Lathe slowly reached a hand out, covering Eren’s hand with his own, his tone soft as he murmured to him, trying to keep him calm and from panicking. “Eren, I'm not mad at you. You don't have to be afraid of me for anything. It’s okay. You can look at me.” I don't like seeing you so scared of me... Lathe ran his thumb soothingly over Eren’s knuckles, willing him to understand.

Eren kept his eyes trained on his sandwich still. No... I can see him... I don’t want to see him when he’s angry... He is angry... He’s gotta be...

Oh he is, don’t worry.

....

How could he not be angry at you? I mean look at you! You’re pathetic, weak, you make a mess of everything and you’re afraid of literally everything!

....

He hates taking care of you! You should just run away! Make his life easier.

But... He said...

No! He hates you!

Eren slowly drew his hand back from Lathe and picked up his sandwich to eat in fear of what Lathe would do to him. He finished it off before going to put his dish in the sink and run off, Blake at his heels.

Lathe thanked Spades as she silently tapped his shoulder and handed him a sandwich, sighing as Eren quickly left. He set down half of his sandwich uneaten after a little while, simply staring at his plate, his head in his hands. ...he’s so scared of me... it sucks...

Spades watched him from where she sat, eating her own meal. He’s gotta have a million things running through his mind. Eren’s not exactly keen on staying in the same room as him. “Do you want me to talk to him… We need him to get to trust you again before we leave in a week.” Her voice was soft, trying to cheer him up a bit. We can’t have him be scared with you in the same train car as him.

Lathe looked up to her, suddenly looking much older than he was before he weakly smiled to her, quiet. “Please… I don’t know how to get through to him about this…” If he doesn’t even want to be in the same room as me for too long… I don’t think he’d be too open to whatever I had to say...

Spades nodded. “You know… You guys should do something that will help the bond between the two of you… I know that might seem really weird, but I get where Eren’s coming from… Lathe, you’re huge, that’s the easiest way to put it. You could easily overpower him and he knows it… I think we just need to show him that you’re not a monster and more like a teddy bear, but it won’t be like a switch of a light, it’ll take time…” She got up to put her dishes away, coming behind him to give him a nice hug. I don’t want you to be so sad, I know you’re trying your best at this, you really are.

Lathe shrugged, letting Spades hug him, leaning back into her touch. “I don’t know how, though… What would I do with him? I’m no good at thinking of this stuff…” ...I guess I do kinda have a threatening figure... Well, Judo and gymnastics will do that to you, I guess... Hmmmm... No, that’s a dumb idea, he wouldn’t have any interest... would he? “Spades, let me know if this sounds like a really dumb idea… you know how I always go over to the gym some days after class? I wonder if Eren would want to come with or something, maybe find a niche there with all the classes and stuff going on…”

She nodded, hugging him a bit closer. “That sounds like a good idea, maybe you can show him how to do the bars… He’s certainly got the body for it, I think it’s be a good experience for the two of you, why don’t you go ask him if he wants to go? But don’t go in the room with him, stay in the hall, but you might want to crouch down if he’s on the floor, alright?” She released him from her grasp, giving him a peck on the cheek. I think you two will get better with trusting each other after that.

Lathe nodded, tilting his head to peck her lips before standing, not wanting to finish eating his sandwich. He padded from the room, heading upstairs to the recording room, where he thought Eren would be. He was right, looking in to him quietly reading on the floor in the center of the room. He glanced up, the image of Eren’s mother smiling back at him. ...she really is your mother... Lathe sat down on the floor outside the door, still in the hall as he gently tapped the doorframe with his knuckle, his voice soft. “Hey, Eren?” Please don’t look terrified when you look at me, please...

Eren lifted his head for only a second, realizing that he was outside the room. He’s not coming in?... He doesn’t want to hit me?... Okay... Eren looked up from the book, but still not meeting Lathe’s eyes. Are you gonna yell at me for making a mess? He swallowed hard, his voice still pretty hoarse as he stuttered. “Y-yeah?” Please don’t hurt me... I don’t want you to be mad at me like Grisha would be. He set the book down and reached for the empty jar of peanut butter, holding it close to his chest.

... oh yeah, he needs more peanut butter. ... wait. I bought those two things yesterday. That’s a ton of peanut butter to be eating!...well, I’m getting two things from the store today, then... “I just wanted to know, since you’re not in too many clubs at school, if you maybe wanted to come to the gym with me after school Tuesday? That’s where I always am, doing Judo and gymnastics stuff. You don’t have to if you don’t want, though.” I don't want you to think I'm forcing this on you.

what’s that? “What are gymnastics?” Eren asked quietly, finally looking up to meet Lathe’s eyes with his own curious ones for a second or two before he looked down at the jar again. He slipped his hand inside and rubbed around, pulling it out and licking the last of the peanut butter off of his fingers.

Lathe grinned at Eren’s question, pulling his phone out of his pocket and clicking on a bookmark, pulling up a video and sliding his phone across the floor to Eren. “The kind of stuff you see during the summer Olympics, with the people doing all the flips and fancy footwork stuff. That video is the kind of stuff I do. Play it.” That was a really good one.

Eren looked to the video questioningly before picking the phone up with his hand that wasn’t covered in peanut butter and played it. His eyes were glued on the screen as he watched Lathe do the uneven parallel bars, shifting a bit to sit on his knees. This is cool. Is this him? He’s doing flips! Eren watched as Lathe moved swiftly from the first bar to the second, his feet pointed the whole way, and never missing a beat as he performed various tricks on both the high beam and the low beam. “Is this you?” Eren asked quietly, his eyes wide as he watched in fascination. This is really cool.

Lathe nodded, his smile wide. “Yeah, that’s me. The manager guy for the gym figured out kinda quickly I was there all the time, and he kept seeing what I could do or heard about me from the other employees watching the floor. They asked to record one of my routines from last year, and I said okay. They’d gotten a lot more people to join after that, and they keep asking me to help teach a gymnastics class. I don't like turning them down so much, but I just like doing my own thing when it comes to that. If you wanted, though, I could try and teach you some stuff… But only if you wanted me to.” Lathe shrugged. “There might be another video of me under the martial arts section, if you wanted to see that…” It’ll either intimidate or intrigue you… I honestly don’t know which it’ll be.

What’s martial arts? Eren fiddled with the phone for a bit before finding the video, watching Lathe down opponent after opponent, his eyes going wide, struggling not to drop the phone in fear as he watched it. He…. He can hurt me…

You knew that already, dumbass.

But… He knows how to really hurt someone!

So? He might as well be trying to warn you of what’s coming.

….no…. I don’t want that to happen again.

Eren stopped the video and slid the phone back over to Lathe, moving to the complete other side of the room, trying to hide himself a bit, curling up defensively. I don’t want him to hurt me too… But I thought the gymnastic stuff was cool too…. But I guess he’s telling me he can hurt me.

He doesn’t want you to fuck up again…

How did I fuck up?

You’re really asking that now? You painted the fucking wall in peanut butter!

But…

Yeah yeah yeah, I know, you couldn’t find the right color, but really? Peanut butter? You’re probably gonna make him go out to the store and get more.

Eren let out a soft whimper and kept his back to Lathe, afraid he would be beaten, and because of that fear, he stayed in his defensive ball.

Lathe seemed to wilt as Eren shrunk away from him, picking up his phone as Eren curled into himself in the corner in fright. Fuck… he barely watched thirty seconds of it… I knew I shouldn’t have mentioned it…. what could possibly change his mind about me? I’m not about to hurt him… hmm… Lathe pulled up his YouTube account, clicking on a private video and sliding it back across the room to Eren, the phone stopping a foot away from him. He’ll maybe like seeing that… maybe it'll do something...

Eren flinched as he heard the phone sliding towards him, a shaky hand reaching out for it, grasping it loosely and looking at the video. He played it, seeming to calm down a bit when it wasn’t martial arts. His eyes were glued to the screen as younger versions of Lathe and Spades took up a dance floor, dancing through various jazz songs, along with tapping together. He watched with fascination, going through all the videos in the YouTube account. That looks so cool…. Like, really cool. Eren has a soft smile on his face as he watched the phone, but he was still curled up in the corner, far away from Lathe.

Lathe smiled weakly as Eren started to unfurl a bit from his small ball, relieved at the small smile on his face. Thank god. As he waited for Eren to go through the many videos, he suddenly became aware of the scent of peanut butter. ...I thought the jars were empty? Why is the smell so strong? He glanced around the room, soon looking up to the portrait of Eren’s mom and noticing her skin looked shinier than the rest of her. What kind of paint did he use for her skin? It’s glossy... He thought, recognizing the color after an instant, his eyes widening. ...it’s peanut butter. ...fuck, I need to clean that later.

Eren continued to watch the videos with pure interest, moving a bit to get closer to Lathe, though his movements were small and he was very timid. He stopped about six feet from the door raising the phone and pointing to a tap video. “...M-mom dances with y-you?” He stuttered, his eyes meeting Lathe’s for a split second before looking away. They look really good too... I think they do at least.

Lathe nodded, his features soft. “Yeah… In college, we took dance classes together. I really wanted to learn, I needed a partner, and she thought it would be fun… and it was a lot of fun. I loved dancing with her. I don't dance as much as I used to, though… You know the boots of mine you wear around all the time? And the ones I have now? They click so loudly because they were meant for tap dancing- I had them modified awhile ago, and the screws they have in them are flush with the soles, but they still click on the ground on the toe and heel. Not nearly as much as they would with plates on, though.” Lathe chuckled, getting a bit lost in thought. “My favorite videos on there are the tap ones. And the one for ballet, if you can even call it a real video. It’s just me failing to balance in ballet shoes for a solid seven minutes while Spades teases me about it and acts as a crutch for me, because the bar thing they had for you to hold onto to balance wasn't enough.” ...maybe I should try that again sometime... I have much better balance now... Maybe I should... ...I wonder if Eren thinks it’s dumb that I even tried ballet... It’s not exactly something all guys are into...

Eren nodded slowly, taking everything in. I wanna ask him... but will he say no? “C-can we do the bar thingy? F-from... from before?” His voice was quiet as he slid the phone back. I wanna try to do the bar thingy... it looked really cool when Dad did it!

Nice choice. Lathe smiled, taking back his phone. “Of course we can. That’s a lot of fun to do. It’s Friday today, and I normally go after classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays, but if you really wanted to, I don’t think there’ll be too many people there at one in the afternoon....” That would be epic, actually.

Eren looked up to meet his eyes as he spoke. “W-we can g-go?” He was surprised, and his small voice gave it away, along with the questioningly look he held. I thought he was gonna hit me... But he wants to take me there? We can go?
He's looking at me! Lathe nodded, his eyes bright. “If you really want to, that is. We can find some clothes in your closet you should wear, I'll grab my stuff, and we can head over if you like.” ... I’d have to ask Spades to fix dinner... she taught me how to make grilled cheese. She can definitely manage. “Sound like a plan?”

Eren nodded, waiting for Lathe to move out of the way, not wanting to get that close to him to get out of the door. Nope.... He can grab me and hit me, I don’t want to get that close to him. Eren stayed sitting where he was, watching Lathe with cautious eyes.

Lathe shifted forward a bit so he could start to stand, suddenly freezing as he looked to where Eren was six feet away from him, no longer there. He looked up to the far corner of the room, Eren huddled into himself, staring at him with wide, scared eyes. ... I didn’t even hear you move. Lathe crouched down on the floor, trying to keep calm for Eren, his voice soft. “Eren, it’s okay, you don't have to be so scared of me... I'm sorry if I seemed... threatening... but I'm just trying to stand up. It's okay. Please.” ...I hate having you so terrified of me...

Eren slowly nodded, seeming to relax a bit when Lathe explained himself. He’s not gonna hurt me... That’s good. He watched Lathe get up, slowly standing up in the corner as well, his eyes never leaving Lathe, but never looking him in the eye. I don’t want him to hit me... I wanna be able to trust him... But he’s mad at me... Isn’t he?

You’re still asking that? We’ve gone over this!

... But...

There is no way that he doesn’t hate you...

... I know...

Eren looked down, looking away from Lathe, a guilty feeling making his stomach twist into knots.

Lathe took a small step back, beckoning Eren towards the door and softly smiling. “It’s okay Eren, really. Please, let’s go find stuff for you to wear.” ...he doesn’t trust me. does he. “...Eren? I love you.” I feel like I need to remind you more often. You look like you expect me to bite your head off, and I'm not...

Eren looked up at Lathe at his statement, nodding and his feet moving slowly as he went up to him. He was timid as he slowly leaned his forehead against Lathe’s chest, his hands coming to grab Lathe’s shirt, closing his eyes. Don’t hit me... Please... I don’t want you to be mad at me...

Lathe immediately wrapped his arms around Eren’s middle protectively, his fingers tracing soothing circles into his back. He held Eren like that for a short while, murmuring softly into his ear. He shifted back a small bit to look at Eren in the eyes, trying to catch his gaze. “Are you gonna be okay? You still want to go?” If you want to bail that's very okay…

... He’s not gonna hurt me. Eren nodded, moving closer to his chest, feeling safe in his arms. I kinda don’t want him to let me go though… “y-you’re…. Y-you're n-not m-mad?” Eren stuttered as he curled up to him, his shaking arms slowly wrapping around Lathe’s middle. I don’t want you to hurt me… Or be mad at me…

Well it’s too late for that!

...W-why?

He hates you... But he trying to gain your trust back so he can hit you.

I don’t want him to.

Lathe shook his head before resting his cheek on the top of his head, quiet. “I’m not mad, Eren. Everything that happened wasn't your fault. I understand, and it’s okay. I really do love you, I hope you know that.” There’s no way I tell you enough... you should know that. He held him for a bit longer before he pulled back from him, smiling wearily. “So, how about we get you ready to go, huh?” It’ll be fun, take your mind off things.

He seemed to sigh in relief as he heard Lathe’s words. He… He loves me. Eren nodded and he started towards his room, leading Lathe into it. I dunno what to wear. He stood back and let Lathe go towards his clothes, simply watching him as he looked through his clothes. What is he looking for? I literally only own jeans…

Lathe dug through Eren’s closet, his brow furrowed as he searched. He pretty much only owns denim... Hmm... He shrugged, pulling out a pair of black sweatpants and handing them to Eren, along with a form-fitting tank top. “These should work fine for just your first day, at least. It doesn't really matter what you wear on your feet, as you do it barefoot anyway. Get changed while I grab my stuff, okay?” Lathe gently ruffled Eren’s locks, smiling before going to his room and hunting through his own closet.

Eren nodded, getting dressed quickly and going downstairs to get his boots on. He looked around for where Spades was, finding her in the scripting room, grooming Blake’s thin coat. Hmm... I think I painted him yesterday too... Eren looked down by the door, grabbing Blake’s vest and slowly coming up to the two of them. He curled up to Spades on the couch, watching as she brushed out Blake’s coat and hummed along.

Hmm... I take it it went well if you’re dressed like that? “You going to the gym with Lathe today?” She smiled more as Eren nodded, putting Blake’s vest on him. That’s great! Lathe must be Lathe soon came down the stairs, wearing a black tank top and red pants that were elastic at the ankles, setting down his bag by the stairs and moving over to them, stopping short as he looked at the two of them. \ldots you know, if Spades and I had ever had a kid… Eren looks a lot like he’d be it. Lathe smiled, going to peck Spades’s forehead. “We’re going over to the gym for a while. Is it cool if you’re in charge of dinner tonight?”

Spades smiled more as he pecked her forehead, a blush creeping across her face. “I think I can manage something from that fully stocked fridge of yours.” I’m sure there’s something that I can make. “You guys go have fun. Seriously, go, shoo.” She made the shooing motion with her hands and got Eren off the couch towards the doors.

Eren hopped off the couch, Blake at his heels as they waited by the doors. To the gym! I wanna try the bar thingy!

Lathe chuckled, following Eren and picking his bag back up, slipping on his metal-toe boots and slipping on a black jacket, snatching a green card as he felt the cool wind of outside as Eren opened the door. He locked it behind them as they went to the car, the drive only taking ten minutes. He parked in front of the gym, shutting off the car and subsequently the radio. “We’re here! This is gonna be fun.” Lathe grinned.

Eren nodded, getting out of the car, grabbing Blake’s leash and holding it close to his chest as the entered the large fitness center. This place is huge! His eyes were wide as he looked down a long hall, glass on both sides leading into different areas, on one side an Olympic sized pool, and on the other a large gymnastics area, and even further down the hall split off into a T and led off into smaller private rooms, each containing various items for different classes which ranged anywhere from Aerobics to Judo to Zumba and everything in between.

Well… Things have been going good I guess. I’m going to be going to LA soon, and Lathe said we’re going to be staying at Nate’s house again! I’m really excited to see him again, and he said he already got me the paint so that I can paint his ceiling, which he’s been wanting a galaxy painting ever since he saw Lathe’s study. I’ve been doing better with my relationship with Dad, I still freak out a bit when I do something wrong, so I try to stay out of his hair as much as possible. Though that has already led to a few misunderstandings of me trying to avoid him at all costs… Though I guess I kinda have been without realizing it. He’s been really cool about it though, and he let’s me take on a bunch of chores now which keeps me busy. Schools been going good, nothing major has happened yet. Jean apologized to me… again… He keeps opening his mouth and saying stupid shit, but honestly, I don’t think anyone really listens to him anymore… Well maybe Sasha and Connie but they can be talked into literally anything as long as food is involved. I was happy, Levi’s been calling me on a regular basis when he can now that his class schedule is a little more regular. I’ve been totally okay with him being gone, cause I know he’ll come back, and he sounds genuine when he tells me that he loves me… And I honestly can’t wait for him to come home at Thanksgiving. But anyways back on topic. We go a day off today… so Jean insisted that everyone come over to my house today. Why I have no fucking idea… So I agreed once Sasha gave me puppy dog eyes, I’m pretty sure she just wanted to see what the hell the recording studio looked like. But Armin canceled last minute, to take care of his grandpa, which I was okay with, I know Mr. Arlert hasn’t been doing all that great in the past few weeks, so we let his absence slide. So when everyone got to my place at around 10 in the morning, Lathe had already left for the staff meeting at school. What I didn’t know was that Jean had asked to come to my house because they’d all been kicked out of everyone else’s house for doing what we are fucking doing right now. I can’t believe I agreed to his spout of lies. They’d already fucking lit the joint by the time I came up to my room with drinks. Then of course Jean had to push all my fucking buttons until I took a hit……. And after that… I doesn’t seem to bad anymore.

Lathe stepped through the front door of the house, moving to take off his boots and noticing the many pairs already set by the door. Ah, Eren must have friends over. He tugged at the end of one lace, his brow furrowing as he faintly smelled something odd. He took a sniff at the air, his eyes widening as he recognized the smell. He ceased trying to get his shoes off, hanging his bag on the banister and immediately striding upstairs, furious as he heard the voices of multiple people coming from Eren’s room. I know that smell. He stood in the open doorway, his gaze hard as he looked over the six of them, a lit joint in Eren’s hand.

Annie was the first to look to him with sober eyes, immediately pointing to Jean and speaking. “Jean bought it, he brought it with. It’s his fault.”

All eyes suddenly snapped to him as they became aware of Lathe’s presence, their hazy eyes becoming slightly sharper as they realized what was happening. Lathe looked furious, his gaze still on Annie, words sharp with malice. “I. Don’t. Care.” He looked over the group. “The lot of you can get the fuck out of my house.” I knew at least one of you was a complete idiot. But all of you? And Eren? I thought you all knew better than that. I guess I was wrong. Lathe stepped aside and his gaze burned into them as they filed past, Eren moving to follow them, at the tail end of the group. Lathe barely moved, grabbing him by the scruff of his neck, his voice even. “And just where do you think you’re going?” You are not getting out of this without some kind of repercussion.

Eren looked up to Lathe with innocent eyes, though he was high enough to be surprisingly relaxed even with Lathe practically manhandling him. Why are you stopping me? “You… You told us to leave.” Don’t you want me to leave too? Eren moved in Lathe’s grasp so he was facing him, his eyes following Lathe’s arm, which was now on his shoulder, and following up to his face, finally realizing just how furious Lathe was. Shit…. He’s mad.
...he’s high as fuck right now. Lathe heard the front door close behind the last of the group, some of the anger draining out of his expression. His hand released Eren’s shirt from it’s tight grip, instead resting on his shoulder. “I didn’t mean you too, Eren, you live here. And I don’t exactly want you to stick around those kids at least for right now.” Lathe looked back to Eren’s room, scrunching his nose at the strong smell of weed. Well, can’t exactly banish him to his room for a bit. I need to keep him occupied, is what I need to do. ...you know, I’ve always wondered... “Here, come on, Eren. It’s okay, don’t look at me like that.” He gave Eren a tiny smile as he pulled him down the hall and helped him down the two flights of stairs to the basement, sitting Eren down at the large table and handing him a big pad of paper and setting out boxes of paints and pencils.

“Here, do whatever you want with this for right now, okay? I’ll be back down in a little bit.” That’ll keep him amused for a few hours. At least two. Lathe ruffled Eren’s hair before trudging back upstairs, his expression darkening again as he went to open all the windows on the second floor, trying to get the smell and smoke out. He went to his office and grabbed the school directory before going to the kitchen picking the phone up off the hook and calling the school office. After he informed the principal he hung up, going back downstairs to check on Eren’s progress.

Eren had used close to half of the pad already, 12 sheets devoted to sheet music he made on the fly, and each sheet getting progressively more difficult. The thing was though that Eren never composes music. Sometimes he’ll write some lyrics down, but beyond that he’d never really write for too long. The music looked like he had written it in a rush, which of course he had, but it was fluid melody, which could rival some classics in complexity. Eren had also somehow managed to find Lathe’s hidden stash of oil paints, three sheets of abstract art, it’s main focus, Blake staring at him with wide eyes as he giggled contagiously. He’s so cute... Hahaha. Eren was currently working on the fourth page of Blake, the only thing that may have been a surprise was that there were no brushes, not even a mixer… He was using his fingers, and colors were everywhere, all the way up his arm, but he had thrown on his crap clothes that he kept in the basement, his other clothes neatly folded in a pile for a change. He continued without a care in the world to paint Blake, though the backgrounds, and sometimes what he was wearing was always changing. Yes, wearing, Blake looked like he was standing on two hind legs and walking like a human with human clothes on. Eren could stop laughing.... That’s funny as all hell.

...how are you finger painting that well. And with oil paints. He grinned, gesturing to the pictures of Blake. “These are all really good, Eren! Blake looks really cool in all of them.” He’s impossibly better while high- he’s like me like that. ...college was stressful, man. Wait, is that music? Lathe looked to the sheet music, reading over the melody and humming along with it as it grew more complex. He never composes... and this is great! It sounds really good, and that’s even without the accompaniment! “Want me to transfer this music over onto sheet music? So you can play it on the piano later?” I'm very impressed, actually.

Eren looked up to Lathe with wide eyes, finally taking in his presence in the room, his large eyes moving towards the sheet music in his hand. “It’s on sheet music.” Eren insisted that it was, even though he had drawn the lines, and returned to his finger painting. “I’m hungry.” He whined as he started out another picture, food becoming the object as his stomach growled. I’m really hungry. Like, I could eat a whole cow...
Lathe just chuckled as he saw Eren painting the beginnings of a cow, shaking his head. Of course, he’s got the munchies… “I forgot you haven’t eaten lunch yet. I’ll get you something good to eat, okay?” He patted Eren’s head before going back upstairs, soon returning with a plate full of hamburger bombs. He set it down next to Eren, snitching a couple and putting them on his own plate before tapping his shoulder to tear his attention from the flock of chickens now taking up the paper. “I brought food.” He moved to sit across from him, pulling a smaller bit of paper and a pencil close to him, absentmindedly sketching as he ate. This entire ordeal is infuriating, and worrying, and oddly amusing all at the same time. ...dammit Jean.

Eren looked at the steaming bombs. What the fuck is that? What’s coming off of it? It looks like fucking tentacles… Eren wearily reached out with his clean left hand and sniffed at the food, his mouth watering from just the scent. Eren took a huge mouthful, continuing to paint his chickens, a smile on his face, his eyes an unnaturally large size, the drugs still affecting him. He ate a lot of food too, before he looked at his paint covered hand, not knowing what to do with it. So many colors… What the fuck is on my hand?

Lathe looked up as Eren stopped painting, staring intently at his hand in confusion and surprise. ...this is all just really weird at this point. “Those are some nice-looking chickens, Eren.” He pointed to his picture with the end of his pencil, his plate long since cleared and delicate long-stemmed roses taking shape on his paper. “Are you done? Want help getting the paint off?” He watched as Eren looked confusedly from his hand to him, down to the chickens, and back up to him, not doing anything besides staring at him with his paint-covered hand raised for a long moment. “...I’ll take that as a yes.” Lathe stood, setting down his pencil and moving to tug Eren over to the sink in the corner of the room, grabbing the soap and a sponge, running hot water and trying to get the oil paint off of his skin. This isn't going to be easy...

Eren watched Lathe grab his hand and scrub at the paint. His mind was going in circles as it tried to picture what the hell was actually on his hand that Lathe was trying to get off. Am I bleeding? Is that blood? Is he trying to cut off my hand? No… Please don’t cut it off. Eren watched the excessive amount of red paint come off of his hand from the red barn he had just painted moments ago. What did I do? Why can’t I feel any pain? Eren’s eyes were still wide as he watched helplessly, not knowing what the hell to do. He visibly swallowed as Lathe’s scrubbing got a bit harder and the drugs started warping everything around him into complete oddities. His heart starting to beat a mile a minute in his chest as he looked around, the room changing constantly. Blake was picking up on his agitation and fear starting to whine and get closer to them, yet for some reason all Eren heard was Blake talking and telling him to ‘be a good boy’ before the dog disappeared except for his sadistic looking smile and Eren really started to freak out then.

Lathe looked up as Blake whined, registering the panic in Eren’s eyes despite his being completely still, setting down the sponge and grabbing the towel from next to him, wrapping it around Eren’s hand and holding it in place so as not to let the oil paint get anywhere as he wrapped his arm around his shoulders, pulling him close. “Hey, Eren, it’s okay. Whatever it is that’s freaking you out, you don’t have to worry about. It’s alright.” Don't freak out- no matter what I say if you really start panicking, you won't hear me right anyway.
Eren could barely understand what Lathe had actually said to him. His eyes were still wide as he saw Blake reappear before his eyes, with that same sadistic smile. Holy fuck... That’s scary as all hell. Eren could only watch as Blake started to speak to him again, the words a screwed mess of words as they floated in the air, as if they were written out and animated. Eren tried to reach out at the words in front of him, grabbing at one as they tried to flee and escape. His fingers grasped the words, gasping and jumping back into Lathe as the words shattered to the ground and laid in a heap of neon colored glass. What the actual hell? I can’t touch the words? But... They’re fucking moving! “They’re.... Moving...” Eren said and watched as Blake’s words ran around the room and often colliding into each other and making new words out of themselves.

*I forgot that being high means that for a couple hours you're absolutely mental. I dealt with this enough in college, so either I shouldn’t have to do this or I should know by now how to deal. Eh. “How about…” Lathe looked around, an idea coming to mind as his eyes landed on the chalkboard. “One second.” He let go of Eren, taking the metal card out of his wallet as he walked to the wall, opening the sliding board and immediately heading for an old cardboard box. He went to a box of old patterns, pulling out a single felt glove that went to the elbow. Eh, Eren won’t remember how to get in here anyway. And this is way too small to fit me anymore, so- Lathe stepped from the small room and stopped dead in his tracks as he watched Eren running around the room, looking as if he were chasing an invisible butterfly and jumping in surprise as if it dropped something heavy near his feet every few seconds. He simply followed Eren’s path with a confused expression. ....drugs, man... Lathe caught Eren as he ran past, his hold gentle but firm as he get the glove on his hand, the towel long since having fallen off. “Can’t have you staining anything with oil paint- how about we go upstairs and watch some TV, okay?” Whatever the hell it is you were doing, something is going to go wrong with you running around doing that. Lathe ushered Eren over to the stairs, trying to help him ascend without tripping over his own feet.

Eren had just about made it up the stairs as Blake scurried by him, more of the words floating up from the dog’s sadistic grin, which always seemed to show now. More words! Eren picked up his pace and tried to get at the words which floated around him. He was almost in the clear, but lunged for one of the words, shattering it, only to trip and smack flat on his face on the last step. He laid sprawled on the ground confused for a second, looking around for the shattered glass which he should’ve fallen on. What the hell? It doesn’t hurt.... Eren had a very confused look on his face as he felt his stomach. What the hell? That should’ve hurt!

What the hell?! Lathe reached to catch Eren by the back of his shirt as he suddenly ran up the stairs, missing and grimacing as Eren tripped over the last step in a lunge. Fuck! Lathe immediately was next to Eren, trying to help him to his feet. “Oh my God, are you okay? Does anything hurt?” He probably doesn't understand a damn thing... if he doesn't start limping, he’s probably fine.

Eren let Lathe help him up on his feet, his eyes still glued on his stomach. He poked around with his left hand, a curious look on his face, he reached to his shirt and practically ripped it off, inspecting his unscathed skin. The glass didn’t hurt? What the hell? Eren reached up to grab one of the words, watching it shatter in his hand then looking at his unbleeding hand. What the hell? “It doesn’t hurt? That’s fucking weird as all fucking hell.” He muttered, moving to try and get another word. Blake watched from the couch, ears perked as he watched Eren stumble around the room to catch whatever the hell he was trying to. They stopped coming? Where did they fucking go? Eren stood in front of the couch, turning to look at Lathe with pure confusion.

...I'm so fucking done right now. “Eren, come on, sit down.” Lathe tugged Eren to the couch, sitting down and pulling him into his lap, keeping an arm firmly around his waist as he reached for the remote and turned it on. Lathe scrolled through the channels, and as it was the middle of a weekday, Spongebob was on. He settled on that, making sure Eren didn't try to get up and succeed. That should work… and at least it’s entertaining enough.

Eren had his wide eyes glued to the screen, completely entranced by the screen. Though what he perceived to be going on in the episode was completely different from what was actually happening. He managed to get Lathe to let him lay down with his head in his lap, he watched without a care in the world as time passed. He consumed episode after episode in his delirious state. He barely heard the door opening, he kept his eyes on the yellow square creature on the screen. Why the fuck is it yellow?

Lathe looked up as Spades walked in, still in her uniform and leaving her shoes by the front door. ...I totally forgot the time. Fuckfuckfuck. He didn't even have time to speak as she went upstairs with her bag. ...she's going to smell the weed and she'll know and then it's going to be all over… Fuck .

Spades made her way upstairs, like she normally did now with her bag of clothes to get changed after work, though when she reached the top of the stairs she stopped in her tracks. Is that…? Her steps quickened as she made it to Eren’s room and the smell even more prominent in his room. Oh my god, he was smoking weed… Holy shit! Does Lathe fucking know!? She went to his room, leaving her bag on the bed before making her way downstairs, finding them easily in the scripting room. She crossed her arms when she found them. Why in God’s name is Eren shirtless?? And why are you sitting there like nothing fucking happened!? You must know he’s high! I mean all the fucking windows are open upstairs! She cleared her throat loudly, though she only caught Lathe’s attention. “So you care to explain why he was smoking weed?” She asked, her tone as cold as ice.

Fuck. Lathe swallowed hard at her sharp tone, not used to it being directed at him, stuttering for a moment and try to explain. He was immediately on the defensive, and seeing such anger directed to him while she was in uniform struck an old chord in the back of his mind. “S-Spades, it wasn’t all Eren’s fault, a bunch of his friends had come over and pressured him into smoking with them. I came home while they were all still here and kicked them all out, but Eren’s…” He glanced to the mop of brunette hair in his lap, looking back to her, defeated. “I called the school already and told them everything, and believe me, it’s not as if I’m not letting Eren get away with it, but I didn't know what else to do with him besides distract him until he was in his right mind again.”

Spades kept her arms crossed as she listened to everything he said, nodding, before looking at Eren.
We should make sure he’s okay first… I can only imagine what everything must look like to him now. “How long?” She asked quietly, reaching into her pocket and pulling out a light to come look at Eren to try and gauge if he needed to go to the hospital or not. Don’t want his body to shut down if he’s been high for too long for the first time.

Lathe tried his best not to flinch as Spades knelt down next to them, though he couldn't help leaning away from her a tiny bit, paying rapt attention to her every move. “U-uhm … about… Seven hours? Ish?” His hold on Eren’s arm tightened near imperceptibly, protective of him. You’re trying to make sure he’s okay… but… I know how this goes...

Spades nodded, sighing quietly as Eren reacted to the light in his eyes much quicker than he would’ve seven hours ago. Well, that’s good. She turned a bit as Eren pushed the light away, curling up to Lathe to sleep and get away from the light. “Well, it looks like he’ll be fine, but you should know that if I didn’t trust that you wouldn’t let this happen again… you would be in the back of a cruiser right now, so don’t let it fucking happen again. I don’t want Eren to get addicted, and neither do you.” She turned to go start on dinner in the kitchen, knowing that Eren would want to sleep with Lathe for a bit. Was that too harsh? I mean… I technically should have him in the back of a cruiser right now… but we’ll let them off with a warning and I’ll talk to Eren about it later. She looked through the fridge, pulling out some ingredients to start and make food.

Lathe shook his head as she spoke, his eyes tinged with pain and fear and feeling the telltale prickle of tears as she left, swallowing hard and turning his attention to Eren in his lap, carding a slightly shaky hand through Eren’s locks. She's really furious… she swore… She's only sworn once before, really… I don't want her to be mad, I don't want Eren like this, I just wish this whole mess never happened… My God, she looked half ready to rip out my throat… what the hell am I thinking? How could she be ready to kill me? I know this is all terrible… I guess I kinda expected something… she wouldn’t. You know that. …no… this sort of thing hasn't happened before… I don’t know. maybe I need to hold off on the proposal… she’s just so terrifying when she’s mad… and the uniform isn't helping… Lathe suppressed a shudder, one hand moving to pet Blake as he nudged Lathe’s leg, trying to calm down. ...I knew the whole damn time Jean wasn’t the kind of kid okay for him to hang out with, far from it… I wouldn't be surprised if she had actually hit me… I’d deserve it.

Eren stayed curled up to Lathe as he slept through the last of his high, at least another hour before Spades announced that dinner was done from the kitchen, which woke him up. Fuck… I feel so fucking weird. Eren struggled to so much as lift his head from where he laid, though managed after a few attempts, confused on his surroundings, his head pounding. What the hell…? He looked up at Lathe and he almost instantly paled. He’s gotta be fucking furious with me… I fucking agreed to having them all over, but I didn’t fucking know they were gonna be smoking weed in my room!

Lathe felt the sense of dread in the back of his mind double as he heard Spades call for them, looking down as Eren raised his head from his lap. He's terrified. ...exactly how I feel right now. “Hey Eren- don't look so scared. We’ll deal with what happened it a bit. First, go get a shirt on. Dinner’s ready.” I’m not ready for this...

“Why don’t I have a shirt?” Eren’s eye trailed over his bare torso. How the fuck did that happen?

“You tore it off for some odd reason, which is okay because it was your shit painting shirt. Now go, get a new one.” Lathe gently shooed Eren off of the couch, looking to the doorway, his lips drawing into a thin line. ... well fuck this.

Eren only nodded, stumbling a bit as he hoisted himself off the couch. He made his way upstairs, shivering as he entered the cool room. The fuck? Why the hell are all the fucking windows open? Eren slipped on a long sleeve shirt before trudging back downstairs and into the kitchen to sit at his normal seat. “Mom, what’s for dinner?” He asked quietly, rubbing at his head, and managing to mess his mop of hair even more than it already was. It smells really good.

Well, you sound like you’re at least somewhat back with us… “Chicken, roasted chicken.” She murmured to Eren, setting a plate down in front of him, turning to Lathe with a soft smile. “Tea or coffee?” Her words were soft, her anger from before completely gone. I hope they like it, I haven’t made roasted chicken in forever.

Lathe’s eyes were a fraction wider than normal as he studied her every move, hyper-attentive. “U-uhm… C-coffee, please.” Lathe was tensed for anything as he sat down in fluid motion, Spades always at least in the corner of his eye as his fingers drummed on the edge of the table. His feet were drawn close under him, on his toes, his shoulders up near his neck and trying to look small. She’s progressed to calm fury. Shitshitshit.

Spades got their respective drinks along with her plate and Lathe’s plate. She sat down adjacent to Lathe, across from where Eren was already digging into his food. Well... That chicken isn’t going to last long is it? She shook her head, starting on her food quietly.

Eren looked up from his plate, already halfway through with the food he had. “So… What if life is like a video game? I mean it could happen right? That we all just experience the same thing from different monitors… But what happens if one of the games is fucked up and we see the same object, but for some weird ass reason the gun I’m holding is black in my screen, and another person picks up the same gun and it’s a bright ass purple motherfucking gun… like what happens then? Is it still considered the same object? Is it still considered the same game? What would happen if a someone went back into the video game’s history and changed it? Would that lead to every single screen being completely changed because someone went and changed something that created the game?” Eren stopped only to fill his mouth with more food. Philosophy motherfuckers.
Lathe mostly stared at his plate, picking at his food as he listened to Eren, most of his thought still devoted to keeping an eye on Spades, though his attention was caught at the term ‘video games.’ You’re still high as fuck, obviously… props for bringing up video games at the dinner table, but minus points for doing it when I’m unable to properly appreciate the memes. Lathe gave up trying to eat, sipping at his coffee and staring hard past the table, in his own thoughts. I can’t do this… I want out. Can I just… leave? Is that a thing I can do? Because even though Eren is being hilarious I can’t enjoy it and I don’t want to be murdered but if I don’t help with dishes I might still get murdered… fuck.

Spades watched Eren eat the rest of his plate, and seemingly looked around for extras. Well… I guess he gets broccoli now… there’s no other chicken… and where the hell did all that come from? Spades started to get up to get him some more food, only to stop when Lathe pushed his plate over to Eren, who happily accepted it. What the hell? Why aren’t you eating? You love my chicken! I don’t think I’ve ever made it without you eating it before! She sat back down, picking at the rest of her plate as Eren continued speaking absolute nonsense. You’re not even laughing… what’s wrong? I don’t understand…

Lathe noticed Eren was looking for more to eat, nudging his plate in front of him, keeping his gaze solidly on his mug. I’m not going to eat it… it’s amazing, it’s not that I don’t like it… but I can’t eat when I’m this anxious… it just doesn’t work… Lathe started to tune out Eren’s babbling sort of subconsciously, lost in thought before he decided he wasn’t being of any help just sitting silently. He stood up, going to empty his mug in the sink and start on the dishes. I should help clean up, she did a lot of work… and I don’t want to get yelled at more… she’s still really mad at me…

Eren ate the rest of the plate, excusing himself from the table once he finished to go lay on his oversized bean bag in the computer room. It’s soooooooooo fluffy!!

Spades shook her head with a sigh, picking up a few plates and coming up behind Lathe. She gently put a hand on his shoulder, setting the dishes in the sink. I hope you’re doing alright, I can only imagine what you felt like when you saw Eren smoking weed.

Lathe nearly jumped out of his skin, dropping the dish in his hand that surprisingly didn’t break as it clattered back into the sink, his hands raised defensively and scared eyes locked onto Spades. He held his breath as she looked at him, trying to force himself not to completely panic and run. …this is Spades we’re talking about. Spades. The… the police officer who swore at you and looked ready to castrate you… I- I can’t… really think that she… she’d…

Spades’ eyes widened and she backed up defensively, raising her hands to try not to seem threatening. I haven’t seen that look in your eyes in years . Spades face shifted to one of concern. “Lathe… Calm down… I’m not gonna do anything.” She kept her voice low and reassuring. He’s panicking… Why the fuck is he panicking???
I don't know that. ... it's. Spades, for fuck's sake! Lathe looked to his own hands, forcing them to his sides and staring hard at the ground, his hair barely hiding the conflicting fear and shame in his expression. "I-I'm sorry, I-" Lathe's voice cracked, still impossibly scared and trying not to break down. I don't like seeing you so mad at me… I hate it… I don't want you to be mad… Lathe took a deep breath, forcing himself to speak, his words shaky. "I- I just…” Lathe shook his head, burying his face in his hands and turning, trying to make for the stairs, wanting desperately to get away from her if for just a minute to regain his composure. I can't do this.

Spades acted quickly, catching him around the waist and hugging him to a stop, her voice soft as she murmured in his ear. "Lathe, it's okay, you don’t need to be scared, please don’t be….” She held him close, nestling her head between his shoulder blades. “Please talk to me… Even if it's only a few words.” I don't want you to be scared….

Lathe tensed as he felt her arms wind around his torso, and yet he felt that same tension drain out of him with her soft voice. He leaned back into her touch, sniffing and rubbing at his eyes. "I-y-you…. you looked and s-sounded so m-mad when you came home… I was honestly afraid y-you were going to hit one of us, and you swore and… I'm not used to seeing you like t-that, especially to me, and it reminded me too much of w-when… when I w-was a kid…” You terrified me. ...I hate remembering…

.... Oh shit… Spades wrapped her arms around him tighter. “I… I’m sorry… I didn’t mean to do that…. I swear…. I just… I don’t want him to make a habit of that… And you know how addicting that can get, I was scared…. Eren’s like my own son… I don’t want him to get hurt.” She held Lathe close to her, not wanting to let go anytime soon. Please don’t be afraid of me… I couldn’t live with myself if I knew every time you saw me you were terrified of me.

It’s Spades. Lathe relaxed into her hold at her words, his hands dropping to hold hers in place over his stomach, not wanting her to let go. “I-It’s okay… I get it, I'm still mad at Eren for what happened... I didn't get here in time, though, to stop anything… just don't make scaring me like that a habit, okay?” Lathe gave a small laugh at his last sentence, trying to stop his crying. It brings back too much stuff I want to forget… hopefully that's the last time that'll have to happen.

Spades nodded, letting go of him for an instant to get to his front and wrap her arms around him again, burying her head into his chest. “I promise… I was just so mad…. And so worried…. I’m really sorry Lathe.” She murmured quietly to him. I don’t plan on doing it again… Don’t worry.

Lathe turned to meet her embrace, one hand tangling in her hair, resting his cheek on her head, his voice low and quiet. “It’s okay Spades, I really do get it… It’s okay…” He stood there and held her for a long moment, before finally calming down enough to pull away, pecking her lips. “Let’s get the dishes over with and then get upstairs, okay?” You had your reason. I'm just glad that's over.
Spades smiled and leaned up to peck his nose sweetly. “Of course.” Her smile was bright as she broke away to collect all the dishes. I’m glad we were able to talk it out.

Eren obviously did not get away with smoking weed. None of the kids did. They all ended up getting called to the office the next day and got in-school suspension for a week, and Eren was grounded for that whole week, left to himself, his homework, and his recording when he had to upload on schedule. But that was it, and I made sure we talked about what happened. He really should have known better- I need to stop ranting like the overprotective parent I am, my God… Nothing else of note happened leading up to us departing for LA. Spades of course stayed the night before we left, her suitcase all packed and ready for the morning. The train ride was nice, everything on time and running smoothly. It was only a tiny issue trying to wrangle the instrument cases with us on the way over, but we somehow managed. We were tired when we got there even with such a good ride over, so Eren spent the first day painting Nate’s bedroom ceiling and we just chilled. But after that, we dragged everything over to the recording studio and Eren just went to town, playing what he’d been practicing or sometimes just making stuff up, but he got so many good songs for the album done it was amazing! It seemed that everyone who was in the studio that day either knew that Eren was there, or was there because of him. He’s popular even with the popular artists! A few had new songs written, and asked him when he wasn’t singing if he wanted to sing with them. Everyone just adores him, it’s nuts! We finally got him in the pool, too- there was a chill day in the middle of our trip where we had nothing to do and all day to do it, and Eren asked if we could teach him how to swim. It was a lot of fun, and it’s a good thing Spades and I are practically mermaids anyway so he’s catching on really quickly, though I still don’t trust him in the deep end. Naw. Everything that ever happened on the trip of course was posted to Twitter and Instagram, and there have been too many tweets and retweets to count. I don't think I'll ever understand just the extent of his popularity. He’s been calling Levi nearly every day too, making sure his German isn't getting rusty yet, keeping him updated on everything. Oh, and he showed me a sketch idea for the cover of his album Full Tilt, and it’s literally the story of my life, I love it way too much. Pretty much, Eren gets to sit on the corner of the roof of a house, leaning forward and looking from the camera angle that he’s perfectly right-side up, while I ‘tumble’ off very… not gracefully. And then there’s today… Oh my God, today… Nate and Charlotte, my God, they are the best people ever for this, they’ve promised to keep Eren occupied so I can take Spades out to dinner, dancing… and then propose. I’m proposing to Spades. I’m fucking proposing. I’m trying so hard not to completely freak out, but it’s kinda hard when you’re in essence saying that you want to live with that specific human for the rest of your damn life, however long it will be, and that you’re not going to stop loving them not matter what. …I want her to say yes so badly, I really really really want her to be mine…

Eren picked up his head from sheet music as his phone rang. He instantly reached for it and smiled more as he heard Levi’s heavenly voice on the other end. You sound so good… I really wish you were here. He set the sheet music aside on his bed, laying back to relax. <“Hi, Levi. You’re calling pretty early.”>
Levi quirked an eyebrow. <“Um, no I’m not- you hadn’t called me yet. I’ve been waiting nearly an hour.”> Lost track of the time, have we?

...Huh? Really? Eren swallowed hard, looking up at the white ceiling. <“R-really? I didn’t realize…. I’m sorry”> Eren apologized as he looked over at the alarm clock. It is 5 and I generally call him at 3 or 4…. So maybe he has been waiting. His eyes trailed down to the countless sheets of sheet music, both all over the bed, and all over the floor in the room. <“I didn’t realize I had that much done…..”> He trailed off, reaching to the closes sheet and picking it up to read the lyrics to himself.

Levi quietly listened to Eren murmuring the lyrics of one of the songs he had written, his eyes widening a fraction. Death…. Death… and more death. Damn. Levi put Eren on speaker, turning the volume a bit lower while he pulled up another app, texting Lathe.

=[Lathe, you need to get Eren out of that room.]

]=]Just get Eren out of that damn room. He’s apparently been writing about waaaay too much death and needs to get out of his own head right now.]

]=]And hi]

]=]...Eren like /never/ composes. Oh my I’m coming]

Lathe set the bowl of ground beef on the counter, padding up the stairs and lightly knocking on Eren’s room, pushing the door open and speaking softly. “Hey Eren, how’s it going?” He looked around with wide eyes at the multitudes of sheet music scattered around the room. He picked one up from the dresser near the door, reading through the lyrics. …this one has Blake dying… well then. Lathe set the sheet back down, speaking up. “O-kay Eren, you’re coming with me.” Lathe strode over to the bed and didn’t give Eren a chance to protest before picking him up, carrying him out of the room and making sure he still had his cellphone in hand. “I need help with dinner.” And you’re going to go insane in there if I let you keep writing.

Eren blinked in shock as he was carried downstairs and into the kitchen. “What’s for din-…. MEATLOAF!” Eren’s smile returned to his face, looking down to the phone he clutched in his hand and moved to set it on the counter. <‘Levi! We’re making meatloaf! We haven’t had meatloaf in forever!’> I think that’s the only thing I really liked that he made us originally… aside from the chicken… and pasta.

Lathe grinned as Eren beamed, setting him down and going to retrieve aprons for the both of them. [Hi Levi!] He spoke to the phone on speaker on the table, handing Eren a green apron and tying the maroon one behind him. Yes, I’m being mean and making you juggle two languages. [Finally, I have something that Eren loves that I can actually make besides pasta and chicken!] He moved to set out more ingredients on the counter, setting out a large bowl.

Levi glared at the phone. [You’re really going to make me struggle between two languages? Really?] Not cool man, German is hard enough! I don’t speak French often enough for it to be as easy as it used to be!

“Si, Senor!” Lathe joked, hunting through the cupboards for the meatloaf pan. [Be glad I didn’t try to teach you Korean. And that I don’t know anything in Spanish besides that.] Lathe nudged Eren over to the sink to wash his hands.

Eren let Lathe lead him to the sink and smiled as he washed his hands. <“The fuck are you two talking about? Oh guess what Levi! I went swimming yesterday! But Dad won’t let me in the deep end.”> He whined as he washed his hands thoroughly. Why won’t he let me in the deep end? I can swim now!

Levi smirked. <“That’s great! Though it’s going to be a while before you’re a good enough swimmer to go into ten-feet-deep water. That’s a given.”> We don’t want you tiring yourself out or struggling... drowning... no, that won’t happen, Lathe and Spades will keep a very good eye on you.

Lathe nodded. [Yeah, we don’t want you in deep water until we know for sure you can tread for longer without struggling. It’ll be a bit, but tust me, it’s for the best.] He ruffled Eren’s hair, turning to the table after drying his hands. “O-kay, meatloaf.” Lathe cut open the package of ground beef, emptying it in a large bowl. “Alright, start mixing Eren.”

Eren nodded, putting his hands into the bowl, squishing around the meat as Lathe added eggs, cheese, dry oatmeal, and ketchup. It feels sooo fucking weird. After a few minutes of mixing the meatloaf was on it’s way to being made into balls on placed on a oven sheet and into the oven. “Now what?” He asked quietly, looking up to Lathe with his hands covered in meat-mixture. I can’t take my phone and go talk to Levi elsewhere.... Speaking of which. <“How has school been Levi?”>

Levi shrugged with one shoulder, his face expressionless. <“School’s been good. Training’s been tough, but I’m surviving. I ranked up in marksmanship the other day, though. That’s a thing that happened.” Nothing else too interesting, really.

Lathe nudged Eren back over to the sink, turning on the tap and making sure they both used plenty of soap. [That’s good to hear! You getting along with everyone down there?] Lathe started the timer on the oven. I wonder when Spades and Charlotte will be back...

Levi groaned at the question. <“They put me in charge of a few kids basically… They act like three year olds, I swear the six of them are worse than you and Eren combined, I hate them all with a burning passion.’’> God they are such asshats.

Eren giggled as Levi mentioned the guys he complained about all the time. Well… If they’re worse than me… Then I think his hatred is warranted. <“Well just glare at them… You’re good at that.”>

Did you really just say that Brat? <“Any more out of you Yeager and I’ll make you run with me at 3 in the morning while I’m home!”> You wouldn’t fucking last more than two miles…

Eren gasped, drying his hands off. <“You wouldn’t!”> no… He wouldn’t make me? Would he? Eren reached for the phone, grabbing it as he turned towards the hallway to go back upstairs. I wonder if I can go swimming…. I wanna try in the deep end.

Lathe caught Eren by the elbow effortlessly, reeling him back into the kitchen. “Don't you try and go anywhere, I want in on this conversation.” And I want you out of your own head for a while more. [And don't drag him out of bed that damn early, you and I both with have to deal with a cranky Eren literally all day. Or a week if he really wants to just spite you.] Lathe smirked, going to his bag hanging from a peg in the mud room and returning with some pencils and a pad of paper, handing a sheet and pencil to Eren and sitting at the island. “I kinda can't leave the kitchen while there's stuff in the oven, so you're stuck with me, kid.” Nope.

Levi groaned as he thought about it. <“On better judgement, I’ll just wake him up when I get back….So if you guys are in LA I assume your in Nate’s house? Where is he?”>

Eren looked to the sheets of paper and pencil, a wide smile coming across his face. He picked up the pencil, already starting to sketch Levi.

The door in the mud room opened with a loud bang, a loud voice shouting to them. “I heard my name! What’d I do this time?” Nate beamed at them, kicking off his shoes and dropping his bag next to them. He meandered over to the island, seeing the name alight on Eren’s phone. “Hey, is that Levi? Hi Levi!” Nate waved at the phone, even though Levi obviously couldn't see him.
Levi chuckled at the other end. “Good to hear you too, Nate…. And you do realize that waving without me being able to see is useless?” He asked, a soft smile on his face as he kept the phone to his ear.

Eren continued to draw Levi, a small smile on his face. The meatloaf is already starting to smell good... Like really good... And I'm hungry...<“Dad? When’s dinner?”>

Nate dropped his hand, smiling sheepishly at the phone. “You know me way too well... and I know, but I don't care.” Nate waved again at the phone enthusiastically before plopping down on a stool. “Something smells amazing, by the way. What is it?” Food sounds really good right about now.

Lathe chuckled. “Give it about five more minutes and we can eat, okay? It’s won't be long. Still, I'll check it.” Lathe padded to the oven, looking in through the glass. “Yeah, just about five minutes. I'll get a kettle on and plates out.” Lathe did just that, also setting out mugs and turning on the coffeemaker, pulling the meatloaf out of the oven when the timer rang. “I don't know how hungry you all are, so come serve yourselves.” Lathe didn't take any, instead opting to sip at a mug of coffee. I have dinner later to look forward to-

Well... If they’re eating...<“Alright, if you guys are gonna be eating now, I’ll hang up, I gotta wake up at 0300 hours anyway.... Good night, Eren, I love you.”> I really do.... You better fucking know it brat.

Eren nodded. <“Goodnight, I love you.”> he called back before ending the phone call. “We’re having meatloaf with mashed potatoes and broccoli!” Eren told Nate happily, scampering over to make himself a plate as the mudroom door opened again. Mom’s home!

Spades followed Charlotte into the house, her long fiery hair let down and curled with shorter curls framing her face. Her perfectly manicured nails were a dark, shimmery blue, and she had a bag with tissue paper hiding the contents held in the crook of her arm. “Hello! We’re back!” Spades toed off her shoes before crossing the room, kissing the top of Eren’s head as he passed her and stepping up to Lathe to kiss his cheek sweetly. “Should I go upstairs and get ready, then?” She smirked as Lathe nodded, noting the blush creeping over his cheeks with a glint in her eye. “Alright then, it looks like you should as well.” She tapped his chest with her nail, rising up on her toes and kissing his cheek again before striding to the stairs. I hope he likes what I had done to my hair... and he better love this dress. I really think he will.

Lathe watched as Spades left, dumbstruck and unable to speak for a moment, his face beginning to flush crimson. ...damn. “Charlotte, you are the best.” Her hair looks great like that, and I like the color of her nails... I wonder what she’d gotten... Lathe smiled widely, finishing off his mug and setting it in the sink, ruffling Eren’s hair again as he passed him, giving Nate a fistbump. “I need to Nate grinned, setting down his plate. “Of course, Lathe! Anything! Now shoo, you have to get ready!” Nate waved Lathe on to the stairs, giving him a thumbs up before he disappeared from the hall. That’s that, then. He turned to Charlotte, snaking his arms around her waist, smirking. “I really like your hair like that- it suits you.” If Eren wasn’t right there, I might say something else… but no embarrassing the hell out of the two of them.

Charlotte blushed a bit, letting Nate’s arms wrap around her. “Thank you, I guess we timed it right if dinner’s ready.” She smiled sweetly, pecking Nate’s cheek before going to make her own plate and join Eren at the table. I wonder if he knows? I won’t say anything until I know they’re gone.

Eren was already sitting and eating his plate quietly at the table, though he gave Charlotte and Nate a questioning stare as Lathe left. “Nate..? Where’s Dad going?” Are they leaving me? Do they not want me anymore? What did I do wrong??? Eren felt his stomach twist in knots at just the thought of Lathe leaving him behind.

Nate immediately noticed Eren’s discomfort, giving him an easy smile and untangling himself from Charlotte, going over to pat his shoulder. “Lathe and Spades are going out to dinner tonight- they wanted to go on a date while they were here. They're going to be back, of course, but you'll probably be asleep by then.” They're not leaving forever or anything like that, of course- Lathe just has something very important to do.

Eren looked down at his plate as Nate spoke and nodded. Okay... That’s okay.... But Dad’s not gonna be here to put me to bed... What if I have a nightmare? What if I can’t sleep? Eren curled up a bit to himself as he raised his fork to eat. Blake had come from his spot in the corner to sit by Eren’s chair and put a paw on Eren’s lap, whining.

Nate’s face fell as Eren seemed to shrink in his chair, Blake trying to get his attention and not seeming to calm Eren very much. Dammit... what do I do? ...who do I ask? Nate pulled out his phone and quickly typed, sending the message.

-Yo Levi, little bit of a problem
-Lathe and Spades are going out on a date
-And Eren kinda already misses them even though they haven’t left yet
-So I don't know how to deal with a sad Eren
-Halp

= oh… He’s afraid he won’t be able to go to sleep…

=Lathe’s been putting him to be recently… Cause his nightmares came back

=Maybe he’ll let you put him to bed?

-Alright we’ll see how that goes over

-We need to distract him for awhile, it’s still waaaay too early for anyone to sleep

-…any ideas? I'm shit at this kind of stuff I'm sorry

= It’s okay… um let’s see… Charlotte’s with you right?

-Yeah, why?

= He’s probably got good paper with him… ask him to do a picture of you two, it’ll take him a bit since he isn’t used to drawing you two.

-That’s a good idea! Thanks Levi! You're a lifesaver

-Two minutes of Eren being sad is two minutes too many for me tbh

Nate put his phone back in his pocket, moving back over to the stove and getting himself and Charlotte a plate of meatloaf for the moment. He sat down adjacent to Eren, quiet until he saw Eren was nearly done with eating. “Hey Eren, after dinner, would it be cool if you did the art thing and drew a picture of Charlotte and I?” Having a drawing of the two of us would be really nice...

Eren looked up from his meal at Nate’s words and nodded hurriedly. “You’ll let me do it?” He asked quietly, picking up another forkful to stuff his face with the glorious food. I wonder if I can do it in pencil? Or would they want me to do something else?

Nate grinned. “I just asked you to, yes I’ll let you do it. However you want, too. If you’ve got something over than pencil, I mean. But I think a drawing of the two of us would be really nice to have.” I know exactly where I would put it, too.

Eren nodded. “I have really good paper for graphite…. Can we do it on the patio outside?” He asked curiously. They’d be really cute on the swinging bench out front. A smile overtook his face as he could already see how he would draw the picture.
Lathe straightened out his black tie, tugging on the collar of his crimson dress shirt—Spades’ favorite, he made sure—and buttoned his suit coat. He decided after messing with his hair for five minutes to just leave it as the mess it always was, hoping for the best. He patted his pocket for the tenth time that minute, making sure the small ring box was still there. I’m actually going to do this. This is actually happening. Oh. My God. Lathe tried to pull his thoughts together before finally turning off the lights to his room, up back into perfect order, the bed made and certain… amenities left in the bedside table. His dress shoes tapped on the wood of the hall, down the stairs and to the now empty kitchen. He walked to the fridge, opening it and reaching to the back of one of the drawers, pulling out two small plastic boxes, one with a small red boutonnière, the other with a similar corsage. He looked up as he heard the clicking of heels down the hall, his face flushing as he saw Spades.

Spades came around the corner, wearing a nicely fitting dark blue dress with silver accents, the hem nearly reaching the floor, a long slit up both sides exposing a sliver of her tan skin. The dress had one sleeve on her left shoulder, and matched the color of her nails. Her heels were a few inches, but nothing too extreme, black and chic. All her jewelry, her earrings necklaces and bracelets all silver and matching. She had a small black wallet which she held delicately in her hand at her side, her other hand placed on her hip. She blushed as she took in Lathe’s appearance, smiling as she came closer to him. Well… He looks simply dashing… And I hope that we look okay together. Cause he is mine, and I’m not gonna let anyone else think otherwise. “So… Do you like the dress?” She asked softly. Gotta break the ice somehow…

...Do I like the dress? Lathe smirked, his eyes sparkling as he set down the small boxes on the island, stepping forward and gently pulling Spades to him, resting his forehead against hers. “I do… you look absolutely stunning.” He pressed a soft peck to her lips, gently pulling her to the table. “Here, so we match…” He carefully lifted the corsage, tying it around her wrist.

Spades’ face flushed as he put her corsage on. It looks so pretty… When did you have time to get these today? I knew you were with Eren all day… I wonder where we’re going for dinner? You literally won’t tell me anything about this date. She let him finish off the tying neatly before reaching for the other box, pulling Lathe close to her so she could gently pin the boutonnière to his lapel. Can’t leave without that on… Her smile was warm as she looked up to meet Lathe’s eyes. So handsome.

Lathe blushed as Spades pinned the red flower to his lapel, his hands lightly resting on her waist as she looked up to him, smiling and kissing her sweetly. Mine. He pulled away from her, his eyes bright. “What do you say we get going?” He offered Spades his arm and they walked out back to the driveway, a red Corvette sitting in the driveway. Lathe had rented a car this time around, and knowing what he had planned, decided on something nice. He opened the door for Spades, sliding into the driver’s seat. It wasn’t twenty minutes of driving before Lathe parked the car, thankful he was lucky enough to get a spot on the crowded street just two doors down from the restaurant. He opened the door again for Spades, feeling like a million bucks with her hand on his arm as they walked to Pearl Street.
Spades looked around at the very nice up class area they were in. Small shops and boutiques line the area, some of the places her and Charlotte had come to look for nice dresses. She let Lathe lead her to a very elegant red brick building towards the middle of the block, one look in to see the crowded tables and she knew this would be a good place. I wonder how far in advance he planned this? There’s no way you could ever sit down without a reservation!

Lathe led them inside, going up to the hostess table. “Reservation for Quo, please.” He followed the woman that brought them further into the restaurant, pulling out Spades’ chair for her before sitting down across from her at one of the quieter sections. You look too damn good in that dress… He ordered a bottle of wine for the table, smiling to Spades. I hope this all goes well- I hope it’s not too much…

Spades blushed a bit as he sat down across from her. Pulling out all the stops….. Well we haven’t had an actual date like this since Eren’s nightmares came back…. This is really nice. A warm smile overtook her lips as she looked up at Lathe. And he’s wearing my favorite dress shirt too… Damn does he clean up great! Spades enjoyed the great food which they ordered and the wine was also a big hit with her, though when Lathe paid the bill and led her to the car she expected to be driven home. Where the hell are we going? She was left in the dark, no matter how much she pestered Lathe to tell her where they were going, he wouldn’t budge. When he pulled up to an old style club, the valet took the car, and Lathe led them in, past the line of people outside waiting to get in. A club? What the hell are we doing here? Spades was amazed when they walked in and it was a huge dance floor, filled with people between two very modern-looking bars. A smile again graced her face as she finally listened to the music and saw that the people dancing were around their age. “So I take it you did a bit of digging to find this place?” She asked a bit louder than normal but she was still easy to understand. I wanna dance now… And this place is perfect!

Lathe smirked, nodding and speaking up a bit. “I wanted us to do something fun while we were out. I thought you’d like it.” He led her over to the bar, his arm around her waist and handing the keep a twenty, ordering them both a drink. “The best part about it is, though, that they don’t just play the popular songs from the radio. I made sure that the DJ working tonight also favoured another certain genre…” He sipped the amber liquid in the heavy glass he was handed, a mischievous light in his eye. “Listen.” It’s only the best dancing music.

Spades listened as she waited for her cocktail to be made. Electro swing… classic dance music, and great for anything you can think of… well aren’t you a sly devil? She sipped at her drink watching as the body to people swayed with the music. It sounds amazing! I wanna dance soon! And if the DJ likes this kind of music, I can only imagine if we ever come back out here together, we’re coming to dance here. I wonder if he would tap with me? I could probably pull it off in heels… It can’t be that hard right?

As soon as they had finished their drinks, Lathe pulled Spades onto the dance floor with him, grinning as they moved in time with the music. They danced and tapped with the energetic crowd late into the night, pressed against the other and completely enraptured by the music. It was nearing midnight as they left, Spades hanging onto Lathe’s arm. He started them walking, though instead of heading back to the car, he crossed the street, a park a very short ways ahead. He led her along one of the walking paths, their way well lit by a full moon and many night lights. I'm really going to do this.

Spades looked around at their surroundings, listening to her heels click on the concrete path. “Lathe where are we going?” It’s late! And this was an awesome date... But I'm worried about Eren being without you for getting put to bed. She followed along anyways, looking in awe at how the trees waved in the breeze gently, the moon shining through to guide them towards a beautiful pond. Oh my god, this is.... Beautiful.

Lathe slowed as they came next to the pond, turning and letting his arm slide behind Spades’ back, holding her close and clasping her other hand. He smiled warmly at her, leaning his forehead against hers as he led them in a slow dance down the walk, softly beginning to sing.

The shade in your alleys is dust and the light’s made of gold
And even the ice in my water refuses the cold
They say to get lost and I'm happy to walk on your stones
And I'll walk and I'll talk and I'll ask what you‘d possibly know

And I~
I just can't help but laugh sometimes~
For no reason except that I~ Can't remember what ‘Once’ was like~
And I~
I can't help but feel free sometimes~
Know that I've left the bad behind~
That I carry the good inside~

I'm saying ‘I Love You’ in words that you don't understand
And I feel the cool water of fountains run over my hand Exposed brick, tarnished brass, and your pendant’s shining glass, it’s just all I see
With no ring on my finger, they'll sing and they'll linger although I've got places to be
With you~
I'm so glad I don't have to choose~ Between two of my favourite views~
One my city and one my muse~
With you~
I can't help but to hum old tunes~
Fight off all these old love-drunk loons~
Know that I've got but naught to lose~

Not me~
No I'd rather not talk ‘bout me~
Not the mistakes I make regularly~
Not the sap I don't wanna be~
No, please, not me~
There's some things I can't stand to see~
All the secrets I've buried deep~
The demons that drag me under their sea~

But please~
I was hoping to not be ‘he’~
I was hoping you not be ‘she’~
I was hoping to make us ‘we’~
So, us~
Won’t you marry me just because~ Turn that ‘is’ alone into ‘was’~ ‘Cause you've reminded me what’s in love~

Lathe looked into Spades’ eyes, reaching in his pocket for the ring and getting down on one knee, the dark stones reflecting the lights brightly, silently pleading with her. Please… say yes.
... Is this really happening? Is he just singing nonsense? Like what is he...is he... Oh my god he is!
He’s proposing! Oh my god I was not expecting this. Spades’ face lit up with pure joy as Lathe got on his knee to show her the ring. Her hands covered her mouth as she watched him, starting to cry as she nodded. “Yes!” She couldn’t help but cry as she held her left hand out for him. Oh my god, I’m getting married... Well that’s happening now.

Lathe beamed, his eyes full of stars as he slid the ring on her finger, getting to his feet and holding her close, a tear running down his cheek. Thank you thank you thank you!!! “Spades... I really, really love you.” He pulled back to kiss her sweetly, a scarlet blush over his cheeks. He leaned their foreheads together, quietly chuckling. I’m so happy. “Let’s go home, hm?” ...I want to break my last rule.

Spades smiled more, looking into his eyes as she nodded. “I think... I think that would work.” She leaned up a bit to peck his nose, a soft giggle escaping her as she did so. I want to go home... Yeah... I would like to do that, I can only imagine what lies ahead of this point... I mean, I’ll move out of my apartment eventually? Right? I basically live at his house now. Spades pulled back out of his embrace, taking his hand and leading him back out of the park and towards where they parked.

Yes it will. Lathe grinned as she tugged him along, matching her pace and bringing them back to their car, sliding into the driver’s seat and starting the drive home, his mind trying to wander as time went on. It’s not too far until we’re back... but Spades is being kinda distracting... y’know, existing... damn, does she look good in that dress... Lathe pulled into the driveway, shutting off the car and finally allowing himself to look over to Spades, his eyes shaded. ...I want you... really badly... Lathe, house first. Lathe broke their heated gaze and opened his door, locking the car and walking up to the door with Spades, his arm tight around her middle. Thank god the door’s unlocked, I’d’ve fumbled with the key for a solid minute at this rate... Lathe hung the key on the ring by the door, both of them toeing off their clicking shoes before going upstairs, Lathe shutting the door behind them and locking it, turning his complete attention to Spades. One hand twined in her fiery locks, he immediately attacked her mouth and neck, his other hand keeping her pressed against his front. Mine.

Spades gasped as his warm lips found her skin on her neck, letting out a few mewls as she let her hands explore his shirt, already starting to undo his tie and the buttons. This needs to come off, everything does.

Lathe shrugged off his jacket when she had undone the buttons, breaking away from her neck to pull his tie over his head before his lips reconnected with her neck, his hand trailing from her hair down over her side, lightly tracing up her leg through the slit of the dress. He smiled faintly against her skin. ...I like this dress.
Spades shivered under his touch, his hands feeling like fire on her body. She continued to undo his buttons, shrugging his dress shirt off, leaving him bare on his torso. God yes, you're so fucking sexy Lathe. Her hands moved then from the shirt now somewhere on the floor to his chest, gently grazing every indent of muscle she found. You feel so perfect, and you're all mine.

Lathe lowly hummed as her hands found his bare skin, one hand wandering up her back and tracing over the tiny latch of the dress, unclipping it and dragging the zipper down agonisingly slowly, his mouth trailing lower to the joint of her neck, licking and suckling a dark mark onto her tan skin. He trailed his tongue up to her ear from the mark, nibbling and suckling the lobe, tracing every curve of it.

Spades let out a loud moan, her nails digging into his flesh, enough to to leave a mark but not to open the skin. “Ngh… L-lathe...” She groaned out his name, her legs feeling a little weak as he continued to assault all her sensitive areas. I feel warm... Hmm, I want all this off... He'll be really happy with what's underneath.

Lathe drew back as he gently pulled the dress from her shoulders, letting it slide down and pool at her feet, his eyes hooded as he drank all of her in. Dark blue lace... He smirked, murmuring as his hands wandered. “…And you somehow managed to look even more gorgeous.” Lathe kissed her passionately, his tongue taking advantage of her surprised gasp and tangling with hers, lifting Spades and carrying her to the bed, climbing on top of her. ...how are you mine? You're too damn good to me...

Spades let him pick her up without a struggle, her eyes trailing over his body with pure lust as she took it all in. Those need to come off though... Her hands traveled down his torso to cup at the growing bulge in his pants. “Shall we have some fun?” She whispered seductively to him, a playful glint in her eyes. I really want you...

Lathe shuddered at her touch, his hips moving forward trying to get more of the delicious friction, his voice low. “...Please.” He ducked his head down to nibble at her other ear, his hands coming up to cup her breasts, running his thumbs over her nipples, still hidden under the dark lace.

Spades groaned along with letting out a high pitched whine when he brushed over her nipples. She fumbled with his buckle for a few seconds before she removed his belt, pulling down the zipper to his pants without hesitation, her thumbs hooking on his pants and tugging. “...I want them off, Lathe.” His name rolled off her tongue in a heavy voice, close to his ear. I want your everything...

Lathe shuddered at her heady tone, kicking off his dress pants and not caring that his socks followed, sitting back for a moment and letting his eyes rake over her, her hair in torrents splayed under her, tracing her curves and meeting her eyes, his cheeks scarlet when he realised the look she was giving him. ...I want everything. Lathe looked over her, his tongue trailing down her neck to nibble across her chest, nipping lightly at her breasts through her bra, one hand running up the inside of her thigh, lightly brushing over her panties, his voice quiet and rough as he kept up his motions. “You’re so wet…” ...I should tell her. Lathe moved up to look Spades in the eye, serious for a moment. “Spades… I want to go all the way.” Everything.

Spades eyes widened a bit in shock at his statement before they closed, her head leaning up towards his, kissing his jaw. “Okay… As long as you’re alright with it… I’m on the pill, it's okay.” She murmured quietly to him, kissing his jaw up over to his ear. I would love it if we could...

Lathe whimpered quietly as she kissed at his ear, turning his head and giving her better access, braced on one arm and letting his other still roam over her. You’ve been so patient with me... thank you. He brushed again over her panties, slowly beginning to rub her clit through the thin fabric. I love the way you sound...

Spades’ was in bliss at Lathe’s movements. “Haa… Lathe… I want it off…” She murmured to him. She wiggled her hips a bit to try and encourage him to strip her. Her left hand wandering down to his crotch and rubbing at his length, starting to impatiently pull down his boxers as well.

Lathe hooked his thumbs over the thin fabric, pulling them down and dropping them off the bed. He let her tug off his boxers, freeing his length and kicking them off. He trailed his hands upward and behind her back, deftly unclipping her bra and sliding the straps from her shoulders. He dropped the garment on the floor as well, going to massage her globes, moving to suckle at the other side of her neck, leaving a large dark mark and lapping at her sweet skin. I want everyone to know you’re taken...

Spades let him mark her, tilting her head to the side to give him better access, one hand carding through his dark locks and the other teasing his impressive length. “Lathe... So good.” She moaned out her words, her back arched off the bed, pressing herself against him as much as she could. God... This feels so right.

Lathe groaned against her skin, a shiver running through him as her hands ghosted his length, arousal pulsing through him. “S-Spades… nnngh… p-please...” I want to feel you... Lathe shifted their positions, Spades on top of him, freeing both of his hands to trace every curve of Spades’ body, wandering south and massaging her ass.

Spades gasped out, letting his large hands cup her supple cheeks. “Mmm, Lathe… Harder.” She moved a bit so she was sitting on his length, grinding on him, and groaning as she felt him slip through her folds, gradually becoming slicker in her juices. Fuck that’s hot...
Lathe moaned as Spades ground onto his length, his hold on her firm as he slowly moved his hips up against her, becoming slick from her juices and the precum dripping from his head. He gazed up at her hungrily, his breath catching in his throat at her pleasured expression. You look so damn sexy, my God… Lathe’s heels dug into the mattress, slowly lifting Spades a little higher, his head brushing her folds as he leaned up to kiss her jaw, his voice a whisper. “…c-can I?”

Spades let him kiss her jaw, letting him move her around as well, not minding for right now. “Y-yeah.” She gasped out as she felt his large head already begin to poke at her entrance. Fuck he’s huge, and he’s not even inside yet. “Slow…” She murmured to him, letting him venture the way he wanted to. I can control it later.

Lathe nodded, gently and slowly easing her onto his length, kissing her jaw and her cheeks lightly as she whimpered, stopping every few inches to let her adjust, his head dropping back as he sank into her to the hilt, letting out a long moan at the overwhelming sensation. “S-so… n ngh… feels so good …” I haven’t even moved yet… He gently stroked her sides, waiting for her to let him know he could move.

Spades was breathing hard for a few moments, trying to get used to his massive length all the way to the hilt. God he’s so fucking big…. She slowly shifted her legs to get a better stance above him. Need to stay balanced on him. “You… Can move.. Slow though.” She murmured to him quietly.

Lathe nodded, slowly lifting her and easing her back onto his length, trying not to move his hips too much and beginning a slow, steady rhythm. He tried to stop from groaning loudly, waiting for her cue to move faster. He shuddered as Spades moaned in his ear. Oh my god… I can’t take it. Lathe took it and picked up the pace a bit, going a bit faster as Spades’ moans seemed to get louder in his ear. He smoothly flipped their positions, bringing Spades’ legs over his shoulders and thrusting deeply into her, kissing up her neck and groaning. So good…

Spades couldn’t help her legs curling around his shoulders as she felt him thrust deep inside. Oh my god… This is amazing! Spades cried out in bliss when Lathe thrusted in a certain area, her nails digging into the back of his scalp. There!

Lathe’s loud moan was muffled against her neck, letting her hands tug at his hair roughly and aiming for that one spot inside of her, looking up at her with lidded eyes as she let out another cry. There it is. Lathe pounded into her, his tongue dragging up her neck to trace the crevices of her ear, feeling a pressure beginning to build in the pit of his stomach. My God… if I keep this up…

Spades continued to cry out in bliss, though her soft walls were starting to close around Lathe’s large length. “Haaa… Lathe… ngh… Mmph… I… Can’t…aha…” She moaned in his ear as he continued. It feels so good, I love it! Holy shit… “Fuck… Me… Lathe …”
Lathe’s coil nearly snapped at her words, his pace becoming erratic as he rammed into her, shuddering. “Spades… I... hnn...” Lathe let out a loud moan as the pressure released, feeling Spades’ walls clamp down on his length and milk him for all he was worth. He slowed, dropping his head against her shoulder and pulling out from her, moving to kiss her fervently, his fire burning down to a glow. I love you.

“Lathe!” Spades cried out in pure bliss as her own coil snapped. That felt amazing... Oh my god, that was better than anything he’s done to me before. She panted, trying to catch her breath as he pulled out of her. She moved her legs from over his shoulders and a shaking hand came up to cup his cheek as she kissed him. Her other hand came up to card through his damp hair. So good.

Lathe broke their kiss, collapsing next to her, pulling her flush against him and kissing her slowly, starting to feel tired. “Spades, I really fucking love you.” Lathe smiled, meeting her gaze for a moment. He pulled the sheets up with his foot, covering the both of them and nuzzling close to her. That... that was amazing.

Spades smiled softly, curling up to his chest. “I love you, too.” It feels so right ... You're so warm, it feels really nice. She snuggled up to him without a care in the world.

Eren woke up relatively early the next morning, slowly sitting up and swinging his legs over the edge of the bed. He was quiet as he got rid of his pajamas, looking at his bare chest and sighing quietly. I still can’t get over the fact that whenever I have my shirt off... all the scars show... well, no one’s gonna see them anyways. Eren dug around for his swim trunks and stepped into them quiet as a mouse, not even waking up Blake who lay at the foot of the bed. I guess I’m going alone, that’s fine. Eren quietly slipped out of his room, leaving the door open as he grabbed a large dark green towel to wrap his chest with. He padded with bare feet down the stairs silently, walking through the kitchen quietly, and unlocking the backdoor. He was outside without waking anyone in the house. Eren hopped off the back porch, landing on the soft wet grass which caused a small shudder to run through his spine. The dew makes the grass feel really weird in between my toes! He smiled softly, walking across the lawn and to the gate, opening the large metal door and leaving it slightly ajar. He tiptoed over to the large pool, leaving his plush towel on a chair. Don’t want to get that wet... It’s also pretty chilly out this early, even for California. He looked over to see the water shimmer in the orange glow that was slowly coming into view over the large fences surrounding the house and pool. He stepped down the stairs at the shallow end of the pool, soon up to his neck and letting out a sigh of relief. At least the pool is warm. Thank you Nate for having a heated pool! Eren slowly made his way out into the middle of the deep end, struggling a bit to keep his head above the water, managing it for the moment, but a sense of overwhelming dread hit him like a ton of bricks in that instant. I... I can’t.... Touch the bottom. Shit! Eren’s eyes widened as panic started to set in, memories flooding through his mind of a similar situation that happened years ago. His legs were starting to give out, struggling to keep his head above the water. No! No! I can’t reach the bottom! Eren tried to open his mouth to call out for help, and to breathe, only to suck in a bunch of water, sending him through a coughing fit, forcing him even deeper under the water, the air escaping his lungs quicker than he thought would ever happen again, only to be refilled with water. .... Fuck! I can’t breathe.... Dad, help me... please...

Eren’s eyes started to close, seeing the last of the air escape his lungs and head to the surface. .... I can’t reach the bottom.... Eren tried in a last effort to reach the surface to breathe again, but it was already starting to get darker. It hurts.... I can’t breathe... it burns... I’m drowning... I’m gonna die.......... I don’t want to die. Eren couldn’t help his eyes start to close as he succumbed to the water in his lungs.

Lathe stirred from his deep sleep as he heard a quiet sound, his mind taking a minute to rise to consciousness. He blinked the sleep out of his eyes, focusing on the waves of long hair in front of his, smiling and remembering the night before, pressing a soft kiss to the back of Spades’ neck. I love you. Lathe carefully untangled their legs, stepping onto the carpet and meandering to the dresser to put on clothes before leaving for downstairs to make breakfast. He looked over Eren’s room, seeing the door slightly ajar. He lightly knocked and poked his head in, seeing Blake sleepily starting to get up, Eren nowhere to be seen. It took a second for Lathe to recover from the sensation of the floor falling out from under him, trying to calm down. This happened before. He didn't even wait for Blake to follow him before thundering down the stairs, sliding into the kitchen and seeing the back door unlocked. Fuck. He ran into the backyard, looking around for any hint as to where Eren might be, not seeing him in any of the fruit trees at a glance. He looked to the gate, his eyes wide as he saw it ajar. He said yesterday he wanted to go in the deep end. ...he can barely swim. “Eren!” Lathe shouted towards the pool as he ran to the gate, quickly opening it and taking in the towel on a chair nearby, a shadowy figure at the bottom of the deep end, the surface calm. ...he's drowning. Lathe didn’t give it more than an instant of thought before he sprinted across the concrete to the deep end, diving into the water and reaching Eren’s limp form under the water in a second, holding onto him and kicking up from the bottom hard, kicking for the edge of the pool after breaking the surface. He heaved himself onto the concrete, one arm still around Eren’s drenched torso before he could lift him up, splayed out on the ground, unmoving. He felt Eren’s neck for a pulse, his face going pale. Nothing. “Spades!!” Lathe shouted to the house as he started CPR, praying that Eren would open his eyes and cough out the water and start living again please. Tears started to stream down his face, trying in desperation to get him to wake up. I can’t lose you.

Spades woke up, hearing Lathe’s shout for Eren, figuring they were downstairs in the kitchen. She sat up, putting some clothes on at a leisurely pace before she heard Lathe shout for her only a minute later. Wait.... Why is he calling for me? She quickly slipped on a t-shirt and shorts before making her way outside of the room, seeing Blake stretch in front of Eren’s door. Oh no... this can’t be good. Spades left her hair down as she ran down the stairs, Nate coming out of his room in confusion as to why they were shouting so early in the morning. Spades paid him no mind as she looked around the first floor, not seeing them in the house. Where the hell are you? She looked out the window, overlooking the back part of the yard. Her eyes widened when she saw the gate to the pool wide open. That was closed yesterday.... No, don’t tell me Eren tried swimming in the pool! She raced outside, letting out a high pitched scream as she saw Lathe leaning over Eren’s limp body. “Oh my god!” She immediately went to Lathe’s side, looking for a pulse. It’s so faint....
Nate sleepily lifted his head at Lathe’s shout, confused. What the hell…? It's too damn early for this. He dropped his head back against the pillow, trying to fall back asleep. Probably not important, he’s always cray. What do I know? He furrowed his brow as he heard him shout again, this time for Spades, kicking at the covers. Okay, what the fuck is going on? And why is everyone but me involved? He left his room, seeing Spades run down the stairs, rubbing the sleep out of his eyes. He started to pad down the stairs after her, stopping dead as he heard the back door slam. The fuck? Did something happen? He picked up the pace a bit, becoming concerned as Blake passed him in the hall, pawing at the door. His eyes widened as he heard Spades’ scream. Fuck. He ran to the door, letting Blake out first and following at his heels to the pool, his eyes wide as he saw the gate wide open. Not good. Not good. He ran onto the concrete, freezing as he saw Lathe trying in desperation to start Eren breathing. Spades next to him and feeling for any sign that he was alive, his hands covering his mouth in shock, eyes wide. ...oh my god.

“Anything?!” Lathe addressed Spades as he kept pressing on Eren’s chest, his expression stony though his eyes were full of fear. He can't be dead. He can't be. He’s not even twenty. He can't die now, he has so much left to do, he has a life to live... he has to marry Levi... he can’t... Spades felt Eren’s neck, breathing out in relief. “Yeah... keep going...” She cried, moving to hold Eren’s head as his heart rate started to pick back up. Come on Eren! Breathe dammit! Lathe doubled his efforts at her words, hoping beyond hope he would start breathing. Come on Eren, we know you're in there, wake up and start breathing again. ...you have to. I won't ever forgive myself if I let you leave us, you need to wake up. Tears never stopped falling down Lathe’s cheeks, blocking out nearly everything around him as he focused on Eren. Eren. Don't you dare die on me.

A few seconds later, Eren’s body shook as he struggled to cough out the water, instinctively moving to his side, Spades helping him to move as he coughed out the water in his lungs. He took in a deep ragged breath, letting Spades hold his head. I… I thought I died.... Eren coughed up the rest of the water he still had in his lungs before he laid still again, trying to calm himself down, not even realizing that he was crying until he couldn’t see clearly anymore. I almost fucking died… Spades sighed in relief once Eren started to cry, her hands gently going through his hair. I thought we were going to lose you.... Please don’t scare us like that again Eren. She cooed to him as he cried, curling into a ball as he cried. “Eren… Eren, hun.... we need you to focus on breathing okay? You need to lay flat… come on.” She coaxed him to unfurl from himself and lay on his back as he took in ragged breaths.

Charlotte was the last one out of the house, wrapped in a bathrobe. She had her cellphone in hand, coming up to Nate’s side gasping as she saw Eren on the ground, surrounded by Spades and Lathe. She got a full view of the silvery scars lacing his chest. So… That’s why he was so adamant about wearing a shirt while he was swimming yesterday. “Is… Is he okay?” She asked quietly to Nate, looking up to him with wide eyes. Do I need to call an ambulance? Does he need to go to the hospital?

Lathe’s wide eyes went to Eren’s face as he coughed the water from his lungs, stopping his motions and grasping Eren’s hand, letting out a quiet sob, relieved. He’s breathing… he’s breathing. He’s going to be okay. “E-Eren… don’t you ever scare me like that again…” Lathe buried his face in his hand, trying to calm himself down, running his thumb over the back of Eren’s hand soothingly. Lathe, keep it together. Eren’s okay, he’s alive, but he’s not going to be exactly in the best shape for a while. Lathe finally looked up for a moment, realising Nate and Charlotte’s presence across the pool, both of them worried and Charlotte pointing to her cellphone. He called to them over the pool, trying to keep his voice from wavering too much. “He’s okay, you don’t need to call for help.” Lathe looked back to Eren, leaning down to peck his forehead. “I’m so glad you’re okay… never do anything like that again.” His voice held no venom, only relief.

Eren looked up to Lathe with teary eyes, trying to speak, but his voice so ragged and scratchy that he couldn’t make out more than a word at a time. “I-I’m… sorry…… I thought… I-I could… swim…” Eren’s grasp was so weak as he tried to squeeze Lathe’s hand. I can’t even hold his hand… I feel so weak. He barely recognized that Blake was there until the dog started to lick at his face, whimpering and whining.

Charlotte nodded as she heard Lathe call to her. “I’m going to get towels for him, go see if they need any help.” She hurriedly walked back towards the house to grab a stack of dark blue towels and started on her way outside, to help them with Eren. I can only imagine how long he was at the bottom of that pool.

Spades sighed quietly in relief as Eren tried talking. “Eren, hun, don’t try talking yet… you need to keep breathing… just focus on that.” She continued to run her hands through his hair in soothing patterns on his scalp. We can’t have you go into shock, that’ll only make things worse.

Lathe gave Eren a weak smile and squeezed his hand back, looking up as Charlotte and Nate approached them with towels. He thanked her, taking one from her and gently wrapping Eren in it, not even noticing he himself was soaking wet until Spades draped one over his shoulders. He rubbed Eren’s shoulder soothingly as Spades gently dried Eren’s hair until it was only damp, making sure he was bundled up well before speaking again. “Eren, we’re going to get you inside where you’ll be warmer, okay? Just focus on your breathing, that’s all you need to do. You’ll feel better in a little bit, I promise.” He watched as Eren nodded, slowly and carefully getting his arms under him and lifting him up, trying not to let him curl into himself too much as he carried him to the house, keeping his steps even so as not to jostle him. We need to get you inside, into dry clothes, wrapped up with warm blankets, and some tea and pain reliever.

Thank fuck he’s okay. Nate kept ahead of Lathe a couple steps, opening the door for them as he stepped inside. Lathe is in doctor mode, Spades has that Mom-mode-activated look... they've got him. Nate went to the counter and started the coffeemaker, putting a kettle full of water on the stove and setting out mugs. Today’s going to be a recovery day for Eren then... he isn't going to be doing any singing, that's for sure. He'll get better though.

Charlotte followed them into the living room and helped to rearrange the moveable furniture, and spread blankets out so that Eren basically had a large bed under him that could get damp from the towels and keep him warm as well. “I can get more blankets and pillows.” She offered quietly to them. I wanna help but it looks like you guys've got everything.

Spades smiled softly at her. “I’m sure Eren would love a nest of pillows and blankets if it isn’t too much to ask for?” I know that Eren always like to sleep in his nest at home whenever he feels like shit. Spades smiled as Charlotte nodded and went off to get more blankets and pillows, and Nate coming in with a few mugs of coffee and tea. These guys know us pretty well.

Lathe nodded gratefully to Charlotte as she offered to bring more pillows and blankets, about to go get his medical bag from the mud room when Nate came in holding two mugs, his bag slung over his shoulder. “Nate, you're the real MVP.” Lathe warily smiled to him, accepting his bag from him and riffling through it as Nate set down the mugs on a nearby end table and left to retrieve more, pulling out a small bottle of aspirin. He shook two into his palm, moving close to Eren and pressing them into his hand. “Eren, these are just some strong pain relievers. I'll get you your mug of tea to help them down.” He picked up the mug, helping Charlotte as she returned to prop Eren up slightly on a pillow so he could take them. “Easy now, take your time.” Down the hatch.

Eren looked to the pills, weakly lifting his hand to his mouth and taking one at a time, sipping at the tea. He took both without hesitation and looked at Lathe hoping he would take the mug from him. It’s too heavy... I can’t hold this. He watched as Charlotte and Spades worked on getting Eren comfortable in blankets and loading the huge square of couches pushed together with more blankets and pillows. Are we all gonna stay in here?.... Wait... do I have a fucking shirt on!??!? Eren’s eyes widened as he realized all his ugly scars were there for everyone to see. Shit... not good, I didn't want them to see! I didn't want Nate to see them.... He’ll pity me if he does... I don’t want him to pity me... I want him to be my friend! Blake whined as Eren freaked out, jumping up onto the couches and going to sit by Eren, trying to calm him down.

Lathe set his bag and Eren’s mug down when Blake leaped onto the couches, he himself going to join Eren, running a hand through Eren’s hair to calm him, not even noticing his own dark locks still soaked and dripping onto the towel around his shoulders. “Eren, it’s okay, we’re taking care of you now... you don't have anything to worry about right now. It’s okay. Swear it.” You don't need stress piled on top of what just happened... I'll make us all breakfast and lunch and dinner today, whatever you want, and Spades and I will make sure you're comfy and dry and happy. That’s what’s important now. Nothing else.
Eren shook his head, looking at Lathe with panicked eyes. No... they can see my chest... I didn’t want them to see it... they can see it. Eren weakly reached to pull up the blankets to cover his chest and he tried to hide the ugly scars away, getting frustrated when he was too weak to pull it up past all the scars. It won’t make it. “I... I can’t.” Eren was struggling to pull it up over his scars still. I need help.

Spades looked to Eren struggling to pull the blanket up, climbing up onto the couches on the other side of Eren and helping him pull the blanket up to his chin. Lathe’s still soaked... well, I can stay with Eren for right now. “Lathe.... Get off the couch, you’re soaking wet, go get dry clothes on and get Eren dry clothes too.” Come on, the drier his surrounding area is the better.

Lathe’s expression flickered with confusion until he noticed his shirt sticking to him, suddenly realising the room felt colder than it probably should have. “...I literally completely forgot. I’ll go do that now.” Lathe gave her a sheepish smile before getting up, walking to the stairs and trying not to slip on the wood floor. He toweled off his wet hair, retrieving clothes from the bedroom before shutting the bathroom door behind him, hanging up his soaked clothes and changing into a plain white tank and red sweatpants. He went over to Eren’s room, looking through the dresser and getting him a loose long sleeve, sweatpants, and dry boxers and socks. He padded back downstairs. “I got you dry clothes, you can change whenever you feel okay enough to. I’ll make us all breakfast. What do you want to eat, Eren? Anything.” You call the shots today. Lathe leaned on his elbows on the back of one of the arranged couches, the clothes still in his arms, smiling warmly to him.

Eren nodded weakly. “I... wanna... change... first.” Eren told him quietly, trying to struggle and get up, wincing as he sat up, clutching at his chest. It fucking hurts to move.... Like a lot... shit... Did I do something to my ribs? They fucking hurt.

Lathe noticed him cringe, gracefully leaping over the back of the couch and landing softly next to him, his clothes still in hand, resting a hand on his shoulder. “Your chest hurt?” He hummed knowingly as Eren silently nodded. “I’m not surprised, that can happen when you do CPR... it’s probably a fracture, nothing too serious, but I want Scotty to be the one to take a look when we get home. Just don’t try to aggravate it and you’ll be okay. The painkillers should kick in and help soon, but if not I’ll get you something a bit stronger. ...do you need help getting changed, or can you do it?” At this point, I don’t trust nobody besides Scotty or I to be in charge of any medical stuff that goes down.

Eren nodded his head. “Just... hold the blanket... I can get my underwear.... Myself... but I don’t think I’ll be able to do much else...” I feel so fucking weak right now. I don’t know if I can do that.

Lathe nodded, helping ease him back down and handing him his boxers, holding the blanket in place while Eren struggled to change them, finally handing him the wet garment. He let Spades take it from him, pulling the cover back so he could gently help him into his shirt, tugging on his sweatpants and socks before tucking him back in. “Your painkillers should have kicked in… are they enough? Do you need something more?”

I don't want you in too much pain…

Eren shook his head. No… it hurts a lot, but I can deal with it. It's payback for even attempting it I guess. He looked up to Lathe with pain in his eyes. “Can… can we have… french toast?” Eren asked quietly to him as he shifted a bit, whimpering in pain as he tweaked it without realizing it. Fuck that hurts, alright, well moving by myself is gonna be a bitch today.

Spades sighed quietly. “Alright Eren, Lathe’ll make breakfast, but you gotta stay still so that you don’t hurt yourself more.” She shifted and helped him move up onto a mound of pillows so he can comfortably see the TV.

Charlotte was currently flipping through channels trying to find something that Eren would most likely enjoy. Well… Freeform is doing the Harry Potter weekend for like the fifth time in the last two months. That should work. She turned it on, smiling as Harry took over the screen. “Eren, is Harry Potter alright for today? They have the marathon running this weekend.”

Eren nodded subtly to Charlotte, a smile forming on his face, and he looked to the TV completely engrossed into it, not noticing Nate come into the room.

Nate finished up drying the floor from all the water tracked into the house, going to chuck it into the dryer and coming back into the living room. “Alright Lathe, I got Eren’s tea on the table behind you, and I guess I’ll be your slave in the kitchen. Charlotte is gonna stay with Eren and Spades to make sure he’s got all the nesting materials he needs, so- ready to make breakfast?” It's been one hell of a morning… Damn.

