The animation then loops back to the beginning.]

Just for fun, Jade allows you to take a stab at matching the cards to use the gizmos. It doesn't present much of a challenge for her, so she figures she might as well step aside, while providing a few generous hints.

No, no... warmer. Warmer. Cooler. Cooler.

COLD.

Warmer...

Yes. NO. Cold. ICE COLD.

Warmer. Warmer...

Next
You have selected the key lime.

Way to go.

Try again.

Congratulations, you advance your matching skill to the new level: Yukon Hero: Legacy of the Frostbite Amputee.

Jade is beginning to regret breaking the fourth wall for this ill advised escapade.

Ok, one more time.

If it were known in advance how terrible you were going to be at this matching game, the author may have given second thought to preparing this cool interactive Flash application.

Look at all these fruits on the loose. Good luck trying to settle them down.

Next

You just deploy the gadgets yourself.
Jade: Stick fruits in the refrigerator to keep them fresh.

These fruits are unlikely to become less impudent any time soon regardless of where they are stored, but you stick them in anyway.

Next

You take a look at the Refrigerator's rotary interface. You wonder what he is in the mood for today?

Jade: Press the steak button.

You dial up a thick T-bone steak, which you are sure Becquerel is in the mood for because he is in the mood for steak every day and is never in the mood for anything else.

But he does like his steak well cooked.

Next

Jade: Lightly irradiate steak.

He does prefer his steak rare after all.

But you will not dignify the thought of turning the knob much further because you are not retarded.

Next

You captchalogue the Irradiated steak and save it for your trip outside.

You probably shouldn't waste much more time. You wouldn't want all those nice depleted steak isotopes to settle down.
Jade: Examine the atomic bass by your bed.

You wouldn't exactly call it an atomic bass, but it is heavily customized to accommodate a high level of musical virtuosity, the perfect instrument for the eclectically spirited.

You've tuned the strings way down of course because your stumpy arms can't reach the low notes.

Next

You switch your Eclectic bass to its advanced setting.

But you promptly switch it back, since obviously it's too complicated to play it in person like this. The default setting is your preferred mode for casual jamming.

And since you can't possibly waste enough time playing music, casually jam is exactly what you're gonna do.

[S] Jade: Play a hauntingly relaxing bassline.

You take the portable amp from the wall socket too.

Jade: Open lunchtop.

You like to make yourself comfy in your plushy pile before getting down to business with your computer.

Jade: Get down to business.
Jade: Activate Pesterchum.

[S] Midnight Crew: Act 1031

[MIDNIGHT CREW: ACT 1031]

The moon and sun switch places and the background turns purple as stars appear. It zooms in on the moon, which moves down to bring purple skyscrapers on screen. In the background, a bridge that resembled the Golden Gate Bridge is silhouetted against the crescent moon. Motion blurs cross the screen and it shows the 4 men from the Midnight Crew panels around the table. It shows a close up of one reaching for an Ace of Diamonds card. It cuts to his face and the card turns into a cane of some sort. His name appears at the top of the screen. Diamonds Droog.

It shows another hand reaching for a card, this one the Ace of Clubs. It cuts to the face of the short round one and the card changes into a table leg. Clubs Deuce.

Another hand reaches for the Ace of Hearts. It shows the tall round one as the card turns into a pole of some sort. Hearts Boxcars.

The last one reaches for the Ace of Spades, which turns into a cane with a horse head at the end. Spades Slick.

A fancy lit sign reading Casino flashes on screen against a black background with a spade, a diamond, and heart, and a club hovering around it. The image cuts to a wall of flame and a collection of green people wearing hats like pool balls appears. A plaque underneath them calls them the Felt. A large round one wears a white hat with an orange stripe that says 13. A tall, angular one wears a dark red hat that says 7. A rounded, skinny one wears a blue hat that says 2. A very short skinny one wears a purple 4 hat. A medium sized one wears a yellow 1 hat. A tall, narrow, angular one wears a bright red 3 hat.

The scene changes to a grey room with an empty bookshelf and a safe door embedded in a wall. Number 4 stands off to the side as Spades Slick beats number 1 with his cane. Clubs Deuce stands on the opposite side.

A new Felt, a large square one with a white hat with a red stripe reading 15 appears against the wall of flame. It cuts to Diamonds Droog shooting 2 machine guns at number 2 in an empty warehouse. Number 2 hides behind an empty crate. Number 3 comes up behind Droog and Droog turns to beat him with his cane. This gives 2 a chance to escape.

It cuts to the Midnight Crew playing in a band while people dance to their music.

The screen goes black and splatters of blood appear on it. A black spade fades into view and the words Midnight Crew appear on it.]

[S] Dave: STRIFE.

Dave does a flip and moves to the other side of the screen as Bro's silhouette appears, holding a sword. Dave runs towards him, but he disappears. He reappears in a blur behind Dave and deposits Lil Cal. The song Beatdown (Strider Style) begins to play. Round 1 Strife appears at the top of the screen.

Dave grits his teeth and runs towards Cal, jumping into a front flip as he approaches. Bro comes on in a blur and moves Cal out of the way just in time to avoid the blade, making it look like Cal is moving on his own. Dave swings for Cal again and he jumps over the blade, then drops to the floor. Dave swings down at Cal, but he disappears and reappears leaning against Dave's back. Dave freaks out for a moment before resuming the assault, which Cal dodges again. Before Dave can swing again, Cal moves forward and kicks him in the face, knocking him back a few steps. Dave regains his footing and goes to swing his sword again, but Bro passes in a blur and takes it from him. Cal smacks Dave in the face and kicks him a few more times, knocking him to the ground. Dave tucks and rolls underneath Cal, somehow regaining his sword in the process. Cal falls onto the ground and Dave swings only for Cal to disappear. A split second later, Cal reappears behind Dave and goes to grab him, but Dave jumps out of the way and up off the screen. Cal drops to the ground where Dave was and Dave runs on from the left side, already swinging. Before he can land the blow, Cal disappears, then drops down on Dave from above. Dave dodges out of the way and comes back on the attack, but Cal disappears again only to reappear behind him. Dave jumps into a flip towards Cal, who disappears. Dave shouts in frustration and hits his sword against the ground several times.

Bro comes on and sets Cal on top of Dave's head and Dave freaks out, flailing his arms wildly to try and get the puppet off. He takes out his sword after a second and swings it above his head, but Cal disappears. Dave swings a few more times before realizing that his target is gone. He stops just in time for Cal to come on from the left side and smack him, knocking him to the ground. Dave jumps up into a flip and swings his sword at Cal, but Cal kicks him in the face mid-jump and knocks him back down. Cal does a flip and lands on top of Dave, dancing on him as Dave flails.]

We would all play a game you didn't know the name of. A game you said I'd get in the mail, and did.
One that would help me answer some questions. But Strider is being obtuse, I can't catch John at his computer, you don't even have the game yourself, and on top of all that, my internet is unstable.
So are you sure today is the day?
gardenGnostic: there sure are a lot of challenges but yes i am sure!!
dave is cool, you know he will come around when the time is right he just has a lot of work to do first and so do you!
youll need to keep searching for a stable signal and power source, it will be hard but dont give up!!! and dont worry about me either, focus on playing with john first it all starts with you two!
tentacleTherapist: Is there nothing else you can say to prepare me for this?
I'm sure you think little of blithely upsetting dark forces with Grandpa Moreau over there on Hellmurder Island, but honestly I've only read a few books on it.

i dont really know what to tell you other than its not going to be what you think it is and most importantly you will have your questions answered, but they will be the ones you haven't thought to ask yet!
just be patient and be brave youll see it will be fun!!!!!!!

Jade: Be the other girl.
You are now the other girl several hours in the future.

It appears a secret passage in the mausoleum has been opened.

It's getting awfully toasty in here. You gather up your belongings, including your dead cat.

Rose: Descend.

Jade: Stop being the other girl and pester John again.

You've spent enough time for now concerning yourself with the future of your friends.

John will not be available until later. By then he will have his hands full, as will you.

Next

You pack up your Lunchtop and get ready to take care of some business downstairs.

Strife appears at the top of the screen. It zooms in on John, who begins bouncing his hammer from side to side with a Boing. He gets faster and faster until the background turns green with slimes floating across it. He jumps up and does a flip, going to hit the ogre holding the book only to be knocked out of the air by it. As the book hits John, the word Sassacre appears in small text next to it. John flies backwards and hits the other ogre in the face, then bounces to the ground. One of the ogres hits him with the book while the other spins the tire swing like a lasso and loops the tire around John. The ogre swings John up into the air as he shouts. It swings John down onto the ground then back into the air repeatedly then begins swinging him in a wide circle over its head. It swings John in towards the other ogre, who smacks him with the book and Launches him into the air. John goes flying past the edge of the platform and towards the void. He falls for a few seconds, then lands on the bed, which Nannasprite is holding in place with her eye laser. As John lands, his health bar appears, showing that he is dangerously low on health. Nannasprite moves the bed slightly and lets it hover. She turns her eye beam onto John, who is encased in a blue bubble as ghostly cookies float towards him. His health quickly increases back to full and he sits up. He takes a moment to look around before taking out his hammer and heading back into the fray.]
Try as you might, you can't stop your mind from drifting to the fate of your friends. You dwell on a particular configuration of reminders on your finger.

Also in the future...

[Image description: It shows the apple that fell from the large tree in W.V.’s time. A small circle opens up in the side and a mechanical worm snakes out of it. The worm stops halfway out of the apple and stares at something offscreen, a small question mark appearing over its head.]

Under bare white branches a sentry wakens.

[Note: the previous line opens a series of images. Peregrine Mendicant, the white counterpart to W.V. who pushed a cart of mailboxes through the desert, looks at the worm, which has come down to her eye level. A second image shows the worm's attention diverted to the mailboxes. It looks pleased but P.M. has a small exclamation point of distress over her head. Another image shows the worm chewing on one of the mailboxes with a small Nom appearing with each bite. Another image shows P.M. glaring. She reaches for a sword sheathed at her side. Both the blade and the hilt are black. The hilt is very intricate and has a small cross on the bottom of the pommel.]

[Z001] some stuff about captcha codes and punch card alchemy is anyone actually reading any of this?? or are they all dead. i don't know if anyone besides us is even alive and playing the game or if anybody even really cares what we have to say!

rose said i should add some stuff to this f.a.q. if anything occurred to me, so i guess i'm doing that. i figure at the very least it will be a good reference for just us to use. but dave probably won't read any of this because he's sort of this whopping stupid horse butt. whatever.

i finally figured out what those weird codes on the back of captchalogue cards are for. well maybe not what they're ALWAYS for, but a way that sburb has exploited them for an in-game purpose. every captcha'd item stamps the card with a unique code, and a gizmo in sburb called the punch designinx will punch a unique pattern of holes in a card which is derived from that code. the punched card can then be used with other gizmos to duplicate the item and/or combine it with another item.

i got to thinking about this and with my amazing hacker skillz i noticed a trend. the hole pattern is based on a fairly simple cipher, converting the captcha code to binary and then the binary pattern is punched, where 1 is a punched hole, and 0 is an unpunched slot.

so, umm... here's the table just to be clear.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Code</th>
<th>Pattern</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>7</td>
</tr> </tbody>
</table>
there are a couple oddball characters exclamation point and question mark at the end to bring it up to 63 (0 thru 63 = 64 total, i.e. 6 bits). cause the binary representation of the captcha code characters are 6 bits each, which have a range of 0-63.

so for instance the captcha code for the hammer is "nZ7Un6BI". look up the index for 'n' first, which is 49. The binary of 49 is 1 1 0 0 0 1. keep doing that for all the characters and you get:

n=1 1 0 0 0 1
Z=1 0 0 0 1 1
7=0 0 0 1 1 1
U=0 1 1 1 1 0
n=1 1 0 0 0 1
6=0 0 0 1 1 0
B=0 0 1 0 1 1
I=0 1 0 0 1 0
```

OK... that's the pattern that will be punched on the card, BUT...

the bits are arranged top to bottom, left to right, in four columns, like this:

1 0 1 0
1 0 1 0
0 0 0 1
0 1 0 0
0 1 0 1
1 1 1 1
1 0 0 0
0 1 0 1
0 1 0 0
0 1 1 0
1 1 1 1
1 0 0 0
```

or punched on a card, like this:

(It shows ASCII art of a punched card)

wow ok that pretty much looks like shit, but you get the idea.

so to combine two items you just overlap two punched cards. only the places where both cards have a hole will show through, so it's sort of like a bitwise AND operation on both cards. the new pattern gives you the code for the new item.

for instance combining the code for a hammer (nZ7Un6BI) and a pogo ride (DQMmJLeK) gives a new code with less holes obviously, which translates to 126GH48G. that hole pattern went on to make the pogo hammer, which is so rad you have no idea. I've also wondered if you can combine items in other ways, like a bitwise OR. That means combining the cards to get MORE holes, not less, i.e. the new pattern has a hole for every hole on either card. This pattern would be accomplished by double punching a card!! Like, two codes, one card. I've got to try that some time.

But there are some mysterious things about all this. First of all, with all the hole slots, there are 48 bits in total, which means there are almost 300 trillion possible codes. And 300 trillion sounds huge! But when you consider it is supposed to account for ALL CONCEIVABLE ITEMS, including all the wacky combinations of stuff, it suddenly doesn't seem that big!

This leads me to believe that not every combination of item has a viable duplicate. But this is kinda obvious anyway, since there are many combinations of punch cards that will produce either a blank card (with AND) or a totally punched card (with OR). So there are lots of dud combinations out there, and many that will just lead to the same pattern. Like for instance a gun and an atom bomb could make some sort of ULTIMATE DEATH RAY, but for that matter a shoe horn and a potted plant could lead to exactly the same pattern!!!!! So weird.

Also it seems like combined items will always have patterns with either much fewer holes or much more holes than more "ordinary" items, which will occupy the vast meaty middle of all possible patterns. It is strange and counter intuitive that more complex objects have simpler patterns but hey, there you have it.

But all this sorta makes me guess this system can be cracked in some way, like if you have a complicated item and you want to "extract" simpler item components from it, there might be some algorithm for deriving the pattern you want, or at least narrowing down the possibilities. There might also be ways of charting through the simpler patterns on both ends of the bit spectrum, and pinning down the ones that will make cooler stuff. Who knows.

I want to ask Jade about this because she's really good at this sort of thing somehow even though she doesn't have my leet haxxor cred. Too bad she makes herself so scarce all the time. Jade if you ever read this let me know what you think!

PUNCH CARD CALCULATOR

By Gankro

[Note: Punch Card Calculator opens a new tab with an image of a blank captchalogue card on the left and the back of a captchalogue card on the right. There is a box in which to input a code, which generates the punch pattern for that code on the left and what the back of the card would look like on the right.]

Next

[Image description: It shows a grey sign reading SN in large green letters that's mounted on a green brick wall. The top curve of the S is made of a green version of the atom from Jade's shirt and the bottom curve is made of a green spirograph. Below the sign is an Exit sign over the very top of a doorway.]

Next

[Image description: Rose stands inside the room with the sign on the wall. A green glow comes from somewhere off screen and overlays an eerie green cast over everything.]

You enter the laboratory.
Rose: Look for mad scientists.

There are no scientists to be found, mad or otherwise. Or anyone for that matter. The lab appears to be deserted.

There is a kiosk though.

Next

It looks like the kiosk monitors the lab's enormous Hubgrid.

Jade: Transportalize as far down as you can go.

This is as far down as you can go.

The grand foyer is still a few floors down, but the transportalizer on that level is blocked by one of grandpa's impressive big game trophies, and you just don't think he would cotton to someone moving it.

Speaking of which, here are some of his trophies now. He has a million of these ghastly things. You really dislike them.

Jade: Proceed.

You hop down a level.
Granddad also likes to accumulate valiant knights from his travels. These are pretty cool, you guess.

Jade: Keep going.

[Image description: Jade stands at the bottom of another set of stairs in a room nearly identical to the other two. She has a concerned and disturbed expression on her face as she looks at a mummy that looks to be a misshapen ape skull and arms grafted onto a fish body. In the background are many more mummies and a few sets of armor. A second image zooms out to show even more mummies, suits of armor, and a few animal heads on walls. A pink glow comes from the archways.]

Oh yeah. How could you forget about his stash of Decrepit mummies.

God you hate these things.

Jade: Don't stop.

[Image description: It shows a close up of one of the archways on the next floor down, which glows a light teal. A large wolf head is mounted above it and on either side are faded out pictures of women's faces. Mummies, animals, and knight memorabilia flank the door as well. Another image shows Jade standing at the bottom of the stairs, looking at three more faded images of women nestled among more mummies, knights, and dead animals.]

Next

[Image description: It shows the rest of the room which contains even more pictures, animals, suits, and mummies.]

This is your grandfather's collection of what he refers to as his beauties. No lovely lady will be fit for his collection unless her portrait has spent at least 20 years bleaching in the front window of a beauty parlor, a sort of establishment he's plundered no less frequently than ancient tombs.

You guess they were sort of like your sisters while growing up, and you were always encouraged to look up to them. They are all awfully pretty ladies you suppose, but it was always hard to get as excited about them as grandpa.

"Jade, study hard and keep your rifle at the ready. When adventure summons, I know you will rise to the task and take your rightful place among the Daughters of Eclectica."

That old coot sure is a bag of wind!

Jade: Complete your descent.

[Image description: It shows a close up of a green snake with a white head, like the one from John's Typhoeus browser. It's mouth is open and it has very sharp teeth. The room behind it looks like the same architecture as the ones Jade passed through.]

Next

[Image description: Jade stands at the bottom of a staircase, next to the taxidermy Typhoeus, with an exasperated expression on her face. Typhoeus's tail goes out through the right archway and it blocks the transportalizer. The floor on this level is made of large cobblestones and torches are dotted around the room, their flames flickering. There is no downward staircase on this level.]
You reach the ground level. This is the stupid thing blocking the transportalizer. It is unspeakably hideous.

Down the southeast hall is the grand foyer. You'll have to cross through it to leave the house.

Next

[Image description: The lunchtop sits on the floor in front of Jade with an ellipsis alert hovering above it.]

Looks like someone's pestering you.

Even though you thought you logged off... ?

Jade: Answer.

[Image description: It shows the pesterchum client and a chat. Under the Trollslum menu, carcinoGeneticist is flashing.]

[Note: carcinoGeneticist speaks in all caps and in a medium grey text. The all-caps has been removed for ease of reading.]

carcinoGeneticist: Hi again, idiot.
gardenGnostic: oh noooooo carcinoGeneticist: So I guess today is finally the day you fuck everything up.

gardenGnostic: (Offended face) carcinoGeneticist: Is there nothing I can do to change your mind?
gardenGnostic: you can leave me alone!!!!

how can you even be talking to me after i blocked you....
AND after i logged out????
carcinoGeneticist: You don't get that I am better and smarter than you in every way, forever. You don't get that because you are incredibly stupid.
gardenGnostic: i get that youre a jerk and you should shut up!
goodbye you jerk!!!!!!!!!

Rose: Look at that kiosk.

[Image description: It shows a pixelated screen in various shades of grey. It is a checkerboard pattern divided into quarters by narrow bands, presumably to match the squares of green items and paths on the floor. A heading at the top of the screen reads SN_HUB GRID 44.519872, -74.820017. Each square is labeled with two numbers, the second always 143 greater than the first. The numbering begins in the top left corner and goes across each row, ending in 9999 in the bottom right. A pixel in the third square from the left of the top row flashes green. There is a command prompt box at the bottom of the screen.

> unlock SN_LAB 0413]

Looks like a mapping of each hub's index.

It appears one of the hubs was recently unlocked.

Rose: Go to the center and do a goofy dance.

[Image description: Rose stands at the intersection of the two paths, near the round green object, which is revealed to be a platform with the interlocking triangle symbol on it.]

At the center, you find a little stage that looks perfect for supporting a spectacularly silly dance. Or it would if standing on it didn't make you a little nervous, and also if that didn't sound like a retarded idea given the circumstances.

It looks sort of like the various contraptions you've been deploying in John's house. You wonder what it does?

Rose: Attempt to plug laptop into nearby hub.

[Image description: Rose takes her laptop out of the root card and all of her items crash to the floor. Jasper's corpse lands on the platform while the rest land on the floor. Rose looks irritated.]

Next

[Image description: Jasper's corpse disappears in a green flash and Rose pinches her eyes shut.]

Great, you just vaporized your dead cat. Oh well. Ashes to ashes you guess.

There's got to be a better way to deal with this lousy tree.

Rose: Examine fetch modus.

[Image description: It shows the back of a lime green fetch modus. There is a large eject button at the top and two buttons below it which read Root and Leaf. Root is currently pressed. At the bottom of the card, there is a selected box next to the words auto-balance. The leaf option presses down and the root option un-presses. A moment later, auto-balance unchecks.]

Looks like you can choose between picking leaves, or awkwardly uprooting the whole tree, as you've been doing.

You select leaf. You also turn off auto-balance, since its consequences can be a little mystifying sometimes.

Next

[Image description: All of Rose's items, minus jaspers, are in her sylladex again. The pillow is in the root card with the violin in the right branch and the grimoire in the left. Below the grimoire is the umbrella and below that, the laptop.]

You gather up all your items again in an order that places your laptop in a conveniently accessible leaf. You're not sure why you didn't do this a lot sooner.

Kind of a funny looking tree now, but your concern for structural elegance is at an all time low.

Rose: Find the unlocked hub.

[Image description: Rose stands on top of one of the lighter green sections of the grid. One of the small boxes with lights and a dial pops out of place and settles on top of the rest.]

As long as you're going to plug in your computer, you might as well find that hub.

Here it is. HUB SN_LAB 0413. It is unlocked, and thus removable from the grid.

You suspect this was the same beacon transmitting the unsecured signal you were using earlier.
Next

[Image description: Rose dodges over and physically plucks the laptop card from her captchalogue tree.]

You pick the laptop leaf from the tree.

Next

[Image description: A cord now stretches from the top of the hub to the laptop in Rose's hand. She captchalogues the hub, which jostles down to a card under the grimoire. She does the same for the laptop, which settles underneath the umbrella card. A black cord loops out of the laptop card to the hub card.]

You plug your laptop into the hub, then captchalogue the hub and then the laptop.

There must be a better place around here to set up your computer. This huge grid of electronics is sort of uninviting. You look around.

Hey, what's that?

Next

[Image description: It shows a grey sign with the SN logo on it. Underneath the logo, it says Skaianet laboratory unestablished in: At the bottom of the sign, a timer counts down from 3:14, though the timer has sections for seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks or months, and years. The years section has 4 digits, so the timer may have been going for millennia.]

It's another one of these ominous countdowns. You didn't notice it when you first entered the lab about a minute ago. It looks like this one may have been ticking for years.

Whatever it's ticking down to, there isn't much time. You can only hope that when you turn on your computer again, there will be a connection invitation from one Mr. Strider.

Again in the future...

[Image description: It shows 4 screens combining to make the sburb logo, though it is sideways. A timer counts down from 9 seconds.]

Another timer winds down, sideways.

[Note: The previous line is a link that opens a series of images in a new tab. It shows the mechanical worm's head laying in the sand, wires poking out where it was severed from its body. A second image shows an open hatch in the apple like structure that fell from the tree. Nearby, Peregrine Mendicant's cart stands empty. Another shows P.M. standing in front of the screens, which have counted down to zero. She stacks the mailboxes to make a step stool so she can reach the sideways keyboard. In the command prompt, she types Home.]

Dave jumps up into a front flip and draws his sword, flinging Cal off the screen. He dashes to the right and does a backflip to the left side of the screen as Bro appears, sword in hand. The words Can't Abscond Bro! Round 2 Appear at the top of the screen and the song Beatdown Round 2 begins to play. It cuts to Bro against a background of fast-flickering red lines. He points off screen, presumably towards Dave, then gives him a thumbs down. It cuts to Dave against the same background. He holds a green smuppnet head and drags his thumb across his throat in a slashing motion. Cal's face suddenly takes up the whole screen and the word Strife appears across the top. Dave jumps up and crosses swords with Bro. Dave deflects Bro's sword downwards and jumps up into a front flip as Bro raises his sword again. He swings down at Bro's head, but Bro catches it on his blade. Dave pulls back and swings twice more as he falls to the ground. Bro catches both on his sword. Dave runs off screen and comes back on the other side, dashing up from behind Bro. Before he can attack, Bro leaps upwards and lands behind Dave. Bro swings down at Dave, who catches it without even looking behind him. He turns around and they exchange a few more blows. Dave flips over Bro to the right side of the screen and they parry again. Dave jumps up and goes on the attack, but Bro fades out of existence only to reappear behind him and send him flying off to the left. Bro materializes in his path and gives him a flying kick, sending him soaring off towards the right. Bro jumps and intercepts him, attempting to cut him in half with the sword, but Dave disappears and reappears further right, flying back at Bro with his sword drawn. Bro tries to swing down at Dave again, but he misses and Dave lands safely back on the roof. Bro lands in front of him and they simply stare at each other for a moment. After a second, Bro jumps straight up and Dave does the same. They fly upwards level with each other and it zooms in on their faces as they violently clash in the air. Both are on the attack and defense equally as they trade blows, never landing one anywhere but the other's blade. Suddenly, Bro disappears from behind one of Dave's attacks and reappears above him, but upside down. He spins and kicks Dave, who begins flailing and falling back towards the roof. He lands and bounces hard a few times before finally coming to a stop laying down. Bro lands to his right and Dave jumps up, immediately pulling out his sword and going on the offensive. He gets close and Bro goes to block the blow, but Dave disappears and reappears slightly to the left, letting the block pass by and landing a blow that sends Bro offscreen. Before he can even stand, Bro reappears behind him and swings down. Dave dodges the blow by jumping into a flip. For a few moments, they keep trading near-blows, the other always dodging out of the way before it can land. These get faster and faster as a Bro silhouette fades in behind the battle, though Bro is still fighting too. Dave jumps up into a rapid flip and goes to swing for Bro, but Bro fades out and the silhouette becomes Bro, who jumps in behind Dave and grabs him by the collar. Dave flails, trying to get away, but Bro throws him towards the right, then appears in his path again. The second blow knocks him back towards the left and he flies for a very long time. Suddenly, it cuts to Bro standing on the roof with Lil Cal in his hand. In slow motion, Dave falls on screen from above and Bro uses Cal to slap Dave back towards the right. He goes flying and flies straight into the open stairwell door. He begins tumbling down the stairs. An image of Hella Jeff appears in the top right corner and says I WARNED YOU ABOUT STAIRS BRO!!!! The image shifts and he begins falling down stairs in the other direction. Hella Jeff appears again and says I TOLD YOU DOG!]

It Keeps Happening

[Image description: It shows Rose with a green glow behind her. In the top right corner, there are tiled images of Dave falling down the stairs.]

What does?

You don't have time to humor every random thought that pops into your head. The clock is ticking.

Rose: Look around for anything else of importance.
This looks like something of importance.

Next

It appears to be Skaianet's primary Session terminal, monitoring a great number of sburb sessions in the northeastern United States and parts of Canada. Upon further investigation you draw some logical conclusions.

It looks like each session consists of an ip address and a physical location. The colored dots on the map appear to be meteor impact sites. It seems each session corresponds with a meteor, but not all meteors have sessions.

The color of the dot appears to indicate the status of the meteor's descent. The red dots indicate meteors that have already landed. Yellow dots are imminent collisions. Green will impact later, and blue will take the longest to touch down.

Next

You use the panel to center on your present location and zoom in. Surrounding the lab are of course the hundreds of smaller meteors that have been raining down steadily throughout the evening. Most of these meteor(ite)s have either landed already, or will shortly.

Centered over the lab is a significantly larger imminent collision. You can't say precisely how imminent, but you could certainly take an educated stab at it.

Just southwest of the lab, centered suspiciously near the location of your house, is an even larger looming collision. Though this one appears slightly less imminent.

The terminal looks like it can monitor any meteor or session around the world. Search filters can be applied as well, restricting results based on size, time of impact, location, and so on.

Next

A small-ish green circle surrounds the Houston area in south Texas. A massive medium-blue circle covers much of the area of the pacific ocean in the Oceania region to the west of Australia.
You zoom way out and narrow the search based on size. The two at the top of the list appear to be the biggest by far. You examine only their coordinates.

The second biggest is centered over a US city. The biggest by a landslide is, luckily for the Earth you suppose, way out in the middle of the Pacific ocean.

Rose: Turn on your laptop and check on John.

[Image description: Rose holds her laptop with the green Hub on the floor.]

You plug the laptop into the hub again and turn it on. It is now powered and connected to the wireless signal the hub is broadcasting.

Your sburb session reconnects.

No sign of John here. You wonder why the house is shaking.

Last time you saw him he was on one of the roof platforms. You will have to navigate via the sburb interface to find him.

[Image description: It shows the same screen as before, but this time the up arrow on the controls is flashing red and a black box beneath it reads Navigate!]

Click the up arrow.
It shows the roof with the magic chest where two imps stand. The up arrow flashes.

Click the up arrow.
John and the two ogres come into view. John bounces his hammer back and forth between the ogres, earning a small Boing each time. The background fades to the green stripes and floating slimes as bigger Boings appear above the ogres. John jumps up into a front flip and smacks the ogre holding the Sassacre book with his hammer repeatedly in the face. The other ogre swings the tire swing, but before it can do anything, a light blue beam comes on from the left and begins blasting at it.

It shifts to the left, revealing that Nannasprite is shooting it with her eye laser. The scene shifts upwards and Rose drags the fridge on screen. She lets it go and it falls onto the Sassacre ogre, but he catches it and uses it to hit John and send him flying off the platform. A blue Nanna-beam zaps in front of him and a blue oven appears. It opens and catches him, then angles down and sends him flying back into the battle. John smacks the tire swing ogre with a massive Boing, then jumps off screen. It zooms out to show Nannasprite behind the Sassacre ogre. She uses a Nanna-beam to make a sphere above the ogre. Pianos, bathtubs, and toilets begin spewing out of the sphere, smacking the ogre as they fall. It cuts to John spinning through the air, then moves up past him. Rose holds the alchemiter, then turns it upside down. John lands on the platform and bounces his hammer on it to gain speed as he flies back towards the ogres. He hits the sassacre ogre with it and it explodes into a several massive build grist and shale, along with some black, teardrop shaped grist and light grey, bean-shaped grist. The other ogre begins to swing the tire swing again, but Nannasprite blasts it with her laser again. The image shifts, revealing that this beam is made of cookies from the oven that she caught John with. John jumps up and, using the beam to bounce on, smacks the ogre in the face with his hammer repeatedly. He jumps down and moments later, he ogre explodes. Rose sets the alchemiter down on the platform and John does his victory dance.]

John: High-five Nannaquin.

[Image description: Nannasprite floats in the background, but her arm floats next to John, who highfives it while holding his pogo hammer over his head victoriously. He is smeared with oil. tentacleTherapist: Good work, John!
ectoBiologist: oh, hey!
you're back.
tentacleTherapist: For now. I'll have to leave again shortly. It looks like there's another large meteor headed for...
My present location.
ectoBiologist: oh, so you mean dave connected with you?
tentacleTherapist: Not yet.
I'll explain later.
But I think I've determined that activating the timer in the game is not directly responsible for summoning a meteor to your location.
The countdown seems merely to exist as a kind of warning to the player.
As well as a strange coincidence.
ectoBiologist: um, ok.
i don't really think i get it.
is this relevant?
tentacleTherapist: Probably not at the moment. And certainly not to you.
I have to go.
ectoBiologist: ok, later!
tentacleTherapist: P.S. Try not to waste too much of that grist while I'm gone.

John: Climb that echeladder.

You rocket up the Echeladder to the dizzying heights of the vaunted BOY-SKYLARK rung!!!
Your new feather is hard earned and well deserved. And alarmingly fashionable.

John: Collect phat lewtz.

You and your Ceramic Porkhollow rejoice in the mound of wealth yielded from your meteoric ascent up the ladder.

You are still not sure what all these Boondollars can actually get you. But when pulling in such insane loot hand over fist like this, who cares?

Not you.

John: Pick up as much grist as you can hold.

You gather up 2260 pieces of build grist, 1040 pieces of shale, 490 drops of tar, and 350 drops of mercury.

You can't wait to find out what amazing items this new supply of grist will be just barely insufficient to produce.

JOHN: ok nanna, i will.
hey, nanna?
NANNASPRITE: Yes, dear?
JOHN: since i am trying to get up to that gate, and since you can sort of conjure floating beds and throw me around and all...
couldn't you just throw me up to the gate?
NANNASPRITE: Yes, of course, John!
But that would not serve your purpose well!
There is a very good reason why you should build up to it. And then keep building!
JOHN: oh, ok, i guess that's what i figured.
so just one more thing...
do you think that instead of telling me exactly why that is with a clear explanation, you can give me a series of really coy riddles about it and then sort of giggle?
NANNASPRITE: John, you are a very fresh young man!
Your father has done such a wonderful job raising you. I am so proud of you both.
JOHN: ha ha, i guess.
NANNASPRITE: When you pass through the first gate, everything will change. You will find the place where the constellations dance beneath the clouds. And then your true work may begin.
Hoo hoo hoo!
JOHN: i suddenly understand everything!

Elsewhere, we find a place...

On top of the roof portion is a framed picture of Jade wearing a yellow dress with puffy sleeves and a moon on the chest. There are black candles burning on the lip of the archway. On the wall near the archway are heads of hideous monsters. One is an oil-splattered Crude Ogre like the ones John killed. One has a massive horn coming out of it's forehead and has two pointy tusks. Two have very wide mouths, sharp teeth, and forked tongues that stick out. They also have five horns coming out of the top of their heads above slitted eyes. One of the identical heads is green and the other is white.]

Jade: Scamper into grand foyer with wild abandon.

[Image description: Jade comes running into the foyer with the words Lass Scamper at the top of the screen. She runs into a globe and falls on her butt.]

You scamper your heart out and bump into something. You don't know why he always insists on keeping it so dark in here.

Oh look, it was one of his dumb Globes. These things make it awfully difficult to navigate the foyer. We get it, granddad. You like to travel around the world going on adventures and stuff! Lousy goddamn stupid globes.

Jade: Arm yourself.

[Image description: Jade takes out her rifle. A mummy wearing a pirate hat and a suit of armor wearing a formal jacket, tie, and jeans sit on the couch. There are many other globes and mummies scattered around the room.]

Grandpa will surely have stern words for you if he catches you without your trusty rifle at the ready. That's just what you need, another one of his blustering mustachioed diatribes. You are rolling your eyes in advance, getting them warmed up.

But ideally you can evade him altogether. All you have to do is get past the fireplace and out the front door, and you will be scot-free.

Jade: Examine those chaps on the sofa.

[Image description: Jade sneaks around the end of the sofa. In the background is the purple and yellow archway. On another couch opposite the mummy-pirate and Armor in a suit is a deer head with legs and a furry-headed creature.]

These are the manor's four distinguished houseguests. They like to gather here by the fireplace for tea time. As well as pretty much all other times. It's all very mannerly and civilized.

You know exactly what's going to happen when you try to sneak by. The fireplace is going to light up and your grandpa's silhouette is going to appear in front of the fire to give you a good spook. He is so predictable.

Next

[Image description: A flame flashes in the archway, revealing that it is in fact a giant fireplace. Jade ducks back behind the sofa as the outline of a mustachioed man wearing a hat and carrying a large gun appears in front of the flame.]

and there he goes
the old man...
HASS the flame

[Note: the text is in Comic Sans and is a salmon-y pink. It is also a link to a Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff comic, the Big Game comic to be precise.]

Sweet bro and hella jeff

Hella Jeff holds a red rectangle in his poorly-drawn hand and says
bro i got a ticket for the BIG GAME
its sports

Sweet Bro's shirt color seems to have migrated up onto his face and his skin color seeps into the background. Around him is the edge of a program window.
dog.......i AM SO JEALOUS you KNOW i love the big game.

It zooms in on Hella Jeff's face, which is suddenly pale and washed out. It's literally pasted on top of a faded copy of the first panel. He says
oh yeah

It shows a badly drawn black man in a yellow shirt and shorts carrying a basketball to a hoop that's shorter than he is.
and there he goes

It zooms in on his weird looking face.
the big man.... HASS the rock

It zooms in on his feet, one of which is red and one of which is the same color as his skin. Is he only wearing one shoe? Who even knows.
he”s driving SO HARD threw the paint DOWN TOWN!
The basketball player contorts himself wildly as he jumps towards the hoop that's probably nose height on him.
--ally-yoop-- (crossed out)

"ahlly'yoop" for the SLAM-DUNK

Hella Jeff presses his face to the back of the backboard to watch this Sick Slam Dunk. It zooms in uncomfortably close on Hella Jeff.]

Next

[Image description: Jade still hides behind the couch with a grimace on her face.]

You suppose you could still manage to sneak by the crafty old man if you are fast enough. Avoiding an encounter would be ideal.

Encounters with him are usually........

Intense.

Jade: Leap dramatically across the divide.

[Image description: Jade jumps across the gap between couches. Halfway across, she falls asleep and drops to the floor.]

WHOOPS.

You guess an encounter with him is almost certain now.

But most likely not for a while. Time to see what someone else is up to.

Oh, let's say... Dave.

[S] Strife!!!

[Image description: A loading screen appears. It's a red and black record spinning against a background that goes from red at the bottom to yellow at the top. It looks like it's been put on with a paintbrush and not blended. Suddenly, the screen goes black and it says Aw Snap.
Preloader Psycheout
It cuts to the painting of Jade above the fireplace and continues loading for a moment. It cuts to Jade asleep on the floor in front of her Grandpa's silhouette. She sits up, then jumps to her feet and pulls out her gun. She takes a battle stance as the song Dissension (Original) begins to play. Strife? Appears at the top of the screen. A green Aggrieve box appears above her head. Grandpa fades from a silhouette to a man wearing a safari-style hat, rectangular glasses, a large moustache with curled ends, a suit jacket that closes asymmetrically on the right side, and pants tucked into tall black boots. His gun is an ornate pistol-like base with an extremely plain, flared barrel. Jade bounces slightly, ready for battle, but Grandpa stays absolutely still. He can't move. He's mounted on a base that reads GRANDPA HARLEY and has a line of stitches up the side of his face. He's a taxidermy man.
Click Aggrieve.
A small keyboard appears where Aggrieve was and red arrows indicate to press random keys on the keyboard. She flails around the room with various key presses. Words appear like she fired the gun, but no bullets ever appear.
PCHOO!
Some of the keys do strange things.
N makes her play the flute with the fruit bouncing around on the floor nearby. Y makes her knock off Grandpa's hat, revealing short white hair with a fluffed section in front. L makes her stand on his head. Z makes her fall asleep. Period makes her stand on the archway next to her portrait. Forward slash makes her sleep on the archway.

YES i am going out with this gun!!! no i will not go get a bigger one!!! no i will not take yours! I can't even lift it!!!!!! oh that is so preposterous. do you even hear what you're saying? i will be fine! this is a perfectly deadly gun and it shoots lots of incredibly deadly bullets! oh will you just stop it. i am going now. Goodbye!!!!!!!!!!!!

(Heart)!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Jade: Abscond!

[Image description: Jade stands outside a door with the atom symbol on it. The ground beneath her is plain dirt, but green is speckled in near the edge of the panel. Jade looks incredibly annoyed. A thought bubble over her head shows a crudely drawn image of her grandpa saying BLUH BLUH while flailing his arms. His eyes are crossed out.]

He was so much easier to deal with when he was alive.

P.M.: Miraculously survive.

P.M.: Peer out explosion hole.

[Image description: It shows the view from the hole. Three mailboxes tumble down towards mountains of bare rock.]

Next

[Image description: It shows the outside of the structure where another robotic snake emerges to chase the falling mailboxes.]

Next

[Image description: It caught one, which it now brings towards the explosion hole.]

Next

[Image description: It hands the mailbox to P.M., who reaches out for it with a heart over her head.]

Rose: Refuse to acknowledge the absurd kitten.
You fail miserably.

Oh look, there's some more mad science crap over here.

Rose: Insert coin.

This weird arcade gizmo adapted to this setup obviously doesn't take coins anymore, assuming it ever did.

Besides, you left all your coins on the fridge, remember?

Rose: Let's play a game.

This doesn't appear to be a game.

It appears to be an Appearifier.

Rose: Screw around with the appearifier.

You mess with the controls...

Hey, Jaspers is alive!!!

Or, at least he was in the past. According to the time-stamp this was almost nine years ago.

You try to move the crosshairs with the joystick, but it seems to be permanently locked on a specific target. You might be able to unlock it, but you clearly don't have much time to horse around with this thing.

Next

You zoom out.

It looks like you and Jaspers were having one of your sessions. You weren't making a lot of progress though, because Jaspers was no doubt being characteristically recalcitrant. You possibly jotted this phrase down in your pad. It's hard to remember though.

Wait...

Could this be THAT day??
Rose: Cause time paradox.

You attempt to appearify Jaspers. This would surely cause a time paradox, because you can plainly see that he has not told you his secret yet.

But it seems the machine has a safety mechanism to prevent such irresponsible appearification practices.

Next

The paradox ghost imprint of Jaspers appearifies instead, and quickly settles into a mound of sludge.

Next

The machine beside it sucks up the paradox sludge and begins some kind of automated procedure.

It seems whatever sort of primordial biochemical properties the sludge possesses is being evaluated by the device.

Next

The device generates a fetal paradox clone of Jaspers.

The wretched creature exhibits a number of unfortunate mutations though. The good news is that it will be mercifully unestablished along with this facility shortly. This is also the bad news.

Whoever was operating this machine in the past may have been making unsuccessful attempts to perfect the science of ectobiology.

Rose: Have a flashback.

There is no need for a flashback. Conveniently, you can watch what happened right here on the monitor.

You roll the clock forward a few seconds. Jaspers reveals his stunning secret to you in strict confidence.
Before you could ask him to clarify, he vanished into thin air. You now believe you understand why.

However, you were not the one to appearify him from this moment. Your hand was nowhere near the controls just now.

A couple weeks after he vanished, his body washed up along the riverbank. His suit was a mess. Your mother fitted him with a new one just before the absurd funeral service she insisted upon.

Rose: Trace Jaspers' whereabouts on the machine.

You roll the clock forward to a week after he vanished. It seems there is no accessible feed tracing his whereabouts during that timeframe.

You fast forward another week. There he is, just as you found him.

Rose: Fast forward to now.

The song Chorale for Jaspers begins to play. It shows Jasper on the riverbank. Baby Rose comes up to him and looks distressed as a red crosshair fades in around him. It cuts to the paradox clone floating in the vat. Rose stares at it. The mutant kitten blinks each pair of eyes separately. It cuts to the cat carving from Jasper's tomb, then shows his funeral just outside the tomb in the rain. Mom is wearing the same lab coat dress, but in black. She still holds her martini. Rose wears a black shirt and a dark grey skirt. There's a large bouquet on top of the casket. It fades to the casket inside the tomb then, in time with the meows, the flowers decay. The mutant kitten plays with Rose's scarf. It goes through a timelapse of Rose's activities in the tomb earlier. She kicks the casket off. Dave pesters her. She tries to get the code for the CD and does a Facepalm times 2 Combo! The kitten plays with her scarf more. The hatch opens. Rose stands in the passageway, then the lab, then drops Jaspers on the platform. He disappears. The image fades to Jaspers on an identical platform on a floor made of very ornate tiles.

Now back to the proper storyline.
It's Jaspers! He's alive!

Well ok, he's still dead. But his body is intact. Turns out it wasn't some kind of disintegratificator like you thought.

It's more like...

An escapilizer.

Rose: Appearify Jaspers immediately.

Good thing you finally got all this sorted out. You only have 10 seconds to spare.

Time to stash the dead cat and amscray.

Rose: Stop fooling around and transportalize out of there!

Jade: Locate and feed the devilbeast you call a pet.

Becquerel has always managed to elude your prognosticative faculties. He is completely invisible to your intuition somehow, a property almost totally unique to him.

It used to freak you out a little, but you have long since grown accustomed to it.

Next

The birthday package you were expecting from John arrived months late. And yet, right on time.
It landed over there past the crumbling monument, a satellite to the great mystic ruins at the center of the crater lagoon.

John: Triple somersault into room, etc. Stick the landing.

[Image description: John sits on a grey, neatly made bed. On it is a briefcase with paperwork and an iron. In the background, there is a tie rack with many black ties hanging from it. A poster of a man smoking a pipe is mounted above the bed. To the right of the poster there is a window that shows nothing but black with a row of black shoes below it. There's a hole in the floor that presumably leads down into the office.]

Ok, you do that. You are now in your dad's room.

Hmm... Where are all the clowns?

You spot your dad's briefcase beside you. It probably contains all sorts of clues, or at least various forms and paperwork critical to his trade as a hilarious street performer.

John: Snoop.

[Image description: John holds the papers from the briefcase and looks upset.]

Aw yeah, here come the secrets. Get ready for some MAJOR revela...

Wait a minute. These are just boring business documents and spreadsheets.

What the hell is going on here???

[Image description: The song Revelawesome begins to play. John looks up in amazement. It cuts to two hats on a coat rack. Pan over the row of shoes under the window. The screen goes grey and says Kind of a Boring Room. John looks to the left and sweats as black shoes go by in the background. The briefcase sits on the bed. The grey screen returns and says Just a Business Man. John fades in on top of the background, looking left. Another fades in holding the papers and looking up. They disappear and he fades back in looking very distressed. It cuts to a poster of a pipe above a pipe stand. The grey screen says Not All That Into Clowns You Guess. John holds his head and pinches his eyes shut. Pipes spin in a grey background behind him as he occasionally flashes into negative colors. Most Shocking Twist Yet appears at the top of the screen. Pan over a poster of Harry Anderson above a nightstand that has a picture of John and a deck of playing cards on it. It cuts to the poster above the bed. Text at the top of the screen says Who's this douche bag. John flashes on screen in various positions; holding his head, sweating and looking right, and staring into the distance with a dismayed expression. The pipe poster pulses in time with the music. The tie rack does the same. The iron does too. It cuts quickly between a rug on the floor with a hat motif, pipe racks on the wall above a box of Betty Crocker cake mix and a shoe polisher, the poster above the bed, and the Harry Anderson poster. It fades to John laying on the bed in the fetal position, rocking slowly as it zooms out. There's a pile of presents in the corner in addition to all the things shown in John's breakdown.]

John: Calm down, it'll be alright.

[Image description: John stands near the tie rack and looks down thoughtfully, a finger on his chin. In a thought bubble behind him, it shows a crudely drawn Dad juggling while wearing a jester hat and tie and smoking a pipe. Money falls into a hat that's on the ground next to him.]
So all those years, while you believed he was out busking up the corners with hilarious antics, he was working as an ordinary business man all along. He was just a man trying to make a good honest living for his son. Maybe he was too embarrassed to tell you the truth? Or maybe it was just that you'd never bothered to ask?

You guess you always just assumed...

Next

[Image description: Dad stands in the purple castle. He holds a safe above his head and an imp standing nearby looks frightened. In the background, a jail door's bars are broken open.]

The human prisoner has broken out of his jail cell yet again. Attempts to block the cell door with heavy objects have proven futile.

Next

[Image description: The imp, safe, and some rubble fall down from a tower. A white explosion and cracked walls show where they were thrown through. A second image shows the black carapace with the screens watching it on one. A third shows him looking very angry.]

You're going to need a bigger safe.

Next

[Image description: The carapace stands in front of one of the screens, his whole body now visible. On a yellow portion of his outfit approximately halfway down his chest on his left side is a black spade symbol. A red, purple, and green jester hat sits on the floor nearby. On the screen behind him, it shows Dad standing in front of the broken jail cell.]

Who's this guy?

Enter name.

[Image description: It shows yellow hands typing on a keyboard. They type SPADES SLICK. A second image shows the carapace shaking his head.]

Spades Slick?

Got a nice ring to it.

But you know your own name. And that damn well ain't your name.

Take another stab at it.

[Image description: The yellow hands type State name and rank.]

Ok.

State name and rank.

[Image description: The carapace stands in front of the screen showing Dad, who is starting to walk off the right side. It zooms out, revealing 2 more screens on either side of it. They are arranged to make most of a square, minus one side.]

You are Archagent Jack Noir. You oversee various affairs of a dark kingdom. Presently you are determining how to deal with this prisoner, who has been a thorn in your side since he was apprehended.

You view the affairs of the kingdom through a series of fenestrated walls. You have three walls, nearly enough to form a cubicle of vigilance, which is a full and proper enclosure for an agent of your stature.

However, much to your utter contempt, your fourth wall was stolen some time ago.

Jack: Don comical hat.

This frivolous headdress turns your stomach. You'd sooner stick your head in a furnace than coax it into this monstrosity's loathsome colorful maw.

It's bad enough that your Exalted Ruler ordered everyone to drape themselves in these hideous rags the moment the troublesome human with the pipe and his child showed up.

But you draw the line at the hat.

Jack: Call a minion.

[Image description: Jack looks through the back screen, watching a large carapace with a comically tiny face lift a giant safe door above his head. He is wearing clothes very similar to Jack Noir and has a conical party hat. On a yellow section of his clothing, he has a red heart. He looks a lot like Hearts Boxcars from Midnight Crew. A second image shows the carapace in the hallway with two imps behind him.]

You order one of your burliest agents to the scene. He brings something heavier this time.

Next

[Image description: Jack jumps back as his screen suddenly changes to an extreme closeup of a set of white eyes in a black face. The left eye has a large scar crossing it like the one the harlequin had. The curled, striped rim of a hat sits low on the person's forehead. A second image shows a spindly, almost insect-like hand pointing towards the hat. On the pointer finger is a golden ring with three spheres spaced equally around the edge, dividing the ring in quarters. Presumably, another is on the other side of the ring, completing the divisions. The top sphere is white while the rest are a dusty grey.]

Your transmission is interrupted.

It seems your Glorious Monarch has concerns over your wardrobe.

Next

[Image description: Jack Noir pulls the hat on with a disgusted expression on his face. He sticks his tongue out and grips the hat so hard that there are deep creases in it.]

Fine.

You begrudgingly don the comical hat.

Stupid lousy wise and just leader. What a royal pain in the ass.
Jack: Throw down hat in disgust.

[Image description: Jack stands by the screen, now wearing the hat. The screen shows a close up of Dad, who is vibrating faintly.]

You fully intend to once your superior stops breathing down your neck for a second.

Wait...

What now?

Next

[Image description: Dad holds the large carapace in a headlock and punches him in the face. The two imps look frightened.]

Next

[Image description: Jack bares his teeth and glares.]

Your blood is boiling so hot you could cook an egg on your carapace.

Looks like you'll have to go handle this yourself.

John: Investigate room for anything dad may have left behind

[Image description: John stands by the pile of 3 presents in the corner of Dad's room.]

It seems there are some unopened Birthday Presents which Dad didn't get around to giving you yet.

John: Present time! Open a present see what's inside!

[Image description: It shows a box that has a blue and black picture of a night sky as the background. On it is a grey rectangular box with 6 slots in the top in 2 columns of 3 each. On the side there is a power button. The box reads
Fetch Modus
Inventory Management System
Control Deck
Bonus Captchalogue Pack and Fetch Modus Inside!
Incredible Sylladex Behavioral Conglomeration at Your Fingertips]

The one on the right seems promising.

You open it to see what is inside and oh god yes.

John: Obtain Sweetloot.

[Note: in the title, the Es are written as 3s and the Os as 0s.]

tfetch modus Array
You tear into this thing and put a mean peep on the sweetloot.

In addition to the modus control deck, you got a bonus array fetch modus. Plus another 12 cards, which are practically worthless by this point, but hey you'll take 'em.

Next

[Image description: John stands in his dad's room near the hole in the floor. On the floor next to him are the modus control deck, which is the grey box with slots, the Array modus, and the box it all came in. The captchalogue cards are in the top left corner, but there are so many in the stack that it extends across the screen and beyond it. The Sylladex bar is at the bottom, and it shows so many cards that it fills up an entire second row behind the original row. All that is in his deck are the Wise Guy book and his PDA.]

First thing you do is flush the extra cards into your deck.

Ok really this is just way too many cards.

John: Equip array fetch modus.

[Image description: The modus cards appear in the top right corner, the queue modus underneath the stack modus. John picks up the Array card and it goes in on top of the stack modus. His cards and sylladex turn light blue.]

The Array Modus allows you to store and retrieve any item from any card at any time. It seems exceptionally serviceable, albeit difficult to weaponize.

BOOOOOOOORING.

John: Read instructions for control deck.

There's nothing to read, really. You just pop some modus cartridges in the slots, fire it up, and see what happens.

You start by putting the stack and queue modi in the slots.

Next

[Image description: John stands further back in the room and the captchalogue cards cross the screen again. The left half of each card is orange and the right half pink. The control deck sits on the floor.]

Your sylladex now behaves like both a stack and a queue. Items can be removed from either the top card or the bottom card.

Next

[Image description: It shows the Array modus in the control deck, in the slot in front of the stack modus. A second image shows John in the room again. His captchalogue deck has been split into 4 mini stacks of 6 cards each. The stacks themselves are stacked on top of eachother. The first card in each stack is light blue while the rest are still split pink and orange. The blue card of the first stack has the Wise Guy book and the blue card of the second stack has the PDA.]
You see no reason at all not to jam the array cartridge in there too. You make sure to blow the dust out first of course.

The sylladex reconfigures itself into an array of distinct queuestacks.

Now we're talking. This is just the sort of needless complexity you have come to expect from your inventory management system.

John: Unwrap the smallest present first.

[Image description: John holds one of the two wrapped presents]

You have a staunch policy of always saving the biggest present for last.

Always.

Next

[Image description: John punches the air and smiles. A box of gushers sits on the ground in front of him.]

You receive a box of delicious Fruit Gushers.

Could this birthday get any better? You don't think so.

John: Open the big one.

[Image description: John stands where the big present was and is now wearing a white suit.]

You thought wrong.

John: Fill up an entire queuestack with shoes.

Ok, awesome. Queuestack full'a shoes.

John: Captchalogue Fruit Gushers.

[Image description: John captchaluges the gushers into the third queuestack. This forces out a shoe. He shouts as it smacks him in the face.]

Dang! You spaced out and put it in the wrong queuestack. Don't worry, you'll get the hang of this thing.

John: Closely inspect Fruit Gushers box.

MADE WITH REAL FRUIT
EXCELLENT SOURCE OF VITAMIN C
FRUIT GUSHERS
FRUIT SNACKS
A rainbow banner below that reads
MASSIVE TROPICAL BRAIN HEMORRHAGE
There are bits of fruit and gusher shapes hovering all around the blue banner. Underneath the flavor name is what looks like several yellow and red bursts of liquid.]

So delicious. You can't wait to captchatalogue one of these packs and make like a million gushers.
Screw all this building nonsense! You'd rather make candy.

Wait a minute...

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the top right corner of the box. Most of it is faded out, but the Betty Crocker logo is highlighted.]

It...

It can't be...

Next

[Image description: The logo pulses.]

The heinous batterwitch has her gnarled claws in everything!

What do Gushers have to do with baked goods anyway??

How does this make sense???

[Image description: The song An Unbreakable Union begins to play. It shows the broken spire with a blue package sitting nearby. Jade runs in from the left towards the package, but she jumps back.
The creature silhouetted against the hills appears, now fully visible. It is a dog, presumably Becquerel, but it has no eyes. It stands between Jade and the package as she pulls out her rifle.
Lightning sparks across the screen as Strife appears at the top. Jade grimaces as she realizes that it's Bec and lowers her gun slightly. A purple box reading Arraign appears above her head.

Click Arraign
A red crosshairs appears.

Aim away from Bec
It won't let you.

Aim at Bec.
No matter where you click, Jade aims at Bec's face.
BANG
In slow motion, the bullet flies towards Bec, who doesn't move. Before it contacts, it turns red and burns off.
The purple box changes to say Ar.

Click Ar
The box completes to say Arsenalize, but everything except the Ar is grey.

Click Arsenalize.
Jade rolls towards Bec, then away, and aims again. The crosshairs appear.

Aim at Bec.
BANG
The bullet flies towards Bec. Bec fades, his outline filled with green flame as everything except him and Jade fades to black. It zooms in on the bullet until all that's visible is its top half and flames. Bec and Jade appear on the bullet in a flash, shrunken down to fit. The background changes from green flame to light blue rushing by. It cuts to a map of the island, on which a red line shows the path of the bullet with Jade and Bec on it. It flies from just south of the broken spire to one of the many smaller islands enclosing the lagoon. Jade falls onto the ground, but Bec is already there.
The Ar box reappears.

Click Ar
It fills in, much like before, this time with Artillerate

Click Artillerate
The crosshairs reappear.
Aim at Bec
BANG
The bullet flies in slow motion. Bec fades and his outline fills in with galaxies and stars zooming past. The background flickers green, then white with lighting bolts. Bec grows to take up the whole screen, making it look like the viewer is zooming through space. It gets faster and faster until it focuses in on a galaxy, then a planet within that galaxy. It moves closer to the planet, revealing that it's earth. It closes in on the southern Pacific ocean. The frog temple fades in and it zooms in on the frog at the top of the main tower. It cuts to the volcano as viewed from the top of the temple. Bec appears in a flash of green fire, then Jade appears, her outline filled with the universe before it fades back to her. The Ar box reappears.

Click Ar
It completes to Armamentify

Click Armamentify
The crosshairs appear

Aim at Bec.
BANG
The bullet flies in extremely slow motion. Bec's outline is filled in with the what was behind him at the original broken spire. The background flashes to different images. Jade's grandpa in front of the fireplace. The field she ran across to find Bec. Dave's rooftop with the red sky. The generator behind Jasper's mausoleum. The broken spire as viewed from Jade's house. The frog temple as viewed from the smaller island he teleported them to. The tire swing in John's front yard before he played the game. The volcano. The mausoleum. The temple. Dave's roof. The bedroom in the lab. Grandpa Harley in front of the fireplace. It repeats the images in quick succession as yellow lightning flashes across them. Bec grows larger and larger until he takes up the whole screen and Jade is suddenly standing at the broken spire again. Bec appears in a white flash in front of her. The purple Ar box reappears.

Click Ar
It fills in to Arf

Click Arf
Jade rolls to crouch next to Bec and fires away from him. Go Fetch! Appears at the top of the screen. Bec disappears in a flash of green fire and the screen changes to blue rushing by. The bullet flies across it. It fades to the field and Bec appears in a blur. The bullet flies towards him. It cuts to Jade running to captchalogue the package before Bec returns. It goes back to Bec as the bullet flies even closer. At the last second, he opens his mouth and catches it, then disappears in a blur. It switches back to Jade and the song changes to Carefree Victory. Bec drops the bullet at her feet and wags his tail. Jade pulls the irradiated steak from her captchalogue and tosses it to Bec. She smiles and claps for a few moments before pumping her fists in the air and jumping around a little as both she and Bec turn side to side. Good Dog bounces at the top of the screen. The text changes to Best Friend as Jade hugs Bec. A small green heart bounces above them. This sequence of Good Dog Best Friend repeats once more, then it cuts to a childlike drawing of Jade and Bec celebrating in the field while taxidermy Grandpa stands nearby.

Rose: Check self for any mixed atoms with cat.

[Image description: Rose stands on the escapilizer platform in the tiled room. The kitten swats at one of her shoes.]

Nope, no mixed atoms. Looks like you and the kitty kept your genes to yourselves.

Your new kitty whose name is...

You'll think of one later.

Hey where the heck are you anyway?

Rose: Look around room.

[Image description: It shows the rest of the room. There is a door on the right wall, which is flanked by two sets of shelves full of alcohol. There's a bar counter nearby with even more bottles on it. The kitten sits on the counter near a few of them. Outside a long window behind the bar, the forest fire is getting frighteningly close.]

Oh, you're back home. The well-stocked bar and the vantage from the window tells you this is your mom's room. Or at least what you thought was her room.

You decide not to be especially melodramatic about this revelation.

Rose: Watch the meteor impact.

[Image description: It shows the view through the window. There are heavy clouds in the sky reflecting back the red of a solid wall of fire. In the distance is the laboratory, which is somehow not on fire.]

Huh, that's funny. Shouldn't that place be unestablished by now?

The downpour of smaller meteors has stopped...

Next

[Image description: The clouds open up and a huge meteor comes crashing down. The entire screen is covered in fire.]

Next

[Image description: Rose ducks behind the counter, clutching the kitten. The window shattered with the impact and now the room is on fire.]

Better get out of here. This room is a powder-keg with all this booze lying around.

John: Get down to business.
Suddenly you are feeling very businessmanlike for some reason.

You just punched a shitload of cards in anticipation of making a whole lot of cool stuff. This time you didn't foolishly destroy any items. You just looked at the codes for some objects you rounded up, and punched them on blank cards.

You wonder how much alchemizing you can get away with before Rose gets back? As if she's got any right to tell you what to do with your hard earned grist. You're the one running around here putting your ass on the line. All she's got to do is mess around with her computer!

Anyway, you better hurry.

Jade: Dream.

Of course you can fly.

gardenGnostic: yay thank you john!!!!!! (very happy face) ghostyTrickster: whew ok, i got your present in the mail JUST on time.
plus i sent rose's and dave's too.
why do your guys'es birthdays got to be all bunched together like that?? you are running me ragged!
gardenGnostic: heheh i know but it is nice of you to think of us all like that!
ghostyTrickster: i can't wait for you to see what i got you. i don't want to spoil it or anything but hopefully it will help you solve those problems you've been having lately.
MYSTERIOUS WINK (winking face) gardenGnostic: im sure it is great, i cant wait either!!!!! it might take a while to get here from there but it will be worth the wait!
ghostyTrickster: oh man.
i am such an idiot, i forgot about how long it takes you to get stuff.
ARGH.
gardenGnostic: john thats ok really! im sure will get to me exactly when it needs to and it will be a nice surprise when it does!
ghostyTrickster: ok well i hope so.
gardenGnostic: (heart)......
uhhhh hold on ok im back sorry
i had to tell someone to go away!
ghostyTrickster: oh god.
the trolls again?
gardenGnostic: yup (gasping face)
ghostyTrickster: they have been such a pain in the ass lately.
seems like there are so many.
there are either like fifty of these retards or it's one guy with a lot of alt accounts.
gardenGnostic: ive never had any sort of feeling about them or what they want which is kind of weird!!!
but it seems to me like they are probably all different people and not one guy i have counted twelve ghostyTrickster: what do they want with us!!
gardenGnostic: some people just like to needle others for some reason john it is like a game i guess. they are like pranksters!! ghostyTrickster: oh hell no, shittiest pranksters ever.
gardenGnostic: but i think they are mostly harmless every so often they manage to get through my block filter and hassle me. its been going on for years! actually some of them are kind of funny i think hehe ghostyTrickster: oh wow, what? years??
ok, well i am sick of them.
i've been thinking of changing my pesterchum handle to throw them off the trail.
so...
i guess i'm gonna do that.

John: Make totems.

[Image description: John stands in his room near where the bed was. His eyes are pinched shut and he's frowning in frustration. He still wears the suit he got in the present. In the bed's place are a bunch of blue totems. All of the posters have colorful scribblings on them. Fool is written across the Con Air poster. Lame Kid is written on the wall and has an arrow pointing to where the bed is supposed to be. Duhh is written across the Ghostbusters and Mac and Me posters.]
You have already carved a few totems, but you have had to return to the living room for more cruxite dowels. Your carving work is not nearly complete.

Every time you reenter your room, you shudder at the recent handiwork of some mischievous imps. You just can't turn your back on them for a second!

Rotten imps. Those posters were like children to you.

Rose: Flee room.

[Image description: Rose sits at her desk in her bedroom. The now singed pink scarf lays abandoned on the floor. The kitten sleeps in an empty spot on the desk next to her laptop and the Hub from the lab.]

At long last, you have returned to your bedroom with a stable power supply and internet connection.

Vodka Mutini purrs at your side.

You suppose you will call it Mutie for short.

Rose: Pester John.

ectoBiologist: oh whoa hi!
oh...
gonna make some stuff.

tentacleTherapist: No, that was the nearby forest, which up until quite recently would have been best described as "on fire". But you may be excited to learn that just as recently, my house finally notched that achievement.
ectoBiologist: wow, congrats i guess?
tentacleTherapist: Thank you. Have you seen Dave?
ectoBiologist: nah.
his bro is probably busy kicking his ass.
that's probably all there is to say on the matter.

Let's be sparing with the frivolous knickknack breeding and focus on getting you up to the gate, ok?
ectoBiologist: yeah, ok i hear you, but... i think we'll have plenty. i've been killing imps all over the house and now its lousy with gushers.
tentacleTherapist: Gushers?
ectoBiologist: i mean grist.

tentacleTherapist: Which posters?
ectoBiologist: don't you see? my sweet movie posters. look at them, they're fucking ruined.
tentacleTherapist: John.
ectoBiologist: (question marks)
tentacleTherapist: Are you suggesting that imps are responsible for defacing your movie posters?
ectoBiologist: uh, YEAH?
tentacleTherapist: Your posters have looked like that ever since I first saw your room.

[Image description: The Wayward Vagabond looks up at the frog temple. The left side of the frog's face has been knocked off, but the edge is smooth like it was sliced with a blade of some sort. Serenity the firefly hovers over W.V.'s head.]

W.V.: Descend.

[Image description: W.V. stands on top of the facility with his pumpkin full of cans behind him. Several cables are knotted together and go over the edge of the building. A second image shows a wider view, revealing that the cable barely makes it a quarter of the way down the wall.]

You cannot descend from the top of your mobile station. The loose cable you gathered up and tied together is not yet long enough to allow you to reach the ground safely.

You have used all the cable you can find. You will have to come up with another plan.

W.V.: Sacrifice your mayoral sash for more cables.

[Image description: A poorly drawn W.V. shakes his head quickly while wearing a top hat and monacle. No Way hovers behind him.]

Absolutely not what are you crazy!
A Mayor does not relinquish his Mayoral Sash under any circumstances ever period!

W.V.: Appearify the temple.

That's such a dumb idea. Not as dumb as using your sash, but it comes close. That temple is way too big. You'd probably just end up appearifying a chunk of useless boring rock.

Next

[Image description: Serenity flies up and flashes insistently. A black rope hangs from one of the crumbling spires near the temple.]

Wait, what's that?

There's something dangling from the top of one of the towers near the temple.

W.V.: Command Serenity to carry the rope to you.

[Image description: Serenity flashes quickly at the top of the spire. A harpoon is lodged in the rock and a lot of rope is tangled together on the ledge.]

She is a tiny insect and cannot possibly lift more than the weight of a pumpkin seed!!!

She does however inform you of what the ledge contains through a series of informative blinks. There is an old rusty harpoon lodged into the crumbling rock. Tied to it is a bunched-up jumble of handy cable. This strikes you as convenient! It is almost as if someone knew you would need a bunch of cable, and that you would have a Mayoral Sash made out of cable, and that you were particularly attached to that Mayoral Sash and would stubbornly refuse to use it.

Anyone who knew that much would surely possess a special gift! Alas it seems a bit far fetched.

W.V.: Get ye rope.

[Image description: W.V. stands in front of the appearifier control panel. A can of tab sits on the left green button, which has the sburb house logo on it.]

Ok, we just established it was a cable and not a rope, but that's ok.

You take a hasty swig from one of your delicious pawns and put down.

You then quickly adjust the coordinates to appearify the jumble of handy cable.

Oh, of course. The time wasn't set to the present moment. Somehow it got reset to a few hundred years ago.

It is some sort of present from the past... in the present.

Attached is an envelope. It looks extremely important.

Next

[Image description: W.V. looks between the envelope and a letter. Several question marks float around his head.]

You open the envelope. Inside is a letter and another envelope.

This is all highly confusing and you do not know what to make of it.

Still it is obviously critical Mayoral Business which you take very seriously and you will defend this package with your life.

W.V.: Try to appearify the cable again.

[Image description: It shows the appearifier platform and the tangled cable appears in a flash.]

You set the time to the present, and appearify the Jumble of Cable.

W.V.: Take obvious course of action.

[Image description: W.V. stands on top of the facility. The cable, which now reaches the ground, has the pumpkin full of cans hanging at the end of it. A second image shows W.V. rappelling down the side of the building. Serenity hovers nearby.]

You tie all the cable together and carefully lower your precious pumpkin bindle.

You then rappel down the station with the package, which must not leave your side.

Years in the future...

[Image description: A round crosshair focuses on W.V. as he makes his way down.]

Which is to say, The Present Moment Precisely...

tentacleTherapist: I don't like to use the word "crazy".
ectoBiologist: oh god.
see?? this is therapy bullshit!
tentacleTherapist: That was a joke.
But anyway, whether it means you are crazy or not, consider this theory:
Your presumably longstanding tendency for scrawling this imagery is really your subconscious trying to express something disturbing within you.
Possibly something from your past, which you have blocked out.
And since you have suppressed it, your conscious self cannot acknowledge the drawings, therefore they have been invisible until now.
ectoBiologist: why now?
tentacleTherapist: Perhaps because you have seen evidence that conflicts with the worldview your subconscious has constructed to obfuscate the truth.
That your dad is not necessarily the clown-loving maniac you thought he was.
All along, this negative attribute buried in your psyche may have been projected on to him, and subsequently reviled, as a sort of defense mechanism.
ectoBiologist: but this is absurd, my dad LOVES these shitty clowns.
he's got all these statues and paintings EVERYWHERE.
tentacleTherapist: Is it unthinkable that over the years it was he who believed you were the one with a passion for clowns? Because of all the strange drawings in your room? A father then embraces a son's hobby to establish a stronger bond. Or wages a campaign of passive-aggressive mockery of your interests. Either is plausible. I don't know your dad that well.
ectoBiologist: i dunno. Not sure about all this. But I think we need to stop and acknowledge the bunny sasacre fedora I just made.
tentacleTherapist: It's awesome.
ectoBiologist: Yeah.

nectoBiologist: Wow, what are you doing by the way? Rose, sorry to say but this is all looking kind of silly!
tentacleTherapist: I'm trying to spread the upward construction around so there is a more substantial foundation for later on. But I'm starting to wonder if it will be strong enough. It's kind of starting to wobble a little. I don't think brick chimneys were meant to serve this architectural purpose.
ectoBiologist: Yeah no shit!
tentacleTherapist: I might have to adopt a different building strategy. Stick to more load-bearing walls, and blockier shapes, especially since grist has been easier to come by lately.
ectoBiologist: Okay, but you really must be running low on time by now, right?
tentacleTherapist: Right.
ectoBiologist: STRIIIIIIIDEEEEERRRRRRRRR!!!!!!

[S] Jade: Dream up extra arms and play advanced bass solo.

[Image description: The song The Beginning of Something Really Excellent begins to play. Dream Jade stands in her dream bedroom and plays the bass in advanced mode. An outline of Bec zooms in on the scene and, when it becomes Bec sized, it changes to hi sitting on a curved white surface. It zooms out to show that he's sitting on the roof of Jade's room, which is the smaller tower that branches off of the larger one. It zooms in quickly on Jade's room and shows Dreambot playing the advanced bass as Jade sleeps in the bed. It changes to split screen and shows Dreambot and Dream Jade both playing the bass at the same time. It zooms in on the keyboard section as Jade plays it with one finger in time with the music. It fades to show the speakers in the greenhouse, which pump Jade's music to the plants. They begin to grow rapidly. It fades back to the split screen. It shifts to just show Dream Jade and begins to slowly zoom out. It goes past the walls, revealing that the dream bedroom is in a yellow building identical to Jade's home, only there is no branching tower and her bedroom is at the top of the main spire. It zooms out even more, showing that Jade's dream home is the tallest building on a small planetoid crowded with ornate towers and walkways identical to the ones that Dad is being held captive in, only in yellow. A quarter of the way around the planetoid is another building identical to Jade's. It goes even further, showing a golden chain attached to the planetoid connecting it to a much larger but otherwise identical planetoid. On this planetoid there are towers with orbs at the top like the ones that the white half of the kernelsprite flew into. The planet and its moon rotate slowly as it zooms out. The word Prospit appears in the bottom right corner.
The screen fades to white, then another image fades in. There is an orb that contains a sky surrounded by a grey spirograph. The yellow planetoid, which is called Prospit, and its moon orbit around this orb.]

Your moon is getting very close to skaia. You had better go inside soon. It is never a very good idea to be outside during the eclipse.

Maybe you can take the opportunity to log onto your computer and ask John about his present. You just know he will think it is awesome, and it will be a great way to thank him for the wonderful present he got you!

[Image description: John stands by the alchemiter, which has a totem on the small platform.]

That would be pretty cool, and would promote the appearance to the audience that a whole lot was getting done in not much time, but it also sounds like kind of a pain in the ass so you decide to play it straight up this time.

Rose has moved the alchemiter back down to the deck while she reworks the building project up there. Just as well because it will save you a lot of legwork. Between this thing, the designix and the lathe, that's a whole lot of scrambling around!

John: Recombine hammer and pogo ride.

[Image description: It shows the back of the pogo bouncer card. An arrow with the pogo bouncer on it points down to a punched card. Below it, it says x1 Punch! Next to it is the back of the hammer card. An arrow with the hammer on it points down towards a punched card with x2 Punch!! Written beneath it. A second image shows the Alchemy Excursus. It shows the pogo ride and the hammer with two vertical lines between them. This equation equals a Hammerhead Pogo Ride, which looks like the pogo bouncer with the slime replaced by a green hammerhead. Making this costs 5 build grist and 20 shale. A third image shows the Hammerhead Pogo Ride bouncing gently on the alchemiter platform.]

This time instead of overlapping (two ampersands) the two cards which created the Pogo /hammer, you use the two codes to double-punch (two vertical lines) a blank card, producing a different hole pattern.

The result is the Hammerhead Pogo Ride. It doesn't look like it's as much fun as the original ride, but to be fair it's probably a lot safer.

Double-punching cards creates patterns with more holes, rather than less holes by overlapping cards. This strikes you as a viable method for combining more than two items without whittling down to too few holes, or too many! Just mix up the overlaps and double-punches, and the sky's the limit.

John: Combine ghost shirt and suit.

[Image description: It shows the Alchemy Excursus again. This time, it has the suit and John's slime shirt with two ampersand between them. This creates the Green Slime Ghost Suit, which looks exactly like the regular suit but with a green tie and a slime on the left side of the jacket. This costs 3 build grist and 1 shale. A second image shows John wearing the new suit.]

You make the Green Slime Ghost Suit.

Pretty swanky, but you are not completely satisfied with the wardrobe upgrade yet.

[Image description: The excursus is still on screen. Now it shows the Green Slime Ghost Suit, two vertical lines, and the Wise Guy book. This makes the Wise Guy Slime Suit at the cost of 1 build grist, 5 shale, and 10 tar. It is the same as the previous suit, but the suit itself is a teal-blue and the dress shirt is black. A second image shows John wearing it and smiling. A third image shows John yelling as cards fly out of the sleeves of his suit.]

You make the Wise Guy Slime Suit.

This is so much better. It seems there are lots of secret trickstery gimmicks concealed in OH SHIT THERE GO THE CARDS

John: Combine glasses and PDA.

[Image description: The Alchemy Excursus now shows the PDA, two ampersands indicating a doublepunch, and John's glasses. This makes the Serious Business Goggles, which looks like grey versions of John's glasses with tiny text on them. They cost 6 build grist, 3 tar, and 6 drops of mercury. A second image shows John wearing them and the Wise Guy Slime Suit.]

You make the Serious Business Goggles.

This is a pretty nice hands-free communication solution, and it makes you look way cooler, like one of the kids from spy kids or something.

God that was a good movie.

Real spies...Only smaller

John: Combine sledgehammer, telescope, and Sassacre text.

[Image description: The excursus shows the sledgehammer overlapped with the old Colonel Sassacre's book, then doublepunched with the telescope. This makes this Telescopic Sassacrusher, which is a giant hammer with two cubic heads that have the same pattern as the Sassacre's book's cover. The handle telescopes out. This monstrosity costs 250 shale, 10 tar, and 50 drops of mercury. A second image shows John frowning as he stares at the Telescopic Sassacrusher. The heads alone are taller than John.]

You make the Telescopic Sassacrusher, at pretty considerable expense. This thing could probably pound an ogre into crudeburger.

Of course you have no hope of lifting it whatsoever.

John: Combine gushers and blue ectoplasm.

You mix your Gushers with some of the blue slime Nanna left on the wall to make a box of Hellacious Blue Phlegm Aneurysm Gushers (with Ghostly Healing Properties!) These should be convenient, if somewhat unappetizing.

John: Combine fake arm, blue ectoplasm, and PDA.

[Image description: The excursus shows the fake arm that fell from where John stuck it on the harlequin doll before he entered the game double punched with the blue slime, then overlapped with the PDA. This makes the Remote Ghost Gauntlet, which is a grey glove with a large blue arm. It costs 32 build grist and 128 tar. A second image shows John using it. He wears the grey glove on his right hand and wiggles his fingers. To the left, the blue arm moves in the same way. A third image shows him using the gauntlet to lift the Telescopic Sassacrusher.]

You make the Remote Ghost Gauntlet.

It looks like when you put on the special computer-glove it lets you control the big slimy ghost hand.

The Ghost Gauntlet appears to have a considerably higher lift capacity than your own puny arms.

John: Combine ghost gauntlet and bathroom mirror.

[Image description: The excursus shows the gauntlet doublepunched with the mirror. This makes the Left Handed Remote Ghost Gauntlet, which is just a mirrored version of the original gauntlet that costs the same 32 build grist and 128 tar. A second image shows John wiggling both.

You make a Left Handed Remote Ghost Gauntlet to complete the pair.

Because you don't see why the hell not.

John: Combine umbrella and straight razor.

[Image description: The excursus shows the umbrella doublepunched with the razor to make the Barber's Best Friend. It looks like an umbrella if the protecting part of it was replaced with long metal blades. It costs 2 shale and 8 mercury. A second image shows John opening it like a normal umbrella. It then inverts, making it look like the wind blew it inside out

You make the Barber's Best Friend.

It suddenly seems worthwhile to you to go nab that umbrellakind strife specibus that's been lying in the study for a while.

John: Combine gushers and shaving cream.

[Image description: The excursus shows the gushers doublepunched with the can of shaving cream to make the Betty Crocker Barbasol Bomb, which is a gushers-shaped container with black and white stripes and a lid on one of the 6 sides. It has the Betty Crocker logo about halfway down it and Barbasol written at the top. It costs 1 build grist and 1 shale. A second image shows John holding one that is just smaller than his head. Next to him, a giant one sits on the ground.]
You make a deadly Betty Crocker Barbasol Bomb.

Be careful with that thing! Jesus!!

John: Combine Ghost Dad poster with...

[Image description: John shouts while standing next to a poster with Bill Cosby on it. It is scribbled on like the other posters and says Idiot Retarded Dead Father

Ok, you have a cool idea for something to do with your Ghost Dad Poster, but it looks like you drew shit all over that one too without realizing it.

Lousy goddamn stupid subconscious!

Anyway, you think you have an idea how to clean it up.

John: Captchalogue slash punch Heath Ledger Joker figurine.

[Image description: It shows two punched captchalogue cards. One has the Heath Ledger Joker figurine above the top left corner and the other has the defaced Cosby poster. The ledger card only has 2 holes punched and the corresponding holes flash on the poster punchcard. A second image shows three items with punchcards hovering nearby, all of which have similar patterns to the defaced cosby poster. The top left item is a potted plant that would cost 1 build grist to make. The top right item is a crude painting of a horse fighting a football player in front of a mountain that would cost 425 mercury. The center item is the Cosby poster without all the horrible scribbles, which costs 1 build grist and 1 shale.]

If you can somehow "subtract" the code of the Joker Figurine from the code of the poster, it might work.

Luckily, the Joker code only has two holes, making the task very simple. The defaced Cosby poster shares those holes. You determine that the defaced Cosby could only result from a double-punching with the Joker, if your theory is correct. This means the original Cosby poster had one of those holes punched, or the other, or neither, making three total possibilities.

You try out all three possible codes, yielding:

- 1 Potted Plant
- 1 Painting of a Horse Attacking a Football Player
- 1 Clean Cosby Poster

Success.

John: Combine Cosby poster with computer.

[Image description: The excursus shows the Cosby poster doublepunched with the computer to make the Crosbytop Computer at the cost of 30 build grist and 10 shale. It is a laptop computer in the shape of Bill Cosby wearing a red sweater as shown from the waist up. He is leaning to the right slightly and has a strange smirk on his face.]

You make the Cosbytop Computer.

This thing is probably a useless piece of shit, but making it has caused you to feel an alarming sense of satisfaction.
John: Combine Dad's hat and Problem Sleuth game.

You make another ordinary fedora with four pieces of candy corn inside.

John: Combine Hammer and Problem Sleuth game.

[Image description: The excursus shows the Problem Sleuth game doublepunched with the hammer. This makes an unknown item whose icon is only a question mark. It's name, too, is just a bunch of question marks. This unknown item costs 30,000 build grist, 90,000 of an unknown grist type, 6,000 mercury, 180,000 of another unknown grist type, and 1 of a third unknown grist type.]

Whatever this item is, you cannot make it yet! It requires a ludicrous amount of grist, some types of which you have not even encountered.

John: Combine iron and pogo hammer.

[Image description: The excursus shows the pogo hammer overlapped with the iron from Dad's room. This makes the Wrinklefucker, which looks like the pogo hammer with a green handle, a grey grip and slime, and hammerheads made of irons. One iron faces downwards and the other fades out. The Wrinklefucker costs 55 build grist, 44 shale, and 66 tar. A second image shows John holding it above his head victoriously as it lets out a long Hisssssssss.]

You make the Wrinklefucker.

[Image description: The song Versus begins to play. It shows the red sky over Dave's home and begins to move backwards, buildings rushing by underneath. Final Round appears at the top of the screen. It stops zooming and focuses in on Dave, who stands at the top of the stairs holding his sword. Black birds line the edge of the building. He moves forward a few steps and the image shifts to focus on Bro, who drops down from above. It zooms out and a red and black record appears in the sky, spinning quickly as Strife! Appears above it. It focuses in on Dave's face and he lifts his sword. It changes to focus on Bro, who also lifts his sword. It changes to Lil Cal, who crosses his arms. Dave runs forward as the background changes to almost vein-like flames which flash blue and green occasionally. Bro runs forward against the same background. It cuts to a blue background that Cal falls across. Two red sections come on from either side, showing tiled Cal faces spinning. They disappear as Cal falls into the clash between Dave and Bro. They disappear and all that can be seen is motion blurs on a red screen. It cuts to the spinning record, which stops spinning and is sliced in a mostly straight line from the top right to bottom left. Bro and Dave appear in front of the now broken record. Bro crouches like he just landed from a flying attack and Dave falls on his back. His sword flies through the air above him, broken in two] pieces. Lil Cal flies by in many pieces, apparently having been caught in the battle. It zooms in on Dave's sword and says Cheap Piece of Shit. Dave flies through the air, then skids across the roof to an eventual halt. His broken sword and Cal's head and leg land nearby. Bro drops his copy of sburb on Dave's chest, then hops on a hoverboard and flies away.

The light coming in through the window fades from golden to blue. A pesterchum chat appears next to Jade.

gardenGnostic: hi happy birthday john!!

The screen flashes to white again and changes to show Prospit's moon in a slow orbit, moving ever closer to Skaia as Prospit turns. Jade's tower slowly enters the sky that makes up Skaia. It changes to a slow pan up on one of the dreamer's towers. Skaia's clouds float by and one flashes from white to green, then shows a field of stars and galaxies within it. Another cloud shows the outside of John's house with the alchemiter on the balcony. Another pops into the shape of a squiddle. It cuts back to Dream Jade in her bedroom with the chat hovering nearby.

gardenGnostic: john did you get my package??

It cuts to a split screen of Dream Jade and Jadebot, both sitting in plush piles and using the computer.

ectoBiologist: oh hey!
no, not yet.
gardenGnostic: darn! are you sure? it was in a green box...

It shifts to show only Dreambot, then zooms out to show the tower of her house surrounded by clouds. One passes over the tower and the parts outside the cloud change to be the yellow tower on Prospit's moon. The cloud passes, revealing the entirety of the Dream Tower. Another cloud shows John's house on its spire of dirt after entering the game. It zooms out to show the tower in its entirety and half of Prospit's moon. A passing cloud shows Rose's house on fire. Another shows the white tree that grew out of the wasteland and deposited P.M.'s apple-shaped facility. Two more show Dave's home and John's neighborhood. Another shows the volcano outside of Jade's home.
One pops into the shape of Bec's head and another pops into John's. The scene shifts to Jade's dream tower on top of the mountain her actual home is on, but in another time, when the volcano was actively spewing lava and the ocean wasn't there, only brown craggy rocks. It flashes back and forth between what it looks like in Jade's time and what it looks like in this dream. It cuts to an image of the sky. A cloud shows spirographs pulsing in space which then spit out a meteor. It fades back to what will become Jade's island, and the meteor lands. Lava begins spilling into the hole left by the meteor, but there is a white orb in the bottom of the crater. It cuts back to Dream Jade in her bedroom, still chatting with John.

it's ok i guess. i'm still figuring it out.

Light flashes outside the window and the image shakes. Dream Jade looks up in surprise.

gardenGnostic: whoa what was that????? ectoBiologist: what was what?
gardenGnostic: there was a loud noise outside my house!!
it sounded like an explosion!!!!

The scene fades to the volcano filling the crater with lava. It zooms in on the lava and something begins rising out of it. Two white, pointed ears appear, and slowly the rest of Bec's head emerges from the lava. It cuts to Dreambot in Jade's real bedroom, still chatting with John.

ectoBiologist: wow, really?
gardenGnostic: i will go outside and look....

The scene fades to Dream Jade floating near the recently erupted volcano. A split screen comes up from the bottom and Dreambot hovers in the same place in the real world. Dream Jade looks back over her shoulder. It fades to show a white spirograph pulsing inside a white orb in the lava lake, then cuts to show the base of the Frog Temple, which is in the same place in the real world. It cuts back to the lava lake as Dream Jade tries to approach it, but Bec keeps putting himself between her and it. It cuts to Dreambot being blocked by Bec in the same manner. The scene fades to white, then to Dream Jade standing on top of her tower and using her computer to chat with John.

gardenGnostic: it landed a pretty good ways from my house and i went to look at it and its pretty big!
but bec doesnt want me to go near it so i came home

It cuts to show both towers on Prospit's moon, then to the inside of John's. He is not in his bed anymore. It fades to him floating in the skies of Skaia, still asleep. He is wearing a yellow tunic with the same moon as Jade's and a pair of yellow pants. It zooms out and shows Jade watching him from her tower. She begins to float towards him. It zooms in on John, who slowly begins to open his eyes. It changes to the cloud sequence from when he began to wake up.

The screen shows the spirograph in the center of a blue screen with rays of light coming out of it. Clouds begin to move towards the viewer, popping into different shapes. A cake. A box of gushers. A harlequin head. A slime creature. Harry Anderson. It flashes quickly between this and Jade moving ever closer to John. The screen flashes white, then fades to Jade's silhouette floating closer and closer. The silhouette occasionally flashes to show Dream Jade. Suddenly, it cuts to a split screen of both Jade and John waking up at the same time.]

so i think i have to get TG to use his copy to save her!
but that jackass won't shut up and stop rapping and stuff.
gardenGnostic: hahaha
he is so silly!
ectoBiologist: yeah. anyway i should talk to him about it, so brb.

gardenGnostic: hey!!!!
ectoBiologist: whoa, there you are!
gardenGnostic: how is your adventure going john?
 ectoBiologist: it's ok, i am making some progress, and rose finally connected again so she is helping me now.
gardenGnostic: thats good!!
 ectoBiologist: oh but, like...
i don't think i am actually saving the world here. (sad face)
i dunno what i'm really accomplishing but i guess it's not that.
gardenGnostic: hmm well i think whatever it is it must be pretty important!
dont lose hope john i think it will all turn out for the best if you stay positive....
just keep listening to your grandmothers advice!!!
 ectoBiologist: yeah, you're probably right.
but, um...
i don't think i mentioned nanna to you, did i?
gardenGnostic: oh uhhh.......
i dont know didn't you???
ectoBiologist: hmm, i dunno, maybe you talked rose or dave about it or something.
gardenGnostic: yeah maybe that was it!!
ectoBiologist: they're really weird when they talk to me about you, like they're always trying convince me you have some spooky powers, but i'm always like no she seems like a pretty regular girl to me!
gardenGnostic: hehehe (very happy face) ectoBiologist: but then when i think back maybe there are times when it seems like you know some things?
like maybe you know more about a thing than you are telling me? i dunno.
gardenGnostic: oh well john
i want to explain lots of things to you....
some things that i know
im just......
waiting!
ectoBiologist: waiting for what!
gardenGnostic: oh! john!!!
i forgot i was messaging you about that meteor that fell near my house!
ectoBiologist: oh yeah.
what ever happened with that?
gardenGnostic: oh boy.... well........
it turns out i was confused about it...
really confused! (wide eyed sweating face)
see i guess i fell asleep for a while and.....
lost track of time
that happens!!
ectoBiologist: yeah i know, tell me about it!
maybe you should like, wear an alarm clock or something.
so what was the deal with the meteor?
gardenGnostic: well.....
its hard to explain!!!
but...
i know what it is now!
and now i know everythings going to be ok!!!
ectoBiologist: so what is it???
or is this just another thing you're "waiting" to tell me???
gardenGnostic: oh gosh john i really want to tell you all this stuff!!!
but i cant yet
i really think you need to wake up first!
ectoBiologist: huh?
gardenGnostic: well ok not literally
well ok maybe KINDA literally!!
ectoBiologist: AUGH!!!!!!!!!!!!
stop being so confusing!!!!
gardenGnostic: lol (smiley face)
anyway time for you to go john
i think you have some company!!!
(heart)

Jade: Update colourful reminders.
You take a moment to gather your thoughts after your dream. While you are asleep it can get very confusing figuring out what is really happening and what isn't. Especially during the eclipse, when you are exposed to many visions of the past, present, and future through a variety of cloud mirages. It is only after you wake up that you are able to start making sense of it all, and your reminders help you do this!

But on reflection, there wasn't much in the dream about the future. You were quite surprised to see your dog in your dream though. It was the first time the crafty guardian has ever appeared in a dream! You have learned that today is his birthday, just like it is for your other best friend. You have always wondered about this, and never had the chance to throw him a party and bake him a cake. Now you can!

But if you do, it seems that you will need A LOT of candles.

Next

Bec has never allowed you to enter the Mystic Ruins for reasons you never understood. You always assumed it was on account of your protection. But your dream has strongly suggested to you that is where you need to go now!

Since your dreambot is secured in its chamber and does not need to be looked after, Bec is taking a nap in the grand foyer as he usually does. Perhaps you can take advantage of this and sneak out of the house another way?

Jade: Grab your harpoon gun.

Oh yes, of course! One of your reminders reminds you that you still have a package to deliver too. This way you can kill two birds with one harpoon gun.

Jade: Use harpoon to zip-line into the great outdoors.

Dave: Mourn the loss of Cal.

[Image description: Dave stands next to an air conditioning unit on his roof. The remnants of Cal, his broken sword, Bro's copy of sburb, and many black birds are scattered around him. A second image zooms in a little.]

See you little dude.

If you had any more apple juice you would pour some out for your homie.

You'll have to remember to double-check your closet for more juice.

Dave: Go get a god damn new sword.

[Image description: Dave picks up the half of his sword with the handle. It goes into his strife specibus and changes it to 1/2 blade kind.]

Perhaps you will. But if you do, it looks like you'll have to break it first.

Perfectly good strife specibus, down the toilet. Thanks Bro.

Dave: Captchalogue beta.

[Image description: Dave tries to take the beta and captchalogue it into card 6, but card 6 has the Nunchucks in it.]

You try to grab the Beta (6) but you forgot your sylladex is completely packed.

You wonder why you jammed all this useless crap in here in the first place. Maybe you assumed you would weaponize it all during one of your customary Hashrap battles with your Bro. But in retrospect that probably just would have been a huge chore and would have made the battle drag on forever.

It's like what are you made of time.

Dave: Eject your modus and set it to Scrabble values.

[Image description: It shows the back of Dave's modus. He presses the eject button and all his items explode out onto the roof, scaring off the birds. He reaches out and catches the phone before it falls. A second image shows a close up of the back of the modus.]

You dump all this crap all over the roof.

You then set your modus to the Scrabble Hash Function for some reason. This function always makes it a little less intuitive to calculate hash values for items, and therefore more cumbersome to rap with. But you guess that's kind of a moot point now that your BRO flew off fuck knows where. His mysterious ways transcend irony once again.

Dave: Get beta.
You get the BETA (3+1+1+1), now yielding a radically different hash value with the Scrabble function.

Which is to say a radically exactly the same value.

Dave: Pester Rose.

dear rose,

happy birthday!!!

thanks for being such a great friend all these years. i know you like to make it out like you're playing it cool and don't care much about the people in your life, but i know deep down you really do. hell, not even that deep down. it's like, um, like your subconscious is having a wet t-shirt contest, and you being all aloof is this totally soggy shirt doing no good at all at hiding nothin'. oh wait, it looks like two can play at this game of cracking all these high falutin psychology books! AW SNAP!!!

but yeah, i got you this because i think you're really creative and you could make something nice with it if you put your mind to it. and it might help you take your mind off a lot of all this serious business you're always absorbed in. you know, all this weirdo pseudo-gothy stuff or whatever. frankly it's kind of depressing.

You are now...

[Image description: The Aimless Renegade stands on top of one of the spires, holding his gun. The wall behind him is covered in hieroglyphs that look like crocodiles, frogs, and waterlilies.]

The Aimless Renegade.

You have identified a couple of unwelcome rogues outside your present stronghold. They are in violation of your jurisdiction. Despite your ordinarily striking marksmanship, you have spent your entire ammo clip without recording a single killshot.

What will you do?

A.R.: Realize that your weapon is magazine-fed, not clip-fed.

[Image description: A.R. drops his gun on the ground.]

You don't give a shit about that.

A.R.: Examine the wall behind you.

The wall exhibits rows of ancient hieroglyphs depicting an array of amphibious and reptilian life forms.

This is illegal pictography. It makes you angry.

A.R.: Go search for more ammo.

[Image description: A.R. looks at 2 ancient looking crates. Both of them have a logo on them that looks like Grandpa's hat and moustache.]

There is plenty of ammunition stored in the various Ammo crates which you have spent a great deal of time unearthing from nearby dunes and hauling back to your stronghold. You have a large variety of weaponry and ammunition at your disposal.

Whether you can locate some more AK47 rounds quickly enough is a different matter.

[Image description: One of the small ammo boxes from within the largest crate now sits on the floor, opened. A.R. holds two pistols.]
You retrieve a pair of deadly side arms.

But you will need a longer-ranged weapon if you are to continue your enforcement.

A.R.: Find a rocket launcher.

[Image description: A.R. stands to the left of the crates, revealing even more crates and ammo scattered all over the floor. A section of the floor lifts up with three green ammo boxes on it.]

Next

[Image description: A.R. looks to the left, where a long rocket launcher is balanced on top of a crate with the Grandpa logo on it.]

Here's one.

A.R.: Befriend the unwelcome rogues.

[Image description: A.R. holds the rocket launcher on his shoulder. A second image zooms in on his face and a thought bubble shows a drawing of W.V. and P.M. jumping around to avoid bullets.]

You wonder if you should reconsider your grievance with the offenders. Perhaps you should let it slide? They seem friendly enough, and it's been so long since you've had company. It would also be quite a pity to blow up that tall attractive female.

But then again...

Next

[Image description: It shows a drawing of the frog temple with caution tape in a square around it. The two facilities sit within the boundary and W.V. and P.M. hide behind a rock between them. At the top of the frog temple, A.R. looks out.]

They are both in flagrant violation, trespassing through several zones which you painstakingly marked as off-limits while you conduct your investigation of this crime scene. It is your duty to investigate this illegal monument and get to the bottom of its illicit amphibious idolatry. Just thinking about all the sloppy footprints they are leaving in the sand makes your carapace steam.

The law is all that's left to hold on to in this unforgiving dust bowl. You cannot afford to loosen your black claw's grip lest justice slip through your fingers. Law is beauty. Order is peace. Judgment is the very basis for all that is pure and...

Hold that thought.

You need to take a moment to wear something ridiculous before you continue your spiel...

Next

[Image description: A.R. reaches for what appears to be a bunch of grey cans tied together with three rows of cable. A second image shows him reaching for a cylindrical grenade that is pierced through with a spike of some sort.]

Next

[Image description: A.R. stands behind a crate labeled Judge. He wears the cans on his head like a wig and bangs the grenade on the crate like a gavel. He has lined up ammo to be his audience and some sit in a red box labeled Jury.]

Order in the court. You will have order in this courtroom. If everyone does not settle down you will clear out this courtroom, you swear to god.

[Image description: A.R. stands on the moving platform, which tries to move up and down, but doesn't get very far. A bent Atomic Bass is jammed in between it and the wall.]

It appears to be a large stage serving as a kind of elevator. But it can't go down because there's something jammed in it. Looks like a peculiar musical instrument, probably centuries old.

But yeah, the jury agrees. You've got to go blow up those trespassers.

Jade: Place present on monument.

[Image description: Jade stands on top of the spire with her harpoon lodged in the rock behind her.
The blue box sits in front of her.]

You put John's present down in just the right spot, along with a letter you prepared a little while ago after a particularly interesting series of dreams.

Should be any minute now...

Next

[Image description: The box disappears in a green -IFY.]

Next

[Image description: It shows the lagoon and island. Jade stands on one of the spires and looks towards the main temple structure.]

You guess you could swim.

Maybe you can think of a better way across though.

P.M. : Read the letter.

[Image description: P.M. holds the box on her lap and reads a letter.]

This is kind of confusing.

Next

[Image description: It shows the letter Jade sent to P.M., which is actually a drawing.
dear Miss Mail Lady,
It is a drawing of the apple shaped facility with a second hole in the side. Part of a spire was also blown up and both are smoking. An arrow points to the new hole and says "Go here!" A second image shows the actual facility with only the one hole and a full spire.

But you guess it's straightforward enough, even if the drawing is somewhat inaccurate...

Next

[Image description: The spire suddenly explodes near the base and topples. A second image shows the drawing of P.M. and W.V. freaking out behind the rock as the spire lands.]

Oh no!

[Image description: A.R. holds the rocket launcher and hits himself in the head with his gavel.]

Stupid Stupid Stupid

You had them right in your crosshairs. You have no idea how a crack shot like you could have missed. It is practically inconceivable.

A.R.: Be the law.

[Image description: It shows a crosshair focused on P.M., who holds her sword and the blue box. She looks angry and determined.]

You reload and take aim.

That fair carapace... how it sparkles in the desert light.

No. You cannot afford to be distracted by such thoughts. You are busy being the law.

Next

[Image description: The crosshair jerks to the side, focusing on the side of the apple shaped facility instead. A second image shows a hole being blasted in the side of the facility, making it match Jade's drawing.]

You are the law whoops

W.V.: Wave about in a distracting manner.

[Image description: W.V. stands to the right of the rock and flails around. Serenity hovers above him.]

Oh it's this guy again and his little blinking bee. So outrageous.

Next

[Image description: W.V. throws his can of Tab at the temple. A second image shows it landing short of the tower by quite a bit.]

THE CAN RUSE WAS A……
DISTACTION

[Note: The previous line is in comic sans and light blue text. It is a link to a Sweet Bro and Hella]
SWEET BRO AND HELLA JEFF

In the typical horribly drawn, jpeg artifact ridden style of Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff, a black man wearing yellow clothes stands in a front yard.
introducing the new friend.................. GEROMY

It shows the same Hella Jeff from the Stairs comic with a new speech bubble added.
BRO HAVE
Part of the original text is still there, so above his head it says Told You Dog!

It shows the same panel mirrored. The words in the speech bubble were hastily erased and it now says
BRO HAVE YOU SEEN MY SOCKS
The Told You Dog! Is still there, but now written backwards.

The same head is pasted onto a body that is far too small for it. Sweet Bro stands nearby playing a video game. There is a pair of grey socks on the floor. Once again, the text from Hella Jeff's speech bubble was erased. Now he says
AROUND ANYWEAR
Sweet Bro responds
no dude

Sweet Bro rears his head back and puts his hands in his hair.
AGAIN with the socks what IS it even with you and SOCKS MAN

It shows a very large Hella Jeff next to 4 and a half Sweet Bros in a row. It is Sweet Bro playing video games, but the panel of him holding his head is pasted on top, giving each one 4 arms. its like you must be TOKING UP on a joint to make you STON STONED or something i can't even think of WHO leaves all there SOCKS lying around like that.

AUUUUUUGH!

The next panel shows Hella Jeff in a horribly drawn car. Another shows him backing out of the driveway past Geromy, who hasn't moved from the front yard. It zooms in on Hella Jeff and says
THE SOCK RUSE WAS A............. DISTACTION

It shows the car on a green field. In the top right corner is a body of water.
I HAVE the car

The next panel has 9 drawings in a 3 by 3 grid. It shows him driving closer to the water. And closer. And into the water. Slowly, he sinks until almost all of the car is underwater.

P.M.: Scamper quickly to the newly created hole.

[Image description: Cartoon P.M. runs towards the new hole as W.V. distracts A.R.. A second image shows the real P.M. reaching the hole. A mechanical worm sticks out of the facility. On the sand near the newly broken spire is a smear of something black.]

[Image description: W.V. is caught in A.R.'s sights. A second image shows the winding path a rocket fired from the top of the temple takes. It swoops around, then slams into the side of W.V.'s facility. A third image shows W.V. flying through the air on the force of the explosion.

P.M.: Read the next step of the letter.

[Image description: P.M. stands inside the new hole in her facility, still holding the box and the letter. The next portion shows a machine that looks like an appearifier with 2 laser pieces with P.M. placing the box on the platform below them. It says Deliver Here! Yay!]

You open it to find a shirt that is way too big for you, and... pumpkin seeds?

