Arya was ready to taste paradise. She started to slowly scoot down Dany’s body to get her mouth over Dany’s full firm breast again. She now gripped the warm globes and with her hands and gently shook them drooling.

“Oh gods Dany you boobs are so fucking huge!”

Daenerys grinned great big at her. “You think so.”

“Hell yeah!”

“Well show me then wolf—auuuggg uunngg mmmmmmmmmm!” Dany purred feeling Arya suck in her right nipple between her lips and starting to wolf suck as her tongue swiped the nipple stuffed into her mouth. Arya purred finally feasting on what she had fantasied about when rumors first surfaced of the Dragon rising from the deserts of the Red Waste five years. She sucked with feverish sucks and fast tongue licks and stabs of steeple areolas and rock hard nipples.

To finally be making love to Dany was heavenly. Arya sucked fiercely on Dany’s nipple with long hard sucks before she moved her head over and swallowed the nipple of the other breast. She had her legs and arms outside of Dany’s body with her lover beneath her. Arya making sure to keep pressing her weight down onto Dany to mash her into the bed with her weight without crushing her slighter lover. She slip and slide their sweaty bodies over each other enjoying the wet friction.
really was in heaven devouring her dragon who tasted so sweet in her mouth. She pulled her head back stretching out Dany’s breast with her hard love sucks. Dany’s hand gripped Arya’s shoulders as her body writhed in pleasure.

"Unnhhh ... ohnnnnn!" Dany moaned her face twisted with harsh pleasure. Her head thrashed from side to side as raw aching pleasure filled her breast with fire. The pleasure so intense it felt like her tits were on fire with honeyfire! "Yes! Unghhh! Gods ... yes, suck it hard! Unghhhh!"  Arya smiled around the teat in her mouth. Her hands gripping Dany’s tits harder and jerking them with her throttling grip. Her mouth making wet slurps and suck noises as she feasted on swollen nipples and steeple areolas.

Arya moved back and forth sucking thirstily on engorged light brown nipples. Dany cried out in helpless pleasure. Cries that were covered by Arya’s mouth when she moved up to fiercely kiss Dany again. Dany mewled and opened her mouth wide to let Arya’s tongue surge deep into her mouth and down her throat. Arya slammed her tongue repeatedly down her lover’s throat. She moaned feeling Dany enfold her in her arms and thighs coming up to clasp her hips as her hands threaded in Arya’s hair and clawed her scalp.

Her mouth moved from Dany’s mouth and her lips. Her lips found the thin almost invisible scar that ran from Dany’s hairline down to her jaw. It was like a birthmark. She murmured kissing down the line of that long scar. She murmured how it added to the allure of Dany’s natural beauty. She licked it gently with her tongue tip the full length of the scar making Dany shudder in pleasure.

Then Arya was back at Dany’s mouth and locked their lips tight again kissing her love ravenously as they both groaned around their tongues flipping wildly in Dany’s mouth in a serpentine dance of love. Arya had settled down so their bellies wallowed hard. Their bodies jerking and sliding with the sweat lubricating skin and allowing sweet skin to slide along skin creating sweet hot friction.

Arya was intoxicated with how Dany only held onto her head and did not try to control her. The message was clear: I submit my body willingly to you Arya. Arya excitedly kissed down Daenerys throat and then along her collarbones and up to her shoulders and down her chest to the slopes of Dany’s breast. The Queen chuffing. The Arya kissed up the slopes of Dany’s firm breast with soft kisses and little licks.

“Oohhhh hhhnggg hhnggg—Arya suck my nipples please suck my nipples! Oooggggggggg!” she cried out feeling Arya siphon a nipple deep into her mouth and pump her head to suck fiercely on the turgid nipple. Her tongue swiping and stabbing the pebbled areola and rigid nipple. Arya glanced up and saw that Dany had her neck cantered up looking down at her with pleading eyes. The purple in her irises throbbing with sexual need. She lifted her head and surged up kiss Dany hungrily again as Dany melted underneath her again claspig Arya to her own writhing body.

They snogged deeply for a long time. Arya wetly wrestling Dany’s tongue and swiping the roof of her mouth and drilling underneath the Queen’s tongue exploring her mouth fully. “Mmggpff!!! Uumppff!!! Mmpppff!!!” Dany cried out into the mouth devouring hers with ravenous fuck hunger. Arya broke their kiss and brought her head back slightly and smiled seeing spit roped between their lips swaying as they looked deeply at each other.

Arya was ravenous for Dany’s sweet cunt. “I’m going to suck you off now Dany. I’m going to make you scream! You find I am a very fast learner … I love you so much!”

“Ohhhh yeesssssssssss!” Arya saw tears track from Dany’s eyes. “How I have dreamed of hearing you say those words to me Arya … say them again.

“I love you Dany … I always have”
“Then show me … show me your love for me like only women can … I give you my body and I give you my soul.”

Dany simple declaration of such pure love made the breath catch in Arya’s throat and tears run from her eyes. With locked eyes Dany reached up and gripped Arya’s shoulders and with feathery pressure pushed down urging Arya south to her love aching cunt. Arya gave Dany her most brilliant smile. Her steel grey eyes pulsing with promises of raw passionate lovemaking.

Arya was intoxicated with how easily Dany had acceded full control to her. She was only suggesting with her feathery pushes on Arya’s shoulders. “Arya pleaseee eat my pussy!” she whimpered. Her head was up again her eyes pulsing with aching need. “I need your mouth on my cunt baby—I need to feel you sucking me off Arya! I need to cum again so bad” she pleaded in a soft urgent voice.

Arya smiled great big feeling like Nymeria! She was about to devour Dany. Dany her fucking slut! She slowly kissed down Dany’s body. She kissed and nipped the perfect pale flesh. The small scars she found here and there only adding to the allure that was Daenerys Targaryen. She sucked in sweet pale flesh and siphoned sucked the sweaty slicked firm flesh leaving little red love bites as she slowly worked down the firm muscled belly of her Queen. Instead of complying to Dany’s immediate wishes Arya detoured to the ribcage line of Dany’s torso and kissed along it and nipped leaving more read love bites. Then she kissed up Dany’s ribs to get to her quivering sweat soaked tits.

She was a Direwolf. She decide when she would pleasure her Dragon’s core she thought mischievously.

She slowly kissed up each slope of Dany’s perfect breast and gave each beautiful nipple more hot hard sucks and tongue lashings. Her tongue circling the steeple areolas again and again enjoying the feel of them underneath her slithering tongue. Her head lifted high tenting out sweet tit meat and siphoned on engorged teats. Arya then kissed around the perfect splayed out globes and sucked in the hot breast flesh and nipped leaving red marks on both breast of the Queen.

Dany was writhing in need while Arya nipped back up to the engorged nipples of her lover and thirstily sucked on the stiff rubbery teats while her hands pulped squeezed Dany’s tits throttling her tits that flared dark pink with the throttling squeezes as Arya long sucked back and forth between the rubbery nipples. Her hands moving up at times to pinch the nipples not being sucked. Squeezes that pulped nipples she jerked up hard to tent Dany’s areolas as the Queen cried out in helpless fiery pleasure. Her face twisted and slashed with such great pulses of searing pleasure pulsing hotly in her tits.

“Mmmnggg mmmnggg Anhh! Oh!” Dany cried out her head thrashing in helpless pleasure "Gods, yes!” she growled hoarsely. “Ungghh …oh!” her head lifting off the mattress and thudding down as pleasure made her neck weak. Arya continued to throttle the sweet full firm breasts the nipples flaring out Arya’s hands that cruelly gripped and jerked the Queen’s tits stuffing nipples deep into her mouth.

Arya feasted on succulent breast flesh for another minute moving her head right and left siphoning in a turgid nipple and wolf sucking like the Direwolf she was. She feasted as Dany cawed and whinnied.

“Arya pllesseeeeee! Pplleeasessssee baby!” Dany cawed again pushing on her shoulders. Not commanding but pleading.

Arya smirked around the nipple she as sucking on so feverishly. Arya released her love suck on Dany’s left nipple and started to kiss down the curved slope of Dany’s beast and then kissed along her sternum and then down to the top of her slut’s flat stomach.

“Aaiiiinngggyyyyyeeessssss!” Dany whinnied feeling Arya give her stomach a hard love nip and leaving a red mark on her pale flesh.

“Your mine Daenerys Targaryen. No other person shall touch you from this day hence forth—only me!” Arya softly declared.

“Yeessssssss!” was Dany’s sibilant reply. Arya smiled feeling Dany’s heels dragging around on the sheets as her legs scissor. “Only you my sweet wolf … only the wolf can lie with the dragon.”

Arya smiled as she continued to kiss around on Dany’s stomach as she wiggled back on her elbows and knees to work her face toward paradise. She left more red marks on her lover’s belly and then her groin as she slowly worked south. Then she moved back up to tease Dany who pleaded and mewed sweetly for Arya. Their musk had filled her bedroom with their arousal all mingled and intoxicating.

Arya breathed deep as she kissed up to Dany’s belly button and licked the cute innie and then drilled it making Dany whoop with hip lurches of raw pleasure. Arya began to lick Dany’s lower belly and give it little love nips making Daenerys’ hips jack up in helpless pleasure. Arya kissed, licked and nipped pale succulent pale perfect skin.

Her Dany was perfection giving flesh she thought to herself as she kissed back to Dany’s belly button and tongued it passionately. Arya was breathing in deep taking in the scent of Dany’s festering wet cunt. Dany whooped feeling Arya drill her belly button with hard stabs and twisting tongue motions. Arya loved how the hot pungent musk made her lightheaded with love and need. Gods Dany smelled sooooo fucking goodddd! Arya thought to herself intoxicated by Dany’s hot wet musk. The scent so heavenly in her nostrils and deep in her lungs.

“Aryaaaaa pleaseeeeee! Baby stop teasing me! Eat my cunt baby! Baby please eat my hot wet cunt!” Dany now desperately humping her pussy up begging to be devoured by her Direwolf. The wet heat sliming Arya’s throat and upper chest so sweetly as Arya still teased Dany’s belly button and belly beneath.

Dany had said the magic words at the proper time. Arya’s confidence was flaring supreme now. Arya was breathing in deep taking in the scent of Dany’s festering wet cunt. Dany whooped feeling Arya drill her belly button with hard stabs and twisting tongue motions. Arya loved how the hot pungent musk made her lightheaded with love and need. Gods Dany smelled sooooo fucking goodddd! Arya thought to herself intoxicated by Dany’s hot wet musk. The scent so heavenly in her nostrils and deep in her lungs.

In a flash Arya scooted back to settle between Dany’s legs. Her swollen nipples mashed into the mattress. Arya stared at what she had desired for so many years even if it had started as mere fantasy. She loved the fact that Dany shaved her pussy and she had started to shave hers since the first night Arya had warged into Nymeria to spy on Dany and her masturbation. She had become addicted to the sight of Dany’s bald puss and the baby smooth look. Arya had become addicted to the soft feel of her own vulva shorn of any hair. The smoothness around her asshole when she rubbed around her starfish and then fucked her asshole hard.

She knew eventually she would need to come clean to Dany. That she would need to confess her “dirty warging” but that could wait into the future. Now was not the time to mention spying through one’s wolf to the woman you love with all your breath and heart. She stared at Dany’s lovely cunt all swollen and wet. Her pussy swollen and dark pink bordering on red on her mons. Her lover’s labia lips all dark pink with hues of brown mixed in and jutting out her slit and her clitoral hood.
sheathed in folds of her inner lips.

Arya breathed deep looking up at Dany. She was on her elbows again looking down at her with those god's beautiful violet eyes staring down at her intently. She was breathing in sharp shallow breaths. She had sweat running down her body and face. Dany watched Arya breath in deep and smiled seeing Arya shudder in primal want.

“Oh gods Dany! You cunt smells sooo fucking good baby!” She breathed deep again drunk on Dany’s rich thick musk. She lowered her head extending her tongue. Her eyes feasting on the cum soaked mound of her woman. Dany swirling her hips up lewdly inviting Arya to bury her face in her wet drooling quim.

Arya finished lowering her face to Dany’s drooling slit and licked up the groove worming her tongue along the juiced filled seam. “Mmmgggggg!” Arya moaned at her first taste of Dany. Her body shuddered in raw lust and love tasting the essence of Dany for the first time. The wet slimy heat was so sweet on her extended tongue.

She licked slowly up and down Dany’s dripping snatch savoring her first ethereal sip of Dany’s ambrosia. Arya using slow flat tongue licks to savor the feel of Dany’s labia lips she worked to splay out on her mound to open Dany’s pink seam fully. Up and down Arya raked her tongue along the inflamed slit of her lover. She had always loved the sweet elixir of her own cunt; a taste so rich and pungent. It always reminded Arya of a slightly salty taste of the marge of the sea that rich pungent mix of raw life. A taste of earthy exotica, salt and a stab of rich mixed up life.

The taste of Dany was as sweet. No sweeter. It was the taste of her woman. The sweet intoxicating juices and direct musk flowing into her nostrils inflaming her need and want for Daenerys Targaryen. The feel of Dany’s cunt was heavenly underneath Arya’s dragging tongue.

"Ungghh!" Dany groaned as Arya teased her labia lips back opening her juicy red slit for Arya’s tongue. Arya licked harder slurping up more of Dany’s sweet cum and essence. "Gods ...lick me harder baby! Ohnn!" Dany’s purple eyes throbbed with fucking need looking down at Arya. Her sweaty body vibrating with the pleasure Arya’s tongue was giving her drooling snatch. "Mngg! Unh! Oh yes!" the Queen gasped as she started to instinctively swirl her drooling clamshell up into Arya’s face. The motion driving the Queen’s cunt up into Arya’s licking mouth her vulva flaring around the licking tongue. The pussy flaring out showing the path of Arya’s licking tongue up and down the drooling clamshell.

Arya sucked in Dany’s inner lips one at a time and sucked / lipped them clean of Dany’s twat juice. Arya swallowed in convulsive gulps the sweet pussy juice of her lover. Yes her Dany had a sweet taste. She tasted like herself and yet totally different. An ethereal mix of rich musk so pungent and intoxicating. A sharp tang of salt but with some other sweet qualities. She tasted other sweet elixirs in Dany’s running cunt juice. She caught hints of the sweetest, richest red wine her father sometimes let her drink a goblet of. Arya considered for a moment and remember the sweet tastes of a handful of juicy raisins she would eat in King’s Landing. She then thought she would need to seal it, and let it ferment in a dusty, cobwebby Dorne attic for a couple generations.

The taste was ethereal and elusive. And totally fucking awesome as she stopped analyzing and simply enjoyed.

She looked up Dany’s belly and locked eyes with Dany. “Hhhhuullrrrrrrrrppppp!” Arya slurped Dany’s clit deep into her mouth and began to suck softly as her tongue lathed and then speared the hard nubbin she sucked out its sheath. Her head rocked as she sucked harder on the Queen’s clit and tongue lashed with hard swipes of her tongue. Her tongue polishing the pinkish white nubbin all rigid and throbbing.
"Unnnhhh ...ohnnnn!" Dany moaned her neck going weak her head lulling back on her neck her Adam’s apple convulsing as she groaned deep in her chest. Her sweaty lank hair flagged down to the bed. Sweet whinnies filled the room. Then Dany’s neck gave out and her head fell to the mattress with a thud. "Yes! Ungghhh! Gods ...yes, suck it hard! Ungghhh!" Dany trilled out feeling fierce flashes of ecstasy sucked from her clit. Gods Arya was a natural!

Arya felt like she had truly come home her head now lapping as she raked her tongue up and down Dany’s slit raking up and over Dany’s clit on the top of her stroke and licking hard the gooey pink trench of her woman’s clit and over her honey hole. Arya moaned constantly tasting the sweet essence of her woman. She circled Dany’s cunt hole and felt the wet heat as Dany’s hips jolted. She spied that Dany had cupped her breasts squeezing the full firm globes. Her pale fingers sinking deep into even paler breasts. Her hands clenching digging her fingers in deep. Gods Dany liked it hard like she did! She sucked Dany’s clit deeper into her mouth and rhythmically sucked it in and out her lips. Her tongue spearing the hard nubbin.

"Mnmnmnm uungggmmmm!" Dany moaned as her clit was sucked so hard and good. "Oh baby ...ohhnannya baby!" Dany whimpered, yelping softly as Arya’s tongue stabbed her rigid shiny clit. "Unnnhhhhh!" Arya sucked the hard nubbin in and out her lips. The feel of the stiff nodule between her lips and underneath her tongue was simply heaven on Earth. She again sucked and licked to feel the hard nubbin in her mouth and underneath her rasping tongue. Her mouth filled with spit and cum leaking into her mouth. Her head lifting and lapping as she worked Dany’s clit in her hot sucking mouth.

Arya gripped Dany’s hips to lock her face tight to her lover’s quim. Her lapping so she could work her tongue hot, hard and fast over her slut’s clit. She gripped Dany’s leg and hip to anchor her body down. Arya rocked her head lapping the hard clit in her mouth. She then worked her mouth down the trench that had enfolded her mouth. She loved the divine wet heat enveloping her mouth, lips and area surrounding her mouth. She felt Dany’s vulva bulge out as her tongued worked Dany’s trench as she wiggled her head down. Her tongue tracing the folds and whorls of Dany’s set of slimy inner lips. Her pink lips gliding through and over even pinker cunt petals.

Then Arya slowly pushed her tongue deep into her lover’s hot cum filled cunt. “Oooohhhhhhh yeeessss” Dany gurgled feeling Arya’s tongue slide deep up her cunny. Arya eyes had lightly lidded feeling the fiery heat of her woman’s cunt clench and suck on the tongue she thrust deep up the tight fuck hole. The teenager reveled in the sharp guttural groans croaking out of Dany’s love stricken throat. Arya moaned loud and long pulling out dollops of sweet cum that she swallowed gleefully. Her face mashing into Dany’s mound to sink her tongue as deep as possible into the cauldron that was her woman’s womanhood.

She was in love with the wet heat of Dany’s cunt and hooowwwww fucking good she tasted. She started to pump her head harder and harder ramming her tongue deep and hard up Dany’s love box. Dany’s cunt pumping copious love juice into her hard sucking mouth and all over Arya’s long tongue she slide deep and hard into Dany’s spasming cunt. The wet heat of Dany’s core basting the tongue fucking it hard. Arya loved mashing her face into Dany’s cunt and feeling the wetness liberally coat and soak her lower face with juices now starting to dribble down her chin and jawline and run down her throat.

Arya lifted her face. Dany lifted her head that had lulled over to gaze down at her with eyes on fire. “Dany you cunt tastes so fucking good. I can’t get enough!”

Dany said nothing but reached with her right hand and clawed her fingers into Arya’s scalp. “Suck!” was her plea jamming Arya’s face back down deep into her vulva burying Arya’s face in her cunt. Arya wasted no time sliding her tongue deep up Dany’s hot honey hole. First she Dorne kissed Dany’s honey hole and sucked as commanded sucking in a sweet mouthful of slimy wet inner folds and whorls. The cunt meat so sweet in her mouth as she munched and hummed devouring Dany. Arya pumped her head in and back as she sucked on the sweet cunt meat in her mouth. Her tongue worming through the slimy wet folds sucked into her mouth.

"Oh by the seven gods ... yes! Unngghhh!" the pale Valyrian gasped. Her hand in Arya’s head grinding her face down into her swollen snatch. Dany swirled her pussy up into the mouth sucking hot and hard on her cunt hole. Hot cum flowed into Arya’s greedy slurping mouth. “Unnggg oh oh yeeessssssss! Baby suck mee...!” Dany keened in helpless need. “Unnggg hhnnng hhnnnggg … oohhnnnmm fuck yeeaaahhhhh! Arruunggg!”

Arya now began a sensual tongue fuck of Dany’s love box as Dany urgently swirled her hips running her cunt up into Arya’s mouth. Arya’s tongue sliding deep and hard up into Dany’s creamy cum filled cunt. Her tongue sluicing through oily inner cunt lips. The wet heat sucking on the tongue probing deep for sweet honey creamy cum. Arya had one hand on Dany’s hip the other gripping her thigh as she worked her head up and down tongue fucking Dany’s snatch that burbled out hot sweet cum she swallowed greedily.

Arya built up the force of her head motion until her tongue was stabbing hard and deep into Dany’s muffin that was beginning to make sweet watery sounds. Dany was writhing with both hands now on Arya’s head jerking down with her warrior’s strength.

Arya remembered Margaery’s words. She sucked in a mouthful of cunt petals and munched on them happily licking and slurping off the rising creamy cum. Arya now fought the pressure of Dany’s hands and moved her head up and sucked in Dany’s upper cunt deep into her mouth. Arya’s mouth using a voracious deep throat love suck to fill her mouth wet slimy cunt meat. Dany’s clitoral hood now deep in Arya’s mouth. The slimy hillock so sweet tasting in her mouth Arya mused.

Now Arya thought. Use what Margaery taught me for the love kill.

She had Dany’s clit deep in her mouth. She started with long ragged deep throat love sucks on the divine rigid nubbin. Dany was whooping clearly ramping up to orgasm. Arya felt a wild thrill run through her body knowing it was her doing it. It was her mouth sucking off her sweet dragon. Dany’s fingers in her hair clawed and jacked Arya’s head down hard. Arya waggled her head as she voraciously sucked to add tension and friction to Dany’s clit. She loved the feel of her tongue whiplashing from side to side over Dany’s rock hard clit sucked out its sheath taking the full brunt of her loving vicious tongue lashing.

Dany was rolling form shoulder to shoulder now her head up off the mattress an inch thrashing. "Unngghh! Owwnnnggg! Oh! Yes! Unngghh ...Arya, do it ...harder, unngghh! Yes! Please! Owwnnnggg!" Arya knew Dany was on the precipice of cumming hard in her mouth.

Arya moved now to give fast and harsh sucks on Dany’s clit. She added the Tyrell tongue flutter striking the clit in her mouth hard and fast all over like a snake’s darting tongue. What next? Yes! Arya started to rock her head hard and fast and sucked with cheek hollowing deep throat love sucks. Her lapping head let her tongue lash the Queen clit’s with the flat of your tongue. The suction on the clit locked between her lips intense and focused with Arya’s cheeks hollowing out with the force of long ragged love sucks. Arya wiggled her head like a dog with a bone tongue lashing the clit in her greedy hard sucking mouth. She was running the length of her flattened tongue all over Dany’s clit as she wildly waggled her head all around. Like instructed Arya kept licking and sucking hard.

She slightly varied what she was doing to assault Dany with sensations constantly changing and morphing slightly to hit the throbbing clit with sweet unexpected sensations.
She felt Dany’s body start to stiffen and spasm all over. Dany’s hands left Arya’s head to grip two handfuls of sheet and pulled them up in her fists. She used her grip to grind her love aching cunt up into Arya’s hot gobbling mouth. Dany’s head had risen up and jerked up and down as her orgasm strove to burst her womb and cunt. Sweat was pouring off Dany’s face and throat. The tendons in Dany’s throat so rigid and taunt they looked like they might snap out of her throat they jutted the skin up so high. Dany’s upper body flushed scarlet that went down almost to her breast. Dany chuffed “Unngg unnggg oohh ggunnmnnnn unngggg …” her body froze up.

Arya took a deep breath and sucked with all her strength on she shiny clit in her mouth fully exposed from its sheath and furiously ran her tongue over the shiny clit polishing it.

Dany’s head slammed down and her body went stiff as a board for a second. Dany’s womb convulsed deep in her belly shredding itself. Then her body exploded into wild jackknifes and flips. Cum seared out Dany’s womb and tore her cunt inside out in searing spasms of fucking ecstasy.

"MMMNGGGNIEEENNMMGGHHH!" Dany cried out in scalding cunt searing ecstasy. “OOOWGGGGGGGGG! AAWWWOOOGGGGGGGG!” Dany screamed as her body jacked and flipped. Arya hurried to run her right arm over Dany’s lower stomach to hold her place. Her upper body rose a foot in the air off the bed. Her muscled stomach accordion up to lift her upper torso high off the bed. Dany slammed down twice into the mattress hard. Arya glance up to see Dany’s face slashed with agonizing pleasure twisting and throttling Dany’s beautiful features.

Her body rising up again to slam down. A fourth time Dany’s body jerked up and spasm up off the bed and then she slammed back down into the mattress with a loud whomp. Her full firm tits whiplashed with the throes of her throttling orgasm. Arya sucked hard moving her mouth down fast now and swallowed the hot gushes of cum sloshing out Dany’s cunt. She felt her nose jack into Dany’s clt and her cum flowed up into Arya’s nose intoxicating her with the heady musk.

“AAAAWWOOOOGGGGGGGG! Unngghhhhaaiiggghhh!” Dany screamed feeling her cunt tear itself inside out scalding her with agonizing ecstasy. "Ohhnngg! Auungghhmmngg! Oh! Oh! Oh sweet air gods ...oh shit! Auunnmmgghhaannrrngggg!"

Dany’s hips kept jamming her cunt up into Arya’s hot gobbling mouth now glued to her gushing honey hole gulping down the mouthfuls of sweet divine hot cum filling her tummy with ambrosia. Dany’s head rose up and she looked down at Arya with a blasted look. “Hhhuuunnngggggg! Mmmnnnuuuunnngggggeeeeee!” she cried out as the hard spasms of her orgasm throttled her senseless her lilac eyes rolling into her skull her head thudding down hard into the mattress. Her body convulsed with weakening spasms.

Arya’s nose had been rubbing Dany’s clt with her mouth drinking down the hot snail snot flowing hotly out Dany’s love box. Cum filled Arya’s nostrils soaking her nasal passages with Dany’s cum. The musk making Arya’ nearlly drunk with its sweetness. Arya had seen while dirty warg into Nymeria that Dany would most often not be satisfied with one orgasm only when she started to masturbate. Dany would skim for a minute and then masturbate furiously to a second orgasm and often a third orgasm as she jilled off to multiple soul searing orgasms. Dany liked her first orgasms fast back to back when she first fucked herself.

Arya smiled into the drooling cunt hole she still slurped creamy cum from. She had made Dany scream and die from it. A woman knew how to make her own body sing but Arya had made Dany reach all the high notes her body could make like Dany had made Arya’s body shatter in notes of pure ecstasy.

They were simply perfectly in tune with each other’s bodies. They were indeed soul mates.
Dany was softly weeping. “I love you Arya. (sobs) I love you so much. I have waited (sobs) my whole life for you to come to me (sobs) and now you are with me.”

Arya wanted more pussy but slide up and enfolded her trembling lover in her arms. They looked at each other with locked eyes.

“Yes I am here Dany and I will never leave you. Direwolves when they take a mate it is for life. You are mine.

Dany sobbed stroking Arya’s cheek.

“Yes I am. I give you my body and soul Arya.

“As I give you mine Dany. The dragon shall lie with the wolf. We are what Rhaegar and Lyanna should have been my sweet Dragon.” She smiled as Dany sobbed again. She lowered her head claiming Dany’s mouth and aggressively swiping her teeth open and lunging her tongue deep into Dany’s mouth and coiled her tongue around Dany’s letting her taste her cunt on Arya’s tongue. Their tongues wetly wrestled deep in Dany’s mouth.

Arya pressed her body down into Dany’s sweat soaked body. Arya loved the feel of her bulb nipples all swollen digging into Dany’s breast as she wallowed their bodies together. Arya pressed her cunt into Dany’s groin and tribbed their pussies over each other with short jerks of her hips. Dany chuffed harder into her mouth her hands again in her hair fingers threaded in her brown locks.

Arya had seen much while warged in Nymeria spying on Dany and her masturbating. The Queen most often jilled off twice or thrice quick to begin with so she knew her Queen revived quickly just like her kitty did. She felt Dany moaning in her mouth. It was time to get some more sweet succulent pussy.

She broke their lip lock and smiled seeing spit roped between their lips.

“I’m going to suck you off again Dany” Arya softly husked to Dany.

“Mmmngggg!” Dany whimpered.

“Oh gods Dany you cunt tastes like nectars from the gods baby!”

“Oooohhhhhhh!” Dany whimpered.

Arya moved her head down and gave Dany another scorching kiss. The teenager kissed her Queen all over her beautiful face moving over to suck on her left earlobe making Dany whimper and her legs kick along the covering sheet. Arya kissed down Dany’s convulsing throat flesh through her seesawing teeth marking Dany as her slut bitch. Arya smiled at the way Dany’s body convulsed beneath her. She felt Dany’s right balled up hand pounding the bed in her ecstasy.

Arya then kissed down between Dany’s breasts. Her lips making sucking kisses. Then the teenager worked her head left kissing up the Queen’s jiggling titty with love bites making Dany mewl. The young Direwolf sucked in the turgid nipple nursing fervently. “Anngghhh! Oh! Anngghh!” the pale Valyrian groaned, wincing as stabbing spasms of pleasure wracked her lovely, straining body. Arya kept kissing as she nipped and licked the sweet flesh. Her mouth working over to the other quivering hillock of perfection that was Dany’s jiggling tit. Her mouth sucked in the turgid nipple and sucked feverishly.
Satisfied for now with her feast of breast flesh Arya started to kiss down Dany’s ribcage with wet smooching kisses and hot tongue licks. Her teeth clenching and sawing pale flesh leaving red bite marks. Dany’s body bucking with the pained pleasure besotting her with sensations and hot feelings of ecstasy. Arya’s mouth moved down to the planes of the Queen’s hard muscled stomach. She loved how Dany’s stomach clenched underneath her lips. Arya detoured and kissed along the line of Dany’s ribcage from left to right to lips giving hot kisses along the ridge.

“Ohhhhh Arya!” she cooed “oh baby suck my cunt again baby … I need to cum in your hot sucking mouth Arya. Hhnnnngg uunngg uunnnh … ooohhhhnunnnn! Oh oh shit! Uunngg hhnggg hhnggg!”

Arya growled as she started kissing down Dany’s palpating belly. Her nostrils flaring smelling Dany’s sweet cunt intoxicating her with needy lust. Her descending body allowed her to take Dany’s musk into her nostrils directly from the wellspring of Dany’s font.

“You love my cum don’t you Arya—you love drinking my sweet hot creamy cum from my gushing cunt don’t you my sweet wolf?”

“Aaarrryyyyaaa! Pleasessssееee—aaуuugggggg!” Dany cried out feeling Arya lower her head and start lapping hard in her slit and raking her tongue over Dany’s clit with confident strong tongue strokes. She lapped and then glued her mouth to Dany cuntly hole and sucked in a succulent mouthful of hot slimy cunt folds. Arya munched and Dany cried out in raw guttural pleasure. "Suck hard ...ohhhhnn! Suck hard, please!” Dany whimpered, twisting and squirming.

Dany surged up to one elbow and gripped her breast with her other and roughly massaged it watching Arya move her head up slowly sucking and slurping up Dany’s wet trench. The teen sucked in both her long inner lips and sucked on them in her mouth. She rolled and munched on the rubbery labia lips savoring their texture and thickness in her mouth. She pulled her head back stretching out the cunt lips making Dany cry out in shocking ecstasy.

Then Arya moved her head up and sucked Dany’s clit deep into her mouth and tongue lashed it hard. "Ohhnnn ...gods, that's sssoo good!” Dany gasped. "Unh! Unh!” Arya then pursed her lips around the clitoral sucked into her mouth. Her tongue gigged and rolled the clit stuffed into her mouth. Her tongue shoved and wormed all over the shiny nubbin jutted out its sheath. Arya’s tongue gigging and tormenting the clit with hard tongue bats that had the Queen crying out in pleasure her hips bucking her mouth up into Arya’s mouth.

Arya spit out Dany’s clit. Her clit swollen and soaked in cum and spit. Arya ran her hands up along Dany’s trench and pulled her pussy open. Arya pulling the lips back and out totally opening her woman’s fuck hole to her hot gaze. She moaned seeing Dany’s wet fuck hole clenching. Arya watched the deep red inner folds and whorls clench and pulse underneath her gaze. She saw wet creamy cum pooled among the folds of Dany’s inner petal petals.

With a happy groan Arya lowered her face back down to Dany’s festering trim. Arya locked her lips on Dany’s cunt and sucked and tongue fucked the sweet cunt hole clutching hard on her deep thrusting tongue. Dany was groaning constantly now her hips rocking mashing her pussy into the mouth devouring her throbbing pussy. Arya surged forward to press her mouth deeper into the plump camel toe of her sweet Dragon. Her tongue spearing deep into the slippery wet cauldron of her love’s hot cunt.
The Queen jerked herself up to her elbows to watch her Direwolf gobble her drooling snatch. Dany’s mouth fell open into a big O of helpless pleasure crying out in ecstasy. Her head fell back her sweaty lank hair jerking below her head as her neck spasmed hard and jerked her head up and down. She felt Arya spearing her tongue hard and deep into her burbling couchie. Dany pulped her tit in her hand folding it over with her cupped palm squeezing hard. Her other hand played with Arya’s hair as she raked Arya hair while her teen lover worked her tongue up and down Dany’s cunt bulging out her vulva with her raking tongue.

Arya was in heaven slurping down sweet creamy cum. “Oohhhhh Arya … godsdammnnnn you suck pussy soooo good baby!” Arya had her face as deep as possible in Dany’s pussy and tongued Dany’s gooey slit and then shoved her tongue deep in Dany’s love box and fluttered her tongue working the slimy cunt meat in her mouth. Arya softly pumped her head and punched her tongue deep into Dany’s cunt. Her mouth engulfed by Dany’s vulva.

Dany slowly brought her knees up and worked her pussy harder into Arya’s hot gobbling mouth. Her ass cheeks flexing to lift and swirl her pussy up into the teen’s hot sucking mouth. Arya was now raking her tongue in Dany’s pussy and sucking fiercely on the rigid clit at the top of Dany’s slit. Dany’s head was back on the bed. The Queen’s neck arched jamming her head into the bed. "Ohhhhhnnn ...ohhnnnn ...gods, it’s so good!” Dany moaned, twisting, her head jammed into the bed her firm breast jiggling with her quaking body.

Arya moved her head slowly up and down. When high she wolfed sucked on Dany’s clit like the wolf she was. She loved the feel of her lover’s clit in her mouth and now working in and out her lips as she polished it with her swiping tongue. Arya worked down the Targaryen’s slit sucking on labia lips making Dany whoop and then her mouth was back at Dany’s honey hole and she shoved her tongue deep up the festering twat scooping out more sweet hot flowing cum.

Arya moaned and groaned feeling her woman’s wet heat sucking and spasming on her tongue. She was filled with sublime happiness drinking down her lover’s hot sweet cum. Each gulp made her nearly swoon with love for Dany. She had so longed for over five years to go down on Dany and have her cunt explode in her hard sucking mouth.

Dany’s legs lowered back to the bed and straightened out. Her arms spread out and Dany’s hands clawed into the sheet. “Hhuunng hhunnggg hhunnggg … oh gods oh gods … Arya keep sucking baby! Oh gods your going to make me cum so fucking hard!” the Queen gasped to her lover. Arya looked up Dany’s flexing muscled body. Dany’s head was lulled over her face twisted with primal ecstasy. She was sucking and tongue stabbing Dany’s clit relentlessly now. Her mouth made loud obscene slurping noises constantly as she sucked with pure love on her lover’s snatch. Dany was humping her pussy up into Arya’s mouth. Her face was scrunched with her body tensing up towards a soul crushing orgasm.

Arya remembered Margaery other secret weapon in lovemaking. She brought her left hand up to just above Dany’s wet swollen flushed mons. She glanced up at Dany again. Her chest and throat was flushed bright pink and her breast were swollen with blood rush her nipples hardened into diamonds.

Arya sucked on Dany’s clit with all her strength and waggled her head fast right and left her tongue roughly rasping the clit exposed out its sheath. Arya’s cheeks hollowed out with her deep throat love sucks. She sucked again and again her tongue polishing Dany’s clit relentlessly.

“Hhuunnggggggg!” Dany’s breath whooshed out her lungs. Her body stiffened tight into a board. Arya jammed the ball of her hand deep and hard into Dany’s belly just above her cunt. The palm putting direct pressure on Dany’s womb. Dany’s arms and legs started to convulse her elbows and heels hammering the bed.

“FFFFFUUUCCKKKKK! HHHHUUNNGGGGGGG! GGGOOOOODDDSSSSAAAAMNNNNN! Dany screamed as if she was being garroted. Arya sucked voraciously on the clit spasming wildly in her mouth and her left hand jamming down on Dany’s lower belly pressing in on her exploding womb. "Unngghh! Oh! Angghh! Anngghiiioounnggghhh! Unnggghhiiieeeeeeee! Mmmnngghhiieeeeee!" Dany screamed as her elbows and heels continued to hammer the bed as raw agonizing pleasure pulsed out her rupturing womb.

Arya was in heaven knowing she was giving Dany such blistering soul searing pleasure. Her face was soaked in Dany’s cum. She felt slimy tendrils of cum dribbling down her throat in several streams. Arya slurped down what she could but still focused on giving Dany all the pleasure she could. She sensed Dany’s orgasm starting to wane and backed off sucking fiercely on Dany’s clit knowing to back off from her observing of Dany’s marathon masturbation sessions.

Dany’s body had been having full body convulsions for over twenty seconds and suddenly her strength fled leaving her spent. Her legs spread out akimbo and her arms slack on the mattress. She was whimpering and out of it. Her face was soaked in sweat and sweat ran off her body in rivulets.

Arya gently tongued and licked the slack satiated cunt of her lover. Arya loved each creamy smear of cum she licked up into her greedily mouth. She looked up and saw that Dany was softly crying again.

She scooted and enfolded her lover in her arms and gently rolled them on their side.

“Sssshhhhh baby … I’m here. I’ll never let you go baby!” Arya softly husked.

“I was so terrified I would have to marry another man to solidify my kingdom … I was so terrified …”

“Your mine Dany … any man comes near you I will gut him … no man will ever touch you again … you’re mine Dany … this wolf has claimed her dragon as her own.”

Dany smiled at her and stroked Arya’s face. “You say the sweetest things Arya. Yes I am yours now and forever. I am the dragon and you are mine Arya Stark. I will never let you go or suffer anyone else to touch what is mine. You belong to me Arya!” Dany finished possessively.

Arya looked at Dany and shivered. She loved hearing Dany laying claim on her body. She was ecstatic that the Queen had made it clear that she would submit to Arya in their bed. Arya felt the wolf in her howling. She would often submit to Dany and feel the dragon’s fire. She smiled. Often the dragon would submit to the Direwolf. Direwolves were passion given flesh and took what they wanted and what she wanted with all her heart was Daenerys Targaryen.

Dany looked at her sweet wolf lying down facing her. She and her lover were dripping sweat and the smell of their musk was thick in Arya’s room. Her sweet wolf was proud of herself the Queen could tell. Well she should be. She had sucked Dany off with exquisite skills. Once she had calmed her nerves and followed her instincts Arya had proven a natural lover. Her mouth had been so divine sucking her off to wailing orgasms.

She reached down and gripped Arya’s left hand resting on her hip. She brought the hand slowly up to between their faces. Dany slowly closed the fingers and formed a fist. She saw Arya’s eyes register curiosity at her actions. Dany slowly brought the fist to her mouth and gently kissed it and then ran her tongue between the knuckles. Arya shivered her grey steel eyes igniting with renewed lust.

Dany smiled. Her wolf was easily aroused as she was. Her nipples had just started to lose their swelling but now were getting all pulpy and sweet. Dany kissed Arya’s fist again and then lowered it “You won my heart with this fist Arya. I had seen you through my dragon’s eyes and been enamored but it was your fire in my throne room that completely captured my heart.”

Arya’s eyes had slowly filled with subtle mirth. “Well you know. The way to a Queen’s heart is through her chin” she softly chuckled.

Dany smiled at her lover’s humor.

She snaked her arms around Arya suddenly and pushed her lover over and straddled her sweet wolf with her elbows and knees supporting some of her weight but she had already seen that Arya loved feeling her weight on her. She loved feeling Arya’s pulpy nipples digging into her breast and chest. She looked down at Arya with her in fire lilac eyes.

She threaded her fingers into Arya’s hair. “I am your Queen Arya Stark. I willing submit to your direwolf desires but when the dragon is ascendant she will claim and take what is hers. Do you agree and submit.”

Arya’s pupils were completely blown. She shook her head slowly ‘yes’.

“I will fuck you hard and often Arya when I am in the rut. I will take what I want and need. I will consume you Arya. I will take you with my fingers and my mouth. When we return to King’s Landing I have dildos and strap-ons that I will mount you with. I will bang the shit out of you Arya. I will pound all your holes. Do you understand what I mean?”

Arya shook her head yes with enthusiasm. A wicked smile on her face. Dany shivered seeing what a lustful slut her Arya was.

“Do you want that Arya Stark? To feel me slamming my large cock deep into your cunt. To have me plunging my dick up your hot tight ass. Pulling my dick out your ass and making you suck your ass juice off my dick like the filthy slut you are!”

Arya’s eyes fluttered shut. A hard shiver ran through her body. Arya opened her eyes staring hotly at her Queen. Now Arya shook her head very enthusiastically yes again.

“I will fuck your ass hard and deep and then pull my cock out your ass and slide it over your perineum and bury my dick balls deep straight into your cunt from your asshole Arya. I will fuck your back and forth between your fuck holes. You will clean both your pussy and ass off my dick Arya. Do you want that Arya? Is that what you want my Direwolf?” Dany asked her woman.

“Yyyyyyyyyeeessssssssssss!” Arya sibilantly croaked up to her lover shaking her head yes looking up at Dany with total wanton submission and love.

Dany felt her belly clench at the slut of a lover her Arya was proving to be. Dany needed to fuck hard and repeatedly to satiate her dragon’s hunger.

She shifted over to her left over Arya and brought her knee into Arya’s pussy and wiggled it urging Arya to spread her legs. She rested her swollen cunt down on Arya’s muscular thigh. She subtly flexed her knee and pressed it harder into Arya’s pussy. Her sweet wolf groaned in pleasure feeling the pressure on her cunt.

Dany gripped her wolf’s hair and lowered her mouth. She first lipped Arya’s lips with her own and sucked her lips between hers and nibbled on them. She then pried open her lover’s mouth and stormed her tongue deep into Arya’s mouth and engaged her tongue. Their tongues coiled and flipped in hot love in Arya’s mouth. “Unggmmff Mmmphhhff Mmpphhff!” Arya chuffed into the mouth that was devouring hers.

Dany started to flex her hips and drag her knee up her lover’s swollen pussy and jammed in grinding her lover’s swollen cunt. Dany moaned into Arya’s mouth feeling her lover’s labia lips riding up and down her flexing knee and lower thigh. Arya’s juices soaking her leg lubricating it allowing her more easily grind it hard into her lover’s muff. She could feel Arya’s hard clit riding up and down her leg.

The rocking motion the Queen setup had her own pussy starting to flex and ride on Arya’s thick muscular legs. Her pussy compressing and mashed into Arya’s strong leg. Her pussy riding up and down the Arya’s muscled thigh. Her pussy leaving a trail of snail snot lubricating the leg she was using as a fuck post.

Arya was grinding her cunt up into the thigh grinding into it. Arya looped her arms around Dany’s back pulling her down to wallow their bellies into each other and to jam her swollen nipple plums into her Queen’s full firm titties. Their tongues rolled and wetly wrestled deep in Arya’s moaning mouth. Both of their bodies jolted as they felt the hot sweet pulses flowing from their rubbed and compressed nipples.

The Valyrian loved the feel of Arya’s trim riding her leg she was jamming and working up and down the drooling slit. She started to feel the clit that was jutted out its sheath now. The hard nubbin riding up and down her leg. The cum soaking her leg let Arya’s cunt ride easily up and down her upper leg she was pounding into her lover’s open quim she was fucking harder and harder with her thrusting leg.

Dany’s own clit was being mashed and dragged on Arya’s upper leg by her fucking of Arya’s cunt. Her clit jangling hard and sending searing pulses of ecstasy to her brain. Dany broke their kiss to get some needed oxygen. She looked down at her wolf. Her face was twisting and jolting with shocks of ecstasy. Dany forced her body lower and now used her upper leg to slam down and up her lover’s cunt. Arya’s drooling clam shell instantly soaking Dany’s upper leg with hot sweet cunt slime.

The Queen lowered her head bending her neck so she could suck in a full bulb nipple. The Queen hard sucked locking her lips beneath the double bottle cap edge of Arya’s nipples. Dany sucked with cheek hollowing long love sucks. Her head lifting with the sheer force of her long hard sucks. Her tongue slapping and gigging the blood engorged pulpy nipple. "Ohhhnnn ..yes!" Arya panted her face twisting with ecstasy.

Dany smiled and lifted her hips higher and slammed her leg down into Arya’s swollen snatch and dragged it up her woman’s cunt. She lifted her leg swirling her hips back and up and slammed her leg down and pounded Arya’s cunt and hard dragged her leg up Arya’s now opened up quim. She slammed her leg down again and again into Arya’s swollen drooling cunt. "Ohhhnnn!” Arya gasped her eyes squeezed shut in ecstasy. "Ohh! Unngghhhhh!" she cried out. "Ohhhnnn! Ahhnnnn!” Arya moaned, jacking her shaking pelvis up into the down slam thrusts of Dany’s leg. “Oh gods! Unggh!” Arya groaned, her eyes going briefly glassy. "Ohng!"

The motion of fucking Arya was pounding her pussy into Arya’s leg. Her sweet Direwolf had felt Dany’s cunt slaming and riding up and down her leg. Arya had cocked her leg slightly so she could angle her thigh up with her bent knee. This allowed Arya to jam her leg harder into the pussy humping her leg as Dany worked her quim up and down her leg like a bitch in heat. Her cunt soaking Arya’s leg with her flowing effluent.

Dany was in love how she was able to hook her lips underneath the crown of Arya’s overripe bursting plum nipples. She sucked voraciously with cheek hollowing deep throat love sucks. Her head lifting with her forceful sucks. Arya’s cries of pleasure constant. Her tongue slapped and gigged hard the bursting plum nipple filling the Queen’s mouth.

She was slam fucking her woman with her thigh now. She loved how her forceful ramming of her leg into Arya’s gooey trench and jamming in deep mashing her vulva spreading it out on her thigh muscle. She adored seeing Arya’s body jerk forward that fraction of an inch from the force of her thigh slamming into her slut’s cunt. She felt her woman’s labia lips pulled, stretched and rolled on her sliding thigh. She could feel Arya’s clit pulled from its sheath riding up and down her rampaging thigh pulverizing Arya’s clit with hard forward jams of her surging thigh.

Dany looked down at Arya’s face as Arya’s head jerked right and left constantly now. Her face looked like she had put her foot in boiling water with the way it twisted and slashed like she was in agony that was only pure ecstasy. She felt Arya’s claw into her ass cheeks with her fingers and dig in with her clipped nails (good lesbian Dany thought in a stray thought). Arya helped Dany lift her hips higher on the back stroke and then slam down and forward with the next up stroke of her leg up Arya’s drooling pulped clam shell.

"Aowwnngg!" Arya cried out as her fingers dug deep into Dany’s ass helping her to fuck her cunt harder and harder. "Oh ...oh! Please! Ungghhh! Oh yes ...harder! Ungghhh! Do it hard! Hard!" And Dany did do it harder. She was in a fury of hard fucking her slut. Her leg pulping the now watery cunt she was fucking with pure love and passion.

The Queen arched her back to increase the force of her leg jamming and riding up Arya’s cunt. The teen’s labia lips splayed out as the lips rolled and folded on the leg pounding up and down the drooling slit. Arya helping the Queen to fuck Arya’s cunt with her hands clenching to claw Dany’s ass to help her Queen slam her leg into her spasming cunt. Dany chuffed and moaned working her hips to surge her leg up and over baby’s slit and clit. Again and again Dany swirled her hips up and back so she slam her thigh into her slut’s drooling clamshell pulping Arya’s slit and clit. Dany’s leg roughly riding up her woman’s cum soaked slit and clit.

Dany felt intense pleasure in her pussy that was riding on Arya’s leg but she was totally focused now on making her Arya cum hard yet again.

Dany lowered her head eyes locked with Arya’s that struggled to focus on her. “Take it slut! Unnggg uuunnggg uuunnggg! Cum on my leg like a bitch in heat slut!” Dany rose up on her palms and arched her back deeper and slammed down with even more force into her Stark’s sloshing cunt. Arya’s eyes flared with the surge in pleasure in her fucked cunt. Her head lifted off the mattress an inch and pumped up and down with her racing pulse. Dany felt Arya desperately clawing her ass and down jerking urging Dany on with her hard thigh fuck of Arya’s swollen watery quim.

“Oohhhhh ... oohhhh fuuucckkkk!” Arya’s head thumped back to the mattress and lulled over and her face slashed with the twisting grimaces. Her pussy filled with fierce pleasure. “Oh godsssss yeeessssss!!!” Arya’s fingers were like talons sunk in Dany’s ass cheeks jerking down with maniacal force urging Dany on with her pulverizing fuck of Arya’s swollen pussy.

“Cum you fucking slut! Your Queen commands that you cum bitch!” Dany surged forward with her impacting thigh in Arya’s flooding quim made Arya’s body jerk forward that small fraction that was so hot to see to Dany. Gods she loved fucking Arya hard! It was so hot for Dany to feel the jerk forward of Arya’s body with her hard tribbing body. Arya’s face froze up with her eyes shocked wide up with a surge of crippling ecstasy. “CUM SLUT!” Dany now screamed down at Arya to hurtle her sweet wolf off the precipice of ecstasy. Arya’s body tittering on the edge of shocking bliss. “CUM YOU GODSDAMN SLUT!”

Arya’s body stiffened up like a board her face twisted with horrible ecstasy and then dissolved into wild spasms of agonizing cumming. “MMMNGGGGHHIIIEEEE! NNNGGGHHIIIEEEE! Anngghnnnmnggieee! Aaaauugghhiieeeee!” Arya shrieked in agoning ecstasy. Arya exploded in a rupturing orgasm, gagging and squirming uncontrollably on the bed as wave after wave of shattering pleasure broke over her shuddering body. Her head slammed into bed and rose up and slamed back down hard. “Nngmnnnggieee! Mmmngghhhiieeee!” Arya wailed her face clawed with gut wrenching ecstasy. Arya cummed in hot spasms, her body churning and grinding into Dany’s still surging thigh muscle. "Oh! Unngghhhiiieeee!" "Anngghhiiieeee!" she cried. "Oh! Oh gods, Dany! Yes! Ungghhiiieeee!"

Dany was in heaven feeling her woman cum so hard on her leg. She felt hot cum pouring out Arya’s spasming couchie and totally soaking her leg in hot oily slimy cum. She watched intently the body of Arya shudder and convulse beneath her as she still slammed and dragged her thigh up Arya’s gushing cunt. She felt her leg soaked in her so fucking hot woman’s effluent. Arya’s face twisted with soul crushing pleasure. Dany felt her medium sized full tits whipping around on her chest as she hard tribbed her leg into Arya’s groove.

She felt Arya’s body weakening as her orgasm began to wane. Dany backed up and stopped riding her leg in Arya’s flooded trench. She loved the look of swooning on Arya’s face. Her body was streaked with running sweat that flowed down her body with her strong aftershocks. Her mouth was open and slack drooling down her cheek. Dany looked down further and saw the wet open cunny of her sweet Arya. Arya’s pussy swollen and slimy looking with all the cum slicking her seam, labia lips and her groin. Her labia lips all hues of brown with sweet pink and slicked with glistening cum. Arya’s mound and slit flushed red with blood rush.

Dany smiled. She had given her woman supreme pleasure. She felt so fucking hot and sexy giving her new lover supreme pleasure.

Dany looked down and suddenly felt the need rising in her own snatch. She needed to cum hard herself but her sweetie was out for the count for a few minutes as she mewled and her body hitched with the strong aftershocks running through her body.

In her finishing off Arya, Dany had risen up breaking her pussy’s lock on Arya’s thigh. She looked down at that leg all wet and glistening with her flowing snail snot. The Queen licked her lips feeling rampant fuck hunger coursing through her veins.

Dany rose up and moved her body over and fully straddled Arya’s akimbo leg with her swollen shaved cunt. Her labia lips bloomed out her slit and soaked in runny clear cum. She started to work her hips and run her swollen couchie up and down the akimbo leg of her lover. She mashed down with hard flexes of her hips working to pulp her cunt. “Hhhuunggggg! Shit!” Dany cawed out feeling her cunt pulse hard with pleasure as she worked her cunt up and down Arya’s upper leg. The Queen’s stomach flexing and her hips churning to grind her pussy up and down Arya’s thick muscled thigh.

Dany felt her tits start to swirl and jerk as she fucked her cunt like a cat humping a fuck post. She gagged with helpless pleasure. She dragged her cunt roughly up and down Arya’s leg from her knee up six inches and back down as she worked her hips to grind and slide her pussy hard on Arya’s muscled leg. Dany’s hands came up to cup and fold her own tits and hard jerk them squeezing hard filling her breast with aching fire that arched to her clit. She cried out feeling her clit jacked out its sheath and now rubbing hard directly on Arya’s thigh.
The Queen had already laid a base of cum on Arya’s leg that had her pussy easily gliding up and down the thickly muscled leg of Arya. Her excited pussy now liberally pumped out cum that quickly smeared Arya’s leg with fresh cum that slavered Arya’s upper leg and began to run down in trickles on both sides of the leg Dany was actively humping like a cat in heat.

Dany’s head lulled back and she whimpered with hard pleasure as her hands continued to clench in hard with pulp squeezes on her boobs. "Ohunngghh oh gods ...oh shit!” Dany groaned as she lulled back her head on a neck gone weak. She thrashed her head with helpless pleasure. Her face twisted with sublime pleasure. "Oh! Oh! Unghhh!” She felt a recovered Arya’s hands grip her hips and helped her increase the force of her rubbing of her pussy on Arya’s leg. The increase in friction gagged the Queen with sublime fucking bliss.

Dany’s head lulled back and forward and then hung down on a neck weak with pleasure. Her head jacked down hard with stomach clenching pulses of raw pleasure flowing out her cunt as she tribbed Arya’s leg. She saw Arya looking up at her with pure fire in her eyes. Gods Dany thought. Arya looked so fucking hot with her hair plastered all over her forehead, cheeks, shoulders and upper chest. Arya’s eyes pulsed with hot hunger for Dany. Dany shuddered seeing that fire in her sweet love’s steel grey eyes. Arya jammed down with her clench on Dany’s hips pulping the Targaryen’s camel toe into her thigh she now clenched hard and surged up into Dany’s cunny.

The Targaryen Queen whimpered feeling her cunny pulped. Her clit dragged and mashed on the leg Arya now flexed as she jerked it up into the pussy riding it. Dany felt her long labia lips being dragged, folded and stretched on the leg she was hard humping her hips jerking in harsh jerks. Arya let Dany guide her hips with Arya only adding intense pressure and helping Dany ride the full length of Arya’s upper leg. The cunt juice soaking Arya’s leg letting Dany grind her cunt easily up and down the thickly muscled leg.

Dany saw her lover’s face smile feeling her cunt drool out copious fuck juice to lubricate the thigh she was tribbing wildly on. Her tits whipped up and down. Dany now was running her hands hedonistically up and down here body squeezing and rubbing her striving body. “Huunngg uunngg hhnnnggg … oh gods Arya my cunt is going to explode aaugggg uunnggg uunnggg!”

“Cum all over me like I did you Dany!”

“Call me a slut! Ppplleeeesseee! I love it when I am talked rough too!”

“Cum on my leg you fucking godsdamned slut! Cum hard for me you cunt!”

Dany’s eyes flared wide. She sagged forward and gripped Arya’s shoulders and surged down arching her back down to increase the force of her tribbing. Her tits circled on her chest with the force of her fucking. Her breathing a labored desperate thing. Her head thrashed as her face crumpled in almost harrowing pleasure. Dany gagged as she jammed down harder with short spastic jerks of her hips to pulp her camel toe. Arya providing the impudence to help Dany grind her cunt up and down Arya’s leg Dany was tribbing on manically.

“Nut your cunt on my leg you fucking Valyrian cunt! Cum all over me like the Lysian whore you are! Show me what a godsdamn slut you are Dany! You fucking cunt!”

“Aaaarruuunnggggg! Yes yessssss—aauuuggg uunnggg yessssssss!” Dany groaned out sibilantly. Her sweat drenched body soaked in rivulets of running perspiration. Her face striving and stricken looking. Her tits whiplashing up and down as her body desperately humped Arya’s leg.

Arya clenched her fingers deep into Dany’s hips to grind her swollen now sloshing snatch up and down her leg. She looked up at Dany’s face desperate in its need to cum. Arya lifted her leg instinctively to increase the pressure grinding Dany’s cunt. With her foot on the bed Arya savagely up jerked her leg into the trim roughly riding up and down her leg. The heat and wetness divine to Arya. The look on Dany’s striving face sublime.

“Cum hard Dany! Cum on my fucking leg you slut! Cum hard cum hard cum NOW!”

Dany’s head snapped back her mouth wide open. “AAARRUUUUNNGGGGGG!
OOWWWGGGGHIIIHHH! AAAAAUWWOOOGGGGGG!” the Queen roared as pulverizing shocks of a horrifying powerful orgasm exploded out her rupturing womb. Dany’s head snapped down and back her face filled with killing shocks of burning ecstasy. She felt Arya throwing her leg up into her cunt increasing the pressure on her cunt that felt like it was tearing itself inside out. Her womb spasmed so hard she thought it might tear out her belly "HHHUUUNNGGGGGG!
OOWWNNGGHHIIIEEEEEEE! Auunngghh! " she screamed. "Ummgghnhh! Ungaungghhmmnngg! her wails of the purest ecstasy possible on Earth filled Arya’s bedroom as Dany’s body convulsed sharply. She jackknifed violently her body snapping up and down so hard she feared her spine might shatter. Her tits almost violently snapping up and down on her chest as each convulsion rippled through her body.

The Queen’s pussy gushed out hot waves of cum that soaked and creamed Arya’s leg. The searing pulses of cum running down Arya’s leg and soaked the bed beneath. Dany gradually weakened and sagged down onto Arya’s body as her body still convulsed weakly with killing pulses of her dying harrowing orgasm. "Oh yes ...oh yessss! Oh! Oh! Gods, Arya, unnggghh! … never has it been like this—sooo good! Arrurungg hhuunngg hhnnngg” Dany gagged out feeling intense aftershocks begin to grip and shake her body. Her clit and nipples pulsing to the intense aftershocks rippling out her spent womb.

Dany started weeping again with pure love. She felt Arya reach down and pull the covers over their sweat and cum soaked bodies. Dany was still hitching and crying out as powerful pulses of her dying orgasm throttled her.

“I love you Arya—hhoowwggggg uunggggg … gods I love you so much!” whimpered snuggling into her love half lying on her lover putting her head underneath Arya’s chin her left arm and leg thrown possessively over Arya’s supping body. She felt her cunt pulsing out hot cum still. Her pussy was soaking their bellies and groins in her hot cum. She started to worry that Arya might not want to be coated thickly with her creamy cum as they snuggled.

“Gods Danyyyyyy—I can feel you cunt soaking me in its cum—ooohhhhh gods I love it soooooo! I always want to feel your cunny soaking my body in your sweet cum.”

Dany felt her eyes roll back into her skull. Gods Arya was born to be her lover.

She jammed her face into Arya’s throat and cooed. She was spent for the moment. She wanted more of her sweet lover but needed to get her bearings and recharge.

“I love you Arya Stark. So so much!” she sleepily cooed.

“As I love you Daenerys Targaryen. I fantasied about you for five years now my sweet Queen.”
She kissed a drowsy Dany on her temple. “When I was only eleven and you came out of the Red Wastes I dreamed and masturbated to you being in this bed. Now, finally you are in my bed making love to me. I have masturbated to so many orgasms in this bed dreaming of this. The reality blows my fantasies to dust. You are my soulmate Dany. I was born to be your lover Dany.”

Dany whimpered and fell into sweet dreams of her Arya. She smiled thinking of triple weddings.
Dany slowly swam back up to the surface of consciousness. She was lethargic and her body filled with sweet lassitude. She stretched a little arching her back. She had that pleasant ache of a woman well fucked. Well fucked by her sweet wolf. She wiggled and was disappointed to not feel Arya beneath her cheek and her body not under her arms and legs. She heard snorts and snuffling.

The Queen slowly rolled over and looked into the room. She saw from the windows that it was late in the afternoon now. Arya’s room was on the east side of the Great Keep. The sunrays did not strike this wall and the windows were full of shadowy gloom. The gloom of the room had been ameliorated by a fire that had recently been stoked and the flames were hungrily consuming thick logs of popping pine.

She saw that two oil lamps on wall hooks had been turned up to fill the room with a soft gentle glow. She then noticed that on the table six candles burned with several big bowls and plates on it. She saw fruit in the bowls and a big pitcher of some liquid. She looked again at the fireplace. Her mouth turned up at the corners. Dany saw the logs filled with cankers that glowed red hot that added warmth to the room always kept warm with the hot water running through the walls. She smiled. It was what was before the large fireplace that made her smile great big.

Woof woof woff! she heard. On her back was Nymeria with her forelegs running in the air. A naked Arya was on her knees bent over and roughly scratching the great Direwolf’s in the area between her front legs with her clawed fingers. Up and down Arya ran her clawed fingers digging deep into the fur of her Direwolf. The wolf jerked her head back and forth her tongue lulling out her mouth. Nymeria’s tail wagged furiously right and left.

Dany saw Arya’s nipples were not erect. They were not even half their normal size of arousal her areolas ridged and her nipple seeming buried in the rolls of her crinkly areolas. She would change that soon enough!

Arya continued to work her wolf now rubbing her belly as the wolf whined in pleasure. Dany was up on her forearms working the kinks out. She knew her wetting cunt was on full display in lewd invitation and her full firm tits jiggling on her chest her nipples already rigid with fuck hunger for her sweet wolf.

“You did not awaken me Arya …” Dany brought her head back down from her hard stretch “It was hunger to fuck you again that awoke me Arya” Dany softly husked to her lover.

“Oh!” Arya softly squeaked. Dany found the mixture of carnal and innocence of Arya Stark to be a heady wine. It was absolutely adorable. Arya recovered with a soft smirk on her face. “If you have other hungers I have had some nourishment brought into my room. You see I have had fruit, bread, sliced pork and roast with cheese on the table and a pitcher of ice tea brought to us. I was famished.
and thirsty. I made sure to have enough for you too Dany. I then a special treat for you my love.”

A sly smile now graced her face as she continued rubbing her whining wolf whose tongue was lulled out.

Arya eyed the Queen’s charms hungrily. Her eyes traveling up and down the body of her Queen with famished hunger that had her pupils already blown with desire. She licked her lips like the animal on the standard of her House.

“Partake of sustenance my Queen … then I will partake of you” Arya said in a sultry tone her eyes on fire and nipples again becoming engorged with want and need. Their pussy musk was still thick in the air from their earlier fucking but Dany smelled her own pussy flooding the air with sweet new musk. Arya’s flaring nostrils told Dany that Arya smelled her own pussy juicing liberally.

It was then that Arya’s fresh hot cunt musk hit Dany like a tidal way. The Queen inhaled deeply taking her lover’s pungent sweet musk deep into her lungs with full breaths. She felt her own pussy wet with need to be consumed again. Dany’s body shook with need and want. She looked at Arya who was up on her knees now. She had one hand still rubbing her wolf’s belly while the other hand played with her now swollen labia lips and brushed over her clit making Arya groan as her pussy got visibly wetter. Her puss and labia lips getting the oily sheen of cum soaking her mound and labia lips.

Dany loved being naked with her lover with no inhibitions between them. She went to the table and made herself a large sandwich of chopped pork, cheese and bread. She had several large handfuls of grapes and washed down with two large glasses of ice tea. Dany had a physical hunger satiated she did not even now she had.

She now looked over to Arya and Nymeria. Nym had now laid on her side and luxuriated in Arya running her fingers through her fur. Dany lifted up the one covered dish and smiled great big. In it was a big thick ox thigh bone. Arya had other hungers in mind as well. Arya being thoughtful of Nymeria’s need had the perfect treat for her Direwolf. Dany picked up the covered platter. She walked over to her lover and her wolf. She put the covered dish down beside the Direwolf.

Dany joined her lover in running her fingers through the long fur of the direwolf. Nymeria was in wolfie heaven being pampered and spoiled. She woofed softly her tongue lapping along her gums in contentment. Above her Dany made hot eye contact with Arya as she let her eyes bore in on Arya’s engorged nipples and her labia lips hanging out her slit all wet and cum slimed. The Queen smiled seeing a hard shiver run through her lover’s body.

“I have other hungers that need to be satiated Arya” the Queen told her woman in a hot sultry voice. She stood up and walked to the wall in Arya’s room that had a thick curtain hung to it to give color and cover the cool stone. In a regal tone “Give Nymeria that thigh bone and then come over to me on all fours wolf. Come over in servitude to your Queen!” Dany almost barked at Arya. She stood before the curtain and tapped her foot impatiently.

She saw Arya’s eyes go glassy and her body shook with fuck hunger. She woodenly opened the dish and Nymeria immediately snapped over to her belly and stared at the ox bone with her mouth water in anticipation. Arya pushed the dish over with her foot to slide the dish to her wolf and forgot about her. Nymeria had her hunger and Arya had her hungers that needed to be satiated. Her eyes riveted on the regal pose of her Queen. Gods she is so fucking beautiful Arya thought to herself.

Nymeria head snapped forward to get the thick bone in her happy maul and started to chew on it. Arya took several steps away from Nymeria. Slowly she sunk down till she was on her hands and knees. She stared hotly at her Queen. In her mind she went submissive and wiggled her ass. She may be submissive but that didn’t mean she couldn’t shake her ass. An ass she couldn’t wait for Dany to fuck.

Arya saw the Queen staring hungrily at her ass. She shook her ass again for her lover loving how Dany’s breathing accelerated slightly just looking at her big firm ass cheeks flexing.

Arya slowly moved over to Dany on all fours. Her steps slow and measured as her body undulated forward in subservience. In her mind now, Arya was totally submissive to her Dragon and was ready to be fucked however Dany wanted to take her. Those thoughts had Arya’s belly contracting in need as her pussy jerked squeezed in primal want.

Her eye glued to the wet swollen trim of her Queen Arya slowly advanced. She was then before Dany and inhaled deeply and groaned hard smelling her Queen’s wet swollen cunt. The musk intoxicating. She stared up at the drooling clam shell enviously. Her tongue licked her lips. Her mouth was salivating heavily. She wiggled her ass showing her excitement.

“How much do you want me Arya? I need to see how much you need me. I need to see the slut in you.” The Queen stared down at Arya with a regal arrogant poised look.

“Woof woof –pant pant pant – woof!” Arya panted looking up at Dany.

The Queen’s stern look wavered with Arya’s antics as she stared hard at her cunt. “Now that I did not expect!” Dany laughed. She smiled down at Arya. She was looking all round like a hound her mouth making panting noises and letting slobber drool down her chin to wiggle in strands off her jaw before breaking off. Arya loved seeing Dany smile with childish joy down at her.

With a mischievous light in her eyes the blond woman started to sensually swirl her hips before her woman. Dany humped her pelvis in front of Arya showing her lover her swollen snatch that ached to be devoured. Dany felt her pussy drool slimy trickles down both her thighs. Arya’s eyes tracked the glistening trails that slowly wept down the thin but muscular legs of her Queen.

Arya started to whine like a dog who is frustrated. Panting she moved up to get just before Dany. Arya pawed at Dany’s cum slicked thighs and whined licking her lips. Her eyes stared enraptured at her lover’s swollen trim all wet and dark pink. Dany loved Arya’s playful mirth. She was so fucking precious!

Arya lifted her left arm and pawed at Dany’s muscled leg up and down with her fingernails and whined pathetically staring and drooling at the Queen’s wet quim. Arya inhaled deeply. Aaawwwoooooo! Aaawwwooooo!” she howled in primal fuck hunger.

“That’s right bitch! Howl for what you want. Let me hear you howl and growl for my pussy cunt!”

“Aaawwwoooooo! … Ggggrrrrrrrrrrrr! Ggggrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrr! … pant pant Gggggrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrrr!” Arya played her part dutifully with a smile smirk on her face.

Nymeria lifted head from the bone she was contentedly gnawing on. Her master was in the rut. She agreed. Direwolves needed to mate often to be happy. The wolf cantered her head as she gnawed on her bone. It was interesting to see her master taking on the attributes of the wolves who submitted to Nymeria’s desires.

Dany smiled down at her sweet direwolf given human flesh. Arya had a wicked sense of humor. She leaned back against the thick quilt hanging against the stone. She now had her imperious look on her face. The Queen was in regal mode now.

Arya sat back down on her ass looking up at Dany with her mouth drooling heavily it was watering so bad. Her eyes roamed the perfection that awaited her. Her head slowly moving up and down staring with longing at Dany’s beautiful perfect face, her high firm breasts and her shaved cunt right in front of her face. Arya breathed deep and moaned smelling her woman’s hot sex. The sweet musk so intoxicating.

“My sweet wolf. I do think that you are in so many ways the physical avatar of your namesake. You are the wolf given human flesh. Even your mannerism are like your Direwolf Nymeria.” Arya sat down on her ass like a dog healing. Her head rocking with her dog pants. Arya turned her head back and forth looking around but always glancing back at her master like a dutiful dog does for its master.

More than willing to play the part, Arya panted drooling and started to paw at Dany’s leg whining again. Arya whined like a distraught wolf. Arya now stared hard at her Queen’s cunt as more hot trickles of cum trickled down the Queen’s legs. Dany’s mound was swollen now and bright pink with blood rush. Her inner labia lips bloomed out her slit all knotted up and wet with weeping fuck juice from her leaking clamshell.

Her musk was flowing off her pussy and intoxicating the sixteen year old shaking now with her hunger for her woman. She loved this teasing before the feast. Arya looked up at Dany’s perfect sized tits so firm and high. She saw the flush of excitement on Dany’s neck and around the hollow of her throat. Nipples were engorged and rock hard on the Queen’s firm tits. The tits rising and falling with Dany’s excited breathing.

Arya got back up on her hands and knees and brushed her body against the Queen’s body like Nymeria did to show affection. Arya turned her body around again and again to rub her face and her body from her shoulder to her hip along the Queen’s thighs wetting her face and body in her Queen’s trickling cum. Arya moved in to lick the sweet trickle of sweet cum.

“Mmmuunngggg! Uummggggggg!” Arya purr moaned her tongue licking up the sweet cum her tongue could find on Dany’s muscled legs.

“Heal!” Dany barked. Arya obeyed going back to sitting on her heels and ass. She whined looking up with pleading in her steel grey eyes. Sitting back on her heels Arya looked up at her master and lulled her tongue out and panted up at her true master. She whined again and pawed at Dany’s legs with her palm and fingers like a wolf’s paw.

“As I was saying wolf—you are so like Nymeria. I will have you know your wolf spied on me many nights Arya. You have been a bad master that I will punish thoroughly in the future for these transgressions!”

Dany smirked to herself hiding her amusement seeing Arya’s eyes flare and she swore she saw steam coming out her ears as she processed the ramifications of this.

“Yes Arya … a Queen expects privacy in her chambers at night but your wolf would barge into my room (conveniently forgetting the big trays of sweet chunks of meat she used to bride the wolf into her chambers when Arya tried to be good). She would come and not leave. I was most put out!”

Dany saw Arya starting to sweat and look guilty. Time to let up a little she saw. She was not angry in the least of course but the dynamic they were playing now required her to act the part of the aggrieved Queen. She had learned how to put on many faces in her march across Essos as she conquered that continent.

“But, I am forgiving Queen Arya. I will punish you later with my flogger and cattail and cover your body with red marks from your master!” Arya was shivering in anticipation. The slut was looking forward to her punishment! Dany thought. Let's see how she truly felt about her approaching defilement. “I will then take my long thick dragon cock and ravage your pussy till it is stretched out and fucked inside out. I will fuck your pussy and stretch it out with my big thick Dragon cock! I will then take your asshole my Wolf. I will fuck your ass so hard and deep and make you clean your shit juice off my dick! You understand me Wolf!”

Arya was panting heavily now. Her face glistened with a sheen of sweat. Dany thought that was much better. Arya had a glassy look now and was shivering her nipples about to burst with excitement.

“Will you submit Wolf? Will you enjoy me fucking your shit hole hard and deep? You will love sucking your ass off my dick Wolf. Right Arya?” the Queen asked in a regal sneering tone.

“Woof Woof!” Arya weakly bleated out her head snapping harshly up and down in her eager consent.

“Yes. Your wolf was most bad Arya. Believe me. You will suffer! Will you take your punishment my sweet wolf?!

Dany had to break her stern look seeing Arya shake her head ‘yes’ so hard she was afraid Arya might hurt her neck. It was so cute Dany had to smile. She quickly put her royal stern visage back on her features.

“I will never ever ever expect for you revolt against me in the bedchamber and wrestle my implements of punishment from my grasp. You will never whip me mercilessly as I beg for you to contin—I mean for you to stop you defilement of my sweet innocent nature and body. You will must definitely not cover me with the red marks. I will cover you with marks of my punishment and thou shall never rise up and do the same to me. You shall never slap my face, ass, tits and cunt viciously as i will do so to you my wolf. Conversely, You will not drag me around by my hair with vicious jerks making me scream in pain as I will do you—you fucking slut … will you Arya? You will never ever ever slap my face, tits, cunt and ass cruelly with harsh cruel cupped hand slaps.”

She saw Arya’s head turning and her eyes squinting and calculation coming into Arya’s grey orbs as she tried to science out the proper answer. She would figure it out the Queen smirked to herself with a leer on her face. Dany would make sure of that. She had always wanted to surrender her body to her female lover she had taken as her wife. But she had never trusted anyone enough to completely let go of her emotions and soul. She had played the physical games but never let her heart truly open to another to get the truly deep connection of full submission.

Dany had never loved someone enough for that. Now she did and she would submit to Arya totally. She would lower all her personal and emotional shields to experience the full sensations and pleasures of being completely and totally dominated. She would feel the whip lashing her mercilessly as she wailed in pain that would lead to so much pleasure. She would relish Arya slapping her face so hard and tying her up in ropes to strangle her tits and dig deep into her pussy and up her ass cleft. She had many games to play with her wolf girl.

Dany was both a sadist and masochist. She was a total switch. She sensed that Arya was too. She would coax out her Wolf’s truly dominate side. A side she would seek when Arya mounted her with her strap-on cock and fuck her like a Direwolf birch in heat. Yes, Dany had many such desires to play out with her sweet but savage Wolf.

“I will have you know Arya that your confounded wolf simply would not leave me quarters even though I had the most pressing needs. I would be so wrought up with desires to fuck you that I simply had to masturbate. I couldn’t help myself.”
She saw Arya looking shifty again. Dany knew Arya was trying hard to feel guilty but was not really succeeding at it. They have both loved the spying game and both new it. They just had to admit it to each other.

“I could not stop myself from masturbating again and again, night after night, in front of Nymeria as she sat or lied on her paws watching me flip and jackknife from the orgasms I stroked out my kitty and asshole. I could not stop myself of dreaming of you. I had to make myself cum seven or eight times at night, each night, to relieve the ache you put in my belly and fuck holes (Arya whined loudly at that) I never said your name. It was my secret. To fuck myself and keep it secret in case any fucking sparrows or moths were around. You did that to me Arya … and my sweet wolf never even knew it … now you do!”

She saw Arya glance back at Nymeria. She did not look too guilty about it. Good. Dany had enjoyed each night of her masturbating in front of Arya as she warged into Nymeria to watch her Queen fuck herself. It had felt so glorious to fuck her pussy and asshole hard and deep and know that Arya was watching her fuck herself nearly bowlegged each night. That avid attention had to have meant the girl wanted Dany’s body the Queen had hopefully deduced. Her thoughts and desires had been proven right!

“The way you are staring at me is how Nymeria stared at me. Such focus. It was almost as if you had been warged into Nymeria. But you would never do that would you Arya? Spy on me like that? Watching my cunt gushing out hot cum and my face, chest and breast scarlet with blood rush from orgasms thinking of you. I know you too well to even conceive of that thought.”

Arya gulped and shook her head ‘no’ weakly. She was not so successful in not looking guilty at the moment.

“Gods I wish you had been warged into Nymeria so you could have watched, heard and smelled my orgasms. It would have been so hot. I so loved fucking my cunt until it burned with spent passion for you. I fucked my cunt so hard I had to walk gingerly sometimes the next morning.”

Dany sighed theatrically. “The things you make me do Arya Stark.”

She saw Arya squirming big time now. She was keeping a secret and was so busted and did not even know it! Dany was so enjoying this moment.

Suddenly Dany’s demeanor changed and was in commanding royal mode again “Now it is time you make up for the past sins of your wolf Arya Stark!” Dany had had her fun but now it was time for pleasure she thought to herself!

Arya gulped but stared at Dany’s cunt with her tongue out her mouth panting in raw lust. “You will suck you Queen off and make her howl like your name sake. Do you understand wolf?!”

Arya woofed and pawed at Dany’s knee again while staring with hot lust at Dany’s bright pink swollen snatch. She inhaled deeply again and whined shivering smelling her woman’s hot musk flooding her flaring nostrils. Arya did not have to fake her body shaking all over from primal want for her sweet Dragon. Her mouth was truly drooling in thirst for more of her Queen’s sweet drooling gash.

Dany slowly snaked her hands down her hard muscled belly enjoying hot hotly Arya’s eyes followed her hands. The girl’s eyes were nearly crossed she stared at her Queen with such focus and want. The Queen enjoyed the feel of her fingers gliding down her belly. The Valyrian rubbed her belly and stroked her ribs taking her time to get to her cunny. Dany saw no reason not to pleasure herself a little before she proceeded in her drama play with Arya. She had always loved stroking her perfect firm young body.

After a minute or two of slow detours around her belly, along the crevices between her ribs and up to trace the outline of the globes of her breast making her breath hitch the white haired blond moved her hand slowly down her palpating belly to her mound. Arya had been whining the whole time and pawing the Queen showing her impatient need to devour some sweet pussy. The Queen slowly ran her fingers up and down her drooling slit as her fingers became soaked in her running effluent. Arya was truly panting now. Her face sheened with fuck perspiration as her body shivered waiting to feast.

Dany slowly hooked her fingers in her slit and pulled back slowly tilting her pelvis forward. Her hot bright red sopping wet cunt hole was opened up. Her inner whorls all folded over each other in her honey pit. Her inner folds slimed with creamy smears of white fuck cream. Her breathing made her inner flower part and clutch before Arya’s again glassy eyes.

“Do you see something you want Arya?” Dany softly husked looking down at Arya rising up on her knees getting her face closer to Dany’s drooling clam shell. Dany loved the smell of her own cunt slamming into her nostrils. Her nipples pulsed and her cunt ached for attention. The Queen lewdly rotated her hips to lift her pussy to her lover. Her cunt hole wide open to Arya’s mesmerized eyes.

“Do you see something you want wolf? Huummmmm? Tell me Arya—say lewd and nasty words for me … prove to me you want my hot wet cunt in your mouth. Show me you want to devour my aching quim and feast on my sloppy camel toe.”

“Ohhhhh Dany!” Arya shivered and gasped finding her human voice. She shook hard gathering her wits. “I want to suck your beautiful swollen cunt so good Dany. I will munch on and tongue fuck it deep with my tongue. I will suck your clit down my throat and ram my tongue deep into your hot wet twat … I will make you scream so hard Dany … I will make your cunt explode and tear itself inside out in my mouth …” Arya softly mewled looking up at Dany’s orchid all swollen and deep pink. Arya was slowly inching her face closer to Dany’s festering quim.

Suddenly Dany put her right palm on Arya’s forehead and pushed her head back. “Whine for it Arya. Show me you are my bitch! Beg for it!” The Valyrian adjusted her left hand so her split fingers between her ring and middle fingers pushed her cunt open still showing her hot wet clutching fuck hole.

“Dany puuuhhleasseeeee! Give me your pussy plleaseeeeee! Let me suck your beautiful hot wet cunt meat—IIIIII need it so baaaaddddd! Plleaseeeeee!” All the while Arya pushed her head harder against Dany’s palm jammed into her forehead.

Arya did not force her head up overpowering Dany’s resisting palm. She was enjoying the game way too much for that. Gods she loved being submissive with Dany. This game of submission had Arya in a lather. She was finding she deeply enjoyed submitting. Of course, there was two sides to any coin the teenager thought to herself smugly. She smirked evilly in her mind with that thought. Paybacks would be a bitch!

“Pleaseeee Dannyaayyy! You’re just being mean to me!” Arya pouted like a three year old her bottom lip stuck out. She pushed up harder with her head but Dany pushed her head down. She whined and pawed Dany’s inner thigh. To have Dany’s pussy so close to her mouth and not being able to devour the sweet pussy humming before her face was putting Arya into a frenzy of want and need. She shuddered and pushed up harder against the Queen’s hand. Arya made sure though to not use too much force. She was to submit not conquer.

Her bitch master smiled down at her serenely enjoying Arya’s torment! Dany made a show of pushing Arya’s head back and down showing her dominance. Arya whimpered while she pushed up against the force pushing her head down. She let Dany easily push her head back away from her pussy.

“Dany pleaseeee baby I need to suck your cunt … to drink down your cum … gods I love your slimy wet cunt meat in my hot sucking mouth baby! Ppplleaseeeeee!”

“I don’t know Arya. I’m not convinced!” Dany sing-song down to a very frustrated Arya. She felt Arya pushing harder up with her head again against Dany’s resisting palm. Arya’s mouth literally drooling with want and need.

“DDDAANNYYYYY! Pppplle——“

“Suck” was Dany’s simple soft spoken command lifting her hand off Arya’s forehead.

“Aawwoogggg!” she cried out with the force of Arya’s face slamming into her wet cunt and burying itself deep into her vulva. Arya worked her head furiously lapping hard opening up Dany’s slit and sucking her clit deep into her mouth and voraciously sucking on it with cheek dimpling harsh deep throat love sucks in her ravenous fuck hunger. Her forced postponement of her dining on slimy cunt meat had Arya in a frenzy of hot sucking.

"Hhhhhnnggg hhhnnnn hhnnngg aauugggg … Oh gods, yes! Ohnngg gods ...yessss!” Dany gagged in helpless pleasure as she felt Arya move her hands behind Dany’s strong legs and grip hard anchoring her body. Arya lapped furiously licking and sucking in on Dany’s labia lips making the Queen whoop and shake with raw pleasure. Dany’s hands came up and cupped her breasts and ground the palms of her hands into her nipples. The pressure and friction making her nipples burn with hot flushes of heat and pleasure. She used her fingertips on the inner side of her breasts and the ball of her hands on the outer side of her breasts to squeeze in hard pulping her firm tits. The pressure sent arcs of ecstasy to her screaming clit.

Arya was licking her slit furiously her nose brushing into and jacking her shiny clit nubbin out its sheath. “Ohhhh Arya … fuck baby—eat my gash honey! Slurp up my cum!”

“Hhhhuruurstssslpppp! WwwwhhoouurrrsssslIllpppp! Sssuurrrpppppp! Sssuurrrrrppp!” Arya sucked with a loose lip lock on Dany’s upper cunt her tongue flailing the sloppy wet cunt snail snot deep into her mouth. Her tongue slapping and gigging sweet sopping wet pussy meat. The sweet nectars filling her mouth with ambrosia that she gulped down in gleeful gulps. Her slut groaned deep in her chest her cunt circling aggressively up into Arya’s hot sucking gobbling mouth.

Arya loved the feel of her head rocking back with the force of Dany’s instinctive humping of her pelvis up into the mouth devouring it. Arya was so much in love. She had dreamed of this every night for over five years and the reality was so much better than her vivid dreams. Her face was soaked in Dany’s flowing snail snot. The Queen’s vulva totally engulfing Arya’s mouth her lips hidden from Dany’s eyes. Arya’s tongue bulging the vulva out of the Queen as Arya hard licked her tongue up and down the drooling clit and tongue lashed the hard nubbin of her woman.

She released Dany’s upper cunt and lowered her head and shoved her long tongue up into the fiery cauldron of Dany’s cum filled honey hole. She stabbed her tongue in hard and deep. Her face and nose pounding Dany’s now dark pink mons as she curled her tongue to scoop out hot tongue fulls of slimy hot wet cum. Arya’s mouth filled with the sweet heavenly elixir before she swallowed in convulsive reflexive gulps of elation. Each hot mouthful of Dany’s cunt juice made Arya moan deep in her chest in gluttonous glee.

Arya moved her head forward even more and locked her lips on Dany’s love hole with a tight Dorne kiss. Her tongue flailed and churned the slimy petals in Dany’s hot burbling cunt. Arya’s feasting making obscene wet slurs and suck noises as she feasted on wet gash.

“Oh Arya! Oh baby! Aaaagggg unngg hhnggg ... Keep fucking my cunt baby! Goddssdaammnnn you tongue feels so good deep in my cunt baby! Ohhhhhnnn ...ohhnnnn ...gods, it's so good!” Dany moaned, twisting, looking down at Arya’s head hammering forward and back slamming her tongue deep up her drooling clam shell. Suddenly Arya mashed her head into Dany’s vulva again flaring it around her mouth as it worked in deep and she sucked in a big mouthful of hot sopping wet red cunt meat.

Arya munched on the sweet slimy folds sucked into her mouth as her eyelids fluttered closed in pure happiness eating her dragon out like she had dreamed of for so long.

Arya thought of something she liked to do masturbating and worked out how to do it eating out Dany’s steamy sweet fuck hole in her current kneeling position. Her head was jacked back hard now as Dany worked her swollen muff more and more desperately into Arya’s mouth. Dany’s hands that had been pleasuring her tits and rubbing along her belly and ribs hedonistically had a new quest. She now had one hand resting on Arya’s head her other hand running all over her own face and purring with pleasure.

Arya had seen Dany many times while warged into Nymeria stroke her face with a hand soaked in her own cum smearing her cream all over her face before sucking off the cream on her fingers while purring.

Arya brought her right hand up and pointed down placing it on Dany’s belly and slide it down. She forked Dany’s clitoral hood and squeezed in hard squirting her Queen’s clit fully out its sheath all shiny pinkish white and wet.

She saw Dany’s eyes bulge out at the sweet friction and pressure as Arya scissor Dany’s clitoral hood with her slow pumping in pressing fingers. "Unhh! Unhhh!” Dany panted, tossing her head, squirming, her hips jerking spastically in phantom fuck-motions. "Oh gods! Please! Arya—auuuggg unnnngg hhnggg ...please!”

Arya smirked into the cunt meat she was happily tongue stabbing. This always slew her jangling clit and she knew it would Dany. She sucked more fiercely on Dany’s cunt hole siphoning sweet cunt meat and creamy cum into her mouth as her woman’s body began to spasm and clench with the rising pulses of orgasms rising from deep within her belly. Arya forked squeezed Dany’s clitoral hood putting friction and pressure on the shiny nubbin jutting out its sheath.

Arya constantly glanced up. Dany’s mouth had fallen open into a helpless O of soundless cawing as her face slashed constantly with spasms of fucking bliss. Arya watched Dany’s head move in small circles on her jerking neck. Dany started to chuff had. Sweat was running down her body in rivulets. Arya loved how Dany’s tits jiggled and swirled on her chest with her body jerking and spasming.

Arya brought her left hand up and rolled her fingers over Dany’s twat lubricating her fingers with her lover’s fuck juice. Her fingers now slicked, Arya placed the flat of her fingers on Dany’s clit. The clit standing out its sheath tall and proud from Arya’s squeezing fingers of her right hand. With no warning she started to rub her fingers in blur right and left will pressing in with her hand’s fingers squirting Dany’s clit high out its sheath. Arya’s fingers were a blur whipping right and left jacking and brushing hard into and over squirted up clit from the fingers pressing in on Dany’s clitoral hood.

The affect was immediate Arya’ happily saw. The breath whooshed out of Dany’s lungs “Hwwwoogggg! Hhuu huunn!” Dany’s body began to shake violently as her body stiffened at the same time. Her eyes then shocked wide open and her womb exploded deep in her body.
"HHNNGGGEEEEEIIII! MMNNGGHHIIEEEEEE!" Dany screamed an unadulterated wail of fucking bliss. Her body half folded over and jerked up and down as Arya continued to wolf suck on the Targaryen’s fuck hole. Hot pulses of sweat cum filled her mouth with hot scalding dollops of delicious cum. Arya’s fingers jacked off her sweet wailing Queen’s clit mercilessly. “OOOWWGGGGGGGGG! HHHHNNNGGGGHHHHHGGGGG!” Dany screamed in almost agonizing pleasure. Arya was convulsively swallowing the sweet cum flooding her mouth. Arya watched the queen’s breast swirl and flip on her bucking torso.

"Ohhhhh! Ohhhhhhnmmmnn!" Dany moaned, Arya could feel Dany’s ass cheeks clenching as Dany slammed her back into the curtained wall and spasmed with horrendous convulsions of agonizing pleasure "Ohnggg! Mnngggauuuunnggguuuuuu! Oh! Unghh! Auungghhiiiiii!" Dany’s lean athletic body convulsed by sharp spasms of bucking fucking bliss "Ungghhhmmmmnggiieeeeee!" she cried out, her lovely young body straining, arching, and shuddering as she continued to cum hard.

Arya was in heaven drinking down what cum she could. She could feel thick smears of cum on her chin and cheeks and rivulets running down her throat.

Dany began to weaken as her body still shook with pulses of her orgasm that was only now beginning to fade. Her body leaned against the wall for support. The Queen’s legs wobbly and shaky. Her belly hitched and spasm with harsh aftershocks rippling out her spent womb. Dany’s head lulled to the side as she gulped for breath from her hard exertions. Sweat ran down her body all over in trickles that dripped off her jiggling breast and down her face.

Arya pushed Dany’s legs wider with her shoulders and released her love suck on her lover’s swollen drooling couchie. Arya got a grip on Dany’s sweaty ribs and gripped her lover’s body hard and pushed Dany’s limp body up and wormed Dany’s legs onto her shoulders. She loved the sweat on Dany’s body and her wet clamshell pressed into her throat. She ran her hands up and gripped Dany’s body near her armpits. Then she ran her grip up underneath Dany’s armpits.

Arya had a stout build with thick warrior legs and wide hips and wide shoulders. Her body muscled from her years of warrior training. With her warrior’s strength she slowly rose up to her feet carefully holding Dany against her throat. She felt Dany’s cum as it trickled down her chest from her slut’s still pulsing cunny on her throat.

“So strong—oohhh my baby is so strong” Dany weakly mewled her hands clenched in her lover’s sweaty lank hair. She clenched her thighs on her lover’s ears holding on with a languid smile on her face her belly all warm and filled with sweet buttery pleasure.

Arya turned around and duck walked to her bed being very careful with her precious cargo holding onto her head. Arya gripped Arya’s head with her sweat and cum soaked cunt and inner thighs from the front and Dany’s fingers were threaded into Arya’s brown locks from the rear and fingers clenched into her scalp. Dany cooed and swayed in sweet happiness at her so strong wolf.

Such strength had the Queen melting deep in her belly. She could not wait for Arya to mount her like a bitch when she was in the rut. To feel Arya abusing her when they let their lovemaking take a hard sweet sadistic turn.

Arya got in front of her bed and reversed herself slowly kneeling down in front of her bed. She slowly settled Dany onto the bed. Dany leaned back in happy bliss. Dany purred stretching out and wiggled her sweaty body down on the bed. Arya settled down onto her ass on her heels before the bed. She leaned forward burying her face in her lover’s sopping wet cunt and started to lap up and down the gooey trench. Her tongue plowing sodden folds and raked over a clit that had only begun to lessen but immediately pulsed and harden to diamond hardness with the sweet tongue caresses and harsh love sucks on the hard nubbin.
"Unh! Unh! Oh! Unngg!" Dany panted softly, her hips already rotating her aching quim up into the mouth lapping up and down her trench licking and sucking wet red cunt meat. Arya now giving Dany’s clitty short and then long hot sucks and then licking over it with her tongue. "Ohhhnnnn!" Dany moaned, twisting and quivering with excitement. "Ohhhh yes ...Arya oh!" Arya now sucked Dany’s clitty in and out her lips and tongue stabbed Dany’s shiny nubbin hard.

Arya remembered Margaery’s instructions. One needed to vary one’s technique when making love. They were new lovers but why not put into practice Sansa’s lover’s sage advice. Arya loved the feel of Dany’s clitty underneath her rasping tongue and the hard nubbin squirting in and out her sucking lips.

Arya brought up her left hand and slowly slide two fingers deep into her slut’s tight clenching cunt. Dany whinnied feeling her twat stretched out on the two fingers working deep up into her tight cunt pumping in and out gagging her with pleasure. Arya slowly pumped her fingers in and out the greasy creamy cum filled fuck hole. The sixteen year old loving the oily slippery folds of Dany’s fuck hole slithering over her deep probing digits. Arya slowly ramped up the speed and force of her fingers plunging deep into Dany’s love box her knuckles now rapping hard the Queen’s vulva shocking it. The shocks going straight to the Queen’s clitty.

"Oh! Ohhhhhhhnnn!" Dany moaned, twisting and churning her hips up into the mouth and fingers of her teenager lover. "Oh Arya! I ... I never felt like this! Oh Aryaaaaaaa—unnggggg hhnggg hhnggg oohhhhhhh ffffuuuccckkkkkkkk! You make me feel so good. Do it to me. Please. Oh ... do it to me, yes! Huunnggg oohhhhh shit! Aarrruuunnnggggg! Baby baby fuck meeeeee!

Arya again brought her right hand into play. The teen Wolf forked the Queen’s clitty again to put pressure and friction on her woman’s clitty to add to her pleasure. Arya loved the feel of her fingers squeezing and squirting Dany’s clitoral hood between her pressing jerking fingers of her right hand.

Arya heard the hot words of her love slut and now slammed her fingers hard and deep into Dany’s belly her knuckles slamming the Queen’s vulva shocking it hard now. Arya looked up Dany’s belly and saw that Dany’s head was lulled over her face slashing constantly with ecstasy. Arya loved feeling her lover’s hot tight pussy gripping her fingers with hot spasms as she buried her fingers deep into her lover’s belly.

In and out Arya pumped her fingers the heat of Dany’s core intoxicating. Her right hand still jerked up and down forking Dany’s clitty putting pressure and friction on the rock hard shiny nubbin. The pressure pressing the clitty up and out its sheath letting Arya suck fiercely on the fully exposed nubbin. Her lips riding up and down the hillock with her tongue tip polishing the clitty tip. She sucked fiercely on Dany’s clitty her cheeks hollowing out her with her loving sucks on the shiny clitty in her mouth. She rocked her head adding hard tongue lashes on the shiny nubbin. “Aaauggg unnggg hhnggg … oohhhhh goooodssssss sooo fucking good!” Dany’s whimpering inspired to Arya suck even harder on the clitty sucked deep in her mouth.

Dany’s hands came up to her breasts and her fingers pinched and rubbed her nipples and jerked on them. Her breath hissed out her lips with the fierce pleasure her pinched nipples filled her breast with. She was humping her pussy hard into Arya’s mouth.

For the next several minutes Arya feasted on Dany’s hot festering trim that drooled and spasmed hot fuck juice over the fingers fucking the Queen’s hot cunt. Arya now slipped in a third fingers stretching out the pussy she was finger fucking. Arya moaned as she sucked off Dany. Dany’s pussy was so hot and tight on her pumping fingers. She felt Dany’s core spasm and grip tight her fingers stretching out the Valyrian’s tight snatch. She felt cum running down her wrist and forearm. The cum dripping off hallway down her hard piston fucking forearm plunging three fingers deep into Dany’s cunt with harpoon strokes of pure love.

Arya ramped up now and slammed her fingers into Dany’s cum filled muffin. Her knuckles slamming hard into the vulva she was fucking. She slowly twisted her hand churning her fingers through the slimy fuck folds. Her right hand was jerking manically up and down working the Queen’s clit. Arya thought randomly being ambidextrous definitely had its advantages. A smirk filled her face as the thought tickled her. Her two hands and mouth working in perfect concert to fuck her sweet loving Dragon.

Dany’s spread legs began to twitch and spasm. Arya took her right hand and pressed down on Dany’s belly above her clitoral hood with the heel of her hand and started to jam down as her fingers slammed fucked the greasy fuck hole of the Queen. Arya’s cheeks sucked in and out as she sucked and tongue gigged the shiny hard nodule in her mouth.

Arya harpooned her finger violently into Dany’s honey pit that now sloshed and slurped with cum splatters now splashing out the flooding pussy. Arya watched Dany cup her hands now and slam them down into her firm tits again and again pulsing them before rotating her palms down hard into her rigid nipples and crinkled areolae. “Hmmmfff uuummmgg uunngg ooh oohhh FFUCCCKKK—AAWWOOOOOGGGGGG!” Dany screamed as her mind was shocked with scalding pulses of shattering ecstasy. Her womb felt like it was trying to tear out spasming camel toe.

Arya now slowed her pumping fingers to pause a fast heartbeat on the backstroke so she could slam her and forward to fully harpoon her fingers into the now exploding spasming trim of her woman. Dany’s cunt hot spasming hard sucking tight on the fingers pounding Dany’s love box. Arya’s fingers felt like they were broiling in cunt oil in a velvet sharply squeezing fist.

Arya felt hot gushes of cum spasming hard out of Dany’s immolating cunt. “OOOWWWWGGGGGAALAAAAA! FFFFFUCCCKKKKKKKKKKK!” Dany roared her body flipping off the bed and slamming back down on the bed again and again as her fists slammed the bed wildly. Her tits flipped and whiplashed in on her chest. “Oh! Nnnnnnggeeeeee! Oh ...uummmmmnggeeeeee!” she cried out, flipping and straining, shuddering violently as the spasms ripped through her.

Arya was moaning herself around the clit and cunt meat in her mouth. She had removed her right hand from Dany’s pussy so she could fully suck Dany’s clitoral hood and pussy deep in her mouth. Her mouth sucking with starving voracious sucks of pure love. Arya’s tongue slapping and gigging the rigid shiny clit.

Arya felt her face soaked in cunt juice flooding out around her fingers pumping Dany’s spasming snatch. Dany’s clit was diamond hard underneath her polishing tongue. Dany’s body flipped up off the bed high and bucked in the air her tits whiplashing. The Queen’s strong abdominals holding her body at forty-five degree up off the bed as her body jolted as if she was gripping an electric eel. Her eyes had rolled into the back of her head as a second orgasm exploded out her expertly fucked cunny “Oh My Fucking Goodddssssssssss!” Dany screamed a high pealing wail of fucking ecstasy.

“MMNNNGHHHHIIIEEEEEE! Unngggggiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiii ... FUCK! FUCK! ... Owwnnngggggggggggggggggggggggggggggggggg!” the Queen of Westeros screamed in shattering ecstasy. Her beautiful lissome body convulsed wildly her whole body convulsing. Legs stretched out on the bed stiff and juddering like she was being electrocuted. Her heels now slamming the mattress with her toes curled up hard.

Dany’s face was torn apart with dire slashes and contortions of pure fucking bliss. Dany lost it as her womb exploded and ripped apart deep in her belly. Her head snapped up and then back slamming the mattress as her legs were kicking wildly now. “AAAARRRRRRGGGGGHUUUUUUUUUUUUUAAAAAA! HHHHNNNGGGGNNNNNGGGGG!” Dany screamed her mind overloaded from her orgasm throttling her. Her legs were kicking helplessly jerking her sweaty body in convulsive jerks.

Arya saw her lover’s body flushed pink from her throat to her breast. Her beast swollen with blood rush. Dany wailed as her orgasm still hammered her body and then her torso thudded back down to the bed as her orgasm suddenly began to wan and now fled.

Arya released her love suck to not overwhelm her love’s rock hard clit. Arya slowed her finger pumping and slowly wormed them in all the way in to enjoy the dying spasms working and gripping her buried fingers. Dany’s body was limp her legs spread obscenely like a Lysian whore. Dany was spent and Arya loved knowing she had done it to her lover.

Arya licked up and down the spent slit of her woman and slowly pulled her fingers out Dany’s cunt and watched a flood of cum hotly gush out her woman’s cunt and soak her perineum and asshole. She shivered at thoughts of being nasty.

She got up and gripped Dany’s legs and slowly pivoted her lover onto her bed and moved her to the middle of her bed and crawled up on the bed. Arya lied on her back. She pulled Dany onto her body as the Queen’s body still shook and shivered with strong aftershocks. Arya loved the feel Dany’s relaxed body pressed down onto hers. Dany’s sweat soaked body soaking Arya’s skin with her slut’s sweat and cum. It made her feel even closer to Dany.

“I love you so so much Arya” Dany weakly mewled kissing Arya’s neck. Arya held her trembling lover and reveled in the closeness of their bodies all sweaty and Dany’s groin and belly soaked in cum.

“Open your mouth and suck you cum off my fingers Dany.” Arya smiled seeing her woman tilt her head back opening her mouth. Arya slide her cum soaked fingers into the Queen’s mouth and watched the fingers closed on with Dany’s greedy sucking lips. Dany moaned sucking her own cum from Arya’s fingers she slowly pumped up and down Dany’s tongue. Dany sucked fiercely her body recovering from her stunning orgasm.

Tasting her own cum always did that to Dany.

She mewled when Arya removed her fingers from her mouth. Arya held Dany to her own sweaty body. Dany nestled into Arya’ throat and kissed Arya’ sweet flesh and murmured licking it. Arya cooed.

“HHUUNNGGGGGG!” Arya screamed when Dany sucked in her pulse point and viciously sucked on the tender flesh of Arya’s throat marking her as the dragon’s slut. Dany chewed on the sweet flesh and then lifted her mouth to near Arya’s ear. “AARRUUNNGGGGGGG!” Arya wailed again feeling Dany mark her again as her slut. Arya felt her belly turning to jelly and her cunt flooding with fuck nectars.

Dany had been hammered and felt spent. That changed the instant she felt her Direwolf’s body pressed into her body. Arya’s wet cunt pressed into her hip and the feel of Arya’s bulb nipples jammed into her tits revived the groggy Queen. She looked down at her slut with burning purple eyes.

“Now the Dragon feasts Wolf!” Dany declared hotly scooting up and locking lips with Arya. She pried open Arya’s lips hungrily and slammed her tongue deep into Arya’s mouth and hungrily sought out Arya’s tongue wetly wrestling the slippery appendage and shoving it down to ram her tongue down her woman’s throat. Arya convulsed her eyes rolling into her skull and short jerking as Dany pulled Arya’s body tight to hers.
Dany felt hot hunger fill her body. Her wolf had pulverized her with ecstasy and now it was her turn to feast on sweet succulent female flesh. Gods it felt so right to love a woman’s body. Especially when that body was her sweet passionate wolf Arya Stark.

They had rolled onto their sides still kissing deeply. Dany brought hands up and dug her fingers into Arya’s pulpy plum nipples and mashed in hard rolling and squeezing the pulpy mass of Arya’s plum nipples. “Unngggmmfff Mmppgggffiff mmuummmfff!” Arya cried out into the mouth devouring hers as her Queen filled her nipples with white hot ecstatic heat of broiling pulses of fucking ecstasy. Arya writhed as her breasts filled with hot pulsing ecstatic heat. Dany’s tongue speared down Arya’s throat as her eyes jerked back into her skull again and rolled around in helpless pleasure.

The Queen swiped Arya’s tonsils before finding Arya’s tongue again twanging them again. The wet slippery tongues flipping around in Arya’s mouth. She drilled underneath Arya’s tongue and licked the roof of Arya’s mouth. “Aaaunffffff! Mmpphhfffff! Ummppppfff! Ummmpppffffff!” Arya chuffed loudly into the mouth devouring hers.

Dany moved one hand behind Arya’s back and pulled her into her body so they tits mashed and rolled into their mates. Their hands found each other’s hair and pulled mouths tight as heads tilted over to let tongues wetly wrestle deep in Arya’s mouth. Dany then gripped Arya’s body and pushed Arya onto her back and mounted Arya’s. Arya was bottom now and Dany avidly topped her. Arya found being submissive with Dany was equally a turn on as dominating her woman. They humped into each other. Their drooling clam shells leaked hot slimy cum all over each other’s groins and hips. Their bodies rolling right and left slightly as Arya rocked her body as the two lovers snooged fiercely.

Dany felt Arya pry her body back and push Dany up. Arya urged Dany to sit up and straddle her waist with her wet cunt resting on Arya’s hard muscled body. Arya took Dany’s hands and urged her to open her hands up. Arya then brought the queen’s hands to her mouth and drooled copious spit all over them till spit was dripping of the Queen’s palms.

Dany looked at her with throbbing eyes wondering what Arya had in mind.

“I love to abuse my nipples. To crush and pulp them. Then rub them so fucking hard. It makes them fill with fire and sets my cunt to flooding” she softly husked to her lover. Dany watched Arya lean back her upper torso back into the bed as Arya looked up at Dany with want and need. She pulled the queens hands forward to six inches over her swollen nearly bursting plum nipples. Arya moved her hands to put them over Dany’s hands.

They locked eyes.

Thump! Thump!

Without warning Arya’s fingers clawed into the back of Dany’s hands and slammed them down into her swollen stiff rubbery nipples. Thump! Thump! Thump! Thump! Arya cried out in ecstasy. Arya lifted and slammed the queen’s hands so hard into her nipples pulping them.

She then rubbed the Queen’s spit soaked palms back and forth over her wildly pulsing nipples.

Awwnngggghh! Oh! Oh yes! Harder! Unghh! Aungghh!” Arya released her hands and Dany knew what to do.

Now solo, Dany lifted her hands and slammed her slightly cupped palms into her slut’s nipples so engorged and medium brown with hot pumping blood her nipples rock had jutting out the engorged areolas all rolled and rubbery. The Queen loved the feel of Arya’s plum nipples compressing and flattening underneath her hard striking palms. The spit making the contact so obscene wet and loud.

Thump! Thump! Thump! Thump! Thump! Thump! Thump! Thump!

"Ohhnnnn ...ohnnnnn god, Dany, oh! Yes! So fucking hard! ... unngg unggg! Yes! Ungghhh! Ohhnnnn ...aunngghhiieeeee!" Arya shrieked in scalding ecstasy.

Dany needed to give Arya some loving to leaven the pain she was giving Arya. Even if it was pain that Arya craved. Dany lifted her hands away and siphoned Arya’s abused so swollen left nipple deep into her mouth and sucked on the abused teat and rolled her tongue over the abused nipples. She worked her head right and left soft suckling on engorged teats. Arya gagged in helpless pleasure her eyes rolling back into her skull and short jerking feeling Dany move from nipple to nipple and loved sucked the pulpy plums deep into her mouth and tongue lathed. Arya’s face seeming to crumple in shocking ecstasy from her abused and loved titties.

"Oh gods ...ohhhh baby yes oh oh!" Arya gasped, writhing again as the hot bliss flooded her body. Arya threw her head back and keened in ecstasy her plum nipples were so sensitive and hotly throbbing with sheer pulses of searing bliss. The painful whacks of Dany’s palms striking her engorged plum nipples had primed them to pulse out shocking waves of ecstasy with Dany’s loving sucks. She watched as Dany moved her head right and left and feasted on Arya’s plum nipples. The Queen stroked Arya’s bursting nipples with her tongue and fiercely sucked on as she watched Arya’s face slash and hard grimace with ecstasy.

“Again Dany again” Arya grunted her body writhing. Dany smiled. Her lover was such a slut who liked her loving rough. Dany brought her hands to her mouth and soaked them in more bubbly spit.

Dany backed up to a sitting position and brought her hands up and slammed down on Arya’s chest pulping her lover’s nipples filling them with fire with her striking palms for a few seconds of hard down slaps and then rubbed the spit soaked palms on her lover’s squirting nipples. The sounds of her palms smacking down onto Arya’s tits and chest shocking loud in her bedroom.

Then Dany suckled on the abused nipples making her lover squeal in pleasure arching her back. Arya cupped the back of the Targaryen’s head. Arya jacked her woman’s head and stuffed her nipple deep into Dany’s mouth. Dany short sharp sucked with cheek hollowing love sucks on the abused plum nipples. Her tongue gigging the bursting plum nipples relentlessly from all angles.

Arya’s body bucked and her face slashed with almost crippling pleasure. Her head coming up to look down at her lover working her tits so sweetly.

Dany ran her hand down her slut’s belly and slowly slide two fingers up into the soupy cauldron of Arya’s hot buttery cunt. Arya groaned at the sweet penetration and now slow pumping of Dany’s digits in out her slurpy cunt. Dany moaned feeling Arya’s hot heat gripping and milking her slow pumping fingers in and out the hot cunt she slow fucked. Gods Arya’s pussy was so hot, tight and creamy with sizzling cum! Dany thought.

Arya worked her hips in a tight swirl working her pussy up to be fucked by Dany’s fingers to drive them deeper up into her spasming cunt. Arya chuffed and mewled feeling her pussy squirred and pumped with pure fucking ecstasy. She felt Dany’s fingers sliding so deep into her bubbling leaking fuck hole.

Dany worked her wrist slowly pulling her cream soaked finger out her lover’s wet cunt and twisted them back in deep with moderate force. “Unh! Oh ...unh!” Arya panted, her body beginning to tense with desperate fuck need. Dany was in heaven feeling the pussy on her fingers that she had dreamed of since their fight in the throne room. All that violence was just a prelude to this moment.
Their passion ignited then and consummated here in Arya’s bed.

The Queen watched for a minute her fingers pumping in and out the hot tight pussy of her teenage lover. The hot tight slippery heat so exquisite on her deep pumping fingers. Dany adjusted her body to come forward and up beside her slut as she pressed into the side of Arya’s body.

Their lips had melded again and Dany worked her tongue into Arya’s mouth and wetly wrestled her love’s wet long tongue. Their nostrils flared and mouths chuffed. Dany picked up the pace and now slammed her fingers hard and deep up into Arya’s spasming cunt. Arya broke the kiss. She looked at Dany with big eyes pulsing with hot fuck need. Her body quivered in helpless want. Arya’s body quickly started to buck, clench, and then stiffening. "Fuck me, Dany, do it! Do it now ...oh god! Oh! Eat me out Dany! I need it so bad!"

How could Dany deny such a sweet entreaty? She pulled her fingers out her lover’s twat the long pale digits soaked in creamy effluent. In a flash she scooted over her sweet wolf’s quaking body and settled between Arya’s legs. She pushed Arya’s right quivering leg out and back and mashed her head down. Dany moaned filling her mouth with sweet sopping red cunt meat she sucked deep into her ravenous mouth. Dany hummed in contentment dining on sweet inner cunt petals she tongued and then speared with her tongue as she started a slow fuck motion with her head in and out.

"Unhh! Oh!" Arya gasped, her hips churning frantically as she felt Dany sucking her cunt meat in and out her voracious mouth. "Oh gods girl yes oh god yes! Oh Dany! Yes ...you know how to eat me out so good babbbbyyyyy, unggghhh hhnnnggg hhnnnggg!"

Dany had removed her fingers changing position but reinserted her first two fingers into her woman’s hot slimy fuck canal and pumped them in hard and out. Her mouth moved up and sucked hard on Arya’s clit that was jutted out its sheath. She stabbed the hard nodule like a harpoon hurler. Dany rolled the clit around in her mouth giving it deep throat love sucks and spearing it all over as she rolled it between her sensual lips. All the while her right pumped in and out as the Queen lunged her first two fingers hard and deep into her sixteen year old lover’s cunt.

Dany smiled into the drooling clam shell she was devouring. She slowly twirled her fingers around in the slimy folds of Arya’s quim. She rubbed along Arya’s vaginal walls and fluttered her fingers scissoring through slimy wet inner cunt folds. The digits churning creamy snail snot. She smiled when Arya gasped when Dany’s fingers brushed over her sweet spot. Dany ignored it for the moment now having mapped it out.

Arya was writhing again on the bed her hips swirling up grinding her cunt into Dany’s hot gobbling mouth. Dany loved the strength of her lover. Arya jammed her pubic bone up into her mouth lifting it a fraction as Dany mashed down with her own strength burying her mouth in Arya’s vulva that swallowed her pink lips and hungrily hugged her cheeks and soaked Dany’s lower face in cum. Cum that now trickled down her throat and to her upper chest.

For the next few minutes Dany fucked her woman’s hot steamy cunt and dined on sweet clit and clut. Her knuckles hammered into her sweetie’s mound compressing it with her hammer thrusts of pure love. Her fingers burying themselves fully up to the webbing of her fingers soaked in creamy cum that slavered the Queen’s digits and palm now as she harpoon fucked Arya’s frothing fuck hole. The Queen stroked Arya’s cunt hot and tight as spasms had her cunny gripping hard on the long digits ramming hard and deep up the whorls and folds of Arya’s fuck sleeve.

Dany was in heaven drinking down Arya’ now creamy effluent. She felt the tension rising in Arya’s body. She was slamming her fingers into the twat that hungrily sucked on her hard penetrating fingers. Arya’s cunt slurped and splattered as it got so wet. Dany’s own mouth making wet slurs and smooches of a woman devouring her woman’s cunt.
It was time for the love kill Dany thought to herself.

Dany flipped her fingers over and angled them up. Her rubbing fingers instantly zeroed in on the spongy hillock they had earlier traced out. She loved how big and pronounced Arya’s g-spot was. She now slammed her up angled fingers into the rough textured spongy bundle of nerve endings on the frontal wall of Arya’s love canal. She grunted spearing the sweet spot and sucked with all her force and love on Arya’s clit she had sucked deep into her mouth.

Dany’s head lifted with her voracious love sucks and her right hand upside down showed her ring and little finger flexing hard as she now churned her first two fingers deep and over her lover’s g-spot.

Arya’s head jerked up off the bed and stared at Dany with one might think was horror. Her mouth was open and working soundless a stricken look on her sweet wolf’s face. Her arms and legs shot out stiff as boards and now juddered wildly. Dany smiled down at Arya and jammed even harder into Arya’s g-spot.

Arya’s head snapped down and slammed into the bed and her hands clawed into the sheets and ripped up with maniacal jerks of her wrists. Her heels started to hammer the bed making it quake.

Arya’s womb exploded as the tension shattered her cunt tearing it inside out. "FFFFUUUCKKKKKKKKK! OOOWWWGGGAAAAAA! AUUNNGGHHH!!" Arya screamed out, with earsplitting intensity. Her body bucked and flipped up and down as her hands tore at the sheets. Her heels stopped kicking and dug into the firm mattress. "Auunnggghhhhh!!" Arya cried out, her body shuddering and convulsing with agonizing and beautiful spasms, her body bucking up off the mattress in her throes of ecstasy.

Dany continued her love assault with her fingers and lips still attached to Arya’s throbbing pussy. "Ounngghh! Oh yes! Oh ...Dany!" Arya’s lovely lean body arched deep her spine threatening to shatter. Her feet lifted her ass up and Dany cupped her lover’s ass with her left hand to help Arya left her exploding cunt into the air a few inches off the mattress. Again and again Arya heaved her exploding love box up into the mouth trying to suck it inside. Then her hips snapped down to the mattress where Arya writhed in a fit of killing spasms. "OHHMMMNNGGGG! AUUNNGGHHHIIIEEE!!" she wailed her head jamming into the mattress as her wails continued.

Dany felt scalding waves of hot cum gush out her lovers fuck hole and had her palm soaked in cum that ran down over her hand and splattered off and ran down her wrist. Arya began to weaken and Dany backed off for twenty seconds letting Arya think the love assault had stopped. Dany had stopped giggling Arya’s g-spot. She only lightly lathed the diamond hard clit. Arya whimpered her body jolting with hard aftershocks that burned Arya’s clit and throbbing nipples with fucking bliss.

Then the Queen launched a sudden flanking assault sucking Arya’s clit down her throat and again harpooned the spongy raspy hillock of Arya’s g-spot. The Stark girl was still skimming down from her first orgasmic high. The renewed assault hit her like sledge hammer blows from a black smith.

"Oh! AUUNNGGHHH! MMNNGGHHHIIIEEE! Oh! Oh! GGOOODDSSDDDAAAAMNNNNN!!" Arya let forth an earsplitting roar and arched her back high again jamming her feet into the mattress to lift her cunt up off the bed. Dany scrunching up folded over on her knees to keep her mouth and fingers doing their loving all to give Arya heaven on Earth. "Anngghhh! Mnnngggiiiieee!!" Arya shrieked. "Unggh! Mnnngggiiieee!!" Arya wailed in soul crushing ecstasy. All the while Dany harpoon fucked Arya’s g-spot with relentless hammering strokes of pure love. Arya’s body after fifteen seconds collapsed back to the bed and then her body flipped and surged as a third fierce orgasm rocked her. "Annggghhhhh!!" she groaned. "AAAARRRUNNGGGGGGGGGG! OOOWWWGGGGGGGGGGG!!"
Arya screamed high pealing shrieks of killing ecstasy. “Oh...sweet gods! Oh...shit! Unngghhh! Oh gods!”

Dany’s fingers raked hard and fast with quick jerks of her fingers into Arya’s raspy hillock of nerve endings. The Queen’s exposed fingers jerking hard showing how her first two fingers jammed into and raked over Arya’s g-spot relentlessly. Dany felt hot gushes of cum spasming out Arya’s exploding cunt. Arya was flopping like a fish out of water now making choking sounds of helpless ecstasy. Arya still trilling high pitched wails of crippling ecstasy. The Queen was intoxicated with Arya’s hot musk flooding her nostrils as her pussy sloshed out hot gouts of steamy creamy cum that was soaking her hand and wrist. A huge wet spot now on the bed. Dany needed more. She needed to show Arya only she could pluck her body and fill it with screaming ecstasy.

Dany scooted up fast onto her knees folded over. She had her face over Arya’s swollen cum soaked cunt. Arya’s labia lips medium brown and her mons dark pink with blood rush. Her nipples looked like they might burst. Her face, throat and upper chest pink with her orgasm rush. Dany brought up her left hand and slapped Arya’s cunt hard again and again and then jammed her fingers onto Arya’s clitoral hood and wildly shook her hand right and left masturbating Arya’s clit wildly.

Dany’s right hand still buried in Arya’s slimy wet twat. The Queen had slowed and then stilled her gigging fingers in her woman’s fuck hole. Now Dany again hard gigged Arya’s g-spot with relentless hard pounding strokes. The Queen’s fingertips slamming into and compressing the spongy raspy hillock of Arya’s g-spot.

Arya’s neck arched high jamming the back of her head into the mattress. Her legs shoot out wide and her arms joined her legs shot stiff as wood. Arya’s fingers clawed into the sheets and her toes curled painfully. Her face slashed with agonizing womb rending ecstasy. Her whole body was convulsing wildly and her heels dug into the mattress lifting Arya’s ass off the bed offering her cunt up to Dany. The Queen took the love offering of Arya’s wet swollen cunt. Dany gigged Arya’s g-spot and swiped her clit without mercy.

A fourth orgasm exploded overtop the still jangling waning third orgasm with Dany’s full on frontal assault of pure love. "AAARRRUUUNNNGGGGGG! HHHHNNGGGGGGGG! Auunnghh! Ohnggg! MMNNNGGIIIIEEEE! Oh! Oh! AUUNNGGHHHH!" Arya roared, her lovely face torn by excruciating spasms of intense pleasure. Arya’s lean muscled body convulsing with micro tremors up and down her muscular frame. Her cunt heaved up onto the fingers fucking her hard and relentlessly prolonging her pleasure.

Arya went multiple orgasm as Dany did not relent in pleasing her g-spot and clit with her fingers. Her epic strength allowing her to keep working her fingers with wild flexes and swipes of her fingers. ”Annmmmmmghhiiieeee!” Arya cried out, very loud, very piercing. Her left fist slammed the bed and her right hand tearing at the sheets. “Aaaaawwoggggggg! Unngghhiiieeee! Mmmmmngghhiiieeee!” Arya shrieked her pussy now on fire as it tried to tear itself inside out as her womb shredded itself deep in her belly. Her face contorted with what almost amounted to horror at the fierce shock of her new orgasms, but then quickly overspread with a sublime smile of ecstasy. "Ommwwmmggg! Oh sweet old gods oh shit oh shit oh gods ohhhhhhh! Ummngghhiiieeee!" she squealed again, her body now undulating instead of convulsing the long undulations rolling through her quivering flesh like shockwaves, her yelps and squeals melting into moans of bliss.

Arya went boneless and she was nearly comatose with pleasure. She hissed and her pelvis shied away from Dany’s fingers. Dany knew she had taken Arya’s pussy to its limit for now. She ceased her loving ministrations.

Arya was hiccupping and weeping softly her body overwhelmed with pure pleasure and Dany’s love. Dany removed her cum soaked fingers from Arya’s tired slack quim. She scooted up and snuggled into Arya’s body melding into her side. She had pulled the covers up with her.

Arya swooned. Her body overwhelmed with the raw overwhelming pleasure Dany had filled her body with. She said in a weepy voice “I love you Daenerys Targaryen. Please don’t ever stop loving me—I couldn’t live without your love now.”

Dany now cried. She held her lover tight to her body and threw her leg over Arya possessively. She threaded her cum soaked fingers into Arya’s brown tresses. She was marking Arya as her. She snaked her left hand down Arya’s sweat soaked belly and cupped her swollen puss and let the weeping pussy soak her hand.

“I will never leave you my sweet wolf. Only the Dragon can truly love the Direwolf. Our families are linked by history and passion. We will be what Rhaegar and Lyanna should have been.”

Arya cooed and looped her arms around Dany and pulled her tight to her body.

“My pussy and nipples are on fire. What did you do to me babbbyyyyy! My belly feels like it is filled with melted butter. I have never felt so content, at peace and in love.”

She bent in and kissed Dany’s temple.

“I gave you g-spot orgasms Arya. No one can love you like me Arya. Only I can pluck your body like that and fill you with ecstasy! Only Me!” the Queen almost snarled with her passion.

Arya was hers and hers alone!

Arya cooed and wiggled into Dany’s hot sweet body. “Yes Dany. Only the Dragon will ever touch me. No other person will touch me. Only you Dany. Only you.”

Dany stroked her lover’s scalp with her cum soaked fingers. She hummed an old Valyrian lullabye from her childhood. Back when Viserys was still a brother capable of being loving. Arya was soon asleep pulling Dany’s body closer into hers.

Dany’s left hand was absolutely soaked in cum from Arya’s swollen puss still leaking out cum from her ruptured womb.

Dany brought that hand up and threaded her left hand into Arya’s hair working down to her scalp. She felt the cum on her fingers soaking into Arya’s hair matting it. She was marking her woman as her slut and hers alone.

She smiled. She would love washing Arya’s hair in the morning.

/////////

Arya felt so alive. Her soul was floating on a sea of happiness. Her very pours were invigorated. Her and her love had spent the entire day and evening making love. It had been everything she had dreamed it would be. Her dreams had come true.

She was walking down the hall back to her room. They had stopped off in Daenerys room that she had been given. The Targaryen and got out some breeches, Dothraki high laced sandals and a dress top. The Queen and Arya were in simple shifts. They had met a flushed Margaery and Sansa coming out of the royal bath as they were going in.

They were wrapped only in towels. The towel on Sansa did not reach all the way down her ass cheeks. Arya turned her head to see that only half of Sansa’s ass was covered. Sansa saw both her and Dany literally checking her assets. Sansa was glowing from within. Margaery was also glowing but had a knowing glint seeing the Queen and her lover.

Sansa turned beet red. Margaery did not help reaching down and using the short towel length to cup and squeeze Sansa’s camel toe possessively. “Uggg—Margaery!” Sansa whined. Sansa went brilliant red now. Arya’s own face went hot turning red at the blatant sexuality before her.

Her sister had been boning in the royal bath chambers. She bent over to look into the room and saw a vast amount of water splashed all over the floor. When Arya looked back at her sister, somehow her sister had turned even more red if that was possible.

Margaery and Dany both laughed at Sansa who whined and looked scandalized.

“You have to forgive my Sansa” Margaery chirped “I am still trying to instill in her that fucking is totally okay—to do so in public and let others see our love—it’s how we express our love for each other Sansa” Margaery intoned. “To not be embarrassed when other’s see us and know we have been fucking heatedly and repeated.”

“Margaeryyyyy!” Sansa whimpered looking around scandalized.

Arya was furiously trying to suppress her own embarrassment but felt the flush slowly creeping up her neck and now flushing her face.

Dany and Margaery were so comfortable with their sexuality. Arya looked around trying to look worldly. At least she wasn’t dying like Sansa.

Margaery asked if they could share a light meal together in her and Sansa’s bedchamber later. Dany accepted for all. Sansa was still fretting and trying to subtly fan her heated face. Arya would follow Dany wherever she went.

They had parted with an agreement to meet later in the evening. Dany was anxious to get to know the couple better. Sansa and Margaery would be her sister-in-laws very soon. She couldn’t wait to marry Arya and into the Stark family.

Sansa and Margaery went down the hall hand and hand. They watched Margaery saddle into Sansa’s side and her hand move down to Sansa’s rump and squeezed it.

“Margaeryyyyy hehehehe” Arya heard her sister twitter. Arya noticed that Sansa did not try to remove the Tyrell’s hand. Yes, there was hope for her prudish sister yet. Arya hoped to shred her inner prude as soon as possible.

Dany and Arya smirked at the retreating couple. They had not told the pair of lovers that they had arrived earlier to bathe in the royal bathing chambers. They had heard loud moans coming out of the chambers and had snuck in to peak around the corner to the sunken bathing pool. Dany watched intently with carnal pleasure on her face. Arya looked in at what was occurring with an open mouth.

Arya had known that Sansa and Margaery were in the room fucking but seeing their naked bodies wet and glistening with water had them looking like river nymphs come out of the springs of Winterfell.

Sansa had her body laid out on the wide tiled border that surrounded the bathing shallow pool. Her body nude as her name day. Sansa’s back was arched her cone shaped tits splayed on her chest and compressed by her forearms as her hands reached down to thread in the long brown locks of her lover. Margaery nude body sitting on the last step leading up to the border of the pool.
Her body leaned down with her face pressed to Sansa’s clitoral hood. The Tyrell’s mouth glued to the base of the knotted hood. She had sucked in Sansa’s clit deep into her mouth. Her cheeks hollowing out and showed her tongue whiplashing over the wet clit sucked deep in her mouth.

Arya was shocked by what she was seeing. Not Margaery’s sucking her sister’s cunny. It was what the Tyrell was doing with her right hand! It was completely buried in her sister’s pussy! Arya stood slacked jaw looking in on her sister and her woman. She watched Margaery pull her arm back so she just saw the bottom of Margaery’s hand pulled out her sister’s cunt hole. She could tell that Margaery had balled her hand into a fist.

Then Margaery grunted as she slurped on her sister’s clit and rammed her twisting fist deep into her sister’s belly. Sansa’s head lurched up her face filled with seeming fierce agony. Arya knew better. It was the agony of ecstasy. Again and again Margaery pulled her hand back after violently ramming it up Sansa’s stretched out cunt and slam it back up her sister’s birth canal. Sansa’s cunt riding up three or four inches up Margaery’s wrist. A wrist creamed thickly with cum and a cum ring where the deepest penetration was on Margaery’s forearm.

Arya was slacked jawed. She had spied on all the lesbian and bisexual women at Winterfell and had never seen this. Had never imagined such a thing. Now that she had she was stunned. She felt warmth on her ear.

“It’s called fisting Arya” Dany whispered into her ear. “It is divine. It makes you cum so hard. Soon we will fuck like that Arya. I can see that Margaery is a total slut like me. You know where else I am sure Margaery has fisted Sansa, Arya?”

Arya turned to look at her lover with a look of question.

“Up her ass” Dany softly husked to Arya.

Arya felt her face flush, her eyes wide open like saucers her mouth hanging up she looked at Dany in shocked wonder.

“I can’t wait for you to bury your fist up my shithole Arya. You will bury your fist and forearm up my ass and make me die from it. I will cum so fucking hard for you my wolf.”

Arya looked at Dany watching her with a look of mirth and wanton hope.

“Do you want that too Arya?” Dany asked in a soft questioning tone. Her face hopeful.

“Yyyyyeeessssss!” was Arya’s sibilant hiss. Her asshole clenched in wanton need.

“Do you want to feel my tongue, fingers, strap-on and fist plowing deep up your ass my sweet Direwolf. I can promise you will being doing all those sweet things to me my wolf.”

“Ohhhhh Dany yeessssss! I will take your asshole as you will take mine” Arya croaked.

They both ceased talking as they watched the sweet end fuck between Sansa and Margaery.

“Hhrrruuulllppp! Hhrrrrlsllrpppp! Ssslluurrrpppp! Ssslluuurrrpppp! Hhhuuurrllpppp!” Margaery’s love slurs on Sansa’s clit and its hood was almost echoing off the stone walls of the bathing chamber. Margaery’s head moving up and down as she loosely lipped Sansa’s clit. Her loose lips making obscene noises her loose lips vibrating filling Sansa’s clit with ecstasy.

Sansa was chuffing hard and crying out. Her head lifted up to look down over her flat belly. She watched Margaery suck her clit so hot and furious. The tall redhead felt her lover’s fist slamming into her cervix over and over. She could feel her lover’s fist bulging her pussy hole wide open with Margaery nearly pulled her fist out her slut’s cunt only to ram it viciously up into her baby’s belly twisting her fist to ram it home into Sansa’s cervix.

Sansa could only do one thing. Explode and die from it.

“SSHHHITTTTT! OOOWWWGGGHHHHHHHAAAAAAA! Oohh ohhh Unngggghhhhhhh! … Awwwooooogghhhhhnnnnn! Aargggghhhhuuuuuuuu!” Sansa screamed her pelvis bucking up and down as she jerked and flipped in the throes of her blistering orgasm. Margaery kept ramming her fist savagely up into Sansa’s exploding love box. Each vicious thrust of her fist into Sansa’s cervix prolonged her killing pleasure. Sansa was nearly pulverized with full body convulsions that seemed to be tearing her body asunder with crushing ecstasy. “Unngghhhiiieeeeeeee! Mmmgghhiieeeeeeee! Nnnhhhiieeeeeee! Uuumnnhhhhhhiiieeeeee!” Sansa had wailed and wailed as her womb immolated itself and her snatch tore itself inside out.

Arya was seeing in her mind’s eye as she and Dany at each other as Sansa and Margaery turned the corner to go down the adjoining hall. Margaery aggressively palming Sansa’s ass and Arya’s sister’s moans wafting loudly down the hall. Arya and Dany smirked at each other. The both knew the lovemaking was only starting between the two beautiful women.

“Are you sure want to spend a meal with my sister and her fiancé? They will only be talking about stitching and what the current fashion is at court.”

“She’s my future sister-in-law Arya and stop being so catty” Dany said without thinking as she continued into the royal bath talking still. Arya had felt a rush of pure love hammer through her body. Her Dany loved her so much! “They are both very intelligent and crafty. I sense they are both excellent practitioner of the Game of Thrones. They will be mighty emissaries for the throne.”

Dany looked at Arya and batted her eyelashes making Arya’s stomach do funny things. “Your sister is very beautiful as well as Margaery but neither hold a candle to you my little wolf” Dany told Arya and rose up on her toes and kissed Arya on the nose cutely.

Arya still sometimes reflected on how she had assumed that Dany would tower over her. Now it seemed so perfect that her Queen was three inches shorter than her. Her body fitted so well into her body when they made love! She would love feeling her Queen pressed into her body when walking hand and hand with her head on her shoulder as she clutched her body possessively.

They went into the royal bath chambers leaving the door open as had Sansa and Margaery. Dany looked at Arya with an evil leer. The Queen liked being nasty. They dropped their clothing to the wet floor. Daenerys put the stopper in the large sunken tub. Dany opened the stops letting in hot water from the springs. The right side had two steps leading up to the sunken rub with a large border about eighteen edges on three sides and the fourth side against the wall. There was plenty room for two people. The steps and borders were cute light pink granite with veins of red and gold flowing through the stone.

Arya watched the naked woman unstop several bottles before selecting one and pouring a lavender liquid that soon had a pleasant sweet smell in the air. Dany came to her and they kissed ravenously as they waited for the tube to fill.

They walked around slowly with bodies pulled tight as they snogged hotly with tongues wrestling from mouth to mouth. Dany’s medium sized breasts jammed into Arya’s body just below her plum nipples again swollen to bursting with arousal. The top and middle of Dany’s breast smothering up into Arya’s swollen plum nipples.
When the water was up to near the top Arya put the stops back in the faucets. The lovers entered the water. They sunk beneath the water and came up giggling and were soon kissing deeply again. They washed and shampooed their hair removing the sweat and cum from their extended lovemaking. They then washed each other’s bodies clean. They soon were adding their own water to the floor. Dany had leaned on the edge of the tub with her shoulder blades and her thighs on Arya’s shoulders who was sitting down in the tube. Arya dined on succulent pussy and soon had Dany wailing and her legs kicking the water hard as water splashed everywhere. Gods she tasted so good as Dany’s pussy gushed so hotly into Arya’s mouth.

Then Dany had Arya get one foot on the ledge the other planted on the tub floor. Arya braced herself on the wall with her palm. Dany knelt behind her wolf and got on her knees and jammed her face up and buried her face into the sweet camel toe jutting out between Arya’s parted legs. Arya cried out in shocking pleasure. The dragon had slurped and sniffled licking and tongue fucking Arya’s wet love hole and juicy slit. Arya whimpered feeling Dany’s fingers gripping her ass hard jamming her coughee back into Dany’s hot gobbling mouth. Dany’s head bending down at times to slurp and lick Arya’s jutting clit. Arya reached down after five minutes and began to rub and flick her clit. Arya had screamed like she was being garroted her body thrashing and bucking back into the mouth gobbling her core. The wolf forked her clit and pressed in and rubbed furiously on her clit to prolong her orgasm.

Arya sagged against the wall sweating profusely and her breath ragged. Dany licked her drooling slit and then stood up behind Arya. Dany scooted up to Arya and her left arm looped around the wolf. Arya cried out when the dragon slipped two fingers deep into her twat and started to pump hard in and out her drooling cunt hole. Arya moaned and gibbered. Dany moved her other hand up and plucked and pulled on Arya’s engorged rubbery nipples. Dany moved her left hand right and left pinching pulpy nipples. Dany kissed and nipped Arya’s pale skin leaving red bite marks all over her love’s ribs, back and shoulders. Dany’s fingers were slamming in deep up Arya’s twat. She slipped in a third finger in stretching out Arya’s pussy. The slicked slimy folds were flowing around the plunging fingers. The fingers gripped by Arya’s hot tight pussy. Creamy cum was leaking out Arya’s twat sliming the hand and wrist fucking it hard and deep. Arya was whimpering in ecstasy as the hammering digits pounded her drooling love box.

“Cum for me Arya ...cum on my fingers ...cum hard on my hand baby” Dany softly husked her fingers slamming the vulva of her hot beautiful wolf. Arya’s head rolled her face constantly slashing and Arya’s breath chuffed hard. The sound of a hard fucked snatch was so loud in the room. Now Arya’s sloppy wet cunt was splattering and making such sweet watery music.

Arya’s snatch exploded on the fingers working her wet swollen pussy. Arya’s repeated screams echoed back and forth off the stone walls as her body convulsed from her curling toes to her snapping head. Arya’s cunt gripped tight on the slamming digits up her snatch in rhythmic gut wrenching spasms of shocking bliss.

Arya was in a dreamy satiated state. They washed off the fresh cum. Dany led her out of the tub and let the water out. They wrapped several towels around themselves. They left the royal bath that was only accessible to the royals after putting on shifts and gathering Dany’s garb to wear for the day. Aggo and Jhogo greeted them as they came out of the royal bathing chambers. Normally, the Queen was only guarded by one of her Bloodriders. Today was an exception. As they walked down the hall the Bloodriders walked behind the two young women.
to guard and shield them from any roving eyes. The two women leaned into each other as they walked hand in hand with intertwined fingers.

Arya had known that there was more to the actions of the two Bloodriders walking with them besides guarding their Queen. Arya still had some difficulty with the Dothraki language. She could understand the Bloodriders well enough though. They were making salacious comments of the Queen being “porked” “ridden like a mare in heat” “she had howled like a Lysian slut whore” “Soon the Direwolf will be fucking our dragon in both her hot tight cunt and spasming asshole”. Arya was not nonplussed by what she heard. For the Dothraki these comments were compliments. Dany was beaming at the lewd comments.

Both women were looking for their Haruchai Bloodguards. The Harucahi had made it clear they were to be the women’s personal bodyguards. They had followed them down to the royal bathing chambers. They were nowhere to be seen. Dany turned to look at her with a questioning look. They both wondered if their Haruchai Bloodguard had already lost interest in their supposed sacred duties.

The two women gasped when from seeming shallow shadows Bannor and Jeertel materialized like demons from a Stygian Hell. They simply appeared from nowhere from within the slightest of shadows. The man and woman walked like ghosts from the grave. Their faces betrayed no emotions and spoke no words. They were not speaking any ribald comments about the sex trysts between Arya and Dany.

Arya looked at the two Harucahi who were ten feet in front of them. The Haruchai showing they trusted the Bloodriders to guard the rear of their progression. Arya noticed yet again the Haruchai making absolutely no sound. Their footfalls and clothing totally silent.

Dany was carrying their towels they would use to dry off their bodies the rest of the way when the returned to Arya’s bedroom. She was also carrying her garb to wear. Arya was carrying their dirty shifts. The two talked of their coming dinner with Sansa and her fiancé Margaery. Arya still chuckled seeing Margaery caring for her very pregnant mother. The Tyrell had made her mother a big supporter of gay marriage. Arya’s mother now defending them like a hawk.

For once her sister was the one breaking the rules and setting new ones.

Arya felt like she was walking on air. She looked down to see if her feet were indeed off the ground. They were not but she felt like they were. Next, she looked at her fingers in the hand that Dany was claspng with interlocked fingers. Arya felt a goofy look on her face. They were holding hands just like lovers do. She looked at her fingertips. Nope. She had expected to see magical fairy dust sprinkling out her fingertips and wafting and swirling into the air to surround them in a dance of magical elixir of love and beauty. When had she gotten so sappy?

They reached her door. There stood Rakharo on guard and a drowsing Nymeria laying on her front legs with her head on them. Her lips quivered as she chased some stag through the woods.

The Bloodrider greeted them. The Dothraki greeted their brethren but ignored the Haruchai. The stoic people did not acknowledge the Dothraki. Dothraki spoke to their Khaleesi. Dany laughed and Aggo clapped Arya hard on the back staggering the small Stark girl. She looked up at him grinning down at her.

The two silent Haruchai took station on the side away from the Bloodriders. They stared straight ahead betraying nothing. One would think they were statues standing at rigid attention.

“You make dragon scream good wolf girl ...now Dothraki have two mares who mount the world
...Fuck her hard wolf girl—make her happy” he told the stark teenager in his rough thickly accented voice. His smile on his face broadened.

Arya couldn’t but help smiling back. Dany had opened the door and Rakharo had stepped back. He made eye contact with Arya and winked at her with a big smile on his face. Arya couldn’t help but smile.

In a slightly less accented voice “Remember she is the Khaleesi ...when she is ready to mount you get on all fours and show her your wet camel toe so she can take you—understood?” Rakharo asked in a totally serious voice.

Arya thought back to the royal bath. That was exactly how Dany had taken her. From behind and taking what was hers. “I will always let my Khaleesi mount me Rakharo ...I am her mare who will be mounted” she told him seriously.

His smile made her feel so good inside. They only wanted the best for their Khaleesi and Khal wrapped in one woman. She entered into her bedroom behind her Khaleesi. She was Dany’s. That was all there was to it.

Arya put their dirty shift on their bed. The bed was a total mess. Arya smiled at that. She moved to her chest of drawers to get fresh short clothes.

Dany went to the dressing screen and unfolded her clothes and put them over the top. Dany moved over to the mirror on the end panel. She looked at herself in the mirror and chuckled. She looked at the several hickies on her throat. “You marked me as your bitch girl! I love it—being marked as your bitch. Your bitch Arya—only me Arya” she spoke softly.

Arya turned from her dresser. She had dropped her towel and pulled out her drawer for undergarments to give Dany one.

“I am only for you Dany ...I belong only to you.”

“And I you Arya ...only you.”

Dany turned around and ran her fingers threw her hair straightening it out working out the worst of the tangles so the silky strands could be combed out by Arya. She knew she would love feeling her love work the tangles out her hair and then comb it till it sheened.

Arya picked out the silk garments and turned around. She stopped in her tracks. She stood staring at the bed. It took her a few moments to process what she was seeing. She felt a thrill run through her body. She could have sworn the bed had been a mess but now it was back in shape the sheets and covers perfectly aligned. She saw something else. Wow. She most really be in the clouds to have missed what she now saw clearly.

Then she chuckled.

“Hey Dany.”

“Yes love.”

“You need to reprimand your Bloodriders and Bloodguard.”

Arya went over to the bed. The sheets were pulled up and covered a small girl that was sleeping on her side. How had that girl got in here?
Arya felt an unease settle on her. This was not possible. Arya shook her head. That girl had not been there a few minutes ago. Had she? Arya moved closer to the bed and the sleeping girl, uneasy. Even if Dany's bloodriders had been distracted or careless, Nymeria would not have been. The direwolf would not have just allowed someone to enter their chambers and lie in wait in their bed, even if it was only a child. She was far too protective. Nymeria was a light sleeper. Her senses always attuned to any possible danger.

“They let a small girl get in here. She’s sleeping in our bed.”

“Then you need to scold Nymeria too” Dany chided back.

“Who is it?” Dany asked and reached up and picked up her britches shaking them out.

“I don’t know.”

Arya moved closer to the bed and the sleeping girl. She had long jet black hair. Arya started trying to place the girl.

She considered jerking off the covers and startling the girl awake. Arya stopped that thought immediately. She would not scare the child to give herself a chuckle.

Arya slowly pulled the covers back and gasped at the beauty of the child. She appeared to be five maybe just turned six years old. Her hair was straight and fanned out over the girl’s shoulder and down her back.

Arya’s breathing accelerated. Her mind racing. Something was on the edge of her consciousness.

Arya’s eyes squinted and she pulled back slightly. The girl’s skin was bronze and her face had high cheek bones and she knew the girl’s eyes would be beautifully almond shaped and jet black. What was even more startling was the girl’s attire.

She was wearing Dothraki attire. Why would a girl of Westeros be wearing such garb? And where was this girl from? Was the girl from Southern Dorn with her swarthy features?

Then it hit her. No it couldn’t be! It was impossible! Her mind tried to deny what her eyes told her. But she could not deny what her eyes saw.

“Who is it Arya? Do you know her?”

“Never seen her before.”

The girl started to awaken.

It was then that Arya suddenly started to understand fully what she was seeing. For her mind to catch up to her instinct.

She had heard from Dany many times the tale of the loss of the daughter she had adopted on her march through the Red Waste. Dany’s sweet Kiserri.

The girl in the bed was obviously Dothraki and the age that Kiserri was when she died. Then her eyes shocked wide open. Kiserri’s clothes. They were more than Dothraki. The girl was wearing the attire that Dany kept in her bedroom back at the Red Keep to remember her sweet lost daughter by. This girl was wearing an outfit that was over sixteen hundred miles away as the crow flies safely tucked away in a closet in King’s Landing.
In a state of shock Arya heard her lover walking up to her.

Dany walked to the bed from behind her. Arya moved to the side so her lover could see the interloper.

Arya turned to look at her lover and gasped. Dany had turned deathly pale. Oh my gods it was Kiserri!

Dany staggered and Arya helped her keep her upright. The little girl rolled onto her back.

Dany gasped again harder and whimpered “Kiserri!!” and promptly fainted dead away her body pivoting and thudding down onto the bed. Twice within twenty-four hours Arya had witnessed Dany faint dead away on her.

The impact woke the girl up. She sat up and rubbed her eyes. “Mai. Mai. Mai?” the girl asked looking around. Her voice was calm at first but now getting slightly agitated. “Mai. Rekkaan anha yer Mai?”

The girl look around. Arya could not understand the words. The girl like most children slurred her words and had her stress marks in the wrong place. This threw Arya and her ability to understand the child. The meaning was crystal clear though. “Where is my mother?” The girl saw Dany passed out on the bed. The girl exclaimed. He eyes went large and Arya saw the child unsettled seeing her mother unconscious beside her lying on the bed. She scooted over to Dany “Mai! Mai!” The small girl shook the shoulder of the woman she thought of as her mother.

Arya wondered how this could be. Her mind worked furiously. This was impossible and yet here was Dany’s long lost daughter.

Arya was totally flummoxed. Then inspiration hit.

Science could not explain what her eyes were telling her but magic could. Dany had been brought back from death. And now over five years later so had her lost daughter. Who or what had the power over death?

Arya felt frightened at the sheer power that she suddenly felt was present. Dany had been brought back from death. This was totally different than Dany’s resurrection. Dany had not been dead but for a short while at the most. This was five years later. Still, Arya could not deny what her eyes showed her.

Kiserri was alive.

Was that distant chimes she heard? Was something dire coming for her; for them? She looked around but could find no reason for her discomfiture. She shook off her seeming childish fear of the unknown or unknowable.

The small Dothraki girl shook Dany with more and more urgency. The little girl had first looked at Arya askance trying to wake her mother. The girl was filled with obvious fright at her situation and seeing the strange woman who was Arya. At first the girl looked at Arya with fright and then determination. She reached behind her belt and pulled out a little ceremonial fake dagger. The girl tried to get a good grip on the small fake blade. The girl fumbled the blade dropping it. She cried out in frustration.

Arya watched bemused as the little girl reached for the ‘dagger’ on the bed and knocked it away from herself. The girl harrumphed chasing the blade. Arya suppressed chuckles seeing the small Dothraki girl. This was most definitely the girl Dany spoke of with tears in her eyes. Dany had told her the tales of Kisseri always dropping her blade when trying to be Dany’s Bloodrider. How this girl could be Kisseri she did not know but Arya’s soul told her this was the girl long thought dead.

Another thought crashed into Arya’s mind watching this precious girl. How did she feel about this?
Dany’s daughter had somehow like her mother come back from the dead. How was this possible?! Was she going to be a mommy too? How would Dany feel about this strange twist of fate? Would Kisseri want two mommies?

The girl was shouting little curses chasing the blade and now knocked it underneath the sheet. The girl dove underneath the white sheet tenting up the cotton fabric. Arya watched the sheet move as the girl moved around on all fours grasping for her fake dagger. Finally a shout of success from underneath the sheet. The girl crawled back out but faced the wrong direction. She looked around confused until she spotted Arya. The girl wheeled around on her knees.

Kisseri slashed the blade clumsily. She spoke in a frightened little girl voice but trying hard to be brave. She had her body between Arya and Dany.

“Ma yer adothrae tith; ma yer athzalar ma yae nakhoki valshtith. Fin kisha fonoki, zhey khaleesi?”
the little child asked in a demanding voice.

“Oohhhhhhh!” Dany groggily moaned. Dany pushed herself up to sit up.

“Mai! Mai! Mai!” the girl squealed throwing herself into Dany’s arms that enfolded the now sobbing child.

Arya watched with a lump in her heart. Dany was holding the child and stuck out her hand out to Arya. Dany had a shocked look of wonder on her face. Arya saw that Dany, though confused, was ecstatic to see her daughter again. To again have her sweet Kisseri in her arms. Arya came over slowly and took her hand. Dany pulled her down.

The girl had been talking to Daenerys constantly.

“Kisseri Kisseri athtihar chal giz” she said in a gentle commanding voice.

The girl looked at Dany with big eyes.

“This is my wife” Dany said pointing at Arya. “She is your mommy now too. You have two mommies now baby” Dany told the child gently.

“Two mommies?” the girl asked. Dany shook her head ‘yes’.

The girl turned to look at Arya more fully.

“Mommy?”

“Yes ...I’m your mommy too.”

Arya felt her heart go pitter patter seeing the big smile on child’s face.

“I have two mommies!” the girl exclaimed hugging Dany tightly.

Arya’s was nearly ready to burst. Her body thrummed with happiness. How did she feel about Kisseri coming back from beyond the pale? How did she feel about becoming a mommy overnight?
She felt AWESOME!

It was only then Arya wondered how she suddenly understood Dothraki perfectly! Dany was speaking to Kisseri in her mother tongue but Arya understood her and Kiserri perfectly! It had always been so difficult for her.

“Arrrrggggg!” Arya cried out in sudden pain her hands covering her ears.

“Arya!”

“Mommy!”

“What’s wrong?!” Dany asked in fear hugging her child to her.

Arya had a hand down on the bed. Her head was on fire with music. Her balance knocked off center.

“Something is coming!” My gods something dire is coming Arya’s mind screamed.

In her head she heard the chiming of a thousand thousand chimes ringing wildly in her head. The sound at once both ethereal and slamming into her very being.

My gods the power...the ringing bells could shatter mountains into rubble—boil the sea dry...and they were coming here!”

They all turned to look at the outside wall of Arya’s room. The wall had started to ripple and then an infinite multitude of glittering diamond stars exploded on and within the wall. Stars roiling in the thick stone. Then stars started to peel off the wall and flash around in Arya’s bedroom. The stars whirled around wildly in Arya’s room in gyres of swirling motes that glittered with unfathomable might. The stars racing through their bodies and the walls as if they were not there. A rush of power whirled through Arya’s body as the stars raced here and there through her body. She saw that Dany felt it too. Kiserri was clapping her hands gaily.

The wall seemed to fall in on itself and more stars chimed and shimmered into existence. A mighty detonation of silent power erupted through the room but left them impossibly untouched.

“Auntie! Auntie!” Kiserri cried out.

A figure walked through.
The Miracle of Life - Part 1

Chapter Notes

AN #1: I apologize for the long delay in posting this story. When i posted the last chapter in early Sept. i changed strategy. This story has become so large that i decided to finish it. It's size is wrecking my writing new stuff and posting other stories and this story. i have been working on this story except for short breaks since then. I finished the 'writing' in August 2017. i write in a white hot rush. No writer's block for me. I am left with a scaffolding that i then need to fill in. then i have to edit. i have worked through all the chapters one time. i also had not written the final battle but now have. that took a month

About a month ago i knew that it would take me 6 or more months to finish the total editing. I have made you all wait long enough. I decided to work the next four chapters to get them ready. That required four more edit read through for each chapter. They should be pretty clean and say what i want them to say.

I will publish at the end of each month. Hopefully, when the fourth chapter is published plus one month i will be close to done and can get the rest of the chapters posted on a schedule.

AN #2: The chapters are so big that i had to chop the next chapters into two parts.

AN #3: Some graphic masturbation in this chapter. Talk of graphic kinky lesbian sex.

The Miracle of Life

Part 1

Arya / Missandei / Oberyn / Sansa / Margaery / Eddard / Daenerys / Arya

Arya

Arya saw the wall seeming to fall in on itself. It looked like the stars had come down from the night time heavens. They glittered and exploded in the swirling well that had formed in the wall. From the depths of the well, more stars whirled up and spun into existence. The glittering motes of light flashing blue, white with reddish and green tints. The stars flowed up the wall to then traverse back and forth on the ceiling. More of the stars spread out onto the floor shimmering and bubbling up and erupting into the air. The glittering orbs flashing and pulsing with magical might.

The chimes in Arya’s head was a cacophony now of discordant notes. The notes were high and low pitched with scales that were at cross purposes. There were many melodies in the air echoing in Arya’s head. The notes conflicted and discordant. The tunes weaving around and through each other. The polyphony of melodies full of counterpoint. The music was chaos and yet Arya sensed a vast calm resonance underneath it all. There was order here she just could not grasp it.
Arya moved in front of Dany and Kiserri. She would protect her mate and new child with her life. Arya and Dany had their swords against the far wall. The swords were mere feet away and may as well have been in Asshai. It would not have mattered had they had their swords in hand Arya realized. The figure stepping through the wall could swat them down with but a thought. Melted their Valyrian swords with a shrug of their brow. The Stark teenager somehow knew it was a woman coming impossibly through her wall.

No matter. Arya would defend her wife and daughter with her dying breath. She would gladly sacrifice her life for Dany and Kiserri. Arya felt her eyes tearing with the magical might flooding the room through the portal in the wall. The notes rose in discordant chimes and more stars now pulsed and wildly glittered flitting around in Arya’s room and shooting out through the walls, floor and ceiling. The stars taking no account of any barrier. Their passage through the room causing wind devils to swirl the drapes and bed coverings.

Behind her, Arya heard Kiserri clapping her hands and shouting “Infinnie! Infinnie!” The child happy, not sensing the dire peril they were in. A silent concussion of force washed through the room. Arya staggered back. Kiserri was still shouting out the strange name.

A tall woman stepped through the gyre in Arya’s wall. The instant the woman walked through the thick walls of Winterfell the portal winked out with a bright flash of light and was no more. Arya was staggered by the might of the woman now standing before Arya and the loves of her life. Diamonds flowed off the tall woman in melodic strands of glittering jewels that wafted in the air and spun around the tall regal woman. The stars spinning off to join its siblings whirling around in Arya’s room. The woman looked around with an imperious air that would do Dany proud.

Arya looked at the stunning woman before. Dany was beautiful but this woman was sheer perfection. Each line and angle of her face was exquisite. The lines of her arms and legs regal and like those of a Dorne Sand Steed. Arya gaped at the perfection standing regally before her. The teenager also gaped at the seven foot height of the woman. The Stark teenager knew that such sheer perfection could not exist in the world. This woman was capable of sheer fluidity and poetry of motion and yet was filled with a power to shatter mountains and fell forests.

The tall woman stood before her and her family. The woman was so tall. At least seven tall and yet she seemed to be no taller than a woman of normal height somehow. Her being only pure grace. She was incapable of any flaw. She had on a full length gown that twisted and fluttered on currents of air that were not there. The gown seemed to glow like the summer sun was shining from within it. The air was filled with scent of Spring and new growth. The rich loam of life suffused Arya’s room.

Kiserri was squirming wildly in Dany’s arms “Kiserri calm down!” Dany scolded her child.

“Auntie Auntie!” Kiserri shouted. Arya glanced back at Dany and their daughter. Kiserri had her arms out and seeming to reach for the tall woman before them. Arya turned her focus back to the woman who had entered her room. Through a solid wall.

The woman had long flowing sun kissed locks that were brown but filled with wheaten highlights. Her hair gently swirled on the diamonds that flowed out of the woman’s body. More diamonds rippled and were birthed from the woman’s hair and glittered in constellations of perfection in the air. The stars lifting off the woman’s hair and then joining the stars still flowing out the wall where the portal had slowly closed. The woman looked around taking in her surroundings before looking down at the women before her.

Her body was utter perfection. She had a bosom that was neither large nor small but just perfect for her large body. Her hips swelled in perfect lines of femininity.
She woman’s eyes regarded them coolly. They were like pools of rippling silver. Lakes of placid calmness and yet their seemed to be a storm roiling underneath. The chimes hummed and the discordant melody lessened. The woman looked around the room again and then settled on the three women before her. She stared at them. The look could only be called arrogant Arya thought.

“How strange” the tall woman spoke. “You hear my thoughts …” she bent down and looked at Arya closely. Arya felt the savage might of the woman before her. “I do not see a white gold ring on your finger … you have not been tempered with the heartache that Linden Avery was stamped with …” the woman looked at Dany “It should be only you that hears my thoughts and yet you do not… how strange. You are the Dragonthane. Around Daenerys Targaryen flows the events of this time.” Her tone was haughty. Her bearing imperious. The tall woman regarded Arya and Dany coolly.

Suddenly Kiserri pushed away from her mother whose grip had slacked at the strange apparition before them. Dany reached for her child but the Dothraki girl scampered out of her mother’s reach in an amazingly fast move.

“NOOOOO!” Dany screamed as her child scampered off the bed just out of reach of the Queen’s clutching fingers.

Arya wheeled around but the little girl was past her. How had she moved so fast! Her daughter was running to this woman who was an unknown to her. This woman who could kill them with but the slightest thought.

“STOP!” Arya screamed as the little girl ran up to the tall woman. She started to move along with Dany but it was too late.

“Infinnie! Infinnie!” the little five year old ran up to the tall imperious woman.

Kiserri obviously knew the woman! Arya realized. She turned to look at Dany. She too had the same realization.

The woman ignored the small girl. She looked around imperious and with a haughty manner. Her pool of silver eyes looked around unimpressed. Kiserri gripped the woman’s flowing gown and tugged hard on it. “Infinnie … I am down here!” Kiserri called up to the tall woman her hands now up her little fingers clearly evidencing she wanted to be picked up.

Dany and Arya were frozen. The tall woman did not seem to realize their small child was wanting her attention. They both sensed that Kiserri was safe. For the moment.

Arya looked more at the tall woman before her. Yes! Arya eyes had not deceived her. The woman before her was not breathing! She was some kind of magical being. Their danger had just risen Arya thought.

“Why you humans adorn these wasteful corporal constructs around yourselves I will never understand. It is a waste.”

“Infinnie! Infinnie!” Kiserri stomped her foot at being ignored.

With Kiserri being so impudent with this powerful magical creature in her presence Arya decided she needed to act. Arya tried to move forward and grip the girl’s shoulder to draw her back but she felt an unmovable force holding her back.

“Why are you ignoring me!” the little girl whined. Kiserri was now stomping her feet and crossed her arms over her chest and was throwing a full on pout her lower lip stuck out and quivering.
The tall woman looked down. Her imperious manner seemed to crash down. She suddenly seemed almost human in her demeanor.

“Kiserri. I am trying to import great knowledge here Kiserri. It is unseemly to interrupt the Queen of the Elohim.”

The girl looked at the seven foot tall beautiful woman. She lifted her arms up and her little fingers wiggled in a clear pleading to be lifted up. She locked eyes with the Elohim. Kiserri started to jump up and down with her excitement. “Pleaseeeeee! Lift me up Auntie!” Kiserri clearly expected to be picked up.

“Kiserri. Can’t this wait?” the tall woman looked down at the Dothraki child. Her tone aggrieved. “I am here to talk to your mothers.” The woman turned her gaze back to the adults in the room. “I am Infelice of the Elohim. I am the Wurd of the Earth.” The tall woman tried to sound imperious but instead sounded a little flustered. She glanced at Arya and Dany seeing if they saw her losing control of the situation.

The little girl’s little arms jerked up again in clear supplication. This Elohim tried to ignore Kiserri but she failed miserably. She looked down at the child clearly flustered now. Arya’s eyes widened seeing this beyond powerful woman blow a lock of her hair off her forehead and harrumphed.

“O Alright!” the tall woman huffed and bent down and picked up the little girl and hugged the girl.” The imperious caste evaporated. This Infelice pulled the child to her body and rubbed her cheek to the child’s cheek. Her eyes glittering with diamonds, rubies and sapphires now. Little stars flowed out of Infelice’s eyes to swirl about her head.

The tall woman was smiling softly. She started to walk around the room seeming to forget about the adult women in the room.

Arya looked at Dany. Clearly, Kiserri and this woman had a relationship that was based on love.

“Mommy Mommy this is my Auntie! Auntie Infinnie!”

The tall woman grimaced “This is so embarrassing” the regal woman sighed in consternation but did not go to put the little girl down. She adjusted Kiserri and placed her on her hip as she turned her gaze back to Arya and Dany.

Arya saw her lover stiffen with a start. “YOU!” Dany yelled. “It was you that came to me when I was killed.”

The tall woman gently caressed Kiserri’s cheek with her hand. Kiserri literally seemed to purr in happiness. The small child tugging and playing with the folds of the tall woman’s gown. The tall woman cocked an eyebrow at Dany.

Arya turned to her lover. “Why didn’t you tell me this? You said you did not remember anything?” Arya was a little hurt that Dany had been less than fully truthful.

Dany came up to Arya and hugged her fiercely. “I did not hold anything from you my love. This woman’s presence is bringing that event into focus. Memories I did not know I had in me are coming to the surface.” Dany kissed Arya’s lightly on her mouth to show her lover her heart. Arya felt comforted from her moment of doubt. Dany turned her gaze to the tall woman “You lied to me!”

“I am Elohim. I never lie.”

“Bullshit!”
The tall woman went to cover the child’s ears “Language” she gasped out.

Dany did not look chastised.

“You told me she was of no import. Her life meant shit to you!”

“Language!” and the tall woman’s voice boomed knocking Dany to her ass but not touching Arya. “Control yourself in front of your daughter. I will not have such language spoken in front of Kiserri!” the Elohim snarled out.

“Don’t hurt my mommy!” Kiserri shouted up at her ‘auntie’.

Infelice was thrown off her equilibrium by Kiserri’s declaration.

“I would never hurt your mother Kiserri. I was just chastising her for her use of inappropriate speech. You ears are still young and virginal my sweet Kiserri.” Kissei was struggling to get down. A now confused Infelice looked around nonplussed.

Arya smirked. Emotions clearly confused this tall magical woman.

Arya watched Dany slowly get up onto her feet again. She looked warily at the tall woman who set Kiserri back down to the ground. The little girl ran back to her mother and Dany picked her up and put her on her hip. The Dothraki hugged her mother snuggling in. Dany stroked Kiserri’s back and hair comforting her daughter.

Dany pinched her nose. “Forgive me. You were quite clear in what you told me.” Dany had controlled her ire and was once more being the diplomatic Queen.

“I was right in my statement to you. I did not lie. Kiserri was of no portent to the Earth’s safety. She would have only led your focus astray at the start of your campaign if you had had your child at your side. You could not have accomplished what you did if she had been by your side. You had to have a single minded focus to succeed. With your supposed knowledge of Kiserri’s death you had that necessary focus. I did what I must. I did what was best for the Earth’s safety. The needs of the many outweigh the needs of the few. Or the one.”

“That is such bullshit!” Dany cried out.

Infelice’s eyes flared with anger. “I told you about your foul mouth in Kiserri’s innocent presence!”

Dany glared at the tall regal magical woman. She was clearly fuming. “You would have let her die if it had not been for Linden Avery” Dany snarled at the tall woman.

The woman regarded her with now cold eyes.

“I did what was in the Earth’s best interest.”

“And now you are her Auntie?”

The woman suddenly looked uncomfortable. Infelice looked at the child like she was afraid she would understand what the woman had supposedly been willing to allow. Infelice gnawed her lip with worry.

“You told me she was dead and could not be brought back.”

“You were brought back from the dead. You could show the proper gratitude” Infelice spoke in a haughty voice. The Elohim’s confidence once more in ascendancy.
“You. Lied. To. Me.”

“I cannot lie.”

The Queen of Westeros glared daggers at the Queen of the Elohim. It quickly turned into a Dorne standoff. Kiserri reached out for Arya. Arya took the child from Dany. It was obvious the little girl was becoming upset with the anger in the room. Kiserri hugged Arya fiercely for reassurance. Arya hugged her tightly.

Arya was not afraid of this Infelice anymore. This woman could have burned them to ash if she chose. She was haughty and arrogant but Arya sensed no violence in this tall strange woman. That did not mean she was not shooting her own daggers at Dany. The Elohim’s eyes glowing with suppressed magical might.

Suddenly in the middle of the room a blinding white light appeared. It was pure white and should have hurt the eyes but it did not. The light grew into a whirling cyclone of light that twisted and turned but did not move from its spot. The fissure of light pulsed and grew stronger till it looked and felt like the noonday sun had come down into Arya’s room.

Arya was again in the presence of great magical might.

A woman stepped out and the light folded back into itself and was gone in a flash of argent. This new woman before them was five foot seven inches tall. She had honey blond hair and a voluptuous build. Her eyes were a soft gentle green. Her face lined with lines of worry but also lines of peace and happiness. She wore a simple white tunic synched with a white belt and plain sandals.

Arya felt great power in this woman but it was totally different than what she sensed in the Elohim. This woman was merely a woman. She was filled with magical might but she was only a human woman. She looked at the woman’s left hand and saw a silver looking ring on her ring finger. Arya looked at the woman. She was powerful beyond measure. She felt that power was channeled in the ring on her hand somehow.

“Infelice and Daenerys Targaryen; cease this rancor. It achieves nothing.” The new woman spoke in a calm reassuring voice. She did not raise her voice but spoke in a calming tone.

Infelice tilted her head. “As you say Linden Avery.” This woman who could crush mountains clearly ceded control of the situation to this new woman.

Arya watched Dany jerk as more memories came to her. “It was you that came to me and convinced me that I had to come back. That I had to sacrifice Kiserri. You lied to me too.”

The new woman sighed and a look of pain came across her features. The lines of rue on her face for a moment becoming prominent before her inner peace resumed. “Daenerys Targaryen, I fear I was not fully truthful with you but it was necessary.”

“How can lying ever be necessary?”

“You had to have a single minded focus when you came out of the Red Desert. Your daughter’s seeming death fueled your desires and gave you the strength to proceed forward. You had no fear with no child to worry your thoughts. Your initial campaigns required you to be reckless and headless of risks. You would not have taken those risks with the thought of leaving Kiserri with no mother. You would not have taken the risks you did to secure your kingdom.”

“All, Infelice in her way speaks the truth.”
“How so?”

“You had truly died Daenerys Targaryen. Fortunately, in this matter, High Lord Elena had broken the Law of Death resurrecting Kevin Landwaster and over three thousand years later Caer-Caveral the Forestal of Andelain broke the Law of Life to restore Hollian to life. The Laws of Life and Death can never be completely made whole again. Through those cracks, we were able to slip you back to the land of the living. You are filled with Earthpower as is your wife to be Arya Stark. We were able to gently pry those broken laws apart enough to slip you back to the land of the living. There is always risks in this but we did it. The Earth’s need overcame our fears.”

“You are the Dragonthane Daenerys Targaryen. Around you much revolves.”

“How is that my daughter lives?”

“I told you had to choose to live. Do you remember?”

“Yes?”

“Fortunately, your love for Kiserri had endued her with the aura of your Earthpower.”

Daenerys considered the words she was hearing. Arya saw her lover turning the words over in her head. “You are implying I chose life over death. How is it that a five year old girl could make that choice? She does not have the concept of life and death yet.”

“This is true. We merely asked Kiserri if she wanted to be with her mother. The answer was yes. It really was the only answer possible so we asked it. There can be no purer love than a child for its mother and vice versa. When we burned you to life with Wild Magic and the Earthpower of the Elohim channeled through the Krill it burned your daughter to life too. Her desire to be with her mother gave her the strength to cross over the divide too.”

“But you said you could not bring her back to life. I lost all those years with my daughter.” Dany still accused her benefactors. Her anger still gnawing at her bones. She had lost precious years with her daughter.

Arya could feel and understand that but she realized no time had been lost. Kiserri had not aged a day.

“I fear we played sophistry with you Daenerys Targaryen.”

“How did you lie to me? How did Infelice lie to me? She did not want to bring Kiserri back!”

Infelice crossed her arms over her chest. Arya could feel the woman wanting to retort. The chimes that had receded were ringing louder and more discordant. This Infelice did not like having her honor impugned.

Linden Avery sighed. “Yes, I did obfuscate the truth. I told you Dragonthane: “Only then that which has been stolen from you can be given back. Only then, that which has been lost can be found. You must take back what is yours by the right of birth.” The woman looked the Queen in the eyes and spoke again “Reach and grasp what is rightfully yours. Only then can you achieve your destiny, and restore that which has been taken.”

The Queen stared at the woman with her mouth open working soundlessly. Arya walked over to Dany. Kiserri instinctively reached out for her mother. Dany took her back from Arya now that she had calmed down. The little precious Dothraki girl snuggling into her mother’s body finding comfort there again.
“So I told you exactly what you had to do to have your heart’s wish given to you. Your child has been restored to you. We did not have to do this but we chose it. The risk is great but we deem it worthy. You have so many burdens to overcome and tasks to achieve.”

“For this we were willing to open the door between life and death for this sweet innocent child.”

Arya saw the little girl continuing to snuggle into her mother not truly realizing how the conversation was centered on her.

“Mommy. Don’t be mad. I am so happy to be home with you. And with my new mommy” the girl held out her hand to Arya.

Arya felt her heart lurch and she went quickly to stand beside Dany. The little girl held out her hands to Arya who felt her world spin in a delightful way taking the sweet girl back in her arms and placing her on her outside hip and pushing her body into Dany’s as she smiled great big feeling Dany snake her arm around her waist claiming her as her wife and soulmate.

Infelice harrumphed. “Why do they listen to you and not me!” the tall woman whined.

Linden Avery sighed looking up at the woman who was magic made flesh.

“Infelice. The Elohim have learned many things but clear speech is not one of them.”

“I beg to differ” the woman snooted. Her nose up in the air.

“Need I remind you of Azor Ahai?”

“That was not our fault!” Infelice cried out in dismay. “How many times do I have to tell you that Linden” Infelice spoke in a clear huff. Her voice filled with half heard chimes. Her blazing diamonds that wafted out her irises radiating dark red and blue with her distress.

Arya had heard the story many times growing up. She recited the story she had heard “He was prophesized too that he must kill his wife on his sword to give it the strength to kill the Ice King. Twice he had forged the sword but it broke. Only with his wife’s death could the Lightbringer be truly forged.”

Linden sighed and Infelice looked defensive.

Linden glanced at Infelice who looked set upon “What Infelice was supposed to get across to the man, Azor Ahai, was that he was to throw himself on the blade. His act of self-sacrifice would have forged the sword to its mightiest pure form. He would have been restored by his own faith. His wife being pierced by the sword gave it the power and strength to kill the Ice Wright’s body. If Azor had done as he should have the sword would have killed both the body and the spirit of the Ice King.”

“I could not have made it any plainer!” Infelice whined. “You know as well as I Linden Avery (the name said in a very snooty manner) that I could not just tell him else I would evoke the paradox of lore. It must be earned and not granted! It is not my fault the man was obtuse and stupid!” Infelice finished in a defensive whiny tone. Her face looked aggrieved and beset upon.

“Infelice” Linden growled at the Elohim. “Only your kind has truly mastered the art of speaking out of both sides of your mouth at the same time. You have added to that talent by being also able to speak out your ass while also talking out both sides of your mouth. It is truly impressive really” Linden ended in a sarcastic tone.

“You asshole!” Infelice growled out. Then her eyes went large and her hands came up to slap over her mouth as she glanced at Kiserri to see if she had heard the bad word. She breathed out in relief when the child did not appear to have heard the bad word.

Linden smirked at the Elohim’s antics. She continued on with her narration “Jon Snow figured this out when he stepped into the fires of his own free will.”

“Jon did what!” Arya exclaimed.

“Fear not” Infelice told Arya calmly having recovered her equilibrium. “He was unhurt by the flames. His faith protected him. His sword has truly been re-forged into the lost blade of Azor Ahai. Unfortunately, the Ice King is more than he was and the blade can no longer kill both spirit and body. First the body must be garroted and only then can the spirit in turn be killed.”

Arya felt the tension leave her wife who was pressed into her body. She accepted that what had to be done had been done nearly seven years ago. There were indeed great forces at work that she had to accede too.

Arya was just thankful that Dany had been brought from the dead by these two women. If they had not, Arya would not have the love of her life in her arms and in her bed. She would not have Kiserri as her daughter. Arya was thankful for these women intervention in Dany and Kiserri’s life. Arya’s life would be so empty now without these powerful women’s intervention in Dany’s past.

Kiserri started to squirm again. Dany put her down to the ground. The Dothraki girl ran up to the Elohim who pretended to not see the little girl back at her feet. Kiserri looked up at the tall Infelice. “Butterfly. Butterfly!” the little girl squealed up at the tale regent of the Elohim. Kiserri started to jerk on the Elohim’s gown again. This made the Elohim look down.

The woman looked mortified. Arya watched the Elohim as she tried to pretend she had not heard the child’s strange words.

“Auntie! I want to butterfly Auntie Innie! Butterfly, butterfly, butterfly!” the child chanted out her hands reaching out to the tall magical woman. The whole girl’s little body literally thrummed with barely concealed excitement at this prospect of ‘butterfly’. Arya and Dany exchanged glances. Dany shrugged. Neither knew what Kiserri wanted from Infelice but Arya knew it must be good. The tall Elohim looked totally flustered by the child’s request.

Infelice looked at the others present in the room and then down at the pleading child. Kiserri looked up with big eyes full of hope and clutching fingers. Then in a whisper that all could hear “Kiserri, this is not the time … we are in the middle of important portents. Not now child.”

Kiserri held out her arms. Her hands spread out her fingers grasping the air. A big hopeful look on the girl’s face. She was jumping up and down now. “Butterfly! I want to butterfly! Butterfly, butterfly!”

The Elohim threw her shoulders back and lifted her nose snootily. She slightly turned her body. She acted like she did not hear or see the child anymore. Though Arya could see the silver pools of the tall woman’s eyes looking askance at the child. The pools of her eyes glittering and pulsing deep blue and purple.

Kiserri started to chew her bottom lip and it began to quiver and her eyes brimmed with tears.

A panicked look came on Infelice’s face. The Elohim’s whole haughty demeanor gone in a flash and a much more human posture was taken on by the magical being. “Okay! Okay! Butterfly! Butterfly it will be!” the tall woman suddenly trilled out in a near panic turning her body back around to face Kiserri. Diamonds, sapphires and emeralds wafted out of the body of the Elohim and pulsed in the air. Arya could see that Dany saw it too. This strange woman loved their daughter in her own strange way.

“Yeah!” Kiserri chirped the storm passed and her face sunshine once more.

Infelice picked up an excited Kiserri underneath her arms and easily picked her up. The Elohim walked slowly up to Arya and Dany. In a soft kind voice “May I answer your daughter’s request?” she asked with a clear question in her voice. Dany and Arya were being given the right of refusal.

Arya could tell by the chimes she heard in her head that her new daughter was totally safe with this enigmatic woman. Arya looked back at Dany who nodded her ascent.

Infelice smiled a genuine smile. “Kiserri, you are very demanding you know” she told the girl softly.

“Butterfly! Butterfly!” the excited child chanted. She looked around with a big smile on her face.

Infelice tightened her grip on the child underneath her armpits and turned her around so she was facing out from the tall Elohim’s body. Kiserri’s parents waited to see what was about to occur. Clearly, Kiserri was looking forward to it. Her little feet were kicking in excitement.

“I’m a butterfly! I’m a butterfly! Look mommy—mommies!” Kiserri was flapping her arms as Infelice effortlessly walked the little girl around as she flapped her arms and beamed chirping how she was flying. Arya looked at Dany. This was no big deal. Hell, she and Dany could easily do this for their daughter. She would show Infelice!

Then Arya and Dany gasped seeing Infelice rise up into the air slowly. Her body shedding diamonds of magic as she rose up off the ground. The diamond were not the violent jewels of earlier but winked and circled before slowly fading away. The diamonds now a soft green, blue and yellow pulsing out of the tall woman’s lower body. The woman was literally walking on air and shed diamonds. She floated around in the room first rising and then her body floating lower. All the while Kiserri was flapping her arms as if she was in reality a butterfly. “Look at me mommies! I am a butterfly!” Dany and Arya shouted up to their daughter that she was indeed a butterfly. The little girl squealed in happiness. The two mommies watched the Elohim take their daughter higher in the high ceilinged room. The two women stared.

The Elohim was clearly headed towards the high ceiling of Arya’s room. Arya and Dany craned their necks up as diamonds wafted down from rising form of the Elohim. They kept waiting for the Elohim to begin a descent as the distance between her and Kiserri and the ceiling closed rapidly now.

They both gasped when the Elohim’s body passed through the ceiling as if it was not there and then Kiserri’s body easily slipped through the solid wall. They looked at each other with wide eyes and slack jaws.

Linden Avery chuckled as she looked where the Elohim and Kiserri had disappeared. “Infelice and the Elohim are magic given flesh. Little is beyond them except maybe talking in a coherent manner that all can understand. It is strange indeed. The Elohim are very self-absorbed but Kiserri has brought out the best in the Queen of the Elohim. I would not have thought the woman had it in her.”

Linden smiled and turned to the women. Her face became somber. “It is good that Infelice is playing with your daughter. When it comes to She Who Must Not Be Named she gets distraught.”

Arya looked at Dany and she had no clue either.

Linden Avery sighed. “It is difficult to explain. She is force for evil. I contended with her in the distant past. She tortured the souls of thousands of women. She tried to consume me but I was able to resist her and free the women she had consumed. When the Worm was awakened and destroyed the world she slipped the bonds of our dying world and fled to the Universe.”

“Universe?” Dany asked.

Linden paused. “Do you see those points of light in the nighttime sky?” Linden asked looking from woman to woman.

They both nodded yes.

“These are suns that shine like our sun in our sky but far far away. Most of those suns have planets that have life. Some of with intelligent beings that may or may not look like us. She fled our dying world for those environs. She smote Lord Foul down with but one backhand. She is powerful beyond measure. For some reason she has returned. I feel she has some unknown purpose but the Elohim are convinced she has come back to destroy all life. I have my doubts on this but I can conceive of no other reason for her return. She was quite insane when I knew her. Maybe Infelice is right. She Who Must Not Be Named is a most dangerous force in the world. Over forty thousand years ago she killed all who came upon her.”

Arya asked “You are saying she is like the Ice King?”

“Yes and no” Linden replied. “He wants to kill but also to control. She Who Must Not Be Named is insane.” A thoughtful look came over her face and more to herself “or she was”. Linden Avery had a distant look on her face before she focused on the present. “She merely sought to kill and torture. If she has returned for this purpose we are doomed.”

“If we can defeat the Ice King we can defeat her” Dany confidently spoke up.

“I wish it was that simple. The foe I fought twice over forty thousand years ago was Lord Foul or A-Jeroth of the Seven Hells. Your Ice King would be but a Colonel in his army.”

The beautiful woman looked off into the distance seeing events form long ago “At the end of the old world Thomas Covenant my husband, my son Jeremey and I confronted Lord Foul as he attempted to flee out into the Universe. My husband and I are the White Gold and my son the true Heir to the second Staff of Law.”

“We were not enough against Lord Foul. He was slowly overcoming all our combined might. He was still more powerful than our combined might. If he had fled, this world would have dissolved and faded into mere memory. His blight would have moved out to the stars you see up in the sky at night. His plague free to infect countless worlds.”

“How did you stop him then?” Arya asked enthralled by the story of events long ago.

Linden smiled ruefully. “We did not. He would have won.”

“Who stopped him then?” Dany asked confused. The world still existed so it was clear that he had been defeated somehow.

Linden Avery smiled. “I told you but you did not hear. It was She Who Must Not Named who defeated Lord Foul. She had freed herself from pit she had been chained to for countless millennium. Her green unformed body came boiling up from the depths underneath Mount Thunder. She fled the pit of her imprisonment. In doing this she passed through Kiril Threndor a chamber of great power deep in the depths of Mount Thunder. It was here that Lord Foul had setup his new throne. As she passed by in her bid for freedom she backhanded Lord Foul. It was almost causal that blow she hurled upon Lord Foul. We were fighting desperately with all our flawed might and we were not enough. With one passing blow she crushed him down to the floor. We could not really affect him. We could merely slow him down. He would have won.”

“She Who Must Not Be Name crushed Lord Foul with but a thought.”

Dany looked at Arya. They thought they were fighting mighty forces and now they were being told of forces that dwarfed what they fought.

“We easily defeated Lord Foul after that.”

“Did you kill this Lord Foul?”

Linden Avery smiled. “That would have been disaster. He is part of the Earth. He is either the Creator’s brother or a dark aspect of his soul. One cannot cut him out. All great belief systems make it clear that there must be evil for good. The universe demands balance.”

“Then where is this Lord Foul?”

“My husband took him into himself. They are now one. We achieved immortality through that act. As long as we remain the world is safe. Lord Foul has become one with us. He is quiescent.”

Dany looked at Linden Avery. Arya thought they were dealing with great magical concepts and powers. What this Linden Avery spoke seemed to make the Ice King almost pale. “Can I ask a question?” Dany inquired of Linden Avery.

Linden tilted her head in acceptance of the request.

“You said the Worm was awakened and it destroyed the world. How is it we are here?”

“My husband, son and I recreated the world from the template of the old.”

“By the old gods!” Arya whispered.

Dany whispered “Who woke the worm?”

“You know the answer to that question Daenerys Targaryen. I did.”

There was shocked silence.

“Much was lost but much has been regained. Some of it bad and some precious.”

Again the beautiful woman looked off into the distance. She shook her head.

“She Who Must Not Name has returned. We sensed her arrival but sense then she had cloaked her presence. We cannot sense her now. She has hidden herself from our sensibilities. We are mostly helpless against her. But we will give you two weapons that can used in tandem to kill even one such as her.

Dany shook her head “Why do you come to us? This woman seems to have nothing to do with our cause. Has she aligned with the Ice King?”

“No. She could easily destroy him if she so chose. That decision may speak volumes. I feel that for some reason She Who Must Not Be Named has taken a corporal form. Why I do not know. I cannot be sure but my womanly intuition tells me I am correct. This limits her but it does not matter. Even with a Croyel on his back her might outstrips your Ice King. I feel she has come back for some other purpose. I feel it may not be nefarious but I have come to agree with Infelice on this. We simply cannot take the risk.”

“There are always options” Dany told the White Gold Wielder. Arya smiled. Dany was the master of having options.

“This woman, even if she is in her human form, can destroy all life if she chooses. It would take her time travelling the world but she could annihilate all life if she so chose. We feel she has taken her human form again which keeps her from affecting the whole world at once. Why this is we cannot fathom. It weakens her might and control. In her incorporeal form we would have no way to avail ourselves against her. Even if she has not chosen to end life now she might tomorrow. She is like Esmer. I hated to see his death but it was necessary.

Linden put her hands to her stomach and they disappeared into her body. Both Arya and Dany gasped. A pure argent glow lighted in the woman’s core. Mighty magic was buried deep in the woman Arya knew.

Linden pulled her hands back out of her stomach. In her right hand a very large dagger resided. It was beautiful. It was so sharp you could see the edges of the blade. It was brilliant with a white glow that boiled out the opaque gem that was located in its cross-guards.

To Dany it looked like a Royal Seax that clan leaders of the nomadic mountain tribes of Norvos had. The lines of the blade were perfect in every way. Argent flowed out of the blade like the diamonds did from Infelice’s body. It shown like the sun come to Earth. In her left hand hung a set of manacles.

“This is the Krill of Loric Vilesilencer” Linden spoke holding out the large dagger. “It took him over four hundred years to create it. He crafted sheer perfection. Every line and angle of this weapon is perfect. It was with this blade that Loric undid the Viles and Demondem. They are no more. This blade can support any might. With this weapon She Who Must Not Named could have killed the Worm of the World’s End. It can kill her. It will end her sad life and the insanity that fills her soul.”

All the while as Linden Avery spoke, the Krill radiated power like a burning sun. Arya swore she could see the actual sharpness of the blade before her. The blade pulsed with pure white argent magical might. Linden Avery’s body moved as she spoke. The movement of her body made the Krill move with her. The blade seemed to cut the very air with the sharpness of its blade.

“It will end her torment and cease the green glow that suffices her body. I can still see her rising from pit filling the dark demises beneath Mount Thunder with her green glow of hate and insanity.

Arya saw Dany jolt. She recognized the description. Linden was lost in her musing. She had not seen the shock of recognition in Dany. Dany looked at Arya and motioned for her to be quiet and not revel Dany’s insight. Arya trusted Dany completely. Arya looked on with a bland look on her face.

“I am curious Linden. Why green?” Dany asked.

“I do not know. She was merely green is all I can say. It sufficed all when she was upon you. It was intense. Her mere presence produced terror in your being.”

The brilliance of the blade had made Arya and Dany not truly notice the chain with two manacles in her other hand. Linden Avery held the chain in the middle. She now brought up her hand that held the chain to clearly reveal the chain and manacles. “These are the manacles used to shackle and neuter Esmer. They will do the same to She Who Must Not Be Named. The Ur-Viles have refashioned them just for her. One who travels with you will shackle She Who Must Not Be Named with these and then plunge the Krill into her heart and kill her.

Linden walked over to the outside wall of Arya’s room. She brought her right hand back. The Krill’s gem flared and even more argent might radiated out the white gem at the heart of the blade. The whole room was flooded with the pure argent light. Linden’s body leaned back and then her arm arced forward to slam the blade into the wall.

A concussive force boomed in the room with a blinding flash of pure white light flared out the gem of the Krill. Arya and Dany were blinded.

When their vision had cleared they saw that Linden had rammed the blade into the wall burying all twenty inches of the blade in the dark granite. The cross-guards touched the stone wall.

The gem in the cross-guard no longer glowed but was inert and dull. The gem lifeless. The edges that could have cut through mountains were now dull and inert as well. The blade had looked beautiful and immaculate now appeared dead and of no value.

Arya and Dany stared slacked jawed at the now dead blade and the manacles that hung over the cross-guard.

“We do not who will garrote She Who Must Not Be Named but we sense this person is part of your retinue. They will be able to use these weapons to accomplish her demise. They will save the Earth from the blight of She Who Must Not Be Named. We have studied your companions but see no else with great magical might. Nor does anyone else possess the White Gold.”

“You mean the ring on your finger?” Dany asked.

Linden Avery smiled with a soft almost resigned smile. “No. That is merely the manifestation of the White Gold.”

“Then what is white gold?” Dany asked again.

“I am the white gold” Linden answered them quietly. Dany and Arya shut up after that with their questions. This woman was pure magic!

“Again, I ask do you know who this hidden person might be?” then Linden’s head jerked down at the floor to Arya’s room. Arya knew why. She heard the chimes coming back.

Dany caught Arya’s attention while Linden’s attention was drawn elsewhere. She used the opportunity to tell Arya again with her eyes to guard her features. Arya had begun to suspect herself who the hidden person was.

The floor began to bubble and ripple and diamonds erupted up in a multitude of constellations. The stars flashing around in Arya’s room. The stars swirling slowly before fading away. Infelice came up through the floor holding Kiserri still flapping her arms.

“I’m a butterfly mother!” Kiserri chirped. She stopped flapping her arms and held them down to Dany. Infelice smiled down at the small Dothraki child. Dany quickly walked over and took her child back from Infelice. The woman stared after the child with an inscrutable look on her face.

Linden gathered up the Elohim. Infelice quickly put her haughty face back on her features.

“Don’t think I don’t know who you were talking about to the Dragonthane and her wife Linden Avery. She Who Must Not Be Named. She must be killed. She threatens us!”
“And the world?”

The Elohim paused with a look of confusion on her face and then angry righteousness “We are the World!”

Linden sighed “We still need to work on that ego thing Infelice. It is time to leave.”

“Wait!” Infelice called out in an imperious voice.

She walked over to Dany who looked up at the towering woman. Infelice looked around furtively and quickly bent down and kissed Kiserri on the forehead.

Kiserri beamed.

“You humans are way too emotional” Infelice announced haughtily and rejoined Linden Avery in the middle of the room. Linden Avery rolled her eyes. “Fortunately, I am above such mundane things.”

An explosion of argent light and diamonds filled the room. When it cleared, Infelice Queen of the Elohim and Linden Avery white gold wielder were gone.

Arya turned to Dany “You recognize who this She Who Must Not Be Named is don’t you.”

“Yes” Dany said softly. The note in her voice was sad. “I have not seen her but Missandei has a silent benefactor who gave us the traitorous correspondence of House Bolton and Frey. I have told you of her of course. When Missandei could not figure out the code this woman gave her what she needs. All Missandei can really tell me about this woman is the fact she is sure she had green glowing eyes.”

“What? That is it? That could be anyone Dany. She might be imagining it all. Green eyes and a green glow that fills the world. I don’t see the connection Dany.”

“This is the person that Missandei has been interacting with. I trust me instincts. They led me to you.”

Arya felt a warm glow come over her. “Why would this woman help us if she is so evil?”

“The answer is evident.”

Arya sighed. Her Dany could be cryptic. “Can you enlightenment me then, please?”

“She is not evil. She would not help us if she was evil. She would not keep coming to Missandei if she was evil. Missandei is the very portrait of goodness and what is right in the world. This She Who Must Not Be Named is drawn to her. That can only mean she is good.”

“Dany … maybe she is trying to be good but in the end will not be able to turn from her true nature. You saw how powerful those two women are. This She Who Must Not Be Named makes them nearly shake with fear. We are dealing with forces beyond our kin.”

“What will we do? What are you going to tell Missandei.”

She saw Dany face harden slightly and her back straighten. In her royal voice “We will do nothing. We will not say a word of this to Missandei. We will let Missandei follow her heart. I can feel it. She will choose wisely. She will tame the “beast”. This woman of green is enamored with Missandei. Missandei in turn is sure this woman is her mate. I trust Andi and so should you. I will trust her heart to discern the truth. I feel this Linden Avery and Infelice are letting the past cloud the present and the possible future.”

Arya thought for a moment. She knew she loved Dany with all her heart. If this “She Who Must Not Be Named” loved Missandei like she loved Dany then they had nothing to worry over. Missandei’s pure heart would win over this supposed monstrosity.

That was if this goddess come to down to Earth could truly love as a flesh and blood woman could love another woman. Arya knew she had not the strength to contend with this force. Maybe in this case it was the gentle touch of the timid lamb that would win the day.

She went to the Krill buried deep in the wall. It was dead. The gem inert and the blade that had once been so sharp it could cut anything on this Earth was dull. She gripped the blade. She jerked with all her might. It did not move in the slightest. Yes this was beyond her kin and abilities.

Dany came to her. They smiled at each other.

“I like it here. I like my new mommy” Kiserri told Dany.

Arya shook her head. She still could understand Dothraki. This filled Arya’s heart with happiness.

Dany put Kiserri down on the floor and the child ran around the room giggling. She went to Arya’s desk and climbed up on the chair and moved around the clothes and parchments on the desktop.

“You have a messy desk mommy” Kiserri told her new mommy.

Dany and Arya laughed at their daughter’s antics. They discussed for a few minutes the events of the last ten minutes. Arya agreed to follow her Queen’s lead. She was the Queen after all. They called Kiserri to them and she scampered off the chair and came over between them. The little girl held her hands up and her two mothers took a hand squeezing it. Kiserri beamed up at her two mothers with a perfect toothy smile.

They left Arya’s room. They walked for a ways before their child withdrew her hands now feeling loved and secure.

Kiserri looked up at her mothers rubbing her tummy. “I’m hungry! Can I have something to eat mommy?” she asked Dany and then looking at Arya hopefully. Arya felt her heart pitter-patter seeing Kiserri asking her too after saying ‘mommy’.

“That is a splendid idea!” Arya replied and Kiserri skipped down the hall.

They walked down the halls heading toward the kitchen. They came to the tapestry that showed Torrhen Stark kneeling to Aegon in surrender. Kiserri ooed and awed at the dragons and how real it looked. The Dothraki girl getting up to the tapestry to look at it up close. Arya started feeling Dany slip her hand on her trousers and cup her ass cheek and massaged it.

“Does it bother you that my family subjected yours Arya?” Dany asked unsure.

Arya leaned into Dany. Arya reached back with her hand and put it into her pants and put her hand on Dany’s hand possessively cupping her ass cheek and slowly pulled it around her hip and cupped her Queen’s hand on her now dripping wet snatch. “Do you feel that Dany?” she asked looking hotly at Dany.

Kiserri was busy checking out the “cool” tapestry before her looking at all the details. She did not notice her mommies behind her being intimate and naughty.
Dany whimpered.

Arya smiled at the Queen. “Only if my great grandsire knelt to Aegon would you be here now Dany” Arya rubbed her woman’s hand on her swollen slick cunt. “If he had fought Aegon, your forefather would have killed him. I would not be here now. Only that matters to me.” She pulled Dany’s hand out her pants and slowly licked her shiny juices off Dany’s palm and fingers while chuckling seeing Dany’s eyes dark with desire.

Arya finished cleaning her juices off Dany’s hand. Kiserri turned around. “I’m hungry!” The two women looked guilty almost being caught in their sexual play. They then chuckled getting away with their indiscretion.

They went down the hall with Dany pressed into Arya’s side. They would have to figure out Kiserri’s sleeping arrangement. Arya was thinking of the other young children Kiserri could play with and give them alone time. There was a spare room next to hers that would be her daughter’s bedroom when they were at Winterfell. They separated to let Kiserri walk between them. The little Dothraki girl feeling secure being between her two mommies.

Down the hall they saw Eddard Stark walking towards them. His eyes registered the little girl walking with an impudent strut between her mothers. The little girl reaching up to touch her mommies legs for reassurance seeing the big man walking towards them.

He stopped still ten feet away to not unsettle the little girl more. He knelt down to one knee smiling. “And who is this pretty little girl with my daughter and her wife to be.”

Arya saw Dany’s eyes flash with happiness at her father’s words. It made Arya feel good inside seeing Dany anxious to be a part of her family. Dany had no real family beyond her close friends.

“This is Kiserri” Dany told Eddard “I had thought her dead near seven years past but she has been restored to me.”

Arya watched her father process the information. He asked no question.

“Kiserri is it. You are a fierce Dothraki I see by your garb.” Eddard looked over the precocious little girl. “You are armed with a most dangerous dagger. Can I see?”

Dany translated for Kiserri. The small girl looking unsure still.

“I would be humbled.” Dany spoke still translating. Arya watched her father drop to knee and partially bowed his head to Kiserri. The action by Arya’s father filled the little girl with a new confidence.

Kiserri thought about it nodding to herself and slowly pulled her fake dagger out from behind her belt and shyly went forward and handed it to Eddard.

He made a show of turning it in his hands marveling at the blade. He ran his thumb along the edge and winced and jerked his thumb and then sucked on it. Arya chuckled seeing Kiserri’s pride swell at the show that her father was willing to put on for the little girl.

“You are a most fierce Bloodrider I can tell Kiserri. Will you allow me to be near your mommies?”

Dany translated and the little girl’s chest puffed out.

“I am indeed fierce and will protect my mommies.” She paused. “I like you. You are nice.” She held up her hands.

Eddard, laughing picked up the little girl and placed her on his shoulders and handed up to the dark skinned Dothraki girl her ceremonial dagger. She proudly put it away behind her belt and ran her fingers into Eddard’s hair and held on.

Eddard smiled and softly chuckled and patted the girl on her leg. Kiserri beamed.

“Let’s go introduce my new granddaughter to everyone.”

Arya watched Dany’s heart melt more for the kind man that was her father. Arya’s own smile beamed. She was indeed a lucky woman.

Back in Arya’ room all was as it was when they left.

In the middle of the room a green dot bloomed in the air and quickly grew into a windless cyclone of wildly spinning green gyres of unspeakable power and dire force. The gyre was boundless and yet was as thin as follicle of hair. Black and green bands forming deep in the depths of the anomaly. The bands rotating out counter clockwise. For five seconds the bands radiated out from nowhere. Then the dark singularity at the heart of the gyre flared.

She Who Must Not Be Named stepped out of the cyclone and looked around as the singularity disappeared.

She spied the inert Krill and the manacles. She would destroy these talismans that threatened her existence. Her fury raged and seethed within her but she somehow controlled it. It did not matter to her that the Krill had been fashioned into sheer perfection. She sneered at it. The mere withdrawal of Wild Magic had rendered it inert. She spied the manacles. The Ur-viles had fashioned it for the half-breed Esmer. He was a mote compared to her might. She contemplated making the Ur-viles pay for this affront to her august might. For those Demondim spawn to even think they could thwart her will offended She Who Must Not Be Named.

She contemplated again visiting Linden Avery and this time finishing what she had started. She had long ago learned to hate the Elohim for not freeing her from the pit. They had known of her plight and yet chose to not come to her aid. She had tried to forgive them and was on the road to this but his development was kindling her ancient rage.

She stepped up to the Krill buried in the wall. She felt its perfection even in this listless state. The manacles were created by the Ur-viles. Her magic far outstripped theirs. She reached out and gripped the handle of the Krill. No force in this world could withstand her power. No construct could thwart her will.

She pulled back and her angled eyebrows flexed up. The blade had not move. This is not possible!

Her eyes narrowed at this. This was impossible. Her hand adjusted its grip on the Krill to pull harder. Nothing could resist her might. She jerked again hard. Her body jerked forward when the blade did not move. She Who Must Not Be Named paused at this development. She looked within herself. She was hale and whole. This Krill was more than she had first assumed. It did not matter. Was she not supreme in her might?

The Krill had her focus now. She again adjusted her grip on the blade to exert maximum effort. She jerked with a small force of her full might. Again her body jerked forward. The blade had not moved a fraction of a millimeter. Now anger began to rage in her soul. She started to jerk wildly on the blade. Each jerk she exerted more and more force. Soon a green aura was radiating out her of form as the ancient Quaylar asserted her full might. She jerked back with strength to shatter the very castle walls of Winterfell and all within miles. Still she had no effect on the Krill. It did move in the slightest. The dull inert blade buried deep still into the stone wall.

The goddess paused in her efforts. She stormed to herself that this was impossible. She could break the wall to dust but that would defeat her purpose. She would best this blade yet! She would show her supremacy over this mere construct of man. She took a deep breath she did not need and adjusted her grip on the handle to again exert her full might. Her knuckle brushed the chain that held the two manacles.

“Aaaaarrrrruuunnggggggggg!” She Who Must Not Be Named screamed in agony. Her body jerked violently. Her teeth clenched tight and her green eyes pulsed out pure green magical might in one heartbeat and the next her green eyes flared and went black.

She collapsed to the ground. Her body jerked and spasmed in searing pain. Her strength had fled but even now was returning. She slowly levered herself back to her feet.

Her strength had returned. One brief momentary touch had robbed her of all her strength and magic. No not robbed. Suppressed beyond her reach. It would appear the Ur-viles Wurd had in some say surpassed her. They had rendered her magic inert. This was impossible of course and yet she could not deny what had just occurred. The magic and might of the Ur-viles had garroted her power.

This was most unsettling. She would contemplate on this.

In a flash of green light she was gone.

Missandei

Missandei was busy looking over the troop movement schedules and cross referencing the movement of supplies moving up the King’s Highway. Eddard was supplying as much as possible the troop movements moving to the west from the beachheads. These troops were moving their own supplies but Eddard supplying aid to them was increasing their troop speed several miles a day which provided slack time in Missandei’s schedules.

She was in her elements working numbers and making equations to solve various logistical problems. It made her feel useful. Her weapon was her intelligence and not the strength in her arm or how much weight she could carry on her back.

The scribe was scribbling a note in the margin when she felt it. She suddenly sat up her eyes wide. She had felt her! She had felt her love and she was in pain. Pain that was agonizing and tore at the core of her longed for lover. The small interpreter could almost feel the searing agony her lover was feeling. Missandei jumped out of her chair and wrung her hands. She had felt a bolt of pain and shock run through her to the very core of her being. She had felt panic in her lover.

Missandei had grown accustomed to thinking of her shadow lover as being invulnerable. When her shadow lover had revealed her past she had made sure to not show Missandei her true form. But what she had let Missandei feel if not see was her might. Missandei’s sought after lover had the power of a true goddess. She had seemed invulnerable to all but the most powerful of beings. She now knew better. For just a moment, Missandei had seen a strange looking long dagger in a wall with manacles draped over it. The sight was strange but Missandei knew those two things had caused her erstwhile and hoped for lover severe agonizing pain and anguish.
It thrilled Missandei in a way she felt a little guilty over. The pain she had felt through her connection to her love was intense but it showed that they had formed a connection. A connection that had allowed the small scribe to feel what her love had felt in her moment of need. That connection, that feeling of oneness, had to mean something. Didn’t it?

The feeling was now fading and then gone. Missandei cursed herself. What had seem sure and solid was now turning to ethereal mist. Had that flash of intensity even been real? The connection had come and disappeared in less than a fleeting minute. Now she felt forlorn and bereft. She felt like a little hormonal teenage girl feeling like this. She was wringing her hands in distress. She looked at her papers and sat back down and picked up her quill. She picked up the sheet she was working on and put in the numbers into her equation. She started to put the tip of the quill in her lips and run her mouth up the quill. The repetitive motion and sensations calmed her.

With her mind calmed Missandei felt her body reacting to her mental touch with her ‘shadow lover’ she now called her erstwhile longed for lover. She had much rather be soothing herself sucking her green eyed lover off and having to hang onto her lover’s hips for dear life. Missandei longed to feel her woman grinding her cunt up into her hot sucking mouth. She longed to feel the wet heat of her woman engulfing her mouth. Her woman would be screaming in the agony of shocking bliss and would buck wildly filling Missandei’s mouth with hot gushes of sweet cum!

The daydream both soothed and riled the small interpreter. Thinking of making love to her shadow lover caused a feeling of connection in Missandei. It also made her wet for her love. This waiting was really plucking her last nerve!

Her shadow lover may be a goddess capable of great deeds of strength but she would be the sweetest of lovers in Missandei’s bed. Her strength not too great for her slight human lover. The small scribe knew in her heart that her sweet lover would make love to Missandei on a human level that would rock both of their souls. They would be perfect together. Missandei just knew it.

Missandei sighed. She looked behind her at her bed that was again in pristine condition. That had not been the case a short while ago. It had been a total wreck. The sheets twisted. The covers half twisted off the bed with most of the pillows strewn on the floor. She had masturbated wildly last night and again this morning before the chambermaid had changed her linens with a smirk. Soon, the ache of her need for her shadow lover rose up in Missandei’s belly. Just thinking of her had her pussy spasming in want and need.

An ache that she had to answer. Missandei thought of all the wasted motion of again taking off the clothes she had recently put on. The small black teenager smirked at herself stripping naked yet again so she could masturbate. Her pussy quivering in wet need. She did take the time to put them over the back of her chair to keep the wrinkles out this time though she thought with a smirk. She flopped back on her bed as she spread her legs out wide. She was soon fucking her pussy wildly only making sure to keep her virtue intact for her shadow lover. Her fingers only exploring in her sodden fuck hole to her hymen. No further! That was for her shadow lover.

Missandei’s fingers had long ago learned how to pluck her own body like a viola da gamba from the orchestras of Essos. Her body quivering and bowing taunt as she pleased her fevered flesh. Fingers working her flowing twat and plucking her aching nipples. A hand throttling her tits hard as she worked her pussy to ecstasy.

After four more soul crushing orgasms and screams filling the room Missandei felt the fire banked in her couchie. Her pussy purring like Shadowclaw. Somehow the chambermaid had realized her services were required again. She had appeared at Missandei’s door knocking discreetly. The room was still thick with the musk of Missandei’s repeated Jilling off to gut wrenching, womb rending masturbatory orgasms.

Still sweaty from her recent orgasms Missandei had shouted for the girl to wait. Missandei hurried around her room hopping on one foot getting her attire back on. She needed to look like an official of the Queen. She opened the door acting like all was normal. The chambermaid made a show of looking at the again wrecked bed. She smirked at Missandei cocking and eyebrow. The young lass then made a show of breathing in deeply. Missandie’s cunt musk so thick in the room you needed a knife to cut it.

The chambermaid turned and made hot eye contact with the interpreter licking her lips. Missandei could see the young woman’s dilated eyes throbbing with carnal desires. Flustered, Missandei fluttered around her room pretending to straighten up her papers, knickknacks and acting important. The chambermaid was trying to corner her! The lass was quite comely. Fortunately, Missandei had gotten some recent information correlated for her Queen. Information that Missandei decided had to be delivered to her Queen. Now!

The chambermaid started to speak to Missandei and reached out for the scribe but Missandei bleated out she had to perform her royal official much necessary duties for their Queen and bolted out the room. The woman had definitely a predatory look in her eye. Missandei had felt like a mouse before a starving cat.

The small black teenager rushed to Dany’s chambers. Dany had not been in her chambers this afternoon. This was not surprising since the Queen had many duties. She left the notes for Queen. Missandei decided to roam the hallways to make sure the chambermaid was finished with her duties in Missandei’s chambers. Gods it was embarrassing being caught jerking off like that. Her pussy musk flooded in the room. The chambermaid knew exactly what Missandei had been doing.

For the next half hour Missandei looked at paintings, wall tapestries and coats of armor. History and antiquities always fascinated the interpreter. They were like windows into times past. She loved analyzing such things. Her Caracal came prancing down the hall looking self-satisfied. The cat spending time with the Direwolves. The wolves seemed to have accepted Shadowclaw as a pup. The Direwolves protecting the cat and letting her sleep on them. Shadowclaw now rubbed against her master’s leg.

They walked down the corridors back to Missandei’s room. Shadowclaw yawning as she walked by her master’s side. Missandei always found it funny the shapes her cat made when yawning. The way her face twisted and her teeth were bared. Clearly the cat was looking to take a nap in her mistress’s room. When she arrived back at her quarters there was a basket by the door with her freshly cleaned and pressed clothes. The woman had finished thankfully. Missandei opened her door and froze in shock.

She knew her chambermaid had a name but Missandei had tried not to learn her name though she did that as a rule. It personalized a stranger and made them more accessible. Missandei did not want accessibility with this pretty young woman. Yes, she had learned the woman’s name despite her best efforts but she dare not use it. She had seen the fuck hunger in the beautiful twenty year olds eyes. The woman wanted to bed Missandei.

That had been obvious with her open perusal of Missandei’s charms and brushing by the small black woman when she was in her chambers beginning to straighten and clean the scribe’s room. Every morning the bed was a wreck and the smell of pussy thick in the air. No wonder the woman eyed Missandei with longing. It was obvious that Missandei was a hussy with a fire in her pussy. A fire the small black woman from Naath had given top priority to putting out every night and again usually at the crack of dawn.
Missandei was sure she had the strongest wrists and fingers known to mankind with all her Jilling off.

With the opening of her door Missandei had made a startling discovery. Missandei’s chambermaid had decided to forgo innuendo and safely crouched offer of a dalliance for a full on knight’s charge into the fray.

“What are you doing Klissa!” Missandei exclaimed. As Missandei stared at her chambermaid, Shadowclaw sauntered into the room meowing regally her walk a strut of possession of the room. The beautiful dark haired brunette with high C cup breast stood naked before the small scribe. Her feet spread showing off her mound that looked freshly shorn of hair. The woman’s nipples were rock hard and her pussy was swollen and slicked with glistening cum. Her maid uniform lay on the floor discarded. Klissa Skipperth stood proud before the small black teenager. Klissa was only five foot five three inches tall but she was so much taller than Missandei’s four foot almost eleven inches.

The chambermaid walked up to Missandei with fire in her eyes. She brushed Missandei’s cheek with gentle strokes. She looked upon the scribe with clear longing in her eyes.

“I see you are in need my sweet scribe. I love your black skin; it is so alluring and soft. I would sleep with you. I will show you my Sapphic talents my beautiful woman. I have been fucking the other maids and cooks since I was fourteen years of age. You will find I am very skilled Missandei. I have learned from every woman I have lain with. I can make you scream if you let me my sweet scribe. I have seen the way you look at women Missandei. You look at the women around like I do. With desire. With longing.” The teenager saw the raw pulsing need in Klissa’s eyes.