Lathe nodded, chuckling quietly and picking up the mug of coffee next to Eren’s tea behind him. “As ready as I'll ever be, I guess.” He petted Eren’s head lightly. “You just chill and watch Harry Potter, I'll have breakfast ready before you know it.” He followed Nate into the kitchen, tossing him an apron and getting to business. It wasn’t long before he was carrying a tray table with French toast and all the fixings into the living room, waiting for Spades to help Eren sit up a bit before setting it in front of him, setting his tea as well in front of him. He ruffled his hair before going to help retrieve plates for everyone else, all four of them settling around Eren in the couch square to eat, snitching the maple syrup and buttercup from his tray and watching Harry Potter, some quiet chatter passing between them. Lathe took the dishes back to the kitchen when everyone was done, Nate offering to help and following him to the sink, drying the dishes Lathe washed.

Nate’s voice was quiet as he spoke. “Do you think it had something to do with what he was writing yesterday?” I can't help but wonder if he was trying to drown himself… I mean… His past would warrant an attempt. Nate set to putting the dishes away once they were dried.
...he wouldn’t. Late shook his head, his voice calm. “I know that Eren has a lot of ghosts and bad memories he can’t let go of, but he only wrote all that because given such an outlet for it, he’ll get lost in his own mind. He even said himself he thought he could swim in the deep end, and I knew he didn’t really like that I wouldn’t let him yesterday. He just, quite literally, got in over his head. But it wasn’t anything intentional.” He handed Nate another plate. He’s not like that, anymore at least. He’s been getting so much better.

Nate sighed quietly. Lathe… Did you read all his music? “One of the songs was about drowning himself.” His voice was broken as he spoke. I’m not trying to imply anything… I’m just worried about him… I saw the sheet music all over the floor in his room when I got home, and it just picked it all up and read it all …

Lathe looked up, setting down the plate he was holding and drying off his hands, setting a hand on his shoulder as he spoke. “I only read one line of one of the songs he wrote… I know everything he wrote wasn’t pretty, but I really don't think he meant it literally. It could have been an extended metaphor, for all I know. But he said himself, and I have very good reason to believe he wouldn't. I understand why you'd be worried, and I'll keep a closer eye on him, but I really think he’s okay.” I trust his word, and I know he’s been making progress, and if anything were bugging him, I trust he’d let me know before it escalated.

Nate nodded. “Sorry, I’m really worried about him… He’s like the little brother I never had… And are those scars… Are they from…?” Nate trailed off looking at the hallway leading to the family room. Are those from Grisha beating him?

Lathe’s eyes suddenly flickered with recognition. Nate saw the scars. Charlotte saw them too… and Eren was so adamant about swimming with a shirt on… was he freaking out earlier because he didn’t want them to see? Lathe sighed, nodding. “They’re from his biological father, yeah… but he’s so self-conscious about them, I’m pretty sure he didn’t want you two seeing them. He swam with a shirt on yesterday, that’s why… just don't ask him about it or anything. But yeah…” He has so many… too many…

Nate nodded. “My lips are sealed. Shall we make popcorn now or later? I mean we’re going to be watching movies… Aren’t we?” I think keeping Eren happy today will be the best action for today… But how will he take popcorn?

Lathe nodded. “I’d say today is a chill with Eren and watch movies day. I’m sorry, but no singing is probably going to happen too soon, because his lungs need time to recuperate from all that chlorinated water. But at least I will want popcorn, since you brought it up I'm assuming you'll eat some too, and Spades loves it, Charlotte I don't really know, and Eren is a maybe, so yes. Popcorn is a thing that needs to happen.” Lathe looked over to a cabinet he knew held a huge pot.
“...preferably in large quantities.” Legit, once we have it, we’re going to eat it. That's no question. “But let’s finish these dishes first, cool?”

Nate nodded helping him finish the dishes they already had. Once they were done he helped fish out some rather large bowls he had for some reason. Still don’t know why we have these but we do... These should work.

Lathe lifted the heavy pot onto the stove, hunting through the cupboard for the large plastic jar of popcorn kernels he’d bought not too long ago. He watched Nate struggle to fit the large bowls out of a cupboard, grinning. “’Y’know, for someone who apparently never cooks, you sure have everything in a kitchen you could ever need.” I'm surprised. And low-key impressed.

Nate chuckled as he finally got the bowl out, setting it with the others. “Well, I mostly used these for parties.... I think? But I haven’t hosted a party in years… But they would make excellent popcorn bowls.” He smiled cheerfully as he helped get out whatever he needed to make popcorn.

Lathe nodded approvingly, starting the stove and setting an absurd amount of popcorn kernels to pop with the perfect amount of butter and salt, needing oven mitts to shake around the pot as they popped, trying to leave as few unpopped kernels as possible. He filled one of the huge bowls before starting another pot, letting Nate put whatever he wanted in it and filling the second. They carried the two bowls into the living room, Lathe settling next to Spades who was on Eren’s right, setting the bowl in her lap so Eren could reach it and draping one arm behind her, shifting to share her blanket. He leaned over to peck her lips before lightly pecking her neck and resting his head on her shoulder, weary. It’s already been a hella long day…

Eren watched them come into the room curled up a bit to Spade’s side, surrounded by even more pillows and blankets. He was fairly quiet, but didn’t really make a move for the popcorn, afraid it would hurt if he did. I don’t want it to hurt, I’m finally comfortable… No pain please.

Nate looked surprised by the amount of extra blankets and comforters that were added to Eren’s nest since they left to do dishes. Charlotte’s doing most likely. I know Eren loves blankets and pillows. Nate settled in between Eren and Charlotte on Eren’s left and made sure to give Blake space to move around. Don’t upset the protective guard dog.

Spades lifted her head up a bit to peck Lathe’s cheek with a smile. [He’s doing better… He finally got comfortable next to me.] I want him to get better just as much as you do… I mean, he’s gonna officially be my kid soon too…

Lathe smiled, quiet. [That’s good, that he’s feeling a bit better… but he did say the pills didn't do much…] Lathe’s brow furrowed, lifting his head and speaking to Nate. “Nate, my bag’s leaning against the couch next to you, can you pass it and Eren’s mug please?” I have something a bit better. He accepted it with a quiet thank you, Spades holding Eren’s mug while he rifled for a different bottle, thinking for a moment and pouring one into his hand, pressing it into Eren’s palm. “This’ll really take the edge off any pain.” It’s fast-acting too. You’ll definitely feel it.

Eren looked at the light blue pill in his hand. What the fuck is this? It’s got a 15 on it? Does that mean something? Eren shrugged, slowly moving away from Spades and wincing as he felt a sharp pain in his chest. He hesitantly raised his arm and took the pill, drinking from his mug afterwards, staying where he was and not daring to move. I wonder what the hell he gave me… I don’t think I’ve ever had that before...

Lathe set his bag next to him, gently petting Blake as he shifted around and resting head back on Spades’ shoulder, reaching for the popcorn and quietly munching, glancing up every minute or so, waiting to see the shift when the pill kicked in. That’s the lowest dose of morphine I can give you...it won’t not work, so any minute now...

It didn’t take much longer until Eren shifted against Spades, curling up to her, completely oblivious to the ring she was wearing. She let him curl up on her lap, and he seemed okay as she carded her fingers through his dried locks. Her hands feel nice. It was towards the beginning of the second movie that Eren passed out, his breathing even as he slept with his head on Spades’ lap.

Lathe moved the bowl from her lap to his to make room for Eren, smiling as Eren fell asleep in her lap. His arm held her close to him, murmuring in her ear. [You make an absolutely wonderful mom, you know that?] He smirked as she blushed, giving her a sweet kiss before resting his head again on her shoulder, settled and warm. [I love you, Spades… If I fall asleep on you too, it’s okay to wake me up when everyone wants lunch. I’ll be nice and make food.] He pointed to Nate with his left hand, tiredly joking. [Anything to keep him away from the stove.] Let’s be real, he can burn water. And that takes skill.

Spades nodded and smiled with a blush. [Alright, we’ll let you sleep… I know it’s been a long day already. Get some rest.] She kissed his forehead, still rubbing Eren’s head to keep him calm as he slept. She looked over to Nate. That reminds me. “How did you guys put him to sleep last night?” I remember he was asleep when we got home… And he’s had nightmares recently so it’s hard putting him to sleep if you’re not Lathe.

Nate chuckled a bit. “Interesting you should ask…. Well, we had some extra gloves… Filled them with beans, put them in the microwave and then put one on his back and one on his head to make it feel like someone was there with him… Worked like a charm. He was out after a few minutes.” Thank you, Internet.
Lathe lifted his head and just stared at Nate for a long moment before turning to Spades, motioning to him with his right arm. [This is exactly the sort of shit I'm talking about. We can't even trust him with a damn microwave, so why the hell did we trust him to care for Eren?] ...I'm both amused, and concerned. [Legit, how did you not start a fire?] Lathe addressed Nate, his expression and tone deadpan, too tired to realize he was still talking in French. I'm so done with you.

Charlotte giggled at Lathe’s words. “Well… I made sure that he just put them in long enough to warm them up, so he didn’t burn the house down.” Yes, I know French and you guys are so perfect for each other it’s amazing!

Nate watched this whole conversation take place. “Why do I feel like I’ve been made fun of for this entire conversation? Come on! You gotta give me some credit! He fell asleep without having to have you put him to bed. I think I succeeded in my first parenting lesson…

Lathe just gave Nate a look. [I’m just grateful on the behalf of landlords everywhere that you don’t rent.] That would be a nightmare. [I get the feeling that all the landlords in the state would have you on their do-not-rent lists, or at least ban you from having anything at your disposal more technologically advanced than an apple peeler.] ...I'd probably have that as a basic requirement. And I'm me.

Nate just huffed. “Yeah yeah… Talk all the smack you want, and get to bed before your kid wakes up…” Nate made a shooing motion, before getting closer to Charlotte and watching the movie still. I feel as though he’s majorly insulted me…

Lathe dropped his arm, snaking it around Spades’ waist and again using her shoulder as a pillow, mumbling tiredly. [Sorry, that was mean… but I'm tired and trying to be humorous and it’s apparently not working.] He studied his expression from his spot. [...you don't speak French, do you.] He waited for a response, getting none and sighing. [Charlotte, do me a solid and translate everything, pretty please. I can't English right now…] Lathe yawned, slipping into a light sleep.

Charlotte chuckled and translated everything that Nate needed to know which only got him angry for a few seconds before he laughed it off. “He’s probably right though… At least he’s asleep.” That’s good on a lot of levels. She smiled and the three adults awake fell into relative silence going through two movies before Eren started to stir.

Eren whimpered in his sleep heavily, tossing and turning rapidly. No… No… Not again! I can’t reach the bottom! I can’t… Reach…. Eren woke up screaming, panting hard and scrambling away from Spades and everyone else and struggling against the multitudes of blankets. Blake was whining trying to get him to calm down as he freaked out. I need to get out of here… He’s gonna Lathe's eyes snapped open, focused as he moved the large popcorn bowl out of the way and shifted forward onto his knees, his arms gently encircling Eren's torso and murmuring to him, trying to calm him down. “Eren, hey, it's okay. I'm here, Lathe’s here… you're fine, it was just a nightmare…” Another one... we need to try to stop those...

Eren was still struggling against the multitudes of blankets he was currently wrapped in and freaked out more when Lathe tried to hold him until he started talking. It's Dad... It's not him... He’s not gonna throw me in the lake... I'm not gonna die... Eren slowly started to calm down from his panicked state, starting to cry as he remembered everything that happened almost a decade ago.

Lathe slid one arm under Eren and gently lifted him, bringing part of the nest with him as he settled back next to Spades, setting Eren in the space she had made so he could be between them. He held him close to his side, rubbing his arm and murmuring into his ear to calm him down. It's okay. You have nothing to worry about. We'll try and keep the nightmares away.

Eren continued to cry into Lathe’s side, his hands shaking as he clung to him. I must look so pathetic to them all.... I'm 18 and I still cry like a baby... Over a fucking nightmare... No. It’s not a nightmare, it was a memory... Two actually. My mind meshed two of them together... Me almost completely dying today, and Grisha throwing me in the lake when I was 9... Eren just buried his head in Lathe’s shoulder, continuing to sob and starting to hiccup because of it. <“I don’t want him to kill me…”>

Lathe’s hand carded through Eren’s brunette locks, letting him cling to him, German flowing from him a little more easily. <“Eren, he’s gone. He’s not here, he’s not going to hurt you. We’re here to keep you safe. You’re alright now. You don't have to be scared.”> It’s my... our job, to keep you safe. You’ll be okay. You scared me more than half to death today, but at least that’s all it was- a scare. ...you’d be in trouble for swimming by yourself if you hadn't more or less drowned...

Eren could only nod as he whimpered, struggling against the blankets to get into Lathe’s lap. He succeeded after a bit, not paying the movie any mind as he held onto Lathe’s shirt, his whole body trembling along with his hands. .... It was so... So terrifying. I don’t want that to happen again. Eren looked over to Spades as she put her hand on his back, rubbing soothingly, noticing that she had a reflective object on her left hand. Is that a ring? Is Mom married? Wait... Is Mom... Someone else’s real mom? Eren swallowed hard, trying to stop his cries and hiccups. But.... I... What if she’s not gonna come back?

Lathe pressed a kiss to Eren’s temple, seeing him staring hard at something and following his line of sight. He gave Eren a warm smile, his hand going to clasp Spades’ and bring it a bit closer to him so he could see the ring, speaking quietly. “Did you see this? You know what this ring means?” We were going to tell you today, this morning… that didn't exactly happen.

Eren looked up to him with broken eyes. It means Mom’s not gonna be my Mom... Why are you smiling? I thought you wanted her to yourself... Eren sighed quietly and just looked down at his still-shaking hands.

You don't look too happy... but you love Spades! ...I don't know what state his mind is in, so I'll just say it. Lathe’s hand left Spades’ hand to pull her close, pressing a sweet kiss to her cheek. “Eren, it means she’s mine.” Lathe grinned, a barely visible pink dust over his cheeks. Mine. ...I really like how that sounds...

.... What? Eren looked up to Lathe's face with a slightly hopeful look. “She’s not someone… Else’s mom? S-she’s my M-mom?” Eren asked quietly, slowly looking between the two of them. Please tell me that’s the case... That she’s my new mom... And not someone else’s mom...

Spades smiled brightly at Eren leaning forward to kiss the top of his head. “Of course I’m gonna be your Mom… I wouldn't want to be anyone else’s.” She smiled more as a similar feature overtook Eren’s face. Well that worked to lift his spirits.... But he really thought that I was marrying someone other than Lathe? How insecure about people staying by his side is he?

Lathe smirked, addressing Eren light-heartedly. “You dare to underestimate my charm?” He rested his head again on her shoulder, turning after a moment to peck her neck lightly. “I'm not letting her go anywhere.” Oh no, she’s mine.

Eren looked up to them and smiled happily. I really have a mom again... But... What if I’m in the way? Eren felt a second overwhelming sense of dread for today as he curled up in Lathe’s lap, his back pressed against his chest, focusing again on the TV. What if Lathe won’t want me in the house anymore? I guess I could always go back to my old house... Clean it up... Who am I kidding? There’s blood everywhere...

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe was in the kitchen fussing over a chicken about to go into the oven, having left the other four to their Harry Potter marathon. I kinda sleep-snapped at Nate a bit, and I don't want to press him into service too much while we’re his guests... at least I'm not blindly guessing at what Eren would want to eat for right now. He wanted pasta for lunch and chicken for dinner. Straightforward. He quirked an eyebrow as his phone rang in his pocket, hearing a quiet rendition of Jenka playing. The hell...? Levi never calls me. Lathe set down the chopping knife and pressed the answer button, holding the phone to his ear. [Hey Levi, what’s up? If anyone, normally I’m not the one you call.]

Is something up?

[WHERE. THE. FUCK . IS. EREN. AND WHY IS HE NOT ANSWERING HIS FUCKING PHONE!] Levi’s voice was full of rage and panic as he practically roared into his phone. I’ve been calling him for an hour, and not a single reply! What the hell is wrong with him!? Two days in a row he’s forgotten to call me! He’s giving me fucking heart attacks when this happens! The damn Brat is gonna pay for it!

Lathe held the phone from his ear as Levi yelled into his ear, trying to get a word in edgewise.

...that’s a thing… fuck. He doesn’t know anything about what happened. [Whoa whoa whoa Levi, please calm down Eren is fine, a lot just went down and there hasn't been too much time to tell you. Just let me explain.] Lathe took a deep breath, stopping his cooking for the moment. [I would just like to begin by saying that Spades has quite the pretty rock on her finger, if you catch my drift.]

Levi rolled his eyes and chuckled. I see- so that was why Nate was texting me…

[So… You finally grew a pair and asked her? So how many years has it taken you to do that?... Anyways… Answer the damn question what the hell happened to my Brat??] Congrats that she said yes… But I need to know why Eren didn’t call me… Or return my calls today!

Lathe shook his head as Levi spoke, grinning until his more serious tone returned. [Alright,you're not going to like hearing this… you know how Eren had said he wanted to try swimming in the deep end of the pool, even though he’s only swum once?] Lathe listened to Levi hum in assent, pausing for a moment before forcing himself to speak. [Well, he tried that this morning while we were all still asleep, nearly drowned, was damn lucky I woke up and found him in time to do CPR and just spent today recouping from all that and a fractured rib… his voice isn't the greatest right now because his /lungs/ aren't the greatest right now, and he hasn't been up for anything more than Harry Potter movies and snacks…] He listened tensely to the eerie silence on the other end. [...should I give him my phone so you two can talk?] For being so many miles and miles away, I feel oddly threatened...

Levi held his head in his hands as he spoke in his phone. [Lathe, you’re going to be completely honest with me about every last detail, or so help me god I will castrate you in your sleep! Is that clear?] His voice was cold, strong, demanding, carrying an air of importance. I need to know everything… I need to know it before I say anything that might send him into a panic attack, cause he can't handle that if he drowned this morning.

Lathe subconsciously straightened up at his tone, grappling for the right words before regaling the entire ten-minute ordeal to him, and narrating the rest of the day. It feels like it wasn't just ten minutes from wake-up to Éren's-not-dead… it was hours… but it wasn’t.
Levi was quiet for a long time. He was dead… His heart stopped beating… Oh my god, how long was he under the water for? [Thank you, Lathe… I know that must’ve been a shock this morning…] Though I can’t say my day was any better with all the freak accidents that happened here today. [Thank you for bringing him back…] I don’t think I could live with myself if he died without my arms around him when we’re old as fuck…

Lathe smiled wearily, running a hand through his hair and leaning against the counter.[Of course… he means a lot to everyone. Especially to you.] You two deserve to have a hell of a lot more time together than that. [Do you want to talk to him?] He’d love to hear from you.

Levi let out a sigh of relief that he didn’t realize he was holding in. [Yeah, that would be great… Thank you… Get back to making dinner for all of them.] He waited patiently to hear Eren on the other end. Come on, I wanna make sure you’re alive…

Lathe padded to the living room, stepping behind the couches and gently patting Eren’s shoulder. “Eren, it’s for you.” He handed him the phone. He really wants to hear from you… and I don’t know if you’ve known you could use talking to him too.

Huh? Who’d call on your phone for me? Oh my God… is it Scotty? Does he know something about my ribs? I can’t even feel them right now to judge by myself… my god, that morphine was great… Eren held the receiver to his ear. “…Hello?”

Levi let out a huge sigh in relief. Oh thank god you’re alive! “Eren… it’s me… How are you feeling?” I would love to drop everything and go over there to protect you… but I need to clean up after some shit-for-brains underlings that I have.

…it’s so good to hear from you. “…high as fuck.” Those were some good drugs.

Levi shook his head. “It’s great to know morphine has the same effect as Marijuana.” God… I can’t believe you tried to hide that from me too.

Eren giggled a bit at Levi’s snark comment. “Yeah… I guess… but my chest……. Doesn’t hurt as much…” His voice was still pretty ragged as he spoke, but he had a soft smile on his face as he leaned back a bit. When are you coming home? I miss you.

Levi’s face softened for an instant, his eyes full of relief. That’s good. “Alright, well, I just wanted to make sure you were okay, Brat. Don’t go scaring Lathe like that again, understood?” I need to get back to the superiors soon.

Eren nodded, blushing a bit as he called him Brat. “Yes I understand…. Levi?” I need to ask.

“Yeah, Brat?”

“When are... you gonna be home?”

Levi paused for a bit thinking about his suspension for the moment. Probably sooner than you would think. “I’ll be home waiting for you tomorrow, okay? Now get some rest, I’ll see you tomorrow okay?” Can’t hurt, I can ask for a short leave… especially after what happened today.

Eren’s eyes lit up like a fucking christmas tree and he squealed in joy, a large smile on his face. “Okay… I’ll see you tomorrow.” I get to see him tomorrow!
Chapter 26: Broken Bones... and Spirits... and Hearts....

Eren was pretty chill the next day on the train, and he was asleep for the majority of it. He was really lethargic and his body was still weak from nearly dying. Well, not nearly... But they brought me back... I guess? At least, I think they did? He was either in Lathe’s or Spades’ lap for the entire ride, and often woke up from a nightmare, but he was quickly calmed down by the two of them before it got too serious. I don’t wanna think about that anymore.. I wanna see him, I haven’t seen him in forever. I wanna be home, I wanna paint some more pictures. What Eren was completely oblivious to was the amount of his music that was on the radio on the car ride home. He didn’t even acknowledge it at all, completely lost in thought. I wanna see Levi... He said he would be home... I really wanna see him. Eren was impatient as he got home, running out of the car before Lathe even parked in the driveway and running up the porch and into Levi’s arms. He’s really home! He’s really here! Thank god! Eren wrapped his arms around Levi’s waist, burying his head into Levi’s chest, taking in a deep breath of his smell. He smells like cigarettes… That’s so weird... He’s never smoked before....

Levi had a soft smirk on his face, crushing the cigarette he had just finished into his full ashtray, watching Lathe’s car pull around the corner. I need to cut it for today, the Brat probably thinks it smells weird anyways. Levi looked up as they parked, moving from the railing to the steps, seeing Eren run out of the car to hug him. He raised his hands to hold Eren, carding through the soft chocolaty locks which made up his mop of hair. “Hey Brat.” It’s good to see you’re well... And alive...

Lathe stopped the car, Eren having darted out of it quicker than he could yell at him to be careful. Eh, understandable. ...was Levi smoking? Lathe watched as Eren leaped into Levi’s arms, spotting the full ashtray sitting on the front step....he was. Lathe eyed the object with distaste, sliding out of the driver’s seat and ambling up the front walk, smiling to Levi. “Good to see you in one piece, Levi.” Lathe, this exact moment is not the time to give a damn lecture. He simply nodded to the ashtray. “Make sure it stays outside.” I’d have your head if you smoked in the house. Well, not really... but no.

Spades got out of the car last, coming up as well. “It’s good to see you again, Eren’s missed you.” She looked over to the full ashtray, eyeing it warily. When did he start that up? He doesn’t smoke regularly... Does he?

Levi nodded at Lathe. [Yeah I’ll keep it outside, but could you stay up with me tonight?] I need to tell someone... I think my conscience would be better after, and I don’t want to snap at Eren.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow. You did sound kinda distressed on the phone, and not even just about Eren... you said something hadn’t exactly gone okay... [Yeah, I’ll stay up. If you need to talk, I’m here to listen.] That kinda also explains why it looks like you smoked a whole pack of cigarettes waiting for us... it must be bad.
“You've only been home with us a minute and you're already having secret conversations again…”
Eren mumbled into Levi’s shoulder, refusing to let go of him. You two could be saying literally anything… I should ask you later to start teaching me… that would be cool. Eren started to tug Levi to the door. “I wanna go inside…” I just want to have you to hold on to for a while…

Levi nodded. “Yeah, let’s go downstairs.” Levi grabbed Eren’s shirt and led him inside, leaving Spades and Lathe there on the porch. I guess I can let you monopolize me before dinner.

Spades looked over to Lathe once they left. “Does he normally smoke?” She asked quietly, starting back to the car to get their luggage. It seems odd for him to just start out of nowhere… He seems like he’s got something on his mind too..

Lathe shook his head, coming with her to help get their suitcases from the trunk. “It’s apparently a new habit… he certainly didn't smoke the last time he was home. I just didn't want to lecture him when he hadn't been home long at all. I'll talk to him though, later. He’s got stuff on his mind. I won't be in bed until late- he said he needed someone to talk to.” What could have happened?

...hmmm… That’s really weird, but understandable. “That’s fine, I’ll be waiting for you in bed.”
She murmured quietly, an arm wrapping around his waist for a moment. “What are we gonna make the chicklins for dinner?” She had a soft smile on her face, kissing his cheek as they unloaded everything.

Chicklins? So like chicks, as in flock of chicks, and children... a flock of teeny humans... I need to tell her, I really want kids... and lots of them... Lathe grinned at the thought, tilting his head to peck her lips before speaking. “Hm, corned beef is easy enough, and it’s been a long enough day even though it’s only noon really…” Lathe shut the trunk, his own suitcase and Eren’s in either hand, following Spades to the door and carefully setting Eren’s out of the way in the scripting room. “I need to call Casper after I unpack everything. We still need to find Eren nightmare meds that work and don't make them worse.” Everything we’ve given him so far for them hasn't gone well at all...

Spades nodded and she took her suitcase upstairs to the room, setting it by the door. “I’ll unpack after you, I’ll start getting everything together.” Then we can cook together... I really want to do that again. “Tell Casper I said hi too... oh, and tell him about my ring!” She called from the kitchen as she started getting everything ready, humming along.

Levi pulled Eren close to his chest, carding through his hair still. I keep worrying about you... you take so many risks to try and prove you can do something. He let out a soft sigh, holding him close.
“Don’t make me worry so much, Brat.” Levi’s voice was quiet against his ear, holding him close, not wanting to let him go.
Eren kept his arms tightly wound around Levi’s waist, guiding them both along from their spot near the foot of the basement stairs to the bed, just wanting to lay down and hold Levi. “M’sorry… I didn't think that would happen… I just really wanted to… but I'll be more careful, promise…” I wasn't trying to get myself drowned… I need to be careful about this stuff… Lathe normally never tells me I can’t or shouldn't do something, so if he does, it really is probably for a good reason… but I'm just glad I still get to hold you… Eren nudged Levi onto the bed, laying down next to him and tangling their legs. I missed you… but you're only going to be leaving me in a little while… and then I'm not going to see you for a long time again...

Levi nodded, leaning his head down a bit and kissing the top of his hair. “I can only stay for a few days, but I’ll stay with you, unless you go to school, I’m not letting you skip that now.” Nope, you need to serve your suspension… Yes, I know about that too. A smile graced his lips as he thought of something. “I can drop you off and pick you up in the morning if you want?”

Eren nodded, his voice soft and quiet. “Mm, that’d be nice…” I'd like that… Eren suddenly let out a high-pitched squeak as Levi’s hands ran over his side, jumping a bit at the touch and suddenly realising what sound he had made, his face turning scarlet. ...did I really just squeak? Oh my god that’s embarrassing… He looked away from Levi, hoping he would ignore it.

Levi’s eyes widened only a fraction as he listened to Eren. Did touching him really make him squeak like that? That was fucking adorable… Oh god and I was gonna let him off the hook cause he almost died, but there goes my patience. Levi instantly moved them so that he was pinning Eren down to the bed, his lips barely touching Eren’s ear, his voice deep and luxurious. “And here I was, thinking I would control myself… but you’re too fucking cunning.” You are mine. Levi started to attack his neck, his hands moving up and down Eren’s sides. I wanna hear you again.

Eren let out a surprised gasp as Levi flipped him onto his back, tilting his head back as Levi attacked his neck, giving him more access. Eren let out a quiet moan as Levi left small marks down his neck, shuddering as Levi’s hands grazed his sides again, letting out higher-pitched, soft sounds as Levi licked and suckled his skin. I've missed this… I've missed you so much… He brought up his hands, unzipping Levi’s jacket and pushing it off of his shoulders, running his hands over his torso and feeling the chiselled muscle through his form-fitting shirt. Mine...

Levi smirked, his eyes darkening a bit as he felt Eren’s hands on his chest. God, he knows how to drive me insane with only a few touches. He let his cool hands run under Eren’s shirt, feeling the warm skin underneath, and finally pulling the shirt off of him and attacking the tanned skin to bite and mark him. I want everyone to know you’re mine. All mine, no one else’s…. But I think I should let you relax for today. Levi made sure to keep Eren’s movements restricted so that he could pleasure him right, littering his chest with hickeys and bites.
Eren’s brow furrowed a bit as Levi moved and held down his hands, shivering as his mouth wandered over his torso. “L-Levi… nnngh…” Eren tried to protest his not being able to move, though he soon just surrendered to him, letting out soft mews and whimpers as Levi’s tongue traced over every sensitive spot. You’re too damn good at this…

Levi continued to kiss and mark all of Eren’s sensitive areas, making sure that he was leaving large dark marks, often going over them multiple times to darken them up further. These will stay longer… hopefully. He trailed up towards his nipples, taking one into his mouth, and sucking gently at first before he got a bit rougher, and rougher, soon biting teasingly at the abused nub.

Eren writhed underneath Levi’s hands, feeling his hard teeth tug at his nipple. Holy fuck… it feels really good… don't stop. “...L-Levi… nnngh… d-don't stop…” god no… Please don’t stop, whatever you do don’t… But I wanna please you too. Eren continued to struggle against him to try and reach for Levi’s crotch.

Levi’s hands came up to catch Eren’s wrists, pinning them to the bed and looking up with dark eyes from his place on his chest. “Eren, right now, this is about you. Let me…” Levi gave Eren’s abused nub one last lick before nibbling to the other, sucking and gently biting it, smirking inwardly as Eren moaned above him. He shifted so he held both of Eren’s hands with one hand near his head, his other trailing down his chest and to his jeans, teasingly running over the growing bulge in the front. I love the way you sound… my god I've missed this…

Eren groaned more at the light pressure, trying to grind his hips against Levi’s palm. “Levi… I want more…” He whined as he tried to get more friction. I don’t want to be teased… I want you Levi! Eren let out a soft whimper as he shifted under him, still trying to find a way to pleasure Levi as well. I want you to feel good, not just me… please?

Of course. Levi for the moment let go of Eren’s wrists, his mouth still latched onto his chest as he went to unbutton Eren’s jeans and tug them off his hips, his bulge pronounced through his boxers. Levi kissed and lightly bit down Eren’s stomach, pressing light kisses along the edge of his boxers until he latched onto the fabric with his teeth, pulling them down his legs and freeing his length. Levi kissed and licked up Eren’s leg, dragging his tongue up the inside of one thigh and down the other again, purposefully avoiding his length until Eren squirmed uncontrollably, pinning his hips with his hands and licking a broad stripe up the underside of his shaft, starting to suckle on the tip. I want to make you feel good… you just let me take care of you.

Eren let out a loud moan, his hand coming under him and grabbing the sheets. His eyes widened in surprise as Levi sucked at the tip of his length. Holy crap… it feels so good… Like really good… I want more. Eren tried in vain to buck his hips a bit but was unable to get out from under Levi’s hold as he whimpered from the pulses of pleasure coursing through him. Fuck.

Levi slowly started to inch down Eren’s length, taking in as much as he could and bobbing his head, his tongue flat against the underside. He took one of his hands to grasp the base of Eren’s length, pumping and twisting his hand in time with the movements of his head. A shiver ran through him as Eren let out a long, loud moan, humming with arousal, his own length straining against the front of his pants. You sound so damn sexy…

Eren’s grip on the sheets tightened his whole body shivering under him as his coil started to tighten. He was a gasping and moaning mess under him, and quite honestly he didn’t care. I can’t last much longer… fuck… Levi if this keeps on… One of his hands came up to grab Levi’s hair, tugging gently as he cried out in bliss, having been touched in an especially sensitive area on the base of his length. Sweet mother of God! Levi I can’t!

Levi noticed what made Eren cry out like that, and attacked that spot with his hand, letting out a small moan as Eren tugged at his hair. He sucked hard on his length until Eren came, swallowing his load without hesitation and milking him for every last drop, a small drop nearly escaping out of the corner of his mouth. He came off of Eren’s length with a seductive pop, licking the corner of his mouth while staring straight up at Eren, climbing up to kiss him fervently, one hand cupping his cheek.

Eren laid almost limply under Levi, his lips barely moving against the other’s, trying to force himself to stay awake, though he soon found it impossible as he blacked out, his body becoming completely limp under Levi, a soft smile on his face. That felt great… shit… I’m tired….

Levi pulled back and watched as Eren’s eyes didn't open again, his breath evening out. He’s dead asleep… Levi shifted uncomfortably, pecking his cheek lightly and tucking Eren back in before shifting off of him and pulling the blanket over the both of them, willing his hard-on to go down as he pulled Eren close. Dammit… at least I get to hold you…

Eren laid where he was, his head to the side as he slept, seemingly peacefully for now. But he had a thousand things running through his head, his body shifting towards Levi’s warmth, trying to get some much needed rest. The bags forming under his eyes were a clear indication that his nightmares were back. Blake came downstairs, hopping up onto the bed and sitting by Eren’s chest watching him in full alert, as if he were preparing to ground Eren right from the get go. But still, his breathing was even and his face still peaceful as he slept.

Levi soon relaxed, though he quirked an eyebrow at Blake as he jumped onto the bed, staring at Eren and seemingly ready for something. The hell are you doing? Levi reached for his phone, one arm still around Eren’s sleeping form, texting Lathe upstairs.

=Lathe, what the fuck is Blake doing?
)I dunno, what /is/ he doing?
He’s just standing there on the bed, staring at Eren.

Is Eren asleep?

Yeah, he looks pretty peaceful to me, I dunno what his deal is ...hate to be the bearer of bad news, but that’s not going to last for long.

Levi’s brow furrowed as he read his texts, looking up as Blake moved to settle on Eren’s chest, grounding him. What the hell is going on? Levi looked to Eren’s face as he shifted in his arms, starting to shake. Oh my...

Eren’s expression contorted to one of pure fear, his whole body shaking as his mind tormented him in his sleep, his breathing hitched and his arms jerking a bit before his eyes snapped open and he let out a loud petrifying scream as he started to panic, trying to move away from where he was, but unable to get up due to Blake grounding him. Panic was clearly set in his eyes, trying to take in his surroundings, his eyes darting over to Levi’s confused expression. Fuck... I’m home... I had another nightmare.... Fuck... they all feel so fucking real... dammit... Eren couldn’t control himself when he started to sob almost uncontrollably, Blake moving a bit to reach his cheeks and lick the tears away to try and calm him.

...Nightmares. He has those... Levi pulled Eren close to him when he recognized him, tangling their legs and running one hand soothingly through his hair, murmuring to him. “Hey, Eren, it’s okay, you’re fine… I’m here, you’re alright…” I remember Lathe saying something about nightmares awhile ago… I didn’t know they had come back...

Eren continued to sob, his head finding its way to Levi’s chest. Blake got up off his chest, allowing Eren to curl up to Levi to cry in his arms. The dog went off to go upstairs, sitting down by Lathe’s feet. Eren stayed in his arms, his breath shaky as he tried not to cry. God... I hate that I can’t fucking stop crying... or freaking out... I must look like such a cry baby.

And he probably hates you just enough to leave you.

... He’s never done it before though.

That doesn’t matter, he came back only because you almost died.

But he came back!
Do you think he loves you enough to take off more than a few days? He’s leaving you... he doesn’t care.

I want him to care....

Eren kept his head buried in Levi’s chest.
Levi cradled Eren against him, tilting his head down and kissing the top of Eren’s head. “Do you want to talk about it?” Whatever it was, it really freaked you the fuck out… was it Grisha? If anything could scare him like that, he really takes the cake…

Eren started to hiccup as he sniffled, looking up to Levi with teary eyes. Does he…? Yeah… I can tell you… Eren’s voice quaked as he tried to talk, his head still resting on Levi’s chest. “He…H-he … He t-throw… me i-in… And I… c-couldn’t…” Eren started to sob more, his voice getting higher and higher in pitch as he struggled to continue. “I-I-I… c-c-couldn’t r-reach the b-bottom…” Eren cried, his hands clutching Levi’s shirt, his whole body shaking as his sobs and hiccups started all over again. I don’t want to swim anymore…

Levi was quiet for a moment, thinking over what Eren had said. “…did Lathe throw you in?” That would explain the sobbing… it’s not something you’d want to think was real, especially when you start to drown…

Lathe had stopped his silent walk down the stairs on the third step as he heard Levi quietly speak. Huh? …Eren’s nightmare was him getting thrown into a pool? …makes sense… he wouldn’t really think I’d do something like that, would he? I’m not that mean…

Eren shook his head against Levi’s chest, continuing to sob. No… It wasn’t Dad…. He wouldn’t do that… But… But Grisha would… And he did… And I couldn’t reach the bottom.

Lathe tiptoed down more stairs in time to see Eren shake his head, his brow furrowed.…then what are his nightmares? I know he used to have them because of his PTSD… and then, nearly all of them were memories… mostly about Grisha… did Grisha throw Eren into a swimming pool? Try to drown him when he was younger? Lathe gently rapped on the banister, Blake trotting back down the stairs and to the landing next to him. “Are you two doing okay down here?” Do you have this handled?

Eren just continued to sob, one hand shaky as he let go of Levi’s shirt, moving to sit himself up as he sobbed, his eyes starting to burn from the excessive tears. No… It was really bad… I imagine I died again… but it felt so real… I thought I was dying and this was all a dream. Eren hiccuped again, his face blotchy from all the tears.

I take that as a no… it must’ve been really bad… Lathe walked across the dim room to them, sitting on the edge of the bed near the two of them as Blake jumped onto the foot of the bed. He shifted as Eren reached for him, pulling him close and carding a hand through his hair, quiet. It’s okay… we’ve both got you.
Eren continued to cry in Lathe’s arms, his hiccups becoming more and more frequent. My chest hurts now... Fuck... I need to calm down, but I can't... “He... H-he t-threw me i-i-in.” Eren explained to Lathe as he cried, burying his face into his chest, his hands still clutching Levi’s shirt though, not wanting to let go of him completely. I don’t wanna be thrown in again.

Grisha almost drowned you when you were a kid... didn't he? Levi sat up, moving so Eren was between the two of them, holding his middle and resting his head on his shoulder, his thumb running over his side. “It’s okay Eren, we’ve got you now. That’s not going to happen again.” I'll make damn sure of it.

Lathe hummed in assent with Levi’s words, still quiet, though his mind was in overdrive for a moment. You nearly drowned as a kid... probably more than once, knowing him... we’re going to be a hell of a lot more careful with you and pools. ...And lakes. And the occasional ocean.

Eren started to calm down after a few minutes, thoroughly exhausted from both not being able to sleep much and from crying so much already today. He was able to compose himself with Levi and Lathe both helping him calm down. Okay... Eren looked up to the both of them with eyes full of regret and pain. “I’m s-sorry…” He said quietly, his voice still pretty shaky, but it was progress from the broken sobs of a few minutes ago. He felt exhaustion hit him like a ton of bricks, swaying forward a bit, struggling to keep his eyes open. I feel really tired.

Levi caught Eren as he swayed forward, looking to Lathe and flashing him a soft smile for a second. “I think we’ll be fine, he just needs to sleep.” I should be able to take care of you when you have nightmares... hopefully... He watched as Lathe nodded, giving Eren one last kiss to the temple before quietly disappearing upstairs. Levi shifted, laying Eren on top of him and pulling the covers over the both of them, still carding his hand through his soft hair. Just sleep... you'll feel better.

Eren fell asleep in Levi’s arms, managing to stay asleep for a long time, long enough he had to be waken up for dinner, groggily sauntering up the stairs, his tank top moved so far down that his chest showed off a majority of the scars as well as a large purple bruise forming in the center of his chest, he whimpered as he rubbed at it. Fuck it hurts... Like a lot. “Daaaaaa~d it huuuuu~rts!” Eren whined grumpily as he sat down.

Lathe fussed over the stove, speaking as he towedled off his hands. “Don’t worry Eren, we’re taking you to Scotty tomorrow, so don't-” Lathe turned to the table, his eyes wide as he caught sight of the edge of a huge bruise, stopping dead in his tracks. “-my God that looks horrible.” Lathe reached behind him and turned off the burner, stepping around the table and inspecting the bruise. “I couldn't have cracked more than one or two ribs, but you've bruised so badly... let me get you something to help with the pain. It’s a good thing we’re taking you in first thing in the morning.” Yep, no school for at least half of tomorrow, that’s for sure.
Eren nodded sitting patiently, waiting for Lathe to bring him some pain relievers. It really fucking hurts, and I can’t hide the bruise unless I wear a long sleeve shirt… Crap… Eren thanked Spades as she set a plate in front of him, Levi sitting down across from him where he normally did. What is this?

Spades chuckled at his perplexed expression. “It's corned beef Eren, I know you’ll like it, don't worry.” Her smile was soft as she leaned over him, kissing his forehead.

You better- I like corned beef. Lathe handed Eren a small blue pill, setting a mug of tea in front of him, just the way he liked it. Levi’s taste might have changed while he's been gone- it’s been awhile already. “Still up for tea, Levi?” He asked over his shoulder, fixing coffee. Can't hurt to ask.

“Yeah, tea would be great. Thank you.” Levi responded thanking Spades for his food as well, smirking as Eren tried the food, and instantly started to wolf it down. …Still don’t understand his eating habits.

Well… I guess he likes it. Spades smiled as she set out their food as well, taking her seat across from where Lathe would sit, a smile across her face. I could get used to seeing this at the kitchen table… I could get used to this a lot.

Eren took his pill, drinking from his tea every so often as he engulfed the food. “Umm… Can I sleep with Levi tonight?” His voice was timid as he asked, still unsure if Lathe was wary of him having a nightmare again. I wanna sleep with Levi…

Lathe gave Eren a small, warm smile, setting down his silverware and picking up his mug. “You don't have to ask- of course you can. He’s your boyfriend. But if anything happens-” Lathe sent Levi a deliberate look. “-you come get me, okay? Or yell. …or call my cellphone and hope that if it’s on the ringing wakes me up. Either.” I know you missed sleeping with Levi- you go right the hell ahead. …that means I get Spades to myself. …Yes!

Spades looked up to see the familiar glint in Lathe’s eye. Oh I see your mind is still in the gutter… Well, I guess my teasing will do that to you, but I'm okay with it… I hope you didn’t forget you’re staying up with Levi today… “I’m probably gonna head up to bed after dinner, it’s been a long week and I'm exhausted. Eren you should get some sleep too, okay?” Her voice was soft and caring, the same as her expression. I need sleep, and I know you do too.
Eren nodded, finishing up his plate and putting it in the sink. My chest hurts and I'm tired... Fuck I wanna go back to sleep, it felt nice sleeping in his arms for a couple hours... I miss that so much. Eren sat back down at the table to sip at his tea, watching everyone else start to finish up their plates as well.

Levi finished up next, starting to help with the dishes, making sure Eren stayed awake at the table, and starting to load the dishes in the dishwasher. I should do something productive...

Lathe stood after a short while, helping with the dishes which went quickly between the three of them, sending off a very tired-looking Eren with a light ruffle of his hair, chuckling at the done expression he showed for an instant. He gave Spades a chaste kiss on the lips as she began to head upstairs. “I'll be up later, okay?” I need to hear out whatever Levi’s got going on later.

Spades nodded as she went off and upstairs, snuggling into their bed, taking in all of Lathe’s scent with a happy sigh and curling up under the sheets.

Levi seemingly disappeared for a few moments before he came back with a full bottle of Jack Daniels, setting it down on the table and moving to get some heavy glasses. “I need to drink if we’re going to talk.” I need to I don’t think I can tell anyone while sober.

...when the hell did you acquire that? ...and nice choice, honestly. “...how the actual hell did you manage to get that thing past customs? Or get it in the first place when you're still a minor?” Lathe sat down at the table again, breaking the seal of the bottle. If you need to drink to tell me whatever the hell it is you need to... damn.

Levi shook his head. “I can’t tell you anything about how I get it, or why... I have my ways, that’s all you need to know.” He murmured quietly to him, sitting down with their glasses with ice. “I can’t tell you this sober... I don’t think I even told my CO what happened sober.” It was a bitch to deal with, mostly cause it was my fault...

Well shit. Lathe poured their glasses full, sliding Levi’s back over to him, sipping at his. “That’s fine, whenever you’re ready, just start talking.” I'm all ears.

Levi nodded, though was silent until he had consumed two full glasses worth of Jack. “Well... Everything happened Saturday... Those asshats that I take care of... We... We were at the range, and I was showing them the ins and outs of our rifles... I told them not to fuck around with the rifles... But the one guy... He didn’t believe me when I said they were loaded... He shot himself in the leg, right through an artery... I-I... I couldn’t do anything to stop the bleeding... I tried... And I couldn’t do anything ... “ Levi raised his glass to finish off the third one, filling it right up again and tilting it back and finishing it off. “He bled out so quickly… I couldn’t stop the bleeding… Why couldn’t I stop the bleeding.” Levi’s voice was shaky at best, wavering the whole time he spoke. He topped off another glass, but he slowly sipped at it. He bled out in my arms… And I couldn’t fucking do anything at all…

Lathe sipped at his third glass, his brow furrowed at Levi’s words. …I don’t understand how anyone could be so dumb as to even pretend to shoot their foot… that went so horribly wrong… Lathe didn’t know what to tell him, though he capped the bottle of Jack and slid it back from Levi. I’m cutting you off… that’s your fifth glass, and you’re not exactly a big guy… …what do you tell people who’ve had other human beings die in their arms? Completely unexpectedly like that?

Levi watched him take the bottle away from him, probably for the better. He sighed loudly, sipping at his drink, his voice still shaky as he spoke. “He only lived an hour away from base… I had to go deliver the news to his parents…. I had to take his dog tags with me… Do you know how hard it is to tell someone’s parents that their son is dead… And that he died before he even made it overseas?” That was a fucking nightmare… I’m glad they accepted my leave for a few days, I don’t think I could’ve stayed there…

Lathe set down his empty third glass, his arms loosely folded on the table and looking up to Levi sympathetically, sadness in his eyes. “...I’m sorry you had to go through all of that… it all got thrown on you so quickly… it’s awful it had to happen.” ……I can only imagine how I’d feel if someone came to tell us… that you weren’t coming home… I don’t want to think about that...

Levi only nodded, lifting the glass to finish off the last bit of his drink, he set it down on the table with some force, but didn’t break the glass. He rose up closer to the table to reach for the bottle of Jack. I need another motherfucking glass… I’m not drunk enough to deal with this...

Lathe reached forward and caught Levi’s wrist, his other hand going to take his glass from him. “That’s it Levi, I’m cutting us off.” Nope, I’m tipsy and you look pretty drunk. “Come on, we should get some sleep. Can you handle the stairs?” Let’s hope I don’t have to carry your sorry ass to bed.

Levi nodded, managing to get up off the seat without falling over completely. He was struggling not to bump into things as he made his way over towards the basement door, opening it. “Goodnight, Lathe… I’ll make sure Eren wakes up for his appointment tomorrow.” God… I haven’t drank that much in a long time… fuck… Levi successfully made it down the stairs without smashing his face into a wall, settling into the bed beside Eren, who immediately curled up to him.

Lathe stood and placed both of their glasses in the sink, turning and staring at the bottle on the table for a minute, thinking before grabbing it by the neck and taking it upstairs with him. I need to hide this. Lathe quietly entered his- and Spades’, too… it’s really nice that I get to say that.- room, burying the bottle in one of the bottom drawers of the armoire, shedding his clothes and clambering into bed with a tank top and boxers on, trying to think. ... Foot. Tie. Lathe began to reach for the green scarf that always hung from one of the short posts at the end of the bed, only to immediately become distracted and stop as he felt arms wind around his middle, a gentle pair of lips pecking at his neck, humming contentedly and letting his arm drop.

Spades smiled as she pulled him back into bed with her. I wanna sleep with you... Since I need to go to work tomorrow. She pulled him closer to her, laying her head on his chest. It's nice... That I get to sleep with you like this... Everyday now.

Lathe had forgotten completely what he wanted to do, pulling Spades close and settling into bed, pecking her forehead before drifting to sleep. This is nice... I wouldn't mind doing this for the rest of my life... Lathe slept peacefully for about two hours, though as his dreams became especially vivid, he shifted, Spades not on top of him and keeping him from moving out from under the covers slowly, deliberately, his feet touching the floor and standing, his eyes still shut. He swayed slightly as he started to walk, leaving the bedroom and traipsing down the stairs, staring without looking at the scripting table, as if in thought before continuing down to the basement, going over to the large table near the bed and patting it as he walked, as if searching for something.

Levi picked up his head, hearing some noises from close by. What the hell is that? He blinked a few times, rubbing at his eyes, trying to wake up. He froze when he saw a body near Eren’s side of the bed, only to calm down noticing it was Lathe after a while. What the fuck is he doing down here? Levi sat up a bit, about to ask him a question as to why the fuck he was down there, only to realize Lathe had his wallet. What the fuck is he doing with my wallet!? Levi got up grabbing his phone when Lathe started towards the stairs, noticing his sway and closed eyes. Wait... Is he asleep? Oh my god... Is he sleepwalking? He's fucking sleepwalking... Well, better get this on video... Levi wasted no time in unlocking his phone and following Lathe, Blake waking up and following the two of them up the stairs.

Lathe started towards the kitchen, turning around the stairs and leaning a hand on the side table near the door as he swayed, hitting a small vase and nearly knocking it over. He stopped, steadying the vase, feeling it as if trying to identify it. He stared at it for a few seconds before turning away, patting the top and muttering quietly. “Nice to see you, Mr. McKinnon...” He carried on, going up to the fridge and staring at it for a solid minute, assessing the situation. He picked up his arm, holding the wallet straight in front of him, the end of it touching the right side of the front of the fridge. He suddenly dropped it, the sound of it thunking onto the floor not phasing him. He moved his hand after a second, pressing two imaginary buttons right underneath it. He dropped his arm to his side, his brow furrowing slightly in apparent confusion as he looked down, then up again. He waved off the fridge without much enthusiasm, turning to leave it. He meandered in the general direction of the piano room, bumping lightly into the wall at the edge of the doorway. He stepped back a bit and patted the wall at face level, muttering something about Patricia before continuing on, then overcompensating and bumping into the piano. He patted the flat top of it, then moved his hand against the surface as if ruffling someone’s hair, wandering the first floor and walking into things, mumbling pleasantries to various people before continuing to somewhere unpredictable. It wasn't until he walked into a floor lamp and did a complete 180 before he finally tripped, Blake having gone to sit next to him as he chatted with the fixture, confused and concerned. He near completely faceplanted into the floor, the house completely silent for a second until Lathe finally became conscious. “....ooooooooooowwwww....” Lathe rolled onto his back, splayed on the floor and gently holding his face. Paaaaaaaain.....

Levi could help but laugh, ending the recording as Blake went to lick Lathe’s face curiously. Well that was fun while it lasted… Levi shook his head as he heard movement upstairs, and saw Spades come down the stairs.

“What the hell was that?” Her eyes were wide as she saw Lathe sprawled out on the floor rubbing his face. What the fuck happened?

Lathe cracked open one eye, looking around in confusion. “Wha…? Why ‘m I…” Lathe sputtered as Blake licked his cheek, gently nudging him away from his face and struggling to sit up. I'm on the floor... downstairs... and I drank last night- ...tonight?- with Levi. ...fuck, I sleepwalked. “...what weird shit did I do this time?” Lathe just pet Blake as he tried to find the will to stand up, still very sleepy. This is gonna be good.

Levi chuckled, sending the video to himself to make sure Lathe didn’t delete it. “Would you like to watch the video?” Levi asked, holding out his phone to show him the 8 minute long video. You did some really weird shit.

Oh fuck. Lathe took the phone from him, Spades meandering over and sitting next to him as he played the video. “...is that your wallet? Did I really steal your wallet? What the hell?” Lathe looked perplexed as the video went on, laughing at his interaction with the fridge. “Oh my god, I must think it’s a vending machine. That’s great! ...did I just apologise to the wall? I just apologised to the wall. I just called the wall Patricia. …do I even know anyone named Patricia? Who the hell are these people I’m talking to? ...apparently the lamp makes for good conversation. ...Oh my god. Blake, I'm really sorry.” Lathe reached out to pet Blake behind the ears, chuckling as he heard himself make a noise of pain as he woke up before the video cut out. I literally sounded like I was dying. “And that, ladies and gentlemen, is why I tie my foot to the bed whenever I go to bed drunk, which I would have done, if somebody hadn't distracted me.” Lathe looked to Spades, grinning amusedly and pecking her cheek. It was a nice way to fall asleep. You're good.

Spades blushed a bit. “Well, let's get you back upstairs, since you're in a tank top and boxers… Come on… Let’s go back to bed.” She moved a bit away from him, getting up to make her way towards the stairs, stretching out a bit as she yawned, which ended in an adorable little squeak. Well... That was degrading.

Lathe handed Levi back his phone, following Spades to the stairs and smiling as she squeaked.
...you're too damn adorable. Lathe shut the door behind them as they walked into their bedroom, Lathe catching her middle from behind gently before she could reach the bed, softly kissing and lightly nibbling at the back of her neck. ...I just think you're the most adorable damn thing in the world sometimes...

Spades blushed as he grabbed her around the waist, leaning back into his hold a little bit, moving her hands up to rest over his. “Do we still need to tie you to the bed?” She asked quietly, his voice soft as she turned her head, which gave him more access to her neck. If we still need to it’s probably for the better...

Levi watched them leave up the stairs before slipping quietly back downstairs and into bed with Eren again, who had moved to the far side of the bed, curled up into a ball. Well... He probably shouldn’t be in a ball... He reached over to him, grabbing around his waist without waking him. Levi gently pulled Eren closer towards his own torso, hoping he would turn and hold onto him. I know you like sleeping in my arms but you are getting way too big for that!

Eren barely stirred as he was moved, but after a few minutes he turned over, his head now on Levi’s chest and his body sprawled out over the rest of Levi and the bed around them. Warm....

Lathe woke up early the next morning, tumbling out of bed confused and hitting the floor with a thump, saving his face with his arms, perplexed until he realised his foot was still tied to the bed. Oh yeah, that's a thing. Lathe twisted around to untie the knot, hanging the abused scarf back up and sighing a bit as he looked to the bed, empty. Work calls. Lathe moved to get dressed, deciding to take the scarf with him and padding down to the basement, knocking lightly on the doorframe before descending quietly, smiling faintly at their dark outline and shaking Levi’s shoulder. “Come on, you two need to get up and dressed. Eren has a thing at the doctor’s.” He chuckled as Levi grunted in affirmation, going to make them breakfast. He’ll get them up. ...hopefully.

Levi cracked open one eye as he felt Lathe shake his shoulder, understanding what he was saying in general and waving him off, shifting. Right, I have to get up. Doctor. Thing. Breakfast. ...actual food. I don’t have to run today! ...I actually should probably go run anyways... Levi smiled faintly as he felt Eren’s fingers curl in his shirt, pulling him close and pressing gentle kisses to his lips and cheeks, murmuring quietly. “Wake up, Eren. You have a thing with the doctor.” That’s important.

Eren groaned as he cracked open an eye, wincing as he moved around. He coughed, curling up to himself in pain. It hurts... Shit.... He coughed loudly, whimpering as he did so. It really fucking hurts... Fuck it. Eren looked down to his chest through the loose fabric and his eyes widened as he yelped. Holy shit... That’s so.... It's so purple... And dark... And big... Holy fuck!

Levi pulled back a bit, his brow furrowed as Eren shook coughing. You don’t sound too good... Levi followed Eren’s line of sight, seeing the large bruise on his chest. ...well shit. “Eren, I know it looks really really bad, but you don't have to panic. Just stay calm- it can be fixed.” Levi carefully cradled Eren to keep him calm. “Let me go upstairs and get you some painkillers, make it more bearable, okay? I'll only be a minute.” You sound like you need it.

Eren nodded, his eyes still wide as he gently prodded the bruised skin, wincing the whole while. It’s so fucking sensitive... And it covers my whole fucking chest. Eren whimpered as Levi shifted away to run up the stairs, having been jostled, tweaking his chest. It really hurts… Fuck… What did Dad do to me?

Levi ran up the stairs, having slipped from Eren as smoothly as he could, sliding into the kitchen and speaking to Lathe, who had his back to him at the stove. “Lathe, Eren’s in a lot of pain- it hurts to move. They’ve only taught us sprains and minor cuts so far- I have no idea what to do.” Help me help him!

Well fuck. “Alright, go into my bag, there’s a small blue bottle of morphine pills- the lowest dose they can give, 15 mg. Show me the bottle so I can make sure you've got the right one, and then if you got it I'll let you give one to Eren. My hands are full, so you're going to have to do my job for me right now.” Let's see if you can do that.

Levi nodded, moving over to his bag on the banister and rifling through it, soon returning with a tiny bottle. He grabbed a glass of water after Lathe nodded, filling it with water and taking out one pill, leaving the bottle upstairs as he returned to their bed downstairs, gently trying to coax Eren into sitting up- sort of, at least. Come on, this morphine shit works.

Eren let Levi move him, starting to cry from the pain as he was forced into a sitting position. He struggled to get the pill down, along with the water. “It hurts…” Eren whined as Levi waited for it to kick in, mellowing out after the pain had subsided at least a little bit. He slowly moved, to wrap his arms around Levi’s shoulders. I do not have the energy to move around... You’re going to carry me around. “Fo~od” He whined, leaning his head on Levi’s shoulder. I missed you carrying me around.

Lathe turned to greet the both of them as he heard heavy footsteps behind him. Levi must be carrying Eren around and being cute again. “Good mor-” Lathe turned, his greeting dying on his tongue as he caught sight of the huge bruise on Eren’s chest. “-oh my God that looks horrible.” I really did a number on you...

Eren looked over towards Lathe, a small frown on his face. “Thank you for stating the obvious.” He mumbled quietly, his eyes turning away from Lathe. He thinks I look ugly… Doesn't he?... He did it too......... Does Dad not want me anymore? Eren struggled to swallow the lump in his throat the formed at the thought. … Is he gonna turn out like Grisha....?
Lathe saw Eren’s saddened expression, wincing internally. Dammit, I need to watch my damn mouth. Lathe turned off the stove, setting the pancakes off the heat before moving around the table. “I’m sorry Eren, I was just surprised—how are you feeling? Did the medicine kick in yet, or enough? Do you want me to get you anything?” Lathe rested a gentle hand on Eren’s shoulder. I don’t want you to be in a lot of pain… I want you to be okay.

Eren barely looked over to Lathe, but he did after a bit. He shook his head, looking down at his placemat in front of him. No… I don’t really want anything…. It still hurts a lot, but I don’t think I can do much else for it…

Lathe’s hand slid from Eren’s shoulder, nodding quietly. “Okay, you don’t have to eat anything if you don’t want to.” Lathe sighed, moving back to the stove to serve pancakes, setting out plates with fruit for himself and for Levi. He’ll feel okay enough to eat soon enough.

Eren watched them in relative silence, seeming to zone out a bit.…. Is he really gonna turn out like Grisha? Is he gonna do this again? It really hurts…. It hurts a lot, I don’t want it to hurt. Eren absentmindedly reached to rub his pained chest, hissing as he felt something shift under his fingers. Fuck… That hurts! Though Eren tried to ignore it as he continued to rub around his chest, wincing every now and then, waiting for Levi and Lathe to finish up their food.

Lathe had his back to Eren to pour coffee, a violent shiver running up his spine as he heard a faint yet distinct scraping sound. I hate that sound. Lathe turned worriedly, seeing Eren rubbing his chest. “Eren, stop that. You’ll hurt yourself more.” He watched as Eren didn’t even seem to register that he had spoken, and in an instant was leaning over the table, Eren’s wrist gently yet firmly in his grasp. He looked into Eren’s eyes as he spoke, making sure he got the message, his voice calm and without anger. “Eren, stop.” Don’t fuck with your ribs… Now I really know that they’re broken…

Eren’s eyes snapped up to meet Lathe’s intense gaze, seeming to shrink back a bit. He looked at his wrist, firmly in his grasp. Oh… What was I even doing? Eren seemed to nod, and kept his hands away from his chest. It’s sore… And I want to rub it… It took only seconds for his mind to return to LaLa land, and his residency becoming stable. What can I do to make it stop? I wanna rub it… It’s so sore…

Lathe let go of Eren’s wrist after a moment, patting his shoulder gently before returning to fix them breakfast. It wasn’t much more than an hour later before Lathe was leading Levi and Eren into the hospital for x-rays, greeting the woman at the front desk. Let’s see… he didn’t notice he was shifting his own busted ribs around… he didn’t notice when I put a bowl of cut-up strawberries in front of him, and he loves those… I’m pretty sure he didn’t notice we drove him here… or that he’s currently walking/being dragged by Levi. Lathe signed a few forms before handing a clipboard back to the nurse, the three of them not having to wait long before Scotty came to retrieve them.
Lathe had to help Eren up onto the x-ray table. He’s still got the thousand-yard stare… he’s really out of it… he’s not panicking or anything, so I don’t know what to do, really…

Scotty greeted them in his usual manner of back slaps and snarky comments. “So… Did you leave his consciousness at the bottom of that pool? Or is he, like, on off mode right now?” He was focusing on positioning Eren the right way for the machine to get a good image of his chest. I can only imagine what it’s gotta look like, Lathe texted and said it got worse…

Lathe chuckled quietly, though his expression quickly became neutral again. “He’s just been out of it all morning. I dunno what it is, probably just an overload of stuff over the past few days, he’s probably just getting down to processing it all.” Too much has happened- you do know there’s such a thing as a too exciting life?

Scotty nodded, sending Levi out to the waiting room for now. Don’t need him to get radiation poisoning… Nope that would be bad. He fired up the machine, bringing Lathe back to look at the pictures on the computer screen. “Well… For starters… Congrats, you know how to do CPR and manage to break a majority of ribs while you’re at it.” His tone poked at Lathe’s doing in all this. That’s really bad though… There’s like 3 that are fractures… And the ones left are breaks… How the hell did they break from CPR? I mean 1 or 2, maybe 3 or 4, I could expect… But almost all of them?

Lathe was about to reply to his comment, though his retort died on his tongue as he looked over Scotty’s shoulder, paling as he saw the shattered mess that was Eren’s ribcage. ...I did that? I was being careful not to be too hard, and yet they’re all broken in some way? How?! “…How did I manage that? I mean, I was careful…” His brow furrowed. “Um, Scotty… I’m no X-Ray technician, but it’s not a good thing that his ribs are showing up a light greyish instead of white, is it?”

Scotty’s brows furrowed at Lathe’s statement, quickly sending a page out for a technician to get Eren’s file. “I wanna see his last x-Rays… But he looks like he’s got the ribcage of a 80 year old woman with osteoporosis.” That’s not good in any way shape or form… But I know they’d been broken before, so I need to see how weak they were then and compare them… He looked around the picture, zooming into a few of the breaks to try and figure them out. I can't open him up either… That takes out the options of surgery for anything.

Osteoporosis? He couldn't have that, I can see some of his other bones, they look perfectly fine… which is really weirdly selective… oh no. “...um, Scotty? This… that wouldn't possibly have anything to do with the anticonvulsants I put him on after he had his first seizure, would it?” If that’s what this is, I'm going to be really mad. ...well, mad at probability. Damn is Eren unlucky lately.
Scotty thought about it for a minute, nodding his head. “Eren’s one lucky son of a bitch…
depending on which one you have him the percentages were around 5 to .01% chance of this happening to him.” Wow…. That’s… Juvenile selective Osteoporosis. What more could this kid possibly have to deal with? “Well, hate to break it to you but we can’t open him up… And these aren’t gonna heal on their own without putting them together properly… So I’ll have to set them.
….That’ll be so much fun.” Scotty moved to look at Eren laying still on the large metal table. We’ll have to move him…. And then try and set it, but i’ll need to wrap his chest. “No singing… He won’t be able to until they’re healed.” He warned, grabbing the wheelchair from the corner of the room, setting it by the table, on Eren’s left.

Lathe helped Scotty to carefully lift Eren into the wheelchair, letting him wheel Eren down the hall and going to retrieve Levi and Blake from the waiting room. Lathe lifted Eren onto the table, moving out of Scotty’s way and sitting in a chair against the wall, giving him room to work. Just in case he becomes conscious of life again while this is going on, I'm right here.

Scotty washed his hands in the sink in the room, waiting for Lathe to put Eren on the table. He donned his usual light blue mask as he turned on the brighter lights above Eren’s chest. This’ll probably take a while, since I have to reset all of them. He got out a wrap to start wrapping Eren’s body around his shoulders and clavicle to keep his body stable. His large hands were gentle as could be against his body as he shifted his chest ever so slowly, getting the top few done in awhile, carefully wrapping his chest as the bones stayed in place. Well, first four are done… Usually it’d be 16 more, but he’s only got 12 more. Scotty barely noticed Eren stirring until he heard a large pain-filled groan, signalling that Eren had finally come back to reality. Well… He’s back… This’ll be fun. Scotty continued to set his ribs, and continued to wrap his body tightly.

Eren had started to feel sharp pains in his chest, as if someone were stabbing a knife repeatedly into him, yet after a few moments the pain would die down to nothing, then start back up again in a different spot. What? What’s happening? Eren’s eyes finally started to focus on everything that was around him. It’s so white… Where the fuck am I? His eyes wandered to the man in blue scrubs looking over him, his hands on Eren’s chest and shifting things around. What…? Eren let out a loud groan when his rib was snapped back into place and wrapped tightly. “W-who…?” Eren’s question died off as he met Scotty’s eyes, seeing a straight stare back.

...oh... This is so good! Scotty couldn’t stop himself as he thought of what to respond with. “Your worst nightmare.” He then continued on resetting Eren’s ribs without a care in the world, yet he found it difficult with Eren’s panicked shaking, looking up to see his face he realized something.
That ... That’s complete and total fear....

Eren’s eyes widened in fear, his body shaking as a sickening crack was heard. *It.... It’s Grisha....
He’s hurting me... No ! I need to get away! But I can’t! I can’t No! No! Nonononononono!*
Eren’s body continued to shake, starting to panic as he watched Scotty continue, locking eyes with him yet again. Let me go!
Lathe immediately was on his feet, smacking Scotty upside the head. “Don't give him a damn heart attack! Eren, Eren hon, it’s okay, it’s fine, Dad’s here, you don't have to be worried. Scotty is just being a meanie. It’s alright, I promise.” Lathe moved into Eren’s line of sight, running a hand through his hair. ... Scotty. Fuck you.

Eren looked up to Lathe’s face, panicking more as he cried out in pain, feeling Scotty snap yet another bone into place and wrap it. Owww! Fuck! That hurts! Eren cried out again in pain as Scotty finally finished up the last rib and wrapped his chest all over again. Eren started to cry, finally feeling the full extent of the pain coursing through his chest, trying to calm down and not freak out. He’s hurting me… He’s hurting me, he’s really hurting me, I don’t want it to hurt anymore… Grisha’s back, I wanna get away… Dad he’s right there… Get him away from me! Don’t tell me it’s okay! He’s gonna kill me!

Lathe ran his hand through Eren’s locks, murmuring to him calmly the entire time. He looked up after Scotty pinned the wraps well into place, speaking a bit more clearly to Eren. “Don't worry Eren, it’s over. All Scotty did was set your ribs in place and scare the crap out of you- fuck you, by the way, uncool.” Lathe looked up to Scotty, glaring at him for a moment before returning his gaze to Eren, his voice softening. “-but what he did was put your bones back in place so they can heal properly, because they won't on their own. But don't be scared of Scotty- he really wants you to be okay. He just somehow hasn't gotten kicked from the Healthcare system for his badly-timed humor yet.” He’s a nice guy- ...ish.

Scotty gave a sheepish smile as he pulled down the light blue mask hiding his face. “Sorry Eren, I couldn’t help myself… I’ll go get you some more morphine for your chest, so calm down, I’m leaving…” Scotty patted Lathe’s shoulder as he made his way to the door. I know, I know I can be an asshole from time to time, but… You got this… Scotty left without another word.

Eren watched Scotty leave with widened eyes, the tears quickly welling and falling. He tried to stop his crying, beginning to calm down after Scotty had been gone for awhile. “It…. It hurts…” He croaked out to Lathe, looking up to him with frightened eyes. I don’t want him to come.

Lathe gently threaded his fingers through Eren’s hair, his voice soft. “I know it hurts a lot right now, but you'll feel a lot better once Scotty comes back with the morphine- please don't give me that look, I know he didn't give you a good impression, but you shouldn't be terrified of him.” Lathe reached for his kerchief, wiping the tears from Eren’s face. “Just hold out a little bit longer and you'll feel better- we both just really want your bones to heal.” We want you to be okay.

Eren nodded as he tried to calm down, his tears fading after a few minutes of Lathe carding through his hair. His hand feels nice…. I’m tired, but it hurts too much to sleep… He waited patiently for Scotty to come back, jumping a bit when the towering man threw open the door with a syringe in his hand, ready to use. He looks more terrifying… Why does he look like Grisha too? Eren watched with wide eyes as Scotty came closer, and shrinking away in fear as he started to clean the area in his inner armpit, sterilizing it for the syringe. What is he putting in my arm? Why does he need to do it? He almost freaked out as Scotty put the syringe in his arm, but it was already emptied before he could react to it, which was violently pulling his arm away from Scotty in pure fear… does he wanna kill me too? Eren didn’t have time to get more than a whimper out before his body seemed to go lax around him, the pain easing away from his chest and allowing him to breathe a bit better. … Hmm… Morphine… Damn… I’m tired. “I’m… T-tired…” He murmured quietly, his eyes starting to close as he passed out from exhaustion and lack of sleep over the past few nights. So… tired…

Scotty sighed as Eren passed out. “Well, at least he’s asleep. That’s good, it means he’s not in so much pain that he can’t sleep… But we need to talk about how we’re going to go on from here. We need to have a plan if his ribs don’t start to heal, and how the osteoporosis will affect him from now on.” Scotty moved to the computer, opening it up and starting to type down everything Eren was restricted from doing. No school, no sports, no singing, he can’t curl up in a ball, his chest must be wrapped at all times, he’s gotta use a wheelchair for a few days until the bones at least start growing back together.

Lathe just glared at Scotty. “Morphine doesn’t make you pass out like that. Either you terrified him enough with that huge-ass syringe which you put no effort into wielding in a non-threatening manner, or you didn’t just give him morphine.” Yet, he didn’t stop carding his hand through his locks. “But I know he’s not going to be able to do a lot of stuff for at least a little bit, until he starts healing. Which I think he will- he’ll get better eventually.” His arm healed well- and he’s a tough kid. He’ll be okay.

Scotty shook his head. “He looked like he needed sleep, so I gave him a sedative that’ll let him sleep.” He continued to type, looking back at Lathe every now and then. “No, he’s not gonna be able to go to school for awhile, I don’t want someone bumping into him and rebreaking his whole chest… I can only imagine if he said this hurts how much pain he must be in… He barely said anything about his shattered wrist.” That’s just weird that he can handle that kind of pain… But I guess he’s just one of those weird people… And at least we know he can feel pain… He did say that his chest hurts.

Lathe nodded. He never really complains about anything hurting ever… if he’s in enough pain to cry from it… this isn’t good at all. …and I caused all of it… even if it did keep him from drowning, he’s in so much pain… he’s not going to be able to do a ton of shit… “What are the restrictions? ...What can he do is probably a better question at this point, actually…”

“He can’t do much of anything… I’m gonna send him home in a wheelchair… He’s gonna be staying in bed for the majority of this week, he can’t take Blake on any walks, he needs to eat soft foods, soups and soft bread or rolls work wonderfully. He can’t sing, absolutely not, he’s not allowed to sing at all until I say he can. He won’t be able to breath very well, so you gotta watch to make sure he doesn’t get pneumonia. I want him to try to take a deep breath at least once every hour to stop that from happening. His arm movement will be restricted and I don’t want him moving around a lot either, hence the wheelchair. He’ll be using the wheelchair when he gets back to school for awhile, I don’t want him to be jostled in the hallway, and Blake appears familiar with the device.” Scotty motioned towards Blake coming in with Levi, immediately sniffing at the shiny chair with wheels. Yeah... No stairs for Eren, cause I can already see him running or jumping down them... And jostling the bones apart. “No stairs, I don’t want him being carried up them either, that’s a hazard for him and whoever’s carrying him… Sorry Levi, you’ll need to be chill with the huge ass beanbags for a bed while you’re here.” Though I don’t think you’d mind.

Levi just shrugged, moving so he was on Eren’s other side. “It’s no big deal. Anything so that he gets better.” I get to hold you still, so it’s okay. But it’s going to suck, being pretty much under house arrest for a while… and it sounds like it could be a long while. And you’re not going to be singing at all, that pretty much brings your YouTube stuff to a screeching halt, unless you get to the point where you can move enough to play piano without harming yourself... Levi looked over to Blake where he had inspected the wheelchair to his liking, sitting down next to the shining wheel and looking up at him expectantly. “That’s good- Blake looks like he’s already familiar with wheelchairs.” Eren’s going to really need him- doors and stuff.

Lathe nodded. “He’ll need all the help he can get in getting around. He’s going to pretty much be bedridden all week and maybe more, and just chill at home. Let’s hope he’s not the kind to get stir-crazy.” He might end up just sleeping a majority of the week… he’ll be stuck on the first floor… I can bring art stuff upstairs, give him Netflix on the big TV… but he’s not going to be doing much. And I see many soups in my near future. I might have to take the first week or two off from classes, make sure nothing happens until he can get around by himself...

Scotty nodded. “I’ll write him a prescription for Morphine…. He’s gonna need it, and 15mg won’t be enough, I’m writing him for 30mg…. Also do you want me to write one for a sedative? It looks like he hasn’t slept in days.” He really looks like he’s the walking dead. The bags under his eyes are huge !

Lathe took a moment to really look at Eren, his expression finally peaceful after fitful nights of nightmares and sleeplessness. That kind of sleep... is sleep. Dreamless. He needs it. “...you probably should. If it keeps him asleep, do it. He’ll need it... the nightmares came back.” Lathe held up his hand before Scotty could reply. “Remember that whatever you recommend isn't going to help. Everything only made it worse the first time around we tried that. Casper and I are working on it- though honestly, we could use help… I can send you my notes later. But nothing for that now- I'll be working on it while I'm home taking care of him.” That’s my schedule now. He really does need those...

Scotty nodded and quickly wrote off a few prescriptions, sending them to Casper’s pharmacy. They’ll be able to pick them up as soon as they get there... they should have them on hand. “They’re at Casper’s, you can pick them up there, but for now, he’s all set to go, just make sure you drive carefully. I don’t need you slamming on the brakes and making him come right back to get his ribs placed back into the right spot.” With that said, Scotty got up from his stool, moving to the table and gently picking Eren up, mindful of his set ribs and setting him gently into the chair, making sure that he wouldn’t lean forward and fall off. Don’t want that to happen. “Alright, you guys are all set to leave, call me if anything goes haywire… I can always try and reset them at your house if they do break again, I can get to your house probably faster than you can get here… since I live in the middle.” He stood up, patting Levi’s back. “So how long are you staying home?” I know he’s gotta go back eventually, I hope Eren will get enough of him until Thanksgiving.

Levi looked to him, his expression still neutral. “Just two more days- it was a short leave they granted me. I'll try and help keep him occupied while I'm still around, keep him from doing anything that would hurt him. And, um… thanks.” *I'm glad someone besides Lathe and I give so much of a shit about Eren not being in pain and/or dying. ...he’s one or the other too often.
Dammit.* Levi stepped behind the wheelchair, taking hold of the handles and gently pushed him down the hall as Scotty led them, Blake trotting alongside Eren and moving with Scotty to hold open doors, always immediately returning to his place next to the wheel. He'll be really helpful when Eren does this thing by himself… Levi waited for Lathe to sign some papers before they made their way to the parking lot sans Scotty, guiding Eren out of the wheelchair and into the backseat of his Sorento. “I honestly don't know what we would have done if I had to hold him in my lap the whole way home- borrowing this was a good idea.” He held Eren upright on the way to the pharmacy, Lathe quickly going in and out to get Eren’s meds before getting them home.

Lathe helped get Eren back into the wheelchair, though he stopped Levi as they came to the front steps, looking to Eren, the steps, and to Eren again before he looked at Levi, shrugging. He took hold of the frame of the chair and helped Levi lift it up, opening the door and getting them into the house without incident. He helped him lay Eren on the couch before patting Levi’s shoulder, his voice gentle. “I'm going to make us all some food- I don't know when Eren’ll wake up, perhaps in the next hour or so- so I’m going to make a pot of soup. You can chill with him until he wakes up, or cook with me if you need a distraction- anything.” It’s a lot to take in- if you need to talk, you can.

Levi just shook his head. “No thanks- I need to go for a run. But thanks for the offer, really. I just have thinking to do…” Too much has gone down lately… I need to process it all.

Blake’s ears perked as soon as he heard Levi utter the word ‘run’. My human’s human is going for a run? I wanna go! Blake instantly got up and went to the door grabbing both his leash and his jacket in his mouth and racing back to Levi’s side, pawing at his leg. I wanna go too! You better take me! Or I’ll lick your face to take me outside early tomorrow!

Levi looked down at Blake, smirking for an instant at his enthusiasm. “I guess I'm not going alone.
Alright, give me a second to get running stuff on- jeans aren't the best for it.” He scratched Blake behind the ears, kneeling on the ground to get him into his jacket and clip on the leash, bringing him downstairs to quickly change into a light jacket with sweatpants and sneakers, waving goodbye to Lathe before shutting the door behind him and starting to run down the block, sighing and beginning to let his thoughts run without a filter.
Blake took instantly to Levi’s pace. This human is faster than my human…. He’s not taking me where my human likes to go either…. Where are we going? My human never goes this way. We always go to the park! Does this human have a ball? Why am I on a leash? My human doesn’t put a leash on me… I’m not gonna run away, I just wanna run! Blake pulled ahead of Levi, whining as he tugged on his leash, throwing their tempo off. He had gotten used to Eren taking his leash off as soon as they were away from the house, and being able to walk beside Eren. He was unused to running with a leash on as well.

Levi nearly stumbled, slowing them down to a stop as Blake tugged on the leash, whining. ...Huh. Well, when we walked home from school, we never did keep the leash on long… Levi unclipped the leash from Blake’s collar. “Better?” He smirked faintly as Blake wagged his tail, beginning to run again with Blake beside him. I can understand not being used to the leash. Eren probably took it off of you whenever he didn’t really need to keep it on you.

Blake managed to keep up with Levi’s pace, keeping his sight forwards, not bothering to take into account the dogs that were being walked around. He didn’t really care for them, or their rude barks at him. Rude… I’m running with my human’s human! Blake had no idea where they were going but he stayed by Levi’s side, his tail wagging the whole time.

Levi brought them past Armin’s house and down the long stretch of empty road, the leaves tumbling over the asphalt next to them in the light breeze. Levi furrowed his brow as he heard the sounds of construction further up the road, continuing up to the plot of land where Eren’s old house still barely stood, much of it in ruins as workers actively demolished it. The fuck? Someone bought that crappy house? How did I never hear about it? Levi looked down as Blake seemed to go into a panic, shooting off to the rubble and barking, unable to catch him. FUCK. “BLAKE!” He could get killed!! Levi turned his efforts to catching the attention of the construction workers instead, Blake refusing to listen to him. You need to stop working because Blake’s officially gone cray and if anything happens to him I'll not only feel awful but have multiple people after my hide!

Blake rushed into the construction zone, running past people trying to stop him, he went right for the rubble that used to be the house, expertly hopping up and finding stable footing for himself, looking around and barking. Human! Where are you human? I can smell you! Where are you human! You need to come out! You need to be okay! Blake continued to bark for a bit, finally digging into the rubble, seemingly disappearing.

Levi ran up near the rubble where a few construction workers had congregated, everything having been immediately brought to a screeching halt. “BLAKE!” Levi waited a moment, hearing nothing that could be Blake over the rustling of the trees. “We can’t go after him, can we?” The workmen next to him shook their heads. “Then… I guess we just have to wait.” You better get out of there on one piece.
Human! Wait… That’s not my human… Blake’s tail halted in it’s wagging, as he took one of Eren’s old bloodstained hoodies from the wreckage of what used to be his room. He whined and whimpered, looking for Eren, but when he couldn’t find him after a few minutes, Blake took the bloody jacket and carefully ran back to Levi, sitting by his feet and pawing his leg, whining.

Levi knelt down, taking the jacket from Blake and petting him, trying to calm him down. You smelled Eren in there- that explains it. “Hey, good job- Eren’s okay, don’t worry. It’s just his hoodie. Eren’s home. I promise.” It’s good to know you’re as dedicated as you are to him. He stood, clipping the leash back onto his collar for good measure and addressing the construction workers. “Sorry about that- he smelled his owner’s hoodie in the rubble, got worried. Could I ask who bought this house, by the way?” Who the fuck would be in their right mind and want it?

The worker nodded. “Smart dog you got, keep him on a leash though.” He motioned for them to follow him off the sight as the other workers got back to knocking down the rest of the house. “We got the job from a man with the last name of Quo…. He got us to knock down the house and then fill the basement and cover it up… I believe he bought the surrounding areas as well.” He motioned them to exit the construction zone and shooed them away before getting back to work.

...what. Levi let the man shoo them away, starting to run back to the house with Eren’s hoodie in his arms. ...Why the hell did Lathe buy the house? Levi ignored Blake tugging on his leash, letting him figure out that he wasn’t going to get off of it anytime soon. Once they got to the house Levi took Blake’s leash off, setting it and his vest near the door. “Lathe?” He called softly, entering the piano room, seeing Eren still dead asleep on the couch. Well. He’s asleep. Still.

Lathe turned from the stove, setting down the large wooden spoon he held, smiling softly. “Hey Levi.” His expression changed as he saw the hoodie Levi held, noting the blood spots on it, recognising it. ...Wait. “How did… but….” They were supposed to knock it down today… you went there? ...You know now. You must. “You can’t breathe a single word about any of this to Eren. It’s supposed to be a surprise.”

“If you had given me a heads up, I wouldn’t’ve taken Blake off the leash…. And what the hell are you doing buying a bunch of land like that? It's literally nothing but fields! What are you even gonna do with all that space?” You can’t possibly be thinking of doing what I think you’re doing. Though you literally are insane so possibly.

“Wait, what. Why’d you take Blake off the leash? I thought that was illegal or something.” Lathe just shrugged. “You know what? I guess not. But that’s not important. First off, it’s fields and trees. And second- things. Maybe I’m just really into real estate. Maybe it used to be an old Indian burial ground and I bought it for ironic purposes. Who knows, I’m insane. Just deal.” Lathe was about to return to his soup before he turned again dramatically, pointing to Levi. “And no telling Eren.” Surprise.
Levi just nodded. “So… How much is yours?” If I remember correctly… The trees were very far back behind the old house. Levi filled a kettle and put it on the burner to make some tea. “I’m surprised you haven’t said anything… Especially with your big ass mouth… Oh yeah, does Spades know?”

“Do I know what?” Spades’ voice resonated after she closed the door, calling into the kitchen. She bent down to kiss Eren’s head, venturing into the kitchen with her uniform on. What is it that I know? Or not know? Well… I guess I’ll know soon.

Crap. Lathe jumped a bit as Spades came in, immediately straightening up a bit and smiling, trying not to look guilty and failing miserably. He was about to greet her before a metal bowl that had fallen off the counter clanged on the floor, nearly jumping out of his skin. Everyone was silent as he stared at it before looking back up to Spades and Levi, swallowing hard and standing up straight again, trying to ignore the bowl and look anywhere but them. Dammit… I’ve got to tell them now; haven’t I?

Levi sighed, shaking his head as he made himself a cup of tea. “He bought the house Eren used to live… And the surrounding area apparently, and I was running over there… Blake freaked out, cause he thought Eren was in the wreckage, but some construction guys are knocking down the house, filling the basement and then covering it… Knowing him he’s planning to build a house, or something.” Crazy person… That’s what he is, pure insanity.

Lathe’s face grew scarlet as Levi spoke, trying to speak, his words running together as he looked to Spades, trying to explain himself. “I didn't know what to tell you or when to tell you but I really wanted to before things got too far along, I thought it’d be okay if I did and I was just thinking about the future for everyone and I might've gotten carried away at least a little bit but…” Lathe’s words caught in his throat and he stopped, dropping his arms to his sides and hanging his head in shame. “I just wanted it to be a nice surprise for everyone… I wanted to tell you so we could plan it out together and stuff… but I really wanted it to be a surprise for Eren… we don't have enough space anymore…. I just wanted us to live somewhere nice, with enough space for fun things and life to happen…” I just wanted all of you to be happy with where we all lived… I really did want to tell you… I’m sorry if I stepped over the line doing this without telling you…

Spades just shook her head. “I expect a theater room with reclining chairs… And lots of them. Think you can manage that, Sugar?” Spades winked a bit at him, stepping up to kiss him on the cheek. “I didn’t expect you guys to be home when I came home for lunch… How did the appointment go?” She asked quietly, looking around taking in the scene of Lathe’s cooking soup. This kitchen is a mess… but the soup smells damn good.

...that’s it? “…you're not mad? I didn't ask you or tell you anything… is it really okay?”...shouldn't you be mad at me? Lathe tried not to flinch as she kissed his cheek, expecting something else. I don’t want you to be mad…

Spades shook her head. “Why would I be mad? I agree with you that this place is getting pretty small for all of us, and I can only imagine what Thanksgiving would look like. All I ask is you get a very large custom four-post bed, we need to be able to have Eren sleep in between us if he needs to…” Or… Maybe another ‘chicklin’. She paused, thinking, leaning forwards, her arms wrapping around his neck, her voice soft in his ear. “I need somewhere to put the handcuffs too.” She kissed his ear softly before coming down off her tiptoes and just hugging him around his waist. You can’t deny me… You’re mine, so I get to do this whether you like it or not. “I also want a huge kitchen, and a game room, God knows we’ll be hosting parties… I want in on the designing of this magnificent thing we’re building.” I want a pool and a hot tub too.

Lathe was absolutely crimson at her soft words, his arms hovering over her waist, stammering and unable to form words. ...what. Did she just say.... What I think she just said? Lathe swallowed hard, forcing down the pulse that ran through him. He tried to compose himself as she kept talking, letting his hands rest on her back and holding her close. ...mine. “A theatre room and all of that is very doable… and what’s this about parties?” ...oh riiight, the Spades from college parties hard... damn I haven't seen a body move like that in years .... Lathe was immediately bright red again, enunciating purposefully and trying to calm down. “As long as they're not all strangers and I get to occasionally hide in the kitchen…” Yeah... parties and I are not the best of friends... Y’know, she never stayed through parties... all I really remember is her being there and then at some point not... she was always just hanging out with some random guys... ...oh my god. Those were all one-night stands.

“We all know Eren’s gonna be popular... His music was on the radio when I came back, I can imagine he’ll want to host some parties for friends... And probably some college kids too when he gets there.” She moved fluidly through the kitchen, getting out 4 bowls for them. I wouldn’t mind hosting a party or two if we had the room to do it...

He’s on the radio. Lathe nodded, giving her a small smile and going to turn the burner on low, finding a ladle for the soup. “Fair point... oh, and to answer your earlier question, the appointment went... well, it wasn't exactly great.” Lathe filled the bowls she set on the counter, then helping Levi carry mugs to the table. “Every one of his ribs got broken... they've been set, Scotty did a really good job of that... but he’s pretty much not allowed to do much moving at all for the first week, and extremely minimal stuff for a long while... he’s not going to school for a week or maybe a bit more, and then he’ll have to use a wheelchair, which Blake is familiar with, thank God... but I really hope you like soup, because that’s pretty much the only thing he can eat for a while- liquids.” Lathe set down his coffee at his place, looking up to Eren still asleep on the couch. “Let me see if I can get him awake to eat.” He’ll need it. Lathe moved next to Eren, carding his hand through his hair and murmuring to him quietly. I can’t exactly shake you awake... “Hey Eren, wake up- it’s time for dinner. Can you hear me, or are you still out-out?” The sedative should’ve worn off by now.
Eren’s eyes started to open slowly. Dad….? Eren groaned, trying to lift his head up, quickly finding that his whole body felt like lead. I can’t fucking move…. I can barely lift my head… And my chest feels really weird...

Lathe reached for a pillow near Eren’s feet, gently and slowly guiding him to sit up. “Come on kid, we need you awake for a little so you can eat… we’ll let you go back to sleep real soon, okay?” I’m not going to try and move you to the kitchen table just yet… you look like you can barely move. Lathe pecked his forehead before moving back to the kitchen, picking up one of the bowls of soup and a spoon, setting it on a potholder in Eren’s lap and making sure that he could hold it without it spilling. “Try and get as much of this down as you can, okay? But you don’t have to finish it. Just try.” You’re going to need your strength.

Eren weakly nodded, reaching for his spoon. His movements were slow, lifting the spoon to his mouth and whimpering a bit as he struggled to swallow. Damn… It tastes so good… I want more, but I don’t know if I can handle that… Eren was silent aside from a few whimpers of pain as he ate a majority of his soup. My body still feels heavy...

Lathe left Eren to eat his soup, still glancing up every few seconds to make sure he was okay while they ate at the table. He soon emptied his bowl, setting it in the sink and going to take Eren’s bowl from him as well, pecking his forehead again. “Do you want anything else, Eren? A glass of water, maybe?” He watched as Eren slowly shook his head no, helping him ease back down and moving pillows out of the way, pulling the blanket back up to his chin. “Just chill here then for right now, sleep. We’ll get you a better setup in a little bit.” Can't have you only on the couch- we’ll figure something out where you and Levi have more space. Lathe helped finish up the dishes, the leftover pot of soup going into the fridge on pot holders so as not to burn the shelves. “Alright, we need some sort of better sleeping arrangement for the two of you- more space. The couch isn't really going to cut if for two months. Any ideas?” Something we can easily arrange, comfy… hmmm...

“I would suggest the beanbags… But we only got the two small ones, which won’t necessarily help with two of you.” Spades mentioned, getting up from the table and taking her bowl up to the sink and starting to grab everything together that she needed for work. “I need to get going, so I’ll be home for dinner unless anything changes.” I wonder what kind of soup we’d have for dinner? Spades went over to Lathe, going on her tiptoes to kiss his cheek, hugging him tightly as she did so. “Keep me updated on Eren, okay?” Her voice was soft as she spoke to him with a happy smile on her face. I don’t want to leave… But I kinda have to...

Lathe nodded, smiling and hugging her back tightly, pressing a sweet kiss to her lips. “Alright, can do. We’ll see you later then, Hon.” He let go of her, looking back to Eren as she left, his brow furrowed. “The beanbag thing was a good idea, but the ones he has now would be too small… ...I was gonna wait until Christmas, but I guess I’ll pull them out now.” Lathe disappeared down the basement stairs, soon reappearing and dragging two large beanbags behind him. “Merry very early Christmas, Eren!” Lathe pulled them near the piano, tucked into a corner of the room and going to put the smaller ones next to them. “If we get some smaller pillows too, and fill in all the spaces, with a quilt over everything it’ll be big enough and plenty comfy, I would think.” ...We’d need a lot of safety pins to keep all that in place around the edges…. “I’ll grab the one from the upstairs closet if you gather up all the pillows from his room and downstairs?” Lathe addressed Levi, pointing to Eren as he struggled to shift. “Not you. You’re not supposed to be on your feet at all for a while. Sorry, kid.” You may or may not get very bored and antsy very fast- it’s probably too much to hope you’ll just sleep a lot.

Eren looked over with a pout on his face. “But… I can get up and help.” He insisted, still trying to struggle to sit up. I wanna help too, I can’t just sit here and not do anything! Eren only stopped when Levi put a gentle hand on him to push him back down onto the couch.

“Come on, Brat. You gotta listen to Lathe, you can’t be moving around much. Got it?” He sighed a bit, seeing Eren nod in understanding. Levi then went off to get all of Eren’s nesting supplies together and piling them next to the beanbags. Okay… I got everything you need. How you gonna make this work, Crazy?

Lathe stared at the pile for a moment, dropping the quilt behind him and dropping a small container on the pile of nesting material, exclaiming and answering Levi’s question. “Safety pins!” And lots of them. “Levi, get over here and help me pin all this crap together. It isn't going to stay in an elliptical shape by itself.” Yeah, objects never really behave the way you want them to like that. They always decide to follow something called, like, physics or something, which is totally lame.

Levi just shook his head before coming up and helping Lathe pin the makeshift bed together. I hope Crazy realizes that if one of these pins comes undone and rips a hole, he’s gonna have a hell of a mess to clean up…. Well, not my problem… With the two of them working on it, soon The large ‘bed’ had Eren’s approval for all the nesting materials. Well time to load this with blankets and pillows now that Eren approves.

Lathe sat back on his heels, admiring their handiwork and thinking quietly. “…..what if something rips though… should we have just tied it together with some of the fleece I have downstairs…? I could go get that and tie it around it as it is right now, keep the pins from being too strained…” He looked up to meet Levi’s glare, raising his hands in surrender. “Not to say that I pressed you into service for nothing, but with the first beanbag-getting-torn incident I’m taking all of them and using all the beads to make one huge one. Which would be too huge a production to do right off the bat. Let’s just hope this works. I'll be right back.” Lathe scurried off to get a long piece of fabric, having quickly stitched lengths of the fabric the quilts were made of together and laying one of the red and gold patterned blankets over everything, tucking it underneath the oval of pillows and tying and pinning it in place. “…that actually kinda worked. I’m honestly surprised. Now.” He turned to Eren, padding over to him. “Wanna test it?” He held out his arms as he offered. It’s no good if you don’t like it.

Eren looked up and nodded, struggling to shift and swing his legs over the edge of the couch. I wanna get up and do it myself, dammit!
Lathe stopped Eren, slipping his arms under him and carefully and smoothly lifting him up from the couch, blanket and all. “Eren, really listen to me. I know you- I understand you have a strong independent streak, but you need to just chill with it for a while. Otherwise your ribs are going to refuse to heal and you'll be in an unnecessary amount of pain for an unnecessarily long time. And hon- for as long as your ribs are broken, you aren't allowed to sing. And you need that voice of yours. So just chill, okay? We only want you to get better.” He pressed a kiss to his temple, laying him gently on the makeshift bed. “How is it? On a scale of one to ten, one being awful and ten being ‘I never want to get up’?” Please let it be not horrible. If I have to sew you a huge bean bag bed the beads are going to get everywhere and I don't want that struggle.