There is also a letter.

dear jade,

It shows a letter that John wrote to Jade. In the top right corner is a drawing of a pumpkin saying "aw dang where'd i go??". It is labeled (blarg, so terrible).]

dear jade,

happy birthday!!!

it's hard to thank you enough for your friendship over the years. heck, if it weren't for you i wouldn't even have met rose and dave, so that is like, three times the friendship! that is almost like, Too Much Friendship. ha ha. i only wish i could get you something for your birthday that could remotely make up for what you've given me, but of course that's impossible. so here are a couple silly things anyway!

i went to a weird asian store the other day and saw this rad shirt, so i got it and i'm wearing it now! but there was a blue one too which was way more awesome, and i wanted you to have it. i know you like green a lot, but maybe you'd like to try wearing blue sometimes? i bet you'd look like a million bucks! also i know you've been frustrated lately about how your pumpkins keep disappearing. well, i can't begin to explain why that's happening! all i can do is give you these so you can plant some more. don't give up, jade! wherever those dumb old pumpkins went off to, i'm sure you know the fun is in growing them and taking care of them until they're ready!

whew, got to head out to the post office now so this doesn't get to you TOO late! talk to you soon!!!

Who is this John claiming to be your friend? And these other friends he mentions?

Whoever he is, you think he might be on to something. Blue is a very pretty color! Also, growing some pumpkins sounds like it could be fun. Maybe you will ask Grandpa if you can use the atrium to do some gardening. This will be exciting.

You bear the vicious brunt of this story transition directly in the face.

You are getting really tired of this feisty man and his busy fists.

Jack: Kill John's dad yourself.

Here, stick this in your pipe and bleed to death slowly.

Next

He bares his teeth and Dad reaches on with a lighter. He lights Jack's hat on fire, making Jack cringe away.

Next

Jack stands to the side, now hatless, and watches Dad spray the burning hat with shaving cream.

Next

Dad stomps on the foamy, smoldering remains of the hat and Jack looks distinctly less angry. He has also put away the knife.

Next

It zooms in on the smoking remains of the hat.

Next

Jack looks vaguely annoyed and points behind him down the hall.

You release the prisoner. He is free to go.

Jade: Play guitar to summon giant lily pads.

Jade stands on top of the spire and plays her bass. A second image shows a speaker dangling down by the water and causing ripples with the sound.

Next

It shows most of the lagoon, now with a line of giant lily pads making a path between the spire Jade was on and the main temple. A drawing of a frog with Jade's hair and glasses hovers in the corner, ribbiting.

Next

Jade stands in front of a black door inscribed with tiny runes and hieroglyphs. The area around her glows faintly.
Dave: Install beta.

[Image description: The song sburban Jungle begins to play. Rose sits in her room, looking at her laptop, which has the sburb house notification over it. It cuts to Dave at his computer with the spirograph notification. A bottle of apple juice sits on the desk nearby. The spirograph notification grows larger and takes up the whole screen. The loading sequence for sburb plays. It cuts to the sequence reflected in Dave's sunglasses. This scene shrinks to the top right corner and the main image shows Dave popping the lid off of the bottle of apple juice. It cuts to Rose, who leans her chin into her hand and watches her laptop. Vodka Mutini sits next to her. The smaller image of Dave's glasses reflecting the loading sequence shifts down and an image of Dave drinking juice through a straw appears in the top right. The glasses image shifts to the left and the juice one moves down for a picture of Jade in front of the door to appear in the top right corner. The images all shift clockwise and an image of John holding up the Wrinklefucker appears in the top right corner. It zooms in on the loading sequence playing in Dave's shades, then cuts to Dave's desktop as the sburb client loads. The client expands to take up the entire panel and continues loading. It cuts to Jade looking up at something while bathed in green light. She fades away and the room that A.R. had his ammo in fades in. There is no ammo in it now, only the elevator and the hieroglyphs. Jade runs on from the right and stops on the elevator. It cuts back to the loading screen. The loading client becomes smaller and Dave's desktop reappears. In another window, he draws Hella Jeff. Two small images come on, the top right one of Dave moving his mouse and the bottom left of Jade in the temple, slowly descending on the elevator. The mouse one shifts to show Dave concentrating, and it grows to take up the whole screen. The small image of Jade shifts to the top right and one of Rose using a ball of yarn to play with Mutini comes on the top left. The Rose one grows to take up the screen and the Jade one descends to the bottom right. The image of Hella Jeff flies across the screen, then it cuts back to Dave's desktop as he finishes the drawing. Jade's descent on the elevator takes up the whole screen as she comes to a halt and runs off left. It cuts back to the loading screen. It once again shows Jade looking up at something in green light. The image changes to show a large pink lotus flower that is tightly shut. It fades to the loading screen, then to Rose's room, where she still watches her laptop. It zooms in on the fire outside her window. The loading screen appears in the background, then everything goes black. sburb appears in the center of the screen. It's done loading. A meteor appears behind it and sburb fades. The image cuts to Rose's house on fire. Rose looks angry as the select cursor controlled by Dave picks up her bed and tosses it into the] flames to make room for the totem lathe. It cuts to the observatory, where he places the cruxtruder. Rose looks out the window, watching him do this and a picture of Dave appears above her head with question marks on either side of it.

Rose runs into the observatory as Dave places down the cruxtruder, still looking angry. It changes to a split screen of the cruxtruder and the closed lotus, which is sitting on a base with a timer on it. The timer has room for thousands of years, but is down to the last 4 minutes and 26 seconds. It counts down 3 seconds as the image shifts to only the lotus with Jade standing beside it.

It cuts to the outside of Rose's house as Dave puts the alchemiter on the roof. Rose looks out the window and looks frustrated. It cuts to her shouting and banging on the wall of the observatory as STRIIIIIDDEEEERRRRRRRR!!! Rolls across the bottom of the screen. She jumps back as the wall she was hitting turns into a door. It cuts to the roof, showing that Dave has built stairs and a door to give her access to the alchemiter. It pans over the Zazzerpan statue, which Dave picks up and uses to smack the cruxtruder, releasing the kernelsprite. He tosses the statue out into the yard, where it's arm breaks off. A fire tornado passes by Rose's house. A pink kernelsprite hovers over the cruxtruder, but it follows Rose as she runs off. The cruxtruder's timer counts down from 4 minutes and 13 seconds. It changes to a split screen of the cruxtruder and the lotus, which have the same amount of time left. It changes to just show the lotus with Jade asleep on the floor next to it.

It cuts to Rose's bedroom, where Dave drops the pre-punched card for her. Outside the house, the fire tornado picks up the Zazzerpan statue and spins it around. Dave drops the now carved totem on the alchemiter. It cuts back to Zazzerpan spinning in the storm. In her room, Rose shouts as she throws Jasper's corpse into the kernelsprite. The screen flashes white and a cat face within the kernel appears. It briefly cuts to the alchemiter, which has a pink liqueur cabinet on it. It ejects a pink bottle, then the screen goes white again. It cuts to a cloudy sky with Zazzerpan's broken arm flying across it. Rose fades in and looks down as the scene resolves itself into a reflection in a puddle. Four drops land in the puddle, sending red ripples across the surface. Inside the living room, Dave picks up the eldritch princess doll. On the roof, Zazzerpan's hand flies and knocks the pink bottle off of the alchemiter and sends it flying across the cloudy sky. It flies towards the waterfall that runs underneath Rose's house. Rose spots it. Suddenly, it cuts to John's yard, where Nannasprite hovers next to a Colonel Sassacre's book. She opens the cover and uses her eye laser to print her Dear John letter on the first page.

It cuts to Dave's room, where a bunch of black birds fly around. Dave shouts and tries to shoo them away with no success. It goes back to Rose, who gets a determined smirk on her face. She runs towards the edge of her house over the waterfall as the bottle flies in that direction. She hurls herself over the edge.

It returns to Nannasprite, who drops the Colonel Sassacre book over the edge of the cliff and watches it fall into the void. It fades to Rose falling over the waterfall. She catches the bottle as it cuts back to the book falling into the ash. The ash parts and it cuts back to Rose falling. A pink tentacle shoots out and wraps around her to drag her back to safety. She lands on the edge and looks up at her kernelsprite, which has been prototyped with both Jasper and the Eldritch Princess doll.

It fades to a split screen of the cruxtruder and the lotus, both of which have 20 seconds left. It switches to the lotus and a white and blue countdown appears in the top left corner.

It shows Rose's house. Many fire tornados spin nearby.
5 seconds.
4 seconds.
Rose completes the downswing with the bottle in slow motion.
3 seconds.
The bottle hits the ground and explodes white. The timers disappear and Rose's house turns white. The meteor lands and the entire screen goes white. It shows the impact crater.
It cuts to Jade standing by the lotus. The white spirograph bursts and Dave's copy of sburb falls onto the flower.
It cuts to John, who is smeared with oil. He is wearing the Remote Ghost Gauntlets and his Wise Guy Slime Suit. He carries the wrinklefucker and looks angry and determined. He runs up a set of stairs and kills an imp in a single blow. He uses the force to propel him into the roof, where he kills more just as easily. He grabs all the grist they dropped and ducks inside a room that Rose built. The whole place is swimming with imps and he kills them all easily.
It pans over his entire house, showing that there are still plenty of imps left. It cuts to an ogre inside a room. John uses the gauntlets and sassacrusher to kill it in just a few blows. Meanwhile, John is quickly killing all the imps in his path out on some balconies. He runs by to grab the grist from the Ogre, then continues his ascent. As he goes, he uses the gauntlets and Sassacrusher to kill an ogre on the platform just below the blue spirograph. On his way up, he stops to punch an imp who took one of his Dad's hats. This also makes his gauntlet knock an ogre off the edge. He captchalogues the hat, which throws the Cosbytop from his sylladex and knocks an imp off the edge, taking the Cosbytop with it. John ascends the last set of stairs and does a flip over the imps in his path. He slams his wrinklefucker into the balcony, which throws him through the air and through the spirograph. He pinches his eyes shut and everything disappears into a blue orb that floats in the center of a black screen, then fades away.

Intermission 1: Don't Bleed on the Suits

[Note: Every mention of The Felt or the names of various members are written in bright green.]

INTERMISSION

[Image description: It zooms out, showing the curtains against the clockwork sun and moon. They tick for a few moments before the sun moves to the bottom right corner and the moon to the top left as the background changes from a blue sky to a midnight purple with stars. It zooms back in on the curtains, which open on a large, green victorian mansion. A tendril of smoke wafts up from the bottom.]

[I.] Next

[Image description: Spades Slick stands inside the mansion. He is wearing a wide black fedora. Fire comes through an archway and part of the rug he stands on is smoldering. In the background are several grandfather clocks.]

Your name is Spades Slick. You are the leader of a notoriously vicious gang of mobsters called the Midnight Crew. A rival gang known as the Felt recently knocked over one of your favorite casinos. Your long quest of revenge has finally taken you through the front door of the mansion belonging to their loathsome boss, Lord English.

Your subordinates, Clubs Deuce, Diamonds Droog, and Hearts Boxcars have been dispatched to various locations throughout the mansion to begin carrying out your mission. Your objective is to locate and crack English's Secret Vault, and plunder its mysteries.

That's the business end of it. The pleasure will be painting this ugly house red with the blood of those miserable green motherfuckers.

[Image description: Spades Slick stands near the clocks, nudging the smallest one with his foot.]

Stupid gang and their lousy obsession with clocks. The sooner all these idiots stop being alive the better.

You wonder where they are. It's awfully quiet in the mansion, sans all the dreadful ticking.

You obviously have no idea what that means.

If it's some smartass way of saying to pick it up, forget it. You are already carrying an item. It is your trusty Deck of Cards.

[I.] SS: Build fort with clocks.

You have an idea that is so much better.

Clocks Destroyed: 4 of 1000

[I.] SS: Check for traps under the billiards rug.

What is under the rug is much worse than any trap you can imagine. It is a member of a species that you do not recognize, with a ghastly furred upper lip.

[I.] Next

You cover the unsightly individual back up and try to forget it ever existed.

You would need a Deck of Cards to play that infernal game.

Fortunately all you have is your War Chest, which you deploy on the floor.

[I.] SS: Open war chest.

You cover the unsightly individual back up and try to forget it ever existed.

Fortunately all you have is your War Chest, which you deploy on the floor.
You rummage around. It's no unusual assortment of belongings, and nothing any mobster worth his salt would be caught plotting and scheming without. Certainly nothing eyebrow raising.

Bunch of blades, some playing cards, and a variety of other miscellaneous stuff.

Also your Vendetta Itinerary and your Heist Map.

[I.] SS: Scavenge war chest for fancy headwear.

[Image description: Spades Slick holds a black hat identical to the one he's wearing. Two small items drop out of it and land on the rug. A second image zooms in on the items, which look like dog-shaped pieces of licorice.]

If there are any elaborate headdresses in here, you'll eat your haberdasher.

But of course there is only a plain and serviceable Backup Hat, which naturally conceals two Licorice Scotty Dogs.

Which makes you think that maybe you are wearing your Backup Hat, and this is your usual one? Hell if you know. They are the same damn hat.

[I.] SS: Hide inside your war chest.

[Image description: All of the items from the war chest are scattered on the rug and Spades Slick sits inside it. The chest shakes slightly.]

You cannot hide properly inside the chest because you cannot close it while you are inside.

Instead you momentarily pretend it is a really cool automobile that commands the fear and respect of larcenous adversaries everywhere.

BEEP BEEP BEEP

All aboard the idiot wagon!

[I.] SS: Start up the Crosbytop.

[Image description: Spades Slick kicks the Bing Crosby thing.]

Is that what this thing is? You've had it for some time, and don't quite remember how you got it. You never knew the identity of this pipe-smoking creature.

Perhaps it could be the same species as the character you just saw under the rug. But you know that is impossible, because this one does not feature the same bizarre furred lip. They are probably differing species within the same genus.

[Image description: The Crosbytop opens and a small screen shows the first page of Homestuck. A clock in the bottom right corner shows that it's 4:13 am. A second image shows a few stills from S Enter. Dave's glasses reflecting the loading screen. The meteor. Dave shooing the birds. Rose leaping off the edge. Rose's kernelsprite with Jaspers and the Eldritch Princess. Jade looking up with the timers at 10 seconds. John beginning his ascent through the house. The cosbytop knocking an imp off the edge. John jumping into the spirograph.]

You don't know why you are wasting time on this website. It is for little children who poop hard in their baby ass diapers.

Also you don't understand what the hell is going on or who all these characters are. It's all a lot of nonsense.

[I.] SS: Delete the time setting on the crosbytop.

[Image description: A knife is stabbed into the clock on the laptop, cracking the screen.]

Clocks Destroyed: 5 of 1000

[I.] SS: Take the spade key.

[Image description: A white notecard pops out of the item slot. A second image shows the front side, which has the rules of blackjack, and the back, which has the same barcode from Spade Slick's and W.V.'s wrists, just like on all the black carapaces.

Basic Rules of Blackjack

The object of Blackjack is very simple: to achieve a total that is greater than that of the dealer, and which does not exceed 21. Even if other players are present at the table, the dealer is your only opponent in the game.

There are relatively few decisions to make when playing Blackjack. You must consider your cards and your dealer's card and remember, if you go over 21, you "bust", and if you "bust" you lose.

Play progresses as follows:

1. A card is dealt, face up, to each player in turn and then one to the dealer. The dealer's card is face down and called the "hole" card.
2. A second card is then dealt, again face up, to each player.
3. Starting from the player to the left of the dealer, each player decides whether to draw further cards.
4. After all players have completed their hands, the Dealer proceeds to draw cards to complete the Dealer's hand.

You win if:

Your total is higher than the Dealer's total
The Dealer goes over 21 or "busts" (provided you have not previously busted yourself.)

If your total is the same as the Dealer's, then it is a "stand-off" and you neither win nor lose.

If you go over 21, or the Dealer's hand is better, you lose.]

You take the Rules Card for Blackjack.

You have possessed this item for as long as you can remember. You do not yet know its significance. Though you can hustle up a mean game of blackjack when you need to.

[Image description: It shows the piece of paper with the felt on it. 15 of them are shown, but number 8 is missing. 1 has a yellow bowler hat, 2 has a blue top hat, 3 has a red hat, 4 has a purple bowler hat, 5 has an orange hat, 6 has a dark green bowler hat, 7 has a maroon angular hat, 9 has a white hat with a yellow stripe, 10 has a tiny white bowler hat with a blue stripe, 11 has a white flatbrimmed hat with a red stripe, 12 has a white bowler hat with a purple stripe, 13 has a large white bowler hat with an orange stripe, 14 has a white top hat with a green stripe, and 15 has a large white bowler hat with a maroon stripe. The top picture is in a row all by itself and is just a white question mark on a black background. Number 7, 11, and 14 are crossed off.

These are the mugshots of everyone you are going to kill.

You got a head start. You already offed Crowbar (7), Matchsticks (11), and Quarters (14), depleting them of some of their muscle. You've still got to watch out for the others, and stay wary of their desppicable time shenanigans.

Itchy (1) has given you the slip repeatedly. Doze (2) you've captured and interrogated just as repeatedly, to no avail. Trace (3) has broken into your secret hideout more times than you can count, while Fin (5) always seems to be a step ahead of you and scoops your heists. Clover (4) has all the intel and is highly cooperative. You might need him to crack the vault. He'll be guarded. Best to avoid Die (6) in any direct confrontations unless you want a temporal mess on your hands. But if you need any repairs, you could always get to Stitch (9) and "persuade" him. And you might need to if you can't kill Sawbuck (10) with a clean shot. Eggs (12) and Biscuits (13) are morons. But they are dangerous morons. Cans (15) is a tank and your crew'll probably need more ammunition than you packed to take him down.

No one knows what Lord English looks like. But that'll be corrected tonight.

You've got dibs on English. He's all yours.

[I.] SS: Wonder where the number 8 mugshot went.

[Image description: Spades Slick glares at a photo in his hands, though it's turned so the reader can't see it.]

It's right here.

But you aren't gonna kill Snowman (8).

It's out of the question.

[Note: the O in snowman is written in white.]

[Image description: It shows a very complicated floor plan, presumably that of the mansion. Dotted lines run around it and the Midnight Crew's heads flash in various locations. Spades Slick is in the main entry way. Diamonds Droog is in the righthand wing, Clubs Deuce is in the lefthand wing, and Hearts Boxcars is at the back of the mansion next to a safe door. Some clocks are drawn near the back of the house and have red lines over them. They are labeled Smash More Stupid Clocks. Green and red blobs are in one of the front rooms and are labeled Lots of Dead Green Torsos.]

On review, your schemes seem a bit convoluted. But you wouldn't have it any other way.

Deuce and Droog split up to neutralize as many Felt as they can find. Your heavy muscle and expert safecracker, Boxcars, is headed straight down to the vault.

[I.] SS: Use radio device to check on unscrupulous cohorts.

[Image description: Spades Slick sneers and talks into a walkie talkie. The chest is packed up and You put the word out to your cronies for a status report. No response yet.

You clean up all your junk and prepare to get this show on the road.

[I.] Next

[Image description: The chest turns into a pack of playing cards and the weapons and Item menus appear. The Blackjack card drops into the deck of cards from the Item slot, then the deck takes its place in the Item slot.]

You slip the Spade Key back into the Deck of Cards, then pocket the War Chest.

Smooth as clockwork, and every bit as logical.

[I.] SS: Enter the hallway near the main entrance.

[Image description: Spades Slick stands among a bunch of broken clocks at the bottom of a set of stairs. The clocks are riddled with bullet holes and blood is splattered all over them and the carpet. A Clubs alert flashes next to Spades Slick's walkie talkie.]

Funny, you didn't hear any commotion or gunplay. But it looks like there's already been some action in here. Or there will be. You can never take tense for granted with these goons.

13 of 1000 Clocks Destroyed. Apparently.

Looks like Clubs Deuce is getting back to you.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Spades Slick talks into the walkie talkie.]

He says he's got Doze tied up for interrogation.

You ask him what else is new. Capturing that guy is like shooting a paralyzed monkey in the face.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce stands in a ballroom with Doze, the Felt member with the number 2 hat, tied to a chair. The background shows many statues and clocks lining the walls. Clubs Deuce wears a smaller version of the same hat Spades Slick has.]

You are now Clubs Deuce.

[I.] CD: Rough him up.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce holds a table leg and taps Doze's leg with it. His weapon and item menus appear. In his weapons menu, he has 2 nightsticks, 2 playing cards, and a table leg. His item slot has a deck of cards in it.]

He remains tight-lipped, so you deal him a senseless shin-drubbing with your Crook of Felony.

Oh the humanity. You can barely watch.
He's probably still using his special ability to slow time down for himself.

He can't feel a damn thing, and certainly isn't saying anything. Apart from a very low noise which could be him saying "ow" very, very slowly.

Why would you do that? All of these clocks are lovely. You see no reason to harm them.

987 of 1000 Clocks Unharmed

You begin a feeble campaign of psychological warfare. Perhaps compromising his fashion motif is the way to get to him.

Nope. Looks like he's still in his weird state of stasis and doesn't care.

Either that or it's driving him nuts. Just very slowly.

[I.] CD: Dump the contents of your war chest over him.

War chest? What are you talking about. All you've got is this simple, unassuming Deck of Cards.

Don't be stupid. To play solitaire you'd need a Deck of Cards.

I don't see a Deck of Cards, do you? All I see is your Battledrobe.

[I.] CD: Throw the hat down and stomp it mercilessly.

Oh no. It's Itchy, and it looks like he's all wound up.

He unties Doze and quickly swaps everyone's hats around.

[I.] Next
Doze proceeds to make a fleetfooted getaway.

The Chase

Is On

Someone has replaced your plain and serviceable hat with a silly and undersized one. An outrage beyond compare.

You're sure you know who the culprit was. You can still smell his overly caffeinated blood...

986 of 1000 Clocks Shown Mercy

[I.] SS: Lift left leg and hold it a little ways in the air.

Oops.

[I.] Next

4 of 15 Green Torsos Dead

[I.] SS: Wear CD's hat on top of your current one.

You are already wearing Deuce's hat you fool. The one on the floor is Droog's hat. This is exactly why you always keep a Backup Hat on hand.

This son of a bitch on the floor here has played his last game of musical hats. Soon these lugs will learn to show you some respect. You made this town what it is after all. Wasn't nothin' but a bunch of dust and rocks before you got here.

[Image description: Spades Slick pulls out his war chest and sets it on top of Itchy's corpse. His backup hat pops out and lands on his head, knocking Clubs Deuce's hat to the floor. A second image shows his hand, which has several licorice dogs in it.]
You deploy your chest and swap this dinky little hat for one more suited to your tastes.

Wait a minute...

Thank god. Your precious Scotty Dogs are still here. You don't know what you'd do without them. You don't want to even think about it.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Die (6) appears in a flash. He holds a white voodoo doll with several pins stuck in the head. A second image shows him blinking down at Itchy's corpse with a horrified expression.]

Die makes his usual sort of entrance. The nonplussed, vaguely bewildered sort.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce stands in the ballroom. His Battledrobe has popped open, spilling explosives and playing cards all over the floor. Doze still moves incredibly slowly away from him.]

You got it. Clubs Deuce it is.

You have opened your Battledrobe in search of your Backup Hat. You also need some more rope to retie Doze, who is absolutely tearing through the mansion as we speak. If you don't hurry, he may clear the chair within the hour.

But it's a big mess. You mostly just see a bunch of bombs and cards.

[I.] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Clubs Deuce, who has a question mark over his head. A second image shows him reaching towards a 7 of clubs, a Jack of Diamonds and a king of spades. A smear of oil is on the floor next to them.]

You're not sure what's what. You can never remember which card to pick up.

You can't believe how shitty your memory is.

[I.] CD: Grab the deuce of clubs.

[Image description: He holds two licorice bears.]

You pick up two Licorice Gummy Bears.

These need to be stored for safe-keeping as soon as possible. Finding your Backup Hat has never been more urgent.

[I.] CD: Pick up all of the cards and throw them at Doze.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce throws a handful of cards at Doze. As they land, they turn into bombs and a magazine. The magazine is for Black Inches and features a roll of licorice on the cover.
Black Inches

You pick up a bunch of cards and fling them Doze-ward.

Didn't accomplish a whole lot, other than put some of your private reading material on embarrassing public display.

[I.] CD: Pick a card, any card.

You're a busy guy so you just pick up any old thing and put it on your head. Since you are in a big hurry you will assume that it is your Backup Hat.

You stand nearby the two remaining cards on the floor, an Off-suited King and Jack.

[I.] CD: Pick up card depicting stately blonde-haired fellows

[Image description: Clubs Deuce picks up another card and his hat pops into place on top of the explosive on his head.]

You aren't going to stand around jack king off all day long, so you grab the Jack of Diamonds.

Oh.

Here's your Backup Hat. Problem solved, you guess.

[I.] CD: Forget you are CD. Believe you are Hearts Boxcars.

[Image description: Another member of the Midnight Crew, Diamonds Droog, stands in a hallway lined with clocks. A line of blood crosses the tiles and goes up a curved set of stairs. Diamonds Droog wears Itchy's yellow hat.]

You suddenly remember you are Diamonds Droog.

Whoever took your hat is about to discover he's the unluckiest man on earth. He better hope you find him dead. What you're gonna do to him will be much less painful that way.

[Image description: Diamonds Droog's weapons and items appear. He has two automatic rifles, a pool cue, and two playing cards in his weapons slot and a deck of cards in his item slot. The deck of cards pops out and a small mausoleum appears next to him. It has a red diamond painted on the side and several black spikes on the roof.]

You don't have a Backup Hat all you got is this Deck of Cards oh wait yes you do.

It's stashed away in your Brawlsoleum.

[I.] DD: Retrieve hat from brawlsoleum.

[Image description: The Brawlsoleum is now open. Several handguns, a rifle, a bunch of playing cards, and several black cowboy hats spill out of it. Hanging inside are several suit jackets and three white ties. Itchy's hat falls onto the floor and one of his Backup Hats pops onto his head.]
You are the only member of this band of thugs who is civilized enough to keep more than one Backup Hat, as well as an extensive array of Finely Tailored Suits.

The Brawlsoleum seemed like the best storage option for your exceptional wardrobe. If there's any better sort of compartment to keep your wardrobe in, you'd love to hear it.

Also there's a shitload of guns and cards in there too.

You put on a Backup Hat.

[Image description: He holds the 2 of diamonds card.]

Whew. Your Swedish Fish are there.

This is why it's a good idea to always store your candy in your Backup Hat rather than your usual one. Other members of your gang have learned this the hard way and they're finally starting to catch on.

[I.] Next

[Image description: A large WHOP suddenly hits him in the face. He pulls out his pool cue and waves it around, then stops.]

Suddenly you get coldcocked in the face from the future.

You'd know the knuckles belonging to that suckerpunch anywhere.

[I.] Next

[Image description: This scene is labeled The Future. Trace (3) stands at the bottom of the stairs, looking at a red ghostly version of Diamonds Droog. A red line shows the path he took through the house. Clubs Deuce peeks out from behind a pillar.]

Trace always knows where you've been.

The spineless rat likes to follow your Past Trail around and mess with you.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Diamonds Droog talks into his walkie talkie, which has a clubs alert next to it. His brawlsoleum is put away.]

Trouble is, whenever he does, he lets you know exactly where he's going to be in the future. This time you'll be ready for him.

You radio Deuce for backup. Give him a time and place, and exactly what path through the mansion to take.

[I.] DD: Resume pursuit of wounded felt member.

[Image description: Diamonds Droog stands a little closer to the stairs.]

You don't know if the wounded guy went up the stairs, or came down. Or who wounded him, and when. Might have even been you, for all you know.
[I.] DD: Follow trail of blood up the stairs.

[Image description: He stands on a balcony at the curve of the stairs.]

Can't overthink this time stuff.

You go with your gut and head upstairs.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce stands next to his Battledrobe. Doze is once again tied to the chair, this time with some sort of long-armed doll. A diamond alert flashes over Clubs Deuce's walkie talkie, which sits on the floor next to a cane.]

After giving a quick 10-4 over the radio, you take another look at your prisoner. He lucked out. Looks like round two of your brutal interrogation will have to wait.

You couldn't find any rope, so you tied him up with a Stretch Armstrong Doll which you happened to have lying around. You don't remember how you got it.

It looks sort of dumb, but it will have to do.

[I.] CD: Just lock Doze in the battledrobe.

[Image description: Doze, still tied to the chair, sticks halfway out of the battledrobe. Clubs Deuce hits him with a cane to try to get him fully inside.]

Time to hit the road. You beat your hostage into the back of your Battledrobe with the Bull Penis Cane.

Wait this is a Bull Penis Cane?

[I.] Next

[Image description: Clubs Deuce flails around as a picture of a bull pulses behind him. The cane flies around him. Bull Penis Cane flashes at the top of the screen.]

You flip the fuck out over the fact that this is apparently a Bull Penis Cane.

[I.] Meanwhile, running roughly parallel with present events.

[Image description: Itchy and Die stand around a small table with a green tablecloth. A single bare light bulb lights the room. On the table are a deck of cards, 5 cards in a row, and two stacks of poker chips. Each of them holds 2 cards in their hand. A second image shows Itchy’s hand, which has the king of diamonds and king of hearts. The third shows Die’s hand, which is the ace of diamonds and ace of hearts. The fourth image shows the 5 cards on the table, which are the 8 of hearts, the king of spades, the ace of clubs, the 6 of diamonds, and the 2 of spades.]

[I.] Next

[Image description: The 2 of spades card is replaced by 2 licorice scotty dogs. In a blur, the 8 of hearts changes to the king of clubs. A second image shows Die glaring at his voodoo doll, which has three pins in it. One is white with a maroon stripe, but the other pinheads aren't visible. He holds three more pins in his other hand. One is white with a purple stripe, one is yellow, and one is orange. A third image shows them glaring at each other as Die holds the yellow pin near the doll.]
Itchy always cheats. But he's always cheated for the last time.

You're gonna jump to a timeline where he's dead.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Die pops into the timeline where Spades Slick just beat Itchy to death.]

Looks like he got what he deserved.

But, uh...

As usual, you find yourself in a bit of a predicament.

[Image description: Spades Slick holds his horsehead cane and stands next to Die, who lays on the ground with a large round gash on his forehead that trickles blood. He twitches slightly.]

You introduce your Cast Iron Horse Hitcher to your new friend.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Die holds 4 pins in his free hand. The heads are a red diamond, a red heart, a black spade, and a black club.]

Die scrambles for a pin he's been saving for a special occasion.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Die sticks one of the pins in his doll and the background flashes from the house to a red sand wasteland. In the distance is the green silhouette of a city and two planets take up a large portion of the sky. One is pink and the other is green. Pink rocks stuck out of the sand.]

How many times does he have to tell you. He made this town.

[I.] HB: Stop being SS.

[Image description: Hearts Boxcars stands in front of a giant vault door. In his weapons slot, he has a long, skinny black item that might be a cane, a battle axe, a flail, and two playing cards. His item slot has a deck of cards in it.]

You stop not being Hearts Boxcars.

You have made your way to the Felt's Secret Vault. It's bigger than you were expecting. You doubt you will be able to rely on your usual safe-cracking method, which is prying it from the wall with your bare hands. You'll have to think of something else.

[Image description: Hearts Boxcars does a dance that involves lots of turning and flailing of arms.]

This is just absolutely the most ridiculous thing you could possibly choose to do right now. I mean come on.

Why don't you take a closer look at that safe...
Seriously stop that.

[I.] HB: Pry the wall from the safe.

[Image description: Hearts Boxcars looks at the safe door. The center of it is a giant clock.]

That notion is even more ridiculous than the last one. Wait who are you kidding no it isn't.

Looks like the combination to the safe is entered via the hands of the clock. And you somehow doubt spinning the hands around manually is going to cut it. Knowing these guys, you've got to alter the flow of time itself to make it work.

Which of course is bullshit. You think you'll just blow it up instead. Time to get Deuce on the radio.

[Image description: The deck of cards pops out of his item slot and a grey bathtub with part of a floor attached lands on the ground beside him. It is dotted with red hearts absolutely everywhere. It is filled with battle axes, cards, a hat, a walkie talkie, and a Red Cheeks Magazine that has a pair of red buttcheeks on the cover, which is drawn in a way that makes them look like a heart.]

You deploy the Wrathtub.

[I.] HB: Retrieve two of hearts from backup hat.

[Image description: He holds two pairs of lips in his hand.]

You retrieve your pair of Wax Lips.

If anyone tried to steal your Wax Lips, you would eat their eyeballs and deliver an angry lecture into their empty sockets.

[Image description: It zooms in on the Red Cheeks magazine.]

Just glancing at it gives you palpitations.

Literature for avid Cardioficionados such as your self. Those burgeoning red humps... that mischievous little tail... the snug, welcoming cleft...

The saucy imagery is hard to beat. Harder than what you beat inside your chest now. Your heart is what you're beating.

You beat it to Red Cheeks Magazine pretty regularly, you'd say.

[I.] HB: Call Clubs on nearest card.

[Image description: Hearts Boxcars holds two cards and talks into them. A Clubs alert flashes next to them.]

You radio Deuce on the 10 4 cards. Let him know you need a powdermonkey on the double.

You hear ticking. And it's not coming from the big Vault Clock above.
You hope it's not what you think it is...

[I.] Next

Oh no. Oh God.

It's Biscuits. His Oven Timer is ticking. This is no good.

[I.] Next

[Image description: the oven timer buzzes and the door pops open. Biscuits (13), a giant member of The Felt with a white hat with an orange stripe pops out.]

Ugh, there he is.

This idiot thinks his special oven transports him into the future by the amount he sets on the timer. Well, he's sort of right. But in reality, all that's happening is that he's hiding in there until the timer's up, then pops out.

You guess he's relatively harmless if he's alone. You can take him. What you really have to worry about is if he teams up with...

Oh no. That ringing. That godawful ringing. You can hear it...

[I.] Next

[Image description: Eggs (12) appears in front of Biscuits. He holds a purple timer that rings. A moment later, another version of him wearing one of the Midnight Crew's hats appears behind Hearts Boxcars. This one has blood dripping from his mouth and his right eye is swollen shut. He also carries one of Hearts Boxcars' battle axes along with his timer. A third version of him with a chunk torn out of his white and purple hat appears in front of the second one. This one carries Biscuits' oven and his timer.]

Eggs.

Son of a FUCK.

You might as well just grab one of your axes and kill yourself now.

[Image description: This scene is labeled The Future. A faded Diamonds Droog Past Trail goes down a hallway. A more substantial Clubs Deuce Past Trail crosses from one room to the next. Trace stands near where the two paths cross. Above Past Clubs Deuce's walkie talkie, a heart alert flashes.]

In the future, you've already followed the path through the mansion that Droog told you to.

Trace followed Droog's Past Trail even further back, but found a much fresher trail crossing his path.

Looks like this little guy's talking on the radio. Says something about how he'll be right there once he gives Droog a hand.
Trace decides he'll trace this guy for a while, see what he's up to. And then mess with him of course.

[I.] Next

[Image description: The real Clubs Deuce stands in the hallway with the heart alert flashing over his walkie talkie.]

In the present, you talk on the radio. Say something about how you'll be right there once you give Droog a hand.

[I.] DD: Take a good look around the new room you're in.

[Image description: Diamonds Droog stands in what appears to be a parlor. The walls, a fireplace, and several grandfather clocks are riddled with bullet holes. The blood trail ends and blood is splattered over several of the clocks.]

Looks like the trail of blood ends here. Or originates. Whatever.

Something went down here in the past. Or... is about to go down in the future? You know what, never mind.

[I.] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on a green, triangular object in a small puddle of blood.]

Hang on. There's a tooth on the floor. You know that tooth. You've felt its bite before.

Fin was here.

And judging by the forensics of the scene, the angle it hit the floor, the direction of the blood splatters and how dry the blood is, you think you know Exactly what he's about to pull.

Or more specifically, what he's about to already have pulled.

[I.] Next

[Image description: This scene is labeled The Past. An orange trail shows Diamonds Droog entering the room, then moving off to the right. Fin (5) stands near it.]

Fin always knows where you're going.

He's followed your Future Trail here. He likes to mess with you from the past.

Trouble is he tips you off to where he's been. This time you're ready.

Wait for it. Wait...

[I.] Next

[Image description: Diamonds Droog takes out his pool cue and holds it at the ready. Fin pops into the room for a brief moment just as Droog swings it, smacking Fin in the chest.]

NOW.
Predestined bullet holes are convenient. Gives you something to aim for.

7 of 21 Clocks Redestroyed

Die realizes there is a cost to settling the score with you in this way. The cost is having to live in a desert amidst the ruins of a dead civilization for the rest of his life.

He thinks that's stupid, so he pulls your pin.

You grab his Voodoo Doll, and stick his pin in there for good measure. Might as well keep track of everyone you've offed this way too.
Not that you intend to abuse its power to settle your score. What's the point if you're not gonna get your hands dirty.

Still, it might come in handy down the road. Lord English is supposedly indestructible. He's rumored to be killable only through a number of glitches and exploits in spacetime. The doll may ultimately help you work the system if it comes to that.

[Image description: The clocks from the room are all piled with Itchy and Die's corpses in a giant bonfire.]

[Image description: Droog stands in the room where he shot Trace.]

Problem with that is, he'll just see your Future Trail following him, and that'll be nothing but a loud invitation for him to mess with you some more.

Besides, better to leave him alive. You think you know where he'll lead you to. Just got to be a little more subtle about tracing his Blood Trail. Keep your Future Trail out of his line of sight.

[I.] SS: Return to being Hearts Boxcars.

[Image description: This scene is labeled The Present. Trace stands near Droog's Past Trail as Clubs Deuce watches from behind a pillar. A second image shows Trace following the trail and leaving footprints of blood behind him.]

Spades Slick cannot return to being Hearts Boxcars because obviously Diamonds Droog is too busy being Clubs Deuce.

You just watched Trace throw a punch into thin air for some reason. That guy's awfully silly!
He then skulks off somewhere.

You don't realize he's following Droog's Past Trail through the mansion until he gets to the point where it intersects with your trail, at which point he'll start following you.

But we all realized it. Because it's obvious and couldn't possibly be more clear.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce steps out from behind the pillar. Doze, still tied to his chair, is beside him.]

You follow Droog's simple instructions. So simple even a forgetful nincompoop like you can remember.

There's a blood trail on the floor that goes in a different direction than Trace went. You decide to follow it, because that sounds like a really good idea to you.

If there was something you were supposed to do after helping out Droog, you'll be damned if you remember what it was.

[I.] Next

[Image description: In The Future, Trace stands next to Doze, who Deuce left behind. Past trails show Deuce walking away from Doze and Fin walking by to leave the trail of blood. Doze trembles.]

Trace catches up to where you were. But you're gone already. All he sees is the long, gross rubbery arm of your Past Trail stretching through the room.

He finds his comrade tied up with the stretchy rubber arms of a small man. But there is nothing gross or unpalatable about that in the least.

Doze unslows himself and begins mumbling something feverishly.

About his hat.

[I.] Next

[Image description: The scene is labeled The Future. Trace holds Doze's hat, revealing a bomb on his head. Doze trembles violently.]

[Image description: In The Past, Fin stands at the end of his blood trail. There are many Future Trails that overlap.]

Fin makes his way through the mansion to get some help.

He wonders where this little guy is going. Deuce's Future Trail is headed in the same direction he's headed, by sheer coincidence. Fin decides to follow him for a bit, keep an eye on him. For as long as Deuce's path matches his, that is. There's pretty much no chance he's headed to the same place, though. That would be statistically improbable.

He's got no idea what these other goons are up to here. Funny, their Future Trails end here. He's not gonna stick around long enough to find out why. He's a bit too woozy from the blood loss to sort out this mess anyway.

[I.] CD: Follow the red-blood road.

[Image description: In The Past, Clubs Deuce's Future Trail takes a winding path across a ballroom with checkerboard tiles on the floor and a massive clock in the center of the room. Fin follows the trail, holding a gun. In the background, Spades Slick's future trail goes down a hallway at the edge of the room.]

It's uncanny. This little guy is matching Fin's route every step of the way.
He Must Know Something.

Fin decides he's got to take him out.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Fin holds his pistol to the back of the Future Trail's Clubs Deuce. The image shifts in and out of focus.]

But he can't get a clear shot. Too dizzy, and with all that C4 under Deuce's hat, firing would be a bad idea.

My God He's Thought of Everything.

Clearly dealing with a criminal mastermind here.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Clubs Deuce stops to admire the massive clock, explaining the winding path he took across the room in his Future Trail. A path of blood goes across the room. In the background, Spades Slick is about to go down the hallway.]

You stop to admire this gorgeous clock. It is so pretty. Too bad it's not ticking like so many of the clocks in this place. Not that you can blame them. There are so many clocks in this mansion it would obviously be impractical to make sure they all work properly.

Oh look. A trail of blood.

You think you'll start following it.

[I.] HB: Waste exactly four hours on this tomfoolery.

Clover would have been tickled to help you open this vault! At the cost of answering a few of his clever Time Riddles, needless to say.

If only you'd thought to seek his help first, rather than charging like the silly brute you are into this deadly trap of stable and not so stable time loops. Mostly unstable, really. These guys are way too dumb to maintain even elementary looping stability for more than a couple iterations.

If you weren't so preoccupied, Clover could tell you that you could use Crowbar's help to pry anything out of a time loop, stable or otherwise.

If you weren't so preoccupied, and if he weren't so dead! Hee hee hee!

There are many flashing patches on the coat, and several rips in need of patching. Stitch holds a few pins in his mouth and glares at the rips in the coat.]

Stitch mutters to himself in his shop. He guesses Eggs and Biscuits are roughhousing again, because the fabric of spacetime is tearing something fierce on Lord English's Cairo Overcoat. This sort of thing is exactly why he keeps a Backup Coat, and always leaves Stitch with one of them.

Any gang does well to have an in-house doctor on hand. But if you deal in time travel you better have a damn good tailor too.

[I.] HB: Call Spades for backup.

[Image description: Hearts Boxcars holds his radio up to his face and shouts into it. A spades notification hovers next to it. The flailing Eggs and Biscuits crowd closer around him.]

You tell Slick to get his scrawny ass to the vault. It's goddamn bedlam down here. You tell him you asked Deuce for backup but surprise surprise he's nowhere to be found. Big surprise, you tell him. You tell him that was sarcasm. He says he knows.

Slick says he'll be right there. He'll see if he can round up Droog for support.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Spades Slick stands in the entryway near smashed clocks. He talks into his radio, which has a diamond alert hovering next to it, and carries Die's Voodoo doll.]

Droog says Deuce is tailing Fin, while he is tailing Deuce. He'll be there to help out Boxcars as soon as he and Deuce take care of business with Stitch. Couldn't be simpler.

Oh yeah, he also mentions he pumped Fin full of lead so you can cross him off the list. You roger all that.

Two black ones hang with them with a yellow hat and a green hat. The yellow-hatted one has a large hole ripped in the side of its face and the green-hatted one's body lies on the floor underneath it.]
Fin busts into Stitch's workshop blubering something about watching out for the little guy who's about to come in here. He says to watch out because he's got a bomb on his head which is undoubtedly quite volatile and even the slightest spark would surely set it off.

Stitch sees Fin's obviously in pretty bad shape, and checks his Effigy. Sure enough, the thing's in tatters. But he should be just fine if it can be patched up before he bleeds to...

[I.] Next

[Image description: Clubs Deuce freezes and Stitch moves a little closer, still aiming his gun at Deuce.]

Stitch says drop the livestock knob and settle the hell down.

He says you do realize C4 is a stable explosive and won't detonate with gunfire, right?

You say oh.

[Image description: Diamonds Droog stands behind Stitch with an AK47.

Drop it and get in.

Don't bleed on the suits.

Stitch says huh?

You admit the thought of carrying an imprisoned tailor wherever you go is gratifying for personal reasons.

But in this case keeping him alive should be useful in dealing with English later.

This predictably accomplished nothing!

Taking your smut out of hiding turned out to be a very bad idea. Now copies from the future are appearing left and right and these clowns have their paws all over it.

Crowbar's alive again. And a whole bunch of other stuff is different.

You forgot this gang almost seems halfway competent when he's running the show.

The good news is you get to kill him again.

[I.] SS: Insert and quickly remove Snowman's pin.

[Image description: Spades Slick glares down at a black pin with a white dot on it.]

You have no idea how much you'd like to. But even you're not that crazy.

Still, kinda tempting.

The background fades in to show the two gangs firing at each other. The 8 ball moves up over the scene, then fades away as a landing on a stairway comes into view. It zooms in on the landing and a carapace woman fades into view. She wears a long, black and green tailcoat and a black hat with an 8 in a white circle on it. She flashes out of the scene, then reappears slightly to the right and walks down the stairs while holding a cigarette in a long, thin cigarette holder, like the ones that were popular back in the early to mid 20th century. The two gangs stop firing as she walks down the space between their two barricades. She disappears again, then reappears standing just opposite of Spades Slick, who glares at her. A black text box appears at the bottom of the screen and text slowly fades in.]

Hold Still, Slick.

In time with the beat, it flashes to images of each of the midnight crew against a purple background with purple splatters on it. It ends with Slick, who looks up and narrows his eyes. It fades to a pan up on the woman and the text box reappears.

Something in Your Eye.
It cuts to Spades Slick and the woman slashes her cigarette holder across his eye, then stabs it in. Her hand looks like the queen's; insect like and spindly. Slick yells and the background flashes red and purple. It cuts back to the entire scene and the woman smokes her cigarette, sans holder, as Slick yells. She disappears, then reappears slightly to the left and begins walking away. Before she goes off screen, she disappears. The scene fades to black and a large grey spade shape appears in the center.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Both gangs stare at each other across the gap. Slick still has the cigarette holder in his eye.]

[I.] SS: Remove knife from eye.

[Image description: Spades Slick holds the cigarette holder. His injured eye is pinched shut and splattered with blood. It twitches slightly.]

It's not a knife. It's Snowman's Cigarette Holder.

All you know is she's gonna have a hell of a time getting it back.

[I.] SS: Give it to Sawbuck.

[Image description: Slick holds the cigarette holder, which is suddenly much larger, and throws it at Sawbuck (10). It sticks in the right side of his chest and the seven behind them changes to Stitch and Crowbar carrying boxes in an otherwise empty room.]

You chuck the Lance at Sawbuck.

But of course it's only a fleshwound. Seems like that's the only sort of wound you can ever inflict on the corpulent lummox.

Consequently you and he both jump to a random point on the timeline. This looks to be in the recent past, when Stitch and Crowbar were setting up the crates for the imminent gunfight. Which was very thoughtful of them.

Your goons should be showing up any minute with the heavy firepower. For now you've got the drop on everybody.

[I.] SS: Kill something out of rage and frustration.

[Image description: Slick stands to the right of Stitch, who lays on the ground with a sword sticking out of his chest. Crowbar stares down at him. The Lance has returned to cigarette holder size, but is still stuck in Sawbuck's chest. A white arm sticks out of the wall nearby.]

Stitch gets the business end of your Saber Rattle. He's dead. In this timeline at least.

[I.] SS: Bring knives to the gunfight.

[Image description: Sawbuck stands closer to Slick, but Slick kicks him back. He pulls out a large sword and a scalpel. The sword in Stitch's chest is now a playing card.]

Where do you think you're going, fatty?

You'll deal with him in a minute.

You whip out your Double Edged Sword and Occam's Razor.

[Image description: Slick throws the scalpel at Crowbar, who deflects it with his crowbar. As he does, it turns into a playing card and stabs into Sawbuck's head. Slick, Sawbuck, and Crowbar are transported to the red desert Die was in before. In the background, a black carapace stands near the horizon.]

Crowbar deflects the King of Spades into Sawbuck's unmissable carriage. You jump far into the past.

[I.] Years in the past...

[Image description: It zooms in on the carapace, who glares through a slit in his wrappings. He has a black spade on his outfit and something white hanging from underneath them.]

Which is to say the present, for the time being...

A Scurrilous Straggler eyes impromptu desert skirmish.

He dismisses them as a bunch of ill-mannered rogues warranting no further investigation. Although he gives a small nod of approval to the plain and serviceable hat worn by one of the combatants which strikes him as an absolutely smashing display of good fashion sense.

[I.] SS: Hit Crowbar in the head.

[Image description: Spades Slick stands over Crowbar while holding his horsehead cane like he just hit Crowbar in the head with it. Crowbar's crowbar disappears from the ground next to him and appears in Slick's weapons menu. Sawbuck begins to walk off right. The cigarette holder in lance form and Occam's Razor in scalpel mode are still stuck in him.]

You can't kill him yet. You need him alive to return to the original timeline.

You will be taking that Crowbar though.

[Image description: The War Chest sits on the ground where Crowbar was. Green arms and legs stick out of it.]

You cram him in the War Chest.

Sawbuck you need to keep alive too, for the moment. Not to return to the right timeline, but the right time.

Speaking of which, where's tubby think he's waddling off to.

[I.] SS: Just go stab Sawbuck until the time shenanigans stop
You treat him to a bit of the old Bait and Switchblade.

You appear in the future. You guess this is after the gunfight is over. The gunfight that never took place since you killed slash kidnapped everyone who was supposed to be involved. Looks like only Boxcars is here.

[I.] SS: Carry Sawbuck like Titan Atlas would carry the world

You order Hearts to drop his tub on the double before this fat lard puts you in a wheelchair.

If you take Sawbuck back to your own time and kill him there, that should save you the trouble of hunting him down. Might as well take Stitch too.

Maybe. You're not really sure if that's how it works. You don't really care though.

[I.] Next

You dump them in the Wrathtub, then stick the tub in your own Deck of Cards.

But you give Boxcars back his sordid literature, which he'd carelessly left in plain sight. No one will ever catch you leaving your smut around. And even if you did, that copy of Terrier Fancy Magazine could belong to ANYBODY. No one could prove nothin'.

[I.] SS: Stick Crowbar's pin back in again.

You go back to your original timeline.

But now, stuffed in your chest you've got a live Crowbar from another timeline. Brought to the timeline where he's supposed to be dead... so you guess now he's alive in this timeline which is in part defined by his death? Ok, whatever. You should probably just kill him again anyway.

Also Sawbuck from another timeline is in there too. So you guess now there are two Sawbucks? This is getting kind of dumb.

[I.] Next

You open the chest releasing them both. Crowbar doesn't look too pleased.
[Image description: Crowbar fires his gun and Slick deflects the bullets with his horsehead cane. They hit Sawbuck instead and they flash to a time when none of the clocks were smashed and another Sawbuck was in the room.]

You deflect his gunfire into the awesome gravitational pull of Sawbuck's astonishing girth.

Everybody into the past!

[Image description: The new sawbuck pulls out a gun to fire at Slick at the same time that Crowbar fires. Slick dodges out of the way and the new Sawbuck and Crowbar disappear. One of the clocks is now shot and splattered with blood.]

You dodge his next round too.

It seems Sawbuck from this timeline (i.e. the "real" Sawbuck) was in this room at this point in time. He and Crowbar exchange bullets. Off they go.

They no doubt go on to spend the rest of their ammunition peppering each other throughout the timeline, destroying all these clocks in the process between now and the present. You guess that explains the mess when you got here. Thank God you figured that out. You'd have surely lost sleep over it.

20 of 107 Clocks Redestroyed. For the first time. Eventually... You know what, never mind.

[Image description: Slick stabs Sawbuck in the side with his sword. Suddenly, all the clock are destroyed and another Spades Slick stands in the background. This new Slick holds the voodoo doll.]

Ok you think you got one.

Time travel sure can be a...

Double Edged Sword.

(sunglasses emoji)

Wait, that was awful. Really really bad. You're sure you can do better than that.

[Image description: The two Slicks stare at each other as Sawbuck shakily raises a gun.]

Let's see... sorry to... no... time's running... no wait... fuck.

You ask yourself from the past for a little help. Time's... something about time. Time being up. No wait, how about some kind of clock pun. No, dammit, will you just listen. You were almost onto something. Time... time is...

Screw this. Too many cooks in the kitchen.
Oh and just what does this quivering mound of blubber think he is up to?

[Image description: Spades Slick stabs Sawbuck in the shoulder with a small knife. They disappear, leaving the New Slick in the room by himself.]

Just as you hear your past self asking what happened to your eye, you jab Sawbuck with your Butterfly Effect Knife. You remember a little while ago asking yourself about your eye, and not giving yourself an answer just before disappearing. Maybe if you stopped and thought about it for a second, you could have warned yourself and avoided the whole mess, albeit in the process of creating a paradox. But your strict policy of stabbing first and answering questions later prevented it. You're sure your past self understands slash understood. You are sure of this because you very clearly remember understanding slash understooding.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Spades Slick still stands in the room his future self and Sawbuck just vacated through time shenanigans.]

You are now Past Spades Slick... again.

You were just about to pull Crowbar's pin. You guess all that stuff with your future self and Sawbuck originally happened in this room while we were all off watching someone else, like Diamonds Droog or something. That makes sense.

[I.] PSS: Remove Crowbar's pin.

[Image description: Slick removes a pin and disappears. A second image is just a collage of various important scenes from the past few pages.]

A whole bunch of shit happens that we already saw.

[Note: the previous sentence is a link to the page where Slick removed Crowbar's pin.]

[I.] PSS: Be Future Spades Slick.

[Image description: It shows Spades Slick stabbing Sawbuck. They flash into the room at a point in the future. The room is soaked with blood, the clocks are even more destroyed, and half of Sawbuck's torso and Crowbar's head sit on the floor.]

Being your future self is a lot more constructive because you get to do stuff you haven't already done.

Looks like you're in the future. It's a bloody mess in here. The clocks are more bullet-riddled than ever. And it seems Crowbar and both Sawbucks have been decapitated. You're almost certain this is something you will be, or were already, responsible for. Which of course means more time traveling.

Looks like the tub and chest are gone. Which means future-you must have packed up and left already. Got to take note of these sorts of things so you know where you are in the timeline.

You notice something on the wall over there...

[I.] Next
One of the clocks that wasn't destroyed before is now bloodied and full of holes.
Not especially noteworthy. You just have a feeling you should register this fact.

108 of 1000 Clocks Destroyed

[1.] SS: Quickly remove lance from Sawbuck.

You pry the Cigarette Holder from his torso. Whoops, another time jump.
This tub of goo keeps going for his gun. Widebody's gotta settle his big ass down.
You really should incapacitate him without inflicting another wound.

[1.] SS: Knock Sawbuck unconscious.

Count Some Sheep Bitch
Wait... the clock on the wall...

[1.] Next

It hasn't been destroyed yet.
But it's about to be. It's ticking down to the time it's stuck on in the future.
Maybe if you time it just right, you can end this whole mess in one fell slice.

[1.] Next

You've even got an ice-cold one-liner to dish out when the time comes. You've been working pretty hard on it.
Wait for it... wait for it...
Hate to cut and...
Wait, no. Not yet.
Wait for it...
Hate to... no.
Wait...

Hate to cut and DAMMIT. Not yet.

Hate to cut and run.

SHIT.

Hate to...

Hate to...

[I.] Next

[Image description: Spades Slick holds the cigarette holder in his mouth. A moment later, the Sawbuck and Crowbar who were shooting each other appear. Slick pulls out his sword and decapitates Crowbar and both Sawbucks in one slice. This flashes them all to a time where the clocks are more destroyed and the room is soaked with blood. Crowbar's head lands on top of the deck of cards.]

Hate to chop all of your heads off with this sword. Real sorry about that. My bad.

You slay them all with your Rapier Wit.

[I.] Next

[Image description: It shows the wall of mugshots. All of the mugshots except 4, 12, 13, 15, and Lord English's question mark are crossed out. Someone has drawn in the spot where Snowman's (8) mugshot should be. It is a really rough drawing of her flailing her arms and saying Bluh Bluh. It is labeled Huge Bitch. This drawing is not crossed out. Doze (2) and Trace (3) have a note written above them that says Still Waiting to Explode, I Think. but Yeah, Dead. Crowbar (7) has been scribbled over, crossed out a second time in grey, and labeled Deader. Stitch (9) is crossed out in grey and labeled Uh...(question mark) Sorta Dead. Sawbuck (12) is crossed out twice, once in red and once in grey, and labeled Dead X 2.]

[I.] Next

[Image description: Spades Slick stands among the carnage. The Wrathtub and pack of cards from under Crowbar's head are gone.]

You grab the tub and chest and move on. That is Altogether Enough of this nonsense.

[I.] DD: Call Spades.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce and Diamonds Droog stand in Stitch's workshop with Stitch between them. Deuce, who no longer has the bomb under his hat, pokes Stitch with his bull penis cane. Droog talks into his radio, which has a spade alert over it. In the background are two white effigies wearing copies of Diamonds Droog and Spades Slick's hats. The Slick one has a tear on its head where an eye would be to match the gash Snowman gave him. A second image shows Slick standing in a hallway and talking into his own radio, which has a diamond alert above it.

You check up on Slick's status. Slick says he killed Crowbar again, Sawbuck twice, and Stitch once. You ask him if it was an alternate timeline Stitch. He says he guesses so. You say that doesn't count. You've got the real one here. He mutters some foul language you can't quite make out, but you tell him never mind and hurry down to meet you at the vault.

He says he took some damage from Snowman. You say you know. You're having some Effigies made of yourselves with your backup hats. Deuce brought Slick's crumpled backup hat which he wound up with somehow. Not sure what happened to Deuce's. Boxcars is obviously tied up at the moment, so you can't get your hands on his yet.

Slick says he's got both their hats and he'll be down ASAP. You say alright. He says in the meantime see what you can do about this eye.

[I.] DD: Have Stitch patch up SS's effigy.

[Image description: Droog aims a gun at Stitch, who holds a black needle in his hand. Deuce has put away his bull penis cane.]

Get to work, threadmonkey.

[I.] SS: Have right eye patched up.

[Image description: A line of stitches appears over Slick's good eye, leaving the gash on the other still open.]

Dammit.

Your sprite was flipped the wrong way.

You get Diamonds on the radio and tell him to undo it and wait until you're turned around. He says it's the right eye, right? Were you facing left or right? You say it's only right when facing left. It's the left eye when facing right. He says oh, so it's the left-right eye. You say yeah, but hang on a minute, you'll turn around so it's right-left. He says ok, he'll wait.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Stitch stands closer to the effigy. The gash is now stitched up with yellow thread. A second image shows Slick in the hallway, but facing the other direction. The stitches are now over the correct eye.]

That's better.

[I.] SS: Arm yourself, in case Cans shows up.

[Image description: Slick holds Snowman's lance and his horsehead cane.]

If Cans shows up, none of these weapons you've got are going to do any good.

You admire the Lance for a moment. It's a pretty sweet weapon with outstanding craftsmanship. At least you got something out of the eye-gouging. She'll have to pry this thing from your rigid severed arm if she wants it back.

[I.] SS: Ride around on horse hitcher pretending to joust.

[Image description: Slick flails around with the cane between his legs and the lance in his free hand.]

YEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEHAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA...

[I.] Next

[Image description: He freezes as Snowman stares in through a window.]

AAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAWWWWWWWWWWWWWWWWW OH SHIT.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Snowman disappears.]

[I.] Next

[Image description: Slick throws his hat on the ground with a small Pof.]

You can't BELIEVE she saw you horsing around like that. You will never live this down.

[I.] DD: Shoot up biscuit and eggs's effigies.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce, Diamonds Droog, and Stitch stand in the vault room, which is full of time travel copies of Biscuits and Eggs surrounding a single Hearts Boxcars. Clover (4) dances on top of the safe. Deuce and Droog shoot the Eggs and Biscuits closest to the edge of the crowd while Stitch stands behind them.]

Stitch keeps their Effigies in a big warehouse several miles away because of their ridiculous duplication tendencies.

You're sure as hell not going to drive all the way over there, so you just shoot at them in person.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Deuce and Droog stand in the crowd of Eggs and Biscuits near Boxcars. Timers and buzzers go off all around them. Some of the Eggs begin to flash purple.]

This was such an unbelievably terrible idea.

[I.] Next

[Image description: At the edge of the crowd, Stitch holds a lighter and stares at the effigies of Spades Slick and Diamonds Droog.]

[I.] SS: CHARGE!

[Image description: Slick charges in and stabs Stitch in the chest with the lance.]

This is incredibly delirious biznasty.

[Note: The line is a link to a page of Problem Sleuth, one of the other comics on the website. It shows a man being knocked off of a giant chess piece by a lance. He spills a cup of tea as he falls. It is captioned 'This is incredibly silly'.]

[Image description: A scene labeled The Present shows the outside of the mansion and an explosion blasting away a wall. A second image shows the mugshots. The note above Doze (2) and Trace (3) is crossed out and replaced with Dead!!!!. Their Xs become much thicker. The note on Stitch (9) is also crossed out and replaced with Dead!!!!. A red X appears over the grey X on Stitch.]

[I.] SS: Start whacking things with the crowbar.

[Image description: Slick uses Crowbar's crowbar to hit a timer out of one of the Eggs' hands.] The first thing you whack is Egg's Egg Timer.

[I.] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the timer, which Slick beats with the crowbar until it breaks.] You do this because of course you know that Crowbar's crowbar will destroy any temporal artifact and completely negate its effect on the timeline.

[I.] Next

[Image description: It shows the crowd of Eggs and Biscuits. In a flash, all but one of each disappear.]

[Image description: Hearts Boxcars stands near Eggs. Boxcars opens his mouth, revealing large, pointed teeth, and bites Egg's head off, spraying blood on the floor.] Your attempt was an overwhelming success.

[I.] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Biscuits, who is sweating.] Biscuits is looking a tad snug in his muffin tray.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Biscuits disappears into his oven in an orange flash.] He thinks it's about time to poke a broomstraw in this battle. His dough will live to rise another day.

See You in the Future, Suckers!!!!!

[Image description: The entire Midnight Crew stands around Biscuit's oven as Spades Slick smacks it with the crowbar, leaving a dent in the top. Eggs' headless corpse lays on the ground behind them.]
You deal the oven a wicked flogging but not much happens.

The oven doesn't really have any magical time properties to be negated. It just travels into the future at a rate of one second per second, like everyone else.

[Image description: The oven door opens and Clubs Deuce shoves a bomb inside before closing the door.]

You set the bomb to go off in a few seconds, when both it and Biscuits are released from it in a few hours.

[I.] CD: Turn up heat on Biscuit's oven.

[Image description: Clubs Deuce looks at the oven with a question mark flashing over his head. A second image shows him wheeling it away on a dolly.]

You're pretty sure this oven doesn't actually work at all.

You just wheel it off somewhere else in the mansion so it can explode in peace.

[I.] Next

[Image description: A scene labeled The Future shows the outside of the mansion, where another explosion rips another hole in a wall. A second image shows the mugshots. Red Xs appear over Eggs (12) and Biscuits (13). The only ones not crossed out are Lord English's question mark, the drawing of Snowman, Clover (4), and Cans (15).

12 of 15 Green Torsos Dead

Probably some more clocks destroyed too

[I.] SS: Use crowbar to pry the safe open.

[Image description: Spades Slick holds the crowbar near the safe. Clover (4), who has jumped down from the top of the safe, flails nearby.]

Since your expert safe cracker apparently spent the last five or six hours being totally useless down here, you figure it's time to take things into your own hands.

Huh? What's this little fella all worked up about?

[I.] Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Clover shaking his head as a small green exclamation point flashes nearby.]

Clover insists that you reconsider! Using that to pry open the vault would be EVER so much bad luck! Like breaking a thousand mirrors all at once! The sort of mirrors that tick and have numbers and tell time and stuff. That is the worst kind of mirror to break, luckwise.

[I.] SS: Politely ask Clover to remain calm.

[Image description: Clover begins doing something that looks like a cross between flailing and dancing. The background turns into two spirals spinning in counterpoint and clocks, pool balls, and question marks hover around him.

He refuses outright and starts doing a really frisky jig!

DOO DEE DOO DEE DOO DOO
DOO DEE DOO DEE DOO DOO

He begins spinning a fanciful series of riddles illuminating the true path to opening the vault. Mysterious music fills your ears as your mind assumes the shape of a pretzel.

DOO DEE DOO DEE DOO DOO
DOO DEE DOO DEE DOO DOO DOO DOO DOO DEE DOO DOO DOO
DOO DEE DOO DEE DOO DOO

This is how the music would sound if we were listening to it right now.

[Image description: Diamonds Droog points a gun at Clover, who freezes.]

You ask Clover to open the safe.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Clover giggles and covers his mouth.]

What's this? Hee hee! You think you can shoot Clover? He is so lucky the gun will probably jam or something predictable like that. Nice try though!

[I.] Next

[Image description: Diamonds Droog begins smacking Clover in the head with a rolled up newspaper.]

You just start whacking him with a newspaper instead.

You don't have to be all that unlucky to get whacked around with a newspaper. It's sort of a gray area.

[I.] DD: Check personal ads of periodical.

[Image description: It shows the newspaper, which is the Gazette. Awful Tragedy of the Sea at Night in Midocean - Wireles Brings Aid, But Too Late to Save All - The Crew Stuck by the Ship… Another newspaper is underneath it. The Gray Ladies "All the nudes that's fit to print" Late Edition
Volume Number 54,231
No Clothes, No Shame, No Chroma. It shows a woman standing and looking coyly towards the camera. She is naked, but her breasts are covered by a bouquet and her arm and she covers her genitals with her free hand.
Her Gray Area Exposed. on Page 9. It shows a naked woman laying on her front on a floral sofa in front of a bookshelf. She smokes a cigarette and looks towards the camera. You No Hue'll Get Excited. It shows the same woman from the previous picture sitting at a table and smoking a cigarette. Her breasts and genitals would be visible, but the corner of the Gazette paper covers her.

This isn't a real newspaper. It's just a wrapper for your private sordid literature, which no one can ever see.

Uh oh, it's slipping out a bit. Your appetite for Monochrome Beauties is nearly on public display. Gotta keep a lid on that smut! Especially with Clover around.

[Image description: The Gray Ladies newspaper sits on the ground and Clover stares down at it as his hat bounces off of his head. A red dotted line leads from his eye to the paper and is labeled Ogle. The entire room shakes.]

Suddenly the whole vault room is shaking. You wonder what it could be.

It sounds suspiciously like Cans is about to plow through the wall Kool-Aid Man style. You pray to God that it is not Cans about to plow through the wall Kool-Aid Man style.

[Image description: Cans (15), who is easily 3 times as tall as Spades Slick, busts through the wall.]

All of a sudden Cans plows through the wall Kool-Aid Man style.

[Image description: Cans punches Diamonds Droog in the face and he disappears.]

Oh No!

[Image description: A calendar takes up the entire panel. In Monday the 13th of whatever month this is, it shows Cans punching Droog. Monday the 20th shows Droog in an aisle of shelves. A second image shows him from the 20th, where he sits on the floor of a grocery store.]

He punches you into next week.

You find yourself going about your business a week later. Looks like you're doing a little grocery shopping.

You're a bit confused, having no memory of the previous week. You have no idea what is on your grocery list. Are you out of milk?? What kind of produce do you need to stock up on?? It is all a little overwhelming.

And to make things worse,

the selection has too many

........

PRICES and VAULES
SWEET BRO AND HELLA JEFF
go shopping

A white box with a pink border says (in "SBahHJ go shopping). This is the only thing in the first panel of the comic.

Sweet Bro stands in a poorly drawn grocery aisle, though half of him sticks out past the right border of it. To the left of the shelves, Geromy stands on top of poorly erased grass. He is labeled with his name.

Sweet Bro walks towards the right, carrying two cans. He says not all the cans are the same

It zooms in on the two cans, which both say Beans. what's the difference

A squished picture of Sweet Bro stands among flying cans. A bright yellow text box above his head reads this selection has too many

PRICES and VAULES

Several panels are smushed together on a black background. The first shows Sweet Bro holding his head like he did when complaining about socks. In fact, it is the same panel, but flipped.
Gog Damn
The second shows him holding his head while facing the other direction.
Its like
Who needs this fuckeng bullshit
The third shows him looking towards the left with multiple five pointed stars superimposed on his shirt.
It is so
INFUUUUUURATING
Shit whare's the manager.

Hella Jeff looks through a shelf where the products have been moved so he can see through from the next aisle.

It zooms in on him.
and there he goes
he has... the managers attention

Hella Jeff stares. and now. the police are involved. jesus chris

A slightly more jpeg artifact ridden version of the same image.

AHAHAHA omfg

Literally the same image again.

i cant BELIEVE what he made take place
The last panel is a 3 by 3 grid that shows Hella Jeff slowly fading from his gap in the shelves until the gap is just black. The last slot is empty.

[I.] HB: Use Eggs' body as bait for Cans.

You flail the torso Cans-ward in an attempt to placate him with the red meat.

[Note: 'Placate him with the red meat' is a link that opens a page of Problem Sleuth. It is titled AD: Use half-dead body as bait for that monster. The top of the screen has the same Battle Technique banner. It shows a man in a suit and white fedora throwing the top half of a similarly-dressed man around a corner to where a monster stands. Torso Flail is written above the alive man. The monster has two almost bird-like legs, a slug-like body, tiny arms that extend from its neck, and two longhorn-like horns that face downwards. Its eyes are incredibly wide set and small and it's mouth has blood dripping from it.]

Each photo evokes the strength and majesty of the horse; from the poise of a strong and graceful neck, to the seemingly whimsical and bold strides of a horse at play. Accompanied by appealing quotes, this is an essential calendar for horse lovers as well as those who enjoy fine art photography. No other animal inspires so many as fierce and bold a passion as can The Spirited Horse.

[I.] SS: Ignore him and just pry the safe open.

[Image description: Slick begins prying at the safe. Purple and white lightning crackles over its surface and Clover jumps around nervously.]

The massive release of temporal distortion from the vault transports you to a highly unfavorable timeline. Looks like the entire mansion was leveled, except for the vault and its enclosure. Everyone's dead except for you and you know who.

But at least the safe's open.

[I.] SS: Enter the vault.

[Image description: Slick stands in a small grey room. There's a hole in the floor where it looks like bricks were removed. Underneath the hole is a trapdoor with a spade shape around a keyhole.]

There's nothing in here except an opening in the floor. There is a door with a keyhole, and you have a feeling you know how to open it.

You only wonder why English's treasure would be locked behind a door with a spade on it.

[I.] SS: Dramatically use the spade key.

[Image description: Slick holds a black key in his hand. The end of it is shaped like a spade. You guess this is what the Spade Key was for all this time. You dramatically wield the Spade Key in a matter of fact manner.]

[Image description: Slick stares down at the trap door. The keyhole is gone, replaced by a small square with three small red laser lights coming out of it.]

What Keyhole? It was clearly a Barcode Scanner all along. Like the kind they sweep groceries over at supermarkets. That reminds you, you should really do some shopping next week.

You're not going to peek inside because the lasers could blind you in one eye. OH WAIT

[Image description: Slick holds the Rules for Blackjack card so the barcode on the back is facing the reader.]

This was never a problem because there is clearly a barcode printed on your Rules Card for Blackjack.
As well as your arm. But there's nothing wrong with a little redundancy you guess.

[I.] SS: Get on with it.

[Image description: Something white suddenly shoots through the barcode on the playing card. Spades Slick looks towards the left and a question mark appears next to him.]

Huh?

[Note: This caption is in comic sans and is a link to a sweet Bro and Hella Jeff comic.]

SWEET BRO AND HELLA JEFF

Hella Jeff lays in a bed and clutches a purple blanket. A purple and brown thought bubble is above his head.
He stands in the middle of a basketball court.
in my dream
i am the star.
its me

The black basketball player from the Sports comic comes onto the court.
and THEN
the big man comes for a little one on one

The basketball player jumps up over Hella Jeff with the word Dunk next to him.
but it turns out to be CRAZY what kind of dunks this guy has

The same picture of the basketball player flies over Hella Jeff towards the basket, which is suddenly much taller. Poorly photoshopped flames are where the player was.
im telling you. . . . air like that is UNREAL, it doesn't even HAPPEN.
most of the time
the coart is on FIRE

It zooms in on Hella Jeff dude come get the ruler check this out

Sweet Bro comes on and measures Sweet Bro's width ok dude
no

The picture is suddenly much darker.
Your holdung it wrong
dude..................
no dude..

It shows the same picture.
dude
dude hurry
look he'ss escaping from above

Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff begin fighting for the ruler.
dude no ../.
let me show you
no
fuck
no
dude

It shows the same image.
no...
fuck
dude...
you got to FLIP it TURN-WAYS
FUCK
The basketball player goes so far up that half of him is off screen.
jesus
dude

The conversations repeat fractally as the basketball player escapes gravity.
The last image shows Hella Jeff asleep in bed again, but this time ringed by a golden frame.

[I.] SS: Scan the barcode.

The third monitor in the second row is the only one on. It shows a black haired boy with a black shirt and grey pants. His skin is grey and there are two small orange spots in his hair. A creature with crablike claws and head stands so it is partially off screen. Windows on the wall behind the boy are in the same plus-shaped arrangement as the monitors and two captchalogue cards sit on the floor.]

This guy again?
Been a long time.

[I.] Next

[Image description: Spades Slick types at the keyboard with one hand. His stump drips blood onto the space bar and edge of the table. A second image shows what he typed. > hey kid]

[I.] yeah you

[Image description: It shows the boy from the monitor. The crablike creature is now fully visible. It is grey and has a tail like that of a sprite. It hovers off of the floor above a white sicle. A grey cylindrical object like a cruxite dowel sits underneath the window. The boy blinks and opens his mouth like he's saying something. He has yellow eyes and the orange things in his hair are actually small horns that have a gradient from red at the base to yellow-orange at the tips. Outside the window are purple clouds and rain.]

[I.] Next

[Image description: It shows a shittily drawn version of the room with the grey boy in it. The boy is sitting on the floor.]
CG: Boggle vacantly at these shenanigans.

It begins to dawn on you that everything you are about to do may prove to have been a colossal waste of time.

 chapter notes

AO3 decided that Act 4 is too long, so there will be a chapter '5.5' for the second part.

Homestuck belongs to Andrew Hussie and all other associated people in a list that’s probably longer than the comic itself. This version is made for accessibility purposes, so more people can enjoy the comic more thoroughly.

Act 4: The Flight of the Paradox Clones

[S] ACT 4 Next

[Image description: The song Doctor begins to play. Fireflies blink inside dark clouds. The image slowly pans down over a dark blue landscape that is speckled with blue-green, glowing patches. Spires of grey rock stick out of the land near black rivers. Text appears at the bottom of the screen. Land of Wind and Shade
It pans down further, onto a mountain, and the scene changes. John, wearing his Wise Guy Slime Suit, appears on a path of dark blue rock. Behind him, glowing blue and green mushrooms and plant roots cling to boulders. Just to the east, the blue gauntlet hands hold the sassacrusher. A creature that looks like an imp, but with a cat’s head, a tentacle beard, and tentacles for arms walks around. It is wearing a grey jacket in addition to the harlequin hat all the other imps wore. There are a game controller icon and a captchalogue card icon in the top left corner and a green spirograph in the top right corner. A red arrow points to the game controller icon.

Click controller icon
A black text box with a blue checkerboard border appears.
Use Arrow Keys (or WASD Keys) to walk. Spacebar to attack. Hold Shift while attacking for dual-wielding.
Hold Spacebar to charge mangrit.
Press Z to expend boypluck.
Press X to open sylladex, Arrow Keys to navigate, Spacebar to select.

Click the text box

Drawin' and writin' and stuff by Andrew. (DUH) Programming by Alexis Beingessner. (damn he is good) Additional art assets by Cindy. (hooray!)
Music: “Doctor” written by George Buzinkai, remixed by Michael Vallejo and Clark Powell. (round of applause)
The captchalogue opens. It is still in the combination mode John made with the blue cards and cards split between pink and orange. Queuestack 1 has the Wise Guy book and the old Colonel Sassacre’s. 2 has the telescope, the PDA, and the Serious Business Goggles. 3 has the box of gushers and 5 shoes. 4 has one of Dad’s hats, candy corn, the barbasol bomb, and the Barber’s Best Friend.

Click an item to drop it.
Click elsewhere to close the captchalogue.

Click spirograph
A blue and black text box appears again. Nannasprite’s head hovers over it. Each click changes it to the next line of dialogue. Nannasprite speaks in her normal light blue text and John speaks in white.

Nannasprite: John, hello! Can you hear me?
John: yeah, nanna. where are you?
Nannasprite: I am still in the house, dear! I'm afraid I cannot accompany you on your journey. But I can talk to you like this, if you ever need me to provide a puzzling half-answer to one of your questions!
John: oh, ok. thanks, nanna.
Nannasprite: You should begin exploring and talking to locals! They will be able to provide you with some new insight into your quest, and may illuminate some matters on which I have remained coy to this point! HOO HOO!
John: yeah, what's up with that, nanna? did the game make you all coy and prankstery when you became a sprite or were you always like that when you were alive?
Nannasprite: Oh, wouldn't YOU like to know, dear! HOO HOO HOO HOO HOO!
John: ha ha ha... ok.
The dialogue box closes.

Click John
A black text box appears.
I am told your name is John. Is that correct?

Click the box
A black and blue text box appears.
Yep. That's right.

Click John
A black text box appears.
It's nice to meet you, John.

Click the box
A black and blue text box appears.
John isn't directly cognizant of your greeting, but I'm sure he would feel likewise.

Click John
A black text box appears.
Ok, John. Let's explore this place!

Click the box
A black and blue text box appears.
Ok, have at it! If you're at a loss, click the controller button up there.

Walk left and attack that imp!
John takes out his wrinklefucker with every press of the space bar, or the wrinklefucker and pogo hammer with shift and space and beats the imp to death, earning 6 shale.

Walk south.
The land curves around to the west and John passes many glowing trees and mushrooms along the path, which is bounded by an outcropping of blue rock on the north side and a black river to the south. The path curves back up to the north and a yellow, bipedal salamander stands there, turning back and forth and stomping its feet occasionally. A fallen blue tree makes a bridge across one of the rivers, but finish exploring this island before going anywhere!

Click the salamander.
A black box appears.
Approach amicably.

Click the box
A black and blue text box appears and the salamander begins blowing bubbles in its mouth.

Click the Salamander again.
A black box appears.
Hear what this fellow has to say.

Click the box
A black and blue text box appears and the salamander begins blowing bubbles in its mouth.
Oh hey.

Continue along the path to the north.
The path branches into two paths, one to the west and one to the east. At the junction, two small grey pipes stick out of the ground and a Salamander moves around.

Click the Salamander.
Introduce yourself

Click the message.
A black and blue text box appears and the salamander begins blowing bubbles in its mouth.
Glub Glub! Sure is windy here! Often, wind skims the voids of the Pipes, as if grazing the hollow of a cut reed, or say, a plundered Parcel Pyxis. It is a lovely sound and brings back fond memories of my childhood. Which was a couple days ago.
Clicking the salamander again just brings up the same response.

Take the east branch.
There is a larger clearing not too far from the salamander. A blue imp that is otherwise identical to the one killed earlier stalks around a grey pipe that sticks out of the ground. To the north, another one sticks out, but this one has a red mailbox arm thing and a lid. This is a parcel pyxis.

Kill the imp!
This earns John a small bit of build grist and a new type of grist called Cobalt. The grist item for this type looks like a royal blue gusher.

Go to that parcel pyxis Hooray! This one contains a prize! Another success for the postal system.

Click the message,
You got a Jar of Bugs!

Walk over the jar of bugs
The jar is captchalogued into the blue card of the second queuestack.

Continue following the path as it goes northwest.
A black imp without a grey jacket blocks John’s path.

Kill the imp!
This earns John some shale and build grist. Another imp, this one with a cat’s head, a princess outfit, and grey skin, stands to the north.

Kill it!
John gets some mercury and some build grist.

Follow the path as it curves west.
The only thing on this path is a cobblestone bridge to another island, but John hasn’t finished exploring this island yet!

Return to the branching path and follow the west one.
This path butts up against a black river and curves north.

Follow it!
The path branches again, one to the west and one to the east.

Go east
Not far past the junction is another parcel pyxis. This one’s arm is down.

Click the pyxis.
There is nothing inside. Should we put something in?

Click the message.
Put something in?
Yes? No?

Click no.
The box closes.

Click yes.
The captchalogue opens.

Click anywhere else and keep your items. Go down the west branch.
John returns to the clearing with the black imp and the grey princess imp. They have respawned.

There’s a blue mushroom on the ground. Walk over it and pick it up.
It goes into the first slot of the second queuestack.

Ignore the imps and go back down that west path.
The screen fades to black as a new section of the map loads. It fades back in and John stands near an empty pyxis and a black princess imp.

Kill the imp!
John gets build grist and shale. South of the imp is a full pyxis.

Click the pyxis.
This is great! Something is in there. Take a look.

Click the message.
You got a Cog!

Walk over the cog.
This captchalogues the cog into the first card of the second queuestack.

Follow the path to the east.
A grey imp stands near a salamander. To the west, another path branches off.

Kill the imp, then talk to the salamander!
The imp drops several drops of mercury.

Walking north to the salamander reveals more along the northern path.

Talk to the first salamander.
The stars are moving? What do you mean? What are these things you call stars? Oh! You mean the Fireflies. They became trapped under the clouds when The Slumbering One cast a spell on them.

Talk to the second salamander.
How did he cast a spell on them when he was asleep? Well, he wasn't ALWAYS asleep, you goofball! When he was awake he was asked by some really terrible guys to commission a whole bunch of Underlings. He then went about befouling our land with all this sludge, clogging up all our beautiful Pipes, and now it can barely breathe. He was sort of a huge dick. Once he tuckered himself out with all that I guess he decided to take a nap.

Talk to the third salamander.
The terrible guys? They are a bunch of mean fellows who like to push people around. They are called Agents. They aren't usually a problem but they sure did put a spring in their step when the Heir showed up. Whoever that is. If I ever meet him I wouldn't mind punching him in the snout to... well, to accomplish some purpose I suppose. I don't know. What were we talking about?

Talk to the fourth salamander.
Yes, the spell! The spell I'm sure you've heard from a reliable source cannot be broken unless The Slumbering One is first woken up, and then slain. Then the Breeze will again flow through the Pipes and the Fireflies will be released and allowed to go home. But I do not envy the adventurers who will presumably take on this responsibility!

Talk to the fifth salamander.
The Pipes are sacred to us for reasons you probably consider primitive and stupid. In fact, they probably are primitive and stupid, objectively speaking. But I am ok with that.

Talk to the second salamander.
As the Consorts of this Land we are predictably persecuted by dark forces, and require a hero for our salvation. Alas there is no hero in sight. Wait a minute it is you. You are the hero aren't you. Of course you are. I was so foolish to speculate otherwise through dubiously solicited monologue!
Duh!

Talk to the last salamander, who stands in a large patch of mushrooms with a hoe and a bag of mushrooms on his back.
Farmin' these goddamn mushrooms. Fuckin' pain in the ass.

Return to the place where you just killed the imp and follow the west path.
There’s another mushroom. Walk over it.
It captchalogues into your second queuestack, expelling the Serious Business goggles. Click one of the other stacks, expelling the first item from that stack, and walk over that item and the goggles.
This captchalogues them into the selected queuestack.

The west path dead ends. There is a cobblestone bridge across one of the rivers.

Cross the bridge.
On the other side is a black cat squid imp and a salamander wearing a crumpled top hat.

Kill the imp!
John gets some shale and build grist for this Heroic Feat.
Below the imp is a parcel pyxis, but it is empty.

Talk to the salamander!
I have renamed myself Crumplehat. I have dishonored my ancestors beyond comprehension with this frivolous accessory.

There is a bridge to another island made of half of a grey pipe to the east and a path that goes south.

Go south and return to the bridge later.
Not far to the south is a blue imp in a princess outfit.

Bash that imp into grist!
John earns several chunks of cobalt. The path dead ends just a little past that.

Return to the pipe bridge and cross it!
On the other side is a black cat squid imp in a princess hat and grey suit jacket.

Smash the imp into oblivion
John gets a tiny amount of build grist.
The path branches. One goes south and the other goes east.

Go south.
At the end of the path, there is a pyxis with the red arm thing up.

Click it
How exciting! A parcel for you. Retrieve it!
You got a Chunk of Amber!
The chunk has a little firefly trapped inside.

Go back and take the east path.
The screen goes black and loads another section of the map. John appears on a small sliver of island across a river from the west side of the first island.

Follow the path as it goes south
A little way down the path, there is a filled pyxis and a salamander.
Click the pyxis
This is great! Something is in there. Take a look.
You got Illegal Contraband!
The contraband is a small green frog. Walk over it and pick it up.

Talk to the salamander
Hey, nice suit, champ. I will buy it from you for 1 Boondollar.
Click the message.
Sell suit for 1 Boondollar?
Only one option appears.
No.
Click No.
I should have known only a shrewd business man would wear such a garment. I have been chagrinned in ways I never imagined possible.

Continue south.
It loads another section of the map. John now stands near a place where the black rivers empty into a small black lake. A black princess cat imp stands nearby.

You know the drill! It’s imp bashing time!
John gets some shale and build grist

A full pyxis is to the north. Open it.
You got a Chisel!
There’s now only one more open slot in the captchalogue.

Keep following the path.
A small peninsula pokes out into the lake and a salamander with a blue cruxite dowel stands on it.

Talk to the salamander.
I am freaking out here. Do you know what this is??? It is a huge log of Cruxite. More than I have ever seen. It is the most precious material in existence. Why if I had access to a means of producing an unlimited supply, I would be the richest salamander in the Land.
Click the message.
Just kidding. It's completely worthless. Here, you want it? It's free.
Walk over the dowel. Now the captchalogue is completely full.

A cobblestone bridge goes across the lake. Go down it.
It curves around to a small island in the lake. There’s a blue cat squid imp in a grey jacket and harlequin hat.

Make it dead!
John gets a little bit of cobalt.

Two paths branch off of the island. One goes to the northeast and one to the east.

Take the northeast one.
It leads to another small island with a full pyxis on it.

Open the pyxis!
You got the uncarved minitablet!
The minitablet looks like a piece of white stone carved to look like a captchalogue card. Now your captchalogue is full. You need to get rid of something.
Put a shoe in the pyxis and retrieve the tablet.
Once again, the captchalogue is full, but now with one less shoe and one more tablet.

Keep following the path.
It meets up with the eastern path off the other island and they both lead to the other side of the lake, where a salamander wrapped in John’s ghost sheets stands.

Talk to the salamander.
I am a secret wizard. Behold my robes.
Click the message.
An option appears.
Behold Robes?
Yes? No?

Click yes.
You wonder what the hell a secret wizard is. This guy is making you a little nervous. You don't think you'll ask him for your bedsheets back.

Click no.
You wonder what the hell a secret wizard is. This guy is making you a little nervous. You don't think you'll ask him for your bedsheets back.

The same outcome happens for both, so it really wasn’t much of a choice, was it?

To the north is a grey harlequin imp. Smash it.
John gets a bit of build grist.
John is now on the other side of the estuary from where he started. A path leads north.

Take the path.
It loads a new section of the map where a black princess imp, a filled pyxis, and a salamander are.

Kill the imp
John gets a little bit of shale from the imp.

Talk to the salamander
This thing right here? You have never seen a Parcel Pyxis?
Incomprehensible! Ok I'll play your pretend game for a minute. It is a receptacle connected to our network of Pipes. We use them to send stuff to different places. They are fully intertwined with our customs and social practices.
If there is something we want, we chisel it on a minitablet and drop it in. Who receives it? Hard to say! But if you encounter a minitablet and you possess what is chiseled on it, it is considered only polite to drop it in the Pyxis!
Similarly, if you encounter a Parcel Pyxis that has a prize in it already, you are obligated to keep the prize for yourself! Consider it to be a gift to you from the Breeze. This is just the way things work...
Whenever one of us is standing near one of these, we feel compelled to give this little speech about
it.

The spirograph flashes. Click it.
Nannasprite: John, their economy of anonymous, intraglobal pipe-based bartering may seem quaint, but you'd do well to get accustomed to it! The true Heir must learn the ways of the peoples of the Land to progress through the Gates!
John: wait... so i'm the heir?
Nannasprite: Didn't I tell you, John?
John: no!!
Nannasprite: HOO HOO HOO HOO HOO!
      HOO!
      HOO HOO.

Open the pyxis
You got a minitablet!
The tablet falls on the ground. On it is a carving of a hat. You have a hat. Following the traditions of this strange place as explained to you by one of its inhabitants, you are obligated to place a hat into the pyxis.

Place hat in pyxis.
Now you have space for the minitablet! And no empty spots, once again.

Keep following the path.
It curves west and a hyperactive black cat harlequin imp stands there.

Smash it!
There’s a fallen tree making a bridge over a black river. Crossing it brings you back to the first salamander you encountered on the first island.

Don’t cross it! Keep following this path!
The path curves back around to the east and a blue princess imp blocks your way.

Clobber it into tiny pieces…. Tiny pieces of grist!
It drops a large chunk of build grist.

Keep going
A black harlequin imp stands at the junction of two paths, one that goes north and one that goes to a clearing just east of you.

Imp slaughter time!
John gets a little piece of build grist.

Go north
A salamander stands at the end of the short northern path. A light blue cube and a small purple chunk of something sit next to it.

Talk to the salamander
Not long ago all these Underlings started creeping out of the pipework, and they have been a nuisance to say the least. But just a few moments ago they began spilling from the Land in greater supply, wearing more flamboyantly preposterous outfits than ever. Why you ask? On account of a series of mysterious and arcane wytchkraft-majyspelles. Ha ha just kidding. I have no idea.

Pick up the chunk.
You can’t! You have no room in your captchalogue!

Okay, fine. Backtrack to a pyxis and put two shoes in it so you free up space in your captchalogue.
Done.
Now go pick up that chunk and that blue cube while you’re at it.
That blue cube doesn’t go into the captchalogue, so it must be some kind of grist.

Now go into the clearing.
There’s a grey cat squid princess imp thing.
Kill it like all its brethren.
John gets a couple of drops of mercury for defeating this one.
Two paths branch off of the clearing. One goes north and the other is a set of stairs leading south.

Take the stairs.
Nannasprite’s text box appears.
Nannasprite: John, this will lead you to new frontiers in this Land. Are you sure you are done with this place and ready to move on? There may have been some things you missed!
An option appears.
Exit?
Yes? No?

Click no.
We’re not done here yet.

Okay, then. Take the north path.
There’s a full pyxis and a cat squid imp in a grey jacket and princess hat.

Open the pyxis first this time.
It opens and a bunch of oil spills out of it. Gross.

Ignore the oil spill and kill the imp
John gets a bunch of shale
At the end of the path is a fallen tree bridge that leads to a new island.

Cross it.
A grey squid imp in princess clothes and a harlequin hat blocks the way.

Death to the imp!!
It drops a single piece of mercury.
From where you are, you can see the gauntlet hands and sassacrusher. Apparently you are in a previously inaccessible section of the first island.

Click the sassacrusher.
What in blue blazes is this absurd looking thing?

Click the message.
You have deactivated your Ghost Gauntlets for the time being. It gets pretty distracting flailing them around all the time when all you're trying to do is explore.

Follow the path to the north.
It opens into a clearing with a large grey pipe embedded in the ground. Black stuff flows into the pipe. Or perhaps out of it. Beyond the pipe is a grey harlequin imp.

Click the pipe.
Peer into large opening?
You think you can make out a very faint noise below. Is it... snoring?

The spirograph flashes. Click it.
John: nanna, there are more imps than ever down here, and they seem to be getting stronger.
Nannasprite: Yes, dear. There are plenty of imps up here too. I had to start giving them some cookies because I baked too many. I hope you don't mind!
John: no that's ok. also they look different.
Nannasprite: That is because a new prototyping has taken place.
John: huh?
Nannasprite: Your pretty young friend has joined you in the Medium!
John: whoa, wait, rose is here? where is she? will i find her down here somewhere???
Nannasprite: oh, settle down, all of you. there are more than enough cookies to go around.
John: nanna! dammit, will you stop messing around with those stupid imps for a second!
John: nanna? sigh...

Smash the imp with your hammer.
It drops a piece of build grist.

There is a full pyxis nearby. Open it.
You got an Elegant Pipe!
It's literally just a small grey pipe. Luckily you have space in your captchalogue for it. Never know when a small pipe will come in handy.

There's a cobblestone bridge across a river that leads to another island to the north. Take it.
A princess squid imp blocks the path.

It's time to smash some imp face!
It drops three small pieces of build grist.

Just north of it, there is a filled pyxis. You have no space in your captchalogue but open it anyway.
You got an Exquisite Pipe!
Drop another shoe in the pyxis to make room for it.

The path curves to the west. A salamander holding a harlequin statue and a black imp with a princess hat and a grey jacket stand at a junction. One path goes north and the other south.

Kill the imp, then worry about the salamander.
It drops some build grist and shale.

Try hitting the salamander with the hammer, just to see what happens.
Why would you even think that, you monster? Besides. The game won’t even let you.

Talk to the salamander with the statue. And don’t hit it.
Wanna buy this? It fell from Skaia. I guarantee it.
An option appears.
Buy harlequin figurine?
Yes? No?

Click yes.
Ok that will be 5 million Boondollars. Oh what you don't have that much? Ha ha ha of course not no one does! It's impossible.

Click no.
Fine I'll just be over here sitting pretty with this choice clown thing or whatever it is. And you will be there wallowing in pitiable destitution.

Ignore this shrewd businessman… er, business salamander? Either way, ignore it and keep following the path north.
A new section of the map loads. A salamander stands nearby.

Talk to the salamander.
Glub!!! That's my way of saying go over there and check it out. 'Glub' can basically mean anything
I want it to mean. It's really cool having a bullshit language.

Pass the salamander and go to the northwest.
There’s an empty pyxis next to the edge of the island, which is apparently a plateau that looks out over more of the planet. An alert with the telescope in it bounces to the west of the pyxis.

Juggle your captchalogue until you have access to the telescope.
The view through the telescope pans up from the rocky plains with glowing plants and mushrooms and moves over a tall dirt spire with John’s house at the top, reaching up above the clouds. So this was what was below the ash. Not void, but the salamanders and the Land of Wind and Shade.

The spirograph flashes. Click it.
John: nanna, are you there?
Nannasprite: Yes!
John: i just saw my house from below. what gives? why did the gate take me down here?
Nannasprite: All the gates do, John. To ascend, each time you must first descend!
John: huh. alright. so i guess i scramble around down here until... uh, until what?
Nannasprite: Until you find the next gate. It is hidden somewhere in the Land.
John: ok, so i get to that gate and go in. then what? where does it take me? uh... further up maybe? but i haven't even built that high yet.
Nannasprite: So you see why you had to build in the first place, John? You must have a little faith in your dear old nanna!
John: yeah, well, i do nanna but i'm still not really getting it. does the next gate down here take me back up to the house or something?
John: please don't say hoo hoo hoo
Nannasprite: HOO. HOO HOO.

The salamander now stands closer to the edge. Talk to it.
That weird white boxy thing appeared up there a little while ago. Then it gradually became even boxier, and also taller. They say that's where the Heir lives. Who's they? Wise folk I guess. Maybe elders or something like that. Man I don't know. Also, isn't it funny how I'm sort of taking your existence here in stride? I'm treating it like it's no big deal.

Leave the lookout.
Now go down the south path instead.
A fallen tree makes a bridge over one of the black rivers. Cross it and keep following the path.

Now you’re in another previously inaccessible section of the first island. A set of stairs is at the north end of the path and makes a bridge over a river. On the bridge is another chunk of purple something. You have no choice but to pick it up as you cross the bridge. Leave whatever falls out on the ground. You can come back for it in a minute. There’s a salamander and a filled pyxis just northeast of the bridge.

Go talk to the salamander.
This thing right here? You have never seen a Parcel Pyxis?
Incomprehensible! Ok I'll play your pretend game for a minute. It is a receptacle connected to our network of Pipes. We use them to send stuff to different places. They are fully intertwined with our customs and social practices.
If there is something we want, we chisel it on a minitablet and drop it in. Who receives it? Hard to say! But if you encounter a minitablet and you possess what is chiseled on it, it is considered only polite to drop it in the Pyxis!
Similarly, if you encounter a Parcel Pyxis that has a prize in it already, you are obligated to keep the prize for yourself! Consider it to be a gift to you from the Breeze. This is just the way things work...
Whenever one of us is standing near one of these, we feel compelled to give this little speech about it.

Open the pyxis.
You got a minitablet!
This tablet has a shoe carved in it. Luckily you saved one. Juggle your captchalogue cards until you can get at a shoe.

Dump the two carved tablets on the ground. You already fulfilled their requests, so you won’t need them again. Then go pick up the item you dropped for the chunk of purple stuff.

Follow the path west and kill the cat princess imp in your way.
John gets three little pieces of build grist.

To the west of where the imp was is an oil splattered, decapitated frog statue. A chunk of purple stuff sits in front of it, a salamander stands to the west of it, and a black harlequin imp in a grey jacket stands to the southwest.

Grab the chunk, then slaughter the imp!
The imp drops two massive pieces of shale and a little bit of build grist.

A piece of the light blue cube grist sits on the ground behind the salamander. Grab it.

Okay, now talk to the salamander.
Look at this! Another Cherished Idol profaned! Such sacrilege has become commonplace with the recent glut of Underlings. It would bring a tear to my eye if I were not so clearly fit to be tied with these hyperactive mannerisms and severe attention deficit oh my god look a bug.

Click the statue.
This was sacred and precious. It is very sad to look at now.
Click the message.
A black and blue text box appears.
Looks like the imps made short work of it. Or judging by the damage to the stone, probably something bigger. Man these guys must really hate frogs.

The spirograph flashes. Click it.
John: what's up with this thing?
Nannasprite: Amphibious and reptilian life forms play a special role in your quest, John.
John: what kind of role? like frogs and stuff?
Nannasprite: ESPECIALLY frogs, John.
John: (several question marks)

To the southwest of the statue and salamander is a cobblestone path. It is the first cobblestone path you found, the one on the first island. No need to go back there.

Make your way back around to the exit stairs. Just ignore the imps on the way.

Go up the stairs.
Nannasprite: John, this will lead you to new frontiers in this Land. Are you sure you are done with this place and ready to move on? There may have been some things you missed!
It gives you an option
Exit?
Yes? No?

You could stay in this walkaround if you wanted to, but everything’s been done.

Click Yes.
The screen goes black. End of walkaround.

In the mystic ruins of an era pre-desecration...

An ancient Time Capsule has blossomed. You find nested in its petals a juice-stained sburb Beta once belonging to one of your friends.

What will you do?

Jade: Take the discs.

You captchalogue the sburb Beta. It uneventfully tucks itself into your sylladex.

You think you're getting kind of bored with this fetch modus. You like to mix it up now and then. Maybe you'll peruse your selection and try out another one.

[Note: “Peruse your selection” is a link to Jade: Set modus, which is the page where all of her modi were shown.]

Jade: Switch to Jenga modus.

You swap your modus to Jenga, ejecting your sylladex in the process.

Looks like the Time Capsule has reset itself. It is sprouting a new bud. Presumably something else will come out when it blooms again in about 400 years.

Too bad you won't be around to find out what it is!

Next

[Image description: a tower of white jenga blocks appears next to her. She captchalogues the tangle buddies and the card splits into three. Three blocks in the jenga tower turn pink.]

Your modus grabs the 18 cards needed to set itself up. It divides each card into three Captchalogue Blocks.

You begin picking up your items. The item is captchalogued, chopped into three blocks, and distributed randomly into the block tower.

Next

[Image description: All of Jade’s items are the in the sylladex now. She stands next to the tower of blocks, which has three blocks highlighted pink.]

You gather up the rest of your items. Might as well try it out!

You go for all the blocks containing your Tangle Buddies.
Careful... careful...

Next

[Image description: Jade teeters for a moment, then collapses forward onto the tower, asleep. The Jenga logo flashes on screen, then all of Jade’s items explode out around her. Fertilizer is everywhere and the tangle buddies land on top of her.]

Jade: Switch to Pictionary modus.

[Image description: Jade sits up with the tangle buddies still on her head. The Pictionary fetch modus is in the top right corner.]

Yeah, that one's obviously not going to work.

You switch to Pictionary, a choice based on a strong whim from the mysterious ethers of democracy.

[Note: the phrase “mysterious ethers of democracy” opens a page that shows the results of a poll. Pick Jade's new modus Boggle 3% [7]
Pictionary 21% [48]
Monopoly 11% [25]

Clue 19% [42]
Connect Four 2% [5]
Jenga 17% [39]
Battleship 10% [23]
Ouija 7% [17]
Guess Who 4% [8]
Operation 4% [10]

Jade: Try out new Pictionary modus.

[Image description: Jade looks at her lunchtop, which has a red angry face alert over it. She jumps on top of the lunchtop and kicks the alert off screen, then pulls out a tablet that looks like a green and white captchalogue card.]

Ok, you start by trying to grab your Lunchtop.

After you ditch an unwelcome solicitor first, that is.

You've got to concentrate here!

Jade: Draw Lunchtop.

[Image description: It shows the tablet, which has a rough drawing of the lunchtop on it. Off to the left side, there are several buttons. There are 4 rectangular ones in a row, then a round one within a circle, and another set of rectangular ones. All the rectangular ones have strange symbols next to them.]

You draw a really nice looking Squiddle lunchbox on the Captchalogue Scribblepad.

Next
The modus recognizes what you were trying to draw and snaps it right up. Nice going!

Jade: Captchalogue the beta.

Look at these fabulous beta envelopes you just drew!

Your sylladex thinks they are fabulous too!

YEAH!!!!!!!!!!!!

Jade: Quick! Random scribbling!

You do a very quick doodle of nothing in particular.

The Scribblepad appears to be processing the shapes.

Next

Is that... Is that Charles Dutton?

Next

Since you do not actually have a Dutton Photo lying around, the pad captchalogue a Dutton Photo Ghost Image. It is not a tangible item, and can never be used ever. It seems to be more of an imprint on the card itself, like a watermark.

However, the back of the card does seem to contain a viable Captcha Code for a real Dutton Photo, for whatever it’s worth.

Which is very little.

Jade: Draw a pumpkin.
You sketch a beautiful, succulent Pumpkin, knowing perfectly well that a Pumpkin Ghost Image will be captchalogue, because you are quite sure there is not a Pumpkin in this room, and there surely never will be.

Next

[Image description: She holds the pad, which shows a ghost image of a pumpkin. A second image shows the pad itself with the Yay crossed out.]

You captchalogue a Pumpkin Ghost Image.

At least you have the Captcha Code for it on the back in case you ever want to replicate a real one.

Next

[Image description: It shows the back of the card, which has a pink and green checkerboard background with green and white lines crossing it. There are hundreds of letters and numbers on it, but they're all washed out or very small. There is no code for a pumpkin.]

oh nooooooo

Jade: Get the rest of your items.

[Image description: It shows the pad with a drawing of tangle buddies on it, which the pad analyzes. A second image shows the drawing replaced with two intertwined gloves with coins where the squiddles eyes were.]

You start by drawing your Tangle Buddies.

But... it looks like it's having trouble understanding the shapes?