She dropped to her knees and started to lift Missandei’s dress.

“No!” Missandei stepped back.

The comely lass looked extremely hurt. Missandei felt immediate guilt. She had no desire to hurt this woman. “I am saving myself for someone! She is the love of my life. I want her to be the first.”

“Is she here?”

“No. Not at the moment.”

“Should she not be here with you? Why is she not here to love you Missandei? To fuck you?” Klissa asked in a sultry voice. Her body moving closer to Missandei’s again.

Missandei edged back from Klissa whose eyes pulsed with a predatory gleam. She knew the woman wanted only to love Missandei and give her great pleasure. Missandei looked around flustered again. Her pussy ached with need. Her chambermaid saw the conflicted desires in the teenager.

“Then let me love you. I will leave your maidenhead intact for her if that is your desire. You can give that to the woman who is not here for you. I will suck you off so good Missandei. Again and again. You can learn how to pleasure her by pleasing me. I cum hard, fast and easy. My pussy can take a licking and keep on purring. You can practice your skills on me. My cunt aches for you Missandei. You see how wet and swollen my cunny is. You smell my sweet cunt thick in the room.”

Klissa was right. Her pussy was so beautiful all wet and swollen her labia lips all bloomed out her slit medium brown and soaked in sweet cum. Her cunt musk intoxicating. Missandei should have been tempted but she was not. She wanted and needed for her green eyed lover to be the first. She needed to show her erstwhile lover that Missandei accepted the past she had shown Missandei. Her love’s past did not matter one wit to the interpreter. Her love was no longer that woman. It only mattered to Missandei that she knew she was good now.

Her soon to be lover would never ever do what she had done in the past. This Missandei knew to the core of her being. With her love Missandei knew she would soothe her goddess. She understood instinctively that this woman was a goddess. She was not afraid. She would love her wife to be and bring happiness to her distressed physic.

Missandei’s resolve stiffened. The woman before her was beautiful. It did not matter the woman’s body was lovely to look upon. Missandei meet the dark brown gaze. “I am humbled by your offer.
If I was not already in love I would happily lie with you.”

The girl looked at Missandei. At first her visage was stiff and filled with consternation. Then a soft smile came upon Klissa’s face. “I can’t stand against such a declaration. I have sensed your frustration. If your woman continues to not come to you I will be here. I find you beautiful physically and I know that I would love you spiritually too. You are beautiful on both the outside and the inside.”

Missandei watched the woman quietly pick her dress up from the floor and slowly but the dress back on. Klissa left giving Missandei a soft smile and smoking eye contact.

Missandei had felt strong while making her declaration of selfless love. She looked around. She knew that her lover could pass through mountains if she chose. She did not come to Missandei now. Missandei had proven again her love to her distant longed for lover. Missandei looked around her room and still no secret lover appeared. The scribe sighed. She knew of her love’s past. That past left her woman conflicted. Missandei understood this but she was still frustrated. She knew she had to be strong waiting for her lover.

Missandei took a deep breath. She would keep strong. She would prove her love to her hidden lover.

Klissa offering her sweet body to Missandei had the scribe’s juices once again flowing. It did not matter she had masturbated to a frenzy of orgasms little more than an hour ago. Missandei felt the pressure building up like a volcano about to blow. Her nipples once more throbbed with need and her pussy pulsed. Her womanhood again slicked with sweet slimy snail snot leaking out her pulsing cunt.

Missandei closed her eyes and saw her lover. Though she had never “seen” her Missandnei was getting more and more a picture of her lover. She was not fully human. Her hair and eyes were vibrant green. She was sure her ears were pointed and her eyebrow angled up to her hairline like the fairies of legend. Was she a fairy?

She doubted it. She had the power of a god in her small frame. There was the other thing Missandei was now very sure of. She was taller than her woman! She knew she was several inches taller. For some reason that really, really turned her on. She felt her lover had the look of a small girl about her. She was small and petite. Missandei had a full bosom but her lover did not. That made her drool!

In fact the teenager from Naath was sure her lover had a body like onto a child. She knew her longed for love was countless thousands of years old. Despite that age she would to all appearances still be a child. That did not bother Missandei. She would love the woman as she was. The more Missandei thought of her small lover the more her slight childlike body excited the small scribe.

Her love was flat chested. Missandei was sure of it. I did not matter. She would suck so hard on her lover’s nipples she would pull the skin up off her lover’s ribcage. She would suck her little nips down her throat. Her lover’s slender body would buck and jackknife violently from Missandei’s loving ministrations. Missandei was now certain also that her lover had no body hair below her head. Her pussy would be bald and her anus shorn of any hair. Missandei liked that. As per her people’s customs she shaved all her hair off her pussy and around her anus. Her underarms and legs kept baby smooth.

Missandei smiled to herself. Her love’s pussy would be so baby smooth and supple as she devoured it. Her wet couchie engulfing the scribe’s mouth as she sucked off her sweetie again and again had Missandei near panting in want of carnal pleasures. Such thoughts had the interpreter in a wet lather now. Her short clothes sopping wet.

Missandei quickly stripped. Her dress thrown haphazardly over the back of the chair before her work desk. Her wet silk cloth she removed and shoved into her face. Missandei moaned hard smelling her own cunt. Missandei breathed in deep and moaned intoxicated by the smell her own festering pussy. The wet fabric soothing on her skin. She sucked in the silk fabric and chewed on it savoring the sweet taste of her own snatch. Missandei felt her skin flushed and her pussy drooling cum down her thighs.

Missandei was a hedonistic slut she knew. She ran her hands up and down her sleek black gleaming skin luxuriating in the feel of her silky skin beneath her roaming hands. Her hands tracing her flat belly and over her ribs making her gasp. Then her hands worked up over her bosom stroking and rolling her full rounded globes that had her breathing rising and hitching. Then Missandei stroked her face all over and finally ran her fingers through her ringlets. Her cunt was sopping wet now. Her nipples diamond hard and aching to be plucked and rolled.

Missandei ripped the covers off onto the bed and flopped down on her back. The small teenager smiled wiggling around on the cool sheets. The fabric felt good on her body. Black fingers came up to roll and massage Missandei’s full tits and pluck her rigid throbbing long black nipples. She pulled on her nipples tenting her areolas making her belly clench as the breath hissed through her teeth.

Slowly, the small black woman spread her legs wide. She rolled her tits pulping her heavy globes with her long black fingers. Her fingers moving up and down to roll her firm tits in her clenching fingers that throttled her firm mounds. Her fingers then moving up to pinch her nipples jerking on them gagging the small black teenager with sweet pulses of pleasure that travelled north to her mind shocking her and south to her clit making it spasm in want and need.

Slowly the scribes nimble fingers snaked down her palpating belly that was already beginning to film with perspiration. Missandei stroked her belly and pressed down on her lower belly. This was a bigtime erogenous zone to the black teenager. The pressure on her woman had her pussy rotating up her ass cheeks clenching to lift her hips off the bed. Her womb spasming deep in her belly. Sweat now filmed the scribe’s body with rising droplets of sweat. The warm room heated by the hot water running through the walls.

The small interpreter now breathing in ragged breaths. Her cunt so wet and distended aching to be fucked.

Her head lulled over her face slashed with pleasure her fingers moving onto her mound and moving up and down her drooling slit. Her fingers rubbed up and down her slit and flicked her clit. Her lubricated fingers sliding easily up and down her drooling clamshell. The long fingers rolling and stretching her labia lips and swirling around her fuck hole teasing her virginal hole. Up and down Missandei’s fingers travelled pleasuring her wet pussy stroking and rolling her labia lips and pinching them to squeeze and roll. The pressure and friction had the scribe’s face contorting with narcissistic
She then had both hands stroking her kitty her fingers blurring and jamming into her clit. Her hands had started slow but quickly moved into a blur pleasuring her rigid clit all shiny jutting out its sheath. The exposed sheath all pink and glistening wet. Her pussy made sweet wet sloshing noises as she juices flowed and slavered her mound her opaque fuck juice gleaming on her mound, groin and inner thighs as her twat leaked sweet slimy snail snot.

"Unnhhh ... ohnnnn!" Missandei gurgle moaned her hips jerking up into her swiping cum slicked fingers. Her belly clenched hard. Her neck jerked up off the bed in reflexive spasms from her pussy seizing up in ecstasy. She forked her clit and squeezed in on her clit squirting it up more fully out its sheath. Her other hand rubbing back and forth whiplashing her rigid clit. Each battering stroke of her blurred fingers filling her clit with shocking ecstasy.

Her face slashed with pleasure her body jerking and spasming in rising fucking bliss. Missandei moaned "Yes! Ungghhh! Gods ... yes, shititttt fuck that feelss so fucking goodddd! Ungghhh” the scribe whinnied her heels now kicking the bed in helpless pleasure. Her belly clenched with raw spasms of pure fucking pleasure. Her head jerked up off the bed her face slashed with gut wrenching bliss. The tendons in her neck rigid with her head pumping up off the mattress. Her throat warbled her caws of ecstasy her face twisted and slashed as the spasms ripped through her groin and flooded her veins with ecstasy.

Her legs spread out slightly more and she planted her feet on the bed. She pressed them into the mattress and pushed her groin up high into the air. Her legs straining and her ass cheeks dimpling with her lifting of her cunt up high into the air as an offering to her sweet lover. Missandei’s heavy rounded tits sloshed back on her chest to rest on her upper chest by her throat. Her gyrations of striving had her heavy full tits wallowing around on her chest near her throat. The interpreter loved the feel of her tits sliding down on her chest. Her tits heaving around as she humped her groin up into the air.

The black teenager jammed her right hand fingers into the base of her clit pressing in hard. This had two effects. First it put pressure on her bud that was excoriating the blood engorged nubbin. The pressing fingers filled her cliti with shocking tension. Second it pushed her clit out its sheath fully exposing the sweet nubbin all wet and shiny. Her left hand whipped her cum slicked fingers back and forth over her throbbing clit in a blur of striving.

The shocks and friction on her clit had Missandei jerking her hips with her legs lowering and then heaving up to throw her quim high in the air as her fingers worked her clit furiously. Her wet snatch made slobbery noises as her fingers jerked over her throbbing clit. Her fingers working her pussy contorted and jacked her pussy so it made wet squishy obscene noises. Her face locked up in a rictus of striving her eyes squeezed shut in need her teeth gritted as her ass trembled holding her pussy high in the air. Her cunt flowing heavily and her whipsawing fingers had her cum splattering in all directions her sodden quim squishy and sloshy loudly in a wet song of primal want and need.

Then the ‘shock’ hit Missandei as her womb exploded and flew apart deep in Missandei’s belly scalding her with fucking ecstasy. “AAARRUUUNNGGGGG! AAAAAWWWOOGGGGGGGG! Huunngggg huunnggggggg! FFFFUUUCCKKKKKKKK!” the small black sixteen screamed as her hips flexed first lowering her cunt and then throwing up high again and again as shockwaves of feverish ecstasy tore her belly open and ripped her trim inside out. The pleasure so intense it scalded her nearly senseless with bliss.

Again and again the black beauty heaved her cunt up as it continued to shred itself apart with broiling contractions that made her womb claw out her belly. Missandei’s head was stiff on her neck with tendons gone taunt and jutting out her neck. “Uunnggghhhiiiiiieeee! Mmmnnngghhhiiiiiieeee! Nnnnhhhgggiiiiieeee! Oh oh fffffuuuuuuuuuccckkkkkkk! Aaaaawwwwoooggggggggggggggg!” Missandei gave out one last torturous wail of soul crushing bliss seeing in her mind’s eye her lover’s face buried deep in her couchie sucking her off with total focus and pure love.

Her body spent, Missandei crashed back down to the bed her body jolting with the impact. She had a loopy smile on her face. Her pussy was purring and her belly felt so warm and buttery. She felt cum oozing out her happy fuck hole. She wallowed her ass in the wet spot underneath her. She moaned and mewled with the strong aftershocks rippling out her spent womb.

For a minute she luxuriated in her orgasm and the sweet lassitude it always brought. She smiled at her sluttiness. Already she felt her belly aching and her clit throbbing again. She was an insatiable slut. She worried that her lover might not be, but, then smiled. She was a goddess. Of course she would be an insatiable slut as well. They would be perfect for each other. Her mouth watered at the thoughts of sucking her green eyed lover off again and again each and every night and having her suck Missandei off in return in gluttonous glee.

From the floor, Shadowclaw had witnessed her mistress pleasure herself yet again. She found the displays mildly interesting as she resumed chewing on her rawhide toy.

Missandei’s hands that had been lying on the bed now lifted up and snaked back to her sweat soaked belly and cum slavered groin. Her fingers loved the greasy slimy feel of her copious discharge of hot fuck juice that had soaked her groin and ass in cum. Missandei lifted her tired neck to see her cunny and groin soaked in creamy white slimy cum. She started to rub her fingers up and down her slime soaked slit reveling in feeling her distended labia lips all soaked in love drool.

Her head thudded down onto the bed. She was a lesbian slut and loved the idea of it. Soaked in her cum and soon her lover’s cum. Missandei lifted her head again and smiled at her groin. It was soaked in both glistening opaque effluent from masturbating and her orgasm had gushed out creamy cum that slavered her again spasming pussy in need of more stroking.

Her fingers again sought out her sweet spots to again take her the heights of ecstasy. She decided to start as she had ended her last great fuck. First though, she soaked her fingers in her cum from the tips to her third knuckles. Only then did she bring her left hand up to slowly pump her cum soaked fingers in and out her pursed lips. With happy moans Missandei sucked her own cum off her fingers. Missandei had been masturbating since she was eight and had always loved the taste of her own cum.

Missandei now circled her clit with her right hand jamming her fingertips into her clitoral hood putting direct pressure on her engorged diamond hard clit again. She loved making herself cum like this. The pressure had her clit jutted out its sheath. The exposed clit was flicked by the jerking left hand of the scribe. Her body rocked with ecstasy. She brought her left hand up and licked her fingers clean of her sweet cum. “Mmnngggg uummmm uummgggg yeeeesssssss! Gods I love the taste of my cunnntttt!” Missandei gurgled. The whole time her face slashed with harsh pulses of fucking bliss.

Then she was rubbing her pussy hard again. She would press in on her vulva squeezing in hard the pressure and friction of her clit and slit exquisite and then back to rubbing her fingers fast over her now throbbing hard aching for release clit. Then she cupped her palm and used it as a fuck pad to press down and mash her vulva and jack hard up and down over her clit. Her hands soaked in her cum let her palm slicked with her lubrication jerk fast up and down her snatch shocking her with hard pulses of gut clenching pleasure.

Shadowclaw grabbed her chew toy and crawled underneath the bed. It was the safest place to be she had discovered. The cave dark and occluded the sounds somewhat of her master’s cries of seeming anguish. The cat gnawed on the rawhide. She felt the bed shake and the mattress above her buck up and down. She was safe. The construction of the bed was strong. It was a nice cave. Many a storm she had sheltered in her safe warm cave.

Missandei’s body was stiffening as she rubbed her clit she had jacked out its sheath. Her left hand blurring as she rubbed furiously up and down over her vulva and shiny nubbin. Her right had been wandering around on her small body rubbing and pressing her sweet spots. Now she slapped it on top of her left hand rubbing her muff to add additional pressure and friction in her spasming pussy. Her juices flowing out in a torrent signaling her body ramping up to nirvana yet again.

The small black teenager felt the first pulses deep in her belly and throbbing out her clit that her orgasm was forming quickly deep in her clenching belly. The pleasure was intensifying and the pulses harsher in her small body. Sweat now pouring off her frame in the room heated by hot water running through the walls. Each harsh rub of Missandei’s palms over and into her clit sent shockwaves of bliss through her small body. The scribe groaned gutturally jerking her hands up and down in a maniacal fast jerking motion. The pressure on her clit torturously exquisite.

Her chuffing became labored. Her legs were spread out in a wide V stiff and juddering. Her face now twisted up in a mask of seeming agony that was really ecstasy. The teenager’s head jerked up off the bed with her striving as hot pulses hammered her clit with ecstasy. Her hips worked in a tight swirl humping up to lift her drooling cunt up into her masturbating cupped palms.

The interpreter’s ass cheeks clenching hard to lift her pussy up to be rubbed hard. Her belly clenching with her swirling hips with the tension hitting her womb hard. She pressed her right hand down as hard as she could into her cupped left hand to torment her clit with extreme pressure and friction. Her clit tormented; the tip jutted out its sheath to be jerked over by cum soaked slicked palm. Her eyes bulged and her body was soaked in sweat now. Her breathing labored with harsh gasps as raw aching pleasure pulsed out her swollen sopping wet cunt.

Her black skin gleamed showing her flushed skin. Her nipples fully painfully erect and throbbing out hot pulses of pleasure that arched straight to her jacked clit. Her tits wallowing and giggling on her chest as her shoulders jerked manically up and down to jerk her cunt off. Her body now spasming all over as her orgasm gathered speed.

Pleasure flooded her body but it was only the harbinger of ecstasy. Her legs began to spasm stiff her heels kicking the mattress. Her head jerked up off the mattress in short sharp jerks. The tendons in black throat jutted out standing in stark relief. Missandei gasping like a fish of water her head jerking right and left up off the mattress. Her face twisted in the agony of bliss. Her eyes rolled into the back of her head and rolled violently in spastic jerks. Her hands a blur as she jacked herself off.

Missandei’s world was all green in her mind’s eye. The pressure built for another ten seconds gripping her womb in a fist. Then that fist squeezed hard and her womb exploded scalding her with soul crushing agonizing ecstasy.

"AAARRUUUNNGGGGG! OOWWGGGGGGGGGG! FFFUUCCKKKKKKKK!" Missandei screamed as her womb ruptured and nearly tore out her belly.

Awwwoiengggghmmnnnggiieee!" Missandei shrieked her hips bucking now, shuddering above the mattress. She coiled her hips and jerked her cunt in the air all the time rubbing her clitty furiously prolonging and intensifying her pleasure. Her feet again pressed into the mattress to lift her groin up into the air high as she snatch tore itself inside out. Her fingers still expertly pleasuring her clit with pressure, friction and hard slippery jerks of her cupped palms. Her heavy tits again rolling back on her chest to rest all titled back jiggling and sloshing around on her upper sweaty chest.
“AAARRUUUNNGGGGG! Uunngg hhnngg oohhhh oh AAWWWOOGGGGGGGG!” Missandei screamed her body flapping and jackknifing as she strove to keep her rupturing cunt up in the air with spastic up jerks of her hips as wild spasms throttled her with shocking bliss. Hot cum flooded out her fuck sleeve and ran down her groin and ass cheeks and started to slaver her ass cleft and soak her clenching starfish. More of her flooding cum now started to flow down the plane of her down titled stomach. The slicked cum making her skin glisten and now creamy tendrils of slimy cum trickled down her flexing hard belly. Her face slashed and contorted with shocking bliss. Slimy cum beginning to drip off her ass and lower back. Her eyes rolled back into her skull and rolled violently in helpless obscene jerks of searing bliss the red capillaries on the whites of her eyes jerking violently with her pummeling spasms of fucking bliss.

Her strength weakened and her body slammed back to the bed. She was still rubbing her clit. Her body flipped up and down violently. “Oh ... gods! Aunnngghmnngghiiie! "Unnhhhhh . . . unnhhhhh ... ooouuuuuauuuunnhhhhhhhhhhhh!” she moaned, twisting, clenching her teeth, hissing, twitching as each wave of shocking bliss passed through her shaking body. She suddenly went limp totally wrung out from her orgasm.

Missandei’s eyes had rolled back down and she gasped her body limp with pleasure. Strong aftershocks rippled through her body. The edge had been taken off. Her right hand came up and roughly massaged her breast clenching and compressing them between fingers and palm. She folded her breast and pumped hard as aching pleasure filled her breast and arched to her already reviving clit.

This had her aftershocks throttling the whimpering small scribe. The hard squeezes of her folded tits hitting her rock hard nipples with exquisite pressure that had searing pulses flooding her veins with searing fuck bliss. Again her eyes rolled back into her skull and rolled in harsh jerks.

Thinking of her green eyed and haired lover always filled the small scribe with insatiable fuck hunger. Her lover may be a goddess but she would fuck her silly Missandei knew. Her erstwhile lover’s little body would be overwhelmed with ecstasy and Missandei would conquer her love’s heart making her Missandei’s forever.

The eye of the hurricane passed and raw aching need again filled the teenager’s body. With her breathing only beginning to calm Missandei shook her head to get the sweat out of her eyes. Her body covered in rivulets of sweat running down her sleek dark black body.

She forked her clitoral hood with her first two fingers and see sawed them up and down pressing in on the sides of her clitoral hood jacking her clit with shocking sweet pleasure. Missandei’s eyes bulged as harsh pleasure flooded out from her groin and filled her body and limbs with raw burning pleasure. Pleasure so intense it hammered her with ecstasy. The pulses already scalding her with burning pleasure that had her gagging. Her fingers soaked in her drooling cum. The slicked fingers pressed in on her clitoral hood and her fingertips rubbing up and down her drooling slit. Missandei thrashed her head as pleasure again soared in her body.

“Oh oh yessssss … godsdammmmmnnnshit! It feels so fuckinggggg good … unngg hhnnggg hhuunggg hhnggg” the little scribe moaned. She was rolling her tits in turn with her right hand. Her palm rasped over her rigid nipples. Her hand clenching her nipples, areolas and breast with pulping clenches of her cupped hand. Her nipples filled with raw aching pleasure that flowed hotly into her veins.

Missandei’s head jammed the mattress as she felt cum soaking her perineum and asshole. She desperately needed her lover! She longed to give her lover all her fuck holes! She wanted to give her green eyed lover her virginities she had read about in the texts from Dorne and Yi Ti. She wanted her lover to bust her cherry and then slam her dick balls deep up her tight virgin ass making Missandei scream in pain that turns to pleasure that nearly makes you pass out it is so intense when your asshole explodes in agonizing bliss. She wanted desperately what she had read about.

She had been squeezing her clit with her forked jerking fingers. Her right hand now hard squeezed her full almost D cup tits back and forth. Her fingers sinking deep into her tits pulping them as her palms rotated grinding over her rock hard nipples and the steeplets of her areolas. Missandei’s eyes squeezed shut. She started to chuff again her body jerking and spasming hard. “Oh gods … Ahhnnn! Oh shit … that feels so fuckiinngg good!” Missandei gagged in helpless pleasure. She moved her left hand and again blurred her fingers rasping her clit jerking it off.

Her body began to shake all over as if she was having a seizure. Her head lifted again off the bed her head rotating on a stiffened neck. Her mouth worked soundlessly as her head twisted and her face slashed as if being garroted. Her right hand gripped her left nipple and jerked the teat tenting her areola with hard jerks. She rubbed harder and faster over her spasming clit feeling her womb quivering on the precipice. Her clit screaming in wild spasms and shrieks of ecstasy. Then she fell off the precipice. Her cunt exploded as hot gushes of slimy creamy cum flooded out her spasming fuck hole soaking her cunt and ass cleft in milky cum. Her jerking left hand soaked in her hot slimy flowing cum. Missandei’s screams filled the room.

"HHHNNNGGGGGGGGG! HHHNNGGRRRRRRRRRR! OOWWWGGGGGGGG! … hhngg unngg hhnggg … Ungehh! Auunnggnggghhhhhhhh! Auunggghinhnieeeeee!" Missandei screamed her cunt tearing itself inside out. Missandei’s body flipped and jackknifed wildly but the focused scribe kept jerking her clit. Her right hand came down from her tit to jack into her clit with her fingertips hitting the base of her clit and jamming in hard. Both hands working furiously to increase and prolong her orgasm.

Her left hand fingers whipsawing back and forth. The cum soaked digits jacked over her own fingers and juddering clit. Missandei body went rigid straining and striving. Spit sprayed out the Naath teenager’s mouth. Her eyes shocked wide open while her hands worked furiously on her clit seeking more hedonistic pleasure greedily.

Her body calmed for a moment and then another orgasm exploded out her cunt overtop the first orgasm. Missandei felt her sloppy wet couchie twist and spasm trying to rip itself apart. Hot gushes of creamy cum poured out her cunt hole. "OOOOOWWWAAGGGGGG! AAAAAWOOOOGGGGGGGG! … Awwonnngggg ... ahngghhiieeee! Mmmnngghhiieeee! Mmmuunngghhiieeee!" Missandei cried out, arching her body, quivering helplessly as one wracking spasm after another shook her small lean body. Missandei continued to cry out, feeling her body shattered by pleasure so intense that she could only clench her teeth and wait for it to pass. "Ohhhnggggeee . . . ahngnggeee!"

Finally, her orgasms passed leaving her body filled with sweet aftershocks and sweet lassitude. She had rested fifteen minutes and then she was jerking off again screaming full throated screams of ecstasy fantasying going down on her lover.

Missandei thrashed her head. She should now be basking in sweet post coital bliss but she was not. Now she was filled with confusion. She felt her mind vacillating between a calm waiting for her lover and then filled with agitation over her lover rejecting her freely offered love. Missandei knew she was being unfair. She sensed the angst and torment of her lover but she had so much love to give. She had seen her lover’s past. It did not matter. That woman was no more. Missandei loved the woman her ghost lover had become. She would show her lover that love also existed in the world. She would make her happy. She just needed to be allowed to love her.

It was extremely frustrating.
She eyed her again wrecked bed. She felt the pressure building up in her swollen puss. No! She would not masturbate yet again. The small scribe hesitated. What would it hurt? No! She would go outside and get some fresh air. Her room smelled thickly of her pussy and it was intoxicating her. Gods she loved the smell of her own pussy. Her fingers twitched to again masturbate. Her pussy was really hungry for more. Missandei wanted more. No! She needed some fresh air to clear her head and sooth her troubled thoughts of her sought after lover. She was so tired of waiting. She wanted her lover!

Missandei got up and put her clothes on. She went out into the hall. She had a good memory of layouts and started down the left hand hall. She had learned her way over the last few days and now she started to pay attention to the items that lined the corridor. She came across a suite of armor. She gravitated to it. The armor and sword were eye catching in their all black motif. She looked at the plaque that was on the pedestal. She whistled.

It was a Braddock Stark’s armor that graced the pedestal. The armor was a dark flat black. It seemed to absorb all light. The helm was adorned with an exotic bird plum that stood up two and half feet. It had a cute curl at the top. The blade itself was all black painted with a black enamel paint. Braddock had had it buffed, polished and then painted again. It did make for an eye catching motif. It was an intimidating look for sure Missandei mused.

But that was not what made her whistle. It was the fact that the armor before her was over twenty-three hundred years old. This armor had existed when Valyria was still a thriving Kingdom and before the Rhoynar had come to Dorne. Missandei was in the presence of history. Winterfell was an edifice of history. Missandei knew all the halls of Winterfell were filled with such edifices. She shivered at the thought.

She went down the hall and on the opposite wall she witnessed a painting of a noble knight, Kierat Stark. He was a third son of Alix Stark. He was much younger in history. The plaque had his time two hundred years before Aegon’s conquest.

Missandei shook her head. So much history. This painting was done two centuries before King’s Landing was even conceived. The Targaryen household had not left Valyria yet.

She snorted at the subject of the painting. She hated the premise of the whole painting. It showed Kierat in a noble pose fighting off two snarling circling Direwolves. He was surrounded by a dark brooding forest. Both the Stark and the wolves showed wounds. The plaque said the brave Stark had killed both wolves. She doubted it. He had probably lied his ass off. He probably had come across the wolves in the Wolfswood. The wolves had snarled at him and he shouted and waved his sword. The wolves moving on. They both had known the likely hood of death or grave injury if they fought. Made for a great story though and an even greater painting.

She had read a book in King’s Landing that had just been written. She had one of the first copies. Wolves and Woodland Ecosystems. It had been written by a young scientist from Myr studying the reintroduction of wolves into the border lands of the Hills of Norvos and the edges of the Forest of Qohor. The wolves had been exterminated from this land from organized hunts about a hundred and seventy years ago. The sheep and goat herders felt the wolves had killed their animals. It had been observed that the valley floors and hillside had lost their tree covers and no brush or brambles existed. No reason could be found for this.

This had caused landslides and the land to become barren. The rivers once full of life were now empty of much of their previous life. Many species that had once been in abundance were no more in that land both in the water and on the land itself. No specific reason could be found as to why the whole eco system seemed to have collapsed.
Then a disaster had struck the Hill tribes of Norvos on its Eastern range. Several Wendigo had appeared and ravaged the local populace. This had occurred fifty years ago. The local populace were decimated and the survivors had fled.

Then twenty-five years ago a savior appeared. A Giant who wore a helm with giant bull horns had appeared. With a war hammer forged of Valyrian steel the man had come to the decimated scattered Hill tribes’ aid that lived on the marge of the hill country. He had killed the Wendigo one by one. He had disappeared into the forest of Qohor after that.

The book Missandei had read spoke of Trophic Cascades. Those occur when predators in a food web suppress the abundance or alter the behavior of their prey, thereby releasing the next lower trophic level from predation (or herbivory if the intermediate trophic level is a herbivore). The humans fleeing of the Eastern hills of Norvos had allowed the wolves to return.

What had been discovered was shocking.

The wolves set to preying on the deer and elk of the highlands and the mountain valleys and hillsides of the eastern forest of Qohor. What was discovered that the killing and harassing of the herbivores had in fact given life to the valleys and hillsides. This was both for animals and the plant life too.

With no hunting of the deer and elk population by predators their population had exploded. The humans did not see them as a threat and only hunted them for food in the fall. The rest of the time the men and women of Norvos focused on farming. No deer and elk were hunted out of season. The wolves hunted their prey all the seasons. The kills were few in number when taken in total but the wolves kept the herbivores on the move. They could no longer overgraze an area and many places in the valleys, gorges and open hillsides they avoided out of fear of the wolves.

Before the wolves return, the elk and deer had reduced the vegetation to nothing almost in many places. Now with their behavior radically changed the vegetation was recovering at a rapid rate. It was found the height of new trees had quintuple in just five years. They were no longer grazed down. New forests of aspen, willow and cottonwood were taking root.

The numbers of birds had increased year by year. Songbirds and migratory birds returned to the land. In the last years the numbers increased greatly. Beavers had returned. Again it had not been understood why they had disappeared. It was the lack of trees. With new trees to eat the beavers had returned. Their ponds creating new dynamic environments for other animals.

Now weasels, muskrats and ducks were back living in the environments that beavers had created. Fish, reptiles and amphibians had returned to these once barren hills and valleys. The wolves killed coyotes that allowed mice and rabbits to rebound. This brought back birds of prey, wolverines, foxes, badgers and small predatory cats.

Ravens, vultures and bear now thrived living on the carrion of the wolves. Now bears had berries to eat off the regenerating shrubs. The bears killed some of the calves of deer and elk and this helped in turn to control their numbers.

The really exciting find was the wolves changed the behavior of the rivers. The rivers meandered less, there was less erosion and the banks narrowed. More pools and switchbacks formed which created new environments for varied wildlife. The rivers had changed in response to the wolves. The regenerating forest had stabilized the banks. The ecosystem was healing itself.

Why?

Wolves.
Missandei had been much taken in by this report. It was so forward looking. Shortly after she had arrived at Winterfell, she had sought out the library of Winterfell the next day.

She had found Eddard in the library. He stood to greet her and smiled at her with a kindly friendly smile. He was polite, a little shy like herself and very mannerly. She thought to herself this was what a real man looked like. More so, this was how a true man should act. Many might strive for it. Most failed. This man lived it. He was strong but restrained. He seemed to radiate goodness.

She had looked at the book he was reading and gasped. It was Wolves and Woodland Ecosystems. She looked stunned at the man. She was even more stunned to find he had already outlawed all hunting of predators throughout the North. He would compensate for the loss of livestock. He was setting up nature reserves huge in acreage.

Missandei knew then this man was a true visionary. She had finally found an equal to Daenerys Targaryen. She smirked to know that soon his daughter would be married to the Queen. She had picked up the vibe that the man would fully support the union.

They had talked for half an hour on the book and what it could portend for the future. Eddard told Missandei he had looked at ancient manuscripts and maps of the North. The Wolfswood while still extensive had had a greater range. He would begin the work to restore the forest to its former range. The North was thinly populated. The two could coexist together.

Eddard spoke of the desire to help the forests of Karhold and Hornwood to expand their territory to their original ranges. They would only need to grow roughly fifteen percent to achieve this increase. The North was vast and could easily accommodate more forest.

Then Eddard spoke of Weirwood trees. Missandei knew little of these trees. Eddard told the scribe how the trees once populated all of Westeros except for the Iron Islands. The trees tended and carved by the Children of the Forest. The trees would live forever if not harmed. A grimace had come over Eddard’s face at that. When Missandei asked why he was in pain Eddard had told her the sad history of the Weirwood’s destruction.

The man wanted to begin their restoration as well but was stymied in how to do this. He had never seen a young sapling of a Weirwood tree. He feared the trees in some way needed the Children of the Forest to propagate. They seemed to be no more. They may exist above the wall but not below. Eddard whispered to Missandei his recent readings led him to believe his House had led in their slaughter at the beginning of the Age of Heroes.

Missandei could see the pain on man’s face and in his voice. He took a deep breath. He knew of no way to make those past sins right. She had left the man sitting back with a thoughtful look on his face.

Her mind back in the present Missandei went down the hall and turned to the right. And stopped. In the hall were Dany and Arya along with Arya’s father and a little girl was on his shoulders. It was a strange sight. The little girl was dressed in Dothraki garb. She was dark like the Dothraki. Most strange indeed. The little girl playing with Eddard’s hair and happily chirping in her native language. Eddard smiling and tickling the girl’s leg making her squeal in happiness.

She walked down the hallway toward the knot of persons who were laughing and smiling. She saw it immediately. Dany was beaming and her feet seemed to be barely touching the floor. Her hand was in the pocket of Arya’s trousers holding her possessively. They were pressed into each other. Dany’s face was beaming and she was almost thrumming with energy.

Missandei smiled. They had finally consummated their love for each other the small scribe could clearly see by Dany and Arya’s body language and direct looks of love for each other. She was happy for them. Arya kept looking at Dany with big eyes full of love and tenderness. She saw a lock of Dany’s snow white hair had fallen forward and Arya had tenderly fingered it and put it behind Dany’s ear. Dany leaned in and kissed the hand of Arya and smiled with a radiant happy smile. Yes indeed they had made love the night before.

It was also clear that Eddard Stark saw all of this. The man saw and could not care less. No. That was not right. He was happy for his daughter and the Queen. The man fully supported their love for each other.

Missandei was happy for her two dear friends but could not stop a flash of jealousy stab trough her. She should also be celebrating life and joy with the love of her goddess come down to Earth. She should be putting a lock of her green hair behind her pointed elven ears. She pouted but controlled herself. She would not let her angst dampen the happiness of the new lovebirds.

She moved to join the happy family unit. She wanted to know who the seeming Dothraki girl was. The little girl was chirping “Itte oakah! Itte oakah!” She looked around happily. Eddard Stark was bouncing the girl on his shoulders making her giggle.

Missandei came up to them and looked up at Eddard “It seems you have a rider on your shoulders Lord Eddard. She is most demanding.”

He squint smiled. “I know but my granddaughter is a fairly harsh task master” Eddard answered with a chuckle.

Granddaughter?

She looked at Dany with a question in her eyes. With a beaming smile Daenerys answered “Kiserri has been given back to me. It seems the Elohim have given me my daughter back. They raised her from the dead unbeknownst to me when they resurrected me from death. I am so happy!” Dany jumped up and down clapping her hands like a little girl. Arya hugged her and Eddard Stark smiled. The little girl beamed knowing instinctively she was the source of all the happiness.

“Anha asshilak jin azh shafkea haji rekoon et shafka” Kiserri made a pronouncement.

Eddard smiled. “Could someone translate please?”

Missandei was stunned at the news but she was a translator.

“Your rider is hungry and she wants to meet her new grandmother” Missandei translated.

She was stunned to actually meet Kiserri. She had heard many times from Dany the stories of her lost daughter and how much she had loved the little girl. Her death had taken a piece of her soul Daenerys would tell her scribe.

Missandei looked again at the precious precocious black haired girl. She was beautiful and her eyes radiated a keen intelligence. Missandei could understand how her Queen had so easily fallen for the girl. Any woman with a good heart would.

“Tell her food is being brought to her grandmother’s quarters and we are heading there now” Eddard replied with a beaming smile. He was obviously enjoying being a grandfather. It did not matter the girl was Dothraki and not of Arya’s body. The girl was with Arya who was with Dany. Thus, this great man easily accepted the girl into his heart. Again Missandei was touched by this man’s true greatness.
“Anha vaddrivak mahrazhis fini ondee shafkea khogar shiqethi ma vohharak okrenegwin mori” Missandei told the happy excited girl. The sweet girl bounced on Eddard’s strong broad shoulders and rubbed her tummy licking her lips.

Eddard laughed glancing up. Dany and Arya beamed. It was clearly obvious that Arya had already taken Kiserri as the daughter of her heart.

“Anha laz rhelak dothrakes vezhvena ha zisoshaan mae” Kiserri laughed out.

“She says she is ready to be fed and see more of her new home.”

Eddard shook his head at the child’s precocious nature. “I wish I could understand her.”

“Mommy mommy I like my new grandfather. He is so nice!”

The room went deathly quiet. Kiserri now spoke Westerosi fluently.

“I’m hungry! Lets go see granma and eat!” she said smiling great big and fingering Eddard’s hair.

They all stared at Kiserri. It would seem her time with Elohim had given her strange powers. The laughed and giggled. The child was sweetness given form. There could be no evil in her.

Eddard shrugged and smiled. “Makes my life a lot easier. I am too old to learn Dothraki!” He accepted Kiserri strange ability and all. Dany and Arya looked at each other and smiled. Their daughter was extra special! Kiserri chirped and thumped her heels lightly on Eddard’s shoulders. The girl looked around and said again her stomach was hungry!

They started to move down the hall. Missandei had met Catelyn Stark yesterday. She had immediately liked the woman. She made the scribe feel welcome. She looked ill but was told she looked so much better than she had just a short while ago. She was getting stronger. Once she had given birth she would quickly regain her full health and vigor. She hoped so. The woman seemed nice and was excited to be planning three marriages for Arya, Sansa and Robb.

Missandei begged off visiting with Catelyn. She told the Queen she wanted to work more on the numbers for the combining of the North forces with those of the South. The Queen eyed her seeing through her lies but smiled softly and tilted her head in acknowledge. She had waited long enough to take her sweet wolf to her bed. She understood her best friend’s plight.

Missandei did go back to her quarters but did not sit down. She went to the closet and pulled out her sable cape and draped it over her shoulders. She looked on her again wrecked bed. Shadowclaw had padded down a nest in the sheets and blankets kicked onto the back corner of the bed. She was curled up tight her ear tufts standing up cutely. She left her room again. She took the halls down to the large court of Winterfell. She breathed in the cold crisp air. The sun was beating down and the breeze was slight. She looked up at the clear light blue sky that was clear of clouds.

The interpreter looked up at the Great Keep and smiled seeing Drogon curled up on one tower snoozing. His gigantic from curled up to fit neatly on the parapets and roof of the tower. His tail and neck looped around to form a tight circle which he rested his head on.

She walked past the Great Keep and came to several other large buildings she had not learned the names of yet. She had not had time to study this castle in detail as of yet. She was still focusing on the logistics of the troops and supplies surging up to the North. She glanced around. The broken tower was easy to see at least. She smiled. The small black teenagers liked this place of ancient stones and trees in the compound. So unlike the Red Keep.
She walked forward. Against the Guards Hall she saw Viserion curled up asleep. He was being slept on by the Direwolves of the Stark children. The great Dirwolves seeming to share Nymeria’s immunity to the heat of the dragons. They were draped all over the dragons back and flanks as the dragon slept his lips fluttering with his breathing. On his tail Barristan Selmy sat talking to Marleya Blackmyre. The woman was standing in front of the older knight in an animated conversation.

Missandei smiled ruefully. The woman had been part of Dany’s party since her time in the Red Waste. She had been one of the first mercenaries who came to Dany looking for purpose and a destiny. Missandei knew the woman had been with her Queen for nearly a year before Missandei. The small scribe felt a little guilty not getting to know the woman better. Missandei was just so busy performing her duties for her Queen. She was dedicated to doing her tasks with great skill and meticulous care.

Missandei looked around. She edged closer to the couple focused on each other. What woman did not like to innocently snoop on a possibly juicy conversation? The small black woman edged closer.

The woman was an active Lieutenant in Dany’s army. She had always been keen on Barristan Missandei had seen but she had been restrained. She probably felt it was useless. Marleya’s plight the same as hers. She too had a love she found to be out of reach. But Barristan was not out of reach and something had changed for Marleya. She had become aggressive in her courtship with Barristan. She was constantly coming onto the man.

He had resisted saying he was too old. She did not care about the twenty-five year plus difference in their ages. He was as strong and spry as men half his age. She was in love with him and wanted to take him as her mate. She had started her pursuit on their Journey on the King’s Highway heading north. Maybe she thought that Barristan had nowhere to run and hide here in Winterfell.

She was gesticulating wildly now in front of the man. He shook his head in a sad way. Missandei heard the woman hotly declare her ardent love for Barristan. Suddenly, she jumped up and threw her body around him knocking him back onto Viserion’s body. The dragon opened one eye and watched the human woman attack his father with her tongue and hands. It was not that vile direwolf sleeping on his back with a twitching tail. Viserion could not tolerate that. Humans could love their own kind he reasoned. Barristan could love this female who was an excellent warrior herself.

That was acceptable. Nymeria was not! Viserion watched the woman get her tongue in his father’s mouth and her hand stroking the male sex organ of humans. His father was becoming excited. They got up off his body as the human female wrapped her body around Barristan. The dragon closed his eye. He was happy his father was finally mating with the woman. Her scent had shown her desire for his father since her arrival.

Missandei watched Barristan carry Marleya as she continued kissing him deeply her groin trusting her mound into his hard stomach. They were headed to the armory that had bunks for the guards on duty.

Missandei felt another surge of jealousy. Everyone was pairing up but her. She could have handled that but for the fact that she too had a woman in her life. A woman who should be giving herself to Missandei instead disappearing for months a time. She was getting fucking tired of it! She felt the tears begin to run down her cheeks. Missandei sniffled. She tried to see if from her shadow lover’s perspective. She knew her hoped for mate was conflicted with her past filled with pain, rage and evil.

She saw a Direwolf jump off Viserion’s body. The wolf gambled over to her and she saw it was Lady. She was the smallest of the Direwolves and her eyes was still just above the level of her head. She had to look up at the Direwolf. The wolf brushed into her and muzzled her head into Missandei offering comfort. How the wolf sensed her need she could not tell but she was thankful for it. She wanted, no needed, her lover to come to her and show herself.

“Oh Lady … where is she? Where is my lover?” she cried harder cursing her weakness. She felt the wolf pressing into her. The wolf shaking her head and woofing. Lady looked out over the north wall of Winterfell and the broken tower. Missandei patted the wolf looking at the ruined tower that still stood seventy-five feet tall. The top ragged with jutting broken stone and rotting timbers. Lady barked at the broken tower and wagged her tail excitedly. What had gotten into Lady Missandei wondered?

Missandei whipped her tears. The broken tower seemed apropos to her thoughts and desires. Her love life was like that tower. It lay in ruins. She would feel better in the morning she supposed. She wondered if she was going through menopause at the age of sixteen with her emotions first up and then down. She sighed.

She walked off towards the Great Keep with Lady walking beside her. The great wolf pressed into the small scribe offering her support to the woman her master liked so much.

Missandei felt so alone.

On the top of the broken tower She Who Must Not Be Named stood as the strong breeze blowing at that height blew into her. She hid herself from the woman she loved with every fiber of her being. She could no longer deny it anymore. Her long green hair whipped and snapped in the air. Her green eyes bled green tears that fell down her cheeks and splashed onto the broken stones. Each splash of tear drops sending up a blizzard of emeralds.

Missandei could not see her as her body pulsed out tachyon particles that poured out her pores. The particles meeting and bending the light waves in the visible spectrum around her small body. The light waves meeting again beyond her body thus rendering her body invisible. She watched Missandei walk off into the Great Keep.

Her eyesight easily saw through the thick granite stones and watched her scribe walk sadly alone. She wanted to go to her but she was frozen with fear both old and new. Once before she had thought she was in love and she had suffered countless millennium chained in the pit in agony and insanity. Lord Foul had plied her with sweet platitudes and strong drink to get her to tell Lord Foul her name Missandei had done nothing but be her sweet innocent self and She Who Must Not Be Named was being driven nearly insane with the desire to give her true names to Missandei. She was still a virgin and longed to give her maidenhead and to take Missandei’s. Her heart was quaking with fear. Fear she knew was misplaced. Missandei was everything that was good in humans. Missandei would never betray her. She Who Must Not Be Named could love her in complete safety. She knew this and yet fear pounded through her body.

She cried harder. She was a coward. She was a goddess she supposed and yet she was terrified to give her heart to the sweet young woman that was Missandei. Her past kept whispering to her. The past whispered of betrayal. The past whispered of her own weakness and evil desires she still felt. All had them she now knew but if she acted on them she could kill in numbers undreamed of by man.

Now she had a new fear. When she had touched the manacles she had experienced great physical agony. She had also suffered a great mental shock. She had seen an image of herself in the chains of the Ur-viles surrounded by animated skeletons. Some had flames flaring off their skulls with one whose flames was much greater than the rest. All their skulls wreathed in red flames that did not burn.

She Who Must Not Be Named knew she was seeing the future.

She had somehow known that Missandei had put the manacles on her. She was helpless looking up. Her strength was a memory and agony filled her body. She watched Missandei lifting up the Krill. It was bleeding off waves of Wild Magic that burned the very air. The heat did not touch Missandei’s hands. She plunged the Krill down aimed at She Who Must Not Be Named heart.

The tears splashing down on the stones splattered and the fine droplets ran back over the stones and up the green haired woman’s toes and feet and were absorbed back into her body.

A green flash no one saw burst into a nova of green light. When it was gone so was She Who Must Not Be Named.

Oberyn

Sweat poured down the forehead of the spearman from Dorne. He had been practicing with Stannis and Renly attacking them with his spear. They both were both amazingly fast considering their large frame. Their sword work very good. Renly was very competent while Stannis was exemplary in his handling of his broadsword. He kept himself under control. Oberyn always kept himself in control waiting for the inevitable opening to appear. Then the Red Viper would strike!

He had been able to get two kill shots in on Renly but had had a draw with Stannis. He gave out constant snarky comments to the man. Renly had fallen prey to his pithy comments but Stannis just ground his godsdamned teeth and kept plowing on methodically. He had to give it to the old coot. He was damn good. He normally got his opponents so worked up they let their guard down. Not ole I have a stick up my ass Stannis. It pissed Oberyn off!

Stannis surviving against him was bad enough but now he had to watch those two damn hussy Haruchai women slinking all over him. Or should he say … he wasn’t sure what! Ranrika and Ferna were still at Stannis’s elbows offering their bodies to him. The women did not slink. Oh No not the Haruchai! They were focused and persistent though. It was ab-so-lute-ly disgusting. How could they have set their sights on Stannis with Oberyn standing right here was beyond the comprehension of the Red Viper?!

With a sour face Oberyn remembered their last foray in Stannis seduction. From Ranrika “Sleep with us Stannis” spoken with no emotion. “We will take your large thick dick deep up our tight cunts and clenching assholes. We long to feel your cock deep in our bellies.” Her voice was flat but the intensity in her eyes more than made for her flat voice.

Ferna had added “Yes. You are a bull in his prime. We long to rut with you. Again and again you dick will fire off long ribbons of hot semen up into our wombs or flooding our shitholes with you sweet pearly jizm. We want to suck your semen out of each other’s stretched out pussies and ravaged assholes. I long to lap up your seed dribbling out of Ranrika’s slack asshole.” Of course all this salacious talk had been recited as if the women were bored out of their gourds and not trying to seduce someone.

Stannis was staggering under the verbal assault. Damnit! Oberyn would be lapping up that talk! He was the stud NOT Stannis!

The man was still being strong though, keeping to his silly marital vows but it was clear he was weakening. The women had made it clear to bring his wife to Winterfell and they would fuck both Stannis and Selyse Florent. Fuck! Were these women blind? The woman was a prune and Stannis was … well … boring! He doubted Stannis and Selyse ever fucked out of the Septa position.

Oberyn could hear them now in his mind. “You did not enjoy sex tonight Selyse.”

“But I did Stannis. Why do you ask?” Their voices boring and flat in Oberyn’s mind.

“You moved.”

Oberyn ground his teeth in frustration.

It was amazing how the short brown skinned women could be so alluring when not being alluring at all! He had studied the Haruchai. They were a taciturn and reserved lot for sure. They gave just the smallest hint of facial expression and tonal inflection and that was only rarely. Normally, they were reserved like a freaking statue! Their movements sedate and calm except when fighting and then they were a whirlwind of death. Their limbs striking out at blinding speed from all angles.

How the hell did these boring stick up their ass people even reproduce?! Oberyn stormed to himself. He knew he was being unfair. He would not be complaining one word if he was the focus of the Haruchai’s women’s advances. Seeing Stannis fumbling all over himself at their advances made Oberyn see red. He was the Red Viper after all! He would have long ago bedded the fucking Haruchai women. The only problem with this sad situation was the fact the Haruchai women felt the need to insult all of his repeated overtures. He was pissed! Of course the insults were delivered dead pan. That only made it worse!

So these two hussies were pawing at Stannis. Again damnit! Touching him and offering him their bodies like they were talking about buying strawberries at the market! How could so much sexuality be oozing off these two women with their unsmiling faces and flat atonal voices but oh brother it was there!

He looked up at Viserion flying by. The dragon had been off to hunt most probably. Yes, he spotted a small deer clenched in its left front talons. The dragon circled a few times. The denizens of the land looked up in wonder at the dragon. They were unknown in their world completely. Not even legends. Viserion came down to an open area in the yard by a small stand of aspen. The dragon released the small deer. Some of the hunting dogs came running out and fell on the deer.

He then landed with a regal grace. The dragon rubbed against the trunks of the trees scratching himself before he curled up wrapping his tail around his body and resting his head on this tail and began to snooze.

Yesterday he had seen Dany and Arya practically hanging all over each other. The Queen was groping Arya’s ass who squealed most cutely. Arya returned the favor and the Queen in comparison only wiggled her butt into the groping hand. They were so disgustingly cute stealing sweet little kisses and wrapping their arms around each other. Twice he had seen them snogging deeply. Sigh, young love.

He had turned his thoughts away from them. It was obvious that Daenerys Targaryen was now a one woman woman. She had found her soulmate and would never again see or even want another woman in her bed. She definitely did not want a man in that bed. She had found her other half. It was obvious the Stark girl felt the same way. On their travels north it had become quickly clear that the girl worshipped the ground the Queen walked on. Arya lusted after the Queen’s body but it was deeper than that. The girl loved every aspect of the Queen.
With the Stark tenacity and loyalty the Queen had found a woman who would be totally committed to her forever. Dany needed that kind of love and she had found it.

He sighed. It would have been nice to fuck both of them in his and Ellaria’s bed. That was not to be. He hoped for bedding Cersei. He had been convinced she would not let any man every touch her again but maybe just maybe if he was patient he would get lucky. Ellaria was sure of it. She was a beautiful woman and now he found her so alluring. His paramour, Ellaria, was besotted with her. The people of Dorne were a swarthy people. Brown of skin though in various shades and generally black of hair with shades of brown thrown in.

Sunspear, was filled with many merchants, traders and artisans from the rest of Westeros and Essos. Also, many of the brothels had women and men of fair hair and blue and green of eyes to satisfy the itch the people of Dorne had for the fairer skin.

Ellaria had a steady stream of blond whores and women she had seduced from the merchant and aristocratic class that filled the higher economic strata of the Sunspear. She sucked and fucked the women into comas of spent bliss. She was feverish with desire for Cersei. She told Stannis soon she would be dining on Cersei’s succulent cunt and she would persuade the former Lannister to fuck them both along with Obara. It would happen. Ellaria was sure of it.

It if did Oberyn would be extremely happy. If not he would still be happy for his daughter. Cersei had proven herself to be an exemplary mate. Cersei worshiped the ground his eldest daughter walked on. Oberyn still found it hard to believe this new Cersei. It was real though. That Oberyn was sure of. Maybe Cersei would eventually find it in her heart to share love with Obara with other women and hopefully with Obara’s father. Obara was convinced she was weakening Cersei’s silly old ways of monogamy and worse being a prude about sex. He still fucked his eldest child regularly. Cersei had proven to not be the jealous type. She seemed happy to let Obara fuck Ellaria and Oberyn.

Cersei had laughed when Obara asked if Cersei was upset with her continued desire to fuck her father and her in all but fact mother. Cersei had laughed “Woman! I started to fuck my twin brother when I was ten years old and bore his three children. I think I am okay with incest. You love me completely don’t you Obara?”

“Yes!” Obara had declared.

“Well there you go. Go fuck them baby!”

“But I want to share their love with you Cersei!”

“Maybe one day Obara. Just not today.”

When had Cersei got so wise Oberyn wondered?

His thoughts turned to other pleasant thoughts as he avoided thinking about the stupid Haruchai women and their stupid desire for one STUPID STANNIS!

This morning Oberyn saw the Queen and Arya at the table in the dining hall with their new daughter. He had heard of the magical return of Kiserri. The child his Queen had silently mourned. He was so happy for Daenerys and Arya. He had gone over to visit them. He looked at the little girl who looked up at him. She eyed him and then smiled great big. She had asked him if wanted to join her. He could not help but laugh at the precious girl. She was cute and very happy. She turned her head to be fed by Daenerys and Arya in turn. She would open her mouth and harrumph if not fed in what she considered the appropriate amount of time which was immediately.
“This is your uncle Oberyn.”

“She is a Bloodrider?” Daenerys translated for the little girl the little tyke asked Oberyn. Strange. He had heard the girl could speak Westerosi. Maybe she only spoke it for certain people.

“I am better than a Bloodrider!” Oberyn crowed “I’m the best warrior in the land!” Daenerys rolled her eyes as she translated.

The Queen gave him a white eyebrow. Well, he was but sometimes discretion was the better part of valor. “Well one of the best.”

He saw the small ceremonial dagger behind Kiserri’s belt. “Are you a Bloodrider for you mommy?”

The little girl’s chest expanded and a fierce look came over her face. “I’m the best warrior in the land!”

The girl learned fast Oberyn mused. He watched the girl go to grip her dagger and fumbled the handle and the fake dagger fell down between the bench and the table. The little Dothraki girl cried out in frustration. Her hands had tried to grab the blade as it fell but merely made it tumble out of sight. She dove underneath table and he heard he grumbling chasing the blade around on the floor.

Everyone leaned back to watch the cute girl moving around on all fours. She kept knocking the blade just out of her reach. She harrumphed in anger her face set in a look of extreme concentration. Oberyn heard a cry of success and her small head appeared between the table and the bench. She had a triumphant look on her face. She forgot about being fierce. She sat back down and opened her mouth to be fed again by her mommies.

He watched the two women love the child and love each other. The kingdom was in good hands. He had worried for the Queen. She was well balanced but it was obvious she needed a mate on her arm to help her shoulder the heavy burden of ruling Westeros. He had hoped maybe it would be he and Ellaria. He would have let Ellaria rule with Daenerys. He would have taken their enemies out.

Oh well. Arya Stark was a fierce warrior in her own right he saw. She was not much seasoned yet but she would be fierce on the field of battle. He knew warriors and Arya was definitely one.

Kiserri looked at Oberyn. “Can I have some juice?” she asked him and batted her long eyelashes. Daenerys still translating. Oberyn snorted. She was wrapping him around her little finger and he didn’t give one wit. He poured her some apple juice and she took the cup.

“Say thank you” Dany told Kiserri.

“Thank you!” she chirped and happily started to drink the liquid. The little girl looking around her environs with a happy look on her face. Oberyn shook his head. The girl was definitely a cutie and would have all the women and men she wanted wrapped around her little finger.

Oberyn was looking out over the training field.

He watched the Haruchai fighting each other. He was still in awe at their sheer speed and agility. When their fists and feet struck each other he could hear the sheer power of the impacts. It had shocked him to see these shorter in stature people compared to the people of Westeros had so much power in their bodies. The impact of their blows on each other sounded like granite slamming into slabs of ribs in a butcher’s shop. Oberyn winced knowing those blows had to be filled with the power to deeply bruise and break bones. The Haruchai made no reaction to the blows they received. Their faces remained stoic.

He had fought Harrnor earlier this morning. He had learned enough from observing the Haruchai sparring to not underestimate his unarmed foe. They had stood six feet apart. Harrnor simply stared at him. Oberyn had circled the man making a show with his spear. The Red Viper did this to distract and put awe in his opponents. Harrnor seemed unimpressed. Oberyn had expected this. These Haruchai seemed obsessed with showing no emotions to their opponents. The two eyed each other as Oberyn circled the standing still man.

Then in the blink of an eye the Haruchai launched himself at Oberyn and was upon the spearman in a flash. Oberyn cursed and whirled his spear up and blocked the Haruchai’s fast kick barley knocking the kick away from his head. Oberyn swiped at the feet of the Haruchai with his spear but he had jumped up high. He twisted his hips and his right leg swiped out and grazed Oberyn’s shoulder as he lunged back. He swirled his spear up to his shoulder and lunged forward trying to squire the Haruchai with his practice spear. The man swiped up with his forearm knocking the spear up and away and came in with a short punch to Oberyn’s ribs.

Oberyn gasped in pain and cursed loudly. It felt like he had been hit by a battering ram. He spun and brought his knee up and hit the man in the hip. The Haruchai did not register the solid strike. This probably bothered the fierce man from Dorne the most about the Haruchai. The Giants and Ramen were like the warriors of Westeros and Essos. They groaned in pain, cried out in exertion and cursed as they practiced and fought.

Not the Haruchai. It was like fighting shadows. He fought Harrnor for ten minutes. He had been upended once and Harrnor came down with a killing strike to the throat if he had not pulled his punch at the last moment. He had gotten three or four good strikes to the Haruchai to counterbalance the ten he received. He had almost squired Harrnor one time with his spear tearing the man’s tunic near the body.

The Harchai had bowed deeply to him and told Oberyn he was a great warrior. He looked forward to fighting him again. Oberyn tilted his head in return. The compliment had been delivered with no emotion on his face or in his voice. The Dorne man knew the man had been sincere in his compliment. This was one people truly incapable of lying. These people respected martial prowess above all else it seemed.

He now watched Stannis fight Ferna. He had at first demurred the challenge of the Haruchai woman. Stannis had come to fight Daenerys and Arya with a fury. Those two women had proven that they were any man’s equal in combat prowess. Daenerys and Arya were armed and had shown they knew how to use their weapons with expert deadly skill. Ferna had only her feet and fist as weapons. Stannis told the woman it would be unseemly for him to fight an unarmed woman. “I would easily dispatch you.”

“I will still fight you Stannis. I will prove my worth to you. You will see my prowess. A prowess mirrored in the sleeping furs I share with my wife and those we bring into our furs.”

Stannis per his usual self was flummoxed and stammered. He still tried to demure.

Finally, in a voice with a hint of a timber of passion Ferna barked out “Fight me! I demand the right to prove my worth.”

Glaring and grinding his teeth Stannis finally had accede to the unarmed woman’s entreaty. They circled each other with Stannis only halfheartedly launching attacks at the Haruchai woman. The woman easily knocking aside his practice sword. He was not really fighting the woman. That was until Ferna in a blur moved in on Stannis. She jumped up and snapped his head back with a solid right cross to his chin that sent Stannis reeling back and falling on his ass. He rubbed his chin slowly getting back up on his feet.

Oberyn could now see the man had a new found respect for the Haruchai. He now circled the Haruchai with his body tense his eyes gauging his opponent with new respect. Also, Oberyn saw, the fire had been ignited in Stannis. He wanted to teach the bitch a lesson. She was snooty in a totally deadpan manner.

Stannis ground his teeth. He bellowed and surged forward his blade a blur. He swiped his wooden blade like a whirlwind of death. The blade made complicate patterns of slashes and hacks at the woman. The man was controlled in his attack. Oberyn whistled to himself. Stannis was constantly constipated going by his face but he was a great swordsman. The Haruchai somehow knocked the blade away with her hand perfectly angled to strike the flat of the blade again and again. She would knock the blade aside and step in to strike out with foot, shin, elbow or fist.

Stannis wore armor and it definitely absorbed some of the power of the Haruchai but it slowed him. He was almost able to strike the woman but she constantly juked just outside the arc of the sword or slipped to the side. He did make two strikes on her torso but he had received a fist and a foot to his face that had him reeling. Contusions rising on his face.

After fifteen minutes they stopped. It has been draw. Fuck! Oberyn thought. Life sucked sometimes. He had wanted to see Stannis get his ass kicked!

Ferna came up to Stannis looking up at his height. “You fought extremely well. Have your wife brought here. We will fuck you and your wife the night through. We are losing our patience.” She spoke like she was strolling through a grassland looking at the clouds. How could a woman say she wanted to fuck like a rabid rabbit and make it sound boring! Oberyn again wondered to himself. Eerna turned and walked away side by side with her wife Ranrika.

Life was not fair sometimes Oberyn realized.

He watched the Haruchai and Giants continue to practice. He was in awe of the Giants. They were twice his height at the minimum and some were up to fourteen feet tall. They were at least three times his weight if not four times his weight. Even the more svelte among the Giantesses were of solid build. Their cores thick and their limbs like tree trunks corded with muscle.

Despite their great height and solid builds they moved every bit as fast as he or Stannis. They were not as fast as the Haruchai but they were still frightening fast. What made them so deadly was their blades of granite. The blades were every bit as strong and sharp as Valyrian steel. He asked to see their blades which they had been happy to do. He smiled at that. So many warriors did not anyone to touch their weapons. Hell he did not want anyone to touch his weapon! Or a certain fucking wolf!

The blades were amazingly light for being eight to ten feet in length. The blades up to three inches thick. He noticed each blade was sculpted slightly different. He had been told that each blade was made for the specific warrior and would be buried with her upon her death. The body of the dead warrior and her sword caste to the sea if at all possible. The Giants wanted their final resting place to be the sea they loved.

He had been surprised when he discovered only women were in the Swordmainnir. The Giants had chuckled at Oberyn reaction. They had told him that while it was not carved in stone that only females would serve but it was generations between when a male entered the Swordmian. There was just a natural desire for the men to man the ships and for the women to fight. Many women were also sailors with most crews half and half between the sexes. The Swordmainnir liked to say.
they were “the few, the proud the Swordmainnir.”

The blades when they collided hummed and chimed with almost musical clarity. The notes would have been pretty to listen to if each note was not also deadly. Oberyn saw that the blades even when they collided violently edge to edge the blades never seemed to nick or form any imperfections on the blade edge. The Giants blades were like Valyrian steel in that way.

The blades slammed into each other again and again as the Giants fought laughing, jibbing and cursing gaily. Oberyn was not easily intimidated but he was with the Giants and their fighting prowess. It was the speed of the Giants married with their prodigious strength that put pause in the Red Viper. He had witnessed Gregor Clegane fight in several tourneys. He was nicknamed the Mountain but now he was just a foothill.

The man had been intimidating to most with his close to eight feet in height. His massive shoulders and arms thick as the trunk of small trees. Gregor's limbs were extremely large for a man. Compared to the Giants he now seemed like a young teenager. Gregor weight of over thirty stone. The man was nearly all of it muscle, making him near inhumanly strong. Gregor's strength allowed him to wield a six-foot, two-handed great sword with just one hand, giving him enormous reach while still wielding a shield. Such was the power of Gregor's strength that he has been known to hack men in half with just a single blow.

Oberyn had no fear of the brute. While fast he was still to some degree ungainly. His brute strength was, well, brutish. Oberyn would easily dispatch the man by constantly circling him and jabbing at the joints of his armor slowly wearing him down and bleeding him out.

This he would not be able to do with the Giants. They were every bit as fast as himself! A six foot sword was something to behold. A sword that was eight to ten feet long was the stuff of nightmares in the Giants hands. He had felt great astonishment when he first wielded one of their greives. The blades were amazingly light. The blades were not that much heavier than Gregor’s blade. He had held its ilk in armorer’s shops. These blades felt perfect for his hand even thought they were made for a woman twice his height and greater.

With the Giants, the blades were poetry in motion. Their speed and prowess was simply stupefying. How could people so large move so fast and adroitly? They were as skilled as Barristan and Eddard and that was a truly horrifying thought when the blade was up to ten feet long!

The Giant warriors held nothing back. They fully trusted in their skills and their granite armor that he had discovered was fashioned by the same magic as their swords for each warrior. It was almost molded to fit them perfectly. It flexed with the women as they fought. It was said to be almost impenetrable except with the greatest of force or magic.

It was said only the Krill could easily defeat their armor but they knew of nothing else. All else would take great strength, skill and probably more important great magic of which the Krill was supreme. Oberyn had no idea what this Krill was.

They fought with whistling swords that seemed to hold nothing back. Blades struck breastplates, grieves, gorget or gauntlets. The blades sending up sparks but doing no damage. The Giants grunted and cursed and kept on fighting. Wavesplash Rimeshoal took a vicious chop to her helm that knocked it askew and sent her tumbling to the ground but she rolled and came up fighting. That blow would have pulverized any man’s brain to pulp.

Oberyn had no desire to ever fight a Giant.

The Giants fought with laughers and jibs. He found he liked them immensely. He then saw Brail the First Mark of the Haruchai come up to Braveheart Tillerkeel the First of the Giants. She slammed her fist into her chest "Fist and Faith. There is only victory or death.” She spoke in a flat voice. Her fist striking her body sounded like granite slamming iron.

To Oberyn it looked like an oak tree versus a stunted ornamental pine like he had seen in Highgarden. He had learned looks were deceiving. They stood facing each other. “Today I will cleave you in two!” Tillerkeel shouted and swung down with a deadly two handed swing of her blade. Oberyn knew instinctively she had to be holding back a little but one could never tell it. The blade was invisible as it cut through the air to slice the Haruchai in two.

The sword buried itself two feet into the ground. Brail had stepped aside fluidly at the very last moment with no effort or fear of death and now aimed a vicious heel kick at the Giant’s knee. The Giant pivoted away on her other leg her left hand leaving the sword as she rotated for balance and her right hand ripped the sword out of the ground and used it to block the straight left coming into her upper thigh. The Haruchai’s fist slammed into the flat of the blade but the woman did not flinch in any pain.

The Haruchai launched repeated assaults at the Giant. The Giant absorbed harrowing kicks on her breastplate and other armor covering her body. The Giant grunted. She had one sword chop she pulled at the last possible moment to hit the Haruchai in the shoulder sending her rolling. How the Giant could hit the Haruchai and not injure Brail, Oberyn did not know. The skill to do that was unfathomable.

The two women fought with whirring blade and blinding fist and feet strikes. The Haruchai landed a blow flush to the Giant’s chin when she had folded over to strike at the crouched Brail. She had sidestepped again and launched herself straight up. Her fist slammed the granite breastplate. Braveheart’s breath whooshed out her lungs and she staggered back. Brail jumped up on the Giant hooking her fingers in the small gap between helm and gorget. Her right fist slammed fast into the Giant’s face twice snapping her head back. The Giant had released her sword with her left hand and it slammed into the Haruchai’s ribs sending her flying. The Giant had cried out in pain but the Haruchai accepted her blow in silence.

They continued to fight for another five minutes. Oberyn had learned that for them to become the First of their respective people they had had to fight and defeat all their peers who wished to challenge them for supremacy. They were in essence the best of the best. Oberyn could not believe the fighting prowess of the two women.

He was impressed and really, really turned on. He was horny. Gods fighting prowess did that to him. He had struck out with Ferna and Ranrika but they were merely guppies and minnows. They were beneath the Red Viper. He had his sights on the trophy bass!

The two women had come to some unspoken truce. The sparring match over.

Brail bowed deeply before the Giant. “It always gladdens the heart of the Haruchai to contend with the Giants. It is always a pleasure.”

Braveheart rubbed her cheek and chin where Brail had landed her savage punches. “I would say your pleasure is a weighty matter that carries quite the impact.” The Giant then moved to join some of her fellow Giant warriors. She lifted a heavy jug and took several large swigs laughing and jibbing her fellow warriors.

Oberyn moved to Brail as she used a towel to calmly wipe the sweat off her face. Her breathing was barely accelerated.
“You are one hot momma Brail” Oberyn started laying it on thick. “Seeing you fight the First to a standoff is truly impressive. You are filled with fighting prowess and great beauty Brail.” Oberyn spoke truly. All of the visitors from this “Land” were beautiful to behold. Their bodies perfectly proportioned and tight.

The woman merely cocked an eyebrow at him. She turned her back to him. Her demeanor and body language spoke two words. Buzz off. Oberyn was undeterred. His previous rejections by the Haruchai fueled his desire to succeed this time!

Oberyn walked around to get in front of the reticent woman. “Don’t be like that Brail! You are a beautiful woman and I’m a hot stud. We could make such sweet love. I defiantly have a broadsword in my trousers and I know how to use it!

“I was warned of you” Brail spoke in a flat tone looking him square in eye. She had to tilt her head up with her barely five foot three inch frame.

Oberyn knew he should not ask but he had too “What did those two bitc—lovely warriors have to say of the Red Viper of Dorne!” puffing out his chest. A good offense was the best defense he reasoned.

“My compatriots told me you are a ‘pervert’”. It was said with finality.

“Hey! I resemble that remark. What is wrong with that? All that means is that I am the life of the party. I am a bundle of joy to be around and I can reaallyyyyyy fuck” Oberyn informed the First Mark with an earnest look and much waggling of his eyebrows.

“I see. Obviously we should use another word for you.”

“That is my thinking.” The woman was coming around Oberyn thought smugly.

“So many words to choose from” Brail mused with dispassion. She paused a moment. “Corrupt, degenerate, base, deviant, polluted, geek, depraved—“

“Hey!”

“Sicko, asshole, twisted, miscreant, bastard, wrongdoer, malefactor, offender—“

“Enough already!”

“Villain, lawbreaker, evildoer, delinquent, hoodlum, reprobate; malfeasant—“

“I’m really getting pissed off here!”

“That is enough Brail” Oberyn heard a soft feminine voice speak at his shoulder.

Lustera came into view. She was a small woman with soft brown hair and beautiful brown eyes. Oberyn had observed her several times. She was beautiful of face and body. Unfortunately, the woman had a constant pained pinched look to her face. It robbed her of her natural beauty. The woman walked with a stiff manner.

Oberyn knew instinctively that the woman had been harmed spiritually in the past. She still carried within her heart a great pain.

The Haruchai immediately ceased her verbal assault. Brail turned to face Lustera. Oberyn could not believe what he saw. The Haruchai had softened. Her warrior body had almost imperceptibly relaxed and leaned towards the Lord.

“He is a pompous fool.”

“Lustera—make her stop!” Oberyn whined to the Lord of Revelstone.

“You are putting a bad light on us Brail.” He could see Brail was about to protest.

“It would please me if you leave him be. We can see his aura. He is merely braggadocios.

“He is a buffoon.” With that she spun on her heel and started to march away. She suppressed her emotions but Oberyn could tell she was pissed.

He flipped her off and jerked his hand hard giving her some spice with his bird.

She immediately spun around and marched up to Oberyn.

He gulped.

“What?! I didn’t do anything.”

Lustera spoke up and he heard a hint of mirth. “The Haruchai are telepathic and more. They share their thoughts but also all their perceptions. Look behind you.”

Oberyn turned and blanched. He saw three Haruchai behind him staring at him. They had relayed to Brail his actions.

He hung his head. “Guilty as charged.”

“Their mind to mind speak is unique.”

“I’ll say” Oberyn muttered loud enough to be heard.

Brail suddenly spoke up and Oberyn was surprised to hear desire “Lords can join our mind speak. You have the lore of Kevin Landwaster.” The sudden expression of emotion by the Haruchai had Oberyn’s focus. This was a first.

“Yes” Lustra replied clearly confused. “But I am not Haruchai. I will not violate your sacrosanct thoughts.

“What if I wanted you to?”

“I do not understand.” The lord was getting clearly nervous with the direction of the conversation. The Lord shuffling her feet and plucking strands of hair and shoving them behind her ear and making nervous sounds. Her eyes looking everywhere but at Brail.

_Well, I will be_ Oberyn thought to himself.

“We have accepted Lords and Unfettered into our clans.”

“That was long ago. None have done that in the last three hundred years. I am lord of the council.”

With that she turned and walked away. Her back ramrod straight her face carefully composed.

“She is a lot like your people isn’t she Brail.”

The Haruchai said nothing for a minute watching the Lord slowly walk away. Then she sighed softly. For a Haruchai it was a shout of passion.

“How long have you been in love with her?” Brail slowly turned to face Oberyn. He thought she might walk away. Brail took a deep breath. Again, for a Haruchai this was a shout of passion.

“For twenty years. I came to Revelstone with my parents as they served as Wards to the Lords. I loved her from the first moment I saw her. But she was married so I considered it a hopeless cause and looked among my peers for a mate.

“But?”

“In our Lands divorce or infidelity is almost never heard of. Many take others to fuck but never behind their mate’s back. Our people are polyamorous. Though, of course, you have a wide range of temperaments. One finds a mate that matches one’s own desires and demeanor. Her husband was a lively man full of laughter and a zest for interactions with strangers. Lustra is very close and guarded. It is said opposites attract but in time they can repel. For Lustra this is what happened. Her Lord husband could no longer stay married to her."

“She has been bitter and angry for the last ten years.”

“You should tell her you love her. That is why you mentioned this melding of mind speech?”

“Yes. We can only form a true permanent bond through the mind speech. We would be so good for each other. I would love her true to my last dying breath.”

“Tell her. Go for it.”

“No. She would request another Haruchai. I could not survive that.”

“You are not being fair to her. Maybe she would surprise you. Maybe she thinks no one could ever love her after her rejection.”

The Haruchai looked at him for a long time.

“I did not know perverts had a good heart or that they were perceptive and gentle of heart. No matter how much of an asshole they may act.” Oberyn smiled softly. For a people who were so stoic they had sarcastic sense of humor. He liked them all the more.

Oberyn wanted to jest but he was actually having a bonding moment and did not want to ruin the atmosphere.

Unfortunately, that only lasted another ten seconds. Ferna and Ranrika came walking up at a fast clip. They exchanged glances with Brail. She nodded her head. Was that a suppressed smirk? His two hoped for paramours turned to Oberyn.

“We have come to share our joy with you Oberyn. The great Red Viper. You who would contend with Stannis Baratheon for our affections.”

Brail stood rock still with her Haruchai rectitude but he could she was enjoying this.

A sour look came over Oberyn’s face. “Yessssssss?”

“He has gone to your Queen.”

“Annnddddd?”
“She was most sympathetic to the request.”

“Come out with it already!” the Red Viper shouted out. Oberyn was not sure how he knew but he was sure he would not like what he was about to hear. “Enough with the suspense already!” Oberyn cried out flinging his arms out wide. He might as well play his part.

“In helping our two forces to more fully integrate she has sent her green dragon Rhaegal and one Strong Belwas to Dragonstone to pick up Selyse Florent.”

“Fucckkkkk!” Oberyn yelled out.

The two Haruchai somehow looked very smug while not showing any emotion. Fucking cunts!

He threw his spear down and stomped on it; the spear rolling on the ground from the abuse.

“I’ll have you know the only person that has a bigger shaft up their ass is his wife. She is a fucking prude. Ha! Try getting her to sniff your beaver. Be prepared for major frustration bimbos!”

“We are most persuasive. We did get Stannis to agree to have his wife brought here. He is nervous with anticipation to fuck us. He will get his wife to submit.”

“Ha! In your dreams!”

“All women are gay Oberyn.”

That stopped Oberyn in his tracks. That was true. You just had to get them to accept their innate desires for the female body. His wife was always seducing a bevy of suppressed women when they were away in other parts of Westeros. The women declaring hotly they were straight to the core of their being. Then his sweet Ellaria started to work her charms. His paramour was always saying that all women were lesbians deep in their hearts and souls. She then went to work proving her pronouncement correct.

But surely not the human prune … no, it was not possible Oberyn thought to himself. If the Haruchai could actually get that stiff, uncompromising woman to fuck like a banshee the world would come to a crashing downfall. Such an unnatural occurrence would spin the Earth off its axis.

“We will succeed. The Haruchai always succeed.”

Out of the corner of his eye Oberyn saw his spear twitch.

No! He whirled around just as Nymeria bit his spear and took it up in her slavering jaws and looped off her tail up high swaying. Oberyn had had enough abuse for one day. This time he would not rise to that damn Direwolf’s bait. Damn that beast! The wolf seeing him not pursuing put some wiggle in her hips as she slowly strutted off. The wolf clearly waiting for the chase to once again take off afoot.

The fucking wolf was daring him to chase her. He was a bigger man than that.

Nymeria turned her head pausing her retreating gait. She scratched the ground with her hind feet kicking up dirt and grass.

Fuck that Wolf! It was on! Oberyn tore off after the wolf cursing.

He is a must strange man Ferna spoke to her wife mind to mind he is strong and virile
Yes. But he pales before the hotness of Stannis … I talked to one of his general’s. He told me his wife is quite hot … I get to go down on her first and suck her off the first night until I wear her cunt out … after that they will both be ours Ranrika spoke

So greedy …

Thats the reason you love me so Renrika spoke in a cheeky tone

Yes it is … yes it is

Sansa

The feast hall was filled with gaiety and spirit. Sansa looked at the tables filled with platters of ham, turkey and trout. Their bowls filled with tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers and various beans from the Glass Garden. Sansa had always loved the Glass Gardens. It was a place of calm. A peace imbued the place. It brought peace to the heart. It was beautiful with its eight sides to the central rotunda and then the two long wings. The rotunda was reserved for the flowers and exotic plants for their beauty. The two wings were reserved to grow the fruits and fresh vegetables to liven up the food prepared by the excellent cooking staff.

There was a large boar that had been roasted with the traditional pear in its mouth. There was also large braces of tender cooked aurochs. Also on the benches were cooked lambs and goats for the Lords of the South.

There was huge baskets for fresh baked bread both leavened and not on the tables of the feast hall. Some loaves had spices backed into them. Some of the spices were sweet while others had a bite to them. She saw the bowls of various jam and serving platers of butter.

Large pitchers of mead, tea and water were on the tables for liquid refreshments.

Sansa looked out over the sea of faces and again marveled how the cook, maids, stable hands and smiths of Winterfell were sitting with the Lords. The room still had many Lords as they cycled back down from the wall and those with Dany. All were equal here. Sure, the high nobles were on the raised dais but the common man filled the rest. Sansa knew how her father insisted that with informal meals he and his family were usually down with the “people”. Her father felt it helped connect the Warden of the North with his people.

It was said that there must always be a Stark in Winterfell. The people of the North thought this deep in their hearts. Sansa knew it was in large part because the Warden of the North for many generations worked hard to connect with the people they governed. His father was everything that was best about her family’s line. His ‘subjects’ adored him.

Margaery had first found it unsettling to be with the “lowborn” and she had mentioned this to Sansa. She had actually gotten upset when she had first come back to Sansa. Margaery told her that the nobles needed to keep their distance from the lowborn. One needed distance to see clearly Margaery said. Sansa had tried to explain that to breed true loyalty you had to get on the same level as your subjects. Margaery had scoffed at her hearing that. This had truly upset Sansa. For the first time she was truly angry with her lover.

She had turned her back on Margaery when they went to bed. The Tyrell had attempted to snuggle and pull Sansa to her body but the tall redhead had rebuffed her lover’s efforts. She heard Margaery gasp when she realized that Sansa would not relent. The bed shook with the shock that went through the slender brunette’s body. Margaery had started to sniffle and then she wept with broken sobs.

Sansa was around in a flash holding and kissing her Margaery sweetly all over her love’s face. She begged for Margaery for forgiveness. Sansa had not meant to hurt her lover. She told Margaery that her father had taught his children that the Starks were to serve the people and to never feel privileged and entitled. They had to form an intimate bond with the people to fully serve them.

Sansa told Margaery she had not put near enough effort into explaining to Margaery the Stark views on ruling. Could Margaery ever forgive her? Her debacle their first night together still haunted Sansa. Margaery had sniffled and told Sansa she would try and understand “the Stark way”. It was just so foreign to how she was raised to look at the subjects of the Reach.

With a tremulous voice Margaery had asked Sansa to make love to her. She needed Sansa to show her that she indeed loved Margaery. With a brilliant smile Sansa took her lover in her arms and kissed her first sweetly and then took what was her. She rammed her tongue down Margaery’s throat making her slit her total whore. She knew she needed to dominate her lover like she needed it.

Sansa had then gone down on Margaery again and again. Gods Margaery’s pussy tasted so good cumming hard in her mouth flooding it with sweet hot cum that spamed out Margaery’s rupturing womb. Her screams of sweet rapture music to the Stark’s ears. They had then tribbed classic scissors. Their groins locked and legs held onto tight as they rammed and wallowed their pussies into each other with shocking force. Their mutual orgasms ripping through their bodies.

Then Sansa sat on Margaery’s face and rode her hard just like Margaery loved it. She swept her cunt hard up and down Margaery’s face riding her drooling clamshell over the hot gobbling mouth of her lover. Her snatch jamming down on Margaery’s chin on the down stroke and using her nose as a fuck post on the upsweep. Sansa had wailed and wailed as she rode her Rose’s face hard. Twice Sansa had cummed so hard on Margaery’s face. Her womb had felt like it shattered deep in her belly. Her orgasms ripping her cunt asunder as almost agonizing waves of ecstasy tore through her long strong body.

Then she had slowly wormed her love fist into her sweetie’s tight trim. She loved the feel of Margaery’s tight fuck hole stretching out as she slipped her wedge in Margaery’s drooling clamshell. Sansa fucked Margaery hard with her fingers in a wedge pounding her lover’s box fast and furious. Sansa fucked Margaery hard to another orgasm and then as Margaery swooned she worked her thumb and then knuckles into the rim of her love’s vagina. Then with one last push her hand sunk into Margaery’s pussy. The wet tight heat gripped her hand tight. Sansa always loved the feel of wet heat riding down the back of her hand feeling Margaery’s tight trim worming down the back of her hand. Margaery keened in fucking ecstasy.

She jabbered for Sansa to fuck her hard. Sansa smiled down at Margaery as she got on her knees to get height and leverage. She slowly formed her love fist. Starting slow Sansa worked her fist in and out her woman’s cunt and started up a twisting motion letting her knuckles work her slut’s folds and whorls. Her knuckles rubbing the slippery vaginal walls of her lover and slut.

Soon Margaery’s juices had soaked Sansa’s wrist and ran down her lower forearm. Margaery whirited on the bed warbling and groaning like a Lysian whore. Slowly, Sansa stretched out her lover’s pussy with her pumping fist sinking deep into her baby’s belly. With her slut’s fuck sleeve loosened up Sansa ramped up the force of her forearm pumping into her baby’s hot hungry cunt.

Quickly, Sansa worked up to ramming her twisting fist savagely into her slut’s cunt. Her fist sinking in deep into the hot cauldron of Margaery’s spasming clenching twat. Sansa loved the wet heat sucking and spasming on her slamming fist. She watched Margaery’s pussy clinging tight to her forearm as it rode in and out her couchie on the deep thrusting in stroke. Cum slavered Sansa’s wrist and lower forearm with a thick coating of snail snot that dripped off and hung down in quivering slimy tendrils.

Margaery’s face was twisted with ecstasy that was so dire it looked like agony. Sweat poured off the Tyrell’s body and face. Her hair dark and matted with sweat. Margaery swirled her pussy up into the fist plunging deep into her quim. Sansa’s fist twisting in to ram Margaery’s cervix gagging the sweet princess of Highgarden ecstasy. Cum dripping off of Sansa’s fist on the out stroke.

Then Margaery’s womb had ruptured and ripped out Margaery’s cunt. Margaery’s body heaved and jackknifed violently as her sweet screams echoed in Sansa’s bedroom. The bed’s headboard slamming the wall loudly as Margaery’s body strained and bucked violently. Suddenly spent her body collapsed boneless on the bed. Margaery wept with pure love as did Sansa. Sansa slowly removed her hand from Margaery’s tight clenching in aftershocks cunt.

Sansa ran her hand front and back all over Margaery and her own face soaking them in Margaery’s sweet slimy love snot. It made them feel so close when they soaked each other’s face in their cum and then snuggled up close with bodies soaked in cum and sweat.

They had lain in post coital bliss and used the sweet bonding time to come to an understanding. Sansa patiently teaching her Tyrell how rule was applied in the North of Westeros. They had gone to sleep with entwined limbs and whispered words of complete total love.

The hall was even more lively than normal. The Giants were in the hall. She noticed that the Giants did everything communally. They always came in as one group and left as one group. They were a people that laughed and jested continuously. A room even as large as the feast hall could not help but be filled with gaiety with Giants in it.

The Giants listened to each story told them with complete attention that bordered on this side of rapturous adore. They laughed at all the punch lines no matter how bad or cheesy. They hung on every word. They wanted to hear the stories again and again. They would interrupt begging for more details and to repeat sentences so they could laugh at them again. If Sansa ever put on a comedic murm’r’s play she needed to have the Giants in attendance. They would have everyone else laughing their asses off. Even if the play was not funny!

The twenty-two Giants were literally the life of the party as the saying went.

The Giants ate all the food in large heaping on their plates and in their bowels. They wanted to compliment all the cooks on their most outstanding culinary efforts. The Giants drank all the wine and ale offered. The Giants enjoyed the drink but said they needed something more substantial they announced bombastically. Some of the Giant warrior women and the two sailor men had large jugs tied to their belts.

The Giants and taken the jugs out and pulled out the stoppers to their jugs. They had put the massive jugs on the crooks of their arms and drank from the large jugs with loud gulps wiping their faces with the back of their hands. Jory Cassel and Rodrik Cassel had asked for a cup of this Giant’s drink. The Giants told the men and several other takers that Diamonddraught was a potent drink that most men found overpowering and most intoxicating.

The men had begged to differ. The Giants had looked at each other with mirth in their eyes. They filled the proffered cups to the brim with their Diamonddraught. The men drank deeply and slammed their empty mugs down on the tables saying rather loudly that the drink was rather tame.
Soon the men were babbling and making drunken passes at the Giants and the serving maids. They stumbled and slurred their words and were for five minutes almost the life of the party. They got up to dance jigs but instead had to be pushed and shoved to be kept upright. Then they were on the benches their faces on the table snoring loudly passed out. All laughed good naturedly at the turn of events.

Sansa noticed something else almost immediately. All the Giant warrior women were paired up together. The Giants ate and lived communally but they were definitely doing this in pairs of two. The two sailors were not a couple but the women were. They sat side by side and were always stealing kisses, rubbing thighs, hugging each other and gazing longingly into each other’s eyes.

The women put their armor aside when not practicing or in the field. They wore simple tunics and trousers synched tight around for them slender muscled torsos. She had spied several of the women coping feels on their mates bosom, ass and down the front of trousers. Foamsurge Oakenspar had snapped the table top off in her clenched fist feeling Forecastle Starkissed rub her slit and flick her clit.

Margaery had taught Sansa to be very attuned to women loving women. Margaery had called it “gaydar”. That was a strange name for being attuned to lesbians but it did have a ring to it. She had missed so much before but now she had her butterfly antenna for lesbian sex always flicking and twisting. Margaery had addicted her to lesbian sex. Her horndog loved fucking and now so did Sansa. Margaery equally loved watching women fuck and hearing them talk of their fucking. She had told Sansa many tales of Margaery’s debauchery with her hens. Sansa could not wait to start writing her own chapters with them and Margaery. The sex would be so good.

Olenna had told her granddaughter that the Hens were fitting well in King’s Landing. The hussies were fucking the chambermaids and the female stable hands to exhaustion. The female courtesans at the Court of King’s Landing had gotten wind of the “hens”. Needless to say the little sluts were banging many a knight, lord and visiting merchant’s daughters and young wives. Sansa was shocked at that but Margaery poo pooed that saying those married women were ignored and treated like mere possessions. Her ‘hens’ were bringing joy and pleasure to those women. When it was put that way Sansa had to change her thinking.

The men were busy themselves breaking their supposed marriage vows. Olenna and Tyrion were spying on everyone of course recording all the dalliances. The two did this to protect and further the Iron Throne. The men and women compromised dare not move against the Queen or the royal court with all the dirt that had been accumulated. One lord had caught his wife fucking two of the ‘hens’. He demanded justice until a ledger was presented with all his dalliances and how he had cheated the Iron Throne of several hundred gold dragons.

The dalliances of his wife with the hens were afterwards judged by the man to be a trifle. The man was most thankful to have a fourth of his debt forgiven and was given much time to make up his Arrears. If he kept his mouth shut and took no actions. The man had been most happy to comply. His wife’s family had supplied much needed land and gold dragons to the man’s family. He could not jeopardize that. He had not been so pissed off when he thought about it in that light. She was only fucking a couple of ‘whores’ after all. The man said “it is not like she is fucking a man.”

Olenna had let that slip to keep the peace.

Typically, the man was now chiseling his wife to let him fuck the hens with her. She had laughed at that saying that the ‘hens’ were for her alone. They were gold star lesbians anyways. The wife had to explain that to her husband as the hens had explained it to her.

She did ‘volunteer’ to fuck his mistresses with him. The man had at first been stunned. He had fumed and bitched but he was a man after all and soon he found the idea extremely intoxicating. Both were now extremely happy. He now gave his wife permission to seduce all the women she could and oh could you please share them with me. He got to fuck his wife and other women in two and three on ones and his wife was getting even more pussy!

Margaery and Sansa would instill some control when they arrived in King’s Landing. There was plenty of women to fuck without messing with a man’s wife. Unless he didn’t care or he was a cheat then that changed everything or the man was dominating his wife trying to crush her will and he refused to change his controlling ways. It burned up Sansa that men thought that they could ‘cheat’ and their women could not. That women had to be docile slaves in all but name to their men. She would work to balance those scales of sexual injustice.

Margaery had told Sansa about the wild swing parties in Highgarden. They were sure a hot blooded lot in the Reach Sansa thought. The tales of multiple pairings and sweet endless fucking had Sansa longing to participate in full blown lesbian swing parties.

At first such new ideas had been shocking to the Stark but now she couldn’t wait to partake of such events herself. She got wet thinking of participating in these lesbian ‘swing parties’. Sansa found her mouth watering at thoughts of all the pussies and sweet assholes for her to devour. Having women willing giving themselves to Sansa made the tall redhead smile sultrily. She had many women to consume as the wolf in the henhouse.

Margaery told Sansa it was her right. She was the dominate wolf after all. Sansa liked the sound of that. Yes. She would be the Queen of her roost.

Sansa found herself anxious to reach King’s Landing and partake fully in her newfound sexual liberation. Winterfell was her home but she had in some ways outgrown its provincial ways. She wanted to spread her wings in King’s Landing. Her sexual mores had totally changed and she longed to start devouring Margaery’s hens and the various women that they brought back to their nest.

Men bored Sansa now. Their bodies left her unaffected. Not so women and their bodies! She really wanted to become a total lesbo slut as Margaery liked to call it.

Sansa watched the Giant woman, Forecastle Starkissed, rubbing her woman’s pussy with her hand in Foamsurge’s trousers. Forecastle may be a Giant but she was all bad girl. She kept rubbing Foamsurge’s clit and slit till her body thrashed and spasmed hard in orgasm. The Giant woman’s eyes bulged open as she clamped her teeth tight so swallow her screams of ecstasy. Sansa beside the Giant female loved hearing the strangled muffled wails of lesbian bliss right beside her. The loud boisterous environment of the Feast Hall clouded the sound of Foamsurge’s cries of swallowed ecstasy. With all the back slapping and gesticulating around them most missed it Sansa thought but she had sure seen it. It was hot! Seeing women over twice your size being naughty was hot!

She had then been more shocked when Forecastle took the table top from her wife’s still clenching fingers and fitted the granite back in place and hummed a tune and traced the rock break with her index finger. In ten seconds the break was no more. Foamsurge leaned into her wife her eyes unfocused and sweat beaded on her face. A big beatific smile on her face.

They had then gotten up and begged their excuses. Foamsurge’s trousers dark now in the front and her ass cleft with her soaking cum juices. They hurried out. The Giants had staked out a spot in the woods by the Godswood where they had setup low tents or in the horse barns with their high ceilings. Their screams of sex during the night were loud and deep. She and Margaery had listened to the Giants two nights ago. The Giants had no problem expressing their pleasure and love. It had gotten them all wet and horny before running back to their quarters.
Yesterday Sansa had asked Braveheart Tillerkeel about her observations. The Giant smiled brilliantly down at Sansa. She had laughed and told the Stark that yes indeed all the Swordmainnir under her command were paired and married. It was not so in all other companies of Swordmainnir. She liked the extra cohesion and comradery it brought her command. A lover always fought hardest to save their lover from harm. In her command the women fought back to back when needed the women seeking out their mates to press their backs too.

Sansa asked if they were strictly monogamous. Braveheart looked at Margaery and Sansa appraisingly. “Most of us are monogamous but not all. Would you and Margaery care to join us in our tent tonight? Zephyrstar Forecastle and I are in an open relationship where we share beautiful women at times.”

Sansa graciously declined the offer. She was frankly intimidated in making love to a woman twice her size and many times her weight. Plus, she and Margaery were still new in their relationship. She had shed a lot of her prudish nature but she not ready for that. She wanted to fuck just Margaery while still in Winterfell. That would change once they were reunited with Margaery’s hens but they were family and had a history with Margaery. Sansa was not jealous of them. They had helped make Margaery into the loving wonderful lover she was now.

Their sweet dispositions had helped Margaery to also be a sweet loving woman.

She and Margaery had discussed it at length a few nights ago after intense lovemaking. Sansa had become sure that outside of Margaery’s hens waiting them in King’s Landing and the women they had in their claws and beaks that Sansa did not want any other women in addition to her future wife as part of her brood. They would share their hens and conquests. They would have one big happy extended brood.

Margaery had smiled and agreed only asking Sansa to keep an open mind. Who knew whom might come into their communal nest? Sansa had found that a reasonable request. Sansa was finding herself opening up more and more from her strict prudish upbringing. She now knew she would be sucking off all the women her ‘hens’ brought to her to be devoured. She wondered more and more if she herself might not be bringing sweet sluts to their nest for hen consumption. She liked that thought more and more.

Where the Giants were gaiety and had faces full of emotion and mirth, Sansa saw that the other visitors from this place called the Land were of a different temperament. The Haruchai and Ramen were in many ways the exact opposite. They did not necessarily come into the feast hall as one. They would stream in small knots or individually. She noticed roughly half the Haruchai were partnered up with all manner between the sexes.

She could feel the bond between the pairs but you almost never know it by looking at them. They ate quietly with a minimal use of energy or limb movement. Their faces were like stone and did not interact with those around them. She at first felt they were snooty but threw that out almost immediately. They were just bluff and taciturn. They seemed too deliberately to want to not show emotion or any expression.

Sansa also had noticed that the Haruchai had seemed to setup a loose patrol of Winterfell. She would notice a Haruchai in a hall or out on the squares on the grounds of Winterfell. She would look away and when she looked back they would seem to have disappeared. She had asked Wavesplash Rimeshoal of this as she walked from the Great Hall to the Glass Gardens to see them again with Margaery. Margaery could never get enough of the exotic sights and sounds of the solarium. The Giant also wished to see the “fabled Glass Gardens” she had heard so much about.

“The Haruchai are most adept at blending into their surroundings. We have grown accustomed to his skill and more often than not spy them out, though, I must admit often we don’t. They are on guard.”

“Why? There is no danger her in the seat of my father’s power.”

Wavesplash had chuckled at that. “The Haruchai have a saying ‘We know caution.’ It is in their nature to protect those that they value. Trust me in this. We are warded and protected.”

The conversation then turned to the Haruchai themselves. Braveheart told her that among themselves in their dwellings they were much different. They were renowned for their hot passion and extreme sexual prowess. They would show that with lovers that they took to their bed outside of the Haruchai. The Giant with mirth in her eyes informed Sansa of the arrival of one Selyse Florent.
Sansa herself had heard that Stannis’s wife had arrived last night.

Oberyn had been most sour about that for some reason. Then she had found out why he was in a put off mood. She had had to laugh hard with that knowledge. The idea that Mr. and Mrs. Prude were going to get evidently lots of hot wet pussy and he wasn’t had to hurt the vainglorious man.

Her reverie came to an end. She looked over at a table that the Ramen were sitting at. They did not come in a group all the time like the Giants. They were short of stature like the Haruchai. They were quite but their faces did show emotion and their voices had inflections. They kept to them themselves she had heard. They spent most of their time caring for the Ranyhyn and with the great horses settled the Ramen were also tending the multitude of horses currently housed in Winterfell proper or in corrals setup outside on the gassy plains surrounding the old castle.

The Haruchai kept their hair short no matter the sex though the women wore it down to the bottom of their ears while the men had close cropped crew cuts. The Ramen men had hair about as long the Haruchai women. The female Cord had hair to her shoulders. Her Manethrall, Shapa, had long brunette hair that came to the middle of her back when she had pulled her garrote out her hair. She tied it back up into her hair twisting and weaving it to put her hair up.

Sansa had been told that as the “Cord” approached their ascension to a Manethrall they let their hair grow out so they could weave their cord and healing flowers in their long tresses.

The Manethrall had yellow dried flowers in her hair. When Margaery had asked her two days ago what the flowers were she had been told they were Amanibhavam. The flowers were too powerful for human consumption. They brought insanity to man but gave healing to the Ranyhyn. Only the Manethrall with their extensive study could safely administer the powerful drug locked in the dried flower petals.

Sansa had looked at the Manethrall as they talked and wondered what weapon they used in combat.
She had heard the tales of them coming to the Ranyhyns’ aid against large wolves that had waged war on the Ranyhyn. She knew the Giants fought with swords and the Haruchai with their fist and feet. Sansa asked the Ramen how they fought. The Manethrall nodded to Trami.

He had stepped away from Sansa in the hall. In a deft motion he unbound the cord tied around his waist. He ripped the cord he had tied around his wrist in two loops of the rough hemp rope. He started his wrist rotating and the long cord started to circle in a whirring blur. Suddenly, he snapped his wrist and the cord which had fists knotted into the rope whiplashed like a bullwhip. The rope snapped a foot off to each side of Margaery’s head. He then pivoted and ran down the hall and jumped in the air. He twisted his body and made a loop of his cord and snapped it shut with a quick flick of his wrists.

“That would have snapped the neck of a Kresh and any human.”
“Kresh?”

“They are similar to your Direwolves though only about up to our shoulders and not over our heads like your Direwolves. The Kresh have yellow fur and yellow eyes. They are filled with ancient hate and hunger from the time of Lord Foul. They long to rend the flesh of the Ranyhyn as they roam the plains of Ra. We will ensure that will never happen!”

Sansa saw that the great horses of the Plains of Ra brought out the passion in these quiet people. These people were filled with fiery passion that they allowed to bleed through at times. She noticed that where the Haruchai were dark brown and black hair by birth the Ramen seemed to have brown and almost dirty blonde hair. Their skin was more pale but was dark brown because of their time in the sun. The Ranyhyn were in the sun and, thus, so were the Ramen.

Sansa was brought out of her reflections seeing her sister walking into the feast hall. On her shoulders was Kiserrì looking around like she was Queen of the world. The child spotted Sansa and waved great big. Sansa felt her heart go pitter-patter looking at the sweet little tyke. Arya spotted her and walked over with her new daughter running her fingers through her Arya’s brown hair that she had pulled straight back like her father kept her hair. She thought the look looked good on Arya.

She sat down across from Sansa.

“Auntie Sansa!” Kiserrì cried out and held her hands out. Sansa laughed taking her niece and pulling Kiserrì onto her lap as the girl snuggled and laughed. They talked about the current events. Their conversation turned to their mother. It was time for her to deliver. It was past time actually. Maester Luwin was worried that the birth had not happened yet. Maester Luwin thought the birth was still several days off. Still their mother looked so much better than she had when Arya had arrived. Margaery had bowed out of the meetings to be available for Catelyn when their mother went into labor.

Two Giants came up to the table. Kiserrì quickly held out her hands for Arya and the young Stark took the girl back from Sansa. Sansa was not upset. The girl wanted her mommy. Kiserrì hid pressed into Arya looking up at the Giants from Arya’s neck. The little Dothraki girl looking up at the Giants with big eyes of wonder and a dose of fright.

“We are Oakentree Harboarchannel and Crestdancer Shipsrow. We hear you are the Queen’s Bloodrider and a most fierce warrior.” The Giant women spoke in fluent Dothraki.

The little girl lost some of her fear and nodded her head ‘yes’.

“We have heard you are armed. Can we see your fearsome dagger?”

The little Dothraki girl shyly pulled out her blade only fumbling it slightly.

Crestdancer whistled. “It is a deadly weapon. We tremble before it” The Giants acted fearful of Kiserrì. “Will you grant us permission to remain in Winterfell?”

Kiserrì made a show of considering her options and then “Yes. I will allow you to stay.” Sansa then saw the little girl’s face fill with a calculating look. “Can you make me a butterfly?” Sansa smiled having had heard Arya tell her that story.

The Giants looked at each other wondering what the girl meant.

Arya pipped up and explained to the Giants how to make Kiserrì a butterfly. They laughed gaily and Oakentree held down her hands. The little girl marveled at the shovel size of the Giant’s hands. Kiserrì looked at Arya and she gave the child a reassuring smile. The girl held up her little arms and the Giant gently picked up the girl and held her facing away from her body.

Kiserri giggled and whooped when she was lifted over fifteen feet up into the air. All around the feast hall the Giants carried the extremely happy child. They took turns lifting up Kiserri and swaying her body like a butterfly in flight. The Giants walked back to the tables where their countrywomen sat. They handed the squealing little girl among them letting her be a butterfly flying high in the air and spun her around slowly as she chirped and beamed. The Giants gently hefted the girl up throwing her up a foot and their large hands totally enfolding the laughing girl protecting her as she wildly whooped she was flying. Kiserri flapped her little arms energetically.

Sansa looked at Arya who had a sufficed smile on her face looking at the little girl asking for apples slices to be handed up to her as she flew around her little arms flapping and now her right hand pushing apple slices into her mouth that she chomped on and swallowed with big gulps.

“How does it feel to be a mother? You move fast Arya. Hell, Margaery has been fucking me for months and Margaery has not knocked me up yet.”

Arya blushed profusely. She then gaped at her former prudish and staid sister. “What happen to my conservative and prime proper sister? You never talked like this before!”

“Margaery came into my life. I am learning to be free about sex Arya. It is a wonderful thing. One should enjoy it fully.”

Arya looked at her sister as her blush faded. She smiled at her and Sansa felt a love for Arya growing. They were finally putting the rancor of their past behind them.

“I love her with all my heart Sansa. It is a little shocking to be a mother on the same day you finally consummate your love with the woman you have loved for six years.”

Sansa laughed and Arya joined in.

They discussed how cute Kiserri was and how precious the little Dothraki was. The little girl was so sweet and loving.

Twice Arya had come to her and Margaery during the day and asked them to play with and occupy Kiserri for a few hours. Sansa had smirked at Arya who blushed a little. Sansa then cocked an eyebrow and Arya blushed more. It was so nice now that she was the more liberated one. Arya was still so fresh and innocent when it came to sex. Sansa fully understood that the Queen and Arya needed some alone time. They needed to cement their love with great lovemaking. She felt closer to Margaery after they had fucked themselves to exhaustion.

They had been happy to bond with their new niece. The girl was a little blossom of light and laughter. She was easily entertained and happy to be around her new aunts. The girl just ate up affection and was so well mannered. It was obvious that Dany was a great mother and Sansa knew that Arya already loved the little girl dearly and would be a great mommy too.

Dany and Margaery were meeting with Eddard and his war council. Margaery had been missing meetings being ready to be there with her second mother when her water broke and the birth of her child began. Sansa wanted her future wife to keep abreast of events so she had a maid ready to run to her and then she would run to the war council meeting and have Margaery and herself go to her mother. They would be there for Sansa’s mother when it was time for Catelyn Stark to give birth to her child.

“I have wanted to ask since you returned but wanted it to be just us. How did Margaery’s technique work on the Queen Arya? Did it work as advertised? How hard did she cum in your mouth?”

“Sansa!”

“What?!” Sansa asked in a false innocent voice looking equally innocent.

“I just can’t— … well—uh”

“You can’t believe I talk so dirty and act like a fucking slut?”

“Sansa!” Arya gasped “why do you put yourself down like that!”

“I’m not Arya. Margaery is teaching me that it is man’s world trying to keep us under their thumb to think ourselves dirty when we love sex; especially the love of our own sex. Our father is such an exception. Most men are intimidated by our power and sexuality. They try and make us feel guilty for loving sex. I am not guilty anymore. I love sex and want all of it can get from Margaery and when we get to King’s Landing her hens.”

“Hens?”

Sansa explained to Arya Margaery’s brood of cousins and close family friends she had been fucking for years. Sansa made it clear so that Arya understood the incestuous nature of the ‘hen’s lovemaking.

Arya just gaped at her for a minute. “It won’t bother you sharing Margaery with her cousins. I could never share Dany with anyone. No one!” she declared hotly.

Sansa reached over and gripped Arya’s hand. “That is good for you and your Queen. It is obvious that you two will only ever sleep with each other. Only Dany will be your Dragon Queen and only you can be her Direwolf. I love Margaery with all my heart and I know she would give up her cousins if I demanded it but I find I don’t want too. It just feels right in my soul to love them too. I can and I will.

“Wow. You have become quite liberated in regards to love and sex … wow. I am happy for you Sansa. I was so sure you would get married to some prince and have a brood of babies and be miserable.”

Sansa looked within herself and shivered at what could have been. “Thank the gods Margaery came into my life. Otherwise I would have fallen not into a fairytale but a nightmare. Men are so banal. No one is as good as our father or the man Robb will become. She saved me from a life of rue and despair. I was a lesbian and had no idea. I have been liberated and I have Margaery to thank for that.”

Sansa paused and looked at her sister “You were way ahead of me there sister.”

Arya smiled at her again. Sansa was so happy that she and her sister could share their intimate selves now that they had become adults.

“So tell me! How did Margaery’s advice work?!”

Arya looked at Sansa and her shy smile turned radiant. “Ohhh Sansa! Gods, she cummed so hard. Having Margaery’s advice gave me the confidence I needed when first making love to her. I was so green! Our lovemaking started a little rough. Dany took the lead and made love to me and took me to the heavens. Then she guided me to take her. Once I calmed down and got my confidence I rocked her world Sansa. Margaery’s advice centered me. I need to thank her so much. Please tell her! I so loved sucking Dany off and feeling my tongue working her clit with all those techniques she taught me. Gods I love the feel of her clit underneath my tongue and how her clit and hood squirted around in my mouth as I deep throat sucked it. She filled my mouth with her sweet cum as she screamed.”

Arya had a dreamy look on her face.

“Tell me what you did last night. I love hearing about fucking. Will you share?”

Arya hesitated.

“Its hot Arya. Talking about sex lets you relive it and makes you and I both hot for our wives. Margaery is always telling me about the hot sex she had with her hens. I fuck the hell out of her when she gets me so hot for it.” Sansa paused. Gods she couldn’t wait to get her mouth and fingers on Margaery’s cousins!

Arya looked around and saw no one was listening and leaned in with a big smile on her face. “After Kiserri went to sleep we put her in the bed across the hall. Aggo was her Bloodrider for the night. We hurried back to my room. We sucked each other off again and again. Gods Margaery she cums so hard filling my mouth to overflowing with her hot cum. She tasteesssss so good!”

“Then I scooted off the bed. I got on my knees and pulled her to the edge of the bed and put her legs on my shoulders. I hooked my fingers into her seam and pulled it slowly open. Gods it was so fucking beautiful Sansa. Her cunt was so red and wet. I watched her inner folds clutch and her fuck hole open and close as she breathed and her stomach flexed. I buried my face in her cunt and started to tongue fuck her sweet wet pussy. I hammered my head to pound my tongue in and out her pussy. Her pussy was so wet and it slurped as I fucked it.”

Sansa’s eyes went glassy listening to the sweet details from her sister going down on the Queen. Margaery was so right. Listening to great sex described was totally hot and rad!

“I would bury my face in her muff and suck in her inner twat meat and munch on it as I slobbered on sweet red cunt meat. I loved feeling her wet pussy in my mouth. I sucked with all my strength my cheeks hollowing out. I went back to tongue fucking her until she screamed and screamed. Her hands tore at the sheets and her thighs clamped so hard on my ears and squeezed so long as I watched her body go so rigid. She would buck and flip grinding her hot wet cunt into my sucking mouth.”

“Sansa, Dany’s spams would last so long. She would relax for a few heartbeats and then more spasms ripped through Dany’s body and she would go rigid and spasm again and again. I loved how her thighs squeezed my head. She used that grip as a fulcrum to lift her ass rise off the bed grind her exploding cunt in my mouth. The way it rocked my head back. Gods I love her cumming so hard in my mouth” Arya spoke in a dreamy voice.

“I know Arya. Last night I was going down on Margaery and she was near orgasm. I wormed two fingers up her hot tight wet shithole.” Sansa loved how Arya’s eyes bulged at that fact. “We both love it up the ass Arya. I slammed my fingers up into Margaery’s asshole with hard vicious strokes of my forearm. Gods I love the feel of her shithole clamping down on my fingers as I squire her butthole.”

Now Sansa had the dreamy eyes “Gods I loved how she clawed her fingers into my scalp and she had her legs spread out and her feet jammed into the mattress. When she cummed she rammed my face so deep into her exploding snatch and her feet surged her hips up off the bed ramming her pussy deep into my mouth. Her cum overflowed my mouth.”
“I loved the feel of her asshole gripping my plunging fingers as she orgasmed. It feels so hot feeling her shithole spasm and suck on my pumping fingers.”

“Wow Sansa” Arya gasped. “You have developed quite the potty mouth … shithole? Why do you use such dirty words? You make sex sound so base.”

“No Arya. It make sex sound nasty and hot. Again that is man’s world trying to crush our natural desires. They want us to control ourselves and submit to them by being demure and suppressing our natural desires to want to cum hot, wet and hard. They want us to be the pure angel in the proverbial kitchen and whore in the bedroom. They want us to be their slaves and cater to them. We are to be pure as they fuck around. They want us to act dirty but only as much as they allow. Fuck them! I like talking nasty Arya. It makes both Margaery and myself hot for it. Saying ‘shithole’ excites me Arya. It will excite you my little sister. Once you let yourself be free you will never go back.

Sansa saw her sister considering her words. Arya was a rebel. She would soon be talking like a drunken sailor on leave when fucking Dany. She needed to make sure that Arya progressed in other ways.

“You need to start doing anal Arya. I cum so hard when Margaery fucks me up the ass with her strap-on cock or rams her fist so hard and deep up my ass Arya.” Sansa smiled seeing Arya with a glazed look in her eyes.

Arya sighed “I will let Dany guide us to when we do anal. I trust her completely. I do want to be fucked up the ass Sansa. I warged into Nymeria and through her I have seen het couples doing it and the lesbian couples with strap-ons fucking each other up the ass. They cum so hard! Still. I will let Dany control that. She wants us to enjoy fucking ‘straight lesbo’ first.”

Arya sighed again this time in total happiness. “I love it when her cum runs down my cheeks, throat and runs down to soak my breasts.”

“Does the Queen love your little titties Arya?” Sansa knew the Queen did but wanted to get Arya to say it. Her sister had the hottest unique nipples. She was really lucky

Arya got a dreamy look again. “Three nights ago she spent almost a candle sucking on my nipples. She just loves them and can’t get enough of them. She calls them her “sweet plums”. She sucked so hard on them I thought she might suck them down her throat! She hooks her lips underneath the rim of my areolas and anchors her mouth to suck so hard! I love how her cheeks hollow out as she sucks so voraciously on my nipples. I can feel her stretching them taunt in her mouth. Her tongue like a gig batting and slapping my nipples all over. It is so heavenly Sansa” Arya said in a dreamy voice her eyes unfocused.

“She reached down and just flicked my clit and I exploded and exploded. My tits throbbed so fucking hard and felt full of fire. I don’t how to describe the pleasure it is so intense. She made me feel so good Sansa. She makes me proud of my breast.”

“I know what you mean.”

Arya looked at her confused. Sansa told her how she had always felt ashamed of her cone shaped breast and how her nipples were so puffy and capped over her breast. How Margaery had made her feel like the most sexy woman in the world and how she now loved her own breast. She squeezed Arya’s hand. “You have great tits little sister.”

Arya beamed.
“Tell me more.”

Arya’s eyes lidded like the slut she was quickly becoming with her Queen’s tutelage. “When Dany recovered from my suck off she got us up on the bed. She positioned our bodies so we could scissor fuck with me for the first time. Gods that is so fucking hot Sansa. I loved hugging her leg to my body and using it to hold me down as I humped her pussy hard and fast feeling our pussy lips rolled and stretched and our clits ramming into each other. Our twats were so sloppy wet that our pussies just slipped and slide so easily against each other.”

“I loved feeling our cunts soaking the other’s quim in hot pussy juice. The shock of our groins colliding and grinding against each other was pure heaven Sansa” Arya spoke in a soft husk. “Dany was working her hips like a bucking horse. Gods Sansa … she screamed so hard again and again as her body flipped and jackknifed so wildly. I kept ramming my cunt into hers prolonging her orgasm as she shrieked she loved me … gods that was so hot …”

“How did you get off?”

“As she twitched and jerked with aftershocks I pulled away and straddled her face and shoved my cunt down onto Dany’s face … she likes it hard Sansa. When I first started riding her face I was afraid to ride my pussy hard on her face. I was afraid I would hurt her or turn her off humping like a whore in heat.” Arya smiled. “That was most definitely not the case! She kept urging and then commanding me in a false regal voice to ‘ride my fucking face hard godsdamnit!’ I rode my pussy hard up and down her face. She snuffled so obscenely and sucked on my clit so hard and then tongue fucked my cunt hole so deep with her long tongue. She slapped my ass hard making me fuck harder into her mouth … Sansa—the pain felt so good.”

“That is a good thing Arya. The right pain adds so much to sex. Margaery loves for me to spank her really hard and slap her face and tits savagely. I pull her hair so hard stretching her neck taunt. I pull her around my room by her hair as she weeps and pleads. She actually has me punch her in the stomach. I have thrown her into the furniture and doors to my closets. She really loves physical abuse. She keeps wanting to play games where I ‘rape’ her and take her as my worthless slut. She is into it big time Arya.”

“I asked her to do that to me. She hesitated saying not everyone likes it and that I did not have to do it just because she craved the pain and humiliation. I told her I wanted to experience what she was experiencing. She told me all the hens love to be dominated and fucked hard by Margaery and the Septa Nystriera. She kept telling me that rough sex was not for everyone. I did not have to do it just because she craved it so.”

“What happened?”

“I talked her into it.”

“Annndddd?” Arya was sure she knew the answer. She secretly craved that kind of rough sex and thought it ran in the family hearing and seeing Sansa’s flushed face.

“I love it Arya. The pain goes straight to my clit and nipples. It is strange to say but I crave the humiliation with Margaery. It makes me feel powerful to give my body so totally. Pain can be such a powerful aphrodisiac. It is a nice spice to use from time to time. I love it and want more and more of it.”

“Yes you’re right. Dany gets off on it when I fuck her hard. When I was riding her face I whined and gripped her forehead and rode her face harder and harder as she smacked my ass so hard. She blistered my ass and then brought her hands up and cupped my tits and pulped my nipples pounding them into my chest. The pain was so fucking gooooodddd! I loved it! I threw my head back and screamed and screamed as convulsions tore my cunt apart. I felt my cum gushing out my cunt and filling her mouth. Gods it was so hot seeing my juices overflow her mouth and flood down her cheeks and throat. She had one hand on my ass now helping me hump her face and her other hand’s fingers rolled and squirted my clit out its sheath and squeezed it so hard. The sharp pain was so fucking good! I had a second orgasm overtrop the first. I screamed my voice hoarse."

“Oh Sansa. Sex is so good with her.”

“That is exactly how I feel when I fuck Margaery. Our lovemaking is simply divine.”

“Sansa, she kept sucking so hard on my cunt and now she was rubbing my clit furiously—my cunt exploded again in Dany’s mouth as I screamed and shrieked. I was sure my womb was going to tear out my belly as spasms hit me so hard. I flipped and bucked up and down driving my wet cunny so hard down on Dany’s hard sucking mouth. She sucked my cunt so deep into her mouth.”

“I love how Dany wants me to ride her face so hard when I sit on her face. I don’t always ride her face hard but when I do I don’t hesitate now. Gods the variations are so fucking rad!” Arya gushed in her enthusiasm.

“Its heaven Sansa—it’s pure heaven making love to a woman.”

“Amen Arya. I feel that every time I make love to Margaery. I feel it every time I bury my tongue or fingers in her wet twat.”

“Hearing you tell me of the rough sex play between you and Margaery makes me want that too. I want to experience Dany fucking me over. I want to do that to her. She is hinting that she is ‘tough’ and likes her sex ‘hard’. She keeps telling me she wants to be ‘ridden hard and hung up wet’. I have heard the maids talking and know what that means. I warg into Nymeria and she spies on them as they play with their toys and implements of pain. Dany wants me to slap her face, tits and ass. She wants me to pull her hair and whip her with a riding crop, flogger, whip or cane her ass, tits, belly, back, ribs and feet.”

“She has told me of these desires. She is letting me know what she craves. I feel she is waiting till after the campaign against the Ice King to explore anal sex and BDSM with me. I know she is wanting to show me the soft side of lovemaking before she shows me the harder edge to hot lovemaking.” Arya paused and took a breathy breath. “I can’t wait!”

Sansa smiled and told her sister that she would die from it when she and Dany finally explored anal sex and sadomasochism. Arya was truly eager to explore these aspects of lesbian sex which Sansa was very happy to hear. It seemed both sisters shared a very kinky streak in their personalities that had been hiding waiting to coaxed out by their lovers.

They talked for another fifteen minutes about fucking their mates. Arya was impressed when she found out how hard Sansa was fucked by Margaery at times. Arya was excited to know that her sister and Margaery partook in the sex she hoped to share with Dany. She kept asking for more information on the rough sex.

“You really like the pain? I mean spanking is one thing but …”

“Yes. I crave it when it is a woman abusing me. Knowing I can be safe with them and I know they will only give me what I want and need. Margaery knows how to give me the pain and humiliation I crave. She craves it too Arya. I am not surprised to hear that Daenerys Targaryen has within her breast the desires to be fucked hard and ‘roughed’ up by her lover. She is a switch like me Arya.
She wants to give and take abuse. She definitely wants to be dominated. Many people in power seem to crave being dominated. I hope you explore that dynamic if and when she offers it to you Arya. It is a sign of trust and love to fully submit to your woman.”

She saw Arya avidly turning it over in her mind. A smile on her face. Good. Let the seeds germinate. Arya wanted to. Sansa knew what kind of woman the Queen was. She would be offering herself to Arya to be taken in sadistic sex in the not too distant future. It was clear to Margaery and Sansa that Dany was a pain slut and longed to have Arya totally dominate and humiliate her in the privacy of their bedroom.

Sansa knew that Arya had her own desires to be the bottom and have sweet BDSM visited upon her own body. Arya had within her own breast the same desires as her older slutty sister. Both Stark sisters had the very strong desire to be topped and topped hard.

The giants brought Kiserri back to Arya. As they had discussed fucking their mates they would glimpse to see what Kiserri was up too. They had been a little shocked at what they saw. The Haruchai had joined in letting Kiserri be a butterfly. The stoic people lifting Kiserri high and swinging her gently as she squealed. Five of them had lined up and swung the laughing and clapping girl from Haruchai to Haruchai. The stoic people were totally focused on their butterfly chain making sure the child was safe. Around and around they passed the squealing happy child. They had then handed the girl back to the Giants and sat back down as one resuming their meal as if nothing had happened.

Arya took the excited and happy girl back from Crestdancer Shipsprow. She took the excited girl and got up to take her to the nursery the castle had for the young children of the staff. Arya wanted Kiserri to play with kids her age to learn how to interact with them and more importantly have fun.

Arya paused then and waggled her eyebrows. “Plus, it will wear her out and make her sooooo sleepy. We have discovered she is a very sound sleeper.” Then she leaned her mouth close to Sansa’s ear and whispered “We have the whole night to fuck!”

Sansa smiled. She and her sister had come a long way.

Sansa watched her sister leave with her knew daughter. Sansa went up to Crestdancer and asked her politely how it was she could speak Dothraki so fluently. The Giant laughed. She told Sansa that it was a gift from the Elohim the faery people who were the Weird of the Earth. Sansa left the Giant still now exactly sure of this gift and how the Giants came to have it.

The tall redhead had left the hall and went to the curtain wall and looked out over the fields to the South of the castle. She smiled at what she saw. Down below four of the Haruchai were throwing a large exercise ball around that was filled with sand. It was a heavy ball she knew having played with them a few times until she had discovered just how heavy they were. Knights used it to build up strength lifting them and throwing them between them.

The Haruchai definitely didn’t have to worry about staying fit. She had seen enough that these small people who were the most fit people she had ever seen. They had annihilated all their opponents except for the most skilled swordsman like her father and Stannis and of course her sister and their Queen. Oberyn and his spear had been able to survive without too much damage inflicted on his person and gave out a few good strikes himself.

No, the Haruchai were throwing the ball around for another reason. Long angry howls filled the grasslands. Nymeria and Shaggydog were running after the ball as it was thrown fast between the Haruchai. The taciturn men and women would throw the ball on the grass and kick the ball between them. How they had the strength to do that Sansa had no idea. How they did not break the bones in their bare feet with the strong kicks to the hard ball was a mystery to the tall redhead.

The Direwolves bounding after the ball that was always just out of reach. The balls snatched back up by Haruchai before the wolves could get the ball and make it their own. The wolves going insane with rage at being bested every time. Shaggydog and Nymeria snapping at each other savagely slaver flinging. It seemed to Sansa the Direwolves were blaming each other for their inability to get the ball.

Then the wolves would remember they were not supposed to be fighting each other and would be back after the Haruchai howling and snapping at their tormentors. The Haruchai would throw the ball to another just before one or both of the wolves got to them. Sometimes they would run with the ball and they were faster than the Direwolves which pissed them off making them bark and snarl.

Then they would throw it to another compatriot. The wolves were now trying to tackle the Haruchai and press them to the ground but the Haruchai stepped aside or threw the wolves over their hips and ran off with pissed off Direwolves giving chase snapping at their heels.

All were having a great time.

She saw walking down the walkway to the two witches who were wives of her brother Jon. They stood gazing out over the land beyond Winterfell. She was so happy for her Jon. She was still angry with herself for not supporting her brother and the way her mother had treated him. Now that Catelyn knew his true lineage Sansa’s mother felt so bad and hoped to make amends to Jon.

The witches had disappeared deep into the acreage of the Godswood when they had first arrived. To the right of the Godswood was a wattle of birch and aspen trees with thick brambles but they were not the true Godwood. They did double the acreage of wild growth though and made for a separate world if you wanted to get away from the world of man for a while. You could feel the border between the Godwood and the thicket on its border. It was almost like a knife’s edge the delineation was so sharp between Godwood and regular wood.

The serenity and deep brooding nature of the Weirtree and its influence on its environs was intense. The center of the Godwood was thick with brambles, vines and shrubs with big oaks and tall pines, firs, spruces and hemlocks. The shrubs grown to a height over Sansa’s head with many woven thick with vines and swaths of various berries so delicious in the fall.

She and Margaery had many times gone to the Godswood to commune spiritually. In her youth Sansa had always gravitated to the gods of her mother but as she had matured she more and more felt the connection to the gods of the north. The old gods seemed more in tune with nature and the inner human spirit. Sansa and Margaery felt more at peace underneath the Weirwood than in ostentatious edifices raised for the seven faced god.

An evil glint came to Sansa’s eyes. There were other reasons to go to the Godwood. There were certain areas where the hot water from the underground springs were near the surface within the Godwood. These areas before the wild growth. The hot areas near the pool by the Weirwood tree. Many had discovered these areas. The places a secret rendezvous for lovers. She and Margaery had fucked their several times. The sex mind blowing doing it there in the Godwood. The woods were always warmer than the air outside the groove and the hot water underneath the ground only made those areas warmer.

She couldn’t wait to fuck there again with Margaery.

Of late the two had gone to commune with the Weirwood of course but also to snoop on the witches they had to admit to themselves. They had walked to the edges of the wild growth. The area around the Weirwood on the side that faced the Great Keep was sparsely covered with vegetation compared to the wild area and the path that led out to the castle was more like a path in the woodlands that abounded outside the walls of Winterfell. The stand of the trees that rimmed the Godswood was to the north and west side of the Godswood.

Not so the heart of the Godswood that was to the east and south of the Weirwood tree. Here the growth was luxuriant and intertwined. Sansa and her lover knew that the witches had gone into that tangled wood but could not see how. They walked along the marge of the wild growth but saw no path into the growth. There were narrow and low to the ground animal tracks but no human could have used them.

The two walked along the edge bending over looking for a way in. They found none. The two were frustrated in finding no way in. They wanted to see where the witches were camping but they could find no way in. They had to give up. Being witches obviously gave them means to get through the wall of out of control growth. They left hand in hand.

Now the witches approached Sansa from down the curtain wall. They walked hand in hand. For some reason the fact that the witches were lesbians who happened to love Jon made Sansa happy.
Her memories of Jon were of a teenager and young man who had many feminine qualities. Some might find that a weakness but Sansa knew they were a strength. Like her father and Robb, Jon had seemed to be free of the defect that most men seemed to have. An overweening male ego. It was really a major turn off to see men strutting and preening when they had no reason too. It made them look stupid and vain.

Sansa knew Jon had made a great husband to the two witches.

She had seen them twice before as they made a few circuits around the grounds and had meals in the feast hall. The tall one was quiet and the short one talkative. The touched by the sun short woman was nothing if not outgoing. She was most talkative. She always had something to say it seemed.
She was always boasting with Melisandre rolling her eyes good naturedly.

Sansa liked them immensely. They exuded an air of calmness and goodness. They came to stand beside Sansa. Melisandre lifted up Ygritte on a stepping stone so she could easily look over the outer castle wall. The way she had done it just bespoke such great love. Ygritte immediately started to laugh and whoop seeing the frustrated Direwolves being frustrated even more. They were definitely not use to being on the short end of the situation. Shaggydog was howling furiously and Nymeria seemed to be throwing a fit spinning and snapping at the air and her own tail in frustration.

The Haruchai had to feel superior but they looked becalmed and like of course they were winning. It was the order of things for these warriors who only fought with their bare feet and hands.

Sansa made small talk with the witches. She had learned that their god of R’hlor had guided them to be here. To delay their return to their husband.

Sansa watched Melisandre start to rub her wife’s butt sensually and Ygritte wiggling her butt back into the caresses. She moaned softly.

Sansa smiled. She was really getting to love seeing women loving women.

Sansa was becoming more and more confident but not yet around women she did not know well.

“Ummmm … can I ask you two a question?”

“Yes” Melisandre hummed still rubbing her wife’s rump.”
“What is it like being married to man when you both are clearly lesbians?”

Ygritte turned to look at Sansa and smirked “You know nothing Sansa. Jon is a woman trapped in a man’s body. Mind you he is all man but he must have been a woman in his previous incarnations.”

“Yes. Jon was always a gentle and giving soul growing up.” Sansa smiled with her memories of Jon from her growing up years. Jon was so good and gentle.

“Yes he is. He gives us plenty let me tell you” Ygritte smirked at Sansa. “He is a natural pussy gobbler and sucks us off so fucking good. But he can also bone. We both love feeling him cum deep in our bellies filling our pussies and assholes with his pearly seed. We love to lap out his cum from our slack pussies and assholes.”

Sansa felt herself blush. She did not blanch like she would have only months ago. She was happy that Jon and his wives enjoyed each other bodies so intimately and with obvious great joy. She might be a lesbian but she had no problem with women being bisexual or even heterosexual though for the life of her she could not understand how a woman could not crave other women more than men. Men were banal and boring … well … except her father and brothers.

“He is the only man we could be attracted too …” there was pause “and your father … Jon is a mirror image of your father.”

Sansa had to agree. They all watched the Direwolves barking furiously at the Haruchai who held their balls on their heads out of reach.

The wolves now stormed back to the castle howling in disgust. But that had only been after they got their revenge in some small way. The three women had watched the Direwolves marking the grass with long streams of urine and scratching up a storm of grass blades and dirt. The Haruchai stood stoically letting the Direwolves coat their bodies with dirt and grass. The pissed off wolves gave one last round of angry barks and walked back into the gate. The wolves’ tails held high as if they had been the victors and not the total losers.

The Haruchai had only raised an eyebrow.

The witches moved off holding hands and now Ygritte was pressed into Melisandre and looking up at her wife with eyes glittering with pure love.

As they left she saw her love coming up the wall from the opposite way. The meeting was over. Margaery came up to her swaying her hips. She knew she was hot. They had fucked heatedly last night for hours and yet Sansa felt her body tingling looking at her love walk up to her. She longed to make love to her woman again. Her mouth salivating with the desire to suck her woman off and ram her tongue deep up Margaery’s hot wet pussy and tight asshole.

When she reached Sansa, she roughly enfolded Margaery into her arms and pressed her ripe body against hers. Margaery mewled loving to be controlled. She looked up at her lover with limpid eyes. Sansa jammed Margaery into her body feeling her slut whimper and look up at her with fuck me eyes.

Sansa lowered her head and claimed her wife’s mouth. Their lips melded and sucked on each other’s full lips before Sansa’s tongue aggressively brushed Margaery’s teeth. The Tyrell opened her mouth wide and groaned so loudly like a Lysian whore. She melted into Sansa as she felt the Stark’s long tongue wetly wrestle her tongue and then spear down her throat again and again. Margaery convulsed in want and her eyes rolled back into her skull. Her body sagging into Sansa’s her knees gone weak.
Sansa opened her eyes a slit to see Margaery swooning her eyelids bulging showing her rolling eyes in her skull. She roughly massaged her slut’s ass her fingers digging into the taunt moons. Sansa jerked Margaery’s pussy into her leg. She loved being in Winterfell where she was free to show her love for her woman. She was sure that she would have the same freedom in King’s Landing with Dany as the Queen.

She broke the kiss and Margaery sagged harder into her and wrapped her arms around Sansa burying her face in her tall love’s bosom. “I want you Sansa.”

“Soon my love. I am going to suck you off so good and then pound your pussy and asshole with my fingers and then my strap-on cock.”

“Mmmmmgggggg!” Margaery whinnied in raw slut need.

Gods Sansa loved her wife.

They stood toe to toe kissing and snuggling.

They heard an “ahem”.

They turned and started seeing their Queen beside them. She was smiling great big.

She joined them and they talked of the coming battle at the Wall and then about the day to day life of Winterfell. Dany confessed she was anxious to marry Arya and become part of the North.

That made Sansa’s heart beat harder in her chest. Life was so good for the Starks.

Sansa was feeling very naughty and the Queen was such an open loving person. She felt safe in asking her next question.

“Dany can ask you a personal question?”

The Queen smiled an evil smile. “I accept all challenges. Fire away Sansa.”

“When Arya sucked you off the first time did you die from it? That was Margaery’s gift to you teaching Arya how to do the Tyrell butterfly kiss.”

Dany burst out laughing. She shook her head smiling.

“I owe you big time Margaery. That is a fucking fantastic technique. I am a fast learner though. Last two nights I have had to chase Arya all across the bed as I “butterfly kissed” her pussy—she died from it as I did and do.”

“Margaery can I ask you a question?”

The Tyrell nodded her head yes with lidded eyes. Margaery knew she would like the question.

“Is Sansa a depraved slut in bed? Does she like it up the ass? I am bringing Arya along slowly but I am hoping she loves anal sex as much as I. I can’t but wonder and hope that Sansa is an anal whore?”

“She dies from it Dany. She screams and punches the bed as I pound anal ‘gasms out her tight ass.”

“Does she do A2P and ATM?”

“She can’t get enough.”
“Good. If the elder sister craves it the younger should too. You agree Sansa?”

Sansa could not help blushing having her lover and the Queen talking like she was not even there. She loved the humiliation. In fact her pussy was getting wet even now. She loved it up the ass but so did Margaery. Every bit as much if not more Sansa thought snidely. Sansa was definitely getting in the mood for some hard give and take anal sex tonight.

She was going to pound Margaery hard tonight for this. The smile on Margaery’s face told her that was exactly what she was hoping for.

She looked at the Queen. “You will be most satisfied with Arya’s hunger I assure your my liege. She and I are both Direwolves. As Margaery awakened my inner slut I am sure you have awakened Arya’s. But my Queen.” That got the Queen’s attention. “We expect and demand that we mount and take our mates hot tight assholes as well. Are you up for that my Queen. Are you ready to have Arya pound your ass and then thrust her cock deep into your pussy straight from your asshole? For her to feed you her cock soaked in your ass juice. Again and again.”

She smiled. Dany’s breathing had become erratic and eyes gone glassy. Yes. The sisters had sweet sluts for wives. Life was indeed good.
Margaery

Margaery was walking a little gingerly this morning. Sansa had truly been in Direwolf mode last night. The Tyrell smiled and then grimaced. Her booty had definitely been ravaged. Just like how she liked it! The conversation with Dany had put the heat in Sansa. She had nearly ripped the clothes off the Rose of House Tyrell. Sansa then threw Margaery onto the bed. First, Sansa had sucked her off several times to satisfy her need for hot pussy. Sansa’s gulps so obscene and hot.

That had only been the opening overture last night.

Sansa had mounted Margaery again and again last night. Margaery body felt worn out and ached but it was the good ache of a well fucked woman. A woman fucked expertly by her wife. Margaery shivered. Sansa boned better than all but the best cocksme. She had worn Margaery out last night.

Sansa had quickly mastered the techniques of using a strap-on. It was all in the hips. Add in a little imagination and you had a hot cocksman ravaging your fuck holes so sweetly. Margaery had been pleasantly surprised how quickly Sansa took her instructions from Margaery. She had fucked Margaery first standing beside the bed slamming her cock up Margaery’s cunt lunging her hips forward and up to fully bury her thick long shaft deep into Margaery’s sloppy wet quim.

Sansa had hooked Margaery’s left leg behind the knee jerking it up to open up Margaery’s cunt for the shaft slamming up deep into her belly. Margaery loved being fucked ballerina. Sansa so strong as she held Margaery to her body. Then she placed Margaery against the wall and lunged her prick savagely up into her drooling fuck hole. Her hands on Margaery’s hips to keep her in place for her plunging cock up into Margaery’s spasming belly. Sansa had kissed her heatedly and mauled her tits with hard squeezes.

With the end fuck, Sansa had mashed Margaery up against the wall and hammered fucked her spasming drooling clamshell with vicious up lunges of her thick strap-on cock. Margaery had cummed hard screaming and convulsing her body slapping into Sansa’s body and then into the wall back and forth. The strong tall redhead easily controlled the smaller woman she was fucking to the heavens.

Sansa had been so filled with fuck hunger last night. She had thrown Margaery onto the bed like a cheap whore exciting Margaery even more. It made her cunt even wetter if that was possible. Sansa’s hunger to fuck the hell out of Margaery running hot in her veins. Sansa had Margaery’s heels on her shoulders her arms looped around Sansa’s legs holding her in place. Margaery was totally in Sansa’s control and the Tyrell loved it. The feel of Sansa’s dick slamming home balls deep into her tight cunny. Sansa arched her back slamming her cock home and Margaery’s body began to buck and spasm and she screamed as she had a ferocious orgasm.

Margaery shivered remembering the ecstasy she felt as her tits whiplashed on her chest up and back as Sansa slammed fucked her to heaven and back. Sansa growled and snarled fucking her wife to be. Margaery loved Sansa’s power and willingness to use it in fucking her. The look on Sansa’s face had been feral. Her sweaty hair darkened by her running sweat. Strands of her red hair plastered all over her face and shoulders. The hair hanging over her shoulders jerking lankily.

Margaery was stunned and dreamy from her gut wrenching orgasms. Sansa pulled out of her cunt the sensations had the Tyrell crying out in pleasure. The Stark woman crawled up on the bed and fed Margaery her cock soaked in Margaery’s cum. She hummed sucking it clean murmuring as her head bobbed up and down the bulbous dickhead and realistic shaft. Margaery’s lips glued to the shaft sucking tight and hard savoring the taste of her own cunt on the thick shaft.

Then Sansa mounted her twice more on the bed Septa position nailing her ass to the bed as she pounded out two more orgasms from Margaery’s willing pussy. Margaery helping herself along rubbing her clit when Sansa was up on her palm or fists slamming her cock so hard and deep up into Margaery’s tight cunt. Sansa’s cone tits whiplashing on her chest as her body coiled and lunged down and forward nailing Margaery’s ass to the bed.

Her cockhead pounding Margaery’s cervix making her see stars. She loved how her wolf would hook her arms behind Margaery’s knees and fold the Tyrell back her ankles kicking over the Stark’s shoulders. Her trim opened up for deep dicking. The folded position put pressure in Margaery’s belly and partially constricted her breathing. The feeling of being controlled and fucked as Sansa’s fuck toy added to Margaery’s pleasure. Gods her wolf fucked her so well. Margaery had wailed and screamed in unbridled ecstasy.

Sansa had let her rest as they drank lots of spring wine and ate plenty of cherries and berries. Margaery’s pussy was worn out and happy. Sansa was still hot for her.

Then her sweet wolf manhandled Margaery into doggy position. Sansa whipped her cock into Margaery’s ass cheeks hard and then slapped them for good measure making her slut squeal in pain. Then she felt Sansa pull her ass cheek back and her bulbous dickhead jammed into her winking starfish. Margaery tensed and then cried out feeling Sansa’s thick shaft sink up her shithole slowly with a loving stroke till her legs pressed into Margaery’s toned legs and taunt ass.

Both of their assholes fucked regularly. Their sphincters loosened and not tightly pinched shut. Both assholes ravaged and ready for more hot hard anal sex.

Her Direwolf gripped her hips and slammed her dick deep and hard up Margaery’s tight asshole. Margaery’s body rocking forward with Sansa’s powerful body pounding into her ass making her hips and ass jiggle with the impact. Margaery moaned hard feeling her small tits whiplash underneath her as she had her shit pounded hard. Gods she loved thinking dirty talk in her mind. Her mouth joined the chorus. She cried out to Sansa “Pound my shit! Fuck my ass harder godsdamnit!”

Sansa had complied. Margaery reached back with her right hand and rubbed her muffin and clit. She cummed howling her body jackknifing violently.

Sansa then took her down to the bed and did her asshole spoon. Margaery loved the feel of Sansa’s body slapping her body hard ramming her dick balls deep up her spasming asshole. Their sweaty bodies slapping loudly in Sansa’s room. Sansa gripping her hips and grunting as she ravaged Margaery’s ass.

Then Sansa pulled out Margaery’s wet asshole that gushed ass juice. The slimy juice soaking Margaery’s perineum and weeping over ass cheeks and into her pussy hole. Sansa fisted her hair and rolled Margaery over and pushed her down Sansa’s sweat soaked body. Margaery had her cheek jammed down into Sansa’s belly by Sansa’s fist knotted in her hair. The rough control again turning the Rose of Tyrell on immensely.

Margaery saw up close Sansa’s dick soaked in her ass cream. The leather cock resting on Sansa’s belly rising and falling with her hard breathing. The cock creamed with sweet ass juice slavered thick all over the bulbous dickhead. She loved the sweaty skin to skin contact her face rising and falling with Sansa’s breathing with her cheek jammed into Sansa’s belly.

“Suck your shithole off my dick you fucking slut! Show me what a fucking anal whore you are!” Sansa barked at her. “No hands! Only your tongue slut!” Sansa barked at her lover. Margaery felt her pussy gush and her asshole spasm at the sweet humiliating speech. It turned her on!

Moaning, Margaery extended her tongue and had to work it to get it underneath the dickhead jerking on Sansa’s belly. Finally, she got the cock up on her tongue and moved her head forward swallowing the dick soaked in her sweet ass cream. She bobbed and sucked her sweet ass juice off the thick cock riding her tongue. Her head slowly working up and down the ass juice soaked leather cock. Margaery sucked in her sweet ass cream her eyelids fluttering to slits as she purred. She loved the taste of her ass!

Gods Margaery and now Sansa loved the taste of their sweet assholes. Sansa called it “sweet shit chocolate”. Sansa would pop her mouth off Margaery’s strap-on cock and moan “Ohhhh Margaery I love the taste of my shithole on your dick … so sweet … so good …” before diving back down swallowing the cock straight out her hot tight asshole. It made Margaery so happy to hear Sansa totally give in to being a total anal whore. Sansa had become so nasty and it turned Margaery on no end,

Now Sansa resumed pounding Margaery’s asshole spoon. She did ATM several more times happily gripping Sansa’s cock and bobbing down hard on the shaft she had raised up to let her bob fiercely on the ass juice slicked cock. Her sweaty lank hair flagged around her face with her hard up and pumping of her head.

Then Sansa was again ravaging her sensitized asshole that radiated out scalding waves of pleasure mixed with that intoxicating chaser of sweet anal pain that only added to the ecstasy flooding out her squired butthole. Sansa pounded Margaery till she cummed wailing and her body wildly kicking and jackknifing. Then to finish off Margaery she fucked Margaery in the pussy and ass back and forth with plenty of pauses to let Margaery’s clean her fuck holes off Sansa’s cock letting Margaery savor her sweet swirled together fuck juices.

The last orgasm had nearly pummeled Margaery senseless with Sansa gripping her shoulders to lunge her prick up Margaery’s asshole as Margaery jerked her clit and pussy with one hand and two fingers of her other hand plunged down into her pussy to work it and let her feel the thick shaft plundering her asshole with lunging strokes. She screamed herself nearly horse in her ecstasy.

They had cuddled and cooed going to sleep holding each other tight loving the feel of their sweaty and cum slavered bodies pressed tight together.

Margaery was totally in love and Sansa was hers. All hers. Sansa had left early to be at a meeting with her brother and their closest advisors and the Lords in the keep. Eddard was letting his children lead the meeting so he could take the leaders of the forces from the Land around to see of North around Winterfell. She had bowed out. Catelyn Stark had to be near term. It looked like the baby was getting lower. It had to be near time for Catelyn to give birth.

Eddard had come to Margaery and Sansa. He had told them that Maester Lewin felt Catelyn was still a day or two away from giving birth. She had not had any preliminary contractions and she showed no signs of dilation. The wife of Eddard seemed to be recovering and the Maester felt no premonitions of giving birth. Eddard had felt it safe to take a short excursion around Winterfell. There was a short break in the schedule of troops and supplies moving up the King’s Road up to the Wall that Eddard wanted to take advantage of. His wife’s color had returned as had her appetite. She seemed to have gained back a few pounds. Her face no longer gaunt and frail looking. He wanted to see the birth of his new child but if missed the birth he would be back soon afterward to celebrate the new arrival with his wife.

Margaery had slept in a little this morning resting up from her marathon sex session with her Direwolf. Gods she loved being fucked by Sansa. She was so powerful. Her height and solid frame gave her the power to fuck like a man she was sure. Margaery smiled. She was a gold star lesbian as was Sansa and her fellow hens. No man would ever touch them now!

Her grandmother and Dany would see to that. Margaery smiled thinking evil thoughts. Margaery would be one of the hens in the henhouse. Sansa would be the crafty fox marauding said hen house fucking Margaery and her fellow hens senseless. Of course nine hens should be able to overcome even a direwolf she mused. She shivered seeing in her mind’s eye cocks jutting out of all three of Sansa’s fuck holes. They would fuck her so airtight. The slut reaching out with her hands to jerk off the other phallic shafts hungry to fuck her willing fuck holes. They would fuck Sansa senseless.

She had washed in front of the fire and dressed. Margaery started daydreaming of the coming triple wedding. She knew from Catelyn it would start in the Glass Gardens and then finish in the Godswood where the vows would be exchanged. She could not wait to give her heart and soul to her soulmate. She and Sansa had talked and they would have a pagan marriage with her cousins and friends and form an open marriage pact with her hens. They would have their intensely devout connections to their soulmates but they would share freely and fuck so hard throughout the nights in wondrous pairings.

Thinking of the Hens had Margaery thinking of the bedding ceremony that would be performed the night of their weddings. It was obvious that Dany and Margaery would play the role of the men before the gathered throngs. They would be the aggressors when the threshold was passed. She felt her pussy get wet thinking of being stripped naked and carried up the stairs to be fucked by Sansa. She smirked. Sansa, Alys and Arya would be so mortified to be stripped naked and paraded around while bawdy jokes were made and salacious suggestions were made on how they should be fucked. Arya would die from it!

Thank goodness her room was just down the hall from Sansa’s room. She would get to see Arya blushing so hard!

She remembered last night after their fun with the strap-on. They had slept for three hours before she woke Sansa up for another session of hot lovemaking. They had scissor fucked to gut wrenching simultaneous orgasms that had them screaming and bucking wildly as their cunts gushed cum soaking their twats in sweet slimy mingled twat sauce. They had their legs running up the side of their mate. The women gripping tight to their body the leg before them. The legs used as anchor to let the two women hump desperately into each other’s pussies grinding their mounds and mashing their clits.

Their wails and screams filled their bedroom. Spittle sprayed out clenched teeth. Eyes had rolled back into skulls and jerked around obscenely as sweet ecstasy pummeled the women senseless with fucking gut wrenching and womb splitting ecstasy.

Then they had gotten in sweet sixty-nine with Sansa on the bottom like she liked it. They snuffled as they ate sweet sloppy wet gash. The two women gripping each other’s hips and upper legs to help them mash their faces deep into the sodden quims they were chowing down on. The two women’s faces soaked in sweat and cum. Gods Sansa’s cunt had exploded flooding her mouth to overflowing with sweet slimy cum that ran down her throat and slimed her upper chest. Then Margaery bucked her twat down into her hot gobbling mouth as Sansa sucked her off so good. Margaery wailed as her womb ruptured and flooded Sansa’s hot sucking mouth twice with her sweet steamy creamy cunt juice.

They had untangled and Margaery snuggled in under Sansa’s chin and threw her leg possessively over Sansa’s body. Sansa pulled her tight to her sweat and cum soaked body. Margaery’s body was soaked in cum and sweat. Margaery traced lazy patterns in the sweat and cum on Sansa’s upper body and cheeks. They were languid and so in love. Margaery had loved feeling the dying aftershocks ripple through her clit and nipples. Her stomach clenching hard making her breathing hitch and catch as she snuggled into her lover.

They discussed the happiness that Arya had found with the Queen. It was obvious they were a perfect fit. They could not keep their hands off each other, especially the Queen. She had seen the Queen twice now in the kitchen area pin Arya in the corner and nibble on Arya’ neck while running her hands underneath her loose blouse top. She massaged the sixteen year old’s nipples to their full plum bursting erection. It was so cute seeing Arya chuffing and her face so beet red with excitement. They soon left for Arya’s chambers to fuck.

Margaery smiled. She loved how both Stark sisters had found the mate with the perfect temperament for their personalities. Arya was a one woman female where Sansa had discovered she could be polyamorous with her affections. She would LOVE Margaery but could also love Margaery’s cousins. It was going to be so good when they formed their bevy.

The next morning, Margaery went to the little eating area in the royal kitchen area. The kitchen staff had two tables set aside for staff and the royals to have a private meal if it was desired. Margaery ate a quick meal. She had fresh backed flaky biscuits that were steaming hot fresh from the brick lined ovens. The tubs of butter and bowls of fresh raspberry preserves were so yummy. She ate five biscuits along with strips of fresh crispy bacon. She washed it down with fresh goat’s milk.

Refreshed Margaery left the kitchen area greeting the staff and hugging the two cooks she had helped find each other. She laughed telling them she and Sansa would want the full details on the morrow of their furious fucking tonight. The two cooks blushed but smiled great big promising Margaery all the “juicy details”. Sansa had become addicted to a good sexy yarn as Margaery was.

She walked with a light step up to the royal quarters. She was anxious for Catelyn to have her child. They would only be at Winterfell for ten or twelve more days she calculated. She had talked to Missandei and the last of the troop columns were coming up the King’s Road and marching east from the beachheads on the Eastern coast of North. The mercenary companies no longer needed as rearguard were moving fast up the roads and tracks to add their force to the Queen’s army.

All was proceeding well. The dragons had overflown the Fist of the First Men again. The dragons flying high up in the sky to stay above any threats. The dragons when they went that far north always went all three together. The three dragons crisscrossing their patterns to protect themselves from assault above. They were way too high in the sky to be assaulted from the ground. Their memories from the Dothraki grass seas had taught them the fear of bolts from below.

The dragons observed more and more of the Ice King’s forces were forming up. He still hesitated. The Queen’s fist in his face at the Tree of Life must have but fear in his cold lifeless heart. This the dragons also remembered with relish. They had savaged both the Ice King and his forces. His forces were way too vast to be attacked alone now. The dragons knew the limits of their own strength and the possibility of weapons capable of harming them.

Their mother constantly reinforcing their need for caution. They heeded their mother’s advice staying high above their enemy below.

Dany was sure he was afraid. She tended to think that as well. It was the Starks that were uncomfortable with the Ice King’s hesitancy. Why march all the way from the top of the world if they were not to attack? Still, they could not discern any other strategy of the Ice King.

Margaery remembered the meeting she had sat in the day before. Eddard had invited the leaders of the Giants, Haruchai and Ramen to sit in on the war council. Margaery shook her head. The doorway into the war council room stood at twelve feet in height. When Braveheart Tillerkeel the First of the Giants and her wife and second in command Zephyrstar Forecastle entered the room all the men and women of Westeros had gaped. Braveheart had tilted her head to the side to get it under the lintel and her wife had to bend her knees slightly to enter being nearly thirteen feet tall.

They were genial and laughing but the tree trunk legs corded with muscle and veins and their arms so large and thick with muscle were intimidating. The swords on their back were over eight feet long. The pummels sticking up high above their heads.

The Haruchai and Ramen representatives were quiet and stoic. The Giants had come into the room talking loudly. The Haruchai and Ramen walked in silently. There was four of the Haurchais and all four of the Ramen had come into the room. Manethrall Shapa flanked by her cords. The eight humans quietly taking their seats and sitting with ramrod straight posture.

The Lord in her light blue tunic belted at the waist entered next. She was severe looking. She looked like life had given her a cruel message. Brail the First Mark of the Haruchai and her personal Bloodguard was by her elbow. The Haruchai was beautiful with her dark brown skin and jet black hair and high cheekbones and almond eyes. She was flat of countenance, her facing giving nothing away, but Margaery’s gaydar was pinging hard. The Haruchai was hopelessly in love with the Lord.

Margaery felt her instinct to nurture new lesbian love kick in.

Eddard showed the representatives from the Land all the information that they had on the Ice King. Dany looked at them waiting for their opinions. The warriors felt that the Ice King hesitated. He had to sense their forces gathering as the forces of men sensed his massing armies. They felt both sides were building up their forces to maximum levels and only then would they fall on each other.

The Giants, Haruchai and Ramen turned to Lustra of the Council of Revelstone. She was a Lord and the way the other representatives deferred to her told Margaery of the woman’s power and wisdom. Margaery could not see it. The woman seemed ordinary compared to her companions. Lustra carried a staff that was shod with iron butts but it was totally bland. Margaery assumed it had to the ceremonial staff she held. It must have some symbolic mark that gave her power and prestige that had these powerful warriors deferring to her.

“What is your views Lord Lustra?” Brail asked in her flat atonal voice.

“I don’t know. I agree with Eddard Stark. This does not feel right but I cannot name what gives me pause. I have seen your dragons Dragonthane. They are most powerful and their senses sharp. From what I have been told he has been building his forces for close to ten years. What is a few more months? Still I find it strange. He remained hidden in the far North of your land for all this time. Now he reveals himself but does not strike. I fear deception but it is obvious he hesitates.”
“Also, he has aligned with a vile Croyel. We sensed this unholy union from half a world away. This first brought to our attention the need to come to your aid. The Croyel are an ancient and vile race. They are cowards but always seek to conquer and rule mercilessly with those they bind with. They only bind with those how are truly powerful and have the ambition and courage they lack.”

“We wonder why the Croyel hesitates. It feeds off this Ice King. It must have been imbued with his passion for victory. I fear they have some nefarious designs. I am not able to pierce their subterfuge. I counsel that we move north and meet the challenge of this age. Whatever they have planned and laid out for us we will meet the challenge. We will have to risk any trap.”

The Lord took a breath looking around the table judging her tablemates. “It will matter not what this Ice King and his Croyel have laid out. We will strike this blight from this land.”

The meeting had ended shortly after that. Though their numbers were few all in the room of Westeros and Essos felt the power and strength of the visitors from the Southern hemisphere. The strength opposing the Ice King had risen greatly.

Margaery wanted to check on her mother. She smiled to herself. She had indeed come to think of Catelyn Stark as her second mother. Her husband Eddard Stark was the father she had secretly longed for her father to be. Margaery loved her father but she had long ago seen his limitations. Her father was weak and meek where Eddard was strong and decisive. Then to make the man even more admirable he was fair beyond measure and so forward thinking. She had been stunned when he told her in her grandmother’s royal carriage he knew she was Sansa’s lover and approved! And he wanted them to wed!

She had been his ardent supporter from that moment.

She went up to her mother-in-law’s room and gently opened the door. She felt it the instant she entered the room. Margaery felt an ill omen wash over her. She was not into the mystical but she definitely felt a chill run through her body. Something had changed and not for the good. Maester Luwin was on a chair beside the bed. She hurried to the bedside. Catelyn Stark looked pale and drawn where last night she had her color back and seemed as if her health was returning.

Now her face was again gaunt. It was as if all the gains Catelyn had made over the last week plus had been washed away overnight. Her face was again pale and drawn. She looked like she had lost all the weight she had gained back plus more. Her skin pallor was unhealthy. Her breathing elevated. Her face drawn with pain and suffering. Margaery wrung her hands advancing on the bed and the Maester.

In the back of the room a female Haruchai stood silent along the back wall. Margaery thought it was Soral. The Haruchai looked much alike and yet were distinctive when you took the time to look for their unique features. She stood along the back of the room almost seeming to disappear into the tapestry she was in front of. The Haruchai had started posting a Haruchai in Catelyn’s room three days ago.

It warmed Margaery’s heart to think that the Haruchai felt it important to ward Catelyn Stark. She had learned from the Giants that the Haruchai always warded those under their protection. It had not been asked for but it was being given.

“What is wrong Maester Luwin?” The Maester turned to face Margaery. For a moment his face was unguarded. She saw deep concern if not fear in his eyes. He immediately put on the doctor’s face of calm and being in control of the situation. A wane smile came to his face.

“I don’t know my child. The baby has lowered itself in her womb and is at the birth canal. Catelyn should not be like this. The drop was sudden. It is not right. Her pulse has grown marginally weaker. This makes no sense. I think we are in no danger but of course I am concerned.” He turned and took Catelyn hand taking her pulse.

Margaery felt her unease rise up higher. Her hand was so pale. It had a slight blue caste to it. Margaery felt her stomach twist into knots. Her new mother was in grave danger. She could feel it.

“How have you tried to raise her from her sleep? Shouldn’t she be awake if she is weakening?

She saw the Maester debating with himself. This frightened Margaery. Maester Luwin was not sure what to do. “I tried to rouse her but she quickly fell back into slumber. In her tired worn state I feel that rest is imperative. She needs to conserve her strength for the birth. Her water should break soon.”

Margaery spent a half hour holding her mother-in-law’s cool hand and putting cool compresses on her now slightly feverish forehead. She agreed with the Maester. This made no sense. How could Catelyn go from being on the road to complete recovery the night before to this wane drawn state? Margaery knew what her eyes told and that terrified her.

She left and walked down the halls to find her wife. She was heading to the meeting room when she meet Sansa coming up the hall.

Her love saw the look on her face. She hurried her step. “What is wrong my love?”

She told her love what she had witnessed and the unease she felt. Sansa put her hand to her mouth to stifle her sob. They hurried back to Sansa’s mother’s bed taking the chair beside her mother’s bed. When they entered the room Margaery saw that the Maester had moved to a table in the corner. He was sitting and turning the pages in a book reading intently.

She did not look worse but a sense of dread was building. Sansa held her mother’s hand fretting. “Her hand is so cold Margaery.” To Margaery’s eyes Catelyn’s hand looked bluer. Sansa looked up at Margaery with a frightened look. Margaery moved behind her love in the chair and hugged her shoulders and bent down to kiss her temple.

Margaery asked Maester Luwin “Do you have any poultices you can give her? The birth must be soon?” The Maester looked up from the book he was reading. His look troubled. “I fear there are none for this situation Margaery. I have given her a drink to calm her respiration. We must let nature take its tract. Catelyn should be alright after the child is born.” He went back to reading his book.

Margaery looked at Sansa “I think we should call in your father Sansa.”

Sansa looked back up at her. “You know he has gone out on a ride with the leaders of the forces of the Land to show off some of our immediate realm. With my mother doing so well he felt it was safe to go out on the trek. He felt that he needed show these travelers from their far away land what they are fighting for. He wants them to see the beauty of Westeros. They are too far away now. It would take many hours for any news to reach them. The horses are tired now. It will be many hours before he could return.” Margaery saw the anguish in Sansa’s eyes.

Margaery gnawed her lip. She cursed the fates. She felt Sansa’s father should be here. Eddard not being here for Catelyn in her time of need felt ominous.

It was so strange how Catelyn had improved so markedly and now seemed to be backsliding at a frightening rate. A week’s plus of recovery gone in a single night. Catelyn looked more pale than she did when Margaery first saw her this morning. She looked up at the Maester and she saw the worry on his face though he was trying to hide his worry.

Margaery paused. This change in Sansa’s mother was so unexpected. Unexpected like the appearances of Jon’s wives. Her eyes flew open. Her grandmother, Olenna, had told her several times over the years that the ShadowBinders of Asshai could read portents of the future in the flames.

They had known this was going to happen!

Margaery turned to look at Sansa “Where are Melisandre and Ygritte? They came her for a reason. This is the reason. They knew Catelyn would have this downturn. They are here to help!”

Margaery saw Sansa’s eyes light with hope. She felt hope surge in her lover as it surged in her own veins.

“No! I forbid it!”

They both turned to look at Maester Luwin. They were both shocked by the anger they saw in his face. The man had stood up from the chair at the table he had been reading at.

“What is the problem with asking for help from Jon’s wives? They are here to help” Sansa asked the Maester of House Stark.

“They are witches. The Citadel knows of these witches from that dark land of Asshai. They are an abomination. They perform human sacrifice and give birth to shadow monsters that are a horror to the world. They are manipulative and will do anything to move forward the will of their god R’hollor.”

“Jon would never associate with such women if they were as you say” Sansa argued back.

“Do not let your love of your brother and this desperate situation cloud your judgement Sansa. These women are capable of great mischief and outright evil. Jon has clearly let his love for these two women cloud his judgement. Or worse yet, these witches have probably caste some spell upon Jon. He is probably under their sway.”

Margaery jumped to Sansa’s half-brother’s defense “That is being unfair to them! That is being unfair to Jon. Sansa has told me all about Jon Stark. He is a good man and would not so easily be led astray as you are saying. I reject what you saw about Melisandre and Ygritte. They have been nothing but be gentle and loving from what I have seen” Margaery interjected.

“So they may seem. I assure you that is not the case. I have not said anything before for there was no need. They were in no position to give harm. This Ygritte I know nothing of. That is not the case of Melisandre. She is known to the Citadel. We have tracked her history back at least fifteen hundred years and the whispers say she is at least four hundred years older still.”

Margaery was surprised to hear that but she immediately decided it did not matter. “So she is old” Margaery answered. What was important was the manner and demeanor of these women. “They were not evil. A Stark could not love an evil person and they were too strong to be caste under a spell.”

“Child. That is not natural in and of itself. How is such long life achieved? It defies all the laws of nature, but, I do not speak of her age. I speak of her actions.”

He paused and the two women waited as the Maester drew out the next sentence he was to speak. To the man’s character he did not seem to relish what he had to say. He was not about to speak out to harm except he felt he needed to speak up.
“Tell us” Sansa breathed.

“She has burned at least seven people in large bon fires to appease her god and seek his boon. One of them was a teenage boy. It has been reported that she has given birth large fearsome shadow monsters from her vagina. Unnatural spawn that went out to kill and rend.”

Margaery and Sansa looked at each other. Had Jon in his desperation sought out powerful allies no matter their past. Maybe the witches could not be fully trusted. What were their own secret agendas? Margaery’s surety of just a moment ago formed cracks. Now she was not sure. This new news on Melisandre made Margaery blanch. To burn people to death and create shadow monsters from her vagina. This gave her pause. It would give anyone pause.

It was unnatural like the Maester spoke. Margaery gnawed her lip. Human sacrifice was an abomination.

“No. I do not believe they are a danger” Sansa spoke. “Melisandre may have done those things in the past but she is good now. I feel it.”

“Are you sure of this knowledge?” Margaery asked the Maester. “How do you know these accounts are accurate? That they are not hearsay or outright lies?”

The Maester took a deep breath. “These reports are from multiple sources in four of the cases. Two were in front of Maester’s traveling the world to learn its secrets. The last was from a survivor of one of her attempts to burn multiple persons. Many witnessed the Shadow Monsters at work. Two men witnessed the actual births of the Shadow monsters. Melisandre never tried to hide her works. She was open in her service to those she had allied to. She would work with whomever she deemed necessary to move forward the will of her god R’hollor.”

Sansa was still sure of herself despite Margaery’s newborn misgivings. “I don’t care what you say. She may have been right in what she did. I admit if find it reprehensible what you say but I was not there. I can only judge what they have done here in Westeros at this time.”

“Child. You know nothing of these women. You have barely even met them. I assure you that the witches of R’hollor are evil. They have no toleration for any views but their own. They have the additional sin of being from the dark land of Asshai. That is a dark, dour and vile land.”

“My father says to trust your instincts. I trust mine” Sansa told her Maester. Margaery admired Sansa and her certitude. She wished she could match it. What she had heard from the Maester had shaken Margaery badly.

“Many a brave warrior has died following their ‘instincts’ Sansa” the Maester answered “don’t let need cloud your judgement.”

“Margaery.”

Margaery looked at her lover.

“The witches are in the Godswood. Go and get them please. I think you are totally right. They came to save Catelyn and her child.”

“Are you sure Sansa?” Margaery asked worriedly. She had not known of Melisandre’s past and age. “If she is serving R’hllor maybe she has other goals. What Maester Luwin has told me has shaken me Sansa.” Sansa turned from looking at her mother and gave Margaery her full attention.

“I trust my gut Margaery. I will stay with my mother. Please hurry.” That intense gaze calmed Margaery. Again Margaery was filled with awe at the calmness and certitude of the Starks.

Margaery could not deny her Sansa anything. She kissed Sansa on the mouth and then took Catelyn’s hand and squeezed it gently. It felt so cold! Catelyn looked so frail and it filled the Tyrell with dread. She needed help for her second mother and would risk anything to acquire the boon Catelyn Stark needed. She opened the door and stopped in shock. On either side of the door stood a Haruchai. They stood facing the door with immovable faces.

Margaery had always learned persons’ names. These were Surrase and Sard. The woman and man did not acknowledge Margaery. For these two Haruchai to be standing guard at the door filled Margaery with dread. They did not show any emotion of course but she was able to sense that they were filled with ire at something. There was nothing to guard against. Why were there? She feared what the answer might be.

She ran to their room and put on a cloak for the weather. There was a cold wind blowing from the North steadily with occasional gusts. The sky had turned cloudy and was lowering. Snow was in the air and the temperature was in the upper twenties. She left the Great Keep and headed to the north of the compound of Winterfell.

Again Margaery was struck by the size of the castle grounds. She saw off in the distance the far castle walls and the stand of trees that bordered the Godsdwood. Highgarden was all castle built onto a low lying hill. There was no grounds per se at her birthplace. All this expanse of space was both awe inspiring and a little off putting to a woman who had grown up in home hemmed in by walls that rose up to the heavens.

The dark sky had the look of a harbinger. The clouds dark and sullen. Margaery moved off across the grounds. She walked by the stand of spruce and fir to right of Great Keep. The land rose up roughly thirty feet to a plateau out in the back of the compound where the Godsdwood was located along with the stand of trees and brambles that abutted up to the Godsdwood. The Glass Garden was a short ways off separated from the Godsdwoods by a stand of towering spruce and fir trees. Around the Glass Gardens were some practice ground and additional garden beds used for additional food staples in the spring and summer.

The Tyrell walked steadily as the tall stand of trees came closer and closer. She spied the stand of the trees just to the right of the Godsdwood. She had avoided the woods so far on her own. The weather was cold and to be truthful the woods of the Godsdwood intimidated her without Sansa at her side. With her tall strong direwolf she felt safe and secure and could feel the peace of the woods. Without her wolf the tangled growth felt angry and housed secrets beyond her ability to decipher or understand. The stand of conifers to its side were thick with some undergrowth but the Godsdwood took it up exponentially. The Godsdwood was intense and seemed to have a focus just short of conscious understanding.

The Godsdwood was composed of tall conifers with some maple and berry trees and a few broad oak trees that spread out their canopies. Beneath those canopies were a wild tangle of undergrowth. The growth interwoven and intimidating to the lone woman. As she approached the stand she saw the red leaves of the Weirtree jutting out the canopy interspersed with some maple and aspen trees that was near the Weirtree. The canopy was thick and she could see thick brambles and bush growth underneath. This area had not been disturbed for thousands of years. Maybe tens of thousands of years she felt in her bones.

She knew she was looking at Westeros as it was before man came to his continent. This area was still the same as when the Children of the Forest walked the continent of Westeros below the Wall. She felt like an interloper.
Trees had sprung forth from cone seedlings and acorns grown to full height and strength. There broad limbs reaching for the sky and making their own cones and acorns. Then with the time of centuries the trees passed into old age and then death. Their mighty trunks in time crashing to the ground as their sons and daughters pushed up their boughs to the sun. This small stand of trees represented the Wheel of Life she had read of in the Land Yi Ti. Life supporting death and the inverse all in perfect balance.

Margaery understood in her bones that this was how Westeros was before the time of man on this continent. This spot of the Godswood was the world of the Children of the Forest. She wondered if the Weirwood tree still longed for the people who had love for and respected the Earth. Margaery shook off these thoughts. She needed to enter this ancient hoary woods to get aid for her loving mother-in-law.

Margaery approached the slight incline that lead to the path that took one into the first depths of the Godswood and the pool that lay before the Weirwood with its faced carved by the first people in the misty depths of time. A face that bleed tears of red. The color of blood. Margaery felt a shiver run through her slight body. She hesitated before the break in the woods and brambles. The air was turgid with mist that had started to filter through the air. The air cold. She looked into the doorway of the path into the heart of the Godswood.

Margaery could sense the brooding air of the Godswood. House Tyrell knew the green Earth and the life that sprang from it. She could almost hear the Weirwood breathing and watching. She felt its somnolence dreaming dreams of past slaughter and raging defiance. She felt the Weirwood calling to her. It felt her family’s affinity to things that grew from the rich Earth. She felt its touch in the middle of the night. She felt its dreams of times remembered from the long distant past. A time when it’s breathing and living consciousness stretched across the continent of Westeros with its many brothers and sisters.

That time sadly was no more. Margaery had read the history of the chopping down and burning of the Weirwoods. She had always thought it a crime but had never thought much on it. That had changed living in the North now. She had come to see something precious had been lost. She felt a little trepidation. Of late Eddard in his reading had discovered that the lineage of the Starks had had a large hand in that slaughter.

Would the Godswood and its Weirwood tree now exact revenge for that past slaughter? Margaery took a shivering breath. Her resolve hardened. Eddard Stark was attempting to make amends. He was not those Starks of the past. Surely, the old gods would answer the need of the Starks this day.

She stepped into the Godswood. It was like stepping through a door. The wind that was blowing from out of the North ceased two feet inside the Godswood. The wind did not penetrate the woods. She stopped amazed. The temperature was fifteen degrees warmer. The deciduous trees had many of their leaves still on the boughs. The leaves refusing to let go of life. The brambles and bushes were still green and vibrant. The brambles filled with ripe berries for the birds and small mammals who called this scared groove home. This area remembered itself.

She slowly walked down the path to the Weirwood tree. She looked around herself. Yes, the woods was brooding but she did not feel malicious intent. She felt only brooding. She slowly advanced down the path till she came to the small pool that was before the Weirwood tree.

Margaery looked at the carved face in the tree with red sap weeping out the cuts. She had read of that but to see it was unearthly. She felt like the face was looking at her even though she knew it was not. She stepped up to the pool. She looked down at the dark waters with red leaves floating on the surface slowly moving to and fore on the water. Unseen air currents stirring the surface of the pool. She knew the water was not deep but it felt like she was looking into the depths of a great lake or inland sea.

Margaery looked around. She saw a fox peeking out a bramble to the left. The fox looked at her with a sense of curiosity. The fox was wary but did not seem overly frightened of the human invading its home. She heard songbirds warbling and the caws of Ravens deep in the Godwood. She saw a woodchuck scurrying down a path that led deeper into the woods. The mist wafted between the branches and seeped through the grey air. The mist touched her face like Sansa’s gentle caress as they lay in bed after lovemaking cooing to and stroking each other.

With the touch of the mist on her face, Margaery felt that his was truly a sacred area. This groove of the Weirwood tree. She had never really believed in the seven gods of her family. Sansa had some belief in the old gods. Margaery now felt like maybe the old gods did exist. She looked around. This side of the Godswood was not thick with brambles and scrub. She could see out to the castle behind her and to the right through the tree trunks. There were vines and moss hanging down from the branches wafting in the gentle air currents.

Looking the other way the Godswood was seeming impenetrable thick with trees and dense undergrowth. It was in there that the Shadowbenders resided. They darkness of the thick trees filled the area with mystery and possible danger.

Margaery shook herself. She had been spooked by the words of Maester Luwin. It made her doubt her instincts. She steeled her courage and slowly moved down the wide path that quickly narrowed moving north deeper into the Godwood. In twenty paces she felt like she was in an old growth forest. The outside world had disappeared. She felt the brooding of the Weirwood more here. It was not angry of the Starks. It knew it had friends in that House. This family had changed its tenor. Old sins forgiven. It remembered the slaughter from her kindred. Still Margaery felt safe.

She listened to the whispers. She stopped and listened to the silence that carried whispers just beyond hearing. She felt the Weirwood communing with its brethren in the North. Something was about to happen. The wood felt simmering hope and possibilities. The Godswood did not know what was about to occur but it felt something in the depths of its nurturing roots and the rustling of its leaves in the top of the canopy of its spread out limbs. The sap running up in the tree trunks spoke of hope and possibilities.

It was beyond Margaery. The Weirwood itself did not know what the portent meant but she felt a hope that the woods had not felt in many millennium. She felt a flash of a vision. A large underground warren filled with life and hope. She heard wild discordant barking. What it was she did not know but she felt hope that soothed her in this time of distress and fear.

Margaery kept moving down the path that was now nothing more than an animal trail. She somehow knew this was the path to the witches. She could almost swear that the path was opening before and closing behind her. She had moved down the trail for a hundred yards when it suddenly opened up into a small enclosure. It was empty. She looked up at the overhanging branches interwoven thick with leaves of three oaks. She looked around looking at the empty enclosure. She turned to turn around in another transit searching for the ShadowBender witches.

“Fuck!”

Before her stood the ShadowBender witch Melisandre seemingly having materialized from thin air. Her tall height imposing. Her red eyes blazed as did the ruby gem at her throat held in place by a choker. She backed up and yelped hitting something. Margaery whipped around her eyes large with fright. A smirking Ygritte stood before her. Margaery hand went to her throat in alarm.
“Do not worry your pretty little head Margaery. We won’t bite.” She paused “Unless you want us too.”

“Ygritte” Melisandre softly intoned.

“Aw Melisandre I was just ribbing her.”

Margaery gathered her scattered wits. She had come here for answers and succor. “Why did you come here? Did you know that Catelyn Stark’s pregnancy would turn for the worse? You were on your way to your husband, Jon” Margaery spoke in a rush. She was still recovering from being startled so bad. Her spirit already wound up tight with fright for Catelyn Stark.

Melisandre came around to stand by Ygritte. “We saw in the flames many visions Margaery. The visions of our god is always difficult to unwind and decipher at the best of times. We see what was. What is and what may be. Always in motion the future, hard to see. Even the current times are filled with possibilities. One can never be totally assured of what will and will not occur” Melisandre spoke softly to Margaery.

“Did you see Catelyn dying?”

“Yes.”

“Ohhhhh!” Margaery felt herself growing faint.

“But we also saw visions of her alive and healthy with her newborns. We see many visions. We see a vision of you and your wife in a castle in the sky.”

“The Eyrie” Margaery softly spoke.

“We see you falling through an open door to your death but we also see visions of a mad woman falling to her death. We see our own deaths as well. We will have to sacrifice our lives in the end. This is something we will do gladly. We also see a green goddess fighting a mad god on top of the fallen Wall. The battle setting in force events that will save Ygritte and I.”

“Which of these visions will come true we do not know. The flames only show us what is possible. What may occur? We have the ability to change the future and yet destiny flows on unaware of the cares of man. We felt that the woman you have come to love as your mother may have need of us and we came.

“Did you burn people in the flames Melisandre?” Margaery blurted out.

The woman from Asshai looked at Margaery for so long she thought she might not answer her. “Yes I did. I did what I thought was right at the time. R’hallor is the god of light. My god opposes the forces of dark. I now know I was mistaken in the paths I followed. The goal was worthy and right though. I now know that one does not follow a path of darkness to achieve the light. I know now there are other paths to the will of R’hallor beside the path that is clear before you. I walk another path now. These paths are less clear and sure but the same results can be achieved.”

Margaery believed her and felt herself relax. The fear that been coursing in her veins began to alleviate.

“Is Eddard by her side?” Ygritte asked.

“No” Margaery answered. She saw the witches twitch and look at each other. There was concern on their countenance. She saw Ygritte grip Melisandre looking up at her intently.
“Why is that important?!” Margaery asked with fear in her voice.

“In our visions Catelyn Stark dies when Eddard is not with her. Where is he?” Ygritte barked at her. The witches had been calm a moment before but now they were tense with agitation.

“He took the leaders of the forces from the Land to see some of the North around Winterfell. He left several hours before first light. He was not to return to late in the evening. He felt safe in taking the trip with Cat doing so well” Margaery spoke wringing her hands. She was so nervous.

The two witches spoke softly in their native tongue. They seemed to come to a conclusion and turned back to Margaery.

“Did the Lord of Revelstone go with him?”

“I don’t know!” Margaery cried out in fear.

“She must have. She is the representative of their Council of Lords” Ygritte spoke to Melisandre. Melisandre seemed to agree.

The witches turned to face each other. Margaery watched the two witches take a deep breath and then their hands were weaving and twisting paths through the air between them. The hands a perfect mirror image of each other’s movements. They began to murmur and their bodies weaved right and left in perfect sync. A red haze appeared between their hands. The glow strongest where the hands passed through the air. Soon Margaery could see strange glyphs glowing in the air.

A minute later they stopped and turned to face Margaery. The glyphs disappeared as if erased from the world. “The message has been sent. They are on their way back. We must hurry to the Great Keep.”

“But their horses will be tired. It is several hours past noon. He will not be back for seven or ten hours. I feel deep in my bones that will be too late.” Dread filled the heart of the Tyrell. Margaery turned to walk back up the animal path that widened as they hurried back up the path. Behind her unseen the path closed up behind the three women.

Margaery felt the two powerful women behind her following close. Fear filled her heart for her mother-in-law. These women were powerful. Surely they would be able to save Catelyn. No matter what their visions showed. The Tyrell knew that without succor Catelyn would not survive to the setting of the sun. She felt it in the morrow of her bones. The three women came out to the clearing before the pool and then the path out of the Godswood. Margaery was almost sure she felt a benefice flow out over her and the witches as they departed the Godswood.

The Tyrell looked back. She saw nothing. Margaery shook her head. She hurried on with the witches in tow.

From three angles Margaery saw the dragons of Daenerys come swooping down from the laden sky. Drogon landed on the west tower of the Great Keep and landed on his hind legs his neck extended and wings beating in a fast blur. The great Black Dread screamed out his rage his eyes whirling with agitation. Again and again his mighty base bugle boomed into the sky.

Margaery blanched. The dragons sensed the dread of the situation. For the dragons to sense this filled Margaery with even more dread.

Rhaegal landed on the broken tower and roared his anger to the sky. Viserion landed on the outer curtain wall and hopped around as he bugled his distress in mighty baritone blasts. Margaery saw the people of Winterfell coming up onto the ramparts and outside to the grounds to watch the dragons. Margaery was sure the word of Catelyn’s dire straits was spreading throughout the castle now.

Then Margaery understood. Margaery knew the Queen had made it to Catelyn’s room and the dragons were mirroring her distress. The Direwolves came bounding out into the yard.

Now the Direwolves added their cacophony of howls to the din of noise reverberating over the landscape and echoing off the walls of the old venerable castle. It seemed as if the walls were shaking with the noise of the beasts. The mighty wolves howling and snapping at each other in their distress.

One of the Direwolves stopped snapping at its mates. The wolf looked out at the advancing women. Lady came bounding across the yard yammering in distress. Her hackles on her raised shoulder girdle and her tail was down and fluffed out. Lady came up and turned around to saddle into Margaery. She was shaking. Margaery felt a rush go through her feeling the Direwolf pressed into her seeking comfort. She petted the great beast on its back and the wolf whimpered. Lady was always the most gentle of the great beasts.

Margaery’s fear only rose. Catelyn Stark was in great peril. She saw people pointing up to the dragons and heard them speaking of their Mistress of Winterfell being in trouble. The people upset and greatly worried at the thought of their Warden’s wife in danger. All had been happy at the news of her seeming recovery.

They entered the great entrance hall the great keep. She looked up at the great Direwolf banner hanging from high ceiling beams and the flag beside it all in white and black letters “Winter is coming … the North never forgets.” People were everywhere talking in excited voices and gesticulating at the news and the roar of the mighty beasts outside.

She looked down the hall and started. From the shadows between stands with suits of armor two Haruchai stepped out of the shadows like ghosts taken form. The Haruchai were an imposing people with their granite like personas. The silent bluff people were intimidating by their very nature.

This was only enhanced manifold now. The two Haruchai looked like they were on the edge of great violence. They came to stand before the two witches six feet in front of them. They were impassive and seemingly relaxed but having grown up around Loras she saw the slightly flexed knees and tightness in their bodies. These male and female Haruchai were ready to strike out. Margaery had seen them best all but the strongest and most accomplished knights of Westeros with no effort. If they had risen against her and the witches Margaery knew that her mission of succor for Catelyn was in jeopardy. Margaery felt her fear racket up several turns.

They were poised for great violence. She had seen them in the practice yards easily felling knights and fighting the Giants to a draw. They had picked up on the discord with the ShadowBenders and Maester Luwin somehow.

Ygritte flew mad and started to lunge at them but Melisandre gripped her wife and pulled her hard against her body.

Ygritte raged “You know nothing! We are here to help not harm you fucking idiots! I do not fear you!”

“We are Haruchai. We know caution” the female Haruchai spoke. The male by her side ready to strike in an instant. Though they seemed relaxed Margaery knew they would strike out death faster than her eyes could fathom.
“I could strike you down if I chose to!” Ygritte yelled at the two taciturn Haruchai.

“If you move against us you will have proven yourselves unworthy. You will be dead before you can blink” the female spoke. The two witches seethed. Both sides eyed each other. One with seething emotion the other with blank faces. It was a Dorne standoff.

Margaery thought both sides were being stupid in this time of crises. They needed to act to save Catelyn! She was especially angry with the Haruchai. They phrased their repudiation in such a way the witches would prove their assertions if they acted to move against them to come to Catelyn’s aid. She had admired the Haruchai greatly but now she saw they could also be supremely arrogant in their actions. They were totally solid in their belief of their motives and rectitude.

A Giant came in through the mighty double doors easily pushing them open with her great strength. She stopped to survey the confrontation. She snorted.

“Damnit Tass! Can’t you see there is no ill in them? They are here to help.”

“The Grey Slayer fooled Highlord Kevin. He let him on his council. This eventually led to the Ritual of Desecration. You were not there. We will not make that error again.”

“Can’t you let that go? That was over fifty thousand years ago! Let it go!”

“We do not forget.”

“What the hell are you talking about! From what I just heard that was fifty thousand years ago! You couldn’t have been there” Margaery cried out.

“We were there” the male Haruchai, Farhal, spoke with no hint of possibly being wrong.

Margaery turned on the Haruchai. “How is it that you have turned on Melisandre and Ygritte. You don’t even know them!”

Farhal stared at her. “Soral is with Catelyn Stark. She heard the repudiation of the ShadowBender witches by Maester Luwin. We are not of this world. We know nothing of this world’s people. Your Maester is valued and more importantly trusted. He spoke of Melisandre’s past evil actions. Thus, we ward against her possible intent. We will not allow these witches to be near Catelyn Stark in a place to cause harm.”

“We are wasting time” Margaery shouted at the Haruchai. She hurried down the hall. She felt the rest of her companions falling in behind her. The Haruchai were only warding against possible harm Margaery felt. She felt her doubts returning. Now she doubted everything. The Haruchai had reasons from their past to distrust the ShadowBender witches in this current crises.

She looked up at the Giant. The Giant glanced down. She had short brown hair and her face was absolutely stunning. She had for her size medium sized bosom her armor crafted to fit snugly on for her size very ample bosom. Margaery could not help let her eyes take in the perfection of the Giant. She needed relief from the great stress she was under and let her eyes take in the beauty before her.

“I’m married I would have you know” the Giant chortled.

Margaery blushed. “Forgive me …”

“Deltamist Cablishourd … normally I would tease you mercilessly but the times are dire.”

“Who are you married to if I may ask?” Margaery had heard how all the Giants were married to another in the party. She found the idea so appealing to her gay sensibilities.

“Oakentree Harbor channel the most beautiful Giant to ever live” the tall woman spoke with longing and adore.

Margaery smiled. That was how she thought of Sansa. To hear of love and not mistrust made Margaery’s heart beat easier in her chest.

“Can I ask you what this Ritual of Desecration is that the Haruchai speak of?” Margaery asked as they hurried forward through Winterfell. “It was so long ago but these Haruchai speak as if it just happened.” Margaery asked her dual questions.

Margaery looked behind her. Ygritte was still fuming with Melisandre arm around her waist keeping her pulled tight to the imposing frame. The Haruchai walked a step back off to the sides obviously guarding against the witches. Melisandre was ignoring the two Haruchai but Ygritte was cursing them and making obscene gestures at them. She made threats against them. The Haruchai totally ignored Ygritte which only pissed her off all the more.

“It was over fifty thousand years ago from what you said. How can they remember from so long ago?” Margaery asked the grim face Giant taking small steps to keep her pace to human steps.

Deltamist answered Margaery’s questions “The Haruchai have the mind speech. They can share their thoughts and their perceptions. Image knowing the thoughts of all your countrymen. They have ‘elders’ that teach their young from the age they can walk the long past history of the Haruchai. By the time they reach adolescence they have all the memories of their people impressed into their consciousness. For them the Ritual of Desecration only happened yesterday. They remember it as if it happened yesterday.

“What was the Ritual of Desecration?”

“It was magical spell that unbinds all life and magic. That magic required great skill and even greater strength. High Lord Kevin dared Lord Foul to the Ritual thinking that they would both die. High Lord Kevin died hearing Lord Foul laughing as he died. You cannot kill Despite. All life and magic was torn form the land.”

“Then how did your race survive, the Haruchai, the Ramen.”

“When Kevin had conceived his madness he tried to save as many as he could. He sent the Unhomed onto their ships. The Ramen and Ranyhyn traveled south to the wastes leaving their homeland of the Plains of Ra. He sent the Bloodguard—composed of Haruchai—to the Western Mountain passes. Thus, the people pledge to preserve his life and the life of the Land were spared death. The people of the land he ordered to the Giants Woods to the North and the Southern Wastes. Most escaped. Many did not.”

“The death toll was staggering. The destruction to wood and fen devastating. It had been a thousand years after the Ritual of Desecration when Thomas Covenant first came to the Land. So much had been lost. The Land was but a shell of itself when he first came to the Land.”

“The Haruchai still have not forgiven themselves though they have made peace with those events. Therefore even though we can perceive no ill in the Witches of Asshai the Haruchai still ward against them and the possibility of deceit.”

“Perceive no ill in them? What do you mean?” Margaery asked the Giant.

“We in our Lands in the Southern Hemisphere that have had association with Land can see into the hearts of a man and woman. We can see the spirit of a person if you will. The Earthpower of the Land permeates all of its inhabitants. We are able to see the rightness of nature or if a tree has been blighted with an infestation. We can see murder in the heart of a person though it is so rare in the Land and in our lands and the Lands of the Haruchai that we can barely remember murder among our kind.”

“You mean you would be able to tell if they are lying?”

“Yes. But there is one caveat to this ability.”

“What?”

“Great power can overcome our perceptions. Lord Foul was such a being. We suppose She Who Must Not Be Named is such a being. The Elohim. The only other two that could not be read were Thomas Covenant the Unbeliever and Linden Avery the Chosen. The old story tellers say it was because they came from another world. That was before they fully became the White Gold. Now they transcend all Law. They with one word can damn or save the Earth.”

The Giant smiled. “They redeemed the world from death when the Worm of the World’s End drank from the Earthroot beneath Melkurion Skyweir. The world ended and yet they redeemed the world and recreated it with their own will. They chose to save.”

Margaery was spinning with all this information. They had come to the bedchamber of Eddard and Catelyn Stark. The two Haruchai warding the door to Catelyn’s room stiffly stood aside.

They entered with Giant tilting her head to enter. They found chaos. Margaery saw three Giants on one knee on the other side of Catelyn Stark. They looked distraught. One spoke to Deltamist Cableshroud “we have given her Diamonddraught but it had no affect. To humans it should have a healing property but it has not helped her at all.” The Giant looked crestfallen that their drink had not helped Catelyn.

Robb Stark was there with Alyse who was crying. Dany and Arya were there with Kiserri hugging Dany crying. Margaery had noticed that the Haruchai at the door had entered the bedchamber and stood near the witches warding. As Margaery looked around she saw two more Haruchai come up on the outside of the doorway.

Missandei was near the bed looking confused and upset. Shadowclaw was rubbing her legs meowing and hissing in distress.

She hurried over to Sansa and Maester Luwin beside Catelyn’s stark bed. She looked so white and drawn. She looked like death. Margaery’s breath caught. How could this happen? She had been on the mend. Now she was on death’s door. Loud cries of anguish filled the room. The master of arms, Rodrik Cassel, Jory Cassel and Barristan Selmy with his lady love were milling around looking unsure and frightened at not being able to help Catelyn in her time of need.

Her dress had been pulled back and her legs spread and pushed back and out. A trickle of blood was issuing from Catelyn’s vagina.

She turned on Maester Luwin “How has this occurred?! You said her crisis has passed!”

The Maester was pale himself. “I cannot explain this change. She had basically recovered. This defies the reasons of science. This pregnancy should come to full term easily now. I had felt the baby last night and all was well. I have felt the baby now. It is all twisted around and lengthwise against the birth canal. It feels confused somehow as I map its position. It makes no sense!”
He saw the witches.

“I forbid them to be here!” He glared back at the women. Margaery could understand his ire but from his perspective but he was not helping Catelyn. Maybe they could!

Sansa turned around “Thank God! Come save my mother!”

Master Luwin stood up. “I forbid it. The witches of Asshai deal in blood magic! They are an abomination. They kill the innocent for blood sacrifice to further their ends.”

“I don’t care!” Sansa screamed “They came to save my mother.”

Maester Luwin turned to Daenerys “I have read the journal you wrote of your beginning in your Khalasar. Tell them what happened then. Tell them of Mirri Maz Duur.”

Daenerys looked miserable. Her face ashen Daenerys spoke of the time the Maester asked of “She killed my unborn son and reduced Khal Drogo to a hollow soulless husk. He was made brainless performing her blood right. I trusted her in my desperation and she killed my son. She told me she had been trained by ShadowBender witches.”

Rikkon came into the room and he started to cry seeing his mother in such a bad way. Robb helped to comfort the teenager as he cried.

Lady started to paw and scratch the door whining outside. Sansa went and let her Direwolf in. Lady was agitated and needed Sansa and Margaery constantly petting her and making soothing sounds to keep the distressed wolf calm.

Margaery saw Kiserri staring hard hugging her mother harder and Arya was talking to both softly giving her support. Kiserri twisted and put her hands out to Arya. The gesture touched Margaery deeply as Arya took the girl who buried her head in the crook of Arya’s neck.

“See I told you all. They are Shadowbinders who work to their own agenda.”

“Our only agenda is to support our husband Jon Stark. We are here to save life not take it” Melisandre calmly spoke. Ygritte trembled with rage.

“I too have read Daenerys Targaryen’s account of her early days. I remember Maester that Mirri Maz Dur used the knowledge of Maester Marwyn to poison Khal Drogo.” Melisandre answered calmly. “Her poultice was of his knowledge. She made the poultice such as to so itch he could on endure it. Who is to say if she didn’t put other less savory plants or minerals in the poultice?”

The Maester stared at the Queen. “This may be. You yourself said you saw demon shapes on the tent that night. It is well known that Shadowbinders create demons from their vaginas. Is this not so?” the Maester turned to the witches.

Melisandre calmly answered “I have created more than a few demons from my ‘vagina’. They are most powerful emissaries.”

This interchange between the Maester of Winterfell and the witches of Asshai had everyone confused. Those of Winterfell trusted the Maester implicitly. He had helped these people for decades. The ShadowBender witches were new and strange to the people of Winterfell.

More chaos followed for the next hour and a half as it seemed everyone tried to over talk everyone else. There was rising shouts of anger and people over talking each other. Chambermaids had come in to try and help the Maester. Their weeping added to the confusion of the situation. The Giants tried to calm everyone.

Then Sansa screamed. Margaery had been pacing and ran to the side of Catelyn’s bed.

“Oh gods no! Her bed has become a bed of blood!” Margaery cried out. Catelyn’s water had burst and it was bright crimson with fresh blood.

Lady now howled at the top of her lungs adding to the cacophony of confusion and terror.

Eddard Stark was not here. He was at least six to seven and half hours away. The witches of Asshai’s prophecy said he must be in this room for Catelyn to live.

Sansa was wailing and the witches were nearly shaking with ire and rage. The Haruchai were posed to strike in the blink of an eye. The witches and Haruchai stood before each other as if daring each other to make the first move. Without word from Maester Luwin the witches would not be allowed near Catelyn. The witches sensed the might of the Haruchai and feared to make a move against them. To overcome the Haruchai would require great magic that would harm all in the room.

Catelyn was going to die Margaery now knew. She could not last till Eddard Stark arrived. He could not arrive for another six hours plus at the earliest.

She started to cry rivers of tears as her wife screamed in her pain and fear.

The door slammed open. The sound starting everyone in the room. Margaery turned to the door. Her mouth fell open her heart beating triple time in her chest.

Through the doorway rushed Eddard Stark, Lord Lustra and the Haruchai Brail. They were soaked in sweat and mud but they had arrived.

Margaery nearly fainted. Miracles can happen.

Eddard

The sky was still dark. It would be for several more hours before the sun broke the horizon. Birds were only now waking up and beginning to chirp and caw. Only those who got up early knew that birds started to wake hours before dawn. First only the lonely chirp. But slowly, over the minutes the notes of new bird arose until you had a symphony of waking birds chirping. The firs by the castle were a rockery for ravens and they were cawing to each other as they greeted the approaching morning. Eddard had put on the blanket on his warhorse’s back. He gripped his saddle and threw it up on his horses back and synched up the straps and adjusted the fit on the horses back. He adjusted the stirrups.

He had his squires working to put saddles on the three horses he would ride out towards Castle Cerwyn. There was farmsteads and woodlands between the rolling hills. The fields were fallow but Eddard wanted the visitor’s leaders to see some of the land under his rule and give them a sense that this land was worth the sacrifice. He would ride out fast riding spare horses to get to the Riddley’s. A small village by noon. He would show the emissaries the small croft and then push on another league or two to show other peaceful farmsteads and the tranquil woodlands. This land needed to be protected from the approaching death of the Ice King.

Only then would Eddard mount his warhorse back. The spare horses would spare the mighty beast the burden of Eddard’s weight. The animal would be more refreshed to carry his master back to Winterfell. They should arrive back at Winterfell four to six hours after the sun had set.
He would not have done this a week ago but his wife’s recovery gave him the confidence to take the leaders from the Land out to see some of his lands. Maester Luwin had assured him that his wife would have an uncomplicated delivery if her water broke. He hoped to be there for the birth of his latest and probably last child but he had missed Robb, Sansa and Rickon’s birth so he would not be devastated if he missed this birth. He wanted to go this day hoping his wife giving birth to their new child would not come till he got back.

They would not be ready to leave Winterfell for several weeks yet. The exact date to leave was not set yet but the time for the final surge was fast approaching. The fact that the Ice King hesitated at the Fist of the First Men allowed for Eddard and his Queen to move in a timely manner without the need to rush up to the Wall. They were letting the rest of their forces surge past Winterfell on their way to the Wall. By then Cat would have had their child and would be fully recovered and caring for their new child. He smiled at that thought. Cat was a great mother of her children. He paused thinking of Jon and his treatment by Cat. If only he could have told her the truth things would have been so different. He synched his saddle harder.

The past was done and he could not go back and undo it. He did what he felt he had to do to keep Jon safe from Robert’s insane fear and jealousy of all things House Targaryen. He also had to honor the last request of his sweet sister Lyanna. He had made the right decisions but the cost had been exhorbant. So many deceptions done in the name of others. Eddard rested his head on his horse’s flank. The deception of not having Lyanna’s body and finding a doppelganger. Hiding Jon’s true lineage with lie after lie. Letting Robert remain on the throne. No matter. Eddard straightened his back. The past was over he could only forge a better future.

The birds were more fully awake now and the trees and eves were alive with chirps. Soon the birds would emerge to find this sustenance. Eddard looked to the east. The sky was still dark. He wondered how the birds knew the sun was fast approaching. No matter. It was time to begin today’s journey.

Soon enough the sky would begin to have the first glimmers of dawn. He went into the stables to get a pick for his horse’s hooves. He had noticed a rock in his horse’s left front hoof. The horse tenders had the stalls emptied of horses and many were out in the pasture covered with blankets and feed bags on. The rest of the horses were on the far end of the stables and barn edifices.

Some of the Giants had chosen to sleep here in the barns due their extreme height compared to human habitations. At twelve to fourteen feet in height the Giants were just too tall to comfortably reside in any human sized habitation.

He had been lost in his thoughts entering the stables thinking of the day’s journey. He heard the unmistakable sounds of love making. He looked up and his mouth fell open. Up against one the support posts for the second floor hayloft was Braveheart Tillerkeel with her back pressed hard into the eight by eight inch beam. Her wife Zephyrstar Forecastle was before her.

Braveheart had her battle skirt around her feet and her blouse top was obviously undone. Their armor was piled on hay bales to their right. His sight was blocked by Zephyrstar but it was obvious what she was doing to her wife. Braveheart’s head was lulled over her face contorting in fierce pleasure that if he did not know better would have thought was extreme pain. Her head snapped to the side and jacked back into the beam. The sound loud. It must have been painful but the Giant showed no grimace of pain.

From the motions of Zephyrstar’s arms it was obvious one her hands were pleasuring her wife’s vagina and the other was lifting a heavy bosom up. Zephyrstar’s head was cantered down her mouth making wet suck sounds as she devoured a rigid nipple.
Eddard blushed hard. He was very liberal in his views on individuals having the right to choose whomever they wanted as mates and was using Dany’s rule and liberal views to enact that in his own immediate family and would progress this policy throughout the North knowing that Daenerys Targaryen would make it the law of the Land.

Her benevolent rule and their upcoming defeat of the Ice King would give her the currency to implement this change in social law as well as her desires to allow for equal primogeniture in the ascending to the throne. It was practiced in Dorne for a thousand years and it seemed to be just fine. He thought back on Robert Baratheon and Daenerys’ father, Aerys II Targaryen, those thoughts had convinced him that just the fact that one was born male did not mean you were fit to be king. Those two men shattered that convention.

If Daenerys had not come to Westeros the chances were very great that Joffrey Baratheon would have had ascended the throne in the not too distant future. With the way Robert was declining he doubted he would have been long for the world anyways.

He thought evilly that Cersei and Joffrey would have seen to that. He could just see Cersei spiking Robert’s drink on a bore hunt and getting the fool man gored and killed.

That was the past he had been informed. Cersei like a butterfly emerging from a chrysalis had transformed herself into something new and seemingly wonderful according to Oberyn.

He shook his head. Now Cersei was part of the Martell household about to marry Obara Sand and Oberyn could not stop talking about Cersei this and Cersei that. He had hated the woman with an intense loathing and now he kept talking about screwing her and his wife was besotted with the woman.

The world was indeed strange.

A loud moan brought Eddard out of his reflections on how strange life could be. He focused again on the two Giants in front of him. It was not the sex act he found mesmerizing per se. It was just their immense stature. They were both way over twice his height and yet so graceful. The Mountain, Gregor Clegane was eight feet tall and was not slow or ungainly but these Giants moved as fast and adroitly as he himself did. How could beings so large be so fast and quick on their feet?

Tillerkeel was moaning hard now her eyes squeezed tight shut. Forecastle was pumping her right arm hard and her head was lifting as she made obscene wet suck sounds. Eddard had had enough. He was liberal in his views on relationship but he was definitely a prude when it came to sex. He wanted to only see his wife in the throes of passion.

His feelings were reinforced when a motion caught his eyes. The motion high in his peripheral vision. He looked up to the hayloft over the stables. He blanched seeing six Giants staring down at him and the two rutting Giants in front of him. They had big smirks on their faces. They all had hay in their hair and he could tell they were all naked.

That was another thing that he had discovered about the Giants. They did not feel the cold. Nor did the Haruchai for that matter. He had come to learn some of these peoples history. The Haruchai were born in the high mountains they called the Western Mountains. From their descriptions of their homeland, these mountains fully equaled the heights and grandeur of the Mountains of the Vale or the Ice Fangs above the wall. The mountains tall and treacherous to human life and yet the Haruchai thrived in those high mountains valleys and tors.

The Haruchai were breed to be immune to the cold. The Lord that was from Revelstone, Lustra, had assured Eddard the Haruchai did not use magic to resist the cold. They simply did not feel it.
walked around in their thin tunics and with no boots or sandals on their feet. They never shivered or their skin rose up in goosebumps. He had asked Brail of this. She had answered “We are breed for cold and thin air. Our life in the high tores and vales of our homeland are harsh and unforgiving. It has made us a hearty people.”

She had gone on to explain in her taciturn manner that once the Haruchai had been two clans always at war with the other. Finally, a truce was made and the two tribes merged their individual mind speech and became one people. That new peace had increased their numbers. They had sought out new lands to explore and expand into.

Thus, they had discovered the Land and the High Council of High Lord Kevin at the height of his power. The Haruchai in her dispassionate manner still was able instill in Eddard a small glimmer of the grandeur they had seen. The grandeur so great they had taken the Vow. She told Eddard of Kevin’s fall and their own repeated falls from grace. They kept giving their allegiance to people and concepts that did equal the passion of their vows of service.

It was not till Stave instituted reforms did the Haruchai finally learned to control their passions.

So Eddard understand their immunity to the cold. The Giants seemed to have their home in a tropic clime and yet the cold did not affect them either. Even more startling was their ritual they had for grief. The Giants had called it a Caamora. It was a ritual by which the Giants purged themselves of grief and rage. They were impervious to any ordinary fire, but the flames hurt them, and they used the pain at need to help them master themselves. He was told how they would plunge their hands into a bonfire and grip burning logs so the fire would scald them in agony.

The idea of enduring such pain to remove pain and guilt staggered Eddard. What kind of people were these denizens of the Southern Hemisphere. They were so extravagant in their passions and how they answered that passion.

Eddard again wondered of these strange and so powerful allies that had come to aid them. He sensed that they had come for more than aid of their cause. They did not speak much of it but he had picked up that they expected the Queen to fulfill other tasks. Eddard knew these people of different races would give their all to his and the Queen’s cause.

Any future tasks would have to wait for later. Eddard Stark had to defeat the Ice King and more importantly he needed to retreat presently. His face was beet red with his embarrassment. He heard the Giants snickering at his discomfiture. He turned to the work bench and retrieved the pick he needed to clean the stone from the horseshoe on his war horse.

He walked back to his horse with a quick step. The cold air felt good. It clouded his embarrassment. Eddard ran his hand down his mounts leg but his horse did not lift it for him. Typical he groused to himself good naturedly. He leaned against his warhorse’s shoulder and lifted the leg off the ground. Using his hoof pick, Eddard started at the heel of the foot and picked forward to the toe, carefully removing all rocks, dirt and debris. He made sure to clean the grooves on either side of the frog, the V-shaped part of the hoof.

Satisfied he put the foot back down and patted his horse. Loud shrieks came from the stables. He blushed furiously again. The Giants would be sung of by bards for centuries to come for the willingness to let all hear their pleasure and boy could they bellow out that pleasure Eddard groused to himself. He grimaced thinking the Giants were the most Dothraki like in their willingness to express and show their emotions. He was sure Daenerys was very vocal. He supposed wolves were too and what that meant about Arya. He blushed again.

Eddard found the decorum and control of the Haruchai and the Ramen a much more comfortable fit to his personality. The Haruchai took it to the extreme though Eddard considered. He thought the Ramen had the proper level of restraint. He liked those people a lot. Their desire to tend the Ranyhyn above all else and trying to be one with nature. He could see them and the Ranyhyn running free and happy in the Sand Hills.

He used a curry comb and a dandy brush to clean and untangle his horse’s hair. He worked his horse’s main and tail till all tangles were removed and the hair felt luxuriant running through his fingers.

He spent fifteen minutes stroking his warhorse’s hair with his combs. The horse quivering and snorting in pleasure at the attention.

The two Giants he had witnessed rutting came out of the stables with a smug look on their face. Eddard blushed again. They were fully dressed in their armor and had their sword weapons in their scabbards strapped to their backs. He would be happy to hit the King’s Road and begin their journey. It was all too obvious the Giants enjoyed his discomfiture.

Most of the ravens in the rockery were cawing now and he saw the first bird lifting from their nighttime roosts to go out for the day’s foraging. More song birds were chirping from within their havens in the thick boughs of the trees by the Great Keep and the stand of trees by the Godswood and the scared stand itself. The air was thick with the smell of burning wood and coal. He breathed deep. It reminded him of his childhood before he was sent off to be fostered by Jon Arryn.

A wind was picking up from North. It had quickly picked up speed. It was not yet a steady wind but it was picking up force. It had hard gusts that blew ever southward. The Ice King cometh Eddard thought mordantly. The time of war was rapidly closing on him and those aligned with him. He would meet challenge of his age.

He turned his thoughts to this day. The wind would help their journey going to Castle Cerwyn. There was a range of medium piedmont to the east that he had visited often in his youth. He wanted to show the people of the land the special hideaway he had found as a youth. He and his brothers would go there to play in their youth. He was the tagalong brother but he remembered the times fondly. His taciturn nature had always made him reserved.

More torches were being lit as the stable hands came out to start their daily care of the horses. The horses needing to be feed and blankets taken off the horses as they awoke. From the early morning gloom two riders on the mighty Ranyhyn came into view. He saw the Lord Lustra on a roan mare that nickered as she came up to Eddard and the Giants. On a black stallion rode Brail of the Haruchai. He noticed that neither had any type of saddle and no bridle. The horses came up to the small group. Again Eddard marveled at the size and obvious power of the horses. The star on their foreheads seemed to glow in the dark. It had to be a trick of the light on their coats.

He noticed beside the Ranyhyn that Brail strode, the Manethrall Shapa was standing by the Ranyhyn’s right front leg. He glanced around wondering where her Ranyhyn was. He was sure it would appear at any moment. He saw the horses looking at him. Eddard could not shake the feeling that these mighty horses were every bit as intelligent as himself. Maybe more so he mused. He knew that magic was in them. The Lord had called it Earthpower.

She had tried to explain it. “I am not sure of the magic of this realm. In our Land magic has purpose and bearing. One manifestation of that magic is seen in the Ranyhyn. In many ways they are beyond us. They are truly the mane and hoof of the sky and Earth.” She had not been able to make a better descriptions of the horses that lived in the land of the Plains of Ra.

The Lord came up to him with Brail by her side.
“Are you ready to begin our journey? I want to show you some of my land. To see the farms and small crofts that dot the land. We will end in a beautiful hidden valley hidden in the foothills to the north and east of Castle Cerwyn. The air was clear and still yesterday but I feel this wind will blow out the mist by the early afternoon. I am bringing three extra mounts to allow us to reach our goal by an hour past noon. We will then travel back and arrive in the mid evening hopefully.”

“The land is in winter but you will see the farms and the heartiness of the land.”

The Lord spoke “We can see the sap in the trees. It lies fallow in their trunks. They are in somnolence waiting for spring. We can see the roots of the dead grasses waiting for the first touch of Spring to burst forth into life. We see the health of the birds and small animals that dot the landscape. This is a vital land. We will help you defend it against this scourge of this Ice King. He reminds us of the Arghuleh in the far north of the Land. It too had made an unholy pact with a Croyel.”

“They were defeated and killed. So will be your Ice King. Your forces are mighty and strong.”

Eddard had to smile at the firm confidence. “I am humbled in your opinion of our forces and our might. Your additional might is a great benison to the forces opposed to the Ice King.”

Eddard asked, “Are we ready to proceed on our journey? The sooner we leave the sooner will be able to return. I had not foreseen this strong wind blowing from the North.”

The Lord turned her face into the wind. She looked at the Giants. “The wind is not ill.”

Eddard wondered about that. The question must have shown on his face.

The Lord faced him “We can feel the rightness or the wrongness in the ways of things. This wind is natural and carries no malice on it.”

Eddard wondered of this ability to “see” the rightness in nature and the rightness and honesty of people.

Eddard turned his gaze upon the Ramen Manethrall. “Where is the Ranyhyn for you Manethrall Shapa?”