Eren flopped his arms around, trying to feel the surrounding area. I guess I could get used to it.... “About... A 7 maybe?” He couldn’t remove the uncertainty from his voice, no matter how much he tried. That sounded very reassuring...

Well, at least he doesn’t mind this for his bed from now on. Levi slowly made his way onto the ‘bed’, being careful to try and not jostle Eren, and he soon had Eren surrounded in his nesting materials. You'll like it better like this.

Lathe helped him pile on the blankets and pillows, smiling at the sight of Eren peeking out at him under all of them, Levi curled into his side. This is too damn cute. “It’ll work for right now- I'll put you something that’s not as impromptu together sometime soon. But if you can live with sleeping here for right now, that’d be best. I’ll let you chill on the couches during the day though, give you access to the TV and Netflix. After a couple weeks you’d be able to chill at the piano too and play as much as you want. But for this moment...” Lathe moved to the floor lamp that was next to the makeshift bed, turning it to its dimmest setting and shutting the front blinds. “You look like you want nothing but to sleep for eons... and you're going to need it, honestly. ...don't look at me like that.” Lathe smirked a bit as Eren pouted, nudging the blanket pile with his foot. “You're going to have to deal, and I know it sucks, but I think everyone would prefer if you were all in one piece. And not in pain. ...either. We’ll try and make this as not-suckish as possible. Now sleep. If you're not up by then, we’ll wake you up for dinner.” Now meaning soup. “I take it that goes for you, too.” He chuckled as Levi nodded, leaving them to clean up the dishes, then disappearing to the scripting room.

Eren let Levi wrap his arms carefully around him, his eyes watching Lathe get up and leave towards the kitchen. He spoke in a soft whisper, turning his gaze to Levi beside him. “Do I really have to stay still? Why can’t I do anything?” Eren whined, struggling to move himself to get closer to him. I don’t want to just lay here...

Levi gently rested a hand on Eren’s shoulder, shifting so he was pressed against his side, moving his head to gently kiss Eren’s neck. “Eren, moving too much with your ribs struggling to grow back together isn’t doing your body any favors. For your bones to grow back, you can't shift too much and force them back apart. While they're busted, you can't move too much, you can't walk, you can't even sing until they're healed. I know it’s awful, but we want you to get better. You'll learn to cope, I guess.” It's just the way it is... a chest full of broken ribs was the price paid for not drowning... though I'm pretty sure it’s worth it, for just a month or two of... well, what to you is going to feel practically like hell for at least the first week. ...Lathe will find you a distraction. Hopefully.

Eren groaned. “I need to stay like this? Until they grow back?... But it doesn’t even hurt!” Eren tried to make an excuse for him to be able to move. I don’t want to sleep... I don’t want to have a fucking nightmare.

“Eren, you're on morphine right now. We both know that’s a lie.” Levi gently kissed up Eren’s neck, shifting to peck his lips before settling back down next to him, pressed to his side. “Eren, I know you want to move, but you need to promise me you won't do anything Lathe tells you not to when it comes to moving around. He knows a lot more about how you can get better than you or I do. So just stay put for right now, okay? Sleep. We were up a great deal of the night- we both could use a decent nap.” Levi yawned, letting his eyes fall shut. I could barely get any sleep...

Eren shook his head. “No… Levi… I can’t go back to sleep!” Eren cried out, a hand coming up to shake Levi’s shoulder. I don’t want it to happen again.... I don’t want him to come back... Eren’s eyes were full of fear at just the thought of going to sleep.

Blake picked his head up. My human! He got up and scurried to the kitchen, pawing at Lathe’s leg. Older human… Help my human… He’s freaking out again!

Lathe had looked to the piano room as he heard Eren’s voice, though he dried off his hands and walked quickly back to them when Blake came to get him, kneeling next to him and carding his hand through his hair, murmuring to him and trying to calm Eren down. “Eren, Eren hon, it’s okay, just stay calm… what’s wrong?...why don't you want to sleep?” You look exhausted... why not? “...nightmares?” That would explain it...

Eren struggled to swallow the lump in his throat as he nodded, his eyes still full of fear as he locked gazes with Lathe. “I don't... I don't want him.... To come back… I don't want him to kill me…” Eren was a hair short of crying. I don’t want it to happen.

Lathe nodded, speaking to him softly and waiting for him to calm down, slowly drawing back from him when he didn't look on the very verge of tears. Actually crying will just complicate things further... “I have just the thing... You really need the rest, and this should make your sleep relatively dreamless...” Lathe quickly retrieved the bottle from the counter and a small glass of water, bringing them back to Eren and giving him one of the pills. “Down the hatch, kid. You look like you need it.”
Eren nodded, taking the pill slowly, and within a few minutes, his eyes closed and his breathing became even.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe heard his phone ringing in his pocket, setting down a wooden spoon as a complex piano ringtone played, answering and holding the phone to his ear with his shoulder, fussing over multiple things in the kitchen. “Hey Hon, what’s up? I was just about to wake up Levi and Eren for dinner.”

Spades let out a long sigh as she heard his voice, her head against the steering wheel as she held the phone to her ear. “I won't be home for dinner…” She sounded worn out, really worn out. Dammit. I wanted to actually make it home on time.

Lathe stopped, his face falling a bit, turning off the burner under the tea kettle. “What’s going on? You sound like it’s been really rough since you left.” What could've happened in just a few hours? Maybe a really bad accident or something…

There was a pause, Spades trying to figure out if she could tell him… Sighing when she remembered. “I’m…. I'm not at the liberty to say…” I really can’t tell you… I’m sorry...

Lathe leaned against the counter, his voice sympathetic. “It’s okay Hon, I understand… you stay as long as you need to, I'll be up waiting for you to get home, okay?” I get that you deal with a lot of stuff you can't talk about… it’s okay. But I still worry...

“Are… Are you sure? I might not be home until really late. And I don’t have a key… So can you keep the back door open?” I completely forgot to grab it on my way out after lunch.

“Okay, I will. We need to get you an actual key for your key ring instead of just giving you the spare. And of course- I want to make sure you get home okay.” Someone has to give you your kiss goodnight. Lathe set out three bowls and mugs on the counter, turning off the stove.

Spades nodded at the other end, taking in a deep breath. “Okay… I need to go. Work calls… I love you, Sugar.” Her voice tired as she spoke, hanging up after.
“Love you too.” Lathe put away his phone when Spades ended the call, filling his and Levi’s bowl and only filling Eren’s halfway. He didn’t finish lunch, so I don’t know how hungry he’ll be. Lathe padded to the makeshift bed with the two bowls on potholders, setting them down before gently shaking Levi awake, threading his fingers through Eren’s hair to wake him up. “Dinner, you two.” He helped sit Eren up a bit before handing each of them their soup. “You can eat here if you promise not to spill it; Spades isn’t going to be home to eat with us- something’s going on that she needs to stick around for. She’ll be home late.” It’s something you’d expect from time to time at least, really.

Eren nodded slowly. He took a few bites, not really finding that he had the stomach for the soup. I’m not that hungry and I wanna sleep… But I don’t want it to happen again… I wanna be able to sleep. Eren looked over to Levi, watching him eat. He’s not gonna be here long is he?

Levi looked up to Lathe. “Is she alright?” Usually what Eren tells me is she’s home around dinner time… Even if she’s late. But then this could be a special case.

Lathe had since gotten his own bowl, having decided to return and sit on the floor next to them, quiet as he ate. He shrugged at Levi’s question. “She sounded really worn out. She’s normally home around now, but something came up. She deals with plenty of sensitive stuff, so she couldn't really say what was up… something bad must've happened. But she’s okay. She’ll be home pretty late though. I’m assuming it was an accident of some sort she has to deal with.” Who knows, really.

Levi nodded, switching between his soup and tea, helping Eren carefully sip his tea when he wanted some. “You look like you could use a few more hours, Brat.” I wouldn’t mind sleeping with you for tonight like this- it’s warm, and I get to hold you.

Eren nodded slowly. I wanna sleep… “I can’t though.” His voice was soft as he struggled to move the pillows out from under him so he could lay back down. I can’t eat any more… I wanna go to sleep… But I can’t… He’ll come back and kill me...

Lathe helped him lay back down, thinking. “I don't want to give you too many of those pills though… you've already had two today… well, if I do, this day will be the one exception. Then after this, it’s just the one for getting you to sleep.” Or if anything goes wrong… “I’ll be working a lot with Casper over the next few weeks so we can get you something meant to keep away those nightmares instead of it just being a side effect.” That’s important. It’s been important, but now it’s even more necessary because we can’t have you crying or thrashing in your sleep. Lathe retrieved the bottle again after getting rid of all their dishes except Eren’s mug of tea, handing him one more pill. “Here- and Levi is going to be right next to you. You haven't got anything to worry about.”

Eren nodded, taking the pill, weakly sipping at his tea to help it down. I don’t want to have to take pills... But I’m too afraid that whatever I see is gonna be real... And that he’s really gonna kill me. It didn’t take much longer at all for Eren’s head to roll limply to the side and his body grow slack as he fell asleep.

Levi sighed, running a hand through his long brown locks. “Those pills work well with him... I’m probably gonna fall asleep soon too, I hope you don’t mind.” Levi’s eyes never left Eren’s sleeping features. He looks so calm, and relaxed.

Lathe shook his head, taking Eren’s mug and pecking his forehead, giving Levi a warm smile and standing. “You go right ahead and sleep. I’m leaving the light on very dim though, just so Spades can make it to the stairs without tripping over anything. Goodnight.” Lathe went to the kitchen, finishing the dishes and putting the leftover soup in the fridge as well before leaving the lights on low, making sure the back door was unlocked before heading upstairs, changing and getting into bed, settling and reading a book from the nightstand next to him.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

It was close to 1 in the morning when Spades slipped in through the back door. She made sure she was quiet, knowing that Eren was probably asleep somewhere on the first floor if it wasn’t on the couch. I remember being told he was confined to this floor. She took off her shoes to make sure she stayed quiet, slipping up the stairs having only woken Blake, who promptly went back to sleep. She got to the hallway, her brow furrowing as she saw the light on in their room. He’s still up? Her steps got a little faster as she got closer to the doorframe. I want you... I want you now.

Lathe looked up as he heard the back door open and close, smirking as he heard the distinctive, if soft, click of her shoes across the piano room before it was traded for the padding of feet up the stairs. She’s home. Lathe smiled to her as she entered their room, his voice warm. “Welcome home.” He was caught off guard a bit at the absolutely predatory glint she had in her eyes as she shut the door behind her. “W-what-” He stuttered a bit as he put the book down beside him, surprised as she walked straight up to him and climbed onto the bed, looming over him. W-what are you...

Spades leaned down, her lips locking onto Lathe’s as her hands wandered down his strong arms and slowly took hold of them by the wrist. She guided them up over his head and towards the headboard, one hand taking over both wrists and the other quickly grabbing her handcuffs. It didn’t take her more than a few seconds to lock his hands in the cuffs, yet he was restrained around the headboard. That’s better. She picked her head up, staring into his eyes, piercing them with a darker look. “Bad day at work... So stay fucking still.” Her words were harsh as she moved to straddle over him, her hands going to the hem of his shirt and pulling it up, as far as it could go, past his head, leaving it dangle by his wrists. Spades let her eyes scan over his toned body, her hands following suit as she traces every line of muscle. Mine... I hope you’re at least somewhat ready for this.
Lathe melted into the kiss, letting Spades move his arms above his head, returning her advance with fervor. I like where this is going… His eyes snapped open as he was suddenly handcuffed to the headboard, breaking their kiss and looking up. He looked to Spades, only for his words to catch in his throat at the dark look in her eyes. A shiver ran up his spine as she spoke and started to move his shirt off of him. Yes ma’am. Lathe quietly whimpered as her hands moved over his now bare chest, trying not to squirm under her with either the urge to touch her, or with the growing hardness in his pants.

Spades smirked as she heard him whimper, leaning down, making sure her ass was still rubbing against his crotch as she did so. Mine. Spades was gentle at first, kissing his chest all over, though she got increasingly harder with him, sucking a few hickeys onto his skin, then progressing to larger darker hickeys, and finally ending out with just biting him, and letting a trail of teeth marks litter his chest. That’s better.

Lathe quietly moaned as she kissed up and down his chest, his head having fallen back against the pillows. He gasped as she ground against his length, his hips rising the inch he allowed them to meet her movements. As she became rougher, it became harder for him to stay still, and he fought the urge to jerk away from her as she started to bite his chest, whimpering as she marked him, his heels digging into the bed and letting out a low moan as she ground hard against his clothed length. That kinda hurts… but it feels so good….

Spades eased up on his chest, moving off of him and her hands moved to pull Lathe’s pants and boxers down in one swoop. Well, someone’s definitely excited… That’s good. She got up off the bed and snatched two scarves from around the room, coming back and tying both his ankles to the footboard of the bed. You’re really not allowed to move. “You’re being so quiet… Come on, I wanna hear you.” She teased his length with her finger, gently rubbing the slit and letting her finger run up and down his length. I wanna tease you as long as I can.

Lathe blushed crimson as she let his erection spring free, watching her tie his ankles to the footboard deftly and climb back on the bed, in between his legs. He let out a gasp as she traced his length with her finger, moaning as her finger trailed over the slit, a shudder running through him. He tried to curl up his legs, though they were quickly stopped by the scarves, held taut and keeping him spread apart. …I really like this…

Spades smirked softly, a dark glint in her eyes as she hand took hold of his length, slowly pumping it. “Is someone sensitive?” Her voice sly, her lips coming close to his length, grazing over his skin gently. Time for you to become a puddle.

Lathe let out a long moan, his breath coming in shorter pants as she stroked his length, shuddering as he felt her breath. So good… it’s so much… “S-Spades-”
Spades shook her head, squeezing his length a bit in reprimand. “No, I’m not Spades… I’m your Master, and you will refer to me as such, is that clear?” Oh, if you’ll actually call me that it will make this that much hotter.

Lathe gasped as Spades squeezed his length, looking up to her, his eyes darkening further with lust as she spoke. “Y-yes… master.” Lathe groaned as she started stroking his member again, his cheeks crimson. Being tied up and completely open didn't bother Lathe- rather, he relished in the attention Spades was giving him. That's how this is going... I really like this...

Spades smirked and continued to rub his length, though soon she let go of him, letting his length stand tall without attention. She moved off of him going to his nightstand and pulling out a black tube, she came back over to him, uncapping the bottle. Spades kneeled down on the floor, reaching to remove her panties from under her skirt and throw them somewhere. Her eyes were glued to his length as she let the cool gel slowly escape the bottle and drip onto his waiting member. God, this is gonna be hot as hell.

Lathe whimpered as she stopped pumping his length, his eyes following her as she moved to the nightstand, his eyes lidded as he watched her take off her panties and drop them without care. He looked to her as she held the small black tube over him, shivering as she let the cool lube drip onto his length and slowly run down. He whimpered, looking to her with pleading eyes, his hands tugging a bit at his handcuffs, impatient. “S- master, p-please…” I really, really want you...

Spades smirked more, “I guess you’ve been a good boy…. I think I can do that for you.” Her voice was soft as she got back on the bed, not letting him protest as all as she sat down on him, filling her all the way. She let out a loud whine, feeling him fill her again. “Ha… Lathe… Ha…. you’re so big… you’re such good boy.” Fuck I missed fucking you.

Lathe let out a loud moan as he sank into her, shuddering at her praise. I love it when you talk like that... Lathe couldn't help but buck up his hips into her, though he struggled to keep his hips in place. I'm not supposed to move... I want this to keep going like it is, I don't want to mess with it, it feels too good to mess it up...

Spades continued to move on him, up and down, in a fluid motion, rolling her hips so he hit all her sensitive spots. “Ha…. Lathe… Oh my god! It's so good!” She let out a loud cry and moaned constantly, not wanting to let up from on top of Lathe. It feels so good, and you look simply wonderful under me.

Lathe’s head fell back, his face flushed as he gazed up at Spades riding him, not caring if he was loud as he moaned, his hips thrusting up minutely to meet her movement. You sound so damn sexy… He felt a familiar pressure building in his stomach, stuttering and trying to speak. “M-master… I’m not… haa … going to last l-long… nnnh…” It’s so much…

Spades cried out in pure bliss as she shifted, hitting her g-spot, feeling her own coil quickly tightening. “Me… Ngh…. Neither…. Lathe!” Spades cried out his name as she clenched around him, crying in bliss as she climaxed around him. Holy crap… That felt great! She kept her motions going to get Lathe to his climax as well.

Lathe let out a loud moan as Spades cried out his name, driving him to his own climax and releasing into Spades, letting her milk him for all he was worth. His heels dug into the mattress, panting as Spades slowed her motions, trying to catch his breath. Fuck… that was amazing… Lathe tugged at handcuffs, wanting nothing more than to hold Spades at that moment as she nearly collapsed on top of him. “M- Spades, the cuffs…” I want to hold you…

Spades looked up at him with hazy eyes. Right… She slowly reached up and undid the cuffs around his wrist, letting him go. She slowly got off of him, moving to untie his legs before clambering off of him. I need to get this uniform off. Her motions were slow as she got undressed, leaving nothing to his imagination as she took off every single article of clothing. She blushed as he came up behind her.

Lathe stretched his arms, shrugging the shirt still looped near his wrists back on and snatching his boxers after Spades had untied his feet. He put them on, stepping off of the bed as Spades began to unbutton her uniform shirt, hugging her from behind and kissing her neck gently, his own hands moving to unbutton it. “That was wonderful… I really love you.” I really, really do.

“I love you, too.” Her words were soft, finally slipping out of everything with Lathe’s help. Well, he won’t mind if I steal one of his shirts. She dug through the drawers taking out a large shirt and jumping back into bed, pulling him in with her. “That’s better.” She groaned a bit as she finally settled into his arms, her body finally feeling stiff and tired after the happenings of today.

Lathe smiled a bit as he saw her don one of his shirts, much too big for her, and climbed into bed after her, pulling her close and tangling their legs. It took a moment for him to remember his earlier thought, wanting to ask and yet scared to. He took in a deep breath, mustering up the courage. “Uhm, Spades… remember in college when you’d go to parties, and you’d stick around awhile, but then leave with some guy…” …fuck how do I say this...

... Where is this going? “Yeah… You know I don't do that anymore… Right? Those were all one night stands, Lathe. Nothing to me… Meaningless, you don’t have to worry about me.” She murmured and moved in his arms to face him, leaning up to kiss his neck. “I love you, and only “No… I didn’t catch anything, we used condoms, and I need to take a yearly blood test, and I’ve been clean since I started yet work in the force. You don’t need to worry about anything,” Spades reassured him and kissed his neck again, snuggling close to him. I would tell you something like that… Don’t worry.

Lathe hummed as Spades kissed his neck, feeling that bit of tension from his worry drain from him. “Okay. I had to ask…” Lathe shifted so he could properly face her, his arms coiled around her as he gently nipped at her neck for a moment, settling into her shoulder. “Goodnight Hon.” I love you.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

“Daaaaa~d!” Eren’s call came from his nest in the piano room. His body was surrounded by pillows to cushion him up into a sitting position, books piled around him. He set the book back down on his lap, keeping his page, waiting for Lathe to respond from wherever he was in the house. I don’t want to read anymore…I’m sooo fucking bored. Levi’s gone and I’ve been reading books for like a week already! I want to actually get up and do something but Dad won’t let me.

Lathe set down the stack of notes on loose leaf on his desk, shouting in the enteral direction of the staircase. “Whaaaaaat!” He waited a minute with no response, making an overdramatic sound of annoyance and getting up, descending a few of the stairs and leaning over banister, still yelling even though Eren wasn’t that far from him, grinning. “Whaaaaaat!?"’

Eren looked over to him, sitting up a bit, or at least trying to. “Will you go get my homework… Please?” He asked quietly. I wanna do something productive…

Lathe just dropped his head, pinching the bridge of his nose between his fingers. “Eren, you literally have one of the best excuses ever to do absolutely nothing, and you want to be productive? What kind of teenager are you?”

“But Dad—’
“Why? Why do you want to do your homework? You could be watching Netflix for all I care.”

Eren sighed. “Please? I wanna keep my valedictorian position… But I can’t do that if I don’t do my homework…. So could you please go get it?” Eren whined from where he was, looking as if he was about try and get up.

Lathe was instantly next to him, his hand gently on his shoulder, keeping him in place. “Alright, alright. I’ll go get your homework.” Lathe grinned, a glint in his eye. “Guess I shouldn't really complain about you being a hard worker.” He ruffled his hair, grabbing his jacket from a hook near the door and his keys, slipping into his boots. “The office will probably have all of it like always. If not I'll go pester the teachers. Or Armin. But I won't be long. And remember, you stay put.” Lathe smiled to him, snatching his bag from the banister before disappearing outside, soon driving off to the school. Valedictorian is a big deal- I could only think he'd want to stay valedictorian. Lathe was able to get a small stack of papers from the office without much fuss, soon returning home. He hung up his scarf, studying Eren’s setup in the corner of the room with a furrowed brow. Was his setup always like that? I thought he was facing the stairs more, not the piano… Lathe didn't mention it, handing Eren his stack of homework. …why is his hand sticky? Lathe quirked an eyebrow, though he shrugged and ditched his shoes, going into the kitchen to the coffeemaker, his gaze wandering over the counter as he waited, counting the fruit in the bowl when it clicked. ...there were five apples this morning… there are only four now… Lathe looked over to Eren, trying to decide if he should say something. He can't think he can get away with this… I really should say something… Lathe fixed his mug of coffee and grabbed a napkin before traipsing back over to Eren, crouching down and speaking softly. “Eren, if you want a snack or something, just tell me, okay? We really can't have you getting up just yet. It's worrying when your bones have barely had time to heal. I'm not mad, just don't do it. For anything. Please.” He handed him the napkin. Your teachers probably don't want sticky homework.

Eren looked up to him with wide eyes. Well… It didn’t take long for him to figure it out… Shit… He nodded quietly, his gaze returning to his work. “umm…. Can you bring my computer down here… By any chance?” Eren looked down a bit, embarrassed that he had to ask. “I mean… I know it'll be hard… But… Um… Nevermind… I can do without it.” Eren couldn’t look Lathe in the eye and tried to hide his face with his papers. I shouldn't have asked… It'll be such a hassle to move it down here...

Lathe smiled, resting a gentle hand on Eren’s shoulder. “Eren, it’s fine to ask. Don't worry about it. The whole computer, tower and all? I need my laptop, so that’s not the best of options… yeah, I think I can do that. The wifi might even be better down here, with the router in the Scripting room. If you really wanted, there’s a thing we can do so the TV is the monitor, and move your setup in there if you want. It wouldn't be too hard, actually. Or could could chill in here still. Whichever you like.” I'd just have to carry a bunch of stuff down some stairs. Not that big a deal.

Eren thought about it for a second. “Can you bring it in here?” He asked quietly, his eyes peeking up from behind a few papers. I don’t want you to push yourself though...

Lathe nodded. “Give me a couple minutes. It really is no trouble, Eren.” Come on- you must know you’ve got me wrapped around your finger. Lathe stood, padding upstairs and leaving his coffee on his desk, going into the recording room and switching everything off. He unplugged the tower, drawing tablet and keyboard, bringing them and an extension cord downstairs and setting everything up, able to turn it on after a few minutes, the cord stretching the length of the room behind the piano. “That work?” You should be good- unless you want your speaker or headphones or something. ...I should get those. “Actually…” He ran to grab them, handing them to Eren. “Now, do you need anything else? Or is this good?” I don't think I missed anything.

Eren looked over his set up. “No… I have everything now… Thank you.” He smiled pulling up a sheet of paper with his math homework, and pulled up an empty screen to use his tablet to do his math homework on. This’ll work… Cause then I can email it to him… Yeah that’ll work.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe tested the soup for what seemed to be the uumpteenth time, finally deciding the barley no longer resembled small rocks in texture. He ladled a decently-sized bowl, holding it in a potholder and padding over to Eren, sitting next to him and getting his attention. “Come on Eren, it’s time for dinner. You haven't even eaten lunch, you need to stop working and get some food in you.” It'll do you good.

Eren shook his head. “I’m not hungry… I wanna finish this up.” He barely looked over to the soup Lathe was holding. I don’t want soup anymore... I just wanna finish this and send it in. Eren continued to type away at the keyboard, very into the essay he was writing.

Here we go. Lathe sighed quietly, setting the bowl on the small tray next to his makeshift bed. “Eren, it’s going to be right here. Please please please, try to eat it soon. And if it gets cold by the time you get to it, I’ll be up, guaranteed. Yell and I'll heat it back up for you. And there’s always more. But learn to take a break, you'll wear yourself out.” Lathe pecked Eren’s temple, standing and going to eat some himself. He’s working really hard, which is good... but he’s neglecting himself a bit... he’s not eating too much...

Spades came in through the door, heaving a sigh as she took her heels off. She looked over to see Eren at work with his stack of papers spread out over him. Well, he’s certainly into that... He didn’t even say welcome home. “What’s he got himself into?” Her voice was soft as she came into the kitchen to meet Lathe.
Lathe sighed in relief as she greeted him, turning from the counter to kiss her in greeting, pulling back and looking weary. “I got him his homework from the school- he’s been at it for so long and he’s not eating… can you maybe try and talk him into eating something? He isn't listening to me.”

“I'm worried.

“You got him his homework? Isn’t he supposed to be resting?” She asked quietly, peeking in to see him continue to tap at the keyboard, though he lifted his arms to stretch, wincing as he did so. Still hurts to move I see… I hope he didn’t just tweak something. “When was the last time you gave him morphine?” She asked quietly.

“This morning… oh, and he got up while I was gone getting his work. He got an apple for himself, didn't take long to figure it out… why?” Lathe looked over to Eren, studying his expression. Does he look to be in pain?

“Well… He winced when he stretched out a bit, I can only imagine what it’s like laying on that all day… Why don’t you get him off the bean bags? And bring him in here to eat with us?” I think getting him away from it will help him out...

“Good idea…” Lathe nodded, giving her one more chaste kiss before walking over to Eren, nudging his leg with his foot. “Okay kiddo, work is now officially on pause. Dinner time, and you're eating at the table for a change.” Get everything in neat piles so I can get you out of your nest for once.

Eren thought about it for a second before he started to save everything, getting the paper clips to clip some papers together and formed neat piles. “Do I need to eat though?” Eren asked in a quiet whine. I'm not really that hungry... And we’ve been eating soup for a week! More than a fucking week!

“Yes you do. Your bones are working hard to piece themselves back together, and you should help them along by eating. You skipped lunch- and no, an apple doesn't count- and only nibbled at breakfast. And I'm trying to have plenty of variety in all the stuff I'm making us. So.” Lathe reached down and carefully scooped Eren up. “That’s a yes.” He carried Eren over to the kitchen table, gently setting him in his chair and pushing him in, going to retrieve the still-hot bowl of soup from next to his nest.

Eren looked around at the kitchen. “Oh… Welcome home mom…” Eren’s voice was small as he finally noticed her. I wish my bones would just hurry up and heal...

Spades smile softly, going over to ruffle his hair. “Thank you, I'm gonna go get changed, I’ll be done in a minute.” And with that she went off to the stairs and towards their rooms.

Awww... I like you in that uniform... Lathe barely caught himself from protesting, pointedly trying not to stare as Spades left and sitting down across from Eren, having set down bowls for himself and Spades. “I really think you should take a break from work for a little; you can tell you're wearing yourself out.” You look really tired, actually... just generally worn out...

Eren shook his head. “I got stuff that’s overdue... I gotta send it in, so it’s gotta get done tonight.” Eren told him, slowly picking up his spoon and starting to eat. Well... It’s good, it’s got that going for it.

Lathe nodded, himself only really able to pick at his food. “Alright then, it’s understandable. Just make sure you get to sleep before one, okay?” I'm not surprised you're expected to keep up even with a chest full of busted ribs...

Eren shook his head. “I can’t promise anything... Sorry.” He mumbled a bit under his breath, looking down. I know you're worried... But I have shit to get done.. Cause I couldn’t get it before today. I wish I didn’t need to make you worry.

Spades came in after a few seconds, going to sit down at her seat. “Alright Eren.. Should we cut you off at one then?” I don't want you two to wear yourselves thin.

Y'know... time stamps on assignments usually run by the deadline of midnight. “I'd say that’s fair, given that anything due today is past due after a midnight deadline, and you need your sleep.” He held up his hand, stopping Eren as he opened his mouth to protest, looking up to him tiredly. “Eren, please don't. You need the rest, and you've been doing nothing but work since nearly noon. It’s for your own good. I'm not trying to be mean.” But I know it must feel like it...

Eren looked up to Lathe, nodding with somber eyes, not voicing a complaint. “O-okay.” He murmured quietly, his gaze training onto his food as he ate. I'm sorry.

Lathe was silent for the rest of dinner, barely able to eat, his head feeling heavy as he got himself to his feet, starting on dishes. I don't feel that great... This whole thing is really wearing me down... Lathe carried Eren back to his nest, settling him in. “One. That’s it. Then you need your meds and you can sleep, okay?” He kissed the top of his head. “I'm going upstairs to crash- but you either yell or my phone’s ringtone is on if you need something. Goodnight.” Lathe padded upstairs, collapsing after changing into his pajamas. I'm so tired...
Spades followed suit, coming into bed with Lathe and snuggling up close to him. You’re warm… It feels nice…

Eren continued to work for a long time, finally passing out around 12:30 in the morning. Though, the boy had forgotten to take his sleeping pills, which led him to have a horrible nightmare, waking up in tears and screaming only 3 or 4 hours later. Eren had thrashed so much that his whole body had made it’s way to the floor in a painful way, where Eren couldn’t move from his spot without causing pain, which freaked him out enough to make him scream louder.

It wasn't a minute before Lathe quickly descended the stairs, immediately getting down next to Eren and shifting him so he was on his back, cradling him in his lap and murmuring to him softly, blocking out everything else. Nightmares… he must've fallen asleep without taking his meds. “Eren, hon, I've got you… shhh… it’s okay, I've got you. Dad’s got you…” It’s okay.

Eren continued to cry, his whole body shaking from both fear and pain. It hurts… dammit… I don't wanna go to bed… Eren’s hand had a shaky grasp on Lathe's shirt.

Spades wasn't far behind him, running down the stairs and seeing Eren sobbing in Lathe's arms. Well fuck, that's not good… “Lathe… What do you need me to do? What can I get you?” I don’t know where his pills are… And he sounds like he’s in a lot of pain.

Lathe looked up to her, nodding to the kitchen. “I forgot he’d need a glass of water for his pills- grab one, please. His pills are already over here.” He must've just fallen asleep before he got the chance- his papers are still pretty much everywhere… He took the glass as Spades returned, setting it on the tray and snatching up the pill bottles, pouring one of each into his hand and offering them to Eren with the glass. “This’ll make you feel much better, Eren. Come on, down the hatch.” You must be in a lot of pain right now- we need to fix that.

Eren eyes the glass wearily, though the pain forced him to move to take it. He was barely able to swallow down the water, but managed under some miracle. It fucking hurts… I don’t wanna… I don’t want him to come back...

Lathe helped Eren sip at the water, cradling him and whispering to him soothingly until his eyes slid shut, drifting into a forced yet peaceful sleep. Lathe set down the glass, shifting and lifting Eren back into his nest, wrapping him back up in his blankets and moving his papers and computer out of harm’s way. He finally stood, stumbling for an instant before he righted himself, looking to Spades and running a hand through his noir hair. With how weary he looked, he looked nearly a decade older than he really was. “Let’s get back to bed- he’ll be okay.” Why is my head so heavy… Lathe trudged up the stairs with Spades, falling back into bed and pulling up the covers, only to kick half of them on his side off. When did it get so warm…
Spades crawled into bed with him, curling up to said human and finding peaceful sleep for a few more hours. She started to stir at around 7, feeling a warmth that wasn’t hers around her. It’s warm… She cracked open an eye, a smile crossing her lips as she saw Lathe. Hmm… He’s warm. It took Spades a few seconds to realize that Lathe was burning up, completely and utterly burning up. Holy shit! He’s a fucking furnace! He’s never this warm. Spades hurriedly sat up and put a hand on his forehead. Dammit… He’s got a fever… He’s sick isn’t he?

Lathe cracked open one eye, breathing heavily as Spades felt his forehead. I feel terrible … Lathe didn’t even try to speak, signing sloppily. {I’ll be okay- bag on stairs, small orange bottle, Ibuprofen. Water. Please.} I know how this works… eight hours of me feeling like crap, and then I’ll be either totally fine, or suckish for two weeks. Either.

Spades nodded, getting off the bed and going down to dig through his bag, locating the orange bottle after a few minutes. Looking over to Eren on his bed, she smiled softly. At least he’s still asleep. She came back up with water and the bottle of pills for him. “Do you want me to call in? Take the day off with you?” I wouldn’t mind, and it’d probably be easier for you… Since you won’t have to worry about Eren as much.

Lathe took the bottle from her, pouring out two small pills and sipping at the water, setting them both on the side table, his sign language clumsy. {I know your job is really important… but Eren has been getting progressively more of a handful even with me not dying… could you please? Just this once?} I don't want to keep you from your job... but I'm in no shape to do anything right now…

Spades nodded. “Get some sleep, I’ll go call Dave, tell him I won’t be coming in, and he can handle things… Eren’s still asleep so get some yourself, you need it.” She bent over and kissed his forehead before pulling the blankets up to Lathe’s shoulders. She got dressed into more comfortable clothing and left him to sleep in peaceful silence. I’ll let him sleep, I can take care of Eren. She made it downstairs without waking Eren, made breakfast for herself, she took Lathe’s breakfast back upstairs, setting the tray on his nightstand. Spades leaned over, kissing his forehead and his ear. “There’s food if you want it on your night stand, Sugar.” She whispered into his ear before getting up to go see if Eren would wake up anytime soon. I wonder how long it’ll be for the sleeping pill to wear off? Well I guess we’ll find out.

Lathe opened his eyes slightly, trying to get Spades’ attention after she had turned, deciding to smack the bed until she turned to look at him.

Spades looked back over to him, hearing his flailing. “Yeah?” She asked quietly, coming back over to Lathe, sitting by his side, a hand running through his hair. Why can’t you talk to me?
Lathe let his eyes slide shut as Spades threaded her fingers through his hair, leaning into the touch and trying to sign, finding strength enough only in the one hand, spelling words and waving them off when he misspelled, trying again to get his message across. {Can you call Scotty sometime, tell him Eren flailed pretty violently, ask if he needs to have his chest checked and maybe reset…} He might have to… something could’ve gotten out of place… he looked to be in a lot of pain…

“Alright, I’ll call him, do you want anything else? And why aren’t you talking? You barely have the strength to sign properly.” I didn’t even get my ‘Good Morning’ greeting this morning… What the hell?

Lathe dropped his hand, giving Spades a weak smile, forcing himself to speak, his voice wispy and faint. “…I’m not talking… because I can’t.” Lathe lifted his arms again, trying hard to sign cleanly. {I don’t want to screw with my vocal chords while they’re dead, so I don’t want to push it. Oh, and good morning.} Lathe made a heart with his hands, smiling. I didn’t forget.

Spades smiled softly, her hands still stroking through his hair softly. “Alright, I’ll call Scotty, my phone’s on when you need me, okay?” She leaned forward to kiss his forehead. “I guess I can forgive you for right now. Better go call Scotty. Spades stood, stepping down from the bed and padding over to the door, dimming the lights before closing the door quietly. She went downstairs, looking back over to Eren and moving to pick up the pill bottles still next to his nest, reading the back of the sedative. Blah blah blah… Boring stuff… Eight hours. Oh, okay. He’ll be out for awhile then. Spades moved them to the counter in the kitchen, calling Scotty on the home phone. She leaned against the wall, waiting for him to either pick up or direct her to voicemail. I know you're busy, but come on…

Scotty picked up the phone after a few minutes, not paying attention to the number that came through. “Sisters Hospital, this is Dr. Octavian… How can I help you?” What do I gotta do now? I’m actually free for once… I don’t want to do another emergency surgery for the next week.

“Wow, Scotty, so formal.” Spades smirked, her legs crossed at the ankles. “It’s Spades. We might have an emergency, sorry to drop it on you on pretty much no notice…”

Scotty sighed, pinching the bridge of his nose. “Alright… Who broke their wrist from recoil this time?” Scotty only shook his head, getting up to see if the OR was free. This might take a while to fit them into the hospital schedule.

“Actually nobody that I'm aware of. I took the day off from work. Eren kinda forgot to take his meds really late last night- last time we let that happen- and he had a terrible nightmare, and thrashed around a lot. We want to know if we need to bring him in to see if something came out of place” Which it might have- it was pretty violent.
“You? Skip work? That’s simply blasphemy….” He paused listening to the rest of Spades’ words. “Alright, I’ll be over in an hour, don’t move him.” Scotty hung up the phone in his office, picking up a few things from his desk, grabbing his coat before he left the room. I need to make sure that he didn’t do anything to mess with his ribs. Scotty arrived at Lathe’s house around an hour later, greeting Spades at the door. “Where is he?”

“He’s in here.” Spades opened the door up for him and led him to the giant bed they had made for Eren.

“Well, Lathe wasn’t kidding when he said he found giant bean bags online. Alright, I’m gonna check his chest if that’s alright.” Seeing Spades nod, he went over to get Eren in a stable position and removed the blankets from him, looking over his chest. Let’s see here… Scotty’s brow furrowed as he gently pressed on Eren’s chest. What the hell? Scotty looked up to Eren’s face, gently prodding an area where there had been a severe break. He’s not even flinching in his sleep…”

Spades… Get Lathe… Like now please….”

Spades nodded going up to Lathe, shaking him awake. Come on. “Wake up, Scotty’s gotta talk to you about Eren’s chest… I think something’s really wrong.” Spades’ voice was wavering a bit. I can only imagine the worst… And I don’t want to have to take him to the hospital without you knowing.

Lathe opened his eyes, forcing himself to sit up, worry etched into his features. Oh no… Lathe cleared his throat, trying to speak somewhat clearly. “Wait, did Scotty make a house call?” He has time for those? Lathe got onto his feet, dragging the quilt with him as he followed Spades down the stairs, walking over to Scotty sitting next to Eren. Someone might as well have drawn squiggles around Lathe’s head, he was so out of it. His eyes were a bit glassy, his brow furrowed as he looked to Scotty, not recognizing him for a moment. “…why is there a perv feeling up my son in my own home.” …what. Why isn’t Spades doing anything.

“Really? You’re calling me a perv?” Scotty asked, moving his hands back from Eren’s chest. What the actual hell is wrong with you.

“Dude, quit feeling up my son’s chest, you’re an old man.” Lathe weakly smacked at Scotty’s shoulder. No. Bad human.

Scotty looked at Lathe with wide eyes. “What the hell, Lathe?! You’re the one who’s older than me! By two whole years!” Scotty raised his arms to brace himself. What the hell? Like actually… What the hell are you going on about?
“Wha…? I ain’t old…” Lathe stopped, looking hard at Scotty before dropping his arm and taking up a much more casual tone. “Oh… hey Scotty. What’s up?” He looked over his shoulder. “How’s Eren doing?” Is hooman okay?

“I don’t know how… But… His ribs are healed….” He pressed gently on Eren’s chest. *It’s so weird… They’re completely healed… From what I can feel… It’s a fucking miracle. How can he be healed… It’s only been two weeks!"

Lathe stared at Eren, trying to process this new information. “So… his ribs are healed… as in he can get up and walk and just do normal stuff now healed?...is that even physically possible?"

Scotty nodded. “From what I can tell, they feel perfectly normal, which is a miracle in itself, but… I wouldn’t let him do much strenuous activity in case they break again.” Scotty’s brow furrowed as he took both hands and ran his thumbs up and down Eren’s chest, feeling for any give… And feeling none. This kid… Is unhuman.

Lathe stared at Eren for a moment, silent. He then turned to Scotty, his expression completely neutral. “Bullshit.” No way … I understand I’m delirious when I’m sick, but I’d never be sick enough to fall for that.

Well… This is gonna be fun convincing him. “Lathe, I’m being completely serious… Just feel them, they feel like normal… The ones that are there at least.” He mentioned that last bit after remembering that he only had 16 instead of 20 ribs.

Lathe looked to Eren again and shrugged, kneeling down next to him. “Okay. But no homo.” Lathe gently prodded down Eren’s sternum, carefully feeling at every rib still there, his eyes widening as he was met not with give, but with solid resistance. “…what the hell happened? He’s in one piece…” Lathe dropped his arms, pulling the red and gold blanket back around him, looking up to Scotty. “Does this mean I don’t have to worry as much about him getting hurt if he does stuff right now?”

“He can do stuff, I would suggest nothing strenuous, so no school at least for a couple days, but he can walk around the house, and curl up a bit.” I think he should be able to move around now. Scotty put Eren back together and tucked him in. It’s amazing really… I don’t know how your body managed to heal them all in two weeks.

...I take that as a yes. Lathe nodded, and after a moment he shifted from sitting on his legs to just sit on the floor, pulling the blanket fully around him and looking up to Spades. “Can I have a snack?” I want food...

Spades looked back at him with a soft smile, relief clearly in her eyes as she heard Eren would be okay. “Yeah, what do you want to eat?” She asked softly, ruffling his hair. I guess you can have a snack since you didn’t eat breakfast.

“Pockeys please.” Lathe looked to Eren’s nest, then to the Scripting room, quietly mumbling. “I want a nest too…” He got himself to his feet, padding over to the couch in the Scripting room, stealing the pillows from the couch across from the piano before he plopped down, burrowing into the pile. ...where’s the remote... I want my Netflix...

Do we even have those? Spades got up and moved to the kitchen, going through a few cupboards. We do not have any... But I don’t think he’ll know the difference between pockeys and chocolate Teddy Grams. She grabbed the box of teddy bears and went to give it to him, helping him turn Netflix on as well before moving to see Eren shift in his nest a bit. He’s still asleep... Hmm...

Scotty looked over Eren with a soft smile. “I’m glad he’s okay... But it’s so weird...” I don’t understand this at all... Scotty turned to Spades, one eyebrow quirked. “...and is Lathe in his right mind at all? He’s been acting quietly deranged and it’s weirding it me out.” Normally, he seems rather... sane.

Spades shook her head, a quiet chuckle escaping her as Lathe turned on anime. “No, he’s actually quite sick right now... I think he worked himself thin with Eren’s condition and the nightmares on top of everything.” That would be my guess.

That sounds like something he’d do. Scotty looked in the direction of the TV questioningly, furrowing his brow at the animated roses taking up much of the screen as the theme played. “Oh yeah, I heard that Lathe being sick was a bit of an event.” The man’s gone mad. “Honestly, good luck. I’ve heard really odd things. ...and please text me about anything amusing he does.”

“Oh I will, you want some soup for lunch? Since Eren’s eaten nothing but that for the past two weeks?” Gotta get rid of this... He probably hates the thought of soup by now, and we might as well give it to someone who will eat a ton of it in one go.

“...did Mr. Crazy over there make it?” Scotty sounded slightly skeptical though he still stood and made his way to the kitchen, his expression brightening as he saw the beef and barley stew. “...please and thank you.” That looks really good, and I’m so tired of takeout... Scotty looked to the coffeemaker, approaching it- and stopping. ...how do you use that... “...Spades...” Scotty looked over to her, his face blank and eyes quietly pleading. “...help.” I might be a doctor but that doesn't change the fact that I don't know how this machine you people have works... and I want coffee...

Spades looked up from ladling up the soup from the large bowl into a very large container. “Coffee… Right, I’ll get it in a second.” She maneuvered over to the coffee machine and starting out a new pot for Scotty. “So I know it's early for lunch but do you want anything to eat? You’re taking this home.” She motioned to the large container she had just filled. You’ll be back for more.

Scotty thanked her as she started the coffeemaker, fishing a mug out from the cupboard. He scratched the back of his neck, not wanting to impede too much. I didn't eat breakfast... per usual... and you do make them really well... “...I don't want to seem demanding... but I haven't had one in forever... can I have a grilled cheese please, maybe…?”

Spades nodded, “Yeah, I can do that. Go see if Lathe wants food.” She got out what she needed for the grilled cheese, getting ready to turn on the burner. I don’t mind making grilled cheese.

Scotty smiled sheepishly. “Thanks.” He left with his mug, traipsing over to the couch where Lathe was huddled, the TV enjoying his rapt attention. ...he’s really into his anime. “Earth to Crazy, come in Crazy. Houston requires a decision as to whether you want grilled cheese for lunch or not.” In order to communicate with the cray, one must become the cray.

Lathe looked up to Scotty after a moment, tilting his head a bit. “...the one with tomatoes?” He watched as Scotty nodded. ...good food. “Okay. Tell the waifu I said thank you.” ...food.

“O-Kay…” Scotty turned to leave, though he stopped and watched the screen for a second. “...just what the hell are you watching?” He cringed a bit at an overdramatic ‘intimate’ shot. This is just cringeworthy... how are you watching this. He decided to take his leave as Lathe just kept murmuring about OTPs, still paying the twins onscreen attention as he retreated to the kitchen. He just looked at Spades. “That otaku you call a fiancé gives thanks to his waifu.” ...Even I don't understand what I just said.

Spades let her eye twitch a bit at the sentence that just came out of Scotty’s mouth. What the actual hell? Spades smacked him upside the head. “Don’t repeat what my deranged fiancé said.” She chastised him as she got him his plate. “Alright, eat and I’ll warm up some soup for you too.” I wonder if Eren will wake up for this? He’s been sleeping... And it'll be noon soon.

Scotty raised his hand in surrender, sitting down at the kitchen table. “Yeesh, I was only telling you what he told me to. Deranged or not, it was a direct order.” He was only met with a glare. “But I won't do it again! Promise!” Anything that gets me a real lunch. He thanked her as she handed him a plate and a bowl, not speaking much as he ate. ...I literally cannot remember the last time I honest to God cooked a meal ... it's a struggle...

Spades took a sandwich out to Lathe, giving him the plate. “Eat, alright? Then get some rest.” She went back to sit at the table with Scotty. “So, when should I be worried and wake him up? We gave him pills at 4 in the morning.”

Scotty finished what was already in his mouth, looking down at his food. “Um… I would say around midnight tonight… If he’s still asleep, call me and we’ll bring him to the emergency room, but he should wake up on his own.” He should wake up soon enough.

Lathe had fallen asleep around the fifth episode, the season of Ouran still on auto play as he woke up, his plate long having been set on the coffee table and his head less fuzzy. ...my head feels weird... at least I don't feel as awful as I did earlier... ...I must've gone into otaku mode, didn't I. Lathe paused Netflix, yawning widely and stretching, looking to the time. It's a bit after four... pretty sure that's PM.... Lathe stood, dragging his quilt with him and regarding the pillows that fell off behind him with indifference. ...I can clean that up later. Lathe padded to the stairs, looking over to Eren’s nest with a small smile. ...he’s getting better really quickly. I'm slightly concerned, and at the same time just glad it's better and not worse. He stopped as Eren shifted, going next to his nest and sitting down next to him as Eren moved slightly, running a hand through his hair.

Eren’s eyes cracked open a bit, whimpering as the light flooded in. He blinked a few times, feeling Lathe’s fingers through his hair. What? Huh? What happened?... My head hurts...  Eren stayed relatively still, but nuzzled into Lathe’s hands.

Lathe furrowed his brow a bit, his voice low and a bit rough. He still smiled a bit to him. “Hey Eren... too bright?” Lathe reached up with his free hand to make sure the blinds were still fully closed, standing if for just a moment to turn off the lights in the room, padding back to Eren and sitting next to him. “You know Eren, you really are something. Your ribs are solid; you can walk and do very chill stuff for a little bit, and soon you'll be as good as new. We can move you back downstairs if you like, to sleep if you're still tired. Or cook you some actual food to eat, since you haven't had anything all day. Your call, kid. Anything.” I don't have to drive myself insane with worry anymore... at least for right now.

Eren took in a deep breath, closing his eyes slowly. He shook his head but nuzzled into Lathe’s hand as it continued through his hair. I just wanna stay here... Your hands feel nice... Really nice.

Lathe just seemed to melt, shifting forward. “Watch out kid, I’m coming in.” Lathe pulled the blankets back over them, one arm around Eren, continually threading his fingers through his hair.
I'm probably going to fall asleep... but you are too, so it's okay... Lathe yawned, and after a short while drifted in and out of sleep, Eren safe in his arms.

Eren fell asleep within only a few minutes, yet he was woken around 6 in tears. “Dad... It... It hurts...” He whimpered into his father’s chest, his head throbbing. It fucking hurts and I don’t know why.

Lathe gently ran his hand over Eren’s back, his voice soft. “Eren, what hurts?” Is it your ribs or something else because I’m not giving you morphine if you don't need it.

Eren whimpered, burying his head into Lathe’s chest. “My head hu~rts” he whined as he held onto Lathe. My head is fucking throbbing... Eren held onto Lathe’s shirt, still crying and whimpering from the pain in his head.

Lathe pecked Eren’s forehead, remembering after a moment what it was. “Eren, you must've hit your head really hard this morning when you woke up with nightmares... you need aspirin. Give me a moment- One second, promise.” Lathe slipped from the ‘bed’, going to retrieve a glass of water and some strong aspirin, handing the small white pill to him and helping him with the water. You'll feel better with this.

Eren let Lathe move him around and took the medication without putting up a fight. Okay... I’ll be laying down here... For awhile I guess... Oh well. I'm not really all that hungry.

Lathe set the glass on the nearby tray, settling back in with Eren and murmuring to him as his tears reduced to sniffles. “Y’know, I’d thought you’d really be one to jump, nearly literally, at the chance to move around. We’re serious too. But you still do look tired- try and sleep more if you can.” I'm surprised that barely got a reaction out of you.

Eren shook his head. “I don’t wanna get up.” His words were mumbled, his head nuzzling into Lathe’s chest. I want you to rub my head again...

Lathe took the hint, helping Eren shift comfortably and carding his hand through his dark locks, letting himself relax for once. He's okay... he’s okay... Lathe drifted to sleep again, Eren’s breathing long since even, weary and worn.

Eren slept for a few more hours before the two of them were woken by Spades so that the two of them would eat. I'm hungry. Really hungry. Eren got up or at least tried to, falling down on top of Lathe’s chest when his arms gave out. Well shit... I’m fucking weak as all hell.

Lathe chuckled a bit when Eren fell on him, carefully picking him up and getting to his feet, carrying him to the kitchen and setting him in his chair. “I see your limbs don't want to cooperate at the moment, which is to be expected. You didn't use them for more than a week.” Lathe sat down at the table, looking up as Spades set a plate in front of either of them. “Spades, do I ever tell you how awesome you are?” He tugged her down gently to peck her cheek, smiling. I'd've been able to manage nothing by myself... you're amazing.

Eren quietly picked up his spoon and started to eat the chicken noodle soup which Spades had put out in front of him. Well, I guess this is nice... I like this soup, so I'll still eat it.

Spades blushed a bit at his statement and how he kissed her cheek. “I believe you’ve stated it once or twice… How are you feeling now? You look much better.” She ruffled his hair before moving to go make a bowl of her own to sit down in her usual seat. I hope he’s better, I want them both to be okay.

Lathe smiled as she ruffled his hair, stirring the soup with his spoon. I passed the anime phase- that's a good sign. “A lot better, but I'm still really tired. I guess now that Eren’s gotten so much better I don't need to worry myself sick as much.” That's really what happened… He took a spoonful of soup, nudging Spades’ foot under the table, tangling their legs. “This is really good, Spades... I love you.

Spades’ face flushed in a full out blush, looking down at to her bowl and eating some more, the relative silence settling in around them. “I was also thinking about some dates for the wedding… Do you mind if we have a summer wedding?” She asked softly, blushing up at him.

Eren seemed to shrink a bit at Lathe’s words. I got him sick... I... I didn’t mean to. Eren finished up his bowl in silence before just staring at it, lost in his thoughts. I got him sick... Shit... He probably thinks I’m an inconvenience. Eren seemed to shrink even further at Spades’ statements. Married? They're already planning to get married?... They must think I’m in inconvenience... shit.

Lathe blushed a bit, thinking... Spades is going to be my wife. “…is there a Friday the thirteenth during the summer? For the memes?” ...just for ironic purposes, of course.

“No, we cannot get married on Friday the 13th...” Spades trailed off, seeing his pout. Dammit. “Fine… We can get married the month after.” Spades gave in after only a few seconds of Lathe's puppy eyes. I can't go against that for very long.
Lathe smiled, leaning over to peck her cheek. “Thanks Hon.” Hmmm… which of the whackjobs I call friends am I going to have be my best man… Lathe looked up to Eren, his expression changing a bit. Was Eren slouched over like that earlier? Lathe pretended to look for something under the table, noting his feet were also pulled up under him. He's trying to curl into a little ball… why? “Hey, Eren…” Lathe gently prodded Eren’s hand with the end of his spoon. You look really sad…

Eren jumped back a bit in surprise, his eyes wide as he made eye contact with Lathe. What? What did I do wrong? Are you gonna kick me out now? Is that what you want to tell me?.... I mean I knew that I was an inconvenience… But...I don’t want to leave… And you’re gonna tell me to leave. Eren averted his gaze and just stared at his empty bowl as he curled up, pulling his legs close to his chest, hugging them as he curled into a ball.

Lathe set down his spoon, resting a gentle hand on his shoulder and slowly coaxing Eren to unfurl from his ball, murmuring. “Eren, hey, don't be scared of me… I just wanted to know if you were okay… What’s wrong? Come on kid, talk to me.” I don't like seeing you like that…

Eren barely looked up to Lathe as he spoke, he made eye contact with him for a few seconds, seeming as if he was going to tell Lathe something. Though he thought better of it, shut his mouth and turned away from him shaking his head. No… I’ll leave before you kick me out… I don’t want you to worry about me… I don’t want you to kick me out… I’ll leave before that ever happens… Because I still like you… And I wish you would like me enough to keep me… But you guys are getting married… And you won’t want me around… I’ll leave before you don’t want me anymore.

Lathe shifted his chair around the corner of the table a bit, pulling Eren close to him and hugging him. “Eren, whatever it is that’s bugging you, please don’t worry about it. If you ever want to talk about anything, we’re here to listen. Okay? We love you.” Lathe let go of him, giving him a small warm smile and shifting back again to give him space. It’ll be okay, whatever it is.

Eren only nodded, still not looking at the two of them. He unfurled from himself, struggling a bit to get proper footing and putting his bowl in the sink. Eren quietly went into the piano room, stopping to hide himself behind the wall as he peered in. “Thanks for dinner mom.” His voice was small as he stood there, hiding behind the wall, aside from his head. He moved away from the wall to curl up in his makeshift bed and hide under the blankets.

Lathe looked back to Spades, sighing quietly. “He’s gotta be under a lot of stress with just everything going on… I think he could manage by himself tomorrow though. The school’s been emailing me nonstop about coming back to sub classes, because some of the teachers have been running around like cray.”
Spades nodded, getting up to clean the dishes. “Alright, why don’t you go pick up the stuff you took to the scripting room that’s all over the couch and we’ll let Eren figure out a few things, okay? But let him sleep tomorrow, I gotta go in early, just so you know.” She told him, looking back to their plates, continuing to do the dishes. I can’t believe we ate this late… But I didn’t want to wake them up… It’s like 10:30 already… Geez.

Lathe nodded, standing and going to pick up in the Scripting room, hanging the quilt on the banister to go back upstairs and putting all the pillows back in place. He turned off the TV, bringing his plate from lunch back into the kitchen, smirking as he set the dish in the sink, his hand resting on Spades’ waist and pressing up behind her. “Thanks for taking care of the both of us today… you’re really wonderful.” Lathe pressed light kisses to her neck, smiling as she blushed. You’re adorable. And the best fiancée I ever could ask for.

Spades chuckled a bit at his statement. “Well, I know that I would much rather have the both of you well, and taken care of, so I figured it was the least I could do for the both of you… Are you gonna go in to work tomorrow? Now that we know Eren can be left alone?” I hope you’ll be able to do something other than brood over a PTSD medication.

Lathe hummed in assent, his arms winding around her middle. “The school won’t stop bugging me about it, I’ve gotten emails from some teachers saying they want to have their free periods back instead of trying to teach math they forgot years ago… I really should. And I’ve been doing nothing but fussing over too many chemical formulas for days… I need something besides that to occupy myself with.” He lightly nipped at her neck. “Eren’ll be fine home by himself. He can walk around and get snacks and stuff, so he’ll definitely live. And depending on who’s out tomorrow I might even be home early. He’ll be okay.” He knows how to survive- he’s eighteen, for God’s sake.

She nodded, finishing up with the dishes and turning around in his arms, wrapping her own around his shoulders loosely. “Okay… Well, why don’t you make sure that he took his pill and I’ll go upstairs and get ready for bed, okay?” She stood on her tip toes so that she could reach his nose, giving it a small peck with a large smile on her face. I will never get tired of doing that.

Lathe blushed, smiling as he let her go, moving over to Eren’s nest. He was about to speak but stopped as he saw Eren asleep, clutching the bottle of sedatives to his chest, his breathing even. ...I’ll take that as you took your meds already. Lathe smiled warmly, reaching down to gently pry the bottle from his grasp, setting it on the nearby tray and pressing a kiss to his forehead before standing, shutting off most of the lights and following Spades upstairs. ...I’m never going to get tired of having you two with me.

Eren waited a few hours to make sure that everyone was asleep before he slowly got out of his nest. His steps were quiet with practiced ease over the hardwood flooring, heading towards the stairs and quietly ascending them. He made it to his room without waking anyone, closing the door quietly. Eren started to grab a bunch of clothes and put them in a large backpack that Lathe had gotten him for traveling on the train. This’ll work for awhile I guess… I can always just stay at that house… It can’t hurt… And I think there’s clothes there too… Eren packed up a few other things that he would need for a few days before he found where he would permanently be staying. I can figure that out later… They’ll want me out of here… He finished up making his backpack full of things, bringing along a blanket and silently creeping down the stairs. Food. They won’t notice that the apples are gone… Or some bread… Eren was quiet in the kitchen as he packed some food into that giant backpack and then remembered his medication, fitting those bottles into the bag as well. I think that’s everything I need… Eren set his bag down gently before he started to rearrange the pillows and blankets in his nest and made it look like he was still sleeping on top of the makeshift bed. That’ll work… They’ll never know I was gone… I doubt they’ll actually check though, they don’t want me… Eren sighed quietly as he took the house key off of his key chain and set it down on the counter. I don’t need this anymore… And I can come get the car later… Eren made sure everything was in order before slipping out of the house without anyone hearing him at all. I need to get away.

Lathe cracked open his eyes as he heard his alarm on his phone go off, smacking his hand on the side table to find it and shut it off. He looked over to the other half of the bed, finding it empty and long since cold. Spades is long gone- she must've had to get up really early. Lathe kicked off the blanket and got up, dressing and padding downstairs with his laptop bag in hand, smiling as he saw Eren’s nest and trying to be quiet as he made coffee and typed at the kitchen table, going through his emails over a bowl of cereal. I don't want Eren to wake up- God knows he needs his rest. Lathe got up from the table a little before seven, washing his dishes and packing up his things. He slid on his shoes, having left a post-it on the table near the door: ‘Gone to work- don't worry! There’s food in the fridge. Be home soon! -Lathe’. He shut the door quietly behind him, driving to the school.

Classes seemed to pass quickly, only having to take over science classes for the first half of the day. He was home a little after noon, having stayed for an extra hour to help grade tests, opening the door and nearly tripping over Blake as he tried to step inside. “Hey Blake- what’re you doin’ trying to get me?” He started to close the door behind him, looking up to Eren’s nest, his brow furrowed as he saw it hadn't shifted at all since that morning. ...wait. Lathe looked down as Blake pawed at his leg and whined, quickly walking over to the makeshift bed, worried. “Hey, Eren-” Lathe went to gently shake Eren’s shoulder, only to find little resistance. He brought back the quilt, revealing nothing except a pile of pillows. ...he’s gone. And he’s been gone. Lathe looked out the window as he heard a particularly loud clap of thunder, the rain that had been steadily coming down all day still pelting the windows. He’s outside… and his raincoat is still by the door. ...oh this is bad. This is very very bad. Lathe immediately took out his cell phone, holding a button and automatically dialing up Spades. He didn’t have to wait long for her to answer, not letting her even get in a greeting edgewise before he spoke. “Spades, you need to send out a missing person’s patrol. Eren’s been gone since six this morning, and I just realized when I got home now. He must’ve left sometime during the night, and it’s pouring, and he doesn’t have Blake.” ...where the hell is he.

Spades’ eyes widened as she heard the words that came out of his mouth. Gone? He’s gone? Spades dropped her pen, grabbing the dispatch box, clicking a few numbers. “Dave?”

“Yeah?”
“You remember what Eren looks like, right?” Please tell me you do.

“He’s gone, the last time we saw him was last night at our house, around 10:30ish… He doesn’t have his service dog… and it’s been pouring out all day. He’s not in the house, I can’t report it for almost another day and a half, and it’s too cold out for him to be soaked, so start looking for him, but only you, got it?”

“Yeah, Over and out, I’ll be on the search.”

Spades sighed softly, putting her ear back to her cell phone. “Lathe, Dave’s going to look for him right now… but I can’t do anything other than that… it hasn’t been 48 hours yet, if I were you I would start looking around for him, take Blake with you… we have no idea what mental state he’s gonna be in after this… and make sure you take some dry clothes with you… text people and see if they’ve seen him anywhere…. But for right now, the law says I can’t do anything because he’s not considered a minor anymore. I’m really sorry I can’t do anything else Lathe.” I can’t even go out to look for my own step-son… I need to stay and do all the paperwork I didn’t do yesterday…. I can trust that Dave will help as much as he can. He needs to come back home… Home… the house key. “Lathe… did you leave out a duplicate key on the counter last night?” Please… PLEASE… PLEASE tell me that Eren did not leave his key and then run. Why would he run in the first place?

Lathe could only stare out the window at the street, trying to process everything. “…no, I didn't. Why… he left it. He didn't plan on coming back.” does he not want to? “Why would he just leave like that… you know, right now, it doesn't matter. I need to grab stuff, send out a mass text, and get out looking. We’ll call each other if anything turns up, okay?” Lathe started for the stairs, going to get dry clothes together and packing a blanket as well in a spare white messenger bag. If he got soaked- which he did, there’s no denying it at this point- he’s got to be freezing. He’s probably going to get hypothermia out there… or at least a terrible flu…

Spades nodded, trying not to let emotions overwhelm her. “Yeah, I’ll keep you posted if anything comes up.” She hung up, trying to go back to work, and finding it hard enough to do anything at all. This sucks… where the hell is he?

Group Text Created: HELP THINGS ARE HAPPENING

LQ: I've created this group text of all the people in my phone that don't live miles away for this purpose
LQ: EREN HAS GONE MISSING AND IT'S RAINING AND HE DOESN'T HAVE BLAKE

LQ: BUT HE’S TECHNICALLY AN ADULT SO SPADES CAN’T CALL IN A SEARCH THINGY

LQ: So I'm going around looking and if you see him please please PLEASE stop him and call me CP: Does he have Blake with him? If he doesn’t I think I might have saw him earlier this morning.

LQ: READ YE MINE WORDS

LQ: BLAKE IS WITH ME IN THE CAR AS WE’RE DRIVING AROUND SUPER SLOW LOOKING

LQ: AND WHEN THE FUCK WAS THAT

CP: At around like 8...ish, I think, I didn’t think it was him, cause he didn’t have Blake, but that was definitely him, and he looked like a drowned rat. Shit, I wish I would’ve stopped him, but when he walked away I didn’t think it was him...
LQ:...that's kinda understandable but still DAMMIT

LQ: Let's just hope he hasn't collapsed somewhere or been abducted

LQ: Don't say that shit isn't gonna happen because it's so unlikely it's my job to worry about Eren becoming another statistic

LQ: Btw hi I'm driving past your pharmacy thing now

CP: STOP DAMMIT!

LQ: FIIIIINE

It wasn't a minute later that Lathe pretty much kicked open the door of the pharmacy, closing his umbrella as Blake shook himself off in the doorway. He walked up to the counter, just giving Casper a done stare and leaning his elbows on the hard surface. “What.”

Casper sighed as he looked at Lathe. “He was wearing a black hoodie, and darkwash jeans… he had sneakers on… And he had a huge backpack that looked bigger than him on.” Casper took in a shaky breath. “He was walking that way down the street.” His hand pointed the way Lathe was going, and away from the town center. He was going away from everything... He could be anywhere... it’s nothing but woods that way after awhile.

Lathe glanced over his shoulder the way Casper pointed, nodding. “Okay…” He dropped his head onto his arms for a moment, taking a deep breath before lifting his head again. “You let me know if you see or hear anything, okay Pandreivitch?” He could be anywhere by now… but we’ll find him. We will.

“Yeah, I will, don’t worry… Or should I say don’t stress so much?” He asked quietly, going back to the pills he was counting. “When I close up.. I’ll help you look if you haven’t found him.” I will promise that.

“Thanks… and about stressing about it, I can't promise anything.” Lathe shrugged, pushing himself off of the counter. “I'll see you later.” We've got a long day ahead of us. Lathe led Blake back to the car, starting their drive again.

AA: Why the heck am I in this group chat?

AA: OH! That’s why…

AA: Come pick up the drowned rat… he’s walking by my house… heading to his old house…

LQ: ARMIN IF YOU WEREN'T EREN'S COMPETITION FOR VALEDICTORIAN I'D CHANGE ALL YOUR GRADES TO A'S

LQ: ALSO I REGRET THAT THAT'S ILLEGAL BUT YAY I'M ON MY WAY

Lathe immediately stood from where he had stopped in a cafe for a snack, leading Blake to the car and heading for Armin’s, waving to the blonde visible in the window as he passed and continuing on to where Eren’s old house once stood, soon coming upon it and parking in the gravel patch that used to be a driveway, getting out with his umbrella. He slowly approached Eren, sitting on the concrete black that was the front step, staring at the freshly planted patch of grass covering the concrete-filled basement. He held the umbrella over him, kneeling next to him and pulling him close with one arm, his head dropping against his shoulder. “Eren… I'm so glad we found you…” Lathe looked up as a violent shiver ran through Eren, snapping out of his moment of relief seeing how soaked and freezing he was. ...well shit. “Eren, we need to get you home. Come on.” Lathe took the bag Eren had set next to him, slinging it over his shoulder and pulling on his arm to get him to stand, only for Eren not to budge. ...you're really making me do this? Lathe closed his umbrella and shoved it in the bag, reaching under Eren and heaving him up into his arms, heavy with all the water his clothes had soaked up, dead weight against him. He somehow managed to get the car door open, setting Eren inside and letting Blake lick at his cold cheeks while he started the car, setting the heat on as high as it would go and getting them home quickly. He didn't care about any of their bags at that moment as he carried Eren inside, kicking the door shut. What would be the fastest way to get you warmed up… Lathe started for the upstairs, maneuvering the bathroom door open and setting Eren on the toilet, starting a hot bath. He turned back to help Eren get out of his soaked clothes, only to find him gone. ....NOT AGAIN! Lathe walked out of the bathroom and caught sight of Eren halfway down the stairs, snatching him by the scruff of his neck at the landing to stop him. “Eren, you're not going anywhere. Come on, don't make this difficult.” Lathe swept Eren into his arms again, bringing him right back upstairs and sitting him down again, tugging at his hoodie. He found it difficult, not only with the fabric clinging to him because it was soaked, but also because Eren didn't move to help him at all; if anything, he purposefully resisted. “Eren, you're a human popsicle right now. You're already going to be horrendously sick when this is over—don't make it more of a struggle, please. If you don't I'm just making sure you don't have your phone and setting you in.” I only care about you not having hypothermia.

Eren just shook his head, not meeting Lathe’s eyes as he started to strip himself out of his clothes, not even caring that Lathe was in the room, and stripped completely, stepping into the very warm water and sitting right down, not caring that his skin was screaming. Why did he need to get me… I'm not supposed to fucking be here… What the hell? I left the key here… this isn’t my home anymore.

Lathe looked away, surprised as Eren completely stripped. ... uhm… Lathe waited until he could hear that Eren was in the water until he turned around, quickly snatching a bottle of bubble bath from under the sink as the faucet still ran, grateful the bubbles quickly covered the surface of the water. He stopped it running after a moment, rolling up his sleeves and reaching for a washcloth.

“Eren… why’d you do it?” Lathe sighed, his voice sounding broken and weary. ...do you not want to live here anymore? ...am I not doing a good enough job as a parent? It’s that, isn't it. I must suck as a Dad. I've been trying really hard... and it’s no good, is it...

Eren looked up to Lathe with defeated eyes. “Why’d you come get me?.... You guys don’t want me anymore…” Eren sat there, looking down at the bubbles after that. “I’m just a burden, all you do is worry about me… It would be better if I left, wouldn’t it? And I didn’t want you to kick me out… Mom wouldn’t want me to stay here anymore… so I figured I could go back to my old house… but… it’s not there…… anymore.” Eren’s voice got progressively smaller as he spoke, he curled up to himself, but let Lathe rub the warm washcloth against his skin.

Lathe helped the warm water run over Eren’s shoulders and hair, reaching for the shampoo. “Eren, Spades and I love you. We don't see you as a burden, no we weren't planning on kicking you out at all. And of course we worry- we’re your parents. It’s our job. Eren, you’re more than welcome to stay with us for as long as you want. Honestly, if you ever did want to move out, I'd probably be clinging to your leg until the end, begging you to stay. ...I don't really know what I'd do if I didn't have you around. You're my son. ...and that means I care about you. A lot.” I give many, many shits about you and what goes down in your life. I want you to be happy, to succeed... and if I suddenly no longer had to do the things I did to make you happy, to help you go where you wanted to... I don't know what I'd do with myself.

“Won’t I just be getting in the way? You guys are getting married… why would you want me around still? Won’t you just want your own kids?.... And when you have your own kids…. I’ll just become something that you can just throw away so that you can focus on your own children…I didn’t want that to happen all over again!” Eren jumped back a bit as he shouted at Lathe, scaring himself from how loud he was. Shit... I didn’t mean to shout. Eren dropped his head in shame as he started to cry, all his emotions just overpowering him, and making him sob.
Lathe’s eyes widened as Eren shouted, his expression full of sympathy as he started to shampoo his hair, hoping it would help calm him as he spoke, pecking his temple after a moment. “Eren, I know it’s hard for you to believe it… you wanted to leave before we made you… but Eren, we never were going to make you leave. Spades and I are getting married, but that doesn’t mean that suddenly there’ll be no time for you. Us having any kids doesn’t mean that you suddenly become less important. Anything that happens doesn’t make you anything less than my son, and I love you to bits and I just hope you can understand that at least a little, that I don’t want you to leave. I’d much rather hold onto you and not let go.”…you’re always going to mean a hell of a lot to me.

Eren looked up to Lathe, meeting his eyes for a long time, not pulling away from their intense gaze. “You… Y-you don’t want me t-to go?” Eren asked quietly, starting to calm down as Lathe’s words started to sink in a bit more. They don’t want me to leave? That actually want me? I don’t have to leave?

“Absolutely not. This is your home- and you're always welcome here. You're family. And I really want you to stay, for what I hope will be a long time still. I'd hate to see you go.” If I so much as heard you think about leaving, I'd beg you to stay. I really don't want to let go of you… at least for quite a while...

Eren let his tears fall freely, moving closer towards Lathe, as if his presence would help him get warm. I can stay… and they won’t make me go away… Eren’s tears now were for a completely different reason, having finally figured out what ‘being wanted’ felt like. He had been so afraid that Lathe would throw him away at some point, that he had never felt truly at home in this house. But here he sat, finally realizing where his home was. … I’m home… I’ve finally found a real home.

Lathe smiled, rubbing his eye with his arm, sniffling. “Come on kid, now you’re gonna make me cry.” Lathe rinsed out Eren’s hair, pressing a kiss to his forehead after the soap was rinsed away. “Do you still feel cold?” Lathe felt Eren’s hand, his other feeling his shoulder. “… I think that for the most part did it… let’s get you dried off and in warm clothes, okay?” Lathe pulled the plug for the bathtub, turning away and handing Eren a towel. He draped another over his shoulders after Eren had wrapped his waist, gently nudging him to his room. “Get dressed in something warm and head downstairs- I’ll make you something to eat after I get our stuff from the car, okay?” I need to tell people that we found you too...

Eren nodded, going into his room and pulling out his boxers, two sweatpants and two sweatshirts and slipping everything on. He smiled to himself happily, feeling like he was on cloud nine for the first time in years. I have a home.

Lathe brought everything into the house, going to throw all the wet clothes Eren had in his pack in the dryer, going into the kitchen and seeing Eren come into the piano room, having stolen one of his quilts and looking happy. He beamed, going to give him a hug, just holding onto him for a long moment. This is your home. I really hope you stay awhile. “Now, because you can have real food now…” Lathe pulled back, his eyes shining. “What do you want for lunch?”

Eren grew flustered at Lathe’s words. What do I want? But it’s never really about me…. “Um…. Can…. can we have french toast?” Eren asked quietly, looking down and shuffling his feet a bit. I don’t know what I’m allowed to do… Dad said I can eat and walk around now... but am I allowed to do the laundry and cleaning now? I wanna do it…

Lathe nodded, his smile warm. “Do you want to help? Or do you just want to chill?” French toast is a good choice- I haven’t made it in awhile.

Eren thought about it for a second, before a small grin formed on his face. “Can I help?” I wanna know how to make it. You haven’t taught me yet.

“Of course!” Lathe looked down as his phone buzzed. “Oh my- hold on, people don't know you're okay yet.” Lathe took out his phone, typing quickly.

LQ: Armin was the real MVP and now I have Eren home

LQ: He’s just chilling right now we’re all good

CP: Oh thank God! Go Armin! WOOO!!!

AA: Will you tell him to get his butt back in school? I miss him! I need someone to tell nerdy jokes too, and lunch is boring without him!

Eren watched as Lathe’s phone buzzed. “You told people I was missing?” Eren asked quietly to him, looking as if he wanted to see what was being said, but still too timid to actually do that with Lathe.

Lathe looked up from his phone to him with his eyes a bit wide. “Of course- you had me worried sick. Y’know what, here. Might as well read the whole group chat.” Lathe scrolled to the top and handed his phone to Eren. “And after you read that, I've got to call Spades up, tell her she doesn't have to keep whoever it is she has looking on watch anymore. And of course, she’d probably want to hear that you're okay from you .”

Eren took the phone carefully and scrolled through the conversation pretty quickly, though he seemed to shrink when Lathe told him. “D-Do I have to talk to M-mom?” Eren stuttered out of nervousness, carefully holding the phone back to Lathe. I’m scared of what she’ll say to me… What if she doesn’t want me...
Lathe took his phone back, pausing for a moment. “...Eren, you don't have to, but I think you should talk to her at least a little. Here, how about we put the phone on speaker, and we all talk together? Would that be okay?” Spades has got to be worried sick right now...

Eren looked down at his bare feet and nodded, just staring at his toes, so unsure of what he would say, or how she would react to anything at all. I don’t want her to hate me... I want her to let me stay.

Lathe gently pulled Eren to the couch, settling him on his lap and setting his phone on the coffee table, on speaker and speed dialing Spades. “Hey Spades- I have some good news.” Lathe gently nudged Eren to speak. You need to tell her you’re okay. She really needs to hear it from you...

“What am I supposed to say?” Eren asked in complete confusion. What the hell am I actually supposed to tell mom so that she doesn’t hate me? I don’t want her to be mad at me... I just... I didn’t want to get hurt again.

Is that... IT IS! “Oh my god... Eren you’re okay!” Spades’ voice rang with happiness when she heard Eren talk on the other end. Oh thank god.

“I kinda called in help- Armin saw him wandering around. He’s warm, we’re going to get some food in him, and we’ve reached an understanding. It’s all alright for right now.” ...anything besides that to say?

Spades seemed to sigh in relief. “Okay... I won’t be home until late, so I’ll eat when I get home, don’t wait for me... it’ll be way too late for that.” There was a pause at her end, and a few mumbled words. “Alright, I need to go... I’ll be home when I can, I love you both.” She murmured before she hung up.

Eren watched the phone, not necessarily sure what the hell he was supposed to say after that. Mom loves me too?

“We love you too.” Lathe did. He reached over as the call ended, pocketing his phone. “Eren, she didn't yell at you. She was worried. And you'll have plenty of time to talk to her later, probably tomorrow when you're both not exhausted.” Lathe nudged Eren to his feet. “Come on, let’s make us some French Toast, okay?” Food sounds good right around now.
Eren followed after without much prodding. “Okay, that sounds good.” Eren’s voice seemed to even out a bit as he calmed down around Lathe. His eyes were wide as he watched Lathe move around to gather all the supplies they needed.

Lathe set out their ingredients, finding the bread, eggs, milk, cinnamon and nutmeg, also fetching a bowl for them to mix everything in. He went to the pegs on the wall, taking down his own apron as well as Eren’s, tying his deftly before helping Eren with his, tying it in a neat bow. “Alright. Here’s how French toast works—” Lathe got out a bowl, two forks, and pan and a spatula while he spoke. “We mix some eggs and milk in this bowl with a fork, soak the bread in it and then drop them in the pan and sprinkle cinnamon and nutmeg on top while they cook. Will you do me the honor—” Lathe held out a fork to Eren reverently, looking completely serious. “—of doing the mixing?” ...It’s quite the important job. But I’m sure you’re up to the task.

Eren watched Lathe move around the kitchen with practiced ease, nodding as he was handed the fork. He kept his eyes glued to the bowl as he mixed it, letting Lathe move around him to get the pan ready for the French toast. This should be good.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren lifted himself up into a sitting position, focusing on the movie that was playing on the TV. I wonder if he’ll answer it… I don’t remember who’s ringtone that is...

Lathe quirked an eyebrow, his hand falling from petting Eren’s mop of hair to dig his phone from his pocket, pausing the movie and answering it. “Yo. What’s up, Nate?” ...you never call me…?

Nate’s worried voice came from the other end. “Hey… I was just wondering if Eren’s alright? He hasn’t posted anything recently, and I got worried ‘cause it’s been like 3 weeks already.” I’m really worried about him.

“...Nate, check Twitter. It'll explain everything.” I wrote a whole thing on it!

“That’s the problem! Eren hasn’t posted anything on Twitter!”

“Not his, mine! It’ll be up there.”
“I… I didn't know you have one.”

Lathe pinched the bridge of his nose, sighing. “…well Nate, now you know it's a thing. Here, my username is- all one word, by the way- coffeegodsAutonomous. Can you handle that?”

“Autonomous? Was that the last one?” He asked, writing it down on a sheet of paper.

“That's the one. Read all the status updates- and there should be a new photo up too.” Because of course photos.

Nate put his phone on speaker, looking up the Twitter feed, quietly mumbling it to himself as he read it. “So… You broke his ribs… He’s not allowed to sing… Okay… Well that’s a thing… And stuck to a bed for a bit… God that had to suck… Is he okay now? Like how bad were the breaks?” Nate’s worry reflected in his voice.

“Honestly, the breaks were awful, his entire ribcage was kinda in pieces… but apparently Eren is capable of sorcery and they've grown back together. At this point he’s just got to really take it easy, so we're not letting him do anything strenuous. And that’s going to include singing until we get the all-clear from the Doc. But he’s fine- he’s just been chillin. He’ll go back to school soon, which is good, he’s been antsy lately. Oh hush, you’ve been fretting about school and grades and getting frustrated because you do all your homework the second you get it. You know it's true.” He spoke to Eren as he shot him a look. “We’re waiting until Monday, so he’ll have the weekend to get his bearings back.”

“That’s good… How’s he doing without Levi?” I’m like a protective older brother… Geez. I really want to know…

“He’s been okay. I don't think it’s as hard anymore for him- it’s the way it is, though he calls often enough. Doesn't mean we don't still miss him. But it’s a little easier.” Still though, of course we both miss him, though Eren does a lot more… but he’s been taking it well enough.

Nate nodded in understanding. “Alright, well, keep me updated on things, and also have you guys listened to the radio recently? I swear it’s all his songs, and that's all Twitter talks about now… It’s going really well.” I’m proud of him, really proud.

Lathe chuckled. “I know, I get in the car to drive to work and the first thing I hear on the radio is one of his songs. It really is amazing everything that's happened. And yeah, I'll keep you in the loop. I'll send you all the Snapchats you could possibly want.” He grinned. "probably more than you would ever want… or that society deems acceptable…

Nate chuckled a bit. “Alright, I’ll make sure to check every few hours for all the snaps…. Okay, well that’s what I wanted to call about, so I guess I’ll talk to you guys later.” I’m going to assume that every 20 minutes you’ll send me snapchats…

“Alright Nate. Bye.” Lathe pressed a button to end the call, turning to Eren and smiling. “Nate says hi. He wanted to know if you were doing okay.” He held up his phone. “Wanna send him a Snapchat and let him know?” …I did explain Snapchat to you… right?

Eren thought about it and nodded. “Yeah… That’s okay.” Nate was worried about me too.. Well then.

Lathe grinned, opening the app. He shifted a bit, holding up the phone and smiling at the camera, making sure you could still see Eren’s faint smile as he peeked out from his cocoon of blankets before he took the picture. “What should we caption it? Hm… important decisions… eh, let’s be simple about it. ‘The hooman is no longer dying and says hi!’ That good?” Lathe showed Eren the screen.

Eren looked over it, peeking out of the blankets a little more before nodding. He settled back down, laying his head on Lathe’s lap again. Eren let out a soft whine and nuzzled his head against his leg. I want you to rub my head again.

Lathe sent the Snap, rolling his eyes good naturedly and putting his phone away on silent, starting the movie again and threading his fingers through Eren’s hair again, carding through his long locks. You're too adorable sometimes.

Eren’s breathing evened out after only a few minutes, though Blake was by his side instantly, watching him intently, and staring at him, like he did so many times when Eren was asleep.

Blake looked to Eren pinning his ears in agitation. My human is panicking…how do I help? I can’t get on his chest can I?

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at Blake, reaching his free hand over to pet him. “Eren’s fine, Blake. Don't worry. I'm here in case anything goes wrong.” Your human is safe.
Blake began whining, quite loudly, his head switching between Eren’s face and Lathe’s face. My human is panicking! Can’t you tell? He needs help! Blake moved to lick Eren’s face as his brow started to furrow, the first sign of his progressively worsening nightmares.

... oh yeah. Eren still needs his meds to sleep. Lathe gently shook Eren by the shoulder, waking him up before his nightmares could get too bad. “Eren, hon, wake up. You can't sleep off you don't take your meds.” I forgot about that- good catch, Blake.

Eren’s eyes snapped open as he was shaken awake. What…? What happened? I was… I was… Starting to drown… “Sorry.” Eren murmured moving to shift from Lathe’s lap. … I’m hella tired though.

Lathe rested a gentle hand on Eren’s shoulder, not wanting him to be uprooted from the couch. “If you really are tired, we can let you get to sleep. God knows it's been a really long day. It’s up to you though.” Too much has gone down.

Eren nodded, reaching to rub at his eyes as his mouth opened wide in a loud yawn. “I’m sorry… I’m exhausted, can I got to bed?” I want you to hold me until I fall asleep.

Lathe nodded. “Of course, kid. Come here,” Lathe stepped down from the couch, gathering Eren up in his arms blankets and all and carried him back to his nest, setting him down and leaving only for a moment to get a glass of water and his pills, settling down next to him and handing him the small white pill. “You know the drill.” Lathe gave him the glass, making sure he had a good grip on it before letting go. He set it on the tray after, shrugging and laying down, pulling Eren on top of him and running his through his brunette locks.

Eren was asleep after only a few moments, his body going slack in Lathe’s arms. I’m tired…

Lathe was tempted to fall asleep as well, though he tried to wake himself up after a few minutes. Come on, you should probably make food for when Spades gets home. Lathe carefully manoeuvred out from under Eren, tucking him in and pressing a kiss to his temple before padding to the kitchen to make dinner for the two of them.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

It’s been a really long two weeks. Lathe walked through the quiet halls two minutes late for his first period class, cradling his precious scarf-wrapped cargo gently against his chest. *Eren hasn't been able to sit still or just not do work. Even though we moved all the chores between Spades and I (mostly me though) on the list, Eren still tried to do the laundry. ...and do the dishes. And vacuum upstairs. ...okay, he cleaned the whole damn house while I was at work and we had to handcuff him to the table so he wouldn't go do shit. ...which is weird, given that normally I think you have to force teenagers to do the chores in the first place... but eh. The handcuffs got the point across. I've been trying to really include him in decision making and random stuff around the house, sort of making sure he understands he has a say in the household goings on. Armin actually came by over the weekend, wanted to make sure he was doing okay. That kid really is a godsend. ...is it really only two weeks until Thanksgiving? I thought we had more time... well, it's alright. Levi’s coming home in a week, and so it’ll be the four of us for Thanksgiving this year. That reminds me, I- I mean we need to plan the feast. Lathe finally reached the physics room, backing into the door to open it, not wanting to potentially harm his cargo. He didn't even greet the class or give them a chance to react to his entrance, finding Eren with his eyes and stating decidedly. “Eren, we're keeping him. I don't care what you say, and I don't care that Blake might not like it. We're keeping him.”

Eren picked up his head from the desk, looking up in confusion. “We’re keeping wh-” His voice died down as a small black kitten popped his head out of the green bundle of Lathe's scarf, a collective “awe” sounding around the room. "Oh my god.. Yes!

Lathe smiled as the class gave the kitten their full attention, speaking. “Class, as you may have noticed, we have a shadow with us today.” He set the bundle on the cleared front desk, taking off his messenger bag. “Anything you’d like to say to the class?” Lathe sat on the desk, looking to the kitten. It looked back up at him, giving him a tiny mew and looking back at the class as another awe sounded. Lathe addressed the room, smiling. “Don't worry, I speak cat.” He reached over to pet the kitten with his finger behind the ears and under the chin. “His name is Salem, he’s about six weeks old, former tenant of the parking lot and current resident of my scarf. He enjoys tuna sandwiches and trying to climb up my sweater.” And he's adorable as fuck. “Now you just chill while I teach these impressionable young people about physics in a way that will inevitably scar them for life, which is what this entire class ready is about, m’kay?” He just beamed as the small kitten started back up at him innocently, mewing and pawing at the warm fabric around him. He turned back to the class, beginning his speech about the differences in velocities on the x and y axis. He continued on as Salem shortly clambered out from the scarf, pawing at his wrist and trying to climb up his arm. He simply moved his scarf under his arm as a safety cushion, his arm near the middle of the desk as he kept going. “...and so the object will continue moving horizontally at the same velocity unless there is some sort of resistance, no matter what the vertical velocity may be…” It didn't take a genius to realize that even Armin had stopped taking notes, all eyes on the kitten halfway up his sleeve. ...you could totally mess with them right now. “...take this for an example: McDonalds. Let’s say that at around one in the morning while working the graveyard shift you attempt to give some random lady the chicken nuggets she obviously ordered which she soon finds inadequate for some reason, and perhaps throws the package of nuggets at the cashier who took her order. The nuggets would move at a horizontal velocity that is decreasing inconsequentially with wind resistance until making contact with the employee, resulting in the package to slow to a stop and then bounce off, as well as resulting in an assault charge and a fine or prison time, perhaps on multiple counts if they played their card right and had each individual nugget count as a separate weapon… and Armin, the answer would be…?”
Armin suddenly looked up to him, with a deer-in-headlights expression. “U-uhm…” I wasn’t paying any attention… oh no… uhm...

“Yes, that is correct, the answer is the terrorists would win.” Lathe deadpanned to him, looking over the class with a judgemental stare. “Nobody noticed my tangent, huh.” ...it’s literally just a sea of guilty people. Lathe looked over as he felt something soft nudge his ear, picking up Salem gently. “...okay, this kitten is being rather distracting. Here.” He carefully placed him on his head, the kitten getting a good hold on his thick hair. “Now I'm wearing him as a hat. Is that better?” Someone take a picture of this.

Eren instantly pulled out his phone and took a picture of the sight. Blake had stood up against the desk and had a stare down with the cat currently on Lathe’s head. Oh my god, we have a cat now… I wonder if Blake’s jealous?

Lathe beamed at the camera, looking to Blake and trying to keep his head steady all the same. “Blake, it’s a cat. I understand your first instinct is to chase away the cats, but we’re keeping this one. You're gonna have to deal. It doesn't mean we don't think you're awesome though.” He grinned. Jealous of my new hat?

Eren chuckled, petting Blake to calm him down a bit. It's okay, he'll be friendly… You two will become good friends. Eren looked up to Lathe again. “And technically would the answer be 20 years in prison and a $50,000 fine?” I'm pretty sure that's it if I remember it correctly.

Lathe gave him an impressed look after a few moments. “You could actually keep all that stuff Spades was talking about straight? Technically, that is… if the package had exactly five chicken nuggets in it. Which pretty much is your standard size of chicken nugget order, so. Yes.” ...niiterrrrrce.

Levi’s coming back home today. Lathe was driving home from the grocery store, listening to the radio and drumming his fingers against the steering wheel. I needed to get all the shopping done so I can cook us a real meal when he gets home- we really needed a lot, it’s been nearly two hours already I've been gone. Eren’s been fine with chilling at home by himself- though honestly, he’s been having Scotty and his colleagues for company more often... it really is weird that Eren’s chest was able to heal so insanely fast, and it is pretty miraculous that he apparently doesn't have osteoporosis anymore which is apparently a thing, but Scotty’s dragged at least four of them over at once to take notes and grill Eren with questions. I swear, they're going to assume it's what he's been eating, publish ten articles and then I'll get rich selling soup and telling people it'll make you immortal. On the subject of food… Levi’s coming home for Thanksgiving and it’s gonna be lit. ...or just entirely composed of me cooking things and then just chilling with Spades while we let Eren and Levi have their time to themselves doing I’m not going to ask. ...but literally Salem is the most adorable thing. He loves climbing all over me while I’m watching TV or something and he loves to sleep on my head- he’s the cat who’s a hat. And he’s great- he’s been trying to make nice with Blake, and he’ll nudge Blake when he’s laying down and try to curl up to him because he’s so tiny compared to him, and Blake just looks and him and seems to huff and let him. I swear though, Blake likes him at least a little. Lathe turned onto his street, furrowing his brow as his drive was full of cars, having to park a little ways down the street. The fuck? Who’s in my- Lathe recognized the red sedan near the front of his driveway, his expression darkening a bit. ...Scotty . Lathe marched up to his front door, quickly opening it just in time to see a colleague of his prod at Eren’s bare chest with the end of a pencil, others researching frantically on laptops and taking furious notes as Eren stuttered to answer some question, looking incredibly uncomfortable. Enough. Is. Enough. “YO!” Lathe shouted over their buzzing and keyboard-tapping, immediately grabbing their attention. “All of Scotty’s nerd friends- get the fuck out of my house.” I’m not letting Eren become some science experiment of yours.

“But…” Scotty picked up his head from his notebook, continuing to scrawl some notes on the paper. We’re not done yet though!

“No buts. This is my house, and if the nine of you don’t high-tail it, I won't call it being annoying, I'll call it trespassing. I've got the Police Commissioner for a fiancée. Out.”

“That’ll get you 6 months in jail… And your license will be revoked.” Eren off handedly mentioned it, moving to grab his shirt from the couch where it had been thrown. I remember mom told me about that. He watched as a majority of the men grumbled and started packing up to leave the premises.

Lathe held open the door for all of them with his foot, his arms crossed and glaring at them as they left, kicking it shut after the last of them and turning to Scotty. “You.” Lathe strode over to him in two quick steps, grabbing the front of his jacket and shaking him a bit as he spoke. “What the hell are you thinking? Eren is not your latest science experiment. I really hope you get that through that thick skull of yours. I agree, it’s pretty amazing that he was able to heal like he was, but that doesn't mean you get to endlessly poke and prod at him. Pack up, and don't bring any more of your lackeys with you to study Eren. You're done.” I'm so over this...

“But-” Scotty could barely get a word out before Lathe interrupted him yet again.

“No buts, Scotty. This investigation of yours is over.” Lathe glared at Scotty evenly.
“Gluteus Maximus!” Just because you said I couldn’t say it… I’ll rephrase it. “I’m not done getting notes from him though… There’s a Professor at Stanford that wants to look at his case.” That is legitimate.

Lathe stared at him hard for a moment, before he turned to look at Eren. “Eren, you're your own person. I legally can't speak for you. Do you really want to allow these people to look at your case?” I get the feeling you're going to say no. You kinda did just get fussed over incessantly by ten nerds probably asking questions that are waaay to personal or weird.

Eren looked up as Lathe spoke, picking his head up from his homework. His face was blank for a bit, his eyes darting from Lathe to Scotty and back to Lathe only to repeat the process multiple times. My case? Am I some sort of diseased human? Why do they need to test me… I don’t want people to know. Eren shook his head, looking down and trying to focus on his homework as Scotty whined.

“But... Eren…” Scotty stepped up to him poking at his shoulder. “If we know how your body did it we might be able to figure out how to fix other people.” I just need a few more blood tests...

Eren shook his head more, moving away from Scotty and farther down the couch, bringing his homework with him. “I don’t want anymore tests or needles! I still have a bruise from where you took blood from!” Absolutely not. No fuckin’ more!

“You drew blood? Did he agree to that?” How far did you take this?

“I asked!” Scotty defended himself instantly.

“I agreed to 1 vial… Not 6.” Eren countered, his tone a bit hostile. No more… I don’t want to be a test subject again… Absolutely not… It brings back way too many fucking memories… Shit… Blake was by Eren side in only a moment to whine and calm him down. I need to calm down before I panic.

Lathe’s expression darkened, stepping in between Eren and Scotty, staring him down with cold eyes. “Scotty, you have your answer, and ten seconds to get your shit out of this house and your car out of the driveway.” That crosses the line.

Scotty’s eyes widened a bit at Lathe’s obvious display of anger, quickly moving to gather his things and get out of the house. Well, he needs to come back for a check up anyways… So I guess I’ll get to see him again.

Eren’s eyes were wide as he tried to calm down by petting Blake who was still whining, trying to get Lathe’s attention as well. No… I… I can’t be another test subject. I can’t go through that a-fucking-gain.