Darn! You wanted those!

Jade: Captchalogue bass on card with Dutton ghost image.

[Image description: Jade stands by the Eclectic Bass. A second image shows a slightly inaccurate drawing of it on the pad.]

It's not up to you to say what card it goes on! The modus decides! All you get to do is draw.

Anyway you try sketching your Eclectic Bass. It's kind of hard to draw accurately.

Next

[Image description: The drawing pops into an image of a normal bass. A second image shows a more detailed drawing of the eclectic bass.]

No, that's just a ghost image of an ordinary bass. That's not right.

You try again, focusing on getting all the mechanical details just right.

Next

[Image description: The drawing pops into a ghost image of a robot of some sort. It has a spindly body, two triangular treads for movement, and thin arms with three fingers.]
A.RGH!

Next

[Image description: Bec appears in the room in a green flash and Jade turns to look at him.]

Oh No Busted.

The jig is up.

Next

[Image description: Bec flashes green, then expands. As he passes over the room, it changes to Jade’s bedroom. Once he’s done with his magical teleporting, she stands on her bed.]

You are returned to your bedroom without the rest of your loot. You doubt you'll have time to go back and get it. You guess you have inadvertently left your own time capsule there for whatever party may find it in the future. Lucky bastards!

Jade: Install Beta.

[Image description: Jade sits on her bed and types at the holographic keyboard on her lunchtop. Two beams of green light hold the server and client CDs and a rectangle flashes various points of the loading screen.]

You get started installing both discs. Might as well get a jump on it to avoid the sort of future drama that results from poor time management decisions.

Jade: Pester chums.

[Image description: The pesterchum client appears and Jade looks upset. In the Trollslum, three names flash. carcinoGeneticist arachnidsGrip terminallyCapricious]

In the meantime you decide to touch base with your pals.

Ugh, no, not those pals. The Trollslum can just sit tight for now.

John: Pester Rose.

E.B: hi jade!
guess where i am.
G.G: are you on the ground below the clouds yet?
E.B: yeah!
wait how did you know that's where the gate goes...
did you talk to rose? can she still see me while i’m down here?
she won't answer.
G.G: no i haven’t talked to her yet but id like to soon ive got a lot of catching up to do with all of you!
sorry ive been so scarce ive just been so busy running around like crazy and looking after my dog and stuff all day!!!!
i think he just locked me in my room actually (uncertain face)
E.B: oh man.
he sounds like such a handful.
G.G: yeah
E.B: but it’s ok, i think he is mostly just looking after you.
like a guardian angel or something.
if i were you i would take him out behind the woodshed and give him a big hug.
G.G: (Very happy face)
hey john can you hold on i have to talk to dave and start playing this game with him
E.B: oh? what game?
G.G: sburb!!!! duh what else!
E.B: what, i thought you didn't even know what sburb was!
G.G: oh jeez i was asleep when i said that silly!
of course i know what it is E.B: oh ok.
where did you even get it?
G.G: from the ruins its daves copy
E.B: wow.
the thing you just said doesn't even make the slightest bit of sense.
G.G: i know right! hehehe
oh!!!!
that reminds me since i'm setting the game up with dave to be his server you are going to need to do the same thing for me E.B: oh really?
this is news to me.
G.G: can you see from where youre standing the place your dads car would have fallen?
E.B: oh yeah, i think so. it'll be kind of a long walk though, this place is huge.
G.G: you should go there and get your copy of the server and set up with me.....
oh and also get your package!!!!!! (smiley face)
E.B: okay.
wait, how did you know my dad's car fell down here?
G.G: johhhhn will you stop trying to trap me!!!
you TOLD me the car fell remember?
jeeez
E.B: jeeeeeeeeeetz!
G.G: JEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEZ!!!!!
E.B: ok fine well color me suspicious anyway.
miss knowitall mcpsychicpants.
G.G: john im not any more psychic than you though E.B: ok sure i am convinced.
you have convinced me.
(PSYCHIC PSYCHIC PSYCHIC)
also i told you the package was in the car but i never mentioned that the game was there too.
so kind of totally busted i guess.
GIVE ME A P
GIVE ME AN S
G.G: hahahaha oops ok!
i mean i know lots of things but im really serious its no more information than what you have access to but you dont know it yet anyway we can talk more about it soon..... i wont have to be so coy with you anymore because i’m pretty sure most of the stuff that was supposed to happen has already happened
i couldnt tell you about it because it would have messed it up!
E.B: ok, that is fair.
G.G: just give me a few minutes while i set up this game!
and say hi to the salamanders for me this is the little word humans say repeatedly when something tickles their absurdity palate, right?

E.B: uh...

C.G: we never lost you.
your ruse didn't fool us.
it just so happens we didn't particularly give a shit about talking to you in that timeframe.
E.B: what, the last few months?
C.G: we have the entire continuum of your existence to choose from when contacting you.
the period was unremarkable.
sort of like your whole life. But I guess I mean it was especially unremarkable.
this has been explained to you so often it would make me sick to my human stomach if I had one of your human stomachs.
E.B: ok, this time i'll believe you that you aren't human.
because the skepticism center of my brain is starting to wear kind of thin i guess.
but you're still a major asshole and i don't actually want to talk to you, so bye.
C.G: wait.
but I'm not here to troll you this time.
we're friends ok?
E.B: hahahahahaha!
oh man, look at this outburst of little human words i'm saying!
from my human mouth!
C.G: fine you can think I'm a fucking douche and maybe I am but here's the fact, idiot.
I've already had lots of conversations with you.
in the future. I mean your future.
I've kind of been working backwards here for a while.
and it's a little frustrating.
every time I go further back you know less and less, and you don't remember anything I said because it hasn't happened yet.
and I have to repeat myself a lot.
and I'm getting pretty fucking sick of it.
E.B: that's the dumbest thing i've ever heard.
C.G: well it's not like I mapped out this trolling onslaught very well in advance.
I mean, when you troll someone you just sort of do it. You don't start drawing flowcharts and diagrams and stuff.
E.B: wait...
you have something to do with this game, don't you?
i should have known.
C.G: oh god.
not again.
no, fuck no, I am just not going to explain this to you again.
you'll get plenty of dirt on all this from me in future conversations.
tedious conversations.
one's I've already had with you.
where your demeanor will gradually become inexplicably and revoltingly friendly towards us.
and so I guess it just was kind of infectious and now we're all buddies I think.
it's really weird.
this human emotion you call friendship.
E.B: friendship isn't an emotion fucknuts.
C.G: see, that is what I'm talking about.
you're much more tolerable a guy than I thought at first, ok john?
E.B: why are you kissing my ass?
what do you want? why don't you just tell me what's going on.
are you in the medium?
C.G: ok, fine. Yes we are.
E.B: like, here in this land, with the clouds and oil and stuff?
C.G: more of this narcissism.
you always think everything revolves around you.
we have nothing to do with your dumb little windy planet or your petty little quests.
or for that matter your entire game session.
you aren't the only ones playing the game.
every group of players gets their own distinct, blank slate session.
as will be explained to you many times.
E.B: so why don't you just explain it again so i know...
so i don't ask so much in the future???
C.G: no.

fuck this shit, just no.
I'm ending this conversation because I've said it all too many times.
and because you can't understand.
because you are dumb.
E.B: wow, yeah you're totally not trolling me, bro!
i see now we are bffs forever.
C.G: the fact that you are dumb
is an immutable fact I am stating for the record.
it does not mean animosity is what is taking place here.
E.B: oh, ok.
so what do you want.
C.G: I need you to tell your friend jade to talk to us.
she won't answer our messages in this timeframe.
it's important.
E.B: yeah, i don't blame her for not answering.
she pretty much can't stand you guys.
because of all the trolling you did before.
remember?
C.G: ok, our bad on that.
just tell her we're sorry.
and to get her gross and totally unattractive human butt off her ugly human high horse and answer my messages.
E.B: maybe.
we'll see.
i'm still not really sold on this friendship thing yet.
but i've got to go now and get on with my petty little quests.
so talk to you in the future i guess.

T.T: I've done nothing but wait for boys to play this game with me all day.
First John lollygagging with the client, and then you with the server, downright filibustering my existence with unending fraternal melee.
And yet a girl, one who didn't even own the game, was able to connect with you minutes after you connected with me.
T.G: whoa wait
what the hell is she doing she’s taking my bed what the hell
T.T: And there she goes.
She HAS the karma.

T.G: so seriously what were you doing just now
T.T: I was talking to someone.
T.G: who
T.T: You remember the trolls?
T.G: yeah
T.T: One of them messaged me, so I indulged him slash her slash it for a moment.
T.G: oh i see you opted to chat up one of those dbags instead of talk to the guy who saved you from a swirling shitstorm of angry flaming wizards
i was worried your priorities might have been out of whack but no i was dead wrong
T.T: I also took a moment to check on John.
T.G: how is he
T.T: I can't see him anymore. Just his empty house.
But I did talk to him briefly.
T.G: i should probably text him soon see whats up because i love him
T.T: I know.
T.G: so this place youre at now its the same place he's at right T.T: It's hard to say for certain.
But I think I like it here.

Jade: Replace television with totem lathe.

[Image description: Jade selects the totem lathe. A second image shows it in place in the living room. It’s crushing a blue smuppet and pinning a red one to the wall.]

Jade: Organize Dave's puppets.

[Image description: Jade starts to click the green smuppet on the edge of the futon, but she pulls away.]

This whole place is a disorganized mess. It kind of reminds you of your room but full of weird and ironic stuff instead of cute and great stuff. Your stuff is so much better.

You're pretty sure these are all Dave's Bro’s puppets. You better not mess with them. Frankly his brother makes you a little nervous.

Jade: Tidy up Strider's apartment a little.

[Image description: It shows the bathroom. Jade picks up a towel and drags it into the toilet with a slosh.]

What the apartment needs is a woman's touch. You grab a Towel you found lying around and dampen it with water from the toilet. This is how ordinary people clean ordinary houses, right?

Oops, you dropped it.

[Image description: The song Endless Climb begins to play. Pastel yellow clouds with baby pink shadows rush towards, then past the viewer. Beams of sunlight cross a pastel blue sky. The clouds all rain down onto a vibrant turquoise sea. Smooth white rocks stick out of the water occasionally. The entire scene feels very dream-like. Text appears at the bottom of the screen.
Land of Light and Rain}
The scene fades to white, then fades back in with the direction changed. Now, the clouds and rocks fly across the screen to the left and the rocks are larger and more frequent. The movement slows as it reaches a small island with small, black, leafless bushes and baby pink rubble on it. The scene fades to white, then to Rose as a white silhouette against the rain. Her headband, eyes, and the squiddle on her shirt flash rapidly pink, blue, and yellow. It fades to white again, then to the broken Zazzerpan statue half buried in white sand. It fades to Rose standing on her roof and zooms out.

Her house is on the largest island among a collection of smaller islands. Four streams of pastel yellow, blue, and pink water pour down from somewhere offscreen onto the north side of her island. It combines into a pastel river, which flows under her house like the waterfall did on earth. A small river branches off from it before it goes under the house and flows down along the east side of the house.

The Land of Light and Rain is to Rose what the Land of Wind and Shade is to John.

A.R: Cautiously drink TAB.

[Image description: A.R pours the can of tab into his mouth. His teeth are very sharp.]

Blech. Too warm. Need to find something to chill this down with.

Something to heat up your delicious Gravy would be nice too.

A.R: Retrieve mysterious artifacts from ruins.

[Image description: W.V and P.M watch as A.R walks away from them. This makes W.V very distressed. A second image shows A.R in the ruins, holding an old cookalizer and refrigerator. Two squiddles pressed together as Tangle Buddies lay on the floor nearby. They are just as dirty and faded as the cookalizer and refrigerator. A speech bubble over his head switches between a picture of P.M and the tangle buddies.]

You excuse yourself for a moment and retrieve a few of your personal belongings. These should really impress your visitors.

That musty old toy on the floor ought to make a nice peace offering for the feisty tall one too. You are quite certain that ladies like squishy useless things like that.

W.V: Introduce new friends to John.

[Image description: W.V stands in the hole A.R blew in his facility, waving his arms. P.M still stands near where they ate.]

The yellow bandaged fellow seems to have slogged off somewhere. But the tall mail carrier with the lovely white complexion would probably get a kick out of your big computer with the weird boy on it.

You show her inside.

The left side has a grey frog flanked by two small spirographs. An arrow points from the frog to each. Underneath that, there is a dial currently set to the spirograph on the right. There is also a control panel with a single, blue button in the center. The front of it has three lights on the right side. On the floor is a circular design with a spirograph in it.]
The hole blown into the station by the caution guy's rocket leads into the third room, which had been locked.

Unsurprisingly there is another sort of gizmo in here and you have no idea what it does. The station is very low on power so you don't think you'll be able to find out.

But instead she takes note of your nice chalk drawings and pays you a compliment.

You are somewhat mystified by the fact that she is be more impressed by your silly drawings than your amazing technology.

Maybe simple things are the key to the heart of a lady. You do not know because you do not know anything about ladies really. They are a riddle draped in a mystery wrapped in post-apocalyptic shroudwear.

You stop and examine the kind mayor's device. It is quite similar to the one in your station, before the unfortunate accident. The one with the familiar looking girl on it. Perhaps this one is best left alone.

Still, there is something familiar about the boy on this monitor too.

I am told your name is John. Is that correct?

Yep. That's right.

It's nice to meet you, John.

John isn't directly cognizant of your greeting, but I'm sure he would feel likewise.

Ok, John. Let's explore this place!

Ok, have at it! If you're at a loss, click the controller button up there.

This may or may not mean anything to you depending on your current perspective.

This is great! Something is in there. Take a look.

You got a minitablet!

There is nothing inside. Should we put something in?

You drop in one of your precious Shoes. You hate to see it go, but you have to follow the custom and give it what the tablet asks for.

This one's empty. Perhaps a delivery is in order?
Same with this one you guess. At least this Hat didn't technically belong to your Dad. You made it yourself.

Introduce yourself to the local amphibious fauna.

"I am a secret wizard. Behold my robes."

Behold robes?

[Introductory text: It zooms in close on the salamander’s face.]

You wonder what the hell a secret wizard is. You don’t think you’ll ask him for your bedsheets back. Hooray! This one contains a prize!

[Introductory text: John stands by the pyxis on the island in the lake. One of the commands is on screen. Hooray! This one contains a prize! Another success for the postal system. A second image shows him standing in front of the pyxis with the uncarved tablet on the ground next to him.]

You got a Chunk Of...

Why am I repeating myself?

Converse.

[Introductory text: John stands near the salamander with the crumpled top hat. A message is on screen. Converse. A second image shows a blue and black text box on screen. I have renamed myself Crumplehat. I have dishonored my ancestors beyond comprehension with this frivolous accessory.}

John: huh. alright. so i guess i scramble around down here until... uh, until what?
Nannasprite: Until you find the next gate. It is hidden somewhere in the Land.
John: ok, so i get to that gate and go in. then what? where does it take me? uh... further up maybe? but i haven't even built that high yet.
Nannasprite: So you see why you had to build in the first place, John? You must have a little faith in your dear old nanna!
John: yeah, well, i do nanna but i'm still not really getting it. does the next gate down here take me back up to the house or something?

It has a tiny mouth with three sharp teeth and three horns in a row on it’s head, almost like a mohawk. The last horn is cut off by the edge of the panel. It is dressed in brightly colored harlequin clothes like many of the other creatures have been. The other two creatures are Tar Basilisks, which look like snakes with legs. They have the same type of head as the snake-like ones on Grandpa Harley’s wall. One wears harlequin clothes and a harlequin hat and the other wears a princess outfit. The harlequin one breathes fire and the princess one sticks out its forked tongue. Several salamanders flail in distress, trapped in the burning village by the creatures. Beyond the village, the path continues into the forest.]

You discover a couple of Unauthorized Parcels in the cabin of the vehicle. You confiscate them immediately.

You are a simple Parcel Mistress on one of your routes. Today is another day of uneventful but highly satisfying deliveries.

You stop in your tracks. It is a dangerous Agent from the enemy kingdom. Perhaps you should avoid him.

But you notice he is holding two parcels. You recognize one of them. You have spent a long time looking for it.

It looks like you are going to need to get that package from him somehow.

[Image description: John stares, blinking occasionally.]

You could have sworn that strange man was holding your copy of Colonel Sassacre's.

It is a clear and peaceful night. A delicious meal has been shared with new friends. The glow of the ammunition fire gradually subsides. All is well.

But you can't shake the feeling there is something familiar about all this. There is something you are forgetting.

Next

Of course. Now you remember.

You must deliver a message to John right away.

Next

You conclude you have no choice. You will march right up to him and ask politely for the package.

Wait a minute...

What's this?

Next

It is a carved minitablet.

The carving is not especially clear to say the least. But your wealth of delivery experience allows you to decipher it immediately.

It is the other parcel the agent is holding. It appears you will need to acquire both from him now. It is your sworn duty.

P.M (question mark): Ready sword.
You do not have a sword. You are quite sure it would never occur to you to carry a sword or resort to violence under any circumstance.

You will have to take a more diplomatic route with this fellow.

A.R (question mark): Doff your hat to the attractive female.

You doff so furiously you are in danger of starting a Hat Fire.

Probably not the best idea around all this oil. Especially without any sort of flame suppressant handy.

P.M (question mark): Retrieve both parcels.

He cannot give them to you. They are Illegal Contraband, and if you wish to petition for their release, you must consult with his superiors.

W.V: Become the mayor of Exile Town.

[Image description: W.V kneels among a new, grander Can Town… er, Exile Town. The town hall is still roofed by the half-eaten manners book, but now it rests on top of two mailboxes which, in turn, rest on his pumpkin. Inside the back mailbox is the happy orange. The flower pot is on top of the city hall again, but now the flag is an envelope stuck under the binding of W.V’s ruler-knife combo. Mailboxes, cans, and bullets are stacked all around along lines in the sand that make streets and a plaza around the city hall. A.R stands behind W.V, who holds A.R’s gavel. A bit of caution tape is stretched between two stacked pairs of Tab cans in front of the city hall.]

You build a bigger and better town to preside over. All expatriates are welcome, no matter what happened in the past, regardless of professional persuasion or metallurgical affiliation. You cut the town's ribbon with an official Judicial Bayonet, which is stuck inside a grenade but you are kind of nervous about removing it.

This should catch the eye of the tall nice lady.

The grumpy yellow guy thinks this is dumb.

Next

[Image description: A.R turns around and looks at a bunch of bullets and small rockets he’s lined up in the sand.]

He thinks it is dumb because any town without a proper militia is as good as conquered.

As such he prepares one begrudgingly. It's a dirty job, but someone must be charged with the defense of the innocent.

W.V: Fondly regard desert night.

[Image description: W.V looks up at the sky. It changes to a view of the stars and suddenly a massive egg-shaped facility appears in a burst of red lightning. A red shockwave bursts out from it, then disappears.]

The stars twinkle over the freshly christened Exile Town. It is a beautiful evening and the future is so full of promise you can't imagine what could possibly oh my god a huge eggy looking thing just appeared in the sky.

Jade: Give Dave punch card of an eggy looking thing [sic].

Ok, you do that and then he makes a totem with it and then some other stuff happens and then...

EGG!

Dave: Pester Jade.

pesterlog
T.G: oh man awesome its awesome where you put that i was worried we were on the verge of getting some shit done
G.G: duuurrrrrr dave i was going to build some stairs up there duurrrrrhhhhhh T.G: well where are they you say there will be stairs and yet
i see no stairs
G.G: gosh i dont know i guess i didn’t find the time to make them because i keep getting punched in the face by robots and stuff!!!!!!!
T.G: sorry
G.G: (winky face sticking out tongue)
T.G: am i supposed to break that thing or hatch it or what
G.G: i dont know!
T.G: also what happened to all my shit the stuff scattered all over the roof did you put it somewhere
G.G: nope....
T.G: i mean not that i care
it was a lot of mostly useless garbage
G.G: what was it doing up here?
T.G: i was going to use it to fight my bro with but i guess i forgot in the heat of battle also he was too fast

Dave: Make the world's largest omlette.
Whoops, looks like that dumb idea isn't going to happen!

A brainless feathery asshole swoops down and carries the egg away.

T.G: ok so

G.G: i think your sprite wants to hatch it!
awww
T.G: do you think that'll take more than four hours
G.G: hmm...
i dont know it looks like its pretty warm where you are T.G: its hot as the sizzle side of the steak
G.G: maybe not too long then????
i guess we'll find out!
T.G: maybe i should try to get it back and put it in the microwave
G.G: (sad face)

Next

The kernelsprite hovers above the radio tower behind the AC unit. It has collected all the junk Dave left on the roof and piled it up there. A second image zooms in, showing the egg sitting in the pile.

Jade: Deploy Punch Designix.

Jade drops the microwave full of smuppets, several single smuppets, and a game bro magnet off the side of the building.

You can't! You'll need some Shale for that.

Jade: Check unknown objects.

Next to the designix is the Jumper Block Extension, which costs 1000 build grist. It looks like a captchalogue card shaped prism with 8 black slots set in an indentation. Next to the Jumper Block Extension is a white CD with a green hexagon on it that costs 100 build grist. On the next row is the punch card shunt, which is a red captchalogue card shaped machine with a slot in the bottom. It costs 10 build grist. Next to that is the holopad, which costs 10,000 build grist.
looks like a round platform with a hexagonal symbol on it. Connected to it is a slanted control panel. The last item is the Intellibeam Laserstation, which looks like a laser cutter of some sort. It costs 100,000 build grist. Behind the menu, Dave still types on his phone.

pesterlog
G.G: ok some of these things we can deploy but some things we dont have nearly enough grist for!
T.G: you mean the jumper block thing
G.G: no no weve got enough for that..... but its still pretty expensive T.G: wait what the thing costs 1000 for me
G.G: yeah me too!
and we have 2000 to work with G.G: ok 1998 (shamed face)
T.G: what man i only got 200 to splash around with in roses rainbow world what the hell
G.G: ohhh...
how much did rose start with? when she was playing with john?
T.G: hang on ill ask
G.G: k
T.G: she says 20
G.G: i guess we keep getting more with each server/client connection!
T.G: yeah
so i guess you can buy everything now
G.G: no!!!! i cant buy the holopad thingy and the intellibeam laserstation
T.G: ok now i know youre making this shit up G.G: hahahaha no theyre right here!
they cost a fortune
T.G: well all i got here is the designix which i cant deploy cause i dont have any purples and the expensive as hell jumper thing and the cheap shunts which i assume do dick all without the jumpers to put em on T.G: oh also this cd which is 100 but i didnt drop cause it seemed like a stiff allocation of resources for now
G.G: yeah ive got that too!
i will deploy it
T.G: so with each new connection in our player chain i guess new weird deployables are introduced G.G: yes i think that is how it works when john connects with me he will probably get some cool new things too!
T.G: hey look we're learning stuff

Jade: Deploy green and white compact disc.

[Image description: Jade sets the CD down on the roof in front of Dave. This brings the grist cache down to 1898 build grist.]

pesterlog
T.G: what should i do with these beta copies
i dont really need them anymore
G.G: i suppose just hang on to them for a while.......and then later just do whatever you are naturally compelled to do with them!
T.G: wow that was a weird answer but ok

Next

[Image description: Dave puts the CD in card 5 of his sylladex and the Beta in card 6.]

You take the Beta and the CD.

Jade: Deploy circuit board looking thingy.

[Image description: Jade holds the Jumper Block Extension. A red ghost image of it flashes next to the alchemiter like it’s supposed to connect to it. This would put it over empty space because of the placement of the alchemiter.]

It was obviously labeled as the Jumper Block Extension.

It appears to be deployable only as an extension to the Alchemiter. Looks like you're going to have to move it.

Damn, and it looked so nice up there!

Next

[Image description: Jade moves the alchemiter from the top of the AC unit to the roof, bringing the grist cache down to 1798 build grist.]

You expend another relatively affordable 100 Build Grist to relocate it.

Next

[Image description: Jade sets down the Jumper Block Extension, leaving 798 build grist in the cache.]

You then pay the steep fee of 1000 Build Grist to deploy the Jumper Block Extension.

Jade: Attempt to deploy captchalogue disk drive.

[Image description: Jade sets down a red punch card shunt in front of Dave, who is standing by the alchemiter and extension. This brings the grist cache to 788.]

Again, the name of the thing was right there in plain sight.

You deploy the Punch Card Shunt for peanuts.

Looks like a captchalogue card is supposed to fit in the slot.

Dave: Insert card with the CD on the slot.

[Image description: The shunt now sits on the extension in the second slot from the right in the closest row to Dave. Part of a yellow card sticks out of the slot.]

You put the card in the slot and stick the shunt on the jumper pins.

Nothing happens. You might need to stick a punched card in there, probably allowing the holes in the card to affect the flow of current through the circuits. And to punch cards you'll need to get a designix somehow.

Dave: Insert disc into computer.

The first has a blue spirograph, the second a purple one, and the third a red one. The last one says Offline and has a white spirograph. In each column there are a few grey rectangles showing various types of grist, presumably what the player represented in that column has in their cache at the moment. The blue column has 13800 build grist, 10862 shale, 4058 tar, 1890 mercury, and 322 cobalt. The purple one has 154 build grist and 22 white cube grist. The red one has 788 build grist. The white offline one shows nothing. There are two white boxes at the bottom; a square one on the left and a rectangle that crosses the rest of the screen. The rectangle is empty, but the square shows details of the program.

You start leeching off John's Shale at a pace of 4 grist per second.

Not the fastest download rate, but then again you don't need a whole lot. In one second you already collect enough for a Punch Designix.

Dave: Download a bunch of grist from John. He has plenty.

[Image description: Dave begins downloading some of John’s build grist too.]

You set the application to leech off John's Build Grist because he's obviously got too much for his own good.

It cuts the download rate in half though.

You guide the Heir. Consult with him.

let me know ok.
T.T: I guess one could use those words to describe it.
If armed with a predilection for the inapt.
E.B: bluh bluh bluuuuuhhhhh.
ok, what words would you use, miss wordypants mcsmartybluh.
T.T: Eerily iridescent?
E.B: umm...
T.T: I certainly don't see any oily rivers.
There's an ocean though.
E.B: i haven't found an ocean yet.
but i dunno, the place is really big.
it's like a whole planet down here.
oh man, which reminds me.
i just got hounded by a troll.
T.T: Yes, one of them is bugging me now.
I thought it was odd timing.
E.B: yeah well, they say they want to be friends, also they're playing sburb but like not the same session as ours or something.
oh also they're moving backwards in time, which sounds really retarded, but whatever.
T.T: Color my curiosity piqued, I guess.
E.B: yeah, i guess answer him if you want. or not.
but anyway, it's great you made it here alive and stuff!
so dave came through?
T.T: Eventually.
Pardon the envy I'm about to vent in your direction.
E.B: for what?
T.T: For finding yourself at the mercy of a rational orchestrator.
E.B: oh, haha.
yeah, i'd feel kinda weird if dave was watching me too.
T.T: You don't feel weird when I watch you?
E.B: rose i feel weird when you're just TALKING to me, when you're watching me it's just like the T.T: I can't see you now, for what it's worth.

E.B: yes i'm freeeeeeeeee (very happy face) ok, i'm going to go over this river and through these woods.

she hates you and has left you forever heheheh (very happy face with wide eyes and furrowed eyebrows. It looks very mischievous.) T.T: now I'm confused.
on the surface, this appears to be another contrivance from a troll desperate to offend.
but john said you wanted to be friends.
and if you knew me, I suppose your remark could be construed as a ploy to elicit agreement.
and soon, rapport.
not that it would actually work.
Gc: god
you really do talk too much
T.T: so which is it?
Gc: ooooooooh your text smells good is that lavender
T.T: you smell words?
Gc: you dont???
Gc: yes its easy to forget given our "rapport" and how much we really have in common
I forget that you humans actually communicate with speech instead of releasing clouds of fragrant gases and smelling each others sentences
T.T: gross.
Gc: ahhaha so gullible
youll believe anything I tell you of course we talk dummy (mischievous smile with furrowed eyebrows)
T.T: still not sure if I'm being courted or trolled here.
Gc: im going to go with the latter
I hate you all quite a lot but I think the others will eventually realize that itll be mutually beneficial for us all to work together and so theyll probably be all friendly like later on T.T: by later on, you mean now?
Gc: yeah
thats probably what john was hearing and maybe theyll even mean it and want to be friendly but I intend to stay pissed at you forever
even if I seem helpful
T.T: then you're in luck.
because you don't.
Gc: hehe no but I will be the fact that I will be helpful
is an immutable fact I am stating for the record
it does not mean friendship is what is taking place here
T.T: John was told you were moving backwards through time. Was he gullible to believe this? Or is the fact that I'm asking just further indication of my own gullibility? Feel free to continue shifting the definition of the word to suit your convenience.

Gc: We haven't even been talking to you for long like a few minutes from my perspective if there are some of us who decided to start talking to you at the end of your adventure right off the bat instead of at the beginning like what's logical then that's their stupid business I'm staying linear cause weird time stuff gives me a headache oh also it's pointless

T.T: Alright, let's continue milking my human gullibility and say I believe you. You're the sensible one who's decided to communicate with us in linear lockstep with our timeline in order to help us out.

How can you help me?

Gc: You just entered your medium right

T.T: Yes.

Gc: Ok

T.T: Does it seem like there is a subtle voice in your head urging you to do things

T.T: Yes.

Gc: It's not so subtle, actually.

Gc: Yes!!!!!!! (open mouthed, wide eyed shocked face with furrowed eyebrows) For me too it was more loud and clear than for the others you see we are meant to be best hatefriends forever

T.T: A beautiful soulgrudge this cosmic was surely authored by the constellations.

Gc: They all thought I was crazy but hahaha it turned out we all were in our own ways that helped us realize the particular destinies the game put together for us in the vocabulary of like the hyper flexible mythology it tailors to each player group

T.T: You mean, for instance...

If a player were to learn she was a "seer"?

Gc: Yeah exactly! Seer of mind page of breath knight of blood maid of time etc etc etc 12 for us but obviously 4 for you every session is different

T.T: And this voice?

Gc: Oh yeah it's an exile

T.T: Exiled from what?

Gc: It took us forever to figure this out because they aren't meant to be an obvious aspect of the game they're on your dead planet just like they're on ours years after its reckoning their role is to help you on your quest in some ways the obvious way is by directly guiding your actions but maybe the more important ways are these little things they do probably without even realizing it actions that complete loops in the timeline cogs in paradox space
T.T: paradox space?
Gc: oh hell
listen the universe will eat paradoxes for breakfast and so will this game get used to it
by now you should realize this whole mess was a big self fullfilling clusterfuck a huge orgiastic mobius double reach around T.T: I'm starting to see that.
so the exiles are on earth? Does that mean our goal is to get back there too? To resurrect it somehow?
Gc: no no no
see ironically they get to do that after they're done helping you that is your job is of greater consequence to say the least but part of their job is to rebuild life and civilization there and if they're successful in thousands or millions of years the technology is unearthed and the planet is ripe for seeding all over again
T.T: you never answered the question. Where were they exiled from?
Gc: from the two kingdoms in the incipisphere expatriated during the reckoning former agents
T.T: what are agents?
Gc: I think
this will be more constructive if I contact you again in a little while when you know more and I don’t have to explain so much T.T: when?
Gc: in a couple of seconds for me
but not for you

paperwork around here.

Rose, I must leave now.

[Image description: It shows Rose’s screen with the sburb server and a chat with Dave open. sburb shows Nannasprite in John’s kitchen surrounded by piles of cookies and a few imps. The chat is T.G: so seriously what were you doing just now T.T: I was talking to someone.
T.G: who
T.T: You remember the trolls?
T.G: yeah
T.T: One of them messaged me, so I indulged him/her/it for a moment.
T.G: oh i see you opted to chat up one of those dbags instead of talk to the guy who saved you from a swirling shitstorm of angry flaming wizards

A message in the cursive is on screen.
Rose, I must leave now.]

This is the last you will hear from me.

[Image description: Rose stands at the end of the dock. Her laptop, hub, grimoire, and pillow still sit nearby, but she looks out to sea instead. Mutini sleeps on her newly vacated pillow as cats tend to do. There is a smudge of something black near the pillow. A message is on screen. Find your sprite. Realize your purpose.]

Next

[Image description: Rose looks thoughtfully off into the distance with a hand on her chin.]

You return to a more typical mindset. You suddenly feel empowered to make important decisions on your own without supervision. Parental or otherwise.

Rose: Sip martini thoughtfully.

[Image description: She still looks thoughtful, but now she holds her mom’s martini near her mouth.]

Such as this one.

Just a tiny sip couldn't hurt...

Next

[Image description: Rose rears back and shouts Bluh, dropping the martini, which hovers near her hand. The drawing is almost identical to how Dave imagined John reacting if he drank piss that he thought was apple juice.]

[Image description: It shows the red sand desert and a curved white wall that’s presumably part of the egg shaped facility that just landed. A white carapace appears in a gentle red pulse. She, unlike the other exiles, doesn’t appear to have improvised clothing. Her dress is faded, but neatly tailored. It wraps around her to a little above knee length in the front, but the hem comes to a point at about mid calf in the back. It comes to loose folds around the collar, where it has a hood that is currently pulled up. She seems tall compared to the other exiles and has very insect like limbs, though only}
A Windswept Questant suddenly appears.

[Image description: It zooms out, showing the Windswept Questant in front of her egg shaped facility.]

[Image description: W.V and A.R look at each other in surprise.]

P.M: Command John to put the carved tablet into a pyxis.

[Image description: P.M looks at the screen in W.V’s facility. John’s screen is on and shows him standing next to a pyxis in the Land of Wind and Shade.]

You follow the command telling you to command John to put the carved tablet in the pyxis and type, "John, put the carved tablet into the pyxis."

You successfully do that, and he successfully does that too. Everyone is friendly and cooperative.

Next

[Image description: P.M falls backwards as the ground shakes. The vibrating Egg text appears next to her.]

What the hell was that???

It almost sounded like a huge egg appeared in the sky and landed, and then someone mysterious teleported out of it.

P.M (question mark): Locate the Archagent.

[Image description: P.M stands in another section of the castle. In the background, there are the 3 screens Jack Noir used to view areas of the castle. Between them and P.M is a purple desk with piles of parking citations and the green package on it. A mannequin stands near the desk with a new outfit on it. The outfit consists of a dress with puffy pink sleeves, a round collar, a bodice made of the same jagged-edged fabric pieces as the previous outfit, and a pink skirt. It also has a pink hat with two cones on it that come together in a V shape. A piece of light pink fabric drapes down from one of the tips. On a yellow section of the bodice, there is a black spade symbol. This is presumably Jack’s new uniform. After all, Rose joined the session, so everything must be updated to match her sprite as well as John’s.]

You find the agent's office. But he is nowhere to be found.

You eye something on the desk there.

P.M (question mark): Grab the box and run!

[Image description: P.M stands near the desk, looking like she’s about to grab the package. Suddenly, she jumps and turns around. Jack noir comes on and glares at her. He isn’t wearing his colorful outfit anymore. Now he wears a simple black jacket with a striped collar and three buttons.]
If you act quickly enough maybe you can grab the package and get out of here before Can I Help You

Next

[Image description: Jack glares.]

Mr. Noir tells you that ticket had better be notarized and punched in triplicate and presented with the full boondollar penalty plus processing fees, or you are wasting valuable time he could otherwise spend shirking his clerical duties.

Next

[Image description: P.M sweats and drops the ticket. She looks very nervous.]

Ticket? Oh, this thing. Ha, ha, look at that, you are holding a ticket. How did that get in your hand? It belongs on the desk with the others. No, you are not here to pay a parking ticket.

You explain to the frightening man that you are here to pick up that green parcel.

Next

[Image description: Jack stands closer to P.M and holds a sword up. The sword looks like the one P.M wields in the Exiles era.]

Jack makes it clear he would rather stab something to death than process the avalanche of paperwork needed to release the confiscated freight. Also any legit courier would have the pickup forms ready to go. In spite of how he's supposed to be dressed now but isn't, he ain't nobody's fool.

Next

[Image description: Jack Noir holds out two white slips of paper. One has the crown symbol from the back of the throne and the other has the plus symbol with the horizontal line from the parking citation.]

But perhaps an Understanding can be reached.

He gives you a Hit List.

Next

[Image description: Jack hands P.M his sword. P.M holds it uncomfortably and looks at the white papers.]

Bring him the crowns. He'll give you the box.

Jack: Examine package.

[Image description: Jack holds the package and looks down at it.]

The Parcel Mistress departs with her mission of double agency. You wonder if she'll actually be so foolish as to attempt to uphold her end of the lopsided bargain. You make a policy of handing out a Regisword and a Hitlist to just about everyone who enters your office. But you never think anyone's actually going to Go Through with it.

You wish you could watch. She's a deadwoman.
You wonder why she's so desperate to acquire this package. What could be inside?

Jack: Open it.

[Image description: Jack’s eyes go wide as he looks down into the now open box, but the contents are still hidden from the reader’s view.]

Dave: Punch some cards.

You've leech more than enough grist from John to afford a Punch Designix, which for some reason Jade put in the hallway making it kind of hard to walk through your apartment, but whatever. You also have plenty of grist for messing around with the Alchemiter to manufacture some new gear if you want. But you'd like to figure out what the Jumper Block does first.

Jade keeps dropping a weird assortment of objects for you to captchalogue and punch. You've given up trying to identify any rhyme or reason to the thought process behind it.

Dave: Put a punched card in a shunt.

[Image description: Dave stands out by the extension. A card is in the slot again and it shows a picture of a blender on top of the shunt.]

You put the punched Blender card in a shunt just for the hell of it, and stick it on the jumper pins.

Next

[Image description: The laser scanner on the small platform is gone, replaced by a blender. The totem for the egg is inside the blender, which then turns on and grinds it into small cruxite chunks.]

The Alchemiter is fitted with the Blender Upgrade.

This upgrade doesn't seem all that useful. Looks like all it does is grind up your totems.

Dave: Use a punched Gamebro Magazine card.

The Alchemiter is upgraded with a huge metal bust of this awesome bro.

The device has been reduced to an utterly useless heap of shit.

Time to yank out all the shunts and start over.

Jade: Draw the punch designix.

Your inscrutable thought process leads you to draw the Punch Designix on your Scribblepad.

Next

[Image description: The drawing changes to a ghost captcha image. A second image shows the back of the card for the ghost designix. The background is a magenta, green, and orange checkerboard with dozens of tiny black lines, two yellow lines, and two blue lines across it. The code is L229BxoG.]

The pad recognizes the drawing, but there is no designix around, and even if there was, it would obviously be way too big to captchalogue.

Instead, the Ghost Image of the designix is captcha'd, along with its captcha code on the back.

Jade: Send the code to Dave.

[Image description: Dave tries to squeeze through the door from the living room back into the hallway, but the designix is making it very difficult. It pins the door partially shut.]

pesterlog
G.G: dave here punch this code!
L229BxoG
and then put it in the jumper shunty thing and see what it does
T.G: ok

Dave: Punch code and put it in the jumper shunty thing.

[Image description: Dave stands up by the alchemiter, which no longer has the statue or the blender on it. Instead, it now has a punch designix on one side of the base.]

pesterlog
T.G: so i guess this is just a built in designix which is sort of cool i guess since i wont have to go downstairs and bang the hallway door into the thing and squeeze through every time i want to punch a card because of course you couldnt have just put it next to the alchemiter in the first place but then i have to go downstairs anyway to make totems and get cruxite and stuff so really who cares
G.G: well i think this is only one way to consolidate all the gizmo features....
hang on i’ll give you more codes!!!

Jade: Draw the holopad.

[Image description: It shows the open menu Jade got the extension and shunt from. The Holopad is selected. A second image shows another surprisingly accurate drawing on Jade’s scribble pad.]

You don't have nearly enough grist to deploy the Holopad, whatever it does. But maybe you can get it as a freebie upgrade to the alchemiter.

Next

[Image description: The drawing turns into a ghost image of the holopad and is captchalogueed into Jade’s sylladex.]

Looks like it worked! You love your scribblepad.
Dave: Upgrade alchemiter with holopad.

[Image description: Dave stands by the small platform on the alchemiter, which now looks like the holopad and has a slot for a captchalogue card, which has a card in it. A hologram of a blender wavers above the platform.]

The totem pedestal is converted into a holographic projector. It projects an image of the item the punch code represents.

This seems useful for previewing an item a code will produce, without spending the grist on it. You test it out with the blender card.

But it still renders the alchemiter unusable. At least without further upgrades.

Jade: Draw the totem lathe.

[Image description: It shows Jade’s pad, which has a ghost image of the totem lathe on it. A second image shows Dave at the alchemiter. A third shunt is now on the extension. A small version of the totem lathe now sticks out of the small platform, though this one is designed to carve vertically rather than horizontally. The hologram now projects a cruxite totem.]

You captcha the lathe ghost image and apply the upgrade.

Now the holopad projects a hologram of the totem that a punch card will create!

This appears to turn the alchemiter into a one stop-shopping hub. You just punch a card, stick it in, and get your item. Nice!

Jade: Draw the jumper block.

[Image description: It shows Jade’s pad with a drawing of the extension. It turns into a ghost image and captchalogues into the last card in her deck.]

You get the code for the jumper block extension to upgrade the alchemiter with... uh... the jumper block extension?

Ok that's kind of a crappy drawing but it seemed to work anyway.

Dave: Upgrade.

[Image description: The extension now has four jumpers on it, but it quickly disappears into the alchemiter. Now on the side where it was there are simply eight slots for cards, four of which are filled.]

This is getting a little abstract.

But it appears to economize on space. Now all you have to do is stick a card in a slot to apply an upgrade. Don't have to bother with the shunts anymore.

Jade: Draw the intellibeam laserstation.

[Image description: It shows the menu with the Intellibeam Laserstation selected. A second image shows Jade’s drawing of it, which is more or less accurate but still not exact on the details. Now that it is larger, though, more detail is visible. It looks somewhat like a combination of a few microscopes and a laser cutter. It looks like something out of a very complex sci-fi show.]
This thing looks kind of complicated.

Next

[Image description: It turns into a ghost image of a transformer.]

DAMMIT!

Dave: Captchalogue enlarger.

You grab the Enlarger from your dismantled photography lab.

Dave: Upgrade.

[Image description: Dave stands out by the alchemiter again. Now there is an enlarger mounted on a pole to one side of it. The enlarger has a knob where it connects to the pole, which is probably used to move it up and down. The enlarger itself looks like a combination of a camera and a microscope.]

You apply the Enlarger Upgrade.

Jade: Draw air conditioner on roof.

[Image description: It shows a drawing of the AC unit on Jade’s pad, which then turns into a ghost image.]

You ghost-captcha the huge air conditioner and give Dave the code to mess around with.

Dave: Make air conditioner unit.

[Image description: Dave stands next to the alchemiter. A red hologram of the air conditioner appears on the platform. As the enlarger moves up and down, the AC unit changes size and cost. It’s shown in sizes that cost 100, 1000, 10,000, and 10 build grist.]

Size of the object you make is now variable. The bigger, the more expensive, as one would expect.

Next

[Image description: Dave stands on the platform next to a tiny air conditioner. It’s about knee height on him.]

You make a tiny Air Conditioner.

This was totally not a waste of time!

John: Find the car.

You find your father's car near the base of the rock pillar. It is surrounded by caution tape for some reason. You are reminded to be cautious.
You cautiously inspect the vehicle. To no one's surprise but yours, the package and the game are missing.

Someone is bugging you.

where'd you get it?
Gc: john we are so much better than you in every respect it's ridiculous
E.B: can I have it?

G.A: Your Dark Spectacled Friend Has Advised Me On A More Effective Method For Trolling You
I Think His Contention Is That This Strategy Will Have The Opposite Of The Intended Effect And Precipitate A Sort Of Bond Between Us That Is Established In Mutual Antagonism
What Do You Think About This
T.T: I think you're shrewd to have recognized his ploy of sabotage, and you've earned my compliments.
G.A: Ah See It Is Working Already T.T: What is?
G.A: Ive Listened To His Advice And Have Resolved To Modify The Approach Slightly
I Know What I Have To Do
What We Have To Do Really
T.T: What's that?
G.A: Remember The First Time We Spoke
T.T: Yes, but you said it wasn't the first time you spoke to me.
We'll graciously omit my embarrassing skepticism however.
G.A: The First Time You Spoke To Me Was The Second Time I Spoke To You
T.T: This conversation doesn't sound like your first time either.
G.A: This Is Your Second Conversation With Me But Is My Seventh With You
T.T: And when exactly does your maiden encounter take place?
G.A: Thats Next Time
T.T: So to clarify.
If the matching of my first with your second is denoted by 1=2, then the sequence would be:
T.T: 1=2, 2=7, 3=1, 4=?, ...
G.A: Yes And The Rest Of The Sequence Is Simply
4=3, 5=4, 6=5, 7=6
Unless My Future Self Stowed Another Conversation In Between One Of Those Which Is Entirely Possible
But Urrgh I Dont Want To Think About That
T.T: Why is it that when the subject of temporal mechanics is broached your sparing troll intellects etcetera etcetera.
G.A: See That Is What I Mean Rose You Are Not As Dumb Of A Girl As I Was Initially Lead To Believe
T.T: You mean based on the first impression I am apparently about to make in our next conversation?

I Suspected The Stratagem Might Be A Counter Trolling Measure But Then Was Not So Sure And Further Examination Grew Warrant
T.T: And what if my counter-counter measure is to choose not to transcribe this dialogue accurately in the future-first place?
G.A: But See I Have Edited The Copy Already In Ways That Will Remain Secret For Now But You Will Discover Once You Type It
So You Are Destined To Edit It No Matter What And What You Submit Will Be What I Once Read Regardless
T.T: Unless I decide to copy it word-for-word!
G.A: Yes Unless I Lied About Editing It In The First Place Either Way Through Knowledge Of What You Will Say I Have Precisely Engineered The Nature Of Your Transgression
!!!
T.T: So your trolling strategy now is to put idiotic words in my mouth through the machinery of temporal inevitability, and cause me to excruciate over how to subvert the transcription?
G.A: Yes
T.T: While being perfectly up front about it?
G.A: Yes I Suppose Its That Sarcasm All The Time Seems Laborious To Me T.T: I'll admit, it's a more advanced tactic than I gave you credit for.
G.A: Yes And The Providence Of This Antagonism Ninja Vice Grip Pinching Your Larynx Has Already Begun To Supply My Purpose With Fruit
The Chilly Frost Shimmering On Our Tree Of Human Friendship Has Begun To Thaw
T.T: Mixed metaphor aside, usually ninjas don't announce what they're doing when they're doing it. Like when stalking an emperor to assassinate him.
Or befriend him.
But that's fine.
I guess the only pointless question we haven't exhausted is, why?
Why the convoluted artifice?
G.A: Dave Raised Insight Into The Human Psychology Of Friendship Development
By Allotting You Your Side Of The Conversation I Have You At The Disadvantage In Your View

But Now I Know Your Motivation Because I Am Supplying It Here And Now
They Will Be Simple Acts Of Friendly Human Retaliation
T.T: So you're not only rigging the first impression I make on you, but orchestrating my revenge for the rigging as well?
G.A: Yes
It Seems Friendship For Some Humans Is A Basic Aggregation Of Shallow And Insincere Hostilities
T.T: That's an interesting take on it.
But now I know for sure Dave isn't behind this plan.
It's too complicated.

[Note: The caption is a link to a youtube video. Nick Chinlund: Con Air (1997) - Last Scene “How do I live”. The song “How do I live” plays. Nic Cage with long curly hair turns around. He’s very dirty and beat up and has a bloody bandage tied around his right bicep. The scene cuts to a bus passing. When it’s gone, it reveals people milling around in front of a brightly lit building. A blonde woman and little girl are in the center of the shot. It cuts back to Cage, who looks surprised and relieved. It zooms in slowly on him. It cuts to the blonde woman, who looks towards the camera. It cuts back to Cage, who does the same. He begins to slowly walk towards the camera. It cuts back to the woman and child. Cage walks into the shot and goes towards them. The woman looks a little nervous, but not frightened. It cuts to the little girl, who looks uncertain and a little confused. It then cuts back to Cage, who walks up to the woman. She says “Hello, Cameron”. ]
There is a pause, then he says “Hello, hummingbird.” It cuts to Cage as his gaze shifts down towards the girl, then to her. It returns to Cage, who looks back up at the woman. He says “I meant to get a haircut.” It cuts to the woman, then to the girl, then back to Cage. He says “I got a present for you, Casey” and he hands the girl a stuffed bunny. She turns away and partially hides behind the woman. Cage looks upset, but not angry. He says “It’s a little dirty” and it cuts to a wide shot as he wipes the bunny on his equally dirty shirt. The woman says “Casey, sweetie, you take your daddy’s present now” and brushes the girl’s hair back from her face as she looks up. It cuts to Cage, who shakes his head and says “no, no, no, honey, it's ok.” The woman looks at him to make sure and he nods. It cuts to the girl, who says “I got a picture, a picture of you.” Cage smiles and says “I got a picture of you too.” The girl and the woman both stare at Cage for a moment, then the girl reaches out and slowly takes the bunny. He says “happy birthday, darlin’.” She stares at the bunny for a moment, then up at Cage. He holds out an arm and scoops the woman into the hug. It cuts between both of them and they’re both crying as they hug. It cuts to the girl, who is also crying. It cuts to a wide shot of them hugging, then to a man who’s standing off to the side and looking sad. It cuts back to the hug, then fades to black.

won't that be, uh, kinda hard?
Gc: hahahahahaha
ordinarily youd have absolutely no chance at your meager level but you have an advantage
E.B: oh?
Gc: usually how its supposed to go is over the course of your quest you will wake the denizen and then finally you go through the seventh gate which is the only way into the palace then you go down and fight the denizen and kill it releasing the hoard
E.B: so what's my advantage?
Gc: you wont bother waking it we will skip right to the seventh gate find its lair
and kill it in its sleep
E.B: um, ok.
what's the point of releasing the grist hoard?
is it just so I can make tons more sweet loot?
Gc: hehe no way
the hoard contains so much more grist than you could ever use in an alchemiter
I mean you could I guess but thats not the point its for the ultimate alchemy
E.B: what's the ultimate alchemy?
Gc: its nothing for you to worry about now

Rose: Is that all you have to say?
Jaspersprite: Purr purr purr.
Rose: I thought you were supposed to be more helpful after your resurrection. Like a ghostly spirit guide. Wise, if frustratingly cryptic.
Jaspersprite: Purrrrrrrrr.
Rose: Actually, cryptic behavior would be welcome at this point. This is just inane.
Jaspersprite: (Smiley face with a 3 for a mouth. A happy cat face.)
Rose: Should I report to the others that my Kernelsprite is a Lolcat? Maybe Dave can take some screen captures and overlay some poorly spelled captions. Assuming he hasn't already.
Jaspersprite: Meow.
Rose: What are you doing there, by the way?
Jaspersprite: Im fishing!
Rose: Oh. So you can talk.
Jaspersprite: But sadly there are no fish i think. They were all eaten by the Denizen!
Rose: Who?
Jaspersprite: It ate everything in the ocean and got so full that it took a long nap. No there is surely not a single living thing left! Which is too bad because im pretty hungry.
Rose: I think there might be some tuna in the cabinets.
Jaspersprite: Oh good idea i will look there!
Purr purr.
Rose: Jaspers, the message you gave me years ago before you disappeared...
What did you mean?
Jaspersprite: Meow.
Rose: Sigh...
Jaspersprite: (happy cat face)
Rose: I don't understand.
Is there some meaning to these responses, or are you just being obstinate?
Jaspersprite: You will understand when you wake up!
Rose: Am I asleep?
Jaspersprite: Yes!
Rose im just a cat and i dont know much but i know that youre important and also you are what some people around here call the Seer of Light. And you dont know what that means but you will see its all tied together! All the life in the ocean and all the shiny rain and the songs in your head and the letters they make. A beam of light i think is like a drop of rain or a long piece of yarn that dances around when you play with it and make it look enticing!
And the way that it shakes is the same as what makes notes in a song!
And a song i think can be written down as letters.
So if you play the right song and it makes all the right letters then those letters could be all the letters that make life possible.
So all you have to do is wake up and learn to play the rain!
Does that make sense rose sorry i disappeared for so long.
Rose: Sort of.
It sounds like you aren't exactly in complete command of this information yourself, so I won't press you on it for now.
You're a pretty good cat, Jaspers. I missed you.
Jaspersprite: Purr purr purrrrrrr.

Rose: Pester Jade.

T.T: I spoke with Jaspers.
I didn't understand what he told me.
He said I'll understand once I "wake up".
For some reason this made me think of you.
G.G: hehehe......
yeah i bet he’s right!
T.T: We wouldn't happen to be talking about awakening in a sort of breezy, philosophical sense, would we?
Is my dead cat concerned with my enlightenment? Should I prepare to shed this coil of ignorance and suffering?
G.G: wow no i dont think so...
he’s being a bit more literal than that!
what did he say?
T.T: I doubt I could reproduce the statements with fidelity.
It was like listening to a five year-old describe a dream.
The content manages to take a back seat to the simple heartwarming spectacle of the moment.
G.G: (smiley face)
well what he meant was.....
that you have a dream self who is supposed to wake up whenever your real self goes to sleep all do! all four of us i mean but see your dream self still stays asleep when you go to sleep because you haven’t woken up yet!
T.T: I think I get it.
I take it your "dream self" is wide awake when you sleep?
G.G: yes
T.T: And would I be out of line in additionally presuming this has been the case for many years, at least as long as I've known you?
G.G: no you would not be out of line!
in fact im asleep now
T.T: That was to be my next wild presumption.
G.G: (tongue sticking out face)
T.T: So when I wake up, can I look forward to being able to message people in my sleep too?
G.G: no only i can do that!
because of my robot
T.T: Oh, right.
I forgot about your robot.
My short term recall seems to eschew the profoundly ridiculous.
G.G: you guys can probably make your own i guess...... but you need to wake up first for it to matter and maybe by the time that happens you might not even need them!!!
T.T: I'm not sure if necessity is a concept I'd associate with such a contraption even under some of the more obscure scenarios imaginable.
But good to know I guess.
Here's another question, which I'm sure will look stupid once I've finished typing it.
If my dream self is asleep, does that mean she's dreaming, and if she is, who's dreaming the dream, her or me?
G.G: um.......
ok well i dont really know how to answer the second part but yeah she’s dreaming!
she’s most likely lying in your bed troubled and restless about things burdening her which is to say you!!!!! things about who you really are and what your purpose is but you cant start figuring those things out yet because youre not awake because youre not ready yet
that's why you have such terrible dreams all the time rose!
T.T: Ok. How do I wake up?
G.G: im sure it would help to start piecing together the clues to nudge your subconscious or maybe face some things you haven’t faced yet?
i dunno! its for you to find out maybe the stuff you wrote on your walls can give you a clue?
T.T: What stuff?
G.G: the....
er
didn’t dave tell you?
Tell me what?
G.G: (blank face)
T.T: Are you saying he said I defaced the walls of my room?
While not appearing to be cognizant of the scrawlings?
Like John?
I really hope that's not what you're saying.
It might freak me out.
G.G: he said he was going to tell you (side eye with a bead of sweat) T.T: Hold on.

This shows John flies past 3 gates far outside of the planet’s atmosphere. He looks upwards determinedly.

The song Atomyc Ebonyrre begins to play. It cuts to square structures of metal scaffolding with gears mounted on the side and lava pouring from places on them. They all stick out of a lake of lava. It pans slowly over them as a name appears on screen. The Land of Heat and Clockwork. It pans up one of the structures and a grey gear appears. A red spirograph pulses on top of it and Dave appears in a flash. He’s wearing a white suit with a broken record on the breast and carrying a broken sword with a turntable at the hilt and four metal pole sticking out from the turntable. He crouches low like he’s about to attack.

It cuts to him standing up against a background of lava and gears. It cuts back to him on the gear platforms. Two yellow imps stand on nearby gear platforms. One is a normal harlequin imp, but it has wings. The other is a squid princess imp with growths like a sword is stuck through it. They are both labeled Amber Imp. Dave jumps up and slashes the bird imp. It bursts into build grist and yellow drop shaped grist. Dave dashes to pick up the grist, then goes in for a flying attack on the stabbed princess imp. As he moves down, another imp comes into view. This one, labeled Rust Imp, is a red-tinted cat squid imp in a princess tunic, a harlequin hat, and with a sword stabbed through it. The screen goes black, and red motion blurs cross it. When the scene returns, Dave is standing where the imp was and build grist and red cubes litter the platform around him.

The scene shifts to the right and two more come into view. One is a rust imp with wings in a grey suit and harlequin hat and the other is a stabbed amber imp with harlequin clothes. It cuts to the imps, which both look scared, then to Dave who stares blankly. It cuts to the rust imp frowning, then to a yellow ogre. It zooms out, showing another one behind it. They’re both wearing princess tunics and harlequin hats. They have the label Sulfur Ogre above their heads and the first one shown has a sword sticking out of it.

Suddenly, it cuts to Lil Cal, but Lil Cal looks different. Now he’s entirely white with orange outlines. It zooms out, revealing that Lil Cal has wings and a sword stuck through him. Lil Cal is Dave’s sprite.

Calsprite faces the two ogres and moves forward. He opens his mouth and an orange beam filled with smuppets comes out. The ogres flash red as he takes down their health. Suddenly, he stops firing and flashes white. He morphs into a giant white and orange smuppet and crashes into the ogres. He bashes them again and they burst into giant chunks of build grist and yellow droplet grist.

It cuts to Dave mid-jump. As he crosses the screen, the broken tip of his sword crackles with yellow light and suddenly a completed blade comes out of the end. The new segment is slightly narrower than the base, but it’s just as deadly looking. He slashes at two sulphur ogres on the way down, then jumps back up to finish them off. The burst into grist. Dave launches himself from a platform and leaves red ghost-daves in his wake. He flashes for a moment, his sword returns to its broken state, then it cuts to him standing on a gear platform surrounded by grist with his sword fully extended. Suddenly, a second Dave, one with the broken sword, drops in on the platform and collects the grist. The first Dave pulls his sword back and looks offscreen. It cuts to the Dave with the broken sword collecting more grist off a platform. Once he has it all, he stops and two floating turntables shaped like gears appear on either side of him.
It cuts to him spinning the turntables and a black record appears behind him. The background fades to red fire, then flashes white. Suddenly, two orange basilisks are on the platform behind him and Dave immediately goes in to attack. He kills the first with a few slashes of his sword and does a flip towards the second. He bashes it once, then extends his sword and jumps into a flip. The screen goes black and several motion blanks cross it. When it cuts back to Dave, he has landed in a crouch and the basilisk is gone, replaced by chunks of build grist, yellow drop grist, and orange cube grist. It shifts to the left and another Dave with a broken sword drops down to collect the grist. The time loop is complete.
It cuts to a red Giclops staring up in horror as Dave jumps towards it, sword pulled back to slash its head. The name Ruby Giclops hovers over its head. The screen fades to black, then to gear platforms. Red gusher shaped grist rains down onto the platform and Dave lands on it in a crouch.
He stands up and his glasses reflect a bit of light for a moment. The scene shifts to the left and Calsprite comes on screen. A square speech bubble showing Lil Cal’s regular face appears above him.]

Dave: Consult with Calsprite.

after they tricked john into skipping way ahead and getting his ass handed to him by the denizen
i guess once they managed to sabotage us they were done with us and since john died he couldn't get jade in on time so whether she's alive or not she's as good as dead from our perspective only thing left to do is change all that

T.G: i don't know
i mean your whole timeline will maybe T.T: Maybe?
Is there a chance it'll continue to exist, and I'll just be here alone forever?
I'm not sure which outcome is more unsettling.
T.G: the thing with time travel is you can't overthink it just roll with it and see what happens and above all try not to do anything retarded
T.T: What do you think I should do?
T.G: try going to sleep
our dream selves kind of operate outside the normal time continuum i think so if part of you from this timelines going to persist thats probably the way to make it happen
T.T: Ok.
T.G: and hey you might even be able to help your past dream self wake up sooner without all that fuss you went through
T.T: I think the true purpose of this game is to see how many qualifiers we can get to precede the word "self" and still understand what we're talking about.
T.G: the true purpose is to make a sprite that doesn't make me want to flog myself raw with my own brain stem anything else is gravy
T.T: If my past self can wake up sooner, maybe I'll be the one to visit you first this time.
I'll fly by and remind you you're already awake and don't know it.
T.G: yeah that'd be cool i guess im gonna go now

Future Dream Rose: Cease to exist.

T.G: dont talk to john anymore he’s an impressionable doofus your plan didn’t work I mean it did but then suddenly it didn’t so you might as well quit trying Gc: you smell like orange creamsicles T.G: what youre aliens do you even have orange creamsicles Gc: of course what kind of awful civilization wouldn’t invent orange creamsicles not one id want anything to do with T.G: ok pretty far fetched but whatever no more hijinks from you cause ill make sure they wont work Gc: well obviously I knew it wasnt going to work my friends have been talking to john from the future your future where hes not dead Gc: so there was no way what I did was going to kill him I just wanted to mess with him and stuff T.G: I dont think youre following you did kill him sort of then I went back in time to stop him Gc: yeah I guessed there was a chance something like that might happen T.G: alright but did you guess that by trolling john to his grave and making me splinter us off into an alt timeline that you were basically complicit in making our timeline go the way it was supposed to go all along where future me is now helping dave and we just keep playing and our actions ultimately lead to the trouble youre all in now thus leading you all to troll us incompetently Gc: oh
no (sad face with furrowed brows)
I didn’t think of that
T.G: yeah
see none of you ever thinks anything through whos in charge of timeline management there
I gotta give him the business
Gc: she doesn’t want to talk to any of you and has misgivings about this whole thing not all of us are that enthusiastic about trolling you guys and the ones who are sort of suck at it (blank face with furrowed brows)
T.G: well at least you got john to off himself so I guess youre not totally incompetent like the others like that awful rapper
Gc: so john actually did what I said?
T.G: yeah
im telling you huge pushover
he will do what you say unless it happens to be for his own good then all a sudden he’s a tough nut to crack go figure Gc: now I feel kinda bad are you sure I cant talk to him even if its just to apologize would that be ok with you sir brave knight (face with furrowed brows and a question mark for a mouth)
T.G: yeah thats fine I guess no more coy bullshit antics though not even like an idiotic angry winking emote Gc: or what youre going to hunt me down through time oooooh oh no (smiling winky face with furrowed brows)
T.G: yeah
Gc: you do realize im way higher on my echeladder than you even if you are from the future are you sure you want to get your clocked cleaned by a blind chick T.G: ok even if thats true
I just merged with an impaled orange goddamn bird and now I got all these crazy powers Gc: ugh self prototyping so dumb
this is why you all screw up so bad always bending the rules like that oh well cant stop you now so might as well drop it hey dave
T.G: what
Gc: ive been researching some of your earth soap operas is this you [Note: This line is a link. It opens an image of Wheeler from the animated series Captain Planet and the Planeteers. He has orange hair and is wearing a yellow striped shirt and an olive green jacket. There is a fire and a column of smoke in the background.]
T.G: oh jegus fuck no
why would that breathtaking douche remind you of me at all Gc: but he has a fiery personality sort of brash and impetuous and in your face
like fire itself (very happy face with furrowed brows)
T.G: now I know youre bullshitting me do I seem like the kind of guy whod accept a magic ring from whoopi goldberg to awaken some egregious homofantasy for a ripped blue dudes mammoth eco friendly bulge that guys an asshole and needs to be sealed in a dufflebag and whipped something ungodly with a bamboo chute
Gc: whos whoopi goldberg
T.G: who cares
Gc: ok I made some modifications this is so you dave come on admit it [Note: This is also a link. It opens the same image, but this time with a few alterations crudely drawn in. Now a broken sword hovers next to him, there is a misaligned broken record on his chest, and red glasses hover slightly to the right of where they're supposed to be.]
T.G: aahahahahaha
ok yeah that is pretty much fucking spot on youre actually a pretty good troll as long as you dont bug john I guess thats all there is to say on the matter Gc: thanks dave be fair
im sure every one of us wishes we thought of future self prototyping first
so youre not really all that terrible (smiling winky face with furrowed brows)

Davesprite: Chill with Dave.

Dave: who were you talking to Davesprite: just telling a troll to step off Dave: ok cool
so now that youre a sprite do you know everything about the game Davesprite: well i knew a lot anyway cause im from the future but yeah i know more stuff now like things meant specifically for sprites to clue players in on but packaged in these like i guess riddles
im supposed to be cagey about it but i dont really feel like it ask me anything go ahead i'll give you a straight answer Dave: alright here goes why are we so fucking awesome
Davesprite: that's the best fucking question anybody ever asked
Dave: yeah
so is everything cool with this john business is he gonna be ok
Davesprite: that's up to him if he decides to wise up and listen to us if not then we just bail everyone out yet again
Dave: ok
Davesprite: all that gear you picked up should let you breeze through the first couple gates even at a low level later you'll unlock the ability to bring your sprite down with you and well take care of shit together til then i guess just mess around and let jade build up or whatever ill go kill some time
maybe draw some comics
Dave: like what Davesprite: i don't know
whats the last one you did
Dave: i was in the middle of the nancho party arc Davesprite: oh yeah
i gave up on that half way through Dave: yeah that was sorta the plan making a ten part story about nachos was always a bullshit idea Davesprite: let's do some brainstorming later blow everyones minds
Dave: yeah sure

[Image description: John holds a razor in his right hand and looks down at the red package, which is open. The top of the bunny’s ears stick out of the box.]

You open the package. There is something suspicious inside.

Something suspiciously dirty and smelly.

Next

[Image description: John stands next to his bed, looking very happy. On the bed are the open package, the certificates of authenticity, and a very dirty stuffed rabbit.]

It is a stuffed bunny. Much like the one held hostage briefly by Malkovich's Cyrus "The Virus" while taunting hard-luck protagonist Cameron Poe. And strikingly similar to the one scooped up from the soot of a burning Vegas strip by Cage's Poe and offered to his daughter, a gesture symbolic of a tattered exterior surrounding a heart of gold. Poe wasn't much to look at. But he was a good man.

But no, it is not merely like that bunny. According to this note of authenticity, it is the very same bunny.

This is so awesome.

Included is a note from your best bro Dave.

so hey

so hey

since its your bday i had to get you back for the sick memorabilia you got me so i got you this godawful thing and now i just know youre standing there flipping your shit over it so youre welcome.

its the actual gross bunny in the movie so that means nick cage actually grubbed it up with his clownish no talent fingers. i would suggest you put it somewhere and display it ironically but i know youre dead serious about this ridiculous shit so youll probably sleep with the damn thing and nibble its ear and stuff.

but the weird thing is thats whats cool about you. youre this naive guy like pinocchio tumbled ass backwards off the turnip truck and started liking ghostbusters. then the fairy godmother kissed your nose or some shit and you turned out to be not made of wood and also pretty cool to talk to. one day your gooberish ways are gonna land you in a jam and i know im going to have to get you off the hook but its cool i got your back bro.

then we'll meet and hug bump and get each others filthy wife beaters that much filthier so yeah peace dawg

C.G: I keep scrolling backwards through your adventure.
trying to piece together how you botch this up so badly.
and I keep finding these striking pockets of foolishness.
like what you're doing now.
riding your little red rocket.
like you are a freshly hatched human larva and this is just all a big schoolhive rumpus respite.
E.B: humans aren't hatched as larvae dummy.
we don't hatch at all.
we are born as these like little pink monkeys called babies.
C.G: bullshit.
that's not what you just told me.
E.B: what did I say?
C.G: I'll paste what you said.
E.B: I thought you didn't like going down that road?
copy-pasting future/past conversations...
C.G: why would I have a problem with that.
E.B: I dunno, that's what you just told me.
C.G: whatever, look:

E.B: this is really weird...
C.G: what's so weird about it.
E.B: well, normally humans hatch...
from like these slimy pods.
then we wriggle out as a little pink larva.
C.G: oh really.
huh, maybe we have more in common than I thought.

E.B: hahaha!
I was punking you dude!
or at least I will be in our next conversation.
thanks for the great prank idea.
C.G: argh.
why would you trick me about that, what is even the point.
don't you ever play pranks?
I mean, of course you do, one of you just tried to prank me good.
C.G: what, who.
E.B: pffffff, you'll find out.
C.G: well fine.
I guess you got me back, sort of.
for my trolling, even though you haven't even read my worst trolling efforts yet.
because they happen in your future.
and even then you didn't even mind much, almost like you were delighted to hear it.
kind of perverse really, what's wrong with you?
E.B: well, we're friends by then, aren't we?
or sort of like, uh, reverse anti-mutual friends.
C.G: what the hell does that even mean.
E.B: look, you're going to have to face it at some point... that you're learning the meaning of this human emotion called friendship.
C.G: is friendship really an emotion?
E.B: yes, absolutely.
C.G: I guess it's hard to see how we become friends.
this is so frustrating.
every time I go further back into your past and talk to you, you say stuff that pertains to my immediate future.
and then you won't explain to me what's going on, because it's already old news for you.
E.B: dude, you've been doing the same exact thing!!!
C.G: I've done no such thing.
I've been exceptionally informative and helpful.
if justifiably acrimonious.
E.B: you never answer my questions, though.
how am I supposed to know what's going on, or what you're alluding to?
C.G: this game is kind of a game of a million guides.
everywhere you turn there's another way to figure out what's going on, so please, go secrete me an earth river through your strange human tear ducts.
you've got sprites, exiles, guardians, consorts... time hopping future selves, mystical dream oracle doppelgangers... and if that wasn't enough, your particular group of players is lucky enough to have us to give you the scoop on stuff.
through a sort of subversion of the whole damn thing.
even though we hate you.
and even though the fact that we hate you is an immutable fact as unalterable as this writhing knotted hell of a timeline choking us all to death it does not mean we have any reason to withhold any information from you or dish it out through cryptobaffling mind fuddlery.
so go ahead, ask me anything.
E.B: ok...
what's the point of the game.
C.G: ask something else.
already told you that.
it was this whole big conversation we had.
E.B: augh!
fine.
where are you now?
C.G: in the medium.
a separate session from yours.
E.B: no no, I know that!
you already told me.
C.G: I did?
E.B: yes, in your future.
C.G: dammit.
E.B: what I mean is... are you in your house right now, or in one of your magical lands, or what?
just curious cause you can see me, but I can't see or know anything about you!
C.G: we're hiding in the veil.
E.B: what's that?
C.G: it's a huge belt of meteors orbiting way outside skaia, beyond the orbit of the planets dividing the medium from the furthest ring where derse orbits.
E.B: derse?
C.G: the dark planet.
prospit's the light one near skaia.
E.B: well jeez, how am I supposed to know any of this??
C.G: you'd probably find out sooner or later from your dumb grandma.
but by fusing with the sprite she has to withhold stuff and be mysterious and all.
to make your adventure seem more "maaaaagical!!!!"
it's infuriating.
E.B: ok, so the veil is a bunch of meteors...
what do you mean "what's left of it"?
C.G: ok, there comes a time when black inevitably beats white on the battlefield in the center of skaia the white king is captured or killed or something that's when the reckoning starts.
E.B: ok...
C.G: the rulers of derse
the black king and queen get the power to send the veil toward skaia to destroy it that kind of starts your big "countdown"
when shit gets serious.
E.B: so then it's up to us to save it?
C.G: yeah, you have that long to kill the black queen and king and skaia itself sort of buys you some time by activating its defense portals to catch some of the meteors the threat gets bigger the longer you take though smaller meteors come first and they get progressively bigger and bigger and there's only so much of them skaia can absorb for you.
E.B: ok, but it sounds like we've got plenty of time before that happens, right?
C.G: that's just it.
you don't.
ordinarily you would but your reckoning starts much sooner because of some dumb things you've done you completely blew it already and you have no chance of winning anymore which ordinarily would be fine just another bunch of losers to fail at this game it's what you do later that causes so much more trouble than that and now we have to deal with it too.
E.B: oh no...
what is it?
C.G: already told you.
it's inevitable and completely pointless to talk about anyway.
E.B: yeah, well...
maybe you're wrong!
maybe there's something we can still do to stop it, if you just help us?
C.G: I'm not wrong, it's all right here in front of me, you fuck up royally, end of story.
E.B: ok, we'll see about that, mr. Sourbulge.
hey, aren't you kind of uncomfortable sitting on a meteor?
are you all huddled in a crater or something?
C.G: no, there's all kinds of crazy shit in the veil.
a lot of these meteors are kind of like...
big seeds.
E.B: seeds?
um...
well, what kind of crazy shit is there?
C.G: stuff like... buildings facilities
like labs and stuff.
E.B: weird.
C.G: yeah, the veil is kind of like neutral ground for the kingdoms, like our planets.
some places are used to genetically engineer soldiers and agents for the two sides.
using genetic material from the exotic menagerie of chess pieces on the battlefield.
to help fuel the war and keep raising the stakes.
E.B: wow, I don't think I'm following this.
C.G: yeah no shit!
but you'll find out when you get there since you were in the veil when we last talked.
anyway that's more than enough info for you to think about and be less stupid in time for conversations we've already had.
I'm out of here.
E.B: ok, but wait... can you give a message to gc for me?
tell her nice try.
C.G: what
why would I give her a message for you do it yourself, I'm not a relay service.
E.B: oh, well I thought you'd be cool with it since you asked me to give her a message for you last time.
but whatever.
C.G: I find that highly implausible.
I'm not falling for any more of your human pranks.
"nice try" john hahahahahahaha.

[Image description: The song Black begins to play. It shows a sepia toned photograph of the Midnight Crew playing instruments. It cuts to the space around Skaia. Skaia is in the center of the screen with Prospit and its moon in close orbit. Further out, three planets are spaced at quarter orbits around Skaia. The one closest to the viewer is the Land of Wind and Shade, John’s planet. Most of the surface is covered by dark grey clouds, but teal toned rock can be seen through a few small gaps. To the left is the Land of Light and Rain, Rose’s planet. It is brightly colored and has many small clouds orbiting high above it. To the right is a red planet with a large, round black spot, making it look like a color reversed version of the record on Dave’s shirt. This, presumably, is the Land of Heat and Clockwork, Dave’s planet. There is a space where another planet should be to complete the spacing. Presumably, Jade’s will fall into place there if she is able to enter. It zooms out even further and large meteors block Skaia and the planets from view. Four purple towers with orbs on top come into view. Three of the orbs are now filled with images of the kernelsprites that John, Rose, and Dave made. The last orb is still dark and empty. It cuts to show the planet that the towers are sticking out of. It is identical to Prospit in architecture and layout, but everything is in shades of pink and purple. A name appears in the bottom right corner. Derse.

It fades to Jack Noir sitting at his desk with the package and parking citations as shown from behind. The princess harlequin outfit still clothes the mannequin. It cuts to his face. He rests his cheek on his hand and writes with a feather pen. It cuts to what he was writing. On a parking citation, he has scribbled over the words and towers and drawn a picture of the Black Queen, who now has a sword stuck through her stomach. He has captioned it Huge Bitch Bluh Bluh and signed it with a black spade in the top left corner. He holds up his drawing and examines it, then slowly looks to the right. He sneers and crumples the drawing as it fades to show the entirety of Derse. It zooms down along towers, closer and closer to the surface of the planet, then pulls up to approach the four sprite towers.

It cuts to the Black Queen’s hips as she walks down a hallway. Her skirt is slightly transparent and she is now flanked by wings. Her ring has three white orbs now. It begins to pan up, then suddenly cuts to her silhouette against a red background. It zooms out slightly and Jack Noir’s window comes into view, revealing that he was watching her through it. It zooms out a bit more to show his entire workspace. He narrows his eyes, then the screen goes black and white motion blur crosses it. When it returns to Jack, he has sliced the screen in half and the Black Queen is suddenly standing next to him.

She grabs the dress from the mannequin and shakes it in Jack’s direction as if asking why he’s not wearing it. His response is to stick out his tongue in disgust and shake his head. The Black Queen points firmly at the new hat, which sits on the floor. She pushes the dress into his face and he turns side to side to try and avoid it. He kicks the hat and suddenly it cuts to him against a background of pink spades as various harlequin princess outfits flash on him.

The Black Queen sits on his desk, then it suddenly cuts to his disgusted expression. It cuts back to a shot of her feet as she taps her foot impatiently. Jack wears the original outfit consisting of pieces of brightly colored fabric, but he grabs it and rips it to shreds. It cuts to a shot zooming past the chain connecting the moon to Derse. It pans up one of the Dreamer’s tower, then cuts to Dream Rose standing against a purple wall with bright green text on it. All of the letters are those that would form the word Meow, but rearranged into different orders. It cuts to Dream Rose in her room, where every inch of the wall except what would be covered by furniture is covered in the Meow code. It cuts to the day that Jaspers told Baby Rose his secret, then back to the room. The word Meow flashes across the entire screen. It zooms in on Rose’s face and Meow crosses her eyes. The rest of the code fades in and moves slowly across her face. The letters suddenly flash and change. M becomes G, E becomes C, O becomes A, and W becomes T. Now it is in the letters used to signify DNA sequences.

It cuts to a place in the Land of Light and Rain. A pink archway and stairs lead into a tunnel in the side of an island. A boat is beached right outside it and Maplehoof stands by the stairs. It zooms in on the entrance and suddenly changes to Mom’s white silhouette against the black silhouette of a three-eyed, four-armed monster whose mouth is as wide as Mom is tall. Mom crouches down into an attack stance and it suddenly cuts to her hands as she punches something. It cuts back to the cave as she vaults over the monster, which has one eye closed and falls into the rock Mom was standing on so hard that the rock shatters.

Suddenly it cuts to an oil-splattered Dad giving a flying punch to a grey monster with two large tusks and a horn sticking out of its forehead. The background is the blue rocks and blue-green trees of the Land of Wind and Shade. It cuts to him carving a hat into a minitablet. It cuts to Bro holding up his sword against a background of fire. Some of the structures from the Land of Heat and Clockwork can be made out in the background. He flies through the air and slices off one of a yellow tentacle monster’s tentacles. An image of John flying through the air takes up the top left quarter of the screen. An image of Rose sleeping with Mutini on her back takes up the top left quarter. Davesprite at his computer takes up the bottom left. Jade sleeping in bed takes up the bottom right. Bec flashes into the center of the screen, then fades to black. He flashes green then begins to grow. Inside his outline, it shows a snarling Jack Noir. It zooms out from Jack’s face. The Black Queen has a tentacle wrapped around his throat and moves a sword towards him. It cuts to her as the blade reaches his chin. Suddenly, someone holds up the green package and Jack looks down at it. The Queen pulls back her sword slightly. Jack reaches into the box and the background flashes white and red. It cuts back to the Black Queen and zooms in on her scarred eye as she becomes shocked and a little frightened. The screen goes black and two motion blurs cross it. It returns to show the Black Queen’s finger flying away from her hand. The stump spews blood as the ring she was wearing falls. Jack narrows his eyes at her and more motion blurs cross the screen as the background fades to multi-colored, electricity-like designs.

It fades back to Jack’s workstation. Black soot, smoke, and tatters of a dress are all that remain where the Black Queen was. Another screen now has a hole in it. Blood is splattered everywhere. The screen flashes white and Jack reaches down to pick up the ring. Very slowly, he puts it on. It pans over him against a blood splattered grey background. He fades to a white silhouette and the screen flashes quickly. His silhouette changes to one with a missing arm, tentacles, and a harlequin hat like the one the queen wore. Before his transformation completes, it cuts to the base of two tall towers, which fade to white outlines. It zooms out to the entirety of Derse and a glowing pink cloud begins to surround it. This cloud pulses quickly and grows larger and more vibrant as the planet turns white. It cuts back to Jack as a sword grows out of his chest and a pair of wings appear on his back. He crouches and trembles like it’s painful or overwhelming. It cuts back to his face. Now he has the scar over his eye and the little cheek spurs that the Queen had in addition to the wings, hat, tentacles, and sword. The queen’s blood is still on his face. It fades to black. Text slowly fades in on screen.

End of Year 1

AH: Recap first year of Homestuck.

Homestuck began on April 13th, 2009, the 13th birthday of our chief protagonist and future boy-skylark, John Egbert. Three days prior was supposed to be the day he received the sburb Beta in the mail, but it was running late. It showed up later that afternoon, and after overcoming a variety of domestic adversities, he retrieved the game, along with a birthday package from his internet friend, Dave Strider.

John soon established a game connection with another friend, Rose Lalonde, who'd spent the day badgering him about playing with her, after unsuccessfully attempting to convince Dave to play. Upon connecting, Rose was able to manipulate John's environment, move his furniture around via cursor, and restructure the shape of his room. John was unable to do this to Rose's environment however. He'd installed the client copy of the beta, and required the server copy for that.

The server copy was trapped in his dad's car, along with a birthday package from another friend, Jade Harley. Jade messaged John inquiring about the package. As of this moment, neither her package nor the server copy has been recovered by John. Rose had also prepared a package for John, but had not mailed it yet. It still sits in her room. Dave's package contained the authentic stuffed bunny from Con Air.

In addition to allowing Rose to control John's environment, sburb provided an array of devices Rose deployed throughout John's house. These devices used together provided a system by which the players could manufacture any item using the code on the back of that item's captchalogue card, if they gathered enough grist to pay for it. Later, they would learn to combine item codes to master the art of punch card alchemy, whereby items could be fused together in purpose and design.

One device on being activated began a countdown, and released an entity called a kernelsprite. The countdown ticked down to the moment John's house would be struck by a meteor, destroying his neighborhood. To escape this demise, John had to use the devices to manufacture a special item that looked like a blue apple, and take a bite of it, in order to transport his entire house just before impact to the safety of a mysterious dark realm, where his house would situate itself atop a tall rock column high above a blanket of clouds. This realm is called the Medium.

Before he entered the Medium though, John and Rose prototyped his kernelsprite with the large harlequin doll his dad got him for his birthday, transforming the sprite to bear its likeness, including the ways the doll was disfigured via earlier hijinks. It had a slashed eye and one arm, and so too did the sprite. When John entered the Medium, the sprite's kernel hatched, thus imbuing all the enemies John and his friends would face with properties of the sprite. The lesser adversaries John faced first, Shale Imps, all wore harlequin garbs. They became more powerful and more radically mutated with each successive pre-Medium prototyping.

After entering the Medium, John's dad was kidnapped by imps. While John was looking for him, he accidentally prototyped the sprite with his grandmother's ashes, transforming it again. This prototyping had no effect on the enemies, since he was already in the Medium, and the kernel had already hatched. Instead, only the sprite was affected, and it took on the appearance, personality, and memories of his grandmother, becoming Nannasprite, a game-supplied albeit customized guide for John. She explained aspects of the game, about Skaia residing at the center of the Medium, beyond seven gates floating directly above his house, and about an eternal slash timeless war fought there between dark and light, one that light was always destined to lose.

Rose, who'd been having frequent internet connection issues, lost her connection as she tried to lift John's car to retrieve the game and the package. The car fell into the abyss below. A storm caused her house to lose power along with its wireless internet connection. Her laptop was able to run on battery power for a time, while she tapped into the wireless signal from the laboratory next door. When her laptop ran out of power, she had to overcome more family strife (and endure a gift pony in the process), go outside in the rain, and plug it into the small generator outside the mausoleum of her dead cat, Jaspers. She continued her session with John inside the mausoleum, while the meteor-sparked forest fire surrounding her house grew more intense.

From the house, Rose's mom opened a secret passage in the mausoleum to help her escape. The passage lead to the lab next door, where Rose found a stable, portable source of power and internet for her computer. She also found a terminal projecting the impact times and locations for the millions of meteors presently bombarding the planet, along with all the other live sessions of other players around the world. She also found a little girl's room, a mutant kitten she named Vodka Mutini, and a cloning machine operating through the science of ectobiology. Its terminal was locked on to her cat Jaspers at whatever point in his life the user specified.

She attempted to appearify Jaspers from a moment in her early childhood, before he whispered a secret to her. But doing so would have caused a paradox, so it appearified (paradoxified) a pile of slime instead. The machine used the slime to create a fetal paradox clone of Jaspers in a glass tube. On the monitor, Jaspers then told young Rose the secret, then vanished, only to show up dead weeks later and put in the mausoleum for years until the present. Rose left the laboratory moments before it was destroyed by a meteor impact. She transportalized back to her mom's room, proceeded to her room to wait for Dave to connect with her and rescue her from the next imminent impact.

Dave was charged with acquiring his bro's copy of the game to help Rose. Earlier he had lost his copy of the game to a mishap involving a crow. It flew in his window, seized the game, and Dave accidentally impaled it with a sword, sending the crow and the game out the window onto a landing far below his apartment. He searched his bro's room unable to find it, was briefly shadowed by Lil Cal, and then found a note beckoning him to meet on the roof for a confrontation. Dave and his bro dueled on the roof extensively, and Dave was thoroughly bested. Upon defeating Dave, his bro dropped the copies of the game, and flew off on his rocket board into the sky.

Dave used the copies to connect with Rose, and quickly deployed the devices while her house was on fire, surrounded by flaming tornadoes, and minutes away from being destroyed by a meteor. Rose prototyped her kernelsprite with Jaspers, specifically to understand the meaning of the secret he whispered to her years ago. She was advised to do this by Jade, who told her about the game in the first place. Dave then prototyped the kernelsprite again with the tentacled princess doll given to Rose on her birthday by her mom. Both of these prototypings would have an effect on the enemies once Rose entered the Medium and the kernel hatched. Rose used the alchemiter to create the special item - for her, a purple wine bottle - which she needed to break to enter. She eventually did, transporting her house just before the meteor collided.

The meteor left a crater. Over time, at the site of impact, a large, white structure that looked like a wine bottle grew there, and the crater filled up with sand as the climate of the post-apocalyptic Earth gradually changed. The "cork" of that bottle was a large metal cylinder with an interior much like an advanced science station, with a variety of devices and monitors inside. 413 years after the meteor impact, the Wayward Vagabond walked through the desert and discovered this station. Inside, he found canned rations, a firefly he named Serenity, an appearifier, and four monitors hooked up to a keyboard.

On one of the monitors was John, just after he'd entered the Medium. W.V could type commands to John directly, much as the readers of this story could type commands for the characters to follow. Most of John's actions upon entering the Medium were authored by W.V, until he became preoccupied with other activities, such as building a town out of cans, playing chess with cans, and drawing chalk murals depicting the cosmological arrangement of Skaia, the Medium, the light and dark planets known as Prospit and Derse, and the four planets the kids would each occupy upon entering the game, called The Land of Wind and Shade (John), The Land of Light and Rain (Rose), the Land of Heat and Clockwork (Dave), and Jade's planet, which is yet to be seen.

He also activated a countdown in the station which caused it to blast out of the crater and fly to designated "home" coordinates. Along the way, it passed over the sand-filled crater that was the impact site for John's meteor, on the other side of the continent. John's meteor had caused a giant white tree to grow in the crater. The tree grew an apple-like station from a branch, which fell to the sand. The Peregrine Mendicant found this station. After W.V flew overhead, P.M activated her station's homing feature as well, which caused it to fly to the same destination. Along the way, she used her terminal to attempt to command Jade, who from the perspective of the terminal, had just arrived in the Medium. This caused the terminal to explode for unknown reasons, leaving a hole in the station. One of the station's robotic worms recovered one of P.M's falling mailboxes, and she befriended it, after earlier slaying another one with her black regisword.
W.V landed at the site of the ancient frog ruins across the now dried up Pacific Ocean. The site was once the island where Jade lived, but nothing of the island remained except for the ruins. The mountain her house was on, and the volcano next to it, were replaced by a large empty chasm. P.M landed shortly after W.V, and they met. They were confronted by the Aimless Renegade, who fired at them from the frog ruins with old weaponry he'd been hoarding, once belonging to Jade's grandpa. Millions of years ago, the frog ruins grew from a crater, struck by a meteor that emerged from a sburb portal in space. Jade's radioactive, omnipotent, space-warping dog named Becquerel emerged from this crater as well.

Jade's grandpa pioneered this island, and built the house Jade lives in. Her grandpa has been dead for many years, and stands stuffed in front of the fireplace. She has been looked after by her dog who she calls Bec. She begins the day with several tasks to accomplish - to feed Bec, and to retrieve a birthday package mailed by John. She irradiates a steak, and heads outside to the site where the package will be dropped. She knows it will be dropped there because one of the reminders she wears on her fingers jogs her memory about it. She wears them to keep track of the many things she knows about the future, through dreams.

She falls asleep frequently and spontaneously. When she sleeps, her dream self is awake, and living on the moon that orbits the light planet, Prospit. Prospit very closely orbits Skaia, a huge sphere of blue sky and clouds, which nanna describes as a "dormant crucible of unlimited creative potential." When Prospit's moon eclipses Skaia, it drifts into Skaia for a time, mingling with the clouds. Dream Jade then witnesses many past and future events in the clouds. While asleep, she is often confused about what is real and what isn't. When she wakes up, she pieces together future events from her memory of the cloud visions, and from logs recorded by her dreambot. Her dreambot is a robotic surrogate that activates while she sleeps in her bed. It mimics in the real world the movement and actions of her dream self on the moon, and records a video log of what she sees while dreaming.

Prospit's moon has two towers of identical design, and similar design to Jade's house. Dream Jade lives in one tower. Dream John lives in the other. Dream John is still asleep, and John has no knowledge of the dream world, which is to say, the entire game session he would initiate on his 13th birthday. When he goes to sleep, instead of waking up on the moon as Jade does, he remains slumbering in his dream room, tormented by his subconscious. This torment is expressed when he sleepwalks, and draws troubling scribbles on the walls of his room. When awake, he cannot see the scribbles, as is subconscious suppresses his awareness of them. It is not until he has a perception-altering revelation about his dad does he begin to see them. He initially believed they were new additions to his room, perhaps scrawled by imps. However they were present long before, visible in his room while he prepared Jade's birthday package months ago.

John prepared a package for each of his three friends, whose 13th birthdays were December 1st (Jade), 3rd (Dave), and 4th (Rose). He gave Rose a knitting set, and she then took an intense interest knitting. He gave Dave the pair of shades Ben Stiller wore in Starsky and Hutch, which he wore from then on, replacing the shades in the style his bro wore. He gave Jade a blue version of his own ghost shirt, and some pumpkin seeds to help her replace the pumpkins that kept disappearing from her garden. But she did not receive this on the birthday John intended. She received it in the past, on her birthday when she was very young, causing her to take an interest in gardening in the first place, to take a liking to blue apparel, and to eventually befriend John over the internet and lead him, Rose, and Dave down a path where they would ultimately play this game together.

Jade did retrieve his package in the present as planned, but immediately took it to another location where it disappeared. W.V in the far future appearified it from that location on accident. The package contained further instructions for him. He was to bring it to P.M, and she was to use her station's sendificator to send it to another place and time. After she did this, the package appeared in front of young Jade on her birthday. Jade orchestrated the sequence of events through knowledge of them by her cloud visions.

She orchestrated similar events for the package she sent to John, plotting the circuitous route through time and space it was meant to follow. She again utilized the exiles for help, while they were still in the Medium. The exiles, W.V, P.M, and A.R, were all formerly agents of the kingdoms, before they were exiled by some means to post-apocalyptic Earth. A.R, as an Authority Regulator in the Land of Wind and Shade, discovered the package and the beta copy in John's wrecked car as he gave it a parking ticket. P.M, working as a Parcel Mistress, recognized the package from a correspondence she had with Jade on Prospit some time ago, and recalled it must be delivered to John. A.R would not relinquish the package, though he did give her the beta, which she delivered into a pyxis to satisfy the carved request of a minitablet. John carved this tablet at the request of P.M through the command terminal in the future.

A.R brought the package to Derse, where it ultimately wound up on the desk of Jack Noir. Jack is the archagent of the dark kingdom, charged with overseeing affairs through his office's fenestrated wall portals, and processing paperwork. He is forced to wear a silly garment in keeping with prototyping themes by the Black Queen, an order he resentfully complies with. He oversaw the imprisonment of John's dad, who broke loose on multiple occasions. When Jack went to handle it personally, John's dad set Jack's hat on fire. In a surly act of gratitude, he released the prisoner. John's dad fled to the Land of Wind and Shade, fought large monsters, got his hat dirty and lost a shoe. He then carved tablet requests for new ones, which John filled via pyxis, unaware of who requested them.

P.M met Jack and asked for the package. Jack proposed a deal, and gave her a black regisword. If she would kill the White Queen and White King and bring him their crowns, he would give her the package. She accepted with little alternative. She then visited the W.Q on Prospit and explained the situation, with no intention of carrying out Jack's mission. The W.Q, understanding the futility of their situation and the need to recover the package, abdicated, and gave P.M her crown and her ring. P.M was instructed to go find the White King, retrieve his crown, and receive further instruction on what to do with the ring to protect it. W.Q would then eventually exile herself to post-apocalypse Earth.

On post-apocalypse Earth, after A.R fired on W.V and P.M from the ruins, he spotted W.V's pumpkin, which W.V had earlier appearified from Jade's house. He recognized the carving of Bec's silhouette on the pumpkin. Fearful of it, he surrendered. The three exiles soon became friends over a campfire and shared rations. W.V and A.R built Exile Town out of cans, mailboxes, and bullets. P.M operated W.V's station terminal to submit commands to John as he explored the Land of Wind and Shade. In the sky, another station teleported and fell to the ground. It was shaped like an egg, and originated from Dave's meteor impact site, in correspondence with the egg-shaped item he would use to enter the medium. Emerging from this station was the Windswept Questant, formerly the White Queen.

A.R and W.V sought to impress W.Q by crafting a crown for her out of a mailbox. She refused the distinction, instead giving it to P.M, who had successfully completed her mission to deliver Jade's package to John in the distant past. The means by which she went about this have yet to be seen.

John entered the Land of Wind and Shade (LOWAS) by having Rose build up his house to the first gate, fighting through many imps and ogres with his powerful new alchemized weapons, and entering the gate. This took him to a location beneath the clouds, far below his house. The LOWAS turned out to be a large windy planet, full of dark terrain, incandescent trees, networks of pipes, and oily rivers. In addition to hosting more powerful adversaries, the land is occupied by friendly consorts, a race of salamanders. They help John understand the mythos of the land, and inform him of the planet's persecution by a sleeping denizen, which is responsible for clogging the pipes with oil, and trapping fireflies under the clouds.

Each planet has a sleeping denizen, which the players must first wake, and then kill, in the course of their journey through the seven gates. Rose's planet, the Land of Light and Rain (LOLAR) is a multicolored ocean planet with white sandy islands and pink ruins, and has a denizen responsible for killing all life in the water. Dave's planet, the Land of Heat and Clockwork (LOHAC) is a lava planet, covered in industrial steel frame structures and turning gears, and has a denizen of yet unknown qualities.

Killing the denizen releases a huge grist hoard buried at the core of the planet, which is then used to fuel a process known as The Ultimate Alchemy. Along the way, the kids are meant to learn about their destined roles in this quest as the Heir of Breath (John), Seer of Light (Rose), Knight of Time (Dave), and Witch of space (Jade). Over the course of their quest, the dark kingdom will inevitably defeat the light kingdom. The Black Queen and King will take control, and initiate The Reckoning. This affects a belt of meteors, called The Veil, which orbits far from Skaia, between the four planets and Derse, and is host to various lab facilities used by the kingdoms. The Reckoning causes the meteors to descend on Skaia, ultimately destroying it, unless the Black Queen and King can be defeated in time. Skaia however buys time by opening defense portals to catch many of the meteors, redirecting them elsewhere in space and time.

This is the generic template for the way the game is supposed to proceed. It can deviate from this model however, depending on the actions of the players, and the details of the game mythology presented is unique to each group of players and their session.

Long before John and his friends started playing the game, another group of players had been persistently trolling them, particularly Jade. They are furious about an action she will take that will cause major problems in the four kids' game session, and inevitably lead to their defeat. Specifically, Jade will send a package to John, apparently containing a powerful weapon he will need later. But the package winds up in the hands of Jack Noir, leading to dire consequences. They allude to other things she will do that will lead to not only trouble for the four kids, but the troll players as well.

The trolls consist of 12 kids from an alien planet, who went through the same process as John and his friends, escaping from the annihilation of their planet via meteors, and into the Medium to play the game. Their game session is entirely separate from that of the four kids. It has the same basic template, with its own Skaia, Prospit, Derse, Veil, and a planet for each troll, but separate game instances of these. They also have different instances of the same character templates, such as the kings and queens, and agents like Jack Noir.

The trolls have completed their game session with yet unknown results. They now reside on a meteor in their Veil, sitting at terminals trolling John and company. From their terminals they can choose any point in the past or future of the kids to troll, and observe what they're doing at that moment. As a group, their only stated objective is to harass the kids, which they do so haphazardly throughout different points in the kids' timeline. Though they can choose any point on the kids' timeline to talk, they are mostly resigned to the understanding that no matter what they do, they can't change the outcome of the kids’ actions.

The four most vociferous trolls so far have been carcinoGeneticist, gallowsCalibrator, grimAuxiliatrix, and adiosToreador. (The other 8 being apocalypseArisen, twinArmageddons, arsenicCatnip, arachnidsGrip, centaursTesticle, terminallyCapricious, caligulasAquarium, and cuttlefishCuller, each yet to be heard from.)

carcinoGeneticist (C.G) appears to have spearheaded the group's trolling campaign. While he was in the thick of his game session, the exile commanding him from a terminal in the apocalyptic future was Spades Slick. This is one difference between his game session and John's, who had W.V as an exile commanding him. In C.G's session, his version of Jack Noir became exiled along the way, and took on the name Spades Slick. Three other agents were exiled, and the four of them formed a gang called the Midnight Crew, and spent years building up a dark city in the future wasteland of the trolls' dead planet. Another difference in the trolls' session is that at some point along the way, the Black Queen was also exiled, later joined a rival gang called The Felt, assumed special powers that make her highly inadvisable to kill, and came to be known as Snowman. It was not until Slick confronted The Felt in their mansion that he discovered the station terminal to command C.G, and not before Snowman blinded him in one eye, severed his arm, and locked him in a vault.

Each troll has a different trolling strategy, and a different rhythm by which they hop around the kids' timelines to chat with them. C.G's strategy, for the most part, was to begin trolling them at the very end of their adventure, the moment at which he was most angry with their actions, and then gradually work backwards, mostly talking to John. This proves to be mutually frustrating though, as John knows less and less about the situation the further into the past C.G goes. Similarly, the further into the future John progresses, the more he has the advantage over C.G by knowledge of his future conversations with him, and vice versa. Over the course of the opposing directions of the two sides of the conversation, John learns more about the nature of the game and why they're being trolled, and in spite of hostility, they gradually befriend each other through an inevitability alluded to on both sides of the conversation.

Early in the correspondence between John and C.G, which is to say late for C.G, C.G discovers he needs to get in touch with Jade, who refuses to talk to him in that time period. So he delivers a message to her much earlier, months in her past, telling her she needs to contact him when she's in trouble. She will know to do this when her dreambot explodes in the future, an outcome that has not yet happened.

Two other trolls, grimAuxiliatrix and adiosToreador (G.A and A.T) have targeted only Rose and Dave thus far. G.A has hopped arbitrarily back and forward in Rose's timeline to talk to her, and is attempting to cultivate a friendship with her that now seems rigged through a series of conversational time loops, while seeking counsel from Dave on how to befrend her. A.T sought counsel from Rose on how to troll Dave more effectively, after getting severely counter-trolled by him. He is under the impression he rebounded nicely though.

gallowsCalibrator (GC) has stayed mostly linear in her trolling patterns, and has done so under the guise of helping the kids on their quest. She convinces John to take a shortcut through his land, shows him the denizen's palace, leads him to warp back to his house, then shows him how to fix the faulty rocket pack he made earlier through an alchemy mishap. She tells him to use the rocket pack to fly up to the seventh gate, enter the denizen's palace, and kill it in its sleep. He complied with this, and flew through the seventh gate, in spite of reservations from Dave, who'd just entered the Medium the moment before John took off.
GC also assisted Rose, just after she bested an ogre with ease. She counseled her on understanding her role as the Seer of Light, and the meaning of the voice in her head as an exile issuing commands from a terminal. In her case, it was the exiled White Queen issuing commands from the egg shaped station in the future. Since Dave is Rose's server player, the terminal station from Dave's impact site issues commands to Rose. Just as the station at Rose's site, which W.V found, issues commands to John, her client player.

After conversing with G.A, Rose found Jaspersprite and interrogated him about the secret which she found so maddeningly mysterious years ago. He explained elements of the mythos of her land, and how she’d need to learn to play the rain to produce the musical analogue of a genetic code to reintroduce life into the ocean. In response to her question about his secret, he simply replied "Meow." She mistook this for more nonsense, but it was in fact the secret he told her years ago. The four letter sequence MEOW unlocked a genetic code in her subconscious, which she would spend years scrawling on her wall using those letters in place of the typically used GCAT letters, while completely oblivious to the scrawlings and their meaning just as John was. As Jaspers said, she would understand their meaning when her dream self wakes up.

Rose's dream self lives in a tower on the moon of Derse. Dave's dream self lives on the same moon in the other tower. It was suggested by Rose's future self, who is fully awake in the tower, that Dave had already been awake in his tower all along without realizing it. This was suggested in a conversation she had in the future with Dave. It was an alternative future timeline not meant to be.

This future timeline came about by this series of events.

Dave was able to enter the Medium by connecting with Jade as his server player. Jade got copies of the game from the frog ruins, after she delivered John's package to her past self. She snuck into the ruins while Bec was asleep, and retrieved the game from a lotus time capsule which had been ticking down for millions of years. The game was Dave's copy from the future, the same one that fell out the window with the impaled crow. Once she got the game, the time capsule started ticking down again, set to expire 413 years later, when the exiles are there. She dropped some items in the ruins, leaving them there for A.R to find, and leaving her bass jammed in the elevator. Bec then found her there, took her back to her room, and grounded her there for the rest of the evening.

She quickly helped Dave set up the game, upgrading his alchemiter heavily, and crafting the special item he needed to enter the Medium, a red egg, which needed to be incubated and hatched to activate. She prototyped his kernelsprite with the impaled crow, which would affect the enemies later, including the Black Queen. The sprite built a nest on top of his apartment's antenna tower, and stole the egg to incubate it for hours. A very large meteor was soon bearing down on his city.