He saw the woman bristle. The Lord spoke up “The Ramen only ride the Ranyhyn when there is great crisis. She will run with us as the Giants will.”

Eddard looked at the small woman. He did not see how this was possible. He had his squire and two other young men who would bring extra horses to allow them to reach their destination more quickly and then he would ride his own warhorse back. The trip home would probably be nearly twice as long to return to Winterfell.

He hoped Catelyn would not give birth till he got back but Maester Luwin had assured him that the danger had passed. More forces would be coming through tomorrow and the road would be full of passing troops and wagons full of supplies heading North. Missandei had told him that the next two weeks would see almost continuous traffic on the King’s Road. The final push to the Wall was in full swing.

Today was the best day to take this journey before he too left for the Wall. He mounted the first spare mount and he trotted out the South gate heading towards Cerwyn. The Lord and her Haruchai were on his left. The Giants were to his right. He could see how the Giants could maybe keep up. Their long legs would let their tread eat up the miles.
As the gate was lifted the cords of the Manethrall sprinted out into the darkness and were gone.

Eddard turned to Shapa with a cocked eyebrow.

“My cords will scout the way and look for any dangers. They will seek out any ambush or wolves lying in wait. They will scout the best trail.”

Eddard listened and then gently smiled. “In our land wolves do not attack horses and especially men. Wolves and even Direwolves avoid direct confrontation with man. With the full mobilization of Westeros we are completely safe. The way is known and safe.”

The Manethrall looked out the gate. “Nevertheless my cords will scout the way. They need the practice. I would be remiss in my duty as their instructor if I did not have them out scouring the way before us for danger. Please accept this service.”

Eddard tilted his head. He acknowledge the desire of the Ramen to provide protection to Eddard’s forces. Especially the Ranyhyn and the horses they rode. The force cantered out the gate and milled around for a short moment.

Eddard decided to see exactly what the abilities of his companies were. He kicked his horse in the ribs and they took off at a slow gallop to eat up the initial miles of the day’s outward leg of their journey. The horse whinnied and shot off into the gloom that was beginning to show the very first traces of the approaching sunrise still some ways off. The sky was still dark with the low clouds. Still, Eddard had his night vision and he could make out the surrounding environment. He knew it was a while before the approaching dawn would begin to dispel the shrouds of mystery that darkness brought to the land.

His horse was moving at a moderate pace. The horse would be able to maintain this pace for three maybe four miles before they would have to slow to a walk to rest his mount. He was not surprised the Ranyhyn easily kept pace. The horses were two hands taller and much more thickly muscled than the horse he rode. They were nickering as they galloped easily beside Eddard.

Eddard looked at the star on their foreheads. Even in the dark the markings seemed to glow and pulse with the horses’ heartbeat as they gaily ran forth.

He looked to his other side. The giants had their swords on their backs as well as medium sized rolls strapped to their back. The Haruchai too had a satchel on her back. The Ramen had no such satchel. She was running fast her legs churning but she seemed to be easily keeping pace with his horse’s gallop. He was amazed. She was breathing deeply but seemed to have no problem keeping pace. The low thunder of hooves hammering the hard Earth was loud in Eddard’s ears.

The Giants long strides easily ate up the ground keeping pace. Eddard urged his horse to keep its pace up but after three miles the horse began to flag and he pulled the reigns back to reduce the horses from a gallop to fast striding gait and then to a walk after another mile. His horse was winded after the fast league plus one mile more it had just gallop. They walked their horses.

Eddard heard the Giants laughing and jesting not affected by the run. The Manethrall breathed hard for a minute but within another minute she was walking and breathing normally. The first of the Search pulled a jug out of her backpack and pulled out the stopper. It was Diamonddraught. The smell of the potent liquid tickled Eddard’s nose. Braveheart Tillerkeel and her wife Zephyrstar Forecastle took deep swigs from their jugs. The Giants laughed and jested with all around them.

The Lord looked pained at the attempts to draw her into a conversation. She looked uncomfortable. Eddard wondered what blighted the beautiful woman to make her so dour.
Of course the Haruchai and the Ramen kept their peace and did not truly respond to jests of the Giants. The Ramen answered politely but Brail ignored the jests totally. The Giants seemed to love trying to get a response from the bluff attitude of the Haruchai.

Eddard was completely impressed with the endurance of the Ramen and Giants. Out in the lifting gloom the cords were even racing forward faster than their gallop if they were scouting out their way. He had seen no trace of the Manethrall’s cords before them. They left no evidence of their passing.

There would be no more gallops. He kept the progress moving forward alternating between a trot moving between eight to nine mph and a canter between twelve and thirteen mph. Much time spent merely letting the horses walk at a slow comfortable pace. The horses getting their wind and strength back. He had many stops to let the horses breathe and relax before pushing them to a faster pace. At ten miles he switched to the first spare horse. He went another ten miles and then ten miles again switching horses out to reach sight of Cerwyn Castle.

As they had moved on, the world lifted out of the gloom of night. The land of the North came into sharp relief. The world dull from the clouds occluding the sky but Eddard would never tire of the beauty of the land he was Warden of.

As they had travelled on the first leg of their ride Lustra had come up beside Eddard. They made eye contact. The dour woman cleared her throat.

“I am curious. This Ice King. Do you know of his lineage? I have heard he is of great age. He disappeared and has only just returned?”

Eddard had done much reading over the last two years preparing for the coming war. He had not been happy with all his discoveries. Eddard did not try to hide what he had found. In the oldest manuscripts he found references to the first wars between man and the Children of the Forest. He read of how those first denizens of Westeros tried to raise a champion to fight the Andals.

Eddard had discovered his ancient ancestors had led the fight against the Children of the Forest. Man had wanted their world and were willing to commit genocide to acquire it. The First People had tried to craft a weapon to fight their antagonist. In their desperation they created a weapon that none could control.

“They captured an ancestor of my lineage. There are few accounts of the man but I believe his name was Darick Stark. He was a vile evil man. He was captured by the Children of the Forest. They changed him into the Ice King through vile necromancy. They raised seven others it is said in some text. They quickly discovered their new weapons was a double edged sword. The newly risen Ice King was able to raise others in his image. He rose against man but he also rose against the Children of the Forest.”

“He was defeated by a man from Asshai named Azor Ahai. He slew the Ice King and pinned his body to the Earth at the top of the world. He only recently escaped. We have no idea how this occurred; the freeing of the Ice King at this time.”

The Lord mulled over the words of Eddard. “I think I can tell you why the Ice King has been freed at this time. When the Earthroot was shattered in Valyria it started the weakening of the Earthpower in his hemisphere. The Blood of the Earth cannot go directly into the world. It must first be distilled in the pool of the Earthroot. That was somehow disrupted and Valyria died. When that occurred the magic that bound the Ice King to the earth was affected. High magic has been fading in the North of the world for almost five centuries now. It took centuries but the Ice King was finally able to free himself.”
Eddard nodded. It was nice to be finally given a reason for the vile Ice Wright King’s return.

The riders fell into a companionable silence watching the scenery pass them by.

The denizens of the land had looked upon the neat farms and organized crofts with an appreciative eye. They told Eddard that in their land except for Revelstone there was no large groupings of people into towns. This land they knew and understood. They enjoyed seeing the day to day life that mirrored what they knew in the Land.

It was less than an hour after noon when the party reached the castle. Two additional squires took their horses and the winded horses on to Cerwyn Castle. There they would rest overnight before making a journey back with the next troop train to begin moving through tomorrow at noon.

Eddard turned them to the east and entered the low foothills down a wide path between rolling hills. They moved down the line between hills with a path that became more and more basic and not as easily to follow. The horses were moving slowly picking their way. The Ranyhyn nickering to the horses as if encouraging them. The horses of the Lord and Haruchai did not seemed stressed in the least at the hours of constant cantering.

Eddard had to marvel at how the Manethrall had not flagged with the fast pace that should have ground her into the dirt. He finally asked her how she and her cords had been able to keep pace with the fast ride in the cold air. He knew her cords were somewhere out in the land ahead of him scouting. The endurance of these people was hard to fathom. The Giants he could understand with their long strides and obvious heavy martial training. He did marvel at their ability to easily keep pace with the fast pace while wearing their heavy swords and armor.

The woman looked up at him and seemed to nicker in humor.

“The Ramen from the time we reach late pre adolescence are with the Ranyhyn constantly out on the plains of Ra. The horses of Ra can easily match this pace in their sleep” she crowed. “We have not touched what the Ranyhyn can run. The Ranyhyn can gallop like the wind and not tire. They can run much faster than a normal horse and their endurance is legendary. They are sure footed and can run at full gallop down paths like this or even rock strewn scree.”

The path narrowed and trees now were lining the lane. Their roots jutting up through the ground. Eddard and his squire’s horses stumbled walking the treacherous ground. Eddard had thought the Ramen Manethrall was exaggerating the capability to some degree in her pride of the Ranyhyn that bore the Lord of Revelstone and Haruchai Brail.

He could not help but notice and be impressed that the two Ranyhyn did not stumble one time he saw on the rock and root strewn path they were taking. The periodic heavy rains filling the path with scree and sizable stones. The large horses seemed to have a sixth sense in where to put their hooved feet. This was amplified by the thin coating of snow on some spots of the path. The snow hiding the loose stone beneath but still the Ranyhyn did not falter in their sure steps.

The hills around them grew in height till they some approaching four hundred feet in height. The hills rising sharply into ridges that were narrow. One hill rising after the other with their feet seemingly intertwined. The sides of the hills covered in stands of trees and thick brambles. Eddard smiled seeing mountain goats and some antelope pounding up the hills and over the ridges and down the other side escaping the intrusion into their domain.

They rounded several turns and did two switchbacks and suddenly came out into a hidden glen between a rift of hills. A small waterfall fell off the hill to the right falling several hundred feet to land into a pool that was a hundred feet across and had a rill running down from the pool and down the small valley to run to the nearest river. The valley no more than five hundred feet wide but ran forward out of sight. The hills blocked the wind and the floor was warmer and grass still grew if stunted. There was snow on the hills in banks and some snow still on the valley floor in spots.

He loved this place from his childhood. He had not visited this childhood hideaway in over five years. He smiled remembering good times with his brothers. He, Brandon and Benjin had many good times in this hidden vale. They walked their horses into the middle of the valley. The Giants laughed and took off their swords and duffle bags and ran and dived into the deep waters. They stayed underneath for over a minute before they broke the surface.

The cords that had been ranging ahead of the riders came down the hills from three sides. The cords ran up the horses and started to care for them leading the horses to the choicest swaths of grass. An extra horse had been brought along with saddle bags bulged out with oats. The cords took the large feed cup and happily took the horses oats they put on the ground in heaps. The horses munched on the proffered grain with happy snorts and flicks of their tales.

Only then did they bring the two Ranyhyn a heaping of oats. Somehow Eddard knew the Ranyhyn wanted the horses cared for first. This touched Eddard deeply. The greatest among them tending to the lesser. He wished mankind had such scruples and morals. He tried and too often failed he mused sadly.

The Giants started to splash each other and dunk one another. Eddard was again amazed at their sheer burgeoning strength. He had asked them and been told that their armor weighed roughly one hundred pounds. They did not even seem to feel the weight.

The Giants played in the frigid water for ten minutes. As they frolicked Brail removed her satchel and pulled out wrapped wafers of oatmeal and slices of cheese. She had a wine skin in it that she offered the Lord. The Lord took the food and smiled at her Bloodguard with a thankful smile. Eddard had noted that Brail was always at the Lord’s side and quick to offer the Lord any benison and sought to make her life as comfortable as possible. Brail always quick to make sure Lustra had the best dishes of food and quickly refilled her goblets even though the Lord protested she could do it herself. Brail insisted. Brail did it all stoically stating it was her duty as her Bloodguard.

Even though the Haruchai showed no reaction Eddard could tell she was pleased with the Lord’s smiles. Having watched Arya pine for Daenerys Targaryen for years he had learned to see longing no matter how well hidden. Eddard had inquired of the Giants in Winterfell if the Bloodguard normally waited on those they protected. He had not noted it with Bannor and Jeertel with the Queen and Arya.

The Giant, Crowsnest Morningwinds, had chuckled but gave the answer Eddard hoped for. The truth.

“No. It is not. The Haruchai are the guard of the Lords and other persons of power and importance to the Land. Brail is madly in love with Lustra. We all can see it. The only one who can’t see her love is Lustra. Though I wonder of that. Brail is wooing her in her own inept way. Lustra is in love with Brail but refuses to acknowledge it. The Haruchai always acknowledge their attractions as Stannis Baratheon has discovered. All of us long for the two of them to find each other. I have hope.”

Eddard did too. His life would have been empty without Cat in it.

The giants came out of the pool. They were soaked but truly did not feel the cold. The two women’s hair had come partially out of their braids. The women took their hair down and shook their hair out. Eddard was taken by the beauty of these women. They were perfect in every angle of their faces and curve of their body.

They undid their satchels and pulled out thick biscuits stuffed with ham and cheese. They opened a bowl and dipped the biscuits in rich thick gravy. They pulled out a small jug from Zephyrstar’s roll and drank it with long gulps. They laughed and slapped each other on the back. The Giant women putting each other’s hair back into braids. The sight endearing to Eddard.

The Lord spoke up “They are consuming Diamondraught. It is a strong liquor that is many times stronger than what you call whiskey. For them it is like weak wine but it totally invigorates them. It can have healing properties to the weary and injured.”

Eddard had heard the name in the dining hall. He was happy to learn more about the potent drink.

She began to go on when she suddenly stopped. Her eyes went unfocused. Eddard saw Brail come to rigid attention and moved her Ranyhyn close to the Lord. Shapa went to stand between the two Ranyhyn. The horses were pawing the ground.

“What is happening?” Eddard asked. Their strange actions filling him with unease for some reason. The Lord was not acting like they were in danger but the Haruchai was definitely on the alert.

“I am not sure” the Haruchai spoke.

The Lord had ridden with her staff lashed to her back. She pulled it out of the loops when they had stopped in the glen. She had set her staff down on the ground on one iron shod end the other end resting against her leg that rested on the Ranyhyn’s flank. She suddenly plucked it up and gripped with two hands.

She murmured and a look of alarm came over her face. She stayed like this for nearly a minute. Now Eddard understood. She was communicating to someone through her staff. Was it some Lord of Revelstone?

Lustra put her staff lengthwise across the back of the Ranyhyn. She turned to look at Eddard with a sever mien. She took a deep breath.

“I have been touched by two witches named Melisandre and Ygritte.”

Eddard stiffened in immediate dread. For them to reach out to the Lord …

“Your wife is in grave peril. We must return to Winterfell immediately. Her life depends on it. She is failing.”

Eddard’s heart sank. His horse had not supported his weight but they were a day’s ride away at a slow cantor. By riding multiple horses he had been able to travel a much faster pace than normal. He had wanted to reach this valley of his youth. This desire may have cost Eddard his wife he thought. At the fastest pace they would muster they would not arrive to the middle of the first watch of the night.

He would never forgive himself if something happened to his sweet wife. Damnit! I trusted in my sense of being in control and considering all factors. Damnit! He stormed at himself. Cold dread filled him and a sweat had broken out on his brow that had nothing to do with the weather.

He turned his horse around. They had to begin immediately.

His mouth fell open. Before him ran a fast approaching appaloosa colored Ranyhyn. It was storming up the path that he had taken to get to this hidden valley. The end of the path was clearly seen at the head of the valley. The path angling down the hills. The path that slightly inclined up was covered in rocks and roots and yet the Ranyhyn was running at a full gallop that equaled what his horses had down at the beginning of the journey this morning.

How could this horse run at a full gallop over the wicked ground and not break all of its legs within twenty yards Eddard wondered. Not once did the Ranyhyn falter in its fast approach. The star on its forehead seemed to glow as if the full moon had come to rest upon its forehead. The mighty horse’s hooves striking the hard ground echoed in the valley.

In fact the horse did not stumble in the slightest in its fast charge up the narrow valley path. It came into the glade and ran at a furious pace. Eddard’s mouth fell open. This horse was running far faster than he had ever seen a horse run. Not even a Sandsteed of Dorne could match that pace. The Ranyhyn stormed up to the party and at the last moment slowed and turned on a gold dragon and was beside him. The Ranyhyn looked look back at Eddard with clear air in impatience. The Ranyhyn stallion stomped its hoof on the ground. It was barely breathing past a normal pace.

What was it demanding?

The Manethrall called up to him. She was at his knee. How had she moved so fast? She had been with the Lord and Haruchai and now she was at his leg. He had not seen her move. She looked up at Eddard with a sense of wonder on her face.

“This is Frohm. He has chosen to bear you. I have never seen this before. To choose a rider when not having visited our homeland. He has come to bear you back to Winterfell. He has heard your need and has come to answer that need.”

The Ranyhyn was throwing its head in such a way that was clear. Get on my back. Time is precious.

“He has no saddle. I will fall off.”

“No one has ever fallen off of Ranyhyn! Stop insulting them!” Shapa barked up at Eddard

The Bloodguard’s Ranyhyn, Frahanoryl, whinnied several times loudly and stared at the Manethrall. The Lord’s Ranyhyn, Frinny, trumpeted and stomped its hoof into the Earth while glaring the Manethrall.

The Manethrall lowered her head abashed.

“Frinny has reminded me that you do not know of the Ranyhyn’s strength and skill. You have not experienced their fidelity. Today you will learn. Today you will be amazed.”

“Learn what?”

The Manthrall smiled. “Fidelity. You would honor the Ranyhyn if you allow them to bear you back to Winterfell. Each minute is precious.”

Eddard had to trust these strange powerful horses. He leaned over and slipped onto the Ranyhyn’s strong broad back. The horse looked back at him with both intelligence and a look of deep concern. Eddard instinctively knew these horses knew of his wife’s danger and wanted to get him back to her as quick as possible.

He felt the massive strength of the horse. Eddard realized with wonder his balance was perfectly centered on the Ranyhyn’s back.
The Manethrall called up to him. “Trust Frohm. You cannot fall off. Just ride him. The Giants and I cannot match the pace the Ranyhyn will set in your need. We will follow as fast as we can.”

Eddard had seen the two other riders turn their horses around. The Bloodguard took the Lord’s staff and ran it through the loops that kept the satchel on her back.

Lustra stood gripping the Ranyhyn with her knees “Frahanoryl, Frooryl, Frohm … fly like the wind!”

Eddard was snapped back but somehow did not fall off his Ranyhyn when the horse took off like a crossbow bolt and pounded down the valley and its lush grass. The Ranyhyns running at a fast gallop that thundered in the valley. The horses running at a furious pace. They game to the start of the path that now led down out of the hills. Eddard saw the root and rock strewn path. He kept waiting for the Ranyhyn to decelerate to pick their way down the path. He wanted to scream when the Ranyhyn formed into a line and stormed onto the path. They had only slowed marginally still at an insane gallop flying forward.

Then they were on the rock and root strewn path itself. Eddard stared wide eyed. He was in the middle of the procession of Ranyhyns. The horses never faltered or seemed to find a misstep. It should have been impossible for the horses to run like this on such a treacherous path. Somehow he was not thrown off and the great horse took a perfect step by perfect step running down the rock strewn path. The mains and tails of the horses flew behind them like flags snapping in the wind.

The mountain goats again spooked. The thunder of the Ranyhyns hooves chasing them up the hills.

The hills at least shielded them from the hard wind blowing out of the North. Soon they had passed out the narrow part of the path that was more of a defilement. They had traveled nearly a mile over almost impossible terrain that his horse had had to carefully walk through. They had run back though at a fast gallop. Now the path opened up. The ground became much less dangerous to the mighty horses.

Still it was only wide enough for one horse. The Ranyhyn took advantage and stretched into a long legged full gallop. Eddard had never seen such speed. It left him almost breathless. Only the sand steeds of the Dorne could even hope to begin to match this insane pace. The narrow path was still narrow and uneven. He wondered at the smoothness of the gait. He did not feel jostled in the least. Again this was impossible and yet he was experiencing it as the horses of the Plains of Ra ran at speed that was simply impossible.

For two more miles, they ran on, closed in by the hills. Eddard was waiting for the great horses to begin to flag and slow down to a walk to get their wind back. He had come to accept that these horses could run at this seemingly impossible pace but now he could not understand how the horses had not exhausted themselves. No horse could have run anywhere near this distance at such speed and not need to stop to get its wind back and take the stress off its legs and heart.

The Ranyhyn did not flag.

They burst out of the foothills and hit the rolling lands beside the King’s Road. The horses swung around to the north and started up the side of the King’s highway. They did this avoid the ruts of the King’s Road. The ground was uneven but it did not affect the Ranyhyn and the pace they set. The horses’ bodies were literally poetry in motion. Their legs all leaving the ground at moments as they flashed down the side of the King’s Road.

The punishing cold wind hit Eddard’s face making his eyes tear. The Ranyhyn should have tired already having run nearly five miles and now they had to fight this punishing headwind. The wind should have added to the burden of this impossible run. The wind should have punished and dropped the Ranyhyn to their knees! Still they ran on. The Warden looked around with wide eyes at his impossible pace and endurance.

Eddard was again snatched back on his mount’s back. He had begun to relax believing the Manethrall that he could not fall off his mount’s back. He reached out and gripped Frohm’s mane tight.

What had just happened! This was impossible! They had ridden at a fast gallop for five miles already!

He had thought they were moving fast before. Now they were running at an impossible pace. They seemed to be almost flying over the ground. No Sandsteed had ever approached the speed Eddard was now experiencing. The Ranyhyns’ hooves threw up grass and mud as they pounded up the grasslands riding ever north at a furious pace. Eddard had ridden horses all his life. He looked around with wide eyes. This speed was impossible!

Eddard had learned the signs of when his mount was tiring. When they needed a blow from a hard run. He could feel the horse faltering with the need to slow down. Their gate becoming more and more unsteady and their mouths covered in foam and spasms rippling along their flanks.

None of this Eddard felt or saw on his impossible gallop. The Ranyhyns breathing was steady and no foam was on their nostrils. The horses’ bodies surged forward with each gallop their hooves pounded the hard Earth in perfect rhythm. Eddard looked at the world ripping by at an impossible clip.

They were running at a speed that would burst a sand steed’s heart and still they ran on. The horses were not tiring! How was this possible! No animal could run like this. Their hearts would burst! Their legs shatter! Still the Ranyhyn ran forward not slowing in any diminishment of their supreme effort. Thunder filled the air with the Ranyhyn’s hooves striking the Earth.

The wind was punishing. Not even these mystical could continue to fight this wind and not tire. They had to tire. They had too!

Eddard saw ahead a knife’s edge of sunlight racing across the land. There was rift in the clouds allowing the low afternoon sun to shine brightly on the winter ground. The light was almost magical with how it glowed in the dull world of muted greys. The light raced ahead of their path and angled off to the west. The light undulated over the rolling hills to Eddard’s left. Eddard swore he heard the sound of thunder to his left.

The bright sunlight reached the top of the long hill that ran parallel to the King’s Road on this section of the road. Eddard gasped. His eyes had followed that sliver of light as it raced across the Earth. For just a brief moment he thought the full moon and brightest stars had come down from the nighttime sky. An explosion of pure white light covered the crest of the hill.

Along the ridge the white light shone pure white and then the sunlight was gone and bursts of color appeared on the crest and ran down the hill. The other eighteen Ranyhyn ran at furious pace. Their heads bucking as their long legs made impossibly perfect stride after stride. The mighty horses raced down the hill keeping perfect balance. Even from this distance their long muscles were beautiful to see as they rippled with the horses’ furious pace.

The horses flashed down off the hill and were now beating the hard ground running faster than the punishing wind. The horses angled and arrived on the road just in front of them. The Ranyhyn despite running furiously trumped loudly which was answered by the horses carrying the humans. Eddard watched the Ranyhyn jostle among themselves. Eddard watched them curiously as the horses were clearing forming patterns in front of the three Ranyhyn carrying himself, Lustra and Brail. His eyebrows arched when he realized what the horses were doing. They formed up into four phalanxes in front of him and his two riders. He wondered what the purpose was of this strange behavior. A Ranyhyn was on each side of the Ranyhyns bearing their riders.

Eddard was wiping his face cleaning off the mud being thrown up into his face by the furious pounding hooves just in front of him. He was sweating profusely in his strain and worry.

He suddenly noticed his eyes were not watering anymore. The wind was diminished greatly.

Now he understood! The horses were breaking the wind with their phalanxes. They were punching a hole in the wind. Again Eddard was highly impressed with the intelligence of these horse of Ra. He looked around himself. All the Ranyhyn were racing a furious breakneck pace. Still his ride was smooth and he felt no fear of falling off.

Still they ran on and on. The great mystical horses eating up leagues at a furious pace. The horses were might in motion. The work and play of their muscles on their flanks and haunches were beautiful to behold. The horses beside them neighed and nickered continuously. Eddard understood the horses were encouraging each other to keep this impossible pace up. Then the horses beside the mounted Ranyhyn surged forward as the phalanxes shifted and morphed with Ranyhyn moving up to the front and others falling back to rear phalanxes.

My gods! Eddard understood what they were doing. They were switching out to keep more fresh horses in the lead and the most tired came back to encourage the horses bearing riders. He nearly cried at the prodigious effort the Ranyhyn were willing to expend to get Eddard home to his wife.

He kept waiting for the Ranyhyn to falter. For them to suddenly fall over dead with burst hearts or for a misstep to occur and legs to shatter. The horses were covered with sweat now and froth was on their nostrils. It was not foam of hearts being overworked. He could feel the muscles quivering wildly underneath his butt as Frohm ran on furiously. Still, Eddard knew these mighty mystical horses were not taxed beyond endurance.

They ran on with no diminution of their impossible speed. They continued to defy the laws of endurance and effort.

He no longer gripped the horse’s mane. The Manethrall was right. He could not be thrown off no matter how fast these Ranyhyn ran. He would have been exhilarated if fear was not squeezing his heart.

The horses ran forward with their necks surging forward with each long gallop. Their tails straight back in the slipstream of their furious pace.

He felt an hour had passed and maybe a candle beyond. He was almost stunned at the pace they still maintained. He wondered how many more hours they had to run to get back to Winterfell and to Cat.

What was that? Thunder?

The Ranyhyn were so fluid in their gate that he did not even feel their subtle path shift.

No! It was not possible! Winterfell as impossibly before them. They were a league from home!

Miracles could be answered!
The great horses somehow ran even faster! He saw Viserion and Rhaegal flying wildly around Winterfell flying reckless among the buildings and towers of the compound. Drogon was on the great keep bugling wildly. His deep bass blasts the thunder he had heard. To see the dragons so upset put great fear in Eddard’s heart. He needed to get to Winterfell and his wife! The great black dread threw itself into the air and flew at them at a breakneck pace. Eddard watched the great black dragon’s wings pinion hard as it speed toward them. The dragon flashed over head at one hundred feet. The gusts left in his wake buffeted the party.

Eddard turned his head and saw Drogon wing over and come flashing back up the road. He was barely over their heads and he let out a mighty bellow as he flashed overhead.

Despite their long run of valor and sacrifice the mighty horses of Ra whinnied in answer.

They were at Winterfell’s gate.

He slid of Frohm and grabbed the horse by its cheeks and kissed it on its froth soaked nose. The Ranyhyn were soaked in sweat, mud and froth. They were shaking all over hard. Frohm stared at Eddard. He saw fierce determination in his eyes. He sensed they were telling him they would do it again gladly. Eddard nearly choked up with gratitude. He would have but he had greater need.

As tired as the horses looked and seemed he sensed that they could have ridden on for hours more if he had required it of them. He began to understand the pride the Ramen spoke of when they told all of the fealty of the horses of the Plains of Ra. They owed Eddard nothing and yet they had expended themselves greatly to answer his need. He knew he would never be able to repay them. He hugged his mount’s neck tight trying to commune with the great horse and express his gratitude again. He rushed off.

He ran into the courtyard. Drogon was back on the great keep roaring and furiously beating his wings in fury. He saw Grey Wind, Shaggydog and Nymeria furiously running around snapping and howling at each other.

Barristan came running out of the Castle. Viserion saw the old venerable knight. Viserion came down into the courtyard his wings creating a windstorm as he landed. The blue dragon ran to Barristan and let him stroke his face and then his neck as the white dragon roared. Rhaegal was on his perch on the broken tower adding his strenuous bugles to the air.

Their distress palpable in the air. Barristan caught his eye and shook his head with a sad look in his eyes.

Eddard felt panic. He ran into the Great Keep and ran up the corridor to the stairway to the second floor. He felt the Lord and Haruchai at his heels. They were coming to offer what aid they could. He went up to the stairs to the third level and ran to the royal quarters and came up to the door of his domicile.

He saw two Bloodguard, all three Bloodriders and Syrio Forel along with Wormtail. Barristan came running up behind him. Others were milling around seemingly aimless. Outside the three dragons were bugling their mighty roars rumbling through the massive stones of Winterfell. The howls of the Direwolves outside a discordant counterpoint to the dragons roars. Men were shouting and women weeping. He took a deep breath. He needed control for whatever he found inside. He needed to show strength. The Queen was with his wife he knew with all her Bloodriders outside his door.

He slammed the door opened and entered. He went into the room of mass confusion. He saw his children crying and his castellan shouting at anyone who would listen. No one was. He saw four Giants kneeling near his wife’s bed. They looked despondent. Eddard felt his heart lurch. He saw the witches in the middle of the room with two Haruchai poised to strike them down. He could feel the hostility between the two pairs as they stood rigidly glaring at each other.

What? That made no sense.

Robb was holding a crying Alyx. He looked unsure. Sansa was screaming in terror. Margaery looked confused and unsure. She never looked like that! The Queen was on the back wall trembling and crying and Arya was looking around unsure holding a sobbing Kiserri who had her face buried in Arya’s neck. While not sobbing Arya had a river of tears pouring down her cheeks.

He saw two more Giants at the back of the room. They had two Haruchai standing before them clearly blocking their way. The Giants were yelling at the Haruchai who stood like stone sentinels.
One was almost fighting the two Haruchai. The other Giant was screaming at her wife to refrain.
The Haruchai were only doing what they thought was right. The first Giant shouted back “the arrogant son of a bitches never learn.” The Haruchai were stone faced and taciturn but they were on the balls of their feet. They were poised on the cusp of violence.

Eddard strode to his wife’s bed. He came upon her but stopped in shock. He had a flash back to nearly twenty years ago. Oh gods no—not another bed of blood! Once was enough. He saw Master Luwin trying to staunch the flow of blood from his wife’s vagina. Bright crimson blood.

“What the hell is going on here!” he roared.

The Maester’s head jerked back to look at Eddard. Eddard saw fear and defeat.

“Why are not Melisandre and Ygritte helping you?!” Eddard roared at the Maester. He had instantly discerned what was occurring with the Haruchai opposing the Shadowbenders and who must have set the Haruchai against them. The Maester’s fear and anger of magic well known to all. “My wife is dying godsdamnit!”

“They are ShadowBender witches. They are black magic” the Maester spoke but he sounded defeated and doubtful. He was overmatched by the situation and he knew it. His inability to save Catelyn had clearly sapped his will but still he resisted calling on the witches for aid.

“I don’t give a FUCK! Melisandre—Ygritte come!” Eddard roared. The master of Winterfell had returned and was now taking control of the situation.

The Haruchai immediately stepped back and aside. Their bodies relaxed and faces blank. Farhal and Soral took two steps back and away. The command had been given. They too knew the true master of Winterfell. He had spoken. They bowed their head to Eddard Stark in respect and obeisance. He had proven himself worthy to them many times over.

The witches still seemed stunned at the situation. “Come. Come to my wife. Please save her” Eddard asked in a broken tone. The two witches came up to the bed. They got on either side of the bed. They bent down to examine Catelyn. They did not try and push the Maester aside coning up on each side of the man. He too looked at them with a look of desperation and pleading. The two witches extended their hands to press gently in on his wife’s belly gently moving form spot to spot.

Ygritte looked up with a pained look. “The twins have entangled themselves with their umbilical cords. They are strangling themselves and they have blocked the birth canal.”

“What can be done?” Maester Luwin spoke in a tremulous voice. He had not known Catelyn had twins. If had known …

Melisandre was murmuring. Ygritte looked up at the Lord from the Land. Eddard followed Ygritte’s gaze.

“You have great power. Can it be used here? Her life is ebbing away.”

Lustra looked miserable. Eddard felt his heart clutch. He saw that his wife’s situation was beyond anyone here’s ability to mend. “I do not have the control necessary. I am a Lord trained in the arts of the broad stroke. This type of power application is too intricate for me. I do not have Linden Avery’s raw power and prescient sight and ability to control my power. I would kill her instantly.”

Eddard looked around. This was impossible. He could not lose his wife like this.

Sansa was screaming and now Margaery was joining her. All looked ashen and full of ashes.

He heard Daenerys excitedly talking. He turned to look at them.

What the hell were they doing!

He looked back at his wife. He could not deny what his eyes told him.

Catelyn Stark was on death’s door along with her unborn child.

The room was full with a symphony of strident voices yelling, screaming and inconsolable weeping. For a minute pandemonium filled the room. Now he heard a new sound. His face had a look of anger and confusion. Had someone let the damn hounds into Winterfell! It sounded like the hounds of hell had been unloosed.

The barks were strange sounding to him. He heard raucous strange roynish barking that was quickly coming closer. It sounded like wild dogs barking in a cacophony of discord. He heard shouting and barked commands. The sounds rapidly advancing. The loud discordant barking was in front of the door now.

Had someone let the hounds loose in the keep and now they were at the door?! Has the world gone to hell Eddard stormed to himself? The barking grew in intensity as did the curses.

The door exploded off its hinges and flew to the ground and slide forward ten feet stopping just in front of the closest person.

His mouth feel open. The bloodriders, Barristan, the Haruchai, Syrio and Worm tail were actively pushing against his bannermen who looked utterly confused and angry.

His eyes left them instantly. Into the room stepped two strange unnatural creatures. They had to be demons but they were defended by the Queens security. What in the hell was going on! The creatures stood still their fleshy nostrils flaring wetly. Their heads turned to survey the room.

The strange beings had long jet black bodies but were not of great height. They had equally long limbs that would allow them to run on all fours. They had no eyes and triangular ears that sat high on their heads. The ears twitched all around. They were barely five and half feet tall. The seemed both fragile and mighty at the same time. Their faces dominated by huge fleshy nostrils that flared and quivered wetly. They had small slits for mouths.

Eddard watched the heads turn to the right and left. Their fleshy nostrils flaring with their breaths. Their noses dominating their faces as these creatures continued to turn their heads. Eddard eyes flared when he understood with an intuitive flash that these creatures were seeing their environs through their sense of smell.
They had iron staves in their right hands. The creatures wore thin tunics that ran down to their knees. They had no shoes and he gaped seeing that they had two thumbs. The creatures looked like a nightmare given life.

They started to bark and bay discordantly. They whipped their staves up and the iron began to glow hot red and hiss with bubbling liquid boiling on the tips.

He drew Evening Star to defend his wife. The milky light blue blade seemed to thrum with magical might. Eddard was ready to fight these demons.

“Ulies Ulies Ulies” he heard Kisseri shout. What was hell was an Ulie?!

Daenerys

Dany had woken up as the birds were beginning to stir. She was an early riser. So was her lover. She liked the sound of that. She felt Arya pressed into her side and her arm over her torso holding her possessively. She liked that feeling. Dany lie on the bed basking in the feel of finally having Arya’s body pressed into hers. To finally wake in the morning with the Queen of her heart pressed into her body filled Daenerys Targaryen with a deep happiness.

Arya, after her initial lack of confidence and being a virgin, had quickly gained her confidence and her stroke to borrow a het term. Like her sword work Arya was an amazingly fast learner. Arya like a lot of confident women seemed to have a natural affinity for loving another woman.

As well she should. A woman knew her own body and gave her the instincts and guidance to love the body of another woman. Daenerys was of the camp all women were lesbians. Daenerys knew she had always been attracted to her own sex. It was society and the world of man that made women shy away from their natural desires for their own sex.

She had argued with many women on this who said they were avowed heterosexual. All of them said you must resist the temptation. The way they told her this said it all Daenerys. They themselves were fighting their desires to couple with their own sex. It was man the perverted the natural order of things. She had had to endure much abuse and heartache to get to this point. She would trade none of it to have this beautiful woman here now pressed into her body.

The Queen slowly rolled over to her side and got her elbow on the bed and put her head on her palm and gazed at the sleeping form of her lover. Arya mewed at the change in position. She rolled over onto her back. The window was closed but the heavy curtains were pulled back to let in the light of the setting half-moon.

Arya must have gotten up fairly recently as the fire in the hearth was burning low with thick logs full of red hot cankers. The light gave her the opportunity to look at her lover. She had a soft smile on her face and her hair was tousled. She had it pulled straight back like her father with a band on to keep it back. She had put it on last night to keep her hair out of her busy mouth eating Dany out to orgasm after orgasm.

Gods Arya was so beautiful as she lay sleeping Daenerys thought to herself. She began to trace her fingertip of her index finger along the shoulder and upper chest of her lover. Arya began to wiggle enjoying the touch in her sleep.

Dany looked down on perfection. She slowly worked her finger to Arya’s nipples all rubbbery. Her nipples swallowed by her spongy areolas. She put her fingers to her mouth and wet her fingers. She began to circle and trace the relaxed nipple. Arya’s breathing accelerated and her back arched into the touch her nipples slowly becoming erect filling with hot pumping blood. They were half erect and starting to bulge out into the plums they would become.

“Uummmggg … I give you permission to never stop” Arya husked her eyes open to slits looking up at Dany heatedly.

The lovenaking had been so exhilarating and long last night. She had told Sansa she would miss this morning’s meeting. Eddard was taking The Land emissaries out to see some of his lands. She thought that was very good idea. These were good people but letting them see what they were fighting for was always a good idea.

Dany smirked as her wolf purred at the stimulation of her nipples as they engorged and were now almost fully erect and Arya’s breathing was quickening interspersed with low moans.

“Arya … sometimes you make impossible demands” Dany softly husked down to her sweet gurgling wolf.’

“What do you mean?” Arya chuffed out as her breathing started to get ragged.

“I have to stop to do this …” Dany lifted her hand and lowered her head. Her mouth slipped down on the now fully erect pulpy plum nipple jutting up almost two inches all sweet and pulpy from her barely there breast. The Queens lips moved down the thick engorged bulb. Her lips locked on tight to the spongy bulb as she began to suck. Her head lifting with her hungry love sucks her tongue gigging the engorged sweet plum soaked now in her salvia. The Queen loved the raspy feel of Arya’s engorged teat in her mouth. It was so hot and pulpy as she deep throat love sucked on the engorged teats in turn.

That had been this morning before the sun came up. The lovemaking had been hot and exquisite at the same time. She now sat at the kitchen table in the midmorning at one of the small tables in the back of the kitchen that the House of Stark used to get some quiet time. When not used by them the staff of cooks, maids and stewards used the tables.

Dany and Arya were at the rearmost table against the wall. They were eating big bowls of oatmeal sprinkled with raisins with several scoops of sugar. Goat’s milk had made a nice creamy concoction of warm deliciousness. They had several slices of bread toasted in the ovens.

They ate quietly. They pressed into each other and giggled at shared thoughts and inside jokes. They poked each other watching two teenage girls doing the baking of the chicken pot pies for lunch. They thought no one saw them copping feels of breasts and asses. They were giggling and smiling so in love with each other. They dropped their cooking utensils and deeply snogged for a minute with hands clutching young nubile flesh. They then picked up their cooking implements and resumed their chores. The two girls so in love they did not see the women smiling watching the in love teenagers work, kiss and then back to work. The cooks smiling great big at each other.

Daenerys knew she had the same goofy smile on her face. She was in love. She had waited years to find her perfect love and was so thankful to have found her. Fuck the prophecies and the gods she had caste down. She had made her own destiny. She had achieved her dreams. Now she would build upon them.

Daenerys had sat to the right of Arya on purpose. She was a tactician. She was rubbing Arya’s back as she ate her oatmeal. With Arya being left handed it made it easy to use her off hand to rub her love’s back as they both ate. She loved touching Arya. She craved the touch. Arya started to stroke her thigh underneath the table absently. The touch not meant to be sexual but Dany felt the tingle begin in her erogenous zones.

Daenerys had worried that Arya would be frightened by her sexual appetite and stamina. That was probably not the right word but she had worn out previous lovers. Women who graced her bed to take the edge off her lust and to help her focus. Some had kept up right from the start while others quickly built up their ‘endurance’ when Daenerys showed them what was possible. Still, she wore many out with her need for intense lovemaking. Many bouts of intense fucking to put the fire out in her couchie. Gods Daenerys Targaryen loved fucking!

Arya did not have that problem! She was insatiable just like her Queen. For that, Dany was so very happy. Dany smirked watching Arya tuck into her oatmeal and toast. Dany thought evilly that Arya needed to eat heartily. After they had put Kiserri down for the night she and her wolf would be fucking happily half the night through. She had plans of devouring her wolf’s pussy hungrily many times this coming night. The Queen loved burying her face in a woman’s pussy and feeling her woman humping her cunt hard into her devouring mouth. Dany always thought this made for such an intimate connection between women. When you had your face buried in her cunt eating her out you couldn’t get more directly connected to that woman. It breed an intimacy that men could not touch.

Daenerys knew many men and straight women said that heterosexual sex made for such a close connection. The pale Valyrian did not agree. She felt she achieved the same intimacy with her big ever hard strap-on cock. That said nothing for fisting. Yes. Women made the best lovers period. End of story. Only women could achieve that true intimacy that all women craved.

Daenerys pulled her mind away from her musings on why women were meant for women. She gazed upon her future Queen. Daenerys felt love beat in her heart for the beautiful Stark teenager sitting beside. Daenerys Targaryen had found her soul mate. The woman who was perfect for the Queen.

Arya was insatiable in bed just like herself. She craved sex again and again. Of course they were in the initial stages of they couldn’t get enough of each other and keep their hands off each other but Daenerys sensed more. Arya loved sex. Period. She would always crave sex and lots of it. Just like her Queen. Daenerys had found a match for her sexual drive.

In some ways, Daenerys leered looking at Arya askance as she rubbed her love’s back, Arya could have been an exquisite pleasure whore in a brothel in Lys that catered to female clients only. Hell, Daenerys knew she would have done excellently well in such an establishment. They both craved the female body. A lot! They would love to partake of the sweet secrets that only women could give each other. Again and again.

Arya was compatible in so many other ways in bed for the Queen. Daenerys had loved being in a Khalasar where lovers often fucked and rutted in the wide open. They celebrated life and the giving of oneself to others. They were much more liberal in their pairings and Daenerys had taken advantage of that in her time with her Khalasar on the plains of Dothrak.

She had endured Khal Drogo fucking her. She had wanted to give him the heir to be the “Stallion to Rule the World” but Mirri Maz Duur turned that to ash. The cursed witch had killed her precious son and left her barren. She had killed Khal Drogo too.

She had never truly missed the man. His main gift to her had been the igniting within her breast the ambition to take back what was rightfully hers. The Khal had ignited in the teenage girl the fire to conquer the world if needed to take back what was hers. He had unknowingly taught her to seek her destiny and to be bold in the grasping for it. It would be herself, Daenerys Targaryen, who would mount the world. The Mare Who Would Mount the World.
What she truly remembered fondly with her time with the Khalasar was her harem of prime fillies. She had loved bedding them in nights of long intense hot fucking. She loved going down on them and having them go down on her. She loved mounting her mares. She had been totally polyamorous then. She had totally adopted the Dothraki ways in all things. She let her rampant sexual desires have free reign. She had dined on so many sweet pussies.

She had changed over the years. She had thought she would be forced to give up her true sexuality to have her kingdom. Daenerys had grown up she supposed. She had developed a longing to find that soul mate and bond with her. She had lost the drive that had Robert Baratheon fucking any female he could get his paws on. Maybe if he had had the responsibility of raising the children from the unions it would have curbed his enthusiasm for bringing “bastards” into the world.

No matter. She was now a one woman, woman. She had defeated all her foes and overcome all the prophecies against her.

She smiled. She had crushed all the prophecies and enemies who opposed her. She now had her Queen by her side. She had evolved into a woman who wanted only that one special woman at her side on the throne and with her in her royal bed. Arya was that woman.

Daenerys loved how Arya grunted, moaned and whinnied as she fucked her. Then when Arya cummed she let the gods in the heavens hear her unbridled joy and ecstasy. She screamed just like Daenerys did. She had asked Arya what her orgasms felt like after a truly big rending multiple orgasm.

Arya had thought about it for a short while giving it deep consideration. “It is hard to fully describe Dany. The pleasure is so overwhelming and so intense it is painful. Painful in the most beautiful way. I feel ecstasy down to my toes and fingertips. My vision seems to white out and my skin is so hot and sensitive to the touch. It adds to my pleasure so much. My pussy spasms so hard it feels like my womb might explode out my belly and my cunt will tear itself inside out. Gods I love cumming Dany!” Arya told Dany enthusiastically. “My orgasms hit me like an avalanche totally pummeling me with sweet ecstasy.”

Daenerys smiled and hugged Arya too her. This teenager made her so happy. Arya was the perfect blend of fierce and yet still innocent and forthright. She wanted to take Arya back to their bed in Arya’s bedroom but they were to pick up Kiserri from the nursery and take her around the grounds. Kiserri liked playing with the other children. Kiserri’s mothers were beginning to school her on letters and numbers preparing her now for her education back in King’s Landing. They had to begin teaching the future Queen.

“How old were you when you started to masturbate? What kind of fantasies did you have?”

“Can I ask you a question Dany?” Arya asked with a cute hesitancy.

“Yes my love.”

“It won’t embarrass you?”

“I won’t know until you ask but I doubt it seriously. I can tell it is sexual in nature by your blushing” Dany chortled.

Arya’s throat went from pink to red and spread up to her cheeks.

“You are so sweet when you blush Arya.” Dany leaned in and kissed Arya on the temple. “Ask away.”

“How old were you when you started to masturbate? What kind of fantasies did you have?”
Dany smiled great big. She liked sharing her private self with Arya. “Arya you may find this hard to believe but I did not masturbate till after I was married off to Khal Drogo. I truly was raised in a sheltered environment and was not exposed to other children my age. I had no one to ask such questions. I was just starting to hear my body and its awakening desires when I was sold to Drogo by my brother. I think you could say I was a ‘late bloomer’. I truly did not feel those ‘urges’ that so many girls feel at a much younger age than when I started to feel them.”

She heard Arya start to growl at the mention of Khal Drogo. That filled Dany with happiness. Arya was so protective of her. “I guess I was slow to awaken to my body. So when I was given to Drogo I was totally innocent in all things sexual. I know that is hard to believe now. (Arya smiled and snorted at that.) He was very gentle that first night for some reason. He did not have to be. But after that I was just a cunt to him. Always fucking my from behind. He mounted my like a bull taking a heifer and fucked me like it. His only thought to impregnate me with his son who was prophesized would conquer the world. He gave no thought of my pleasure. He would leave me unsatisfied. I would be so filled with sexual energy and longing that it felt that I would explode.”

Arya listened to her raptly. She had told Arya a little of her time in the Khalasar. They had discussed at different times different aspects of Dany’s life in the Khalasar. But the one thing they had not touched on yet had been the sexual aspects of her time with them as the Khaleesi.

“My pleasure slave Doreah, who had been given to me to learn how to pleasure Drogo taught me how to pleasure myself. She taught me the joys of masturbating. I used her knowledge to bend Drogo to my will.”

Dany chuckled remembering those times that seemed a world ago. “I easily broke him to my will actually. It was surprisingly easy to bend him to my will. But he still left me unsatisfied. I told this to Doreah and how I found the female form so much more appealing. I told her how I longed to fuck another woman like I saw many of the Dothraki woman fucking freely and often in the Khalasar.”

“They are quite liberated in their sexual practices. They allow their young women to fuck whomever. They must take a mate and bear young but they are free to find sex mates outside of their family unit for pleasure. Many of the women fuck both sexes while many also only fuck their own sex. The males do the same.”

“Doreah took me to my furs and opened my world. I cried that first night. I had come home. I found out what I had been missing with Drogo. I had finally gotten the brass ring. Drogo sometimes gave me orgasms but they did not seem to complete me. I often had to fake my orgasms to satisfy his bloated male ego. I was unsatisfied with everything about Khal Drogo. Doreah showed me what I had been missing.”

Daenerys smiled at Arya. “Doreah was so precious to me. I finally felt that exploding deep in my belly and scalding fire filling my pussy and flooding down my limbs curling my toes and clawing my fingers. I too finally felt my womb tearing out my belly and my cunt exploding that you describe. She guided me to my willing Dothraki handmaidens. They willing laid with me. They and Doreah loved me and I for a while had a harem of fillies that I happily mounted. I lost them.” Daenerys spoke sadly.

Arya leaned in and kissed Daenerys soundly. “You have me Dany. I will always love you true! I will fuck you every night and make you scream so loud and hard. You will be hoarse from screaming so much. I long to have you ‘mount’ me as your willing mare! I will gladly submit! I will offer you all my holes Dany! I long to take your dick deep in my belly and ass!”

Dany shivered at the words. Gods she and Arya were so compatible! Soon Arya would submit as she would with Arya. The enthusiasm Arya had just expressed excited Daenerys. To know that Arya craved to have her body taken by Daenerys’s cock made the Queen shiver with anticipation. Daenerys would take all of Arya’s fuck holes she thought with a hot shiver. She longed to pound Arya hard with her dick plundering her pussy and pounding her asshole with deep strokes of savage love.

Such thoughts had Daenerys in a happy dreamy state. It made her so thankful for her here and now. For having Arya Stark as her woman.

“I had so feared I would not be able to have a woman as my Queen and in my bed. That to have my throne I would have to live a lie and feel my soul die. I was filled with dread with the thought of having to marry a man to secure my throne.”

“No more! Your father and the House Lords know you are my Queen. Soon the whole of Westeros and Essos will know of our union.”

“You are mine Arya Stark!”

Arya shivered and gave her Queen another wet kiss.

Daenerys smiled. She had chosen wisely. The Queen’s smile beamed as she preened at her excellent choice in a mate. She leaned into Arya and gave her a wet kiss on the lips. She could not wait to put Kiserri down for her nap and then ravish her wolf.

Dany had a question for Arya. It had bothered her in the dark of the night holding Arya’s beautiful body to hers. “Does it bother you that I did come innocent to our bed … that I am so worldly?”

Arya immediately pulled Dany to her and kissed her yet again. At first the kiss was sweet but almost immediately Arya’s tongue demanded access to Dany’s mouth. Dany moaned granting it. She whimpered feeling Arya’s tongue wetly dueling with hers.

When they needed to breathe Arya broke their kiss. They were both breathing heavily. The two girls who had been snogging themselves were watching them smiling.

Arya had a beautiful beaming smile on her face. “Dany I think you are perfect. I love the fact that you are so knowing in our bed. I love how you take me and make me cum so hard again and again. I never dreamed of you being a virgin. I was always saw you as the great Queen. The great Queen who was so worldly. The Queen who would take the provincial girl from the North and show her how to love.”

“You are the living perfection of all my dreams Dany. For six years I dreamed of us becoming lovers. I can truthfully say that you have made all of my dreams come true and made them even more vivid and wonderful than I could have ever dared dream.”

Daenerys felt her heart clutch in her chest and somehow her love grew even stronger for Arya Stark. She felt her eyes brimming with tears.

Arya reached up and gently brushed the tears from Dany’s eyes. “I love you so much Dany.”

The Queen hiccupped and hugged Arya too her tightly. She was so happy.

She decided to lighten the mood a little.

“Did you have any fantasies about me when you masturbated Arya? I can tell you were not as innocently raised as myself. I was being kept chaste to make a good bargaining chip for my brother Viserys.”

She saw Arya’s eyes fire with the intense desire to protect her which made Daenerys feel so good and totally in love.

Arya’s eyes softened. “I am three years younger than Sansa but I am very sure I started masturbating and having orgasms before miss prime and proper. When you appeared in the red wastes I was masturbating every night to dreams of you taking me as your lover and consort.”

Daenerys smiled hearing that.

“I masturbated again and again each night screaming as I fantasied of going down on you. I had seen through Nymeria women making love. I wanted to do that with you from the moment I heard of you.”

Daenerys felt so much love for Arya.

“What did you fantasize?”

“I had many different fantasies.” Arya paused thinking back. “I had myself as a mighty warrior helping you to fight brigands. Sometimes in a castle, sometimes in the woods, at times in glades. There were times where I was an Ironborn pirate coming to your aid on the high seas.”

“I like your fantasies Arya” Dany husked.

“I had one favorite though.”

“What was it?”

“I would be a faceless man from the Temple of Black and White sent to assassinate you. I would find different reasons to abandon my mission. Your goodness would win me over and I enter into your service. I would pledge my Allegiance to you and we would become lovers.”

“I like that one a lot.”

They finished their meal. They had decided to explore the broken tower and go as high as they could up the stairwell. Arya had told her how Bran love to climb the tower before his accident.

As they walked down the halls Jaggo joined them.

They went outside into the cold crisp air. A cold wind had started to blow from the north. From the Great Keep hidden in recesses Bannor and Jeertel separated from the shadows and moved off to the flanks to provide an outer guard to Jaggo’s close in defense. Dany watched them move off ahead of them. The Queen was happy to see her Bloodriders and Bloodguard working together in her and Arya’s protection. They had put behind them their initial competition to guard their charges. Dany was happy that her Bloodriders had put behind them their defeat at the hands of Bannor.

Daenerys had seen enough of the Haruchai to know that only the very best of those of Westeros had a chance against them. A chance. All the denizens of the Land were imbued with what they called Earthpower. It made them almost impossible to defeat one on one. The Giants with their size were totally beyond any person’s ability to fight. Therefore, Danny was happy to see her Bloodriders accepting the truth of the situation.

Dany had asked Bannor about how they came and went. They seemed to appear and disappear like apparitions. She was informed that the Haruchai were able to speak mind to mind and were able to share their perceptions. The eighteen Haruchai were constantly moving about Winterfell forming a web of protection around the Lord and now Daenerys and Arya. Brail’s attention was solely focused on the Lord of Revelstone, Lustra. This constant communication and training enable the Haruchai to seem to disappear into their surroundings.

She looked around and saw a female Haruchai near the Guards Hall in the shadows. She looked back up at the Great Keep and saw a male Haruchai up on the east wing parapet. She had noticed one in the Great Keep near the Kitchen. She had looked away for a moment and when she looked back she was gone. The Haruchai knew when they been seen and moved to move into obscurity again. They seemed to just disappear.

They walked across the large inner courts to the North wall to get to the door of the ruined broken tower. Bannor and Jeertel had disappeared. Then at the door Jeertel appeared from the shadows of the doorway to the broken tower. Jaggo and Jeertel took guard at the door.

Then Bannor appeared in the doorway. He bowed his head slightly and moved back into the shadows of the tower. He silently moved up the tower steps and disappeared into the shadows. He was going to scout the way. They saw him start to climb the steps and then he seemed to disappear before their eyes. They climbed up the spiral stair up the inside wall of the curved tower. It was dark but not midnight as light leaked in from the broken ceiling above and the door below. They paused and listened but could not hear Bannor nor could they see him above them.

The Haruchai truly did seem to be able to disappear into the shadows. The couple moved up till the steps were broken from the wall and thick timbers blocked the way up. They tried to step on the wood squares but they shifted under their weight. It was impossible to move up further they agreed.

Then Arya grabbed Dany’s arm. She pointed up to the light from the shattered top of the tower. There stood Bannor looking down at them. He looked both totally relaxed and poised to strike out death at the same time.

They shook their heads. It seemed that the Haruchai found no barrier beyond their abilities to conquer. They took time to clench and snog for a long minute enjoying their intimate contact and doing it in the dark and having an audience. Even it was from the dispassionate Haruchai.

They went back down the tower stairwell. They came outside and started when Bannor silently passed them to join Jeertel to move off to provide an outer picket line to protect the Queen and her consort.

They had never heard him climb down the shattered timbers and broken steps and then come up behind them. They could teach the faceless men classes in stealth it would seem.

A steward came running up to them.

“Arya! You must come to the Great Keep and to your mother’s room!”

“Is she giving birth?!?”

“Yes! No! I don’t know but something is wrong!” the young man exclaimed.

They ran back to the Great Keep. Rodrik Cassel greeted them at the main entrance door to the Great Keep. “The family has gathered. Come quick Arya. My liege.” Daenerys saw two Haruchai at the door to the Great Keep. They were impossible to read but she sensed they were on full alert. They did not acknowledge her glance. As they passed the Haruchai, Daenerys regarded them. What did they feel they needed to ward against with even more vigilance perplexed the young Queen. Her three bloodriders followed their Khaleesi into the heart of Winterfell. They headed up the Great Keep to get to Catelyn Stark’s room. Jeertel and Bannor leading the way.

Rodrik’s tone had filled Daenerys with trepidation. They hurried up the levels of the Great Keep to the quarters of Eddard Stark and his wife. They entered the room. Daenerys immediately could feel the tension and fear that permeated the large room.

People were milling around. She saw the Stark children gathered near the bed of Catelyn Stark. The Maester had Catelyn’s body positioned to give birth. Dany and Arya moved to the bed. They both gasped at the sight. A drastic change had come upon Catelyn Stark overnight. She was pale as death and from her vagina was leaking bright red blood. Her face again gaunt and drawn. The two looked at each other their hearts filled with trepidation. They knew what their eyes were telling them.

The Maester was agitatedly working with Catelyn. It was obvious he was worried greatly though he tried to hide it. She watched him work with Catelyn but she seemed to become ever more pale.

A nurse maid brought Kiserri in and handed her to Daenerys. Kiserri immediately picked up the timbre in the room and began to sniffle. She hugged Dany tightly. Arya stroked the child’s back. Two Haruchai were in the room and two more came along with a Giant to join her sisters already in the room. The Giants knelt down on one knee near Catelyn’s bed. They talked excitedly to each other in their native tongue. Then more Giants came into the room adding to the press of bodies.

Tension and raw fear filled the room.

Then Margaery and the two ShadowBender witches came into the room. She saw two Haruchai move to be beside the two female witches. Their bodies coiled to strike. Daenerys then spent a very confused sixty minutes as people argued back and forth on the course of action to take. She trusted the witches but the Maester brought to the fore memories of Mirri Maz Duur. Her memories of the woman’s treachery robbed her of her confidence in the witches.

Could they be here to do harm? To serve their fiery god in some nefarious plot?

Then her hoped to be mother-in-law’s water broke and there was bright red blood everywhere. Her bed had become a bed of blood.

There was panic in the room. Catelyn was dying and the room was filled with paralysis. She did not know what to do. She was a warrior. Her place of power and confidence was on the battlefield or in meetings planning strategies to bring her enemies low. Here in this room, in this situation she was lost and out of place. She did not know what to do! Kisseri and Arya were crying.

She felt tears running down her cheeks.

Someone needed to take charge! She looked around and saw no hope.

The door was slammed open and a muddied and sweat soaked Eddard Stark entered in the room with the Lord of Revelstone and her Haruchai.

Eddard thank the gods immediately took control and silenced the Maester with a decisive barked command and sent the witches to his wife. To their credit they did not hold rancor against the Maester but joined him around the stricken woman.

No! Dany thought. It quickly became clear that too much time had been lost. Catelyn had moved beyond the ability to be helped. She was near to crossing over to the other side of life into death.
Daenerys started to cry remembering how she had been saved from death. Arya picked up on her distress as Dany fingered the dirk she always kept hidden behind her belt.

Arya moved up beside her “What is wrong Dany?”

“Oh Arya … I could have called the ur-viles to save your mother but I called them on the Dothraki sea. I was so selfish I sho—“

“Stop that! Stop that now! If you had not called the Ur-viles then you would have died six year ago. You would not be here now. You had every right to call the Ur-viles then!” Arya looked at her hotly telling her woman she had done nothing wrong. Daenerys felt a renewed love for Arya Stark.

Sansa and now Margaery were sobbing wildly clutching each other as the death of their mother was plain to see.

Robb held Alys tight to his body as silent tears ran down his cheeks and Alys sobbed hysterically.

Suddenly Kisseri was jumping up and down in Dany’s arms.

“Ulies Ulies Ulies … call the Ulies mommy!”

“What?” Daenerys asked shocked at what her child was saying. Ulies could only be her way of saying Ur-viles. How could Kiserri know of them? She had died a year and more before they came to her aid. There was no way Kisseri could be making her request. Yet, that was exactly what her daughter was doing now.

“The Ulies … call them mommy they will come! I saw them come to your aid mommy looking in the Well of All Tomorrow with Auntie Infinnie in Elemesnde” the girl went to get her dirk but fumbled it. Arya plucked the tumbling dirk out of the air and gave it to the young Dothraki girl. The girl started to slash the fake blade across the back of her hand desperately.

Oh my gods Dany gasped. How had she known to do that? The Well of All Tomorrows? Somehow knowing of the Ur-viles could somehow be explained but not this cutting of the back of her hand. Daenerys looked at her child shocked.

Almost in a fog, Daenerys pulled her dirk out. Arya was staring at her. She had told the story of her fight on the Dothraki Sea several times during their Clatch of Confidents meetings. It was a great story. It was a story Kisseri had never heard.

“Mommy call them! I saw you call them with auntie Infinnie! They will come!” She had been watched? The Elohim were powerful. Could there be hope here—now.

Would they come? She had had been told they would come to her aid only once. She had used their benefice on the Dothraki grass sea. They had answered Daenerys’ in her hour of need.

She gasped. She would not be calling them for herself. She would be calling them for Catelyn Stark. For Arya’s mother. It couldn’t work. Could it? She was playing sophistry with the words she had been given by Linden Avery and Infelice of the Elohim. Surely, such twisting of the words she had been given would not be heeded now. The Ur-viles had already come to her once. She had very specifically been told they would only answer her call once.

She looked over at Catelyn Stark. She would not last much longer. She would do it. She had nothing to lose.

But whose hand to cut? Hers or Kisseri. She stood paralyzed trying to science out what to do. Arya came to her aid.

She took Kiserri’s hand and gently made a fist and placed her hand beside it lining them up. Daenerys understood. She put her left hand fist on the other side of Kisseri’s small fist. They were a family. They would do this together. As a family they would succeed or fail.

“Are you afraid Kiserri?”

“No! Hurry! Call the Ulies!” The child cried out her eyes large with excitement and, yes, fear of the situation Dany saw.

Her indecisiveness removed, Dany sliced her dirk across the back of their hands. She grimaced in pain as did Arya. Kiserri cried out in pain. Dany looked at their cut hands. This was not right she thought wildly.

“No! No!” Dany shouted out in fear and dread. The cut was not supposed to bleed. When she cut herself on the Dothraki Sea there had been no bleeding from the cut. The cuts on the back of their hands were supposed to open up into grooves that did not bleed. Instead blood was flowing out the cuts and starting to run down their fists. No! Dany thought wildly. She was the Queen! She was supposed to win her battles! She gritted her teeth and ordered the cuts to stop bleeding.

Dany glared at their cut fists. Then suddenly the blood stopped flowing out and now flowed back up to the cuts on their fists and the cuts rose up into trenches. The pain was gone and the wounds were healing.

_By the gods!_ Daenerys gasped to herself. She heard barking she had not heard in over six years. The barking getting closer and closer. The doors exploded in and the two Ur-vile Loremasters from her past stepped into the room. It was the two from her long past. How she knew she did not know but it was them. She nearly fainted with relief. The two black Ur-vile Loremasters radiated dark power. Their loud raucous barking filled the room as the room looked on.

Eddard pulled his sword from its scabbard. The Ur-viles brought up their iron staves that glowed hot with dark power.

“Ulies Ulies Ulies!” Kiserri shouted and somehow wormed from Dany’s grasp and dropped to the floor. Kiserri had shown a tendency to being clumsy but not this moment. She landed lightly and was off. She ran with her small legs pumping hard. She was out of Dany and Arya’s grasp range in a flash. She ran past Eddard who reached for the little girl.

“No!” he shouted. He looked shocked and started to move forward and then stopped. He had been about to attack the Ur-viles to save Kiserri.

The girl was whisked off the ground by taller of the two Ur-vile Loremaster. The strangely formed creature by human standards reached up and back with his two thumbed hand gently placed the girl on his narrow shoulders. The girl smiled broadly and played with the Ur-viles two pointed ears. The ears twitched with the child’s grip on them.

“Ulies are my friends!” the little girl whooped tugging on the ears of her new friend.

“Eddard! These are my allies—let them help!” The Queen shouted at Eddard.

She groaned with relief when Eddard immediately stepped aside. Gods this man was so decisive and able to make immediate decisions no matter the situation!

More loud barking issued from down the hallway. She heard more shouting and Barristan and Syrio moved off from the doorway. The raucous barking approached the doorway and a wedge of forty more Ur-viles burst into the room.

Lustra took a step back “Waynhyn!” she spoke softly in a surprised gasp. Her jaw was hanging down. She was clearly shocked by what she saw. “But … but they are like the Ur-viles—extinct. What is happening here?” The lord was clearly shocked by the Demondem spawn’s appearances.

That had been Daenerys’s initial thought but immediately retracted it. The Lord of Revelstone exclamation made her look again at these new arrivals. These new arrivals were the same body build as the Ur-viles but smaller by four to six inches. Also, their bodies were a dark to light grey in tone where the Ur-viles were pitch black.

The new arrivals were barking furiously in all directions. They had the same type of iron and bone staves as they Ur-viles. They held them tightly with both double thumbed hands. Daenerys watched the forty individuals smell the room their heads titling back as they sniffed hard. Water droplets sprayed from their nostrils as they breathed heavily. She understood they were seeing with their sense of smell. They suddenly formed into a wedge and came up behind the two taller Ur-vile Loremasters. The Waynhyn still baying at each other and snapping at each other with their slit mouths.”

If one did not know, Daenerys thought, you would think the Waynhyn were about to start fighting but Daenerys had seen this behavior six years ago. For the Demondem spawn this was natural. They seemed to argue constantly but were able to work in perfect concert when the time came to act. Like now.

“By Kevin’s Seven Wards” Lustra breathed “Waynhyn allied with Ur-viles. What is happening?” she asked with a dazed look on her face. “This is impossible.” She looked around confused as if seeking an oracle for the impossible.

Dany watched Eddard sheath his sword and come up before the two Ur-vile Loremasters. He gripped the tallest Ur-vile’s upper arms and looked into its alien face. “Please help her” Eddard pleaded. The Ur-vile with Kiserri on his shoulders slowly tilted his body forward. Eddard understood. The Ur-viles would do all in its power to save his wife. Eddard took Kiserri and put her on his shoulders as she beamed. He moved back and out of the way.

The Ur-viles moved to the bed with the Waynhyn wedge closely behind them. The two Ur-viles started to bark wildly and the taller moved off a short two feet and began to jump up and down and spun around. The smaller one fell to its knees and felt Catelyn’s stomach. The wedge of Waynhyn moved to stand behind the keeling Loremaster. The Waynhyn Loremaster put its stave on the kneeling Ur-vile’s shoulder. The Waynhyn Loremaster’s blade began to pulse a dark purple and waves of power rippled around the blade. The wedge giving the Ur-vile its strength.

The taller Ur-vile Loremaster stopped its cavorting and barked at the witches and Maester Luwin. Its nostrils quivering with mucus flung into the air in droplets.

The Giant closest to Catelyn spoke up “The Ur-viles say they need the witches to issue forth their dark magic and the Maester needs to give Catelyn diluted hemlock.”

“That is poison!” Maester shouted in alarm.

“It will slow her metabolism” the Giant told the Maester.

The taller Ur-vile again began to jump around and bark at anyone and no one it seemed to Daenerys. What it was thinking she could not even hope to fathom. It had its staff in both hands its tip glowing hot as the Ur-vile shook it to and fro.

The Maester’s eyes showed his understanding and he ran out the door to his room he kept near the royal suite for such emergencies to get the needed ingredient.

Sansa and Margaery held each other tightly and had moved closer to the bed to see what was happening. Robb and Alys had stopped crying now seeing hope.

The jumping Ur-vile stopped its wild gyrations again and he somehow had a bowel in his hand and brought the tip of his stave to the bowel and chanted. The blade glowed out hot red and heat radiated up in wavy lines that distorted one’s vision. Dark and musky liquid began to flow out the tip of his blade filling the bowel in a quick dribble that pulsed from the iron stave impossibly. A musty smell filled the room.

The Waynhyn behind the Ur-vile Loremaster working on Catelyn chittered and seemed to bump into each other. Their heads turned right and left harshly as if trying to make a point as they seemingly argued without end. They clacked their teeth at each other and first one would bark in a deafening din only to silence and another would take up the plaint. Sometimes two or three seemed to argue vehemently with each other but the wedge remained focused giving power to the kneeling Ur-vile.

Daenerys saw Eddard staring at the bowel. Kiserri was looking around at all that was going on. Eddard didn’t even remember that his granddaughter was on his shoulders he was so focused on what was happening in front of him. Lustra stepped forward to be by Eddard.

“It is vitrim. It is a healing drink.” The Lord spoke. “Our lore tells us of this.” The Lord shook her head clearly still in a mild shock. “I have read of this drink and tried to duplicate it without success. We have tried for over forty thousand year without success. Now I see it right before my eyes. I am humbled.”

The two ShadowBender witches were beside Catelyn’s bed on their knees. Melisandre and Ygritte began to chant as sweat beaded on their faces. Dark thick shadows started to flow out their fingertips.

Maester Luwin ran back in with a vile. The Ur-vile making the vitrim barked at him. He looked around wildly not understanding the wild barks of the Ur-vile trying to communicate with him.

The Giant translated. “Put the hemlock in the bowel.” He looked at Eddard who shook his head ‘yes’. The master poured the whitish liquid into the black liquid.

The bowel was full now. The Ur-vile Loremaster lowered his stave. More barking and the Giant translated telling the Maester to hold Catelyn’s mouth open slightly tilting her head back. Luwin did as asked. The Ur-vile put the bowel to Catelyn’s lips and slowly titled it up. One of the Waynhyn extended a stave made of white bone and touched Catelyn’s forehead. Her mouth fell open. Catelyn instinctively drank it down. The Waynhyn suppressed the weak woman’s gag reflex. Catelyn was able to drink the fluid with the Waynhyn controlling her throat muscles.

Dany saw Eddard staring at the Ur-vile quickly looking back and forth between the strange creature and his wife.

All were stunned as color returned to Catelyn cheeks. Eddard sobbed with relief. The whole room relaxed a breath that every individual did not know he or she was holding.

The Lord of Revelstone spoke up “This will not cure her aliment but it will grant them time to save her’” in small voice she continued “I thought they were extinct … vitrim … by the Seven Wards of Ygritte and Melisandre chanted with sweat on their faces as more shadows flowed out their fingertips. The tendrils writhing between them and Catelyn’s pale body. The kneeling Ur-vile impossibly grabbed the shadow mist flowing from the witches’ fingers. The witches’ chant changed tenor and surprise showed on their face but they continued their chant.

The Ur-vile let the tendrils grow in his grasp. Then the Loremaster slammed them into Catelyn’s belly. Eddard and the rest of the humans gasped at the sudden seeming violence. Catelyn had no reaction to the seeming violence. The tendrils had pierced her bloated stomach but caused no blood to flow. The black tendrils disappeared into her belly and womb. There was no blood or wound around the six points of penetration by the shadows of the ShadowBender witches. The Ur-vile held onto the tendrils his arms flexing as he moved them around. The shadows seemed to writhe but were clearly in the control of the Loremaster. No one could guess what they were doing inside Catelyn. Everyone had to trust the dark creature.

The first Ur-vile joined his brother kneeling beside Catelyn. The Loremaster placed his stave to the ground. It aligned its hand in front of Catelyn’s vagina. All gasped as it slowly wormed its hand up into the dilated birth canal. Soon its forearm was up into the canal also.

Eddard started but he gritted his teeth trying to trust these strange creatures and their intentions. Seeing what he was seeing was a strain on the now haggard husband.

The Ur-viles barked at each other and the witches. The Giant who seemed to have assigned herself the duty of interpreter reported that the Ur-viles were pleased with their progress. Maester Luwin was putting compresses on Catelyn’s face trying to comfort her. The Waynhyn began to rhythmically jump up and down their barking becoming rhythmic and rolling as they flowed their power into the Ur-vile working on Catelyn.

Eddard was becoming upset. Seeing his wife’s body seemingly being violated was becoming too much for the man. Daenerys saw this.

“Eddard don’t get upset! I saw them do this with Rhaegal with a grievous wound he had received. They buried their arms into the wound and saved him.”

Eddard grimaced but calmed down.

For the next two minutes the Ur-viles now worked in silence. The one Loremaster was clutching the writhing shadows of the ShadowBender witches using them to work inside of Catelyn Stark. Everyone had to trust the Ur-vile was working to save the wife of Eddard Stark and their unborn child. The Waynhyn barking chants now in low warbles. The Ur-viles working on Catelyn with the shadow tendrils began barking loudly again. The one with his hand in Catelyn birth canal picked up his stave with its free hand.

“Lord Lustra come over to them and put your fire into the stave” the Giant spoke to the Lord. The Lord in daze came over. She looked at the Giant for confirmation of what she had just said. The Giant nodded in encouragement. The Lord moved to comply with the Ur-vile’s request.

Suddenly, her staff blazed into wild light blue fire. The fire was intense and made everyone’s hair stiff and the air burned with ozone as raw power filled the room. Lustra touched her staff to the ur-viles staff. Wild black and blur fire from the two rods ran up and down the Ur-vile’s stave and then flowed into its body and into Catelyn’s body through its forearm that was twisting and working as it performed its task inside of Catelyn.
For the next minute hot power filled the room as the two staffs bucked and jerked. The air burned with power. Both Ur-viles were barking wildly again. The Ur-vile with its arm in Catelyn’s birth canal slowly pulled its arm back out of Catelyn’s vagina. All were staring enraptured by what they were seeing. It was like the miracle of life was being performed in some strange pagan ritual.

The Waynhyn Loremaster moved his stave off the shoulder of the Ur-vile with its hand in Catelyn and placed it at its wrist. The dark purple power of its wedge flowing up into Catelyn. The hand of the Ur-vile began to appear. In the palm of its hand was the head of a baby. The Ur-vile continued to remove its hand and a little girl was brought into the world small but beautifully formed.

To everyone’s shock, on her ankle, was the grip a tiny hand. The second Ur-vile still manipulating the witches dark power let is left hand release the dark tendrils and they turned to mist and faded away. It took its now freed hand and gently grasped the hand of the second child. Slowly the Ur-vile pulled the second newborn child out into the world. It was a boy.

Catelyn Stark had given birth to twins. More wild barking filled the room. The wild barking of both the Waynhyn and the two black Ur-vile Loremasters were loud and strident. The tension of the birth behind them seemed to have energized the Demondem spawn. If they had been arguing before they had taken it to a whole new level. The strange creatures now arguing in all directions and seeming to be in a scrum of competing opinions they were more than happy to be arguing about.

The witches now looked exhausted. They had both sat back on their rear ends. Their hair soaked in sweat. Their hair strands dark and plastered to their faces and shoulders.

The two Ur-vile Loremasters paused in their arguing with each other and the Waynhyn and turned to Maester Luwin barking wildly.

“Maester! Take the babies.” The Giant translated. “Tie off the umbilical cords and clear their wind passages.” Maester Luwin jumped into action. He would have normally done this but he too was exhausted by everything that had occurred in this room. It was indeed a miracle. Everyone was stunned by recent events.

The Maester moved to perform the request on the two newborn babies. Maester Luwin cleared out their wind passages and slapped them gently on their backs. The two babies were sputtering and crying weakly as they were properly introduced to the world. They appeared healthy of body but were totally exhausted. Their little limbs kicking weakly.

“By the Seventh Ward” Lustra called out looking even more stunned. She looked around with large eyes. Her mouth worked soundlessly. Daenerys saw she was trying to process everything that had just occurred. Daenerys was stunned like everyone else. Lustra seemed more stunned because she was seeing what she was sure no longer existed and yet they obviously did.

Daenerys had simply accepted the Ur-viles and now Waynhyn. For Lustra they seemed to almost affront her for existing. Daenerys had heard her exclaim that they had been dead for over forty thousand years. They were obviously still alive.

There was again a loud commotion outside the open door to Eddard’s room. The doors having been shattered off their hinges by the Ur-vile Loremasters. Daenerys looked at her three blood riders, Barristan, Castellen Rodrik Cassel, Jory Cassel and Worm tail seeming to struggle with someone. They were grappling and grasping wildly. She saw the two Bloodguard who had stood guard outside the door had joined in trying to restrain someone. Someone who seemed to be pushing the gathered men back and making them stumble into each other. The men of Westeros, Essos shouted in consternation while the Haruchai fought silently.
Suddenly a thin young man slipped from their jumbled confusion of the men trying to constrain him. He was chuckling and his light grey eyes were twinkling with gay humor. He walked confidently into the room. Those outside the room tried to follow him in but seemed to be fighting something invisible that restrained them. The Haruchai throwing themselves at the doorway but were hurled back repeatedly.

The youth came to stand before the Lord of Revelstone. “The Seventh Ward was invoked and now I am here. I have chosen to answer you summons. Of course I was going to come anyways” the youth snickered. “You who are called Lord Lustra. Has anyone told you that you look like you have bitten into sour grapes? You are definitely the death of a party my once pretty Lord of Revelstone.”

The Lord’s mouth was hanging open. Brail moved to be in front of her. She pushed the Lord back from this strange youth. Brail’s feet were spread and her hands balled into fists.

“Halt Amok. You will not be allowed near the Lord.”

“You will stop me like those outside the door?” the young man mocked. The youth who looked like he was maybe nineteen or twenty chuckled and smiled a false sweet smile at Brail. All had seen the Haruchai fail to restrain the youth. Daenerys would have been shocked at that if this day had not been filled with shocks. How could the Haruchai fail to restrain a simple youth?

“They failed. I will succeed. I forbid you come near to Lord Lustra, Amok. She is under my care.”

“I know what kind of care you want to give the Lord, Brail” the youth spoke in a snide tone.

The Haruchai stiffened visibly. Daenerys knew that the Haruchai was fearful this strange youth would reveal her secret love for the Lord.

“I will strike you down Amok if you come close to Lustra” she spoke in a flat tone but it did not sound quite so impeccable. “You will speak to Lord Lustra with respect” the words spoken flatly but there was a timbre there Daenerys heard. Brail was slightly shaking. The Haruchai was upset and barely concealing it. That alone was another shock to Daenerys.

“I have no need to be near the Lord. I am the Way, the Door and the Lock. I have come be to part of these epic times. I see the Ur-viles and Waynhyn have chosen to reveal themselves.” The mirthful youth spoke his laughing eyes looking around the room taking all in. His voice seemed to nicker.

He turned to Daenerys “Before I was only for the Door to the Earthroot but when Sollarius created me once more she gave me free will to do my charge. My essence was raised from the Earthroot from beneath Melenkurion Skyweir. My memories intact. I will never again blithely open the door. I opened the door though I knew disaster was imminent. I was compelled by my first creator Damelon Giantfriend to open the door if certain questions were answered. I had no choice. Now I do. You will have earn that right Daenerys.”

“What? I don’t understand? What Door?”

“That you will soon find out Dragonthane. You are the key to your homeland’s restoration.”

“I don’t understand?”

“That is good.”

The youth turned away from Daenerys and watched the Ur-viles and Waynhyn work. The youth seemed both full of wonder at what he saw and yet knew all the mysteries of the Demondem spawn.

All watched in silence over the next minutes as the Ur-viles continued to chant and work on Catelyn Stark. The Waynhyn were behind the one Loremaster pouring their strength into the Ur-vile.

The Giant spoke up again. “They have healed all the internally torn tissue and ruptured blood vessels. The have cleansed her blood of all the poisons that had accumulated in her blood.”

The Ur-vile Loremasters stood up. They both now produced bowels and filled them with vitrim. Catelyn was giving another bowel. The Ur-vile tending her gently titled her head back. This time she drank greedily. Her returning strength was evident. Her color returned and her sunken appearance melted away and now her cheeks and throat gleamed with health.

The witches were given the second bowel. They drank deeply and their weak appearance was gone. They looked refreshed and no longer drained.

The restoration of health and strength had an immediate effect on the Ur-viles. The creatures moved to a clear spot in the room. The Ur-viles then began bark wildly at each other. The Waynhyn joined in the barking till the room was filled with a cacophony of wild discordant barks. The two black Loremasters jumped around with the larger one doing flips in the middle of the room now as everyone backed off to give it room as it cavorted. The second one nipped at its heels.

The humans looked on at the strange display. It was evident that the Ur-viles and Waynhyn worked on precepts totally foreign to humans.

The babies were weak and listless. They appeared hale but were exhausted. Maester Luwin put them on Catelyn Stark’s stomach near her breast and the babies immediately calmed and were asleep exhausted.

Dany stared at Kiserri who smiled. She had been playing with Eddard’s long hair. He caught the eye contact between child and mother. Eddard sat her down and she ran to the bed to look at her new cousins excitedly chirping and pointing at them. The man smiled at the child like enthusiasm of Kiserri.

Arya

Arya felt exhausted herself. She had been on wild ride with her emotions over the last few hours. She had been high and then sent crashing to the depths of despair with the apparent imminent death of her mother. Now her mother had been saved by the same creatures that had saved Dany on the plains of Dothrak. Again these strange mystical beings had materialized from some mystical magical ether to now save her mother. She felt a pulse of pride knowing that she had helped save her mother and new brother and sister from death.

Arya said a silent prayer to the old gods. She would need to visit the Godswood with Dany. They had not had an opportunity to visit the scared groove yet. Now they had multiple reasons to visit. The tension had gone out of the room. Her mother had been saved from death and the conflict between the witches of Asshai and Maestere Luwin had resolved itself with them being integral to the saving of Eddard’s wife. The Maester could not refuse to acknowledge that.

In fact he was in front of her father now.

“I resign my commission Eddard Stark. I have allowed my fears and doubts to nearly cost you the life of your wife. I will begin my journey back to the Citadel in the morning.”
Eddard looked at the Maester. He sighed and gave him his squint smile smirk. “I will be refusing that tender of resignation. You did what you felt was right in the circumstance. You were proven to be wrong but I have a strong feeling that without the intervention of the Ur-viles my wife would now be dead. My wife’s malady was beyond the abilities of your science and Ygritte and Melisandre’s magic.”

“Without your refusal maybe the dynamic that had the Queen call the Ur-viles would not have occurred.”

“I am angry with you but at the same time we all must make decisions in stressful circumstances. Some are not right. I made decisions during Robert’s Rebellion that I have learned to regret greatly. You will care for my wife and children.”

The older man smiled thankfully to Eddard.

“Get to your duties Maester” Eddard spoke to the Maester in a gentle voice and gripped his shoulder with a soft squeeze. Arya watched the man bow to her father.

Arya again admired her father so greatly. His capacity to look a situation from all angles was truly inspiring and filled her with the hope that she too would always be able to do the right thing in the most trying of times.

Maester Luwin first went to the two ShadowBender witches. He was speaking softly to them. The small one, Ygritte, was tense and she was clearly winding up to give the Maester a peace of her mind. The taller one, Melisandre, pulled her wife into her body and looped her arms around Ygritte. The tall redhead swirled her hands on Ygritte’s stomach in gentle circles. The fiery redhead calmed immediately. She glared at Maester Luwin and growled but shook her head hard ‘yes’. Melisandre tilted her head to the Maester.

Master Luwin bowed and gave his thanks. Arya observed clearly that Melisandre was the diplomat of the two witches.

She watched the Maester move to Catelyn now. The babies were deeply asleep. He gently held them up partially. Eddard came up beside the man watching his Maester care for his two newborn children.

“They seem exhausted my Lord. They and Catelyn are so exhausted. I think we should let them rest for a short while before we get them to suck. I doubt your wife will be rousing to consciousness anytime soon. Unless more magic is performed.” The Maester looked to the witches.

They shook their heads no. “We are not midwives I fear” Melisandre spoke for both of them. “We have never been mothers. This is beyond our knowledge.”

The Lord of Revelstone looked at the Maester. “I fear my answer is the same. I can set bones and dress battle wounds but given succor to babes is beyond me also. I am sorry.”

The youth Amok who had been walking around Arya mother’s bedchambers started to head in their direction. He had leisurely visited all the various personages gathered in the room. The youth was even able to talk the Ur-viles and Waynhyns who stood in his face barking rabidly. The youth had not cared in the least barking back wildly his arms flapping which sent the Demondem spawn into flips and back head tilting baying.

The youth gambled to come back near the Lord of Revelstone and her Bloodgaurd Brail. Amok laughed. “It would seem many things are beyond you. I wonder why you have even come on his voyage.”

The Lord glared at the strange young man. The youth moved to the Haruchai. He stood right in front of Brail and looked at her directly. His whole body language spoke of scorn.

Brail lifted an eyebrow a fraction.

“Fist and faith, I will not fail” Amok said in a sardonic tone to the flat faced Haruchai. The young man laughed at the Haruchai. “Say to Lustra the three words you long too oh brave Haruchai.” Brail kept her countenance flat. Arya saw her jaw clench once.

What was all that about?

The youth moved around the room and now talked to the Giant in the room. Brail looked at the youth move around. Her eyes were flat but it was clear she was filled with wrath at the youth.

Arya saw her father reach down and stroke his wife’s visage tenderly. The look of love on her father’s face looking down at his wife and new born children made Arya choke up a little. Her father was the best!

He looked up and cleared his throat. The then asked for everyone’s attention. “I want to tell you the names of our new children. My wife had hoped for another son while I secretly hoped for another daughter. We talked long about this and decided to give the names of my lost brother and sister killed way before their time. My son shall be named Brandon and my daughter will be named Lyanna. My second oldest son had that name but has always gone by Bran. We all have used so long we have forgotten his true name. That will not occur with my newest son.”

The master started to swaddled the newborns in warm cloth. So intent was Maester Luwin he did not notice the Waynhyn stop their seeming arguing and began to quickly form their wedge with the Loremaster behind the Maester. Amok ambled over casually as if curious to see what was happening with Catelyn.

Amok spoke. “Let the Waynhyn finish their succor Maester. They work strangely but they have always followed a Weird that differs from that of the Ur-viles. They bring their own knowledge and healing. Their Weird has always been one of service and succor since the Ritual of Desecration.”

The Maester looked at the Waynhyn who were jittery seeming anxious to move forward. Maester Luwin looked at Amok and then the Shadowbender witches who were talking to Robb and Alys. Maester Luwin tilted his head and stepped aside.

The Waynhyn moved in around the bed breaking their wedge. The Loremaster began to chant as the other Waynhyn barked discordantly and seemingly began arguing vociferously with each other again. The small creatures snapped at each other with seeming malicious intent but their sharp teeth never found flesh.

The Waynhyn on either side of the grey Loremaster extended their iron staves. The blades glowed deep purple and hissed and rippled with dark arcane power. The blades were lowered to the sleeping babies.

Arya started to move forward. The blades looked deadly. She felt Dany grip her upper arm.

“Trust them.”

Arya stilled. She trusted Dany’s judgement completely.
Eddard watched the proceedings with intense glittering eyes. He realized like Daenerys had that the babies and his wife would be dead now if not for these strange magical creatures. He stood back letting these strange magical beings tend to his wife and newborn children.

The blades of several of the Waynhyn were brought to inch above the sleeping babies. The little boy and girl baby were drooling with open slack mouths. Their eyes closed and breathing rapid. Their bone deep exhaustion apparent to all who gazed upon them.

Arya and everyone else watched the Waynhyn lifted and lowered their blades an inch over the rumps of the babies. Then two blades above each babe were lifted and then the Waynhyn brought their blades down and slapped the rumps of the babies with firm but not harsh smacks on their rumps. The purple tips of the staves flared in a pulse of purple light but when the blades were lifted no harm had been done to the babies.

The babies had gone through a total change of demeanor and vigor. Now the babies were kicking and crying. They were full of vigor and energy. No manner of the babes seemed exhausted. Their faces were normal seeming with no sign of their recent travail. The Waynhyn Loremaster leaned down and traced his fingertip of his index finger over the babies’ foreheads. On them were now purple runes. He moved his hand up and traced the same indecipherable runes on Catelyn Stark’s forehead. She began to rouse. She slightly opened her eyes.

The runes glowed and then seemed to be absorbed into the skin of the babies and Catelyn Stark.

Catelyn saw the babes on her upper stomach and started crying as her hands shaking with weakness and the love of a mother for her children brought the newborn babes to her teats. The Waynhyn moved back.

Eddard moved in quickly helped the newborns find his wife’s teat and the babies quickly worked their mouths onto the teats and began to nurse. Catelyn fell back into unconsciousness with a soft smile on her lips.

Arya could not believe the change in her mother. An hour ago it was obvious she was about to die and with her death the twins would have joined her in death.

Now all three were tired and looked weary but otherwise were healthy.

Maester Luwin had tears in his eyes as he checked the cloth he had swaddled the nursing newborn babes with. Eddard had taken a seat beside his wife and stroked her sweaty hair and traced her face gently. His gaze constantly looking down at his new children. He looked tired and drawn but so very happy. He had been granted a miracle.

A miracle because of Arya’s Dany Arya thought happily. Dany had come through like she always did Arya thought smugly. Dany was great and she was Arya’s. Kiserrri was sitting on the side of the bed babbling about how beautiful the babies were. Kiserrri kept looking up at her mothers smiling and happy. Dany rustled her daughter’s hair with great affection.

Arya looked around the room.

The Lord was before the strange youth that had somehow easily slipped through the Queen’s closest guards. Brail was at her Lord’s shoulder.

“What are you doing here Amok. The door is half a world away. You should be in the Land defending it.”

Amok’s eyes were filled with mirth and his face full of sarcasm. “The world is full of doors Lustra.
Maybe you should open the door to your heart instead. I have grown Lustra. I am the Guard and the Key to so many Doors.”

“That is sophistry. We know on the High Council that you only guard one door.”

“That is not true and true at the same time. I guard the door of the Earthroot below Melenkurion Skyweir. I guard other doors. It is clear to me that High Lord Sollarius was not totally truthful to her fellow Lords when she brought me back from the dead.”

“That is impossible” Lustra stated emphatically.

“Say what you will. I was there when Thomas Covenant caste dross on the Haruchai’s service and honor. Is that not right Brail? Your service was not so pure after that time was it Brail? With your racial memory you were there when Tuvor led High Lord Elena to her death. Neither he nor Bannor spoke up to prevent that disaster. Did they Brail?” Amok spoke in condescending tone.

Brail started to step forward but Lustra restrained her by stepping in front of the Haruchai who stilled. The Lord turned her attention back to the nickering youth with gay grey eyes and curly hair that shook with his head’s movement.

“Stop it Amok! Stop trying to confuse the truth and to be so divisive.”

Amok only snickered.

“What you say is false. Stop with the lies. You are the guard to the Power of Command. That is all.” The Lord spoke with finality but her face showed confusion and doubt.

“Your knowledge is limited Lustra. There is so much you do not know.”

In a flash, Brail was around the Lord and standing just in front of Amok. “You will curb your tongue Amok.” Brail suddenly spoke with clear emotion in her voice. “You will respect Lustra!” The inflection in Brail’s voice was slight but for a Haruchai she could just as well have been shouting with her race’s self-control. To thus, show any emotion in the slightest became a shout of declaration.

“You know you cannot touch me if I so choose it Haruchai. If you keep buffing out that cute chest of yours trying to impress your Lord—“

The Haruchai swung her balled fist so fast Arya did not see it move. Even more shocking Amok easily dodged the fist as it swung to deliver a devastating punch to his face. He was laughing as he pivoted away.

“Ha! You missed me!” Amok sing-song. “Has passion clouded your skills oh stone faced one” Amok jibbed the Haruchai.

Brail lunged forward but the youth gripped her arms and rolled to his back and easily flipped the Haruchai over his head sending her flying.

He came up in flash and Brail twisted her body impossibly to land on her feet.

“Stop this Brail! What has gotten into you?!” Lustra barked at her Bloodguard. The Lord of Revelstone got in front of Brail again searching her face. The Haruchai’s actions had clearly surprised the Lord.

Brail instantly relaxed and looked at the Lord with no expression.
“I defended you my Lord. This Amok is a magical construct. He is extremely dangerous.”

“You wound me Haruchai. I may not be born of woman but I assure you I am every bit alive as you. More so. I actually enjoy life and can tell a woman I—“

“Enough!” the Haruchai shouted. Her face was twisted with anger. Her body was actually shaking with ire.

The Giants and Lord stared at the Haruchai with shock on their faces. A Haruchai who had been in the back of the room spoke up. “This is unseemly Brail. Control your emotions.” Despite the clear rancor of their countryman the Haruchai spoke in a calm flat tone.

“Do you challenge me Surd to the command of this Search?”

“I do not. You defeated us all for the right of command. We do not wish to challenge you for leadership but we will if you continue to show this lack of control. You are bringing disgrace to the Haruchai with this lack of emotional control in front of those who are not of us.”

With visible effort the Haruchai controlled herself. Brail tilted her head to the Haruchai.

Arya looked at the Haruchai. Her jaw was still clenching. She was furious. Evidently, the control of emotion was of supreme importance to the Haruchai.

Lustra turned to Amok. She tried to read his face that was filled with mirth and his twinkling eyes. She again queried the seeming youth who spoke as if he was in fact ancient of age. “You are the Guardian of the Door to the Earthroot but that lies a world away. Again I ask why you are here Amok. You should not be here.”

“I go where I will Lord. I am not the same as when I first walked this world. I have traveled to the great deserts and rode on the shoulders of Sandgorgons and I have journeyed deep underneath the caverns of Mount Thunder and sang songs with the silent Stone Golems. I have skidded on the ice lakes that the Arghule sleep on underneath the cold stars.

I have walked among the Elohim in their fairy home unseen. I have walked the forests and sang the songs of the Forestals. I have also journeyed this land of Westeros and Essos.”

“Dragonthane” he called to Daenerys Targaryen.

She came over with Kiserri in tow. Arya came up on the other side of Kiserri who smiled a brilliant smile up at Arya making the Stark’s heart pitter-patter fast in her chest. Amok looked at the youth. Kiserri looked at him and clapped. “I saw you in Elemenesdene.”

“I fear that is impossible child. Even the Elohim had no idea I was there.”

Kiserri snickered. She looked around like she was about to share a great secret. “You were the many colored ribbons that swirled in perfect circles that interlocked and then flew up into the air to fly apart. There you turned to snow that had many happy colors! Then you drifted down forming into ribbons again. You then formed perfect circles again and then interlocking. You did it again and again making new interlocking patterns. You kept changing colors. That is what gave you away. Not even Auntie Infinnie knew you were playing in her home.” Kiserri spoke conspiratorially to the strange youth like she was sharing a great secret.

The youth stared at the little girl with his mouth agape.

“Well, I see you did Kiserri. Not even Infelice knew I was there. I would watch this one my Queen. She is quite gifted.”

Arya watched Dany looking down at her little girl. She then picked up the little Dothraki girl and hugged and kissed her as the little girl snuggled into her mother. Arya smiled. They would love Kiserri unconditionally.

The Lord queried the strange youth once more “Again, I ask why you are here where you don’t belong Amok. You should be away from man. You are the door. Many would ensnare you for your key Amok.”

“They would try. I learned much with my first death. I will not taste it again. Only Linden Avery has ever drank the Earthblood and asked the proper question. Humans will always fail the test. I am the key but also the lock. I will choose wisely if ever I am tasked with opening the door again.”

The youth turned to look at Dany. “Daenerys Targaryen. You have a great task ahead of you.”

“Yes. I stand ready to defeat the Ice King.”

“That is only your first task. You will join the Vales, Yazloo, the Lords of Revelstone and the Demondim spawn to restore the Earthroot to this world.”

“The Viles are dead” Lustra answered. “I know not of these Yazloo but the Demondim and their creators long ago ceased to exist” the Lord barked at the youth who smirked at her.

“Again you are mistaken Lord” Amok bowed to the Lord. “The Lore says that Loric Vilesilencer silenced the Viles and the Demondim. He did not kill them Lustra. His name was not Vilekiller. It was Vilesilencer. He sent them to the lands underneath the mountains of Valyria. There they still live. The Demondim choose poorly and were undone by the Insequent Harrow. But a few yet still live.”

“What?! You do not know what you speak of Amok. There is only one Earthroot and it is in the Land.”

Amok sighed.

“Your vision is so limited. The Land is in the southern half of our world. This land and Esso are the in the Northern half of the world. This world has its own Earthroot.”

Arya saw Dany’s eyes flashing.

“Oh my gods. Valyria.”

“Yes Dragonthane. Over five hundred years ago the Earthroot and its chamber underneath Valyria was shattered when the Power of Command was invoked. I knew of the door but was not warding it closely. I deemed none had he knowledge of door’s location. The magical locks were not breeched. I am still not sure how the chamber was breeched. Your land is still feeling the results of that event five centuries later.”

Lustra seemed stunned. “But that is impossible. How do you have this knowledge and we do not.

“You have never journeyed beyond your lands. High Lord Kevin and High Lord Sollarius knew of the Earthroot in this land but considered it unreachable. In this land magic is manifested differently. Here it is absorbed by the very environment and taken into the essence of its denizens.”

“Here you have Dragons, Manicores, Vampires, Were animals, Wendigo and many other magical creatures. Magic can be touched but not channeled like it is by the Lords of Revelstone and the great wizards of the Thaumaturages or the Insequent.”

There is other older magic such as the Shadowbenders tap but it cannot shatter armies like your magic can Lustra. Here in this land there are no beings such as She Who Must Not Be Named.”

The lord hissed. “She is a great evil!”

Amok turned to look at Dany “Trust the instincts of the Innocent One my Queen. The mightiest of forces can be tamed by the lambs of the world. The one we speak of has changed and the innocent one will finish the transformation.”

Amok turned back to the Lord.

“A Raver came to the Land of Valyria over five thousand years ago and corrupted the Valyrians. How it accomplished this even I do not know. The mighty maelstroms of the Soulcrusher and Soulbiter should have prevented his travel to the Northern hemisphere. It was the Raver that corrupted that once high and noble race. It was Raver’s influence that led to the Power of Command being found and invoked. Nature is still affected by Elena’s breaking of the Law of Death which then forced the breaking of the Law of Life.”

“What did the Valyrian ask for?” the Lord asked in a hushed tone.

“That I do not know. But five hundred years later we are still feeling the effects of that command being given. It is seen and felt by the explosions still racking Valyria. Magic is fraying in this half of the world. It needs to be restored. That is your task Daenerys. You will not restore it but you will lead the agents there. They will know what to do. You will convince the Yazloo to turn their gaze out and to give their aid. If you do not, magic will die in your land.”

“If it does, man will eventually destroy this world. Magic is needed to keep the balance of nature in sync. Without it the blight of Science will eventually lead this world to ruin. This must not be allowed.”

“My time is done here. But one more warning I will give. I can control the doors to the Earthroots. There are other doors that have been sealed shut by Earthpower. As it fades and dies those doors will open. I have helped to keep them closed these last five hundred years but I can no longer hold them shut. Ancient evils are returning to the world.”

“The Dragon, Wolf and Lion will have to contend with these ancient evils. You will have to garrote them.”

“How will I know what and where to fight them?” Daenerys asked the strange youth.

“You will know them my Queen. You will face your challenges. You are forged.”

“Thank you for your wise counsel.” Arya had gripped Dany’s hand. She would be by her side as Dany met these challenges that Amok spoke of.

“You are welcome my Queen. I leave now. I go to instruct the Wolf and Lion. Their swords are mighty but they have not been rune forged yet. They have not felt the touch of the Wraiths.”

The youth started to turn but then hesitated. “I will grant you a boon” the youth spoke turning to face Daenerys again.

“What is that?” Dany asked.
“You wish to bring dragons back do you not?”

Dany and Arya both gasped. They had talked about that after lovemaking again. To bring dragons back and once more see the sky filled with them. To raise the hatchlings gently and curb their aggressive nature as had been done with Drogon, Viserion, Rhaegal. Dany was sure she had found the key.

“Yes I do … it would seem too be impossible. Mine are the last and are all male.”

“For now Daenerys Targaryen. Dragons do indeed change sex when needed despite what the Maesters may think. But that will be years from now. The other dragons are hidden for now. But it is not of them I speak of. You will find other eggs that you will then be able to hatch.”

“Other dragons! Where?! Tell me I command it!” Arya looked at her Queen. She loved it when she used that ringing commanding in tone!

Amok laughed. “No one commands me my Queen. Do you wish me to leave now?”

“No!” Dany calmed immediately. “Tell me what you would. Please!”

The youth snickered.

“You must find riders who share your nature. They must be able to communicate mind to mind with their dragons. They will know how to do it as did you.”

“Where do I find them?” Dany asked Amok.

“You will need to go east to go west. You will need to go south to go north … you will need to go down to go up.”

Dany was fuming. During the Clatch of Confidents meetings Dany had told stories of the many prophecies against her and this one was being crafted to mimic one she especially despised.

“That which is drowned will again know life. To fly on wings of life you must travel among bones and stone. Let their faces guide you.”

The youth started to turn away.

“That’s it!” Dany shouted.

“Of course … aren’t prophecies supposed to be vague and confounding? I have given you enough O Queen of dragons.”

The air shimmered and Amok was gone.

The Lord went to stand where Amok had stood.

“He is much more powerful than any of our Lore told us. It would appear that his creator High Lord Sollarius kept key salient portents from us. I hope she knew what she was doing. Amok with free will seems like a very dangerous choice.”

Arya spoke up “He said that the Law of Death was broken because he had no choice the first time he guarded the door. Maybe it is wise he gets to choose now.”

The lord looked at Arya. The Lord looked thoughtful. “Perhaps.”
Lustra turned to her Bloodguard. “I am weary. I am returning to my quarters.”

The Haruchai bowed to her Lord. Arya ran up to Brail. She leaned in and whispered “Tell her you love her Brail.”

The Haruchai walked off without acknowledging Arya.

Dany walked over with Kiserri. “I don’t know much about these Haruchai but showing emotions seems to be the lowest thing on their list.”

“It is sad. I do not want her to waste any more time. Time that I wasted. I should have told you I loved you the moment I saw you Dany. I wasted so much time” Arya told Dany with her intense gaze. Arya conveying in her words and eyes her great love for Daenerys Targaryen.

Dany moved in and wrapped her arm around Arya’s waist and snuggled in. Kiserri got in front of Arya and held up her arms. Arya smiled and picked up her daughter and put her on her hip.

They observed Maester Luwin telling Arya’s father that he would never again let prejudice cloud his vision.

Eddard clapped him on the back and told him good. He turned his head to them and winked.

They smiled great big and left the room.

They went back down to the kitchen and moved to the table in the back of the room. The room was full of excited chatter with the strange and mystical events that had spread like wildfire around Winterfell.

They sat down and were served plates full of eels and shad in a basting sauce surrounded by boiled potatoes and carrots. Jhogo and Rakharo ate at the other table since it was free. They asked Jeertel who ghosted behind them if she would join them.

“I am Haruchai” was her answer with a slight bow and she moved off to prowl the shadows. Bannor was nowhere to be seen but they knew he was near and watching over them.

The small family tucked into the meal eating heartily. They enjoyed the cooks’ fine meal and complimented them on their excellent skills. The cooks beamed with the praise.

They then went back to their quarters. They had been given some dolls and a set of kitchen items like plates and eating utensils. Kiserri played being a mommy and feeding her children and scolding them for being bad and then hugging and kissing her dolls to make them feel better.

After an hour she was drooping. Arya scooped her up and Dany followed her across the hall to the room that had been set up as Kiserri’s bedroom. They tucked her in and pulled the covers up and stoked the fire. She was drowsy but asked for a story.

Arya told her a slightly romantic version of “Love at First Fist”. Halfway through the story the little precious girl was asleep.

The young couple went back to their bedroom and stripped down naked. Arya loved that Dany loved to sleep in the nude like herself.

Any other day they would have been all over each other but they were both exhausted by the day’s events.
They got on their sides with Arya large spoon and Dany wiggling in close and taking Arya’s hand and holding it between her warm bosom. Arya loved going to sleep with Dany so close to her.

She loved snuggling.

She awoke in the middle of the night. Kiserri had gotten out of her bed and come into their room and into their bed. They had left word with their Bloodriders to let her come into their room if they had finished lovemaking. They wanted the girl to feel safe and secure. The child had a good life with the Elohim but still, this was a new situation for the girl and needed to get settled and confident in her new home.

She had wedged in between them. She had her face buried in Dany’s neck the rest of her body pressed into Dany’s back. Arya’s body was touching Kiserri on the other side to provide warmth and a sense of safety from that side of her body.

Arya decided she definitely get used to this.
Margaery

Margaery sat on her chair beside Catelyn Stark her beloved second mother. She felt so close to Eddard’s wife now. She had formed a strong bond before the events of yesterday but she felt the bonds of life so much stronger between her and Catelyn now. Having been a witness to her almost death and miraculous salvation by magic arcane had worked to bring Margaery even closer to the mother of her sweet Sansa.

Catelyn had awoken twice to look tiredly down at the babies taking suck on her nipples. The new mother reaching out and cooing as she stroked her new babies’ hair and beamed down at the babes as she helped them to nurse. Eddard had been there the second time and to see him gently stroking his wife’s hair so tenderly had made her throat catch. The love that was obvious between them was the same she and Sansa shared.

The room was warm with the hot water rushing through the wall pipes but a roaring fire in the fireplace was kept running. The extra heat kept the room warm and toasty for the recovering mother and her newborn babes. Margaery looked at the grate with snarling wolves on each end supporting the legs that kept the logs up off the brick floor of the chimney. The metal dark as it held the red canker filled logs as they popped and hissed while they slowly turned to ash.

The fire added light and warmth to the already warm. Catelyn needed the warmth in her still tired and worn state. The Ur-viles and Wanyhyn had healed her body but she was still exhausted from her ordeal. She merely needed time to fully recover now. That was clear to Margaery. The Maester and chambermaids still had put several blankets on Cat’s body. She needed the extra warmth as she convalesced.

The Demondim spawn, Waynhim, would appear and disappear according to their Weird. They were strange beings Margaery thought but she was thankful that they had chosen to intervene and save Catelyn Stark. They had seemed frightening at first with their strange appearance and discordant barking. The feeling of fright had slowly left Margaery. With association the Demondim spawn now were beginning to seem normal to her. She was becoming familiar with them.

She was sure to the Waynhim she appeared strange. Her speech course. When they did appear they came with a Giant from the southern hemisphere in tow.

The Waynhim through their wild barking that was translated by the Giant that stayed in the room now to translate as needed. She noticed Missandei in the room as she was learning the language of the strange beasts. She was having the Giants teach her their language. Though they had the gift of translation bequeathed to them by the Elohim, Missandei still wanted to learn their native tongue.

The Ur-viles had left soon after their work was done. One moment they had been in the room and the next moment they were simply not there. Lustra explained the Ur-viles had always been a
This morning she had heard Cirruslodestone Seafom who was on translate duty remark at the speed that Missandei was learning their language. She could already speak to them in very broken Giantish.

“You have skills Missandei” the Giant had told the little scribe. The black teenager beamed proudly.

“You have been touched by great power I see Missandei” the Giant told her.

The black girl looked at her. “I have?”

“Yes.”

Margaery wondered about that but neither spoke anymore about it. Missandei was sure that it the touch of She Who Must Not Be Named that the Giants perceived of.

The Waynhim would leave and appear at random seeming moments. They had suddenly stormed into the room five minutes ago. They were barking at each other and snapping their jaws showing their teeth to each other. They seemed to be continuously trying to bark over each other. Nor did the baying from one individual to another individual last long. The Waynhym milled around in their cluster moving to face off with their brethren and begin barking in their face sending slaver flinging in each other’s faces.

“How can they even hear themselves think?” Margaery cried out over the din.

Cirruslodestone smiled at her “For them this is normal. They are constantly arguing and debating their Weird.”

“Then what?” Margaery asked looking at the short creatures—she stopped herself. She had been about to think of the Wanyhim as ‘creatures’. These were no more creatures than the Direwolves or Dragons were creatures.

They each were individuals and had personalities and were highly intelligent. Where the Ur-vile Loremasters had been a dark black the Wanyhim were various shades of medium to dark grey. The Ur-viles had been roughly her height of 5’5”. The Wanyhim Loremaster was maybe 5’1” while its brethren were between 4’6” to 5’0” in height. There short height and constant seeming arguing was humorous to Margaery though she suspected the Waynhim were totally serious in their baying and now a little shoving of shoulders into each other and snapping of teeth at each other but never actually biting each other.

Cirruslodestone watched with humor on her face. “They are vociferous I will say that … What is the right words for their Weird (Cirruslodestone looked off into distance thinking) … their destiny—and how they will meet it. To some degree they can see the future or the possibilities of the future. For them and the Ur-viles more so than any other beings we have met, the past, present and future all blend together in their consciousness. They each are allowed to interpret their Weird and try to persuade their brethren to the correctness of their particular vision. Thus, the constant bickering and back and forth between them. They never come to blows but can they bray!” Cirruslodestone chortled.

As Margaery watched, she watched the Loremaster turn away from his brethren and bent down to Margaery’s other mother as she thought of Catelyn now. The Loremaster again painted runes with its stave on Cat’s forehead and the forehead of the babies. The three humans did not wake and in fact smiled gently at the gentle touch.
“Why are they doing that?”

“I don’t know.”

“What?” Margaery exclaimed. “How can we know if we can trust them?!”

Cirruslodestone looked at Margaery as if had sprouted a third arm on her forehead. “They did save your mother and your new brother and sister.”

Margaery was chastised and crestfallen. She had to be better. In an instant she let preconceived notions cloud her judgement. Because the Waynhim did not look human it had clouded her instincts and spot judgement. “Forgive me Cirruslodestone. I need to be better.”

“Apology accepted Margaery Tyrell-Stark”. Margaery felt a flush of warmth rush through her at that. “You in the northern hemisphere evidently are not used to meeting intelligent non-human species.”

At this moment the Lord of Revelstone, Lustra, and her Bloodguard Brail entered the room. They examined Catelyn together. The Lord showed a soft smile at her total recovery. Of course the Haruchai warrior showed no emotion at all. She stayed at the Lord’s shoulder providing the service she had sworn herself to do.

The Giant explained to the Lord the questions Margaery had concerning the Demondim spawn.

“Maybe you can take up the explanation of the Demondim spawn. The Lords of Revelstone had had much greater contact with them. Your histories are inexorably linked for thousands of years.”

The Lord listened to Cirruslodestone. She then turned to Margaery.

“I can try. The Demondim created the Ur-viles and Waynhyn. They in turn were created by the Viles. The Viles were great and powerful beings. Both began as high and lofty races. One was incorporeal and the later existed in our time and world by animating the dead. They followed what they called their Wûrd. The Viles creating the Demondim and in their turn the Demondim created the Ur-viles and Waynhim. Much of those ancient beings remains a mystery. They were thought dead so we have not pursued knowledge of them. They were of the Old Lords and their epoch.

“The Ur-viles and Waynhim are another matter. But as to the Weird and power of the Demondim spawn … much of the Lore of the Demondim spawn is beyond us.” At that very moment there was loud barking on the outside of the replaced doors to Catelyn’s room.

The Giants had helped Mikken repair the destroyed door and its hinges. The blacksmith and carpenters first replaced the shattered beams and then put on knew hinges and aligned them. The Giants easily pulling apart the shattered beams and pulling off the now warped hinges with ease so new ones could be attached. Then the Giants had with little effort held up the heavy doors as they were set into place and the screws drilled and the door aligned properly.

The door were opened by the Haruchai standing guard outside. The two Ur-vile Loremasters came into the room followed by a Haruchai. The black Ur-viles had seemingly decided to show themselves again. All had assumed they had left to not appear again. This was obviously incorrect. Margaery started at that. Strange how they had decided to appear the moment they were talked about. They all came around to look down at Catelyn Stark. Her color had returned again. With her last recovery it had been a slow return to color but now her cheeks were rosy with health and all trace of her body being wasted was gone.

She was merely exhausted. The Ur-viles started barking at the Waynhim who barked harshly back.
Soon the strange creatures were jumping and doing flips only to land impossibly adroitly beside the convalescing woman’s bed. The loud raucous barking discourse not waking mother and children. Margaery was sure the now disappeared runes painted on their bodies helped in that.

She watched the three Loremasters gesticulating with their staves in each other’s faces and baying wildly. They pressed their bodies into each other bumping and jostling each other. Strangely, the two black Ur-viles Loremasters spent as much time and effort jarring each other with chest bumps as they did against the Wanyhim. The Demondim spawn seemed to thrive to what looked like Margaery as sheer confusion.

The other Waynhim were all either baying at each other or more confusingly at nothing. They would bark and argue and then start to running around and doing flips around the room and using the furniture to launch themselves into the air still barking loudly. Then at random some would fall out of the melee and again get face to face to argue with each other vociferously.

The babies had been sleeping but now had latched onto their mother’s teats and were hungrily nursing.

“I am so thankful for such creatures Lustra. Your world must be so appreciative to have Ur-viles and Waynhim in it.” Margaery was earnest in her statement. These beings had saved Catelyn Stark from death.

The Lord turned from watching the Demondim spawn antics. She proceeded with her explanations “Actually the High Council thought the Demondim descendants long dead and extinct. They were thought to have died out over forty thousand years ago. All of us from the Land and its visitors are surprised and gladden to still find them alive and well. It was not always thus.”

Margaery’s eyes widened. The look of unbelief obvious. Had not always been a benefice to the Land and now Westeros.

“It was not till the second journey of Thomas Covenant to our world that the Ur-viles changed from beings who raped and killed all in the land to their biggest defenders. They created Vain who became the second Staff of Law.” The Lord then explained to Margaery of Vain and how he and the Elohim Findail became the second Staff of Law.

Then the Lord proceeded to the Ur-viles exploits during the last journey of Thomas Covenant to the Land “If it had not been for the Ur-viles delaying the Worm at the World’s End it would have consumed the world before Thomas Covenant and Linden Avery defeated Lord Foul. After the renewal of the world no sight or knowledge of the Demondim existed. We all assumed they had become extinct. We mourned their passing. Obviously, we were wrong. Thankfully.”

“What changed for them?” Margaery asked seeing the Demondim arguing and waving their arms and shake their staves at each other with seeming fury.

“What are they going to fight?” Margaery asked with some trepidation. The Demondim spawn seemed to be truly agitated now.

The Haruchai looked over at the bickering Demondim spawn. “Actually they appear quite calm.” A few of the Waynhim were chasing each other now running beneath tables and weaving among the chairs all the while barking wildly. The ones doing the chasing nipping at the heels of the baying Waynhim they were chasing.

“The Waynhim ceased serving Lord Foul after the Ritual of Desecration. The Ur-viles continued in service another four thousand years to the Grey Slayer. Their self-loathing allowed no other “Why did they loathe themselves” Margaery asked.

“Ah Margaery. That is a sad tale. It is easy to fall prey to Corruption.” Lustra answered Margaery.

“You mean sickness?”

“I am sorry. That is another name we had for Lord Foul. He corrupted all that he could, thus, the name.”

The Lord got a faraway look for a moment collecting her thoughts.

“The Viles were once a high and lofty race. They were incorporeal beings. In time, the whispering of Ravers made them start to revile this lack of substance. The Viles were—I mean are inward looking. A Raver convinced them this self-contemplation was conceited and they needed to interact with the world. The Ravers convinced the Viles that the world hated them.”

“As they fell into self-loathing they created the Demondim. The Viles did this to try and rise above themselves. Their creations were spirits that took on shape by animating the bodies of the dead. They too started out pure and without blemish.” The Lord sighed again. “In time, the ravers whispered in their ears they were imperfect because they had no bodies of their own and all that were born with bodies were superior to them. In time the Demondim fell for the Ravers’ lies and became corrupted.

“The Demondim in turn, as they fell from grace, created the Ur-viles and Waynhim. This was their prodigy. Finally life was created by incorporeal beings that had form. They hoped to break the bonds of loathing and self-hate. Alas, their creations also were corrupted by the Ravers spreading the lies of Lord Foul.”

Margaery was perplexed. “They have bodies now. How could these Demondim spawn be corrupted?”

“They came to hate their own bodies.”

Last night after her and Sansa had made love most of the night in celebration of new life and Catelyn finally being healed by the strange creatures summoned by the Queen they had talked of the Ur-viles and their smaller cousins Waynhim.

They had come to the conclusion that after their initial shock of their appearance and finding them ugly that they were in fact kind of cute with their pointed ears and long arms and legs. Their lack of eyes and large fleshy nostrils had quickly become the way they should be.

To hear that they hated their own bodies was sad and now strange to Margaery.

“What is wrong with their bodies? I will admit at first I found them, well, horrid to look upon but now they seem right. They are as they should be.”

The Lord looked at her. “You are most perceptive. I fear that many in this strange land would not have your thoughts. You cannot see the goodness or wrongness of a person or entity merely by looking at them as we can.”

“So how were they corrupted?” Margaery asked.

The Lord paused. Then she decided on how to express her thoughts. “A warrior may wish to be stronger of arm to wield his sword or better sight to perceive his enemy. A woman in court may wish for a more perfect face or larger bosom. They may wish for more or less of something.”

“It is different for the Demondim spawn. They look at themselves and say “Why was I created thus. We are born with our forms. We do not question it. An Ur-vile or Waynhim looks at their body and ask themselves why was I made thus.”

“Why was I not made differently. My creators choose to make me thus. We humans have no control over our bodies. We are what we are. With the Demondim spawn they could be created in any form. This was true when the Ur-viles created Vain. He was perfectly formed as a human being. He was jet black like his sires but every angle of his body was sheer perfection.

“Brail.” The Lord called to her Bloodguard. Margaery saw the intensity the Haruchai looked at her Lord with.

“Yes my Lord.”

“How would you describe Vain?”

“He was sheer perfection given human form. Everything about his form and countenance was beautiful. He was what every human would aspire to in beauty.”

“And that is from a Haruchai. With their mind speech their memory is one hundred percent accurate. You see how they control their emotions when dealing with all things not of their intimate family unit or when they are expressing the joy of making love. They see things with dispassion and great accuracy.”

“So the Ur-viles continued creating their brothers and the Waynhim after the supposed demise of the Demondim. They could create forms other than what you see. Their Weird led them on to continue as they always had until they created Vain. It was not till that time that their Weird compelled them to deviate from their initial design.”

“The Ravers used this” the Lord paused seeking the right words “design of the Demondim spawn against them. They instilled in them Anthropomorphism.”

“What is that Margaery?” Margaery asked.

“That is the giving of human characteristics to animals. The Ravers made them feel hate for their bodies for not looking like humans.”

“How did these supreme beings keep falling prey to these Ravers? What are Ravers?”

“They are three brothers. Born in the filth and sewage of the Sarangrave Flats. This is a Land below Mount Thunder. The creation of life by the Demondim and their Ur-viles created byproducts that were dark and dangerous. They were heedless of the harm of their effluent from their birthing and offal pits. This sewage spewed from underneath that great mountain and polluted the swamps to the East.

It was there in this filth and vile effluents of dark arts that the three Ravers were born. They are the distilled anger, hate, lust, jealousy, xenophobia and all the other dark secrets of the human heart. They took the avarice of the human heart into their forming bodies and ids. They have no bodies and take over the bodies of other weaker than they. In the Land only the Haruchai and Giants have proven immune to the brothers three. Only with the help of the Illearth Stone could these people be corrupted.”
Margaery’s head was spinning. This world of Lustra was both most wondrous and heinous at the same time. How could beings such as the Ravers find life in the world of the Land? All the denizens from that distant land seemed to be gifted with beauty and great strength. How could something like a Raver come into life? How could these Ravers take the dark aspects of the human heart and find life from that? It was disconcerting.

While Margaery had been talking to the Lord the Ur-viles and the Waynhim had devolved into seeming discordant bickering and general insanity. They had started at a certain level but were now truly going crazy. They were all barking furiously at first one brother and then another. Some were jumping up and down shaking staves they produced from seeming nothingness within their robes only to make them disappear when an argument calmed down. Now many of the Waynhim were now chasing each other barking and sniping at each other’s heels. Several had jumped up to the ceiling timbers and were hanging on with clawed limbs barking furiously down at their brothers on the floor.

Then in a single moment the Waynhim on the ceiling dropped down. The Ur-viles who had been standing fleshy nose to fleshy nose barking and flinging snot on each other (how gross) stopped. All the Waynhim stopped chasing each other and baying. In a fast hurry, the Waynhim formed their wedge like they always did when they were ready to project power.

The Waynhim Loremaster painted fresh runes on Catelyn and the babes’ foreheads with his iron stave. It barely touched the new mother with the iron. They were gentle to the woman and her babies.

Each Ur-vile Loremaster picked up a baby and inspected it very carefully. Their large hands with two thumbs easily held a baby in their hands. The fingers and thumbs gently enfolding the babies. Margaery did not fear these magical creatures now. The two Ur-viles tilted the babies this way and that looking at them with their faces that had no eyes. The stroked the babies as they gurgled and kicked their legs. The taller Ur-vile Loremaster somehow produced a bowl. The Waynhim Loremaster came up to them and put his stave to the rim of bowl. The Waynhim chanted and Vitrum pulsed out the stave and filled the bowl.

The two Ur-vile Loremasters started to dip a finger into the bowl and let the babies suckle off their claw tips. The babies gurgled happy. The vitrum clung to their fingers thickly but then flowed like liquid into the babe’s hungry mouths. Again and again the Ur-viles fed the babes till the bowl was empty of vitrum. Only then did the Ur-viles put the babies back on Catelyn’s breast and the babies took the nipples and nursed hungrily.

The Waynhim had produced a bowel and filled it with their own magical liquid that the Giant called Slurram. Where vitrum was a dark grey this liquid was a medium yellow. The next two Waynhim to their Loremaster gently lifted Catelyn up and teased her lips open and she greedily drank the liquid down.

Margaery marveled. Catelyn looked even healthier now.

More furious barking. Cirruslodestone informed Margaery that the Waynhim felt that Catelyn should be fully recovered by the evening. The babies were now fully recovered from their near death. Margaery had to agree. They had looked healthy before but now the beamed with a healthy hue and now had rosy glow to their skin.

“They are so gentle and loving” Margaery said softly looking at the Demondim spawn enfold the babies and their mother in the blankets tucking them in.

“They do not love as we do Margaery” Lustra told her. “They are following their Weird. For them it is trying to meet the future they hope to bring to fruition. They serve good but I am not sure they feel this love we do.”

“It does not matter. Their actions are gentle and loving. That is all that is important to me.”

The Lord looked at her for a long moment. “You are most wise Margaery Tyrell.”

The Demondim spawn suddenly quickly retreated from the room. The Demondim spawn came and went on their own schedule. The room seemed eerily quiet without their barking. The Lord started to leave.

“Can I speak with you Lustra for a moment?” Margaery asked the severe looking Lord.

“Brail can you wait for me in the hall.”

The Haruchai looked like she might refuse but then turned and left. She closed the door behind her.

“She takes her duty very seriously” the Lord mused shaking her head.

“She is in love with you.”

The Lord sighed. “You are the second one to tell me that. The Haruchai feel disdain for those of us who are weak with emotion.”

Margaery looked at the Lord. She seemed always on the edge of a suppressed fury. She was so controlled and yet the unhappiness was evident with her every constrained motion and sour facial expressions. In many ways she reminded Margaery of the Haruchai. The control part, not the part where she showed her unhappiness at every moment. Margaery had heard how her husband divorced her. Evidently, in the Land people almost always made the right choice in mates. How unique and refreshing. Evidently, Lustra had been one of the exceptions that proved the rule. Most unfortunate for the beautiful woman if she would but smile. Lustra had seemingly never recovered from her divorce.

“Lustra … I am not sure what to say. I am just saying to keep your heart open to the possibility that you can love Brail.”

“I have had my heart torn apart once Margaery Tyrell. I will not do so again.” With that the Lord pivoted. Her light blue tunic swirled with her movements. In a quick motion she was out the door closing it quietly behind herself. She was not angry Margaery felt but her icy demeanor was even more severe.

The Tyrell princess sighed. Margaery felt sad for the woman. With most women she knew what advice to give. These women from the Land were beyond her. Their strength and strange convictions she did not know how to grapple with. This willingness to control their emotions to such severe levels was unnatural to Margaery.

With the strange benefactors removed from the room, Margaery scooted her chair closer to the sleeping Catelyn. She looked so peaceful now and the two babies were now full and drowsy again. She picked up Lyanna and put her on her shoulder. She did not consider herself very maternal but she found she liked the mundane tasks like this. She put the little tyke on her shoulder gently and started to pat her back softly but firmly. A minute later a satisfying baby burp was heard. She repeated the process for Brandon and put him back with Catelyn putting the babies beside her body.

The chambermaids could change the diapers when the time came. She was not that maternal!
A few minutes later Sansa came into her parents chambers. Margaery felt her breath taken away.
She was wearing a new red dress with green highlights at the waist and shoulders. The dress had a modest scallop cutout to show the tops of Sansa’s breast that were so creamy and delectable. The colors made Sansa’s red hair and green eyes stand out.

Margaery was totally in love.

Sansa came up beside Margaery as she sat in the chair beside the bed. Sansa looked down at her mother. Her hand gripped her future wife’s shoulder affectionately.

“She looks so well now. The babies are so sweet. It would seem the Demondim spawn are quite the Maesters.”

Maester Luwin had backed off on insisting in caring for Catelyn Stark’s medical needs while the Demondim spawn were in Winterfell. They came and went as they pleased. They had been tracked and they would rush out of the Great Keep and scurry into the Godswood to disappear. At times they could be heard baying and barking at all hours. The din suddenly loud and full of discordant notes. Their arguments started without warning and ended in the same manner.

The Maester now let the strange creatures care for his charge and her new babies without rancor.
They were clearly able to perform medical arts that were miraculous by the standards of the science of the Citadel. He had to bow to their superior insights, knowledge and raw power.

It had taken Giants to manhandle the thick oaken wood door and Mikken several hours to put back on hinges and mount the door. The Ur-viles had knocked the door from its hinges with seeming ease. The door ripped from the doorway in their haste to get into the bedroom to aid Catelyn. Their might had sent the door careening to the floor with almost negligent ease.

What was almost as shocking was the knowledge that the Haruchai were able to fight such creatures and often win. With only their fist and feet. Such power. She had talked to the Lord more about the Demondim spawn’s history in the Land. It still shocked Margaery that the Ur-viles once fought in service of their Ice King the one named Lord Foul. That the Ur-viles had fought with all their might in his service. Lord Foul doled out material for their breeding warrens and snippets of magical lore.

Little did Lord Foul know that in time they used these supplies and lore to help craft Vain. By recreating the second Staff of Law through the union between Vain and Findail the Ur-viles eventually ensured the downfall of Lord Foul. It had taken thousands of years but the downfall did occur. Their Weird saw that far into the future.

Margaery felt Sansa grip her shoulder pulling her up. Margaery got up with a big smile. Sansa quickly sat down on the cushioned chair. They were alone in the room. Sansa gripped Margaery’s forearm. Margaery nearly swooned feeling what she was coming to call the Stark Strength. She looked down at how Sansa’s hand compressed the fine silk covering her arm and gripped her arm strongly.

Margaery was getting wet. Now that the crisis had passed her natural horniness was again taking the fore. Sansa sat Margaery down on her lap and Margaery snuggled in. She put her head on Sansa’s chest over her heart and heard the strong steady rhythm. She loved that Sansa was taller and more stoutly built than her slender frame. She loved the strength and power that it gave Sansa. Sansa had been very docile those first nights of their lovemaking but she quickly had awaken the hidden Direwolf within her future’s wife bosom.

Margaery lifted her head and kissed her wife’s neck gently. She smirked seeing the makeup used to cover the two hickies she had given Sansa last night. Of course she had five hickies she was having to cover up. Last night when Sansa had been slam fucking her with her strap-on she would lower her mouth to her slut’s throat and mark her as her bitch. Margaery had wailed in pain and pleasure with two of the hickies given to her as she was on the precipice of orgasm.

Gods she had cum so hard she nearly passed out from soul searing bliss. She had cummed wailing and convulsing as Sansa enfolded her love in her arms and pulled their bodies tight. All the while lifting her hips and snapping down impaling Margaery’s exploding womb with her long thick strap-on. Margaery relished Sansa’s strength. Strength she used to impale Margaery’s womb on her plunging long thick strap-on cock.

“You really did me good last night Sansa … my pussy is still tingling.”

Sansa smirked stroking her love’s back and arms. “I love fucking you Margaery. You have fairly corrupted me. Thank the gods!” Sansa smiled down at her partner with a large beaming smile. “I was so staid and boring. So naïve! Now I love my body and your body. Men bore me! I love boning you with my ever hard dick! Tonight I think I will be plundering your ass Margaery” Sansa spoke with a smug tone.

They both chuckled. Margaery looked up at her lady love with limpid eyes relishing the sex they would soon be partaking of.

“Mother is looking so good” Sansa observed. “She has been completely healed I think” Sansa remarked looking at her mother and the sleeping babies.

“Yes she does baby. The Ur-viles and Waynhim have both pronounced her fully recovered.”

“They did?”

Margaery told Sansa about the earlier happenstances before her arrival. Sansa was so thankful that her mother and her babies had been saved.

“How was the meeting today? I miss them.”

“Starting tomorrow you will be attending them with me.”

“But your mother—“

“No! You will be my side giving council at the table. I need you with me Margaery. Mother is well and hale now. We will have plenty of time to spend with her. I need my wife by my side Margaery.” The tall redhead pulled the smaller Tyrell into her body and held her possessively. It thrilled the Tyrell that Sansa wanted Margaery at her side in all things. They made such a good team. They did all they could together and could still do things separately when circumstances demanded it.

Margaery wiggled into Sansa. This strong confident side of Sansa made her weak in the knees. Sansa had become her equal in strength and the wielding of power in the Game of Thrones. She was thankful that she had been her teacher. Under the wrong tutelage she feared what her love might have become.

They talked of daily events around Winterfell. The laughed and hugged each other. “Did you see Dany and Arya this morning at the table beside us eating breakfast” Sansa asked her sweet love. They had been in the back of the kitchen at the two tables reserved for staff and the royal family.

Margaery smiled at Sansa playing with her long red tresses. She loved Sansa’s wavy hair.
“Yes it was so cute.” They had watched the woman who ran the nursery pickup Kiserri who was anxious to go play with her playmates. She kissed her mommies goodbye telling them to not miss her too much. She would be back after she made sure her playmates were safe and sound. Kiserri had pulled out her play dagger and swished it through the air scrunching her face to look dangerous but was only cute. She of course dropped her ceremonial dagger. The precious girl huffing as she chased it around on the floor cursing it with child curses.

As Margaery and Sansa ate their meal they watched Dany and Arya from the corners of their eyes. Dany was pulling Arya’s hair behind her ear and stroking Arya’s throat and exposed arm with the short tunic she had on. The queen leaned in and blew warm air into Arya’s ear and nibbled on her earlobe. All the while pressing her high firm swaying breast into Arya’s ribs.

It was so cute seeing the teenager become addled with lust. Her steel grey eyes were darkened to almost blue Valyrian steel color then. The thin material of the top showing that Arya’s enormous nipples had engorged into bursting plums that tented up her tunic showing Arya’s plum like nipples all thick and nearly two inches long. Margaery could not help but stare at them. They were so unique. She noticed Sansa stared at the engorged nipples too.

Good. Her sweetie had been so repressed when she had arrived at Winterfell over three years ago now with that first visit to Winterfell. Sansa had puffy nipples too that sat deliciously on her breast that got so engorged and puffy when Margaery had her sweet wolf excited and full of fuck hunger.

The Queen felt so comfortable around them. Daenerys did not hesitate to play with her Direwolf out in public. Arya was panting cutely. Plus, Margaery reasoned that Dany’s time in a Khalasar had opened up her sexuality. Margaery and Dany would both fuck their mates on the kitchen table tops if they could and let everyone see them making love and sharing pleasure. Why should people hid their joy in making love?

Margaery sighed. This was still Westeros after all. She harrumphed at the unfairness of it all.

They watched Dany slowly snake her hand underneath Arya’s top and raise it slowly to start to rub over with her palm Arya’s spongy nipples. Arya gasped and leaned into Dany moaning softly. Dany looked over at Sansa and Margaery with hot mirthful eyes. Margaery snorted when Dany winked at them saucily and ground her palm into Arya’s right nipple hard making the teenager gasp and moan in pleasure. It seemed Dany was releasing the inner slut in Arya as she had in Sansa. Sansa had reached up and squeezed Margaery’s boobs through her dress.

Margaery gasped with happiness. Sansa had never shown such sexuality in public before. Sansa was becoming wild and filled with fuck hunger behind closed doors. She was still repressed too much in public so this public display of sexuality thrilled Margaery. They heard some giggling and they looked to the side. The two girl cooks who had become lovers were smiling great big at the antics at the tables.

Sansa’s face went red and her hand went down. Margaery whined but Sansa’s face only got redder. Margaery sighed. She still had more work to do.

Dany only smiled back at the girls and now pinched and rolled the stiff rubbery nipples making Arya gurgle and lean into Dany.

The next minute, Dany pulled Arya up and they went hurrying off but not before the Queen smirked back at Sansa and Margaery with a saucy look her hand cupping Arya’s ass squeezing it hard. They were heading back to Arya’s room to fuck gloriously Margaery knew. Margaery smiled with that thought. Unfortunately, she and Sansa had duties to perform in the morning.
Eddard and Dany were skipping the more mundane meetings currently since all was proceeding as planned. Eddard knew his son and two daughters had all moving forward with all troops and supplies flooding north. Soon the end of the trains of troops moving north would be passing and they too would be moving up to the Wall themselves.

The Ice King needed to be defeated at the Wall and the full force of Westeros would meet him there.

Margaery stopped reminiscing about their early morning and snuggled into the warm body of her future wife as they gazed down at Catelyn and the newborn babies. Sansa was rubbing her back making Margaery feel all warm and fuzzy. She was not being lulled into sleepiness but she felt so relaxed.

“Gods I love snuggling like this with you Sansa.”

“I love it too my sweet. I love feeling your body resting on me like this. You feel so warm and soft.”

“I can’t wait to meet all your cousins and other hens Margaery.”

“Are you sure Sansa? I don’t want you to feel I love you any less than with all my heart. I just love my handmaidens so much. We have shared so many good times and our bodies with each other for years. I know many would not understand. They long to meet you Sansa.”

“Is that all they want to do Margaery. That would disappoint me greatly.” Sansa said this with a teasing tone. She stroked Margaery’s belly in sensuous circles.

Margaery felt her pulse quicken. Sansa had really taken to the idea of forming a union with Margaery and her sweet lesbian courtesans. “I must ask my sweet wolf. What do you plan to do when you first meet my cousins and my other handmaidens?”

“Do I have the freedom to do as I chose as the rooster of the flock? I want to make sure that I understand the dynamic we will have in our brood.” This was spoken with a slight hint of command in Sansa’s tone. The Direwolf was wanting to establish her rights Margaery felt. A hard spasm ran through the Tyrell’s body. Sansa’s strength turned her on no end.

Margaery felt her nipples harden and her pussy pulsing getting wet. She knew she would not be able to fuck Sansa till the evening for they had midday feast to attend to help bond the Houses of North and South in an hour. They would spend their time till then with Sansa’s mother. Both young women were so thrilled to see Sansa’s mother restored to full health that they just wanted to be near her and the newborns.

They both gazed upon the sleeping mother and her newborn babes. They looked so peaceful and deep in slumber. They felt safe to talk of matters of the heart and the bed. Margaery wiggled into Sansa signaling to Sansa to desires.

“Oh our Septa will contend with you for dominance. She can be quite aggressive and dominate. She fucks so hard and deep with her cock. She pounds my courtesans pussies so hard and made them cum screaming. She fucks our assholes to ruin making us wail in helpless pleasure with gut wrenching anal ‘gasms that just go on and on. I loved her fucking me up my shithole Sansa” Margaery husked up to Sansa. “I could let her take my asshole. And gods she took it burying her dick balls deep up my clenching ass until it exploded in scalding bliss Sansa.”

“That is not to say she doesn’t love eating pussy and burying her face in your ass cleft and tongue fucking your asshole sweetly. She can’t ever get enough pussy … she is ravenous actually. She has spent hours sucking us off in turn in a hot sweaty round robin of her devouring sloppy wet cunts to endless orgasms. By the time she has worked around the chain we are more than ready to be sucked off again.”

Margaery smiled seeing the raw lust in Sansa’s eyes hearing of hot sex. Margaery was so happy that Sansa had come to love listening to hot sex described to her.

“Still, eating pussy is not her only skill my sweet. She really knows how to use her strap-on cock Sansa. She pounds our shit soooooo good! She then makes us clean her cock soaked in our pussy and ass juice with our mouths. Only after fucking us nearly blind does she move to the next hen to fuck. Her stamina is a true blessing from the ‘seven’” Margaery snickered at her jest. “I will be so happy to finally be able to let her fuck me in the pussy. I long to take her dick deep in my belly and feel her dick piercing my womb.”

“Will you like watching Septa Nysterica plunder my cunt and shithole Sansa? To watch her bury her dick fully into my belly and up my spasming shithole? Making me cum so fucking hard and then ‘making’ me clean my pussy and ass off her dick?”

“Ooohhhhh fuck yeeeaahhhhhhh!” Sansa sibilantly croaked. Margaery loved Sansa’s lidded eyes and her slightly elevated breathing. She knew her Direwolf’s nipples were hard and her cunt wet hearing of the sweet debauchery of Margaery’s hens. The Tyrell princess knew Sansa was thinking of what she would do to Margaery and her hens.

“She really knows how to use a flogger and whip my love. She is the Queen of BDSM my Direwolf. She is aggressive with her slapping of our faces, tits, asses and cunts. I love it when she punches me in the stomach and knocks the wind out of me. Her domination total and complete. She pulls our hair so hard dragging us around on our knees. She really knows how to slam our bodies into the wall and furniture. She truly dominates us. We love her demeaning and humiliating our flock. She makes us her total sluts. We cum so fucking hard. When she chokes us out while we cum we nearly die from it we cum so hard!” Margaery ended her soliloquy with a dreamy tone to her voice.

“I will break her to my will” Sansa said simply. That had Margaery gasping as her pussy gushed fuck nectars soaking her short clothes. Hearing the once docile Sansa speak so casually about being the alpha of the flock made Margaery swoon with desires of sweet debauchery. “She may be a septa but I will smack her down to submission. I will take the wind out of her sails with my punches to her stomach. It will be her that I throw into the doors, walls and furniture. It will be her that will throw my whip and flogger. I will choke her out if she even thinks to speak against me. I will break the slut to my will. Trust me on that Margaery” Sansa told Margaery with an evil glint in her eyes and evil tone to her voice. Margaery was nearly swooning hearing her Direwolf being so dominate. It turned the Tyrell Princess on no end.

The next words from Sansa hit her in her core “Of course I expect my hens to band together often to put me in my place. You know how much I love being spanked, slapped, hair pulled and choked out. A Direwolf does need to be put in her place you know.” Sansa pulled Margaery to her side hard. “I can’t wait to be gangbanged by you and our hens Margaery. I know they fucked you up the ass all the time but now they can fuck you in your tight cunny.” Margaery shivered hard at that. Sansa was right!

“So together we get to experience the first time the joys of being DP and TP fucked. You have told me how your hens simply flew apart when they were fucked by you and your lovers in all three fuck holes at the same time. I too long to be fucking airtight.” Sansa paused and Margaery knew her sweet love was seeing the sweet fuck she was talking about in her mind’s eye. “Yes. I want to be gangbanged and grudge fucked so hard and deep. I want to be slapped all over till my skin is cherry red all over and red splotches rise up. I want to be fucked till I am soaked in sweat and cum and then hung up to dry. I want my fuck holes taken savagely when I am gangbanged. I want to gasped and choked out as I rise up to orgasm. I crave being fucked abused by my loving hens” Sansa husked sensually pulling Margaery tightly to her side.

Margaery shivered. Yes her Sansa was a total switch like herself. She loved it both ways though she preferred bottom. She loved topping as a change of pace and to help keep a dynamic going during a hot fuck.

“So what will you do when we arrive in King’s Landing and we can finally be alone in our bedchambers in the Red Keep? You do know we will be fucking quite often with the others watching and us watching them fuck. I know how you are shy about fucking in front of others. How will you feel knowing I am watching my cousins and close friends slamming their large, thick strap-on cocks balls deep into your cunt, shithole and down you slutty throat?” Margaery was deliberately being slutty and crass to hit Sansa in her core. She wanted Sansa to totally let go and fuck her and her hens with all of Sansa’s strength. She wanted Sansa to be totally liberated when they fucked each other and the hens in front of each other.

Margaery smirked. Sure enough, Sansa blushed hotly. The pink of embarrassment making her face, throat and chest red. She still had to work on the showing of affection in front of others. It was cute to Margaery. Sansa would talk sweet trash about dominating Margaery and her handmaidens. But Margaery reminded Sansa that all this would require them to fuck in front of others it made Sansa’s shy and demure side rush to the fore.

Sansa looked at her earnestly. “I know I still get embarrassed with showing my new side to anyone else but you. But I think I know how to help me break out of that prudish mindset.”

“Do tell.”

“I don’t want you gossiping this to your cousins and handmaidens before it is time to reveal it.” Sansa chuckled. “Geez, calling them maidens is so rich. They lost their virginity years ago … now that I think about it might be best … until Dany can legalize same sex marriage—“

“Excuse me?” Margaery asked getting excited.

“I plan on marrying all of them. I will always love you the best and most Margaery but we will make honest women of your handmaidens. They can have commitment services for any pairing they want within our group but the ten of us will be pledging our hearts and souls to each other.” Sansa snorted. “We will probably wind up marrying each other in pairs just to make it official.” She chortled now. “We will probably have to find some strange sect from Essos to perform all the ceremonies.

Margaery pushed herself back to look at her love. Gods the Starks and their sense of honor and doing the right thing made the Tyrell swoon. Sansa had come into her own as a strong confident woman. Margaery had once thought she would be the lead in their relationship. She knew better now.

She happily ceded the dominate position to Sansa. She was the top in their flock. Margaery would enjoy watching Septa Nysterica contend with Sansa for dominance. The fight for the alpha rank would be delicious to watch. Nysterica was strong with her stout build but Sansa was taller and weighed more. Plus, Starks seemed to be denser and stronger of body by their birthright.

The fights would be so delicious to watch. Gods the fuck abuse would be heavenly to watch.
Margaery was sure Sansa would deliberately lose from time to time since she loved to be dominated and made a bitch. Sansa was a true switch too.

“I love you so much Sansa. You have such a big heart.”

Sansa blushed hard again. “It is the right thing to do. I cannot fuck them as mere playthings. The way you describe them each and tell me so much about them I am already falling in love with them.”

“I have been sending Elinor scrolls about you Sansa that she then gives to her fellow maidens and lovers. They are falling in love with you in return my sweet.”

Sansa’s back went a little more straight.

“Good. When we arrive in our bedchambers in the Red Keep, I will order them to strip and lay on the edge of that massive bed they have had constructed. I will have them spread their legs wide opening their cunnies to my wolfish gaze. I will then strip and fall to my knees and suck you and the other eight hens off. I dream of feeling you cum in my mouth as they watch. Filling my mouth with your sweet hot cum. I will show my hens my skills and stamina by sucking you off repeatedly.”

“I while then suck Septa Nysterica off next. Both to honor her service to the seven and to let her know that her pox marks mean nothing to me. I will purr as I drink down her cum. I may have to suck her off several times to make sure she understands my love for her. … Hhhmmmm maybe four or five times …” Sansa mused rubbing Margaery’s back and stomach. Margaery purred.

“Don’t get greedy you little red haired slut. The rest will demand as many orgasms.”

“Is that a problem?” Sansa asked haughtily. “I think I am up for that challenge.”

“You mouth will fall off Sansa. You’ll be slacked jawed for a year.”

She felt Sansa swelling up. She was sure her wolf was going to prove her wrong.

“I assure you that a Dirwolf has great stamina and a mouth that can give a licking and a tongue that keeps on flicking. I have developed quite the jaw muscles I must say in pleasing you my sweet rose.”

Margaery sure hoped so! “You are so sweet my wolf! You are so giving.”

Sansa preened at that.

Sansa resumed her narration of what she planned to do once she arrived at the Red Keep in King’s Landing. “Then I will suck off your cousins proper Alla, Elinor, and Megga Tyrell. I love how you tell me how different they are with Elinor the voluptuous one, Megga small like Dany and Alla like yourself in build. I will drink down their cum greedily and feel their fingers in my hair jamming my face down in their greedy exploding cunts. I think you are right. I will suck them off multiple times each. My tummy will be most hungry for their cum. Then I will do Lady Alysanne Bulwer with her big ass and small pussy. I will devour her small doves as you call them. I want to hear her screams as I suck her off again and again.

“Then I will suck off Lady Alyce Graceford again and again as her buxom body flips and jackknifes violently on the bed and I feel her heels hammering my back and her thighs squeezing my ears and face. I will go down on Lady Taena Merryweather and suck her long fat pussy inside out and make her die from it several times or more probably as she humps her twat hard up into my mouth. Finally I will come to Meredyth Crane.”
“I know by then I will be soaked in cum and sweat but that will make me only more alluring to her. I will bury my face in her wet trim and suck her off hotly and with all my skills to show her that she may have been last in line but she will be equal in my heart. I will suck her off again and again too.”

“That is what I will do our first night with my new bevy of lesbian, incestuous lovers. I plan to suck you all off so many times during our ‘honeymoon’ time. I will suck you off so good and tongue fuck your assholes as I rub you pussies hot and heavy and make you cum hard that way.” Margaery watched Sansa’s eyes become unfocused as she thought of what she wanted to do to Margaery and her handmaidens.

“Oh Sansa. You are so fucking awesome and hot. I so thank the gods my parents and grandmother forced me to come to Winterfell those years ago. If I had not …”

Sansa pulled her tight. “Don’t think such thoughts love. You did come and all is right with the world.” Margaery squirmed into Sansa. Gods she loved this woman. She was so attracted to Sansa’s femininity. Arya and Dany were beautiful women but were just a little too aggressive and butch for her tastes. She liked her women softer. She and Sansa were both definitely femme and she loved it. Her hens were all femmes except Septa Nysterica and she was a really, really soft butch so that was fine. You needed a little rooster in the hen house.

Sansa’s BDSM streak would fit perfectly with the Septa’s own BDSM streak. She was the one that led the hens in their kinky games. Margaery ruled the day to day affairs of the hens and the Septa controlled the bedroom when it was time to get kinky. Now Sansa would too. Margaery had finally found the perfect mate. A woman strong both in the bedroom and in the throne room. Her handmaidens did not have it in them to play the Game of Thrones. Elinor and Megga were astute, smart and wise but they did not have that streak of ruthlessness and cunning you needed to be masterful at the Game of Thrones. Sansa did.

Margaery wanted Sansa to tell her more sweet plans of her future planned debaucheries with Margaery and the hens when she arrived at King’s Landing.

“What will you do after you have dined on all our sodden twats Sansa?”

“I will lie back and rest my jaw and tongue while I feel nine mouths feasting on my body. I will allow some other feasting to occur but I will be the focus of your attentions. I mean nine women cannot fit around my body no matter my regal height” Sansa said in a false regal tone to be humorous. “I want to be rendered nearly unconscious from orgasms I can’t count. I will be most upset if I am not totally ravaged Margaery.” Sansa finished in a regal authoritative tone. Her face had the appropriate snooty look to with the condescending tone.

Margaery loved how Sansa played the part of the dominate spoiled top. Sansa knew what Margaery wanted to hear.

Margaery shivered with desire burrowing into Sansa’s firm feminine body. Gods she had released something in Sansa and she liked it. She liked it a lot. Sansa was getting more comfortable showing her hidden strength and dominate side.

“We will not fail you Sansa” Margaery told her wolf in a raspy husk. Sansa being a wolf turned on the Rose so much.

She heard Sansa snort. Gods she loved their sexy games.

They heard Catelyn stir and her eyes fluttered open. Before, in the past, Catelyn would wake but not fully take in her world. She would murmur. She would make sure her newborns were safe and taken care of and then go back to sleep. Her body knowing it needed more rest. Not this time. She was alert and looking around.

Margaery felt a happy thrill run through her body. Catelyn Stark was finally, fully back. She looked and smiled great big seeing Sansa and Margaery sitting beside her. Margaery smiled with happiness seeing the woman she considered her second mother beaming seeing her sitting on her daughter’s lap.

“I feel like I have been put through a wringer but …” she felt a squirming to her left. She looked down.

A big smile came on her face. “Ooohhhhh! I have brought forth another proud son for my husband.” Catelyn Stark cooed down to Brandon. Brandon kicked a little more and went back to sleep. Then she felt the warm bundle on her right and glanced that way.

“Oh my gods!” she looked at her two daughters with a look full wonder. It seemed as if Catelyn had not fully realized in her recovering state she was the proud mother of two babies!

“You are the mother of beautiful healthy twins mother!” Sansa told her mother. Of one mind Margaery got up followed by Sansa. They went to the bed. Sansa picked up Lyanna and Margaery picked up Brandon. Margaery and Sansa sat beside each other on the bed and showed Catelyn Stark her newborn children.

“By the Seven … they are so beautiful.” Both babies had thick brown shocks of hair. They definitely had the features of House Stark. The two young women gently placed the babies in the crook of Catelyn’s arms. The new mother cooed and chirped at her babies.”

“I don’t remember their birth at all … in fact the recent past is so hazy … I do remember a lot of barking though … were the Direwolves in here?”

Sansa and Margaery looked at each other. They would let Sansa’s father explain the situation. They just wanted to enjoy this moment.

“No mother. We will let father tell you the particulars of my sister and brother’s birth.” Sansa told her mother. “Father told us the babies’ names mother. I am so happy that you gave them Uncle Brandon and Aunt Lyanna names. I wish I could have known them. You and father always spoke so highly of them.

“Yes. They were indeed great people Sansa and Margaery.” Catelyn looked off into space for a moment.

The new mother then started to coo to the newborns and gently rock the soundly sleeping babies.

Brandon woke up and started to squirm. Margaery took back the sleeping Lyanna so Catelyn could give Brandon her full attention. She held her son close to her face.

“My gods he looks so much like Jon did at that age … gods I hope he can forgive me for the way I treated him.”

“I am sure he can mother … he is a Stark after all.”

Catelyn smiled with a watery smile. “Yes he is.”

Margaery felt tears in her eyes and she saw tears in Sansa’s eyes.
She felt squirming and looked down. She saw Tully blue eyes looking at her and felt the little precious baby squirm and start to mewl.

Sansa moved in beside Margaery and they both cooed and soothed the kicking baby.

Soon both babies were nursing happily as Catelyn looked down with the look only a new mother has for her newborns.

Sansa sat close to Margaery as they watched mother and babies bond.

The miracle of life.

Eddard

Eddard had been in a meeting room with Missandei and quartermasters discussing the continuing logistical efforts of getting the supplies needed up to the Wall. Eddard had a good feel and ability to judge logistical needs but Missandei took it to a whole other level.

She would pick up her quill and pull over a parchment she then started to right strange figures on the sheet of animal skin. They looked most strange to Eddard but he could see that they had an order to them as she wrote them across the parchment. She would be scribbling fast and furious and then stop listening and then writing more of the strange symbols.

When Eddard asked her what she was doing she answered she was writing simultaneous algebraic equations to solve some of the logistical problems that were being brought to their attention.

He walked over and watched her “working” the problems as more strange symbols were written on the sheet. The one thing Eddard saw was that the string of symbols seemed to be getting shorter.

The small scribe tried to explain to Eddard what she was doing. After two minutes Eddard held up his hand “I see on this battlefield you reign supreme. I leave this algebra and trigonometry to you Missandei. You are able to solve in minutes what I have to work out by trial and error over days. I am thankful I have you on my side.”

Eddard smiled seeing the small woman’s chest puff out. She beamed up at him. It was quite an impressive sight. The girl was quite endowed for one so small. He was able to acknowledge beauty without being attracted to it sexually.

A steward came in and whispered in his ear. Eddard smiled big full of relief.

His wife had fully woken up and was seemingly fully restored to health and consciousness. His new son and daughter hungrily nursing regularly. He thanked the steward. He knew that his wife would have a steady stream of visitors. He finished his meeting on the logistics of getting the last of the supplies and men to the Wall as quickly as possible.

The meeting was dismissed. He entered the hall and turned to his right instead of left to see his wife. He had something he needed to do first.

Oberyn happened to be walking by. Missandei came out to the door and she saw the Red Viper. She called out to Oberyn and waved to him in a friendly manner. Oberyn returned the wave with a stiff smile. Eddard thought Oberyn was acting most strange. The lothario was most subdued for some inexplicable reason. Missandei walked down the hall. Eddard watched her depart. She was most pleasing to the eye. He had heard Daenerys say that the little scribe was in love with some green eyed woman. For some reason that seemed to fit. The Queen was gay so it just kind of fit that the small scribe would also be gay.

Eddard turned to look back at Oberyn. He was looking at him with large eyes. “My, my Oberyn. I know you are not a Lannister but you act like someone has bearded your mane.”

The Martell looked around with a nervous tick.

“She is warded by a demon Eddard” Oberyn whispered with clear fear in his voice. “The thing was no more than a child but she bested me with no effort. Her eyes were hideous. All bright green eyes glowing deep in her hood” Oberyn hissed. He turn around and hurried off. In the opposite direction Missandei had taken Eddard observed.

Most strange thought Eddard. This ‘thing’ must be the woman Missandei was in love with. He would like to meet this ‘she’ who put the fear of the old gods in Oberyn. Eddard was happy he did not have the roving eye.

He started to walk down the corridor when it hit Eddard. He made the free association without conscious thought. He stopped walking.

The small woman in the glade with the fairies. The woman with green eyes and hair with pointed ears and slanted eyebrows. This woman was the woman Missandei was in love with. This woman who consorted with fairies and felled trees with but one swing of his sword. Eddard whistled to himself. He felt much better.

The woman had spoken in enigmatic sentences and hinted at a dark past but he sensed no evil in her. Eddard trusted his instincts. This would be most interesting. The small innocent scribe in love with a goddess who he now saw clearly was equally in love with her. He shook his head and continued walking.

He walked down the corridor on the first floor of the Great Keep. This was the main entry to the main building of Winterfell. The ceiling was tall enough for the Giants to walk upright. He saw two of the warrior women studying the walls closely. He had found out the Giants were very interested in all stone work.

Eddard prided himself on remembering people and their names. He watched Galewind Coralreef with her eye to a crack and Crowsnest Morningwinds stroking her wife’s back affectionately.

“You see here. This is where the stone mason with the chipped chisel either stopped or finally acquired a new chisel.”

Crowsnest leaned in. “You are right dear.” The other Giant turned her head to give her wife a brilliant smile.

“Yes you are dear” Crowsnest said in a long suffering affectionate tone as her wife stuck her eye to the next groove down the hall inspecting it closely.

“Of course I am. I’m always right!” Galewind crowed.

Eddard squint smiled as he passed them. They both greeted him boisterously and he staggered with the good natured slap on the back from Galewind. He had learned to brace himself from their little “taps” as they called it. He thought again that if men met the world with the Giants’ frivolity and love of life the world would be a much better place.

He went up to the second floor by way of the small access stairwell by the main entrance. He came out onto the second floor by the painting of Kartis Stark as he fought a group of Wildings marauding South of the wall. He stopped to look at it. He wondered just how correct it was. So many things he had come to doubt of late.

Missandei had given him a book she had found in a stack of books Tyrion had brought back from the Citadel. It had been written in the old tongue of the Andals. Eddard remembered his history. The men came from the area of Pentos in Essos. They allegedly received visions from the "Seven-faced God", the Andals were spurred on by their new Faith to migrate to Westeros, where they overran and conquered most of the continent, which was then inhabited by the First Men.

His ancestors.

Missandei had been hesitant to talk to him about the book “The Plight of the first People: The Stark’s War of Genocide on the First People.”

He had been shocked and then impressed that Daenerys scribe had taught herself to read and then speak the dead language.

He had almost staggered hearing that. He knew there had been conflict between his ancestors and the First People but genocide. That was almost too much to believe or bear.

He took the book and Missandei’s copious notes and translation of key sections of the book.

By the next morning he felt ill. How his ancestors could have done this to the original inhabitants of this land? How could he make it right? Was it even possible? Could it ever be possible?

Unfortunately, Eddard knew exactly why his ancestors and those of the other major houses and some now dead houses had done what they had. They wanted the lands of the Children of the Forest. They had committed genocide to get it. He had wept that night fully realizing his ancestors’ part in this crime.

He would make restitution. He had too. The only question was how.

This helped strengthen his resolve with the creation of nature preserves in the North. He hoped to convince the Queen to institute this policy across Westeros and now Essos. Man had much to atone for.

He walked the short distance to the door that led outside. Eddard opened the door and stepped out onto the covered walk way that led from the Great Keep to the Armory. The large arched cutouts let in the weather while partially blocking the worst of precipitation. He looked right at the expansive courtyards used as training space and area to have for recreational uses for the castle folk. He looked to the left and watched Shaggydog and Greywind “attacking” some of the Haruchai. The wolves never learned.

The wolves were barking fiercely as the wiry visitors thwarted their attacks blocking and knocking the wolves aside in their rushes. The stoic people always waiting to the last moment to move aside or counterattack. The Haruchai would deliver punches and kicks to the flanks and heads of the Direwolves. The beasts yelping at the blows. It was obvious to Eddard and the Direwolves themselves that the Haruchai were pulling their blows. The Haruchai delivered blows to move in close. They then grappled with the mighty beasts and tripped them down to the ground and gripped their snouts and simulate delivering devastating blows to the eye socket or snapping their jaw with twists of their hands.

He shook his head. How such short of stature men and women could tend with the Direwolves he could not fathom. They had been at Winterfell approaching eleven days and only a handful of times had the wolves prevailed in their play attacks. They had to attack the Haruchai two and three to one at least to prevail.

The Direwolves were poor losers. The defeated wolves whining and throwing temper tantrums.

He kept walking towards the armory. He looked up at the cerulean sky. The air was crisp and invigorating. One could never tell that a great evil was waiting to come south and destroy this very way of life. He hoped his and the Queen’s plans would preserve the peace of Westeros and once and for all remove the threat of the Ice King.

He entered the second story of the armory. It housed bunk space for visiting warriors. The first part of the second floor was a barrack area for lower conscripts, stewards and pages. He was walking through when he heard some sounds to his right where quarters were provided for lesser lords and knights to quarter in. Many of the knights and Lords choose to bivouac in Winter Town to have better and more private quarters.

He heard sounds coming from the second door on the west wing. He went to investigate. He blanched looking into the room that had the door only half closed. He was shocked for a moment but turned around quickly and moved on through to the stairwell leading to the first floor.

He had seen Barristan with only his blouse shirt on and Marleya Blackmyre naked in front of him on her knees bobbing fiercely on his cock and then gripping his hips harder with clawed fingers and taking his cock down her throat as he groaned throwing his head back clenching his temples with one hand.

That had been enough for Eddard Stark. He had no problem with being a prude. He was happy for the old knight. He knew of his turning his back on love as a much younger man. He also now knew that Barristan could “stretch” the truth. He had told Eddard that there was nothing between him and the master archer. His arrow seemed to have found the mark.

He went down to the first floor and headed out the north side of the armory.

He was now in the open part of the yard that housed the gardens, woods, Glass Gardens and the Godswood.

He had always known that Winterfell had been established on this site because of the Weirwood Tree in the Godswood. The Book had sadly informed him the ancient tree had been very important to the First Folk. His ancestors had built Winterfell at this site to deny them the tree and the site. That was why the grounds had been so large. To totally cut the First People off from the site. The walls were built on Ley Lines he now knew which accounted for the less than geometrically correct shape of the walls.

Brandon had butchered First People on this very spot he had discovered within Missandei’s book. His House’s relentless attacks on them had led the First People to create the Ice King originally and his first brothers. Their righteous anger, fear and hate had led them to create abomination. But it had been his ancestors that had led to those abhorrent emotions. Eddard sighed looking at the Godswood. He felt tainted but he proceeded on. He would worship the old gods and give thanks.

He would also ask for forgiveness too while in the sacred groove.

The groove had grown over the millenniums. It had started as a small groove of four acres but now was approximately sixty-five acres in a roughly square shape but with the north side bulging slightly towards the Glass Garden solarium. The Starks had tended the woods and let the seedling slowly march out over time and thick brambles and vines followed the growth of the conifers and deciduous trees.

Eddard looked out over the ground on the slight incline that took the walker up roughly thirty feet in a gradual slope to get to the Godswood that then plateaued out on the North side to form level ground that the Solarium was built on. Orchards had been planted on the ground surrounding each wing of the Solarium. The orchards filled with Cherry, Apple and Almond trees.

In the early spring, the trees became a riot of white, pink, and purple. The trees seeming to explode with color and the sweet smell of pollen and nectars thick on the early morning air. When the blooms started to fall off and in breeze one felt as if you were in a blizzard of falling snowflakes of blossoms.

Eddard walked up the green sward. The thickness of trees increasing as one moved towards the Godswood. The thick fir, pine and spruce trees that had a few mighty oaks in their midst as the trees contested for sunlight. There were a few thickets of shrubs and vines underneath the firs on the west side of the tree stand. Eddard saw a shy red fox look at him and bolt into a thicket.

One day he hoped that Direwolves, Lions, Leopards and Hyenas could been see in his land again. Hopefully before his passing.

Eddard walked up the slope of the land. He looked up seeing Drogon coming sailing in from the West. The dragon swooped over Eddard and as he approached the Great Keep. Drogon started to back beat his wings hard his body rising up. He slowly settled down on the East tower of the Great Keep. Eddard paused in his journey to watch the dragon slowly turn around taking small steps as it then settled down slowly folding his wings close to his body and curling his body tight on the parapets and the floor of the tower. The dragon curled its neck and tail around itself and settled down to sleep.

Eddard shook his head. The dragons had made themselves at home in Winterfell. They seemed to have taken the queue from their mother.

He turned back around and resumed his journey up the slope to the Godswood. He could feel the aura emanating from the Godswood. He could feel the peace radiating out the sacred groove. The Godswood was a jumble of brambles, thickets and interlocked vines that formed a wall around the stand of trees. He saw the one clear entrance into the Godswood.

He paused. With his new knowledge he wondered if the feeling of peace he had always felt would be gone. Would the Weirwood refuse him entry? He cocked his head waiting. He heard the wind sigh through the branches and rustling the growth beside the entrance. He felt the sense of peace enfolding him in its arms and welcoming him. He moved into the path that would lead to the Weirwood and the pool that lay before it.

He felt the warmth of the air. The air was at least twenty degrees warmer than the winter air outside it. The deciduous trees had lost many of their leaves but he felt the sap ready to burst forth in new growth. The undergrowth was still green and many of the leaves had not fallen off. The buds ready to burst with new life.

He heard sparrows and finches flitting through the undergrowth looking for berries and seeds. The brambles seemed to never lose their berries here in the Godswood. He listened and heard the chirps of birds and further into the brush of the undergrowth and heard small animals moving around. This Godswood was a microcosm of what was right with the world.

Eddard turned and looked back up the path that slightly sloped down to the pool and the Weirwood tree with its carved face and red bleeding sap. He saw the Great Keep with Drogon sleeping on the tower. He saw the buildings of Winterfell before him of the Armory, kennels and Guest Hall with the mighty Great Keep jutting up behind it.

He turned and walked down the path to the pool. Eddard stood before the pool his head bowed taking in the calm ambiance of the sacred groove. The Warden of the North felt humbled by the peace he felt in his place. He knelt down and cupped a handful of water and drank it tasting the annoying color of the conifer needles in the water. He felt peace here. The Godswood recognized his heart and radiated back the peace it found within the man.

Eddard walked to the tree and placed his hand on the tree. He started to cry. He cried in joy for the healing of his wife and newborn babes. He cried for the happiness of his children. He cried for the sins of his forbearers. He cried for what had been lost.

The hanging strands of moss that hung intertwined from the branches of the Weirwood tree began to stir in the breeze. Eddard kept his forehead pressed to the carved face of the ancient tree giving thanks and asking for penance. As he stood still the strands of moss draped across his shoulders and brushed his face. Moisture in the light grey strands marking his face with a lover’s caress it almost felt like to the distressed Stark. The red leaves of the Weirwood tree rustled a soothing tune of acceptance and support.

He continued to cry getting it out of his system. He could not afford so show such emotion to any around him. Everyone else relied on him to be strong and the pillar of strength.

Eddard sat down with his back to the Weirwood. Eddard could feel the life of the Weirwood pulsing through the bark of the tree. He would defeat the Ice King and then begin his Reclamation of nature. He had much to atone for. He had to take responsibility for the actions of the past. He would begin the restoration of the land if he could. His ancestors took away and he would attempt to begin the restoration of what had been lost.

He looked up at the red leaves of the Weirwood tree as they rustled in the breeze that seemed to waft perpetually within the sacred groove. He looked into the wild undergrowth that seemed to hold the possible mysteries of the world. That within those depths the possibilities of tomorrow resided.

As he watched two apparitions slowly seemed to form from the depths of what once was. The two ghosts slowly materializing from the depths of the wild growth of the Godswood. One tall and one short both with red manes one the color of the sun at sunset and the other more deep and rich. The two ghosts given form slowly walked up to Eddard Stark.

Rising up Eddard spoke to the ghosts “It is good to see you Melisandre and Ygritte. I thought you might have already left to return to the Wall.”

The smaller one spoke “We did not want to depart without one last word with you the father of Jon Snow.”

Eddard grimaced at the choice of last name the woman chose to use.

“Worry not Eddard Stark. That is the name we know our husband by and choose to use that. No dispersion was intended. We will leave now to return to our husband.”

“Will you not come and say goodbye to my wife. You did help to save her life.”

“We deem we would not have been able to save your wife and children on our own. It was the Ur-viles and Waynhim that saved your wife and the children. They did use our power and magic but it was they who were the catalysts.”

Eddard took in their answer. “It does not matter the why of it only the how. My wife is alive in large part because of you and I will forever be in debt to the two of you. Please come and say goodbye to her.”

The two witches looked at each other. The shorter spoke again “We are not comfortable around people. We come from the land of Asshai. There we are a clannish people. We are not comfortable around those we do not have familial relationships with or with those we have not known for many years. We were destined to fall in love with your son so that doesn’t count” the small former Wildling spoke in a charming saucy tone.

The taller one spoke now “We wanted to say goodbye to the man who raised such a caring and loving man. He will kill the Ice King. He is a great leader and will be bold on the battlefield. That is in large part to the way you brought him up. We are forever indebted to you for making him such a fine man.”

Eddard slowly stood up and moved to stand before the two women. They seemed otherworldly to him with the calm aura of ancient wisdom and power they radiated.

He slowly enfolded the witches in turn with his arms and hugged them to his body.

He then straightened. “I will miss you. I am thankful that my son has found such fine upstanding women to be his wives. What will you do after the war? I can sense that my son will soon resign his commission. I will fully support him in this decision. His attempted murder by the Nights Watch excuses any decision he may make.”

“We hear you plan to make the Sandhills of Overton beside the Barrowlands a place reserved for nature” Ygritte asked Eddard.

“Yes. You are correct Ygritte. I plan to make them both nature preserves actually. Neither are populated and the few who do live in these lands live in harmony with it. I think in time much of the flora and fauna will return. I plan to pay indigent workers of those lands to repopulate the grasses of the Sandhills with the grasses natural to the ranges where farming cleared out the original grasses and scrub brush. I know direwolves, lions, bears, elk, aurochs and hyenas still live deep in those waste. If they are not hunted they will extend their ranges and repopulate the ranges they once lived in.”

“Why do you ask of my plans for the Sandhills and the Barrowlands?”

“We will need a home after we leave the Night’s Watch. Melisandre nor I have any desire to return to Essos. There are too many bad memories there. We first thought to reside in the Ice Fangs but as we journeyed through the Sandhills to meet Daenerys Targaryen’s forces at the Neck we saw that the land was pleasing.”

“We found the land most beautiful and hospitable. We think we may live there. Jon does not care where we live as long as we are together. We found the vistas of the Sandhills to be enchanting. The varied landscapes were captivating. We found several locations that we feel we could make a home. Locations hidden away in the remote depths of the Sandhills. One I liked a lot was a dead end valley among a thick warren of hills with a growth of trees therein. We will delve into the sand hills to make a home. We will also use our powers to make a home in those branches we interweave into rooms.”

Ygritte had a soft smile on her face thinking on it. Melisandre looked down on her wife with love clear on her face.
Eddard smiled. He would have his son and his wives near. “I would like that.”

“We will be able to help you enforce the cessation of the hunting of the predators you wish to protect and use our magic to help promote the health of the land and encourage the growth of the native plants. We too would love to see the wildlife you describe once more roam the lands that were once their home.”

Eddard thanked them for their offered assistance to help make his plans come true.

“Will we see you again?” he asked afraid he would never see Jon or his wives again. Would they be near and yet a world away. He knew that with the ShadowBenders with their magic and spells could make it impossible to be found if they so chose.

“We will see you again Eddard Stark” Melisandre told him solemnly.

“You know nothing Warden of the North if you think you can get rid of us that easily” Ygritte spoke with a cheeky smile.

“Do you need me to have your horses prepared for you?”

“No they are outside the groove cropping grass among the trees. Live well Eddard Stark” Melisandre told him. Then the two witches turned and walked up the path out of the Godswood hand in hand. Then they were gone.

Eddard mused over the changes he had seen come into his children’s life. He turned to look at the Weirwood tree.

That was strange. He had never seen this before. He stepped back. The eyes were bleeding so heavily that red sap seemed to be crying down the bark. It had not been doing this only a few minutes ago. What is happening Eddard thought to himself. As he watched the sap ran down the trunk of the tree and spread out on the ground in front of the tree. It was if the tree was bleeding. Mystified Eddard walked back up to the tree and knelt before the tree. The sap was running down in tiny trickles like an estuary. He had never heard of such a thing.

The trickles continued to run. Taking a deep breath Eddard calmed his breathing. He relaxed and let his heart slow. He felt the air around him. No. The aura of peace still permeated the air. This was not an ill omen.

Eddard slowly reached out and touched the flowing red sap that wetly ran down the tree. He ran his finger down the stream and brought his finger back to examine the thick sap that somehow flowed freely down the trunk. As he turned his finger around he was hit with an unseen force that flung him onto his back. He was stunned by the unexpected force. Eddard shook his head. He was alright and had his wits about him.

When he looked around he was in mountain village just after dusk. What is this? He was no longer in Winterfell. He saw the mountains of Arryn marching off to the right and left with more brothers in the distance. He rolled over to his feet and looked around. He was on the edge of this village of some Mountain Clan. He walked up to a banked fire. He saw a young family asleep by the fire. The air was warm and the family was sleeping outside to enjoy the cool breeze. He walked over and looked down at the mother and father and three young children of about ten, five and three.

That was when he saw it. They were deathly white and they did not breathe. He squatted down. He quickly examined them and found no pulse or breath from their nostrils. He got up and saw near the opening to a hut an older woman on the ground. He went to her. She was lying face down. He turned her over. Her body was snow white and her body limp. He saw a cooking knife near her and cooking bowls. They had had no warning of danger.

Something within Eddard told him this heinous crime had only recently happened. He was without his sword. He looked around but saw nothing. He looked back down at the dead woman.

He did not want to defile the dead but he needed to know. He picked up the knife and cut the dead middle age woman’s wrist deeply. No blood seeped out. Her body had been drained of blood. He went into the hut and found three teenage children and an older man and woman. The children and grandparents Eddard surmised.

All were deathly pale and drained of blood.

He went outside and suddenly felt cold. From a stream to the right a mist was thickly rising up from the water. There was no breeze but the mist wafted towards him. He then saw a reddish glow in the heart of the mist and he felt great evil. The mist seemed to pulse and grow larger.

In instinct, Eddard reached for his sword, Evening Star and it was not there. Damnit! He had been in the Godswood. He saw more mist moving in from up the mountainside. He felt great hunger emanating from the mist. It hungered. It hungered for hot human blood.

It hungered for his blood. Eddard turned around as the mist gathered around him. He begin to hear a high pitched keening. Eddard still had the knife in his hand. He was doomed but he would fight to his dying breath.

Eddard woke up with a start from the soft moss bed he had fallen onto. He gasped and sat up reaching for his sword but he had no scabbard on. He looked around wild eyed. He turned and scooted so that he had his back against the trunk of the Weirwood tree. He had come up against the side of the old white barked tree away from the flowing sap. He was looking out back into the Godswood of Winterfell. There was no mist. No malefic red glow. He breathed easier. His heart started to calm. He shook with the adrenalin rush coursing through his veins from the strange dream he had just had.

Dream? No. It had been a premonition. He knew what he had seen and felt. Mist Vampires. Melisandre and Ygritte had mentioned them. She Who Must Not Be Named the strange goddess had mentioned them. Now he had seen them. He took a deep breath and analyzed what he had just seen in his dream vision.

He had been in a high mountain hollow. He was sure of it. He only knew of one land in Westeros South of the Wall that had mountains like he had seen in his dream. He had been in mountains of Arryn and in some Mountain Clan hamlet. He had been sure of.

He walked around the Weirwood tree to the side with the face cut into it. He looked at the Weirwood tree. There was no sap running down the tree bark. Eddard shook his head laughing at himself. He must be getting senile he mused. Maybe he had let what he was told affect his perceptions. His mirth disappeared. He felt it on his index finger.

His index finger was soaked in red sap. It had happened. He had been given a premonition. He did not have any answers now but he would be on the alert for anything that might give him the answer to this strange vision. The prophecies he had been given were going to come to true.

Eddard took a deep breath.

Bran’s prophecy had prepared him to accept this vision. The words of Jon’s wives and She Who Must Not Be Named had prepared him to accept the truth. The Weirwood was asking him to fight some evil. He was sure of it.

He owed it to the Weirwood and the First People and he owed it to the Mountain Clan people being cruelly attacked and killed. He would not turn his back. He would meet their need when he had killed the Ice King.

Eddard said his final prayers to the Weirwood and hoped the old gods were listening to his heartfelt entreaties for guidance and support.

He walked out of the Godswood. He felt a shadow pass overhead and Viserion flew overhead and passed over the east wall of Winterfell to parts unknown. The freedom of flight must be intoxicating Eddard thought. What must it be like to soar among the birds and up in the clouds? He cursed his fear of heights and the vertigo it produced. He was denied the joy that his daughter, Arya, felt on top of Drogon flying through the air.

He started the walk back to the Great Keep to see his wife. He thought on the Dragon Glass that was being made at a furious pace in the shops he had setup in the Guest Hall, several large rooms in the Great Keep, and in the Great Hall. He also had many houses rented out and the rooms converted to workshops making obsidian weapons in Wintertown and White Harbor.

With what the Queen was producing from the mines on Dragonstone and the shipments moving up the Kingsroad the forces opposing the undead and the Ice Wrights themselves would have weapons that could kill them. Eddard knew the armies of undead would be vast but he was sure he had the obsidian stocks to allow his forces to fire their weapons without fear of running out.

The forces of man finally had weapons that could defeat their enemies. Jon and Jeor Mormont before Jon had sent ravens describing how the Others and Ice Wrights had been almost impossible to kill. No more.

Eddard planned on the conflict being decisive and brutal. The battle would be decided one way or the other fairly quickly. There would be no husbandry of obsidian tipped weapons. The battle would be fought and won or lost at the wall before Castel Black. Eddard was sure of it.

Daenerys was sending many of her mercenary companies up and down the wall to allow the well trained troops and conscripts of the North to come back to Castle Black. The Mercenary companies were hard bitten men and well trained. Any attack at another location these men would be able to meet it and slow down the advance. They were being sent ample stores of obsidian to be used to slow the advance of any penetration of the wall. Each fort and large concentration of men had ravens that would fly back to Castle Black. Then Daenerys would take her three dragons and harass and kill the enemy while looking out for the entity that attacked the witches.

She would not attack heedless of threats. No one was sure what the Ice King had as weapons. The last thing they needed was for him to fell a dragon with an ice javelin and convert it to one of his undead minions. He probably would not have the time to convert the kill in the middle of combat but they would not take the risk.

Daenerys had tactics already devised to allow for both the duress of any enemy advance and taking the fight to the entity that had attacked the witches.

He was soon back in the Great Keep and walking up the hallways and stairs to see his revived wife and newborns. He was so happy that he was being able to see wife and newborns before he had to head off to war.
He stopped and gaped. No it was not possible. He saw before him Stannis Baratheon and his stiff prudish wife Selyse Florent. Well, it sure looked like them. Selyse was the perfect woman for the boring and boorish Stannis. A man who did not know how to smile and was world famous for the grinding of his teeth.

He heard Stannis laughing loudly and Selyse was giggling. Eddard looked around. Was the world going to end? Eddard gaped. They both had large beaming smiles on their faces. Surely this was impossible! Stannis was hefting up a Haruchai woman, it was Ranrika, and throwing her high in the air. Ranrika contorted her body to do what should have been impossible twists and spins in the air and landed in Stannis’s arms in a bridal pose. She kissed Stannis soundly with lots of tongue action in her mouth from their dueling tongues. Only after a long session of indecent snogging did Stannis throw Ranrika up high into the air again where she did more wild acrobatics.

Throw and catch and a big wet kiss before up went the Haruchai woman again. She actually had the briefest of smiles on her face. It would figure wild exertions would make these martial women almost smile.

Selyse herself was being spun around by the Haruchai holding her to her body and she threw up Selyse and caught the woman her dress flinging up and down with her motions. Then the Haruchai stopped and pulled Selyse’s mouth to hers and they were obviously kissing deeply by the motions of their cheeks showing tongues wrestling wetly from mouth to mouth. The Haruchai woman sat Selyse down and pulled her tight to her body their firm breast mashed together and bellies wallowing.

Eddard was poleaxed. He gaped. He stuttered. He tried to have his eyes not fall out of his eye sockets.

Selyse was groping Ferna’s ass cheeks lewdly. Selyse was moaning like a Lysian whore jamming Ferna’s pussy up and down her leg in an obscene grinding motion. Ferna growled and swept Selyse up with one arm holding the wife of Stannis to her body. Their mouths locked tight as Selyse roughly ground Ferna’s mound up and down her leg that was jutted out forward to let the Haruchai woman hump like a bitch in heat.

Then Ferna growled and picked up Selyse and held her close to her hard tight body. The Haruchai woman easily held Selyse up with one arm as they snooged. The Haruchai’s free hand had slipped through a unbutton part of the formerly prudish woman’s dress and was obviously playing with the Florent woman’s small breast. She was doing something right because Selyse was now squealing her legs kicking wildly in the air. Her body bucking into the Haruchai woman’s body.

Oberyn came walking by them towards Eddard. He looked sourly at the husband and wife. Oberyn stopped for a long moment. Stannis now had his hand underneath Ranrika’s tunic at her groin. The Haruchai’s tunic kept tenting in a hard fast rhythm. It was obvious what Stannis was doing with his fingers in Ranrika’s pussy. You could hear her pussy slurping. Oberyn looked disgusted. He turned his head and growled. Ferna now had her own hand up Selyse’s dress and was obviously finger fucking her fast furious. Oberyn scowled and started to walk on.

As he passed Eddard, Oberyn muttered “It fucking sucks man … how can that dick up his ass and miss hemorrhoids be scoring such fine pussy Eddard … tell me how??”

Oberyn must not have expected and answer because he kept on walking down the hall muttering and shaking his head.

It was just as well Eddard thought as he passed Stannis. He had no answers that was for sure.
Stannis turned his head to Eddard. He kept his right hand busy. Ranrika was gripping his broad shoulders now her body beginning to buck and writhe. Her face looked like she had a pike shoved up her ass Eddard thought. How can pleasure look so heinous? “You want to join the fun Eddard” Stannis chuffed as he continued ramming his fingers hard and deep in the now squelching pussy. “Ranrika and Ferna would love to have you join our bed. They love your taciturn and stiff demeanor too. Selyse would love to suck you off and fuck you joining sweet Ranrika and Ferna. Then we can DP the three of them. What say you man? When Cat recovers she can join the fun too!”

“Yes!” Selyse gasped. “I would love to feel you dick pounding my fuck holes. I long to suck you off! I long to suck your wife off!”

Eddard knew his body was swaying. This was impossible. Gods man get a grip Eddard thought to himself as he gaped at Stannis. He stopped that thought. Stannis obviously had a good grip on places best left undescribed. Who the hell was that woman that looked like Selyse! Eddard thought stunned. New pussy must be great but this was crazy. Eddard quickened his pace to an almost run.

He was not sure he liked this new “liberated” Stannis and Selyse. What was wrong with being a prude!

Eddard went up the wide central stair to the second floor. As he near the topped he meet Robb and Alys. They were both smiling big and hugging each other.

“Father” Robb called down to his father coming up the steps “Mother is totally recovered. She looks like her old strong self. The babies—they are so strong and cute.”

Eddard came up to the landing where his son and future daughter-in-law waited for him before descending the stair. He hugged them and spent a few minutes talking to them about his wife and their happiness with each other. Alys did not like to discuss about the Game of Thrones and the mechanics of war. She was most anxious to marry Robb.

Some lords came up and started to talk to Robb. Alys turned to Eddard.

“I have always loved Robb but I knew he was destined to marry some princess from a Great House” she spoke with a hint of wonder and maybe a little fear it still might not happen.

Eddard gave her his squint smile. “Once the war is over and with Cat recovered from her difficult pregnancy and birth I think we can again plan with full force the triple wedding of my three oldest children. I would add Jon to the mix but he has already married his two wives.” Eddard was so happy he could now fully acknowledge his other son.

Alys looked more confident and beautiful hearing the news. She now felt certain that the marriage between her and Robb would occur. That the recent changes in dynamics had not resulted in her love being married off. Eddard had lost any desire to auction off his children like he and Cat had been.

He moved on up the smaller stairs to the third floor and was soon at the door to his chambers. Maester Luwin came out and told Eddard that his wife and children were remarkably healthy and strong. Eddard thanked him with a grip of the shoulder.

He entered the room. Cat was awake and alert and when she saw him entering into the room her face beamed and the look of pure love for him made Eddard feel so good on the inside as he gave her the full smile that was almost never seen by anyone else.
He went to the bed and bent down to kiss his wife tenderly on her lips.

“Ned … look at your two new babies. They are so strong and full of vigor. Just like you Ned. Brandon will grow up to be a strong Knight and Lyanna will grow up to marry a strong prince of some Great House.”

Ned smiled down at his sweet wife. His children would determine their future he mused to himself. His children were lucky to be born into nobility. They truly had all the options open to them. His sister had not so secretly longed to be a warrior or knight. Maybe his new daughter would or would not marry a King or the prince of Great House. Eddard smiled wryly. Maybe his daughter would marry a Queen or princess. Maybe she would be a warrior or knight. She now had role models to emulate. It did not matter to him as long as she was happy.

Eddard sat down beside his wife and took Lyanna from Catelyn’s side. He looked at her closely. Her features were the mirror of Lyanna.

“She has Tully eyes I fear Ned else she will be the mirror of your sweet departed sister.”

“She is not my sister Cat. She will be her own woman. Tully eyes are perfect.” He thought of his long dead sister.

A strange vision bloomed in his mental vision. It was his sister at night and it was the full moon. She was howling mournfully up at the low hanging orb in the night sky as it rose over the Red Mountains of Dorne.

Ned shook his head. What a strange vision.

“I don’t really remember anything about the birth Ned. I remember being so sick and then feeling better. I felt unwell but like I was recovering and then I remember nothing.

Eddard told his wife of her harrowing pregnancy and all that had occurred.

“You mean I almost died?” Catelyn Tully asked with a gasp.

“Yes my sweet wife. Fortunately, Jon’s wives had come having had a vision they may be needed. Maester Luwin resisted. I was so furious for his delay in allowing them to help. But I think now it was for the best.”

“How so?”

“I have talked to Melisandre and Ygritte since. They feel that if they had not been delayed they maybe could have saved the babies but not you. To be truthful they fear they would have lost all three of you.”

“Then how am I alive?”

“The situation got so desperate that Daenerys Targaryen figured out a loophole in her bargain with the Ur-viles and their cousins they brought with them the Waynhim. She called them when none should have come. They answered her plea for your salvation.

“What are Ur-viles and Waynhim?”

Eddard then told his wife of her coming to term with their twins. He spared her nothing letting his wife see just how close she came to death.
“By the seven Ned. How did you have the strength and courage to let them work on me? I doubt I would have done so if I had been in your position. How could you trust them? The Ur-viles and Waynhim are not human.”

Ned sighed and smiled. “I had no choice Cat. You were dying. That was obvious. I let myself trust them because of who summoned them. The Lord Lustra and the Giant in the room vouched for them. He then explained how they saved her.

Catelyn looked down at her unscarred stomach.

“That is quite the tale Ned. I feel wonderful. They have indeed totally healed me. It had his forearm up my vagina?”

Ned grimaced. “Yes. It was most unnerving but the Ur-vile brought forth both of our children alive and healthy while his brother and the Waynhim kept you alive and started to heal you. I will forever be in their debt.”

“So will I Ned. I am indeed lucky that Arya’s future wife, the Queen, had come north to fight with you. That Jon has met and fallen in love with two ShadowBender witches. I am very lucky indeed.

The twins woke up and began to fidget and murmur. Each parent cooed and tickled the babies who still could not focus on the world but enjoyed the attention of their parents.

Lyanna opened her blue eyes to look at her father. Her head turning slightly as she kicked and wiggled her arms looking up at her father. She gurgled sweetly.

The miracle of life Eddard Stark thought. Lyanna lived on now.

Deep in the heart of Dorne a large wolf howled up into the sky.

Obara

Obara pulled her lover behind her as they hurried up the bricked walkway of Battleborne Academy. She chuckled as Cersei groused good naturedly about being dragged and jerked along behind her overanxious wife.

Obara liked saying that even if it was currently only to herself. My wife. Yes indeed, Cersei Sand was her wife. She had struck pure Lannister gold. Take that Casterly Rock! Cersei was so fucking beautiful and totally devoted to her. Not only that but Cersei had become so sweet and loving. She still had her tart tongue which made life exciting.

Gods the woman could fuck. She devoured pussy like her life depended on it. Obara shivered with the skills of her wife. Cersei seemed to pick everything she put her mind to quickly. It had taken Obara only once to show Cersei how to get strapped into their strap-on harness and then how to work the hips and body motion to fuck hard and deep. From the first time, Cersei had worn her pussy and asshole out with deep savage fucking that had Obara screaming in shocking harrowing womb rending or anal shredding orgasms.

Cersei could bone!

It had surprised Obara immensely with how domesticated Cersei was at home. She loved to cook and clean house. She never would have believed it. She loved how her lioness first pampered her around the house and then devoured her around the house. Cersei insisted in taking care of her ‘sand snake’ with pampering and love. What woman wouldn’t love that!

They passed the barracks for the women cadets. While intermixing was allowed after hours between the sexes the barracks were segregated for sleeping arrangements. The sexes allowed to roam between the barracks up till the lanterns were turned down. They heard loud moans and out right screams of women in hard orgasm as they screamed out their lover’s names. Obara loved how they were screaming female names.

You needed men for procreation Obara knew but she had found very few any good in bed really. Her father being the main one. Gods she hoped to one day to fuck her father with Cersei and Ellaria. It would be so good. Sucking his cock straight from Cersei’s asshole or sucking his cum out her stretched out cunt or maybe they would both slurping her father’s sperm form Ellaria’s sweet hot cunt or asshole. Her father and mother in all but name were so fucking hot.

She had dreams. She had other dreams too.

She wanted to share Cersei with the female officers and teachers of the Academy. When Cersei had first appeared at the Academy she had captured Obara’s fascination. She was so beautiful and full of fire. She had been a bitch true but there was something about her. Gods she was so thankful she had sunk her claws first into Cersei.

They all wanted Cersei now. All the lesbian and bisexual sluts of the military of Dorne. That would be most of the women. Of course all the men wanted Cersei. Her beauty and now raw physical prowess had the whole of the Academy swooning to have her. Obara had made sure to let all know of her Cersei’s insatiable desires. Thus, the female officers and cadets knew of Cersei’s hunger for pussy and they longed to offer up their shaved cunts to the “Lioness of Dorne” as Cersei was becoming known as. To dine on her sweet shaved cunt and ram their tongues, fingers and strap-on cocks hard into Cersei’s drooling cunt and up her tight hot asshole. Ha! She was hers. Didn’t mean she was not open to sharing her sweet lioness and sand snake. Sharing was good.

It still gripped Obara’s heart that Cersei was a sand snake now. Cersei had totally forsaken her old self. She had truly become a new woman. She was Obara’s woman one hundred percent. Cersei was now a woman of Dorne. Casterly Rock was Cersei’s past. Obara knew just how lucky she was.

As Cersei had begun to change and her attitude ameliorated everyone wanted Cersei in their bed and on their arm. Obara felt a flash of possessiveness surge through. She tightened her grip on Cersei’s arm. Cersei was hers. It did not mean she did not want to share Cersei with others so that the two of them could dine on all the sweet pussy that wanted to lie with the two dominate females in the Academy. All the sluts in the Academy longing to lie on their backs and part their legs wide to be devoured.

And devour them she and Cersei would. Soon. Soon Obara hoped.

Obara used to be safe in her knowledge she was the Alpha of Battleborne Academy. She knew she was the Beta now except Cersei had no desire to take the top ranking. Obara still marveled at the change in Cersei. Her becoming a warrior had subsumed all the woman’s desires to be a “Queen” and the desires to play the Game of Thrones. All she wanted now was to be Obara’s wife. After that she only wanted to be a warrior in service to Dorne. That made Obara tear up at times. Cersei had given herself totally to Obara.

Obara had fucked so many women over the years and wanted Cersei to start devouring sweet pussy that she would share with her. All the female officers, teachers and administrators were all whining to sleep with them. She had to keep putting them off. She had to remind them that Cersei had been born a Royal Lannister and she had to slowly peel off all those layers of prudishness and puritan upbringing. The women of Battleborne Academy wondered how a woman who had so deeply partaken of incest with her brother could be so uptight when it came to sex.

To be truthful, Obara was not fully sure herself. When one is raised with a liberal attitude towards sex it was hard to fathom those who were stilted and repressed when it came to the joys of partaking of the pleasures of the flesh.

Obara let them know she was slowly succeeding though. She was peeling Cersei like an onion removing all those silly inhibitions. She was going to work on some of those tonight. Cersei fucked her everywhere on the Academy but always away from “prying eyes” as Cersei like to say. The one place she was not nervous fucking in front of others was the Officer’s Sauna. Since that was the place of their ‘first time’ it was special to Cersei. She had fucked Obara before others that first time and felt no compunction to stop fucking Obara in front of others in Officer’s Sauna.

Of course what Cersei did not know and what Obara failed to tell her sweet new wife was that nowhere on the Academy grounds was truly private. No space did not have its spy holes and angels of views that allowed interlopers to see all. Cersei was watched when she fucked Obara all over the Academy. Cersei’s sexual prowess, strength and endurance was only increasing her stature among the military elite of Dorne.

The women of the Academy were truly panting for Cersei now. Obara warned them to hide from Cersei the knowledge she was being watched by an avid audience as she fucked Obara senseless and the reverse. Obara told the women and hopeful men that if Cersei discovered this it would set back Obara’s work for months if not years! Teaching a woman how to not be a prude was hard work!

The hopeful sluts gulped and nodded their heads in consent. They would do whatever Obara told them if it meant they could dine on Cersei’s sodden pussy sooner. All wanted to bury their strap-ons and fists deep into Cersei’s pussy and asshole with savage strokes of love. Obara had told all the women how Cersei loved to be fucked rough and hard. Of course Cersei loved to give it back to Obara. Cersei called it “pounding the shit of Obara”. Obara swooned when Cersei fucked her with wild abandon wearing out Obara’s fuck holes and her throat with her strap-on.

All this Obara told the women of Battleborne Academy. The women nearly swooning dreaming of Cersei fucking them like she fucked Obara. They all wanted Cersei. Bad.

Obara dragged Cersei along behind her towards her destination. Cersei frustrated Obara by not wanting to fuck in front of others. It seemed the Officer’s Sauna being their first time place of making love that Cersei was willing to make an exception in that place. Obara loved grinding her sweet wife’s face into her sopping wet pussy as others watched and cat called urging Cersei on.

Gods Cersei went wild proving she was indeed a lioness. Three days ago she was pounding Cersei’s hot pussy and asshole for all to see with her long thick strap-on cock in the Officer’s Sauna. Obara arching her back and work her hips to impale her blonde goddess’ fuck holes balls deep with her ever hard cock. Cersei slapped the woodened slates of the benches with her palm as her body jolted forward from hard spearing thrusts up her exploding cunt and asshole.

Obara spent almost two hours fucking her wife out as she would mewl and hitch from devastating orgasms. Cersei being a total depraved slut would pull herself forward and turn around. She would be before Obara to grip her strap-on at the base and guide the shaft soaked in her fuck juice to her hungry mouth. Cersei looking up at Obara as she slowly swallowed the cock that had just been plundering her fuck hole hard and deep.

Both naked men and women would stand near the two fucking women and stare down at them. The officers watching Obara fuck Cersei hard and deep. Making Cersei cum over and over wildly jackknifing and screaming her pleasure for all to hear. The women and men groaning hard seeing Cersei suck her sweet shit juice or creamy pussy juice off the dick plundering her now gaping asshole or open clutching pussy hole.

With soft eyes Cersei rode her head up and down the thick shaft slavered thick with her pussy and asshole juice. With hungry moans and slurps the beautiful woman sucked hard on her Obara’s cock savoring her sweet pussy and asshole. Then Cersei would again get in doggy or straddle Obara to take her dick deep up her tight cunt or shithole.

Obara relished leaning back against the wooden walls of the sauna with lidded eyes to watch Cersei impale her fuck hole with her cock. It was so sensual to see Cersei throw her head back and keen in her sweet slut warble. Cersei’s body shuddering as she felt Obara’s thick long dick sliding deep back up into her spasming asshole and slam fucking her bunghole and they were off to the races again. Obara loved watching her cock again soaked in Cersei’s shit grease smeared thick up and down the shaft.

Cersei loved to fuck. Her small tits whipping up and down as the blonde beauty gripped Obara’s shoulders to work her hips up and down. She worked her groin up Obara’s shaft and then snapped down with her hips impaling her butthole on thick cock. Cersei would fuck wildly and then slow to a stop. With hot eye contact, Cersei pulled her body up till Obara’s cock slipped from her squired asshole. Obara crooned seeing shit juice splatter out Cersei’s red open rosebud and fall on her stomach. The cock landing wetly on Obara’s belly as more ass juice splattered out Cersei’s slack clutching asshole. The sweet ass juice splattering onto Obara’s belly soaking it in small pools of sweet shit juice.

It was beyond hot for Oberyn’s daughter to look around and see everyone watching them with hot lust lidded eyes. Knowing all of them wanted to be Obara fucking Cersei. It made the warrior maid feel smug to know Cersei’s was hers. All watched Cersei lift herself up and push back to get on the wooden floor. First, Cersei would lower her sweet cupid bow lips to Obara’s belly and slurp up all the ass juice on Obara’s stomach with sweet coquettish mews. Her red lips slurping up all the sweet ass juice from her ravaged asshole.

Then Cersei’s mouth would move to near the strap-on cock rising and falling with Obara’s breathing. The shaft soaked in sweet shit juice slaver. With her eyes locked with Obara Cersei gripped the base of Obara’s dick and pulled it vertical. The hot sweat soaked beauty eyed the shaft with fuck hunger.

“Suck your shithole off my dick you fucking anal whore!” Obara husk barked at her slut. Obara looking askance to see all the men and women in the sauna enraptured by the hot show before them. All loved watching them fuck. “Show everyone what a depraved fucking slut you are Cersei. Show them how you love to suck your shit juice off my dick you fucking blond bimbo! You fucking godsdamn slut!” Obara smiled seeing Cersei shiver hard her eyes going glassy.

Cersei loved to be humiliated and fucked rough. What thrilled Obara more was the fact that Cersei loved Obara doing it in front of others now. Cersei was truly beginning to let her true inner slut free.

“Ummmmnggggg—yyeeessssssss!” Cersei moaned her body jolting hard hearing the humiliation she so craved. Keeping her eyes rolled up to keep eye contact with Obara, Cersei lowered her head and opened her mouth wide to swallow Obara’s thick cock smeared with thick smears of sweet ass juice. With hungry moans and whimpers Cersei sucked and bobbed her sweaty blond locks jerking by her shoulders as she sucked hungrily on the dick in her mouth soaked in her sweet ass juice.

“You love sucking your shithole off my dick don’t you Cersei? Tell everyone here how much you love sucking your ass off my cock slut!” Obara moan barked at Cersei who was now swirling her head tight and fast on the thick bulbous dickhead of her strap-on cock.

With a wet obscene plop sound Cersei sucked off Obara’s cock. She fisted the shaft and pumped it. With heated eyes Cersei looked up at Obara jerking the shaft in her hand. The blonde looked around at the officers looking down at her with glittering eyes before locking eyes with Obara again.

“I love my sweet ass on your dick Obara” she softly husked. Cersei slowly turned her head right and left looking at her audience of enraptured men and women wishing they were Obara. “My shithole tastes like sweet shit chocolate … I love sucking my ass off Obara’s dick” Cersei made hot eye contact with several female captains … “I can’t enough of my asshole on her cock. Gods I love the taste of my shit juice on her dick” Cersei moaned lowering her mouth to Obara’s cock and swallowed it with a hungry moan and started to bob and suck again on her cock pacifier.

Obara had moaned hard fisting Cersei’s sweaty blond tresses and hammered her head up and down her cock soaked in Cersei’s ass helping her wife suck sweetly on her ass soaked cock. Her dickhead hammering the back of Cersei’s throat making spit flow and pour out her mouth when Cersei opened her lips to let the spit drool flood out. The sight turning all on with Cersei turned on the most feeling her face, throat and tits soaked in her own drooling spit.

Such were the sweat thoughts Obara mused on coming back to the present.

The sun was nearing the horizon as Obara pulled her wife behind her. She looked out over the parade grounds. The swallows that nested on the soffits of the buildings and on the sides of the chimneys were out and about swooping above the grass doing graceful tight swoops and turns and doing acrobatic pirouettes eating mosquitos and other flying insects coming out for the night.

Dragonflies were also buzzing about flitting from one space to another eating mosquitos flying around with the sun hitting their colored bodies and gossamer wings making them appear like precious gems first floating and then darting in the slowly gloaming air.

The dragonflies that flitted by sent the air abuzz with their whirring wings. The swallows making their sweet warbles as they flashed by chasing their meals.

Obara wanted to be pursuing a certain sweet meal herself with Cersei. Soon she would have Cersei also pursuing the desired prey. Each season, fresh recruits were brought into Battleborne Academy. Only the most promising students were brought to the premier military academy of Dorne. Each province had their own Academy to train up the local youth for those who were not meant for higher leadership.

Obara thought of all those fifteen, sixteen and seventeen year old female cadets. Young women anxious to learn about warfare and lovemaking. Cersei was so blind sometimes. She would walk through the Academy or she would be out performing her exercises for Myrion or practicing with her nonmetal weapons or doing her martial arts. Obara was often with Cersei to help in her exercises and martial arts. The young neophytes would be staring at Obara but especially Cersei longing to part their legs for them.

The practice ground area where Cersei worked out were lined with teenage boys and girls literally drooling at the hot tight MILF doing her exercises or martial training. Cersei’s body now rippled with supple muscle covered by sweet layers of fat that rounded out her body. Cersei had become a goddess to Battleborne Academy. The girls were nearly swooning and the boys drooling. Well, the girls were too.

Their eyes and body spoke one language. “Fuck me!” Cersei could have all the sweet new pussy her heart could desire. The only problem with that was the fact Cersei was sure the cadets were only looking at her exercising. Cersei joked they wanted to see if the ole MILF could keep it up. Cersei scoffed at the idea that her body was longed for by all the new recruits. That all the upper classman, military officers and teachers wanted in her pants so bad that they either fucked their current bedmates blind or were wearing out their hands masturbating.

They should be fucking the hell out of all these nymphets and sluts Obara groused to herself. Most came to the Academy already experienced in the arts of Sapphic love but a large percentage were virgins waiting to be seduced. Most had their cherries popped by their own classmates. More experienced cadets plucking the sweet ripe cherries but many were seduced by their instructors. Sex brought the new classes together and helped the cadets to bond with each other and with their instructors. A happy cadet was a hard working cadet. No cadet was coerced into a sexual relationship. They were allowed to choose whom they wanted to sleep with by free will.

Instructors and officers were severely punished for using force and coercion to force partners into having sex with them against their own free will. One used guile, sweet blandishments and seductive touches and words to seduce at the Academy. In Dorne sex was treasured and protected from abuse.

Obara and the other female instructors were idolized by the lesbian and bi-sexual cadets which so many of the female cadets were. Most of the ‘straight’ girls soon seduced into bisexuality or committed lesbians once they had tasted the sweet ‘forbidden’ fruit. The aggressive martial aspects bringing out their latent natural homosexual desires. A whole bevy of new cadet girls were lining the practice grounds on their breaks watching Cersei work out and drooling with thoughts of going down on her or giving their maidenheads to Cersei. Their thin tops showing rigid nipples and skin flushed with arousal.

The Bedouins had long ago learned to let their daughters go to the Academies. The knowledge and prestige they brought back in visits and when retired if they chose to come back home made their clans stronger and gave them increased status that made the other clans envious. This in turn made them want to let their daughters go to the Academies hoping to increase their status.

In the hinterlands it was all about status.

Many of the girls used the military to get out of boring and staid lives in the hinterlands. It was considered an honor to be accepted into the academies. To serve Dorne held in high esteem.

The only faction that still resisted actively were the High Houses of Dorne who wanted to keep their daughters for the dowries they could bring their houses and the political alliances that marriages between houses brought. Their aspirations were greater with visions of acquiring large tracts of land or marrying into great wealth. It made the fathers much greedier with their desire to betroth off their daughters as chattel.

Many of those daughters wanted more knowing the history of the Battleborne Academy. Its legends of freedom to alluring to the young girls to resist its siren call. The families had to submit to the girls wishes. There was no higher honor than to serve as an officer in the military in Dorne.

Soon Obara and Cersei would be partaking of so much sweet pussy the Sand Snake thought. Obara couldn’t wait. She just had to be patient. Obara was depriving herself of all the sweet young neophytes waiting for Cersei to get the rocks out of her head and start helping Obara fuck all these sweet younglings.

Obara was having to fend off Ellaria as well. She was really starting to become impatient. Since her and Cersei’s time in the sauna Ellaria had been almost begging to have Cersei in her bed with Obara. Obara had to console her twice when Ellaria had tears in her eyes wondering why Cersei did not love her. She had to explain to her father’s paramour that Cersei loved her with agape love for now. Obara would help Cersei to see that the love of Eros was what Ellaria felt for Cersei. That Cersei needed to change the love for Ellaria from agape to Eros love.

The Sand Snake smirked. She had fucked Ellaria nearly senseless gobbling her pussy over and over then riding Ellaria’s face hard. They had fucked exuberantly wrecking the bed. They ate more wet pussy before getting out Ellaria’s strap-on and fucking their pussies and assholes to ruin. So many sweet anal ‘gams they had shared.

Obara had left a temporarily satiated Ellaria. She had fucked her during the day and gone home. Cersei knowing where Obara had been had fallen on her like a roaring lion. Cersei had known of Obara’s task to placate Ellaria. To fuck Ellaria to exhaustion to assuage her aching need for Cersei. Obara’s body instantly revived with Cersei’s hot fuck hunger for her body. Her sweet Cersei happy that Obara was fending off Ellaria while she worked through being a prude.

“Just give me more time baby” Cersei would ask with those beautiful green eyes looking all soft and alluring. Obara was trying. Of course Cersei eating her out repeatedly and fucking her pussy and ass to ruin helped Obara to find patience.

Recently, Ellaria had spent the weekend with the Pride of Dorne. The orgasms they had given her left her floating in heavenly bliss. Now she wanted to fuck Cersei with Myrcella with or without the sand snakes. Myrcella had become smitten with this new woman her mother had become. Obara had added Myrcella to the list of young sluts drooling to sleep with Cersei Sand. The fact Myrcella was Cersei’s daughter made it all the hotter. Myrcella was now pleading with Obara to ‘make it happen damnit!’ They both could be quite whiny about it Obara was discovering.

She had to tell her impatient mother-in-law to be patient. She had to cajole Myrcella that she would have Cersei soon enough. Ellaria had tried the direct approach. Ellaria had invited Cersei to her home. Then Ellaria had shed her clothes spreading her legs wide in eager offering. When Cersei refused her, Ellaria had broken down crying. Hard. Obara had a flustered Cersei come home all jittery and angst ridden. Obara had had to rush to Ellaria. Obara took Ellaria in her arms to comfort the dear woman explaining that Cersei needed to be brought along slowly (by Dorne standards) to get her to fully open up to all the possibilities that Dorne and the family Martell had to offer the gorgeous blonde.

Ellaria sniffled and weakly said she understood but whined for Obara to hurry up. She was in love with Cersei and needed to fuck her so bad. Obara told her to wait a little longer. Then she had fucked Ellaria’s brains out again. Fortunately, three just commissioned Lieutenants came knocking on Ellaria’s door. Soon Ellaria was feasting on sweet nineteen and eighteen year old pussy along with Obara’s drooling clamshell. The four women devoured Obara to wailing orgasms and then put on strap-ons and fucked all of Ellaria’s fuck holes long, hard and deep with much sweet TP, DA, DV, ATM and A2P. Gods that had been hot fucking Ellaria airtight with dicks in all her holes fucking her balls deep. Crisis averted for now Obara thought hurrying home to fuck Cersei bowlegged. The sacrifices she made, Obara smirked to herself rushing home to devour Cersei.

The Academy was currently bereft of many of its military leaders, trainers and teachers with them marching north to fight the Ice King. Obara had been pissed at not being allowed to march north but she agreed with her father that leaving the Sand Snakes behind it would help ensure peace in Dorne. Many of the tribes in the hinterlands and in many of the holdfasts in the North and Far East of Dorne were always restive and any perceived weaknesses may cause problems. Also, she would never admit she did not want to leave Cersei behind. Martells were never to show emotional weakness. She wanted her at her side in battle. She could not understand what the fuck Myrion was waiting for. He kept saying he would know the moment he was looking for when he saw it. “She will let me know when she is ready.”