Lathe immediately turned his attention back to Eren once Scotty had left, sitting down next to him on the couch and pulling him close, murmuring calmly into his ear. “Eren, it’s fine, you’re not going to have to go through all that crap. It’s alright, don’t worry about it. I’m not about to let anyone turn you into some science experiment. It’s okay.” Scotty better have a damn good apology for all this shit. My God, you’d think he forgot Eren is a human whose word means something. Lathe carded a hand through his hair, trying to calm him.

Eren shook in Lathe’s arms. “I don’t want to… I don’t want to be opened up again… I don’t want to be toyed with.” His grip tighten on Lathe’s shirt, moving into his lap and curling up to him. I don’t want Grisha to come back.

Lathe pulled Eren close, tucking his head under his chin. “I’m not going to let that happen… they can’t do that. We’re not going to let them force you to do anything you don’t want to. You’re the one in charge of what happens to you. Your word goes. I’ve got you…” …couldn’t Scotty lose his license for this…?

Eren nodded, curling up to him more. “Okay.. When he asked if he could take blood… I thought he meant one vial…But… He took so much… I was scared that he was trying to get me to pass out… And I was terrified… Terrified he was gonna drag me somewhere and cut me open… He’s huge… I can’t do anything against him.” Eren cried as he spoke to Lathe, opening up to him about his fears more than he ever had before. I trust you… You should know...

Scotty is taller than me… you don't really know him too well… and with everything Grisha did… oh my... ...fuck you, Scotty. Not cool. “It’s okay, he’s gone right now. We have to go back for your checkup, but if you really want we can ask for a different doctor. But if you were scared, you should’ve asked him to stop, or called or texted me to come home. But he’s not going to do this anymore- I won't let him. That checkup is in about a month- should we schedule it with someone else?” I can understand if you don't want Scotty to be your doctor anymore...

Eren shook his head. “I was scared he would hit me… I didn’t want him to hit me… I don’t know… I don't want him to do that anymore.” He cried and let Lathe card through his hair. “Can you do it?” Eren asked quietly, sniffling and attempting to calm down. Why can’t you do it...
...huh. “...I technically could… I don't have the x-ray machinery the doctors at the hospital have, which is what they'd use for your ribs, but honestly it’s not completely necessary at this point. It really was just a thing to make sure the healing process is going well, and it obviously has…. you really don't even need it. I'll send an email later asking both for the blood test results and for the appointment to be cancelled- rather strongly-worded, of course.” That checkup thing is a moot point, given that Scotty has been hovering over you for two weeks straight. “Oh, uhm… there are things in the car we can't have melting… help me carry stuff in?” I bought the good ice cream. Also there are frozen chicken nuggets out there.

Eren nodded, slowly starting to untangle himself from Lathe’s arms. I can help.. Eren got up from the couch, petting Blake to calm himself down for a few seconds. He made his way to the door, slipping on his boots and coat. I can help… I wonder when Levi’s gonna be home?

Lathe led him outside, pulling the car up from the street into the driveway and making sure to hand Eren the lighter bags, the two of them taking a few trips to get everything inside. “Alright, we need to get all this put away, and then I’ll be able to fix dinner so it can go in the oven when we get home from the airport. It’ll be about two hours until we can leave, okay?” Levi’s going to be home for… is it really two months? That's a long break. Not that either of us are complaining- Eren's always happier with Levi around. And I kinda miss his deadpan humor. I just never hear of a long break like that besides summer break. But I am a teacher, and he’s in training to be a marine. Distinct difference.

Eren nodded, helping shuffle everything out of bags, and onto the counter for Lathe to put away. He helped sort the fridge with the perishables, and made sure to restock the freezer with the frozen foods. A gasp sounded after Eren rifled through the last bag. “You got the dinosaur ones!” Eren excitedly squealed as he put the chicken nuggets in the freezer. He actually got them! Yay! I wonder if Levi would like them?

Lathe grinned, looking over his shoulder as he sorted through vegetables. “Well, they were on the list… therefore it was imperative we get them.” You were the one to write ‘the dinosaur kind’ next to chicken nuggets on the list I had going on the fridge- you have the ability to add stuff to it. Lathe quirked an eyebrow, a mischievous glint in his eye. “Unless I got the wrong kind of dinosaur ones… y’know, I don't know if those really were the right kind. I can take them back if you don’t want them…”

Eren hurriedly shook his head, blocking the freezer with his body. “No! It’s mine!” Eren instantly frowned, defensive over the frozen nuggets, leading him to adopt a weak fighting stance in front of the freezer door. Mine… You can’t do anything!

Lathe raised his hands in mock surrender, still smirking. “Hey hey hey, no need to get all threatening about it. I understand that as a result of your burning love for chicken shaped like their evolutionary ancestors, you are willing to beat me up, and I respect that. Mercy!” Lathe grinned.
Yay, my brand of humor is working with you!

Eren seemed to giggle a bit more at that statement. My chicken nuggets! I want Levi to come home, I wanna snuggle with him still. Eren moved out of his fighting stance, moving to go and hug Lathe from behind. “When’s Levi coming hoo~me?” He was getting impatient to a point where he was asking every 20 minutes. I want to snuggle with him! He kept his arms right around Lathe’s midsection, not wanting to let go of him until Levi came home.

Lathe had rolled up his sleeves, chopping vegetables and starting on a stuffing for the chicken. “A bit more than one and a half hours, kid. We've still got a while until we go get him.” Lathe looked back at Eren, seeing him stare up innocently at him over his shoulder. “You’re not letting go anytime soon, are you.” He chuckled as he shook his head, tilting his head back to peck his forehead. “Didn't think so.” Lathe continued to make the chicken, answering Eren every time he asked when Levi was going to be home with endless patience. He had just arranged the chicken to go on the stove, about to put plastic over the large frying pan so they could leave it out until they got home, when the doorbell rang. “Eren, hon, could you get that? My hands aren't exactly clean. ...and unless they're selling thin mints, tell all the salespeople no.” I want my thin mints. ...and those coconut cookie things. ...Dammit, it better be a Girl Scout now. The two in this neighborhood know I buy, like, $50 worth.

Eren groaned, reluctant to let go of Lathe, but opted to go get the door. He passed to the front door, opening it without interest. “Can I help- LEE~VIII!” Eren’s voice went from quiet to insanely loud in a matter of seconds before he instantly launched himself at Levi. He wrapped his arms and legs around Levi, not caring that he was much larger than the shorter man. He hummed in content as he held onto him, taking in his scent. I missed you...

Levi chuckled, catching Eren with ease. “Hey Brat. Missed me?” I know I missed you ... Levi held Eren firmly against him, turning to wave at Erwin who still sat in his car before carrying Eren inside, kicking the door shut. He leaned back against the door, nuzzling into Eren neck and lightly kissing his soft skin, relishing his scent. He tilted his head to meet Eren with a proper kiss, setting him back on his feet and pulling him close. Mine.

Eren tried not to let go of Levi as he kissed him. I missed you so fucking much. I don’t want you to ever leave me again. Eren pulled back only to breath, his arms still tightly wrapped around Levi’s shoulders and his head buried into the older’s neck.

Levi held onto Eren tightly, quiet for a long moment and just glad he was able to hold onto him. He sighed contentedly, looking up from his mop of brown hair to see Lathe smirking at him amusedly from the kitchen, chuckling as they made eye contact and just shaking his head, mouthing to him: ‘Welcome home.’ ...home. It's nice to be home. Levi shrugged off his backpack, leaving it next to the door and guiding Eren over to the in the Scripting room, laying down with Eren on top of him, wary of his ribs as he reclaimed his lips, tilting his head to deepen the kiss. I missed you...
Eren let Levi move him around, keeping his body pressed against him, basking in the happiness that he was home. Their first few kisses were very heated, Eren making sure they were French. I missed you so much. Eren pulled back for a breather, taking in a deep breath as he laid his head down on Levi’s chest, hearing his heartbeat.

Levi kept his arms wound around Eren, kissing him with just as much fervor, tangling their tongues together. He quietly painted as they broke for air, dropping his head back and tangling their legs, grounded with Eren’s weight on top of him. I missed this... They laid there for a long while, either making out or simply being content having the other to hold on to until Lathe called them for dinner.

I’ll let them have their own time for now. Lathe went back to the stove, starting again to cook and turning on the stove, cleaning the mess while the chicken simmered. It was a half hour before dinner was ready, and he set out plates, shouting across the house in their general direction. “Oi, Lovebirds! Dinner!” I’m not going over there and telling you.

...I get to eat actual food now. Levi smiled faintly at Lathe’s shout, rolling his eyes and gently nudging Eren, who still laid on his chest. “Eren, let’s go eat dinner. Come on.” I want food.

“Fo--od.” Eren grumble a bit and sat up, yawning as he stretched.

As he got off, Blake jumped up on top of Levi’s chest and began to lick his face wildly. My human’s human is home! He’s home! Blake’s tail wagged furiously, smacking Eren directly in the chest with each whack, but Eren didn’t seem to mind.

Levi sputtered as Blake licked his face enthusiastically, turning his head from the onslaught and trying to keep him away, sitting up and petting him. “Hey hey chill, I missed you too.” He wiped his mouth on his sleeve, scratching Blake behind the ear and noticing Blake’s tail whacking Eren’s chest, his eyes suddenly widening. “No no stop that! You’ll hurt his chest! He still has to heal! Off, come on.” Levi shifted and nudged Blake to hop off his lap, looking to Eren worriedly. “Are you okay? Did he hurt you?” We don’t want to make your broken ribs any worse...

Eren shook his head, a small smile on his face. He took Levi’s hand and gently put it on his chest. “Feel them...” I’m completely healed... I thought Lathe told you already?

Levi looked up to Eren uncertainly, wary of his ribs as he gently pressed with his hand, his expression changing to one of confusion. He brought up his other hand, gently pressing against every rib down his front. “...they're intact...” His voice was quiet. “How the hell are they intact? Bones don't grow like that!” That's just weird. ...what the hell has Lathe been feeding you?

Eren nodded. “We don’t really know how or why... But they are.” He pulled at Levi’s sleeve as he got up. “Come on... Food! And it’s Chicken!” Eren scampered off to the kitchen, Blake at his heels as they got closer to the food. FOOD!

Levi was a bit stunned as Eren dragged him to the kitchen. Bones don't grow that fast, though... The thought was pushed from his mind as he was met with the delicious smell of dinner, Lathe having just set down plates for him and Eren, a mug of tea waiting for the both of them.

Eren almost drooled as he sat down in his seat, instantly locking their heels together in happiness. Food! It didn’t take long for Eren to start stuffing his face.

Spades stepped through the door pulling her high heels off. “Lathe!? Why are there a bunch of 100% chocolate bars around here?! I thought you hated those... She walked into the kitchen seeing Levi, she smiled. “Oh Levi! You’re home! I thought you were gonna be another hour or so?” I thought I was going to have to pick you up.

“There are what now?” Lathe looked from Spades to Levi. “Did you bring home pretty much just pure cocoa in the shape of bars?”

Levi waved to Spades, before turning to Lathe, shrugging. “Yeah, pretty much. I've got a literal ton in my bag- as much as it could carry, really.” ...because reasons.

... He got me the chocolate!! Eren squealed with delight as he put his fork down. His bag’s gotta be full of them! Eren started to get up off his chair. I want chocolate!

Lathe followed Eren with wide eyes, setting down his fork. “Eren, if that’s pure chocolate, I assure you you're going to hate it if you just take a huge bite. You don't even eat regular chocolate!” ...this isn't going to end well...

Eren ignored him as he got to pick up a chocolate bar and took a small bite, a small groan sounding from the other room as he savored the cocoa’s taste. This is so much better than regular chocolate. Eren took the bar into the kitchen and took another bite. “...Hank.. Ou Lev...” Eren tried to say thank you with his mouth full of chocolate as he took another huge bite of the bar. It's so good.
Lathe just watched Eren with wide eyes. “...the fact you can just gobble that up scares me.” ...it's also pretty impressive... “...though I guess it makes sense given you hate sweet things.” Lathe turned as Spades walked behind his chair, catching her and pulling her down to his level to kiss her cheek. “And welcome home Hon.” Lathe chuckled as she blushed, letting her get a plate and looking back to Eren. “At least you don’t really have to worry about me getting into your stash any more than I have to worry about you getting into mine.” Our stashes are both relatively safe—though yours much more so because I can't think of anyone else who can eat pure cocoa like that.

Spades nodded, getting her plate together and sitting down at her seat. “Alright, enough of the cocoa, put it away, you can eat it after you finish your dinner.” I don’t need you to fill up on Chocolate.

Eren took another bite before he wrapped up the rest of the bar and set it on the counter, going to sit down in his spot. He leaned over to kiss Levi’s cheek. “Thank you, I like them a lot.” Eren murmured to him, sitting back and returning to his plate. I get to eat chocolate!

Levi blushed lightly, smiling to Eren faintly, replying quietly. “I’m glad you like them.” He tangled their legs again under the table, savoring Lathe’s cooking, the rest of dinner passing in comfortable quiet. When he finished his plate, he was about to stand to wash his dish when Lathe took it from him, heading to the sink with his own. Levi was about to protest when Lathe gave him a pointed look, nodding over to Eren. ...you’re awful. Levi glared at him for a moment, punching him in the arm half-heartedly. Dammit. Levi went to the counter, picking up Eren’s half-eaten chocolate bar and stepping around the table, leaning his arms on the back of Eren’s chair and leaning down to smoothly murmur in his ear. “You finished?”

Eren felt a shiver run down his spine as Levi’s deep voice graced his ears. Holy fuck... He nodded, getting up to give Lathe his plate. I wanna go downstairs...

Levi tugged Eren along with him the second Eren’s plate was no longer in his hands, mumbling a thank you to Lathe before his arm slipped around Eren’s middle, leading him to the Scripting room. He scooped up his backpack on the way, slinging it over his shoulder and opening the door to the basement, making sure it was closed completely behind them before descending the steps, dropping his bag when they reached the landing and turning to face Eren, his undivided attention on him as he pulled him flush against him, leading him slowly backwards to the bed, claiming his lips in a heated kiss. I really, really missed you...

Eren let Levi push him down, his arms wrapping around Levi’s shoulders and his legs going to wrap around his waist. I missed you... And I have a feeling I’m going to be spending the night awake... At least my homework’s done...
Levi quietly moaned into the kiss, relishing in the feeling of Eren clinging to him, breaking their kiss to let his mouth wander down his jaw, down his neck, nibbling lightly at his earlobe before trailing to the joint of his neck, licking and suckling at his skin. He licked across his collarbone, biting and leaving a dark mark where it could be easily hidden, licking it apologetically and lightly kissing to the other side of his neck. His hands moved from Eren’s chest, wandering over his sides, one going to teasingly trail up between his legs.

Eren gasped as Levi’s hands traveled up and down his sides. He continued to writhe and moan under those skilled hands. “Levi… Please… More… I want more…” Eren pleaded with him. His eyes became increasingly filled with lust at just small touches.

Levi looked up to him with shaded eyes, smirking against his skin. As you wish. Levi continued to kiss Eren’s neck, only breaking away tug Eren’s shirt off, his lips reconnecting with his chest, worshipping every inch of tan skin with licks and small marks as he unbuttoned his own jacket, tossing it off the bed and getting rid of his own shirt, revealing rippling muscle. His hands traced Eren’s body, playing with the hem of his pants, one hand slipping down to palm at his still-clothed hardening length.

Eren whimpered as Levi teased his growing tent. “Levi… Please, don’t tease me,” he whined, trying to thrust his hips up into Levi’s palm. I want more. I want to pleasure you too… Eren tried to reach over to Levi’s crotch to rub at his growing bulge as well. “You too.” His hands ended up running down Levi’s chest, feeling all the muscles as his fingers traced over them. I missed you… You look even more buff than I remember.

Levi quietly groaned at the friction, faintly shivering as Eren’s hands traced over his chest. He smirked as he kissed down Eren’s chest to the hem of his pants, unbuttoning them and dragging them down his legs and off the bed, his hands running up the insides of thighs and firmly pinning down his hips, teasingly pecking Eren’s length through his boxers before getting hold of the hem with his teeth, tugging them down and letting his length spring free. The boxers out of the way, he gently kissed up to Eren’s length, deciding to have mercy and licking a broad stripe up the underside of his length, taking the tip in his mouth and starting to bob his head, looking up at Eren with lust in his eyes.

Eren shuddered instantly, a soft cry of pleasure escaped his mouth. Holy crap, I didn’t think he’d ever do it again. Eren couldn’t contain the moans and gasps which followed after Levi started to bob his head. So good… Holy fuck.. Levi don’t stop! “Don’t stop… Please!”

Levi bobbed further and further down Eren’s length, humming in assent to Eren’s words, the vibration running through him. Levi fought the reflex to choke on his length, succeeding in taking in his entire length, his nose against Eren’s base. He moaned as Eren let out a loud cry, his tongue pressed flat against his length.

Eren’s hand slowly came up to grab at Levi’s hair, as if trying to pull him off. Too much... Too much! I can’t take that much pleasure! Stop! I’m gonna fucking cum... “L-Levi...” Eren could barely get a stutter out trying desperately not to cum and possibly choke Levi.

Levi slid up Eren’s length agonizingly slowly, though his mouth still remained on the head of his length, teasing his slit. “Hmm?” Go ahead- I want to taste you.

Eren’s eyes widened a bit at Levi’s actions. I’m not gonna be sleeping tonight... Nor walking right all of tomorrow... Eren only needed a few more licks until he was sent over the edge, his mouth opening, letting out a loud sound of complete and utter bliss. Holy fuck...

Levi swallowed Eren’s load, not letting a single drop escape and coming off of his length with a seductive pop, kissing up Eren’s chest to finally meet his lips, his hands gently tracing up to cup his cheeks. He broke their kiss after a long moment, quickly reaching over to the shelf next to the bed and snatching a small black tube from the shoebox, reclaiming his lips as he snapped open the cap, pouring some onto his fingers, his hand lightly running over Eren’s entrance. “Just relax, Eren, tell me when.” It’s been awhile- I don’t want to hurt you...

Eren nodded, spreading his legs a bit further to give Levi a better angle. I’m ready... he blushed as a thought crossed his mind about what he did for the past weeks or so. He’s gonna find out... Isn’t he?

Levi nestled into Eren’s neck, lapping at his skin as his first finger easily pushed past the ring of muscle, surprised and looking up to him with a hint of confusion. ...next to no resistance... After a second it clicked, and Levi smirked, whispering lowly into Eren’s ear. “Care to tell me what you've been… up to, while I was gone?” Now I have that image stuck in my head... that's pretty hot, actually.

Eren blushed as Levi brought up the thought to his mind again, hurriedly shaking his head. I don’t want that... I don’t want to say it, it's embarrassing. “Y-you know what I d-did....” He couldn’t help but stutter as he let Levi continue to finger him, the cool digits gracing the inside of his soft walls gently.

“I don't know... do I?” Levi slowly thrusted his fingers deeply inside of Eren, feeling up his soft walls as he spoke, a mischievous glint in his eye. “You'll just have to tell me, make sure I know...” I want to hear you say it.
Eren let out a squeak as Levi continually hit his sensitive spots within his warmth. Holy fuck… Is he really gonna make me say it. He sputtered, trying to get the right words out. You are evil. “I-I… Ngh… I did it… m-myself…” Please don’t make me say anymore.

Levi’s fingers brushed teasingly over his sensitive spots, nibbling his ear and murmuring smoothly. “Eren, I’m not sure I follow… what did you do?”

Eren tried to hide his face with his hands, as if trying to hide from Levi, even though he was out in the open. I feel so fucking exposed… And you’re acting like a perverted old man! “N-no… I don’t wanna… Agh! … say…” Eren let out a sharp yelp as Levi found his prostate, touching it directly.

I love it when you get so flustered… Levi smirked, drawing out his hand and reaching for the tube of lube, slicking himself up as he spoke. “Don’t be like that…” Levi tossed aside the tube, letting the head of his length brush over Eren’s entrance. “Please… enlighten me.”

Eren watched Levi’s fluid motions through the hand that was currently covering his face. I don’t want to tell you dammit. “D-do… Do I h-have to?” He asked, his voice if pure innocence coming out to try and help get him from having to talk about what he did to himself. I don't want to tell you how many times I tried and failed… Then ended up taking a cold shower to get it down… That's so embarrassing.

...I'm not getting anywhere with it, am I? “No, I suppose not… but I think we both know anyway.” Levi nipped at the joint of Eren’s neck as he slowly thrusted into him, burying himself to the hilt, letting out a low moan at the feeling of Eren’s walls pressing against his length.

Eren’s whole body shuddered as Levi entered him. “Holy shit… Levi… Haa… Oh my god… Yes …” Eren’s hands moved to feel Levi’s chest as the other held himself up above him. Holy shit, you’re fucking perfect… It feels so good to be filled again.

Levi groaned into Eren’s neck, starting a slow deep rhythm that soon became rougher, arousal pulsing through him with every moan Eren let into his ear. “Eren… s-so good…” Levi felt Eren’s legs wrap around his waist, pounding into him deeply, one hand coming down to stroke his quickly hardening length with long, firm strokes.

Eren could already feel that familiar heat start to pool in his abdomen. “Levi… Haaa… More… Fuck me.” I don’t want to be able to walk straight… I want a thorough fuck...
Holy fuck… Levi’s eyes held a predatory glint at Eren’s words, shifting Eren so he was on his side, holding his legs apart as he rammed into Eren, able to thrust even deeper with this position and all too happy to give him what he wanted. He felt his coil tightening in his abdomen, though he held himself, wanting to wait for Eren.

Eren barely had time to think about what was happening to him as he felt the pressure within his body build. “L-Levi! Ngh…. Haaa I… I can’t…” I’m gonna fucking cum, Levi. Don’t stop… It feels so good.

Levi could feel his own coil about to snap as he thrusted deeply into him, leaning forward so his lips brushed the shell of Eren’s ear, his words a quiet, smooth demand. “Then cum for me.”

Eren cried out in pleasure as his coil began to snap, his whole body pulsating with heat. “Levi!” Eren cried out his name in pure ecstasy, his legs wrapping around Levi’s hips tightly, forcing him deeper into his twitching cavern. Oh my god, yes… This is amazing… I want more.

Levi let out a long moan, coming undone at Eren’s cry and thrusting deep, releasing into him, panting. My god… Levi was still for a long moment, panting before he drew out of Eren, collapsing next to him and pulling Eren close, kissing him and tangling their tongues. I love you I love you I love you

Eren let Levi pull him close, moving his arms to wrap around Levi’s shoulders to keep his body flush against Levi’s. He pulled back only to breathe heavily, his eyes still hooded with lust and wanting as he looked at Levi. “Mm… I don’t wanna stop, Levi.” Eren’s voice came out near his ear as a seductive purr, his hips grinding into Levi’s.

Levi groaned quietly as Eren ground against him, quirking an eyebrow and smirking. “Insatiable, are we?” Levi shifted so Eren was straddling him, his lips ghosting Eren’s ear. “It’s not my fault if you can’t walk straight tomorrow…” …I can’t say I want to stop either.

Eren only giggled at his statement, moving to reach for the lube on the shelf. “I think I can agree to that.” I want to please you… I want to be able to do something for you. Eren moved to straddle Levi, his hand moving to lube his large length up again. I guess I can ride you… I know you like watching me do that…

The rest of the night was really a blur of fucking, hot and sensual fucking. I can’t say I didn’t enjoy it… But my back fucking hurts. Eren currently stood in the shower trying to clean himself out and not fall over in the process. My legs feel like jello, and I think I might need to actually wear a Eren’s breakfast is getting cold- if he doesn't get down here to eat now he’s either going to be late or miss breakfast. And neither of those is a nice option. Lathe moved to the foot of the stairs, about to head out himself. He hit the handrail a couple times, trying to get Eren’s attention and shouting up to him. “Eren, you're going to be late if you don't get down here and eat something now!” He heard a muffled shout coming back from the bathroom, shrugging. “I need to get going- make sure you eat something, anything! I'll see you later!” If he can't eat his omelette, he knows where the granola bars are. He can eat and walk. Lathe grabbed his medical satchel and laptop, shutting the door behind him, locking it but not bothering to bolt it. He has a key, he knows the drill. And when the hell did it get so cold?

Eren groaned as Lathe shouted at him from downstairs. “I know!” He had shouted back, trying to grab a longer sleeved shirt and he got some clothes together for him to wear, and he groaned when he realized that there were still hickeys visible no matter what he put on. Fuck it. He ran down the stairs, well as fast as he could -which wasn’t really a run nor was it a walk, Blake following closely at his heels. He grabbed a granola bar, and got Blake ready for the car. “I do not have time to walk right now, so we’re going for a drive buddy.” It took only a few more minutes for Eren to rush into his first period class and the stares to begin. Goddammit, everyone can fucking see them… And they fucking notice them! So Eren sat through the whole day, whispers and stares around him until lunch when Sasha finally asked him why the hell he looked like he got strangled. Does it really look like I got strangled? Eren had rushed to the bathroom to see the bruises himself, and gasping as he saw what everyone else was finally seeing. Well… It does look like I got strangled… Thanks Levi… I’ve now become the oddity at school. He sat through the rest of his classes, most of his classmates acting like they were seeing something out of a science fiction novel. I fucking hate this… It’s like freshman year all over again!… I wanna go hide somewhere…

Lathe packed up from English class, saving the slideshow of impromptu notes for later and stowing his laptop in his bag, looking up as he noticed Armin approaching him, smilingbrightly. “Hey Armin! …what's up? You look worried about something.” …who do I need to beat up?

Armin looked around to make sure no one else was around to hear their conversation. “Um… Is Eren okay?... Grisha didn’t come back… did he?” I need to know... Eren looked like a nervous wreck this morning.

Lathe’s brow furrowed, setting down his bag and turning his full attention to him. “What makes you say that?” …if anything happened I don't know anything about it… he hasn't really left the house long enough recently for anything to have happened, and I know for certain we don't have a stowaway somewhere…
Armin put his backpack down, leaning against the large hardwood desk. “Well when I saw him in the hallway this morning he was a nervous wreck and Blake’s had his ears pinned all day… He’s not himself right now… And at lunch, his shirt showed his neck… Lathe, he looks like he got strangled… I don’t want Eren to be hiding anything from us… So I was wondering if you knew.”
I’m really worried about him.

“…….” Lathe simply stared at Armin before facepalming, blushing and sighing exasperatedly. ...that explains the ungodly amount of time he took upstairs this morning... I'm going to need to let him borrow a scarf or ten for a while... “Armin, Levi came home yesterday. Just chew on that tidbit for a moment.” He dropped his hand, staring at Armin until he saw red bloom on his cheeks, nodding. “... Now you're getting it. Eren’s fine, probably self-conscious as all hell, but fine. You'd understand.” Given Erwin also just came home. “ More so than that, probably. But it’s really nice of you to tell me- you really are a good kid. Thanks for looking out for him.” It's good knowing Eren's got a really good friend like you.

Armin blushed as he thought about everything. Okay… I see how that would line everything together. “I get it now… And also… You might want to give him some aspirin. He’s been walking funny all day.” Armin then hurried out of the room to go to where Erwin was waiting to pick him up. I’m glad that it wasn’t Grisha, I’ll have to tell Erwin to text Levi to cool it with the hickeys .

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren came home, Blake still whining as they got out of he car. Today was horrible, no one wanted to talk to me… Not even the teachers… Fuck… Eren got Blake’s vest off of him and let the dog run off in the house, still whining loudly. He’s been whining at me all day… Dammit… I just wanna go hide. Eren got up and moved to the beanbag bed in the piano room and buried himself under the covers. I don’t want to be found.

Blake whined as he came upstairs to the recording room and pawed at Levi, who sat looking at the new mural Eren had painted. Human… Look at me and respect me! My human needs you! He’s freaking out still, a lot of freaking out! I can’t calm him down, he won’t let me! You need to help me human! This is my human we’re talking about! Blake continued to paw at Levi, trying to get his attention from the vast beauty Eren had painted.

Levi tore his eyes from Eren’s painting, looking down with a furrowed brow. ...what? Did something happen? Levi stood, albeit a bit reluctantly and followed Blake down the stairs to see the lump of blankets that was Eren hiding in his beanbag bed. Dammit. Levi carefully sat down next to Eren, tugging at the blankets and pulling Eren in his bundle close to him, pecking his cheek. “Hey Eren… what’s wrong? You're hiding…”
“No shit, Sherlock.” Eren glared at Levi for all of three seconds before getting out of his hold and burying himself yet again in the blankets. No… You’re the reason I look like I was strangled! And I refuse to come out of my hiding! Eren made no move as Blake even jumped up on the beanbag and worriedly tried to lick his face.

Levi shooed Blake off of Eren. “Blake, chill.” Let me. Levi maneuvered himself under the blankets, affectionately running his hands over him, trying to coax him to unfurl from his little ball, finding his neck and lightly pecking at his skin, his lips. He felt Eren minutely begin to relax, pulling him close and poking his head out of the bundle, finally able to see Eren’s neck and the ring of very visible bruises around his neck. …oh.

Eren moved away from Levi once again. “Leave me alone, asshole.” He buried himself back into his blankets, hiding even further. Thank god I don’t have to go back to school until after thanksgiving. He didn’t even move when Lathe came in through the front door. I don’t want to come out of here, it’s too embarrassing.

Lathe kicked off his shoes, seeing Levi look at him from the nest with Eren buried and turned away from him, shooting him a sympathetic look. Rough day for him, huh. How do we fix that? Lathe hung up his bag, looking over to Blake’s dog bed underneath the piano, Salem seeming to wake up at the sound of the door closing, looking to him and trying to stumble from the bed and across the room to him. Perfect. Lathe crouched down and gently scooped up the kitten, tiptoeing over to the nest and handing him to Levi, his expression serious. Use him wisely.

Levi just looked at him. ...I have a kitten now. ...wait, that’s a thing? [Since when do you have a cat?] He quirked an eyebrow as Lathe simply pointed to Eren, mouthing the kitten’s name. ...Salem. O-Kay… Levi set the kitten on his lap, the small fur ball immediately clambering up his arm as he gently nudged Eren, trying to get his head out from underneath the blankets. “Eren, Salem wants to say hi.” As if on cue, Salem tumbled from his sleeve, noticing Eren and padding over to his mop of hair, pawing at it before laying down on his head, purring. ...Hooman.

Eren sighed quietly, reaching over to his head and gently scooping up Salem in his hands. He sat up, letting his neck show to the both of them. Eren continued to glare at Levi, giving Salem back to Levi. “I said to leave me alone, asshole, and you didn’t need to wake him up, let him go back to sleep.” Eren’s voice was hard as he curled up to himself. I don’t want to talk to you. I sat through hell today because of you!

Levi took Salem back, his eyes a bit wide. ...he’s pissed… Levi studied the bruises around Eren’s neck while he could still see them. ...he looks like he’d been strangled… dammit, I thought I didn’t make them so damn visible! Crap… Levi looked to Lathe, not knowing what to do. ...help?
...that's why Armin was so worried. Lathe took Salem back as he began to squirm in Levi’s hands, letting him crawl up to perch on his shoulder sleepily and giving him a sympathetic look, not sure himself what to do. I don't know how to handle the pissed as all hell Eren... [...permission to go downstairs for a second?] ...eh, it's better than nothing.

... What the hell are you thinking about... [Granted...] Levi watched Lathe go off in utter confusion. What the hell is he doing?

Lathe left for the basement, coming back with a handful of chocolate bars, setting them next to the nest and shrugging, lifting Salem off his shoulder to set him down next to Blake, the kitten immediately scampering up to him and nuzzling against his legs.

...Good idea. Levi picked up one of the bars, laying down and curling up around Eren from behind, setting one of the bars on top of the covers near his hands. “Eren, there’s chocolate if you want it...” I don't know how to do the apology thing please stop being mad so I can hold onto you and just do the mushy crap I can't do while I'm hundreds of miles away...

Eren stilled for a moment, finally poking his head out from under the covers as he eyed the chocolate bar. Bastard... You play dirty... “Can you open it?” His voice was a little less hard as he was thinking of ways for Levi to make it up to him.

Anything. Levi unwrapped the chocolate bar, seeing Eren didn't look as if he were going to take his hands out from under the covers. So that's how we're going to play this game... Levi broke off a piece of chocolate, holding it up to Eren’s lips.

... You learn fast, good. Probably why the marines like you so much. Eren opened his mouth, taking the small piece from his fingers and eating it, though he kept his eyes elsewhere, not focusing on Levi at all, mostly watching as Blake stood there, putting up with Salem’s antics. Well, that's damn cute... Eren finished that small piece of chocolate relatively quickly before he opened his mouth, expecting another piece.

Now we're getting somewhere... Levi broke off another piece, holding it for Eren to eat, doing the same with nearly the rest of the chocolate bar, the last piece in his hand. ...hmm... should I? ...dammit, yes. Do the thing. Levi held the last piece in his teeth, leaning over Eren and looking at him, his eyes pleading and apologetic. Stop being mad... please?

Eren finally looked up to meet Levi’s gaze, unable to look away. He didn’t know what to do, laying there frozen, watching Levi move around him, but what really got to him was Levi’s eyes. He’s never had that emotion in his eyes before… They look… They look almost blue… Not grey… Eren was timid as he reached up to bite at the chocolate piece from between Levi’s teeth, unsure of what else to do. I want my damn chocolate… But what do I do after I have my chocolate?

Levi amusedly noted Eren’s timidness, moving his head forward a bit so their lips met, opening his mouth and pushing the chocolate into Eren’s with his tongue, swiping across Eren’s before he withdrew, smirking. Success!

Eren watched him pull back, letting out a soft ‘hmph’ as he looked away from Levi, still slightly irritated with him, or at least it appeared that way until Eren opened his mouth again. I want you to keep feeding me.

Levi was worried for a split second until Eren opened his mouth again, reaching behind him for more chocolate and unwrapping it, doing the same thing with another bar of chocolate, feeding Eren the small squares and stealing kisses as he did.

Eren let Levi continue to steal kisses as he was fed the chocolate bars, soon opening back up a little bit and curling up to Levi as he was fed. He seemed a bit more mellowed out, and let Levi’s lips linger on his lips longer than necessary. Hmm…. As long as you don’t make me move… I think I can let him do this for awhile.

Levi lingered in their kisses the tiniest bit longer and longer until he had reached the last of the five bars Lathe had brought up, giving Eren the last small square and tentatively letting his tongue slip into his mouth as well, kissing him slowly and sweetly. I'm sorry, school must have been hell… I didn't mean it to be, I got carried away.

Eren let Levi kiss him, curling up into his warmth after he pulled away. “No more hickeys, asshole.” Eren grumbled at him, burying his head into Levi’s chest, still a little pissed at him, but getting over it pretty quickly. I still look like I was strangled though.

Levi shifted so he was under the blanket as well, pulling Eren close to him and sighing, a bit relieved. “Okay, no more. …at least on your neck.” Levi smirked as Eren glared up at him, chuckling and pecking his nose. “Oh hush. ...even if you didn't say anything. You were thinking too loud.

I swear to god if you mark me up again you will have hell to pay dammit! Eren grumbled about something in incoherent German as he curled up to Levi more. “What’s for dinner?” I know that tomorrow is turkey day… God I can only imagine what Dad’s gonna do for that.
Lathe was standing in front of the fridge, trying to count on his hands what he could use to cook dinner and what was for something tomorrow, deciding to give up and shutting the fridge, calling to the other room. “At this point, I don't know. ...well…” He checked the freezer, pulling out a package of frozen meat. “Grilled chicken sound good, you two?” That’s easy enough, doesn't take much effort... and I won't have too much of a mess so I'll still have plenty of room to make pie and stuff tonight.

Eren nodded against Levi's chest, moving to bury himself under the covers completely out of view, his arms wrapped around Levi’s waist as he closed his eyes for the moment, trying to relax and calm down. I wanna sleep... But I can’t do that without taking the pills still...

“Survey says yes!” Levi called back to Lathe, knowing he couldn't see Eren from his spot in the kitchen and pulling Eren on top of him, content to have his steady weight on his chest. ...tomorrow’s Thanksgiving… and Lathe enjoys cooking waaaay too much... I get the notion nobody is going to have to cook for a solid week.

Lathe nodded, starting to thaw the meat in a basin of hot water and moving around the kitchen, starting to set up some of the things for making pie. It wasn't an hour before he had dinner on the table, chicken on top of a pile of lettuce. He looked to see if he could shout into the piano room, deciding against it as he saw Levi drifting. ...Of course. He smiled, padding over and nudging the nest with his foot. “Dinner, you two. Then you can sleep all you want.”

Levi blinked awake at that, looking up confusedly before remembering where he was and nodding, turning back to Eren and coming face-to-face with Blake, surprised. When did you get there? Levi looked down to Eren, moving aside the blanket and seeing him peacefully asleep on his chest, his breathing soft and even. Wait, isn't he supposed to take meds for that... “Um, Lathe… was Eren falling asleep without pills or something a bad thing?” I get the feeling it wasn't something he was supposed to do...

Lathe furrowed his brow, studying Eren’s expression. “Well, at this moment he looks peaceful enough… wake him up. But for overnight, he definitely needs the pills to sleep.” *Wait... wouldn't you already know that? “Did Eren not take them last night? I'd think you'd know by now.” He looked to Levi, seeing scarlet start to bloom across his face, not looking at him. “...he didn't sleep, did he.” Silence. *Nope. “...honestly, I probably should have expected that. But yes, he needs pills to sleep. Now get him up so he can eat and take his pill so he can go collapse and get some rest.” Lathe just rolled his eyes, going back to the kitchen. Probably should have expected that. He just came home after months, so.

...dammit Lathe... Levi gently shook Eren by the shoulder, leaning his head down to murmur in his ear. “Come on Eren, wake up. Dinner.” He lightly kissed his ear as Eren stirred, smiling faintly as Eren yawned. ...you're too damn adorable.

Eren yawned, stretching out with a squeak, which led to Blake coming up to him and licking his face feverishly. What the hell? I'm being licked... But I was just....... I was just....... I wasn't here... Eren swallowed hard gently pushing Blake away and moving to get up. What the hell.

Levi immediately noticed Eren seemed a little off-put, pulling him back down and letting him sit in his lap, winding his arms around his middle to keep him in his place and speaking quietly into his shoulder. “Eren, what's wrong? Tell me.”

Eren took a few seconds to try and come to himself after he thought about it. “I... I wasn’t here anymore....” Eren told him in a quiet voice. I wasn’t here anymore... I was back in the burning house again...

Nightmare... Levi gently nipped and pressed kisses to the back of his neck, trying to keep him calm. “...you're here right now Eren, you're okay. ...do you want to talk about it?” I don't know what to say...

...I... I was back in the burning building... “I... I...” Eren could barely get the words out of his mouth. I... I was gonna die...

Levi carefully turned Eren, kissing him softly. “You don't have to... it’s okay. Whatever it is... it's alright now. I promise.” Levi shifted his feet under him, standing and bringing Eren with him, setting him on his feet. “Come on, let's get some food in you. It'll do you good.”

Eren was really out of it as Levi dragged him to the kitchen and put him in front of his food; he couldn’t stop thinking about it. I don’t want to die.... I... I don’t want to...

Lathe set down mugs in for the both of them, seeing Eren’s scared eyes. “Eren, you okay? You look like you've seen a ghost.” Lathe rested a hand on Eren’s shoulder. Did you have a nightmare? ...was that it?

Eren swallowed hard, looking up to Lathe with scared eyes before he looked away nodding. Yeah... I'm okay... I'll be okay... Eren almost couldn’t contain himself as tears started to form around his eyes, reaching up to rub at them. No... I can't fucking cry at the dinner table...
Oh my… Levi moved around the table, swinging Spades’ chair around as Lathe nudged his own over, wrapping his arms around Eren and hugging him close, his thumb rubbing his side soothingly. Levi and Lathe mirrored the other’s worry, and Levi spoke quietly, his tone soft. “Eren… it’s okay if you need to cry… talk to us, please. It might make you feel better.”

Eren leaned into Levi’s touch as he took in a shaky breath. “I…. I was at the house… And everything was burning…. And no one was there to come…. To come get me…” Eren’s voice was barely more than a hoarse whisper, and his sobbing continued for a few more minutes.

…oh. Levi held Eren close to him, glancing over as Lathe pressed a red cloth into his hand, sending him a grateful look and turning his attention back to Eren, giving the kerchief to him and speaking quietly in his ear, trying to calm him. “Shhh… it’s okay, Eren, it’s over. We’re both right here… you’re fine, it’s okay…”

Eren leaned into Levi’s hands as he continued to cry, though his tears started to lessen as Levi soothed his nerves. I don’t want it to ever happen again.

Spades came in through the door, kicking off her shoes and her brow furrowing as she heard Eren’s sobbing coming from the kitchen. Oh no… What happened?

Lathe looked up as the door opened, looking to Spades with a bit of worry, though he gave her a weak smile, shrugging a bit and mouthing to her. ‘Later.’ Levi’s got this for right now… and I don’t want Eren to have to say it again if he doesn’t have to…

Levi glanced up, not catching that Lathe had ‘said’ anything, but seeing Spades carefully approach, worry etched in her features. He nodded in silent greeting before he looked back to Eren, who had buried his face in the cloth, though long since stopped shaking with sobs. “Eren, you okay? Can you eat?” I’d understand if you weren’t hungry, or didn’t want to eat anything…

Eren sniffled, nodding his head as he gave back the handkerchief. His eyes didn’t follow, he was always staring at his food as he started to warily pick at it. I don’t want it to happen again… Eren barely noticed that Spades had come home and that everyone was sitting down to eat.

Spades sat in her normal seat, feeling the uncomfortable silence that had formed in the kitchen. She glanced over to Eren with worry. He looks so out of it, usually he eats like the food is gonna get up and run away… But he… He’s picking at his food like he doesn’t want to eat it. It’s so weird.
Lathe had stowed the kerchief back in his pocket, keeping an eye on Eren as dinner went on, not knowing what, of anything, he should say. He’s barely eating... and he usually eats as if it’s going out of style. It was a while before Lathe stood with his clear plate, washing it and coming back to the table with the bottle of pills from the counter. He gently tapped Eren’s shoulder, speaking when Eren turned his head in his general direction. He’s so out of it... “You done eating, kid? You haven't touched it in a while.” He waited for Eren to nod before continuing. “Here, you could do with some sleep. It’s not hard to figure out you must be exhausted.” Lathe offered the bottle of sedatives to him. You really need the sleep, it looks like... Eren didn't move for a moment, and Lathe frowned a bit, opening it and taking a single pill from it, setting the closed bottle down and picking up Eren’s hand which lay on the table, setting it in his palm and crouching down to try and meet his eyes. “Eren, you need sleep. You gotta take this.” Don't make this harder on yourself... please.

Eren simply shook his head and closed his palm, and turned it upside down and left it on the table before he got up and disappeared into the house, Blake whining as he followed. I can’t.... I don’t want to sleep.

Lathe watched Eren leave with a defeated air, turning to Levi after Eren had gone. “...listen Levi, if Eren doesn't take that pill and falls asleep, he's gonna have another nightmare and make everything worse. And it’s not a matter of if he sleeps. He needs to. If he doesn't he’s going to be a literal zombie.” Lathe handed Levi the pill. “You've gotta convince him. If you can't, well.” He turned to Spades, shrugging. “You're the third line of attack. I just don't want this getting any worse.” Nope.

Levi nodded, taking the small pill and Eren’s mug of tea after him, downstairs into the basement, seeing Eren zoned out and painting flames on the last open wall space, not even acknowledging presence. Levi moved next to him, his voice soft, yet firm. “Eren, you need to take this. Please, you need sleep.” Nothing- Eren went on with his painting. “Come on Brat, please take it. We both know you're fucking exhausted so do yourself a favor- you need the rest, and its dreamless! You don't have to worry!” Still nothing. ...well fuck. Levi gave up after a few more minutes of asking with zero acknowledgement, coming back upstairs and handing both things to Spades. “Spades, see if you can talk some sense into him. He had an hour nap earlier, had a nightmare, and now refuses to sleep. He kinda didn't get any last night, as in literally, but that doesn't matter because we can't have his mood or mental health declining any more.” ...Help.

Spades sighed quietly, taking the pill and Eren’s mug. “Lathe... I got an idea, and I’m gonna need the both of you for this.” She looked down at the pill in her palm, rolling it around in thought. I think it'll work...

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at her, intrigued. “Alright... what’re you cooking up?” Now I'm suspicious.

“You can still sing that German lullaby that Eren sings a lot?” We need something that he’s familiar with, and I think if I’m there I can act as his Mother for him.

“Well, yeah… are we playing mind tricks on him? Because I don't see where else this is going.”...hmm.

Levi looked to her curiously. “And how am I involved in this?” I have no clue where you're taking this...

“You’re gonna be the one who gets him to move around, I’ll help clean him up but your gonna hold him in bed until I can get him to take the pill… Lathe you’ll need to start singing when we take away the paint brush, got it?” She looked between the two of them hoping they at least understood a bit of it. I see this working… I hate that we have to play mind tricks on him… But he needs sleep.

Lathe just looked at her, before picking up his mug and drinking the rest of it, setting it back down and clearing his throat. “Singing non stop until this works. I'm in.” He needs sleep… I feel kinda bad, but he needs sleep.

Levi thought a moment, finally nodding. “Alright, I'll help. Anything so that he doesn't look like the dead tomorrow.” I guess we have to.

Spades nodded bringing the two of them down to the basement. She looked to the bed and pulled back the covers a bit before going to Eren. “Eren, hon, it’s Mommy, we got to get you ready for bed, okay?” Her voice was soft as she gently took the paintbrush from his hands. Alright, time for the rest of you. She pointedly looked to Lathe to start singing and motioned Levi to come help her move him away from the paints.

Lathe stepped quietly behind Eren, quietly and lowly beginning to sing, noticing him nearly immediately start to relax. He took the paintbrush from Spades, knowing to reach over and drop it into the water-filled cup in the sink as they walked by it.

Levi took gentle home of Eren’s other side, helping steer him to the bed, noting his dreamy state. At least he gave up the paintbrush...

Spades helped Levi move Eren to the bed, sitting him down on the edge. Come on… You gotta help me with this. She took the pill put it against Eren’s lips, gently speaking to him. “Down the hatch, come on Eren, you can do it, Mommy’s got you…”
Eren didn't really know what was going on, really letting what was going on around him happen. I want Mommy back... Eren opened his lips, taking the pill offered to him and feeling a pair of strong familiar arms wrap around him. Mommy's home... And she's singing again... Eren was in his own world when his eyes finally shut and his body slumped against Levi’s as exhaustion finally took hold of him.

Levi pulled Eren along with him, letting him rest on top of him as he laid down on the bed. He carded a hand through his brunette locks, murmuring quietly after a moment to Spades and Lathe. “I can't help but feel kinda bad... but I don't know if he'll remember anything in the morning...” I don't like tricking you like that... but it was necessary.

Lathe ceased singing as Eren went limp in Levi’s arms, shrugging and sitting on the edge of the bed next to them. “I know... but it’s for the best. He probably won't remember...” He patted Levi’s shoulder. “But he’s getting rest, which is good. ...don't worry yourself about it. He’ll be much better after he gets his sleep.” He really needs it.

Spades nodded, carding her own hand through Eren’s chocolate locks as he slept. “Why don’t you two get some sleep.... You’re probably tired too, and you wake up early to go for a run don’t you?” She asked softly, ruffling Eren’s hair before bringing her hand away from his head. I only need to go to work if I get called in... Which means I don’t have to do anything unless some idiot makes a fool of himself.

Levi nodded, pulling the blanket still on the bed over them, settling himself comfortably as Lathe and Spades stood to leave them be, letting his eyes slide shut. Yeah, I need to wake up at three for that.... Eh. It took nearly an hour for Levi to drift to sleep, though Eren’s weight was reassuring, listening to his even breaths.

Lathe padded silently back up the stairs with Spades, quietly shutting the door behind them and walking back to the kitchen with her, starting dishes. He dried his hands after he handed the last plate to Spades to dry, wrapping his arms around her middle from behind and resting his head on her shoulder, pressing tiny kisses to the back of her shoulder blade. “Thanks for that, Spades.... I don't know how we're going to get him to take his pill voluntarily if he becomes afraid of sleep...” We can't have that happen...

Spades nodded, her hands placed on top of his on her stomach. I know. “That would be.... That would be worst case scenario right there.... But I'm hoping I can convince him tomorrow to take it, or Levi might be able to... But I'm not letting him take any naps tomorrow... That is not going to happen, I'll keep him occupied with Levi while you cook dinner, unless...” She trailed off as she turned around in his arms, wrapping her own around his shoulders and leaning up to kiss his cheek, “...Unless you want help in the kitchen....” Not sure if I'd really be a help though....
Lathe pulled Spades flush against him, leaning down to kiss her properly, mumbling against her lips. “I can manage dinner easily, you don't have to.” Eren would need a distraction other than just Levi...

Spades gave a small pout, along with a whimper as Lathe spoke. “Awwwww…. you don’t want me in the kitchen?” She asked quietly, her lips pursed up and her brow furrowed as she playfully glared at him. Doesn’t sound like you at all.

Lathe smirked a bit, speaking quietly with a mischievous glint in his eyes. “I never said that... who knows.” Lathe slipped his hands into her back pockets, resting their foreheads together and murmuring lowly. “…I might need a distraction.” Lathe kissed Spades deeply, before moving to kiss across her jaw, nibbling at her neck. ...Mine... oh my god. She’s mine. The next three hours of the two of them making pies while constantly flirting passed quickly, the can of whipped cream following them upstairs. The next thing Lathe knew he was blinking awake, seeing Spades naked and in his arms, sleeping peacefully, a few dark marks on her collarbone and shoulder. Lathe smiled, laying there contentedly for a few minutes. ...I’m so glad you’re mine... and you’ve never tasted so sweet... ...I’ve got a dinner to make. Lathe pressed a loving kiss to Spades’ cheek, slipping out of bed and tucking the blankets back around her. He went to shower and dressed leisurely before heading downstairs, wearing jeans and a tee shirt and having slipped on converse for all the running around he was going to be doing that day cooking. He saw Levi in the kitchen as he went to get his apron, smiling to him and retrieving a bagel for the toaster and a mug for coffee. “Mornin’ Levi. You sleep okay?”

Levi nodded, sipping his tea and poring over the paper. “Yeah, wasn't too hard to fall asleep so early, surprisingly. Eren’s still out.” He looking over his shoulder, looking through the glass double doors to the concrete patch outside the door. “So where’s the fryer for the turkeys? I meant to ask yesterday.” It’ll take a while to cook them.

Lathe looked over his shoulder, quirking an eyebrow. “...what fryer?” ...that's not a thing, at least for me. “We’re using the oven.” That’s how you cook turkeys.

Levi set down the paper, leaning back in the chair and sipping his tea. “It’s how I cook turkeys; I thought that was what we were doing to do. I even asked about it in my text to Eren- did you miss that part?” This changes things.

Lathe set down his mug. “... what text?” I never got anything... ...

... this is bad. “You didn't get the text I sent? The one with the stuff about the guest list and everything?” A blank stare. ... crap. Levi pulled out his phone and pulled up the text, tossing it to Lathe. “There are people coming over for dinner… I almost had you go out to get three turkeys and not just the two.” There’s plenty of people on there...

Armin, Mr. Arlert, Erwin, ...Jean?, Marco, Connie, and Sasha. ...add the four of us... and because Casper and Scotty now have to come so it’s not just a table of teenagers minus three... I'm cooking for thirteen people. And at least two of them I hear are black holes when it comes to food. Lathe looked up from the message to Levi, trying to process everything.

Levi was quiet for a minute, before he spoke. “Want me to go get that third turkey?”

Lathe was silent before he moved to the fridge, grabbing a pen and writing a list down the paper magnetically clipped to the fridge, tearing it off after twelve or so items and handing it to Levi with his credit card. “Run.” Shit just got real. ... and I'm going to need help. Lathe finished his breakfast quickly, soon beginning to chop vegetables to be cooked later that day, also starting to boil eggs and prepare smaller snacks to munch on throughout the day, setting out shrimp to thaw as well. He was chopping apples to make applesauce when he heard someone coming down the stairs, turning to see Spades. “Good Morning Hon- sleep okay?” Lathe dried off his hands and went to give her a kiss good morning. It was nice to wake up with you still there for a change...

“Apparently it’s not just the four of us for Thanksgiving- there’s thirteen people including us.”

"eh, if Levi can manage to find everything on that list, we’ll be fine. I bought too much to begin with anyway.

Spades eyes widened. “I’m sorry did you just say 13?” Did I just hear you say 13 people including us? Who the hell is coming over?!

“Yep. Apparently Levi texted this stuff to Eren and he never passed on the message. Armin, his Grandfather Mr. Arlert, Erwin, Jean which I don't understand because Eren and him I'm pretty sure hate each other but whatever, Sasha, Connie, Marco who's a total sweetheart, and we need to call Casper and Scotty and invite them over so there’s more than just three adults for eight teenagers.” That's an unfair ratio. “Levi’s out being a runner for me, getting another turkey and some extra stuff now that I know this. I honestly had nearly enough anyway since I was planning on not cooking for a week, but that's not going to happen now.” He pecked her cheek, trying to get her to stop worrying. “But I've got this. Really.” It's a good thing we couldn't agree on what kinds of pie to make so I just made four... and that I bought backup whipped cream... “So could you call Casper and Scotty and tell them they have no choice and they're coming over for dinner?” It's free food. They'll come.

“Yeah, I’ll call them, you should probably go wake up Eren before he runs out of the sleeping pill...” She told him and kissed his cheek before going off to retrieve her phone. I can manage a few calls
Lathe smiled, padding over to the basement stairs and descending quietly, flicking on one of the dimmer lights so he could see and going next to the lump under the blankets that was Eren, gently shaking his shoulder. “Wake up kid, it’s nine. You've slept more than ten hours- it's time to get up.”

Eren woke up with a jolt and looked at Lathe with fearful eyes before he calmed down. It’s just Dad… It’s just Dad… No one’s hurting me… Eren nodded after a bit, sitting up and rubbing at his eyes, wiping away some tears before they formed. No… No one’s here to hurt me...

Lathe didn’t miss the obvious look of fear Eren gave him at first, sitting down next to him and pulling him into a hug, pecking his temple. “It’s okay, Eren. Just me. We all know I'm too wrapped around your finger to be scary.” He patted his shoulder, smiling. “I had Levi run some errands for me, because apparently, we’re having thirteen people over and I only planned for four with enough leftovers to last a week. Hear anything about that?” Lathe chuckled. You're already forgiven. The past couple weeks for you have been whack.

Eren’s eyes instantly widened at the statement. Oh shit I forgot… Dammit, he’s probably mad… I completely forgot about it. Eren raised his hand palm up, asking for forgiveness as he hung his head. I completely forgot about it… And Levi even texted me to remember to ask you… Fuck...

Lathe chuckled, immediately running his hand down Eren’s before pulling him into another hug. “Eren, come on, it’s cool. The more the merrier, I'd say. It's a good thing I love cooking for you people.” He smiled to him warmly. “After you get dressed and stuff, do you maybe want to help? It doesn't have to be right away- there’s going to be plenty to do until everyone gets here. ...and honestly… I don't even know when they're going to arrive… that's a problem. Here,” Lathe pecked Eren’s forehead. “-how about you send a mass text to your friends, tell them to be here between five and five thirty, okay? I'll have Spades do the same with Scotty and Casper.” If we can control at least that, we’ll be golden.

Eren nodded, looking down a bit. “I um… I told them 6 already… And um… W-Why are … Are we inviting Scotty?” That man is a maniac … And all he fucking wants is my fucking blood! Eren felt his stomach tighten at just the thought of being prodded with another needle. I don't want it to happen again… Why does he have to come?

“Eren, first off, six is perfectly fine… and I'm telling you right now that Scotty knows that he can't so much as look at you wrong without me personally castrating him. And Casper will have no trouble keeping him in check. But he's been one of my best friends for years and years- and otherwise, it'd be the same as other years. He’d have no one really around to celebrate with. I’m giving him a chance. But he won't do anything, especially with the three of us keeping an eye on him.” We'll stop anything even vaguely suspicious dead in its tracks.
Eren seemed to heave a sigh of relief as Lathe spoke. Okay… I think I can deal with that. He nodded as he moved to get up and stretch. He sat on the side of his bed, yawning as Blake ran downstairs and almost tackled him and licked his face. “B-Blake!” Eren stuttered as he was tackled onto the bed. Excited to see me or something?

Lathe laughed as Blake leapt up onto Eren, grinning and heading for the stairs. He’ll be fine. He was about to ascend when he heard a tiny sound, looking up to see Salem at the top step, looking down the steps, too scared to try and climb down. Aww, he’s trying to follow Blake. …that’s too adorable. …WAIT THAT REMINDS ME. Lathe went up the steps to pick him up before he fell, coming immediately back down and next to the sewing machine, picking up a small piece of cloth. I finally cleaned out and fixed the damn thing last week… and I had to make something to test it out… He shook out the tiny piece of white fabric, setting it on Salem’s head. …a tiny chef hat. Because why not. “…Eren, you need to Snapchat this. Or Instagram it. Do something because I’m dying of a cuteness overdose.” Lathe beamed as Salem looked to him with wide eyes, keeping his head still enough for the tiny hat to stay on. This is literally too perfect.

Eren looked up from where Blake had pinned him to the bed and saw Salem with his white chef’s hat. Oh my god, he has a hat on. That’s fucking adorable. He gently pushed Blake off of him and got up to get his phone, his shirt hung loosely around him showing off a majority of the bruises he had acquired from Levi two nights ago. I’m still very sore… Fuck.

...I can really understand why school yesterday was hell. Lathe held Salem up for the picture, the kitten peering at the camera curiously, reaching a paw out for it and mewing as it was too far away. He smiled, ruffling Eren’s hair after he took the picture, setting Salem on his shoulder. “You’d better send that to me- me and my assistant are going to be upstairs cooking. Levi’ll be home soon with emergency groceries.” With that, Lathe went back upstairs, texting Casper and Scotty what time to show up, and telling Casper he had to keep Scotty reigned while using a generous amount of winking emojis. Tonight is going to be interesting.

CP: Did you say free food? /AND/ Scotty? I’m in! Need me to bring anything?

LQ: Called it. Just bring yourself- and btw, help keep Scotty from going into creepy doctor mode, okay? I’ll let you sit next to him~ ;)

CP: You are one sly devil. XD

SO: Did you just invite me to thanksgiving at your house? As in free food?

LQ: That’s what I said! Free food…. as long as you don’t do the doctor thing with Eren

LQ: Like, seriously

LQ: Otherwise I won’t let you take any leftovers home
SO: … I won’t bring the case files with me… And I’ll try not to ask questions. Who else is coming?

LQ: The only person besides the fam you’d know is Casper

LQ: Don’t worry, he’s next to you at the table so nobody goes insane from the overwhelming population of teenagers ;) Eren and Levi’s squad is all coming… plus Mr. Arlert, one of their grandfathers

LQ: This is all a thing now

SO: Isn’t Levi like… 20 something now? I can’t remember… I know he was old before… But how old is he again? Does he still count as a Teen? I think he’s more mature than that.

LQ: …stop making me feel old, dammit

LQ: and he’ll turn 20 this Christmas

LQ: but to be legit he's still got a shred of juvenile delinquent in him even if he is in training to be a marine

LQ: So he counts. As does everyone else because they’re even more delinquent-esque than he is SO: Did you just make up a new word?

LQ: Except maybe Armin and Marco they’re both awesome and have manners but everyone else sorry but nah

LQ: And yes, I did

LQ: by the way LOOK AT MY CAT

sends picture of Salem wearing a hat

SO: you put a hat on him… I’m debating if I should bring Felix over…

LQ: …who is this animal of which you speak

LQ: or did you get a boyfriend and not tell me in which case how /dare/ you

SO: I got put in charge of the Therapy dog at the hospital! His owner is out of town!

SO: and DAMN you for even suggesting that I’m gay! Fuck you man!

LQ: Hey man I call it like I see it

LQ: and bring him over, why not! As long as he doesn't feel the need to maul Salem we're good

SO: okay I'll bring him over, he’s a good dog, so I don’t see him bringing much of a disturbance except maybe fight with Blake over who’s gonna calm Eren down if he freaks out..
SO: and I’m not gay dammit!

LQ: you just keep telling yourself that

LQ: and that sounds like a plan! Remember- six o’clock!

SO: Yeah, yeah, yeah, I’ll be there don’t worry! Bye Asshole!

Lathe set down his phone as the doorbell rang, looking to the clock. It's barely noon- what? Don’t tell me someone’s here already… Lathe walked quickly to the door, opening it to Armin and Erwin, stunned to see Erwin had a good few inches on him. …dammit. Either you’re growing way too fast or I’m getting short. But we can't entertain at this moment, I'm busy and so is Levi and Eren is doing something I don't know what… “Hey you two! Uhm, you're really early. Levi is out in the back trying to start the fryer, and Eren’s… I don’t know…” He rubbed the back of his neck awkwardly. I don't want to turn you two away, but I kinda have to, I think…

Erwin just let out a deep chuckle, holding a few grocery bags out for Lathe. “We know, I’m gonna go help him in the back with the fryer, and Armin wants to help in the kitchen.” It'll work out, I'm sure Eren’s probably taking a shower or something…

Lathe didn't know what to say, hesitating in taking the bags from him. “I-I don't… y-you really don't have to…” Lathe took them with a grateful look after a moment, letting out a small sigh. “Thanks. We could all definitely use the help. Keep your shoes on, the both of you.” He stepped back to let them in, kicking the door shut and leading them to the kitchen. “So welcome to the well-coordinated disaster zone. Levi’s area of chaos is right over there in case things go wrong.” He set the bags on the kitchen table which was surprisingly clear, making sure Erwin fully shut the glass door behind him before turning to Armin. “Alright, kid. How well can you cook?” There’s a lot going on at once, so…

Armin followed Lathe into the kitchen, helping him with the bags. “I’m a good cook, whatever you need me to do, I don’t mind if I’m just chopping up vegetables, I can do it…” Armin trailed off as he helped to unpack all the bags with Lathe.

Spades came into the kitchen in her uniform with a large sigh. “Alright, I gotta go, some idiot started his garage on fire…. I’ll hopefully be back for dinner, and if not, I’ll be a few minutes late as I put Dave in charge.” She went over to hug Lathe and kiss the back of his neck. “So I guess I’ll see you later? And Eren’s just getting out of the shower now, and I gave him a scarf…” She looked over to find Armin helping in the kitchen. “Hello Armin, how are you? Thanks for helping Lathe out.”

Armin smiled softly, a timid blush across his face. “It’s really no problem Mrs. Quo..” Is that what I’m supposed to call you? I’m not necessarily sure… I know Eren just calls you Mom… but I don’t know what the hell I’m supposed to call you…

...That does have a nice ring to it. Shaking her head, she chuckled as Armin seemed to internally freak out. “It’s okay, you really don’t need the formalities, just Spades is fine Armin.”

“O-Okay.”

Eren came down the stairs, a scarf wrapped around his neck, and long sleeves and sweatpants on. Blake following at his heels until he spotted Armin and went to go whine and get his attention. “Alright, enough of that Blake… let Armin help… Thanks for coming Armie.” Eren snickered as he saw Armin flush even more.

“Eren! You know you’re not supposed to call me that!” Armin stood flustered as he was given veggies to chop, and turning to cut them up.

That sounds really nice… but you’re still always going to be Spades to me. Lathe pecked her cheek as she left, chuckling as Eren spoke and made Armin flush, addressing Eren with a mischievous scolding tone. “Come on Eren, have mercy on Armie. He’s being helpful.” Lathe grinned as Armin sputtered a bit. ...I approve of this.

Armin looked at Lathe with wide eyes. “How can you take his side! That’s the nickname Erwin gave me and only Erwin is…. Supposed to…” Armin trailed off as his face flushed completely, not noticing Eren take a picture of him.

“Alright, no more, got it… Also what am I being arranged to do?” Eren asked stepping up to the counter.

Lathe set a bin of apples and a peeler in front of Eren, going over to get him his apron and tying it behind his back. “You're peeling apples for Armin- oh, I forgot-” Lathe went back to the pegs, rifling through the small stack of aprons.

Yeah?” Lathe heard Eren and Armin respond in unison, only to be followed by a quiet “Shit…” Lathe had since draped a light blue apron over his arm, looking back in worry as Eren inspected his hand, a drop of blood running down his finger. ...of fucking course. “Eren, you missed the apple entirely. On your FIRST TRY.” Lathe went to run his finger under the tap, patting it dry with a napkin and fetching a bandage so he could keep cooking. “Listen kid, you don't have to look up to respond to something someone says. Careful with the peeler, Kay? Now try that again.” Lathe nudged him back to the counter, smiling and turning to Armin. “Alright Armie- excuse me, we don't want Erwin to be mad. Armin.” He snickered as Armin glared at him with a furious blush, holding out the apron. “You're going to need this.” It's going to get real pretty soon- eventually, I need to make bread. Or should I say... knead to make bread. ...Lol. Lathe set first to peeling the sack of potatoes on the counter, suddenly stopping and setting it down loudly on the cutting board. “Oh my God.” He turned to Armin and Eren, having caught their attention. “Is anyone vegetarian or vegan?” That would complicate things.

Armin furrowed his brow a bit. “Yeah, Marco is. But that’s it.” That can be easily worked around, though.

“Which is it though? Vegetarian or vegan? I actually understand there's a big difference.” Yeah-vegan is the problem one. But vegetarian isn't too big a struggle.

“Vegetarian.” Thank god you understand this stuff. Some people just give up and just practically give him a head of lettuce. Not too tasty.

Lathe placed a hand over his heart and breathed a sigh of relief. “Thank god, I panicked there for a second. He’ll have plenty to munch on that isn't turkey or that doesn't necessarily involve gravy. And there's plenty of salad stuff in the fridge.” That works.

“He likes collard greens.” Levi’s voice sounded as he came in through the back door. I made sure to get some. “I got the stuff to make it... Also, do you have a thermometer?” I kinda need one of those... “Actually, I need two...”

Lathe just looked at him with a done expression, speaking plainly. “Two things. A, if you need two thermometers, and I need the one, someone should have bought some because I only have two. And B, what the hell are collard greens?” I don't understand.

... Did you just ask me what collard greens are? Levi just glared. “Alright, I’ll send Eyebrows out to get another one, and call Spades if you can’t figure it out.” God you would imagine that the cook would know.

“Ex- cuse me for not being a rabbit.” Lathe’s words died on his tongue as he looked out the door to Erwin monitoring the fryer. “...and did you just call Erwin ‘Eyebrows?’” ...oh my god. Lathe put a hand over his mouth, trying hard not to laugh loudly at that. That's too perfect!
Levi just shook his head. “Yeah, I did, they take up half of his face… So why can’t I?” Levi took the thermometer that Lathe gave him and went back outside with it. It was only a few minutes later that Erwin took his car to get another thermometer.

Eren looked over to Lathe. “You better call Mom.” His voice was soft as he continued to peel the apples with ease. Mom knows how to make them.

“Probably should. I have no idea what I'm doing with the rabbit food.” Lathe finished peeling the potato he had started before wiping off his hands and going to the landline on the wall, dialing Spades’ number and leaning against the wall, waiting for her to answer. “Hey Hon! I'm sorry if you're in the middle of things, but I just found out one of Eren and Levi’s friends is a vegetarian.
Can you tell me real quick how to make collard greens taste not horrible?” That would be great.

Spades closed the car door as she took in Lathe’s sentence. “Did you just ask how to make collard greens? And you live in Kansas …” I find that both amusing and concerning… Doesn’t everyone who lives in Kansas know how to make Collard greens??

Lathe’s cheeks tinted a bit pink in embarrassment, responding. “Sorry I'm not a rabbit, Hon. Just please help… I literally don't know what I'm doing.” Halp.

“Alright, easy Tiger, I’ll help, go to the fridge I gotta make sure we got a few things.” She started the car, putting her phone on speaker as she set it down. Even i’m not allowed to talk and drive…

Lathe blushed furiously, making a small noise of disbelief before just shaking his head in resignation, going over to the fridge and opening it, staring at the assortment of groceries and the pies taking up much of the top shelf. “A-Alright, I'm staring at the open fridge. Now what?”

“Okay you’ll need, olive oil, bacon, an onion, salt, pepper, chicken broth, and fresh collard greens… Do we have that?”

“...you do understand that bacon isn't vegetarian, right? And neither is chicken broth.” ...I hope those two things aren't important because otherwise I'll just have to sift through online forums on feeding vegetarians. Or just give him plenty of salad.

“Well… You’re going to put the bacon in the skillet and use the grease it makes to sautée the onions… Then put all the collard greens in a big pot and let it simmer in chicken broth… So, I don’t see how a vegetarian would eat this in the first place…”
Lathe hesitated a moment before holding the phone to his chest, turning to Armin and Eren. “Are you guys sure this guy’s vegetarian? Because collard greens isn't exactly vegetarian.”

Armin quirked an eyebrow, setting down the apple wedge and knife he was holding to dry off his hands and use his phone. “I'm positive… did you say it had bacon and chicken broth in it?” That's weird. He probably has a special recipe for it somewhere. “Here, let me text Marco and ask him how he makes collard greens, spare everyone a headache.” He hadn't sent the text a minute before his phone pinged, an image of a recipe coming up. Armin handed Lathe his phone. “Here-vegetarian collard greens.” That ought to clear things up.

...I think we have all this. Lathe read over the recipe, holding the house phone back up to his ear as he studied it. “Marco sent us the right recipe Hon- thanks though. Oh, when do you think you'll be home?” There aren't many days when you have the option to be home...

Spades sighed quietly. “I'm not sure Lathe, I have a few frozen turkey bombs to attend to.” They always put the frozen ones into the fryers.

Lathe’s expression fell a bit, though he tried to let it go. “I'm sorry, I know you've got a job to do…” But that doesn't mean I don't sometimes wish you weren't gone all day, every day... “Just try to be home for dinner, please. And smack those people upside the head for me for not knowing the basics of turkey cooking.” ...and does everyone cook their turkeys in fryers now? What the hell! ...I'm feeling old again. Crap.

“I’ll try, I make no promises, I'm sorry, El Tigre…” She smirked, almost able to hear his face flush. You gotta be completely flushed...

Eren looked to Lathe’s face and instantly took a picture of his father with the resemblance of a tomato. That's already going to the group chat... And.... Sent.

“W-wha...” Lathe didn't have time to respond before he caught sight of Eren snapping his picture, pointing to him immediately. “You delete that picture right now.” I know I'm probably red as hell right now but No . I'm so done. He tried to snatch Eren’s phone, only to miss as he moved it out of reach.

“Don’t worry Dad! It’s deleted…” and by that I meant sent...
Spades looked at her phone as it buzzed with the picture that Eren had sent to the group chat. That's adorable… “Alright, I gotta go now, I love you Tiger.”

“L-Love you too, S-Spades.” …Dammit. Lathe hung up, immediately turning his full attention back to Eren. “Show me. Prove it.” He looked as Eren showed him the end of his camera roll, seeing it was nowhere to be found. Good. His relief was short-lived as he heard his phone buzz, looking at it and reading the addition to the group chat.

SO: So… What did bae say /this/ time?

Lathe saw the image above it, looking up to Eren and glaring. “You didn't.” … he did. Lathe immediately moved to grab Eren’s phone back, succeeding and fleeing the scene, trying to get rid of the picture from the group chat as Eren followed, having to resort on holding it way above his head while trying to delete it while Eren struggled to reach high enough to take it back. Nope nope nope not cool. He had just gotten rid of it when another number pinged the chat, one he hadn't seen in awhile.

PB: thank god I saved that XD

EY: NO DAMJFHRFRENEWLW

EY: Dad stole my phone YAY

LQ: Eren, I'm texting you whilst standing two feet away from you to let you know you're awful sometimes.

EY: I am? I wasn't aware that’s how you viewed me… And hi Phoebe!

PB: sup man

PB: and come on lathe that picture is too good not to share

PB: not sharing that epic blackmail material totally normal image with the world is like

PB: probably a crime somewhere

PB: idk I’d ask Spades but she's probably saving someone from their own dinner right around now

PB: also easy on the guy he’s just exercising his freedom of speech

PB: and nothing about your right to privacy or whatever

PB: this is important stuff

LQ: Traitor. …also that's exactly what she's doing.
LQ: And I'm only /kinda/ sorry.

EY: Mom had to save people from exploding chickens!

PB: ...that's the single best sentence I've ever read

LQ: ...turkeys, Hon. They're exploding turkeys.

PB: people really can be dumb when it comes to food

PB: as in making it explode

PB: that just lets you know who's... y'know. not smart

EY: wait.... They're not chickens? What the hell's a turkey?

DR: Do you seriously not know what a turkey is.

DR: Lathe, when were you gonna teach him the /important/ stuff?

LQ: Well sor-ry, /Damien,/ if that is your real name,

LQ: I thought Thanksgiving went without much explanation

LQ: It literally goes make food

LQ: Eat food with other people

LQ: Not cook for a week

PB: pretty self explanatory

PB: and I mean you don't /have/ to have turkey

PB: we had lamb once and I didn't sure as hell didn't complain

DR: ...I probably would've.

DR: For a good five minutes and then gotten over it because... well, food.

EY: SO WHAT THE FUCK IS A TURKEY??!

DR: They're these big birds with dark brown feathers that only look big because they have an ungodly amount of feathers

DR: Seriously the feathers sometimes stop shotgun shot

DR: It's legit

DR: But they're... they're /turkeys,/ man.

DR: Here.

sends image of a turkey
PB: they also have this annoying habit of wandering into the middle of intersections and not leaving

PB: I was late to work twice because of them

LQ: We literally had turkey last year, Eren. Do you /not/ remember this? (!)

EY:.... That wasn't a chicken?

LQ: ...oh my god

PB: LOL

DR: LOL

PB: IM DYING

PB: this is getting snap chatted right now

DR: Same

EY: ..... So it wasn’t a chicken?

LQ: .....................

LQ: ......no, Eren.

LQ: that was not a chicken.

PB: this is my lock screen now

EY: then what was it?

LQ: IT.

PB: WAS.

DR: A.

LQ: TURKEY!!!!1!!111111111

EY:............... Oh

LQ: yeeerreeeeeeeeaaaaaah.

SO: that whole conversation has made it to iFunny... And is currently trending... Congrats

PB: wait... don't you have something to be not burning?

LQ: CRAP

DR: Twenty bucks says it's a plot to get Spades back home

PB: I'm not betting against that
PB: it sounds too much like something he would do

LQ: SHUT UP I NEED TO MAKE BREAD

EY: If you burn it, maybe Mom will come home.

LQ: ……that is /really/ tempting, but then I'd be in trouble…

LQ: no she’d have to file paperwork of some sort I think

LQ: I need to shut up and cook now because APPARENTLY were having over NINE OTHER PEOPLE and I found out this MORNING. ...EREN.

EY: I regret nothing… Blame Scotty for distracting me.

CP: What’s this about Scotty?

SO: What! What did I do!?

PB: that timing tho

PB: OTP

LQ: OTP

DR: OTP

CP: wtf?

SO: HOW MANY TIMES DO I NEED TO TELL YOU HEATHENS!

SO: I’M /NOT/ GAY!!!

PB: suuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuure you’re not

DR: We sooooooooooooooooooooooooooo believe you

LQ: there's nooooooooooooooooooo way you could be, y'know…

LQ: in denial

PB: disillusioned

DR: Wrong

CP: delusional

LQ: ……tooooooooooooooooooooooooooooootally.

SO: God dammit, fuck you all!

CP: Gladly ;)

SO: I’m bringing Felix by the way!
CP: .... Who’s Felix?
LQ: he’s nobody really, just some guy who’s chillin’ at Scotty’s for the long weekend
LQ: great guy, I've heard
SO: Fuck you Lathe!
LQ: Sorry bro someone already called you

Text message from CP
CP: Are you serious? He has a boyfriend already. _-_ LQ: only sorta
LQ: he’s a boy
LQ: and his friend apparently
LQ: but the thing is he doesn’t talk much
LQ: doesn’t really say anything other than woof
LQ: but y’know
CP: .... Do I have to come tonight…. I don’t think I can anymore
LQ: dude Scotty is bringing a therapy dog from the hospital he’s been put in charge of because the trainer is sick or something
LQ: you have no competition
LQ: please please please please PLEASE come… there's food and trust me half the people at the table are trying to get this ship to sail as of right now

CP: Well, we all know how well that’s gone so far… Don’t push it Lathe, okay? I don’t want him to hate me more than he already hates gay people…. And don’t mention anything… I still don’t think I could handle him looking at me differently.
LQ: I'll have place cards out on the table, you two will be next to each other. I won't push it more than that… okay?
CP: Thanks, I still… I’m too scared to tell him dammit...
LQ: This'll all work out in due time, don't worry.
LQ: If you think you should, do it.
LQ: But I’m not pushing it tonight
LQ: Promise.
The kitchen was a mess of food, noise and nerves until five thirty approached and the doorbell first rang, Scotty having arrived early with Felix in tow, Blake assessing him from afar in the kitchen, Salem on his head and still wearing his hat as he gazed at the new animal. New doge? Why new doge? I like this doge… I don't wanna share… Salem memes at the dog, trying to assume a strong stance, only to look cutely dramatic. New doge. Is doge threat to my human? I don't think so- bigger human trusts doge, and the other other bigger human too… Blake had warily approached Felix, left to stare at him as the two of them silently debated who the better doge was while people began to arrive, Levi and Erwin having taken over in the kitchen with last-minute cooking. Lathe had to tell them to keep the volume of their shit jokes to a minimum on his many trips between the kitchen and the long table, having been brought up and set up, covered with a tablecloth and neatly set, small place cards on thick card paper having been made quickly in Lathe’s calligraphic hand. The table was also heavy with many pots and bowls and trays, all sorts of snacks and sides and of course, the large turkey platters laid out. Lathe had set down the last few things, the two baskets of fresh dinner rolls and the mashed potatoes and gravy, double checking everything was out before calling everyone to the table. He cast a sad look to the spot next to his seat at the end of the table, empty, when the doorbell rang and he beamed, going to sweep Spades inside. “Welcome home, Hon. We just sat down.” I missed you.

Spades smiled softly as she looked to everyone as they were herded to the long table. “It smells wonderful in here.” She leaned forwards and kissed his cheek as she went to go upstairs to go and change out of her uniform quickly. I’ll be down soon.

Eren came over to Lathe, a curious look on his face. “Um… Do you want anything to drink? Since I’m getting drinks?” He asked quietly. I don’t want to seem rude and forget you or Mom.

Lathe smirked, nodding. “Let’s see if you remember how to make coffee- I know there’s already a pot made, but do you know what I put in it is the question.” Just because school isn't in session doesn't mean I can't give a pop quiz. “Your mother is going to want water, most likely. Thanks, Eren.” All of the help! Lathe herded people to the table as Eren took drink orders, sitting down next to Spades after everyone had made it to the table, nudging her foot with his toes. You’re home-now. Who’s going to say grace?

“Does anyone else want say grace, or do I have to?” I just want to eat already- there's enough to feed an army here and it looks too damn good! Nobody objected, so Jean shrugged and started to lead them in the short prayer. “Bless us O Lord… well, everyone but Eren… and these thine gifts, even if they are technically Lathe’s and not yours, which we are definitely bound to receive as they are right in front of us, from the bounty of Whole Foods, All Hail the Wolf Lord Beowulf and Glory to Arstotzka, A-men.” Yes. I remember. Two can play the asshattery game. He looked up at the silence that followed, just looking around at their shocked expressions with indifference. ...can we eat now?
“........amen?” What the actual fuck? Why are we putting up with you again? Lathe looked at him incredulously, before shrugging and just shaking his head in defeat. “Y’know what… close enough.” Food.

“Well, now we know that you’re retarded too, Horseface.” Eren’s snide remark came from across the table and between Armin and Levi.

Lathe held up a hand and promptly silenced the two of them, looking between them. “Listen, you two, instead of using your yaps to insult each other… use them to eat your turkey.” I don't want to hear your bickering for the entire night. I've heard it gets bad and I've already heard enough.

Eren sighed. “That's fine…. Food! ” It only took a few seconds for everyone to have their plates filled with food. I’m gonna eat the fried turkey, cause Levi made it… Eren filled his plate along with everyone else. It was relatively quiet for the first few minutes of the meal until Marco spoke up.

“Mr. Quo, they’re perfect, especially for your first time making it…” Marco had a bright smile on and a radiance around him as he ate another forkful.

Lathe smiled. “I'm glad you like them, Marco. And please- just call me Lathe.” Really. I don't need the titles.

Marco shook his shyly, smiling sheepishly. “I'm sorry, Mr. Quo... I really can't.” You're an adult. I have to- it feels wrong not to.

Lathe grinned. “Sure you can. Here, say it- Lay-the.” Easy.

Marco feigned a look of concentration in forming his words. “…Mmmister Quo.” This is how this works.

Lathe just raised his hands in surrender, giving up. “Fine, I guess I'll live. Can't really complain about you having manners, though.” Nope- if anything it's a good thing.

Eren joked around with his friends as they sat around at the table, a majority of them bringing up questions from tests that either Armin or Eren had taken… And most were answered with ‘Oh’s and ‘Dammit’s, not that anyone really minded, the teens were at the farther end of the table, allowing the adults to sit together, and be dismissed from their conversations, which bounced from topic to topic.

“So, Fagger, what do you want for Christmas?”

“A horse would be nice, but I definitely don’t want you.” Why can’t you not insult me for one day? You know it’s not gonna turn out well.

Jean snorted. “Believe me, I wouldn't want you either. I'd probably kick and aim for your head the second I got the chance.”

“We know Horseface, you should be thankful we haven’t sent you to the slaughterhouse, yeh lame fucker.” Eren countered back just as quickly.

Lathe just dropped his head into his hand as he heard Eren and Jean’s voices shoot across the table. ...here they fucking go...

“Are you kidding? Who here exactly is the one that wouldn't stand a chance in a fight against, say, Elvis? Who is dead, should I remind you?”

“I believe that’s you, yeh fucking pansy, shall we remind you of who screamed like a girl the second they saw a spider on their desk.” Eren snickered along with the rest of the teens who had been there to witness that incident.

Jean ignored the snickers around him. “At least I don't need some animal to constantly provide me with moral support, you suicidal bastard. I'm just glad he keeps you from jumping and screaming at the sight of your own shadow .”

“At least Eren’s not the one I had to write up at the station a month ago.” Spades countered quickly, taking another forkful of her food. I knew I remembered you from somewhere... And I kinda agree with Eren... He does look like a horse.

Jean sputtered at that, looking up to her in disbelief as he heard her speak. “W-what… how’d you…” How did you know that? His eyes flickered over to Lathe, swallowing hard as he saw the look of utter hatred directed his way, though he caught a glint in them as he spoke calmly.

“How did you know that?” Lathe smirked, his eyes still holding malice as he gestured to Spades next to him. “This is my fiancée, whom you may know as Commissioner Spade. She is also Eren’s mother.” You fucked up.

Jean paled, looking between the two of them when something clicked, looking back to Eren for clarification. “Faggot I thought you already killed your mother? What, were you looking for another one to burn up?”

Eren instantly stood up at that comment, grabbing Jean from across the table and picking him up. “I was nice enough to invite you to my own house, and here you go, not only insulting me! Which I can fucking take! But you go on and insult my dead mother?” Eren swung his arm back, nailing Jean in the face and throwing him backward. “Learn some fucking manners you hot-headed freak!” Eren moved out from his seat and started towards the other side of the table. His eyes blazed with fury and the amount of curses he was throwing at Jean, having finally switched over to German, was appalling.

I've had enough. Lathe stood, walking over to the two of them evenly and leaning down to pick Jean up by the front of his shirt, Scotty having to come around the table to keep Eren from following to beat the tar out of him. Lathe dragged Jean to the front door and practically shoved him past the stoop, throwing his shoes after him on the concrete walk and locking the door on him. fuck… Lathe went back to Eren, still struggling against Scotty’s hold, and grabbed his fists with his own, stilling him a bit and getting his attention. “Eren, as much as Jean deserves it, I’m not letting you go beat the tar out of him. That’s the last time he’s allowed in this house. It’s over, kid. Just try to chill, and sit back down, alright?” I hate him too. But I can't just let you let your anger take over.

Eren huffed and stopped his struggling, ripping his arms from Scotty’s hands, managing to rip the bandaid off of his finger. Well shit… I’m gonna need another one… Eren looked to his hand to see if his finger was still bleeding as heavily as it was before, his eyes widened as he saw that his cut had healed… Completely.

“What- oh, crap. You're probably going to need another one.” Scotty moved to Lathe’s bag, knowing he had bandages.

Lathe watched as Eren inspected his finger, seeing it was completely healed over. what. “U-um, Scotty… he’s not going to need it.” He's okay…
“What do you mean? He must've been bleeding pretty badly to need it.” There was plenty on the old one. “How would he not.” Scotty stopped with the small box in hand as he saw Lathe inspecting his fully-healed finger. “...that’s a perfectly intact finger, Lathe. I think you’ve got the wrong one.”

Lathe just shook his head. “He cut his finger with an apple peeler earlier today. ...but now it’s fine.” ...I don't understand.

Scotty looked down to the blood on the old bandaid. “Are you sure you have the right finger?” I swear... this kid just keeps getting more and more complicated as I learn more about him. I doesn’t seem possible that one could heal this quickly from a cut.

“Pretty sure, Scotty.” That’s just weird... wait. Lathe turned back to Scotty and pointed to him, his expression neutral. “Remember what you promised , Scotty.” If you try to run away with this I'll run you out onto the street too. “C’mon kid, your plate’s getting cold.” Lathe nudged Eren to go back to his seat, sending one more pointed look to Scotty. Don't. Lathe went to sit back down again, not knowing if he needed to apologize to Mr. Arlert, feeling a bit out of place at his own table all of a sudden. Dammit…

Eren swallowed hard and moved away from the both of them quickly and moving to sit down in his seat again. “Why does he always need to be like that?” Eren mumbled quietly, feeling a sudden drain as he ate. I feel really tired… fuck… cam I still not caught up on sleep?

Scotty rolled his eyes, getting back to his own seat. He started eating again and the tense air seemed to clear as the conversations started back up again. I'm still glad I could get off today... and Felix seems to be doing fine. He noticed that Blake got up and went right behind Eren’s seat…. Is Eren gonna panic or something? Scotty let it go since Eren seemed fine for now.

Casper looked up as Eren passed him, his brow furrowing as Blake went under the piano to let Salem hop off before going to sit behind Eren’s chair. Hmm... He glanced up every now and then to check on him. ...am I losing my mind, or does Eren keep getting paler?

Levi noticed Eren shift next to him, resting a hand on his knee and whispering quietly. “You okay? You seem out of it. And you don't look too great…”

Eren picked his head up a bit as Levi spoke, nodding a bit, leaning closer to him, regretting that he had in fact nodded. Fuck… I feel dizzy... He looked to his empty plate, reaching to pick it up, and stand up to start bringing dishes in. He stood up rather quickly, but what he wasn’t expecting was to sway forward, unable to keep his balance. Fuck it. Eren couldn’t focus on anything as he dropped his plate the few inches he had managed to pick it up.

Levi had immediately moved to catch Eren from swaying forward, bringing him back and easing him onto the floor, Scotty, Casper and Spades standing to come help him while Lathe went to get his medical bag. Fuck. Blake stayed just behind the four of them, letting them close to him. Many big humans want to help my human? Big humans I trust…? Yes. I trust big humans. My big human is coming to help too. If he trusts humans, I trust humans. “Just take it easy, Eren. Don’t try to move too much, just breathe.”

Eren took in a deep breath, feeling completely and utterly incapacitated as he was laid down on the floor. He felt Spades move to get a pulse on his neck, feeling her warm hands against his skin. Her touch felt unusually cool from the heat emanating from within him. I feel hot… Eren moved to lift his head, his nose starting to bleed heavily as he did so, making his dizziness increase tenfold.

Lathe knelt down next to Levi, digging for gauze in his bag and pulling out a wad of it, helping Levi to ease Eren up to sit on the floor. He had Eren press the gauze against his nose to stop the bleeding, wiping up the blood that had already streamed down his face. Not good. Not good.

What the hell happened? Casper puzzled over what happened, himself holding Eren’s wrist for his pulse. “My god, your heart is beating like crazy… and you feel like you're on fire.” Casper felt his forehead, his brow furrowed. “Dizziness, bleeding nose, fast heartbeat, really high temperature… all I really know right now is you're burning up. Which isn't good, obviously. But it doesn't immediately add up to anything I can think of.” He thought hard, his gaze flicking back to Eren’s hand, a gear turning. ...what if his cut healing so fast had something to do with it? ... probably not… I dunno. I'll run numbers later.

Scotty shook his head. “I’m not sure either… but it seems like he’s got a fever and a nosebleed, and he’s a little lethargic.” Scotty caught how Casper was looking at Eren’s hand. …Did this happen because his body healed a cut on his finger?

Eren moved his head to lean back into Levi, struggling to lift his own arm to hold the gauze which was becoming saturated with blood at this point. “...’m… fine…” He flailed a bit, moving his arms to shoo them away. I’m exhausted… I wanna sleep.

Mr. Arlert, who had been relatively quiet during the dinner, smiled as Eren shooed the small crowd away to give him some space. He watched as Levi lifted Eren up and sat him back into his chair for the moment, speaking with an amused tone to the table and the small crowd hovering around Eren. “It really is convenient that there are five doctors in the house.” And three of them live here.
Eren smiled and nodded, holding the gauze to his nose still, his chair close to Levi’s as he leaned back into him. Yeah… But I just kinda wanna curl up and sleep in a corner…

Lathe chuckled, ruffling his hair gently as he went back to his chair, his bag hanging off the back. “You’ll be able to lay down soon enough, Eren.” And he was right- it was not long before everyone had eaten as much turkey as they wanted, dessert plates and pies with whipped cream passed down the table, everyone sipping from fresh tea or coffee from their mugs if they had them. Armin had left with his Grandfather shortly after dessert, having to drive the two of them home. The teenagers at the one end of the table were engrossed in their own conversation, having moved to the other end of the room so Eren could lay down on the beanbag bed, his head in Levi’s lap as they conversed. The adults were clearing the table and putting away leftovers, Scotty and Casper having insisted on helping with the dishes. They chatted freely, the conversation somehow drifting to Eren and Levi being gay.

“I don’t see how it’s so hard to wrap your head around the concept.”

“I just don’t understand how it could possibly last! I mean they’re both men! That means one of them has to take it up the ass! That’s both disgusting, and I don’t see how either of them could enjoy doing it.” I don’t see how any man could love another man… At all.  “I don’t see how their relationship could possibly last! A man cannot love a man for that long.”

Lathe laughed, snapping the lid on a container of applesauce, speaking without thinking. “Oh, please. Casper’s loved you since freshman year!” Lathe eyes widened the instant the words left his mouth, realizing what he’d said. FUCK. Lathe immediately looked up to Casper, his eyes apologetic, guilty and scared all at the same time. “Uhm…” Dammit.

Scotty looked up in disbelief from the plate he just dropped in the sink. “You can’t be serious… That’s a fucking joke.” Nope… He can’t be serious… Why would Casper even like me?

...*first he outs me… and then Scotty laughs it off like it’s nothing… Casper’s expression switched from shock to anger to terror, before settling on heartbroken. Casper simply finished the last dish he was holding, handing it to Scotty to dry, his eyes downcast and chest hurting. You really haven’t changed… at all… I need to let it go, but… I don’t want to… Casper dried off his hands, looking over to Lathe, too sad to be angry and instead mouthing to him behind Scotty’s back. ‘Distract everyone.’ … Something that’ll let me talk to Scotty. We need to set things straight.

Lathe was puzzled, closing the fridge and looking around for an idea. *Just do what he says. Uh… oh! Lathe’s eyes landed on the piano, nodding to the other room to everyone and leading them out of the kitchen, Spades seeming to catch on and herding Scotty along. He sat down at the piano, looking underneath and checking for Salem, who trotted over to his foot as he sat down. It's loud down there- Lathe picked him up and set him on his shoulder, deciding what to lay as the teenagers in the corner seemed to notice what he had in mind to do, getting their attention. Lathe’s hands hovered for a moment over the keys before starting to play.

Thank the fucking lord you're doing this right. Casper waited until Lathe had started to sing before grabbing Scotty’s sleeve, dragging him out of the room and into the Scripting Room, near the basement door.

“C-Casper! What the hell are you doing?” Why are you taking me away from everyone? What the hell?

“Keep your voice down, you idiot.” Casper whispered to him, stopping him at the door and taking a deep breath, trying to muster up his courage. He finally spoke, his eyes shut as he held his hand in a fist at his side, the other still gripping Scotty’s sleeve near the cuff. “Two seconds ago, about me… l-landing you since high school… he…” SAY IT. “…He wasn't lying.” There. I said it.

Scotty took a few seconds to put everything together.…. Wait… “Casper… It’s been years…” Why the hell were you waiting? Why didn't you tell me? I could’ve put an end to your waiting game! It’s not gonna result in anything!

Casper let out a heavy sigh. “…it doesn't matter.” I don't care that so long has gone by with nothing. He finally found the courage to look up, both terrified and determined. “That doesn't change the fact that I feel that way.” …you know what. Fuck it. Casper reached up with his free hand to grab the front of Scotty’s shirt, pulling him down to his level before he could protest and kissing him, both chaste and at the same time as if when they broke apart Scotty would go from being his friend to hating him. I don't want to lose you… but at the same time, doing nothing...means I've already lost...

... He just kissed me… I was kissed by my best friend! What the FUCK!? Scotty stood there, stunned into silence as he looked at Casper. What the fuck do I do? I’m not gay at all… Nope, I’ve liked tits since day one… Why the fuck would I change now?

Casper held their kiss as long as he could stand it, breaking away and looking to him, seeing the overwhelming confusion in Scotty’s expression. Well, he didn't smack me… that's a good sign… I guess? “Scotty, please, just… think about it.” Casper let go of Scotty, walking around him and back to the others, Scotty following him dazedly. ……what have I done?
Scotty just followed him, leaning against the wall, just staring at the floor. Casper just kissed me like his life depended on it... But he’s a guy... So... What the fuck do I make of this? Casper was lost in thought as a few of Eren’s friends left and it was only him and Casper left as guests. What the hell am I supposed to do?