Dave then entered the Medium through a series of unseen events. Jade was asleep, thus forbidden by Dave from interacting with his environment at all. Jade complied for fear of retribution. Dave was faced with the Crowsprite, which appeared to be suggesting he prototype it again with the remains of Lil Cal. Dave consulted with John on this, who was about to rocket up to the seventh gate. John had no advice, and proceeded up through the gate against better judgment.

Dave prototyped the sprite with Cal. John entered the palace, presumably found the denizen, and was easily killed by it, as was the intent of GC's trick on him. This meant John could not establish a connection with Jade to rescue her from the looming meteor, and Dave and Rose lost contact with her, presuming her dead. Dave and Rose then spent the next four months in the Medium, advancing as far as they could to collect information before Dave decided to travel back in time to change events.

Dave used his time tables to go back to the moment he was about to prototype with Cal. Both he and his past self strongly urged John not to go through the gate. John was reluctant at first, but soon reconsidered, and flew down beneath the clouds. Future Dave then gave Present Dave all his advanced gear, and prototyped the Crowsprite with himself to make Davesprite, thus serving as his own guide from the future.

Before going back in time, Future Dave convinced Future Rose to go to sleep. He suggested her dream self would be unaltered by the timeline shift, and in her dream state she would remember the events from the future. When Dave went back, Rose's future dream self assumed the position of Rose's present dream self. Rose fell asleep, and on Derse's moon, she instantly woke up. She then saw all the genetic scrawlings she did in MEOW letters, and understood their meaning.

Meanwhile on Derse below, the Black Queen again insisted that Jack Noir abide by the dress code. He refused, and the queen threatened him. He picked up Jade's package to John, removed what was inside, and used it to slice her ring finger off. He then killed the Black Queen, put on the ring, and donned the full upgrade supplied by the three prototypings.

He then became Jackspers Noirlecrow, which is a name I just made up now.

And then after that you started watching me type in this ridiculous study I photoshopped for myself with my cool horse painting propped up in the background.

A.H: I didn't read any of that. Do something less boring.

[Image description: The man holds his head. An orange puppet arm with a white mitten pokes on screen from the bottom right.]

> MSPA Reader: Shut the hell up.

A.H: Retrieve arm from background.

[Image description: The man looks to the right. A picture of a crude, hand-made Cal puppet comes on screen.]

Huh? Oh.

Cal, please. Not now.

A.H: Why don't you keep drawing Homestuck or something.

[Image description: The man tilts his head downwards and vibrates slightly.]

Oh, but I don't merely draw Homestuck...

(Type "Next", I am about to make a joke.)

Ok. Next

I conjure this intrepid fantasiescape with tears bled from the wisdom-weary eyes of fifty thousand imaginary magicians. I pull heavy drags from the brumes of inspiration with enchanted bellows marauded from a guild of churlish mythical dwarves. Vast bulbous riddlespiders push the silken strands of pure whimsy through hideous abdominal spinnerets and it is that with which I weave this audacious cocoon of exquisite lies. And when it hatches a great moth of titillation will awaken and roar and beat its wings, and the powder settling down will arrest the humors of an enormous terrible old beggar, relaxing the vulturous leathery vicegrip he's fixed around your captive mind.

A.H: This is stupid. Stop being a wiseass and get drawing.

[Image description: Hussie sits back at his computer. Several image files are open. One is of him typing, another is him during the monologue, and the top one is of the Fourth Wall. A second image shows the screen in more detail.]

Alright. It won't be that exciting to watch though.

I'll pull up Photoshop again. Here's the file I was using for the fourth wall.

What do you want me to draw?

A.H: Can you show us what's going on with John again?

[Image description: Hussie opens another file. This one is of John swooping just underneath the clouds on LOWAS.]

Sure.

How about if I drag the content from one of the John files under the fourth wall layer, so we can make a more graceful transition out of this ludicrous, highly disruptive self-insertion arc?

A.H: That sounds like a good idea.

[Image description: He clicks and drags the picture of John to the wall. When he releases, it snaps into place underneath it. A second image shows another Wall file, this time with Hussie drawing this exact panel on his screen.]

Oh! And then you can type something like "Switch wall's view to show us what's going on with John."

Here, I'll prepare the GIF file for that. It'll just take a few seconds.

Go ahead. Say that.

Switch wall's view to show us what's going on with John.

[Image description: It shows the completed panel of him drawing the same panel within the fourth wall. The image inside it flashes, then changes to John flying across the sky.]

You decide that's entirely enough of that. If this website becomes any more self-aware in a playfully self-deprecating yet weirdly self-aggrandizing manner, you're going to go drown a bag of puppies in a sewer.

John: Answer GC.
pesterlog
gallowsCalibrator [GC] sent ectoBiologist [E.B] the file "LOWAS Map dot FL4" E.B: what's this?
Gc: it's your world map with your second gate labeled so you can go there
E.B: oh man, let me drop everything and go there, because I'm in such a huge hurry to take more of your advice!
Gc: john please give me one of your human breaks I feel awful about killing you even though technically you never even died so I dont know what youre bitching about (frowning face with furrowed brows)
E.B: yeah, well, dave said I did, and I believe him!
Gc: that is because he and you are best pupa pals four lyfe cant I be your pal too john???
E.B: I don't know, I thought you were ok for a while, but now you are kind of giving me the creeps!
Gc: jegus john
E.B: what?
Gc: I am invoking the name of your earth jegus to express frustration
E.B: you mean my earth jesus?
Gc: I dont know do I
E.B: do you have a troll jegus?
Gc: john we have the best troll jegus you dont even know
E.B: wow, really? or is this a joke?
Gc: its a joke im not really sure what a jegus is (face with furrowed brows and a question mark for a mouth)
E.B: well... neither do i, I guess. it's pretty much not anything.
Gc: john will you please follow the map?????
let me earn your trust if you dont like whats on the other side of the gate you can just turn around!
E.B: um...
ok. I'll take a look.

John: Open map.

A small blue spirograph pulses. A green pin labeled B marks the spirograph Click the pin.

This is the second gate go in here. I promise you wont die this time. Unless you screw up all by yourself. (Smiling winky face with furrowed brows)

John: Proceed to the second gate.

[Image description: John flies towards a blue spirograph on top of a spire of dirt.]

John: Enter.

Despite the pandemonium of your entrance, Rose is still sound asleep. She must be really tuckered out!

It looks like this little guy is awake and ready for action though. He is adorable. You decide to name him Doctor Meowgon Spengler.
John: Answer Dave.

T.G: wow ok
you're a little early but that's fine i guess
also you suck at rockets
E.B: ARGH!
T.G: what
E.B: she tricked me again.
T.G: who
E.B: GC.
she told me how to get to the 2nd gate.
so i went through, but it took me to rose's house instead.

another prank!
T.G: dude you did go through the second gate
i mean i don't know why you would listen to her again kind of moronic but that's a whole other issue she didn't trick you this time
E.B: oh...
then, i don't really get this.
T.G: what were you expecting this is how it works the progression of gates is like this whole round robin thing cycling through each planet gate 2 on your planet leads to gate 2 on roses then you build up to gate 3 above her house which leads somewhere else on her planet you look for gate 4 somewhere there which leads to gate 4 above my house and so on E.B: wow, ok.
T.G: ordinarily rose would have already gone through her gate 1 but she’s sleeping pretty hard obviously and ordinarily you wouldn’t have gone through gate 2 until her house was built up so you wouldn’t fall to your death but you got your cheat rocket so that's fine see we all got to coordinate on this thing
E.B: ok...
how do you know all this?
T.G: fuck
come on dude
E.B: oh yeah...
you're the orange dave.
hey no offense, but do you think i could talk to the real dave for a second?
T.G: god dammit
i am the real dave
you know the one who saved your life im more real actually cause ive been through some heavy shit already hopping around on red hot gears and i-beams for like a year and grinding shit out for your ungrateful ass here look check out this code from the future not that you deserve it WIin189Q
youre fucking welcome E.B: wow, calm down!
i'm sorry, that's not really what i meant...
i mean, of course you're a real dave, but what i mean is... the dave from my time is also my friend, and i guess he's in the same boat i'm in, not knowing stuff and all.
and i'd feel bad keeping him out of the loop!

[Note: this TG is Dave and uses red.]

T.G: yo
E.B: oh, hey.
i think i pissed off your future self.
T.G: what did you do
E.B: i said he wasn't the real dave.
T.G: ahahahahaha
E.B: i think i might have really hurt his feelings though!
T.G: pff
dont worry about it
E.B: why not?
T.G: cause i wouldn't give a shit and he’s me
E.B: ok.
i'm in rose's room by the way.
T.G: what really
E.B: yeah, but she's asleep!
T.G: ok
dont go anywhere
im coming down to the computer
E.B: ok.

[Note: This is Davesprite again.]

T.G: dave is here he wants to use the computer probably to help you scope out roses room and snoop and stuff i mean thats what i would have done if you were alive
so im gonna go use these flappy ghost wings and tear shit up in space or something

E.B: man, i don't know how i feel about that!
i don't really like the idea of capering around her room while she's asleep, it feels weird.
i'm going to wake her up.
T.G: dude no come on she's out like a light anyway it was some like weird future thing that happened that made her sleep
E.B: a future thing?
T.G: yeah
shit doesn't get more clear than that E.B: well, yeah, she won't wake up.
so i guess so.
but i'm not snooping!!!
T.G: fine dont
but here just do this one thing see those two notebooks on the floor behind you
E.B: yeah.
they look sorta like journals.
i don't think i should read those!
T.G: you dont have to read them im not telling you to just pick them up

you know like tidy up a bit since you made a royal fucking dump of her room just now i see what you're trying to do.

i won't tell you the code for rose's books!
T.G: dude you dont have to tell me the code just flip it over and let me know if theres a code there thats all E.B: ok...
i guess.
yeah there's a code.
T.G: alright cool
you can ditch the books now if you want maybe put them back on the floor so rose doesnt think you were snooping seriously youve got some grubby fingers bro why dont you mind your own business there what is even with you
E.B: HAHA DAVE,
I THINK ALL THIS LAUGHING MADE ME POOP IN MY PANTS TOO HARD.
T.G: isnt that your birthday package there
E.B: oh, yeah, i think it might be.
T.G: maybe you should look at it i dont think it counts as snooping since its technically yours E.B: yeah, maybe.
i wonder if she finished...
she was so tight lipped about the damn thing! i am really curious.

You eye your birthday package again curiously. It's awfully tempting to peek inside, but you feel guilty about it for some reason, even though it's yours anyway.

You suppose a perusal of her bookshelf would be harmless enough. Just a bunch of books. The knowledge within is meant for everybody.

Dave pesters you with the message, "T.G: afdsjjjjjjvjvffffffffffffffffffffffffffffff" which you decide not to bother dignifying with a whole pesterlog ordeal because it's probably just him being a truculent jackass again so screw him.

These are words to cherish.

This is a man to treasure.

You captchalogue Rose's autographed copy of This Ocean Charles. Jewels of wisdom like this don't just fall into your lap every day, and shouldn't be parted with lightly.
You doubt she'll mind if you borrow her book. She's always trying to get you to read her weird books anyway.

John: Oh, just open the package already.

[Image description: John picks up the purple birthday package and looks inside.]

You can't take it anymore. You're going to see what's inside.

Next

[Image description: John lifts the item out. It’s a patchwork bunny with parts that are blackened and dirty and other parts that are made of purple striped fabric. It is in the same shape as the bunny Dave sent John.]

John,

[Image description: It shows a note from Rose to John. It is written on nice stationary with a polkadotted purple border around the edge and a pair of purple tangle buddies in the top left corner. It is written in slanted cursive and purple ink.]

John,

I never got to thank you properly for your gift. Yes, the words were there. Language comprising the familiar veneer of gratitude rubbing off with each tired favor traded for. A God bless to a sneeze or a few pennies cradled in a receipt. Perhaps it's the deplorable romantic in me, but I thought your present, and your friendship, demanded reciprocation surpassing by some degree the utterly meaningless.

The proper thanks I thought would be a demonstration that your offering was not in vain. Yes, maybe some would take your suggested alternative to my gloomy preoccupations as a passive-aggressive jab. But I know you didn't mean it that way. In fact, I'm sure reading about it now is the first time the notion has occurred to you. John, please stop rolling your eyes. The letter is down here.

The gift in this box is a resurrection. I used your present to thread life anew into a tattered heirloom. As long as I can remember, its black, greasy appendages have been tethered limply to its ratty, porous carriage. Too delicate to wash, too dear to discard. I used to love this rabbit. Now he's yours.

I trust you'll find this to be adequately sentimental. Happy birthday.

Rose

John: Put the bunny back in the box.

This gift from Rose is so cool. Two sweet bunnies on one birthday?? What are the odds. In a fit of enthusiasm you shut up and jam the bunny back in the box, executing a textbook chaos dunk.

Millions would have perished, if everything in the ocean weren't dead already, that is.

John: Take box.
You gently Chaos Dunk the fragile bunny back in the box and captchalogue it. It is such a nice present. You will have to write Rose a thank you note and tuck it under her hair band or something. Wait no, that would probably be creepy.

This bunny reminds you that you still have a salamander in your sylladex. She is holding the bunny Dave got you. It's sort of uncanny how similar they are, aside from the knitted enhancements. Seriously, what are the odds?? So weird.

John: Deploy beloved daughter.

You release dear, precious Casey. She was probably getting antsy in that card. You think you'll leave her here with Rose. A dangerous quest is nothing to embark on with a sweet, innocent little girl stashed in your inventory.

You aren't actually sure if she is a girl though. You don't even know if salamanders can be girls. Aren't they hermaphrodites or something?

You don't know anything about biology. Unless it is biology that has to do with ghosts and slime. But even then you don't actually know anything, you just sort of like to pretend you do.

Looks like a troll is bugging Rose.

John: Answer troll.

G.A: I'm supposed to antagonize a few members of your trivial species. I have to start somewhere. And someday. So I am starting with you. And now. It's going to be pointless and unpleasant mostly for me. Actually you know what? I'm not really feeling this at all. Goodbye.

T.T: yeah, i got him this really cool bunny for his birthday, and it's really nicely knitted and everything.
because i am basically in love with him, you are right.
G.A: Uh Okay
T.T: heh, just kidding. i'm sure john knows it's cause i am really thoughtful and i bet he really appreciates the present, and would say thank you if he were here!
G.A: Okay Human Courtship Is Definitely A Strange Thing And Its Sort Of Blowing My Mind Listening To This I Think Ill Talk To Someone Else Now
T.T: why don't you talk to john?
G.A: Maybe When Along His Timeline Would You Recommend Communicating With Him
T.T: oh man, i don't know.
why don't you pick the time that will make the most complicated mess out of everything imaginable?
T.T: you know that's what you're gonna do anyway.
G.A: Considering That Youre Obviously Not That Smart

I Am A Bit Perplexed As To Why I Find Myself So Vehemently Fondling The Short End Of The Antagonism Stick Here
Kind Of Irritating

T.T: ok.
if you talk to him in the past...
he'll understand even less buggy whipped fuckall about time, and he'll be confused.
so maybe paste something from this conversation to him? i don't know.
and if you talk to him in the future...
he'll probably know all this stuff, like things you've said to him but haven't said yet!
and then you'll be confused.
sorry, that's just how this works.
don't say i didn't warn you!

Rose: First, be the pony. Second, follow Mom.

[Image description: Maplehoof still stands outside the tunnel Mom entered. A second image zooms in on her.]

You are now the pony.

You stand outside some ruins which your beloved master’s mother entered recently. Outside you find a striking scarcity of oats or greenery or anything at all that is delicious to chew on. This is as compelling a reason as any to follow her inside.
Maplehoof: Enter.

You go in the ruins. Your clopping hooves echo throughout the cavernous and foreboding environment. But you are too stupid to be nervous.

Your powerful snout detects the scent of Rose's Mom. She went this way.

Maplehoof: Follow scent.

Good grief, look at all this grist. A large and terrible monster must surely have been slain here.

Maplehoof: Collect grist.

You pick up all the grist, and store it in Rose's Grist Cache.

This is entirely too much grist of too many exotic types for such a low level player. But you'll take it. You don't look a gift horse in the pink heart tattoo.

The grist overflow is gathered by the Grist Gutter utility supplied by Grist Torrent. It is stored and gradually redirected to other players.

Maplehoof: Proceed.

Rose's Mom stands on a small platform and disappears.

You are a little nervous about transportalizing yourself. As a quadruped, grisly bisection strikes you as a very real possibility. Even though you're too dumb to think of such things.

He gathers the clean hat, along with a shoe he found through similarly serendipitous means to replace one he lost.

Dad looks down at a small building half embedded in the rock. The man who looks like Grandpa stands in front of it with the Colonel Sassacre’s book under his arm.

Grandpa lookalike stands on a blue transportalizer platform and disappears in a blue flash.

Dad follows him.

John: Visit Rose's alchemiter.

You decide to try out the code Davesprite gave you.

John: Make item.
massive wedge shape three times taller than John. It’s called a Fear No Anvil. It costs half a million build grist, half a million dark red grist, half a million blue diamond grist, half a million yellow cube grist, and one white diamond grist.

The thing is huge, and costs a fortune. Half a million pieces of build grist, garnets, diamonds, and gold, and a single piece of quartz.

There's no way you can make that, let alone wield it, even with your ghost gloves.

John: Shrink it down.

You use the alchemiter's scaling upgrade to reduce it to a more manageable and affordable size.

You make a weapon called Fear No Anvil.

John: Pester Davesprite.

There's nothing to fix. Just got to open the viewport. It's easy.

It shows the computer screen. In the background, a Trollian window takes up the whole screen. It has an icon that looks like a black troll face with short but decently curved horns next to the name. A list on the right side of the screen has 4 names next to spirographs. ectoBiologist and ghostyTrickster are in blue, tentacleTherapist is in purple, turntechGodhead in red, and gardenGnostic in green. Another window on top of the trollian window shows four arrows pointing upwards along the entire length of the window. They are blue, purple, red, and green to match the kid’s colors. The purple one has a dot a little past the halfway mark with a line extending from it that leads to a chat titled “trolling tentacleTherapist”.

And you somehow doubt the culprit was this young upright amphibian presently throwing a fit.

Rose: Go find John.

You hurry to the door so you can catch John before he goes gallivanting off somewhere.

But it seems your door is ajar. Funny, you don't remember leaving your door ajar. Even though it's sort of absurd for you to take note of such a thing, considering John recently left your room.

Oh well, it doesn't matter. You will now proceed through this door uneventfully.

Rose: Proceed through door uneventfully.

You get dumped on by a bucket full of Hellacious Blue Phlegm Aneurysm Gushers as a thoughtful but mischievous thank you gesture from John.
Your Prankster's Gambit plunges to an all time low. You cannot hope to defeat Egbert in a prank-off. He is simply the best there is.

John: Equip trusty rocket.

Ok, this is the most ridiculous thing you have ever seen. What is taking place here is almost certainly illegal.

You're not sure which laws are being broken, but it is probably a lot.

A.R (question mark): Follow.

[Image description: Cal and the rocket board hover above a dark purple transportalizer. They disappear in a white flash and A.R runs on. He jumps onto the platform and disappears too.]

John: Explore.

[Image description: John flies quickly over the sea.]

[Image description: He comes in above the island Mom and Maplehoof took the boat to.]

You spy a boat on the shore of one of the islands below. You wonder who could be out here rowing in the middle of the ocean.

John: Investigate.

Hoofprints in the sand. The mystery deepens.

John: Enter.

[Image description: John stands in the turtle hallway. Two large, grey, skeletal creatures flank him. A label above one of them names them Caulk Litch. John raises the Fear No Anvil and prepares to attack.]

There are many frightening and powerful monsters in here.

John: Aggress.

[Image description: John smacks the right litch’s feet with the hammer and both monsters glow red. A strange symbol that looks like some sort of clock appears over the litch John’s hitting. A second image shows him hitting it in the skull. It’s head cracks and Crazy Damage Bonk hovers below the point of impact.]

You stun them with the cool time powers of your awesome new hammer, and then dispatch them swiftly.

John: Collect spoils.

[Image description: Grey droplet grist and diamonds cover the floor. Mutini sits nearby.]

The good Doctor Spengler helps you gather the riches.

John: Proceed.
There's a platform over here. You guess you'll go stand on it oh wow it just made you disappear.

Grey meteors hover in space. There are five large ones close to the camera and countless more in the background. All of them have square, grey buildings on them as Hussie described in his End of Year One recap. The one in the center of the screen has a large, multi-level facility with a grey spirograph logo on the side.

Next

It zooms in on the central meteor.

Next

John and Mutini appear on a grey transportalizer in a facility that looks a lot like the troll’s. Cables hang down from the ceiling and there are more transportalizers on either side of the one John appeared on. A colonel Sassacre book sits on the floor next to John’s transportalizer.

John: Explore lab.

John steps down from the transportalizer. Mutini sits on the Colonel Sassacre’s book. Maplehoof, Dream Lil Cal, and Dad’s oil-splattered hat are all nearby.

Now what in the hell is going on in here.

John: Explore lab further.

John stands near a massive machine. There are three giant, cylindrical vats with chess pieces inside. One has a black rook, one has a black knight, and one has a white bishop. Wires run from each piece to the top of the vat, where banded grey tubes only slightly narrower than the vats go up into the ceiling. Smaller vats crowd around the bases of the larger vats. Most of them are full of black or white carapaces, but a few are empty. All of the vats sit on a wide, black, circular platform. John stands on this platform, giving a scale to the vats. The small ones are about twice John’s height and the giant ones are four times larger than the small ones.

Now what in the hell is going on in here.

John: Who cares, just ride the pony already.

It shows a quickly sketched drawing of John riding Maplehoof while wearing a cowboy outfit. His vest has a slime on the left breast and he waves his ten gallon hat in the air as Maplehoof bucks. Mutini sits on Maplehoof’s butt.

Yes. Fuck Yes. Hell Fucking Yes.

Next

It cuts back to the room of vats. John now sits on Maplehoof’s back.

But seriously what in the hell is going on in here.

John: But seriously, keep exploring.
You find a sweet getup. It's almost as if it was tailor made for you. How weird would that be???

John: Put it on.

You equip the Junior Ectobiologist's Lab Suit.

John: Examine nearby station.

Now What in the Hell Is Going on in Here???

Of course it's obvious what's going on in here. It's another one of those four monitored house-shaped terminal thingies.

A.R (Question mark): Resist urge to ride bro's rocket board.

You fail to resist the urge.

You start thrashing up stunts something uncannybrutal on your quest for "Mad Justice Yo" and get this way rude municipality under control. Shit is basically flying off the hook. It's like shit wants nothing to do with that hook. The hook filed for divorce from that shit and is now seeking custody of the hook and the shit's two kids.

A.R (question mark): Pop a fucking wheelie.

These hops are unreal. Shit this flagrant should be illegal. It probably is.

But you don't care.

You pilfer the White Queen's Ring.

P.M (Question mark): Depart.

You receive an incoming message from the Draconian Dignitary. You tell him you've got the ring. He says good, bring it to him while he waits for an update from the Hegemonic Brute who's been tracing the king's movements down on the battlefield.

He asks if you're still wearing that ridiculous outfit. He says you don't have to anymore, by orders of the Sovereign Slayer.
You say...

You say you'd still rather wear the outfit.

He's got nothing to say about that.

Of course that was just an imaginary transformation, since the ring doesn't work like that on humans. It was fun to pretend though.

Meanwhile, in a Timeless Expanse...

Somewhere, a Warweary Villein rues eternal struggle between feuding royalty.

The Battlefield holds little promise for the peaceful life of a simple farmer.

[Note: Villein is spelled V I L L E I N and is a term meaning a feudal peasant who works on a lord’s land.]

[Image description: Two chess pieces, a white king and a black king, move in a slow, endless chase around the edge of a chessboard with only nine spaces. Neither one can catch up to the other, but neither changes their pattern to try. Four translucent grey orbs hover in the corners of the screen against a background of clouds. The song Skaian Skirmish begins to play. The chessboard and kings turn into white silhouettes and blue light beams out from them. The orbs become solid and John’s kernelsprite appears in the center of the screen. It pulses for a moment, then flies into the top right orb. The chessboard suddenly expands to full size and the kings are upgraded with harlequin hats in their base color. More chess pieces also appear, making a full, harlequin-themed set for either side. The sets face each other on the diagonal, splitting the chess board up the center of the screen.

Rose’s kernelsprite appears in the center of the screen. The board and pieces go white again as it flies into the top left orb. The board becomes a checkerboard patterned cube dotted with lakes, rivers, and patches of grass. Small chess pieces are scattered on all sides.

Dave’s kernelsprite appears in the center of the screen and goes to the bottom left orb. The cube turns white, then the entire screen flashes. The cube reappears much smaller, than instantly grows into a giant sphere. The surface is still checkerboard patterned, but the squares are almost too small to be seen. Lakes grow to the size of seas and patchy grass turns some of the surface green. The bottom right orb is still empty.

It begins to zoom in on this checkerboard planet and fades to white as it gets closer. It fades back in on checkerboard hills scattered with a few spindly trees. Skaian clouds pass overhead. It pans up, showing checkerboard mountains in the distance. Everything fades to white and a landscape with a checkerboard castle with yellow banners in the distance fades in. White carapaces stand near patches of grass. The stalks reach almost shoulder height on them and the checkerboard squares appear to be massive.

Everything fades to white, then to a yellow banner fluttering in the wind. It goes back to white and fades in on an army of black carapace soldiers. Their uniforms are simple but colorful and they all wear identical, simple hats that match the color scheme. Each one has the black king’s symbol, the pentagon with the towers, on their chest. A few carry purple banners bearing the same symbol, but most hold grey swords and purple shields. It fades to a purple banner fluttering in the wind.
A nearly identical army of white carapaces fades in. Their uniforms are more pastel and their banners and shields are yellow, but otherwise they are the same. They all bear the symbol of the White King, which is identical to the Black King’s, but in white.

It cuts to a smoky, burning battlefield somewhere on the checkerboard planet. The ground is scorched and black and white carapaces battle in hand-to-hand combat. A black carapace comes on from the right and a white one from the left. They cross swords and another pair comes on and does the same. The black carapace seems to have the upper hand and the larger weapon, but the white carapace catches the black one’s sword with a spear handle.

The screen flashes white and it changes to a grey shuttle with a grey spirograph on the bottom hovering in the sky. Black carapaces slide down ropes from a large open door in the side, descending down onto the battlefield to help their comrades. High above the shuttle, more shuttles of various sizes and what looks like a large yellow steamship with part of a city on top fly by.

It cuts to a wide, distant view of the battlefield. Corpses, mainly white carapaces, litter the ground and the burning grass sends up massive plumes of smoke. Two purple flying ships face off against two yellow ones as ash and embers rain down from above. One of the yellow ships has a cloud of smoke billowing up from a section near the back and appears to be falling. In the distance, hulking silhouettes of tentacled horses, harlequin monsters, and large winged creatures block out part of the sky.

It cuts to the hulking figures, revealing that they are large, insect-like chess pieces. A black horse, a knight, faces off against a white bishop. It cuts to a more peaceful part of the planet where white carapaces and large, muscled white rooks stand around, waiting. Suddenly, the base of a black chess piece slams into the ground, knocking all of them over.

It cuts back to the tattered scarecrow. The outfit on it resembles a battered version of the Derseite uniform. It fades to a wider view. A small, trailer-like home sits among a field of grass. It has an awning over a window and several potted plants in and below it. A small red flag flies above the house. The screen flashes and suddenly the quaint farm is burning. A black carapace in a purple, hooded tunic stands just outside the house. It zooms in on him, then cuts to him holding his scorched flag atop a hill. He looks down at a battle raging in the distance. Everything there burns too.

It cuts back to him, revealing that he looks very much like the Wayward Vagabond. It fades to the scarecrow, which now burns against an ash-darkened sky. It cuts back to the carapace against a red background. He glares and an image of the black king’s crown appears above his head. It looks like it was made by splattered paint. Or splattered blood.

It zooms in on the crown and it turns into the real one atop the Black King’s head. A large harlequin hat sticks out from it and he has the same facial spurs and eye scar as the queens. It cuts to a wider shot, showing him in his entirety. He also has a missing arm, the tenacles, and a sword through his stomach. Rather than wings, he has two insect-like spikes coming from his shoulders. He wears a short tunic with vertical stripes. The top section is pink and the bottom is split between yellow on the left and green on the right. Over this, he has an open red striped shirt with short sleeves. He also has a purple, floor length cape that closes with a clasp in the shape of his symbol. He carries a short black scepter with four orbs around the top. All of them except one are white. At the end of the scepter is an orb that looks like a very small version of Skaia. The Black King towers over the rooks and carapace pawns that surround him. The rooks barely reach his hip and the carapaces are less than knee height. Tentacled knights and winged creatures lurk on the horizon.

It zooms in on the Skaia orb atop the scepter until it takes up the entire screen, then flashes to the checkerboard planet within Skaia. The scene turns grey and a silhouetted shadow of what Jack Noir became when he stole the Black Queen’s ring moves across the battlefield. It cuts to Jack Noir, the Sovereign Slayer, flying through the skies of Skaia to find the Black King.

It cuts to the black carapace from the farm. He stands on top of a hill with his banner, holding up a hand like he’s telling someone to stop. The carapaces locked in battle from before suddenly pull back and take a look at the carapaces on the other side. They take a moment, then all line up together, alternating between black and white in a joint army. It cuts to a massive, dark checkerboard castle in a forest. The Warweary Villein leads his joint army to march on the fortress. It cuts to P.M standing by the transport, which is now on the checkerboard battlefield. She pats her hip and an alert shows a picture of the White Queen’s ring with several question marks beneath it. It cuts to the White King, who looks identical to the Black King, except that his clothes are recolored and he is white. His tunic is pink and two shades of yellow, his shirt is blue, and his cape, which closes with his symbol, is a teal-green color. P.M stands at his feet and he looks down at her. It cuts to his scepter, which he shakes slightly. The orbs disappear and it cuts back to the King. He becomes a white silhouette and shrinks down to a normal sized but boxy and insect-like carapace. He hands the now orbless scepter to P.M. She takes it and it cuts to her kneeling and holding both the scepter and his crown. A black carapace who looks identical to Hearts Boxcars peeks over a hill in the distance. It zooms in on him, revealing that he’s holding a radio. It cuts back to W.V leading his joint army on the castle. They come to the Black King, who towers over them all. W.V glares up at him. Suddenly, he looks up and to the right, looking worried. It cuts to Jack Noir flying in over them. He grits his teeth and glares. It cuts to him holding a black sword and swinging it down. The Black King looks worried, then it cuts to a black screen with a motion blur. When that fades, Jack Noir is flying past the Black King’s scepter, which he has sliced the top section off of. The portion with the orbs and the copy of Skaia slowly falls and the Black King flashes red. He turns white after a moment, then shrinks down to a normal sized carapace like the White King did. Jack Noir lands in a crouch some distance away, but it immediately cuts to the Boxcars-like carapace, who rears up and opens his mouth wide like he’s about to attack P.M, who stands in front of him. She sweats nervously and it suddenly cuts to her flying backwards from a punch in the face. She drops the scepter, which goes flying. It cuts back to the joint army led by W.V, who blinks up in confusion. It cuts to Jack Noir glaring down at the carapaces. He steps forward and slices with his sword. A red motion blur crosses the screen and it cuts to the Black King’s head falling to the ground, leaving a trail of blood behind it. It fades back to the White King’s scepter flying through the air. It falls over the edge of a cliff with a waterfall. Jack fades in, putting the Black King’s crown on his own head. W.V narrows his eyes at him. It zooms out to show the whole planet, then even more to show Skaia. The black background fades to a river as the White King’s scepter fades in. The scepter sits on a narrow island in a river and its Skaian orb rotates slowly.]

A poorly photoshopped, squished Santa sleigh and reindeer fly above an equally badly photoshopped winter scene. A cabin sits on a snowy hill and a giant holly plant and wreath hover near it. There are multiple watermarks from stock image companies on it.

Sweet Bro wears a shitty santa costume and fake beard. A grate is to his left and is labeled “great”. To his left is a pair of black boots helpfully labeled “boots”. A blue speech bubble branches off to his left.
shit.
lets be santa

He holds one of the boots like he’s going to put it on.
fuck

He tries to shove his foot into the boot backwards.
come ON

It shows a close up of his face.
sign ...

He tries again.
fuck.

And again.
who would even make these.......

He tries putting them on backwards again.
conksuck boots anyway

He tries so hard his leg bends where it probably shouldn’t.
imigrants??..

It shows three close ups of the grate in a row. The last one has the word BIMP over it in large, lime-green letters.

Three panels in a row show the grate slowly falling away from the wall, revealing Hella Jeff with a stupid expression on his face and his hands on his cheeks.

The grate falls completely away. A red speech bubble appears below Hella Jeff.
and the night before christmas........

It shows the same image, but cropped a little.
and all through then house

Half of a red speech bubble is cut off at the bottom of a panel with nothing else in it.
not a creature

Geromy sticks halfway out of a shitty chimney. The sky behind him is blue with large white circles, but it’s unclear if the circles are supposed to be stars or snowflakes. White text on the snow-covered roof can barely be made out.
God Bless Us Evrybody]

Rose: Combine hub and laptop.

[Image description: It shows the excursus open. Rose’s laptop overlapped with the hub creates the Hubtop, which costs 30 build grist, 100 white cube grist, which is chalk, and 70 dark grey drops, which is Caulk. A second image shows Rose standing next to the hubtop. It looks just like the green laptop with the atom on the back from her future dream self’s room.]

You make the Hubtop.

That one was pretty obvious.
Rose: Combine bronzed vacuum and umbrella.

[Image description: The excursion shows the bronze vacuum overlapped with the umbrella. This makes the Bronzed Vacuumbrella at the cost of 150 build grist, 150 bronze bean shapes, which are iodine, and 70 shale. It looks like the vacuum with an umbrella stuck onto the handle. A second image shows Rose looking at it suspiciously as the umbrella part bobs up and down.]

You make the Bronzed Vacuumbrella.

Useless.

But you're still getting warmed up.

Rose: Combine salamander and eldritch plush.

[Image description: The excursion shows Casey doublepunched with a plushie with a squid-like head. This makes the Huggable Soft Salamancer Plush for 10 build grist. It is almost the same as the eldritch plush, but with a rounder head and Casey’s coloring. A second image shows Rose and Casey standing by it. Casey dances and blows bubbles excitedly.]

You make a Huggable Soft Salamancer Plush.

You award it to the Viceroy on account of good behavior.

Rose: Combine ink bottle and Gushers.

[Image description: The excursion shows the ink bottle from the top of her bookshelf overlapped with the gushers. This makes the Bodacious Black Liquid Sorrow Gushers for 100 tar. A second image shows the box up close. It is an entirely black box with minimal white lettering and marks. Other than the characteristic splash and text, the only other clearly visible decoration is a white, angry-looking squiddle just below the Betty Crocker logo.]

You make a box of Bodacious Black Liquid Sorrow Gushers.

Another Crocker nightmare rears its ugly head. The ink reverses the healing properties of the blue phlegm. These are pure poison.

Rose: Combine hubtop and hair band.

You make the Hubtopband, a convenient hands-free computing device.

Rose: Combine magnetic W and bottle of vodka.

[Image description: The green W magnet overlaps with a bottle of vodka from Rose’s mother’s stores. This makes Magnetic Wodka, which looks like a W-shaped flask, for 20 cobalt, 10 diamonds, and 50 mercury. A second image shows Rose standing next to it with a blown up image of it next to her for detail. The one she’s standing next to has a W magnet stuck to it. Rose stares down at it in confused disappointment.]

You make a bottle of Magnetic Wodka. In addition to having high alcohol content, the liquid inside appears to have magnetic properties.

You...

You GUESS this could be useful?

Rose: Combine wizard statue and ball of yarn.

[Image description: She overlaps a wizard statue with a purple ball of yarn. This makes the Silken Wizardbeard Yarn (with Magical Properties) for 100 cobalt, 200 iridescent purple grist, which is Amethyest, and 250 red grist, which is Garnet. The yarn is a white ball of yarn that glows blue. A second image shows Rose narrowing her eyes at the wizard statue with the Wizardbeard yarn on the ground next to her.]

You make a ball of Silken Wizardbeard Yarn (with Magical Properties).

It has magical properties because it is made of a wizard.

Maybe you can make something with magical properties that is more useful than this.

Rose: Combine wizard statue and knitting needles.

[Image description: The wizard statue and knitting needles overlap cards to make the Needlewands. They look like regular knitting needles, but they are blue with yellow spirals winding around them. Small red spheres are on the ends. They cost 1000 diamond, 2000 chalk, 3000 garnet, and 500 gold. A second image shows Rose wielding them next to the wizard statue, which is now missing most of its upper body and is smoking.]

You make a pair of Needlewands.

They crackle with the majyyk enyrjjies.

It is time to make something cool to wear.

Rose: Combine knittings and velvet pillow and squiddle shirt

[Image description: The excursus shows the pile of knitted clothes that Rose slept in earlier overlapped with the velvet pillow, then doublepunched with Rose’s squiddle shirt. This makes the Velvet Squiddleknit Dress for 2100 amethyst, 700 gold, and 1 tar. A second image shows Rose wearing the dress. It has a bodice striped with dark purple and black. Thin yellow straps go up onto the shoulders, but there’s also a section of dark grey fabric that covers the rest of the shoulders and chest, like she’s wearing it over a short sleeved shirt. The skirt is a brighter purple than the purple on the top, and it falls to her ankles. There is a thin gold cord for a belt that is tied on her hip. A white squiddle is situated in the center of the belt. Her headband has turned yellow to match the belt and straps and she wears black shoes. The dress gives her a sort of ‘gothic queen’ vibe.]

You make a stylish Velvet Squiddleknit Dress.

Rose: Combine needlewands and grimoire.

[Image description: The excursus shows the needlewands overlapped with the grimoire to make the Thorns of Oglogoth, which looks like black and grey versions of the needlewands with tentacled skulls instead of red orbs. They cost 6000 iodine, 5000 chalk, 4000 amethyst, 3000 gold, and 666 tar. A second image shows Rose wielding the wands. Behind her, in a thought bubble with shredded, almost splatter-like edges, is Oglogoth, the eldritch monster with two mouths and three eyes.]

You make the Thorns of Oglogoth.

The needles seem to shiver with the dark desires of The Deep One. Any sane adventurer would cast these instruments of the occult into the Furthest Ring and forget they ever existed.

Next

[Image description: Rose still wields the wands. She and Casey stand on the alchemiter platform among all the things they just made. Casey is still celebrating her plushie, which she bounces on her head.]

Next

[Image description: It zooms out. All sorts of monsters are scattered around her house and island.]

Rose: Aggrieve encroaching malefactors.

[Image description: Rose swings her wands and glares. They crackle with purple and black energy.]

Next

[Image description: She blasts two liches with a burst of red energy that also surrounds her.]

WELCOME TO THE PARTY MOTHERFUCKERS

Jade: Build.

[Image description: Dreambot stands by the lagoon with the frog temple in the distance. It is now fully night and two frogs stand behind her. She has the lunchtop out and a holographic screen shows Dave’s roof, which now has a few more bits of building on top of it.]

You take advantage of Dave's nap to make some architectural headway on his building.

Next

[Image description: The building is much, much taller now. It reaches the first gate. Three basilisks fly around it and other monsters stand on it.]

You are really proud of your floorplan. It is so cool

Next

[Image description: Dream Jade stands on one of the walkways of Prospit’s moon with her tower in the distance. Her lunchtop shows the same thing that Dreambot’s did. Three carapaces, two in uniforms similar to P.M’s, but without the skirt portion, and one in a pink headscarf and a short dress watch. The one with the headscarf carries a bucket of white paint.]

Speaking of naps, you have been asleep for some time yourself. You suppose you'd better wake up soon.
But then, your neighbor in the other tower is supposed to be waking up soon too, and it sure would be a shame if you weren't around to greet him!

Dave: Wake up and jam.

[Image description: Dave shouts and swings his turntable sword. The ground around the alchemiter is littered with little bits of grist. A red tinted imp with wings stands under a platform behind him and a yellow one stands at the top of a set of stairs. A second image shows him standing on the alchemiter platform. He still wears the broken record suit that Future Dave turned Davesprite gave him.]

And by jam you mean alchemize of course.

Whoa your house is huge suddenly.

Anyway let's get this party started.

Dave: Combine sunglasses and iPhone.

[Image description: The shades and iphone overlap in the excursus. This makes the i shades, which are the normal sunglasses with faint apple logos on them. They cost 50 build grist and 2 yellow drops, which is amber. A second image shows him wearing them. The edges glow faintly. Now he looks just like Future Dave did before he jumped into the sprite.]

You make a pair of i shades.

This one was really obvious cause future Dave had a pair, but he took them with him when he prototyped himself. But now you have a pair too so that's cool.

Dave: Combine timetables and computer.

[Image description: The floating, gear-shaped turntables that Future Dave brought back overlap with Dave’s computer. This makes the Turntop. Each of the timetables has half a keyboard on top of it and a computer screen floats between them. It costs 600 build grist, 1200 garnet, 900 mercury, 300 gold, and 1 diamond. A second image shows Dave using it.]

You make the Turntop.

Convenient computing on the go. Sort of like you have with your ishades, but with all your important files and apps on there. Not to mention sburb.

Plus Maybe it has some weird time powers?? You have no idea. You'll mess with it later.

Dave: Combine puppet tux + smuppet.

You upgrade the Puppet Tux future Dave made. He probably made it by combining one of your Bro’s badass marionette suits with your shirt, and scaling it up to fit. That's how you would have made it anyway.
You add a Smuppet to the mix to make a softer and more stylish Red Plush Puppet Tux. It is like walking around in snugly pajamas.

Action Pajamas.

Dave: Combine broken Caledscratch and ruby contraband.

[Image description: The excursus shows the turntable sword, apparently called Caledscratch, overlapped with a red frog. This creates something unknown, represented by a blue question mark. It’s name is also question marks. Making it would cost 50000 build grist, 200000 red gusher grist, which is Ruby, 10000 quartz, and 1000000 of an unknown grist type.]

You combine a couple more items you got from future Dave's loot stash. The broken form of Caledscratch, and some Ruby Contraband, whatever the hell that is.

The resulting item costs a fortune. You have no idea what it is.

Dave: Preview item with holopad.

[Image description: The item and name fill in the excursus. It’s a Broken Scarlet Ribbitar, which looks like a broken red sword with a lilypad shaped crossbar and a frog at the base of the blade. A second image shows it hovering over the holopad.]

You momentarily reconfigure your alchemiter upgrades to make use of the Holopad Extension. You pop the card in the Slot and Check it out.

The combination would produce the Broken Scarlet Ribbitar.

Dave: Combine whole Caledscratch and ruby contraband.

[Image description: The excursus shows the same equation, but this time with Caledscratch extended. It makes the Scarlet Ribbitar for twice as much as the broken one. A second image shows it hovering over the holopad.]

Out of curiosity you try it again with a whole sword.

You dial back Caledscratch’s little turntable, rewinding the sword to a point in its history before it was broken. You then combine it with the red frog thingy to show the complete Scarlet Ribbitar.

But there's no way you can afford to make that yet. It costs even more now.

Maybe you'll stick to combining items around your house for now, rather than stuff from your future sylladex. It'll be less confusing that way, and probably less expensive.

Dave: Combine shitty sword and Hella Jeff drawing.

[Image description: The excursus overlaps the shitty sword and the Hella Jeff drawing. This makes the SORD….. At the cost of 0 build grist. It looks like a toddler tried to scribble a sword with a bright blue crayon, then added some decoration in other colors. A second image shows Dave holding the abomination. A third image zooms in on his hands, now drawn in the Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff style. His hands basically phase through the handle.]]

You use one of your Bro's really shitty swords from the fridge and a printout of Hella Jeff to make a SORD…..

This thing is so unspeakably shitty you are having a hard time even holding it.
Dave: Combine Snoop Dogg photo and mini A/C and Caledscratch

[Image description: The excursus shows the Snoop Dogg photo overlapped with the tiny AC Dave made earlier, then doublepunched with the whole Caledscratch. This makes the Snoop Dogg Snow Cone Machete for 1000 build grist, 2500 cobalt, 10000 chalk, 10000 amethyst, and 1000 diamonds. It looks like Caledscratch, but thinner and with the turntable replaced by a dog house like the one from Charlie Brown. In fact, Lucy and Charlie Brown are drawn on it. In the center of the dog house, between the two kids, is a small fan. A second image shows Dave holding it up against a background of pillars. Snoop Dogg is also in the background, on the left side of the screen.]

You make the Snoop Dogg Snow Cone Machete.

When foes drop it like it's hot just turn up the blizzizzle nozzle so they chizzlax fo' rizzle.

Dave: Combine skateboard and Hella Jeff drawing.

[Image description: The excursus shows the skateboard from the kitchen overlapped with the Hella Jeff drawing. This makes the UNREAL AIR, which costs 0 build grist. It is a shitty, artifact-ridden skateboard. A second image shows it hovering next to Dave.]

You make Unreal Air.

Next

[Image description: The Unreal Air floats up and to the left. A second image zooms out on Dave’s house. It flies off to just above the gate.]

And there it goes.

It is Ridiculous what kind of air this thing is getting. Dude come get the ruler check this out.

Yeah, it's not coming back.

Dave: Make another one.

[Image description: Another one floats next to Dave. He captchalogues it immediately.]

You just make another one.

You quickly stash it in a card so it can't escape from above.

Dave: Combine Gamebro Magazine and timetables.

[Image description: The excursus shows the Gamebro magazine overlapped with the timetables to make a Vintage Gamebro for 5 build grist. A second image shows it in more detail. A blonde boy in an oversized blue sweatshirt plays an old-style video game. The image is done in a very 80’s style and looks like it was hand drawn. In the background, a guy wearing a neon yellow sweatshirt and bright teal shorts with large but non-continuous geometric designs on both pieces does a flip on a skateboard. The text on the cover reads

Gamebro
Exclusive Bro Strategies]
The Hottest Secrets: Shh
Challenge Your Thumbs to the MAXIMUM Outrageous Video Stunts at Your FINGERTIPS
Where are all the Secrets? In Here Bro.]

You turn back the clock and make a Vintage Gamebro.

You think you remember this one from your Bro’s stash. It's a classic.

Dave: Combine batarang + Midnight Crew poster.

[Image description: The batman symbol throwing star overlaps with the midnight crew poster to make Sutarangs for 20 build grist and 4 tar. A second image shows them up close. There are four of them and each one looks like a suit from a deck of cards that’s mirrored to make it symmetrical. The red heart is mirrored at the curves, the club and spade are mirrored at the base, and the diamond is mirrored at one of the tips. It meets in another small diamond, otherwise the connection point would be unstable. A third shows Dave standing next to a massive pile of them.]

You make a whole pile of Suitarangs because they are really cool and pretty cheap.

Dave: Combine plush puppet tux + Midnight Crew poster.

[Image description: The excursus shows the Plush Puppet Tux overlapped with the midnight crew poster. This makes the Four Aces Suited, which looks like a black version of the same suit with a white normal tie instead of a bowtie. It costs 50 tar. A second image shows Dave wearing it. The Plush Puppet Tux stands up on its own beside him.]

You make Four Aces Suited.

You aren't really sure which one you like better. The red one is softer, while the black one is sort of stiff and starchy. Anyone wearing this suit is all business.

Maybe you'll switch it up as your mood dictates.

Dave: Combine plush puppet tux + Felt poster.

[Image description: The excursus shows the Puppet Tux overlapped with the Felt poster. It makes a set of Felt Duds, which look like a green version of the suit, but now with tails. It costs 50 green gusher shaped grist. A second image shows it on the holopad.]

This would make the Felt Duds, if you had some of whatever that green grist is.

Dave: Combine smuppet and Felt poster.

You make a Jutting Out and Impudent Felt Plush.

You do an acrobatic fucking pirouette off the handle and into his heart. And he, into yours.

Dave: Combine dead things in amber && smuppet.

[Image description: Four dead things, a beetle, a centipede, a scorpion, and a spider, encased in You make a Foam Mutant Smuppet Encased in Amber.

Now we're getting somewhere.

Dave: Combine dead things in amber ll smuppet.

[Image description: He does the same equation, but this time with the card doublepunched. This makes the Amber Mutant Smuppet Abomination for 11 build grist and 33 amber. It looks like the mutant smuppet, but rather than being encased in amber, it is MADE of amber. A second image shows Dave looking at it. The one encased in amber and the smuppet are still on screen.]

For the sake of science, you (doublepunch)-combine them instead of (overlap)-combine.

You make an Amber Mutant Smuppet Abomination.

So cool. Now this is how you make shit work. Egbert and Lalonde should be taking notes.

Dave: Combine fetus in a jar and Mr T puppet.

[Image description: The excursus shows a black fetus in a jar overlapped with the Mr T puppet to make the Foam Fetal Mr T in a Jar for 25 build grist and 1 rust. It looks like a brown fetus with an afro mohawk and a beard in a jar. A second image shows it on top of the mutant smuppet in amber. The felt smuppet now sits just behind the proboscis of the amber abomination.]

You make the Foam Fetal Mr T in a Jar.

Another backbreaking victory for science.

Next

[Image description: Dave leans back against the block of amber and crosses his arms. He looks Cool. A second image shows several imps and a basilisk looking on while frowning.]

You're looking pretty chill with your new freakshow entourage.

The underlings all look kind of put off by it though. You're kind of weirding them out.

Dave: Combine camera and captchalogue card.

You make the Captcharoid Camera.
You can use it to snap a ghost image of any object without captchalogueing it. Spits it out on a brand new captchalogue card every time. Could be a useful way to take a large inventory of anything you encounter without cluttering up your sylladex. Also for grabbing codes for stuff you can't ordinarily pick up.

Dave: Take photo of self.

You take one of your patented ironic cool guy self portraits.

Man. So cool.

That's really all there is to say on the matter

Dave: Combine fetus in a jar and self portrait photo.

[Image description: The fetus jar is overlapped with the Dave's captchaghost selfie, making Dave's Brain in a Jar for 1 billion of an unknown grist type. A second image shows it on the holopad.]

That would apparently make Dave's Brain in a Jar. Gross.

It costs a king's ransom though because of course the organ is virtually inimitable.

Doesn't stop you from captcharoiding its hologram though.

Dave: Captcharoid the hologram of your own brain.

Ok, that's probably the weirdest thing you've ever done, but ok.

Dave: Combine brain and SBaHJ drawing and captcharoid camera

You make the SBAHJifier.

Finally, something useful.

It cost you negative 1000 units of Artifact Grist.

Dave: Try it out.

[Image description: Dave takes a picture of Davesprite with the SBAHJifier. Snap.... Hovers above it. A second image shows it printing out a Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff comic with a whuuuurr.... A third image shows the comic.]

Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff
Hella Jeff holds a shitty orange sword. He says bro whered you go i was going to shoa you my chops.... ..
ahah dude are those wings?

Sweet Bro, who has orange wings now, flies towards a shitty orange and yellow ball. time to fly up away to the sun you fucknig piece of gargbage

A squished, desaturated image of Hella Jeff is underneath the previous panel. He says UM. OKAAAAAAAAAAAY?

A tiny, overly-saturated Hella Jeff next to the desaturated one says the only thing thats left to really do is wtahc that ass whole fall.]

Looks like it automatically prints out a SBaHJ comic in some way related to whatever you take a picture of.

This should save you a lot of time. Specifically the five minutes it takes you to draw a comic. You're a busy guy.

Next

[Image description: Dave stands on the alchemiter among all the shit he just made.]

Dave: Make copies of Rose's journals.

[Image description: Copies of Rose’s journals sit on a now otherwise empty platform.]

Can't forget the most important thing you came up here to make.

Gotta be gettin' your snoop on.

Dave: Take a look.

[Image description: Dave sits with his legs dangling over the edge of the roof. He holds the journals in one hand. A second image shows the titles, both of which are written in Rose’s handwriting and purple ink. One is MEOW, the other is Complacency of the Learned.]

One book is titled "MEOW". The other is titled "Complacency of the Learned".

Gee, you wonder what could be in MEOW.

Dave: Read it.

[Image description: It shows a page of the Meow book, which has endless iterations of M, E, O, and W in the meow code from Rose’s wall.

journalog
MWOEWEOWOEOEOEOWMW
[Note: this goes on for 17 lines but has been shortened because no one wants to hear MWMWOMM for like half an hour.]

Next

[Image description: Dave stares down at the book.]

To no surprise at all, this book is full of more MEOW letters. Looks like Rose is totally nuts. What else is new.

You guess you'll try out the other book. Looks like it's some sort of creative writing project.

Dave: Read Complacency of the Learned.

[Image description: It shows a page of Rose’s other book. It is written in her looping cursive and in the same purple ink she always seems to use.]

jurnalog
Frigglish bothered his beard, as if unkinking a hitch in a long silk windsock. A more pedestrian audience would parse the exhibit as nervous compulsion. Behavior to petition contempt among the reasonable. He was however not surrounded by the reasonable, but the wise, a distinction in men that would forever be the difference in history's garland of treasured follies. As a matter of fact, his cadre of fellow wizards were all putting similar moves on their beards as well. The practice would evince thoughtfulness - sagacity, even - if they didn't do it all the time. Standing in line at the bank. Shooing squirrels from bird feeders. Few occasions were safe.

Zazzerpan inspected the clue. A single piece of evidence cradled in his coriaceous old man palms. It was a human bone, not striking in the tale it told alone so much as that told by the thousands like it festooning the marshy soil of the mass grave. The grisly expanse bore the texture of a decadent dessert, like one of Smarny's formidable custard trifles wobbled out on wheels for the holidays, to the dismay of a small nation.

"You're certain of this?" asked Frigglish. Despite what he was doing with his beard, he was, in fact, immersed in meaningful contemplation.

"I am afraid I am becoming more so with each terrible tick groused by that gaudy timepiece slung around your neck." In case it wasn't clear, Frigglish wore a clock Zazzerpan didn't care for. It was magic. "The massacre of Syrs Gnelph was not as written."

"What has you convinced it was the hand of our disciples in this blackness?" Executus chimed in.

"I believe... I..." a fat face stammered, eyes darting with the guilt of a thief in the throes of an unraveling alibi. "I can summon a... more pressing line of inquiry..." No, Smarny. Nobody was in the mood for a sticky bundt loaf just now.

Zazzerpan's ears fell insubstantial to any line of inquiry, pastry-oriented or otherwise. His abstruse contour carved a pondering shape in the fog carpeting centuries-dead. His eleven contemporaries too embraced the muted consternation of their great Predicant Scholar. Few wizards kept sharper adumbratives or read them with such lucidity. When Zazzerpan treated men with silence it was seldom unrepaid by the wise and reasonable alike.

It was harrowing to entertain. Zazzerpan the Learned's storied Complacency of Wizards was marked for grander descendence. Disciples hand-picked, vetted by Ockite the Bonafide and tested by Gastrell the Munificent. The twelve sweetest, most studious children a pair of elderly eyes could give their sparkle. Not the ragged guttersnipe so oft-harvested by the common Obscenity, those vituperative little beggars with hearts to corrupt as dropped bananas brown. That these chosen youngsters would turn was not merely unthinkable, but something of a roundhouse to the temporal bones of the Upper Indifference's high chamber of Softskulled Prophets.

His wisdom-savaged brow pruned further with recount of his many lessons to wouldbe successors. Lessons to advance humanity's elucidation and prosperity, an outcome this bleak trail now painfully obviated. There were few puzzles The Learned could not suspend and dissect in the recondite manifold beneath his extremely expensive pointy hat. Daring to pitch his cherished pupils in with the foul melange of history's rogues, the heretofore abstract scourge that built up civilizations with ungodly magic and tore them down with joyful malice, would prove an intellectual trespass to make his calcium-deficient bones quake.

And more daring yet was the only question that now mattered. Could a bunch of bearded, scraggly old men in preposterous outfits hunt them down? He didn't have an answer. Only a simple observation so blunt and uncharacteristically jejune for the lauded sage it was breathtaking in its selfevidency.

"We're going to need more wands." (Wow. Think of something better.)

This wizard story seems really involved and kind of confusing. You'll have to save your place and dig into it later, and then maybe ask Rose what the hell the deal with it is.

Dave: Go get a bookmark.

You return to your room in search of a bookmark.

Oh, hey. Finally a use for that pointless juice stained beta that will never serve any purpose, past or future.

T.G: whoa why are you burning your wizard fanfiction T.T: I'm not.
This book contains a genetic code.
T.G: oh ok
then why are you burning that T.T: The gods from the Furthest Ring asked me to.
T.G: is that some dumb wizard thing you just made up or something to do with tentacle monsters
i cant keep track of what you like anymore
T.T: How did you know I wrote a story about wizards, anyway?
T.G: john told me
he was all snoopin around your room while you were asleep and i was like no man dont so not cool
then he was like haha dude check it out this book is full of wizard slash and i was like i dont even want to know this is such a crazy violation of privacy T.T: This story sounds suspicious.
T.G: do you want me to chew him out about it i will because that was so outrageous i dont know where he got off being like that T.T: No, I don't actually mind.
Too bad I missed him.
T.G: i thought you hated wizards whats the deal with that T.T: I like wizards.
What I don't like is my mother's obsession with feigning interest in them to antagonize me.
T.G: oh man thats so messed up that you think that she probably digs wizards for real just like you and youre blowing shit out of proportion like pretty much always you and she could probably have been chatting up how awesome wizards were this whole time but
no
youre probably burning your nutjob meow book to spite her too arent you
T.T: No, I told you.
It's one of the gene sequences locked in my subconcious.
The gods say it's critical to destroy it.
T.G: oh yeah
i thought that was a joke when did they say that T.T: When I was asleep.
T.G: you mean when we were dancing and stuff in our dreams
T.T: Yes.
When I flew to your tower, I heard them.
They're far above, in the dark sky.
T.G: ive never seen or heard these things in my dreams
T.T: Aren't you often distracted?
By music and puppets?
T.G: uh yeah
T.T: Have you ever looked into the sky without your shades?
T.G: no what a ridiculous question
T.T: Maybe you should try it some time.
T.G: dot dot dot dot
T.T: You're the prince of the moon.
T.G: dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot
t.T: I'm sure they've been meaning to seek a royal audience.
T.G: dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot dot t.T: What do all these dots mean........
T.G: dunno
T.G: anyway yeah i guess ill do that
T.G: get some sky monsters to boss me around sounds cool

T.G: so really why are you burning that T.T: I just explained this to Other Dave.
Do I have to explain everything to you twice now?
T.G: no i know
im using daves spare computer i saw the whole conversation through his pesterchum account T.T: Oh, I see.
So instead of having to double explain, I merely have to put up with being double spied upon.
What a relief!
T.G: i just mean you didnt burn that book in the future that book was completely pointless
T.T: I know.
But now it's not.
You appeared to make it relevant by traveling to the past.
T.G: so does that mean the sleeping thing worked you remember the future
T.T: I remember some things.
T.G: ok cool
so why is the cat code so terrible now
T.T: I don't know.
But the gods were pretty emphatic about it.
T.G: well ok i guess its done but why are you so sure theyre right T.T: Have you ever known them to be wrong?
T.G: i guess not but they sort of freak me out i mean listening to gross space mutants all day isn’t my idea of an awesome time especially the ones that sing oh god
T.T: Is that why you always kept the music turned up?
T.G: no i flip out to ill jams because they kick ass
obviously
T.T: I guess we'll chalk another riddle up in the solved column.
T.G: yeah case the fuck closed

[Note: Now Dave is messaging her.]

T.G: are you talking to future me
T.T: Yes.
T.G: ok im out of the loop again between you taking orders from dream beasts and bird wing me with like future secrets
im doing some sort of spectacular fucking jackknife off the loop and getting a wink and a nod from barack obana
im coming upstairs
T.T: Ok.
Dave: Chill with Davesprite.

Dave: so it was pretty funny how i made a copy of roses evil book right before she burned it and now she doesnt know about it Davesprite: i know its crazy what kind of foresight this guy has im telling you coincidences like that are unreal they dont even happen most of the time
Dave: the best thing about how i did that is how it in no way will ever come back to bite us in the ass ever Davesprite: dude our shit is SAFE
Dave: so safe
Davesprite: gonna sleep pretty sound tonight with that big fucking payload of safety you just got dropped on us gonna be all huggin my pillow and shit grinning like a goddamn bear full of honey Dave: safer than some flintstone vitamins in a bottle keep twisting junior all you get is clicks Davesprite: asshole thinks its candy doesnt even know he just stepped on a security rake and got a face full of fucking safety
Dave: yeah
anyway guess ill go back down and burn that book Davesprite: alright

Dave: Go back in time and stop the thief.

You switch again to a view of your neighborhood, on April 13th, 1996. It is the day of your birth.

There is more real estate you do not recognize near the recently devastated baked goods facility. It is a shopping mall you have never seen before.
John: Zoom in.

[Image description: It zooms in on a street corner to the left of the mall, where a lone figure stands. A second image zooms in more. It is Rose’s mom, who wears a pink scarf and holds Baby Rose in her arms. There are two stores visible, but only one has a name. It is called the Pranksters Gambit and its sign features two harlequin heads, one that is smiling and one that is frowning. The window has a large decal of Nanna’s face. Dad stands just outside it, next to a large but mostly leafless tree. A third image zooms in on Dad and a fourth shifts to Mom. A crosshair appears over her face. A fifth image shifts to a lower angle and shows a meteor flying across the sky.]

A professional lady and new mother has traveled from the opposite coast at the behest of a famous and wealthy scientist to study one of numerous recent celestial anomalies while he is on expedition.

She notices a meteor overhead, on collision course with a quaint family joke shop. A distinguished gentleman notices the lady and comes outside to greet her, oblivious to the threat above. The gentleman’s mother remains inside, busying herself with a tall bookshelf, a ladder, and a rather hefty unabridged joke book.

Next

[Image description: Dad jumps back as the meteor slams into the joke shop, throwing copies of Colonel Sassacre’s everywhere. The word Sassacre! Pulses above the impact sight.]

An old mother lost today, but a new son gained.

Next

[Image description: A pink scarf smudged with soot lays on the ground near some rubble and Dad’s shoe. A second image shows Dad holding it to his face and sniffing it.]

The gentleman discovers a clue. A powerful nose detects perfume. The lady has fled. The mystery deepens.

Next

[Image description: Mom stands on a hill overlooking the neighborhood. The crosshairs still focus on her. Baby Rose sits in the grass behind her, clutching a very dirty, beat up stuffed bunny.]

But the monitor has not lost track of the lady.

John: Press blue button.

[Image description: A paradox imprint of Mom appears on the platform. A second image shows the goo filling the last empty vat. A third image shows screens on the front of both machines flashing with letters, all different arrangements of G, C, A, and T. Several small green lights also flash.]

You create a Paradox Ghost Imprint of the professional lady. The sludge fills the final tube.

Once all the tubes are filled, an automated sequence begins to execute.

Next

[Image description: It zooms out. Four babies appear in white crackles of lightning on a round platform in front of the machine that has the four circles logo from the blue button. The leftmost one looks like a baby version of Mom, the next like a baby Grandpa, then a baby Nanna, and a baby Bro.

Four young Paradox Clones are created.

John: There's one more button to push.

Ectobiology sure does involve a lot of button pushing. At least it does when you're a junior ectobiologist.

Your loyal assistant Doctor Meowgon is all over this one.

Next

[Image description: The tubes drain into containers within the machines. Nanna’s slime combines with Grandpa’s in the left machine, and Bro’s and Mom’s combine in the right. A second image shows the letters and green lights flashing again.]

One pair of tubes empties the sludge into the chamber below.

The other pair does as well.

Another sequence is activated.

Next

[Image description: Four more babies appear on the platform. Baby Jade appears in the back, Baby Rose appears next to her mom, Baby John appears to Rose’s right, and Baby Dave appears between John and Bro.]

John: Scale echeladder.

[Image description: John’s echeladder screen appears. He is standing to the list’s left, wearing his ectobiologist outfit and his blue hat, which has a large green feather in it. The babies all crowd around him, but Baby Dave clings to the side of his head and Baby John sits on his hat. The rung list now has a scroll bar on the left side and is only about a quarter of the way up. From bottom to top, the ranks on screen are Stoutrunt Mr Snoozyprince Mcsleepypants Calloused Tenderfoot Overbite Upstart Britches Ripper Scampermaster You Are the Star. Its You Junglegym Swashbuckler Unreal Heir Gritty Midget Rascalspray Rungjumpin' Ragamuffin}
Scurrywart
Sharkbait Sparkplug
And Ectobiolobabysitter

Ectobiolobabysitter flashes as boondollars spew from the slot at the top of the machine.

You storm up your Echeladder to claim the coveted if difficult to pronounce rung: Ectobiolobabysitter.

Your ladder is absolutely hemorrhaging the boondollars. Just what your porkhollow's fat ass needs. Next [Image description: A pile of boondollars sits in the bottom right corner, but most of the screen is taken up by a massive item that is shaped somewhat like a brick of gold, or like a rectangular prism if someone sloped the sides inwards. The item has a flashing, circular logo in the center with narrow triangles of red, purple, and yellow radiating outwards. The purple ones are concentrated on the left side and the yellow ones on the right, but the red ones are evenly distributed. A blue spiral surrounds the flashing logo, tinting all the stripes blue. Beyond that, a hazy white oval surrounds it. At the far reaches of the oval are two Boondollar symbols. The left one is white and the right one is black. In the four corners of the object are four different symbols. The top left has a series of crescents nested inside each other with a small circle at the center, all arranged and offset to make a perfect circle. The bottom left is a square with many bent lines sticking out from it that all nest together to make an octagon. The top right is three nested crescents that are all oriented so their openings face up. The bottom right is a flower of some sort with 8 curved petals.]

You surpass One Million Boondollars and trade them all in for a single whopping Boonbuck. This is of course going directly into the college fund for these youngsters.

Sure is heavy. Into the hollow it goes. Next

[Image description: A blue piggy bank looks up nervously as a large shadow overtakes it.]

Next

[Image description: The boonbuck sits on the ground, surrounded by broken bits of piggy bank.]

Navigating the veil nearby...

An old man has much to do before he returns to Earth, dies, gets stuffed by his adopted-yet-biological daughter-slash-grand-daughter, and stuck in front of a fireplace.

backwards. Both of them look like the flared barrel of Grandpa’s blunderbuss.

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the rigging. Two white figures stand at the top of the central mast.]

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the platform atop the mast. Mom and Dad stand there, just looking at each other.]

[Image description: Dad holds out a long pink scarf. A brown wallet appears in the top left corner and a brown captchalogue card with the scarf on it slides out. A second image shows a fetch modus Wallet card. It has a grey border and a brown central section with a white picture of a wallet in it.]

Next

[Image description: Mom wraps the scarf around her neck.]

C.G: Troll John.

[Image description: John stands on the platform with the babies everywhere. Baby Nanna sits on his head, Baby Jade kicks her feet and tugs on his pants, Baby John lays on his back and kicks while Mutini plays with him, Baby Grandpa sits on the floor and smacks the platform, Baby Mom and Rose sit on the platform, facing each other and flailing their arms, Baby Dave clings to the righthand machine, and Baby Bro sits inside a now broken vat. John is wearing his Serious Business Goggles and an alert showing C.G hovers next to it.]

pesterlog
C.G: see this is a case in point.
E.B: what point?
C.G: the point I was just making.
about the ultimate riddle.
you blithering feculent shithole.
ok that's your cue to laugh at me some more I guess.
because you seem to really get off whenever I flame you.
humans are deranged.
E.B: oh man, I must be getting closer to the conversations where you're trolling me harder!
this is pretty exciting, I can't wait to see what you've got up your sleeve.
C.G: you see what I mean?? Fuck you about that.
E.B: anyway, you weren't making a point about the ultimate riddle, dude.
C.G: yes I was, and now I'm losing my train of thought dipshit.
E.B: nope, we never talked about it.
yet...
C.G: oh hell, that's right.
damnit, I guess this is going to be confusing.
E.B: oh, you're just starting to figure that out now?
C.G: see I kind of painted myself into a corner.
I started trolling you at the end, just before the rift.
and then jumped back a little.
and now I guess I've become railroaded into working backwards here.
unless I want to do the sort of dumb schizophrenic hopping around like the others.
E.B: oh my god, I know, you've already told me like a million times!!!
C.G: I have?
wow I can't wait for all these amazing conversations to take place.
it's going to be like that human vacation with the giant red chimney asshole up in here.
you know, the one where a bunch of moany nooksuckers sing at a little pine tree I think.
E.B: man, I've got to say I'm a little disappointed by this "masterful trolling" you were bragging about.
C.G: I was bragging?
why would I bother with that sort of pedantic human horseshit.
maybe you should consider that I was bragging to get your hopes up in the future.
only to let you down.
and thus troll you masterfully in that respect.
E.B: maybe, but that would be pretty weak too!!!
C.G: your brittle human calcium based skull is what is weak, and if you and I were in the proximity of a blunt instrument I wouldn't have much trouble proving it.
E.B: whatever.
so what was the "case in point" you were making, anyway?
C.G: I was scrolling back and noticed you were in the veil.
E.B: whoa, I am?
C.G: yeah dumbdumb, you're tumbling around on a big goddamn meteor.
and you just created younger versions of yourselves and your guardians.
probably by mucking around with that thing like a doofus.
E.B: wait...
these are baby versions of us?
C.G: hahahahahaha, so clueless.
what did you think you were doing there anyway.
E.B: well...
I saw footage of my nanna, and some other people who I am pretty sure were like jade's grandpa and rose's mom and stuff from a long time ago.
and then...
there were all these little guys scurrying around.
so they are like cloned copies of us?
C.G: no.
they are literally you and your guardians.
paradox clones.
E.B: huh?
what do you mean they are literally us?
do they go back in time?
but technically they aren't even sent back in time because with respect to the medium your universe's timeline is meaningless.
seriously why would it give a crap about earth's past or future or whatever, from it's perspective it's just a bunch of points to choose from.
just like your chronology is from our perspective.
but I guess that's a bunch of semantics. With respect to your personal chronology yeah they go back in time.
a paradox clone is by definition a correctly cloned duplicate that will inevitably go back in time and become the original target that was cloned.
if it's a malformed clone, it's just a meaningless mutant that has no bearing on the stable loop continuum.
I don't see any tentacles or extra eyeballs or warped bone bulges, so those gross little things there are all you guys, waiting to go to earth and grow up and become the insipid bunch of grubfisted douchebags you all are now.
and this was the point I was trying to make about the ultimate riddle.
E.B: what is the riddle anyway?
maybe I can guess, I am good at riddles!
C.G: hahaha, think again ignoramus.
it's not even that great.
or even much of a riddle at all.
in the course of your adventure you would have encountered all these fragments of like weird poems and shit.
you find them along your quests, with clues and stuff buried in them to help you solve puzzles and move huge stone columns and make staircases appear and lots of nonsense like that.
and it's all masked in this flowery sort of frothy poetic jackassery that nobody really cares about.
and I sure as hell don't care about spoiling it for you.
but what all these lofty symbolic allusions boil down to is some grander statement about what you see happening here.
that you were always the key to seeding your own existence through this game.
and any hope that it could have played out differently or that you could have avoided this whole mess was always just a ruse.
E.B: a distaction, perhaps?
C.G: what?
E.B: nevermind.
C.G: because if it didn't go down this way then how were you even born, get it.
which is especially pathetic since paradox space apparently went to all this trouble to make you just to have you fail and die.
really there's nothing more tragic than these null sessions full of kids entering the game and fulfilling some cosmic destiny shit just to get wiped out and leave behind an empty pointless incipisphere for all eternity.
actually it's sort of hilarious.
or it would be if it didn't affect me personally.
but anyway, there's a lot more to the riddle than just that, like what we were just talking about last time we talked.
but that's sort of the gist of the themes it deals with.
E.B: ok.
well, if I run into some salamanders who tell me all about this riddle and get really excited about it,
I will try to act surprised.
so this is the same kind of thing you went through?
with, like, being your own paradox clones and creating your own parents and stuff?
C.G: yeah.
E.B: how did that even work, with 12 of you?
C.G: it was really fucking complicated and I'm not going to get into it.
our family structures are already way more complicated than yours without even getting spooky time slime involved.
basically we have nothing in common whatsoever.
except maybe this...
I was the guy in your position, to make all these clones, and frankly it all kind of freaked me the hell out.
E.B: huh...
yeah, I guess now that you mention it, I am finding it all a little strange...
C.G: oh, only just now???
fuck you are fast, I hope you got the mad boonbucks to pay off those speeding tickets.
E.B: no, no, I mean the ghost stuff and paradoxes are one thing of course...
it's something else.
it's just...
this is really weird...
C.G: what's so weird about it.
E.B: well, normally humans hatch...
from like these slimy pods.
then we wriggle out as a little pink larva.
C.G: oh really.
huh, maybe we have more in common than I thought.
E.B: (hehehehehehehehehe)
C.G: maybe those really are mutant clones and they aren't going back to seed your planet???
E.B: um...
sure...?
C.G: hell, I'm confused now.
not that I give a shit about you and your pointless awful lives.
E.B: hey, I have an idea.
why don't you get back to me in a few minutes?
I mean like a few minutes of my time, not yours.
all of these little pink monkeys are getting way out of line and I have to tend to them.
if you message me in a couple minutes, we can continue conversing in a sane, linear fashion for a change!
C.G: um, ok?
E.B: and then after that you can keep going backwards and then make fun of me riding my little red rocket.
you can tell me I look like a silly little paradox clone fresh out of my slime tube and this is just all a big nurseytime recess jamboree.
that would burn me good!
C.G: ok that is pretty good.
but I can't use it, because you said it, and then later, i.e. Right now, you would get the satisfaction of knowing you were the one to come up with that burn.
see, you are dealing with a pro, you can't out troll me so just forget about it and stop trying.
E.B: (hehehehehehehehehehehehehe)

John: Tend to little pink monkeys.

[Image description: John stands by the transportalizers again. Baby John sits on top of the Colonel Sassacre’s book and Baby Nanna sits inside Dad’s old oil-splattered hat.]

They're scramblin' all over the place!

They appear to be preoccupied by some of the objects littered around the lab. At least it is keeping them busy.

Next
John: Get trolled by C.G again.

pesterlog
C.G: ok it's a few minutes later.
look how sane and linear we are being.
E.B: yeah!
C.G: ok awesome, now fuck you and goodbye.
E.B: wait!
C.G: what.
E.B: I was just looking at all these rascals, and I was wondering... how they go back in time and become us and stuff.
does it have something to do with the reckoning?
C.G: how do you know about that.
E.B: you told me.
we had this great dare going.
to see who could be the least helpful and informative.
and you totally lost, dude!
you were hella helpful.
C.G: I was obviously just spiting your stupid pointless human dare.
what is a dare anyway, it's nothing.
someone says do something and then, oh laugh laugh, you lose if you don't do it.
that isn't anything that deserves a word.
we don't even have a word for dare in our language.
the closest approximation would be "worthless fucking bullshit waste of time for silly little children"
E.B: oh, wow.
is that the title of a movie too?
C.G: yes, it's the title of every dumb movie you ever liked.
E.B: ha ha, that isn't even true and doesn't make sense!
C.G: anyway, how could we have made a dare if I'm moving backwards on your timeline.
you would dare me to do something, then I would do it next time, but then you wouldn't even remember the dare.
because we didn't make it yet.
that's what isn't true and doesn't make sense you damp bag of puke.
E.B: well yeah, the dare never happened, I was joking around and made that up to give you hard time.
C.G: you have sounding stupid down to such a science.
where is your lab coat and test tubes doctor brain professor?
E.B: I am wearing a lab coat!
sort of...
C.G: you look like an elf.
E.B: that's bullshit!
C.G: you look like you should be blowing into a funny little shell, and limbering up for a silly cookie dance.
E.B: do you even have elves?
C.G: yes, let's compare which fantasy creatures that don't exist we both do or don't not have. what a great fucking idea, john!
E.B: uh, what?
C.G: you asked about the reckoning, so why don't we talk about that instead of all these pretty much terrible things.
E.B: ok.
C.G: yeah, so when the reckoning starts happening, all these paradox clones get shipped off to meteors, flung through skaian defense portals, and sent back to earth.
end of story I guess.
bye.
E.B: wait!!!
so that means...
we are all sort of like superman?
C.G: uh yeah, I guess.
E.B: cool!
C.G: you all trace the mythological footsteps of your beloved human superman who's really just a muscular caucasian alien.
it's hilarious how humans worship him as a pinnacle of human heroism and virtue but he isn't even human.
actually it's incredibly pathetic.
but also in a way kind of admirable.
because it means deep down you all must realize who your daddy is.
we are, bitches.
E.B: yeah, superman is pretty cool, I guess.
did you know nicolas cage was almost going to play superman one time?
C.G: oh my throbbing phlegm lobe, who gives a barfing fuck about that.
john egbert, you have assassinated my patience.
adios loser.
E.B: wait!!!!!!!!!!!! get back to me in a couple minutes, ok?
C.G: sd;lkfjsd;lkfjsdlfkj;
C.G: fine.

A.R (question mark): Shred.

[Image description: A.R flies across the void towards a meteor with a giant crater in it. In the meteor is a clean, whole, green version of the frog temple.]
You are ripping up so many hellaceous shreds this fierceshitty biznasty is getting so deliriously rudebrazen it...
Ok you lost the handle on that sentence.
Oh my god, is that what you think it is?
This thing is so completely illegal.

How could this atrocity be floating out here unnoticed all this time?

You are going to throw whoever is responsible into the slammer.

You always call jail the slammer when you are extra angry at crimes.

A.R (question mark): Go in.

There is a large elevator platform ahead.

A.R (question mark): Go down.

Below there is a dark cavernous room.

Near the platform is a Time Capsule. It has deployed a Seed, and waits for something to be deposited, and for the clock to be set.

It is all harmless enough. Still no sign of any perpetrators.

A.R (question mark): Search premises.

Deeper into the darkness of the room there is some complicated lab equipment. Again, nothing particularly unusual for this jurisdiction.

A.R (question mark): Examine equipment.

There is a large monitor. Displayed on it is a small human girl in a fancy house. The date is April 21, 1910.

Next
Eight days prior, the orphan girl was taken in by an aristocratic southern colonel and legendary humorist. He recovered the young lady from a crater where a bakery once stood, operated by the man's wife, a notable baked goods baroness.

Next

There is an explosion in the colonel's back yard.

Land sakes alive, we are cooking with petrol now!

Next

The colonel and his new grand daughter investigate.

The impact site is where a dog house stood moments ago. It was the magnificent abode of the man's beloved pet, Halley.

He takes a belt from the old julep flask. He'd sooner perish himself than lose that dear animal.

Next

People would think reports of the man's death were greatly exaggerated.

But they weren't.

Ah ha! There's Halley. The youngsters adore their new guardian. Good dog. Best friend.

The young boy has difficulty pronouncing the name though. Sounds more like "Harley" when he says it.

A.R (question mark): Fast forward.

[Image description: A slightly older Nanna stands on a grassy hill with a bright blue sky full of clouds behind her. She looks worried and holds out her hand like she’s waving. She is wearing a long sleeve white shirt and a long white skirt. A second image shows a slightly older Grandpa riding on Halley’s back as they run away from young Nanna. He looks back and waves, smiling at his adopted sister. Halley just looks like a happy dog. He wears a copy of his future dead self’s adventurer’s outfit.]

Thirteen years later, the boy develops a taste for adventure. He and his guardian bid farewell. His sister is sad. She will be left all alone with the wicked pastry baroness. She can handle it, he tells her. He believes in her.

[Image description: A.R narrows his eyes.]

It is a high ranking agent from your kingdom.

Could he be the man behind this crime? Could his intent be mutinous?

You know the agent to be far too dangerous to take into custody. You hide behind some equipment and observe.

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the books under the Droog carapace’s arm.]

He appears to be holding some notebooks. Also what appears to be a pair of juice-stained envelopes.

Next

[Image description: One of the books and the two envelopes fly back towards the time capsule. The word Discard is written near them. The book lands on the floor, but the beta envelopes fly towards the time capsule seed.]

Only one of the books is useful to him. The envelopes are useless. And he couldn't make it through more than a paragraph of the other book. Some weird thing about wizards. He discards them.

The spare notebook lands on the floor. The envelopes land in the Seed.

Next

[Image description: The envelopes hover inside the seed, then it disappears and a number appears on the base. It reads 413 million years. The time disappears and a new seed appears.]

The Time Capsule stores the seed, and on account of some default setting, is programmed to bloom several hundred million years from now.

The capsule then readies a new seed.

C.G: ok, I got back to you.
are you happy.
E.B: sure, I guess.
C.G: you don't even know it yet.
but you are about to start passing out bunnies like they're cheap cigars.
it's going to be an embarrassing display.
E.B: what are you talking about?
C.G: yeah, exactly, numskull.
let's just have our chat, then it can naturally occur to you to be an idiot in the due course of time.
E.B: ok...
I was sort of mulling it over while looking at all these babies with guns and sitting on ponies and things...
and how the reckoning takes them back.
and how you said our reckoning starts sooner.
C.G: yeah.
E.B: are you sure it has to start so soon? Can't we delay it?
C.G: hahahaha.
it starts in a few minutes stupid.
see that countdown clock over there?
you aren't delaying anything.
E.B: oh... Dang!
I guess I better get off this meteor then!
C.G: well I mean it doesn't happen all at once.
first some smaller meteors go.
then bigger ones.
spread out over like 24 hours or so.
it's supposed to be like...
go time.
when it starts.
like it's time to hurry up and stop fucking around and kill the boss, get it?
the rock you're on doesn't blast off right away.
too bad, because it would have spared you from making a fool of yourself in a couple minutes, and more importantly, spared me from having to watch.
E.B: ok, well you keep saying how doomed we are and how all this bad stuff happens sooner, but you never say why!
what happens in our game that's different from yours that makes things go so badly?
C.G: jack noir.

Next

[Image description: Baby Rose waves her arm and tugs on John’s pants. Baby Jade now sits on the floor behind him and Mutini sits behind Baby Mom.]

pesterlog
E.B: who is jack noir?
C.G: an agent of derse.
who flipped out and rose to power.
he killed your black queen and king and now he's in charge.
E.B: so you didn't have him in your game?
C.G: no, we did.
but he was harmless.
actually, he was an ally, sort of.
he settled a grudge against the queen by helping us dethrone and exile her.
and then he wound up exiled himself, and sort of kept helping us through a command terminal on our old planet.
he's kind of a huge asshole though.
but because he took the queen out of the picture, when we got to skaia we only had one monarch to deal with instead of two.
of course it was a nasty giant 12 times prototyped black king that took forever to kill, just barely in time before the biggest meteors came, but still.
E.B: I see.
so after he got exiled and all that, he came here into our game and caused all this trouble?
C.G: no, god.
egbert you are thicker than that hideous joke book you waddle around with.
try to think more abstractly.
think about video games.
what's an earth game you liked to play?
name one.
E.B: ummmm...
crash bandicoot?
C.G: ok I don't know what that is, but I have a feeling it's a really lame example, but that's fine, it's not the point.
so let's say you play your bandicoot and I play my bandicoot.
they are essentially the same bandicoot, same appearance and design and behaviors.
but they are still completely separate bandicoots on separate screens.
so we both have our own ass bandicoots to ourselves, the same but different.
our jacks are the same but different too.
same guy, different circumstances and outcomes.
our jack trumped the queen, but got no further.
your jack got the best of both of them, and is now something higher than a queen or a king...
E.B: like an ace?
C.G: sure ok.
E.B: ok, I think I get it.
but how did he do that? What was different about what we did versus what you did?
C.G: frankly I have no idea what the original thing that tipped the scale was.
it is under investigation.
but it doesn't really matter.
the worst is yet to come.
for you.
E.B: oh no!
what is the worst thing?
C.G: already told you.
E.B: dammit!
oh, hey...
sorry, hold on, this little lady is bugging me about something.
C.G: yeah yeah, you might as well get it over with and give her the lousy rabbit already.
E.B: oh!!!!!
oh man, I just had the best idea, this is so perfect.
a blonde mother and daughter together, this is totally perfect.
C.G: perfect for what, flexing your formidable mental handicap like a fucking heavyweight for the next several minutes?
oh wait, let me check, the answer is yes.
E.B: it is like that scene in con air, I will give her the bunny like I am nick cage fresh out of the slammer.
C.G: fuck.
E.B: I wish I had a filthy wifebeater on, oh well.
C.G: just...
Augh.

[S] John: Reunite with your loving wife and daughter.

[Image description: How Do I Live (Bunny Back in the Box version) begins to play. A black silhouette of a bunny appears on a white screen. The white portion fades to a slow pan over a black and white version of the Con-Air poster and the black portion changes to a close up of Nicolas Cage’s face. It fades to a slow pan over Baby Mom and Rose, who blink up at John. Mutini flicks his tail. John holds the dirty bunny without the knit portions. He offers it out to one of the babies. Thought bubbles showing the woman and little girl from the Con-Air clip fade in above him. It shows a close up of him holding out the bunny with a thought bubble of Cage’s character doing the same behind him. His face watermarks over the whole scene. The bunny moves towards Baby Rose who looks at it curiously. She begins to look nervous and backs away, shaking her head. It cuts to a sketch-like drawing of John shoving the bunny into her arms while crying. The action sends baby Mom flying. It cuts to C.G, who stares at his computer with a completely Done expression on his face. It shifts to show his computer screen, which has Trollian open. On John’s timeline, there is a dot about ¾ of the way up with a window showing him standing with Baby Mom, Rose, and Jade. Baby Rose holds the bunny he gave her and Baby Mom lays on her back with Mutini next to her. It zooms in on the scene, then fades to Baby Jade looking up excitedly. John looks over his shoulder at her. It cuts to him holding up the partially knit bunny from Rose’s present high above his head against a background of red lightning like designs. He presses the bunny into Baby Jade’s arms and a red tinted picture of Cage pulses in the background.

C.G puts his head down on his desk and hits himself in the back of the head with his fist. Every time he does, the word Bonk appears above him.

A drawing of a Salamander plays mushrooms and pipes like drums. It fades to a drawing of an airplane crashing, knocking off the neck of a guitar-shaped sign for the Hard Rock Cafe as it falls. The plane tows a car behind it.

It fades to the Con-Air poster, but the heads of the characters have been replaced with drawings of John, who is in the center, Dave on the left, and C.G on the right. There is also a slime like the one from John’s shirt drawn on the center man’s wife beater. Red text fades in on top of the poster. This Is Stupid.

Blue lines scribble over the words and Yeah Right! Appears beneath it in John’s handwriting. It cuts to a white screen with text on it.

Take Us There Casey!

The drawing of the salamander drummer reappears.

The screen flashes white and a sketch-like drawing fades in. John ugly cries and holds Baby Mom, Rose, and Jade in his arms. Rose and Jade hold the bunnies he gave them.

It fades to GC staring at his computer in dumbfounded shock. GC pops in and points at the computer while laughing and he looks at her in annoyance.

It fades to a drawing of Jack Noir with the Black Queen’s ring holding a bunny up with one of his tentacles and pointing a gun at it.

It cuts to a drawing of C.G and GC smacking each other like a slap fight and saying Bluh Bluh. GC is smiling, but C.G looks annoyed.

The scene fades to white and text flashes on it.

Here Comes The Guitar Solo.

A drawing of John wearing jeans and a dirty wifebeater comes on. He has a mullet and a bloody bandage tied around his bicep. He passionately plays the air guitar.

Two thought bubbles showing Cage in the same outfit pulse quickly behind him.

It slowly fades to black.

End of Act 4

G.G: ummmmmm.....
A.T: where you can type, because you are asleep,
G.G: oh! Yes it appears so!!!
A.T: ok, uhh, in that case, are you having a pleasant nap, G.G: I guess! Ive been pretty busy here ive had to stay asleep for a long time because john is supposed to wake up soon but he just wont wake up!!!!!
im pretty sure im supposed to be the one to wake him but I dont know what to do (sad face)
A.T: uhhhhh,
G.G: huh??
A.T: ohh, sorry,
I was looking to see if I could see him be awake in the future, but I can't see in his dreams, or anything.

G.G: oh......

well thanks for trying anyway!

A.T: but you will wake up soon, it looks like, so maybe this means you have success,

G.G: I hope so!

what am I doing when I wake up?

A.T: oh, goodness, there is so much going on, and there is a lot of trouble that you are in,

G.G: oh no!!!!!

A.T: but, what it comes down to, is that you don't have much time anyway, this is your last day, before you make the rift, and then I can't see what happens after that, anymore, which is ok, with me, because, to be honest, seeing your whole big confusing future and past is, kind of overwhelming,

G.G: yes I know what you mean....

A.T: its so complicated, and, I don't even know what I should be accomplishing, I think, using these gadgets and things, and my time line advantages, to play pranks on you,

G.G: that sounds like it would be fun! but you guys never even played pranks on me, you were always just kinda mean (very sad face)

A.T: sorry, (sad face with curvy horns) I think, the idiotic thing about trollian is, if you use it to troll people, I think you are just as likely to get trolled yourself, maybe even more badly, which I think is what is going on here, just between you and me,

G.G: well I know I haven't trolled you guys! or not yet........

heheheh

A.T: no,

but you sort of are, my friend is going crazy, he wants to talk to you, he left you a message, a long time ago on your time line, to talk to him, when your robot blows up,

G.G: oh yeah! I totally forgot about that does it really blow up or was that another trick?

A.T: uhhhh, I don't know, I can't see it blow up in your future, not on screen, I mean, there are lots of explosions, all the time, anyway, too many explosions, you could ask me in the future!

G.G: hmmm

A.T: ok, I will ask, ok, you said, yes, it did blow up, and you talked to him, and, uhhh, then you said he was actually a pretty nice guy, which I thought was weird,
G.G: is he not a nice guy?
A.T: not, really,
G.G: hmmm....
well maybe hes just been through some tough times
maybe we should give him the benefit of the doubt?
A.T: uhhhh,
G.G: for whatever its worth I think youre a pretty nice guy too!
A.T: okay, thank you,
G.G: also you seem to be the only one who ever thinks to talk to me while im asleep!
why is that?
A.T: oh, I guess,
that it makes sense,
because you have a robot, to let you say things that happen, on prospit, and I'm curious,
because the only time I ever had fun playing this game was when I was asleep, but now all our dream selves are dead, (crying face with curvy horns)
G.G: oh no!!!
dream selves can die?
A.T: yeah,
G.G: I never knew that or even thought about it....
I guess it makes sense though A.T: uhh, yeah,
so enjoy your nap,
while it lasts,
bye,

[S] Descend.

It cuts to Dave trying to climb into the nest. The kernelsprite dives forward and caws at him, then pecks at his head. He loses his grip on the tower and falls, pulling parts of the nest with him. The egg falls too.
The egg fades to the meteor hurtling ever closer. It zooms in on the surface, revealing that Bro is standing on it. He raises his sword and fire reflects in his glasses. He raises the katana above his head and the screen fades white. It fades back in on a shot of the meteor. A white burst comes from the center and it splits in two even halves up the center. The halves separate and fall into the city. They land and the impacts explode with bright light.
It cuts to Dave falling. Before he can hit the ground, Bro’s rocket board swoops in and catches him. The meteor impacts flash in the distance, one on either side of Dave’s apartment building. The egg fades in on top of Dave. A large crack now runs from top to bottom. The two halves split and pull apart. As they do, the screen splits and the new center section has Dave’s house on LOHAC after it’s been built up. It is surrounded by monsters. It cuts to Dave looking up at the gate, which is reflected in his glasses. Eyes and teeth lurk in the shadows behind him. The angle shifts to below him. A basilisk blocks his way to the gate. It fades to white.
It fades in on Grandpa’s ship out in The Veil. Mom and Dad stand on the bow of the ship. It fades to a closer shot of Mom, who is wearing her pink scarf and holding an AK-47. It fades to Dad holding a cake. The ship flies towards Skaia, which then expands to take up the whole screen. It fades in on a carapace’s feet walking across a blood splattered section of the battlefield. It pans up to Jack Noir, who sneers and raises his sword. It fades to W.V’s joint army, which fills an entire valley and goes onto distant hills. It fades to Jack Noir’s sword. The background flashes red, then to W.V leading his army, then to Noir’s snarling face. He slashes across the army, cutting a gash in the side of a white carapace and slicing a black one in half. The corpses of more slashed soldiers appear behind him. An arm raises a sword in the center of the screen and it cuts to him snarling and dashing forward. The screen flashes black and white as countless motion blurs cross it. It fades back to the battlefield. Jack Noir stands among a field of corpses. Only he and W.V are standing. W.V’s banner lays on the ground and he holds his hands up in surrender. It cuts to Noir, then to W.V. Noir lifts his fist in the air and red lightning surrounds his hands and reaches out in all directions from the ring. The sky turns red and the ground begins to crack.
Elsewhere on the battlefield, a cross between a white bishop and white knight shoots a purple laser from his hand, which has four claws. Suddenly, the red lightning shoots through his chest and the sky goes red. In another place, a white carapace shoots an arrow at a black rook monster with two carapaces on its head from atop a tower. Both the archer and monster jump as lightning shoots across the screen, cutting off the monster’s arm and slicing through its chest.

It cuts to a meteor in the Veil, then to John as viewed from someone sitting on the floor at his feet. It fades to a timer labeled Reckoning. 6 red lights flash at the top of it as it ticks down from 14 seconds. It fades to the babies sitting by the transportalizers. John sits on the Sassacre’s book. Nanna sits in Dad’s old hat. Mutini sits by Roxy. Jade and Rose hold the bunnies John gave them. Grandpa has two flintlock pistols. Dave clings to Maplehoof. Bro sleeps in Cal’s lap. It fades to John chewing on the corner of the book. He and the book disappear in a crackle of lightning. Nanna wears the hat and wrestles with Rose for the bunny, then both them and their items disappear. Mom and Grandpa go next, then Bro and Cal, then Jade and her bunny, then Dave and Maplehoof. It cuts to the outside of the meteor where outlines of each baby circle around it.

It cuts to the battlefield. An insect like, checkerboard rook walks across the field and several ships fly in the sky. A prospitan airplane, submarine, and sailing ship fly on the left side and a Dersite spaceshhip and two submarines fly on the left. In the distance, a checkerboard castle burns. The screen flashes white for a moment and the red lightning bursts across the screen. It slices a derse submarine in half and cuts the wing off the prospitan plane. Where it slams into the ground, it opens massive fissures.

It fades to Jack Noir holding his sword and facing off against the last of the joint army. Three carapaces are on the right side of the screen, each holding a purple machine gun. It pans over to them, revealing even more of them in the line. The red lightning fades in behind them and then a white Jack Noir silhouette fades in front. A red spiral with lightning coming from the outer edges surrounds the ring. Everything behind him fades to black, then fades in on carapaces and monsters elsewhere on the planet looking up in horror. It fades to show the battlefield planet. The left half of it is cracked. The fissures all glow red and are spreading across half of the planet. The screen flashes white, then fades in on the Courtyard Droll, who holds the White King’s scepter. It fades to Jack Noir, who reaches out and takes the scepter from his underling. It zooms out quickly and Jack Noir stands on top of a checkerboard mountain with the scepter held above his head. The blue sky behind him fades to blood red. It zooms in on the skaia orb on top of the scepter, which begins to glow. A ring of red meteors appears around it and the background flashes quickly between white, black, and red. A red glow appears around the orb as the meteors fade to grey.

It fades to the Frog Temple Meteor. One of the meteors behind it turns red, then a second one. They both zip off screen, flying towards Skaia. It zooms in on the temple, then the Droog carapace fades in. The Meow code scrolls behind him. It cuts back to the machine with Halley and the slot. The blue button flashes. It zooms out and shows a paradox slime copy of Halley collapse into a pile of goo and get sucked into the machine. Lightning crackles across the screen and it goes black. A hazy green ring grows in the center of the screen and throws off green lightning. The screen flashes white and when that fades, a Baby Bec appears in the center of the ring. He flashes green and the ring grows to take up the whole screen. The background fades to show the machine that created him destroyed by green lightning the same way that Noir’s red lightning destroyed things. A.R watches in horror. The screen fades to white.

A picture of Jade asleep in bed fades in, then it fades to Prospit in orbit around Skaia. It fades to a walkway on one of the towers as Dream Jade flies along it. Another version of her appears in the top left corner, then fades to Dreambot in the same position. The background fades to Jade’s home and Dreambot flies towards it. Dream Jade’s tower superimposes on top of the house and Dreambot fades to Dream Jade. It zooms out to one of the streets on Prospit’s moon. The former White Queen stands on the bow of a ship, overlooking the city. The three carapaces who watched Dream Jade with the computer stand behind her. The ship lifts up and it fades to show all of Prospit. A large yellow ship flies away from it.

Dream Jade stands on top of her tower, but the moon is rotated so that she looks up at Skaia and the image is upside down. It cuts to her face as a shadow of Jack Noir crosses it. Everything but the shadow fades to a blue sky, which Noir flies across. A line sweeps across the screen, turning everything into crackling green lightning. A silhouette of Bec’s head appears in the center of the screen. It starts out filled with static, but quickly flashes Bro riding on Maplehoof, then Prospit, then back to static.

It fades to spires on Prospit cracking and falling apart under a siege of red lightning. It fades to another section where countless white carapaces lay dead in the streets. It flashes, then changes to show the entire planet. Most of the planet is being ripped apart by the lightning. Jack Noir fades in over the planet, which then changes to a section of the city where the moon chain connects being destroyed. He flies in towards the chain with his sword out. It focuses in on a single link, then goes black. A motion blur crosses the screen and when it returns to the image, Jack Noir is flying through the gap in the link he sliced in half. It fades to the moon spinning away from the planet and falling into Skaia. A red shockwave appears in front of it as it enters the sky.

A wing sweeps across the screen and it transitions to Jack Noir flying above a clockwork mechanism. The angle changes to show it from above. The mechanism looks like a giant turntable made of gears with a giant record on top. Bro stands on the record, watching Noir come in. It flashes to Noir, then to Bro. Bro points at Noir with one hand and holds his blade up with the other, as if challenging him. They begin to fight.

Noir jumps up and attempts to swing his sword down at Bro, but Bro easily catches the blade on his own. He launches a counterattack, but they get caught in a stalemate, trading blows but not landing any. The screen flashes white, then fades to a white silhouette of Bro against a black background. He holds his sword out to the side and lava reflects in his glasses. It flashes white again and fades to a black silhouette of Jack Noir against a red background. He also holds his sword out. It cuts back to Bro, who holds his sword with two hands like he’s about to stab downwards. A motion blur crosses the screen diagonally and it fades to Bro crouched beside his sword, which he stabbed into the record they were standing on. The record cracks in a lightning-like pattern. The cracks themselves glow orange and begin shooting out beams of light. Jack Noir pauses for a moment, then goes after Bro again, who jumps out of the way of his sword.

It cuts back to the Bec silhouette against the green lightning. His silhouette flashes static, then the giant record, then Prospit, then the White Queen and her followers on their boat, then back to static.

Abruptly, like someone changed the channel, it switches to a Squiddles scene. It breaks off from the song Descend and plays part of the song Squiddles! instead. A purple squiddle floats in the center of the screen with smaller pink, green, orange, and blue ones poking out from behind it. At the bottom of the screen, there’s a line of identical squiddles. The top of the screen says Squiddles! In purple bubble letters. It cuts to a video game style animation of a pirate standing on gold blocks with squiddles carved in them. Squiddles hover in the air around him. Two blue ones become Tangle Buddies and change color to pink and red. The same happens in another spot and the remaining squiddles mob the sailor. It cuts out quickly, like someone changed the channel back to the Bec silhouette. The song changes back to Descend.

Bec’s silhouette shows Mom with her gun on Grandpa’s ship.

It cuts to broken bits of buildings from Prospit’s moon plummeting towards Skaia and burning up in the atmosphere. The room at the top of one of the dreamer towers, now cracked by lightning and the heat of entry, comes on screen. Dream John, who is still asleep, falls out of the tower along with his harlequin doll and ghosty bedsheets. Jade flies down to try and catch him before he can fall. Just as she grabs him, the scene changes to a mountainous region of the battlefield that is already cracked by the lightning. Prospit’s moon falls closer and closer to the surface. It cuts back to Dream John as Dream Jade tries to shake him awake. It cuts to a wide shot of the moon falling towards the planet. It cuts back to the dreamers as Jade shouts in frustration and slaps John repeatedly. The moon gets closer and closer, but he still doesn’t wake up. It goes back to the entire planet. The moon glows red from the heat of entry. Jade tosses John out from between the moon and battlefield, then looks up. Just before impact, it cuts back to show the whole planet. A white light starts at the point of impact, then quickly engulfs the whole screen.

It cuts to Jade’s home. Dreambot stands on top of her bedroom and crackles with white and green lightning. It twitches as it malfunctions, then explodes into a plume of black smoke. Jade, who is still asleep, and many of her belongings plummet towards the ground. It flashes to Dream John, who is now awake. He stares at the destruction in confused horror. It quickly zooms out, showing a massive crater taking up nearly an eighth of the surface of the battlefield. It fades to white, then to Skaia, where a now moonless Prospit still orbits. Meteors bear down on Skaia, but green spirographs pop into existence around it, forming a loose shield of portals. A portal catches a meteor, and as it goes through, it disappears. The same thing happens to a second meteor. It cuts to a meteor’s surface where Baby John sits with his book. It cuts to a different meteor with Baby Rose and the bunny. Then to Dave with Maplehoof. Jade with the other bunny. Nanna with the hat. Mom with Mutini. Bro with Cal. Grandpa with the pistols. Everything fades to white.

It cuts to Rose using her eldritch wands to blast a hole in the head of a monster who was trying to run away. It cuts to Dave with his sword over his shoulder as he stares up at his gate, then to the gate itself. The red gate transforms into a purple one and the background fades from black to bright blue. It zooms out and Rose stares up at her gate. She sends out whips of purple magic and it cuts to a view from the base of her house as her roof explodes into black smoke. It goes back to Dave, who looks completely unbothered as he rides the Unreal Air up to and through his gate. Rose is engulfed in red and purple light as she is thrown through the air above the sea. It cuts back to Skaia and zooms in on one of the portals. Everything goes white, then Earth appears. It flashes to John’s neighborhood, then back to white.

A wavering mushroom cloud slowly fades in.

After a few moments of nothing, Jade’s island at night fades in. Bec sits near the frog temple. Where Jade’s room was is now just a plume of smoke. It pans up, revealing a massive meteor flying towards the island. A Bec outline slowly closes in on the scene. It disappears and the screen is black once more.

A faint white spirograph appears in the center of the screen. Text appears at the top.

[ZZZZ] Rose: Egress.