Obara knew it was not something verbal. It would be some action. The showing of a crossing of a boundary.

It was just nerve wracking waiting for it. Cersei merely mediated. She would get this serene otherworldly look on her face. When she awakened out of her trance she said the most profound things.

She told Obara her meditations allowed her to “let the bullshit of the external world fade from her awareness.”

She would tell Obara to just acknowledge “all that shit they’re shoveling is fucking bullshit” and “find that inner stillness so those fucking bitches can’t get underneath you skin.”

One time when Obara was fucking pissed at the administration. Cersei intoned to her sagely “Take full deep breaths … breathe in strength … breathe out bullshit.”

She taught Obara how to control her breathing and told her “with each breath feel your body saying … fffuuucckkk thatttt.”

She had taught Obara how to have each breath she took in her meditative state calm her. How to allow each breath she took to “let her thoughts get lighter … and to have all the soul eating cocksuckers just … fall away into nothing.”

The silence that Cersei was teaching her showed her how to “keep assholes from pissing all over that kind of inner purity.”

Cersei was so wise sometimes.

They walked underneath the flowering apple and pear trees. The warm air off the Summer Sea and the Hobolt current that ran just off shore bringing additional warmth from the southern seas. The hot water keeping winter at bay except for the depths of a long winter. The breeze coming off the shore had the tree limbs stirring restlessly making the limbs look like waves on a tempest sea frothing with white, pink and purple hues of the flowers. The sound of the breezes rustling the leaves was pleasing to the ears. It did sound like waves crashing on a distant shore.

Obara looked up into the tree limbs heavy with their colorful blossoms. The blossoms put out a sweet perfume. As sweet as the perfume of the proffered blossoms of the fruit trees they paled compared to the sweet musk of her wife’s snatch. Her pussy smelled like heaven to Obara.

The giggling newlyweds had arrived at Obara’s destination.

“Why are at the museum Obara” Cersei asked her wife.

“You will see my sweet wife” Obara called back over her shoulder pulling her wife up the sidewalk leading up to the museum entrance. Obara glanced down at the mosaics that depicted the struggle against the Targaryen dynasty’s attempted conquering of Westeros. She fully supported Daenerys rule but she could not stop herself from making sure to step on Aegon’s face each time she went up the sidewalk to the museum. The sliding door panels had been pulled shut.

Before them stood the honorific guard. The cadets selected for this guard duty was only given to the cadets of the highest academic and leadership scores. A cadet guard was posted at only two sites on the Academy grounds. The highest honor was the Commandant’s quarters. The museum was the other site deemed worthy of an honor guard with the priceless relics contained within.

Both sites were safe with the collected might of Dorne around them but it was guarded to give the elite students status by being chosen to perform the honor guard duties. Each shift only lasting two hours since it was not designed to be a duty but an honor to perform. The students honored to be selected gave the duty their fullest attention.

The status the guard duty gave the cadets was used by the cadets to move up the pecking order and to curry favor with other cadets, officers and instructors. The new plebs flocked to “the few, the proud, the cadets”. The guards dining on moist sweet pussy and hard cock by the honor guard groupies that flocked around the cadets to fuck them. The cadets loving all the pussy and cock it brought their way.

The entryway to the museum had three cadets on duty. The two lower ranking cadets had spears crossed over the walkway leading up to the building. The commanding officer stood on the landing with a ceremonial curved Calvary sword on their hip.

Obara went up to the guards with their crossed spears. The commanding officer looked at Obara with a condescending look.

“What is the password?”

“Oh get off it Doras Martell. You know who I am damnit!”

“Get off it you windbag and give me the fucking password twat!”

“Piss off you Dillweed!”

“I would tell you exactly what I feel Obara … but …” he looked at Cersei with a slight fearful look. He wasn’t really that scared. Cersei was a pussycat. That was until she was riled but she had seen Doras and Obara interact before. Still, though, Doras felt a little thrill of fear run up his spine.

Obara smiled and felt warm inside feeling Cersei starting to tense up ready to come to her wife’s defense and honor. You could insult Cersei all day long and she would just smile beatifically at you but one insult towards her wife, Obara, and she turned into a hissing, slashing hellcat. She still remembered fondly how Cersei attacked the whole Dothraki troop training at the Academy when they insulted her. Cersei defended her woman! No matter the situation.

“Parrothead. Dickweed.”

“See. Was that so hard?”

The spears were pulled back. She felt Cersei glaring at her cousin. Her wife knew it was all in jest but she was making sure that all understood she would defend Obara’s honor at all cost. Gods Obara loved Cersei. As Cersei passed Doras, she made a show of jutting her left shoulder out and jerked left. Cersei jammed her shoulder hard into Doras’s chest. Her movements lightning fast when she struck. The force staggering him back as the breath exhaled out his chest and his body hit the side of the museum hard. He rose up smiling. To be attacked by the Lioness of Dorne had become a most high honor. To show Cersei had clawed you and that you survived. A badge to be bragged about.

Obara went up to the entryway to the Museum.

“Do you have the ceremonial key?” Doras asked his cousin.
Obara produced the gold key that allowed those with the key free access to all buildings after hours.

The Lieutenant stepped aside smiling.

Obara unlocked the doors. They entered the museum proper. Cersei started to look around but Obara had other immediate plans. They would be returning. She had several things to accomplish here but first it was to the Head Curators’ office. It was shared by a husband and wife duo who had been in the post for the last five years and doing a wonderful job by all accounts.

They had restored a sense of excitement among the staff and had talked Doran into the current plan to have traveling shows of artifacts crisscross Drone to help bring the population closer by seeing their shared history. Wagon trains closely guarded went to the major Houses of Dorne to show off the selected collected artifacts of Dorne’s past. Creating and controlling these rolling shows had lifted moral high in the museum staff.

There was another reason moral was high in the museum staff. Danire Wells and Kristyne Wyne were well known for their swing parties that were the talk of the Academy, Sunspear and the shadow city that lay outside the three walls of Sunspear. All the beautiful people and those in power were at their parties. The wine and liquor flowed all night as did the use of hashish. All were allowed from the Academy when off duty for the military cadets. Service to Dorne was its own pass to the festivities.

The cadets had to make sure that they were in no way impaired from performing their duties the next morning. If they could then they were treated as adults with respect in their abilities to control their own actions.

The parties allowed for the bonding of friendships and forming of alliances to further business and careers. The sex started early in the late afternoon and continued throughout the night and days off from work and duty. Obara had visited many of their parities and stayed primarily in the suite of rooms that were for women who preferred Sapphic lovemaking. She loved having men lining the walls jerking off as they watched women fucking each other senseless wailing as wombs ripped out bellies and cunts tore themselves inside out.

She hoped to soon take Cersei to the rooms that would have a name like Isle of Lesbos, Sapphic Paradise, Goddess Room or some other sweet name that was always changing. She wanted everyone to see Cersei screaming as she cum hard in Obara’s mouth or she was nailing her ass to the bed slamming her ten inch strap-on hard, deep and fast into her woman’s snatch making her scream in orgasm. Then flipping Cersei over to doggy and pounding the shit out of her hot tight asshole. The cadets, officers and Academy staff would be howling in excitement seeing Cersei sucking her shithole off Obara’s dick again and again.

Obara smiled in the gloom of the museum. Cersei had turned out to be an anal whore who loved ATM and A2P as much as Obara. Obara was so lucky!

That was for another night in the hoped for not too distant future. Tonight the curators were off at a swing party at some local actor’s home.

They hurried down the hall with Cersei grousing good naturedly and clucking at Obara.

“You know we have a large bed, sofas, stuffed chairs, counters, rugs and hardwood floors to fuck on at home Obara.”

“Yes. But I have wanted to do you in Kristyne’s office so bad baby. I want to fuck you here so good baby! I will make you scream so hard!” Talking of getting fucked had Cersei’s eyes glazed and her breathing hitched and accelerated. Gods Cersei was such a wanton slut and Obara loved it!

They rushed to the end of the hall and entered the door to the left. They stopped and she saw Cersei looking around at the expensive main desk and three custom built desks made with exquisite craftsmanship. The expansive desks made of teak and mahogany wood with large writing surfaces with cutouts for writing blots and pull down covers to cover the multiple bins for writings and supplies. The Center one with a tortoise shell pull down cover that would cover the whole desk if down.

Cersei looked around at the antique chairs and stuffed chairs. Her eyes finally falling on the not antique large leather sofa with wide seaweed filled cushions and plush wide arms. The sofa comfortable but also great to fuck on. Obara smiled seeing her sweet Cersei eyeing the sofa with obvious lascivious intent.

She turned to look down at Obara. It was amazing how simple eye contact could be so hot when Cersei had the fire of adore in her throbbing green eyes.

“Oohhhhhh!” Obara gasped when Cersei like a fast striking adder reached out and pulled Obara hard into her body. Their bodies melding perfectly as thighs slipped between legs to mash into love swollen snatchs. Obara’s large breast compressed into Cersei’s smaller little doves smothering them. Obara’s mound pressed into Cersei’s thigh. Obara’s hips instinctively flexing to grind her swollen camel toe into Cersei’s hard muscled leg. Obara looked up all submissive. Cersei liked to be led until Obara had stoked the fires in her belly. Then Cersei could turn into a ravenous lioness who fucked and consumed Obara hard as she screamed in soul blistering ecstasy.

"Like now!" Cersei’s eyes were full of fire.

“I’m going to fuck you on that sofa Obara. You’ve boned there haven’t you?” she asked aggressively.

Obara batted her eyelashes her belly melting with fuck need. “Yes. Gods I screamed so hard from Kristyne sucking me off so good and plowing me with her cock. Oh Cersei she knows how to work her hips to ram the full length of her ten inch cock balls deep up my tight cunt.” She loved the fire that radiated out of Cersei’s green orbs turned on supper hot by Obara’s words.

“She fucks me up the ass so well Cersei. I cum so hard feeling my shithole tearing itself inside out. The pleasure was so intense it scalded me with bliss. Each pulse of my exploding asshole made me scream in ecstasy baby … gods I love it up the ass and then sucking my ass juice off her long thick cock” Obara crooned to Cersei knowing the vivid descriptions were firing up her lioness.

“Sometimes some of her assistants joined in baby. They really fucked me hard Cersei” Obara spoke softly being coy. She knew it inflamed Cersei when she played the coquet. “Last time they fisted my pussy so good. My pussy felt so stretched out and Natari’s knuckles felt like heaven rubbing my vaginal walls twisting her fist in deep to pound my cervix again and again. My cunt exploded as I flipped and bucked so hard. Natari kept slamming her fist in so hard and deep baby. Kristyne and Claere sucked my nipples so hard. Their hands pulping my tits while their cheeks hollowed out they sucked so hard on my teats”

She looked up into Cersei’s eyes smiling sexily. Cersei was chuffing now her eyes slightly addled with lust. “You’re a fucking slut Obara. A fucking slut” Cersei softly murmured pulling Obara harder into her body. Her eyes were almost midnight with her blown pupils. “Gods I love you so much. You turn me on so fucking much. Only you turn me on so baby. Gods I am going to fuck you so good!”
Cersei lowered her head aggressively and claimed Obara’s lips with hers. She pulled Obara’s lower lip between hers and suckled and nibbled it making her wife mewl and body hitch. Cersei was on fire for her wife. For a few minutes she sucked on her woman’s sensual lips and nibbled on first Obara’s lower and then upper lip making her slut whinny in helpless pleasure. Obara’s body convulsing in raw aching pleasure. Their tits mashed and rolled into each other as the almost equal in height woman snogged deeply.

Now Cersei’s tongue roughly swiped Obara’s teeth demanding entrance. The instant Obara teeth started to part Cersei’s tongue surged into Obara’s mouth and wety wrestled with Obara’s tongue making the sand snake convulse in pleasure and then her eyes rolled back into her skull feeling Cersei’s long tongue spear down her throat again and again. Cersei pulled Obara to her feverishly their twats humping thighs in instinctive need as cunnies got wet with fuck juice and labia lips all swollen and gnarled up waiting to be teased open so sweet cunt meat could be devoured and savored.

“Mnmppffff uummppffff pphhfffff!” Obara groaned into the mouth devouring hers. She was getting weak in the knees her body sagging into Cersei’s now hard muscled body. Cersei roughly jerked Obara’s blouse top out the back of her trousers and shoved her right hand down her slacks. She cupped and roughly massaged Obara’s ass cheeks like Obara liked it. Cersei’s hand moved from globe to globe roughly massaging the ample but muscled ass cheeks. Obara cried out in helpless pleasure her already sopping wet pussy humping into Cersei’s thigh jammed into her mound.

Obara gagged feeling her cunny rubbing hard up and down Cersei’s muscular thigh. Her labia lips rolled around and stretched as her cunt was roughly jerked up and down. Her arms were around Cersei’s body holding her tight to her heated body. Cersei’s hand roughly massaging her ass was making Obara so fucking wet. Cersei strength when she was being dominate made Obara melt for her lioness.

Obara was simpering in raw need now. Cersei’s other hand came up and jerked her blouse out from the front of Obara’s trousers and her hand came up to cup and then roughly massage Obara’s left full C cup breast. Her fingers first milking the heavy udder and then her fingers cupping and grinding her palm into the engorged nipple rubbing over the nipple. They broke for breath with spit roped between their lips. Cersei looked at Obara with hot eyes her hand pulping Obara’s udder her fingers sinking deep into the brown globe. Her palm rotating to torture sweetly the thick rubbery nipple.

Obara was in heaven with the duel assault of Cersei’s hands and their mouths were mated tight again with heads titled over to let Cersei have deep access to Obara’s mouth and throat. Cersei hands were like adders striking her heated flesh filling her ass and now both tits with aching fire and molten pleasure. Cersei pulled on Obara’s thick nipples making Obara cry out into her sand snake’s mouth. Obara keened feeling her nipple stretched out tenting her areola before the hand again clenched and pulped her tit.

Then Cersei was picking up Obara easily and walked with her to the sofa and threw her down on the leather sofa with a loud oomph from Obara looking up with lust addled eyes. Cersei slowly stripped naked for Obara. Obara’s breathing got hot and heavy seeing Cersei’s small soft tits come into view. Her stomach so flat and muscular. Her cunt so swollen and wet. Her mound covered with a milky sheen of her effluent. Cersei’s legs slender but so muscular now.

Cersei looked down at Obara with an imperious look. She was in full on top mode now.

“Take your clothes off slut and show me that sweet red swollen cunt. Pull it open and show me your sopping wet fuck hole whore! Show me what you want slut!” Cersei barked at Obara.

“Uummnnngggg! Oh oh yeessssss!” Obara whimpered. They both easily submitted to being bottom and tonight it would be Obara playing the submissive slut. Obara groaned gutturally sitting up and hurriedly taking her blouse off and jerking her trousers off her hips and wiggling desperately to get them down. She then hooked her fingers in her silk short cloth and ripped it down.

She leaned back shivering seeing the fire in Cersei’s eyes as she finished taking her sandals off and stood proud and regal before her. Obara put her inside leg against the sofa back and her other foot on the floor putting her ass on the edge of the sofa letting her cunt hang out over the sofa edge. Her pussy wet and swollen in the soft light from the lamps on their hooks the wick turned low.

Obara’s hands went to her pussy and hooked her fingers into her inner seam and pulled her wet clutching fuck hole open to Cersei. Cersei stared down with green eyes dark now with fuck hunger. Cersei licked her lips unconsciously watching Obara’s cunt pulse and clutch before her. The red open pit so wet with the inner whorls pulsing with Obara’s breathing. For a minute Cersei stared down at Obara as Cersei’s hands stroked all over her own body hedonistically stroking her now sweaty flesh.

“Masturbate for me” Cersei told her simply. Cersei followed her own command. Obara watched Cersei slowly move her right hand down her belly in sensual circles. First, the fingers swirled over Cersei’s cunny up and down making Cersei whimper. She coated her fingers with her slimy cum and started to circle her clit. Cersei gasped her pussy rotating up into her masturbating fingers. Cersei’s eyes became heavily lidded. Her breathing starting to get ragged.

Obara watched Cersei slowly sink two fingers up her twat and started to pump them in and out slowly. In and out with slow strokes Cersei fucked her cunt deeply. Her eyes slit and then shut as she pumped her fingers deep into her cunny. Her head spasmed on a stiff neck as Cersei whimpered in rising aching pleasure. Obara watched the long digits quickly soaked in slimy cunt slime to the third knuckles.

Obara followed suite. Her left hand found her left tit and began to roughly massage it with her strong fingers. Her right hand made a slow languid trip down her palpating belly. The fingers traveling slow stroking her heated flesh. Then the fingers found her swollen gash. The long digits running up and down her slit and rubbing over her swollen bud. The sweet friction gaging Obara with self-induced hedonistic pleasure. Her eyelids heavily lidded with lust as her pussy flowed heavily sweet creamy fuck juice she spread on her mound and clit to aid her now slippery fingertips in masturbating her cunny.

Cersei’s left hand went to her soft breast and roughly massaged them rolling them in her hand compressing and squeezing hard. “Oh gods, yes! Ohnngg gods . . . yessss!” Cersei whimpered her fingers sliding in and out her greasy fuck hole and her other hand now pulling and squeezing her nipples hard. Cersei roughly pulled on her thick dark crinkly nipples making Cersei cry out in ecstasy. Her head jerked back as she cried out in raw hedonistic pleasure “Unngggg hhnnnn hhngggg … oh Obara what you do to me … fuck yourself baby.”

Obara had sunk two fingers into her pussy and fucked herself deeply. Her fingers jacking in deep and hard into her tight slippery fuck hole. The inner petals gripping tight on the long slender digits ramming in hard. Obara’s knuckles pounding her mound as she fucked herself. She pulled her fingers out to circle and rub over clit making it slick with fresh dollops of cum. Obara loved seeing her fingers soaked in her own creamy snail snot.

Her pussy jerked up helplessly into her masturbating fingers. Her clit jangled as she stroked it and pushed into with her wet fingers. She worked back and forth fucking her cunt and rolling and rubbing her clit. Her other hand had gripped her left tit roughly and pulled it up and gripped hard to contort the udder back so Obara could tilt her head forward hard. Her mouth attaching to her nipple and sucking hard her nipple on fire with shocking pulses of pleasure that started to pulse to her clit.

“Godsdamm! I wish I could do that!” Cersei moaned slamming her fingers hard up into her slurping twat that had cum hanging off her labia lips swinging in creamy strands before breaking off and flinging down to the wooden floor. Cum trickling down her muscled thighs in rivulets. Cersei’s cunt made wet slurry sounds. Cersei’s left hand rotated over her small soft tits grinding them into her ribcage. Her nipples dragged and rubbed by the sweaty palm.

Obara sucked on her nipples in turn moving her hand to roughly massage her swollen tits and stuff a turgid nipple in her mouth cantering her tit back to her greedy sucking mouth her cheeks hollowing out with her hedonistic sucks and her tongue rasping her engorged teat. Obara’s head lifting with her greedy sucks. Her other hand now harpooned fucked her sloppy wet snatch. Her pussy sloshing as it was fucked hard. The shock of her hammering hand into her mound shocking her clit.

Obara smiled at Cersei sucking harder on her nipples with cheek hollowing sucks showing her tongue gigging her engorged tits. Cersei growled loudly fucking herself harder in wanton slutty need. The two feeding off each other’s masturbating for their mate. Obara had moved to circling and jerking over her clit in turn making her gasp on the nipples she was sucking. Cersei was shaking now as she fucked her twat with piston strokes of her long fingers. Both woman groaning as they scaled the ladder of ecstasy.

Cersei was now slamming her cunt with three fingers. Milky cum now coating the fingers thickly as she rose to orgasm after only two minutes of this intense fuck stretching out her quim. Her slimy cum wicking down her forearm and running down it in trickles. Her body hitching folding her torso down at twenty to thirty degrees and then jerking upright as ecstasy hammered through her veins. Her left hand now was forking her clit to squeeze it out its hood and then jerking it wildly with cum slicked fingers. Her right hand pounding her cunt spasming and splattering with flooding fuck juice.

Cersei’s body began to jerk forward hard as she gasped. Her legs flexing to keep her steady. Cersei knew how to masturbate hitting all her sweet spots regularly for Obara as she jerked off for her wife. They often sat facing each other on the bed jerking off to soul screaming orgasms. "Ohhhggginnn sweet gods!" she moaned softly through gritted teeth her face contorting with searing ecstasy. "Ohhhhhhhhhhhnnn!" Cersei moaned. "Ohhhhhhhh . . . oh sweet seven gods!" Her body began to jerk harder her hair getting sweaty jerked lankly by her sweaty breast.

Obara saw her sweet sand snake change the angle of her right hand and began to harpoon her fingers hard and furious into her g-spot. “Ooowwwgggggg!” Cersei cried out slam fucking her now sloshing cunt. Her head thrashed as her pussy made wet splattering noises like a child splashing in a pool. Cersei’s breathing now deep and ragged. Cersei buried her fingers in her twat and wildly vibrated them over her g-spot. The fingers rasping over the spongy hillock. Cersei’s left hand blurred hitting her clit fast and furious with her sideswiping fingers.

Obara groaned hard seeing Cersei soul rocked by her exploding cunt tearing itself inside out. Cersei’s face had a sudden shocked look. Her mouth fell wide open and she screamed "AARRUUUNNGGGGG! Auungghh! .., oohhh unngg unngg oh fuuuucckkkk OOWWNNGGGHIIEEEEEEE! UUNNGGGMMNNIIIEEEE!! UUNNGGGMMMMMNIIIEEEE!!" Cersei screamed her face torn apart by pleasure so intense it was agony. Her body convulsed so hard as her now watery cunt exploded again and again sending out hot spraying droplets of cum erupting out her gushing cunt. Cersei’s body snapped violently forward and back her strong legs corded as she convulsed. Her stomach turned into a washboard with her dire spasms.
Cersei staggered and sagged to her knees still convulsing. “Aarruuunngggggg! Huunnggggggg! Hhhhnnnggggg!” she cried out her body still cumming as sweat filmed her body and beaded together and run down her body. Obara had dropped her tit and now pulled her cunt open.

Still hitching with devastating aftershocks Cersei folded down to her ass on her legs and mashed her face forward and buried it in Obara’s hot red wet seam. She moaned loudly her mouth already working her wife’s slimy cunt seam and licking hotly. Her head jerking roughly up and down as aftershocks ripped through her body. Cersei’s shaky hands came up to grip Obara’s hips weakly as her face slashed and ripped with strong aftershocks.

Obara loved the rough jerks of Cersei’s mouth on her cunt as the aftershocks oh so slowly died away in Cersei’s body. Her cum seemed to quickly revive Cersei who hungrily buried her face deep in her wife’s vulva wildly licking up and down over Obara’s raspberry sized clit lashing it hungrily. Cersei sucked on the juicy pink nubbin with feverish love sucks. Cersei gripped Obara’s hips to anchor herself as she began to deep throat suck on Obara’s clit her head lifting with the force of her love suck.

Obara cried out with pleasure feeling Cersei suck her clit into her mouth and roll the hard nubbin. Cersei sucked rhythmically as she gurgled and polished the sweet nodule with fast swipes of her tongue. Cersei looked up at Obara with pure love and the need to feast of sodden gash. The blonde beauty groaned, snuffled and mewled devouring her slut’s womanhood. Cersei’s head pumped up stretching out Obara’s trim. Obara cried out in ecstasy seeing her cunt meat stretched up an inch all wet and red. Her wet folds sucked out her brown slit and labia lips.

Cersei sucked with fevered long wet love sucks. Her mouth rolling the clt in her mouth her tongue tormenting he hard nubbin. Her hands gripped tight to Obara’s hips to anchor her body down as she devoured the sweetest dish on this mortal coil. Cersei then licked up and down Obara’s slit sucking in and rolling sweet labia lips. The lips rolled in Cersei’s mouth and stretched out. For a minute Cersei tormented the sweet slimy lips sucked into her mouth. Then she was back at Obara’s clt. The hard clt sucked deep into Cersei’s mouth and love tormented.

Cersei’s right hand came up and started to pull and twist Obara’s nipples sending her to the moon with pleasure bolts that gagged Obara with ecstasy. Cersei gripped Obara’s hip with her left hand her mouth feasting on red gash now tongue fucking her wife’s honey hole spearing her tongue in deep and sucking out mouthfuls of steaming cum she gleefully swallowed with loud gulsps.

Cersei slow tongue fucked her wife’s quim and then speeded up her love rhythm till her head was like a hammer slamming down into her wife’s mound. Her nose hammering her sweet sand snake’s clt with her maniacal head thrusts hammering her tongue deep into her wife’s couchie that sucked and gripped her tongue in hot pulses. Cersei kept looking up gauging the ecstasy tearing at Obara’s face and feeling the spasms of her body.

From nowhere Obara’s cunt exploded with no build up. Her hips surged up off the sofa as her mouth screamed in agonizing ecstasy “GGGGOODDDSSDDDDDAAMMNNNNN! AAARRRUUUUUNNNGGGGGGGGGGGG!” Obara shrieked feeling her womb rupture and then rip to shreds deep in her belly. “AAAWWWWOOOGGGGGG! Huummgg hhnnngg hnnnggg ohohoh Uuuuuunngggghhhiiiiiiiiieeeeee! Mmmnnngggghhhiiiiiiiiieeeeee!” Obara wailed her body convulsed and shook violently. Her body slammed back into the sofa again and again her body now soaked in sweat. Cersei had mashed her face into Obara’s cunt her tongue buried deep in the exploding fuck hole. Cersei groaned swallowing mouthfuls of sweet hot cum gushing out the well fucked fuck hole.

Obara went limp leaning back into the sofa her body jerking with strong aftershocks. She mewed shaking her head to get sweaty lank hair off her face. She was gasping. Cersei pulled her head back and brought up her right hand. She knew her sweet Obara so well now. Obara had more cum to give her.

She forked and rubbed her wife’s clit with a circular motion with her left hand and her right hand now pumping two fingers into her wife’s hot fuck hole. Obara’s eyes had been slit but now shot wide open. Obara felt her cunt already spasming again. Her cunt hungry for more pleasure. Cersei had a dreamy look on her face with her eyes slit watching her wife rise higher and higher. Sensing Obara’s orgasm was already rapidly forming in Obara’s belly she stuffed a third finger in her wife’s cunt stretching her out. Her hand began to hammer the dark brown mound rippling and compressing it with her hard strokes of pure love.

Cersei moved her mouth up to suck Obara’s clit deep into her mouth. Her left hand now pressing down on Obara's lower belly putting direct pressure on her spasming womb with down jerks of her fingertips angled into Obara’s lower belly. Cersei setup a circular motion with her mouth on Obara’s clut as she sucked deeply on the sweet clt. Cersei moaned sucking on the hard nodule that she rolled with her tongue when she was not slapping it with her wet tongue. She gave Obara’s clit deep harsh long deep throat love sucks her cheeks dimpling in showing her tongue slapping and gigging the diamond hard piece of heaven.

Obara leaned back as she wiggled her ass on the sofa with her legs spread wide like a Lysian whore.
Her hips rotating her swollen gash up into Cersei’s hot sucking mouth. Cersei’s right forearm a piston slam fucking the spasming tight fuck channel she harpooned fucked with her three fingers slamming into the exploding couchie hard and deep repeatedly. Obara’s body began to quake violently and then Obara’s womb exploded again deep in her belly. She flipped and jackknife almost violently on the sofa her cunt ramming up into Cersei’s hot sucking mouth.

Obara’s hands gripped and throttled her wildly rolling and swirling tits on her chest.
"AAAAWWOOOGGGGGG! AARRUUUNNGGGGGGGGGG! Hhhnnnn hhhnnnggg hhhnnggg AAAAWWOOOGGGGGGGGGG!!" Obara shrieked as her womb tore out her cunt in convulsive ripping spasms. “Ungghhhmmniiieeeeee! Auungghhiieeee! Unnnggg uunnggg hhhhmnnn …
Aaaanngghhhuummmngnn! Auungnhhh! Oh . . . gods!” Obara cried out, her face torn with rapture as the full shock of her orgasm hit her. "Unngghhmmniiieeeeee! Oh! Uggghhh! Oh! Oh!" Her body flipped up and slapped down on the sofa again and again as rapture tore at her sweet voluptuous body and Cersei made obscene hot noises drinking down her gushes of hot cum. The excess soaking Cersei’s face and running down her throat.

Obara was in heaven feeling each hard clench and jolt of her orgasm. That had been the start of their nightly marathon sex bout of giving and taking pleasure like only women can pleasure another woman. They took turns going down on each other devouring sopping wet pussy and making each other scream. In the middle they drank water and then tribbed with first Cersei on her back her legs spread and Obara straddling her wet quim with her drooling clam shell. One leg pressed on the sofa back and her other foot on the floor her knee jacked into the sofa.

She wildly humped her wife’s cunt their lips mashed and pulled as their lubricated cunts rubbed furiously. Obara could feel their pussies lubricating thickly smearing cum into each other’s quims.
Back and forth Obara jerked her hips and Cersei rotated up in perfect synch pulping their mounds into each other. Clits jacking over each other. The sudden rubbing of their clits scalding each woman with fucking bliss. They grunted and groaned deep in their chests as Obara pulled Cersei’s legs against her torso to anchor her humping. Her heavy tits whiplashed and flipped into each other with her hard humping.

Her body angled up Obara watched her wife instinctually swirl her hips to mash and jack their cunts into each other. Their lips mashed and stretched as they humped into each other. Their bodies undulating like snakes as they jammed runny cunnies hard into each other soaking the sofa beneath their striving pussies.

Cersei own smaller softer doves flipped up and back on her supine body and would then swirl with change of angles before again whipping up and down wildly. They had screamed so sweetly in mutual orgasms as cunts gushed and soaked its mate in hot snail snot. Both women breathing in ragged gulps while their bodies convulsed with body shaking spasms of pure fucking bliss. Cersei had sat up slowly and pushed Obara back onto her back and reversed the trib humping her twat down into Obara’s love aching cunt.

The groins, bellies and upper thighs soaked in cum and sweat. Their greasy cunts humped furiously in pure love. Their labia lips pulled and stretched. Their cunt lips and rigid clits slicing up and down wet grooves and into each other as shocking ecstasy filled their bodies. Cersei was spraying spittle with her wild humping through her gritted teeth. Cersei grunting like a sow in heat working her body forward and back riding her swollen cunt over Obara’s up humping mound.

Cersei’s sweat soaked hair plastered all over her face throat and upper chest. Her eyes wild with fuck hunger. Cersei had pulled Obara’s right folded leg up against her ribs and synched tight to her ribs as an anchor. The grip nailing Obara down so Cersei could wildly sweep her pussy up and down Obara’s swollen cum slime soaked vulva.

Cersei was jamming down so hard trying to pry her pussy deep into Obara’s vulva driving her insane with pleasure. Cersei head thrashed wildly sweat flinging freely. Her small tits whipping up and down and slapping so hard on her sweaty chest. Her thick crinkly dark brown teats so engorged. Her tits whipping up off her chest and slapping down hard. Cersei had at first hated her moderately sagging breast but Obara had convinced her sweet lover how she loved Cersei’s soft titties and pale stretch marks. She proved this by sucking them for hours and jerking Cersei off as she tried to suck her tits down her throat as she cummed so hard.

They again had simultaneous orgasms with much wailing and flipping bodies. Obara was in rapture feeling the two of them in perfect sync. Both women surging forward to grind exploding couchies into their mate to increase the friction and pressure on their mate’s exploding trim. Then Cersei got on the sofa beside Obara and urged her to mount Cersei in sixty-nine. Obara smiled. Even in top mode Cersei wanted to be on the bottom of a sixty-nine. She always wanted to feel Obara’s weight pressing her down onto the bed or now sofa.

They were now snuffling hard and hot eating each other out. Cersei gripped Obara’s ass to lift her head and drive her tongue hard and deep into Obara’s red wet open cunt. Her tongue probing so deep with strong strokes. Then Cersei glued her mouth to Obara’s love box and sucked in mouthfuls of cunt meat and nosily munched on the slimy fold before again tongue fucking. Then moving her head down to siphon in Obara’s clit hanging out its hood all engorged. Her hard harsh sucks shocking Obara with ecstasy.

Obara was sucking happily on Cersei’s clit. She would suck in all of all Cersei’s upper cunt meat and roll the sweet trim around in her mouth for lots of happy tongue slaps and rolling around on her tongue. Then she licked down the slimy trench sucking on slimy labia lips before hammering her own head to tongue fuck a wet love box.

They had been in sixty-nine for ten minutes with so much sweet pussy gobbling. Now Obara felt the tension again twisting so deep in her belly. She was harshly sucking on Cersei’s clit and stabbing it hard with her tongue and then harsh short sucking it back and forth but she had to cease. The pleasure Cersei was pummeling her with her talented mouth robbed Obara the ability to control her mouth. Obara rested her forehead on Cersei’s left inner thigh that was all sweaty and cum soaked.
Cersei had her hands clawed in Obara’s ass cheeks lifting her head high off the sofa her mouth glued to Obara’s fuck hole sucking hot and giving short hard jerks of her head to spear her tongue deep into her wife’s tight hot honey hole. Obara groaned hard feeling her twat grip Cersei’s long tongue fucking her so good. Cersei’s chin hammering her clit as her tongue fucked Obara. Cersei’s fingers roughly massaging Obara’s ample taunt ass cheeks. Her fingers sinking in deep and roughly jerking the firm ass cheeks.

“Oh shit!” Obara gasped feeling her face jam into Cersei’s leg. “Ooohhh ungg ungg … oh Cersei here it cums … oohhh ungg unngg yessss—OOOWWWWGGGGGGG! AAAWWOOOGGGGGGG! FFUUCCKKKKK! … hhngg hhngg oohhhs—shittttttt. Obara’s body flipped up and slapped down hard on Cersei’s supine body. Cersei loved it. Cersei now ran her hands up Obara’s sweat soaked body to press Obara’s flipping body down into hers. The fingers spread out to hold the voluptuous body of her woman tight to her body. Cersei had told Obara many times she loved feeling Obara’s tits mashed into her belly. Obara felt her cunt explode again and again tearing itself inside out with scalding bliss. “Mmnggmnnggiiiiiiiiieeeeee! Mmmnhhhiiieeee!” Obara shrieked as molten cum lava broiled her cunt in ecstasy.

When she finally recovered she bent her had back down and tried to suck Cersei’s clit down her throat. She was so soon rewarded with her divine ministrations on sweet swollen cunt meat. ”Nngemmnggggeee! Uunngggshhhiiieeee! Uunmmgghhhiiieeee! Cersei whinnd helplessly, straining and squirming as Obara tried to suck her clit down her throat. “Unhh . . . unh! Oh! Oh gods . . . anngghiieee!” Cersei cried out, her body coiling and erupting sharply in her wrenching orgasm. ”Ungghh! Oh! Oh goodddssdddmmmnnnn! Arruunnngggghhhnnnn! Aungghiieee!” she cried out, coming exuberantly, her beautiful face torn with ecstasy.

When Cersei had recovered partially, Obara sat up. It was time to take their fucking to the museum proper to initiate the second part of her plan to accomplish two more goals. She was working to get Cersei more comfortable with fucking in places other than what she considered safe sanctuaries like their home or officer’s sauna.

They had fucked behind the doors of the main curators. Now it was time to fuck in the open of the museum. She pulled up Cersei who was complaint all happy with her last orgasm. She pulled Cersei along behind her back down the hallway to the museum. Obara loving the look of Cersei with her hair and body soaked in sweat. The blonde beauty’s hair all disheveled and hanging limp with sweat or plastered to Cersei’s sweaty body.

“You are going to fuck me in the museum aren’t you?” There was humor in Cersei’s voice and not trepidation. Obara smiled great big at the tone. Yes! Cersei was loosening up!

“Yes. I want to fuck you off sitting on a display of something old and pretty. It’s hot to fuck in public places Cersei. Anyways the museum is shut down. It’s just us” she told Cersei though she knew that was not the truth. It was only a little lie that would help to free her sweet slut from her prudish past.

“Isn’t it time for the changing of the honor guard.” Cersei had as good an internal clock. It seemed Cersei was good at so many things now Obara thought. Obara turned to her sweetie.

“Pleaseeeeee Cersei. Let me suck you off and fuck you in the museum baby!”

Cersei smiled at her. “I can never deny you anything in the end my sweet.” Obara beamed. Cersei smiled at her with a smile so full of love it made Obara’s own heart go pitter-patter in her chest. Yes in the end she would open up Cersei’s world to all the pleasures that sex can give a woman. She had to just take it in stages to liberate her lover from her restrictive upbringing.
They reentered the museum. Two women covered in sweat and cum walking hand in hand. Cersei whipped Obara round and pulled her tight to her body and mated their bodies tight. Cersei’s small titties smothered by Obara’s full rounded tits. Their bodies finding the other’s groove between legs. Wet pussies mashed into hard thighs and compressed. They started to hump with hot fuck hunger. Their wet pussies easily gliding up and down sweaty and cum slicked legs. They worked their hips to grind sodden quims against legs gagging in helpless pleasure. Their green and dark brown eyes searching their mates. A hot throbbing current of love flowing between them.

Their mouths found each other opening immediately to let their tongues find each other. Their tongues wetly twining and slithering even before mouths found each other and mated tight. They stumbled around sweeping wet twats against hard muscled thighs as their breast mashed into each other with engorged teats poking and dragging over sweaty tits. Their sweaty bellies mated to slip and slide against each other’s sweaty stomachs. Their bodies undulating together in perfect sync.

They snogged deeply as their loud groans filled the room. Obara had her tongue deep in Cersei’s mouth. Their coiled tongues twined and flipping around in Cersei’s mouth. Obara chuffed at the sweet slippery sensations of their mated tongues wrestling. Then, suddenly, Cersei released her tongue and sucked her lips tight to Obara’s long tongue. Up and down Obara’s tongue Cersei sucked on her tongue. Cersei’s lips glued tight to Obara’s tongue as Cersei gave Obara’s tongue hot sucking head.

Obara squealed in raw aching pleasure that arched straight to her clit. The old saying was true. Kissing was upper persuasion to lower invasion. Obara groaned deep in her chest. Having her tongue sucked was a major turn on to the warrior. The soft squeeze of Cersei’s sensual lips going up and down her tongue was melting the Sand Snake’s fuck hole that drooled love snot over her shaved mound and now down her legs.

Cersei slow walked them to a pillar that had a case against it and raised her hands to Obara’s ribs and easily pulled her up to sit down on the thick glass top. Obara’s cum and sweaty ass streaking the glass. Cersei hooked her foot beneath a bench stool used by little kids to get elevation to see down into the case from the top. Cersei dragged it over to between Obara’s dangling legs.

Obara’s heart soared. She knew that Cersei knew the changing of the guard would be doing their walk through in roughly five minutes. Cersei got on her knees on the stool. She got her weight centered and lowered her body. Cersei no longer cared gripping Obara’s hips and bent down mashing her face deep into Obara’s wet engorged cunt. Cersei settled down on the bench leaning to mash her face harder and deeper into the muffin she was devouring. Obara’s head rocked back seeing her vulva swallow Cersei’s beautiful mouth and it bulged showing Cersei’s tongue raking up and down her gooey slit.

The MILF worked her mouth up and down Obara’s leaking clamshell. She raked her tongue along the length of Obara’s slit and at the top slapped and speared her love’s hard clit nubbin teased out its sheath. Cersei mashing her mouth in locking on the shiny morsel and sucking voraciously on the clit. Her deep throat love sucks filling Obara’s clit with hot friction making the daughter of Oberyn cry out in shocking pleasure. Cersei wiggled her head moaning drinking down her wife’s sweet creamy cum leaking out her wife’s cunt in a hot slow running river of sweet manna from the supposed gods.

Cersei rocked her head tongue raking the engorged clit and pumping her head as she gave it long ragged deep throat sucks filling the clit in her mouth with hot friction and suction. The motion of the blond woman’s head pumping in and out stretched and tented the slimy wet cunt meat sucked deep into her mouth. The trim all wet and glistening with fuck juice. Now Cersei worked her head in a tight circle letting her tongue rake over Obara’s hot hard clit.
She slowly wormed two of her long fingers into Obara’s hot tight cunt. The long digits working through the inner folds and whorls. Cersei moaned feeling the slippery tight heat on her fingers and Obara’s cum slavering her fingers and now running down her wrist soaking it. She pumped Obara’s fuck hole hard and deep for a few delicious minutes. Then Cersei worked in a third finger into Obara’s cunt pumping in hard and fast. Then on the back stroke slow and sensual before slamming in hard and deep. The rhythm repeated over and over. Cersei moaned so hard feeling the heat and tightness of Obara’s juicy quim.

Cersei was so lost she did not see or hear the change of the guard. She was devouring Obara’s couchie with total focus her vision on Obara’s cunt and belly. Then she let her eyes travel. She glanced up seeing not only Obara’s sweat dripping face that slashed with ecstasy but three other young women. Cersei was not frightened but was still startled her face rising up several inches above Obara’s open red slit. Cersei’s face soaked in Obara’s snail snot and running down Cersei’s throat. Two were identical sisters that were about to graduate the Academy proper but would be coming back for advance officer training having proved their mettle for higher command.

They were Ellisha and Clarysse Ashford of the House Manwoody with its standard of a skull with a gold crown on a black background. They were short and drop dead gorgeous with full bosom and wide hips and strong legs and shoulders. Their jet black hair down to the middle of their ears. Cersei eyed them. A soft slutty smile came over Cersei face making Obara’s soul soar.

First Cersei removed her fingers from Obara’s tight greasy fuck hole and feed them to Obara who moaned hard sucking on the long digits. The cadets gasped at the hot show. Cersei now lowered her mouth and latched onto Obara’s cunt hole and sucked a mouthful of sweet cunt meat and happily munched away slithering her tongue deep into paradise.

The three teenagers watching were visibly turned on by Cersei’s slutty performance. Their eyes glittering watching the blonde beauty bury her face in pussy and happily munch away making obscene wet snuffling and sucking noises. Obara smiled around Cersei’s fingers she slowly cleaned of her own sweet fuck juice.

Cersei was being watched by women she only knew casually. Cersei hummed as she pumped her head stretching out Obara’s sweet pussy and then jerked her head back. Obara’s cunt meat snapped out her mouth and whiplashed back down to her mound. Obara shrieked out her pleasure. Cersei chased the sodden trim and sucked it in again rotating her head before jerking her head back snapping out the stretched cum soaked cunt meat out her mouth. Cersei chasing her sweet meal and burying her face in Obara’s cunt to suck in the sweet slimy clit and slit lips to munch and then snap out her mouth.

Obara crying out in helpless pleasure hard jolts rocking her sweet brown voluptuous body. Then Cersei stopped snapping Obara’s pussy out her lips and went back to only tenting up Obara’s cum soaked cunt meat for all to see. Obara looked at her slut Cersei and the cadets staring intently at the obscene show Cersei was deliberately giving them. Cersei rotating her head to pull and stretch out Obara’s juicy quim.

Cersei was putting on a hot slutty show for her small audience. An audience staring with hot lustful eyes and elevated breathing.

Now, Cersei went back to jacking Obara’s cunt out her hot sucking mouth. Cersei again jerked her head up higher and jacked Obara’s cunt meat out through hers lips. Obara’s sodden trim whiplashed back down into her vulva. Obara shrieked in raw pleasure. “Hhrrssllpp ssluurrrpppp hrrrruuupppp ssuurrlIlpppp hhrrsslllppp!” Cersei made obscene sucking noises sucking Obara’s cunt meat and clit back into her mouth. She resumed up jerking her head to stretch out the labia lips and clitoral hood.
in her hot sucking mouth. Cersei tormenting the sweet clamshell meat with repeated back jerks of her head tenting out Obara’s soaked red cunt meat. Only then jerking her head back to snap out her mouth the sodden cunt lips and shiny clit. Her head chasing the sweet cunt meat down and again siphoning back into her mouth.

Through her delirium of pleasure Obara, she knew Cersei was putting on a show for the three teenagers. This new willingness to be an exhibitionist by Cersei made Obara’s heart soar. Cersei was sheading her prudish ways!

Cersei now went to licking Obara’s clit. The former Queen lifting her head to let her audience observe her long tongue sliding over and flicking the shiny clit sucked out its sheath. Then lowering her head to suck in all of Obara’s upper pussy into her mouth and sucking with wet slobbery sucks. Her cheeks showing her tongue giggling and polishing the raspberry sized clit she rolled around in her mouth. Then lifting her head again enough to let her audience and Obara see her tongue lashing and licking down hard up and over Obara’s wet jutting up shiny clit.

Cersei slowly wormed three fingers into Obara’s pussy and started a slow sensual love stroke that had Obara’s body hitching and jolting with ecstasy. Cersei slowly picked up her rhythm with her fingers and the viciousness of her intense love sucks on Obara’s clit. Cersei made sure to angle her body for the next several minutes so the three girls could easily watch her fuck Obara.

Cersei sucked feverishly on the hard nubbin that was in her mouth. Her cheeks hollowing out with deep throat love sucks. The three teenagers smiled down at Cersei as she now slam fucked Obara’s cunt that slurped and squelched with the piston strokes of Cersei’s fingers plunging into Obara’s cunt hard and deep. They watched as Cersei lifted her head and flat licked her tongue over Obara’s rigid clit.

“Oh Cersei—yyessssss suck me baby suck me in front of these sweet young lasses. Show them what a slut you are. Unnggggg uuummmmm uunngggggeeegeee!” Obara cried out with Cersei now hammering her head in and out spearing her tongue hard against her throbbing clit. Cersei reached up with her left hand to press her index and middle finger into Obara’s vulva on each side of Obara’s clit. Cersei pulled her fingers out pulling all the folds down and away from Obara’s clit totally exposing it. Cersei now inhaled Obara’s clit into her mouth and sucked with voracious deep throat love sucks.

Cersei glanced around looking for the identical twins’ protégé. She smiled into the cunt she was eating seeing Kiyara Taler move in closer to watch Cersei devouring Obara’s drooling clamshell The girl she had saved from her tormentor five months ago on the steps leading up to the balcony of the commandant’s quarters.

Cersei could see she had lost weight and toned up considerably. She looked ravishing and now stood tall and confident and no longer looked meek. Cersei was very happy to see that.

Ellisha spoke “I see your wife is finally loosening up Obara.” She chuckled. “My sister and I are going back to our holdfast to spend a few months with our parents and family. Then we will sail to Braavos and see the Titan and explore the old Free City. There we will honeymoon and have a ceremony with the Priestesses of the Moon Goddess and bind our souls together sister to sister and wife to wife. We will be back for the Summer session to start our post graduate studies.”

“We will be in your bed Obara. You said we would. We long to fuck you and Cersei through the long night and into the morning on our day of rest. Kiyara longs to give Cersei her virginity. Please do not make us wait anymore.”

Obara was looking down at Cersei as she continued to attack her pussy. Now Cersei was hammering her head up and down spearing her rigid throbbing clit. Then Cersei slowed and sucked in Obara’s clit with harsh fast sucks and her head bobbing fast and furious licking her wife’s now diamond hard clit. She had slipped in her little finger to really stretch out Obara’s cunt. Her wedge fuck now slamming fast and furious into the soupy cauldron of Obara’s festering twat. Her hand a hard piston mashing and compressing Obara’s vulva with each had strike of Cersei’s wedge into Obara’s cunt.

Obara gritted her teeth as raw pressure built in her womb and cunny. Her many previous orgasms had taken any edge off and her pussy was only now starting to spasm and clench as the beginnings of a soul crushing orgasm formed deep in her belly. She struggled to hold off her orgasm to enjoy the sweet pleasure Cersei filled her body with. She also was holding off her orgasm to let the three teenage sluts enjoy Cersei’s show and to help them seduce Cersei into fucking the new recruits.

Cersei looked up at the four women staring down at her. It was obvious that the audience was inspiring Cersei while she rammed her wedged in hard and deep into Obara’s drooling clamshell while her mouth sucked like a lamprey on Obara’s clit and upper cunt. Then Cersei went for the love kill.

She flipped her hand over in Obara’s fuck hole to face up slipping out her little finger. With her three fingertips facing up and rammed buried in Obara’s snatch Cersei flexed and jacked them up into Obara’s g-spot with her calloused fingertips. She rubbed it furiously while sucking Obara’s clit deep into her mouth with vacuum love sucks and a hard gigging tongue.

Clarysse spoke to Kiyars “You see that Kiyara she is raking Obara’s g-spot. That spongy hillock we told you about that we will harpoon fuck when Cersei busts your cherry. We will fuck you so good after the Lioness has devoured you to her heart’s content. She will bust your cherry and then take your shithole with her dick and fist. You will be hers first and then ours.”

Kiyars whimpered looking down at the woman she idolized and thanked in her prayers for coming to her aid and installing the confidence in her that she had sadly lacked before. She longed to give Cersei all her fuck holes. To let Cersei make her a woman. The sisters holding off on her deflowering to offer this sweet gift to the Lioness of Dorne. They knew this would engender Cersei to them and allow them access to her sweet hot body for endless nights of sweet debauchery.

“Uunngg mmnnngg oh ssshhiittt ungg!” Obara’s voice scaled up to a shriek of agonized ecstasy. “AARRUUUNNGGGGGGGG! AAWWOOOGOGGGG! Mnnnggiieeee! Unngghh! Ohnggg! Ummgnggngmnniiieeee!” Obara wailed screaming into the museum her body surging and flipping, shocked by fierce seizures of ecstasy. Her back lurched forward and slapped back again and again into the pillar her heavy tits whiplashing up and down slapping her sweaty chest. Her ass squirming on the glass as her heels came to rest on Cersei’s lower back kicking with short jerks of her legs.

Cersei relished the pain knowing it was caused by her giving her sweet wife such searing ecstasy. Clarysse spoke to her protégé again “Kiyara, look at Cersei’s little finger jerking so hard—she still’s raking Obara’s g-spot. See Cersei’s head lifting … the force of her deep throat love sucks on Obara’s diamond hard clit sucked deep into her mouth. She is striving to make Obara cum ag—”

Obara’s face seemed to crumple in on itself and her mouth opened wide to scream the purest ecstasy that only a woman can give another woman “FFFFUUUCCKKKKKKKK! OOOOWOOGGGG! OWWWNNNGGGGGGGG!” her body flipped wildly and jackknifed so hard making her heavy tits flip up off her chest and slap down again and again as pulverizing ecstasy hammered her voluptuous body. “hhnnn hhnnngg hhnnng Unngghhiieeewwwnngg! Unngghhiieeewwwnngg! Mnnmgghghhiieeee! Unngghh!” Obara moaned, twisting violently.

Finally, her orgasm began to wane leaving a stunned and drooling sand snake dripping sweat off her beautiful body and her lower belly down to her knees soaked in her sweet slimy cum. Cersei released her love suck on Obara’s clit and now gently lathed swollen cunny and spent clit gently. She looked up at the visitors. She hummed and moaned licking up the thick dollops of cum oozing out Obara’s slack cunt hole all wet and distended from its hard orgasm.

Then Cersei lifted her head a little further. She made direct eye contact with Kiyara. “I will be waiting for your return to me Kiyara. I will take your cherry and bust you ass wide open. You will suck your ass off my dick and love it my sweet slut. Then you will suck me off again and again. You will fuck me bowlegged with your strap-on dick in all my holes. You will finish me off late into the night by ramming your fist up my ass to the elbow as I scream myself hoarse with the scalding orgasms you give me. I will relish you smearing my shit juice all over my face and then licking it off with your sweet long tongue.” The sweet teenager nearly swooned and had to be supported by the sisters.

Obara smiled great big. Her Cersei was awesome. What a beautiful soliloquy! Kiyara would be counting the minutes till her deflowering and the sweet fucks that would follow! Over many nights!

“Come on Kiyara. We need to get on duty station. When we return from our honeymoon we will take you to Cersei and Obara for your deflowering. Then you will move in with us and we will further your education in lovemaking and leadership. We will fuck you within an inch of your life every night as you will help each of us make the other scream and cum all night long.”

“Then on the next break at the Academy we will travel to Braavos and there we will marry you.” Kiyara moaned with a beatific smile on her face.

They guided the love struck freshman teenager out of the museum to take up their stations. Obara was not worried about their future coming true. Cersei’s words said it all. Cersei always kept her word. If she had not wanted to participate in the promised debauchery she would have said it. Cersei was still blunt in her opinions and desires. Fortunately, for Obara, Cersei’s burning desire was Obara and then achieving her dream of taking up the sword. Obara lazily smiled down at Cersei who was still tonguing her spent cunt and licking up sweet cum off her belly and inner thighs.

After a few minutes, Obara felt recovered enough that her legs could support her weight. She slide off the case and helped her sweet lioness get up on the sweat and cum slicked glass and settle back. She then spent ten minutes devouring her wife’s sweet hot plump camel toe. She focused all her oral and digital skills on her wife’s twat taking her to the edge of paradise several times and then backing off to torment her sweet lioness. Obara needed to give as good as she received.

Now she was deep throat sucking Cersei’s clt with her rocking head. This allowed her to tongue lash the diamond hard pea sized clt. Her two fingers twisting as she slammed them home into the burbling sloshing cauldron that was Cersei’s splattering twat. She loved the feel of Cersei’s cunt gripping her pumping fingers but now they were clenching her fingers in a wet slimy velvet glove that spasmed violently with hot wet squeezes.

Cersei’s screams filled the museum echoing off the walls and reverberating to join the new wails of screaming bliss ripped from the former Lannister’s throat. Cersei convulsed and flipped wildly as horrific spasms ripped through her lovely beautiful body. Obara sensed another orgasm was on the edge of blossoming. She released her love suck on Cersei’s clt and wrapped her left arm around Cersei’s thigh and pelvis.

She timed it perfectly and started to rub Cersei’s clt hard and fast and angled the fingers of her right hand to hit the spongy hillock that was the paradise of a woman’s g-spot. She loved the feel of the raspy hillock harpooned by her slamming fingers compressing and mashing into the spongy nerve bundle. Cersei simply exploded. Her screams so loud and sweet. Her body bucked and jolted and then went rigid her legs shooting straight out and spasming stiff. Her arms spread eagled with her fingers clawed. Loud shrieks of soul crushing ecstasy peeled in the enclosed walls. Cersei screamed full throated screams of scorching bliss as her body convulsed with full body spasms of searing bliss.

Her screams made Cersei’s voice raw and hoarse. Now her throat whimpered out helpless whinnies and caws as her throat cored up tight the tendons standing out so rigid and stiff threatening to snap apart in her throat. Her eyes were wide open but unseeing as drool ran down her chin and cheeks and hard convulsions ripped through her now rigid stiff body making her legs kick up in helpless spasms of fucking bliss. Her stomach cored up to rippled muscles that flexed and contracted with each hard seizure of fierce cumming. Obara kept rubbing Cersei’s clit and g-spot furiously prolonging Cersei’s orgasms.

Finally, Cersei gripped Obara’s hands and stilled them pushing them back. Obara smiled. Her woman was spent. Her cunt worn out. She felt so full of pride and love for her woman. She jumped up on the case plopping down on her ass beside her sweet wife. Cersei was still hitching hard with aftershocks and gently weeping tears running down her cheeks.

Obara pulled Cersei to her voluptuous body and cooed to Cersei as her body hitched and jacked with hard aftershocks for a full minute as she cried. Obara relished the feel of Cersei’s sweaty body pressed against hers and the hard hitches rocking Cersei’s lithesome frame. “I love you Obara. Gods I love you with my whole heart. Always love me baby. I’ll die without you.”

“You have me now and forever my sweet warrior. My body and soul are yours. We may share passion and pleasure with others but only with each other will we love with both body and soul. You are mine Cersei. Period.”

Cersei wiggled and cooed snuggling into her lover and dozed off for a few minutes murmuring “I love you” softly at random times that made Obara smile.

Obara enjoyed the snuggle time but after five minutes she wanted to try and get Cersei to see sense. She slowly pulled away from Cersei who frowned and mewled softly and clutched Obara to her. Cersei was now as strong as ten men it felt like with her iron grip but she let Obara escape her grasp as she whined. She never used her strength against Obara. Only using enough strength to give Obara the hard loving sex she craved and to pick up Obara and carry her to bed often when she was desperate to fuck her sweet sand snake which fortunately was most of the time.

She pulled a grouching drowsy Cersei off the display case of rare coins and pulled her along behind her to the stand that had the Sword of Morning. The sword’s brilliant sharp edge visible even in the dim light of the wicked back lanterns hanging from hooks on the pillars.

They both spent a minute looking at the famous sword of the House of Dayne. “Take it Cersei. Take the sword it is yours. My father has told me the prophecy of the “Lion” who will come to lay claim to the sword of House Dayne. Take it.”

Cersei looked at the sword and then at her wife. She started laughing. Laughing really hard.

That was not what Obara was looking for. She fumed at her wife not taking her entreaty seriously.

“I’m serious Cersei! You are the one.”

Cersei laughed for another minute folding over before she finally got a grip on herself. “Obara. You faith in me is heartwarming and I will fuck you again because of it but pleaseeee … I’m no warrior of prophecy … hell I haven’t touched a real fucking sword yet. Myrion says it is not time yet.”
“Fuck him. My father says you already have the knowledge in you. Take it.”

“Obara, I am not going to toast my hand. I like having two hands. We all know what will happen if I touch that sword. I don’t really have any desire for it. I just want to be a warrior and be your wife. That is enough for me.”

“A most wise answer Cersei Lannister or is Cersei Sand Snake.” A high scaled voice called out from the inky shadows of the museum. A voice on the far side of the circular museum.

Cersei whipped around gripping Obara and putting her wife behind her. Obara tried to get beside her but her grip on her arm easily controlled her.

“Let me beside you damnit!”

“Behind me Obara” Cersei barked. She would protect her wife at all cost.

Obara started to fume. Gods she hated Cersei when she used her strength against her and put herself in danger to protect her. She was a Sand Snake!

A young man with curly hair appeared from the shadows. He was tall and slender and had grey eyes that seemed to be mocking them though his demeanor was easy going and non-threatening.

“Who are you?” Cersei snarled on the balls of her feet. Obara was worried they had no weapons! She heard a low barking murmuring in the shadows. How had he gotten in here through the guard out front? How had he gotten dogs past the guards too!

“I am the door. The portal, the key but also the lock.” The late teenager by his appearance answered enigmatically. He walked forward with an easy grace. He was dressed in a simple blouse top and trousers belted with a thin leather belt. His feet were unshod.

“Cut the shit! How in the hell did you get in here! Answer me!” Cersei snarled her body tense. She was ready to take her full might to this stranger intruder. The boy looked at them with pure insolence. “Don’t force me to beat the living shit out of you!” Cersei snarled at the curly headed youth.

“You could try” the youth sighed. “Such manners. So be it. I am Amok.”

“You are not of Dorne” Obara called out. He was pale and had curly light brown hair that was not of Dorne heritage.

“I have no lineage Obara Sand. I was created again long ago to be the Door and at the same time the Lock. I have wondered the world since. I am the door to the Earthroots but I am aware of many other doors now. Doors I cannot close but can warn of. Earthpower is dying in this world. Without it other doors are opening. In the high mountains of the deserts of Dorne the Ichor of Faery is once more in phase with the world.”

“That is only a legend” Obara called out to the youth.

He cocked an eyebrow. Before their eyes what had been a young slender man suddenly morphed into an eight foot tall monstrosity. It had six feet and seemed to be nothing but a head with a large mouth that was circular. The body six feet in height and its six legs only two feet long. The mouth filled the body and had eyes blinking around the edge of the edge of the mouth and the outer limit of the body. It had razor sharp teeth pointing inward that oozed a green ichor. The foul creature had arms protruding out its body all around the circumference the size of a boys arm. The hands gasping and constantly jerking towards the horrible mouth.
The beast suddenly started to run forward.

Cersei released Obara and stepped forward as Obara started to run up beside her wife to help her fight. The beast rushed forward screaming a dreadful scream of rage and hunger. The beast was upon them in an instant and both women braced for impact.

But none came and behind them they heard scornful laughing. The two women whipped around. How had this Amok gotten behind them? He moved like lightening. Their heads looked all around. Obara grasped that Amok had again transformed himself. No longer was there a monster in the museum. Had it ever been there? How had Amok changed himself into that monster and back so quickly and easily? Obara thought wildly. What was this Amok?

The youth cocked his head. “Let me explain. Jinn have drunk from the Ichor. I have just shown you one manifestation of one such change. They have corrupted themselves. The door is open and can never be fully closed again. When Earthpower is restored by the Dragon, Direwolf and the Scribe it can be controlled but never closed again.”

“I have come to prepare the Lion for her coming travails. I have spoken to the Lord of Revelstone. She was most cross I fear but I made her see sense. She will soon talk to the Direwolf of Winterfell to prepare him.”

Cersei snorted and then chortled “I keep telling Obara and Oberyn I am not this Lion. I am a Lioness if anything. Wrong sex buddy.”

“So wise and humble. In most realities you never find yourself. You die alone and unremarked. Your death is celebrated.”

Cersei blanched. Obara launched herself at the youth for attacking her sweet wife! “Fuck you!”

She somehow missed the youth and went stumbling past him.

He sighed again. “I said most realities. Not this one. She is alive and well Sand Snake.”

Obara moved back to Cersei. Both women regarded him coolly shoulder to shoulder.

“I come to prepare not to lock.”

The murmuring that Obara had heard suddenly became loud raucous barking. She tensed as did Cersei. Strange beings stepped out from the shadows. They were about the height of a small man with long arms and legs that would allow these creatures to run on all fours if they desired. They had midnight black skin. They had heads but with no eyes and their triangular ears were on top of their heads. They had slits for mouths and razor sharp short teeth. Their faces filled with large fleshy nostrils that breathed wetly and seemed to shift and sniff the very air for information.

“These are the Ur-viles of Valyria. They have come to make atonement for past crimes. They seek restitution from the Wraiths of Andelain. Together they will do a deed for you Cersei Sand.”

There was one creature taller than the rest and it had a stave in one hand that glowed red hot on one end. There was at least thirty more of the beasts behind it all bunched tight behind their leader in a wedge formation. These creatures also had staves but they glowed with no manifestation of power. They were trembling and nervously moving their heads around smelling around. The two women understanding that these creatures ‘saw’ with their sense of smell.

Obara started to hear clear pure chimes of the most beautiful music she had ever heard. The music put her at ease. She and Cersei gasped at the same time. From the ventilation slats at the top of the museum and the open windows small flame creatures the size of the palm of her hand came into the museum swaying yellow and orange with beautiful hints of red and blue glimmering from within their depths. Their soft light filling the museum with a warm glow that made the face smile and the body feel alive and gay. The lights kept streaming in. They seemed to waver and shiver with unseen delight. The flames moving in graceful movements that made the soul exhale in happiness and comfort.

The Ur-viles as one fell to their knees and barked loudly in raucous discord. They seemed to be wailing.

“What are they doing?” Cersei shouted to the youth

“They are begging for forgiveness for their Discretion of the Dance of the Wraiths of Andelain on the dark of the moon on the middle night of spring. It is a sad tale. Once the Wraiths had started their dance they could not stop till it was done,”

As Amok spoke these Wraiths continued to flit into the museum through the open apertures. More and more of these Wraiths continued to come in through the windows and vents in streams. The golden lights floated and bobbed around in the air all around the museum. The lights everywhere now. The museum took on a glowing ambience. The warm yellow glow with reddish highlights filled the large circular expanse.

The youth continued his narration “The Ur-viles attacked them then killing and eating many. Many were slaughtered. Many survived but their numbers were ghastly diminished. Their numbers were only restored when Thomas Covenant and Linden Avery fed them from their White Gold rings. New Wraiths were born where none should have been able.”

The Ur-viles were trembling wildly. The wraiths started to form rings that pulsed around the museum. Obara watched the rings started to rotate slowly. The rings rotated with seeming random dipping and rising. To the observer the rings seeming independent of each other and yet they morphed and flowed among each other in patterns that combined and phased through each other.

The circles were random and yet just beyond the edge of consciousness the two women knew there was a sublime pattern being performed before them. They were witnessing the perfection of nature before their very eyes. The circles moving at various speeds and some cantered at angles off horizontal. The rings concentric and evolving as the wraiths moved from circle to circle when near each other without ever breaking the perfect harmony of their dance. A wheel dipped down and started to touch the Ur-viles as they wailed in happiness at being forgiven.

The flames traveling from Ur-vile to Ur-vile almost like a kiss. The Ur-viles wailing. The Wraiths without fear dancing all over each Ur-vile showing no fear of being attacked and consumed. The Ur-viles somehow seemed reverent to Obara in their quivering bodies.

Obara saw it first. Three circles titled at different angles had started to dance over and across the Sword of Morning making it start to glow and pulse like the Star from which it was named. The wheels changed angles and now they touched Cersei too. More and more these Wraiths entered the museum till it seemed the air was alive with them. The new Wraiths of Andelain either joining existing rings seamlessly or forming up new rings to join the rotating dances occurring in the museum.

Minute after minute the dance continued on in its infinite beauty.

Cersei was now covered in the tinkling flames her face filled with wonder as the Wraiths danced all over her body. A few parted from Cersei and danced on Obara’s midnight hair. The Ur-viles rose as one and the lead one took its stave and gripped it in the middle touched the butt of the stave to the Sword of Dayne and the red hot tip it placed on Cersei’s forehead. Cersei was not afraid mesmerized by this strange dance and display of atonement.

She did not flinch and was not hurt. For the next five minutes no one moved as more circles were formed and danced in patterns that remained just beyond comprehension. The circles spinning around the large circular room always changing size, angle and speed. Interlocking and interflowing and always in motion with pure melodic harmony filling the room.

Wraiths dancing along the Stave of the Ur-vile linking the Sword of Dayne to the woman from Casterly Rock.

Then the Wraiths started to waft back out the openings they had arrived in.

Amok watched the proceedings without any hint of sarcasm on his face. Even he seemed enthralled by what he was seeing. Finally, the youth spoke up. “I am the door. I have allowed the Wraiths of Andelain to travel from Andelain to Westeros. They are returning to their home in that hallowed land. Feel privileged Obara and Cersei Sand Snake. You have seen the Dance of the Wraiths of Andelain on the middle night of spring on the dark of the moon.”

“But it is not that time” Obara answered.

The youth smiled. “I am the door. I can open it to any time I choose. Much as the Ranyhyn can. For the first time in over fifty thousand years the dance has been performed. Much was healed this night.”

He smiled at them with his first true genuine smile. “Let the sword cure Cersei. Obara be true and be by her side in her travails. You two have much to fight and contest with.”

The two naked women hugged each other.

Amok looked at them. He was unfazed by their nudity. Such things meant nothing to Amok. “One last thing. You will need an ally. Find the Direwolf that has no pack. She will aid you. She has been alone long enough. She will join a pack at last. She will fight it but your love will guide her. She has grown mighty. It is time for her exile to end.”

With that the youth backed up into the shadows followed by the Ur-viles. The Wraiths were gone. Soon the shadows were their only companions.

They both turned to look at the sword of Dayne. Obara felt vindicated. Soon her wife would be the one prophesized.

Cersei hugged her tightly. She seemed unfazed by what she had seen or been told. Obara loved how grounded her wife had become.

“I wonder what your little brother would think of this. You know how he has been betting against you since you arrived in Dorne Cersei.”

Cersei turned to look at her. An evil glint came to her eyes. “Yes. I think it is time I exacted my righteous revenge.”

Tyrion
Tyrion tapped the blotter on his desk in his quarters of the Hand in the Tower of the Hand. He looked around at the ornate furniture and thought again of his good fortune.

He could not believe how well he was doing in this life. He was honored and respected (well mostly). He had power and was a valuable tool for the Great Breaker of Chains.

He was the Hand. It still surprised him sometimes to find himself in that post. He was truly humbled to be chosen by Dany to fill that august post. He looked down at the pin on his chest and his little chest swelled with pride. He was arguably the most powerful person in the realm second only to the Queen herself.

All respected him. Then a sour look came over his face. Memories came to him that cast dross on his happy thoughts. Some persons seemed to fail to recognize his greatness!

Yesterday morning he had spotted Lady Alysanne Bulwer and Lady Alyce Graceford rushing by him in great haste in the Red Keep. They seemed almost breathless as they hurried by holding hands with interlocked fingers like lovers do. He smiled. The Queen had made them feel safe with her decrees that all were to respect their rights to live as they saw fit. They never harmed anyone and were always pleasant.

Olenna made sure that they were protected and safe. Still, Tyrion thought it was his duty to make sure that these virtuous women were protected. He walked behind them at a safe distance to spy—he meant watch over them keeping them safe. They walked on giggling and swinging their arms in sync gaily. They were soon outside in the courtyard. He followed at safe distance guarding them. It was a dangerous task he knew but he was indeed a valiant knight Tyrion thought with an evil glint in his eyes. If he got his rocks off too it was wages for his noble services.

He soon saw that their destination was the Godswood. That was strange. They would be followers of the seven faced god. They entered into it giggling still. Kings Landing was populated with persons who worshiped the new gods and not the old golds of the First People.

He milled around the entrance to the Godswood. It was more of a park really without even a Weirwood in its environs Tyrion thought to himself. He looked around but saw no one else even approaching the stand of trees. He paced back and forth for several minutes to protect the lovely young lasses. And to give them time he thought with a lascivious glint to his eye.

Lady Alysanna had long straight blond hair and a medium build with nice high firm breasts. Her ass filling out any dress she wore. She had deep blue eyes and a heart shaped face made for kisses.

Lady Alyce was also of medium build but had curly brown hair and small breast and slender hips. She was litesome and had deep brown eyes like many in the land of Hightower had. She was always giggling and her large eyes made one think of innocence. The sparrows reported she was ravenous for pussy and loved to be in DP and TP fucks with lots of ATM and A2P. What a sweet depraved slut—I mean sweet princess Tyrion thought.

Looks could be most deceiving. Damnit he was still waiting to see those hens use those strap-ons on each other. It was must unfair. Gods that must be so hot seeing those sand and wood filled leather cocks slamming hard and deep up into tight teenage pussy and ass.

Tyrion was having to walk stiff legged with his raging boner. Time for some nice voyeur debauchery Tyrion deduced. He walked into the Godswood slowly looking around the bends of the paths that were in the little park. The low shrubs lining the paths were of perfect height for his stature. His head came up to just the top of the hedges. He was of perfect height to do his sleuthing undetected. Protecting fair maidens was dangerous work he reasoned.
Sometimes it paid to be a dwarf.

He was getting close to the pot of gold. He could now hear the sounds of sweet nubile female flesh partaking of Sapphic delights. Low groans and whimpers of raw pleasure were now sighing across the leaves of the trees and shrubs. Tyron stealthily approached closer to the damsels. Their vocalizations clearly told the intrepid dwarf they were in distress. He would guard them as they fornicated so sweetly.

He first looked all around again. For the life of him, Tyrion could not figure out how Olenna kept such close tabs on him. The woman had a hellish sixth sense when it came to robbing Tyrion of his just right of getting his rocks off! It infuriated him and inspired him to keep on trying to spy on the hens and have his damn hen party damnit!

His neck was getting a kink in it with his constant turning of his head attempting to find that damn old coot Olenna. He seemed to be safe though as he thoroughly examined his surroundings. He saw no signs of his infernal nemesis. He would start to look at the hens but again turn his head again to check his environs but the dastardly Olenna was nowhere to be seen. He finally determined all was safe.

He stuck his head around the next bend of the path. His face just visible past the hedge of azaleas. His stealth had been reward! There before him was sweet lesbian debauchery.

He saw Lady Alyce with her back to a maple tree. She was nude as was the sweet Lady Alysanna. They had both shucked off their dresses like snakes molting their skin. The Lady Alysanna was on her knees which rested on the cast off dresses. She was leaned in and her head tilted back as she mashed her sweet angelic face into Lady Alyce muff. The Lady Alysanna had her face buried deep in Lady Alyce’s camel toe her head rocking as she lashed the seventeen year old’s slit and clit.

Lady Alyce sweet innocent face was slashed with shocking pleasure as her sweet voice cried out in half strangled cries of ecstasy. Her hands were clawed into Lady’s Alysanna’s flowing gold locks grinding her lover’s face even deeper and harder into her love aching muffin. Lady Alysanna latched onto Lady Alyce’s clit like a famished Lamprey and sucked with long hungry deep throat love sucks. Her dimpled cheeks showed her voracious sucks and her tongue gigging the sweet lass’s shiny clit.

Lady Alyce was rotating her cunt hungrily up into the blond haired goddesses face driving it back with the force of her humping. The brunette’s head began to jerk from side to side as she chuffed out and groaned deep in her chest. Her face filmed with perspiration that was beginning to bead and run down her face. Her face seemed to freeze up with agony and then she was screaming now not caring who heard as her body convulsed and thrashed as a lovely orgasm destroyed her sweet teenage body. Tyrion could see excess slimy cum running down the Lady Alysanna’s cheeks and throat.

Tyrion was just getting into it. He reached for the strings to his trousers.

Suddenly, his head was twisted down as his ear was pinched and twisted. “Oooowwww … aaaiiiiiii let go let go—eeeiiiiii” Tyrion bleated as he was pulled back around the edge of the shrub.

NO! Tyrion whined to himself. How? How? His mind screamed at him. Again Olenna had appeared from seemingly nowhere to deprive him of his rightful viewing of sweet lesbian debauchery. Worse, she was currently again filling his mighty august personage with pain! Damn the damn woman. Olenna was small and yet had the fucking strength of a warrior. A warrior now trying to twist his fucking ear off!
He suspicions were confirmed as to who his tormentor was seeing her small dainty shoes. He tried to stomp on said feet. The woman was too quick for him. “Damnit Olenna—owwwwwww let go damnit.” He was jerked back up the path his head kept down by Olenna’s constant jerks on his ear.

His head twisted down by Olenna’s painful grip on his ear allowed Tyrion to see the two nubile lasses. They stared at him with humor in their eyes. They both waved to him as he was jerked cruelly back down the path. Fucking bitches! They should be coming to his aid! He was the Hand of the Queen godsdamnit! They should throw down their lives for his sake. Like he would for theirs … that stopped that line of reasoning. Let’s not get carried away here Tyrion thought through his agony and distress.

“Damnit Olenna I was guarding the sweet innocents from being spied upon.”

The elder woman of the House of Tyrell snorted. “Only you could say something like that Tyrion and have it sound almost reasonable.”

She pulled him up the path further keeping him back so his kicks and swatting hands missed their mark. Tyrion was angry and confused how a woman more than four decades older than himself could be so fucking strong and quick footed. Her jerks on his ear felt like she would tear his ear off! Her feet moved like weasels they were so fast avoiding his desperate foot stomps.

Finally she released him. “You are a pervert you know.”

Tyrion glared up at Olenna. “Are you shitting me Olenna?! Tyrion snarled at his nemesis. He rubbed his ear that felt like it might fall off. Damn the witch for her cruelty to an innocent dwarf! Tyrion stormed to himself. Verbally he spat at his nemesis “This coming from the woman who is boffing two sweet teenagers herself every night. You have moved them into your bed Olenna and that is not counting the other stable hands, cooks, maids, seamstresses, garden hands, wash hands, and need I go. If it walks and is female you are trying to get your beak and claw into these lasses. Hell, who aren’t you fucking? And you are still boffing the occasional male I might add.”

Tyrion was exaggerating but who cared when you were at war with your only true equal.

Olenna in her turn glared down at the dwarf. “You know you can’t stop exaggerating can you Tyrion. First it was about the size of your cock. Then the lie about actually pleasuring a woman and lastly that you are my equal. Ha!”

Tyrion flipped off the old coot. He mumbled under his breath that Olenna would get hers.

“What was that Tyrion? I will have you know my hearing is quite good.”

Tyrion had to agree. Olenna’s hearing, vision and reactions had gotten markedly better of late. What the hell was she eating! He meant beside pussy and cock. Whatever it was it was doing wonders for the old bat.

“And I will have you know Tyrion that the parents of Jasline and Nathaley were more than happy to have their daughters move in with me after I gave them each a rather large dowry. I brought all their clothes and things they had from their childhood into my suite. They are most appreciative of my largess. They fuck me throughout the night. I am glad I am now fucking women. They have the stamina to keep up with me. I feel revitalized

Tyrion noted that Olenna was indeed looking fit and full of vigor. He swore her wrinkles were not as deep and some of the fine lines around her eyes and mouth were not visible now. He swore that the waddle underneath her throat was nowhere as pronounced. The skin on her throat and chest almost had a healthy spotless glow to it. What beauty regimen was she using he wondered. He had heard of the seaweed from Ling could produce miracles.

“Yes Tyrion. Having two eager teenage girls offering me their pussies each night makes me feel twenty-five years younger. I assure you I am no pillow queen. I wear my mouth out sucking them off and tongue fucking their sweet assholes before I take my strap-on to them. Then I offer my body to their mouths, fingers and fists. Then if they want I surrender my body to their strap-ons fucking all my holes in tandem ramming dicks up my cunt and ass and feeding me ATM and doing A2P. I offered you that once. Too late now.”

Tyrion fumed his cock a raging boner as they entered the Red Keep. He was not sure why but Olenna was looking younger by the week and she was becoming one fine hot hussy. Damnit! He wanted to pork her!

Olenna gave him glowing accounts of last night’s debauchery and how this morning an Oleaf from the stables had pounded her cunt and then ass so good when he visited her in the meeting room on the third floor and pumped her womb full of hot sperm twice. It seemed that Olenna was a ravenous insatiable slut who was getting plenty of pussy and cock. It made Tyrion fume!

Tyrion had serious blue balls from the cunt by the time they entered the small meeting room behind the Small Council chambers. They wanted to make sure that they spoke with one voice before the Small Council and when they gave audience to the petitioners who came before the throne.

Tyrion actually liked Olenna though he would never admit it. He was attracted to anyone that had great intelligence and knew how to play the Game of Thrones. Olenna was very shrewd and calculating. She was every bit as capable as Varys with her network of Moths and able to piece the big picture together from small dispirit fragments. Her insights shrewd and her ability to discern complicated patterns and deduce the correct path was almost the equal of his own Tyrion thought.

She had the Queen’s best interest at heart Tyrion knew. She had no desire to try and usurp the throne. Varys and he had their own informants and they had detected no duplicity in Olenna. She seemed to fully accept as did Tyrion and Varys that a greater power and strength than theirs had arrived on the shores of Westeros. That force was Daenerys Targaryen.

She was the dragon reborn and they willingly knelt before her. They would serve her and in the process increase their own power and prestige under the safety of her sheltering wings.

They discussed the major matters that would be coming up in the Small Council meeting. The Iron Islands were being resistive yet again it was reported. Varys sparrows and Olenna’s moths had much to say as more reports had come in since the last meeting two days ago.

The Iron Bank had established a permanent presence it seemed at court. They had sent a new emissary, a beautiful buxom blond. Vorolana Foryl who was thirty-two and in the prime of her life. She had a perfect heart shaped face. The woman had a nice ass and small bosom. She had steel grey eyes and sharp features.

According to Varys who had good contacts within the Iron Bank she was a rising star and a super sharp mind. She had cleaned up the mess in Volantis when the Bank of the Black Wall almost went under giving out sub-prime loans in the last housing bubble. When it burst it threatened to ruin the economies of the southern Free Cities. Vorolana had gone in and taken the problem in hand folding weaker banks into the stronger ones and giving the funding to recapitalize the major banks especially the Black Wall. She restored confidence and the economies survived.

She was reputed to be in line to take over as their leader known as the “Prime Lender”.
Olenna and Tyrion reasoned that they were sending their best because whatever they wanted from Arya it must be very important. The woman had come into Court two weeks ago bearing the gift of one percent of the forgiving of debts still owed. With the size of the debt it helped. They had reduced the amount owed to the debt substantially with the “correcting” of books and removing of fraudulent accounting errors that the Iron Bank refused to acknowledge but allowed the new entries to be made. Thus, proving the fraud of their books.

There was another reason she was sent Olenna and Varys reported to Tyrion. She had asked for the position. She seemed to have her sights on Sansa Stark and Margaery Tyrell. She had a thing for tall red heads. Word had gotten back to Vorolana of Sansa Stark it seemed and she had deduced that the Queen would be moving the Stark high princess to King’s Landing.

It seemed the spies of the Iron Bank had reported back that particular union. It had caught the woman’s attention in the process.

Tyrion wondered about that. Margaery had enough women on her plate with Sansa Stark scoffing down her pussy every night and a whole room full of hens in waiting for her at Kings Landing. Olenna reported that Sansa planned on marrying them all when she arrived at King’s Landing.

Damn that hussy! Tyrion gasped to himself. She is taking all the freaking royal lesbians for herself! The greed! The avarice!

Tyrion’s father had sent more ravens vociferously complaining about the unfair treatment he was receiving. He strenuously complained of the wrongs done his House with the unfair cancelling of so many of the loans he had given the realm. He resented the burden he was put under protecting House Tyrell and having to watch the Iron Islands with his fleets.

He complained bitterly at the treatment that his children had heaped upon his person. He made it clear he held the Queen accountable for allowing his son to marry into a lower house and take their name. He said it was unnatural what his daughter was doing in Dorne and wanted her marriage to Obara Sand Snake annulled. He wanted Cersei sent back to Casterly Rock so he could marry her off to a proper man of a Major House.

His last scroll demanded yet again that Tyrion be relieved of his duties as the Hand and have him sent back to Casterly Rock “in chains if necessary” to have him take up his royal duties if Jamie refused his duty.

“My children have all shamed me. I demand justice!”

Olenna looked up at Tyrion after rereading Tywin’s latest diatribe. “Such a sweet man. How did you and your siblings survive him and how did you keep from killing him.”

Tyrion chuckled. “Believe me Olenna I have dreamed of putting a crossbow bolt into his guts many a night.” Tyrion paused musing on his and his siblings growing up on Casterly Rock. “I think growing up like I did ridiculed and outright reviled by my sister made me the compassionate man I am today.”

Olenna cocked an eyebrow. He just noticed it had more than a hint of black in them. He had never noticed that before. In fact he swore he saw some dark strands of hair in Olenna’s loose flowing locks. No bun for Olenna anymore Tyrion saw.

“Yes I am a pervert Olenna but I do not try to hurt anyone and I try to look out for the common good. Can you say the same?”
He noticed that Olenna looked away. He supposed they all had skeletons in their closets. The skeleton of Tysha rattled loudly in his closet at night when the winds were blowing hard.

“I am a pervert. Was it solely because of my lack of upbringing … I don’t know.” He smiled. “I like to think I just know how to have fun. Fun someone is denying me! I might add!”

Olenna chuckled and said nothing.

“Jamie and Cersei probably sought each other out seeking love where there was none in our house. Unfortunately for them, they were both extremely selfish and narcissistic. When Jamie started to grow beyond that he could no longer love Cersei. Plus, he told me how it killed him to have Robert fuck her and Cersei just thought nothing of it. It was her duty she told Jamie. He hated that.”

“I am happy he found Brienne and I am happy that Cersei found Obara. Never would have pictured her as a rug muncher.”

“You know if Cersei ever finds out how you betted against her every step of the way and predicted her failure her rage will be a frightful thing Tyrion. All reports say she could tear you apart with her hands now. She has become unnaturally strong. Though with Obara she is as gentle as a lamb. She destroys anyone who dares crosses or insults her. She has killed four men for it. Thankfully, Oberyn has used his influence to sway the judges. They were of low account anyways.”

Tyrion tried not to show it but he blanched. He turned away to not let Olenna see the naked fear on his face. Damn. Varys sparrows had not reported Cersei committing any murders. His own spies made Cersei sound like a fucking bunny rabbit. All Cersei wanted to do was train and cuddle with Obara. That was before Cersei nearly fucked Obara comatose every night. This new news about Cersei was frightening.

Thus, he did not see the mirth on Olenna’s face. Her eyes alight with evil merriment. He missed the smirk that crossed Olenna’s face at his consternation. When he had control over his face again he turned back around. Olenna had her bland poker face back on.

Gods he needed to get to his bodyguards and have them around him all the time! His sister had become a true lioness. She was always cruel and now she had the raw strength to actually do him in herself.

He looked around shivering in raw fear. He needed his bodyguards!

They went to the Small Council Chambers to meet their fellow members. All were seated around waiting for them. The council had settled into a well-oiled mechanism which Tyrion was thankful for. Dany had set the ground work so that when she left to go to war he and Olenna could manage the working of court till she returned.

They turned to Lysono Saan and plumbed him again about the new Iron Bank representative Vorolana Foryl. The man did not know her personally but knew of her reputation. He knew her family which was very powerful in Braavos. Two generations past her grandfather had been Sea Lord till he had an unfortunate accident stepping out of his tub and twisting his neck nearly ninety degrees around. It had been most distressing. He had crossed some Lord or other and had paid the price.

The life expectancy of a Sea Lord was not of the greatest longevity.

She was highly regarded and noted for being as honest as one could be in her line of profession. She was remarkably calm under pressure and did not seem vindictive though that could be a veneer.
When you had the House of Black and White at your beck and call one could never be too sure about the true situation.

Solaja Xo had returned to the table. She had went out to sea with another flotilla of Swan ships that had arrived a month ago. She had lead them south. Out at sea, Solaja Xo had met a flotilla of ships from Tryell and formed a picket of ships between the Island of Arbor and the port of Sunflower Hall. The smaller triremes and biremes were patrolling close to shore and near the Island of Arbor while the Swan ships patrolled the deeper waters. There would be no surprise raid of the Iron ships hitting unprotected ports in Dome.

Solaja had made sure the pickets were properly setup and a rotation set to let the crews go to shore and relax for a few days after two weeks at sea to keep their sharpness to a razor’s edge. She was confident that her ships could repel the much smaller long ships of the Iron Islands. She had put a few squadrons of biremes with the Swan ships to provide flanking guard and to blunt any swarm attack till the archers of the Swan ships from their great height advantage could decimate the attacking ships crews or keep them under cover till grappling lines could be thrown and a boarding done to kill them up close and personal.

Satisfied she had returned to King’s Landing in the lead Swan Ship which remained in port in case she was needed anywhere out on the oceans. It was doubted since this war was going to be primarily a land campaign.

She had become quite happy and smiling since marrying Chataya and Alayaya. She spent most of her evenings in their establishment. She freely partook of the whores that loved fucking her and the two madams. When not there she had them in her quarters. Solaja had become quite domesticated and happy. Tyrion was happy for her.

Tyrion called for the sullen representative of Slavers Bay attention. Draqhiz zo Gazno of Yunkai gave Tyrion his polite attention. Since his bearding from the hand of Daenerys Targaryen he had learned to keep his tongue and most vile looks to himself. He now brooded primarily.

“Many of the artisans that Daenerys is using in the defense of this realm come from your lands. They are helping to make the weapons that will be used to kill her enemies. Also, much of the armor that the forces of Essos are protected with come from former slaves in your cities.”

“Yes.” The young man answered guardedly.

“The Queen has noticed this. Though she has given much aide she feels she can do more. She is sending a ship full of gold, silver and precious stone under heavy guard by Summer Islanders and several newly formed brigades of former slaves. It will dock in Volantis in two weeks. Another ship is headed for Yunkai. This largesse will be used to accelerate even further the rebuilding of the infrastructure damaged or destroyed in the Slave Wars. She also wishes to see the start of the restoration of the pyramids brought down in the major cities. They are a national treasure. The families that have heritage rights to them will have first right of lodging and treasures that have been recovered will be returned to the families.

The man sat stunned. He had never dreamed that the Queen would do such a thing.

Tyrion had not been a fan of this idea of building up her former enemies. Daenerys had thought it a good idea to give the former slave holders a boon while she was at war. Their sudden return of some wealth and status would keep any thoughts of sedition at bay and would hopefully start to build bridges of trust.

He and Olenna had been buying back looted treasures for this purpose.
The man was choked up and thanked them profusely.

“Let your family and close associates know how you were instrumental in accomplishing this largesse from the Queen.”

The man nodded with a pleased look on his face. His stock in his homeland had gone up immeasurably and he would now have a new found loyalty to the Queen of Westeros and Essos.

They talked of the progress they had made with the Iron Bank. When they gave the debt reduction from the lending of Arya Stark’s services to the books the throne would be in such a better position. The Master of Laws Micud Caudill and Master of Coin Vedad Softic had worked tirelessly and long hours going over contracts and accounting books finally getting a true picture of the debt the Iron Throne had to its lenders.

The amount of debt had been staggering. What had been more staggering was the graft and outright fraud they had discovered. Removing that alone had reduced debts by ten percent. Dear Daddy’s theft had taken away another six percent of debt.

The debt with the Iron bank had been reduced by further four percent when they had been shown all the questionable and fraudulent accounts and transactions. They of course had plead ignorance and innocence. They gave the reduction to show “good faith”. It sickened Tyrion the avarice of bankers. They never seemed to have enough. Their greed legendary and deserved he was discovering first hand.

His father’s demands and pleadings had largely fallen on deaf ears now. Tywin Lannister could not seem to understand that giving the same account over and over again numbed the ears to it. Tyrion could not help but smile at the rolled eyes when Grand Maester Harsch Lape read the latest scroll from his dear father. He loved the rolling of eyes and minds clearly drifting off. When one did not fear their father the man was really just a mean spirited asshole.

Varys got up to give his latest warbles from his sparrows and tapping on the spider webs around the realm. The news was actually mundane from the realm. That was good from Tyrion viewpoint. A boring realm was an easy to rule realm.

This allowed Tyrion to again mull over his “hen” problem. For the life of him Tyrion could not figure out how Olenna was thwarting his efforts. Tyrion prided himself on his craftiness and ability to out guile his opponent. He had tried everything but Olenna was always one step ahead of him in his efforts to setup a voyeuristic party of epic proportions. He would die he thought (not really) after witnessing a night of eight beautiful women fucking their brains out on each other. The more he looked at Septa Nysterica the more he found her delectable.

The gods knew her fellow hens were totally in love with the Septa. He had caught them in pairs or threesomes fucking in one place or the other of the Red Keep. They loved to fuck in public places and see if they could get away with it.

Olenna thwarted too many of his voyeur sessions with a twisted ear or hard kick in the pants that had him squealing in startlement and pain. The various hens had become used to him suddenly appearing in a sudden jump and his loud bleats. They would stop their lesbian debauchery to watch Tyrion run around in circles holding his ass cheeks squealing out curses at Olenna. His face contorted with unholy rage. It was that or seeing the dwarf pulled away by Olenna’s grip on his ear tugging him along behind her like an errant Chihuahua. A whining and cursing Chihuahua.

The dwarf felt rage for the hens at those moments. They clearly saw his sweet personage being heinously attacked by the foul demoness Olenna. His manly shouts of defiance should have brought... them to his aid. Did they do that? Nooooo! All they did was point at him and his plight and giggle. The nerve! The cowards! The Bitches!

They should have come to his aid no matter the danger. He would have gladly laid his life down for … those … bitches … let’s not get carried away here Tyrion thought to himself. He kept getting carried away with such thoughts when thinking back on his heinous treatment. The mere thought of him receiving physical harm had the dwarf’s heart palpating in his manly chest. He found it in his heart to forgive the cowardly hens. They were hens after all and not the manly man he was.

Tyrion was happy with his spying despite his being ambushed by Olenna way to often … he meant observing of the various small groupings of hens but that did not satisfy his need for a much bigger viewing. Olenna was thwarting his viewing pleasure damnit!

He had yet to have a flown blown Hen party. This lack was vexing his sensibilities not to mention his state of perpetual horniness from not getting his viewing of hen debauchery. His senses had yet to be rocked by endless lesbian debauchery from eight lust crazed lesbian hens all at one time feasting on succulent female flesh. Damn Olenna’s eyes! He wanted to be able to view sweet lesbian lust up close without the fear of having the shit scared out of him and his ears felt three feet long with all the ear pulling the old bitty had done to his ears damnit!

Thankfully, Elinor had said one thousand crowns was high as she would charge Tyrion for his right to watch up close and wanker off. Even Tyrion had limits on how much he would pay for such a heavenly night or day of witnessing such sweet lesbian debauchery. Tyrion had nearly gone into seizures when Elinor told him “We have discussed it Tyrion. With all the effort you have put into watching us debauch we have decided to give you a trifecta. Three viewings for the price of one!” Tyrion had died and gone to heaven he knew hearing that pronouncement. He just needed to get past that old coot Olenna. Damn her eyes for denying him his rights. It wasn’t fair! He just wanted to birdwatch. It was an honored hobby damnit!

His last two efforts at a Hen Party had ended most unfortunately Tyrion fumed only barely one fourth listening to Varys give his reports. Olenna loved gossip and reports of sexual trysts. Tyrion did too but this Hen party situation was consuming his thoughts. His mind wondered back to his most recent debacles in regards to his attempts to Hen watch.

He was sure three and a half week ago his time had arrived. A delegation from Leng had arrived with dancers, martial artists, cooks, cloth and jewelry makers to show their skills and crafts. They had also brought along huge men on their feet. The men were of immense girth but they did not have fat that seemed to be sloppy. They had a firmness to their bodies.

Olenna was enamored with the culture and the looks of the people with their jet black hair and eyes. All were taken with their glittering almond shaped eyes. Their slender bodies so young and firm. The women were slender with high breast and their men were like racing dogs all lean muscle and tendons. Olenna was smitten with the young female dancers.

Yes! Tyrion had thought. Her attentions were definitely drawn to these exotic visitors. He sent word to Elinor. The Queen had wanted to rehabilitate some of the rooms in the East wing of the Red Keep for royal guests and for large gatherings. A place to have banquets for up to one hundred people. It was just beginning to be renovated. The wing had not been in use for three generations and was mostly forgotten. A nice safe place to have an epic party of lesbian debauchery!

Tyrion could not think of a better way to christen the new rooms.

One banquet room had had plush carpeting put in. Tyrion had large blankets put in to give the hens a place to fuck without rug burn. Tyrion was considerate that way.

He sent word to Elinor by way of Megga as they passed in the hall and he passed her the message. Several hours later Taena Merryweather passed Tyrion in the hall and another message was passed. Tyrion read it in his chambers of the hand.

The note informed Tyrion that two days hence, Olenna would be hosting a banquet with for Leng delegation starting at noon and then she would go outside to the west inner yard. There she would witness various martial arts being performed and then a dinner while dancers performed traditional Leng dances in silk and with folding fans.

Elinor had written to Tyrion “We can fuck all the day and deep into the night. Bring the one thousand crowns. We will be able to buy a lot of strap-ons, floggers, sweet tasting lubricating oils, whips, canes and clamps for our nipples and pussy lips.”

Oh gods Tyrion thought. These maidens were heaven sent.

Two days later he entered into the room being renovated with a happy smile on his face. He had a bottle of fine wine and a vase of fresh roasted nuts. He had to concentrate to open the door with his gifts for the Hens in his hands. He finally got the door opened and went into the room. Heaven on Earth had arrived! Tyrion thought. Finally, Tyrion had gotten over on Olenna! Life was good! Lost in his reverie of the great voyeur sex he was about to witness Tyrion did not take in his environs.

He was immediately grabbed and hosted high up in the air dropping his wine and nuts. The maidens were not this tall or strong Tyrion thought in terror as his body was roughly manhandled. Their hands had suddenly become large and calloused. He looked around wildly and nearly screamed. His sweet dream had been turned into a nightmare!

The room was filled with the Sumo wrestlers he had observed earlier. Now Tyrion did scream! Repeatedly. How could paradise turn into this perverted hell! The Sumo wrestlers had laid down animal skins and drawn in a large circle on them with chalk. Two of the massive men were currently wrestling. Their brethren were standing around outside the circle laughing and now distributing his vase of nuts. They were all sweaty and drinking their traditional Saki. They poured oil on each other. Rice was being thrown everywhere. Some of the wrestlers doing some kind of duck walk slamming their feet on the floor while the men slapped their chests and top of their legs.

Tyrion spluttered as oil was poured all over him and rice pellets pelted him all over. He looked down his body that had sprouted rice kernels sticking to his oily skin and clothes. He was blinking wildly getting the oil out of his eyes. He was thrown effortlessly through the air. He was snatched out of the air with ease by one of the Sumo wrestlers. Next thing he knew he was pressed between the two striving men. His body buffeted and rolled between immense bodies. His face mashed into fat but firm bellies. His little limbs tried to kick and thrash but were trapped!

Sqqquueeee! Sssqqueeeeee! Sqqqqqueeeeee! Tyrion valiantly squealed. He turned his head to breathe and bellow his mighty command “I’ll have you know I am the Hand of the Queen of Westeros!” All that got Tyrion was being thrown through the air and snatched by a Sumo wrestler across the mat. Again Tyrion was used as buffer between two half-drunk Sumo wrestlers buffeteting and half crushing the brave courageous dwarf. Sqqqquueeeeee! Sqqqqquueeeeee! Sqqqqquueeeeee!

For the next fifteen minutes Tyrion was rebounded between surging immense bodies. He was doused again and again with oil and had rice poured over his head as men said prayers. Tyrion spluttered oil out his mouth and spit out rice he was constantly doused with. He tried to run away but he would be snatched up again and was rolled between sweaty oily bodies. One time he almost made it to the door scurrying between tall Sumo wrestlers legs. His hand had just touched the door lever when he was again snatched up and fitted between two Sumo wrestlers who rubbed bellies rolling a kicking and crying like a baby Tyrion. His body squirting between the large men like a marble.

He was soon Sumo drunk his body slammed into again and again and rolled around between sweaty bodies. He needed to escape. He was down to his short clothes the other garments torn from his body. His body looked like it was covered in white warts with all the rice sticking to his body. Tyrion was sure his beauteous hair was a horrid mess. He feared the rice stuck in it would take root and sprout.

His body shot out between two oily wrestlers like a pea pressed out a pod. A wrestler went to grab him as he ran to throw him back into the ring. Tyrion pointed to his loin cloth and grunted straining pushing down. The wrestlers understood the pantomime. He was allowed to go to the bathroom that was off to the back of the room on the outside wall.

Tyrion waddled to the bathroom door keeping up the charade. He walked clenching his ass cheeks and walking with a straight back to sell him holding in a deuce with manly vigor. As he walked he mouthed prayers to gods he did not believe in. He opened the door.

YES! His prayers had been answered. He would remember to tithe a copper pence to the seven tomorrow. He looked up at his salvation.

He immediately stood on the privy. He opened the lead panes on the small window. Tyrion tried to squeeze out the small window. He was small enough he was sure and his body was soaked in oil which should help him squirt through. But of course he got stuck halfway through with his hips lodged in the window. He felt his feet kicking wildly in the bathroom. There was a pool next to the Red Keep underneath his window he could fall into if he could just get through. He put his palms on the wall and tried to grunt through.

Tyrion was getting desperate. He wiggled like a deranged worm but could not force his way out of the window. He was trapped! He could not take much more of the medicine ball in the middle of the Sumo wrestlers. Thankfully, he saw Bronn and Shae come into view bickering and arguing.

“Help! Help! Bronn and Shae save mmmeeeeeeeéééél!” Tyrion called out in desperation. The two looked around not seeing him. “Up here!” The body guard and whore looked up at him with first confusion and then humor.

“How did you get up there Dwarf?!” Bronn barked.

Shae added “You look like some deformed chick stuck getting out its egg Tyrion. You should just crawl back in your shell!” she hooted laughing.

“Just get your asses in here and save me damnit!”

“Ho ho dwarf. First confession time!” the mercenary demanded laughing. Tyrion tried to dissemble but Bronn merely cocked an eyebrow. Time was on Bronn’s side and the bodyguard knew it.

Tyrion confessed. He had no choice at the moment. He would have his revenge on his incompetent bodyguard and his whore always by his side just not at the moment. Tyrion had come to think of her as a bodyguard too. She could fuck his assailants to death.

He seethed as for the next minute while he watched the mercenary and whore roll on the paved stones laughing their asses off hearing his tale of woe and misery. Tyrion heard pounding on the door. “Hurry they’re coming! Help! Help! Squeeeeeeeee Squeeeeeeeeeee!” Tyrion squealed as the door was slammed open. He hoped he would be stuck in the window but his oiled body squirted fairly easily back through the window when both of his feet were gripped and pulled on hard.

Soon he was back to the human medicine ball between warring Sumo wrestlers. He was near expiring. His mighty fists struck the fat bellies rolling and crushing his mighty warrior body. His blows rebounding off the fat men. How they did not feel his sledgehammer blows Tyrion could not fathom. He had barely the strength to squeal and bleat anymore. He saw his life flashing before his eyes as another dousing of oil and rice ensued.

The door suddenly opened and in stepped a naked Shae. She walked in swishing her hips. Tyrion was between two wrestlers when he dropped to the ground as the wrestlers forget all about him separating to walk over to Shae. Their eyes leering at the whore.

She went over to the oil canters and picked one up and poured it over her hair and body. Her hair plastered to her body, the ceremonial oil slicked over her hard nipples and soaked her shaved swollen camel toe and down her so tight ass. The Sumo wrestlers moved in around Shae with eyes filled with fuck hunger.

Shae giggled and cupped her breast squeezing them while she swirled her hips shoving her pussy forward and her ass shimming back in a lewd dance of enticement.

Tyrion would have stayed behind to watch but he had enough of the land of Leng. He loved to be the voyeur but not this day. His libido was what had gotten him into this horror show! For now his libido was a forgotten thing. The only thing his mind’s eye could conjure up was fat sumo wrestlers, oil and rice! He had only one thought. Flee! He ran out the door and down the halls in only his loin cloth. His body covered in glistening oil and rice kernels stuck all over his body. He wanted away from this pit of hell!

His body still discombobulated had the poor dwarf lurching around the halls rebounding off walls and display stands of knight’s armor making them rattle. People stopped and stared at the strange sight. Mothers shielding children from the oil soaked, riced covered, loin cloth shod dwarf shambling down the halls in a weaving drunken path. A steady falling away of rice marked Tyrion’s wobbly path.

From his mouth the repeated caw “The horror … the horror … the horror” his eyes vacant as he stumbled down the hall a shell of his mighty self.

Tyrion was too tired to even bitch about it.

He raged at the hens the next day. What the fuck! Elinor explained that half the hens had come down with some kind of food poisoning that had incapacitated them. The hens looked like they had molted. They feared to get Tyrion sick. Tyrion was touched but still! Damn his luck! Somehow he knew Olenna was involved but he knew he would never be able to prove it.

The next night Bronn was pissed with Tyrion and demanded three hundred extra gold crowns.

“What the hell has got you spores in and uproar Bronn?!” Elinor explained that half the hens had come down with some kind of food poisoning that had incapacitated them. The hens looked like they had molted. They feared to get Tyrion sick. Tyrion was touched but still! Damn his luck! Somehow he knew Olenna was involved but he knew he would never be able to prove it.

The next night Bronn was pissed with Tyrion and demanded three hundred extra gold crowns.

“What the hell has got you spores in and uproar Bronn?!! I was the person being squirted around like a marble between big fat oily men. A sweet dwarf’s body can only take so much abuse damnit! What the fuck is your problem!” Tyrion roared.

It seemed like Shae had enjoyed her time with the wrestlers a little too much and had not returned for over twenty-four hours. Now it was Sumo wrestler this and Sumo wrestler that. Bronn was most displeased. She kept saying that they “boned so well” and “they fucked all my holes so good and deep—air tight Bronn!” “God their endurance and skills are heavenly.” Shae had fanned herself claiming she had the vapors thinking of the heavenly fucks she had just experienced.

Tyrion did not argue. His body was getting stiff from the buffeting. Ones muscles always hurt worse the second day after. Tomorrow would be the worst Tyrion knew. All his abused muscles ached from their abuse. He was not sure he would have survived much more of the Sumo wrestlers making Tyrion’s body squirt out between them like a damn fucking pea out its pod. Damn Olenna!

He shelled out the three hundred gold dragons with much bitching and whining. He had made a show of counting the gold coins. He had tried to chisel his bodyguard out of the last fifty crowns but the fucker counted too well for that! Damn his eyes and counting fingers and toes!

Bronn disposition suddenly became sunny. “I needed the break anyways from the little hussy.”

Of course Tyrion thought pissed off. It was amazing what gold did for Bronn’s whiny surely attitude.

The day after the Sumo debacle Olenna asked him if he enjoyed the cultural exchange with the people of Leng. Olenna told Tyrion she found the art of Sumo wrestling to be a thing of beauty of skill and manly adore. “Did you by chance meet these Titans Tyrion?”

Tyrion had stormed off. That was after he had cursed Olenna off to her face and flipped her off again and again. The shit eating grin on Olenna’s face had infuriated the dwarf. By the gods he would have this revenge he swore. The only problem was that he swore this after every defeat from the old crone. Dammit! He wanted to win! But all he did every time he crossed swords with the old bitch was lose! Big time dammit!

With suspicious eyes Tyrion eyed his nemesis. She was definitely looking younger. Had she made an unholy pact with profane demons? Her youth for Tyrion’s torment! He wouldn’t put it past the not so old anymore bitch! With all the torment she was causing Tyrion she would be a babe in a swaddling clotehe if she kept up this pace Tyrion fumed.

He kept his bodyguards much closer to him now when he prepared for his next Hen Party. He refused to give up. He had to get over on the old fox eventually!

He finally had another opportunity six days ago. The hens were complaining that they wanted to go on a ride outside. They were tired of being cooped up. They complained they were living in the proverbial chicken coop. Olenna was having an audience with her sister in law and old friends from her youth in the land of Redwyne. Plus, it seemed she had gotten a little carried away with her two minks. She was looking younger for sure but she was suddenly moving very gingerly and rubbing her back while grimacing. A lot.

Varys had made it clear to Tyrion he knew why but thought it best he kept matters of the members of the small council private. “You know. To keep our little intimate group cohesive. We need to be a loving and caring group. I know you agree with me Tyrion.” He had said with a big smirk on his face. He knew Tyrion well.

“Fuck that shit!” had been Tyrion adroit reply. “You are the fucking Whisperer so start whispering damnit!”

Varys had had to be convinced to tell Tyrion of Olenna’s mishap. Tyrion had roared at the eunuch to give him ‘the dirt on that old bitch!’ Varys snickered. Evidently, Olenna was holding up Jasline with her hands on her ass with Jasline’s legs locked around Olenna waist as she ripped her strap-on up Jasline’s pussy while Nathaleyas ripped her cock up Jasline’s tight asshole from behind. The woman and teenager bending knees to lunge their pricks balls deep up into spasming pussy and clenching asshole. The two women hefting a squealing Jasline up high on their pricks only to slam her groaning body down again and again impaling her fuck holes on thick hard strap-on cocks.

Olenna had staggered away when Jasline went wild in orgasm as her pussy and asshole exploded in shocking orgasms feeding off each other Jasline’s body had bucked like a bull in a rodeo after it had its balls synched tight Varys reported gleefully. Her kicking body simply went insane as it flipped wildly Varys reported to his Hand. Her gyration had wrenched Olenna’s back. She was definitely moving slow and cautious now Tyrion observed. “My sparrow reports that even a bull rider would have been thrown off the way Jasline’s body bucked and jackknifed.”

Wow Tyrion thought. That old coot and her two teenage lovers sure knew how to fuck! That was his good side. His bad side thought I hope that bitch is hurting big time! How does she keep getting over on me!

The time was perfect Tyrion now decided. Between family visits and her hurting back, surely Olenna would have her attentions distracted. He arranged to meet the hens in one of Robert’s old royal hunting lodges. He had several. He chose the one the deepest in the woods. Elinor signed off it was a go.

He was smart this time. It had taken him a week it seemed to get all the rice out of his hair and other places he did not want to think about. He had Bronn and Shae with him. They left the Red Keep and out King’s Landing. Tyrion had a beatific smile on his face with thoughts of the sweet lesbian debauchery he was about to witness. Finally! Damn Olenna for interfering in his plans of voyeuristic delights.

The slow canter by horse had been pleasant. The air not so cold today. They entered the forest with Tyrion’s head filled with visions of fair young lasses doing unspeakable things to each other. Things he would finally get to witness! He approached the hunting lodge looking all around as they went the four miles into the forest to get to the lodge. Nothing looked amiss. As big as the trees were he saw no Sumo wrestlers hiding behind them. He was still quite traumatized by that heinous event. He kept asking Bronn if all looked safe.

"Damnit Tyrion. Stop asking me that every ten seconds. It is safe out here I tell you!"

The small party went down a curve in the path. Then their goal was in sight finally. The hunting lodge maintained for the enjoyment of the Kings of Westeros. The building well-kept and provisioned. Tyrion saw the eight horses that the girls liked to ride tied to the tether post off to the side. The horses cropping grass in a placid state.

“Yes!” Tyrion exclaimed. Finally. He finally had gotten over on his nemesis Olenna. A Lannister always wins in the end Tyrion crowed to himself. He left Bronn and Shae by the tree line in the small meadow that lay before the well maintained hunting lodge. He had Bronn help him down from his special saddle. His little legs kicking back and forth in his excitement to get to the hunting lodge and paradise on Earth!

“Damnit dwarf! Stop kicking your legs damnit! You’re making me seasick you sawed off runt!”

Finally, Tyrion was on the ground his eyes alight with thoughts of the ribald debaucheries he was about to witness. He went waddling across the glade at a fast clip his legs pumping hard. Finally, all his efforts were about to be rewarded. He climbed the steps up to the front landing. His heart beating hard but not as hard as his cock! He had won! He thought gleefully hurrying to the hunting lodge. He had finally gotten over on his nemesis Olenna. He had won he crowed in his mind.
He ripped open the door. ‘I’m here. Let the lesbian debauchers begin!’ He immediately noticed that the curtains were drawn and no fire was in the fireplace nor had any lanterns been lit. How strange. What was that?! He sensed motion in the dark shadows but it seemed strange to the dwarf for some reason. Something was not right but he could not place his finger on it. He leaned forward peering into the nebulous mysterious darkness. The sounds seemed both too high and too low for some reason.

His head moved from side to side trying to decipher the deep shadows he witnessed. He saw strange movements within. Something was not right here but Tyrion could not pierce the mystery his senses were reporting to him. Where the hens on all fours for some reason. His head whipped to the left when he sensed motion in that direction.

Bwwookkk! Wook! Wookkkk! Bwwookkkk!

What the—Tyrion thought peering into the dark interior. Why hadn’t they opened the shutters, lited the fire in the fireplace and turned up the oil lamps? How was he supposed to see the debauchery in the dark? He was paying good coin to get his onions off! What! He felt a breeze rustle past his head. He looked in that direction but only saw a vague shape disappear into the darkness. Just what in the hell kind of games did these sweet lasses want play at? Tyrion wondered. His head still moving trying to decipher the coded darkness.

Woookkk! Cluuucckk! Bwwooookkkk! Bwwookkkk!

What the hell was that strange sound the intrepid dwarf wondered as he stood on the threshold of the hunting lodge? Tyrion stood just inside the threshold peering into the darkness. He moved in a few steps trying to decipher the mystery presented to him. Were the sweet hens planning some sweet surprise? Why were they clucking like chickens? Then he smiled. They were ‘hens’ after all. Had they decide to let him actually touch them?! Suddenly a furious storm hit Tyrion. He felt something hitting his face and then sharp pecking pain. He turned and ran out of the lodge flapping his arms.

A storm of Bandy roosters and hens pelted out the door after Tyrion. The foul fowl attacking the running and squealing dwarf. They attacked with pecking beaks and slashing claws. Their wings buffeted and confused the valiant dwarf. The assault savage and unremitting driving the brave dwarf back as he bravely retreated only grudgingly giving up ground. His eyes large as he sought a high ground to turn and utterly annihilate these vicious dwarf eating fowl!

“Eeeiiiiii! Aaaaiiiiiii! Help help!” Tyrion ran around jerking right and left trying to escape the attack of the rabid fowl. He was on the porch slapping at the hateful fowl attacking him. “Bronn! Shae! To me my honorable bodyguards! Perform you valiant duty!”

“Look at his arms flap Bronn” Shae hooted “I think he is about to take flight!”

“Ho ho dwarf!” Bronn hooted. “Show us that warrior you tell us is just below the surface waiting to burst free! Show us the savage Tyrion!” Bronn derisively barked out.

“Help! Help! Eeeiieiiii! Eeeiiiiii!”

“The way to get a maiden to part her thighs is to show her what a warrior you are Tyrion! Fight fight!” Shae shouted to the dwarf.

Tyrion was overwhelmed. The mad dwarf eating fowl were vicious! He made a command decision. Retreat! In his mind, Tyrion heard a manly man calling for a strategic retreat in a rich baritone voice. What Bronn and Shae heard was a high pitched girlish bleat “Aiiiii eeeiiiiii eeeiiiiii! Run away! Run away! Aiiiiii eeeiiiiii aaaaaa!” Tyrion flew off the porch bleating and wildly flapping his arms. The mad fowl flapping wildly rising and falling as they followed Tyrion. Their assault ceaseless as they attacked the intrepid dwarf.

Tyrion ran blindly as he was viciously attacked. By happenstance he ran into the horse line. He ran between the horses and they were spooked by the flapping and furiously clucking roosters and hens not to mention the crazed dwarf stomping around under hoof. The horses broke their tethers and went galloping down the lane.

“Damn you dwarf! There goes our fucking horses!” Bronn roared.

“Fuck the godsdamn horses you incompetent fool!” Tyrion tried to roar but it came out more like a squeal as he ran around in terrorized circles flapping his arms and squealing constantly. His exertions had the defiant dwarf gasping but he forced air into his mighty lungs. “Do your fucking job by the cursed gods sake! Iieeeeee aaaaaiiiii aaaaaiiiii!”

Bronn got revenge at the cursing dwarf by crossing his arms and pouting.

The hens and bandy roosters were still all around Tyrion pecking and swiping their spurs at the dwarf. He ran towards Bronn’s voice. All around Tyrion was clucks, squawks and furious beating feathers. The sell sword cursed and pulled his sword and began to slash at the furious fowl. He started to chop the birds out of the air.

Shae called out “Don’t kill them. They look cute!”

“Fresh chicken tonight Shae!” Bronn answered back.

Shae’s demeanor changed instantly. “Kill thefuckers!” She shouted out. A hungry look on her face.

Tyrion watched slack jawed as he ran and dodged. Shae started to catch the birds out of the air with her right hand. Her hand darting out like a serpent’s tongue and unerringly snatchiing a wildly fluttering fowl out of the air. She then deftly maneuvered the struggling caught bird so she got their head in her hand and she spun her wrist till their heads popped off and the bird flew through the air to land on the ground where they ran around for a minute wildly without a head.

She kept catching birds and popping their heads off while Bronn chopped more out of the sky. Soon the surviving birds gave up the fight and flitted off into the woods.

“Whew! Good job Bronn—Shae! I knew I paid you good wages for a reason.”

“It is four miles to the warden’s hut damnit Tyrion. We’ve got a long walk ahead of us!” Bronn snarled at his erstwhile employer. He did not look happy.

“So?” Tyrion really couldn’t see what the problem was.

Tyrion was muttering when they reached the warden’s hut. Bronn had tied up the dead headless hens and roosters and draped them around his neck. Their bleeding bodies having pelted his body all the way to the warden’s shack with each step he took. All the death fking rabid fowl were heavy dammit! Tyrion groused to himself. At the warden’s shack they got horses and finally Tyrion could take off the birds from around his neck.

His face and hands started to pain him greatly. His exposed body parts covered with the cuts and blood bruises from the fowl’s beaks and claws. The cuts swelling up and throbbing.

That night it had been good times though so Tyrion forgave Bronn and Shae for the ignobility he had endured walking four miles with dead birds around his neck. The cooked fowl were most tasty with wine and rice. He eyed Shae consuming her portion of fresh chickens with glutinous glee. Chicken grease smeared all over her blouse top, face, hands and up in her hair. She ate worse than Bronn!

The dwarf mused at her lightning fast reflexes. She had caught those birds with ease. Damn that woman was fast! Shae was nice enough to put a suave on cuts and slashes.

Afterwards his bodyguards challenged him to poker. They always challenged him when their extra dues got large letting Tyrion win them back. He was touched by their thoughtfulness. He rewarded them for their loyalty by doubling their pay.

He had to stay in his quarters for the next three days recovering from his harrowing experience. He was overcome with the vapors. His body was healing but he worried for the mental trauma he had endured. He asked Shae to give him a blow job to relieve the stress. It was her duty to act upon her employer’s needs after all Tyrion had explained to Shae. She had clacked her teeth at him like Dany had on that damn fucking Dorne beach! His cock had shrunk to a miniscule thing with memories of that damn horrid affair. Bitch! How in the hell had she known about that heinous event! It had to be Olenna but how! How!

He was brought back to reality when he heard the words “Cersei” and “revenge”.

“What did you say Varys about my sweet, sweet sister?”

“Why my good friend. I was just reporting how your sister is absolutely furious with you and is telling anyone who will listen that she will have her righteous fury and indignation answered.”

Tyrion gulped. “Why would she feel such for her dear little brother? What could I have done to upset her so?” he asked in an innocent voice. In his mind, Tyrion was ticking off the long list of possible items that could have inflamed his harridan sister.

Varys smirked. “It would seem the delegation from King’s Landing you sent to negotiate new trade agreements with Dorne have told her some of your comments about her. They were quite liberal in passing on what you had to say about our dear departed former queen.”

“Comments? What could I have said to inflame my sister’s ire” Tyrion dissembled. Tyrion gulped again the sound loud in the room. He had a distinct sinking feeling. Damn those delegation members for their damn loose lips! Those comments were never meant to reach Cersei’s ears Tyrion reasoned with himself. Bastards and bitches!

“Why yes my dear Hand. She has heard many of your pronouncements.”

“I don’t know what you are talking about” Tyrion told the bald eunuch. He was beginning to sweat.

“Huummmm?” Varys smirked again. “Let me report a few of your remarks given about and to our poor departed former queen.”

Varys cleared his throat. “Cersei looks like a harpy with sagging tits. Cersei is so cold The Wall seems hot. Her cunt is like a bear trap; rusted shut. Her body has more stretch marks than old leather. Her face looks like a roadmap with all the wrinkles on it. I like that one actually” Varys told Tyrion. “Her cunt is so used up it’s like a dried up prune. Look up the word failure and you see a painting of Cersei. Cersei with a sword would be like a drunk in a distillery: Disaster. The only thing Cersei can do well is pop a cork from a champagne bottle. How can you tell when Cersei lies; her lips move. How do y—”

“All right all right already!” Tyrion shouted out. He was sweating heavily now. His pulse racing and his heart beating triple time in his valiant chest.

Olenna spoke up “I had wanted to spare you this Tyrion but Varys could not help himself. My moths report her flame of righteous vengeance burns so hot they can’t even get near her. As she hacks the heads off the dummies used for sword practice Cersei screams “Death to Tyrion! Castration to Tyrion!”

Tyrion’s face had gone white as he became dizzy.

“They are reporting what she might do or have done to you. Some of it is very creative” Olenna told Tyrion. “I especially like this one ‘I will cut off his little fingers and shove them up his nostrils! I will cut off this thumbs and shove them up his ass!’ Your sister has the heart of a poet Tyrion. Don’t you agree Tyrion?” Olenna smirked at Tyrion.

After that the rest of the Small Council meeting and the hearing of supplications was a blur to Tyrion. He was mute at the hearing of grievances that he and Olenna performed before the Iron Throne. They sat in chairs before the steps to the throne. Normally, they played good ruler, bad ruler with Tyrion moderating Olenna’s harsh pronouncements.

Today Tyrion heard none of it as he obsessed with getting to his bodyguards and telling them to pack their gear. They would be taking a voyage on the first ship going to the end of the world. Tyrion figured it would be better for the ship to fall off the edge of the world than face Cersei.

The supplicants soon figured out the dynamic for the day and begged off any further pleadings. With Olenna telling one man he had to wallow in pig shit for offending his neighbor big farmer and telling a woman she would have to kiss and lick the feet of her maid for a month for chiseling her of her wages the supplicants had heard enough.

Tyrion hurried back to his cambers in the Tower of the Hand as fast as he could. His progress was slowed having to look around every corner and nearly shitting himself every time he heard a noise behind him. Cersei on the warpath with her superhuman powers was an awful thing to contemplate. Damn her for becoming a mighty warrior who never drank. He much preferred the drunk Cersei who was addled most of the time.

He finally made it to the door to his abode and entered it quickly gasping with relief. It seemed like every shadow was alive to Tyrion. Each shadow hiding his sister in her quest of vengeance on his sweet personage. Every noise the signal of imminent attack. His undergarments were soaked in sweat.

Tyrion looked around and saw Bronn and Shae sitting in chairs by the roaring fireplace. They had on neutral expressions which made Tyrion pause since they were normally animated and immediately started heaping abuse on him which he gleefully gave back.

He went to his own chair and climbed the steps to sit in it. He was exhausted both mentally and physically from his harrowing ordeal. He got his bearings his mind muddled by his dire straits from his harridan sister seeking revenge.

His mind now focused, Tyrion started to expound upon their immediate need to get on the first ship of Pentos and head to ports far away. He walked around gesticulating wildly. Tyrion expounded on how he did not mean any of the mean vile things he had said about his sister. Well, he had meant it but he never thought those words would get to her ears! It was all in jest. Not really but that was his story and he was sticking to that story.

Tyrion kept looking at his bodyguards. They seemed most distracted. Their behavior odd but he had more important things to worry about. Mainly his crazed sister, Cersei! He kept bleating his case to his two trusted bodyguards. He was lost in his own world thinking of all the ways Cersei could and would kill him unless he ran squealing away to the far reaches of Essos. He stopped to glare at his not so understanding bodyguards.

He saw that Shae had gotten up and walked to the far wall behind him and picked up some almonds and started to eat them. He continued his soliloquy of woe and the unjust wrath of his sister pleading his case to Shae. She snorted at what he was trying to tell her and she turned her back on Tyrion. He was miffed but ignored her turning his attention to Bronn.

“I tell you Bronn, my sister can be a real bitch!”

“A bitch is it?” Bronn snarled at Tyrion.

Tyrion was taken aback by the vicious tone.

“What is your problem man?! I got serious problems here!”

Bronn got up from his chair. Tyrion saw in his hand a scroll. “I think they are about to get much more serious.” He handed Tyrion a scroll with the seal of House of Lannister.

Great Tyrion thought. Bronn’s tone sounded ominous for some reason. He took the scroll and sat back in his special designed chair he had had moved near his desk so he could relax while working. Great. What did his father have to say? Today of all days.

He broke the seal. He unfolded the scroll and his heart sank to his balls as they retracted up his nut sack.

The writing was in his sister’s beautiful calligraphy. Dear Brother, It has come to my attention the mean and cruel things you have said of me. This cannot stand. You may think I have no access to funds but my sweet wife has made her family wealth available to me her wife. A wife you said I could never win. A sword I would never achieve. The path I chose would be totally beyond me. I have achieved all my dreams you loathsome dwarf insect. Money can buy anything as you know dear brother. I will have my revenge. I have bought your two bodyguards off sweet Tyrion. Say goodbye to life brother. Forever your loving Sister Cersei.

Tyrion looked up with terrified eyes. He saw Bronn getting up from his chair drawing his sword from its scabbard.

“I will make this quick dwarf” Bronn intoned evilly. His face twisted into an ugly mask of contempt and hate.

Tyrion was cornered and scooted back into his chair his feet coming up to the front of the sitting cushion and pushing himself into the chair back. Bronn had his sword out now.

Tyrion started to bleat and squeal looking around with big round eyes of pure terror. Not like this!

Suddenly, something flashed before his eyes and then he felt that something bit into his neck. He felt the little hands on Shae’s chain he had given her. He was being strangled by the very gift he had given Shae Tyrion thought shrilly. The small gold hands biting hard into his flesh. His neck jerked back as the chain was twisted and his throat was constricted. His small hands came up to try and get underneath the tightening gold chain. His body slammed into the back of the chair with savage strength stunning Tyrion. He was screaming in choked terror and bucking as the gold chain was twisted and bit harder into his throat.

He was being garroted! Bronn was almost upon him his sword being pulled back for a death blow.
The gold chain was twisted harder into his throat. All breath now cut off. The chain beginning to cut into his throat.

Tyrion’s eyes rolled back into his skull as his body bucked in his chair the legs barking on the floor.
The sound of his garroting obscene in the room.

Suddenly the pressure was gone. He gasped for breath and continued to buck wildly in terror in his padded chair. For nearly a minute he choked for breath and wildly wiggled around in his chair. He could not control his harsh squeals from his bruised throat. His senses overwhelmed with terror. He slowly started to get his wits back. He looked around with wide eyes. Why had they ceased their attack?

It was then he heard it. Behind him, Tyrion heard high pitched giggles and then guffaws. He looked in front of his chair and saw movement down on the floor just out of eyesight. He sat up and looked down. Bronn was on the ground in front of him laughing his ass off. He rolled around his legs kicking as he laughed so hard he could hardly breathe. He would point at Tyrion and laugh even harder. For a minute more, Tyrion sat on his chair getting his wits back about him. He rubbed his throat as Shae squealed on the floor behind him.

“Oh Bronn! Did you see that look on his face! It was priceless. That was so sweet strangling him with his own gift to me! That was a wonderful idea of Cersei’s.”

Tyrion’s eyes bulged with righteous fury at his sister. Bitch! Damn her eyes! How in the hell had she gotten so damn fucking clever! It was obvious now that he had never been in any true danger.
Only the danger of utter degrading humiliation! Damn his Sister!

Bronn was still laughing and rolling around on the floor. He held up another scroll. Tyrion looked behind his chair. Shae was laughing holding her stomach “Oh it hurts … but I can’t stop laughing!”
She gripped her stomach laughing hard.

Tyrion got up from the chair to snatch the scroll from Bronn. It was then he felt it and squirmed in his britches. He closed his eyes for a long moment considering his blighted path. He opened his eyes. Could his humiliation get any greater! He felt something wet running down his legs as he grimaced. He had been terrified damnit! Then the smell hit him. Gods! The stench! He had heard one’s own shit did not stink. That was bullshit … uh—whatever! With great care Tyrion moved down off the platform of his chair. Each step causing unconscionable things to happen in his trousers.

Bronn levered himself up to one elbow. Tears were running down his face. “Gods Tyrion.” He started to imitate Tyrion “I’m a savage beast … I know the fighting styles of the Tiger, the Snake … and what was that last one—oh yeah! The Praying Mantis.” Bronn snorted and then chortled.
“HA! I say your fighting styles are the Worm, the Chicken and the Sloth! You suck!” He was back on the floor laughing hysterically.

“Oh Bronn—I know what Tyrion’s fighting style is” Shae squealed sitting up. “You ever see those goats that when they get scared or excited they freeze up and get all stiff and then fall over and shiver
… that is our Tyrion.” She stopped and sniffed her nose crinkling. “Whew! Of course the goats don’t shit all over themselves. Gods Tyrion. I always knew you were a little shit but this is ridiculous!” With that Shae was back on the ground rolling around laughing her ass off.
Tyrion tried to storm over to Bronn but his current predicament in his trousers only allowed him to waddle. Very slowly. He finally made it to Bronn. He ripped the scroll from Bronn’s hand. “Oh man if you could have seen your face Tyrion. Gods it was precious.” Bronn’s nose wrinkled up “By the way could you please back up there—your odor is most foul … gods your shit is heinous!” and he fell into another wild fit of laughing.

“Fuck you Bronn!” Tyrion roared. Tyrion’s eyes flared wide in panic. Unfortunately, his roar of righteous fury and indignation had made his core and thighs clench. Big mistake! NO! His body betrayed him yet again! Like a battering ram assaulting a castle gate offal assaulted his sphincter. A sphincter not up to the challenge! His damn butthole made another sickening fucking deposit in his short cloth. The bubbling squirting sounds from his ass the very definition of humiliation. He stiffened trying to stop the rush of disaster but it was too little too late.

His bodyguard could tell by Tyrion’s face and body language exactly what had happened. “Shae! The Lion of Lannister has roared again … unfortunately it was his asshole and not his mouth! Shae—he shit his pants again.” Behind him, Tyrion heard Shae squeal with delight. Bronn rolled around on the floor laughing so hard he was gasping. Then he rolled over and hit his head on a chair leg. He cursed loudly. Serves him right Tyrion thought to himself bitterly.

Tyrion squirmed as he felt offal run down his legs and now weeping round to soak his massive manhood in his offal. His socks began to be soaked. Tyrion closed his eyes. He would have his revenge against his bitch sister for this! With a snarl Tyrion ripped the seal apart. “Go change your short clothes Tyrion. I know you soiled yourself.”

That was all Cersei wrote. When the hell had she gotten this damn clever! This new Cersei was definitely a pain in his ass! Literally at the moment! Humiliated and full of righteous fury he stomped to behind the changing screen off to the side of his dresser. It took a long time. His steps awkward as he felt the mess in his short clothes squishing and running down his legs. Gods he was sooooo humiliated.

He ripped off his soiled clothes and got the wash cloth out of the basin. He nearly fainted with the full impact of his offal impacting his nostrils. He fought ralphing. His fucking bodyguard and his whore were still laughing gales of scorn at their employer. Damnit! What part of the employer slash employee relationship did they not understand?! More laughter at his expense inflamed his righteous ire.

He filled the basin with an urn of water. The nymphs on the side lovely to look at. He roughly started to clean his soiled body. He heard Shae by the screen still giggling. “Gods who let the pig sty in here? Your shit, Tyrion, smells like, well, shit.” Shae broke into gales of laughter. Bronn shouted from the floor still laughing “you must have been a sheep in your previous life with all that bleating. Gods your little limbs were kicking and jerking so fast you dwarf! You have no shame man!”

Har-har-har-har Tyrion thought sullenly as he continued to clean offal off the most delicate parts of his body.

Another scroll was thrown over the screen by a squealing Shae. It bounced off his head and tumbled to the floor. Of course thought Tyrion. He bent over to pick it up. He heard Shae fall to the ground and sounds of her body undulating with her endless squeals and giggles.

He ripped the infernal scroll from his damnable sister open. Sorry. I could not help myself dear brother. Again, short and concise. Cersei had the actual gall to draw a smiley face after her one sentence. One eye was winking at him and the face had a tongue sticking out. In holy, sanctified, righteous fury Tyrion flipped off the smiley face with his jerking right hand middle finger. He would have his revenge! The only problem was how do you get your revenge on a woman who now had the strength of ten men and the reflexes of a fucking cheetah.

It took Tyrion another ten minutes to finish cleaning himself and put on new underclothes and fresh unsoiled garments. His bodyguards were chortling all the while making jokes at Tyrion’s expense.

“What is three feet tall and full of shit?”

“Tyrion!”

“What bleats like a diseased sheep and shits all over itself?”

“Tyrion!”

“What smells like the offal pits of the deepest levels of hell?”

“Tyrion!”

And so it went on as Tyrion ground his teeth in furious fury at his bastard and bitch supposed bodyguards. He would have his revenge! He just had too!

“My gods Bronn. You could hear his shit sloshing in his short cloth! It sounded like a backed up sewer” Shae got out between laughs and gasps.

“I wonder how many logs were in there. How many Tyrion? Keep sawing them out your ass dwarf!” Bronn barked derisively.

He stepped out from behind the screen and struck a royal poise with hands on hips and glared at his two bodyguards who were sitting on the floor on their asses. The two bodyguards shared a quick look. They had obviously concocted something else. Tyrion knew they had more abuse that was about to spew his way. He watched them get up.

Bronn suddenly shoved both hands on his ass as he stiffened up and rose up to the balls of his feet with a look of panic.

Shae for her part in the murmur’s play contorted her face and started making flatulent noises like she was taking a shit. She had on a sleeveless blouse to show off her charms and stuck her right hand underneath her left arm and worked that arm making even more flatulent noises.

Bronn started to bleat and squeal. “No NO! I am shitting my britches. Hear me roar!” He then squirmed around and fell to the floor still holding his fucking butt! “Wait a moment!” Bronn suddenly tensed as if he was trying expel a deuce “Maybe I can crap out a broadsword or maybe a battleax!”

Tyrion felt his face contort with anger at Bronn’s supposed humor!

Then Shae suddenly went stiff and started to shake. Tyrion eyed her and wondered what the hell was her problem now. He hoped she was having a pal mal seizure. Her eyes rolled into her skull and she fell to the floor her limbs kicking as she shook all over. Tyrion started to move to her worried that maybe she was having a seizure.

Then of a sudden Shae started to bleat like a goat. “Bahhhh ba ba bbbaahhhhhhh bbbhbbhh bbaaaaa bbaaaaa! Then Tyrion understood. She was imitating the goat she had spoken of earlier. “Bbbaaaaahhh ba babaaabbaaa bbbaaa baaaa … Translation—I have shit all over myself!” Shae squealed.

Both she and Bronn sat up looking at Tyrion with triumphant looks of supposed wit and humor.

They took one look at the glaring dwarf and exploded into laughter again. Shae threw another royal scroll onto the floor and kicked it towards Tyrion with her foot as she laughed great belly gripping peals of twittering laughter. Bronn was rolling around like he was on fire he was laughing so hard.

Gods he wanted to garrote the bastards! The only problem was if this was all aimed at Olenna, Tyrion would be laughing his ass off as well. But it wasn’t! It was all aimed at him! It wasn’t fair!

Tyrion stomped over and snatched the scroll off the floor and ripped it open. In this scroll Cersei explained how she had been sending ravens for two and half weeks planning the prank with Varys, Olenna and his bodyguards. How working with Cersei they all had lain the groundwork for his humiliation. That was his sister’s revenge for his bets against her. His vile remarks she actually found funny. I ask it though I do not deserve dear brother. Try and find it in your heart to forgive me. I know I do not deserve it but I ask it. Until we meet in the future Tyrion. Live well and prosper.

What a strange world we live in Tyrion mused. Cersei really was a new person. He looked at his still uncontrollably laughing body guards. He would have his revenge. Somehow. Someway. Not on Cersei. She was way too dangerous, but, two incompetent bodyguards would get theirs. Just let them wait Tyrion thought crossly. He watched his supposed bodyguards still rolling on the ground derisively laughing at him as they would point at him and laugh even harder.

Yes, his revenge would be sweet. He just had to win eventually damnit! Damn them ALL!
Healing, Bindings and Portents - Part II

Healing, Bindings and Portents

Margaery / Eddard / Obara / Tyrion / Eddard / Arya / Daenerys / Oberyn / Arik

Eddard

Eddard sat on the edge of the bed where his wife slept peacefully. He had spent the last few days with his newborn children and his restored to him wife. Eddard gently stroked the hair off his wife’s forehead. The children were sleeping on the bed beside her. Lyanna was resting against her mother’s side near her shoulder while Brandon slept lower down her body. Both pressed into their mother to feel her warmth and solid presence. The children slept peacefully.

Eddard smiled softly at his wife. She was in her element having two newborns to care for. She loved breast feeding them letting them take the teat and wiggling their heads to get a good suck on her nipples and then hungrily nursing. To ease the burden a nurse maid came in regularly to check whether their diapers needed changing.

Fortunately, for Catelyn the children were not cranky or colic. He had held both his son and daughter many times and had enjoyed immensely seeing their beautiful faces looking up at him. He knew it would be several months before they could truly focus on him. For now it was more than enough to hold them and listen to them coo and make baby noises.

He would look at the babies and saw in their features his long lost brother and sister. Looking at his new children, Eddard had memories of his long lost siblings come back crystal clear as if it was yesterday he last saw them. Brandon and Eddard taking Lyanna down to the crypts and trying to scare her and her turning the tables on them ambushing them form behind statues and crypts. Or how she loved to climb trees in the summer and stay until the evening time had arrived. Eddard smiled as he remembered Lyanna’s legs hooked over a limb and swinging upside down.

He had memories with Brandon but they were not as sharp or as focused as the ones of his sister. They both had had the wolf running strong in their veins. That strong passion and willingness to fight the system had probably led to their early deaths he thought.

Eddard sighed. Both of their deaths had been such a waste. He could still remember the pain and anger he had felt at his father and brother’s death at the hand of the mad Targaryen king. He had judged Jaime Lannister much too harshly. The King had been beyond a despot and truly insane.

Eddard picked up little Lyanna and softly cradled her to his body. Her doppelganger had been forced by tradition to marry Robert Baratheon. With her keen insight she had seen the man Robert would become. Long before he did. She had rebelled as was her nature. She did not love Robert and instead eloped with Rhaegar Targaryen with whom she was in love with. Eddard sighed again. Rhaegar had been married to Elia Martell a woman he did not love. The heir prince and his sister had run off together to pursue their hearts desires.

The result was the death of many thousands and destruction of property that had taken years to recover from. Many great men had died over nothing really Eddard now saw. He felt anger within himself for himself that he had so steadfastly stood beside Robert in his rebellion. He had known in his heart what kind of man Robert was and he fought to make it possible for that man to marry his sister against her will. She had accepted her fate but deep down it was against her will.

Fool! Eddard stormed at himself.

He would not make that mistake again. He was tired of honor for honor’s sake. Maybe if Rhaegar and Lyanna had been free to marry whom they chose so much bloodshed could have been avoided. It was that truth that made him so willing to let his children marry as they chose. He snorted as he shook his head. His eldest had chosen a traditional wife at least. True Alys did not bring more power or prestige to House Stark but Robb was in love with Alys and totally devoted to her. She would make great wife and a loyal supporter to the new Warden of the North when the time came.

His eldest daughter, like Arya, had also chosen to marry her own sex and he fully supported her. Margaery Tyrell was a crafty practitioner of the Game of Thrones. It came naturally to Margaery. Eddard thought it ran in her heritage. She was this generation’s Olenna Redwyne. She would be a powerful force in the Queen’s court. Eddard had seen Margaery pull a side out of Sansa that he did not know existed in his eldest daughter. Sansa was proving to be as crafty at the Game of Thrones as her wife to be. He found it very interesting to see his eldest daughter evolving into such an accomplished puller of the levers of power.

Eddard was embarrassed to see that his eldest daughter was a very capable strategist and able to grasp all the concepts of warfare and logistics. She had in a way fallen into the role. A role Eddard would never have considered grooming Sansa for. Why? Because she was a woman was the sad answer. Daenerys Targaryen had shown the fallacy of Eddard’s limited thinking. Eddard was guilty of following convention. He had to do better in the future.

With a sigh, Eddard considered this. He would do better. He looked down at his youngest daughter. He would help her to achieve her dreams from the time she could walk and talk.

His now second oldest daughter was also marrying a woman. The Queen of Westeros. Arya was marrying the most powerful person on two continents. His Arya would never be a player on the board of Game of Thrones. She was much more the wolf like Eddard’s sister. She and Daenerys Targaryen were filled with a power that rivaled that of any man. Daenerys Targaryen was Rhaegar Targaryen without any of his weaknesses. She would never ruin a kingdom for an illicit affair.

Daenerys was a better swordsman than her long dead brother and her temperament would make her a much better ruler than Rhaegar could have ever been. He was too inward focused and did not have the fire and zeal to be a great leader. That Daenerys had in abundance. She had smashed the slave trade in less than three years by sheer force of will and great tactics.

It shamed him knowing he never would have undertaken such a task upon himself. He would have considered the task impossible. It had always existed and always would. That would have been his mindset. He was an honest enough man to admit it.

He looked back down at his newest children. When he looked at her and his newborn son he saw his long dead siblings. They would be given another chance in this life to find happiness and peace. The fact they had Tully blue eyes gave him hope that though they were ghosts of their past selves they were still different. They would find another path and find a life both prosperous and long. The world that Daenerys Targaryen was creating would give them the freedom to find their own way in life. Eddard would support them in that journey but he would let them choose the path they walked.

He tickled Lyanna’s chin and she kicked her legs. He sat her back down. He slowly stood up and looked down at his sweet wife and sweet children.

All these thoughts of Lyanna had filled a desire in his soul to visit his sister. He had been so filled with anguish when he sent men to retrieve her body and none had been found. He knew some force loyal to Rhaegar had taken her body to honor it as a Targaryen. He had been forced to find a recently deceased young woman to give the silent sisters. They had not known of Lyanna’s looks and blithely turned the imposter to bones. It was those bones interned in the crypts. Eddard had statues carved of father, brother and sister. So much death. He much preferred celebrating life.

He walked over to the wall beside the fireplace. There he picked up Evening Star in its scabbard and the wet stone on a string that was hung over the hilt. He put the scabbard over his head and synched it to his back. He put the whetstone in his pocket. He looked at his sleeping wife with her sweet smile and two innocent sleeping babes.

He left the room and slowly walked down the halls of Winterfell. It had been some time since he had gone to the tombs in the crypts. He walked deep in thought. He had a war to fight and win and then hopefully under the new Queen’s rule the lands of Westeros and Essos could enjoy a time of extended peace. He knew it did not seem to be man’s nature to remain at peace but he sincerely hoped that he could live out the rest of his days without another war. He wished that for Robb to not have to marshal the forces of the North to go to war.

He made it outside on the North side of the Great Keep. It was cold outside and he had on a thick coat and cloak on his body to ward against the cold. He was born of the North and was warm enough in his clothing. He smiled at the Southerners who chattered their teeth outside in this weather no matter how much clothing on their bodies.

Stannis and Renly would grit their teeth and try not to show it. If one was exercising or practicing their Warcraft they did not feel the cold but once they stopped it was run for shelter.

He noticed that the visitors from the Land did not seem to have the same problems with the cold. It was really quite awe inspiring. Eddard did not mind the cold if he could dress for it. The denizens from this Land and the Giants seemed to be almost immune from the cold. The Giants did not feel the cold at all from what he could tell. They had laughed about it in the feast hall. The Giants had then stated that fire did not burn them either.

They had first made this claim in the feast hall. To all it sounded like a braggadocios claim. Catcalls were shouted out to prove the seeming fanciful claim.

The Giants had laughed saying they would prove the doubters wrong. They drank great draughts of their Diamonddraught. The Giants told all that though the fire did not harm them it was still very painful. After the Giants had fortified themselves with their potent drink they slammed the cups down on the table. The three Giants went to the great hearth. They lowered themselves to their knees before the hearth and stuck their hands into the fire and gripped the burning logs. The fire did not harm their flesh.

The Warden of the North had walked over to witness this feat. Their hands had ahold of thick locks full of red cankers radiating out heat. The fingers crushing into the logs. Little sparks and eddies of flames flowing out from between the fingers. Eddard was shocked at this. He looked from fingers around hot burning logs up to the Giant’s faces. Faces still above his height even though the Giants had gone to one knee.

Eddard observed that the Giants did indeed feel the fire licking their flesh. The faces locked down while sweat beaded on their faces. Their eyes bulged with repressed pain. The Giants gritted their teeth enduring the pain.

The Giants must not have been used to not having anyone else have the same immunity to fire. They had stare wide eyed at Daenerys Targaryen when she left her table and calmly walked to the hearth and smiled kneeling beside them. She reached into the fire and gripped the log that Braveheart Tillerkeel had her right hand gripping. Daenerys looked at Braveheart and put her other hand into the flames gripping the flaming log tightly. All gasped in the room. It was known that one of Daenerys names was the Unburnt but to actually see it in the flesh and realize it was not hyperbole was something else. Daenerys knew she had all eyes on her in the room. Eddard admired the Queens savvy. It gave her an air of invulnerability and superiority.

When you had a reputation of being a fierce warrior or having skills and abilities others did not you usually had the battle already won. Your opponents would know of your capabilities and fret and feel fear enter their heart. The battle was usually already won. One’s own fear was a most brutal opponent.

Daenerys’ own face grimaced as she too felt the flames but she did not feel it as much as the Giants. She endured the flames as much as the visiting Giants. When they had finished and arose the Giants were most impressed and shouted out that they had a small sister here in Westeros. They had slapped her on the back nearly knocking her senseless. The Giants apologized for their exuberance to the gasping for breath Queen.

Now outside, Eddard saw the Giants in their amour under their simple blouses and short leggings down to mid-thigh. Their breath steamed in the air with each breath as they practiced their sword work with each other. Eddard had found he could fight to a draw usually with the Haruchai and the Ramen. With the Ramen he most often won but sometimes he would feel their garrote slip around his neck and know in real combat he would be dead. With Haruchai it was almost always a draw the victories and defeats fairly even between him and the fighters from the high Western mountains of their home.

The speed of the lands’ warriors was simply staggering to behold. They all seemed to be blessed with lightning fast reflexes and unnatural strength for such small and slender bodies. The Ramen and Haruchai he could handle as well as the best warriors in Westeros. Eddard saw that in this world men and women had to train hard and only a few reached the skill level that Eddard had achieved. He was the exception.

In the Land he would only be the norm if he was Haruchai or Ramen. These people were all supremely skilled and blessed with unnatural reflexes and strength.

The Giants were another matter altogether. With their blades being eight to ten feet in length and the speed and strength to move as fast as himself they were simply unbeatable by men of common stature. Gregor Clegan with his eight foot height had the beginnings of the strength to contend with the Giants but his slowness would make him an easy foe for the Giants. They moved every bit as fast as Barristan, Syrio or himself. It was simply freakish unnatural to see such speed and agility in women twice his height and more.

He and Barristan would fight them from time to time to test their speed and agility. They simply had to avoid the sword strikes of the Giants. Each blow against their swords felt like a comet falling from the sky hitting his sword arm. The shock of colliding steel and stone was shocking. Eddard with Evening Star and Barristan with his Valyrian steel sword could fight the Giants without worrying whether their swords would be broken or simply shatter.

Eddard could not understand how granite did not shatter but the Giants told him the stone swords were crafted by the best mages of their homeland. Like Valyrian steel the Giants blades were made with magic and thus had strengths that normal metal could not touch.

Syrio actually had a better chance against the denizens of the land. His lack of armor and water dancing skills allowed him to track and keep up with the Ramen and Haruchai. His rapier would slash and thrust and find at times the breast of a Haruchai or Ramen. It made Eddard feel humbled.

With the Giants he was like a gnat that confounded the Giants. Syrio would come in and hit their legging armor. His own forged Valyrian steel blade was impossibly sharp but the Giants armor easily repulsed each slash. Magical stone armor negating magical metal blades. The Giants found him aggravating. Several times Syrio had to run away looking over his shoulder with a smirk as he dodged right and left avoiding the outreached hands of the chasing cursing Giants. They would then drink with him at night making up long songs on the spot celebrating his adroitness with the sword and this “water dancing” that they found intriguing.

It appeared Syrio’s skills inspired the advances of Longwarth Keelstone and Gibbousspar Ebbtide. “We wish to see if this Water Dancing is equally good in bed. We want to feel you fucking us and sucking us off all night long. We are quite skilled in oral lovemaking.” Syrio had turned deep crimson and fled the room with the Giants up and chasing after him. Their demands for satisfaction echoing down the halls while they chased the fast fleeing fallen First Sword of Braavos.

Eddard was happy to see there was other prudes still walking the halls of Winterfell. It was nice to not be alone in being a stick in the mud prude. The sudden conversion of Stannis and Selyse to perversion was quite shocking still to Eddard.

Someone else was perplexed by the choices of the denizens of the Land. “Why do these Land people get so fucking enamored with the stiff and boring people Eddard?!” Oberyn groused to Eddard from across the table in the feast hall. “They should be all over you.” Eddard shook his head and smiled. That was an insult but from Oberyn it was a compliment. Eddard did not know why Oberyn was grousing. He seemed to have made converts of the Ramen Cords and now the Manethrall had joined in the festivities from what he heard through the grapevine.

Oberyn was whining to the Queen to have her fly Ellaria up to Winterfell. “Damnit Daenerys it is only right! Why Stannis and not me!” Oberyn whined to the Queen.

She refused saying it was too close to going to war now. Oberyn had thrown a royal fit of immaturity. He was beyond pissed seeing Selyse Florent getting her brains fucked out by the Haruchai. Harrnor and Hallyn two male Haruchai had joined in the fun at night it seemed. Selyse had been breathless saying how they and Stannis took turns holding her up in the air with their strong arms and slamming their hard cocks up her pussy and ass. She had screamed feeling their cum shooting up into her ass and cunt. Then Tass and Soral another married pair of Haruchai took Selyse to their furs and sat on her face letting her eat their cunts to explosive orgasms that made the women scream so loud again and again. Selyse had gotten very skilled at eating pussy it would seem.

Selyse had gone from a prim and proper to … well … a slut Eddard thought. He did not mean it in a derisive way. If people wanted to—ahem—fuck all night long with multiple partners he could not gainsay it. Still, this sudden change was unsettling and a little awe inspiring in a perverted way. Selyse had no problem telling anyone who wanted to know how she had been fucked in all her holes at the same time and gobbling pussy half the night.

Eddard was not sure he should be upset or celebrate her transformation. He had no use for the false teachings of the Septons. The old gods were mute on sexuality. Probably for good reason.

Eddard heard from Oberyn in his long diatribes about Stannis and Selyse how the wife of Stannis had turned into an insatiable slut. “The damn hussy loves to be watched! She sucks the Haruchai off for hours. She sucks cock and pussy now like she has been doing thus since her flowering! Her jaw never tires I tell you! She moves from male to female with totally aplomb. Gods she can really deep throat Eddard!” Oberyn moaned and whined that Stannis and Selyse were ‘stealing all his dick and pussy!’ “It isn’t fair Eddard!”
“Why Eddard! Why!” Oberyn nearly sobbed to the Warden of the North.

“Why do you watch if it upsets you Oberyn?” Eddard had asked reasonably.

Oberyn had simply stared at him aghast.

“Because it is hot man! You should join me. You have the advantage that you won’t be getting pissed off. The damn Haruchai won’t let me join in!” Oberyn whined petulantly. “The fuckers won’t show any fucking emotion but I know they are doing it now just because it pisses me off!” Oberyn nearly bellowed. “Damnit! Selyse keeps telling everyone she wants to suck you and Catelyn off. A lot. She tells everyone she will make you two scream.”

That had made Eddard blush hotly. He may be a prude but he was happy if Selyse had found another path to sexual happiness. She had really changed. That fact was sure Eddard mused to himself shaking his head.

Selyse was spending whole nights in lesbian debauchery. Eddard could not fathom how such a straight laced woman could so radically change her demeanor when it came to sex and being a dour faced sourpuss. Now she laughing and getting her brains fucked out each and every night since her arrival at Winterfell. She had become insatiable.

Eddard had to agree with Oberyn. The Haruchai had selected the most boring of sexual partners. But Eddard also had to admit that the Haruchai sure knew how to bring out the sexual beast in a person. Stannis had joined two male Haruchai Harrnor and Hallyn in fucking Ranrika and Ferna over and over. The unbelievable feats were the talk of Winterfell. Stannis was quite vocal and was happily telling all who would listen of his nightly festivities. The three cocksmen fucked the willing female Haruchai again and again throughout the night.

While Stannis boned female Haruchai, Selyse had spent the night having her pussy sucked inside out and her belly filled with hot sweet female cum. She loudly proclaimed at the table the next morning how much she loved pussy!

Eddard had simply stared at this woman imposter of Selyse Florent. This could not be her! Oberyn had lost it and slammed his fist onto the table. The grits that flung out the bowl in front of him soaking his body. This had led to quite the cursing fit by the Red Viper. Eddard’s ears and face had turned very red. Such language!

Having the two once prudes after him trying to get Eddard to ‘see the light’ had confounded Eddard. Between Stannis and Selyse trying to talk him into this “swing” lifestyle and listening to Oberyn bitch about it all, Eddard was quite looking forward to going to war. This hedonism was unnerving to Eddard. He wanted his quiet life back! What was wrong with one man and one woman! … or one woman and one woman … hell one man and one man. Oberyn seemed to have brought Dorne with him! He needed his quite North back.

This morning Eddard had had to flee the feast hall yet again. Selyse had saddled in beside his body looking at him with hot throbbing eyes. Eddard was poleaxed. He was not a sexual person but Selyse was radiating sexual hunger. Then her hand started to stroke his leg! Not only was she stroking his leg but it quickly worked up his leg dangerously high!

“Come to my and Stannis’s bed tonight Eddard. You demeanor is so Haruchai … I want you … I will fuck you so good Eddard” Selyse had husked to Eddard with pulsing green eyes. She leaned her body into his. She only wore thin tops now and her warm breast pushed into his ribs. She was wearing alluring perform now. She batted her long eyelashes and started to move her mouth to neck. Alarmed Eddard leaned back.
“I’m married!” Eddard had nearly shouted!

“So am I” Selyse giggled. “You and Stannis can DP my ass and stretch out my asshole double anal … I will clean your and Stannis’s cocks sweet ATM.” Selyse said this with a smoky voice and hot throbbing eyes. She fully meant it!

That had been it! Eddard did the only thing he could do in the situation.

He had run away not looking back. He needed to go to war! He needed Winterfell nice and peaceful again.

He walked past the fighting warriors admiring their skill and speed. He could not help it. Eddard would always admire marital prowess. He walked thought the Guards Hall. He spoke to the warriors there who hailed him. They tried to get him to join them in their sword practice but he told them he was on his way to the crypts to visit his dead. The men and women quieted down then. All could respect Eddard Stark giving respect to his fallen. Most knew the sad history of his father and siblings.

He walked out into the large grass yards of this part of the compound. He walked slowly gathering his thoughts. Eddard remembered the anger and rage he felt when he learned the fate of his father and brother. It had been the tender that lit his fire to join Robert Baratheon in his rebellion. He had seen enough injustice for one lifetime. Then the sad fate of Lyanna occurred.

Her death had been beginning of the slow change of Eddard Stark. Was honor worth it when so much death and destruction ensued over the right to marry a woman who did not love her betrothed? A man who would have cheated as shamelessly on Lyanna as he had with Cersei Lannister. He now knew nothing would have changed if Robert had married Lyanna. Robert simply had no honor when it came to his martial vows. He demanded that his wife be pure while he had none. He was a cad. Nothing else could describe the man.

He was happy the Queen had spared his childhood friend but he had long ago lost all respect for the slovenly fool he had become. He had been a blight on the realm. Fortunately, a savior had come from across the seas. He would hitch his loyalty to Daenerys Targaryen.

He had reached the crypts. He stood at the crypt's ironwood door. He looked around him. He was now in the oldest section of Winterfell near the First Keep. He reached for the door knob. The door was old and heavy but it was counter levered and opened easily on its hinges. He walked down into the chilly and dark crypts of his ancestors. The line of buried Starks reaching back millenniums in the levels below. The way to the crypts accessible only by a narrow and winding spiral stone steps which lead to multiple levels.

The first several levels were for storage and for future generations when the time came. Eddard kept moving down the steps. He came to the highest level that had tombs for the current generations deceased Starks. The floor had a long line of granite pillars, two by two, between which are entombed the dead of House Stark. He held up his torch and looked at the vaulted ceiling. The shadows made ghosts of his ancestors flirting from dark space to dark space.

He looked down the line of the most recent statues of the latest kings entombed in the crypts. While all family members had tombs in the crypts statues were traditionally only made for Kings in the North and Lords of Winterfell. The likenesses of his predecessors were carved into the stone, some shaggy, some clean shaven. Large stone Direwolves were curled at their feet. According to tradition, iron longswords across each lord's lap kept vengeful spirits within the crypt at bay.

Eddard looked down both ends of the cavernous hall with statues of his forbears. One day he would lie in this crypt. He would be beside his father in eternal sleep. He felt at peace here with his ancestors and especially with Lyanna. He still missed his sister after all these years. The lack of a body still rankled Eddard. He felt he violated the memory of Lyanna having another woman’s bones in her crypt. He did not remove the bones. Some woman had become part of the Stark lineage by Eddard’s duplicity. He would not defile that unknown woman’s bones.

The cavernous vault was larger than Winterfell itself, with older Starks buried in deeper and darker levels. The lowest level had partly collapsed but over the last three years he had had the walls shored up and new stone and plaster erected. He had the statutes repaired and the heavy dust and dirt removed. Swords that had rusted away had been replaced. He thought he owed it to his ancestors to give their last resting place the respect it desired. His recent ancestors had been very remiss in their duty of honoring the past. He had grown tired of letting decay set into House Stark.

Eddard had broken with tradition in only letting lords have statues. He had statues erected for his father Rickard of course. He had also had statues made of his deceased siblings, Brandon and Lyanna. He had done this immediately after Robert's Rebellion. He had felt he needed to honor their sacrifices that they had made. The tombs further back, empty and unsealed, were saved for future members of House Stark.

Eddard stopped before the tomb of Lyanna after lighting the torches in the scions on the wall in that section of the crypts. He turned his back and settled down before the pedestal that housed the statute of Lyanna. Eddard placed his back against it. In this way he felt connected to his long dead sister. He had pulled his sword from its scabbard and placed it across of his knees and began to run his whetstone up the blade in slow rhythmic strokes. The sound soothing to his ears. The steady motion of his hand moving up the perpetually sharp blade soothing to the warrior.

Eddard marveled at his sword that had come to him unlooked for. The sword made Eddard think of Arthur Dayne. His thoughts turned melancholy.

He spoke to Lyanna with his thoughts. He asked her yet again if he had made the right decisions so long ago. If had not joined Robert in his rebellion or even joined Rhaegar’s forces what would have happened? If he had sided with the royal forces Jon Arryn would have sided with him. He knew it. They would have crushed Robert’s cause in the bud. Then Lyanna would have been in King’s Landing with the Grand Maester and all his devices and poultices. Maybe she would have survived. Maybe Aegon would not have survived his childhood. One never knew which children would survive. Then Jon would be the rightful heir to the throne or maybe he would have already ascended the Iron Throne by now. Jon had certainly proved himself capable of being a great leader and a great King.

So many possibilities. What could have been? What might have happened? He would never know.

Eddard told Lyanna again as he had so many times in the past how Jon had turned out. How he had grown into such a good man. A kind gentle man and a great leader of men. He had equated himself so well as the Night’s Watch commander. He had not had the opportunity before to tell Lyanna how he had taken two wives. Yes, Lyanna, two wives. Eddard chuckled to himself. He was a Targaryen after all.

A few minutes later he saw a light coming his way. Someone was coming into the tombs to visit the dead it would seem. He saw figures materialize from the gloom. He saw the Queen coming down the corridor of this section of the tombs. Her white hair glowed in the torchlight like a rising apparition from one of the tombs of his past ancestors. He immediately stood up to give his Queen the proper obeisance. Eddard bowed deeply to his Queen.

She waved off his show of submission. Bannor at the Queen’s side his body while not tense was definitely at attention. So were her Bloodriders. Eddard had heard the Queen and her Bloodriders coming but the Haruchai moved as silent as a ghost.

Again Eddard marveled at how the Haruchai could move and make no sound. He looked at the floor and the dust on it. He could see his previous steps and the new steps of Daenerys and her Bloodriders. The Haruchai barely left any imprint in the dust. Amazing. Three more Haruchai were with them and they moved on silently further into the tombs to disappear into the darkness. He assumed more Haruchai were giving the Queen a rear guard.

He looked up at the Queen and her Bloodguard guard. “Why the additional guard my Queen? I assure all is safe here. My family has visited and even played in these tunnels for generations without any harm befalling us. Only the dead haunt these halls.”

Bannor spoke with his flat atonal voice “There is great power here. The very air thrums with it. We feel it. We know caution. We will protect the Queen of Westeros with our lives if necessary.”

Eddard sighed. There was no power or danger here. He looked at Bannor and wondered. No. Eddard felt no power here. Still he welcomed any force that gave the Queen additional protection. Bannor moved around their location silently on the balls of their feet always vigilant.

Eddard looked around. “I am surprised I don’t see my daughter with you. She is always at your side Daenerys. You two seem inseparable.” That was as close as Eddard Stark could come to innuendo.

He saw the Queen lift and eyebrow and grace him with a small quirk of her lips.

“Yes, you are right, normally Arya is at my side. Especially in her bed. Or beneath me and I love to feel her weight pressing me down when she is top.”

Eddard felt his face turning scarlet. Blast! He knew better than to try and talk “smack” as he heard his children say it. He would never win such a verbal joust. He was indeed the prude he thought himself to be.

“Arya has told me of the tombs beneath Winterfell and I wanted to see them. She told me how you come down to these tombs to talk to your departed sister.”

Eddard grimaced and smiled. Was it that obvious?

“I hope I did not disturb you. Were you communing with your dead? With your sister?” The queen looked up at the statue that Eddard had been leaning against. It was of Lyanna looking down with one arm lifted up and the other hand reaching forward. The look on her carved face was regal, enigmatic and slightly fierce. At her feet was curled a fierce looking Direwolf.

“You have not carved Lyanna in a traditional pose for a Lady of the Court. There is something almost feral in her appearance” Daenerys observed to Eddard.

Eddard looked up at the statue. He had forgotten how he had requested that her likeness be rendered those many years ago. It was simply how he remembered his sister. Fierce and full of life. Any other pose would not have been true to Lyanna’s nature. Eddard would never lie to Lyanna again.

“I had her carved from stone to reflect the woman she was and not the woman that tradition said she should have been my Queen. She had not the freedom to be who she could have been. I did not make that mistake with Arya.”

“For that I am grateful Eddard Stark. Arya is the consort I have searched for since I took up my destiny so long ago in the Red Wastes.? I can see the love for Lyanna in your very demeanor. I fear I may have trespassed on this time of communing with your lost sister.”
“Yes I was my Queen but I welcome your presence here. I find it peaceful here. I like the silence and like to sharpen my sword here. It makes me feel connected to the past. I hope the connection to the past will help guide me to the future.”

Daenerys looked around. “Arya has told stories of her youth and of trips to the tombs to play with her siblings. She tells me how Jon covered himself in flour and tried to scare Arya. How she played hide and seek with her brothers in these tombs.”

Eddard snorted. It must be a family passage. He and Brandon had tried to play the same trick on Lyanna and she had known of it and brought pales of water with her. She had thrown it on them making the flour turn to paste. It had been most uncomfortable.

They talked of childhood memories and the fun that he and Arya had had in these tombs.

“I am so sorry for what my father did to your House Eddard. Your father and brother did not deserve the fate that befell them. My father was quite mad.”

Eddard assured her that her father’s sins were his and did not flow to the daughter. She had forged her own destiny. She would assuage the sins of the past.

Daenerys looked back at the statue of Lyanna. “She was very beautiful as is Arya. I have heard stories of Lyanna and her wild fierce nature. How she was probably the unknown Knight of the Laughing Tree. She had to hide her true self. You allowed Arya to become what Lyanna should have been.”

She turned and looked directly at Eddard.

“For that I am forever grateful. She is everything I have ever wished for in a woman. A warrior supreme like myself. A woman of honor and conscious. A woman fierce in the world and in my bed.”

Eddard could not stop blushing at the last. He gave the Queen a squint smile. She had very accurately described his daughter. He had forgotten just how much like Lyanna Arya was. They both had the wolf in them.

“I want you to know Eddard Stark that I plan to marry your daughter and I would ask formally for her hand in marriage.”

Eddard looked the Queen hard in the eye. He gauged the woman standing before him. She was what every parent would want in a spouse for their daughter. Daenerys would always love his daughter fiercely and be true to her. She would be with his daughter always.

He smiled at her. “You have my permission and my blessing to marry my daughter Daenerys Targaryen. My wife and I have been desiring to have a triple wedding for my three oldest children. I would be honored if you marry my second eldest daughter in the Godswood.”

“I accept Eddard. I would love to wed Arya at the same time that Robb and Sansa are wed to their loves.”

Eddard was happy to hear that. He would be happy to tell his wife the good news that it was now official that Arya would be wed at the same time as her two eldest children in the Godswood.

“I guess you know you have married a girl that is full of the wolf. She is just like my sister in so many ways.”
Daenerys smiled softly. “Yes I have Eddard. Your daughter’s first act upon our meeting was firing two arrows at my head, then fighting me sword to sword and then finally she punched me right in face.” Daenerys looked off for a moment a soft smile on her face. “It was love at first fist.”

Eddard could not stop himself from chuckling. Lyanna had so desired to be a warrior. She had fought and pleaded with their father to let her take up the bow and the sword. His father had of course refused. It was not accepted that women should have such desires. His father had enforced society’s norms on his daughter. Eddard knew a large reason he had allowed Arya to pursue her dreams of the warrior way was because of the frustration he had seen his beloved sister endure.

He could not bring himself to crush Arya’s dreams like that.

They talked for a while about the hoped for future. They avoided the talk of the coming war. This was not the time or the place for it. Twenty minutes later the Queen departed with her entourage of protectors. Eddard sat back down and pressed his back into Lyanna’s tomb. Eddard started to sharpen his sword again.

He mulled over the visit of the Queen. He hoped that the union between the Queen and his daughter would right the cosmic balance between House Targaryen and House Stark. The first union between the two Houses had brought war and death. Rhaegar and Lyanna had eloped and brought destruction behind them. They had followed their hearts. Eddard paused in the sharpening of his sword. His daughter had followed her heart too. This time history would be so different. There would be no eloping and breaking of marriage vows. Eddard knew that their wedding vows would be unbreakable.

He mused over how history could repeat itself. It was like history was trying to right the wrong of the last union of house of Targaryen and Stark.

Eddard felt at peace with his past and the present. Maybe for the first time. He felt like he could almost feel Lyanna’s presence. He lifted his sword up and looked down the blade. He had a flash of a vision. A great direwolf hollowing at the moon. His sword was glowing a soft blue-white light. He nearly dropped his sword but calmed himself.

“Evening Star calls to you Eddard Stark” a feminine voice called out to him from the darkness.

Eddard surged to his feet. He almost recognized the voice. From the gloom Lustra appeared holding her staff before her. At her side was Brail on the balls of her feet. Seven Haruchai fanned out and disappeared down the corridor. What was it that they sensed? He was totally baffled and perplexed. Generations of Stark children played in these tombs alone and were never assaulted by any persons or force.

Lustra and the Haruchai had moved so silently that he would be dead if they had wanted it and he would not have been able to even defend himself. The abilities of these people to move so silently was very off putting. Lustra looked around and up at the statue behind Eddard.

“She was very beautiful … I see much of Arya Stark in her visage. May I ask who she was in life?” Lustra asked Eddard gently.

“That was my sister Lyanna Stark. She like my daughter was a very beautiful woman and full of a fiery spirit. We said and say in our House that my sister and my daughter were and are filled with the wolf.”

“I agree Eddard. I would say they are both indeed filled with the wolf. One of them literally. Your daughter is filled to overflowing with Earthpower Eddard Stark. The queen too is filled with it.
Amok is even now in Dorne with Cersei Sand. She too has been filled with Earthpower. She has become mighty indeed. She has great struggles before her. As do you Eddard Stark.”

Eddard nodded. “Yes, I know. I have a great task before me in defeating the Ice King. I am surprised to hear you speak of Amok. You two seemed to have parted on less than pleasant terms.”

The Lord grimaced. “He came to me in private.” Eddard saw Brail tense up. It was evident the Haruchai had had her guard penetrated. “He explained much to me.”

“That is not what I speak of Eddard Stark. You will meet and defeat the Ice King and his Croyel. I believe in you. I speak of other challenges. Yes. I am most disconcerted by Amok. He visited me last night having slipped past Brail.” Eddard glanced at Brail. Just for a moment a glare crossed her face before she controlled her features. “He spoke to me of many things. Things I agree with and thus I am here. I need to help prepare you for the travails you will confront.”

“Amok is attuned to many doors now Warden of the North. I had not known that High Lord Sollarius had entrusted Amok with so much power and so many burdens. As Earthpower wanes in this world other doors that had been sealed are fraying and opening. I fear they can never be fully shut again. The Laws of Life and Death have been broken and can never be made whole again. Things long sealed away from this reality can now slip back into our world.”

“Such entities are now slipping into the Vale. Other monstrosities have arisen in Dorne. In that land Cersei Sand and her mate will confront that horror with her ally the Were-Direwolf who has no pack. They will contest that affront to nature and humanity. You have to confront the horror that has arisen in the Vale of Arryn. We both feel other tasks confront you but the Vale of Arryn must be your first task. It is imperative or much harm and death will occur.”

Eddard took a deep breath. “I know. I have been forewarned and had visions.” He looked at Lustra. “But I ask, Why me? That is the land of the Arryns.”

“Eddard Stark. You are too are a special man. You are not filled with Earthpower like your daughter and your Queen but your righteousness has given you a power unique to you. We of the Land can see you are filled with a power that is plain to us. The Haruchai consider it a great honor to fight you. They believe that you could become Haruchai if you choose. They would accept you and there is no higher honor among their people.”

Eddard held up his hand. “I think I will be happy her in the North of Westeros.”

The Lord looked up at Lyanna again. She started to speak to Eddard but paused. She seemed to change her mind.

“Eddard Stark. Mist vampires are arising in the high mountain passes of Arryn. Amok has told me they are a great evil that will consume all if left unchecked. You must go and meet them and silence their evil. They are a horror that we cannot allow to grow and propagate. They have no bodies to kill and yet kill they must be. They have only now spilled into our world. You will confront and defeat them.

“But why me? I am just a warrior. How can I contend with spirits that have no body? This is beyond my kin to confront or contend with.”

“Eddard Stark—this false modesty ill becomes you. The Haruchai deem you the greatest swordsman of this realm. You have obviously been gifted with a great magical sword. Not even Valyrian steel can fully fight the Mist Vampires. Not so this sword you bear and the sword that Cersei Sand will soon take up. They fell from the heavens for a reason so many ages ago. The fates foresaw this time and chose to give aid.

Eddard was stunned. Lustra could only be speaking of one sword. The sword of House Dawyne. He had heard of the curse that had been placed on it though he had not truly believed it. It clearly had not found one worthy of taking it. That was clear. For Cersei Lannister to be the next bearer of that sword. It made his mind spin. By the old gods Eddard gasped to himself. Cersei had changed mightily if she was the next bearer of Arthur Dayne’s sword. He was the greatest man he had ever met. What had Cersei become? Eddard wondered to himself.

He remembered his fight with Arthur Dayne. He had been fighting Arthur Dayne and had finally spotted a weakness in his stance and defense from attacks to his left. He was about ready to stop feigning his defense and go back on the offense when Howland Reed had attacked Arthur from the rear. It had made his attack so much simpler. Arthur would never have surrender. He put the man down. He did as he must as Arthur would have done to him if things had been reversed. It was the way of the warrior.

“You are fortunate we are in Westeros Eddard Stark” the Lord told Eddard. “Maybe there are multiple reasons why we have journeyed to his distant land. Amok, the Ur-viles and Wraiths of Andelain are even now forging the sword of the fallen star in Dorne and we now do so with your sword Eddard Stark.”

“This fallen star we feel was sent to the Earth for a reason. For this time. To be gifted with this sword at this time clearly shows you are preordained to come to the Earth’s defense in so many ways. It is your greatness that called to the maker of your sword. Only you are worthy of it.”

Lustra paused. She looked off in the direction of Dorne Eddard knew. “The sword in Dorne has not yet bonded with Cersei Sand as yours has with you. This sword of yours, Evening Star, will forever more only serve House Stark.”

Eddard looked at his sword. He had felt at times like the sword had something in it. Something akin to Daenerys Rune Sword.

Lustra looked behind herself. “I too have assistants in my task. From the shadows Eddard saw one of the Ur-vile Loremaster come into view from the inky shadow. Behind him was wedge of maybe twenty-five other Ur-viles of slightly lesser stature came into the soft light of the torches around Eddard. He sensed that the Ur-viles needed no light to be fully aware of their environs in the midnight dark beyond the torch light. The Ur-viles murmured in suppressed barks. Eddard could feel the power radiating from the Ur-viles. Eddard suddenly understood that these eyeless creatures were bred for the silent depths of stone and the pitch blackness of caverns and deep caves. They would find these caverns to be a pleasant home if the catacombs were vast enough to be a home to such creatures.

He would be helpless against them in this environs. He thanked the old gods they were aligned with him.

The Ur-viles formed up behind the Lord.

“You are about to be blessed Eddard Stark. From the depths of Andelain the Wraiths have come. As Cersei is honored so are you.” It was then Eddard saw and heard them.

Little lights began to appear down the corridor from both directions. How was that possible? They were small disembodied flames that did not burn. The flames a golden reddish hue that wavered but did not flicker. They glowed with an ethereal warmth that did not heat Eddard’s skin but made his heart glow warmer. The flames bobbed in the air as they approached. They put off a soft yellow glow with their bodies glowing orange and yellow. In their depths he saw red and blue highlights. He heard tinkling music wafting up from each flame. At first he saw them coming towards him singly but their numbers were greatly increasing now. Soon the tombs were filled with these glowing flames who burned but gave out no warmth or gave out smoke. They bowed and danced with tinkling music left in their wake. They rose and fell in the chamber and seemed to move in a random aimless manner.

The notes Eddard heard were sweet and pleasing to his mind. He heard a song of ethereal beauty that was just beyond human comprehension. Each note blending into the next. He heard multiple melodies but they all wove into a greater whole.

Still more of the lights came into the tombs till the very air was aglow with their light. The sound of delicate crystal notes filled the tombs with an ethereal music. The music sublimely beautiful.

The Ur-viles were trembling wildly their nostrils flaring and flinging snot spray everywhere. Eddard could feel their trepidation. Their eyeless faces tracking the subtle dances of the Wraiths.

The Lord spoke up. “These are the Wraiths of Anderlain. We were not sure they would come. Long, long ago the Ur-viles attacked them while they were helpless. If it had not been for the sacrifice of an Unfettered One and the very wildlife of Andelain and the valiant intervention of Thomas Covenant and Atiaran Trell mate the Ur-viles would have consumed them all and their wonder and magic would have left the world.”

While the Lord spoke the Wraiths formed circles that weaved around the tombs. The flames moving to their own melody and yet they were in perfect synch with their brethren. Eddard watched the circles weave and interlock only to move into new patterns. The sight of the bobbing flames as beautiful as the music itself. The two humans watched with wonder.

The Ur-viles as one fell to their knees. They began to bay in discordant chants. Their heads turning about as their sightless faces followed the path of the Wraiths as they danced overhead. The sounds mournful to Eddard’s ears. The Ur-viles were almost screaming out their sorrow their loud wails echoing off the walls of the crypts.

Lustra looked at the Ur-viles who continued to tremble wildly.

The Lord resumed her narration. “The Wraiths of Andelain have been able to reproduce with their engorgement of wild magic. They are needed here and have answered the call even with the ur-viles here. Again I doubted Amok when he told me they would answer the call.”

Both Lustra and Eddard watched the bobbing tinkling flames now alight all over the Ur-viles while still keeping to their intricate dance that only the Wraiths understood. The Wraiths had elongated their circles to form up into lines and that began to dance over the Ur-viles.

The Ur-viles wailed loudly now their bodies now nearly convulsing. The barks and brays now had a note of wonder and joy.

“The Ur-Viles have been forgiven” Lustra stated simply. “Amok was right again.”

“He indeed is the door as he spoke. Amok has somehow bridged worlds to bring the Wraiths of Andelain to this place and this time. Old wrongs are being righted. The Weird of the Ur-viles has changed and so have the Wraiths.”

Now the dance of the Wraiths morphed yet again. Eddard’s eyes widen when he understood what the Wraiths were about to do next. The flames bobbed up to Eddard and then began to land on his body and skittered up his arms and legs and flowed up his body and rose up off his hair.

“You are already bonded with your sword. The Wraiths are forging the binding between Cersei and her sword. She will not have her sword for a while yet. Still the bond is being formed and will be ready for her when the time comes.”

“Eddard Stark. Pull you sword out” Lustra softly entreated Eddard.

Eddard did not question it. He pulled his sword out and held it out with both hands. The Loremaster who had been kneeling wailing his joy Eddard supposed as more Wraiths danced across his facial features. The Ur-vile Loremaster came forward with his wedge behind him and extended his iron stave he produced from the folds of his tunic. The tip glowed red and he touched it to Evening Star.

A flood of Wraiths danced down and landed on Eddard’s sword and danced on the Ur-vile’s stave at its tip. He felt nothing. After a few minutes he felt strange and maybe a little foolish standing rock still as he held his sword out in front of him and these strange lights danced gaily all over his sword and lifted up or danced up his arms and up his body to dance off his face and hair.

He at first feared he would be burned but he only felt a tingle of possibilities where the flames touched him. Eddard was not sure how long he stood their without moving as the strange flames performed their ritual.

Finally, the event was over and the flames began to depart as well as the Ur-viles that now softly barked as they backed up and disappeared quickly in the shadows.

“You and your sword have been prepared Eddard Stark. You will meet the Vale’s need first. Other tasks and travails you will meet and conquer for that is your nature.”

With that the Lord and the Haruchai disappeared into the shadows silently and he was lift alone again with Lyanna. He took a deep breath. He felt at peace. He knew he had future labors to take to task. He would meet his new threats. He would not allow some horror to feast on the innocent and those who could not defend themselves.

He slowly left the tombs. He never noticed the faery watching him from the shadows. They sat on the statues no longer hiding their own glows of blue, red, purple, orange, pink and myriad other colors. She Who Must Not Be Named had spoken the truth about the human man. They watched Eddard Stark leave with adoring eyes.

He was their savior too.

Arya

Arya watched her mother finish nursing her little sister. She had already done Brandon who had awoken first and started fussing. The little baby gurgling and sucking greedily at his mother’s breast. Catelyn moving the baby from teat to teat. Kiserri was on the bed beside Arya’s mother totally fascinated by what she was seeing.

Arya had never been interested in seeing Rickon nurse when she was only a little older than Kiserri was. Arya found it humorous seeing the girl slack jawed seeing the little baby with milk running down his cheeks from nursing. Kiserri had gotten up close to see exactly what was going on.

Then Lyanna had started to wake up beside her mother and Kiserri scooted over to look at the little newborn girl waking up and her blue eyes opening. Kiserri liked how dark blue Lyanna’s eyes were. Catelyn Stark finished nursing Brandon. She handed the newborn to Sansa and Margaery who cooed over the baby.

Catelyn then picked up Lyanna and put her to her left teat. Again Kiserri moved in close to see the little girl take to the teat.

“Kiserri shows much more interest in motherhood than you ever did Arya” her mother said in a teasing tone.

Arya bristled and then realized her mother was not attacking her but merely making an observation. She had no desire to have a child. She wanted to be a warrior and the thought of having a child did not fit in with her self-image. She looked over at Daenerys who was leaning over to look at Brandon and tickling his chin and neck.

Daenerys had told her that when she lost the child of Khal Drogo that she had become barren. Therefore, the gift of Kiserri was even more precious to Dany. She had a daughter that she had thought she had lost and now was the heir to the throne. With equal primogeniture being instituted into law after the coming war Kiserri’s path to the throne would be established.

Still Arya wondered at times. Seeing her mother clucking over her newborns had Arya wondering if Dany would want that sometime in the future. Would she want Arya to lie with some man to conceive a child? Arya had always considered herself not maternal in the slightest. But when Kiserri woke up from her sleep and looked around and smiled seeing Arya and held up her arms Arya’s heart was instantly captured by the sweet Dothraki girl. She was the very epitome of cuteness and had the sweetest disposition. The net was only tightening around Arya’s heart. Kiserri had Arya wrapped around her small finger and the little girl was not even trying.

Arya had only known Kiserri only a short while and already loved her dearly.

She looked at Kiserri but turned her attention back to Dany who was holding her newest brother and cooing to him. Strands of her long white hair falling down and tickling the baby’s nose and making his face scrunch up. Dany, her sister and Margaery laughed at Brandon’s antics. Arya found herself smiling great big herself.

She looked within herself. Did she want children? She wondered about that for a few minutes while the other young women around her were focused on the newborn children and her mother. She was not maternal in the sense she wanted children herself. She had never been like Sansa talking about having a Prince’s baby. For Sansa that had gone out the door with Margaery but Arya knew that someday her sister would want children. How Sansa and her wife would conceive their children Arya had no idea. The idea of lying with a man repulsed Arya but that was the only way to get with child. Sort of had to have the man poke you Arya knew no matter how unsettling the concept.

Her face made a grimace. Gross! Arya looked at her Sister and Margaery. She supposed they would work it out. They both seemed to be not as repulsed by the male form as Arya was. They would not hurl sleeping with a man like Arya would. The idea of fucking a man was, well, Gross! Her sister and Margaery would figure it out what needed to be done when the time came Arya reasoned. They would probably attack the thorny issue like a stratagem in the Game of Thrones. Arya suspected both would want to have children off in the future.

With Dany that would not be an option. Dany was barren. Only Arya could bring their children into the world. Arya looked at the problem logically. She was a warrior and would not like having her body taken down for the time it would take to have the child. She was honest with herself in that fact. She did not crave the difficulties of having a child. The morning sickness or maybe much worse like her mother had just experienced. She did not want her body debilitated with the effects of bearing a child. She could not conceive of it—pun intended.

If not for magical intervention her mother and new brother and sister would be dead now. Giving birth in this world was a dangerous undertaking. Over a woman’s child bearing age the chances of death in child birth was one in three over a woman’s reproductive years. Arya did not like those odds.

She would not like the swollen joints, especially the ankles and knees. The muscles in the abdomen would be displaced and much exercise would be needed to get everything back in place. Her musculature would suffer in general with her inactivity and the swelling of her joints and weight gain she would have to endure while pregnant. She did not look forward to the postpartum depression many women had after birth. She was confident she would quickly get the weight off and her muscle mass restored but she would hate not having it while in the later stages of her pregnancy and then immediately after the birth of her child or children.

She was a warrior and wanted to live as her father did. He had eight children now. But it had been his wife and Jon’s mother that had conceived and brought them into the world.

That was the reason she had so immediately bonded with Kiserri. It was like having a child like her father would have. An older child to be sure but for her emotionally it had been the same. It matter not one wit that Kiserri was not of her body. All of that shit, Arya found banal anyways. She loved Kiserri and that was all there was to it. It did not matter to the Stark teenager that the girl was not of her issue.

Kiserri was enough for Arya. Would it be enough for Dany? Would a maternal instinct kick in with her wife where she would want to have more children? If she could not have them then it would have to be Arya that would conceive and bring the child to term. That would be bad enough. Lying with a man would be worse. There was only one man she could ever let touch her that way and he was her half-brother Jon.

She loved him dearly but not in that way. These thoughts were very confusing.

Kiserri was not of Dany’s body. Maybe they could have a surrogate to carry their child to term or wait and see if another situation occurred where the children seemed to just fall into their arms like Kiserri did with Dany. Dany had told her she just looked down on her march into exile in the Red Wastes and there was Kiserri looking up at her with big beautiful dark black eyes. She was meant to be Dany’s daughter and now Arya’s daughter. She liked the thought of that.

Let destiny decide. Arya sighed. She would eventually need to know where Dany stood on this. Even if they came to an understanding today or tomorrow who was to say they would not change their minds in the future? Maybe it would herself who wanted a child. Arya shook her head. She decided she had plenty of time and would let the future come to her.

“Hummmmm what?” Arya spoke up hearing her name called.

Arya panicked when she saw Lyanna was being thrust into her hands. Her eyes shot wide open her eyebrows shooting up.

“Wh-what?” she asked in an excited voice.

“I want you to burp your new sister Arya” her mother told “You have yet to hold her or Brandon. You won’t break or drop them.”

Arya sat rigid her arms paralyzed.
“Go ahead Arya … you may one day have one of your own. Get in a little practice. She won’t bite. I promise you.” Arya saw the mirth in her mother’s eyes. The other four women looked at her with humor in their eyes. They were definitely enjoying her discomfite.

Arya stared at Lyanna who looked at her with her big blue eyes. She knew the baby could not focus as of yet but the baby was getting fussy being held out. She wanted to be comforted. That thought made Arya tamp down her fear and slowly extend her arms.

Her mother smiled at her gently. She held out her arms with Lyanna gently clasped in her hands as if in offering to Arya. Arya cupped both arms side by side and accepted the precious burden. She felt the weight and heat of her new sister who wiggled and looked up at her making bubbly sweet baby noises. She was awful cute Arya had to admit. Her sister’s little head jerked around and she cooed and wiggled. Arya brought her arms against her body and leaned back slightly so her arms and body made a one hundred percent safe cocoon for Lyanna. She was terrified of dropping her new sister.

“Arya” Sansa chuckled. “Lyanna is not a Manitcore or a rare vase from Yi Ti. She is just a baby. Relax.”

That was easy for Sansa to say!

Arya looked down at her sister who stared up at her without really seeing her. She squirmed and made strange noises that for some reason Arya found cute and precious.

“She needs burping Arya” her mother called to her. Arya stared wide eyed at her mother. She was not sure about this! “Just lift her up and put her chin on your shoulder.” Arya hesitated. She looked around herself and saw Alys, her sister and her lover and Dany staring at her with a look of humor. That stiffened Arya’s spine. She would just treat this like a duel. Well not a duel but with as much care and seriousness.

Arya slowly lifted up Lyanna who squirmed and jerked her little arms. “She needs to be burped Arya. Put her on your shoulder.” She felt someone put a rag on her shoulder. She slowly put the little bundle of joy on her shoulder. Arya looked around. Now what?

“Pat her on the back Arya” her mother told her. Arya lifted her left hand and slowly brought it up and tapped her new sister on her back. The babe gurgled and kicked her feet. Arya continued to pat Lyanna on her back. “Arya for crying out loud hit her harder on her back. She is not going to break” her mother told in a slightly humored and exasperated tone.

She started to pat Lyanna harder. “Harder Arya” Sansa told her. She hit Lyanna harder. “Geez Arya, hit her harder. You are barely even touching her!” This went on for a minute as Arya’s mother and elder sister kept urging her to hit Lyanna’s back harder. She finally seemed to be using enough force. She noticed that the newborn was not complaining and kept on happily cooing.

Finally a satisfying burp was produced by the baby. The newborn settling down with the air removed from its tummy. Arya slowly brought the little baby back down and looked at her little sister. The baby stared up at her contentedly for several minutes. Arya rocked the baby back and forth. This was not too bad. Let someone do the hard work of having the baby and let her do the good stuff!

Then she heard a strange sound and Lyanna looked suddenly pleased with herself. She then began to squirm after a minute and getting fussy. Arya wondered what was going on. The others in the room were focused on her mother and Brandon who was making noises and jerking his arms centering attention on him. Arya could see that Lyanna was no longer in her happy place. Her face contorting and her legs squirming. She decided to figure out was going on with her new little sister.
Arya lifted her arms up to bring Lyanna closer to Arya so she could inspect her little sister. Arya was not sure what she was looking for. Why was Lyanna getting fussy and her face scrunching up? Arya smelled something that was not right. It seemed to be coming from her little sister. Arya bent her head down and sniffed at her sister’s diaper. Oh hell no!! How could Lyanna continue to act innocent having spawned that! This was heinous. She looked around desperately. She spotted Dany laughing talking to Margaery. Good. It was time to hand the problem off to a higher authority.

“Dany” Arya intoned. Dany did not hear her. She raised her voice slightly. She did not want to give away the game “Dany baby?!” That got her attention. Dany turned and smiled at her with that smile that always made Arya feel good inside. Good. Right where I want her.

“Here Dany. Look how pretty Lyanna is.” Arya was careful to keep her voice light and airy and her face with a happy look on it and not the sheer desperation she was feeling inside.

Dany had seen Lyanna many times now but she only smiled and accepted Lyanna when Arya handed her little sister to her. Whew! Dany cooed and tickled Lyanna. The baby was getting more agitated. Dany’s eyebrows arched wondering what was going on with Lyanna. Arya edged away unremarked.

Then Dany’s face twisted. She slowly lifted Lyanna up and sniffed. Dany turned and glared at Arya with an evil eye. Arya smiled beatifically. Dany squinted her eyes. Arya knew she would pay for this but a girl had to do what a girl had to do!

Dany turned and got Margaery’s attention. She tried to hand Margaery the now fidgeting baby. Margaery took one look at Lyanna and correctly surmised the situation. She tried to refuse but Dany insisted. Arya saw her mother looking on at them with an amused look on her face. Lyanna was being pushed right and left by Dany and Margaery each trying to get the other to take the now beginning to voice her displeasure little baby girl.

“Of for crying out loud. You three are pathetic” Sansa huffed. Taking Lyanna from Dany who did not look guilty at all. Margaery glared at Sansa for showing her up. Sansa walked over to the table used to change the babies. She gave the baby to Edeline one of two chambermaids that were sitting at table by the wall talking softly. Edeline had gotten up seeing Sansa coming and took Lyanna. She immediately started cooing and making over the baby as she started changing her diaper.

Sansa looked very pleased and proud of herself when she came back to sit down beside her mother.

Arya rolled her eyes. Geez, all that effort. She could have done that!

A few minutes later her father came in and he picked up both children and put them in the crook of his arms and walked around talking to them. Evidently, Brandon had decided to soil his diaper. Eddard handed Lyanna to his mother and walked the baby to the changing table. He smiled at the two chambermaids waving them away.

Arya watched humbled as her father expertly changed Brandon’s diaper. He said “somethings you never forget.” His fingers adroit and his face not filled with panic and dread. Arya was most impressed with her father. He had command of all situations it seemed. Her father picked up the changed Brandon who gurgled and babbled away happily.

Arya was feeling restless. She liked these new additions to the family but she needed to clear her head. She told Dany she was going out to the practice yard. Dany smiled up at her and gripped the hand she had put on Dany’s shoulder. The soft look Dany gave her made Arya feel all funny on the inside. She knew they would be making heated love tonight. She couldn’t wait!
She left her parents chambers. She started down the hall. She was alone when she entered the hall. Arya looked around but saw no one. When she turned down the hall that led to the main stairway up the first three floors of the great keep. She looked to her left and was not surprised to see Jeertel there. She had soundlessly appeared as she always did. How anyone could move without any sound and be unseen when looked for was astounding and a little off putting.

She made it out to the practice yards by the Great Keep. She looked out at the yards and green swards near the Guards Hall, Armory and Guest House. Arya saw Lords practicing sword or ax work with each other and some were fighting the Haruchai and fairing badly. She smiled seeing them getting so pissed off fighting and losing to women and men who fought with only fist and foot. The fact that they were barefoot only added insult to injury.

She had come to accept that most often it was a draw with the Haruchai she fought. She lost as much as she won. Jeertel was like a panther she was so fast and her blows felt like sledgehammers. Her native strength was staggering.

She saw some Ranyhyn run into the yard. She could not stop herself from always gaping at the horses. They were at least two to three hands taller than the horses of Westeros and Essos. Their chests and haunches thickly muscled. No matter the color of the horse the star that was on their foreheads seemed to almost leap off their faces they were so radiant. They were really like stars that had come down from the heavens to alight on Ranyhyns foreheads.

These mystical horses had used their strength and speed to get her father back to her mother in their hour of need. Her father had told all with wonder in his voice of how the horses had eaten up the leagues that had taken his horses seven to eight hours in only a little more one and half hours. The Ranyhyn had answered his need even though he had not asked for it.

The other horses would gather around any Ranyhyn that came among them. It was obvious they were communicating through their nickering and neighs. Arya could see the intelligence burning from the great horses’ eyes. There was a depth of knowledge there that staggered her the first time she realized just how intelligent these horses were. They moved so fluidly and their strength was obvious to all. She had heard the Ramen say the Ranyhyn were the mane of the sky and tail of the world. It fit.

The ramen were always tending to the great horses of the Plains of Ra she had learned. She learned how over fifty thousand years ago the Ranyhyn had been pushed to the brink of extinction by the forces of the Grey Slayer or as he was usually called Lord Foul. The horses were lost after the death of their Lord Father, Kelenbhrabanal, who tried to make a bargain with Lord Foul. He bargained that if he would lay down his life that Lord Foul stop the persecution of the Ranyhyn. Kelenbhrabanal laid his life down before Horrim Carabal and perished before the Lurker of the Sarangrave Flats.

The bargain was not kept. The horses’ spirits were broken. The great Kresh hunted them relentlessly. The great vile yellow wolves that loped on the great plains of the Land and in the Forests. They hunted the Ranyhyn day and night and formed great packs to slaughter the great horses. That was when the Ramen found the great horses. So smitten were they made a vow on the day of their meeting that they would protect the great horses. They pledged their very lives, society and culture to the support and care of the horses of the plains of Ra. The Ramen would give their last breath in defense of the horses of the Plains of Ra.

Together, Ramen and Ranyhyn, shattered the great packs of Kresh sending them fleeing back to the plains their numbers greatly diminished.

Arya had asked of these Kresh. She was told the Kresh were nearly as large as Direwolves. The Kresh had the same build as the Direwolves of Arya and her siblings’ Direwolves. Arya remembered how Ramen reacted the first time they had seen Direwolves. They had immediately ripped their cords from around their waists and hair. They sensed that these Direwolves were much greater than the Kresh of their homelands. The Ramen ready to defend the Ranyhyn with their lives.

Then the next instant with their health-sense they saw that there was no ill will in the Direwolves. They had immediately lowered their cords. The Direwolves while filled with wild spirit they were not evil in their core. In fact, the Ramen with their Healthsense could see that much of the Direwolve’s savagery had been tempered by their mental bond with their humans. Their bond with their human masters had tempered their natural savagery. They had seemed to taken on some of their human masters human traits.

Arya had often challenged the Haruchai who were always anxious to test their mettle and skills against any who would challenge them. It was unnerving to practice with someone who did not feel the need to have you use a practice sword and would slam their fist into their chest and say “fist and faith, there is only victory or death”.

The Giants were simply to freaking tall to fight. They were every bit as fast as Arya and their immense reach with their granite swords was truly frightening to go against. No one from Westeros had any chance against them.

Equally frightening was how the Haruchai could actually fight the Giants for the most part to a draw. She saw Jeertel punch Wavesplash Rimeshoal so hard in the face having ducked under a mighty sword swipe that was invisible to Arya’s eyes and somehow crawled up the Giant’s armor and punched her savagely three times in the face before she jumped away when Wavesplash roared in anger swiping at the Haruchai.

Jeertel had intoned up to the Giant. “Our old tellers speak of the legend when Haruchai first met the Giants on the second quest of Thomas Covenant. Brinn punched Grimmand Honninscrave in the face then. It renewed the friendship and fidelity between Giants and Haruchai. As our friendship is strengthened.”

The Giant had rumbled in her high light voice “You friendship is a weighty matter” rubbing her cheek and chin.

Arya had tried to challenge the Ramen to fights to test her skill against theirs. Usually they demurred saying they had to tend to the Ranyhyn. That duty clearly came first in the occupation of Ramen’s time. They would rub the horses down and use tools they kept in small ruck sacks to clean their hooves. The horses obviously felt great affection for their human compatriots. The horse gently nickering and bumping into their human tenders.

At times though she would come upon the Ramen and one of them would have enough free time to accept the challenge of Arya. She had fought all the cords. She had found them skilled and quick but she had been able to defeat them. In her sparring session with the Ramen, only with Trami did she have actual difficulty in defeating him. His speed with the use of his cord was truly astounding. When he started to whirl his cord it was invisible and would lash out like a striking cobra she had seen from large island nation of Great Moraq in King’s Landing.

Arya was thinking that the Ramen were not the greatest of warriors. Their main focus and skills were in tending the Raynhyn.

Last week, the cords Manethrall, Shapa, came out to challenge Arya. It seemed she had sensed that Arya and others were thinking that they were not worthy of the respect that the Haruchai generated. Arya was out in the practice yards surrounded by men from Dany and her father’s forces. The denizens of the Land were also in the yard practicing. Arya saw the Haruchai present and the Giants stopping their sparring to witness their duel.

The two women moved to the center of the clearing as the men and women warriors formed a large loose circle. The Haruchai stood impassively. The Manthrall’s three cords were together and softly talking their eyes glittering. The men of Westeros and Essos were laughing making observations of how Arya would tear the Manethrall a new one. The Giants unstopped several jugs of Diamonddraught and took big swigs and offered the drink to the men of the Queen and Arya’s father’s forces. The Giants joking with all but siding with their Manethrall. They kept asking the men of Westeros what was ‘money’.

Arya felt her chest swell knowing the men and women of Westeros were placing their bets on her.

Arya had seen that the Manethrall kept her Cord in her hair. She wondered how the woman would extract it from her hair to fight her. The cord was interwoven throughout the woman’s long brown hair. Arya watched Shapa slowly pull the dried yellow flowers out of her hair and hand them to her cords who cupped the flowers reverently.

Arya stood casually with the Valyrian sword of Aegon; Blackfyre. The sword that now belonged to her. The sword blazed in blue light that wicked up and down the pure blade. Arya was still astounded that she was able to fire up the hidden runes that even its original master had not been able to fire up. She was still processing what all that might mean.

Dany had given her the sword of her ancestor. Arya had accepted the gift with her heart pounding. Dany had wanted her to come up with a new name for the sword but she had wanted to keep the sword name the same. It was this sword that had fully revealed their love for each other. Thus, Arya resisted finding a new name for the sword. Any name she tried sounded cheesy to her.

The sword was so light to her in her left hand. She had smiled first using the sword. She now knew why sword fighters cherished their Valyrian swords. It felt as if it had been made for her. The sword holding its edge. She loved how the runes danced for her even though she was not of Valyrian descent. The runes beautiful to the eyes and connoting the great love between Arya and her Queen.

Her firing up the runes marked Arya as being special. A woman worthy of being Daenerys Targaryen’s mate. Dany had told her that she had asked her father for her hand in marriage and that he had gladly given it. It was so courtly and old fashioned and it had made her feel like the most beautiful sought out woman in the world. She was Daenerys Targaryen’s mate and all others could be envious as much as they wanted!

She stood before the Manethrall in a causal stance. She casually moved her sword left and right leaving blue streaks before Arya. She did this to hopefully intimidate her foe. Arya’s father was always telling her to play mind games with her opponents. Try and get advantage before you even make your first attack. She had dispatched the Cords without too much effort and only Trami had provided any challenge. She would defeat this Manethrall too with little effort she was sure.

Faster than her eyes could truly register the woman somehow whipped the cord from her hair. Arya had seen the cord of the Ramen was an inch thick rope that was approximately three feet long and had heavy knots on each end and two knots about eighteen inches apart in the middle. The Manethrall hands initially gripped the outside edges of the two middle knots. Then in a lightning fast motion she moved her right hand to one end of the cord anchoring her hand on the end knot.

She whipped her cord forward stepping in low so Arya’s parry went past her head. The Manethrall looped her cord around Arya’s sword and snapped it down while she jumped up in the air higher than seeming possible. She used her momentum and the anchor pivot of her cord on Arya’s sword to loop over Arya’s body. She reached her apex snapping her wrist down to throw Arya off balance for the merest fraction of a second. Shapa released Arya’s sword with another snap of her wrist that sent the free end of the cord jerking up to the Manethrall’s free hand which Shapa gripped. All this while her body soared high over Arya’s body. A body still getting its balance back.

As she passed over Arya she looped her cord around Arya’s neck and jerked faster than Arya could react. With a slight jerk of Shapa’s wrist the rope tightened around Arya’s throat. The message was clear. I could have just snapped your neck. With another flex of Shapa’s wrist the loop was off Arya’s neck. Shapa landed lightly on the other side of Arya. Her body posed to attack or defend.

Arya was furious with herself. She had seriously underestimated her foe. She immediately analyzed her failure. She brought needle out its sheath at her hip.

For the next ten minutes the two woman attacked each other with attacks that were blurs. Arya was able to keep the Manethrall at bay with her swords slashing and thrusting. The Ramen woman dancing almost like Syrio staying just out of reach. For her part Arya was able to stop any advance by the Manethrall. She kept her swords point down when not on the attack and she tracked the woman’s movements moving to thwart any attempt to again hook her blade as the Manethrall had the first time.

Arya formed a whole new respect for the Ramen and their fighting prowess. This was further reinforced when Nymeria and her brothers Shaggydog and Grey Wind had had enough of getting thrown to the ground and their snouts painfully punched by the Hurachai when they “attacked” them. Arya had actually felt sorry for Nymeria. She simply could not fathom that men and women without weapons or armor were able to defeat her almost every time. The other two Direwolves had learned the same painful and humiliating lessons.

The few victories of the Direwolves against the Haruchai sent the Direwolves into howling and yipping fits of glee. They would howl for hours celebrating their victories. The Haruchai bowing to the great wolves in respect for their victories. The Direwolves acting all superior and prissy till the next time they had their snouts painfully punched and the wolves thrown on their backs and forced to submit.

Then it was back to snapping crossly at the Haruchai whining over their defeats. Then trying to piss on them but the Haruchai were simply too fast for that trick. Shaggydog would nearly loose his mind he got so frustrated trying to sneak up on a Haruchai and pee on him or her. The seeming unaware Haruchai only at the last moment spinning out of the way and slapping Shaggydog painfully on the snout. Shaggydog howled his rage. A few times his fits were so pronounced Arya feared the wolf might expire with all his kicking while wallowing on his back and his incessant whines of impotent humiliation and rage.

Their barking and snarling after their defeats raucous and bouncing off the castle walls.

Then it was back to snapping crossly at the Haruchai whining over their defeats. Then trying to piss on them but the Haruchai were simply too fast for that trick. Shaggydog would nearly loose his mind he got so frustrated trying to sneak up on a Haruchai and pee on him or her. The seeming unaware Haruchai only at the last moment spinning out of the way and slapping Shaggydog painfully on the snout. Shaggydog howled his rage. A few times his fits were so pronounced Arya feared the wolf might expire with all his kicking while wallowing on his back and his incessant whines of impotent humiliation and rage.

Their barking and snarling after their defeats raucous and bouncing off the castle walls.

Only when in attacking as three together on one Haruchai were they able to best a Haruchai on a fairly regular basis. Even then sometimes the Haruchai prevailed much to the Direwolves consternation.

Lady just sat in the sun panting and taking it all in. Lady was a lady in all things. She only became “vicious” when she perceived that Sansa and now Margaery were threatened. Then she was every bit aggressive as Nymeria.

The Direwolves were summarily beaten by the Ramen. That was when Arya understood that the Ramen strengths and skills were focused on fighting Kresh and not armed men which did not attack the Horses of the Plains of Ra. Their skills had been honed to fight the primary enemy of the Ranyhyn.

When the Direwolves rushed the cords they would side step only at the last impossible moment and snap their cords around legs or necks. With the limbs entangled the cords tripped the charging snarling Direwolves. Arya saw that with more pressure and adjustment of the angle the cord wrapped around the legs of the Direwolves that an increase in force applied would have shattered the Direwolves limbs. Their other killing move was the same as the Manethrall had used on Arya. They would loop their cord around the throat of the Direwolf and land on the wolf’s back or land beside the wolf and plant their feet. Then with a hard jerk send the Direwolves tumbling to the dirt.

If the force and angle had been changed slightly broken necks would have occurred. Their victories were not absolute. At times a direwolf would latch onto a leg or midsection and play bite rendering a death if for real. The Ramen also used the knots of their cords to deliver stinging blows to the Direwolves faces and their bodies. If those blows had landed at the right spot with enough force the blows would have caused major hurt to the Direwolves. Arya had learned a much greater appreciation for the Ramen.

Currently, Arya looked around the fields. She saw all manner of practice going on. She chuckled seeing Oberyn yelling and cursing Nymeria. She had ahold of his spear just behind the blade of the spear. Her body was jerking on the shaft hard her eyes aglow with wolf happiness. Oberyn had his feet dug in. “Fuck you Nymeria! This is my spear godsdamnit!”

Arya turned and walked towards some Haruchai and knights sparring.

Several hours later Arya was tired but happy. She had fought knights, sellswords and Haruchai in sparring matches one after the other. She felt invigorated.

She went back to her quarters and took a quick sponge bath and put on some of Dany’s perfume. She loved some of the exotic scents that Dany had collected in her travels through the lands of Essos. They were intoxicating. Arya dabbed some between her breast and on her inner thighs. It never hurt to give Dany something to further inflame her desire for Arya’s body. Arya’s body was aching to fuck Dany. She toyed with the idea of flopping on her bed and masturbating but it was approaching the evening meal time.

She dressed and hurried to the hall. She went in and sat quickly beside her lover and stole a quick kiss. She felt her body tingle when Dany enfolded Arya in her arms and pulled Arya so hard into her body and hugged her long and tight. Dany then gave Arya a wet possessive kiss letting all know that Arya Stark belonged to the Queen. Dany pulled hard on Arya to press Arya into the Queen’s body even more tightly. After another wet kiss, only then did Dany release Arya and turn to resume her conversation with Sansa.

Arya looked around with a beaming smile. She had indeed won her Queen’s heart.

She saw that Kiserri was down the dais sitting with other children her age laughing and eating cut up slices of beef and eating her vegetables. She was going to spend the night with the main baker and her husband who ran the washroom operations. They had two little girls that Kiserri had developed a friendship with.

It was a festive time in the feast hall. Her mother was at the table beside her father. This was the first day she had felt strong enough and ready to resume her wifely duties as the mate of the Warden of the North. Behind her mother was a bassinet with a canopy. It was in a dreadful pink color. Arya got ill just seeing the appalling color choice. The canopy was half pulled back.
A constant stream of visitors were streaming up to the upper terrace. The arrival of Catelyn Stark back in the feast hall had everyone happy and jovial. Arya smiled seeing the staff and common folk freely ascending the upper stage of the dining hall. Her father insisted that the nobility and common man fully intermingled. The higher dais merely to honor visiting Lords. Arya had heard of the struggles her mother had gone through when she first experienced this when she came to Winterfell.

From what Arya had heard over the years her grandfather seemed to allow it only on high holidays and her uncle Brandon would never have allowed it; this mixing of commoner and high nobility on the upper dais. Arya shivered. If history had been as it should have been, Arya would never have been born or would be a totally different person if Brandon had not died at King’s Landing. That made Arya look at Dany and the spot where her straight left fist had impacted Dany’s face and sealed their love. Arya felt reassured being near her lover. What had happened had happened. The past was at it should be.

She watched Lords and their wives and common men and women come by the bassinet and look at the newborn children. The men made complimentary remarks and the more bold women asked if they could hold the children. Catelyn was most gracious with allowing this. The newborns seemed to relish being the center of attention already.

The Giants came in and their laughter took the festivities to a higher level. The Lord came in with Brail at her side and even though her face was flat Arya could see the longing and desire written all over the Haruchai’s face. She felt for the silent woman. It touched Arya to see such suppressed passion. The Haruchai needed to tell the stern Lord how she felt. She had noticed over the last few days that the Lord was now trying to not stare at the Haruchai when she thought no one was looking. She wondered if Margaery had been up to her lesbian match making again.

She hoped so. Anyone knew with half a brain knew that women made the best mates with the exception of her father and her brothers especially Jon. He had proven that by bagging two wives. Arya smiled. Just like her favorite brother to prove his worth. He was of royal blood through and through as far as Arya was concerned. Jon would never be a bastard in her eyes.

Arya had been so happy when Dany made it clear that the tradition of holding the bastard accountable for the supposed sin of their birth was too abolished. Names like Snow, Rivers, Sand and the other heraldry of bastardy was to be abolished. Men were about to get very nervous. Arya was anxious to see that.