It’s getting late- Eren’s passed out, Levi looks like he wants to, even Salem is yawning and you two look really out of it. ...What did you do? “Alright you two, it’s getting late. You should probably head home.” Lathe gave the both of them a hug and a weary, warm smile. “Drive safe, okay?” There’s probably a million thoughts on your minds- but don't let them impede on driving, okay?

Casper nodded, giving Lathe a weak smile and slipping on his shoes, bidding goodbye to everyone before leaving, turning as Scotty followed him outside, not sure how to say goodbye to him. Please don’t tell me I ruined things....

Scotty seemed to wake up a bit more as they stepped outside into the cold air. It’s snowing... He watched the white specs fall in peaceful silence. “Casper... I’ll see you around... I think I’m gonna take the job offer I got in Wichita...” He trailed off, not knowing what else to say. It would give me a reason to put some distance between us.

Wichita... that's a ways away... I won't see you as much, if at all, really... but... Casper sighed, offering him a weak smile. “I guess if it's what you want- take the offer... If you do think that's where you want to go.” I wouldn't want you sticking around just for me anyway if there's a better job for you somewhere. If you want to... I'm not going to stop you. That wouldn't be right. ...I don't like it... but if you want to, do it. “...I'll see you around, Scotty.” Casper turned to his car, snowflakes catching in his hair, and as much as he didn't like the idea, he let it go. It'll be okay.
Chapter 27: 26.5: Tides Turn

Well, the holidays went fast... And I’m finding myself calling Levi more often than not, It’s need almost 8 months since the thanksgiving incident and I’ve been on sleeping medication ever since. We’ve tried three different PTSD medications... I think we’ve tried them all... But none of them have worked... I passed Junior year with flying colors... I tried making peace with Jean. That did not go as planned at all... And Mom wasn’t too pleased when she had to have Dad pick me up from the station... I’m not even gonna get into what stupid bet I won... All I care about is that I won and Jean got arrested for it! Sucks for him, really, fresh outta high school and he’s already got a record to him. Ha! Anyways, Levi’s gone already, and the Academy told him that he won’t be able to come back for breaks... But I guess that’s what happens when you’re gaining ranks left and right. I’m really proud of him, he’s doing great! I can only hope that he’ll come home in one piece again... This is my last summer before I graduate high school, god where has the time gone? I’m 19 right now... It’s officially been a decade since I moved to the states... And it’s been 3 and a half years since Lathe adopted me... Mom and Dad have been around a lot, Mom’s been taking some time off to get their wedding together, and they’ve been calling literally everyone they know so that they know they can come to the wedding. But I got to invite Mark and Jack! Which I’m excited about because they said yes! They’ve been gone every now and then planning everything out, they meet with a few different people, and I can’t keep anything straight anymore. But enough of them, I just got off the phone with Levi for our daily calls, and now I feel like I can actually do this.

Eren took a deep breath as he came back into the recording studio, Lathe and Jeff waiting for him inside. Nate was late as usual, but would be there soon. Time to sing about sex.

“You done on the phone yet? Think an hour of German will tide Levi over until after dinner?” Lathe grinned mischievously, looking up as Eren entered again. You’re talking to him so much these days- if you’re on the phone, it’s with or about him. ...I do get it, though. We all miss him. But you’re here right now to put those vocal chords of yours to use.

Eren had a soft smile on his face. “Yeah, I’m ready... Um... Are the guys warmed up?” I’ve never sang with an actual band behind me before... It’s gonna feel soooo weird...

“Yep, I’d say so. Head on inside- you know the drill. Just be chill- you’ve done this tons of times.” Lathe smiled, grabbing a set of headphones connected to the switchboard in front of them. This’ll be... weird, to say the least. I’ve seen the list he’s doing. ...I’ll try not to cringe too hard. Keep it internal.

Eren nodded and went inside and grabbed his head phones. “Okay, Soulja Boy first, ‘Kiss me through the phone’.” Eren took a drink of water and he waited for the band to start behind him and he felt the room come to life and the exhilaration from the vibrations around him let him just unwind, loosen up, and let it all out.

...first try, and it sounds really good. Lathe nodded along to it, giving Eren a thumbs up after the Eren smiled a bit wider and he continued to list of song after song, only stopping when the band needed a break, or he ran out of water in his water bottle. They managed to crack out a huge album of covers in a few hours:

- Kiss Kiss: Chris Brown
- It Wasn’t Me: Shaggy
- Carry Out: Timbaland
- S&M: Rihanna
- Talk Dirty: Jason Derulo
- Ain’t No Other Man: Christina Aguilera
- Turn Me On: David Guetta
- Pony: Ginuwine
- Gimme More: Britney Spears
- Sexual: NEIKED
- Grind With Me: Pretty Ricky
- Ignition (Remix): R. Kelly
- When I Grow Up: The Pussycat Dolls
- London Bridge: Fergie
- SexyBack: Justin Timberlake
- Money Maker: Ludacris
- Drop It Low: Ester Dean
- Lollipop: Lil Wayne
- Bubblegum: Jason Derulo
- BedRock: Young Money
- Scream: Usher
- Side to Side: Ariana Grande

Lathe got used to listening after a few songs. Eren has a real knack for sounding like a girl if he wants to. And for rapping. Yeah, he’s good at that. I’m seriously impressed. ...I get the feeling Levi would pay a ridiculous amount of money just to hear one of these songs once. He’s going to like this album. Lathe cheered as they finished the last song, their final take successful. “That was amazing! You did a really good job, Eren!”

Jeff nodded, dismissing the band as he looked at the recordings they had. “They look great! Oh, while you’re here… Um, you wanna look through the list of artists that wanna sing with you?” There’s a bunch and I know you’ll say yes to at least a few of the big names.

Eren nodded, following Jeff to his office to get the large stack of folders and papers. The stack was at least a foot and a half high, filled with papers and songs. “That’s all for me?” Eren asked with wide eyes. What the hell?
Nate grinned, flicking through the top packets of papers all stapled together. “Oh yeah, Eren. You're popular! Everyone wants to sing something with you! ...or in at least one case, play the cello with you.” That's a thing.

“No way! 2Cellos wants to play with me ?!” I can't believe it. Eren took the papers from Nate and his eyes widened even more. Oh my god... They really do! So does Rihanna, Halsey, Imagine Dragons... Bruno Mars too? Oh my god these guys are so big though... What happens if I screw up?

“They'd be crazy not to want to play with you! You're so popular, and for good reasons, too!” Lathe beamed, flicking through half of the stack of requests. Oh my god. This is great!

Eren swallowed hard, and after about an hour of flicking through the whole pile, they had it down to a 6 inch stack of artists that Eren would perform with, a majority of them being very large icons in the music industry. Beyoncé even put one in.... Holy shit ...

Jeff took the stack. “Okay, I'll take these, and I’ll call you guys to come in tomorrow so we can get a schedule all set up and make sure deals get settled relatively quickly… But for now, you guys are all set for today, good job Eren.” Jeff had a smile on his face as he patted Eren’s back. I can only imagine what the music videos are gonna look like for these songs... And he actually agreed to music videos!

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Well, I think that summer went by without me spending a week at home... It was really weird, it was alms or like we were always in LA, and we stayed at a hotel for a majority of the time, Nate had us over for dinner a shit ton, I got to meet a bunch of people and make a bunch of videos. I got invited to perform on stage... Yeah, can you believe that? I was invited to be on stage with Katy Perry while her tour was in LA. I was on stage! Again! I was so nervous! But the crowd absolutely loved it! And I can tell, cause I was trending on Twitter for basically the whole summer. Dad also let me go around LA with Blake and let people come and take pictures with me all day! It was literally called #FindMe=Selfies... Yeah I had a lot of people and groups come and find me, it was a little nerve racking, but Jeff convinced me it would help with sales... And sure enough, I had achieved the record of most albums sold on ITunes... Yeah, I now hold the record with my songs about sex. Which we ended up calling: Covering It Up. People went wild... I actually sat down to talk with Dad about colleges too, and I don’t really want to go, I kinda don’t have to either… I mean, I don’t have to… I’m set for life at this point, and so is Dad because the sales increased from our first album from a year ago. I also signed a contract with Spotify and Apple, so that’s taking in the cash… But before I could think about it, I was thrusted into recording videos and that took up all summer. I managed some how to make music videos for almost all the songs, and we actually set up my own Vevo account, which has alms or all my subscribers on it. Those months were exciting, and before I knew what was happening, I was thrusted back into the school workload, months coming and passing before I had a chance to even blink. I've really been doing nothing but work and some recording for the past few months, I finished up my final exams... And so I'm on my way to Levi's apartment after heading to the grocery store. I moved on about a month ago..., it's kinda weird living on my own but I don't mind it. Dad was a little reluctant to let me come over but I convinced him that the soon-to be weds should be able to have a proper honeymoon period. Levi's gonna be coming home in about two weeks. So I'm gonna be waiting in his apartment for him to come home after his final exams this year...... It's Friday... And I just wanna get home.

Eren got out of the car, Blake at his heels as he got out, taking all the groceries up the stairs to the top floor. I still can't believe no one's moved in around me... Then again Levi's got some deal with the owner of this place to get old people who can't hear next to him... For some reason... Probably because whenever we come over here... We... Fuck... And I'm loud.... And the walls are thin.... Oh well, it's quiet, and we don't get any noise complaints. Eren came in and messed with the loose door handle, trying to lock the door but giving up after a few moments and just letting it go. Fuck it, it's not like anyone will come in anyway...

Eren walked inside, getting the groceries that he needed to get in the fridge into the fridge. He pulled out what he needed to start making his dinner. He was softly humming along, starting to chop up multiple different things and throw them into a skillet with oil. He let it sizzle loudly, his humming quickly turning into singing.

Blake got up from where he was, going to the door, his ears perked. He watched as it opened and a man with a similar scent to Eren's walk into the house. He followed, sniffing the man, putting blind trust in him for the moment and following him as he went up to Eren. Why is this human not announcing himself? Blake got confused as this new human picked up one of the last cast iron pans Eren had kept out because it was drying. Why is this human bigger than my human? And is he helping with the dishes?

Eren was oblivious to anything as he stirred the veggies, just barely hearing the floor creak behind him as weight shifted on it. Huh? Eren didn't have time to turn around before the cast iron pan made contact with the back of his head, turning everything black before he even hit the floor.

And that was all I remembered....
Lathe looked up from his place at the piano as he heard sirens approaching, standing up as he watched an ambulance speed by, watching as it turned the corner. It sounds like it stopped near the apartment building... and that was one of the fire-rescue ambulances, too. Someone isn’t doing too well over there... Probably someone older fell or something of that sort. He watched as police cruisers sped after it not too long after, quirking his eyebrow. It must be really bad if they've called in for an escort. I hope whoever it is that got hurt is okay... He looked up as Armin pulled into the driveway in his Grandfather’s baby blue 1940 Chevrolet KA 2-door sedan, stepping out of the driver’s seat with a worried look on his face. He opened the door as he approached, giving him a concerned look. “Hey Armin. What’s up? You look worried.”

“Is Eren here? He’s not answering any of my texts or calls, I thought maybe he overslept or something from your movie night last night.” He came inside as Lathe motioned him in. It’s so weird, he hasn’t talked to me in like two weeks... I don’t get what’s up with him.

Lathe’s brow furrowed. “...He told me that you two were the ones having a movie night. And he told me he lost his phone, something about moving all his stuff to Levi’s apartment, that it might've gotten shuffled with other stuff in transit.”

Armin’s brow furrowed this time around. What? “... That’s not what he told me.... He said He broke it.... And that he couldn’t answer right away ‘cause he’s been feeling sick lately... but I figured he was better since he told me he was coming here for movie night with you....” Armin trailed off. Why the heck would Eren lie to us? He’s never lied to me before... has he?

The gears started turning in Lathe’s head, his eyes snapping back to the window as the ambulance and it’s escort flew past. He suddenly was hit with an overwhelming sense of dread, hanging onto the edge of the piano with his hand so his legs didn't give out under him. No, no... It’s just got to be a coincidence. Nothing could have happened, there wasn't any real danger posed to him in that apartment, he... he lied... and he cried when he was recording last... could... He jumped in surprise as his phone rang, quickly recognising Levi’s ringtone. ...Oh no, please don't tell me... He reached a shaky hand into his pocket, lifting it to his ear and answering it, slowly walking towards the front window. “...Hello?”

Levi’s voice was full of panic and fear. “Lathe, it’s me.... Grisha came back... We’re headed for one of the trauma centers in Wichita... I don’t know if we’ll make it in time-” Levi was pulled away from the call for a second as the EMT in the back of the fire rescue truck with him shouted at Levi to clear as he gave Eren a shock to start his heart. Lathe would’ve been able to hear it, along with the shock. “Lathe I gotta go, meet us here, please.”
That was the sound of a defibrillator. All the color drained from Lathe’s face, consciously trying not to drop his phone as the line dropped. Oh this is bad. This is very very bad. He stared after the sound, one thought hitting him and pulling out of his shock. My son is dying. He shoved his phone in his pocket, grabbing the keys to his bike and stomping on his boots, turning to Armin with a determined look on his face.

“Armin, we’re going for a ride.”

Nothing stopped Levi from practically unloading his weapon on Grisha, taking large steps as he got closer, watching as the man slowly fell to the floor with a soft thud. Two to the head... He’s definitely dead, the others were for added measure. He stepped up to him, his gun still trained on Grisha’s limp form, kicking away the knife he was holding, slowly reaching down to check for a pulse. None... Good. He turned to get to Eren immediately, seeing his large eyes widen with amazement, but also slight fear. “It’s okay, Eren, he won’t ever hurt you again.” He didn’t care that his pants soaked up a lot of blood from the large pool under Eren. He’s bled out a lot already. His eyes roamed over Eren’s thin frame. Two knives in either shoulder, one in each of his wrists, and one in each of his feet. They were trailed down his extremities... His stomach is covered in bruises, and it appears as though he has lacerations all over him. He’s burned on his wrists, along with his feet... He needs an ambulance... No he needs fire rescue, that’s closer. Levi fumbled for his phone, his bloody hands smearing against his dress clothes. He finally got it out and called 911, immediately put through to the operator.

“911, what’s your emergency?”

“Code 3 fire rescue needed at 200 Corps. St. Apt. 104. Delta response, deceased attacker on scene, victim’s name is Eren Yeager... 20 year old male, excessive blood loss and losing consciousness quickly. Victim is suffering many stab wounds, as well as lacerations and contusions, breathing is unstable, and eyes are responsive, but slow. Trained personnel on scene in need of assistance, immediate evac required. Hot ride to Wichita trauma center needed, possibly an IC unit as well.” He’s lost so much, but the hospital here can’t handle this.... We need an actual trauma center.

“Fire rescue is being dispatched to your location, can you stay on the phone?”

“I’m putting you on speaker then.” Levi was moving around frantically to find anything he could to apply pressure to his bleeding wounds. I am not letting you bleed out. Absolutely not.

“What personnel is on scene in need of assistance?”
“Lance Corporal Levi Ackerman, Medic for Marines infantry.” I’m training to be an EMT too, but I can take control of the situation when that happens.

“Okay, and you mentioned a deceased person on site as well?”

“Yes, it’s the victim’s biological Father, Grisha Yeager, Age unknown.” Fuck the bastard, thank god he’s dead.

Levi’s still struggling to put pressure on all of Eren’s wounds. “Eren stay with me, keep talking.”

“B--lake…” Blake… I need him...

Levi looked over towards a soft whimper that came from Blake. That asshole put him in a fucking cage!? Levi’s eyes noticed the large lock on the cage. My gun… That’s the only way it’s coming off at this point. Levi got up to pick his gun back up from near Grisha, leaving Eren for only a few second. “Sir, cover your ears, I need to use my gun again to get the victim’s service dog out of a locked cage.” Levi gave him no other warning before he shot the gun with precision, leaning down to open the door and help coax Blake out of the cramped cage, noticing the long gash on his side. Grisha would be a dead man if I didn’t already kill him...

Blake limped out of the cage once he was released and went to Eren’s side. The voice on the phone the only thing that snapped Levi out of his rage towards the dead man lying on the floor, in a puddle of his own blood.

“The victim is blind or deaf?”

“Victim is a mental patient, PTSD.” Which is now going to be worse thanks to that asshole.

“Okay, fire rescue is on scene now, they’ll help you, stay on the phone with me though.”

“Got it. If I can’t get a hold of the victim’s adoptive parents, please contact Lathe Quo to tell him his son is being sent to the hospital in the city.” Lathe should pick up when I call him though… He’ll leave the house in a heartbeat.
“Of course, once the fire rescue get there repeat the information to them that you told me earlier.”

Levi lifted his head to the open door, seeing a bunch of men come in and rush over to kneel beside Eren as well, opening their bags in an instant. I hope they have enough bandages, this is gonna take a long time to secure everything.

“Alright what we got?”

“Seven knife wounds, four can be safely removed without too much blood loss, the others are too close to internal organs or arteries to be removed.” Levi rattled out and that what they started with. It took a long time to gently take out the four knives lodged in his feet and his wrists. He’s being quiet…. I need to keep him awake. “Eren… Keep talking to me, you need to stay awake.”

“… I…. I love you… Levi…” I want you to know that… I can’t stay awake… my body feels like it’s on fire, my head hurts so much.

Fuck, don’t make me cry over this you shitty brat! Levi moved closer to Eren, leaning to kiss his forehead. “You’ll be okay, I promise Eren… But you need to stay awake, you need to.” Levi was distracted as he heard Blake start to whine, more people coming into the room. Fuck… This is a lot of people. “Enter slowly!” Levi called watching the guys with the stretcher slowly enter. “Victim is a PTSD patient and requires a service dog 24/7… The dog has been injured, can someone tell the hospital? He’ll need to see a vet.” Levi rattled off and kept Eren from freaking out as his bleeding wounds were wrapped to keep him from bleeding out on the ride to the hospital.

Eren watched the men move him around, fresh tears falling down his eyes as he was wrapped. It hurts… Levi make it stop… It hurts…. “Levi....” Eren’s strangled voice got Levi’s full attention again. “I-I’m so…. Sorry.” Eren’s eyes started to slowly close. I can’t stay awake anymore…. My head hurts.

“Eren!” Levi’s eyes widened as Eren’s eyes started to close, his body becoming limp as he lost consciousness. “Alright! Time to go!” He said and motioned the stretcher closer to him. “On my count, ready?” Levi looked up to see the men nod, following his commanding lead quickly and surrounding Eren to transport him. They lifted him up swiftly, Levi’s eyes widening as he saw the state of Eren’s back. “He needs burn treatment as well, he’s got third degree burns on not only his wrists and feet, but his whole back as well.” Levi’s voice was cool as he struggled to keep his composure in front of the men. He hadn’t even noticed how much blood was on his uniform. Blake’s gotta stay with him. He reached down and picked him up, laying him down at Eren’s side, quickly locating his vest and draping it over Eren’s lap. “Let’s move, now, do we have cruisers here?” Levi asked and one of the men carrying the stretcher nodded. “Good, we’ll need an escort. on the highway, we’ll be hitting the lunchtime rush hour.” Levi told them.

Eren was unconscious as they got him in the back of the fire rescue truck, some policemen followed the fire fighters up to the apartment to inspect the crime scene, and finding Grisha laying dead on the floor, Levi’s issued gun on the ground by him. Levi went right to one of the guys about to get in his cruiser. “Get back in your car, we need an escort, code three the whole way.” Levi informed him, the man nodding and just getting back in the car to start on the sirens. He raced back to the ambulance, hoping in and the vehicle sped off towards the city. We’ll make it there, we need to.

Eren stopped breathing before they even got to the highway. His heart rate flat-lining only moments later.

Levi ran a hand through his hair, letting out a shuddered sigh as the EMT started to bag Eren, putting a monitor on him to check his abnormally low heart rate and blood pressure. Fuck… I need to call Lathe. Levi fished out his blood covered phone from his pocket. God, don’t kill me for this Lathe.

Levi’s voice was full of panic and fear. “Lathe, it’s me…. Grisha came back… We’re headed for one of the trauma centers in Wichita… I don’t know if we’ll make it in time-” Levi was pulled away from the call for a second as the EMT in the back of the fire rescue truck with him shouted at Levi to clear as he gave Eren a shock to start his heart. Lathe would’ve been able to hear it, along with the shock. “Lathe I gotta go, meet us here, please.” Levi’s shaking hands ended the call and buried the phone deep into his pocket. Shit shit shit shit shit! Eren come on! Eren wake up! He watched in horror as Eren went through another round of shocks, the ambulance bustling along as they got onto an empty section of the highway. Come one Eren, you need to wake up!

Levi and the EMT continued to struggle to keep Eren’s vitals up… He had flat-lined twice more in the back of that ambulance, and had never regained consciousness. Come on Eren, we need you to breathe…. Please, I don’t want to lose you… Not you too. Levi continued to talk softly to Eren, hoping that he could hear him, hoping that he could survive the trip. The sirens were blaring, and the vehicle which was traveling well over 80 miles an hour for most of the highway started to slow and the buzzers sounding as they approached the city.
“HOLY SHIT! LATHE WHAT THE FUCK!?"

Lathe had chucked a motorcycle helmet at Armin, tightening his goggles and taking off after the ambulance, his gleaming red Harley screaming down the road after the ambulance, catching up to them quickly. He kept them close to the ambulance and the cruiser at the back of the escort, but made sure he wasn’t in their way at all.

“Um… There’s a vehicle tailing our escort. Should I pull them over… Or?”

Spades snatched the receiver from her partner before he could answer, speaking clearly. “Please describe the vehicle and it’s operator.”

“Let’s see, it’s a red Harley, and the driver’s a thirty-something male with short black hair wearing goggles.”

“Are there any passengers on the bike with him?”

“Yes, a teenager wearing a helmet.”

“Does this teenager happen to have blonde hair to the shoulders, can you tell?”

“...Yeah?”

I should've expected this. “Yeah, I know who it is. As long as he doesn’t get in the way, don’t stop him. Just give him a speeding ticket or something when you get there.” Spades put the receiver back. Just don’t fucking crash the bike with Armin on it, you’re doing at least eighty following the ambulance like that. I’m not giving two shits about his reckless driving today. One shit? Maybe. But two shits? No.
Lathe had Armin’s screaming behind him completely tuned out, focusing on following the ambulance. My son is in that ambulance. His heart has stopped at least once, and with an escort like that… This is very very bad. He looked over, reading the markers on the sides of the highway as they flew past. We’re making really good time… He glanced down to his speedometer. …probably because we’re doing 110 miles an hour. But it’s a rather straight highway, and it’s fucking abandoned at this hour, so it’s warranted. I wonder if I’m going to get in trouble for going 40 miles an hour over the speed limit, tailgating a police-escorted fire-rescue ambulance.

…Probably. I don't even fucking care anymore. They have my son in there. He kept his eyes set on the road ahead, deathly calm. We have an hour to go, at this rate. An hour. Eren, you need to hold on. It’s only an hour. I don't know how bad it is, but you need to hold on. Lathe gritted his teeth as they had to slow down for the rising city traffic, going 60 at most as they headed for the hospital. *Via Christi Hospital St. Joseph. Okay. He reluctantly broke from his pursuit of the ambulance, pulling into the general parking lot, forced to park near the back of the full, huge lot. He shut off the bike and hopped off quickly, taking the helmet from Armin and cutting off his furious shouts, his voice serious and eyes full of rising panic. “Armin, I'm sorry, I'll make it up to you, but right now my son is dying and we need to get in there and make sure he’s okay.” He put the helmet and his goggles on the seat of the bike and turned, running to the front doors of the hospital, Armin at his heels. He pushed open the doors, going straight up to the emergency room desk, his hands on the edge of the tall tabletop, looking intensely to the woman at the computer. “Eren Yeager, just came in in a fire-rescue ambulance?” You can tell me something. Anything. Please!

The heavier-set woman looked up from her computer, typing in a few things before she shook her head. “I’m sorry dear, but he’s in the OR now, and I’m asked to direct you to the in-patient waiting room over there. The police will be with you shortly for some questioning. I’m sorry.” Her voice was kind, but she she pointed to the room down a hallway, completely empty of people, filled with chairs.

Lathe seemed to droop in defeat, his eyes red as he walked to the waiting room silently, sitting down on a bench in the corner, his head in his hands. His leg bounced impatiently, rising after barely a minute to pace up and down the room, his hands buried in his hair, his eyes wide and tracing over the floor. This can't be real. This isn't real. Eren can't be so hurt… there’s no way Grisha... No…

Three police officers filed in after a few minutes, walking over to Armin and Lathe. “Excuse me sir, we need to have a word with you.”

Lathe couldn't even hear them, lost in his own mind. He kept pacing up and down the room, barely seeing what was in front of him. Nononononononononono……

The officers tried and failed for a solid five minutes to get his attention, unsure of how to get through to him. “…Sir? We need to speak to you. Sir. Sir!”
Spades practically kicked in the door, striding in with her partner behind her. She took two seconds to assess the situation, officers trying in vain to question an in-denial Lathe, walking straight up to him and smacking him clear across the face, grabbing the front of his shirt and shaking him, looking him dead in the eyes. “Pull yourself together, dammit!”

Lathe looked at her, stunned. “...Spades……” Tears started falling. “Eren... He’s…” He needs to be okay he can't not be okay he needs to hang on.

Spades eyes were sympathetic, her face still set and stony. “Lathe, two minutes. We need you to be strong for two minutes and answer some questions, and then you can break down. Two minutes. Here, first, sign this.” She took the pad of paper and pen from the other officer, shoving them in his hands.

Lathe couldn't even read what the paper said, signing where she pointed quickly, his writing shaky. “W-what’s this?”

“That’s your ticket for going 40 miles per hour over the limit down the highway following the ambulance.” She tore off the ticket, handing the rest of the paper and the pen back to the officer and stuffing the ticket in her pocket. ...poor Armin. Lathe can deal with the ticket later. It's justified, what he did- at least to me. “Now, tell me, what do you know about the circumstances surrounding Eren’s attack? Anything odd been going on that you’ve noticed?”

Lathe nodded, stuttering, shaking. “E-Eren t-told Armin and I d-different things about where he-hed be l-last night, saying he was w-with Armin t-to me and v-vice versa. He t-told me his p-phone was lost, but I didn't w-worry because he was only t-two b-blocks away at Levi’s apartment... Armin s-said Eren told him h-his phone was b-busted, but he could still u-use it, but take longer to reply b-because h-h... he was s-sick... H-he c-cried during his r-recording s-session two w-weeks ago... He n- never does t-that...” Lathe leaned more of his weight onto Spades, looking utterly broken. “T-that m-must've been h-here for two w-weeks... W-why d-didn't he t-tell us? H-he... I h-had no i-idea...” We should've paid better attention... We should've gotten him a new phone... We shouldn't've let him leave our sight... We... We could've kept him safe... And we didn't...

Spades pulled Lathe close, hugging him tightly, gently rocking them back and forth. “It’s okay Lathe, he’s in good hands now. Thank you for telling us that. He’ll be okay, I promise. Shhh…” Eren you better be okay or I swear to fucking god I will bring you back from the dead and murder you again. And then bring you back again so Lathe can stop looking like he did when Viola died.

Levi came into the room, wearing scrubs, his hair damp from taking a quick shower in the locker room a nurse had showed him to. He had his bloody uniform in a bag at his side. His eyes landed on Lathe as he sobbed into Spade’s shoulder. He looks like hell, I can only imagine what must be going through his mind. Levi swallowed, slowly approaching them, Armin instantly standing to come up to him. He brought Armin too?

Lathe looked up from Spades’ shoulder as he heard Levi’s footsteps, pulling back a bit until his eyes landed on the bag Levi was carrying, part of the blood-stained uniform visible to him. His face went ghostly pale, the events of the past hour and a half really hitting him all at once. Eren’s dying. Lathe’s legs gave way under him, unconscious in an instant.

Fuck. Spades quickly moved under Lathe and caught him, his arm draped over her shoulder, 175 pounds of dead weight. “...And he’s out.” She looked around quickly, beginning to steer him to a bench as she caught sight of a familiar figure walking past in the hallway across the room. ...Right. “Armin, you see that really tall doctor guy with the short hair in the hall over there? He was at Thanksgiving two years ago, remember? I need you to catch him for me. His name is Scotty. Go, hurry please!”

Armin looked through the glass and nodded instantly running off and catching the man before he rounded the corner. “Umm… Excuse me? Dr. Scotty?” Armin asked wearily as he looked up to the looming man. Holy shit… he’s taller than Erwin… I forgot that was possible.

Scotty stopped, turning to the blonde. ...Dr. Scotty? What? “If you're going to call me Scotty, then it’s just Scotty. Whatcha need?” ...wait. “You're that Armin kid, aren't you?” Weren't you at some thing forever ago?

“Yeah, uhm… Spades told me to grab you… Lathe kinda passed out… I’m assuming they know you since you were at Thanksgiving?” Armin’s voice was timid, having to crane his neck to look up to meet Scott’s eyes. Um.... Did I say the right things?

“Oh, Christ. Come on.” Scotty rushed back into the in-patient waiting room, seeing Spades and Levi holding Lathe up, Levi dressed in scrubs. He’s in scrubs… Oh this can't be good. “Come on, you two, let’s get him in back to one of the break rooms.”

Levi nodded and moved to get a better angle on Lathe. “It’s okay Spades, you can let go of him, I got him.” It took Levi little effort to pick Lathe’s large frame up and hold him in his arms securely. Well… Training for the marines does shit to you.

Spades didn't have much time to be impressed as they were quickly led back into a maze of hallways, Scotty opening the door of a small break room with a cot shoved against the wall. They filed in, Spades wasting no time after Levi set Lathe on the cot to speak, sitting on the edge of the cot and holding Lathe’s hand, twining their fingers and running her thumb over his knuckles. “Okay, I want to know absolutely everything that you know about what happened to Eren. Don’t skimp on details. Everything.”

Levi swallowed hard, moving to lean back against the wall. This is gonna be a fun talk… isn’t it? “So… should I start from where Eren texted me on Lathe’s phone two weeks ago? Or this morning?” Levi asked quietly. How far do you need me to go back?

“I want you to start with the first odd thing that happened. If that happens to be Eren texting you on Lathe’s phone, then start there. But go as far back as you can think.” She pulled a small pad of paper and a small pencil out of her pocket, her gaze intense. I need to get all this down before anything gets forgotten.

“Okay… Eren texted me on Lathe’s phone at around lunch time in this time zone two mondays ago. I knew he was at Lathe’s house because it’s his regular recording day and he was texting me on Lathe’s phone. He told me to look at his videos as soon as they were uploaded.” He’s never fucking done that before. “He’s never texted me to specifically look at the list of queued videos before. It was really weird to get that text from him, so I waited for them to upload onto his YouTube account and signed in so I could see them.” Levi paused as he remembered the list, a shaking hand running through his hair. “I should’ve known something was wrong with him… It’s so obvious to tell that he was trying to say something was wrong… How can I be so fucking stupid?” Levi pulled at his inky locks, tears threatening to fall down his cheeks as he slumped down against the wall down to the floor. How did I not realize it sooner?

Armin brushed at his own eyes, moving next to Levi and placing a hand on his shoulder, trying to comfort him. “Don’t beat yourself up about it, Levi. Just keep going. What else?” You need to just get this over with, get the hard part done.

Levi swallowed thickly. “The songs… he had them set in two playlists… One was l-labeled ‘Titles’ and the other ‘Lyrics’. I can’t believe I was so stupid… The fucking titles sent a message clear as day to anyone paying attention to them…” Levi let a few tears fall. What if I didn’t get there in time? What if I wasn’t going to surprise Eren? He’d be dead…. Oh my god… no.

Scotty spoke up quietly, his eyes heavy with worry. “W-what did the titles say?”

“I’m So Sorry. Get Home. I Will Wait. Heathens. Come to Me. I Don’t Want to Be. Immortals.” He wanted me to get home…. He didn’t want to die… I’m horrible… how could I not see that before? Levi let even more tears fall, burying his face in his hands. “He was trying to tell me he was in trouble…”
Spades wrote quickly and quietly, her features softened from their stone. I'll need to look at that later... Dates and timestamps. But that was clever. “What about the other list?”

“.... The lyrics one?.... When I’m Gone... Amnesia, he cried through that whole song... Move Along.... It Ends Tonight...” Levi’s eyes widened a fraction. “Oh my god... He thought he was gonna die.... The last one came out today on his channel... He was trying to tell me Grisha was gonna kill him.... Oh my god...” Levi couldn’t stop sobbing as he figured out just how much Eren had tried to tell Levi he was gonna die. Eren knew what day I was supposed to come home... Grisha was gonna kill him before I got home... thank god I was gonna surprise him early.... But what if I wasn’t early enough?

Lathe cracked his eyes open, looking up as Levi sobbed against the wall near his head. He sat up, his hand falling from Spades’ as he tugged on Levi’s sleeve and pulled him into his arms, trying to comfort him and shove down his own grief. He felt Spades wrap her own arms around him, the torment in his mind feeling heavy. It’s gonna be okay... I really fucking hope it’s gonna be okay. He has to be okay.

“L-Lathe... I’m so sorry....” Levi sobbed in Lathe’s chest. “He tried to tell me... he tried to tell me...” Levi sobbed enough to soak Lathe’s shirt. I feel horrible. “I should’ve texted you earlier... I’m so sorry...”

Lathe rubbed small circles into Levi’s back, his cheek resting on Levi’s head, his voice quiet, forcing it not to shake. “Shhh... It’s okay, Levi. It’s not your fault. You showed up in time, that’s what matters. You don’t have to apologise for anything. Just...” He took a deep breath. “Thank you for showing up when you did. He has a chance. He’ll be okay. ...Grisha, is he...” Tell me you killed him. Tell me he’s gone.

“When I opened the door.... He was going to stab Eren again... I reacted so quickly I didn’t know what was happening... I unloaded my entire pistol’s magazine into him.... I shot him twice in the head, but I just kept shooting him.... I couldn’t stop.... That bastard was going to hurt him more... He had Blake locked up in a cage...” Levi couldn’t control himself as he sobbed. I killed him Lathe... I actually killed him...

Lathe felt as a heavy weight fell from the back of his mind, relief conflicting with overwhelming worry. “...is Blake okay?” Eren needs him... He needs to be okay too...

Levi nodded. “He got picked up by a vet when I was getting changed... the wounds weren’t too deep on him... he should be okay... Grisha had him cramped in a small cage... it was padlocked, Eren couldn’t let him out.” Slowly Levi’s sobs were starting to subside. I hope Eren pulls through... He died three times on the way here.... His heartbeat was so irregular... and so slow.
Lathe held onto Levi tightly, trying to be calm. “At least we know Blake should be okay. Eren’ll pull through this, he’s a tough kid. Right now, it’s just a waiting game.” He looked up, registering for the first time exactly where he was, looking up to Scotty. He gave him a weak smile. “Do you happen to know anything about how Eren’s doing right now? Or can you find out, please?” I want to stay on top of this… I need to know he’s okay.

“Lathe… He died three times on the ride here…. He’s lost at least ¾ of the blood in his body. He had a knife in his gut… I wouldn’t be surprised if he’s hemorrhaging or getting his organs closed… His feet, his back, and his wrists are completely burned… the bastard broke them too… and his feet… He had two knives lodged in his clavicle… They were so close to his arteries… His whole abdomen was covered in contusions, lacerations, rope burn… He was also….” Levi stopped and sat up a little straighter, his face paling as he realize another gruesome fact.

Oh my god… How much did Grisha mess with his head?

Lathe swallowed hard, his voice beginning to tremble.….oh my God… That… Those aren't good odds… “W-what?” What else could he have done?

“Eren was drooling… He had a seizure… at least one while Grisha was there. I don’t know how many… He could barely talk when I tried to keep him awake… He told me that he loved me… then he fell unconscious… Lathe, what if there’s something seriously wrong with his head now?” Levi asked, his sobs starting right back up again as he hid his face. What if he doesn’t come back to me? What if he doesn’t wake up?

Lathe’s hold tightened around Levi’s middle, his mind racing. “Levi, it’s not Eren’s first seizure. Even if he wasn’t exactly treated correctly for his seizure, he would most likely remember things after a little while. He remembered you… And he knew that he loved you. That says a lot. I don’t think his mind would’ve been too messed up.”

“He hasn’t had a seizure in such a long time Lathe… Grisha was too much stress on him… What if Grisha raped him again? What if he was put up like a prostitute again? He won’t trust us again…” Levi cried harder after realizing that fact. I’d rather have him say he didn’t remember me and trust me than to remember what happened and never trust me again.

Lathe moved his hand up to card through Levi’s hair, sighing heavily, tears again beginning to fall down his face. “All we can do right now is hope he didn’t… But trust can be earned again, if we have to.”

Scotty’s eyes widened in surprise as his pager went off, quickly fishing it from his pocket and reading the message. His eyes went wide, his voice quiet. “I- I have to go. I'm being paged to the
OR to patch up Eren’s broken bones. It’s… It's his ribs… And his wrists… And his legs… And feet… Thank the Lord, his spine is intact.” He looked up, stowing the pager away and moving to rest his hands on their shoulders. “I'll make sure to take good care of him, and to have him fixed up good as new. I'll keep you posted on everything I know the second I know it, alright?” I’ll make sure he’s okay. You haven't been this torn up since...

Lathe nodded. “Thanks, Scotty.” He watched as he left, noticing the determination that set into his features.

Spades closed her notepad, resting a hand on Lathe’s shoulder. “I need to go too, Lathe. I have to help survey the crime scene.” Her voice was quiet, pressing a gentle kiss to his temple and patting Levi’s shoulder, her touch light. “I’ll be back soon, okay? …and don’t worry too much. He’ll be okay. He’s in good hands.” She left, the door closing silently behind her.

Lathe simply nodded absently at her words and held onto Levi for the five hours they waited, going up to the ICU after Scotty returned.

Scotty led them up to the Intensive Care Unit, his expression grave as he relayed what he knew to Lathe. “This isn't going to be easy to tell you… Eren isn't doing too well right now, I'm warning you. His ribcage is shot. I had to remove four shattered ribs, his arms and legs and feet are all pinned and plated back together, and he’s not breathing on his own anymore… He’s on a ventilator and a dialysis machine due to kidney failure. He died on the operating table in the middle of surgery… we got him back, but, Lathe... he’s in a coma. We don't know if he’s gonna wake up.”
Scotty opened the door to a private room, leading them in.

Levi’s eyes were bloodshot as they stepped in to see Eren laying in the bed, covered from head to toe in either casts or bandages, hooked up to an IV drip of morphine. His mouth was open to accommodate the large blue ventilator tube.

Oh my god Eren…

Levi looked up to his vitals, so utterly low that one would mistake him for an elderly patient dying from old age… His body…
He’s had so much stress over the past two weeks. Levi swallowed as he stepped forwards to take a seat beside Eren and gently touched one of his fingers. “Hey… Brat… Can’t you wake up for us?”
He asked, his voice so broken, it didn’t even sound like him anymore.

Lathe slowly stepped forward, steeled for the worst as he studied the screen of vitals, his facade crumbling as he read the numbers…he… it doesn't look too much like he’s gonna make it… He sat down next to Levi, tears silently streaming down his face as he studied Eren’s broken form. …I don't want you to suffer… But that doesn’t mean I want it to end like… Like that. I want you to get better. You have to. He forced himself to think about what Scotty had said, his eyes sparkling in recognition. “S-Scotty, you said something about kidney failure?”

Scotty nodded, his face solemn. “Yes, um… He was missing one of his kidneys, and the other was… Was pretty much useless as it was stabbed. He’s in need of a transplant, and unless we can get him a local donor quickly, he’ll be on the waiting list for weeks… It’s such a common need, a kidney…” His eyes widened a fraction. …you’re going to say it, aren’t you.

“I’ll donate one of mine.” Lathe responded near instantly, looking up with determination set in his eyes. “I’m an O- blood type. We’d be compatible.”

“Lathe… Let me… Please… I want to help him all I can because I didn’t notice this sooner… Please…” I’m an O- too…. Whenever I give blood, they always take extra because of that...

Lathe looked over to Levi, patting his shoulder. “Levi, you’re young, and a marine. I’m much older than you, and just a teacher. You need your kidney more than I do. I know you want to help him, I really do, but I don’t want you putting yourself in a tight spot just to do that. Please.”

Levi looked down, defeat clearly written across his face. Okay, you win … Levi nodded before turning his attention to Eren’s heart monitor as it gave a warning sound. His heartbeat is becoming irregular again...

Scotty moved quickly, sticking his head out of the door and shouting down the hall. “Code Red!” He watched as an attendant rushed to the room, making room and letting them head for the defibrillator, trying to shock Eren’s heart back into a regular pattern. Eren’s body jolted as he was shocked, the monitor showing an erratic pattern before it stabilised, his heart still beating much slower than normal.

Lathe’s knuckles were white as he gripped the edge of his chair, flinching as Eren jolted at the shock. Lathe, you can't totally break down now. …you promised him you'd be there for him whenever he needed you. You fucking swore it. Now keep your damn word and keep your shit together. He breathed deeply for a moment, speaking quietly to Scotty again. “When will he be stable enough for surgery again?”

“…about a week, if nothing goes wrong.” Here’s to hoping. I dunno how long he’s gonna last.

Lathe nodded. …I need to stay here, keep an eye on you. I'm not letting you out of my sight again. It’s such a long drive back, and we need things though… But… I swore on it... “L-Levi…” It’s going to be a lot to ask, and I kinda feel terrible shoving this on you, but I don't think I could live with myself if I left for even half a second...

Levi looked up to Lathe, his eyes full of concern. “Yeah?” What does he want? He looked over his shoulder to see Armin at the doorway, tears running down his face. Oh my god, Armin… I forgot “...Levi, we’re not really prepared t-to stay here for Eren… Armin needs to get home, a-and… I promised Eren I’d… I’d stay…” He buried his head in his hands. “I know it’s a lot to ask, but I don’t think I can leave and focus on anything other than Eren and if he’s okay right now… Please…” I’m really fucking sorry… but I need to stay. I promised him I would.

... He’s asking me to leave...? Levi swallowed hard, trying to keep his composure, nodding after a few moments. “I’ll…. I’ll take Armin home… Give me the keys to your bike…” He reached his hand out as he slowly stood up, leaning over Eren’s pale body to press a kiss to his forehead. I’ll be right back… Please don’t leave while I’m gone.

Armin tentatively moved forward as Levi took the keys from Lathe’s shaking hands, his hand hovering over Eren’s. “...Please be okay, Eren.” ... You need to wake up. You need to graduate, you need to give your speech as valedictorian, you need to live ... He turned to Levi, silently following him out of the room, staring at the floor as he walked.

Levi took in a deep breath as they got outside. The sun is already starting to go down… Have we really been in there that long already? “I’m going to apologize now for Lathe’s reckless driving earlier… He didn’t tell you I called did he?” Levi asked as they walked across the street to the general parking area. “Do you remember where he parked?” His voice was somber as they walked through the still-crowded lot.

“He’s over here… And no, I didn't know what was going on… He was going so fast following the ambulance and I don't know how I didn't put the pieces together until we got here…” He picked up the helmet as he approached the bike, offering it to Levi. I should've known… Lathe acted as if his life was depending on him following that ambulance...

Levi shook his head, grabbing the goggles. “No, you take the helmet, since there’s only one.” He got on the bike and started the engine, feeling it rumble to life under him. “I’m not going to be as fast, so if you want to call Erwin… Tell him you're with me, and tell him we’ll be home in two hours, you should do it now.” Levi told him and waited to see if Armin would call Erwin. I wouldn’t mind waiting.

Armin nodded, holding the helmet in his left hand as he fished for his phone with his right, tapping a few times before holding it to his ear. It picked up after one ring. ‘Armin, where are you? I’m at your house right now and your Grandfather said you left to go to Eren’s house, and nobody’s home… Where are you?’
Armin tried to keep his voice level. “I’m in Wichita right now, about to head back. I'll explain more when I get home, which should only be in about two hours, but… Eren isn't doing very well. He’s in a coma, and Lathe heard about Eren being in critical condition when Levi called him and hopped on his bike, dragged me with… Levi’s bringing me home, don’t worry, but Lathe’s staying with Eren. They’re going to be down here for a while, it sounds like… I'll tell you the rest of what I know when I get home, but I just wanted to call and let you know I'm okay, and I'll be home soon, okay?”

“Alright. I’ll see you at Lathe’s place in two, then. Bye Armie.”

Armin just ended the call, shoving his phone back into his pocket. He wanted to get home as soon as he could, and he didn't want to talk any more and start sobbing in front of Levi again. He brought the helmet over his head and got on the bike behind Levi, holding onto him. At least he won’t drive as crazily as Lathe did… I won't have to worry as much.

Levi made sure Armin had a good grip on him before they got out of the parking lot, and headed down the street towards the highway entrance. “So Eren told you he was sick?” He asked, turning his head to the side for only a second before returning his eyes to the road. No accidents, no speeding either.

Armin spoke loud enough so he could hear him, trying to keep his voice from cracking. “He did… He said that he wasn't feeling too good, so that would explain if I texted him and didn't get a reply too soon after.” And I totally bought it.

Levi nodded. “Armin, I’m going to be completely honest with you… I don’t think he’ll be going to graduation…. Would you… Would you read his speech for him?” He asked turning onto the highway and speeding up to merge into traffic. I know it’s finished… He read it to me over the phone… It’s a really good speech too.

Armin paused for a moment, nodding. “I'll do it for Eren.” …even though he should be the one to do it. He deserved as much...

Levi nodded and the two of them were mostly quiet for the two hour ride back to their hometown. He pulled up into Lathe’s driveway, seeing Erwin sitting on their porch, standing to come and greet them. Well Eyebrows is gonna see how red my eyes are… Fuck.

Armin pulled off the helmet quickly and set it down, running up to Erwin and jumping up to give him a hug, his face buried in his shoulder. “I missed you so much, I'm sorry I wasn't here when you got here but welcome home, Erwin.” I really missed you.
Erwin smiled as he wrapped his arms around Armin. “It’s good to be back… And I understand… I understand where you were, you don’t have to apologize.” Erwin leaned in and kissed Armin’s cheek, setting him down gently as he saw Levi walk up in scrubs. “Didn’t you leave with your dress uniform on this morning?” Erwin asked with a raised eyebrow. What the fuck actually happened?

Levi just shook his head, trying to hide his red eyes. “Armin can explain what happened… I have to get things ready to head back down to Wichita.” He hoped Erwin would just let him walk up to the house, not question him. Let me just do this and go, please.

Erwin stopped him with a firm hand before he passed, “If you need us to grab anything from Lathe’s while you guys are up there, Armin’s got a spare key… So don’t hesitate to ask. Come on Armie, let’s head home. Your grandfather was worried about you.” He led Armin into his car, holding a hand out for his keys to drive them back.

Armin handed him the keys, sending Levi a weak smile. “It’ll be okay, Levi. We’re here for you if you need us.” He slid into the passenger’s seat, closing the door and thinking of where to start explaining.
Chapter 30: 28 Part 3: Heart Problems

Think. Levi dropped one last bag into the trunk of Eren’s car, running through a mental checklist. Clothes for everybody… I pitched the food in the fridge that would spoil… Everything’s locked… I have Lathe’s laptop stuff and his medical bag, both of which he needs… I have notebooks and pens, and some sharpies too, Lathe didn’t look anywhere near about to leave that hospital room… Blake’s food and bowls, ‘cause he should be okay and back with us in no time, his wounds weren’t too bad… That’ll have to do. If I forgot anything not worth the trip we can just buy it down there. He slammed the trunk shut, having changed out of his scrubs into jeans and a tank top, sliding into the driver’s seat and making the journey back in silence, left to his own thoughts. He drove in the streets around the hospital, finding a hotel a few streets away and successfully getting a room, dragging a majority of their things upstairs before going to look for a grocery store. He wandered the aisles, picking ingredients for things he knew he could make and paying with a credit card he found in a smaller wallet in Lathe’s drawers. He brought it back to the room before driving back to the hospital, Lathe’s bags slung over his shoulder as he made his way to the room to see how Eren was doing.

Lathe had moved to a chair against the wall so he could lean back, looking up to Levi as he entered, his face grave. “No improvement. Nothing really happened while you were gone… I’m sorry for making you leave him…” …But I can’t.

“It’s okay…” Levi reached into one of the bags, holding out a container of food for him. “Thought you might want something to eat.” He said quietly. I know I’m hungry. Levi reached in and pulled out his own, along with silverware for the two of them. “I got a room in a hotel a few streets away, we can crash there after we eat.” Levi told him and started to dig into his food. It’s almost ten now, we need sleep after today.

Lathe picked at his food, not feeling able to eat. He spoke quietly. “Scotty did a little bit of rule-bending… usual visiting hours would be over by now. I dunno if… if I want to leave him alone.” I have to stay...

Levi only nodded. “Okay, well, I need sleep, so I’m going to leave soon. The option is open for you; I’ll text you the address and the room number. Your clothes are in that bag, your laptop is in the bag next to your medical bag.” Levi rattled off what he had brought him, taking another forkful of food. I hope I didn’t forget anything else.

“Do you have paper and a pen anywhere?” Lathe looked down at the bags. He remembered everything else...

“They’re with your laptop, a few notebooks and some sharpies…” Levi trailed off as he yawned.
“Are you gonna stay here? Or you gonna come to the hotel with me?” Levi asked quietly. I'm fucking exhausted.

*If I leave, it's going to be either to go to the bathroom or to get more coffee. That's it. I'm gonna stay here.” His head snapped up, a questioning look in his eye. “How did you pay for all this stuff? A hotel isn't exactly cheap.”

“I found one of your credit cards in a wallet in your room while I was looking for clothes... I left my wallet here, with my uniform... So I was glad I found it.” He motioned to the bag with his bloodied dress blues in it. He slowly stood up, making his way over to Eren. “Wake up soon, Eren. Please.” Levi kissed his forehead, his hand over Eren’s rubbing his cool skin soothingly. ... What if he never does? Levi moved over to Lathe and bent down to give him a hug. “I’ll be back tomorrow with breakfast for us then.” His voice was quiet and solemn. He straightened himself and made for the door.

Lathe caught his arm for a moment, giving him a weary, reassuring smile. “He’ll be okay, Levi. He’s tough, and he’s got a great team of people working to help him. I'll let you know if anything happens.”

Levi nodded and disappeared into the darkened hallway. He barely got any sleep that night, always checking his phone for calls or texts. None ever came, and Levi came with an extra-large cup of coffee for Lathe along with a muffin. He came with his own breakfast, handing Lathe his food before sitting down beside Eren’s side, looking over his vitals. “His heart beat... It’s slower than it was yesterday.” Levi pointed out, looking over Eren and noticing a patch of intricate gold lettering and flowers taking over a section of Eren’s white cast on his right arm. ... Lathe must be stressed over the slower heart beat.

Lathe nodded, sipping the coffee, the skin under his eyes darker than before. “It’s not by much, it was a gradual progression through the night, but at this point any drop is worrying.” He studied the golden patch on his cast. “I couldn't focus enough last night to crunch numbers and try and come up with anything to help... I just kinda doodled on his cast. Too much white.” He allowed a ghost of a smile to cross his lips before he became expressionless again. “Thanks for bringing breakfast, by the way. I'm sorry... I dunno how much use I'm going to be if I'm in here for as long as it could take for him to wake up.” He nibbled at the muffin, trying to eat at least half of it. Come on, you can't let yourself go down the pipes, too.

Levi only nodded, he would talk occasionally to Eren, hoping that he would hear him and wake up, but that was mostly the only sound that was heard in their room. Scotty dropped by an hour later with Blake in tow. Blake looked well rested, his abdomen wrapped, with his vest on top of the bandages. He instantly made himself comfortable at the foot of Eren’s bed. He's back in shape... I wish Eren could wake up to see that Blake is alright now. Levi watched over Eren for the whole day, only leaving to get food for him and Lathe or leave to use the restroom. Nothing is happening… Which I guess is good, he hasn’t worsened but he hasn’t progressed either. Levi stayed as long as he possibly could before he had to call it for the night around 10pm. After he left, Eren’s heart rate spiked up a bit higher than it was, dropping back down to it’s deathly low pattern after only an hour.

Lathe’s eyes brightened a bit as he saw Eren’s heart rate go up, texting Levi that he didn't have to come around, but his heart rate was closer to normal than before. After barely an hour of researching comas, he looked up, his heart breaking as he saw it had returned to it’s same low pattern. He texted Levi the news, still grateful in the back of his mind that at least he knew Eren was fighting it. He read further, unable to sleep, coming across an interesting article. ...familiar stories, read by family members? Lathe looked up to Eren, shrugging and scrolling through a list of books. Might as well give it a shot. He moved to a chair closer to Eren where he could hear him better, if he could, reading him aloud ‘The Goblet of Fire’ until he fell asleep, nearing five in the morning.

Levi came back in with Blake at around 8:30 in the morning, seeing Lathe asleep beside Eren. He smiled softly. Better let him sleep . Levi glanced up at Eren’s vitals. They’re still down… It looks like they almost didn’t go up at all... Oh well, I should just let him sleep. Levi sat down quietly watching over the two of them.

Lathe woke up not an hour after Levi arrived, yawning widely, his laptop still open on his lap. He smiled faintly at Eren, his voice quiet. “Good morning, Eren.” He looked over to Levi and Blake. “Good morning you two. Did you sleep okay?” He reached down to pet Blake as he came over to him, looking up to check his vitals. Still the same. At least he’s not worse.

Levi shrugged. “As well as one can… I was almost ready to get over here when you said his heart rate increased…” Levi told him and looked up to the monitor, his eyes widening as he saw the heartbeat start to increase at a rapid pace. Is that actually happening?

Lathe looked up as the beeping quickened, his eyes sparking for just a moment before a look of concern overtook his features. “...It’s not stopping.” It's going up too fast.

Eren’s body started to move, his head arching back, along with his shoulders, his arms splaying out over the edge of the bed. His body started to shake violently, a few monitors starting to scream in alert as Eren’s heart rate went through the roof during his seizure.

Levi could only watch in horror as doctors rushed in and slowly moved Eren onto his side and held him in place. This is longer… It’s not stopping… Why's he still seizing? Levi’s eyes widened as they passed the 30 second mark, then 45, then a minute… Then a minute and a half and Eren’s body was still writhing uncontrollably.
Lathe pushed his chair back to give the doctors room, watching in fear as Eren didn't stop seizing. Oh no. Oh no. He’s not stopping. Think. What could possibly help? ... Can anything possibly help?

Eren’s body continued to violently convulse for a full three minutes before his seizing finally stopped and he was moved onto his back again, the doctors ordering for a sedative to be administered for his rapid heartbeat.

Lathe picked up the paper from the floor and his sharpie, looking to the nurse holding a syringe as he scribbled down numbers, his mind in overdrive. “Excuse me for asking, but what’s the concentration of that?”

The nurse gave him an odd look, wondering why he dared to question their authority. “He needs about 15 cc's of Primidone, why?” I think I know what I'm doing, hon.

Lathe’s hand moved furiously across the paper, his thoughts being scratched down very quickly, his eyes never leaving the nurse’s. “I apologise for questioning your judgement, however as a former general surgeon, I thought you would allow me to weigh in. Given the amount of blood he’s lost and taking into account the limited number of transfusions available to him on such short notice, and knowing that his response to that particular drug will be at fullest effect as he has never previously experienced it's influence, and because his heart rate has been abnormally low for the past 36 hours at least and I do not advise returning it to that level, I would think 5 cc’s in an isotonic saline solution would be more appropriate instead of administering it all at once..”

The woman looked at him, stunned. ...oh. He does have a point... "Um… Y-yes sir. I'll prepare that right away.” She left for only a moment before returning with an appropriate IV, inserting the needle into Eren’s arm and starting the drip. “It will take effect soon, and empty after about an hour. He may require another afterward depending on his body’s responses after it initially wears off.”

Lathe nodded, the end of his sharpie tapping against the full page of notes. “Thank you.” He watched as the team of doctors left after a moment, turning to a new page and scratching down more notes in a more legible hand. I hate having to argue over this sort of stuff. And I always have to pull the ‘general surgeon’ card. You'd think they'd pay more attention to his file before doing something like that.

Levi’s eyebrows raised at Lathe’s almost hostile tone. He’s a general surgeon? Well, that explains a lot, I guess. He waited for Lathe to calm down before speaking up. “So his heart rate won’t be as low with just 5 cc’s?” Levi asked and looked over to the bag drip attached to Eren’s arm. He looks so pale.... He reached out to take Eren’s fingers into his own and just watched them in silence, waiting for Lathe’s reply.

“It’s common sense, really. I had hoped they’d pay some more attention to his papers before giving him something like that. If you gave him too much, his heart might slow down too much…” Or stop. He dropped his hands, looking up with an apologetic look. “I’m sorry if I sound mean, or if I sounded too hard on them. I just want to make sure everything checks out with what they're giving Eren. I have to keep pulling the general surgeon card for these people to listen to the guy who knows his file backwards and upside down. It just gets frustrating after a while.”

Levi nodded, mostly quiet for the rest of the day, watching over Eren as the day went on without another incident.

Lathe sighed, scratching down notes as Eren’s IV was changed and reading more Harry Potter to him late into the night.
Nothing much has changed. Eren’s heartbeat went back down to that low, low pulse even with such a lower dose. It was okay for a bit and just went back down from there. Levi’s been getting a little bit of sleep at least, Blake… I don’t speak dog exactly, but he’s doing okay. Don’t think he understands what’s going on at all. He’s good company for all of us, though. Me? I’ve barely been getting any sleep. I’ve just kept picking books that I know Eren has read before, the good ones with good stories, and reading them to him at night. I’ve doodled up and down his casts, all sorts of flowers and well-wishes, and I think I finally found a compound for his PTSD that won’t send Eren spiralling. I’ve got Casper looking it over to see if my sleep-deprived self made any mistakes. I hope not. The people here have finally recognised my authority as a voice in what happens with Eren medically. Once Scotty got involved and had to yell at a nurse for nearly fucking killing him when I said the same exact fucking thing he did they started to listen to me. I was in the middle of adding silver highlights to his right arm when a doctor came in, right on time, wearing a practiced expression and his voice an overused grave tone. I didn’t even bother looking up because I knew every syllable in what he was going to say. And no. No. Just no. There’s hope. Sometimes his fingers twitch or I see a muscle in his face tense up and I know that he’s in there, so shut up and get the fuck out of here so I can make his casts nicer than a plain white and read him all the stories he likes. …That was the day before the surgery. Yesterday. The surgery’s today. Lathe let himself be led onto a table, psyching himself up and calming himself down at the same time. Chill. Chill. It’ll all go over well. He grinned as Scotty came into view over him, his eyes the only thing visible besides his blue scrubs, his smile carrying up to them.

“It’s a really great thing that you’re doing. I’ll make sure this all goes over smoothly. His body should be under a lot less of a strain after this.”

“Here’s to hoping.” Lathe recognised the OR too well, and in minutes was out like a light. He woke up eight hours later, his head heavy and blinking at the bright lights above him. “Ugh, it’s bright, and I have a headache. I need aspirin or something…” He looked down, recognising the stark white, feeling a neat row of stitches on his side. …Oh yeah. That’s a thing. He glanced down to the floor next to his bed, noting his laptop stashed in his bag with plenty of paper in arm’s reach. Thanks, Levi. He talked with Scotty occasionally as he had the time, learning the transplant was a success, and that his heart rate hadn't risen by too much, but it was progress. Lathe was officially discharged after about a day, immediately returning to keep his vigil in Eren’s room.

Levi greeted him as he returned, one less machine crowding Eren’s right bedside. “He looks better, he got his color back finally… And his heart beat is up.” It’s been a week and three days… He’s not showing signs of any real improvement… How is this gonna go over with him? “…. He’s not gonna wake up for prom… Is he?” Levi asked with a defeated tone in his voice. There’s only three days until prom… And I promised I would dance with you all night..

“I wouldn’t say that. I’d be more concerned about him going in anything other than a wheelchair, with his legs the way they are. He just had his feet busted. I’m really sorry, Levi, but he still needs time.” He brushed the hair from Eren’s face gently, pecking his forehead and sitting next to Levi. He rested a hand on his shoulder. “I know it doesn’t look like it, but I really think he’s gonna come out of this. It’s worrying that it’s been this long, but we haven’t hit the point of no return by any means. I think he’ll be okay.” I really hope so. Lathe’s eyes widened as he heard a phone ring, both of them reaching for their pockets, Levi’s display alight with a familiar number.

Levi picked up the phone and held it to his ear, struggling to keep his composure. “Hello?” His voice surprisingly calm. Who is this and why are you calling me?

“Hey Levi! It’s Nate. I was trying to call Eren’s phone, but he wasn’t picking up. He hasn’t posted anything in awhile, and I just wanted to know if everything was okay over there?”

Levi took in a shuddery breath. “Nate…” Levi trailed off as his voice started to crack. How am I supposed to tell him Eren’s in a fucking coma?!

“N-no.” Levi couldn’t stop his voice from cracking so much that he stuttered out the short word. “No… He’s not.” How do I fucking tell him?

“Levi, oh my god, what happened? Tell me.” Oh this isn't good, this is bad. This is very bad.

“Nate… Eren’s in a coma… He’s been in one for a week and three days… And he hasn’t shown significant improvement at all…” Levi finally sobbed out the harsh reality of their situation. He’s not going to wake up… Is he?

Nate was deathly silent on his end, trying not to drop the phone or lose his own composure. He ran up the stairs and grabbed a backpack, dropping random things in it before stomping back down the stairs, pulling the phone away from him, yelling to the living room. “Charolette, I need to go to Kansas!” He brought the phone back up to his ear. “Levi, I'm so sorry to hear that. I'll be down there to visit soon, okay?”

Levi sniffled as he wiped away some of his tears… “Yeah, call me when you get to Wichita, I’ll come pick you up…” Levi trailed off knowing that Nate would be here by the end of the day since he would probably take the next flight out. He probably will too, he’s already fucking packed… Knowing him.
“Oh no, you should stay with Eren. I'll call for a cab or something. Tell me which hospital you're at and I'll find you, okay?”

“We’re at Via Christi Hospital St. Joseph, I’ll meet you down in the lobby so they let you in… So text me when you get close, okay?” Levi asked quietly, tears still streaming heavily down his face once more.

Nate threw his backpack into the passenger’s seat, starting the car. “Alright, I will. I'll be there soon, Levi. It'll all be alright. I've got to go now, okay?”

“Okay…” Levi trailed off, hanging up on Nate and putting the phone away.

Lathe ran a hand through his hair, studying the sharpie doodles on the cast on Eren’s foot. “Nate’s coming?” Knowing him he’s already on his way to the airport.

“Yeah… He was in his car when I hung up…” Levi got up to kiss Eren’s forehead. “Nate’ll be here soon… Won’t you wake up?” Levi asked his hand still holding onto Eren’s fingers. It would be a miracle if you did once he gets here. Levi watched over Eren’s heartbeat, it would increase every now and then, only to go back to the higher low that it currently beat at. Is he having small seizures when that happens? I don’t know…

Lathe tapped away furiously on his laptop, holding email conversations with every doctor he had ever met that would know more about comas than he did. His face was lined with worry, his eyes dull as he skimmed through article after article. He looked up sluggishly as someone quietly knocked, recognising her bright red hair. “Hey Spades.” Lathe tried to smile.

She gave him a small smile, padding in quietly, holding a vase full of flowers. “Hey… I brought flowers, I thought the room could use a little color.” She eyed Eren’s colourful casts as she placed them on the small table next to Eren. You certainly went all out on them… “I've got the next few days off of work, but it’s only for a little while.” She studied Lathe and Levi’s faces, noting the darkness under their eyes. “Have you two been sleeping okay?”

Levi shook his head. “No… But how can you blame us? Eren’s in a coma.” Even though I go to the hotel… I had to cry myself to sleep sometimes just to get a few hours… I’m always next to my phone, dreading Lathe’s text to tell me Eren decided by himself to go….

Spades sighed quietly, her eyes full of worry as she walked next to them. “You’re right. I understand. I just can't stand to see you two running yourselves into the ground…” She made it to Lathe, bending down to kiss him sweetly, trying to reassure him and feeling him weakly trying to kiss back. You're exhausted. Rightly so… She broke their kiss, Lathe still with closed eyes and bringing up a hand to cover hers as she cradled his cheek. Oh my… it’s been rough, hasn't it… and I haven't been able to come… She looked up and over Lathe’s head, her brow furrowing as she reached up with her free hand, plucking something from the back of his head. What the hell?

Lathe’s eyes cracked open, his other hand weakly trying to shoo hers away. “What was that for?” He stared as she dangled the hair in his face, the normal black instead a light grey. What?

“Lathe, you're thirty-eight. And you're going grey.” Spades dropped the strand on the floor, leaning back up to look at his shaggy hair. “Lathe, you’re too young to be going grey…” …Must be the stress you're putting yourself under...

“Spades is right Lathe… You need to actually get some sleep. You were just discharged this morning. Why don’t you go to the hotel and sleep for the rest of the day?” Levi asked, his eyes full of concern. You need to be healthy for when Eren wakes up… If he does.

“You were what.” Spades looked at him, her eyes wide. “Let me get this straight. You just got discharged from having your kidney removed, and the first thing you do is come straight back here, obviously sleep-deprived and researching everything under the sun? Lathe, you need rest. If there’s a hotel room waiting for you, take the opportunity and sleep. We both know you need to.” Please, I can't stand watching you ignore your own needs like that.

Lathe shook his head immediately, his eyes stony. “I'm not leaving.” What if Eren wakes up? What if something happens? What if the doctors or nurses decide he needs something and nearly kill him again? “Spades, I understand you're worried, but I'm worried more about whether or not the doctors are going to nearly kill him again. The people they've sent in don't know the entire story about what is and is not right for him. I need to make sure he’s okay. I swore it, Spades. I'm not moving.” I'm not.

Spade’s eyes softened, knowing Lathe wasn't about to budge. He’s set on it. And I know how he feels about keeping his word. She glanced to the clock on the wall. “I'm going to go grab us all something to eat, okay? I won't be too long.” She pecked his forehead, her hand slipping from his cheek and making her way to the door.

Levi got up and kissed Eren’s forehead before following Spades. “I'll come with you.” I need to actually ask you about something. Levi followed Spades out to her car in the parking lot. I assume we’re taking your car...
Spades was quiet as they walked to her car, not knowing what to say as they got in and she started the engine. _Lathe’s stubborn, and he’s smart… I hope Eren wakes up, and if all Lathe has said is that he can see the tiny signs… I can only hope it isn’t just something his mind made up._ “Do you care where we go to get lunch?”

“No… I don’t. There’s a bunch or restaurants if you head down this road a little bit, the plaza’s on the left side of the road…” Levi kept his gaze on the road in front of them. _His heart still hasn’t come up to a normal heartbeat…_

Spades nodded, turning into the plaza after a short while, parking near a Macaroni Grill. “Alright, let’s go, I guess. We’ll just ask for stuff to-go…” Spades slid from the car, locking it and walking up to the doors, still very quiet in her thoughts.

The woman saw them walk in and got the to-go menus out for them. “Hi deary, how is he?”

Levi just shook his head. “No improvements… Um, I’ll get the two pasta dishes I usually get. Spades, you wanna look over the menu for a bit?” _I’ve come here so much they know my order already… And they know Eren’s in the hospital…_

Spades nodded, skimming quickly over the menu. “Just the farfalle in meat sauce, please.” _I don’t think I could eat anything more than just that…_ She handed the woman the menu, moving with Levi to sit as they waited. She just stared at her hands, unsure of what to tell him.

“So… I wanted to ask you if I’ll be facing charges…” Levi asked her softly, tapping his foot on the ground in anxiety. _I don’t think the academy would be quite happy with me if I was charged with manslaughter._

Spades immediately shook her head. “First off, with such an obvious scene any charges would’ve already been processed. You’d’ve heard about it by now. And because Kansas has a stand-your-ground law, and because Grisha was putting Eren in obvious mortal danger, you had every right to shoot to kill. It was a bit excessive, what you did, but not illegal. You did the right thing.” _Nobody could hold anything you did against you._

“So… I couldn’t stop shooting him… I loaded his body with 11 bullets… I only had one left to get Blake out of his cage…. I need to get another clip for that before I go back.” Levi ran a hand through his hair. _It was issued by the marines… I need to take it back…_
“You left your gun at the scene, I remember. It should be out of processing by now, given that there’s no case against you to justify it being held… I’ll make sure you get it back soon, and get you some more bullets for it.” That’s another thing to do. You’ll need that back. She swallowed hard. “The initial shock, seeing Grisha hurting Eren like that, I’m not surprised you seemed to feel like a bystander to your own actions. But you reacted amazingly well. I heard part of your conversation with the 911 operator, the last half of it. You kept it together really well, and made sure he got the exact help that he needed.” I’m really proud of you, for doing that so well. “He… He has a chance, because of what you did.”

Levi could only nod, his foot still tapping the floor as the anxiety coursed through him. “But did I do enough? He’s still in a coma, and I can’t help but think if I noticed what was happening to him before… This all could’ve been avoided.” He wouldn’t be in a coma… We wouldn’t be waiting for him to wake up… We would be home, eating lunch together like a family.

Spades shook her head, giving him a faint smile, resting her hand on his shoulder. “Levi, don’t blame yourself for what happened. What happened wasn’t your fault at all. I’m just grateful that you showed up when you did, reacted the way you did, and knew what to say and who to say it to. Don't blame yourself for what isn’t. Just know that he’s in good hands right now, that he’s okay.”

“Do you know… How fast we were going on the highway? I didn’t really pay attention to how fast we got there… Armin just told me Lathe was driving like a madman.” I just remember how slowly his eyes closed…. They haven’t opened at all…. “Did I do the right thing? Would he have been better off in a regular ambulance?”

“Levi, a regular ambulance wouldn’t’ve gotten there in time. And the escort you got him let you get him there in amazing time. You were going over 100 miles an hour. You couldn't do better.”

Levi nudged Lathe out of his half-asleep note-taking daze when they got back, handing him his container of pasta. “Here- we got you lunch.” You look like you're about to pass out over your notes.

Lathe looked up, smiling tiredly as Levi handed him his food and silverware. “Thanks, Levi.” Lathe opened it and set the lid aside, spearing a piece of the bow tie pasta. “Nothing’s changed much- Casper sent me a couple more possible medication formulas to check. We think we're close to finding the one.” It'll stop his seizing, we hope.
Spades sighed, taking his notebooks from him and letting him eat. “You gotta eat, alright? Then you can do whatever you want.” She kept his notebook, making sure he was eating as she was eating as well. I really hope you'll wake up Eren.... We need you in our life...

Lathe made a quiet sound of protest as Spades took away his notes, but after a moment redirected his attention to his pasta, picking his way through about half of it before stopping, reaching down for the travel mug that still had coffee in it next to the leg of his chair. I need to stay awake- I need to get through a couple more formulas, and read to Eren later, tell him everything that's happened today... I really want him to be awake...

Spades watched Lathe’s sluggish movements. He's gonna fall asleep, isn't he... Yup, well at least there's a room for all of us tonight.

Right... I've got work to do... Lathe was able to hold out for a few more minutes, the coffee seeming to have little effect on him as he reached for his notebook again, his pen clattering to the floor as he passed out over his notes, his breathing even. I can't help it... a small nap won't kill me... Lathe was completely out for more than twelve hours, blearily blinking in the early hours of the morning. ... it’s really warm... and comfy... but... I was in the hospital room... I'm supposed to be there... Lathe lifted his head, seeing the electric clock on the side table and looking at their unfamiliar surroundings, seeing Levi asleep in a second queen bed on the other side of the room, realizing Spades was asleep next to him. ...I'm at the hotel. But I promised to stay, and now he's what he wouldn't want to be- alone. Lathe kicked off his sheets, not bothering to be too quiet as he got dressed and washed up in the bathroom, checking the dressing over his stitches before seizing his bags from the foot of the bed and nudging Blake gently awake. “C’mon Blake, we’re going back.”

Spades woke up as she heard Lathe move around the room. “Lathe..?” She was confused as she sat up. “Lathe... Come on, come back to bed... It’s too early.” Really early. She moved to grab around his waist, trying to pull him back into bed.

You made me leave him alone. Lathe stepped out of her hold, turning to her, his expression one of anger. “Spades, I told you I was going to stay with Eren no matter what until he woke up. Not only did I promise Eren that, but it’s my duty not only as a doctor but as his father to make sure the nurses that don't bother reading his file don't kill him, to make sure if anything happens there is immediately someone there who can help, to find something that'll stop his seizures, and to make sure that he neither wakes up nor dies alone, because even I’m not able to tell anymore which it's going to be and I'm terrified..” Tears started to stream down Lathe’s cheeks, wiping at them with his sleeve. “So I’m going back, and I’m going to stay there. And I understand that you might not like it and might be worried about me too, but there is nothing you will do that can stop me.” ...Eren deserves more than to be left alone... now more than ever. Lathe turned away from her and left, Blake obediently at his heels as he tried to keep from slamming the door shut. You better not pull that shit again. Lathe asked for directions from the man at the front desk, walking the five minutes to the hospital and nodding to the receptionist, who simply let him pass without asking, both recognizing him and seeing Blake. He had just made it into Eren’s room when Scotty and a nurse were moving Eren to sit up, blood running down from his nose at an alarming rate. Crap. Lathe immediately had a wad of gauze pressed against Eren’s nose, trying to stop him from bleeding. There’s blood everywhere … not good.

“If he keeps bleeding like this he’s gonna need a transfusion again… Jackie… Go get him one, O neg.” Scotty looked as the nurse nodded and went off, letting Scotty and Lathe work on him. “I was about to call you, his alarms went off and then his nose just started bleeding heavily… Did you get any sleep?” I hope you did, and you don’t look that exhausted… Which is good.

“I’d been passed out from noon yesterday to twenty minutes ago. I wouldn’t have gone to the hotel if it were my choice, though. But I am glad I don’t feel like a zombie for once.” There’s one upside to this. …still not entirely worth it, but I’m here now.

Scotty looked to Lathe as he spoke, looking to the Gauze as it became saturated with bright red blood. Well… This looks like… Scotty’s eyes widened. “When was the last time he had a nose bleed…” I think… And I’m hoping I’m right… But I can only hope, I haven’t been able to research into his case a lot.

“…a bit after we found out his finger healed itself really fast…” huh. “He hasn’t had a nosebleed until then, really…” *hmm… “…Scotty, as much as it kills me to say it… if you need samples from Eren to test because you think there’s something going on… do it. We’re already in this deep. If it helps us to better understand what the fuck is going on, okay.” …why not.

Scotty nodded, looking as Jackie came back with a transfusion. “Before we put that it, get me a few vials, I gotta take some blood before we give him blood.” I need to figure out what the hell is going on with him…. The nurse nodded and left them yet again. “Do you think he might be healing himself again? If that’s even possible?” He asked quietly. I really hope that's the case… Even if it defies all laws of health.

“Scotty… honestly, I have no fucking clue.” Lathe switched the gauze, the wad in his hand saturated. “But that's what the test is for. …it’s a nice thought to have.” …maybe there really is hope…

“Hopefully…” He focused as he took 15 vials worth of blood before he moved around and started to put the transfusion into his system. That’ll be enough. “Alright, I’m gonna take these to the lab, has his nose at stopped bleeding at least a little bit?”

Lathe tentatively checked, seeing the streams had dwindled to a slow dribble. “Yeah, almost. I'm going to get some of this blood cleaned up- there's a lot of it.” They didn't get here when it had just started, that's for sure... Lathe went to the sink after dropping his bags at the foot of the bed, coming back with a wet cloth and starting to clean up Eren’s face. “Wish those lab techs good luck with that- anything that helps us figure out what's going on with his body. I'll be crunching numbers, like always.” Lathe was able to ease Eren back down after his nose ceased bleeding, wiping up the last of the dried blood from his skin and from the thin sheets and clothes he was in as best as he could. That'll have to do.

Scotty nodded before leaving the room, letting Lathe stay with Eren’s still body. I can imagine the shock of seeing that must blood come from his nose.
Chapter 32: 28 Part 5: Late Night Calls

Levi and Spades were waiting for me when I got there at around four. I could tell Levi had barely been sleeping, and going up to the room... I could tell Lathe was barely functioning. ...Eren looked so... I don't know. I don't know if he’s gonna wake up. With so many injuries, with what I'm told about his seizures, his heart spikes... I don't know what to think. Levi’s letting me stay with him at the hotel, and I'm always with them in the hospital room, or on food runs. Spades comes up whenever she can, and so many people have been coming to visit him as time goes on. A lot of friends from school. Erwin and Armin have come up a few times, and they've brought Marco, Jean and Annie with them. Levi’s cousin Mikasa, too. She’s really worried about Eren, and she’s worried about Levi. They've all brought flowers. There are so many of them, taking up all the open spaces on tables and chairs in the room. A bunch of Lathe’s friends have come to see him, too. Marc and Brook, Larry, Desce... Ryan... They've all said the same thing to each other, to me... That Lathe looks as bad as he did when... when Viola died. They all... We all... We all want Eren to wake up. But he keeps having seizures, and Levi gets more and more tense and silent with each one, and the bags under his eyes just keep getting darker... the only thing that makes them look up in hope is when his finger twitches, and that stopped by the second week. Or when his heart rate spikes, and they both look so hopeful that his eyes are going to open and every time it goes back down and they slump back in their chairs looking even more shattered than before. Around the first week I was here, this guy Casper came up with some new PTSD medicine, and Lathe and Casper gave the doctors hell until they cleared it for use on Eren. It stopped his seizures, but it stopped the heart spikes too. ...Every day, a doctor comes in and asks Lathe if he wants to keep Eren on life support. ...Lathe just laughs in their face every time, going back to his research or his writing or I don't even know. ...Eren has to wake up. We want him to wake up and stay awake and be better and stop breaking everyone’s hearts...

Scotty’s face was somber as he leaned into the room from the doorway. He couldn't find the strength to look into Lathe’s eyes, instead studying the tiles underfoot. No... He knows what I’m about to say, he’s got to. “Lathe… Can you come into the hall with me for a second?”

Lathe looked up from his laptop, setting it down on the chair next to him and standing, quietly walking around the bed, a defeated look on his face. You’re going to say the same thing, aren't you. That's all anyone’s talked to me about lately. He closed the door quietly, turning to Scotty.

“I know you don’t want to hear this… But listen to me please.” Scotty took in a deep breath. This is hard for the both of us... I don’t want to see you break down again. “Eren’s brain activity has been decreasing for a week… Even you know his fingers haven’t moved in over a week… Eren’s heartbeat isn’t spiking anymore… Are you sure you want to keep him on life support…. If Eren were to ever wake up… And I say if…. Not when, you need to understand that Eren could possibly never wake up.... We don’t know the amount of damage that Eren’s brain has acquired over the last three weeks...” Scotty had to keep his eyes off of Lathe’s broken features to get through this without breaking down with him. “Are you sure?... Are you sure you want to keep him on life support?” I can’t believe I need to tell you this Lathe... But I can’t have you kill yourself from stress over Eren.... I don’t think he’ll wake up anymore. He’s had no improvement in over two weeks.
Tears streamed down Lathe’s face, his head dropping and looking at the floor. “Scotty, I… I can’t… I can’t lose him…” Lathe buried his head in his hands. … Eren… I don’t think if he didn’t wake up that I’d even want to… “He’s staying on life support. One more week. He needs a bit more time, and I know that the people who wake up after three weeks are few and far between, but he will, I know he will… H-he… He has to.” Lathe looked up, his eyes red. “Scotty, I know it might sound selfish, but he’s staying on life support for one more week. Please. And if nothing happens by then…” He swallowed hard, his entire body shaking. “… then I’ll let him go.”

Scotty nodded. “Okay… I’ll give him one more week. I’m sorry Lathe.” Scotty moved forward and brought Lathe into his arms, holding him tight against his chest. He let out a shuddery breath. “I’m so sorry… Lathe, I really am.”

Lathe leaned heavily on Scotty, burying his face into his shoulder. “T-thanks. Scotty… I j-just… I don’t w-want to lose him… I can’t …

Scotty gently rubbed circles into Lathe’s back. “…. We don’t want to lose him either… I’ll let you get back to him… Call me if anything happens, okay?” Scotty asked, reaching up to wipe the tears from his own eyes. I hope Eren wakes up…. But I don’t think he will.

Lathe sniffled, nodding. “Okay.” He turned back to the room, pecking Eren’s forehead before taking his place back next to his bed. He quietly wrote down notes from journals on PTSD and seizures until he heard Levi and Nate stand, bidding them a goodnight and leaving for the hotel room. He closed the notebook, looking up to the clock. It’s late, it’s nearly eleven… Time for books. He pulled up The Prisoner of Azkaban, moving his chair a bit closer to Eren and reading to him, a faint smile on his face.

“Snow had started to fall outside the windows, and the castle was very still and quiet. ‘Pssst! Harry!’ He turned, halfway along the 3rd floor corridor, to see Fred and George peering out at him from behind a statue of a humpbacked one-eyed witch. ‘What are you doing?’ Said Harry curiously. ‘How come you’re not going to Hogsmeade?’ Said Harry curiously. ‘We’ve come to give you a bit of festive cheer before we go.’ Said Fred with a mysterious wink. ‘Come in here!’ He nodded toward an empty classroom to the left of the one-eyed statue. Harry followed Fred and George inside. George closed the door quietly and turned beaming to look at Harry. ‘Early Christmas present for you, Harry.’ He said. Fred pulled something from the inside of his cloak with a flourish, and-

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren laid there still on the bed, the ventilator helping keep his lungs moving. What is that sound? He strained to hear the noises that surrounded his head. Harry?…. Harry Potter? Hogsmeade?
What’s going on? I don’t understand… Eren struggled to listen as the voice became clearer in his mind. Fred and George?... What’s happening? Is someone reading Harry Potter to me?... Is that the Prisoner of Azkaban? Is that?... Is that Dad’s voice? Eren willed himself to open his eyes. I wanna see Dad... I want him to know I’m still here... Eren’s eyes slowly cracked open, his heartbeat slowly rising, but not by much. Dad? Where are you? I can’t see you…. Why can’t I see you? Eren’s fingers started to move towards Lathe. Dad? Where are you? I can hear you... Where are you?

Lathe’s voice cut off abruptly as he noticed Eren move, his eyes immediately going to his face, sighing in relief as he saw Eren’s eyes open. Oh My God Thank You! “Eren! Oh my God, Eren, you're awake.” He moved his laptop from his lap and moved his chair close to Eren’s side, gently holding Eren’s hand, still allowing his fingers to move freely. “Here, since you can't speak with the ventilator… How about you try and tap my hand once for a yes, twice for a no, okay? Can you try that?” He beamed as he felt Eren weakly tap his palm once. “Okay, just let me send a quick message out and let people know you're awake, okay?” He felt Eren tap his palm in assent before he drew his hand back, typing furiously on his phone, not caring about spelling errors and sending it. He moved his hand back under Eren’s, moving to gently kiss his forehead.
I was so worried about you… Then again, we’re not home free yet. Lathe, doctor mode. Focus. “Can you see me?”
You've got the thousand-yard stare... I wouldn’t be surprised if you can’t yet.

Think about it Eren... You can see a fucking blurry ass object in front of you... And you can hear Lathe... Eren’s finger tapped once onto Lathe’s palm again. I can see you... You’re so blurry though... Why can’t I see you?

Lathe noted his hesitance to answer, his other hand moving to pick up the paper from the floor, scratching down notes without his eyes leaving Eren’s face. “You still have an odd look to you…
Am I blurry?”

Eren’s face tensed slightly. Blurry is an understatement... You’re a black blob... I can’t see your eyes... Why are you so dark? I can’t see your face Lathe... I’m scared. Eren’s finger weakly tapped again on Lathe’s palm. I’m scared... What happened to me? My body feels like lead... Why can’t I move? Why does it hurt so much? Eren’s eyes, though his look was distant, started to cloud with pain.

Scotty rushed in as Lathe moved to cover Eren’s hand with his other hand, speaking quietly. “Oh no, Eren, don’t you worry. Scotty’s here, he’s going to help you feel better. We’ll make the pain go away.” Lathe turned to Scotty, his face stony. We’re not in the clear just yet, and I know that.
“Scotty, he’s awake, can move his fingers at will, though weakly, he can hear and understand speech, vision is blurry at best, and he’s in pain. Give him morphine, but not too much.”

Eren’s fingers weakly moved against Lathe, as quickly as he could, which wasn’t very quickly. It hurts... Lathe... It hurts... I can’t take it... Eren’s eyes were starting to close, still clouded with Lathe immediately started to speak, his voice louder and clear. “Oh no, Eren, come on, don’t close your eyes. It’ll go away soon, the medicine is going to take effect any time now, just you hang on. I know it hurts, I know you don’t like it, but Eren for the love of God stay awake.” You can’t sleep yet. Not yet, please.

Scotty had immediately rushed to add morphine to the IV, making sure not to add an excessive amount. “Alright, it’s not even going to be two minutes. Two minutes and you’ll feel much better, Eren. Stay with us, here, you can do it. Stay awake.” Scotty’s eyes scanned over his vitals, going back to Eren’s face, his mind in overdrive. Your vitals are steadily going where they should, but that’s going to be worth jack shit if you fall asleep on us. Don’t do it Eren, you can stay awake. I know you can. You have to fight.

Eren struggled to keep his eyes open, and through some miracle he was able to keep them open, his face relaxing as the morphine kicked in. That feels so much better… Why does it hurt so much? Eren’s eyes were no longer laced with pain, but that distant look held fear in it now. What’s happening…? Am I not breathing anymore? Why am I in so much pain?

Lathe uncovered Eren’s hand as he noticed him relax the smallest bit, allowing his hand again to more freely move. “Eren, don’t be scared, please. I’m right here, and you’re in good hands. You got really banged up, and we’re making sure you get well. I need to keep you awake, and I’d rather save a lot of the details for when you're feeling better, but… You really gave us a scare, but you're awake now, and that’s what matters. I hope you weren't too bored while you were asleep…” Lathe gave a breathy laugh, feeling as if a huge weight had fallen from his shoulders. “I told Levi and Nate that you woke up, so they're going to be here soon…” He heard loud footsteps quickly approaching, Levi and Nate bursting into the room, out of breath and wide-eyed. “Speak of the devil. You've got visitors, Eren.” Lathe beamed at them. “You two run the whole way here?”

“No… We took… the stairs up here.” Levi told him, out of breath, instantly moving forward to Eren’s bedside. “Eren?” He asked and leaned forward to kiss his forehead. “Can you hear me?” Levi’s hand touched Eren’s, tears of joy running down his face as Eren’s fingers moved in his palm. Thank god...

Nate moved forward, his hands holding his head as he looked at Eren’s open eyes, crying in relief. Oh thank fuck he’s awake. He swallowed hard, a small smile on his face. “Good to see you're… awake, Eren. We… we were really worried there.”

Lathe looked up to Levi’s face, his voice quiet. “If you ask him something, one tap is yes, two taps is no as a response. He can see a little, but it’s blurry at best. We just have to keep him awake for a while now, give him time to stabilise.” He looked back to Eren. “Eren, have you been able to hear us this whole time, maybe in bits and pieces? If you only just started to hear me today, answer no.”

I could hear them… Bits and pieces… So that’s a yes then. Eren’s finger tapped once and stayed against Lathe’s palm. Is that Lathe? Or who?.... I can’t see anyone? I can’t… Who is it? Eren’s eyes were still laced with fear.

“Okay… Your eyes apparently find the ceiling very interesting, I see… Let’s make sure you know who’s here exactly.” His phone buzzed silently in his pocket, taking it out and grinning as he read the message. “I’m on your right side; I’ve got this hand.” He gently squeezed Eren’s hand, running his thumb over the back before letting it slacken. He looked pointedly to Levi, silently asking him to properly declare himself. Reassociation of voices, because your head is gonna be a bit fuzzy, no doubt.

Eren’s eyes started to close a little bit as his hand rested in Lathe’s. Levi’s here?.... I can’t see him… Where is he…? I’m tired… I’m really tired…. What time is it? It’s so bright… Why is it so bright?

Levi stepped forward, leaning over him so that he was in Eren’s line of sight. “Eren, I’m right here… It’s Levi… I’m right here with you.” His hand reached up to move the hair from his eyes, his own widening as Eren’s started to close. No! Don’t go back to sleep! “Eren!”

Lathe kept his eyes trained on Eren’s face, his voice deathly calm. “Scotty, give him something. Caffeine maybe. Wait, that’ll mess with his heart... Anything that’ll keep him awake.” I can barely think ...shit.

Scotty ran out into the hall, finding a cabinet with medicine and skimming over the labels quickly, returning and adding caffeine to his IV. “Caffeine is right, Lathe.” ...That’s a given, caffeine to keep him awake. How’d you doubt that? I’ve read his file. It should be fine. He watched as Eren’s vitals crept closer to normal levels, running a hand through his short hair. Okay. He’s okay, and should wake up more fully soon.

I’m confused… What did he put in my arm? Who put something in my arm? Eren’s heartbeat started to rise as he started to freak out, Blake waking up and whining, moving carefully to Eren’s side. Did Grisha put something in my arm? I can’t see… What’s happening? Did Lathe and Grisha become friends? How long has Grisha been here!?

Scotty’s eyes widened, taking in the rapidly rising heartbeat. That’s not the effect of the caffeine, it’s been two seconds and it’s nowhere near enough to do that. “Eren, don’t panic, it’s me, Scotty, the doctor guy who set your arm a while ago. Remember? I just gave you some caffeine so you don't fall asleep, that’s all, it’ll just feel like you’ve had a mug of tea to wake you up in the morning or something like that. That’s all I just did. I promise.” Oh no if your heart rate keeps going up like that you’re going to seize up again.

Lathe’s hand covered Eren’s, rubbing the back of it. “It’s okay Eren, Scotty’s just trying to help you. He’s not going to hurt you. You can trust him. It’s okay, I’ve got you. It’s alright.” Lathe glanced up to the screen, willing the numbers to even out. Come on, be calm. Be calm. It’s fine, I swear. We’re taking good care of you.

Eren’s fingers locked up, his hand starting to shake in Lathe’s hands, Blake leaned up, practically climbing on top of him and starting to lick his face which helped Eren relax slowly but surely. It took a long time for his shaking to stop. I don’t want to see Grisha again… I don’t want him to find me here… He’ll kill me… He’ll kill you Lathe! You can’t know he’s here!!

A flicker of recognition passed Lathe’s eyes. “…Oh.” He must not know. “…Eren, we have something important to tell you. I’m not going to dance around it, because you really can’t. Grisha’s dead. He’s gone for good.” You don’t have to worry about him any more.

Eren’s body stopped shaking as soon as those words were said. He’s gone? He’s dead? …He’s really gone. I wanna see Dad… Eren was struggling to turn his neck to the side. I don’t want to see white anymore! Please! Eren’s head jerking as it turned to see Lathe… Or at least the outline of his body.

Lathe shifted, his chair moving closer to Eren’s head, one hand resting lightly on his shoulder.
“You don’t have to worry about him any more, Eren. It’s okay.” He pressed a kiss to his forehead, his eyes glassy and bright. No more worrying about him coming back.

Eren struggled to lift his arm up to try and reach out to Lathe. Dad? Is that you? I can’t tell if that’s you or not… I can’t tell. Tears welled in Eren’s eyes, his look still distant as the tears fell down his cheeks. I can’t tell who you are… That’s scary.

Lathe’s smile fell a bit as he reached in his pocket, wiping Eren’s tears away gently with his red kerchief. “Don’t strain yourself, Eren. You need to keep your strength. It’s okay, don’t cry, please.
It’s all alright.”

Eren’s tears flowed more as he saw the red come near his face. *It’s really Dad… It’s really him…
He’s here… He didn’t leave… Thank god… I thought he was gonna leave me after I lied to him… I promise I’ll never lie to you again… Please don’t leave me…*
Levi’s shoulders slumped, relief clear across his face as tears still fell down his cheeks. He can turn his head... He looks like he really recognises Lathe. That’s amazing, for being awake not even an hour that’s amazing progress already. He rubbed at his eyes, the tears slowing as they felt heavy. It’s the middle of the night, and I can’t believe you’re awake, and I want to stay, but I don't know if I want to pass out in here... He glanced up to Nate and back to Eren, giving him an unsure look. “...Eren, it’s really late at night, and Nate and I need to get some sleep. We’re going to be in a hotel nearby. We’re going to come back tomorrow as soon as we wake up, don't worry. We will be back. But we need sleep, okay?” Please don't worry... I really do want to stay, but Nate and I both need proper sleep now that you're awake.

Eren tapped his finger once against Lathe’s hands, his eyes starting to close still. I'm tired, I don’t blame you for being tired. His vitals started to slow, to a point where it was at a normal levels for someone who was asleep. His eyes were still slightly open, but they were so dull, and his look so far off it seemed like he was asleep with his eyes open.

Lathe gave him a small smile, moving to close his eyes before stowing his kerchief in his pocket again, looking up to Levi. “You two should go sleep. I'll stay here for when he wakes up.” Not if. When. Lathe relaxed at that thought. When. When sounds nice..

Levi nodded. “Okay, we’ll be back when we wake up... It's already morning... Shit...” Levi sighed as he saw the time on the clock in the room. 12:23am... I need to fucking sleep. Levi turned to Nate, wondering if he would say goodbye as well.

Nate gave Lathe a weary smile. “We’ll see you later, Lathe. Try to sleep a bit, okay?” You could use it. He turned to Levi. “We should probably leave Blake here, if Eren needs him.” Now that he’s awake... You just don't know, I guess.

Levi nodded. They left Blake in the hospital room, making their way back to the hotel and collapsing, both of them were able to sleep soundly that night.

Lathe chuckled quietly as Blake curled up at the foot of Eren’s bed, asleep in a moment. Back to normal. Finally. He looked up to Scotty, and looked to Eren, a melancholy look overtaking his features, his voice small. “Scotty... can I sleep with Eren now? I promise I'll be careful of the IV and stuff...”