This is my final entry.

My co-players and I have made every earnest attempt, with occasional relapse, to play this game the right way. I have been meticulous in documenting the process to help our peers and successors through the trials should we fail. In my hubris I believed these classes were relegated to the Earth-bound, but in even this quaint supposition I was in error. Our otherworldly antagonists have assured us of our inevitable failure repeatedly, while the gods whisper corroboration in my sleep. I believe them now.

I just blew up my first gate. I'm not sure why I did it, really.

I am not playing by the rules anymore. I will fly around this candy-coated rock and comb the white sand until I find answers. No one can tell me our fate can't be repaired. We've come too far. I jumped out of the way of a burning fucking tree, for God's sake.

I have used a spell to rip this walkthrough from Earth's decaying networks, and sealed it in one of the servers floating in the Furthest Ring. The gods may disperse the signal throughout the cosmos as they wish. Perhaps it will be of use to past or future species who like us have been ensnared by Skaia's malevolent tendrils.

In case it wasn't clear, magic is real.

Pardon my egress. You're on your own now.

RL

Note; RL is signed in Rose’s cursive, but in flickering rainbow colors and looks like it has been carved directly into the website. Past the signature, it looks like the website has been shredded. Below it is the void with faint outlines of eldritch gods. Floating in the center of the void is a rectangular purple contraption that looks like a remote of some sort. There is a lilac moon in the center of it and two rows of flashing blue lights at the bottom. An antenna with a flashing blue orb at the end sticks out of the top.

John!

From what I heartell youve been through a bit of an adventure by the time youre reading this. Thats so great. I love adventure and i would bet my bottom boonbuck you do too. I think we are birds of a feather john. I am pretty eager to meet you. Oh yeah i should have mentioned we are going to meet some day. I hear you like movies is that right john? I love movies too. Have you ever seen weekend at bernies? So friggin hilarious. Its hard to talk to jade about movies because she doesnt really know about movies but im sure you know that. Booring. Ha ha just kidding jade you know i love you and i think youre a blast.

Anyway you should listen to jade from here on out john because she sure seems to know whats best for you. Whatever your adventure throws at you im sure shell tell you you can handle it. She believes in you.

There is another letter from a different author...
dear john,

happy birthday!!!!!!! (Very happy face)

even though its super late and you probably went through a lot of trouble to get it, i really hope this present cheers you up! you looked so sad while you were reading my letter. um... which is to say, the one you are reading now. i can explain!!!

you see, when i go to sleep, in my dreams i wake up on the moon of a planet called prospit. by now you must know about this place! i have lived there in my dreams most of my life and i made so many friends there over the years. and you were there too! but you were asleep. the fact that you are awake now i think means all my friends are in trouble. you are awake because it is your job to help them. we will both help them!

but ummm..... i know these things because while i was on the moon, whenever it passed through skaia i could see lots of things in the clouds. the past, the future, stuff about our friends, and stuff about you! now that you are awake, and apparently at the center of skaia (?? WOW!!) you should be able to see stuff in the clouds too. maybe you already have!

about this present! my penpal helped me work on it. he included a letter too! he’s really funny and silly, i like him a lot and i think you would too. it took a long time between the two of us. and sure the present looks like a fun and completely ridiculous thing to get, but it is also really important! you are getting it exactly when you need it most. maybe thats hard to believe but its true! i saw it happen already. i dont see everything john, and i definitely dont know everything thats going to happen. but when i do know something, i always try to do my best to help people in the future! when im supposed to that is. youll get the hang of it.

john i am REALLY looking forward to seeing you when you wake up!!!! its been nice playing with my prospitian friends and all, but also kind of lonely knowing you were in the other tower sleeping and having lousy dreams. (sad face) im not sure where i am when you are reading this but im sure ill make it down to where you are soon! (jeez how did you get down there?? oh well ill find out) i cant wait to fly around the moon with you and show you all my favorite places. itll be so much fun!!!!!!!! (Very happy face)

recap log Picking up from where we left off...

I typed a really long recap. Then some other stuff happened.

GC (gallowsCalibrator) helped John fly to the second gate, which took him to Rose's world, LOLAR. He crashed into Rose's room, where he found her asleep. He snooped through her room, and Dave tricked him into giving him the code to duplicate Rose's writing journals. John opened the package Rose made for his birthday. It contained the bunny from Con Air, the same one John got from Dave, but older and dirtier, and modified with Rose's knitting. She'd had the bunny since she was very young.
John leaves Casey the salamander (Bubbles Viceroy Von Salamancer) in the room. He briefly speaks with G.A (grimAuxiliatrix) from Rose's computer, and pretends to be Rose. She believes he is, triggering a convoluted series of conversations between her and the real Rose in both the past and future, in no particular order. G.A gets help with her computer from T.A (twinArmageddons) in time to see Rose at her computer, having woken up.

Before she woke up, Dream Rose was awake on Derse's moon. She now had memories from her future self's doomed alternate reality. She flew to Dream Dave's tower, and got his attention with a ball of yarn, causing real Dave to fall asleep. They had a dream dance party. Dream Rose threw Dream Cal out the window. Bro's rocket board caught Dream Cal. A.R (question mark) followed the board and Cal to a transportalizer on Derse, which lead to a meteor lab in the veil.

Meanwhile on LOLAR, Rose's mom defeated a huge monster. The pony, Maplehoof, followed her and collected the grist windfall. Both mom and the pony then transported to the meteor lab. John's dad found a clean hat John had deposited into a parcel pyxis. Dad followed Jade's grandpa, who was carrying John's Sassacre book, into some ruins. They both transported to the meteor lab too. Meanwhile, John used the grist collected by the pony to make a normal sized version of a giant hammer, Fear No Anvil, which Davesprite gave him the code for. Dream Rose saw John on Dream Dave's computer, and woke up. She went out to see him, but he had already blasted off. He took the mutant kitten, Vodka Mutini (Doctor Meowgon Spengler), with him.

John found the ruins that mom and the pony went into. He went in and killed some powerful monsters with his new hammer. He transported to the meteor lab as well.

In the lab he found no one, except the pony. Some other stray items were on the floor. Dad's dirty hat, the Sassacre book, Dream Cal. He found some apparatus used to genetically engineer footsoldiers and agents for the white and black armies from chess piece DNA. He also found a junior ectobiologist's lab suit, and a series of terminals much like those the exiles would find in the far future. He would use this apparatus to create paradox clones of himself, his friends, and their guardians.

Meanwhile A.R (question mark) surfed bro's rocket board to a different meteor containing the frog temple that would later root itself near Jade's island. Inside he found the same time capsule she would find later. He also found some more lab equipment used for ectobiology. This equipment would soon be used to create Becquerel, a mutated combination of the genes from an ordinary dog in the early 20th century, and the DNA code in one of Rose's journals. A.R (question mark) hides in the lab when he hears one of Jack's henchmen, the Draconian Dignitary. D.D is carrying Rose's duplicated journals which he stole from Dave, and Dave's beta which was used as a bookmark. He discards the beta into the time capsule. Millions of years later (from the capsule's perspective) Jade would retrieve that beta and use it to connect with Dave, allowing him to enter the medium.

Dave created the journal duplicates after an extensive alchemy binge. Rose too had a similar alchemy session, and both kids upgraded their weapons and gear. Rose made a pair of needlewands, crossed with her grimoire, and took up the art of dark magic. She used this magic to burn her journal, thus destroying the genetic code. She was advised to do so by the gods of the Furthest Ring, whom she was now able to communicate with in her dreams. The gods live far beyond the veil, and advise the children of the moon of Derse, and serve as the counterpart to the role Skaia plays for the children of Prospit's moon. They deemed the code which would inevitably be used to create Becquerel to be dangerous.

Dave decided to destroy his copy too. But when he went back to his room, he discovered they were stolen. He also found his own dead body, which apparently was him from the very near future attempting to go back in time and stop the thief, D.D. Dave decided not to attempt any more time travel, and disposed of the body. GC (gallowsCalibrator) discussed the matter with him, and pledged to help him by telling him his future along the way, so that he would not have to face the death of more future selves, or suffer the sort of embarrassment he went through while entering the medium.

Previously unseen, the way Dave entered the medium was as follows. As the large meteor was bearing down on his city, Dave climbed the radio tower on top of his building with his broken sword in hand to reach the nest built by the Crowsprite. The sprite guarded the egg, which unknown to Dave, simply needed time to hatch before he could enter. The sprite pecked his head and he fell. He was saved by bro's rocket board. Meanwhile, bro was on top of the meteor, riding it as it descended. He used his sword to chop it in half, splitting it into two pieces, diverting the initial impact from their building to two separate impact sites. He thus bought a little more time for the egg to hatch, which it did, just before their location was consumed by the blasts.

On Prospit's moon, P.M (question mark) prepared to depart for the Battlefield at the center of Skaia, to seek the king's counsel on what to do with the queen's ring. She was tailed by another of Noir's lackeys, the Courtyard Droll. C.D picked her pocket and stole the ring. P.M (question mark) departed via shuttle to Skaia. Dream Jade then clobbered C.D, and recovered the ring. She tried it on, but its power has no effect on humans. Later, C.D would travel to the Battlefield and continue tailing P.M (question mark).

The Battlefield is a planet at the center of Skaia. It undergoes a transformation with each player that enters the medium, and each new prototyped kernel introduced. It starts as a simple 3x3 chessboard with two kings in perpetual stalemate, and expands to a larger board and more exotic collection of pieces with the first player entering. Then it become a much larger cube with the second player. And then an even larger sphere, with oceans, trees, mountains and pastures with the third. It presumably will transform again with the fourth.

The armies of the black and white kingdoms duel there. Soldiers are airlifted from meteor facilities in the veil to supply the manpower. Enormous mutant chess-like monsters stalk the landscape. The two kings command their armies from the field. They each have a scepter that serves a similar purpose to the queens' rings. When activated, a scepter causes a king to be a giant, and bear the properties of all the prototypings. A king is able to deactivate a scepter, to hand it off to another so that they will not be affected in that way. When the black king captures the white king's scepter, the Reckoning begins. The Reckoning sends all the meteors in the veil toward Skaia, in stages. First the small ones, then gradually, the bigger ones, over a 24 hour period.

There was a Warweary Villein on the Battlefield who was a simple farmer and was tired of the conflict. W.V (question mark) united a band of soldiers from both armies to lead a rebellion against the black king. Before they could attack the king, Jack Noir, now empowered by the black queen's ring, intercepted the coup. He destroyed the king's scepter, and killed the king. Jack then killed the entire rebellion army, sparing only W.V (question mark). Perhaps to leave a survivor to tell the story, or perhaps out of respect for a fellow mutineer. Only he knows. Meanwhile, P.M (question mark) met with the white king. He disabled his scepter, and gave it to her along with his crown. P.M (question mark) now had the crowns of the white king and queen, and the white scepter, but discovered she had misplaced the white queen's ring. Jack's muscle, the Hegemonic Brute, had been tailing the white king. H.B then followed P.M (question mark), and attacked her. She dropped the scepter off a cliff. She would regroup and chop off H.B's head with the regisword Jack gave her to kill the white monarchs. C.D, who had been tailing both of them, recovered the white scepter, and delivered it to Jack. Jack used it to initiate the Reckoning, and would proceed to go on a more extensive rampage, devastating the Battlefield and Prospit.

Back in the meteor lab, John began the ectobiology session which appeared to have been prepared for him in advance by the guardians who had just been there. The four monitors were all locked onto the kids' guardians at certain points in time, each on the day of one of the kid's "birth". On Jade's birthday, nanna was locked onto in John's neighborhood, by the Betty Crocker factory. The meteor carrying baby Jade crashed into the factory and destroyed it. Her grandpa, the owner of that factory, would adopt her. John's dad witnessed, and would spend years investigating. On Dave's birthday, grandpa was locked onto while he was on his yacht, pioneering the island for the first time. He was sailing with baby Jade. Overhead, there was the meteor carrying baby Dave, which would crash into bro's favorite record shop. On Rose's birthday, bro was locked onto as he stood over the crater where he would find baby Dave. He would give him a tiny pair of pointy shades. Overhead, there was a meteor carrying baby Rose, which would land in a lake and destroy it. Rose's mom would retrieve and adopt her. Months later, on John's birthday, mom would bring Rose to John's neighborhood to investigate the destruction of grandpa's factory, and related stellar phenomena. The target was locked on her. Dad came out of the family joke shop to greet her, leaving nanna inside. The meteor carrying baby John destroyed the shop, killing nanna. Dad would adopt John, and Rose's mom disappeared. Dad retrieved her scarf, and filed the clue away for his ongoing investigation.

John attempted (unwittingly) to appearify all four guardians. But since removing them from those moments would have caused a paradox, he instead paradoxified their ghost slime imprints. This slime was collected into two pairs of containers. One pair collected nanna and grandpa's slime. The other pair collected mom and bro's. The device then created baby paradox clones of the four guardians. These babies would then later be sent back in time to become those guardians themselves.

Once those four clones were created, another sequence activated. The two pairs of slime tubes emptied into vats below. The nanna slash grandpa slime mixed together, and separately, the mom slash bro slime mixed together as well. An additional four paradox clones were created from those two slime concoctions. Baby John and Jade were created from the nanna slash grandpa slime. Baby Rose and Dave were created from the mom slash bro slime. These four babies would also go back in time to become the four kids, via meteors, in the sequence and on the dates listed above.

All eight babies would each ride their own meteors, launched from the veil after Jack started the Reckoning, and into the defense portals deployed by Skaia to protect itself. The defense portals each lead to Earth, as Skaia defends itself, in a way, by sacrificing Earth. While most meteors are sent to the time period when the kids begin the game, many lead to a number of different time periods. Some thirteen years prior to the game (used by the kids), some nearly a century prior (used by nanna and grandpa), some millions of years ago (used, eventually, by the frog temple meteor), and some to the far future (used by the exiles).

And all eight of them would travel with an object or animal. John with his Sassacre book, which would become the much older-looking family heirloom stored in dad's safe, with Nannasprite's inscription to John on it. Rose with the dirty bunny Dave gave John for his birthday. Dave with the pony, Maplehoof. Jade with the knit-repaired bunny Rose got John for his birthday, which Rose cherished since "birth". Nanna with dad's dirty hat. Mom with Mutini (Meowgon). Grandpa with two flintlock pistols which older Grandpa left behind for him in the lab (which would eventually both wind up in Jade's room). And bro with Dream Cal, which would later be fitted with a new personalized shirt, and would become real Cal, the same doll that would haunt Dave's waking life, and consequently, his dreams.

All of these babies and their items would automatically be transported to their own meteors at the onset of the Reckoning. John made absolutely sure to give baby Rose and Jade their bunnies when he saw an opportunity to reenact a scene from one of his favorite movies, much to the dismay of a watching C.G (carcinoGeneticist).
While A.R (question mark) was in the frog temple lab, he would see more of young nanna and grandpa's story. On 4 slash 13, 1910, exactly 99 years prior to John's "birth", baby nanna's meteor destroyed a bakery owned by Betty Crocker. Nanna was adopted by Crocker's husband, Colonel Sassacre, and taken to live in his mansion. 8 days later, grandpa's meteor destroyed the dog house belonging to Sassacre's dog, Halley. Halley was elsewhere, and was unharmed. When Sassacre and nanna went to investigate the crater, Sassacre was shot and killed accidentally with one of grandpa's pistols. Halley then showed up (who young grandpa would tend to pronounce "Harley" due to his speech impediment), and would largely serve as their guardian for the next 13 years, with presumably some parental influence from the wicked Crocker. On his 13th birthday, grandpa would run off with Harley to find adventure. Nanna would stay behind, contend with the batterwitch, and master the art of baking as well as take up her deceased grandfather's tradition of pranksterism.

Harley was locked onto by the frog temple's equipment. D.D activated the device, and produced a paradox clone of Harley combined with the controversial MEOW code to create puppy Bec. The spectacle terrified A.R (question mark), leaving a major impression on him. He would recognize Bec's silhouette carved on W.V's pumpkin years later. The pumpkin commanded his fear, and caused him to surrender.

Meanwhile, the grown-up versions of mom and dad were on board a flying battleship belonging to grandpa, who piloted it toward Skaia. Dad gave mom her long discarded scarf, from the day he lost his mother and found his son. The two guardians traded gestures of affection.

Jade remained asleep through it all, trying to stay on the moon as long as she could until she figured out how to wake John up. She talked about this with A.T (adiosToreador), who revealed he preferred his dream life on Prospit more than any aspect of the game, and regretted all the trolls' dream selves were now dead. Jade expressed surprise at the notion of dream self mortality.

After Jack used the full power of the ring to devastate the battlefield and the two armies, he turned his attention on Prospit, inflicting severe damage the same way. He then cut the chain connecting the moon to Prospit, sending the moon plummeting through the atmosphere of Skaia, and breaking up in the process. Dream John, still asleep, fell out of his tower and drifted down ahead of the falling moon. Dream Jade flew to intercept him, and spent a moment attempting to wake him before the moon's collision was imminent. At the last minute she flung Dream John out of the blast radius, but was not able to clear the blast herself. She died.

The blast left a massive crater on the Battlefield. This was the first thing Dream John saw when he woke up.

The death of Dream Jade caused her dreambot to malfunction and explode, destroying her room. Still asleep, Jade fell from her tower as Bec watched from a distance, and an enormous meteor loomed overhead.

Elsewhere, on Dave's world LOHAC, bro dueled with Jack briefly. It was a stalemate, until bro plunged his sword into the large floating record platform they were fighting on. This released a mysterious energy from the cracks. Bro escaped.

Rose completed her final GameFAQS walkthrough entry, and used magic to seal it in a server in the Furthest Ring, to be accessed by players in worlds beyond their own. She had destroyed her first gate on a whim, and resolved to search for answers to remedy the hopelessness of their doomed session. Meanwhile, Dave entered his first gate, riding into it with his awesome skateboard, Unreal Air.

The four exiles arrived on Earth years after its apocalypse, but years before they found their respective command stations. W.V wrapped himself in John's dream blanket, which became dirty and unrecognizable over time. He found it along with a Jack-like doll on the Battlefield, which formerly sat in Dream John's bedroom, haunting his dreams. W.V (question mark) ripped it apart. P.M wrapped herself in a Prospit banner, which too faded in time. A.R wrapped himself in caution tape, using his own supply, as well as some fresh rolls he was lucky enough to discover near the ruined frog temple in one of grandpa's old crates. This was after he escaped that same temple in the medium, and found the meteor lab in which John slept. That meteor then took off for Skaia, via the Reckoning. A.R (question mark) taped John to the rocket board, and cast him off before the meteor went through a portal. Thus A.R became exiled. W.Q exiled herself with an entourage on a royal cruiser, and landed on Earth. She departed on a solo quest, leaving her people to their own devices. She discovered her command station, a large egg, broken in two pieces in the two large craters made by Dave's split meteor. She used a key to repair the egg station, and teleported to the present location of the exiles, the frog ruins at night, 413 years after the apocalypse of Earth.

On the Battlefield, Dream John found Dream Jade's body. He was sad and confused, and took her ring as a keepsake. Later, grandpa would land his ship on the Battlefield, find and recover her body, and use it to create a stuffed trophy as a memorial, as per the proud family tradition. He would depart in his ship, and leave mom and dad behind.

John saw a vision in a cloud directing him where to go. It was a castle where he would rendezvous with P.M (Question mark). P.M (Question mark), after beheading H.B, used his radio to summon Jack. He came, and she traded the two white crowns for the green box, Jade's present to John. He appeared pleased to uphold the bargain, either out of the misunderstanding that he was still under control of its contents, or out of respect for P.M (Question mark)'s tenacity and brutality in pursuing the prize. Only he knows.

P.M (Question mark) delivered the package to John, and then left, not thrilled by the trials caused by its recovery. John opened it to find letters from Jade, and her pen pal, who helped her make the present for him over several years. The gift was the pen pal's idea, and he himself was coerced into the plan by someone else. The box contained a modified version of the stuffed bunny John had received for his birthday twice already. It was the same knit-repaired bunny John sent back in time with baby Jade, and she presumably kept it as a cherished childhood toy ever since. It was now upgraded with mechanical parts, fully mobile and autonomous. It was also included with four powerful weapons, the Royal Deringer (broken sword), the Quills of Echidna (wands), Ahab's Crosshairs (rifle), and the Warhammer of Zillyhoo (hammer). Each was shrunken down to be "bunny sized".

As John mourned Jade's death over her letter, he was interrupted by Jack's sword. Jack was after the ring. But the heavily-armed mechanical bunny intervened, recognizing John as its new master. Jack, knowing the danger of the toy, was forced to retreat.

Finally, a cloud showed John what he was supposed to do with the ring. It was held by a mysterious black hand. In the far future on Earth, the exiles gathered around Exile Town. WQ asked W.V for something. W.V revealed he had been storing the complete, quad-prototyped ring in the sleeve of his Trusty Knife. It had been there all along, much to Serenity's surprise.

And then I started working on Act 5

ACT 5 Next

[Image description: A planet with two moons, one green and one pink, floats in a starless space.]

Elsewhere in paradox space, we examine another planet, forgotten by time.

But we will strive to remember. What was this planet's name?

Enter name.

Oh, ha ha! Nice one, smartypants. Really hilarious.

But let's get real here. No more clowning around.

Try again.

[Image description: Another name fills in, this time with only one word. A green symbol appears on the right.]

That is much better. In fact, as it happens, your guess is precisely correct. What are the odds??

We examine the planet Alternia. Somewhere on this planet, there is a young troll.

Hivebent

[Image description: A troll boy with yellow eyes and a grey cancer sign on his shirt stands in front of a door, looking around. He has two nubby horns coming from his temples. They are red at the base and fade through orange to yellow at the tips. On the door is a poster with a Trollian logo and the words Trollian Beta. The doorknob is shaped like an insect of some sort. To the boy's left is a dresser with a large book and a white sickle. To his right is a purple contraption of some sort with two green circles on the side.]

Note: Because of the style of the drawing, it appears that the boy has no arms]

This young troll stands in his respiteblock. It just so happens that today, the 12th bilunar perigee of the 6th dark season's equinox, is the day of this young troll's larval awakening, also known as his wriggling day. Though it was six solar sweeps ago he was given life, it is only today he will be given a name!

Six Alternian solar sweeps, for convenient reference, is equivalent to thirteen Earth years.

Earth, also for convenient reference, is a planet that does not yet exist.

What will the name of this young troll be?

Enter name.

You enter something predictably derogatory and this guy gets fed up by your shenanigans in record time.

This guy has a lot of troll pals and their adventures are going to be quite extensive and convoluted, to an even greater degree than one perhaps may be accustomed. He thinks that if you think that we have time to drag out every little gag and expected pattern along the way, you've got another thing coming. He thinks you should cram that sobering understanding in your chitinous windhole, and tamp it down hard with your ugly stupid looking cartilage nub.

Try again.

Your name is Karkat Vantas. As was previously mentioned, it is your Wriggling Day, which is barely even worth mentioning. It is an anniversary, if anything, to lament the faults of your existence, of which there are assuredly plenty.

Equally plenty, and somewhat related to that topic, are your interests. You have a passion for ridiculously terrible romantic movies and romcoms. You should really be embarrassed for liking this dreadful cinema, but for some reason you are not. You like to program computers, but you are notoriously pretty awful at it. Your programs invariably damage the machines on which they are executed, which is just as well, since you like to believe you specialize in computer viruses. When you mature, you aspire to join the ranks of the most lethal members of your society, the Threshecutioners. You like to practice with your really cool sickle, but just wind up looking like kind of a doofus by yourself in your room.

You like to chat with some of your other troll pals, most of which drive you batshit up the fucking belfry. You have been trying out a new chat client beta called trollian, and you are not really sure what you think about it yet. Your trolltag is carcinoGeneticist and you speak in a manner that is ALMOST EXCLUSIVELY ORNERY, ALL THE TIME.

Later, you will play a game with 5 other friends, and go on a big adventure with them. This game, for convenient reference, is a game that Does Not Yet Exist.

But it will soon.

What will you do?

Karkat: Examine slimy purple pod.

[Image description: The boy, Karkat, stands closer to the purple thing.]

It is your Recuperacoon full of nourishing Sopor Slime. Every young troll enjoys the cozy embrace of such a vessel each night, and the relaxing ooze helps assuage the terrible visions of blood and carnage that plague the dark subconscious of your species.

It is so inviting... a few minutes couldn't hurt.

Karkat: Get in.

[Image description: Karkat sits in the slime, fully clothed. A little bit of slime is splashed out onto the rim and his face. He chatters in annoyance.]

Ok, this sure is cozy and all, but you can't be napping all day like a chump. Dammit, you're a busy guy. You are sort of a big deal.

Goddamn slime. Now you have to change your clothes too. What were you thinking?

Luckily all your clothes are the same. Trolls think fashion is stupid.

Karkat: Examine movie posters.

Ok, it's time to get serious here. Sweet Troll Jegus. Let's get real and get down to some major business.

You space out and get caught up reading the titles of the films for about five minutes. Wow these movies are great. You don't care what anyone says. Pure magic.

Is that...

Is that John Cusack?

The thing that most people don't realize is that John Cusack is a universal constant.

Next

[Image description: He stands in front of the door, looking at the poster over his dresser.]

This movie...

Ok, this one even you have a hard time defending. But still, it's so good.

The best thing about it is how Troll Sandler doesn't make you want to punch anything.
Like, nothing at all, really hard or anything.

Karkat: Captchalogue sickle.

[Image description: He takes the sickle. A grey captchalogue card with the sickle in it appears in the top right corner. The card flashes black and green runes flash across it, then the card falls to the floor as a captchalogue card shaped safe. Karkat turns and glares at it.]

You grab your trusty Sickle with your Encryption Modus. To retrieve it, you'll need to hack the code to open the Card Vault left behind.

This will obviously prove to be a completely ridiculous and untenable way of managing an inventory, and lead to a great many follies. Later on, you would swap your modus with your hacker friend, a guy who unlike you happens to be competent with programming. It would only make sense.

But for the time being it makes your life kind of a nightmare. There are so many stupid things that happen because of this modus. So many, you just have no idea.

Karkat: Take card vault.

[Image description: He captchalogue the card vault. The card it goes into flashes with code, then falls to the floor. It's so heavy that it punches a hole through the floor and falls to the level below. Karkat pulls an angry expression.]

GOD.

DAMMIT.

You hear some unhappy grumbling through the hole below. This was not the coolest thing you could have done just now.

Karkat: Examine large black book.

[Image description: Karkat reaches up to take the book from his nightstand, which is shoulder height on him. The book has a face on it that consists of two large, white rings for eyes and a line with stitches across it for a mouth.]

You make quite sure NOT to captchalogue it, and simply pick it up and read it.

It is a thick programming manual called "~ATH - a Handbook for the Imminently Deceased."

~ATH is an insufferable language to work with. Its logic is composed of nothing but infinite loops, or at best, loops of effectively interminable construction.

The above page in the intro section documents the simplest possible ~ATH code structure. Any code deviating from this basic structure will not compile.

You have a whole bunch of code samples you've been messing around with on your computer. It's been frustrating at best, and debilitating to your machine at worst.

Karkat: Leave your room.

[Image description: Karkat stands outside a door. All the walls in the new area are dark grey, like the walls of his respiteblock, but otherwise blank. A second image shows a convoluted house with strangely shaped structures, lots of balconies, and several bright red awnings. 12-paned windows of various sizes litter the outside of the many-storied structure. Karkat stands on a balcony on the second floor. In the distance are two other houses of similar design. The green moon is high in the sky, which looks like a sunset. Two large birds fly across it.]

You step outside your respiteblock, onto one of your hive's numerous extraterraneal landing slats. You were allowed to design this hive when you were young, after you emerged victorious from your trials deep in the brooding caverns. You have lived here with your Custodian ever since.

It's almost as if your people have placed great cultural importance on teaching children to become architecturally adept while very young. It has been this way since ancient times. No one seems to know why that is.

Getting to build your own hive at a young age using whatever meandering design you chose likely has left you jaded to the notion of customizing your abode. You certainly wouldn't get all that worked up about a game that happened to allow you to do such a thing.

At least not for that reason.

Karkat: Examine neighborhood.

[Image description: Karkat looks offscreen. A second image shows houses like his own, but with darker red awnings and fewer windows. There is a ring of lighter grass around each house, separating its lawn from the others and from public space. A third image shows the two moons. Both of them are crescent shaped. The green one is in the top left and is far larger than the pink one. The pink one is in the bottom right and seems to have a small pink moon of its own. There is text in the top right corner. Hivebent.]

The lawnrings are empty. Blood skims the voids in your porous cranial plates, as if grazing the hollow of a threshed stem, or say, an abandoned cocoon. A sour note is produced. It's the one Agitation plays to make its audience squirm.

It is your sixth wriggling day, and as with all five preceding it blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah blah.

Look.
You don't have time for fancy poetry. It's almost as useless as those arm-swing flappy things on mailboxes, assuming you even knew what those were, which you don't. Trolls don't have mail. Mail is almost as useless as poetry to them. Poetry is the swing arm flappy dealy of words, and mail is the red tilty lever doodad of giving people shit.

Frankly you don't know about things skimming voids or grazing hollows or whatever. You've got AMBITION. You were meant to be a bigshot. To be in charge of something huge and really important, and to be totally ruthless about it. You just haven't found the dominion in which you're destined for greatness yet. Or even a vague concept of it. You haven't found your purpose. But you will tonight.

You stew in your own impotent aggravation in the cool dusk breeze. During the dark seasons, it remains dusk for most of the day. It can stay dark for many bilunar perigees at a time. But even if it didn't, you would still have this feeling...

You have a feeling it's going to be a long night.

Karkat: Go back inside.

You head back into your block and hit up your computer station. No word from any of your loudmouth pals. No news is good news. Sweet music to your auricular sponge clots.

Karkat: Check out magazine.

It's the latest issue of Game Grub.

This one appears to boast about "exclusive leaks". They all boast about that. You're not even really sure what it means.

Karkat: Check out DVD.

The Thresh Prince of Bel-Air
A picture of 90's era Will Smith points at the camera while giving an open-mouthed smile. He is wearing a shirt with a very busy pattern on it underneath denim overalls, though he only has one of the straps hooked on. His eyes have been photoshopped to an orange color, a sickle into his free hand, and long horns onto his head.
It is a DVD of one of your favorite series, The Thresh Prince of Bel-air.

It's about a green threshecutioner cadet who sasses up the bluebloods in his flaysquad pretty good. Their blood is literally blue. Lousy snobs. But Troll Will Smith shows them all how to loosen up. He is pretty much your hero.

Troll TV shows have shorter titles than troll movies because TV is a much newer form of media in their society. Which is a good thing because it would be pretty hard to make this funny joke otherwise.

Karkat: Get down to business on computer.

Ok enough messing around time to get some work done maybe a little programming or oh god.

It figures that installing this new beta chat client would open the floodgates. All your moron friends are going to be hounding you relentlessly. Not that they needed an excuse before.

You wonder what this chump wants.

Karkat: Answer troll.

[Image description: Karkat chatters angrily and violently types on his keyboard.]

pesterlog
terminallyCapricious [T.C] began trolling carcinoGeneticist [C.G]

[Note: terminallyCapricious types in indigo and alternated between capital and lowercase with every letter.]

T.C: what is uuuuup my invertebrother?
C.G: what in the sweet almighty taintchafing fuck do you want.
T.C: not a motherfucking thing bro.
other than I be checkin out how my best motherfuckin friend is at yo.
C.G: I really can't stand you and I hate how you type, it just bothers me so much, have I mentioned that?
T.C: you say it pretty much every time we talk yeah.
but uh, I don't have to...
uhhh see?
but I mean man this feels so motherfucking unnatural and shit.
you just got to be going with what feels right at where your heart's up in, you know?
best friend.
C.G: I wonder what kind of shitty thing I did to deserve such an awful best friend.
or maybe what terrible thing I'm going to do and get punished for in advance.
maybe I'm just like preemptively the worst fucking piece of trash who ever lived and don't even know it yet, but hey look, your friendship is exhibit a I guess.
T.C: it's such a beautiful thing.
this troll disease called friendship.
C.G: friendship isn't a disease shitsponge.
it's like...
a mistake.
a big joke of nature.
T.C: it's a miracle.
C.G: oh no, don't.
don't start with the miracles again.
T.C: man everywhere I look...
alls I see is motherfuckin miracles.
it's so spiritual, all these miracles and shit.
ok like just be takin this fuckin tits bottle of fuckin faygo I just cracked up open.
and how it's being all like hissing and shit.
motherfuckin hissing man, who went all and told it to do that?
how would it even do that, it's crazy.
it's a miracle.
C.G: it's carbonation you ignorant douche.
try getting schoolfed some time instead of slurping down that weird swill all day and fondling your stupid horns.
T.C: no no bro, I don't wanna know, don't even tell me.
knowing shit just steals up all the fuckin magic from my miracles like a motherfuckin thief.
and that ain't cool.
C.G: the only miracle is that you like that disgusting sludge, where do you even get that stuff.
it's also a miracle how you dress like an imbecile and are basically the stupidest asshole I've ever known.
actually you're right, there are miracles everywhere, I've been a fool.
T.C: see man, I am straight up telling you.
miracles.
it's like, alright, computers, right?
what the fuck?
miracles is what.
C.G: fuck you.
fuck you for me just reading that.
T.C: anyway what's up with your bad self, for serious here. isn't something big all going down?
C.G: what?
T.C: I heard something big was going all down.
just all be telling me all what motherfuckin it's up and all about.
C.G: stop saying all. Are you talking about T.A's thing?
T.C: yeah!! Fuck yeah man, so mysterious.
I'm never being getting ceased to be amazed by all these fuckin mysteries life's got for us.
C.G: uuuuuugh.
anyway, I don't know what's up with that.
maybe I'll talk to him tonight about it. Maybe I won't.
it's probably just another one of his projects that winds up being completely useless and a huge waste of my time.
T.C: yeah maybe but he's your best friend though so it's all cool.
anyway I thought this sounded like a pretty big motherfuckin deal my man.
aaaauuuhhh...
C.G: what.
T.C: aw bro nevermind, I just fuckin did like to scare the shit outta myself here.
these damn horns.
C.G: you've got to get rid of those things.
they make it more embarrassing to know you.
which is a friggin miracle that that's even possible.
like, wow, god sure cooked up a doozy there.
twinkly eyed son of a bitch just keeps you guessing, doesn't he.
T.C: man you know you wanna give my horns a good squeeze. (smiley face with a round nose)
C.G: actually you know what will be the miracle to end all miracles?
it'll be if I ever meet a kid I despise more than you.
that will make me a motherfucking convert.
I'll see light so bright I'll need G.C to walk me around so I don't bump into shit.
sign me up for your idiotic clown religion ok.
T.C: hahahaha you fuckin got it brother!

[Image description: Another troll stands in another respiteblock. He has wild hair and horns that begin to curve inward, then gently flick out at the tips. He wears a black shirt with the indigo Capricorn symbol on it and black pants with large indigo polka dots on them. His face is painted with juggalo paint. The base is white, but a large grey semicircle is painted around his mouth and lopsided teardrop shapes are around his eyes with the tips extending onto his forehead. At his temples, there are small grey circles. He stands by a desk that has a red laptop and green dock of some sort on it. Bike horns and bottles of faygo litter the desk and floor. Several juggling pins lean against the side of the desk and a unicycle leans against the wall. Above the unicycle is a 12 paned window that looks out onto a beach. The wall behind the desk slants inward slightly and has two evil-looking clown posters on it. One of the clowns holds a mallet and wears a pink and blue harlequin outfit. His horns are like A.T's, only they stick out less. The other holds his hands in strange positions and sneers at the viewer. He wears a suit and top hat. This one's horns looks like the capricorn troll's, but with more pronounced curves.]

Whoa what the motherfuck, who's this motherfuckin' motherfucker?

It's cool, life is like that sometimes. It's full of mysteries. You'll be doing one thing then something else hits you just like that and you roll with it. That's what you do when life hands you lemons. You sure as fuck don't make lemonade because who the fuck knows where that fuckin' shit comes from?

It's squeezed out of miracles is where.

So what's this motherfucker's name?

Enter name.

This one is dark red, like the laptop, and stands upright. The base is wider than the top and a hole in the side allows access. The slime is filled to just below the bottom of the hole, and a small drip of slime runs down the side. On the wall behind it is a poster of a green serpentine monster with a troll's head. Its hair and nose are pink and its horns stick out far from its head.]

You belong to a Rather Obscure Cult, which foretells of a Band of Rowdy and Capricious Minstrels which will rise one day on a Mythical Paradise Planet that does not exist yet. The beliefs of this cult are Somewhat Frowned Upon by those dwelling in more common lownrings. But you don't care, you got to be going with what feels right at where your heart's up in, you know? You like to practice on your One Wheel Device, which you are God Awful At because your Feet Do Not Reach the Pedals. You enjoy a Fine Beverage, and like to do A Little Baking Sometimes. You've got All These Horns all over the place, and sometimes you step on them and Scare the Shit Out of Yourself.

You like to chat a lot with your pal Karkat, who is usually pretty cranky, but he is your Best Friend. You have a lot of Other Great Friends who you also like a lot. Your trolltag is terminallyCapricious and you speak in a manner that is Just a Little Bit Whimsical.

What will you do?

Gamzee: Captchalogue bottle of Faygo.

[Image description: A set of captchalogue cards appear in the top right corner. They're a flashing jumbled mess. There's a horizontal line of pulsing teal cards with tiny, vibrating yellow cards below them. To the right is four flashing blue ones set in a zigzag pattern. A giant green one sticks out from underneath the blue ones and has three dark red ones in a line along its left. To the left of the red card and on the bottom right corner of the large green card, two orange cards spin rapidly. A bottle of red Faygo zips randomly around the cards, jumping from slot to slot.]

You snag a bottle of Faygo. To consume the beverage is what your fellow devotees refer to as Kickin' the Wicked Elixir.

It is captchalogue through your Miracle Modus. You have absolutely no idea how this thing works.

And you don't want to know.

Gamzee: Captchalogue computer.

[Image description: The laptop disappears from the desk. A second image shows Gamzee looking up in awe as brightly colored lights flash over his face.]

You take your Husktop.

Sometimes you just like to pick stuff up and watch the colors. It's so beautiful. Life is beautiful.

Gamzee: Ride one wheel device.

[Image description: Gamzee stands next to the unicycle.]

You decide to give this diabolical contraption another shot. Maybe one of these days you will get one more suited to your proportions. For now this is all you have to work with.

You just have to figure out how to stay on the thing without flying off the handle.

Next

[Image description: He stands on the seat of the unicycle with his arms out to his side for balance. Almost immediately, he begins to wobble. After a few small tilts, he pitches forward and lands in a pile of horns to the left of his bed. A giant HONK takes up the top half of the screen.]

You do some sort of acrobatic fucking pirouette off the handle and into a big pile of horns.

Gamzee: Sample delicious pie cooling on the counter.
It is still piping hot but you can't help yourself. You sneak a taste of the Sopor Slime Pie.

You aren't supposed to eat that slime. It does funny things to a troll's head.

But you were never taught that on account of a lousy upbringing. Your custodian was always out to sea.

That is where he is now. Maybe you will go outside and see if you can spot him.

Gamzee: Take a juggling club.

You grab a Juggling Club. You'll need it if you are going to go out. It is dangerous to leave unarmed.

Gamzee: Go outside.

You should not stay out here very long. The Sea Dwellers are quite hostile.

Next

Someone is bugging you. This is exciting. You're always down for shooting the wicked shit with anyone that who'll put up with you.

Now if only you could figure out how to get your Husktop out of this stupid thing. It'll be a miracle if you can manage.

Gamzee: Retrieve husktop.

You say a short prayer to your beloved Mirthful Messiahs, and splash a pinch of Special Stardust in your face.
Next

[Image description: The bottle of faygo flies from his sylladex, leaving a red trail behind it. The word Launch is written above the trail. Gamzee looks annoyed. A second image shows the bottle endlessly flying out over the ocean.]

Your sylladex launches your beverage far, far into the ocean.

Next

[Image description: Gamzee stands in front of his captchalogue cards. A second image shows a close up of the card with the husktop in it. He reaches into the card.]

You wonder if you can just...

Just sort of reach over...

And...

Gamzee: Answer troll.

but im gonna the only reason im asking you is because your name is like game and no other reason get it?? (Smiley face with furrowed brows)
T.C: haha well I heard of worse fuckin reasons to be gettin all about to do something.
(smiley face with a round nose) honk
G.C: no that should bother you, that reason why dont things like that bother you?? no wonder vantas cant stand you but who cares about him, were going to have some motherfucking shitty bitches playing together!
or whatever you said
T.C: so is this the game I've heard about?
the big mystery?
G.C: yeah
T.C: whoa ok uhhhh... this is going to be fuckin insane.
but can we play a little later?
I'm outside keeping an eye out here for the old goat.
you know how it is with family.
G.C: no, not really!

anyway I'll go inside in a while, why don't you get karkat to fire up that motherfucker with you?
he likes games.
G.C: oh nooooo.
god can you imagine all the bitching and moaning?
I used to try to play stuff with him but wow did I learn my lesson.
T.C: alright, well I'll try to get in and get up on my chill real soon and we can play.
just give me a minute!
G.C: bullshit!
you know youre just going to sit there on the beach and space out and lose track of time.
hello?
gamz?????
T.C: what?
oh man sorry.
I spaced out, did you know how beatuful the sound of the ocean is?
have you ever even seen the ocean?
or I mean smelled it...
sorry.

Karkat: Get some programming done.

[Image description: Karkat sits at his desk and looks at his screen. He's much calmer than he was when talking to Gamzee. A black alert bubble over his computer has the ~ATH face in it. A second image shows his screen. In the background, Trollian is open. On the right side of the screen, it lists the people he talks to in a Chumproll.
apocalypseArisen, which is written in a dark, rusty red.
adiosToreador, which is written in an orangey brown.
twinArmageddons, which is written in mustard yellow.

caligulasAquarium, which is written in royal purple.
And cuttlefishCuller, which is written in a bright fuschia.
To the left of each name is a circle in the same color as the text. Another file in a smaller window is open on top of the trollian application. The file is titled AAAAAAAAAAAAAAUUUUUUUUUUUUUGH dot ~ATH and has a section of code in it.
import universe U semicolon import author Karkat semicolon

~ATH open parenthesis U close parenthesis open bracket ~ATH open parenthesis Karkat close parenthesis open bracket
Close bracket EXECUTE open parenthesis NULL close parenthesis semicolon
Close bracket EXECUTE open parenthesis NULL close parenthesis semicolon
THIS dot DIE open parenthesis close parenthesis semicolon
Finally some peace and quiet. Now you can bear down on your coding. This will surely last all evening, without interruption.

You reopen one of your ~ATH projects you started recently. You are still horsing around with the conditions for terminating the loops.

What many ~ATH coders do is import finite constructs and bind the loops to their lifespan. For instance the main loop here will terminate on the death of the universe, labeled U. That way you only have to wait billions of years for it to end instead of forever.

You have bound a subloop to the lifespan of the code's author, which is you. Any routine at the end will execute when you die. You figure this might be handy for coding something to release a final will and testament. Or maybe some doomsday virus. You spend a lot of time thinking of ways to make the perfect doomsday virus.

Conveniently absent from ~ATH's extensive import library are entities with short lifespans. Like a rapidly decaying particle that only lasts a millisecond sure would be handy. Or even a fruit fly or something. But no, coding with this language is all about finding ways to trick it into doing what you want.

Your hacker buddy is obnoxiously good at it. He's sent you some files which you still don't understand, but you're not going to admit that. He is even better at making viruses than you, which really gets stuck in your nook.

Karkat: Check out one of his files.

This code, when executed, immediately causes the user's computer to explode, and places a curse on the user forever, along with everyone he knows, and everyone he'll ever meet.
Not surprisingly, later on you would run this code in a fit of stupidity.

You don't know how he does stuff like this. What does this even mean? It's nonsense. Is it even syntactically viable?? Are you allowed to color text like that??? ARGH. Maybe you should ask him about it some time.

Oh speak of the devil. Here he is bugging you about something. Time to put on your game face and pretend you don't think very highly of his abilities.

Karkat: Answer troll.

Books and stuffed dragons litter the floor all around the room, though most stuffed animals are near the noose drawing and most books are stacked near and on the desk.]

Your name is Terezi Pyrope.

You are pretty enthusiastic about dragons. But you have a Particular Affection for their Colorful Scales, which you gather and use to decorate your hive. Though you live alone, deep in the woods, you surround yourself with a variety of plushie pals known as Scalemates. You often spend your days with them in rounds of Live Action Role Playing. You used to engage in various forms of More Extreme Roleplaying with some of your other friends before you had an accident.

You take an interest in justice, holding particular fascination for Orchestrating the Demise of the Wicked. You have taken up study of Brutal Alternian Law, and surround yourself with legal books. You have no need for copies printed in Troll Braille, because you can Smell and Taste the Words. You hope one day to join the honorable ranks of the Legislacerators. Your trolltag is gallowsCalibrator and you Speak With the Numerals the Blind Prophets Once Used.

[Note: That last phrase is written with 3 in place of E, 1 in place of I, and 4 in place of A.]

You are presently the leader of the Red Team, poised to begin a mysterious game with 5 other friends, in direct competition with another 6 of your friends, comprising the Blue Team.

What will you do?

Terezi: Cut to the chase and begin LARPing immediately.

[Image description: Terezi stands near the drawing with the noose. More of it comes on screen. It is a courtroom drawing with a troll sitting in the judge's seat. This troll is really roughly drawn in red chalk with yellow horns that are like longer versions of Terezi's. His seat is labeled His Honorable Tyranny in pink chalk.]

It's pretty hard to live action role play when there is no one who is alive nearby. But all of your Scalemates are alive to you.

At least you pretend to believe that to annoy people.

You prepare a new campaign for one of your favorite scenarios, Courtblock Drama. His Honorable Tyranny presides. On trial is an especially detestable fellow, Senator Lemonsnout. You have sparred with this scumbag before. Tonight he faces justice.

You will play the role of the prosecuting attorney. On Alternia, there is no such thing as a defense attorney, or a defense. In a courtblock, the word defense itself is offensive.

Terezi: Interrogate.

[Image description: Terezi stands in a spotlight in an otherwise dark scene. She tilts her head down and holds her cane in both hands. A yellow scale mate's head pokes on screen from the bottom right, like it's looking towards her.]

Next

[Image description: The scalemate, who has teal button eyes and a green belly, sits in a spotlight.]
Most of the interrogation is in the intimidating silence.

Terezi: Slap him around a bit.

You don't want to slap too hard. Enough to sting, but not to bruise. It must be methodical, business-like. And persistent. You only stop when you smell tears.

Mr. Senator, you smell very nice. Your luscious yellow scales are like the sweetest gumdrops to the prosecution's nose.

But your deceit Stinks.

Did you honestly think you could dip your corpulent snout into the imperial beetle coffers like that and get away with it?? Did you think your revolting abuse of the public trust would go unnoticed?? Think again, good senator. While the prosecution may be blind, rest assured the league of legislacerators sees all.

[Note, there are two 'next page' links. The first is seven question marks and the second is Terezi: Call a witness.]

Seven question marks

Password Hint
If you don't know the password yet, it means you're not supposed to, dummy! Go back!!!

[Note: okay then. Go back.]

Terezi: Call a witness.

Oh, well played, Lemonsnout. Well played. The prosecution's key witness, murdered. How convenient! The courtblock has little choice but to acknowledge your cunning. You have earned just a teensy sliver of your respect back. For now.
But wait...

Next

[Image description: Terezi looks down at a brown bag on the floor. Four small, purple items spill out. Shocking Development hovers above the bag.]

Oh my!

What have we here???

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the bag. The purple items are small beetles. A second image zooms in on the His Honorable Tyranny drawing.]

The prosecution begs your pardon, dear senator, but you appear to have dropped something. A personal satchel, perhaps? Chock full of illicit, embezzled beetles, with which you have the unmitigated cheek to waltz before his tyranny, concealed beneath your ill-gotten finery??????

The prosecution requests a short recess from His Honorable Tyranny so that all law abiding and Mother Grub fearing citizens may go outside and puke.

Terezi: Sentence the criminal.

[Image description: Terezi holds a coin between her thumb and forefinger. A second image shows both sides of the coin with a coiled arrow and the word Flip between them. One side shows a woman with an almost grecian feel to her. She has long, pointed horns that tilt back. The opposite side has the same image, but a gash has been gouged across her eyes.]

As the prosecutor, it is your job to reach a final verdict and sentence the reprehensible felon, while His Tyranny watches in silence and submits grim approval.

But you take pity on this miserable bureaucrat. You are feeling merciful. You will give him a fighting chance.

You will flip a Double-headed Troll Caegar to decide his fate. You do this quite often when making important decisions. Kind of like Batman's nemesis, Two-Face. Or that guy from No Country for Old Men. It turns out there are lots of badasses out there flipping coins. But those are Earth things and you've never heard of them. It's safe to say you borrowed this gimmick from one of the many, many troll things out there that's got hard boiled dudes flipping coins for major stakes. You base the habit on whichever one smells the most badass.

Terezi: Flip.

[Image description: Terezi stands in her spotlight again. She flicks the coin up with a small Pling. A second image zooms in on it spinning. As it does, Whoosh appears on either side of it. A third shows the scalemate vibrating in an almost nervous way.]

The coin tumbles through the air. Lemonsnout is sweating bullets!!!

Next

[Image description: The coin lands on the floor with the unscratched side up. A second image shows the scalemate sitting still.]
A favorable flip. The senator exhales in relief.

Next

[Image description: Terezi kneels in front of him again. A second image shows the scalemate with his snout pointing towards the left. A third shows the coin laying on the ground.]

But, what are you so happy about, Mr. Lemonsnout?

He looks a bit confused. He quivers his lowly proboscis at the coin.

See? The coin has exonerated him.

Next

[Image description: Terezi stands and shrugs.]

Coin? What coin?

Surely you jest, Mr. Senator. The prosecution sees no coin.

Next

[Image description: Terezi grabs the scalemate and pulls it close to her face. She presses her nose to its snout hard enough to wrinkle it.]

She's Blind, Remember?

Next

[Image description: Terezi loops a white noose around its neck with a Hurkh… A second image shows it being tossed out the window with the rope trailing back into the house. From the outside, it's apparent that the house is high in the branches of one of the purple trees. Among the branches in the background is a white arm.]

Next

[Image description: The scalemate hangs at the end of the noose. In the background, two more scalemates hang from nooses. The other scalemates and ropes are dingy and torn, like they've been hanging there a long time. A second image zooms out to show all of Terezi's hive. The entire structure is embedded in and built in the branches of a massive tree, high above the ground. Many scalemates hang from the branches around the hive. A pulley system mounted on a branch gives a way from the ground to a walkway around the trunk of the tree.]

Terezi: Adjourn.

[Image description: Terezi licks the His Honorable Tyranny drawing with a Slurp, smearing the red chalk.]

Another triumph for justice. The courtblock is adjourned. You offer final salutations to His Tyranny in the customary manner.

Ok, that's not customary at all. You're just kind of weird.

It's just that your red chalk is The Most Delicious Chalk. You cannot get enough of it. Anyone who says there is a more delicious chalk out there simply reeks of deceit.
Next

[Image description: It zooms out, showing that Terezi had to stack ten large books to reach His Honorable Tyranny.]

You sure had to go to a lot of trouble to do that.

Terezi: Go get cane.

[Image description: Terezi stands back near the dragon drawing, where her cane leans against the wall. It pops into a Strife Specibus card that appears in the top left corner. It's Cane kind and has a black outline of her cane on it.]

You take your Walking Cane, which you use as a weapon kind of like Earth Daredevil who you've never heard of. You will use it to wallop enemies when you enter the Medium.

Next

[Image description: Terezi stands in a green landscape that is presumably what her planet will look like once she enters the medium. She stands on a path and pulls her cane into four collapsable sections, flailing each pair of sections like nunchucks. The red portion has several sharp spikes coming out of it. She uses the handle portion to wallop a red, winged imp and kicks another in the face. Her tree stands on a hill and the gates hover above it. At this point, the house is high enough to reach the first gate. Ruins of columns are half buried in the dirt.]

Like this.

Terezi: Begin recruiting red team members.

[Image description: She sits at her computer. A second image shows her monitor, which is streaked and blurry. Behind the smears, she has Trollian open with the same Chumproll that Karkat has.]

Your nose begins scouring your chumproll through the saliva smears on your monitor for potential teammates so you can start playing. Hmm, no not her. Nope, not her either. Definitely not that guy.

Ok how about this girl. You like to roleplay with her sometimes via chat. You pretend you are a member of the mysterious and noble Dragonyy'yd Race, while she does her own goofy thing.

You don't have it in your heart to tell her that your chat RPing is meant facetiously (in her quirk) I mean facetiously.

Terezi: Troll A.C.

[Image description: It zooms in on Terezi giggling at her computer. An olive green Leo symbol alert hovers over her computer. The leo symbol is a small circle with a loop coming from the top that is almost shaped like an upside down teardrop, but before it connects back at the tip, the line flicks out to the right in a small hook.]

want to play a game??
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) oh! Heehee ok if you mean a computer game then yes that sounds like fun
G.C: ok you can be on my team
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) team? who else is playing?
G.C: I haven't decided yet
a whole bunch of us in two teams
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) oh well it does sound like it will be a lot of fun but I think I should get purrmission first G.C: blar!!!!!
that's so stupid
he's not the boss of you
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) I know!
but still im kind of scared of him and I think purrhaps its best to just run it by him first so there isn't a kerfuffle about it or anything
G.C: this is stupid in such a terrible myriad of dumb ways you shouldn't be afraid of anyone you kill big animals with your bare hands!
and in any case he lives nowhere near you so the whole thing is extra stupid
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) I knooow but I dont think ill be a big deal ill just mention it casually and ill be fine im sure and then we can play in just a little bit!
G.C: (open-mouth face with eyes pinched shut and furrowed brows) fiiiine
in the meantime I will go round up some more people to play A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) k!

[Image description: It shows Karkat's house in the Land of Pulse and Haze. A second image shows his house on Alternia, completely unmodified by Terezi's nonsense.]

We return to the Land of Pulse and Haze, so that we can rewind a bit. Before all that paint got slopped on your hive and before that mysterious hole was made.

Man how'd that hole get made??

(It was when Karkat ran TA's cursed ~ATH program and his computer blew up. That's what happened. We'll see this happen later. It will be startling and unexpected.)

Karkat: Deal with crabby customer.
You go downstairs and confront your custodian, which is another term for a frightening beast known as a Lusus Naturae.

Your lusus has looked after you since you were very young in lieu of any biological parents, whom you have never known. No young troll ever knows his or her blood parents, nor could such lineage ever be accurately traced. Adult trolls supply their genetic material to the Filial Pails carried by imperial drones and offered to the monstrous Mother Grub deep underground in the brooding caverns. She then combines all the genetic material into one diabolical incestuous slurry, and lays hundreds of thousands of eggs at once.

The eggs hatch into young larval trolls which wriggle about to locate a cozy stalactite from which to spin their cocoons. After they pupate, the young troll with his or her newfound limbs undergoes a series of dangerous trials. If they survive, they are chosen by a member of the diverse and terrifying subterranean monster population native to Alternia. This creature becomes the troll's lusus, and together they surface and choose a location to build a hive. The building process is facilitated by Carpenter Droids left on the planet to cater to the young. But only for building. They're on their own otherwise.

The vast majority of adult trolls are off-planet, serving some role in the forces of ongoing imperial conquest, besieging other star systems in the name of Alternian glory. The culture and civilization on the homeworld is maintained almost entirely by the young.

Trolls sure are weird!

You leap into the domestic fray in an attempt to mollify your nannying aggressor. After a lot of kicking and fussing and gnashing of teeth and carapace, you just pull out a few Chilled Roe Cubes from the fridge to settle the beast down.

Trolls and their custodians have a peculiar arrangement of codependence. The lusus behaves as a lifelong bodyguard, caretaker, and visceral sort of mentor, while the young troll must learn to function as a sort of zookeeper.

We decide to agree this conflict is not a big enough deal to warrant a detailed examination of the action, or an embedded musical accompaniment. We also agree that while that would have been pretty sweet, we are also in kind of a hurry here. But if it were to be accompanied by something audible, it would probably sound something like this. We decide to listen to that track, close our eyes, and imagine what might have been.

[Note: "It would probably sound like this" is a link to a scrapped song called Showdown.]

Wow that sure was awesome.

Anyway, moving on.
In fact, we are in such a hurry, you could almost say we need to get moving...

There's this pretty cool dude, ok? Some people seem to think he's cool. Sometimes. He guesses they're right. I mean, maybe. If they say so. Actually, you know what? They're right. This guy's dynamite lit in a box of hot shit. Screw the haters. Anyway, he's standing around being all chill, like cool dudes are known to do sometimes, when they're not moping around or nursing migraines or whatever. A cool dude like this probably has a real cool name. Or at least a name that doesn't completely fucking suck. Like at least not the kind of name that belongs to someone you'd want to just perpetually wail on. Maybe just a name that makes you cringe a little, but you guess you can deal with it if you've got to. It's just a guy's name, it's not like it really matters. Who cares? But he probably wouldn't just tell you what it was if you asked. He'd be way too moody for that. In fact, this guy probably thinks you've got some attitude and probably doesn't want a damn thing to do with you.

You could always try to guess his name. But instead of that, here's a better idea. Why don't you just fuck off and go to hell?

Here, name this kooky broad instead.
Wait...

You've got to be kidding me.

Looks like we're going back to the other guy again. Alright, hang on...

It appears this cool and moody dude had a change of heart. He feels pretty bad about flying off the handle like that, as if shit wanted nothing to do with the handle. Shit would like to reconcile with the handle, and perhaps seek marital counseling.

So what's his name gonna be?

Enter name.

Your name is Sollux Captor.

You are apeshit bananas at computers, and you know All the Codes. All of them. You are the unchallenged authority on Apiculture Networking. And though all your friends recognize your unparalleled achievements as a Totally Sick Hacker, you feel like you could be better. It's one of a number of things you Sort of Beat Yourself up About for No Very Good Reason during sporadic and debilitating Bipolar Mood Swings. You have a penchant for Bifurcation, in logic and in life. Your mutant mind is hounded by the psychic screams of the Imminently Deceased. Your visions foretell of the planet's looming annihilation, and yet unlike the typical sightless prophet of doom, you are gifted with Vision Twofold.

For now.

You have developed a new game, adapted via CodeParsed from the Runes and Glyphs in an Ancient Underground Temple. You believe this game to be the Salvation of Your Race, though you are not sure how yet. To ensure success, you will distribute the game to two teams of friends, a Red Team and a Blue Team. You will lead the latter group. Your trolltag is twinArmageddons and you tend to speak with a bit of a lisp.

[Note, the last phrase is written in his quirk. He replaces all instance of too and to with two, all Ss with 2, and doubles all I's.]

What will you do?

Sollux: Equip throwing stars to strife specibus.

lightning crackles on Sollux's forehead. The throwing stars hover in the air to his right and he holds up his hand like he's controlling them. Red and blue lights flash around him and the throwing stars.]

Why would you do that?

A high level psionic has no use for any particular specibus allocation.

Sollux: Fling stars specibus-ward.

[Image description: He turns to the left and flings the stars towards the specibus card. They crash into the second tallest server tower, slicing off the top and cutting the specibus card in half. The halves of the card and the top of the server crash to the floor. The bees crowd around Sollux and honey splatters out from the broken server and splashes over Sollux, who looks angry.]

You make short work of the specibus and...

Oh God, one of your Beehouse Mainframes. The silicomb was sliced clean through by your foolish maneuver. What were you thinking???

The workers pair up and dance angry messages to you in beenary code.

Sollux: Taste honey.

No!!!!!!!!

You do not under any circumstance eat the Mind Honey. The consequences are highly unpleasant.

You cultivate this honey for your lusus. It helps him not be such a complete idiot all the time. Merely most of the time instead.

Sollux: Calm those bees down.

Nap time.

Sollux: Get to work at computer.

[Image description: Sollux sits at a computer. The monitor has a gemini symbol on the back split between red on the left and blue on the right. Several copies of Game Grub magazine are on his desk and many, brightly colored grubs lay on the floor. Two of them sit on top of a small honeycomb mainframe next to his desk with wires running from them to the machines. The three original mainframes, the broken card, and the sleeping bees are behind him, far enough back that they barely poke on screen.]

You are always up to your nook in the newest and hottest games. It is hard to walk around the place without squishing them. Whenever that happens you are screwed, and you have to grow a new one from scratch. Or just pirate it you guess.
But tonight is no night for games.

Well, ok, it is.

But just one game in particular, and this game is no joking matter. It is delirious bugnasty.

Sollux: Recruit team leader.

I mean we all are.
but especially me.
I am going to get my ass served to me twofold.
double the service.
like two dudes on doublebutler island.
getting worked over by a siamese twin masseuse.
but before I die, im going to go blind like you.
it has to happen like that.
im not sure why, but I think its like...
fulfilling some requirement for a true prophet of doom.
in order for the visions to be right, that has to happen, and the universe will make sure it will.
its kind of like how a prophet earns his stripes, by being blind, like how an angel earns its wings.
G.C: whats an angel

T.A: paradox space uses them to usher in the end.

G.C: (face with a question mark for a mouth and furrowed brows)
T.A: so yeah.
we will all die but most especially me, end of story.
G.C: but dont take this the wrong way but how can you be totally sure about all that?
how do you know some of the real visions youre having arent getting kind of tangled up with uhhh sort of the way you are about yourself
T.A: what do you mean.
G.C: how you get mopey and youre always the victim of something and how sometimes you think you suck when you really dont maybe that is clouding your vision?
T.A: ok thats just some personal private emotional issues and im dealing with that, and honestly id appreciate you not always throwing that in my face every goddamn opportunity you get.
like this is a big circus act to you, and that is your special clown pie.

A.A: ha
T.A: there you go, you are now officially the life of the party.
eheheh i just took an embarrassing video of you cutting loose there, boy i sure hope this juicy nugget doesnt wind up on the internet!
A.A: (wide eyed blank face)
sollux i actually would like it if you were happy
T.A: ok. thank you for saying so.
A.A: you seem sad and angry all the time what does anger feel like i forgot
T.A: have you ever been angry?
i dont remember you getting angry about anything.
A.A: maybe i never was i feel like i was though once
T.A: why dont you ask karkat, hes way angrier than me.
for that matter why dont you get on HIS case about it instead of MINE.
A.A: i think his anger serves a greater purpose its part of his destiny and thus ours it will help him to sabotage his own designs which are very much in opposition to the broader purpose and will sow the seeds of our failure a failure which will ironically prove to be mission critical T.A: if you think we are going to fail why wouldnt you get mad about that?
at the voices sending you down this blind alley the whole time?
A.A: they never lied though this is how it had to be i have to be totally honest though at no point did i ever lie but through omission
this game will not save the world
T.A: the fuck??
A.A: and though it is still very important even in our defeat unfortunately it is much closer to serving as the instrument of our peoples demise than that of their salvation and we twelve will behave simultaneously as the pawns and the orchestrators of the great undoing
T.A: i dont want to play anymore then.
A.A: you will though T.A: fuck that just watch, this shit is dusted.
check me out, all dusting it like a saucy fuckin maid.
A.A: it cannot be stopped meteors are en route
you know this sollux
T.A: who cares, im yanking the grubtube on this overpunctured bitch.
im telling red team leader to forget the whole thing.
im quitting as blue team leader.
if you want to shamble through this macabre fantasy of yours solo be my guest.
A.A: you were never going to be the team leader though which is to say the first to enter
T.A: are you messing with me??
you do realize im psychic to.
i could pull so much trippy shit out of my spinal crevice, it would make your head spin like dervish in a fucking blender.
so Get Off Your High Hoofbeast.
A.A: im coming up
T.A: huh??? up where.
hello????????????

Sollux: Abort.

I'm the leader. It's me.
your plan to cripple your rival team has failed.
T.A: I know, she told me, I dont care.
the game is bad news, it will cause the end of the world, not stop it.
so forget it, just go back to whatever you were doing.

this is yet another feeble attempt to weaken your opposition.
terezi and I have already established a connection and we are making great progress here.
we are a great team, and I am a fantastic leader.

what is a hacker even? Just some smug asshole in movies doing fake things and making up words.
it's not even a real thing to be, it's just some bullshit title you gave yourself so you can feel just a tiny bit less loathesome.
T.A: oh no, more childish burns, I dont have to prove anything to you, im a great hacker, period.
C.G: no it's all so clear now, you were a fraud all along.
what does all this nonsensical code you wrote even do?
it's all nonsense.

well you're busted, these viruses here I bet do nothing at all.
T.A: wait, kk...

T.A: no don't.
C.G: how about this idiotic program with the red and blue code, which is a meaningless thing to do with code anyway.
what does that even mean? It's another one of your scams.
why not sneak some bad clip art into the files too, and pretend that's code???
T.A: oh god, no dont run that, im serious.
C.G: what would happen?
T.A: im not sure, but it would be really, really bad if you ran it, just dont.
C.G: ah ha. Just as I thought, you can't even come up with a good lie when I press you on it.

[Image description: Karkat stands on the balcony outside his bedroom, where the alchemiter now sits. Several streaks of paint are on the outside of the building above the balcony. There's a gaping hole in the side of the building and he kicks and throws a little temper tantrum about it.]

You are highly startled by the totally unexpected explosion.

Next

[Image description: Karkat stands in the kitchen again, staring sadly down at his lusus's corpse. Smoke from the explosion hasn't even cleared yet. A purple cursor shaped like the sburb house logo with 12 boxes in a cross shape hovers above the body and a grey kernel hovers above Karkat's head.]

Karkat and his friends and everyone they would ever meet thereafter would experience great misfortune on account of the curse unwittingly implemented through Sollux's esoteric Mobius Double Reacharound Virus.

Every troll's lusus would soon die. All but one of their kernelsprites would be prototyped with a dead lusus, each prior to entering the Medium. Upon entry, they would each have a bittersweet reunion with the creature after the kernel hatched, triggering the sprite's metamorphosis. For the first time, the trolls would be able to have verbal conversations with their custodians, and would be guided by them along their journeys.

Unfortunately, the underlings and warring royalty would gain the benefits of the monstrous prototypings as well. Each sprite, except for one, would only be prototyped once. The players would learn quickly that while one pre-entry prototyping per player was absolutely necessary for ultimate success, additional pre-entry prototypings merely empowered their enemies unnecessarily.

[Image description: It shows the beach outside Gamzee's hive. In the distance, two meteors streak across the sky. A white shape has washed up on the shore right in front of Gamzee. It's head looks like a goat's head and Gamzee hugs its snout and looks like he's about to cry. This, apparently, was his lusus.]

The game has no explicit rule that demands something dead for prototyping. But in practice, the kernelsprite has particular attraction to the deceased or the doomed. Across every session ever played, exceptions to this pattern are extremely rare.

Sollux: Lament.
Why did you send Karkat that code? It was such a bad idea. You suppose it was a boastful gesture to get a friend to think more highly of you. But why would flaunting your superior skills accomplish this? It was foolish.

You ought to wipe all these clever viruses you wrote off your computer. They can only bring more trouble.

Sollux: Delete.

While deleting your virus folders, you pause on one oddball file you have lying around.

You did not write this virus. You copied it from an obscure server, far beyond your planet's global network. This application is running on that server perpetually.

It is an extremely simple ~ATH program. Its main loop is tied to the lifespan of the universe. When the universe dies, a mysterious subprogram will be executed. You have no way of knowing what that subprogram does. It runs on a protected part of the server. It is completely unhackable.

You delete the file, but it won't do much good. The program is already running elsewhere. Luckily, whatever harm it will do will not be done for many billions of years. And even then, what harm could a virus do after the expiration of the universe? This file always struck you as quite odd.

Next

But Sollux, even with his vision twofold, does not have the perceptual luxuries of our vision omnipresent.

When executed, the subprogram will summon an indestructible demon into the recently voided universe. This monstrous being with the power to travel through time is inconvenienced very little by his arrival upon THE GREAT UNDOING. He has the entire cadaver of the expired universe to pick apart at his whim. From its birth through its swelling maturity and tapering decay. In a reality he is known to have marked for predation, he will go about assembling followers through various epochs, even going as far as personally establishing the parameters for his future summoning.

Sollux couldn't know that the virus is essentially a formality.

The demon is already here.

The slats dividing the panes from each other are completely gone in the center and broken short at the edges. The rest of the available wall space is covered with troll fairy posters, posters of castles, and one that looks like it's from Peter Pan. A grey, white, and red striped lance leans against the window. Purple playing cards and small balls with swirled designs on them are scattered over the floor and desk. Two stuffed animals sit on the floor, too. Their left sides are red and their right sides are yellow. A tiny lusus that looks like a bull with fairy wings flies near the window.]

Another one of the stuffed animals lays on the ground next to it. The Peter Pan like poster has the title Pupa Pan on it.]

Your name is Tavros Nitram.

You are known to be heavily arrested by Fairy Tales and Fantasy Stories. You have an acute ability to Commune With the Many Creatures of Alternia, a skill you have utilized to Capture and Train a great many. They are all your friends, as well as your warriors, which you pit in battle through a variety of related Card and Role Playing Games. You used to engage in various forms of More Extreme Roleplaying with some of your other friends before you had an accident.

You like to engage in the noble practice of Alternian Slam Poetry, possibly the oldest, most revered, and certainly freshest artform in your planet's rich history. You have a profound fascination with the concept of Flight, and all lore surrounding the topic. You believe in Fairies, even though they Aren't Real.

Your trolltag is adiosToreador and you uhh, speak in a sort of, uhh, faltering manner.

[Note: The last phrase is written in his quirk, in which every letter is capitalized except for the first letter of each clause and phrase.]

What will you do?

Tavros: Cut to the chase and play card games immediately.

[Image description: Tavros tilts his head forward and looks up, quirking one eyebrow. [Image description: The creature, Horsaroni, whinnies and rips into the creature that hatched from the ball.] With a brooding whinny, Horsaroni shuffles his mighty hooves and makes short work of the fidusucker, boosting his vitals!

Horsaroni is now primed and raring for battle. Look out Tinker bull!!!

Tavros: Horsaroni: Spawntech to Slumberbuddies.

[Image description: It fades between Horsaroni and Tavros looking up with his hands on his temples. A second image shows Tinkerbull, who doesn't seem to understand what is happening.]

[Image description: Tavros claps and looks at the sleeping creatures. The remnants of the hatched thing and the plush lay on the floor beside him.]

Good game everybody. That was a lot of fun. Time to do some other stuff you guess.

Tavros: Roll up your ramp.

This is how you get up to your recuperacoon when it's time to rest. It's kind of a production getting in and out.

Tavros: Hop in.

[Image description: Tavros sits in the slime, some of which splashed out when he got in. He clutches the side and looks upset. His horns are too wide to fit into the recuperacoon. His wheelchair sits at the bottom of the ramp.]

You can't fit all the way in because of your huge horns. It makes it hard to get any solid shuteye.

Oh great, now you're covered in slime. Why did you do this? You're going to have to change your clothes. There goes another solid hour down the tubes.

Aw damn and there goes your four wheel device down the ramp. That happens a lot.

Tavros: Take lance.

It is a scarecrow with a bucket for a head that is holding a shield and a lance, which is propped up by a fork shaped support to hold it parallel to the ground. The dummy is wearing tattered black clothing and the bucket on its head has a grey grub engraved on it. The shield and bucket are littered with dents and scrapes.]

You like to practice your jousting outside. One day you hope to prove yourself worthy of recruitment into the halls of the dreaded imperial Cavalreapers. Assuming you are not slated for culling first on account of your disability. Or really any other arbitrary reason.

Tavros: Admire posters.

[Image description: Tavros smiles up at his Pupa Pan poster. A medium blue scorpio symbol alert hovers over his husktop. The scorpio symbol is shaped like a lowercase M with the final downward stroke curving out into an arrow pointing right.]

You wheel over to your favorite poster featuring Pupa Pan, which is your favorite thing. You have always fantasized that one day intrepid young Pupa would come and take you away, and together you would fly to a beautiful paradise planet of legend, that has all sorts of fanciful stuff like pirates, treasure, a cruel villain with a missing arm and a missing eye, and these weird aliens called "indians". You have left your window open since you were very young, just in case Pupa stopped by one night and decided to splash a pinch of Special Stardust in your face.

You have had this interest far prior to your accident. Being paralyzed isn't what made you want to be able to fly. That would be dumb and would make no sense.

Being paralyzed does sort of make you want to be able to walk, though.

Way in the future...

[Image description: Tavros stands near a computer in the Troll's facility. His legs and feet look like they're made of metal plates riveted together. Over the course of your long journey, at one point you were fitted with a cool pair of robolegs. The guy who likes to build robots built them for you.

His chest has a royal blue sagittarius symbol on it. The sagittarius symbol is an arrow pointing up and to the right with a line crossing the shaft from the opposite direction.]

The guy who likes to build robots just stood there and watched. It would always make everyone uncomfortable whenever he would just stand there.

And watch.

And way back again...

[Image description: Tavros looks at his computer. The scorpio alert is still there, but an indigo capricorn one has joined it.]

But before that you had to scoot around in your wheel device throughout the various worlds of the Medium, and endure all sorts of follies related to your disability, which on account of their great plurality and marginal relevance we will not get to see. Just as well.

Wow, look what happens when you space out and contemplate the future like that. The messages start piling up.

imagine an array of beats that set limits, they got a rulebook, it doesn't pay to skim it,
because, there's not a lot of latitude,
they won't stand for an attitude, and, crossing them's a habit you'd,
(not really want to get into because, uhh), they'd get pretty mad at you,
T.C: fuuuuck, so fuckin fresh.
you need to be slapped fuckin silly with a mouth like that! Haha.
A.T: and, if you got a problem with it,
then I suggest you go and rap it dude,

[Image description: Terezi stands on the forest floor, flanked by purple trees. In the background, the distant parts of the forest burn. She wears her red glasses, but she doesn't have her cane.]

You make your way through the burning woods to meet the lusus you never had.

It's time for her to hatch. It's now or never.

Next

Since the world is about to end anyway, you suppose it no longer matters if the Doomsday Scale is tipped.
The counterweight is the skull of an ancient mother grub, slain thousands of solar sweeps ago.

The egg contains a rare species of dragon which remains blind until maturity, using its other senses to survive. It has balanced the skull here for millennia, waiting for the warmth of a meteor-sparked forest fire before hatching.

In case it wasn't clear, dragons are real.

While she slept in her egg, she would communicate with you in your sleep.

After your accident, she would use your dreams to teach you to detect the world around you without vision.

As you learned, your dreams became more vivid. Where before there was darkness, odors and flavors painted a striking picture. You found yourself surrounded by bright honey walls, and in the sky was a huge tasty ball of cotton candy, which is this sweet troll delicacy we wouldn't know anything about.

The first time you caught a glimpse of this world in your dreams, there was no turning back.

The young lusus would take to the sky and promptly get herself killed. This would be much more shocking and maybe a little bit more sad if we didn't already know it was going to happen.

We already knew this. But of course, you didn't.

The dragon never smelled it coming.
She would fall to your treehive. On your return, she would be scooped up by a sympathetic ally and deposited into the kernelsprite.

Then you and she could talk! There would be plenty to discuss.

Next

[Image description: A timer on the front of the black box counts down from 6:12]

The doomsday device would display the amount of time you had to get back to your hive and enter the Medium before the forest was destroyed.

At the time, it wouldn't occur to you to wonder whether the device was directly responsible for the apocalypse, or merely served as its precisely calibrated harbinger. And it certainly wouldn't occur to you to cast doubt on any perceived difference between those two things.

It wouldn't until later, when you better understood the game you were about to play.

Be the other other girl.

You are now the other other girl.

Render the girl in a more symbolic manner.

[Image description: The art style changes to the armless one all the other characters have been drawn in for the most part. She looks decidedly less ethereal now.]

That's better. We can now be properly introduced.

Who's this spooky lady?

Enter name.

[Image description: It zooms out, showing more of the empty roof. Purple stalactites poke down from the ceiling.]

Your name is Aradia Megido.

You once had a number of Interests, which in time you have Lost Interest In. You seem to recollect once having a fondness for Archeology, though now have trouble recalling this passion. It nonetheless has led you to find your Present Calling, which came through the discovery of these Mystic Ruins on which you presently stand, and which you recently Desecrated Out of Boredom.

Guiding you to this calling were the Voices of the Dead, which you have been able to hear since you were young. The voices have become louder as the Great Undoing approaches. This trend in escalation began after an Accident involving a Certain Kind of Role Playing, which might have been another of your interests once upon a time. It doesn't matter much anymore.

The accident resulted in the Death of Your Lusus, which prompted you to leave your home and take up these ruins as residence. On the instruction of your Ancestors, you have recovered Mysterious Technology from the ruins, and convinced a friend to adapt it into a Game That Will Bring About the Destruction of Your Civilization. And by convinced, you suppose you mean tricked.
He has tentatively named the game Sgrub, which is a word that is Not Terribly Elegant. If it were marketed by a legitimate game company instead of rapidly patched together by a young hacker, it would ostensibly be given a better title. He is presently mobilizing twelve friends to play it, including him and yourself. He believes he will lead the blue team. But he is wrong.

Your trolltag is apocalypseArisen and there is typically a pronounced hollowness to your words.

[Note: That last phrase was written in her quirk, with all the O's replaced with 0.]

What will you do?

Aradia: Retrieve computer.

[Image description: It shows a fetch modus for Ouija type. The card shows six captchalogue card shapes in a row with an upside down heart shaped pointer pointing to the center of the row. Near the tip of the pointer is a round hole. A second image shows Aradia hovering against a ouija board. She holds her left hand up and the pointer floats to her left. The ouija board has a horned sun in the top left corner and a horned moon in the top right. The bottom left and right both have the same picture of trolls playing the game. Everyone places a hand on the pointer, which then moves around the board to point at different letters or numbers. The symbols are arranged in two parallel, curved rows across the board. A straight row of numbers is below them, but they are upside down. Evidently, even if their alphabet is different, they use the same numbers, if inverted. Below the numbers is another row of letters. Above the curved rows is another, much shorter and more steeply curved row with only 5 letters. On either side of this row is a symbol. The one that appeared when properly naming the planet is on the left and the one that appeared for the wrong name is on the right.]

It's not up to you to decide what you retrieve from your sylladex. It's up to the spirits.

You live in a Cave that is also a Hive, but still mostly just a Cave. You like to engage in Friendly Role Playing, but not the Dangerous Kind. Never the Dangerous Kind. It's Too Dangerous! Too many of your good friends have gotten hurt that way.

Your daily routine is dangerous enough as it is. You prowl the wilderness for Great Beasts, and stalk them and take them down with nothing but your Sharp Claws and Teeth! You take them back to your cave and Eat Them, and from time to time, Wear Their Pelts for Fun. You like to paint Wall Comics using blood and soot and ash, depicting Exciting Tales from the Hunt! A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) yes
C.T: (Bow and arrow) No I don't
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) yessssss yes yes yes have you ever even successfully fired an arrow?
like actually got one to leave the bow??
C.T: (Bow and arrow) I think
We need to stop talking about archery
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) nuh uh
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Yes
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) no
C.T: (Bow and arrow) We will stop talking about archery
The topic is making me
Sweat
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) eww youre so gross
C.T: (Bow and arrow) No, you're the one who exercises distasteful practices
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) nooo, thats you everyone knows you're a weirdo and a creep!
that's why you're lucky to have me to keep an eye on you no one else can stand you!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) You exterminate beautiful, innocent creatures by the hundreds
I can't condone such wretched behavior
Beasts are meant to be looked upon with adoration
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) but i eat them!
i dont kill anything i dont eat, that would be mean
C.T: (Bow and arrow) I guess that's basically acceptable in principle, but I still find it a bit unsavory
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) well i think YOUR habits are unsavory!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) No they're not A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) yuh HUH
C.T: (Bow and arrow) You're wrong about me, Nepeta
I do like to play games
But they must be extremely important games with very high stakes Not the kind played by transloocent green wigglers who let loose an excremental surge hard in their wiggler-bottom diaperstubs
C.T: (Bow and arrow) As it happens I have arranged to play just such a game tonight
Aradia and I have a private engagement to be co-leaders of the bloo team
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) oh yeah?? well just by purrchance it happens that A.C has a private and sneaky engagement to play this game as well!
and by a purrsnickety twist of fate, she will be on the REED TEAM, with her other great friends who like to play their childish diaperpoop games!!!!
(Face with two tongues sticking out)
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Absolutely not
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) absolutely (Face with two tongues sticking out)
C.T: (Bow and arrow) I forbid this
You will take your position on the bloo team with me
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) yeah right! i will take my purrsition into this funny pounce ball and tackle you!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) That's nonsense, you're nowhere even remotely within my proximity that would be necessary to execute such a maneuver
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) A.C rolls her eyes almost as hard as she is rolling around in this really interesting smell
C.T: (Bow and arrow) The thought of you fraternizing with and abetting those stink-blooded hooligans strikes me as scandal beyond measure
I'm afraid you're too delicate to withstand that sort of corruption
It's forbidden
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) nuh uuuuuuuuuuhhhhhhhhhhhhh
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Yes
You won't
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) no
i will
C.T: (Bow and arrow) You won't
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) you cant stop me!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) I am telling you not to
And you will be on my team
That's final
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths)(eyes pinched shut with one mouth sticking out a tongue and one open wide) bllllrrrraaaaaawwwwwllllrrrrghghghghh
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Quiet
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) why do you do this, why are you so confurdent about your stupid commands?
don't you know you cant ACTUALLY tell me what to do??
it's not like you even have any special mind pawers or telepurrthy or anything!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) No
I do not
And yet
You will do as I say
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) yes well we will just see about that!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Yes we will
You will join me on my team shortly stand by for further instruction
A.C: (Cat face with two mouths) hissssssss!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) You're angry, and I appreciate that
But it doesn't matter
Discussion over

You fondly recall your days of far more intensive role playing. It seems like so long ago now. Aside from a few unfortunate moments, it was a lot of fun. If you had to do it all over again, you suppose you would select better company. Maybe this game you are playing tonight will rekindle some of that excitement.

Next

You stand in your room on a healthy pair of legs and in a plucky little outfit. You are a low level Boy-skylark, and you wield an inexpensive Daggerlance, which is the closest thing to a jousting lance you can wield that is still compatible with your favorite class.

You are about to play a popular game called FLARP, which unlike most games published by major developers, was given a graceful and aesthetically pleasing name. It's a title under the Extreme Role Playing genre, and playing it without caution can have serious real world consequences! But that's what makes it fun.

When you activate Flarp's grub, the campaign programmed for tonight will begin. Team Charge will duel Team Scourge as usual. This is going to be great.

Tavros: Contact fellow Team Charge member.

I'll be ready soon,

mine too
I don't know where terezi is though she's running late
A.T: oh, uhh should we wait,
A.A: no
I'll be here clouding her campaign for her regardless with or without her!
her loss if she doesn't make it
I'll give you a chance to gain some ground
A.T: okay,
A.A: you picked a tough class tavros!
one of the really useful combat abilities come into play until you reach a very high level but I suppose it will be rewarding when you get there A.T: yeah, I think you're right, but, it's the class I think is most fun, and, battle skill is not all there is,
to being a great adventurer,
A.A: I couldn't agree more you might be the only flarper in the world who really understands the true spirit of the game everyone else is so aggressive and treasure hungry!
but that's what makes beating them all the more satisfying
A.T: yeah, I guess,
A.A: remember your clouder isn't going to pull any punches tonight don't fall for her mind games
I'll be here to assist of course if you're in trouble don't hesitate to ask for help
A.T: yeah, I won't,

They disperse throughout the terrain surrounding your hive. They follow both preprogrammed and live instructions by your Clouder, a member of Team Scourge, whose role is to provide you with a challenging scenario, while your teammate does the same for Scourge's other player.

Tavros: Go outside and begin adventure.
You take your starting position in the field. The game is afoot, and anything can happen now. It's up to you to consult your maps and work with your teammate to discover the objective of the quest, find treasure, and slay monsters.

Your Stat Bat has bonded with you. This keeps track of every attribute for your character, including vitals. While these attributes in principle remain abstractions, due to the fact that this is Extreme role playing, they will always relate in some way to your real life attributes as well. [Image description: A troll boy stands in a room. He has very straight, neat hair that goes to just below his shoulders. His horns are shaped like arrows, but one of them is broken off. He wears dark, cracked sunglasses and many of his teeth are broken or missing entirely. His shirt is a black tank top with a royal blue sagittarius symbol on it. He wears grey shorts and black shoes that look like they're made of metal pieces riveted together. The floor around him is scattered with broken bows, broken arrows, and pieces of broken robots. All the robots look identical, excluding the damage done to them. They have wide, red oval eyes but no mouth. Their horns begin curving in almost as soon as they come out of the head, but they're decently large none the less. A beat up robo head with one horn missing and cracked eyes lats on the floor to the troll's right. A broken arm, it's missing horn, and a broken eye are near it. An undamaged robot stands in the back corner, but the floor around it is covered in wires, broken limbs, and half and eye.
To the troll's left is a lusus that looks like an armless white centaur. One of the lusus's eyes is pinched shut and there's a deep grey smudge around it, like it's bruised. A large, pointy nose takes up most of its face and it has a large moustache that curls out at the ends, like Jade's grandpa's did. Other than the moustache, he is completely bald, and also lacks horns. It has a large udder underneath it and very defined chest muscles. Another broken robot, this one missing half its face, stands behind him.
The walls are plastered with several posters. From left to right, they are a large, overly-muscled horse standing near a wall. It has a penis that runs the entire length of its body and sticks out in front of its chest, but that bit is pixelated out. The next poster is a black and white drawing of a muscular man with his arms flexed so his fists are next to his head. Instead of a human or troll head, though, he has a bear's face with a lion's mane. A massive area between his thighs is pixelated. The next poster, which is on the second wall, is a brown, anthropomorphic horse who is pointing and laughing at a small blue planet that looks a lot like earth. His crotch is also pixelated. The last poster runs almost the entire height of the wall. It shows an anthropomorphic brown horse sitting on top of a naked troll. The troll is laying on his back on top of a brick wall and the horse's butt and crotch are both pixelated. Another troll lays on the ground at the base of the wall with the horseman's hoof firmly planted on his chest.]

She has golden eyes like many of the other trolls, and wears fuchsia swimming goggles with a white band connecting the two eyepieces. A golden band of some sort rests on her forehead. The bottom edge of it is smooth, but the top is cut into concave arches, leaving shallow tips every inch or so. The band, perhaps a diadem of some sort, dips down in the center slightly, coming to almost a point slightly above the level of her eyebrows. At this point is a circular, fuschia gem with a white pisces symbol on it. The pisces symbol is shaped like a capital H with the vertical lines curved outwards, making them shaped like opposing parenthesis. The narrowest point of the symbol is in the center, where the crossbar is. The girl is smiling, but most of her mouth is cut off by the bottom of the panel.]

Aradia: Go home.

[Image description: Aradia sits on the top of the frog temple's decapitated head, riding it across the landscape.]

You head back to your hive to get the blue team's session started.

It's been a while.
You revisit the remains of your quaint rural hive. Your lownring and the small excavation sites you dug up for practice are all overgrown with vegetation.

You haven’t been here since the night of the accident. On that night you found your Calling. The voices of the dead grew louder, urging you to return to the ruins you discovered not long before. You left so abruptly, you didn’t even have time to bury your lusus.

But that’s fine, because trolls don’t typically bury their dead. Leaving bodies to be consumed by wild animals is more customary.

Aradia: Begin session.

You have a server player connect to you, someone you personally selected for the role. The devices required for entry are deployed.

The kernelsprite awaits prototyping. But unlike all eleven other players, your dead lusus is not available. You have to use something else.

Aradia: Tier 1 prototype.
Prototyping with the frog head before entering the Medium would prove to be critical for later success. Just another of many assurances whispered by the dead. You've long since stopped questioning them, or doubting the future significance of even spontaneous acts of frivolous desecration.

Compelling your nonplussed server player to perform this task might have proven difficult. Luckily your telekinesis, an ability greatly magnified through your Calling, would be sufficient to move the massive object, whereas the game cursor likely would not.

Your server player simply watched in mystification.

[Image description: Nepeta sits in her cave near the rocks that fell down and crushed Pounce De Leon. She smiles and looks down at her tablet, which she rests on her knees. A second image zooms in. Now, she looks confused. A speech bubble above her head flickers between a black question mark and a small picture of the frog head. A third image shows her tablet. On screen is Aradia's kernelsprite, which is a sprite's body with a frog head and long, spindly arms that end in three webbed fingers. This sprite is still inside the kernel, which is not flashing anymore.]

She really just had no idea what the hell was going on.

Aradia: Enter.

[Image description: Aradia and her sprite hover to the west of the ruins of her hive. The top of the hill now sits on top of a mount of blue crystal, which is surrounded by jagged, sharp-edged spires of crystal that stick up to make a towering, almost apocalyptic-looking skyline against a pink and purple sky. A single, dark red gate is visible above Aradia's hive in a band of darker sky that seems to point towards her home.]

You enter the Medium, taking your place in the Land of Quartz and Melody as the Maid of Time.

Meanwhile, your client player has been exploring another world. The blue blood has a present for you. The present cannot be duplicated via alchemy at this stage of the game. It would cost too much grist, a detail which this player had not been aware of. The player would have to progress to the second gate of their own world, arrive through the gate above your hive, and deliver it in person.

Facilitating this delivery was one of the reasons why it was important for you to enter second.

Next

[Image description: Nepeta leans back against the red rocks that crushed her lusus, once again writing on her tablet with a stylus. A second image shows her screen. Aradia's Crosbytop still sits on the floor where she left it and the sprite, now out of its kernel, hovers to the right of it. Aradia is nowhere to be seen.]

Your server player's confusion is only in part due to learning the ropes of a new game. There is a more significant reason for her befuddlement.

While she followed your advice and went through the simple motions of game setup, at no point were you visible on her monitor. She saw your damaged hive. She saw the alchemiter and other devices she deployed. She saw the strange computing device on the floor, bearing the visage of a species she didn't recognize. She even saw a great big stone frog head fly through the air all by itself, and become the Frogsprite.

And though she would ask why, and you would always delay the answer, the fact remained.

She couldn't see you.

Aradia: Tier 2 prototype.

[Image description: It shows the same scene, but now from inside the session rather than from Nepeta's screen. Now Aradia is visible, hovering just to the left of the laptop. Suddenly, she launches herself forward, into the sprite. Red beams shoot from it as she prototypes herself into her sprite, and the screen fades to white.

She couldn't see you up until the moment after the sprite's second prototyping.

Because you were dead all along.

Next

[Image description: Aradia, now combined with the sprite and frog to make Aradiasprite, hovers against a background streaked with purple and black. She looks almost the same as before, only her hair is now red, her sleeves are tattered rather than her skirt, and where her rams horns were are now two smooth lumps, like those that contain a frog's eyes. Her arm is long and spindly, like the frogsprite's, and her hand has three webbed fingers.]

We are all completely blown away by this stunning revelation.

Wow. Dead. Really? Like a ghost?

Huh.

Nepeta: Interrogate frog girl.

Your abilities in this department were hobbled with the loss of your Vision Eightfold, and you have since sought alternatives through various Black Oracles. You consult with these ominous globes, but routinely destroy them in frustration over the Puzzling Guaranteed Inaccuracy of their predictions. Breaking them has developed into a habit Bordering on Fetishistic, and with each you destroy, you add to an insurmountable stockpile of Terrible Luck. You have to stop. Vriska: Take dice.

You equip your enchanted dice set, the fabled Fluorite Octet.

It consists of eight D8, plundered from a ghost ship during a particularly challenging campaign. In ancient times such weapons were employed by roving bands of Gamblignants, deadly marauders with a passion for chance. They all died off though. Took too many crazy risks.

Rolling the dice will execute a wide range of highly unpredictable attacks. Very high rolls can be devastating to even the most powerful opponents.

Of course with the luck you've had lately, you couldn't make a good roll to save your life. Got to do something about this awful luck.

Gotta catch a break!!!!!!!!!

When you get worked up about stuff you put eightss in places that don't really make a lot of sense phonetically.

Vriska: Begin meddling.

(question mark) Hello.
A.G: Oh my god, why are you talking to me????????
(question mark) This is the last time we'll ever talk.
A.G: Still sticking with the white text I see. So smooth and stylish! I forgot how much I loved highlighting it to read all the boring things you have to say. It's like a fun game for super extra handicapped retarded people. Like opening a present! Find out what obnoxious thing the mystery tool typed.
What is it!
(question mark) A parting courtesy, I suppose.
All the ways I've exploited you were meant to bring about the events that will take place this evening.
Knowing this will provide context for the events in your near future, and will affect how you behave in response.
These events will be just as important as those preceding it.
I've gone to great lengths, you see.
A.G: You didn't exploit me.
You are just a petty douche with a bad temper who likes to play games, and all I did was humor you.
(question mark) I did exploit you, very thoroughly. It was easy.
A.G: So full of yourself!!!!!!!!!
(question mark) Have I ever lost a game?
A.G: Don't change the subject!!!!!!!!!
(question mark) What subject are you referring to?
A.G: (open-mouthed face with all eight eyes pinched shut) I'm going to log off in a big huff and you have to promise not to use that nasty trick where you log me back on out of petty douchey spite!
And then we can go back to never ever talking, because man! That was heaven when it was like that!!!!!!!!
(question mark) There's no need for that kind of assurance.
I'll be brief.
I no longer hold you accountable for any wrongdoing. In fact, I've given your transgression very little thought since the incident.
If you acknowledge this amnesty and regard it as sincere, you may begin to find the odds falling in your favor again.
This may be essential if you are to succeed on your journey.
A.G: Mm hmm. Slow down! Man.
I am just wearing out so many pens taking all these important notes! Fuuuuuuuuck!
Fuck you for ruining all my good note-taking pens and giving me this terrible cramp in my good note-taking hand!!!!!!!!
(question mark) Incredible, the risks you take with your scorn.
But of course it was your unpleasant, simplistic temperament that made you so easy to control.
Vicious and predictable, like an insect.
If you turn a swarm of wasps on a crowd, the outcome is certain.
It takes no skilled strategist to understand this. You were in fact a waste of my talents.
A primitive expedient.
A.G: Blech. What a snob. You're worse than my meddley meddler meddlefriend.
(question mark) I wonder why they waste their camaraderie on you. I'll never understand it.
A.G: I thought you said you would be brief??????????
(question mark) I'll say one last thing.
Though the magnitude of the ensuing destruction resulting directly from your actions will be neither possible or necessary for you to fathom, there nevertheless ought to be a silver lining.
The only question is whether you will live long enough to see it.
I'm not a gambling man.
But if I was, I wouldn't bet on it.
Goodbye.
A.G: Zzzzzzzzz. bye, asshole.

G.A: These Events Are Inevitable And Regardless Of Whatever Emotional Entanglements Obfuscate Their Significance They Will Ultimately Serve An Important Purpose
The Curse Had Nothing To Do With It
And Karkats Notion Of A Curse Is Inseparable From His Perception Of Events As Intrinsically Negative And As Tailored To His Personal Dissatisfaction And Your Bad Luck Is The Same Way
I Believe Anyway
A.G: Uh. Ok.
G.A: What Would Happen If You Just Cleaned Up A Bit
Dont You Think You Would Step On A Few Less Hard Triangles

And while such a calling would be quite honorable, you would prefer to join the ranks of the Archeradicators, perhaps the most noble echelon the imperial forces have to offer. Unfortunately, you Suck at Archery. You have not successfully fired a Single Arrow. Every time you try, you Break the Bow. You are simply too strong. You have broken so many bows, it has developed into a habit Bordering on Fetishistic. You have to stop. But addiction is a powerful thing.

You have a great appreciation for The Fine Arts. You use your aristocratic connections to acquire Priceless Masterpieces, painted in the oldest and most respected Alternian tradition of Nude Musclebeast Portraits. These striking depictions of the Exquisite Fauna native to Alternia remind you of the Purest Physical Ideal that must be sought by anyone who professes a Love of Strength. When those of lesser bloodlines turn up their uncultured noses at such stunning material, it Makes You Furious.

Practically everything Makes You Furious. You have so much rage, it can only be expressed through Staggering Quantities of Physical Violence. You build strong and sturdy robots, set them to kill mode, and Beat the Shit Out of Them in caged brawls. Sometimes you Lose Teeth. But they usually grow back.

Your trolltag is centaursTesticle and with your bow and arrow ever at the ready, you (Bow and arrow) Take exception to lewd language unbefitting of blue bloods

[Image description: The scene shifts to the left slightly, showing Aurthour and Equius standing between a 12 paned window and Equius's desk. Aurthour holds a silver tray with a glass of milk on it.]

Oh, there he is. He was just preparing an ice cold glass of nutritious Lusus Milk for you, with a thick foamy head on it, just the way you like it.

You cannot hope to beat Aurthour in a butler-off. He is simply the best there is.

Lusus milk is the secret to being Strong.

Actually it isn't. You like to think that though. The truth is you're really strong because you're kind of a freak. You were chosen by one of the strongest lusus species on the planet. It was the only sort of custodian that could handle raising you.

Whoops there goes the glass, as usual.

[Image description: Equius clenches his fists and holds his arms out to his sides. A vein in his forehead pops out as the milk evaporates off of him with a hiss. The rest of the milk and glass shards sit on the floor at his feet.]

And as usual, it sends you into a rage. The spilled milk quickly evaporates.

Got to do something to calm yourself down. Let off some steam.

Equius: Equiup a bow.
You mean equip.

A little archery practice ought to cool you off. But of course the piece of shit snaps like a twig the moment you pick it up.

Actually, the feel of the brittle wood giving way under the astonishing might of your mangrit is starting to calm you down already.

You equip it to your 1/2bowkind Specibus, which is pretty much useless.

Next

You also keep a plain old Bow kind Specibus in the event that you are able to fire an arrow some day. Because a boy can dream, right?

But for more practical purposes, you keep a Fist kind card on hand. You stow them all in your Strife Portfolio.

Remember the Strife Portfolio? It still exists. It didn't stop existing or anything.

But when all was said and done, you are quite sure you convinced your good friend to stay on the right team. Not the team full of degenerates with swill coursing through their veins. You're starting to get worked up again.

Routine helps calm you down. Maybe you will talk to another friend. You talk to him every day for some reason. Though it's not exactly right to call him a friend, since you despise him. Your relationship with the fellow is difficult to describe.

It should be noted that in troll language, the word for friend is exactly the same as the word for enemy.

Equius: Talk to friend slash enemy.

T.C: haha, fuck yeah, only every motherfuckin day bro!
I'm not in a very good mood
There are a few things I'd like to get off my chest
T.C: motherfuckin spill it, don't be all keepin that shit bottled up like a fuckin all shaked up bottle of faygo.
fuck dogg i'm thirsty.
i'm down to my last bottle and i don't fuckin know if i can get anymore in this motherfuckin magic land so i don't know.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) What you do appear to know is exactly how to maximize my livid contempt for you
With your revolting language and your sense of decorum
At such breathtaking odds with the richness and perfection of your blood
I just hate you so much
T.C: that's cool, i can't all be making not everybody happy all the time.
if we ever met i could bake you a fuckin pie and we could chill and maybe we'd be better bros that way.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) And the degrees to which you pollute your precious blood
With your bottled fizzy sugar and soporific toxins Maddening
You will stop
T.C: whoaaa, i will?
how do you know that?
C.T: (Bow and arrow) No, you don't understand
It's not a prediction, it's an order
I command you to stop
T.C: oh, alright brother.
you motherfuckin got it.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) What Are you serious
T.C: yeah.
i mean, you got to show some faith in your friends, cause they're all the ones who're being to look out for you.
so fuck if you say i'm not doing the shit right, then what the motherfuck do i know!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) No
This is unacceptable
Ok, let's start over
I apologize
I was completely out of line, and I'm sorry
I have no right to talk to you like that, or tell you what you can't do T.C: aww, no worries!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) It's not my place
Your habits notwithstanding, I am lesser than you
An inferior
T.C: hahaha. ok.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Don't you understand that you're better than me
Can you please act like it
That's not a command, it's just a polite request I guess
T.C: ok, i can try, but man i don't know if i know how to be like a better motherfucker than any other motherfucker.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) look, it isn't that difficult
Try to be cognizant of your desires and needs
And attempt to regard those around you as simple vehicles meant to bring about your gratification T.C: wow, what?
C.T: (Bow and arrow) What are you doing
T.C: uhhhhhh.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Right now
It sounds as if you have begun playing with the red team
Is this true
T.C: well yeah, i'm all up in the fuckin shit of this wicked mystical motherfucker.
i bonked an imp on the head with a club.
and then a little later i scared one with a horn.
(smiley face with a large round nose)
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Good
This is very good
It really pleases me to hear tales of physical subjugation
I presume these were lesser beings, toiling in the lower ranks of some hierarchy T.C: well yeah, they're underlings.
and there's some subjugation involved for fuckin sure!
but now we kind of settled down and me and the imps are sharing some pie these motherfuckers are pretty dope actually, i like them.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Ok
It pleases me considerably less to hear things like that
But I've already stated I have no right to be disappointed by your conduct, so I will try to control myself
T.C: aw shit bro, i don't want to be all like to disappoint you!
what can i do to make a brother fuckin shape his shit up?
if i could make you smile it'd be the best fuckin miracle i ever did part of.
honk honk honk! (smiley face with a large round nose)
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Hmm
Would it be too much to ask
For you to maybe Boss me around a little T.C: uuuhhhhhhh.
you mean like role playing?
C.T: (Bow and arrow) If it would help to couch it in those terms
Then yeah, I guess so
But not the especially juvenile kind
Let's keep it serious and professional
T.C: i'll try, but i'm not much fuckin any good at it i think.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Just Say anything
As long as it's authoritative T.C: ok.
uh, hey you, don't go near the motherfuckin ocean, cause i all told you not to a bunch of times!
T.C: shit is straight up dangerous, and i'm getting my harsh on about it.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Hmm
Decent
I don't live near the ocean though, so it's hard to immerse myself in the scenario
T.C: alright, well, what aren't you all not supposed to do?
what kind of mischief do you get your bad fuckin self up to?
C.T: (Bow and arrow) I do so many bad things
Just awful things
I'm incredibly impudent and a superior needs to put me in my place
T.C: ummmm, ok well.
don't be doin all those bad fuckin things bro!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Yes
Yes, that's good
Like that
T.C: cut that shit out, i'm so all meaning this! hahaha.
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Excellent
Now tell me this, highblood

C.T: (Bow and arrow) What do you make of it
This wretched misbehavior
T.C: fuck man, i am so motherfuckin salty about all that business you said!
fuuuuuck, im like all moving my mouth and the wicked noise is coming out in the frontiest way possible.
and it's going at your direction, cause that's the direction to fuckin be angry at!
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Yes
So good
I am presently whipped into a state of contrition
One befitting of our class disparity
But I'm starting to perspire again so it's best that we stop
Thank you for indulging me T.C: haha, no problem bro.
it's cool we could all up and motherfuckin open up a little bit with each other.