About time Arya thought.

Arya looked before her at all the delicious foods laid out on the tables. She reached out and broke off a large piece of black rye bread. She took a trencher and put on it honeyed chicken basted in butter and brown rice. On the side she put roasted onions dripped in thick brown beef gravy.

Dany had pulled some unleavened bread and a trencher she had put honeyed duck on with some sausage links with hot spices from Dorne. She had a croissant pastry with blackberry preserves. She had put some soft boiled eggs on one side.

Sansa told Dany to have some lemon cakes of course. Arya rolled her eyes. She couldn’t help but chuckle seeing Dany put several beside her trencher.

Her and Dany tucked into their food and did not do much talking. The Giants were laughing and pounding the table with their buckets they were using to drink mead out of. They would slap some knight or lord on the back and send them flying.

The Ramen ate at table with the stable hands. They seemed most comfortable with people who shared their passion for tending horses.

The Haruchai ghosted around the hall alert for any trouble. Arya never saw them relax. They moved like ghosts on the edge of awareness. Arya wondered about these strange taciturn people who never seem to let their guard down. Unless you got them between the sheets. It was amazing how they went from silent ghosts to wailing banshees. Still, Arya noticed, at least a third of the Haruchai remained on alert patrolling for their brethren and the people of Westeros.

Arya was starting to feel like her mind was wandering when her body jammed into the table. Dany was talking to Catelyn who was sitting across from them. Her right hand was softly stroking the inside of her thigh. Arya felt a rush thrill through her body. She scooted just that little bit closer. Dany’s hand moved over and stroked her inner thigh up to her groin now just brushing over her mound when Arya parted her legs.

Dany acted like nothing untoward was happening as her fingers began to stroke Arya’s swelling camel toe and Arya shivered feeling her nipples engorging. She had a vest over her blouse top so her increasing arousal was not given away by her swelling nipples. When her nipples became erect there was no hiding it with a blouse top. She moaned feeling her nipples rasping the linen cloth and leather vest. Her pussy was getting so fucking wet as she gritted her teeth to keep from moaning. Dany was trailing her first two fingers up and down her groove and over her throbbing clit.

After a minute of further exquisite torture Dany told the table that she and Arya were tired and were going to retire early. All around the table gave them knowing looks and wished them a good night sleep. Her father was blushing at the obvious arousal of his middle daughter.

Arya was breathless as they went to the children’s table and kissed Kiserri goodnight. She beamed and told them she was so excited to have a sleepover with her new friends.

Arya was then rushing with Dany down the halls back to her room. She so loved fucking Dany on the bed she grew up in. The bed she had masturbated so many times in dreaming of seducing and making love to the fierce scion of House Targaryen.

They were in her room now. Her travel there a fog filled reveries of lust. They were ripping their clothes off. The garments flying in all directions. They giggled as one as they fell to the bed. They wrapped their arms around each other and twined legs as they pulled their bodies tight to each other. Hot throbbing eyes stared at each other with hot throbbing fuck hunger. Their hands stroking flesh rapidly heating up with lust. Their bodies wiggling against each other enjoying the skin to skin contact.

Their mouths found each other and lips melded tight as their tongues hungrily met. Teeth parted and Dany asserted her dominance her tongue surging into Arya’s mouth. Tonight, at least to begin with, the dragon would rise ascendant. Arya whimpered hard feeling Dany’s tongue wetly wrestling her tongue. The coiled appendages rolling and flipping around in Arya’s mouth. Then Dany surged their mouths even tighter together as she tilted her head over further. The angle letting the Queen slam her tongue down Arya’s gagging throat.

This had the teen’s eyes rolling back into her skull feeling Dany’s long tongue spearing down her throat again and again. Their lips melded tight. They broke for air and gasped for breath. Then with a fist clenched in Arya’s hair Dany brought their mouths together again and rammed her tongue down Arya’s throat with hard spearing thrusts.

“Mmmppffff uunngggfffff mmmpphhhhffff uunnggg mmggppffff!” Arya chuffed into the mouth devouring hers.
She felt Dany reach down and grip her ass as she swept Arya’s cunt hard into her thigh as they writhed and rotated hips to rub their pussies on each other’s bodies. Their pussies rubbing hard on muscled thighs and along hip bones. The two women gyrated their groins in tight swirls to keep the delicious tension on their weeping twats. Their bodies mashing and slipping against each other in their tight love clench.

Dany pivoted around with Arya in her grip and tilted their bodies over to they crashed to the bed. Arya squealed into Dany’s mouth at the impact and reverberation of her body on the mattress and Dany’s lithesome body landing on her body and pressing her down into the mattress. Dany adjusted their bodies so her smaller body was on top of Arya’s. She settled in between thighs and positioned her groin so their pussies were mashed into each other.

They kissed ravenously and ground aching twats on each other. Both women reveled in the wetness of their quims humping each other and soaking their groins and inner thighs in snail snot. Dany then half rolled off of Arya to settle alongside her wolf. Their kiss broken by the change in position. Arya looked up at Dany from her back. Her woman looked down upon Arya up on one elbow. The Queen looked down at Arya with smoky eye contact. She slowly slide her body off Arya and now pressed into the side of her sweet Direwolf.

Keeping their eyes locked as long as possible the Queen bent her head down and sucked a bulb nipple deep into her mouth. Her cheeks hollowed out with rhythmic love sucks on the spongy nipple as her tongue lathed and batted the turgid nipple making Arya gurgle and keen in helpless pleasure. Then slowly Daenerys slide her right hand slowly down Arya’s palpating belly. Their bodies beginning to film with love sweat.

With a slow sensual motion Dany moved her head over to Arya’s other plum bursting nipple and siphoned that bulb deep into her mouth and vacuum sucked with cheek hollowing deep throat love sucks while her tongue gigged the bulbous nipples. At the same time the pale Valyrian wormed two fingers deep into Arya’s hot tight steamy cunt. Both women groaning gutturally. One feeling her cunt penetrated deep with a slow sensual love stroke and the other feeling the oily tight inner folds grip and suck on the fingers. Dany started to pump in and out her lover’s snatch.

"Oh! Oh gods!" Aray gasped, gagging softly as Dany began to slowly pump her fingers harder and deeper in and out Arya’ hot tight sixteen year old cunt. The fingers pumping so deep into the slimy folds of Arya’s hot fiery core. The digits sluicing through the inner petals all soaked in slimy hot cum. The hot slimy folds and whoirs hungrily slurp griping the digits plunging deep and hard into Arya’s slurping trim. Arya arched her back to take all of her lover’s long fingers into her hungry pussy hole. "Unghhh! Unghhh! Oh gods baby—fuck me deep baby" Arya gurgled.

Daenerys slowly ramped up the force and speed of her pumping fingers. Dany moved her mouth over to Arya’s other bursting plum nipple and siphoned it in deep and sucked with voracious hard cheek hollowing love sucks. Now both nipples soaked in spittle. Dany’s head lifting with her love sucks. She was now slamming her fingers into Arya’s love hole her knuckles pounding Arya’s snatch. Arya humping her twat up into the hard piston pumping fingers. Her cunt was getting so wet and squishy. The shocks of the impacts of Dany’s knuckles into Arya’s vulva sent shocks to her clit.

Dany was moving her mouth back and forth sucking a spit soaked nipple deep into her mouth and running her tongue all over the rubbery juicy two inch nipple her lips hooked where bursting areola meet Arya small ridge of breast meat. Dany sucked long and hard enjoying the pulpy rubbery feel of Arya’s areolas underneath her rasping tongue. Her knuckles slammed into Arya’s vulva compressing it with each hammering stroke of her hard piston pumping hand.
Her fingers slamming hard and fast into Arya’s sloshing trim. Dany’s bent thumb hammered Arya’s clit sending scalding shocks into her clit and womb. Her pussy wildly spasming as Arya felt those first delicious spasms deep in her belly that told the teenager a harsh powerful orgasm was forming in her womb.

"Ungghh!" Arya groaned, arching her back, feeling her body quiver with fire, feeling her assaulted pussy flame and throb. Dany was slam fucking her aching cunt so good and hard. Her body jolting with the force of Dany slamming three fingers now hard and deep into her cunt. Her pussy stretched out tight on Dany’s plunging fingers. Her quim was sloshing so wetly now splattering love juice all over her belly, groin and inner thighs. "Ungghh! Oh gods ... do it ...do it baby—pound my cunt! ... Oohhhhh, Fuck me hard Dany! Harder! Unghhh! Yes! Ungghh! Owngghhh! Yes yes! Oh Dany ... oh gods I ... oh gods so fucking close baby ... oh gods you make me feel sssooooo goooddd!"

Dany was sucking like a starving babe on the nipple in her mouth. Her teeth now with moderate force teething the plum nipple that was so spongy beneath her sawing teeth. Her right hand harpoon fucked Arya’s swollen quim.

Arya’s twat exploded. “AAARRUUUNNGGGGG! OWWWVWGGHHHHHHHH! Awwwoonnggghhhaaeee! Ooowwwgghhhhaaaaaaa!” Arya screamed a peeling shriek of almost agonizing pleasure. Her body convulsed and flipped wildly as pummeling waves of ecstasy hammered the teen body. Sharp convulsions ripped through her body hammering her with almost overwhelming pleasure. Her eyes were shocked wide open her head lifting up off the mattress in hard up jerks. “FFFUUCCKKKK! Hhhnngggggg! Hhhnngggggg!” Arya wailed with Dany slamming her fingers hard and deep into her lover’s exploding pussy.

Finally, the sweet explosions of shocking violence began to wane and Dany now buried her fingers into Arya’s sloppy wet pussy and enjoyed the dying spasms milking her fingers.

Arya’s head lulled over her face locking up and grimacing hard with the strong aftershocks rippling through her body. Arya was stunned. She was floating on a sea of sweet ecstasy. She felt her inner folds sucking on Dany’s long fingers buried deep her twat with the dying spasms of her orgasm.

Dany had released Arya’s nipple which became so sensitive in the heights of orgasm. Dany was now kissing Arya deeply gagging Arya in sweet bliss. Arya relished the feel of Dany stroking her tonsils with her tongue. Her woman pressing her body into Arya and mating their mouths tight to kiss with languid tongues flipping and rolling around in Arya’s gagging mouth. The sweet kissing intensifying her aftershocks making her body jerk hard in that burning ecstasy that only aftershocks gives a woman.

After a minute, Dany broke their kiss and slowly moved to get between Arya’s legs. Her mouth leaving sweet kisses on Arya’s sternum and then down the middle of her now sweat soaked belly only now not heaving. Dany adjusted to get her body over and then down between Arya’s sweaty legs. She pushed them out wide opening up Arya’s love hole that drooled out cum still that dribbled down over her perineum and soaked her asshole and the cleft of her ass.

Dany moved her face close to Arya’s swollen wet couchie. Dany slowly spread out her lover’s pussy with the fingers of her right hand opening up her honey hole all cum filled and wetly clutching at her. Arya’s inner folds pulsing as fuck hunger started to fill Arya’s body again. The Queen loved seeing the inner folds of Arya’s cunt so wet and slimy soaked in her snail snot. Arya’s cunt so red and clutching aching for more loving.

Dany inhaled deeply. “Oh baby you pussy smells so fucking good! Your pussy is so fucking beautiful.”
Sometimes Dany talked too much Arya thought evilly. Arya cupped her hand on back of Dany’s head. She pulled Dany’s face into her hot throbbing quim. The wet heat encompassing Dany’s mouth and locking around her lips as Arya jerked her slut’s face deep into her vulva compressing it around Dany’s mouth. Dany moaned hard working her head up and down lapping her long tongue up and down Arya’ wet cum soaked slit. Her tongue raking over Arya’s clit. Dany worked her face burying it even deeper into Arya’s wet camel toe. The Queen loving the wet heat engulfing her lips and face around her devouring mouth.

Arya was in heaven again. Her baby was so good to her. Dany was always so ravenous for her body. Arya lifted her head and her steel grey eyes locked with violet eyes pulsing with fuck hunger as Dany hungrily sucked on Arya’s clit sending Arya to the stars of ecstasy. Their bodies already wet with sweat running down heated bodies. Soon Dany added fingers and within several minutes Arya was screaming again as hammer pulses of ecstasy tore through her body and sent boiling ecstasy surging down her limbs clawing her fingers into the sheets and her toes curled painfully her heels slamming the bed in helpless pleasure.

The lovemaking had only begun.

Daenerys

Daenerys was lying in Arya’s bed happy and satiated. Arya was snuggled tight into her side. Her cheek resting on Dany’s side and her arm thrown over her chest pressed into the undersides of Dany’s breasts. Arya’s leg was thrown over her groin and upper thighs. She loved how possessive Arya was with her. She was not stupid jealous but she made sure everyone knew that Daenerys was her woman. She let it be known with body language and direct eye contact and the occasional snarl. She could of course defend herself but she loved having her wolf mark her territory. Dany lifted her head in the soft light of the fireplace and the soft glow of a lamp over the bed. They both liked to make love where they could see each other and see the other react to their ministrations. Dany looked down her body and saw the red bite marks on her breast and down her belly. She felt her pussy flutter remembering the love nips Arya gave her in their lovemaking. Daenerys relished them. Made her feel loved and desired.

Her hand resumed stroking the back of her lover. It had been three days since she asked Arya’s father for her hand in marriage. It had not been needed but she felt it was the honorable thing to do. It was made easy by the sure knowledge that the man supported his daughter’s choice in a mate. Eddard Stark was indeed a most forward thinking man.

Arya sighed in contentment and wiggled in closer her strong muscled leg rubbing over Dany’s core. Dany shivered remembering those legs wrapped around her in the throne room trying to crush the life out of her. She snorted softly. Even then in the heat of combat she had felt their power and longed to feel them wrapped around her in lovemaking.

Like they had been tonight. Dany’s mind drifted back to earlier in the night when she was between Arya’s legs. Her body pressed down into Arya’s supine body. Dany was swirling her hips riding her slobbering cunt up and down Arya’s drooling clam shell. Dany rode her wet cunt up and down Arya’s swollen cunny their lips dragging against each other and clits jacking into its mate sending shockwaves rippling through their bodies. Arya and she were so close their skin rubbing and Dany’s full breast pressed into Arya’s nearly bursting plum nipples digging in so hard on her pale bosom as Dany rode her mate and love slut.

Dany was lifting her hips on the back stroke to pull her twat up and then slammed it down into Arya’s cunt savagely again and again pounding Arya’s vulva pulping it with pure forceful love. She would be looking down into Arya’s blown pupils feeling their cunts grinding and rolling over each other. How their pussy lips were pulled back and their juices wept directly into the other’s snatch. Their groins soaked in cum that soaked bellies and inner thighs and made those tendrils of cum that glinted in the soft light webbed between their sweat and cum soaked bodies.

The rough dragging of twats over each other sending scalding pulses of pleasure to each woman. Dany loved the feel of her cunt mashed and compressed down into Arya’s fat camel toe. Their quims cum slicked letting lubricated lips roll and drag over each other easily. Their pussies compressed and stretched by their hard humping into each other by the bitches in heat that they were. Their cum soaked their own twats and each other’s quims in hot slimy snail snot.

They had been fucking for almost two hours taking small breaks to rest and drink water and eat some berries and cherries to nourish depleted bodies. The two making small talk and giggling like the new lovers they were.

Now they were back to intense sweet fucking. They were again tribbing face to face. The pale blonde loved looking at Arya’s face up close as they sucked pussy to pussy. Daenerys had wormed her arms underneath Arya’s armpits and gripped her love’s hair and jammed her head down into the mattress as the Dragon snarled and raged. Arya cawed and groaned urging Dany on to slam fuck their cunts hard into each other. Dany feathered her fingers into Arya’s long brown tresses and kept jacking Arya’s head back into the mattress with hard jerks of her hands pounding Arya’s head into the mattress.

Dany tilted Arya’s head over seeing the bruise she had given her earlier that night. “Aaaaarruuuunggggg!” Arya screamed feeling Dany again mark her as her slut with a new hickey. Dany sawed the flesh cruelly with her teeth feeling Arya’s body convulse. Arya’s hand pulled Dany’s head tight to her throat urging Dany on. She lifted her mouth to the hollow beneath Arya’s ear.

All the while their bodies surged forward with the power of Daenerys powerful forward thrusts of her body down into and over her woman’s cunt. Their pussies mashed and pulped with power of their colliding groins. The bed was rocking and the headboard pounding the castle with the exuberance of their hot fucking.

Dany kept her trib motion going and sucked in another mouthful of tender throat flesh. “OOWWWGGGGG!” Arya shrieked in pain and pleasure feeling Dany’s teeth mark her yet again. Arya had been keeping her legs spread to open up her cunny to be fucked hard by Dany. Now her legs came up and her thighs locked on Dany’s hips. The Queen groaned hard feeling Arya lock her ankles over her ass. Arya used the leverage to rip her cunt up in time with Dany’s forward thrusts.

Arya’s up tilted cunt was slammed into again and again by Dany’s surging dripping snatch. They fucked like this for several more minutes bodies locked tight Arya throwing her pussy up into her lover’s swollen trim pounding her ass down into the mattress. They would kiss deeply Dany’s tongue exploring her wolf’s mouth and wetly wrestling Arya’s tongue. The wrapped tight appendages flipping around in Arya’s mouth. Dany used her grip in Arya’s hair to keep her slut’s face angled right to let her slide her tongue down Arya’s throat again and again. Dany loved to slit her eyes open and see Arya’s eyes open her whites showing as her irises jerked around in her skull.

Their locked tight bodies jacking forward and then riding back with the force of the Queen surging her body hard forward over Arya’s body. The pressure and friction gagging both women with sweet pleasure.
Dany broke for air several times and now she was looking down at Arya’s as she chuffed and groaned deep in her chest. Her face twisted and clutched in almost agonizing pleasure. Dany felt the sweat dripping off her face and had to shake her head to get the sweat out of her eyes. Her long platinum hair dark now and mattered to her back and shoulders. Other strands flagged down around her shoulders and arms as they jerked lank with sweat.

Dany slammed down even harder lifting up her groin and slammed down in love instead of anger as they had in front of the throne. She felt Arya’s fingers claw into her back and her clipped nailed hands clawing down her back. The Queen knew her pale back was marked with long red streaks from hard clawed fingers raking down her back painfully. She loved it! Arya’s legs were squeezing Dany nearly in two now as she grimaced but lifted her hips even higher to slam so hard into her woman’s soaked squishing cunt.

Arya’s legs gripped around Dany’s sweaty slippery hips. The squeezing pressure urged Dany into lifting body up off of Arya’s sweaty body as much as their locked embrace allowed and then slammed down again and again. Dany’s strength letting her hard hump her bitch in heat. The friction of their locked groins so delicious to the two women. The Queen’s strength letting her totally fuck Arya down into the mattress. Their pussies weeping slimy cunt juice basting each other’s twat in their own snail snot.

Suddenly Arya’s head jammed hard into the mattress her eyes shocked wide open. Her face twisted with seeming agony her mouth opening wide to scream her fucking agonizing cunt rending ecstasy “AAARRUUNNGGGGGGG! OOOOWWWGGGGGGGGG! Awwwonnnngggnngghiiieeee!” Arya roared her shrieks of agonizing bliss. The tendons jutting out her neck as shockwaves of bliss tore through her hard thick warrior’s body.

Her body bucked and flipped hard and then subsided into more shuddering, accompanied by tight, pinched off whimpers deep in her chest. Her body bucked and writhed beneath Dany’s as Dany surged her pussy savagely down into and over Arya’s jerking quim hard and fast in a rabbit motion now. “Arrruunggggghhhhh! Owwwowwggggggggg! Unngghhhiieeeeee!” Arya shrieked as air returned to her lungs. "Oh uungg hhnnngg uunnhhhhh … oh fuckkkk—old gods! Unngghh! Oh, yes Ummmmngghhhiiieeeeee!!" Arya screamed in blistering almost agonizing pleasure her fingers clawing up and down Dany’s back leaving trails of red marks and slight welts.

Dany slowly let up the force of her trib motion to let her love ride out her orgasm. Arya knew that her lover had not achieved orgasm even in the orgasm induced fog she was currently residing in. Her Dragon always fucked her so well. Arya groggily got Dany to let her get up and got on all fours and urged Dany to get up on her knees and palms. Dany wiggled her cute ass saucily at Arya looking back at her with hot smirking eyes.

Growling in hot addled lust Arya got behind the queen and mashed her face into her woman’s wet seam from behind and started to lick and lap the sweet honeyed slit and drove her tongue deep into her lover’s hot box. She slow motion tongue fucked Dany sending scalding pulses of ecstasy down the Queens’ arms and legs making fingers claw and toes curl while honey fire filled he Queen’s limbs with prickly fiery ecstasy.

Arya loved eating gash. Her mouth hungrily attacked Dany’s sloppy wet slit. Arya licked up and down Dany’s trench and lashed the queen’s rigid clit making Daenerys’ body jolt and shake with sharp stabs of pleasure. Arya lowered her head and siphoned in the Queen’s clit and gave it hot sucks and rolled the nubbin around in her hot sucking greedy mouth. Arya loved feeling that hard nodule rolling over her tongue.

Dany was letting Arya slowly discover all of her erogenous zones and her love of kinky sex. Arya three nights before had been growling and moaning tongue fucking Dany’s steamy fuck hole from behind and then wildly tongue licking her burbling fuck hole slurping up sweet dollops of cum.

Smack ... Smack Smack ... Smack Smack ...

“Aaaaiiiii Eeeeeeii eeeiiii!” Dany cried out feeling Arya’ blister her ass with some cruel hot slaps on her ass cheeks making them glow hot red. Arya kissed and licked the hot glowing orbs making Dany coo in pleasure. The pain and pleasure intoxicating to the pale Queen.

Arya then resumed eating her out doggy and her wild licking had her tongue roughly lick over Dany’s anus. Dany had gasped and jerked hard. Her asshole was a major erogenous zone for Daenerys. She felt Arya pause a second and then roughly lick hard over Dany’s bunghole again. Dany moaned in raw lust her asshole pulsing pleasure into hot pumping blood and her jangling clit. Dany surged back into Arya’s face urging her lover on.

Arya seeing that Dany loved this started to rim Dany’s anus hot and fast. Her tongue lapping and then circling her Queen’s asshole. Arya loved the smooth texture of Dany’s ass cheeks on her face and the rough and yet soft feel her anus underneath her tongue. The heat of Dany’s ass cleft intoxicating to the teenager. Arya gripped Dany’s ass cheeks prying them back to fully expose her starfish. Arya looked at the puckering anus and red mark going up Dany’s ass cleft towards her sacrum. Arya mashed her face into Dany’s ass and avidly licked her lover’s shithole.

“Oohhh ohhhhh yeessss Arya! I love to have my asshole licked and fucked!”

She waited worrying if Arya would be freaked. Some women had to be slowly brought along into loving rimming and tongue lapping a sweet puckering asshole. Instead she heard Arya chuckle and licked her asshole harder and then Arya surprised her. Arya stiffened her tongue and slowly sunk it deep up Dany’s asshole. Dany groaned gutturally feeling that silky long tongue sink deep into her rectum and then slide in and out her ass stroking all her sweet nerve endings in her anus sending so many pleasurable ripples pulsing out her fucked shithole.

Arya slowly pumped her long stiff tongue in and out her woman’s tight pinching sphincter. The long tongue wiggling to lick Dany’s slick rectum walls. Arya reached up to grip Dany’s ass cheeks to pry them further apart in the Stark teenager’s quest to open up Daenerys asshole for deeper exploration by her hungry tongue. Then Arya locked her lips on Dany’s asshole and Dorne kissed it sending her tongue deep up Dany’s asshole with her lips locked on the wrinkled rosebud.

“Ooohhhh Arya! Yessssss! Yessssss baby!” Dany gurgled feeling Arya grip her ass cheeks hard and slow fuck her asshole so deep and slow. Dany cooed and gurgled feeling her love’s wonderful tongue deep up her ass. She longed to feel Arya’s fingers and fist fucking her asshole and a nice thick strap-on slamming up her tight asshole giving her heavenly anal ‘gasms. The pale beauty wiggled her ass back into Arya’s face encouraging the sixteen year old to work her tongue ever deeper up her hot tight anus.

Arya pulled her tongue out of Dany’s asshole and licked it roughly with fast tongue licks and then swirled her tongue around and around the clenching anus. Drooling spit onto the starfish before slurping it up. Then slowly worming her tongue back deep into the pale ass of Dany. The teen resuming slow stroking her tongue in and out the asshole of her lover. Back and forth Arya worked Dany’s asshole shifting between rimming the hot anus and tongue fucking deep Dany’s hot clenching shithole.

Later Dany had asked Arya how she knew what to do so readily. Arya had laughed that sweet laugh of hers. She had gone to Margaery when Dany had insisted that Arya start to do enemas when they washed. The Queen had explained to her new lover how enemas cleaned one out on the inside as well as the outside. It helped promote digestion and kept ones bowels from impacting.

Margaery had laughed with the news that Arya brought to her. “Arya she likes to get fucked up the ass! That is the reason for getting you used to enemas. She wants that sweet shithole nice, pretty and clean for some hot anal debauchery”. Arya now reported this all back to Daenerys who smiled back sweetly and hungrily ate up the sexy talk. Arya told Dany more of what Margaery had to say.

“I and Sansa love it. Anal orgasms are just so fucking intense. You feel like your asshole is tearing itself inside out.” Arya had first been shocked at the word “shithole” but had quickly found it nasty and hot to say and think it. That had made Daenerys so happy. Her baby was a fucking slut par excelance!

Margaery had then explained how you had to relax and use plenty of lube the first time and to focus on pleasure and it will come. “The pain can be intense but when it starts to change to pleasure you will feel a flash of euphoria. It will make you feel like you are full and probably find it unpleasant the sensation when your ass is penetrated the first time. It will take a while to get used to it so just give it time Arya. Each time you will get more and more used to the penetration up your ass. Each time will get better till you are craving having your anus penetrated and fucked with sweet hard strokes of anal savagery.”

Margaery’s body had shivered in remembrances of her recent anal fucks and the scalding pleasure they had given her. Her eyes unfocused and her face slightly pink in arousal.

“I can’t emphasize enough, just relax and accept the penetration up your sweet ass Arya. Think how you love it up the ass. Focus on pleasure. Soon you will love the feeling Arya. Trust me on this” Margaery told her future sister-in-law. “You will be so thankful you did when your shithole explodes in ecstasy from anal ‘gasms that will make you will lose your mind! Its so fucking rad!” Margaery had almost been thrumming talking about anal fucking.

“So you want to be fucked up the ass?” Dany had asked. Arya’s enthusiastic shaking of her head ‘yes’ had warmed Dany’s heart and excited her greatly. She wanted to wait till they got back to King’s Landing when they had plenty of time and all her toys to full explore fully deep anal sex with her wife to be. Arya had whined but the Queen for some reason wanted to wait to partake of full deep penetration anal sex.

She wanted to addict Arya on straight forward lesbian sex before bringing strap-ons into the mix. Daenerys loved all forms of lesbian sex but first wanted to thoroughly explore all forms of traditional lesbian sex before showing Arya the joy that toys brought to the bed.

For now Arya was an avid analingus licker who loved to tongue fuck Dany’s asshole. When Dany had returned the favor Arya nearly climbed the walls in sensual pleasure and when her orgasm hit while Dany tongue fucked her arsehole and rubbed her clit Arya went wild screaming and flipping as Dany felt her tongue squeezed by tight pulses of Arya’s sphincter rings on her buried tongue. Both were in heaven. The beauty of lesbian sex. The woman giving received almost as much pleasure as the woman receiving.

Now Arya was using all her new skills. She was tongue fucking Dany’s asshole hard and then pulling her tongue out and pulling hard on Dany’s ass cheeks pulling them back opening Dany’s ass cleft. Arya kept tongue fucking Dany’s asshole while pulling on Dany’s ass cheeks. She repeated her efforts until Dany’s asshole started to gape. She moaned when Arya slowly rimmed her asshole and licked up her red ass crease up over sacrum and more rimming of her starfish before slow and then fast tongue fucking of her beginning to spasm asshole.

“Ohhhh Arya—godsdammn you fuck my fucking asshole so good baby! Ram that tongue deep up my shitter baby! Tongue fuck my hot tight asshole!” Arya fucked her ass harder hearing Dany’s hot nasty speech. It inflamed both women to fuck hard. “Pound my shithole with your hot tongue baby!” Dany shrieked. Arya tongue fucked the Queen’s asshole harder excited by the Queen’s potty mouth. The nasty words inflaming Arya.

Dany and Arya’s bodies were dripping sweat all over from long hot fucking and raw physical excitement. Arya tongue fucked the sweet asshole with her pumping tongue and then again Dorne kissed the wrinkly orifice. She lipped the anus as her tongue wiggled and licked around in Dany’s rectum. Arya moaned at the silky wet heat on her tongue. The she would resume tongue fucking Dany’s shithole.

“Ohhhhh baby yeesssssss! Fuck my shithole baby! Make my ass explode—ppplleeeaaasseeeeee!” Daenerys cried out in desperate fuck hunger feeling Arya’s tongue deep fucking her spasming anus. In and out Arya’s tongue fucked her asshole sensually. The feel of Arya burying her face in the Queen’s ass cleft so deep intoxicated the young Queen.

Arya slammed her head forward lunging her tongue deep up Dany’s asshole and then locked her lips on Dany’s anus and wiggled her tongue in deep licking her woman’s rectum all around. Arya snuffled working her woman’s ass with her deep probing tongue. Dany felt Arya bring up her hand.

Arya started to rub Dany’s clit hard and fast with her right hand in a blur jacking the hard nubbin jutted out its sheaf. The oily nubbin jerked and whiplashed by the back and forth sideswiping fingers. With her left hand Arya started to slap Dany’s left ass cheek with hard slaps. Each hard slap making Dany cry out and shake all over. Arya loved the feel of the hard clit morsel hitting her swiping fingers. Arya’s pumped her head in short pumps working her long stiff tongue in and out Dany’s hot tight pinching asshole.

Soon the Queen’s left ass cheek was hot from its spanking. Arya would rub the abused ass cheek only to lift her hand high again and viciously slap the ass cheek. Dany cried out in pained pleasure. The Queen wiggling her ass back into the abuse she loved receiving.

Arya reached forward with her left hand found Dany’s left hanging tit as it whiplashed around with her gyrations and clenched it hard her fingers. Her long fingers sunk deep into the pale dove and her finger roughly massaged the orb her palm rasping the rigid nipple.

Arya focused to keep her hands working in sync and her head lunging her tongue in and out Dany’s steamy tight butthole.

For a long minute Dany felt the tension rising in her groin. Her clit jolting out searing waves of ecstasy and her asshole was spasming out of control. Her body jamming back with hot jerks to send Arya’s tongue even deeper up her ass. The feel of that stiff but pliant tongue working in and out her ass was making Dany delirious with ecstasy. All the while Arya kept her right hand whipping back and forth swiping over Dany’s rigid clit with cum soaked fingers. The pulses from her clit and anus came closer together and with more force scalding the Queen with sweet pleasure.

Dany’s world suddenly exploded as shockwaves of searing bliss hammered out her clit and her asshole. Her clit hammered her with Warhammer like blows of scalding bliss. Her asshole shredded itself on Arya’s tongue fucking it to an epic anal ‘gasm. It felt like her clit would tear itself off her cunt and her asshole was tearing itself inside out. Her head snapping right and left her face twisted in a rictus of shattering ecstasy that her throat gave voice too.

"AAWWOOGGGGGGGG! GOODDSSSSDAAMNNNNNNN—ARYA BBBBBYYYYYYYYY! Anngghnniiiggggiieeee!" Dany screamed out as her body flipped and jackknife violently her hips bucking back into Arya’s mouth pleasuring her wildly spasming asshole. Dany’s anus spasming hard on the tongue fucking it deep. "OOOWWNNGGHHIIIEEEEE! Hhnngg hhnnngg hhhhnnn uuunn Aaaruuungggggg! Hhhhuunnngggggeeeegggg!" Dany roared jamming her ass back to take all of Arya’s tongue up her ass. Arya now still body letting Dany fuck her asshole on her tongue. Dany’s head whipped around her face torn apart with fucking bliss. Arya’s fingers still rubbing her clit prolonging her ecstasy.

Hot cum had left a milky sheen all over her shaved mound and groin. Cum running down her thighs and splattering off the fingers masturbating her clit most exquisitely. The hot cum letting Arya’s finger slide effortlessly over her mound and clit. Dany’s head thrashed right and left as it slashed and jolted with near crippling pleasure.

Dany’s belly felt like it was filled with melted cum butter her body floating on a cloud of ecstasy as Arya stopped rubbing her now sensitive clit. Her tongue still buried so deep up her ass. She heard Arya moaning feeling Dany’s asshole pinching her tongue so hard still with her dying orgasm. "Auunnhhhh . . . . aunngghhhhh . . . oh . . . oh . . . auunnggghhhh!" she moaned, collapsing forward slowly collapsing down to the bed with Arya following her down. Her hand gripping Dany’s now relaxed ass to keep her tongue buried up Dany’s ass to enjoy every spasm of her lover’s asshole on her tongue. Dany gasped and breathed heavily floating on the last billowing waves of her orgasm played out and began to fade away.

Now Dany was in a happy place still floating in post coital bliss. Arya was totally wild and adventurous in bed. She was also insatiable. Dany was so happy that Arya was so fierce in her desires of physical combat in the field and her desire for hot sex in the bed. She was like Dany in that she wanted and very well needed to have multiple orgasms to put the fire out in her couchie. Only lots of hard sex could finally satiate their hungry pussies.

Dany’s was now tired and purring in spent happiness. Arya pulled her tongue out her shithole and moved up Dany’s sweat soaked body. Arya slowly turned Dany over to snuggle tight to her woman and love slut. Daenerys’s pussy all swollen, red and worn out. She pulled Arya closer to her luxuriating in the feel of her hard warrior’s body beside her. Gods, earlier in the night Arya had cum so hard in Dany’s mouth four times flooding her greedy mouth to overflowing with hot sweet cum she hungrily gulped down.

Arya murmured and wiggled in tighter to Dany’s body. Dany felt Arya’s pulpy nipples digging into her ribs. Dany knew it would take little work to ignite the flames of desire again. She felt a tingle to again bury her face in paradise. Dany pulled Arya’s face to hers and slowly locked their lips. The Valyrian moaned tasting her asshole on Arya’s lips and then on the teen’s tongue when she parted Arya’s lips and surged her tongue into Arya’s mouth to let their tongues wrestle in wet slippery love.

They talked of the upcoming marriage. Arya smiled great big thinking of marrying Dany here in Winterfell. It still excited Arya that Dany had asked her father’s hand in marriage and that he had given his blessing. Arya had cried again thinking on it. That triggered tears from Daenerys lilac eyes. She had pulled her wolf tight and hugged her while kissing her all over face.

The reaction of Arya to thinking of marrying Dany in the sacred groove had reignited the fire of hot need in their bellies and pussies. They had exhausted themselves in hot fucking already but talk of marriage had reignited the fires of desires and they had drunk deep from rupturing pussies again several times each. Again they were satiated. They snuggled in close letting their sweat soaked bodies warm each other as they pulled the sheets and light blanket over them. The room warm from the hot water running through the walls.

Dany had spent her growing up years in Essos. She asked Arya about marriage practices in Westeros. Arya had blushed when describing the “bedding” ceremonies. Dany loved hearing of this “bedding” ceremony. She had no problem being naked in public. Her time in the Dothraki Khalasar had taught her not to be ashamed of her body. She had hoped she would be able to fuck Arya in public but alas that was not part of the ritual. She would love to see Arya’s blushing face and body. She may be a fierce wolf in bed but she was still prudish in public when it came to expressing carnal pleasure.

Margaery told Daenerys that Sansa was the same way. The Queen had been fascinated to hear that Sansa was going to take over Margaery’s harem when they returned to King’s Landing. Olenna had told her that she had brought Margaery’s handmaidens to King’s Landing. She had not known that they were all lesbian sluts and had been boning Margaery for years. Margaery was limpid eyed telling Dany how Sansa was going to simply fuck them all to oblivion. Sansa had been such a sheep before Margaery had come to her, but, Margaery had discovered the Stark had a dark streak in her that made her fuck Margaery bowlegged at night.

In a breathless manner Margaery waxed rhapsodic about how Sansa loved to rough Margaery up when fucking her when they were in the mood for rough sex. Margaery loved to be submissive and humiliated when fucked. She had asked her Queen if she too had such desires. Daenerys had felt her pulse jump and body shiver. She had told the Tyrell that yes she too had a sub side that longed to be mounted and topped.

She loved to be dominated and ‘fucked’ over with women lovers she knew she could trust. Daenerys had asked if she thought Arya might have that ‘dark’ streak too. Margaery had laughed. She reminded the Queen that Arya did fire arrows at her on the Iron Throne and had nearly punched her teeth out her mouth.

Daenerys smiled at the sweet memories. They hadn’t been at the time but through the prism of nostalgia Daenerys remembered her initial meeting with Arya romantically. The conversation had then slowly turned back to the marriage night.

Margaery too wished she could fuck Sansa in public. She liked the sexual practices of the Dothraki when Daenerys told her of their liberated altitudes toward sex in the open. Margaery too felt one should show the world you love for your mate by fucking in front of others. Margaery was liberating Sansa of her backward views as Dany was slowly doing with Arya.

She couldn’t wait to be stripped naked and carried up to her marriage bed. Arya knew her parents were planning a wedding ceremony that would involve the Glass Gardens (which Dany had not had time to visit yet) and then finish in the Godswood. Dany had loved that serene woods. It would be beautiful. After the war was won and the kingdom settled down Arya, Sansa and Robb would be wedded in the same ceremony.

Dany knew it would be beautiful. She knew Catelyn Stark, Margaery and Alys were leading the planning of the ceremony. Dany was content. She knew how to plan attacks and siege warfare not weddings.

Dany stared up at the ceiling seeing the shadows that wafted and morphed with the flickering firelight. It reminded her of her room in her home with the red door in Braavos. She would see monsters up in the half hidden shadows. She would tremble and snifflle until Ser Willem Derry would hear her like he always did somehow sensing her need for comforting. She missed the old knight dearly. He was her Eddard Stark.

She let her mind drift from the distant past to the most recent past. She let her mind drift to the meeting they had this morning.

She had gone to it without Arya. Arya had no taste for the Game of Thrones or large scale battle tactics and meeting with Lords. She was a warrior only. Daenerys had sensed this in Arya from the beginning. She would be fidgeting and probably become cross in any such meeting. Dany had sent Arya out to the yard to seek out contestants to further her skills. She and Syrio loved to fight the Haruchai finding opponents that could one and all fight them to a standoff. It was a supreme challenge they loved facing off against.

It was a formal meeting the present High Lords of the South. With her were the leaders of the North. Eddard, Sansa, Robb and Margaery of House Stark and Edmure representing the Riverlands. Jon Arryn of the Vale was in the high North keeping an eye on House Frey and Bolton. The leaders of the factions from the Land of the Southern hemisphere were at the table for a formal briefing. Lord Lustra would speak for the Land denizens.

They had traveled to the Northern hemisphere because of the visions of the Seer on the High Council, Lord Haryel. He had seen several great dangers that could threaten all life in the North of the world and would probably one day attempt to cross the Soulbiter and Soulcrusher to attack the lands in the Southern hemisphere.

They wanted to root out the evils while they were still nescient. Their seer had determined that the Dragonthane was the key to both victories.

The Lords and Daenerys looked at the Lord as she explained this. They had not realized that there was another threat to their world.

They waited for Daenerys as Queen. “What is this other danger?” Daenerys asked for the forces of Westeros and by proxy Essos.

The Lord looked around the table. “Deep into our past a great evil was unearthed. The Illearth stone. With it much evil was brought into the world. It was a great bane buried deep in the bowels of the Earth at the roots of Mount Thunder. It was a massive green stone that radiated pure evil and corruption. With flakes of the Illearth stone three Giant were enslaved and infested with Ravers. Great wars were fought and much was destroyed before the Giant-Ravers were slain. Thomas Covenant did battle with Illearth stone. It is written that in the Gem of the Krill white and green ran riot but white prevailed and the Illearth stone was destroyed by Thomas Covenant.

“There is such a stone in your world. It is called the Demonstone. It has been found and its possessor is using it to create great monstrosities. We name this one the Corrupter. One Raver thought long dead is already in your world. Samadhi Sheol we thought dead has returned to life too. Turiya Herem Kinslaughterer is waiting for his brother to join him once his brother has journeyed to this world. Their other brother we do not sense coming to this hemisphere for some reason. The brothers are drawn to power and anyone how tries use it to conquer life.”

“They will join the Corrupter and will wage war upon you. Even now he is raising his armies of stone warped minions. In time he will seek to come south to wage war in the Land. The call of their ancient homeland will be too strong to resist. We must stop this bane here and now before it becomes too great to contend with.”

There was silence in the room. “You are saying that another fate must be confronted?” Daenerys asked.

“Yes. You have to defeat the Ice King who is the immediate threat. Before the second threat can be confronted and defeated you will first have to restore magic. It is dying. You will have to journey to the land of undying volcanos and find the Blood of the Earth. The Corrupter is nascent and is still growing his armies and waiting for the Raver brothers to join him. That evil can be confronted another day in the near future. First we will defeat this Ice King.”
Daenerys had felt her head spin slightly. She also felt the rush of facing a challenge. “You mean Valyria did you not when speaking of a land of volcanoes?”

“We do not know the names of your lands. We only know it is a land where fire always fills the sky. We must first meet and defeat the Ice King. This is the immediate crises facing the Earth. The other is still coming to term.”

“We have come to aid you in this quest. We will give succor and in return ask that you will help us face this other danger arising in the east. The Illearth War caused too much harm. We will not allow the Corrupter to rise to his full power. We will meet and defeat him before he comes into his full power.”

Dany told them she would take everything under consideration but she would do all in her power to help these denizens who had traveled halfway around the world to help her. It was obvious this new evil she had been told of was in its own way as dangerous as the Ice King.

Then she and Eddard then went over their plans to confront and defeat the Ice King and his army of Wrights and the Undead.

She then spoke openly of the treasonous houses that were feigning obeisance to the North and the Riverlands. The forces of the Land were still having a hard time understanding the concept of deceit and the willingness to turn against their own brethren.

“Surely they must be inhabited by some type of evil spirits like a Raver” the Lord spoke “this is impossible that man uninfluenced by a raver could even conceive of such treason. It goes against all the instincts of man.”

Daenerys, Eddard, Stannis and Edmure had to spend fifteen minutes to get the Lord, Giants, Haruchai and Ramen to more fully understand that man could act in this way. The Lord said that in the ancient past the King from the South had turned against the Queen but he had been enslaved by Lord Foul and that was sixty thousand years ago.

Dany listening to them remembered something they had said earlier. She would put their sight to the test when the time came. She wanted the houses of Frey and Bolton totally destroyed. She would make sure that the current lineage was utterly removed from the face of the Earth. Any in the Houses that had any hand in the treason would be rooted out and destroyed.

Eddard told the Lords of Westeros and the Lord from the Land how he and Dany planned on unmasking and garroting the traitorous houses. They wanted to make sure their traitorous nature was revealed before they were trampled into the dust.

Daenerys took a breath. It was time to reveal her last decision. “We will be abandoning the forts of the Wall and the Wall itself.”

The table had erupted into loud arguments and words against her decision. The Lords had just accepted the idea of fighting the Ice King and now they were being told to abandon the greatest defense they had.

She had earlier explained her thinking to Eddard. He had accepted her logic as sound. Daenerys remembered his face twisted and his grimaces as he worked out the logic she had given him. She again admired how the man was able to accept new norms so easily. He was not locked by past precepts. He was able to evolve.

“I have thought this through. We are not losing anything by falling back from the wall. The ShadowBender witches who showed us the true evil that we fight also infiltrated his camp. They saw a horn that very well might be the Horn of Winter. If it is that ancient relic and it can do as the portents say then the Wall will come down. If we have our forces on the Wall and it comes down the loss of life will be devastating. We will have to abandon the forts as well.”

Daenerys paused to look around the room making direct eye contact. She wanted to convince the Lords of the wisdom of her decisions. “All prophecies seem to say the ‘Wall will come down’. That will be messy. I cannot really see how that will help our foe. The rubble will be several hundred feet tall still and a horrendous mess. I am assuming if that is his goal then he knows this and will have a plan for it.”

“Eddard and I have also considered the possibility that the Wall will somehow be melted. This again will be ‘messy’” Daenerys emphasized the word. “The rush of water would be tremendous and the flood would wreak havoc on both sides of the Wall. We the living would be harmed but would recover quickly. We have consciousness and will know how to react. The dead will be washed away and scattered. The Ice King will not have time to again organize them since we will be attacking them as quick as the waters dissipate. The frozen ground will send the water flowing about wildly.”

I am having deep trenches dug on our side of the Wall. There are abandon tunnels underneath Castle Black. I am having the tunnels dug to those entrances. I am moving out supplies from the deepest levels and pulled back from the fort and added to our circled wagon trains. The quarters that would be flooded if the Wall is melted can be restored. I am also having a large berm erected that is twenty feel high a mile from the wall. This will divert the flood to the ditches and into the tunnels. Also, this will provide additional protection. If the enemy breaches the wall they will have to climb the berm to reach us. We will decimate them as they approach and climb the berm.”

“I have told Jon Snow through my emissaries that the berm is solely for protection. Another line of support in case it is needed. I have not informed him of my decision to withdraw from the Wall itself. He will not be happy.”

“Trenches behind the berm one mile back from the Wall. We can quickly cover that distance. We will know of the enemies approach. We will have plenty of time to prepare the proper response. If the horn is a fake nothing will be lost and we will man the wall again. If the enemy tries to cross the fallen Wall our archers and spearmen will feather and squire the enemy. If the Wall melts the enemy will be scattered. Either way we win. If the horn fails then we will do the same from the safety of the wall. The undead have no minds, therefore, no tactics. The Ice Wrights seem to fight either on foot or on dead animals as a slow kind of light cavalry. We will defeat and utterly annihilate the enemy.”

“We have obsidian. If they try and cross the fallen wall they will be slaughtered. If the Wall remains and they force the tunnels it will be a killing field as well. Obsidian is a total game changer.”

Oberyn asked the question that most must have been thinking “Why would Jon Snow the Lord Commander follow your edict. He reports to no one but himself. He does not owe you allegiance.”

Daenerys had an answer. “His last name is Snow but he is in his heart a Stark. He will listen to reason. He will listen to his father.” Few knew as yet of Jon’s true lineage. That was a basket left covered until the war was over. Eddard had assured Daenerys that Jon had no ambition for the throne. In fact he was going to leave the Crows and disappear into the Sand Hills above Moat Cailin.

This pleased the Queen. She had learned much of Jon Snow. She had no desire to have conflict with him. The fact he knew his true lineage and had no desire for the Iron Throne spoke volumes of the man Jon Snow had become.

The meeting had gone on for another hour. When it broke up Daenerys waited as Eddard waited too. They were joined by Stannis, Renly, Edmure and Oberyn. Stannis spoke up “You know the Ice King has to have a plan if he going to use the Horn of Winter to bring down the Wall. He must have some means of getting past the rubble.”

Eddard sighed and agreed. He and Dany had talked of this several times. They could not fathom how he would accomplish this. One big advantage they had Daenerys summarized was the slow speed of the undead. They were relentless in their forward progress but extremely slow. They did not march forward they shambled it had been reported with every encounter between the living and the dead. This slow advance was a big advantage to the forces of Westeros. This slow advance would allow them to feather the Others with obsidian arrows and other projectiles that Jon had proven would kill them. The Ice Wrights were mighty but had the same weakness to obsidian and Valyrian steel. She paused and smiled. She stepped away from the table to a large package against the wall.

She brought it to the table. The men looked at her curiously. “I come bearing gifts to my most trusted allies and confidents. “Eddard is taken care of” Daenerys spoke in a humorous voice. She whipped the blankets back. The men around her gasped, Eddard among them.

The men stared in wonder. On the table was four Valyrian Swords and a leaf shaped spearhead. “I would have my most trusted warriors properly armed. I wish that Valyrian swords were plentiful but they are not. Only my best can be given these precious weapons.”

“To Stannis I give ‘Edge of Doom’”. It was dark blue with ripples up and down the blade. Daenerys had handled all the blades and none of them were Rune swords. “To your brother I bequeath “Nightfang”. The two stunned brothers reached out and took the offered swords. Their faces light with wonder and happiness lifting and slashing their new swords about. They turned to Daenerys and thanked her profusely.

Daenerys waved away their thanks. “I reward my most loyal. You in this room have proven yourselves more than worthy of these Valyrian swords.

She turned to Edmure. “I do not know you as well Edmure but you are the titular head of the Riverlands. To you I give ‘Sunfire’. To Jon Arryn who watches over the traitors as we speak I will give ‘Destroyer of Lies’”. Edmure took his sword with a gasp admiring the fine sword that seemed to fit perfectly in his hand.

Lastly, the Queen turned to the Red Viper. “To you Oberyn I had this spear head forged. Illyrio had contact with one Arik from Qohor.” She noticed Eddard start. He evidently knew of the man. Maybe he had forged the sword he carried. Such great swordsmiths were indeed rare. “Go and put this spear tip on your ash haft Oberyn.”

Oberyn was actually choked up taking the spear head in his hands. He turned it over admiring its keen sharpness and the prefect craftsmanship of the spear tip.

“Try and not let Nymeria get this spear from you Oberyn” the Queen chuckled.

Oberyn still staring at the spear in his hands “It doesn’t matter. She always gives it back to me unharmed” he murmured failing to remember to be aggrieved marveling at his gift.

“Let us go forth to destiny my great generals and warriors.” She had enjoyed seeing their elation at her gifts. She had given them weapons to take the fight to the Ice Wrights. They would lead the fight to the enemy as she planned to do.

Dany was growing weary. It had been a good day.

Oberyn

Oberyn looked around the trunk of the tall pine tree. The bark rough on his cheek. He held on to his prized spear with its new Valyrian spear point. As soon as he left Daenerys he had run (literally) to Mikken the smith at Winterfell. Everyone spoke highly of the man. He had been like a little boy pleading with the man to put the spear tip on his ash shaft like yesterday.

To the man’s credit he had seen how important it was to Oberyn. Two and a half hours later he had his spear back with its razor sharp Valyrian spearhead. He would be able to open up any armor with this spear tip. He was absolutely stoked.

That had been four days ago. He had soon discovered that Nymeria and her damn accomplish Shaggydog were still out to get his spear from him. In fact the infernal beasts seemed to somehow sense the spear was even more special and therefore worth stealing from Oberyn. The damn Direwolves had no respect! The mutt had even brought Lady into the fray yesterday. Oberyn had learned to be ever vigilant always scanning his surrounding and looking behind himself so much he was developing a kink in his neck.

But he was keeping his spear in his hand at all times. He had developed tactics to keep his spear away from the infernal hounds of hades. He would keep the spear up high or spinning so fast the wolves got dizzy trying to follow the spear. The wolves attacked him from all angles and from hidden lairs. Oberyn had been up to the challenge. The Valyrian steel tip seemed to make Oberyn even faster with his spear. Nymeria and Shaggydog would bark furiously at him or walk off with their tails between their legs as he laughed at them and taunted them with their stinging defeats. He deserved his victory taunts! Damn right those vile Direwolves tasted defeat.

He had to be careful with Shaggydog though. The mutt always tried to piss on Oberyn when he was defeated.

Lady he had come to trust. The Direwolf was gentle of spirit as long as her mistresses were not in danger. She was friendly and loved to have her belly and neck scratched. Yesterday, she had come to Oberyn and butted her head into his side and woofed. Oberyn started to scratch her behind her ears and along her neck. The wolf whined and shimmied in pleasure.

The large animal plopped down on the ground and rolled onto her back and looked at Oberyn expectantly. He smiled at the pleasure hound. He looked around. They were near the Great Keep and lots of yard around them. He did not see Nymeria or her partner in crime. He slowly bent down sitting his spear on the ground beside himself and started to rub the wolf aggressively on her belly.

The wolf’s tongue lulled out and she whined her legs kicking the air and her tail swishing back and forth. Oberyn could not help but smile at the wolf’s antics. He would start to look around but Lady would paw Oberyn and get him to look back on her and focus on scratching her belly. Her head worked around as she woofed in pleasure.

Several times he started to look around but Lady would paw him to get his attention. He thought nothing of it. The wolf was enjoying her scratching so much. Then she looked behind him and got up and licked his face (he had to grimace feeling that rough tongue licking him) and walked away slowly. He smiled at the wolf. He had enjoyed pleasuring the sweet dispositioned wolf.
That was until he reached for his spear. His hand froze. He slowly turned his head. His spear was gone! He turned around quickly. There twenty feet behind him was Nymeria with his spear in her mouth and a big wolf smile on her snout. She had her head turned back to look at Oberyn triumphantly. She kicked her hind legs sending up a shower of grass and dirt.

“Damn you Nymeria!” For the next ten minutes he chased the wolf around the yards and trees. He was definitely in top cardio shape now with all his long running chases of Arya’s fucking wolf. He chased the wolf around till the tip of his spear caught a tree and the wolf dropped his spear. He was right behind her and instantly snatched the spear up off the ground. The wolf had put her feet out to break her run but she could not turn around fast enough to prevent Oberyn from getting his spear back. The infernal wolf barked furiously at her defeat trying to get Oberyn’s spear back but he was too fast for the wolf.

He enjoyed the game but he would never let Nymeria know it as she hurled curses at the wolf and she glared at him before turning her body around and walking off with tail held high. He laughed at the wolf in derision smug in his victory.

He was not laughing now. He was coming back from the far greensward near the north wall of Winterfell. He had taken some of the Dorne Lords who liked to fight with the spear like Oberyn. He had fought the Lord of Vaith and his Lord Holdfasts in the Sandstone Mountains that rose up from the Vaith River. It had been exhilarating. The Valyrian steel spear tip was only a few ounces lighter than the forged steel it replaced but it felt like it made all the difference in the world to Oberyn. His spear was so much lighter in his hands it felt like some mythical weapon the Jinn Warlocks used in the days before the Andals came to Westeros.

The men had gone to the curtain wall to look upon the ancient forest that ranged close to Winterfell on that side. He was slowly walking back to the Guest Hall from the Kennel side of the compound. He started. He saw the two curs and banes of his existence appear from the edge of the crypts. It was Nymeria and Shaggydoy. They were on the hunt. A hunt for one spear of Oberyn Martell. He ducked behind the large pine tree on the stand of conifers that had scrub brush underneath. He pressed his cheek into the rough bark edging one eye around the edge of the tree.

They were looping towards the Guards Hall and the First Keep. Oberyn had lucked out. The infernal wolves were going to work their way back down the line of buildings sniffing for him. He looked around. He saw the Godwood up the incline. The thick undergrowth obscuring the view into it. The tall trees soaring up high. He saw vines climbing trunks and old moss hanging down in wispy strands blowing in the soft breeze. The wolves disappeared around the buildings splitting up.

He made a run for the Godwood. He would hide in there till the wolves grew tired of their hunt. He would love to see their frustrated snouts when they could not find him or more importantly his spear. He soon reached the one path that led into the Godwood and slowly entered it. He had been in the Godwood before. It was a place that engendered a sense of stillness and a calm. He would not run in this sacred groove. He did not believe in the gods of the Starks but he admitted there was a benefic force in this place. It was a place of peace and harmony.

He moved deeper into the woods towards the pool that was beside the Weirwood tree. It was roughly a hundred yards in from the east side of the Godwood. It felt almost primordial in this place. The air felt like it had not been breathed in by man. Here the First people once walked according to the legends.

He heard voices and he moved to the edge of the path and moved forward silently. The snoop in Oberyn coming out. He wanted to find out was happening without being seen. He thought craftily he could have been a spy. A ‘jackal’ in service of the spy service of Dorne moving silent in the
It was two female voices. Oberyn leered. You never knew when you might get lucky. He was voyeur and damn proud of it. He and Ellaria loved to watch others fuck before they joined in on the festivities. Ellaria loved to hear of his conquests and wanted all the juicy details. He moved forward and came up against a large maple tree that had a thicket of blueberries on the side away from the path. He pressed into the tree and scooted around the other side and hunched down in a gape in the thicket.

Perfect. From here he could see the Weirwood tree with its red weeping mouth and eyes. The fact that the eyes seemed to be looking at him with scorn only bothered him for a moment. There was nothing wrong with knowing the truth of a situation. He looked on the two figures that were before him.

He saw the Lord Lustra and her Bloodguard Brail. Oberyn could not help his lust rising. Brail was dark brown and had jet black hair and was limesome. The hair coming to the bottom of her ears parted around them. The black hair framing a beautiful face. She was only five foot three inches but he had learned that her fists stuck with the force of sledgehammers he had found when sparring with the Haruchai. She was as fast as lightening and stuck with the speed of a sand adder. She had beautiful almond eyes that were jet black much like his sweet Ellaria. Where Ellaria was soft curves and large breast and ass Brail was lean with small high breasts and a tight muscled warrior’s body.

Oberyn let his eyes leer over to the other woman, Lustra. The Lord had dirty blond hair and had a nice figure with full breast and big tight ass he would have loved to plow. She too had a beautiful face but her face constantly looked like it had bitten into a sour lemon and lime together. She gave off an air of being perpetually unhappy. He actually felt sorry for her. A good fuck would definitely help her demeanor.

He knew that impure thought did not to cross the mind of Brail. The woman was suppressed, regressed and forgot her carnal emotions back in her homeland but she was obviously in love with Lustra pining for the Lord. The Haruchai knew how to pine but the raw emotion needed to break through the icy demeanor of the Lord was beyond Brail. He felt sorry for the woman.

Lustra had put her staff against the Weirwood tree and was closely examining the cuttings in the bark.

“These marks are ancient and yet the wood still bleeds sap. Most strange. I can feel the magic in this place. It is strong.” She bent her body in even further with her eye just above the white bark. Lustra looked up and down the bark. “I can feel the power in the tree. It is almost like it is listening to us. To the wind, to the grass, to the water in the pool. Most strange.”

Oberyn saw the Haruchai staring at Lustra’s ass intently. She was actually showing emotion on her face Oberyn suddenly saw. This was going to be interesting. Maybe the woman did have it in her Oberyn mused. The Haruchai seemed to be wrestling with something internally. She shivered and took a deep breath seeming to make decision. The Haruchai stared at Lustra and especially her ass jutted out all nice and tempting.

Oberyn’s breath caught when the woman silently pulled the belt of her tunic loose and silently pulled it over her head. She was naked and her high small firm breast had rock hard nipples and her pussy was swollen and wet he could see the glistening juices on her camel toe. Trickles of cum working down her muscled thighs. Her sparse black hair cropped short. Oberyn again observed the Haruchai were perfectly formed.

The Lord continued to examine the Weirwood tree talking to herself. “It is amazing how old this tree “Lustra … turn and face me” Brail softly spoke.

The lord stood up and turned around her. Her mouth fell open and her eyes widened.

“What is the meaning of this? Brail pu-pu-put put your tunic back on—what are you doing?”

Lustra’s voice had a note of fear in it.

“I am giving myself to you Lustra. I have been advised to “go for it”. I have loved you since I was a child and my father was your Bloodguard. I fought to be your Bloodguard. I would share my life with you.”

“But—but you are Haruchai … you don’t mate outside your race.”

Brail stepped up to Lustra who was the same height. She reached out and stroked Lustra’s cheek tenderly. The Lord shivered and caught herself leaning into the touch and pulled back.

“You obfuscate Lustra. Lords have mated with Haruchai before. As Kevin melded with the first Haruchai through the Staff of Law the lore has been passed on. I have the will as do you. We can bridge the gap between our minds.”

“No Brail.” Oberyn heard denial but also suppressed want in Lustra’s voice. Her eyes betrayed her. Lustra stared up and down the beautiful body before her. Her body shivered and involuntarily leaned forward in desire for her Bloodguard.

“I love you” Brail spoke with such longing in her voice even Oberyn was choked up. The Giants had told him that the Haruchai were a very, very passionate race. They merely suppressed their desires when away from the hearth. The Haruchai could fuck wildly with multiple sex partners and have it only be about pleasure but when it came to a true bond it was intimate and deep. “I want you Lustra. I need you. My very being yearns for you. I wish us to become one my love.”

“But you are my Bloodguard … you duty.” Lustra’s eyes darted around like a trapped animal. Her body tense and shaking. The Lord was obviously trying to suppress her love for the Haruchai.

Oberyn wanted to jump out from his hiding place and run out and grip Lustra’s shoulders and shake her violently. He loved to fuck but it was Ellaria’s love that centered his life.

“If must I will step down as your Bloodguard … leave my command I won by right of combat … I would sever my link to my countrymen if that is what I must do to win your love Lustra. I love you. I always have.”

Lustra looked stunned. She gulped loudly in the silent Godswood. “Only Stave has ever done that …you would do that for me?”

“Yes. Without a thought if it would let you love me.”

Lustra looked around with wide eyes. She shook like a trembling leaf buffeted by the strong autumn winds. “I was hurt so bad Brail. I could not survive another mate leaving me.”

“I will never leave you Lustra. I wish to form the mating ritual binding with you. We will be bonded.”

Lustra stared at Brail for a long time. Oberyn wanted to jump up and shout at the sourpuss to take Brail’s love. Geez, dense woman.
“You are a woman Brail ... I have only laid with men before ...”

“The expression of love is different Lustra. That is the only difference. Let me love you Lustra: woman to woman. I will show you my adore and my passion. I will make you scream in orgasms and prove to you my pure untainted love Lustra. Let me worship the beauty that is you ... let me show you my love—let us share life and love.”

Lustra stared into the Haruchai’s eyes hard with her hazel orbs. Then she gripped her staff and rammed it into the ground and a blue glow emanated from the Staff. Oberyn felt the temperature suddenly rise till the air was warm and balmy.

He watched Lustra pull her tunic over her head and her full C cup breast fell onto her chest. Her plump tight ass and shaved twat was on full display. Oberyn smirked seeing the rigid engorged nipples of the Lord. Her cunt wet and swollen. She had a sweet pussy her inner lips all bloomed out her slit. They came together in a clench of arms and legs as their mouths found each other and mated tight. Oberyn was impressed. They wasted no time with a gentle kisses. This was about raw passion finally igniting. Their tongues plunged deep into each other’s mouths and their cheeks showed their wet wrestling tongues. Arms enfolded bodies and pulled the new lovers tight to each other.

They both groaned and whimpered. Their heads tilted over to let tongues lunge down throats. Both women taking turns being the aggressor. Their bodies instinctively humped sodden twats on the leg jammed into the groove of their legs. Asses flexing as pussies were ground and clits jacked on legs now glistening with fuck juice. Ellaria was right as usual. All women were lesbians deep down. Lustra instinctively angled her rotating hips to grind her drooling clamshell up and down Brail’s hard thigh. Lustra crying out in the mouth devouring hers as her hands pulled Brail harder into her body.

Soon the Haruchai had the Lord on her back in the soft moss and was kissing her mouth and sucking on her breast hungrily going back and forth. Spit trailed from Brail’s lips to the nipples and lips of her lover, Lustra. The beautiful woman groaning gutturally her legs thrashing on the moss her heels dragging the feathery moss. Brail nursed feverishly on the turgid nipples moving back and forth. Her hands roughly milking the perfect orbs. Her fingers sinking in deep to the soft but firm udders. Lustra’s head thrashed in helpless pleasure.

Brail’s head pumped up with her fevered love sucks on Lustra’s rigid long thick nipples. Brail’s sucks tenting the areolas of her new lover. Her cheeks showed her tongue lathing the steeple areolas and then batting the rigid teats. Slowly Brail worked her hand down Lustra’s now heaving belly making slow sensual circles till her fingers reached the Lord’s wet humping mound. Her fingers worked up and down the drooling slit. The fingers instantly soaked and glistening in slimy creamy love snot.

Lustra muffled cries were swallowed by Brail’s mouth as he Haruchai circled her clit with her fingertips and flicked over the rigged shiny nubbin. Lustra’s cries high pitched and her groin lifting her twat into the rubbing fingers working over her clit in hard rubs and sensual circles. Then Brail used her fingers to rub up and down the bright red seam of her slut lover. Then her thumb came into play tormenting Lustra’s clit while her fingers slip and slide up and down the gooey wet trench humping up into the fingers jacking off the slobbering cunny.

Brail slipped two fingers into her lover’s sloppy wet cunt. They had broken their kiss for air. Lustra’s face twisted and her voice keened in a high pitch warble of shocking ecstasy. Brail started slow stroking her long digits in and out the creamy hot tight cunt. Her bent knuckle hammering Lustra’s clit shocking the Lord with pure nirvana. They started to kiss again with Lustra running her fingers into Brail’s hair and pulling their mouths tight as tongues wetly wrestled from mouth to mouth.

Brail slowly increased her rhythm of her pumping fingers. Now she pumped her lover’s love box hard and deep. Lustra’s cunt making wet slobberly sounds. Brail’s fingers soaked in creamy slimy cum. The women’s whimpers and chuffs was beautiful music to Oberyn’s ears. Oberyn enjoyed watching Brail flex her arm and ram fuck Lustra’s wet cum soaked twat. The long brown digits hammering in hard. Lustra’s pussy already soaking wet slurped and sloshed. Brail’s fingers quickly became creamy looking soaked in sweet slimy cum.

As she fucked Lustra’s pussy, Brail now sucked on engorged nipples. Her mouth locked on the teat as her head pumped up with the force of her deep throat love sucks. Her sucks tenting the Lord’s puffy nipples making her face slash hard and her eyes squeeze shut tight in ecstasy. She would break her suck on Lustra’s nipples and move her head up. Her free hand clenched Lustra’s head to draw the Lord’s mouth to hers in a tight lock. Brail slammed her tongue down Lustra’s throat aggressively. The Lord’s body convulsed and flipped being overwhelmed with ecstasy.

Brail folded her body so she could work Lustra’s tits and mouth while her hand piston hard slamming her fingers all the way up to the third knuckles. Her fingers soaked in creamy cum burbling out the wet sloshing squelching cunny. Brail slipped in a third finger into her slut’s love box. The digits stretching out her lover’s twat. Brail grunted as she harpoon fucked her lover’s sloshing cunt. Lustra’s body jolted and she groaned gutturally now.

Lustra had rolled her body slightly and her hands gripped Brail’s shoulders. Her head lifted and staring deep into the dark orbs of her lover. Lustra whinnied and moaned her body jolting as ecstasy flowed hot and fast in her veins. Her head jerking up off the moss on a neck stiff with her tendons jutting out her throat as her body strained with raw pleasure and new pure love for Brail.

Brail fucked Lustra hard. Oberyn loved the forceful lovemaking. When women fucked hard it was a beautiful sight to behold. The Haruchai chuffing as she slammed her fingers hard and deep into her love’s wet slurping cunt. The Haruchai was trying to suck Lustra’s nipples down her throat now her head lifting as she voraciously sucked on the engorged teats stuffed deep into her hot sucking mouth. Lustra had been moaning constantly like a Lysian whore. Now her throat shrieking out her rising ecstasy.

Obara watched Lustra’s body start to tense her body spasming with dire jerks of fucking bliss. Her head lifting to stare at Brail. The Haruchai now was sucking hard on a turgid nipple her head lifting up stretching out Lustra’s areola and nipple up taunt. The Lord’s mouth was open as it twisted and contorted with the ecstasy that was coursing through her veins. She began to chuff hard her body shaking all over now. One hand harpooned fucked the Lord’s pussy hard her other hand squeezing and jerking on the nipple of the free tit Brail was not voraciously sucking on.

Brail sensing Lustra was about to cum lifted her mouth of Lustra’s tit and locked their mouths tight. Brail rammed her tongue deep in the Lord’s mouth their tongues twined and flipping in Lustra’s mouth. Soon Lustra was screaming wildly into her new lover’s mouth her screams swallowed by the mouth devouring hers. Her body bucked and convulsed as the Lord held onto the Haruchai with clawed finger. Brail released Lustra’s mouth to look upon her woman cumming hard. Lustra’s head ripped back and loud screams of shattering ecstasy filled the Godswood.

Oberyn loved watching the Lord cum so hard. He was happy for the sourpuss of course but he loved watching women fuck like only women can. He had spent so many hours jerking off watching Ellaria suck, trib and finger bang her sluts to countless screaming orgasms their bodies torn apart with fucking bliss.

The next thing Oberyn saw was Brail between Lustra’s legs spreading them out wide and diving her face into Lustra’s swollen now sloppy wet cunt. The Haruchai lapped her head moaning getting her first direct taste of the woman she had loved for decades. She simply devoured the Lord’s quim. Brail lapped her head licking feverishly and sucking hard on the Lord’s clit with ravenous wolf sucks. The Haruchai sucked in mouthfuls of sloppy wet cunt meat and hungrily stretching and rolling the slimy folds around in her mouth tormenting Lustra with ecstasy.

The sounds of a sodden cunt loud in the quiet groove. In the quiet Oberyn could easily hear the slurps, sucks and the sound of a tongue licking hotly up and down a sloppy wet groove. Lustra was crying out in helpless pleasure. Brail for her part sniffled and cawed eating out the woman she had cherished and worshiped for most of her life. Lustra’s face was slashed and torn apart with shocking ecstasy. Brail’s face was filled with a sublime happiness finally devouring the gash of the woman she loved.

The Lord’s body jerked and spasmed as her new lover plucked her body like a lute. The Haruchai’s head working up and down tongue fucking her love’s dripping cunt hole hard and deep and then sucking labia lips into her mouth and munching on them hungrily. Then back to sucking Lustra’s throbbing clit like her life depended on it. She would lift her head to first hard flat tongue lick with fast rasps of her tongue and then move to a butterfly motion with her tongue. The tongue nearly invisible as it whiplashed Lustra’s clit.

The Lord whimpered and cried out in raw aching pleasure having her pussy sucked off by a woman who it was clear knew how to pleasure a hot wet cunt. The beauteous Lord started to swirl her swollen cunt up into Brail’s devouring mouth. Lustra’s hands were pulping her tits and pulling on her nipples making herself cry out in helpless pleasure. The Lord’s head jerked up off the moss her eyes open but unfocused her face constantly slashing and crumpling seemingly as pulses of sheer ecstasy pummeled her nearly senseless with fucking bliss.

Brail sniffled and groaned eating out her Lord and now lover. The Haruchai’s head lapped and swirled as she tormented the clit she had sucked deep into her mouth. Her lips forming a tight lock letting Brail vacuum suck on the rigid clit sucked out its sheath. Her cheeks dimpled from her savage deep throat love sucks showed her tongue whiplashing and spearing Lustra’s shiny throbbing clit. Then spitting out the clit and fast tongue licking with her whipsawing tongue.

The Lord of Revelstone could only do one thing. Explode.

Lustra’s legs had spread wide and went rigid her heels hammering the moss as her elbows now jammed into the moss her hands clawed into the Haruchai’s hair jamming her face into her cunt that was exploding in Brail’s mouth. Lustra screamed and screamed in rapture her body bucking and convulsing. Her upper body surged up off the moss and did spastic short jerks up off the moss before slamming back into the soft moss violently her face torn apart with fucking ecstasy. Her tits rolled around on her chest in fast jerks her tits folding slightly and giggling wildly. She did this four times as her womb ripped out her belly scalding her with fucking bliss.

Finally, the Lord’s body collapsed temporarily spent as she mewled and hitched with strong aftershocks. Brail moved up immediately enfolding the woman she adored in her strong arms and held her to her sweaty body as the two women relished the sweaty skin to skin contact. The women tilting their heads towards each other and kissing first sweetly and then with deep plunging tongues coiling in newborn love. The Haruchai claiming what was hers with repeated spears of her tongue down Lustra’s throat. The Lord’s body convulsing with aftershocks and pure love as her eyes rolled back in her skull and rolled around almost violently in the love that only women can truly share.

Oberyn was one happy voyeur. He had unlaced his drawstrings and had jerked himself to one orgasm and was working on second one as he continued to watch.
Brail sucked Lustra off three more times judging the instant she could again suck her lover off again. Oberyn was impressed. Brail could definitely give Ellaria a run for her money with her cunninglus skills. She made love with all the skills of an avowed lesbian or bisexual slut. Brail simply knew how to give Lustra the maximum pleasure and was totally addicting the formerly straight woman to a life of being a pure lesbian.

Oberyn smiled thinking of all the women that Ellaria had seduced into bisexuality and lesbianism. She had a whole harem of married women rotating through her and Oberyn’s bed to get the loving they did not get from their husbands and clandestine male lovers.

Now, Brail again moved up kissing the Lord’s sweaty belly and between her breasts to mate their mouths tight and letting Lustra taste her cunt in the Haruchai’s mouth. Oberyn looked close the first time Brail did this to see if Lustra reacted badly to tasting her couche on Brail’s lips and in her mouth. Nope. Lustra tried to suck Brail’s tongue down her throat. Lustra immediately hooked on the sweet taste of her pussy in another woman’s mouth. The woman was instantly becoming a lesbian slut.

Oberyn had seen this so many times with Ellaria. His sweet paramour first giving her newest seduction so much lesbian pleasure that the women simply helplessly fell under Ellaria’s spell of love and seduction. It was obvious to Oberyn that Brail was ascribing to this same philosophy. She was addicting Lustra to Brail’s touch and her sweet sucking mouth.

The Lord and Haruchai snuggled for a few minutes in post coital coddling. Then in a flash the Lord rolled the Haruchai over. Brail actually squealed cutely. Her eyes locked with Lustra’s with throbbing love. Oberyn was impressed with the Lord. She was a fast learner. She finger fucked and sucked the Haruchai off to wailing screaming orgasms again and again. The Lord did not hesitate to bury her face in Brail’s pussy and devour it with wild gluttonous glee. She did not hesitate to get her mouth swallowed by Brail’s sloppy wet quim.

Ellaria had two tests she used to know that a new formerly straight woman was now a true lesbian slut. Her first test was what Ellaria called the “lips test”. Was a woman willing to let a pussy totally engulf her mouth? To feel your lips engulfed by the wet steamy heat of your woman’s couche. That showed desire to totally devour your slut. Lustra was passing that one now. She had Brail’s vulva totally engulfing her mouth as she feasted on clit and slit. Lustra groaned happily feeling the wet heat totally encompassing her mouth. The Lord of Revelstone wiggling her face to get it buried deeper into the sweet drooling clamshell of her lover.

The second test that Ellaria had was the “sniffer” test. Lustra passed this one too with gusto. When tongue fucking Brail fuck hole classic face to pussy her nose rammed into Brail’s clit and wallowed in her slit soaking her nostrils in cum. Then when she sucked on Brail’s fuck hole doggy her nose was jammed into her woman’s perineum and shithole wallowing her nose around to get her mouth locked tight to sweet gash and tongue deep in a quivering wet pulsing cunt hole.

Ellaria knew that when a woman did this they were totally committed to the arts of Sapphic love. It showed a total commitment to Sapphic love when you were willing to get your face soaked in another woman’s love juice and had no care where you nose went in your pursuit of sweet gash and clit meat.

Four times Lustra sucked Brail off to wailing wildly flipping and jackknifing orgasms. Her whole body convulsing in the throes orgasmic bliss. The poor Haruchai had to push Lustra away the now addicted to pussy Lord not relenting in her suck off of Brail. Brail shrieking in bliss. She had to teach Lustra to let her clit to rest long enough to lose its super sensitivity.

Lustra constantly testing Brail’s clit. The instant it had settled down Lustra had her face again buried in Brail’s festering couchie devouring hot pussy with abandon and fast rising skills. Lustra’s raw enthusiasm made up for any lack of skills but her skills were rising exponentially fast Oberyn saw.

Oberyn jerked off smirking. He had seen so many woman seduced by Ellaria into lesbianism and on the night of their lesbian deflowering simply wanting—no needing to suck off sweet cunt meat over and over. The new lesbo sluts addicted to pussy and needing to drink deep the sweet effluent they caused to erupt out the cunts they sucked off ravenously and swallowed with much moaning and wanton fuck hunger.

They then tribbed wildly in a classic scissors that Brail showed Lustra how to perform. All Lustra needed was one quick lesson and then she was off like a Sand Steed ramming and sweeping her pussy up and down a gagging Brail’s open drooling clamshell.

Both women were up on one palm their other hand gripping their woman’s leg to their body. Their hips undulating in a hot jamming rhythm. Their cunts grinding into each other as camel toes were pulped and clits jacked by their mate’s clits and jamming groins. Their groins slamming into the V of their split legs with their wild gyrations and humping.

Oberyn watched the two heavily sweating women tribbing exuberantly. Their pent up passion having ignited and their suppressed love blooming fully. They fucked hard staring into each other’s eyes as they undulated their hips fast and furious grinding their pussies hard into each other.

Oberyn watched the two women explode in simultaneous orgasms. Their screams loud in the sacred groove bouncing off the Weirwood as their bodies convulsed surging twats into each other as the two women swept their pussies manically up and down prolonging their orgasms as long as possible. The women collapsed with both women gasping and shaking with violent aftershocks.

Lustra moved around to cuddle with Brail who stroked her new lover and kissed her sweetly. That did not last long. The Haruchai needed more pussy gobbling Oberyn gleefully discovered. She rolled Lustra onto her back. The woman looking up at Brail with limpid eyes her whole body and demeanor showing she wanted to be topped hard. Brail quickly straddled Lustra’s head with her knees and jammed her drooling cunt seam down into Lustra’s mouth that rose to greet the pussy descending to mash down on her face.

Brail rode her cunt on Lustra’s face riding her cowgirl. It was very hot to see Oberyn thought happily jerking off. The Haruchai rode her pussy hard up and down the Lord’s face aggressively with hard sweeps of her hips. The Lord encouraged her slut by gripping Brail’s ass cheeks with clawed fingers to mash her sweeping cunny even harder down into her snuffling sucking mouth. The Lord grunting and whinnying as her mouth sucked and tongue flailed sweet cunt meat.

Brail’s head snapped forward and back her face slashed with pleasure so intense it looked like agony on her face. Her cunt mashed and rolled over Lustra’s voracious mouth. The Haruchai’s cum hard. She soaked Lustra’s face now from the bridge of her nose and down to chin with streams running down her cheeks and throat in slimy streams. The Haruchai desperately running her pussy up and over the Lord’s chin and nose between aggressive sweeps of her snatch over the Lord’s hot gobbling sucking mouth.

Oberyn watched the Lord snake her hands up the sweat dripping torso of her sweet Brail and start to maul her high firm small titties. All the while the Haruchai cawed and convulsed with ecstasy pouring out her already expertly sucked cunt. The Haruchai now swirling her hips in a tight circle to grind her fuck hole down on Lustra’s mouth. The Lord sucking in mouthfuls of succulent cunt meat to slurp and dine on before locking her lips to Brail’s fuck hole and ramming her tongue in deep to the sodden core of her new lover. Her tongue flailing sweet cunt meat and scooping out dollops of hot slimy cum to swallow with gleeful gulps.
The dreamy look on Lustra’s face showed Oberyn that Lustra had died and gone to the heavens. She was now a permanent member of the muff diving fraternity. Lustra had become a full pledged lesbian addict. The beautiful woman forever addicted to wet hot pussy. To Ellaria this was the natural state that women should be in and then find a great lover like Oberyn to complete themselves if a bisexual whore like Ellaria was.

To Oberyn he had no problem with Cersei nailing his daughter if she chose to every night and soon probably most of the female staff and students at Battleborne Academy. So be it. If he got lucky with Cersei then so much the better. He stopped musing on lesbianism and Cersei and focused on the sweet Sapphic debauchery in front of his eyes at the moment. His smile widened.

The Lord ground the Haruchai’s tits into her ribs with her palms and then pulled on her teats with hard jerks. Her hand going back and forth till Brail slapped her hands over top of the Lord’s grinding palms to encourage Lustra to flatten and pulp her small high firm tits. Brail cried out in searing pleasure. Lustra had her mouth glued to Brail’s fuck hole siphon sucking hot wet slimy cunt meat into her mouth that she rolled and munched on as her head pumped in and out to stretch out slimy folds sucked into her mouth.

Slowly Lustra worked her mouth back up the juicy slit and sucked Brails’ small shiny clit and its hood deep into her mouth where she began to deep throat suck as her tongue gigged the hard nodule with relentless spearing thrusts of her tongue. Brail had taken over pulping her tits with her rolling palms as Lustra stroked her sweat dripping body all over with her roaming hands luxuriating in Brail’s firm tight body as the Lord stroked her slut’s body sensually. Brail began to whinny wildly her face shocked and her palms now slamming into her tits with hard pounding strikes pulping her tits.

Sensing it was time for the love kill Lustra looped her arms over Brail’s legs and ground her cunt down into Lustra’s mouth. A mouth that tried to suck the Haruchai’s clit down her throat. Lustra kept jerking her arms down over the Haruchai’s legs grinding her cunt down into her feverishly sucking mouth. Lustra’s head jerking down into the moss with the force of savage deep throat love sucks on Brail’s clit. Brail’s body froze up her face struck with a shocked look.

Brail threw her head back hard and screamed agonizing wails of searing bliss. The Haruchai seemed to fly apart shrieking as her cunt tore itself inside out in the Lord’s mouth. The Haruchai’s body did savage jackknifes her body convulsing as her cunny ground down on the mouth hungrily devouring it. Lustra gulping down as much of the sweet cum gushing out Brail’s rupturing cunt that she could. The excess running down in rivulets around Lustra’s mouth down her cheeks and throat.

Lustra was in a frenzy now. Oberyn had seen this with Ellaria so many times over the years. It didn’t matter if the woman was a lass just coming into her flowering or a grey haired grandmother they often went insane on their first taste of pussy. Like Lustra was now. She kept on sucking hotly her head jerking up off the ground sucking Brail’s clit deep into her voracious mouth or moving her head back and pumping her head hard tongue fucking Brail’s burbling fuck hole.

Lustra with that sixth sense women had now knowing Brail’s body could easily go multiple.

Brail had been stunned by her last orgasm but now short jerked her hips grinding her drooling snatch down on Lustra’s mouth. Soon Brail looped both hands underneath Lustra’s head and rammed her mouth up deep into her cunt her vulva totally engulfing the Lord’s mouth. Lustra was back to Brail’s clit rocking her head tongue licking and giving harsh short sucks. Lustra’s head lifted slightly to give her tongue the freedom to hard lick over the shiny clit of the Haruchai warrior. Lustra moaning like a Lysian whore eating hot snail snot soaked snatch.

Brail’s body tensed showing off her muscled stomach and then she was torn apart again as her cunny exploded in Lustra’s mouth who kept sucking wildly lapping furiously and now swallowing hot sweet cum. Brail flipped and jackknifed wildly wailing her small tits whiplashing on her chest. She fell forward onto her palms breathing in great ragged gulps sweat pouring off her body.

Oberyn almost felt sorry for her. Lustra was still in the zone attacking Brail’s pussy without let up. She was lapping still and Brail’s cunt sounded like soup being slurped it was so wet. Lustra gripped Brail’s ass with clawed fingers and jerked the stunned warrior forward and back urging her Haruchai lover to start humping hard again.

Brail sobbed but rose up and went insane grinding her twat down onto Lustra’s feverish mouth. Brail was so soaked in sweat she looked like she had dived in the pool beside them. Her short hair plastered to her forehead, ears and nape of her neck. Lustra was relentless her cheeks hollowing out with the force of her deep throat love sucks and her cheeks showing her tongue flailing Brail’s shiny nubbin.

Brail screamed like a banshee her body convulsing so hard her back arched deep and then snapped her body forward again and again as her shrieks filled the glade with the sounds of pure love. Her hips lurching down to grind her twat savagely into the mouth absolutely devouring her gushing quim.

Brail rose up breaking Lustra’s love suck on her pussy slapping both hands over her couchie. Lustra chasing the swollen gash with fuck hunger. Brail toppled over gasping out her pussy was worn out and please give her a break. She kept her pussy covered with her cupped hands as she eyed her lover whose face and hair was soaked in cum.

Lustra sat up and laughed gaily and then threw herself down on Brail and they twined arms and legs rolling back and forth snogging deeply their tongues going down throats and eyes rolling back into their skulls showing the whites of their eyes. They snogged for several minutes as the Haruchai recovered from her harrowing orgasms.

The Haruchai then rolled them into a sweaty sixty-nine with herself on the bottom. They both ate pussy as if it would be their last meal on this mortal coil. They had simultaneous orgasms as they screamed their rapture into each other’s rupturing cunts. Their wails and shrieks swallowed by sloppy wet camel toes engulfing hard pressed in mouths drinking down hot gushes of cum.

Lustra weakly rose up and turned around and half laid on her new lover and now soul wife. Oberyn was stunned as the Lord and Haruchai snuggled together drifting off into a sweet exhausted slumber.

Oberyn was happy for them. He redid the laces to his trousers must satisfied. He silently backed out of his hideaway. He turned around and gulped. Three Haruchai stood before him. Their faces of course gave nothing away. He saw Sard who had his spear in his hand. Flanking were two female Haruchai: Surrase and Howsrul.

He was a goner and he knew it. He closed his eyes preparing for a major beat down. Instead, Sard handed him his spear back. Oberyn gaped at him.

“There is no fault in watching two lovers share their bodies and souls.” Sard told him in a flat voice his face betraying no emotion.

They parted for him.

Oberyn looked at them. He did not understand these people. How they totally controlled their emotions and reactions but were obviously such hot and passionate lovers as he had just seen and was proven by Stannis and Selyse with their female Haruchai lovers. He would have been insanely jealous if he had not won the affections of the Ramen who now had moved in with him and fucked wildly in hot orgies that his lords and generals who would join at night along with the many hot minks and sweet hot young men he had made the acquaintance of in Winterfell and Winter Town.

Oberyn always out looking for hot pussy and throbbing dick to fuck.

It just pissed him off that Stannis was scoring with the Haruchai and even the Giants were wanting him to suck them off along with his wife who was only too happy to oblige. How the hell those two sticks in the mud were scoring so much pussy he would never understand. Worse, they had become “swingers” on par with him and Ellaria. It was impossible! He was sure the sun was going to stop rising in the morning if this kept up.

It was just not fair! Oberyn whined to himself.

He snorted and moved on walking back out of the Godswood. He looked behind him and of course the Haruchai were gone. It was unnerving how they could move and make no sound. He mused over the coming war. He was looking forward to it. He sensed that the Queen was tired of war but she would never shy away from it. He craved the honor and glory that conflict brought. He wanted to prove his manly valor on the field of combat. He would not hide that aspect of himself. Putting oneself on the line and proving yourself the better of your foes.

He wandered the grounds for the next twenty minutes or so. He walked around the glass gardens and the orchids. Even in winter they were beautiful to observe. None other of the ancestral homes of the Major Houses had such spacious grounds and such beautiful environs surrounding them. He turned to head back towards the Great Keep.

He walked on for a minute when he suddenly heard a scream of a woman. He looked off to the far end of a green field and a paddock that had been setup. Some of the Riverlands houses were bring up some large aurochs bulls. The fools liked to ride them trying to stay on for eight seconds. They synched the bull’s testicles tight to their body with a rough hemp rope which of course pissed off the bulls. They were going to be slaughtered after the victory was achieved as part of the victory celebration.

Oberyn ran off at a dead run. The scream had been one of fear and great distress. He ran his legs pumping hard. He soon reached the pen. The pen had eight feet high walls made of planks securely nailed and doweled together. Oberyn saw a woman with her face pressed between the slats screaming. He looked in and saw a little four old boy running ahead towards the bulls giggling. Somehow he had gotten into the pen. He was falling on his unsteady legs. The bulls had just taken notice of the little boy and were getting nervous and riled up.

He had to act now. He threw his spear up over the wall and started climbing up the wall. He heard a loud rumble behind and turned his head as he kept climbing furiously. Just as he reached the top he saw the three Haruchai who had confronted him in the Godswood on their mighty Ranyhyn mounts galloping at full tilt towards the fence. Oberyn saw they were not stopping. He started to shout out for them to stop before they crashed into the planks as he turned to jump off the fence and into the pen.

His eyes bulged seeing the Ranyhyn as one coil their bodies and launched themselves up impossibly high in the air. He watched gaped mouth as he started to drop to the ground the three mighty horses clear the fence with a foot to spare on either side of his body. They landed easily and took off at a full gallop with Oberyn cursing behind them. He wanted to help save that child! The bulls had been starting to rush the little boy who innocently wanted to play with the bulls but now were confused with the sudden onrush. The mighty animals pawing the ground and snorting as they shook off their confusion at the sudden onslaught.

The eight mighty bulls each weighing over a ton had been thrown into confusion seeing the rush of the horses running straight at them began to charge again seeing a threat and moving to meet it. The boy was between the running together Ranyhyn and bulls. Six turned towards the horses with two angling out to charge from the side. The Haruchai stood up impossibly on the running Ranyhyn’s backs and then as one launched themselves into the now wildly excited bulls. The three bodies of the Haruchai slammed into the shoulders of the bulls nearest the child sending them crashing to the ground as they cried out in alarm and rage.

Oberyn was shocked at this display of both courage and raw physical prowess.

The Haruchai were immediately on their feet kicking and punching bulls in the face stunning and enraging the bulls turning their attention to themselves. The Ranyhyn were screaming and kicking out at the bulls with their hooves. Oberyn got behind the child and stabbed out with the blade of his spear tip. He pricked and stabbed the bulls making them back off and shunt to the side as his spear blooded their faces and shoulders.

It was total confusion around Oberyn as he fought desperately to save the little blond boy. The Haruchai were throwing kicks and using their bodies to knock the bulls into each other and madden them to attacking the Haruchai. Oberyn suddenly realized the Haruchai were not delivering death blows deeming the bulls innocent of this incident. Oberyn had no such compunction but could not try and deliver a death strike for fear his spear would be ripped from his grip. He could not survive without his spear.

The Ranyhyn were screaming loudly rising up to strike with hooves and somehow twisting their bodies to escape goring.

Oberyn was limited in his motions in protecting the boy who had stilled stunned by all the sounds and motions around him. The boy now screaming crying out for his mother. Oberyn lunged out with his spear at a determined bull making it back off. All the bulls wide eyed in rage and confusion. Their nostrils and mouths flinging drool in all directions. He felt a bull coming in from the side but he had no choice in not turning to that attack. He would not let harm come to the boy while he had breath. If he turned he would expose the boy to the bull’s horns. Oberyn prepared his mind to be gored and most probably killed.

He felt the bull’s head approaching his body and braced to feel a long horn gore and kill him.

Suddenly, Surrase was there. She grabbed the bull’s horns away from Oberyn and with raw brute strength twisted the bulls head down and around. She jammed a horn into the ground and shoved the bull hard making it flip over on the fulcrum of its horn jammed deep in the ground. The animal landing with a mighty crash while squalling its rage and alarm.

Sard was jumping from one bull’s back to another stomping down enraging the beasts and diverting their attention as the beasts ripped their heads up and back trying to impale the Haruchai on their long horns but he would be gone onto another bull.

A twisting bull brushed hard into Oberyn’s body staggering him. He lost his grip on the boy. He saw the little boy try to run in fear now into the sea of kicking, stomping legs of the crazed animals.

Oberyn rushed forward stumbling forward and fell to his knees catching the boys shirt just in time. He jerked the boy back from a bulls stomping feet and lunging horns. He hugged the lad to his chest. A bull stomped on the dirt where the boy had been. Sard appeared slamming into the bulls flank knocking it over as the bull bellowed his rage. He saw the biggest bull rise up before him onto its hind legs bellowing wildly. The beast started to come down to crush its adversaries. Again Oberyn prepared to die. He cupped the boy to him bending his body over the boy to give his body as a shield.

Then Howsrul was before him and the child he held. The bull came crashing down and the Haruchai woman impossibly caught the enraged animals front legs just behind the hooves and stopped the bulls rapid down descent of its body. Howsrul’s body sagged down under the great weight and momentum of the down plunging bull. The woman somehow found the strength to hold the bull up off of Oberyn.

The animal contorted driving down with its immense weight. Howsrul small body began to bend back and down under the over one ton of weight. Oberyn could only stare at the prodigious contest of wills and extreme might. Oberyn saw the Haruchai coil and then surge up lifting the bull up and back twisting her body heaving the behemoth to the side where it crashed on its ribs squalling in pain and fear.

The Haruchai woman immediately pivoted around and her heel kicked out hitting a bull just below his horn. The kick staggering the beast. Again Oberyn was shocked at how strong and resilient the Haruchai were. Howsrul should have been overtaxed and exhausted having just contested with a ton of weight. Instead she was fighting as strong and fast as ever.

Oberyn got up and used his spear in short jabs to drive off bulls and help defend the Haruchai’s backs. They could not escape the melee. With a loud shout three Giants came crashing into the fight. When their bodies hit the bulls they were sent flying. When their fists hit bull skulls they impacted with the force of battering rams slamming into a castle door. Soon five bulls were on their sides concussed eyes hazy and tongues lulled out. The other three bulls had had enough and scooted to the far side of the pin the fight taken out of them.

The Giants warded the smaller humans out of the pin that had its door opened for them. The woman ran to Oberyn sobbing taking her child. The boy did not want to let go of Oberyn. The mother thanked Oberyn again and again calling him a hero. He finally got the boy back in the woman’s arms as she thanked him and touched her boy’s savior on the arm with a thankful smile on her face. He smiled and told the boy he needed to learn to control his rambunctious nature. He ruffled the kid’s hair and kissed the knuckles of the woman and turned walking away.

Oberyn had been embarrassed. He merely had done what any man would do when he saw a boy endangered like that. The woman was very beautiful but he was too tried to even try and pick her up for tonight. The adrenaline rush was over and he was exhausted.

Sard was before him blocking his way. Oberyn wondered what was going to happen now. He never had been able to build any kind of rapport with the Haruchai. He glared at the Haruchai expecting yet another attack on his honor and self.

“You selflessly threw yourself into danger to protect the child.” The words spoken flatly.

Oberyn glared at the man. “Of course I did. I did what any man would do.”

Sard cocked an eyebrow at that. “This I highly doubt. You do not seek glory” was the flat atonal answer.

“Fuck you Sard. Okay, Fuck you! I’m tired. I’m happy that I helped to save an innocent life. Is that good enough for you?” he snarled at the Haruchai. He knew he shouldn’t but he was beyond exhausted.
The three Haruchai were covered in bruises and cuts where the bulls had nicked them with their horns. They had saved him twice from certain death. Oberyn felt guilty for barking at the valiant selfless Haruchai. He felt shame and knew what he needed to do.

“Listen. I’m sorry okay. You saved me out there—I’m just jangling after combat and nearly being killed again and again. I owe you my life. I thank you.”

He could see that the Haruchai were communing with their mental mind speech. Sard raised an eyebrow and stepped aside.

When he got back to the Great Keep everyone wanted to meet and give thanks to the hero who saved the child. The Giants had followed Oberyn and were laughing adding to the calls that Oberyn was a hero. He was exhausted but sat through a mini feast that Eddard and Daenerys insisted in having in his honor.

He pulled Eddard aside and told him the bulls were merely reacting as to their nature and he did not want them put down. He realized the Haruchai had been right. He was gladdened when Eddard even one upped him. He had found out that the bulls were of pure stock. He had bought them already and was going to buy heifers and reintroduce them into the Sand Hills and Barrow Lands. With the return of top tier predators they would need prey to fully close the ecological cycle. These would the first of large prey animal to be sent to those two preserves. Elk and mule deer would soon follow.

Oberyn finally pulled away from the table after several hours in the early evening. He gave his apologies but begged off any more toasts to his valor and good health. He told everyone he was tired and needed to rest.

Oberyn slowly walked back to the room that had been given as his residence while at Winterfell. He loved his room. It was nice and hot like his Dorne so far away. The hot waters rushing through the walls fresh from the spring in his section of the keep. Eddard had been nice enough to think of that for him. He had heard that Arya and Daenerys room was nice and steamy too. He bet it was he thought with a leer.

He got to his room and entered. He looked around and smelled sex thick in the room. He had to smile. He loved the rutting of the Ramen. Reminded him of the people of his homeland. He felt his exhaustion start to lift.

Char was sitting in a chair in the corner his body flushed and sweat soaked. His cock wilted from a recent cum. Trami was behind Fohn slamming his cock hard into her pussy driving her face into the Manethrall’s cunt as she ate her teacher out like a starving babe. Her mouth had sucked in most of the Shapa’s twat into her mouth and she ate out the sweet cunt meat wildly.

Shapa had both hands in Fohn’s hair grinding her charge’s teenage face deep into her cunt as she growled and whinnied. Then her head ripped back and she screamed as she threw her cunt up into Fohn’s hot gobbling mouth as the girl now tried to suck the Manethrall’s clit down her throat. Oberyn loved watching the woman arch her back and throw her cunt up into the teenage mouth devouring it.

Oberyn heard a knock on the door. He turned and opened it. Oberyn was surprised to see Sard, Surrase and Howsrul before him. The three Haruchai stared at Oberyn. Why were they here? Then he noticed her. Pressed between the two Haruchai women was the beautiful blond woman whose child he had saved.

Had they come to thank him again? Privately? The Haruchai could be most strange at times. Why wait till now to say anything?

“This is Bryeana Justman of Winter Town” Sard spoke “she has come to thank you for saving her child.”

There was an awkward pause as the young woman looked at him expectantly. After a long pause Oberyn sighed and answered.

“No thanks is needed Bryeana. It was my duty to save your child—with these Haruchai and Giants help I must add.”

Bryenna batted her eyelashes. “So brave and humble. I want to thank all of you for saving my little boy. Mykel is most rambunctious as you said. I want to show my gratitude. My mother will be caring for my son tonight and tomorrow. I am very appreciative and most skilled” the blond woman spoke in a smoky tone. Her eyes pulsing with hot promises of sensual pleasure.

Sard spoke up again “We all wish to thank you” he spoke cocking an eyebrow. “It will take us many hours over many nights to thank you Oberyn. We wish to share life and pleasure with you and this beautiful woman. We will make both of your scream the night through as you will make us wail and shriek in pleasure.”

It slowly dawned on Oberyn what was being offered. His mind having a hard time processing what was so clearly being offered. He slowly stepped aside.

Bryenna looked at the Haruchai and Oberyn licking her lips. She especially eyed the Haruchai women. Good thought Oberyn. Bryenna is a bisexual slut. This was going to be so good!

Take that Stannis! He closed the door with a happy smirk.

Arik

Arik Strake hummed the melody he had learned as a teenager. The notes of the melody flowing through his body and into the boat he was sitting in. The plates of Valyrian steel melded to the live oak planks hummed with magical power and propelled the boat up the Qhoyne River. The power coming from him through his music. He had left Arnoy three days ago in the morning and was already passing the docks of Qohor. He had pulled the boat ashore the night before in the third watch of the night. He had slept in the body of his boat after pulling it into the weeds.

On the trip up the river his magical cloak was erected low over his boat to blend it into the river. The light bent around the craft so the reflections off the water seemed seamless. If the cloak was erected too high it would cause distortion of the light and maybe noticed. Now on the bank of the river Arik could stretch out the elastic invisibility cloak over the boat. This gave him a little more space to be comfortable in.

The cloak not only protected him from the notice of man but also the notice of the natural predators out in the world.

None on the river were the wiser with the passing of his craft. He did not allow any to see that it was magic that propelled his craft. He smiled while passing craft unseen and unknown. The use of one magic to hide another.

The cloak bending light around the boat in a seamless way. It had taken the weavers years to slowly weave the magical slivers of charged metallic strands soaked in the magical elixirs the magicians still produced and practiced in their hidden community. The metallic strands interwoven in the silk fabric. The magic capturing the essence of light and coaxing them to travel along the stands of magical thread. The effect to make what was behind the cloak invisible.

He was now passing the slips of Qohor moving against the rapid current easily with the magic of his craft. The spells reducing the friction against the hull and creating a reverse polarity field in the crafts hull with the fore end of higher polarity which always propelled the craft forward without a wake. His magical notes providing the energy to propel his craft against the mounting current.

Arik was mindful of his surroundings. He may be invisible but he did not want his craft to hit a large fishing vessel, river galleon or worse a River Bireme. He guided his boat among the other boats and light ships hustling in and out of the docks and sailing downstream or furiously rowing oars to move upstream. Any who happen to look upon his craft would only see sunlight glinting off the water. The invisibility cloak was powerful in its perfection.

The man kept his craft in the middle of the river here in the environs of Qohor proper. Arik liked to look at the boats plying their trade and the buildings lined up on the shore behind the wooden docks. He needed to stay away from the heaviest of the boat traffic. It was imperative that Arik and the magic of his craft remain hidden. His people had long passed from history and become only whispered legends. The might and magic of Valyria had passed from the Earth as far as mankind was concerned.

The belief must remain that way. The might and magic of Valyria had passed into myths and legends to the everyday populace of Essos.

The master sword maker was coming back home from the rolling hill country of Flurrelsa to the east of the Golden Fields. He had journeyed much further afield. The prophetesses sending him on a journey to arm the Direwolf as the Lion was armed. The Dragon had her own weapon. He had traveled up the Lhorulu river to get to the old mining operation that Valyria had in the hill country. When their empire had died so had the small outpost in that country. The Valyrians had traveled to the mines by dragon. None other than Valyrians knew of the mines during the reign of old Valyria. None had travelled by foot to the mines when one had mighty dragons to take one to them.

The Valyrians had been magical for sure but they were also great scientists the swordsmith knew. It had been the marrying of the two that lifted their civilization to the heights of glory and power. True, his ancestors had been but the house slaves but that had all changed. Now he was an equal learning the craft and science from the former masters.

The Valyrians had made Valyrian steel. All knew that. What most did not understand was that the iron ore had to have particular properties for their magic to bind too. The iron ore from the region of Flurrelsa was rich in carbon. Normally iron ore only had trace amounts of carbon in it. In this area and a few other locations the percentage of carbon was close to two percent.

It was this element that gave Valyrian metal the ability to cut a feather wafting down on the edge of a Valyrian sword and still have the edge retain its razor’s edge no matter how many times used against armor and other swords. Valyrian steel had both elastic and rigid properties at the same time. It was magic that took these native properties and took it to another level. The spells made the sharpness permanent and increased the strength of the metal even further.

Arik loved his trips down the rivers to get to the old mines. After three centuries the mines had been opened again. This times by humans. No Valyrian dare make the trip. The ancient hatreds still simmered beneath the surface of the local populace. It was humans who were continuing the old ways outside of their homeland. Humans with their instructors. In the bottom of his fourteen foot long canoe he had nearly eighty-five pounds of iron ore. He would then add bamboo and leaves from the Ranawara tree to increase the carbon content of the iron when it was smelt down.

The man looked at the river flat barge passing him to the left. It was loaded with logs being taken to Volantis to be used by the rising artisan class in the former Free City. He shook his head. Only now was it truly becoming free.

He hummed the tune to the Valyrian steel bands in the bottom of the canoe. The magical steel heard the tune and responded to produce forward propulsion. He had to concentrate from time to time to focus his thoughts. The rising down current requiring more focus to push against the hull of his craft. Within an hour he had passed the last vestiges of human encroachment.

He knew he was getting closer to home when he left the city of Qohor behind. Three hours later he came to convergence of the branches of the Oboyne and Harker Rivers. He turned the prow of his craft to the left. The prow fighting the current of the Harker River. His melody picked up a quiet urgency and the keel of the craft shuddered fighting the conflicting currents till the small boat won free and headed up the Harker River. Arik was able to lower the decibel level of his song. He was back to a hum steadily propelling his canoe forward up the Harker River.

The man felt the power of the melodies. He may not have Valyrian blood in his veins but close study and loving guidance had over time taught the humans how to craft in many of the ancient ways of old Valyria. The ancient race’s magical masters working the most delicate of spells to the betterment of all.

He was heading into the depth of the high hill country of the Forest of Qohor. The Forest of Qohor was vast. It would take a man roughly two weeks to cross by horse along the few tracks that crossed the southern and eastern edges of the forest. The Free City of Qohor is located on the western edge of the forest, which also contain the headlands of the Qhoyne.

Its trees were large, with trunks as wide as city gates and leaves giving a golden hue when exposed to sunlight, making a golden canopy above travelers through its environs. The forest provided much of the lumber used by the eastern Free Cities for their keels and masts, as well as good fodder to trade to the Dothraki when they come off their mighty sea of grass. Animals found within the wood include great elk, deer, spotted tigers, wolves, tree cats, monstrously huge boars, spotted bears, and even a species of lemur. The lemurs were sometimes called Little Valyrians, because of their silver fur and purple eyes.

These were the edges of the forest. He was entering the hidden lands in the rolling ridges that rose to two thousand feet. The temperate climate and ample rainfall had the low mountains thickly covered with ancient trees. The folded land convoluted and filled with twisting valleys. The trees running up to the crest of the ridges. The land filled with forks and fast running streams. Man did not travel to this land of mists and rolling fog that covered the land much of the day and rolled thick at night.

Arik as a child loved to walk up the low mountains and feel the fog rolling over his young body. He would often stand so the fog rolled by cutting his legs off seemingly. He loved the land he had grown up in. He would do all in his power to preserve it if it came to it.

All who entered these depths who did not belong were never to be seen again. To enter this strange land was death. It was not legend but fact. It was rumored that strange half man creatures lived in these strange and eerie woods. The fog came rolling out of the valleys making the sun a hazy obfuscated thing. Arik kept his craft moving against the stiff current. In the early afternoon he saw a large Direwolf staring down at him from a craggy bluff that line the river here. It watched him with golden eyes. An hour later in a bend in the river he spotted two griffens drinking water from the shallows. They eyed him curiously and then took flight heading deeper into the forest.
The animals natural to this land and the newer species of blended animals did not fear the native humans of this land. There was no need for fear. Here in this land man and the native life lived as one.

He camped that night underneath the stars of the Star Girdle the lights filling the sky with light. He had a small fire burning. A band of centaurs came out to the shoal he had pulled his boat up on. He offered them oats and barely he had purchased in Volantis. They gave him a necklace made of sapphires that captured the starlight and kept it pulsing in their depths till the rising of the sun.

The centaurs looked up at the stars for hours murmuring in their ancient language. He joined them asking what portents they saw in the nighttime sky. They had told him that great change was coming and war to the East and to the West. The Wandering Red Star was in the House of Umelek. The fiery meteor showers of Meruslee were fierce this year. It was a time of change.

The next day of his journey was uneventful and pulled his craft ashore on a wide sand bar as the sun was setting. He had seen nine Forest Lions on the river bank in the early afternoon. The male lion had half-hearted roared at him while the females of the pride lounged around lazily. He had used a sunstone to cook his meal. The heat heating up his oats and barely with bacon bits.

He lounged on some bison furs looking up at the stars. The sky darkened when two harpies landed near his canoe. The two women hopped from foot to foot. Arik got up and walked to them. The harpies chirping and looking excited. He pulled out a crate and opened it. It was filled with beef jerky. He pulled out the strips and handed them to the two harpies. They excitedly ate the meat the spices hot on their long tongues. When he had fed them they flapped off into the nighttime sky after rubbing their beaks along Arik’s cheeks showing thanks.

The next morning, he got back in his canoe and hummed his tune refreshed. He was deep in the woods that no interlopers had travelled in for over three and half centuries. He was in his homeland. He hummed his song with renewed vigor. Being home always energized Arik. Two hours before dawn the fog had rose up off the river and rolled down the walls of the valley. The fog was thick and unrelieved as he moved up the now only twenty foot wide river.

As the morning passed the fog remained thick. The sun was above the ridge now and was only a hazy distant globe. The water made the sun seem like the full moon on a hazy night. The fog resisted the sun and still rolled by in thick banks and then in thin streams and back again to thick rolling masses of wet dew. The water of the river and the fog kissing like reluctant lovers.

He came to a narrow gorge fifteen feet high with a massive tree fallen across the bluffs. A mighty shadow appeared and landed on the immense log. He saw massive claws curve around the log digging into the wood. Arik calmly looked up at the large body as it settled down and the large wings fold to the creature’s body. A massive blue head of a dragon lowered through the fog and looked at the boat and its guide. Arik had paused his craft’s progress.

The bright yellow eyes looked at the man with cunning intellect. The head weaved from right to left blocking the path of Arik’s craft. The massive horns on its head impressive as were the down spikes on the lower jaw. The eyelids of the dragon half lowered its slits eyes focused on the human. The head continued to weave right and left. Its yellow eyes with red pupils studied him intently.

In his mind Arik heard What is the password?

Ramooth you know who I am!

Still … password please …
Was that so hard Arik? Arik heard a dry chuckle in his mind.

The dragon snorted. “You humans made the rules. I try and follow those rules and am I thanked … nooooooo …” his voice was long suffering. The dragon rolled his eyes to show his long suffering.

Arik resumed his melody and his craft started to move up the river again. His melody wafting on the fog. The dragon bobbed his head to the melody.

“You have a good voice Arik” the dragon Ramooth cooed to the human.

The low craft slowly passed underneath the log and the dragon that had landed on it. The dragon craned his massive head to follow the boat underneath the tree trunk the dragon stood on. The dragon did it in such a way it turned his head upside down. It snorted and his hot breath made the water steam behind Arik’s craft. The dragon pulled his head up and launched himself into the air.

His massive roar rolling over the low mountains. In this land the dragons were free to fly and give voice. This was their home too. The distant echoes giving credence to the legends of horrors that lived in the heart of the forest of Qohor. The myths and legends stoked to keep outside men away. Their poison would not be allowed to pollute New Valyria.

The magicians had put out Sunglow Orbs into the rivers, forks and streams in the local environs and used Dragon Glass tuned to the Sunglow Orbs to create mystical links. The links sent out radiant energy into the water constantly producing the cool fog that hid their kingdom. The Magicians sending out magical patrols recharging the Sunglow Orbs with magical songs and portents in a rotation cycle hitting each Sunglow Orb every six months.

The constant fog put the fear in the hearts of men. It provided a barrier that kept the men not of the community out. It protected all of the land he was traveling into. The protection meant for man and for the other denizens of this land. A land of peace.

He moved up the river as the current stiffened. He was getting taxed now. He was not of Valyrian descent and no matter how fluent he was in the language and spell crafting it was not as perfect as a Valyrian though his lover was always arguing with him that he was just as good as he. That any supposed limitation was only in his mind. Arik placated his sweet lover of pure Valyrian descent.

He travelled on for four more hours always moving forward at a steady league eating pace. The fog thick until it suddenly ceased. The marge of the sun globes had been travelled through. The barrier to keep man out had been passed. He was nearing his home now.

He rounded a bend in the river in the late autumn light. He saw his home of Vahaelarys. It was the eastern outpost of the new Reformed Valyrian Constituent. They had hidden themselves in this buried enclave of Valyrian magic and experimentation. The main City of the Constituent was located north of the mountains of the Morn to the east of Yi Ti and above the Shadow Lands. The Shadow Lands a world filled with wild and terrible magic that Valyria had avoided even at the heights of its power. It was a land of dragons and other strange and powerful creatures.

When old Valyria had exploded, the humans now free of the magical might of Valyria naturally sought revenge. Those of the old ways had had to retreat and contemplate. It they did not they had been quickly brought down. With their magical might greatly reduce they had been taken down one outpost at a time.

The survivors who had foresight retreated quickly from those they had enslaved. The desire for righteous revenge was too great to resist by the weakened scattered bands of Valyrians.

On the continent of Essos there was also communities of the Reformed Valyrian Constituent in their capital of Vīlīabāzmosa in the Shadow lands. To the east and north was Kostilus in the forests of Mussovy with smaller communities in the archipelago of the Thousand Islands.

There were two communities on the Island continent of Sothoryos and one on the slightly smaller island continent of Ulthos. The communities hidden deep in the forest away from the local inhabitants.

The Valyrians too weak to try and conquer their new lands. Their magical might had come from Valyria itself. It had made the Valyrians great. They still had magic but it was reduced. They only had the magic necessary to make their homelands safe. In their new homes they felt the urge to conquer strangely beginning to lie fallow. It was almost as if they had been compelled by their very home and it’s magic to conquer.

The survivors needed help if they were to survive in their eastern most city of Vahaelarys. They were the closest to large numbers of the humans they had enslaved. Creatures from the Shadowlands had been translocated here with the last dying spells of High Sorcerers of Valyria. These tribes had been most displeased at this event.

These races had been ripped from their homes and placed in a land that was not theirs. When it was discovered by the displaced denizens that they could not be sent home they waged war on those who remained of the Valyria output in Vahaelarys. Outside of their own private war in Vahealarys, in the rest of the world of Essos, the Valyrians were felled upon by their former slaves. Most Valyrians perished in the war of Retribution.

Some in the west were able to make peace but many in the east were fought and put down. Their heads lining the walls of Meereen and Volantis. In Qohor there had been war and most perished on both sides. The surviving Valyrians retreated deep into the forest of Qohor going to the outpost of research and magic-scientific advancement located hidden away in the forest. The research outpost now transformed into a small city of Valyrian refugees.

Many of the Valyrians in Qohor had been peaceful and had treated their ‘slaves’ with respect and even love. Many of these humans of Qohor who had survived the wars choose to go into exile with the Valyrians that many were in love with and others merely because they chose to live with them and their culture they were comfortable with.

The non-human races that had been displaced to the forests of Qohor had their own magic and were mighty and powerful of stature and crafty at warfare. The losses on both sides were grievous. It soon became apparent that both sides were heading towards extinction. A peace was forged with the transferred species and the Valyrians with their human supporters. They now needed each other to survive. The peace held to this day. The old rancor largely put behind the citizens of this land. They needed peace to be strong and stay hidden.

Arik got out of his boat and was greeted by several Valyrian youth who helped him to tie up his boat on the low dock. He met a human woman coming out of her skiff. Her boat filled with river shad and several large catfish. He flipped them a sliver stag that they gleefully took and ran off. Her three children of half human and Valyrian descent came running down the dock to help their mother unload her catch. Her husband ran the restaurant that catered to the local populace with excellent fare.

Much loud squeaks and loud bugles echoed across the community. Arik looked up at the “vaogenka zaldržotí” that were warbling and flying in wild gyrations above the docks Arik shook his head at the ‘Trash dragons’ as they were once called. The old Valyrians held the pigmy dragons in disdain for their small stature. Arik suspected some of the disdain was also the small dragon’s refusal to be enslaved by the Valyrians.

The woman smiled up at the pesky dragons swooping and diving hoping for some fish. A great red dragon came flying by. He looked lazily down at his cousins and flew on.

Shoznezha Zeqezn laughed while she picked up a big catfish and threw it onto the dock. She then threw some shad onto the surface of the river. All laughed watching the dragons fight each other like seagulls for the catch. Shoznezha laughed out that she thought that the dragons wasted more energy fighting for the fish than they would get if they got lucky enough to get the fish.

Arik smiled and waved as he left the dock. His six apprentices had appeared and were setting about tying up his canoe and taking the ore to his smithy. Four were Valyrians and two were human.

His forbearers had been slaves to the Valyrians but were now free and considered equals. There were many inter race pairings though most unions would mate with their own race to produce pure blood descendants. The children raised in household with both races raising them. That was the norm but when the two races laid together and had children these were raised with love and nurture too.

Arik stepped into his forge. He was one of the greatest forgers of Valyrian Steel of his generation. He could create and fashion the steel into any desired shape. He also could work dragon bone. It had been he that forged the coat of armor for the new Queen Daenerys Targaryen wore. When Illyrio had come looking for gifts he had it ready for the greedy merchant. The old serer had foretold its need and the proper dimensions to make the dragon bone links.

Arik walked among the forges. He inspected the work of his most gifted student Rhaenesella Arennis. She had taken her Valyrian father’s last name and not her human father though she probably loved him stronger. She looked up.

“Daddy!” the thirteen year old exclaimed laying down her tongs. She whipped her leather vest off and ran to her father. She hugged her father and spoke to him rapidly in high Valyrian.

“You are making a promise ring? Who for?”

“Aenehnae Daeryreos! The most beautiful girl that ever lived!” his daughter told him excitedly. “Do you think she will like it Daddy?” his daughter asked gnawing her lower lip.

Arik had seen the two together. “If you made it Rhaenesella then Aenehnae will love it honey” Arik told his daughter.

She smiled great big and hugged her father and then ran back to the forge to continue working on the ring for her sweetheart.

Arik contemplated his daughter. With any other girl, Arik would have thought her adore was only youthful exuberance but he knew that when Rhaenesella set her sights on something she was focused and determined.

The fifteen year old object of Rhaenesella’s desires was shy and awkward though a budding beauty. She was working in her mother’s magical weaver studio. It had been the girl’s mother that wove the invisibility cloak that Arik had used to hide his boat. The magic potent and strong. It had been the Medusas that thought the Valyrians and humans that ability.

Where in the world the myth came from that Medusas were hideous to behold was beyond Arik.
Their beauty was stunning. Probably the fact that they only mated with females and through magic were able to conceive female children. The children always full Medusas even with intermarriage between species. The Medusas dearly loved their human and Valyrian mates when they mated outside their species. The females they first seduced with wild sexual trysts and then mating for life after they had bewitched their human or Valyrian women with sex and love. The women becoming total and forever lesbian to their core. This probably pissed off the men of old and thus the legends. How typical Arik sneered at the fault of too many straight men. Fortunately, such sexism was not tolerated in their community.

Each generation made sure that their craft and magical spells were passed on to many students. The best and brightest would then take over existing shops or open new ones. The Valyrian and humans realized that they had to keep the knowledge alive and vital in their community. Only here in Vahaelarys and in the hidden capital of Daemanarr in the land above the mountains of the Morn did the old magic still live full of strength and vigor. Much had still been lost but these two communities held onto what was not lost.

The other three communities of Essos had barely survived the fall of Valyria. They had been small and traumatized. Slowly with support that was sent to them when possible these communities were slowly building and growing in strength. Every generation some of the promising new masters traveled to these communities to help build them up. It was slow but steady progress was being made.

All the communities had outlawed slavery and all races lived in harmony. Over time some of the mythological creatures had made it to the other communities of the Reformed Valyrian Constituent. The creatures thriving in the bastions of magic. The practice of magic keeping it vital.

The surviving Valyrians knew that the world of man still held much rage and resentment for the cruelty of old Valyria. That had been proven when the former slave cities had learned that old Valyria had fallen. A Savage pulse of some form of anti-magic had buffeted across the land. The scholars felt it was some type of magical overload. When Valyria had exploded magic overflowed the old Valyrian Sorcerers and their magical constructs. They had mostly become powerless overnight. The Sorcerers did not have time to restart their constructs and mechanisms. They did not have time to rekindle any magic. The former slaves had been savage. The explosion had occurred on the high holiday of the Full Moon of the Summer Equinox. Because of that, most high nobles and generals and their dragons were in Valyria when the Doom fell. All the priests and high sorcerers had in Valyria to celebrate the high holiday. All had perished when Valyria exploded.

The survivors in the hinterlands had overnight become mortal to their former slaves. The mighty had been brought low.

Worse the dragons that had not been in Valyria and had, thus, survived the Doom had revolted. Freed of their masters spells, horns and harps had attacked their Valyrian masters with savage glee. Valyrians knew dragons weaknesses and had weapons of Valyrian steel and dragon bone made from ancient titans. Dragons fell from the sky with bolts through their heads and hearts shot from great distance. The Valyrian’s weapons etched with runes that made their aim more often than not true.

The slaughter between the races of men and man versus dragons had been great.

Even severally reduced the Valyrians had been able to fight back and the losses of the regular humans had been horrendous. The races of lower men had sensed that the time to strike was now. They accepted their grievous losses knowing that each loss of a Valyrian was like fifty of theirs.
They had simply overwhelmed and ground their former slaver masters into the ground and destroyed them.

There had been war in Qohor as well. But here in this outpost the last two governors had been benevolent. Therefore many humans sided with the Valyrians. They had fought by their former slave masters sides as many were the mates of the Valyrians. They had repulsed the first attacks slaughtering the humans of Qohor who attacked their Valyrian friends and lovers. Many had children of mixed races. They then retreated into the forest depths hiding in the mountain valleys and hidden rills. The Valyrians had transported species that man hated even more than the Valyrians into their enclave.

It had been done against the will of these species. They had too warred with each other but finally a détente had been reached.

The humans considered the new species evil and vermin. The humans with no association with the ways of Valyria had sought to destroy anything in any way associated with their hated slave masters. The freed slaves wanted to kill both Valyrians and the ‘monstrosities’. They were taught the errors of their ways.

The dragons in their freedom found they had no home. The humans would not cease hunting them. Their pursuit relentless. One by one the dragons were tracked down and constantly attacked until worn down and killed. Even magic had to eat and find shelter to rest. The humans became very good at figuring out how dragons thought and lived.

Finally, the surviving dragons realized they would become extinct if they did not make peace with their former masters. A new pact was made. One of mutual need and a nascent new bond based on respect and a developing love was formed. The surviving dragons helped the Valyrians and species of the Morn to form a new home in the depths of the Forest of Qohor.

The started to produce a mythology to put fear in the depths of men’s hearts. All were slaughtered who entered the heart of the forest of Qohor till fear filled the hearts of man. Now, none dared to challenge the myths for it meant sure death.

Now the humans of Qohor and the other tribes that surround the forest avoided its hilly heart. This provided a homeland hundreds of miles across to live in with complete safety. It meant death to any outsiders for the last three hundred plus years. Here old Valyria still lived on. A new vision not based on slavery or hate of other species. They did not want to interact with the races outside of their enclaves. They knew that if the unscrupulous got ahold of their magic and abilities new evil masters would arise. The heart of man was easily corrupted. The Valyrians of times past had proven that.

They had decided to therefore help the new Valyrian Queen Daenerys Targaryen. It was seen that she had none of the old taint. Also, the old prophetesses foresaw that the hidden races that all knew were below Valyria had risen up to her aid. The powerful creatures left to their devices due to their great strength. The Viles, Demondim, Ur-viles, Waynlyn and Yazloo were fearful in their power. Demondim spawn were actively aiding the new risen Dragon Queen.

They would help this new Queen as they could. Magic was dying and only she would be able to restore it. She would restore Valyria though new forces now resided in that land. Arik and his husband had no desire to ever to return to that land. Too many sins had been committed there.

His daughter rushed up to him again and excitedly showed him the ring that she had been crafting. He took Rhaenesella’s ring. It was exquisite. He could not fire up the runes but he could read the runes deep in the metal that only true masters could see. His daughter could make Rune objects like her Valyrian father. He was still learning that craft. He had put runes on his own sword but doing it for another was still too difficult for him. He was getting close but not yet.

He complimented his daughter in her craft. He was sure that the ring would capture the heart of the girl she was in love with.

He left the forges and entered into the living quarters of the establishment. He saw his husband sitting at the table reading a scroll. Tyraelar heard his husband return. It had been much too long.

“I have missed you my dear husband.” They embraced and kissed for a long time holding each other tight.

“Did all go as planned?”

“Yes. The two swords have been hardened. We are not sure how but it seems like some denizens from the South of the world were the agents.” He explained to his husband what he had seen in the dragon glass he had hidden in Dorne and Winterfell. They were in plain sight and totally over looked.

The old prophetesses saw many dangers that threatened the world. Evils that if not confronted in the near future would grow monstrous and maybe unstoppable. “The swords of Morning and Evening are ready for their masters. The Lioness has not yet taken her sword up but it has been linked to her. It will bond with her when the time comes.

Arik pulled out a scroll that had been in his backpack.

“What is in the scroll?”

“Illyrio is looking for more gifts for Daenerys Targaryen when she marries Arya Stark. He has found some rather interesting items. He is asking …” he showed his husband the request.

“Do you think you can do it? It is not traditional. Illyrio will have to come up with a back story.” Tyraelar asked his husband.

Arik was already thinking of the forging necessary. “Yes I think I can fashion it as requested. I did apprentice with the dwarves for three years. They say I was must gifted. He gave me the measurements.”

He showed his husband the glyphs.

They then discussed the project and several others.

Their daughter stuck her head in the door. “Daddies … Zakros is here … she is wanting to pay for the Warhammer you have fashioned for her.

They went out and spoke to the nine foot tall thickly muscled Minotaur who stood beside Arik’s main forge. She studied the flames visible in the small aperture where the iron and other ores were put into the kiln. He walked over to the bin underneath his table and lifted the heavy hammer with a few loud grunts. It was made of new forged Valyrian steel. The Minotaur hefted it easily. Her massive horns impressive as well as her pelt covered breast. She wore a lion cloth in deference to the human community she was visiting.

The Minotaurs preferred to live in the caves beneath the many ridges. They lived with the dwarves who mined silver, gold precious gems and mithril.

“Can you take a request back to Baelen?”
The Minotaur was happily swinging her Warhammer making deadly swipes and crushing down blows. “Exquisite. Most exquisite. The damn Orcs are being pesky again. They are always warring with each other and you never know when it is going to spill over into the higher warrens.”

“Yes, I will take a message to the Dwarf Lord.”

Arik and Tyraelar gave her their request. Zakros whistled through her teeth. “That will be expensive.”

“Our client has plenty of gold coins.”

Another female Minotaur came into their establishment. The two females rubbed horns and nostrils before kissing chastely. They were a private race. They left hand in hand.

The two proprietors of the most recommended forge in the new Valyria watched the Minotaurs walk away into the fog that was running down off the low mountain in the late afternoon. A shadow passed overhead as two dragons came in to land in the clearing beside the smithy establishment. The forest edging the clearing and the backside of Arik and his husband’s establishment. The mighty oaks providing shade. The dragons settled down prancing around stomping on the copious heath and hay constantly put down for the dragons. They formed their nest and were soon asleep. One was bright pink and the other polished silver. Their huge bulk taking up the grassy sward.

Tyraelar smiled at the happy dragons. The history books were full of how Valyrians controlled their dragons in the past. With cruelty and force of will. Those days had been left behind long ago. Dragons were free now. They came and went as they chose. Zarrath and Qumroalth spent most of their resting time here by their establishment named Metal Trades. Tyraelar groused at the lack of pizazz with their business’s name but Arik thought it captured their craft perfectly. The snoozing dragons adding ambiance to their business.

All was in balance the human thought with his arm around his Valyrian husband. Arik loved his home of peace and magic. May it never end.
Daenerys

Daenerys was in a feverish state. She had been at the dining table with the delectable Arya Stark beside her. Watching the muscles in her arm work as she ate made Dany wet. Daenerys imagined seeing those muscles work as Arya was busy fucking her Queen. Everything about her sweet young Wolfling as she liked to call Arya sometimes now excited the Queen. She was so ardent in bed and her skills in the sack were rapidly reaching awesome levels!

She remembered this very morning her sweet Wolfling slam fucking her aching twat with her left hand. Her fingers penetrating deep and hard her inner core. Arya’s long fingers plunging in deep as her knuckles pounded her cum soaked muffin. The Valyrian’s inner cunt whorls and folds tightly gripping and sucking on the deep plunging fingers. The platinum blond loved watching Arya grit her teeth as she was hunched down folded down on her legs her mouth over Dany’s twat.

Arya’s forearm pumping fast and hard. Her fingers slam fucking Daenerys’s sloshing quim with almost violent strokes of pure love. Arya wolf sucking on the Valyrian’s rigid clit her tongue lashing the rock hard nodule. The sweet suction and friction robbing the Queen’s small body of sanity as raw pleasure pummeled Daenerys with raw searing pleasure. The Queen watched Arya’s cheeks working as she sucked in and out vacuum sucking to torture her woman’s now wildly throbbing clit.

The blonde watched the brunette suck hard on her clitoral hood and upper slit while she pulled her head back slowly. Dany’s slimy cum slavered folds and then her clit hood slowly pulled out the teen’s mouth as Arya pulled her head back slowly letting her slimy treat slowly pull out her clenched lips. The friction and pressure made the Queen gurgle and cry out in ecstasy. Finally, the Queen’s trim pulled out Arya’s mouth with a whiplash jolt snapping back down out of Arya’s mouth. The sweet slime soaked cunt meat almost like a ricochet whiplashing back into the pale Valyrian’s pink pussy.

Arya sucking noisily to get Dany’s pussy sucked up into her mouth again as her had pulled back to again fill her sweet dragon’s snatch with pressure and shocking tension. Arya pulling head back slowly until again sloppy wet cunt meat jerked almost harshly out her sucking lips and hollowed out sucking cheeks. Arya’s tongue busy flailing the hard pink bud jetting out its sheath. Her sucks filling Dany’s clit with exquisite pressure and friction. Dany almost shrieked with the spasms of fucking bliss the hot sucks filled her clit with.

Arya’s mouth diving back down chasing her slimy morsel to again inhale and happily munch and torment in her hot sucking mouth.

Arya did this several more times before mashing her face back into the wet cauldron of her woman’s cunt. The teen sucking and rolling the sweet cunt meat around in her mouth. Then Arya was again slow sucking Daenerys’ upper cunt slowly out her sucking lips again and again before mashing her face back down in the paradise that lie between every woman’s legs.
Dany had been supine on the mattress. Her body was tensing up to orgasm yet again. The pale Valyrian’s face twisted with fucking bliss. Her upper body rose up her head lifted off the bed. Shoulder blades jammed into the bed lifted up the upper body the Queen. The pale sweat soaked body tense with raging need. Her two hands gripping the sheets tight her stomach accordion up to a rigid washboard. Slowly, her head twisted right and left her face stricken with ecstasy. Her cunt now sloshing and slurping wetly as it flooded with fuck nectars as her womb twisted and tightened up deep in her belly.

Arya lifted her head. She looked up intently at her woman’s face slashed and torn apart with the fucking bliss she was giving Dany.

“Look at me Dany. I want to see your eyes when the ‘shock’ hits you. I want to see the moment of your cum baby!” Arya had her face just over her pussy like a supplicant.

Dany was whimpering. Arya brought up the right hand that had been rubbing her own muff hard and fast. Seeing those fingers slicked in Arya’s cum really hit Dany hard. She watched her wolf use her right hand to rub over her now screaming clit in a fast back and forth swiping motion. The motion assisted by the liberal buttery juice slavering the Queen’s mound and lower belly in an opaque sheen. Her cunt now splashing out cum in droplets of hot need.

The sweet sixteen year old flipped her left hand over and then began to rake her lover’s g-spot she had learned to gig and rub so good. She had her first two fingers sliding furiously over the spongy hillock. The raspy feel so sweet to Arya as she rubbed it hot and fast angling her fingers to harpoon fuck the pronounced hill of sweet nerves. Arya had told Dany how she loved the spongy feel of Dany’s g-spot underneath her fast rubbing fingers and feeling it compress when she harpooned fucked it with straight in angled strokes.

Their eyes locked, Arya brought Dany to yet another womb rending pulverizing orgasm that shocked and pummeled the Queen with blistering ecstasy. Dany could see by the intense happy look on Arya’s face that her lover enjoyed seeing the ‘shock’ hit her woman hard as the Queen felt her face simply crumple in on itself as her mouth opened wide to wail and shriek her soul agonizing ecstasy.

Daenerys’s cunt had exploded so exquisitely. Her body had flipped and jackknifed across the bed her back arching to take those fingers as deep into her cunny as possible. Arya’s knuckles slamming her mound with each harpoon thrust up her sloshing twat while Arya pounded her g-spot and rammed her fingers in furiously in and out her spasming trim that gushed out hot cum soaking Dany’s ass cleft and shithole and the bed underneath.

The divine spasms exploding out Daenerys womb had torn her cunt inside out. Hot gushes of cum sloshed out her spasming couchie. Cum that splashed out her flooding pussy and splattered everywhere. Arya’s left hand fingers harpoon fucked her twat and the teen’s other hand whipsawed her fingers over the rigid clit and splattered around the cum flowing hotly out the Queen’s fuck hole.

The Queen’s vision had whited out and hot heat filled her limbs as her orgasm rushed throughout her body. Each agonizing sweet pummeling convolution of her orgasm sent sweet honeyfire down her veins that had her toes curled and her fingers tearing at the sheets. Dany’s head now angled back on her now weak neck. Her body tensing and then shaking violently with each shocking wave of her orgasm pummeling her body with searing bliss.

Dany shivered remembering this morning as she looked at her sweet Wolfling. A wolf that fucked so hot and furious every night and morning and any time they could find time during the day.

Now Arya was talking to her sister. Daenerys watched the way the muscles in Arya’s throat worked and thought how sweet her skin tasted last night as she licked and nibbled on her wolf’s neck. She remembered how Arya jerked and whinnied when she gave her another vicious hickey to mark her as Daenerys Targaryen’s woman. Arya was her lover and no one else could have her.

She got up and gripped Arya’s shoulder and looked down at Arya. Her lover looked up at her and her whole body shivered and she gulped weakly seeing the raw heat pulsing in Daenerys’s lilac eyes. Eyes full of raw fuck hunger. Dany needed Arya so bad. She needed her now! She pulled on Arya’s shoulder. Arya made a lame excuse to Sansa and Margaery who sat on her right.

Margaery spoke in a low voice “Eat her out good Dany—suck her cunt inside out and make it explode in your mouth!” Daenerys had smiled back down at Margaery. She loved how the Tyrell thought!

Sansa’s face went beet red. The Queen found it humorous. In talking with Margaery it was clear that Sansa was a depraved slut in bed that loved it hard and rough and loved it up the ass. A lot. In public the Direwolf became a sweet lapdog.

Dany turned to look at Arya. She was still enjoying fucking Arya straight ahead lesbo so to speak. Dany loved sex both without and with toys. She had a war to win. When that war was won she planned on teaching Arya the joys of anal sex. The Queen would also teach her about toys. She wanted to open the teen to the joys that toys brought to a lesbian’s bed. Gods it would be so good Dany shivered thinking of slamming her dick balls deep up Arya’s tight cunt and pinching shithole and watching her Wolfling hungrily sucking her ass juice off her dick. Then the Valyrian would bury her fist deep up her woman’s asshole.

The Queen could feel her twisting forearm sinking deep up Arya’s ass. Her knuckles working her woman’s colon so deep. Seeing her arm soaked in Arya’s ass cream all thick and creamy. She could not wait to see Arya’s gape when she pulled her cock and fist out her love’s tight ass. Seeing Arya’s asshole pulse and wink at her all red and wet.

Then Arya would take her asshole so deep and hard. Dany loved vaginal orgasms of course but there was something about giving your woman your shithole and having her fuck you to shocking asshole rending anal ‘gams. They were just so intense and overwhelming. Especially when they triggered vaginal orgasms that made you feel like both of your fuck holes were tearing themselves inside out.

Margaery made it clear to Dany that Sansa was a total anal whore and assured Dany that Arya was too. “If one is Dany, trust me that the other is.” Margaery had regaled Daenerys with vivid descriptions slamming her fist and forearm up Sansa’s ass and then pulling out her hand and smearing Sansa’s face with her shit grease and having Sansa purr as Margaery licked her face clean of Sansa’s own ass juice. Well as clean as you could with a face soaked in sweat, cum and asshole grease.

Margaery knew how to give the sweet details. She had told the Queen of Sansa gurgling with Margaery straddling her hips her hands pressed into Sansa’s back jamming her cheek into the bed as Margaery slammed her strap-on cock balls deep savagely into Sansa’s spasming asshole. Margaery told Daenerys how she loved feeling her body slapping hard into Sansa’s ass and the back of her legs as she slam fucked her woman’s shitter balls deep. Sansa clawing the sheets as her face lurched forward on the sheets that fraction from the force of Margaery’s dick fucking Sansa’s so deep and hard.

Those words had fired Daenerys soul. Those visions of anal debauchery made her wet for anal sex with Arya. She was banking on those words being prophetic.
Daenerys had looked at Margaery shaking her head ‘yes’ licking her lips as left the table in the feast hall. She had dragged Arya away in a hurry first off the dais and then out the hall pulling on her sweet Arya’s hand. Dragging her down the hall with short jerks pulling Arya along behind her like a leaf in her wake. Once out of the hall, they broke out into a fast walk giggling and Arya chortling. Daenerys felt fire coursing through her veins with her burning desire for Arya.

“You got it bad for me don’t you Dany (with a mirthful tone) … you want some of this sweet gash and work that long pink tongue up my hot tight asshole—don’t you Dany … you want to suck me off so good!” The happy mirthful look on Arya’s face set the Queen’s heart a flutter. It was full of such love that it choked up Dany’s throat for a second. Then raw lust overcame her ga-ga moment. She had her own Direwolf to fuck!

Dany had stared back at her lover. She loved how lewd Arya could be when they were alone and only Dany would hear Arya being a complete slut. Arya did a quick look around the hall and found it empty. Everyone not on duty was in the feast hall enjoying the evening meal.

They both knew there Haruchai guards were near but were staying completely unseen. The Haruchai providing the protection they had sworn to do. Unless they were behind closed doors they would be witnessed by Jeertel and Bannor. It did not matter. The stoic Haruchai when in guard mode were almost like the walls or tapestries on the wall. Totally overlooked and easily forgotten.

Her Bloodriders would post one of their members at the door and had one in the feast hall to guard her and her Wolfling. They had decided to let the Haruchai do the escort between destinations within Winterfell. One thing the Haruchai had proven to all was that they would be the equal to any challenge of a normal human based assault.

Arya spoke now of her desires for a certain Daenerys Targaryen “Then I’m going to devour that sweet dragon pussy of yours baby … suck that clit so good and finger fuck your asshole and feed you my fingers soaked in your ass juice. I will watch you suck your ass off my fingers. Fingers that had been fucking your asshole hard and deep! I will relish seeing the lewd light in those purple irises as you moan slurping your shithole off my fingers.”

“Then I am going to grip your taunt ass cheeks and pull your ass cleft back and open your starfish to my hungry gaze and something else my sweet dragon. I going to sink my long tongue deep up you shithole Dany. Gods I love feeling your asshole clenching on my tongue when I tongue fuck it. I will bury my face in your hot sweaty ass cleft and Dorne kiss your rosebud while my tongue licks your rectum. You love hearing that don’t you slut?”

The Queen had moaned shaking her head yes.

Daenerys thought back to how she had given Arya her ass and she had happily taken it. In return she had taken Arya’s asshole with her tongue and fingers. To Dany that was like anal foreplay to the dildo, butt plug and strap-on anal sex she craved to perform with Arya. Both women hungry for analingus and doing it to their partner.

Dany was anxious to introduce toys to their lovemaking. With Arya’s powerful body Dany longed to lie beneath Arya as she used her strap-on to pound Dany down into the bed or hopefully the fur covered ground when they fucked before Dany’s Khalasars beneath the stars. She wanted all to see Arya taking her Dragon with her cock. But that was the future as these thoughts flashed through her mind.

Now Daenerys body was on fire in the present from Arya’s hot words “Uunmmmgghhhnnnn! You fucking slut! „, What you do to me!” Daenerys groaned deep in her chest pulling Arya along behind her as she made the teen stumble behind the twenty year old in her haste to fuck Arya. Dany was burning up with the need to devour her hot wolf. She was going to devour Arya and make her scream like she was being garroted as she sucked and finger banged her hot lover to multiple orgasms.

They had had a long practice session in the afternoon fighting with their Valyrian swords marking everyone uuoooo and aahhhh. Now two Rune swords were slashing the air leaving blue trailing marks in the air. When the blades collided sharply they would ring in high soprano notes melodic to the ear despite the clash of steel. They fought in ritualized practice moves to make the populace gasp and to make the Queen’s subjects even more think of Dany as their lord sovereign.

Daenerys had noticed that she and Arya’s swords were glowing even a brighter blue and the heat coming off the blades was more intense. Both blades rippling with shimmering waves of writhing flames wicking off their blades. Neither she nor Arya felt the heat since the blades were tuned to their souls but the heat was there for anyone else who came across their path. The blades left blues lines in the air that lasted longer in the air than before the union of Dragon and Wolf.

The swords drawing strength from the loving union of one Daenerys Targaryen and Arya Stark.
The Queen was elated that their rune swords showed that their love was indeed destined to be.

They had then practiced with wooden swords. No matter how skilled they were they would not practice with steel when actually going for strikes. With steel you practiced with ritualized steps and preset combat steps.

Arya now pushed Dany hard to keep up with her speed and balance. Arya always pressed in full bore ahead never giving Dany a quarter. Dany loved it that Arya held nothing back. It made Dany a better swordsman. Arya had definitely become on equal with her Water Dancer instructor and Barristan and her own father. She had become a true master of the sword.

Dany felt no ill will when Arya slipped through her defense. The few times she landed a killing blow Arya would snarl and growl. She hated to lose! Even in practice! That helped make her such great a swordsman. This was something that she shared with her Queen. They both always wanted to win. The main difference was that Daenerys ambitions and desires for greatness also spread to politics and the need to win as a strategist on the field of battle and in the throne room.

Their hard ferociousness in their sword work on the practice yard filled their bodies with battle lust.
It also made them extremely horny. The exertion and extreme concentration sending tendrils of physical lust coursing through their veins.

They had rushed in from the practice fields and taken baths and given each other warm enemas to cleanse themselves inside as well as out. That had been roughly an hour ago as they had hurried down to the feast hall. They wanted to rush to Arya’s bedroom to fuck but did not want to be rude.
Also, they enjoyed everyone’s company. Still, after their body’s hunger had been satisfied with food and drink their other hungers needed to be satiated. Now they were running back up the stairs in their haste to fuck each other.

Daenerys looked to either side of herself and Arya as they hurried down the halls. Of course the Haruchai were nowhere to be seen. It was still disconcerting to know they were close and yet unseen. She had noted that her Bloodriders had started to have two of them guarding Arya’s doors
-at night or when they hurried back to Arya’s door in clear lust. The two men on guard duty standing with smirks on their face.

The men switching out their guard duty. Both to stay fresh but to also listen to the audial show of their lovemaking. The Queen loved it! Arya had first been scandalized to know the Dothraki were listening but had come to not care. Good the Queen thought. Arya was slowly loosening up. One should be free in fucking not caring if one was listened to or watched by ones you cared for or if you wanted an audience of strangers when the desire hit one.

The Valyrian knew they were listening in as they fucked. The Dothraki were horndogs and damn proud of the fact. If the Dothraki were anything they were totally liberated when it came to sex. They loved to make comments that made even Daenerys blush with their forthright comments. She knew her Bloodriders were only ribbing her good naturedly. They enjoyed needling their Khaleesi, plus, they enjoyed the sounds they heard coming through the thick door.

Daenerys went over in her mind some of their recent salacious comments “Have you cummed hard with your legs wrapped around her hips as she slams her dickhead into your womb savagely My Khaleesi?” “Has the wolf, excuse me Wolfling (deep blush) slammed her dick up your asshole my Queen?” “Have your cleaned your shithole off Arya’s dick or felt her slide it out your ass and straight into your cunt Khaleesi?”

It did not matter that those acts had not yet occurred. The Bloodriders had picked up that both women were anxious to commence in the pleasures of anal sex.

What made the comments more salacious was the two Bloodguards who ghosted on periphery of perception. They would be coming in and out of one’s awareness. They would then appear before Arya’s door as if ghosts taken form to perform their guard duty along with Daenerys Bloodriders. The two sets of guards totally different in their demeanors. The two Haruchai would hear the comments but show no reaction. They would never blush that was for sure Daenerys thought.

The Bloodriders were at it again. The two Haruchai materializing from the shadows like wraiths. “What say you?” Rakharo asked the taciturn warriors. Aggo smirked. “Do you like to be fucked up the ass? Do you scream as your shithole explodes in scalding pleasure? We have seen and heard the minxes fucking Stannis and Selyse. Should our Queens be partaking of sweet anal debaucheries?”

The two Haruchai had always ignored the jibes and jests. The most they would give as a reaction was there by now ubiquitous slight eyebrow flex. Such ribald comments meant nothing to Bannor and Jeertel.

The questions did not faze Dany but made Arya blush furiously. Such salacious comments inflamed Dany’s desires. She would be patient though on the next level to their lovemaking. In Dany’s mind there was no question that she would win the war. She was Daenerys Targaryen after all. She had proven herself across Essos and now Westeros. She could wait.

The Queen could see Arya looking at her with a look that said when will we be doing the nasty anal sex thing Dany? It made Daenerys hot and wet knowing that Arya wanted more than fingers and Dany’s tongue up her ass. Dany just wanted to wait a little while. She had decided to wait till after the war. She wanted to enjoy fucking Arya classic lesbo she reasoned. She wanted to expose and build up Arya’s skills in basic lesbian lovemaking before she introduced phallic shafts to the mix. She was all woman and wanted Arya to fully know that!

The two women started to enter Arya’s bedchamber. The Bloodguard had fully materialized now and taken up their stations. The two Bloodguard tilted their heads at the Bloodriders which was strange enough. Then they all were shocked with Bannor turning his body to full on face them. He made direct eye contact with the Dothraki and the two women. Jeertel was also observing them.

“We too feel you should fuck each other up the ass Daenerys Targaryen and Arya of House Stark. Anal sex is very pleasurable. You scream like bulls in heat now. We cannot imagine the wails you two will screech if your assholes are fucked inside out and made to explode in scalding pulses of agonizing bliss.” Of course the whole soliloquy had been delivered deadpan with no emotional inflection.

Bannor now turned slightly towards Jeertel. “You only sleep with women. But you love a strap-on cock or fist slammed deep up your ass do you not Jeertel. Your screams of pleasure are well known among us.”

“Yes. I love to have a long thick shaft fucked savagely up my asshole or a fist rammed up my shithole to the elbow. I love to have that fist twisted in and out my asshole hard and sweet. I want my ass fucked savagely with a twelve inch strap-on dick. I long to suck my shit juice off that shaft or fist and forearm. My asshole creams so heavily and I love to suck my ass off a woman’s prick or fist.”

She spoke as if she was reciting her numbers in front of her teacher.

Daenerys looked at Jeertel more closely. How such wonderful sex could be described so blandly was amazing Daenerys thought. Still it had fired up both women listening to Jeertel’s dispassionate declaration of the wonders of anal sex. The two Haruchai without further ado moved off to patrol the halls near the door to Arya’s residence. The Valyrian shook her head. She wondered what motivated the Haruchai to speak their minds of a sudden. They were a most strange people.

It did not matter. She needed to fuck her sweet Arya!

As soon as they were in Arya’s bedchamber, Arya nearly ripped the door off its heavy iron hinges to close it. The door slammed shut behind them as her Bloodriders and two Haruchai took up station outside.

Dany had looked at Bannor and Jeertel as the door to Arya’s bedroom was shut. The two figures disappearing down the hall. That was strange there just finished murmurs play. They always gave the impression they were relaxed and seemed totally bored though that was a deception. The Haruchai were always posed for extreme violence at a breath’s notice.

Normally, the Haruchai did not say one improper word or give even a salacious look. If not for Dany’s knowledge of the Haruchai fucking wildly with each other and those they chose to bring to their beds when not guarding their charges she would have thought them sexless. How these people could so divorce themselves from their passionate natures while performing their chosen duties astounded the Queen continuously. Now this strange speech. It was almost as if they wanted Daenerys and Arya to partake of anal sex. Evidently, the Haruchai were indeed a hot blooded race as the Giants said.

That thought made the Queen shiver with fuck hunger for her mate. She would still delay the pleasures of anal sex till after the campaign with the Ice King. She wanted much time and freedom to explore this aspect of love making with Arya while not having to prepare for all-out war. A war that would be to the death of one side or the other. Daenerys planned to make it only possible that her side found life and the Ice King and his forces found death.

The Valyrian put all those thoughts behind her now that she was alone with her woman. Daenerys was by the door looking sultrily at Arya. Hot lust was in both of their eyes. Daenerys loved seeing the raw lust for her body radiating out of Arya’s steel grey eyes.

Then the new lovers came together ravenously. Their bodies melded together. Mouths mated tight kissing deeply. Their tongues surging from mouth to mouth twined in a serpentine dance of pure love. Their arms snaked around the other’s body pulling each other into the other’s body. Their clenching hands pulling bodies tight. Their supple lithesome frames melded into one.
The warmth of the room, their excitement and bodies pressed in tight in a lover’s clench had already begun to make their bodies perspire in raw wanton fuck need. Legs instinctively sought out the groove of their mate’s body. Thighs pressed into mounds already swollen and slicked with fuck juice. The pressure and now flexing thigh muscles had their cunts juicing and pulses of sweet ecstasy jacking out their now sodden mounds.

Dany felt her eyes roll back when Arya rammed her tongue down her throat and at the same time worked the strings to her trousers loose. Daenerys loved the feel of Arya’s arm worming between their bodies to do her task. Arya’s fingers deft and sure now. Her beginning naivety in lovemaking a distant memory. Their lovemaking had filled Arya with confidence and a surety of movement now in her technique and willingness to take the initiative.

The sweet teenager shoved her hand underneath the seam of Dany’s trousers and underneath her short silk cloth. Arya rubbed Dany’s wet labia lips working her slit open. Daenerys cooed and jolted feeling those slender digits stroking her kitty with smooth up and down movements. Arya’s fingers worked her slit open and worked her labia lips back. The rubbery lips all soaked in love juice slimy to the touch. The fingertips rubbing up and down the drooling slit becoming dripping wet and slicked.

With fingertips soaked in love snot Arya began to circle the swollen bud of her sweet slut. The fingers pressing into and over the hard nubbin. They had broken for air several times gasping for breath as they kissed ravenously. Now Dany looked into Arya’s eyes showing her lover her raw need to be fucked. Arya’s fingers rubbed her clit so fucking good. Arya swirled her fingers around the rigid clit with her cum soaked fingers. Dany humped into the fingers working her wet twat expertly. The pressure and wet friction exquisite.

They chuffed and clumsily worked their clothes first loose and then off. Their fingers fumbling with buttons and the ties in their loops. The jerks harsh to remove clothing in their excitement and need. Their clothes soon strewn on the floor. The two giggled like the young lovers they were. The two women eyed each other hungrily and moved back together. Their arms reaching out for the other.

They pulled their bodies tight into each other again. Their arms first pulling each other roughly into their hips and legs finding the other’s groove instinctively. Both women relishing the contact of smooth silky skin on skin. The feel of wet twats pressed into strong legs. Their groins flexing and stomachs working to sweep love aching cunts on each other’s legs. Mouths came together and lips melded. Lips kissed with wet smooches that filled the room with sweet music of snogging before mouths opened and tongues surged forth to mate and flip around from mouth to mouth.

For a minute they kissed deeply tongues surging from mouth to mouth writhing like mating snakes. Both women chuffing and moaning hard. Their moans swallowed by the mouth devouring each other’s mouth. Their wet snatches humped with strong sweeps mashing their muffins hard into their mate’s strong leg leaving a thick slime of love snot soaking their smooth legs. The lubrication letting their cunts easily sweep up and down the pleasure exquisite. Both women gagging into devouring mouths as their bodies hitched and jolted with the pleasure pulsing out their humping twats.

They each slipped a hand down between their squirming humping bodies. Flat, muscle bellies wallowed into their mate with Dany’s tits mashed and compressed into Arya’s upper belly and plum nipples. Hands worked down until their fingers found drooling clamshells soaked in drooling cum. Their fingers rubbing over excited wet swollen shaved cunts all pink with need. Fingers teasing spasming clits and playing with wet labia lips that were rolled and plowed through. The friction gagging each woman with raw pleasure.

The kisses between the two women had been at first more sensual but now heads tilted over to lock lips tight while tongues wetly wrestled deep in each other’s mouths. Their tongues flipping and writhing as they took turns ramming twined tongues between their hungry mouths. Dany gagged into Arya’s mouth locked with hers feeling her wolf slip two fingers into her slippery wet fuck hole and start to fuck her so good. The friction so intoxicating. Each slide of fingers in and out her drooling cunt sending pleasure racing through Daenerys’s veins.

The feel of Arya’s bursting plum nipples digging into her tits made Daenerys’s breast throb with raw heat and wanton pleasure arching to her clit. Arya’s palm slapped into Dany’s vulva as her Wolfling plundered her tight cunny with harpoon strokes of her long fingers up into the cunt of her lover. Arya’s palm striking her vulva the impacts shocking her clit with sweet pleasure.

She in turn was forking Arya’s clitoral hood squeezing in on her hood pressuring and squeezing the hard nubbin. Daenerys could feel the hard clit jerking like a pea in its pod. Dany loved feeling her fingers squirting around Arya’s clit as she fork jerked the hard nubbin. Her cum slicked fingers easily sliding up and down Arya’s mound and slit. Her fingers jacking and sluicing over the slimy long brownish labia lips that were dripping cum. The women looked into each other’s eyes with hot lust before kissing again heatedly. Their free hands cupping the back of each other’s heads to mate lips tighter as they chuffed and moaned into each other’s mouths.

The Queen’s fingers jerking and rolling labia lips on the down part of the stroke while the upper stroke pressured and squeezed Arya’s clitoral hood. Dany slowed her stroke so she could begin to swirl her thumb over the hard nubbin of her slut’s clit. Dany now stilled her stroke completely and pressed in with her fingers hard on Arya’s knotted clitoral hood while she flicked the Stark girl’s clit with her thumb.

They were both shuddering with hot drooling cum running down their legs. Hands working with skills to make their mate shudder with ecstasy. They worked for several minutes pleasuring each other. They broke for air as their heated bodies needed sweet oxygen. Both women were whimpering and cawing in wanton need. Each had leaned heads back to get breath and to eye each other relishing the look of pleasure slashing and crumbling faces with fuck hunger and raw pleasure. Dany looked deep into Arya’s eyes whose pupils were blown with pleasure.

Dany needed hot wet gash. Dany separated slightly from Arya’s body as she began to push Arya back. Arya falling back with baby steps till she was pressed into one of the supporting posts to the Stark girl’s canopy bed. Arya oomphfed when her back hit the wood.

Dany stepped back. Arya whining when her finger’s slipped out of Dany’s hot wet tight love box. Arya’s eyes widened slightly as Dany immediately fell to her knees in front of Arya’s pussy as she scooted forward to get her face right in front of the teenager’s swollen wet muffin. She inhaled the sweet elixir of Arya’s hot drooling clamshell. The sight of Arya’s fat camel toe with her inner lips all bloomed out her slit and so thick and splayed out begging to be sucked and rolled in her mouth had the Queen staring in rapture and moaning in wanton desire for Arya’s sweet pussy.

The oily lips engorged and all knotted up. The slightly opaque hue of Arya’s effluent made Daenerys drool with anticipation. The smell rich and pungent.

“Ohhhh baby! Your cunt smells so hot—so good!” the Queen said looking up at Arya with her eyes dark with desire. Dany then turned her vision back to Arya’s sweet wet cunt. She mashed her face up into paradise. Dany snuffled and groaned hard feeling the wet heat of Arya’s camel toe engulf her face as she wiggled it to get in deep. Her face hugged by wet pussy. The wetness intoxicating to the Valyrian. She loved the feel and the taste flooding her tongue and up her nostrils.

Dany started to lap her head raking her tongue over sweet wet red cunt meat. She thrilled feeling the hard berry of Arya’s clit working underneath her rasping tongue. Dany was in heaven feeling that sweet hard nubbin being slashed and gigged by her tongue. She then sucked the nubbin between her lips and rotated her head slightly to work and roll the hard shiny nodule in her mouth as her tongue gigged and polished the rigid clit.

Her mouth made wet sounds as she worked the pussy in her mouth. Muffled slurps and swallowed caws issued from the Queen her mouth buried in Arya’s camel toe. Then she lifted her head and raked her tongue with a strong stroke up and down Arya’s slit and jacking over her rock hard clit. The sounds of a tongue plowing a dripping wet snatch sweet music in the room.

"Ahhnnggg!!" Arya cried out when Dany latched on to her clit and rolled it with her tongue while her mouth worked the sweet wet trim sucked deep into the Targaryen’s mouth. The Valyrian began to pump her head in and out to add stretching tension to her avid sucks and tongue swipes. The Queen gripped Arya’s hips to anchor her body down to keep her mouth glued tight to the sweet meat she was devouring. Arya was rotating her hips in a tight swirl now grinding her love aching cunt up into Dany’s mouth. The hard grind mashing the Stark girl’s pubic mound up into the mouth devouring it lifting Dany’s head slightly with each up swirl. Arya’s vulva totally swallowing the Queen’s mouth with wet heat.

Dany rocked her head to lap and tongue lash the rigid clit in her mouth. Arya’s cunt was getting wetter and wetter. The Queen first had her mouth buried in Arya’s drooling clamshell. Her working tongue bugling out the teenager’s vulva. Then she lifted her head to rake her tongue up the slit and over the hard shiny clit. Then back to burying her face back into wet paradise.

"Ungh! Awwonngg! Oh! Oh gods! Ungh! Please Dany—pleassee suuuuck suck hard—hhhnnggg unnnng unnnnhhh uunggg … unghhh!" Arya gasped and panted as Dany sucked sweet ecstasy from her pulsing clit that hammered the teen with fierce, stabbing pulses of stabbing ecstasy.

Arya’s left hand had gripped the back of Dany’s head jamming her face deeper into her swollen muff. Dany loved the feel of Arya’s fingers clawing into her scalp mashing her face deeper into Arya’s now sloppy wet pussy. Arya’s head thrashed and her face slashed with stabs of ecstasy tearing through her body. She groaned hard and deep in her chest her hips sweeping her aching cunt into her woman’s hot sucking mouth. Arya’s right hand rubbed over her beginning to sweat face and chest rubbing over her bulb nipples mashing into them and compressing the two inch hillocks of spongy areola and nipples. Hear palm rotating over bursting plum nipples gagging Arya in helpless pleasure.

Dany had reached her hands around Arya between the bed post and her ass to grip her woman’s ass cheeks. Her fingers gripping tight the taunt buns of her lover to anchor her down so she could wolf suck on Arya’s trembling cunt. Arya was rotating her hips hard now grinding her drooling couochie into Dany’s mouth so hard the Targaryen’s head was rolled back slightly.

Dany sucked with cheek hollowing sucks raking her tongue feverishly over the rigid clit in her mouth as her ravenous sucks tormented the now diamond hard nubbin. She sucked harder feeling Arya’s body begin to jerk and spasm. Dany lapped more furiously with her head. Her fingers clawed into Arya’s ass cheeks to anchor herself to keep her love suck tight. Her hands jerking Arya forward to pull her drooling cunt harder into Dany’s hot sucking mouth.

Dany kept glancing up loving the look on Arya’s face. Her face was constantly contorting and grimacing in what might look like pain but was truly the exquisite pleasure that only a woman could truly give another woman. Dany loved having her titled back face buried in Arya’s cunt eating her out avidly. She felt so connected to Arya with her mouth buried in her pussy. It was heaven to the Queen of Westeros.

Dany started to shake her head to whip her tongue over Arya’s hard throbbing clit sucked fully out its hood. “Oohhhh unngg aauuggg ... hhhnnmn hhnnn hhnnnggg Shit! Dany! So close so close Baby!” Arya keened down to her lover. Her neck had stiffened with her head tilted down so she could look at her woman feverishly sucking her couchie to orgasm. Her face constantly slashing with hot ecstasy. Dany sucked even harder dimpling her cheeks as they hollowed out deep with the force of her deep throat love sucks. Her tongue slapping the hard nubbin. Arya’s head was slowly rotating right and left her face locked up in a rictus of excruciating searing ecstasy. Arya’s cunt now making watery slurping noises in Dany’s hard lapping mouth.

Dany looking up with her purple eyes watched Arya’s head snapped back with her eyes shocked wide open. Now both hands clawed into her scalp and screams of pure love filled the room. A horrible full body spasm ripped through Arya’s body making it twist and flex as it tore at Arya. "AARRUUUNNGGGGGGGG! AAAWWWOOGGGGGG! Auungghhh! Ohnnggnnnnmiieee! Ohnnggmmngnggeeeeee!" Arya cried out, flexing and moaning as the scalding spasms of her climax wrenched her lean muscled body.

Arya’s head snapped forward and back her eyes shocked wide up with scalding pleasure. “Suckkkkk youuuu goddsdammnnnn cuunnnttt—OOOOOWWWGGGGGGG! AAWOOOGGGGGGGGGG!” Arya screamed blood curdling shrieks feeling Dany suck even harder urged on by her lover’s hot words of encouragement. Arya having learned that Dany loved the rough talk and demeaning words as she fucked Arya hard. Arya’s body convulsed and drove her couchie hard into the mouth devouring it. Dany’s hot skills kept her pussy exploding with shocking spasms of fucking bliss.

The words inspired the Queen to fuck Arya even better and harder. "Anggghiieieee! Oh! Ohhhhhh! Ffiuuuccckkkkk uuungghhiieeeeee! Mmnnghhhiieeeeee!" Arya shrieks turned to whimpers feeling her pussy tear itself inside out and scald her nearly senseless with pure fucking bliss. Dany’s head lifted with the force of her deep throat love sucks. Her eyes lightly lidded with the happiness that fills a woman when she makes her partner cum so fucking hard.

Dany gulped down sweet mouthfuls of hot sweet creamy cum. Dany worked her mouth down to let Arya’s clit rest and she clamped her mouth to Arya’s fuck hole to drink down manna from the heavens. She was in heaven drunk on her sweet woman’s thick cum still dribbling out her fuck hole to seek Dany’s licking tongue in the cunny hole scooping out all the sweet cum her tongue could find.

She saw Arya crying tears “I love you Dany … that is all—I just love you with all my heart!” she weakly croaked more tears running down her cheeks. Dany smiled up at Arya her mouth working the vulva that bugled showing her slow licking tongue in the gooey cunny hole of her woman. She worked her tongue up the slimy fuck hole and licked up and down the cum slicked groove and lightly licked over Arya’s clit. “You are everything that I dreamed of and more baby” Arya said in a soft weepy voice.

The crying jag now lessening as she smiled down at Daenerys.

Arya’s hips jolted with the Queen licking over the clit that had just exploded in her mouth. Arya cried out but did not push Dany’s face away or jerk her hips back hard. Dany could wait a little more. Arya whimpered and gag coed feeling Dany lap up the sweet cum slavering her mound and groin. The Queen’s tongue lathing over the swollen muffin, groin and inner thighs licking up sweet creamy cum.

Then the Queen of Westeros slowly worked her tongue back down the snail snot soaked slit and then dived her tongue deep into Arya’s core scooping out more sweet cum that burbled down her fuck sleeve. Daenerys went back up the slit with her slithering licking tongue and tested Arya’s clit.
again. Arya writhed but swirled her pussy into Dany’s mouth. Good Dany thought as smiled into Arya’s twat.

Dany needed more sweet gash and some hot asshole.

Daenerys stood up and embraced Arya hotly pulling her head down. The Queen mated their mouths tight as lips first melded and lipped before parting to let tongues come out to play again. They both moaned hard into each other’s mouth with Dany shoving her cum soaked tongue deep into Arya’s mouth where they wetly wrestled. Dany leaned into Arya mashing their sweaty bodies into each other. Sweat slicked tits and bellies mashed into each other. The bodies slipping and jerking against each other as arms wrapped around bodies to pull tight and wallow in sweet love.

Dany knew she had to move quick or Arya would demand to suck her off now. Her hands travelled down quickly to cup Arya’s taunt ass cheeks. She massaged them for a minute as Arya cooed into her mouth. Daenerys loving the feel of Arya’s bulb nipples jammed into her full rounded almost C cup tits. Dany flexed her legs and lowered her body gripping Arya’s ass hard and pulled up.

Arya instinctively understood and jumped up and wrapped her arms around Dany’s neck pulling their mated mouths tight and locking her legs around the tiny waist of her lover the Queen of half the known world. She wallowed and pressed her sloppy wet cunt into Dany’s belly starting to nut her reviving pussy into her woman’s hard muscled stomach.

Dany’s great strength easily held the Stark teenager up as they snogged deeply and Arya swirled her drooling trim around on the queen’s stomach gagging into Daenerys mouth. Their heads tilted over and lips melded tight to let tongues wetly shove deeply from mouth to mouth. The Valyrian loved the feel of their mouths locked so tight as lips wetly melded trying to literally devour each other’s mouths. Dany slit her eyes open and groaned hard seeing the eyelids of Arya bulging showing her eyes rolled into her skull and jerking violently. She knew that if Arya’s eyes were slit open all she would see where the whites of Arya’s eyes rolling obscenely around.

Dany walked around Arya’s bedroom slowly enjoying the feel of Arya’s puffly nipples digging into her full nearly C cup titties and the feel of her swollen muffin rubbing up and down on her muscled stomach humping like a bitch in heat. The Queen reflected that being muscled had its advantages. It made humping your woman that much more rad! Arya was totally pliant letting her Dragon take her as she wanted. Good Direwolf Dany thought. Her Wolfling could be so complaint when the Dragon was ascendant.

Her fingers clawed into Arya’s ass cheeks encouraging the teen to hump harder. Daenerys jerked Arya forward to mash Arya’s twat harder into her now sweat and cum slicked belly. Arya broke their kiss and looked at Daenerys with heated eyes her arms draped over Dany’s shoulder. Her hips working with her stomach contracting to hard sweep grind her drooling cunt up and down the washboard of Dany’s abs.

Then Arya moved her head forward again to lock lips and lunge her tongue deep into Dany’s mouth. Their tongues twining and flipping around in the Valyrian’s mouth. Both women chuffing and groaning into each other’s mouths. For another minute Dany slow walked around in Arya’s bedroom she had memorized kissing her future wife deep and pulling hard on Arya’s frim warrior body. The Queen’s tongue first wetly wrestling Arya’s tongue and then she locked her lips on Arya’s tongue and gave it slow sucking head making the teen squeal in helpless pleasure.

Daenerys loved how Arya now had one arm looped around her neck and the other around the middle of her back to wallow their cum sluiced bodies ever harder into each other. Their tits mashed into each other with Arya’s two inch bulb nipples digging hard into Dany’s firm tits filling them with hot pulses of ecstasy. Dany still had both hands mauling Arya’s ass cheeks to help the teen suck her stomach with Arya’s swollen drooling quim.

Dany now moved over to the desk against the west wall and kneeled placing Arya’s ass on the desk and pushing her back so the girl rested back on her elbows staring at Dany who slowly sunk to her knees. Arya looked at her with slit cum drunk eyes. Dany stared at paradise. Arya’s labia lips swollen and medium brown with blood rush. The long rubbery lips soaked in glistening cum. Her clitoral hood all jutting up with the shiny clit tip jutting up out its sheath.

The Queen moaned smelling her woman’s cunt so ripe in front of her. Arya’s quim swollen. Her labia lips engorged and slayed out on her mons. “Mmmmmmm” Dany purred breathing in deep again taking the scent of Arya’s musk deep into her lungs and intoxicating her brain. “Baby … your cunt is so fucking beautiful and smells so good and it tastes even better my Wolfling.” Arya moaned seeing Dany lick her lips unconsciously drooling slightly looking at the gash she was about to devour.

Dany ran her hands up Arya’s calves and gripped her lover behind her knees and pushed her legs up and back. Arya fell back onto her back on the desk now. Her gash and asshole pushed into view as Dany pushed her Arya’s legs back so her knees were by her ears. Arya gripped her ankles and pulled her legs back freeing Dany’s hands. Arya lifted her head up to look down her flat hard muscled belly. Arya’s fat camel toe jutting up all swollen and sloppy wet glistening in the light of the fireplace and whale oil lamps.

“I want your tongue in my asshole baby … gods I love feeling your tongue and fingers fucking my asshole” Arya croaked down to her lover. She worked her ankles with her grip on them. Arya rotated her groin in front of Dany. Dany had introduced anal play into their sex ten days ago and had been ecstatic that Arya loved having her ass and then asshole played with and then penetrated by her tongue and fingers. Only two for now but soon it would be more fingers and eventually her fist and a thick ten inch strap-on or greater size cock when they returned to King’s Landing.

Equally pleasing had been Arya’s going wild tongue fucking her Queen’s hot tight asshole with her tongue and then slamming her fingers deep into the Valyrian’s rectum. Gods Arya had instantly taken to rim play and anal sex with her fingers (up to three) and her long tongue probing deep up into the Valyrian’s anus and licking her rectum walls with her wiggling tongue. Arya moaned and cawed working her head in and out to drive her tongue as deep as she could in Dany’s shithole. The feel of her sphincter clutching her tongue drove Arya wild. Then tossing Dany’s salad with her asshole loosened and spasm underneath her rasping and licking tongue.

The girl was so perfect for Dany in her slutty wanton tastes. Arya had begged her last night to get some of Margaery’s dildos and strap-ons and to take her ass. “Dannnn—yyyyyyyyyyyy I want you to pound the shit out of me babyyyyyyy!” The Queen wanted it to be in their soon to be royal bedchamber in King’s Landing when she deflowered her sweet wolf’s hot tight ass. It had taken a long sweet talking to get Arya to agree to wait till they returned to King’s Landing and have all the time in the world to explore that aspect of sweet sex.

Then Arya had whined to have Dany fuck in the pussy with a strap-on. “Margaery has tons of them dammit! I want to be mounted and fucked!” Arya had whined. It had taken more cajoling and pleas to be patient from Daenerys. Arya had been ameliorated with Dany cooing and stroking her and then sucking her off repeatedly till Arya was nearly in a coma of spent bliss. It was hard work but the Queen was up to the challenge of wearing Arya’s pussy out.

Daenerys had made her decision to wait on using a strap-on. She was extremely happy that Arya was so anxious to start using toys in their lovemaking. Daenerys just wanted to make sure the foundation of their lovemaking was themselves and then adding toys on as the icing to the cake.
Her thoughts came back to the present. She stared at Arya’s gash all wet and swollen her labia lips wet with cum. Arya’s asshole puckered and clenched before the blonde. She spied the red crease of her baby’s upper ass cleft. Gods, Arya’s body turned her on so much Daenerys thought. She licked her lips looking at the succulent feast right in front of her drooling mouth.

She moved her head in and buried her face in sweet hot wet pussy. “Aaaauuuuggg hhnnngg ooohhh Daanyyyyy bbbaaaayyyyyyyyy—uunnggg hhnnngg hhnnnn!” Arya gurgled feeling her lover’s tongue working up and down her gooey trench with slow luxurious licks of Dany’s strong tongue. Dany started with her face pressed in deep into Ayra’s sweet wet couchie. Now, Dany slowly pulled her head back to let her tongue work hard up and down Arya’s slit. Arya whinnied at the sweet sensations and being able to look down and see Dany’s pink tongue plowing her slit and licking hard over her throbbing clit.

Up and down the Queen worked her woman’s drooling slit and cum leaking fuck hole. She dragged her tongue slow up and down Arya’s drooling slit. She loved feeling Arya’s wet vulva on her mouth around her lips when she pressed her face in deep into Arya’s mound. Dany sucked in each labia lip and munched on the slimy cunt meat savoring the slimy thick lips. She then worked her tongue roughly over Arya’s clit and on the down stroke began to lick Arya’s perineum making Arya whoop and her groin jolt. With each down lick Dany worked her tongue further south before dragging back up to lash over the Stark teenager’s ridged clit.

The Queen buried her face in Arya’s vulva and swirled her head in a tight circle. The motion letting her tongue roll over the sweet trim in her mouth and over Arya’s clit when she moved up to swirl her mouth on it. Her tongue plowing and slashing over the hard nubbin. Then back down the slit the pale Valyrian worked her face always working further south her tongue nearing her Wolfling’s puckered asshole.

"Oh yes ... oh yes unngghh uunnggg hhnnngg hhnnn ... oh gods yes! Aunnggghhh!" Arya groaned, her body shuddering in hot flashes of ecstasy. She cried out when Dany on the down stroke reached her asshole and started to lap her butthole rimming it around and around and then lapping her tongue over her quivering starfish. Then back up her pussy went Dany’s tongue licking her pink wet slit and sucking on labia lips before working Arya’s clit with hard licks and quick hard sucks making the sixteen year old whoop and gurgle. "Anngghhh! Oh! Oh!" Arya gasped feeling her clit spasm and pulse out ecstasy to her belly and brain.

Arya was rotating her palms over her puffy spongy nipples making them scream pleasure into her hot pulsing blood broiling in her veins. She always loved feeling her bursting plum nipples roll and squirt around underneath her sweaty palms. Dany’s tongue worked back up to Arya’s pussy. She sucked on it with vicious love sucks and swirling tongue rasps. Then she licked back down to again hotly lick Arya’s asshole. Dany drooled spit on it and slurped it back up with obscene noisy noises. "Unhh! Oh . . . unhgg gods! Unhh!" Arya moaned, churning her hips, delirious, groaning and panting in a wild sexual frenzy.

Dany now rotated her tongue over Arya’s clenching starfish. The tongue applying more pressure slowly as the blond haired woman licked and Dorne kissed Arya’s anus sucking and slapping her tongue into the jerking sphincter muscles. Her tongue tip teasing the aperture of Arya’s shithole making it spasm deliciously. Dany smiled looking over Arya’s cunny seeing her belly spasm and her love slapping her palms down into her spongy nipples pulping them. Arya’s head was thrashing right and left as demented whinnies cawed out her convulsing throat.

She cried out when Dany stiffened her tongue and slowly penetrated Arya’s asshole till her tongue was deeply buried up into the teen’s hot tight clenching butt hole. Dany with her tongue buried up Arya’s hot asshole Dorne kissed Arya’s shithole lips glued to the wrinkly anus her tongue wiggling as her lips kissed and smooched the sweet shithole. The Queen pumped her head down into the teenager’s ass cleft to work her tongue as deep as possible into Arya’s ass.

The white haired woman started to slow pump her head in and out. The groove of Arya’s sweaty and cum slicked ass cheeks pressed on Dany’s cheeks as her head pumped in and out the sweet steamy ass cleft of her Wolfling. Her tongue fucked the young woman’s tight pinching anus.
Daenerys loved feeling Arya’s pulse hammer on her tongue as it sliced in and out the sphincter rings of her woman’s asshole. In and out Dany worked her tongue in Arya’s ass. The sphincter rings gripping and milking the long appendage fucking the spasming shithole of her lover.

Arya’s hands worked her tits. The hands lifted several inches above the bursting plum nipples all bulging and pulpy. Arya slammed down with her cupped palms. Her hands hammering into her overripe bursting nipples. Dany watched fascinated as Arya pulped her own nipples down into her ribs. Arya snarled and groaned deep in her chest as she continued to manically lift hands and slam them down into her nipples crushing and pulping them into her hard ribs. Her face twisted with fierce pleasure.

Arya’s hips jolted and jerked from the harsh pleasure Arya was giving herself with the teen pulping her own nipples with her cruel down jacking hands.

"Unggh . . . oh shit yes oh! Ungghh!" Arya gagged in raw pleasure. The loud thumps of Arya’s hand pounding her nipples down into her ribcage shocking loud and obscene in the room. Dany loved it! Dany was tongue fucking Arya’s asshole hard and deep now. The Queen’s long tongue loving the feel of Arya’s asshole pinching down on her tongue with tight squeezes. The Queen’s sweaty lank hair jerking around her shoulder as she worked her tongue up her woman’s ass. In and out Dany rammed her tongue up Arya’s spasming asshole.

"Oh yes Dany harder . . . I . . . oh yes hard! Anngghhh! Oh now now! Auugnnnhhhhh!" Arya gagged moaned feeling Dany mash her mouth to her ass and wiggle her tongue deep up her rectum murmuring as she tongue fucked sweet hot asshole. Dany sucked and lipped her starfish as her tongue licked her rectum driving the teenager wild with pleasure. The teen now gripping the edges of the desk with white knuckles jerking on the wood edges to help grind her groin into Dany’s face.

Then Dany pulled her tongue out Arya’s hot tight ass and moved her mouth up and licked her future wife’s drooling clamshell with her tongue soaked in Arya’s ass juice. Her tongue lapping deep up into Arya’s love box scooping out sweet love cream. Then that tongue was tongue lashing and flat tongue licking Arya’s hard clit before sucking deep into her mouth and wolf sucking on the sweet morsel. She gigged the hard nubbin and rolled it over with her tongue.

For the next few minutes, Dany was in heaven dining on sodden wet sweet cunt meat and tongue fucking hot pinching asshole. She pulled her tongue back out of Arya’s ass and wormed her first two fingers in a twisting motion up Arya’s asshole. Arya’s anus pinching down on the invaders with wet heat and tight squeezes. Arya keened feeling her asshole squired and now the fingers up her ass began to twist and sink deep up Arya’s ass till Dany’s knuckles jammed into her ass. In and out the Valyrian pumped her fingers into her slut’s tight asshole.

The blonde quickly established a hot hard rhythm ramming her fingers hard and deep up Arya’s ass.
Dany had glued her mouth to Arya’s festering quim and sucked her lover’s clit deep into her mouth lapping her head. Her fingers pounded Arya’s tight pinching asshole. Dany loved feeling Arya’s sphincter rings spasm and grip her fingers as they plunged in and out Arya’s ass. Soon her fingers were slavered with milky ass juice that started to coat the skin around Arya’s anus as Dany pounded her shithole with slamming thrusts of pure anal love.

Dany looked up Arya’s sweaty belly. Her sweet Wolfling had her head up. She had gripped her ankles again and pulled on her legs back and forth rotating her pelvis pulling on the cunt meat sucked into the Queen’s mouth and her asshole being squired by hard plunging fingers. Dany loved the feel of Arya working her festering couchie into her mouth and how Arya’s asshole bowed and flexed as it rotated into the fingers torpedo fucking Arya’s tight shithole.

Arya’s face slashed and twisted with ecstasy. “Baby baby your fingers honey!” Arya gasped. Dany pulled her fingers out Arya’s ass making the girl cry out in pleasure with the intense sensations. Daenerys snaked her hand up Arya’s ribs as she continued to munch on sweet clit with voracious love sucks. Arya lifted her upper body on one elbow and tilted her upper body forward. Dany growled when her fingers reached Arya’s mouth and she sucked in Dany’s fingers and sucked Dany’s ass juice soaked fingers deep into her mouth.

Arya’s lips glued themselves to the two digits that had been plundering her butthole. Dany worked the fingers in and out Arya’s mouth. Arya’s free hand gripped Dany’s wrist to help her Dragon slide her fingers up and down Arya’s tongue soaked in her own ass cream and hummed sucking on the fingers that had just been ravaging her asshole so sweetly. Dany watched Arya’s eyes flutter closed with a happy look on her face. That face slashing and grimacing as well with the hot suck Dany was giving Arya’s pussy.

Arya hummed sucking her ass of Dany’s fingers. Then Dany jerked them out of Arya’s tight ass which made her pout cutely. Dany pulled them back down Arya’s belly slowly to swirl them over the teenager’s anus. Arya being the slut she was humped her hips to push her anus on the fingers rimming her shithole. Then Dany paused in the circular motion. She twist rammed them back up Arya’s ass while she lapped furiously on sweet rigid clit.

Arya’s face slashed with primal pleasure feeling her asshole squired and pumped hard. Her head jerked up in involuntary pleasure her throat cawing with fuck bliss. Dany pounded her slut’s asshole real good and deep. Her twisting fingers savaging her slut’s shithole that had Arya crying and jabbering out her ecstasy with the dual assault on her ass and cunt with Dany’s finger and mouth.

The impact of the Queen’s curled knuckles and thumb hammering into Arya’s ass cleft so Daenerys could bury the full length of her fingers into Arya’s asshole excited both women. Dany loved fucking Arya rough and hard while Arya reveled in the impact and feel of Dany’s fingers squirting her clenching arsehole. Her asshole radiating out hot pulses of pleasure to Arya’s clit and gagging her mind with raw fucking bliss.

Daenerys loved Arya’s whimpers of raw need. Twice more she pulled her fingers from Arya’s tight ass and feed them to the teenager who eagerly sucked her ass off Dany’s fingers. Cleaned Dany slammed them back up Arya’s spasming asshole and sucked her sweetie’s asshole hard and deep just like Arya loved it. Her mouth lapped on Arya’s clit and her knuckles of her hand slammed into Arya’s ass cheeks as she harpooned her fingers deep and fast in and out her future wife’s hot spasming asshole.

Arya’s head was jerking up off the desk in spastic jerks her eyes glazed with lust and rising pleasure. Dany saw Arya’s toes curl and Arya’s belly start to spasm to rigid steel. “Oh gods … Dany ohhmmm! Annghhh! Oh yes, do it hard! Gods … oh sweet old gods … oh shit—shit … yes! Unghh! Unh! Oh!” she panted, quivering and writhing in need.

Inspired Dany scooted up closer half rising her body and mashed her head down and sucked in her lover’s clit even deeper into her mouth. Her cheeks hollowed out with voracious long deep throat love sucks. Again and again Dany tried to suck Arya’s clit down her throat all the time slapping and slashing the hard nodule with her fast striking tongue. Her right hand slamming two fingers up Arya’s spasming asshole.
Dany felt and saw the tension rising in Arya. Then Arya’s head surged up her face twisted with agonizing ecstasy. Her mouth fell open her eyes squeezed shut tight. “FFFFUUCCKKKKKK! GOOODDDSSDDAAAMMNNNNN! OOOWWWGGGGG! AARRUUUNGGGGGG!” Arya screamed as if she was being fillet alive. Her head slammed up and down pounding her head into the desk regardless of any pain as rapture tore her cunt and asshole inside out with mutual vaginal and anal orgasms. Arya’s hands pulled back hard on her ankles harshly up humping her cunt into the mouth gobbling it and lifting her asshole for sweet hard squirting. ”Aunnngghhh!” Arya cried out as fresh spasms of sweet searing bliss exploded out her shredding asshole and rupturing cunt.

“Ohnngg! Unnhhhngghhiieeee! Oh gods unngghhmnnniiieeee! Aunnngg! Unhg! Oh! Unh! Ungh!”

Finally, her orgasm weakened and began to fade. Dany released her love suck on Arya’s now sensitive clit and slowly slurped up sweet cum soaking her woman’s quim and perineum and leaked down to her fingers now stilled deep up Arya’s still spasming anus. Dany pulled her fingers out Arya’s asshole. Hot ass grease pulsed out soaking her love’s ass and lower back. Dany scooped up the creamy fluids on her fingers and stuffed them into her mouth savoring the sweet taste of her love’s hot asshole. She so loved tasting Arya sweet ass candy.

Dany smiled. Soon it would be her asshole ravaged by her sweet wolf.

//////////

Dany was exhausted. Her body was worn out and soaked in sweat. Her hair plastered all over her back, shoulders and down her chest. She was half lying on Arya who had one arm looped around Dany’s back pulling her lover tight to her body. Dany had her cheek on Arya’s muscled left shoulder. Dany wiggled in closer and cooed when Arya stroked her back in light circles. This was the same shoulder she had hurt that first day when they met and fought. Fought and fell in love she smiled. She had been enamored with the girl since seeing her through Viserion’s eyes.

Arya had been so excited to see her dragon and had felt no fear despite having a huge dragon right in front of her. That alone had caught the Queen’s attention. This girl was fearless and loved dragons. How could her attention not be piqued? Sansa had come into view but it had been only Arya that she had truly seen. She had wondered about the girl from that moment forward when she had free time to let her thoughts wonder.

Would she be a good spouse? She had the look of warrior but was she? Would she fuck good in bed? Was she gay? Was she a freak in bed? Was she nice and sweet of demeanor? At first it had been almost innocent daydreams to idle away the time. That was until a certain Direwolf girl barged into her throne room and finished capturing a Queen’s heart. The audacity of Arya Stark still fascinated the Queen.

Dany lifted her head slightly and tilted her head down and placed soft kisses on the shoulder she had harmed in their fight. Thank the gods Arya had the same ability to heal that Dany had. She would have loved Arya no matter her physical prowess but she would have always been guilt wracked and Arya would not feel herself a worthy mate to Dany if she was not a great warrior. A woman who could hold her own in combat and more.

Dany muzzled the shoulder. She had had so many orgasms her pussy was simply exhausted and her asshole had been fucked hard several times with Arya’s strong fingers. The teenager fucking three fingers up her butthole. Still her body quivered with desire but she suppressed it. She had made Arya cum at least ten times and she had cum twelve times in their marathon hours long fuck tryst. Her womb had felt like it was tearing out her cunt several times she cummed so hard. She knew Arya had cum that hard too her eyes shocked wide open her head pumping up off the mattress her throat tendons so corded they looked like they might snap as her sweet wolf screamed and screamed her rapture.

Daenerys had that satiated feeling of a well fucked pussy. Her pussy tingled and felt all jangly with her many hard cums. Her pussy had that slightly burning feeling that if she cum one more time her pussy might actually rip itself apart. Her pussy still red from all the loving and hard fucking. Of course to feel that divine ripping apart sensation one was always wanting to go for one more if the body could just do it.

Arya had cum so hard just ten minutes past as she went multiple with Dany sucking on a plump nipple that felt like it might burst as she hooked her lips underneath the thick juicy bulb that jutted up two inches from her little breast. She had been sucking with cheek hollowing sucks as her tongue slashed the pulpy nipple all over and her cheeks hollowed out with the force of her love sucks. Her right hand was wedge fucking Arya’s worn out cunt.

Arya had cried out so loud and her body convulsed out of control with harrowing jackknifes of shocking ecstasy. Dany knew Arya was worn out and her cunt had that deep burning sensation but Arya humped her hips up desperately to take the full force of Dany’s wedged fingers slamming all the way up her tight greasy fuck canal. Her thumb slamming into Arya’s clit.

Her sweetie’s body had went rigid her arms and legs shot out straight. Her fingers tore at the sheet and her heels kicked the bed wildly her cute toes curled painfully. Arya’s head had again lifted off the bed her tendons jutting out her throat in stark relief. The teenager’s face slashed with a stricken look as her head jerked up in helpless spasms of fucking bliss.

At first Arya cawed and chuffed with the air was knocked out her lungs. Dany knew boiling excoriating agonizing ecstasy was flooding Arya’s veins and down her wildly convulsing limbs. Then the sweet screams filled the room as Arya’s body jerked and spasmed like she was having a seizure. Her eyes rolled back into her skull as Dany looked up. Arya’s eyes rolled violently showing the whites of her eyes.

Dany sighed. Arya had gone multiple and screamed like she had boiling oil poured on her. Her screams of rapture music to the Valyrian’s ears. Her body did not flip and jackknife violently as was usual for her Wolfling. Instead she mini jerked and spasmed as if struck by lightning as she screamed her voice raw. She had cummed until exhausted.

Dany knew how Arya’s pussy felt. Before Dany finished Arya off with one last sweet fuck Arya had fistied Dany’s cunt so good. They had just added vaginal fisting to their repertoire. Arya had been so cute being shocked with the idea of putting her whole hand in the Queen’s cunt. Dany had to encourage and reassure Arya that her pussy could take her fist. Arya was a small framed woman compared to the stout build of Brienne or the voluptuous tall bodies of the Summer Islander admiral Solaja, or the whores Chataya and Alayaya.

Many nights she had hungrily and very happily taken the whores fists deep up her cunt and ass. There was something that just made you feel connected to your lover when she had her fist ramming deep up your couchie slamming your cervix till your cunt explodes. Dany was an anal whore and loved to feel her asshole fistied too. Dany had nearly died from cumming so hard when Chataya or Alayaya had slammed their fists up her ass to the elbow while kissing her back and rubbing her clit furiously. Her screams had filled her room with sweet ecstasy.

So now she had introduced Arya to vaginal fisting. Arya like in all things had quickly mastered her doubts and apprehension. She had followed Dany’s instructions with total focus and quickly had her hand in Dany’s quim and balled up into a fist. The fist soon ramming hard into her cervix numbing nerves that allowed over nerves that were wired to a woman’s clit to take over. The orgasms had been harrowing.
Tonight Arya had retrieved the silk oil that Margaery had given them. Arya soaked her left hand in the oil and then streamed several squirts on Dany’s camel toe. The oil flavored and sweet tasting on the tongue. Dany had been up on her elbows watching Arya quickly work three fingers into her trim and fucked her sweetly with hard thrusts while bending down to suck hard on Dany’s clit. Then a fourth finger was added and Arya wedged fucked her Dragon with punishing strokes making Dany’s cunt first sing and then scream in orgasm.

Arya was patient keeping her wedge buried in Dany’s burning cunt. When Dany groggily revived Arya pumped her fingers sensually in and out Dany’s slurping pussy and then worked her thumb up the bottom of her middle fingers and into Dany’s cunt. Arya now pumped her hand slowly harder into Dany’s snatch till her knuckles were at the vaginal walls of her woman’s trim. Arya suckled on Dany’s clit and slowly forced her hand into Dany’s cunt. The Valyrian gagging feeling Arya’s hand lurch into her tight cunny stretching it out. Arya lifting off Dany’s pussy to drool out copious streams of bubbly spit to add lubrication as her hand slipped into Dany’s cunt. Arya slowly pulled her hand back half pulling it out Dany’s cunt. She knew Dany loved the act of penetration.

“Oh Danyyyyyy I love the feel of your wet cunt riding down the back of my hand!” Arya exclaimed softly her eyes intently watching the pale Valyrian’s swollen red cunt ride down the back of her hand. The stretched out pussy clenched tight on the invading hand. The hand sinking in until Dany’s wet drooling cunt was clenched down on Arya’s wrist. The Queen had groaned so gutturally feeling her quim stretch out on the fist Arya formed in her belly. Dany feeling the hand ball up inside her belly had her moaning deep in her chest. The fist formed Arya rotated her fist so her knuckles plowed the blonde’s inner cunt petals and whorls gagging Dany with raw hot pleasure. Arya slowly pumped her fist sensually in out Dany’s pussy stretching out her lover. The Queen had gurgle moaned feeling her labia lips riding up and down the back of Arya’s hand.

Arya increased her pace and force of her fist fuck. The teenager twisting her fist so her knuckles plowed sopping wet cunt meat and rasped the vaginal walls of her slut. Her fist slowly sinking deeper into the cunt Arya was fucking. Her fist was loosening Dany’s couchie with each hard pump into the hot cauldron of Dany’s steamy drooling clamshell. Cum soaking Arya’s wrist and the bottom of her hand she pulled out Dany’s cunt to ram back deep into her lover’s belly.

Soon she was slam fucking Dany’s pussy ramming her twisting fist in hard and deep pounding Dany’s cervix with relentless strokes of pure love. Dany only lasted a long minute with Arya rubbing her clit as she fist her pussy with her twisting deep pumping fist. The orgasm had gone multiple and Dany had worried for a few moments that her pussy would actually ripe itself inside out on the fist her snatch seized up on and squeezed tightly in its velvet grip.

The way her pussy spasm and her belly clenched in such hard rolling seizures had scalded Dany with fucking ecstasy that had her eyes shocked wide open and sweet screams echoing off the walls. That had destroyed Dany’s pussy but she had the strength the Dragon and had been able take her sweet Direwolf one last time herself totally wearing out Arya’s trim.

Dany smirked as Arya whimpered and sobbed pulling Dany close and kissed her deeply and telling her lover how good she felt and her pussy was so fucking worn out. Then she pulled Dany half onto her body and was asleep in two minutes with a soft smile on her face.

Dany smiled into the shoulder her face rested on. They both were soaked in sweat and cum their hair plastered all over their bodies. Arya and Dany had pulled up the covers and quilt. The room was relatively warm but it was a cold winter night outside and the bed was wrecked and soaked in sweat and cum itself. Dany snuggled in the warm cocoon of love and contentment and loved the feel of Arya’s warrior body pressed into hers.

She was so happy. She would have her kingdom and the Queen she had always desired and been so afraid she would never have. She would be proud to have Arya Stark up on the dais of the Iron Throne with her. She wanted her whole kingdom to know she had taken a woman as her consort. She would make it the law of her lands that homosexuals would have full rights. No more hiding in the shadows. Her warrior Queen status gave her might which then gave her the right to make a new world.

Nothing could stop her.

She knew she would have push back from the conservative elements of society and probably the Septs of the seven faced god but she did not care. She had the power to make her will reality. She had gained that power with each victory she had made in Essos. In Westeros she had become so mighty that she had found another way to take what had been ripped away from her family. True her father had been mad and was cruel despot but the Iron Thrones was hers and she had reclaimed it for the Targaryen line.

She would make equal progemintory the law of the land and Kiserri would be her heir. She smirked. So let it be said so let it be done. Where had she heard that before? Must have been a play somewhere in Pentos or Tyrosh she supposed.

Dany was drowsy and content. She could not wait to wed Arya and have her as her queen. She wanted it legal. It was important to her to have Arya officially as her Queen so no one would ever question the nature of their relationship. They were soulmates and would never part.

That led her down a road she had travelled a few times of late: Jon Snow or was it Jon Stark or maybe Jon Targaryen. He was her nephew. In most families that would not be a very important fact. Daenerys knew it could be very important in some people’s mind due to her family’s tradition which was in fact a tradition of most Valyrian family lines but especially nobility. It was expected to marry at least a first cousin. A sister or brother was actually preferable.

The Valyrian thought that the marrying of close relatives helped to purify the blood. It allowed a family’s strong traits to rise to ascendency. The books she had found in the libraries in Essos and Westeros made it clear that this had been a long tradition. Families did marry outside of close kin but it was not the norm.

She supposed she could see it if you grew up with the person and came to love them. Being raised with the ideas that you were supposed to marry that person or maybe several brothers and or sisters. Of course it helped if your sibling was not a raving lunatic like Viserys had been. You cannot love a sadistic monster.

Aegon had been your typical know it all male ego dominated man. No wonder her great grandmothers many times removed had loved each other and not the brother. They had only married him out of duty. Kiserri would have the ability to marry whom she chose.

Jon was not what her father and brother had been. He had not received the family curse of madness. Rhaegar had avoided the curse as she had and so had Rhaegar’s son. He was a man who had the affection of two stunning beautiful women. Women she could tell were definitely lesbians who happened to love a man by the name of Jon Snow. Jon Snow was ruggedly good looking like his uncle. Strange how the Stark line had so totally won out in Jon’s features. It had been easy for Eddard to imply that Jon was his son.
She mulled it over. She knew that there would be elements that would preach, beg and probably demand that she marry Jon Snow and lie with him with the mistaken belief that she still could conceive. She could not. Mirri Maz Duur had done her evil work to well. She had been made barren. She felt the loss but Kiserri filled that hole totally. She still thanked the gods for having her look down on her march into exile and finding her daughter by her side. She had been blessed.

It must have been providence that had led that sweet orphaned Dothraki girl to her side. The girl was a true blessing.

But the fact that she was barren did not matter. Even if she was fertile she would not lie with a man merely because the patriarchal world demanded it. She had made herself powerful beyond measure for many reasons. One was to win her throne. But maybe as important had been the secret desire to be able to live her life as she deemed fit. She had still allowed man’s world to almost cow her.

No more she roared to herself drowsily. She would never allow men to dictate to her again the course she would follow. She had found her Arya. She was sick of men thinking that just the fact they were born men gave them some special privilege. That that fact alone gave them the right to power. She had taken her power by might and strategy. She had earned it. She would use that power she had snatched and made her own to form a world where she and women and men like her could lead the life they so choose free of fear and persecution. She knew many would oppose her.

She had a word for them. Dracarys. She wanted peace but she would burn her enemies if she must.

Dany did not need a man in her life to make her complete. She needed a woman in her life to feel complete. She had Arya for that. She did not need further children either to feel any sense of completion or maternal instinct. She did not want or need an heir of royal bloodlines. She scoffed at the idea in some ways. She was destined to be Queen but her father had been king by destiny and Viserys if had not gotten himself killed by Khal Drogo. They had both been mad and Viserys had been an idiot to add insult to injury.

If Robert’s Rebellion had not occurred there was the chance that Viserys could have one day taken his seat on the Iron Throne. What a disaster the Queen thought to herself.

Her line was tainted she felt. Some propensity to madness lie in their blood. Daenerys would never lie with Jon Snow because she did not love him. The thought of lying with a man almost repulsed the queen. Nor would she produce an heir from his issue. Even if she could she would not. Gods she hated the patriarchal world sometimes! The male ego was a very powerful and stupid thing. Calm down there Dany she mused to herself.

She went back to musing about Bloodlines. The odds were stacked against the Targaryen line. It was about statistically time for another lunatic to be brought forth into the world if the Targaryen line tried to propagate itself. She had a strong suspicion that Jon would be producing no heirs with his ShadowBender wives. She sensed that as Azor Ahai reborn that he and his witch wives were on a path beyond the normal moors of man.

She stroked her fingertip on Arya’s body who wiggled and sighed and pulled Dany harder into her body which made Dany feel so fucking loved and protected. She wiggled in herself and remembered their perfect lovemaking and the almost crippling orgasms. She smiled.

She would avoid for a while longer the Jon Snow question with Arya. She was on her unofficial honeymoon and did not want anything to throw any dross into their idyllic time together and totally hot and satisfying lovemaking. Gods she loved going down on Arya’s pussy and shoving her tongue deep in and out her love’s pinching anus. Dany smirked. She was thankful that Arya was an anal slut.
She had heard Oberyn musing to a few of his generals if Daenerys would lie with Jon Snow to produce a “true” heir that would stand up to any legal or religious challenge. She knew he was not being malicious or nefarious. He was looking at it logically by the normal politics of high royal families. Kiserri was adopted. She would have to make sure her little girl was raised to be strong, wise and cunning. With Oberyn, the fact that Jon Snow was her nephew was probably a positive. She smiled. Pervert.

Knowing Oberyn he would propose a lovefest with all the relatives to each other that he could muster. Dorne had the right of it Dany knew. Love whom you wish to love as long as the other wanted to love you back and was old enough to make a decision of consent free of force or of coercion. Cersei was fucking Oberyn’s daughter but Olenna reported that Ellaria and now Myrcella were angling to get in Cersei’s short clothes. She wondered how long Cersei would last.

Dany shook her head. Yes indeed. Oberyn was a catalyst too most unusual thoughts.

She did not want Arya upset with the thought that her lover could even conceive of the idea of Arya lying with Jon Snow to produce an heir. Arya had shown herself to be very possessive of Dany holding her tighter when any man and especially a woman showed interest. She was jealous but controlled it. A seamstress taking measurements of Dany and Arya for some informal royal clothes had been ogling Dany’s ass and breast taking her measurements. Arya had scowled and fumed but controlled herself. Catelyn thought that she wanted to see Dany and Arya all dolled up. Dany did not mind dressing up girlie but Arya had nearly hurled.

Dany would have to do a lot of sweet talking to get Arya to wear a dress. She liked to femme up from time to time. She would wheedle Arya to get her way. She was just that good she smirked to herself.

That night in bed Arya after they had come back from the seamstress Arya had literally slammed her cunt down into Dany’s cunny after she had shoved Dany’s legs out wide and rammed her tongue down Dany’s throat possessively. She had her arms looped underneath Dany’s shoulders fingers clenched in her Queen’s hair. Dany had cummed so hard being “manhandled” and fucked hard. She liked her wolf riled up!

Arya had snarled as they had tribbed face to face. Her cunt riding roughly up and over Dany’s as she growled and lunged her pussy up and over her slut’s pussy. Their bodies slamming and wallowing into each other as they fucked with primal fuck lust. Dany knowing the seamstresses attentions had fired up Arya’s jealousy. The Queen had silently thanked the woman for riling up Arya and getting her dander up. It made for exquisite fucking.

Her mind returned from sweet thoughts of fucking and back to matters of state. Dany would wait till just before her meeting with Jon Snow to explain everything to Arya. She had asked all that knew the truth to not discuss the issue with Arya. She wanted to break the news to Arya and make her feel safe and comfortable with the situation. Dany did not follow tradition, rules, conditions or prophecy. She was her own prophecy.

Her prophecy was Arya Stark.

With that thought she snuggled into Arya closer and her left hand cupped Arya’s pulpy spongy nipple. It made her feel anchored to her love. She quickly feel asleep in perfect contentment and happy love.

//////////

The next morning Daenerys woke up feeling refreshed and invigorated. Well her pussy was still a little sore and worn out but better for wear and tear she smirked to herself. Her pussy was definitely purring and would be ready for more hot action tonight she thought greedily. She loved to fuck! She smiled. In the night Arya had spooned up behind Dany and held Dany’s body so tight to her own. She had thrown her leg over Dany’s hip and her top arm cupping Dany’s breast. Dany sighed. She loved how Arya claimed her body as hers. She had fucked many women. She let them ravish her but she had never given them her body like she gave her body to Arya. Arya had slipped into her heart totally and captured said heart.

What was more, the Queen of Westeros and half of Essos had given her Wolfling Arya Stark her heart. No part of her body, physic or soul was not Arya’s and Dany knew it was true in the reverse. She had heard of the concept of finding one’s soul mate. She had never truly believed in it till now. It was amazing how everything changed when you indeed found your soulmate. It was liberating.

She gasped. She felt the hand that clutched her breast now rotating grinding a palm into her engorging nipple and sweet lips licking and kissing the nape of her neck. Dany smirked. She discovered her pussy was ready now for some action! Soon she was rolled onto her back and Arya was between her legs in a flash sucking her off. Then Arya rode her face hard to orgasm and they finished up in sixty-nine with Arya cumming first and then concentrating in sucking Dany off twice.

Dany loved starting the morning fucking Arya! Now she really was ready to meet the challenges of the day.

They rushed to the royal bath. Sansa was on the ledge of the sunken pool her legs spread wide with Margery eating her out. She was so far gone that she did not stop Margery when she saw her sister and the Queen entering the royal bathing area. Her hands were on Margaery’s head grinding her face down into her cunt she was humping hard up and down Margaery’s face. Sansa using her woman’s face like a fuck post.

Dany noticed that Sansa was currently sporting a closely cropped triangle of red hair above her vulva the point ending just above her succulent pussy. She looked at Dany and Arya with a slutty smile on her face her chest heaving with effort and flushed bright pink with an approaching orgasm. Her conical tits swirling and flipping with Sansa’s fuck humping. Her puffy engorged nipples draped cutely over the cones of her hard swaying tits.

Margaery was making lots of sweet obscene noises devouring Sansa’s drooling clamshell. She had noticed them as well but she only smiled with a face full of pussy in her mouth. Her head rocking letting her tongue work the drooling slit of her lover. The rose of Tyrell then lifted her face and her tongue was like a serpent’s tongue striking all over Sansa’s clit making the redhead cry out in soul stirring pleasure.

Dany got Arya on the opposite ledge and went down on Arya. Dany was not about to be outdone and attacked Arya’s pussy with a vengeance sucking and slurping on sweet sopping wet gash. Her head lifting with the force of her voracious love sucks. Her mouth tenting up Arya’s pink trim as the Queen feasted. She made sure to show Margaery she too had mastered her ‘butterfly’ technique with her fast flicking tongue.

Both women were highly competitive. First, Margaery started to tongue fuck Sansa’s sopping wet cunt hole with her head striking like a blacksmith’s mallet hammering down to drive her tongue deep into Sansa’s burbling couchie. Dany immediately copied fucking Arya’s love box hard with her down plunging tongue. The sounds of sodden trim fucked hard with long tongues filled the bathing suite wet squishes and slurps.

Then Dany was kissing Arya’s pussy and sucking in mouthful of sweet sopping wet trim and slow pulling her head back letting the slimy delicacy slowly pull out her mouth labia lips first and then Arya’s clitoral hood. Sweet pussy pulled out of hot sucking lips. Margaery immediately followed suite and both women repeated sucking out their lover’s cunts seeing who could pull their sweetie’s cunt the slowest out their back pulling sucking lips. The sisters thrashing and flipping with the loving ministrations as they cried out in helpless pleasure.

The sounds of sodden cunt meat plopping out hot sucking mouths and whiplashing back to drooling vulvas was loud, sweet and obscene in the hot steamy bathing suite. Now the sounds of pussies wetly sucked back deep into mouths where the sweet slimy snatches were wetly devoured with pumping heads. Then the Rose and Dragon in concert pulling their heads back to slowly snap drooling cunt meat out their hot sucking mouths with divine wet slurps and wet plops.

The acts repeated to wet couchies driving both sisters wild with overwhelming pleasure. The two sisters roughly massing their tits and pinching engorged nipples. The sister’s faces torn apart with slashes and grimaces of fucking bliss. Their lovers working the sisters’ bodies with all consuming focus and fuck hunger. The sisters bodies stiffening and jolting with rising ecstasy.

Soon both sisters were screaming in hard gut wrenching orgasms. Once their orgasms had consumed them the sisters were back to their normal shy selves. Their blushes and stammers and attempts to put towels around their bodies amusing to their much more liberal wives. The sisters trying to hide their nudeness from each other. Dany did notice that the sisters were eyeing all the eye candy; including each other even as they half-heartedly tried to cover themselves. Dany thought happily that they were loosening up if slowly.

All too soon Dany and Arya were dressed. They went to the kitchen and sat beside Sansa and Margaery. The two sisters were stilted with each other and blushed furiously remembering the sight of their sister’s flushed body cumming so hard. Dany and Margaery smirked at each other. She saw the calculating eye of Margaery. Gods that girl was a horn dog! Arya’s was hers and hers alone!

It was flattering in a way. Margaery was supper hot and Dany had fucked many women and often together but she was now a one woman woman. She wanted to give her all to her one woman and expected the same in return. It thrilled her that was how Arya felt too. She was so jealous of anyone coming near Dany without being controlling of Dany. They both wanted the same thing. Each other.

Dany went to her meeting and her Arya went out to practice with Syrio. Today she had Barristan with her as they reviewed their troop dispositions and how to crush the traitorous houses when the time came. She was sure if the Wall came down it would spread out four to five time its current width and that large falling pieces of the Wall would bound across the ground some distance. She wanted to be back at least one mile. She also talked of deceptions they might use to make the Ice King think the wall was being manned.

She wanted the vile entity to think he was accomplishing all his goals. That would give her the advantage. She would use that to totally crush her foe.

Her dragons had returned from another reconnaissance over the Fist of the First Men. They stayed high to be safe. With their dragon vision they were able to see clearly what was below. The enemy was still encamped there with no real movement discernable. The Crows were sending ravens to Winterfell that reported increased patrols and raiding parties of Others and Ice Wrights but both sides seemed to be avoiding a head on fight. Especially, after Jon decimated a large raiding party.

Still something was not right and everyone in the room knew it. The Crows at the Wall knew it. Why wasn’t the Ice King moving south? As far as Dany knew he did not have to feed his army most of it being dead but still he should not be just sitting on his ass. No one could figure out his plan so they merely prepared for the combat that would eventually come. She knew that tomorrow the last troop column would come by and two days later the last direct supply train would pass.

More pure food staple, clothing and arms would be coming up to ever increase the supply of supplies but the forces necessary for war were set. The rest was insurance. As long as she had time she would be bringing north more obsidian and fire arrows. This would be their main weapon. She knew that the Ice King did not expect to face obsidian. She and Eddard had both made the connection and did not doubt what the ancient text said. The sky would rain obsidian down on the Others. Their deaths would be exquisite to watch.

They believed. The North believed. Fortunately, because of Jon’s wives all of Westeros now believed and were prepared.