... Is he really asking for permission? “I honestly thought you would’ve already been holding him in his sleep... You can get in on this side, there aren’t any cords you can mess with here...” Scotty patted his shoulder. “If anything happens call me...Make sure you actually sleep... Please.” He stretched as he walked out of the room.
Lathe nodded, getting up and rounding the bed, kicking off his shoes before slowly and carefully sliding onto the bed next to Eren, his arm gently snaking under his neck and around his shoulders, the other resting over Eren’s middle, holding him close and leaning his head back. I've got you. He fell into a dreamless sleep, out for more than ten hours, much more than the three per night he’d been barely functioning on for weeks.
Chapter 33: 28 Part 6: Dumbass Dok

Eren’s eyes cracked open at around 10:22 in the morning. His hand moved to have his fingers latch onto Lathe’s shirt. Is this Dad? I can’t tell… Eren’s head slowly shifted, his movements quicker than last night, but still slow. I still have a tube down my throat… It feels weird… It feels really weird…

Levi came in, holding Lathe’s usual extra-large coffee and a muffin. He stopped in his tracks as he saw Lathe still asleep holding Eren. His eyes saw Eren’s hands move. “Eren, you’re awake…” Levi said and came up to his other side, gently taking his hand. “It’s me, Levi… I brought Nate with me too… Do you want to see him?” He asked loud enough for him to hear. Your eyes look so distant… Can you hear me?

Eren’s fingers slowly tapped onto his hands once. His face contorting in discomfort. It feels so weird… I want it out. I want it out… Eren tried to spit it out, which caused him to start choking on the large pipe, his body writhing from the feeling. … I want it out! It hurts!

Lathe’s eyes shot open as he felt Eren convulse, shifting to look at him. “Levi, what happened?” He looks like he’s choking on the ventilator tube. His fist hit the red button nearby to call for assistance, unsure of how to remove the tube. It’s in the way for Eren, it looks like. “Eren, sit tight, someone’s coming.” He looked up as Scotty rushed into the room. “Scotty, the breathing tube. It needs to come out.” He slid from the bed, giving Scotty room to work. I don’t know how to do that, I really hope you do.

Scotty nodded and came right to his side. “Eren, I’m your doctor, Scotty. I’m going to pull out the tube that’s down your throat, but you need to try and stay still, you can cough all you want once it’s out.” Scotty made sure it wasn’t taped in place before he started to gently pull the tube out. It needs to come out, he’s choking on it. That’s good, that means he’s trying to breathe on his own.

Eren’s eyes were wide, tears in his eyes, his fingers curled tightly around Levi’s hand. It hurts! Make it stop! He struggled not to cough as the long blue tube was pulled out slowly. Once it was out Eren coughed horribly. His whole body shuddered as he did so, the tears not stopping. That hurt… That hurt a lot… My whole body hurts again… Daddy make it stop!

Lathe moved forward again as Scotty moved out of the way, wiping away his tears again and gauging the pained look in his eyes. “Scotty, more morphine would probably help.” He gave Eren a small smile, speaking just loudly enough for him to hear. “It’s okay Eren, this all means that you’re getting better, you’re breathing without help right now. That’s great! Just relax, that’s over.” The pain will go away soon.
“I’m way ahead of you, Lathe.” Scotty was already adding morphine to Eren’s IV, picking up a small bit of tubing. “Alright Eren, you’re breathing on your own, and that’s really good, but I’m going to make sure you’re getting enough oxygen. This is just going to go around your head and these two little nibs will go in your nose, and you should breathe a little easier, okay?”

Eren moved his head slowly towards where the voice was coming from. His eyes hadn’t moved from where they were, his gaze still far off. He tapped on Lathe’s hand once before moving his fingers to Lathe’s long sleeve and started to hold onto the hem of it. This is Dad right? I can’t tell… Eren moved his head slowly back towards Lathe’s black form… Who are you?

Lathe chuckled a bit as Eren took hold of his shirt. “That’s my shirt, yes. You’ve caught Dad. Want me to climb back up there? Is that what you’re asking?” I wouldn't exactly mind more sleep, knowing you're okay now…

Eren’s moves were jerky as he pulled on his sleeve more. I want you to hold me… I’m so scared… Please… Eren let out a little shuddery sigh and his breaths were shaky as tears welled in his eyes. Hold me please…

Lathe immediately began to shift his weight back onto the bed, his free hand snatching his kerchief again as his arm reached around Eren’s shoulders, pulling him close as he wiped away his tears, murmuring quietly into his ear. “It’s okay, Eren, I’m right here, don't cry, there’s nothing to be afraid of. I've got you, and I'm not going anywhere anytime soon.” He pressed a kiss to Eren’s temple, his head dropping onto the pillow as Eren’s oxygen tube was set in place, his hand carding through his hair, just beginning to feel the full force of three weeks with nearly no sleep.

Eren’s whole body relaxed as he felt Lathe’s fingers run through his hair like they had so many times before. It is Dad… Thank god… Eren’s body didn’t shake and his eyes didn’t hold an ounce of pain in them once the morphine had finally kicked in. He kept his head back with Lathe’s hand but he would turn it towards voices and he was starting to hear a lot from the number of nurses that had found themselves at the door watching the formerly comatose patient become more alive than they had seen since his arrival. Who are they? There’s so many, who’s here? Eren’s ears strained as he heard Blake growl and felt a shift in the bed near his feet. Blake had gotten to his feet, his teeth bared and ears flattened at the noisy nurses in the doorway.

“Alright everybody, please step away from the doorway. Return to your jobs; this is police business right now.” A familiar voice cut through the chatter in the hall, dispersing the small crowd. A tall man entered the room, his dark short hair and thin moustache giving his face a narrow, mousy look. “Eren, I'm officer Nile Dok, and this is my partner, Officer Dennis Eibringer.” He gestured to the shorter brunette to his left. “We need to ask you some questions about the altercation regarding your biological father.”
Lathe lifted his head from his sleep, looking to the officers, his face immediately becoming stony. ... really. He’s awake for less than twenty-four hours and you’re going to try and question him? “I’m not sure this is a good time, Officers.” Lathe’s words were sharp with barely-hidden malice.

“Nonsense. Eren is conscious and we require him to give a statement before anyone has the opportunity to… influence his responses.” He looked pointedly to Levi. We can’t have you convincing him it was all for the best when his father’s been pumped full of lead.

“Sir, I understand that, but he is in no condition to respond coherently, he doesn't have any of his bearings back.” You're fucking crazy!

Nile stepped forward, his face set, glaring at Lathe. “Sir, anything else from you and I'll have you cited for obstruction of justice. You and all others in this room need to leave now so that we can commence our interrogation-”

“...Ex cuse me, Officers.”

A sickly sweet voice cut through the air like a knife, a usually warm tone turned to absolute ice. Spades leaned in the doorway, her badge gleaming gold around her neck as she fixed Nile with a cool look. She smiled, her eyes narrow. “May I ask what it is you're doing?”

Nile visibly swallowed, stepping back a foot to look at Spades’ whole body. “Ma’am, we’re here for police business, we’ve come to get the victim’s statement regarding the Grisha Yeager case.” Nile finished off his sentence with a hostile glare. “Could you please help me escort this man out of the room so we can properly do so?” He asked turning his menacing glare from Levi to Lathe. He hadn’t noticed Blake move from the foot of the bed to Eren’s chest, licking at the boys face…

His eyes so distant he looked like a breathing dead body.

“...Let me get this straight.” Spades pushed off of the doorframe, taking a few steps into the room, her voice even and sharp. “You came here to interrogate this young man, who just so happens to be my son, about the case regarding his severely abusive father, Grisha Yeager, less than twenty-four hours after he woke up from a three-week-long coma. You came here expecting to get a coherent statement from that young man who can barely tell which way is up after being out for that long. Are you really telling me that I have to tear that man’s adoptive father and my fiancée away from him, one of the only people able to comfort him after nearly being killed by his biological father and after his peace was so rudely interrupted by two goons that obviously didn't read into the case for shit? You expect me to follow the orders of an Officer lower than me in rank, from another county, trying to hijack the proceedings of a case that is under my jurisdiction, and has been for more than three and a half years? If you really thought all of that, which by coming here, you do, I hate to be the one to break it to you…” Spades sneered at the man, her gaze cold. “...but you are sorely mistaken. Now do me a favor and get the fuck out of his hospital room.” I’m done with your shit.

Nile raised his hands as if he were trying to calm her down. “Ma’am calm yourself, you’re out of your county, this is not a dispute which you can have with me… In my eyes, you are a simple civilian outside of your own jurisdiction! And my partner and I have been assigned Grisha’s case by the Chief commissioner himself; getting Eren’s statement before his memory has been tampered with by anyone is vital to our investigation. We were told to treat this investigation as a homicide. So we will do as such!” Nile shouted right back at her, stepping up to her, thankful for the few inches he had on her.

Eren’s eyes were wide, fear laced in them. No one was really watching him, mostly trained on the fight happening in the rest of the room, a lot more nurses were stopping and staring at the two yell back and forth at each other. Blake was whining, but Eren couldn’t hear it anymore. He only heard ringing. No! Please! Stop! Don’t hurt me! Don’t hurt me… Don’t hurt me Grisha please… I promise I won’t tell! I promise I won’t tell! Don’t hurt me! Eren’s heart rate was going through the roof, his head tilting back along with his shoulders arching up as his body started to convulse violently against Lathe’s solid form. Make it stop! I promise I won’t tell! Please don’t hurt me! Eren could only hear the ringing in his ears as the machines around him started to blare one after the other.

Lathe’s eyes were wide as he moved Eren onto his side, looking up at Scotty as he raced into the room, Spades holding Nile and Dennis back from interfering at all. “He’s having another seizure, it must’ve been the arguing that did it, how did I not even notice?! He ran his hand though Eren’s hair as Eren seized, willing him to calm and for the convulsing to stop. Three minutes passed agonisingly slowly, the only sound the blaring of the machines and the shaking of the bed as Eren’s body jerked. He finally began to calm, Lathe sighing in relief as Eren fell limp, holding him closely. Eren’s eyes were open, but he wasn’t there at all. Lathe suddenly remembered that look. The thunder. The lightning. On the ground. Shock. “He’s in shock.” He leaned back from Eren so he could look him in the eyes, reaching for his hand and holding it carefully, his other hand carding through his hair. “Eren, Eren please listen to me, it’s okay. It’s okay, there was an argument, but it’s over for right now, okay? No one’s gonna hurt you. I’m right here, and so is Levi and Blake, and we all want you to be okay, and we’re going to protect you. Nothing’s gonna hurt you, Eren. Nothing.” Come on, snap out of it!

Eren just laid limply, his gaze looking right through Lathe. His pupils dilated despite the bright light in the hospital room. No… All lies… It’s all lies…. All lies…. All lies… Eren’s lips barely moved, a soft whisper almost unheard by him. “…..lies…..”

Spades sent Nile and Dennis a glare that would have put Medusa to shame, jerking her thumb out to the hall, speaking under her breath. “I’ll have a word with you after I know he’s okay.” She slowly approached Eren’s bedside as Nile and Dennis silently obeyed her, watching Scotty walk out after them, a usually dormant look of fury in his eye. That’s not gonna be pretty.
Scotty walked out after the two Officers, closing the door quietly behind him, his radiating anger enough to quickly disperse the growing crowd. He spoke quietly to the two Officers, his voice and tone demanding. “Follow me.” He led them to a private break room, shutting the door behind them, turning to the two officers and leaning against it, stoic and silent for a long moment before he spoke, his voice low and cold. “I hope you now understand that you're not going to get an ounce of information out of Eren, especially at this time.” His gaze switched between the two of them, resting for the most part on Nile. “Patients who have recently regained consciousness after being in a coma, especially for that long, need weeks to reach a point where they are coherent. Eren is barely able to recognise his own father right now. I hope that puts this into perspective.” His voice grew louder, sharper. “If you had bothered to pay attention to the man you were trying to cite for obstruction of justice, you would realise he is a former general surgeon whose input is highly regarded in this particular establishment, as he knows Eren’s medical history forwards, backwards and sideways, and is fully aware of Eren’s fragile mental state as he suffers from PTSD. Or did you not notice the service dog with the patches all over the vest?” He crossed his arms over his chest. “Your inability to go into a case, not even your own, so grossly unprepared that you try and tear a scared and disoriented man from his own father and shout in the face of your superior who has intimate knowledge of the case you apparently have been assigned is a disgrace to the entirety of your force, and made the son of my best friend wrongfully suffer a seizure, putting him at an even higher risk of permanent brain damage.” His eyes widened as the door was sharply kicked, recognising the odd way of knocking and turning to open the door for Spades, a dark look on her face.

“First of all, Scotty, Eren’s okay, he’s just a bit shaken up. He’s probably going to be napping for a better part of today. Now.” Spades hooked the edge of the wooden door with her heel, shutting it behind her as she entered the room. “I politely request that you two keep your mouths shut as I talk.” She leaned back against the doorframe, mirroring Scotty. “I would first like to address the problem of you two supposedly being assigned Eren’s case. It makes no sense at all that officers of another county would be assigned to oversee cases in my county. As commissioner, I think I would know that. And even if you were, with the way you’d acted I’d have you up to your teeth in citations before you could blink. I don’t know how they let you into the force.” She practically ignored Dennis, her eyes fixed on Nile who miraculously kept his mouth shut. “We’ll clear that up in a moment. Secondly, I would like to address the fact that although you’ve supposedly been assigned to this case- and not the case itself, make no mistake- and despite your apparent… zeal in acquiring a statement from Eren Yeager, your showing up at this moment in time indicates that you’ve ignored 99% of the facts in the actual case. If you read a sentence-long summary of the entire ordeal, you’d know that this was by no means a homicide. Lance Corporal Levi Ackerman, according to the existence of the stand-your-ground law in this state, and drawing from the mortal peril Grisha Yeager had put Eren Yeager under, an extensive history of which exists, Levi had every right to shoot Grisha Yeager until he was sure the threat was terminated.”

Nile’s snarky voice entered the silence. “Because 11 bullets is needed to kill a man… Grisha was shot twice in the head… It appears as though this Lance Corporal of yours was shooting with pure rage, not uncommonly found in instances of homicide. ” Nile was blatantly ignoring all of Spades’ previous words.
Scotty’s body seemed to move of it’s own accord, punching Nile with everything he had square in the nose, feeling the bone crunch under his knuckles. He felt Spades jerk him back by the back of his collar, holding him from doing any more damage. She didn't look at all affected by the blood dripping from Nile’s nose, it’s disfigured look. “Well, I suppose that if I saw the man who had raped, dissected and tortured my boyfriend was one knife out of eight away from killing him, I’d make damn sure he was dead, too.” Her gaze was stony, taking in his shocked expression. “You acted without any prior knowledge of the case and caused him unnecessary pain at a time when his mind is vulnerable and his health fragile. It’s not exactly appreciated.” She studied his nose, grinning after a moment. “You know, that reminds me. Levi had mentioned something before I left to find you all. Does it hurt any less the second time your nose gets busted? I’ve always wanted to know. I hope it doesn’t. The first time, when Eren punched you at the Nate Ruess concert for shattering his arm and acting like a pedophile? You deserved that as much as you deserved this.” She let Scotty go.

Scotty went ballistic, his fist reconnecting with Nile’s face. “You’re the fucking bastard who shattered his fucking wrist? What the fuck is wrong with you?!” Scotty landed punch after punch, Dennis simply watching and shaking his head, as if he had expected this to happen.

Spades decided to intervene again when Nile passed out on the floor, not having been able to retaliate at all against Scotty’s onslaught. She nudged his head with her boot, noting his slack face with an unamused expression. “Fucking pansy.” She let his head drop back to the floor, pulling out her phone and tapping out a familiar number, placing the phone on the table on speaker. It rang twice before it picked up.
Chapter 34: 28 Part 7: Police Commissioner of Wichita

“Ah, Spades! I’m glad you called! Did Nile and Dennis make it to your office yet?” He asked, his voice cheery and kind so far, hoping the guy had actually done something right for once...

Spades quirked an eyebrow, pacing the room slowly. “Actually, they did not. I found them attempting to take an official statement from Eren Yeager. They say they’ve been assigned my case.”

“Oh for the love of fucking God! Can that asshole do anything fucking right!?” Gordon’s voice was furious. “I sent him to go to your office to get the case files… I wanted the previous statements… God is he a fucking idiot?! Don’t let him fucking leave. I’m on my way to the hospital now, that bastard has drawn the last fucking straw from my patience!” Gordon abruptly hung up the phone, presumably to come to the hospital to pick up the two officers.

Oh don't worry, he isn't going anywhere. That same sickly sweet smile came across her face, her voice laced with too much sugar. “Scotty, could you do me a favor and wait for Commissioner Ramsey in the lobby? He shouldn't be too long.” She moved as he left, watching Nile as he slowly regained consciousness, getting impatient quickly and stamping her boot by his head, shocking him enough to be fully awake. The clock hit the five minute mark as he scrambled to his feet, and hearing heavy footsteps down the hall, she opened the door before his fist could connect with the frame, moving aside.

Gordon took three steps into the room before he was staring down Nile, watching as the man shrunk in his presence. “Nile fucking Dok. Stand the fuck up.” He growled out, his eyes harsh, his tone even harsher.

Nile swallowed hard and forced himself to stand up straight, trying to steel himself against Gordon’s words and horribly failing, his eyes wide with fear. “S-sir?” ... I die today, don't I?

Gordon grabbed Nile by his shirt, quickly yanking him off of his feet and taking another step forward slamming him into the wall with all his strength, a good six inches off the ground. “What. Did. I. Fucking. Tell. You. To. Do. This. Fucking. Morning?” His eyes blazed with pure anger and rage. You will not have another chance, not with any police force in any other fucking city... I’ll make sure of it dammit!

“To get the statements on the Grisha Yeager case, S-sir…”
“Oh? Is that all I told you?” His voice a little softer as he let Nile drop down to the floor.

“Y-yes?”

Gordon’s hand came across Nile’s face in an instant. “No, it fucking wasn’t! Can you do one single fucking thing right? I’ve given you chance after fucking chance to try and try again… But you’re the worst fucking cop in the world! You’ve disgraced the entire police brigade with your actions both in the past and today!” His hand came smacking back the other way, back handing him hard across the other cheek, the sound of skin on skin reverberating through the small room.

Nile’s eyes were wide as he slumped down against the wall. “I-I’m s-sorry S-Sir… I-I thought-”

“You do not fucking think, Nile! You clearly don’t since I asked you to go pick up a fucking file folder two hours away and you come to a hospital five minutes away to interrogate a mental patient!” He roared back, smacking his face again. “I heard from his doctor that you caused a fucking scene and put him through a fucking seizure! You are not fit to be a called a policeman! Give me your badge!” He shouted, holding his hand out.

“B-But-”

“No buts! I’ve given you three fucking chances already and you blew it! Badge! NOW!”

Gordon’s angry yelling had caused the nurses to avoid using the hallway around the room, he was so loud and even the muffled sounds escaping the room radiated out fury and malice.

Nile looked down hanging his head. “Y-Yes Sir.” He slowly reached for his badge.

“I don’t have all fucking day, Nile! I need to go clean up your fucking mess now! Hurry the fuck up you slow ass!” Gordon had his badge a moment later. “Good, now I need your gun, your taser, and your radio.” His voice full of pure anger as he got everything and handed it off to Dennis. “Go back to the office, I’ll question you later.” Gordon turned back to Nile. “And if you so much as step foot in this fucking hospital again, I will not hesitate to throw you behind bars… I’m also making sure that you never get hired by another police force ever again, and you can bet your skinny ass on that one! Now leave, asshole!”

Gordon’s fury had Nile out of the room in seconds with Dennis following close behind him. He sighed once they both left. “I’m so sorry about all that, Spades. And I need to go apologize to your fiancée, can you show me the way?” Gordon’s voice was soft and full of concern. Eren better be alright, or I’m gonna fucking hunt that asshole down.
Spades nodded and gave him a faint smile, leading him down the halls quietly. It was a short walk back to their room, Spades poking her head into the room before entering, knocking softly on the frame, her face falling as she watched Eren sleep fitfully in Lathe’s arms, muttering about lies.

Gordon followed her silently into the room, not caring that Scotty followed in after and ignored him to go straight to Eren. Shit… I’m not good at this, Spades, introduce me.

Spades immediately caught on, coming up and giving Lathe a small smile. “Lathe, I’d like you to meet Gordon Ramsey, the police Commissioner of Wichita. Gordon, this is Lathe Quo, Eren’s father and my fiancée.” … I will never get tired of saying that.

Lathe sat up a bit, not leaving Eren’s side and reaching out his hand for him to shake. “It’s nice to meet you, Commissioner Ramsey.”

“Please, the pleasure is all mine.” Gordon shook his hand with a firm grasp. “I came to apologize for my subordinate’s behavior earlier today, it was rude and unwarranted, but all I can do is offer my sincere apologies.” Gordon hung his head a bit. I hate cleaning up after that fucking retard.

Lathe gave him a sympathetic look. “Thank you for that. It’s…” It’s not really alright... Eren’s muttering about lies in his sleep! He sighed, running a hand through his hair. “It’s on the Officer that came in here, what Eren went through. I just hope he’s okay, he’s muttering…” He held Eren tightly as he curled further into him, his words running together. I hope it’s not permanent, because if it is... I’m pressing charges against him.

“Thank you for that. It’s…” It’s not really alright... Eren’s muttering about lies in his sleep! He sighed, running a hand through his hair. “It’s on the Officer that came in here, what Eren went through. I just hope he’s okay, he’s muttering…” He held Eren tightly as he curled further into him, his words running together.

“It is former officer, Nile has since been stripped of his badge and all titles associated with him from the Police Academy. I can assure you as much.” The man’s words were solemn as he watched Eren’s words start to mesh together, some just random noises coming out. I hope it’s not permanent, because if it is... I’m pressing charges against him.

Lathe looked to him, a bit of relief passing his eyes. Good, getting rid of an officer like that from the force. “Thank you… I suppose it’s a good thing he can’t go and wreak more havoc elsewhere. I’m sure Eren will be okay. It’s just some temporary quirks from the seizing, the shock. He’ll be fine.” He rubbed small circles into Eren’s back, letting Eren further tangle their legs together. I’m not getting up anytime soon, am I? Not that I’d want to, exactly.

Gordon nodded. “Alright, well I should be going… If you need anything Spades, don’t hesitate to call, I owe you big time for this.” Gordon said polite goodbyes before exiting the room quietly.
Eren’s heart rate spiked like it had so many days ago, his face contorting in fear and his grip tightening on Lathe’s shirt, letting out a few whimpers.

Lathe’s eyes widened as his gaze met Scotty’s. Of fking course. “Nightmares.”

“Nightmares.” Scotty quickly moved to retrieve the container of PTSD medication, adding another dose to the IV. It makes so much more sense. “How the hell didn’t we realise it sooner? The spikes would’ve most likely been while in periods of sleep, and the PTSD medication stopped the spikes, and what was it supposed to stop during periods of sleep normally? Nightmares.”

“We’re such idiots.” Lathe watched as he added the drug to the IV, gently shaking Eren’s shoulder. “It’s not going to take immediate effect. It’s moreso preventative than anything. Eren, wake up for a moment, you’re not doing too well.” Two minutes, and then you can sleep again. Surprise overtook Lathe’s features when Eren opened his eyes.

Eren’s pupils constricted from the blinding light in the room for the first time since he was awake. Eren’s shocked expression gave away everything as he slowly reached up to touch Lathe’s face. Oh my god… It’s Dad… I can see him again…

Lathe’s eyes were wide as Eren’s hand moved to his face, noting the recognition in his eyes. …He can see me. …He can see me! Lathe turned onto his side and pulled Eren into a hug, careful not to crush him as he started sobbing into his shoulder. He can see me and he can recognise me and he’s awake and he’s okay…

Eren was stunned as he was grabbed and he let out a strange noise before a hand moved to grab Lathe’s shirt again. He looked around the strange whitewashed room he was in. It’s so fucking white… What the actual hell? His eyes wandered the room, finally spotting Scotty and he stared down the tall doctor with a curious gaze. Who is that? What’s he doing in here?

Scotty shifted under his gaze, offering him a small smile. “H-hi, Eren. It’s me, Scotty. I patched up your wrist a while ago, set your ribs and stuff before… Remember?” Don’t still be terrified of me, please…

Eren’s brow furrowed, letting out a garbled noise. No, I don’t remember… Is that why I can’t move my wrist? Eren looked down to his hand closed around Lathe’s shirt, his eyes widening a fraction when he saw the expanse of detail on all the casts he had. Oh… That’s why I can’t move anything… That’s fking wonderful… Probably why it hurts so much whenever I wake up too…
Lathe pulled himself together, pulling back and looking to Eren with a weary smile. “Your words aren’t back yet, I hear. And signing isn't going to do too well with those casts, at least by yourself.” He shifted to offer Eren both of his hands, palms up. “Sign through me, whatever you need to say.” You seem capable. And that’s a fucking miracle.

Eren looked to Lathe, his mind at war with itself. He wants to know why you lied. You shouldn’t have lied to him. He probably hates you. I bet he wishes you were dead… Eren’s eyes trailed down to his casts. He got bored… Yeah you honestly expect him to be entertained watching a motionless body all day? Eren only shook his head, reaching a shaky palm up to him, his eyes not looking up to Lathe’s. You think he’ll forgive you after the shit you pulled?

Lathe’s eyes softened, slowly reaching out a hand to run down his palm once, twice. He took hold of his hand gently, twining their fingers. Whatever it is you’re apologising for, I forgive you.

Eren’s eyes still never met Lathe’s again. He shut up… He didn’t even try to talk, and he didn’t move to use Lathe’s hands. How fucking stupid can I be? Grisha was right… Lathe would be better off with me dead….

Lathe quietly talked with Levi, Nate and Spades, Scotty having gone to continue his work day. He practically ended up moving Eren into his lap, his chin on his shoulder and arms around his middle protectively. You're so quiet… I was guessing you'd be a bit out of it from the seizure and the shock, but you're nothing like yourself. You remind me of… of you. When I first met you. He looked up as Nate stood from his chair, checking his watch and sighing reluctantly.

“Guys, I'd give anything to stick around, but it’s been two whole weeks I’ve been out here. I need to get back to LA and back into doing work.” Nate hung his head a bit. I probably should've mentioned this a bit sooner. ‘I'm flying out tonight, I just need to grab some stuff from the hotel room, really… I just made the arrangements this morning, so I would've told you sooner if I knew what was going on. I'm sorry about that…’” He looked up to Eren, giving him a small smile, patting his shoulder lightly. “Feel better soon, okay Eren?”

Eren shied away from the gentle touch on his shoulder, seemingly curling up on himself. No… You’ll be nice to get me closer…. No… No more… don’t touch me… You’ll hurt me… Eren eyes stayed trained on his hands which were situated in his lap.

A hurt look flitted across Nate’s face before shrugged it off. I guess he's just still scrambled up from earlier… “Alright. I'll talk to you all later, cool?” Nate bid them all goodbye before leaving, his packing taking minutes and soon on the way to the airport. He’ll be okay. They'll all be okay.
A week passed, and Eren didn’t look anyone in the eyes anymore. He didn’t open his mouth at all, and it wasn’t long until they realized he wasn’t going to try eating, so Scotty had to put the feeding tube back into him after taking it out three days before. He got more edgy around everyone, even Scotty and Lathe but especially anyone that was new in his room, and he wouldn’t let Levi get close to him at all. He would always move out of the way of his hand and either plaster himself to Lathe or turn his head to bite the hand trying to touch him. He had already bitten at least three nurses since his biting habit started. His eyes were wide but their color held so much sadness that they always appeared dull and glazed over. Eren soon started to move away from Lathe’s arms after the feeding tube was put back in. He didn’t like when people came to feed him, he’d always try and struggle against it… Never making a single noise at all, but always trying to claw his way out of it. No… I don’t want to eat… I’ll get fat… Everyone will hate me more if I get fat! I don’t want them to hate me more! I don’t want Lathe to hit me! I don’t want Levi to hit me! Is Scotty gonna kill me? Did Grisha tell him to? What’s he putting in my IV? Eren always watched Scotty move around the hospital room with an empty gaze. He’s the only one who had actually made direct eye contact with him for the last week. But whenever Scotty looked, he only saw a shell, like Eren wasn’t really there. He’s gonna kill me… He hates me… He hates that he has to come here…. He doesn’t like me at all… Lathe’s mad at me… But he won’t leave me…. Is he trying to look for things to give him a reason to hit me? Eren’s mind was in shambles as he tried to scratch at his wrists, only managing to scratch away some of the color from his casts. Blake had tried to get him to stop, but was roughly pushed away by Eren himself. Blake didn’t know what to do anymore, he whined a lot, Eren always seemed to be scratching at the casts. I want them off… I want to cut… They’ll be happy if I cut… They want me to die… Grisha was right… I would’ve better been off dead… One of the doctors had suggested that they move Eren out of the intensive care room and into a regular patient room since he was off of the ventilator, but that idea was quickly shot down when Eren bit the doctor that got close to him. I don’t trust you, I don’t know who the fuck you are… Get the hell away from me… You’re going to hurt me… Get away. Eren seemed to always look like a cornered animal in his hospital bed whenever anyone new was introduced into his room. He no longer recognized his friends from school as people he could trust when they came to see him, he actually tried to bite Armin when the blonde had mistakenly come up to give him a hug. No… Armin hates me… I need to stay away from him… Armin hates me… I lied to him…. Armin hates me… He hates me… Erwin had been able to pull Armin back before he was bitten and he looked over to Levi, asking if Eren knew he needed to leave soon. Levi’s leaving? Grisha was right? He’s leaving me? He hates me? …Levi hates me? Erwin’s words brought the first tears out of Eren’s eyes after a week and a half of silence. He tried to curl up to himself as he cried, but he couldn’t manage much with his legs in casts and his whole body wrapped tightly. No… I don’t want him to hate me…. I don’t want him to leave me…. I don’t want Grisha to be right…. Eren rubbed at his face a lot, mostly whenever Lathe wasn’t looking. No… He can’t know I’m drooling… No one can know I’m drooling… They’ll hit me… They’ll tie me down… They’ll think I’m a whore. Eren rubbed as his face until it was red, but made sure that Lathe never saw it. I’m a whore… Grisha was right… Lathe will think I’m a whore for him….

Lathe had refused to leave Eren’s side, trying to keep him calm when others were around, when Scotty added something to his IV, when he had a sudden thought and scratched at his casts. Lathe would talk to him quietly, trying to reassure him, read with him, draw the color back onto his casts as he slept. His heart broke when they had to put the feeding tube back in. He had been so hopeful that Eren’s state would only improve. He tried to keep Eren from biting people, a nasty habit he hoped would be short-lived. But when Eren woke up from a nightmare in Lathe’s arms, jerking him awake as his teeth clamped down on his hand, he felt his heart shatter and knew they were back to square one. ... He doesn’t trust me. Does he. Lathe still held Eren tightly, war raging in his mind, frustration and fury and brokenness and misery all at once. His face was more often than not stony, lost in his thoughts. He held his middle as Eren cried, hearing Levi had to leave soon, murmuring in his ear that it was all going to be okay, that he would come back soon enough. Even holding Eren, laying on the bed next to him, he barely slept, his moonsong eyes dark. ...How am I supposed to earn back your trust, the trust we built up over three and half years? How do I... How am I supposed to do that?

Scotty had come in to give Eren his medication in the morning through his IV drip as he usually did. He saw the bite marks across Lathe’s fingers and his eyes fell. He doesn’t trust Lathe.... How did that happen? He felt Eren’s empty gaze burn into the back of his skull as he was being stared at. It’s so empty.... He looks like nothing's there behind his eyes... It almost looks like he’s dead, except for that small trace of fear he has in them everyday.... I wonder if he’s looked Lathe in the eye yet... I wonder if Lathe knows that Eren isn’t ‘there’. He decided he would come back when Lathe was actually awake to talk to him about it. I think he’s only stared at me this whole week. It’s almost like he thinks I’m going to kill him with everything I’m putting into him. He watched as Eren lifted his arm to rub up against his face. His face is so red from him rubbing it all the time. I wonder why he’s doing that.... He’s been doing it a lot, I wonder if Lathe noticed? Or does he hide it from him?

Lathe woke up not too long after, the only four hours of sleep leaving his eyes heavy, the skin under them dark and pronounced against his usually ashen skin. He shifted a bit so he could sit up, giving Eren a weary smile. “G’morning, Eren. You sleep okay?” His left hand was always palm up next to Eren, if he even wanted to respond or talk. He wasn’t surprised at his silence, his palm untapped. He reached for his phone, reading the screen. “Levi’s coming to spend the day with you today, before he has to leave.” He turned back as he picked up his notebook and a thin sharpie, seeing Eren’s palm offered to him. He ran his hand down it twice, giving him a gentle peck on the temple, wary of being bitten again. ... Baby steps. Baby steps. He settled against his side again, using his legs as a slanted table and drawing some of the flowers at the bedside, more always being added as the older ones wilted. It wasn’t long before Levi gently knocked on the doorframe, walking in slowly with a faint smile, a bag in his hand.

Levi stepped into the white room wearing his digital camo gear. “Good Morning, Eren.” He put his large bag down near the door of the room but out of the way before he slowly walked towards the seat. “How are you this morning?” He watched Eren lift his head to watch his lower half move closer. He still won’t look at me... Why? Why won’t you look at me? Levi sat down in a chair next to Eren’s bedside, watching with sadness in his eyes as Eren sat up and moved away from him and towards Lathe’s side. You always move away from me... What did I do?

Eren watched his legs as they moved, he knew he was coming too close. No... You’ll hit me... You’re going to yell at me... You’re leaving me... You hate me... Why are you here? You hate me! His body shook slightly as it pressed against Lathe, not trusting the new person in the room.
Lathe wrapped his arm around Eren, looking to Levi in silent warning that Eren would lash out if he got too close. His features were weighted down with sadness as he dropped his Sharpie for a moment, showing him his fingers, the curving red marks of Eren’s teeth still visible. He doesn't even trust me, Levi... For right now... It’s not going to go over well.

Scotty poked his head in the door. “Oh, Lathe, you’re up… That’s good, can you come talk with me in the hall? I need to tell you something.” Levi doesn’t need to know this... Not when he’s leaving.

Lathe looked over and reluctantly nodded, slowly slipping from the bed and giving Levi another look, speaking quietly. “I won't be long.” He padded after Scotty, quietly closing the door and turning to him. “What's up?”

“Eren hasn’t looked you in the eye, has he? Like actually held eye contact with you?” Scotty asked and his tone seemed worried. That bite mark looks like it hurts. Scotty shifted from one foot to the other repeatedly. I wanna make sure I know before I say anything else.

Lathe’s small smile fell, his eyes drifting to the floor. “...No, he hasn't… He bit me this morning. Didn't break the skin, though.” He held up his hand, his eyes glassy as he studied the dark red curved line. He doesn't trust me... He just... Doesn't. Can't, I suppose…

“Okay… So I am the only one...I went around this morning and asked all the nurses to see if he’s looked any of them in the eye, and they all said no… But for some reason he always stares at me… It’s one of those stares you feel follow you through the room, but when I turn around… He looks at me in the eye. Lathe, it looks like he’s not there, the only thing that makes him look the slightest bit alive is that they're always laced with fear after I put his medicine in… Has he done anything to talk to you? About what happened? Have you talked to him about what happened?” Scotty continued to switch his feet occasionally. I think I might know why he doesn’t trust any of us... But it might take a long time to convince him... But it's worth a shot. “A-And do you want me to bandage that?” He asked, pointing to Lathe’s hand. Can’t keep the doctor from coming out, can you Scotty? Should I ask him about Eren rubbing his face a lot?

Lathe shook his head, his eyes downcast. “No thanks, I'm fine… And I haven't really told him anything… I was hoping to wait until he was more stable mentally to tell him the whole story of it, but… I probably should just tell him everything, while Levi’s still here to give details I don't know…” He looked up, his eyes narrowing, reading Scotty’s expression. “Was that the only thing you noticed about Eren and his actions?” I've been asleep a lot more, I could easily have missed something.
Scotty shook his head. “No… He’s been rubbing his face a lot… I’m worried he’ll rub his chin and cheeks raw with how rough his casts are… Have you noticed him doing anything weird while I wasn’t around?” “I’m worried about him…. He hasn’t even tried to start talking yet… It’s almost like he’s become mute.

Lathe nodded, running a hand through his dark hair. “He keeps doing this.” He reached out his hand, palm up. “The way Eren learned sign language, it’s how you ask for forgiveness. He started asking at least twice a day, but I can't think for my life what he could be apologizing for…” If he’s pretty much how he was when I first met him, it could be general forgiveness, maybe thinking it’s an inconvenience for me to be here, for not getting better fast enough… What else could he be apologizing for?

Scott straighten himself, taking in his words. “When did Eren start asking for forgiveness? And do you say anything with it? When you ‘forgive’ him?” Scott asked, pulling a small notepad out from his pocket and starting to write things down. We need to know what’s wrong with him… With how fast he’s improving… He should be able to talk by now.

“He started asking ever since he woke up. I just… I don't know what else I could say. I don't know what he’s sorry for…”

“What happened before he came here… What did he do…?” Scotty was still scratching everything down trying to piece it together. Didn’t Spades say something about Eren lying to Lathe?

Lathe shrugged. “I don't know where he was or what he was doing the entire time, because he didn't have his phone because he…” Lathe’s eyes widened. “…Because he told me he lost it, and he told Armin it broke. He’s apologizing for lying, isn't he.”

Scotty looked down to Lathe. “That would do it… Has he lied to you before?” Scotty asked tapping the pen against the paper trying to rack his brain for what to do. Is that all it is?

Lathe shook his head. “Never. Not that I can think of.”

“Has he had trust issues before?” What can possibly be going through Eren’s head right now?

“He’s really… He’s acting a lot like he did when I first met him. So, yeah. He’s very wary of new people, of people he doesn't recognize, of people he doesn't know too well…”
“Okay…. Umm… Do you know what happened to him the first time? Like when you met him first?” Scotty scrawled down on his pad of paper, drawing arrows to certain things. Why doesn’t he trust you?

Lathe’s voice was quiet. “...I found out that before I met him, when his… Grisha was still around, that Grisha would often get into a rage, beating him and burning him… Breaking his bones… raping him, dissecting him, which explains the single kidney… Just, horrible things…” Lathe blinked. ...He can’t think I'm the same, does he? Does he think I’m mad? That I'll hurt him like Grisha hurt him?

“So he doesn’t trust people who are angry at him… Do you think he thinks you're mad at him?” Scotty asked looking at Lathe with solemn eyes. Grisha Yeager… The ‘Do No Harm’ Doctor… How could he do that to his own son? That’s sick.

Lathe was still for a moment, slowly nodding. “I think that must be what he thinks. Because he lied. He thinks I know that he lied, which I do, and that I’m mad at him for it and are just waiting for an opportunity to hurt him. But we’re in the middle of a hospital, no one would have an opportunity, and it’s just a crazy thought…” Paranoia. Outlandish assumptions… “But he’s still scared of you, too, I can see it when you give him his medicine. ...He must think you're in on it, or something. He must be convinced I'm trying to get him killed.” It makes sense, and that’s fucking scary. Grisha really fucked with his head…

Scotty nodded, putting away his notepad in his pocket. “I think you should go talk to him and clear things up… That’s the only way I can see him start to trust you again.” At least we figured out an idea…. And it makes sense… I just hope if that’s really what it is that Eren can be swayed back to proper thoughts.

Lathe nodded, giving Scotty a small smile. “Thanks, Scotty. I guess I’ve got some explaining to do.” He turned to head back into the room, opening the door and gasping in surprise. He looked to Eren, teeth sinking into Levi’s bleeding hand. Fuck. Lathe rushed forward, wrapping one arm around Eren’s middle and pulling him back, his other hand moving near Eren’s mouth. He spoke quietly into his ear, pleading with him. “Eren, let him go, please, Levi’s not going to hurt you, please don't bite him, let go, come on, let him go.” You’ve drawn blood. Every tooth that got him, too. That’s gotta hurt like a bitch. And I thought I warned him enough to chill, but… He’s his boyfriend, what could I really expect?

Eren kept Levi’s hand locked in his mouth. No… He’s gonna hit me if I let go… He’s gonna hurt me! Eren bit down even harder, only getting a slight facial change out of Levi as he did so.
Levi looked up to Lathe. “He’s biting harder…. It hurts…. But I should’ve known trying to brush the hair out of his eyes was going to provoke him. Shit.

I really really don’t want to have to pry open your jaw. “Eren, come on, Levi’s not a threat, he’s not going to hurt you if you let go, he’s here to keep you company and make you happy, not scare you or hurt you.” …don’t you remember he loves you? “Eren, please let him go.”

Eren clamped down on Levi’s hands harder, locking his jaw in place. No… He hates me …. I can’t let go… He wanted to hit me…

...fuck. “Eren, I’m really sorry about this.” Lathe moved one hand to get a firm grip on his jaw, the other on his forehead, trying in vain to pry open his jaw. Holy fuck he’s latched on. “Scotty!” Lathe kicked the red button next to the bed, trying to get Eren off of Levi’s hand.

Scotty came rushing in a minute later, he stopped at the sight of Levi gripping onto his chair with white knuckles as Lathe tried to pry Eren’s mouth open and off of Levi’s right hand. “Should I just get the relaxers now or..?” Scotty came forward slowly seeing how Levi lurched, more blood spilling, Eren closing his jaws more as he got closer.

“Hurry and get them. Do it quick.” Lathe’s hand on his forehead moved down to cover his eyes as he watched Scotty preparing the shot out of the corner of his eye. Just make it quick.

Scotty had the right dosage prepared, turning to see Eren’s eyes were covered and Levi trying not to scream in pain. Well this must’ve escalated quickly. He moved past Levi and to Eren’s cheeks. I’m sorry, Eren. He injected half of the medication in his left half of his jaw, racing over to where Lathe was and injecting the other half. “It’ll only take a few moments for his hand to be able to come out… And you are not getting away without me wrapping yours.” Scotty’s voice was hard. What made him snap enough to draw blood and lock his jaw?

Lathe’s grip on Eren lessened as he felt his jaw began to slacken, letting Eren’s head go as Levi’s hand fell from his mouth, pulling Eren onto his lap as Scotty dragged Levi by the arm to a sink, grabbing antibacterial cream from a cabinet as they passed it and washing his hand, wrapping it quickly and sliding a pin in place.

Eren felt his jaw widen, as if it unhinged itself. Shit! I’m drooling. Eren felt the warm streams start to roll down his chin, hurriedly raising his casts to rub at his face. No no no No NO NO! Lathe can’t know!! He’ll leave me…. He’ll kill me… He can’t know I’m drooling! Eren’s hands worked as quickly as they could to rub away the drool away from his face, the skin quickly becoming red.
with how rough he was being with himself.

_That's the rubbing Scotty mentioned._ “Eren, you're hurting yourself, stop that, please.” Lathe shifted to pry Eren’s casted hands from his chin, his eyes widening as he saw drool dripping heavily down his face in small streams, his eyes coming up to meet Eren’s own horrified ones for the first time in weeks. _Oh._ “Eren, why didn't you tell me?” Lathe let go of one of his hands to reach for his kerchief, his hand coming up to intercept Eren’s before he could rub at his chin again, gently wiping the drool from his mouth. “You don't have to keep that to yourself, it’s important we know if that’s happening.” _It’ll go away soon enough, but how did you manage to hide that? I never suspected, and you're drooling really heavily…_

Eren’s eyes welled with tears as Lathe wiped his red chin. _No… You're mad at me… No, I don’t want you to hit me… I don’t want you to leave…. You're gonna leave! Grisha’s always right! You’re gonna leave me because I’m drooling…_ Eren’s fingers flexed in agitation as his tears made it down his cheeks. His eyes were full of fear, he was mortified Lathe knew he was drooling now.

Lathe sighed as he watched Eren cry, wiping those away with the corner of the red fabric. _Please don't cry… I'm not going to hurt you, and I'm not mad at you… I could never be mad at you._ “Eren, I need to tell you something.” Lathe held his gaze as he spoke quietly, putting down the kerchief for only a moment and taking hold of his casted hand. “I want you to know that I’m not mad at you. For anything. I don't know if you think you're an inconvenience, if you think you're not healing fast enough for me or any of us, if you think I'm mad because you're drooling, but you need to know that despite anything you may think I could be mad at you for, I'm not. And I’m not mad because you told me your phone was lost. Eren, I know you lied, but I'm not mad. I could _never_ be mad at you.” He ran his fingers down Eren’s palm once, twice. “I forgive you for lying. It’s okay, and I of _course_ still love you, and I'm going to stay right here and make sure you get better, okay?” _Don't doubt that._

Eren started to cry more, his breath shuddery as he tried to calm himself down. _Okay… Eren’s hand moved to take Lathe’s hands with his fingers, furrowing his brow as he tried figure out how to do this on Lathe’s hands again. {O.K.}Eren sniffled as another large amount of drool dribbled down his chin. Okay… _I don’t want you to be mad at me._

Lathe smiled, one hand slipping out of his grasp to again wipe away his drool with the red cloth, shifting so Eren was in his lap, letting one hand rest palm-up on his leg. “...Thank you. Do you want me to tell you about what happened? We never gave you too many details.” He rested his chin on his shoulder, leaning back against the pillows, studying Eren’s expression. He looked up as Levi and Scotty came back into the room, Levi’s hand wrapped with a clean white bandage. _We might need to have Levi clarify something… About what happened, sure. But also let Eren know he forgives him for that. Which he must have; there's no way he’s holding it against him._

Eren looked down at his hand when he saw the bandage on Levi’s hand. _I’m sorry_. He reached a shaky hand out towards him, palm up.

Levi recognized the gesture from the many times he’d seen it lately. He’s apologizing for my hand, isn’t he. Levi reached out and gently ran his fingers down his palm, his voice quiet and tone comforting. “It’s okay, Eren. I forgive you for biting my hand. It’s okay.”

Eren drew back his hand and moved to curl into Lathe’s side. He’s still mad at me for being fat though…. That’s why he’s leaving. Eren closed his eyes, leaning his head against Lathe’s chest as he drooled uncontrollably. It’s so much worse with my jaw like this... fuck. Eren reached to Lathe’s open palm and tapped once. What happened after Levi came home?

Lathe moved so his kerchief was under Eren’s jaw, the drool not stopping. I’m gonna need a towel at this rate. “Scotty, can I have a towel or something please?” He watched as Scotty took the kerchief, placing a towel under Eren’s chin. I’m gonna need that back eventually. Eh, I can hound him about it’s whereabouts later. “Alright, storytime.” Lathe kept his hand open and up as Levi described what happened as soon as he entered the apartment and directly afterward in the ambulance, Lathe helping to tell Eren everything he could remember about the weeks he was unconscious, rattling off who had visited, how Eren’s health had fluctuated occasionally… he left out no details, including a couple words on his arguments with the doctors. I had to make sure you were okay, even though it meant hounding doctors and challenging nurse’s judgments. And I’m not about to apologize to anyone for that.

Eren followed along silently with the story, listening to every word. I remember that…. I could hear people arguing... I heard a lot... You read to me a lot... I liked the Harry Potter books you read to me. Once Eren had regained the use of his jaw his drooling decreased a considerable amount. He kept his grip on Lathe’s shirt, his eyes starting to close after he had finally finished rattling everything off. I’m tired... It’s been a long day... Levi’s gonna leave soon.... He’s not coming back is he?

Lathe pressed a kiss to the top of Eren’s head as he dozed off, gently shifting out from under him and pulling the thin sheet of a blanket over him. It’s about the time Levi has to get going. He slid his shoes back on, looking to Levi as he stood up. Not the best way to say goodbye to Eren...

Levi smiled softly, taking slow steps towards Eren. I hope he doesn’t bite me for this. Levi gently leaned down and kissed Eren’s forehead, a soft smile on his face when Eren didn’t make a move to maim him. “I’ll be home soon, okay Eren?” He pulled back to look into his eyes only to find them closed completely. He sighed as he moved back and away to get his bag by the door. Time to go already…. I don’t want to leave him, but the academy would have my head if I don’t go back.

Lathe followed Levi out the door, closing it softly and following him down to the lobby and stopping him near the front doors, giving him a crushing hug. “You come back soon, alright? And make sure you call often, Eren and I want to hear from you. Study hard, and try not to get into too much trouble, okay?” Lathe beamed at him. We’re gonna miss you.

Levi chuckled, a small smile gracing his lips for a few seconds. “I promise… Hopefully I’ll be back for Thanksgiving…” Levi smiled back at him. “Oh and by the way… You’ve lost a lot of weight these past few weeks, make sure you eat, and make sure Eren doesn’t struggle against the nurse trying to feed him too…” Levi smiled softly before slinging his bag over his shoulder. Erwin’s probably outside waiting for me by now.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at him, smirking. “Note taken. And you better be. I'll try to get him back to actually eating.” His eyes softened. “I'll see you soon, Levi.” Hopefully as soon as Thanksgiving.

Levi nodded and walked out the doors without another glance, a black car waiting for him just beyond the doors.
Chapter 36: 28 Part 9: Problems Surface

Scotty strode into the hospital room with a look of fury on his face, a few syringes in one hand and a copy of the paper in the other. He shook Lathe awake, thrusting the paper at him. “You need to see this.”

Lathe blinked the sleep out of his eyes, taking the paper and giving his eyes a second to adjust before he could read the headline, his eyes wide at the huge photograph covering the top half of the front page. ‘FAMOUS YOUTUBER BECOMES AN AGGRESSIVE PSYCH PATIENT.’ He looked to the image of Eren, alone in the hospital bed drooling onto the white cloth. What. The. Actual. Fuck. He read the beginning paragraph of the article, his hand shaking as he got further along, stopping after a tense moment to look up to Scotty, handing him the paper. “Hold this.” He reached into his pocket, pulling out his phone and holding down one button, holding it to his ear as it dialed for Spades, picking up after two rings, his voice deathly calm. “Spades, have you read the paper this morning yet?” He held the phone from his head after she spoke quietly, a moment of silence before she swore loudly, saying something along the lines of being there soon before the line cut. “She’ll be around soon to investigate this, and because it’s another county she’ll probably be calling in that favor from Gordon.” He stowed his phone in his pocket before taking the paper back, reading the article in its entirety. “Scotty, whatever happened to ‘patient confidentiality?’ It must have been someone who works here, it’s too detailed to be drawn solely from a picture or two. Haven’t they had pretty much the same nurses attending this room this entire time? They would know this much stuff. I’d track down that roster if you could.” He thought a moment. “We’re dealing with the press here, too. Reporters could start flooding in. You might want to warn the people at the front desk not to send anyone up to Eren Yeager’s room without my own permission.” We need to think this through, because it could get very real very quickly.

“I’ll go alert the front desk now, and I’ll get you that list.” Scotty’s hands were balled in fists until he saw Eren grab Lathe’s shirt and almost hide behind him. Shit… He’s scared… Did he hear us?

Eren looked at Scotty’s fists with eyes full of fear. Why’s he mad? Eren’s eyes moved to Lathe’s fists holding onto the paper in pure fury. Lathe’s mad too… What did I do? I don’t want him to be angry at me… Is that a picture of me? Eren’s eyes snapped open as he saw that he was drooling heavily in the photo. No… No no no no no!! Eren’s grip tightened on Lathe’s shirt and he buried his face into his shoulder, not caring that he was drooling onto Lathe’s shirt. People know… People know I’m drooling… No…

Lathe dropped the paper in his lap, shifting to pull Eren close, not caring that he drooled on his shirt as he pecked his forehead, speaking quietly. “Hey Eren, don’t worry, we’re going to get all of this straightened out in no time. Spades is going to help sort this all out, and she’s gonna know exactly what to do, and we’re going to keep this from happening again, okay?” This fucking sucks, but we’ll straighten this shit out and get the nurse who took that photo fired. Maybe this is enough to arrest them… Pretty sure it is, actually.
Scotty watched Eren nod and curl up into Lathe more before he left to head downstairs. It took awhile for the elevator to come to the seventh floor but he waited for it, sighing as he got on going down to the lobby. He took large steps to get to the desk, greeting the heavier-set woman at the desk. “Hey Mary, we’re going to deny all visitors for Eren Yeager until further notice… Unless you call up to his room and Mr. Quo gives him permission, if police show their badges they’re allowed to come up as well but that’s it.” Scotty’s voice was hard, no room for argument.

“Two already came in… This morning, but I won’t let anymore in, they came in five minutes ago and went up.” Mary’s voice was quiet, “I’m sorry Scott, I didn’t know.”

“WHAT?” Scotty’s rage radiated through the room as he stormed to the elevators to make his way back up to the seventh floor. This is bad, really bad, if they found his room… Oh God, Lathe don’t go overboard… Fuck this slow ass elevator! Scotty fished for his phone in his pocket, pushing a few buttons and raising it to his ear.

Lathe’s head turned to the door as there was a sharp knock, not recognizing it and swinging his legs from the bed as the door creaked open, an unfamiliar face poking in. That’s not a hospital worker. They already got here. “I’m sorry.” Lathe’s voice was cold, ignoring the buzz of his phone and crossing the room in two steps to block his entrance to the room and view of Eren, hand and foot keeping the door in place. “Eren isn’t taking visitors at this time.” He stared the shorter man down, standing up straight. You and you friend behind you can get the fuck out.

“I’m sorry sir… We’re just here to talk to Eren, it’ll only be a few moments, please.” His smile faltered as Lathe stood up to his full height.

The doors opened to the elevator down the hall, Scotty and two security guards on either side of him making their way over. “Them… Get them out of here!” Scotty growled, causing the two reporters to turn to see the security guards. Scotty was furious and when he stood at his full height, the reporters left in an instant, being escorted out of the building. “Is Eren okay?” He asked once they left.

Lathe turned back to Eren, huddled in a ball, or as close to one as he could be, in the center of his bed. Shit. Lathe quickly moved to get back beside him, pulling him close again, murmuring into his ear and carding his hand through his hair. “I’m sorry about that Eren, they’re gone now, and we’re trying to make sure no more show up, okay?”

Eren shook in his arms, his hand tapping twice in his palm repeatedly. He couldn’t stop the massive amount of drool coming from his mouth as he stressed. No… This is bad… Why are they coming for me? Is Grisha still trying to kill me!
Lathe picked up the towel from where it fell into his lap, gently wiping his chin and speaking quietly, trying to meet his eyes. “Eren, please don’t worry, we’ve got a lot of people trying to keep anyone from bothering you about this, and Spades is on her way and she’s got a whole bunch of tricks up her sleeve and we’re all going to keep you safe and out of harm’s way, okay? We’re doing what we can.” It’ll be alright.

Eren’s panicked eyes met Lathe’s, completely laced with fear. No… People know… People know! I didn’t want them to know! I didn’t want you to know! Eren’s hands gripped onto Lathe’s shirt.

Lathe murmured into Eren’s ear, holding him close and calming him down until Spades walked in with Gordon and Scotty at her heels. Her eyes softened immediately, seeing Eren curled up to Lathe. This isn’t going to be easy at all for any of us. The press is a bitch to deal with. “Hey Eren, good afternoon. I brought backup.” She nodded to Gordon, grinning. “We’re going to get all of this sorted out.” She stepped forward timidly, wanting to give Eren a hug but knowing she couldn’t. He’s going to be especially on edge today. She looked back to Gordon, thinking for a moment. He doesn’t know you yet, does he? He was asleep when he came around. She motioned for Gordon to come up, still giving them plenty of space on the bed. “Eren, I have someone I’d like you to meet. This is Gordon Ramsey, he’s the police Commissioner for Wichita county, a good friend of mine. And Gordon- this is Eren Yeager.” She watched Eren’s face carefully, not sure how he would react to the man. You’ve been so wary of new people...

Eren’s grip tightened on Lathe’s shirt as Gordon got closer, and he moved to press himself to Lathe’s chest as Gordon came to the bed. He’s too close… He’s gonna hurt me… He’s gonna yell at me!

Lathe’s hold tightened on Eren, sending Spades a pleading look and feeling Eren relax a bit more as Spades took Gordon’s arm, bringing him a step back with a sympathetic look. New person for him. He needs space. Sorry ‘bout that. Lathe sent him a similar look, shrugging one shoulder a bit.

Gordon stepped back as soon as Spades pulled him back. “Ah Sorry, I didn’t know…. You can call me Gordon, I’m here to help you.” He looked over at Scotty as he handed him a list. “22 people working yesterday?” He asked and sighed. “This’ll take all day… We’ll start with the ones he’s bitten… How many does that narrow it down to?”

“Seven… That’s better than 22 though.” Scotty told him and came up to Eren slowly. “Eren… I gotta take some blood from you, I need to make sure your kidney’s doing okay.” Scotty moved to get the needles ready. It’s better to just tell him now than to take it without warning and freak him out more.

Eren looked up to Lathe. Is he gonna hurt me? Why does he have a fucking needle … I don't want to have him put more drugs in me!

Lathe looked between the two of them, seeing the fear in his eyes. “...Would you rather have me do it, Eren? It's not a big deal, really, getting blood taken. It'll be over before you even know it started.” It’s not even two minutes. You'll be okay no matter who does it. But you need to have it done. We need to make sure you're okay.

Eren thought about it before he tapped on his hand once, his eyes following their movements, he flinched as Spades and Gordon moved towards the door to interrogate the nurses. They're just leaving… I need to calm down. His eyes widened as he saw the large needle Lathe was coming towards him with.

Lathe moved his free hand to grab a handful of the sheet, pressing it into Eren’s hand. “Just squeeze this as tight as you can, Eren. I promise I'll be careful. It'll be over soon. You can close your eyes if you want.” He took a small alcohol wipe and cleaned the skin at the inside of Eren’s elbow, taking the needle and inserting the needle into Eren’s arm, holding his arm gently as he drew blood, switching the vials and filling three before drawing the needle from his arm, handing the syringe to Scotty and pressing a small bit of gauze to his arm, taping it down and pressing a kiss to his forehead. “There, it's all done. You did wonderfully, Eren. No moving or anything.”

Scotty thanked him. “Alright I’ll go send these to the lab and I’ll be back with his food… Don’t let anyone in besides the three of us, I’m taking over all of his care from now on, I can’t trust anyone.”
He took the vials and then left the room swiftly.

Eren’s eyes were shut tightly, his hands shaking. No more needles... Please...

“You don't have to tell me twice.” Lathe moved to sit on the bed again, pulling Eren against him, mumbling into his shoulder. “It’s all over now, no more needles. We’re just going to get some food into you, and you’ll feel much better then, okay? But it’s over for now. Don't worry.” You'll feel better after lunch.

Eren’s whole body shook at the mention of food. No... I don’t want to be fat... That’s why Levi left... I’m too fat for him... I don’t want him to leave me... Eren made a small noise that sounded like a hiccup, trying not to cry as he was in Lathe’s arms. I don’t want to eat.

Lathe rubbed up and down his back soothingly, offering his hand. “What’s wrong, Eren? You can tell me. It’s okay if you need to cry…” It’s better not to let it bottle up when so many things are happening right now...
Eren just let the tears fall and curled up to himself as best as he could in Lathe’s arms. No… Lathe’ll agree that I’m fat if I tell him… I don’t want him to be mad at me… I don’t want that formula anymore! Eren watched as Scotty came in, carrying a white substance in a small pitcher and all the tools he needed to give Eren his food. No! I don’t want it!

“All right Eren, you know the drill, can you lay down for me?” He asked as he started to get things ready for Eren, though he didn’t hear any movement coming from the bed, he sighed as he looked over his shoulder. This isn’t going to be easy is it?

Lathe shifted carefully, gently trying to move a not-budging Eren onto his back, still worried about his sudden breakdown. It wasn’t just the needles, he’d tell me if it was. Why doesn’t he want food? “Eren, you need to eat. Why won’t you tell me why you don’t want to? I’m not going to be mad, whatever it is you’re worried about. Tell me, please.” He offered his hand again, meeting Eren’s eyes, giving him a pleading look. Just tell me.

Grisha’s always right… Why should I tell you? Eren looked down and complied without another fit, but he made no move to tell Lathe what was wrong. No… I don’t want to be fat… But I don’t want Lathe to get mad at me… I know he will… Eren couldn’t meet Lathe’s eyes as he let Scotty come up and start to feed him through the tube, his tears never stopping. I’m sorry Levi… I just keep getting fatter… And fatter…

Lathe gently wiped away Eren’s tears with the corner of the white cloth, one hand still open for him if he wanted to talk, still trying to meet his gaze. “Eren, we just want to make sure your body has everything it needs to get better. Please, talk to me. I won’t get mad, no matter what it is you say. I swear it.” And I mean that. Nothing you could say would make me mad at all, and never nearly as much as you’d think.

Scotty was grateful as he finished feeding Eren without incident, looking over to him as he turned his head away from Lathe. He’s not talking… It’s probably got to do with Grisha messing with his head… that would be my first guess. He swiftly cleaned up and moved Eren into an upright position against the bed and smiled softly at him. “You did great, Eren!” He watched with defeat as Eren simply looked down to his fingers in his lap, not looking up at Lathe or himself. Well, I should go see what Gordon and Spades have found so far. “I’ll be back later with your test results… And then we need to take you down to x-Rays to see how your arms and legs are doing.”

Eren looked up as he heard the door click shut before he looked down at his hands again, raising one to rub at his face out of habit. I don’t want to be fat… I don’t want Levi to leave me… I want him to love me… Not hate me anymore… He knows I’m a whore… He doesn’t want to love a slut… Eren sniffled as he tried to keep in his tears.
Lathe caught his hand before it could touch his still-raw face, his features heavy with worry. I'm not going to drop this. I told Levi I'd get you back on regular food and dammit we're getting to the bottom of this. He sighed heavily, his gaze dropping. “Eren, I'm really sorry I keep pressing the matter…” He held up his palm, asking for forgiveness, still speaking. “I just want you to not worry as much as you are. I want you to get better, and I want you to know that I mean it when I say no matter what you tell me, I wouldn't get mad. I could never be mad at you, even the tiniest bit. You can talk to me all you want, you can cry if you need to, but I'm not going to make you if you really don't want to. I just…” A tear slid down his cheek. “I just want you to be okay.” if all you do is forgive me for being as stubborn as I am, and then drop it… I'll understand.

Eren glanced at him, raising his head slightly. Grisha's always right.... But you should tell him, he won't get mad...That's what they all say... But he'll still be here... He'll still comfort a whore? Yeah right.... Eren slowly reached out his hand and ran his fingers timidly across his open palm twice. He stared at it slowly moving to try and make a letter and getting frustrated after the first few tries. ... Fuck I don't remember what it looks like...

Lathe picked up his other hand, slowly spelling out the alphabet. Here, a little refresher. He stopped as Eren moved his hand and caught him at the letter F. “Okay, want me to keep going through it like this? Have you stop me at the letters?” He nodded as Eren nodded, returning to A and stopping as Eren tapped his wrist. F... A... He started again, running through the letters and ceasing as Eren tapped his wrist at T, his eyes widening. Fat? You think you're fat? “No, Eren…” He moved to hold Eren close, one hand running through his brunette hair. “Eren, trust me, you're not fat, you're not anywhere near being fat. Us feeding you isn't going to make you put on that much weight, and if anything you're a bit thin. But you're perfectly healthy at the weight you are right now, don't you worry. We’d all love you no matter how much you weighed. It’s okay. It really is.” Is that really what's been keeping you from eating? Eren, you don't have to worry about that. You really don't. He brought his hand up again. “Do you want to tell me anything else?”

Eren nodded slightly. Bring his palm out and signing what Eren had made up for Levi’s name so many years ago. He remembers, right? What the sign for Levi is? Eren paused for only a moment before signing the word ‘can’t’ pausing again to think of what to do next. I think it's a hand over the heart? He moved Lathe’s hand over his heart, motioning for ‘love’. Eren stopped his motions, staring at his hand open for him as a single tear traveled down his face. I don't remember how to spell it... Eren waited for Lathe to start going through the alphabet all over again.

W....H....O....R....E.... Lathe looked so broken at that, holding onto his hand and lacing their fingers, one hand still running through his hair, trying to catch his eyes. Grisha raped him again. Didn't he. “Eren, you're not a whore. The things that Grisha did to you, you didn't ask for. You didn't do them because you wanted to. He forced you. That doesn't make you a whore. Don't think of yourself as that, please. It’s not what you are.” It’s the furthest thing from the truth. He let Eren’s hand go as he struggled to move them in his grip, running through the alphabet again at Eren’s silent demand. M... O... R... E... Does that mean it was... More than just Grisha? “It wasn't... Just Grisha, was it?”
Eren shook his head and started to hold up his fingers for Lathe to see. 37… 37 men… I’m a whore… I enjoyed it… They gave me drugs…. I wanted it more than anything…. I’m a whore… Just like Grisha said… He’s always right. Eren let a few tears fall as he leaned his head against Lathe’s chest. Levi can’t love a whore.

Lathe’s arms shakily wrapped around Eren, holding him tightly and rocking him gently, shutting his eyes as tears stream down his face. I had promised… I promised I wouldn't let it happen again… “Eren… He’s gone now, gone for good… That’s never going to happen again, and this time we know that. And please, never call yourself a whore. Nothing could be further from the truth. And Levi… He’s so absolutely smitten with you, he loves you more than anything in the world… What happened in the past couldn't possibly make him love you any less. He loves you, Eren, absolutely adores you. I can see it every time he looks at you.” He really does love you. I wish… I wish you could see that.

Eren just started to break down in Lathe’s arms. I don’t want Levi to leave… I don’t want him to hate me… I don’t want him to leave me alone…. I don’t want him to come back in a box… Grisha said he would… Grisha’s always right. Eren started crying heavily, starting to drool heavily as well. He didn’t even notice Scotty come into the room with a wheelchair, the x-Ray room waiting for them to go down.

Lathe wiped the drool from his face, shifting his arms under Eren. “Eren, we’re going to get you downstairs for an x-Ray, okay? I’m just going to lift you into a wheelchair, but don’t worry, I’m coming with you.” He slowly lifted Eren up, stepping onto the floor and carefully setting Eren in the wheelchair without incident. “Any word from the tag-team downstairs?” Lathe looked to Scotty. They must’ve found something by now.

Scotty shook his head. “No one is ‘fessing up, they went through the whole list and no one admitted to anything… They went down to check the tapes.” Scotty told him and looked to Eren’s tear-stained face. ‘Is he okay?’ Scotty mouthed to Lathe with worry in his eyes. He wasn’t like this when I left… What could’ve possibly happened?

Lathe sadly shrugged, giving him a so-so motion with his hand. ‘Later.’ We can't talk about it right now, I have a feeling Eren would lose it if I told Scotty with him in earshot… He walked next to Eren as Scotty wheeled him to the elevators, descending to the first floor, greeted with the sound of a nearby commotion as the doors opened. Lathe was immediately on the defensive, his ears straining. That’s… That’s got to be the reporters. Damn, they’re persistent. “Please tell me we’re walking away from the mayhem.” Lathe looked down the hall, worried and prepared to guard Eren if he had to.

Scotty took in a deep breath, shaking his head. “Nope… We need to go towards it to get to X-Rays… That’s the only hallway that leads to it on this side of the hospital… Fuck.” He muttered the last word under his breath as they neared the commotion, Eren already starting to get on edge as they rounded a corner… No one saw them yet…

Lathe shook himself out to his full height, between Eren and the loud noise, steeled for the worst. This is going to be bad.

All it took was for one reporter to spot them from the mass, which led to the mass of reporters starting towards them in the hallway. Eren was already freaking out, holding on tightly to his towel to hide his face from them, cameras flashing, reporters shouting for his attention to answer their questions. Go away… Go away… They’re gonna hurt me! He closed his eyes tightly and kept his face hidden by his hair and the towel. Eren heard a whimper sound by his ear before the whimper turned into a full fledge snarl. Blake wasn’t wearing a leash in the hospital because he mostly stayed at the end of the bed. His teeth were bared as he started towards the large crowd of reporters. He looked completely vicious with his ears pinned back in anger and his blue eyes sharp and full of hostility to anyone who got close.

“Spades!” Lathe shouted, hoping she could hear him as he moved between Eren and the reporters, radiating fury as they came closer, trying to stare them down. Don’t do anything stupid. This is the media. Just don’t be an idiot and fuck shit up more. He looked up as Spades and Gordon came running from a hallway behind him, moving to let them deal with the crowd of reporters.

“ALRIGHT!” She shouted over them so they all heard her, their commotion quieting slightly, their advance slowing. “I don’t CARE if you have questions for Eren. I don’t CARE if you want pictures. He is here to get better, and you all are doing NOTHING to help and EVERYTHING to make it worse. You’re in a HOSPITAL. Act like you should as human beings and have some damn RESPECT for that.” Her voice boomed over them, her eyes icy, blocking their progress down the hall, her badge gleaming gold around her neck. Fuck. This.

Gordon watched her display of anger and malice without so much as batting an eye at her. That’s to be expected. “Alright everyone, leave, Eren is a patient here. Go back to the lobby and hound the desk all you want to be able to see Eren, or you will be escorted to my station down the street in a matter of minutes, so any volunteers to see what the back of a cruiser looks like?” Gordon clapped his hands as he walked towards the mass of people, which backed off as soon as he got close, Blake following still growling at his heels. Ah… That’s Eren’s service dog… He’s not on a leash… Intimidation is key. “You see, Eren’s got a very protective service dog… I wouldn’t mind letting him go after all of you, as you’re doing more harm than good at this point. So I suggest you… Run.” Gordon smirked as Blake lunged towards the crowd, effectively chasing them down the hall and into the lobby and most of them out of the door before he came back to sit by Gordon, expecting to be pet. Demanding, are we? Well, you did a good job, bud. Gordon gently reached down to pet Blake as the dog wagged his tail, happy to be praised again.
Lathe turned from the display of rage and looked back to Eren, coming over to him and rubbing his shoulder, Eren’s hands over his ears and his eyes screwed shut. He glanced up as Blake charged the group down the hall, gently running a hand through his hair and tugging on his arm, uncappping an ear. “It’s okay Eren, the reporters are gone now, they’re all away for now. You can relax, please, it’s over for right now.”

Eren’s eyes slowly cracked open and he timidly looked up to meet Lathe’s eyes. That was scary, I don’t want to do that again… Not again please… He unfurled from himself in his chair, but kept a firm grip on Lathe’s shirt sleeve, too afraid to let it go. No, don’t leave.

Scotty sighed in relief once it was over, wheeling them down the hallway and into one of the x-Ray rooms. “Okay, ready Eren?” His voice was quiet as they entered the dark room and towards a large table, with the machine above it. I know how to use this so it should be good, I’m the one who wants to see his x-Rays anyways… “Lathe will you help me move him?” Scotty moved Eren’s wheelchair towards the table, getting ready to help lift Eren’s thin frame to the table.

Lathe nodded, moving to Eren’s side, making sure they both had a good hold before gently lifting him up and onto the table, careful as he set him down and laid his head on the hard surface.

Eren laid still on the cold table, watching Scotty start to move the machine to get a better angle on one of Eren’s legs. He moved to the wall and got a lead cover, laying it on Eren’s chest. “Okay Eren… I need you to stay still for me… Okay? Can you do that? Lathe and I will be on the other side of that wall looking at the pictures of your leg okay? Just stay still for us okay?” Scotty smiled as Eren nodded motioning Lathe to follow him behind a wall and to a row of computer screens. “Okay Eren don’t move until I say you can!” He called over the wall, clicking a button and hearing the machine fire up and take a picture of his leg. “Do you want to talk about earlier?” Scotty asked, his voice a mere whisper as he pulled the first picture up and you could clearly make out all the metal holding the bones together. He blew up the photo to examine the breaks and how they have progressed. Not much progress at all… That’s worrying… We’ll see what his other leg looks like first before we start to panic. I hope Lathe is okay… He was crying too… I don’t like to see when he cries too.

Lathe slowly nodded, his face devoid of emotion as he studied the image, noting the lack of progress in healing. His voice was very quiet, a low murmur. “Eren told me why he always puts up such a fight when you try and feed him. It’s… everything that Grisha did to him really fucked with his head. He said he didn’t want to get fat, that he thought he was too fat to eat anything. And… he’s so worried that Levi won’t love him if he’s fat, and if he knew… it happened again. Grisha had gotten a lot of men together, and they all raped Eren… He can only think of himself as a whore, and is so scared that Levi won’t love him anymore because of it.” …we need to make sure he stops thinking that. He shouldn’t ever think such horrible things…

Scotty took in a deep breath, thinking of what to say before he moved to maneuver the machine over Eren’s other leg, in silence. “You’re doing great Eren!” Scotty somehow feigned enthusiasm as he came back to take the x-Ray of his leg. “That’s horrible…” The machine fired up and soon another almost identical image popped up on the screen. “He’s not healing quickly… We’ll need to put new hard casts on both of his legs… Let's go and move him into the wheelchair again so I can get his arms at a good angle.” I need to get you distracted after that.

Lathe silently nodded, moving with him to lift Eren back into the wheelchair, giving him a weak smile and bringing his arm onto the table as Scotty maneuvered the machine, moving back to the monitors after a moment. His eyes were dull as they took in the new image of his arm. “His arms have healed miraculously well, there’s just a little left to be mended. We can take the casts off and keep them off, just wrap them instead, which’ll be easier on his skin and maybe he could actually write with just the wraps on.”

Scotty nodded, blowing up the picture just to be sure. “Yeah, we can take it off this arm… Let me get the other arm checked.” Scotty left and reappeared again after only a moment clicking for another picture and the same case appeared. Wow… His arms healed really well, really quickly too, it’s amazing. “I think we can go take him back upstairs and I can take them off up there…” Scotty said and logged out of the computers and went over to Eren, taking the lead vest off of him. “Ready to go back upstairs?” Well at least he can respond with a head nod now… And not just tapping on people’s hands.

Lathe followed them as they wheeled Eren down the now much-quieter hallway, Spades poking her head from around a corner hearing the wheelchair. “Hey Scotty, I need to steal you for a sec.” She walked up to them, Gordon right behind her. “We have a good image of the face of the nurse who took the picture when Lathe was out of the room, but we need you to identify who exactly it is.” She glanced over to Lathe, her eyes narrowing a fraction. Why does your shirt look so loose?

Scotty looked to Eren then to Lathe. “You wanna take him upstairs? I can go look and be back up with what we need for him, it should only take me a few moments.” His small smile reassuring. I want to see which asshole it was that would violate more than half of the HIPPA laws.

Lathe nodded, moving to take hold of Eren’s wheelchair and continue on his way to the elevator as Scotty went to the security room.

Spades stopped him, a hand on his arm before she tugged at his shirt, feeling an excess of fabric. How is this too big? It’s your favorite shirt, you wear it all the time. “Lathe, have you been eating?” Her voice was quiet.

Lathe was silent, his eyes looking down. I’ve been too worried to eat much of anything anymore… I’m just not hungry half the time.
Spades took his silence as an answer. “Have you eaten anything today?” More silence. Come on, Lathe. “Lathe, you need to eat. I'll run and grab you some food when I get the chance. And no arguments.” She held up a finger as Lathe opened his mouth to speak. “You need at least something in your stomach.” She pulled him down to kiss him gently, breaking away after a moment and sending him a sympathetic look. “You need to take care of yourself too. I'll let you go up. We called for a guard to keep the reporters away as long as they keep coming; you shouldn't be bothered.” She lightly, timidly patted Eren’s shoulder and gave him a small smile before she left for the security room. I'm going to have to hound him about this, aren't I? ...Yeah, he’s not about to hear the end of this.

Gordon and Scotty were hunched over the security monitors, rewatching the events unfold, Scotty finally seeing how Eren latched onto Levi’s hand so tightly and then releasing him, and Lathe holding him, Levi forgiving him then the two of them leaving to go downstairs… A man walked in almost immediately after, a cell phone in hand. “That’s not a nurse…” Scotty trailed off as they watched it over and over again, even stopping it on a clear view of the person’s face. “It’s definitely not an ICU nurse.” He told him and he moved to another camera around the same time in the hallway. The same man was talking to one of the nurses Eren had bitten. “That’s so weird… I’ve never met him before…” Scotty continued to rewind videos and follow him as he walked through the hospital finding each of the nurses that Eren bit and speaking with them. Who the fuck are you….

Spades watched over their shoulders, her brow furrowed. “...Why the hell does he look familiar? Keep following him.” Where the fuck have I seen you before? She watched as the man left the building, walking to a white car near the front of the lot, reaching over and stopping the video on a frame with a clear plate. “There it is. That’s how we find him.” She fished in her pocket for a notepad, jotting down the plate number. “Well put this in the computer in the cruiser, should turn something up quick enough. Thank you, Scotty.” She rested a hand on his shoulder, a tired smile on her face.

Scotty smiled softly. “Alright, well I gonna go get back up to Eren, so I’ll be taking my leave, make sure you catch that asshole.” He got up and made his way out of the room, taking the elevator upstairs and going to get all the bandages, wraps, and towels they would need. He needs a sponge bath… His skin needs to get cleaned out too… I wonder if he'll let Lathe cut his hair… It’s so long… Scotty returned to the room with everything in a large bucket in his arms. “Think you’re up for a bath Eren?” He was slow as he neared the bed, knowing fully how hostile Eren could become in seconds.
Lathe looked down to Eren, who returned his look with a questioning one. “That means you get your casts off. You up for it? It’s do you good, let your skin breathe.” His hand moved to inspect Eren’s hair. Could probably do with a haircut, now that I think of it. I could easily manage giving you one.

Eren looked down at the casts on his extremities. I want white ones again… Eren nodded and he curled up in Lathe’s lap a little more, watching as Scotty slowly approached with a long, thin, hard piece of plastic, and a tool with a saw at the end of it. What’s he doing? Eren watched with wide eyes as Scotty slid the long piece under the cast on his left leg. What’s he doing?

“She, I don’t want you to freak out, but this is the ‘saw’ we use to cut the casts off, It can’t cut through the plastic, that’s for me to cut along… Don’t be afraid of it touching your skin….” He turned it on and touched it to his own fingers for a few seconds showing him intact flesh. “See? No need to worry.” Scotty reassured him as he cut through the colorful casts one by one and removing them, the whole horror of Eren’s scarred legs and his butchered arms coming on display… His tattoo was ripped, large angry red marks running up and down his whole arm, on both sides, the writing that Grisha has cut into the back of his arms leaving ugly scars. The amount of burned flesh on his body which had started to flake off multiple times left a sickly pink color all over him. He definitely needs this bath… He’s not getting out of it.

Lathe’s heart sunk as he took in Eren’s torn up skin, the scarred words and the messed-up tattoo. Oh my… That hasn’t been healing well. The bones, sure, but your skin, my God… Lathe rubbed Eren’s side gently as the casts came off one after the other. “…We need to get the wraps off of your back, too, and see how that’s doing.”

Eren looked up at Lathe and he rose his arms up off his sides so it would be easier for him to take off the wraps. I’ve done this before…. Years ago…. I wonder how bad it is this time?

Lathe slid the pins out of place, unraveling the bandages and carefully peeling them away from his back, flakes of skin coming with it from being burned, reminded too much of what his back first looked like when he saw it, but worse. The burn covered the majority of his back, the words ‘slut’ and ‘whore’ scarred into his skin, their carvings permanent. He’s… Even worse than the first time around… And it was awful then. He looked down as Scotty swore under his breath, barely catching it. What now?

Scotty was looking at Eren’s charcoal colored feet, gently prodding it to assess the state of the skin and how much Eren could feel. The burnt skin cracked without so much as Eren turning his head over to his foot. He can’t feel it. Scotty swore again, moving to get a clean syringe… “Lathe cover his eyes, I don’t want him to see this…” Scotty’s tone was grave as he left to fill up two syringes of localized anesthetic. I need to remove the skin myself… God, this is going to be gross… It’s been trying to heal for 6 weeks… But it hasn’t been given the chance to… I don’t know if he’ll ever be able to feel it again… He didn’t even feel the skin crack…

Lathe shot Eren a sympathetic look before covering his eyes with his hand, his other pulling the rest of the bandages away, a pile next to him. Gross, there’s skin all over them… But that means it’s trying to heal, so… He looked down to Eren’s feet, his eyes wide, swallowing hard. Holy fuck that looks horrible! Oh my God!

Scotty came back with the two full syringes, emptying them in various parts of Eren’s feet, waiting for it to set in before he washed his hands again donning on new gloves, sanitizing his leg above the ankle and getting a fresh scalpel out. This is not going to be pretty. He had to put on a blue mask and he made careful incisions into Eren’s feet, the skin cracking, but no blood was to be found at all. That’s not a good sign either.

Lathe kept his hand over Eren’s eyes, rubbing his shoulder with the other soothingly as he waited for Scotty to finish cutting of the black skin, not able to stand looking at him work. Oh that doesn’t look good that looks horrible, oh my… He winced as he heard the skin crackling and cracking under the knife. …Here’s to hoping he can still walk.

Scotty worked as quickly as he could, clearing away the charred skin from Eren’s feet, leaving smaller and bright pink feet in the aftermath. Now let’s see what he can do. “Eren… Can you wiggle your toes for me?” He asked and sighed in relief when Eren was able to wiggle all ten of them. Thank the fucking lord… How his feet got burned so badly… I don’t want to know… Not now. He got up and cleared the area of the skin from Eren’s view. “Lathe you can let him look, it’s done with.” How he didn’t feel me cutting and cracking the skin off… Not flinching even the slightest bit… I hope his nerves weren’t damaged irreparably.

Lathe opened his eyes, letting his hand fall from Eren’s eyes and looking down himself. Ouch. At least he can move them… hopefully his nerves aren’t damaged… “Okay, so. Let’s get you clean, okay?” Lathe took the small pile of bandages from next to him, looking for somewhere to properly get rid of them.

Eren nodded and let him get up, laying back down almost completely nude in the hospital bed. Scotty had closed the blinds, and had managed to wrap a towel around his crotch, and the horrors of his skin was left out in the open for the two to see. Eren slowly raised a thin arm inspecting the ripped tattoo, his eyes dull. No more tattoo… I guess. Eren raised his right arm and looked to the countless neat lines on his wrist. …. Right…. Eren’s eyes were dull as he stared at his own skin. I’m ugly…. I’m really really ugly. Levi will never love me if I’m ugly… I wanna scratch. Eren felt the temptation to scratch as he stared at his ugly arms. Too ugly… I’m hideous… Grisha’s always right.
Scotty was moving around the room making sure that Eren never saw the thick black pieces of skin which he had cut off. He put the bandages from around his back in the biohazard container which held the charred skin. “Okay, make sure to scrub him, but try not to make him bleed from scrubbing too hard, and don’t be afraid to touch his back, just be gentle, I’m giving him morphine now, and I called in for new sheets, so it’s okay if these get wet.” The water is warm enough for you to start, and he trusts you at least somewhat now… So I would wash him if I were you. Scotty moved to the closet, getting a dose of morphine and a dose of his PTSD medicine, moving to Eren’s IV and inserting them, still feeling Eren’s stare bore into the back of his head as he went to dispose of the needles.

Lathe nodded, picking up the bucket and setting it near Eren’s feet. He rolled up his sleeves and reached for the soft sponge inside, squeezing a bit of the water out and starting to gently scrub Eren’s legs, the dead skin beginning to flake off onto the sponge. I’m probably going to need clean water after a little while… He carefully lifted Eren’s leg a few inches, trying not to put too much strain on the still-broken bones as he scrubbed the underside, setting it back down and moving to his other side, doing the same for his other leg. The room was quiet except for the beeps of the machine and the sounds of Lathe washing him, and Lathe noticed when he heard a ragged sound. He looked up to Eren, who looked like he was struggling a bit to breathe. “Eren, are you okay? Is something wrong?” He set down the sponge and moved to his side, offering his hand if he wanted to spell. Is breathing itself hard? Did I hurt something? Does something else hurt? What could you be thinking?

Huh? What does he mean. Eren’s brow furrowed not knowing why Lathe was asking him if he was okay so suddenly. I’m fine… You’re not hurting me.. He slowly reached for Lathe’s hand making quick work of a few words. {I’m fine. Y?}Eren took in another ragged breath, not seeming to realize that he was struggling to breathe.

Lathe looked over to Scotty, worry etched into his features. “Scotty, Eren’s having trouble breathing. He can’t even seem to tell.” ...I was worried this would happen...

Shit… Scotty put down what was in his hands and made his way over to Eren pulling out a stethoscope and gently putting it to Eren’s chest. He was worried when Eren raised his hands to block his face, pure fear in his eyes. Shit, I can’t get close enough to have him calm down and breathe normally. “Lathe?” Scotty handed the instrument over to Lathe. You’re gonna have to do it and tell me what it sounds like… We need to make sure his lungs aren’t collapsing… He doesn’t have much holding him in place anymore...

Lathe took the instrument, one hand on Eren’s shoulder as he set it on Eren’s chest. “Breathe deeply for me, okay?” He kept the end on his chest as Eren started to cough on his first breath, only able to wait for it to pass. “Then… Just breathe normally.” He moved the instrument up and down his chest again, listening intently. He’s wheezing… “Oh my.” Lathe’s voice was quiet, taking off the stethoscope and handing it back to Scotty. “Fluid in the lungs, so he’s got pneumonia. I don't think anything's collapsed or anything like that, but we might want to get him x-rayed or get him an MRI, just to make sure and see how bad it is.” It shouldn't be too serious, if it’s just the fluid in the lungs. I’m not too surprised, I actually kinda expected it.

Scotty thought about it for a minute. “We’ll go to MRI… I wanna see how his kidney looks too.” Scotty slowly moved away from Eren and watch him visibly relax and move to cling to Lathe’s shirt sleeve, his eyes widened when he saw the blood running down Eren’s wrist and the scratch marks running down them as well. He was scratching… Shit… That must have been terrifying...

Eren whimpered softly, holding onto Lathe. No I don’t want to go downstairs… I don’t want people to see me… Eren had scratched at his wounds, opening up quite a few of them, all traces of how much he had been cutting with Grisha around.

Lathe brushed the hair away from his eyes, trying to calm him. “Eren, it’s okay, we’re going to make sure you're doing okay in there, that nothing too serious is going on.” He turned to Scotty. “Please tell me the MRI isn't on the first floor.” If it is this is going to be a lot harder than I'd want it to be.

“No, it’s on the second floor, but I’ll see if we can squeeze you into the schedule… Keep washing him, there’s more water in the sink if that gets too dirty…. Wraps are on the counter… You should probably clean those out.” Scotty told him, motioning to the opened wounds on Eren’s wrist. Not as hard as it would’ve been...

Eren watched him leave and looked up to Lathe with fear in his eyes. Are you going to yell at me for scratching? For being ugly? Eren’s grip tightened on his sleeve as the last thought crossed his mind.

Lathe’s eyes softened, moving to peck his forehead. “It’s okay Eren, you don't have to be scared about anything.” He studied his expression for a moment, his eyes drifting to his wrists. “And you certainly don't have to be scared of me. I'm not mad that you scratched, if that’s what you're worried about.” He decided cleaning out his wrists was his first priority, moving to grab antiseptic and clean wipes, picking up a white roll of bandages and starting on his right arm. There were a lot of cuts, across his arm all the way up to his elbow. Eren... He gently cleaned the cuts, quickly and carefully wiping antiseptic over them and wrapping his wrist and arm expertly to his elbow, putting the pins in place. He moved to do his other arm, the only open wound the line Grisha had cut. He cleaned it, wrapping his arm and setting the bandage in place. “Alright, I'm going to keep cleaning your legs now, okay? I'll try not to get those wet.” He took Eren’s hands, gently linking them over his stomach and out of the way as he moved to continue washing his legs, keeping an eye on his hands as he gently scrubbed upward to his lower torso. He gently took his arms again, moving them above his head so they wouldn't get wet, washing Eren’s chest. He stopped after a minute, looking into the bucket. “I need clean water. One sec.” He quickly switched out the bucket for the one with clean water sitting in the sink, the water much more warm as he continued up Eren’s chest, scrubbing gently up his arm, careful not to open the words cut into the skin on the backs of his arms. That’s horrible… He patted the skin on his arms dry so they wouldn't drip onto the wraps, gently nudging Eren’s shoulder forward. “Can you sit up for me and turn to the side?”

Eren nodded, slowly pushing himself up into a sitting position, the towel still over his nether as he turned away from Lathe. The skin was flaking off in so many places, it looked as if Eren’s body had been torn to shreds all over again. The lines carved into his back were deep, permanent… The burns over such wounds ran from his shoulder blades all the way down to his ass. Eren had been relatively silent during this whole ordeal, not voicing a single complaint to Lathe.

...it’s so much worse than the first time around… Lathe silently began to wash his back, being extremely careful as his skin crackled and flaked under his touch. Eren hasn't said anything or even flinched this entire time. It’s can’t be that he’s lost his nerve endings… Has he? “Eren, can you feel what I'm doing right now? Do you feel anything?” ...now that I think of it, he was laughing at the tattoo place...

Eren turned his head slowly to look at Lathe. His head slowly nodded. Yeah... I can feel it... I can feel everything... Nothing hurts anymore though... Nothing can hurt as much as it hurt getting these. Eren turned his head back and moved his arms, starting to scratch at the bandages on his arms.

Lathe immediately set down the sponge, gently moving and holding onto Eren’s arms. “Eren, please try not to scratch. You're not going to do damage with the bandages but you need to really try and resist the urge to.” His eyes were dark, quietly pleading with him. ...this is all too much... But you need to work with us here and really really try.

Eren looked up to Lathe with broken eyes. I can’t feel pain anymore Lathe.... Nothing hurts anymore... That’s scary.... Why can’t it hurt anymore? I can’t feel the pain in my wrists anymore... Eren felt the tears fall down his cheeks, letting the drool dribble down his chin. I can’t feel it.... How will I know what’s real if nothing hurts? Eren cried, leaning his head into Lathe’s chest, able to move and pull his legs up into a small ball in Lathe’s lap. His body shook as he cried, his wheezing more pronounced as he sobbed. My security.... It’s gone.... I can’t feel pain anymore...

Lathe was careful of his wounds as he held onto him, trying to ease his legs down straight, trying to comfort him, not able to stop a few tears from streaming down his face. “Eren, shhh, it’s okay, I know you're scared but I promise you don't have to be right now. Please, be careful of your legs.” He reluctantly shifted out from under Eren, torn between comforting him and making sure he didn't aggravate his injuries further, the latter winning out for the moment. He twined their fingers together as he gently cupped Eren’s cheek, his voice quiet. “Eren, my getting up doesn't mean I don't love you, I just want to make sure you don't hurt yourself even more. Please, please don't cry… I'm right here for you, and I want you to get better, and we’re going to take as many steps as we need to get you better, okay? I know it’s scary but please, don't worry. I'm right here.” Lathe caught his eyes, his own glassy and pleading. You'll get better, and I'm going to make sure of that, but we also can't have you working against it in the process...

Eren tried to take a few deep wheezing breaths, but he was stopped short. I can’t breathe.... It feels weird. Eren slowly brought his palm up for Lathe, asking for forgiveness, his eyes still locked onto Lathe’s gaze. Will I be able to feel pain again soon? I need to cut.... Grisha told me I need to do it to make people happy… I want Lathe to be happy...

Lathe noticed Eren’s breathing had stopped, running his fingers down Eren’s palm twice, speaking quietly. “Eren, can you breathe?” He lifted Eren’s legs back onto the bed, turning him so he could lay down if he needed to. This could get very bad. Please, don't let it.

Eren struggled to get even a small breath in. Why can’t I get it in? Why can’t I breathe right? Eren move to lay down, curled up on his side, his back to Lathe as he still struggled to breathe. Why?.... What’s wrong with me?

Lathe gently moved Eren, trying to keep him from curling up. “Eren, please, I know it’s getting really hard to breathe and you're scared but you need to lay flat and make it easier on your lungs.” Curling up is going to make it worse... His brain kicked into overdrive as he thought what he could do to make Eren feel better and breathe easier. Think think think I can't give him anything for pneumonia because we’re not entirely sure that’s what it is… He just needs to hold out for a little bit until we know, then... Shit. He took the bucket, washing Eren’s back as he lay straight on the bed, the skin beginning to peel in large sections from his back. Lathe carefully removed the large bits of skin, pieces much bigger than playing cards and leaving his entire back smooth and as pink as his feet. Damn... At least there's not going to be any scarring, and we know his body is really working overtime trying to heal. Good. But if his body is so focused on healing his skin and bones... Lathe rested his hand against Eren’s forehead, his eyes wide as he felt his extremely high temperature. That’s a really high fever. Like, thank-god-you're-already-in-the-hospital high. His body’s too busy healing to fight infections. We’ll fix that as soon as we figure out what the hell is wrong with your lungs. He glanced over his shoulder, disposing of the skin pieces in a biohazard box, waiting for Scotty to return.

Scotty wasn’t gone for much longer coming back into the room holding a few sheets of paper with a grim look on his face. This is not going to go over well with Lathe... He picked his head up as he heard Eren’s struggled breaths. “How long?” He asked Lathe and slowly went up to him to examine him, Eren too out of it to fight back or even raise a hand at him. Shit... Scotty saw that his back was completely pink. How was he burned that the skin would peel off like it was cooked? Like a hard crust around him? That’s so weird... Scotty touched his forehead and his eyes widened. “Okay, Lathe, we need to get him wrapped and put back in casts before we can take him anywhere… We need to be quick, I’ll call for ice packs… Okay?” Scotty asked and had his pager out in a second typing away the command. How long has he had that fever and we didn’t notice?
Lathe immediately nodded, moving to grab the wraps from the counter, gently guiding Eren to sit up, wrapping his back with practiced motions in record time. He snipped off the excess, sliding plenty of pins into place and looking to Scotty, halfway through one of the casts on his leg. “Want me to start on the other?” Lathe picked up the materials as Scotty nodded, gently rolling a soft sock onto Eren’s leg, up past his knee to the middle of his thigh, retrieving another sock and rolling it over that, for more padding. Lathe picked up the white outside wrapping in a plastic bag, handing it to Scotty. “Here; you know what angle his knee needs to be at.”

Scotty smiled and thanked him softly. “He’s been quiet, make sure he’s awake… We want him awake.” Scotty looked up to see Eren’s hooded eyes and his face a pained expression with every wheeze. He must’ve had it for awhile and all that moving around today wasn’t good for him… Fuck. He started to expertly wrap Eren’s leg, smiling at his symmetrical work. “Well with his casts off he should be able to try drawing so he can doodle on his casts.” Scotty told them and helped him into his gown before a nurse knocked on the door with the ice. Okay, we need to keep him under blankets though. “Lathe, go to the closet and pull all the blankets out from the top shelf and put them on him… We’ll put the ice packs on top of them.”