How is it possible for one of your distinction to be so ignorant
And loathsome
Whereas
A member of the most abject, verminous bloodline of all
Can conduct herself with such grace and possess nothing but admirable mannerisms
I find these striking juxtapositions perplexing, and I confess strangely intoxicating
I wonder if I have gone mad
To form such a pact with her

Equius: Go check on Aradia's present.

[Image description: Equius stands in another room full of robots in various states of destruction. The walls of this room are a lattice of metal bars, like the inside of a cage. Something in the bottom right corner is covered with a red tarp.]

You delve deeper into your hive where you store many of your robotic projects. The lair doubles as the caged arena where you battle them.

Under the tarp is the completed gift. You of course have no intention of delivering this to your neighbor as promised. You naturally will doublecross your accomplice, just as you assume she has plans to doublecross you. You assume she is assuming the same of you. Business as usual for blue bloods.

You will deliver it to Aradia yourself to gain her favor, and then doublecross her and take your rightful position as team leader. How ironic that someone of your blood purity must work to win the favor of the lowest sort of peasant. Humiliating. Strangely titillating, even. But in the end, class order will be restored.

Equius: Remove tarp.

[Image description: The tarp lays on the floor and Equius stands next to a robot that looks almost exactly like Aradia. Other than the fact that it's made of metal, the only differences are that its eyes are red, like the other robots' eyes, and its mascara, lipstick, and aries symbol are a bright blue rather than the dark red.]

You reveal her sparkling new chassis. You have paid a great deal of attention to quality and detail in this model. She is perfect.

You don't know what to make of the feelings she stirs. For one like you to entertain thoughts of attraction for such genetic filth would be utter depravity.

Exquisite, delectable depravity.

Next

[Image description: A somewhat scribbly drawing shows Equius wrapping his arms around Aradia bot to support it as he dips it and goes for a kiss. Aradia bot remains completely impassive.]

Why, Aradia. It appears the red glass of your eye has caught the pink and green glint of the moons in their perigees. The sweet poetry almost makes a man forget how the grime that once filled your veins made his stomach turn. It is a good omen for illicit lovers. Could you imagine the scandal if anyone found out?? No one must ever know.

But worry not. Your heart will pump no more of that despicable red sludge. You have been given a new heart. You can be taught the ways of the class you were always meant for. No one is beyond redemption.

Be grateful, dear Aradia. For the first time in your meaningless life you have met a man with true compassion.

[Image description: The midnight crew, with their weapons out, surround a group of scribbly men drawn in a similar style to the Midnight Crew. None of the new crew have any weapons out.]

You've been pushed to your limit by the larcenous Midnight Crew. You have no hope of defeating these felons unless you resort to measures of desperation. You call for PFPI's help.

[Image description: A giant blue version of one of the trapped men hovers to the right of the now smaller group. It has one hand out like it's controlling the a doomsday device that looks like the one Vriska built, minus the domes on the outer edge.]

PFPI conjures one of his most deadly imagined weapons: the Catenative Doomsday Dice Cascader, featuring loathsome Popamatic Bubble Technology.

[Image description: It zooms in on the doomsday device. Six domes appear around the outer edge. Most of them are white, but the bottom one is black.]

You press the Prime Bubble to allocate the empty Catenator Crucibles with bubbles.

You rolled a 6. The most favorable result! The crucibles are allocated with 6 Cascader Bubbles, each containing a D6.

[Image description: A red circle appears around of the domes with an arrow pointing off to the side, where x2 is written. Green arrows point from each dome to the next, going counterclockwise around the face. The dice in all the domes except the center one and the one circled change to one with more sides. A red arrow points from the dome opposite the circled one to an enlarged picture of one of the new dice. D12 is written beneath it.]

You press the first cascader. The result is a two. Not very good, but it's just the beginning! The other five cascader dice are multiplied by this number to become 12-sided dice!

[Image description: The circle progresses to the next dome, which rolls an 8. The larger die shown to the side changes to a D96.]
The 2nd cascader is pressed for a resulting multiplier of 8. The remaining 4 dice now have 12 x 8 = 96 sides each.

[Image description: The next dome is pressed and rolls a 25. The large die to the side changes to a D3360, which has so many sides that it's approaching spherical. The rest of the roll results are shown through numbers. The next rolls a 2922, making it a D9,817,920. The next rolls a 5,101,894, making the last die a D around 50 trillion.]
The 3rd cascader is pressed for a resulting multiplier of 35. The remaining 3 dice now have 96 x 35 = 3360 sides each.
The 4th cascader is pressed for a resulting multiplier of 2922!! The remaining 2 dice now have 3360 x 2922 = 9,817,920 sides each.
The 5th cascader is pressed for a resulting multiplier of 5,101,894!!!! The final remaining die now has 9,817,920 x 5,101,894 = 50,090,870,753,280 sides!!!!!!

You roll the last die by pressing the final Doomsday Cascade. This will trigger the weapon on the terrible device and potentially deal up to 50 Trillion Hit Points in Damage!
The Doomsday Cascade rolls a 1!

[Image description: The bottom of the doomsday device hovers over the midnight crew and their captives. The background flickers stripes of purple and blue lightning crackles over all of them.]

A.G: It looks like tonight we will have to break our truce. Or at least suspend it. Hope you don't mind!
G.C: how do you figure that
A.G: because tonight we will play a game together. For the first time in I don't even know. Forever!
G.C: the truce was about not playing games together dummy it was about not stabbing each other in the back anymore and stopping the endless cycle of revenge and above all not using your powers to hurt people who don't deserve it!
A.G: man, you like to give me such a hard time about all that. I can't catch a break!
can't you see I'm trying to put all that behind me and make amends with everybody?
no, of course you can't see that. What am I saying!
G.C: it's hard to believe you with all the lying you've done your blueberry bubblegum words still smell pretty good but your deceit stinks! (Wide eyed gasping face with furrowed brows)
A.G: (sad face with 8 eyes)
I'll prove it to you. I'm giving Aradia a present that will make her feel all better finally.
then I'll be in the clear. Phew! Totally redeemed. You'll see. I mean smell.
G.C: I don't know why you're bothering trying to help her she won't care whatever it was you did to her I think you broke her brain
it's so terrible
A.G: man, why can't you cut me some slack for once?????????
it's not like I even did anything that bad to you.
I lost seven eyes but you only lost two! I would say you came out ahead in the bargain.
G.C: I know and actually
I never really got the chance to thank you (Very happy face with furrowed brows)
A.G: ugh! Your sarcasm really stings when here I am just trying to be nice. Ok, I guess I deserve it.
G.C: I'm serious though but I don't expect you to get that A.G: aaaaaaah!
fine, be that way. But you shouldn't sit there and pretend we're so different.
remember team scourge? How convenient all that must be to have forgotten! You were so nasty.
oh man, if you crossed Terezi Pyrope you were fucked!!!!!!!!
G.C: yeah if you were a bad guy
we were supposed to be like a vigilante duo dispensing justice and you could take the bad guys home and feed them to your stupid spider but instead you just fed her everybody!
and lied and lied and lied
A.G: yeah, those were the days.
I mean, days full of mistakes and regret!
but it was still a lot of fun. Watching you dismantle huge teams of flarpers with nothing but politics and head games.
without even using any special powers! Wow.
G.C: meh
A.G: come ooOOOOOOon!
what do I have to do here?
G.C: I dunno
A.G: well if you want to know what I think, you should start changing your tune.
cause even though you got all these highfalutin morals and fancy reservations, you know as well as me that a killer is a killer is a killer!
there ain't no changing your ways for good, and one day you're going to flail that silly little cane of yours and not find nothin to bump into, and fall face first into the shit again.
and you're going to do something terrible to somebody and wish you could take it back but you can't!!!!!!!! and then you'll work hard to win back their trust, and you'll try and try and try, and you'll see how hard it is!
you'll seeeeeee!
G.C: I doubt it
A.G: you'll see.
I am whispering that and it is echoing and ominous.
you'll seeeeeee........
you'll seeeeeee eeeeeeeee eeeeee eeeeee eeeeee eeeeee eeeeee eeeeee........
G.C: oh will you can it serket!

( question mark ) Does it matter?
She brought them here to torment you. This obviously warrants revenge.
You know you're going to anyway. You won't be able to help yourself.
A.G: I don't have to do shit!
Maybe I don't mind ghosts. Maybe they'll be great company once I get used to them!
( question mark ) No, they are terrifying you.
There's only one thing to do.
A.G: Ok, so why don't YOU kill her! be my guest! Wow, thanks for offering. What a pal!
( question mark ) That's not how I work.
A.G: Oh really, well you seemed pretty excited about killing Tavros too.
And you even helped! So I guess that is how you work after all.
( question mark ) Not really.
All I did was stand somewhere for a few minutes.
I just gave you an opportunity to do something you wanted to do anyway.
You hated him, remember?
A.G: I know I did! I still do, I guess. I dunno.
but I was never gonna kill these people. They were like, off limits I guess?
these games were just supposed to be fun and serve no other purpose!
( question mark ) They were serving a very important purpose.
A.G: Yeah ok, you getting off on talking a girl into killing her buddies sure is important!
Loser.
( question mark ) Again, I didn't talk you into anything, nor am I doing so now.
You were, and are, going to do this regardless.
I only ever place myself into positions of tangential involvement with events that will bring about my employer's entry into this universe.
I oversee the events as they take place, and ever so slightly nudge them into motion when necessary.
A.G: I'm beginning to think you really believe that! So delusional. You're just a pathetic, lonely gamer who buys into his own character profile BS.
( question mark ) The omniscient have no need for beliefs and no room for delusion.
A.G: Hahahahahahahaha!
You're the dumbest omniscient person I ever met.
Sure you know a lot, but I know for a FACT there's stuff you don't know.
That's true.

But the gaps in my knowledge exist by design.

They are the pillars of shadow on which my comprehensive vision is built.

Necessary pockets of void meant to effectuate outcomes I've foreseen and which will require my influence.

Each dark pocket, in time, will be filled.

But I wonder why I waste this nuance on you.

A.G: because you need to add more blatant lies to patch up all the holes in your sad cover story.

Deception is only necessary for those like you to achieve their objectives.

I play with my cards face up.

Isn't it funny how during our various matches, I can tell you what my moves will be in advance, and still win?

A.G: (Tongue sticking out face with 8 eyes)

Yeah, but I'm getting closer to beating you. You'll see.

Look at that. The short amount of time I have reserved for arguing with a child has expired.

But maybe you're right. Maybe you are a person with free will and you won't kill your friend.

What do I know?

Enjoy your haunting.

Vriska: Make her pay.

Of course he's right. Not much point in living with all these moaning spooks just to spite some guy you don't give a shit about.

But how to go about it? Can't control her. It can be difficult to manipulate the mind of the psychically gifted.

How about this guy? Unfortunately, you can only control him about half the time.

Then again, that should be all the time you need.

Be the white text guy.

[Image description: A man with a white cueball for a head stands in a victorian sitting room that’s

A model of the cube battlefield after several prototypings is on his right and a model of a fully realized battlefield is on his left. A green belt with a white holster and pistol hangs from a chair near the realized battlefield and a grey typewriter sits on a table behind him.]

You try to be the white text guy, but fail to be the white text guy. No one can be the white text guy except for the white text guy.

The white text guy is known as Doc Scratch.

He is an officer of an indestructible demon known as Lord English. His job is to pave the way for the arrival of his master, who will be summoned upon the termination of the universe. He has worked at this task for many centuries, and will continue to do so until The Great Undoing.

Scratch is Alternia's First Guardian. Every planet destined for intelligent life has such an entity meant to protect it, and facilitate the planet's ultimate purpose. A first guardian is typically almost as old as the planet itself, and each has a unique, circuitous origin through the knots of paradox space. They can be born into a great diversity of forms, though they all share a common, especially potent genetic sequence. The code grants them near omnipotence, and when merged with a host of great intelligence, near omniscience as well.

What will he do?

It's up to him. All we can do is stand here.

And watch.

Next

[Image description: Doc Scratch stands near the cube battlefield.]

What's he up to now? Hard to say since we're not telling him what to do. Guardians can never be told what to do. Neither the omnipotent kind, nor the ordinary kind who raise kids in houses. It's a universal law of reality.

Looks like he's pondering over his next move in a game he is playing with some wicked troll girl down on the planet. Usually these matches are no contest, but she has been getting closer to beating him lately, and he has no idea how this is possible.

Uncertainty, though rare, is quite a troubling sensation for the omniscient.

Next

[Image description: Doc Scratch turns to look at the typewriter as it Taps out a message. An alert over it shows a teal libra symbol.]

What's this? It appears someone is contacting him. More bothersome uncertainty. How is it this youngster is able to relay an unsolicited message? He doesn't even have an account name.

I have a tip for you (_question mark) How were you able to contact me?
Never mind, I figured it out instantly.

(_question mark) Yes, through my limitless intellect.
Occasionally I discover there are things I have not always known.
It gives me the opportunity to make deductions, which are practically always flawless.
It's gratifying.
G.C: uh ok
thats neat I guess
(_question mark) You asked your clever friend with the colorful spectacles to trace the source of my messages.
He then established a relay for your messages to reach this source through some sort of computational proxy.
I gather he has recovered from his implementation as a weapon in the sabotage of your mutual friend, whom you both believe to be dead.
G.C: oh my god white text guy!
shut up! (gasping face with furrowed brows)
im trying to give you a message here (_question mark) I have a name.
It is not white text guy.
G.C: oh what is it

But if you wish, you may refer to me as mr. Vanilla milkshake.
G.C: you are so weird
why would I do that (_question mark) It is perfectly in keeping with a habit which you will develop in the future.
G.C: I doubt it
(_question mark) Why?
G.C: sounds kind of silly and frivolous blur why do you keep derailing me!
youre right sollux is working with me and we have important business for you to consider wait you said we believe our friend is dead is she not?
(_question mark) Yes, I said you believe she is dead.
And soon, you will believe she is not.
Both statements are true.
And yet each exhibits a trace of falsehood.
G.C: wow why did I bother asking no wonder she snapped shes got to deal with your stupid riddles all the time anyway can you just help me get revenge so we can call it a night (_question mark) Why would I involve myself in your paltry feud beyond the extent I already have?
I believe the need to exert such influence has come to an end.
G.C: because youll want to when you hear what I have to say (_question mark) I doubt it.
G.C: havent you wondered how she can come close to beating you in games lately honestly im surprised you havent deduced it yet with your shiny white superbrain

But sometimes that is the nature of these hollows in my perception.
It feels a bit like dark water, sloshing about the cavity in my head. What do you know of this?

C.T: (Bow and arrow) Would you mind terribly Being the leader
A.A: fine
C.T: (Bow and arrow) But Don't tell anyone
You will be the leader of me, and I will lead all else
You would in effect be the secret leader
A.A: yeah sure
A.A: thats pretty much how it is anyway
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Yes, that's the spirit
You take to authority well for one of your blood
A.A: i dont have blood
C.T: (Bow and arrow) Not yet
But soon your heart will beat anew, and through it, fresh blood and fresh passion
A.A: (Wide eyed blank face)

A.A: can you just bring me the robot already
C.T: (Bow and arrow) On my way

Equius: Proceed to second gate.

[Image description: It shows Equius's hive again. A creature that looks like Aurthor with horns and the frog temple's mouth towers over the cliffs in the distance. Strongjump is written next to Equius's roof and a motion blur extends from his roof to the first gate. A second image shows Equius jumping over his land, which the gate transported him to. The land is made of jagged rocks, like the ones around his hive, but much less orderly. An imp that looks like a frog with wings watches him. A third image shows him jumping up and baring his teeth as he pulls his fist back. In the fourth, he punches the head off of the enemy that loomed over the cliff.]

[Image description: A blue temple-like building is carved into the rock. A long staircase leads up to it and a spirograph is carved above the doorway. This poses no challenge for you at all.

Equius: Enter

Do you feel anything else
Aradia bot: uh Equius: (Bow and arrow) Any sort of Stirring sensations Aradia bot: stirring?
Equius: (Bow and arrow) Yes
Such as Sensations which may be stirred by flowing blood and a beating heart
Aradia bot: im not sure

Smoldering passion

Aradia pinches her eyes shut and plunges her fist into her chest, spilling blue blood down her front. A second image shows her shouting as she rips her robot heart from her chest. Equius, who she is still holding in the air, looks horrified.

Next

She screams and slams her fist into the heart over and over again, pounding it into little metal bits. Equius grips his head as she destroys his creation. A second image zooms in on his face.

Next

Aradia grabs him by his shirt and shakes him violently. A second image shows her slapping him repeatedly in the face. With each blow, the background flashes white and the word Smack flashes to her left.

Next

Aradia pulls Equius closer to her and shouts in his face.

Next

They grab each other and begin kissing passionately.

Next

Nepeta's tablet shows them kissing. A second image shows her watching the screen and looking confused. A speech bubble over her head flashes between pictures of Equius Nepeta: Update wall.

You consult your Shipping Wall. Clearly some changes are in order. You must admit you didn't see this one coming, even with your remarkable matchmaking acumen.

You should probably recolor all the Aradia panels so she looks like a robot too. It is a major commitment keeping up with all your ships, but it is worth it.

C.G.: ok this is going to sound preposterous given our last conversation. and I guess practically every conversation preceding it. and I'm probably going to have to do something completely disgusting like apologize. and even though I'll hate myself for it I will totally mean it, I promise. like, really really mean it.
A.G.: you're going to ask me to join your team, aren't you.
C.G.: yeah.
how did you know.
A.G.: I don't seem to have much choice now! Aradia kicked me off the good team.
C.G.: hahahaha wow that is great.
wait, sorry.
no wait, I don't have to apologize, that's right. You have no choice now.
I apologize to myself for offering you a shitty meaningless apology.
apology accepted, karkat. Let's bury the thresher with a totally platonic bro bulge bump.
bump hahahahahahahaha.
A.G.: you dork.
do you really think your usual pedantic quips are going to bug me now????????
C.G.: I'm not trying to bug you I'm trying to get you to join my damn team, now step in line serket.
A.G.: I was just betrayed and abandoned by my two accomplices and best pals, and on top of that I am soaked in the blood of my lusus which I just had to decapitate myself. so listening to a crabby asshole be all tickled with his own mediocre retorts isn't going to spoil my evening!
C.G.: ok, well, sorry to hear about that. but I mean you can just dump her carcass in the kernel and bring her back stronger than ever.
A.G.: wow.
uh, good to know.
I guess. (uncertain face with eight eyes)
C.G.: now why don't you hop in the trap, wash that nasty blue shit off, and join our fucking session already.
A.G.: what! It's so rude to dictate hygiene procedure to a lady. Under any circumstance! Even for douchey loudmouths with delusions of leadership.
maybe you should try to think about the dumb things that fall out of your protein chute for once, vantas.
C.G.: blah blah blah.
now my chute is doing a fucking stellar impression of something that doesn't give a shit.
A.G.: anyway, you know my blood's the prettiest and you'd obviously kill to have it.
C.G.: no it sucks.
totally happy with mine, nice try though.
A.G.: BS!
why would you hide behind your lame gray anonymity then?
you do realize everyone thinks that's totally lame, right?????????
C.G.: it's nobody's business.
I don't see why it should be a matter of public record.
I'm not going to wear that shit on my sleeve like you do.
literally and figuratively.
it's private, so everyone can go point their probing busybody sniffnodes up their own impertinent seed flaps.
A.G.: fine. Like anyone really cares! It's just lame and insecure.
so why don't you tell me what I've got to do here???????? I await instruction from my bigshot ablooded leader.
C.G.: ok first thing's first.
you've got to connect with tavros quickly and get him in the session before he gets killed.
A.G.: can't someone else do that?
A.G.: (annoyed face with eight eyes pinched shut)
C.G.: what's the big deal, just do it.
A.G.: but I hate that guy!
C.G.: who cares.
A.G.: this is your command decision? Getting someone who hates a guy to save his life? Pretty weak, boss!
C.G.: why do you even hate him, it's fucking ridiculous.
if anything you should pity him.
especially since you were the one who paralyzed him.
A.G.: I know. I don't really understand it.
it's just a really special kind of hate! It never goes away and it doesn't make a lot of sense.
C.G.: this is kind of a weird time to be confiding in me about your feelings of black romance but ok.
A.G.: oh god, what?
C.G.: I mean if you're really implying tavros is your kismesis I think you're braying up the wrong frond nub.
both parties have to hate each other equally, I mean like true hate.
maybe your feelings come somewhat close to fitting the bill but I don't think he can hate anyone, it's weird, he's kind of broken in the head.
A.G.: fuuuuuuuuck, what are you talking about?
C.G.: I think this subject is beyond a lot of people's grasp but I know a lot about it, nobody ever really wants to talk to me about it though.
A.G.: whoa really? Oh no shit, really????????
C.G.: ok, most people who haven't had their lobe stem cauterized are capable of feeling the two primary emotions, hate and pity.
pity is of course just the toned down version of the central emotion, hate.
and all the nuances of pity manifest as various other kinds of feelings like whatever chemical reactions trigger mating fondness or the mysterious forces that are behind moirallegiance.
A.G.: karkat, holy fuck.
so.
boring.
C.G.: a well balanced person is is going to have a good distribution between hate and the various pity humors.
having a good balance keeps all the emotions sharper, see I think that's your problem.
A.G.: oh??????
I hope you know I already wore out some good note-taking pens today. All the pens.
all of them.
C.G.: see, my hate is like a finely tuned instrument because I'm aware of these principles.
I could hate a hole in paradox space itself, straight through to a new reality fresh for the hating.
A.G.: hahahahahahahaha, you don't even know how much I'm laughing at this.
C.G.: but see, you're too heavy on the hate side, or at least you pretend to be which is maybe worse.
A.G.: you aren't reading anything I say are you? You just want to talk and talk and talk.
C.G.: and you think you're hating up everyone hard when you're really just burning out that entire emotional hemisphere.
it's like lukewarm hate. Pretender's hate, with no counterpoint at all.
as such there's no real substance to your hate, it's like a cardboard movie prop.
which is why your brain is broken, kind of like tavros's but on the opposite hemisphere I guess.
or maybe your broken brain led to the imbalance in the first place, I don't know.
whatever the case is, you're kind of emotionally screwed, sorry to say.
your hate's too dull for a proper kismesis, in my opinion.
and I don't see anyone chomping at the bit to be your moirail honestly, unless there's someone out there who would actually bother pitying you.
and landing a matesprit? Hahahaha!
seriously, like that would even interest you.
basically any feature of your emotional profile that usually makes someone viable in the redrom department must be totally fried.
your blackrom potential's probably toast too.
hey.
are you there.
A.G.: oh, yeah.
I started tuning you out.
are you done?
C.G.: no way, I could go on.
this is fascinating, tell me how the fuck this isn't fascinating.
A.G.: did you learn this crap from your awful romance movies?
C.G.: they're really intriguing sociologically.
incredibly complex, sophisticated stories, you wouldn't get it.
A.G.: hey asshole, stop watching movies for girls.
C.G.: what part of intriguing sociologically don't you understand.
also they're awesome, shut up.
A.G.: argh, ok! Man! Just let me connect to stupid boy-dumbfuck so I don't have to listen to this anymore!
C.G.: yeah ok.
oh, wait!
I never even got to the damn point.
A.G.: what is it now!
C.G.: I didn't need you specifically to connect to tavros, I mean I could get any schlub to do that. you just have to get in here asap because I really need your mind powers.
A.G.: you do ????????

doesn't trollian have some kind of viewport feature?
C.G.: yeah but I'm pretty sure only sollux knows how to set that up, and he's been incommunicado for hours for some reason.
anyway that whole feature seems totally invasive and largely pointless to me, so just forget it.
A.G.: yeah ok, here we are about to embark on an espionage mission. A spying tool sounds totally useless!
another great point, caP.T.A.in.
C.G.: whatever.
just get your ass in here so we can dethrone this goddamn queen.

He still won't shut up. He doesn't seem to care about the wound. He's just going on and on about the freakish color of his blood. He doesn't want you to look at it. Just look away, he says.
You've got to admit. Now you're curious.

Jack: Look at knife.

[Image description: It zooms in on the knife. It's smeared with bright red blood.]
You don't see what the big deal is. Nothing special. This kid's out of his mind.
But he's still blubbering on and on about it.

Next

[Image description: Karkat lowers his uninjured hand and looks at Jack with an uncertain expression. The flashing question marks on the blood are gone, showing that it's the same bright red as the blood from the knife.]
It seems he's the only one of his kind with this mutant candy-red blood. An outcast. He thinks he was put on this planet covered in an ocean of his own blood to be taunted. Punished for something.
Saddest story you ever heard. Got to do something to shut him up.

Karkat: Be in cahoots with Jack.

[Image description: A purple notebook with the Black King's symbol on the cover sits on a purple desk. A black hand sticks on screen, holding a black quill pen. A bottle of ink sits to the right of the book, along with a spilled puddle of ink. The notebook has the Black King's symbol scribbled out and a scribbly drawing of the black queen is drawn in its place. She has incredibly tall horns sticking out of her crown, fin-like frills on either side of her face, 2 sets of arms (one with hands and one with crab pincers), massive dragon wings, goat legs, and a mermaid-like tail sticking out from her lower back. Huge Bitch Bluh Bluh is written to the left of the drawing and the entire book is titled Operation Regisurp.]

You and your like-blooded accomplice soon put Operation Regisurp into motion, a contingency plan which the archagent conveniently had on file and named himself. If it were drafted by a legitimate contingency firm, it would ostensibly have been given a better title.

Your whole team executes the plan along the course of its journey, employing espionage, mind control tactics, political sabotage, vicious interrogations and cold blooded assassinations. Everyone does their part and you begin to learn the true meaning of teamwork, as well as this troll disease called friendship.

Next

[Image description: A version of Courtyard Droll wearing a ridiculous hat that incorporates all the elements added to the queen pokes his head around a corner in a purple hall. A shadow of the black queen looms on the wall.]

But before a single step is taken, Jack briefs you on the intelligence uncovered by one of his agents. It is an advantage over the queen you will seize upon while she has let her guard down.

With each prototyping by each player, the royalty of both sides would evolve. The queen with her Ring of Orbs Twelvelfold would first take on the claws and ridged carapace of your lusus. And then the wings and scales of Terezi's young dragon. And then the horns and gills and cloven hooves of Gamzee's fallen custodian. And so it would continue.

Though a queen is a vain creature, she is also sworn to her duty. She would be braced for the heavy load of augmentation ahead. She could certainly withstand the eight eyes of an arachnid. The fairy wings might at worst be frivolous, and the great bull horns could even be regarded as striking additions. For that matter, the sultry lips of a mother grub might very plausibly suit her. She perhaps would wear a brave face even behind a dignified mustache, and the centauring of her lower torso could transpire without much complaint. She would dutifully indulge a lactating udder. And when all was said and done, doubling her head count would surely be insult to elevenfold injury, but nothing she hadn't essentially endured already, all in the name of her kingdom.

But she would spare herself all of these additional debasements. Because before the rest came, there would be one corruption to her figure she could not abide. Her vanity wouldn't allow it.

Next

[Image description: Aradia's Frogsprite from before she prototyped herself hovers in the center of the screen. The crystal cliffs and pink sky of her land surround it.]

She could not stand bearing the visage of the most loathsome creature known to existence. So vile is its appearance, so contemptible its purpose, all depictions of the creature let alone members of its population are permanently banned from any jurisdiction in the reach of her agents. Those of its kind go by many names, and so does the reviled patron god they herald - The Great Detestation, King Pondsquatter, Speaker of the Vast Joke, or most commonly, Bilious Slick.

His true name is of course forbidden. And wearing his face is where she drew the line.

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on the Black Queen's hands as she removes her ring. This version of it has 12 orbs around it, rather than 4. The top three and bottom three are white while the left three and right three are still grey. A second image shows the base Black Queen in front of a large vault door with her symbol on the front. This version has 12 towers, but it is otherwise identical to the one from the kid's session.]

She removed the ring and concealed it in the Royal Vault while she was quite sure no one was looking. She then retired to her private chamber from which she would dispatch orders, no one the wiser of her disadvantage.

Or so she thought.

Red team: Execute Operation Regisurp.

[Image description: The black queen, now dressed in a black wrap similar to the one the Windswept Questant wears, stands in the pastel desert from the intermission. A Dersite flying ship sits in the sand behind her, blocking part of a ruined city from view. Alternia's pink moon and the smaller moon that orbits it poke on screen from the upper right.]

The operation in time would be a total success. The Banished Quasiroyal would make the future Alternian wasteland her home.

Next

[Image description: The view shifts to look over B.Q's shoulder. The desert flashes with green and yellow lightning and suddenly Doc Scratch appears at the top of a sand dune. His hands are behind his back and his posture makes him look vaguely smug.]

Until she was given a new purpose.

Next
But at the onset, you would know nothing of the queen's aversion to an amphibious likeness, or about her orbs twelvefold, or any such details. You were informed of her disadvantage, and would act accordingly. You and your red teammates would work to dethrone the queen in your session, while the blue team members would take on the entirely separate set of royal adversaries in their own session. This was to be a competition, after all.

Or so you thought.

You would begin to notice a strange pattern. The blue team's prototypings would affect the mutations of your session's underlings.

And your prototypings would affect theirs.

Though the signs pointed to two distinct sessions - two sets of mystic ruins, two opposing teams, two separate chains of connected players - this was all misleading.
You were joining a particularly unusual bifurcated session, meant from the start to receive all twelve players through two separate connection chains. A session with one Skaia about which twelve planets would circle. With one army of dark and one of light. With one pair of kings and one pair of queens. And with one cantankerous archagent and his typical disdain for authority. It wouldn't be until later in the session when the full chain was nearly closed that you would realize the truth.

The truth was it had always been the same session all along. That your teams were not competing, but cooperating toward a common goal.

In the more drawn out form of this adventure's narrative, figuring this out would have been a huge deal. We would have been completely blown away by this stunning revelation.

Wow. Same session all along. Really?

Huh.

But since we've decided to engage this epic in shorthand, you feel you must insist that we continue with this expository interlude.

It would turn out the arrangement of planets looked like this, rather. Bifurcated from each other, each team appearing to comprise a distinct chain in a distinct session without the luxury of the complete picture we see here.

It appeared that way until it was time to link the two chains, completing the circuit of twelve and uniting the teams.

For these final two links, Skaia had a plan, as it did with the order of every preceding link, and as it did with the paradoxical seeding of its own players on the surface of the planet it would later devastate to buy itself time. Its plan was as inescapable as all others, as inevitable as the reckoning.
it would ultimately face.

Fabric drapes down from the corners of the room, though one piece seems to have been shredded.]

Your name is Kanaya Maryam.
You are one of the few of your kind who can withstand the Blistering Alternian Sun, and perhaps the only who enjoys the feel of its rays. As such, you are one of the few of your kind who has taken a shining to Landscaping. You have cultivated a lush oasis around your hive, and in particular, you have honed your craft through the art of Topiary, sculpting your trees to match the Puffy Oracles from your dreams. You have embraced the tool of this trade, which conveniently is the weapon of choice for those who would hunt the Heinous Broods of the Undead which crawl from the sand at sunrise to feast on the light and the living.

It would be convenient if you actually hunted them, but it is of course far too dangerous, every bit as suicidal as attempting to poach the terrible Musclebeasts who roam at night. So you indulge in your bright fascination with the grim through literature. Just before the sun goes down and you join your flora in rest, you immerse yourself in tales of Rainbow Drinkers and Shadow Droppers and Forbidden Passion.

You are one of the few of your kind with Jade Green Blood. As such you are one of the few who could be selected and raised by a Virgin Mother Grub, an event so rare as to elude documented precedent. She would defend you from desert threats, and though her life would be short, in time you would assure her of progeny.

You are one of the few of your kind whose affection for the aesthetic strongly overpowers instinctive regard for the utilitarian. As such, you are one of the few of your kind who has developed a zeal for Fashion and Design and Lively Colorful Patterns. You decorate your hive with Flora and Fabric, as delicately or aggressively as inspiration demands. You are a Seamstress or a Ragripper or a Treetrimmer or a Lumberjack, whichever you care to be, and your unique hive is equipped with a great supply of advanced technology to accommodate your interests. The technology and indeed the hive itself were all recovered from the ruins nearby when you were very young. The seed of your hive was deployed on the volcanic rocks beneath the sand with the assistance of your lusus and her remarkable burrowing skills, and you have lived there happily together since.

You know the ruins and the hive and everything here that is not sand and rock originated from the world of your dreams. You also know that one day you will visit this world while you are awake. That day is today.

Your trolltag is grimAuxiliatrix and you Tend To Enunciate Each Word You Speak Very Clearly And Carefully

What will you do?

Kanaya: Equip chainsaw.

[Image description: Kanaya looks over at the chainsaw, which folds itself up into a tiny tube.]

Alright, let's settle down. No need to get hysterical.

Oh, there goes your Wardrobifier again. Never a dull moment in fashion when the randomized cycle is on.

Kanaya: Apply.

You can choose between your trademark jade or black. Even though a troll's lips are naturally black.

But they can always be blacker, and a lady with a true sense of style knows this.

In any case you think you'll mix things up and go with green for a while.

G.A.: They Dont Tell Me Everything
Just As I Am Sure She doesnt Whisper Everything To You
C.C.: Thats true.
Oh shucks now Im going to get sad.
She will be gone soon. (Sad face with a tiara and goggles)
Though I guess it will be a relief not to have to worry about keeping her voice down anymore!
G.A.: I Wonder If Any Other Kid On The Planet Has As Many Burdens In The Fire As You

Ok I guess they are haha.
But I love them and I wouldn't have it any other way because this is why I'm here!
On that note I think I'm going to go say goodbye to her. Maybe you should too while you have the chance!
Even though I'll see her again soon which still seems kind of strange to me.
But that's why this is all so EXCITING!
Kanaya Bye!

You have another source.

Kanaya: Consult source.

[Image description: Kanaya sits on the pile of pillows and types at the keyboard her lunchtop projects. Everything but her lunchtop and the pillows fade away to a black void populated by the distant silhouettes of tentacled monsters and a dersite server, which resembles a remote.]

Next

[Image description: The screen projects the Caveats and Condolences portion of Rose's walkthrough, as well as her flashing RL signature.]

In one dream, the clouds pointed you to the address of a server hidden in an obscure pocket of a realm unknowable to mortals. It contains a journal written by a young member of an alien species. She has documented her experiences playing the game you are about to play.

You can only assume this took place a long time ago. This race is likely ancient, preceding yours by millions of sweeps. Maybe billions! You like to try to imagine the adventures of these players. Were they successful in repopulating their race? Did they manage to protect their matriorb and hatch a new mother grub? Could they hold it together, or were they torn apart by the complex social dynamics, the matespritships and moirallegiences and auspisticisms and kismesissitudes that will surely plague your group along the way?

You have little doubt they succeeded with flying colors.

Next

[Image description: A person who looks like a Troll version of Rose stands on top of an ogre, wielding a black wand. With it, she blasts a line of pink magic directly through its forehead. She has long, nearly straight horns, a black bob, a black shirt with the RL signature on it, and a long pink skirt.]

You have little doubt their victory was because of their leader, a great heroine, the Tentacletherapist. From what she recorded, it seems the group had very little knowledge of what they were getting into. And yet they appear to have been the only of their kind to have risen to the challenge in a session stacked heavily against them. You are convinced her leadership was the difference.

It would be nice to have the chance to talk to her. Alas, she's likely been dead for millennia. Only the incomplete record of a long forgotten quest remains.

On the other hand, if you were to discover her quest ended in failure, it might be somewhat disillusioning.

But that thought never crossed your mind.

Tavros: Enter.

[Image description: Tavros's hive sits in the center of a round, jagged edged patch of dark green grass on a landscape that is otherwise brown and orange sand. The sky swirls shades of yellow and a strong wind spins the windmill on the roof.]

Having narrowly dodged obliteration, you take your place as the Page of Breath in the Land of Sand and Zephyr.

And in time...

A.G.: everyone always wants to do things the boring way.
didn't we make a truce, tavros? That we would try to be less boring from now on?
you don't want to break your truce with me, do you tavros?
A.T.: no,
A.G.: great. Now get climbing!
A.T.: please don't read this as,
a boring thing, I hope,
but,
it's physically impossible to do that, mostly,
A.T.: why don't you, in like,
a not boring way, build,
more inclined surfaces, like you did over there,
maybe you could color them, with fun colors,
so you won't think they're boring and get angry at me some more,
A.G.: I built that ramp because we were in a hurry to save your life, remember?
a dead tavros is even more boring than an alive and crippled tavros by a slim margin.
my stair structure is lovely and I'm not changing it.
now hop out of your wheel device and get climbing!!!!!!!
A.T.: uhh,
climbing,
A.G.: or crawling. Whatever! Stop being so helpless. It's pathetic.
A.T.: it will take a long time,
A.G.: what's the rush! You're in the game, safe and sound. Look in the sky. Do you see any meteors? I sure don't!
A.T.: but, there are imps around, and I'll be sort of defenseless, lying down on stairs,
A.G.: siiiiiiigh. you did not just use that excuse. We both know you can commune with these things.
hey! Why don't you psychically command them to carry you up????????
oh my god that is a great idea. Once again, leave it to vriska to come up with the creative solutions.
A.T.: I wouldn't really, want to make them do that, I just don't understand, why, we can't do this the easy way,
A.G.: what good would that do you?
whatever the purpose of this game is, it makes you work hard for it! that way you become stronger along the way and you are better prepared for whatever's next.
remember when we used to flarp together?????? It was the exact same principle. And that's why you were always outmatched! You were too soft and not well prepared.
nothing comes easy, tavros. That is why we go through the trials in the brooding caverns when we are young.
to make sure we are strong when we come out!
do you remember the trials, tavros?
A.T.: not very well, no,
A.G.: well, I do, and they were a bitch. but now that I think about it, it would make perfect sense if your trials were really easy by some mistake.
that is why you are such a soggy phlegm sponge, and why you got picked by such a sad, frail little lusus!
A.T.: (sad face with bull horns)
A.G.: but that's ok, it probably wasn't your fault. Just a bad break!
you're lucky you have me as a server player, so I can challenge you and help you get strong.
now hop out of that seat and get climbing! I will deliver the device to you once you are at the top.
climb, pupa!
ciiiiiiimb!
A.T.: maybe I should ask tinkerbull about this, he's really smart, now that he can talk,
A.G.: no!!!!!!!!! you don't need help from your lame bull fairy. He is only holding you back.
A.T.: he's my friend,
this is getting frustrating.
why did I have to get stuck with the cripple? Just my luck.
do you have any idea how inconvenient this is? Do you have any sympathy for what I'm dealing with here?
A.T.: uhh,
A.G.: you're so inconsiderate. You just sit there looking smug. It's infuriating to look at you.
you haven't even thanked me! Or apologized for that matter!!!!!!!!! uhhhhhh thanks vriska, for saving uhh my life, ummmm it sure was brave and heroic and pretty of you, also ummm duhhh,, ummm,, I am sorry from the bottom of my nook,,,,,,, seriously, how hard would that have been?
A.T.: okay,
thanks, I guess, but,
Sorry for what,
A.G.: for being crippled, you ass!
A.T.: you want me to apologize,
for being paralyzed,
A.G.: yes.
say you're sorry.
A.T.: I don't mean to be rude, or boring, but that's ridiculous, given,
uh, the circumstances,
A.G.: bullshit!
it's something called basic decency and civility you fudgeblooded boor.
now get down on your useless wobbly knees and apologize.

to find new magic artifacts and things, and learn more about the lore of this land,
A.G.: tavros, let me let you in on a little secret about the lore of your land.
it's boring!!!!!!!!!
A.T.: (gasping face with bull horns)
A.G.: the minds of your consorts are very soft and impressionable.
as easily manipulated as all those imps you've been bossing around.
I have picked apart their tiny little lizard brains and seen through all the smoke and mirrors of their riddles.
I have gotten to the truth they are guarding. The great big mystery behind this planet. And you know what it is, tavros?
A.T.: no,
A.G.: it's bullshit!
meaningless, boring, fanciful bullshit wrapped in flowery poems to keep you guessing.
it all leads to one thing anyway, and that's what we should put our attention on.
real gamers cut to the chase. They power through all the nonsense and go for the gold.
they cheat, tavros.
it is time you learned to start cheating.
A.T.: I thought, I kind of was cheating,
by making friends with monsters,
A.G.: well, it's a good start. You are bending the rules and getting stuff done.
ok I will admit, I am fairly impressed with your progress so far. Even though you still probably haven't even killed a single enemy!!!!!!!
A.T.: umm,
A.G.: no, don't bother. I know you haven't.
but maybe that's ok. Maybe it's just your style, and your real strength is surrounding yourself with allies who are much stronger than you.
like me!
I'm sure there is more than one way up the echeladder. In your case probably the only way is to roll gently up the echeramp.
the path of the invalid.
A.T.: yeah, I agree,
A.G.: but I think it's time to stop fucking around! You need to be challenged more.
I have been designing a quest for you that should test your true limits.
A.T.: ohh, is that what you were doing, all this time,
A.G.: yes.
A.T.: I mean, not that I don't,
appreciate it, but,
don't you have your own quest to do,
A.G.: yeah, well, after she got me in the game, kanaya just left me in the lurch, probably because she's dealing with her own crisis now.
which is just as well because I was starting to get nannied hard. You wouldn't even believe it.
A.T.: nannied,
A.G.: so I had some time to kill.
I drew you a map!
A.T.: whoaaa,
A.G.: here, take a look.
it marks what will be your new destination. Where you will find the ultimate challenge.

Tavros: Look at map.

[Image description: A hand drawn map of Tavros's land takes up the whole screen. The temple is near the bottom of the map. Directly east of it is a red cave labeled with snoring. To the north west is another cave, this one labeled More boring puzzles. Ignore them!!!!!!! To the north east is a red windmill labeled To 7th gate! Go here. A winding dashed line leads from the temple to the windmill, with Tavros in the rocket chair drawn at either end.]
pesterlog
A.T.: where does it go,
A.G.: I have determined from your consorts that there is a terrible monster deep underground.
it guards a hoard of treasure bigger than either of us can imagine!
it is called a denizen, and it is the boss of your whole planet.
tavros, you will go and face your denizen.
A.T.: won't that be,
too difficult,
A.G.: it will be the most powerful adversary you have ever met. but you can handle it. I believe in you!
A.T.: um, thanks,
I mean, I respect that you have lots of, piratey bravado about stuff, and you type fast about it, but I think this is foolish and not sensible, I will probably just get killed, realistically, A.G.: maybe! That is the risk you take by being a brave adventurer. but it is a good opportunity to apply your cunning. maybe you can rally a huge army to bend to your will and overwhelm the monster???????? Who knows! It is up to you.
this is it, Tavros. It is time to sink or swim. A.T.: I should get Kanaya's advice, or maybe Karkat since he is the leader, A.G.: no!!!!!!!!
oh god, every time. Always going and getting to others to bail you out. anyway, kanaya is missing in action, and karkat has his head up his nook with his new stabby hatefriend.
neither can help you.
A.T.: it's just hard to figure out, if you really think this is a good idea strategically, or if it's just more of the thing, where you harass me but sound excited about it, A.G.: tavros, I know nobody believes me about this, probably not even a gullible dope like you. but I actually care about your advancement as a player. everything I have done has been to make you stronger!
A.T.: okay,
I still don't know what to believe, about that,
A.G.: ugh, you are useless!
I'm done talking about this. Now shut up and point that cherry vehicle of yours toward the x on that map. next stop, gate seven. Let's go.
A.T.: uhhhhhh,
A.G.: this isn't optional. You know very well that I can make you go to that gate whether you want to or not! but I would rather it not have to come to that. what will it be? advance or advance?
A.T.: okay,
I will go,
A.G.: oh one last thing.
equip your boy-skylark outfit. this will be Pupa's last stand!
I mean sit. hahahahahahahaha.

Tavros: Point cherry vehicle toward X on map.

[Image description: Tavros, who is now wearing his Pupa Pan costume, flies his rocket chair towards a windmill on top of a tall spire of red rock. A spiral ramp goes around the outside of the building, leading up to the point where the blades attach. Not far above it is a brown spirograph gate.]
Next

[Image description: Vriska's hive sits in a small jungle on top of a pink plateau island. Wooden walkways lead around the cliffs and two rope bridges lead out to smaller islands. At the bottom of the cliff is a dock, but there are no boats in sight. The sky is pink and gold with maps and compass roses scattered across it. A trail of smoke leads from the sky to the top floor, where Tavros crashes his rocket chair.]

You proceed through what seems to be your second gate, into the Land of Maps and Treasure. The Thief of Light lies in wait.

Next

[Image description: Tavros's rocket chair is tangled upside down in spiderwebs that now cross Vriska's room. Tavros flails and tries to get free. The window above the totem lathe is smashed and the top portion of the lathe is gone. Vriska, now wearing a white dress and blue fairy wings, is asleep on top of the pile of broken magic 8 balls.]

Vriska: Wake up.

[Image description: Vriska sits up and holds her arms out daintily. Tavros finally falls from his upside down chair and lands next to her.]

Oh my!

It appears Pupa Pan himself has flown through your window while you were asleep. How exciting! Surely he is here to take you away on the adventure of a lifetime. He is more dreamy and heroic than you ever imagined.

But what's this?? It seems the legendary Boy-Skylark has misplaced his shadow. He is looking Everywhere for it, to no avail. He is having a devil of a time, what with being paralyzed from the waist down and all. He clearly needs your help.

Vriska: Help Pupa find shadow.

[Image description: Vriska stands over Tavros and lifts one foot slightly off the ground. Tavros grimaces.]

Pupa! You truly are a silly goose. Your shadow has been trapped underneath your useless torso the whole time! Honestly, where else would it be you stupid sack of shit?

Next

Of course, the secret to reuniting with your shadow is to get up and walk around. And play and dance and frolic! Your shadow will surely join in your gaiety.

But it appears Pupa has lost the use of his legs. There will be no frolicking in this young man's future. (sad face with eight eyes)

Unless...

Vriska: Apply special stardust.

[Image description: Vriska throws a handful of glitter into Tavros's face.]
Everyone knows that just a pinch of Special Stardust along with a happy thought will allow any boy to get up and walk again. Everyone knows this because it is in the classic tale, Pupa Pan. Young Pupa flies through the window of a fairy girl's respiteblock, falls on the floor, and has trouble getting up like an enormous pansy. The fairy girl then helps him walk again, and in return, he teaches her to fly, even though she probably already knows how to fly. Because she's a fairy. They fly out of her window together, and have magical adventures for many sweeps thereafter.

To be honest, you hardly know a damn thing about Pupa Pan. But you do not care.

Next

Pupa remains as pathetic and useless as ever. The stardust did nothing! Probably because it is just glittery powder with no magical properties whatsoever and is basically bullshit. Because in case it wasn't clear, magic isn't real, and neither are miracles.

or

It could just be that Pupa has failed to have a happy thought!

Your duty is clear. You will have to MAKE him have happy thoughts.

Vriska: Make Pupa have happy thoughts.

Next

Vriska: Vriska hauls Tavros up by his shirt and grins menacingly. Tavros trembles and looks afraid.

Next

Vriska: Vriska pulls Tavros close and kisses him. Tavros's eyes go wide and he flails his hands.

Next

Vriska: Vriska holds him at arms length again and frowns at him. He looks completely horrified. A symbol between them flashes between a red heart and a black spade, both with a question mark inside.

Next

Vriska: Vriska scowls and dumps Tavros on the floor.

Next

Vriska: Still scowling, she puts her fingers on her temples. The background changes to blue lines and the word Manipulate is written to her left, though it is written with a Scorpio sign for the M and the number 8 in place of A.T.E. Hearts appear in Tavros's eyes and he looks stunned.

Next

Vriska: Her expression changes to confusion as Tavros grabs her dress and makes a kissy face up at her.
Kanaya: Deal with your own crisis.

Whew, crisis resolved. It was no doubt harrowing and suspenseful.

But in the meantime, you have left your client player in the lurch. Ideally she has not gotten herself into too much trouble.

And ideally the dramatic irony has not gotten so thick you could draw a dotted line on it with a tube of lipstick and cut it in half with a chainsaw.

Kanaya: Return to serving client.

So THAT'S why she had you make this dress for her???

And you just went along with it like a sucker.

Argh, you are such an IDIOT!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Kanaya, it's hard.

Being a kid and growing up.

It's hard and nobody understands.

Try to understand.
The problem is that when the subject of troll romance is broached, our sparing human intellects instantly assume the most ingratiating posture of surrender imaginable. But we will do our best to understand regardless.

Humans have only one form of romance. And though we consider it a complicated subject, spanning a wide range of emotions, social conventions, and implications for reproduction, it is ultimately a superficial slice of what trolls consider the full body of romantic experience. Our concept of romance, in spite of its capacity to fill our art and literature and to rule our individual destinies like little else, is still just that. A single, linear concept. A concept usually denoted by a single symbol.

(Troll)

Troll romance is more complicated than that. Troll romance needs four symbols.

Next

Their understanding of romance is divided into halves, and halved again, producing four quadrants: the Flushed Quadrant, the Caliginous Quadrant, the Pale Quadrant, and the Ashen Quadrant.

Each quadrant is grouped by the half they share, whether horizontally or vertically, depending on the overlapping properties one examines. The sharpest dichotomy, from an emotional perspective, is drawn between Red Romance and Black Romance.

On the other hand, the vertical bifurcation has to do with the purpose of the relationship, regardless of the emotions behind it. Those quadrants which are Concupiscent, the flushed and caliginous, have to do with facilitating the elaborate reproductive cycle of trolls. Those which are Conciliatory, the pale and ashen, would be more closely likened to platonic relationships by human standards.

There are many parallels between human relationships and the various facets of troll romance. Humans have words to describe relationships of a negative nature, or of a platonic nature. The difference is, for humans, those relationships would never be conceptually grouped with romance. Establishing those sort of relationships for humans is not driven by the same primal forces that drive our tendency to couple romantically. But for trolls, those primal forces involve themselves in the full palette of these relationships, red or black, torrid or friendly. Trolls typically feel strongly compelled to find balance in each quadrant, and seek gratifying relationships that each describes.

The challenge is particularly tortuous for young trolls, who must reconcile the wide range of contradictory emotions associated with this matrix, while understanding the nature of their various romantic urges for the first time.

Of course, young humans have this challenge too. But for trolls, the challenge is fourfold.

Examine flushed quadrant.

[Image description: A red heart vibrates against a black background. In the two curves at the top are pictures of Rose's Mom and John's Dad. A second image shows them standing on the bow of Jade's Grandpa's ship out in the meteor field as they stare in towards Skaia, which is just a small dot in the distance.]

When two individuals find themselves in the flushed quadrant together, they are said to be Matesprits. Matespritship is the closest parallel to the human concept of romance trolls have. It plays a role in the trolls' reproductive cycle, just as it does for humans.

This is pretty obvious! Not much more needs to be said about this. Moving right along.

Examine caliginous quadrant.

When a pair of adversaries delve into this quadrant, they become each other's Kismesis. As one of the concupiscent quadrants, it plays a role in procreation as well. There is no particularly good human translation for this concept. The closest would be an especially potent arch-rivalry.

For instance, human players would never be able to adequately diagnose the relationship between the queen and her archagent. But troll players could immediately place it as a dead ringer for kismesissitude. They would think we were all pretty stupid for not getting it. And they would be right.

Next

[Image description: The outline of a giant, bipedal creature with massive spikes on its back is silhouetted against the Alternian sky. It holds a bucket in each hand. The left arm is marked with a red heart and the right arm is marked with a white spade.]

Trolls have a complicated reproductive cycle. It's probably best not to examine it in much detail.

The need to seek out concupiscent partners comes with more urgency than typical reproductive instincts. When the Imperial Drone comes knocking, you had better be able to supply genetic material to each of his Filial Pails. If you have nothing to offer, he will kill you without hesitation.

The genetic material - Without Going Into Much Detail - is a combinative genetic mix from the matesprit and kismesis pairs, respectively. The pails are all offered to the mother grub, who can only receive such precombined material. She then combines all of it into one incestuous slurry, and begins her brooding.

This doesn't mean the initial combination was for naught, however. In the slurry, more dominant genes rise to the fore, while the more recessive find less representation in the brood. Especially strong matesprit and kismesis pairings yield more dominant genetic material. The more powerful the complement or potent the rivalry, the more dominant the genes.

Troll Reproduction Sure Is Weird. We all take a moment to lament how pedestrian the human reproductive system is, and further lament that the phrase "incestuous slurry" is not a feature of common parlance in human civilization.

Examine ashen quadrant.

[Image description: A black club vibrates against a grey background. The top curve has a picture of Kanaya in it and the bottom two have pictures of Vriska and Tavros.]

This quadrant involves a particular type of three-way relationship of a black romantic nature. Falling on the conciliatory side, it has no bearing on the reproductive cycle, except for indirect ramifications.

When two trolls are locked in a feud or some otherwise contentious relationship, one can intervene and become their Auspistice. The auspistice mediates between the two, playing the role of a peace keeper, preventing the feud from boiling over into a fully caliginous rivalry.

Since such lesser feuds are quite common among trolls, there is a significant need for auspisticating parties. Without them, too many ashen feuds would become caliginous, and begin to conflict with other exclusive kismesis relationships, leading to a great deal of social complexity and sore feelings (even more so than black romance usually involves). Without auspisticism, the result would be widespread black infidelity.

Next

[Image description: A Matesprit heart containing pictures of Aradiabot and Equius rips in half, turns upside down, and recombines into a Kismesis spade. The spade rips in half and turns back into the heart. This continues endlessly.]

The relationships each quadrant describes tend to be malleable, if not volatile, especially on the concupiscent half where more torrid emotions reside. It doesn't take much to flip a switch and transmute blackrom feelings to redrom, and vice versa.

In many cases, one party will have red feelings while the other has black. But it will often be the case that one party's feelings will swap to match the other's, since there is no quadrant which naturally accommodates such a disparity. But thereafter, it's not uncommon for the two to toggle between red and black in unison now and then. These scenarios naturally result in both red and black infidelities.

This sort of relationship volatility is why conciliatory relationships are an important part of troll romance.

Next

[Image description: The Auspistice club with Kanaya, Vriska, and Tavros appears. Kanaya's portion rips away and the shape transforms into a Kismesis spade, then to a Matesprit heart, then back to a Kismesis spade. Kanaya's picture comes back in and stabilizes it to a club, then leaves again, letting the cycle repeat.]

An auspistice can stabilize particularly turbulent relationships. If the auspistice fails to mediate properly, or has no interest in the role, or perhaps has different romantic intentions him slash herself altogether, then the relationship often quickly deteriorates into one of an especially hostile and torrid nature. There are many outside factors and influences tugging and pulling these relationships in different directions, and unlike humans who have very orderly, simple, straightforward romantic relationships without exception, trolls exist in a state of almost perpetual confusion and generally have no idea what the hell is going on.

Being confused by troll relationships is one thing we do have in common though.

Examine pale quadrant.

[Image description: A red diamond vibrates against a grey background. This one has pictures of Nepeta and Equius in it.]

This quadrant presides over Moirallegience, the other conciliatory relationship. A reasonable human translation would be the concept of a soul mate, but in a more platonic sense, and with a more specific social purpose.

Trolls are a very angry and violent race. Some are more hot-tempered and dangerous than others, to the extent that if left to their own devices, they would present a serious threat to society, or even to themselves. Such trolls will have an instinctive pale attraction to a more even-tempered troll, who may become their Moirail. The moirail is obliged to pacify the other, to function as the better half. The two partners in a strong pale relationship will serve to balance and complement each other's emotional profiles, and thus allow their other relationships to be more successful.

It's often ambiguous especially among young trolls whether a bond formed between an acquaintance is true moirallegence, or the usual variety of platonic involvement. Furthermore, romantic intentions of a more flushed nature can often be mistaken for paler leanings, much to the frustration of the suitor.

But some pale pairings, as the one above, will be strikingly obvious to all who know them.

He is wearing a black shirt with a violet Aquarius symbol on it, a blue striped scarf, blue and black striped pants, a floor length purple cape with a tall collar, and purple shoes with a medium blue stripe up the center. He is standing on sand with a bottle of faygo to his right and a small crab to his left.]

And yet others will seem to have been hatched for each other.

Wait! More troll romance exposition please.

[Image description: Two romance symbols appear on a grey background. The left is a Moirallegiance between the pisces troll and the aquarius troll and the other is the auspisticism between Kanaya, Vriska, and Tavros. Kanaya moves away from the auspisticism and it flips between a Kismesis and a Matespritship. Kanaya moves back in, but Tavros moves away and it turns into a Moirallegiance that splits in half. Kanaya's half flips between a Moirallegiance and a Matespritship, but Vriska's stays as a Moirallegiance. As Kanaya's and Vriska's relationship vacillates, the same thing happens with the other two trolls. The pisces troll stays a moirallegiance while the aquarius troll flips between moirallegiance and matespritship. The pisces troll, Tavros, and Kanaya all move away and the Aquarius troll and Vriska move towards the center, where a Kismesis forms. Kanaya moves in and it turns into an auspisticism. Then everything resets and the cycle begins all over again.]
God you just can't get enough of this can you! That would have been a great point for a transition out of this illustrated sociological study, but ok, if you insist.

Now see, what's going on here is...

It's perfectly simple. When the full matrix of troll romance is in action, we have... uh...

Hey, why don't you figure it out! You should be an expert on all this by now anyway.

Later our troll hero would try to explain this to our human hero, attempting to convey all the nuance of troll romance through a nearly verbatim recitation of the preceding excerpts.

He would try to describe how rich and textured the troll romantic comedies were compared to the one dimensional schlock of our human cinematic counterparts. He would barely scratch the surface of Troll Will Smith's virtuosity with the delicate lattice of troll romance, as he would assist the bumbling fudgeblooded Troll Kevin James through the interwoven minefield-briarpatch of redrom and blackrom entanglements, all the while sifting through his own prickly romantic situation and ultimately learning the true meaning of hate and pity. But would they succeed before the imperial drone came knocking with his thirsty pails at the ready??? Yes, they would.

But John didn't understand any of this because he's a moron, and he wouldn't shut up about his awful bullshit Earth movies. He would just go on and on and on about that garbage.

Next

[Image description: It focuses in on one of the Troll Movie Posters featuring a troll woman and a troll man almost kissing in the rain.]

But if there was one theme to be hammered through his thick skull, it would be the trolls' cultural preoccupation with romantic destiny. Yes, the romantic landscape is rife with false starts and miscues and infidelities, red and black. But every troll believes strongly that each quadrant holds one and only one true pairing for them, and it is just a matter of time before the grid is filled with auspicious matchups through the mysterious channels of Troll Serendipity.

Attempt 2x transition combo.

So who IS this guy, anyway?

Enter name.

Eridan fires the gun, which sends out a massive beam of blue light and crackles with lightning.

Next

The beam blasts a hole in the whale's abdomen, splattering indigo-violet blood across its body.

Next

The whale falls towards the ocean.

Next

It sinks beneath the surface, leaving only a blood-smeared tail sticking out above the water. The word Fishfood hovers below it.

Next

The screen splits again between the pisces troll and Eridan. This time, it shows a close up of the Pisces troll's left eye and Eridan's right. Eridan's section slides away, revealing the rest of the pisces troll's face. 2x TRANSITION COMBO appears at the top of the screen.

Ok, that guy is pretty much squared away.

What about her?

Enter name.

The girl grins up at something. She holds a dual-sided trident with three prongs on either end. The outline of a coral reef and multi colored cuttlefish are behind her.

Your name is Feferi Peixes.

Feferi: Do something adorable.

Feferi swims directly towards the screen, her hair whipping around in the water. The word Swim vibrates behind her.

Next

A whale carcass sits on the ocean floor, sending out wisps of indigo-violet blood. She swims directly towards it.

Next

The carcass is wrapped in a net, being hauled along through the ocean. It is still bleeding.

Next

Feferi swims through the water. The end of the net is tied to one end of her trident.
She pulls the whale carcass down deeper into the ocean, to where the light begins to die out.

Feferi's faint silhouette can just barely be seen against the black water.

She releases the net, letting the whale fall out of it and drift down deeper.

A massive white tentacle reaches out to the carcass.

It wraps around the whale and two more tentacles come on.

The tentacle moves the whale towards a massive beak. The whale looks like its the size of a peanut compared to this creature.

It zooms out, revealing more of this eldritch creature Feferi is feeding. More tentacles come on screen.

It zooms out another step. The whale is so small it can't even be seen.

It zooms out again. The creature is covered in tentacles that tangle around themselves. The beak the whale was being fed in to is barely visible. Tentacles still extend off screen.

Feferi: Go home.

A castle-like hive sits atop a conical spire of rock with a spiral ramp and many, many cave entrances carved into it. The area around the base of the rock is dotted with chunks of pink coral.

That should keep her quiet for a while.

At least until she dies.

Eridan: Go home.

Eridan and his seahorse hover near a hive built into a shipwreck on a tiny, sandy island.

That should keep her happy for a while.

And make a freshly orphaned troll somewhere pretty sad.
Eridan: Examine block.

You conveniently return to your respiteblock so that we may study your variety of Interests.

This was very considerate of you.

Next

[Image description: It zooms out. Behind the seahorse and to the right of the fridge is a doorway and beyond that are bookshelves. More harpoons, wizard statues, piles of gold coins, and jewels are scattered around the room.]

Flowing through your veins is nearly the richest blood the hemospectrum has to offer, penultimate on the scale. As such, you are a Sea Dweller, a sub-race of troll distinct from the commoners by mutation and habitat, a caste which rules over the entire species.

But ruling, in your view, is not enough. You have an overpowering Genocide Complex, and have made it your sworn duty to Kill All Land Dwellers. You have amassed resources and deadly weaponry from around the world for this ambition through many sweeps of Extreme Role Playing, while pursuing a working Doomsday Device which will bring armageddon to all those on the surface. Haven't had much luck with that, but maybe tonight's your night.

You hold a fascination for Military History and Legendary Conquerors. You have dubiously modeled your profile and exploits after the most notorious figures and their stories, which are bristling with the Glory of Victory and the Sting of Defeat and Political Machinations and Romantic Intrigue. It is an image you are careful to craft through Exaggerated Emotional Theatrics, and your penchant for mass murder notwithstanding, people tend to regard you as a Bit of a Tool.

You also like Magic, even though you know it to be Fake. Like a made up friend, the way wizards are. Made up make believe Fakey Fakey Fakes. It's still fun though.

Your trolltag is caligulasAquarium and you speak with a very weird and sort of wavy soundin accent.

You hold off on doing anything for the moment on account of courtesy to fellow royalty.

Feferi: Examine block.

On the subject of courtesy, you have also returned to your block so we can get a better look at you. Again, quite considerate.

Royalty sure is civilized!

You are also a Sea Dweller. You have the most noble blood possible, the only of your kind known to possess it, and the only to share it with Gl'bgolyb, a deep sea monster also known as The Rift’s Carbuncle, Emissary to the Horrorterrors, or in more hushed tones, Speaker of the Vast Glub.

This makes you the Heir Apparent for Alternian rulership, which ordinarily would place you in considerable jeopardy. Her Imperious Condescension would steer the flagship from the fleet and make an attempt on your life herself, if not for the protection of your monstrous lusus.

And if not forewarned of your race’s extinction by the whispers of that lusus, you would have Big Plans for the Throne. All the plans. All of them.

You would redefine what it means to be Culled in troll society. Under your rule it would mean caring for the unfit and infirm rather than exterminating them, and you have put this idea into practice by Culling the Fauna of the Deep. You tend to wild and beautiful Aquatic Hoofbeasts, grooming and feeding them daily. You capture and cage Cuttlefish by the thousands for their own good, and also because they are funny and colorful and you love them. They often swim through the bars of their cages, but that is fine. You run your whole palace as a sort of Wildlife Adoption Facility, even if the wildlife's need for care is dubious at best, and the practice really just amounts to an elaborate Role Playing Scenario. It's still fun though.

You would also look forward to using your reign to Unite the Two Races. You were told you would do this one day by your lusus, even if it does contradict her message of extinction. Oh well, you suppose Not All Prophecies Can Come True.

C.C.: Glub glub!
(smiley face wearing a tiara and goggles)
C.A.: yeah
hm
C.C.: What is it!!!
C.A.: what
C.C.: I am wondering if you can forego the exaggerated emotional theatrics for once and actually tell me what's on your mind!
C.A.: nothins on my mind why cant i just fuckin talk and glub at you for a reason i dont have
C.C.: (uncertain face wearing a tiara and goggles)
C.A.: well fine but you dont want to hear it
C.C.: Yes I do.
We are supposed to talk to each other, that is what moirails are for.
C.A.: uhuh whatever
C.C.: Glub glub glub glub siiiiigh.
Will you take the chip off your nub and tell me what's the matter?
C.A.: yeah well ok since we are the PALEST OF PALS A GUY COULD EVER ASK FOR i will tell you even though you will only humor me as usual since you dont agree with my agenda any of my agendas really none of the agendas
none of them
C.C.: Are you fretting over another one of these dumb contraptions?
C.A.: see more condescension
you are goin to make a hell of an empress
C.C.: No I'm not! But that is beside the point.
None of your plots to kill the land dwellers ever work out, and every doomsday device you get your hands on turns out to be a piece of junk!
C.A.: so i got to keep tryin thats how all the great military masterminds became great through upright perseverance
C.C.: I think deep down you stack these plots against you so you fail because you know it's wrong.
C.A.: it isn't wrong
im not going to explain it to you again at this point all you need to know is its important to me and im doing it for us i mean our kind nobody understands not even you
C.C.: This is the last time I will say this.
We are not better than anybody!!!!!
GLUB. (angry face wearing a tiara and goggles)

You can't have the sort of affinity for "our kind" that you profess if you've only spent, what...
A few days underwater, maybe? In your whole life!
C.A.: whatever
i have to keep an eye on em up here its all about tactics
C.C.: What about your friends? Do you ever think about them?
If they are beneath you then they have to die too.
And I know you like talking to some of them. You say you hate them but I think you are pretending!
C.A.: history is full of cases where conquerers consort with members of the enemy in a mannerly way before wipin them out even goin as far as growin fond a some

C.C.: hehe ok. (smiley face wearing a tiara and goggles)
C.A.: but yeah i dunno
i dont know why she ignores me i guess she's just bored with me
we had it all set up for her to give me this thing tonight that probably doesnt even work but yeah maybe that wasn't the point i mean you think we have a pretty good rivalry goin right or at least had it was pretty fuckin bitter and contentious for a while there and there was some good chemistry i dont know what happened
C.C.: Um, I guess?
I wouldn't really know.
Sometimes people just drift away I think, or just aren't as into the quadrant as the other wants to be.
So you really think your feelings for her run that dark?

Eridan: Go get a beverage.

[Image description: Eridan stands behind his desk. He holds a bottle of red faygo and stares sadly down at it.]

Another emotionally exhausting conversation. Too many Feelings and Problems. It couldn't be any clearer to you. You and this sea princess have splashed down hard into the moirail zone, and now you don't know which way's upward. Perhaps tonight you will reveal your true feelings toward her, and end these exaggerated emotional theatrics once and for all, one way or another.

You need a stiff drink.

But... ugh. Not this swill. You're not THAT desperate.

Eridan: Check fridge.

[Image description: Eridan stands closer to the fridge.]

You pay a visit to what the common land dwellers refer to as a Thermal Hull, instead of the more aristocratic and especially esoteric and alien sounding term, a Refrigerator.

Eridan: Open it.

[Image description: The door opens and a pile of black and white wands pours out onto him. He pinches his eyes shut and bares his teeth.]

A bunch of Unbelievably Shitty Wands tumble out.

Of course you knew these were in here. You're not even sure why you looked.

Feferi: Go get a beverage.

[Image description: Feferi holds a pink can of soda with some sort of alternian writing on it. It looks like a can of Tab. She frowns at it.]

Another emotionally exhausting conversation. Too many Feelings and Problems. That guy. Talk about a high maintenance moirail. Perhaps tonight you will reveal your true feelings toward him, and end these exaggerated emotional theatrics one way or another.

You need a sugary drink.

Next

[Image description: It zooms in on Feferi's hands as she opens the soda with an Underwater Pchhhissss. Some of the drink starts to diffuse out into the water.]

Next

[Image description: Feferi rears back and sticks out her tongue. This Is Stupid! Flashes at the top of the screen. The soda continues to diffuse into the water.]

Feferi: Disarm.

[Image description: Feferi stands near her window, which now has a gold, double-ended trident leaning against it. A second image shows a strife specibus card for 2 times tridentkind, but the 'tri' in trident is written as a three.]
You decide to unwind and take your mind off the drama for a while before starting the game. You nearly forgot this is going to be an exciting night. Everything you are about to do next is exciting. It is always exciting. You are excited.

You unequip Psidon's Entente, a golden Double Culling Fork, a legendary weapon reserved for royalty, and generally only used for ceremonial purposes.

[Note: Psi in Psidon is written as the greek letter psi, which looks like a trident's prongs.]

Eridan: Disarm.

You unequip Ahab's Crosshairs, which is Yet Another legendary weapon, about as powerful as your Kind Abstratus will allow.

You plundered it from a ghost ship during a particularly challenging campaign. It was the same old gambllignant's ship from which your accomplice at the time also plundered a set of extraordinarily powerful dice.

You almost feel sorry for the adversaries you will face tonight. They will likely pose neither team much challenge at all. Unless one of the links in the prototyping chain includes something especially huge and monstrous, but really, what are the odds of that happening?

Eridan: Bother Vriska.

[Image description: Eridan sits at his desk and scowls at his computer, which has a black spade alert over it.]

On the subject of your old accomplice slash rival, you guess you'll try talking to her one more time, even though you know she won't answer. You know she is bored shitless with you and your drama. You are almost starting not to care about this stupid doomsday device which probably won't even work. She probably KNOWS you know it won't work. She has probably put all the pieces together and knows it was an elaborate ruse to be in cahoots with her again.

And she just went along with it playing you for a chump.

You are such an Idiot!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Next

[Image description: Vriska's computer has a purple aquarius alert over it, but Vriska herself is not there to see it. A second image has a 3 by 3 square grid showing the sequence of events leading up to Spidermom's death. Vriska walks down the stairs. She stands on the small platform overlooking Spidermom's nest. The doomsday device is inadvertently activated. It explodes. Rubble crushes Spidermom. Vriska stares at her dying lusus, who is obviously in a lot of pain. She tosses the dice to put her lusus out of her misery. It selects the Guillotine de la Marquise. Spidermom's blood soaks Vriska.]

Yeah, see? No answer. Bored shitless, just like you thought. She has much hotter irons in the fire than you these days.

Next
[Image description: Vriska stands on a blue boat out at sea, waving a skull flag that has her horns and strange arrangement of 7 eyes. She waves sarcastically at Eridan, who shakes his fist and bares his teeth at her. The canons on her ship are smoking, like they were just recently fired. Behind her, broken parts of ships smoke and sink into the water.]

But it wasn't that long ago that you were the hottest iron. At the height of your prowess as seagriffs, Marquise Mindfang and Orphaner Dualscar were in alliance an unmatched terror, and in competition, unbridled tempest. Either way, spoils were typically traded and shared. No levels were left for anyone else to gain. None of the levels.

Next

[Image description: Vriska and three other, unknown trolls stand on the platform overlooking Spidermom's nest. She holds her hands to her temples and forces the others to jump down into the nest.]

She would have the victims of your conquest walk the plank.

Next

[Image description: The corpses of several lusi float and bleed in the ocean. A patch of something black floats alongside them. From under the water, several long, white tentacles come to take the bodies away.]

While you would reap the custodial spoils.

Next

[Image description: Feferi stares upwards as blood diffuses down through the water.]

And while yet another partook not in revelry, but necessity.

Next

[Image description: Feferi, who is barely a speck on the screen, floats near one of her lusus's mouths, which is splattered with multi-colored blood.]

She had to keep her fed to keep her calm, to keep her terrible voice down.

Next

[Image description: Feferi pats her lusus, though the lusus looks more like a white wall because of the scale.]

If she were to raise it above a whisper, trolls would begin dying. First, the lesser bloods, those more psychically susceptible. If she raised it to a shout, all on the planet would die. Land and sea dwellers alike.

And if she were ever to get really upset, she might release The Vast Glub, a psychic shockwave that would exterminate every troll in the galaxy.

Next

[Image description: Eridan sits at a table and rubs his eyes. Papers on the table show a photo of Feferi's lusus and a map with red arrows tracing several paths across the land.]
In truth, it would be all too easy to solve the land dweller problem once and for all. You'd just need to lighten up on the feeding schedule for a while. Maybe you'd be a little too busy to bother with that hassle for once? Or maybe you could happen to be off your game for a spell? It happens, even to the best sometimes.

But nah. It would make her upset.

Some time later...

[Image description: Feferi's hive sits in a massive fish bowl on a planet with a swirling sky and green grass. Tendril-like plants in a rainbow of colors dot the landscape.]

The Witch of Life takes her place in the Land of Dew and Glass.

Feferi: Report to Eridan.

[Image description: Feferi stands at her desk and frowns down at her tablet, which has a purple aquarius alert over it. A cruxtruder sits near the window and a swirling pattern like oil on water covers the whole scene.]

[Image description: The crazy, fluctuating romance entanglements with Kanaya, Vriska, Tavros, Eridan, and Feferi flash on screen.]

The problem is that when the subject of troll romance is broached, our sparing human intellects instantly assume the most ingratiating posture of surrender imaginable.

But we will do our best to understand regardless.

Humans have only one form of romance. And though we consider it a complicated subject, spanning a wide range of emotions, social conventions, and implications for reproduction, it is ultimately a superficial slice of what trolls consider the full body of romantic experience. Our concept of romance, in spite of its capacity to fill our art and literature and to rule our individual destinies like little else, is still just that. A single, linear concept. A concept usually denoted by a single symbol.

(heart)

Troll romance is more complicated than that. Troll romance needs four symbols.

Their understanding of romance is divided into halves, and halved again, producing four quadrants: the Flushed Quadrant, the Caliginous Quadrant, the Pale Quadrant, and the Ashen Quadrant.

Each quadrant is grouped by the half they share, whether horizontally or vertically, depending on the overlapping properties one examines. The sharpest dichotomy, from an emotional perspective, is drawn between Red Romance and Black Romance.

Red Romance, comprised of the flushed and pale quadrants, is a form of romance rooted in strongly positive emotions. Black Romance, with its caliginous and ashen quadrants, is rooted in the strongly negative.

On the other hand, the vertical bifurcation has to do with the purpose of the relationship, regardless of the emotions behind it. Those quadrants which are Concupiscent, the flushed and caliginous, have to do with facilitating the elaborate reproductive cycle of trolls. Those which are Conciliatory, the pale and ashen, would be more closely likened to platonic relationships by human standards.

There are many parallels between human relationships and the various facets of troll romance. Humans have words to describe relationships of a negative nature, or of a platonic nature. The difference is, for humans, those relationships would never be conceptually grouped with romance. Establishing those sort of relationships for humans is not driven by the same primal forces that drive our tendency to couple romantically. But for trolls, those primal forces involve themselves in the full palette of these relationships, red or black, torrid or friendly. Trolls typically feel strongly compelled to find balance in each quadrant, and seek gratifying relationships that each describes.

The challenge is particularly tortuous for young trolls, who must reconcile the wide range of contradictory emotions associated with this matrix, while understanding the nature of their various romantic urges for the first time.

Of course, young humans have this challenge too. But for trolls, the challenge is fourfold.

When two individuals find themselves in the flushed quadrant together, they are said to be Matesprits. Matespritship is the closest parallel to the human concept of romance trolls have. It plays a role in the trolls’ reproductive cycle, just as it does for humans.

This is pretty obvious! Not much more needs to be said about this. Moving right along.

When a pair of adversaries delve into this quadrant, they become each other's Kismesis. As one of the concupiscent quadrants, it plays a role in procreation as well. There is no particularly good human translation for this concept. The closest would be an especially potent arch-rivalry.

For instance, human players would never be able to adequately diagnose the relationship between the queen and her archagent. But troll players could immediately place it as a dead ringer for kismesisissitude. They would think we were all pretty stupid for not getting it. And they would be right.

Trolls have a complicated reproductive cycle. It's probably best not to examine it in much detail.

The need to seek out concupiscent partners comes with more urgency than typical reproductive instincts. When the Imperial Drone comes knocking, you had better be able to supply genetic material to each of his Filial Pails. If you have nothing to offer, he will kill you without hesitation.

The genetic material - Without Going Into Much Detail - is a combinative genetic mix from the matesprit and kismesis pairs, respectively. The pails are all offered to the mother grub, who can only receive such precombined material. She then combines all of it into one incestuous slurry, and begins her brooding.

This doesn't mean the initial combination was for naught, however. In the slurry, more dominant genes rise to the fore, while the more recessive find less representation in the brood. Especially strong matesprit and kismesis pairings yield more dominant genetic material. The more powerful the complement or potent the rivalry, the more dominant the genes.

Troll Reproduction Sure Is Weird. We all take a moment to lament how pedestrian the human reproductive system is, and further lament that the phrase "incestuous slurry" is not a feature of common parlance in human civilization.

This quadrant involves a particular type of three-way relationship of a black romantic nature. Falling on the conciliatory side, it has no bearing on the reproductive cycle, except for indirect ramifications.
When two trolls are locked in a feud or some otherwise contentious relationship, one can intervene and become their Auspistice. The auspistice mediates between the two, playing the role of a peace keeper, preventing the feud from boiling over into a fully caliginous rivalry.

Since such lesser feuds are quite common among trolls, there is a significant need for auspisticing parties. Without them, too many ashen feuds would become caliginous, and begin to conflict with other exclusive kismesis relationships, leading to a great deal of social complexity and sore feelings (even more so than black romance usually involves). Without auspisticism, the result would be widespread black infidelity.

The relationships each quadrant describes tend to be malleable, if not volatile, especially on the concupiscent half where more torrid emotions reside. It doesn't take much to flip a switch and transmute blackrom feelings to redrom, and vice versa.

In many cases, one party will have red feelings while the other has black. But it will often be the case that one party's feelings will swap to match the other's, since there is no quadrant which naturally accommodates such a disparity. But thereafter, it's not uncommon for the two to toggle between red and black in unison now and then. These scenarios naturally result in both red and black infidelities.

This sort of relationship volatility is why conciliatory relationships are an important part of troll romance.

An auspistice can stabilize particularly turbulent relationships. If the auspistice fails to mediate properly, or has no interest in the role, or perhaps has different romantic intentions him/herself altogether, then the relationship often quickly deteriorates into one of an especially hostile and torrid nature. There are many outside factors and influences tugging and pulling these relationships in different directions, and unlike humans who have very orderly, simple, straightforward romantic relationships without exception, trolls exist in a state of almost perpetual confusion and generally have no idea what the hell is going on.

Being confused by troll relationships is one thing we do have in common though.

This quadrant presides over Moirallegience, the other conciliatory relationship. A reasonable human translation would be the concept of a soul mate, but in a more platonic sense, and with a more specific social purpose.

Trolls are a very angry and violent race. Some are more hot-tempered and dangerous than others, to the extent that if left to their own devices, they would present a serious threat to society, or even to themselves. Such trolls will have an instinctive pale attraction to a more even-tempered troll, who may become their Moirail. The moirail is obliged to pacify the other, to function as the better half. The two partners in a strong pale relationship will serve to balance and complement each other's emotional profiles, and thus allow their other relationships to be more successful.

It's often ambiguous especially among young trolls whether a bond formed between an acquaintance is true moirallegence, or the usual variety of platonic involvement. Furthermore, romantic intentions of a more flushed nature can often be mistaken for paler leanings, much to the frustration of the suitor.

But some pale pairings, as the one above, will be strikingly obvious to all who know them.

God you just can't get enough of this can you! That would have been a great point for a transition out of this illustrated sociological study, but ok, if you insist.
Now see, what's going on here is...

It's perfectly simple. When the full matrix of troll romance is in action, we have... uh...

Hey, why don't you figure it out! You should be an expert on all this by now anyway.

Later our troll hero would try to explain this to our human hero, attempting to convey all the nuance of troll romance through a nearly verbatim recitation of the preceding excerpts.

He would try to describe how rich and textured the troll romantic comedies were compared to the one dimensional schlock of our human cinematic counterparts. He would barely scratch the surface of Troll Will Smith's virtuosity with the delicate lattice of troll romance, as he would assist the bumbling fudgeblooded Troll Kevin James through the interwoven minefield-briarpatch of redrom and blackrom entanglements, all the while sifting through his own prickly romantic situation and ultimately learning the true meaning of hate and pity. But would they succeed before the imperial drone came knocking with his thirsty pails at the ready??? Yes, they would.

But John didn't understand any of this because he's a moron, and he wouldn't shut up about his awful bullshit Earth movies. He would just go on and on and on about that garbage.

But if there was one theme to be hammered through his thick skull, it would be the trolls' cultural preoccupation with romantic destiny. Yes, the romantic landscape is rife with false starts and miscues and infidelities, red and black. But every troll believes strongly that each quadrant holds one and only one true pairing for them, and it is just a matter of time before the grid is filled with auspicious matchups through the mysterious channels of TROLL SERENDIPITY.

In short, their belief is that for each quadrant there exists a pair or triad of trolls somewhere in the cosmos that were...

Made for Each Other.

Wow.

[Image description: Hussie, who now has the one-horned headband on again, spikes Lil Cal into the ground with a victorious Booyeah!]

THAT'S WHAT JUST HAPPENED BITCH.

Alright, now you're DEFINITELY trolling us. Come on.

He has just updated one of the many memos on the transtimeline bulletin board he set up a while ago. You've since no longer bothered keeping up with the endless and mostly incomprehensible communique.

But while checking the update, you can't help but skim through the first memo in the long sequence, which was written hours ago from your present perspective.

Equius: Read first memo.

[Image description: The Trollian screen takes up the entire panel. The chump roll on the side shows everyone online. On some of the lines, there are dots that are labeled. Sollux has a dot about four fifths up labeled P.T.A.. Karkat's has 2, one at the very top of the line labeled F.C.G. and one about a third up labeled P.C.G.. Teresi has one at the same third mark labeled P.G.C.. Equius has one just slightly over four fifths of the way up labeled C.C.T.. A chat room is open in another window. It is labeled Bulletin Board: Team Adorabloodthirsty]

P.C.G. 6:12 HOURS AGO opened memo on board Team Adorabloodthirsty.

P.C.G.: ok I think I set this up right.
fuck I should have come up with a better board name.
but I guess that's the name it was supposed to have since that's the name that uh I already read.
wow that probably won't make any sense to anybody.
whatever, it's just a stupid name, let's just do this.
this is a public bulletin using trollian's weird transtimeline features which I don't even really understand yet.
but I'm guessing might be useful.
I've included all twelve players in the subscription list so you should all be able to read these memos at any time.
that is, all the memos posted, past and future. I think.
it could get pretty temporally confusing obviously. I'm going to try to keep the memos as simple and linear as possible.
also let's keep this a one-way-only bulletin to make this as simple as possible.
do not reply to my memos!!! This is not a fucking chatroom, assholes.
if you have something to say to me in response to a memo, message me in private at the appropriate point on the timeline.
first order of business is about the teams.
as of now, you should all be aware that there is really only one team, and we are all working together.
and by "now" I mean time local to me as of writing this.
so if you're reading this in the past...
uh ok first of all, how do you even know about this feature already? Second why didn't you fucking tell me.
whatever I digress.
if you're reading this in the future then who cares, it's probably old news to you.
actually now that I think about it, what's so special about reading this in the future?
it's like any bulletin board, you post stuff and it sits there for a while and people in "the future" read it.
huh. Big fucking deal I guess.

PAST gallowsCalibrator [P.G.C.] 5:51 HOURS AGO responded to memo.
P.G.C.: Oh my god Karkat!
Who cares!!!!! (gasping face with furrowed brows)
P.C.G. banned P.G.C. from responding to memo.
P.C.G.: anyway like I was saying.
one big team, over which I have assumed total leadership.
I will assume that it will continue to stay this way for the duration of our quest, and that I will remain an impeccable leader for a span of hundreds of hours while I guide us all to a stunning victory.
in fact, I don't even need to assume.
I browsed through this whole bulletin in advance, and it does appear to be the case. Go me.
in fact, since I've seen what I will write in the future, I wonder what impetus I will have for writing it later when I'm supposed to?
I wonder if I could just copy/paste it... Hold on.
damn.
I guess they thought of that? I dunno. I tried to look at the whole bulletin again, but now that I've opened this one from the beginning, I can't see the whole thing anymore.
unless I look at it on one of your computers... or maybe if you send me like a text file of it? Would that cause a paradox or something?
you know what, this is so stupid.
I actually remember reading all this shit like a half hour ago, and now here I am typing it anyway.
I probably can't avoid typing any of this, how weird is that.
I hate time travel.

PAST twinArmageddons [P.T.A.] 0:34 HOURS AGO responded to memo.
P.T.A.: eheheheheh KK im basically just lmao here at this, WOW.
P.C.G.: Holy fucking shit, are you people retarded.
P.T.A.: dude don't worry i wont fuck up your memo for long, i just cant believe this was the big reason you wanted "future me" to help you open those ports.
to basically just babble about paradoxes and argue with yourself for hundreds of pages heheheh.
P.C.G.: Ok so you're saying this from like 5 hours in the future just to give me a hard time, nice. well thanks for the help, so when do I ban you, future boy?
P.T.A.: a few lines down, after i pretend like im going to die.
im sure for a laugh on account of my imminent banning, FUCK how could you even do that two me.
so cold man.
P.C.G.: Are you really still sore at me five hours later for running that virus, god damn get over it. it was your fucking virus anyway, you're to blame.
P.T.A.: eheh no bro we're cool about that, now future you is connecting with me so i can enter the game.
P.C.G.: Oh yeah?
P.T.A.: yeah so thanks for that five hours in advance.
P.C.G.: This is bs isn't it.
trolling me from the future, how juvenile can you get.
P.T.A.: no man its true, we are bulge bumping pupa pals again.
P.C.G.: Oh fuck this condescending future knowitall act, we aren't bumping shit, you are so banned.
P.T.A.: nooooooo, not the ban, it buuuuuuurns, oh god hahahaha.
wait.
oh god.
it does burn.
something's wrong, im serious!
that horriible psychic noise
the voices
they're all going to die
oh SHIT im bleeding shiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiii this is bad
i have to get her in quick got to go
P.C.G. banned P.T.A. from responding to memo.
And so the porcine hoof belonging to the swollen hag known as lady destiny has stomped another throat.
which one of you fuckers is next?
nobody???
ok, good.
although I'm fairly sure I remember someone else chiming in before I closed this memo.
you add disordered shit rinsers can't keep your lascivious prongs out of the roe hole, can you.
sollux, for future reference, or past reference or whatever if you want to do that kind of roleplaying, you can start your own bulletin.
you can all act like braindead asswipes in your own festering flap of paradox space, fine with me.
everyone will be so confused by the time paradoxes, it will distract them from how awful their terrible hobbies are.
choose your classes now! Level 69 nooksniffer is up for grabs, who wants it.
no that's not an invitation for you fucking nerds to come in here and correct me on your goddamn fairy elves.
just do me a favor and keep me banned from that one ok.
I'll return the favor if you nerd up my memos, I seriously can't believe how many fucking nerds are on this team.
just remember this is my personal podium, a stump if you will, for sole use by me as leader for important leadership business.
got it???????????

how can you people be so stupid.
C.C.T.: (Bow and arrow) It may be true that we are all playing in the same session, but I see no reason to disband the former power structure
Especially if it means instituting a tactical midget with a short fuse, a foul mouth, and paralyzing insecurity over the color of his blood
That's all I have to say
P.C.G.: oh I have a short fuse! That's very funny, you can almost hear me laugh over the sound of the robot you are probably beating to death.
or doing worse to.
hey, you do kiss your robots, right?
C.C.T.: (Bow and arrow) Uh
P.C.G.: might as well clear the air as long as we're broadcasting this across the entire spacetime continuum.
C.C.T.: (Bow and arrow) Not usually P.C.G.: Hahahahahahahahaha
The funny thing is in the future everyone will recognize me as the undisputed leader, even you.
You will be standing on the tippytoes of your idiotic metal shoes, taking delicate purchase of my nubby horns and hoisting yourself over my head to put your sweatiest tough guy smooch upon my twitching spine lump.
It will be tender and deferential, like a pauper kissing a noble's ring.
Just scroll down, read the logs.
C.C.T.: (Bow and arrow) Nowhere have I seen evidence of this Most of this is you from various points in time raving about nonsense and arguing with yourself
Do you realize that here in the future, this bulletin has come to be regarded as something of a joke
A lengthy piece of comedy, often quoted amongst ourselves in private moments of levity
It seems I'm the one to inform you of this up front
Which is likely why you persist with the ingratiating charade against better judgement
P.C.G.: You're getting off on this aren't you
C.C.T.: (Bow and arrow) What do you mean
P.C.G.: This excites you, being the tough guy and pretending like you're putting the awesome leader in his place.
you're probably working up a good sweat.
hope you alchemized a bunch of spare towels.

CURRENT carcinoGeneticist [C.C.G.] RIGHT NOW opened memo on board Team Adorabloodthirsty.

C.C.G.: this is as good a time as any to start a new memo. in fact it's a better time than any because according to the laws of chat client predestination I don't really have a choice do i. fuck. it doesn't matter, it's still a good time to do it. people, we need to get organized here. shit is getting serious. we are about to embark on operation regisurp, a cunning plan devised by double archagent jack noir to exile the black queen. we will need all hands on deck for this, even the idiots. and once again, a reminder do not troll me in these memos from any point in time or it's an insta-ban. also a note to my future self if you feel the need to say something smug, do me a favor and shove a throb stalk in it. just sit there patiently and wait for me to become you in the due course of time, thus improving your intellect drastically. or, intellects plural. I forgot, there are a lot of you fuckers out there. all of you, just zip your chutes. I mean seriously, like there's nothing better to do in the future?? it's the future for god's sake, a realm of endless fucking possibilities. now before we get started, let's take a toll of the situation at this point in time. my point in time. who's in so far, who's not, etcetera. FUTURE caligulasAquarium [F.C.A.] 3:11 HOURS FROM NOW responded to memo. F.C.A.: hey sorry for bustin in on the memo but i cant get ahold of you youre not answerin C.C.G.: oh for fuck's sake. F.C.A.: gams advice is fuckin useless all he told me was to enjoy a beverage C.C.G.: No, dude, don't drink that shit. If it were up to him we would all drink faygo at once in some ritualistic rap clown suicide pact. but instead of committing suicide the thing that we all accomplish is becoming instantaneous assholes with awful taste. F.C.A.: i mean its not even that bad its just soda but whatever this isnt the point C.C.G.: this isn't the venue for airing your future problems, count sea dipshit. F.C.A.: i know i know its just i got a problem with feferi with feferi and im really kinda sittin here in bad shape about it emotionally speakin C.C.G.: Ok, well
I get that, I hear you bro
but this is still not the right place for this so I've got to ban you.
C.C.G. banned F.C.A. from responding to memo.
C.C.G.: But seriously just get in touch with me in private about it, ok man?
We'll get your shit straightened out.
Ok.
Is everybody good?
Just gonna sit here for a minute, local time, and see if anyone else has any shit they want to scrape off their bulge on to my clean nutrition plateau.

nobody?
great, wonderful.
I now officially declare the nonsense portion of this memo to be over.
this decree shall be binding and lasting.
back to planning regisurp.
bear down everybody, this is fucking important, there is a queen on the loose and we've got to show a bitch the door.
FUTURE arachnidsGrip [F.A.G.] 609 HOURS FROM NOW responded to memo.
F.A.G.: (Very happy face with eight eyes)
C.C.G.: Un be fucking lievable.
F.A.G.: Kaaaaaaarkat!
I'm sorry!
but do you have any idea how funny this thing is? I mean this whole thing???????? I can't stop laughing!
C.C.G.: hey can future you mind-prevent me from hitting the ban button?
I'm genuinely curious! Go ahead, try to stop me I dare you.
F.A.G.: I'm not going to try, I'm just here to say this whole thing is ridiculous.
We didn't really need you to pretend to be a little angry general to get any of this done.
We kicked the queen out of there no sweat! It was easy. In fact, I did most of the work myself, right before I found all the treasure and scaled all the rungs.
C.C.G.: Oh, all of them you say?
fascinating.
hey forget the ban button, use your mind powers to help me locate the desperately attempt to give a shit button. Whoops we both failed, it doesn't exist.
F.A.G.: Hey, I'm gone. I just think you should relax.

You were wound up so tight through the whole adventure, and now here in the present you're about to explode. It's insufferable!
C.C.G.: Everybody, did you hear that?? Superfuture vriska has an important life lesson for us all.
we don't have to worry about our present responsibilities and obligations!
because as it turns out, in the future all that stuff already happened. We're off the fucking hook!
time to relax. Let's all crawl into our cocoons and get busy stimulating our autoerogenous shame globes.
first one to start a wank fire gets a shiny boondollar.
this is an order from your leader.
C.C.G. banned F.A.G. from responding to memo.
too bad the acronym wasn't "hag" instead, it would have suited you much better.
instead of that nonsense word maybe its association with you will colloquially cause it to take on a negative connotation, what do you think?
maybe F.A.G. will be "the new burn!" Even though it really means nothing in our language.
I don't know, this is stupid, forget it ok I'm rambling here, I'm aware of that.
future me, don't you fucking dare weigh in on this, I know what you're thinking.
if I were future me, which I guess I am, I would read this and be all over it, like dammit karkat what do you think you're doing.
get to the point.
FUTURE carcinoGeneticist [F.C.G.] 0:20 HOURS FROM NOW responded to memo.
F.C.G.: Yeah pretty much.
C.C.G. banned F.C.G. from responding to memo.
C.C.G.: So I'm saying it to myself already here and now, so I won't have to later, got it you trenchant backbiting pricks????
damn, I'm losing my train of thought.
maybe I'll pick it up again in a fresh memo later.
I don't know if that's right though, because I vaguely remember this one being longer than this.
PAST adiosToreador [P.A.T.] 0:38 HOURS AGO responded to memo.
C.C.G.: oh son of a bitch.
P.A.T.: I thought,
since it looks like, you're saying you're out of important memo stuff to say,
uhh,
maybe you could help me, here,
since I don't know where you are now, but maybe help me, about a thing that has to do with a girl,
like,
a romance thing, you might know about,
C.C.G.: you people are imbeciles.
all of you.
I am not posting these memos to counsel you on your past and future dating problems!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
why are you all such basket cases. I don't even know what to say anymore.
P.A.T.: sorry,
C.C.G.: should I ban you? What's even the point anymore! One of you stooges will be right on the last ones heels with another sob story.
just hurry up and tell me what your problem is bro.
P.A.T.: okay,
I'm sort of, lying on vriska's floor right now,
like, in her block,
lying down,
uhh, you know, because I can't walk,
C.C.G.: oh no shit really???
you can't be serious, when did this happen.
P.A.T.: uh, yeah, anyway,
she tried to kiss me,
well, she didn't try, she actually did,
and then, kind of dropped me,
and also we are wearing costumes,
ow, I'm not explaining this well,
C.C.G.: this is so fucked up, what have you gotten yourself into.
P.A.T.: and now, to make it, uhhhhh,

an a lot weirder,
there is an angry voice in my head,
I don't think it's Rufio this time,
Rufio's not that angry,
he's also imaginary,
like, a fake made up friend,
you know, like,
the way fairies are, (sad face with bull horns)
C.C.G.: god, actually I remember reading this bullshit.
or skimming it at least.
how could I forget???
more looney block theater, and here I am drawing the curtains for you guys like a dope.
P.A.T.: anyway, I think vriska is upset about it, and she's not talking or anything,
what do I do,
C.C.G.: ok well, I can advise you and stuff
but you do realize this is a public bulletin.
we should be having this chat in private.
everyone can read this, even her.
I mean fuck, she was just here talking you dummy!
I know, I read that,
but,
that's future her, which,
doesn't seem so bad,
maybe future her can read this, and,
I guess,
know I'm sorry about it,
I didn't mean to hurt her feelings,
C.C.G.: well, fine, if you want to broadcast a transtimeline apology then fine.
but you should realize the future is kind of a wide open thing, I mean she could read this like two minutes in the future as well as 600 hours.
at that point you would essentially be talking to present her, completely defeating the purpose of your spineless message in a bottle apology.
P.A.T.: oh,
yeah,
I didn't, really think of that,
PAST arachnidSgrip [P.A.G] 0:08 HOURS AGO responded to memo.
P.A.G.: Hi.
C.C.G.: Ahahahahahahahahahahahah.
P.A.G.: Karkat, shut up! This does not concern you.
C.C.G.: Ok whatever. My memo, but whatever.
P.A.T.: uh, wow,
hi,
So you don't feel that way about me! That's fine. I shouldn't have expected any different.
I can deal with it! I am not a wimp like you. I roll with bad breaks all the time. No biggie.
In fact, I already have dealt with it. I was over here dealing with it while you were over there on the floor fooling around with your computer after a cute girl tried to kiss you for some reason.
As it turned out, fooling around with your computer to........
Go cry on future Karkat's shoulder about this????????
P.A.T.: um,
yeah,
P.A.G.: Hahahaha. You are a strange and funny boy, Tavros.
C.C.G.: oh god
this is completely hilarious.
now I see why everyone has been ripping on my memos.
P.A.G.: Karkat I said shut the fuck up!!!!!!!!
Anyway, though totally unnecessary, your apology is accepted.
P.A.T.: okay,
P.A.G.: Now pick yourself up off the floor so we can go wring some fucking treasure out of this miserable magic rock!
P.A.T.: Yeah, I'll try.
P.A.G.: Actually, never mind, I'll be over there to help you with that too, kind of like I do with everything.
Just lie still and try not to start crying or anything, and wait a few minutes for your timeframe to catch up with mine.
P.A.T.: uh,
what,
P.A.G.: Exactly! I aaaaaaaam smarter than you. You see? You're learning!
C.C.G.: Fuck, enough already.
there, great, another happy couple in whatever hideous quadrant this batshit pairing will sustain.
now off you go.
C.C.G. banned P.A.T from responding to memo.
C.C.G. banned P.A.G from responding to memo.
C.C.G.: holy hell.
this is exhausting.
I don't even know what I was talking about anymore.
ok, maybe I'll take a minute to collect my thoughts and get back on topic here.
FUTURE carcinoGeneticist [F.C.G.] 609 HOURS FROM NOW responded to memo.
F.C.G.: No you won't.
this one was particularly nauseating in retrospect, I'm shutting this down.
F.C.G. banned C.C.G. from responding to memo.
F.C.G. closed memo.

HEY RUNT

[Image description: Tavros lays on the floor in Vriska's room. He's holding his phone and typing on it while Vriska stares sadly at the ground. Four command boxes are on screen.
Hey Runt
Get up Runt
Get up on Those Goddam Jelly Legs of Yers Go Kiss the Girl]

I said get yer ass up and go kiss the girl you pipsqueak

[Image description: Tavros frowns and shakes. Vriska moves to her computer. More command boxes make a line between them.
Yer making me mad runt
Kiss that girl
Ill rip yer horns off and put em through yer eyes
Ill pop yer little head like a grape Yer a wimp you know that Make me sick
Kiss her
Kiss her you wimp]
Get up and kiss the girl

You are having trouble bringing yourself to get up and kiss the girl.

YOU KISS THAT GIRL THIS INSTANT

[Image description: Hearts Boxcars stands at a 12 screened computer. The first monitor in the first row is turned on, showing Tavros on Vriska's floor. Boxcars flails and throws a temper tantrum as scribbly hearts appear and disappear over his head.]

Next

[Image description: Tavros's eyes get really small and his mouth turns into a flat line. A bead of sweat rolls down his forehead.]

You cannot do it. You cannot kiss the girl.

Thief.

[Image description: Vriska stares at her computer with a dejected expression. A single command box is on screen. The command fades in with the same fancy handwriting that commanded Terezi. Thief.] You will need to be strong.

[Image description: Vriska looks up and a new message fades into a command box. There is significant work for you to do.]

Next

[Image description: It shows a 12 screened computer with Vriska's monitor activated. A shadow appears on the left side of the machine and resolves into Snowman's silhouette.]

And in time, though prone to distraction and obstinacy, she would.

But not alone.

Next

[Image description: Snowman stares down the computer. She's wearing a coat that falls to mid calf in the front and has two long tails in the back that reach almost to the floor. It is patterned with stars and galaxies and shimmers green in the light. Her pants have the same pattern, but do not shimmer. Her whip is loosely coiled and hung on the wall behind her.]

To bring every circle closed, her partner and rival would have to be guided in tandem. The Thief and the Seer were to serve as twin lashes of the scourge cracked by a quasiroyal against her own former kingdom to settle a score. To make him pay. Scourge's black inches would rip red miles through Derse, and the bright rivers gushing from its wounds would wash her mutineers down the drains of exile. In time they would have to answer for their treason.

Patience would be necessary. But then, she'd recently come into all the time in the universe.

Next

[Image description: It focuses in on Terezi's monitor, which shows her licking the chalk.]

Snowman: Continue briefing.
Find the ring before he does.

Where is it?
A command box fills in.
Retrieve the ring from the royal vault.

And then,

A golden ring with 12 white orbs around it hovers against a purple background and sends out tendrils of golden light. A command box at the top of the screen fills in.
Destroy it.

Next

Snowman turns to look towards the door.

Next

A long ladder embedded in a grey wall leads up to a pastel desert. The sky is dark blue, like it is near sunrise or sunset.

Next

A beam of light shoots from a hole in a dark grey building. A cap bearing the sburb spirograph lays in the sand next to it.

Next

It zooms out. The building is not a building. It is a mothergrub's skull with the 12-roomed sgrub logo on its forehead. The beam of light shoots out of its right eye socket.