Still the Queen gnawed on her lower lip. Why wasn’t the Ice King advancing? Was he that confident that he was letting his enemies array themselves before the Wall? Even if he brought the Wall down it did not matter to the Queen. She would prefer to use its protection to rain destruction on her enemy but was prepared for its demise. Her casualties would rise but she would have to accept that.

The next day Dany went outside the East Gate at noon and watched the last troop column pass by. They were in good shape. Their backs were straight. Their gait strong and confident. They were not worn down by a long fast march that had sapped strength and moral. For this reason she had had Missandei and Tyrion organize a controlled march. The Ice King hesitating made it easier. Even if he had attacked as quick as possible the Queen would have controlled her approach.

Too many armies had marched to the battlefield in a force march and arrived exhausted. Everyone in those exhausted armies had been annihilated. She had to be even more careful here. Her enemy did not tire as far as she knew. Her forces had to be well rested and ready to fight when the battle was joined.

Her army would be in top fighting trim when the time came. The enemy would have to come south soon. The Ice King could not simply wait forever if he had moved this far South from his camp in the deep far North. Dany looked up and saw her dragons flying high in the bright sun. She was keeping her dragons high as they flew over the Fist of the First of the First Men when she sent them north. What happened to Melisandre and Ygritte would not befall her dragons.

Dany looked at the standards on the long pikes of the troop train moving north. She had always loved seeing the flags showing the heraldry of Houses. In Essos they had the same tradition. Even the Lords of Braavos each had their standards. Daenerys saw the standard for House Caron of Nightsong with its helm resting on a yellows shield with purple matins on it. Flowing from the helm was a stylized cloak that tied to a banner below the shield with the house motto “No Song Is Sweet”.

The Queen saw the standard for House Musgood with the traditional Stormlands helm with the stylized cloak in blue and white. The shield had diagonally going top left to bottom war tents and in the opposite direction circlets of traditional small holly.

House Wensington with its motto of “Sound the Charge” came into view. She loved the aggressive motto. It sounded heroic. The colors royal purple and yellow. The war shield covered with three prancing stags on the top and two crossed herald horns below.

House after House came marching by. It filled the Queen’s heart to know that all these Houses were marching to war because of her. The will of Daenerys Targaryen First of Her Name. She truly was the Queen of Westeros. She had organized the lower half of Westeros and marched them up to the north to fight in a war they initially did not believe in. Using a ruse to get them to march against the supposed foe of Eddard Stark.
The deception had ended at the Neck. Now all of Westeros marched north with one purpose. To defeat the Ice King. The Queen had done her work well.

In five days’ time it would be time to leave and march forth to destiny. She felt a calm come over her. Her will to win and succeed hid any nervousness or fear. That would rise up as she rode into battle but she would suppress that when the time came. One should always go to battle with a healthy dose of fear. It kept one sharp and staying sharp kept one alive.

Daenerys Targaryen went into Winterfell and walked out to the many immense practice yards. She was still awed the sheer size of Winterfell. King’s Landing was much larger of course but it was a thriving metropolis. Winterfell was a castle that was thinly populated compared to King’s Landing. It would seem even more sparse when many of its current inhabitants departed when the Queen’s forces left to go war.

Dany walked around until she found Arya. She was fighting with Syrio against two of the Haruchai. Jeertel and Fheisel were throwing themselves with seeming reckless abandon at the two master swordsman. Arya and Syrio were barely holding their own against the whirling slashing attacks of the Haruchai. Bannor stepped away from Dany and offered to spare with her. He of course would not show it and never admit it but Dany knew it rankled him that she had defeated him the first time they had sparred.

She accepted his challenge and for the next half hours Dany felt the pure exhilaration of combat. She did not have to hold back with Bannor. There only a handful of men and Arya and Brienne that she could say that about. She enjoyed going full speed and with all her strength. She had no armor on and the Haruchai disdained it as well. The Haruchai fought silently of course while their opponents grunted, exclaimed in consternation or elation and generally just cursed like drunken sailors fighting desperately at times to fend off the always aggressive Haruchai.

It had been a draw for her again with Bannor though he had almost gotten through her guard twice. She saw that Syrio had scored a “kill” and Arya was fuming that Jeertel had gotten through her defense for her own “kill”. All the combatants given it their all. “I want a rematch! You cheated!” Arya had shouted slashing her swords back and forth in the air throwing a temper tantrum.

“Haruchai do not cheat” was Jeertel’s calm reply. That was the simple fact. The Haruchai were incapable of it.

“Well … I I well … damnit; I want a rematch!”

Dany had sat and watched amused as another five minutes was spent to a draw between the two. Arya could live with a draw. Jeertel had cocked an eyebrow when Arya said it was a draw and they could stop now. Dany knew that Arya would have fought throughout the night to get her ‘draw’. She really hated to lose.

They rested and ate some food out of a basket that a steward brought out to the combatants. Arya and Dany sat side by side nibbling on dates and raisins and ate a sandwich of roast beef, mayonnaise, mustard, and cheese with lots of pepper. Dany loved it. They drank several glasses of sweet cold water.

Then she fought Syrio and Barristan with Arya by her side. It had been great as they fought with practice swords that pages brought out for them.

The sound of vicious wood hitting wood echoed off the walls. Her and Arya kept Barristan and Syrio on the defense. Arya was their pure equal now and once when Barristan had Dany on the defense she had shoved Syrio back and gone tearing into Barristan making him back off his attack Dany to defend himself. Arya pivoted around and took on Syrio to keep him at bay. Dany now on her balance and ready for Barristan’s renewed assault. Seeing her Direwolf come to her defense made the Valyrian’s heart go pitter-patter.

Dany loved how she and Arya fought so well on the battlefield. Each instinctively covering for the other. Dany was locked up with Syrio’s sword grunting. Arya and she were their own water dancers on the field of battle. In the bedroom they became ballet dancers who knew how to give each other ecstasy over and over. Gods she loved sucking off Arya! Her muscle memory and extreme skills letting Dany’s mind wonder for brief snippets between fierce engagements.

She nearly got “killed” by Syrio barely twisting away from a lunge of his wooden rapier. She had better focus. She gritted her teeth and worked hard to keep Syrio off balance. On balance the fight had been neutral. His water dance had always been harder for the Queen to fight. She much preferred to fight broadsword to broadsword style like she did with Barristan.

Dany knew though that fighting with Syrio made her a much better fighter. It taught her to how to fight against dissimilar fighting styles. She would be able to fight and win against a water dancer in the future if they met. If she fought a water dancer who knew her style it would even out but if the man only knew rapiers then she would have the advantage.

They fought for another hour changing off fighting partners. Dany was exhilarated. She had another reason to be excited. They had been fighting near the Guards Hall which would still be mostly empty in the early afternoon with meals being served in the Great Keep and in the camps outside the castle walls plus the eateries in Winter Town.

After their practice sessions had finished, she took Arya by the hand guiding her to the lesser used yards and barracks. Dany entered a building that while well maintained it was obviously not heavily used. Many of the oil lamps not lit and fireplaces empty. She took Arya to the end of the long hall in the section that appeared to sparsely used with many finding lodging in the barracks tents or in town.

Arya went to the fireplace and put in kindling and used the matches in the small box to the side to light the kindling. Soon a fire was started and Arya added logs to the fire from the large stack of wood beside the mantel. Arya took a log just catching to light the second fireplace in the room. Soon it was roaring. Dany sat down on a cot.

For a while the two women sat side by side as the room warmed up. They had pulled the cot to be in front of the first fireplace. Dany removed her vest and started to unbutton her blouse. She pulled out a small bottle from her trousers pocket.

“My shoulder is taunt Arya. Can you give me a massage?” This section of the barracks quarters were fairly warm with the large fires roaring in the fireplaces. The Queen made a show of her shoulder hurting her hand rising up to massage the supposedly aching joint. Arya gave her a big radiant smile. The smile saying this time I know what to do my love. Arya’s eyes were drooping with lust.

Arya stopped Dany’s hand and sat behind her love. She put the bottle of oil beside her leg and moved in close to Dany. Arya finished undressing her lover’s top. Her hands not avoiding Dany’s breast now and she gently massaged them making her slut moan in wanton need. Arya then put massage oil on her hands.

Daenerys smiled. This time her wolf knew exactly what to do using the warmed oil she had rubbed into her hands to stroke and massage Dany’s shoulder and then her breast. Her hands working her shoulder loose and then sensually working the oil slicked breast of the Queen. Her thumbs and fingers pinching and pulling on the Queen’s nipples making her groan gutturally deep in her chest.

Soon Arya was naked between Dany’s legs sucking Dany off her oiled fingers furiously fucking her swollen quim pounding two devastating orgasms from Dany’s cunt. Then Arya sat on Dany’s face and swirled her swollen twat into Dany’s mouth to a shrieking orgasm. Then they ate each other out in sixty-nine lying on their sides faces between thighs gobbling sweet wet red gash. Dany thought Arya’s thighs would make her eardrums burst she squeezed her head so hard in her orgasm. That sent Dany over the precipice of screaming ecstasy. Their camel toes swallowing their shrieks of ecstasy and pure love.

As they left they saw Barristan on his back on a cot on the other side of the room near the other fireplace. He was as naked as he had been on his name day. On his still hard stomach was Marleya Blackmyre’s ass. The woman equally naked. Barristan had his legs spread his bent knees up and feet on the cot. Marleya had her feet on his knees her palms by his ears. He had a grip on her ribs beneath her armpits. He was slamming his cock hard and deep up her greasy cunt hole. His cock slavered with milky cum to a cunt ring at the base of his dick.

The two women silently dressed watching the hot fuck before them. Arya may not want to show her body off yet but she did not mind watching other people fuck hotly. Marleya’s pussy was slurping wetly now. Her body hitching and her breathing ragged. She had reached down with one had to rub her clit.

Marleya did not see the two women in front of her enjoying the show. Her eyes squeezed tight shut her body gasping for breath dripping sweat. Then her face seemed to fall apart and loud screams filled the hall as Barristan roared slamming his cock up hard and then holding it deep in his woman’s belly as he screamed hard emptying his nut sack in Marelya’s womb. She collapsed back beside him and their mouths came together and kissed deep as they both shook and shuddered with aftershocks.

Dany could tell Arya was horny again. So was she! Gods she was going to fuck Arya so good with her strap-on cock when they returned to King’s Landing! For now she had her fist when the time was right. Maybe she would ‘borrow’ some of Margaery and Sansa’s dildos. She paused. She would have to think on that. They hurried out hand in hand heading for Arya’s bedroom.

Margaery

Margaery was walking around in her mother-in-law’s bedroom with Brandon in her arms. He was awake and looking up at her with his big blue eyes. He was squirming and moving his head around. He made little baby noises. It was really amazing to see this little miracle of creation. He was so small. It was a wonder to think that this little bundle of joy that she could rest his head on her fingers and his butt on her forearm just past her wrist would one day grow up to be a strapping man.

She reached down with her finger and tickled his neck underneath his chin. He gurgled and jerked. He drooled a little bit and she took the edge of the blanket and dabbed up the slobber. The baby was in a loose cotton tunic that covered the baby from neck to his feet. The cloth only slightly synched around his body. He had a knit wool cap on his head to prevent heat loss. He was kicking a little in the swaddling used to keep him bundled up. This kept him warm and safe. He looked around without really focusing on anything. He was still in that truly infant phase where he was basically in instinct mode of fed me and clean up my poop phase. He was just so cute about it!

Catelyn was sitting in a chair by the fire. She was softly moving the little girl from side to side in her cupped arms singing a wordless tune to the child. Lyanna was also awake. She was a little more fussy kicking and her little arms jerking around. Cat bent down and talked to her new daughter.
making little baby noises and telling her newborn how beautiful and perfect she was. The baby gurgled a response and jerked her arms around. Margaery was not sure that was agreement or not.

It pleased Margaery to see her second mother so fully recovered. She had to again marvel at the Ur-viles and Waynhyn that had appeared from nowhere to save Catelyn Stark. She had tried to refuse what her eyes told her that day but it was obvious that sweet Cat was going to perish along with her children tough no one had known she had twins in her womb. Margaery could still see clearly in her mind’s eye the thick oaken door slammed off its hinges and sliding across the floor ten feet.

Then seeing demons from a Stygian Hell step into the room. The fact that Kiserri and Dany seemed to know them was shocking. Then the Ur-viles had been joined by creatures that looked much like them named Waynhyn. She had been prepared to scream in panic at these warped creatures unlooked for appearance.

Thank the gods that Eddard was there. The father of Sansa seemed to be able to size up any situation and make the right call. He had correctly seen the whole situation and let the seeming demons help his wife. They had not only saved her but the children through eldritch and medical skills that made the Maester’s seem anemic.

It had been Eddard’s sudden appearance that brought calm out of chaos. He had immediately calmed the sea of confusion raging in the room. It had been his force of will that bent all to what needed to be done to save his wife and children from imminent death.

The Haruchai had been on the cusp of violence with Jon’s wives, Melisandre and Ygritte, and yet, with one command from Eddard Stark they backed down and followed his will without question. His command presence filled any room he was in.

Margaery hated to be so truthful but Eddard Stark shamed her father. She knew that her father would have been totally overwhelmed by the situation of Cat’s life faltering and her giving birth to her children obviously leading to her and the unborn child’s death. He would have frozen. Margaery knew it. She knew her father. He would not have been able to make command decisions and keep the air in the room calm like Eddard had. Eddard Stark had been the eye of the hurricane. The winds of rancor and discord beat upon Eddard’s manly frame and broke. He brought calm and succor.

It really did seem like the gods had interceded on behalf of Catelyn. It took many forces coming together at the right time to save her life. Forces that had come from the dark lands of Asshai and only the seven gods knew where the Ur-viles and Waynhyn had come from. Margaery shook her head. What was truly important to her was that the woman who was like a second mother already to Margaery was alive and safe.

The Ur-viles and Waynhim had appeared and disappeared in and out of the Godswood on their own schedule. They would come running out of the scared groove on all fours barking and baying wildly at each other and anything else they ran by. Eddard had decreed the creatures would have full access to Winterfell and all of the North if they chose. Margaery had come to know these creatures were initially created by strange beings who animated the dead to transverse the world. They had been called the Demondim. Thus, these creatures collectively were called Demondim spawn as they were in their way the offspring of the Demondim.

The Demondim spawn would run up to Catelyn’s room and do what they came to do all the while arguing and bumping into each other. They seemed to always be on the verge of fighting but the Lord Lustra told her that this was natural for the Ur-vile and Waynhim. Their collective Wurd and Weird was very complex and saw the future, past and present as one. This seemed to lead them to constantly arguing.
The creatures would finish their work and then run pell-mell back to the Godswood and disappeared into the wild tangled growth on the north side of the sacred groove. Many had gone to see if they could spot the creatures. They could not be seen but were often heard at all times of the day and night howling and yelping.

Four days ago it became clear they had left. No more rushed visits and no more wild braying in the Godswood. It was strange to Margaery. When the Demondim spawn had first appeared they had seemed horrid to her eyes. Soon though, they had come to seem as natural as any of them. She no longer started seeing them appear. They came to seem natural to Margaery though Lustra had told the denizens of Westeros that they were ‘created’ and not born. They were purely creatures of magic. Yet, they were as alive as any of them. She would miss them.

In a way, it was good they were gone though Margaery realized. They had left because Catelyn and her children were no longer in danger. They had answered Daenerys’s summon and now had left. Margaery had mused on this watching her second mother tending her new daughter.

She saw her mother-in-law stop her talking to Lyanna and brought up to her face the gurgling baby who was beginning to fuss. She bent and sniffed wrinkling her nose. “I do think that you have given me another unfortunate surprise young lady!” Catelyn told the baby in a humorous affectionate tone.

The new mother got up from her chair and went to the changing table that had been setup. The young nurse maid on station got up and pulled out a fresh diaper. The young girl smiled at the baby put on the table. Margaery could see that the girl was anxious to change the diaper but Catelyn only smiled at the girl and began to expertly undo the safety pins.

Margaery stood behind her mother-in-law’s shoulder observing. When Catelyn unpinned the diaper Margaery saw a most vile concoction in the diaper and the smell was something awful. Catelyn looked over her shoulder and smiled at her daughter-in-law. She knew Catelyn Stark found it amusing how ill Margaery was feeling at the moment. Margaery was holding her breath now with one hand on her stomach pressing in trying to calm the storm now roiling in her stomach.

For the life of Margaery she could not understand why Catelyn Stark did not hand this chore off to the young girl who was clearly anxious to do the task if asked. Margaery knew she was not very maternal but she really saw no reason for having to soil oneself when you were a high royal. She did not want to abuse her station in life but she had absolutely no desire to clean up a baby’s poop. Why not take advantage of one’s station! Baby’s poop was a most horrid thing Margaery had determined.

She had made the mistake of telling her mother-in-law this yesterday when Brandon had deposited pure evilness in his diaper. Catelyn had grabbed her by the arm and guided a now panicked Margaery into first un-swaddling Brandon and the unclipping the pins.

“Mother … I think I have seen enough!”

“Oh puulleaseeee Margaery—it is only a dirty diaper. We all have to poop Margaery.”

Margaery had thought that was a most unfair comment from Catelyn. She used a toilet or a chamber pot if one was not available thank you very much.

Margaery was getting a little ill unveiling the evilness that had lain hidden. She was instructed on how to softly grip Brandon’s ankles and left him up and used the damp cloth to clean his rump and groin of poop. She was swaying on her feet now. She was been told breast feeding kept the smell down. If that was so, then she did not want to smell a baby’s poop who was not breast fed! She was gagging! Her stomach felt like it might come up. She put her hand over her mouth.

She saw the pitying look on her second mother’s face.

She did not care! She was in desperate straits. She was about to hurl! Thank the gods the woman took pity on her and took over finishing the diaper change. Margaery staggered over to the nearest chair. She plopped down unceremoniously. She did not care! She fanned herself. She had the vapors!

Today she kept quiet while Catelyn changed Lyanna’s diaper. Catelyn hummed and cooed to the newborn babe. It was obvious that her mother-in-law truly enjoyed the act of caring for her newborn. Margaery could understand the nursing of her twins. It was intimate and also pleasurable but not taking care of the other end of a baby. There was some things that were simply to shocking to contemplate Margaery had come to know.

“I am so anxious to see you wed to my daughter Margaery” Catelyn told Margaery as she was putting the new diaper on a squirming Lyanna. Catelyn was bending down to make little baby noises at the little baby girl. Margaery doubted that the baby understood her. Lyanna was cooing and kicking her limbs really active though. “I have some ideas that will incorporate the Glass Gardens and the Godswood. I think it will be so beautiful. You and Sansa I know will dress in traditional marriage dresses full of lace and pleats. You two will be so beautiful.”

The Tyrell liked that idea a lot. She loved to dress up all girlie. She was definitely all girl when it came to being and dressing like a woman. She was a femme and loved dressing up and putting makeup on. She knew that Daenerys also loved to dress up, put her hair up and put on makeup. She was a warrior who cleaned up real well into a beauteous vision all dolled up. Margaery smiled wickedly. She knew one teenager who definitely did not fit that line of thinking.

Margaery watched Catelyn snort softly. “I know Alys will also want to wear traditional fare. It is Arya and Daenerys that I have to worry about. Arya definitely wears the skirt in that relationship. Daenerys is the ‘man’ in the relationship. I don’t suppose it matters as much as what she wears, though I do want her to wear a bridal dress too. I mean we have to have something to ripe off in the bedding ceremony. I missed that with Eddard. He would have died from it.”

Margaery was happy that Catelyn was opening up to her. Hearing her mother-in-law talking even vaguely salaciously made Margaery smile and feel more connected to Catelyn. “So you never had a bedding ceremony?”

“No. Most of the men were off to war and Riverrun was on a war footing. He did wisk me off my feet and carry me off to bed but no ribald antics and no ripping off of my clothes by the women as the men made catcalls. I had dreamed of that. Eddard came and did his duty only. He had to rush off to war. He probably would have had a heart attack anyways. I fear my husband is quite unimaginative when it comes being adventurous. He is an exquisite lover in bed but I sometimes still long for more.”

“I am not the prude I may seem today. I love that you have brought out the lustful nature in Sansa. I had forgotten that part of myself. Brandon was adventurous but he died before his time and Eddard performed his brother’s duty. Eddard is a sweet man and very good in bed but … well—doing wild stuff especially in front of others is just not his cup of tea.” Catelyn had finished changing Lyanna’s diaper and sat looking off into space not seeing the present with a wistful look on her face.

An idea appeared and took root in Margaery’s head. She would discuss it with Sansa.

Catelyn turned her head and looked intently at Margaery “I thank you for opening up Sansa’s world Margaery. I see now I was so limiting Sansa and Arya. You have made her into a master tactician and an adroit player of the Game of Thrones. I was just going to limit her to—I-I-I don’t know. She would have been so much less. And Arya … it was Eddard that saw her as the Queen’s wife—not I. I tried to break her from the sword. I tried to make her a ‘lady’ and she was never meant to be one. She was always meant to be a mighty warrior. I tried to crush her” Catelyn’s voice trailed off.

Margaery got up from the chair she was in. She sensed a storm coming. She started to move to her second mother.

In a soft haunted voice Catelyn continued her now pained soliloquy “And the way I treated Jon. I treated him cruel and mean at every turn Margaery. I hated him. He was a sign of my husband’s infidelity. The great Eddard Stark had committed adultery. And the man would not even keep his bastard away from me. I felt like he was rubbing my nose in his infidelity. I hated Jon and I tried to get my children to hate him too.” Catelyn looked off into space and saw nothing in the room. Then her face took on a stricken look.

“I hated him and he was INNONCENT! He was not a bastard! And even if he was a bastard did he deserve the way I treated him! I treated my two daughters like cows to be sold off! I was a horrible mother!” Catelyn Stark’s face now was filled with self-revulsion. Her voice had scaled up and was breaking. Great sobs wracked the older woman’s slight frame.

Margaery was stunned at this display by the normally controlled and taciturn woman. Catelyn was sobbing hard now her shoulders shaking violently. Her chest heaved with chest rattling sobs of guilt and self-loathing. She had moved close to Catelyn standing just behind her now. Margaery sensed that Catelyn needed to lance this boil on her soul and let it drain. Catelyn needed to get these dark emotions exposed to the light and begin to exorcize them.

“How can Eddard even look at me with the way I treated his son! I know now Jon is not his son but Eddard treated him as such. Sansa and Arya should hate me! I tried to break their will. If not for Eddard you would not be here now and Sansa would not beaming with pure happiness. If not for Eddard, Arya would not have captured Daenerys heart and I would be dead. I would have deserved such a fate if that would not have meant the death of my sweet Brandon and Lyanna.”

Margaery enfolded her mother-in-law in her arms and pulled her tight to her body and cooed to her like she was a newborn and stroked her back. She let Catelyn cry on her shoulder for a few minutes she knew she needed to let the woman get the first rush of her self-loathing out of her system.

“I was raised to do my duty. I had no problem with doing it. It was how I was raised. It felt right and natural to me. So I tried to raise my own daughters to follow in my footsteps. I could not see … no, I refused to see that they were nothing like me. Sansa I cowed and Arya I enraged. Thank the gods that Eddard was their father. It was he that let them seek out their own true destiny.” Lyanna had gone to sleep not sensing that the motions rocking her to sleep were her mother’s wracking sobs as guilt consumed her mother.

Margaery gently took Lyanna from Catelyn’s slack grasp. She walked the baby over to the crib where Brandon was sleeping silently. While she did this Catelyn continued to sob and cry with tears streaming down her cheeks and now running down her throat and dripping off her jaw.

Margaery returned to her mother-in-law and guided her to the small sofa on the back wall. She sat Catelyn down and then sat down beside her and gently enfolded the older woman in her arms and rocked gently the sobbing woman. She petted Catelyn’s back and hummed softly to her. When the initial storm had passed Margaery told Catelyn “Don’t be so hard on yourself mother.” She felt Catelyn hug her hard at the endearment. “Eddard is a great man but he should have had the strength to believe in you to tell you the truth. I know he did it to spare you in case the truth came out but I doubt Robert would have been understanding. He was too emotional and easily riled and stuck on the House Targaryen. Eddard should have told you the truth.”

“By Eddard not telling you the truth of Jon’s parentage he set forth events that he could not control. He deprived you the ability to decide for yourself how to meet the truth. He failed you mother.”

“But I think the fates have their own way of working mother. Think on this. If you had not been as you were to Jon he would not be at the Wall now. He is Azor Ahai reborn Catelyn. He was meant to be at the Wall. I think he had to be at the Wall. Sansa has told me how you were.” She felt Catelyn start to cry again. She hugged and rocked the remorseful woman. She sighed. She had to tell the truth in this place. Winterfell was not a place of deception and lies.

“Yes you were at times cruel to Jon—but it was necessary Catelyn. Do you hear me—it was necessary!”

She felt Catelyn sniffle and pull back to look at Margaery questioningly. She was sniffling but trying to compose herself now. Margaery took a breath. The storm had blown through. There might be a few more storm fronts that might blow through but the initial one had passed and healing could begin.

Margaery repeated herself to make her point absolutely clear “Jon had to be at the Wall. He had to be the man that you helped form” she held her hand up to pause Catelyn who was about to argue. “Jon is Eddard’s son in heart if not body but you also helped raise the boy into a man Catelyn. You were the fire that harden Jon into Valyrian steel. He was made strong by the fires he endured here Catelyn. Also, the man not only made one witch his wife but two beautiful red headed women his wives. They adore your son Jon, Catelyn. I think your treatment of Jon put him in touch with his feminine side. You made him gentle Catelyn. You made him into the man that made two strong women want to share their lives with him.”

“My grandmother knows a little of these witches from Asshai. They are called ShadowBenders. They keep to the shadows and keep themselves apart from the paths of mortal man. Yet these two witches have chosen to marry Jon. I think you are part of that reason. Most men are so full of male ego that it makes them vain and venal. I think you helped Jon to see that he did not desire to become like those men.”

“With Sansa and Arya you made two fine women that easily ensnared the heart of myself and the heart of the Queen. You gave them strength. With Arya it was always visible and with Sansa it only took a little more time for it come to the fore.”

“The poets write that it takes fire and strife for a person to rise above themselves. Unbeknownst to all that is what you did Catelyn.”

“You made mistakes in the past Catelyn but you recognize them now. That is something that almost no one ever does. I doubt I would. You see the errors of the past. Do not repeat them and make up for that past Catelyn. You have the opportunity with Brandon and Lyanna to apply the lessons you have learned. Sansa and Arya love you. Show them the love you have in your heart for them and continue to support them as you have come to do.

“I think you will see Jon again. Play it by ear my second mother. Jon is a giving soul. I feel he will freely forgive you as will his wives. Melisandre and Ygritte threw themselves totally into saving you and your newborns Catelyn. You have been given a second chance. Take that opportunity and run with it Catelyn.”

At that moment Sansa came in. Catelyn got up from the bed and went to Sansa. She hugged her tall daughter fiercely. Sansa looked over at Margaery over her mother’s head with a look of startlement. Sansa hugged her mother back when Margaery motioned at her to hug her mother. Margaery’s mother-in-law melted into Sansa’s strong embrace. Sansa gave her mother love unconditionally. Catelyn leaned into the embrace soaking up her daughter’s love and support.

Catelyn told Sansa she had been so wrong to try and force her to marry a man she did not love. She knew now that Sansa was gay and loved women. She was not some miller’s daughter with no options. Catelyn told her eldest daughter she had been blinded by how she was raised and cruelly tried to bend her daughters to her will and not let them follow the path that their own hearts desired. Sansa’s mother begged Sansa to forgive her.

Sansa was unsure but she hugged her mother and kissed the top of her head. “I forgive you mother. You were merely doing as you were raised.” She pulled back and looked at her mother. “In the end you let me follow my heart mother. You let me take Margaery as my wife to be.”

Sansa hugged her mother and told her that her upbringing had made her a royal princess that captured the heart of her true love. It just happened to be a woman. She hugged her mother tighter “And you let me follow my heart in the end. You did not fight father and go to the nobles sowing dissension and anger in them. You allowed me to win them over mother and I will always be thankful for that. In the end, you did not let how you were raised keep you from letting me find my own path. For that I am thankful. Many mothers would not have done so. I know that.”

Catelyn sniffled and hugged her daughter back thankful for the forgiving words of her daughter. Margaery was happy that her future wife so easily forgave her mother. It was one of the qualities that so made her love her wife to be. She would be a good counterbalance to her darker tendencies. Sansa in many ways did not have a mean spirited bone in her body. She was strong and capable but her pleasant disposition made Sansa a force for good in this world.

“IIIIIII need to tell you something mother.” Sansa was gnawing her lower lips but was looking resolute.

Margaery’s eyes flared. Her wolf was becoming quite aggressive. She shivered inside. Her pussy was getting wet. She loved Sansa being aggressive.

Catelyn heard the tone and looked at her daughter. She saw Margaery come beside her daughter and take her hand. She pressed into Sansa’s side and she looked at Catelyn. Now was a good time to test Catelyn’s resolve. She would not normally want another to know her personal matters but Sansa wanted to let her mother know of her future relationship with Margaery and her hens. Margaery felt safe in letting Catelyn know this now. The Starks were honor personified and Starks were good at keeping secrets if told in confidence. Honor demanded it.

Also, Margaery was curious to see how Catelyn would take the tidbit she was about to receive. She knew that Eddard would blush and stammer like he did with anything sexual but would accept it as long as all parties were old enough to truly consent and wanted to partake of any type of polyamorous relationships. It really was their choice.

“Margaery grew up making love to her handmaidens. There are eight of them. I plan to wed them as well. Margaery is my royal wife and wife of my heart but I will take her handmaidens as my other wives. I will give them my heart as they will give me theirs. I have enough room in my heart to love Margaery and her handmaidens. I will be making love to all of them mother. We will share one large bed in our royal bedchambers. I will never know which women I will be making love to each night. Hopefully all of them!”

Margaery looked up at her sweet wolf. She was definitely going to be the wolf in the chicken coop.
She looked back at Catelyn. She had been shocked but shook her head and smiled. She shook her head and her lips worked for a moment without any words. Catelyn Stark shook her head again. “Well my daughter … I admire your stamina.” Catelyn then laughed. “That is going to be a lot of estrogen my daughter. I hope you all plan on fucking each other hard each night. It will take you all fucking each other constantly to keep peace in your brood I think. You cannot play favorites if you want this to work daughter. That is a lot fucking you are committing too Sansa.” Catelyn had an evil smile on her face.

Sansa’s eyes flared open wide as her mother spoke. “Mother!” Sansa continued to gape at her mother.

“Oh pleaaaaaee I am not a total prude Sansa. I was young once and filled with randy desires. In a way I envy you. To freely express the physical aspects of love. I was denied that. I was too duty bound to think of any other course.” Catelyn paused. Her eyes looked forward but were unfocused. “I kept myself pure. I did practice kissing with Petyr and Lysa though. She was quite good at it.”

Sansa stared at her mother as if poleaxed.

“Did you like it? Did you think of sleeping with her Catelyn?” Margaery asked her mother-in-law.

“Margaery!” Sansa exclaimed. “That is my mother!”

“Did you?” she asked Catelyn Stark again.

“Yes I did enjoy kissing Lysa and no I did not think of sleeping with my sister Margaery. The thought would have been foreign to me then. Now? I don’t know. Not now with the person Lysa has become I can assure you. And, yes, before you ask I do sometimes wonder about not knowing any man but Eddard but we are happy and in love with each other. We made our choices and have made it work. Your father is quite skilled in bed. I just wish he was more adventurous in the sack.”

“Mother!” Sansa exclaimed now fanning herself. “You are giving me the vapors mother!”

Margaery snorted seeing her mother-in-law roll her eyes at her eldest daughter. “I am a woman Sansa … anyways … I hope you know what you are getting into. I am sure that these handmaidens are evert bit as voracious as you and will be quite demanding. Are you up to the challenge daughter?”

Margaery felt Sansa’s spine stiffen.

“I think I will be able to keep Margaery and her hens in line mother.”

Catelyn cocked an eyebrow at that but saw Margaery nearly melting into Sansa with her proud declaration. Maybe she could. Catelyn smiled lovingly at her daughter. She had become quite the powerful woman indeed.

Arya and Daenerys came into the room do a check up on Arya’s new siblings. Margaery saw Catelyn getting weepy again. She rushed over to Arya and hugged her second oldest daughter hard to her body and begged her for forgiveness. Arya looked shocked. She turned to Dany with a ‘help’ me look on her face but the Queen stepped back and smiled sweetly at her wife. She wanted to see how her wife handled the situation.

Where Sansa had known what to say Arya stammered and looked around with big eyes. She was spooked and looked to Dany for help again. Margaery shook her head. She had heard from moths in her grandmother’s service of how Arya on her trip from Winterfell to King’s Landing had fought valiantly on the river frigate killing many of the brigands herself.

Arya had then gone into the throne room of the Queen of Westeros and fired arrows at her. She had fought her hard with swords and when her sword was taken she had not given up and instead punched the Queen in the face which led to a wild fight on the throne room floor.

The girl was fearless but now she looked like a deer staring at a slavering Direwolf. Arya petted her crying mother on the back and continued to stammer and look totally flummoxed. Her face and neck scarlet. Catelyn was becoming more distraught not being comforted by her middle daughter. Margaery could see Daenerys assessing the situation with a look of concern coming on her face. She was realizing like Margaery had that on the battlefield Arya was a warrior born but when it came to emotions and how to deal with them she was not quite a champion.

Daenerys listened for a minute. She saw that Arya was floundering. She then stepped in. She came up beside the Stark mother and wrapped an arm around Catelyn and hugged her. Catelyn leaned into the Queen gratefully. Arya taking her cue from her lover more fully hugged her mother giving her the forgiveness she craved and needed. Daenerys told Catelyn that she had fashioned the perfect woman to love her. She told Catelyn that Arya was fierce but had a royal decorum about her. She and Eddard had made the perfect wife for her. She would hold Catelyn Stark close in her heart for sending her future wife to her.

Margaery admired how Dany subtly changed the facts and Catelyn took the words to her heart. The shaken woman was grateful to have a positive spin placed on her past actions. Catelyn with her actions had helped to create the young woman who was a fierce Direwolf but also a genteel young woman in some ways. It was the combination of the two seeming contradictory aspects that had so totally captured the Queen’s heart.

They helped Catelyn Stark to feel loved and that her daughters had fully forgiven any past conflicts. Catelyn Stark became stronger knowing she had been forgiven. All the women in the room were willing to put past the behind them and to move forward in positive directions.

They went to the bassinet that held the sleeping twins. The Queen led Arya to bend down. They picked up the little sleeping twins. Margaery smiled at how Arya still acted like she was terrified she would drop the little bundles of new life. Dany easily held Brandon and cooed and clucked over him while Arya very carefully rocked Lyanna.

Margaery felt sorry for Dany. It seemed like she had the maternal impulse that she did not have. She was barren. Dany made it clear though she did not consider herself cursed. She had a daughter and her name was Kiserri. The thought of her unconditional love for the Dothraki girl made the Tyrell’s heart quiver. So many parents did not love the children of their own body she thought. Dany had chosen to love the Dothraki girl and loved her totally.

After being with Catelyn Stark the two sisters left with their lovers. Dany, Sansa, Missandei and Margaery had a meeting with Sansa’s father. Arya hurried away to go practice more on her sword work with whomever she could find to practice with. She simply hated anything to do with meetings or the Game of Thrones. Eddard and Daenerys wanted to go over supplies and the schedules for consumption and the bringing in of more food staples that Daenerys was purchasing in the markets of Essos and shipping them across the Narrow Sea up the coast to the beachheads the Queen had established in the North and also ports on the Three Sisters.

The food was both for the war effort and to provide plenty of food stocks for the people of the north in case of a severe winter.
In the meeting they discussed all this. Eddard had gone over the storage of the food stocks that had been brought north. The castles of the Nights Watch all had basements. The ones in the new reopened forts had been empty of course. No longer. All the cellars of all the forts had been filled to the brim with salted and pickled meat. Vegetables that could be dry stored were stuffed into warrens. Racks of salted beef was in the camps forming for the troops and mercenaries coming in from Essos.

All the soldiers manning the forts and the forces in the field being held for maneuver would be well fed. The Queen was an absolute believer in the saying that an army fought on its stomach. If they were well fed with nutritious meals that were tasteful to eat then those soldiers would be full of energy and ready to fight in the coming battles.

Livestock that had been brought up were in corrals and only being consumed every fifth day. The special meals building moral and saving the livestock. If the war was short as all thought it would be the animals could be returned and gifted to farmsteads. This would further build trust in the new Queen.

Margaery had to marvel at Daenerys Targaryen the First of Her Name. She never missed an opportunity to further her ties to the people. So many rulers would be tempted to keep all or a large percentage of the largesse for themselves. For their enrichment. Not this woman. She was clearly the ruler of Westeros and much of Esso but she truly seemed to have the best interests of the realm in her heart.

Dany worked to increase her power and prestige but she seemed to always have the goal to use that power to better the welfare of her people. Gods knew that Robert Baratheon did not. Sad to say she doubted whether her father would have sought the good of the ‘people’. She knew of only one other Great House leader who would. Eddard Stark. To be at the table with both great leaders was a little intoxicating. It gave her a goal to strive for.

Her grandmother she thought would do the right thing in the end but she feared what she might do with the wrong incentive. Olenna was like to many rulers. She was liable to be to easily led from the goal of noble service. Her grandmother was too easily enamored with intrigue and statecraft.
Margaery knew the realm with these two leading it was in good hands.

They discussed how they had the quartermasters at each camp tracking all consumption and cataloging the arrival of new stocks. The primary convoys had already passed Winterfell. The stocks of food would last for the next six months. Still, Eddard and Daenerys wanted to keep organizing and sending up more convoys with the seeming slow movement of the Ice King.

Eddard and Daenerys had started to worry that the Ice King was trying some subtle strategy where he would have his enemy waste their supplies and become complacent in their continuous state of waiting. The undead did not eat and the Ice Wrights seemed to feed from their father. If feeding it was. It seemed to have some ritualistic bonding to Eddard. He could not be sure though.

“I want to ask you all what you think the Ice King is up to. Daenerys and I are warriors. We look at things in a certain fashion. We wonder if the three of you have another insight. You are not blinded by military training and dogma.”

The three non-warriors looked at each other.

Missandei spoke up “He is planning something. An Army even one of the undead will atrophy if it remains static for a long period of time. His sons are bonded with their father but all links can fray.
It makes no sense to move so far from his base if he was not going to attack. Therefore, he must have a plan. We must prepare for the unexpected.”
Sansa rolled her eyes. Missandei was stating the obvious. The Ice King had been fighting a hit and run strategy against the Crows and Wildlings for years. He had abandon that strategy for a visible bold showing of his force. Why show himself if he was not willing to attack. “We need to know what it is. We need to find out what it is.”

They all looked at each other. “I agree he is planning some chicanery” Daenerys spoke up. “The only problem is we cannot guess it. I am convinced that the horn he wears around his neck is indeed the Horn of Winter. It is real. He will use it but I am not sure what that really accomplishes. The Wall will still be hundreds of feet tall and a totally wild jumbled maze if it falls. We can pick off his undead as they navigate the debris. They are slow and clumsy to begin with. Navigating the fallen Wall will make them many times worse in their sense of balance. They will be setting ducks as the saying goes.”

“I have wondered if the Horn of Winter might accomplish its goal through other means. If the Wall melts it would wash away his army and totally disorganize it and give our forces all the time needed to annihilate it almost at our leisure.”

“Tactically, he achieves very little if we have pulled away from the Wall. We would not lose any forces and he would put mighty new obstacles in the path of his own forces. I believe the felling of the Wall would be more of a physiological blow than anything. The loss of life if we had our forces on the Wall would be grievous but we will not have our forces on the Wall.”

“He must be planning some attack that will catch us unaware” Daenerys said.

“How will he do that? He must pass through the Wall to do that” Daenerys asked out loud to prompt thought. “The Wall is to well warded. We are constantly monitoring the Wall for climbers or patrols approaching the wall. My dragons are flying over the Wall on their way north and south. As we approach I will have them over and along the Wall constantly. We will not be caught unaware.”

They continued to discuss the matter further to exam it from all angles. All thought the Ice King had some plan but none could fathom it. How could he surprise them when a seven hundred foot Wall was between the Ice King and them? They would see his immense army approaching. It was simply too big to miss once out in the open. The limited patrols of the Crows should be warning enough.

They would prepare their forces to react at a moment’s notice and go from there. There was nothing else they could do.

The meeting let out and they left the meeting room. Eddard went to go see his wife and newborn children. He told them he wanted to impress them in his memory. He would not be seeing them in the coming months.

Dany walked off quickly looking to join Arya. She hated to be away from her woman.

Missandei said she was going back to her room. She was obviously pining for the strange woman who was helping her from the shadows. Margaery thought this woman was not worthy of Missandei if she was not willing to come to the young scribe and love the sweet young teenager. This mystery woman would first seem to come to Missandei and then disappear. She had done this several times and Margaery thought the tart was a fucking tease. The woman must be trash she thought.

Margaery watched the interpreter walk down the hall. Missandei was so sweet and she deserved the best.

She was now walking down the hall holding her love’s hand with interlocked fingers. She loved being able to show her love freely in Winterfell. She knew that here and in King’s Landing she would be free to let all know that the woman at her elbow was her lover. The Queen was going to make so much possible.

Sansa brought up their hands and kissed Margaery’s knuckles. “I love you so much Margaery. I sometimes feel my blood freeze when I think of what would have happened if you had not chosen to visit Winterfell three years ago. My life would be so empty without you in it. I would probably be married off by now to some man I had already grown to detest his touch and know I was duty bound to give myself to him.” Sansa shuddered at the thought.

“I did come Sansa” Margaery answered leaning into her lover. “I had tried to wheedle out of the visit to Winterfell but my grandmother insisted. I too thank the gods that she persisted. You are the mate that I have always longed for. My equal in the Game of Thrones and a woman curious about the world. I love my hens but they are not interested at all in the Game of Thrones and only want to think about the here and now and not about the possible. You want to know the world and work to change it for the better. I need your intelligence and passion for knowledge in my life. I find intelligence to be so sexy my Direwolf.”

Sansa looped her arm around the waist of her lover and wiggled Margaery into her side. Gods Margaery loved it when Sansa held her tight to Sansa’s body. Sansa was being possessive without being a jealous jerk about it. It made her pussy damp like it was now.

“Do you think your hens will really take to me Margaery? That I won’t be the interloper into the close intimate relationship you already have formed with your young handmaidens.”

Margaery now raised their interlocked hands and kissed the back of Sansa hand.

“My sweet wolf. I have shared the letters they have written back. They have swooned over your words of love and lust. They long to give their hot pussies and tight assholes to you Sansa. You will be the wolf in the henhouse. Trust me.”

“You think so?”

“Of course you will be Sansa. You are the perfect loving Lesbian slut.”

Eddard

Eddard left the meeting with the women of his war council. He had wanted to make sure that the logistics were still in place with this slow movements of the Ice King.

He had also plumbed the women about their thoughts on the Ice King. They were right of course. The Ice King had something planned. Daenerys Targaryen had done the right thing in taking Bran to the Tree of Life. If the battle was won on the field of battle then Bran had some larger role to play. Much had been lost in Westeros over centuries by the cruelty and avarice of man. He planned to start changing that in a major way when the war was over.

He was sure Bran would have his part to play even if it was still a mystery for now. If he had gone to the Tree of Life then he most probably had become one with it. His son was a good young man. He would guide the forces of the old gods to help in the restoration of the land. He was sure of it. He could not prove it of course but he felt it in his bones.

Just like he felt it deep in his marrow that the Ice King had some nefarious plan. There had to be a reason why the Ice King so brazenly displayed his forces to his enemies and yet seemingly did Daenerys had grievously wounded him the wives of Jon had proven. Eddard was sure he had learned the mistake of overconfidence. He would strike with overwhelming force this time. The Ice King had experienced the savagery of dragon fire and saw Valyrian steel cut his forces down. Surely, he wanted to avoid this again. Then why was he milling his ass off around the Fist of the First Men. The Ice King was letting all of Westeros and might from Essos gather against him at the Wall. There was more going on here than met the eye. The problem was that Eddard sensed a trap but he could not pierce the veil of deception the Ice King had weaved.

Eddard knew the Ice King had a plan. He only hoped his own and Daenerys Targaryen plans would prove sufficient to countervail the Ice King’s machinations. He had left the meeting room and turned to his left. He wanted to work over the Ice King problem some more before he visited his wife and children. He slowly moved down the halls of Winterfell. The massive black blocks of granite giving the immense Great Keep and other buildings and shield outer walls a sense of permanence. This structure would be here long after he was gone.

He went out the main doors of the Great Keep to the courtyard. He saw little bands of Lords and knights around fires that they used to stay warm. He saw the Haruchai prowling around the periphery always looking for danger. There would be none here in the seat of his power. Still he had heard many times from the Haruchai now “we know caution”.

Some of the Giants had broken out their Diamonddaught. They were drinking heavily and singing loud songs in their native tongue and laughing constantly backslapping each other boisterously.

Eddard stepped out into the courtyard. He looked back up at the Great Keep south tower. Up on it Drogon was curled up asleep. His immense black body folded around itself his wings clasped to this body his long neck wrapped around his body and tucked into the root of his right wing.

He looked around and saw Rhaegal laid out on the south curtain wall asleep. He had several teenage boys climbing up on his immense body. They had strapped on thick leathers to protect them from the heat. Still they were hopping from foot to foot. The dragon did not seem to care that he was being stomped on by the brave boys.

He looked across the courtyard near the stables and smithy. He saw Barristan going through his fighting dance steps. Marleya Blackmyre watched on a stone bench. Her eyes intently watched Barristan as he moved with power and grace of a man half his age. Eddard was happy for the older man. The woman may be a generation younger than Barristan but it did not matter. Barristan had not lost any of his strength or vigor. Word had gotten to Eddard how the old knight was making love to the woman every day. Often multiple times. He did not seem to care if anyone saw him copulating with the warrior woman.

What had gotten into everyone! Where was decorum and being a prude! There was nothing wrong with that! Eddard groused to himself. He was feeling exposed with everyone else seemingly going Dorne.

Nymeria came around the kennels. She looked up around into the sky obviously searching. The wolf was pretending innocence but everyone knew by now of her naughty nature. Eddard shook his head. The wolf never tired in trying to get over on anyone she could whether it was human or dragonn. She looped over to Barristan and jumped up on her hind legs and put her forelimbs on Barristan’s shoulders and licked his face profusely. Barristan spluttered but returned the wolf’s affection and petted the great beast on its flanks. Marleya Blackmyre came over and started rub the Direwolf’s side hard.
The wolf’s right hind leg began to kick and scratch Nymeria’s flank. The Direwolf’s head moving in a circle its mouth yawning with her tongue lulling out. The wolf making little happy barks. Both Barristan and Marleya laughing as they pleasured the pleasure hound.

Eddard shook his head seeing the wolf flop down on her back. She cocked her head looking at Barristan and Marleya with a look that said ‘well get to scratching me!’ The two laughed as they squatted down and began to scratch the wolf’s belly all over energetically. Nymeria’s legs kicked hard in the air while her head lulled over her tongue hanging out her mouth. She was in wolf heaven.

RRRRRRROOOOOOAAAAAAAAARRRRRRRRRRRR!

A frightful scream of jealous rage filled the sky. Viserion came plummeting out of the sky like an ivory comet. He landed hard thirty yards away. His eyes were glowing hot with rage. His landing had made the Earth shake beneath his angry feet. His claws angrily sank deep into the hard frozen ground. His tail whipped behind him in an agitated manner. He roared again and stomped forward.

Barristan and his lady love continued to rub the Direwolf’s belly. They ignored the jealous white dragon. They were part of the game now too. Viserion extended his neck high into the air and bugled his rage into the clear blue sky. His head lowered and he glowered hotly at the Direwolf who was taking his father’s affections. The dragon glared at the Direwolf with vile intent. Nymeria looked over at Viserion. She wolfed at the dragon her body wiggling as his two humans continued scratching the wolf.

Barristan and Mareleya goading Viserion on by continuing to pamper Nymeria while ignoring the enraged dragon.

The white bodied dragon’s head came down. The dragon wiggled forward and extended his neck toward the humans. Viserion started to bump gently into Barristan and Mareleya pushing them back. The dragon insinuated his head between the humans and Nymeria. The wolf flipped over to her feet and dodged Viserion efforts when the dragon went to head butt her. She then got in front of Barristan and put her feet on his shoulders and started to lick his face wetly again.

RRRRROOOOOOOAAAAAAARRRRRRRRRRRR!

Viserion head butted the Direwolf hard now but not enough to injury. No matter how much Viserion roared and threatened Nymeria he never hurt his nemesis. Eddard chuckled. Viserion’s roar was worse than his bite. The dragon still knew how to piss the Direwolf off though. Nymeria went rolling away from the head butt and came up barking furiously at the dragon. Mareleya went and hugged Viserion rubbing the root of his horns. His massive tail extended up into the air and shook like a baby’s rattle.

Nymeria went nuts in her own jealous rage trying to bump the woman away from the white behemoth. Barristan went to the other side of Viserion rubbed his cheeks like the dragon liked. He kissed the dragon on its lips. Nymeria went wild barking slaver flinging all about with the wolf’s wild shaking head.

When that had no affect she up the ante. Nymeria howled piteously and threw herself on the ground. There she flipped and rolled on the ground frothing at the mouth in a jealous pique. Eddard shook his head. Sometimes he thought the Dragon and Direwolf acted more like jealous little girls with their first flush of adolescence than the stuff of legends.

He moved further into the courtyard. He passed underneath the bridge between the Great Keep and the armory. What he saw made him blanch. This direction was a big mistake! Oh my! Eddard thought aghast.

Around another fire was Stannis, Oberyn and Selyse Florent. That was not what had caught Eddard’s attention. It was what they were doing that left the Warden of the North stupefied! Selyse was sitting on Stannis’s lap. His mouth was sucking on his wife’s throat. Worse her dress was undone and his hand was in her bodice obviously working her breasts. Oberyn the horndog had his hand up Selyse’s skirt and the motion of his arm told Eddard exactly what he was doing with that hand.

Selyse was breathing like a blacksmith bellows. Her face shiny with sweat. Her hair was lank with that sweat and plastered all over her face, neck and shoulders. Her eyes lidded with hot lust.

Eddard knew he should turn away but the audacity and willingness to fuck in public had a strangely memorizing affect on him. Selyse’s head ripped back and she screamed like she had just been garroted. This broke the spell the three had cast over the Warden of the North. Still he watched though. Her body was nearly convulsing off Stannis’s lap. Stannis’s long strong arm around her waist kept her in place as she convulsed her legs kicking out wildly. She was kissing Oberyn deeply now as Stannis kissed the nape of her neck.

Stannis was supposed to be a prude! Eddard raged to himself. What had happen to the stiff uptight stick up his ass man? He had turned into a sex maniac! Worse so had his wife. She shrieked and convulsed with killing seizure of bliss.

Then before Eddard’s hanging down mouth and shocked eyes it only became worse! Selyse slide to the ground and quickly undid the laces to both Stannis and Oberyn’s trousers and jerked them down. Their thick massive cocks jerked into view and Selyse wasted no time in fisting the thick veined shafts and pumping them hard. Selyse did this while her head lowered her eyes tilted up to stare hotly at Oberyn as she swallowed his thick mushroom cockhead and began to pump her head sensually. All the while moaning like a Lysian whore in heat.

Eddard decided it was time to beat a strategic retreat. It was like Winterfell had become the Love Castle. He wondered if some magic spell he had not known of had transported Winterfell to Dorne. Something had gotten into Stannis. Where was good ole prudish decorum when he needed it?! One thing he had to admit though. Stannis and Oberyn had in the past almost despised each other. Those two Houses only needing a spark to ignite the tender against each other. That was the past. The two Lords now were fast friends. Sex indeed could draw people together Eddard was learning. Like now! Like how!

They were both fucking Stannis’s wife and Stannis was urging Selyse to suck harder and take Oberyn’s penis down her throat. Stannis gripping the back of his wife’s head and helping her ride her head down Oberyn’s thick shaft. Her throat bulging out showing the passage of Oberyn’s brown cock down her gullet.

And she did! Eddard saw shocked. Now her nose was pressed into his stomach! Gods that was hot he had to admit but he could take no more.

He turned around.

Oh no! He saw what had gotten into Stannis and Selyse. There stood before him the Haruchai Ranrika and Ferna. The two Haruchai women moved as silent as mice. His day had just gotten worse. Much worse! He sighed. He knew what was coming next.

“We wish to contend with you. You are the greatest swordsman we have ever met. We will subdue you and take you back to Stannis’s lodgings and fuck you to exhaustion. Against one of us you might prevail but not against both of our might. You will fall and then submit to us. It is only right.”

Eddard blanched. Fighting two Haruchai was a recipe to humiliating defeat. Did these women ever give up? They were always after him and wanted him to bring Catelyn with him to their bed. Their success with Stannis had convinced the two Haruchai females that their seductive wiles would work on their next intended prey. They kept telling Eddard that they would go gentle with Cat. They had herbs to promote her healing and make her very, very, very horny. The women simply were voracious in their sexual appetites and endurance.

“We will show your wife the joys of Sapphic love. She will love feeling our dick in her ass as we fuck her with our strap-ons we have been gifted with by Oberyn. We will fuck her snatch and her throat. You will be pounding her asshole with all your vigor. She will die from it being fucked airtight. Let us show you and your wife what you have been depriving yourselves of. Just ask Stannis and Selyse. They will testify as to our prowess in the ‘sack’ Ranrika had emphasized the word. She evidently liked that new term she had learned here in Westeros.

It seemed the Haruchai were a stern reserved people until they decided to cut loose. And brother, when they decided to cut loose boy did they cut loose. Eddard started to backup. His eyes darting around looking for a route of escape.

“How many times do I have to tell you that I am not interested in having sexual relations with you two? I have a wife I love with all my heart!” Eddard was getting flustered.

“Why are you playing hard to get Eddard of House Stark? We are married too Eddard Stark. That does not mean we can’t share life and lust. We will fuck you and your wife to utter exhaustion.
Why deny yourself the pleasure that we can give you” Ferna asked in her flat manner that sounded totally reasonable the way she expressed it. Eddard started finding himself starting to go down that road. He shook his head.

Damn they were good!

“Stannis was once like you but we have educated him. Stannis is great fuck too. We merely had to show him and Selyse how to fully embrace love and lust. We can share you with him and bring your wife into the bed of our lovemaking. Selyse has become an expert at eating pussy and tongue fucking asshole. She will make Catelyn scream in womb ripping orgasms. Soon your wife will long and then need to eat pussy to be truly happy. You can share the sluts she brings to your two’s bed.”

Eddard was getting dizzy listening to all the Haruchai’s salacious talk.

“We will watch you and Stannis DP fuck Catelyn and give her pleasure she has only dreamed of.
Then Oberyn will join to bang all her fuck holes airtight. All women once they experience DP and TP sex will love it forever. Let us show you and your wife what you are missing. We will fuck you two blind. We will offer freely both you and your wife our pussies and assholes.”

One thing the women did not seem to understand Eddard mused looking down at the brash women was that seduction was helped if one did not speak of the supposedly hot sex as if they were bored out of their gourds. The two Haruchai women spoke of these dynamic sexual trysts as if talking of counting radishes. Still, the way they easily talked about sex was … well … awe inspiring.

That was hot Eddard had to admit. For a people who did not like to talk otherwise, when it came to sex they sure knew how to talk up the acts that even had him squirming. He would file that away for future reference. “She just had a baby! Her body is still healing.”
“You lie and you know it. The Ur-viles have totally healed her. She merely does not realize it. We will show her. She has strong passions. We can feel it. She represses them because of you.”

That was hitting below belt! Eddard felt his eyes bulge and a hot flush run through his body. He was conservative he admitted it. Their words had the sensitive man looking within himself. They had hit the mark. Was he denying Catelyn something in their bed? She had never complained. He did not think so but the Haruchai had planted the seed now. Had she not complained because she assumed it was her duty to always follow her husband’s lead? If so, then Eddard was being selfish. He did not like these new insights. Blast the Haruchai!

He decided it was time to dissemble. “Why do you keep challenging me when you keep losing? Now you want to gang up on me two on one. Also, what is it about “fist and faith … there is only victory or death. You seem pretty alive to me.”

The Haruchai looked at him with their flat faces. He knew he had hit home. They only paused when they knew doubt. He had been around the Haruchai enough to sense when these stoic people were communicating with their mind speech. There was a brief pause.

Ferna answered “We speak of combat and fighting for what we believe in and love. It is a ritualistic mantra we use to inspire us to fight our best.” She looked directly into Eddard’s eyes now. “We would sacrifice ourselves to the last person to defend you and your people.”

Eddard was touched by that. He knew they spoke the truth. The Haruchai were so extreme in their desires and their willingness to serve what they had chosen to protect. He liked these strange hot and cold people but it even went up another notch hearing this declaration to protect his people with their lives if it was required.

Ranrika spoke now “we have found the saying unsettles our foes. We seek any advantage.” Eddard smiled a little at that. He had the same strategy. It would appear the Haruchai were a little more crafty than they let on. “It is also the truth. We only accept victory when we fight for what we believe in.” Eddard sighed. These people were extreme in all they did.

The women stepped back. “Pull your sword and we will fight. We will attack you together. If you lose we will fuck you.”

That had Eddard’s dander up now. He was getting pissed off with these two women’s arrogance. They were upping the ante. Two against one is not fair! Especially when they were Haruchai!

“I cannot fight you! I do not have a practice sword with me. Evening Star is impossibly sharp. I will not risk harming you.

“You will not touch us.” Ferna replied.

Gods these women smug Eddard swore to himself.

Eddard slowly pulled his sword out in vexation. Since his time the tombs his sword had subtly changed. It now glowed softly when pulled from its scabbard and began to hum a melodic tune. He went to show the women why he would not risk fighting them. This sword could cut through anything.

The Haruchai lifted their eyebrows. Eddard stared at his blade. His blade was dull as a butter knife. He blanched. Oh no my sword! What had happened? What the hell!?

The sword shimmered and when the distortion faded his sword was razor sharp again. He stared at his sword as the blade shimmered again and became dull. He stared dumfounded at his sword.
Eddard looked up at the Haruchai women. They stared hard at Eddard with eyes that now glittered subtly. Damn you Evening Star! His sword had betrayed him!

“Have at you” Ferna called out. The fight was on.

Eddard slashed and parried always pivoting and slashing wildly to keep the woman at bay. He was furious at their arrogance. He had found that one-on-one he could hold his own against the Haruchai but two was pushing him to his limit. He had to constantly pivot and swirl wheeling his sword like a whirling dervish to keep the women back. He was sweating heavily.

His sword was still dull. Then Eddard understood. His sword somehow knew that this fight was not for real but practice. That Eddard was with friends. The sword had become dull to protect those that Eddard considered friends. Pushy and sanctimonious but friends nevertheless.

After several minutes he noticed he was not tiring. He suddenly had another revelation. The sword was giving him strength. The Haruchai never seemed to tire either. With the strength the sword gave him he was able to hold them off. Still, he knew it was only a matter of time till he was defeated. He was being attacked constantly from two fronts. The Haruchai were every bit his equal in raw skills. It was simply a numbers game.

Suddenly, Loras came running in with a practice sword and pressed his back to Eddard’s. “I will guard your back while you attack!”

With the odds evened Eddard was now able to slash and attack. Loras was a very capable fighter who was improving at a very quick pace. For the next ten minutes the Haruchai circled the two men looking for a lowering of the guard or a hesitation. Loras was playing defense and keeping to Eddard’s back. Eddard fell into a defense stance himself. The men’s swords slashing furiously and were able to hold off the Haruchai.

If the two Haruchai were frustrated at being thwarted they did not show it on their flat miens.

The fight ended when Lustra and Brail came walking up to them. Eddard was able to catch out of the corner of his eye that they were walking hand in hand.

“Enough” Brail commanded. “It is clear he does not wish to lay with you.”

The women immediately dropped out of their combat stances. The two Haruchai women bowed deeply to Brail. When they came up they both pointed at Eddard with an accusing index finger. “He is being most obtuse. This resistance is stupid and unseemly. We are allies he should freely come to our bed.”

“His way is not our way. Leave him be Ferna, Ranrinka. He wishes to only lie with his wife. Respect that.”

The Haruchai were fuming Eddard could tell. Their facial expressions had not changed and their demeanor was the same but he knew they were royally pissed. He had caught on that the Haruchai were pissed when they stared at you that extra intensity and they seemed to be both calm and yet wound up like a coiled spring. How they did that look Eddard had no idea.

Loras was slashing his practice sword around still filled battle lust. The two Haruchai looked at each other. They then marched over and gripped each his arms in a vice like grip and started to pull him roughly behind them. His body bodily jerked easily behind their marching bodies.

“Hey easy on the arms ladies. I assure you there is plenty of me to go around. I’m quite the lay I must say.”
“We will discover the truth of that declaration. You will first fuck us. If you prove adequate we will take you to Stannis and Selyse. We will even allow Oberyn to join us now. Our brethren have vouched for the pompous man and will join with him. Other Lords and Ladies will join. You will be required to fill whatever fuck hole is not filled with hard cock.”

“I think I can handle that” Loras said in a happy chirp

He was jerked harder by the Haruchai as they stomped towards the Guards Hall. Eddard felt sorry for Loras. Well, not really. Eddard could only imagine how demanding the Haruchai would be in the ‘sack’.

Eddard looked at his sword and it was beyond razor sharp again. His sword again glowed a light blue and hummed softly. He marveled at his sword’s new found abilities. The Wraiths of Andelain had indeed given him precious gifts.

He bowed to Brail and used the opportunity to beat a hasty retreat. He felt fortunate to have so many allies but he longed to go back to the quietness of Winterfell before the arrival of all these visitors.

He had been happy to not have to go through the bedding ceremony when he bed Catelyn. It had been all about duty. He was very conservative and knew it. All these liberal attitudes was disconcerting to his stiff sensibilities. Still, Eddard always heard what was said to him. He had much to consider.

He did not have time for deep soul reflection and make decisions on his relationship with his wife. That would happen after he had won the war. He owed Cat that.

He decided it was time to go visit his wife and sweet newborn children. He would soon be marching off to war and he would not see them for months at the earliest. He wanted his home life with wife and children. He had been fostered out as a youth and he had made sure that had not befallen his children.

As he walked back to the keep he spied the dragons. Viserion was up on the broken tower now. Evidently his jealous fit had passed. He thought on Daenerys using her dragons to spy on the Ice King. They flew high and ran interference for each other to make sure they were not attacked like Melisandre and Ygritte had been. Dragons had far seeing eyes. They saw things that humans could not. Daenerys had used that to attack the Ice King to devastating effect.

He wondered again about the Ice King. Eddard trusted the dragon’s eyes but he still felt unease.

He went into the Great Keep and walked up to the flights of stairs to his bed chamber.

He entered in. Catelyn was reading some book of songs he saw. She got up seeing him enter and came over to hug her husband and placed her head on his shoulder. He rubbed his wife’s back gently and kissed her hair. She murmured and hugged him harder. Eddard felt content. He had married a total stranger but had come to love this woman so deeply. They slowly walked over to the bassinet.

The babies were sleeping peacefully. He was struck by how much like his lost brother and sister the newborns looked. Only their Tully blue eyes did not make them complete doppelgangers for his long dead siblings. He still missed them. True Brandon could be an ass but he had been his brother and he loved him dearly. Lyanna had been so sweet and yet filled with the wolf. He thought of his daughter Arya. Lyanna had wanted what his daughter wanted. He had made sure to let his daughter find her own destiny even though he had to fight Catelyn and expectations all the way.
It had been worth it.

Eddard and Catelyn looked at the newborn innocents. They slept peacefully. Brandon was on his stomach crossways in the bottom of his bed while Lyanna was on her back with her limbs sprawled out. Catelyn had removed the swaddling cloth with them safe in the bassinet.

They stood looking down for several minutes in silence. Eddard said silent prayers to the old gods for saving his wife and children. He was sure they had had some hand in bringing the Shadowbender witches, Ur-viles and Waynhim to Catelyn in her hour of need. He would never be able to fully repay them for giving him his wife and children back.

They had appeared, saved his wife and children and soon disappeared. They had been here when they were needed and once the need was done they had faded away. He hugged Catelyn tighter.

“How can you stand the sight of me Eddard?”

Eddard was shocked by the question and the gall he heard in his wife’s tone of voice.

He moved to stand before his wife and gently embraced her. He looked down at her with his steady gaze. “What bought this on Catelyn? I love you with all my heart and you are the mother of my children.”

“Was I the mother of Jon Snow Eddard? We both know how I treated him. I treated him like shit! I hated him and he was not guilty. He was a baby Eddard and I blamed him for your infidelity except there was no infidelity. You were true! I drove Jon away and made his life miserable. I was a total bitch to him Eddard. I was a bitch to Sansa and Arya. If you wish to send me away I will understand and not fight you.”

Eddard was shocked. He pulled Catelyn tight to his body. He rocked his wife while gently stroking her back and kissed the top of her head. “I am never losing you my sweet wife. You are the best thing that ever happened to me. You are mother to my precious children.”

“Yes, but I was such an awful mother!”

“Stop that! NOW!” Eddard roared. His wife quieted down and pressed weakly into his body crying softly.

“Cat … I knew from the start how passionate you were and I knew how you would react to me bringing home Jon. I knew this and I consciously made a decision to lie to you. Not only that but I decided to perpetuate that lie for close to twenty years. It is I that needs to ask for forgiveness.”

“No! You were protecting Jon and your family from the wrath of Robert Baratheon. You know how crazy he was about all things Targaryen after your sister choose Rhaegar over him.”

“That was my reasoning Cat. Still I wonder now. I see more and more closely with each passing day that I chose wrongly. What I have come to see is that I did not trust and love you enough to share that secret to you. Yes, Robert was insane with House Targaryen. His rage would have not known any limits I think. All would have suffered his wrath if he had discovered the truth. Especially you my sweet wife. He would have probably killed you in his bloodlust and you would have had no idea why you were being put to the sword.”

“I should have trusted you Cat. Even if not at first, I soon came to know the iron backbone you have my sweet wife. You could have handled the truth. Maybe you could still have bonded with Jon.”

He paused for a long time. “It was probably for the best anyways.”
Catelyn snorted. Eddard looked down at her. His wife told him of her earlier conversation with Margaery and then her daughters.

Eddard knew this had been weighing Catelyn for some time.

“Eddard you supported Arya and Sansa from the beginning. I wanted to fight both of them in selecting women as their spouses.”

“Catelyn you were raised to perform your duty before all else. Because of that duty you married a green young man you had no contact with until I came to you to deflower you. The man you had been betrothed to was killed and a stranger came to you to take his place. You performed your duty. That had to be hard on you and yet you did it without any hesitation. You were raised to follow the accepted path.”

“I lost my father, brother and then finally my sister because they followed their duty. I have become sick of it. I went to war for Robert Baratheon because it was my ‘duty’. He had not been worth my loyalty Cat. I can see that clearly now. So when my daughters’ true natures were made apparent to me I had learned to not follow the supposedly tried and true path. I have sought another way. This is a once in an eight thousand year event my wife. I want to use it to make a better world. Will it last I don’t know but I want to strive for it.”

He felt Catelyn hug him hard again and press her cheek on his shoulder. “You are a most extraordinary man Eddard Stark.”

‘No Cat. I am just a man trying to muddle my way through life. I have made many mistakes in it and can only try and make amends.”

“You are so good to me Eddard.”

Eddard chuckled. He tried his best to be a good husband and father.

He felt Catelyn rubbing against his body. Eddard paused. He remembered the words from earlier. He moved his hand down to his wife’s ass and squeezed it and then massaged the still firm globe.

Cat gasped and pressed into him harder. Her body was beginning to shake and her breathing was rising as he roughly massaged his wife’s ass and his other hand found her bosom and he ground his palm into her breast. Cat gasped and mewled looking up at him with hot pulsing eyes filled with hot lust. Lust only for him! Like it should be in Eddard’s world.

He thought back to the Haruchai on the courtyard. Eddard thought maybe they had point. He could afford to loosen up. At least a little. He bent down and kissed Cat hard. Her deep throated moans sweet music to his ears.

Missandei slowly rose up from sweet dreams that enfolded her body. She loved her dreams. In them her faceless lover was with her in her bed. They always made love the night through. They would fuck to utter exhaustion and then sleep with their limbs all entangled. Over the months more and more of her lover became known to her. She was small like herself. She was not sure how she knew this but she did.

Missandei had come to know, well, almost positive, that her secret lover had elven features. That thought excited her. It would be so exotic to make love to a woman with pointed ears and arched
She had at first found that strange. There was one thing she could clearly feel was the almost unlimited power of her love. She was absolutely a goddess. She could crush mountains and boil seas dry. She had limits she sensed but her power was stunning. Why she was so fascinated with a little former slave from Naatha she could not understand. She was just thankful. For some reason this woman was in love with her. She could feel it. The woman was totally in love with her.

Then why won’t she come to me! Her mind screamed the next moment in vexation. She has shown me the horror that had been her life. She knows I don’t care. She has totally reformed herself. She has done nothing but do good. She is helping us to win the war. She could probably destroy the Ice King herself Missandei mused. She had reasoned it out that something restrained her … maybe a fear of losing control? Maybe she thought that man had to confront the enemy on their own merits. She would help but she would not guarantee victory. Probably some moral code.

She had definitely saved the day exposing the treachery of House Frey and Bolton. If they had been able to fall on the forces of Westeros unawares the loss of life would have heinous. She doubted they would have succeeded with the vast numbers of Houses that would have fallen on them in righteous fury. But, if they had attacked at the right moment when the Ice King attacked. They would still cause grievous losses she thought but they might succeed. They may have been able to alter the balance of the coming fight to the Ice King’s favor.

Her Queen and Eddard could not have afforded to have been caught unawares and suddenly unexpectedly attacked from the rear while fully engaged by the Ice King in a frontal assault. The dual attack could be devastating if it was allowed to occur.

She rolled onto her back and thought about her love again. Why hadn’t she come to her she whined in her mind? She had been betrayed once for love Missandei recalled. She Who Must Not Be Named deserved to know what true love was really like. She would go down on her sweet love and suck her off so fucking well. She had read enough books and memoirs from famous lesbians of the past in Essos. She knew how to eat pussy! Well, she was pretty sure she did. She would rock her loves world.

Missandei was naked in her bed. She loved sleeping in the nude. Thinking of her love, Missandei spread out her limbs on the bed and wallowed her ass on the silk sheets luxuriating on the cool feel on her sleek black skin. The scribe’s pussy swollen and wet with thoughts of her longed for lover. Her nipples had become rock hard and rubbery. When her thoughts drifted to her longed for love Missandei always felt arousal surge through her small body.

She slipped her fingers down to her breast and cupped her aching tits and began to massage them roughly rolling her firm brown orbs. Her fingers squeezed in and pulped her tits like she liked it. She loved working her body hard. Her hands worked up so her index fingers and thumbs could grip and squeeze her nipples as she jerked up with her hands. Her choked cries of pleasure filled her room. Her legs spread out on the bed. Her couchie was drooling cum down her ass crack and weeping onto her ass cheeks. Her anus soaked and longing for hard deep invasion. Her hips rotating lifting her twat up in need.

Her left hand snaked down her filming with perspiration belly that palpated with rising excitement. Oh gods she moaned as she started to rub up and down her slippery folds. Her head lulled over her face twisting up as sweet pleasure started to pulse in her core. Her pussy was flooding now and she reveled in how wet she was. Her fingers worked her slit and rolled her labia lips. She loved to pull and stretch her inner lips and then rub her slit jacking over her clit gagging her with pleasure.

She then teased her labia lips open and started to circle her shiny clit and gasped in aching pleasure.
She started to rub over the hard nubbin and her hips bucked up into the rubbing fingers. She increased and then decreased the pressure. Her fingers rubbing up and down her slit and circling her fuck hole. She worked up and down her slit and flicked her clit making her cry out in whinnies of ecstasy. Her body jolting and jerking as sweat now beaded on her writhing body.

She made sure to press into her clit from the sides putting sweet pressure on her nubbin in its sheath. Then her fingers flicking over her shiny clit. Her fingers now soaked in her slimy effluent that let her fingers jack over her clit easily as the scribe slowly jerked herself off. Her breathing already rising and filled with ragged need.

Her other hand gripped and rolled her titties. Her fingers sunk deep into her full bosom. She rolled her tits and ground her nipples with her rotating palm. Her hand rotated to grind over now rubbery teat making it pulse with pleasure. Her breathing was accelerating as the pressure built deep in her belly. The sweat beading on her body came together and began to roll down her ribs and thighs. More sweat running down her cheeks and pooling on her flat belly.

In her mind’s eye she had sucked her sweetie’s cunt deep into her mouth. She munched away happily sucking down her sweet cum. She would suck on her lover’s clit so fucking good while her tongue lashed and stabbed the sweet clit. Missandei could feel her head lifting as she tented out her lover’s pussy that she slurped and sucked on with pure love and fuck hunger. Gods she would cum so hard in her mouth.

Missandei was rolling from hip to hip now gagging in helpless pleasure. She was rolling her clit with her massaging fingers. The friction and pressure had her whimpering in raw need. She circled and mashed into her clitoral hood the sweet friction making her cry out in ecstasy. Her right hand was clenching her tits in turn pulping them with deep finger squeezes that had her fingers sinking deep into her firm pliant hooters. Her fingers moving up at random to squeeze her nipples and jerk up stretching out her areolas into tents making her cry out in fierce pleasure.

“Oh godssss yesssss … uuuhnnn uunngg hhnnng … oh shit! … oh yes!” Missandei moaned feeling her core begin to tighten and clench. She felt her thighs start to spasm and her belly started to clench up hard her head lifting off the mattress. Her legs slowly spread out and went rigid. Her hand that had been pumping her tits left them and forked her clitoral hood and started to rub up and down while squeezing in. The pressure making her squeal. She then took her left hand and started to rub furiously on her clit that was being squeezed out its sheath.

“Oh oh uunngg hhnnng … of fuck! Shit! Yes yes so close!” Missandei’s eyes were squeezed tight shut her face contorted in the agony of striving to cum hard. Her legs had spread wider to fully expose her muffin and clit to her expert fingers. She was gasping hard now with sweat rolling off her face. Her toes started to curl painfully her legs jerking wildly in tension her heels scissor hard on the bed. Her ass clenched and lifted her groin up into her wildly rubbing fingers.

The back of her head jammed into the bed as her back arched. Her body on the cusp. She changed the angle of her rubbing fingers and pressed as hard as she could into her clit. Her world exploded with agonizing pulses of searing fucking bliss. "AAUUURRNNGGGG! AAAAWWWOOOGGGG! FFFUUCCKKKKKK!" Missandei screamed in agonizing bliss feeling her womb rip out her belly. Hot heat flooded out her belly and rushed down her kicking and thrashing legs and arms. Missandei’s mind whited out with shocking ecstasy.

Her heels hammered the bed as her head lifted up and slammed the mattress hard again and again as her cunt felt like it was ripping itself apart. Her body arched and jacked up and down making the bed squeak loudly in its frame as she bucked wildly. Her belly contracting so hard as her cunt tore itself inside out. She felt the hot pulses of cum rush out her exploding pussy and flood down her perineum and anus and now her ass cheeks and bed.

“Ungghh! Oh sweet sun gods!” her womb was melting. It had to be with the agonizing pleasure pouring into her veins. "Auunngghhh! Ohnggghh! Oh . . . shit! Ungghhh! Auungghhiieee!" she cried out, she continued to hump her hips up desperately into her rubbing fingers as she cummed hotly.

Missandei suddenly knew what was possible. She was finally tuned to her body and knew another orgasm lurked just underneath the surface of her sweat soaked skin and trembling pussy. Her clit was still shrieking but not becoming super sensitive yet. She was weeping in ecstasy thinking of her love’s cunt exploding in her mouth and filling it with sweet cum.

She lifted her left hand and started to slap her cunt hard. The shocks making her mind nearly explode in bliss. Her cunt sounded so sodden and wet. She slapped her pussy four, five, six times. Then she took her hand and lifted it up and angled her fingers down. She jammed her cum soaked fingers into her clitoral hood from the side and rubbed furiously squirting and gigging her clit.

Her other hand came down to press down on her clitoral hood and filling it with harsh squeezing pressure as her other hand giggled and jammed into her clitoral hood like a harpoon. Missandei rubbed her fingers harshly back and forth over her shiny clit with maniacal force and striving. The interpreter felt her face lock up her eyes bulged out wide as shocking pleasure tore out her exploding womb that seared and ripped her cunt inside out again.

Her world exploded in pure fucking bliss. “ANNNGGHIIIIEEEE! OOOWWWWWGGGGG...GGGGG! Auungghhnnngggiiieeeeee!" Missandei screamed, her beautiful face frozen in spasms of intense ecstasy, her body clenching as the spasms rocked her. Her body now flipped and jackknifed around on the bed as she still rubbed her clit prolonging her fucking bliss. Her eyes shocked wide open and her mouth fell into an open O of shocking helpless pleasure as a third orgasm ripped her belly open. "Unnnggngggnnuunng ... oh gods ... shit again! Auungghhiieee! Ohnggggiieeee! Onnmmmggggiieeee!" she squealed sharply, stabbed by thrilling jolts of fucking rapture. "Ungghh . . . unngghh oh! Auungghhh!"

Her body crashed back down to the mattress spent. Her limbs akimbo on the bed. She fell into an exhausted satiated sleep. She smiled going to sleep soaked in sweat and cum. Just like her and her lover would be. When she finally came to her! Her mind whined.

She awoke again two hours later. She had no meetings to attend to so she felt no shame in sleeping in. Her pussy was still purring from her earlier masturbation session. She smiled lazily. Her breath caught. The room was lite with the sun coming through the drapes in the two windows. She turned over and rose up on her elbows. Yesss!

On the pillow beside her was the green rose. It had not been there when she was masturbating. She just knew her love had watched her masturbating. Gods she must have an iron will. She smelled the rose. Its fragrance so sweet and intoxicating. She got up and put it in the vase with the other four flowers. The roses lasted about four days before they wilted away. She kept them in the vase to smell and remind herself of her lover.

She was both elated and saddened by this refusal to come directly into her life. Why was she hesitating! She would get her woman. She could feel it. I will bone her so good! She went to the fire place and threw some logs in the fireplace and stirred the cankers and soon had a good hot fire going. She put a big basin of water in front of the fire to warm. The basin covered in delicately cast wild flowers that had been painted with enamel.

Missandei was horny again and spread out on the rugs in front of the fireplace. Humming a tune from her childhood while she threw several thick furs down on them. Then the scribe laid out on the furs and Jilled off again to a screaming orgasm. She reveled in the ecstasy tearing through her body.
Her body was soaked in sweat again. The intense orgasm left her smiling and humming as washed her body off. Her body was singing today. She loved the feel of the cloth on her throbbing nipples and pussy.

She really couldn’t help herself she thought evilly. She dropped the cloth. She was soon screaming with another orgasm as she worked her tits and pussy with her expert fingers. She slowly pushed herself up off the thick fur rugs with a slutty smile. Gods she loved masturbating like this. She loved to feel her pussy all achy and feeling so worn out from hard cumming. She could only imagine how good she would feel with her love’s mouth and fingers taking her to the heavens.

She knew she would use her mouth and fingers on her lover constantly but she would also love watching her lover fuck herself with fingers and toys from Lyse. She would do so for her lover. She wanted her lover desperately but she would never stop masturbating. She smirked. She had a tough kitty. It could take all those orgasms. She couldn’t wait!

She washed herself off again with an evil smirk. As she washed she spotted her cum had matted up the thick hair on the top fur. Her cum drying slowly

She was soon dressed and walking to the kitchen area reserved for the high nobles and their confidants. She loved being so highly regarded. She had slept in and it was between the breakfast meal times and the early lunch. She was served a heaping plate of scrambled eggs, sausages, toast, and an omelet. She tucked into the meal with a ravenous hunger. She smirked again. Masturbating made her hungry!

As she ate she was reminded why her pussy was on fire. Why she longed for her lover so much.
Winterfell was a sanctuary she had found for lesbians to openly show their love. She was always spying Dany and Arya snogging and feeling each other up. Same with Margaery and Sansa. They couldn’t keep their hands off each other. The freedom was spread out to all the women who had similar desires Missandei had happily discovered. Eddard had created a haven for women to seek their true destiny free of man’s world trying to crush their natural desires for the female body.

The young scribe saw evidence of it presently. The two young teenage female baker apprentices were using the down time to good use. They were at the back table trying to ram their tongues down each other’s throats. Hands were in loosened bodices and up skirts. They fucked each other to shattering orgasms their screams swallowed by each other’s devouring mouth. Seeing their bodies convulse so hard and their swallowed screams of bliss again had Missandei’s pussy aching and her demeanor darkening.

She wanted her lover so bad! She needed to have her. Missandei needed her lover to come to her and make her scream. She did not begrudge the two lasses her own age having what she longed for.
She was happy for them. It just wasn’t fair! She wanted her woman to come to her so she could cum for her!

She wanted She Who Must Not Be Named to tell her true name so she could scream it out in their room. She would never tell another her love’s name for that would give them power of her.
Missandei would never use that precious gift against her longed for love. She only wanted to love her!

When she finished her meal she went outside to walk the grounds to let her meal settle. She smiled at all the combat practice she witnessed around her. She was not meant to be a warrior. She could never be Dany or Arya. She was Sansa and Margaery. She would work behind the scenes to make things happen.
She loved watching physical prowess though. She saw Dany and Arya practicing together their practice swords slashing hard against each other. She saw off to the side the Haruchai fighting each other. She marveled at the strength of their women. They were every bit as strong as the men of their race. Off in the distance she saw some of the Giants fighting each other. In their people it was the women who were the warriors and the men who sailed their ships along with other women. Men supported their female warriors. What a great society Missandei thought.

She saw Ranrika and Ferna along with Stannis and Selyse sitting on a bench beneath a stand of firs that was partially hidden from view. Only partially! Damnit! Even fucking Stannis was getting sex and she only had her fingers. Both of the Haruchai were on their knees before Stannis and Selyse. Stannis had his breeches around his ankles and Selyse had her dress pushed up past her hips. Ranrika was pumping her head furiously up and down Stannis very large thick cock and Ferna had her face buried in Selyse’s swollen pussy.

Stannis and his wife had both of their hands threaded in the jet black hair of the Haruchai women urging them on. Stannis had a strong grip on Ranrika’s head and was slamming her head up and down his dick and then slowed her head pumping and slide his dick down her throat making it bulge out obscenely. Selyse for her part was roughly rubbing Ferna’s face up down her dripping clamshell grinding her fat muffin into the Haruchai woman’s face. Selyse growling and used her feet on the ground to really grind her cunt into Ferna’s face she was fucking hard with rough jerks of her hips.

The story of the Haruchai fighting bulls that weighed a ton and how Howsrul was able to catch a bull that had risen on its hind legs to try and crush her down had made all the rounds. Howsrul had caught the bull the beast’s immense weight first crushing her down but she had stopped that descent. Then impossibly she had lifted up the down plunging bull to hurl him aside. Such raw strength surpassed even what Stannis could generate. The Haruchai’s strength was already passing into legend.

Knowing their strength, it was hot to Missandei to see these two powerful women easily submitting to their lovers. Stannis was a strong man but not near their strength. Selyse had only the strength that a normal woman had. She was like Missandei; a woman of normal strength.

Both Haruchai women easily letting themselves be controlled by their lovers. Stannis riding Ranrika’s throat up and down his long shaft. He pushed Ranrika’s mouth down his cock till her nose was jammed into his belly. He left it buried in her gullet as she choked and drooled copiously and began to gasp before he let her head up. She gasped hard drooling out rivers of spit out her mouth but eagerly let Stannis ram his dick back down her throat and keep it buried in her throat till she needed air again.

Ferna had her face used roughly by Selyse as a fuck post. The slender blond woman roughly ground Ferna’s face up and down her drooling clamshell. Selyse rammed her cunt into Ferna’s chin and with her hands fisted in Ferna’s hair to slide her face deep into her drooling slimy slit. The Haurchai’s nose plowing deep along Selyse’s slit. The Haurchai’s nose then jacking hard over Selyse’s clit and then dragged along her lower shaved pussy.

Selyse chuffing and snarling dragging Ferna’s face back down her wet seam jacking her arms hard to mash the Haruchai woman’s face deep in her trim. The Haruchai snuffling and gasping for breath on the top of the stroke that Selyse maintained plowing Ferna’s face deep up and down her drooling clamshell. Selyse’s vulva clung wetly to the sides of Ferna’s face as it rode up and down her festering twat.

Both Haruchai women moaning hotly as they gave head.

Missandei could tell the Haruchai loved giving head. Both of these impossibly strong women gladly letting their lovers use them as they wanted. Ranrika’s face was soaked in her spit from sloppy head and Ferna’s face was simply soaked in Selyse’s snail snot. Gods Missandei loved thinking like a slut watching them fuck! Stannis was back to furiously fucking Ranrika’s mouth ramming the back of her throat as his breathing became labored his body tightening. Selyse had arched her back and arms jerked wildly grinding Ferna’s face in her spasming twat. Her own breathing ragged and deep.

Suddenly Stannis’s head ripped back and he roared his orgasm as Ranrika sucked just his cockhead now. The Haruchai was swirling her head around in a tight swirl her lips locked just beneath Stannis’s cockhead. Her cheeks hollowed out showed her voracious deep throat love sucks. Her cheeks showed her tongue slithering all over his cockhead. He screamed as his hips jerked up spasically his dick sucked hard. Ranrika had a strong grip on Stannis’s hips anchoring herself. She choked hard with the hard spurts hitting the back of her throat. Sperm and spit leaked out the corners of her mouth.

Then Selyse’s head ripped back and she was screaming in orgasm her legs spread wide her heels hammering the grass as her hands spasatically mashed Ferna’s face deep into her exploding trim. Then Ferna’s head rocked as a heavy squirt of clear cum choked her and filled her mouth splashing out and running down her face and throat. More squirts hit her face and open mouth as the Haruchai looked so happy. Then her mouth clamped onto Selyse’s spurting cunt and sucked hard for more cum as Selyse went into a second screaming orgasm. More squirts overwhelming Ferna as she sat back to let the jets of cum soak her face and hair with a slutty half smile all the while on her face.

The interpreter enjoyed the show but was still peeved! That was fucking unfair! Missandei’s mind roared. If fucking stiff as a board Stannis and Selyse were constantly being fucked silly it was not fair! She deserved to be sucked off! Hell last night she saw Eddard up on the main dais subtly rubbing Catelyn’s swollen pussy. She leaned into him smiling up at him with a hungry smile. The fucking skirt on the table top did not stop Missandei from seeing what was going on. It was not fair! She wanted hers!

The black teenager knew she should not let her emotions roil from the heights to the depths of emotions but she could not help herself. She wanted her lover to stop this bullshit and finally come to her! She got up in a huff. Her earlier masturbation and green rose was now a distant memory with her rising frustration.

She stomped back to the Great Keep. She was really horny and pissed off again. She needed her woman to settle her. Her emotions were all over the place. She deserved to have her lover! She came to her every morning to leave Missandei her green rose. She should strip naked and get in Missandei’s bed so they could fuck gloriously for long sweet hours until exhausted in sweet lassitude of great fucking. The blissful bonding in sweet post coital time.

Missandei knew her love was a goddess. Her goddess would come to her with a woman’s body and limits. Her slut would fuck her with the strength of a woman commensurate to the strength of Missandei. She sensed the sex between them could be really good and really long. She wanted some of that! It was not fair damnit! Geez, she was so pissed again!

She needed to change her thoughts. Missandei started to think about the logistics of the armies marching to various locations along the Wall. She loved working the numbers in her head. She could almost see the equations and numbers in her mind. She loved writing down the equations and putting in the numbers and seeing the data come out. Math was so precise and exact. Sansa and Margaery worked off instinct which was extremely good but her math allowed her to create exacting schedules that had the troops and supplies moving to where they needed to be when they needed to be.
Her spine straightened and her bosom thrust out a little more thinking of how she was being such a valuable piece of her Queen’s court. She shivered thinking of what her life would be without the Breaker of Chains swooping in to save her and all the other slaves of the Ghiscerina city states. She snorted. She thought of the cities on the east coast of Essos. Free cities my ass!

She knew she had great gifts. Gifts that were being used to their fullest. She supposed her translation skills would have made her valuable to her masters but she knew what her destiny was to be a bed slave. Sometimes being a beautiful woman was a dangerous thing. Being given to a man she had already hated. He was arrogant and conceited. Her life would have been crushed out of her. She was so thankful for Dany storming through Essos destroying the Slave Trade. She knew some vestiges still existed but when Dany found them they were exterminated ruthlessly.

Her Queen had Dothraki cavalry and mercenary companies prepositioned to move across Essos to confront any rising of the old ways. The Dothraki and the mercenary companies were always itching for a fight. Dany had been able to channel their darker tendencies into doing good for her kingdom.

She marveled at how Dany seemed to be able to see the possible. She took two forces that had a long history of doing negative actions and was morphing them into forces of good. She still had to use the lash on them from time to time tough. Missandei marveled at how Dany seemed to know how much force to use and when. Daenerys knew the balance. She had seen many leaders now in her work for Dany.

She had seen only one other person that seemed to have the intelligence, drive, moral compass and sense of rightness to succeed in creating something equally great. Eddard Stark. Only he seemed to not have any political, social or personal agenda that was not geared towards helping all the people of Westeros. Only two people had these excellent characteristics. It seemed almost that all other leaders were flawed with selfish desires. They wanted to self-aggrandize themselves.

Missandei had thought on that. It seemed that to strive for power and greatness you needed a certain drive. A drive that was based on negative emotions and thoughts. It was in these darker impulses that power and strength of will seemed to come from. You needed it to give you the focus and drive to succeed. To be able to succeed without those darker goads was an almost impossible combination. She wondered if only a person or two existed in any generation that had the qualities of greatness without the dross and frailties of the human heart.

These people had to be born and survive into adulthood and be raised in such a way as to bring out their best. Also, happenstance had to put the person in the position to even conceive of greatness. Then they had to achieve that power. Eddard Stark had made it clear he did not want the ultimate power and would go back to being the Warden of the North. Daenerys wanted the ultimate power. She had a vision of greatness and goodness. She was going to fight for it.

Yes. Only rarely did such a person arise.

From around the corner of two meeting halls she saw the object of her musing along with her future wife and their child Kasseri. The precious little girl was chattering away to her mothers and gesticulating around. Dany was talking to her daughter in her native tongue. It seemed that Arya’s experience with the Elohim had given her the ability to speak Dothraki fluently now too. Dothraki was a hard language to master. She told Kiserri something that had the little girl thrusting out her chest and hooking her thumbs in her belt line and walking very proudly.

Her little fake dagger fell from behind her belt. The girl cried out. She chased the dagger around on the floor as her foot kept kicking it away from her grasping hand. She came up the hall towards Missandei not seeing her as she focused on getting her hand on her precious dagger. Behind the precocious child her two mothers smiled at their child. Kiserri finally got the danger in hand and cried out in success. She rose up and spotted Missandei.

“Auntie auntie!” the little girl called out. She ran down the hall and threw herself at Missandei. Missandei grunted lifting the girl and putting her on her hip and smiled at the little bundle of joy. She saw Dany and Arya walking up the hall with hands clasped with interlocked fingers. They were lovers and it showed in their very movements and demeanor.

She felt another wash of sadness wash over her. She so wanted her love to come to her finally. She needed so much more than roses in her life. She needed her lover in person. She smiled at the little girl. She could put her sad thoughts away with this little girl in her arms hugging her tight.

Dany and Arya had reached them.

The little girl hugged Missandei and talked in her native tongue. Missandei easily understood the girl.

Kiserri pulled her face from Missandei neck. She looked into Missandei’s eyes. “Why are you so sad Auntie?”

Dany and Arya started to shush the child not wanting Missandei to be put on the spot. They both knew the angst their friend was feeling. Missandei looked at them to silence them. She did not want to hide anything away from this perceptive child.

“I am so happy for your parents Kiserri. They are so much in love with each other and with you. I too am in love but I am not sure she truly loves me. She is so far away.” Missandei thought that pretty much put into words how she felt.

“No auntie. She is here in Winterfell a lot. She goes away but always comes back to see you. She is just hidden. She constantly watches over you. Even I can’t see her all the time but I feel her. She thinks I can’t see her when she is here but I can. She is even more powerful than the Elohim and Auntie Infelice."

Missandei nearly staggered at the information. She had been sure her love left her completely after she had her fill of looking at Missandei while she slept and left green roses. Her love was willing to look at Missandei but not to love her. She had been sure that her sought after lover left her for long periods of time.

“Are you sure sweetie?” Missandei asked hopefully. She saw Dany and Arya staring at Kasseri. She had obviously picked up strange powers in her time with the Elohim.

“Oh yes Auntie Sandi. She loves you with a pure heart. She is just afraid. She has been hurt badly in the past. Her love was used against her.”

Missandei knew that. Her love had shown Missandei her past.

“She also thinks you will kill her.”

Missandei staggered and had to put her hand on the wall to not fall down. Arya and Dany rushed to their dear friend’s side. That had shocked Missandei. That was impossible. “I would never hurt her!” she nearly shouted at the little girl in her stunned reaction.

The girl looked at her with big eyes. “I’m sorry!”

Missandei hugged the little girl tightly. “I am sorry baby! I didn’t mean to yell at you. I just want you to know I would never hurt her! You must believe that Kasseri.”

“But She Who Must Not Be Named saw it when she gripped the Krill hard and accidentally touched the chain Auntie. She was on a floor with skeletons around her. Some had small flames but one had a big flaming skull. She was chained up with the chain you had put on her. She saw you above her plunging the Krill down to kill her. Her shock was so large at the vision Auntie that I could see what she saw. The Krill is so powerful it allowed me to see what She Who Must Not Be Named saw.”

Dany took Kiserri deftly from a suddenly weak Missandei. Arya leaned into the scribe to support her as Missandei processed what she had just heard. Missandei felt ill and was near throwing up. No no no no she repeated in her mind.

Missandei felt tears running down her cheeks. Her world was crumbling down. She would kill herself. She had no recourse. She would never harm her love.

“Auntie auntie!” She heard Kiserri cry out in a high pitched voice.

She turned to look at the child as sobs started to rattle her chest. Her world was crumbling down around Missandei.

“Those visions are not the truth Auntie. It is the future but not the future. You will forge the future you wish for. Your heart is true. Believe in yourself Auntie Sandi and your love will conquer hate. You will save the day!”

All the women stared at Kiserri. Had she become an oracle?

Missandei saw her Queen and Arya exchange looks. They were obviously conferring with each other through their eyes.

“I think we need to show her” Arya spoke to Dany.

“I agree” was her simple reply.

“Show me what?” Missandei could not help but be curious. She had just been shaken to her core and yet her native curiosity was winning out. Missandei was coming back to herself after her great shock. She wanted to see what Dany and Arya had to say. Kiserri’s pronouncement had calmed her heart. Kiserri was right. She would never harm her love. Never!

“Come with us to Arya’s bedchamber Missandei. We have something to show you.”

Kiserri held out her arms to Missandei asking to be held again by the small black teenager. Missandei smiled gladly accepting the offer. The little precious girl hugged Missandei with one arm the other gesticulating as the little dark hued girl pointed at this and that. Holding Kiserri further calmed the teenager.

They walked down the halls to Arya’s bed chamber. Kasseri was chipping again pointing at the massive rafters supporting the ceiling and one suite of armor that gleaned in the torch light. The Dothraki girl had the advantage of her youth. The storm had already passed for the young child.

They reached and went into Arya’s bed chamber. She sat Kiserri down on the floor and looked around. She did not see anything untoward. She looked at Dany and Arya. They smiled and pointed to the wall near the back of the room. It was then she saw it. It was so unremarkable she had totally overlooked it.

A large dagger with long crossguards that had been somehow stabbed into the wall. She was not impressed. The dagger had a large gem in it but it was dull and lifeless. She thought that gems in weapons of war were supposed to enhance the beauty of the weapon. She saw manacles over the dagger. The shackles hanging down with the cuffs resting against each other.

They both looked unspectacular. That dagger in the wall could not hurt her love. Her love was a goddess or as near to one as one could possibly get and not be one. She could see the blade was dull. It looked grey and for some reason she had the impression of being inert. This dagger was of no import. The manacles were only that. Manacles. How could these two items put fear in her love?

She looked at her Queen for an explanation. She was told the story how Linden Avery had slammed the dagger into the wall. Missandei was told of the brilliance of the gem and how the blade of the Krill was so sharp that you could see it which seemed impossible when Missandei heard it. One could not see the edge cutting the air. The Manacles were still just manacles.

She asked them how come they had not shared this story to her. It rankled her to be excluded. Arya and Dany looked at each other. They told her that they had not thought it important to share with others. It had seemed personal and not important to the current war effort. They had not made any connection to Missandei or anyone else in the Queen’s entourage as to being able to wield the weapon they had seen. They both had discounted for now this Krill and Manacles as something to deal with after the war.

The Queen and Arya supposed that some great warrior would wield the Krill and had, thus, not thought to tell Missandei of it and of Linden Avery and Infelice and their words of the two items. Missandei thought she could understand their thinking. She stepped up to the blade. It was dull. She started to wonder if her Queen had talked Kiserri into playing a prank on her. This was not a weapon that could kill her love. The name of the weapon did seem to fit her love though. It must of have come from the Land of her love’s birth.

“How did you know about this Kiserri?” Missandei asked the little child. “How did you know my love’s name and about this ‘Krill? How do you know of my love’s fear of the weapon?”

Kiserri looked up at her with her big eyes. “The Elohim fear this blade Auntie. It is the only weapon created that can kill them. It took Loric Vilesilencer over four hundred years to create this blade.” Kiserri spoke as if reciting a lesson. “With this weapon Caer-Caveral broke the Law of Life. Linden Avery pealed Thomas Covenant away from the arch of time with it. It is truly a weapon with no limits.”

“Auntie Infinnie told me all this. They had watched Loric Vilesilencer slowly making the Krill. They had snickered at what he was attempting to do Auntie. When he first lite the Krill they were shocked and dismayed. Auntie Infinnie told me it is the perfect weapon. Nothing can stand against the Krill Auntie Sandi if you have the strength of will to light it up with wild magic.”

Missandei looked at the “weapon” again. She turned to look at Dany and Arya. “It won’t come back out?”

Dany laughed and went over to the Krill and gripped it. She pulled and pulled hard her hair jerking. She turned around and looked at Missandei with a look of ‘well I tried’.

Arya walked over and gripped the blade with both hands and pulled hard with loud grunts. She was really jerking hard. Missandei saw yet again that Arya simply hated losing. Even to a blade jammed into a wall. Where Daenerys had pulled hard on the embedded blade, Arya jerked so hard her body lurched forward with her failed efforts to dislodge the Krill from the wall.
Missandei while in Astrophor had seen some of the powerful with monkeys as pets. She now saw Arya mimicking their actions. Arya had jumped up on the wall planting her feet against the vertical surface and had her hands wrapped around the hilt of the Krill. She was perpendicular to the floor as she jerked wildly on the blade. Her body strained her legs quivering with her efforts. Her hair hanging down below and jerking wildly with her efforts.

“Damnit! … Come out of the wall damnit!” Arya adjusted her hunched stance on the wall almost upside down. Arya constantly adjusting her grip and stance in her quest to dislodge the Krill from the wall. Her brown hair hung down in a flag that jerked and waved with her wild efforts to remove the weapon from the wall.

She finally gave up with a harrumph. She jumped back from the wall and landed adroitly on her feet. She glared at the blade and made deprecating remarks towards it.

Missandei walked over to look at the blade. Slowly she walked around the inert weapon examining it closely bending in to look at it with an intense gaze. She used her intellect to analyze this supposed weapon. She looked around the blade from all angles.

From the descriptions of the bright glow she thought maybe the blade had melted its way into the granite stone. Her close examination showed that was not how his blade had been put in this position in the wall. No, the stone showed no evidence of having extreme heat applied to melt the stone. She pondered what she was seeing.

Even Valyrian steel could not bury itself inside granite like this. A Valyrian blade would not break and the tip might get a bite and sink the tip in but not bury itself over eighteen inches like this. Plus, a woman had done this. Most women were not Dany or Arya or the Haruchai. They were not blessed with great physical strength. She saw just how dull the blade was. There was no way this blade did this.

“This is impossible. There is no way this blade did this. No one has this strength. No woman especially.” Arya glared at her. “No offense meant. Why would the blade go dull after hitting this wall?”

Arya snorted and stormed back over to the wall and gripped the blade. Missandei could tell Arya felt like she had been challenged. She jumped back up. Her hands gripped the hilt of the Krill and she put her feet up on the wall on either side of the blade and started to pull furiously. Her hair hanging behind her head was jerking wildly. She gritted her teeth and growled loudly and then started to curse underneath her breath heaving on the blade. She got wilder with her efforts.

“I don’t believe this. No way is this Linden Avery stronger than me! I am a mighty warrior damnit!”

Arya really did hate to lose.

Missandei knew Arya was controlling her cursing because of the presence of Kiserri.

Finally after a minute Dany barked at her lover “Godsdamnit Arya! If you throw out your back and we can’t make love for a week I will be really pissed off. I will cut you off for another month! I have my fingers.”

Kiserri looked at her mother’s fingers curiously.

Arya stopped instantly and looked over at Dany. Missandei smirked. Arya had been acting like the monkeys she had seen. Now she looked again like some of the monkeys she had seen in the courts.
of Qarth. Missandei saw the alarm flash in Arya’s eyes. She relaxed and lowered her feet to the floor. She sheepishly walked over to Dany and tilted her head down as her lips puckered.

Dany glowered at her but quickly relented and puckered her lips rising up on her toes to give her lover a wet kiss on the lips.

Missandei snorted and looked at the blade again. She gripped the blade. It felt dead to her. How could such a construct radiate so much power that Dany and Arya spoke of? It made no sense. She pulled on it but it did not budge.

Kiserri spoke up again. “You are not the only one who can remove the Krill Auntie. Others can and they will kill She Who Must Not Be Named with the Krill. He who masters the Krill will control the manacles.”

Rage flared inside Missandei.

“Why is she called She Who Must Not Be Named?” asked Arya.

Missandei heard Arya but her focus was on the blade “she once killed all men who came upon her and consumed all women and drove them insane inside her. She hated all life and herself more than anything else.”

Arya’s mouth fell open. “You love that?!” she asked in a loud shocked voice.

“You love me Arya” Dany spoke in a soft voice.

“Yes. So?”

“I was once like her. I shattered whole cities and killed all their rulers and supporters. Whole families I butchered without regard to guilt or innocence. I butchered whole armies on the field of battle without offering a truce even though I knew I had won the day. I gave no quarter.”

“But you are changed!” Arya hotly countered.

“So is Missandei’s love. Give her the chance to show us her redemption. She has already shown us the treachery of the Houses Frey and Bolton. She had no reason to. Yet she did. I choose to trust in love and redemption. Let this She Who Must Not Be Named work towards her own reclamation.”

Missandei heard them but she did not fully follow their words. It enraged her that any would dare hurt her love. She reached up and gripped the Krill again. Her anger at these persons who would threaten her love filled her mind. White light exploded into the room making the world like the heart of the sun for five seconds. When the light began to fade all stared at Missandei.

In her left hand was the Krill of Loric Vilesilencer. The gem was a brilliant white that flared like the burning sun. Its light was blinding yet it could be looked into. The blade was impossibly sharp and the very air was charged to overflowing with echoes of wild magic. The Krill was once more a weapon that could achieve any goal. Its blade was sizzling it was so white hot with magic and power. The air crackled with that power.

Missandei whipped the blade around. It felt as light as feather in her hand. She slashed and jabbed. She was clumsy and awkward but she did not care. Her steps not adroit. She could feel the power radiating out of the blade. This blade could shear Valyrian steel in two with ease. It could slay any opponent. She slashed and she noticed white arcs were left in the air like Dany and Arya’s rune swords but white instead of blue. The streaks lasting for a minute before they started to dissipate.
The room was filled with the patterns she made with the Krill. Kiserri was laughing enjoying the light show. It was exhilarating the feel of having such power in her hand and being able to control it. She knew she was clumsy by the warrior standards of her warrior Queen and Arya but she did not care.

She laughed. She didn’t know how to use it but at least it was in her possession and not in the hands of someone who could hurt her love now. She swirled the Krill around making pretty patterns in the air. She laughed making a smiley face in the air. She felt it looked like her face must look right now.

She knew her emotions would continue to rise and fall with thoughts of her love not coming to her fast enough. But, for the moment she was happy. She had a weapon that could kill her love. She would kill to keep it away from others.

She frowned. She was not a warrior. She would have rely on Arya and Dany to keep her and the Krill safe. She wondered where she would hide the Krill away.

She looked at Dany and Arya. “Where will I keep it?” Her two friends were watching her with glittering eyes watching the small scribe use the weapon with ease that had totally confounded their efforts.

Arya came over to her. “We can keep it with our other swords when we are at rest. Maybe when we are traveling Dany and I can carry it to keep it safe. Let me see the Krill.”

Missandei was not happy not being strong enough to protect the Krill but she was not a warrior and she knew it. She started to hand it to Arya.

The haft of the Krill approached Arya’s hand. Arya yelped and pulled her hand back.

“Gods! That blade is scalding hot! How is your hand not burned to a crisp Missandei?!”

Missandei looked at Arya confused. The Krill was quite cool in her hand. What was Arya speaking of?

Dany came over and slowly extended her hand. She too suddenly snatched it back. “Arya is right. The Krill is white hot. It is beyond even my Dragon blood to touch that weapon.” The Queen looked at Missandei quizzically. “You don’t feel any heat Missandei?”

“No. What are going to do? I need to hide it so no one can use it against my love.”

All three women gasped and Kiserri giggled. Before their eyes the Krill shimmered and began to waver. Then the blade seemed to melt and flow into Missandei’s hand. The melting blade looked like mercury flowing up Missandei’s hand and sinking into the pours of her hand. In five seconds the blade had disappeared along with its white hot glow.

Missandei looked at her hand shocked. She brought it up and rotated it around in front of her eyes.

“Is your hand alright? Do you feel any pain? Is your hand burning?” Dany asked in rapid fire.

“No! I feel totally normal. What happened? Where did the Krill go?”

“The answer is obvious Missandei. We must trust our senses. The Krill is now within you.”

Missandei turned her hand over.
Dany had a calculating look on her face.

“What do I do now?” Missandei asked. A thoughtful look came on her face. “I guess my love is protected with the Krill gone. I don’t know. I thought the Krill would be more—I don’t know—active I thought …”

“Missandei concentrate and let’s see if the Krill will come back into your hand” Dany told her interpreter.

Missandei looked at Dany. It couldn’t be that simple. She looked at her hand. “Appear!” she commanded.

Nothing happened.

“What were you thinking when you took the Krill from the wall? Think that thought again” Dany suggested to Missandei.

Missandei thought of protecting her love. She thought of her need to protect her love and the burning love she felt for She Who Must Not Be Named. Pure white light exploded into the room whiting everything out and then slowly faded away again. The Krill was again in Missandei’s hand the blade gleaming with impossible sharpness and seemed to hum with limitless power. The gem was glowing white hot with tendrils of eldritch power wafting up into the air in streamers two or three feet before dissipating. Wild Magic almost socking the air with white might.

“Wow” Arya spoke softly.

“I think the Krill is binding with you Missandei. See if you can will it back into yourself.”

Missandei took her hand and went to press the Krill into her stomach. She saw Dany and Arya’s eyes bulge. The blade flared when it touched her body and melted away into her stomach and was gone.

“Wow!” Arya whispered.

“Wow indeed” Dany answered Arya.

Missandei was shocked. Why would this talisman of almost infinite power bind with her? She decided she did not care. She would protect her love.

Missandei wondered. She walked to the wall where the manicals had fallen unseen when the Krill flared to life. These manacles were also a danger to her love. She again concentrated on protecting her love when she touched the manacles. Missandei bent down to grip the manacles.

When her fingers touched the cool metal they immediately shimmered and then like the Krill seemed to melt and flow into her hand to disappear into the body of the interpreter. She straightened up. It seemed the Ur-vile in their Weird had foreseen this moment. They had designed their manacles to meet Missandei’s need. The manacles and Krill both impossibly answering Missandei’s desires.

The three adult women stared at each other. They had seen a great wonder.

“I’m hungry!” Kiserri announced.

The serious spell was broken. The three women looked at each other and smiled. They knew some great portent had occurred.
They left Arya’ room and walked down the corridor heading to the kitchen for some lunch. Kiserri put her arms up for Missandei to hold her. Laughing the scribe bent down and picked up the sweet child. Kiserri kissed Missandei on the cheek and snuggled in with her head on Missandei’s shoulder.

Arya and Dany led the way. Dany asking Missandei a question about the logistics of the moving supplies along to the Wall.

They did not see Kiserri waving up at the ceiling.

She Who Must Not Be Named gasped. The child had seen her even transmuted deep in the stone. That was impossible. The child had definitely picked up some of the abilities of the Elohim in her time in Elemesnedene. Abilities that outran that arrogant fey faery race. She would have to think on this. Her love had the Krill in her. That was unexpected. Maybe that meant she would not kill her after all. The vision had been so clear. But she all of beings knew the fickleness of fates and what they let you know.

She longed to take her sweet Missandei in her arms and make sweet love to her. She would not betray her like Lord Foul had. Would she? He had seemed so perfect. He had totally fooled her. True. She had been young and innocent then. Power hungry and obsessed with the desire to control. She had grown up. Still she feared to be hurt again. She longed to give Missandei her virginity and to take hers.

She had heard all the words that her sweet love had spoken. The beauteous black teenager only thoughts were to protect She Who Must Not Be Named. Missandei spoke only of love for her green eyed lover. There could be no duplicity in Missandei. She was pure the Quaylar thought to herself. She could not be fooling her could she? Missandei was sweetness and purity.

A hard clench went through her incorporeal body. The little human was most assuredly not innocent and pure when it came to carnal desires and pursuits. The small black woman was all sex. Passions she had not felt in so many millennium coursed hot in She Who Must Not Be Named body. Her core was moist and her little nipples rock hard and throbbed with hot pulses of pleasure.

She would have to find the strength to trust and love fully. She could defeat the combined forces of Westeros and Essos in a day. The Ice King would fall before her. Despite his great might this small woman made her feel weak and afraid. Her Missandei was such an innocent she would never hurt her. She just had to learn to believe it.

The three women and Kiserri were rounding the corner. She Who Must Not Be Named had moved her location and set up a subspace distortion by bending the graviton waves around her being. She would invisible to the child now. The little girl laughed. She had adjusted her line of sight and stuck her tongue out at her and shook her head “yes”. The child had still seen her and was most pleased with herself. The three women rounded the corner and were gone. She Who Must Not Be Named was perplexed. Yes indeed. This child was very special. She phased out of this reality.

She Who Must Not Be Named had much to think on.
Oberyn

Oberyn sat on his butt at the foot of the bed. He looked back up the oversized king sized bed. He had to chuckle. Eddard knew his needs. A true cocksman like himself needed room to maneuver he snarked to himself. The bed was the proverbial “wreck”. The top sheet all twisted and half on the floor. Fohn was zonked out on her back snoring. Her limbs akimbo her right arm over Char. He had exhausted himself last night too. Trami was cuddle into his side with a smile on his face. He too had tried to keep up with Fohn and himself.

Oberyn looked over the three sleeping Cords of the Manethrall. He liked the Ramen a lot. They were a passionate people that lived life to its fullest. They gave their all to the Ranyhyn they served and then enjoyed life when not in service to the mighty horses of the Plains of Ra below Andelain.

The master spearman had learned that history well. The Ramen took all history of the Ranyhyn very seriously so Oberyn had too. He was enamored himself with these horses that made the Sandsteeds of his homeland look like farm animals. So it was easy for him to show passion for this mystical horses. It made their Ramen tenders putty in his hands as he fucked them.

He smiled remembering some the past evening’s festivities.

Fohn had first gotten on her knees and sucked off her three lovers. She had gone down on Char first. Oberyn loved watching a woman or man skilled at fellatio suck off a cock. Fohn sucked hungrily her head bobbing hard up and down and then would slow to twist her head on just Char’s cockhead sucking with cheek hollowing deep throat love sucks. She would alter her technique to keep it going working the shaft or his dickhead.

Fohn loved giving head. She would lift her head off a cockhead and flutter her tongue all over the bulbous dickhead. Then she might giving it sucking head again or lick down the towering shaft she was currently sucking on. Licking down the shaft and tonguing her current man’s scrotum sack. Sucking in one heavy testicle and swishing it around in her mouth with her tongue caressing and rolling the nut in her spit filled mouth. Her head rolling as she sucked and rolled the testicle in her mouth.

She would work both nuts in her mouth pulling them out her mouth and then swallowing the other heavy ball into her mouth and working it with wet sucks and lathing tongue. Then she would lick slowly back up the shaft she was loving looking up at her man with doe eyes. Her head slowly turning down with her eyes canted up as she tilted her head down and sucked in the mushroom cockhead again and started giving hot loving sucking head.

Fohn loved deep throat. She took Char’s dick down her gullet with hot avid skills. Oberyn never tired of seeing a woman’s neck first bulge out beneath her ears as a man’s dick or strap-on cock slide into her throat. Then watching her throat bulge out as a large cock slide down her gullet. The ramen male youths were very well endowed indeed. Their dicks filling Fohn’s hungry throat.
Night after night Fohn had sucked off any males in the room. She loved to be penetrated but she had proven she loved the taste of semen and loved swallowing huge loads down her throat down to her happy belly.

Char had cum screaming as Fohn bobbed fiercely on his upper shaft. His hot spurts of semen choking the female Ramen. She had choked with his hard bolts spurting into the back of her throat. Semen sprayed out her nostrils as she choked on the semen splashing her throat triggering her gag reflex. Semen poured out her choking mouth spewing out in splatters as Char still jerked his hips still pumping spunk into Fohn’s loosely sucking mouth.

The slut never stopped bobbing and trying to suck even as she choked. She was Oberyn’s kind of slut.

Then she first kissed her fellow Ramen Trami. The two males totally bisexual happily sucked semen out of her mouth she made sure to have in it when she locked lips with Trami. She gave him excellent fellatio next. He gripped her head and ‘forced’ her head down his towering prick driving her head down till her nose was in his belly. She loved it and stayed down till she was gasping. She sucked him hard and fast as he moaned and groaned.

He had fisted her hair and rode his dick down her throat and cummed with his dick spurting deep in her throat choking the willing slut as his cock fired off hot ribbons of spunk to Fohn’s belly.

Then Fohn was with Oberyn kissing him deeply as he tasted Trami’s hot cum in her mouth. The cord slowly knelt to her knees before Oberyn as he sat back in a plush upholstered chair. She gripped his towering prick and pumped it hard while she made smoky eye contact with the Red Viper.

She slowly bent her head down her head angled to let her keep eye contact with Oberyn. Her mouth opened and she swallowed Oberyn’s bulbous dickhead. His foreskin up on his cockhead. Fohn sucked up and down riding his foreskin along his upper shaft. She then pulled his foreskin down and sucked fiercely on Oberyn’s dickhead and upper shaft. Her head stilling and rotating in tight swirls on his dickhead her cheeks hollowing with her hungry sucks.

Oberyn threw his head back and groaned deep in his chest feeling Fohn clamp her lips tight to his veined shaft and started to suck voraciously up and down his thick prick. Her lips glued to his shaft. She sucked with cheek dimpling sucks as she took Oberyn hard into the back of her throat.

She sucked him avidly looking up at Oberyn as he sat back in chair. She would suck with hard bobs and then move to slow and sensual bobbing as her throat sucked with vacuum sucks. She would still her head on Oberyn’s mushroom dickhead and swirl her head sucking with voracious sucks her head lifting with the force of her love sucks.

Then she was back to bobbing again before she again would slow to rotate her head on his dickhead and glans. Oberyn had groaned so hard feeling his long thick cock sliding down Fohn’s skilled throat when she did deep throat on Oberyn. Gods Oberyn loved feeling her throat constrict his thick prick. Up and down she rode his dick in her throat bulging it out. Her head finally lifting off his dick while Fohn gasped for breath and drooled out floods of spit all over Oberyn’s dick which she used to fist his dick while she got her breath back.

Fohn after a few minutes of deep throat went back to hard bobbing. Her lips sucked tight to Oberyn’s cock. She sensed Oberyn weakening and still her head on his dickhead and glans and short bobbed on those her hands gripping Oberyn’s hips to anchor her body down to keep her in place her mouth sucking voraciously.
Oberyn pulled his dick out of Fohn’s hungry mouth and with his left hand gripped the Cord’s head with his spread out fingers and held it hard. Oberyn screamed in almost agonizing pleasure feeling hot semen jet up his shaft and spurt out his piss hole. Long hot ribbons of pearly semen blasted out his dick and splashed hard into Fohn’s face that Oberyn held in place to take each spur of his semen into her face with his dick only six inches in front of her face.

Oberyn made sure to blast his spunk into the cord’s nose, cheeks and into her eyes. His body convulsing as hard bolts of jetting semen splattered onto Fohn’s slutty face. The slut moaning and shaking taking all of Oberyn’s semen onto her face with a soft slutty smile on her features. He had not needed to hold Fohn in place. The slut loved men cumming all over her face. The show of control turning both on immensely. Oberyn had jerked his hips after the first hard spurts and soaked the cords face and hair with his spunk.

He had then licked her face clean along with Char and Trami. That had been hot with the three of them running their long tongues up and down Fohn’s purring face cleaning his spunk off her face.

Oberyn was so proud that despite being twice the age of his male companions he had recovered first and been ready to give Fohn the hard cock she needed. She had helped them all along in getting hard again by masturbating hotly for them. She had first worked her small breast with one hand the other hand working her slit and pumping her fuck hole before bringing out her lubricated fingers to work her rigid shiny clit jutting out its sheath with quick hard rubs and stabbing fingertip gigs of her fingers. She had nearly pulped her right tit as her right hand rubbed furiously up and down her shaved muff. Her screams of orgasms and convulsing body had him hard again fast!

Oberyn was happy that the people of the Land had no compunction against fucking and masturbating like the prudes of Westeros above Dorne.

Everyone masturbated! Why act like you didn’t Oberyn always wondered to himself. Well, maybe Stannis and Eddard hadn’t. Never knew with those two. Stannis had shed his old self like a snake molting its skin.

Since he was the old bull ready to fuck he took Fohn again. But first he had thrown Fohn down on the bed and sucked her off twice to screaming flipping orgasms. He was a man who absolutely loved dining on sloppy wet succulent pussy meat. He sucked on Fohn’s clit like he was starving while his strong tongue flailed the sweet shiny nubbin. He would lift his head and flat tongue lick the shiny nubbin hard and fast before siphoning deep back into his mouth to munch on happily rolling the slimy cunt meat around in his hard sucking mouth.

He sucked on her slit and labia lips and tongue fucked her fuck hole hard and fast. Oberyn’s head jacked back and forward to drive his tongue deep into the burbling fuck hole of his sweet female Ramen lover. Her sweet pussy intoxicating him with its hot musk. Fohn humped her muffin up into Oberyn’s mouth in a tight swirl her fingers clawing his scalp.

Oberyn loved seeing how her small titties rolled and shook on her chest as her body gyrated and humped up into his devouring mouth. The different angles of her wallowing body making her tits first whiplash forward and back and then swirl before again jacking forward and back with cute snaps of her breasts showing the force of gravity working her small but pronounced firm tits.

Her two hard cums filling his mouth with sweet hot slimy snail snot that tasted like ambrosia from the gods in his mouth before he happily swallowed the female spunk again and again. Fohn shrieked her ecstasy loudly in the room her hips convulsed driving her pussy hard up into the mouth devouring it. Her face slashed and contorted like she was being garroted with the ecstasy pummeling her young nubile body.
Fohn was a sweaty boneless mess after his second suck off of her temporarily satiated twat.

Then the Manethrall, Shapa had come into the room. She looked around the room with a critical eye. It was clear to Oberyn that Manethralls in Ramen culture were like supreme revered Field Marshalls to their cords. The two male ramen bowed to her deeply. She smiled and lifted her arms. They untied the belt around her waist letting it drop to the floor. They then took her shift off over her outstretched arms.

Shapa slowly removed her cord from her hair. She took the Amanibhavam out of her hair and handed them to her two male cords who reverently put them on the top of the dresser. As that was being done the Manethrall shook out her long curly tresses. The rich luxuriant brunette hair coming down to her lower shoulder blades.

The two male cords took her to the large long sofa on the side wall near the raging fireplace. There she was laid out on the sofa with one leg outstretched on the cushions on the other leg cantered out with her foot of the floor. Her shaved bald pussy on the edge of the sofa all wet and swollen. Her distended labia lips light brown and glistening with sweet fuck juice. Her clitoral hood all knotted up and wet.

The room warm with the fire and hot water rushing throw the walls, plus, three braziers filled with coke that glowed red radiating out heat. The room felt like Dorne in the summer. The heated room had their bodies quickly soaked in passion sweat. Oberyn watched as the two male Cords got on their knees between the Manethrall’s wide spread legs. Shapa reached down and hooked her seam opening open up wet slit to her cords. Her inner core clenching showing her inner folds all soaked in creamy love juice.

Trami went first. He was on all fours and bent his head down like a supplicant his face buried in his Manethrall’s cunt. His head would rotate in a tight circle his mouth making obscene suck noises. Wet obscene sucks filled the room as his mouth filled with Shapa’s cunt meat sucked deep into his sucking mouth. Then he would wiggle his head hard right and left sucking hard and tongue lashing his slut’s rigid pea sized clit.

Trami sucked his Manethrall off with vigor and skill. His head lifting from time to time tenting out his slut’s trim and growling as he then shook his head like a dog with a bone. He simply devoured hot gash. Soon Shapa had her left hand fingers threaded in Trami’s hair jerking his face deeper into her sloppy trim as he sucked and slurped on sweet slimy cunt meat.

Shapa’s other hand came down to grip the sofa with clawed fingers. Her back arched deep and her face looked like she was being tortured. Trami sensed his mentor’s body tensing as she rose to orgasm. He sucked with even more fierce sucks his tongue batting and writhing all over the clit sucked deep in his mouth. Her mouth screamed wild shrieks of hard cumming her body convulsing and flipping hard grinding her cunt up into her cord’s hot sucking mouth. Trami moaned drinking down hot cum that gushed out his Manethrall’s rupturing cunt.

Shapa collapsed back down to the sofa. Trami and Char kissed sharing their Manethrall’s cum in their heated lip lock. Their arms around each other pulling their bodies tight as they snogged deeply.

Now Trami moved to the side and Char moved in to get sloppy seconds. He gripped Shapa’s legs behind the knees and pushed the Manethrall’s leg up and back. Now the Manethrall had her knees beside her body her pussy uplifted to her cord. Char gripped the outside of her legs while Shapa gripped the back of her legs by her heels. She was folded partially her head jammed into the back of the sofa back. The wide cushion keeping her comfortable.

She looked down at Char who rose up more. He bent his head down like a supplicant before an alter and mashed his face down to get sloppy seconds. He moaned loudly as he buried his face deep into Shapa’s wet open seam. He first circled his head snuffling devouring Shapa’s cunt with long ragged sucks and long licks of his tongue working her sodden slit and clit meat. Char would lift his head to strong tongue lick up the drooling groove and over Shapa’s rigid clit all shiny and wet. Then he would mash his head down to suck feverishly on his Manethrall’s clit with quick sharp sucks.

Soon, Shapa was using her grip on her heels to rock her body to work her groin up and down to help Char plow his tongue in her groove and lash her clit when he sucked it into his mouth even deeper. Shapa moaned gutturally while Char snuffled eating out paradise.

Shapa’s right hand came down on top of Char’s head and ground his mouth down harder onto her sloshing couchie. Char sucked with all his pure love for his Manethrall his cheeks hollowing out showing his tongue plowing over his slut’s clit relentlessly.

Shapa’s head came up off the sofa back straining forward her eyes half rolled back her throat warbling and begging Char to suck harder. He did. His head lifted with a mouthful of slimy cunt meat in his mouth. Her trim stretched up into a wet tent of cunt meat. Char pumped his head up stretching out the trim in his mouth his cheeks dimpled with his vicious love sucks. His dimpled cheeks showed his tongue gigging the hard nubbin sucked deep in his mouth. The effect was almost immediate.

Shapa’s hand not grinding Char’s face into her cunt gripped the sofa cushion and she exploded in almost agonizing full body spasms of fucking bliss. With her grip on the sofa and her head slamming back into the sofa she surged her body violently into Char’s mouth. She screamed and violently flipped wailing. Her legs kicked like a stallion. Char lost his love suck but immediately gripped his Manethrall hard behind her knees and jammed her legs back pinning her knees to the sofa cushion.

Both of the Manethrall’s hands gripped Char behind his head and rammed his face back down into Shapa’s exploding cunt. Her body jolted and flexed hard as Char worked to draw out the Manethrall’s stunning orgasm.

Fohn had recovered by now and had watched her Manethrall be pleasured by her fellow Cords. She had a big smile on her face. She husked to Oberyn to fuck her hard. She called him her Sand Steed. That made Oberyn smile great big.

Oberyn took Fohn to the bed and mounted her Septa. He rammed his cock deep into her greasy fuck hole his balls slapping hard into the Cord’s ass with wet slaps of sweaty flesh. He was down on the slut pressing her down with his body into the bed. His hips rotating to impale her trim with his long thick cock. Her small tits ground into his chest. He kissed her deeply and gnawed on her throat making Fohn whiny.

He had positioned himself to watch the Manethrall be fucked by her two male Cords. They gotten up and pulled a still groggy Shapa up off the sofa and pushed the complaint woman down to her knees between them. Their towering shafts in front of her face. The Manethrall wasted now times diving on Trami’s cock. She sucked and twisted her head giving hot sucking head. Her lips tight to his thick veined shaft. Her mouth making wet obscene suck noises with her cheek hollowing inhalation of hard dick.

Oberyn had risen up to his hands. With one hand he had gripped Fohn’s left leg and folded it back. His own legs splayed out slightly. Oberyn used this position to pound Fohn’s wet slurping cunny with pounding strokes. Her hands were gripping his forearm as her face twisted with raw shocking pleasure. Then her body went wild flipping and jackknifing in a gut wrenching orgasm that hammered Fohn with shattering pleasure. Her throat corded up with the screams of ecstasy now flooding the room her face slashed and grimaced with shockwaves of pummeling pleasure.
Oberyn moaned feeling the teenager’s tight cunt milk and spasm up and down his hammering shaft splitting her trim in two. He looked back underneath himself and saw his dick was soaked in her creamy slimy cum. As Fohn slowly came down from her cum he pulled out her drooling fuck hole. He moved up on his palms and bent feet. Oberyn reached down with his right and fist Fohn’s head by her hair and lifted it to his jerking cock.

The slut hungrily sucked his dick into her mouth and bobbed on his long thick shaft savoring her pussy slavered all over Oberyn’s dick.

Shapa now was twisting her body right and left sucking on her male cords towering pricks. Her fists pumped both shafts with hard jerks on the spit soaked poles. Her long sweaty hair lank with sweat jerked around her shoulders with strands glued to her sweat dripping body. She was pulled right and left being manhandled. The powerful Manethrall relished being controlled in the sack Oberyn had seen.

He mused that so many powerful women loved to be dominated and abused by partners they trusted and loved. Like now. Trami and Char gripped the base of their towering shafts. With their grip they now dick whipped Shapa’s face all over with their thick heavy dicks. The cords jerking their cocks back to whip down hard to slash over their Manethrall’s face savagely. The impacts shocking loud in the room. Shapa grimaced hard and moaned loudly loving the pain and humiliation of heavy dicks whipping over her nose, mouth, cheeks and forehead. Her dark skin now had darker streaks on it from the loving abuse.

Oberyn had laid out Fohn again and mounted her like the sweet slut she was. He was now pounding Fohn hard. He had folded her body back with his arms hooking her legs and putting her ankles on his shoulders as fucked her pounding his dick straight down into her burbling muffin. Their bodies slapping hard as he impaled her womb on his dickhead. Fohn moaned feeling her cunt stretched out on Oberyn’s thick massive shaft. Her inner lips sucked tight to his shaft. The wet lips of her cunny pulled out on the out stroke to be shoved back into her cunt on the down stroke.

While he had fucked his sweet filly, Oberyn watched Char and Trami fuck Shapa hard like she liked it. They had taken her to the sofa again. They had her doggy on the sofa. They were handing Shapa back and forth between them on the sofa. They plowed her pussy with hard punishing strokes that lurched her body forward.

She was fucked hard in her pussy by one cord while she sucked a cock that was soaked in her creamy cum. The other Cord fucked her pussy hard making her head lurch on the shaft she was currently sucking hard on. Char or Trami would pull out her pussy and they would manhandle Shapa to turn her around to suck the cock fresh from her hot tight box. Her sweaty lank hair jerked with her hard head bobs sucking on thick veined cock.

Her other Cord fucked her quim hard and deep with long hard dick. The cords took turns taking Shapa’s pussy hard. Their thick cocks guided to burbling clamshell and then slide in balls deep stretching out the Manethrall’s pussy on their massive pricks. Her pussy split in two stretched into an O ring around the massive shaft fucking her hungry cunt balls deep.

Shapa’s body lurched and shook as she was pounded hard by her two male cords doggy. She soon cummed hard sucking Trami’s cock as Char slam fucked her flooding pussy. They continued to hand her back and forth as they fucked her to two more orgasms. Shapa’s slicked vulva drooled out cum with her inner thighs and stomach soaked in cum and sweat.

Then Trami first lost control screaming as he gripped Shapa’s hips hard pile driving his teenage cock into his Manethrall’s belly emptying his nutsack in her tight cunt. Char spun the tired Manethall around and mounted her from behind and fucked her savagely. Then he screamed his dick spurting hard as his dickhead spurted hard flooding Shapa’s womb with his hot semen. This pushed Shapa over the edge again her body convulsing in hard orgasm yet again.

Fohn cummed screaming again on his down plunging cockhead pummeling her cervix and slamming into her womb shocking the cord on a hot roiling cloud of hot ecstasy. He then got Fohn up in doggy and plowed her sweet hot tight teenage cunt from behind. His slamming thrusts jolting her body forward with each slam fuck thrust up her spasming pussy squeezing his cock hard. Oberyn roared his cock spurting hard flooding Fohn’s quim with his sperm.

They had all rested and drank fluids and ate apples and grapes to replenish lost fluids. Then Shapa took Fohn to the furs before the fireplace and the two mares fucked heatedly as the men jerked their cocks.

They sucked each other off showing why women ate pussy the best. The two women snuffled and moaned eating out sweet gash. Their mouths latched onto rigid throbbing clits. The mouths tormenting the clits with hot friction and suction. Both women cummed screaming hard. The MILF and the teenage girl had gripped their slut’s hair to grind the face into their exploding couchies.

They had then rolled into a snuffling humping sixty-nine that was filled with slurping, chuffing and loud moans swallowed but wet pussies. Shapa was on the bottom gripping Fohn’s ass tight to lift her head to dine on sodden trim and drive her tongue in and out Fohn’s burbling fuck hole. Then her head worked down to latch onto her cord’s clit and attacked with licking tongue and sucking lips. Fohn had her head bent down to siphon suck on Shapa’s clit and flat tongue licking it hard and fast and then slow and sensuous with lots of circling of the shiny nubbin with her wiggling pressing tongue.

The women worked in concert to simultaneous orgasms with screams swallowed by wet muffins engulfing sucking mouths.

The Manethrall took control now. She directed the fucking while she masturbated. Her body soaked in sweat and cum now.

Shapa sat at the head of the bed. Her back against the headboard. She had her two male Cords and Oberyn relentlessly fuck Fohn with their cocks doing her in all her fuck holes at the same time. Oberyn had been so happy to discover that Fohn relished ATM and A2P. Oberyn smiled down as he straddled Fohn’s ass and pile drove his cock straight down her ass pipe his groin and nutsack slapping hard into her rippling ass cheeks.

Char was in front of Fohn as she sucked his dick hungrily. His dick soaked in her ass juice. The female cord moaning as she slurped her asshole off Char’s dick. Trami was lunging his dick up into her cunt with savage strokes into Fohn’s belly stretching her cunny out on his thick dick. Her body shuddering from the delicious DP fuck fucking her sweetly.

Oberyn loved moving around the filly as her lovers constantly switched holes and had her cleaning her pussy and ass off their cocks. They made Fohn cum twice with searing bucking orgasms. The first time Oberyn had to grip his forehead hard as he lay on his back pounding her exploding cunt as Trami pounded her shithole. Her pussy squeezing his cock in a spasming hot clenching velvet fist. Oberyn fought off his orgasm.

Fohn was now was rising again. Oberyn was slam fucking her ass while Char on his back was pounding her pussy and she was sucking off Trami. Her sweaty hair plastered to her cheeks and neck. Her whole body soaked with sweat that ran off her body in streams that dripped off her ribs and face. Her body jolting and shaking with the hard dicks filling all her fuck holes. Her belly filled with nearly two feet of hard lunging dick that filled her belly with thick hard cock. Her mouth and back of her throat fucked hard by Trami. Spit was drooling out her mouth. The spittle running down her face and chin to rope off her jaw line in slimy strands.

Shapa had fucked her herself to two orgasms that had had her screaming and flipping in hedonistic self-induced pleasure. Her body soaked in sweat and her groin slavered with milky cum all over her belly, shaved mound and inner thighs. Her hair plastered all over her body.

Shapa barked out at the two male Cord teenagers to cum in Fohn when she orgasmed. She barked the same command to Oberyn. All three males chuffed and cursed as they gripped the willing slut harder with their hands controlling the moaning whore. They slam fucked their thick poles deep into their slut’s willing hungry fuck holes. Her cunt slurping on Char’s cock and her asshole pinching tight on Oberyn’s down plunging dick splitting her ass in two.

Fohn whinnied and started to go wild. She bobbed wildly on Trami’s cock and then glued her mouth to his cockhead and gripped his shaft sucking furiously with a fast bobbing head. This went on for a half a minute and she started screaming while giving wild sloppy head. Her screams occluded by the thick shaft filling her mouth and top of her throat.

Her body was flipping wildly. Oberyn had risen up on his feet and gripped her ribs with one hand and her hair in his other fist while Char gripped her hips to slam her back into the cocks plunging balls deep into her exploding fuck holes. Her body jolting forward hard by the shafts hammering deep into her belly. The thick pricks pounding up into her exploding fuck holes. The filly’s body jackknifing as much as it could with her body controlled by her male lovers.

Oberyn’s head ripped back and he roared slamming forward again and again emptying his nut sack depth in the teen’s asshole. Char screamed lunging his ass off the bed spearing his cock into the gushing pussy filling it with hot spurts of cum. Oberyn and Char were filled with hot pleasure feeling Fohn’s pussy and asshole grip tight their shafts and milk all the sperm out of the hard lunging shafts.

Fohn’s body convulsed hard feeling hot sperm jetting hard nearly a foot deep up into her cunt and colon. Trami wailed his body convulsing as Fohn sucked his balls dry of sweet cum. Oberyn still straddled Fohn’s body his hand planted on her back holding up his convulsing body. His body filled with sweet ecstasy as his dick finished pumping semen up Fohn’s shithole.

Oberyn’s body was still convulsing with his dying orgasm filling his mind with sweet pure pleasure.
He felt the bed shift and Shapa had crawled forward. She was by his hip. She gripped his shaft and pulled it out of Fohn’s asshole that gaped wetly her sphincter clutching hard. Her asshole showing all its frissures. His dick soaked in whitish shit juice. Shapa dove on his still rock hard cock and sucked Fohn’s sweet ass of his dick. Char had wormed out from underneath Fohn. He moved up and Trami moved back so Char could flop down with his cock by Fohn’s mouth. She now sucked her pussy off Char’s cock.

Oberyn remembered that he of course recovered first and took Shapa face to face and fucked her to orgasm and then did Fohn doggy while the two recovered male cords now fucked Shapa DP as she screamed and convulsed so hard and then cleaned her fuck holes off their cock.

They had fucked for another three hour intensely before they were finally fucked out. Oberyn proud that yet again he had easily kept up with the early thirty Manethrall and her teenage Cords. He had then had Char and Trami fuck him relentlessly making his asshole scream in sweet orgasms and sucking his shit juice off their rock hard beautiful dicks.

When he had awoken Shapa had gone. Soon after that a light knock on the door had him getting up to receive a scroll from Dorne. He had found space at the foot of the bed and read the scroll from his sweet paramour Ellaria. Gods he missed his woman. He had thought of her when his cock jetted his sperm deep into Fohn and Shapa’s bellies or up Char or Trami’s tight assholes.

The man read the scroll from the woman he loved with all his heart. He was happy that his wife was not wasting time pinning for him. That was not the Dorne way. Some of the best of Dorne had had to remain back at the Battleborne Academy. The future fighters and military leaders of Dorne still had to be prepared. Many of the instructors left were in their physical and viral prime. They had to train the cadets and rising officers relentlessly throughout the long day as needed. The instructors finding time to do their own training to keep in top shape. One could not have Cadets outperforming their masters.

Oberyn had another reason for leaving a cadre of leaders behind in Dorne. It was distasteful, but, he had to plan for all contingencies.

If things went sour in this campaign there had to be someone left to organize a rear guard action as ships were launched to evacuate as much of the populace of Dorne and refugees that would be streaming south as possible. There would need to be a mass exodus to Essos. That was not the future of course. Oberyn had every intention of winning. Failure was not an option. Still, any leader had to plan for all contingencies; even the impossible. If they were defeated at the Wall then the might of Westeros had not been enough. The forces that were in Dorne and the refugees would be gathered and taken on board ships. Dany had plenty of ships. The survivors would flee to Essos to plan what to do next.

Oberyn took a deep breath and banished the negative thoughts from his mind. One of the keys to combat was going into a battle visualizing your victory. He hoped to impale the Ice King on his Valyrian spear tip. He saw his cold crystal body twitching on his spear as Valyrian steel killed him. It would be glorious. Enough of sour thoughts that would not occur. His Queen had planned to well for that to happen.

He mused on his sweet Ellaria. She was not waiting and wasting time on his return. That made him smile. She had spent nights with Jaran and Mateo as they slammed their large hard cocks into her fuck holes. She loved rough sex with multiple male partners. She wrote she would have preferred that Oberyn had by been there to make the fucks TP. She loved to be fucked airtight she loved to tell Oberyn. Ellaria loved to be overwhelmed with hot intense sensations from every hole filling her with ecstasy.

His paramour again waxed poetic on the joys of multi partner sex when they were male. She loved gangbangs. Ellaria telling Oberyn how she loved to first suck on a hard dick. Then feeling her throat purr as she sucked on the cock and taking that cock down her throat. Then having the cock working her pussy suddenly demand her focus as it slammed in balls deep. Then maybe her mouth taking her attention back or it might be her asshole being squired hard and fast with a sweet anal fuck. Ellaria loved being overwhelmed with sweet sensations from all her fuck holes. The joy of never knowing which sensation would overwhelm her and demand her mind’s attention as it throttled her with fucking bliss.

She had availed herself of Marinah and Bernyce to have seasoned bisexual women in her bed. Women who were experts in eating pussy and finger banging. They were also experts in using strap-ons and all manner of dildos to bring extreme pleasure to their bedmates. Ellaria had cum so hard.

Then Ellaria had mixed her lovers to have both sexes fucking her at the same time. To have the partner pairings constantly changing keeping the excitement at the highest levels. Ellaria loved to eat pussy while getting her pussy or asshole fucked hard. To have a man’s power mashing her face forward into the woman’s pussy. His dick slamming into her pussy or ass jacking her face into sweet gash. She loved to have her face mashed into her slut’s vulva and feel it flare around her hot vogbling mouth.

Oberyn knew Ellaria loved experienced lovers but she loved as much if not more deflowering the youth coming into the Academy. Many were quite young having been selected by retired recruits or by the traveling officers who scoured the castles, holds and Bedouin camps of Dorne looking for the next generation of warriors to keep Dorne strong and free. It had been this martial attitude that had allowed them to repel the Targaryens in their war of conquest of Westeros four hundred years ago.
There martial prowess had kept them free over the millennium.

Dorne must remain strong and vigilant to keep its independence. They had chosen to join the Queen. They had not been compelled. It made all the difference in the world to Dorne and its leaders. The Queen had come to them seeking alliance and had won the allegiance of Dorne and thus securing its might to her aims.

To keep this strength, the best were brought to the military academies of Dorne in their youth when discovered to get them trained up in the basics of military life and conditioning. When their bodies matured they were already advanced in their studies and conditioning. This kept the armies of Dorne filled with the ranks of well-trained physically and mentally fit and astute officers. The regular troops trained by these officers made Dorne a mighty military force.

Many girls actively sought out the military life to escape the traditional life and traditions in the more remote castles and tribes camps deep in the deserts of Dorne. Adult women in the military from these areas were constantly cycling through their old castles, holdfasts and Bedouin camps looking for young girls with potential to become fighters in the forces of Dorne. Young girls jumped at the chance to escape the stifling life that so many had awaiting them. Women who did not seek to escape were free to stay and live the traditional life.

There had been resistance when the academies were first established after Nymeria had instituted the concept of the academies. She had made it clear it was open to both sexes. Many had tried to hide their daughters away or promise off at a very young age. The travelling emissaries of the Academies made sure the girls were still given the choice if they were deemed of having potential. If they accepted the offer to join the academy they were taken. The contracts broken forcibly if necessary.

Marriage vows and contracts were broken and Bedouin chiefs and holdfast lords were threatened to be put to the sword. These lords and sheiks knew that this was not a bluff. It was soon accepted if grudgingly that the needs of Dorne took precedence over their own selfish familial needs. Oberyn and his brother made sure this was strongly adhered too. Doran’s daughter would definitely make sure that tradition was continued. Being married to two of his daughters only further reinforced that tradition.

Many of the girls came from the hinterlands suppressed and had been made to feel cowed. Oberyn knew that many young girls waited for the days of the recruiters to show up at homesteads and castles. They would suddenly jump at the offer to leave. Parents and betrothed parties shocked at the seeming sudden defection. Oberyn loved it. What woman would not want to live free if she knew she could escape the life of boredom and servitude?

Each generation of escaped girls going back to recruit the next generation was a strong goad to further change. No one fought the tradition anymore. It was simply not worth it. Too many generations of shocked men finding their supposed cowed daughters openly defying them and going off to the academies had slowly wrought change in mores and attitudes. The girls had learned over the centuries to merely bid their time while spouting the platitudes they needed to awaiting their freedom. The daughters usually never to return or if they did it was to seek out the next generations of recruits.

Several times, early on, tribes and houses had revolted and killed the emissaries of the Academies. The retribution had been swift and brutal. All responsible and those even probably suspected of collusion were swept up. Many persons were executed and others had their lands taken and given to Houses who accepted the new traditions. Soon the old had been swept away by a better present and hoped for continued future.

These girls came to the military academies to escape having to live the old traditions still prevalent in the hinterlands of Dorne. The Houses no longer fought the inevitable but that did not stop them trying to brainwash their daughters. Some no doubt were cowed and had their wills crushed but the tradition was too strong now. Many girls silently keeping their own faith till their turn came for the freedom of the Academies.

Oberyn had admired Ellaria. She had used her status of being born into noble class and had had options that many women did not have. She may have been a bastard but her father was a high noble and his daughter was raised as such. She therefore supported other young girls being given the option to escape the restrictive path that society to often presented women.

Oberyn had a wry smile on his face. It was time for the winter crop of raw recruits to be entering the Battleborne Academy. Fresh young recruits away from home still unsure in a new environment. The teenage girls unsure of their future only knowing that the Academies were the way to achieve freedom and the ability to live a life they chose. Oberyn knew that during the two initiation times of winter and summer he would avail himself of his many lovers since Ellaria was often very busy at this time.

His paramour made herself available to the young lasses coming into the academy. Ellaria frequented the cafeteria and the common areas where the young girls congregated in their off time. She mentored them and offered her support. She helped the girls find the cliques and fraternities to join to help them fit into the Academy life and begin making the connections they would avail themselves of for the rest of their lives.

Of course the new recruits were told immediately upon arrival about Ellaria and who her paramour was. The great Oberyn Martell which always made his chest puff up in pride. The pair were known far and wide in Dorne for their sexual prowess and willingness to fuck one and all as equals. It was known the two were always quick to give support and sage advice. They fully supported all new recruits in helping them to fit in and start advancing in their new lives and careers.

Oberyn was a vain man and admitted it. He loved having his image boosted up and being made to seem grand and great.

The young girls and boys looking for groups to join and any benefactors to help them better their lot and more quickly integrate into the new environment they found themselves in. It was natural that the new recruits wanted to join a clique. The new recruits wanted to experience all that academies offered. The recruits wanted to develop their minds and bodies to become excellent officers.

They also wanted to experience the wild sex that was well known that the academies offered. You worked hard at your training and craft in the day but at night you played as hard in the beds of your fellow recruits and with hoped for higher classmen, officers, instructors and benefactors.

It was in his environment that the elders worked. Ellaria gave advice and comfort to the young women coming into the academy. Most experiencing their first flush of young adulthood. Girls becoming women and with the burgeoning appetites to match. Ellaria loved cock but preferred pussy. She loved to fuck other men but if she could find women or girls for her bed she would always choose them first.

Oberyn smirked that he had won her affections as her paramour. He had not only captured the sweet slut’s libido but also her mind and heart. She had wanted healthy strong children and had selected Oberyn as her mate. It had been his liberal attitude and quick wit that completed the deal for Ellaria. That had not been enough in her selection of Oberyn. She had been equally attracted to his keen intellect and ambition to serve Dorne and his House.

Ellaria loved deflowering the twelve, thirteen and fourteen year old girls and boys who caught her eye coming into the academy. Ellaria would be surrounded by the more aggressive young girls begging for her attentions. These she put off initially. These experienced lesbian and bisexual sluts would be there for Ellaria. The vixens quickly pairing off with their fellow sexual aggressive young teenagers. The experienced girls fucking each other aggressively having for the first time all the pussy they could devour openly and freely.

Ellaria would start bringing these new virginal recruits back to her bed at night and bust their cherries and take them to heaven the whole night long. She had to move quick since privilege had no rank in matters of the heart. The aggressive new recruits moving quick to find virgins to seduce and deflower. This was allowed since they were new recruits and needed to develop tactics and strategies in how to achieve a goal. The teachers of Dorne would not pull rank. Everyone had to earn their conquests.

Other instructors and benefactors were also on the prowl but they would let Ellaria have her first pick since she was the paramour of the Red Viper. Each class was so full of willing lasses that there was plenty to go around. Bisexuality and homosexuality freely promoted at the Academies. Many supposedly straight girls and boys discovering their latent homosexual natures in the freedom the Academies offered.

Of course fucking these adult lesbian sluts avidly helped her get first dibs on the newbies. They knew that soon Ellaria would be sharing the new sluts having already taught them awesome basic skills. The adult seducers sharing their conquests. All were happy with the arrangement of seducer and seduced.

She always brought two girls back with her to her bed to make sure they learned to love all pussy and not be hooked on hers alone. She did not want the girls all clinging to her. She wanted the girls to develop a sense of being in open relationships. Ellaria had had multiple lovers from her deflowering and loved it. She had always had lovers of both sexes but much preferred her own sex.

The teenage years were all about freedom and sampling all the pussy you could. It was time to enjoy life and develop one’s skills. Ellaria had been like a bee drunk on pollen when she was the age of the girls she was bedding in the seasons of initiation at the Academy. She had loved going from woman to woman’s bed fucking exuberantly in long fuck trysts. She would fuck men too of course and loved the orgasms she had with them but the brass came from going down on a woman, finger banging, tripping or having them fuck her with their strap-on cock.

She brought that same philosophy now to her deflowering adventures. She taught these neophytes the love of multiple partners. Why limit oneself when you had so many willing partners. Here in the Academy and Sunspear liberal thought prevailed. Women were called sluts for fucking all they could but so were the men. The word was used with pride. It was a word that showed you were a person who loved sex and life. That you were a person who pursued pleasure. Ellaria taught this by having the girls devour each other after she had broken their cherries and satiated her need for new fresh pussy.
Ellaria loved instructing newbies in the arts of Sapphic lovemaking. The young teenage girls anxious to dine on sodden pussies and drive tongues deep up spasming assholes. The sweet sluts parting their legs wide for Ellaria’s thick long strap-on cock. Her dick ripping through hymens if she chose to not use her fingers. Oberyn loved to watch his paramour work a virgin pussy till her thick stalk was buried balls deep on each stroke as she busted in her new love sluts.

Then slowly prying open their virgin assholes with her thick cock. Ellaria taking it slow and using lots of lubrication for the first anal fucks. Slowly prying open their shitters and getting the girls used to the extreme full feeling and the initial pain. Ellaria encouraging the girls to relax and to focus on thoughts of pleasure. Getting the teenage girls to mentally turn the nerve endings in their anus from pain to pleasure.

Both of them always watched their anal virgins, both girls and boys, waiting to see the “moment” when their eyes pulsed and bodies jolted when their shitholes started to flood their bodies with those heavenly pulses of ecstasy that became stronger and stronger till your asshole exploded in shocking blinding anal shredding ecstasy.

Of course many of the girls came to the Academies already sexually active. This was Dorne after all. Oberyn had started fucking when he was just twelve and Ellaria a year earlier. Many of the new recruits were as active as Oberyn and Ellaria had been at their age. These sluts and new rising cocksmen were equally nice to bring to their bed. No instruction needed. The new sluts eager to continue refining their techniques and learn new ones.

Ellaria kept the new recruits rolling through her bed often having up to six or eight women in the height of her deflowering season as she called it. The sluts filling her bed making sure they became addicted to pussy for the rest of their lives. Many would be bisexual like herself but many would be committed homosexuals from that point on. Each night new pairings or greater numbers and new girls brought to Ellaria as the new recruits did their own seducing and brought their new conquests to first Ellaria and then Oberyn if they wished to partake of hard cock and excellent fucks from a man.

After rewarding the aggressive girls with her body upon their first visit to their home she would then help the more shy girls to come into their own by giving them extra special attention and support. She would have them eating out of the palm of her hand after a few days. Then she would bust their cherries and make them addicted to her pussy and their fellow classmates’ sweet young hot tight pussies.

Then later with the bisexual recruits she would start to rotate them into her and Oberyn’s bed and other male and female officer’s beds. Oberyn was quite happy with the system! Oberyn loved all the new pussy and asshole that Ellaria constantly brought him.

When recruits felt love for their fellow soldiers you were much more willing to fight like a wildcat to keep them safe and to fight in any situation to see them safe or to save them.

It kept both him and Ellaria feeling, looking and acting young. The human body was created to give and take sensual pleasure and to deny it that pleasure was a sin. He would never deny himself or others the pleasure that his body gave or took.

Ellaria was even more happy of late. She had been wanting to offer herself to Myrcella for some time. She was such a beautiful young woman. Now that Ellaria had fallen in love with Cersei she naturally craved to fuck her sweet beautiful daughter. They had taken one look of the young charge with Arianne when she came to Dorne and knew she was gay. They also knew that eventually she would capture Arianne’s heart. Ellaria had backed off at the time not wanting to prevent what was obviously written in the stars.
Then it had happened as Ellaria had foreseen and even more. She had not seen that her youngest daughters would also fall in love with Myrcella. Her own children had always been combative with their mother. They were all strong aggressive women and the girls had striven hard to prove their independence of her and to a large degree their father. They were proud and vain. Their parents could not complain. Were they not the same?

Ellaria had often had sex with Obara and Nymeria. She had often sought the affections of Serella the daughter of a Summer Island trader captain of a Swan ship but she had always thought of herself as straight. Oberyn loved sex with all partners but had not sought to be a Targaryen or Lannister and fuck his own daughters except for his eldest. She had come to her father and Ellaria when she was thirteen and quickly seduced them with her beautiful body. His eldest daughter had proven insatiable and a great fuck. Many nights he had fucked both of the beautiful women often as they fucked each other.

He had plenty of other conquests. He had no problem with Ellaria choosing to sleep with his daughters. She had not slept with the daughters of her own body but it was not for a lack of trying.
The younger sand snakes had their own conquests to pursue. Oberyn knew Ellaria’s daughter were afraid that Ellaria would somehow use their sexual love against them.

They were wrong of course but he could not get them to realize that for some reason. They were headstrong and refused to listen to their father. Oberyn smiled. Had he not been the same with his father. One needed to pull away from one’s parents to build yourself into the person you were to become.

It had been them rebuffing Ellaria’s advances. He had to comfort her at night from the sting of their refusal. She could not understand how they could refuse her love. She still fucked her mother when they visited Hellholt. Ellaria’s mother was still quite a striking woman and Oberyn had fucked her and her daughter together many times on their visits to Hellholt.

So Ellaria had waited to see what would happen with Arianne and Myrcella and sure enough the two had become lovers indeed. With Loreza and Dorea falling under the spell of Myrcella had been unforeseen. Ellaria had had the same combative problem with her youngest daughters as she had with her eldest. They just seemed to bump heads. Oberyn was not surprised really. His daughters were headstrong like their mother and his fierce drive and unwillingness to show weakness or bend the knee unless they had a very good reason too.

Oberyn had bent the knee to Daenerys Targaryen because it was clear she was the resolution to the prophecy of the poem A Song Of Fire And Ice. It had not been Rhaegar or his son who fulfilled the prophecy. Or even his now found first son Jon Snow. It had been his sister Daenerys all along. She had taken the prophecy and made it about her. She had conquered Essos destroying and killing all who prophesized against her.

The Queen had told Oberyn several times “I make my own prophecy and destiny” and “Essos is littered with graves of prophets who opposed me”. That had convinced him to join forces with her.
She had become the greatest living force in recent memory. She had amassed a huge army and capably led it.

She would have crushed Dorne in any war. She had three dragons and would have used them in such a way as to destroy Dorne and not put them danger. She always thought outside the proverbial box. He had definitely made the right decision.

It seemed his wife had also made the right decision in showing patience with Myrcella and Arianne.
Arianne had never shown any interest in his paramour even though she was bisexual herself. She seemed to feel that there needed to be separation with herself and Ellaria. That one day she would rule Dorne and would not put herself in a situation that might demote her power and prestige. Thus, her rejection of Ellaria. Again Ellaria had been hurt. She was not used to being rejected. Her beauty and persona ensnared women so easily to her bed. These rejections hurt Ellaria deeply.

That had changed for the better it seemed from what Ellaria’s scrolls read. Oberyn was happy for his paramour. The latest long scrolls from his love had laid it all out for her man knowing he loved all the details. His sweet Ellaria’s patience had paid off big time. Last week she had asked to visit the Pride of Dorne in their “lair”. She had arrived dressed to please. Her ample tits on full display with her low cut bodice and her dress tight on her still super tight ass and full thighs.

They had sat around in the main sitting chamber that Arianne and Myrcella had. The four members of the Pride of Dorne sitting around Oberyn’s paramour. The conversation polite and slightly stilted as Ellaria tried yet again. Ellaria was making her subtle overtures again of her forming a “more personal relationship” with them and her two youngest daughters.

The next part of her letter had become quite mushy Oberyn smirked reading it again. Her subtle offers had almost instantly had eight hands ripping her expensive dress to shreds and those hands and four mouths literally devouring her sweet voluptuous flesh. Ellaria had gone into pages of detail like Oberyn liked on how Myrcella, Arianne and her two youngest daughters fucked her bowlegged.

It seemed the Pride of Dorne had decided that they were secure enough in their love to bring in their sweet family members into their pride. The two youngest daughters of Ellaria now anxious to bury their faces in the vagina that had brought them forth to the world.

One after another she was on her knees before the sofas in the sitting room sucking off first Myrcella since she was the pride leader. Ellaria had loved cupping the beautiful blonde’s ass cheeks helping the slender teen to grind her swollen muff up into her mouth. She could now happily report that Myrcella’s hot wet cunt was indeed as sweet as she had heard. She sucked the teen off twice to screaming orgasms. Myrcella jamming her exploding cunt into Ellaria’s hot sucking mouth.

Then she was between Arianne’s wide spread legs. Her fat shaved cunt open and wet. Arianne’s musk intoxicating. Oberyn read how Ellaria had gazed at the long wet brown labia lips bloomed out Arianne’s slit and her wet cunt hole clutching when Ellaria spread her lips back and pulled Arianne’s vulva open. Then Ellaria had feasted on paradise. She ate the future ruler of Dorne out with all her skills to prove to her she was a great fuck.

Ellaria buried her face deep into the steamy wet depths of Arianne’s pussy and sucked fiercely on her rock hard clit and tongue fucked Arianne’s fuck hole avidly her head hammering in and out. Ellaria loved the feel of the wet heat engulfing her face on the down stroke. Often pausing to rotate her face in the wet paradise that was Arianne’s sweet cunt. Then Ellaria would glue her mouth to Arianne’s snatch and suck in mouthfuls of sweet cunt meat and munched happily. Arianne rolled her hips to rotate her pussy up into Ellaria’s mouth. She sucked Arianne off twice too drinking down mouthfuls of hot slimy creamy white female snail snot.

Then she was before Loreza. Her daughter smiled at her mother with a sultry smile. She reached down with her hands and hooked her fingers into her groove and pulled her slit open fully showing her cunt hole. Her love box all deep red and soaked in love cream. The daughter flexed her belly to make her open cunt clutch and pulse before her mother’s staring gaze. Ellaria was hypnotized by the sight of her daughter’s wet cunt opened up for her. Loreza’s wet folds clutching and flexing all deep red winking at her.

“Eat me out mommy … show me how much you love me … suck your daughter’s cunt you incestuous slut!” Loreza had started with a little girl voice but had ended in a harsh hard commanding tone. Loreza smirked seeing the hard shiver run through Ellaria’s tight voluptuous
Her eyes glazed realizing she about to eat out one of the daughters who had cruelly rejected her. Now her daughter was both begging and commanding her mother to suck her off. The plea laced with command that always thrilled Ellaria.

Oberyn read as he now jerked his cock. Ellaria told her lover she had moaned deep in her chest as her face buried itself deep in his daughter’s pussy sucking Loreza’s clit deep into her mouth and deep throat love sucking as she looked up at Loreza’s face. The mother enjoying seeing the fierce pleasure her mouth gave her daughter while she sucked her off to a screaming orgasm.

Ellaria described how she loved feeling her daughter’s pubic bone grinding up into her hot sucking mouth. Feeling Loreza’s pussy engulfing her mouth in a wet heated kiss. To see her daughter’s body buck and twist with the hammer blows of orgasm that her own mouth had sucked from her daughter’s sweet cunt.

Ellaria of course needed more.

Her tongue licked over the sweet clit with her mouth buried in Loreza’s vulva and then lifting so she could hard flat tongue lick. Then she fast tongue licked and then butterfly stroked the shiny nubbin with her fast batting tongue. Loreza crying out in helpless pleasure. Ellaria giving her daughter wet pussy kisses that sucked and lashed her jangling clit. Loreza chuffing and crying out in ecstasy and then screaming in orgasm again as her mother sucked her clit deep into her mouth and tried to suck it down her throat while tongue flailing the rock hard clit all shiny and wet.

Then she worked three fingers into her daughter’s tight pussy and finger fucked her hot tight hole as she worked all her magic on her daughter’s clit with long hot sucks. Her tongue raking over the hard nodule. Soon Loreza’s cunny was soupy sounding with cum splattering out the flooding fuck hole. Ellaria sensing the end coming again. She sucked so hard her head lifted up tenting her daughter’s upper cunt an inch off her vulva. Loreza’s clt all stretched taunt while her mother’s tongue gigged the rock hard pearl relentlessly while her right hand harpooned fucked her daughter’s flooding pussy.

Oberyn smiled great big reading Ellaria’s description of his daughter’s awe inspiring orgasm. Loreza had screamed herself hoarse humping up desperately into her mother’s face grinding her exploding twat into her mother’s expert devouring mouth and deep hammering fingers.

Ellaria then described to her Oberyn how she moved to get between Dorea’s legs. Ellaria waxed poetic how beautiful their other daughter’s pussy was to her mother’s gaze. The paramour of Oberyn told him that her face now was soaked in cum her hair lank with sweat and female cum. Dorea had been ready making many salacious comments. Ellaria drove her mouth deep into her daughter’s pussy and wildly ate her daughter out. Dorea egging her mother on with hot comments to suck her daughter off and bury her “mother fucking incestuous face deep in her daughter’s cunt!” Ellaria told Oberyn how she whinnied and moaned feasting on her other youngest daughter’s pussy with Dorea the twin born second. The twins’ pussies so sweet in her mouth.

Dorea cried out as her mother ate her out with total love and focus. Ellaria slurped and sucked with all her skills. Dorea had cum with gut wrenching spasms that had her shrieking while her body jackknifed and flipped hard as Ellaria feasted like a starving lamprey on the wet gash of her daughter. Hot cum gushing into Ellaria’s starving gulping mouth.

Then the mother was up over her daughter’s muff flat tongue licking while her three fingers hammered her daughter’s slurping cunt hole. Soon Dorea cummed hard screaming and jackknifing hard her cunt grinding up into her mother’s mouth. A mother sucking her daughter off to paradise.

She paused to let Dorea get her bearing before she started to devour the sweet teenage pussy beneath her feasting mouth yet again. She sucked hard and tongue fucked her daughter’s love box. The fuck hole so wet and hot full of steamy slimy fuck juice. The mother wormed in two fingers into her daughter’s snatch and started to first sensually fuck her daughter. The fuck ramping up to a hard loving pounding fuck.

Ellaria could hear Dorea’s cunt flooding and the wetness flowing out soaking her fingers and running down her hand piston fucking her daughter’s tight gripping cunt. The teenage girl’s quim hungrily sucking on the fingers banging her twat. Ellaria went from flat tongue licking to trying to suck her daughter’s clit down her throat. Ellaria wrote how she felt pure elation feeling her daughter cum so hard in her mouth filling it with sweet mouthfuls of hot slimy cum for her to swallow gleefully.

Thrice was not enough for Ellaria. She had given the first two women of her heart two orgasms. But with Loreza she had given her daughter three. Now Ellaria knew that Dorea needed another spectacular cum. Ellaria saw that like her twin sister Dorea’s clit quickly recovered and soon Ellaria was again suckling on it lovingly. She resumed fucking the pussy she had kept her fingers buried in. She began to rotate her hand as she fucked her daughter’s pussy. The hot tight cunt gripping her fingers as she rubbed Dorea’s vaginal walls mapping out her sweet fuck hole. She had quickly located what she sought.

The other members of the Pride of Dorne sitting close around Ellaria and Dorea. The three females urged Ellaria on in her sweet fuck of her youngest daughter. They gave her hot ribald encouragement to fuck Dorea hard and deep.

“Pound her cunt hard mom—fuck her like the slut she is!” “Pound her shit Ellaria! Dorea loves it hard and deep!” “Fuck her like the slut she is! Make the slut scream!”

For five minutes Ellaria was again in heaven. Eating women’s pussy was the purest form of heaven on Earth. She loved dick but pussy was the best she crowed to Oberyn. Oberyn chuckled. As long as he was the number one man in Ellaria’s life Oberyn was happy. Sucking off the women she had wanted for so long made his and Ellaria’s life all the better.

Her youngest daughter’s pussy was flooding again Ellaria wrote. The swollen pussy all squelching and splattering as Ellaria hammered her daughter’s twat and her mouth had sucked on her daughter’s clit. Oberyn read how Ellaria thought it was time to deliver the perfect love kill. His love had flipped her fingers over and viciously rubbed Dorea’s spongy g-spot. Her fingers angled to gig into the spongy nerve bundle depressing the raspy hillock with furious fingertip rubs.

Oberyn had been jerking his cock reading the missive. He roared his cock spurting hard long ribbons of sperm that jetted up into the air to arch high feet into the air. Ellaria wrote how Dorea’s eyes flared wide open as she screamed and flipped wildly her body cumming so hard with full wrenching body spasms. Her cunt lunging up into the fingers harpoon fucking Dorea’s g-spot and the mouth trying to suck Dorea’s clit down her mother’s throat. Oberyn groggily finished reading how Ellaria had been in heaven feeling her daughter’s trim sucking hungrily on her hard rubbing fingers.

Ellaria was ecstatic. She had finally fully bonded with the Pride of Dorne! Of course the Pride had turned and fallen on Ellaria and devoured her. Repeatedly to screaming orgasms that had her body flipping wildly and convulsions tearing her pussy inside out with gut wrenching ecstasy.

She had she had spent the last week fucking the Pride of Dorne. Every night she had bonded ever more deeply with her daughters and their wives. They sucked her off so often her pussy was in heaven she wrote. Each of the women of the Pride had exquisite oral skills that shocked Ellaria’s world with bliss and cunt rending orgasms.
They fucked her so hard with their thick long strap-ons plundering her every fuck hole. She had been DA fucked the night before she wrote in this scroll. Her bum felt so abused and so good. She loved all the ATM and A2P action and she helped the sand snakes fuck Myrcella and Arianne into the mattress with her own strap-on she brought now and with her fist plundering of their sweet tight pussies and assholes.

Then she had helped the twins to TP their wives. Myrcella and Arianne had cummed so hard having a large strap-on dick buried in their pussy, ass and down their throat. Ellaria then moving from ass to ass as her daughters fucked their wives pussies so hard. Ellaria had loved fucking Myrcella and Arianne in the ass and pulling out and moving to the woman she had not been fucking up the ass and have that slut clean her wife’s ass juice off Ellaria’s dick. Ellaria had so loved seeing Arianne looking up at her as she slowly took Ellaria’s dick into her mouth soaked in Myrcella’s sweet shit juice. The creamy yellowish white cream slavered thickly on her cock. Arianne moaning as she slowly took the shaft down her throat.

“Gods I love tasting my wives ass on your dick down my throat Ellaria” Arianne moaned before deep throating Ellaria’s cock. Oberyn felt his cock hardening again. Ellaria knew who to write a scroll!

To make it even better two nights past Ellaria had brought the horniest and most voracious new recruits she had seduced to the Pride. They had been surprised the first time opening the door and seeing six thirteen, fourteen and fifteen year old girls looking back at them confidently. Ellaria had already educated the lasses making them pussy hungry sluts anxious for new pussy and asshole to dine on. The surprise had lasted about five seconds with the Pride of Dorne.

The Pride of Dorne squealed (Oberyn thought it should have been roared) and pulled the girls into their room. Said girls were fucked so hard they had to be helped to the mess hall by Loreza and Dorea the next two mornings. The girl’s bodies so worn out and satiated with countless hard cums.

The six recruits had been fallen upon by the proverbial lioness pride. Ellaria happily joining in on the feast of so much young succulent pussy and hot tight ass. The recruits screaming as they were devoured and they then turned around and devoured succulent new pussy to them. The teenagers burying faces deep into vulvas that swallowed mouths and ass clefts that covered faces buried in deep to rim rosebuds and tongue fuck hot tight spasming assholes.

Myrcella had complimented Ellaria on “breaking” the new girls into Lesbianism. “They will be lesbo sluts for life!” Ellaria had crowed to them. Ellaria now bonding closely with the women she had so longed to become her lovers.

That had led to a startling discovery by Ellaria. Myrcella wanted to sleep with her mother. It seemed Cersei was casting a spell over everyone in Dorne.

There was only one fly in the ointment. Ellaria then wrote more sweet words of hot lesbian fucking. Ellaria really loved pussy he smirked to himself. Oberyn had wondered when Ellaria would get to it. It was like a thorn in her paw. She wanted Cersei and Obara in their bed. She had once hated Cersei with venom. Hell Oberyn had hated Cersei with a vengeance. She really had been a cunt at one time, and, not the good kind! Now his paramour sometimes called out Cersei’s name when he was sucking her off or pounding her sweet tight cunt or ass. He would have been jealous if he did not want Cersei now too.

Oberyn still wondered how the harridan had changed so mightily and captured the hearts of all the Martells so easily. Oberyn still remembered so clearly how much elation he had felt in taking Cersei away from King’s Landing. He was just looking for a reason to rape the woman. The Queen had forbidden it but he longed to do it anyways. Cersei was such a fucking bitch! That had lasted for all about five minutes.

Hearing the woman speak of longing to be someone else and telling him how it felt to be savagely fucked by her supposed husband. Made to feel like shit because she was not Lyanna Stark. She had been so brutally honest to him about her situation and herself.

It had changed him. He decided to give her a chance. She had impossibly succeeded. He was thankful now that the Queen had not had Cersei executed.

It was also obvious something magical was occurring with Cersei. A report had come to him three weeks ago from Myrion the master of arms and head trainer at the Battleborne Academy of Dorne. A young man from Wyl had come to Academy. He was a stellar if raw man the local academy thought could be polished at the main royal academy. He had come late to Battleborne. He was nineteen and had an adult's body. He was every bit as tall and well-built as the Mountain Gregor Cerglen. He was reported to be much faster.

Mateo Peake had sought out Cersei and challenged her. He wanted to prove himself by being the man to take Cersei down. His legend would be set. The fame of Cersei had spread across Dorne by now. She was out on the practice yards by the track.

“I challenge you Cersei Lannister. How a woman can be so feared is beyond me. I will be gentle in my crushing of you” he called down to Cersei. “I had expected an Amazon. You are a fucking Chihuahua. A skinny one at that.”

She ignored him

He then proceeded to insults. “You are a dried up skank … a dried up has been who should be put out to pasture … you should be tried by the Septons for the sin of incest. I bet you have not said your prayers in the sept have you.” Cersei continued to practice with her battle staff with Obara going through ritualized practice steps. “You may have been beautiful once but you are a haggard harpy now. You are a snaggletooth broken lion who should be skinned … well except for all the wrinkles. You face looks like a map with all the lines on it.”

Obara was losing badly. She was distracted by the man and could not concentrate hearing her wife being insulted so vilely. Cersei tried to calm her down. Obara refused to be calmed until Cersei took her staff and enfolded Obara in her arms. She kissed and stroked her wife calming her.

Mateo Peake could not let alone. He moved to insulting Obara.

“I see why you wed that ugly salt wife with big sagging tits—“

The inevitable now happened. Quickly.

“AAAAAAAAEEEEEEIIIIIIIIII!” Cersei shrieked turning in a blur throwing the staffs in her hand far across the fields as she turned in to confront the arrogant and worse stupid male cadet. Myrion reported Cersei’s movements had almost been a blur. Cersei could now moved supernaturally fast when she chose. Myrion reported it was frightening to see Cersei use her full speed and power. All got a taste of it then.

Cersei had absolutely destroyed the man in less than a handful of seconds. She was like a tornado moving around him throwing punches and kicks that had the man staggering as if hit by a raging bull. The man who stood eight tall staggered hard with each blow. His own punches easily dodged by Cersei. She moved like a Jinn always not where the eight foot tall brute punched out at. That was until she stunned all those watching. The crowd whooping urging on their Lion of Dorne.
She did not move from his next punch thrown with all his strength his body swinging with the power of his punch. She caught his massive fist with her right hand. Her fingers not able to fully enclose the mighty ham hock sized fist. It did not matter. His punch was stopped cold. Mateo looked on shocked as did Obara. Cersei squeezed her hand and Mateo screamed in pain as he felt the bones in his hand grinding. The former Lannister jerked her arm down crashing Mateo to his knees. The next instant she released his hand and in a fluid move pivoted back to get separation. Cersei used that space to deliver a looping upper cut that connected with the man underneath his chin with her full power.

Oberyn had read how the man was thrown back ten feet and three feet up into the air. His flung back body limp. He was out cold for twenty-four hours. The man from Wyl had landed with a mighty crash of his immense body. It had taken five medics to get him on a gurney to be wheeled to the infirmary.

The man now followed Cersei around everywhere when he was off duty begging to be of service to her. He felt honored to have been cut low by her overwhelming fist. He had become the Chihuahua. Her might and skill had totally converted the man into an acolyte.

The old Cersei would have eaten it up his puppy dog adoration and abused the man. This Cersei was embarrassed and had actually made friends with him (genuine Myrion reported) and was helping him with his footwork and teaching him jujitsu. The man thought the sun rose and set on Cersei now. She had won yet another convert.

Cersei had married Obara a week later. She moved into Obara’s apartment on the Academy grounds and taken the last name of Sand and made it clear she was the “skirt” in the relationship. What had happened to the real Cersei! Oberyn joked in his mind.

Ellaria was nearly crying now she wanted Cersei so bad. This new Cersei was truly intoxicating to all around her. All respected her and wanted her attention and praise. All wanted to fuck her. The men and women of Battleborne Academy longing to fuck her senseless and eat her out all night. She was truly the top of the pecking order now at the Academy.

Cersei still expected to be attacked by everyone. Obara and Oberyn had to keep talking to her about it. It was obvious she did not fully believe them. Cersei was sure the only reason people were accepting her was because of her love for Obara. The fool woman could not see it was her change that made eight feet tall men follow her around like a puppy and the Dothraki still fought her because they wanted to be knocked out by her fist and feet so they could neigh that they had again fought the Lioness of Dorne and survived. They would slap her hard on the back making her lurch forward. She eyed them with suspiciously but only saw acceptance and a warrior love for her.

Instead of embracing this, the new Cersei was chagrined and kept telling everyone she was not worth it. She had still had her vicious humor though. Her insults back at the Dothraki were already legendary. What she had done to Tyrion had been spectacular. It was so funny and well planned that it was simply priceless. What Oberyn would not have given to see the Imp’s face when the chain was slipped around his neck? Word of that shot like lightning across Westeros and probably Essos by now.

So Ellaria had fallen deeply under the Cersei spell like the sorceress she was named after. Ellaria was determined to have the woman love and accept her. She wanted to get Cersei to let Oberyn fuck her too but Oberyn knew that was like having an ice palace in hell. It was a shame really. Cersei had loved Jaime truly at one time and it was an ill kept secret that they fucked like rabbits. Then Robert Baratheon had come into her life and ruined her to men.

Still Ellaria was sure that Cersei would sleep with Oberyn. He was with Ellaria so his paramour was sure she could get Cersei to share life, joy and love with Oberyn if she and Obara were in the bed too all of them fucking gloriously. Oberyn knew that Ellaria normally got what she wanted as evidenced by her sleeping with the Pride of Dorne. A lot!

Then an idea struck Oberyn. He knew what he would have to do when the war was over. Dorne was always restive in the far holds and in the interior. He was already forming plans to take himself, his daughters and Arianne around to visit the holdfasts to make sure they still understood that the true power of Dorne rested in Sunspear. At least several times every generation it was necessary to remind the rest of Dorne that they owed their allegiance to the Martells.

The last tour of Dorne had been only five years ago but this was a momentous time. Oberyn was sure the rule of Sunspear would be tested. This was born out by the battle his two youngest had fought in the eastern perimeter of the Bedouin provinces.

An idea had suddenly occurred to Oberyn. He turned it over in his mind. Yes yeeessss ... it would work. He knew that restive Houses and raiders would be tempted to test Sunspear again. He would make a necessity into a boon.

He had been toying with the idea of asking Dany to let him use a dragon to return to Dorne when the war was over. The sooner he went around the provinces the better. His plan would leave Myrcella, Ellaria and best yet a newlywed Cersei alone. Alone and very horny. That could give Ellaria and Myrcella the opportunity they were seeking. They would be able to seduce the reserved woman. It would make Ellaria very happy. And very appreciative Oberyn thought smugly.

He got up and grabbed a scroll and quill. He sat back down on the bed and wrote his thoughts down and put his seal on the scroll. It would work. It would make Ellaria and Myrcella both happy. That would make him happy.

He was about to get up when Fohn woke up. She stretched and smiled hungrily at Oberyn but frowned when she saw him dressed and ready to leave. She decided to satisfy her needs via another vessel. She felt Char beside her and she slide down and took his cock into her hot mouth and quickly sucked him to erection. He awoke groaning.

Oberyn smiled seeing hot sex. He had things to do but he delayed a few minutes. Fohn knew how to give expert head bobbing hard on Char’s thick long shaft and then rotating her head on his dickhead. Trami had awoken and quickly first kissed Char deeply and then scooted behind Fohn and smacked her ass to get her on her knees lifting her ass up. Her squeals around Char’s cock in her mouth was cute to hear. Trami buried his face into her clamshell and started to lick and suck her cunny off.

Soon Char was screaming shooting his load into Fohn’s hot hungry sucking mouth. Then Fohn pulled off Char’s cock and screamed as Trami sucked her off. As Oberyn was getting up to put his gloves on and gripped his spear he kept his eyes on the horny cords.

As he left Trami was on his back and Char was sucking him off bobbing furiously on his cock. Fohn was sitting on Trami’s face to get some more head. She was immediately groaning deep in her chest as was Trami.

Oberyn left. Sex was like an opiate to Oberyn. It was so addictive.

The man mused on his recent sexual escapades as he walked down the halls of Winterfell. It could also be a little dangerous when you involved Giants. He smirked as he gripped his spear tight in his gloved hands thinking of what he planned. He let his mind drift. He was safe yet.
He remembered five nights ago fucking with Stannis and Selyse. The Giants Yardarm Morningstar and Stratus Headwind had come to join them. The Ramen and of course the Haruchai Ferna and Ranrika were present. The sex had been sizzling of course.

Oberyn was very happy now to be fucking the Haruchai. The two female Haruchai who had been his bane now fucked Oberyn with hot fuck hunger. He had loved sucking them off as they ground their pussies into his hard sucking mouth. He fucked them savagely for making him wait. The two hussies screaming as he fired off his jizm into their hot tight cunts and up their assholes flooding their fuck holes with his spunk.

Oberyn had absolutely loved fucking the two minxes along with Stannis. The two men fucking the Haruchai hard with their cocks pounding them hard in DP in all the positions possible. Other Haruchai males and some of the Lords and high commanders from the Stormlands, Crownlands and Dorne joined in for hot TP fucks. Ferna and Ranrika insatiable. The two sluts filled with hot semen over and over. The sluts wanting ever more.

What had surprised Oberyn was the joy he found in fucking Selyse along with Stannis and others. The woman did not have the strength of the Haruchai females but her fuck hunger easily matched them. Oberyn still found it hard to believe it. He would be in front of Selyse as she sucked her ass cream off his dick. Selyse moaning as she hungrily slurped her ass off his dick.

All the while Stannis, Surd, Seregrom or some other Haruchai male or man from Westeros’s army pounding the sweet slut’s asshole and cunt with rampaging dick lunging deep in her belly. The slut hungrily sucking her pussy and ass off their cocks when proffered to her drooling mouth. The sweet woman diving down on cocks soaked in her sweet pussy and ass juice. Selyse swallowing the cock soaked in herFuck holes and bobbing fiercely moaning hard savoring her pussy and ass.

Gods she screamed like a banshee with her pummeling orgasms. She hungrily sucked down load after load of hot semen and screamed wildly when cocks spurted hard flooding her womb and colon with sperm and wanting more and more such hard sweet fucks.

Oberyn was surprised again. Now he liked Stannis and Selyse deeply and longed to bring them to Dorne and visit them at Dragonstone.

Oberyn loved sex to the core of his being. Only one set of pairings did he find intimidating. That was when he coupled with the Giants. When you are only half the height and much less usually it was just disconcerting making love to that body. It did have its advantages though. He was able to stand up and only had to bend his head back slightly to eat out the Giant’s pussies. The Giants leaning back against the wall or squatting down on flexed knees. That was awesome! He had devoured both Giant women, Yardarm Morningstar and Stratus Headwind, like that to screaming orgasms. He loved their big fat pussies and large clits. He sucked on their clits like little cocks savoring the feel of the slimy stalks sliding between his lips.

When they cummed he was slightly fearful when they gripped his head in their large hand as they bucked and convulsed with loud shrieks that bounced off the walls sweetly. Their fingers had spread down his face like a spider’s web. The fingers blocking his vision easily. The Giants controlled their strength though and never hurt their human loves with their strength. He had loved how Yardarm and Stratus mashed his face deep into her cunts as they exploded filling hit mouth to overflowing with hot sweet cum.

The sweet creamy cum had flooded out of their pussies like hot sweet slimy rivers. The copious volumes of cum too much to swallow and flowing down both Stannis, Selyse and his face in rivers of cum. They all gulped wildly swallowing all they could and yet more sweet cum spasmed hard out the rupturing cunts of their Giant lovers. It was beyond hot to have your face buried in a pussy that truly swallowed your mouth.

Their clits large and rock hard as you sucked on them like sticks of hard candy. The clit’s feeling so slimy and wet as Oberyn bobbed hard on their center of their sexuality. Gods the Giants screams simply deafened one as their cunts lunched up or down into your hungrily sucking mouth.

Oberyn and Stannis were well endowed but when compared to Giant’s body, well not quite so much. Both had blanched seeing the strap-on cocks the Giants used. They were twenty inches long! Still the Giants had loved being fucked by their human lovers. Oberyn now knew how small framed women felt when fucked by men much larger than themselves. He felt like a boy as he was on his palms slam his dick into their hot tight cunts or from behind doggy. He had to get a freaking stool to get high enough to fuck them in the pussy and even higher assholes! Gods their pussies and asshole felt like vices squeezing his dick when they cummed screaming so hard and long.

It had been heaven feeling their cunts milking his dick and then shooting off his dick all eleven inches buried in their cunts and spurting up into their cunnies deep and hard. He loved how his body was jerked and thrown about as the Giants flipped and jackknifed violently. The Giant’s large hands gripping their smaller lovers and helping their human lovers to keep in place as they fucked their Giant lovers with all their strength and abilities.

He chuckled remembering. Ranrika was slamming her fist up Stratus Headwind tight twat that clenched on her forearm buried ten inches up Stratus’s clenching cunt. The Haruchai grunting as she slammed her twisting fist up into Stratus’s belly. Selyse was lying on Stratus’s hard muscled belly spread eagle her head above the sloppy wet couchie of the Giant. The wife of Stannis was bobbing hard sucking wildly on the Giant’s clit. Selyse groaning in heaven feasting again on hot Giant gash. The woman was a total bisexual slut now who couldn’t get enough hot wet pussy.

Stratus rammed her fingers into Selyse’s quim that had leaked so much cum that it was running down the Giant’s ribs. It was a sweet fuck to watch. As Oberyn watched the giant pulled her index finger out of Selyse’s dripping snatch wormed the thick long digit up Selyse’s tight anus and now hammer fucked both fuck holes with her pounding fingers like sweet battering rams Selyse cummed screaming on the clit in her mouth her head spastically still giving head. Her body bucking wildly but Stratus gripped her ass easily pinning Selyse to her belly as she relentlessly harpoon fucked the woman’s tight cunt and shithole with her cum slicked fingers. Poor Selsye had three massive orgasms tearing her body apart. One orgasm closely chasing the previous orgasm. She managed to keep sucking on the Giant’s clit through her screams. Oberyn knew those screams were hitting the Giant’s clit hard.

Ranrika had gotten on a knee and was simply slamming her fist even deeper into the Giant’s now sloshing cunt that had cum pouring out the squired cunny that hung in slimy tendrils on Ranrika’s forearm before swinging and breaking off to fall to the rug.

Then the Giant screamed as if she had been spitted. Her head thrashed and jerked up to slam back down on the bed violently. Her body went stiff as Renrika continued to slam her fist up her snatch and Selyse had ahold of Stratus’s hips to anchor herself as she tried to suck the Giant’s clit down her throat.

The Giant had a second orgasm explode overtrop the first. Another harrowing set of screams of shattering ecstasy ripped from the Giant’s throat. Her body coiled down and with feet planted on the bed edge. Stratus heaved up in a violent up jerk her body spasming all over. Ranrika was jerked up to her knees wildly but being Haruchai she easily maintained her balance and continued to slam fuck the exploding couchie of the Giant.

Selyse was not a Haruchai. Her body was thrown high in the air in an almost graceful arc. Selyse squealed in fear her body twirling. Stannis and Oberyn were caught by surprise and too far away to catch her. The others were occupied hotly fucking. Not Ferna though. She came leaping through the air like a gazelle. She caught Selyse gracefully landing lightly on the floor. Selyse clasped tight to Ferna’s hard muscular body. Selyse holding onto her savior breathing heavily in first relief and then in hot need.

Being saved like a damsel in a fairy tale made a woman horny. And boy was Selyse horny for Haruchai pussy!

Soon she was on her belly sucking off Ferna with total focus and lust love. Her mouth doing wonderfully skilled things to the Haruchai’s spasming quim. Soon Selyse added fingers to the mix making the fierce warrior cry out in shocking pleasure. Pleasure that was soon occluded. Stannis had laid down on his side to feed Ferna his twelve inch cock. The Haruchai woman feasting on the thick long cock with hard hot bobs as the man’s wife sucked her off thrice before Stannis lost it screaming as he cock flooded Ferna’s mouth with his spunk and choked her. She pulled back instinctively and his hard spurts splashed her face soaking it in cum.

Cum that Selyse licked off before sitting on Ferna’s face and riding it to two orgasms. Oberyn had moved in and put Ferna’s legs over his legs and fucked her hard and fast in her sloshing quim with his dick pile driver position. He buried the full length of cock into the Haruchai’s tight cunny. Selyse cummed twice more. He felt Ferna cum hard on his cock her cunt fisting his cock in a velvet fist of squeezing iron. Oberyn roared burying his dick fully up Ferna’s cunt piercing he womb and flooding it with his jizm as he screamed his body convulsing hard. Ferna was screaming but her screams were swallowed by Selyse cunt still jacking down as a third orgasm had nearly throttled Selyse comatose with shocking pleasure.

Yes. Sex with the denizens from the land was special and rad.

Oberyn walked out the Great Keep and moved off to his left. He was heading to the Maesters Turret. He would get the Maester to send a raven to King’s Landing if they had no raven for Sunspear. From King’s Landing the scroll would then be sent off to his homeland and his sweet Ellaria. He looked around. That confounded Direwolf of Arya’s seemed to have a sixth sense about his spear. He had his head on a swivel.

Nymeria had been eerily silent of late. He knew the vile beast was only trying to lull him into a sense of false peace. He had to thank the wolf in a way. All her constant attacks on him to get his spear had honed his reflexes to a razor’s edge. He often now kept his spear from her vile mouth. Unfortunately, he still lost out more than he cared to admit and it pissed him off!
When he least expected the demon wolf would rise from the ether it seemed to attack him vilely. It was amazing how a beast that large could disappear into the underbrush or behind a tree or edge of building. Her attacks sudden and vicious. The fucking dog had dug a freaking din along a path he had started to use to get to the rear practice yards. She had somehow gotten rid of the dirt and put some brush in front of her lair.

When she jumped out at Oberyn to steal his spear he had freaking pissed himself he was so startled seeing Nymeria seemingly materialize from the Earth itself. That had been the last straw! That was when he devised his great plan. Even if he said so himself.

He saw movement out of the corner of his eye. The subtlety turned his head. He chuckled evilly. The big wolf had her head barely around a huge oak spying on him. He knew the vile bitch was thinking she was being unseen as she spied on Oberyn unawares. The master spearman had learned to school his facial features not to react to seeing his nemesis and tormentor. He was aware of her and ready for the beast this time.

He knew the direwolf was sizing up the environment planning her next attack to strip him of his spear. He would be victorious this time!

He entered the Maester’s turret. He was pleased to see Maester Luwin at a desk in the entry room working on a manuscript. The man got up when Oberyn entered and asked how he could be of help. Oberyn told the Maester he wanted to get a scroll back to his paramour in Sunspear. He told the Maester that if there was not a raven that was could fly straight to Sunspear he could send it via King’s Landing and they would send the scroll on south.

Maester Luwin had smiled at him. He told Oberyn that there was indeed a raven that had come in from Dorne. It had arrived yesterday with a message for the Lord of Starfall Brenn Dayne. Oberyn wondered what the message had been but he would honor the man’s privacy. The Maester said the raven should rest the next day maybe two. Oberyn told him that it was okay. The message was not time sensitive. He was about to leave when Daenerys and Missandei came in.

“My Queen” he bowed his head to his Queen. The Maester delivered the four scrolls that had come in for the Queen overnight. The Maester retrieved them from slots over his main writing desk on the back wall with four lamps hanging on hooks over it to provide plenty of light. He walked over to the Queen and her scribe and delivered to them the scrolls that he handed to Missandei.

The little black woman from Naath took the scrolls and disappeared out the door. The woman dearly loved working her craft. She was indeed quite gifted with her skills in language and mathematics.

Oberyn very carefully controlled his thoughts around the black woman. He did not need another visit from the demoness of hell that was totally in love with the little scribe. Oberyn had written to Ellaria of the demon who loved the scribe. Her answer to his questions had left him a little stunned and disquieted. His paramour told him to trust a woman’s instincts. If this Missandei was as sweet and innocent as Oberyn said she was and she believed in this woman then the woman would be good to Missandei.

She reminded Oberyn that if this woman had wanted him dead he would have died at that moment. She command him to keep his dick in his pants around the interpreter. She did not want his head crushed like a rotten egg by the woman. The Red Viper found that image most disquieting. Oberyn found that command easy to keep. The raw strength of the demon child form a Stygian hell had been truly fearful to experience.

Oberyn went to retrieve his spear he had put against the wall. He turned to leave and saw the Queen eyeing him.
“Why the leather gloves? I have never seen you use them before.” She cocked an eyebrow at the spearman.

Oberyn cursed her observant eyes. He debated telling her why he had them on. He decided he could tell her. It was not that big a deal. He hoped.

He told the Queen. She eyed him for a long moment and then smiled. “I like it. Not sure about Arya though.”

Daenerys turned to the Maester. She had a message she wanted to send back to King’s Landing.

Oberyn mused again just how great a leader and ruler that Daenerys Targaryen had become. She was Nymeria reborn but in so many ways she made the progenitor of the modern Dorne pale by comparison. Nymeria had come to Westeros in retreat and defeat. Daenerys had come to Westeros as the conqueror like Aegon four hundred years ago.

He had never finished his conquest of Westeros. He never broke Drone. Daenerys had conquered all of Westeros and without firing one arrow in conflict. She had used guile and restraint to conquer a whole continent. Least anyone think she was weak and could not fight you merely had to see the pale scares on her arms, legs and face to see she was a warrior.

She had smashed her way across Essos in three and half years and broken the slave trade that had existed for five thousand years. She had butchered tens of thousands of Dothraki in a day. Whole cities had been leveled. Armies annihilated on the field of battle.

She was indeed the Mare Who Would Mount the World. Most of the known world now bent the knee to her in direct control or willing alliances.

With Arya as her woman and wife she would not lose her way or lose her will. Arya was a very skilled warrior and her love of Daenerys was unlimited. Together they would rule wisely. He was living in great times. The man from Dorne considered himself lucky to live in these great times. He truly hoped to do deeds worthy of poem and song.

He longed to prove himself in the coming war. He wanted his spear to be the weapon that killed the Ice King. He smiled. He was sure all wanted to be the one to put that vile spawn down. Only time would tell who would have that honor. Oberyn only knew that he would give the coming battle his all.

Oberyn stopped his musing. He was a man of action.

Oberyn took the Queen’s task as his queue to move on. She was focused on her task. He walked out the door to the Maester’s quarters. He walked down to the entrance to the tower. Oberyn opened the door and peaked outside. He had his spear pulled close to him. He ducked back in. No attack. He looked out longer this time and scanned the local environs. He saw now sign of the beast from hell.

He scanned every bush, tree, crevice and building as he had learned to do with Nymeria on the prowl. Back and forth he scanned the environs but all seemed safe. He knew looks could be deceptive though.

He quickly came out the tower and slammed the door shut. He put his body flush to the stone wall. He looked right and left with a slow turn of his head. He did not see anything untoward but he had learned caution as the Haruchai liked to say. The nearby kitchen and bell tower could be providing cover for Nymeria. He moved slowly holding the spear close to his body up against the wall of the Maester’s turret. His head on a slow swivel searching for danger but seeing none. Still, his hackles were raised.

The fucking wolf was near. He felt her reprehensible presence. He actually liked the Direwolf. He loved the cat and mouse between them. It made their game all the more fun to think of the wolf like a cur and hated foe. He glared around him but the wolf was still unseen if not felt by Oberyn. Yes, she was near. They both enjoyed the game. The game was afoot!

He quickly moved out into the courtyard spinning his spear above his head while he slowly turned his body around but the wolf was nowhere in sight. He brought his spear down. He looked at the big oak tree and slowly moved towards it. He moved out in an arc but the wolf was no longer behind it. He knew she was near though. With all the grief the wolf had given him the last few months he had developed a sixth sense. He could feel the beast’s evil intent. Its horrid heart beat to capture his spear yet again.

He saw Shapa come out of the stables. She was pulling a dysteria out with a Ranyhyn coming out behind. The horse had a slight gimp. The Ramen Manethrall lifted the horse’s right leg and felt the tendon. She bent over and rubbed the tendon on the back of the leg.

He moved over to talk to her and check out the horse. People from Dorne loved and respected horses holding them in high regard. As he approached them he saw Arya coming across the courtyard.

This could complicate things. Still he had prepared to much to back down now.

She arrived at the stables at the same as Oberyn. They respectfully watched the Manethrall work on the horse. She massaged the tendon and pulled a dried yellow flower from her hair and crushed it in her hands. He asked her why she wore the dried yellow flowers and what did it mean for her to pull one from her hair now. The cords had told Oberyn of the flowers but wanted to make conversation with the Manethrall.

She told him the flowers were Amanibhavam. The grass and flowers were potent medicine for the Ranyhyn and for regular horses in smaller doses. The Manethrall told Oberyn she needed to exercise more care nursing horses but she was capable she assured Oberyn. He knew she was.

He watched the Manethrall work. She put her hands over the pail of water that was near a hitching post. She let the broken petals drift down into the water. She picked up a ladle and stirred the water dispensing the petals through the water. She picked up the pale and guided it to the horse’s snout.

The horse smelled the water and then started to drink deeply. The Ranyhyn Phaharhn nickered and shook his head encouraging the horse to drink deeply.

The horse drank with long droughts till it had consumed half the water and Shapa pulled the pail back. Oberyn asked her what was the power of the flower.

She told him that Amanibhavam was too powerful for humans to consume. In humans it caused madness that was permanent and usually led to death. The woman petted the drinking horse’s head tenderly while it drank the medicated water. Again, Oberyn was touched with how much care the Ramen gave to the Ranyhyn and now the horses in their force. She finished tending to the horse.
She looked up at Oberyn with smoky eyes.

She moved up beside Oberyn and lifted her face. He bent down kissed her wetly on the mouth. “I look forward to tonight Oberyn.” She then guided the horse back into the stable. It’s limp already seemed less.
Oberyn smirked at Arya who was shaking her head. She had been watching the whole interchange silently. “I am curious. Were you truly interested in what she did?”

“Yes I was Arya. I do have a curious mind. Of course that curiosity and interest in what a woman does most often leads her to my bed.” He waggled his eyebrows suggestively at Arya.

“You are like a fox in the hen coop aren’t you Oberyn” Arya chuckled.

“Yes I am Arya. The world needs men like me. I am the bee that keeps everything stirred up.”

“Let’s head up the greensward by the Godswood” Arya told Oberyn. “The Giants are trying to find the Haruchai hiding in the corpses and thickets. Let’s see if they are successful.”

Oberyn agreed. He enjoyed seeing the Giants and Haruchai sparring. He was looking around but he did not see Nymeria. The damn wolf was as good as the Haruchai at disappearing into their environment. Damn dog! Maybe the wolf would back off with respect for its master being with him. He doubted it but he hoped this one time she would not. He kept Arya between him a bramble thicket on his left. He eyed it suspiciously.

With a big howl the Direwolf jumped out of a young fir tree that had its lowest limbs only twenty feet above the ground. The damn wolf had somehow climbed up the fucking tree! Oberyn cursed as he pivoted to the left juoking his spear but it was too late. The wolf snapped her jaws on his spear as she passed by and landed on the ground adroitly.

The wolf looked back at him triumphantly with a shit eating wolf grin. Nymeria hunched down and launched herself forward her head turned back smiling in triumph.

Arya was laughing at Oberyn. Her wolf had won again.

Oberyn counted in his head. One. Two. Thr—.

Nymeria went wild. She stopped suddenly her eyes flaring wide open. The fur on her shoulders were fully erect on end. Her tail shot out straight. She spit Oberyn’s spear out her mouth with slaver flinging everywhere. Nymeria’s head ripped back.

AAAWWWOOOOOOO! AAAWWOOOOOOOO! The great Direwolf howled her head cocked up. She howled more her howls scaling up in register. The Direwolf slinging her head right and left wildly. Drool flinging out in long streams. Her eyes were glowing with alarm. She barked and howled drooling out rivers of spit.

Oberyn saw Arya staring at her wolf perplexed by her wolf’s seemingly crazy antics.

The Direwolf then spazed out her body contracting and then launching herself high in the air. Her legs kicked wildly as her head continued to whip all around slinging slaver everywhere. She landed on her side on the ground her legs kicking wildly still howling. Now piteously. She flipped and rolled around on the ground her legs kicking. She righted herself and flipped back up into the air. She bucked wildly like a bull in the rut. Her head ripping back to howl as drool poured out her mouth.

The direwolf then took off at a furious pace howling piteously. Her mouth was slavering wildly leaving long streams behind her retreating body. She ran furiously towards the Godswood. Oberyn watched Nymeria do wild bucks and her hind legs kicked up into the air as she ran. She would spin around and fall on the ground in a fit before righting herself and running off towards the Godswood again.
Arya looked at her rapidly disappearing wolf. “What in the seven hells got into her?” She saw Oberyn adjusting his leather gloves while he slowly walked over to his spear on the ground. He bent over and picked his spear up. She cocked an eyebrow sensing a connection with his sudden use of gloves.

“I soaked the spear shaft in red hot cinnamon last night. That is why I am wearing the gloves.”

Arya glared at him but said nothing. Oberyn smiled at Arya. “It is your wolf’s fault. She just can’t keep her mouth off my spear. I am teaching your wolf a lesson in wolf etiquette.”

Arya broke into a small smile. “That was a pretty clever ruse. Used her own craftiness against her. You can’t do that do that to her again though. It is humorous I admit it but I don’t want her hurt like that again. Her mouth will be on fire for the next day.”

Oberyn agreed with Arya. It was a great idea but it was only funny once. They headed up the slope of the hill towards where the Haruchai and Giants were still playing hide and go seek. The Giants were using their great swords to lift up underbrush and slap the limbs of tree above them. As of yet they had not found any of the Haruchai. They really could seem to disappear into the undergrowth and stands of woods.

From the Godswood long howls of pain and the need for retribution echoed plaintively from the sacred groove. Oberyn would hear a howl or three that was suddenly cut off. He knew Nymeria had to be furious as his ruse but her need to drink from the cool pool kept her from doing too much howling at the moment. He did feel a smidgen of remorse but only a smidgen. Nymeria had tormented him to many times! Revenge was indeed sweet!

Oberyn and Arya watched for a several minutes as the Giants moved around murmuring looking for their hidden foes.

Then a long angry howl filled the air. Nymeria came bursting out of the Godswood. She looked where her debacle had occurred but saw nothing there. Her golden eyes glowing with the need for sweet revenge. Her head ripped right and left searching for Oberyn. She spotted Oberyn and furiously pelted down the gentle decline. Her body like an arrow as she flew towards her foe. She skidded to a stop just in front of Oberyn. She was barking furiously her great snout snapping at Oberyn’s face. Her fur was on end with her tail down between her legs swishing back and forth wildly.

The man from Dorne looked bored and offered his spear to the wolf. Arya suppressed a laugh. Nymeria shied back and barked even more furiously and then was doing twisting flips in the air. Slaver was again flinging in rivers from the wolf’s snapping jowls. Then she went crazy and flung herself down onto the ground. Her legs kicking into the grass propelling the great wolf around in circles as her head whipped all around. All the while the great Direwolf yammered piteously slaver flung out her whipping head.

The Giants had stopped their search for the Haruchai. They were now laughing uproariously. Their laughter seemed to make the Direwolf go crazy. Nymeria sensed the laughter aimed at her plight. She went even more insane with her gyrations. She did not like losing! Not one bit! She rolled and flipped around on the grass howling wildly. All the while her mouth slung slaver all over the ground and herself. Her mouth foaming heavily with slaver flinging everywhere.

Nymeria righted herself. Her body bucked and her jaws snapped in sneezes foam blowing everywhere out her mouth and now her nostrils. Her howls continued so fling long stands of slimy slaver everywhere. She suddenly shook all over and then ran furiously back towards the Godswood and the healing waters of the pool. In her agitation she tripped and flew to the ground rolling over and over on the ground. She righted herself shaking the cobwebs out of her head. She howled piteously again and began pelting up to the Godswood and its pool.

As she ran back to the Godswood, Nymeria’s head turned back to glare promises of sweet retribution to Oberyn.

Oberyn smiled. Paybacks were a bitch and today he got to put a check on his side of the ledger.

Arya

‘Arya was in heaven. She and Dany were on round two of sucking each other off. Dany had sucked her off twice. Her sweet Dragon had moved up to kiss her Wolf deeply. Their tongues flipping around in their mouths as their guttural groans filled Arya’s bedroom. Now Arya was kissing down Dany’s throat having tasted her sweet pussy in Dany’s mouth. She nipped the sweet flesh and licked the scare from a spear thrust that had just caught the edge of Dany’s throat on the right side. She wished she had been there to gut the bastard who dared hurt her love.

She kissed her lips down to Dany’s chest that was all sweaty and flushed red from her past orgasms, exertions and rising passion. Arya was filling her body with. Arya loved the little whinnies and caws of raw passion that cawed from her baby’s throat. Arya kissed up the slope of Dany’s firm full medium sized beast. Dany’s head was lulled over her eyes slit and unseeing.

“Oh baby ... oh Arya suck my nipples baby! You suck them soooooooo good!” Arya smiled sucking in sweet breast meat and then plopped out her mouth. Arya kissed around on Dany’s breast sucking in the flesh and giving her love sweet love bites. Arya leaving red marks all over Dany’s tits. Arya loved feeling her lips suction on Dany’s tits and feeling the flesh slip out her sucking mouth. She sucked and licked up to Dany’s steeple areola and then siphoned the turgid nipple deep into her mouth. She sucked voraciously as she settled onto Dany half supporting her weight leaned in from the side. She sucked with great deep throat love sucks her tongue lashing the rigid nipple and puckered areola.

“Oh! Oh ... yes!” Dany moaned softly. Arya moved her mouth over and siphoned the other hard nipple deep into her mouth and sucked with pure love and hard tongue lashes. Her hands now gripped and pulped Dany’s breast like she liked Arya now knew. She rolled the firm warm breasts in her hands while her mouth moved thirstily back and forth sucking fiercely on rigid nipples.

"Oh! Ohhhhhnnn … hhn hhnnng hhnnn shiitttt—aawwoogggg!” Dany moaned, twisting excitedly as Arya’s mouth devoured her aching breast and her tongue slashed the rock hard nipples. Arya angled her head to look up while she sucked with cheek hollowing sucks. Her mouth making wet slurping and sucking noises. Her head rocked up to stretch and pull on the breast meat hungrily sucked deep into her mouth.

Arya loved feeling Dany jolt and jerk as her body was pleasured by Arya. Arya watched Dany snake her right hand down her sweaty belly. She changed the angle of her head and now looked down Dany’s belly. Arya watched her slut slowly insinuate her first two long fingers into her sloppy wet fuck hole. Arya watched Dany slide her fingers slow and deep up her snatch and began to pump her love aching twat. Her other hand gripped the back of Arya’s head and mashed it harder into her bosom encouraging Arya to siphon suck Dany’s nipples down her throat.

Arya loved how wet Dany’s pussy sounded as she sucked herself. Arya sucked and slurped on Dany’s light brown nipples making her love cry out in passion and pleasure. Her head pumping with the force of her sucks. She felt and watched Dany pump her forearm as the pale Valyrian ramped up fucking her pussy with powerful strokes of her muscular arm. Dany’s bent knuckles hammering her vulva as she rammed fucked her own slurping cunt.

Then she felt the pressure on the back of her head ease slightly. She saw Dany pull her fingers out her twat and slide the fingers up her sweaty belly. Her head was urged south slowly and Dany lifted the fingers off her sweaty belly. Dany paused on her pushing of Arya’s head. Arya opened her greedy mouth and sucked the offered fingers deep into her mouth and latched her lips onto the cum soaked digits. She loved sucking the sweet taste of Dany off her or Dany’s fingers. Dany again started to push her woman’s head to her aching needy cunt that was clenching in wanton lust.

They often masturbated for each other and then the woman watching would suck the fingers clean of the hand that had just self-pleasured themselves to orgasm. The two women loved to watch each other jerk off. The intimate act shared which inflamed their libidos to new heights of fuck hunger.

With Arya’s head on her belly Daenerys snaked her hand back down her belly and slide her two fingers back deep into her love hole and began a slow sensual fuck. The pale Valyrian doing a slow twisting of her fingers pumping her fingers deep into her own belly. The Queen pumped her clenching cunt deep soaking her fingers with her slimy opaque effluent. Daenerys panting as she rammed her fingers all the way up her clenching fuck hole. Her fingers soaked again in her snail snot. She pulled her fingers out her sloppy wet fuck hole and fed her fingers to her sweet Wolfling.

Arya sucked the fingers into her mouth. She sucked them clean as her sweaty cheek rubbed down Dany’s sweat soaked belly towards the paradise that lay between every woman’s thighs. The teenager moved down her slut’s body kissing and licking as she went. Arya saw the swollen pussy and splayed out labia lips of Dany’s sweet cunny. Dany’s cunt rotated up as she flexed her hips and her ass clenched humping her drooling clam shell up in a love offering to Arya. Dany’s cunt was juicing so hard and the resulting musk was thick and pungent as Arya’s head was pushed slowly South to the festering couachie begging to be sucked off.

The thick waves of musk hitting Arya like a sledgehammer intoxicating her with fuck hunger to again suck her lover off. Gods she loved Dany’s cum! She looked like a hypnotized bird before the cobra at Dany’s swollen vulva and her knotted up labia lips slicked with cum. Her clitoral hood jutted up begging to be sucked. Arya lifted her body up and settled between Dany’s spread legs when her head was pushed past Dany’s belly button.

She spied the swollen passion flower all wet and dark pink with blood rush. Her labia lips filled with brownish hints with their engorgement. The lips were long and twisted up half covering her love’s slit and clit. Arya could feel the drool running down her mouth smelling Dany’s hot cunt that rotated up so beautifully to her. She inhaled deep and pushed Dany’s right leg up and back and lopped her arm around and pressed her fingers in just above Dany’s quim and anchored herself down.