Lathe nodded, faintly smiling as he moved to the closet and picked up the stack of thin blankets from up top, bringing them back and helping to spread them over Eren, helping arrange the ice packs over him. “Alright, so we’re just going to try and get his fever down for now… When can we get him an MRI? And I see you got the blood test results back.” He glanced over to the stack of papers on the table end. Hopefully nothing too serious came up. But then again, those are quite a few papers for if everything came back clear...

Scotty took a deep breath. “You might want to come into the hall with me.” Scotty’s tone was grave. “We can get him in after he eats again in an hour or so, but for now the ice packs are gonna stay on.” Scotty grabbed the papers back up and motioned for Lathe to follow. If Grisha wasn’t dead I know you’d kill him for this...

Lathe’s brow furrowed, following him silently out into the hall, steeling himself. ...This isn't gonna be good. Chill. Hope for the best. If he does have something, we can only hope it’s not too bad... Or curable... Or treatable... Oh my. Lathe closed the door behind them, swallowing hard and shifting to his other foot, his face clear of emotion, sounding resigned. “What’s the verdict, Scotty?”

“Eren’s fighting off a very bad infection, his white blood cell count is through the roof, he also… He also…” Scotty swallowed hard and looked down. “He has an STD… He’s been trying to fight it for awhile it looks like… But he’s fighting off off pneumonia too… His oxygen levels are low enough to point to that.” Scotty told him and handed him the six sheets of paper with the horrible numbers across them. “… We should be thankful though… His kidney seems to be working wonderfully.” At least there is a small shred of hope.
Lathe took the papers from him slowly, reading them over with a stony expression, anger written into the lines of his face. ...motherfucker. “Which one does he have. Chlamydia?” Isn't that one really easily treatable?

“Yeah… But the problem is finding strong enough antibiotics for his pneumonia and Chlamydia… And it can’t screw with the PTSD meds or anything else we may need to give him if the fever doesn’t die down… That’s the hard part… And he’s had it for a long time Lathe, it’ll take awhile for the infection to leave him… It’s most likely spread all over his body by now.”... I still can’t believe he let his own son contract an STD… That’s despicable.

Well, I know what I’m doing tonight when I can't sleep. Math. ...Lots and lots of math. “I'll do research later tonight, cross-reference every drug I can think of and then something. If I need to give Casper another call and draw up something new again we will, it could be a lot simpler to if this gives us a lot of trouble. But… As long as it takes, Scotty. We can treat it, so we will. He can take all the time he needs and wants to focus on getting better. He has time.” Lathe handed him the papers back. “Are those already in his online file? I need the numbers for later when I'm scratching stuff out.” We need to be careful, with how much stuff he’s on.

“Yeah… And Casper’s on his way up, I texted him as soon as I saw the WBC count.” ...I don't know how any conversation we have is going to go… I just texted him, it'll be different talking… He told him and put a hand on his shoulder. “Has he spoken to you? Not signed… But actually spoken?” He needs to try… Even if it just comes out as a garbled mess. I need to make sure his vocal cords aren’t messed up from the tube…

“No he hasn’t… But he’s getting more comfortable signing. He’s making some sounds occasionally, just whimpers, really… But I'm hoping that he’ll start speaking soon. I think his quietness is so much a product of Grisha’s abuse, like he’s afraid to. Now that he’s got the casts on his arms off I'm hoping he’ll maybe start writing stuff down as a small step. He does need to practice speaking, but I'm really thinking it’s voluntary muteness, and less so his vocal cords being unable to work properly.” With the PTSD, it’s not that far out of an idea.

“Okay, can you try and get him to talk… Even if it’s his name… Or even if he tries to say a letter… I want to make sure… I don’t want him unable to sing for the rest of his life… That’s basically his job now…” Scotty said and rubbed the back of his neck. “That reminds me… Have you checked his social media accounts? He’s been inactive for like what…. At least two months…” Scotty took the papers back and looked over them again, sighing as he ran a hand through his hair.

Lathe’s eyes widened. “I haven't been checking it at all, really. I really should, at least send a tweet out or something letting everyone know he’s getting better.” That needs doing. ...I don't know how the Internet is reacting to that news story… And I don't exactly think I want to know. “Oh, and thanks for calling Casper up. God knows I could use the help. And yeah, I'll see if I can get a few words out of him, something simple. Maybe if we build up the strength in his voice again, singing with him could help calm him down, ease his nerves and his worries. It could be good for him if we started doing musical stuff again.” I haven't actually listened to music in a really long time… It'd probably be good for both of our sanities.

Scotty nodded. “Alright. I’m gonna go get his formula together… And Spades texted me to make sure you eat something so what do you want from the cafeteria downstairs?” Scotty’s smile was soft and laid-back as he looked down at Lathe. I think music will help him feel better. “He should be able to wear headphones… It shouldn’t bother him.”

Lathe nodded, rubbing the back of his neck with a sheepish grin. “Uhm, you can just pick something from the Subway downstairs, I guess… just anything that’s not cold. Please.” Of course Spades is getting Scotty in on this. “I’ll go put a playlist together for him, I suppose.” Good thing I have a pair of headphones stuffed in my tech bag...

Scotty nodded. “Okay I’ll be back and we can all eat together, I’ll text Casper to see what he wants.” He walked towards the elevator, his thumbs flying over his phone. Oh good, Casper will be here soon.

Lathe walked back into Eren’s room, closing the door quietly and crossing over to his tech bag next to the nightstand, giving Eren a peck on the forehead before sitting down, skimming quickly through his old iPod and grouping together the songs he thought Eren would like. He plugged in a set of earbuds, making sure the volume wasn't set too high, holding them out to Eren. “We have a bit of time before you need to go down for an MRI, so if you'd like to listen to music a bit you can.” It’ll help keep you awake and chill, and maybe you’ll find something you'd like to cover later.

Eren timidly took the earpieces, slowly putting them into his ears. He was instantly greeted by the sound of a grand piano, a small smile creeping on his face as he listened quietly, starting to hum along without realizing it, his fingers moving across his lap, as if he were playing the piano. I know this one… Did mom teach me this? Eren seemed the happiest he’d been in over two months as he listened to the music flowing through various melodies.
Lathe let himself relax as Eren’s mood lifted, lifting up a notebook and a pen with a small smile on his face, beginning to list medicines and compounds off the top of his head in neat loopy handwriting. He looked up as Scotty returned a while later with Eren’s formula and three sandwich bags from Subway, handing one to him and setting the others on the chair next to him.

Scotty looked up as Eren began humming along to some odd tune, a smile creeping across his face. “He’s smiling…” Scotty’s voice was soft as he got ready to feed Eren, and Eren didn’t really seem to care at all. Well this is a first, he’s not even trying to hit me away from him… Scotty made sure not to make quick movements as he started to feed him his formula. He picked his head up from his work hearing the phone in the room ring. ... Casper must be here already… trying to get up here... oh my...

Lathe stood and picked up the phone, his voice brighter than it was before. “Hello?” He listened for a moment. “Yeah, he’s cool. Send him up, please.” He set the phone back on the hook. “Casper’s here, he’ll only be a minute.” It wasn’t long before there was a quiet knocking at the door, the same familiar pattern. He opened the door with a smile, greeting him. “Hey Casper, thanks for coming up.” He stepped back, letting him into the room.

Casper grinned at him, a brown and red backpack slung over his shoulder, giving Lathe a fistbump and walking slowly into the room. “Course. It’s the least I can do.” He stopped short as he saw Eren, blissfully unaware of his surroundings. “Uh… Lathe, I think it would be best if you let him know I’m here.”...Yeah, no violence or fear, please. I'd rather not have my hand looking like Levi's did... and that was Levi! As in his own boyfriend!

Lathe nodded, shutting the door and walking over to Eren, his touch light on his shoulder. He gently pulled out one of the earbuds, his voice warm. “Eren, we’ve called up an old friend. He’d like to say hi.” You shouldn't freak out; with his violet hair, you'll recognize him in a heartbeat.

Eren looked from Lathe over towards where Casper stood in the doorway. Who’s that? Eren’s eyes were a bit more lively but full of curiosity and wariness. I don’t want him to yell at me. Eren’s fingers tugged on Lathe’s shirt sleeve.

Casper very slowly walked forward a bit, staying calm and looking unthreatening. “Hey Eren, it’s me, Casper. I was the guy behind the desk at Trost pharmacy when you came in a really long time ago. I was at Thanksgiving two years ago too.” He stopped with a decent bit of space between them, trying to stay far enough back to keep Eren comfortable for the moment.
Lathe rubbed Eren’s shoulder soothingly. “He’s the guy I’ve been working with for a while to get you a PTSD medicine that works. He helped a lot to make it, and he’s going to help again with figuring out what medicines you need for everything that’s going on, so everything goes smoothly.” He’s absolutely brilliant, and he’s so willing to help you, and already has done so much. I really owe him big time for this.

Eren’s brow furrowed. I don’t….. Eren slowly raised his own hands to sign by himself for the first time. [I don’t remember him.] Why don’t I? He looks like I’ve seen him before but I can’t tell… It’s all fuzzy… Eren looked over to Scotty as he continued to feed him. Wait… How long has he been feeding me for?

Scotty looked up as Eren’s heart monitor spikes a bit. “Eren you're okay, I’m almost done, last bit.” His voice was reassuring as he poured the last bit into Eren’s feeding tube, sighing in relief when he finished without incident. That went better than I thought it would. He got up to clean up from the formula and picked up Casper’s lunch, steeling himself before going to hand Casper his Sub. “Uhm, here- this one’s yours.” What do I say?

Casper took the sandwich from him, giving him a small smile, a spark of affection in his eyes. “Thanks. It’s…. it’s good to see you again.” It really is… Casper didn't linger and make it awkward, giving him a thankful nod and going to sit in one of the chairs around Eren’s bed. He set his sandwich in his lap and signed back to Eren. {That’s okay; It was a long time ago.} You did only see me like, twice, and then not really hear about me for two-ish years… Understandable. He unwrapped his sandwich, starting to eat quietly.

Scotty simply stood there for a split second, a bit surprised. That went not horribly… he looks happy to see me. …not many people do. He moved to make sure Eren was comfortable in an upright position. Well, he’s eaten… That’s a good starter.

Lathe replaced Eren’s earbud, sitting down and beginning to eat, Scotty joining them, munching in (to Scotty and Casper, surprisingly) comfortable silence. Lathe’s thoughts were occupied, numbers starting to run through his head quickly. We’re going to get plenty done, now that we’ve got reinforcements. You'll get better in no time, Eren. Really.

Eren listened to the ear buds, mostly looking over the various ice packs lined around him. The song changed to White Winter Hymnal by The Pentatonix. The first sounds of hands beating against the body sent Eren’s eyes wide. No… I don’t want to get hit. His eyes were wide as the room changed in front of him to the scene of Levi’s opened apartment. Men were everywhere in various stages of undress, two prominent men Eren knew because Grisha had always invited them stood there, beating down on Eren with their closed fists, connecting with his chest and his legs. No. The voices that started in the song had sent the memory further along, some men were fighting over who was going to follow the man already raping Eren at that moment. Eren had tried to scream, to cry out, only to have a red scarf tied around his mouth to silence him. His arms were taken and pinned, a syringe entering his arm and emptying its contents. Eren was turned around, his own father holding a large knife with a sick and twisted grin on his face as he came closer, the men beginning to turn him and pin him to the table. Eren tried to get away as the knife cut deep into his back, the multitudes of men cheering at the sight of blood dripping down to stain the white carpet. NO! Eren’s body reacted without anymore thought, ripping the earbuds from his ears and throwing the device away towards his feet. The machines around him screamed from his rapid heartbeat, his eyes full of fear as he started to cry. No… No… I don’t want it to happen again! Blake jumped up onto the bed and tried to calm Eren down but his rapid heartbeat wouldn’t come down and his cries became progressively louder as he tried to curl up to himself. I need to hide…

Lathe had set down his sandwich and stood at Eren’s side in an instant, sitting down next to him and wrapping his arms around his middle, holding him close, his voice a quiet murmur. “Eren, Eren no, please don’t cry, it’s okay, we’re right here, nothing’s gonna hurt you. It’s alright, shhh…” What happened? His ears strained to make out the music still playing from his iPod, recognizing it. What about that set him off? …oh. Oh.

Eren turned to cling to Lathe, his voice garbled as he tried to form words. I don’t want it to happen again… I don’t… I thought I was gonna die… Eren’s sobs caused his whole body to shake, his drool starting to come out in thick streams. “…. n-no….” Eren had finally spoken in his broken sobs and held onto Lathe like his life depended on it. Not again…

…He spoke. Lathe held onto him tightly, running one hand up and down his back soothingly, glancing up as Scotty rose and handed him a towel, taking it and wiping the drool from his chin, the tears from his cheeks. “It’s okay, Eren, just let it out… It’s alright.” He rested his head on top of Eren’s as he leaned against his chest, his eyes shutting as he sighed. …I’ll make sure I go back through that playlist, take out anything that could do this to him…

Eren clung to his shirt as he sobbed heavily, his whole body shuddering, coughing often because his lungs were almost full of liquid. “….. h…..hu……hursts….” Eren finally managed to speak again, his face contorted in pain from not being able to get anything but a short breath in. It hurts…. It feels like I’m being stabbed again…. I don’t want to be stabbed again…

Scotty instantly stood up to add more morphine to Eren’s IV. You shouldn’t be hurting from crying… How full are your lungs? “Lathe… I’m going to go get a bed… He needs to go down to MRI now.” He made sure Eren wasn’t looking before he ran out of the room to get a bed that they would be able to take him downstairs with. I’m not risking jostling him in a wheelchair.

Casper watched with wide eyes as Scotty sprinted from the room, standing and grabbing a notepad and pen from his bag before slinging it over his shoulder as Scotty returned with a bed on wheels, moving to help him position it next to the bed. Crap, Eren doesn't sound too good… We need to figure out what’s going on here.
Lathe shifted, lifting Eren as Scotty disentangled him from the many tubes and wires, laying him flat on the bed and running a hand through his hair as they left for the elevator, just trying to keep Eren calm. “It’s okay Eren, just focus on your breathing, we’re going to get you in for an MRI right now, and we’ll help fix whatever’s going on. Just hang in there.” He stepped into the elevator after them, the short wait agonizing with his worry, and they rushed him down the hall the second the doors opened.

Scotty made sure that everyone had all the metal removed from them. Thank god we did the titanium… Not magnetic… They hurriedly brought him to the MRI room, carefully moving him into the MRI bed. The technician then led them to the imaging room while Eren was put through the machine. It only took seconds for Scotty’s eyes to widen. …shit! “He’s gonna drown… Get him out and get him sitting up!” Scotty raced out of the room. I need to do it in that room. He’s got Pulmonary Edema… He’s gonna fucking drown if I don’t get an aspiration kit now!

Lathe and Casper immediately moved to the next room, getting him out of the machine with the help of the technician and coaxing him into a sitting position. Lathe noticed his eyes were-half shut, swaying as if about to fall asleep. ...well fuck that. “Eren, hey, stay with me, we need you awake. Come on, you can't sleep now, you need to keep those eyes of yours open! Please! Come on, you need to fight it and stay awake for me!” He tried to keep Eren’s gaze, gently shaking both his shoulders, pleading with him with a loud, clear voice. Fuck stay with me here! Work with us, Eren, come on!

Eren was struggling to breathe, and soon he couldn’t breathe at all anymore. I’m sorry… Lathe… Eren’s eyes closed as Scotty rushed into the room with a huge lot of supplies.

“When did he stop breathing?” He asked with wide eyes as he started to rip things out of sterilized containers and tilting Eren’s head back with a gloved hand. Come on, Eren! You need to fight this! Scotty got a long thin tube down his throat and he took only two seconds before he hooked it up to a syringe and started to suction out the bloody murky liquid. Fuck… This is bad, really bad. As soon as he had a good portion of the liquid out of one lung he laid Eren back down and started to give him CPR. Come on Eren… Breathe! Breathe dammit!

Lathe moved back to give him room with wide eyes, tears threatening to spill. “I-it’s barely been ten seconds…” He watched in horror as Scotty pumped bloody liquid from Eren’s lungs, his hands holding the sides of his head as Scotty gave Eren CPR. Eren you need to breathe again you need to breathe and be okay please.

Eren’s body laid still for a solid minute before he finally sucked in a breath of air. It hurts…
Scotty sighed in relief, stopping his actions and moving Eren to the bed to take him upstairs. “Upstairs… Now, he’s breathing but we need to drain both of his lungs… I only got a portion of his right lung drained… he drowned…” Scotty made sure to bring everything with them, and Eren was put in an upright position. He was breathing but his eyes weren’t opening yet. We need him to wake up… But I need to finish draining his lungs...

Lathe talked to Eren quietly as Casper helped Scotty steer the bed as they came back upstairs, trying to wake him up. He lifted Eren back onto the bed, still asleep as he kept him upright, holding onto him as Scott worked. “You need to wake up soon, Eren. Scotty’s going to drain your lungs and you're going to be able to breathe normally again and it’ll all be okay. Come on, please wake up. Please.” At least he’s breathing right now.

Scotty continued to work, finishing draining his lungs. …. Five point eight…. Liters …. He drowned in his own body. Scotty slowly pulled the small tube from his lung, hearing him finally able to take a deep breath without a problem. He waited a few tense moments with Lathe as Eren’s eyes slowly cracked open.

Eren opened his eyes, met with a blurry environment until he blinked a few times. What happened? Eren’s eyes were full of confusion as he found Lathe’s panicked ones. What happened?

Lathe sighed hugely in relief, shifting to pull Eren into a hug, his face buried into his shoulder. “Oh my god, you're okay… You're okay…” You had me scared there, Eren. I thought we’d… We’d lost you… You practically drowned in your own lungs.

Eren’s brow furrowed in confusion. I can breathe?…. It doesn’t hurt…. Eren took in quite a few deep breaths as Scotty reattached him to all his machines. He slowly reached a hand up to tangle his fingers in Lathe’s hair. “…..O…..k…..?” Eren’s voice was hoarse as he tried to move Lathe’s head to look into his eyes. What the hell happened to me…. Why couldn’t I breathe before? But now I can?

Lathe moved to look into Eren’s eyes, his own glassy. ... You're talking! I haven't heard your voice in months ... it’s scratchy as hell, but you're speaking again! And I guess we have to explain the thing. “Eren, we were really worried, your lungs…” He swallowed hard. “They were filling up with fluid. You’re fighting off pneumonia, and that caused the fluid to gather in your lungs it’s why you… Couldn't breathe easy. They filled up with so much fluid because we hadn't checked to see if it was what was really happening, until they got so full that… That you started to drown in your own lungs.” Lathe gave him a weak smile. “But Scotty drained your lungs the second we knew what was wrong, and we’re going to get you on new medication to help fight your pneumonia, and hopefully we won't have to do that again.” You're alright now.
Eren nodded and leaned forward a little to put his head on Lathe’s shoulder. It doesn’t hurt…. I can breathe…. Eren’s hand moved to tug on Lathe’s sleeve, his eyes darting to the door as Spades came in with a worried look across her features. Spades?

Scotty got up to greet her. “It’s okay, he’s awake and breathing… He drowned in his own lungs… I drained it… Don’t worry.” He put a hand on her shoulder. He’s alright… Don’t panic… His heart rate came back up as soon as he woke up. I do not need him having a seizure today too.

Spades sighed in relief, her hand over her heart as she gave Eren a weak smile, stepping further into the room. Yeesh, you just never stop scaring us, do you? “Hey Hon, good to see you’re still in one piece.” She moved to give him a hug, stopping herself before she got too close to him, still wary of his reaction. …right. Can’t do that… “We’ve gotten an ID on the guy who took that photograph, he’s being taken care of as we speak. Gordon’s out tracking him down right now. We’re getting this all straightened out as soon as we can.” We can’t exactly reverse what damage has been done, but at least we can do everything we can to stop it from happening again, and make an example of him to deter this sort of shit from happening to others. Justice is being served, and that’s a step in the right direction.

Eren watched her come up to the bed, but he didn’t really do anything besides watch her. His fingers which were grabbing Lathe’s sleeve let got and he moved his hand to reach for Spades, his hand gently touching one of her cheeks. Thank you… Eren was gentle and his eyes told her everything she needed to know as he kept eye contact with her. He was finally starting to come out of his shell.

…That’s what you always do. That’s how you always say hello and goodbye to me… Spades sighed a bit in relief, holding his gaze and slowly unfolding her arms from in front of her and reaching out timidly, her voice quiet. “…is it okay if I give you a hug?” From what I hear… You’ve never done anything like this to anyone besides Lathe.

Eren pulled his hand back from her face and looked to Lathe holding him around his middle before looking back at her. His head slowly nodded. You can… I can trust you for right now….

Spades smiled warmly, slowly leaning down and pulling Eren into her arms, resting her head on his shoulder, sighing heavily. You’re getting to be more like yourself… That’s wonderful.

...Mom.

She let him go after a moment, rubbing at her eye before shifting to her other foot. “Is it alright if I chill here with you for today? Maybe help you doodle on these too-white casts?” They could use a Eren looked to Spades and nodded, making a motion for writing. I wanna draw… Their faces are so clear… Eren turned his head to look at Lathe, seeing his head was still buried in his shoulder. Is he going to stay here too? I wanna draw…

Well, Lathe doesn't look like he's about to get Eren drawing stuff anytime soon. So… Spades reached out to drag a chair over, sitting down and glancing through the tall legs of the bed to where the strap of Lathe’s bag had fallen, reaching her foot out and hooking it with her boot heel, dragging it over and fishing out a fresh notebook and some thin-tipped sharpies, handing them to Eren and taking out some thicker sharpies for herself. …might as well make myself at home. She took out a red-covered notebook with too many notes scribbled in it and lightly smacked Lathe on the top of the head with it, handing it to him as he looked up with a black pen. “You up for math, Lathe Autonomous?” She smirked as she sent her a quick glare, chuckling as she started to doodle on Eren’s foot, the pattern full of oranges and reds and metallic bronze and gold.

Lathe took the notebook from her, quirking an eyebrow. You never did get over how ‘ridiculous’ my name sounded. “Maybe I am, Ieva Velanova.” That always was fun to say.

Casper tried to hold back a snicker, covering his mouth and looking apologetically to Spades, losing it as she glared at him, doubling over in his seat, the sharp notes of a yet unplaceable accent noticeable. “…s-sorry, Spades… r-really…” Oh my god, I haven’t heard anyone say your name in forever…

Spades rolled her eyes, a smirk playing at her lips. “Yeah yeah, we all know it’s a weird name, blah blah we get it.” She chuckled, her smile bright. Yeesh, I missed you two.

Scotty managed to hide his chuckle. “Do you guys wanna come see what we can give him? I can show you to the room with the antibiotics we have in liquid form.” We’re still keeping his IV in… I am not risking getting bit if he refuses his pills.

Lathe nodded, pressing a kiss to Eren’s temple as he shifted from the bed, following him and Casper out to the hall, his pen twirling in his hand. Alright, time for way too much math. Fun.
Eren watched them leave before returning to his work. He worked furiously for around 10 minutes, writing the number 1 in the corner before he turned it and showed it to her. Can you recognize him?... He’s in the videos my dad recorded…. I know he is…. He never wore a mask….

Spades looked up from her work, a small colorful scene blooming under her hand before her sharpie stopped dead, her eyes wide. ...What. She kept her eyes on the image as she capped the marker and pulled out her phone, tapping out a familiar number and holding it to her ear, Scotty nearly instantly picking up.

“What’s wrong?” Scotty’s voice clearly laced with panic. Did he stop breathing again? Is he freaking out? What’s wrong?

“No no, nothing’s wrong, Eren’s okay. I just had to ask you, did you show Eren a picture of the man who came in and took the picture of him?”

...what? “...Noooooo…. I didn’t…. I didn’t even mention it to him… Why, what happened?”

“...he kinda just drew an exact image of the guy.” Why the hell does he look so familiar to me still? And for Eren to know him well enough to draw him with that much detail? ...wait. Does that mean... And the 1... There were a lot of them... I need to make sure they run his prints the second they get the chance.

“Should we come back up? Is he okay?” Scotty’s voice still filled with worry. I don’t know how he drew that man... He was obviously asleep.

Eren ripped the sheet off and started to draw another picture, starting to form the face of another man and draw him with a lot of detail as well, the face quickly becoming another familiar one. He never wore a mask either.

Spades gaped in awe as Eren continued to draw perfect images of the men from the videos. I know that face too. “...I think we’re good. You keep doing what you're doing. He’s okay. I'll call you if anything changes.” She hung up before Scotty could reply, immediately sending a text message to Gordon. ‘When you catch that guy, the /first/ thing you’re doing is running his prints. He was one of the men involved with Grisha in sexually abusing Eren. It’s /imperative/ you catch him soon.’ She soon received a message back. ‘Can do. He’s already in the cruiser; wasn't hard to find. We’ll get him fingerprinted as soon as we get him back to the station.’ Good.

Eren soon pulled off another picture with the number 2 in the corner and handed it to her before he started yet another picture of another man. I can help…. I don’t want it to happen again...

Spades studied the pictures as he handed them to her, looking up with sympathetic eyes. “Eren, do you know any of their names?” That’d help a lot if you could write them down for me. She held them out to him again. “Can you write them down if you know them? Anything specific about them that you can think of, like a job or title?” Anything. They weren't in the system when we first got the prints, or the next year, or last year... Nothing.

Eren thought about it for a second and he started to write their names down, matching the first name to the name of the guy in the back of Gordon’s cruiser. He’s a professor… At the college in the city.. Eren wrote down as much as he could for the first two and continued to draw the third man. The other guy… He’s a horse breeder....

Spades nodded, smiling gently as he handed her page after page of faces and names and occupations, taking pictures on her phone and fishing in Lathe’s bag for a folder, finding one and stashing the pictures carefully inside. He won’t mind if I steal this. She continued to doodle over Eren’s foot, a galaxy unfurling over his leg when she glanced over her shoulder to the door, the three of them filing in holding papers covered in notes and seemingly random numbers and letters, Scotty holding two small jars and two syringes. “Find somethin’ that’ll work?” She glanced over as she heard the quick rustling of paper, Eren hiding the picture against his chest, his eyes laced with fear as he watched them walk in. Oh my. “Eren, it’s okay hon, don't worry.” She gently laid a hand on his arm, her voice quiet and warm. You’re doing a wonderful job; you don't have to hide the pictures.

Eren hurriedly shook his head and his fearful eyes latched onto Lathe’s, his body beginning to shake. No... He’ll think I’m a whore... He can’t know....

Lathe stopped in his tracks, his brow furrowed in concern. “Eren, what’s…” He glanced to the notebook pressed against his chest, effectively hiding it from view. “Eren, it’s okay. Please, don't be so scared.” He slowly moved next to him, brushing the hair out of his eyes. “I don't think any less of you because of what happened. You don't have to be scared that I’d be mad or anything like that. From what I hear…” He glanced to Spades. “You've been a great help, drawing out those pictures. It’s okay, really. I promise.” He pecked Eren’s forehead. You just keep helping Spades with this. Anything you can do to help this along.

Eren looked down at the notebook in his hands and slowly back up to Lathe. You won’t think I’m a whore? Eren repeated his question in sign language, everyone else in the room able to read his hands, but he didn’t realize it. I don’t want you to think I’m a whore…. I don’t want to be a whore anymore….

Lathe picked up his hands, sadness written into his expression as he signed back, feeling everyone’s eyes bore into him as he signed back. {Eren, I could never think of you as that. Nothing is further from the truth.} I don’t think he knows we can all understand sign language… We all learned it for Spades before she had her hearing aids… She couldn’t afford them for a long time…

Eren looked to him and nodded, leaning over to lean into him as he put the notebook down and showed another detailed picture. He wrote a 7 in the corner and wrote the man’s name, ripping it off and handing it to Spades, defeat clearly written across his face. I don’t want to be a whore anymore…. I want Levi to love me… Not hate me… Eren started to draw another detailed picture quickly and accurately.

Casper’s emerald eyes were wide, silently moving to sit down again, his expression one of sadness and disbelief. ...How could he possibly think of himself as that? How could anyone seem so convinced that they’re a whore? …How could he think that Lathe who loves him more than anything could think of him like that? For any reason? That’s… that’s… his father- no, Grisha really fucked with his head… That’s horrible… He looked up to Lathe, who was content to rest his head on Eren’s, watching him draw with dark eyes. He glanced over to Spades, who gave him a tiny shrug and a look that that was just the way he thought. ...oh my… He moved his chair forward, closer to Eren’s other leg. “Are you just going to let Spades have all the fun, Eren? Is it okay if I draw a little, too?” He tried to keep his tone light, though it didn’t follow to his eyes very much.

Eren watched him come close, looking up to Lathe for a second before back at Spades. He can’t hurt me right? He’s just going to draw right? Eren gave a weary nod before he looked over to Scotty watching him empty two syringes into his IV. What’s he putting in there now?

Scotty moved to dispose of the syringes. …Lathe wasn’t lying when he said Grisha fucked with his head…. How Eren could lose complete trust in Lathe is horrible… But to have him always think everyone hates him… That’s even worse … Eren, how can you think like that? Don’t you know Lathe would do anything for you? He already gave up a kidney… I don’t think he would hesitate to do everything in his power to keep you alive. Can’t you see that? He still sleeps with you every night, he’s stayed by your side the whole time. Scotty leaned against the wall watching him. He’s gonna need his third meal in an hour… then his last one around 9….*

Casper gave him a small smile, reaching to the pile of markers at the end of the bed and starting to scratch out a winding crystalline pattern, tiny gold lettering scattered throughout the pattern. He glanced up as Eren tore off another image, Lathe asleep on his head, his grip loose around Eren’s middle, but still there. ...How can you keep doubting how much he loves you? How much he’s willing to give up for you?
Spades took the picture, studying it before stowing it in the folder. She looked to Lathe with a small smile, capping her marker and standing. “I have to go for right now, get these pictures to the right people. I'll be back later though, and I'll bring dinner with me for everyone, okay?” Might as well start having these processed... And I think you all could all do with something other than takeout.

Eren reached for her hand and tugged on it to get her attention. {One more…} I know one more... Eren started to furiously sketch out a pudgy face for Spades to take. I know his name and what he does...

She took the paper, studying it. It's all the same with them... Doctors and supposedly 'model citizens.' They all have a clean slate, that's why their prints haven't come up at all... “Thank you Eren, is that it?” She smiled at him as he nodded. She stowed it in the folder, carefully giving Eren a hug. “I'll be back later, okay? I have to make sure this one eats something.” She leaned up to kiss Lathe, feeling him melt at her kiss. ...I get it. I'm feeling kinda touch-starved myself... She started to straighten up, pausing as Eren brushed a hand over her cheek in goodbye, waving to Casper and Scotty as she left, her ponytail swinging behind her. This makes my job much easier.

Scotty couldn't help himself but watch as Spades left, looking back to Lathe unapologetically. [...That bust though.] I can see part of why you're so damn smitten.

Really. [Scotty, that's my waifu. She’s mine. Step off.] Lathe sent him a glare, his gaze returning to Eren’s drawing for only a second before he looked up again, smirking a bit with a spark in his eye. [And no- ...those hips though.]...just... damn.

Casper just dropped his head into his hands for a moment, shaking his head. [You two need to stop…] I'm so done.

Eren watched her leave, his eyes trained on Scotty as he came closer.

“Can I check your lungs, Eren?” I want to make sure that they aren’t filling right back up again... He gave a reassuring smile as Eren timidly nodded. He stepped forward and listened to his deep breaths, sighing in relief when he didn’t hear anything out of the ordinary. He slowly went down the bed towards Casper, hesitating for a moment before speaking. “I have a question for you.” He asked quietly as he picked up a sharpie from the pile and worked up towards Eren’s thigh, sitting next to him. I want to know how his pneumonia got so bad without us realizing it... you would know.
Casper glanced up, a slight brush of pink tinging his cheeks. “Shoot, Scotty.” He... kinda sounds like he doesn't want Eren to hear. [If you don't want him to hear, I still know all my French.] I think all of us still do.

Scotty turned to see Eren continue to draw without even batting an eye at them. I guess that could work. [His pneumonia basically snuck up on us... How did we not realize it sooner?] How did neither of us hear him wheezing before this morning?

[You weren't looking for it, pretty much because you couldn't.] Casper continued to doodle, his brow furrowed in thought as the French flowed easily off his tongue. [His body is focusing everything on mending his physical injuries, his broken bones and such, so his immune system is pretty much shot. He's got a lot of white blood cells, but next to none of them are getting the energy they need to fight infections, because all that energy went to his arms and legs and skin. Literally, anything could have happened. Any kind of random infection. This time around just so happened to be in his lungs, which is admittedly a bit more common, but you’d have to be looking at everything at once to catch it. As for the wheezing and the fluid in the lungs, that could easily happen spontaneously as the body suddenly realizes fighting it is a priority, and the result was his lungs filling with fluid so fast because of the sudden onslaught of his body’s attempts to fight it off. You did what you could, really. I'd just be grateful the symptoms showed up when he was awake and able to communicate his discomfort before it got really worse.]...literally anything could have gone wrong. At least you two caught on to it.

Scotty nodded, taking everything in. Casper’s got good intuition... Maybe he’ll know... [Do you think the STD made it worse? He’s had it for a long time... It’s spread in his blood system... It could’ve gone straight to his lungs.] I wonder if you’d have an idea about the burns Eren had... I took pictures to show other doctors to see if they had seen anything like it... And no, they have not.

Casper wrinkled his nose, his head tilting from side to side. [...eh, I don't think it made it worse as much as it redirected his body’s attention. The body can't really fight off an STD too easily, and it had long since spread to his lungs and such, so I'd say it didn't do much actual damage. What it did do is act as a sort of bait, have the immune system, when it did have energy to fight off infection, fight what it couldn't win against and what had been around for a long time instead of a new infection that hadn't spread as much yet. Chlamydia doesn't cause symptoms of any kind, anyway, so you wouldn't have been able to tell at all exactly when it reached his lungs, so chances are it reached there a really long time ago.]...it was just a distraction from the real, previously indiscernible threat.

[Okay... And I wanted to ask you one more thing... But are you prepared to see something gruesome?] His voice was soft as he pulled out his phone. I wanna know... I wanna know what that bastard did to him.

Casper quirked an eyebrow at him, leaning over. [Go for it, Scotty.] He looked at his phone as he pulled up a picture of Eren’s blackened feet, wincing. [...] Wow that looks awful. What about it?

Scotty swallowed hard. [He couldn’t feel it…. You know how when you get a heat blister it bubbles up? Well it looked like it was layers deep, the bubble… And then almost like it was cooked until they could come off…. His feet… And I think his back too… Are this like sickly pink that shows he’s been trying to heal it…. But he couldn’t feel it when we took it off and I’m worried…. How did he get burned like that? And why can’t he feel it?]

Casper studied the image, his chin resting on his hand. Let’s see… His feet were pretty much charred. And pretty much the same thing happened to his back. The heat would need to be extremely intense, and over really fast so it didn't go more than a few layers into the skin. Probably a flame of some kind to get every bit of skin like that without missing a single spot, even between the toes. So, a controllable heat source, probably something of a mechanical origin to control where a flame went, like a lighter. But much more powerful than a lighter; a huge one, like a… “A blowtorch.” Casper’s voice was barely a whisper so only Scotty could hear, his eyes wide in disbelief as he started to speak a bit louder. [That’s what it must have been. I don't know what the word for it is but that's got to be it. It’s controllable, intense, thorough, and quick. It’s good, that his skin is pink now, trying to heal. Just watch for infection while his skin isn't still fully healed. And as for why he couldn't feel it…] He sighed, his brow furrowed. [It wasn't too deep of a burn. It’s miraculously shallow, actually, so I don't want to say nerve damage. What I would like to mention is that I remember a little while ago, when Eren got his tattoo, that Marc went in the group chat about it and told everyone how he was laughing in the chair. And tattoos really hurt, Scotty! And he didn't flinch for a tattoo! I'd say he just has a crazy high pain tolerance, probably built up from…] He swallowed hard. [From what Grisha did to him.] … How could anyone literally torch their own son?!

…. A blow torch? To your own son? That’s…. Thank god you're dead…. Or Lathe and I would’ve personally come to kill you. [The Tattoo on his arm? Damn…. The kid is gonna need to get that fixed…] Scotty looked up to Eren’s upper arm, where a little bit of skin was showing still, a nasty red line cutting through the intricate design. [You think Marc can fix it?] I hope he can for Eren’s sake. Grisha carved so much into his skin…. I can’t believe Eren didn’t bleed out. [He carved a lot into his skin…. The lines run all the way down his arms. His back is covered…] Scotty looked down at the cast in front of him. [Covered in the horrible words Grisha implanted in his mind….] He felt a shiver run through his whole spine. How? How could anyone convince their own son… That they were a whore? Scotty glanced over to the pages Eren was working on, watching him rip yet another face off the notebook, a 13 written in the corner. 13?…. How many more could’ve been there? I want to know which of them gave him that fucking STD and punch his face in. How could you transfer an STD to an adolescent?…. He’s not 21 yet… He’s technically still a minor I believe in that jurisdiction. [Casper… Do you know anything… About drugs used commonly in gang rape?] Scotty’s voice was soft, as his eyes glanced over the words Eren had scrawled onto the top of #13. Drugs and syringes… Doctor. [What would they use that a doctor could get to?] His toxicology reports… I think we have them. Lathe would definitely know. But he’s asleep...

Casper shrugged. [First off, Marc could easily touch up his tattoo. Secondly, there are so many different medicines and sedatives that could have been used the only way to know is for me to see his toxicology report. Anything would come up there, including anything that isn't a mainstream sedative or something not intended for human use, which I was told was the case in a few instances…] That really is fucking awful...

Scotty nodded, getting up to gently shake Lathe’s shoulder. I hate having to wake you up, but you can get it quicker than I can. “Lathe, wake up… We need to look at something.” Come on Lathe, I don’t want to have to slap you to get you awake...

Lathe blinked at him blearily, yawning widely, though his arms didn’t move from Eren’s middle, his head still using Eren’s head as a pillow. “Wha-? What’s up, Scotty?” His voice was a bit rough, and he looked down to see Eren still drawing, his eyes widening as he saw the number in the corner. Fifteen? That many?! And he doesn’t look like he’s about to stop, either… Oh my god. Lathe’s arms tightened a bit around Eren’s waist, glancing around and brow furrowing. “Where’d Spades run off to?”

“She went to go run through the pictures Eren drew and she said she’d come back with dinner for us….. But we need to see his toxicology reports… From when he first came in, I know you have them.” Scotty told him and backed up slowly so Eren wouldn’t freak out.

Eren simply ignored them, ripping off the 15th sheet and put it on the table with the others in a neat pile. He started to write the number 16 on the top of the sheet and wrote a man’s name and started drawing another face. I want to get these done while I can still remember...

“I do?” Lathe rubbed his eye, looking for his bag next to him, not seeing it and looking over the other side of the bed, seeing it was moved. He held out his hand for it. “Bag.” He took it as Scotty handed it to him, setting it directly next to him and rifling through it, pulling out a Manila folder and thumbing through it to the back of the papers, pulling out the report. “Oh, I do. Here.” He held it out to Scotty, replacing the folder and putting the bag on the floor in arm’s reach, resettling to return to his nap. “If you’ve got it covered, I’m still really tired…” He yawned again, his eyes sliding shut. You can wake me up for food later...

Scotty chuckled, taking the paper and returning next to Casper. [Alright… So we have an extremely high blood alcohol content…He’s got…] Scotty’s brow furrowed at the next high amount. Ketamine? But we didn’t give him any form of anesthetic before this was taken… What the hell? “Ketamine.” He whispered quietly to Casper. What would that do? It was in such a large amount… How much was he given? Scotty’s eyes flew over the paper. [He had a pretty high WBC count too, but not nearly as high as earlier today…. And his blood had signs of kidney failure with such high levels of creatinine and BUN.] Just how long did he have that knife in his side?

[The white blood cells present at the time were probably for fighting that STD, the high BAC…}
Well, that explains itself. The BUN and creatinine are waste products, of course, pointing to kidney failure. And ketamine… I used to deal with it all the time when I worked for a veterinary clinic. That’s a sedative not intended for people. It's for dogs and cats or what have you before a surgery. And they gave him a shit ton of it.] Casper’s eyes were wide, one hand tangling in his shaggy violet locks. [With that much of it in his systems, the symptoms would have been so strong… I'm surprised it didn't force him to go into cardiac arrest. Hallucinations, a distorted perception of sound, impaired motor control, though it does relieve pain and… would make you docile. That’s what they were using… It's not terribly hard to get, because it's so commonly used…] ...that could've killed him. That high of a dosage- it's a miracle that in the minutes right after administering it that it all didn't just go to shit. [How did nobody mention this?! Did nobody look it up when they saw something they didn't recognize?! The doctors and nurses first in charge of his care would have seen it!]

[I don’t know… He was put in surgery right away.] This is horrible. [Even I didn’t realize how high it was… That was just 1/4th of his blood too… I can’t imagine how much else was in the rest that he bled out…. It’s not a common date-rape drug… No one probably looked into it.] We don’t see Ketamine much here, especially after we stopped using it as a sedative so many years ago.

Casper looked over the paper with sad eyes, sighing. [I'm just glad nothing you gave him during surgery reacted negatively with it. It would've taken a while to get out of his system completely, with such a high dose. …I guess it could have been seen as normal to be in his system, and by normal I mean not something to worry about, because we did use it before… But that's just awful.]

[It is awful… And we know that some of his fears could be because of that… We don’t know how much of his mental state was fucked with.] If his mind lapsed… We couldn’t know who he saw raping him… Or what he heard… [If what I remember correctly from that high of a dose, he’ll have hallucinations… Right?]

[Oh most definitely. With a dosage that high there's not a doubt in my mind his memory of the events are distorted with hallucinations. He could have thought someone he knew was there… Doing those things… He could have thought he heard something in their voice…]

Scotty nodded. [We can only hope that that didn’t happen…. We won’t know until he opens up though.] I hope it wasn’t Lathe… But he seems okay around Lathe… But he really bit Levi that one time...

[I guess we’ll just have to wait and see… Though if he’s drawing out the men who raped him, and he’s got them all committed to memory… I guess we’ll just have to see if he starts drawing anyone we know he knows… I hope to God neither of them show up on those papers…] He nodded to Lathe, his look telling Scotty who else he meant. …if he hallucinated that either of them were there... It would have seriously messed up his perception of Lathe, especially… and I don't think he’d ever really trust Levi, to be... Intimate. He seems cool around Lathe, but he did bite Levi pretty badly, from what I heard, so… I dunno. We can only hope.

Scotty nodded and the two of them were silent as they both colored, Casper a calm presence next to him. He really hit the nail on the head with that... he really is brilliant. Casper seemed to read what Scotty was going for as he drew, picking up a few sharpies and setting them next to him. ...is he some sort of wizard? Scotty took the next hour and a half to just sort through his thoughts, overwhelmingly about the patient in front of him but also about the man next to him. His drawing looks really good, too. I didn't know he liked art. It took a few minutes for Scotty to relax and get used to being next to him, stiffening as Casper shifted one foot, his left leg coming over Scotty’s right, their shoes pressed against the other lightly. ...what... Scotty glanced up to Casper to see him with his head ducked low over his work, trying to get his hair to hide his blush. ...he really does give quite a few shits about me, doesn't he. Scotty let out a small sigh, relaxing again and letting it be, not missing the tiny smile on Casper's face. Eren had gotten up to 23 as the door creaked open about an hour That would be Spades… I’ll go get Eren’s food. “...I’ll be back with food for Eren, you should wake Lathe up to eat.” He slid his foot from Casper’s and stood up, turning to Spades to greet her.

Spades smiled at Scotty as he passed her, gently shutting the door behind her and walking up to Casper, her eyes bright, a large paper bag in her hands. “Hey Casper, I brought food for everyone, so...” She dug into the bag, pulling out a smaller one and handing it to him along with a bottle of water. “I hope you like grilled cheese.” She smiled knowingly, her eyes widening as she saw the growing pile of faces on the bed next to Eren. So many more… “You're doing a wonderful job, Eren.” She smiled reassuringly to him, gently patting his shoulder and picking up the papers, setting them out of the way on the table next to him. These all have full names, without occupations… We’ll have to be more careful with putting them through, then. I'll see if Lathe has another folder in his bag for them after we eat. She moved around the bed, gently shaking Lathe awake. “Come on Lathe, you need to wake up long enough to eat dinner, because I actually made food and I'm not letting this stuff go to waste.”

Lathe yawned widely, stretching his arms over his head, looking up to Spades quizzically. “Why’d you-” His words were cut off as she shoved a paper bag into his hands. Did you...?

“I made food. Eat. And you’d better like it.” Her eye glinted as she handed him a water bottle, moving to reclaim her seat on the other side of the bed, retrieving her own and setting the other two aside. One for Scotty, and... it’s wishful thinking really... But if Eren wants one... She looked up as Scotty returned with Eren’s formula, setting her own food down and moving to talk to him quietly as he set the formula on the table. “Scotty, I need to ask you something…” She glanced back to Eren, not wanting him to hear right away. [Is French okay for right now?] She sighed a bit as he nodded. [Before you feed Eren, I had to ask… Do you think he might be up to eating? Like, actually eating food? I know it was wishful thinking but I made a grilled cheese sandwich for him too just in case but I wanted to ask you before I tried to offer it to him…] ...maybe I'm just being too unrealistic... I have no way of telling right now, really...
Spades nodded, moving to retrieve one of the paper bags, stepping up to Eren. Lathe was already munching on his, looking at her with curiosity. Her voice was soft and quiet. “Eren, I made dinner for everyone, and I just wanted to know if you’d want a grilled cheese sandwich too? There the ones that Lathe makes too, with tomatoes… You don't have to have it if you don't want to, though…” ...

Eren looked over to Lathe already digging into his grilled cheese. They are the ones I like… Eren turned to Scotty. {Can I try it?} I wanna try it.

… He wants to try it? Of course! Scotty nodded with a smile on his face looking over to Spades. “Let's see how much he can eat.”

Spades smiled warmly to Eren, handing him the bag and reaching for a water bottle. “Don't worry if you can't finish it, that’s perfectly okay.” She went to sit down, returning to her sandwich. Let’s see how this goes.

Eren picked up the sandwich carefully examining it, his drawing abandoned for now. It is the same one… Eren slowly took the first bite… Picking up his sharpie to start to draw with his right hand, his sandwich secure in his left hand. I think I can eat it like this. Eren managed to finish both his drawing and his sandwich without making a mess.

That’s amazing… He actually ate something… I think we might be able to take the tube out.

[Lathe… If this keeps up… We can take the tube out.] Scotty had a smile on his face as he finished off his own sandwich getting up to put the formula back.

Lathe beamed, taking a small sip from his water bottle. [That’d be amazing if we really could. It’s a great step in the right direction, getting him to actually eat something, and getting it to continue could only get easier, really. Thank you, Spades.] Nice thinking. This could only get better!

Spades grinned at him, crumpling up her napkin and shrugging. [It’s… It’s nice to know he’s getting better.] She rose for a moment only to gather up the trash and throw it out, sitting back down after a moment. [Lathe, you were out for pretty much the entire time I was gone, I gather… So Casper, anything notable unfold while I was gone?] I refuse to be out of the loop on anything that’s going on.
Uhm, besides the fact I just might be getting somewhere with Scotty? Casper tossed her another sharpie, a smile of his face before his brow furrowed a bit. [Scotty and I took a look at his toxicology reports, showing an extremely high level of Ketamine which, because of when it was administered, we think could have distorted his memories of the gang rape and the abusive episodes… As in, thinking someone he knew was there when they really weren't. But we're not sure. We’ll have to wait and see who he keeps drawing for that. Also, um…] He held up one finger, quickly tapping away on his phone, speaking after a minute. [Well, we think we determined what gave Eren those horrible burns on his feet and back. I don't think you'd know this word in French; I didn't.] He showed Spades his phone, handing it to Lathe after her eyes went wide, taking it back from him after a second. [It’s the only thing that could explain how he got such a severe burn that shallow, so thorough even between his toes and… controlled as it was. It’s horrible… But he’s healing, so that’s good. No nerve damage, we think, which is always a good thing.]

[...Eren told me not too long ago that he could still feel me washing his back when we changed the wrappings, so his back at least hasn't suffered nerve damage… At least, not a lot. But he’s so worried because he doesn't feel much pain anymore.+] Lathe spoke quietly, his eyes worried. A blowtorch? His arms wrapped again around Eren’s waist, holding him tightly. ...that’s unthinkable…

[I’d chalk it up to just having an extremely high tolerance for pain. With some of the things Grisha had done to him… smaller amounts of pain must not even be a blip on the radar, and get ignored completely by his body. That’ll go away after a while, he’ll become more sensitive as time goes on without abuse or major incidents. All in due time.] ...now that Grisha’s gone, that shit won't happen anymore, and he’ll be better able to tell if anything’s wrong.

They settled into a comfortable silence, Casper and Spades decorating Eren’s casts as Lathe watched Eren draw. Spades stood after a while, picking up the stack of papers. “I should get going… It's late, a long drive back, and I'm expected to be a functional human being tomorrow.” She smirked, her smile fading as she studied the newest pile of faces. He’s got twenty-one more sheets for me… And he’s still going. “I’ll have these all put into the system, Eren. Good job.” She gave him a warm hug, pulling back after a moment to give Lathe a kiss. “You- remember to eat something tomorrow. And you-” She turned to Casper, giving him a fistbump. “Thanks for helping find the right medicines. And Scotty.” She turned to him, her eyes narrowed as she jerked a thumb at Lathe. “Do him a favor and hound him about eating for me, will you?” She chuckled, waving as she disappeared out the door. “I’ll see you all soon!”

Scotty nodded, watching her leave. ...it's getting really, really late… Lathe is staying here overnight, that's a given… Casper would have to drive two hours to get home, and then two back every time he needs to come back to work. “Okay, Uhm…” ...it'll be okay. He’s the sweetest thing alive- nothing awful will happen. You’ll live- and he knows how to cook, too. “... Casper, uhm, do- do you wanna come home with me? There’s plenty of room at my place… It is pretty late and you should stay close by for tomorrow… we should see how well the antibiotics work and see if we need to switch anything...” Hopefully his lungs won't fill over the course of the night… That would be terrifying. But I don't think I'll mind too much... if anything happens I'll set things straight... whatever that may come to mean at that moment.

Casper looked up in surprise, though he offered him a grateful smile and nodded, dragging over Lathe’s bag and letting his hair hide his reddened face as he replaced all the sharpies. “T-That sounds great, thanks.” He moved Lathe’s bag back within Lathe’s reach, looking up to him. He swallowed as Lathe gave him a knowing look and shot him a quick thumbs-up, which Scotty and Eren missed. “Uh… Remember that if anything seems off, don't hesitate to call us. I have my ringer turned on as loud as it will go. We won't miss it.” Casper stood, slinging his bag back over his shoulder, giving Eren a warm smile. “I'll see you tomorrow, Eren.”

Eren nodded, ripping off yet another sheet of paper and starting on 32. I wanna finish this...

...Good luck, kid. Lathe waved as Scotty and Casper left, trying to keep from nodding off in the dim room against Eren’s head, watching his sharpie drift over the paper. You should stay awake for awhile... Make sure that his lungs don’t start filling up with fluid again... But he’ll start wheezing again, which will wake him up, and he knows to wake you up if something’s wrong... Lathe drifted to sleep, only waking at the sound of Eren sobbing. He looked down to Eren’s last drawing, his eyes wide and full of shock. ...No... The ketamine... It...

Eren was sobbing as he wrote the 39th man’s name: Levi Ackerman, Marine. He hates me... I know he does. He thinks I’m ugly... I’m fat... I’m a whore... I’m a bitch to play with... He’ll never love me anymore... Eren continued to sob, his body shuddering as he tore it off and put it on the pile over the picture of Grisha. It’s done... I’m finally done.... Eren’s cries led him to drooling a lot, all over the place, he looked over to Lathe with tears in his eyes as his drool dribbled down to his chin and to his hospital gown, more streams following after the first. He hates me... I know he does... He told me so... He wanted me to die... He hit me....

Lathe reached blindly for a towel next to him, grabbing one and wiping away the drool and the tears, kissing Eren’s temple. I need to explain. “Eren, I need to explain something to you. Please don't cry. Levi wasn’t there when you were hurt and raped, it was a hallucination. The drugs Grisha gave you made you hallucinate, and let me reassure you that whatever you think Levi said or did, he didn't. It was all just the drugs making your mind play a trick on you. You might think he was awful to you, and you might find it hard to believe, but Levi loves you more than anything in the world. I can see it in the way he looks at you and in the times you two play footsie under the table and you think I don't notice and the way he smiles only when you're involved and how every other time I look at you two he’s decided to kiss you just because. He loves you Eren, adores you and I swear that with everything that happened with Grisha, Levi being there was not real. He would never do anything to you to make you feel bad about yourself, unloved or uncomfortable in your own skin. He’s so absolutely smitten, and it’s the cutest damn thing I’ve ever seen and you need to believe that. He’d tell you everything about why he loves you until he went red in the face and he’d barely make a dent in his list of reasons. Believe that.” You need to know that Levi loves you, and even with everything that’s happened, you two need to make this work.
Eren shook his head hurriedly. “...no..... lies....” Eren’s eyes looked so full of hurt and emotional pain. No... I know he hates me.... Grisha told me you would lie to me... Grisha’s always right. {Grisha said you would lie to me... He said you would! He was right about everything! I’m fat! I’m a whore! I’m a bitch to play with! Levi’s leaving me! He hates me! He’s gonna come back in a box.... Levi was there.... Then he left... Just like he did yesterday...} Eren broke down in sobs as he pulled away from Lathe to curl up to himself. All you tell me are lies.... Levi was there... I know he was...

...He can't come home in a box. He... He can't. Lathe shoved down the sense of dread that threatened to overwhelm him, gently reaching for Eren’s jaw and forcing him to meet his eyes. “Eren, tell me this because I don't understand. Why the hell would you trust someone who enjoys your pain to tell you the truth? How can you think that Grisha is right? ...Do you remember a really long time ago, what I said about learning to respect yourself? You need to know that no matter what’s happened to you before, you are always a person with dignity that deserves respect from everyone, especially yourself. And Eren, Levi was the one to shoot Grisha full of lead the instant he saw he was about to kill you. He was the one to call an ambulance and do everything in his power to keep you alive. I held him in my arms as he cried, worried sick that you weren't going to make it. He was with you every day that he could while you were in a coma, hoping beyond hope you would wake up. His leaving is only temporary, he’s leaving because he has to go back to college, but that does not mean that he doesn't love you. Eren, he loves you so damn much and it’s been killing him to know you don't believe it, and he’s going to do everything he can after he’s deployed to come home to you in one piece. So please, try to believe that.” Lathe let a tear run down his face, still keeping Eren’s gaze. Don't you fucking dare keep thinking Grisha was ever right. He told lie after lie to get what he wanted from you.

Eren looked down after a few moments of sobbing. {Then why did he hit me? Why did he tell me he’s never love me again? Why did he let other men rape me too? Why? Why did he do that?.... Why did he punch me? Why did he stab me? Why?...} Eren’s hands were shaking as he continued to sob. I want him to love me... But he can’t he told me so.... So many times. {Grisha said you hate me too… That you want me dead…. That you would’ve been better off getting married and having your own kids… Instead of having to deal with a useless musicrat murderer like me…. I don’t want you to hate me… I don’t want you to want to kill me.} No... I don't want you to hate me.... I want my Dad again... I want him back...

Lathe swallowed hard, unable to stop the tears from falling. He took in a shaky breath, rubbing Eren’s back soothingly, forcing his voice to stay even. “Eren, the drugs Grisha gave you, they made you think Levi was there. They forced you to think he was there, when he wasn’t. It was a hallucination. It wasn't real. The things that happened to you were real... But Levi wasn’t the one doing them. He was still states away, waiting to come home and see you. But he would never do or say those things. He loves you, and...” Lathe tried desperately to not break down. “and Eren, I love you too. I could never hate you, and I never want anything bad to happen to you. The way things have worked out, I don't think I could ever want anything other than having you as my son. You’re far from being useless. You’ve brought me and so many other people happiness. And please, stop blaming yourself for what happened to your mother. Everything that Grisha told you was wrong.
You're not useless, you're not a murderer, and you're not a burden. You're the most wonderful thing that's ever happened to me and I want you to know that. I just want you to be happy and feel safe. Really.” Lathe hugged Eren tightly, his head dropping onto his shoulder, sobbing. I don't know what I could have been doing now if I hadn't met you... And I don't think that whatever it could have been, if I'd have regretted this. I never could.

Eren let himself be hugged, sobbing right alongside Lathe, slowly moving to wrap his arms around Lathe’s back, his own head buried into Lathe’s neck, a small smile creeping into his face. Dad… He doesn’t want to hurt me… Does he? Eren’s grip on Lathe’s shirt tightened and he pressed himself against Lathe’s chest, enjoying the comfort of strong arms around him. “.....thank….you....” Eren’s voice was soft, and hoarse as it sounded near Lathe’s ear. Thank you…. For being my Dad again.

Lathe smiled, pecking his cheek and shifting so Eren was in his lap, leaning back against him. He settled so they were lying down, one hand coming up to run through his hair as his other stayed around his middle, his voice a low murmur near his ear. “...of course. We should get some sleep, okay? It’s been a long day.” We could both use the rest...

Eren nodded slowly, still crying pretty heavily into Lathe’s neck, but it died down as Eren finally fell asleep. His grip loosened only a little bit from Lathe’s shirt, drool already starting to puddle onto the shoulder below his face, his legs tangled with Lathe’s even in the casts. His face looked completely calm, and it was the first time Eren actually slept without a single nightmare coursing through his mind.
Chapter 40: Side Story 1: Scotty and Casper

Scotty sighed as he parked his silver sedan in his driveway, opening his door. “Come on, let’s go.” He motioned Casper to follow him up the steps of his two story home. Home… God, I haven’t been here in like... Three weeks.... Maybe more... Holy shit... He grabbed his keys out of his pocket and pushed open the door. “I’m gonna attempt to make pasta, that okay with you?” I mostly keep non-perishables here...

Casper followed him up to the house, thanking him as he held the door open, taking off his shoes and looking around a bit. ...you can tell you’re not home much... when was the last time you came back here? “Anything would be great, thank you. Need help, or can you and your Ph. D. handle boxed pasta?” Casper joked, his smile warm. I remember in college you excelled at everything- including burning water.

Scotty groaned, picking up a few boxes as they wandered into the kitchen. “I should probably be monitored, my Ph. D. is in surgery not cooking...” Scotty moved around to get the large pot they needed. I think this should work. Scotty filled it with water and set it on the burner. I think I can handle this much at least.

Casper quirked an eyebrow as Scotty stopped halfway through step one, staring at the pot with a furrowed brow, obviously not knowing where to keep going with it. I'll help. He set his bag on a chair at the table, padding over to the pantry and pulling out a jar of tomato sauce. “Here, let’s get the sauce going too.” He set the jar on the counter, patting Scotty’s arm. “Turn that burner with the water pot on high, okay?” He went to find a sauce pot, hunting for the correct drawers before locating a couple utensils. We'll need these. Casper looked back to Scotty, nodding to the jar of sauce. “Know how to deal with that?”

“Not really, I didn’t even know I had it…” Would you look at that… I have a semblance to actual food in my house.

Casper rolled his eyes, smiling good-naturedly. “Of course you didn't. Here, let’s begin with the basics.” Casper picked up one of the utensils, holding it up in front of Scotty, his expression serious. “Scotty, what is this?” If you don't know this ...

Scotty looked at the tool in Casper’s hand…. What the fuck is that? “I’m pretty sure it's used to scrape something…. Therefore let it be known as the scrapey thingy.”

Casper just looked at him, taking a deep breath, before answering him flatly. “...no. This,” He gestured to it. “Is called a spatula, however yes, it can and is used for scraping food out of things and into other things. So, here. Your first task—" Casper handed him the tool, pointing to the jar of sauce. “Try to get that, without making a mess,” He pointed to the saucepan. “-into that.” If you can manage. ...This'll be amusing.

Scotty looked between the two objects for a moment before he was able to appropriately use the utensil to help the sauce out and into the pan. That worked... Better than I expected it to.

...At least you didn't get any on your clothes. Casper went along with Scotty, helping him figure out how much salt to add to the water and how hot the sauce pot burner should be. Casper stood behind Scotty, one hand on the counter next to him and the other directing him on his other side to set a timer for things, remember to stir the pots, and check the penne noodles. Casper noticed that as he went on, with his light humor and warmth, Scotty relaxed, not even minding when Casper leaned against him to lift the lid of the saucepan occasionally. Casper decided to take a tiny chance, his arm moving from the edge of the counter to rest gently on Scotty’s waist, feeling him tense for just a moment before calming back down. ...is this really getting somewhere?

Scotty stressed a bit over the pasta and sauce pot, not used to cooking at all. At first, Casper's presence right behind him was sort of intimidating, though his calm voice and guiding directions helped him calm down, relaxing and watching over the food on the stove without much worry. ...he’s being so nice... he knows how to cook, and he’s not mad that I can't do it for my life by myself... he’s just so chill about all this. Scotty felt Casper’s hand drift to his side, nothing more than a steady presence, calming after a moment. ...it's just Casper. It's okay. You're okay. It's all okay. Scotty looked up as the timer beeped, following Casper’s direction to test the pasta. “...it tastes like pasta always does. I think it's done.” ... Pretty sure.

Casper himself tried a piece, nodding. “Yep, it is. So, let’s turn off that burner- let me do this part, you'll get burned.” Casper retrieved a pair of oven mitts, running cold water in the metal sink and putting the lid on the pot, holding it in place as he drained the pasta, steam curling up around his arms. Yep- this is how it's done. No way I'd let you burn yourself and dump out dinner trying it. He set it back on an unused burner, checking the sauce one more time and seeing it just beginning to bubble. That’s done too. “Scotty, can you get bowls out for the two of us? And silverware, please?” I dunno where most of the things in here are...

Scotty nodded, getting out bowls and forks for the both of them. I actually get to eat something that’s not purchased at the Canteen... Or bought on the way home... Thank you, God! Casper is a godsend at the moment! Scotty let Casper dish out their food, and moved to sit down at the small kitchen table. It could've gone worse I guess... And we didn’t make a huge mess... That's a plus.

Casper walked over with his own bowl, setting his bag on the floor and sitting across from Scotty at the small two-person table, eating quietly for a short while before speaking up a bit, giving Scotty a small smile. “It’s really good for a first try.” He nudged his foot under the table, not wanting to overstep anything.
Scotty tensed up a bit as he was nudged, his fork stopping for an instant before he picked it back up and ate the forkful. What’s he doing? I don’t want him to get the wrong idea or anything... Fuck this is harder than I thought it would be... I guess I’ll be taking the couch tonight... Oh well, still better than a cot. Scotty nodded at Casper’s words, agreeing with him. “It really is my first try... I don’t know why I even had the pasta in the first place...”

Casper drew his foot back to his side off the table, picking at his penne, chuckling a bit. “Never too late to learn, I suppose. We need to fix that.” Cooking is, oh, I dunno... kinda important.

Scotty chuckled a bit, stabbing into the pasta again. “That’s pretty funny... Why would I need to know how to cook when I haven’t left the hospital for 3 weeks...” *it’s like that a lot... Especially with the ICU position I have now... I’m no where near as free as I was back home... Home... I kinda want to go visit again... Maybe I should transfer back... I kinda miss it..."

Casper stopped his fork, looking at him in surprise. “Did you just say three weeks? As in three weeks of never leaving that hospital? Of nonstop stress and taking power naps on some cot?” ...what the actual fuck?! “Scotty, you're going to go mad doing that- or at least drive everyone else mad if the sleep deprivation turns you into the grouchy, which has happened, don't deny it.”...finals week was never fun... “My god, either you're already insane or they just won't stop mailing you solid gold bars.”

“Hmm... Just shy of solid gold bars... And I really haven’t left since Eren got his kidney transplanted... But I guess you could say I’m used to it now... I don’t really get that much sleep, but on occasion I’ll take the day off and recharge the whole day, pretty much sleeping it away.... Remember how I only drank coffee when I needed too? Well, coffee and I have become very good friends...” I used to hate it until college... But my sleeping habits are almost as bad as Levi’s apparently.

“Hmm, and let me guess- your idea of ‘on occasion’ is once every decade?” Casper just looked at Scotty for a moment, noticing the dark shadow under his eyes. “Scotty, that’s not good for you. You’d think being a doctor, you’d know that.” Casper gently nudged his foot a second time, standing with his empty bowl. “Are you done? I'll do dishes, and then we’re getting you upstairs to get some damn rest.” You need it...

Scotty nodded, standing up to take the dishes from Casper. “I’ll do the dishes, those I can at least do... And you can take the bed... I’ll take the couch down here.” I’m still not sure if I should sleep in the same room as you... He took the plates and took them to the sink, rolling up his sleeves and washing the dishes. “And I know it’s not really the greatest, but my body’s adapted over the past two years... I’m used to no sleep... So I usually can’t fall asleep anymore.” Sucks to be me.
...Bullshit. Casper let him take the dishes to the sink, though he insisted on drying them. “Scotty, all I know is that for your first time home in three weeks, I'm not going to force you to be subjected to the couch. You're sleeping in a bed. And you're going to get a half-decent amount of rest if it kills you.” Which it most certainly will not.

“I don’t want you to sleep on the couch though, that’s rude… You're a guest, you should get the bed…” Scotty handed him the dishes to be dried after he washed them all. I mean… I wouldn’t mind sleeping in my bed for once… But I probably won’t be able to sleep at all tonight…

“Well then, I guess we’ll just have to share it.” YAS. Casper was able to figure out where everything had come from, setting the bowls and forks away as Scotty stowed the pans. “Come on- you need to at least try.” Casper snatched up his bag and tugged Scotty by the arm to the staircase, letting go when Scotty led them up, turning off the downstairs lights as they went.

Scotty sighed, going up the stairs, letting Casper follow him. Well, there goes my plan to avoid an awkward situation… It's fine though… He’s okay, he’s just trying to let you rest.

Casper looked around the rather scarce bedroom....huh. You really can tell he's never around... ...should I just...? ...I think he can deal. Casper set his bag own on the side Scotty hadn't seemed to claim, shrugging of his jacket and setting it on his bag neatly, shortly followed by his button-up and jeans, leaving him in a white tank top and plain grey boxers. Casper hopped up onto the bed, stretching a bit before settling. ...comfy. I approve.

Scotty looked away as Casper stripped down to his boxers and tank top. Well… He’s not nude… That’s good… It took him a few minutes to unbutton his shirt and slacks, letting them fall to the floor. He stood there in just his boxers, unsure of what to do, but eventually pulling back the covers and slipping into his side of the bed. God… I don’t remember the last time I actually slept in this bed… Scotty just laid there, staring at the ceiling, wishing he could fall asleep. I wanna sleep... But I fucking can’t.

...he’s not going to fall asleep anytime soon, is he. Casper looked over to him, seeing how tensely he was holding himself and staring at the ceiling. “Scotty, you’re never going to fall asleep if you don’t just let yourself relax.”

Scotty shook his head. “I really can’t… I haven’t been able to fall asleep for a long time…” I’m not exhausted either… He let out a heavy sigh, turning his muscled back to Casper and laying on his side. I need to calm down... He’s not gonna do anything...

......should I…? Casper thought hard for a moment, deciding to go for it. He tentatively shifted, on his side behind Scotty and letting his hand rest on his side, pressing a feather-light kiss to his shoulder blade, his voice quiet. “......do you want me to help you with that?” Please don’t freak out...

Scotty tensed as Casper put a hand on his side, feeling a surge of blood run to his face and his ears as he blushed. “W-what…. Are you implying?” What the hell are you thinking...

Casper gently pulled Scotty onto his back, his arm over his stomach and holding his side lightly, looking up to him. “...would you trust me to show you?” You can say no if you really don’t want to... but I know you don’t think I’m serious... I really want to show you I meant it...

Scotty only had a look of confusion on his face as Casper draped an arm over his bare skin. What the hell?.... Well, it can’t be that bad… Can it? “Alright...” He let his body relax, letting Casper move around him, and watching him with confused eyes.

Thank you. “If you want me to stop…” Casper lightly pecked his shoulder. “-just say the word.” You sound like you don’t know what you’re getting yourself into... Casper moved so one of his knees was between Scotty’s legs, giving him leverage over him as he leaned down to gently kiss and lick at Scotty’s neck, conscious both of leaving no marks and of Scotty’s immediate reaction.

Scotty let Casper move around him, feeling him kiss at his neck. ....What is he doing?... Is he... No he can’t be... He’s my friend... He wouldn’t try to do that, would he? Scotty closed his eyes to try and get his mind out of the gutter, letting Casper do whatever the hell he was doing.

Casper switched to kiss at the other side of his neck, his hand slowly drifting to the hem of Scotty’s boxers. He tried to gauge Scotty’s reaction as he brushed the hem, still not thinking he had caught on yet. Casper slowly kissed his way down Scotty’s chest, looking up to him as he reached his lower half. “...Scotty...” Casper let one hand play with the hem of his boxers. “...may I?” I really don’t want to do this if you don’t... that'd just be wrong...

Scotty watched him, his eyes following Casper’s hands as they played with the hem of his boxers. Does he think I’ll sleep better with them off or something? “S-sure....” Scotty gave him permission, yet his face gave away that he was completely clueless in the matter.

...you really are a dense motherfucker. Let’s see if this makes it click... Casper nodded, pressing light kisses to his stomach as he pulled them down and off, still leaving them close if Scotty suddenly stopped him. Casper trailed down to his half-hard length, watching Scotty’s expression through lidded eyes as he licked a long stripe up the underside of his length. ...get it now?
Scotty’s eyes widened as he felt Casper’s tongue on his length, feeling it twitch in response……
What the fuck!?! “Casper! What the hell are you doing?” Scotty almost instantly moved away from him, his length starting to get hard from just that small touch… fuck, I’m hard now…

Casper let him scramble away from him, looking away in shame, his face burning. ...I shouldn’t’ve… “......S-Scotty, I just…” He swallowed hard, trying again, his expression one of guilt. “...I didn't exactly plan this if that's what you were thinking… I… I knew you didn't think I was serious w-when… when I told you I loved you at Thanksgiving forever ago… I still really, really do, and it killed me to not put up a fight when you wanted to transfer, but that wouldn't be right, to stop you from doing what you wanted… I… I guess I just wanted to do something to prove it… that I love you… I just wanted to make you feel wanted… but I guess I misread everything.”
Casper rubbed at the tears prickling at his eyes. “...look, if you want to kick me out and never see me again… I'll understand. ...I deserve it.” ...what was I thinking...

Scotty watched Casper as he started to cry, feeling guilty as all hell…. God, I hate seeing him cry. “Alright… Fine… One night… Then no more…” I don’t want to kick you out… That would be rude… And you’re the one who fucking got me hard...

...okay. ...then... then I'll let it go. “...Okay.” I'll take good care of you, for what I've got left… “Still, if I overstep anything… tell me.” Casper leaned forward to bring Scotty back so his head rested again on the pillows, kissing again down his chest, his hands running down his sides and his hips as he came back to his length, kissing the tip before taking it into his mouth, suckling on it and bobbing his head, going progressively further and further down his length.

Scotty watched Casper with hooded eyes as he groaned. Fuck it… “Ca… Casper… Ha, Shit...” His hand moved to grab his hair, tugging at it in bliss as Casper continued to suck on him. Holy fuck, it feels sooo good...

Casper kept his eyes on Scotty’s expressions, letting him grab at his violet hair and humming on his length, soon reaching the base of his length, his tongue pressed flat against the underside. You sound wonderful… He continued to bob his head, his hands keeping Scotty’s hips from jerking up too much.

Scotty continued to moan, getting progressively louder as Casper continued with him. Holy fuck… “Casper… I’m… I can’t… Haa...” Scotty's toes curled up as he felt his coil beginning to snap. Holy shit...

Casper pulled up on his length, suckling his tip and playing with the slit at Scotty’s words. Casper let Scotty release, struggling a bit to swallow his large load, only a tiny drop escaping from the corner of his mouth, though he licked that up as he came up off of Scotty’s length. ...I don't really expect you to repay anything… you're letting me do the work… but I need to ask. “Scotty… you can say no, but…” Casper looked up to him, his hands holding his sides lovingly as he spoke. “...can I have you?” I don't know how else to ask and not make you possibly freak...

Scotty thought about it for a second. “Y-yeah… That’s fine… I don’t have any lube though…” I really am not prepared at all for this...

Casper nodded, his head dipping down to let his mouth wander over his chest, finding and gently nibbling at any sensitive spot he came across. I want to make you feel really good… “...what about condoms?” I don't know where you keep your shit in this house… or if you have any… I planned on nothing so I don't have any...

“The night stand…. I can get Vaseline… If we need it.” I'm not necessarily sure what the hell you need.

“That would probably be the best… could you?” I don't want to hurt you or make this uncomfortable… Casper let Scotty get up to retrieve Vaseline from the bathroom, opening the nightstand and snatching a foil wrapper from inside. He get rid of his tank top while he was at it, though he left his boxers on for the moment. Casper leaned forward as Scotty came back, wrapping one arm around his waist and pulling him back into bed with him, helping him settle again. Casper opened the lid of the small container, swiping some onto his fingers and massaging it a bit to warm it up. He set the container aside, going to kiss at Scotty’s neck as his hand rested waiting near Scotty’s entrance. “Whenever you're ready, Scotty.”

Scotty took another deep breath, letting Casper kiss wherever he wanted. I'm actually gonna let him do this... He nodded, looking at Casper with hazy eyes. I'm assuming you know what you're doing...

Casper nodded, pressing his first finger past the ring of muscle and feel up Scotty’s soft walls, feeling him tense around him. He leaned up to murmur in his ear. “Scotty, you've gotta relax…” Casper kissed at the spot below his ear, nibbling at his soft skin as he felt a faint shiver run through him.

Scotty tried his best to relax as much as possible. It feels so weird… What the hell am I doing? Scotty closed his eyes, trying to relax himself more. “I’m trying…”

Casper nodded, waiting a moment before pushing his second finger past his entrance, his other hand still giving him leverage above him as licked and kissed at his neck across to his collarbone.
He waited a long moment for Scotty to adjust before he started to slowly thrust in and out, searching for his prostate before scissoring him. You're still so tense...

Scotty took a deep breath, feeling better after a few minutes, the burning sensation of being stretched starting to fade. He let out a loud cry as he saw stars, feeling Casper’s fingers graze his prostate. “Ngh… Casper… There…” That felt really good… Holy fuck…

Casper smirked against his skin, teasingly grazing that same spot a few more times before adding his third finger, steadily thrusting in and out of Scotty. You didn't think anything like this would feel good- having second thoughts? Casper gave it another long moment, letting Scotty adjust again before drawing his hand out of him, moving to ditch his boxers and open the condom, rolling it on and lubing up with more Vaseline. He lined himself up with Scotty’s entrance, his hands holding his sides and looking up to him, silently asking for permission. Whenever you're ready.

Scotty took a few seconds, looking up to Casper with lust filled eyes. Fuck… It feels good… I kinda… I kinda want more. He nodded, moving his hips a bit against Casper, hoping that it’d help him relax a bit.

Casper’s eyes darkened seeing the lustful look Scotty was giving him, slowly pushing into Scotty, his head dropping into the crook of his neck as he buried himself to the hilt, unable to keep from letting out a long, quiet moan. You… you feel really, really good… Casper stilled, waiting for Scotty’s cue to continue.

Scotty grabbed the sheets under him as he was filled with Casper’s length. Holy shit… It feels like he’s gonna break me… Scotty lifted an arm up and grabbed his hair, pulling his head up from his neck and moving to kiss him hotly. Make me forget the stretch… Make me forget everything…

Casper was stunned as Scotty pulled him up to kiss him, melting into it and letting his eyes slide shut, kissing him passionately and letting a single tear fall from his eye. Please… I don’t want this to be the only time I get to have you.. Casper tilted his head and swiped his tongue across Scotty’s lips, his tongue tangling with Scotty’s as he was granted entrance. ...I really, really, really want this… you, to be mine… Casper’s hands wandered over Scotty’s chest, feeling more free to explore and after a short while he drew back and thrusted again into him, beginning a steady rhythm and quietly moaning into his mouth. ...so good…

Scotty’s arms wrapped around Casper’s torso, pulling him close as Casper started his slow pace. “C-Casper… Ngh… More… Please…” Shit… It feels really good… He keeps touching that spot.. It feels so good… Don’t stop…
Casper shuddered hearing Scotty’s voice, speeding up his pace before he was steadily thrusting deeply into Scotty, aiming for that one spot that made him go crazy. Casper broke their kiss, murmuring next to his ear. “S-Scotty, please… let me hear you…” Casper let one hand wander further south, teasing his quickly hardening length before taking it in hand, slowly and firmly pumping it. I want to know how good you feel...

Scotty’s back arched up off the mattress, his moans getting louder as Casper asked for it. Holy fuck.... Scotty scratched at his back, his legs coming to push his hips further into him. *I need you.. It feels so good... Holy shit...!

Casper took the hint and was soon pounding into him, aiming for his prostate and hitting it dead on, twisting his hand as he pumped Scotty’s own length. He couldn't help himself as he ducked his head down to suckle at his collarbone, leaving a single small dark mark that could easily be hidden. He whimpered as Scotty scratched at his back, feeling his own coil beginning to tighten. “S-Scotty… nngh… I’m not gonna… ha… last much longer...” *It’s so much ...

Scotty could barely nod as he felt that familiar warmth pool in his abdomen as Casper hit his prostate dead on. *Holy crap, it feels... So good ... Better than anything I’ve felt before...

Casper’s pace grew a bit erratic as he neared his climax, gasping and letting out a long, loud moan into Scotty’s neck as he released, still going and pumping Scotty’s length with firm, long strokes, wanting to drive him over the edge, looking up to watch his expression. ...*you're so amazing ... I want to see you come undone...

Scotty’s expression quickly changed to one of extreme bliss. His coil snapped as he came all over his chest and Casper’s hands, his mouth opening wide and letting out a huge cry of bliss and ecstasy. Holy crap... “Casper...” His voice was small as his body slumped underneath the man above him, his legs coming off from around him and his arms dropping from his shoulders. My body feels like jello.

Casper drew out of him, lapping up his release from his chest and hands, tying off the condom and dropping it into the wastebasket next to his bed, collapsing next to him. He panted, though he still shifted up, his hand on his cheek as he kissed him chastely. Thank you. He pulled away, looking to him, his eyes full of love and happiness, though there was a spark of fear. ...is this really it for me? ...is it over? “S-Scotty, I......” I really, really love you... and I'm terrified. Casper couldn't bring himself to say anything else, his arm slung over Scotty’s chest and burying his face into his shoulder, trying not to sob. *I can't lose you.... I can’t ...

Scotty wrapped a loose arm around his waist, pulling Casper close and pulling up the sheets around them. “Get some sleep… We gotta wake up early…” *I'm tired ... we can talk in the morning...
Casper nodded, trying to calm down as Scotty’s arm wrapped around him. whichever way this goes… at least I have you now. Casper drifted to sleep, willing himself to be calm, his sleep dreamless.
Chapter 41: The First Attempt

Scotty woke up as his alarm went off, groaning as his phone blared. Fuck... My hips are sore... His eyes widened as he remembered what he let Casper do to him last night. ... That wasn't a dream... Holy fuck... I let him fuck me... Goddammit... Scotty looked to the empty bed around him, his brow furrowing, but he got up and got dressed, making his way downstairs, stopping. For a minute as he smelled food coming from downstairs. Casper? His steps quickened to the kitchen where he saw Casper making breakfast for the two of them.

Casper looked over his shoulder from where he was at the stove, already fully dressed and cooking breakfast, the mess on the counter very well contained. He gave him a small smile, wary of what he was going to say or do. “G’Morning, Scotty... I woke up early, went and got us stuff to make breakfast. Pancakes and bacon okay?” You already had pancake mix, and everybody likes bacon, so.... please interpret this as the peace offering it is.

Scotty nodded. “That sounds good.... We need to eat quick though... Eren’s gonna wake up soon and I gotta feed him...” I don’t want to say anything about last night.... I wanna forget that it happened at all...

Casper nodded, soon handing him a plate and nudging him to the table, silverware already set out along with maple syrup and butter, a mug of coffee waiting for him. Casper came over with his own plate and mug shortly after, sitting across from him and trying to eat, picking at his food for a tense minute before he stopped, still staring at his plate, sounding broken. “Scotty, I'm just going to skip straight to the point. This... this isn't going to happen ever again... is it.” You've already made it obvious you don't want to speak about it or remember it happened. Just tell me so I can be heartbroken in peace without it hovering over my head.

Scotty looked up from his plate sighing. “Can we not talk about this now? I don’t want to think about this right now, let me think about it and I’ll talk to you about it later.” I really just wanna set to work, and put my mind to something...

...he'll think about it... but he doesn't sound like he's about to say yes anytime soon... “...okay. I'm sorry, I won't bug you about it.” Casper sipped at his mug of coffee, having lost most of his appetite. ....was this all a mistake...? They both picked at their food in silence, Casper getting up first to do the dishes and clean up the mess from the counter quickly. ....we do need to get going soon...
Eren’s nose had started to bleed all over again that night, and the oxygen tube was starting to fill with it along with his clothes. His eyes were groggy, his whole body hot as he laid there in Lathe’s arms, blood pooling everywhere.

Lathe blinked awake as he felt something run over his hand, looking down and gasping as he saw blood everywhere. Fuck. Lathe immediately got out from under Eren, grabbing a damp towel from the sink and mopping up the blood with one hand as he moved the oxygen tube from his face and pressed gauze to his nose with the other. Shit… you lost a lot…

Eren let Lathe move him around, feeling him press the gauze to his nose as he bled heavily. He had blood all over his face, the blankets around him, Lathe’s hands and even his pillow. The blood had also managed to run down the oxygen tubes as well, blocking the oxygen from entering his nose, and depriving him of oxygen for who knows how long. I feel hot… And exhausted…

Lathe cleaned off his hands and everything as best as he could, trying to get Eren to hold the gauze in place and failing, having to try to unclog his oxygen tube with one hand before the blood flow finally stopped, able to focus on getting the tubes cleared… which didn’t work. Lathe was struggling with it until Scotty came in a few minutes later, sighing in relief as he saw him.

“Mornin’ Scotty- Eren had a nosebleed again, this oxygen thingy got clogged. I don't know where to get another one.” He looked behind Scotty, seeing Casper and smiling to him, though his face fell as he saw the obvious brokenness in his smile. “Are you okay? Need someone to talk to? +You don’t look okay, and if this is what I think it is… you'd be the one needing someone to talk to more.*

Scotty moved to get a different tube out for Eren, giving him the proper oxygen he needed. Alright, that should work for right now. He looked over to Lathe and Casper talking about something in another language foreign to him. … I bet that’s Russian… Probably.

+Yeah… I fucked up… I really fucked up this time… I… I can’t believe I actually did that… Lathe, what if he doesn’t want to see me anymore? What happens if he does want to talk to me anymore… What if I can’t see him anymore? + Casper moved to sit down at the table, trying not to let the tears pricking in his eyes overflow… I can’t…

Eren let Scotty move him around, not having the strength to fight him off, his breathing ragged as he was sat up. He weakly closed his eyes as Scotty put a cold stethoscope on his chest, listening to him breathe. He started as Scotty removed the stethoscope and ran out of the room, a worried look on his face. What?…. Where’s he going?

Lathe looked up from where he had joined Casper at the table, both of them looking up as he darted out of the room. “What the hell happened?” Where the fuck did he go? What's wrong?
Eren’s breathing was ragged as he struggled more to take in air. I can’t fucking breathe… My head hurts…

...

"his lungs are filling again. “His lungs. The pneumonia.” Casper and Lathe looked at each other with wide eyes before standing, going to Eren and getting his attention, trying to keep him awake and calm until Scotty came back with a respiration kit. Lathe looked up as Scotty came back into the room, setting up a different sort of kit. “...the fuck is that?” It looks different. Lathe’s eyes widened as he saw the huge needle in the kit. “... oh. … Well fuck. Lathe understood somewhat what needed to happen, having Casper help him shift Eren so he was sitting up and moved to where Scotty could get at his back, finding Eren’s hand and gripping it as Scotty got everything ready. ...you're not going to like this.

Scotty worked quickly to clean up and sanitize the area around where he would need to cut him open. I don't like that I need to do this to him with his back like this… Scotty got a scalpel out, and cut a small incision in his back. He got the large needle ready to put in near the incision. “Hold him still.” He told them, waiting for them to hold him. Eren hasn’t even flinched yet.

Lathe and Casper both stood on either side of Eren, holding a shoulder and one of his hands, trying to keep him still and calm. Lathe nodded to him after they had a good hold on him, murmuring soothingly to Eren as Scotty began.

Scotty felt his gut wrench as he stuck the needle into Eren’s back, attaching it to a syringe and beginning to suck out the bloody liquid. He didn’t even flinch at all… he looks so pale…. Scotty watched in shock as Eren’s nose started to bleed heavily yet again. This is bad, he’s losing too much blood. He put the tube into another jar and it gave the amount of liquid they were draining from him. We're already at a 1000 cc’s… this… I’ve never seen this before.

Casper reached for Lathe’s bag, pulling out another wad of gauze and pressing it to Eren’s nose an instant after Lathe moved the oxygen from his nose. Fuck, not good. He noticed Eren’s eyelids beginning to flutter, seeing him nearly begin to sway in their hold. Oh no fuck that. “Eren, come on kid, stay awake for us. It's really important that you do- we need you to stay with us.” Casper managed to stay completely calm, trying to get and keep Eren’s attention. “Scotty, how much more do you have to go?” Hopefully not too much more.

Scotty shook his head. “I gotta drain his other lung too… That one’s full… He’s… He almost drowned again…” Scotty moved to get another incision, and put in another large needle to start draining his other lung. God…kid, how can you not flinch at this?? He’s not even making a noise… “you need to keep him awake…” if he falls asleep… I can’t say what’ll happen…
Eren could barely keep his eyes open but managed to look up to Lathe and look into his eyes with a fearful gaze. I... It hurts... I can’t breathe...

Lathe tried to keep Eren’s attention, speaking to him quietly and evenly. “Eren, I know it hurts, and I know it must hurt to breathe right now, but you need to just stay calm and not panic. This is going to be over soon enough, we’ll get you the medicine and everything that you need, and you’ll feel much, much better, okay? Now just stay awake for me, that’s all you need to do.” Come on- it’ll be done soon.

Eren managed to stay awake while his lungs were drained, whimpering a majority of the time. I want it to stop. He took a deep breath and began to cry as Scotty pulled the large needles out of his back and bandaged him. That fucking hurt...

Lathe helped Scotty bandage him up, helping Eren to lay back down and murmuring quiet praises as Scotty got his IV going again. “You did a great job, Eren- we’re getting you something now to make the pain go away. Just give it a minute, it’s okay.” Lathe wiped away his tears as Scotty finished the IV drip, sighing in relief as Eren seemed to calm as the medicine took effect. ...better. Lathe ruffled his hair, drifting back from him and back over to Casper as Scotty hunted for another oxygen tube, sitting him back down. “...look, I don’t remember much Russian... do you need to go somewhere else and talk, or...?”

“I... I just... I wish that I didn’t fuck it up...” Casper sighed putting his head in his hands. I really... I can’t lose him.

Eren listened to their conversation quietly as he held onto Lathe’s shirt sleeve, wanting to hold onto him. I don’t want you to leave... I don’t want to be left alone... They’ll drug me... And cut me open again... No... I don’t want to...

Lathe looked to Casper helplessly as Eren refused to let go of his sleeve, sitting down on the edge of the bed and pulling Casper over by the arm to sit next to him, trying to comfort him and murmuring to him so that only he could hear. “I guess all you can do is hope for right now... I know how much he means to you... if at any point something happens, you can always tell me, okay? I wouldn’t breathe a word of it to anyone.” If you don’t even know, and you’re this torn up... what did you do?

Casper nodded, looking up as Scotty came into the room. He’s acting like nothing happened... What am I supposed to do?

Scotty looked to Eren, “How do your legs feel, Kid?” I hope I’m right about this... I think it may have happened again…

Eren looked over to Scotty with a confused look, looking up to Lathe in confusion. Why is he asking me how my legs feel?

Eren took his hands and started to form a few letters. S.T.I.F.F. They feel really weird in the casts now. I don’t know why… He made a small noise of discomfort as he tried to move his toes, able to move them all and feel Scotty poking at them, and letting out a high pitched garble as he pulled his toes away. What the fuck is he doing to my toes??

Casper reached out to shoo Scotty away from his toes, noting Eren’s discomfort. “Scotty, stop that, you're weirding him out. We can figure out how his legs are doing if we just get him in for an x-Ray.” That’ll be a lot easier on Eren’s sanity so he doesn't have to figure out whether or not you're a threat to his limbs.

Scotty nodded, moving out of the room to go get a bed from the hallways. “Alright, time to get another X-Ray, Kid.” I hope I’m right…

Eren looked to Lathe, knowing he needed to switch to the bed Scotty brought in. Are there gonna be those people again?? I don't wanna go!

Why are you panicking? ...oh yeah, yesterday didn't go too smoothly. “It’s alright Eren, everyone’s much more prepared to deal with any reporters. And we have some extra backup right off the bat.” He nodded to Casper. “We've got you.” We’ll keep away anyone we don't want around.

Eren nodded, and let the three of them move him downstairs and get him to the X-Ray table without incident. He allowed Scotty to move the machine around to get the proper view, and he relaxed, knowing he wasn’t allowed to move. Why am I here again?

Scotty motioned the others back to the monitors in the back of the room, allowing the machine to fire up and take the shot and what he saw… He didn’t understand. They’re completely healed… They were broken… Yesterday! “Lathe… They’re… They’re not broken… What the hell… I think… I think I was… Oh my god… I was right…” His body is healing himself… How? How does he do that? Can he control it? There’s so many things I wanna test…

Casper looked at the screen as Scotty pulled up yesterday’s x-rays and today's. … That’s… That’s impossible! A full break can’t heal like that!

Lathe covered his mouth in shock, studying the x-ray. That’s… that's not normal. His voice was a shocked whisper. “How in the…” Lathe looked back to Eren. “How do you do that…?” That's impossible… but… you did it… are you trying to do that, or does it just… happen?

Eren looked at Lathe in fear as he asked. What did I do? What are you asking me? He knew he had to stay still. Scotty’ll get mad at me… Why are you mad at me too?

Lathe shook his head as he saw Eren’s fear, holding up his hands and revealing a disbelieving smile. “No no Eren were not mad or anything, that’s amazing. It’s weird and slightly terrifying, but it’s amazing that you can do that! Don’t be scared! …Your legs are somehow completely healed! That's amazing!” HOW?

Eren looked at him and nodded, watching as Lathe spoke. So can I get the casts off? He watched as Lathe was pulled back towards the monitors.

Scotty came back out and repositioned the machine to get a picture of his chest. I think I saw… No they couldn’t’ve grown back… Bones don’t do that… “Stay still Eren.” He went back and took he another x-day of his chest. He gasped as he saw the image pop up. “Th-that’s… That’s impossible.” He hurriedly looked up more pictures from Eren’s file to compare them. 12 ribs… Had turned into 20. No fucking way.

Lathe gasped at the new image. “…Bullshit. Did he…” Lathe stepped up close to them. “He was missing eight of them. Where the hell did they come from, bones don’t do that!” Lathe sounded incredulous. What the actual fuck? I mean, that's awesome… but what the fuck?!!

Casper stared intensely at the x-rays, his thoughts racing at this new information. …*you healed your arms in record time… then your legs in barely a day… and now you went and grew back the half of your ribs that had been shattered and taken out… at this rate, we should be surprised you didn’t grow a new kidney before they had the chance to do the surgery. But as for an explanation… there isn’t one. “…we should go see how his lungs and kidney are doing… see if anything there changed too.” One hundred bucks he grew back some other organ… like his other kidney. …it sounds just crazy enough to be true.
Eren seemed to shrink as he heard them all talking about his situation. Why am I so different from everybody else…? Why… Am I gonna be a new test subject? Eren started to cry. I don't want to be a science experiment again… And i'm gonna be one now aren't I? Eren moved to his side and struggled to curl up to himself… I wanna hide…

Lathe looked over as Eren shifted around, realising how they sounded. We're all talking as if we can't wait to open him up and see how he works… crap. Lathe moved to the table, moving aside the machine and carding his hand through Eren’s hair, trying to calm him. “Eren, hey, please don't cry… we’re just shocked that this is what it is. You can do something amazing and we’re excited about that, because if whatever you do can be replicated it could help hundreds of thousands of people. But that doesn't mean we’re turning you into a science experiment. It’s not as if we’re going to break something and then stare at it as it heals. No no no, nothing like that.” Lathe pecked his forehead as he sobbed, wiping away his tears. “Listen, Eren, Scotty has his blood samples from you already. He needed them to do blood tests anyway, and that’s what we have now to work with. But we're not going to do anything at all if you're not okay with it. For right now, we’re going to get these casts off of you, then get you an MRI to see how your- or should I say my- kidney is doing, how your lungs are holding up, and if there's anything going either not well or great, okay?”

You're fine. Don't worry.

Eren looked at him and nodded, sniffling as he tried to curl up to Lathe. He let Scotty come close to take his casts off, thankful he could pull his legs under him and curl up to himself now.

Casper helped steer the bed out into the hall and to the elevator to the second floor, trying to coax Eren out from his little ball as they reached the room with the MRI equipment. “Come on Eren, you need to do as the technician says and lay flat for this. We’re just one room over; you'll be fine.” We need to see how your body is doing.

Eren nodded and laid flat on the equipment. I wanna get this over with. Eren closed his eyes taking in a deep breath. I'm okay… I'll be okay…

Scotty, Casper, and Lathe stood waiting for the results of the imaging. I really hope it’s what I think it is… Cause then he can be transferred down to a regular room. Scotty watched as a few of the images came in, smiling as he saw no liquid, or other signs of Pneumonia. That’s a good start.

...if I had actually bet something… I'd be a hundred bucks richer. Casper went up to the image, pointing to a certain spot and turning to the two of them. “What is this?” Oh I know exactly what it is- you two just wouldn't look for it otherwise and notice.