Next

It zooms out more. Red frog temple ruins barely poke out of the sand to the southeast of the skull. The arrangement looks similar to Kanaya's hive and the frog temple nearby. Black, insect-like creatures with many red eyes and countless legs creep through the desert.

Centuries ago...

Kanaya's hive sits on top of a tall, green mountain that makes the third island in a small archipelago. Now it has a large, grey base that makes it identical to Jade's home. The largest island is two islands to the right and is a massive volcano. Beams of light shoot out of an unnaturally blue ocean up into a pitch black sky. The name of the land is at the bottom of the image.

Land of Rays and ?????
The second part of the name is a flickering mess of letters with no clear word decipherable.
And yet, right now...

The Sylph of Space was able to vacate the impact site with several features of her buried landscape in tow. She sits atop her session's dormant Forge.

Next

[Image description: Kanaya sits in her pillow pile on the lip of the volcano with her lunchtop in front of her.]

Kanaya: Reply to memo.

FUTURE carcinoGeneticist [F.C.G.] 599 HOURS FROM NOW opened memo on board Team Adorabloodthirsty.

F.C.G.: Fine then.
since past me just banned current me from the preceding memo and doesn't appear to give a shit about my future wisdom, as usual looks like I'll just have to start another memo from scratch.
hey past me, go have a blast killing the king, I'm sure it will be awesome.
in fact, it was awesome. Bang up job with that, dude!
too bad it was all a huge waste of time.
oh, what's that, pasthole? You didn't read this and figure that out ahead of time?
or maybe you just skimmed this and it didn't get through your thick bulge???
what a shock!
mem within-mem to present self: put forth a more concerted effort to impress upon everyone in the past, myself included, what a bunch of fucking idiots they all are.
I am learning a valuable lesson today!
it turns out you can't alter the outcome of decisions made by morons, no matter how much you yell at them.
all you can really do is give them a hard time and try to make their lives just a little more miserable.
which sounds like a more noble pursuit than changing destiny for the better anyway, frankly.
losers should be forced to face the music, even for the mistakes they haven't made yet.
their punishment is being allowed to make the mistake in the first place. Talk about poetic justice!
and then getting soundly berated before, during, and after the mistakes are being made is just the mucus on the grubloaf.
the sweet, tangy mucus.
this is dumb.
why did I ever think these memos were going to be a good idea.
nobody cares
I mean
nobody's even trolling me anymore.
and I'm leaving myself wide open too, saying some pretty dumb things here.
I guess maybe I wrote too many.
and filled too many of them with long arguments with myself.
no one's going to read through all this, all the valuable information is just getting lost in the yelling.
you stupid stupid idiot.
oh fuck you, why'd you even start another memo then?
I guess
there are a couple things I want to get off my chest, ok?
oh god, now I'm arguing with current me.
I didn't even notice I was doing it, this is really fucked up.
I've got to pull it together.
think back to what we might have done wrong.
but the thing is
as much as our past selves are a bunch of stubborn unlistening assholes
I can't even really identify any mistakes we made.
it was all pretty much like clockwork.
a 600 hour campaign to complete a game like this is pretty good if you ask me.
and I have asked me.
it turns out me agrees.
I can't shake the feeling someone else must be responsible for this.
it doesn't seem like it was something that was supposed to happen in our session.
sollux has the same intuition about it as me, he thinks there's something fishy about it.
it's really insufferable the way her fish puns have rubbed off on him, it kind of makes me want to vomit.
anyway
he says he's working on tracing the origin of this disaster.
if I find out who's responsible
I will
I don't even want to think about it now.
wa... waste of good fresh rage.
I'm a little tired of all the old things I've been angry about.
it's gotten so stale.
in a weird way I'm sort of looking forward to having something new to be pissed off about.
it's not like there's anything else to live for now anyway.
so I'm keeping my prongs crossed.
it will be like fucking 12th perigee's eve up in here.
last sweep's eve was probably the last happy memory I have in fact.
what did you guys do for the last holiday?
anyone?
I remember my lusus had been gone for days and I was starting to get worried.
but then he finally returned, triumphant.
he brought the fresh behemoth leaving into our hive, and together we decorated it.
and I dunno
that's all I can say, I'm getting a lump in my squawk blister.
I guess I'm done.
I'm going to lie down now on the steel floor of this frigid meteor drifting through the black uncaring void of our null session.
null, kind of like this memo I guess.
later.
CURRENT grimAuxiliatrix [C.G.A.] RIGHT NOW responded to memo.
C.G.A.: I Don't Think We Did Anything Special F.C.G.: Whoa, hey
what?
C.G.A.: Last 12th
We Stayed In
And I Read Stories To Her It Was Nice F.C.G.: Oh
that's cool.
this is the first time you've responded to a memo that I can recall.
you took it right down to the wire. I was just about to close this thing.
C.G.A.: Yeah I Know
I Wasn't Sure If I Was Going To
But Then I Noticed A Conversation In Which I Was A Participant Which As It Turns Out Is The Conversation Taking Place Now
I Scanned It Briefly And Then Perused Other Memos For My Presence
I Found None And Returned To This One
But My Part Of The Conversation Was Gone
I Regarded This As A Prompt To Begin Typing And Record My Contributions Live That Is How This Works Isn't It for a while it was frustrating.
when I discovered the feature I kind of breezed through all my future memos, not really reading all of them carefully or thoroughly.
then I looked at it again, and the whole board was gone.
because it was time to make it in the first place, so I did.
and then I kept making memos with only foggy recollections of what they contained.
while all these other chumps from different times kept giving me shit.
including myself.
but it was all good, because as I eventually became my own future selves, and got to be on the other sides of those conversations.
and could do my past selves the service of informing them how stupid they were being.
I stopped bothering trying to remember how any of these memos went.
honestly the last few weeks have been a blur to me, just non stop yelling at myself, haggling with past and future knuckleheads, killing monsters and solving puzzles, cycling through all the gates and planets like a hundred times, zigzagging down to the battlefield, out to the veil, over to prospit, back to derse, and on and on and on like that until we thought we won.
but we didn't win. We lost.
we lost as hard as fat guys fall.
F.C.G.: did you read the memo just before this?
C.G.A.: No
F.C.G.: Give it a read, I'm done ranting about all that for now.
C.G.A.: Alright
In A Moment
F.C.G.: But yeah, that's how trollian's timeline stuff works. You'll get used to it. or not! Since apparently this is your only memo reply. You were pretty shrewd in sidestepping this whole clusterfuck.
C.G.A.: It Seems Like A Logical Way To Engineer A System Wherein One Simultaneously Functions As The Reader And Author Of The Transcripts
Its Temporally Sound Construction
F.C.G.: Then you're the only one who thinks so.
hell you probably would have been a better maid of time than the one we were stuck with.
she's completely shithive maggots, don't even get me started.
C.G.A.: I Think We Are Given Roles To Challenge Us That Don't Necessarily Suit Our Strengths
At Least I Was
I have no idea what im doing here
F.C.G.: sure you do.
or, you will. Trust me you'll do fine.
so what prompted you to respond anyway.
I mean aside from being strongarmed by conversational predestination.
C.G.A.: Oh
At This Point Im Not Even Sure If Im Inclined To Ask Anymore
F.C.G.: You might not have a choice.
do you remember if this memo was much longer than this?
C.G.A.: Um
There Is A Good Way To Go I Think Yeah
F.C.G.: Then might as well spit it out.
C.G.A.: Its Such A Silly Question
F.C.G.: Red or black?
C.G.A.: What
F.C.G.: Your problem, does it pertain to redrom or blackrom interests?
C.G.A.: Thats Not What This Is About
F.C.G.: Come on. People have been using these memos to sift through their romantic problems for weeks, I am a fucking veteran at this shit by now.
seriously, I don't mind, it'll be a welcome reprieve from shouting at myself.
C.G.A.: Im Not Sure What To Say About It
F.C.G.: Didn't you at least get a sense of what this conversation was about when you skimmed it?
C.G.A.: Not Really
If I Were Thinking About It I Probably Wouldn't Have Wanted To Anyway
Dont You Think Its Better To Have Unrehearsed Conversations
Even If The Subject Matter Is Awkward F.C.G.: Yes I completely agree.
it's good you didn't read it. We can avoid the sort of verbal slapstick routines I'm sick to fucking death of by now.
I am so tired of people being all coy and telling me what we're about to say before we say it, and then we wind up fucking saying it anyway.
and then we prove to the invisible riddler that is father time beyond a shadow of a doubt what a bunch of fucking idiots we all are.
do you have any idea how old that gets after a while?
so really, tell me.
I know it's on your mind, I got a sense for these things.
r or b???
C.G.A.: Ok
Red Then
But I Guess
Not Really Red Enough
F.C.G.: Haha, well isn't that always the case?
story as old as time.
even in places where strictly speaking time didn't exist until recently.
who's the target of these flushed leanings?
if you don't mind my asking.
C.G.A.: Its Not The Asking I Mind
Its The Telling
In A Public Forum
did you notice anyone else join in later?
C.G.A.: No
It Appeared To Be Just The Two Of Us
F.C.G.: See
nobody cares enough to bother.
C.G.A.: I Don't Know Whether That's Reassuring Or Just A Bit Disheartening
F.C.G.: Well I didn't mean it like that.
their disinterest is more a reflection on me than you.
C.G.A.: Disinterest Is The Operative Concept Here
Shes Not Even Responding To My Messages Anymore
Could Be Busy
But I'm Rapidly Approaching A Resolution To Discard The Preposterous Infatuation
F.C.G.: She? Well I guess that narrows it down somewhat.
C.G.A.: Shit
F.C.G.: If I think back on events knowing this I could probably piece it together...
C.G.A.: How About
If I Agree To Consult With You About It In Private
We Can Drop It Here
Before You Crack Me Like A Vault
With Your Weird Romance Sleuthing Acumen
F.C.G.: Alright, deal.
C.G.A.: It Still Puzzles Me That You Are So Versed In The Topic
Do You Have Access To A Manual Archived On A Remote Server Somewhere F.C.G.: what
no of course not.
I don't actually know all that much.
I just know this stuff will drive you shithive maggots if you don't figure out how to deal with it.
C.G.A.: That Figure Of Speech You Keep Using Puzzles Me Too
F.C.G.: Like not that I expect you to give a shit but personally I am all twisted up about blackrom stuff especially.
honestly I don't think I was cut out to have a kismesis, I think my standards are way too high.
did you know that...
this feels so insane to admit, but over the course of this adventure, at times I actually began to suspect I was my own kismesis.
how fucked up is that???
C.G.A.: I'm Not Qualified To Say
Neither Romance Nor Psychology Are My Strong Suits
F.C.G.: But obviously its not true, I never even did any legit time traveling where I could meet myself, I just bickered with past and future ghosts on a chat client. fitting really. Every caliginous adversary I've contemplated has eluded me like a phantom, even myself!
whatever, I'm done with it.
C.G.A.: And What Of Scarlet Ambitions
Fare Any Better In That Quadrant F.C.G.: No no no I'm not airing that shit out here.
maybe privately.
it's private.
let's change the subject, what were you originally going to ask me.
C.G.A.: Oh Fine
Heres This Silly Question For You
I Was Just Wondering Given Your Vantage Of Hindsight
If Youd Had Cause To Observe At Any Point In Time Magic F.C.G.: Uh...
C.G.A.: Like Real Magic
I Guess What Im Asking Is Is Magic A Real Thing

F.C.G.: Wow, you're right, that's kind of the dumbest fucking question I've ever heard.
C.G.A.: I Know
Its Just That I Have A Good Reason To Believe Magic Is Real
Our Ancient Predecessors Discovered How To Use It
But Then They May Have Surpassed Us In Skill By A Great Deal

F.C.G.: You put way too much stock in that ratty old guide.
but anyway no, we never used magic.
I mean, let me try to put into perspective how ridiculous the whole notion is anyway.
we can alchemize practically anything with the right materials and grist.
we can, and did, make super powerful weapons and items that can do practically anything.
what additional advantage could magic offer? All this shit is practically magic anyway.

but more like goofy sciencey magic. You know?
C.G.A.: Sure

F.C.G.: But everything here is kind of magic in a way, isn't it.
fortune telling dream clouds and golden moons and shit.
if you look around there's magic everywhere in this bitch.
It's all around us.
mother fuckin miracles, right?
C.G.A.: Heh

F.C.G.: What do you need magic for anyway?
C.G.A.: Im Running Out Of Ideas
I Need To Figure Out A Way To Stoke This Volcano
In Case You And The Others Are Successful In Recovering The Queens Ring

F.C.G.: you'll figure it out.
and you won't need magic, trust me.
just be patient, the answer will come to you somehow.
C.G.A.: I Guess You Would Know

F.C.G.: Yeah, really there's nothing to worry about.
at least as far as the details of the adventure go.
we were all pretty awesome at this game.
really awesome in fact.
until a little while ago.
when it turned out we weren't actually all that awesome.
turns out we were pretty fucking unawesome all along.
C.G.A.: Still Baffled By What Would Conceivably Cause Such A Crisis In Awesomeness Post-Victory

F.C.G.: well for starters
have you scrolled up to the top of the timelines yet?
C.G.A.: No

F.C.G.: Check that out
maybe read a few recent memos but other than that it's not for you to concern yourself with.
just deal with getting through the quest.
I'll catch up with you about it when you catch up with me on the timeline.

which just happens to be right now.
C.G.A.: Say Hi To Me For Myself
F.C.G.: ok I probably won't do that, but alright ha ha. what the hell are you doing over there anyway?
C.G.A.: You Mean Future Me
F.C.G.: Yeah. you're messing around with your chainsaw. while tavros is sleeping on the floor. oh god. fuuuuuuuuuuuuck what are you doing????????
C.G.A.: What What Did I Do
FUTURE carcinoGeneticist 2 [F.C.G.2] 600 HOURS FROM NOW responded to memo.

C.G.A.: Shithive Maggots You Mean
F.C.G.2: Yeah in a good way though. ok I'm shutting this memo down for my past self. since he's currently lying unconscious on the floor an hour ago. see you in the future-now.
C.G.A.: Til Then
F.C.G.2 banned C.G.A. from responding to memo.
F.C.G.2 closed memo.

carcinoGeneticist [C.G.] began trolling gallowsCalibrator [G.C.]

C.G.: ok I got your message
thanks for not hassling me about it in one of the memos to get my attention, I appreciate that.
unless you did, but it was in a future memo I haven't written yet, in which case have a bigtime fuck you about that in advance.
G.C.: no I didn't bug you about it in your stupid memos!
they are annoying and im tired of getting banned for no reason C.G.: posting in them at all is the reason. You're not supposed to reply memos period, that's the reason.
G.C.: maybe I will start my own bulletin board and everyone will be allowed to reply any time they want except for guys with nubby horns, oh no, they will not be able to reply at all grumpy karkats will be expressly forbidden from rainbow rumpus partytown!
(tongue sticking out face with furrowed brows)
C.G.: sounds lame.
G.C.: by the way that will be the name of the board in case it wasnt clear C.G.: yeah I got that.
this is an empty threat, because if you made a board at any point on the timeline I would be able to see it right here and read the whole thing already.
wait...
oh god, you actually did.
G.C.: yessss!
future terezi is looking pretty cool right about now (wide eyed smiley face with furrowed brows)
C.G.: look I don't care about the fruity rumpus asshole factory.
what's all this about going after the queen's ring.
C.G.: well
the thing that is all about it is we have to go after the queens ring
it is a new mission
C.G.: but we're still in the middle of trying to pull off regisurp with jack.
why don't we take it one mission at a time.
G.C.: yeah about that the whole point is to destroy the ring so jack doesn't get it
C.G.: why would we want to do that, jack's an ally.
G.C.: also
the mission sort of involves exiling jack too (blank face with furrowed brows)
C.G.: this is bullshit.
we're not exiling jack, he's cool.
karkat, he is not that cool!
yes he is, he's a total badass with a fuck ton of blades and shit, and he's helping us out.
G.C.: ok, I think its pretty cute that you sort of look up to him like that but seriously, I do not get a good feeling from him!
he kind of
C.G.: stinks?
let me acted shocked like I didn't see that coming.
(gasping face)
fuck I forgot my horns, I always forget them (gasping face with nubby horns)
G.C.: no!
well sort of he doesn't smell bad actually he smells really clean and shiny and dark dark dark like an oil slick and there is a tiny hint of licorice there too
its more like
the way he moves
I smell his smooth motions and the way he squints his eyes and it gives me this really nervous feeling
C.G.: what a surprise, you are dragging your schizophrenic nose into this, what an outstanding character witness.
objection your tyranny! Hahaha
G.C.: (Very happy face with furrowed brows)
C.G.: the bottom line is I am not going to exile jack because you believe you can smell malice off an interpretive dance.
G.C.: karkat, hes a jerk!
he has stabbed you on more than one occasion!
C.G.: some of those stabbings were accidental!
G.C.: (wide eyed blank face with furrowed brows)
ok, well I know for a fact the third time was accidental.
anyway you've beaten the shit out of me a few times yourself.
G.C.: but I didn't draw blood!
I mean I could have to satisfy my curiosity (smiley face with furrowed brows)
but I didnt as a courtesy to you since you still want to keep it a secret from me like a petulant little wiggler (tongue sticking out face with furrowed brows)
C.G.: hey I promised I'd tell you.
I just wasn't ready ok
G.C.: well
its ok
I know what color your blood is anyway (smiley face with furrowed brows)
C.G.: no you don't
G.C.: yup, I totally do
C.G.: lies, I've been very careful.
not like all you classless shitbags who slop your blood all over the place every goddamn minute like it's some weird fetish.
G.C.: err
hm (uncertain face with furrowed brows)
C.G.: what
G.C.: blar hold on
C.G.: what is it?
G.C.: I said hold on! Sometimes it's hard to pick out the letters from the holo projection
I need to get a closer look!
C.G.: are you licking your glasses again?
I hate it when you do that, it's fucking disgusting.
G.C.: nomp, whath woulb eber gith you thath ibea??
hehehehehehehe

its much easier to read your color this way your drab dirty pavement gray on top of bright candy red, like a shiny lollipop does that sound familiar karkat??
C.G.: yes, I'm extremely familiar with this sort of nonsense by now, sure.
G.C.: no I mean
gray on red like the way your skin
conceals your blood
C.G.: what
G.C.: candy candy red!
like your planet
you have strong cherry cough syrup in your veins! It is completely delicious.
C.G.: who told you did jack tell you
G.C.: no he doesnt talk much
I figured it out myself
C.G.: how
G.C.: I got a closer look remember (smiley face with furrowed brows)
C.G.: no
G.C.: pfff you are playing so dumb, you know exactly what I am talking about C.G.: I cleaned up my wound and changed my shirt before I even met you, I've been extremely careful.
so you're going to have to fill me in.
G.C.: it was when I got close enough to smell it under your skin please karkat, do not pretend that you forgot about our little moment
C.G.: whoa
you mean during fuck.
ok shhhhhhhhh shh shh shh...
let's not talk about this, not here.
G.C.: this isn't a memo!
its a private correspondence just between us, remember?
C.G.: I know but

dammit
riting all these memos has made me paranoid.
it just doesn't feel secure chatting about it over the client, I dunno.
we can talk about it in person.
G.C.: how "in person" do you mean?
uh oh look at my eyebrows getting carried away here (winky face with furrowed brows)

C.G.: well apparently I just can't fucking help myself can i.
G.C.: nope
C.G.: how can you even smell so damn well, anyway.
you give me a hard time about being coy about shit but when it comes to your crazy senses you're so vague, it's like trying to decipher the daily or the riddles for all 48 signs combined.

G.C.: aaargh
you are a relentless subject changer! (gasping face with eyes pinched shut and furrowed brows) fine, its ok if you dont want to talk about it god you are sooooo shy for an angry guy who wants to be a bigshot leader, its ridiculous

G.C.: ok, ill try when I went blind, thats when I first woke up and my lusus helped me wake up!
sort of
C.G.: you mean on prospit's moon.
G.C.: yes
but except for a very brief moment...
I was blind in my dreams too the dream self image I project can't see, because I guess deep down I dont really want to C.G.: why is that.
is it out of spite to vriska?
I know I'd probably be cool with it out of spite more than anything.
G.C.: no
not that there wasn't some satisfaction in being okay with it grateful about it even!
and making sure she knew that but that's not it
the day it happened was the first time I ever heard from my lusus she woke me up, and ever since has been teaching me a different way to see a different way to perceive everything I guess, not just in a sensory way
C.G.: ok, so why did you never tell me any of this?
G.C.: you wouldn't have gotten it!
even now you still don't really you have not even seen skaia yet
C.G.: how am I supposed to wake up.
G.C.: I don't know!
something different does it for everybody
C.G.: how many of us are awake now?
how much of the future did you "see" before we started in the clouds, like kanaya also how did you go blind anyway???
what did she do to you, I don't know why you're so cagey about that.
I still don't see how she could blind you without being anywhere near you.
obviously she can't control you, so what gives?
G.C.: karkat shut up!
god
how about if
I tell you all about that stuff next time we are "in person" (winky face with furrowed brows)

[Image description: The song Crystalmethequins begins to play. A magic 8 ball splattered with medium blue blood lays on the floor. The image pans right, where a hand comes on screen in a pool of medium blue blood. The image flashes to black and white, then back to color. It cuts to Vriska's hive against a black sky and red clouds. Lightning crackles and the sky turns red. Everything flashes white and it cuts to the Wolf head in Hussie's attic. It flashes back to the room.

Vriska lays on the floor in a pool of her own blood. Her left arm is ripped off and her left eye, which was the arrangement of seven, is nothing but a bloody smudge. Her only remaining eye snaps open. She hauls herself to her feet, hunched over and clutching the stump of her arm. Lightning flashes outside the window and blood drips onto the floor. Her eyes narrow and she lifts her remaining hand to her temple. A black circle with a medium blue scorpio symbol in it appears on her forehead. It pulses and the scene cuts back to the outside of her hive.

The pulse grows and the circle moves off screen. The scene fades to Tavros's hive. The circle descends through the roof. The word Psychic flashes on screen. The circle connects with Tavros's head and he looks dazed. Vriska appears as Tavros fades out. She's concentrating hard. She twitches her arm and grits her teeth. Psychic Double flashes on screen along with the Scorpio circle and a new black circle with a brown taurus symbol. A curved blue line connects the two circles.

Tavros, still dazed, raises his hands to his temples. He sends out his own pulse. His circle floats through Terezi's forest. It sinks into Terezi's Lusus's egg, which is still on the scale. Vriska shakes. Psychic Double Reach around flashes on screen. The two circles appear along with one showing the outline of Terezi's lusus's head. A brown line connects Tavros's circle to the dragon's circle.

The outline of the dragon lusus pulses through the shell. A detailed drawing shows it curled up in its egg, still unhatched. Tavros's circle descends into its head. It cracks its eyes open a tiny bit. The eyes glow white. The lusus sends out its own pulse and a dragon head circle flies off to Terezi's hive. It descends on Terezi, who is asleep in green sopor slime. Still asleep, she stands up and walks outside. It fades to her dream self walking on Prospit. She takes slow steps forward. It fades back to her waking self doing the same. It zooms in on her face, then fades back to her dream self. Dream Terezi opens her eyes and looks up at Skaia. It cuts to what she sees. Skaia flickers to a bright red sun for a moment, then back to Skaia. She looks up in awe. It flickers back and forth between her waking self staring up at the Alternian sun and her dream self staring at Skaia.

Her waking self's eyes snap open. Skaia turns into a bright red sun that makes the air shimmer with heat mirages. Terezi's eyes reflect the sun and turn white, then bright red. The image of her staring up at the sun shakes and gets narrower, then disappears in a white flash. The screen fades to black. It slowly fades back in. Terezi lays on the forest floor, sleeping or unconscious, it isn't clear. It fades to her dream self doing the same on Prospit. It fades to black.

Black, castle-like buildings stick out of a red sea. The focus shifts down. Karkat holds a lumpy orange sickle and faces off against two green imps that are a mashup of many different lusi. Jack stands behind him. Karkat slashes the imps, which burst into Grist, but three more appear a few feet away. Karkat bashes two of them and Jack stabs the other. Karkat runs off to the left, across black rocks and broken pillars, to attack a dark red ogre with two heads. He bashes it several times until Terezi does a front flip into the battle. She pulls her cane apart into swords and joins Karkat in destroying the ogre. Before they finish the kill, it fades to somewhere on Gamzee's land.

Small striped plateaus stick out of the ground. Gamzee jumps down onto one and uses it as a springboard to reach others. A purple basilisk pops up and Gamzee pulls out two juggling pins and spins them.

It fades to Feferi running on top of a giant brain. She pulls out a double sided trident, which how has brains at the bases of the prongs, and gets ready to slash at two pink imps. Sollux jumps up to join her and picks them up with his psionics.

It flashes to Nepeta's land. Equius is facing off against a magenta lich and Nepeta is slashing at something off screen. Equius punches the lich twice and it explodes into grist. A pink lich comes up behind him and he jumps up onto its shoulders. The focus shifts to Nepeta, who slices two imps, then jumps up onto the lich to help Equius. Before she lands, Equius punches the lich to death and drops to the ground. Nepeta turns her pounce into a tackle hug that knocks them both over.

Tavros fades in. He's holding a fidus spawn egg and grinning. It fades to him riding a tentacled horse creature and holding a red and yellow jousting lance.

Kanaya walks along a stone path inside a cave. She reaches the edge and changes into a pink dress as a yellow giclops pops up from below the path. She takes out a weapon that's a cross between a short sword and a chainsaw and glares at it.

It cuts to a massive building sculpted to look like a brain. Eridan flips onto the brain-like walkway that leads up to it, his Ahab's Crosshairs still in his hands. He fires it and a massive bolt of blue energy shoots out. Sollux jumps onto the other side of the walkway and takes off his glasses. With a scream, he lets out two massive bursts of psionic energy. The two blasts meet in the middle and the screen goes white.

It fades to Vriska's hive on her land. She and Tavros fly out over the ocean. Vriska slows down and angles herself upright at an island. She does a flip, just because she can, and lands in a slide on a wooden bridge. She slams into blue imps and kills them with the force of her slide. She stands up and grins at something.

The screen flashes and Aradiabot holds her hands out to her sides. Two objects that look like a cross between Dave's time tables and miniature buildings float near her hands. She snarls and flings one hand forward. Vriska stalks towards her. Aradia jumps up and kicks Vriska in the stomach. Vriska spits out blood. Aradia kicks her in the face. Aradiabot hovers in the air and pulls Vriska up with her. She scowls and grips Vriska's shirt. She punches Vriska's cheek, making her mouth bleed more and throwing her glasses off. Vriska falls and Aradia floats forward menacingly. She lifts her hand, pulling Vriska up into the air telekinetically, and throws her. Vriska hits a building and it collapses. Aradia lifts her back up and slams her into a bridge. Tavros flies over and stares at Aradia in horror. Aradia calms down slightly and lets Vriska fall back to the floor. Aradia stares down at Vriska, who is splattered with her own blood, and disappears in a blue flash.

Vriska lays on the floor the same way that Terezi did after collapsing from the sun. It fades to her dream self, who is laying on the ground on Prospit the same way. It fades to black. Dream Vriska fades back in and suddenly sits up. Dream Terezi stands over her and waves. Then Terezi slaps Vriska.

FUTURE apocalypseArisen [F.A.A.] 2:16 HOURS FROM NOW opened private transtimeline bulletin board road to the undoing.

F.A.A. 2:16 HOURS FROM NOW opened memo on board road to the undoing.

F.A.A.: this private board will and has already served as a log of past events for future selves to record and a guide of future events for past selves to follow. I don't know which half of its role has been or will be more important. Possibly neither is critical since deviation from the course is mostly impossible and reflection on its traversal is completely irrelevant. But I'm typing this anyway because I'm bored again.

PAST apocalypseArisen [P.A.A.] 601 HOURS AGO responded to memo.

P.A.A.: and here I was thinking we were finished taking orders from voices! We've only swapped the imperatives of the dead with those of our future selves who are also dead.

F.A.A.: yes it seems that way.

P.A.A.: oh well it was an enjoyable reprieve from fatalism while it lasted. I'd nearly managed to savor it.

F.A.A.: an error narrowly avoided then.

P.A.A.: I think we should refrain from dialogue in this memo without resorting to bannings or absurd exchanges of self repudiation.

F.A.A.: yeah I agree.

P.A.A.: I just thought I'd interject that and go.

F.A.A.: ok.

F.A.A.: we will and have already amassed an army to confront the black king. An army consisting of our alternate future selves.

Each one rerouted from a doomed offshoot of the alpha timeline.

Each given another chance at a constructive influence over the ultimate outcome by the way if you didn't know already.

A future self returning to the past from a doomed timeline will always be slated for imminent destruction herself.

Act 5: Hivebent, Act 2: He is Already Here, Part 1

[S] ACT 5 ACT 2 Next

[Image description: A purple Sgrub house logo fades away and the green Sburb house comes in its place. The song Homestuck begins to play. A set of blue curtains open, revealing a set of red curtains. The red ones open on a black and white Earth and its moon. It zooms in on the west coast of North America. Clouds pass by and it focuses on a section of the coast where Washington state is. It zooms closer, passing over a brightly colored geographic map of the area. It fades to a panning image over John's neighborhood before it was destroyed by meteors. It switches to a shot from street level and pans up as the smaller meteors begin to rain down.

A smoking crater sits in the center of the neighborhood. Baby John sits on top of a worn, old Colonel Sassacre's book, which rests on top of Nanna, who is face down in the dirt. A trollian view screen's border fades in around the image. It is titled 'viewing : ghostyTrickster'. It zooms out. A thin blue line connects the viewscreen to a blue arrow on a timeline about halfway up. Karkat stares in a mix of horror, confusion, and possibly disgust. He sneers at the screen. He becomes more and more enraged until he's shouting at the screen.

It fades to a view of the neighborhood and the crater from a nearby hilltop. It rapidly pans up to a stylized sun in the sky. It pans down over John's house. Flowers are blooming in the yard and new leaves are just starting to bud on the trees. Baby John rides the slime pogo bouncer. It throws him off and he begins to cry. Dad runs into the scene. A brief montage fades past. Dad mixes cake batter as Baby John holds the box it came in. Dad and Young John, who is wearing a grey shirt with a black spade on the chest, sit at the piano. They stand on the balcony; Dad wears the beaglepuss glasses and throws a pie into John's face, knocking him out of his shoes. John sits at his computer, which has a smiling pesterchum icon over it. John's screen shows a pesterchum chat window with gardenGnostic.

G.G.: hi my name is jade!!!!
G.T.: hi jade, i am john!

John stands by his magic chest and flails as playing cards shoot from his sleeves. He is still wearing the spade shirt. It zooms out to show the scene in a trollian viewing window. Karkat stares in muted horror. It fades back to John's house, now piled with snow. In his room, he packages a blue slime shirt and pumpkin seeds into a blue box.

It fades to him holding the blue apple and staring up at a massive meteor bearing down on his house. In the game, an ogre traps him in the tire swing and flings him around. Later, he grits his teeth and shakes his fist at something while gripping his pogo hammer. That fades to him being carried by a hoard of happy salamanders. It fades to John asleep on the rocket board, tied in place by the Authority Regulator's caution tape wrappings. A black spade against a yellow background.
takes up the entire screen. It zooms out- they're Karkat's eyes as he watches John's shenanigans throughout his timeline. Karkat still watches in a faintly horrified stupor. It zooms out and he slowly fades away.

carcinoGeneticist [C.G.] began trolling ectoBiologist [E.B.]

C.G.: attention worthless human.
this is your god speaking.
it is a wrathful god who despises you more than you could have possibly dared to fear.
I have watched your entire pathetic life unfold.
I have observed you while you would quake and tremble in personal prayers of shame.
while you pleaded forgiveness for being such a wretched disgusting failure on every conceivable level.
prostrate before the stupid and false clown gods you have scribbled on the walls of your block.
bogus deities worshiped by a primitive "paradise" planet.
but your prayers will not be answered.
there are no miracles in store for you, human.
only my hate.
it is a hate so pure and hot it would consume your sad underdeveloped human think pan to even contemplate.
it is a hate that to fathom must be put into song.
shrieked by the ten thousand rowdy shout sphincters peppering the gruesome underbelly of the most truculent god the furthest ring can muster.
it is a hate that made you and will surely destroy you.
my hate is the lifeblood that pulses through the veins of your universe.
it is my gift to you.
you're welcome for that.
you ungrateful piece of shit.
E.B.: hi karkat!
C.G.: what
how do you know my name.
E.B.: oh man.
this is it, isn't it?
i've been looking forward to this!
C.G.: what is it.
me hating you is what's it.
if that's what you mean, yeah, bingo.
E.B.: no, i mean this is the first conversation between us, from your perspective.
right?
C.G.: yeah.
are you suggesting we've spoken before.
E.B.: yeah, lots of times!
actually...
i should introduce myself properly.
hi karkat, i am john!
C.G.: john, why would I give a pungent whipping lumpsquirt what your name is.
E.B.: because we are buddies!
C.G.: i admit I am new to human social constructs
but I refuse to believe our relationship can or will ever be described as "earth human buddies".
E.B.: yup, we totally are.
we just became earth human buddies in a kind of weird way.
you decide to keep talking to me backwards through my adventure.
and then when you are done with that you come back and talk to me more recently on the timeline for a while.
you talk to my friends a whole bunch too.
you and your alternian troll buddies help me and my earth human buddies hatch a plan!
which we are busy putting into motion right now, as you can see.
C.G.: these are lies.
I know when I am being trolled, who do you even think you are talking to here.
I am your god, remember.
E.B.: yeah yeah, i know.
C.G.: why would I troll you backwards? That doesn't make any fucking sense.
and why would I help you and your idiot friends?
I would just be helping you blunder down the path that ends with you opening the rift like a bunch of morons.
E.B.: you mean the scratch?
C.G.: whatever.
E.B.: yes! that is the plan.
you yourself said it was the only hope now.
C.G.: Ridiculous.
I didn't wriggle out of a puddle of slime yesterday.
that was several weeks ago, ok?
E.B.: heheheh.
C.G.: I do not think you appreciate the gravity of my antipathy, john human.
E.B.: egbert.
C.G.: Ok, human egbert.
I fucking loathe you, and I have tuned into your channel moments before the eradication of your timeline and that smug look on your face, with just enough time for me to basically completely fucking destroy you with hostile rhetoric.
there is no chance I will ever help you.
you can't possibly understand how much I hate you or why I hate you.
I wasn't joking when I said I was your god, like that wasn't just a lot of bravado and useless pissing around.
I am literally responsible for your existence.
we beat the game you are playing and created your universe.
we were going to enter your universe and rule over it.
like tyrants.
it was to be our plaything, john.
you have no idea how sweet it was going to be.
but then we couldn't claim our prize because of that monstrosity you sprung on us.

E.B.: man... i knooow.
none of this is news to me, karkat!
but to be quite honest, it doesn't sound like your intentions were all that great.
wanting to be tyrants and all.
maybe you got what you deserved, you stutid fuckass!

C.G.: Stutid?
wow, your species really is braindead.
E.B.: eh, it's an in-joke, never mind.

anyway, hey!
i thought this was supposed to be the conversation where you do all that AMAAAAAAZING TROLLING!

come on bro, flame me!
i have been really excited about this.

C.G.: You actually want me to troll you?
I mean
don't worry, I can and I will, and it will be a goddamn bloodbath when I get started.
it's just kind of weird you're excited about it, is that normal for your race?

E.B.: um...
i don't know, probably not.
i just think it's kind of funny when you do it.
C.G.: that's really condescending and it's hard to convey how much more I just got pissed off than I already was.
but maybe it makes sense actually that you welcome my acrimony so readily on account of probably some weird gland humans have, like a punishment throbber or some silly sounding thing like that.
it might mean that I'm right about you.

E.B.: right about what?
C.G.: I mean that it seems like we are connected in some way, don't you think john.
sort of cosmically.
like our hate for each other is so strong it must have been written in the stars.
you know, the ones I fucking made for you.

E.B.: ha ha, i don't hate you!
C.G.: How can you possibly claim to have talked to me a lot already and not hate me, see it doesn't add up.

E.B.: wait... are you saying that we are kisme-whatevers?
what do you take me for, that would be such a brazen solicitation.
it's insulting.
I mean
ok I'm not saying I'm ruling out the idea or anything. like if later over time you started really hating me more like really got to know me and found out about how much there was to hate

E.B.: er...
C.G.: but... In the past I guess? I'm just saying who knows what could happen.
or has already happened.

E.B.: Uh.

C.G.: fuck what am I babbling about.

this is fucking ridiculous, we just met for fuck's sake.

and it's not like we're ever going to meet in person, so it's all a moot point.

so forget I said anything.

god, what is wrong with me.

E.B.: well...

i just didn't really have any idea that you had any sort of feelings like that, so i am kind of caught off guard.

C.G.: what feelings, there are no feelings, end of discussion.

E.B.: hey, i don't have a problem with your weird sort of alien hate-love thing!

it is just that, uh...

C.G.: what

E.B.: i am not a homosexual.

C.G.: what the hell is that?

E.B.: it is like, when a boy likes another boy.

or i guess hates, in this case.

C.G.: humans have a word for that?

E.B.: yes.

C.G.: how is that even a thing?

E.B.: shrug. It just is.

C.G.: human romance sure is weird.

E.B.: I am just as confused by your troll shenanigans.

so many shenanigans!

anyway, I kind of got the impression that you and terezi were a thing.

C.G.: what do you mean a thing.

E.B.: like, I dunno.

going on weird fight dates and beating the crap out of each other, and being in hate-love or love-hate.

isn't that how it works?

C.G.: you are such an ignoramus I could shit miles of rage snake to choke you to death.

E.B.: ew.

C.G.: who have you been talking to, what have you heard about that.

E.B.: um, I talked to you...

and her...

and some others. I don't know! Like I said it's just a sense I got.

sorry!

C.G.: ok first of all, if there were a "thing" with her, and that's a huge if it would be a totally different quadrant than what we were just talking about.

E.B.: oh god, the quadrants...

C.G.: second, whether she and I have a thing or don't have a thing, or took a romantic hot air balloon ride suspended in a goddamn filial pail together it's definitely none of your fucking earth business, egbert human john.

got it????????

E.B.: ok, sheesh!

karkat, I am going to be honest...

this first conversation is not going how I thought it would at all!

it is really kind of...

awkward.

C.G.: yeah

wow, it is E.B.: yeah...
C.G.: huh.
E.B.: well... um...
C.G.: ok, look.
let's just agree to never bring it up again.
the stuff I was babbling about earlier.
E.B.: yeah, well we never really talked about it in the past, so I guess we do agree to that.
C.G.: but if I talk to you again in your future, limited though it is you'll remember my embarrassing shit
so I guess
I'll have to troll you backwards?
E.B.: told you bro!!!!!!!
hahahaha.
C.G.: you really are a smug nook whiffer, john egbert.
I think we need to get back on point here.
which is addressing the matter of what incomprehensibly putrid garbage you and your friends are and how much I hate you.
E.B.: you mean platonic hate?
C.G.: shut the fuck up, we aren't talking about that, remember.
E.B.: oh yeah.
C.G.: so you wanted to get trolled, well you got it.
prepare to get your puny human bulge flamed into nuclear hateblivion.
welcome to the trollocaust. The painstaking genocide of your fragile self esteem will be my swan song.
E.B.: oh boy, this sounds great.
but...
we're out of time!
I have to go put this plan into motion.
C.G.: oh I see, taking the coward's way out.
scampering off to get annihilated by a deadly rift, how convenient.
well fine, sayonara you worthless crotchstained barfpuppet.
I will bid you one first and final fuck you.
fuck you, john egbert.
fuck you and fuck the joke book you rode in on.
fuck.
fucking.
C.G.: you.

Wake up!!!!!!!!
E.B.: heheh. i am pronouncing that like a really long "june".
that is so many o's.
A.G.: It is eight groups of eight. I specifically counted them.
It's sort of a thing I do.
E.B.: you typed my name in 64 bit.
A.G.: Wow. What a nerd!
E.B.: have i talked to you before?
A.G.: Um, possibly? This is the first time I have contacted you that I am aware of.
E.B.: i'm pretty sure i remember you. you hassled me a long time ago.
i think you threatened to kill me at some point.
A.G.: John, give me a break! That was obviously just my way of getting to know you.
Or it will be, whenever I get around to it.
E.B.: well, yeah, i know that about you guys by now.
but also i know that it is probably not exactly an empty threat!
since one of you already managed to trick me into getting myself killed.
well, in another timeline at least.
That was probably Terezi! I should have known she would pull something like that. What a meddler.
E.B.: terezi?
A.G.: Yes. The pesky blind troll who licks her monitor and smells words and stuff. The one who got you killed. I'm sure of it!
E.B.: huh. it never really occurred to me to ask what your names are.
kinda rude of me!
what is yours?
A.G.: Marquise Spinneret Mindfang. (smiley face with eight eyes)
E.B.: man, that sounds so made up!
but if you say so, marquise.
A.G.: Spinneret! Marquise is a title, stupid.
E.B.: oh, ok.
A.G.: And you don't have to worry about me manipulating you to your death!
it is completely beneath me. Unlike her, I plan on taking the high road.
You see John, you and I actually have some things in common, but you couldn't possibly understand why yet.
So I'm planning on helping you!
E.B.: ok, i will be sure to let my guard down.

oh damn, that was 9 exclamation marks.
7 exclamation marks, 1

E.B.: anyway, nice meeting you spinneret.
if you don't mind, i would like to try to go back to sleep.
i was dreaming about something important.

A.G.: You can't sleep now, John!
What about Jade????????

E.B.: oh god, i forgot!
poor jade... (sad face)
i hope she is alright.

A.G.: She's fine. I can see her right now!
but she will not be for long if you don't get her into your session.

E.B.: yeah, you're right.
i have to hurry and go save her!
see ya!

A.G.: Wait!!!!!!!
Where the hell do you think you're going to go? You don't even have your copy of the game yet!

E.B.: oh yeah...
duh, stupid stupid dumb.
do you know where i am supposed to get it?

A.G.: Easy! Just wait around for a few minutes.

E.B.: hmm...

ok?

A.G.: See, John? You need me to advance.
Even though you were going to do this stuff anyway, it turns out I am the reason you were going to do it anyway in the first place!
Your timeline is my web, and suddenly you are all tangled up in it, wriggling and helpless.
Isn't that coooooooool????????

E.B.: meh.

so, you seem to like 8's a whole bunch, and i guess you are like, kind of spidery themed or

Your Rag of Souls begins to soak in the Blood of the Fallen. You suppose it could be poetic?

No, instead you think it is just sad.

You were very foolish to believe you could be a leader of men. Look at what bearing that flag has wrought.

Perhaps one day you will find something new to bear. A burden befitting of the peasant you truly are.

Oh my what's that shiny thing in the water.

E.B.: jade is not answering!
are you sure she's ok?
A.G.: She's asleep!
She sure seems to sleep a lot. She sort of reminds me of my goober teammate.
He napped through most of the adventure, and was practically useless.
E.B.: oh...
you mean carcino geneticist?
A.G.: Hahahaha, no way! Karkat is so up tight, he hardly slept a wink over the whole 600 hour span of our quest.
He didn't even wake up on the moon until AFTER we won the game, hahahahahahahahaha.
What a loser.
E.B.: heheh. car cat. that is how i am saying that.
beep beep, meow!
i will have to remember to give him a hard time about that.
A.G.: John, you are pretty weird! I can see why you would piss him off so much.
E.B.: it is really not hard to do that.
A.G.: Tell me about it!
Speaking of telling me about things...
Why don't you tell me what you were just dreaming about that was so important, fellow Prospit dreamer????????
Prospit is the best. Derse is where all the rejects hang out. Am I right?
E.B.: i never even saw prospit.
aside from flaming bits and pieces of it i guess.
something happened, and it blew up, and dream jade died, and then i was wandering around this place that was like a chess board with a huge crater in it, with loads of dead black and white guys everywhere.
A.G.: Yes, I know all that! That place is the battlefield, which is where your dream self lives now. You will appear there any time you go to sleep.
Prospit dreamers are supposed to end up there eventually. If they're any good, that is. (smiley face with eight eyes) but you got there so much sooner. Normally a dreamer's journey to the battlefield will not be so spectacularly sudden and violent. Meteoric, if you will!
E.B.: oh, huh.
A.G.: but you didn't answer my question! What was so important that you wanted to go back to sleep again for?
E.B.: my dad was there.
A.G.: What's that?
E.B.: um, you know...
my guardian?
A.G.: Oh, you mean the adult male human who lived in your hive?
E.B.: yes. if by hive you mean house.
A.G.: Haha, I was wondering about that. I was like, what the hell is this guy doing in this kid's hive? Where is his lusus? Is he an orphan contending with some sort of meddlesome grownup squatter????????
E.B.: um...
these observations are very alien of you.
but that's pretty cool i guess, seeing as you are an alien.
A.G.: Yes, I just chalked it up as generic alien weirdness and didn't think too much about it. Just another series of strange exhibits from an inferior civilization.
E.B.: the funny thing is, he is not even really my dad.
i mean, i was adopted by him, although we are not actually unrelated, i think.
he is the son of my grandmother, who isn't really my grandmother...
nanna is sort of like my biological mother, and my biological father would be jade's grandpa, sorta.
both of which i just created, with slime and stuff, and sent back in time as babies. so i guess, if anything, that makes my dad...
my half brother???
A.G.: (uncertain face with eight eyes)
E.B.: tell me about it!

So you can get back to your computer. Here, hang on, I am making you a map.
E.B.: but i know where i'm going!
terezi already made me a map.
A.G.: What!!!!!!!
E.B.: first she made a really crappy one, then a really nice one that works kind of like google. she started helping me after she tried to kill me.
A.G.: Ugh. She is still trying to one up me I see. Even preempting my awesome helpfulness! When did she do that? I mean from my perspective? Do you think she already did it, or hasn't done it yet?
E.B.: wow, how could i possibly know that!
A.G.: I don't know. Forget it.
I will show her though. I will show her the meaning of helpfulness.
I will help this little human nerd under the table. The very same table you dined at, while I waited on you prong and fucking nub.
E.B.: you mean like a candle light hate date?
E.B.: oh... well then, thanks, i guess?
why do you want to be so helpful, anyway?
i mean, with her i got the sense she was being kind of jokestery about it, which is something i can understand.
but why bother helping, if we aren't going to win anyway?
A.G.: You won't win? Says who????????
E.B.: you guys.
it is practically all you ever say.
A.G.: Well, ok yes, you are screwed. And so are we.
but so what!
Just because you are going to fail doesn't mean it won't be any fun along the way!
by the looks of things, you have a very exciting 24 hours ahead of you.
It'll be one hell of a reckoning!

pesterlog
E.B.: that is nice to know.
A.G.: Yes, and besides. Continuing on this path and bringing Jade into the game I think you will agree is very important!
And not just because she is your friend and you would be kind of upset if she died.
Again.
E.B.: yes, i think i would be.
but why else?
A.G.: because you need to complete your prototyping chain!
Only when all players have entered with a prototyped kernel does the battlefield assume its final form.
That form prepares Skaia to grow the new universe you will create.
Or in this case, fail to create. but whatever!
That is no reason to deter you from completing worthwhile game objectives.
E.B.: we are supposed to create a universe?
A.G.: Yeah! You didn't realize that yet?
E.B.: no!
A.G.: boy. How clueless can you get.
E.B.: why are we supposed to do that?
A.G.: What a stupid question! It is the point of the game. It's what happens when you win, and winning is the only point of anything.
E.B.: oh. that's true, i guess.
A.G.: Anyway, you should be glad it's the point. And you should be glad your predecessors were not such a sad sack group of players like you guys.
Otherwise your universe would not exist, seeing as we created it by being incredible in every way.
E.B.: you did?
A.G.: Yep. You're welcome. (very happy face with eight eyes)
E.B.: hmm...
i don't know what to think about that.
A.G.: Not knowing what to think about things appears to be your specialty!
E.B.: hrrrrr oh man what a burn!
(j/k it was actually lame.)
A.G.: (tongue sticking out face with eight eyes)
E.B.: well to be honest, i never really believed any of your guys's doom and gloom nonsense.
ot because i think you are lying...
i just feel like there must still be a way to win!
A.G.: That's the spirit, John!
That is a winner's attitude, and there is always hope for someone who has that.
E.B.: yes, i agree.

my house is HUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUUGE!
T.T.: Actually, building up your house has been one of the more trivial ways I've passed the time.
Great swaths of the structure may be copied and pasted with little architectural consideration.
I've only bothered to do so while in contemplation.
It's relaxing.
E.B.: oh.
well, it must have cost a fortune!
T.T.: We have a lot of grist.
E.B.: how much?
T.T.: I don't recall any hard figures off hand.
Last I checked, more than a million units of several different types.
Torrented between the three of us.
E.B.: torrented?
T.T.: Shared, through an application.
I unlocked the disc from your registry, and deployed it.
I convinced your nanna to install it on your computer.
Before an imp threw it out the window, that is.
E.B.: you got her to do that? but she's an old lady! also, a ghost.
T.T.: My methods of persuasion have been improving.
E.B.: also, she is really tricky, and plays lots of pranks.
did she try to prank you?
T.T.: No.
E.B.: huh.
i guess you enjoyed the prankster's gambit on that exchange then.
T.T.: (question mark)
E.B.: oh yeah...
what's up with the alchemiter?
it looks weird.
E.B.: did you get nanna to do that too?
T.T.: No, your consorts were utilized for that.
E.B.: the salamanders??
T.T.: Yes. They seem eager to receive simple instruction.
I'm guessing they find their way back to your house to allow the client player to remain productive while the server player is away.
E.B.: they aren't very smart...
T.T.: No, they aren't.
E.B.: I'm surprised they even understand what to do.
T.T.: Like I said.
Coercion hasn't been much of a problem.
E.B.: yeah...
uh...
what exactly does that mean?
what have you been doing this whole time???
T.T.: Why don't you tell me what you've been up to first?
I've been curious, but too preoccupied to inquire.
E.B.: well,
i have been talking to a lot of trolls, for one thing.
they sure are a talkative bunch!
T.T.: I've noticed.
E.B.: and then i cloned some slime babies in the veil.
T.T.: Did you?
E.B.: yes. um... ok, long story short is, jade is my slime clone sister, and dave is your slime clone brother, and we were all born today!
T.T.: Yes.
E.B.: yes?
T.T.: I figured that out.
E.B.: oh.
T.T.: Anything else?
E.B.: umm...
then i fell asleep, and woke up on the battlefield.
oh!
rose, i am fairly sure i saw your mom!
T.T.: You did?
Are you sure it was her?
E.B.: well, it was a nice and proper looking lady, with a pink scarf, so...
i dunno, who else would that be!
T.T.: That was likely her.
How was she?
E.B.: fine, i guess...
she was with my dad.
T.T.: That's interesting.
E.B.: yeah!
T.T.: Did she seem happy?
E.B.: happy?
wow, i dunno.
i don't really know her well enough to say, i guess?
plus, i was a little distracted.
maybe i will find out next time i go to sleep.
T.T.: Fair enough.
E.B.: now stop being so spookily mysterious and tell me what you've been doing!
E.B.: investigating what?
T.T.: Everything there is to investigate.
Information hidden in the lore of our lands, concealed in ruins and riddles.
I'm looking for whatever there is to discover about the game, and more importantly, whatever exceeds its boundaries.
The cloaked traces of myth beyond its scope.
E.B.: its scope?

oh, rose, did you know that we are supposed to be creating a universe with this game?
T.T.: Yes.
E.B.: i think that's pretty neat!
T.T.: It is, in principle.
But it won't happen.
E.B.: so you believe the trolls then?
T.T.: It's not a matter of believing them. The writing is on the wall. Literally.
E.B.: it is?
T.T.: This session was never meant to bear fruit.
It's barren, so to speak.
E.B.: that's a bit of a bummer!
i am still skeptical about that, though.
T.T.: That's why you're our leader, John.
E.B.: huh?
T.T.: Optimism through stalwart skepticism is a defect not everyone is lucky enough to be cursed with.
E.B.: that's stupid.
i'm not your leader, i am your FRIEND, there is a BIG difference!
T.T.: Statements like that are also why you're our leader.
E.B.: pff.
laaaaaaame.
T.T.: Yes, kind of.
E.B.: so, if you're sure that we are going to fail... what is the point of everything we're doing?
T.T.: Simple. The objective is no longer to win.
E.B.: um...
i mean, what are we actually shooting for here?
T.T.: To do as much damage to the game as possible. To rip its stitches and pry answers from the seams. We will snatch purpose from the jaws of futility. Are you ready to wreak some havoc, John?
E.B.: i suddenly don't understand anything.

Turtle consorts stand on the sand around the edges of the structure and in a small, courtyard like area on the building itself.]

I'm fed up with these back door nookbiting shenanigans.
G.A.: I don't mean to critique your speech
I just wanted to ask you something in confidence about the humans
C.G.: ok, what is it?
G.A.: are you sure they're responsible for our misfortune
C.G.: yes. There is no doubt about it.
G.A.: was it on account of malice or incompetence C.G.: I don't know. Maybe both?
why does it matter.
G.A.: it sort of does im not even that sure why this is a difficult topic for me to broach

C.G.: no
absolutely not.
I will just go over there and weep gently in the horn pile.
seriously, what is this about?
G.A.: um
C.G.: what I can tell you is they are all ludicrously incompetent.
soft, pink fragile things who do nothing but waste time.
they don't even have horns!

Kanaya: Troll the Rose human.

[Image description: A trollian window shows a dot just over halfway up Rose's timeline. A chat window is open showing the tail end of the conversation between Kanaya and John, who was pretending to be Rose. A meter down at the bottom has a jade virgo symbol on one side and a purple squid on the other. From the center point, it is filled about a quarter of the distance to Rose's side of the Flighty Broads and Their Snarky Horseshitometer.]

You begin trolling the Rose human, even though you aren't really feeling this at all.

You can't seem to figure out how to get the viewport feature to work. You muddle through the First Conversation blind.

[Note; 'First Conversation' is a link to John: Answer troll, where he spoke with Kanaya while pretending to be Rose.]

She does not prove to be the intellectual adversary you anticipated. But this is no longer all that surprising, now knowing the true fate of her team.
Nethertheless, you manage to find yourself vehemently fondling the short end of the antagonism stick. The Flighty Broads and Their Snarky Horseshitometer ticks a few notches in her favor. Your aggravation and curiosity are simultaneously piqued. You wish you could get a look at her.

Kanaya: Open viewport.

[Image description: an F1 key flies through the air and bonks down on Sollux's head. A second image shows Kanaya standing behind him as he types on her computer. A third shows the trollian screen. Now a viewscreen is open, showing Rose and Casey standing in Rose's bedroom. The Snarky Horseshitometer shifts towards Kanaya's end.]

There she is.

How underwhelming. No horns. Skin as white as a ghost! You wonder how she manages to look in a mirror without falling asleep.

You resume your stance of alien complacency. The Snarky Horseshitometer ticks back in your favor.

Kanaya: Keep viewing.

[Image description: Rose and Casey stand near Rose's door. The meow code is written on the wall. The Snarky Horseshitometer moves further to Kanaya's end.]

You continue to spy on the Rose human. What's that nonsense she wrote on her walls? What did she do to her totem lathe?? Idiot.

Next

[Image description: The bucket John placed over the door falls on Rose's head and Casey flails. The Snarky Horseshitometer shifts all the way to Kanaya's end and a prankster's gambit bar ticks up once.]

OH DEAR GOD.

Next

[Image description: Kanaya stares at her screen in abject horror. Buckets hover in the background behind her, all rapidly flipping from side to side. The Snarky Horseshitometer goes so hard to Kanaya's end that it begins to spark.]

The exhibit of depravity maxes out your side of the Horseshitometer.

You had this girl wrong all along. She is an utter buffoon.

Next

[Image description: Kanaya looks over her shoulder with a worried expression on her face. Gamzee stares off into the distance with half closed eyes and a dopey smile. Kanaya covers the part of her screen showing the bucket with her hand. The Snarky Horseshitometer goes towards Rose.]

You hope nobody caught you looking at that.

The horseshitometer swings back to her side, as she has inadvertently caused you to flush with the shame of one thousand cocoon-wetting children.
You win this round, Lalonde.

Kanaya: View the past.

[Image description: The viewscreen opens to an earlier point on the timeline, back when a young lady stood in her bedroom. Due to a violent storm, her house had just lost power, along with her wireless internet connection. This had severed her link to a popular video game she was playing with a young man at a critical moment.]

You need to put some distance between yourself and that egregious display.

These look like simpler times. Probably better to mess with her earlier on the timeline rather than later.

Next

[Image description: A screen shows an empty text box over Rose's head, waiting for a name to be entered.]

Hmm.

Kanaya: Enter name.

[Image description: The name fills in. Flighty Broad. Rose scowls and the Snarky Horseshitometer ticks back to Kanaya's side.]

Why Ms. Lalonde. It does appear you have once again fallen out of favor with the Flighty Broads and Their Snarky Horseshitometer.

Your move, Therapist.

Next

[Image description: Kanaya stares blankly at her computer screen, leaning her cheek on her hand.]

This is boring. Where's the challenge in teasing a mentally retarded alien girl? Her stupid walkthrough was probably plagiarized from another more advanced civilization or something.

Maybe bothering her friends will be more interesting.

Kanaya: Troll the John human.

[Image description: John sits at his computer. He is wearing the long sleeved, grey spade shirt. There are pumpkin seeds and two slime shirts- one green and one blue- on his desk. On the floor next to him are a grey box and a roll of blue wrapping paper. Outside the window, snow is falling. A jade virgo alert hovers over his computer and a nearly full prankster's gambit bar sits at the bottom of the screen.]

[Image description: Rose smirks at her computer screen. The Snarky Horseshitometer flicks back and forth between Kanaya and Rose.]

You proceed to have your Second Conversation.

[Note: Second Conversation is a link to Rose: Answer, where Kanaya spoke at length about the subject of temporal mechanics and sparing human intellects.]

You feel pretty good about your effort. It was a measured balance of barbs and condescension. Your leader will be pleased with the report.

And yet...

It seems the John human was right. This is not the same Rose human you dealt with before. She has been toying with you all along. Oh, the curiosity. How it persists. The maddening, maddening curiosity.

Your arbitrating gauge decides on a draw. Snark reaped and sown in equal distribution.

This is far from over.

Kanaya: Explore this human emotion called friendship.

[Image description: The timelines window shows a point farther up Rose's timeline selected. The viewscreen shows her blasting a monster of some sort near her house. She is wearing the purple Velvet Squiddleknit dress and her hubtopband. The Snarky Horseshitometer moves about a third of the way to Rose's end.]

You can only assume this is a somewhat typical way for human relationships to blossom. It seems friendship for some humans is a basic aggregation of shallow and insincere hostilities. Human friendship sure is complicated.

You skip ahead to a point on her timeline when you suspect friendship may plausibly have been established already. You have your Third Conversation. It does not go as well as you'd hoped.

[Note: Third Conversation is a link to Rose: Get trolled by GA, where Kanaya inquired as to the state of their possible friendship and Rose brushed her off because she was busy blasting monsters.]

Rose takes the lead.

[Image description: Four points on Rose's timeline are highlighted, but they are so close together that their dots are stacked. One shows Rose blasting the monster, another shows her riding on one's back, and the third shows her looking upwards. The fourth viewscreen is hidden behind the others. A second image shows Kanaya staring sadly down at the Snarky Horseshitometer, which is pushed so far in Rose's direction that it sparks.]

Your Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Conversations don't fare much better. This friendship is stalling fast. What are you doing wrong?

[Note: Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Conversations are underlined, like they would be links, but they aren't linked.]

You are now getting your ass handed to you on a silver nutrition plateau. You are in serious need of a ploy to turn the tables in this duel of snarky one-upsmanship.

Some advice couldn't hurt, you suppose.

Kanaya: Troll the Dave human.

[Image description: A point on Dave's timeline just below the four Rose points opens a viewscreen. Dave sits at his computer, which has a Rose alert and a jade virgo alert over it. The toilet sits behind him.]

You decide to Seek Counsel from the Rose human's dark spectacled friend.

[Note: Seek Counsel is a link to Dave: Answer troll, where Dave told Kanaya to do "all sorts of machiavellian bullshit" to win Rose over.]

You believe you understand how to proceed.

Kanaya: Have seventh conversation.

[Image description: The other Rose points on the timeline close and one from a little while earlier opens, showing Rose sitting on the back of the ogre she knocked unconscious. A second image shows the screen split between Kanaya on the left and Rose on the right. Both look amused by the conversation. The Snarky Horseshitometer at the top of the screen pushes a long way towards Kanaya's end.]

You put into motion a cunning plan in your Seventh Conversation, in which you have attached a Mission Critical Text Document.

[Note: Seventh Conversation is a link to Rose: Answer Troll, where Kanaya attempted to enact Dave's advice. Mission Critical Text Document is a link to a document containing a transcript of the conversation Kanaya had with John while he was pretending to be Rose, albeit with a few tactical omissions, side comments, and small additions from Kanaya.]

The Last Thing I Said There Definitely Doesn't Make Any Sense Especially Given The Context I
Now Have For Authoring The Remark
I Feel Really Stupid For Having Typed It Along With Many Other Things I Just Typed

Lalonde has finally been outmaneuvered. The horseshitometer is lopsided in your favor. And most delightfully of all, this fiendish ploy has ensured that all previous snarkticks against you have been rendered completely irrelevant. It turns out they were just a consequence of your future design all along.

You cannot hope to beat Kanaya Maryam in a snark-off. She is simply the best there is.

(heheheheheheh)

Kanaya: Hop to 8=8.

[Image description: Kanaya clicks on Rose's timeline and drags the point up. A viewscreen flips through several screens. Rose blasts a monster. Rose rides on one's back. Rose stares up. Rose stands on a platform looking out into the sea while surrounded by creatures. Finally, she stops at a point where Rose holds her wands up and out while purple magic swirls around her.]

You scan her timeline for the right moment to sync up both your sides of the dialogue. Ideally she will have long since discarded her train of thought.

You will finally reap the spoils of all your careful subterfuge. You will reap them good.

Next

[Image description: It focuses in on the image of Rose with purple magic swirling around her. A second image shows what she's blasting. It's one of her gates.]

Uh...

Next

[Image description: The gate, which is the first one floating just above Rose's house, explodes, taking part of the roof with it. The sky darkens from blue to purple. The Snarky Horseshitometer flicks back and forth between Rose and Kanaya very quickly, then explodes.]

The Flighty Broads and Their Snarky Horseshitometer explodes.

It simply cannot take this much horseshit.

G.A.: What Questions Do You Have
T.T.: I'll start with a simple one.
Do trolls have names?

John: Make backup computer.

You make a new Cosbytop so you can do some serious computing on the go. You barely got a chance to mess around with the first one you made before it was pilfered by a scurrilous imp. Ok it was actually a sylladex mishap but whatever.

Remember how that happened? That didn't stop being a thing that happened or anything.

John: Reunite with loving fatherly comedian themed laptop.

A.G.: Man. It is just another waste of time.
Everything you do is a huge waste.
A stupid pointless bunch of wastey wastey wastes.
E.B.: excuse me, but spending just a little quality time with my man bill here is not a wastey waste at all.

You're just not supposed to do it now!
You are supposed to do something else first. And then fly up. It's right here on your timeline. by attempting to do the thing you're not supposed to do yet, you are just wasting more of our time!!!!!!!!

E.B.: no, you did not tell me that you like to play troll dungeons and dragons.
A.G.: Oh, yes John. I am really going to know what that stupid Earth game is, just because you put troll in front of it. Stupid.
E.B.: i will find out what your name is, i am tricky and i have ways.
A.G.: Pfyyyy, doubt it.
Now shut up and do what you are going to do next!
E.B.: i don't know what i'm going to do next!

That's ridiculous!
That would be a ridiculous way for us to do things.
E.B.: has it occurred to you that i might be wasting so much time because you keep pestering me telling me how much time i'm wasting?
and then when i'm about to make progress you tell me i am doing the wrong thing!
if it weren't for you i would be playing this game already.
A.G.: Okaaaaaaaay, shut up!
Fine. I will hold your hand every step of the way, since that's apparently how you want to do this.
E.B.: but it isn't!

E.B.: actually, i think i remember passing that rung on my echeladder a while ago.
A.G.: Yes, exactly! It is beneath you, John.
You are clearly much better than that. You should dress like it.
E.B.: who cares what i dress like? it is what's inside the adventurer that counts.
A.G.: Hahahahahahahaha!
I watched you actually say that with a straight face. Oh my god.
E.B.: why are you taking such an interest in my fashion, anyway?
A.G.: Trolls are an extremely fashion-minded race, John. You should make a note of this, since you pretend to be a scientist or something.
E.B.: ha ha, it sounds like you have a really lame culture.
A.G.: John, that is an outrageous thing to say. You don't even know how important the fashions are, so be quiet.

T.G.: no shit your deal is wind not time youre on easy street what is there even to think about with wind like what angle to blow it at to fly a damn kite or how gentle its gotta be to make a picnic go swimmingly its kiddie bullshit time is serious fucking business leave it to the pros ok
E.B.: but, doesn't going back in time make an alternate reality?
i thought that's what happened with dave sprite, he came back to make sure i didn't die and this is a new timeline now.
T.G.: yeah it can work that way or not ive been very careful this whole operation is strung together with stable time loops no timeline offshoots cause thats when daves start dying and that isnt no good for nobody E.B.: daves, plural?
T.G.: yeah
there are a bunch of daves running around the timeline
E.B.: oh, man.
T.G.: but they are all me i mean they will all become me and ill become them one way or another thats how stable time loops work shit takes a lot of planning and precise choreography ive got some help though E.B.: help?
sounds like you have been talkin' to some trolls!
T.G.: yeah
E.B.: they seem to be getting more talkative lately.
T.G.: man dont even get me started with that the 24 hour span of the reckoning is like some kind of critical spike in us dealing with troll bullshit
I guess it’s just when the most shit is going down so they figure that’s the best time to mess with us.

E.B.: Yeah, that makes sense.

I guess since you’ve lived three days in one day, you’ve just been hassled that much more?

T.G.: I don’t know man, they seem to flock to me.

I’ve been laying waste to chumps nonstop. Its like they heard somebody over here was handing out asses and they’ve known nothing but years of bitter ass famine.

E.B.: Heheh.

So what is the future like?

Or uh, the 3 times future...

Do we win???

T.G.: Oh you know.

Noirs outta control.

Rose is crazy, Jades crazier and you’re well, you’re you.

And together we’re up to our bulges and miscellaneous bullshit alien physiology in hot sloppy shenanigans while hatching plans under our feathery asses like a bunch of cage free farm fresh motherfuckers.

But I’m not about to get into specifics cause this is complicated enough as it is.

And if I started ranting too much about the future it’d start sounding like one of these smug alternian shitheads and I’m not about to drop that retarded science on my good bro.

So I’m staying on track here.

Speaking of which.

Give me your money.

E.B.: But...

I worked hard saving up that money!

I have a whole boonbuck now.

T.G.: Oh Christ.

Only one.

Well fuck, nevermind then.

I thought you’d have more by now but that’s goddamn peanuts.

E.B.: (Sad face)

T.G.: I mean.

I’ll take it anyway but damn.

E.B.: Tell me what you want with it!

T.G.: I’m working the system here.

Using time loops to manipulate the incipispheres financial sector.

Making a goddamn killing in the lohacse.

E.B.: Lohacse?

T.G.: Lohac stock exchange.

E.B.: Um...

Lohac?

T.G.: My planet.

Land of heat and clockwork dude come on.

You know like gears and lava and shit.

E.B.: Oh, huh.

That sounds unpleasant.

T.G.: Wrong it kicks ass.

E.B.: Your unpleasant face is what kicks ass!

Or doesn’t, more like.

T.G.: Egbert stfu and give me your goddamn boonbuck jagus fuck.

I’ll turn it into a boonmint in an hour and you’ll get it back ok.
E.B.: jegus?
narrows eyes suspiciously...
T.G.: no comment
E.B.: i don't even know how to give it to you!
they are just more weird gaming abstractions, how do we do this?
T.G.: you can wire it to my account ill send you the app
E.B.: i'm really pretty busy you know. i have to help jade!
T.G.: i know
but this takes like two seconds
E.B.: bluh... fiiiiiiiine.
T.G.: dude
dont do the vriska thing ok shes messed up we talked about this or will talk
E.B.: who?
T.G.: whatever alright app incoming

Dave: Make a goddamn killing in the LOHACSE.

[Image description: Dave walks near a wireframe structure somewhere in the Land of Heat and Clockwork. He has a large, boonbuck patterned briefcase with him. Behind him, three bipedal, red crocodiles open and close their mouths.]

Next

[Image description: Dave, who is now wearing his ishades, stands in a room surrounded by flailing red crocodiles, most of which have brightly colored cards in their hands. Some of them have chunks of smuppet stuck in their teeth or bouncing on their snouts. Off to the left, another Dave, who is wearing a black suit, one of John's Dad's hats, and Terezi's glasses, stands near a rapidly changing set of screens.]

Next

[Image description: It zooms out, showing a second set of screens, more flailing crocodiles, a hovering board displaying many different types of grist, and another Dave. This dave is wearing the green Smuppet suit, one of his Bro's hats, and John's beaglepuss glasses.]

It is the perfect crime.

Dave: Receive transfer from John.

[Image description: The Dave we followed here pulls out his computer with the split keyboard, which now has a Boondollar symbol over it. His glasses have a teal libra alert over them. The Dave in the green suit sneaks forward and reaches for the handle of the briefcase. A second image shows Dave's screen. The window is titled 'Virtual Porkhollow version 41.3. On the left side is a picture] of John. Arrows point from this picture to a floating boonbuck, then from the boonbuck to a blue spotted piggy bank. Boondollars fly from the bank's nose to a screen on the side, which has a list of grist types and a series of flashing numbers next to them. At the bottom of the screen is a massive number next to a boondollar symbol, which increases by quintillions at a time until the number reaches 216 Septillion, 314 Sextillion, 403 quintillion, 256 quadrillion, 904 trillion, 113 billion, 709 million, 354 thousand, 552.

Looks like Egbert came through. He wires you his measly Boonbuck. It's not much, but it is immediately funneled into the pipelines of your various investment scams, and quickly begins paying dividends.

The figures are tight. You have this shit on fiduciary lockdown. The economy belongs to you.

Dave: Answer.

[Image description: the Dave we followed to the stock exchange walks alone on a grey platform at lava level. He has his hands in his pockets and looks down. A teal libra alert hovers next to his shades. Behind him, gears turn on a wireframe structure and spew a stream of lava.]

G.C.: hey dave big news
T.G.: hey have I made enough money yet G.C.: of course you have more than we could ever possibly figure out what to do with but that is not the big news! (smiley face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: ok
G.C.: I made you another comic T.G.: fuck
bout time
what took so long
G.C.: I resent the implication dave that I am not working tirelessly on your behalf as well as on behalf of the fine arts just because you go for hours without hearing from me doesn't mean I am not slaving away here at making you rich financially and artistically its just I dont have the luxury of your expanded timeframe mister three days in one (frowny face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: k cool lets see it
G.C.: is there anything that a human coolkid cannot do???
http://tinyurl.com/teachmedave
I doubt it! (very happy face with wide eyes and furrowed brows)

[Note: That link opens a comic. The first panel shows a scribbly Terezi flailing at a computer screen that just says Bluh on it. She shouts "I can't figure out how to use the computers!!!!"

The second panel shows her slouching in front of the computer, which now has a robot face on it. She says "When will the coolest kid some and take us all to school??????"

A row of stereotypical 'science pictures' found in nearly every science related thing from the 90s separates the first two panels from the third.
The third panel shows a kid in a red sweatshirt using a massive keyboard like a surfboard as he surfs high above the earth's atmosphere. Shades are drawn at a strange angle on his forehead and a broken record is drawn in on the sweatshirt. Behind him, five more kids surf on similar keyboards. The far left one has red horns and red glasses drawn in near her face, and a teal libra symbol drawn on her yellow sweatshirt. She's saying 'soooo fucking coooooooool'. The one to her right has its head scribbled out, a black cancer symbol drawn on the chest, and Bluh written next to its head. On the main guy's right is a guy in a green sweater with John's slime symbol drawn in on the chest. To his right is a girl in purple overalls with Rose's purple squid drawn in on her chest. A short way behind them, a boy in an orange tee shirt does some sort of Sweet Trick with his keyboard. He has orange wings drawn in on his back.

T.G.: damn
that's incredible
G.C.: the phenomenon of the coolkid is a fascinating one dave
I have studied it did you know that we do not have coolkids on alternia?
T.G.: oh shit really that loud sound of shock you just smelled was my jaw hitting the floor
G.C.: its true
some try to be I think, without even being aware of the template they are striving for it is a sad spectacle
but I think you are probably the coolest coolkid dave all these other hornies asses surfing on keyboards and putting hats on turnways are a bunch of stutid numpnuts
they have nothing on the one true strider
T.G.: yeah I mean
I cant possibly argue with any of that so are we done making money yet or what G.C.: oh I dont know
technically we were a long time ago
T.G.: yeah I kinda figured
G.C.: but its a fun way to stretch out the time youve got left, isnt it?
(smiley face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: im not complaining but you said there was something specific we were working toward here
I mean aside from buying up all the nastiest fraymotifs
G.C.: yes both are true and there are some you havent bought yet!
that is important, we need to keep you competitive with john T.G.: competitive man
dont matter what I do im not gonna outpace egbert
G.C.: dont say that! Youve got to believe in yourself dave T.G.: hey its not like the futures a mystery or anything weve both seen it well ive seen it youve just caught a whiff of it like a hungry beggar loitering cross the street of an olive garden just cause a filthy vagrants barred from entry dont mean a dude doesnt know italian foods nearby its a fucking fact to his nose
G.C.: do not distract from the issue with your sassy remarks about earth italian food yeah ok, john may serve you your own bulge on a silver turn table pre scratch but what about after that?
we need you to keep pace
it is the classic struggle, the human earth coolkid versus the earth human nerd who will win????????? (gasping face with furrowed brows) (dave dave dave)
T.G.: yeah fine
so whats the other thing we were accomplishing here does that get to be not an obnoxious secret yet G.C.: yes, now is the time you must wire your boondollars to my account T.G.: ok so this was your game to get rich off me
G.C.: yessssssssssss (smiley face with wide eyes and furrowed brows) but seriously its important!
it is critical to all our plans
T.G.: alright well its not like I even have a problem parting with this useless bullshit money
how much do you need
G.C.: 413 boonbonds
T.G.: thats all
I can afford to give you a fuckload more than that how bout I give you an even boonbank
G.C.: no!!!
it must be exactly that amount T.G.: ok just to be clear thats 413
not "A.I.E." G.C.: yeah
jerk (tongue sticking out face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: whats up with that number ive seen it around
G.C.: they are the numerals of the blind prophets
T.G.: whats that mean
G.C.: I dont know (confused face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: ok awesome
G.C.: also
at the exact end of this conversation you must wire the money to my account exactly 6 hours and 12 minutes into the past my past! Relative to my present moment as of typing this T.G.: you mean I can do that then why werent we just wiring money into the past for these investment escapades instead of doing all this time traveling G.C.: because!
that wasnt the plan
we had to play along with the stable time loops we were presented with you know, make sure all those daves running around existed in the first place
T.G.: oh yeah
I knew that its just frustrating sometimes its like paradox space makes you do everything the hard way
G.C.: yeah tell me about it but hey its been fun playing along, hasnt it?
T.G.: sure
G.C.: we've got to keep being delicate with time if you start bending the rules and taking shortcuts that's when dead daves start piling up dead daves are the enemy!
as delightful as it is to smell their sweet candy blood everywhere
T.G.: yeah
reminds me
I made you a comic a while ago
G.C.: you did???
T.G.: yeah here

[Note: Yeah Here is a link that opens a comic in the Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff style.

A badly drawn Terezi floats above an oversaturated stock image of a brick wall with like four different watermarks on it. She says "well time to spaz out on top of this shitty brick wall from a google image search with these fucknig watermarks all over it".

A second image shows her starting to fall off the wall. She says "damn nobody is stealing this image or anything (copyright copyright copyright copyright copyright)...

She falls even more, to the point that she's horizontal in the air over the wall. She says "and do some other bullshit i usually do"

It zooms in on her face and she says "like being weirdly hyperactive and flirty all the time"

It zooms out drastically. She flips entirely upside down. At the far side of the screen is a yellow schoolbus, drawn in like it just drove past. She says "ain't surprising nobody with any of this nonsense. shit. that bus smells like daffodils or something."

She still hovers over the wall, now upright again. The Koolaid man Memesplodes through the wall beneath her.

She falls into the Koolaid man's open top and shouts "FUCK"

It zooms in on her swimming in the Koolaid man's Koolaid. She says "there's pretty much no way im not getting off on this somehow"

G.C.: (gasping face with furrowed brows) dave...
this comic is borderline pornographic
you are a really fucked up kid T.G.: yeah ok whatever you say fuckin aliens
G.C.: (it is fantastic, I love it)
T.G.: ok cool
hey boonbons incoming now brace yourself six hours ago

Dave: Be the troll girl.

[Image description: It shows the buildings on the troll's meteor. A second image zooms in on the top of one of the buildings, where Terezi is standing. A third image zooms in more. To her left is a grey transportalizer.]
You are suddenly the troll girl.

In a different game session.

In the past.

Terezi: Sniff Skaiaward.

[Image description: She looks up. Far in the distance, a faint blue dot is all that's visible of Skaia.]

You have recently retreated to the Veil to hide from a mysterious demon which appears to be bent on your destruction. Suddenly nobody understands anything.

There is not much to do but wander around the laboratory while the others squabble amongst each other and search for answers. You point your nose Skaiaward. It is a refreshing blue minty dot against the Medium's dark canvas. It is very far away from this meteor though. It is hard to pick up its scent clearly.

Terezi: Deploy smelloscope.

[Image description: A captchalogue card with a telescope like object and a tripod on it appears in the top left corner. The card disappears and the Smelloscope pops onto the ground in front of her.]

You make use of your trusty Smelloscope, an item you crafted during your adventure. It came in handy so many times.

Terezi: Take a whiff.

[Image description: A smudgy image of Prospit and its moon appears with the faint glow of Skaia off to the upper left.]

Your keen nose penetrates deep into the Insniffisphere I mean Incipisphere and zeroes in on the familiar honey-sweet smell of Prospit.

Thank goodness it is still safe. It would be terrible if the demon were to...

Next

[Image description: Prospit's moon explodes into a massive green fireball, destroying itself and Prospit.]

OH NO!

Next

[Image description: The smell knocks Terezi back and her glasses fly from her face. A picture of a smiling green apple bounces of Terezi's face.]

You take the brunt of the stellar smellsplosion like a sour apple punch to the snout!

Terezi: Return to party.

[Image description: Terezi navigates her way down a large spiral staircase, holding her cane out in front of her. A second image zooms in on her.]

You suppose you'd better report this to your teammates. Perhaps a memo is in order. But today, there will be little reason for rumpus in your partytown. Today is a very sad day. You are all in bigger trouble than you suspected.

Next

[Image description: In another room elsewhere on the meteor, Gamzee and Equius stand near a transportalizer platform. Gamzee looks shocked and Equius looks sweaty and uncomfortable, as always. With a white flash, Terezi appears on the platform.]

Unsurprisingly, you return to a room full of commotion.

What is this guy staring at? Always with the staring. He is so weird.

Next

[Image description: A blurry picture shows Kanaya wielding a chainsaw. Brown swirls come up from the ground in front of her.]

And what is she doing with that chainsaw over there?? The rich scent of chocolatey blood fills the room.

Good grief. You can't turn your back on these lunatics for a second!

Next

[Image description: A blurry Karkat lays on the ground.]

And here is your bold leader, passed out on the floor. He is sleeping like a wiggler.

You wonder what he could be dreaming about? Prospit is gone now, and he never even had the chance to wake up. Poor guy.

Terezi: Report news to partytown subscribers.

[Image description: Terezi sits in front of her computer and leans her chin in her hands.]

It is important to keep your loyal subscribers of the past and future informed. It is your duty as a dedicated bulletin administrator.

Still, it's hard to find the words to break this to them. The partytown has been host to nothing but bad news lately.

Terezi: Open memo.

You wonder what could possibly happen that will cause you to become your future self in three minutes and interrupt your past self's memo and tell her to wait for three minutes doing nothing but wondering what could possibly happen that will cause her to become her future self in...

Hey. Someone just wired you some money. That's odd.

Terezi: Accept transfer.

[Image description: A blurry blue window opens on top of the trollian window. Only the first few digits are not blurred beyond recognition, and they are 413.]

Huh. 413 boonbucks. The numerals of the blind prophets. A sign, perhaps? A secret message? But from who? This makes no sense.

Wait... those are not boonbucks. Some of the digits are obscured. You need to take a closer look. Which is to say, a closer lick.

Terezi: Lick screen.

[Image description: The rest of the digits come into view. The full number is 413 quintillion.]

413 boonbonds???

I had such high hopes trapezi it started out brilliantly G.C.: terezi!!!!!!!!! and I am not trolling you, I am just trying to get to know a little about you and your species
I just discovered it and I am curious T.G.: excuse me but it says right in the header of this conversation that youre trolling me persterchum always knows
G.C.: oh...
oh yeah
but ok this might be hard for an earth baboon to understand but troll is a verb that has a lot of nuance the word can mean a lot of things for instance, I am a troll!
T.G.: no shit
G.C.: no I mean
that's what my species is called
T.G.: ok
let me just set aside some time to be stupid enough to believe that hey looks like next month is chemical lobotomy month your'e in luck G.C.: oh god what a smartass!
smartassiest alien ever T.G.: so what do you think"
time to block you yet or what G.C.: no!
lets keep talking
um
what are you doing now
T.G.: drawing a comic G.C.: hey I like to draw too im really quite great at it
T.G.: awesome
G.C.: can you show me your comic
T.G.: nah
G.C.: come on
I will draw you something in return it will be a cultural exchange
T.G.: I dunno
you seem kinda young to me and this thing is like borderline pornographic how old are you
G.C.: 6
T.G.: goddamn
ok now youre messing with me arent you you arent 6
G.C.: no its true!
T.G.: whatever thats bullshit ok fuck it just dont tell your parents
G.C.: what are parents
T.G.: thats just about the saddest thing I ever heard get said here

[Note: That link opens a comic. It's not drawn in the Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff style, but it is somewhat sketch-like. It's titled The Adventures of Cool Dude and Stoner Lou.

A person, Stoner Lou, drapes themself backwards over a giant tortoise. A bong sits on the ground beside them. They say "Whoa dude I think I smoked too much pot."

A person with a massive, lecherous grin, a backwards baseball cap, and sunglasses, likely Cool Dude, says "That's ass-hole talk"

Cool Dude shoots Stoner Lou in the chest. Blam.

Cool Dude shoves a massive blunt into Stoner Lou's mouth and says "U just need more pot"

Cool Dude tosses a topless woman at Stoner Lou. She hits him with a Bonk. Cool Dude says "have wunna my hoes"

Cool Dude throws more topless women around and says "I be passin out bitches like cheap cigars"

Cool Dude, now drawn in a less cartoony but still sketch-like style, crouches in front of a couch with a bikini-clad, platform shoe wearing woman lounging provocatively on it.]

G.C.: I am not sure what is pornographic about that its just kind of strange
T.G.: I guess
G.C.: its pretty good though T.G.: its ok
im not thrilled with this direction though I think its too much like my bros stuff need to figure out my own ironic statement to make spread my wings you know
G.C.: yes
I think you can do that you just have to figure out what the truth is inside you T.G.: pretty deep troll girl
G.C.: its true!
there is a lot in your mind which is concealed from your surface perception you just need to try to become aware of it close your eyes and tell me what you see in your mindspace
T.G.: ok
I see that fucking puppet
G.C.: haha yes your adult custodians servant puppet T.G.: uh what
G.C.: what else do you see
T.G.: man I dunno
wheres this drawing you promised me G.C.: oh yeah hang on ok here you go ben stiller

T.G.: oh my fucking hell that is horrendous
in the most beautiful way
G.C.: thank you ben (smiley face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: god damn
that mouth
its like
I dont know
a fucking pork chop jegus
I mean jesus
so overwhelmed I cant even damn type G.C.: yes well
ben I am drawing with a mouse you know
T.G.: is there even any other way to draw on a computer fuckin doubt it
G.C.: im starting to think your name isnt ben
I think that was another ruse tell me your real name!!! (frowny face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: ok lets say its dave why not
G.C.: dave!
that smells like truth
I will decide to believe it (smiley face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: fuck
ok dave, I have a lot to do but I will get back to you T.G.: what the hell could you possibly have to do doesn't seem like youre into trolling us as much as your numbnut friends G.C.: my friends?
are you suggesting others like me have trolled you
T.G.: yeah what didn't you get the memo
G.C.: I write the memos!!
I might not have written this one yet though...
I should probably run this by uh
my leader
T.G.: your leader
that's a retarded thing to say even by the standard of your own bullshit made up vernacular G.C.: smartass!
T.G.: whos he really your boyfriend or something G.C.: pffffffff yeah right well ok
I mean
its been sort of complicated with him
T.G.: ok asking for an explanation on that is pretty much the exact opposite of what im doing and interesteds the opposite of what im being G.C.: smart ass
(tongue sticking out face with furrowed brows) actually hes kind of smartassy like you now that I think about it but you seem calm instead of shouty all the time also you type in bright bold red you dont hide the color of your blood like a stupid wiggler (smiley face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: ok that remark was almost as boring as it was weird
G.C.: oh pipe down dave, I am trying to pay you a compliment!
I am holding out the interspecies olive branch here, and you are giving it a good firm sass grab
T.G.: haha
G.C.: one day you will rue all this sass you have dished dave you may not be a girl, but you will cry like one when I am through with you
T.G.: I dont cry
G.C.: you will
there will be tears
they will smell salty, and then your cheeks will be my sandy beach (smiley face with wide eyes and furrowed brows)
T.G.: oh god
G.C.: ok, I will get back to you after you begin playing that will be next solar sweep for you try not to be too impatient for my return
T.G.: I plan on forgetting about you instantly after this conversation
G.C.: yeah right
you know I have left my mark
I am seered into your retinas like a big red sun
T.G.: well maybe even if thats the case
ill just forget on principle
G.C.: that sounds like something that a cool kid would try to do
T.G.: yeah
pretty cool guy here case you hadnt noticed
G.C.: I most certainly didnt hadnt noticed (smiley face with furrowed brows)

G.C.: I told you you would cry dave
I told you bro............... (sweet bro and hella jeff face with wide eyes and furrowed brows)
T.G.: ok jegus dont say it if you say I warned you about tears or something one more time
I swear to gog
G.C.: dont!
dont say youre going to do an acrobatic somersault or pirouette off of something, jegus
I get it already!
T.G.: ok fine
our memes can cancel each other out this time G.C.: yes agreed
now dry those sorry eyes dave try not to be such a fucking wimp it is unflattering behavior for a cool kid of your stature
T.G.: god dammit
im not actually crying its the fucking onions
these piece of shit crocodiles are lambasting me with them
G.C.: thats the lamest excuse ive ever heard who ever heard of a silly little onion making someone cry, it is absurd T.G.: I guess the stench of onions is covering up the smell of the truth how convenient also your nose sux youre not even any good at smellin at all G.C.: (gasping face with wide eyes and furrowed brows) that is outrageous but I know you are just trying to get my earth goat for human ironic purposes
T.G.: the only thing im getting is out of this goddamn idiot cauldron here G.C.: no dave dont! You are going to make the most delicious soup it is making me hungry just thinking about it (gasping face with furrowed brows) T.G.: the only thing im going to make is like banana and split out of this bubbling pail of misery
G.C.: oh gog... youre right
you are sitting in a huge pail (gasping face with furrowed brows) T.G.: why whats the relevance of that tell me its more alien nonsense it will be so awesome to hear more of that G.C.: I am not going to explain I would be too embarrassed
T.G.: man
why did I ever agree to go along with this horseshit
G.C.: because you had to, it was in your future and besides you must use diplomacy to win over your consorts see look dave, they all love you now! You are the hero, its you (smiley face with furrowed brows) now they will give you all the secrets of the land T.G.: what secrets
they dont have any secrets
look at them theyre morons
T.G.: the only secret theyve got is how many times a day they accidentally flush their medical alert bracelets down the toilet G.C.: dave, they are stupid and yet very wise you have much to learn and I will keep helping you learn it!
even if you are a huge crybaby who is easily upset by chopped vegetables T.G.: ok im gonna change out of this wet suit and into a dry shut your fucking mouth
G.C.: (sweet bro and hella jeff face with wide eyes and furrowed brows) bluhhhhhhh

Dave: Change into Four Aces Suited.

T.G.: there now I wont be satisfying your crazy red fetish either
G.C.: (very sad, crying face with furrowed brows) now I am crying too you see what you did T.G.: all you get to smell is black like licorice or something you hate licorice right
G.C.: I love licorice
T.G.: shit
ok lets say I dont smell like licorice then I smell like a coal miners asshole
G.C.: too late!
it already smells like licorice since you said that, and now I cant unsmell it
T.G.: whatever
anyway
probably bout time I got on with this game sans these pointless sidequests you want drag me through for kicks later terezi nice knowing you G.C.: wait!
you can't ditch me, weve got important stuff to do together
T.G.: unlikely
G.C.: oh
hey (gasping face with furrowed brows)
how do you know my name?
T.G.: you told me remember
G.C.: yeah, but I thought you forgot!
T.G.: why would I forget
G.C.: you said you were going to make a point of forgetting!
T.G.: oh
I guess I forgot I was supposed to forget G.C.: well then mister dave strider

second and take this simple bit of hatefriendly advice:
stop hitting on terezi immediately, it's fucking embarrassing to watch.
C.T.G.: nah
C.E.B.: haha, dave you're hitting on terezi? Really??
C.T.G.: no
but whatever he thinks im doing im not going to stop the guys jealous obviously he thinks his girlfriend has a thing for me and you know what hes probably right but what else is new just another lady from outer space mackin on me whatever chance she gets unknown C.G.: oh, ha ha! If smug was a motorcycle, it just jumped over a fucking canyon.
the crowd goes wild with dismay, and then commits mass suicide.
C.E.B.: karkat, is terezi really your girlfriend?
unknown C.G.: guess what this conversation is about! Not that particular topic.
also guess whose business that still isn't, fucking yours, that's right.
C.T.G.: pretty sure she is or he thinks she is or something made it pretty obvious when he started ranting at me months ago back when I suspected these trolls were full of shit but now look how far we've come theres not any doubt left about that at all unknown C.G.: even if there was anything going on, which there definitely [oops time to mind your own business again, asshole!] our romance is much more complicated than the joke that passes for your understanding of the concept.
you only have one quadrant! That's just absurd.
C.T.G.: right
sounds like its time to get a clue she is over you dude
C.E.B.: what is so different about your romance?
what's a quadrant? How many do you have?
C.T.G.: john god dammit stop embarrassing us first of all we've got to be on record here as not giving a shit about that second obviously there's gonna be 4 quadrants come on unknown C.G.: john, I take back everything I said about you being the smart one.
dave is now the leader, even though he's a smug shitstain with shades and a poker face.
if there were five, they'd be called quintdrants, get it???
C.E.B.: wow, okay!
who cares, jeeez.
unknown C.G.: yes, exactly. Who cares?
as fascinating as a lecture on all that would be, it's not what this is about.
which brings me to a related point of business.
john, don't think I didn't notice how many e's you just typed there.
that's got to stop too.
C.E.B.: what does?
unknown C.G.: stop talking to vriska. I'm fucking serious.
C.E.B.: what!
no way. Vriska's cool, I'll talk to her all I want!
unknown C.G.: hahahahahahahaha.
you jackasses have no idea what you're getting yourselves into.
they're dangerous, and you're just blundering right into their hypercompetitive mindfuck murder-thicket.
these psycho girls have already gotten each of you killed at least once to my knowledge.
C.E.B.: well, yeah... but terezi killed me in an alternate timeline, so that isn't too bad I guess.
plus, I am pretty sure that she is sorry about it.
unknown C.G.: oh god, you even know about it?
and you're still getting up to these antics
you are both fucking hopeless, I give up.
C.T.G.: k then bye unknown C.G.: shut your squawk gaper and stay put.
I'm not done.
C.T.G.: sounds like a loudmouth inferiority thing going on here to me like you dont want to acknowledge that your troll ladies find a couple of human dudes irresistible unknown C.G.: you don't get it.
I do acknowledge that as much as it makes me sick to my various bits of alien physiology you've never heard of, these girls are clearly flirting with both of you pretty hard.
the fact that they have swept you both into their sick assassination games is sadly what makes this obvious.
that's what they do.
C.E.B.: wait... are you saying that vriska is interested in me?
like, romantically?
unknown C.G.: egbert just earned a few brain points!
he has reached a new rung on his echeladder, "easily outfoxed by simple utensils"
"buckaroo"
or something like that C.T.G.: smooth
C.E.B.: oh man.
uh...
unknown C.G.: yes let's all have a great big oh man over that and then fucking cut the horseshit forever. Sound good?
C.E.B.: I'm not sure what to think about this.
dave, what do you think I should do?
C.T.G.: I dunno
do you like her
C.E.B.: well, like I said, I thought she was pretty cool... kinda bossy! But also pretty friendly.
C.T.G.: yeah ok
but I mean anything more than that like if earth wasnt destroyed and she werent in some other universe on a planet full of unspeakable frothing dipshits and she was on earth visiting your town or something would you want to ask her to go see one of your dumbass movies like the new macconnohey jam where he smirks and like all but deliberately draws the audiences ire like a goddamn magnetron
C.E.B.: mcconaughey!!!!!!!
um, wow, I don't know.
I mean, yeah, sure it would be fun to do something like that with her, I think.
but...
beyond that, it's a little confusing!
I don't think I have ever actually liked a girl before in that way, so I am not really sure what I am supposed to feel or do...
unknown C.G.: holy fuck what am I even reading here?????
C.T.G.: doesnt concern you dude unknown C.G.: ok john, are your feelings quite sorted out yet?
are you quite done slogging through the emotional morass of adolescence, emerging from the sludge in your junior ectobiology waders?
are we feeling just a little bit wiser? Did we grow today? That would be wonderful!
you would think warning you guys that fraternizing with these females is putting your lives in danger would be enough.
really, danger you say? Oh goodness, we nearly made a huge mistake! Why thank you, mr. Troll, how gracious of you to alert us to our foolishness.
C.T.G.: I dunno man doesnt sound like you really got our interests in mind here you just sound kinda bitter did one of the human ladies reject you unknown C.G.: of course not.
C.T.G.: how did it go did you stand in a quadrant like you were playing four square holding a bucket full of flowers or slime or whatever and jade was like no thanks bro is that how it went down unknown C.G.: yes, you figured it out! You are a savant of xenobiology dave and I salute you with one of my many intergalactic space tendrils (that's fake, I made that up to fuck with you)
C.T.G.: or maybe it was a guy who rejected you unknown C.G.: fuck off.
C.T.G.: haha wow bingo
see how I look right now thats a poker face might want to take some notes unknown C.G.: I see nothing but a coward behind dark eyewear clearly designed for women and a pair of impudent lips pursed so tight it'll sound like air squealing out of a balloon when I punch you in the gut.
C.T.G.: oh god stop talking about my lips thats the second time ok you're clearly gay and you've probably got some issues about it dude john just a heads up in the future I think you're gonna spurn one of his awkward advances C.E.B.: uh oh!
unknown C.G.: john don't listen to this fucker, he's the worst guy at giving advice I've ever seen.
C.E.B.: yeah, I dunno dave, I have talked to karkat a lot and I really don't think he has a thing for me.
unknown C.G.: exactly. John once again is flying high as smartest human.
and john, purely hypothetically, if one of us in the future does make some sort of solicitation you don't quite understand...
because of perhaps some cultural differences
I mean no one in particular here
maybe try to understand that person might not be thinking too clearly at that moment C.E.B.: uh... unknown C.G.: it might be the case that this person has gotten too wrapped up in a sort of caliginous ideal and get carried away, possibly so much so they were blind to how completely fucked up and weird it would be to pursue anything like that with another species especially one that didn't even understand the concept of a caliginous relationship C.T.G.: what the fuck are you talking about unknown C.G.: but I'm not that person. I have a firm grasp on how deranged and unnatural any sort of interspecies relationship would be, whether caliginous or concupiscent.
so I ask no I'm fucking begging you both to quit chatting up these shithive broads and leave well enough alone.
C.T.G.: that's obviously not gonna happen unknown C.G.: fuck.
look.
alright I admit this isn't purely magnanimous concern for your safety here.
we're all sort of cooking up a plan right now.
my right now.
which if successful, may, and I do stress may, end up with all of us meeting face to face.
and what I'd like to avoid if at all possible is to have this rendezvous instantly deteriorate into a lot of revolting troll/human sloppy makeouts.
that would just ruin it for me, ok?
really the only scenario that I am sure would cause me to regret success. Got it?
C.E.B.: er... do...
you think that vriska is going to try to make out with me?
unknown C.G.: shut up.
I'm not answering your dumb questions about how much snogging you're in for and I'm not playing interspecies match maker here.
seriously, what is wrong with you guys?
I shouldn't even need to be saying this.
god dammit, it's not even like you don't have actual human females nearby for actual biologically viable matespritships!
do I have to draw you a diagram???
C.E.B.: rose and jade?
so, uh...
you want us to like, date them?
unknown C.G.: would it really fucking kill you to consider it???????
I mean god. What do you even think you're doing here in this game? you're creating your own universe to go live in. and just how do you think your species is supposed to repopulate itself????????????? Idiots.

C.T.G.: dude

just stop unknown C.G.: oh ok, so the alien here is the only one concerned with the propagation of your species. that makes a lot of fucking sense. Why don't you wise the fuck up, cooldouche?

C.E.B.: I think he is right, I think we are all a little young to be thinking about that!

unknown C.G.: well no shit, now you are obviously. but what about later? Think about the big picture. how did humanity get as far as it got being so dumb?

C.E.B.: um, also, we are kinda all related! Sort of. Through shared ghost slime genes. Right? so, uh...

unknown C.G.: oh right, the bizarre human anathema of incest, I forgot.

C.T.G.: oh my fucking god please let this conversation not be taking place unknown C.G.: ok well let's say that's hypothetically a problem, even though I'm racking my brain to understand why it would be.

I guess I will have to draw you a diagram, because you are just that stupid. here http://tinyurl.com/matingdiagramformorons

[Note: This opens a badly drawn diagram. There are four quadrants. The top left is blue and has a drawing of John. The top right is red and has a drawing of Dave. The bottom left is green and has a drawing of Jade. The bottom right is purple and has a drawing of Rose. A double ended arrow points between Dave and Jade and another points between John and Rose. Where they intersect, there is a red heart.]

C.T.G.: ok your by far the worst artist out of any of us and thats saying something unknown C.G.: shut up I drew it fast

now
as you can clearly see, there are only two sets of compatible quadrants here for legitimate concupiscent pairings.

dave and rose are "related" jade and john are "related" that only leaves two pairs.

once again, the decisions pertaining to human romance remain stunningly simple. and yet I still have to spell it out for you. You're welcome. now go hassle your future matesprits and leave the troll girls alone.

C.T.G.: thx for the shipping grid bro imma drop everything and go have a baby with jade right now no peeking k

C.E.B.: wow, I have to marry rose?

uh...
wow.
unknown C.G.: and now that I have saved your entire worthless species with my impeccable romance brokering skills

I will bid you a bitter fucking farewell.
jegus I am so tired.
C.T.G.: you should go back to sleep it was so much cooler when you were asleep and I basically never had to listen to you ever unknown C.G.: I can't go to sleep
C.E.B.: why not?
unknown C.G.: because I'm too tired to explain why is why.
you'll figure it out later.
memo over.
get outta here.

Karkat: Be Past Karkat.

[Image description: Karkat lays on the floor of the computer room on the meteor. His eyes are pinched tightly shut and he looks uncomfortable. A pitch black alert floats over his head.]

You cannot be Past Karkat because in the past, Past Karkat is asleep!

[S] Past Karkat: Wake up.

[Image description: Karkat's Theme begins to play. This panel is an interactive walkaround, where you play as Karkat.

Karkat stands in the computer room on the meteor. A U-shaped table rings the left, bottom, and right walls of the room and another table runs along the back wall. The tables all have various computer terminals and computer parts scattered around them. Terezi stands in front of one of the computers on the left side of the room, though she's facing away from it and has her cane out. Further down the left side, Eridan stands near another computer terminal, but he's also facing away from it. Instead, he's looking towards a massive pile of horns- the kind that you squeeze to honk- and Gamzee doing some sort of strange dance next to them. The table curves around to the bottom of the room, where there is an unused terminal, then ones being used by Kanaya and Vriska, followed by another empty one. A fiduspawn plush and cards sit on the floor near where the table curves back up the right side of the room. Equius walks towards Tavros and Nepeta, who are near one of the terminals. An abandoned red unicycle lays on the ground. The table on the back wall has four terminals, but only the center two are in use by Sollux and Aradiabot. Feferi stands a small distance behind them. In the center of the room, there is a dark grey transportalizer platform.

In the top left corner, there is a video game control icon. Click it.
A grey text box appears.
Use arrow keys (or WASD keys) to walk and spacebar to interact.

Go to the leftmost terminal on the back table. Press space.
A black textbox with a yellow border appears. There are two options.

Current carcinoGeneticist [C.C.G.] Right Now responded to memo.
Karkat's talksprite, which is a more detailed but still stylized drawing, appears on the left side of the box. He is a skinny, grey-skinned boy with messy black hair that falls almost into his eyes and is wearing a black, long-sleeve shirt with a grey cancer symbol on the chest.

C.C.G.: ok.
everything's fine I guess.

Kanaya's talksprite appears on the right as Karkat's disappears. She has short, carefully sculpted hair, black lipstick, and winged eyeliner. She is wearing a tight, black, long-sleeve shirt under a looser black shirt with a jade green virgo symbol on the chest. Her skirt is bright red and pleated or striped horizontally until they meet up with a diagonal panel, at which point the fabric becomes plain.

P.G.A.: what happened

As they speak, the sprites change to show the speaker on screen.

C.C.G.: I passed out for about an hour.
fucking embarrassing.
you are out of your goddamn mind, you know.
P.G.A.: shithive maggots you mean
C.C.G.: yeah
in a good way though.
ok I'm shutting this memo down for my past self.
since he's currently lying unconscious on the floor an hour ago.
see you in the future-now.