“Oh baby—pleaaaseeeeee suck me off! Arya, suck my cunt hard—make me cum in your hot sweet mouth!”

Arya could not refuse such a sweet entreaty. She pressed her face down moaning feeling the wet heat engulf her lips. Arya wiggled her face deep into the Queen’s slit and started to run her tongue forcefully up and down the drooling slit and lashed the flat of her tongue up and over and then down over the rigid clit to run her tongue the length of the wet trench and slimy cunt meat. The teenagers loved the feel of Dany’s wet pussy sliding up and down her lips and cheeks as she pressed in harder to feel her woman’s vulva totally swallow her mouth in wet heat.

"Ohhhnnnn ... oh yes!” Dany gurgled rotating her cunt up into the teenager’s mouth that sucked and licked with glee and happiness. Arya hummed and sucked in labia lips to roll and munch on them before licking them flat. Then Arya worked her mouth up and down the gooey trench again. Then pausing to give Dany’s clit hot sucks. “Aaauggg unngg … oooohhh uunngg … shit—yeeesssss … Like that! Unhhh!” Dany cawed out her body jerking in intense pleasure. Her leg pushed back jerking making her knee kick in the air.

Arya would lift her head to let her tongue forcefully lick down and over Dany’s slit and clit. The teenager enjoying the feel of the hard nubbin underneath her lashing tongue. Arya licking slow and then fast making her Valyrian lover whoop and gurgle her body spasming with fucking bliss. Then Arya would bury her face in again to suck sweet clit meat into her mouth to suck. Her tongue both lashing and spearing the swollen bud with friction and hard slaps of her batting tongue.

Arya moaned drinking down the sweet creamy cum pulsing out of Dany’s core. Her head making a constant rocking motion to allow the teen to lash her tongue over her love’s rigid clit. Then her mouth licking down to rim and then drive her tongue deep into her slut’s fuck hole. Her tongue curling to scoop out sweet dollops of hot slimy cum. Arya savoring the effluent before swallowing in gluttonous glee.

Dany’s hips humped up more and more forcefully now grinding her sodden snatch into Arya’s hot gobbling mouth. Arya rolled the cunt meat she had sucked deep into her mouth. Her tongue slithered over Dany’s clit hood and gigged the sweet morsel she had teased out its hood. Her tongue worked the slit of her slut licking and sucking on labia lips hotly which had Dany crying out in pleasure. Arya now had both hands gripping her love’s hips to hold her gyrating and shimming hips in place so she could devour sweet sloppy wet red cunt meat.

Arya would stop her lapping motion and mash her face deep into Dany’s swollen red mons and suck her love’s clit deep into her mouth and then start lapping again with her tongue raking over the rigid throbbing clit. Arya was in heaven feeling Dany’s wet swollen mons engulfing her mouth in a wet intimate kiss. The heat and wetness divine as she constantly licked up more creamy cum and hungrily swallowed it into her hungry belly. When she needed more cum. She Dorne kissed Dany’s fuck hole sucking in her inner folds and whorls to munch on and drink up the creamy white ichor pumping out her lover’s cunt hole.

The previous orgasms had taken the edge off for the Valyrian. She was basking in the sweet oral fuck of her Wolfling. Arya now a seasoned skilled lover. Arya’s mouth filling Dany’s body with shaking ecstasy. The Queen rotated her drooling clamshell up into the mouth devouring it hungrily. Arya now sucking voraciously her head lifting stretching out Dany’s cunt meat into sopping wet hillocks all glistening wet and deep pink.

Arya was drunk on the sweet taste of Dany. The wet heat that gripped her deep probing tongue in Dany’s quim intoxicated the teen. She loved the hot clutches of Dany’s pussy on her tongue as she slithered it deep up Dany’s quim. Her tongue licking the slimy folds and loving the wet slimy smooth feel of her woman’s core. Up and down Arya worked Dany’s snatch with her now expert skills.

She sucked Dany’s clit deeper into her mouth and pumped her head pulling out Dany’s sweet cunt meat. Arya pulled Dany’s clit up high off her mound sucked deep into the teen’s mouth. Arya rolled her head to fill it with tension as her harsh sucks filled it with fiery ecstasy. Then pressing her head forward again to mash her face in deep into Dany’s cunt and munching on slimy trim and lathing the hard clit with her tongue. Back and forth Arya went first stretching out Dany’s quim in her sucking mouth and again burying her face in Dany’s sloppy drooling couchie.

Dany’s hips jolted hard ramming her pubic bone into Arya’s mouth. Her head had jerked up off the mattress and stared down at Arya’s with a tortured look of sheer agonizing pleasure. “Ohhnnnn ... oh Arya ... unh! Unh! Oh ... oh gods! I'm going to cum again in your sweet mouth! Oh!” Dany gurgled her face twisting and slashing with womb rending ecstasy. Arya sucked harder and her tongue was furious licking over the sweet nubbin in her mouth. Dany watched Arya licking and sucking her pussy with a face twisted with slashes of ecstasy.

"Auuggnhhhhh!" Dany cried out, her body buckling as the spasms wrenched her. Dany’s head thumping back down on the mattress hard. "Ohhnngg! Unmgh! Oh ... shit! Ohhnnnn!" Arya was lapping her head fast up and down now. Her tongue lashing over the rock had swollen nubbin. Then pausing to suck on hard the sweet clit between her lips. Her tongue lashing up and down slapping the shiny throbbing clit sucked deep into her voracious sucking mouth. The spit in her mouth and cum in Dany’s pussy made a wet slurpy sloshing noise now as she continued to lap furiously.

Back and forth Arya worked between fevered harsh love sucks and hard tongue licks with her mouth lifted just off Dany’s pussy to let Arya work her tongue with full force and focus. Arya using the flat of her tongue and also the tip to tongue whiplash the hard clit. A few times Arya paused her head motions to use Margaery’s butterfly kiss to whiplash her tongue all around on Dany’s pinkish white clt jutting out its sheath.

"Unhhhh! Oh!" Dany gasped as her hands now cupped the back of Arya’s head and mashed Arya’s face deeper into her couchie that was splattering now. Arya sucked in deep siphoning all of Dany’s upper cunt into her mouth and happily munched with vacuum sucks and rolling cunt meat around in her spit filled mouth. Arya focused to suck Dany’s clit even deeper into her mouth and gigged it relentlessly as her tongue rolled over the throbbing rigid clit. "Ohhnmm ... oh yes! Oh gods ... Arya, yes! Oh gods I'm going to come! Do it hard, yes! Unhg! Unhh! Oh!"

Arya hummed and moaned feasting on heavenly hot wet gash. She could feel Dany’s body tensing up with her grip on woman’s hips. Dany’s head was up off the mattress again twisting her mouth working soundlessly as her face scrunched and slashed with crippling ecstasy. Arya loved how pleasure could be so intense that Dany’s looked like she was in agony that was really pure fucking pleasure. Pleasure she was giving Dany!

A horrific spasm ripped through Dany’s body and her back arched hard and high her hands clawed into Arya’s scalp and drove Arya’s face deep into the cunt now exploding in Arya’s mouth. "FFFUUUUUUUCCCCKKKKKK! OOOWWGGGGGGGGGGGGGG!
GOOODDSSDAAMMNNNNN!" Dany screamed feeling her cunt rupture and spew hot molten ecstasy into her veins scalding her with fucking bliss. Her back undulated up off the bed ramming and grinding her exploding couchie in Arya’s hot sucking mouth. Dany’s body rocked with killing convulsions of dire fucking bliss. The Valyrian’s face twisted and slashed as she wailed and jackknifed violently.

Her toes curled and fingers clenched into Arya’s scalp as Dany’s head jammed into the mattress tilting it back as her heels dug into the mattress too. This lifted her cunt in love offering to Arya who put her hands underneath those ass cheeks and gripped tight as she sucked in with pure deep throat love sucks. Aungghhhnnngggiiieeeeee! Mmmnggheeiiiiii!!! Aarrruunngggggmmmmmmnnn!!! Ohhhh ooh unnggg Arrruunngggggggggggggggggg!!" Dany wailed feeling her womb continue to rupture and twist deep in her belly, her beautiful face frozen in a seizure of intense ecstasy, her body clenching as more crushing spasms rocked her. "Unnnngggnnnuunng ... oh god—shit again! Aungghhiieeee! Ohnngggiiieeee!!" Now her heels and elbows slammed the bed in helpless pleasure.

Arya drank down hot sweet cum till Dany’s orgasm finally waned and started to dissipate. She licked Dany’s spent twat. Arya had quickly learned that Dany’s pussy, and breast were like hers. They were insatiable. She was so thankful for that. She muzzled the now dark red pussy gently kissing it in rapture and slurping up the sweet cum still leaking out Dany’s love box.
They stayed like this for several minutes with Dany’s body totally spent and relaxed. Her breathing gradually returned to normal and her body stopped hitching with the strong aftershocks that gradually faded away to ripples and then were gone. Sweat was pouring off Dany’s body in rivulets. Arya spent her time gently lathing the hopefully only temporarily spent pussy. She gently ran her tongue up and down the shaved smooth mons and along Dany’s groin and up on her lower belly that had the Queen mewing and a soft slutty smile on her face. The sweet cum her tongue lapped up so heavenly to the Stark teenager.

Dany lifted her head, “roll onto your side facing me Arya.” Arya did as asked propping her head up on her palm. Her elbow on the bed. She watched Dany roll up onto her butt. She smiled lazily down at Arya and then slowly turned back down on her side scooting down the bed. Arya smiled when she realized what Dany was doing as her body moved down. Dany was now on her side with her head in front of Arya’s groin. Arya lifted her upper leg as Dany lifted her upper leg opening her clam shell in front of Arya’s face.

Gods her cunt smelled so fucking good Arya thought to herself. Dany’s pussy all soaked in more cum leaking out her twat and her inner labia lips all splayed out. Both women scooted their upper torsos forward with mouths opening wide and two loud moans filled the room as they each swallowed the other’s engorged clitoral buds and suckled deep into hungry mouths. Their lips glued now to sloppy wet trim and mouths sucking hungrily on engorged clits. They both moaned and mewled as they wallored faces in to get more sweet pussy sucked into feverish with fuck hunger mouths.

Arya felt her cheeks hollow out with the force of her harsh loves sucks. Dany was wiggling her head between Arya’s spread thighs tongue lashing the teenager’s clit and then latched on like a lamprey and deep throat sucked Arya’s clit with long ragged love sucks. Both women were humping their hips and flexing their asses to grind swollen muffs into starving mouths. Dany had clawed Arya’s ass cheeks now and wolf sucked her clit and drilled the hard nubbin of Arya’s clit. Arya had taken up a hard lapping motion raking her tongue up and down over the sweet clit in her mouth. The flat of her tongue rasping wetly over Dany’s rigid clit she had teased out its hood. She loved the wet sounds their mouths made snuffling and eating sweet pussy. For Arya and she knew Dany was the same way, the sounds of sex were very erotic. They both loved the sodden sounds their pussies made being licked and sucked. They both loved the sounds they heard from their own mouths as the devoured each other’s clam shells.

Arya felt Dany’s full breast mashed into her lower belly and groin as Danny ate her out. Her own plum bulb nipples jammed into Dany’s lower belly as she tried to suck Dany’s clit down her throat with pure deep throat love sucks. Arya felt Dany lift her head back and was now licking hotly up and down Arya’s slit the flat of her tongue that felt heavenly to Arya. Then Arya felt Dany move her head forward and her tongue raked over Arya’s clitoral hood hard with down pressing licks.

Arya felt her face slash and scrunch up with fierce pleasure. She loved the feel of Dany’s fingers clawing her ass and lower back to pull Arya tighter to her body. The full body contact erotic to Arya. Their smooth skin pressed into and rubbing against each other as their bodies instinctively undulated against each other. Their heated bodies heating even more. Sweat running off their bodies in rivulets and hair soaked through and plastered to their shoulders and backs.

Arya gagged feeling Dany latch her mouth to Arya’s cunt hole and drilled her tongue in deep and speared it with her head pumping in and out. Arya at the same time was running her tongue up and down Dany’s drooling groove sucking in her long labia lips and munching on moving from left to right working each lip into her mouth before sucking both wet lips into her mouth to lick and roll with her tongue.
Both women snuffled and groaned in their mutual heaven of sweet sixty-nine sex. Their shoulders and hips wallowing on the bed as they used their hands to pull muffins tight to hot sucking mouths. Arya felt her body stiffen and then shudder feeling Dany slowly worm first one then a second finger into Arya’s asshole and slowly pump them in and out her hot tight anus. Her sphincter already not pinched tight shut anymore. Her shithole hungry for further invasion and sweet fucking.

Arya whinnied into the pussy she was devouring. Arya had been stunned how much she loved Dany licking, tongue fucking and finger fucking her asshole. It sent her into paroxysms of shuddering ecstasy now. Her asshole alreadythrobbing in pleasure as Dany rotated her fingers in and out her tight asshole. The two digits working in and out her spasming asshole.

Raw ecstasy filled Arya’s belly. Her head arched back her cheek pressed into Dany’s thigh. "Oh yes... oh yes!” she panted, feeling Dany devour her twat. Dany was lapping and pumping her head. Dany’s mouth fully on her upper cunt stretching it up an inch from her mons her wet cunt meat glistening. The lapping motion rolling and stretching cunt meat and clit in her sucking mouth. Arya’s bit her lip as her eyes rolled up. "Yes, Dany! ... suck my cunny hard! Harder! Please!—hhhuunngg uunnggg hhnnngg hhnnnn" Arya whinnied feeling her pussy expertly eaten out.

“Oh fuuuccckkk baby! Ram those fingers up my shithole honey! I need you to pound my asshole Dany—arrunnggg hhuunnggg hhnnngg ooohhh yesss unngggg” Arya moaned feeling her body filled with pleasure. Arya felt Dany pump her forearm slamming her fingers up Arya’s starfish plundering her ass. The fingertips rubbing along Arya’s rectum walls deliciously stretching her sphincter rings sweetly.

Arya focused her will and mashed her face back into Dany’s festering pussy and lapped hard on her clit. Arya brought up her left hand and slide two fingers deep into the fuck hole of her lover. Arya moaned hard into Dany’s pussy feeling the fiery cauldron of Dany’s inner folds sucking and tightly clenching on her deep probing fingers. She quickly built up a hard loving rhythm pumping her fingers in all the way into Dany’s cunt her knuckles slamming into the mons of her lover.

For the next several minutes the two young women hungrily finger banged hot tight ass and pussy while mouths sucked and devoured swollen pussies. Pussies that were beginning to spasm and twitch. Both women recognizing their partners were rising to orgasm focused totally on bringing the other off with fingers and mouths. Dany was slam fucking Arya’s ass as the teen rotated her ass back and forward to propel both her pussy into Dany’s mouth and her asshole to the fingers fucking her shithole so good. Arya loved using that word. It was so fucking nasty. She had heard Sansa whispering that to Margaery begging her to fuck her in the ass at the dining table in a low voice two nights ago. Sansa had been so flushed and her hand was trembling as she ate.

“Say it nasty Sansa” Margaery had husked to Sansa her eyes connected to Sansa’s with sultry heat “you know how I like you talk like an anal slut my sweet.”

Sansa looked scandalized and her face turned even pinker. Sansa shuddered. Then in a soft whisper that Arya’s keen hearing still heard “Oh Margaery, I need you to pound my shithole with your dick” her breathing now ragged “I need to feel your shaft splitting my asshole in two and buried in deep up hot spasming shithole. I need you to pack my shit deep baby!” Sansa husked. Her eyes now glassy “I need to feel you fist my hair and pull my around so I can suck my shit grease off your dick baby!” Sansa moaned sibilantly.

Margaery had leaned in and told her “I will pound your shit so good baby! I will relish seeing you suck your ass off my cock again and again.” in a soft smoky whisper. Arya thought Sansa’s pussy would explode right there by the look on her face. Margaery looked hotly at Sansa and then turned to Arya and winked her eye impishly at Arya.
Arya was trying to be patient in her desires to more fully explore the joys of anal sex. Dany for some reason wanted to hold off on their anal fucking each other with dildos and strap-ons. Dany told Arya that would have plenty of time after the war and she wanted to enjoy Arya without toys. Arya agreed but wanted the damn war over. She wanted her ass fucked deep by Dany!

With a spasm of hot pleasure, Arya’s mind focused back on her task at hand. Arya’s own hand was a piston slamming three fingers in and out Dany’s pussy hard and fast. Her lover was crying out into her pussy from Arya’s ministrations to her twat. Arya’s head rocked as she sucked Dany’s clit deep into her mouth. Her mouth glued to Queen’s clitoral hood. Her cheeks hollowed out with her deep throat love sucks. Her knuckles harpooned Dany’s mound compressing and shocking it. Arya felt Dany’s knuckles working into her ass cleft. Arya gagged feeling Dany’s fingers slamming hard and deep up her tight clenching sphincter and up her rectum.

The women reached their orgasms at the same moment. Wild screams of almost agonizing pleasure and pure love were swallowed by swollen sloppy wet camel toes. Both women’s bodies bucked and thrashed violently with legs kicking hard and their free hand clenching flexing ass cheeks to hold on for dear life. All the while hands piston to slam fingers third knuckle deep into spasmig asshole and slurping pussy.

Both women moaned drinking down hot gushes of sweet pussy juice. Both women thinking that each other’s pussies were the sweetest tasting elixir ever found on this mortal coil. Both princesses drank deeply from each other’s cunts now. Dany had moved her mouth down and drank down each fresh spasm of sweet cum. Arya had ripped her fingers from Dany’s quim and used both hands to grip Dany’s hips hard to keep her mouth glued to Dany’s sweet fuck hole. Each gush of hot creamy cum so sweet in her mouth before she swallowed it greedily. Each hot spasm of cum intoxicating the sixteen year old with ecstasy as it quickly half-filled her mouth with hot sweet cum. Arya relished the taste filling her tasted buds before swallowing.

After their long harrowing orgasms, their bodies went limp as lungs bellowed in and out gasping for breath. Both bodies soaked in sweat and cum. Their hair lank and plastered to their sweaty skin. Dany’s hair would always be white no matter how wet but Arya’s upper shoulder length dark brown hair was almost black with their soaked follicles.

Dany weakly turned around and snuggled close to Arya. they kissed and pressed into each other kissing deeply tasting each other’s pussies in their mouths. Arya’s body was in heaven. She was in a warm drowsy space. Danny was half lying on her smiling down at her. She was rubbing Arya’s hard muscled stomach.

Dany’s breathing was still ragged and her face dripped sweat. She looked down at Arya’ getting up on her knees and palms her body still jerking with her aftershocks. Arya’s looked at her lazily. She thought Dany was going to sit on her face. Her mouth started to water. She would never tire of eating Dany out.

“I have wanted to do this ever since I saw those rippling muscles on your stomach Arya.”

Arya watched Dany curiously. Dany had something else in mind Arya saw now. She watched Dany straddle her body with her knees on each side of her stomach. Dany rose up. She looked down at Arya with pure slut in her eyes. Arya watched Dany slowly slide her pale fingers down her flat white belly. Arya’s eyes followed those fingers when they reached her pussy. Those fingers hooked in along her seam and pulled her lips back opening her slit, clit and fuck hole obscenely.

“I’m going to nut myself on your beautiful stomach Arya—my sweet baby!” Dany mewled. Her opened pussy showed her rigid clit jutting down. Dany spread her legs and lowered her groin. Her open cunt impacted on Arya’s rippled stomach and Dany mashed down and immediately started to grind her open cunt up and down Arya’s stomach. The ridges of her stomach jacking into Dany’s clit and wet cunt meat grinding slowly torturously up and down Arya’s stomach.

“Ohohhhhh unngggghhh unngggghhh! Shittttttttt that feels so fucking goodddd!” Dany groaned out as she worked her hips to fuck her cunny on Arya’s hard muscled stomach.

“Fuck that is so fucking hot!” Arya gasped. She knew what she would be doing in the near future. Dany had a hard washboard stomach herself.

Dany swept her aching trim up and down Arya’s stomach. Her head rolled her face twisting and slashing with primal pleasure. "Oh yes ... oh yes!" Dany panted. "Ohhhhh ... it feels so good! Oh Arya your stomach feels so good fucking on my cunt ... aauugggg unnggg oh oh shit! Godsdamn that feellllssss so fucking good baby!” Dany gagged out in helpless pleasure her body jolted hard with ecstasy with her clit rolled and hard pressed by Arya’s hard stomach. The pale Valyrian’s face twisted and slashed with primal pleasure.

Dany reached up with her hands and hedonistically rubbed her face and titties as she slowly dragged her swollen cunny up and down Arya’s stomach. Arya watched Dany’s hands cover her breasts and her splayed out fingers mauled and rolled her high firm medium sized tits. The fingers rolling and pulping the perfect tits of the Queen. Then the Queen’s fingers moving up to pinch and roll her own nipples making the Valyrian gag in hot pleasure as her nipples pulsed hard sweet savage pleasure to Dany’s clit and her brain washing over Dany with ecstasy.

Arya could feel the truth of the Queen’s words. She lifted her head and moaned hard at what she say. Cum had slicked the entire expanse of Arya’s flat hard muscled belly. Cum was not beginning to trickle her ribs and wick on the bed. Dany looked so beautiful the way she pumped her own tits and rubbed her face with her palms and fingers massaging her face and running through her lank hair. It was so hot to Arya to see Dany pinching and pulling on her own areolas hard with her jerking hands.

Dany looked like some fertility goddess. Dany was such a slut Arya thought gleefully knowing she could be as slutty as she wanted and Dany would love it. Arya looked down at her stomach and watched Dany roll and mash her pussy on her stomach. It was so cool seeing Dany’s pussy contorting and compressing as it fucked Arya’s stomach in an intimate kiss. All wet, a drooling cum kiss.

Arya gripped Dany’s hips and jammed down feeling the intense heat and wetness of her love’s cunt more on her stomach. Arya began to roll her hips lifting her stomach to help even more on pulping the wet twat riding down hard on her flexing stomach. Dany was now cupping her breasts rolling and squeezing hard her flushed and swollen breasts. Her fingers pinched and twisted the engorged teats. Her hands jerking out tenting her nipples making Dany cry out in hedonistic pleasure. Dany’s face a mask of anguished intense pleasure. Her cries echoing in Arya’s bedroom.

“Aaarruunngggg! Oh oh hhnnggg nnggg nnggg nnmmnnggg yessssss yes ... aauunnggg oh gods I’m going to cum so fucking hard Arya!” Dany gasped down to her teenager lover.

Dany pumped her hips harder and harder her cunt mashed hard into Arya’s stomach her clit mashed and pulped on hard stomach muscles. Her hips rolling now. Dany’s hands scrabbled over her own body. Arya’s hands held Dany’s hips hard. Arya’s forearms cording up as she jerked down and forward and back to grind Dany’s manically down on her flexing stomach. The wet heat of Dany’s pussy on her stomach was intoxicating to the teen. The feel of Dany’s pussy creaming her stomach heavenly.

Dany’s motions getting more jerky and desperate. Her breathing accelerating with sweat pouring down her overheated face and body. Dany threw her head back crying out in ecstasy. She sagged forward her hands coming to rest on Arya’s plum nipples grinding them into her chest as Dany anchored herself down grinding her snatch down hard dragging her clit hard over Arya’s stomach. Dany’s cries desperate to cum. Her head thrashing as sweat slung off her perfect features.

“Cum for me Dany! Cum for me you fucking slut! Cum hard on my stomach slut!” Arya barked at Dany knowing she liked to be talked to dirty especially when was about to cum. Dany cried out and lifted her twat up and slammed it down to grind even harder in violent sweeps now up and down Arya’s hard muscled stomach. Arya’s fingers dug into Dany’s hips to help her lover to work her sloppy wet cunt up and down her stomach. Arya lifted her head and saw that her stomach was glistening with Dany’s cum and a pool had formed over the shallow of her bellybutton when she could see it with Dany’s hard humping. Steams of cum pouring down her ribs now in slimy trickles.

Dany’s hands moved up to grip Arya’s shoulders. Her fingers clenching onto hard muscles to anchor her body down. Dany was hunched down and grunting as she ground her cunt hard into Arya’s stomach. Daenerys head thrashed now her teeth gritting hard as spittle sprayed out her clenched teeth. Her face twisted up in fierce concentration. Dany kept surging her body down which Arya met with constant up surges of her hips to make her stomach a nutting board for Dany. Arya loved seeing the striving on Dany’s face. The Queen riding her like a washboard made Arya so hot and excited.

Arya groaned feeling Dany’s cunt now flowing heavily pumping out hot cum that had fully soaked Arya’s stomach and ribs. The cum now weeping around Arya’s flexing back to soak it too in Dany’s cum. She lifted her head looking up and down between her stomach and Dany’s groin. Whenever they separated slightly Arya saw countless tendrils of Dany’s cum webbed between Dany’s cunt and Arya’s stomach. When she glanced up she saw Dany’s face show agonizing pleasure her eyes wide open her mouth opening into a helpless O of ecstasy. A hot gush of cum flooded Arya’s stomach and ran down her ribs like a wave hitting the shore. Arya found it so fucking hot!

Dany had been rubbing her pussy down on Arya’s in a constant hard sweeping motion. The Valyrian clenching her teeth to keep her pussy grinding and sliding up and down over the cambers of Arya’s hard stomach. Arya was looking up at Dany’s face when she saw the ‘shock’ hit Dany. Her face had been snarling in its striving. Then her face changed in a heartbeat. Dany’s face went from striving to a look of shocked agony.

Her face seem to crumple in searing pain that was only the purest ecstasy that a woman can achieve on the mortal coil of the Earth. Her face slashed and hard and then her eyes shocked wide open and her mouth opened wide as she screamed her agonizing shattering ecstasy.

"AUUNNNGHHH! AARRRUUUNNGGGGGG! OOWWWGGGGGGGGGG!" Dany screamed out, with earsplitting intensity. Arya felt more scalding gushes of hot cum exploding out Dany’s hot cunt hole. Dany’s lovely lean body arched and flipped as her body jackknifed in a writhing fit of killing spasms. "OHHMMNNNGGGG! AUUNNGHHHIIEEEEE!" Dany wailed her womb slashing her belly open and her cunt immolating itself ripping itself inside out.

"Unnhhh!" Arya groaned feeling hot cum flooding her stomach. She looked down at her belly and saw cum pouring out from the grinding twat of her lover. The gushing sweet juice now running down her ribs in multitude of rivulets. The sweet cum weeping underneath her flexing back soaking her back and bed heavily. "Oh god, yes Dany! You are so fucking beautiful." She loved seeing Dany's tits whiplash on her chest and the feel of Dany's fingers claw her shoulders as Dany still pounded her cunt up and down her stomach. Dany's head snapping down and then back as killing convulsions of fucking bliss tore through her body as a second orgasm rolled out on top of her still shattering first orgasm.

"YYEESSSSSS! FFFUUUCCKKKK—AAAAARUUUUUNNGGGGGGGG AAWWOOGGGGGGGG!" Dany screamed her womb twisting and exploding again and again in her belly scalding her veins with ecstasy. The tops of her feet slammed the bed as her toes curled painfully. Her head ripped back her throat stretched taunt. “AAarruuuuuunngggggggggg! Armmngghhh! Ohnmmmmngggggg!” Dany groaned, gasping for air, churning her pelvis to prolong her searing orgasm. She loved the feel of Arya's hard stomach underneath her flooding couchie as she wildly rode up and down the hard muscled stomach of her sweet slut. She loved how Arya's stomach crunched her cunt so good. She loved the feel of the smooth muscles mashed into her pussy so hard that she felt her pussy pulped. "Owwngghhhmmmmnnn!" Dany howled. "Oh shit! Yes honey yes! Unngghhhiieeeeeee! Mmmhhhiieeeeee! Uummgghhiieeeeeee!

Dany suddenly lost her strength and collapsed onto her lover spent. Her body absolutely soaked in sweat and cum. She was gasping like a blacksmiths bellows. Her body jerking and twisting as strong aftershocks that still ripped out her ruined womb. She whinnied feeling each convulsion of her cunt pumping out more cum onto her woman's stomach soaked in her cum.

Arya pulled Dany tight to her body. She loved her hot room from the running hot water in the walls. The room was a love nest. She pulled Dany more fully on her body. Dany was murmuring and kissing her neck and shoulder whimpering she loved Arya with all her heart. That her heart and body belonged only to Arya.

That made Arya's soul sing. Dany was all hers and hers only. She pulled Dany tighter to her body and kissed her love's thin scar on her face and muzzled her love. Dany feel asleep her hand clutching Arya's bulb nipple possessively. Arya felt so loved as she drifted off to sleep. Gods she loved going to sleep soaked in sweat and cum all snuggled tight to her lover the Queen. She felt so connected to Dany. She loved her woman's mind, intellect, soul and her body. Their lovemaking uniting two souls into one.

///////

Arya awoke in the early morning before first light. She had always been an early riser. Daenerys was too when she needed to go to an early meeting or some other duty. She was instantly awake usually before Arya. This morning there was no urgent business to attend to in the early morn. Arya was up on her side her head on her palm looking at Dany.

She had found Dany loved sleeping naked as she did. Her room was warm with the hot water flowing from the hot springs through the walls of the room. She had pulled the sheet back they had slept under. Dany was on her back looking like some Valyrian sun goddess come down to Earth. Her chest rose and fell making her beautiful full breast do the same. Her light brown nipples begging to be sucked. She looked down Dany’s flat stomach that showed the hint of muscles where hers were ripped and evident. She thought it made Dany look so feminine while still being all warrior.

Her legs long and filly like but all muscle that wrapped around Arya when she was tribbing Dany face to face with her on top. Her body was so strong which Arya relished. Her arms Arya was sure was stronger than most of the warriors at Winterfell and the Wall. As was her body. Arya herself loved feeling so strong and virile. She used that strength to prevail on the practice fields and her combat on the river frigate.

She also used that strength to fuck Dany hard and deep with her fingers and her body when tribbing. She was aggressive in bed and so was Dany. She loved how they took turns being submissive. She found she liked being mounted by Dany. She did not have the need to be top all the time. Sansa had told her that she had started as the submissive to Margaery but had quickly taken the dominate position in their relationship. Margaery loved to be the bottom.

Arya’s eye teeth nearly fell out when Sansa told her she hoped to go back to King’s Landing with Margaery to be royal advisors to Dany. But Arya had discovered her formally sweet innocent sister had another goal too. Margaery had eight handmaiden attendants. Three of them of direct familial relationship to Margaery. The girls had been fucking since they were eleven and twelve. That had shocked Arya. She was just starting to masturbate at that age.

Thus, Margaery had come to Sansa’s bed very well versed in the arts of Sapphic lovemaking. Sansa had completely caught up in her Sapphic lovemaking skills with her time with Margaery. Not only that, when Sansa arrived at King’s Landing she had every intention on fucking the eight “hens” blind. She chuckled telling Arya how she would be the fox – no direwolf – in the hen house. Her eyes went glassy when telling Arya how she couldn’t wait to suck them off and finger bang them. Sansa waxed rhapsodic with what she planned to do to the hens with her strap-on cock. Sansa had grand plans with her and Margaery’s dildos, butt plugs and anal beads (which worked quite well in one’s pussy thank you very much Sansa made clear to her little sister).

Arya had been nonplussed and was like her father in beating a hasty retreat the first time Sansa had started talking nasty about anal sex. When she started telling Arya how she loved it up the ass and sucking her ass off Margaery’s cock and doing ass to pussy Arya fled. Sansa was a deviant. That was why she ran. To see her most prim and proper sister a raging anal slut blew Arya’s mind. Well that was one reason Arya ran. The other reason was she wanted to be a deviant too! Her body had been on fire listening to Sansa rap rhapsodic on her longed for anal debaucheries. She wanted Dany to ravish all her fuck holes and pound her ass like Sansa had hers pounded and she fucked Margaery “balls deep” in her tight ass. Sansa was so naughty and she wanted that too.

After that first time Arya had not run away when Sansa wanted to talk about anal sex in grand nasty details. Arya blushed and started with some of the details but she was getting used to hearing such salacious details from her former prudish sister. Arya noticed that Sansa talked to no one else like she did Arya. That did make Arya feel closer to her sister and help bind them closer.

Arya found that sharing their sexual desires and Sansa giving her little sister techniques and details on sex and Arya sharing her knowledge back was indeed drawing the sisters closer. Arya would never have thought that sex would draw her closer to her once prim and proper sister. She knew that Dany was bringing her along slowly making sure “to not take advantage” of Arya. Arya hoped she had proven she wanted to share her body totally with Dany. She did have to admit the slow approach had its advantages. Each new variation of love making and new technique blew Arya’s mind with shocking ecstasy. When she did the same to Dany she seemed to come apart screaming and shrieking out her bliss.

This slow approach allowed Arya to revel in each new technique and variation as they were shown to the teen. Dany blowing her mind with each new sweet taught variation and new technique.

Dany told Arya her time in the Dothraki Khalasar had taught her to completely enjoy sex. She had always been attracted only to girls but she let her body be pleased by men when she had too. Her body had responded but not her soul. She had awesome orgasms with Khal Drogo but they never touched her inner soul. Those orgasms did not touch the true Daenerys Targaryen. Only women had and only Arya had given her complete total pleasure and that sense of oneness she had always longed for.

Arya had to allay Dany’s fears several times about her being so experienced with women. Arya was thankful like Sansa was thankful with Margaery. Neither Arya nor her sister had to worry about stumbling around and having to figure out great sex. Their mates had come to their beds with all that knowledge already learned and had taught their eager students. Arya and Sansa had eagerly and completely learned what had to be taught and came up with their own twists and new ideas that had Dany and Margaery screaming and cumming so hard they nearly passed out at times.

Dany’s eyelids fluttered open and she looked up at Arya. She smiled softly looking up and down Arya’s body facing her. Arya was thrilled seeing Dany’s eyes go lidded and her nipples hardened. She bent down to kiss Dany deeply.

An hour later they were lying on Arya’s bed with Dany half lying on Arya tracing patterns in the sweat and cum on her lover’s belly. She kissed Arya’s ribs and then her neck.

“Gods I love sucking you off Arya. Your cum is so fucking sweet baby. My tongue loves fucking you deep in your twat and in that tight asshole. When we get back to King’s Landing I will be fucking your ass with my strap-on and my fist Arya. I’ll make you cum so fucking hard. I will relish watching you suck your sweet asshole off my dick Arya. You will love ATM and A2P as much as I. Were both total sluts my sweet” Dany murmured to her teenage lover.

Arya shivered. She wanted to beg for it now but she understood. They were about to leave Winterfell for the Wall and Dany wanted no stress of the march or the approaching war to mar the taking of Arya’s anal virginity. She had plenty of things to relish and experience now. Like their just finished fuck. She had loved sucking Dany off and then wedge fucking her sloshing pussy with her cocked thumb hammering her love’s clit. Dany’s pussy sounded like a fucking pool being splashed in with cum splattering everywhere when she cummed so fucking hard.

Dany’s hands gripping her shoulders so hard. They had locked eyes and Dany’s violet eyes had been so stunning staring hard at Arya as her throat screamed full throated wails of fucking womb wrenching bliss. She had felt Dany’s tight pussy gripping and sucking on her pounding fingers. Then the Queen’s orgasm had hit. Her cunt had spasmed so hard and gripped Arya’s fingers like a velvet fist. Each hard spasm hitting Dany made her cunt lock down on Arya’s fingers in an iron like grip.

Gods Arya loved making Dany cum like that. Her orgasms hit so hard. Dany told her it felt like her belly was being ripped open. That was how Arya felt fucking with Dany and when she masturbated. Her pussy always felt like it was tearing itself inside out and her clit was on fire and being struck with a blacksmith’s hammer sending shockwaves of intense bliss into Arya’s veins making her scream and scream in orgasmic bliss.

Arya thanked her father again as Sansa did. They both had talked several times at how it had been their father that had saved them from a life of servitude and enslavement to vile men they would have hated from the start. They had been so fortunate to have a father that let his daughters be homosexuals. Margaery had the same fortune with her grandmother Olenna. And from the reports it seemed Olenna was turning more and more gay by the day having taken two teenage female loves. She was fucking males still but it seemed every week it was less and less.

Also, the reports seemed to say that Olenna was becoming younger. She now looked and acted like she was in her late forties or early fifties. That couldn’t be could it? Arya guessed she would find out when she returned to King’s Landing with the Queen.
Arya was happy for Olenna. She guessed it was never too late to discover the truth. All women were lesbians. They just had society trying to crush it out of them. It angered Arya the unfairness of it all. Women should be free to love whom they chose and not have the world from the cradle trying to brainwash away their natural lesbian tendencies.

Dany made a sound to get Arya’s attention. Dany started to fidget and buried her head into Arya’s neck. Arya thought this was going to be interesting. Dany muzzled her neck and cooed. Arya waited. She was already sure she was not going to like what Dany was about to say. She was pretty sure what Dany had to say.

“I want you to stay at Winterfell Arya. I need you make sure that Winterfell is well led in case something goes wrong at the Wall. I will need you to organize a retreat to the coast and take to the ships that are still anchored at White Harbor and the beachheads I established. I need a Stark for the people to rally around.”

“Bullshit” was Arya’s response.

Dany lifted her head from Arya’s neck. “Excuse me” she asked her eyes narrowed. Lover or not the Queen was not used to such a response. She searched Arya’s eyes. She knew Arya would reject her reasoning but had expected a more demure response. She started to speak but Arya put her finger on Dany’s lips.

“Rickkon is old enough to be the titular head. Rodrik Cassel will be here. They will be able to lead any retreat to the sea Dany and you know it. I have trained my whole life to be a warrior and when you came to my notice I trained and dreamed of being in this bed with you here and now. To be your lover. To be your queen who supports the true Queen of Westeros and Essos. I am a warrio like you Dany. I have only had one opportunity to bloody myself but I proved I was a warrior indeed. I will do so again in the war against the Ice King. I will be a supreme warrior on the battlefield.”

“I am a warrior Daenerys Targaryen. I will fight by your side as Visenya and Rhaenys fought by Aegon’s side. I will slay your foes by your side. Also, need I remind you, I will be going to Braavos to perform the duty that the Iron Bank will require of me. We both know it will involve the sword. I will prove myself well on the battlefield no matter where it is. I have become a great warrior. You assured me of that with your relentless training with you and Barristan and Syrio.”

“Let me be what I was meant to be Dany. Let me be what my father allowed me to become. Do not try and clip my wings my love. You know I won’t allow it. Accept me as the warrior queen I was born to be.”

“I could not live without you Arya” Dany spoke with a quiver in her voice taking Arya’s hand and kissing it fervently and then pressing it to her heart over left breast.

“Nor I you Daenerys Targaryen. I have dreamed of you since I was ten years old. I will not lose you now that you are in my bed. I have fought too hard to get here.”

“I love you so much Arya. I dreamed of a warrior by my side. A woman who was my equal on the field of battle and yet still had the heart of a gentle princess in her bosom. I have that in you my love. I just find myself wanting to shield you though I know you are my equal on the field of battle.”

“We will fight side by side on the fields of battle and I will fight your battles in Braavos and wherever else I need to go to do your will Dany. We will fight together to make sure we both come off the fields of war together and alive.”
“I want you to know that we will always be together in our hearts Dany. No matter where I go I will think only of you. As I perform my duties for you in some foreign land I will only be thinking of my return to you. At night I will stroke my pussy and cum hard dreaming it is you that is stroking my body and soul. You are the only woman I have ever wanted to love. I have hopefully made myself into the woman that you want at your side my Queen.

Daenerys mewled and stroked Arya’s face tenderly and her lilac eyes were watery as she stared hard at Arya. Arya felt her heart pound. Dany was looking at her with pure love. The intensity of Dany’s stare sent a bolt to Arya’s pussy and it was instantly flooded with buttery cum. Her mouth flooded with slaver to again suck her woman off hard in her devouring mouth.

“I have made myself into the warrior that can stand by your side as an equal Dany. You have had your Bloodriders from the beginning. You for now have a Haruchai as your bodyguard. You have Syrio and Barristan near. You have Worm Tail and his Unsullied to protect you.”

“And now you have me. I will be your Queensguard. I will protect you with my very life.”

“As I will protect you my love” Dany whispered back. Her hands were now feverishly stroking Arya’s body. Her breathing accelerating and her eyes darkening with desire.

Arya stroked Dany’s face and throat with her calloused fingertips. Dany whimpered in want and need. Arya breathed deep smelling her and Dany’s pussies musk thick in the air with fresh fuck juice.

Gods she loved this woman so much.

“I am not going to lose you now Dany. I belong to you as you belong to me. I feel we are what Rhaegar and Lyanna were meant to be. They were not allowed to follow their hearts and it brought so much ruin to our Houses and sparked war.”

“Let us right that wrong and freely love before all. We will fight together as Lyanna was not allowed to do with her love. I will always proudly be by your side Daenerys Targaryen. If you will let me.”

With a whimper Dany threw herself at Arya. Their mouths came together hungrily as limbs twined and tongues hungrily twined deep in their groaning mouths. Soaking wet cunts found thighs and began to hump in urgent love.

//////////

Arya knew they would be leaving in two days. They were with her mother again. It was just her and Dany with her mother currently. She was nursing Brandon as he greedily nursed at his mother’s teat. His mouth making wet sucking sounds and milk running down his cheek in his greedy need.

Arya watched her mother smile down at her newborn son and she cooed to him. His little arms were jerking as he nursed. She took a corner of his swaddling clothe and dabbed the milk from his cheek. Arya thought her mother was in her element. She was meant to be the head of a Great House raising the next generation of Starks.

Arya was doing her part in raising the next generation she thought. She had Lyanna over her shoulder and was burping the newest princess in the family. She had gotten to the point that she was not terrified of dropping the newborn but she was still making very sure that she did not drop her little sister.

Kiserri was beside her standing on the bed looking at what Arya was doing with solemn intensity.
Her little girl took everything very seriously when it came to her newest charges. Kiserri thought the newborns were under her protection and made sure that all performed their duties to the utmost of their abilities.

“I think you should hit Layla’s back a little harder momma. She is not burping. I am watching her face. If you start to hurt her I will let you know momma.” She was chittering in Dothraki. Arya was thankful for Infelice’s gift. Being able to speak to Kiserri in her native tongue had made it easy to bond with the little girl. It felt strange to have a nearly six year old daughter when she was not much past sixteen herself.

The precious Dothraki girl had after the first day called Dany mommy and Arya momma. It touched her heart and made her cry the first time Kiserri did it. The girl loved her she could tell. She would run to her as much as Dany which made her heart swell with pride and more so with love. She already thought of the little girl as her own. She looked nothing like her mother’s but it did not matter one whit. She was their daughter and that was all that was important.

In a way, she thought she and Dany were going to make better parents than so many where. Both Dany and herself had chosen to love Kiserri and let her into their heart. The girl was so sweet and affectionate that it was an easy thing to do.

Burp.

Lyanna had been jerking and making cranky baby noises but now she was cooing and relaxing getting the gas out of her stomach.

“She burped momma. You did a good job. Layla looks so much happier now momma.”

She brought Lyanna back down into her arms. She rocked the baby who was already getting sleepy. Kiserri was at her shoulder looking down at Lyanna.

“She is so beautiful. Grown up Layla will be so happy to see her little sister.”

“No Kiserri, say Lyanna—” Arya stopped herself. “Lyanna is named after her aunt who died a long time ago.”

“No she died and came back to life like me momma. She has bonded with a wind spirit.”

Arya shook her head sadly. The Elohim saved Kiserri when they saved Dany in the Red Wastes. There was no reason for them to have saved her aunt in the Tower of Joy twenty years ago. Kiserri was bent over looking intently at her first cousin. Kiserri made the strangest pronouncements at times. She was filled with magic. That was obvious but like many five year olds she sometimes got reality and fantasy confused.

Arya would have loved to meet her aunt. Her father had told Arya more than once she was so much like his dearly departed sister. He missed her so much. It had been the “wolf” in Lyanna that had made her father allow his daughter (and now Sansa) to find their own way when they wished to travel a path less traveled.

Arya heard again in her mind her father’s words “I could not in the end make you follow a path you did not want to travel Arya” he had told her soon after her return to Winterfell and she and Dany had finally become lovers. “If your aunt had been allowed to take up the sword as you have she may still be alive. She would have chosen her path freely instead of being forced to run away with Rhaegar at night. I wish that Rhaegar and Elia had had the same freedom. Rhaegar was so sad and Elia was so beautiful. I heard rumors then she was in love with a princess in Dorne (he had sighed heavily). So much waste of so much potential.” Eddard had looked at Arya and then hugged her. “You and Sansa could not have chosen better mates.”

“I am so proud of both of you.”

Arya’s heart had nearly burst out of her chest with her father’s heartfelt words.

Dany was with her mother softly talking to her. They both cooed and tickled Brandon who gurgled and she thought giggled a little. He was going to have so many women wrapped around his finger. She stopped herself. Or maybe young squires or maybe both. Geez, she had to fight her own conditioning.

Dany loved it when Cat gave Brandon to her to burp. She was confident and sure of herself. Arya again wondered if Dany would ever come to her asking her to lie with some man to produce more heirs to the throne or maybe to just have more children to rear.

Dany was barren. She was sure of it. She had conceived almost immediately after she was battered to Drogo. She had obviously been fertile. She had slept with men since then. She had not conceived again. She was barren.

Arya had no desire to bring forth any children into the world. She would rather adopt like they had with Kiserri. Still she was the Queen’s consort. She may have to perform her royal duty and produce more heirs. She would handle that situation in the future if it came up. She hoped Dany would never ask it of her.

Dany quickly had Brandon burped and she handed the boy back to Catelyn.

“Kiserri can you come here for a moment honey?” Dany asked her daughter.

Kiserri walked around on the bed to get on the other side of Catelyn. Arya got up and knelt down in front of Dany. Kiserri sat down on Dany’s lap and snuggled in and she held out her hand for Arya.

Arya felt her heart catch as she leaned in and they both hugged the precious little girl. Kiserri made happy little girl noises as she felt her mothers pressed into her body reassuring her that she was dearly loved.

Dany spoke softly to Kiserri as did Arya. They had discussed this over the last few days. They needed to leave Kiserri behind but did not want her to feel any separation anxiety.

“Honey?” Dany began. “Your two mommies have to go away for a little while. We have some important work to do and we can’t take you with us baby. We need to leave you here.”

“You are going to fight the bad cold man aren’t you mommy.”

Arya gasped. How did this girl know so much? The two mothers had been sure to shield their young daughter information that might scare and upset her.

Dany looked at her. In some ways this would make it easier to explain things Arya saw.

“Yes honey. There is a bad evil man that many of us are leaving to fight. He must be stopped and killed. He is a very bad man.”

“You cannot kill him mommy. You can kill his body but not his spirit. He and the bad thing on his back are too strong mommies. He was created by the little people with pointy ears. He is part of the Earth now. The woman with green eyes and hair with pointy ears will put him down mommies. Even she cannot kill him but she can bury him. But you two along with my uncle must kill his body to let the green haired lady do her duty.”

There was total silence around the bed. Catelyn was staring at them. The child was prophesizing. The three adults knew who the Uncle was. Azor Ahai had his role to play too.

“Honey I make my own future. We shall see.”

“I want to come too! I am your Bloodrider! I am mighty!”

Dany smiled at Arya over her head. Their daughter was definitely as fierce as they come. To prove her fierceness she pulled her ceremonial dagger out from behind her belt and went to slash it in the air.

“Nooooooooo!” Kiserri cried out when she dropped her dirk onto the floor. “Why does that keep happening!” she squealed. She jumped off the bed and somehow kicked the dirk underneath the bed. Her little body half disappeared underneath the bed with her little rump sticking out and her legs kicking as she chased the dirk around underneath the bed.

Frustrated sounds filtered out from underneath the bed.

The three woman stared at each other. Kiserri was definitely full of prognostications today. It was obvious that Kiserri’s time with the Elohim had gifted her with strange insights and visions.

A triumphant squeal sounded from underneath the bed. Kiserri appeared with a big smile and covered in dust bunnies.

Catelyn patted her stomach having put Brandon back in the bassinet along with Lyanna. Kiserri smiled seeing her grandmother offer to let her sit on her lap. Kiserri had come to love Catelyn Stark as her “granma”. Kiserri sat down on her lap and looked up at her expectantly.

Arya translated for her mother. They had several Dothraki women they had brought north with them. They spoke Westerosi. They spoke with a thick accent but they could be understood. They would translate for Kiserri as she learned Westerosi. She was starting to pick up the language of Westeros but Dany and Arya had already agreed that they would speak Dothraki in their home.

Arya had picked up High Valyrian and could speak the language fluently now. She was now totally fluent in Dothraki thanks to Kiserri and her strange powers. Arya seemed to pick up languages fairly easily. She loved hearing Dany screaming and cursing in her native tongue when she was sucking her off.

Catelyn made eye contact with the fierce little Dothraki girl.

“Can you stay with me Kiserri? Your grandfather and mothers are going to fight and I will be left unprotected. We were hoping that you could be my Dothrak hqoyis. Thasho h’anhaan ven anha ray yol mehas. Me azh maan atjakhar.” Kiserri gaped at Catelyn.

“Will you protect me and my newborns Kiserri?”

The girl pulled her dirk out from where she had put it back behind her belt. Kiserri started to drop it but Arya caught it and handed it back to her daughter.

Kiserri excitedly said she would stay behind and protect Catelyn.

Arya’s mother explained to Arya and Dany as their daughter puffed out her chest and made a show of protecting the bassinet that she had started to learn Dothraki since she had a grand daughter who spoke the language and she was learning High Valyrian as well. She wanted to be able to speak the languages that her daughter now spoke fluently. She wanted to talk to the Queen in her native tongue.

Her father had tried to start learning but so far he was proving to be most inept. “I will rely on your skills I think sweet wife” he had told Catelyn. It seemed her mother also could learn languages easily now that she had a reason too.

They soon left Catelyn and Kiserri who thought she needed to ward the newborns a little longer. A lunch of chicken and rice with green beans and corn was being served to the mother and her new guardian. Arya was sure that her mother was safe in her daughter’s care. Kiserri would be dutiful in her new task.

Arya looked around at the castle of her youth. She felt sad thinking she would not be seeing much of it in the future.

Dany sensed her thoughts. “I have dragons Arya. We will be visiting quite often I think.”

Arya felt a surge of love for Dany. The rest of the day was free for Dany. She grabbed her hand.

With Dany she loved the direct approach. “Let’s go back to my room and fuck!” Dany nodded her head avidly.

Dany squealed squeezing Arya’s hand as they took off running to Arya’s room.

Tyrion

His thoughts wondering Tyrion walked to the Small Council chambers. To be more accurate he was stomping his feet on the way to said chambers. He had spied Solaja Xo and her wives on the way to the Small Council. They were most pleasant to the dwarf whenever they saw him. He had missed fucking the incestuous mother and daughter whores but in deference to Solaja he had not fucked them recently.

Solaja was all smiles now and happy now that she had married the incestuous mother and daughter whores Alayah and Chataya. That was one threesome where the mother and daughter fucked each other as much as Solaja. Lucky woman. Tyrion knew Solaja was extremely happy now. No more pining after Daenerys. Why should she when she had both a hot MILF and a rabid always fuck hungry teenager anxious to fuck Solaja. The fact that they were mother and daughter made it all the better. The incestuous chaser made it perfect.

He had been most pleasantly surprised and happy when last week Solaja Xo told Tyrion before a meeting on the blockades around Westeros that Chataya and especially Alayaya were wondering why he had not visited their establishment. They missed fucking the Lion of Lannister. Well of course they did he had thought to himself smugly. Surely they missed his sweet personality (well until the sheets were turned back Tyrion thought snickered evilly), his erudite mind and especially his legendary stamina and awesome skill set in the boudoir even if he said so himself.

Tyrion had been all ears hearing that. He never tired of having his ego lifted up … along with—uh something else. “If you come by tomorrow night and the next night I will be sleeping in their quarters. You can have three for the price of one.” She told Tyrion she had been told by the whores of his vast skills and manly endowment. Of course they had! Solaja’s big white smile told Trion it was not some cruel jest put on by Olenna. At least he hoped it wasn’t. With that evil croon around Tyrion could never be sure when he was about to trip another one of her snares.

He could not stop himself from going though. He had to chance it with the promises of such great pleasures awaiting him. Fortunately, it had not been a vile trap set by that hateful Olenna. It had been heavenly. He now knew Dany had missed a great fuck! He discovered that Solaja Jo gave awesome head as well. Her mouth hungrily taking his manly appendage down her gullet. Her mouth glued to his thick cock sucking hungrily her long braided hair jerking as she sucked so hard and licked his dick head with gusto and fuck hunger.

Mother and daughter had sucked him off tag team with them on the outside of his legs as he laid back on his back. The incestuous mother-daughter tilting his cock and right and left to share his mighty towering prick between them. Both beautiful women sucking and bobbing with all the skills that only whores had. He had loved fisting their hair and ramming their mouths down on his towering prick. He had cum hard in the daughter’s mouth and then watched the two incestuous lovers drooling his sperm from mouth to mouth. Gods that had been so hot.

He had cummed in each of their pussies filling their wombs with his virile sperm. He smiled seeing his lover up over him as they rode him cowgirl in turn. The voluptuous women slamming their bodies up and down to slam his dick hard and deep up into their bellies. Their tight couchies gripping and spasming up and down the length of his shaft as they fucked him exuberantly.

He loved watching the MILF’s full gourd tits whip up and slap back down on their sweaty chests as they fucked wildly to slap their ass cheeks hard on Tyrion’s groin to pile drive his dick into their wombs his bulbous dickhead plowing sweet tight wet whores and folds. Alayaya’s full rounded tits swirled and whiplashed up and down with her hot hard fucking. All three sluts groaning and cawing as their bodies slapped down hard into his as they strove and fucked with wild exuberance.

Gods they had screamed so loud in orgasm. When he cummed finally in Solaja’s tight fisting cunt he had roared and then screamed as his jetting cock had sent Solaja again into her orgasm and her cunt fisted his thick prick in a velvet fist of wet heat and tight squeezes.

He had rested when he couldn’t get it up anymore. He watched the three beautiful black women fuck each other deep into the night. The three women ever changing who they were sucking off. They would go from fucking one on one with one watching and stroking heated flesh to threesome sex of mouths working two on one or simply devouring whatever sweet female flesh was before them. They had cummed so hard with cunts flooding and filling mouths with hot cum or soaking legs, bellies, back or asses with hot gushes of cum when tribbing those body parts.

Recharged he had fucked each in the ass to their great everlasting pleasure. Tyrion had to be truthful with himself about his cocksman skills he told himself. He was the Lion of Lannister after all. He had gotten up on a small stool to get the proper height and fucked them savagely in their sweet tight clenching assholes. The women grunting and squealing feeling his mushroom cockhead prying open their shitters and then sinking deep up their asses.

He gripped their hips hard to jerk them back into his lunging dick savaging their hungry assholes. Their hanging tits whiplashing and flipping with their surging to and fro bodies. Tyrion loved seeing their voluptuous hips and ass cheeks ripple with his manly hips slamming hard into their stout bodies.

Gods he loved seeing the two women he was not currently fucking up the ass sucking ass juice off his cock. Their dark black faces so beautiful with their black lips glued to his shaft jerking their heads up and down slurping up sweet shit juice off his prick. The two whores and Fleet Admiral gripping the base of his shaft to pull his cock straight out of the asshole he was fucking with a strong grip. His dickhead jerking out the asshole he was pounding with manly vigor.
His cockhead and glans soaked in sweet shit juice. The three beautiful women hungrily diving down on his manly cock and sucking hard to get the sweet ass juice in their mouth and tongue. Then the women turned their heads to the ass he had just been plundering.

The women rimming and tongue fucking gaping assholes. It was hot seeing the three beautiful black women in turn gripping ass cheeks to pull back wide to expose gaped shitholes. The women burying their faces in the ass cleft to lick their tongues all around in the open asshole. Their pink tongues licking avidly red rectums and the runnel starfish. The sluts moaning in happiness sinking their long tongues up spasming assholes.

The three minxes taking turns giving their sweet black asses to Tyrion. He loved their dark hued skin. It made their gaped assholes so much hotter seeing their rectums all bright red and soaked in anal juice. Seeing black hands gripping his white cock to pull out a black ass. Black lips clenched tight on his dick sucking with great fuck hungers slurping up the sweet whitish yellow ass cream off his manly thick cock with lots of moans and slurps of the woman doing ass to mouth.

It was so hot to see Alayaya and Chataya on either side of Solaja’s hips and taking turns jacking Tyrion’s dick out her asshole to suck on greedily sucking Solaja’s shit juice off his dick with hungry head bobs.

It had been especially hot seeing Alayaya gripping her mother’s ass cheeks and jerking them hard to pull them out taunt. Then mashing her face into the ass cleft of Chataya her mother and sliding her tongue deep up in her mother’s shit pipe. The daughter groaning as she Dorne kissed her mother’s winking starfish licking her tongue flicking down deep in her mother’s rectum. Said mother cawing and jamming back burying her daughter’s face deep in her sweaty cum soaked ass cleft. Chataya reaching back with her hand to fist her daughter’s hair and ram her daughter’s face deeper into her ass cleft to sink Alayaya’s tongue deeper up her clenching butthole.

Only then did the sluts guide his septa helmet back to the slut’s gaping asshole and shoving his dick back deep into hungry wanton assholes. Gods Tyrion loved how they shoved his prick back up the ass he was currently fucking. The women who had just sucked sweet ass cream off his cock urging him on to pound the sweet asshole yet again. The women looking hungrily as his dick quickly slavered again with shit cream that they hungered to lick and suck off his cock again.

The three women were great sluts in the sack Tyrion reflected on happily. Solaja, Alayaya and Chataya were all three insatiable. They loved his cock and each other’s pussy. The women fucking and fucking long after they had drained Tyrion dry of his manly seed. He had enjoyed fucking them immensely. Fucking beautiful black women was rad! It was true. The blacker the berry the sweeter the juice!

It had been literally a blast he chuckled to himself. His cock sure thought so! It had been a great night and he had gone the next night too to once more prove that his legendary performance was indeed reality. He left the sweet sluts satiated. Well mostly. They had fucked him out! It had taken them fucking each other blind most of the night to wear their couchies out but who was complaining. He had enjoyed the show! He had become hard thrice more and joined in again and fucked them to screaming orgasms till a hot hungry cunt twice and a hungry asshole once swallowed his cock’s manly hard spurting seed. Such thoughts put a virile step in his walk.

Yes, indeed. Solaja Xo was one happy woman. I would be too if I was chowing down on the sweet black pussy of Chataya and Alayaya every night she was in King’s Landing. Then plowing willing pussy and asshole with my long thick strap-on cock as he had witnessed. Gods those women knew how to use their hips when fucking. The two whores had fallen totally in love with Solaja Xo. They were always pleasant and knew how to flirt with the best of them. With Solaja they were so sugary and cloying.

Of course Solaja Xo was equally besotted with her wives. She cooed and Hoovered around them telling them how much she loved the whores and thought she was the luckiest woman in the world. Tyrion mused that in Solaja’s mind she was.

Tyrion wondered what it must be like to be so in love. The long lost echoes of Tysha washed ashore on his conscious. He stopped and sighed. He had been so happy and yet it had all disappeared like a sandcastle washed away by the waves of the approaching tide on the beach. In one act it had been ruined. One act he had not been man enough to do what he should have done. He shook his head. It was the past. It could not be undone. Was Tysha even alive? Where did whores go?

He had taken the secret passage from his chambers to the royal apartments on the outside wall of the great keep facing the sea. The tunnel came out near the quarters of Varys so Tyrion used it when he wanted to avoid much foot traffic. He would then take the halls into the main Citadel built by Maegor. He was trying to avoid people in general at the moment.

It had been eleven days since the debacle of his humiliation by his sister Cersei. He was not sure if he liked this new Cersei. She had seemingly turned over a new leaf. Her attitude towards life in general and Tyrion in particular had changed completely. She had sent three more ravens with thick scrolls the next morning after Tyrion’s utterly degrading humiliation. She was gushing so sappily about Obara and how wonderful she was. She loved the woman with all her heart. She had actually drawn hearts around Obara’s name whenever she wrote the Sand Snake’s name in her scrolls. The insipid sappiness made Tyrion want to gag.

Where the hell had his mean spirited vile tempered sister gone! Tyrion wondered perplexed. When he read the sugary prose of his sister now he almost wished the old vile snake Cersei back. He could understand that woman. He had cross checked with his spies and gotten Varys to give him his reports on Cersei. It all came back the same. His sister was a new person. Period. The old Cersei was gone. How?! Why?! Where?!

Tyrion no longer had to fear imminent death at her hands or those she sent but this new witty Cersei was almost as reprehensible! She was killing Tyrion with sappy insipid sweetness! It was cloying!

Tyrion had to find his eyeballs on the floor after they popped out his eye sockets when he read that Cersei was cooking all of Obara’s meals when she had time and cleaning the house. Cersei gushed saying she loved being domesticated. She absolutely loved to dust and get on knees and scrub her kitchen tiles. Tyrion had been afraid his unhinged jaw would fall off to join his eyeballs on the floor after reading that.

What in the hell had happened to his hateful sister that hated everyone after Jamie dumped her for Brienne. Hell, she had been a harpy before Jamie left her for the not so divine Brienne. Brienne was sweet but Tyrion had to be honest. Brienne would never win a beauty pageant. Still, it was obvious that Jamie was besotted with the woman. They said love was blind and his brother and Brienne proved it.

The Cersei Tyrion knew and understood would demand revenge on the “heifer”. But nooooo this Cersei gushed about how happy she was that she and Jamie had both found their soulmates. Who was this woman! She went into great details of how she went down on Obara and how she liked looking down her sweat and cum soaked belly and seeing Obara sucking her cunt meat up a full inch out from her vulva munching on her clit and labia lips making obscene munching noises.

Tyrion wanted to curse his sister for sending him such long detailed accounts of her lesbian lovemaking but it was too juicy and good to not read. Repeatedly! He simply had to read it! It was Cersei was a great porn writer!

Cersei detailed how Obara pounded her cunt and shithole with her long ever hard cock. She loved to have her wife fist her hair and roughly jerk her around to clean her pussy and shithole off her lovely wife’s thick long cock! “Gods Tyrion, my shithole tastes so fucking sweet!” Cersei wrote rhapsodic over her new lesbian debaucheries. Tyrion cursed Cersei’s sailor language. He knew Cersei knew it was turning him on something fierce! She told Tyrion she had literally seen stars when Obara fucked her in the ass so hard and her world exploded in anal ‘gams of heavenly dimensions. How Obara would bend forward and rub her clit as she fucked Cersei in the ass so hard and deep.

“Tyrion. I can’t tell you how good it feels when my asshole explodes in scalding fucking bliss and Obara is rubbing and mashing my shaved snatch and then my cunt explodes and my asshole and cunt feed off each other driving me multiple. Have you ever felt like your dick was tearing itself inside out? Obara does that to me every night!” She then describe in vivid detail a recent anal ‘gasm of epic dimensions. Tyrion had read it thrice to make sure he understood his sister’s prose. His cock sure did!

Then Cersei had describe Obara choking her out as she rode the Martell cowgirl. She had fallen forward onto her palms and was rotating her hips to work her groin up and down in a hard swirl impaling her womb on Obara’s nearly foot long strap-on cock. Her dickhead savaging Cersei’s womb with sweet pummeling. Then as she cummed Obara had reached up and choked her breath off. Cersei’s hand clawing at the hands choking her. She told Tyrion she could have easily broken the choke depriving her of air but loved knowing her Obara was giving her what she needed. Her body instinctively fighting for air. Her brain screaming for oxygen and her throat so squeezed tight and hard. Her vision tunneling before Obara let her breath again. Her body heaving as she sucked in great ragged breaths with rivers of spit spewing out her choking and gasping mouth. Her womb had simply exploded again and again as she cried out in raspy half screams feeling her cunt shredded and her womb rip inside out deep in her belly.

Tyrion had thrown the scrolls on the floor in his disgust. His cock was about to explode! And he was not even jerking off! Big tactical mistake! He had then hurried out of his chair to snatch up the scrolls and then getting comfortable back in his thickly upholstered chair. He quickly found his stopping spot and resumed reading while he cursed his sister as she spent four whole scrolls detailing all her great sex she was having.

He had such a bad case of blue balls by the time he finished reading the infernal scrolls it hurt getting into bed where he could take matters into hand. He was the Hand after all. Cersei was flooding Tyrion with scrolls. She was telling Tyrion of ALL of great fucks she had had with Obara since they had started to fuck. His sister had an eidetic memory Tyrion was discovering. At least when it came to sex! She thought Tyrion deserved to know.

He cursed his sister as he avidly read each scroll greedily. Again and again!

He had made the mistake of trying to read them again the next night with Bronn and Shae in his suite. He had been furious with his bodyguards for their fun at his expense. He had tried to exact his revenge.

He tried glaring at them. They laughed.

He threatened to release them from his services. They laughed.

He threatened to have them tortured. They laughed.
He threatened to have them executed. They laughed.

He gave up. He pouted and gnashed his teeth in vexation which only increased the abuse heaped his way from his supposed bodyguards.

“Ho ho dwarf … what are your reading their Tyrion! Let me see. Remember it is better to give than to receive you fucking midget” Bronn told his employer in a scolding voice. That statement made Tyrion roll his eyes. Bronn tried to get the scrolls but Tyrion jerked them away from the pawing hands. Tyrion tried to hide the scrolls beside him half stuffing them into the space between the cushioned seat and side.

“Damn it dwarf let me see … you got a fucking tent pole in your trousers there my good stunted geek … you are reading something good. I know it!”

“Fuck you asshole … I still haven’t forgiven you for your vile treatment of me Bronn.” Tyrion turned to make sure he knew where Shae was. After her performance in their murmur play he did not trust her. She had moved like a panther and her strength had been shocking! He felt more at ease. Shae was at the table wolfing down a brace of succulent chicken, quale and rabbit. She had animal grease all over her face. She even had some smeared into her hair and staining her sheer linen top.

The grease had wetted the gauzy material of Shae’s top and had the fabric clinging to her small upturned doves.

Damn her breast were succulent Tyrion leered at the whore’s breast. Damn her eyes for being so beautiful. Tyrion turned around in a huff. He was still bitter with Shae for so willingly going along with Cersei’s little ‘drama’ as Cersei called it.

“Please be a good sport Tyrion” Cersei had written. “It was all in good jest … don’t you agree my sweet younger brother. Kisses.”

Gods this new Cersei made Tyrion to want to hurl with her sappiness. He knew she was laying it on thick for his benefit. It was scoring too damnit! Tyrion paused in his diatribe against Cersei. She couldn’t have become that sappy for real. Could she?

He was brought back from his musings on Cersei and returned to his current hellish reality “Oh don’t be that way Tyrion” Bronn intoned drolly. “It was all in good fun man! We only scared you a little … little man” which sent him into gales of laughter. He fell to the floor with big belly laughs at Tyrion’s expense. Tyrion glared at the man in his employee. Something about the boss slash employee dynamic Bronn and Shae seemed to never remember. Hell, even care about!

When Bronn recovered from his belly laughs at Tyrion’s expense from lack of air he looked at Tyrion like he had all the cards. The bodyguard finally levered himself erect again to sit on his ass his legs spread. He was immediately back at Tyrion. “Come on man! Let me read … you look like you have a lance in those trousers of yours Tyrion. Let me see.” Bronn got up and walked over. Tyrion shied away trying to hide the scrolls from Bronn.

He was not successful. “Whoa! I recognize that handwriting. Your sweet sister has written another scroll to her dear now dearly beloved dwarf brother. Let me have dwarf! She writes best lesbo porn I have ever seen man!” Tyrion noted that Bronn was drooling and clearly addled in his eagerness of another dose of Cersei ‘lesbo porn’.

Tyrion flipped off Bronn.
Bronn slowly started to unsheathe his sword from its scabbard on his hip. His face twisted into an evil mask of hate.

Tyrion could not stop himself from squealing and backing up in his chair. His small legs working the cushion as his stunted legs kicked in his terror.

Bronn could not get the sword one third unsheathed before he was rolling on the floor again laughing his ass off. He looked like an eel on dry land the way he flipped and jerked around on the carpet. His body wracked by great long laughing fits. “Gods, you are so easy Tyrion!” Bronn roared between fits of laughing.

“Fuck you Bronn!” Tyrion in his peevishness threw his scrolls aside and flipped off Bronn with both hands jerking his fists up. “Ha!” Tyrion snarled while jabbing his birds at the fallen sellsword. He had nearly soiled himself again. He would rather die than have that happen again … well it wouldn’t be that bad … but still—it was the principle!

Bronn only laughed harder.

Suddenly, the scrolls were ripped up off the chair from beside Tyrion. NO! “Give those back to me godsdamnit Shae! They are addressed to me you fucking whore!”

Shae with a chicken breast in one hand had the scrolls in her other hand jaunted around Tyrion. She giggled like a five year old dancing around the room flapping the scrolls around. Tyrion was off his chair in a flash. He nearly stumbled head first to the floor. He only barely caught himself. Of course Bronn found this hilarious and laughed uproariously.

Tyrion was after Shae like a cheetah in a full sprint. She was a short woman but her legs were still a lot longer than a dwarf’s legs. Tyrion discovered this chasing her around the room as Shae tore off chunks of chicken chewing the meat like a hungry jackal. She nearly choked on the chicken laughing and running but not slow enough to let Tyrion run her down. Then she stopped and held up the hand with the scrolls. He jumped up trying to get his little fingers on the scrolls as they were jerked just above his head. Shae folded the scrolls up enough to keep the scrolls out of reach.

“Give me those godsdamn scrolls now!” Tyrion bellowed.

“Hehehehehehe” was Shae’s response as she laughed and spun around keeping the scroll tails just out of reach of Tyrion’s lurching hands as he jumped up and crying out in frustration.

He was nearly frothing at the mouth with his frustration his hands grasping and falling just short of their quest. How in the hell could a whore be so coordinated to eat chicken with her dominate hand and still torment Tyrion by keeping the scrolls just out of reach of his hands with her left hand he couldn’t figure out.

“I will get you for this Shae!” Tyrion bellowed.

“Mnmnmpff umpff hhssuuuppp mmffff” Shae replied adroitly while she masticated a large mouthful of chicken.

“Arrrrgggggg!” Tyrion cried out for vengeance chasing the whore around. His tormentor always just out of reach. Shae was like a gazelle with how she could change directions instantly, having the dwarf go lurching by his little hands grasping air as he stormed past Shae in her new direction of flight. It took the dwarf some steps to change course in hot pursuit. Again and again the whore gracefully dodged the maniacal dwarf giving hot pursuit. Tyrion’s eyes flared wide open when the picked clean bones of Shae’s chicken breast hit him in the forehead.
“Ha ha ha! Catch me if you can shrimp legs!” Shae carped dancing a jig around the determined dwarf who valiantly gave chase.

“When I get my hands on you, you will regret it damnit! Give me my damn scrolls you fucking whore!” Tyrion loudly exclaimed in righteous fury.

Shae laughed hopping around the room and then running around the Hand’s table laughing with Tyron chasing her around. He tried running underneath the table and cut her off but the bitch had somehow seen that coming and reversed her path. Round and round the table he chased Shae. He was closing in his eyes alight with victory. Then the bitch jumped up and slide her ass across the table top to alight on the other side of the table.

“Nan na na-nann-aaa na! … pphhhfffttttt!” Shae blew Tyrion a raspberry.

Tyrion stopped hands on his knees bent over gasping for breath. He gasped in air to his heroic lungs. Shae was carping across the table at the dwarf. The whore sticking her tongue out at Tyrion and waving the scrolls around.

“Look what I have and you don’t!” Shae sang out off key.

Tyrion threw a foaming fit. His eyes crossed and strange demonic sounds came out of his mouth but quickly recovered and resumed the chase.

Bronn had recovered now and he came up to shield Shae with his body. Tyrion was furious. Shae juoking and jiving around Bronn keeping him between herself and Tyrion.

“Give me those damn scrolls you miserable rotten motherfuckers! They are mine!” Tyrion whined. Tyrion moved in on Shae’s shield. His foot kicking out at the bodyguard. Bronn dodged but Tyrion finally connected. Tyrion howled like a banshee. His foot had made a painful discovery! The man had put on iron shin guards underneath his pants legs just for moments like this.

Tyrion hopped around on one foot cursing. His toes killing him.

“I think I broke my toes you fucking bastard!”

Bronn’s little high pitched twitter only infuriated Tyrion further.

“Serves you right dwarf for abusing the help. I should have you brought up on charges!” The bodyguard laughing as he spoke down to his employer.

Shae snapped one of the scrolls down and started to read the words of his evil perverted sister. Words he, Tyrion, was thoroughly enjoying only a few minutes before.

“Bronn, I can’t read it!” Shae whined petulantly.

“Of course you can’t Shae. You’re a fucking whore by the seven gods!”

“Fuck you Bronn! You can’t read it either you mother fucking moron.”

“Why the in the hell do you think Olenna read the previous scrolls to us woman.”

Tyrion made a dive for the scroll his toes now able to bend a little and support his weight. The vile woman effortlessly pivoted around with the tail of the scroll fluttering just out of reach of the grabbing dwarf.

Several times Tyrion made a play for the scroll like a maddened bull in a Dorne fighting rink.
“Ouch—you fucking bitch!” Tyrion cried out when Shae pulled the scroll aside from in front of his face and the last thing he saw before his head hit it was the edge of the table on the side wall that had bowls of fruit, bread and cheese sitting on it. The force of impact rattling the bowls and items in them. The dwarf staggered back. Tyrion now had a goose egg with a crease on it on his forehead. He stumbled around holding his forehead cursing the wench and Bronn who was back on the ground laughing so hard he was holding his stomach.

“You fucking bitch! I should bring you up on charges for dwarf abuse. Curse you wench!” Tyrion whined rubbing his throbbing goose egg. He glared daggers at the whore.

“Tyrion be a dear and read me the scroll. It is full of lesbian porn isn’t it?!” Shae asked breathlessly her nipples very erect and her face flushed with her efforts and the thoughts of getting herself off. The fucking wench had a sheen of perspiration on her face from her exertions which made her look hot! Her nipples erect and poking through her sheer blouse looked heavenly to the perverted dwarf. Tyrion was so furious with her and yet he still wanted to fuck her! He had to remember she had just put a godsdamn knot on his forehead.

“Why in the hell should I help you get off bitch! I have a fucking knot on my head because of you!”

“If you read me the scroll I will give you a great hummer job and then fuck you bowlegged. Then you and Bronn can DP me. Again and again. I want to relive those great fucks the sumo wrestlers gave me.”

Tyrion eyes went glassy. Was he hearing right? He looked over at Bronn who had stopped laughing and was sitting on his ass contemplating things. He first had a lecherous look on his face that gave way to being pissed off.

“Are you bringing up those fucking Sumo wrestlers again Shae? Okay, I know! They were a great fuck! They had the stamina of a freaking bull in heat … their oiled bodies felt so good squeezing you between them. I get it already damnit … still, hearing you talk about them fucking you gets me damnnnnnn horny woman!”

Shae definitely had Tyrion’s erection—he meant his attention. “How do I know you will deliver? If I read you the scrolls you may then decide to not perform your … ah—ahem duty.”

Shae batted her eyelashes at Tyrion and then fell to her knees and started to undo his laces.

Tyrion’s mouth hung open. Was this really happening? Had the sun reversed its course in the heavens?

The whore looked up at Tyrion with her beautiful dark eyes. “Start reading my Lion of Lannister … gods I love lesbian porn. It makes me so horny. I will start bringing my whore lovers over.” Her hands had loosened his trousers and she jerked them loose on Tyrion’s hips. Her hand reached in and pulled out Tyrion’s hot throbbing cock. Tyrion was slightly dizzy with this change of situation. Did she say bring whores here?!

“Whoa!” Shae exclaimed. She started to pump Tyrion’s hard dick. “Bronn look! Tyrion has a dick near as big as yours!” She stared at his dick licking her lips. “He truly is a Lion of Lannister. I can’t wait to hear him roar Bronn!”

Tyrion looked over at Bronn to see how he was taking Shae’s appraisal of his manly attributes. Shae was the most perceptive of whores. He knew he liked Shae for her keen intellect even though she tormented him with that intellect and her wiles and charms!
“Alright Shae! I get it. Tyrion does indeed have a nice dick okay! He is probably a great fuck … get to sucking woman and let’s find out!”

“Unnggggg!” the dwarf groaned feeling Shae suck his cock into her mouth and started to bob while sucking fiercely on his dick. Her head riding up and down his thick long cock. Tyrion loved watching her black hair flounce as her mouth made slurping obscene noises. Her head stilling to twist hard on his bulbous cockhead while sucking like a succubus. Her mouth making wet obscene slurping suck noises. Then she was back to bobbing hard again on his bulbous cockhead and then riding her mouth sliding so hot and wet up and down Tyrion’s dick. Her mouth glued to his thick veined shaft.

Tyrion’s head still throbbed but now his other head was throbbing too. He turned the scroll around. It was getting hard to think as Shae hot mouth was doing wonderful things to his manhood.

“Start reading dwarf!” Bronn barked as he started undoing his laces.

“Ah … ummmmm hummmmmm (trying to find his place) … lets see …” Tyrion flustered turned the scroll around and finally found where the first good part started “I had Obara on her back with my face buried deep in her cunny sucking fiercely on her clit deep into my mouth …”

As Tyrion read Bronn quickly divested himself of his clothing. The dwarf observed that Bronn was indeed well endowed. His thick cock jerking before him as he moved to get behind Shae. His eyes glued to her sweet bubble butt.

Shae groaned giving Tyrion sloppy head. Her eyes fluttered shut as she sucked fiercely. Tyrion ripped off his shirt while Shae worked his pants off and he kicked off his shoes and stepped out of his pants. He watched Bronn move to bend down behind Shae. He quickly divested her of her dress. Shae lifting her body up for a minute to let Bronn pull her thin dress off her body. Then the whore got on all fours her head pumping up and down Tyrion’s cock taking his dick down her throat. Tyrion groaned in fierce pleasure gripping Shae’s hair and driving her head up and down his dick driving it down her hot tight throat.

The dwarf chuffing and moaning as he read his sister’s delightful prose. His anger at his sister dissipating by degrees with the great hummer job he was receiving. Tyrion would sputter and have to reread parts as his mind lost focus but he kept reading avidly. Shae moaned and groaned at his sister’s hot words and more importantly kept sucking hard and hot on his cock.

Shae moaned hard looking up at Tyrion with hot slutty eyes. The dwarf watched Bronn get behind Shae. He whipped his thick cock down on her ass cheeks hard. The sound obscene and oh so hot. He smacked her ass hard for “being a hussy”. She squealed and shimmed her ass back at Bronn. Her mouth sliding up and down Tyrion’s cock sucking with cheek hollowing deep throat love sucks.

Tyrion watched as Bronn slowly slide his long thick cock into Shae’s tight pussy until he had fully sheathed his cock into her hot tight cunt. Shae’s body shivered hard at the deep penetration. Her moans sweet on Tyrion’s cock now ramming the back of her throat. Looking down as he read Tyrion saw Shae’s face had a sublime look of pleasure on it. Her body relishing the thick cock being pumped in and out her wet tight cunny. The sensations had her face twisted but she focused and kept sucking hard on Tyrion’s cock.

Bرون gripped Shae’s hips and quickly built up his rhythm slamming his hips into Shae’s ass cheeks with loud slaps. Her body jolting forward as Tyrion worked his hips in time to drive his dick deep down Shae’s throat with each hard vicious slam of Bronn’s body into Shae’s ass. Her hips rippling with the force of their bodies impacting.
Tyrion pumped his hips as did Bronn squirting a very willing Shae from both ends. She was grunting like a sow in heat her body buffeted with hard dick. Tyrion himself was groaning hard feeling Shae now twisting her head on his dickhead sucking like a rabid slut.

Tyrion was one happy dwarf.

 //////////

Tyrion fortunes had definitely improved and worsened at the same time. It depended on which location he currently was in. In the tower of the Hand he was living high on the hog. Well, with some humiliation thrown in of course. He was dealing with Shae and Bronn after all. The sex was great. Tyrion had blown it the first time Shae had offered to fuck him. Not the second time though! Now she was blowing him! Tyrion loved it! Shae was indeed a great fuck. She kept him and Bronn going all night till she had fucked them out.

Shae after the fourth night had started bringing in some of her whore friends as she had promised. They were definitely like Shae. Insatiable. They would fuck Bronn and Tyrion out and then Shae was on them like a crazed piranha from Sothoryos. Tyrion saw that the horny whore loved pussy as much as she loved cock. Probably more so. Shae was totally bisexual. It was simply beyond hot watching the beautiful small framed woman sucking women off. The way she gripped their bodies to hold the women down as they wailed and jackknifed violently as she sucked them off yet again was pure heaven on Earth.

Tyrion had scored big time he crowed to himself! In a strange perverted way he had Cersei to thank for his newfound sexual heaven. Maybe his sister wasn’t so bad after all.

He almost felt sorry for the women as Shae like a succubus feverishly sucked them dry. Of course their screams of ecstasy filled his humble abode. It was amazing how hard you got and how fast when beautiful women were fucking each other like rabid dogs right in front of your face. Shae actually pinned the poor women down to the bed or furs and jacked their legs wide open even after repeated sucking offs. The lasses trying to cover their worn out pussies.

Shae evidently had many a female courtesan under her spell that she started to bring to Tyrion’s humble abode. Tyrion smiled great big at the bounty of pussy coming his way!

Shae seemed to have a sixth sense to know when a swollen, distended sloppy wet cunt could take just one more orgasm. The women usually passed out when Shae sucked off their worn out pussies for that one last spectacular orgasm. Tyrion had been sure that a few of the whores and sluts had passed the great divide to the fields of Elysium. They sure screamed like they were dying in agony. The women wildly flipped and heaved around the beds and furs simply wailing as multiple convulsions of multiple orgasms ripped their nubile bodies apart.

Shae when she sensed she had just about worn her sluts out, she finished the girls off with a hard clit suck and g-spot gigging. Tyrion’s ears were still ringing from last night when Shae sucked off a strong Summer Islander whore to unconsciousness. After a harrowing multiple clit sucking, dildo fucking asshole with left hand and the right hand working the woman’s g-spot type of multiple orgasm. Gods, Tyrion had not known a woman’s body could bend that high and hard as Ronanta Zhaasa jammed her feet into the bed and used her neck to bow her body to grind her twat and asshole into Shae’s loving hands and mouth.

Shae had risen up with Ronanta as the strong tall Summer Islander woman orgasmed hard. The whore had scooched her knees forward her body folded down to keep her mouth glued to the black woman’s exploding couchie sucking and drinking down creamy cum. The excess running down Shae’s cheek’s and throat. All the while Shae worked her two forearms to gig Ronanta’s g-spot and pound her exploding shithole. The way the black woman’s face crumpled and slashed was a gift from the gods. Her eyes squeezed tight shut as hammer blows ripped her body apart with ecstasy.

She screamed and screamed with her bowstring taunt body constantly heaving up high grinding her cunt into Shae’s wildly gobbling mouth. Then she had crashed back down to the bed limp and unresponsive. Shae giggled at her prowess while Bronn and Tyrion stared slack jaw. Ronanta Zhaasa was simply soaking wet in sweat and cum her long braided hair thrown askance around her head and shoulders. Her breathing gasping with a beatific smile on her face.

It had taken a hard DP fuck with lots of Ass to Mouth and Ass to Pussy to finally start to wear out Shae. Finally, Bronn and Tyrion lost it cumming hard in her pussy and ass. Fortunately, Ronanta had recovered and with the other two whores strapped in with their long thick strap-ons had finally over an hour fucked Shae to exhaustion. The dwarf discovered Shae loved to be fucked airtight with dicks deep in her cunt and ass savagely fucking her while she gave head to the dick fresh out her cunt or ass. Tyrion counted at least eight orgasms from Shae. Really strong golly whopper orgasms.

Shae was really beautiful when she cummed so hard for everyone watching. The whore was a total exhibitionist. Shae getting off big time having an audience to witness her sexual prowess and insatiable appetites and a body able to fuck all others into the ground. Shae simply had an insatiable pussy and asshole. Both fuck holes craving ever more tongues, fingers, fists and large strap-ons. Shae’s throat always ready to suck another pussy or phallic shaft.

The only fly in the ointment of Tyrion’s revelry was Bronn and Shae insisting on reenacting for the women (often repeatedly since the women couldn’t seem to get enough of the story) the night of Cersei’s prank. The whores and sluts from Dany’s court shouting “We want to hear it again! Show us Show us! Show us again Shae!”

Tyrion had roared and whined that thrice was enough godsdamnit! The girls had looked at him crossly and called out to Shae and often Bronn to again reenact the total humiliation of Tyrion. All Tyrion could do was sulk and pout in his chair. That was in between Tyrion throwing frothing teeth gnashing fits. Of course all that did was add more laughs and catcalls humiliating the dwarf.

One girl laughed so hard she pissed herself. The girl had giggled at that. Then she looked at the other sluts with an evil glint to her eyes. Tyrion cursed the wench from a high noble house. She had the body of a runway model but fucked like a whore. He discovered not only was her libido twisted so was her mind! The women turned their eyes to Tyrion who gulped sensing great danger but unsure what it might be.

He found out! Curse them!

“Let there be golden showers!” the tart barked out with the other girls and Shae chiming in “What a wonderful idea!” Tyrion’s eyes as large as saucers realized his great peril. He had made a run for it. The women looking at him with vile humor moved in for their demonic ritual. Squealing Tyrion dodged clutching hands. Their evil intentions to horrible to contemplate.

For a brief moment a clear path to the door and escape opened up before the valiant dwarf. Tyrion thought he might make it to safety when Shae tripped him exposing her dark vile heart. Her soul filled with evil. Tyrion tumbled to the ground rolling several times with his momentum. The Bitch! He had gotten back up but it was too late. The bitches had surrounded him!

Tyrion was a pervert but he wasn’t that perverted damnit! It took him an hour to wash his hair out! Unfortunately, that night there had been six women that Shae had brought. The whores and courtesans holding his kicking and squirming body down as they stood over him soaking him in their piss! Of course, Bronn instead of saving his soaked in piss ass had laughed so hard he pissed himself!

Bronn angrily moved over to the wash basin to wash himself off telling Tyrion it was all his fault.

Tyrion would have cursed him but he needed to keep his mouth shut with the piss raining down on him. It had not been raining. It had been a world ending deluge of epic proportions with Shae joining the festivities.

“Let there be golden showers!” the sluts had sing-song again and again doing their evil deed.

The damn bitches had fucking reservoirs for bladders! Tyrion thought as women stepped on his hands and legs to hold him in place. Bitches! His body bucked but he was pinned. He felt like his head would explode swallowing his bellows of righteous rage. Tyrion had to keep his mouth closed. He was being deluged with piss!

Again he vowed revenge! His tales of woe were unending.

The fucking bitch, Shae, had somehow gotten ahold of all the original scrolls. Tyrion had hidden them under lock and key. Now Tyrion knew the fucking whore was a lock pick. The dwarf was starting to suspect that there was more to Shae than met the eye.

Tyrion was forced to watch Bronn and Shae reenact his bleating and terror. He wished he could say that she was exaggerating his blind panic and the whore had no honor describing his soiling of his short clothes with such snickering details.

The third night back there was a knock on the door as Shae and Bronn reenacted yet again Shae garroting Tyrion as he sat in his chair. Tyrion sat in that selfsame chair he was falsely garroted in and fumed stark naked. The three Summer Islander women on shore leave from a swan ship were wide eyed listening and laughing so hard at the story they nearly threw up at his expense. Tyrion threw a fit rolling around in his chair his legs kicking wildly. One of the Summer Islander sailors squealed he was garroting himself. He had glared at the bitch but she only laughed harder.

Tyrion jumped out of his chair and flipped the fucking bitches off. He didn’t care that they found it funny. He stomped over to the door forgetting his lack of clothing as he ripped open the door.

He was handed a package. The young page stared wide eyed at him and then the naked Shae and Summer Islander girls behind him. Bronn was fucking a Valyrian whore from Chataya’s establishment with gusto doing her piledriver. The young boy had stared slack jawed. As the boy watched, Bronn roared and the Valyrian whore screamed as they both cummed hard. Shae snatched the package from him. Tyrion thanked the page and closed the door and turned around.

He no longer fought Shae. He was getting to much trim to fight it.

Shae squealed telling the Summer Islander sailors she had been waiting for this package for a while. She made a show of the box in her hands and shook it close to her ear. Tyrion could hear something rattling around in the box. The Summer Islanders started clapping and stomping their feet.

“Open it! Open it!” The whore lapped up the adulation. Tyrion fumed.

Shae ripped open the package. She reached in and pulled something out. “Look! I have his short clothes he soiled himself in. I had them bronzed!” Bronn, his whore for the night, and the Summer Islander girls were laughing hysterically. Shae was immensely proud of herself. She held up the gilded short cloth for all to see. The whore chortling and shaking the now bronzed cloth all around as she danced a gig. “Gods his shit was most foul! We had to wait two weeks to send them off the “Aarrrggghhhhh!” Tyrion roared in his righteous fury and charged Shae for all the good it did him. The Summer Islander women stepped in and snatched him up in the air his little legs kicking as he whined and gnashed at them with his teeth. His little legs kicked furiously which only served to jostle the tall powerful women easily holding him aloft. His short arms struck out at his tormentors but fell short. He started to slap the strong black arms holding him up but all that got him was a violent shaking that rattled his teeth and had his eyes half rolled back into his skull. He was temporarily addled from his personally Summer Islander induced earthquake. His eyes now vacant, arms hanging limp, his tongue hanging out and drooling.

“Ahhhhhh” Xhorrarro cooed “He is so cute all limp like that. He reminds me of a Chihuahua!” A reviving Tyrion made animalistic snarls and grunts in his anger being held up like a little child. “He even sounds like one!” The fight came back to Tyrion but he made sure to not slap at the Summer Islanders. Being shaken like a pepper dispenser had taught the dwarf that lesson.

Xhorrarro Daama held up the wiggling kicking Tyrion like a caught fish. Xhazata Xhaqaq and Challanto Zod came up close to inspect Tyrion like a trophy. Be docile Tyrion told himself. Well that had been the plan anyways. The fucking women were humiliating him in front of Bronn and Shae. That was the last thing he needed! His legs started to kick and swing harder in his agitation. The Summer Islanders continued to coo and now stroked his hair like a lapdog. The snickers of Bronn and Shae inflamed the mighty dwarf. His foot kicked extra hard and he caught Challanto on the chin as she inspected the dwarf up close and personal. The blow had not been hard but her teeth clacked. She rose up with fire in her eyes.

Oh shit! Tyrion had time to think before he paid the consequences for his rash actions. Life wasn’t fair! Echoed in Tyrion’s mind. Tyrion whined seeing more pain and humiliation coming his way. Challanto was shaking with righteous ire barking at her fellow Summer Islander women in their native tongue. The women conversing and glaring at Tyrion.

Tyrion’s gulp was loud in the room. The three black women stared at him as they discussed things in their melodic language. They seemed to reach a decision. Their conversation ending on a high note. Tyrion had thought their language beautiful but their discourse now filled him with dread. Their language now sounded strange. Filled with hateful syllables and inflection points only promising pain on his sweet personage.

Damn those bitches were strong! Tyrion reflected back on ruefully. Challanto had snatched Tyrion from Xhorrarro grip like a rag doll. She had held out the wildly squirming dwarf effortlessly controlling Tyrion while the Summer Islanders along with Bronn, Shae and of course the whore for the night laughed at Tyrion with uproarious ridicule. Tyrion squirmed but it was useless.

“You have been a bad Chihuahua, Tyrion. I should neuter you” The woman paused clearly thinking. “Yes, I will neuter you!” Challanto told Tyrion with an evil sneer. Xhorrarro came up behind Tyrion to grip his armpits and help Challanto hold the squirming dwarf up.

Tyrion squealed in terror. His body squirming harder but the women was simply too strong for him. Challanto now smiling sweetly at Tyrion.

“Bring the sheers! We will have mountain oysters tonight!” Now like a caught largemouth bass Tyrion wiggled and thrashed wildly to no avail. He roared his defiance.

Squeeeeeee! Sqqquueeeeee! Sssqquueeeeeee! Squeeeeee! SQQququeeeeee!

Challanto reached down with her left hand to worm between Tyrion’s jerking legs. Her right hand gripping Tyrion’s arm to help control the now terrified dwarf. His eyes like saucers. Her left hand fondled Tyrion’s scrotum massaging his balls. “Um um, good eats tonight girls!”

Tyrion, in terror, kicked wildly squirming but was pinned. His valiant lungs took in air to roar his clarion call of righteous indignation and fury. He prepared to gird himself for combat.

Sqqquueeeeee! Sqqquueeeeee! Sssqquueeeeee! Sqqqquueeeeee! SSqquueeeeee!

“Oh for crying out loud Hand of the Queen. Gods do you have a spine!” Challanto asked while sneering at Tyrion.

Squuuueeee! Sqqquueeeeee! Sssqqueeeeee! Squueeeeee! Sqqquueeeeee! Squeeeeee!

“Wow! I see you really are a spineless jellyfish Tyrion. Bronn and Shae were not exaggerating.” She sighed dramatically. “I will spare your testicles tonight”.

Tyrion breathed a sigh of relief. His struggling body went limp with loss of fear now that his balls had been spared being parted from his body.

“Instead I will blister your ass!”

Tyrion’s sighs turned into bleats of renewed terror.

Challanto whipped Tyrion out of Xhorrarro grasp and put him on her hip like a petulant child. A kicking and whining child. She stalked over to the sofa as Tyrion continued to squeal and kick his mighty legs. She roughly sat down on the sofa and casually threw Tyrion over her thick strong thighs. He had kicked and squirmed but was pinned. He squealed more looking back and up. He saw his fate coming and squealed even louder.

They had spanked him for being a “bad little boy”. Damnit they blistered his ass! He had squalled for all his worth, while they turned his ass cherry red! He cursed them which only increased the pace and force of their cupped hands smacking his ass. The three black bitches doing a round robin on his ass. When one tired of spanking his ass the others would take up the cause. His squalls of anguish only made them giggle and inspired them to continue spanking his ass harder.

He had threatened them with the Lannister curse of always getting even. All that had gotten him was even more harsh swats on his behind. He wept like the manly man he was as he sobbed out his curses at the bitches. Dwarfs have tough asses fortunately and they eventually tired out.

Challanto dumped him down to the ground unceremoniously. His body undulated on the floor his little limbs kicking. The hellish hot pulses emanating from his blistered ass had him thrashing with his unfairly administered pain. The pain lessened a degree after a minute of stunted legs kicking and loud bleats. Weeping and gnashing his teeth Tyrion righted himself into a regal pose. A pose that dissolved into him bleating and squirming around gently patting his ass that was still on fire!

Fuckers! Tyrion stormed at the women. Silently. He had learned yet another painful lesson damnit! His ass was an inferno scalding his delicate nature in tongues of licking heinous hellish hellfire. He walked around grimacing and walking like he had a rod jammed up his ass. Damn the people of the Summer Islands. He glared at the black bitches but they started to get up showing him their palms. His looks of terror and squeals of submission ameliorated their anger and they sat back down.

Tyrion wondered as he duck walked around gently patting his ass trying to put out the fire in his ass cheeks. His thoughts on pain and pleasure. His ass scalding him with pulses of searing anguish. How could people like this! Tyrion wondered. The dwarf had a whole new level of respect for the hens. They ate this torment up! What kind of asses did those bitches have!

Such thoughts inflamed Tyrion’s desires to watch hen debauchery. He paused. That was a bad choice of verb at the moment. His new insights into BDSM play made him want to watch them fuck and abuse each other even more. His eyes alight with dwarf avarice. His scalded ass quickly drove such sweet thoughts from his mind.

Tyrion was humiliated at his cowardly submission but his ass could not take another blistering damnit! Even a mighty warrior like himself had his mortal limits. Only so much abuse could be endured. Men weaker than he would have cracked. Broken and defeated. He was as strong as ever! He just had to hide it was all!

In the end it had been worth it Tyrion could muse on it later. They let him fuck them hard each night having moved in while the ship stayed in port providing defense. They found him adorable and called him their “little Chihuahua”. He would have much preferred “manly” “stud” or “one virile fuck” but he would take ‘little Chihuahua’ if it got him so much black pussy.

Of course he had to “pay” for the sex damnit! He never knew when he would be handed a scroll and be “forced” to read from them. The Dorne “Porn Scrolls” as he had named his sister’s latest sex scrolls. Their fame spreading across the Red Keep. They were an easy read he had to admit. Hell, she had sent two more with glorious details the previous night. The bitch knew how to describe lesbian sex! It made the women wet and gave him and Bronn raging boners!

It was the earlier scrolls that caused him the most problems. He cursed the scrolls and would have burned them but it was made abundantly clear to him that he would be burned next. Fuck them! Bronn or Shae would hand one those infernal scrolls to Tyrion and beg him to read from them. He had of course refused the first few times. The fucking bastards had started to gather up the whores and sailors with their clothes and prepared to leave.

Tyrion felt his eyes bulge out in fear. His cock shriveling in fright. He was getting to much pussy and witnessing and doing great DP sex and watching long hot lesbian sex trysts. He felt pure terror cursing through his veins.

He capitulated. He cursed his cock for making him so needy.

He was handed the scroll that had been kicked to him by Shae’s foot after his false garroting. He had ground his teeth. The humiliation of it all. The eager faces waiting had been kind of hot though in retrospect. A good audience was always a plus he reasoned.

He straightened his back and prepared to go into his theatrical voice. He felt like the lead actor in some Pentos Opera. He was still aggrieved though at his plight. His sister must have been real proud of herself down there in Dorne preening her ass off gloating at getting over on her younger brother so well. Curse her!

“Okay, okay! …” Tyrion assumed a proud regal pose and spoke in a rich baritone voice. “Ahem … Dear brother. I am a worthless piece of shit. I am totally lost without your guidance. I need you to give me pointers on how to finally be able to give Obara pleasure. She begs to fuck you. I implore you, my most virile of brothers for your forgiveness. I am barely surviving down here in this hellish dry land of Dorne and need your sage advice—“

“How the hell do you know what the godsdamn scroll says you dumb ass dwarf!” Bronn shouted over Tyrion.

“Stop it you fucking runt. That is not what the damn scroll says you dumb ass dwarf!”
“buffoon!” Tyrion bellowed back.

“Don’t use those big ‘I’ words on me midget man! Olenna read the scrolls to us so we would know how to act and give us a good first laugh!”

Tyrion had ground his teeth so hard he feared they would explode. Fuck that twat! That old fossil was always one step ahead of him! It wasn’t fair!

Yes, Tyrion thought. It was the best of times. It was the worst of times. Hummmmm … that should be in a book.

He came back to the present walking the Red Keep. He came around the corner and stopped. He moved back sticking his head around the corner. It was back to the best of times.

It would seem that the last night Chataya and Alayaya had spent the night with Solaja. They were leaned back against the wall with their dresses pulled up over the hips and held up by clenching fists. Their shaved sopping wet dark black cunts on full sweet display. They were both moaning deep throated groans. They looked so beautiful leaned back against the wall with their expensive silk dresses pulled up high to reveal their hidden charms.

Solaja was on her knees with her body positioned between the mother and daughter owners of Chataya’s House of Pleasure. Solaja was not dressed to impress. Her body naked as her name day. Her body so beautiful as she was on her knees. Her muscled forearms flexing as she worked her hands to pleasure her whore wives. The mother and daughter were leaned into each other kissing deeply their tongues snaking from mouth to mouth.

In the past Tyrion had fucked mother and daughter separately. That had changed with his foursomes with them and Solaja. It blew Tyrion’s mind to see the daughter devouring the pussy that she had birthed through seventeen years ago. Alayah ate her mother out like a rabid succubus. When Chataya went down on her daughter she snuffled and groaned like she had died and gone to Summer Island paradise.

It had been made all the better with Solaja going down on his dick sucking so good he had to fight for control. The admiral looking up at him with her dark eyes sparkling with her hair flouncing as she sucked with cheek hollowing sucks. She then mounted Tyrion and rode him hard their bodies slapping loudly. Tyrion looking over at mother and daughter in a hot snuffling sixty-nine sucking each other’s trim with desperate fuck hunger.

They had all cum at one time. His manly lion like roars added to the three women’s screams. Of course Alayah and Chataya’s screams were swallowed by each other’s muffs.

Loud groans brought Tyrion back to the present. Mother and daughter were groping each other breasts as their hands had undone the laces to their bodices and they each had a hand groping the other’s tits. Gods watching mother daughter incest was hot!

Solaja was on her knees between the women. She had each hand wedge fucking her two wives. The hall smelled thick of sweet pussy. Solaja paused to slide her thumb up the underside of her slime soaked fingers. She worked her thumb up into the drooling clamshells of the incestuous duo Solaja was fucking. Both mother and daughter groaning into the other’s mouth. Their bodies shaking hard as the two dark black skinned women grunted as they worked their hips in a down swirl to help Solaja wedge her hands into their tight wet cunts.

As Tyrion watched mesmerized Solaja slowly pushed her wedges into her wives’ pussies. Her knuckles stretching out the vaginal openings of mother and daughter. The two whores pushed down harder as Solaja growled and shoved her hands up. Her knuckles working past the rings of each whores’ cunt and her hand sinking into the tight slobbering clamshells of Chataya and Alayaya. The wet pussies sliding down the back of Solaja’s hands so hot to see Tyrion thought.

Mother and daughter’s faces twisted and slashed with the fierce pleasure they felt feeling Solaja’s large hands work into their tight stretched out sloppy wet quims. Both tall voluptuous women’s bodies spastically jerking in ecstasy feeling the hand wedges of their wife filling up their couchies stuffing their bellies with Solaja’s hands.

The admiral slowly rocked her hands in and out loosening her wives twats. Then Tyrion watched Solaja’s forearms flex as she formed her love fists. The mother and daughter keening as their flat bellies palpitated their faces seeming to crumple in shocking pleasure. Solaja’s arms started to pump her forearms driving her fists slowly deeper into the bellies of Alayaya and Chataya. Both women’s body jolting with bliss their throats cawing out their shocking pleasure. Alayaya had her head lulled away her face slashing direly. Chataya head was jerking forward sagging down and then jerking back as her face grimaced and her throat gagged in helpless pleasure.

All three women tall and voluptuous. Their thick bodies made to be fisted. Solaja started to work her twisting fists deep up black bellies. Solaja was looking up and down between their shaking sweaty bodies. Her eyes were glittering with the pleasure she was giving her wives. Her working body was flexing in and out with her pumping fists. Her heavy gourd tits swaying and flipping slightly with her exertions.

Solaja looking with intent eyes at the bodies she was pleasuring. Her eyes taking in the faces crumbled in shocking pleasure and the bodies shaking in raw lust. Mother and daughter were pulping each other’s full tits and trying to drive tongues down groaning throats. Solaja now grunting as she began to ram her fists up in perfect time as she twisted her forearms plowing the tight squeezing fuck petals of the incestuous mother and daughter. Sweat running down the admiral’s body and dripping off her ass as she worked her fists harder and deeper into her wives deep dark bellies.

Tyrion with his keen vision saw the sweaty faces of mother and daughter and the beads of perspiration running down cawing throats. Solaja’s wrists and forearms were slicked with cum and trickles running down to her elbows and more of the clear cum dripping off. Now creamy cum was leaking out the hard fisted cunts as the two whores rose to orgasm and Solaja gritted her teeth and twisted her fists in counter time up into mother and daughter’s belly sinking her fist up several inches on her wrist and forearm.

The creamy effluent now slavering Solaja’s fists and wrists looked like the sweet manna from the supposed gods with the milky cum slavered all over Solaja’s jamming wrists and leaking down her forearms in trickles. Solaja twisting her fists up hard and fast into the mother and daughter’s quims and then slowly pulling back her fists till they made the incestuous lover’s cunts bulge as Solaja started to pull her fists out her slut’s tight spasming and clenching cunts. The bottom of her balled fist just starting to appear before she rammed her fist back up into the slobbering fuck holes with a vicious twisting up thrusts of her strong forearms. Her fist impaling the tight couchies of her whore wives.

Again and again Solaja impaled tight trim with her savage up thrusts of her fists into sucking slurping pussies. Then slowly pulling her fists back down the fuck channels till her fist were near the entrance to Chataya and Alayaya’s hungry cunt. Only then did Solaja ram her twisting fists back up deep into Alayaya and Chataya’s hungry sloppy went cunts. Cunts that left more and more love snot all over Solaja’s plunging fists that then squeezed out the stuffed cunts to soak Solaja’s wrists and forearms in slimy sweet white love snot.
Solaja pounded their swollen muffs relentlessly. It took only another minute for Solaja to finish off her lovers. Her hands were pounding the whore’s muffins and shocking their clits. Mother and daughter had stopped kissing deeply and had their foreheads pressed together staring deeply into each other’s eyes. They had sneaked their free hands down and were rubbing their clits furiously as Solaja fucked their pussies hard with her fists slamming in and out their now heavily dripping snatchs.

Then Chataya and Alayaya were wailing their bodies jolting forward and slamming back into wall again and again as they jackknifed and flipped almost violently. Their heavy tits trying to flip and jigged wildly nearly bursting out their loosened bodices. Solaja kept fucking their exploding couchies till the women reached down and gripped Solaja’s wrists stilling her hard pumping fists.

Slowly the Admiral pulled her fists out her women’s couchies. Their sensitive quims and clits had the whores hissing and gagging feeling their wife’s fist slip out their worn out but very happy pussies. The trapped fuck juice splashed out the gaping cunt holes splattering all over Solaja’s face, throat, tits and belly. The whores groaning in shocked bliss and Solaja cooing being soaked in her wives slimy effluent and creamy cum.

Tyrion watched Solaja greedily jam her hands into her mouth sucking her wives pussies off the fingers she hungrily sucked in and out her mouth.

A big smile on Tyrion’s face and a nice stiffie in his trousers made for a happy dwarf. Tyrion was happy being the spying voyeur. That was until he saw the infernal things. Damnit! They were multiplying. He would have his revenge on Olenna! Mark his words. His happiness thwarted Tyrion backed away letting the Summer Islander wives have their sweet post coital time.

He fumed his way to the Small Council chambers taking another route to let the lovers have their alone time. He had gotten his mental rocks off so his temper was fairly in check. It was just that Olenna was going too far!

When he got to the Small Council chambers he paused in the doorway. He felt his anger rising again. Olenna was really cranking his crank!

The first Small Council meeting after his Cersei Incident had been a hateful revelation. When he had walked in he immediately noticed all the new gold around everyone’s necks and the big shit eating grin on Olenna’s face.

“Tyrion! You are doing such a great job as Hand of the Queen I have commissioned new gold chains with ‘hands’ on them to commemorate your vast successes. I have had one made for each currently sitting Small Council member so they and I too can share in your greatness. I bow to you oh great Lion of Lannister.”

Olenna was preening like a damn fucking peacock! Tyrion glared at the old crone. The only problem was she was no longer old! The rage burned hotly in Tyrion’s chest as he stomped to the chair of the Hand. The dwarf made sure to slam his feet down vehemently on each of his steps as he moved down the table imagining Olenna, Bronn and Shae’s faces underneath each stomp of his foot. He would have imagined Cersei’s face underneath his stomping feet but he feared she might somehow find out. He was brave but not that brave!

Even fucking Varys had a gold chain around his neck twittering like a teenage girl as he played with it. Grand Maester Harsch Lape had his off and was examining it like the Maester he was. The Master of Laws Micud Caudill was twirling his around his index finger. As Tyrion walked by to get to his chair it slipped off his finger and hit Tyrion in the chin.
Tyrion had glared at him. He did look mortified. The man did not know how to use a weapon!

Master of Coin Vedad Softic was hefting his in his palm. No doubt wondering how much coin it would bring if he melted it down. Greedy bastard! The Free Cities representative Lysono Saan was laughing his ass off making choking noises. Fucking Essos bastard! The Dothraki representative Illdatto laughed “The Dwarf who waddles the halls and bleats like a sheep!” Tyrion glared at the horse rider. “Ha ha. The Lion who squeals!” Illdatto barked out between guffaws. More laughter at Tyrion followed him as he moved down the table to his seat.

The Slavers Bay Emissary Draqhiz zo Gazno of Yunkai looked confused. He obviously did not understand exactly what the “joke” was. Solaja Jo was playing with her chain and running it over her nipples that were fully engorged poking out her sheer top.

“I hope you don’t mind the gift that I gave our Small Council to show my appreciation for your efforts for the realm. You are a true lion of the realm. You do not know the meaning of the word ‘fear’. Do you Tyrion?” Olenna looked sweetly at Tyrion with supposed innocent eyes as she played with her own gold ‘hands’ necklace. Bitch! Her emphasis of the word ‘fear’ said it all. It was obvious she had been told all by his so called loyal bodyguards. He could not lie his way out of the truth. Fuck them all!

Tyrion had climbed the steps to his custom built Hand chair and sat down petulantly and crossed his arms. He glared around the table. All who had their chains off from around their necks put them back on. The gold glinting in the light. He shuffled papers around on the table glaring at his damned fellow Small Council members.

It was then all the members pulled their chains tight around their necks and made choking motions while squealing. Even Draqhiz zo Gazno pulled on his chain and made choking sounds while looking around confusedly.

Tyrion had thrown a fit. His heels had slammed his chair while his ass bounced on the seat with his kicking feet. His arms jerked and waved around as if he was possessed by some dark demon. He made vile faces at all the council members around him as they laughed at his temper tantrum. Soon he was frothing at the mouth with slaver running down his chin.

For the life of him, Tyrion could not understand how his temper tantrums did not have the same effect as Dany’s former tantrums. Everyone was roaring in their laughter now. He had jumped up on his chair then. He jumped up and down stomping his feet and hurling his arms forward giving one and all the bird. He made eye contact with each vile mean hearted member of his Small Council promising imminent death.

Unfortunately, in his righteous anger he had lost his balance. His arms wind milling wildly he toppled over the arm of his chair as he squealed.

It took the Maester five minutes to revive him with smelling salts. The rest of the meeting had been swirling mess of faces and snickers.

That was set his ire off seeing Solaja pleasuring her wives outside her quarters in the Keep this morning. Both of the whores Chataya and Alayaya had on even longer versions of the Hand chain he had given Shae. The gold chains swirling on their dresses as they writhed and then flipped wildly in orgasm. The problem was that his plight had spread! The news of his debacle was infesting the very environs!

He had been outside the Red Keep on business several times once on horse and twice on foot since the Cersei Incident. He had heard the snickers and people looking at his neck for any markings. He heard sounds of swine squeeing. He would turn his head and the false innocent looks made his blood boil.

He was not sure how he would get revenge on Olenna but he would. Cersei he had chosen to forgive. She could tear him limb from limb if she wanted. Nice kitty he thought of his sister. Olenna only weapon was her fearsome sardonic mouth. She was proving to be a most capable opponent.

When he thought about it, Olenna was the only foe that had ever consistently gotten the better of him. He actually liked the woman but would never admit it. Her skills at the Game of Thrones made him respect the old croon which in turn made him like the woman. She really wasn’t that bad when she was not making his life a living hell!

After the Small Council meeting he went to his quarters to change into some more comfortable clothes. Bronn was snoring on the rug in front of the fireplace drunk on wine and great sex. He had two of the Summer Islander naval girls and a blond nymph that Shae had brought last night half lying on him and on each other.

In his bed was Shae with one of the Summer Islander girls and the two Blackfyr Valyrian whores that had come to his quarters for free he was told. They loved the black girls “the darker the berry the sweeter the juice”. They were all tangled together unconscious from exhaustion. Shae snoring like a bull as the other sluts snuggled in close to her small beautiful body. They were all sweat and cum soaked. The room smelled thick of pussy. They had obviously just finished fucking. Yet again. Damn he wished sometimes he was a woman with how they could just fuck and fuck.

He had enjoyed some finger foods and fruit. His eyes looking over the nubile sluts draped around his apartment. He then went to Olenna’s room to meet her and Varys to discuss some issues that had come up that needed to be handled more discreetly at this point in time. They had kept the Queen informed. She agreed with them to keep it quiet for now.

When he entered Olenna’s quarters he saw Jasline and Nathaleya. They were puttering around Olenna’s apartment suite. The two beautiful teenagers were beaming with pure happiness. They catered to Olenna making sure she had everything before she even thought to ask for them. They were constantly swooping by Olenna for little kisses on their lips and pats on their rumps that had them sighing in happiness. Olenna obviously loved giving the little affections.

Seeing this side of Olenna made Tyrion like her even more. It humanized the conniving woman.

Olenna was in her element. The girls left to go shopping for new clothes for Olenna. They left hand in hand beaming and chirping in happy love. The two teenagers kissed deeply their dimpled cheeks showed their coiled tongues lunging from mouth to mouth wrapped tight around each other. They broke breathless and smiled radiant smiles at Olenna. They were breathless discussing the negligee they planned on buying Olenna and then shedding her of the new items tonight. They were nearly swooning thinking of it as they left.

The girls obviously loved each other deeply. What was also obvious was that their love for each other was matched fully by their love for Olenna. A love that had nothing to do with the privilege and the largesse that Olenna bestowed upon the girls. It was Olenna’s love that made the young lasses nearly swoon with Olenna’s merest touch and softest warbled love cooing.

Tyrion could no longer deny it. “You are looking amazingly well Olenna.” Her age was sloughing off of her body. All could see it now.

Olenna beamed at the compliment. Her dark eyes gleamed. “I feel amazing Tyrion. I feel twenty-five, thirty years younger. If I had known eating pussy would make me feel this good I would have started years ago! Gods I love going down on Jasline and Nathaleya. They are so sweet to me. Of course they should be. I am their sugar momma.” The now spry woman preened before Tyrion with her renewed plumage. She was definitely enjoying the affections of the nubile young vixens.

Varys sparrows chirped that the teenage minxes were always ready to fuck and anxious to spread their legs for Olenna and each other. That the adult woman was always pawing at the teenager girls to again bury her face in their sloppy wet muffins and turning them over to ram her tongue deep and hard up their tight shitholes happily tongue fucking their rosebuds for long marathons of anal debauchery.

Olenna especially loved to jerk her teenager lovers off with her fingers while tongue fucking their anus with her long tongue. Olenna moaning like a Lysian whore loving each hard squeeze down on her tongue by the teenager’s wildly pinching asshole on her tongue buried up their ass while they cummed screaming and flipping hard but making sure to keep their asses jammed back or down onto Olenna’s face. The teens loving the feel of Olenna’s tongue pinched by their spasming out of control starfishes.

Tyrion snorted. Olenna was definitely getting younger. Her eyebrows were black now with only a few hints of white in them. Her hair was raddled with grey but black was now about half of the woman’s hair color if not more today. Her hair now lustrous and thick. The wrinkles on her face were much less if not completely gone and the wattle on her neck had almost completely disappeared. Her skin on her upper chest was now smooth and the splotches of age were few and few between and those fading fast. Olenna was not getting younger by the day but she was definitely getting younger by the week he judged.

Olenna never mentioned her returning youth. Tyrion was sure she was afraid to jinx whatever had blessed her with her returning youth. He and the other members of the Small Council never asked Olenna what was happening to her. Tyrion had become sure the woman herself had no idea.

“You do look very well Olenna. Those girls love you Olenna.”

“Of course they do. They had no future in their families. They would have been married off to some young pup or old lecher and would have had no future but crapping out babies and letting life crush them down. I have given them a future. I am giving them a life of possibilities.”

“I think they would follow you if you were to become destitute tomorrow Olenna. You are treating them well.”

“Of course I am. I may be a conniving bitch when it comes to the Game of Thrones and I have always loved getting my share of cock no matter my marital status but I have treated people in my life well … well everyone but you” she snickered.

Tyrion had to smile. “Just remember those girls are madly in love with you. They have only eyes for you Olenna. You are good to them. I know you lavish material things on Jasline and Nathaleya but it is your love they crave and have come to want and need.”

Olenna looked at Tyrion with a thoughtful look. She was definitely thinking over his words.

He was not sure how much younger Olenna would become but he knew she could be selfish. He had reports of her antics when a youth and early in her marriage. Adultery had been her middle name. Of course her husband had shared the same middle name. Both freely supposedly fucking behind each other’s back. Olenna had craved sex with many partners. She loved cheating.
She had something special with those two lasses and he would hate to see Olenna squander such pure love. Those two girls would go through hell for Olenna. Tyrion sensed the girls would not mind Olenna fucking other women. IF they were involved and fully participating. No cheating behind their backs. Those two fillies were sweet lesbian sluts who would love to devour all the females they could with their wife Olenna.

Varys sparrows told Tyrion that the three lovers were wearing matching waist necklaces to show their love for each other. In those girls minds they were already married to Olenna.

Tyrion had read enough stories of the ancients and seen how people were. Would Olenna step back into her old ways and squander what had fallen into her hands by serendipity. It seemed to be the curse of mankind to repeat their mistakes.

“When was the last time you had some cock Olenna?” Tyrion asked trying to get the woman to see the truth.

“Why do I need cock? I have my two fillies with their strap-ons. Gods they fuck me so hard I can barely walk the next day. Last night they slammed fucked me DP. They kept turning me over to get at me from different angles. Then they rolled be back and forth between them spoon. Gods I love sucking my asshole off their dicks Tyrion. They made me cum so fucking hard.” She shivered and her eyes unfocused. “I have never been so well fucked … they focus totally on my needs and what makes me feel soooooo good. Makes me want to give them such pleasure in return. I love making them scream. Only for me!” Olenna said possessively.

“It brings me immense joy to pamper and spoil Jasline and Nathaleya. It brings me happiness to put smiles on their faces. To hear them call my name with such longing and lo—I mean happiness.” The woman paused “I love taking care of them and loving th—I mean making them happy.” Olenna looked a little flustered.

Yes. She had it bad but didn’t know it. More probably suspected it but was trying to ignore her love for the teenagers. Tyrion knew how people like him and Olenna could often overlook what was right in front of them. He feared that if her youth continued to return it might go to her head and lead her to act rashly and, well, like an ass.

“Just remember those girls love you and want to give your their pure love. They have loved you from the start Olenna. No matter your age.”

“Unlike you Tyrion!” Olenna sniped back. The wound still bothered his nemesis.

“True Olenna. Remember that.” Tyrion worried his foe would again use her youth and beauty to try and achieve her goals of acquiring more power and influence. The way to do that was to marry a powerful Lord or merchant. Not sharing your affections and love with two dowerless women. Would Olenna foolishly jeopardize what she had with Jasline and Nathaleya. For something when you really thought about it had little meaning and less value.

There was a knock on the door. Olenna spryly got up and opened the door. Tyrion wondered. Olenna herself still did not truly realize what he and Varys saw clearly. Something was fully restoring Olenna’s youth. Neither could figure out who or what. Tyrion shook his head. The woman had always been complaining “if only I was young again”. It seems some goddess must have heard her pleas.

She let in Varys who came in and took a seat.
He had tried that over a few weeks at night praying to the gods he did not believe in for his youth back. Probably why his damn prayers were not answered. Damnit!

They sat down around her table and discussed the issues that had bubbled up to confound the realm.

“Do your moths or Varys sparrows still report unrest in the Sept of Balor Varys” Tyrion asked.

Varys spoke up “Yes they do. They are most upset that the high Lords seems to be so accepting of the Queen and her views on equal progenitor and lesbianism. They are most appalled that of all places the North is accepting of not one but two high royal princesses taking women as their future wives. If the most conservative part of the realm is accepting lesbian love and marriage can the rest of Westeros be far behind. They fear ‘this madness’ might spread”.

“The High Septs long ago gave up on Dorne but thought the ‘contagion’ of open relationships and homosexuality and its acceptance was confined to that far off dry and dusty land. With the Queen they fear that the fear of homosexuality will disappear. They will no longer be able to discriminate against sexual orientation. Some of the younger leadership do not see the problem at all. They are also open to letting women into the high priesthood. They are arguing that women should be given full rights.”

“They feel they need to act soon to suppress all these liberal ideas. They fear losing control of their patriarchal world. The High Septon deems these new radical ‘ideas’ must be nipped in the bud. Here and now.”

Olenna snorted in anger. “I happen to be one of those homosexuals! My granddaughter is. Hell half my house is gay! I grow tired of these assholes!” Varys cocked an eyebrow at that statement. He glanced over at Tyrion. Tyrion gave the Spider a soft smile signaling his support of Olenna and her personal views. Varys tilted his head back in acknowledgement. The subtle movement showing he too accepted this new version of Olenna.

Tyrion mused Olenna no longer considered herself straight. She spoke her words out loud without even realizing it. Yes, she had it bad. I hope she doesn’t blow it. He grimaced remembering how he had blown his chance at pure innocent love. Damn his father! Sometimes he dreamed of putting a bolt in his father’s bowels. Serve him right!

“We need to be careful Olenna” Tyrion told her. “They are forming an alliance with the Maesters. We all know of this secret sect they have. These members of the Trioka. I know they exist but I am not sure who its members are. The Maesters probably do not know of the more militant elements of the seven faced god. They are forming a militant order they choose to call the Illuminati. They are a secret militant order within their own ranks. The High Septons had used them to keep their own order in line and to achieve his vision of Westeros. They are being actively enlarged and empowered. They do not want to fight an open war but do their work from the shadows. The stupid fools don’t know what they are unleashing.”

Varys spoke up “They are indeed most dangerous. They have a heretical belief. Men such as that will go to any lengths to achieve their goals. They are most skilled in the arts of assassination and small scale combat. They are said to have mystical skills.”

“I know Varys” Olenna answered. “I have no use for the religion of the South but I do not want war with the church. Many do believe and much discord would fill the land if we declare war on the simpletons. Many do believe and are good people. We do not want to hurt their faith.”

“What do we do to fight their mystics?” Varys asked.
"I have an idea" Tyrion answered. He explained his thinking.

"I like it Tyrion" Olenna answered. I love the idea of using another religion against the devils. Will they help us?"

"I don’t know. They are serving the realm and Dany. I think so. After the war I will make overtures."

"Good" Olenna answered. "I wonder what Jasline and Nathaleya are buying me" Olenna mused under her breath. Her eyes kept drifting to the door in unconscious longing to have her lovers return to her.

Varys looked at Tyrion. Yes, Olenna had it bad.

Tyrion’s father was meeting with representatives of the Iron Bank. He was complaining of his treatment by the Iron Throne. He was trying to make inroads with the Iron Bank it seemed to the three. He had heard of them taking a “haircut”.

Olenna was sure no headway was being made by Tywin but she had her moths in Caterly Rock fluttering and Varys had the sparrows he had in the Sea Lords offices and this contacts in the Iron Bank itself chirping seeking inside news.

They discussed the rising tensions between the Iron Bank and the House of Black and White. They knew that Arya was being sent into that maelstrom. From what they had seen the woman would have the marital skills to navigate the labyrinth of Braavos.

Dany, Olenna, Varys and Tyrion were coming up with the team to send with Arya. It would be a hard hitting team with elements of stealth.

They discussed the Iron Islanders and especially Victarion. He was heading home. He had stopped in Volantis and boasted that he would conqueror Westeros and make Daenerys his wife and produce many heirs. He claimed to have found a great boon. It was impossible to get further information with him putting back out to sea.

They all knew that the Iron Islands were chaffing to once more exact their iron price and talk of salt wives once more. Tyrion knew that Solaja Xo longed to take a fleet and meet them on the seas off the Iron Islands and teach the “fuckers” a lesson.

Varys had reports of some strange new sect that had appeared in Pentos. They were said to be led by some long dead king of some lost civilization in the East of Essos. They had some prophecy of defeating a Dragon Queen and taking over the world. It always came back to that Tyrion mused. They would try and get more information on this strange new sect.

The meeting went on as they discussed these issues further and other routine matters of the realm.

Several hours later the meeting broke up. As Varys and Tyrion were leaving Olenna’s teenage lovers came rushing into the room. Their arms laden with the items they had bought for Olenna. Large smiles on their faces beaming at Olenna with rapturous love. They swarmed their benefactor cooing and shivering as Olenna stroked and kissed them deeply. The girls had googily eyes only for Olenna. Varys had moved on down the hall. Tyrion hesitated in the doorway. He wanted to see the interaction between Olenna and her teenage lovers. He was totally forgotten by Olenna and ignored by the teenage girls.

Their breathing got shallow and ragged as Olenna laughed shedding her cloths to try on the new purchases of her young lovers. The lasses were leering and drooling at the flesh being exposed to them. The young girls groped and stroked Olenna’s body with feverish eyes. Olenna twittered and moaned when hands tweaked rock hard nipples and rubbed up and down her wet camel toe and stroked her ass cleft.

Tyrion had to admire the body that Olenna was exposing to her teenage lovers. Her body was almost tight now. Olenna’s hands shook as she helped to divest her teenage lovers of their clothing. Her hands stroking their bodies with obvious fuck hunger.

It was obvious the clothes that had just been purchased would be tried on later. Much later.

He smiled as he closed the door behind him. Olenna only had eyes for her teenage lovers who looked at her with such rapt love.

He sure hoped she did
AN #1: I wrote these over two years ago. I had planned to publish them then but I decided to wait towards the end of this story arc. I have spent this story arc dropping seeds for what would happen in the next story on the continent of Westeros.

I have not been able to plant those seeds for what Arya will face in Essos. Most of these Preludes are based in Essos. They introduce characters that will interact with Arya.

There are two exceptions. The first was going to be the first contact with the people from the Land. It adds some knowledge of these people so I have left it in.

One Prelude is a character that Cersei will interact with. It is set in Westeros.

Chapter 54

Preludes: Book I

Peacock’s Fan / The Gondolier / Queen of Whores / Fox and Hound / Crypt of Skulls

Peacock’s Fan (5 months ago)

The mist flowed through the rigging and sails like a mournful sigh. The water so fine the mist swirled on the breeze running over the ocean. The dark of night was lit by the high full moon that shone down making the mist glow like the phosphorescent foam on the beach that glitters between every rushing wave crashing ashore. The moon a far distant orb that seemed ethereal that might at any moment fade to only a memory. The swirl of light in the mist like the spirits that played in the high mountain glades of Walano.

Up high in the rigging the mist made swirls and whorls on the eddies in the air that only the gods could see. The lookout felt like a character in some magical tale looking out at the dark world filled with ethereal wonders of dancing fog eddies that looked like magical creatures to her eyes. The mist cool on her face. The caress light and erotic like from her lover Jatazo Taaqu. She half wondered if the ghost like eddies would take form and assault her on her nest high up on the swan ship.

The lookout shook her head at how her thoughts took flight up here high in the crow’s nest of her ship. The thick fog filling her mind with wandering thoughts. She resumed looking out over the waters. Her eyes sharp scanning the mists for unseen dangers. The slaver ship might still be out there.

The mist flowed with the weak prevailing winds that had driven her mighty swan ship forward like a gazelle on the ocean earlier that day. The winds having died down with the fall of night. The ship had ridden a moderate four sea state earlier this day. The waves ran from four to eight feet in height.

Her ship, the Peacock’s Fan, prow had lifted up in the waves and then dipped when the ship’s prow dug into the trough between the waves. The figurehead carved into the next wave and made the sound of collision between wood and water. Each collision sent up a deluge of water and the spray... that every mariner relished to see and feel. The way the ship shuddered as she fought through the next wave was exhilarating. She loved the feel of the sea beneath her feet when she stood on the top crossbar of the mainmast.

Xhalha Zhom had been on lookout detail that late afternoon when she had spotted the sails far on the horizon. She had given the call with her small war horn that signaled “slavers”. She watched her crew jump into action. Archers rushing to the masts and climbing up loaded with three quivers each and their mighty long bows. The officers coming up on deck to study the horizon and the situation.

She looked hard into the distance as her ship changed course and gave chase. More sails were set on the masts to catch the breeze. Xhalha thrilled hearing the snap of the canvas of the sails catching the wind with loud booms. The canvas stretched tight in the hard gusts. Through her sandals on the wooden spar she was standing on Xhalha felt the ship accelerate as the Peacock’s Fan gave chase.

They had been on the prowl for a rogue slaver ship for the last four days. The slave cities had been smashed never to arise again if the Summer Islanders had any say. The Dragon Queen had through her efforts brought the slaver cities low. Unfortunately, elements that were not in the cities when the slave masters were smashed were still causing problems on the continent of Essos. Mercenary companies and bands of Dothraki riders were slowly hunting down bands of slavers inland from Slavers Bay.

The Summer Islanders with their Swan ships and the war Gallies they used in more shallow water and for massed attacks patrolled the seas routing out the fragments that lingered yet on the Summer Sea. On the high seas their Swan Ships were supreme with their size and greater speed. With their mighty masts and vast sail footage no ship could out sail them. The wind came in from the port quarter. Their shipped bowed down into the waves lifting up foam and spray with each dip into the waves.

Xhalha had been exhilarated being on her first cruise and was thrilled that they were on the hunt. She fingered her bowstring anxious to prove herself if the ship was indeed a rogue slaver ship. Slowly the distant sails became larger on the horizon. They were gaining ground. The ship on the horizon had purple sails with dark diagonal slashes on the main course sails, main topsails and main royal sails on the main and foremast.

They were from Volantis. A warship. The hunt was on!

Over the next hour and half the Peacock’s Fan chased down the slaver ship. Xhalha had been thrilled to see their ship closing on the hated slavers. Their ship’s sails snapped in the wind. The canvas folding in and bellowing out with the vagaries of the wind. The swan ships had all manner of color of sail. Her ship sails were primarily blue, green and purple like the name of the bird that graced their port bow and stern. From the top of the mainmast a flag whipped in the wind with a peacock at full flush.

Xhalha had looked at the figurehead on the prow of her ship. She always smirked when she spied it. That was the problem with having such a lovely bird as the name of your ship. No self-respecting captain would have a peacock as its figurehead. She looked at their fierce bird gracing the prow of their ship.

Their figurehead was the Secretary bird that pounced and disemboweled snakes. Their ship had a Secretary bird’s head with their sharp beak open and its crest of feathers at full display radiating out from its head and angled back three to four feet. The bird’s head had carved feathers that stood at attention around the throat of the head figure. The head painted white. The bird of prey had a yellow band around the eyes and going out to half circle to the beginning of the beak. The beak and top of the birds head light gray. The crest feathers standing out from the head were black all the way to the tips painted white.

The figurehead had wings and trailing legs in base relief on the sides of each prow. The aspect of their figurehead was one of seeking its next prey. Now the beak of their totem was pointed straight at the ship they had now chased down.

The rigging was full of bowmen. Xhalha had her personal quiver on her back and spare quivers hooked onto the mast. The rails were lined with bowmen beside the serrated rails on the ship. The warriors stood behind the merions and ready to move to the embrasures to fire at the enemy. Her newly wed wife was on the main deck manning a small scorpion. A small catapult located on the aft quarterdeck. The bowl filled with hemp soaked in sulfur, bitumen, and tar pitch wrapped around a large stone. The concoction ready to set aflame and pitched onto the deck of the slaver ship.

Their ship now was on the aft quarter of the slaver ship. Their mighty Swan Ship towered over the sleek Volantean galley. The main mast of the slaver ship only came up half way on their mainmast. Their ship was tacking to starboard to get distance between the ships. The archers along with the war machines would launch the first attacks primed and ready to begin the assault.

It was during the maneuver to get distance that Xhalha felt the change in the air. She jerked her head to the air ahead. She saw a massive fog bank on the horizon. The wind was dying and cooling. Wind was their ally and it was dying. The command to notch arrows was given. The ships were one hundred yards apart to give them space to attack and kill.

Their captain, Tanal Choqu, hailed the raider and demanded their immediate surrender. There was no response from the captain of the slaver ship. Suddenly the sound of the war drums started to pulse inside the Volantin ship. The oars came out their ports and dove into the water and began to stroke at war ram pace the drums hammered out with their hammers. The slaver ship surged ahead. The swan ship could make their speed for now but the wind may die more.

“Fire” was shouted by Tanal. A whisper sound of arrows taking flight filled the air. Xhalha fired her arrow at the slaver ship her arrow among a flight of arrows buzzing like angry wasps darting towards their enemy with vigor and anger. The Volantean ship returned fire with their own angry hornets.

Xhalha heard the enemies arrows whizzing past her head and one struck just blow the post she was standing on. Elation filled Xhalha seeing fighters and sailors on the galley fall. More flights of arrows were fired from both sides like flights of madden starlings rolling in the sky. She saw Bharral Cho and Sonoqua Qhaa fall from the Mizzen mast and rigging pegged to the mainmast. Xhalha felt rage burn in her veins.

Back and forth the two ships fired arrows at the other. The sea state and the ships roll between waves made aiming difficult. Xhalha shouted in exhalation seeing several more slavers fall dead with Islander arrows piercing their body. Their perch high on the mast gave Xhalha and her fellow archers great angles to fire down at the enemy. More slavers fell dead feathered with long bow arrows. Unfortunately, Xhalha saw several more of her country fall from the rigging pierced by arrows.

On the quarterdeck the restraining rope was jerked pulling the pin from the bucket of the catapult hurling the arm forward into the stop of the catapult. The payload in the bucket alight and blazing went hurling towards the slaver ship and sailed just over the ship crashing into the sea. The catapult crew feverishly reloaded the device.

Xhalha felt the first hint of moisture on her cheeks and she looked ahead with a brief glance. The fogbank was much closer now and the wind was dying even more. Red and yellow fireflies now arched between the ships with arrowheads covered in hemp and tar alight from coal pots darted between ships hitting the enemies’ sails lighting them on fire. Most of the fires did not catch but some did and the canvas started to light up with the flames spreading.

The aim of the flaming arrows to destroy sails and take away sail footage to catch the wind. The sail above Xhalha was going up in flames hotly and several of the crew were cutting it free as the lines to the sail were slackened. The crew had to keep the fires from spreading. Each sail on fire took that much speed away from the Peacock’s Fan.

The Volantean ship was losing sail footage but her oars were letting her maintain speed. Xhalha heard her captain curse and bark out orders.

Xhalha glanced below just as her wife Jatazo Taaqu fired her scorpion through the port cutout for it. The device loaded with a trident head bolt. Xhalha looked up to see what the bolt had found. Xhalha shouted seeing a man dressed as a commander gigged to the main mast his body jerking in his death throes. His chest penetrated by two of the trident’s tines.

“Hard to port!” the captain shouted meaning to ram or at the least destroy the oars on the starboard side of the raider. They needed to reduce the speed of the Volantean ship with the dying wind. The rudder man jammed the tiller hard over and Peacock’s Fan began to turn into the slaver ship. The runaway ship seeing its danger also began a turn to port as it angled away still heading for the dense fog now much closer to the combatants now.

Arrows were firing in all directions now as the ships closed. Xhalha whooped when her last shot arrow pierced an archer on the deck of the slave galley. Her whoop turned to a yelp as an arrow thudded into the mast beside her head. The twenty year old jerked around the mast for protection as she notched another arrow.

Flaming arrows now pierced many of the sails of on both ships. Crew cutting out sheets that burned wildly sending ash and soot over the combatants.

“Brace for impact!” the captain shouted. The Peacock’s Fan prow had reached the slaver ship now and slammed into the side of the ship. The slaver ship had pulled in their oars at the last moment protecting them except for two slow retractions that snapped the wooden oars as the ships slammed together.

The grinding of wood could loudly be heard. Both ships shuddered with the force of impact. Grappling hooks were hurled form the Summer Islander ship locking the slaver ship tight to the Peacock’s Fan port side. Arrows were fired up and down by the bowman. Xhalha saw more slavers fall down feathered. A female Summer Islander fell to her death off the aft most mast. The Summer Islander ship had the advantage of height but the crew on deck had to expose themselves now to fire down while the slave ship had to crane up to shot in anger back at the Summer Islander ship but were able to hide easier behind shields and parts of their ship railing.

The catapult fired again and this time their shot skimmed over the half deck of their foe but did not ignite anything before the missile skidded off the deck and crashed into the sea on the other side of the slaver ship. The slavers hurled bags of pitch against the Peacock’s Fan side and over the rail with torches following igniting the bags that had burst spreading their oily contents. The third shot from the catapult hit the quarterdeck of the slaver ship and burst into flame. More fire arrows were fired frantically from both of the ships. Now both ships fought frantically to put out fires on their decks as more sails went up in flame.

A boarding party had assembled on the rail of the Summer Islander ship ready to board the slaver ship just as the ships reached the first wisps of the fog bank. Arrows flung in both directions with angry buzzing. More Summer Islander and Slavers fell feathered. It was then that Xhalha noticed swimmers at the side of her ship. She looked at them deciding if they were slavers. More heads suddenly bobbed to the surface of the water. Had they attached something to the ship?

BBBOOOOMMMMMMMMMMM

A deafening explosion filled the air and Peacock’s Fan shuddered from stem to stern. The mighty Swan Ship lurched over to starboard from the force of the blast. A froth of white foamed water shoot several hundred feet straight up in the air. The ship seemed to lift and then settle and groaned in distress.

The fucking bastards had used a mine on her ship! Xhalha wildly thought in anger and fear. In a small part of her mind Xhalha admired the warcraft and bravery of their foes. This was something new and unplanned for. Their enemy captain crafty.

Fire raged on the slaver ship. The forecastle was on fire and the aft mast had fire licking the wood climbing up the wooden timber. The fires on the Peacock’s Fan’s decks were being contained. Several of her crew had started to attempt to board the enemy’s ship but fell back pierced with arrows. Arrows winged down from the masts and cross spars of the Summer Islander ship cutting down the slaver crew when they exposed themselves. Unfortunately, the slavers were using their ships structure and shields to protect themselves from the arrows winging at them from point blank range now. Their arrows seeking out Xhalha’s crewmates.

The Peacock’s Fan had settled a little at the bow. Xhalha knew the blisters on the side of the ship had absorbed much of the explosion but seals had been sprung at the least and blanks broken most likely. Water was rushing into her ship. She knew sappers below were bracing broken planks and blocking in replacement timbers. The sappers feverishly placing the timbers and using braces with blocks and dowels to anchor them in place.

The fog was now rolling over the ships thickly and light fading with the falling sun. Xhalha and her mates shot the swimmers in the water that had damaged her ship. Most were feathered and sank beneath the waves but two got to the leeward side of the slaver ship. They had paid for their nefarious deeds!

The fire seemed to be spreading on the slaver ship. The captain ordered the lines cut to the slaver ship to save the Swan ship from the danger of fire spreading on the slaver ship. Slowly the Peacock’s Fan separated from the flaming ship that gradually fell behind in the damp fog.

The fog was obscuring the failing light. The captain did not want to continue the assault without being able to see clearly to assess the battle and be able to counter any moves of the enemy captain and crew. The ships continued to drift apart. The slaver ship like a ghost slowly dimmed and then disappeared in the rolling fog. The glow of its fires receding like the ferryman heading to the underworld.

Xhalha looked down in the fading light to celebrate with Jatazo and gasped. Her wife had been feathered with an arrow. She saw that an arrow had penetrated her hamstring. In a panic she worked down the ladder rigging to the lower mast and then climbed down the pegs. In a rush she reached her sweet wife’s side. A healer was already there. She took her wife’s hand as Jatazo grit her teeth against the pain.

Xhalha controlled her anxiety by helping the doctor punch the barb arrowhead through Jatazo hamstring as her newlywed wife screamed in pain. The scream twisted Xhalha’s guts but it had to be done and she did not hesitate to do her part in caring for Jatazo. Xhalha cut the fletching off and the healer cut off the arrowhead. Xhalha feeling her stomach flip with Jatazo’s cries of pain at the shaft jerking in her leg as her lover and healer worked. Then the doctor slowly pulled the shaft back and cut a groove in the arrow as Xhalha watched fascinated. The doctor then filled the groove with sulfur and bromide and herbs. The healer took flint and lit it on fire as the sulfur blazed up.

Xhahlo gripped her wife’s shoulders hard. The doctor slammed the flaming arrow shaft through the wound cauterizing and coating the wound with the essence of the healing herbs in the wound as the shaft was knocked out Jatazo’s body. The screams loud and made Xhalho weep in shared pain. She heard other screams of wounds being treated and said prayers to the air gods of her homeland.

//////

Back in the present Xhahlo looked up to the moon hazy through the flowing mist and said a prayer for her wife that her wound would heal clean and quick. She kept her face upturned saying her prayers to the moon goddess of fertility and healing. She closed her eyes and enjoyed the fine mist flowing over her face. The moisture calmed and cooled the archer.

It had been a whole watch since the battle. The wounded were below decks being tended and the damage done by the blast and fires were being repaired. New canvas had been broken out lockers that were beside the masts. The canvas hooked up to the guiding lines and cables. The new canvas worked up the masts by block and pulleys.

It was strange in a way. The afternoon had been filled with the rage for war and now in the night she felt the calm of nature cooling the rage that had filled her veins earlier.

The canvas sails were at half-mast with most of the fire and arrow pierced canvas removed. The mine had fortunately been placed on the front of the ship were the blisters had absorbed much of the blast. Further aft behind the blisters the damage would have been much greater. The Peacock’s Fan rode lower in the water but was in no danger.

Repair crews worked feverishly to repair all the damage that they could while on the roaming sea. Xhahlo again admired their hard work. The men and women worked feverishly for four hours to staunch all the flooding. Then they had redoubled the bracing to keep the pressure of the sea from breeching the repairs the crew had done to their beloved ship.

The repairs were only temporary to keep the ship sea worthy till they could get back to port and pull into a slip at the shipyards of Koj. The captain of the Peacock’s Fan would pay the price necessary to affect full repairs and make his ship like new again.

The slaver ship had been wounded, probably mortally. If the ship still lived it would not be able to mount an assault with its damage and reduced crew. Xhahlo felt safe to relax for a few minutes and let her body relax after the adrenalin rush of battle and seeing her sweet beautiful wife harmed.

The bastards! Xhahlo looked back up at the hazy moon. The goddess reached out with her weak light to caress her face calming her thoughts once more. Her wife should be well with the heroic efforts of the healers. She closed her eyes giving thanks to the goddess of the moon, Chanadha. Xhahlo smiled feeling Chanadha reaching out to softly caress her skin with fingertips of sweet moist fog.

She tilted her head down and opened her eyes. Xhahlo nearly wet her breeches. A gasp of shock escaped her throat.

On either side of her ship now rode a ship that simply dwarfed their mighty swan ship. Where Peacock’s Fan had dwarfed the slaver galley these ships had masts that were close to twice the height of her ship. She gasped at the massive spares as thick as massive tree limbs that supported hooks and pegs for massive sails that were slackened or furled.

Xhahlo gaped as cries ran around her ship now as more of the crew saw their predicament. They were flanked by ships several hundred feet off their sides. The cross spars jutting out like trees from the masts jutting out fifty feet from the masts on each side. Xhahlo looked down and marveled. Her ship cut through the waves of the calmed sea and she heard the rush of water along the beams and the roll of waves sloughing off the bow. She looked at the ship to her right at its water line and it was indeed cutting through the water but no sound was made. The line where water and ship met as clean as a knife cut and as silent as the grave. The ship gave off no bow wake.

While the ships made no noise on the sea Xhahlo could not fathom how these two behemoth of ships had been able to slip up on her and the others up in the masts doing their quarter watches.

The other ships had three massive and oh so tall masts and a large bow mast with the two jibs sails in full bloom propelling the ships easily forward keeping pace with the Peacock’s Fan leisurely pace.

She then received another shock. She finally registered the crew that were in the rigging and hanging off the masts or spars. They were giants; literally giants. The smallest was maybe ten and half feet tall while the tallest was twelve or thirteen feet tall. Their faces were handsome and foreheads prominent. Their faces looked at her with keen intelligence that sparkled in their eyes. The crew of the other ship looked like any sailor from any nation except for their extreme size. Even though these sailors were so large they gave the impression of being nimble as the gazelles of the Disputed Lands and along the Orange Shore to the east Volantis.

The Summer Islander saw that the Giants were dressed in what looked like traditional attire from the lands of Westeros. The Giants wearing pants whose legs were stuffed in boots. The Giants wore tunics over their broad shoulders with vests over them cutoff at the shoulders.

Xhalha noticed that the crew was mixed like hers. The crew was slightly weighted with males being predominate on the masts and rigging. She looked down and saw more of these Giants on the decks looking up at her and her shipmates in the rigging and down at her shipmates on the deck of her ship. It was disconcerting to Xhalha to see ships that dwarfed her ship. It unsettled her world to see her mighty Swan Ship outsized and outclassed.

Then she saw two women girded in armor near the deck of the massive ship to her right. They were on the ladder rigging on the central mast looking at her intently. The armor was shaped in half-moons that hugged around limbs and up lower torsos. Their upper torsos and shoulders were enclosed in carapaces of armor made up of the circular disks.

Xhalha saw the dull gleam of the armor and suddenly understood that the armor was made of granite. She women had massive broadswords strapped to their backs mainly with a few carried on hips. She somehow sensed that even their weapons were made of granite. That made her look at the ships again and yet a third gasp arose from the young woman.

The ship was made of granite. The ship beside her was made of rock and not timber. How could such a ship float! Xhalha looked along the hull of the ship looking for seams where the blocks of stone would have been fitted together. She could see no trace of plates or lines in the sleek lines of the ships. It was if the ship had been fused together and made into one whole. She could almost see the strength of the ship. How could stone be made to do this? Xhalha sensed this ship could easily outrun her ship on the wind. Xhalha felt that even in this gentle breeze these massive ships could quickly outdistance her ship if all the canvas on the three ships were deployed.

She now noticed that a second race was on the ghost ships that ran silently. Xhalha had had her attention grabbed by the Giants on the other ships. Now that that shock had waned she noticed the shorter people on the ships. These were men and women too. They were “normal” in height but shorter than the Summer Islander. They appeared to be swarthy like the people of Yi Ti but had facial features more closely resembling the people of Westeros except for their almond shaped eyes. They looked to be a cross of the people of Yi Ti and Dorne.

These people had only simple tunics belted at the waist and wore no shoes. They too stared at Xhalha. She noticed that the smaller figures all had black hair cut short. The men had short crew cuts while the woman had bangs and hair down to cover half their ears and down to their neck in the back. The giants had hair of all lengths. The coloring of their hair had all the variations of Westeros hair color.

Xhalha spied a small woman of the second race move to the large female giant that seemed to be the leader. The Giant woman encased in her granite armor with a large helm hanging off the belt synched around her waist. The smaller woman talked with the Giant nodding her head. Xhalha watched the small brown skinned woman quickly turn and scale up the tall main mast with quick adroit movements. She was skilled like a Summer Islander and the Giants on the tall ships. She quickly climbed up to the main crossbar spar.

The woman with perfect balance went to a stanchion and grab a lanyard quickly untying it from the spar. The woman wrapped the end of the hemp line around her right fist. The woman then effortless walked along the spar on her bare feet away from the Giant ship mast and along the spar. To Xhalha it seemed as if the woman was measuring the distance for some reason. Then the woman effortless pivoted and walked away from the Peacock’s Fan and then turned when the long lanyard lay hanging down from her hand and looped down below the spar.

Xhalha watched with rising shock when the woman somehow ran down the curved spar and launched herself off the beam at the mast. The woman was insane. She would plummet to her death. When she reached the bottom of her apex the rope would be jerked out of her hand probably jerking her shoulder out of socket Xhalha thought wildly.

Xhalha watched shocked as this small woman plummeted down toward the water below. The woman’s running had cast her downward plummet down in an arc. With the rope clenched in her fist the continued on in her downward arc. Her momentum caused the rope to whip up and out over her ship.

The whiplash at the bottom of the arc should have ripped the rope from the woman’s hand but did not. The rope now bottomed out. The woman’s momentum and whiplash of the rope now propelled the woman up to the heavens in a reverse ace from her downward mad rush. The small woman sailed high in the sky between the two ships and as the lanyard reached its zenith the woman released the rope and arched through the air towards the swan ship impossibly high in the air. Then her body lost momentum and began its downward path to imminent death.

This insane woman was diving between the main and foremast. Xhalha was prepared to call for man overboard when the woman impossibly gripped the edge of the ladder rigging between the two masts as she passed it. The woman impossibly gripped with her hands and held on as her body whiplashed to and fro. The woman waited for the whiplash to cease and then effortless turned her body and flipped up and over the edge of the rigging to land on her feet on two squares of the rigging and then without effort walked up the rigging. The woman never once used her arms for balance but Xhalha could see her powerful leg muscles firing off keeping the woman on balance.

Xhalha and all her shipmate stared at what this woman had just accomplished. Xhalha looked at the other lookouts and those down on the deck. All stared gaped jawed at this woman. A woman who had just performed a feat that was simply impossible. The strength, timing, agility and sheer courage was to astounding too even contemplate.

The dusky hued woman reached the mast and effortless scaled up the rungs on the mast and came around to stand on the spar beside the platform that Xhalha stood on. The woman was silent as she silently regarded the Summer Islander.

She stood before Xhalha now studying her with flat eyes and impassive face. They stood silently regarding each other for a long moment. The woman was nearly a foot shorter than Xhalha. Then the woman cocked an eyebrow fractionally. “I am Brail of the Haruchai. We are pleased to find you. Your ship is indeed a beautiful marvel.” The woman spoke as if she was bored and her face showed no emotion. The woman’s voice had a suppressed lilt to it that made Xhalha think the woman had difficulty speaking her tongue.

The woman was indeed short. She was only about 5’3” compared to Xhalha’s 6’2 height. The woman was muscled but it was not excessive but finely toned. The woman seemed relaxed. To have just accomplished what this woman had Xhalha would be all jangly and full shaky with adrenalin rush. This woman seemed like she was bored with what she had just accomplished. The impossible.

Xhalha was about to speak when suddenly below Xhalha, on the deck below she sensed much motion and looked down. She saw five of the best archers on Peacock Fan come up from below deck with bows notched. The archers looked up seeing a strange woman right in front of Xhalha. The archers sensing a threat to their crewmember immediately drew back taking aim. Xhalha could instantly tell the archers were still riled up from the combat earlier in the afternoon. They also thought that she was in danger from this woman who stood just in front of her.

“Noooooooooo!” Xhalha screamed as five arrows were let loose in quick succession the sound of the plucked bowstrings sickening to her ears.

Her head ripped around in horror about to see the Haruchai woman die.

That did not happen. Brail tilted her head to the left as an arrow meant for her eye whizzed past into the night. The motion, shockingly, was made casually. The second arrow the woman flicked aside with a quick motion of her left hand knocking the arrow aside with back of her hand. It would have pierced her throat. This was done to the third arrow while the woman leaned her body right dodging an arrow that would have pierced her lung. The last arrow heading for her groin was dodged by the woman jumping up and spinning her body over to land on the spar effortlessly four feet away. The woman looked down at the archers blandly. She was not even breathing heavily and showed no anger at being shot at with five arrows meant to squire her.

Xhalha screamed out “STOP! She is a friend!” The captain came up on deck cursing the overeager bowmen. His clothing was disheveled. He had come running up to deck from his cabin when word reached him of the strange ships abeam of his ship.

Xhalha looked at the woman who seemed unperturbed at her attempted murder. The Summer Islander could detect only the slightest increase in respiration. All her physical efforts had not taxed the woman at all. The woman was beyond calm. She looked at Xhalha with no emotion and only cocked an eyebrow. At least this was a full eyebrow cock Xhalha thought to herself.

Xhalha was beyond shocked now at this woman’s effortless skill and ability. She did the seeming impossible as if she did this all the time. What kind of woman was this Brail of the Haruchai? Were all of her brethren and sisters as capable? If so these Haruchai were a most mighty race.

“Please forgive our rash actions! We were in battle today and some of our crew was overzealous.”
“No offense is taken. We believe in caution too.” She spoke in a taciturn voice. She acted as if nothing in the world could cause her consternation or perturb her inner calm.

The woman’s demeanor had not changed during the whole incident. “I am First Mark on the Quest of the Giants. We are here to find the great warrior who is a wagon rider. We seek a land called Westeros to find this great hero.”

Xhalha looked down at her captain. Brail looked down as well. She asked Xhalha “Can we entreat with your people? We have traveled a great distance.”

Xhalha looked down and Tanal Choqu who shook his head ‘yes’. Xhalha turned to the reserved woman. “Yes. We would be honored to entreat with you.”

Xhalha looked as two more Haruchai swung over to her ship with effortless ease. It amazed Xhalha to see the Haruchai sail through the air and with ease catch the net rigging as they passed and swinging up to walk effortless along the rope rungs with no appearing loss of balance. Her earlier question had just been answered. It would seem all the Haruchai were so blessed with impossible skills and courage.

The other ship from which the Haruchai had jumped from suddenly flowed through the water towards their ship. Somehow the spars of their massive ship missed the rigging and sails still unshrouded on Peacock’s Fan masts. The skill to have their spars pass among the spars and rigging of the Peacock’s Fan without incident was shocking again to Xhalaha. She looked down at Tanal who was wincing seeing the possibility of damage to his ship and then seeing no contact made had his mouth hanging open.

Two Giants, a male and female, walked along the lowest spar. Over the deck of the Swan Ship they dropped off the spar and landed lightly on their feet and rolled several times to bleed off momentum and then stood up and came to up to the Summer Islanders and the now more gathered Haruchai who had slide down loose lanyards.

The giant woman introduced herself “I am Braveheart Tillerkeel the First on this journey. I command the Swordmarimne. This is Saltheart Starchaser” the giant woman spoke nodding toward the male Giant. He is captain of Northstar Wavechaser. Our other ship is Reefbane Maelstrom. We are on a quest to find the Wagonthane. She is a might warrior.”

Tanal looked confused. “Why is riding a wagon considered a great hero?”

Braveheart looked down at the man. “Our seers have spoken of this white haired woman’s many accomplishment. Some she has already finished and more that she will still do. It would take days to give the tale its true justice but we know you humans are hasty in speech.”

Tanal looked at the Giants especially their mouths. “I am curious. How is it that we understand each other? I can hear you speak another language and yet I understand you and you me. I hear your speech in my own language.” Xhalha was surprised to see her captain was correct. They spoke another language but she heard their words in her own tongue.

Saltheart spoke up “That is a gift we long ago acquired from the Elohim in Elmesnedene. The gift cost us dearly and the Elohim have come to regret their deception. Thus, we still have the gift of tongues which we can share with the Haruchai while they journey with us. Later the Ramen will share in this gift as well.”

Tanal took this in. He considered and got back to the task at hand. “Is this woman old? White hair?”
The two giants looked at each other. “She could be I guess. She definitely has white hair though. All the seers and prophecies say that. We have not understood why you call her magical beasts wagons though. Seems like a most pedestrian name for such mighty beasts. We have thus named her the Wagonthane.”

Suddenly Xhalha understood. It was a matter of lost in translation. “Tanal I think I know.” She turned to the Giants. “Do these creatures breathe fire and are able to fly?”

Braveheart answered “Yes they do. Though we cannot fathom how they do this or how their wings can support such weight. Their breathing fire should burn them up from the inside. … though the Skurj do not burn out from the inside, so I should reconsider. But again, I agree, that yes they fly and breathe fire.”

Xhalha chuckled. “You mean dragons not wagons. The name of the beasts she rides are called Dragons. She has three of them.”

The giants looked at each other. The Haruchai looked on impassive.

“Can you tell us how to get to her and to the land of her domicile?”

“Do you come as friend or foe? We are her allies in all she endeavors” Tanal answered.

“We come in peace and to provide succor. Two great evils have awakened. The Ice King who hates all life that has hot blood flowing in their veins and the Demon Stone has been unearthed. It is the evil brother of the Illearth Stone. It will spawn monstrosities and it calls to the Raver brothers. The Wag—Dragonthane will cause the fall of both. We would aid her in her trials if we are able.”

Tanal thought a moment and then stuck out his hand to shake in warrior fashion. The Giants large hands wrapped around the arm offered totally engulfing the appendage. The Haruchai merely bowed deeply and then pounded their chest saying “Fist and Faith we will meet the challenges of our time”.

The Giant captain was told how to find Westeros. A few more minutes were spent exchanging greetings and information. The giants told Tanal that they loved the construction and lines of his ship and hoped to explore it more fully in the future and learn of its making. Tanal was as fascinated with their ship.

Soon the Giants and Haruchai went back to their ship and the Giant ships glided out of sight into the fog still moving like ghosts on the waves. The ships made no sound and left no wake and were gone.

Xhalha could not wait to tell her wife of what she had seen.

The Gondolier

Down the canal the waves lapped at the tiles and cement walls of the brackish water filled canals. The narrow channels letting the brackish water flow with the tides in and out the shallow lagoon. The flowing tides cleansing the city of much of its filth and pollution. Still, the air always smelled of the sea and the slight undercurrent of man’s waste. The waves caused by the passing gondolas polled forward by the long rowing oar sculling back and forth propelling and guiding the flat bottomed craft down the long canals.

The boats moved past each other as their boat’s master’s nodded to each other. The caste system of gondola craft masters passed from father to son generation to generation. Some garbed themselves in loud attention grabbing outfits while other’s like the old gondolier wore simple plain clothing.

The old man shook his head at the gaudy outfits the young men wore as they polled their gondolas.
The bright and ostentatious clothing meant to catch the eye. They followed two main patterns. One was a cotton top with short sleeves that had thin black and grey bands down the pullover shirt.
These men wore broad brimmed hats with no red tassels. The other outfit had tops but with long sleeves with both the body and sleeves of the shirt having wide bands of grey and black. These men’s hats had small brims and a red velvet band around the crown of the hat with red tassels hanging down the back of the hats that fluttered in the breeze wafting down the canals. Many of the tassels weaved in various patterns according to traditional family weavings.

The old gondolier had been working since the early morning. It had been a long day as the sun slowly traveled its path across the sky. The orb had been hot burning down at midday on his neck leaving his skin hot and sweaty.

He polled and sculled his plain gondola forward. He had had a good day. He had first polled to the Isles of the Gods marveling at the beauty of Temple of the Moonsingers. The blue and purple tiles soothing to the eye. Four travelers wanting to give alms to their gods in the early morn. He had transported several merchants on their early business jaunts at two stops along the Grey Canal. Their journeys long and produced good fair.

He took a lunch at midday. He had eaten a meal of cheese and rolled ham on knuckle bread. He washed down his meal with spring water from a small vendor who moved her cart from gathering to gathering selling her wares in the small plaza by the main canal. He gave her a nice sized tip even though his own wages for the day was not overly great. He knew she was supporting two young children without a husband who had run off. Her husband had four lady lovers and a love of gambling.

The husband had died recently in an accident as he worked on a scaffold that had collapsed and he fell down caving his head in. One leg of the scaffold had rusted through and broke under the load.
It had been deemed a tragic accident by the constables deeming no hand of man had been involved in the incident.

The Gondolier went back on his modest gondola. His craft had no painted patterns on its side or carved rails with the current in fashion of river nymphs that were painted in gaudy colors. He wondered about the waste of money on such adornments. Maybe they drew the eye and, thus, more clients and, therefore, their money.

He was old and could not afford such things on his plain flat hulled boat. He went down the Canal of Heroes looking up at the high arched bridges as he passed underneath each one. He loved looking at the engineering of the bridges. The cap stone capping the apex of the arch and the thick buttresses crafted into their anchoring abutments. The forces they contained and supported fascinated the old man. He judged the craftsmanship of each bridge as he passed underneath and noted the state of repair of each bridge. The gondoliers reported any damage to the bridges and were given small tips for observations that proved accurate and valid.

He admired the carving of the stones along the edges of the walkways. One bridge had angels lining the walkway, the next lined by winged chubby cherubs, the next lined with gargoyles in various poises. Each bridge had its own distinctive theme. Their unofficial names were reflected by the statutes that lined the bridges.

A short way past the last bridge he went under he saw the new island that had been erected in the middle of the wide canal. On it were three beautiful courtesans cast in bronze had been erected. The first one detailed in mother of pearl, the second in onyx and rose pearl while the third had been adorned in zircon and yellow sapphire.

The women were voluptuous with bodices cut low and long slits up the dresses that hugged their legs. The jewels highlighted the eyes, lips and the ample cleavage of the three beautiful women whose likeness had been captured and immortalized. The eyes seemed to capture a keen cunning and simmering intellect. The sun caught the facets of the gems and sent out spangles to amaze and blind the eyes of onlookers. The old man sometimes thought that their eyes followed his old wizened form. The thought humored the old man.

In Braavos courtesans were free women and honored as much for the beauty as for the intelligence as seen by the new statues.

The man took on clients that were mainly more business men during the day and with two courtesans on short shopping jaunts with their rich illicit lover’s money. Their faces adorned with expert applied makeup to accentuate their already great innate beauty. They wore dresses that only flattered bodies already lovely to behold. The Gondolier kept his eyes politely averted and answered any polite questions sent his way. He appreciated the two small tips he garnered from his lady fares. He always appreciated tips from such women and the businessmen he ferried. He titled his head in acknowledgement. It was always nice to be rewarded for services well rendered.

As the sun travelled towards the western horizon the Gondolier took on a modest family. He was a young merchant who was still climbing up the ladder of success. They were all dressed modestly. He and his wife and their four children. The children were quiet and spoke kindly to the old man. They made conversation with the old man instead of ignoring him as the beautiful and powerful most often did.

He discovered they were going to a new comedy about the affectations of the rich and powerful. The man, Lysoquo Paenatis, told the gondolier he did not want to forget his roots. When they disembarked the man left a large tip. The old man tried to refuse the ostentatious tip but the man insisted. He told the man his service had been most excellent. He had smiled shyly and the man had clapped him on the back.

Rarely did the old Gondolier have such nice and generous fares.

The old man turned down the side canal, The Gilded Serpentine Canal, which got its name from the winding path of the canal. The businesses and home lining the waterway rich and ostentatious.

The old man observed that many facades were being torn down and new more gaudy fronts erected. The marble that replaced what had been on the faces of the buildings were even more rare and expensive. Gold and silver inlay was gaudy and overdone. Statues and balconies adorned with precious stones and banded in bronze and copper that glowed in the sitting sun.

At a landing, a rich sea lord with his mistress was waiting. The gondolier poled up to the landing. The man looked at his plain gondola with clear disdain. The man in his expensive tailored suite looked up and down the canal but no other craft were in sight. The man was clearly impatient. He told his lovely companion they were late and got into the old man’s humble craft.

The sea lord barked at the man he needed to get them to the Seafarers Theater and to make it quick.

The old man had bowed deeply and as quickly as his old bones would allow moved to meet the man’s order. He poled his craft down the canal half a mile to the landing before the Theater that only put on the greatest of plays and new operas from the hottest opera writers with the most scintillating librettos.
Only the richest and most powerful could afford to come to this Theater.

The old man helped the woman out of his craft to the steps carved into the landing. She smiled down at the old man in thanks. The Sea Lord glared at the man as he approached him. The rising sealord jealous of even that one look. The boat rocked suddenly as the man went to go up the steps. He started to lose his balance. The old man gripped his wrist steadying the rich man in the prime of his life.

The man glared at him again and threw his fare down into the bottom of the boat mumbling that a man of his age should not be plying his boat in the canals of Braavos.

The man bent wearily to pick up his fare. No tip. How typical he thought without rancor.

He slowly polled his craft forward. The sun now sat low on the horizon. His eyes were no longer as strong as they once were and had to shield his eyes with an unsteady hand. He moved his craft down the canal that was alive with fire. The water filled with red and white dancing flares from the drying sun.

He was a poor man and found refuge in the Drowned Town. He wearily sculled his boat forward towards home and shelter. He soon spotted his neighborhood in this once thriving borough of the city. He was an old man who lived in the oldest dying part of the drowned city because he could not afford housing anywhere else.

He slowly moved his craft forward admiring the fading architecture and lost wealth. He wondered again as he often did on the past glories that these drowned streets once had seen. The glory washed away a little more with each passing of the tide. It was entropy. It was life. From birth to adulthood and then the slow decline to death. The cycle of life.

It was all maudlin and the Gondolier shook his head to dispel such thoughts. As he looked at the tops of the slumping building he witnessed a row of terracotta tiles suddenly lose their purchase on a sagging roof and slide off slapping into the water one after the other. The sound loud and echoing down the drowned canyon.

The air growing dark with the sun starting to pass below the horizon unseen by the gondolier. The sun hidden by dilapidated buildings. He looked up and saw bats starting to fly their erratic paths through the darkening sky. The bats roosting in the top most levels of the slow dying buildings.

He looked at the sagging buildings and faded frescos that were dull now and missing tiles that no longer allowed the onlooker to understand fully what the artist had in mind. The Gondolier knew the artist had spent much time and effort designing and gluing his tiles in place. Now the meaning was lost to the past. The artist’s bones long moldered in his grave.

He now went down alleys of water with buildings that looked like they might sag down and expire into the canal at any moment. He spied laundry hanging off dry lines and heard the sounds of children laughing and shouting from open windows. He remembered such sounds that he had made when he was a young child. He looked up but did not see the children. It gladden his heart to hear the sounds of new life giving these old relics new life. New memories being created in this world of the drowned past. The Gondolier smiled. Life found a way to continue. Always.

He finally came to a post jutting out of the water beside an open doorway. He did not fear for his craft. Here, amongst the most poor of Bravossi he did not have to fear thievery. He sighed. Why did the poor have so much honor and most of the rich none. When did a man lose his honor? Most it always be so? He had seen too much greed and avarice in his many years to not be jaundice with the heart of men when they achieved power and wealth.
What was that saying … ah yes—power corrupted and absolute power corrupted absolutely.

He went up into the building. Before he went to his small room he kept in this building he had to visit an old friend. He walked down midnight dark corridors that went up and down with sudden turns. The path long memorized. He walked from one derelict building to the next.

Each building had its own unique persona. The buildings all sighing on memories they slowly lost with each sitting sun. The memories faded with each tile that fell off a wall and each timber that collapsed from a roof or floor to fall to the next level below. Always the buildings sought the bottom of the lagoon. The Gondolier had long ago memorized the spots that were rotten and easily avoided them with his slow small steady steps. Even on the solid parts he heard the groaning underneath the floor of timbers rotting in their wet soaked environment. Decay in the air.

He paused and tilted his head. Water. Water always seeking to further invade into the tired old buildings further with each tide. The water with its properties of cohesion and adhesion slowly tearing down these old once proud buildings.

He went from building to building in secret hidden passage ways seeing past glories when with the light of the full moon streamed in through broken windows and walls that had fallen away. He looked at furniture that had long ago rotted to fallen detritus. He saw piles of broken tiles on the floors and a chandelier that had fallen recently. The broken crystal crunching underneath his thick sandals as he walked across the once grand feast hall.

He heard the sounds of vermin moving in the shadows. The rodents scratching and scurrying around. He saw the eyes of several rats looking at him from a sagging doorway. The room behind dark and dank hiding secrets he had no desire to know.

He wondered about the people that had once lived here. Had they been happy or sad? Did their progeny still live in the City? Had they risen or fallen like this drowned city. He stopped and listened. He could almost hear the whispers of past conversations. The sounds of silverware clinking on expensive china from Yi Ti. He heard the faint echoes of crystal goblets being touched together for good luck. He shook his head and proceeded on. He had a friend to visit.

He kept walking stepping over fallen plaster and lumber beams. The stray nail or screw a danger to sandaled feet if stepped on wrongly. He saw timbers lying on the floor from the ceiling above. In several places the floors opened with dark holes that led below. To fall into one of those abysses a signature for death.

He finally entered into a huge domed ceiling of a dance hall. The ceiling high above was dim in the moonlight. He knew the paintings up high were faded and broken. The plaster holding the high art now on the gilded floor that he stepped over. He paused to gaze at the shattered plaster and saw still faint traces of brilliant colors and bold paint strokes. It may have once been beautiful but it was now only garbage on the floor. Beauty always faded. Time could wreck a beautiful young woman’s face. All things passed the old man sighed to himself.

He paused in his mordant thoughts. A faint smile came to his face. The old man heard he first melodious notes of a beautiful tune. It came from four stories above in the next building. He passed through a doorway that connected this building with the next. He went through a dark doorway. The hallway narrow and he stumbled over some bricks that had fallen down from ceiling. They had not been there the last time he walked this corridor.

He entered into a large room and walked through it. He came out into a large landing. Large windows on three walls. The panes broken and letting in the night time breezes. The gondolier spied the spiral staircase in the soft light. He went to it and gripped the iron wrought rail and slowly walked up the steps as the now clear music came ever closer with each step. He felt the rust underneath his fingertips as he walked up the steps.

The rust flaking of and falling to the steps like red snow or was it dried blood?

The wrought iron sought to remember its old strength. The old man took each step slowly testing each iron step. He heard groans of protest but the iron remained strong. The Gondolier reached the fourth floor after many wearying steps. He rested a moment. He looked around but he was still alone.

The notes of the ethereal tune clear to his ears now. The individual notes haunting and yet the tune made his spirit soar. He walked slowly to the high arched doorway lined with carved lintels that showed a depiction of some long forgotten battle. The carved figures were striving for victory or dying some horrific death. Had the battle been worth the loss of life and rue the Gondolier wondered. Battles were seldom worth the great cost.

There were better ways to achieve ones ends. He entered into the room from which the haunting beautiful music flowed out of in almost visible notes on the damp dark air. The room from which the music wafted out of lit and had a magical glow emanating onto the landing on the fourth floor.

The room was filled with burning candles giving the room an ethereal glow. Every flat surface covered in candles. The scions in the walls had their candles lite and burned with winking light. The walls covered with faded paintings and frescos still beautiful to behold. The furniture had been scavenged form among the ruins and brought to this sanctuary. The fabric was still thick and vibrant the carvings on the wood ornate and detailed.

The furniture the envy to any aspiring sea lord.

He spied the man whose fingers played the haunting melody that filled the room. He felt privileged to hear the tune. The man played his beautiful melody in the minor key. It was sad and haunting. The old man saw that the other man was playing a beautifully carved lute. It had eight ribs with 10 double courses. The strings doubled for each key making the playing of the instrument even more difficult. The man’s fingers quickly travelled up and down the frets playing the cords with precise expertise. No notes were untrue.

The candles were for the Gondolier’s benefit. The man playing the lute did not need the light.

“You play your instrument most beautifully. You picked a most difficult instrument to play tonight with the double strings. I commend you.”

The man continued to play his instrument but softly. The melody more a soothing whisper. Like a lullaby to a child seeking sleeps embrace.

“It keeps the fingers nimble and strong pressing down both strings to pluck a note” the main answered the old gondolier.

“Your insight to the tune is invocative. Is it of your creation?”

“Yes. The notes on the page are easy—it is the space between the notes that are hard to play.” The musician looked at the gondolier. A soft smile on his face.

“No matter how slow or hesitant your steps or raspy and paper thin your voice becomes I will always recognize my prized pupil.” The old gondolier bowed to the seated man who continued to play his instrument his fingers moving up and down the fretboard.
“It is nice of you to join me Gondolier. Was business good on the waterways?”

“Yes. It was a most profitable day.”

“Any special clients?”

“Yes. A Sealord out with his mistress while his wife is at home in her illness wasting away.”

“Was he well?”

“Yes. But, alas, tonight when he is fucking his illicit lover his heart will suddenly race and then burst. He will die with his cock in his concubine.”

“Poor man. How did this malady strike this poor man?”

“He was pricked by a ring when helped out of my craft.”

“Ahhhh … must well done Gondolier … or should I say Jaqen H’ghar. My most prized student and the man who has taken my place as leader of the Order of Black and White.”

“I thank you Wharf King. My leadership is but a pale reflection of your esteemed guidance.” The man ceased playing his instrument.

Jaqen watched the man put away his lute away. The instrument soon in its case and closed. The case sat upright leaned against the wall. The beautiful melody having faded away in the damp air. The man turned his bound eyes to his protégé.

Jaqen pressed his fingers to the right edge of his face and pressed in while chanting the evocative spell the skin tightening and folding in on itself.

The man who had stood with slumped shoulders and hunched back of an old man disappeared. In his place stood a man with a straight back and squared shoulders. Where the body of the Gondolier had radiated the fragility of great age, now his body was filled with the vigor of youth and strength.

Where had stood a man in the depths of his winter now stood a man in the middle of summer. His face chiseled and strong chinned. His hair split with red and white halves.

The Wharf King sighed “Will you ever do away with that hair … it is most unbecoming.”

“It marks me, me master.”

Jaqen spied the corner of the room near where his former teacher and leader sat. “I see you carry your Naginata and not your Bo. Do you feel threatened? I can send some novices to scout and patrol the ruins.”

“No, no need. Just a precaution in these troubled times. The Dragon Queen has upset the order of things that have existed since the foundation of this great city. The slave trade is no more and vortexes are forming to take its place. These are most unsettled times … please come join me.”

The Wharf King rose up and walked to a table that lined the far wall. On the long cherry wood table were several bowels of berries and cherries. A loaf of fresh stone baked bread was on a platter with tubs of butter and apple jam beside it. Rolled ham and roast were on a circular platter. A pitcher of sweetened tea sweated in the early evening chill.

The two men gathered a plate and picked the fare they wished to consume. They sat at the table and ate in comradery and peaceful contemplation.
“Do you still plan on killing Daenerys Targaryen?”

Jaqen passed his mentor the pitcher or tea. “No. I have looked into the Dragon glass further. Though its vision fades I see that the new Queen is not of old Valyria. She is something new and precious. She is a phoenix arisen from the ashes seeking a new path. I now wish to align our house with hers.”

The Wharf King paused in taking a bit of his ham rolled up in slice of bread. “You now I should report this to the Iron Bank. This is high treason.”

“I know. Will you?”

“And if I would … will you kill me?”

“If I tried, I probably would be the one lying on the floor dead … I would only ask that you give me twelve hours to flee ahead of the hounds of hell.” Jaqen looked at his mentor closely trying to read his conviction. As always the man controlled his features. He had no eyes to read. He had to ask.

“Are you going to report my treason my old mentor?”

A long pause filled the glow limned room. “No Jaqen … I have come to share your fears. The Dragon Queen has swept out the old older and I fear what might take its place. Instead of persons ruling and crushing lives it might be mighty trading companies. Companies in their pursuit of maximum profits would crush all but the one percent. Not in and of itself evil but the end result the same all the less.”

“Yes. We must help pale Queen establish a new world order. Help put in limits and setup governing bodies to oversee these corporations and to control their excesses. They are already growing more powerful sending out spies and buying influence. Not only do we have that but the crime families of Essos and Westeros see opportunity. There will be much bloodshed. If they kill only each other then there is no loss. Unfortunately, their wars of influence and ascension rarely stay contained among themselves.”

Jaqen nodded in agreement with his old mentor’s assessments of the situation in Braavos and all the Free Cities. “Worse among them is the Iron Bank … many of their recent contracts with our order have been of no merit … most I was able to refuse with technical language and diversions of their focus but they have tired of my trickery and are becoming restive of my subterfuges. Many rising Sealords are vying for influence and power. They are aligning with the rising corporations.”

“I feel you are right about the crime families. They will in many ways police themselves. It will be easy to sow discord in their ranks. They are always on the cusp of open warfare between themselves. We can easily stoke that underlying fear and envy and have them war with themselves. We only need to contain their warfare among themselves. That as always will be difficult.”

“The corporations have different goals. They will be harder to control. Crime families want ultimate control. Corporations only chase profit. One will kill you outright while the other is more insidious. The corporations will slowly suffocate the masses like plying wet tissue on a sleeping man’s face. By the time one notices the tissue it is too late. They will have already bound one’s arms and legs and, thus, the man suffocates.”

The two men conversed for another half hour discussing the changing times and how best to meet them. The men consuming their dinner as they talked and planned.

Jaqen ate several slices of Asiago cheese. He ate while ruminating his path.
“I will support you Jaqen as long as it does to come to revolt within our ranks. I will not have us killing each other when the enemy as ever is outside our sacred walls.

“I agree old teacher.”

“I feel that open warfare is not necessary. We can modify and mollify from within … everything is new and nascent. If we can get ahead of the curve we can bend and subvert these new entities into a more benign path.”

“Do you concur?” the blind man asked his former pupil and now superior.

“Yes my old teacher. This is my feeling.”

“Will you go to her?”

“No. Though dimming, the dragon glass shows me she will be sending emissaries to the Iron Bank. I will intercept and plead our case.”

“Emissaries?”

“Yes. She will be sending a scribe, a dwarf, a big fat ugly eunuch—“

“Jaqen” spoken in a scolding tone.

“She will also be sending Syrio Forel too us.” Jaqen told the Wharf King seeing his mentor’s hand twitch. Some wounds never did fully heal.

“She will also send her wife to us. There will be others.”

“Wife? It seems she shatters all convention. She truly does wish to establish a new world order.”

They talked a little more before Jaqen H’ghar took his leave of the Wharf King. The Wharf King would keep his ear close to the secrets of the city and beyond preparing for the coming storm. His wharf rats scurried everywhere in the city unseen and unremarked when glimpsed.

As his steps approached his gondola they became shorter and less sure. His strong body bent by age and long hard toil. He performed the blood magic to put on his face as the Old Gondolier. The Old Gondolier got into his craft and pushed off sullying his oar. The nighttime darkness hid his passage in the shadowed canyons.

He began his long journey back to his true home, the temple of the Black and White.

These were powerful times full of portents and omens. He looked up at the stars twinkling in the sky far above. They were so beautiful. He saw the three stars of the hunter’s belt. At the spot above the top most star rode the red star of war. He wondered if more war would come to Essos.

He remembered when the red comet had appeared in the sky over five years ago. All the temples on their isles had said the red comet was for them. Each religion and even the Great Houses or families said its portent was only for them. The long tail that rode high in the first quadrant of the sky every day for a month.

It was like the tail of a dragon. A dragon come to life in the form of a beautiful young woman. The dragon had burned its way across the land of Essos. He only hoped she did not return in fire and ire.
Queen of Whores

The starling dove through the air frustrated. The June bug kept scooting to the side just before her beak could snap shut on the juicy bug. Her eggs were growing inside her and she needed to eat to grow her precious nestlings.

Again and again the starling whirled around in the air and charged the insect but this particular morsel proved quite elusive. She finally gave up on the fourth pass. She fluttered her wings and alighted in one of the red maple trees that lined the wide lane in the center of the main city of Lys. The bird cocked its head looking up and down the wide lane paved with granite stones fit together in a complicated interleave pattern.

The bird flitted down to the side of the lane and pecked some small scratch for it crop. The bird observed the ornately carved and thick upholstered carriages roll by. The wheels shod in gold and silver making them glint brightly in the dying sun. The bird looked at the tall carriages some closed and covered in bands and sheets of bright metal with precious gems glittering wildly in the direct rays of the setting sun.

Other more modest carriages rolled by open to the world. Though more modest many still had gilded scroll work adorning them and rich fabric covering thick cushioned seats.

The starling flapped quickly up to its perch in the maple tree. It spied several leafhoppers and quickly pecked them up its tongue licking its bill at the tasty treat. The bird observed the various maples, elms, palm and fruit trees arranged down the lane. The various trees shaped and well maintained to provide a variety and shade to the humans walking below. They also provided shelter for her and her kind.

She heard the chirps and squawks of sparrows, finches, jays, parrots, warblers and other birds. She looked around ready to aggressively defend her territory if need be. She spotted a Japanese beetle on the edge of large upraised flower bed and swooped down and snatched her prize up before flitting up to eat her catch.

The starling observed the buildings in this part of the city near the port. This area was part of the oldest section of Lys that was renowned as Lys the Lovely. The buildings mostly four to six stories tall. The structures built in various reigns and eras had many architecture styles. The starling spied the colonnades of the late Valyrian. The wood timbers that adorned the face of a building denoting a builder who built in the style of Volantis from the era of Trianna. The bird saw styles from the land of Yi Te of the Bianjing and Zhang Zeduan dynasties.

All the buildings beautifully maintained. All the plaster, woodwork maintained and well cared for. The inlay and precious metals and gems in the upper floor facades immaculate.

The starling studied the frescos and painting depicting various rites of human lovemaking caught her eye as it always did with fanciful patterns and bright colors. The sight of human bodies entwined and heads thrown back in pleasure was strange to the bird. They spent so much time in mating that did not produce offspring. Such a waste of precious time and energy the starling reflected on. Humans were most strange.

The buildings had always been beautiful in the seven turning of the seasons of her life but they were even more grand of late. Since the dragons and their lady in white who rode them swept through peace had covered the islands. The songbird no longer observed humans mistreating others openly. No longer were whips and canes struck against bare naked flesh.

Up the street the starling heard a loud raucous noise. A man seemed to be able to fly for ten feet before he hit the paved road and rolled over several times. He was dressed in colorful clothes and his beard was died purple. A large hat was thrown out towards him.

He stood and weaved on his feet obviously intoxicated like the jays the starling sometimes saw flitting wobbly around in the cherry trees. The jays in the trees to feast on cherries that had become overripe. The cherries full of sugars and the liquid that clouds the mind. The man tried to enter the door he was thrown out but was rebuffed by several large males. They argued loudly before the man stumbled down the street. His hat forgotten.

The bird looked across the way at the balconies with pretty women and men displaying their wares like her mate had when the mating season rolled in on the trade winds. The humans preened and showed off their equivalent of plumage. The humans showing off their chests and groins in obvious courtship dances.

On ground level, women in windows or sitting in chairs outside or on the rails that lined the balconies talked and made courtship displays to passing men and women. Some passersby would stop and they would warble to each other and then often they would go into their large nests to mate.

The starling thirsty after eating a beetle that crawled by its perch flew down to the birdbath near the corner of two buildings. The birdbath an ornate cherub holding a basin filled with water. On the edge of the birdbath the starling bent down to drink. The bird rose up. Its head tilted back to let the water flow down its throat.

As the starling drank it observed a carriage roll down the street behind two horses moving towards its location. The carriage had two women of the species that had the pretty long white hair and violet eyes. One was the mother and the other a nestling of the age just ready to leave the nest.

One thing the starling had noticed was that for some reason many of the human’s offspring did not leave their nest upon reaching sexual maturity. They did not leave to form their own nests instead clinging close for additional years. The offspring should leave the nest and mate as soon as possible the starling reasonably thought.

Their carriage stopped in front of the house with pretty pastel colors and frescos of women only mating. The bird cocked its head wondering again how they produced offspring. It seemed to go against nature. Again the starling found humans most strange in their mating rituals.

A woman with red hair came out and talked to the mother. They discussed mating issues for several minutes. The two adult women chirped at each other. The starling had seen this mating chirps many times. The notes rising and falling as negotiations of the proper mates were discussed. The woman whose nest was behind her called out to her kind inside. Soon three dark skinned females came out with garments that covered nothing and were able to been seen through anyways.

The nestling in the carriage started making the squealing noises that humans make when very happy. The three black skinned women slowly slinked up into the carriage. The starling could easily discern that the older mature black female was the mother of the two younger black teenage females. Again the starling reflected that the nestlings of humans did not always leave the nest at their first opportunity as she had.

The two younger voluptuous dark skinned humans sat down besides the pale squealing nestling. They pressed their bodies close to the clearly excited nestling. Her purple eyes seemed to be alight with a fire behind her irises.

The pale nestling was shaking looking at the dark skinned women who now pressed into her body and their hands started to stroke her plumage and run their long black fingers through the pale white hair of the nestling. The shaking of the young pale nestling increased. Her warbles now had a shaky gasping quality.

The nestling was obviously sexually aroused by the presence of the two tall black women beside her making courtship displays to the nestling. As they black women did this they divested themselves of their outer plumage. The starling observed their own sexual excitement in stroking the pale nestling.

The black women’s nipples were fully engorged. Their vaginas swollen and clearly very wet. Their black skin at their throat and upper chests had that sheen the starling had learn to associate with arousal with the dark skinned humans.

The starling had observed much human mating up and down this street and in where her nest resided with her master.

Their dark hands quickly divested the pale young nestling of her upper outer plumage. They then devoured the young girl with mouths that soon latched onto her face and her left mammary. The black females cooing and stroking with fevered strokes the naked nestling. They took turns kissing the nestling obviously ramming their long tongues down the nestling’s throat.

The other black female sucking each of the pale Valyrian’s small pink nipples in turn with obvious fuck hunger. They took turns moving from mouth to breast switching up their courtship dance of the pale teenager. Their mouths tilted over when kissing the white girl. Their heads lifting with their deep throat sucks on engorged nipples. The black younglings kissing all over the pale breast of the white haired nestling. The pale nestling groaning hard into the mouth devouring its beak.

While the black girls sucked on engorged teats their heads lifted with the force of their sucks. With their hands the two young black human chicks clutched and pulped the pale white medium sized breast they were currently sucking the nipple of.

The two mature humans at first had been watching the younger of their species begin to mate. The two older women obviously enjoying the courtship of the teenage females beside them. Their stares had been intense. They observed all the courtship moves of the young females beside them. They too were getting very excited.

The thinner older black woman straddled the white haired mature mother of the nestling. The darker woman settled onto the older pale human as their beaks came together and the white haired mother began to remove the outer plumage of the dark skinned woman. The carriage remained stationary for several minutes as the starling observed it while taking a dip in the bath and pecking lice out its plumage. The starling ran its bill along the lines of its feathers removing parasites and straightening its barbs to align properly on the rachis of each feather.

The two mature women had now lost all of their outer plumage as well. The carriage started to roll away with the nestling keening wildly as one of the black skinned women was between her spread legs. The mature but still teenage young black woman’s head made a bobbing motion between the pale nestling’s legs. She made the mating snuffling and moaning noises of females feasting on their own kind. The white haired youth was shrieking now.

The older females had now proceeded to mating the starling observed. The pale mother had asserted dominance and was feasting first. She had slipped to the floor of the carriage and had her face buried in the dark skinned mother’s vagina. Her beck making lapping motions her tongue lashing over the nub that seemed to give human women their greatest source of pleasure.

The black mother’s face slashed and seem to crumple repeatedly. Her body bucked and shimmied hard. Then the white mature female sucked hard with her mouth on the black woman’s vagina in an attempt to ingest the black females shiny hard bud. The white female jostling her head and jerking back trying to dislodge the bud from the black female.

It confused the starling how these human females never succeeded in devouring the bud they attacked repeatedly with their beaks and fingers. The black mother began to scream and convulse wildly in what the starling had come to learn was the success of the mating ritual.

The starling cocked its head slightly too again observe the nestlings and their mating ritual and dance.

The black teenager not feasting on the Valyrian’s very wet vagina was attached to the creamy white breasts of the white teenager. She seemed to be trying to suck her nipples down her throat. The pale tenager’s face seemed to be twisted in tortured agony but the starling had learned that this showed pleasure in humans.

The black teenager between the Valyrian’s legs was devouring the nestling’s swollen cloaca with its mouth sucking and tongue wildly licking. The warbles from the nestling were universal in their expression. The nestling’s body convulsed; its face filled with seeming agony as it body was torn with bucking seizures but it was clearly ecstasy. Its warbles now screams of agonizing bliss. The starling felt a shiver of ecstasy run through her own body seeing the consummation of the human mating ritual.

The starling noticed many women making that noise when in that building or carriages leaving full of women. That seemed to be a nest with much happy mating occurring.

The bird flew back up to the red maple tree near its home. The sun was nearing the horizon now and the evening winds were starting to blow from off the shore onto the island. The climate was always salubrious but no more so than at the evening hour with the warm winds blowing. The starling turned into the warm breeze luxuriating in the breeze ruffling and puffing out its speckled plumage.

The starling saw two men walking by their beaks locked together. Mating rituals always filled the mother bird with a sense of happiness and well-being.

The starling jumped off the branch of the red maple and flew across the street to the ledge of its home. The bird landed and started to crack open the sunflower seeds it always found waiting for it.
The mother bird feasted on the sweet succulent seed nestled in the husks.

The starling saw that the human who owned this nest had many of her kind in the large room. It was adorned with many furnishings to allow her kind to rest and enjoy themselves. The cushions were thick and the purples, reds and greens pleasing to the starlings eyes. The humans rubbing their hands on the soft fabric. Their mistress often mated in this room on the thick wide cushions of the furniture or on the thick carpets that had geometric patterns repeated on them throughout the carpet. The fine carpets their mistress liked from the island nation of Great Moraq.

The walls adorned with the paintings the starling loved to look at. The colors vibrant. Some of the paintings were of the wild landscapes which surrounded the city outside the old guard walls. One was of the ships the humans rode in over the water. Most were of women making love. The starling had seen many times over its life that its master preferred copulating with the females of its species.
This did not mean she did not mate with males frequently only that she mated with females far more often.

The starling and her mate had often watched their mistress laid back on the cushions with her legs spread with a male or female between her legs feasting on her wet core. Their mistress was quiet loud in her vocalizations of pleasure.
Often they had watched males with their appendage and females with appendages craftily made to look like the male appendages rut with their mistress fucking all her holes. Often she fucked with many partners in this room. Much mating occurred all around the room between all the sexes in all kind of groupings. Their mistress seemed to have equal preference in mating partners of both sexes during these large gatherings.

When alone with only one partner did the starlings see their mistress’s preference for the female of her species. She would mate with both sexes but when finished the males they would soon depart. It was the females that stayed behind after copulation to coo and stroke their mistress as they both warbled and snuggled tight. This often led to more loud thrashing copulation.

Mating made the starlings happy. The loud warbles of their mistress pleasing to their ears even if the notes were off key.

How she did not produce multiple clutches of offspring was beyond the starlings.

Much food and drink of her mistress’s kind were out on flat surfaces of several large tables. The humans nibbling on the offered food and drinking from the clear containers they preferred lifting to their beaks with no chitin. The humans did not feed ravenously like the starling and her mate and fellow starlings. It seemed unnatural to the starling why the humans did not feed ravenously when food was offered.

The only time the starling saw rabid feeding was when the humans mated. The humans consuming each other without ingesting any flesh with often wild abandon. They only seemed interested in the secretions that their sexual organs produced at these times. When in their frenzies they copulated to excess again and again.

The starling spied her special home with her mate already on his perch beside their nest where she would soon lay her new clutch of precious light blue eggs. She felt the eggs growing in her belly. Their growth made her feel content. She felt the compulsion to bring forth new life into the world.

Her mate warbled a sweet melody that made her trill inside hearing it. She finished feasting on the sunflower seeds and flew to her cage. The door to her gilded cage of course was open since the lights in the room were still lit. She hopped onto the metal bar that led to her nest in the foliage that was in the far left corner of the large cage.

The mother starling hopped down the bar till she reached the circular edge of her nest. She hopped up onto her nest and sang back to her mate in harmonious song. She hopped down into the bowl of her nest and wiggled in. The starling loved the tight circumference pressing in on her body. The pressure pressing in on her eggs. Soon she would lay her blue eggs and she could then incubate her new clutch.

Her instinct fired up her desire to produce her eggs. It was still three or four days away and she could not wait to lay her clutch.

Their mistress rose from behind her desk to walk over to the cage. She looked in and warbled to the birds who returned her tune with their own. After a minute their mistress slowly closed the door to their cage for the night. The starlings watched the door close without concern. They were allowed to forage to their heart’s content during the day and then came home to a nest where no predators could reach them. They had learned that with the door closed they were completely safe. Their young chicks would thrive. They were safe and well cared for as they sang happily. Their mistress smiled up at them softly as they sang their songs of harmonious love.

The Queen of the Whores went back to her seat behind the expansive and richly adorned cherry and mahogany desk. She looked at her fellow madams. Twenty-two were women and two were men. A woman was preformed form birth for this job but there were the select few men who were seemingly born for the job of being a madam of a high end brothel. Kreidoq mo Kila was so gay it made your eyes hurt with his flamboyant garb. The shirts open to his belly button. The other male was Yraerion Taryreos. He was a tall Valyrian who looked like he could have been a dragon lord of old except he was kind and generous.

The other madams were all women. Their temperament better suited to the genteel ways of whore houses on the island of Lys that catered to the rich and powerful.

The women were of different builds and hues from across Westeros and Essos. Liliyana Taner was from Highgarden, while Marleigh Tradd was from Dorne. One fair while the other was swarthy. She had two women from Yi Ti. Li Jiayue and Gu Yasha both exotic and so loving and giving. The rest of the women hailed from across Essos. Some of the women were from the eastern shore of Essos and their free cities. The others were women who had escaped from the Slave Cities or been born and raised in the profession.

The Queen sat at her desk admiring the views. Most of the women and Kreidoq mo Kila were dressed to kill and highlight their best attributes. Only Malaehna Caennalys and Nala Xhos were remotely conservatively dressed.

Only the Queen was dressed in a completely demure style. The dress clasped at the throat with only a little cleavage revealed with her bodice. She had sleeves down to her wrist. The dress ran down to her ankles and only loosely caressing her hips, the lower overskirt of her dress out from her ankles several inches. The dress had pearl tinted ruffles at the opening for her wrists. The neck of her dress had a collage of interlocked small roses that were light red. Lace from the roses ran down to the hem over her breast in a pattern of summer flowers.

The dress itself a light cream that highlighted the Queen’s pale features and brought out her jet black hair cut so the layered ends just reached her shoulders. Her throat highlighted with a choker that had a medallion of a female warrior slaying a savage male lion.

This was a business meeting and she did not want to get distracted. There would be other nights when the madams would bring their favorite whores of both sexes and the orgies would run rampant in the Queen’s upper floor living quarters. The sex running to the sun rising in the morning.

She did entertain some clients that absolutely demanded her services and were willing to pay for them.

She moved her reports around listening to her fellow madams gossiping and laughing in jest at the latest antics of the Dothraki garrison the Queen maintained in their city.

Jaelara Valnaeros chuckled as she told how her girls were addicted to playing the “bronco pony”. The Queen asked what that entailed.

“The Dothraki women have my girls mount them and the girls have to stay on them for fifteen seconds to win. It’s amazing how fast those fillies can spin and buck their hips. My girls almost always lose, though, from what I can see many are throwing themselves off their steads.”

“They would do that? Is not the point of the rodeo to stay on the horse? Why do they want to lose so badly?” the queen asked.

Zemdara Oquz snorted taking up the narration “The Dothraki fillies ‘punish’ the losers most heinously” the madam spoke rolling her eye in humor. “The rider who had been tossed off will have her filly fist her to multiple orgasms while sucking her off. The Dothraki slamming their fist so deep into our whore’s bellies with their forearms twisting. Our whores come so hard they nearly pass out.”

“The Dothraki women are most skilled at cunnilingus. The Dothraki fillies cannot get enough pussy to save their lives” Zemdara chuckled. “After seemingly fisting the whores to exhaustion the Dothraki women are at my whores pawing them to see when their clits have settled down to yet again suck them off.”

“My girls are so enamored with these Dothraki. Several Dothraki women have joined my establishment. They like their sex rough and have extreme stamina. My female cliental has increased eleven percent since these Dothraki women started coming in. They fuck for free but it gets everyone so excited seeing them fuck so wildly and in the middle of the floor that my food and alcohol sales have increased seventeen percent on the nights when they come into my House.”

“Our clients wanting threesomes and moresomes with both my whores and the Dothraki sluts. Our profits have increased quite nicely. The Dothraki women keeping my whores quite happy after they finish their shifts. The transfer of techniques and skills has made both my whores and the Dothraki more skilled in the arts of Sapphic lovemaking.”

“I’m trying to get them to come into the Passion Rose every night!” Jaelara exclaimed. “Of course I had to sample these fillies myself to see if they lived up to the hype. Sister, let me tell you—their praise is well warrantied. My pussy and ass were both quite happy after my trysts with the Dothraki fillies.” An evil glint came to her eyes “I will need to sample them tomorrow night once more to make sure they have not lost any of their skills” she snorted. She unconsciously licked her lips just thinking of going down on the sweet fucking filly sluts.

The queen laughed and listened to her fellow madams. She was the Queen but she saw them all as equals. She only used her power when needed to solve disputes and their profession needed a face. It was her intellect and her will that insured the whore houses received the best possible deals from the merchants and consignment managers who supplied the whore’s establishments with the supplies and other items the madams needed to run their businesses.

The Queen had insisted as she took more and more madams under her wing that they invest wisely and pursue other avenues of revenue. Her ideas were making them rich so they gladly followed her advice.

A ruffian from the mercenary company of the Savage Matadors had raped a woman two nights ago. His body was found in the canal this morning.

They all mourned his passing into the afterlife without a cock and his ass filled with a thick oak rod buried up his ass to his throat.

He had pleaded and soiled himself as the Council of Whores passed and executed judgment. He had begged for mercy as one by one the twenty-five pronounced him guilty. It was the Queen herself giving him his death sentence.

They discussed how their business was growing fast with the trade between East and West. The ship traffic was trending up but that was not the main reason for more money coming in their doors.

All the ships were now free. Crews had once been shackled to their oars and only their master and his officers coming ashore to party and fuck. Now the whole crew came ashore and their captains encouraging them to partake of the many pleasures of their most fair city. The once slaves now paid fair wages. Wages that needed to be spent and much of that coin spent in the madams’ establishments.

The Queen had convinced the other madams that by working with the high end restaurants and bars on the neighboring streets all could increase their profits. Runners ran between the whore houses delivering orders and picking up finished dishes and rushing them back to whore house establishments. The cliental happy to eat large meals and consume alcohol in moderation. Drunkenness was not permitted.

The meals and drinks adding greatly to the profits of the Madams and business owners working with the whorehouses. Now it was the Madams picking and choosing to whom they would work with.

The Queen had made sure to increase their presence in other ports. She bought advertising in those ports and had exchanges of whores between the ports to keep new whores coming into all their establishments across both Essos and Westeros. Her city had its own logo. “What happened in Lys stayed in Lys.” Their slickly produced brochures showed off their sublime climate and beautiful architecture. The madams of each city sending brochures to all the other whore houses in the major ports of Essos and Westeros. The fact that the most beautiful women in the world gravitated to Lys to ply their trade only added to the coup of the Queen of Whores.

Lys had always been considered the whore capital of the world. It had taken the Queen to take it to yet another higher more profitable level. A level others now emulated but with her insights the Queen maintained her dominance among the other whore queens in other cities.

After several more hours their monthly meeting began to breakup. The Queen kissed each departing member of the Council on the lips genteelly wishing them well. She loved all twenty-four members of her council. They were the best, brightest and most cunning of the madams of Lys. It was their guidance that led and protected the lesser houses.

She kissed Nesaenna Taellaeris and Liliyana Taner a second time on the lips. This kiss deeper and longer. They were like her. They were small and petite. She enjoyed her lovers to be small like her.

These two women were married to whores in their establishments but enjoyed the open life style as did their wives. Tonight they would lie with the Queen and fuck her again and again as she in turn went down on them and they used their strap-ons on each other.

She did not like men and powerful women because of their size and strength in her private life. Only Yraerion Taryreos fit that bill of all her inner circle. All of her other fellow madams were very femme or gay. They were soft and feminine. It was this she was attracted too.

For clients she would fuck them if the price was right and had passed the vetting process. She would not put herself in danger of any sort. She had been taught caution. Her past clients vetting in large part future clients. If they ever disappointed her in their assessments of new cliental they knew she would never grace their bed again.

Her lovers would not return for several more hours as they made sure everything was running well at their own bordellos.

The Queen went and looked out the window and the now dark sky. The stars were so bright above her twinkling as they looked down on humans and their small inconsequential lives. The Queen mused that a human life was nothing more than a blink in the eye of eternity.

She remembered going down to the port after her heinous rape. She had been broken and blooded of body and shattered in spirit.
A Summer Islander captain had taken pity on her and taken her onto her ship. Her and her crew nurtured and healed the young fourteen year old. After a time on her voyage she learned how to smile and laugh again though always with a sad caste.

The crew had flirted with her trying to woo her to their hammocks or beds. She had refused.

Eventually, the captain had dropped her off in Lys. The captain of the Swan Ship was a frequent visitor of Ranto Sa. The captain told Ranto of the girl’s sad story. The madam took in the young shy girl. In time they became lovers and then married as the girl was groomed to replace her lover as madam. Ranto a full generation older than the girl.

The Queen looked out the window. Those had been five glorious years until the fever had claimed her sweet wife.

She had taken over the bordello and soon rose up in the ranks of the madams of Lys till by the time she was twenty-five she was the true Queen of the Whores in Lys. Her only equal in power and prestige was Chataya and Alayaya her daughter and lover in Kings Landing. There were other whore queens in other cities but they were lesser and knew it.

The Supreme Whore Queen resided in Lys.

Instead of competing they had formed an alliance. The Whore Queen had impressed upon her rivals that a whore’s bed was the best inducement to get men and women to belie the secrets. When one added in the elixirs of drugs, alcohol and gentle persuasion one had their patrons sing such sweet songs. The songs gave the Whore Queens power. Knowledge used to influence and blackmail. The madams made sure that many dead letters were left across Essos and Westeros. The letters if every delivered would lay great men and women low. Such letters could bring down monarchies, guilds, businesses and even religious orders.

Much of their information was passed to the Whisperer, Moth Gatherer, Jackal King, Scorpion King, Widow Maker, Guardian of the Black Wall and the Wharf King. For a price of course. They in turn protected the whores. Such information was of great value to such men. These men knew that information was the greatest power.

With Chataya and hers leadership, their ranks were growing and making fortunes they gladly gave to their girls. The whore queens forming alliances and affiliations across both Essos and Westeros. Their strength slowly increasing. They made sure to keep their profile low. Their power was not the balled fist but the sweet bed covered in rose petals.

Also, the Queen insisted that hospitals and schools be built to teach and protect women and the poor in general. Her guidance had led to the establishment of battered women and children centers. She insisted that women be taught trades no matter what they chose. The women in gratitude provided their wares and services at the most favorable of prices. Their collaborations most beneficial in both directions. Many of the newly setup female merchants were now regular customers with a taste for the female body.

Their previous treatment by the patriarchal world of man had showed the women the truth of too many men’s baser instincts. Few were truly worthy of a woman’s true love. Thus, many of these women sought out the whore houses that catered to only women. They may have husbands and children but they sought their true passion and love with women.

That made the Queen smile. For her profession she would lie with a man. If a man could bone then they were worth something she supposed. She only genuinely liked her two male madams. She had seen the worse in men. One in particular. She paused. Her mind drifted back to before the ’night’.
It had been idyllic.

She went to her desk and took the key from around her neck. The key nestled between her high firm breast. She leaned to the right and put it in the top lock on the right hand drawer. A hidden shelf pulled back to reveal a second keyhole. She then walked to her starling cage where her pets rested asleep. She opened the cage. She reached gently underneath the nest and pulled out a second key.

She went back to her desk and inserted it into the second lock and turned it. The Queen heard the satisfying sound of tumblers clicking into place. The Queen pulled the drawer out and she looked in at sole item in the drawer resting on a cushion of velvet.

She pulled out a small ornately carved box. The teak wood burnished to a high sheen.

The Queen opened the small box.

She counted out 12 silver crowns and 1 golden dragon. All she had on her when she arrived in Lys. Her wife had insisted she keep it as a reminder of her humble frightening beginnings. At first she wanted to give the coins away as alms but now she was thankful she had held onto the coins. They anchored her to the past. As her strength returned, the idea of revenge sent out its first tendrils from the seed buried deep in her soul. She had suppressed those tendrils while her wife lived. Now she felt them growing and taking root deep in her physic.

Her busy life had occupied her time. The world seemed too large to change. That had changed with the rise of Daenerys Targaryen. The small pale Valyrian had shown the Whore Queen that anything was possible.

She had dreamed of her husband last night. Their relationship had started out so sweetly. She had been so happy and content. Cruel fate and circumstance had ended it horribly.

She let the coins fall from hand to palm back and forth between her hands. Clink clink clink the sound of metal coin hitting metal coin filled the room. The Queen slowly gathered the dropping thirteen coins in a hand before lifting it to let them clink down to the palm of the other lower waiting hand. The Queen remembered long ago events as if still yesterday or this morning. The coins clinked their metallic notes as they fell onto each other.

She had decided to keep the past in the past. She was not so sure now. The dragon queen had opened so many new possibilities.

She remembered what the father had said “A Lannister always pays his debts.”

Tysha had a large debt indeed that needed repaying.

Fox and Hound

The hound was running up the slope of the roof her nails clicking on the red and black half-moon terracotta tiles. Her nails found enough purchase to propel her canine body forward. Chimneys and small squares of taller portions of the buildings flew past her body as she ran forward at times all four paws leaving the ground as she sprinted forward. Her eyes barely registering the oranges, yellows, brown of the exposed painted walls. Her focus was elsewhere.

Her prize was fifty feet in front of her running hard her tail constantly jerking in all directions that kept the fox balanced as she ran up the sloped roof. The smaller canine’s body flexing as she bounded up the angled roof. The smaller fox’s body coiled and sprung forward as the hound chased with tongue hanging out.

She was getting closer! She felt elation surge through her four limbs as they coiled and uncoiled sending her body forward in a fast gait. The fox bunched its body and then jumped over a three foot high wall dividing two buildings. The hound in turn bunched its body and bounded over the divide keeping pace with her elusive fugitive.

The drop was ten feet to the next rooftop. The hound’s feet running in the air as she descended. She landed feet scrabbling for purchase and took after the fox. The fox was unlike most of her kin. She had large ears that stood up with black hair tufts. The fox had a red body with a black swath down the middle of its back. Its neck and top of its bobbing head covered in a spiky main of reddish black hair that stood up moving like the tall grasses on the prairie seas she had walked in her youth.

They were now running down a long line of buildings with flat roofs. The tops covered in tar and a thick coating of small pebbles. Now she could run the hound thought to herself! I have her now! She was rapidly closing in on her quarry. Finally, after so many years of pursuit she would have her. She ran harder her nose closing in on the tail of the fox her mouth wide open now her tongue wagging from side to side.

The fox turned suddenly to the left her body twisting and instantly changing directions. The hound snarled as she tried to turn suddenly to match the fox. Her claws scrabbled sending pebbles flying in all directions her body trying to turn as adroitly. Her left nails lost purchase and her body tumbled onto the roof rolling over and over as her feet wildly kicked the air.

Finally she snapped rolled to her feet and saw the fox had speed off. She tore off in hot pursuit. Angry at herself for losing her balance the hound redoubled her pursuit again closing the distance to the fox. They ran from roof to roof the slight elevation changes easily navigated and the angles of the roofs handled by fast paws scrabbling on tiles and stone capped tops. Up and then down slopes the two canines stormed across the roofs of Braavos unseen by humans.

The hound was closing in again as they ran—she slide down off a sloped tiled roof onto a large building with large square foot print. Her body only fifteen feet behind the fox who had also slide gracefully down the slopped roof. The roof dominated on one side with a large rectangular red brick chimney. Light brown smoke wafted up out of the flues. The chimney was for a large bakery on the first floor with a large plate glass window fronting the street. The bricks at the top were black with ash and suet. The bricks chipped here and there with time. The bakers were hard at work baking the breads, pies and cakes for the day’s dinner for customers.

The fox headed for the chimney and ran behind it. The hound gave chase but her body could not turn fast enough to keep up with the fast bounding fox. The hound reversed course and tried to fool the fox into running into her but the fox had skidded to a stop on the opposite corner looking around the bricks to spy the hound.

For the next few minutes the hound made short charges from one side to the other but the fox easily kept the chimney between them.

Finally, the hound sat down on her ass and tilted her muzzle to the late afternoon sky and whined with pathetic yelps and mournful wails.

The fox tilted his head around the chimney studying the mournful hound.

With a big tongue hanging smile the fox took off across the roof. The fox looked back seeing the hound get up on its feet and pelting after her with a wolfish grin.
The fox reached the edge of the roof and leapt. The hound leapt off the roof five bounds behind the fox. The hound looked out before her and the fox nearly hitting the building side across the street that was one story below the building they were just on. The foxes’ legs running the air and the small body hit the roof and flipped over once getting to its feet running off tail wagging hard.

The hound put on a burst of speed and hunched down and easily propelled herself across the street. The pedestrians below not looking up did not see the canines fly across the distance between buildings. The humans focused on their cares of the world as they walked down the narrow street.

The hound hit the flat wood covered with tar and small rocks of the roof. Her greater weight had her rolling four times before she could right herself up to her feet and take off after the fox as her paws clawed the pebbles accelerating her body after her quarry. The canines’ perfect sense of balance knowing how to roll with their jumps kept them from breaking their limbs with their long jumps between buildings.

They raced across the roof to the next building and leaped over the one cinder block wall high wall to the next building. The next line of buildings were three stories higher. The Fox angled to the stairs leading up to the top of the next building and past doorways to the three floors. The fox leapt up on the first steps and its little body compressed and surged up the steps.

The hound reached the steps and bounded up two at a time. She met a man coming out the third door from the landing. The startled man kicked at the hound slowing her as she dodged the kick and tore up the stairs after her quarry.

The fox had angled to the left across the roofs. The first roof had a slight apex with tiles on both sides. The canine’s claws scratching over the dark orange tiles. The fox leapt down to the next building that was five feet lower than this building. The hound hunched and leapt far ahead trying to make up ground. She hit the flat roof and bounded off after the fox not missing a stride.

They fox ran underneath three pigeon coups one after the other. Her upraised tail brushed underneath the wood bottom of the coups. The startled pigeons took flight from their roost and hit the chicken wire wings flapping wildly. The coups shook with the violence of the impacts of bird on wire. Feathers flew out into the air.

The hound noticed as she ran underneath the coups two young teenage boys necking underneath the bottom legs of the coups. The startled pigeons took flight from their roost and hit the chicken wire wings flapping wildly. The coups shook with the violence of the impacts of bird on wire. Feathers flew out into the air.

The fox jumped on a narrow hallway roof and ran towards a gazebo with a circular dome at the end of the hall. The dwelling below the residence of some rich merchant or government official. The structure built to let the denizens below come up and enjoy the air above the streets and fresh breezes that flowed up above the ground.

The dome made of bright copper that shown brightly in the late daytime sunlight. The metal slick and hard for canine nails to find purchase. This would slow the fox down! She had her now the hound exalted. She felt her eyes bulge when the small fox in perfect stride hunched down and lunged up high with a mighty uncoiling of the foxes muscles. The fox hit the circular dome near the top her legs working furiously to find purchase as she worked up the dome slipping and sliding up and then down the other side of dome out of sight.

Damn! How does she do that? The hound gathered herself and followed after her nemesis and hit the gazebo top and slide up it and went down the other side claws pawing the smooth top as her back legs worked hard for purchase kicking down. Her rump sliding down the hot copper until she slide down off the metal shod gazebo top. She hit the angled roof of the next apartment. She looked out and saw the fox reaching the end of the long block and jumping up onto the narrow ledge lining the edge of these building. A wide lane below.

The hound increased speed jumping up on the ledge. The fox was trapped. If she tried to go to the left she would cut the square and would have her. Again exaltation surged in the hound but it was short lived. The hound saw out the corner of her eye the buildings across the lane were pink, yellow and brown. She glanced down once and saw outdoor cafes and bistros. Multicolored awnings covered tables and chairs on this side of the road. The fox had seen them too.

The fox jumped her mane flitting in the air rushing through it as she fell. The hound growled watching the fox hit the awning that yawed down but did not break as the fox lurched and slide down the fabric and jumped off edge down to the road and darted to the right.

There was nothing for it. Today she would catch the fox! The hound jumped off the roof and hit the awning the fabric tearing through with her greater weight. Her body slammed into a table as four women dressed in fine dresses and summer blouses rose up screaming. The table lurched over with glasses, plates and utensils flung in all directions to clatter and break on the brick sidewalk. The women’s food and drink flying in all directions splattering both brick and women.

The hound found her feet and took off down the lane dodging humans. Her senses sharp trying to find her fox. Then she heard her quarry yelp in fear. She put in a surge of speed. The hound rounded a corner. She then saw her cornered by four bravos that slashed at her with blades one moving in to pierce her! The hound bounded down the lane quickly picking up speed. She jumped and hit the evil man trying to pierce her fox. Her body impacted the bravo and bore him to the ground. Her snout finding his throat and ripping it out as his blood sprayed in all directions. The bravo’s legs kicked wildly in his death dance.

The fox ran off.

The hound twirled to the left avoiding a slash. She was cornered in from three sides. She was unable to dodge the next swipe that tore from her neck down her side exposing ribs and visceral. The wound did not bleed and immediately healed up as the men gaped. She lunged at the nearest man and ripped his calf savagely just above his boot. Muscles were torn and ligaments sheared in two. The man fell screaming.

More blades were attracted by the commotion. The bravos joining the fracas. She was surrounded. Too many wounds could overwhelm her body’s ability to heal. She looked around. The lips along her snout rippling as she growled menacingly. Her golden eyes seemed to glow as she snapped at her tormentors.

She snarled while make false lunges at the bravos. Her savagery made the men hesitate as they wound up their courage. Then they attacked. Two men tried to pierce her and she dodged underneath the blades of their slashing and jabbing rapiers. She jerked her head up on a bravos snapping her jaws on his wrist ruining it with two quick jerks of her head. A blade pierced her through. She staggered back her body healing the pain blinding but already subsiding. A slash across her spin at the hunches made her rear legs collapse but bone and nerve healed in a handful of heartbeats as the men gasped.

Each wound sapped her of strength though. The hound could not focus to translocate. She fought on snapping and lunging but she knew she could not last. She was able to tear a man’s hand on his rapier ruining the digits and tendons on the wrist. More slashes across her body sapped her strength. The men blocked her every attempt to escape. The men’s rapiers slashed back and forth and lunged at her when she sought to escape. There was too many men.
The fox had somehow gotten on an awning again and leaped off. The fox’s little body hit the man who was closest to the hound. She hit the man’s shoulder and her mouth ripped his throat out with one quick tearing bit. She leapt off the collapsing man and darted left between another bravo’s legs and turned biting him behind his knees severing his ligaments and he toppled over screaming dropping his rapier grabbing his knee.

The hound jumped slamming into a bravo about to pierce the fox. He fell to the ground stunned. The fox whirled around and her snout dove down jaws ripping through the man’s throat as his gurgled screams bubbled out the ruined throat. Blood spurted out in great red arcs to splatter on the cobble stones of the street.

An opening appeared in the thinned ranks of the Bravoses. The two animals sprinted off through the gap before it could close. The fox looking behind her at the hound again in hot pursuit the humans put behind them. The hound no longer being cut was quickly healing and able to give full chase after the fox.

The fight with the human swordsmen already behind them and forgotten as they resumed the chase. The two canines dodged humans down the lane. On they ran tongues lulled out throwing happy slaver with their bounding bodies. The chase exhilarated both the pursuer and the chased. Then the fox darted right into a dark archway. The hound bounded into the dark in hot pursuit.

The hound’s eyes instantly adjusting to the dark and ran up the stairs that ran up and up switching back and forth. The canines running all out giving their full efforts. The distance the same between them. Then the hound howled in success. The door to the roof was shut!

She whined when the fox jumped up and hit the door handle lever and pushed it down her momentum shoving the door open as her body burst into air and flew into the sunshine. The hound’s body arrived just in time to slam into the closing door knocking the dead air out her lungs.

She tumbled onto the tiles. Her legs wildly kicked until she righted herself and slide ran down the slope of the roof. She then jumped over to the next building with a lesser slope these tiles an unusual green that were more square in their form.

For the next few minutes the hound chased the fox till they came to the end of the row by the bay. She had her! The roofline lined by a two foot high wall. The fox jumped up on the ledge and her head looked down as the hound closed the distance.

A purple haze with gold spangles in it enveloped the fox and when it cleared the fox was gone. The hound reached the ledge and put her paws on the top and leaned her head over and saw a redhead woman using a gutter pipe to scoot down to the road six stories below. The woman looked up with a toothy smile. A twinkle in her eyes. She was so beautiful to the hound.

A purple haze with gold stars in it covered the hound. Now a woman with dirty blond hair was scrabbling down the pipe. Both women in a tunic synched around their waists. One tunic a deep red and the other the color of wheat swaying in the late autumn sun.

The redhead reached the road and tore off to the docks and shops lining it. The dirty blond jumped the last fifteen feet and landed lightly and ran off after the woman. They ran fast dodging people. The small redhead barely made it between a line of carriages going in opposite directions. The blond fumed waiting for a break before she found a break and went after the redhead.

She gritted her teeth. They went past open stalls with heaps of oysters, clams and muscles. Other stalls had various fish lined out on tilted wooden slats with their heads cut off. The woman saw mackerel, tuna, shade and cod. Other stalls were shilling cutting utensils that hung from wires allowing the implements to swirl showing off edges or tines.

In between were several vendors offering spices to season the offerings from the sea. The sharp spices tanging the hound’s nose. The smell of saffron and nutmeg especially strong. A line of stalls on the left had all sorts of vegetables lined up to make tasty salads to go with the seafood. Stacks of tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, radishes, carrots, turnips and other items for sale stacked up high in pyramids, squares or circles with the most eye catching at the top or forefront.

To the right was the long fish mongers table. Stalls divided the table with little walls behind the table where each vendor bought fish or shell fish straight off the boats returning with the incoming tide.

Most of the vendors specializing in one type of fair or another. One stall was filled with shucked oysters. Oyster shells with their pearly treats resting inside. Others were dipped in a buttery sauce and sprinkled with spices from Volantis or the Summer Islands. One vendor had clam strips sizzling in a brazier and long tuber clams their feet cut off rolling around in a big vat of cooking oil.

Several vendors were cutting up strips of fast, warm bloodied blue fin tuna and selling it as strips of Sushi some of the strips soaked in Wasabi sauce for that tangy kick. One vendor was broiling tuna steaks in a small wood fired stove he had sat up.

More vendors were selling fresh shad lined up on their tables on one side and the other side of the table filled with filleted and salted shade to take home and store for later meals.

Many of the vendors gutting their own fish and putting the visceral into bins behind their stalls.

Buyers bargained with the fisherman in the universal haggling of give and take. The buyer complaining of size and quality of the catch and the fisherman barking back at the tight wad skin flints trying to rob food off their children’s tables. The sing-song of barter back and forth until a sale was made and toothy grins with gold teeth glinting with the happiness of a sale.

Then the fish handed to young men who spotting the buyer would hurl the larger fish at them head first. The tuna or mackerel bolt flying through the air with unerring aim the fish’s body undulating as if still alive and swimming in the air arched to the buyer who deftly caught the fish out of air and threw their new prized down on their table top and began to eviscerate.

The two women saw all this but had no interest in the sale of fish or the culinary delights all around them. Only the chase mattered. The blond haired woman gaining ground as the smaller redhead jerked right and suddenly plopped down on her tight rump and slide underneath the monger’s table her small size again coming into the forefront as the foxy lady had only to bend her head to the side to go underneath the high table. The men sitting up on high stools. The tables high to store the items of business underneath.

Just as the redhead slide past the far side of the table and started to get up the dirty blond woman with the wolfish grin slide down onto her ass and scooted forward underneath the table top of the monger table having to lean to the left to get underneath the table. Soon the fox would be hers.

Her body slammed into the legs of a man waking past with a large container filled with fish guts and offal as she appeared from underneath the table behind the monger’s bench. The man stumbled losing his grip on the large square hollow container he held. The chopped fish heads, intestines, chum and rasped off scales came pouring out as the container flipped over and fell. The evil concoction now falling towards one certain dirty blond woman on her butt down below.

“Eeeewwwwwwwww!” the dirty blond woman yelped her body soaked in his guts and effluent. “Groossssss! Arrggggggg! Fuck!” she yelled. Her body soaked in fish slime and shit. Her light tunic clinging to her body soaked in what she did not want to know. She stood up and crinkled her nose and tried to wiggle whiskers that were not there. She looked around. Her fox was gone.

A man grabbed her elbow “What the fuck cunt!” he snarled at her. Her free hand came up and gripped the man’s wrist crushing bones that ground and snapped. The man screamed in agony falling to his knees the woman holding up his right arm not evening noticing as she looked down at her fish slimed body and tunic.

The man’s brothers in fish mongering started to notice their fallen brother’s plight and gathered around the slender blond. The woman snarled at her assailants. How the many always attacked the few. Especially, if they seemed like an easy mark. She threw the man’s hand down making him scream again. The woman whirled putting her left hand on the fishmonger table and vaulted over lightly hitting the wood slates of the pier floor. She took off running as men and a few woman started to give chase.

The woman ran to the edge of the pier and in perfect stride dove into the river disappearing. The pursuers came to the edge and stood looking down for the woman waiting for to reappear and track her to where she would get out of the water so they could teach the wench a good hard lesson. No one fucks with one of their own. Their heads craned to and fro looking for the blond woman. She did not appear. How long could she hold her breath they wondered? She did not reappear.

Unseen fifty yards away a large hound swam away strong legs kicking in the water. The hound easily swam feeling the fish slime slowly slough off in the flowing water over her fur. The hound felt relief as the slime was washed off her fur. The canine kicked its legs in a strong dog paddle and turned down a canal. Soon a bridge came into view. With strong legs working underneath its body the hound angled to the bank where a walk way lined both sides of the bank to allow access to maintenance workers.

The hound paddled over to the closest bank and surged up getting its front paws on the walkway and pulled up with its hind legs pawing the stones of the abutment underwater finding purchase with its kicking legs and claws. The large dog worked its way up out of the water. On the walkway the hound shook its body twisting its torso first right and then left water droplets flinging off in spirals. The hound then leaned down on its forelimbs and stretched its mouth opened wide in contentment feeling its spin pop and snap with it stretch.

A minute later a woman with sandy blond hair down to her shoulders walked out from underneath the bridge and up the brick steps. Her fingers working the semi damp hair behind her ears framing her strong features. Her face angular and beautiful with deep blue eyes and long lashes. She had high cheekbones and a cupid bow lips.

She was clothed in a trousers lashed with leather drawstrings synching the pants up tight to her slender hips. Her feet had on mid-calf boots cross laced with sinew up to the roll over tops. Her body covered in a pull over top that had a V cutout below the throat with leather bindings run through eyelets. The sleeves down to her wrists cut tight to her slender wrists. She had on a thin leather vest covering that had the two top buttons done the rest undone highlighting her flat slender stomach only covered by her thin top.

The woman made it up to the cobblestone lane and looked for the little redhead. She smiled softly. Today had been a good long chase. The compulsion to chase tamped down for now.

She walked down the road whistling a tune that had not existed for five thousand years. Unseen, the little redhead heard the long forgotten tune remembering their shared childhood and teenage years.

She had been in a flower stall bending down to smell the roses behind two large gossiping women.
She smiled seeing her hound looking for her. She stood up her small frame easily hidden behind the large women. She was only four foot ten inches and ninety-five pounds. Her red head streaked with black strands down her center part. The tresses running down four to five inches down her back to her shoulder blades with gentle waves.

Her dark yellow eyes flecked with amber studied her pursuer. She eyed the delectable rump she was denied. She sighed her face soft and rounded with pouty lips that the redhead licked. Thrice her hound had journeyed around the world trying to avoid her but she always found her hound. Who else could chase her?

/////

The waning gibbous moon provided ample light for Laelapea to see the happenings down below in the warehouse. She had cracked the access hatch to the roof and peered down into the alleys between the large stacks of material. She silently slipped into the warehouse and got up on the rungs leading up to the access skylight. She pulled several strands of dirty blond hair behind her ear her dark blue eyes squinting. The transaction was about to happen.

She was clad in the traditional clothing of a shinobi in their shōzoku. The black material covering her body from its hood and cloth up to her eyes on her face and synched tight to her wrists and ankles. The material stuffed in her skin tight slippers that hugged her ankles. Her outfit designed to make her invisible in the inky shadows and move in silence.

Her employers, The Oligarch, were tired of the Iron Bank constantly strangling their aspirations. The Iron Bank was always seeking to further their influence at the cost to all others. The Oligarch knew one way to get to the hearts of the powerful. Give them something rare and precious. With a price attached of course.

She was high up in the dark shadows of the high warehouse. The meeting below was only illuminated by two small oil lamps. The small flames only offering little cones of light. Her eyes easily saw all in the dark. She watched the merchants with the attire of Qarth unbox two medium sized crates from large shipping containers. The men grunting as they moved to crates to the floor.

They then used crowbars to pry off the lids. Nestled in the crates in straw and gypsum packing material was the prize. The men held up their lamps to put light on the items within. The interloper’s sharp eyes spotted the gleam of Valyrian weapons. Laelapea spied in the dim light five broad swords, a double bladed Labrys ax of the fabled female warrior clans of Sothoryos, two long daggers, a javelin with a Valyrian tip and a war hammer. All gleaming and the edges sharp apparent even from her distance hidden high up in the stacks of crates.

From the side of the warehouse, Laelapea heard the soft opening of an entry door and the brief flare of light that only her eyes could perceive. They had come as she had been warned. It was time. She quickly closed the skylight behind her and climbed down the rungs of the access ladder.

Once on the floor she weaved between the stacked blocks of goods and merchandise. As she came to each corner she flashed her head around the corner just enough to get a quick glimpse. Her hearing was acute but she was cautious by nature. She was strong but she did not let her abilities go to her head. She was confident but not arrogant.

When she saw nothing she advanced down the new corridors between the piles of crates. She was soon in position to observe and wait. He outfit blending her into the dark shadows.

The bartering was reaching a conclusion when they appeared like wraths from the grave materializing behind the four men softly conversing unseen. Her eyes easily saw the five men in the dark shadows stealthily moving forward their rapiers drawn.

She had expected only three. She breathed in to get their scent in her nose. She did not smell Jaqen H'ghar, Tychiphos Phasserion, or Ozzaergo. She had spied these faceless men at one time or another and memorized their scents. They were the equal to any first swords. These men were not them. She could take them. Laelapea was not arrogant but she had supreme confidence in her skills.

The men moved forward for the kill. Laelapea put her right hand to her stomach just below her sternum and concentrated. Silently a gleaming rapier appeared in her hand with a double tubed knuckle bow. It fit her hand perfectly. The woman moved forward behind the assassins silent as the grave.

The men did not know she was there until the man on the left edge suddenly gurgled. A rapier having appeared out the front of his body. The blade stabbed through his heart. The man slumped as the blade was jerked back. The four surviving men immediately whirled. Their training and instincts had their weapons pointed at the sudden intruder in a flash. The men moved to assault the woman. The Faceless men spreading out to surround her simultaneously from different quadrants.

Laelapea was impressed. The men instantly tracked her and moved to hem her in. They were indeed well trained. They did not seem surprised. This bothered her but did not perturb her. Again her confidence in her skills and abilities was paramount.

The men attacked. The sounds of metal colliding filled the warehouse the echoes moving down the corridors of crates. The merchant weapons runners had disappeared into the shadows. They were businessmen and not fighters. They had no part in this drama.

The woman slashed and parried all their blows ducking from side to side and leaping on boxes only to jump over their heads slashing down as they blocked desperately. She would pivot and attack with forward thrusts and swirl into a slash to keep a faceless man from getting too close. Back and forth the killers fought swords barely missing their marks. Laelapea’s garment had multiple rents now of blades almost finding their target.

Her assailants had red lines marking their flesh and clothing now soaking in blood from minor cuts. The fighters slashing to keep her at bay and then lunging when an opening appeared only to be blocked by a side slash. Laelapea noticed that the Oligarch men had fled. They had not needed to flee. She would kill these interlopers.

The largest man charged her and they grappled with each other his free hand balled up and jammed into her upper left shoulder. The man jerked his hand up and unclasped it and blew hard into her face. She was surprised by this and gasped in startlement.

She felt no fear of their quaint poisons. The next moment “Aaarrgggguunngggggg!” she cried out in agony. Her body had reacted instinctively and breathed in in her startled state. Her eyes wide in her surprise. Elements of the powder getting in her eyes, nostrils and mouth. Now her throat and eyes were on fire. The dust had been finely ground silver. Only sliver was anathema to her kind. The particles in her throat making her salvia glands produce fluid that only took the hated silver deeper into her body.

She fought on pure instinct now. Her body compensating with her blindness to slash her blade about using smell and hearing to track the men as they moved about attacking her. She was able to keep the men at bay. For a minute she kept the faceless men back with her back against a large wall of crates. It was not enough. Her strength was slowly ebbing. She could no longer trans locate. She was doomed.
She had been betrayed. The Faceless Men had been prepared for her. They had a poison concocted just for her.

A rapier blade pierced her right shoulder and jammed into the wood box behind her. “EEeeeeeiiiiiiii!” the hound shrilled. The blade was made of silver. It burned and sent tendrils of magic coursing through her body setting her very blood on fire. ‘Uunngghhhiiiiiiii! Mmmnngghhiiiiii!” she wailed thrashing pinned to the crate. Her right hand opened. Her sword dropped from her grasp and dissolved to mist. She slumped back as one of her assailants gripped her hair jamming her head back into the crate exposing her neck to the silver blade of his long dagger.

Her tearing eyes did not allow her to see the face of the man about to kill her.

The man started to bring his silver dagger to Laelapea’s throat. The killing slash never came.

From on high a figure dropped down red hair flowing up as the body plummeted down. The figure lightly landed on their feet. Each hand rose up with long daggers in them. In a flash the arms swiped forward. The man about to garrote Laelapea and the assassin to his right suddenly crumpled. A dagger slide into each man’s back just above their shoulders severing their spines. The already lifeless bodies crumpling straight down like puppets with their strings cut. Instantly, the woman had two more daggers in her hands.

With her bleary teary vision Laelapea saw the woman rip her daggers up into fighting position. She lowered her body into a combat crouch her body centered and knees flexed to move in any direction in a flash. The surviving two men moved back. The two faceless men looked at the new threat that had appeared from out of nowhere. They had been briefed of only one threat.

The silent men considered her with cool calculation. They glanced at their dead and the redhead in front of them with two daggers held with expert skill. Their advantage of surprise gone. This supernatural being was aware of their use of silver. They would not catch her unawares. The silver rapier was on the floor out of reach and of no use to the two survivors. The men glanced at each out of the corners of their eyes.

The decision made, they smoothly glided back and disappeared into the shadows.

Laelapea fell into unconsciousness.

When she awoke she saw that she was back on the roofs of Bravoos. The moon had moved towards the other horizon. It was three hours past midnight now. Four hours had passed since her injury.

She felt a long tongue licking her nude body over her right shoulder. The tongue then licking her eyes and lapping into her slack mouth. Her eyes opened and she wiggled her head the fox’s tongue swiping over the eyes. She reached out and caressed Teumessia fur. The fox sat back now and studied her hound. Laelapea sat up weakly. Her wounds had been healed. Teumessia’s salvia healing her with the magic of her body and soul.

The slaver flowing down her throat and beginning the healing restoration of her mucus lining and the healing of her lungs. She did not need to breath but the tiny pleural and branchi still existed and were delicate. The silver inflaming the tissue causing extreme distress.

While the wounds had been healed they were still raw. The scars fresh. They would fade away to nothing over the next few nights but now they were still raw and would pain Laelapea greatly tonight and tomorrow. The silver residue making her healing slow. Her body was still weak from her silver poisoning.
Laelapea reached out and stroked the fox behind her ears. Her near fatal injuries had for now defeated their compulsions. The fox whined in pleasure. The taller woman was covered in a purple haze with gold stars bursting inside and now a large hound appeared from the dissipating cloud.

The two canines walked in a tight circle brushing against each other. Their muzzles pressed into fur breathing in the heavenly scent and dander with both fox and hound whimpering in pleasure. They rubbed noses and barely licked jowls and lips. When bodies pressed into each other the canines pressed their noses into the tail of the other sniffing and licking but not allowed to touch their mates sex. They whined in frustration. Their compulsions were weakened but still there.

For ten minutes they continued this dance beneath the stars. Finally, Teumessia broke contact with a sad fox smile and walked off towards the edge of this roof. She looked back halfway to the brick barrier to the next building that was three feet taller than this roof. The fox looked back and saw the hound staring intently at her. She threw her head up, nose high and wiggled her tail and haunches until she reached the next building and leaped up and out of sight.

Laelapea weakly transformed back to her human form. She went to the door to the roof and went down the stairs. Her steps slow. While steady she had to fight to keep her balance. She emerged in a low cut dress that pushed up her firm B cup breast. She walked with a sway to her hips. Men made propositions but she ignored them. Ten minutes later she felt his presence behind her stalking from the shadows. He was licking his lips in anticipation of raping and killing her.

She walked into a side alley dark and narrow. The man hurried in after her. It had been four nights since his last fucking worthless prostitute. No one would mourn her passing.

Suddenly he felt a hand around his throat in a vice like grip. He was slammed three times into the wall stunning him. Strong arms wrapped around his ribs and long fangs drove deep into this throat piercing his arties. His body bucked and legs kicked wildly at the woman. The woman hugged the man tighter while she slurped and snuffled drinking his life. After twenty seconds he weakened and then fell limp as the woman drained the rapist and killer dry.

She let the lifeless body fall. He would not be missed. She was fully recovered now. Her wounds would pain her greatly but her strength was returned as well as her full supernatural powers. She stepped out of the alley in plain trousers and button up shirt with knee high boots. Just another merchant woman walking to her business as the sun started to lighten the sky in the east.

Crypt of Skulls

The afternoon sun was setting in the western quadrant. The golden orb’s rays glinting off the bronze and iron of the Titan of Braavos. The slanting rays of the sun reflecting off the inrushing tide rippling the waters of the Purple Harbor. The air seemed charged with the glow of the sun. Down the main avenue before the Sealord Palace complex walked Ballador Aenyrian. The sun caressed his body like a lover. The soft afternoon sunlight made his very skin seem to glow with health and vitality. The caressing rays of the setting sun caught in his blond hair and was given back in soft glints of perfection.

The sun settled on his tall proud erect frame. His steps measured and sure. Every angle of the man’s face was sheer perfection. Not one follicle was out of place on his perfectly cut hair. His blue eyes and chiseled features made men envious and women weak in the knees. He had known since he was child that he was perfect in every way. He had been born for greatness and groomed to ascend the rungs of power in Braavos.
Ballador had learned early on that his last name and divine good looks would open doors for him. It made people want to do things for him. It did not seem to matter what those things were. When he was young all wanted to dote on him and give him guidance for his future. As he aged and matured he was groomed to control the levers of power. He soon came to know that is merest gaze and briefest of smiles made both girls his age and their mothers and sisters want to lie with him. His parent friends and associates longed to part their legs for his manhood.

He was the golden child. He knew it. All knew it. He was destined for great things. He was not yet twenty-eight years old and was ready to grasp the greatness that was his by right of birth and destiny. He had made decisions that assured his ascension to the kind of greatness that would be spoken of millennia into the future.

The vain confident man walked between the houses of Ascension Boulevard. The houses of merchants and bankers that had already achieved their great power and wealth. His family owned a large four story residence near the Moon Pool on the opposite side of the roundabout from the Iron Bank. His family one of the original twenty-three founders of the Iron Bank. His grandmother many times removed was one of the first seven women who had their riches in the deep iron mine that hid the wealth that was used to fund the Iron Bank.

While there was now more than one thousand persons known as "keyholders" who proudly displayed their ceremonial keys on formal occasions those were only for show. Ballador sneered at the pretenders. His father held one of the original "gold key". Keys that could open powerful doors both literally and figuratively. The key inscribed with runes that denoted their origin and had cutouts on their edge that only one of the twenty-three had. These cutouts opening doors only the twenty-three could.

Soon he would hold that key. It was time for the next generation to ascend. He was tired of waiting. He knew his time was soon at hand. He had formed ties and made associations that would ensure his rise to the head of his family. Then, soon after that, he would become the Sealord of Braavos. He would lead the city to a greatness it had never known. He and his secretive brethren would in time rule the world. First Braavos, the Iron Bank and the Temple of Black and White. With these under his control he could work to conquer Essos and then Westeros.

He would not need to wage war like the Dragon Queen had. He had more subtle means. He need not destroy to impose his will and the will of his order. In time he would take down the bitch who rode dragons. His order would strike when they were ready. The obvious means of power meant nothing to him. He had other means to power. He would pull together power from many places to become greater than Daenerys Targaryen could even dream of.

Ballador looked up at the buildings that lined the lane he walked on. The three and four story homes designed to impress. Many of the buildings had marble facades with the marble imported from Pentos, Valysar and from Sartok to the east of Qarth. The marble from Sartok highly sought for the thick blue lines in the marble.

The buildings had complicated geometric designs caste into the stone between the marble bands on the buildings. The patterns filled with precious metals and stones that caught the sunlight and threw back spangles and glints that dazzled the eyes. The large plate glass windows on the upper floors leading to balconies that had rails made of either pure silver or gold.

The insides of the homes were even more ostentatious. All of it designed to give comfort to the occupants but more so to impress visitors. To let the visitors know the wealth and power of owners of the building. Each family trying to outdo their rivals.

Ballador understood all this. Had he not been raised exactly in such a house? He had risen beyond such things now. He had much loftier goals to achieve. He had grander ambitions to mark his destiny.

The sun behind him made his body shimmer like a god come down to Earth. Perfection given flesh. Ballador looked ahead and saw Meshina Orlen walking down the lane holding an expensive gaily painted parasol. She herself was the female version of himself: perfection. She looked at him daintily as her two female friends also exquisitely dressed giggled girlishly. All three made eyes at him offering him their bodies. He had partaken of all of them. He had fucked them one on one and many times together as the women were totally bisexual and wild in bed.

They no longer appealed to him but he made sure to look at them with smoky eye contact. His eyes traveling up and down their bodies with fuck hunger. He made sure to look at Meshina directly with a wolfish look in his eyes. She shivered and licked her lips as he passed. She had become frustrated that he had not fucked her in the last two years. She had spread whispers of this but he did not care. He had moved on. Both literally and figuratively.

He walked on and glanced back. He shook his head seeing the three women leaning close to each other. No doubt talking of him. The beautiful women talking to each other with Meshina being in the middle made it easier for her to grope her friends’ asses as they leaned into her. Before his ascension he would have turned around to join them for a night of debauchery. He turned around and walked on. They meant nothing to him now.

A pang ran through his body. His body hungered. He saw two men and a woman look at him with an intense look but continued their walks past him. Let them fool themselves Ballador thought to himself. His controlled had slipped with his hunger gnawing at his bones. It was the way of man. To ignore what their eyes told them if it unsettled their preconceptions.

He quickened his pace. He angled off Independence Boulevard so named to commemorate the freedom of Braavos from the might of Valyria. The name shouted that all in this city were free and independent. The people free from the chains that were visible to the unaided eyes. There were other chains that bound and limited a person. Ballador had freed himself from those chains as well. Only his will limited Ballador now.

He soon would rise to the rank of Seraphim from his current rank of Acolyte. His masters did not know it but soon he would rise to the rank of Marshall. From there he would rise in time to Potentate, then to First Flame and then to the top rank of Supreme Nova. His ascension was assured.

Little did his order know that he would rise to the supreme leadership in quick order. It was his will that would be transcendent. Still, that was a matter for another day. Now he had to feed.

The tall vain man angled off Independence Boulevard and walked down streets that led to other less savory streets. He still had to use some caution in meeting his need. He could not afford to have a person disappear when he may be seen with them shortly before they disappear by those who knew him. Seeing Meshina had brought back distant memories no matter how faint they may have become. He hungered. Only the tenor had changed.

He walked down streets that the buildings now began to hide the sun. The shadows lengthening. Ballador loved the shadows and the darkness now. He walked on to the inner lagoon that housed the Isle of the Gods. He had no use for those temples. No temple for his dark gods stood on any of those isles.

He was approaching the bank of the lagoon of the Isle of the Gods. Here prostitutes catered to higher stations of cliental. These women wore the best garments, had hair and nails expertly done. They may be of low station but they spoke well and were well mannered. These women were not yet picked up by madams and were still establishing their rank and skills. They all hoped to be picked up by the high end brothels or escort services.

Like the courtesans of the City, high end prostitutes were respected. Ballador waked down the Lakeshore Drive. The prostitutes walking along sedately while men and some women pried them with advances and questions of skills and desires sought. If agreement was met then a price was agreed upon. With the new formed liaison for the night or some hours of the night having been established the new partnership would move on.

Ballador had a type in mind and walked on till he found what he desired. She was 5’6” and voluptuous of build. Beyond that her beauty meant nothing to him. He came up to her. In his most melodious rich baritone he told the woman he wanted to partake of her for the evening.

She tried to flirt and be coy but he had no time for it. He felt another pang of hunger. He gave the woman a pouch. When she opened it and saw the thirty gold dragons a broad smile filled her beautiful face. She took the arm he offered her. She frowned slightly at the first touch but then shook her head. In his weakened state Ballador had to concentrate. The smile returned to her face. He led her back the way he had come to take his prize back to the Independence Boulevard and walked towards the docks of the Purple Harbor. He made the necessary small talk to keep his prize appeased and docile. He could not afford attention to be brought to himself with others around.

Ballador kept to the deeper shadows on the street. He made sure to keep his face towards the woman making inane conversation. They were just another rich beautiful couple on the street.

The man and woman slowly worked their way to his destination. The sun setting now behind the mountains that ringed Braavos. The shadows lengthening while the sky darkened. Shades of purple and grey giving way to blacker hues. The woman followed her man for the night’s pleasures. The woman happy to be led by such a handsome man. She thought tonight was her lucky night. Maybe he would become a regular client. If he always paid this well she would be set in very quick order.

The whore was playing her part complimenting Ballador on his good looks and impeccable good manners. He was growing tired of her bleating but controlled his ire. He had led his prize to the docks on the Purple Harbor that his order reserved for their use. The two walked past slips to his sought goal. The concourse slowly emptied of other citizens of Braavos. The slips before them dark and dour. A servant to his order appeared from the shadows.

Only now did the stupid cow realize her danger. She stared at the approaching servant in his dark robes. She gripped Ballador’s arm crying out for him to save her. She did not see Ballador reach into his pocket bringing out the cloth soaked in chloroform and jammed the cloth into the whore’s face. She inhaled in startled fear taking the agent deep into her lungs. Her struggles only lasted twenty seconds before she fell unconscious.

The servant caught the woman. Ballador needed to save his strength. He felt the hunger gnawing at his bones. He needed to feed and rest. They took the incapacitated whore down the slip and to the steps down to the quay that held the large skiff. Two of the rowers took the woman and dumped her to the bottom of their craft. None cared if she was harmed. The woman meant nothing to them either. The four rowers took their stations while the man who had met Ballador went to the stern of the craft while Ballador took a seat near his prize.

The sky had darkened to a deep dusk now. The skiff pulled out of its slip the oars lifting and dipping pulling the craft forward while the man in the stern with his sculling oar helped propel and guided the craft. The skiff moved with silent oar strokes. The black craft invisible to the few galleons, carracks and a barque that were coming in and out of the slips taking advantage of the incoming tide to begin their trip beneath the Titan and out to sea or come to dock.
The rowers lifted their oars to cut through the water propelling the craft to the outer ring of tall islands that protected Braavos from both the sea and invaders. The craft angled to the right heading for a set of tall spires of the surrounding hills. The hills had never been colonized due to their steep slopes and the constant fog that wreathed the mountains. Cold sea currents hitting the windward side of the mountains. This cool air hit the warmer air from the lagoon and made for thick sheaths of fog that lasted to the late morning and early afternoon hours. The fog forming soon after the sun set.

On the leeward side the cool waters of the lagoon produced fog too with the hot air wafting over the shallow waters. Ballador saw fog wafting down from the two thousand foot high ridges and rolling down towards the lagoon. Soon that was obscured by the fog in the lagoon lifting up with the cooling temperatures. The craft glided on silently to the secret lair of the Crypt of Skulls. It was here the Dorha Kaku made their liar. The handsome man looked at the servants to the order. They knew of his true appearance but did not shed his clothes. No need to arise instinctual fears.

For half an hour more the craft glided across the lagoon angling to tallest spires near where the range of islands met the mainland. The craft now moved up a cleft that cut into the large island their craft approached. The craft enveloped in thick rolling exhalations of cool fog seeking the lagoon. After many turns and barely fitting between large boulders the craft came to a dock. The craft was saddled to it and two of the oarsmen jumped out and tied the craft to stanchions on the dock.

The man who had worked the sculling oar picked up the voluptuous beautiful whore with a grunt. Ballador conserved his waning strength for now. They walked up a twisting path into the hidden ravens with many switchbacks. The other oarsmen stayed on the dock. For five minutes Ballador walked up the path with his porter behind him five steps respectfully. The path then straightened out. For ten yards the walls of the ravine were cut straight down with the stone floor flat. It was covered in small rocks and the detritus of fallen leaves and limbs from the trees clinging to the rock face of the island.

Ballador took the whore on his shoulder that rippled underneath the load. He had enough strength for the final part of his journey. He waited for the man to disappear back down the path. He heard the sounds of rattles and movement of scales over rock and leaves. He slowly stepped forward and the snakes in the path started to sway and hiss at the intrusion. They sensed his presence but their senses could not fully see him. The Rattlesnakes agitated shook their tails and cobras rose up with hoods extended. Other adders and mambas hissed and swerved their bodies seeking the intruder. Ballador walked slowly. He felt no fear or the need to shy away.

Servants fed the snakes enough during the day to keep them healthy but hungry. The snakes anxious to find a meal and angry enough to strike out at any intrusion. Their senses tuned to their hot blooded prey.

He slowly glided down the path. He tried to step around the serpents but several sensed his presence vaguely and struck out their fangs penetrating deep into cloth and the body beneath injecting deadly poison. Ballador walked on. He felt none of the bites and the poison did not affect him. A spitting cobra spit in his face but he walked on unaffected while a large rattlesnake bite him just below his knee its head wiggling as it pumped toxins into the bite wound. The handsome man walked on with his prize draped unceremoniously over his shoulder. His face did not react to any of the poisons now covered on and in his body.

Behind his body along the path of the snake pit a stream of dead and dying worms and larvae trailed behind the body of Ballador.

He was past the snakes now and walked into a warren of switchbacks. The trees had been pruned up a hundred feet above the path before the lane of vipers. The cut back here had been allowed to keep its trees all the way down the cliff faces. The trees thick and their boughs full.

He looked up at the rustling sounds he heard in the branches. He put the whore down and then took off the duffle bag he had been given at the dock. He had slung canvas bag over one shoulder. He put it on the ground and opened it up to remove two large chunks of meat wrapped in wax paper. He took the meat out. The larger piece of meat the man threw onto the path in front of him. The meat landed fifteen feet in front of his person.

Two Harpies screeched from their hidden roost and flew down to the ground. The silver chains around their ankles kept the powerful creatures at bay. The two feathered women hissed in fury at their chained mate. Their talon clawed hands slashed at each other. Each trying to shove the other aside to get the meat and consume it. The creatures blue feathers ruffled and sticking up from their bodies in their agitation. Their beaks clacked and slashed at each other. Their loud shrieks and screams of rage echoed off the rocks.

The larger harpy shoved its smaller mate aside and fell on the large chunk of meat. Its beak tearing into the meat. The other approached screeching loudly but backed off when the first slashed at her with its long talons. One wife making it clear to the other wife this meat was hers.

Ballador watched the two creatures with humorless eyes. It was amazing what the instinct to feed made one do. He folded partially feeling his own hunger but rose up straight again. Normally, the harpies were affectionate and loving to each other but they were kept greatly hungered. This was a mating pair and loved each other and yet hunger brought out the savage in them. They were not starved to death but their weight was way down from their natural weight. They were fed enough to keep alive and most of their strength but filled with wild hunger. They would attack anything they were so hungry.

The man bent down and picked up the second hunk of meat and threw it away from the first piece. The second harpy jumped up flapping wings and fell on the meat. Her hands reaching down and gripping the meat and shoving it into her beak. She tore strips of meat off and ate ravenously. The first harpy was finishing its large chunk of meat with slashes of its beak. The meat was quickly gone.

Now, with the meat gone the two harpies lost their crazed aspect. They moved into each other arms and started to groom each other’s feathers and cooed. The harpies using their beaks to clean and straighten their mate’s feathers. The cooing filled the small ravine. Ballador sneered at the affection. The animal tranquilizer soon had the creatures in a deep slumber.

He picked up the whore and moved on past the slumbering harpies.

He followed the path that slowly gained some altitude rising into the fog covered crags. The path twisted around a few large boulders and had several more switchbacks. The path now had Ballador walking among the thick trees. The path straightened again. The handsome man reached into a deep side pocket. He looked down the path but did not see anything. The man knew that a Scion of Tabrok was down that path. It was hidden ready to attack him with its weapons or bite him with a bite that would gravely wound even him if not kill him. He knew Kourok et Selruk would relish his death. He pulled out the small flute. He rolled the pure sliver flute in his fingers before bringing it up to his lips.

He balanced the whore on his shoulder and played a haunting melody. His fingers moving from hole to hole and pressing levers. He waited. The tune was effective. He saw a dropped bow bounce into view. Then Kourok et Selruk slithered into view. The snake man was up, his upper body sluggishly weaving right and left. Around its lower torso on the ground was a silver bracelet around its body and the silver chain spiked into the hard granite of the cliff face. His slit eyes half closed and his tongue lulled out his mouth. The creature’s upper torso rose four and half feet up from the ground. Its snake head focused on him. Its four small legs and feet on its lower body clicked its nails on the rock.

Ballador continued playing his tune. He saw rage in the Tabrok’s eyes at its chained servitude. Slowly the Scion of Tabrok’s upper body lowered to the ground and his red eyes closed.

Finally, Ballador thought. He was weakening. He had been away too long. He moved down the path past Kurouk et Selruk and kicked the somnolent Scion of Tabrok. One day his order would bring them to heel as a race not just a captured renegade.

He moved up the path through several more switchbacks to finally come before the scared doors to the Crypt of Skulls. Before it stood unclothed First Flames. Their skeletal bodies on full display. The empty holes in their skulls spewed fire that writhed and wreathed about the white bones. The second one was a more senior member and his body cavity glowed with scared fires. Ballador saw the worms and larvae writhing in the depths of their orbital sockets. Each First Flame held a sword hilt that spurted out hot flames to form a broadsword.

The three looked at each other silently. Finally, the First Flames stepped back and put out their swords and hung the hilts on the belts around their waist.

The man walked between them. He came up to the rock wall. He traced glyphs on the stone that glowed red. The slab of stone recessed and pulled back. He stepped through the portal. The long tunnel was dark and dank. The slab of stone slammed back into place with his entrance into the tunnel. The tunnel was pitch black. He did not need light to see his path in the midnight dark.

He was no longer a Neophyte who needed torches to light their way. He was an Acolyte soon ready to take the next step and become a Seraphim in the holy order. He was no longer Ballador Aenyrian but Maktok Sutas of the Dorha Kakuk. He was supposed to have subsumed his desires but they still burned deep in his skull. Soon, he would rule this order and they would follow his lead. But that was the future.

Now he had to feed.

He hurried down the corridor. To follow it forward would take him to the communal living area. Deep in the night he would be attending a meeting. Not now. He grimaced the hunger gnawing at this bones. He reached a side tunnel and turned down it to the crypts of the Acolytes. He hurried down the steps eager to feed. He walked down into the depths of the mountain to the living quarters of his order. He went past closed doors till he came to his door. He spoke the magic word and the door opened.

He rushed inside the room. He moved to drop the whore from his shoulder. Her body slumped off his body and landed with a thud onto the stone floor. He cared not if she was hurt. He did not need it but he lit a torch in its scion. He wanted terror in his victim. He looked around with dead eyes. There was a stone table and chair that filled one side of the room. There was a large sarcophagus in the middle of the room.

He shed his clothes. A Neophyte would take them while he slept to be cleaned. He touched the lid of the sarcophagus. It slide back. He looked down at the tomb filled with writhing meat eating worms and larvae. The invertebrates squirming over each other in a sea of writhing wiggling monstrosities. Their proboscises questing for meat to consume. He, who was once Ballador Aenyrian, stared down at the bed of squirming insects.

He still had his facial glamour intact. He quickly went to the whore and jerked her into a half sitting position. His other hand slapped the whore hard on her cheek. She mumbled. He slapped her again and she awoke. She was confused and looked around groggily. She looked up and saw Ballador’s face. She started to speak but her words turned to screams of terror.

The body of Ballador was not flesh and muscle but instead it was worms, centipedes and wiggling larvae. The obscene mass writhing and rolling all about the bones of Ballador. As the whore watched the face of Ballador seemed to dissolve and soon only a gleaming white skull looked down at her. She saw in the empty eyes sockets and mouth that the inside of his skull was filled with the same mass of insects. The vile creatures half crawling out his eyes sockets before retreating.

The whore felt a tearing pain in her arm. She looked down and her screams scaled up. His hands were nothing but insects with hints of white bone showing through the rolling insects. The vile insects now tearing into her flesh as her screams became shrieks of agony. Ballador dragged the whore over to his tomb. He leaned over it and the insects that had given his body form started to slough off and fall into the open crypt. The vile creatures falling off his body like rain. The excited insects crawling up his body to fall into his crypt.

Only the insects boring into the whore’s arm remained and the insects in Ballador’s skull. Now he was only bones and the ligaments and tendons biding bones to bones. He strained with weakening strength to pick up the voluptuous whore. She struggled fiercely for life but his strength was still great enough to control the terrified woman. He dropped her into the crypt. Her screams reaching a crescendo as the insects started to fest on her flesh. Ballador followed her down into the crypt to lie on her kicking body.

His finger bone had hit the button and the top of the sarcophagus. It slowly started to slide shut as Ballador hugged the screaming dying whore to his body. His beautiful insects engorging on the whore’s body as he felt revived. His insects filled their body with nutrition and he feasted on the dying woman’s terror.

The lid slide shut cutting off the dying woman’s screams.

//////////////

Maktok Sutas sat at one of the meeting tables of the lower level of the Dorha Kakuk. It was four hours past midnight. Maktok felt revived his strength returned. The insects that had consumed him to enable his transformation were satiated. The ones that resided in his skull were dozing their bellies full of the whore they had consumed. It would be two more months before Maktok would have to feed again. He looked around. He sat on the lower tier with other Acolytes. The Neophytes had no part in the meeting of those who had already begun the transformation. He remembered as faint echoes his anger and consternation at being denied access to this room. Now he understood. He had not been ready.

The Seraphims were milling around. They had setup the table, the maps and documents for the First Flames and the Supreme Nova who would grace them with his presence. He had been in the Far East. He had met with another faction that they would team with to begin their plans for domination. The meeting now complete he had returned to his temple.

The room was split into two levels. The lower level was where the lesser members of their order sat. All below the First Flames sat her. The higher tiers of their order closer to the upper level dais. Maktok Sutas hid his ire at having to sit so far from dais. He knew he deserved to sit at the front of this level no matter his rank. He was a leader and not a follower. His time would come he consoled himself.

Maktok sat with the other Acolytes. The once men looked around with their empty eye sockets the tendons and cartilage in their neck creaking with their movements. The skeletons bare of insects since they did not need to simulate having organs and muscles. The Acolytes did not speak. They had nothing to offer the upper table and they did not have anything to say to each other. The other Acolytes lived only to serve. Or that was how it was supposed to be. He had greater goals.

The First Flames walked in from the side door and sat at the high table. There was ten of them. Their skulls flamed with fires of Dorha Kakuk. The fires filling the cold room with their fervor and might. Their eyes sockets glowed red with the fires that raged in their skulls. The insects that gave them life wiggled and jerked in the sacred heat. Their barely visible forms writhed like a sickening swarm of locusts.

They each took a seat. Silence reigned in the room for a few minutes. Thoughts were organized.

Furok Mellatas called the meeting to order.

“Let us give thanks and obeisance to he who guides the order of Dorha Kakuk. Let us praise the most high Supreme Nova Zeltas Mellitos! All hail the Supreme Nova of Dorha Kakuk!”

All in the room called out the return ritualistic answer.

“All give obeisance to he who guides and he who is our benefic leader … all hail Zeltas Mellitos!”

Maktok spoke the words but he did not bow down in his consciousness. Soon it would be his name they spoke in honor and servitude. It would be his will and goals the order followed.

Zeltas walked into the room from the other side than the First Flames had entered from. All gazed upon his mighty skeletal body. Not only was his skull wreathed in flames but his whole body cavity was filled with flames. The sacred flames wicked down his arms and legs. The flames wiggled and licked around his appendages. He entered slowly looking at his followers. His gaze seemed to settle on Maktok Sutas but then moved on.

Maktok felt a distant memory of fear echo through his bones making them rattle slightly. No, he cannot know. He reassured himself that his subterfuge was safe.

The Supreme Nova went to the head of the table on the upper dais. The Seraphims who had served the higher order members took their seat at the ends of the tables on the lower level. Their glowing eye sockets looked at their supreme leader. The Seraphims having been granted the first of the Flame Powers looked on their leaders with rapture.

Idiots thought Maktok.

Zeltas Mellitos called the meeting to order. The Order discussed their various projects and matters of their House. It was mundane. Matok seemed to play close attention. He wanted to always appear alert and focused on the goals of their Order.

“My most high Supreme Nova. My mission goes well. I will soon be in position to dispose the current Sealord. The chaos that will arise will allow us to advance our plans. We can then move against the Iron Bank and the Seaport and Ivory Coast consortiums. Our Order can increase our power and influence.”

“Most excellent Maktok” Zeltas told the Acolyte. “I do believe you are ready for your ascension to the Order of Seraphim. Are you ready for the pain? Only through pain can one reach ever higher.”
“Yes Supreme Nova. I always stand ready to serve the order. I crave the pain of ascension.” Matok spoke with an even tone. When one joined the ranks of the Dorha Kakuk you eschewed emotions and personal goals. You followed the lead of the Supreme Nova.

“Good. Good Maktok Sutas. I foresee great things in you Acolyte.”

Maktok looked back at their supreme leader. He was indeed meant for greater things. His goals even surpassed what the position of Supreme Nova alone could bring him. His goals had exceeded even his Orders ambitions and goals.

The meeting moved onto other topics.

Maktok thought back on his first ascension from Neophyte to Acolyte. He remembered drinking the sacred root juice of First Ascension. He remembered the blood of an innocent virgin painted all over his nude body preparing his physical body. The drink preparing his mind. He remembered standing over his own sarcophagus. He gazed upon the bed of insects and larvae that would become his new body. He was lowered into the open grave of his tomb.

The body and mind could be prepared but still there was pain. His screams filled the room that was now his. His mind filled with terror as he felt first his flesh, then muscles and finally organs consumed by his now own sons and daughters. He screamed and screamed as his brain was consumed his consciousness absorbed by the insects. Even as his body died his soul exalted.

He had taken his first step in his true destiny.

His thoughts came back from the past. The council was discussing the risen Targaryen Queen of Westeros and Essos. He listened to his leaders discuss what to do about her. She had arisen from nothing and somehow impossibly conquered two continents and made alliances with powerful allies in the East and the Summer Islands. She had literally become too powerful to confront through armed might.

Also, there was the problem of the Ice King and the sycophant on his back.

“We have not the power to fight this Ice King and his ‘son’. The Queen is marching north to wage war with him. If she loses then all is lost. The Ice King is inimical to all life both physical and spiritual. We did not know of him soon enough to oppose.” Their Supreme Nova spoke to his followers. “I sense she will defeat his body and She Who Must Not Be Named will defeat his spiritual power. This will garrote She Who Must Not Be Named supreme might. We can then remove the Dragon Queen from the equation.”

“On that note I am sending a force of twenty of our best First Flames along with Seraphim Furleck Zartoloss to Westeros to ambush and kill the Dragon Queen. She is mighty but we will ambush her in a moment of weakness to dispatch her.

We must assume she will succeed against the Ice King. All is lost otherwise. When she is removed we can take down our opponents one by one till we are unstoppable. We can then rule the world through the shadows. Let others fight our battles while we reap the benefits.”

This was met by approval. Maktok Ballador did not agree with this rule from the shadows. He would rule from the Sealord Palace but that was still some ways in the future. He was sure the Dragon Queen would defeat their strike force. She had proven her mastery of armed combat. It would be he who brought her down through guile and subterfuge.

Soon the meeting was over. Zeltas Mellitos came to Maktok after the meeting and told him the ascension right to the order of Seraphim would be in two weeks. Again the Supreme Nova stared at Maktok with his steady penetrat... glorious sightless gaze. “You have much ambition Maktok Sutas. Our order needs this in one of our own in each new generation. Not all can be sheep.” With that he left Maktok.

If Maktok still had a heart it would be beating hard and fast in his chest. The leader suspected his desires and yet encouraged him. He was still to be promoted it seemed. It did not matter. He would grasp for greatness. A greatness he would achieve.
Preludes: Book II

Preludes Book 2
Confluence / Envoy / Melancholy Minstrel / Jinn / Unholy Pact

Confluence

Forestal :: The captain of the Black Swan cursed the gods, fates and his bastard father for the hundredth time since the start of his fight with the sea. Captain Donaphos Phasselar who hailed from the port of Tyrosh cursed the gods and fates. He was a captain in the hire of Leeward Shipping Consortium and was on his way back to his home port. He had traveled to Astraphor to deliver a load of raw cotton, hemp and ivory buttons for the production of finished clothing. The new merchant classes were producing cotton and linen clothes. His galleon was filled with finished clothes for the working class of the free cities on the east coast of Essos.

His ship was a four deck galleon with the traditional square-rigged sails. His was a larger craft and had four main masts with a large spinnaker mast on the prow of the ship. His ship’s long beak was adorned with the figurehead of a beautiful black swan with her wings just opening up for flight adorning each side of the prow of his ship. The swan’s beak slightly parted and was painted red as were its eyes. The feathered wings highly stylized and finely crafted.

When he first took over command of the Black Swan it had been a run of the mill ship that was a middling performer. Donaphos had changed all that. The first thing he did was buy all the slaves on the ship and freed them. He had allowed them to leave but most stayed. He paid all top dollar and listened to their thoughts and input. His ship was now the best performer in his company.

Four years ago he had gotten rid of the horrid placid swan that had been the masthead. The swan with its placid I am lazily swimming across the lake had to go. His new figurehead had pizazz he liked to say.

The rigging of the sails was traditional lateen-rigged to the mizzenmasts. He was at the pilot wheel on the square gallery at the stern off the captain's cabin. His ship was one on the largest vessels in the merchant fleet of the company he worked for. The largest vessels were only given to the best captains. The Black Swan displaced a full 1700 tons when fully loaded.

He had been a rising star and given the laggard performing ship to prove his mettle. He had more than proved himself and had become rich. His crew well payed and happy to be in his service.

Two days past on the early morn he had seen the monster coming. The bright red sunset the day before had warned him that the skies were uneasy. All seamen knew that a red sun at dusk meant an angry sea was coming their way. He had put up all the sails and hurried his ship along crossing the wide body of Slaver’s Bay. It had not been enough. His crew kept the sails at full trim while many prayed to their gods and some who had hands free gave offering to the sky and sea.

It had not been enough. An hour before noon it had appeared as a black band low on the horizon to the east. The monster storm quickly chased them down the black wall of clouds boiling across the sky until the sun was blocked as it rose in the East. The winds became confused as the storm approached. Captain Phasselar yelled at his crew to slacken the lines and let the main sails down and fold them up and put below decks. They were not going to outrun the monster that was on their trail. The crew put the full spinnaker sails on the jutting forward mast.

The Black Swan prepared to ride out the hurricane. The crew had watched with terror the boiling black wall approach and the large waves it sent out before it. The hurricane hit with the force of a fist from the gods. The waves began to crest at twenty-five to forty feet making the prow ride high into the sky and then the ship went down the leeward wall of the wave to hit the forward wall of the next wave.

The ships prow driving deep into water and digging in making the whole massive ship shudder before it lifted up again to ride up the next wave. The wind was a constant howl of rage that made it impossible to hear any commands. Phasselar sent runners down the deck holding onto lines run between the masts and the rails. The first night the spinnaker sails ripped to shreds. The crew worked feverously to lower the ruined sails and run new ones up.

The first time they had been lucky. They had passed between bands of the storm and winds were not quite so ferocious. The second time the sails ripped away they were just east of the eye and the winds were murderous. The ship began to founder rolling and tilting harshly as it wallowed between the waves getting pounded with walls of water. The timbers of the mighty Black Swan began to stave in from the pressure and pounding.

The sails had to be replaced. He sent his best men up the rigging and lost Ballaro Ahryl and Brachan Enninlar to the angry sea gods but the new sails were raised up. The canvas caught the howling winds and brought the Black Swan around to again run before the snarling wolves at their heels. After midnight their beautiful masthead was ripped free and flew back in splintered shards. Captain Phasselar prayed to gods he did not believe in that the mighty two foot thick spars of white oak and pegged in crossbeams of the same strong oak would hold the planks together on the bow and sides of his ship.

Men below decks worked feverishly caulking sprung leaks and slammed massive six by six beams into several spots where the planks began to give way against the pressure of the mighty waves. They nailed planks in place before the ends of the beams were jammed in and crew bolted them in place to reinforce the wood. The repairs held. The ship lived to continue its flight from the behemoth that pursued it.

Another terror gripped the captain by the end of the second day. The storm was finally letting up as it spun slowly off to the North but the ole nag had pushed them far off course. The sky ahead was a sullen red that spread from horizon to horizon. The clouds were slowly lifting and the rain lessened to reveal that they were heading straight for the Doom of Valyria. The sullen glow showed the angry land they were approaching.

For several hours the ship was blown closer to that doomed land of dragon riders past. The west now dominated by that destroyed land. The sullen red glow dominating the west now from horizon to horizon. The seas had calmed to a three state. The waves made the ship roll and the prow lift and lower but the danger was past. The danger now was the wind and currents were leading them to doomed land of Valyria.

Suddenly off to the far right the sky flared a bright red and then yellow and lightening flashed down white and purple as an ominous cloud even darker than the night descended. A volcano had erupted sending searing ash and molten rock into the sky and sea. Further inland to the left the Captain saw another violent eruption. The captain swore he could see the wounded mountain shake in anguish. They were still so far out to sea that the sound was subsumed by the lessening winds.

He had soundings taken and they were in four hundred feet of water. The next sounding had them at two hundred feet. They had to stop. Now! They dropped both anchors and they caught on the
The ocean floor and slowly dragged the ship to a stop seven miles off shore. The storm moved off over the next few hours and the crew rested and counted their blessings. Only seven men had been washed overboard and the one major stave end was being quickly shored up with thick planks that were being bolted in.

When dawn arrived the crew saw hell before them. The crew gazed upon the blasted land of old Valyria. That ruined land of myth and wonder. Valyria may have been the source of so much misery and rue but it still had a mystical call to it. Past stories of rue and tales of magic still held sway over all.

The Black Swan was before the old east coast before the ruined fabled port of Yraegel. The city was once known for its soaring spires and the cathedral to the sun gods that the Valyrians had worshipped. The Valyrians had seen themselves as living manifestations of their gods of the sky and sun. Their dragon mounts were their own suns blazing forth fire across the sky.

Once, the white sands of the beaches had extended a mile from shore. The beaches filled with one hundred foot sand dunes adorned with waving fields of seat oats and saw grass. The beaches had disappeared the day Valyria had died. The mighty tsunamis had swept this and all the other once pristine beaches away.

Now the distant rocky shores were covered in boulders and steam rose from the ocean in many places from vents in the ocean floor where lava met sea. The captain and crew could see on the distant hissing shore the remains of three massive spires that once had soured a thousand feet in the sky. The closest mountain was dark black and the top was a dull sullen red. This would be once mighty and so very beautiful Haëlelyrã Blênon “The Mountain of Cedars”. The sides of her craggy shoulders once covered in massive cedars and towering long needle pines. The logs harvested to make the mighty ships of the Valyrian freehold.

Now it was a waste. A few scraggly pines still clung to life as well as strange bushes that seemed to somehow thrive. No one could understand how. The initial blasts had denuded the slopes of trees and all green vegetation. Now some hardy plant souls clung to the sides tenaciously but that was all. The sun had been up for several hours and the wind shifted to blow off the shores. The air became heavy with the stink of rotten eggs. The Captain had met a Maester in Dorne whom he had talked to of old Valyria.

The Maester told him that the mountains of fire spewed hydrogen sulfide, hydrochloric acid and carbon monoxide all the gases deadly to life.

Suddenly, the earth seemed to tilt and then shake violently. Haëlelyrã Blênon had exploded again. The crew of the battered Black Swan watched in fascination as the top of the volcano spewed out huge boulders, ash and grit and a roiling gas cloud. Ash shot up into the air several thousand feet and the column was growing fast reaching for the heavens. Lightening immediately bloomed in the cloud that surrounded the top of the mountain.

The crew was fascinated but the captain was filled with rising terror. The Maester had informed him of other things as well about volcanos. Donaphos Phasselas watched with great trepidation that quickly turned to horror. The Maester had told the Captain of pyroclastic flows. He was now watching one that was way too close for comfort.

He remembered the short lesson that was given to idle away the time at a bar in Lemonwood. “A pyroclastic flow is a fast-moving current of hot gas and rock (collectively known as tephra), that could run at speeds that could reach 70 kmh moving away from a volcano though that was rare with speeds more often 50 to 40 kmh. The gas could reach temperatures of about 1,830 °F. Pyroclastic flows normally hugged the ground and traveled downhill, or spread laterally under gravity. Their speed depended upon the density of the currents of gas within the cloud, the volcanic output rate, and the gradient of the slope. They were a common and devastating result of certain explosive volcanic eruptions” the Maester had told the fascinated captain of the Black Swan. The captain remembered that recitation as if it was given to him this morn.

What was truly horrifying to the captain was that at times the superheated gas and ash cloud could travel over the water. The crew watched the flow race down the mountain in a river half a kilometer wide and the ocean erupted into steam and frothing boiling rage at impact with the superheated cauldron.

The captain gripped the steering wheel hard as his crew screamed in terror. The pyroclastic flow was racing out of over the water straight at them. It was moving at least 60kmh. It would reach them in seven minutes the captain calculated.

“If you believe in your gods make peace with them” the captain called out as the cloud of death rolled on towards them at a frightening rate. The front edge rolling and leaping like the hounds of hell. The cloud bank of ash and hot deadly gas thirty feet high as it broiled towards them. Donaphos Phass was fascinated watching this death impossibly leap and surge over the water towards them. The only good thing was the super-heated gas would kill them instantly with their first breath frying their lungs and cooking their heart and brain.

But then the captain noticed that the cloud seemed to be suddenly slowing and had begun to fray. Yessssss! The cloud was dissipating as the cold deep current water sapped the energy and life out of the flow. It finally collapsed two hundred meters from the ship.

The crew began to shout and celebrate wildly. The captain shouting to break out the rum. They had beaten the sea and Valyria!

//////////

Elena Covenant Wildwood stood several yards to the left of the flow of magma, ash and gas hurtling down the mountain side. Musical might flowed off her body and her staff in a beautiful melody of health and beauty. The superheated air and poisonous gas had no effect on her. She gripped her staff in her left hand that had sprigs of fir growing out the staff end. She watched the ship celebrate its escape from the hand of death. She had simply had to intervene to save the crew of the ship.

She had sensed the presence of the ship and then the volcanic eruption that threatened the ship while deep in heart of ruined Valyria. She had translocated herself to the coast with her Forestal melodies. Between heartbeats the former Forestal of Grarroting Deep moved over a hundred miles. She observed the plight of the ship. She acted without hesitation.

The Forestal changed the notes of her melody to meet her need. With a strong grip on her staff the black skinned woman jammed her staff a foot into the ground and shunted her song and melody into the flow of hot gasses and ash cooling and calming the agitated mass of roiling shattered Earth. The wood did not react to the scorching hot Earth it had been thrust into.

She weakened the flow enough so that it fell short of the ship. Each note of her song flowing into the hot roiling gas cloud cooling it and making it more viscous till she had succeeding in stopping the flow of hot gases over the surface of the water.

Now that she had saved the ship Elena pulled her staff from the ruined Earth. She had worked the gas flow subtly. She had no need to use her full power in an ostentatious display of Forestal might. Let the crew of the ship think providence or simple luck had saved them.
She had decided to intervene. Her old duty to preserve wood and glen no longer constrained Elena. Still, her old self remembered her service as High Lord to the Land. Her sacred duty to protect all life. She kept her power flowing into the volcanic flow until she sensed the flow of earth and gas would fall short of the vessel. She did not feel pride but did feel satisfaction. It was her nature to provide succor and to fight and kill evil when she encountered it.

Elena turned to look at the huge flow of molten rock only now reaching the sea and sending up huge geysers of steam. A mighty boulder the size of her grandparent’s Stonedowner home crashed to the left of her twenty yards away and splintered sending out shrapnel that would have destroyed a legion. It did not touch her. The stone fragments pulverized to dust at the first touch to her obsidian skin.

Her tunic had been shredded but she changed her melody and her sky blue tunic mended itself instantly. The fabric whipping about her slender tall frame in the excited air currents caused by the roiled environment of exploding volcanoes.

She turned her head to look at the mountain top. It would erupt for two more days she sensed. She turned her dark obsidian face to the ocean. Her eyes were as dark as the night sky and her pupils even darker. Her midnight eyebrows angled up like a faery. Her whole tall body was obsidian. She had large canine ears on the sides of her head that stood up. Her nose was long and pronounced with two long slits going up three quarters of her septum. Her arms were inches longer than what most humans would consider normal. Her hands had two thumbs and her heel had a prehensile claw on it.

Elena showed her Ur-vile heritage as well as her human nature. She was now a Forestal. Her body a perfect blend of both species. She had been reborn when Linda Avery threw her essence out of She Who Must Not Be Named into the Ur-vile Loremaster. His name was unpronounceable by human lips which she had again. Her black teeth showed when she grinned seeing the power of the exploding mountain. Her ur-vile nature was always drawn to power and its expressions. The Demondim spawn and human spirits had formed new beings.

Elena had left Garotting Deep. She could no longer remain in the land of her birth. Garotting Deep had been the home to her ancestor Caerroil Wildwood. The ancient forest beneath the foot of Melkuryion Skyweir where she had died. The great mountain above the dark and dire forests of Garotting Deep. The reborn forest still had its former caste. She had been a former High Lord. It had been her duty to the Land and love for her father Thomas Covenant that had led to her death. That and her unbalanced choices.

After her transformation, she had chosen to make that ancient bastion of Forestal might her home because of those associations of her past life. It suited her. Her deep intimate knowledge of the Lore of Highlord Kevin made her mighty before her transformation. Because of her association with She Who Must Not Be Named and her bonding with her ur-vile father / mother Loremaster it had made her the mightiest of the newborn Forestals. All the new formed Forestals agreed that Garotting Deep was the perfect home for her. Her new sisters all agreed she was the mightiest of their kin.

With her knowledge of the Lore of the Lords of Revelstone she was indeed the most mighty of the newly created fusion of Ur-vile and human. With her new magical nature she was somehow absorbed the full knowledge of all the Wards of Kevin as the new Lords now were able to unlock all the Wards lore and how to finally use it fully. The Lords had learned the link between passion and power.

Linden Avery had only been trying to save the lost souls trapped within the essence of She Who Must Not Be Named. In her desperation to save life she had created something wonderful and fire.
Unbeknownst to Linden Avery at the time, the fusion of disparate entities used to create a new mighty race of Forestals.

To begin with, all the new formed Forestals had been sisters. The Land had sensed their creation. It was still not known how they had transformed into Forestals but they had. Linden Avery had created the template unknowingly. She had only sought to save the women She Who Must Be Named had ingested and tormented with searing eternal torture. Elena was sure it was the work of the Elohim who finished the transformation. They had slowly grown in power and might till they were able to sing the melodies of their ancient ancestors and take up the ancient duty of the revived forests that had begun to spread across the Land again.

She and her new formed sisters had taken up their sacred duty. Over time more women joined them in service. With them came a few men who felt the unheard melodies calling them to seek a life and purpose in serving the Wood of the Land.

These Forestals over time had slowly rebuilt the forests of the Land. They had worked in reverse of the first Forestals. The first had been created to defend the forests from the attack of man and Ravers. This time the Lords and Haruchai had stood guard of the nascent forests until the new Forestals found themselves fully and retook their traditional duty. Now she and her siblings had rebuilt the ancient forests. Then with their own might and magic along with their iron will the Forestals had again given the woods the right of self-consciousness.

The Forests now communicated again tree to tree as in times past. This time they were infused with the knowledge of self-defense. Now the Forests had their defenders preformed and ready to attack if needed.

It had not been needed. With the Lords of Revelstone and their mighty allies in protecting the Land, the Giants and Haruchai, the Forests were warded. The Lords ever vigilant for the return of the Raver that had still lived. In time the other two hated evil brothers again found life the Forestals sensed. It did not matter. They were ready. It was the brothers three that taught men to hate the Forests in ancient time.

Now the Lords taught all from the cradle to revere the Forests and all other life.

The Forestals had then worked with the Elohim to recreate the Interdiction at Landsdrop with a new Colossus of the Fall. No Elohim was sacrificed this time. There would no more such waste of Elohim life. The Elohim only needed to provide the insight this time. Now the Forestals provided the might necessary to erect once more the forbidding that would repel the Ravers from the lower lands below Mount Thunder.

The Forestals knew in their hearts that the brothers three would find a way to life again. Such evil would always find a way to life. They would find ways to the upper terrace of the Land and again seek to ravage and kill.

Working with the Lurker of the Sarangrave Flat they kept the Ravers from the upper land. For the most part. When one of the brothers was found in the land they were hunted down and brought to her and she garroted their flesh and reduced their spirit on the dead trees of Gallows Howe. The soul that once lived in the body long dead and gone. Only the Raver remained once they had lived in the flesh for a time. The land would always need it’s execution ground no matter what her father and his wife thought.

She paused. She still fumed that her father had rejected her love. She had chosen him and he should not have let silly dogma prevent their love. She could not help but love Thomas Covenant. She had been raised on stories of the man from her mother Lena. Her father had raped her it was true but there had been reasons. It had been Triock that had raised her and was the father of her heart. It was all confusing when she thought about it. She could not help but feel the way she did. Elena sighed. That was well over fifty thousand years ago.

Still the emotions rankled her after all these many years.

She tried to not resent Linden Avery. It had been she that had saved her father from death so many times. It had been Linden that saved herself from She Who Must Not Be Named. It had been Linden who created the new Staff of Law. Still Elena was jealous of the woman. She still wanted her father’s love.

What could Elena say? She was attracted to flawed broken down men it would seem.

She alone of the Forrestals had not taken a mate. Since most were sisters in their magical rebirth they had naturally married each other. The Ur-viles the women’s spirits had been thrown into were asexual by the manner of their creation.

The restored women had brought into their new host their physical drives and desires. Most of the women had quickly fallen in love with each other with a few exceptions.

Brenull Allyssal had wed Caerwood ur-Mahrtiir and two other men had taken up the mantel to become Forestals but most of the humans taking the Rite of Music and Wood had been women who had pledged themselves into fealty to the Land and Earthpower. They also pledged themselves to the Forestal turning their human bodies into the new Forestals their bodies turning obsidian and their dimensions mirroring the original sisters.

The new women Forestals also falling in love with their creators. The new formed and the old taking up their new duties together. It was this pairing of Forestals that had proved essential over the millennium.

This had prevented the dissipation and lassitude that had felled the original Forrestals. Linda Avery had been right. Love could indeed change the world. The mated pairs of Forestals service remained strong after over forty thousand years. The love of one for the other sustained the Forestals.

But, she herself, could not partake of marriage. Elena still felt jealousy towards Linden Avery for taking her father from her even though he had rejected her three and half thousand years before Linden Avery joined him in the Land. She was still angered over his decision. Linden Avery was a great hero of the Land and she still wanted to throttle her.

She had finally decided to leave the Land. Though her father and his wife were far away in the land of the Insequent it was still too close. Elena could still feel their mighty white gold like a canker that tormented her. She always felt her father’s presence.

Thus, When Curreal Lunstra and Melalos Heartwood had been ready in their new marriage and love she had abandoned her ancestral home to let the new mated pair of Forestals take on her duties. The women powerful in their love and desire to perform their duty. They were strong and mighty. Elena had performed her task as executioner of the captured Ravers when called upon. She had done enough. Elena had crossed the SoulBitter and SoulCrusher to come to this far away and ruined land.

It’s blasted and blighted landscape called to her. She felt the magic roiling in the very air and felt the potential for rebirth. She wanted to be involved from the beginning in this land’s rebirth if and when it occurred. Much was still in flux.

She could feel the Blood of the Earth seeping into the Earth and water without the necessary collection and distillation necessary before touching the water of the Earth. She could smell the corruption of a Raver in this ruined land even though it had been over four hundred years since the “Doom of Valyria”. Her senses told her that a Raver had had a hand in it. Were not the Forestals breed to sense their ancient foes?

Elena looked around. She could feel the presence of Raver Turiya Herem but she could not locate him. She had slain him many times in her former life as the Forestal of Garotting Deep. He had some bane with him. It did not matter. She no longer had a seat of power but she was still mighty enough to garrote the Raver and destroy his bane. She had done it before when she was Caerroil Wildwood.

She would do so again and she relished the thought. She would make her a new Gallows Howe. Soon the Dragon Queen would bring succor to Valyria and repair the chamber of the Blood of the Earth. When that occurred Elena would become the Forestal of Valyria.

The Valyrians would return. She would not allow for the corruption of its people or the warping of Dragons gentle natures into violence and carnage fostered by millennium of abuse by their “masters”. In many ways she could not blame their Valyrians for their downfall. She had had her human weaknesses when she was human.

Fifty-three hundred years ago the Vayrians had unknowing brought back a Raver to their land just as they were discovering magic. Raver Turiya Herem had corrupted them slowly over the following centuries. Each generation slowly led further down the path of cruelty and filled with the need to rule and control. In three centuries the Valyrians had fallen into despots.

Elena could still feel humor and smiled with a snarl. The Raver had gotten his just reward. He had only recently reconstituted his consciousness she perceived.

She began to walk around the mountain thinking. She stepped through a flow of molten rock the viscous stone splashing on her body and sloughing off. Such things could not touch her august might. She spied an aliantha bush and moved towards it. She removed a handful of treasure berries and ate them. She did not need to eat but still cherished the taste of health and lime. She threw the seeds over her shoulder as she was taught as a child. The berries were the pure essence of Earthpower.

How these bushes of the Land had come to be here she had no idea. She was only thankful they were. It was benison and an omen. She was meant to be here.

The renewal of magic would be soon. The Earth magic of the North was dissipating. Without its renewal the Earthpower would die away and soon the magical creatures like Direwolves, Dragons, Griffins, Unicorns, Manitcors, and all others would begin to sicken and in time would die. In this hemisphere magic had taken a different path than in Southern World and the Land.

Here Earthpower was being absorbed into the very land itself giving rise to magical creatures by the score. In the South it remained a force removed from the Earth ready to be tapped. It allowed for creations such as herself.

Elena began to hum her melody of wood, nature and balance. Silver notes appeared in the air and for a slight moment the land around her stilled. She stepped into her notes and disappeared.

Raver Turiya Herem Kinslaughterer :: The raver stood near the summit of Blēnon ēlī Zaldrīzes the “Mountain of Dragons”. It was the mountain around which the Valyrian’s had built their ancient capital. The tallest peak on the Valyrian peninsula. It stood nearly twenty thousand feet high dwarfing all mountains near it. It had once been capped with snow that rode down the top quarter of the mountain.

No more. The raver breathed in deep the poisonous fumes. The flake of the Demonstone sustaining the flesh of the body he now inhabited. He brought the red glowing stone to his face and breathed in the evil vile essence flowing off the stone. It was a bane from the formation of the Earth. Its magic was much older and primal than Earthpower.

The vapors wafting off the rock roiled red in the air. It was the brother of the Illearth stone that Lord Foul had appropriated from Drool Rockworm. A flack taken from it to power his might and allowed him to corrupt a Giant. His new master had given him a flake of the red demon stone five years ago. He would gladly serve his new master. For now. He was not Lord Foul.

He had only recently reconstituted himself from the debacle of the explosion of Valyria. He was still not fully formed when he met his new master. He had gladly taken the flake of the Demonstone. The flake instantly fully reviving the Raver to his full strength and sense of self.

Turiya Herem remembered another flake of stone that fumed green smoke of evil instead of the red of his current flake. Turiya Herem looked to the East. He felt the presence of the Forestal and cursed the Earth for sending the dreaded warder of wood to his blasted land. This was his land! He would shape it in his image and rule from it. In time he would call his brothers to him. Here in this land away from the hated Lords of Revelstone and the Forestals he and his brothers could live and rule in peace. With Lord Foul subsumed the Ravers were free to form their own destiny.

His new master had other plans that did not include the ruined land of Valyria. The ravers would be free to pursue their own dreams of dominance in this blasted and blighted land.

Those dreams were in jeopardy! What was a mighty Forestal doing here? She was a shepherd of trees and glen. Why had she come?! He could sense the ancient stench of Gallows Howe about her. He hated it. It reminded him of his many garrotes by Caerroil Wildwood. Those deaths still reverberated in his foul soul.

The fact that she was Thomas Convenant’s bastard daughter only galled the malevolent Raver more. He and his brothers were connected. His brothers residing in the Land had had the misfortune to be brought before this new Forestal who was the essence of Elena Covenant. She had garroted his brothers on her execution trees in Garroting Deep. Their deaths filled with anguish and torment.

Through their connection to each other Turya had experienced those deaths. He longed to exact revenge on the bastard daughter of Thomas Covenant. How she had come to be a Forestal perplexed the Ravers. It did not matter in essence but her might terrified the Ravers. She was someone even more mighty than Caerroil Wildwood had ever been. Her might was a fearsome thing.

He had long ago totally quashed the spirit inhibiting this body and had made it totally his own. The Raver raved thinking how Elena could have come back from the dead. It enraged him. He would find a way to kill this abomination that was the Forestal Elena Covenant.

He still felt his own death. When Forestals garroted the flesh a Raver wore the body died but the Raver’s spirit lived on. True, they felt great anguish and torture at the death of the flesh that Forestals trapped them in but once the body died they were free to find a new body after a short time of convalescence. This was not the case with his almost true death in the swamps of Saragrave Flats.

He had been exalted when Haruchai Clyme had allowed him to enter his body. He was the first to conquer the hated Haruchai without the aid of magic beyond their own will. The feat had been all the more special since it had been Korvik and his brothers that had struck him down in the Greive when he was the Giant Raver Kinslaughterer with their fists and feet when the Lord had blasted the Illearth stone flake from his hand.

He had exulted until he realized he was trapped by the Haruchai as his fellow Haruchai hacked his body to shreds with the Krill. The will of the Haruchai too great to break free of his flesh. The Haruchai had lured him into his body so his brethren could kill the Raver. Each cut of the mighty Krill had fragmented Turiya Herem further and further till his conscious was just a faint fading glimmer. He had died. Branl continued to chop his fellow countryman to small ribbons of flesh. Clyme sacrificing his life to kill him.

Only the Raver had not died. When the Worm of the World’s End was delayed by the Ur-viles and Horrim Carabal over the Sarangrave Flat the huge discharges of magic from the Worm had infused his fading spirit with magical sustenance to hold his barely remembered threads of his self together. He was shattered but his tattered conscious was still there. It was diffuse and of no merit but he survived.

That and the fact that the now hated Forestal Elena had broken the Law of Death and that led in turn had led to the Law of Life to be broken by the Forestal Caer-Caveral in Andelain three and half thousand years later. With these Laws broken the grip of life and death was no longer so sure.

He had washed out to sea along with the slashed flesh of the fallen Haruchai. Only he had not died. The infusion of magic from the Worm of the World’s End had allowed him to keep his threads of self together in the currents of the wide oceans. His very nature brought his shattered threads together. He could not reconstitute his being but he was able to survive.

He had drifted for many millennium on the ocean currents. Turiya Raver was nothing but a whisper on the ocean currents. A random quagmire of rage and violence. But he was able to cling to life if not conscious thought and will. He merely fought to survive. For countless thousands of years he had merely existed. He only fought to live. His past was nothing but a half remembered dream to the once powerful spirit.

Then his fortunes had finally reversed.

He had been restored when the currents of the world’s oceans in time brought him to the gyre of the Merewives as they circled around the Isle of the One Tree for several millennium. The siren of power of the One Tree attracting the deadly water spirits. Slowly Turiya Herem had been restored by the wailing strength of the Merewives and the sheer might of the One Tree. Their essences fed and restored the Raver. His restored spirit filled with spite and malevolence. He longed for violence and revenge. Though restored by the power of the One Tree that same power kept his spirit from escaping.

In time the Merewives moved on in their eternal travels around the oceans of the southern world. He had tried to leave with them but had been prevented. No matter how much he raged he was prevented from moving away with the Merewives. The One Tree by its very nature was a benefice that worked to counteract his malevolent spirit. For thousands of more years he had raged and fought but even restored his might was a paltry thing against the might of the One Tree. The tree that had given birth to the three Staffs of Law.

Then he had been saved when a ship from the rising power of Valyria had made it through the Soulbitter and Soulcrusher. The voyage an accident of weather and happenstance. They were tired and worn but had survived. The magic of those maelstroms were aimed to keep him and his ilk trapped in the South and to keep the Vales and Demondim to the North. The magic of those preternatural storms tuned to that focus. The powerful Valyrians were able to pierce those veils coming to the south of the world.
Their magic was different enough that the two mighty storms were not fully roused to attack the seafarers. The Valyrians were able to penetrate what should not have been possible.

The Valyrians were infused with magic and he was able to ride onto their ship and when they sailed back through the barriers between north and south he had ridden with them. The Raver finally had physical hosts he could attach to. Their magic was different than the South and it also served to hide his presence from the two mighty always present storms. The storms meant to divide the world in two. The storms erected by Loric Vilesilencer when he silenced the Demondim and Viles. In some way the Raver still did not understand the Valyrians magic muted the two raging storms.

He had traveled back with the Valeryian crew back to their rising in power kingdom of Valyria. They had been a high and lofty race. They were a kind and gentle people. He set to work on them like he had the King of Berek Heartthew in the time before the High Lords. Like the Viles, Demondim or Ur-viles he and his brothers had not been able outright control them directly.

Like the Haruchai they could not be possessed. Instead he and his brothers had spent centuries whispering in ears of the Viles and their progeny. He now sought to do the same to the Valyrians. He had done this in the Land. He and his brothers spending centuries as they sought to corrupt. It took centuries but with time they slowly corrupted the races of once noble beings. The Ravers were patient and crafty. Saying one lie after another till they found the key to bringing the race down into corruption and defilement.

Thus, Herem had the blueprint on how to bring the Valyrians down. Had he and his brothers not brought other more lofty races low? Slowly over the first centuries he spent in Valyria the Raver slowly corrupted the Valyrians. He whispered in the ears of the leaders of the pale dragon riders. The Raver whispering of desires for power and domination. Whispers for the longing to conquer and to enslave those beneath them.

He had worked generation after generation to corrupt the people more and more. The Raver Herem was patient. With each generation he only corrupted them in small stages. Each generation more comfortable with violence and corruption. With his influence the past was rewritten or forgotten so the Valyrians forgot they were once kind and gentle.

He had also developed a plan. He realized that the Valyrians received their magic and power from the Blood of the Earth that lay below Blēnon ēlī Zaldrīzes. He had been shocked upon this realization. It made perfect sense once he made the discovery. In retrospect, where else could high magic come from. In the Land, Damelon Gaintfriend had sealed the door to the Earthroot and created Amok to keep the key.

The Blood of the Earth was beyond the reach of his kin in the Land. Not so here in Valyria. Here he could become what he was always meant to be. Even his brothers were not worthy of what Herem had conceived within himself.

He had encouraged the Valyrians to dig ever deeper mining precious minerals and gems. He whispered in their rulers’ ears that a great power was buried deep underneath their lands. Unknowingly they brought the Raver closer to his true goal. Nearly a thousand years ago the Valyrians had neared the chamber of the Blood of the Earth and the stairway to the Earthroot. The lake that condensed and concentrated the Blood of the Earth.

There he had been stopped. The Valyrians could dig no deeper. All their magic simply ceased to work. They brought slaves to mine deeper. Their tools shattered when they hit the rock. Valyrian steel constructs were created filled with their magic. The Valyrians and Herem had looked at the constructs slack jawed when they contacted the wall. The constructs immediately melted to slag.
The Valyrians were perplexed and frightened. What could so easily diffuse and destroy their magic.

Herem Kinsslaughterer knew. The damned Lords of Revelstone had blocked him. He could taste the damned touch of Amok in this. Amok had erected magical barriers to prevent the breeching of the Earthroot. Amok had moved from passive to aggressive. He had anticipated this and blocked the Raver.

For nearly six hundred years the Raver was stymied in his pursuit of ultimate power. There was simply no way in. He studied the environment. He had of course discovered that the compassionate fool High Lord Loric had not killed the Viles and Demondim. He had transported them to this land underneath Valyria powered by the Blood of the Earth. It was this magical font that had given birth to the Viles in the Land.

Herem understood the logic. High Lord Loric’s compassion would be to his benefit here in Essos. Or so the Raver had thought smugly. When he approached the Viles and the Demondim with his new formed lies he had been confident of his success.

That was not what occurred. It seemed they had not forgotten or forgiven the Ravers for their lies of the past. Both races had fallen on the Raver with their full fury and remembered hate. He had fled but not quick enough. They had fallen on him like Caerroil Wildwood. They tore his spirit apart and scorched him with agony. They had alit his very soul with fire. Every particle of being scorched.

They could not kill him but they scalded his very soul. It took him nearly seven-five years to recover from his ordeal. That debacle had caused Raver Herem to rethink his plans. He could accomplish no more by trying to work with the Valyrians. Their magic was impotent against barriers raised by Amok.

He had been stopped. The Viles being incorporeal could grant him access but he had learned a great fear of them. He had then turned his attention to the Yazloo. After his hateful treatment by the Viles and Demondim the Raver had avoided all the beings both corporal and incorporeal underneath Valyria who hailed from the Land.

Now the Raver studied the Yazloo and tried to make contact with them to see if they could be corrupted. They did not have experience with him or his kind. Herem had seen that the Yazloo and the Viles did not interact. He hoped to seduce them.

Only he had not. They had not been immune to his blandishments and lies. They had simply ignored him. It was not a matter of them not listening to him. They simply did not even notice him. He had raged and fumed but he was powerless against such beings.

He observed them over the centuries and made a discovery that led him to hope. The Yazloo moved though solid rock easily. Even the Viles could not do that. The Yazloo did this my temporarily making the rock incorporeal. The rock became like onto mist. This affect would last for several days. He merely had to wait.

For centuries he had waited. Then four hundred years ago a Yazloo had passed through from tunnels the Valyrians had access to and travelled down through the chambers of the Earth to the Blood of the Earth. He had hurried to the current leader of Valyria.

He had led the Queen of Valyria to the font of the Blood of the Earth. Raver Herem had stood beside the body of the Queen. She was tall and regal and filled with their magical might. She gladly had fallen for his whispers of supreme power. Little did she know once she drank the Blood of the Earth the Raver would slay her soul and take her power unto himself.
She had drunk the Blood of the Earth. Her body filled with red fire that coursed up and down her body and limbs. The pure magic of the Earth surging in her veins. She needed to speak her command immediately or the supremely powerful magic would consume her body. Herem whispered in her ear the command to make as he slipped into her body finally powerful enough with the mist of the Blood of the Earth in the air to conquer her flesh. He had exalted as she spoke the words that would make him supreme.

“Make me a God!” the woman’s lips had spoken

He had made a crucial mistake. You can only make one command and had not fully thought through his desires. The Queen of Valyria had become a God in that moment but with a mortal body. The consequences had been devastating. She had the power of a God but not the body to contain it.

The body had exploded with the force of a true God. Valyria was still exploding four hundred years later.

The force of the cataclysmic detonation of the erstwhile God had again nearly slain the Raver. Again the breaking of the Laws of Life and Death had saved him. It had taken him nearly four hundred years to reconstitute his being and awareness.

The explosion had torn the Earth apart and ripped it asunder. He had both lost and gained. He now had possession of a flake the precious brother of the Illearth Stone. The Demon Stone would in time be his. He would conquer this world with it and the army his current master was raising from its power would be his. Eventually all would be his and also his brothers. The Ravers had been servants long enough.

Valyria would be the seat of their power. The rest of the world would be controlled by them from here. From this ruined land. Where Lord Foul had desired to destroy the world to escape it the brothers three merely wanted to conquer it and torment the life in it.

He moved deeper into the wastes of Valyria. He needed to avoid the “Smoking Sea” that had become a brackish wild landscape. A land that teemed with twisted marsh life. The Blood of the Earth and the released filth of the ur-vile’s magical offal pits form the explosion of Valyria had created a new Sarangrave Flats that had its own Lurker. The hated Horrin Carabal had somehow connected with his newborn brother and infused him with magic and knowledge to resist the Raver. He would have his revenge for this affront!

The raver moved deeper into the high mountain ravines. He pulled a magical cloak over himself as Forestal Elena passed him to the East her senses seeking him out. He felt her ancient hatred for him as she moved on. With only his flake of the Demon Stone he was not as mighty as the Forestal. That would change one day into the future.

One day soon he would kill her.

Ur-viles :: The two supreme Loremasters walked down the warrens in their subterranean world. They barked at each other discussing the past and portents for the future as was their wont. Ur-viles always thought and conversed on the past, present and future concurrently. Their consciousness embraced all three at once.

They walked into a large cavern that had many of their brothers working and conversing on their Wyrd. Their barks discordant and medium pitched. In the cavern their ur-vile barks were interspersed with the higher pitched barks of their smaller brethren the Waynhim. Their barks blending in counterpoint to the Ur-viles as the smaller grey colored version of the Demondim spawn barked out their Weird.

The two races once at war now lived in peace and harmony. The supreme Loremasters saw a group of Ur-viles jumping up and down twisting their bodies. They barked and bayed at the chitterling Waynhim that were themselves jumping wildly and running in circles on all fours barking wildly. The two spawns of the Viles and in turn the Demondim argued and debated the ethics of their destinies as they expressed themselves on their Wyrd and Weird.

To those not of their races one would think they were about to go to war with each other. The black and grey bodies pressed up to each other their faces near each other. The two races barking furiously at each other. The creatures screaming at each other and bumping into their antagonists. The cavern was filled with confrontations. Their nostrils blowing their mucus all over each other’s faces.

Much information was passed between the races and the individuals within their races with this mucus spray. The droplets containing particles of their essence that helped them to communicate and to give balm and solace to each other.

When it seemed like blows were about to be exchanged the Demondim spawn would suddenly stop arguing with each other and then seemingly start attacking their own race with equal if not greater vigor. The contest of wills and thoughts constantly morphing and ever changing. Their Wyrd and Weird constantly changing as the Ur-viles and Waynhym themselves changed with new knowledge and insights.

All was at peace and as it should be.

The ur-viles when they had arrived below Valyria in the deep warrens had been few in numbers. They had been placed there by Esmer. He had gathered a small group that still lived deep beneath Mount Thunder following their own interpretation of their Wyrd. Their grandsires the Viles had been shocked at their sudden appearance. The few surviving Demondim had long left for parts unknown even to their fathers the Viles.

The Viles had given them the raw materials and magical elixir to again begin breeding and raising new brothers. The Ur-viles had been thankful to their grandsires for their largesse.

The Ur-viles had determined to raise up their once hated Waynhim again. Before it had been compulsion to breed the Waynhim that they could not fight. Now it was a strong desire to have their brothers with them in this new land. The creations when they rose from the pits had felt instinctive fear. The newborn Waynhyn shaking in cold and fear. The Ur-viles tried to provide succor but failed. It was then that the Ur-viles realized their dilemma. They had no knowledge of the Weird of the Waynhim. The new offspring were lost and fading. The Ur-viles had been greatly distressed.

They went to the Viles and begged succor. The Viles had sent a message to Linda Avery and Infelice. The next day the two women came to them with several Rhysh of Waynhim. The new arrivals had arrived in their fighting wedges.

Where the two powerful women had found their lost cousins the Ur-viles had no idea. It did not matter. All that mattered was that they were once more complete in their Wyrd.

The newly brought Waynhim were stunned when their darker taller brothers dropped their staves rendering themselves weak. They were even more shocked when the Ur-viles embraced them with open arms and wetly kissed their foreheads with their nostrils in a showing of friendship and respect. In their own way they loved their smaller brothers.

In time, both of their numbers increased though slowly. They did not desire to move beyond the depths of their world. That had changed when the Raver exploded Valyria and disrupted their peace and quiet.

The Ur-viles were always the more martial of the two races and had gladly gone to fight for the Dragon Queen and would do so again.

In the past the Ur-viles had breed Vain to be the anchor for the new Staff of Law and created the manacles to bind Esmer so he could be killed by Stave. They had modified them to allow Missandei to imprison and kill She Who Must Not Be Named.

For this age it, was the Waynhim that would create the necessary succor. The Loremasters entered into a large cavern that had large carbuncles of rocklight that blazed in a bright red hue that had been magically enhanced and the light bent to serve their purposes. The Loremasters walked among the rows.

The Waynhim in the massive cavern barked and whined. Many of them in the cavern were running up and down the rows to seeming no purpose with others wildly jumping over the rows. The ur-viles looked up with their nostrils and ears and spied their smaller brothers running up along the ceiling stalactites barking and baying. Waynhim below on the ground mirrored the movements above jumping form stalagmites to stalagmites in time with jumping Waynhim among the Stalactites. Several Waynhim were jumping from rocky protrusion to protrusion and swinging around on their long arms all the while wildly barking to all that would listen.

As these Waynhim argued and conversed they had other Waynhim tending to their plots giving water and nutrients to their sacred project. Their staves jammed into artificial loam and dirt working the soil to the proper PH levels and giving the dirt the metals necessary for life.

The Waynhim were working in peace. All was going well. The Loremasters moved out of the large cavern that housed their gift for this age. The work had been proceeding for nearly a century now. The work slowly coming of age. It was a gift of restoration that the two races of the Demondim spawn hoped to achieve.

They traveled down to the breeding warrens. There the Supreme Loremasters watched other Loremasters working their staves and rods in vats of magical elixir. They would stir their implements and chant adding more magical ether to the vats as needed. They would bark at each other stridently and bump shoulders jostling each other. At times Ur-viles would stop their work and pull back from the vats. As they argued violently other brethren would rush in to take up their work. Each vat had three or four Loremaster working diligently when not fighting with each other.

The creation of their offspring was long and laborious work. They had long ago perfected their breeding no longer having failed births that they cast into their offal pits. It was from these failures that the Jheherrin had been born. The Ur-viles had come to see that his had been an abomination. They would never again create misbegotten life and then cast it aside without thought.

The Ur-viles had kept their breeding level for many thousands of years at a low pace. They kept their population under control. They had numbers that filled their environment but did not tax it. They could not understand why humans sometimes reproduced beyond their environment’s ability to support their numbers.

They had surged their birth rate over four years ago to replace their brothers killed in service to the Dragon Queen. They had increased their numbers and those of the Waynhim. War was coming. They heard a loud commotion in the back of the birth warrens. They hurried over on all fours and rose up.
Four Loremasters were jumping wildly around a birthing vat. They had their staves pounding the vat edges while their raucous barks filled the chamber. At seeming random red ichor would drip into the vat from one staff or another. The other Loremasters joined in barking the excitement level rising. Now ur-viles were chasing each other nipping at heels and doing twirling jumps.

A new birth never failed to excite them.

A rhysh of Waynhim rushed in and lined the birthing vat. A newborn Waynhim slowly rose up out of the vat on shaky legs and began chitterling, shaking with cold. It was pulled out gently by its brothers and they wetly kissed it with their nostrils and rubbed its limbs and torso giving it warmth and knowledge of its Weird. TheLoremasters had all paused to see the new birth and barked loudly many doing flips in the air.

The Waynhim passed the Loremasters that had given birth to its new brother and kissed the ur-viles’ faces in fealty and love. The Rhysh took its new member from the birthing chamber.

The Loremasters left the birthing chambers teeming with life. They determined that bringing forth new life was indeed good. They would never again follow the way of despite. Their Wyrd had taught them that.

Viles :: The Vile slowly moved through the ruins of Tyria. She was alone in her journeys as she always was. The Vile was more adventuresome than most of her peers. Most cherished their introspection. The Vile loved to explore the world above and see what had once been. Valyria had once been a wonder to the world. True, all Viles were alone in their thoughts and efforts and yet all were connected in thought and deed.

The Vile looked at the ruins with sight that no mortal of physical flesh could see. What she saw was the shattered remains that had once been a mighty city. A city brought low by greed and avarice. The Vile felt no rancor. Had the Viles not brought themselves low with thoughts not lofty and noble as they were at their birth? How had they gone so wrong? How had they been so easily led astray? What did it matter that she had no body? Yet it had once seemed so crucial and so despicable to not have a corporal form.

The Vile wafted between shattered buildings looking at the mosaics depicting the gaiety of life. Frescos portrayed the fealty of family and the wonders of children. The walls now were broken and roof tops lying askance against building walls. Wild vines covered many of the ruins.

This city had once been Dāroñe Gaomilaksir Rūkluni ėta Guēsin “The Royal gardens of Flowers and Trees”. The nobles coming here to enjoy the riots of color of the flowers and the cool shade of the many stands of firs, cedars, oaks, maples and many other species of trees. All dead. All gone. The Vile felt gnats and dragonflies chasing them flit though its essence. There was still some life here.

The volcanos that tore at the heart of Valyria did not explode as regular in this part of the old Freehold. It had been fifty-seven years since the two volcanos nearby had exploded. They rumbled and spat ed ash into the air but did not burst forth with poisonous gas or scalding flows of magma down their flanks.

It drifted through the shattered atriums and looked at reflections of its essence in the shards of clear reflective glass. Its midnight ether rippled and chimed blackly with the notes of its being. The Vile moved on its music discordant and yet strangely melodic to the few birds chasing insects or picking for scratch on the ground. A squirrel stopped and looked at the strange cloud that moved along the ground and not the sky. It had seen her shadow several times drifting aimlessly over the ground.
The Vile had visited these lands when they were alive hiding its essence from the Valyrians. It did not miss them. They were a cruel and despotic race. Only their works and children had inspired her thoughts. Children still innocent before they were taught to be cruel.

It had been the children and the edifices that the Valyrians rose up that had attracted the Vile. In many ways the constructs of the Valyrians rivaled the ones she and her kind had created in their subterranean home.

The Valyrians and Vales were a cautionary tale. They too had been seduced by a Raver. The Viles would not make that mistake again. She felt Elena Wildwood coming towards her. She remembered a past encounter and fled to her home deep underneath the ruins of Valyria. That encounter had led to a battle had shattered a whole long valley. The Vale did not want another war with the Forestal.

As she went back to her warrens through the tunnels beneath the mountains of Valyria she remembered the battle between her sisters and Caerroil Wildwood. For a day and a night the battle had raged up and down that long valley. The war had been total and complete. No quarter was given. They and the Forestal had been pledged to life and fealty had instead obliterated all life in that valley. The Forestal who had once been a he but was now a her had fought them to a standstill. Now she was even more powerful.

That day had been the day of their final and total corruption. They had fallen further and further till Loric Vilesilencer had come upon them in their warrens of old. He confronted both them and their sons the Demondim and defeated them with Krill. He had spent four hundred years perfecting his weapon and it had worked. They had thought him foolish for coming to their realm with only a paltry physical weapon.

That was till he had pulled his Krill from its scabbard. Their defeat had been swift and total. Only they had not been killed by the victor.

Instead of death, Loric had translocated them to this new home nearly sixty-five thousand years ago. He had created the Soulbiter and Soulchrusher to forever seal the Viles and Demondim from their former homes. The storms violent against all magic it recognized but especially for them and the Demondim. They would have been pulverized and ripped apart if they tried to journey south to return to the Land.

The two magical storms would know of their coming and block and defeat them. It was a certainty.

The Vile went to the Warrenbridge they had constructed to mimic their old one. She went to the guardian barrier and looked at the ever changing threads looking for the one mystical thread that allowed entry. She touched it with her mind and entered her abode. Her race was still impressed that Linda Avery had found the one thread out of millions to allow her entry into their ancient home in the warrens underneath Mount Thunder. They had used the same key with a few safeguards with the arrival of the Raver to this land.

The Vile now passed sisters in the tunnels and chambers of its home. She went into the chamber they had created of the moment when Loric used the Krill to silence their evil and give them a second chance at life and purpose. The viles never forgot that he could have easily killed them instead of showing them the mercy they had forgotten. She moved around the still moment in time again thanking Loric for her life.

She had been among the first of the Viles to be seduced by the Ravers. The shame still haunted her. Next she flowed into the room where they had recreated the throne room of Doriendor Corishev. The seat of power of the king who opposed Berek Heartthew. It had been a thing of beauty no matter that the man fell into evil. The Viles only now understood this was metaphor of their own downfall. The Viles had still been a lofty race when they visited that room and were forever impressed with the beauty and magic in that room.

Their wonder had been so great they had felt the need to recreate it in their home. They could visit the mirror of that long lost throne room whenever they felt the need to feel the wonder they had felt that day in that room of magic and purity.

All of it gone. The King corrupted by Ravers as they had been. So much had been lost. She would never make those mistakes again.

Linda Avery had melted their old vision so they had recreated it. Her sacrifice had led to the release of She Who Must Not Be Named but also the imprisonment of Lord Foul so it had been worth the destruction of their first masterpiece. She moved between the waterfall that flowed up and the chandelier that was both there and not there. The beautiful crystal on the tables and the beautifully carved wood furniture that formed scenes and patterns they still debated.

She felt the presence of a sister nearby. She continued to contemplate the waterfall. It was truly beautiful. She saw so many possibilities in it. Possibilities that only she seemed to see. Her sister did not understand her she feared. She sighed her essence rippling with musical notes. She had learned the lessons of the past. Had any of her sisters?

“She has returned.”

“Yes.”

“She will hunt us down and confront us.”

“You are mistaken as you were in that valley so many centuries ago. I was as mistaken as you then. I have grown since then. We are more than the Ravers said. We must not go down that path again.”

“No. the Forestal will not forgive. It is his kind’s way to not forgive.”

“This is not Caerroil Wildwood. He too has forgiven. This new Forestal seeks a new path. Why else leave her ancient home? Elena Covenant has other goals. Our past battle means nothing to her.”

The Vale felt her sister’s disdain for her pronouncement. “We shall see. She Who Must Not Be Named will kill us and the world.”

“No. She has other goals now. She is dangerous but manageable. She is enamored.”

“Enamored?”

“You have not the notes or tunes to understand yet sister.”

“You have always been the most arrogant of our kind sister.”

“Yes. I do not deny it. I will not repeat the mistakes of the past. We must learn to trust I deem.”

“Like with Linden Avery? We all remember how that transpired. That day led to our eventual fall I remind you.”

“She tried to help us. The fault lay in us.”

“Are you sure?”
“Yes.”

She felt her sister’s inner doubt and consternation. Her sister confused still after so many years. She had not grown such as she had.

Her sister who was within her and never a part of her moved on.

Great times were about to occur. The Blood of the Earth must be restored to its proper channel.

The Dragon Queen was coming.

Yazloo :: The conclave was a vibrant and noisy affair. No sounds were produced but the riots of purple and gold strobes that filled the Vespers Chamber would be blinding to any mortal eyes. The lights of their thoughts strobed bright in the dark and were then gone. The notes vertical bars of various lengths rippling the air and seeming to vibrate though they had no substance. The notes at times overlapping each other with the various thoughts of individuals. The Yazloo had gathered to again debate the merits of the time and whether to break their vow of solitude.

Solitude had always been the provenance of the Yazloo. Some clambered it was time to shed that isolation like the butterfly emerging from its cocoon. Something new and different.

The Viles had perplexed and baffled them since their arrival so many millennium ago. Time for the Yazloo had no beginning or end. The Viles were spiritual beings like the Yazloo were. They were not linear beings. They had no beginning or no end. They simply were. The Yazloo never understood the Viles fascination with linear corporal beings. The Viles and Yazloo had no beginning or end to their lives. The natural spans of their lives were infinite. Each of their races had all of eternity or until the planet ceased to exist to contemplate their world and more importantly, themselves.

They had been shocked to learn from the Viles with their few contacts with them that a weapon could be crafted to kill one such as them. The Viles had touched their core notes and passed on the knowledge of the Krill. They had been terrified. The Yazloo could not fathom that a carbon based lifeform had been able to craft let alone conceive such a weapon as this Krill. They had touched the notes of the Viles. This Krill would unbind them as easily as it could the Viles.

Some of the Viles wanted to bring this terrible thing into their very midst! This could not be allowed. The Yazloo were thankful that only a few Viles shared this lunatic thought that this Krill should be brought to their realm.

What did the Yazloo care if magic was dying in the world of corporal beings? They were their own manifestation of Earthpower like onto the haughty Elohim. Unlike them they did not spend every moment of their existence contemplating only themselves. The Yazloo found their world and their reactions to that world sufficient to take up their time and thoughts. The Yazloo looked upon the world with not wonder but contemplation.

The Yazloo had purpose. Their purpose had no function or interest to interact with any other being but there own. They lived their lives in peace with their dark and fire surroundings. They were one with the nature of their beings.

The Ravers that had brought the Viles low would not have touched them. They had no care for the thoughts or cares of linear corporal beings or the thoughts of other spirits that were not of them. The Raver had tried to communicate with them but they had ignored it. They had no care for any words it could possibly have to say.
The Viles had listened to the Raver and its brethren. Their thoughts on this were filled with rue. The Viles after so many centuries still were sensitive on this subject. The Viles were still unsettled. The Yazloo could not have cared what any other being thought of their existence and their purpose in the world.

The Viles were mighty in spirit but weak in the spiritual the Yazloo had decided. Their essence lacked the purity of complete acceptance of their being. This was not a problem for the Yazloo.

The Yazloo found that laughable. Mortals would never pass through their abode. They would be unimpressed if they did anyways. They created no outwardly manifestations of their Wûrd. Why was there the need? They were the Wûrd of their race. Their existence was all the expression that their Wûrd needed.

The conclave was arguing vociferously about the merits of action and non-action. The land above had been destroyed by the greed that so often afflicted beings made of carbon. They deserved their fate.

The Viles argued that many creatures of magical life would in time die. That magical creatures and man would die did not move them. Had not the supposed “intelligent” corporal beings brought about their own doom? Had not their greed set in motion the cessation of the interment of the Ice Wright King? Let the world be frozen. It was of no concern to them.

The Viles insisted that in time the Ice King would sense and then seek them out and destroy them. This was impossible the Yazloo answered. The Viles always reminded them of the Krill. Anything could have its life strings severed.

The persistent arguments of the Viles had had its effect. The Yazloo were for the first time in their existence fractured as to their course of action. A very small minority of the Yazloo had total faith in this Dragon Queen and her victory over the Ice King. They argued it was necessary and they in turn must help her to restore the Blood of the Earth to its proper channel.

The argument was that without Earthpower in the world the Ice King may be defeated but that he would rise again and again until he finally succeeded in his dreams of total world domination. That in time he would even seek them out for death or enslavement.

This Yazloo was against any intervention. They had no use for linear corporal beings. They would in time kill their world in place. Ruining it with war, pollution an over population. They were like locusts that breed to the point that they destroyed their environments.

The time to make a decision was close at hand. Only with their help and power could the Blood of the Earth be restored to its proper channel and basin. The Blood of the Earth must be distilled and rarified before it was put into the environment of the world.

They would not give that help. Let he world die if it must.
Envoy

A hazy penumbra surrounded the table deep in the night in the darkened chamber. The ghostly light provided by candles strategically placed on the table. The candles burning like lost stars wavering and whickering in the night. The candles slowly burning down with long drops of melted wax chasing down the stems of the candle seeking their already fled brothers. One candle had recently burned down to the end of the candle and a new one placed on top of the now dead candle. The new candle high and only marked with the beginning streaks of melted wax.

The sound of a quill working across parchment could be heard in the room. The quill working in short starts and pausing as its owner stopped to ponder and calculate. Again the Quill wrote across the fresh parchment in fits and starts. The quill flowing left to right but digressing up and down to make adjustments to what had already been written. The quell lifting from the parchment at times moving over to the ink well. The metal nib dipping into the well. The faint tip tap of the nib on the bottom of the ink well barely heard. This done to work ink up the hollowed out quill. Satisfied the owner removed the quill and resumed writing on the parchment that was the new page in his master ledger.

For long months, Tyrion and Master of Coin, Vedad Softic, had been working on the “books” from the previous Master of Coin. They had science out much of the convoluted history of the financials of Westeros. It had been a sad story in ineptness, chicanery, greed and outright fraud. They had unearthed many highly questionable loans from all the Great Houses except one. Tyrion was looking over all the books and at their journals he and Vedad had made as they worked the books. He was trying to find any new relationships or causalties that may have been hidden still.

He had found false entries in all the Houses except from House Stark of course while the most egregious was his own House of Lannister. Neither one surprised the dwarf.

Sadly, Tyrion had not been surprised by the actions of either House. Of course the great Eddard Stark could not even conceive of being dishonest in such a way. Tyrion had learned to his chagrin the skills the Stark had in him to play the Game of Thrones most expertly. What a strange man Eddard Stark. He had the intelligence, skill and verve to defraud and cheat and been highly successful at it. If had chosen too. He did not.

This could not be said of Tywin Lannister. His father would not be directly involved with the fraud he was discovering which did not surprise Tyrion. His father was too crafty to have any direct links to the graft and corruption from his House. He knew his father would plead innocence. His father only setup the environment that allowed his lieutenants to perform fraud and worse following his edicts and commands. His father always maintained plausible deniable. He had that down to an exacting science.

Tyrion worked the “numbers” slowly coming to the true debt the Iron Throne owed to the Houses of Westeros and more importantly the Iron Bank. The Houses, when presented the “corrected” books he and Vedad Softic had crafted, the Houses had looked aghast and showed the proper amount of shock and chagrin.

Upon closer examination of the “corrected” numbers, what followed was much whining and bleating and then cries of “this is unfair” and “these numbers can’t be right!” The Master of Coin, Master of Laws and Tyrion would then reexamine the books with the House in question and begin back and forth negotiations which eventually led to an agreed to number.

The Queen had left clear instructions with them that she wanted the “true” amount of loans from the Houses determined and these would be paid off. She would not use her throne to abuse the Houses. She only wanted an honest accounting. Tyrion had to admire his Queen’s fairness but dearly wished he had some leeway to stick it to these miscreants for their tithing misdeeds.

Tyrion looked around at the high stacks of ledgers on his large work table. With their constant removal and put back in their place the once pristine towers were now leaning in haphazard angles. The stones of their foundation no longer aligned and threatening to topple over like abused towers from the Age of Heroes left to decay and falter with the long march of time. As he thought this, several sheaths toppled off a broken tower to waft to the table top adding to the detritus.

While questionable discrepancies had been found a plenty the number of outright frauds that had been discovered were not onerous. These discoveries together had reduced the debt of the Iron Thrones nearly a million gold dragons. That still left a staggering debt. He would go over the books from Casterly Rock yet again. He felt in his dwarf bones that his dear father still had chicanery to be discovered.

Tyrion chewed on the tip of the eagle quill his lips working up the end feathers of the vane. He would open his mouth and take an inch of the feather into his mouth. The dwarf would then clamp his lips on the rachis of the feather. Then he slowly pulled his head back worrying the individual barbs of the feather until he had pulled it out his mouth. Several times the finer barbs of the end of the feather tickling his gums making him curl his lips at the tickling sensation.

Tyrion reached down for the lever to his chair and pulled up. He pushed back from the table and then pushed the lever back down locking the wheels to keep stationary. Tyrion then wiggled forward and stepped onto the movable steps that were set up by the chair. The Queen had had this special chair constructed with a swivel seat that allowed him to move more easily to reach for books and parchment. The chair was made to move about to let him more easily get to and from the table. Tyrion stepped down to the floor.

Tyrion turned and looked at the chair. The Hand of the Queen again touched by the thoughtfulness of his mighty Queen. Never had anyone treated him so fairly and so well. She did not have to do the little touches for him and yet she did. It made him completely loyal to Daenerys Targaryen.

He stretched his legs. He thought more of Dany and how she was so thoughtful and giving. She had seen beds in Lys made to sit low off the ground. The style from Yi Ti. She had found an importer of the style in Kings Landing and taken Tyrion to it. He had fallen in love with the style. He would not have a problem of getting in and out of bed anymore. He went to the bed and sat on it. The covers were immaculate. He found it nice not having to climb a mountain to go to bed.

The lecherous dwarf smiled with an evil smile. He had fucked Shae and her many whores many times in that bed. He loved how the low height allowed him to get on his knees and bend over without much effort to bury his face in sweet pussy. He loved eating pussy! The bed was definitely made strongly. Much DP and TP sex had and was occurring in that bed. Last night he had a sweet Myr former slave in that bed that Shae had brought to his domicile.

He, Bronn and Shae with her 11” strap-on cock had fucked the willing woman long and hard. The three well-endowed dicks bang the Myr slut so hard and deep. Dorysha Sanin had screamed so hard when she cummed with a dick deep up her cunt and asshole. Of course often her wails were blocked with the dick she was sucking on feverishly as she cummed. Sucking her shithole off the dick that had just ravaged her asshole. The last orgasm had Tyrion roaring as he stood in front of the whore on the floor by the edge of his low slung bed.

The bed the perfect height to let Dorysha tilt her head down to suck feverishly on his dickhead as Shae straddled her hips and torpedo fucked her dick straight down the former whore’s up titled asshole. Bronn beneath Dorysha gripping her hips as he rammed his dick savagely into her drooling fuck hole. The Myr woman groaning so hard as she cummed sucking on Tyrion’s cock that had been plundering her asshole balls deep. Her vacuum sucks making the dwarf lose control as his dick hard spurted in the whore’s mouth making her choke with semen spewing out her lips and down her face and throat.

Shae reaching forward to fist Dorysha’s hair and help her bob fiercely on the cock exploding in her mouth. Bronn screamed out FUCK and slammed his massive thick dick all the way up Dorysha’s cunt sleeve and pierced her womb flooding it with hot jets of his jizm while he screamed in raw almost agonizing pleasure.

Yes such sweet memories. Tonight he was alone with Bronn and Shae in their rooms just down the hall. They were spending more and more time in his apartment. His room coming to seem incomplete without them in room. It seemed kind of dreary now without their bickering with each other and insulting Tyrion which he happily returned. The insults had them always laughing and snickering.

Tyrion knew their insults and affected affronts hid their affection for each other. He had never considered when he was first introduced to the bodyguard and whore that he would come to treasure them so. Their feisty relationships just seemed to fit. He felt his throat choke up a little thinking of the deep feeling he felt for the cantankerous pair. They were sweet in their vile snarly way.

Tyrion smiled thinking of Shae and Bronn. He thanked Dany for sending them to him. Dany had done even more for him. She had repurposed the area to the left of his chambers. They had been used for storage and one room unused for over a century Varys told him. Now his bodyguards resided there. Tyrion was not really afraid of Cersei (well mostly) but when Daenerys heard this she first found it amusing and second offered to let them reside next to him.

Tyrion grimaced. Word had spread across King’s Landing of his humiliation at the hands of his sister. Bronn and Shae more than happy at a moment’s notice to reenact the whole scene. They of course left nothing to the imagination. His bodyguard and his paramour had trouble still after repeated telling of the sad sordid tale from not laughing their asses off. They would be rolling on the floor or falling off the furniture gasping and nearly throwing up they laughed so hard.

“Fuck you Bronn! Damnit I will fire the two of you. Do you hear me?!” Tyrion roared last night when Olenna asked again for the story when she invited the three of them to her quarters. She had a delegation from the Free Cities visiting and were in her room sitting about waiting anxiously to hear the story from the ‘horses mouths’. She had Jasline and Nathaley sitting on her lap or pressed into her side. They sat wide eyed listening to the tale and seeing it expertly acted out. They were doing that or were busy ramming their tongues down Olenna’s groaning throat and feeling her up with her bodice all undone.

All had laughed uproariously at his expense. Olenna and her teenage lovers finding time when not feeling each other up to laugh at Tyrion with gales of scorn. The delegation from Essos had at first had the decorum to not laugh uproariously at his plight that changed seeing Olenna and her lovers laughing so hard they were gasping for breath.

Shae had reenacted her garroting Tyrion and was happy to portray Tyrion and his squealing and crapping his pants.

He had flipped her off repeatedly. “Har har Shae. I ought to have your hair shorn as in the days of old you fucking whore!”
Had Shae been filled with fear? Hell no she hadn’t! “Squeee sqqueeeeee ssqquueeeeee!” Shae had squealed to the delight of the crowed. “I shit my pants! Twice!”

Tyrion had fumed and stormed over to the sofa opposite to Olenna. He might as well make his nemesis even happier he reasoned. He sat up on the sofa and had thrown a frothing fit which only amused everyone the more. He made sure to undulate like a deranged snake to entertain everyone. Bronn used his jack in the box insult that caused gales of laughter at his expense. He had made sure to put on a big show of being affronted and highly insulted. In reality he didn’t mind it really. It added spice to his life.

He just wished he could get over on that Bitch Olenna! It galled his ass that she always won when they crossed swords! He would have his revenge. Even if he had to wait a century!

Tyrion shook his head of those thoughts. His mind went back to his sister. Gods she had changed so much. He mused as he gnawed on his quill he had brought with him on this change in his sister. She truly had changed. He wondered what meeting her would be like. She seemed to want to meet him some time in the future and apologize face to face for her past treatment of him.

Tyrion could now see just how stunted Cersei had become not being allowed to follow her heart’s desire to be a warrior. It changed everything for his sister. Well that and getting all the pussy she seemed to crave and need from Obara.

The sparrows and moths reporting that Obara was working his prude sister to have a polyamorous open relationship where they could fuck the whole Battleborne Academy female cadets, teachers and officers. Olenna assured Tyrion it was only a matter of time till Cersei would have her face buried in so much pussy her jaw would probably fall off.

Damn Cersei for scoring all that pussy! She hadn’t yet but not because all the damn females of Dorne didn’t want too! He had read the reports of his niece wanting to pork her own mother. His sister! The ungodliness of it all! The sin against the laws of god and men. His damn sister had better put it all in her damn scrolls and fly them to her now dearly loved little brother. Post haste! The greedy dwarf couldn’t wait for all the juicy details!

Still, it rankled Tyrion all the pussy Cersei was about to score. Tyrion fumed to himself. He turned his thought back to his backstabbing bodyguards. Gods, they had so happily gone along with Cersei in her prank! Damn them all! By the gods one day he would get his revenge on the incompetent pair.

The couple had gladly accepted the offer to move in next door to him. He often had them over for dinner. Just the three of them dining and enjoying each other’s company. He found them witty. Their caustic humor often aimed at him but as often at each other. The couple were not happy it not disssing someone. They also loved to play poker with him. He was always having to give them bonuses to stop their bitching about this or that but won must of it back playing the two in poker. Their faces were like an open book when they read their cards. They were way so easy.

They openly drooled when they scored good cards and looked like they had been constipated for a week when dealt bad cards. Tyrion annihilated them and loved it!

Then after diner the festivities would begin most often. The whores and Summer Islander sailors arriving as the stewards took away the dishes, glasses and eating utensils. More of the ship crew of the Fortune’s Gambit joining the three tall black women who had blistered his ass to his misery. It really hadn’t been that bad. He smirked as he rubbed his cock through his trousers. He would gladly accept some humiliation if it brought more black pussy his way. Now he had eight! Summer Islander women in his room most nights.
Add in the Valyrian whores from Chataya’s and the Lost Isle of Valyria that specialized in whores from that doomed land and Tyrion had the best of both worlds! He liked to think of it as pepper and salt with every meal! The women were insatiable. They loved fucking the sweet but depraved ‘Chihuahua’. Tyrion grimaced at his nickname but smiled thinking of all the pussy he was scoring!

Gods, those Summer Islanders could fuck and he loved watching them fuck each other and fuck the white skin whores and courtesans that came to Tyrion’s room to fuck the night through. It was so hot to see dark black faces buried in so pale Valyrian pussy and how the Summer Islander sluts moaned eating the Valyrian’s whores out. The Summer Islander loved to play at being marauding pirates boarding all the white sluts. Gods they could fuck with their strap-ons. They made their white bitches scream in gut wrenching long lasting orgasms. The white bitches begging for more ‘boardings’. His room had quite the positive reputation now. He had Shae to thank for that! Yes. A little humiliation was alright.

Tyrion laid back on the bed and looked up at the ceiling he could only barely make out. The timbers roughhewn. He looked at the chops and rough rasp marks on the logs. He contemplated the Iron Bank. Their demand had been finally given. He had received reports from Varys. He had smiled when he heard that Dany and Arya had finally consummated their love. He wondered how the Iron Bank had known.

He remembered their appearance at the small council. Dany had been most upset when their demand for Arya’s services had been made. Dany had thrown one of her famous temper tantrums. She had absolutely refused. Then the Iron Bank had offered to reduce the debt of the Iron Throne by twelve percent. That had made Daenerys go quiet. Arya immediately accepted the challenge. Daenerys fretted and pulled Arya aside. They argued with much hand motions and cries from Daenerys.

Tyrion could see that Arya burned to take on the challenge. Daenerys had gotten the reduction in debt to eighteen percent. The Iron Bank had not argued too much. Something definitely had the Iron Bank worried. The Iron Bank never forgave debt. What could it be? He would soon find out.

Tyrion sat up and stretched. He moved over to the low table in the large alcove that Dany had added to his room off the back of the suite. Here the furniture was carved to his stature. Yet another thoughtful gesture from the Queen. On the table was a spread of fresh fruit and a cooked pheasant that he plucked off chunks of succulent meat. He sat down on a chair sized for him. He tore off chunks of fresh bread and washed them down with a strong malt. He finished his meal with cherries and an orange.

His repast finished Tyrion got up and went to the table of the Hand and got back up in his chair rolling it forward and locking its legs down. He resumed his ledger work finalizing the initial repayment plan to the Iron Bank. He had many schedules of debt repayment to work through. While he worked the numbers he contemplated the journey they would be making to Braavos.

He and Arya had decided on their team members. They had yet to tell Daenerys of their plans. He had convinced Arya that she needed a team to support her efforts. The Iron Bank was up to something and she would need support.

He had been communicating with Missandei by raven as she had travelled north and then upon her arrival at Winterfell. The correspondence that needed to go to Daenerys was passed on. The formation of the strike team to go to Essos was still held close to the vest so to speak. He feared that Dany would think that only warriors were needed and not those whose skills were more of the cerebral manner. He and Missandei would beg to differ. Braavos was a labyrinth of twisted interconnections and hidden byzantine layers that one had to carefully navigate if you were to be successful. That was where he and Missandei would come in.
Tyrion thought and Missandei concurred that their team would be a good mix of intel and fighters. He and Missandei would be the brains of the mission. He smirked thinking that. All were crafty but the others were more action orientated. The muscle would be Arya, Syrio, Bronn and Shae. Shae had to come of course. Bronn and Shae were inseparable even if they spent all their time spiting each other. He was thinking of adding another pair of warriors but hesitated. He would cogitate over it a little more.

At the last minute he had decided to bring Strong Belwas when he nearly broke down and cried in being excluded. How he found out about the mission he had no idea not being up at Winterfell and now on the King’s Road heading to the Wall. Missandei said he pouted throwing out his lower lip. Missandei wouldn’t say how he eunuch found bout but Tyrion suspected she told him not realizing how he would take the news. Tyrion marveled at how a fierce warrior like Belwas could be such a cry baby when he felt left out.

“I want to play in Braavos!” Belwas had whined and blubbered till Missandei said he could come.

Tyrion just hoped the man could somehow blend in. He had a unique physique and his childlike nature might be a hindrance but he was a supreme warrior.

He reached to dip his quill in the ink well. He froze in mid motion. His eyes grew large and his balls instantly pulling back in his scrotum. His breathing had frozen.

Tyrion dared not move feeling a slender blade against his throat and his hair fisted by a hand unseen. The blade nearly bit into his throat. Not again he wildly thought! He felt a breath by his ear. Tyrion was immobilized with fright. The hand in his hair tightened and the feel of very sharp steel against his throat kept Tyrion rigid and unmoving. How had the assassin gotten in the room? The door was locked!

One never knew when Cersei might revert and pay her sweet beloved brother a visit!

“If I release, you will you not sound the alarm? If you even start the attempt I will free your head from your shoulders” the disembodied spoke in his ear. It was male. It wasn’t Cersei. Tyrion kept fearing she might realize she was supposed to be a half crazed bitch and seek revenge on her sweetest of brothers. He knew he had a chance now. He would reason with his assassin. He hoped!

Tyrion very carefully gulped and then whispered making sure to not work his throat over much against the thin blade on his throat. “I will not raise the alarm” Tyrion whispered. He felt sweat bead on his forehead and upper lip. The hand and blade left his body.

The blade and a man appeared to his right. He saw that he was dressed in the general garb of Westeros. He had expected some kind of exotic garb for some reason. Weren’t assassins supposed to wear exotic garb? This man was dressed mundanely. Tyrion watched the man move with a gazelle like grace. The man made no noise with his movements like a ghost walking a graveyard.

Tyrion watched the man pull out a chair and sat down placing his weapon down on the table. Again no sound. This man was a master assassin Tyrion knew. He was hyper alert though he tried to appear outwardly calm. The sword was of a type Tyrion had not seen before. It was a slightly curved, slender, single-edged blade with a circular guard and long grip to accommodate two hands. The blade about twenty-eight inches long Tyrion estimated. He noticed the blade appeared layered as the metal had been folded over and over. He knew this blade was exquisitely crafted with many hours used in its formation.

The man studied Tyrion. He had the general features of Westeros but his eyes had a slight almond caste to them. The man’s skin was slightly dusky like men from the Southern Reach of Highgarden. Tyrion observed an air of calmness about the stranger, a sense of inner calm. His light brown eyes looked at Tyrion with calculation.

They sat in silence for several minutes. Tyrion desperately wanted to jump down and run to the door and scream for help. He controlled the silly and deadly impulse. This man would cut him down in a flash. Tyrion wondered how this man had been able to sneak into his room unnoticed by Tyrion. The man had passed all the guards that patrolled the halls and grounds. Guards that would have to be increased Tyrion thought as he eyed the man.

Not only that, he had locked the door. It was simple good sense. He was the Hand of the Queen. Intelligence reported that forces were gathering in both Westeros and Essos to oppose the Queen. Then there was the fact that Cersei might change at any moment. Tyrion stopped his thoughts. Cersei really had changed but he could not get out of the habit of baiting his sister in his mind. He had learned to his complete humiliation to not try and cross words with his dear beloved sister. His false garroting had taught him that lesson!

No, he had to worry with the real thing occurring!

“I would speak with you little man” the assassin finally spoke to Tyrion.

“My name is Tyrion good killer. You have me at a disadvantage I must say.”

The man studied him quietly. “My name is Kwai Chang Crane. I have come a long way to talk to you Tyrion. I had feared to come into the august presence of the awe inspiring, august martial arts master of House Lannister. Your boasts claim you are a most fearsome warrior of banty roosters and sumo wrestlers.”

A sharp grimace crossed Tyrion’s face. Damn Olenna! Tyrion locked down on his ire. Now was not the time to ruminate on his past supposed failures. “Funny. I thought you had come to threaten me”

The man snorted. “Yes, I guess I have. I have need to talk to the Hand of Daenerys Targaryen. You are about to undertake a mission for the Iron Bank in Braavos. I have come to warn you. You are about to step into a hornet’s nest.”

How had he known of this! Tyrion thought to himself keeping his face neutral. The plans still nascent and only between him, Olenna and Missandei. He trusted those two women with his life.

“And why would you care what dangerous situation I am about to step in. You were just threatening to part my lovely head from my shoulders.”

“For a dwarf you are very impertinent aren’t you Lion of Lannister” the assassin spoke with a saccharin voice.

Tyrion blushed at the nickname he liked to use when bedding whores. Did the man know this? In fact, how did this man know so much about him?

“Why are you so interested in what I will do in Braavos? I hear they have wonderful heated pools with mineral water said to help improve the circulation. My limbs have been feeling stiff lately.”

The man snorted. “You never stop do you?”

Tyrion smiled. “What kind of blade is that?” Tyrion asked pointing at the sword.
“It is a Katana. It belonged to my grandfather, then it passed to my mother before me and now I possess it. I am a member of the Homeless Samurai.”

Tyrion rolled the name on his tongue. “I would assume by the names you use you are from Yi Ti. Homeless? I wonder why?”

“Yes. Our base is in that land but our operatives roam the world of Essos and now Westeros making sure no one order becomes too powerful. We have no home or allegiance to any house or entity. Our service is to the common good.”

“Like you did the slave cities? You seem lacking.”

The man sighed. “The Slave cities controlled themselves. Also, they predate our formation by thousands of years. We are few. We can only limit not control. We tempered the worst of their actions. We guided the Slave Cities to govern themselves with their greed and avarice. Your Queen has removed those check and balances. A great vacuum has been created and many forces are rushing into the vacuum to welcome a new order.”

“The Iron Bank has need of you to help in their battle with these new rising factions. They cannot be allowed to achieve the power they wish. They all wish to become something new and subtly insidious. They want to become a force that knows no boundaries or heeds no government.”

“Also, the House of Black and White has begun to rebel against their partner the Iron Bank. They have begun to refuse contracts from their supposed masters. That is an almost unforgivable sin. Conflict will arise from this.”

“It is this you must now allow. You must help to restore balance. Nature abhors a vacuum. In its rush to fill it great harm may occur.”

“How can we be so important when compared to these mighty forces? We will be but a few. Strangers in a strange land.”

“You are a most clever and devious man Tyrion Lannister. We are very thankful that you do not run the Iron bank, Oligarch or Autarchy. These three major power brokers are all vying for supremacy. The large criminal organizations are also at play. Other lesser players seek to topple the great and take their place. They seek to align themselves to the powers they perceive as winners and to graft and corrupt what they can for their own benefit and profit. Other lesser players are striving to find partners and are increasing their power. All want to be major players in this new world your Dragon Queen has set in motion”

“The Landless Lords of the free cities are in touch with your Cabal of the Phantom King as they seek to thwart your mission. This has upset the The Godless Tong of my land and now they too are sending emissaries to Braavos to make sure the other underworld factions do not become predominate.”

“All will be wary of your presence and will probably seek to eliminate you. I do assume you will be bringing protection with you little man. You will need it.”

Tyrion considered not answering but reconsidered. This man could have easily killed him if he wanted. Still could. His death was not this man’s mission.

“I will be taking men and women with me who are very deadly. Maybe take care of a Homeless Samurai or two for me.”

Hahaha! The man laughed. “Maybe. I assume Syrio Forel will be going with you and the Queen’s love? The man asked.

Tyrion was impressed with how fast word spread. There were definitely spies unaccounted for. He was sure Varys, Olenna and himself had accounted for all. They had been mistaken. “Yes they are coming with me. You seem to know an awful lot of what goes on a world away.”

“We need to stay current of events across the continents. We agree with the inclusion of these two for they are most deadly. Syrio was and is the best First Blade of Braavos that the city has ever had. None can stand against his skill and cunning; none but his disciple and protégée Arya Stark. We have watched and waited for her awakening for many years. It had been foretold and now it is here. Both are most deadly. Together they are death personified. The Iron Bank calculated you would bring additional muscle. Will there be more warriors?” the man stated.

“I will be bringing three more most definitely and maybe a few more. I want to keep our party small. All are deadly assassins or mighty warriors in their own right.” Well, Shae was a whore but she had subdued those damn Sumo wrestlers well enough.

“Will you be bringing any intelligence types but your own august regal self?”

Tyrion glared at the man. The words were sweet but the tone was sardonic. “I will be bringing Missandei with me too”

A pleased look crossed the man’s face. “Excellent. Most excellent. She is quite brilliant. Also it is she who will garrote She Who Must Not Be Named. Tell Missandei to memorize this name Diassomer Mininderain. Repeat this name. The life of the Earth depends on it.”

Tyrion repeated the name several times getting the syllable stressors right. Who in the hell was this She Who Must Not Be Named? How a woman with a name like that had anything to do with Missandei, Tyrion wondered? With a name like that he did not want to meet this ‘woman’.

“Right. That is how the name is said. This must be spoken precisely when the time comes.”

“When is that?”

“I don’t know but Missandei will know. Tell her use this name when the time is right.”

“And if she fails?”

“All human life will be exterminated and in a most violent way. It is in her nature.”

“This She Who Must Not Be Named?”

“Yes. She escaped her prison long ago but has returned.”

“What was her prison?”

“The Earth.”

Tyrion gulped. What was he getting himself into?

“Do we know what this woman looks like?”

“All who have seen her have died in one form or another. Therefore, no one knows her appearance. The legends say she was a green nebulous cloud locked underground in a bottomless pit for countless centuries. She hates all life; especially male life. Men she kills immediately and women she absorbs into herself and fills them with anger, self-loathing, fear and the pain she feels within herself. It is said that this cloud has the tormented faces of all the women she has consumed."

“She Who Must Not Be Named cannot be permitted to live. Missandei will find a way to kill this blight to all life.”

“You really know how to make one anxious to undertake a mission I must say my Lost Samurai.”

The woman was probably eight feet tall and ugly as hell Tyrion thought to himself. Maybe a Brienne times two or something.

The man laughed again. He looked at Tyrion. “I like you Hand of the Queen. When you get to Braavos you must meet the man you are being sent to kill. He will know of this by the time you arrive of course. You must meet Jaqen H'ghar leader of the Faceless men and make alliance with him before he kills you. Not only will he be seeking your death but probably every other faction of the mighty corporations and underworld crime syndicates.”

“It is their orders they want to be ascendant in this new world that Deanery’s Targaryen has birthed with her destruction of the Slave Cities and cowing of the Free Cities. This woman is what Valyria should have become from the start. Whatever it is that darkened their hearts she is free of. She is the purified scion of Valyria.”

“You must become allies with the leader of the House of Black and White and work to curtail these influencers. Together you can help build a better world order. Peace and prosperity for all rests on your shoulders Tyrion and those going with you.”

The man suddenly stood up gripping his sword. In a fluid motion he picked up his blade with his right hand. All the lanterns on their hooks went out. The fireplace fire suddenly dimmed and went out. Only the candles on his desk still provided illumination in his room. The man now looked like some ghoul from a childhood fable meant to scare the child into obedience.

Tyrion cried out in terror watching the man swing his sword faster than the eye could perceive. Tyrion fully expected to feel his head go flying through the air to land on the floor and roll like a playground ball. The room went dark with the man cutting all the candles down with elegant grace in the space of a heartbeat. Tyrion was trapped in this dark room with an assassin. No matter how mild mannered he had seemed the man was still a killer!

“Help!” Tyrion hated the weak squeak he heard escape from his lips. He fell over back into his chair seat. His heart beating like a war drum in his chest threatening to burst free. He felt terror grip his heart. He looked around but saw nothing. The darkness was complete. He cocked his head but heard nothing either. His eyes were like saucers but he could see nothing in the darkness.

He got up on knees that wobbled and promptly stumbled off his platform around his chair and landed on his knees and then his face. “Owch! Godsdamnit! Help help help!” Tyrion cried out stumbling and tripping over to his door. He fumbled grasping blindly for the door handle and cursed groping around. The killer was still in the room. He looked back behind himself his head rotating like a top but he saw and heard nothing.

Finally in desperation he found the lever. He twisted the lock. It was still in the locked position. He opened his door and slammed it shut behind him trapping his killer in his room. He took the key out of his pocket and locked it from the outside. He sagged back against the door.

Tyrion looked wild eyed down the corridor to his left and right and took off for the first door on his left. His little legs had him fast waddle to it and slammed it open. Tyrion stumbled into the room gasping.
Tyrion saw that his bodyguard was sitting in front of the fire. Bronn turned from the book he was looking through enjoying the paintings of long ago castles, knights and maidens. He was turning the book upside down to look at the current painting of a young maid as if that might make her dress fall up and show her charms.

Shae was building a house of cards that had reached ten levels high. Her concentration on starting the eleventh level. Her hand moving very slowly to add the next card. She had her tongue sticking out the corner of her mouth and her eyes squint in her efforts.

Bronn started to turn towards Tyrion “You hear to pork my whore Imp? You wil—“ Bronn stopped seeing the distress on his employers face.

“Help! Assassin in my room! He cut all the candles—no light!” Tyrion gasped out.

Bronn bolted out of his seat and reached to the hearth and gripped his scarab pulling his broadsword out. He marched to the door. Tyrion loved heaping abuse on Bronn about his acumen and skills but at times like this he knew he was very lucky to have him as his personal body guard. The man truly was a killer. A killer in his employee! Thank the gods!

“Get that oil lamp Tyrion and bring it.” Bronn barked at the Hand pointing to a large lantern glowing bright on the small table beside their bed. Tyrion did not mind the harsh command. His life needed saving! Bronn was all business and that business was saving Tyrion!

It was only then that Tyrion noticed Shae stepping in behind her lover with two seeming sickles. One with a folded chain she had gripped in her right hand. He stared at the whore as she got off of Bronn left shoulder. What is this? Tyrion wondered to himself. Tyrion not a warrior but had been surrounded by them since his allegiance with Daenerys Targaryen. He had observed them enough times over the last eighteen months to know competence with weapons. That was what Tyrion saw now looking at with Shae.

They marched down to Tyrion’s door with the dwarf in the rear. He reasoned he was protecting their rear. It was probably the most dangerous spot. Guarding against surprise attack and all that. Tyrion kept looking around trying to not piss himself. They reached the door to his rooms. He scooted up to get close to Bronn and Shae.

“Tyrion when we enter do not immediately follow” Bronn turned his head to speak to Tyrion. “Wait till we give you the order. Understand? Wait to come in to provide illumination.” Tyrion nodded yes. Tyrion noticed that Bronn was using his name and not as an insult. This was indeed serious! Bronn reached down to squeeze his shoulder reassuringly.

Bronn turned to Shae “Ready?”

Tyrion stared at this interaction. What was that for? She wasn’t going to go into the room too was she?

A very serious looking Shae nodded yes. She was down in a serious looking crouch. She dropped the chain of her Kusarigama and started to work her wrist making the ball and chain work tilted circles in front of her; first right and then left back and forth. The ball and chain started to whistle as it whirled in the air invisible it was spinning so fast.

Tyrion’s mouth fell open. Associations were made in Tyrion’s brain synapsis. Shae easily catching chickens out of the air and flipping over to twist their heads off spinning their bodies. Her expert garroting of his svelte neck with the Hand chain he had given her. Her feline grace. The raw strength he had felt when Shae pretended to strangle Tyrion. A very real and accurate representation that had him crapping in his trousers!

The whore was a fucking mercenary! She had been hiding herself all this time! Tyrion prided himself in reading people and Shae had fooled him completely for over a year! She was also a great charlatan! He had been fucking the enemy! Well not really … strange how his thoughts wondered in such a deadly situation Tyrion thought to himself.

Bronn went to the side of the doorframe. He slowly turned the key in its lock and removed it. He then reached over to grip the handle and jerked it down.

Shae half turned her body still working her chain and kicked the door open and lunged through the doorway. Her body went into a low crouch while she worked the ball and chain of her weapon with compact arcs slashing the heavy iron ball in deadly circles around her body.

Her left hand gripped a sickle with a curved blade that looked extremely dangerous to Tyrion. The blade was poised to strike with the back of the sickle pressed along her forearm. The small black haired woman was in a crouch looking right and left with quick flicks of her head. All the while the iron ball was whirling around the darkness. The ball angling out into the darkness seeking the assassin. Shae seemed to know exactly where all the furniture was even in the dark! She was highly skilled. She had totally fooled Tyrion into thinking she was only a whore.

Bronn surged in just past the doorway pivoting right and lunging with his sword and then pivoted and ducking down lunged to the left of the door way slashing his sword. This was done with lightning fast movements and then he was in the middle of the doorway in a crouch his sword resting on his forearm ready to strike as he paused hyper alert.

He moved forward several steps guarding Shae’s back. “Tyrion come just inside the door with the lantern held high.” All the while Shae was swirling the ball to her weapon making it snap out in the darkness at many various angles. The weapon whiplashing out and then coming back to Shae. With her wrist she again had the ball spinning so fast in tight circles that Tyrion could not follow the heavy iron ball.

Tyrion did as instructed. He stood trembling. He watched the two mercenaries quickly scan the room looking around and up and down. They relaxed slightly moving to check the edges of the room. Shae moved in on the thick drapes at an angle. She snapped the chain and the ball went still and she quickly folded up the chain. Shae used her sickles to move aside drapes with a quick rush from one side to the next. Bronn was just behind her ready to strike at any exposed villain.

“I’m telling you there was an assassin in here!” Tyrion exclaimed afraid his protectors would doubt him and then laugh at him.

“I know that Tyrion.” Shae calmly told the dwarf. “You are not giving to seeing things or being afraid of things that go bump in the night. Well, except for Cersei” Shae spoke in a sardonic tone. “If you say an assassin was in here then there was one” Shae again spoke in a serious tone.

Tyrion was comforted that his bodyguards believed him and took his alarm with total focus and were prosecuting with full vigor.

Shae went to the main closet where Tyrion’s kept his clothes. Shae crouched low and whipped around the dressing screen. She found nothing. She then pivoted back around gracefully. She got on one side of the closet and hooked her sickle along the edge of the curtain. Bronn stood ready to the other side off at an angle. Shae spun across the doorway pivoting down to a deep knee bend pulling the curtain behind her as she moved. Bronn looked into the closet peering in. Shae rose up and hooked her sickle again along the edge of the hanging garments and she ran across the doorway again pulling the clothes along the hanging pole showing only empty space behind the clothes that fell back into place.

Now all relaxed more. With Bronn backing up Shae they explored the small privy and the two alcoves. All were empty.

“I’m telling you he was in here.”

Bonn squeezed Tyrion’s shoulder. “I believe you Tyrion.” Bronn looked around the room and went to the Hand’s table. They all examined the candles that had all their wicks cut just above the wax. The wicks lay on the floor and table. “Most skilled” was all Shae said. She and Bronn relight the candles.

Bonn looked at the windows that were still locked from the inside. “Well Imp, that was quite entertaining” Tyrion totally relaxed. If Bronn was back to being disrespectful then all was clear.

They discussed all that had happened and tried to figure how the man had gotten in and out the room. Tyrion totally trusted his hired bodyguards and told them the basics of his conversation with Kwai Chang. Several Goldcloaks had come to see about the commotion in the hall and rooms. Tyrion explained that a small disturbance had occurred and he would inform the Queen of it tomorrow. He wanted a night to analyze all that he had heard before he reported to the Queen.

The trio walked around Tyrion’s room looking for some way in and out. Bronn and Shae were convinced there was no way in. Tyrion was not so sure. It was a mystery and the dwarf knew just who might be able to solve it. Tyrion then sent for Varys. As Tyrion waited for the Spider to appear he went over all that Kwai Chang had told him with his bodyguards. He was heading into danger. He sighed. It did not matter. He would do all he could in the Queen’s service.

Shae now squeezed Tyrion’s shoulder reassuringly. “Don’t worry Tyrion. Bronn and I will protect you. With our lives if necessary.” Her dark eyes intense as she squeezed his shoulder again.

Tyrion felt a lump in his throat. How had he gotten so lucky! He had the best bodyguards ever!

When Varys appeared he was asked if any hidden passages led to the Hand’s room. Bronn and Shae had gone back to their rooms. Tyrion had known that Varys would not feel comfortable discussing his hidden assets if Tyrion was not alone.

Varys sighed. “I hate giving away secrets for free”.

“We are both in service to the Queen. I assure you Varys that I will hold this information close. I know there are hidden tunnels in the Red Keep. The legends all say so and all legends are based on truth. You can trust me.”

Varys looked at Tyrion judging him and then nodded. The man led Tyrion to a spot by the fireplace. He showed how if a certain stone was pressed on the left rear wall and then two other stones were pressed in at the same time a small door edge appeared. With much effort the door was opened on screaming hinges. Tyrion had heard no sounds before his assassin accosted him. Varys informed him that he had sparrows always patrolling the hidden passage ways. No intruder had been seen.

“This passage has not been used as far as I know for a generation. Thus, the squeaky hinges. I will have those oiled. Let me check.” With that Varys walked down the passage with a torch. He appeared several minutes later. “As I suspected, the dust is undisturbed. The only footprints down there are mine now. Tell me of this man who accosted you.
Tyrion gave Varys all the highlights of his conversation with the Homeless Samurai.

“Humm, It is said of these assassians ‘Listen for—they cannot be heard; Look for—they cannot be seen.’ The man unless he is a ghost who can walk through walls somehow accessed your room. I do not know how this man got into your room Tyrion.”

They talked a little more before the Whisperer left. He too squeezed Tyrion’s shoulder as he left. Tyrion again touched by the thoughtfulness all around him.

Tyrion made a mental note to get all the passage ways mapped from Varys. He would hold the information close. The fewer who knew the better. His bodyguards had returned.

“Come Tyrion” Bronn spoke when Varys left. “You will stay with us tonight. We will have to reconsider your safety.” They left Tyrion’s quarters. The dwarf becoming more agitated as walked down the short distance to Bronn and Shae’s quarters.

“I don’t want to lose my quarters.” Tyrion spoke up not wanting to lose his freedom. Bronn and Shae stopped considering Tyrion’s words.

Bonn spoke with a thoughtful look on his “You won’t. I think we will post some Unsullied in the hall in constant patrols and have guards posted by the doors. Perhaps we can devise some way for you to signal your situation if this occurs again. Though I am not sure how. I will check the outside tomorrow to see if there is any evidence of a forced entry was made from the outside.”

Shae spoke up “I have a better idea. I think it is high time anyways.”

Tyrion looked at Shae with a question in his eyes. Bronn was clearly unsure as to what Shae had to propose.

Shae looked back and forth between them.

“We keep moving back and forth between our apartment and your quarters Tyrion. I grow tired of it.”

“What are you proposing?” Tyrion asked not sure where the whore come mercenary was going.

“Out with it woman!” Bronn barked acting peeved.

“Oh for crying out loud you two thick skulled numbskulls. I say we move in with Tyrion. It is time you two make an honest woman of me” Shae spoke fanning herself batting her eyelashes.

The two men looked at each other. They were unsure if Shae was serious. They eyed each other. Both thinking that they did have a great time when all together in Tyrion’s quarters entertaining their various whores, courtesans, Summer Islander sailors and various other women who Shae brought to their quarters. That and all the abuse they heaped on each other.

“It is high time we form a permanent union I think” Shae said.

Bonn looked at Tyrion. Tyrion looked back.

“Do you think we are compatible?” Tyrion asked Shae.

The supposed whore looked at Tyrion with incredulous eyes. Then she was laughing.

“Hell yes were compatible you idiot. I love you Tyrion” Shae said simply.
Bronn face registered hurt.

“I love you equally you stupid buffoon Bronn. I always have. Even when you are an ass!” Shae snarked and punched Bronn in the shoulder. He umphed at the powerful punch. “We are prefect for each other. Can’t you two idiots see that? We are the perfect threesome. You love me too. Just say it.”

The bodyguard fidgeted. Tyrion took a deep breath. A smile crossed his face. Yes he did love Shae. Despite all the abuse she heaped upon him. He loved Bronn too. Just not in that way of I want to pork you kind of love.

“Yes. I love you Shae.”

Bronn scuffed his booted foot on the floor. “I love you too Shae” he said softly. He looked shy and bashful. Bronn at the moment looked like an unsure teenager. Tyrion would have teased the man but he did not want to spoil this bonding moment.

Tyrion started his face showing shock and fear. A horrid thought had crossed Tyrion’s mind. “Uh Shae … if we become … ahhhh … ummm … a formal pairing … I mean threesome … ummm … do we have to stop fucking all the sweet whores and other women you bring here? I really like porking them!” Tyrion exclaimed trying to be both funny and see where Shae thoughts rested on the matter.

Tyrion saw Bronn blanch. He started to sweat. Tyrion felt fear grip his balls. He really did like fucking all those sweet lasses Tyrion thought greedily to himself. He looked at Shae with a nervous stare his feet shuffling.

Shae threw her head back laughing gaily.

“Oh hell no! I ain’t giving up my pussy! I can’t live without burying my face in lots of sloppy wet pussies. Plus, Olenna will be bringing another delegation in from Leng next month. I asked if the delegation is bringing Sumo wrestlers. They are!” Shae squealed. “Gods they fucked me so good, hard and deep. They gangbanged my ass air tight Bronn—Tyrion! I can’t wait for them to arrive.” She started to fan herself.

Tyrion saw her nipples had become rock hard and her face flushed just thinking of them.

“Damnit! Are you bringing them up again Shae?!” Bronn groused. “They were a great fuck. I get it!”

Shae walked between the two men and gripped their hands leading them back to Tyrion’s room.

“I say we go back to our quarters and you two fine lions put the fire out that is burning in my pussy and shithole. I want you to pound the shit out of me!” Shae husked to the two men excitedly batting her long eyelashes. Her face filled with primal fuck hunger. Her eyes drifting down to their tented trousers her tongue unconsciously licking her lips.

Tyrion felt his cock throbbing in his trousers rock hard. Bronn had a sweet evil leer on his face. Tyrion couldn’t wait. He loved to DP fuck Shae with Bronn. He felt love surging through his body.

They entered Tyrion’s suite of room. With a big smile on his face, Tyrion thought to himself he could get used to this. He had already had plans forming to knock out the wall to his bodyguards former residence. The combined space would make a nice home indeed.
Melancholy Minstrel

Slowly the cloth traveled up and down the instrument. The soft fine cloth caressed the wood with loving circular strokes. The fabric rubbed gently into the spruce wood that made up the top panes of the viola da gamba. The Maestro had played his instrument for fifteen minutes earlier in the pre-dawn half-light of the rising sun. The Maestro had not needed that light for many years now.

His bow had first caressed the strings like a lover. The bow caressing the strings lightly and then the angle of the bow changed to allow the author of the tune to aggressively attack the strings to bring out confident stirrings of passion and evocative emotion. The bow moved across the six strings with supreme confidence. The Maestro had written out these notes himself for the new play he was housing in his most Avant Guard theatre. The horse hairs of his bow evoked the color and timbre of his desires for the music.

He could feel the minute particles of rosin flicking off his bow as his bow worked up and down angled and bounced into the strings to make the chords and notes dance in his ears. He had been most satisfied as he rehearsed his more difficult passages. It was the silences between the notes he had difficulty with.

He again went over the cord progression of his second prelude in act III. The G,C,D7,G,E,A7,D proving to be difficult. The arpeggios spread over 3 strings and the harmony established within the first 3 notes. He used the pattern as introduced in the first 8/16 in bar 1 as the most common pattern. The measure of a unit of 8/16 was repeated in the second half of the bars, sometimes including a bridging note to the next chord.

He practiced the musical chord progression again. He smiled satisfied. He knew his audience would love his work. He was not conceited. He knew what his audience wanted and he loved creating music that matched the audience’s wants and desires with music that was well crafted and yet still evocative and stirring to the soul. He had the gift and knew it.

Now he had out a thin sliver pick. He used the implement to work his fine cleaning cloth underneath the bridge. The maestro gently ran the cleaning cloth underneath the six strings of his instrument resting in the notches of his bridge. He believed in the adage in not letting any snow build up on his instrument. By cleaning it after every playing he avoided risen dust build up. He did not want to use any of his special cleaning polish he had imported from Oldtown in Westeros. The Quivering Arpeggios was renowned on both continents for the quality of its constructed instruments and care products.

He worked the cloth up the neck of his instrument to the six pegs of his viola de gamba. He worked the cloth back and forth with gentle tugs of the tails of the cloth projecting from the neck. He was slow and methodical. His instrument needed to be stroked like a young nervous colt. He now slowly cleaned the pegbox and the scroll at the top of his instrument.

The cleaning finished the maestro put the cloth back on his work table and ran his fingertips lightly over the spruce and maple of his instrument. He ran them all around the instrument looking for any imperfections in the varnish. He found none.

Without sight he used his fingertips lightly tracing the bridge. He judged the angle of the bridge and the fit of the strings in the notches on the shoulder of the bridge. His fingers tracing over the cutoffs naming them as his fingers ran over them: heart, heart wing, kidney, waist, greve, shin, ankle, toe and crotch. The bridge had a tendency to pull forward towards the fingerboard as the strings were tuned.
If one did not keep up with any movement of the wood then the bridge may warp and eventually break. The maestro judged that the bridge had moved forward a slight fraction of a millimeter. Very carefully, the maestro gently pulled it back with the thumb and forefinger at the top of either side of the bridge.

Satisfied with the condition his instrument after his inspection he moved to inspect his bow. With his fingertips the maestro felt that the screw was secure and ran his fingers down the stick to the tip. The bow was perfectly balanced. He then very delicately ran his fingers on the sides of the hair of the bow. His horse hairs were from mares only. He liked the more aggressive response of the highest quality mare hairs.

The Maestro was satisfied now that his instrument and bow were ready for the play tonight. He turned in his seat. He had his room laid out exactly but he still clicked his cheeks and tongue moving his head slightly. He had read in his youth of a blind man who used this method of clicking to echo locate large items in his environment. He felt all was in place. He got up and moved to the case leaning against the far wall and put his instrument in its expensive carrying case.

The insides cut precisely to hold and protect the instrument from any excessive force or shock from normal movement. Thick velvet lined the cutouts and along the lid of the case. The Maestro closed the lid and latched the belts and buckles in tight. He then lifted it and put it in its custom made dolly to give the instrument a smooth ride. The black wood gleamed bright in the soft lift from the windows.

He moved to his bed. His clothes were laid out precisely on the bed from left to right. He took off his robe. Now nude he sat on the bed and put on his silk undergarment. He then pulled on his dark black trousers. He left the laces loose tight and did not run the buttons in the eyelets. He pushed his belt through the loops but did not buckle it in. The medallion on the belt was circular with a raised image of an ancient stylized horseshoe shaped lyre with four strings. To the right and slightly behind a painters pallet and to the left in the forefront slightly the traditional smiling and frowning actors mask. The raised bronze painted black except for the smiling mask painted white.

He bent down to work on and then pulled up black socks and slipped his feet in black supple aurochs leather shoes. The feel on his feet was exquisite. He pulled over his head a pullover silk slip shirt to absorb sweat during the performance. He put on his starched brilliant white dress shirt with ruffles at the sleeves and pleats along the upper chest. He buttoned it up and tucked the long tails in his pants.

He now laced and buttoned his trousers up and snapped the belt in place. He flipped the collar of the shirt up and put the tie around his throat and tied it with a perfect Windsor knot the thin tie kept in place with a tie tack on the third button. The gold chain swung slightly with his movements. He flipped the collar down. He felt to make sure his knot was centered over his throat.

He now pulled over his ensemble his black conductor coat with long tails. The last piece of his outfit was the thin purple sash he tied over his blind eyes. The owner, director, conductor and composer for the Theatre of the Sublime was ready.

He heard a knock at the door to his small apartment. He picked up his walking stick and clicked as he moved his head moving down the short entry hall. He was very comfortable in his environs.

He opened the door.

“Are you ready to leave Maestro?” the teenager of middling years asked. Behind the boy a small well adorned carriage with two horses pulling it awaited the man. The man heard the horses knicker and the left horse stomped his steel shod hoof on the cobbled street. The bells on the reigns tinkled in the soft breeze off the lagoon. He was very familiar with this carriage and driver.

“Yes I am ready. This will be a most excellent premier tonight.” The Maestro felt confident in tonight’s premiere performance of his new play. He let the attendant roll his instrument down to the carriage and place it in the boot in the back of the carriage. The attendant very careful moving the instrument down the steps to not jostle it needlessly. The boy had proven himself over the last year. The boy ran to the door of the carriage. The man heard the teenager let down the step that snapped into place and offered his arm. The Maestro did not need the assistance but used it all the same. He sat on the fine satin seat that was thick with deep dimples with ornate buttons in diamond pattern on the seat.

The boy got up on the wagon seat that had a lazy back. He sat beside the wagon master and relaxed. The man who had been looking up at the buildings stopped his idle wasting of time. He took the reins that were tied around the brake post and jerked them getting the horses in motion. The horses nickered and the carriage went down the cobble street. The wheels clicking in the grooves between the paving stones. The silver bells tinkling soothingly as the carriage advanced down the lane.

The maestro rolled with the motions of the carriage. He went over in his mind all the items he needed to do to make his show a success tonight. His theatre was staging a new play in the avant-garde style that the high aristocracy of the business classes in the free cities had come to love of late. Three years ago the jaded audiences needed something new. This was evident by the declining attendance numbers. The Maestro knew his audiences could be most fickle.

He had several other theaters catering to the Bourgeoisie and Nouveau riche. He had met the management of his playhouses and over several months determined the jaded crowds needed more titillation in their dramas. In Myr and Lys they had certain new elements added to their plays to much acclaim. Those two City States were always trendsetters in the Avant Garde of plays and operas.

The Maestro had decided to follow suit in Braavos. Thus, live sex had been incorporated into their plays and operas. Demand and attendance was again strong at his theatres. The Maestro wrote his operas with the standard two scenes of sex in the second and fourth act. He was a strong believer in giving the audiences what they craved. He wondered about the lowest common denominator and just how low the rich and poor both could go. He smiled. He had no problem playing to the new lowering standard.

And anyways the Maestro wondered, what the lowest common denominator truly was. He ruminated on this from time to time. If the crowds loved it then it was what the populace wanted.

What was good for the profit line was what he would cater to. The Maestro would meet the needs of his audience.

He had worked with the librettist on his new opera for this new season in the new current style for the past several cycles of production. His first opera had been about an exiled prince returning to reclaim his throne and claim the princess long ago promised to him. Last season it had been the gallant knight that rescued the damsel in distress from the evil sheriff abusing his post. His new production would have a rouge pirate with a golden heart freeing a slave ship and taking a high Valyrian noble woman as their lover.

He had high hopes for his current play. His apartment was only eight blocks over from this theater. This particular theater was a four story structure in the ornate art deco style of stone work along the front of the building. The center of the building was built to sit out several feet from wings on each side. The windows in the center piece long rectangles running north and south. The wings had regular sized windows to let light in the foray. Inlaid lines of slate ran from the roof to the sidewalk on the wings the buildings. Each set of slate bisecting the center of the windows on the journey from the roof to the foot of the building.

The stone was a washed out white. Large circular tables adored the front with large umbrella awnings in the center of each table on poles that jutted up like new bamboo. Already an early crowd was eating breakfast and drinking at the tables. Alcohol was no doubt already loosening tongues with high tales and secrets flowing. The rich always ready to relax with some alcohol.

His staff nearby to replenish glasses of bubbly and hard liquor and fill plates with finger foods. The waiters and waitresses ever present to be accommodating. Ears attuned to all that was said. The patrons relaxed with the environment and the liquor and perhaps the supplied hashish and diluted cocaine in their drinks if desired. The relaxation of the patrons had lips loose and voices raised. Just how the Maestro liked it.

The attendant let down the step and the Maestro got out of the carriage and waited for the attendant to get his instrument from the boot. He unfolded his stick and began to click turning his head mapping out the location of people. The attendant reached his side and he walked before the Maestro pulling his instrument behind him on its dolly. Inside the foray the restaurant manager greeted him and told him sales were already brisk of appetizers and early meals. Alcohol sales were brisk as well. The manager was reminded of the high profit levels that hard spirits brought.

The blind man moved to the left and went down several halls angling into the building. He came out a side door by the orchestra pit. His first chair violin player was there already. It was still only six forty-five in the morning. The maestro had set seven thirty for the beginning of practice. He wanted one last run through of the play’s highlights. Opening night was always important. They needed to generate good reviews and an avant-garde buzz. He went to his instrument that had been setup beside his station and examined it. All was well of course. He smiled. He though to his viola de gamba as his most precious child.

He took the opportunity to go upstairs over the audience rows and balcony seats. Here were private bedrooms decorated with the most expensive accruements and furniture made by the most sought after artisans of the day. Large beds for Sealords and other powerful men and women in business or politics to take wives, husbands and illicit lovers to. The Maestro needed to give his wealthy patrons love nests to work off the sexual high his plays provided.

He ran hands over the beds making sure sheets were tucked in tight and smooth as a baby’s butt. He had a staff member with him to be sure all was clean and in place.

He checked the storage rooms above the love nests making sure they were clean and vermin free.

He checked that all the access tunnels were open and doors working freely in case of emergency. The tools that would be needed kept in the supposedly store rooms. The Maestro worked his walking stick into the rooms to tap on the tools that were indeed still in the rooms. He had run his walking stick into one of the rooms to map out the necessary tools. He bent down to pick up and bring out the tools. Handling them to make sure they were in good working order. His fingertips sensitive to the slightest variations. He had an attendant to put them back in the room once he was satisfied with his inspections.

He went back to the first floor and was told most of the musicians, small choir and actors were there now. He went to his elevated seat in the pit. It would allow him to hear both the orchestra and what was happening on the stage. His librettist for the opera nervous like she was before all his new operas. She was a rising star. He believed in paying all of his employee top dollar. He never tried to chisel wages from his people and they were fiercely loyal to him because it. He often plucked the most talented players and backstage talent from his competitors because of his reputation for fairness and paying top fare to his employees.

He tuned his viola da gamba. He then positioned himself on his chair. He looked around with his blind eyes. He could sense the total focus of his orchestra. He smiled out at them and sensed their return smiles. He gripped his bow and they launched into the overture and then into first act. They played the main passages he had written for the first act most exquisitely. He loved hearing his musicians sighing at the beauty of the music he made. The orchestra played his music exquisitely. A smile was on the Maestro’s face listening to his music come to life. They played through the score highlights and all were most satisfied. Tonight’s first performance would be a smashing success and all in the orchestra knew it.

After the rehearsal, the Maestro talked to his first chair violin and flute players going over some last minute fine tuning of their scores. With a good feeling he left them. He was called to meet the two leads. They were rising stars too. He had used Xhazata Rharas in his last play in the main supporting actor role. She would now play the pirate captain and a freed slave from Lys was the love interest. Renaela Valeneos was ravishing beauty of pure Valyrian heritage with snow white hair and violet eyes.

The women were excellent actors and sopranos. They had had to pass one more test. The Maestro had required the woman to audition for the role in his private quarters. For several hours the women had fucked each other senseless. The Maestro had to make sure the two leads could portray the raw sexual energy the audience craved. They were hired after that performance.

The Maestro may be blind but the cries of ecstasy and the sounds of wet pussies sucked, finger fucked and strap-on fucked to repeated orgasms was not faked. The sounds of sodden cunts expertly gobbled by fuck hungry sluts sweet and loud in his room. He heard the timbre of voices and with his sharp senses felt the women’s bodies’ hard contractions of womb rending orgasms. Both women had cried out in wanton pleasure at the anal invasions of their anuses with thick long strap-on cocks. He had heard the subtle sounds of cocks slipping from asshole to pussy and back and the sounds of women doing hot ATM.

Yes the crowds would be most pleased. Unlike Westeros, the Free Cities of Essos, while they did not completely celebrate homosexual love they were much more tolerant. It was a laissez faire attitude. Thus, the cities all had large centers of homosexual life. Within those bastions homosexuals were safe to be themselves. Many businesses catering to them and their lifestyle with many gays owning and operating those businesses. The police protecting them with many of their own ranks filled with homosexuals themselves.

Essos was much freer about homosexuality but still many felt repressed. In the theaters and art houses the rich were allowed to explore their hidden urges. Here in his theater they could and all were allowed to freely explore their natural dispositions that too many repressed. Her those repressed desires were allowed to run rampant if desired. In the theaters, sex was freely given to all persuasions of sexual orientation. Many suppressed sexually starved women flocked to these theaters to devour all the sweet young sluts and studs offered to them.

His rich audiences loved to watch women get fucked. This season the Maestro was adding lesbianism to the mix. He knew men loved watching women fuck. Women did too. It was just that many hid it. Here they could openly enjoy the natural desires they suppressed. His staff watched the suppressed lust on women’s faces and tried to match them up with women they would be compatible with. The theaters well known for their full support of lesbianism and offering it to the lesbian, bisexual and bi curious. Many women lost their lesbian cherries at this establishments. The women becoming full supporters of the theater and its arts. The women anxious to attend every new opening night and seeing the play often many times. Each time they had their brains fucked out by the females waiting to fuck them senseless.

Of course, the men were receiving the same treatment. Men fucking all the pussy and asshole they could partake of. Many of the men in open relationships. If they have could all the pussy and ass they could get then they were happy to let their wives and lovers get their own with other women.
The men were much less possessive if their lover was with another woman. They did not feel threatened. It was only another woman after all they rationalized with themselves.

The Maestro was giving his audiences what they wanted. Lots of it. Being able to watch homosexual love freely displayed before the repressed audience would drive the audience wild the Maestro knew. He knew his female staff would be inundated with horny rich woman dying to practice what they had just seen.

The Maestro chuckled. Many new bisexual and lesbian women would be born tonight. His female staff were literally licking their chops waiting to get at all the new pussy coming their way after the play. His staff filled with bisexuals and gay employees. The art houses a haven for the gay life of Braavos.

Now the women actors greeted him with chaste kisses on his cheeks. He sensed them sitting back down on their thickly upholstered sofa. The maestro subtly clicked and saw the woman were side by side pressed into each other. He could feel them shaking with lust. He asked them if they were ready and they nervously stated they were. The Maestro smirked when the women told him they would perform all parts of their libretto to sheer perfection. The Maestro was sure they would. They had been practicing for weeks rabidly each night his nocturnal wharf rats reported.

He left his two lead actors. As he let him himself out he heard the women clench and the sound of clothing being hurriedly shed. He knew the two women actors were going to practice their parts one more time. Practice makes perfect the Maestro smirked.

He went to his office and had the latest business reports read to him. He asked question for clarification. He ate an early lunch. He went over the inventory reports. He prided himself on staying on top of all functions of his Houses. Two hours later he heard a knock at his door.

His stage manager and master prop man told him all was ready for one more dry run through the play. He went into the orchestra pit and shook hands with his first chair violin, cello and horn players who had prominent parts to play.

The maestro tapped his foot and lightly said “one, two, three, four” and the walk through was started. He kept one ear literally tuned to the pit and the other following what was going on the stage. He heard the stage manager whispering instructions and prompts where necessary. The music wafted across the stage setting the scenes and intoxicating the actors to give their lines with verve and full throated passion.

The two leads sang their lines as they were indeed a mighty pirate queen and frightened noble woman. The two leads sang with conviction and power. They made you believe the feelings of their words. The audience would easily believe they were falling in love.

When the first sex scene occurred in the third scene in act two the acting would have the audience slavering for the sex. When the Summer Islander cut the noble’s straps on her dress that pooled to her feet. The loud groan of lust Xhazata so hot to hear as she fell to her knees and wormed her face into Ranaela’s already wet pussy and devouring it to a quick screaming orgasm.
The Valerian of pure Blackfyre heritage wobbly moved forward and then ripped the Summer Islander’s top to shreds buttons flying and then she savagely jerked down her trousers. The white haired woman pushed the black female captain up on the desk beside her. The blonde goddess fell to her knees and gobbled the black pussy before her as the Summer Islander gripped her head. She fucked the pale face with her sopping wet snatch like a fuck post. The Summer Islander wildly rode the pale Valyrian’s face and wailed as her orgasms ripped her apart.

The orchestra played his music perfectly. He needed them to practice through the sex scenes to make sure they could keep their focus. When each new play or opera first started practice rehearsals the orchestra had a hard time performing the music but as opening night approached their professionalism and seeing the sex again and again had the musicians playing the music perfectly. With the sex the orchestra had to improvise and play various credenzas by the various first chairs.

One was never sure how long the sex scenes would last. When the actors had great chemistry, which the Maestro insisted on, the sex would often stretch out twenty, thirty or sometimes forty-five minutes longer. The Orchestra was paid extra the longer the sex scenes played out so they did not mind having to improvise. The music only secondary during the sex acts and thus they could play simpler tunes but they did have to keep the music sensual and flowing with the sex. Rising to crescendos when the women orgasmed screaming again and again.

The Maestro smiled. The women really loved playing their parts and sucked, finger banged and tribbed to shattering orgasms. The strap-on sex would be in last act.

There was a fifteen minute intermission. This allowed the actors to recover and get their stamina back. The Maestro smirked at this. Men had to be in the best shape and full of manly vigor to be ready to go so quick. Women had it much easier in that regard. They would have the third and most of the fourth act to recover.

Yes the audience would indeed like his new play. The rest of the play went well and the last act scene where Xhazata banged Ranaela doggy style with her leather sand filled strap-on missionary as the pale woman enfolded her with pale arms and legs would indeed be intoxicating. His remembrances of sight reminding him of the sweet color contrasts.

Xhazata then took Ranaela and supposedly took her anal cherry as the woman acted unsure and fearful of having her asshole fucked for the first time. She showed her face going from pain to pleasure and was soon ramming her ass back to take all of Xhazata’s long thick cock up her ass. The black actress gripping her costar’s ass cheeks to slam back into her impaling thrusts.

The first time Xhazata pulled out Raneala’s asshole with shit juice pulsing out hotly the Maestro heard many in the orchestra groan as did Ranaela. The Maestro knew that the sweet juice had just flooded the pale actress’s cunt. The supposed captain lying down on her back pulled her fellow actor down to the bed resting partially on her body. Xhazata ‘forced’ Raneala down her black stomach to her cock jerking on her belly soaked in Raneala ass cream. The Valyrian noble woman ‘forced’ to suck her ass of the black dick. The woman going from shock and fighting the supposed defilement to hungrily bobbing sucking her ass off the black captain’s dick.

Her dick cleaned Xhazata rammed her cock back up the pale white ass of her costar in spoon now. The woman crying out in pleasure. She was fucked savagely Xhazata’s dick soon soaked in sweet yellowish white shit juice again. Now it was Raneala eagerly pulling forward and rolling over to hungrily clean her ass off Xhazata’s shaft slavered with here sweet creamy shit juice.

After Raneala orgasm hard several more times she took the strap-on and did Xhazata doggy style fucking both her pussy and ass. The summer islander howled as she cummed so hard. Raneala straddling her ass next and slamming the dick straight down Xhazata’s shit pipe making her howl with raw pleasure. The Valyrian pulling out the now gaped asshole and stepping forward over her lover’s body and fisting her ringlet hair jerking the black face up and back. Xhazata balancing with one hand the other gripping Raneala’s ass to anchor herself. Her mouth hungrily bobbing up and down now Raneala’s black shaft. Xhazata moaning and sighing sucking her ass off Ranela’s dick.

Xhazata cummed twice hard with Raneala first fucking her doggy and then spoon plundering both fuck holes to stunning soul crushing orgasms.

That was the script. The woman continued fucking with the strap-on for thirty more minutes with Valyrian showing she was a top and dominated the pirate queen. The orchestra members groaned seeing all the sweet ass to mouth and ass to pussy. He could not see the looks of submission on the strong Summer Islander’s face but he knew it was there. The small Valyrian was a natural top.

Raneala had finished Xhazata with her straddling the Summer Islander’s hips with her legs planted on the furs her hips working to slam her thick long cock deep down the upturned pussy and asshole banging both fuck holes savagely. The blonde doing A2P and then when fucking Xhazata’s black ass savagely she would pull out. The Maestro heard his orchestra groan seeing shit juice gush out the black beauty’s asshole and run down into her open pussy.

The Maestro could hear Raneala fist the black beauty’s hair and harshly jerk her body up and around and feed the Captain her dick soaked in the Summer Islander’s asshole juice. The sounds of the black actress feasting on her ass juice was sweet to hear. Her screams of a multiple anal orgasms was even sweeter.

The Maestro was very satisfied. He would make quite a fortune in gold dragons and other currency. He paid his actors and musicians very well to interact with the clients after the show and give them additional pleasures they may seek. The avant-garde theaters met all their audience’s needs. He made sure plenty of alcohol, aphrodisiacs, pleasure drugs and good food was available. His staff anxious to meet all their audiences sexual needs.

For his musicians, actors and behind the scenes staff the sex was a bonus. They were paid for each sex act by the Maestro and any information gathered was paid for with ample bonuses. He smiled remembering how his first chair violin and horn player had been total prudes when the two women joined his orchestra. They had been naturals and were prompted to first chair on their first audition with the orchestra.

Orchestra players always competing for position in the orchestra. The two new women were simply the best and their fellow musicians on the same instrument knew it and accepted it. The orchestra musicians valued music skill above all else.

Naerehna Vaelnalys and Prossozlo Shaqo had been virgins of sixteen and seventeen when they joined the orchestra. Both women had long hair. One woman with snow white hair while the other had midnight hued hair. Both were simply ravishingly beautiful with their contrasting skin of snow pale and dusky hued skin. Their cherries both plucked that night as they took their first chairs before their instrument. The women fucked the night through by the many lesbians in the Maestro’s employee.

Both women were now avowed lesbians. They were both in high demand by the rich women of Braavos. After every performance they were flooded by beautiful, horny, often sexually starved women. The two musicians had all the pussy they could handle which was quite a lot. The wives and mistresses drunk on drink and sex spilling all their husbands and illicit lover’s secrets they had been whispered to them. The wives knew to have new secrets to leak to the two musicians who seemed to love to gossip. The starved for sex women loved sharing secrets as most women did. It drew them closer to the musicians.
The orchestra, actors and stage hands dispersed. The Maestro sat on his seat. His staff were used to him just sitting there after the final rehearsal before opening night. Their leader off in his own world. He let his thoughts wander. This performance had been perfection he reflected on. He went over one last time all the music and libretto and went over last minute details in his razor sharp mind.

The Maestro had been turned on by this last run through of the opera. Opening night always filled him with jittery passion. He thought about taking a few of the male choral singers upstairs but decided he did not have the time. He had more work to do this day. He walked out of the pit and walked down the halls with his stick waving and his mouth clicking. He took congratulations from his comrades in this great new opera that would soon be the talk among the Sealords of Braavos. He went to tell his two leads that they would be the toast of the city.

There was a large bedchamber reserved for the two leads. It was filled with the best furniture, accruements and stocked with the best food and drink. It was a perk for their positions in the current play. They did not hear him open the door. His senses easily told him they were in tight sixty-nine rolling around devouring sloppy wet pussy. The air rich with the pungent musk of women rutting in the bedroom.

The Maestro could hear the sounds of pussy being devoured and the sound of bodies rolling on the bed as hands pulled bodies tight so their sweaty flesh could jerk and flex over each other. The women were insatiable lesbian sluts. Lucky them he thought. They would have so much pussy during the sure to be long run of this new play.

He chuckled. Two powerful Sealords wives had already reserved the evening with the actors in that very bed. The price was steep but the two actresses were avowed hot horny beautiful lesbians and their prowess already whispered of and longed for by the rich and beautiful lesbian, bisexuals and bi-curious women of the upper crusts of Braavos.

He prepared to leave. He stopped as the two women reached simultaneous orgasms. Their screams swallowed by the pussies buried around their hot sucking mouths. He left the room with a big smile. He would return thirty minutes before the curtain went up at nine that evening.

Reviewing still his play the Maestro walked back to the orchestra pit. He packed his instrument and slowly made his way to front of the building. He heard his carriage coming to take him to his next destination.

He heard his most trusted employee. He had grown into a young man of great possibilities. The young man pulled the reigns calling to the horses with a gentle voice. The Maestro liked that the man had a gentle touch.

“How was the last rehearsal?” the driver asked getting down from the driver’s seat and pulled down the step.

“It went most excellently. We will have much business from this run. I predict this play will have a most long stay at the theater. Maybe a sequel will be in order. I will make a huge profit in dragons and a huge surfeits of secrets, hidden plots, illicit affairs and plots against enemies and state. Yes, indeed, Rasco, the House of Black and White will gain much currency of information from our new play.”

“I had no doubt Wharf King. I had made sure all was in order.”

“You did most excellently my supreme Wharf Rat. The hidden passages by the balconies had their listening horns positioned properly as always. The storage rooms above the bedchambers cleared and the spy holes properly plugged for easy removal so we can see and hear all that occur down in the bedrooms. The hearing horns and spy glasses in place to hear and see all that transpires. The reservations say that much hot fornication will be occurring with plenty of secrets ready to be spilled."

"The master chief and bartender told me you fully restocked all the drugs to spike their food and drink with to lower inhibitions. My musicians, singers, actors and backstage hands will have their lovers unburdening souls in post coital bliss."

"The two Sealords most involved with the Oligarch have their wives in attendance tonight. They were nearly drooling when I promised them the two lead actors for a full night of lesbian debauchery. Our actors will have all their secrets they have learned from the husbands and the other wives they regularly fuck behind their husband’s backs by the sun’s first light. Men never suspect their women could all under another woman’s charms and influence."

"Our actors so easily coax out all their secrets when they have a woman’s clit exploding again and again in their mouths or a man’s cock down their throat doing deep throat as they ejaculate. So many are starved for men who know how to fuck for hours and make their cunts and asshole explode in massive orgasms. The women love being fucked by women and men who know how to bone. The men of course are easy. Just give them a hot hole to fuck, have their cocks sucked and they are happy."

All of the Wharf King’s employees were adept at listening while serving and giving drugs to loosen tongues and lower inhibitions to those in the audience who seemed to have secrets worth working for. They were then guided to comely women or men and soon more alcohol, drugs and sex had secrets flowing.

Rasco took the Wharf King to another small apartment that the man kept. He let off the Wharf King as he looked around subtly making sure no one was observing. He watched the Wharf King use a key from his pocket to undo one lock and then pulled a key out of hidden slit from a lapel and turn the second lock.

The Wharf rat took the carriage on down the lane. He would pick up his employer in four hours.

Inside the apartment, the Wharf King was undressing from his finery as the Maestro. He placed the clothing down on the bed in order like he had put them on. He liked order. He knew that Rasco would come in the back passage in order to pick up all that he left in the bare room. Rasco would clean and have the outfit pressed and ready to be worn again for the performance tonight. The items placed back in the same exact order. The Maestro opened a canvas bag and took out a rumpled and patched monk’s robe. He had taken off his expensive loafers and put on worn and partially falling apart sandals.

The Wharf King had been walking tall and proud with shoulders squared. He was a person in a position of power and influence. He was no longer that person. The man now slumped his shoulders slightly and dragged his left foot with just a hint of a limp. He slowly removed his thin expensive silk cloth from his eyes. With hands that shook slightly with palsy the man replaced the expensive cloth with a much wider weathered strip of non-distinct cloth.

Last he moved his viola da gamba from the expensive case to the rumpled one that had a perfect interior but no one would see that. People were superficial. They would only see the beat up exterior and not the exquisitely crafted and cared for interior. He took a smaller canvas bag with a strap and put it across his shoulder and back. A small folded seat in through the strap.

He put his instrument into a beat up dolly and went out into the hall and followed it to the main hall and turned left to reach the back door. Slowly, with a shaking hand the man pulled a key out of his pocket and unlocked the door. He stepped out into the overcast sky. He could feel the heat of the sun muted on his skin. He was completely in his character.

From a deep pocket on the cloak he now wore, the former Maestro pulled a folding walking stick out his deep pocket and unfolded it. It was dirty and well-worn with nicks on its worn tip and a beat up handle. He began his quiet clicking and moved down the street. His steps were unsteady with his left foot dragging slightly. He slowly made his way west and north through the winding streets of old Braavos. The walk unsteady and wavering slightly.

Most ignored him with a few curses to stay out of the way “you old cripple”. He tilted his head and begged forgiveness. He needed to get to his best begging station he had near the pool at the Plaza of the Muses. The plaza named for the fountain depicting the nine muses that inspired the artists. What better place for a musical beggar to ply his trade.

He heard the fountain from afar. The spouting and rushing water splashing with tinkling merriment. He swiped his walking stick from side to side just above the stones. His stick hitting a curb. He adjusted his path accordingly. He stepped down into the plaza with a wavering of body nearly losing his balance and falling. He turned to wearily move his instrument down to the plaza. No one came to his aid. He moved forward clicking his tongue and cheek. The bouncing sound and pressure difference telling him of the obstructions in his path.

He had come into the plaza from between two tall building into the large rectangular plaza. The plaza was two hundred yards long and seventy-five yards wide. The buildings bordering it were three stories on three sides and one narrow leg of the rectangle had a four story building on the right and a circular tower in the middle soaring one hundred feet in the air. On the left side was a four story building. The buildings had flat faces with many slim windows. Most were open to let in the flowing breezes off the lagoon coiling the stifling air.

Their narrow doorways between every set of four windows giving entrance to the apartments and lofts located inside the buildings. The three and four story buildings housed restaurants and various food merchants to feed the people of the plaza on the first floor with the tenants living above or the apartments leased out to other local denizens.

He heard the water flowing out the nine female figures of the central fountain of the plaza. He remembered them from his youth. The nine women were all nude in various poses holding instruments of music, painting or writing in their hands. The muses contemplating the fates through the magic of art. He could still vaguely see in his mind’s eyes the water either dribbling or spurting out mouths, eyes, nipples and vaginas wetting the copper figures or landing in the circular basin. A light patina of greenish blue on the figures from oxidation.

His sightless eyes looked upon the tower dedicated to the Moon Goddess of the Qohor. The red column circled with a white marble band ten feet below the top of the tower. Slender windows cut around the circumference of the tower to let worshippers look out at the moon no matter where it was located in the night sky. The tower capped with its walls going to a pointed peak done in pink sandstone.

He whisked his walking stick around finding an open area upwind from the fountain. He did not want moisture getting on his instrument. He took off his carrying bag with the small folding chair strapped into the canvass straps on the side of the bag. He pulled it out and opened his flat topped stool chair. He opened his case and pulled out his viola da gamba. From his canvas bag he pulled out his begging bowel and closed his instrument case. He ran the bow over the A string. He tuned the rest of the strings off that harmonic.

The old man settled onto his seat. He looked around with his blind eyes. His barely audible clicks told him that many persons were milling in and walking through the plaza.

He began to play sad melodies collected from many lands and times. Tunes that spoke of loss and longing. His mournful viol playing stories of loss and rue. He heard people stop their walking to listen to his music. He would occasionally hear the plink of coins thrown into his bowel. He played and listened to the life of the city walk past him. He aimlessly thanked whoever had been kind enough to thank the man whose music had touched their hearts and souls.

He gripped his bow underhanded and played his instrument playing soft notes of despair with strong strokes of his bow crying out for justice and revenge for lost love. More coins plinked into his bowel the sound no longer ceramic but metallic as the coins started to layer up in his bowel. His listeners knew they were in the presence of some fallen master. He offered his thanks to his unseen patrons.

He received several requests for a melody. If he knew it he was rewarded with a few gold dragons. He loved playing in this spot. The neighborhood neither rich nor poor. The people in his area hard working immigrants working their way up or locals having achieved their initial success and moving into this area and celebrating their first flush of success.

The people who lived here had not forgotten their roots or been jaded by too much success. They could still feel compassion for the less fortunate. Between songs he listened intently to the conversations around him. One never knew when a nugget might fall into your open palm. In this world, information was every bit as valuable as gold if not more so.

He was about to start another sad ballad of lost love when he heard nails clicking on the stones. He heard people exclaiming. First a fox ran past him and then five seconds later a hound came bounding by panting hard.

The Minstrel paused. The fox and hound did most of their chases at night unseen by man or up on the rooftops. They loved to run along the roofs of Braavos. Some of his Rats chose to live on the roofs to get away from the heat and press of bodies all around. They would report to the Wharf Lord of their epic chases. Recently, they had startled several of his rats underneath their pigeon coups. They had been on their chase when he was still a teenager.

The Wharf King had traced their journeys across the Free Cities. When he traced their tenuous history back in time it seemed they came from the land of the Golden Fields. Their origin lost in the mists of time. They seemed to be cursed with a compulsion to chase and be chased. Only those who threatened one of the canines brought harm on themselves. The other canine was soon to come to the defense of their seeming antagonist.

Several times they had been observed when their compulsions had been tamped for a short while. Then the canines would rub against each other and whine in whimpers of frustrations. The Wharf King mused they must have once been lovers before their curse.

They were also vampires with shape shifting abilities when not in their chase. The House of Black and White had lost three men to them recently. The Wharf King felt no animosity towards them. The house of Black and White traded in the coin of death. Their work was deadly and asked for no quarter. The two canines had defended themselves and won. He had not known of the ambush in the warehouse beforehand. If he had he would have contacted Jaqen.

He suspected Jaqen H'ghar wanted to make alliance with the canines. When he made his break with the Iron Bank he would need allies. He was still deciding his position in the upcoming upraising. The Iron Bank was indeed growing too powerful but he would not let his House fight a war it could not win. Those who fought in the shadows always lost. The light of day was too powerful. Where the Faceless Men struck solitary blows from the shadows the Iron Bank could muster forces in broad daylight. That balled fist could destroy their order in a day if they so choose.

He played a few more songs. The sun was burning down hot now the mist have burned off that tended to linger at this time of season. He packed up his wares and went to the sushi vendor in his open stall in the open market place underneath the first floor of the four story building. Vendors had their small stalls setup between the pillars supporting the weight of the building for the twenty feet the market area ran into the building.

Each little spot between pillars claimed by a food vendor. One sold fried fowl of chicken, pheasant and guinea fowl. Another vender sold fresh vegetables in open boxes: tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, onions and other normal table fare. One vendor sold melons, fresh picked from the flats which surrounded Braavos. Many other vendors set up to sell food for tastes that ranged the breadth of Essos and Westeros.

He went to the Sushi vendor form Yi Ti. He purchased several strips of blue fin tuna in butter broth.
He bought some radishes and celery. He added another purchase of flat bread squares and a bottle of spring water. He moved to set up against the building opposite the sun moving to the start of its final descent from the sky.

He sat his chair down and his instrument. He pulled his purchases out of his canvas bag and set them up on the ground before him. Instantly remembering where he put each item.

He started to eat enjoying his repast. He was sitting underneath the open window of the beautiful redheaded whore Nilaena Dirryl. She was renowned for her beauty and sexual appetites. He heard the headboard slamming into the wall and the grunt of a male rutting and a woman crying out in ecstasy. Soon the man was roaring and the woman wailing as they both cummed. He was not a voyeur but still it was enticing to sit below the whore’s window.

He was used to Nilaena’s shrieks of orgasm. Now the man was satiated. He couldn’t but help hearing them talk as the man told Nilaena how she was insatiable and he had fucked her four times this midday and now into the late afternoon.

The prostitute had chortled cutely and the sounds of snuggling could be heard. The Sealord after a few minutes sighed. The Wharf King heard the woman kissing him lightly on his shoulder.

Nilaena asked him how life was at home and work. The man soon was unloading all his frustrations and desires. He told the whore of the frustrations and suspicions of the Iron Bank against the Faceless men. The crime families were vying for more power. His wife did not understand him anymore. Only Nilaena understood him and soon they were fucking furiously yet again. The man telling the whore that one day he would leave his wife for her. Neither of them believing the lie.
The whore would not have gone with him anyways. He had already proven he was an adulterator.

She had known the musician would be underneath the window at this time. She made sure her Sealord had been well fucked and drank four or five glasses of wine spiked with a drug to lower one’s guard and made one easily led in expressing their innermost desires and secrets. Nilaena had easily coaxed the desired information out of her client.

She had formed a business relationship with the Wharf King five years ago when still only sixteen years of age. She had with her great beauty already craved out a rising clientele but she desired security. She had already seen how fickle the prostitution business was. She had grown up on the streets an urchin. It was not until puberty hit that she transformed from a gangly girl to a ravishing beauty.

She had heard of the Wharf King through some of her childhood friends. She had asked to meet him. To her surprise he had agreed to her proposal. She was had been a no body then. She was still just another whore walking the streets relying on luck for her business at that time. She had not yet built up her clientele ledger. She knew he dealt in information. Information was power she had heard and the Wharf King traded in it.

She made her business proposition. She felt men were fucking little boys who never grew up. They were always prattling to her about their personal and business woes. She had secrets to sell now but what if they worked together. She had asked for his training and his protection. She told him that she could bring her closest prostitute friends into the ring.

She and her lover Taenina Maegirah had already saved three quarters of the money they needed to open their own brothel. They had talked to Chataya and Alayaya in Westeros and planned on opening a brothel catering only to women and willing to meet their more kinky desires. It was amazing how many noble or powerful women loved to be abused in the bedroom. These women craved to be abused in a safe and loving environment. They would make a fucking fortune the whore thought happily.

Their business contract had been most lucrative for both parties. They would still ply their future clientele for information to sell and trade with the Wharf King. Why end such a lucrative business adventure. The Wharf King had reduced their goal of buying their own madam house by at least seven years. Within three years they would have their own whore house. It would be glorious.

The Wharf King had finished his meal. This Sealord had intimate connections to the Iron Bank. He had a ceremonial key and was privy to some of their workings. The Iron Bank was indeed getting nervous with Jaqen H'ghar rising defiance. That and the Oligarch and now the Autarchy had arisen in Slavers Bay to pose a challenge. The Wharf King had learned that and that the man’s wife simply did not understand him anymore and he wanted to make Nilaena his wife. She had cooed and told him in a breathy voice that was her dream too. She had gone down on him giving him hot head.

All were willing to use their power to try and bend governments and institutions to their will. Times were indeed going to be most dangerous in the coming years. The Wharf King thought on the coming storm and how to meet it.

He put his trash in a bag he carried just for that. He hated people who let their trash blow around Braavos. Nilaena may be a lesbian but she never said no to an orgasm as the man was banging her in the ass and now she was crying out in a loud anal orgasm. The headboard banging the wall hard yet again.

He rose up and started to put his canvas bag over his shoulder.

“You sir are a pervert voyeur!”

“Excuse me?” The Wharf King replied to the roughly barked words. His voice was weak and thin. His motions unsteady. The man had walked up to him with the jaunty walk of a Bravo in his first flush of knowledge of the blade. The young man moved toward the beggar with haughty disdain. The Bravo had blended into the background noise of the crowd walking and milling about. The Wharf King had not heard him coming until he was close. “I’m just a poor beggar enjoying his meal out in the open air and cool shade out of the sun. I have made a good showing today—come let me buy you an ale my young man.”

“I think not. No. You were listening in on that man and woman fucking getting your jollies you old beggar. Your kind are a blight on this great city. You are vermin that needs to be cleansed of from this City!” the young Bravo sneered at the middle age beggar.
The Wharf King had his hands up in supplication. “I am just a poor beggar. What honor do you accomplish by killing me” he asked in a placating tone of voice.

“I save the city leaders from having to put up with your trash and defiling the honor of that couple. Your kind are a blight and burden to Braavos! The world will not miss you beggar. You won’t even see your death coming.” The Bravo chortled at his own supposed humor.

The Wharf King had heard in the man’s voice the first flush of adulthood and the power it brings a boy turned man. He also heard a cruelty that would blight his fellow destitute kindred as long as this Bravo walked the streets of Braavos. This youth who thought he was a man would only become more cruel with the passing years.

He heard the sound of a rapier quickly pulled from its scabbard. Now that the young had accosted the Wharf King he easily tracked this man in all his bluster and his loud movements. The young Bravo thought his movements elegant and awe inspiring. The Wharf King found the young man slow and inept.

He heard the Bravo swish his sword theatrically back and forth through the air. The boy was showing off to the uninitiated. The Bravo lunged at him to strike him in the heart. The Wharf King stepped to the side. The Bravos tracked him and slashed at the Wharf King. He moved back staying just of range of the slashes of the rapier.

This would not do the Wharf King thought. He could not afford to bring attention to himself. He could already hear people just starting to take notice and stopping to see what was occurring in their midst. Their senses only beginning to register the conflict in their midst. The Wharf King dived to the left and bent down picking up his bow with his left hand as the rapier swiped over his head.

The Minstrel gripped his bow and held it up. He cocked his head listening intently. He did not need his clicks to center his focus on the man with his hearing. The youth’s hard breaths and boots scraping the stones as he moved told the blind Minstrel all he needed about the Bravo’s movements.

The Bravo gave a barking laughing. “You are a fool if you think that bow can save you old man!”

The Bravo lunged again at the Minstrel. The Wharf King whipped his bow up and got the blade between the wood and hair of his bow. The blade lodging there. The Wharf King stepped in raising his arm in a quick snatch movement taking the Bravo’s blade up and jamming the thin rapier into the crook between the winding, screw and frog of the bow.

The Bravo jerked his blade not understanding how his blade had been trapped. The Minstrel took the moment to reach into his deep right pocket of his robe and with expert skill pushed the thin six inch dagger out its sheath with his thumb and gripped its handle while pulling the blade out of his robe.

He slammed the blade up between the second and third rib of the Bravo driving the dagger deep into the man’s heart. The Minstrel ripped his hand over twisting the blade shredding the heart muscle around the blade and ripped the blade out the now gaping wound.

Blood gushed out of the wound soaking the shirt of the Bravos on that side and running down his side onto his trousers wicking from his skin.

The Minstrel stepped in holding the man up as his heart fluttered for a few heartbeats and then stopped blood still pouring out the savage wound in the Bravos’ side bleeding out his now dead body life’s blood.
The Minstrel clicked his cheek and tongue moving his head. The few that had stopped to see the commotion were now moving on. The excitement was over and no one wanting to get involved in matters that did not concern them. The passerby did not grasp that a murder had just occurred in their midst. It looked like the men had maybe made up their differences. The people now hurrying did not want to take the time to discover what had truly occurred in their midst.

The Wharf King laid the dead man down on his face to hide the bleed out for a few minutes. He quickly put his dagger away after whipping it on the man’s shirt underneath his body on the right side. He put his bow back in its case and closed it. He put his canvas bag around his shoulder and put his folded seat back in its straps on the canvas bag.

His instrument put in its dolly the man calmly walked away humming a melancholy tune. Soon he was gone lost in the crowd.

---

Jinn

20,000 years ago

The Jinn floated on the wind observing the world as it essence drifted on the currents in the air. High above the deserts the spirit of fire drifted and swirled. The varying invisible currents in the sky felt good on the essence of the Jinn. No animal eye could discern the patterns it wove. The spirit felt the sun warm on its being. The beams of light warmed the ether of its essence. The Jinn shivered feeling a brethren flow through it. The brother spirit acknowledged it and flowed on with a countercurrent breeze.

Far below, the Jinn spirit sensed mighty golden eagles slowly circling on lower rising thermals. The birds golden feathers gleaming in the sunlight.

The Jinns each living apart from its brothers. All seeking their own destiny in the wide trackless world. They knew of each other and randomly encountered their fellow spirits but they only acknowledge their brethren and moved on. Each Jinn focused on themselves. It was the world they were interested in. Not each other.

The Jinn could feel organic molecules wafting up to it from the desert floor. The Jinn smelled the essence of pollen. A rare treat. The sweet fragrances almost intoxicating. A strong shiver of anticipation ran through the Jinn. The Jinn concentrated for a moment and broke the breezes embrace on the particles of its essence. Like rain falling from the sky, the Jinn let its consciousness fall to the floor of the high desert plain far below. Its essence tumbling and swirling as it fell. Its consciousness mingled and flowed over the molecules of the air itself and felt the motes of dust float through its ether.

Downward still the Jinn drifted. The smell of pollen grew stronger. The sun was strong on it as the early spring sun was now at its zenith in the midday sky. A high flowing cloud briefly occluded the sun. The Jinn felt the shift in the molecules in the air as they vibrated less energetically with the loss of energy from the sun. Then the cloud passed and it felt the excited molecules striking its essence harder again. The Jinn felt the sensation of warmth on its constituent particles of its being.

The Jinn continued to flow down. Soon the Jinn was above the ground roiling on the air currents excited by the sun beating down on the ground causes ripples in the air. The heated air currents made the very air seem to shimmer. The Jinn was now on a cloud of pollen that wafted up from the riot of desert flowers blooming wildly on the sandy soil. The Jinn saw the riot of colors. The low berms of sand were covered in riots of blue, orange, yellow, purple with sprinkles of white and red.
The pollen thick in the air now. The almost forgotten signature of moisture still clung to the Earth below. A thunderstorm had passed through producing this bounteous bouquet of sweet scents wafting up into the air.

The Jinn shivered as it experienced the wealth of nature. The scent of many flowers filled its essence. Each species of plant life producing different scents that intoxicated the Jinn on the sweet elixirs. It watched the flowers bend and shake with the little gusts that flowed over the flowers. The Jinn saw the colors and the bands and lines on the flowers that shown only in the ultra-violet spectrum.

It did not know these things only the joy of experiencing them.

It saw butterflies and various bees flying though the sky going from flower to flower. Their wings beating oscillating patterns in the air molecules leaving after images like a line of past incarnations of the insects as they flew from flower to flower. The Jinn felt the insects happiness filled with nectars and pollen clinging to their appendages. The butterflies’ faces covered with white spics of pollen. The bees’ legs covered with yellow sacks of pollen.

The Jinn could feel the bee and butterfly tongues sucking and licking nectars from the flowers. The spirit enjoyed watching the bees work to get inside the flowers to lick out the sweet dew hidden inside the flowers. The colors of the insects themselves a joy to the Jinn. Even the species had variation between the specimens. Each a unique wonder. The Jinn took it all in reveling in the diversity of the world.

Each insect a beacon of energy and light that pulsed with its wings and glowed brighter when the insects drank from the flowers.

The Jinn fell into the still moist Earth. The Jinn felt the fast growing roots growing frenetically drawing up water and minerals from the Earth to grow the plants above the Earth. Nutrients flowed up roots into the stems and then into the leaves to make the sugars the plants needed to thrive and produce their next generation of offspring. The Jinn felt the plants absorbing the light and felt chemical reactions occurring within their leaves.

Energy was taken in and converted and sent back out. It felt carbon dixiode breathed in and oxygen breathed out. It did not know the words of these things but it felt them in the core of its being. The interactions of life a wonder to the free flowing spirit. All facets of the world fascinated it and made the Jinn reflective on beauty.

The Jinn felt grubs and larvae of insects burrowing in the dirt. The insects feeding and some going into cocoons to start their metamorphosis into something new and wonderful. The spirit felt the dirt of the Earth clawed and shoved aside by a mole looking for those selfsame grubs the Jinn observed. The mole eating all that it came across. Death feeding life.

Bursting free of the Earth the Jinn looked upon the waving green stalks all around it at this low view at ground level. The flowers above like orbs of beautiful perfection.

In the ovaries of the flowers the Jinn felt nascent seeds forming. A new generation of life for tomorrow was being formed from the essence of today.

For a day the Jinn enjoyed this profusion of temporary life before it rose up and drifted up and away on the breezes.
The Jinn was floating in the air above the east coast of Dorne. It was on the fast uprising currents near the Broken Arm. The air was getting excited and agitated as more and more moisture roared up into the air from the heated wind tossed sea below. The sun hot on the sea below evaporating vast columns of moisture up into the sky.

Men were fighting the rough seas to get their boats ashore sensing the turning of the weather. They were frantically pulling up their fishing nets.

The Jinn briefly contemplated these men. They had come to the land over ten thousand years ago. They were not like the first people. Those people lived in harmony with the Earth and with each other. Nature and these Children of the Forest were in perfect balance. The Jinn reveled in these small people. They had lived in this land for nearly a hundred thousand years. These people lived in harmony with the land.

The harmony of the Children of the Forest caused the Jinn to feel peace and harmony.

Not these “men” below. They were volatile. They engender unsettled thoughts and emotions in the Jinn. They made war on the Earth and each other. They had emotions that the Jinn had never experienced before. Strong surges of feelings that were foreign to its kind. These men harmed the world around them when there was no need. These “men” did not live in harmony with it. Even more perplexing these new men seemed to revel in harming others members of their own kind that had nothing to do with survival.

The Jinn had no interest in these men. In fact, he avoided them. These men were not harmonious with the world. They instead wrecked the world around them. Harmony was not in these new “men”.

That could not be said of all its brethren. Some had found that they felt an elation playing tricks on the humans. They would use their control of the elements of the world to move items and hide things the humans valued. The emotions they evidence from these events made these Jinn feel strange sensations. As the Jinn passed through each other randomly they picked up on each other’s observations and sensations they had experienced.

In his interactions with his brothers this Jinn discovered that the Jinns who had interacted with these course men were becoming intoxicated with the emotions of these violent men. This Jinn did not like this intoxication. It was like the birds when they had eaten fermented fruit. Their movements and thoughts became addled. The Jinn disturbed by the changes it sensed in these Jinn fascinated by these new men. The patterns of their essence now had timbres and hues the Jinn found unsettling.

Some Jinn were fascinated with the wars these humans fought. The emotions that occurred at such times intoxicated the Jinn who were fascinated with these humans and their wasteful actions. These Jinns spending more and more time interacting with the cruel men. These Jinn becoming more distant from their brothers even by the aloof standard of the Jinn.

Some went further and were lost to their kind. Where they went and what had become of them confused and upset their Jinn brothers. Many Jinn this one included avoided the humans because of it.

The Jinn forgot about the humans and their powerful emotions that boarded on what it had learned was called madness. How could one kill its own kind? How could any species kill more than what it needed to survive? This Jinn would flee from these men and let the peace of nature soothe its roiled nature.
That was the recent past. The Jinn in the now was in the turbulent air above the shore of Dorne that bounded the Sea of Dorne as men called the body of water. Water molecules were colliding and adhering to each other. Water droplets forming rapidly as clouds formed and began to rotate with the spinning of the Earth. More currents formed in the air. The energy multiplied quickly around the Jinn with the rising currents of heated water. The Jinn was pushed up the up rushing air currents and then sucked rapidly inside the now large dark cloud.

Suddenly, flashes of light that would have blinded the Jinn if it had eyes erupted around the Jinn. The heat of the superheated air pushed the Jinn violently out from its current place and then sucked back in as the void was filled. The boom of thunder buffeted the essence of the Jinn. Water was now flowing down as rain. The water pelting through its essence. The Jinn falling with the rain droplets as they rushed down toward the sandy shore and rolling waves crashing ashore.

The Jinn was suddenly sucked up high into the towering cloud. The water squeezed by coldness sucking out energy. Ice formed and the Jinn fell violently back down through the cloud knocked to the right and the left before ripped up again.

The violence of nature buffeted the Jinn. The roiling air, the shock of the superheated gas and the boom of thunder exhilarated the spirit flowing on the air currents. It reveled in this violence of nature. The Jinn understood the forces of nature. It understood the desert lion taking down the antelope. It was balance. The violence made sense. It was the way of nature.

The violence of man was another thing. It was unbalanced. It was harm and hurt without reason. The passions of this “man” ruled him and made him do things that were against the natural order of the world. Humans unsettled the Jinn. Not so nature. The violence of nature exalted the Jinn. It was pure and right.

The Jinn was buffeted wildly before it became part of the storm of hail that fell violently out of the cloud. The Jinn fell with the hail plummeting to the Earth far below.

Soon it felt the violent impact of icy water striking the grains of sand on the beach and hitting the water sending up gouts of froth. The impact reverberating throughout the Jinn’s essence.

The Jinn felt the humans yelling at each other and running underneath lean-toos and large trees sheltering from the storm. The thunder shaking the very ground.

Then the Jinn was again flowing back up the thermals to again join the clouds above and their fury. This natural fury and interaction thrilled the Jinn. It was pure and beautiful unlike the fury of man. The Jinn was happy to be sucked away from the foul touch of man.

200 years ago

The Jinn was slightly below the enclave the humans called Oldtown floating on the early fall breezes. The air still warm but the first hints of the mild autumn this land experienced stirred the atmosphere. The winter would be more severe than normal. The Jinn was above the marsh slightly below the town. The water flowing in from the river called the Honeywine by the humans. The tide was rolling in. The Jinn could hear the rhythmic pulsing of incoming waves of the tide hammering the marsh banks. The sounds of the waves lapping the shore rhythmic and strangely soothing. Again and again the waves came with the pull of the moon that the Jinn could feel on its essence.

The Jinn submerged into the water and felt the inrush of salty water colliding with the fresh water of the river. The colliding water created a brine of brackish water. The Jinn felt the rush of life in these waters. The smell of salt in the air. The Jinn felt the decay of detritus in the water and air. The Jinn smelled the death that lead to renewal of life that the humans called the “smell of the sea”.

The water flowed over the Jinn. The particulates of eroded Earth and rotted plant life swirling in the currents. The Jinn felt itself flowing through the Marsh Tails and Saw Grass that absorbed the effluent of the river cleansing it while giving life to small slugs and worms in the earth. The invertebrates eating the rotting mass mixed in the earth. The fish eggs from the last spawn of the shade filled the water and made it silky white in places. More food for the smallest of life’s predators.

The Jinn flowed over the sponges and soft corals that combed the waters feeding on the detritus and small particles of life that flowed over and through the stationary invertebrates.

Oysters and muscles pumped their shells pumping water through their bodies feeding on the particles while clams buried themselves and sent up a tuber foot to filter the water.

The balance of life. Death feeding life. Renewal and the circle of energy and life everywhere flowing between the life forms of this marsh. Perfect balance. This was how the world was supposed to be. Life giving way to death which then nurtured the life of the next generation. The life forms only taking what they needed to survive and create the next generation of life. It felt soothing to the Jinn. It felt right.

A boat passed overhead. Men were fighting over something useless. The shouts loud and discordant. The Jinn smelled alcohol that the humans liked so much. Emotions crashed over the Jinn intoxicating it. The Jinn shuddered and refused the siren call. The emotions too alluring to heed. This fight was not about survival where one must kill to survive like the desert lioness pulling down the wild boar to feed its body and its cubs. This was a fight for nothing over nothing. It was something the humans excelled at.