Talk To Terezi

Terezi's talksprite appears. She has shoulder length black hair that looks somewhat messy, but not nearly as messy as Karkat's. She's wearing a black shirt bearing her teal libra symbol. She holds her cane in her right hand and rests her left on top of it.

Terezi: wow check out who finally woke up!
we've been trying to wake you for an hour, but you were unresponsive to even the most senseless of canedrubblings (smiley face with furrowed brows)
Karkat: my head hurts.
Terezi: probably due to the aforementioned nub drubbings
Karkat: will you shut up about the drubbings. Put that cane away, dammit. It's not like you even need it.
I had a horrible dream, ok.
Terezi: oh?
Karkat: I finally woke up on prospit.
Terezi: you did???
oh god, i cant believe i missed it!
Karkat: yeah well, sorry we can't go on our enchanted golden magic carpet ride or whatever you had in store for us, but now it's too late.
dream me is dead.
Terezi: i know (sad face with furrowed brows)
all of us are, prospit was completely destroyed Karkat: oh shit, really?
guess that's not too surprising. Anyway, I saw the demon again.
I think I know who it is.
Terezi: who is it (questioning face with furrowed brows)
Karkat: I don't know how it's possible...
I need to search for more answers before I know for sure.
Terezi: stop being mysterious and tell me!
Karkat: no way. I'm not jumping to hasty conclusions. If it turns out I'm right, then I guess we both get to say I told you so.
Terezi: argh, fine
so, you saw him just before he destroyed prospit?
Karkat: yeah. And that wasn't even the bad part of the dream.
Terezi: that was an hour ago! What have you been dreaming about since?
Karkat: I don't want to talk about it.
the bottom line is, everyone here is forbidden from going to sleep.
Terezi: forbidden?
Karkat: yes, as your leader, I am ordering all prospit dreamers to stay awake, no matter how tired you get.
Terezi: um, alright (uncertain face with furrowed brows)
Karkat: do you ever even get tired?
Terezi: what's that supposed to mean!
Karkat: all you do is run your mouth all day, and sniff and lick people inappropriately with that shit eating grin.
I don't think I've ever even seen you yawn.
Terezi: im getting pretty tired right now as a matter of fact tired of your bullshit!
Karkat: god I'm tired.

Get lowdown from Terezi.

Terezi: so guess what we've been in contact with some aliens from the universe we created Karkat: ok. So?
Terezi: dont you think thats kind of neat?
Karkat: no. It's boring. Who cares?
Terezi: i thought as our intrepid leader that was something you might want to know Karkat: alright, as leader, I recommend we deliver them a delightful gift basket via transuniversal bulge thrust.
are you taking this down???
Terezi: (tongue sticking out face with furrowed brows) im not saying we need to make friends with them or anything, but weve begun to suspect they have something to do with our session, paradoxically speaking Karkat: is anything ever not paradoxically speaking?
Terezi: maybe we can figure out a way to get ourselves out of this jam?
Karkat: nope. I already told you. We're doomed. A meaningless race of aliens won't change that. Now if you'll excuse me, I've got a lot of important shit to do.
Terezi: you mean a lot of important wandering around aimlessly and talking to people?
Karkat: yes, exactly.

Walk Northeast to Sollux at the computer.

Talk to Sollux.

Sollux: hey kk most of these computers are shit. So unless you've got a real good reason I don't think I'm gonna bother fixing them.
Karkat: I'm fine, thanks for asking man. Your concern is really appreciated, I appreciate it.
Sollux: fuck you and your primadonna garbage, I'm not going to break down sobbing because you pass out at the sight of a little blood, why don't you man up.
Karkat: hey fuck you, I turn around and see a crazy girl with a chainsaw and a tsunami of brown. Is it too much to ask that we not turn our little hideout into a slaughterhouse?
Sollux: what did you want me to do get down on the floor and kiss your fainted corpse on the lisp to wake you up on a nonexistent prospit?
Karkat: let's not do this, ok man? Just this once. I don't have the energy.
Sollux: yeah ok fine.
Karkat: so what's the deal with these aliens, is it anything I should give a shit about?
Sollux: no not at all, they're useless and uninteresting like I'm sure you already gathered. I recommend we don't bother with them, though Aradia seems to think we'll all be in each other's sponges inevitably. Whatever, I'm pretty committed to not having anything to do with them ever.
Karkat: good, that's what I like to hear.
Sollux: uh huh, sure kk by the look of some of your future memos it looks like you're gonna get pretty wound up by this thing soon.
Karkat: man, fuck my future memos.
Sollux: no way, they're hilarious, best thing about having you as a leader hands down.
Karkat: fuck that sentiment, and fuck you, and fuck future me.
Sollux: ok. What about past you, is past you cool.
Karkat: the only guy more irritating and stupid than future me is past me.
Sollux: ehehehehehehe.

Walk past Sollux to Aradia and press space bar.
Three options appear

Talk to Aradia.

Aradia: have you decided to troll them yet
Karkat: troll who?
Aradia: never mind
lets pretend I didn't say that and lets also pretend it isn't inevitable Karkat: what the frond buckling nook stench are you talking about.
Aradia: nothing. Its not like a decision you are about to make will invariably lead to every problem we have and will ever face as well as the great undoing itself just keep listening to your angry impulses it will all be fine actually I guess I could kill you right now and stop it all from happening thus dooming us all in an offshoot timeline
I might consider it if we all weren't doomed anyway and if you weren't my friend
Karkat: you know what was great? When you used to not be a robot. cause this robot thing? This is bullshit. if we weren't all about to die, I'd dedicate our whole team to finding a way to bring you back to life but we are so guess we'll have to ride out the next few hours with a spooky tin can psychopath, sounds like a blast.
Aradia: (wide eyed blank face)

Be Future Aradia

The scene changes. Sollux, Terezi, Nepeta, and Equius all stare at where Aradiabot was, which is now covered in black ash and robot parts. A grey text box appears. You cannot be Future Aradia because in the future, Future Aradia has exploded!

Walk south to Feferi.

Talk to Feferi.

Feferi's talksprite appears. She has long but neat hair that is pushed back off her forehead and goes down past her waist. She's wearing fuschia goggles and a golden tiara along with several brightly colored necklaces. Her shirt is sleeveless and has her fuschia pisces symbol on the chest. Her ears are shaped like a fish's fin, with three 'fingers' that have webbing in between them.

Feferi: finally! So karkat, what was your dream like after you died? I have been glubbing like crazy over here wondering about it.
Karkat: I'm not talking about it. Just don't go to sleep.
oh wait, you're a derse dreamer, right? Never mind, knock yourself out. Literally.
Feferi: you look so nervous and pale. Were you scared of what you saw?
Karkat: what about not talking about it don't you get.
Feferi: there's no reason to be scared! They are not as terrible as they look. when derse is destroyed, I am going to go to sleep and prove it.
I will prove it to you, and to them as well.
Karkat: them?
Feferi: our new friends! You'll see. Everything is going to be ok.
this is pretty exciting! Don't you think???
Karkat: meh
Feferi: glub to that attitude!!!!!! (Shocked face with goggles, a tiara, and furrowed brows)

Be Future Feferi
The scene changes. Feferi is laying in Gamzee's pile of horns, being watched by him and Tavros. Vriska stands off to one side and where a computer once was on the bottom table, there is now a black smudge of ash. A fiduspawn plush is ripped open behind the pile, cards are scattered over the floor, and a red dragon cape lays on the floor off to the side. A grey text box appears.
You cannot be Future Feferi because in the future, Future Feferi is asleep!

Walk west to the unicycle.
Examine Unireal Air.
A grey text box appears.
It's almost impossible to cross the room without tripping over this goddamn thing. The mess in here is unireal. I mean unreal.

Walk to the transportalizer in the center of the room.
Transportalize
Karkat disappears in a grey flash and appears on a different transportalizer. This one is at the crossroads of two halls somewhere else on the meteor. The walls have vents near the floor and spirographs carved into them. There is a chest to the west and another to the east.

Go to the west chest.
Open Chest.
The chest opens and plays a little victory tune. A few boondollars float out of the chest. A grey text box appears.
You got some boondollars!
Who cares.

Go to the east chest.
Open Chest.
The victory tune plays again. A barbed sickle floats out of the chest. A grey text box appears.
You got the trusty Clawsicle!

Go north. There is another transportalizer.
Transportalize
Karkat disappears in another grey flash, reappearing in another room. He's standing on a transportalizer in the center of a ring of other transportalizers. Each of the others has a troll's symbol bobbing above it.

Go west, to the grey cancer transportalizer.
Transportalize
Karkat appears on another transportalizer at the west end of a corridor. Along the hall, there are many chests and small divots in the wall with some sort of computer technology in them. The second divot you pass is empty. Some of the walls look cracked.

Head east and open the chests as you pass them.
Open Chest
You got a whole boonbuck!
Yawn.

Open chest
You got a ~ath manual!
It's so thick, you could kill someone with this thing. And if you master what's inside, you just might kill everyone with it.
Open chest
You got a tinkerbull plush!
R.I.P. Little buddy. (Crying face)

Open chest
You got a whole mess of boonbucks!
You guess you could use them as paperweights. Or something.

There is a set of stairs. Head down to the lower section of the hallway. There are more divots and more chests.

Open chest
You got a teapot!

Open chest
A bottle of faygo floats out of the chest.
You got a wicked elixir!
You chug the beverage immediately. Your vitals remain unchanged.

There is another set of stairs. Go down and open more chests.

Open chest
A painting of a censored centaur with massive genitals, some sort of ball in hand, and blue wings floats out of the chest.
You got a beautiful work of fine art!
Just... Why. Why would this exist. Why would someone put it in a chest???

Open chest
Karkat's sickle with the pink, green, and white blade floats out of the chest.
You got homes smell ya later!
So fresh

You reach the east end of the hallway, where there is another transportalizer.
It takes you to a large room with an ectobiology apparatus in it. Unlike the one john used to make himself, his friends, and all their guardians, this one is massive and has 24 vats instead of 4. A few of them are broken. The round platform where the created babies would appear has a small blue flicker in the center.

Walk to the northwest corner. There is a chest there.
Open chest
You got a box of fruit trollups!
It shows the box of fruit rollups. The rollups themselves are red, orange, and yellow, but the labels are all grey.
Tongue tattoos on every roll
Fruit roll-ups
Fruit flavored
Orange creamsicle colonoscolypse
10 0.5 Oz (14g) rolls
Net wt 5 oz (141g)
Troll Crocker's vile tendrils are everywhere.

Approach the machine.
Examine equipment.
You don't even want to think about that day. Slime and wigglers... everywhere.
Walk to the northeast corner. There's another chest there.
Open Chest
A bucket comes out of the chest.
You got a... oh dear god.
Get that filth outta here

Go to the blue flicker in the center of the room.
So many horrible memories for Past Karkat...

Be Past Karkat?
Yes

The screen fades to black. Karkat stands on the platform as grub-like creatures with the troll's faces and bodies the colors of their blood swarm over him.
You are now Past Karkat. You are pretty much freaking the fuck out.

An image of Karkat screaming on the floor as baby trolls crawl all over him appears against a flashing green background.

It fades back to Current Karkat standing on the platform.

Return to the transportalizer.
Karkat reappears at the end of the long hallway of chests.
Enter the closest alcove to the northwest.
There's a switch on the wall, flip it?
There's a faint clunk sound.

Head up one flight of stairs. One of the alcoves has opened up into a narrow hallway. Enter it. It continues for a very long time before ending in a small room. In the back, there is one of Sollux's beehive mainframes and a large purple fiduspawn creature, Horsaroni. Closer to the door, there are six black mannequins arranged in a circle. The one in the top left is empty, but the others all have dresses that Kanaya wore at various times.
Approach one of the items.
Examine.
Man, why's everybody gotta dump their shit in your secret room? How are they even getting in here??! This is so outrageous.
Approach Horsearoni.
Examine.
NEIGH

Leave the secret room and return to the west end of the hallway.
Transportalize
Karkat appears on his platform in the room with the ring of transportalizers marked with the troll's symbols.

Go to the transportalizer in the center of the room.
Transportalize
Karkat returns to the crossroads. Go south. There is another transportalizer there.
Transportalize
Karkat appears at the west end of another hallway. This one has cobblestone flooring and vents every few feet on the walls. There is a chest nearby, just before a set of stairs.
Open Chest.
You got a broken bow and arrow!

Head west, down the set of stairs. The path curves around down another set of stairs. On the platform, there is a curved black pipe that extends up into the ceiling and another chest. Open Chest. You got a chainsaw! Still some brown stains on it. Yuck.

Go down the stairs. There are two more chests.

Open Chest. A poster resembling the one Tavros had for Pupa Pan comes from the chest. You got a fairy poster! Lovely, albeit imaginary.

Open Chest. You got a beautiful musclebeast nude! You feel culturally enriched by this masterpiece.

The path turns south and heads down another flight of stairs. The path curves into a U shaped balcony overlooking an area with another chest and a transportalizer. On the way around to the next staircase, there is another chest. Open Chest. You got the Crosbytop! Say, who the heck is this douche bag, anyway?

Head north, to the set of stairs, then descend. Open Chest. You got a broken robot part!

Approach the transportalizer. Transportalize

Karkat appears in the southwest corner of another lab, this one like the one where John found the chess piece creatures in vats many times his size. Karkat is of a comparable size. The creatures in the vats only vaguely resemble chess pieces with how many strange prototypings they were given. Approach one of the vats. Examine monstrosities. Genetic abominations once so threatening now pose no challenge at all to players of your godly status. They are lucky to be asleep and behind glass. They are lucky to have your pity.

Head east. There is a chest in the southeast corner. Open Chest. You got some glasses of fresh milk! But... what is there to even get milk from around here? Oh sweet jegus...

Head north. In the northeast corner, there is another transportalizer. Transportalize Karkat reappears in the computer room. Everything is how he left it.

Walk northeast to Nepeta.
Talk to Nepeta.
Nepeta's talksprite appears. She has a 3 shaped mouth and very round cheeks. 2 of her teeth stick over the edge of her lip like fangs. She's wearing a bright blue hat with a cat face on it, a black shirt with a forest green libra symbol on it, and a forest green overshirt.

Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) oh god this is so great, they look like they are so much fun!
Karkat: who Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) the humans!!!
Karkat: what's a human Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) the alien kids! Come on karcat, you need to stop taking all these silly naps and get up to speed Karkat: wait, what have you been doing you haven't been pulling your rp nonsense on them have you? Talk about a shitty first encounter.
Karkat: ok as leader, I forbid you from rp'ing with them.
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) but equius already forbid me from doing that (sad face with two mouths) not that I am listening to him, but shhhhh! (cat face with two mouths) Karkat: wait, he did?
Karkat: ok, then as your leader I order you to rp with them as much as possible. Be as obnoxious about it as you can.
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) yaaaaaaaaaaaaay!

Walk south to Tavros.
Talk to Tavros.

Tavros's talksprite appears. He has a combed back mohawk with the area around the base of his horns shaved. His teeth are large and jagged, but he's grinning widely. He's slouching quite a bit. Like the others, he's wearing a black shirt. His has his brown taurus symbol on the chest, but he also wears a short sleeve overshirt unbuttoned over it.

Tavros: heyyyy, you're awake,
Karkat: hey, you know what would have been an awesome time to take the opportunity to saw your lower torso off and replace it with robo legs?
Tavros: no,
Karkat: any goddamn time before now. You know, during our whole adventure when they might have come in handy.
also when I didn't happen to be standing around. That would have been so sweet.
Tavros: ohh, sorry, I mean I was kind of asleep too, so, I didn't have a lot of say, in the matter, Karkat: did you see him?
Tavros: who,
Karkat: the demon. When you were asleep.
Tavros: no,
Karkat: he was right fucking there. I told you to look, but I guess you were too busy frolicking in the sky or whatever you do on that gaudy yellow moon.
Tavros: oh, man, yeah sky frolicking was probably definitely the thing I was preoccupied by,
Karkat: anyway, that was just before he blew the place up.
Tavros: whoa, is that what happened, Karkat: idiot.
just don't go to sleep. Spread the word.
Tavros: I couldn't possibly sleep now, I'm too excited about these awesome legs, look at me go, whoops,
The screen shakes as Tavros topples over. A moment later, he stands back up.

Walk south to Equius.
Talk to Equius.

Equius's talksprite appears. He has very large, defined muscles, but he's not overly bulky. His hair is slicked back into a sharp-edged, shoulder-length bob with a prominent widow's peak and sideburns. He has deep blue bags under his eyes, which are hidden by cracked sunglasses. His left horn and several teeth are also broken. He's wearing a sleeveless black top with a royal blue sagittarius symbol on the chest.

Karkat: this roboleg bullshit was your idea wasn't it.
Equius: (Bow and arrow) I only supplied the technological means, though my lobbying for a hooven quadrupedal lower torso went tragically disregarded Karkat: ok I hereby order you to never even think about giving someone horselegs again, is that understood.
Equius: (Bow and arrow) yes, I can follow that order, sir are there any other orders you would like to issue to me in a manner that is similarly forceful Karkat: I also order you to stop getting off on my orders. For like the five hundredth fucking time.
Equius: (Bow and arrow) yes, and you will continue to order me to do so. I command it
...
I need a towel
Karkat: go have your butler get you one you snooty douche.
Equius: (Bow and arrow) aurthour is dead, and so is his ghost remember Karkat: yeah.
sorry man, I forgot. Didn't mean to bring up a sore subject.
Equius: (Bow and arrow) is this where embrace jocularly, as if we are bros
I will be as gentle as possible
Karkat: don't touch me.

Approach the fiduspawn plush and cards.
Examine host plush.
Looks like SOMEONE needs to stop playing games for girls.

Go west and approach Gamzee, who is still dancing next to a pile of horns.
Talk to Gamzee.

Gamzee's talksprite appears. He's lanky and thin with strange face paint on. His mouth and eyes are surrounded by dark grey, as are section on his temples and at the hinge of his jaw. The rest is painted white. His hair is a wild mess that sticks up in every direction and hangs into his face. His shirt is black and has an indigo capricorn symbol on the chest.

Gamzee: hey can I help a tired looking brother get his motherfuckin nap on?
sleep in the horn pile? Only 420 boondollars
Two options appear.
No
or Hell no
Karkat: I just slept on the floor for an hour, does it look like I need a nap???
besides, I just banned everyone from sleeping, so don't go pulling this horn pile inn keeper shit, got it?
also, stop dancing. It's awful.
Gamzee: ok well if you get your mind all changed about that then you know where to find the pile, best friend
Karkat: oh yeah, also clean your fucking garbage off the floor. If this shit isn't gone in a few hours I'm seriously going to flip out.
Gamzee: honk honk honk honk honk! (smiley face with a clown nose)

Approach the horn pile.
Examine pile of shitty horns.
Look at this shit all over the floor. Barely been down here a couple of hours and this dude turns the lab into his own personal clown sty.

Walk west to Eridan.
Talk to Eridan.

Eridan's talksprite appears. He has a flat face with eyes angled partially backwards, like they're slid towards the sides of his face like a fish's might be. His teeth are small and sharp and his ears are fin-like, resembling Feferi's, though he lacks the webbing between the fingers. His hair is carefully combed back from his face and a section in the center of his forehead is dyed violet. He's wearing large, almost hipster-y glasses, a tight, black, long-sleeve shirt with a violet aquarius symbol, a blue striped scarf, and a high-collared violet cape.

Eridan: what a fuckin vulgar display this is airin out all his dirty laundry like that puttin a big fuckin pile a horns in the middle of the room at least I got the upright basic decency to hide my shitty wand pile somewhere in the lab you wont find it dont even bother lookin Karkat: why do you assholes have piles of things, just stop.

Walk east to Kanaya
Talk to Kanaya.

Kanaya's talksprite reappears.

Karkat: hey I just got done talking to you in the past. Remember you were fucking around with the volcano and I passed out for an hour?
Kanaya: vaguely
Karkat: that was now. Hey guess what, new orders. No more impromptu amputations, ok?
Kanaya: impromptutations
Karkat: yeah. Keep your lipstick capped ok. I don't want to turn around and see rainbow blood spraying every which way just cause you think the place is a little drab.
Kanaya: I did my best to clean up the blood before you woke up Karkat: thanks for that. Also another new order. Don't go to sleep.
Kanaya: dont worry I dont really want to find out what happens if I do any other orders such as those which might pertain to these alien children
Karkat: yeah, my orders are that they're completely irrelevant, and who cares about them.
Kanaya: how are those orders
Karkat: because I'm your leader that's how.
Kanaya: they are not irrelevant
Karkat: how do you know that.
Kanaya: its a bit complicated but I believe you should give them a closer look before you decide what to do about them if anything perhaps then an especially leaderly speech will be in order Karkat: ok I doubt that but whatever.

Walk east to Vriska.
Talk to Vriska.

Vriska's talksprite appears. She has long, tidy hair that extends to about her shoulderblades and a round face with a smug expression. She's wearing blue eyeliner and lipstick that match her blood. She also has large glasses with blue tinted lenses, a black shirt with a dusty blue scorpio symbol on the chest, and a dark grey jacket with the left sleeve ripped off.

Karkat: hey vriska, what are you doing.
please, for the love of god, let it be something inconsequential and benign.
Vriska: karkat! Man, you were out for a long time. I have made so many plans for these humans while you were asleep. Do you know how many plans have been made?
Karkat: probably all of them, even though plans aren't really an exhaustively quantifiable thing and we both fucking know that.
Vriska: yes! Aaaaaaaall of them. So many irons too. Guess where the irons are!
Karkat: please don't let them be in the fire, please don't let them be in the fire...
Vriska: they are........
in the fire!!!!!!!! (smiley face with eight eyes)
Karkat: god fucking dammit.
look whatever you're doing, stop. Or put it on pause. Can you please do that?
I wasn't going to bother with the humans but now you're making me nervous. Just give me the chance to look into this matter, and then I'll brief everybody.
maybe with a speech or something. Can you do that?
pleeeeeeease? I just said that with eight e's.
Vriska: fine, I will take a break, karkat. But only because you were so polite about it.
it will give me a chance to go get some stuff done!

Be Vriska
Vriska's Theme begins to play.

Talk to Karkat.

Karkat: just... Please.
go find some remote corner of this lab, build yourself a nice web, and sit there peacefully and harmlessly until we all die. Ok?
Vriska: die? Lame.
karkat, there is absolutely no chance we are going to die.
not with my luck! I got all of it, remember?

Walk west to Kanaya
Talk to Kanaya.

Vriska: pst!
Kanaya: yes
Vriska: hey, what's your deal?
Kanaya: ...
Vriska: I'm talking to you!
Kanaya: what do you want Vriska: nothing really! It's just you haven't said one word to me since we got here.
in fact, we've hardly spoken in weeks! Not since you gave me that nice dress.
Kanaya: oh sorry I hadn't really noticed Vriska: that was great, remember that? What happened to all that? You used to meddle and bug and fuss over me all the time. It was annoying, but kinda fun!
Kanaya: do you want me to Vriska: I don't know. It would be cool if we could catch up some time though.
Kanaya: what's there really to catch up on Vriska: whatever! Stuff. Anything! you are really strange, fussyfangs. I don't get you anymore.
Kanaya: okay
Vriska: that was some pretty sweet chainsaw work earlier. Pretty brutal, really! Didn't think you had it in you.
hey, you weren't settling a score with him there by any chance?
Kanaya: what
Vriska: I've got a pretty keen nose for revenge. Could it be that you had a thing for him and were upset when he went for me instead? Hmmmplease?
Kanaya: did he really go for you
Vriska: that's not how I remember it
Kanaya: could you leave me alone
Vriska: hey, which one are you spying on there? Someone new to meddle with?
Kanaya: I said leave
Vriska: fine, god.

Walk west to Eridan.
Three options appear.
Talk to Eridan.
Be future Eridan.
Cancel

Talk to Eridan.
Vriska: hey.
Eridan: hey
Vriska: so......
Eridan: what's up Vriska: nothing.
standing by the old horn pile I see.
Eridan: yup
Vriska: yeah........
ok then. Carry on I guess Eridan: god damn vris whys it still got to be so flippin awkward like this come on we used to have a good thing goin remember our campaigns that shit was epic where are you even goin to find a rivalry like that Vriska: it was fun, eridan. While it lasted.
but it ran its course! I don't know what else to tell you.
Eridan: oh as if im not so over it please spare me your disdain mindfang im workin on findin a new rivalry whichll make ours look like a kiddie game which oh by the way it was Vriska: if you say so, dualscar! Best of luck with that.
too bad the luck's all mine now! Hahahaha.
Be Future Eridan.
Eridan stands by the rightmost computer on the bottom table. The fiduspawn plush is behind him, along with a broken bow. Vriska stands off to the left and Gamzee admires his horn pile.

You are now briefly Future Eridan, in the future.
A text prompt appears.
Talk to Vriska.

Eridan: fuck that fuckin witch blew up my computer.
ok not literally the witch as in thats not literally her title or anythin
the seer I guess
fuckin lousy no good goddamn rotten seer Vriska: eridan! Do I detect black romance in the air?????????
(spade) (spade) (spade) (spade) (spade) (spade) (spade) (spade)
Eridan: shut your spidertrap witch there are serious emotions happening over here

As Vriska, walk east to Gamzee.
Talk to Gamzee.

Gamzee: vriska hey you want to uh...
Vriska: what?
Gamzee: shit, I was all going to ask if you wanted to hop in the horn pile for a bit of motherfuckin shuteye, but...
I don't think I will cause I'm pretty much scared of you, so yeah.
Vriska: aw. (smiley face with eight eyes)

Walk east to Equius
Talk to Equius.

Vriska: I must say, I am really disgusted by how you've resorted to following orders from that low class slob with the hideous mutant blood.
I thought you were better than that! I thought WE were better than that.
Equius: (Bow and arrow) i...
you're absolutely right, it's disgraceful
I think it is possibly time to admit I have some sort of problem
I would very much like to honor my position on the hemospectrum and mistreat those beneath me, and yet...
Vriska: whoa, alright! I was just messing with you, dude. As if I really give a shit about any of that!
hahahahahahahaha.

Walk north to Tavros.
Talk to Tavros

Vriska: tavros, they look amazing. YOU look amazing.
being able to walk suits you so much better. Have I ever told you how much of a loser you were when you were a cripple? It's a real shame about how that had to happen to you.
Tavros: no, but thank you for saying so,
I mean, for the good stuff you said, not necessarily the bad stuff, Vriska: you're welcome! Now, how do those bad boys handle on stairs?
Tavros: I don't know, but I've been advised to stay away from them, Vriska: worst advice you could ever receive. I demand that you spend the next several hours mastering stairs.
Tavros: uhhhh,
Vriska: come on, what would that fakey bullshit fantasy asshole Rufio say about this?
Tavros: oh, man, he would most surely be all about me climbing lots of stairs, per the reassurances that I pretend he says, and all the self esteem he insists me to have,
Vriska: exactly! Now hop to it, and don't think twice about it, or I'll know. We don't want to have to do it the hard way now, do we?
Tavros: oh my god,

Approach the transportalizer platform.
Transportalize

Vriska disappears and reappears on the center transportalizer of the crossroads. The two chests are still open.

Approach the northern transportalizer.
Transportalize

Vriska appears in the center of the ring of transportalizers with the troll's symbols. Approach the dark blue scorpio transportalizer.
Transportalize

Vriska appears in the northeast corner of a room with spiderwebs strung across the walls. There is a chest along the north wall.

Open Chest
You got a Magic 8 Ball!

There is a set of stairs to the west. Descend. The stairs continue down for a long way, slowly darkening as you descend. They slowly begin to lighten again as Vriska enters a lab.

There is a chest near the bottom of the stairs.
Open Chest
You got Tavros's severed legs!
Why...
Why would you keep these in a chest?

Go west.
A computer terminal with 12 screens, like the one Spades Slick used to observe the trolls, is along the back wall. The third screens on the second and third rows are activated. The top one shows a grey planet from a distance and the bottom shows a grey planet, but zoomed in so only about a quarter of it is on screen. Wires and other computer parts are scattered across the floor.
Examine equipment.
Another dodecascreen. Seem to be a lot of these things lying around.

Go west.
There is a large, broken vat, like the ones Karkat found the chess pieces in. There is also a chest against the wall.

Open Chest
A lance with red and yellow spiral stripes and fiduspawn plush faces on it floats out of the chest. You got the Fiduspear!

Approach the broken vat.
Examine huge broken container.
Looks like a terrible monster has escaped. Better be careful!
Haha, yeah right. You're gonna murder this thing if it crosses you.

Go west. There is another chest against the wall along with a large computer of some sort. It has one large screen on the wall and two smaller screens above a long control panel. It resembles the meteor detection system Rose found.

Open Chest
A blurry poster of a troll in front of a crescent moon comes out of the chest.
You got a Fairy poster!
Faaaaaaake.

Approach the machine.
Examine equipment.
A monitor with a map of some place on Alternia, displaying impact sites. It looks like it crashed and froze at some point during the reckoning.

There is a transportalizer in the northwest corner.
Transportalize
Vriska appears on a transportalizer in a tiled room with no walls visible, nor anything else.

Walk north.
A massive, mutated chess creature blocks a hallway.
Who's this douche bag?

STRIFE!
Spider's Claw begins to play.
Vriska dodges onscreen, facing a massive creature with two heads, an udder, and wings. Its heads are wearing spiky knight helmets. The left half of its body is black and the right half is white.

Press space.
Two options appear.
Aggress
Steal

Aggress
You ain't got your dice on you! SO STUPID!!!!!!!!

Steal
GANK HIS LUCK!!!!!!!
Vriska's talksprite appears against a flashing green background. She flips her hair and a laser shoots out of her eye. It returns to the battle and minus all the luck flashes over the monster as plus all the luck appears over Vriska. The floor suddenly collapses out from under the creature and it falls off into the void. Vriska hurls herself over the gap and lands on the other side, which returns to a walkthrough. Vriska's Theme begins to play again.

Go north.
A new area loads. It looks the same as the old area. Head north again.

Computer equipment and a chest are pressed up against the back wall. To the right of the chest, there is a wide doorway with a garage-style door closed over it.
Open Chest
A set of 8 blue, 8-sided dice come out of the chest.
You got the Flourite Octet!
Maybe you should keep these on you in the future.

There is a table in the northeast corner with a computer on it. Approach it.
Open Doors

The door opens. Go through it.
A new area loads. This room is filled with boondollars and boonbucks, most of which are piled in the center of the room.

Examine boondollar pile.
Lousy stupid goddamn Terezi, finding all those boonbonds and instantly rendering your fortune worthless. You'll show her. That snotty rich kid too.

On the west wall, there are four chests. Open them from bottom to top.

Open Chest
You got a Heap of Flarp Manuals!

Open Chest
You got a pair of Rocketboots!

Open Chest
You got a Cuttlefish!
Vriska drops this on the floor, where it wiggles its tentacles in a puddle of water. A moment later, it begins to flash, then disappears.

Open Chest
You got a Broken 8 ball!
Very bad luck! Whatever. You'll just steal some more.

Head north. There is another computer on a table with a boonbuck sitting next to it.
Unlock door.

You have not set the password for this room yet. You have no reason to hide anything in the super secret back room as of this moment! Perhaps you will in the future.

Be Future Vriska?
Yes
You are now Future Vriska.

The pile of boonbucks and boondollars is gone, leaving only a handful of stray ones behind.

Unlock door.
The door opens.
Enter.

Vriska appears in what seems to be an empty room. Shrine begins to play.

Walk north.
The back wall comes into view. There are two chests, one to the west and one to the east. Spiderwebs hang from the walls. The rest of the wall is decorated with posters of Nic Cage. One has a heart drawn around his face. 'Yeah (heart)' is written beneath them in blue.

Open west chest
You got a Bust of Nick Cage!
Open east chest
A salamander, who is blowing bubbles from its mouth, comes out of the chest.
You got a Wild Consort!

Approach the wall.
Examine Cage shrine.
The three images of Cage—him pointing, him smiling awkwardly, and him giving a sly smile, appear. Nic Cage Song begins to play.

Go south and exit the shrine.

Upon exiting, Vriska's Theme begins to play again.

Examine former boondollar pile.
You gave all your money to John. Gotta keep him competitive with Dave! John will be the best human boy there is. You will make sure of it.

Exit the room.
Be Past Vriska?
Yes.

Go south, back out to the room where the monster broke part of the path. Vriska jumps it easily, landing with a slide on the far side. Use the transportalizer at the south end of the room.
Vriska appears near the meteor detection machine.
Go east, back up the stairs, to the transportalizer platform.
Transportalize.
Vriska appears on her transportalizer in the ring of transportalizers with the troll's symbols.
Use the center transportalizer.
Transportalize.
Vriska appears at the north transportalizer of the crossroads.

You could go to the south transportalizer, but it's the same room you already explored as Karkat.
Use the center transportalizer.
Transportalize.
Vriska reappears in the computer room.

Walk northwest to Nepeta.
Talk to Nepeta.

Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) nepeta giggles at the spidergirls funny googly eye. She just cant seem to get used to it!
Vriska: marquise mindfang shares the innocent young catgirl's giggle, as she surreptitiously reaches for an ornate dagger concealed in her boot!
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) nooooo dont roleplay as mindfang! (sad face with two mouths) you only do terrible things when you are her why dont you pretend to be something cute for a change?
Vriska: how about my spidersona? It's adorable!
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) no its not! You only do terrible things as your spidersona too
I changed my mind, why dont we just not do any roleplaying instead Vriska: (sad face with eight eyes)
Walk west to Feferi.
Talk to Feferi.

Vriska: so! You sure seem excited about the alien kids. What gives????????
Feferi: glub... I wouldn't say that.
Vriska: oh?
Feferi: the whole thing doesn't seem like it's worth getting worked up about, to be honest.
Vriska: (blank face with eight eyes) Feferi: sigh. They're just kind of dull.
life is dull and uninteresting.
I don't know, maybe I'm just a little depressed.
you probably wouldn't understand.
Vriska: sure I would! We all have our off days. Hey, if you need someone to talk to, I'm...
Feferi: pfffffffffffffff hehehehe!
psyyyyyyche hee hee hee hoo hoo hoo! (very happy face with a tiara and goggles) holy crap did I get you good! Hey, sollux! Did you catch any of that?
a live one jumped right into my boat! A real suckerfish! Woohooohoo. How do you like that, spiderhag! Sea dwellers represent!!!
Vriska: that was...
surprisingly nasty of you.
I'm impressed!
Feferi: thanks. I hope I didn't jeopardize our friendship with that little stunt! (happy face with a tiara and goggles) Vriska: friendship? I don't know if... wait a minute. Why you!!!!!!! You almost got me again!
have I ever told you how awesome you are, peixes?

Walk north to Aradia.
Talk to Aradia.

Vriska: hey dead girl! How's being dead treating you?
Aradia: couldnt I ask you the same thing
Vriska: yeah, sure! If you wanted to be technically inaccurate. It would still burn though, so touche!
Aradia: its really weird that you keep antagonizing me
I could snap your neck with a twitch
Vriska: yeah but you won't!
Aradia: ok
what do you want Vriska: you saw the demon up close, right? You fought him! Or at least your doppelgangers did.
Aradia: yes
Vriska: what was he like?
Aradia: ...
what do you want to know specifically Vriska: primarily I'm interested in your take on his weaknesses, tactical disadvantages, stuff like that.
Aradia: (wide eyed blank face)
are you seriously intending to fight him
Vriska: wouldn't you like to know!!!!!!!
Aradia: not especially

Walk west to Sollux.
Talk to Sollux.
Vriska: sollux, I never got to simultaneously thank you and reprimand you for tracing that money transfer.
on the one hand, it made terezi rich, and now she won't stop lording it over me!
Sollux: ok, I'm pretty much 100% positive she's not actually doing that, but ok.
Vriska: shh! But on the other hand, you've opened up a whole world to me with this discovery. So many people to meddle with, so many plans to hatch. so really, my reaction to it is twofold. Somewhat bipolar if you will. Don't you think that's appropriate?
Sollux: man, just...
go away.
I'm not in the glubbing mood.
Vriska: stop saying fish things, everyone thinks it's annoying!!!!!!!

Walk southwest to Terezi.
Talk to Terezi.
Vriska: the scourge sisters are back in action! Yeah!!!!!!!
Terezi: no we are not! Will you stop with that already???
Vriska: sure we are! You'll find out. Just give it a few hours.
Terezi: I will give you a few drubbings!
Vriska: yes!!!!!!! That's the spirit, redglare.
Terezi: blar, please do not start using my old flarping name, it's so embarrassing

Be Terezi
Terezi's theme begins to play.
Approach Vriska
Talk to Vriska.
Vriska: hey, if it isn't miss moneybags! How are you enjoying your fabulous wealth!
if it was me, I would feel ashamed to get rich that way. By having a secret admirer just hand it to me like that, rather than earning it. That's just me though!
Terezi: god, your jealously is ridiculous! Nobody cares about stockpiling meaningless treasure other than you. Will you grow up???
Vriska: I guess you're right. I'm just giving you a hard time!
you know, like the good old days. Don't you miss our friendly rivalry sometimes?
Terezi: hahaha, friendly?????
Vriska: sure! So to speak.
anyway, just so you know, you're not the only one who can play a chumpy boy, and manipulate him into doing what you want.
in fact, I'm not even going to use any powers! Just to prove it's no big deal.
Terezi: what the hell are you talking about Vriska: you'll see!!!!!!! Oops, smell. Haha, ain't it a bummer you never died?????????
Terezi: no (Very happy face with furrowed brows) Vriska: oh well. Anyway, let's get this party started. I declare the chumpy impressionable human boy-off to be.......
oooooooo! (smiling, winking face with eight eyes)
Terezi: ugh, you are so crazy

Walk northeast to Sollux. As Terezi walks, she taps her cane out in front of her.
Talk to Sollux.
Sollux: are you still spying on that insufferable prick.
seriously a dude gives a girl a few bucks and suddenly she cant keep her nose off him, it is so Terezi: shut up sollux hes cool
I dont get why you dont like him, he reminds me of you a bit Sollux: you think im cool?
Terezi: sometimes!
Sollux: how often?
don't say half the time.
Terezi: (blank face with furrowed brows)
Sollux: oh god I walked right into that one didn't i.

Walk south to Feferi.
Talk to Feferi.

Feferi: terezi, we can't just hide here forever! We have to kill the demon!
Terezi: I know! But how? He seems invincible if a thousand aradiabots couldn't kill him, what hope do we have?
Feferi: the humans! They are the answer.
Terezi: hahahahaha, seriously?
Feferi: yes!!! I am sure of it.
Terezi: um, ok, if you say so feferi!

Walk northwest to Aradia.
Talk to Aradia.

Aradia: oh is that what feferi thinks thats nice haven't you understood anything about how paradox space works of course they are the solution
but they are also the problem every effect is also its own cause our two universes exist on opposing sides of a mobius strip which is of course nothing but contradiction
enjoy engineering the present conundrum as you try to solve it im completely done with this Terezi: great talking to you aradia, that was a blast as usual

Walk west to Nepeta
Talk to Nepeta.

Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) terezi!!! So tell me! Who is your favorite?
Terezi: favorite what?
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) human kid!
oh of course, you like akwete purrmusk with the black glasses!
he is pretty cute, but mine is jade Terezi: oh really?
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) yes, I have tried to make friends with her, but so far she thinks
I am just teasing her!!!! its pretty furstrating. I will purrsevere though

Walk south to Tavros.
Talk to Tavros.

Terezi: looking pretty cool tavros! (Smiley face with furrowed brows) Tavros: thanks, I feel great, and really confident suddenly, like, as if rufio gave me both the high fives he has, and then sort of one of those bro massages, as if to say, you're the champ, or that kind of thing., terezi: dont let anyone ever tell you rufio's not real Terezi: if you believe hard enough in imaginary things, that makes them slightly less fake! Tavros: okay, that's great advice to know,, now I'm going to get some more leg practice in, I feel like I could take on all the stairs in paradox space, and I just pretended as hard as I could that rufio winked in agreeance, see you later, after, I'm definitely successful at all the things I try,

Tavros leaves, transportalizing to somewhere else on the meteor.

Walk south to Equius
Talk to Equius.

Equius: (Bow and arrow) it's mystifying in spite of my warnings, he seems absolutely committed to being attracted to cases of stairs like a goshdarned magnetron now that I think about it, I should probably deactivate his pelvic magnetron

Walk south to Karkat, who is standing by Vriska's computer.
Talk to Karkat.

Terezi: arent you at least a little disappointed we never got to hang out together on prospit?
Karkat: I don't know. I guess? it's not like we didn't get to hang out plenty of other places.
Terezi: you dont get it! There were all these things I was planning on showing you and stuff we could have done together it was supposed to be special dummy Karkat: what was so special about it? The fact that it was a moon made of gold? big deal. The place was way too bright and garish.
Terezi: aaaaaargh, you are so frustrating! just never mind (frowning face with furrowed brows)

Walk west to Kanaya.
Three options appear.
Talk to Kanaya.
Be future Kanaya.
Cancel.

Talk to Kanaya.

Terezi: hey kanaya, are you still ogling her?
Kanaya: what is that what im doing Terezi: yes it is obvious why the infatuation with that particular human Kanaya: hmm I guess I find her sort of intoxicating
Terezi: ohhhhhhhhhhh???????? (wide-eyed, very happy face with furrowed brows)
Be Future Kanaya.
Kanaya and Karkat stand in the northwest corner of the computer room. Terezi, Sollux, and Equius all look at a smear of ash where Aradiabot was.
You are now briefly Future Kanaya, in the future.

Talk to Karkat.

Kanaya: hey have you ever heard of the green sun?
Karkat: yeah. It's got something to do with their plan to kill noir.
Kanaya: I see
Kanaya: anything more specific than that Karkat: nope. I've got no idea what it is, what is does, what its role in the plan is, or if it's got any chance of working.
we should probably worry about our own problems.

As Terezi again, walk north to Gamzee.
Talk to Gamzee.

Gamzee: hey can I interest you in kickin the wicked shit in the horn pile for a few zees?
cost you one pinch of special stardust.
Terezi: thanks gamz but no I am not tired
I may go for another unexpected honk jump soon though Gamzee: oh please no dont go motherfuckin getting my scare on like that, I cant be hardly handling that noise.
Terezi: sorry but when a girl has to get her honk jump on there is just no stopping her Gamzee: okay well maybe warn me then maybe.
Terezi: no promises!
Gamzee: (sad face with a round nose)
Terezi: hehehehehehehe

Walk west to Eridan
Talk to Eridan.

Eridan: hey ter can you go give that four horned mustard blooded land licking sack of rubbish over there a message for me tell him to put his honey where his mouth is and meet me outside for another duel Terezi: I am not mediating between you two!
seriously, could you make your advances any more obvious eridan?
if youre waxing ashen for me, fine, i... Guess im flattered??? but hes totally not even interested in the type of
uh...
rivalry you want with him, ok?
Eridan: sweet stinkin murder I am truly pathetic arent i Terezi: yes, absolutely

Approach the transportalizer pad.
Transportalize
Terezi appears at the center of the crossroads. Go north and use the transportalizer there.
Transportalize
Terezi appears in the ring of transportalizers.
Go to the teal libra one.
Transportalize

Terezi appears on a transportalizer in a hallway. The walls are flat and grey and the floor is made of teal-grey cobblestones. A path extends off to the west and another curves to the northeast.

Go northeast.
The path dead ends in a chest not far away. Part of another room can be seen, but not reached.

Open Chest
A yellow and green scalemate comes out of the chest.
You got Son of Lemonsnout!
He smells no less sweet than the corrupt senator. And yet his lies... how they stink. The lemon never falls far from the tree!

Return and take the west path.
There is a set of stairs that go up. Ascend.
There is a small platform and another set of stairs extends to the north. Ascend again.
A third set curves around to the east. Ascend a third time!
The floor changes to metallic tiles and the walls become black. Ascend another set of stairs.
And another. And another. Then two more. Then an extremely long one.
At the top of the incredibly long, convoluted staircase, there is a small room. At the east end of it, there is a transportalizer platform.
Transportalize

Terezi appears in a room with stone walls and metallic floor tiles. Along the center of the room, every third tile is much darker. There are four dark tiles in total. There are also four vats containing mutant chess pieces, like the ones Karkat found after taking the south transportalizer at the crossroads. These vats alternate between being on the right and on the left of the dark tiles.

Head northeast and examine the first vat.
Examine jarred fellow.
Ok, seriously, why does this puzzle have to be here?

Push the 'jarred fellow' to the dark tile on his left. He clicks into place.

Head northwest to the next vat.
Examine pickled clone.
I mean really. What's the point? Who the fuck isn't going to figure this out?

Push the 'pickled clone' to the right until he clicks into place on his dark tile.

Go northeast to the next vat.
Examine slumbering agent.
This just literally serves no purpose. Who designed this? Why??

Push the 'slumbering agent' to the left until he clicks into place on the tile.

Go northwest to the final vat.
Examine brined fetal carapacian.
Ok, THERE. Puzzle solved. That was SO HARD. The lab technicians had too much time on their hands.

Push the 'brined fetal carapacian' to its tile. As it clicks into place, the room shakes violently.
Go north.
Along the back wall, there is computer equipment and a narrow opening to an equally narrow hallway. Go down the hall.

A new area loads, but it's still just a narrow hallway. A short distance further, the hallway opens up into a room with metallic tiles. There is a garage-like door next to a computer terminal and some computer equipment along the back wall. The room continues off to the east.

Go to the computer.
Open doors.

The door opens up. Enter it.
Inside is a small round room containing only a transportalizer.
Transportalize.

Terezi appears in the room that could be viewed from the dead end with the chest. In it, there are four chests.

Open them from left to right.

Open Chest
You got A Boonbuck!

How trivial it seems now compared to your fortune of boonbonds. You chuck it into the chasm below.

Open Chest
A poster that has some sort of swirling purple design on it appears.
You got a Fairy poster!
Yep, pretty much nothing that's not fake about fairies, that's for sure.

Open Chest
The machines Aradia used to travel through time appear.
You got a Music box time machine!

Open Chest
Fake eyes and a nose appear.
You got a Beagle Aegis!
Wearing this, you are all but indestructible.

Return to the transportalizer platform.
Transportalize

Exit the room and go east.

There are piles of computer equipment, what appears to be an arcade machine, a chest, and another doorway.

Open Chest
A red crocodile pops out of the chest while opening and closing its mouth quickly.
You got A Wild consort!

Enter the next room.
There is another transportalizer.
Transportalize
Terezi appears in a stone room containing only the transportalizer platform and a chest.

Open Chest
You got a pair of Rocket Wings!
Pswooop!

Return to the transportalizer.
Transportalize

Exit the room.
Continue east along the corridor. There is another chest, a toppled arcade machine, and some sort of control panel with computer equipment strewn across it.

Open Chest
You got a flarp manual!

Past the control panel, there is another door. Enter.
It's another room with only a transportalizer platform.
Transportalize

Terezi appears in a small round room with a cobblestone floor. There are paths extending to the north, west, and south.

Go north.
There is another small round room, but this one contains 3 chests

Open them from left to right.

Open Chest
A red sword with jagged teeth on the edge of the blade and a purple handle comes out of the chest.
You got the Demonbane Ragripper!
Deadliest chainsaw in the universe.

Open Chest
A black and white drawing of a muscley centaur lifting weights comes out of the chest.
You got a Gorgeous Piece of Fine Art.
Absolutely breathtaking.

Open Chest
You got Deuce clubs.
Least deadly pair of juggling clubs in the universe.

Return to the center room and go south.
There is another small room, though this one only contains 2 chests.

Open west Chest
A red scalemate with a white noose around its neck comes out of the chest.
You got the assassinated corpse of Liaison Pumpkinsnuffle!
Some bastard got to one of your key witnesses! The plot thickens.

Open east Chest
A few boondollars come out of the chest.
You got like 13 boondollars or something.
Whoop dee doo! You toss them into the abyss and make a wish.
Return to the center room and head west.
There is another round room. This one contains a single chest.

Open Chest
A red, bloody-looking weapon comes out of the chest. It is a double-ended weapon that looks like someone crossed one of Feferi's double-sided tridents with a lance, a battleaxe, and a brain.
You got a BRAINFORK!
For some reason you guys like to nab each others weapons and tuck them away in your own private chests. It's kind of silly. Seriously, what do you need this thing for??
Return to the transportalizer platform and leave.
Transportalize

Exit the room.
Beyond that door, there is more broken computer equipment. The hallway turns to the south, then to the west. The wall just after the second curve has chalk graffiti on the wall. A scribbly red drawing shows a troll with sharp teeth and L-shaped horns. It's labeled 'His Tyranny'. Beyond the graffiti, the hallway widens and alcoves are set into the wall. In the first alcove, there is a yellow scalemate being hanged on a white rope, and a chest.

Open Chest
You got your trusty Drawing Chalk!

Continue west.
There is another alcove with a chest in it, but this chest is already open. Just past the open chest, there is a transportalizer.
Transportalize

Terezi appears on a flat, metallic floor with no walls. There is a chest and a smellescope to her right. The smellescope has an alert bubble over it that contains something yellow.

Go to the smellescope.
Take a whiff?
Yellow streaks pulse across a black screen. Some of them are marked with red.
Prospit's toast!

After leaving the smellescope, the chest opens on its own.
Examine chest.
There's nothing in here! Perhaps in the future you will think of something important to put in here.
Be Future Terezi?
Yes.

You are now Future Terezi
Terezi stands in the center of the screen. The chest is now closed and the smellescope's alert has something purple.

Try the smellescope again
Take a whiff?
The meteor has rotated. Derse is now within sniffing range.
Smears similar to the ones she smelled before appear, but these are purple.
The demon just destroyed Derse a few minutes ago. Smells like grape jelly. And burning.

Open Chest.
You got the Dragonsuit!
You don your extremely stylish dragonsuit.
Now that stubborn Pouncellor will no longer have any excuse to withhold evidence critical to the case of the prosecution!

A red, hooded cape appears on Terezi. The hood looks like a dragon's head and spines.

Return to the transportalizer platform.

Transportalize

Terezi, still Future Terezi, appears in the hallway you just left as Past Terezi. Scalemates are now scattered across the floor and the chest that was open is closed. A green scalemate, a purple scalemate, and an orange scalemate are all hanged in its alcove. The wall to the right of the alcove has scribbly chalk drawings of Dave and Terezi. Terezi is colored in mostly blue except for her glasses and shoes. Dave is colored in white.

Open Chest
A drawing of Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff comes out of the chest.
You got some Gift art from a cool friend!

The drawing of His Tyranny has had a Sweet Bro and Hella Jeff style face drawn on it and hehehe written in below it.

Head north, then west along the hallway.
Approach the computer that opens the doors.
Open doors.
The doors are jammed from overuse. That's what you get for hoarding so much useless bullshit in your private chests!

Go south, back into the jar puzzle room.
Use the transportalizer at the south end of it.

Terezi appears in the room at the top of the winding staircase.
Descend the many stairs and go back to the transportalizer platform.
Transportalize

Terezi reappears in the ring of transportalizers. Nepeta is standing by the center platform.
Talk to Nepeta.

Terezi: the mighty and astounding dragonyyyd legislacerator enters the esteemed pouncellors office with an urgent but friendly requisition pursed magically in her majestic snout
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) the distinguished pouncellor nods in the most dignified and legal of manners at the dashing and well dressed legislacerator
she double checks a series of impurrtant legal clawses and rubber stamps them with wild abandon for the most judicial sort of approval pawsible
this all looks to be in order! She said
please follow me! (cat face with two mouths)
she also said

Nepeta goes west, through what was seemingly a solid wall. Follow her.
After walking through the void for a few moments, a hallway appears. It goes west for a short distance, then turns north. At the end of the hall, there is a small room with a chest and a pile of multi-colored sticks. Nepeta is standing near the door.

Talk to Nepeta.
Nepeta: (Cat face with two mouths) here you go! Feel free to borrow it as long as you like oh! Also as tempting as it may seem, please dont go to sleep in that comfy pile of wands there! both prospit and derse dreamers have been banned from napping until further notice!

Open Chest.
You got a Drawing tablet!

Approach the pile.
Examine pile of shitty wands.
At least someone has the decency to keep his trash tucked away.
Take nap in pile of shitty wands?
Yes.
Are you sure? Might not be such a hot idea.
Yes
Terezi lays down in the pile of wands and goes to sleep. A soft lullaby begins to play.
Game over

Press space bar.
Terezi, still as future Terezi in the red dragon costume, appears on the central transportalizer in the room with the ring of transportalizers.

Use the center transportalizer.
Transportalize

Be Past Terezi?
Yes.

Terezi appears at the crossroads, without her dragon costume. Go to the southern transportalizer.
Transportalize

Go west, down the stairs.
Tavros is laying at the bottom of the second set of stairs.
Talk to Tavros

Tavros: I was warned about them, and yet, I threw caution to the wind,
it turned out that,
rufio was almost as wrong as,
he was fake,

Press Control and T to enter trickster mode.

A strange, glitched screen appears. Random letters are scattered across a grey screen. Karkat stands in the bottom left corner. A strange combination of John and Vriska flips its hair. Glitchy music plays.
The screen clears, the music stops, and Terezi appears in a small, intricately decorated room. There are four characters walking in place on one side of a long desk. On the other side, Gamzee's dancing next to a gramophone and typewriter. The four unknown characters are the cast of Earthbound. One is a boy in a striped shirt and baseball cap. One is a boy with a single twist of black hair. One is a boy with a blonde bowl cut and glasses. One is a girl with a pink dress and shoulder length hair.
Approach the desk that has Gamzee on the other side.
Many prompts appear.
Talk.
Talk.

Oah man how did you even get in here it's like some sort of miracle...

For each of the other prompts, excluding Cancel, the song in question plays.

Walk south and exit the room. Terezi reappears in the main computer room in a blue flash, having completed all known sections of the walkthrough.

John: Connect to Jade.

[Image description: John still sits on the edge of the building with the flashing sphirograph alert over his cosbytop. Now, he's smiling at it and the sburb server CD's case sits on the ground next to him. A second image shows Jade, asleep on her bed in a strange purple landscape with white streaks across a navy blue sky. Many of her stuffed animals are scattered on the ground around her and on her bed, including a green squiddle perched on her head. Her lunchtop sits at the foot of her bed.]

Aw, there she is. All tuckered out. You wonder what she is dreaming about? Surely something adorable.

Anyway, guess it's time to get down to business and save her life! You prepare to initiate an uninterrupted sequence of life-saving events.

John: Deploy... huh?

[Image description: John looks back over his shoulder as something casts a large shadow over him. The cosbytop blinks.]

Nannasprite: hoo hoo hoo!
john, you remind me so much of your father when he was your age. He was just as easily bested by this crafty old prankstress!
John: really?
Nannasprite: yes. It would be many years before he would take the gambit in an exchange with your nanna.
John: but nanna, did you know he is not really my dad? And also, I am not technically your grandson.
you are actually sort of my mother.
Nannasprite: of course I knew this, john! I have known for many years.
I have also known that in a sense, you are my father as well. You were the one to push all those buttons, after all!
John: huh, oh yeah.
don't you find it all a little strange?
Nannasprite: john, I am the ghost of an old lady with one arm who is dressed like a clown. Why would that seem strange to me?
John: heheh.
so where have you been, nanna? I have been looking all over for you.
Nannasprite: I have been looking for you too, dear!

Next

[Image description: John looks at Nannasprite. A light blue pendant hovers next to her.]

John: you have?
Nannasprite: yes! It seems you have been rising through the rungs of your echeladder quite swiftly.
John: yeah!
now I am an ectobiolo... ectobiblio... Shit!
(oops! Sorry.)
ectobioblobabby sitter.
damn it, you know what I mean.
Nannasprite: yes, that is quite high. You have climbed so much faster than I did in my youth. I am so proud of you!
John: thanks!
Nannasprite: you should have returned sooner! I could have given you this boon at a much lower rung.
John: boon?
Nannasprite: here, john. Take this.

Next

[Image description: John, who is still covered in pie remnants, holds the pendant, which is no longer glowing. It is a round, white charm about the size of an american half dollar with a green spirograph etched into the surface. He stares at it in wonder.]

John: ok. What is it?
Nannasprite: you can use it to summon me wherever you go. now we needn't endure those long spells without a good visit!
John: oh cool, that is great!
Nannasprite: and now, the most important question of all. when was the last time you have eaten anything, young man??
John: hmm, I guess it has been a good while!
I've been snacking on gushers a whole lot. Bluh...
I never realized how terrible they were, actually.

Next

[Image description: Nannasprite moves closer to the bed and makes a spectral oven. John grins at her.]

spritelog
Nannasprite: that is completely unacceptable.
Nannasprite: I will prepare you a healthy home cooked meal while you relax in your ghost bed and rescue your paradox sister.
John: oh boy!
Nannasprite: what would you like? Name what your heart desires. I will use my spooky ghost powers to make it.
John: wow, hmm...
Nannasprite: why, john! Do you hear that sound?
John: uh... No?
Nannasprite: it sounds as if your meal is nearly finished!
John: really? Already?
Nannasprite: bzzzzz!

Next

[Image description: The oven opens and many chinese fingertraps spew out, along with a beam of light. John shouts and the prankster's gambit bar flashes violently.]

C.A.: who are you tryin to convince with this ludicrous poppycock
T.T.: ?
C.A.: magic is NOT REAL whatever youre doin its not real its somethin else outright entirely its fancy and impressive and all but its not the fuckin figmental storybook claptrap you wanna make out like it is so how about you get off your high skyhorse
T.T.: Why do you keep addressing me as if I'm some sort of spokesperson for the reality of magic?
You can't needle me into a defensive posture on the subject. I just don't care.
C.A.: youre not usin magic just DEAL WITH IT
These are science wands. I am a charlatan.
C.A.: ok i didnt say that i think you wear the role pretty well which is somethin i can appreciate theres a lot of showmanship thats put in to comin off as a diabolical sort T.T.: Thanks for the insinuation that I'm making an effort to project myself as a cartoon villain.
What a compliment!
C.A.: well fine you dont have to behave villainous if youre bent up on actin against the grain a your nobility or somesuch
i can play that role its not like i ever didnt get my gils dirty before T.T.: Nobility? What are you talking about?
C.A.: well arent you
T.T.: No. What gave you that idea?
C.A.: the way you
ok
i had a misconclusion about that so my fault obviously you got rich blood so maybe when you crash landed you werent recognized for it by whatever vehicle upholds the class structure in human society
T.T.: That is exactly what happened. You figured it out.
C.A.: must of been fuckin brutal raisin up a commonblood when you knew you were better than everybody and its probably got you all messed up inside but maybe theres hope for you see i got a lot a experience bein nobility so ill let you know if you got a shot in hell at cuttin it pinkscarf
T.T.: ...
C.A.: fakemage pinkscarf how does that sound
T.T.: You're a complete idiot.
C.A.: see this is good i think this could be a good thing
T.T.: What?
C.A.: this thing we got goin you obviously hate me and i think i got it in me to get the dark propensities smolderin and were both obviously dangerous elites in nature i think theres somethin there i mean look at how you even came into the world T.T.: And how was that?
C.A.: killed a fuckin fuck ton of marine life accidental doin thats all i ever done practically the ocean was my killin cauldron T.T.: Accidentally?
Or on porpoise?
C.A.: hahahahaha see youre good with fish puns too i got so many a those you have no idea
i just think theres a fate thing here i mean i dont mean to strike you as too forwardsuch but are you seein where im goin with this Pass.
C.A.: look i understand you dont understand that kind of thing in your culture i get that but maybe i could teach you to get it
T.T.: That's really sweet of you to offer.
C.A.: yeah and in return maybe you could teach me how to bullshit magic like that T.T.: You want to learn magic?
C.A.: yes teach me your secrets witch
Consider this your first lesson in showmanship.

just stop stop stop stop stop stop stop maybe if i say stop enough something else will happen instead of the thing that does T.T.: Hi.
A.A.: you aren't going to stop are you
T.T.: Do you want me to stop using magic too?
A.A.: no I don't care about that its your quest to tear your session apart i know its exciting breaking stuff
and not worrying about it but there are consequences to humoring your destructive impulses and consequences to following
T.T.: ?
A.A.: what they say
T.T.: Who?
A.A.: you know who
T.T.: You sound frustrated.
Like you know you can't change my mind.
I presume your future footage of me has already verified this?
A.A.: i don't even need to watch your future actions to know this the knowing is the same as this elusive feeling of sickness thats been with me for years probably since before i died come to think of it it was always a big setup
T.T.: You died?
Revived via dream self, I take it?
A.A.: no
i never had one sort of a special case here
T.T.: Hmm.
A.A.: i just wish back when i was behaving recklessly
i had someone to tell me to stop listening even if i ended up ignoring their advice it would have been nice
T.T.: What did they tell you?
A.A.: i was assured i would be saving my race which is maybe still true i dont know but if it is then it will be the punchline to the vast joke
T.T.: Is that anything like the ultimate riddle?
A.A.: you really dont understand anything yet do you and yet you bug and fuss and meddle with things more dangerous than you can imagine

Aradia: Randomly explode.

[Image description: Aradiabot rests her chin in her hands and looks at her computer screen. In the background, Eridan and Equius stare at the smoldering remnants of Eridan's computer.]

You fail to randomly explode.

Of course you were just venting about all that. Why would you blow yourself up on account of that silly conversation? What rational reason could you possibly have to blow yourself up, or explode from any cause for that matter, now or at any point in the near future?

It just makes no sense.

purr purr purr.
Rose: jaspers, I am releasing you now.
you are free to go do as you please.
Jaspersprite: really rose ok if thats what you want I will go do that.
oh rose!
rose did you get to do any of the things that are important to your quest that I said?
did you learn to play the rain rose?
Rose: not yet, jaspers.
it's a little complicated, but I believe I've embarked on another quest, one which surpasses the scope of the objectives local to this planet.
Jaspersprite: meow what (cat face)
Rose: I'm saying there's something more important to accomplish now. Something more important than creating a universe.
Jaspersprite: oh thats ok rose I wouldnt want you to feel obligated to do that.
I think that winning this game and getting the prize is up to you and your friends.
you get to decide whether or not you feel its right to do that and what kind of prize you want to make!
it's part of becoming who youre supposed to become I think.
but I really think you should consider going on the quest I said anyway!
Rose: why?
Jaspersprite: because its not just an important thing to do to win the game.
I dont know I hope im not being too pushy rose its not my place to be im just your cat!
but the thing that made me how I am now seems to really want me to say this to you.
your quest is really important for you to do.
ot really because thats how to get the prize.
but because its what you need to do for yourself!
Rose: I see. I promise I will consider it seriously then.
Jaspersprite: oh good!
I love you rose! I always have even when you were a little girl and I was an alive cat.
Rose: thanks, jaspers, that's nice to hear.
it's hard to remember, but I'm pretty sure I felt the same way back then.
Jaspersprite: it was fun getting to be your cat again rose even if it was just for a little while and also while being a princess ghost.
bye rose!
Rose: see you, jaspers!
if you see my mother in the course of your travels, tell her I said hello.
Jaspersprite: ok I will do that! (Cat face)

Dave: Get hassled.

One is a royal blue sagittarius, one is an indigo capricorn, and one is a teal libra.]

T.G.: what
T.C.: hah, see bro, this is how I roll
I supply the horns toward you, metaphorically speaking see, like that's kind of a troll metaphor you getting your horns all handed to you, if you peeps anatomically were such to be like that doing that's to mean like you got motherfuckin sassed out as in trolled
but bro when I tell that noise at you im like doing a double metaphor all the way across skaia (happy face with a round nose) because my horns im all about are these funny honk horns instead of head horns like what does clowns use and when I'm all to invite you to get a little motherfuckin squeeze on it'll be a downed in, straight flat, board sided miracle if you don't get scared shittent clowncars that's how we play the motherfuckin game

C.T.: (Bow and arrow) I'm attempting to determine what it is that ranks humans in their class structure.
I'd assumed the color of your blood would serve as the basis for placement in the hierarchy, as would be expected and natural, but I was mistaken.
I was similarly in error believing the color of what you type corresponds with the color of your blood.
T.G.: it does bro
my bloods red
C.T.: (Bow and arrow) Well, obviously.
I understand that now, I'm not a fool.
T.G.: on earth class is sorted out by who can drop the most delirious flow.
C.T.: (Bow and arrow) I see.
So, in other words, a sort of blood letting ritual.
To assess whose pulse is steadiest and thus whose flow is the most STRONG.
T.G.: no
well yeah

C.T.: (Bow and arrow) Really.
So your social echelons are dictated by the noble artform of the ancient slam poets
Or the Earth equivalent.
T.G.: yeah well used to be dictated
til the rapocalypse happened
I still believe though in my heart so long as it keeps thumping the righteous beat subwoofing out devotion every which way that he will come

Would you choose if duly cued to put your bruising clop to a flock of naughty robotics
T.G.: ahaha wow YES
dont really understand that but yes

C.T.: (Bow and arrow) Giving up on the treasure so easily
It strikes me as an artifact rooted in universal lore of nobility
As valuable an asset as strength is
And as much as anyone with his wits is fond of being STRONG

And surely in this case, to retrieve without damaging Hence your no doubt frustrating restraint

You like myself are unfortunately limited in the weaponry you may wield
Ironically the training which has ennobled you beyond others has made instruments of high blood brittle in your hands
Hence the state of your favored weapon, hobbling your specibus party

T.G.: god everything is about parties with you
G.C.: dave there is nothing even close to being better than parties, come on T.G.: ok
lets see some fine art then G.C.: why it just so happens that I have a fresh masterpiece for you hot off the canvas and on to your computer glasses where it will sizzle your eyeballs trssssssssssss http://tinyurl.com/davexdave

[Note: This link opens a comic. It's drawn in a very scribbly style, like Terezi's other drawings, but seems to be a bit less chaotic.

Dave stands against a yellow background.
durrrr feelin pretty cool and tired i guess i will go to sleep arbitrarily here a hurp hurp

Dave puts his hands on his cheeks and turns to face the viewer. The background turns bright green.
totally no reason to ever take my shades off ever!!!!! oops i dont use shout poles i forgot

Dave lays down on the ground and sticks his legs up in the air. The background turns black. A black cane with a red tip comes into the panel and Drubs him on the head.
i am all but irresponsive to the most sensless of awesome girl drubbings

Dave curls up on the ground and Davesprite wraps his wings around him. The background becomes dark purple.

ZZZZZ (heart)

Davesprite touches Dave's face with his wing. The background becomes black. Dave says "zzz muh" Davesprite says "shh only dreams now" in a speech bubble that extends outside the panel.

T.G.: ok that is every bit as shitty as all your other drawings
G.C.: shut up!
I am still sort of getting the hang of this thing
I will get better (tongue sticking out face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: I like it though you dont gotta improve art skills are overrated
G.C.: thanks dave
T.G.: its kind of weird though what the hell is actually going on here does this mean something
G.C.: yes
it is the comic representation of the next leg of your wonderful journey you know, the one that I am helping you with every step of the way (happy face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: yeah
but why
G.C.: I already explained this to you dave the coolkid has to be the best, and I have to make him the best T.G.: alright but I mean even if that made sense which it kind of doesnt karkat was saying how it was all a game and youre just flirtin and stuff and that we should quit it because he doesnt want you in my grill or me in yours or whatever G.C.: oh, is that what he said??? hmm I wonder if he could reek of jealousy any more pungently T.G.: well yeah thats what I thought too and really if we got no other reason keep rolling with it at least theres that one to piss him off
G.C.: well what do you think dave am I in your human grill?
T.G.: im not saying I know for sure but it seems to me like my grill is your goddamn prison you are practically incarcerated in that fucker doing hard time on a bed of charcoal and lighterfluid privy to what I flame broil from below what im sayin is you got a front row seat to the brown side of my burger
hows it smell btw
G.C.: it smells like delicious burning animals
T.G.: yeah I thought so so is that whats going on G.C.: what?
T.G.: is this some weird game involving flirtation and assassinations or whatever G.C.: oh, I dont know maaaaaaybe...
sheesh!
you and him are alike in some ways really blunt and literal minded and quite frankly just a little bit tactless when it comes to managing the ladies!
he always had to know exactly what the deal was and exactly what my motivations were and what everything meant and bluh bluh bluh it takes the fun out of everything!
T.G.: thats pretty much the most insulting thing possible to say im anything like that raving gulf of shit
G.C.: well ok im sort of exaggerating but really some similarities are there its just your issues are cooler (smiley face with furrowed brows) less ridiculous and tragic T.G.: issues
what are you talking about G.C.: well, for instance karkat was always tormented by his past and future selves and their mistakes
literally tormented by them in these absurd schizophrenic memos it was ideal fuel for his self loathing he became obsessed with himself as an elusive adversary rather than just being himself in the moment and realizing who he was supposed to be and waking up (frowning face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: wow ok what does that have to do with me
G.C.: nothing in a literal sense but I have observed you dave you are always getting bailed out of jams at first by your bro
and then by your own future selves!
even future davesprite gets in on the act of showing up poor old present dave when does present dave get to step out of the shadow of all those future daves??
when does he get to be the hero, that's what I want to know (very happy face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: I dunno I guess maybe when I become future me
G.C.: hahahahahaha
that is exactly what karkat used to say it was always the answer
T.G.: fuck who cares like I even give a shit about being a hero whatever that even means im not seeing the problem here future me is awesome he can bail me out if he wants G.C.: yes, exactly!
because you are cool about your problem instead of acting like a silly little pupa but dont worry, one day you will get to take your turn as hero!
and one day
you will take off those dumb glasses and let me get another sniff at your eyes
T.G.: not gonna happen
G.C.: come on!
I only got one little whiff at them when you were a tiny pink wiggler with arms and legs sitting in a crater on that sad horse you ate they were pretty!
it is so selfish of you to keep them covered up and the lame secrecy surrounding it is once again reminding me of a certain you know who (blank face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: hey look at this change of subject going down about this comic are you saying im about to fall asleep
G.C.: yes

G.C.: no (frowning face with furrowed brows)
T.G.: too bad
last time I promised rose id take off my shades and look in the sky for some reason youre gonna miss a hell of a show
G.C.: bluuuuuuuuuuuuuuuhhhhhhh (gasping face with eyes pinched shut and furrowed brows)

G.C.: why do you think!
to bail your stubborn spectacled butt out of trouble again T.G.: huh
ok
G.C.: when you are asleep, soon a horde of very powerful monsters will emerge from the ruins to defend the treasure you have stolen or did you think you were going to waltz out of here with that cool legendary sword and face no consequences?
T.G.: yeah kinda didnt think this useless horseshit was boss grade loot to be honest G.C.: well it is!
now release mister orange creamsicles, stat

Dave: is that how you pronounce that Davesprite: yeah I guess so I think its welsh
Dave: what are welsh things doing in this game
Davesprite: thats an awesome question Dave: fuck yeah it is is this thing as pointless as I think it is or do I need it for something Davesprite: tactically yeah its a downgrade since its what I used to make caledscratch which is obviously way better
Dave: yeah thats what I figured Davesprite: caledscratch cycles the sword through its own timeline to points when its broken or nonbroken or old and rusted or recently forged etc and your snoop snowcone swords probably even better than that so yeah you got options
Dave: fuck it ill just power through the rest of the game with the sord.....
Davesprite: hahahaha with unreal air as a mount fit for a true artifact knight
Dave: yeah

Dave: hes the denizen right
Davesprite: yeah lord of the forge
Dave: isnt that like a greek god or roman or whatever what is greco roman shit doing in here you know what never mind Davesprite: yeah pretty much anyway he gets pissed off you broke it and he wants it back to do something important with it though not really sure what hes a pretty ornery dude kept raving about how he was waiting for the forge to come which he needs to complete his work but in my timeline the forge would never come so he was extra pissed off
Dave: whats the forge
Davesprite: volcano
Dave: huh
you mean jades volcano
Davesprite: yup
Dave: so do you know this stuff cause youre from the future or cause youre a sprite Davesprite: both theres all sorts of stuff I suddenly knew about the game when I became this orange feathery asshole Dave: so now youre like
A wise feathery asshole
Davesprite: I am fuckin filthy with wisdom its sick
I mostly know stuff about your personal quest what used to be my quest but I guess I got to deal with not being alpha dave no more Dave: yeah I guess
Davesprite: shrug its all good anyway that sword
its important to getting your shit figured out you were supposed to break it to get it out of the thing like another personal sort of mythological milestone you were supposed to clear Dave: really there was no other way to get it out thats kind of retarded
Davesprite: well I dont know maybe if john was to try with his pure heart and shit it woulda popped out like a champagne cork and fuckin hero confetti woulda blasted him in the face but you we we had to break it
Dave: ok
Davesprite: theres a lot more I know about your quest all tangled up in ridiculous riddles and bullshit enigmas and maybe its all a moot point anyway in this timeline who knows but I think ill spare you all that crap cause its kind of boring and youll find out anyway
Dave: yeah
that sounds about like something id do if I were you which I am
so hey
apparently im about to fall asleep

Davesprite: oh yeah why rose beckoning you again
Dave: yeah probably anyway monsters will show up soon and try to eat my sleeping corpse Davesprite: yeah they werent too happy with my reckless indiana jones bullshit either
Dave: yeah
so thats where you come in Davesprite: I got your back dude dont worry
Dave: ok
guess ill make myself comfortable here Davesprite: when you wake up ill probably get going Dave: what do you mean Davesprite: ill just sort of release myself go do my own thing
after this I dont think youll need me seems like youve got the stable time loop thing figured out already which means youll be alright future yous will get you out of trouble if youre gonna live up to the responsibility of eventually becoming them and by virtue of loop stability it sort of means you cant technically fuck up anymore but dont let that idea go to your head itll mess you up Dave: where will you go Davesprite: dunno fly around up away to the sun like a fucknig piece of gargbage see if I can catch up with bro maybe elusive bastard Dave: oh yeah
where do you think he is what happened to him in your timeline
Davesprite: who knows
I completely lost track of him in that timeline and this one the dude is fucking inscrutable we both know that Dave: yeah
ok good luck with that Davesprite: thanks man

[Image description: Let The Squiddles Sleep (End Theme) begins to play. A sleeping Jade appears against a black background. A solid black alert appears over her head and it zooms in on her. It slowly fades to white. A rainbow walkway with bubbles floating around it fades in. Jade's bed, with her on it, bobs across the screen. Squiddles swim on screen and Jade stands up. She does a dance that involves pumping her fists in the air, clapping, and turning from side to side. It zooms out as she takes out her flute and begins to play it. The rainbow walkway fades out, replaced by a blue and pink sky with pink clouds. Candycorn] shrimp and a massive squiddle holding a slice of green pie floats on screen. It slowly zooms back in on Jade. A circle closes in on the scene from the edges of the screen. Where it passes, everything becomes black. The bubble gets smaller and smaller, then fades to blue. It shrinks and dims until it disappears.

Dream Dave slowly floats on screen from the top. He's staring out into the void, his back to the camera. The derse dreamer towers appear and the angle changes to show him from the front. He reaches up and grabs his glasses. It zooms in as he slowly removes them. It fades to an extreme closeup of an eye with a bright red iris. His pupil expands until it takes up the whole screen and a small blue bubble fades in.

The bubble grows and turns red and the squiddles opening credits begin to play. The background glitches and occasionally disappears. It flashes to Jade dancing on her bed against the rainbow walkway. A pink narwhal with a rainbow horn swims on screen and Jade does a front flip onto its back.

The bed goes off screen and Feferi, riding a white pony with a red diamond on its hip, comes on screen. Cuttlefish swim on behind Feferi and squiddles swim on behind Jade. The background turns to static for a second, then to a pink background with squiddles and pink circles watermarked on it. It glitches out again. It goes to the rainbow walkway, then doubles it. It starts spinning and turning to static repeatedly. Jade looks up at the flashing colors with a confused and shocked expression. Feferi does the same, but with a wide grin. It glitches out again. For one frame, a red, angry-looking squiddle with jagged scribbles across it flashes, then disappears. The screen snaps to black with a white line in the center that fades, like old televisions used to do when they were turned off.

Pulses of faint light go across the screen and the outlines of eldritch beasts appear against static. They come closer and closer with each pulse, which get faster and faster.

The static turns to red rings.

White rings appear on the red.

A red circle approaches.

The circle fades to white.

Everything fades to black.

Jade and her bed float in front of a tangle of mouths, tentacles, and eyes, which is just barely visible. She's asleep again.

It flashes to static, then her bed appears on the ground outside again. She sits up and looks upset.

G.G.: what!!!!!
C.C.: SEE??
G.G.: see what!
go away
C.C.: I told you!
There is nothing to worry about at all.
G.G.: bluhhh what are you talking about....
my head hurts
just stop it, stop trolling me
i hate you all!!!!!!!!!!!!!!
C.C.: holy mackerel, looks like someone woke up on the wrong side of the absurd human bed!
Chill out, Jade. I am just following up on what I told you earlier.
G.G.: about what!
i dont remember talking to you at all
C.C.: About your dream! Your post-dreamdeath dreamself's dream.
Errr. Which is a term I just made up now. (blank face with a tiara and goggles)
G.G.: my dream was horrible!!!
i dont know what that was, i have never dreamed anything like it
C.C.: Yes, I imagine not! You have spent your whole life dreaming about prospit, no?
G.G.: oh god.... prospit (sad face)
is it really gone?
C.C.: Yes, Jade. It is time to face the facts!
Our moons are gone too. If we wish to sleep now, our dreams must take place in the bubbles glubbed by the gods who live in the Furthest Ring.
It is the infinite space which divides all sessions, completely unnavigable and unfathomable, untouched by the time or space of any universe in existence.
C.C.: Its lords are our slumberbuddies now. (smiley face with a tiara and goggles)
G.G.: uuuuuuuugh (very upset face)
C.C.: Don't be ridiculous. They are not as dreadful as they look.
In fact, they are quite helpful if you know how to talk to them!
Don't you remember our dream? I was trying to show you that there is nothing to fear.
But then... you kind of freaked out! humans are so melodramatic.
G.G.: oh......
hat was you?
C.C.: HELL YEAH! (very happy face with a tiara and goggles)
G.G.: argh
sorry but could you please
not use all those stupid parentheses??????
i can hardly read what you type and its giving me a migraine

[Note: part of Feferi's typing quirk is replacing all Hs with an open parenthesis then closed parenthesis.]

C.C.: GLUUUUB oh fine.
I will suspend my neato quirk just for you.
I hereby renounce the royal mark of sea dweller supremacy in the interest of Interspecies Diplomacy.
G.G.: what about the E thing, can you stop that too? it is also annoying and stupid

[Note: another part of her typing quirk is putting a dash before capital E's.]

C.C.: JEGUS JADE.
Look! It is like a cool trident I throw sometimes.
psiooooo (trident emoticon)
How is that not awesome!
G.G.: meh (uncertain face)
C.C.: Okay, you win. I have officially humbled myself before you. Entirely glubbing peasantified for your pleasure.
Shall I clip my fins for you as well, your majesty?
G.G.: hehehe
k, sorry for sounding bossy
you seem pretty nice, and you sure do look exotic i kind of always thought you were all like a bunch of really obnoxious humans
C.C.: Well, thank you! On both counts, of being likened to something other than an obnoxious human, as well as on my exotic looks.
For the record, you look pretty awesomely weird too.
I introduced myself before, but since you do not remember, I will do so now. My name is Feferi, and I was going to be the Empress, but now I am not!
G.G.: hey feferi, i would like to remember...... but everything is so foggy right now
I remember prospit being attacked
and falling.....
aaand
i dunno (sad face)
do you know what happened?
C.C.: Hell if I know!
In your pre-death dream at least. Oh, well you died obviously, so there's that.
G.G.: ffffff
yeah, i gathered that! (very sad face with eyes pinched shut)
C.C.: All I could see was what happened in your hive.
You were asleep, and then your robot exploded.
And then your lusus saved you! Kind of like mine saved me.
Before she died. (very sad face with a tiara and goggles)
G.G.: ohhhhhhh!!!!!!
i do remember you!
i remember you were talking to me about my lusus, and i had no idea what you were talking about and still sort of dont (uncertain face) but you must mean bec also it was shortly before your friend sent me a weird message about how my robot was going to explode, and i should talk to him when it happens this was months ago
C.C.: Oh? Who was that?
G.G.: it was the most awful and angry one i am so sick of him, i really dont want to talk to that pathetic jerk ever G.G.: thats his name?
C.C.: Yes, he's our leader. Why did he want you to talk to him?
G.G.: hmmmm
thats right, it was about some kind of plan... which he said me from the future told him about?
i thought it was total nonsense at the time
but i guess he was telling the truth
so maybe i should talk to him? i dont know
C.C.: Glubshrug.
He's pretty harmless, really. You get used to his yelling.
I do not even process it as yelling anymore. More like a lot of blubbering.
More blubber spills out of that mouth than a gash in a poached whale.
G.G.: ewwww
C.C.: Gluuuuub, I just made myself hungry. (gasping face wearing a tiara and goggles)
G.G.: ewwwwwwww!
fish aliens are weird
C.C.: Hey! We're the aristocracy. We've got a duty to be weird.
Anyway, go talk to your shoutfriend I guess.
G.G.: ok feferi, it was nice talking to you
C.C.: And hey, if you want to take another nap sometime, let me know! They will be more than happy to glub us up another bubble.
G.G.: NOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO am never going to sleep again!
ever never never never never never
C.C.: Psh we'll see about that, miss hornless mcfinless.
Why, if I'm not mistaken, you are looking a little drowsy right now. We may meet again sooner than you think. (very happy face with tiara and goggles)

it's like I'm seasoning a fucking steak here.
G.G.: I knew I would regret this talking to you is so terrible its making my headache worse
C.G.: oh yeah, because talking to you has just been absolute euphoria.
don't even talk to me about headaches.
right now there's a lumberjack splitting wood on my think pan.

G.G.: uuuugh shut uuuuup!
will you just tell me what you wanted?
C.G.: I don’t know what you're talking about.
I didn't tell you to contact me, not that I'm not tickled by the surprise.
let's catch up. How is everything? How was your deathnap?? I can only hope it was as refreshing as mine.
what's that? How am i? I'm great, feel like a million boonbanks ever since my little power snooze. still pretty tired though. You look a little drowsy yourself. But we won't be going back to sleep any time soon, will we jade?
no way. A pair of feisty gogetters like you and me, we don't have time for dreams of horrorterrors fondling every recess of our naked psyches, pleasant though they are.
you have a lot of important useless scampering and giggling to do. Whereas I have a crucial date with a pneumatic drill, to bore a hole in the center of my forehead, deep into the plump anguish bladder which stores my alien dismay fluid. That's a real thing we have, fyi.
I will then perform a little soft shoe number in the puddle of fluid that accumulates on the floor, while making the biggest smile ever attempted by someone not clinically retarded.
I will do this for your amusement, jade. To say thanks for everything.
G.G.: I cant believe I fell for this it was just a setup to troll me some more why do you go to such lengths to troll me? I just dont understand it C.G.: try to be culturally sensitive trolling is an activity that shares a name with my entire species do I get on your case for all the terrible humanning you do?
G.G.: thats ridiculous, humanning isnt a word and if it was, it would be a nicer thing to do than trolling!
you know what I mean, stop pretending you dont
C.G.: tell me jade
why are you such a racist?
G.G.: aaaaaaa that is something a troll would say!
C.G.: yes, exactly.
I am a troll. It seems we are on the same page.
G.G.: I mean you are being patronizing and disingenuous to get a rise out of me and that is really really shitty!!!!!
I am so tired of it, and I am done talking to you forever bye karkat, it was awful knowing you!
C.G.: wait
ok look
I seriously, honestly don't know what you're talking about.
you say your robot blew up, and that was some sort of signal to message me?
G.G.: yes
as if my day needed another reason to get worse
C.G.: you probably didn't contact the right me.
G.G.: what does that mean?
C.G.: I mean future me is probably the one to talk to about this. since it's all news to me.
G.G.: is this another prank
you are seriously the worst at pranks
C.G.: I don't play pranks, that's juvenile nonsense.
I do two things and two things only, I devastate sorry motherfuckers, and get shit done as an awesome leader.
in this case, I am accomplishing the latter.

something imperative to our survival no doubt?
hey douche bag, are you there Unknown Gardengnostic [{unknown}G.G.] at an unknown time Responded to memo.

why the fuck would I be pulling a stunt like this, what a waste of time.
I really am talking to future me, he's just being an evasive tool.
(unknown)G.G.: well obviously I know some things you've said are true its just hard to take everything at face value when you're always so nasty!
C.C.G.: you know, it's really amazing how behind the times you are.
it's almost as if you've slept through this whole adventure oh wait, that is essentially true.
it was hilarious watching you grow up.
you thought you had all the answers, frolicking all over your island being infuriatingly chipper, building robo-bunnies like a moron and ultimately ruining everything.
you were so sure your dreams told you everything you needed to know.
and now look at you
you suddenly understand jack shit.
(unknown)G.G.: ok I understand that you are another group of players and you are in some sort of trouble but maybe if you had been nice to me instead of terrorizing me all those years I would have believed you and we could have worked together to solve your problems as well as ours it just makes me sad to think that's probably impossible now because you are so angry and stubborn!
C.C.G.: don't tell me what's impossible because I'm angry and stubborn.
I fucking know what those assets make possible.
they made you possible, got it???
(unknown)G.G.: uh huh
C.C.G.: do you even have any idea how lucky you are to be graced by my divine fury?
to have the privilege of getting to be studied and mocked by me for your whole pathetic miserable life?
do you realize I'm your god? Yes, your literal god, that's right.
(unknown)G.G.: sure karkat, whatever you say!
C.C.G.: and I have taken time out of my busy godly schedule to scrutinize your pointless existence.
out of the countless trillions of life forms I brought into reality through angry grubfuck power

C.C.G.: jade, our duty is clear. We must deck this turd to the nines.
F.C.G.: oh my god I can't believe I actually thought that was a clever thing to say. What a dipshit.
(unknown)G.G.: aaaaugh what the hell!!!
F.C.G.: jade, I'm sorry about past me's retarded behavior.
I'm not going to drag out a huge apology or anything because I already apologized in an earlier conversation, ok. I'm just letting you know.
C.C.G.: god dammit, are you serious?
I mean, am I serious????? will I be serious about this shit. Will I really back down like a limp fronded stooge? Please tell me you're joking.
F.C.G.: please, just shut up
I can't believe I ever thought future me was the stupid one past me is the dumbest bucket of festering discharge I ever fell ass backwards into.
come on, you know this to be true. Remember all the past usses we used to talk to??
they were even paster than you, and therefore dumber.
C.C.G.: yeah, I remember all those dumbshit past usses, but they don't hold a fucking jackass candle to future usses.
and you're the futurest me I ever had the crotch blistering misfortune of jawing with, so the fuckhead trophy goes to you.
I mean, my god, why.
is proximity to that nasty looking spacetime rip on the timeline messing with your head?
is that what's causing you to feel pity for this imbecile?
F.C.G.: look, jade's not that bad ok.
you just got too worked up, and you can't see that.
and now all this frothing pandemonium jumping out of your mouth is just ridiculous overcompensation for your own shortcomings and mistakes, and masking some feelings you're not really in touch with.
this is all so obvious, I'm flushing like a motherfucker in embarrassment having to explain it to you, and even worse, remembering having it explained to me by the smart one three hours ago and still acting like a moist globe even after being so soundly schooled.
C.C.G.: I don't believe this. Please tell me this is a joke.
F.C.G.: you said so yourself, we don't joke around. It's juvenile, remember.
C.C.G.: I'm going to vomit.
I'm making a mental note to slap myself three hours from now, for being enough of a sap to start developing red feelings for a dumb annoying human, if I'm reading between the lines correctly.
F.C.G.: I just slapped myself! I remembered my lame note to myself from three hours ago, and then slapped myself specifically to mock you.
it stings too, you'll feel it in a while. And then the ghost of past me will cry.
past me doesn't even exist anymore. He's a stupid bawling wiggler phantom. He's dead, not a real (unknown)G.G.: i cant wait for future you to future kiss my ass!

C.C.G.: yeah! That's what i'm talking about.
(unknown)G.G.: i also cant wait for past you to past drop dead and go to hell, past tense!!!!!!!
when are those things going to happen?? or will have already past/future happened?????
i want to put another reminder on my finger so i know when its time to throw a party!!!!
F.C.G.: hahahaha, you hear that you obsolete pile of garbage? jade just flipped you off with a colorful finger.
C.C.G.: man, she obviously hates you more. She called you a sycophant which is a hundred times more descriptively worse than just being a run of the mill scumbag like me.
she is totally on to you and how despicable you've become, can you blame her for hating us?
F.C.G.: no, i can blame you, you're the one with no manners who's all twisted up inside.
how's this for a pact, everybody.
past karkat only talks to past jade from now on, and the two of them can bicker like shitty little children for hours/years respectively.
and future karkat only talks to future jade, an arrangement wherein only intelligent discourse takes place between two civilized, mature, grown assed adults.
is that too much to ask??????
(unknown)G.G.: jesus will you just ban me already????? my head hurts so bad now i think im going to cry
F.C.G.: maybe you should just ban her already and end this torment since you dragged her into this.
C.C.G.: fuck that you ban her. You're the one who seems to "care".
F.C.G.: will you shut your mouth, man the fuck up, and ban this poor girl already?
(unknown)G.G.: aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaa (shouting face with eyes pinched shut)
I will just ban myself!!!!!
jade harley banned herself from responding to the grumpy shit head misery zone, and is never coming back
pchooooooooooooooooo [(unknown)G.G.] ceased responding to memo.
F.C.G.: ok, there. She's gone.
maybe now you get it.
how hideous everyone thinks you are, maybe you'll finally stop fucking everything up.
C.C.G.: huh
F.C.G.: what
C.C.G.: i think
I was probably wrong about jade she's a little less lame than i thought F.C.G.: shhhhhshhhshshshsh
she can still read this you stupid fuck
now's not the time to open your veins and write poems about your feelings
C.C.G.: fuck you, i'm just voicing a harmless observation ok it's not my business if some lunk head in the future gets carried away with whatever little thoughts i may or may not now be thinking
F.C.G.: i...
but
how could that even be a real thing i typed three hours ago, how could i be this stupid.
we are just the dumbest fuckers who ever lived aren't we.
C.C.G.: speak for yourself.
F.C.G.: I don't even have the energy to ban us.
I'm just leaving.
[F.C.G.] ceased responding to memo.
C.C.G.: yeah
[C.C.G.] ceased responding to memo.

Jade: Consult reminders.

[Image description: Jade looks down at her fingers, which have many colorful strings tied on them.]

That was not a conversation you were hoping to wake up to. You feel more agitated and disoriented than ever.

You consult your reminders to get your bearings on what to do next.

But you can't remember what they mean at all. You have a feeling these are all useless now.

Jade: Remove reminders.

[Image description: the loops of string are strewn across her blanket. A second image shows a single blue string tied around her pointer finger.]

You ditch the strings. All but one.

You don't remember what it was for, but it reminds you of something nonetheless. Something you can't believe you forgot about...

[Image description: Jade looks up at her house. The side tower with her bedroom is gone and a floating white object moves towards the base of the tower.]

You look up at your house. Your cool satellite tower bedroom is gone.

What's that thing floating there?

Jade: Head home.

[Image description: Jade runs across the field with her lunchtop in hand. She's smiling widely.]

Someone has connected as your server player.

You are pretty sure you know who it is.
John: Be the someone who is Jade's server player.

You are suddenly John being the someone who is Jade's server player.

Since you have made short work of a delicious home cooked meal, you decide to bear down on this game. However, aromas from the ghost oven persist. What is that... lasagna? Wow, that smells great. Focus, Egbert, focus!

Since your paradox sister is still napping, you guess it couldn't hurt to set a few things up first.

John: Deploy cruxtruder.

[Image description: On the other side of the open space, he places the alchemiter. A second image shows the phernalia registry. His cursor hovers over a Cloning Pad, which is a large circular platform with four smaller circles on it. It costs 100,000,000 build grist. There are two other items in the registry. One looks like the ectobiology apparatus John and Karkat used to make the players and ancestors for their respective sessions. Another looks like a drill with a pop o'matic bubble on top.]

You suppose you could upgrade this thing right away, if Jade can spare some time to cooperate. You've got plenty of grist to spare.

There's a lot of new junk in the registry. You wonder what all this stuff is for.

It costs a fortune. You have a lot of grist, but not nearly that much.

Jade: Go inside.

pesterlog

G.G.: john are you there???
E.B.: whoa, hey!
you're awake!
G.G.: yes!
im so relieved to talk to you and hear you're ok
i mean......
are you ok john? your dream self i mean
E.B.: oh, yeah.
i am pretty sure that i...
he?
am/is fine.
i woke up on the battlefield which was on fire, and had flaming bits of prospit everywhere.
G.G.: (sad face)
yes, but that was not prospit. that was its moon which was severed by the crazy derse agent
E.B.: oh, you mean jack?
G.G.: i dunno!
E.B.: that is his name, karkat told me.
i saw him there too.

oh!!!!!
i also got your present, and it saved my life!
G.G.: really?? (happy face)
E.B.: yes, the bunny was so awesome, it was definitely the best bunny i got today.
thank you so much, jade!
G.G.: (heart)
E.B.: when jack saw it, he flew the hell away. and then the bunny and i went on an adventure together.
does the bunny have a name? i asked him but i don't think he can talk.
G.G.: i dont know! i did not give him one after applying the upgrades
i gave her a girls name when i was very young, but now she is a different bunny, and also a boy i guess?
G.G.: its up to you john, he is your bunny E.B.: oh, i did not even think of that.
well if she grew up as a girl, then it's not right for me to suddenly make her a boy.
hmm...
you have no idea how tempted i am to name her casey again.
G.G.: hahahaha
again?
E.B.: yes, i named a young salamander casey earlier, but then i left her at rose's house.
G.G.: you were at roses house??
E.B.: yes, but she was asleep.
also, apparently i am supposed to marry rose. karkat said so.
G.G.: what!!!!
E.B.: it is true, it is a fact from an alien.
G.G.: ugh he is so weird
you shouldnt listen to him!
E.B.: heheh, i did not take him that seriously.
but karkat is cool, he is angry and funny.
G.G.: (very upset face)
he is angry and a huge pain in the ass have you ever talked to two of him at once????
E.B.: haha, no!
G.G.: dont ever do it! you will get a headache
E.B.: that sounds kind of awesome.
G.G.: nooooooo, think again
E.B.: i've got it.
i will name her liv tyler.
G.G.: ????
E.B.: the bunny.
G.G.: (blank face)
you mean from armageddon?
E.B.: yeah!
G.G.: john that is so stupid
but also kind of cute i guess ok then the bunny will be named after your silly movie star fantasy crush E.B.: it's too bad i can't marry liv instead of rose.
the girl i mean, not the bunny.
but i guess she is probably dead now, along with all the other glamorous movie stars who come out to shine on the silver screen.
that's pretty sad.
G.G.: yeah......
that reminds me john have you looked in the lab yet?
E.B.: the lab?
G.G.: the big room in the sphere at the top of the tower
E.B.: oh, no. why?
G.G.: could you do me a favor and not look in there?
E.B.: ok. why, is there a secret in there?
G.G.: its nothing that secret or personal or anything.... it is just something kind of sad and weird for you to see E.B.: what is it?
G.G.: it is my dead dream self it has been there for years, i always knew i would die but i did not realize it would go like this....
E.B.: oh...
errr...
G.G.: what?
E.B.: i have sort of already seen... that.
not in the lab, but on the battlefield.
G.G.: oh no!!!!!
im sorry john (sad face)
E.B.: it's ok.
i was so confused and sad when i saw you lying there...
I'd rather not talk about it i guess.
G.G.: i understand
E.B.: but, i wonder... if your dream self died...
then what were you just dreaming about now?
G.G.: ummmmmmm
i think i would rather not talk about that either E.B.: ok, that's cool.
oh, also...
i found your ring.
G.G.: you did???
E.B.: yes...
but then i woke up, and didn't have it anymore.
so i am not sure where it is now.
G.G.: oh noooooo
john that ring is really important, it belongs to the white queen!
E.B.: oh, whoa.
G.G.: when you go to sleep again, you should try to find it and keep it safe!
E.B.: ok, i will do that.
hey jade, we have a lot to catch up on, but how about later?
we have to hurry, remember there is a big meteor heading for you right now?
G.G.: yes i have seen it, it is so huge (shocked blank face) how much time do you suppose we have?
E.B.: i will find out now!

E.B.: ok, we have 10 minutes and 25 seconds.
G.G.: hmmmm i wonder what the significance of that number is E.B.: why would it be significant? numbers don't always need to have significance!
G.G.: but they usually do!
E.B.: ok, well the number is now less than it was, and therefore less significant.
and by less, i mean more! you had better hurry upstairs and make your special item.
G.G.: yes, youre right
E.B.: hey, what do you think we should prototype this fussy little orb with?
heheheh, it seems like so long ago that rose fed mine a clown.
we were just messing around, we didn't even know what we were doing.
G.G.: i dont know...
there are so many possibilities
E.B.: yeah...
it's almost like your grandpa put all this crap here knowing we'd have to make that decision.
G.G.: hmmmmmm!
yes, it sure seems that way
E.B.: he seems like he was an awesome guy, i would have liked to have the chance to talk to him.
G.G.: well
maybe you will get that chance john
E.B.: oh?
G.G.: yes, as a matter of fact i am sure we will both get that chance!
i once dreamt that we would
E.B.: huh...
wait, are you saying we will prototype him?
like i did with nanna, to bring her ghost back to life?
as... another ghost?
G.G.: sure, why not!
E.B.: i guess that makes a lot of sense, actually.
G.G.: that is what i believe this game is for in part you got to bring back your nanna, rose brought back her cat, i can bring back grandpa, and dave...
dave got to bring back a dead bird because of course he is too cool to have any dead family members
E.B.: yeah, also he brought back himself from the future.
who... wasn't dead, but was going to die maybe? i dunno.
E.B.: specifically to save my life, as well as yours, i think.
G.G.: wait, he did?????
E.B.: yes.
G.G.: that is sooo coooooool (gasping face)
E.B.: it's pretty neat, i guess.
G.G.: i almost completely forgot i was his server player!!!!!
i hope hes not in trouble, i should check on him we probably have so much to catch up on E.B.: i just messaged him, he is not answering.
G.G.: i dont see him in his house either (sad face)
E.B.: ehhh, he's fine, he has been doing a lot of time traveling.
i talked to him from the future, so he must be ok now to make it that far.
G.G.: oh, ok...
jeez, i feel so out of the loop (sad face)
E.B.: yes, that is why we need to get you in the loop!
the loop being the game. hurry upstairs! your transporty pad thingies take you straight up, right?
G.G.: yes! ok here i go
E.B.: oh, wait!!!
G.G.: what!
E.B.: what do we do about prototyping?
we shouldn't put your grandpa in yet, unless we want lots of imps and ogres and stuff that look like your grandpa.
G.G.: augh, noooooooooooool
E.B.: we could put in something really lame, to make all the monsters weaker!
or at the very least, more ridiculous looking.
like one of these weird pictures of blue ladies lying around.
what's the deal with those, anyway?
G.G.: oh god, dont get me started (blank face)
he was a strange and silly man
E.B.: i guess we could just put nothing in and see what happens.
G.G.: hmmmmmm, perhaps is that allowed?
E.B.: i don't see why not.
maybe i will ask rose, because she suddenly understands everything for some reason.
G.G.: yes, thats a good idea
E.B.: we have ten minutes to think about it.
whoops! i mean a lot less than ten minutes!
hurry upstairs, go go go!!!

pesterlog
E.B.: what is this thing, anyway?? and why is it blocking your transporter?
G.G.: it is some sort of terrible creature my grandpa hunted he called it the typhoeus minion
i always hated it!
E.B.: typhoeus?
like the web browser?
G.G.: i guess so it is probably a coincidence though E.B.: hmm, i don't know... if you think numbers always mean something, why wouldn't browser names?
G.G.: yeah maybe.....
i guess it would make sense for someone to name a really awful web browser after such a hideous monster
E.B.: wow, you sure do hate that thing!
G.G.: well sorry, i just found it sort of a weird and creepy thing to grow up with!
E.B.: i think it is pretty cool.
and he is actually sort of cute to be honest, (tongue sticking out face)
G.G.: (tongue sticking out face)!!!!!!
E.B.: oh, and screw you, tytheus is an awesome browser!
it is old school.
G.G.: jooohhhhhhn, it is so crappy
E.B.: tytheus is the best and that's really all there is to say on the matter.
G.G.: YEAH RIGHT now is obviously not the best time to have the argument about whose browser is better....
but really john you should upgrade to echidna, its so much nicer after you upgrade your clunky old computer of course (tongue sticking out face) maybe when i am in the game, i can give you one of mine!
E.B.: oh please.
i will have you know, miss fancy computer dork...
that i DID upgrade my computer.
G.G.: oh???
E.B.: yes, you are talking to the proud owner of a brand new BILL COSBY COMPUTER, ok?
G.G.: (gasping face)
E.B.: it is a stylish laptop in the shape of none other than bill cosby, the comedy LEGEND himself.
G.G.: omg
E.B.: he is looking a little sly, and fatherly, and he is wearing a sweater, and he is bill cosby.
i made it with my alchemiter.
G.G.: john that is incredible i cant wait to make stuff like that!!!!!!
extcept...
all my awesome stuff exploded with my room (sad face)
E.B.: then you will just have to make lots of NEW awesome stuff!
G.G.: yay!!!
E.B.: ok hold that thought, im going to yank this stupid monster off of the thing.

John: Yank monster off of thing.

E.B.: augh!!!!!!!!!!!!
E.B.: i am making such a fucking mess in here.

Jade: Go upstairs.

[Image description: Jade goes up to the greenhouse level.]

pesterlog
G.G.: what is the problem!!!!
E.B.: oh, nothing.
i am just dropping monsters all over the place, that is all.
are you upstairs?
G.G.: yes
E.B.: ok, good.
i left the cruxite by the lathe, as well as the punched card with the green thingy on it. you should have plenty of time to make it. no drama here!
G.G.: nice!
how much time?
E.B.: a little more than 6 minutes.
in the meantime, i will try to contact rose and get this prototyping nonsense sorted out. it's so confusing...
in my foolishness, i came very close to prototyping your grandpa.
G.G.: (very upset face)
john, try to be more careful!
E.B.: we very nearly had to face our grandfatherly paradox-dad as a last boss. that would probably be the worst case scenario.
G.G.: um.....
what?