Scotty leaned forwards to inspect the screen. That’s… “His missing kidney… Lathe… Here’s yours… Wasn’t this one removed?” He asked, pointing to the other kidney on the screen. This is unbelievable…

Lathe nodded, his eyes wide as he approached the screen. “Yeah, that one's mine… it’s completely healed in place and connected… he grew back his other kidney.” Lathe cringed a bit as he remembered his pieces of kidney floating in jars. Dammit, that was horrible… and he took part of his liver too, a lot of it… wait. Lathe looked to his liver. “His liver is the right size, too. He’d had a big piece of it removed, and it was taking it’s time growing back the last I knew…” ...what the actual hell?

“He grew back his kidney and the rest of his liver, he recovered from pneumonia faster than you can snap your fingers… My God, how does he do it?” Casper ran one hand through his hair, staring at the images in shock. “...Scotty, I heard Lathe say you already had Eren’s blood for testing. You need to have those techs test the shit out of those samples. There is something really weird and slightly scary and miraculous going on and we need to know what it is. If whatever you find could be replicated…” Casper’s hands fell to his sides, shaking his head in disbelief and looking to the two of them. “There would be so many people who wouldn't have to suffer or die before their time.”

Scotty looked down at his pager, hearing it go off. “Lathe, can you manage taking him upstairs? … I wanna take Casper down to the lab with me, they got some results.” I wanna see what the hell is going on for this to happen…

Lathe nodded, sending Casper a reassuring look before going back to retrieve Eren and wheel him back upstairs. ...I swear to fucking god, if they come back upstairs and Casper looks like he’s gotten his heart smashed and has been crying I'm going to drag Scotty somewhere I can knock some fucking sense into him. He got Eren back upstairs without incident and into bed with his oxygen, giving him his phone and earbuds while he still scratched out more figures all over his notebook.

Eren looked over to Lathe, moving to try and grab him, but Lathe was too occupied with his notebook. Why won’t you hold me? Eren moved the oxygen away from his nose, shifting to swing his legs over the edge of the bed, trying to put his foot down to walk and having it instantly give out. Fuck…

Lathe looked up as he saw Eren beginning to stumble from the bed, immediately dropping his notebook and pen to catch him before he hit the floor. “Whoa, chill. You can't just expect to walk like normal-” Lathe lifted him back onto the bed. “After a good two months of not being on your feet at all. ...we probably should get you acquainted with walking again, though. Wanna give it a go?” I'd be here as your crutch- anything to get you back to how you were before.
Eren nodded, looking to Lathe with weary eyes. I wanna try... But it feels really weird. I really wanna stop being a nuisance...

“Don't you worry- I'm right here.” Lathe brought one of Eren’s arms over his shoulders, his hand supporting Eren’s other side and leaning down a bit so he could step down. He was particularly careful of the cuts on Eren’s body that hadn't healed yet, trying not to hurt him. “Baby steps- go ahead, step down. I'll catch you; don't be afraid to lean on me.” You've got this.

Eren nodded, leaning down to step on the floor. He whimpered as he put his full weight on his feet, his hand tightening its grip on Lathe’s shirt. Why does it still hurt??

Lathe looked to him, worried as he whimpered. “It’s either the fact the skin on your feet isn't back completely, or it’s the muscle deficiency from not being on them for a solid two months. I'd say the latter. . .look, I'm not going to make you suffer. Up you go-” Lathe lifted him back onto the bed. “…until I get you some morphine so we can work on that and not have it hurt like hell, alright?” Lathe disappeared for not twenty seconds a few feet down the hall until he came back with more morphine, adding some to his IV. “Alright kid, let's try that again.” Lathe held Eren up again, helping him take his first steps in weeks.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Scotty came back upstairs without Casper, and he just shrugged and said he’d gone the other way when they’d gotten off the elevator. It wasn't hard to find him; if you got close enough you could hear the sobbing and the Russian swearing. He was so thoroughly shattered, it took an hour for him to stop crying. I was ready to punch Scotty’s face in after that. But... I didn't. I went back up and somehow saved the yelling until I got him in some random empty break room but he told me what happened and he hadn't been an asshole about it, so I didn't maul him. Surprisingly. I just hope he knows what he’s missing out on and hops off the crazy train the next chance he gets. I reminded him of some stuff- Hopefully it’ll bring him back to his senses. Our new favourite OTP aside, things for the past week having been going... there is no word for it, really. Eren isn't walking right now because we can't have him stumbling and breaking something else while he’s still so fragile, and not all of his cuts are healed yet, so. He’s not in the ICU anymore, which is a good change. He’s still in a private room, but he’s doing somewhat better. Spades managed to get that guy they tracked down to crack, and now they’ve got a few more guys behind bars accountable for some of the stuff that happened in Eren’s case. . .He’s also picked up the odd and frankly creepy habit of licking me and Spades on pretty much any of or exposed skin... I've woken up to him licking my cheek like it's no ones business. ...I swear though, seeing him licking Spades is just fucking weird because he's my son, but at the same time that's my fiancée but I can't just tell him to step off because it's his mom but you don't do that to your mom and it's supposed to be a temporary sensory thing but I would appreciate it being over soon. Although, Scotty had it worse- he bit him again. Thankfully he didn't break the skin, but he bit him nonetheless. No one besides the three of us can get too close to him anymore. . .understandably enough, Casper isn't around in person anymore. He left after that... incident... and read over everything electronically. He sends his notes all the time though. We’re still trying to figure out what the weird readings from the blood tests mean. ...oh, Eren's off of the feeding tube, and actually eating stuff! ...well, he's still hella picky... and there's plenty he can't have or that isn't right for him... and he might end up pitching all of it back up most of the time and is getting really skinny which isn't too good... but he’s voluntarily eating, so... yay? But it's pretty much official he’s now selectively mute. Can't get a peep out of him no matter how many bad jokes you tell him. ... all things in due time, I suppose.

Eren watched as Scotty came in and gave him another shot of morphine. That... That's like 15 now... That should do it right? It'll help... Dad won’t have to worry about me... And he’ll be able to have his own family....

Lathe was lightly dozing on Eren’s shoulder, it still being very early in the morning, looking up as Scotty came in and lazily waving hello to him, mumbling something about coffee before going to back to sleep. No time like the present to catch up on a few weeks of sleep deprivation....

Eren watched him leave before he moved his arm to let out the kink in his IV, feeling the overly cool liquid enter his system. Good bye, Dad... I’m gonna go be with Mom now....

Lathe was woken with a start after a minute by the blaring machines, looking to the screens and seeing Eren’s heart rate dropping fast. Fuck. Lathe stepped out from under him, hitting the red emergency button to call someone to help, not sure of what to do. He looked up to see Eren completely calm, his expression not changing at all. “Eren?! Eren, are you awake? Eren!” Lathe shook his shoulder, praying that help would arrive. What the fuck am I supposed to do?!

Scotty came in after only a few more seconds, his eyes widened as he saw Eren seemingly peaceful, but the machines screaming as his heart was starting to falter. Shit. He stepped out of the room, screaming down the hall. “SOMEBODY GET ME 15CC’S OF NARCAN!” He immediately ran back into the room and took the IV out of its connection. “He’s overdosing...” How the fuck did that happen? I didn’t give him enough for that.

Lathe tried not to panic, waiting on a nurse to come back with NARCAN. “How the hell could that have happened? You changed the IV just last night, and you only gave him 5ccs today!” This makes no sense...

“No, I didn’t.... I thought you changed it last night....” Oh my god, how much morphine do you have in you? Scotty administered the NARCAN into his system, before yelling at the nurse to give him the whole bottle. “Come on, Eren… Stay with us!” He shouted, trying to get him to wake up. It took two minutes for Scotty to administer over 500cc’s of NARCAN to Eren before his heart rate started to come back to normal... And he sighed in relief as Eren’s eyes snapped open and his gasped for breath. Thank god... That’s way too much morphine for you!
Lathe had a hand over his heart as he sighed in relief, moving back onto the bed next to him and pulling him close, dropping his head onto his shoulder. “Eren…. my god, you scared me… what happened?!” Explain.

Eren looked to everyone with wide eyes, struggling to move away from Lathe. What? I thought I overdosed! I'm not supposed to be alive anymore…what happened is right! Eren kept his lips sealed and never looked into Lathe’s eyes.

... you did this on purpose. Didn't you. “Eren, come on. Stay put, please.” Lathe kept his arms wrapped around Eren’s middle, keeping him close and pecking his temple. “Eren, just tell us… did you do that on purpose?” Lathe offered a hand to him to sign on. Just tell us, please.

Eren looked away, shaking his head and struggling to get out of his grasp and get away. He still refused to talk, and tried to get away. No! You’re gonna hit me! I’m not supposed to be here anymore!

Lathe didn't let go of him still, Eren nowhere near hurting himself by his movements so he kept him in his lap, murmuring soothingly into his ear. “Eren, I'm not mad, I'm not going to hurt you… if that's what you're worried about. I'm just really worried. We both are.” If you tried to do that to yourself… “Now Eren, please tell me…” He held up his hand, open for him to sign on. “Did you do that?”

Eren gave up after a few more moments of struggling, nodding his head with a defeated whimper. He moved to hide his face away from Lathe, starting to cry. He’s probably really mad at me! I’m not supposed to be here! Why the fuck am I here??

...why? We’ve gone this far to help you live, so why do you just… want to give up? Lathe held Eren tightly, trying not to break down as he tried to comfort Eren. “...but why? I didn't think…” I just didn't see it coming… “Eren, talk to me. Help me understand.” Lathe kept his hand outstretched for him.

Eren just shook his head. No... I can’t tell you why… If I Tell you… You’ll hit me! You’ll want to pump me with more drugs... I don’t want to be a science experiment again! I can’t take this anymore! Eren started to cry and whimper without stopping, starting to struggle to break free again. You’ll be mad at me!

...what do I have to do to let you know I’m not mad? That I’m not about to hurt you? That all I want is for you to be okay physically and psychologically and be happy… I'm always worried that maybe I'm not doing the right things to make you happy. Maybe… you'll tell me? “Eren, I'm sorry… here.” Lathe shifted out from under Eren, though he still sat next to him on the edge of the bed, holding out his hand. “Eren, can you please tell me what it is I need to do to make this right? ...to make you happy again?” I'm at a loss… I don't know what to do or how to do it...

Eren looked down at his own hands as he was let go, before he raised his own palm up to Lathe. I'm sorry, I didn’t… I didn't want you to worry about me… I'm not someone you need to take care of... Why are you worried? I’m sorry I’m still alive...

Lathe ran his hand down Eren’s palm before lacing their fingers. “Eren, don't apologise for making me worry. Me being worried is not the thing you should be worried about. It’s your own self that needs your attention. Look… promise me you won't try that again? There are so many people who would be so broken to see you leave, and you've got so much time ahead of you… you have a boyfriend who wants nothing more than to see you again when he next comes home. Stay with us. Please.” I can't lose you… you're my son... you can't...

Eren swallowed hard, finally looking up to meet Lathe’s eyes with his own broken ones. I... I can’t. Eren pulled his hand back from Lathe’s, moving to start signing on his own for the first time in a week and a half. {I can’t promise anything....} It would be better if I were dead… No one would care... Well, maybe all those men... They wouldn’t care if I was dead or not… They’d still fuck my sorry whore ass...

Lathe tried hard not to cry at Eren’s words, signing back. {Eren, I don't know what has put the idea in your head that maybe you'd be better off… gone, but it’s nothing further from the truth. We all want you to be okay, and that includes being okay with…. well, being. We want to help you. But you have to let us. ...I'm just going to say for right now that you have a family that loves you to bits, and you have friends who are waiting at home for you to come back and be yourself again, or are the people who've been working so hard for you to get better and piece you back together.} Lathe looked over to Scotty, swallowing hard as he looked back to Eren. {I want you to really think about that… and try to believe it. Because it's true.}

Eren could only shake his head. {I can’t do this Lathe… I can’t live with the thought that I've been raped by more than 50 men! Multiple times over! And that Levi is only gonna hate me now! How can he even consider touching me ever again? Especially after what happened to me, how can I even trust him after what he did to me! He said he’s never gonna love me again… Why would I want to live knowing he’s gonna hate me for the rest of my life?} Eren simply broke down, his hands coming to hide his face as he cried. No one… No one will what a broken piece of shit like me...

Lathe couldn't sign back as Eren wasn't looking at him, trying to steel himself after a moment to speak, the only sound he made a broken noise, immediately closing his mouth and burying his own face in his hands, trying to keep from sobbing in shock and worry, in frustration and overwhelming sadness. We’re back at square one… you’ve gone from defending the honour of your mother with your fists at the dinner table to doubting your worth anything in the eyes of Levi who loves you… I… I don’t know if I’m capable of getting you back up from there… I… I don’t think I can. …you don’t want me comforting you, you’ve made it obvious with your trying to shove me away… Lathe stood, leaving their room at a quick pace and heading back to Scotty’s office trying to hold it together so he could at least be a wreck in peace. …I can’t do it… I can’t…

Scotty watched Lathe leave in a hurry, worry and concern lacing his features. I need to talk to him. “Jackie… Come in here and watch Eren so that I can talk to his father.” It was only a moment until he was following Lathe to his office. We can’t have him trying again.

Lathe had made it to his office and shut the door before he finally let out a ragged sob, leaning back against the door and sliding to the floor, curling into himself and letting misery wash over him. …I can’t do this… I… I failed… I’ve already lost him… I’d lost him from the second he woke up… I was too dumb to read the signs… and… it’s over… His head shot up as he heard a knock on the door behind him, weakly trying to brace against the door. “D-don’t come i-in…” I can’t deal with anyone… I can barely deal with myself now…

Scotty sighed, moving the door and shutting it behind him. “Lathe… If you leave him right now…” He sighed, moving to sit down with him. “Come here…” He opened his arms and pulled Lathe into them. You need someone to support you too… And Spades isn’t here right now…

Lathe let Scotty pull him close, trying to sound coherent through his sobbing. “S-Scotty… it was h-hard enough the f-first time… it’s even w-worse this t-time around… it’s n-not that I d-don’t w-want to help… I d-don’t t-think I can. I-I’ve given everything I c-could… I d-don’t know w-what e-else to d- do … I didn’t r-read the signs… I had o-one job as his Dad, to keep h-him s-safe… Scotty, I fucked up… I c-can’t do it…”

Scotty held Lathe close. “No… Lathe, you can do it, trust me… You have Spades to help you this time around, and you know what sets him off… And you know what happened to him so you can be there for him to talk. I think he just needs to let it out… He needs to be able to do it… He needs to be able to talk to you, I’m sure that if you try and open up to him again, that he’ll open back up to you…” Scotty held him closer, carding a hand through Lathe’s long hair. “You can’t leave him…why don’t we go down to sit with Eren and keep him company?” I need to get you to do something… And I need to call Spades… She needs to come here…

“S-Scotty… S-Spades… she’s gone from before I w-wake up to dinner or when we’re asleep… s-she n- never gets days o-off… and if s-she does, she’s on call a-and h-has to go half the time… I h-haven’t b-barely j-just talked to h-her lately… I’m b-by m-myself…” Tears streamed down Lathe’s face, not even trying anymore to stop them. “W-when w-were… we were supposed t-to get married… a-and… I barely t-talk to h-her… with everything that h-happened… and she’s so b-busy, I… I d-don't w- want to l-leave him, b-but… I can't even help m- myself anymore… I'll just b-break down more… I d-don't want t-to m-make him g-guilty…” … I want Spades back… I miss you and I love you and I can't do this alone and I'm alone...

Scotty nodded. “Alright… I’m gonna call Spades…. And I’m gonna go down and talk with Eren… Do you think you want to come with me? Or do you want to stay here?” His voice was quiet, his arms still wrapped around Lathe, holding him close. I think I might know what you're going through… But not nearly as much.

Lathe shook his head. “T-thanks… a-and… I would put b-be able to k-keep it t-together… I-I'm sorry…” Two minutes of talking, and… my composure would go out the window...

Scotty nodded, moving Lathe over to his cot in the corner. He kissed Lathe’s forehead. “I’m gonna go call her…” I need to talk to her too, tell her what happened.Scotty went out to the hallway and pulled out his phone to call Spades, waiting for her to pick up. Come on… Pick up.

Spades searched for her cellphone amidst her desk of paperwork, finding it and looking at the ID with worry, answering. “Hey Scotty. Did something happen?”

“Yeah…. We just officially put Eren on suicide watch… But… I need you to drop everything, give Dave the reins for a week or so… And come help Lathe, he needs you. He needs you now, he doesn’t believe that you two can get Eren’s trust back…” Scotty tried to steel himself as much as possible. I can’t cry… I can’t, I gotta go talk to Eren about it… Fuck.

... oh my god. “Are you… oh my god… but…” Spades looked around her to the piles of work still unfinished. ... how the hell do I drop all of this, though? For so long? “Scotty, is Lathe at least somewhat holding up?”

Scotty shook his head, the tears prickling in his eyes. “Not even slightly… He broke down the instant Eren admitted to attempting suicide… And gave him the reason for it…” I don't blame him at all. “You need to come for the both of them… This is your future husband and your son we’re talking about!”

...he’s right. “...Scotty, I'll be there as soon as I can. Don't worry.” She ended the call, going to tell Dave the new plan and abandoning her work to change and make the drive to Wichita.

Scotty rubbed away his tears as Spades hung up, taking a deep breath before heading up to Eren’s room again, dismissing the nurse attending him and pulling up a chair next to him. He sat down, doing his best to seem neutral. “Eren, I need to ask you some questions, okay?” He watched as Eren picked at the thin sheet, and shrugged after a moment. “Will you be completely honest with me?”

Eren looked over to him before he nodded, still picking at the thin sheets that covered his crossed legs. I guess I can be honest with him…. It’s not like he can do any worse to me than what’s already happened.

He’s acknowledging my existence. That’s better than not. “Do you want to talk about it?”

…. Can I trust you? I mean…. I don’t really know if you’d want to hear about it. {No…. I don’t want to yet…}

…at least there’s a ‘yet’ in there. Even so, I’ve got to keep going. “Why did you feel the need to leave?”

Eren swallowed hard and looked down at his hands, his eyes tracing up his scarred tattoo. … He’s going to ask more questions…. Isn’t he? {Why would someone want a broken whore like me?} that’s really the question right now… Isn’t it. {Even Levi said he’s never going to love me again… And he beat me too, and he laughed… And watched as the other men raped me…}

That… how can you call yourself that? And the thing with Levi… that was a hallucination. “Eren, Levi was miles and miles away when that happened. It was a hallucination induced by the drugs you were given. Anything you think he did with those other men didn't happen.” …you’re not going to easily believe anything we tell you… “Eren… Do you still want to live with Lathe and Spades?”

Eren’s eyes grew somber as he thought about Lathe and Spades. They probably don’t want me around anymore. {What day is today?} I don’t even know what day it is….

“It’s September the 15th. It's Friday.” That’s a non-sequitur if I ever saw one… and you look as if you don’t want to think about them at all… you probably think, with Lathe leaving like that… he doesn't want you. “Eren, it’s not a question of if they’d want you to live with them. I’m asking what you want. Do you still want to live with them?”

Eren’s brow furrowed further, his hands moving quickly. Wait…. Oh god… Please don’t tell me… {Did…. Did they get married?} They put so much time and effort into that… Oh my god… I wish I was dead… They would’ve been able to get married…. What happens if they’re not gonna get married because of me?
Scotty shook his head. “Eren, they put everything off when they knew you needed the most of their attention. Everything’s postponed right now until you're better and everything settles down again.” Scotty watched as Eren’s face washed over with guilt. “Eren, don't feel guilty about it- nothing that happened was your fault. You couldn't control any of it. You're their son- they didn't want to get married knowing that you were somewhere else, in pain and alone… not even woken up yet. They wanted you to be there. And you can postpone a wedding. You can't as easily put off taking care of someone who needs it.” All that time went into making medicine and researching like hell instead. ...Well-spent time. “They loved you enough to put you before them. So Eren, one more time, and please be honest- do you still want to live with them?”

Eren had started crying again as Scotty spoke. They gave up so much.... And I’m not worth it. {I really shouldn’t… I don’t want to put the stress of me living with them on them…. I can’t do that to them, not with how much I’ve already messed with their lives.} Eren tried to stop his crying, wiping away at his tears. I can’t do that to Dad anymore...

You feel like a burden to them. They've given so much... I can understand feeling like that. “Do you want to start going to therapy?” It'd really help, I think.

... Therapy... {Isn’t that was this is right now?} Aren’t you just trying to get me to spill?

“Eren, I'm no therapist… a therapist could do a lot more good for you in this department than I can. Honestly, I think I'm just doing interrogation. It’s much different. But would you be open to it?” I'm not the one fit to do that job… I'm a surgeon, dammit, not a psychologist! And apparently one with sub-par social skills...

Eren only nodded. I think I could manage that.... But I don’t know if I’d trust them enough not to tell anyone.

Good- a step in the right direction. “Do you want me to call someone for you to talk to? Anyone.”

{Can you call Mom?}

...Spades, I hope you can get plenty of time off… there are a lot of things we need you here for. “I'll call her- and she’s coming to be here later today, too. She took time off.” Scotty pulled out his cell phone, dialling Spades’ number and handing it to Eren. She should pick up- it hasn't been too long, so she’s probably getting things together still.
Spades looked at her cell phone, halfway through packing up a small duffel bag to bring with her to Wichita. Scotty again? She answered. “Hey Scotty- you just called, did something else happen?”

_Do I need to worry even more now?

“.... M….m-.... M-mom?” Eren’s voice was hoarse as he struggled to speak for the first time in well over three months. God... My voice sounds horrible...

Spades stopped dead in her tracks, dropping the shirt in her hand. ...Eren. “Oh my god, Eren Honey… Eren we’re all so worried about you… how are you feeling?” You haven't said anything to anyone really since... since two weeks ago... And that was only two words...

Eren coughed a bit, trying to clear his throat. “I…. I’m…. I’m s-scared.....” I’m so afraid.... Why isn’t Dad here? I don’t want to be a burden... But I’m all alone...

“Eren Hon, don't be scared- you've got Scotty and Lathe there and there are so many people trying to help you… I'm getting ready as we speak to come down there. It’s okay, really.”

Eren shook his head, holding the phone closer to his ear. “M-mom…. I… I… I don’t… w-want to b-be an experi...ment…” Eren’s voice was starting to get stronger the more he spoke. I'm scared they're gonna open me up again... Like Grisha said they would...

...I get it... it's weird having Scotty going from overboard about figuring it what makes your body heal so fast to being your primary source of care there... and you don't know really any of the other doctors or nurses... “Eren, the doctors there can't do anything to you without it being absolutely necessary or admitted by you. They can't try to pull anything without you giving them the OK. We’re not going to let you become another experiment- that'd be cruel. You'll be okay- you're in good hands.” ...you really are.

“... H-he gave me… He gave me s-something… And He swore that I’d a-always be an... experiment… He did something to me… And I can’t get it out… It keeps making my nose bleed....” Eren started to cry all over again as he started to remember Grisha pinning him down and injecting something into his system. I don’t like it... He said I was gonna be cut open for the rest of my life....

That doesn't sound like Scotty...it must be... “Eren, I…” Grisha gave him whatever it is that's healing him? It's not some gene, but something that can be replicated and given? “Eren, you don't have to worry. He’s gone, never coming back… but whatever he gave you is the thing that's piecing you back together. But we’re not going to treat you like some experiment.... you're my son ! We don't want you to be miserable or treated like you're less than human. It might make your nose bleed, and the fact that He gave it to you is scary... but it’s doing great things for you and you shouldn't want it to go away.”...it's ironic, isn't it.

Lathe’s hands holding a notebook he had found shook as he stood outside of the door, not seeing the scribbles on the paper as he listened to Eren speaking. He’s... he’s talking again... he’s really talking...

“M-Mom…?” Eren’s voice was really quiet as he fiddled with the sheets over his legs. I.... I want it....

“Yes, Honey? You can ask me anything. Go ahead.” Her voice was soft, gently coaxing him to speak. It's okay.

Eren coughed a bit more, clearing out his throat again. “C-can I have mac’ n’ cheese?”

Oh my god. We never gave you any, we were scared it would set you off... “...how about I bring you some when I come around, okay?” Of course you can.

Lathe’s eyes widened, looking up and finally pushing the door open, timidly stepping into the room, his voice quiet and willing himself to smile faintly. “...do you want me to get you some?” It's good... you're talking... and I thought just the idea of mac n cheese scared you... maybe we can get somewhere...

Eren looked up from where his eyes were on the blanket, seeing Lathe, his eyes widening. He pulled the phone away from his face and put it down by the edge of the bed, moving away from it and moving to curl up into a ball. Mommy’s gonna come... But I don’t want them to cut me open before that....

Lathe stopped, his facade cracking as Eren curled into himself. ...w-what did I... I messed it up... he was doing great and... I came and messed it all up... you don't want to talk to me... You'd rather talk to her than me.... “I-I....” Lathe looked helplessly between Eren and Scotty, dropping his notes and fleeing, his head in his hands. I've been here this whole time... and you're not talking to me, but to Spades.... you've talked to her more than I have at this rate... Lathe shut the door behind him, trying to hide from everything and hiding under the desk, his legs pulled close to his chest and his head on his knees, crying. ...do either of you even love me anymore....?

Scotty got up, taking the phone. “Spades...” Scotty paused as he picked up Lathe’s notes, looking over the list. Well, we could try those. “I’m gonna take my phone over to Lathe, he ran to my office again, I’m putting someone in charge of Eren for a few minutes hold on.” Scotty took three minutes until he was in his office again and moving to sit down near his desk. “Lathe… Spades is still on the phone…. I think you guys should talk.” I hope so, because I know Eren can’t sleep without you beside him… And I think the only reason he opened up to Spades… Is that she’s not here… He can’t see her face… And I think facial expressions are getting at him between the two of you… If you stayed to look at his face… He looked so guilty… I bet he’s still thinking about how you guys couldn’t get married because of him.

Lathe looked at him with glassy eyes, nodding and talking the phone from him, holding it his ear and trying to speak somewhat clearly. “S-Spades?” Are you really there?

“Hey Lathe… Talk to me, I know you need to, I’m on my way to come up, okay? I’m gonna put you on speaker while I finish packing a bag.” I missed your voice… I wish I had time to call you at work, I would give anything to be with you two more.

...You're always doing something else… “S-Spades, I… I miss you… y-you're n-never around h- here… and n-not j-just here, but even at h-home you're g-gone before I w-wake up and sometimes d-don't come h-home until w-we’re asleep… I h-haven't just t-talked to you in so l-long, a-and… and E-Eren t-talked to y-you and I h-haven't gotten a w-word out of h-him… a-and I don't k-know if… if y-you or even h-he…” He swallowed hard, his voice tiny. “...I don’t know if you love me anymore.” He shook his head, trying not to bawl. “I’ve h-had to be strong f-for the b-both of us and there’s n-nothing really for me to l-lean on, and I… I’m r-running out of h-hope… I-I’m alone and my head h-hurts from doing n-nothing but th-thinking of what to d-do or g-give h-him and I c-can't sleep and I’m never h-hungry anymore and I’m really, really l-lonely… I just w-want you to b-be here… p-please…” I miss you… I need someone to hold onto me for once...

Spades had stopped what she had been doing after the first sentence was out of his mouth. Oh my god… What have I done? “Lathe… I’ll be there as soon as I can… Around two hours okay? And I took the whole month off, so I’ll be right there with you, alright?” She took a deep breath, trying not to cry herself. “I… I didn’t mean to push everything on you, and I don't want to make any excuses… But… Lathe, never think that I don’t love you… I love you more than I could ever love someone else. I care about you just as much as you care about me. We’re making some big changes… And I’ve been working on getting Eren’s rapists behind bars… Just stay strong for two hours… I’ll be there in two hours and then we can all talk together… does that sound okay?” I really hope you’ll understand, I’m coming, I need to hold onto you too.

A month… but life is longer than a month… then it'd just be me again… “Two hours… okay…” ... I don't want you to just go back to never being around after the month is over… “...we still n-need to talk w-when you get h-here, yeah…” I’ve never said anything… I need to... “...I can hold on for two h-hours… I’ll s-see you t-then… I l-love you…” More than anything....
“I love you too, Lathe.” She hung up, quickly getting Salem over to Armin’s and then racing as quickly as she could to the hospital.

Scotty sat there with him, watching them talk. Well, I can understand everything that he says... but I hope that I can give him some relief. “So... I was talking with Eren like I’m supposed to, and I think I might know why he won’t talk to you. He didn’t talk to me… He only talked on the phone.” He feels so guilty...

“B-Because we w-were actually t-there?” Lathe handed him his phone back. So it wasn't just me...?

Scotty nodded, taking his phone back. “Do you want me to call you while I’m with him in the room? You can stay here… I know he feels really guilty about you guys not getting married because of him.” The expression he had on his face after you ran… It gave everything away.

Lathe nodded. “...please… I want to a-actually talk w-with him…” We need to clear some things up...

Scotty nodded. “Alright, I’ll call you in a second… Just know that Spades knows where you are so if you wanna stay here, you're more than welcome to.” I know you’ll probably wanna stay in the same room for awhile.

Lathe nodded, fishing his phone out of his pocket. “Yeah, thanks... I'll just stay here for now…” Lathe stared at his phone as Scotty left, answering it the second it rang not five minutes later. “...Hey Eren… how are you holding up right now? Please… talk to me.” I know I stormed out… I don’t know what could possibly be going through your head?

“... I-I… I’m sorry, Dad..” Eren’s voice was still very hoarse as he spoke. I still sound horrible...

“...Eren, you don't have to apologise for anything… if anything, I'm sorry… I got frustrated, and stormed out… I'm just really worried about you. Just…. Could you tell me why?” Why'd you try to leave?

Eren let out a breathy sob, trying to regain his composure. “I… I didn’t want to be an experiment… He told me that I would be cut open for the rest of my life… And I don’t want that anymore… He gave me something… And it makes my nose bleed a lot... Daddy… I’m so scared… I don’t want to be...” Are you gonna keep me as an experiment?
The thing that heals you… Grisha gave you? “Eren, we’re not going to let you be a science experiment… it wouldn't be right to do things you didn't want that weren't necessary. If anyone tried that, you know I'd have their head.” Lathe weakly chuckled. “You… you don't have to be scared. He’s gone, and Scotty and Spades, Blake and I are going to keep you safe. You're my son, Eren. I'd do anything for you.” Really. ...even though I might not think I'm all that great at it.

Eren sniffled a bit, shifting in his bed. “You… You’re not mad… That you couldn’t marry mom… Because of me?” I ruined everything for you… And everyone had plane tickets and everything... I wonder if they came just to look at my body and wish I was dead? “Are your friends mad at me?”

Lathe shook his head, his tears somewhat subsiding. “Eren, how could I be mad? What happened wasn't your fault. And everyone we told when we had to announce it was being put on hold understood immediately- that you being okay was more important than us getting married. It’s okay.” They were all really cool about it.

Eren sniffled as he held the phone. “Scotty said that… That I was hallucinating… Is that true?” I wanna know… Cause it felt so real… And it was so horrifying ...

Lathe nodded, sniffing and clearing his throat. “Yeah, you were. You were, uhm… given a sedative that isn't supposed to be used on people. It makes you hallucinate. T-that's why you… why you thought Levi was there… but he, well, he wasn't. He was miles and miles away.”

Eren seemed to calm down a lot after Lathe told him that. “I um… I… I don’t… I didn’t want to tell you… I was scared He was gonna kill you… I’m sorry Lathe… I’m sorry about everything.”

“Eren, that’s okay… do you want to talk about it?” I know it's hard… but you need to do something with it other than keep it to just yourself.

Eren thought about it for awhile before he made a soft noise of affirmation. Yeah… “He… I came home after my exams… And he broke in, cause the lock didn’t work in the apartment… And he hit the back of my head with something… He beat me, and he screamed at me for the next three days… But he only beat me where you wouldn’t be able to see it… He knew I had to go record on Monday… He told me if I said anything to you that he was gonna kill you… And… And… And……” Eren trailed off as he started to sob all over again. I didn't want you to die...

I knew something was wrong when you came to record that day… “Eren, if you'd spoken up we could've gotten out of there before anybody knew anything… I know we can't go back and change anything, so don't feel guilty thinking you could have done something different... but you should have said something when I asked if you were okay... I went to hug you and you winced and moved away from me... but, thank you... you didn't want to risk getting me hurt... I understand. It's okay, you don't have to cry... you can keep going if you want..."

"I tried telling Levi... With the playlists... And... And the text... Grisha took my phone away from me... And he locked Blake in a cage... I couldn't let him out... He was stuck in there for so long..." Eren paused to try and wipe away his tears. "W-when I got back home... He... He pinned me to the kitchen table and he got out a knife... He cut my back open... And started to carve everywhere all over me... But then he got out the syringes... And he started injecting something into me... And he beat me to make sure he broke a rib... He kept putting that clear liquid into me until my nose bled... he kept beating me... And he tried to drown me in the bath tub too. He... He... He made sure that I was always naked, and he made me sleep on the floor... And he... He kept doing it... For days... He broke almost everything... And my nose kept bleeding even though it wasn't broken." Eren sniffled again, trying not to cry. "He did that for a few days before they all came... And they made me drink whole bottles of alcohol... Multiple times over... And they gave me drugs... They beat me too, and they fought over who was gonna rape me next... They gagged me... So I wouldn't make any noises... And they kept going one after another... I didn't get to rest for days... I passed out multiple times... And I know I had seizures... I'm still drooling from them..." Eren paused to sniffle again and struggle to compose himself. "Soon Levi was there too, but I guess that was just the drugs making me think he was there... When they got tired of me, the pulled out the knives... And tied me to the kitchen table... And they had their fun carving whatever they wanted into my skin... They cut off part of my ears... and they laughed about it... But what really hurt... Was that he got a blowtorch... And he burned everything on me... He did it multiple times... And..." Eren started to cry all over again, moving to curl up to himself. It hurt so much.... I don't want to go near one of those again....

...oh my god, Eren... "Eren... words can't... there aren't any for how horrible that must have been... But you were very smart, trying to use the titles of the songs, and texting Levi... I'm proud of you for that. But it's okay now, it's all over... you know, Spades told me that they've been finding a lot of the men you drew pictures of. They're admitting guilt and getting locked away... I'm really proud of you both for drawing those pictures, and for telling me this. It's important that we know. And it's okay, you can take your time... take all the time you need, I'm not going anywhere."

"He made me... Tell him when Levi was coming home... He was gonna kill me before Levi came home... And I couldn't do anything but lie to you and... And Armin... Cause that was the only thing I could do... I was hoping that maybe you guys would figure it out... But, I couldn't say more than that.. He would've killed us all..." Eren curled up into a smaller ball, starting to violently sob.

I can't just let him cry like that... Lathe got out his hiding under the desk, beginning to walk back up to the room. "Eren. I'm so, so sorry we didn't figure it out in time... you did an amazing job trying to tell us, you did well, but we just didn't get it in time. I'm really sorry for that. It's okay, it's okay..." Lathe took the stairs two at a time going back to Eren’s room, stopping himself from bursting in and lightly knocking on the door before slowly opening it, poking in his head and looking over to Eren curled into himself. Oh no… Lathe’s voice was small and soft, stepping in and closing the door quietly behind him. “Eren…” Lathe ended the call, walking across the room to sit on the bed next to Eren, pulling him into his lap and carding a hand through his hair, trying to calm him. It’s over now… you’re safe.

Eren looked up to him with puffy eyes and he instantly grabbed onto Lathe’s shirt and started to cry into his chest. “I’m… I’m so sorry…” Eren sobbed as he spoke, sniffling to try and calm down but only to break out into tears again.

It’s so nice to really hear your voice again… “It’s okay, Eren… It’s all alright… It’s over, and nobody’s mad, and we’re just going to focus on you getting better.” Right now… that’s all that matters.

Eren nodded and stayed curled up in Lathe’s arms, his crying subsiding after a good while and he was given a bit more NARCAN to keep his overdose from acting up. Scotty said he could sleep but he would wake him up when Spades got to the hospital. I wanna sleep. Eren closed his eyes and fell asleep in Lathe’s arms.

Lathe gently rocked Eren in his sleep, resting his heron top of his and tiredly trying to process everything, worn out from everything that had transpired in seemingly so little time. [Did you get the list I dropped earlier?] Lathe tiredly mumbled to Scotty, waving his hand at him after he nodded. [I couldn't remember everything he was on… just give him whatever doesn't interact with anything besides the PTSD stuff, which I already checked for…] …Too many medicines to keep track of… too many numbers… ugh….

Scotty nodded looking at the list again, crossing off one as he looked up the ingredients. [This one he can’t have… But the rest of them we can try…] I don’t see a problem with the other ones.
[Spades is bringing Mac N’ Cheese for him?] I thought he can’t have that?

Lathe nodded. [I’m surprised he asked for it… do you know what happened when he was, like, eight?] He watched as Scotty shook his head, sighing quietly and closing his eyes tiredly, explaining. [When he was little he wanted to have mac and cheese but his mother said he couldn’t.
So of course, he went ahead and tried to make it, but the stove was gas and had an exposed flame.
The macaroni went in the pot without water, the empty box fell into the flame… and we all know how that ended.] Lathe looked up to him again. [We never gave it to him because we didn’t want to set him off. But he asked, so… he can have it.]

Scotty nodded. [I can only imagine what must be going through his head…. But do you feel better after talking to him?] I really hope you do...
Lathe nodded, looking down to Eren’s peaceful expression as he slept, letting out a heavy sigh. [I think… actually talking to him… we need to really open him up and let him know he can talk to us… just, hearing nothing and having to guess at what was bugging him if ever something happened, having to guess at when he might be in pain or bored or sleepy or hungry… that was the hard part. I…] Lathe tried to keep from starting to cry again. [I just hope he can start to tell us what's wrong so we know what needs fixing…] Then we can actually fix things.

Scotty nodded, humming as he texted Casper about the anti-depressants. When he got a text from Spades he got up to go get her, smiling as he saw the large container with mac’n’cheese in it. She’ll really go all out for the both of them. “They're in Eren’s room…”

Spades nodded and followed Scotty up to Eren’s room, smiling softly as she saw Eren curled up to Lathe. [How is he?] He tried to kill himself earlier today… I can only imagine how much that had to bother you… And I should’ve been here from the start.

Lathe looked up from Eren, swallowing hard as he saw her and reaching out an arm for her. [He and I talked… he’s okay right now. We're going to get him help.] We know more now- and now we can really help.

Spades nodded, moving to go sit beside him, setting the dish on the side table. [I brought all the syringes that we found at the scene… You think one of them has the residue of whatever Grisha gave him?] I have all 136 of them.

Lathe pulled Spades close, his arm wrapped around her middle and resting his head against her shoulder. [Spades, I can't believe I didn't think to ask. There's got to be something left in them that'll tell us what made Eren’s body heal so well. Thank you…] Lathe leaned up to peck her cheek, steeling himself to ask. [...] I'm not going to dance around it… after the month is over… is it going to go back to it just being me? You'll go back to your long hours, I'll still be the only one home most of the time? Because… I don't know if I want it to… I'm sorry if that's selfish, but… I hadn't seen you much before, and lately I haven't really at all… and I don't want to go back to that…] I miss you so much… you're home for dinner, and then sleep… but that's always it. Never really any time off… and I've put up with it...

Spades shook her head. “I talked with a lot of people over the phone, I’m gonna step down after this… And I’ll be home a lot more… I’ll still be commissioner, but Dave is gonna do it with me…” I won’t be alone, so I can go home whenever I need to...

...Dave is my new favourite person right now, present company excluded. Lathe smiled, feeling like a weight had been lifted off his shoulders. [Thanks…] I won’t be all alone anymore.
Eren looked around as he woke up, seeing Spades and Lathe in each other’s arms. He nuzzled his face further into Lathe’s chest and whimpered a bit as he shifted his legs out from under him. Still fucking hurts to use them a lot.

Lathe immediately looked back to Eren as he whimpered, concerned. “Is it your legs?” He watched as Eren nodded. “Yeah, it's going to take a while for you to use them again like normal- you've lost a lot of muscle tissue in three months of no use. It'll come back though, with practice walking and stuff.” We'll get there. Lathe quirked an eyebrow as Eren brought his head up, his eyes widening as Eren licked his cheek, though he just assumed a done expression. “...well, this is a thing again.” Lathe stated to nobody in particular, looking over to Spades and quirking an eyebrow in amusement as her gaze went between Lathe and Eren incredulously. Yup. Welcome to my life for the past three months.

Spades looked at him. “Has this been happening the whole time?” She stared at Lathe, looking for an answer. Has this really been happening the whole time? She barely noticed Eren shift to her and lick her cheek as well, her own eyes widened. “Eren!” What she didn’t expect was how Eren reacted to that.

Eren shifted away from both of them immediately, moving far away from both of them and moving off of the bed, and surprisingly able to keep his legs steady. He made sure to keep his front to them, and his eyes staring at them. Do they want to hurt me? Did I do something wrong?

Dammit. Lathe held up his hands in a gesture of surrender, slowly moving off of the bed after him. “Hey Eren, it’s okay, you didn’t do anything. Spades was just really surprised, she didn't expect you to do that. It’s okay, really. Come back up with us, please. We don’t want you stumbling and getting hurt.” She was shocked, that's all it was. Lathe held out his hands to Eren, offering them for him to come back onto the bed.

Eren watched Lathe move around and moved to grab his hands and move back up onto the bed with them. What’s Mom holding? Eren looked at her warily, seeing the container she held. What’s that?

Spades smiled softly, opening it up, and giving him a fork. “I got you some Mac’n’cheese.” Her voice was soft, leaning her head against Lathe’s shoulder as Eren shifted. He’s just watching it.... Is he gonna eat it?

Lathe watched as Eren studied the noodles, addressing Spades. [Yeah… if it's not some medical calamity Eren licking me is my alarm clock. It's a sensory thing. It won't happen forever.] That's a thing that occurs. “…are you going to eat it Eren? Or keep staring at it until it moves? Which it isn't going to do, I'm joking.” Lathe immediately corrected himself when Eren seemed to tense a bit. No figures of speech right now- just let him ponder the macaroni for now.

Eren looked at it for a long time before he stabbed at it with the fork. It’s… It looks like Carla made it… Eren lifted the fork to his mouth, and just a let the tears prickle at his eyes. I miss mom… He started to eat the macaroni with vigor, a soft smile on his face.

Spades smiled softly. [At least he likes it… you think he’ll be able to hold it down?] I really hope so… He looks like he does… Spades gently wrapped her arm around one of Lathe’s arms. I missed cuddling with you…

[I hope so.] Lathe gently patted Eren’s shoulder. “Don’t eat that too fast, kid. You want to keep it down.” You're getting really skinny as is- we can't have you getting much thinner. Lathe sighed and leaned against Spades, shutting his eyes and resting his head on her shoulder. …I missed having you to hold onto… to hold onto me… [Did you call around for a hotel yet? It’s getting later in the day, and you’d want one closeby.] After Levi left, we didn't see the point in keeping one available.

Spades nodded. [Yeah, I did, are you gonna come and stay with me tonight?] She asked him quietly. I really want to hold you tonight… And maybe a few other things.

Eren slowed down at the macaroni, but he looked up at their conversation with confused eyes. What are they talking about?

[...I want to… here, I dunno if Eren’ll feel okay alone for the night- that hasn't happened while he was awake at all this entire time.] Lathe looked to Eren, smiling sheepishly at confused look. “Sorry about that- is it alright if you sleep by yourself tonight?” I want Spades to myself for at least tonight…

Eren stopped eating and put his fork down. “Y-yeah… I can sleep alone…” Eren told him quietly, a soft smile on his face, though it didn't really follow through to his eyes. I can make it… They don’t need to worry about me…

“Thanks kid.” Lathe pecked his forehead. “You’ll have me back tomorrow, though. Don't worry.” But you'll be okay. Scotty's going to be around, pop in occasionally. You'll be fine. [Thats a yes, then.] Lathe smiled to Spades. Yay… sleeping in a bed… an actual shower… other things in those places… dammit Lathe, she’s here for five goddamn minutes and look where your mind went. …yep. Of course.
Eren nodded. I can sleep the whole day tomorrow... so I can stay up tonight... I won't be able to sleep without someone holding onto me. He held out the almost empty container to Lathe. I can't eat anymore...

Spades smiled softly. “Thank you Eren, really, thank you.” She took the container from him and set it aside, moving to Eren’s other side and letting him get close. He’s still pretty quiet... But he’s talking... That’s good.

The rest of the day passed uneventfully, the three of them quietly chatting on the bed and Eren speaking up occasionally, Spades eventually picking up one of Lathe’s notebooks and starting a game of hangman between the three of them to pass time. Lathe had an arm wound around either of them, leaning his head on Spades’ shoulder. It was around six thirty when Lathe looked up to the clock, noting the time. [Should we maybe get going? It’s going to get dark soon.] We both need food, I need a shower... and there'll be plenty of time for sleep among other things...

Spades nodded, looking over to where Eren was doodling a bit on the notebook. “Eren we’re gonna get going... Alright?” She watched him look up at the two of them with somewhat guilty eyes. Is he gonna be okay?

Eren swallowed hard and nodded. “O-okay... That’s... That’s fine...” Eren told them, looking away and back at the notebook. Are they gonna come back? They’re gonna come back, right?

Lathe gently slid out from under Eren,, pressing a kiss to his temple. “Thanks, Eren... we’ll be back in the morning. Promise. You'll be okay for the night.” He thought about bringing his bags, deciding against it and leaving the laptop bag within Eren’s reach. “My laptop and all the sharpies and music stuff is in here if you want it, but try to sleep, okay? We’ll see you tomorrow.” Lathe ruffled his hair, waving goodbye to Scotty on their way out, his arm around Spades’ waist. I have you back... mine. “So, what are we doing about food? Any ideas?”

“Well, Macaroni Grill was good the last time we had it. Wanna go there?” She asked quietly to him, leaning into his side. I don’t mind... Whatever is fine.

Scotty shuffled some of his papers together after Lathe and Spades left, picking up his notes and double checking the screens of the monitors around Eren, looking back to him as he seemed to begin to panic, setting down his papers and immediately going to try and calm him down. Fuck. ...do I need to get those two back here? “Eren, it’s okay, don’t worry, you don’t have anything to panic about... I-it’s fine, really...” dammit...

Eren looked to Scotty, curling up a bit, a hand going out to grab his shirt sleeve. “I... I-I... I’m Scotty sighed, giving him a weak smile. “It’s fine, really…” He gently tried to pull his arm away, stopping when Eren clung tighter to his sleeve, sighing. “You didn't want them to leave, did you? But you knew they wanted to be with just each other, so you let them go?” I’m starting to get how your mind works..

Eren nodded, holding onto Scotty’s shirt before he realized he was holding on, letting go when he realised it. “S-sorry…” He looked down, his hands shaking in his lap. “I-I… I’m sorry…”

...you should. It's what you should do. Scotty sighed, patting his shoulder gently. “…would it make you feel better if I slept with you?” Who knows–maybe you’ll get more than two hours for the first time all month! ….well… second… cr–

Eren looked up to Scotty with shock, his hands stopped their shaking before they started up again. “N-no… It’s okay… You don’t have to…” It’s okay… Really. You don’t have to...

Scotty sighed. You’re not going to admit that you want anything, are you. So, you know what? “Then let me put it this way: I’d like to. May I?” Just say yes to what you want when it’s offered. It’s not being a burden if I’m offering to do it anyway!

He… He wants to? “O-okay…” That works… I guess, if you want to…

There we go. Scotty shed his lab coat, leaving it on a chair before climbing up next to Eren, not sure what to do besides simply lay next to him. His question was soon answered as Eren curled up to him, letting him lay half on top of him and wrapping his arms around him, his head dropping back against the pillow. ...I don't know how well I'm going to sleep… I... I still don't know if what I did was the right thing… but I don't know who to talk to about it who isn't seriously biased… Scotty glanced down to Eren as he fiddled with a button on his shirt. ...if anyone, he’d be one to talk to… but how do I ask? Maybe I should just… ask. Go for it. “Uhm… Eren? Is it okay if I ask you some stuff?” I need answers...

Eren looked up from Scotty’s chest. … I could do that. “Y-yeah…” His voice was quiet, his forehead buried into Scotty’s chest. What are you gonna ask?

“...how did you figure out you were gay?” …because right now I'm not sure what the fuck I am...
“Well… Girls were… They were always mean to me… And I never liked any of them… Cause I was… I was afraid that they would all turn out like… Like my mom… And I didn’t want to lose anyone, I just kinda… Started liking guys more… They gave me attention… For all the wrong reasons… But I was noticed…” It was really… Really hard getting through middle school and the first year of high school before Levi came along…

You had your own way of figuring that out… I didn't have that circumstance… but I do kinda get it, girls never really paid me much attention… I did tend to hole myself up studying, especially in college… “…how did you know you were… in love?” You and Levi give so many shits about each other and you were all over each other when he was home…

Eren blushed a bit. “I… I… I um…. Well, I… When… When I used to think about Levi… I felt calm… I felt relaxed… I missed him whenever he was gone… And my… My heart… It used to do this weird thing… That it would flutter all the time… When I thought about him, and I always was waiting until I could see him…” Eren’s voice was soft and tender as he spoke, a few tears trickling down his cheeks as he spoke. And now… I can’t see anything but fear…

...I can count on one hand how many times he’s been anything other than rational… and I’d need a calculator for how many times he’s stopped me from going insane. Scotty sighed, thoughts bouncing around his head, his brow furrowing a bit. “How do you know… That… That’ll work out?” How do you know it won't go up in flames or anything?

“I didn’t… And I thought that… That it had ended once already… And that was… I thought it was all my fault… But Levi went out and… And showed me… That he wanted me… I made a last ditch effort… And it paid off…” That song… I don’t know if that was the best decision of my life… Or the worst for screwing everything up for everyone… Probably the latter.

...every other time I was with someone… and it was always just the one night…. …I didn’t feel so… wanted. I… I told him it was just that night… it was his last-ditch effort to convince me he… he loved me… “But… how do you know you won't grow bored of each other?” There's got to be a point when things stop being interesting… and it couldn't pick up again… could it?

“You don’t know that either… Levi and I haven’t hit that point… Well maybe we have and we just don’t know it… But… I know if both people are interested, the mind can do some kinky shit…” I know what Levi likes to do to me… And I can satisfy his desire… Or well… I used to be able to…

Scotty winced as his mind conjured up a few images. Note taken… Uhm… “Are … uhm, are you the bottom? Wait, no, that’s too personal, but uhm… whichever you are… can the roles switch?” I don't know how it works like that with two guys… is it always the same, or…?
Eren nodded. “Yeah, I’m the bottom… and the roles can be reversed… I’ve topped before………..” Eren went almost instantly silent. I don’t know if I’ll ever want to have sex again… Eren let the tears forming in his eyes silently fall. Levi won’t want a whore…

Scotty started to regret asking as Eren started to cry, reaching for the tissues and pressing some into his hand. “Eren, I'm sorry, I didn't mean to make you cry like that… I'm sorry...” He tentatively reached up to card a hand through his hair, waiting awhile for Eren’s sobs to subside. “...how often do you go on dates?”

Eren sniffled a bit, wiping away his tears. “We… Didn’t really go on a lot of dates… But… That was mostly cause he was gone a lot… And I can’t sleep well without someone anymore… So we spent most days just lounging around and napping…. And he’s gonna be gone soon.” …. He’s gonna come back in a box… I can’t fall asleep next to him if that happens…

...I really made things difficult for him… I moved two hours away and didn't even give him a proper chance before doing it… “That reminds me, actually… one second Eren, I'll be right back.” Scotty slipped out from under Eren, going to put a new dose of Eren’s PTSD medication in his IV before returning, letting him immediately reclaim his shirt. If you're going to sleep soon, you'll need that. “...what's your definition of a perfect date?” ...how does this whole ‘courting’ thing even work is probably better, but that'll have to do.

Eren nuzzles his head into Scotty’s chest, closing his tired eyes. I haven't been on a date in over a year.... “I’m not really sure... But… I know that being able to have fun is worth it.... I remember one of our first dates... Was walking Blake to the dog park... And letting him be a dog...” It was really nice... Eren closed his eyes and with seconds his breathing had evened out and his grip loosening on Scotty’s shirt.

...something where you can just be? And have fun. Scotty absentmindedly fiddled with Eren’s hair as he thought, the softening sounds of the hospital familiar white noise. Just think normally for one second... ditch anything you have in your head about ‘manliness’ and just hear me out because manly is something you are not- He- Stop using the damn pronoun only- CASPER is funny, brilliant, able to keep you from losing your shit, able to make food, artsy, loyal… and he made me feel wanted... I haven't really felt like that much... ...maybe I should transfer back... and give it a chance.
Chapter 42: The Second Attempt

Spades curled up to Lathe’s bare torso on their King sized bed, happily kissing his skin with light pecks. “Hmm… I went to go see the new house while you were here… They’re almost done building it… It’ll be built, along with the barn, before Winter hits…” I know you really want to surprise Eren with the house.

Lathe held Spades close, humming contentedly as she kissed his skin, happily knowing he must have a ring of marks around his neck. Yours. “That’s good, any snow slows or stops everything. What about the furniture for inside? We had that binder full of stuff- did you check or plan on anything, or did you want me to help make those decisions?” We've got lots of space, we need something to put in it...

“Well, I stuck with a black and white kitchen… So all the kitchen stuff is ordered… And I got granite counter tops… They're custom made, so they’ll take forever to come in…” She moved a bit closer to him, tangling their legs together. I missed doing this. “I got Eren more bean bags too, and I ordered that couch… Remember the one that Nate has… That could be rearranged?”

Lathe nodded, grinning. “Nice choice- that was a neat thing. The stove isn't gas, right?” He nodded when she shook her head. “Good. Uhm… did they start putting in flooring yet? Because the floor in the room with the uneven parallel bars is weird because it has give to it- they might have a problem with it.” Hopefully they won't. But you don't know.

Spades chuckled leaning up to kiss his nose. “The professionals already came in and installed everything to the specifications and standards all gyms have, and they’re finishing up with the wood floors on the second floor… They finished the tile floor in the basement earlier this week, and they got the pool too… That’s in, along with the hot tub, they just need to be filled… They’ve made a 15 acre field for the horses that’s fenced in… And the driveway is paved all the way down to the barn…. The trails have also been created in the forest you got, along with the other 300 acres of fields that you bought. It’s coming together really well...

“They really made progress, haven't they? That's great! We’ll need to make sure the land is posted later on, don't want hunters or something wandering in. Is the attic getting wood flooring too? We were going to need it, the space would be good storage…” It's all falling into place...

“Yes, I made sure the Attic is getting wood flooring. And I made sure that all the walls are painted white, so that Eren can go nuts with whatever he wants to do on the walls. And you guys have your own studios in the basement too… And the theater room is down there too.” It really is coming together beautifully.
I adore how much cuddle potential that theatre room has. ...and it’ll be epic if I figure out how to hook up an Xbox or something to the projector. ...oh my god yes. Lathe smiled, making a small sound and tilting his head back as Spades nipped at his neck. Yours… and I couldn’t ask for someone better… “We’ll… we’ll move in during the winter? At least… nn… at least when the counters come in?” ...snowball fights and snowmen for days...

Spades nodded. “How many horses do you want to start with? The barn has room for eight… But I don’t know how many stalls we’ll use for tack and storage… So, what do you think we should start with?” I don’t mind getting him whatever the hell he wants...

“Start with one, I’d say… for Eren it’s been awhile since he’s taken care of one, and he’ll have a cow and chickens to fuss over too. We can always get more.” ...that also depends on who else falls in love with horses and demands one to fuss over themselves...

Spades smiled and nodded. “Should we get him a trail horse? A jumper? What should we get him? What would he be interested in?” I still don’t know him as well as you do Lathe...

“Trail- one he can ride around the paths in the woods, or just out in the field. I dunno if he’s ever jumped on a horse before… probably not, but I don’t know. But a trail horse to begin with.” Sounds reasonable to me at least...

“Alright, I’ll look for one for him.” She leaned over to kiss Lathe’s lips. “You did an amazing job with him, and don’t let anyone tell you otherwise, okay?” She asked softly, her eyes gleaming with pride and happiness as she spoke. You are mine...

Lathe smiled wearily, pulling her close and kissing her deeply. Okay. Thank you… ...wait. Lathe broke their kiss, looking to her in worry. “What about Salem?” Did you forget and leave him home? Who is taking care of him?

Spades chuckled a little, moving to kiss his ear. “It’s okay, I took him over to Armin’s house, so he’s in good hands.” I figured Armin could use some company in that empty house since Erwin left.

Lathe sighed lightly in relief, his head tilting so she could better access his neck. “Good idea… Armin could use the company. Did he seem like he was doing okay? I haven’t talked to him in awhile.”
“Yeah… He seemed like he was alright, I think he’s taking it rather well, but that’s my opinion, I just hope he doesn’t get too lonely in that empty house.” I remember how much of a wreck he was at the funeral.

“Yeah… Who knows, maybe he needed something to fuss over and keep him company.” I wonder if Salem became the cat hat on him- hopefully he’ll figure out it’s a thing that just happens.
“Thanks for thinking of that… for so much, really… my mind's been a jumble lately…” Too much so. “…I… I just really, really love you…” I need help with all this.

Spades smiled softly. “I love you too…. Let's get some sleep alright? Eren’ll be worried if we’re not there in the morning.” I don’t want to stress either of you two.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Scotty blinked awake early in the morning, confused of where he was for a moment, finally registering the weight on his chest and looking down to see Eren. ...oh yeah. What time is it... He looked for the clock. Seven thirty... wow. I actually slept. Scotty laid still for a short while longer before gently slipping out from under Eren, pulling his lab coat back on and double-checking his vitals and changing his IV, writing the date and time on it. Need to keep track of that. It was a short while before the phone rang, Scotty running over to pick it up before it woke Eren. “Hello? ...who again wants to come up?” ...aren't those famous people that Lathe rants about all the time? ...I do remember hearing all about them, actually. Should I…?

“Uhm, sure, send them up.” He hang the phone back on the hook. They better not be too cray. Scotty went over to Eren, gently shaking him awake by the shoulder. “Eren, wake up- both breakfast and visitors soon.” Hopefully you're up for it- and hopefully they'll know not to be too loud or overbearing.

Eren looked to Scotty as he moved to stretch, wincing a bit. Mom and Dad are coming home soon. He moved to sit up, pulling the blankets under him as he sat up. I wonder what’s for breakfast today? Eren let Scotty leave to go get his food, rubbing his eyes to try and rid the sleepiness from them.

A soft knock was soon heard at the door, Jack poking his head through the door and smiling softly as he saw Eren, opening it more widely for him and Mark. “Hey Eren- good morning.” He was holding a small vase of blue flowers with a small card attached, moving to set it on the table near Eren, noting the wary look he was being given. ...you don't look like you remember me. Huh...

Mark smiled more as he saw that Eren was awake. “Eren! You’re awake! I’m so happy we could see you! We’ve missed recording with you!”
Eren watched as Mark got closer with opened arms. Who is this guy? Why’s he so loud? He’s scary… Why is he coming closer? Eren moved away from him as Mark sat down on the edge of his bed. What is he doing? Is he gonna hit me? He sat there, frozen in fear as Mark leaned in to hug him.

…that isn't going to end well. “Whoa whoa whoa Mark, hold on, he looks terrified.” Jack caught him by the arm and pulled him off the bed, assessing Eren’s expression. …do you recognize us at all? You're so scared… “Uhm, Eren- do you remember us? Mark and Jack?” He pointed to Mark and then himself. It doesn't look like you do.

Eren immediately shook his head, moving away from both of them, stepping off the bed to the floor on the other side of the room. No… I don’t know who the hell you are! He watched them, his heart pounding in his chest, and his legs shaking to hold up his thin body as he coward in front of the two of them. Who are you? I'm scared…

Scotty opened the door with Eren’s breakfast, assessing the situation for a solid second before setting down the tray and moving forward. “Could you two give him some room, please? His memory could be fuzzy.” Scotty sidestepped the bed, coaxing Eren back onto the bed. “It’s alright kid, they didn't mean anything bad- it’s alright, just come on.” …this is why I should've stayed until they came up. He settled Eren back into bed, turning to the two of them. “He scares easily, and, I'm sorry but… he might not remember you right away, if at all… some serious things happened. Just be extra careful, okay? I'm sorry…” That can't be easy to hear for anyone. Scotty went to bring Eren’s breakfast tray over, setting it in front of him. “Don't you worry, kid. I'm here.” From what I've heard, I'm sure they didn't mean for anything like that to happen. Nobody does…

Jack nodded, slowly stepping over to one of the chairs next to Eren’s bed and sitting down, pulling Mark with him into the chair next to him. He gave him a small sheepish smile. “Sorry 'bout that, Eren… how’re you feeling?” He did his best to not seem like a threat, projecting calm. I'll keep Mark reined in, don't worry.

Eren watched the two of them with wide eyes, still not sure what the hell to do with either of them staring at him. What do they want? I just don’t understand at all. {Who are you people?} His hands moved fast, his eyes still wide as he was moved away from the both of them, picking up his banana and started to eat it.

Mark watched his hands move. I don’t know sign language… So what is happening with him? What is he saying? “Jack do you know what he’s saying?” Mark turned to look at Jack, seeing him stare at Eren intensely. Does he understand?

Jack pondered his movements, signing something. {Slow down, please. I didn't catch that.} I don't know too much- but anything I know won't do any good if I can't understand what you're saying.
Eren’s interest seemed to pique as he slowed down his motions, spelling out a few words for Jack to make it easier. {Who… Are you two?} I don’t know who the hell you are but you obviously know me… And I’m scared...

{I’m Jack, and this is Mark. We met at the YouTube Space in LA a few years ago. We play video games on YouTube. We played Undertale together. We heard a bit about what happened, and wanted to come wish you well.} Jack’s movements slowly became a little more fluid, speaking as he signed so Mark would know what he was saying.

{What… Is Undertale?} Eren’s large eyes were focused on Jack’s hands, though he was as still going through the motions of eating his oatmeal. Where are Mom and Dad?? I want Mommy!

Where are Mom and Dad?? I want Mommy!! Eren’s hands shook as he held the bowl, his heart rate increasing as he started to panic a little.

Scotty came over and rested a hand on Eren’s shoulder, sitting down next to him and murmuring quietly. “Hey, it’s alright Eren. Lathe and Spades will be back soon- they texted saying they got breakfast and they’re on their way. It’s fine.” You're fine.

Jack smiled a bit at that, his eyes widening a fraction. You don’t remember Undertale? His expression fell to one of concern as Eren started to shake, not signing anything until Eren seemed to calm in Scotty’s immediate presence. {You don’t remember Undertale? It’s a video game. We played it on your laptop- Lathe had it.} Jack caught sight of the familiar messenger bag next to the bed, pointing to it before signing. {Do you want us to show you again? It’s a lot of fun.} You loved it- the fan art you did was amazing!

Eren nodded, leaning into Scotty a bit, since the man next to him was bigger than either of the two in front of him. I want Mommy… I don’t know these people! Eren was still quivering a bit as Jack moved to get the laptop out.

Mark looked to Jack. “Do you remember the passwords for that?” If I remember correctly it was a pretty lengthy one.

“Sure- he tried typing the super long one, but he kept typing it incorrectly. He got frustrated and typed something different and- because he is a technology wizard- typing ‘coffee’ bypassed it.” Jack tapped quickly away, stumbling through the desktop with the weird finger pad. The hell… is this thing inverted? “Finally-here.” He found the Undertale icon in a folder full of games, memes, audio files and half-finished art, starting it, seeing it left off where they had stopped in LA forever ago. He hit reset, handing the laptop to Eren. He set it back in his lap as Eren didn't move to take it, unsure of what to say or do. Uhm…
“Oh my god.” Lathe looked from the ajar door with wide eyes, trying to contain his excitement. ...I'm dying. He looked over to Eren with a warm smile, seeing his look of fear and immediately crossing the room to him. “Are you okay? You look scared.” He sat on the bed as Scotty stood, pulling him close as Eren curled up in his lap, trying to hide. Oh my… He carded a hand through his hair, trying to calm him as he looked to Jack and Mark, his voice soft. “I'm sorry- last night was the first time he was by himself overnight while awake, and his memory can be fuzzy… he’s been terrified of his high school classmates… it is what it is, I suppose. But it really is so nice that the two of you came.” Lathe smiled gratefully to them. I know you two are so busy all the time...

Mark smiled softly. “It’s alright, we wanted to see how he was doing and if he was up to doing anything with us… But when we found out he was still in the hospital, we figured we should come and give him a few more friendly faces to see.” Maybe we can still record stuff? If he wants to play Undertale? I’m not even sure if he knows who we are still… He looks like a overly large frightened three year old.

Lathe smiled, though he looked worriedly to Eren, still shaking in his arms. “I’d say give him a bit to calm down- but I think he’d be open to it. And it’d give the world more than just a couple tumblr posts a week to look forward to.” Lathe grinned a bit mischievously, trying to calm Eren as they talked. They're nice people- you don't have to be scared.

Eren stopped shaking after a few minutes of Lathe holding him, his face was still very much buried into Lathe’s shirt. What's that noise? Eren picked his head up to look for the sound of the strange noise that was coming from somewhere. “N-noise…” Eren’s voice was very quiet as he looked to the laptop.

Jack smiled faintly at his small voice. So he's selectively mute. {It’s the beginning music from Undertale. The first part is kinda scary, but it doesn't last long, and everything else is really cool and funny. Do you maybe want to play it?} The first flowey sequence is unnerving as hell… But everything else is funny and great! And you seem cool around Lathe- maybe you'll be okay?

Eren watched Jack’s hands, timidly reaching out to grab the laptop from where it sat. He shifted so he was sitting in Lathe’s lap, comfortably facing the computer and he started out the game. What the hell is that Flower??? He was confused as the flower became a terrifying beast. Huh? What the hell? What… No… No, what is that! Eren put the computer back down and moved to hide again, grabbing the blanket and pulling it over his head to hide against Lathe’s chest again. No… That’s frightening.

Well crap. Lathe held Eren close, pressing keys and making the story move along, getting Eren to look at the screen for the last bit. “Eren, watch this-” Goat mom to the rescue!
Eren timidly removed the blanket from over his head like a three year old and looked over to the screen. “Scary…” He watched the flower stop, a fireball be thrown across the screen and knocking him out of view, some animalistic character entering. “Goat…thingy…”

Lathe beamed. “Yep, that’s Toriel- Goat Mom.” That’s really what she is.

...we don't need to record. Jack smiled, waving a bit to get Eren’s attention before signing. {Is it okay if we sit next to you so we can watch?} But saying no is okay.

Eren looked between the two them, slowly nodding, but staying in Lathe’s lap all the same. They can sit on the bed too. Eren timidly played with the game a little more and quickly becoming engrossed into the game and becoming completely silent.

Spades was in the hall with Scotty. “How was he last night?” I saw how fearful he was when we came in… And I’m pretty sure those guys have done things with Eren before.

“He panicked a little bit after you left… He really wanted to let you two have each other to yourselves for the night, but he was terrified to be alone. I ended up sleeping with him. I did get plenty of rest…” ...and. “...And some insight… about being gay, and if I should've given Casper a real chance… which I think I will.” For all he's done… He deserves it. ...and I do want to see him again...

Spades eyes lit up. “Really!? That’s awesome! Well.. Not the panicking part… But I’m hoping that he’ll be able to sleep by himself again soon. I miss sleeping with Lathe…. So you finally realized you swing the other way?” She chuckled softly, looking through the cracked door as Jack and Mark sat on the bed with Lathe and Eren.

Scotty rolled his eyes, shifting his weight. “Well, I'm still kinda skeptical about the whole thing… and I've just kinda decided it’d be pretty dumb of me to not give him a chance. I like him enough to do that.” He thought for a moment. “And I think he’ll be okay sleeping by himself soon enough- he just really needs the support right now, he needs to feel safe, but I know you two lovebirds miss your ‘you time.’ You'll get it back, don't worry. Give it a week or so; baby steps. Start with someone sleeping close by on the chairs or something and work from there.” He shrugged. ...but yeah. You and Lathe have a relationship to maintain… and it sounded like there's plenty of catching up to do.

This week went too quickly. Spades was holding Eren as he played another platformer, moving a small character around in what seemed to be a huge system of caves. Mark and Jack have been wonderful- they're so nice, and so sweet I'm worried about cavities just sitting next to them!
They've gotten a Eren to play a bunch of different games Lathe had on here, and logged into their own accounts for a ton of different ones we didn’t. Some of the ones we had were modded with different audio files, and they noticed- and then begged Lathe to send them to them. But he got more and more comfortable around them, and they did an experimental recording of something with rocket soccer- they somehow managed to fit four of them with four laptops sitting sideways on the bed and had just one shot of all of them playing. Eren didn't talk much, but he was expressive- and even though the setting of a hospital room was kinda odd-looking, it was something. There were so many well-wishes in the comments, it was really nice. Eren’s sort of okay with us sleeping nearby in the room, which is progress. And after the mac and cheese, he went to eating plain oatmeal, and a few days ago Scotty was a dear and found some apples, brown sugar and cinnamon to add. And he’s obsessed. He only wants to eat that for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. ...it’s been three days. He needs to eat something other than that- he still needs vitamins every day. They've been throwing powdered vitamins in with his oatmeal. He’s actually gaining weight- a pound about every two days. He’s getting meat on his bones- that's great!

Scotty waited for a break in the four’s antics to tap Lathe’s shoulder. “Hey Lathe, can I talk to you in the hall for a few minutes?” Things need to be discussed.

Lathe looked up from his laptop, his wide smile still bright. “Sure.” You don't sound like I should be concerned- but I'm kinda skeptical. Lathe followed him into the hall, leaning against the wall with his ankles crossed. “What’s up?”

Scotty leaned against the wall. “You haven’t sold your house yet, right?” I really hope you haven’t.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at him. “...noooooo? It hasn't even been put on the market yet.” ...why?

“Don’t put it on the market… I’ve been thinking about moving back to work at the hospital there… And it’s be a good spot to get a house.” ... And Casper wouldn't need to rent anymore. He wasn’t really aware he had said the last bit aloud, and so stood there, tapping his foot in hopes of a response.

Lathe’s eyes widened as he heard Scotty mumble under his breath, beaming. “...duly noted. We’ll be seeing more of you then- when are you planning on moving back?” Is this a thing? Did you not tell me? Lathe covered his mouth with one hand, happily whispering under his breath. “...my favourite ship is sailing…” YAY! But shut your damn mouth- let it sail, let it sail... don't fuck with the rigging, just let it sail... no titanic moments please...

... Awesome… But I'll be living at the hospital for awhile though, Spades told me that your new house isn’t ready yet. “I’m transferring to the hospital over there as soon as Eren is discharged…
So I’ll be living there for a bit until you guys move out.” I wonder if Lathe’s gonna say anything? Or is he gonna let Casper be surprised? I have a really good idea.

You already live at a hospital. And it doesn’t do you any good… you know… “Y’know, Eren doesn’t use his room anymore really, he’s either sleeping in the beanbag bed in the living room or downstairs in the basement… you could crash in his room for awhile if you want.” Maybe you'll actually get some damn sleep and eat something other than takeout for once in your life.

Scotty picked his head up at Lathe’s words. “Really? That’d be awesome… and, Eren’ll be released in a week, I’ve been weaning him off of the morphine, and he’s gotta go to therapy, but I’m not worried about his legs anymore. He’s been showing progress over the past week, and is better at moving around.” I really wanna see Casper again. Scotty looked into where Eren had curled up to Jack’s side, watching the screen with the other two. I wonder if they’re watching one of his videos?

...One week. Keep your trap shut for a week and some change… and then for a hell of a lot longer to ensure smooth sailing. “That’s good- he’s physically doing much better, socially too, to a degree… but yeah, I’d be surprised if it wasn't arranged or at least recommended he go to therapy.” Lathe looked past him, smiling at the three of them. “…things have been going kinda sorta okay… I can live with that.” He’s getting better… getting the help he needs.

Scotty smiled, patting his back, a sympathetic look on his face. “He’s gonna be on a cocktail of drugs for a long time… and he’s gonna need Blake a lot more now… But… I hate to break it to you… but if his PTSD gets too bad, he might be having seizures a hell of a lot more.” That in itself is a handful…. I wonder if he’s gonna want oatmeal again for lunch… or if he’s gonna want something else?

Lathe sighed quietly, nodding. “We’ll do our best to keep him on schedule with his meds… and we’ll do our best to keep him in one piece. We’ll be careful.” He’ll get the help he needs. He glanced to the clock on the wall. “Lunch. Let me guess… hmm, I'm not sure if he's gonna want oatmeal or be sick of it by now.” Let's find out. After Scotty nodded, Lathe led them back into the room, gently tapping Eren’s shoulder. “More oatmeal, kid? Or are you sick of it yet?” Lathe smirked a bit, joking. You’ve been eating it as if your life depends on it.

Eren looked up from the computer screen in Jack’s lap, his eyes very large as he sneezed. He looked at Jack and Mark with weary eyes and then over to Spades as she sat in a chair on her phone with Dave, answering his questions. “C….Can...I have… mac’n’cheese...?” I want that…. I want cheese...
Eren’s been obsessed with oatmeal and mac n cheese for the past two weeks. It’s either one or the other from day to day- we’ve added all sorts of random stuff to both of them, like putting bacon in with his macaroni or going through all kinds of fruits and spices in his oatmeal. ...he’s surprisingly not too picky about what we put in them. Which is nice. Jack and Mark being around to chill with Eren was a total godsend- Eren was talking more and came out of his shell a bit more. The videos they took are on Eren’s channel now- and I know how much effort it must have taken to prepare an entire week of videos in advance to come and visit him. Eren’s length of quiet on the internet has finally been broken, which is good. I get the idea people were getting tired of nothing besides my dumb puns and statuses on twitter. We just got home- Mark and Jack left two days ago, and it didn't take too long for Scotty to pack up his entire house which he’s lived in for two years and looks abandoned. It literally didn't even take three boxes in the trunk for us to haul everything over. Pretty sure Eren is at least sorta cool with Scotty chilling with us for a little while. Spades is cool with it too, of course. ...I’ve been internally dying all day because Scotty looked so nervous when he got up for breakfast this morning and actually tried to do something with his hair and I need to stay out of it but... murr... I’ve given myself errands to do so I don’t try meddling with anything. I’ve promised. No meddling. ...so early in the relationship. Lathe stepped into his boots, picking up the car keys and his scarf before heading out, having said goodbye to everyone already.

Scotty got up to get his own shoes on. “Alright, I’m gonna head out too, and go look at my office really quickly as well, to make sure I got everything I need for it.” Yes, that’s it... cover up the date! God I hope he’s still interested.

Eren timidly poked his head around the corner and stared at the two of them with large eyes. Where are they going? Mom’s at the office helping Dave still.... Are they gonna leave me alone for a little bit? He watched Lathe leave and Scotty following him only after a few moments. They left me alone.... Eren ventured back up the stairs, moving to his room to rummage through a few things before going to the bathroom and locking the door behind him. I can do this....

Blake watched Eren lock himself in the bathroom, whimpering and whining at the door. My human... No... My human! I thought you were better! I thought you got rid of the stabby thingy! Blake’s whimpers fell to silence, no one home to hear them.

Scotty stopped at the flower store, getting a dozen red roses before walking down to the Pharmacy. He peered into the window, seeing Casper at the counter on the computer, and James in the back. You can do this dammit! He reached out to the door and entered, going right up to the counter, shouting to the back. “James! Casper’s taking his lunch break!” Now you are mine... god my heart is doing flips right now... please say yes.... Cause I think this is the thing Eren was talking about...
I'm… Casper looked up in surprise, shocked to see Scotty, and trying to comprehend the sudden shout. “I'm… what?” He looked to the roses in Scotty’s hand, his thoughts racing. those can't be for me… I'm probably his wingman or something… if so, you've really got some nerve… Casper sighed, closing the window onscreen. Apparently this is a thing. Casper got up and got his coat, coming around the counter and joining Scotty, following him onto the sidewalk. “...so, who’re the flowers for?” ... Mind telling me who it is I'm helping you catch? Casper looked rather saddened, trying to weakly smile to him.

Scotty held them out for Casper, a small blush dusting his cheeks. “They’re for you.” I'm not lying either.

Casper looked to him with wide eyes, slowly taking them from him, stunned. ...wait… “...are you serious?” ... please be serious.

“Completely…” Did I do something wrong? I mean… You're a guy, so was it wrong to get you flowers? He dragged Casper into a corner cafe and pulled him to one of the window two-seaters. We’re having a ‘date’ and I hope you don’t smack me across the face for denying you before...

Casper looked between the roses and Scotty in disbelief, before flushing and letting out an airy laugh, smiling and shaking his head. “All I can say is it’s about damn time.” Casper beamed to him with bright eyes, nudging Scotty’s foot under the table. ...you're serious. ...this is a date. ...this is a date!

Scotty seemed to sigh in relief. “Oh thank god…. I thought you were gonna smack me across the face and then leave…” Which I almost kinda expected… I should definitely ask Spades though… When’s a good time to tell him I’m buying Lathe’s house? Scotty thanked their waiter as she gave them menus, and ordered a water for himself to drink, looking over to Casper and wonder what he would get.

Casper chuckled, shaking his head. “Now why would I in my right mind do that? There’s no good reason.” ...even if you did kinda turn me down by moving and then leading me on. ...eh, I'll let it slide. You often have your blonde moments. He thanked the waiter as he was handed a menu. “Uhm, could I have hot chocolate please?” Chocolate for the win.

.... I probably should’ve guessed… You haven’t changed… and I’m really glad about that. Scotty moved his foot against Casper’s, a smile appearing on his lips, radiating happiness for once in the past 2 years. I just realized how much you mean to me in the past two weeks… I owe Eren one… or two… maybe 12…
Casper tried to read the items on the menu, failing miserably and getting distracted every other moment by Scotty simply existing in front of him, blushing furiously. ...dammit, you just need to exist and suddenly I can't function like a normal human being. Casper glanced up as Scotty tried to hold back a chuckle, flushing even redder at his realisation. ...fuck, I'm thinking out loud.

Scotty quirked an eyebrow, suddenly even more curious. “So… my existence is a bit… distracting?” Well, that’s great to know… You’re having the same effect on my heart, can’t tell if it’s just a heart attack, or true dedication… Scotty looked over the menu, finally deciding on a fish sandwich. Well, it’s food.

That’s quite the understatement. Casper skimmed the menu, looking up as the waiter came back around, handing it back to them and ordering a chicken panini with a name he valiantly tried to pronounce. They put all sorts of fancy stuff in it, and it sounds good- why not?

Scotty made a bit of small talk with Casper as they waited for their food to come out. It feels so much better to get to talk to you again. Neither of them really took into account the world around them, completely entranced in each other.

Did the optometrist’s office just magically disappear? Lathe walked down Trost, looking for the distinctive sign, glancing into the windows. Eren needs his eyes checked and we need an appointment for that, and I didn't cancel the contact order in time... Where the hell... Lathe stopped short as he looked in the front window of a cafe across the street. Is that... He saw the bouquet of roses near Casper’s arm, he and Scotty talking and blushing. ...I ship it so hard... Lathe had a moment of silent fangirling across the street from them when a thought occurred to him. ...wait. I didn't know Scotty was going out today. Eren's still home... alone. Lathe felt a sudden rush of dread, having long since learned not to ignore it. He turned around to head for his car, driving home. He's on suicide watch- he can't be by himself. Lathe opened the door, looking up the staircase as Blake barked, circling at the top of the stairs. Fuck. Lathe grabbed his medic bag and raced upstairs, long claw marks on the bathroom door and silence from inside as he pounded on the door. “Eren! Open the door!” Lathe suddenly caught the smell of blood from where he stood, his eyes wide. Fuck it. Lathe was about to snatch the key when he remembered the new mech in the doorknobs, sharply pushing it forward, the lock sliding out of place as the door opened. He saw Eren with his sleeved rolled up, both of his wrists slashed and bleeding into the bathtub as he held them there. Oh my god. Lathe immediately and quickly went to snatch the razor from Eren’s hand, managing not to get cut and dropping it into the wastebasket for that moment. “Eren, what are you doing?” He felt Eren sway as he caught his wrists, realising just how much blood he had lost. Crap. Stop the wrists from bleeding, meaning clean and wrap, break out an IV, and keep him awake. ...do I even have an IV? Fuck, I don't know... I need help. Lathe quickly took out his phone and dialled Scotty’s number, putting it on speaker and beginning to work quickly, cleaning out Eren’s cuts as Scotty picked up. “Yeah, hi Scotty, sorry to bother you on your date, but I really, really need your help. Eren cut while he was home alone and I wouldn't have left if I knew you were going to but he’s lost a lot of blood and I'm trying to clean his cuts but he needs some sort of IV and I don't know if we have one or not... seriously, sorry, but please I need help.” Sorry Scotty, Casper... Eren's losing blood.
... I forgot… how cold I forget!? I was the one to put him on the damn watch! Scotty’s face was growing a bit pale as Lathe continued to talk. “He… He tried… again?” Scotty was in complete disbelief, but started to get up from the table not putting the phone down. I’m sorry Casper… but I fucked up… I’m gonna need to take a rain check.

Eren watched Lathe move his wrists, feeling the slight discomfort of the gauze cleaning out his cuts. …What? Why?…… I’m supposed to be dead…. Eren’s head swayed, his cheek finally coming to rest on the rim of the tub, his body starting to get slack. I lost a lot… maybe I will die this time?

Eren tried what again? …he doesn’t mean… Casper’s eyes widened, standing along with him. …we have to go, don’t we. {Scotty, is there anything he needs?} Casper signed to him so he could still hear Lathe. I'm coming with you. No argument.

Scotty moved the phone for barely a second. “We need to go to the hospital…. Now.” I need to get an IV and probably a blood transfusion… this is gonna be fun…. “Alright, Lathe, keep him awake… We’ll be there in ten minutes.” Scotty quickly hung up the phone and practically pulled Casper out of his seat, not caring. This is my fault.

Casper followed Scotty quickly to his car, not before leaving notes on the table to pay for the food they’d ordered, running with him to his car. Keep him awake? That means- “We’re getting IV stuff, aren’t we?” Casper’s expression was etched with worry as Scotty nodded. …hang on, kid. We’re coming.

I don’t know if we have ten minutes. Lathe continued to swiftly and carefully wrap Eren’s arms, pulling him up to sit upright, starting to talk. Just babble. About anything. Keep him awake. Lathe stuttered for a moment before beginning to jump from one subject to the next, keeping asking Eren if he was awake to hear him and trying to hold his attention. Stay with me. Lathe finished wrapping his arms and picked Eren up from the floor, carrying him downstairs and setting him on the couch, still talking and making awful puns in hopes they’d keep him from falling asleep, Eren nodding off in his hold. COME ON, DAMN IT!! Lathe had nearly begun to panic as the front door swung open, Scotty and Casper immediately coming to their side. Thank god backup.

Scotty immediately set to work on Eren, getting an IV in on one arm, and a transfusion going on the other arm. He’s so fucking pale…. I should never have fucking left, god dammit! “I’m sorry, Lathe.” His words were quiet as he set everything in place. Come on, Eren, wake up! Having noticed Eren’s eyes closed completely, Scotty moved over him, grabbing the boy’s face in his hands. “Eren! Wake up! Can you hear me!? Eren!” Scotty continued to call for Eren to wake up, looking over the bandages. “How deep are they? Do they need stitches?” I hope that he’s not still bleeding out… that we’d need to take him back to the hospital for.
He’s so pale… Casper set the flowers on the small table as near the door, coming in behind Scotty and moving to stand near Lathe, letting Scotty work and trying to silently comfort and calm Lathe. ...oh no...

Lathe shook his head, moving to let Scotty work, his hands covering his mouth, his voice muffled slightly. “N-no, they don't need stitches… they weren't that deep…” ...but there were plenty of them...

Eren’s eyes remained closed, his color not returning to him, even with the transfusion nearing it’s end.….. That’s…. Dad…. I can …. hear him….. Eren’s breathing weakened a bit, along with his heart, but both were still functioning, he hadn’t managed to bleed out, but he wouldn’t be back to one hundred percent in awhile. ………….. Dad…………

Scotty continued to talk to Eren, trying to wake him up, slapping his cheeks lightly to try and wake him up. Come on, Kid, I know you’re in there…. You can’t give up on yourself now. You need to come back to us!

Lathe tried to snap out of it, kneeling down next to Eren and brushing the hair from his face, he himself taking over talking, trying to keep from panicking with every passing second that Eren didn't open his eyes. …Eren, come on… please… you need to be okay …

It took almost ten more minutes for Eren to crack open his eyes, he still looked deathly pale, but he was alive, and awake. …. What the hell…. Happened? His eyes, lidded with exhaustion, were full of confusion. I can’t… remember...

Lathe sighed in relief, tension draining from his body as Eren woke up. “Eren, my god, you scared us…” Lathe pecked his forehead, his temple, giving him a tiny, weary smile. “How are you feeling?” Probably pretty awful… but we need to get you talking.

Eren’s brow weakly furrowed as Lathe kissed his forehead. What do you mean? I thought it would be better off if I was dead? You and mom wouldn’t have to worry about anything anymore. Eren had a blank stare, too utterly exhausted to even move at this point, his eyes starting to close as he tried to fall asleep. I’m tired...

...wait. The PTSD meds. “Hang on Eren, don't fall asleep yet-” Casper snatched Lathe’s bag from his shoulder, rifling through it and producing one of the small doses of PTSD medication. He needs this before sleeping. Casper only needed a minute to add the medicine to the saline drip.
“Alright kid, we get you're sleepy. You take a decent nap, okay?” You look like you need it, if your complexion reminiscent of a piece of paper is anything to go by.

Lathe’s shoulders slumped as Eren drifted to sleep, looking up to Scotty and Casper, standing and rubbing the back of his neck awkwardly. “M’sorry I interrupted your date- I kinda panicked and needed help…” unintentional meddling. That’s got to be a new high score for you in the game of annoyance, Lathe.

Scotty sighed quietly, rubbing the back of his neck, and moving Eren to let him lay down comfortably on the couch. “Don’t worry, it’s my fault… I’m sorry, I completely forgot… and I’m the one who put him on the watch… and I left him alone… god dammit.” Scotty hung his head in shame, have expecting to be slapped by either of the two in the room for his negligence.

Casper sighed and rolled his eyes, moving to smack Scotty upside the head. “You need to stop constantly having blonde moments.” seriously. Stahp. “We’re worried sick of course, but thankfully Lathe has inherited the parental gut instinct and we were close enough to the hospital to get what we needed to. It doesn't make it okay, but at least right now things are sorta fine. Well… not really. But now we know how pressing it is that Eren go to therapy when he’s up for it.” He needs it.

Scotty nodded, wincing a bit at Casper’s smack. “Yeah, he needs to… Spades is gonna be home soon I would imagine…” Scotty trailed off a somber look overtaking his face as he remembered something. I need to take you back to work... And we never got to eat lunch... Well, I singlehandedly fucked up our date....

You look really sad all of a sudden. ...wait. “Hey Casper, aren't you supposed to be working or something?” That’s a thing… right? He raised an eyebrow as Casper nodded. “...when is your lunch break over?”

Casper glanced at his watch. “...I've got twenty five minutes, why?” ...oh yeah, we never really ate... dammit, I was looking forward to that sandwich...

... okay. Slight meddling. Lathe shooed them to the scripting room. “Alright then, you two go chill in the Scripting room. I'll make lunch real quick.” I can cook fast enough for you to be back in time- I know James can be real strict on you being back in time.

Scotty just looked down, walking over to the couch in the scripting room. Well, I fucked that up majorly. Dammit... He's probably not gonna wanna ever go out to lunch with me after this... Scotty heaved a sigh as he put his head in his hands.
He’s really beating himself up about this. Casper wrapped an arm around Scotty’s middle and pulled him onto the couch next to him, his other arm wrapping around him and keeping him pressed to his side, coaxing him to lean back. ...it’s okay. Casper hooked the coffee table with his foot, pulling it closer so he could put his feet up, resting his head on Scotty’s arm. ...Lathe, just an FYI… choosing this instead of the table was a great decision.

Scotty let Casper move him around. What the hell are we doing? He watched with wide eyes as he was cuddled. Okay... This is now a thing? I guess... Apparently? Alright, I could get used to this. Scotty was a bit unsure about moving his arm, but soon brought it out from under him and around Casper, pulling him closer.

Casper smiled faintly as Scotty wrapped an arm around him, quiet as he simply held onto Scotty until he heard Lathe approaching shortly with food, handing both of them chicken sandwiches and setting water glasses on the table. He noticed Lathe seemed to be trying hard not to say anything. ...you still ship it so hard, don’t you. ...same tho. Casper thanked him and quietly ate his food, simply enjoying Scotty’s presence next to him. He looked to his watch after his plate was clean, looking to Scotty. “I need to get back to the pharmacy- don’t want James to bust a vessel if I’m a second late.” He really is too uptight- eh. You get used to it, I guess.

... You have to go so soon? Scotty nodded, putting his glass of water down on the table. “I’ll drive you.” It’s a thing I can do, and maybe I’ll be able to kiss you after this? Make up for my stupidity?

“Thanks.” Casper smiled to him, standing with his plate, Scotty following him as they brought their dishes to the kitchen. Casper tried for a moment to insist they do them, Lathe instead shooing them back to the door. Fiiiiiiiiine. “Thanks, Lathe. We’ll see you later, okay?” Casper looked over to Eren, pale and still asleep on the couch. See ya around, kid. He shrugged on his coat, following Scotty to his car. It was a short drive, and before he knew it they were standing back outside of the pharmacy. Casper still holding the small bouquet of roses, not quite knowing how to say goodbye. ...fuck, how do you do the thing... I don't know, I haven't really had a real date before, and I'm not sure if this really counts... I mean, maybe...

Scotty felt his heart flutter even more. I swear, I'm having a heart attack... But it doesn't hurt. He leaned down, gently pecking Casper’s lips, a smile on his face as he pulled back. “Thanks... I’ll make sure to call you before I drag you out to lunch again.” I surprisingly had a good time.

.......you call that a kiss? Casper stood on his tiptoes, pulling Scotty down by the front of his shirt to kiss him again, smirking a bit as he heard his gasp in surprise. Better. Casper broke the kiss after a long moment, a dark blush on his cheeks, smiling. “That’s probably a good idea.” Advance warning, please. “I’ll see you again soon, yeah? Text me.” It'd be nice to start talking again. Casper turned at that, going back into the pharmacy. ...that was a nice date... sort of.
Scotty just had a huge blush as he backed up a bit in surprise. “Okay, see you later.” Holy crap…. He kissed me!

James was standing at the counter, his arms crossed as he looked at Casper coming in. “So who’s the new guy?” Did you finally get over him now?

Casper set the flowers down on the desk, smiling as thoughts ran through his head. “The only guy—that was Scotty.”

James’ face shifted to utter confusion. “Wait, you’re telling me you just kissed the asshole that made you cry for a solid week?!” What the hell is wrong with you?!

...weeeellllll…. “...well, that asshole is now apparently my boyfriend, so yes, I am granted that privilege.” …..mine.

“Casper! Was this your make up date or something? Why the hell did you take him back?!” I really don’t understand you at all!

“Scotty I never ever were a thing before because he was being a stubborn asshole and refused to consider the fact that maybe being gay was okay! But you know what? He’s come to his senses and took me out on a date and he was being hella sweet and I’m gonna give his sorry ass a chance at this.” He deserves one. He was an asshole, but he still deserves one.

James shook his head, sighing quietly, and going to the back. “Get back to work.” Get your mind off of the lips you just smacked.

Eren’s eyes cracked open a few hours later, groaning quietly to himself…. I feel like I’m gonna be sick. He barely had the strength to roll over, his body convulsing a bit as he threw up everything in his stomach for a whole minute. Fuck… It hurts…. Dammit… It didn’t work… I’m still here.

Lathe slid into the room from the Scripting room at the sound of Eren’s retching, wincing. Fuck, you look awful… and now I have to clean that. “Oh my… you must feel horrible… I understand that, you lost a lot of blood earlier. Just stay cool, it’s fine…” Lathe carded a hand through his hair, avoiding the puddle on the floor for the moment. “I'll clean this up… is there anything you need? A blanket? Some water?” ...gross

....My whole body hurts… what do I do? Eren shook his head for now, his body feeling like lead. It hurts… why didn't it fucking work? Eren’s eyes were barely open as he watched Lathe, his head starting to feel light and his nose once again started to bleed. Fuck…

_Fuck_. Lathe immediately pulled out his phone again, dialling Scotty. “Scotty, Eren’s nose is bleeding. He needs another transfusion- and please steal as many isotonic saline IVs as you can without getting fired.” _That would be bad_. He went to get gauze from his bag, pressing it to Eren’s nose.

Eren lost consciousness relatively quick, his eyes fluttering shut as his nose bled. _My head hurts…_

Scotty’s eyes widened as he heard Lathe’s frantic voice. “Look at his wrists, I’m heading out now.” _What the hell is with your luck, Kid? Thank god I was already here._

Lathe shook Eren’s shoulder, trying to get him to wake up to no avail. _He’s out._ Fuckfuckfuckfuckfuck Lathe stopped trying after a moment, looking to his arms and unravelling one of his wraps as Scotty had told him, revealing his cuts and seeing the red exposed flesh in the slits. His eyes widened as he saw thin threads of pale skin seemingly move to cross the gap, beginning to stitch the cuts together. Underneath, thin red strands of flesh started to weave their way between each other, pulling taut and sealing the cut. The last few threads of skin spiderwebbed across the surface of his skin, the faintest traces of the cuts fading into a scarless pale, the last thread at the end of the seam drawn under the human hem until it was gone, no evidence of its existence left behind. Lathe stared, unraveling the wraps more and more as the healing travelled up his arm, the wraps falling to the floor as his wrists were sewn seamlessly shut.

Spades walked in a few minutes after Lathe called Scotty, worry crossing her face the instant she saw Lathe knelt down near Eren. _Oh no_. “Lathe- I'm home. What-” Spades looked over his shoulder, falling silent with shock as his cuts stitched themselves back together, Lathe unwinding his arms and inspecting the skin carefully. ....oh. My fucking god.

Scotty was stuck with silence. “Lathe! What’s happening? Talk to me dammit!” _What the fuck is happening to him!? Do I need to call a fucking ambulance for him?_

Lathe’s mouth opened and closed wordlessly, gaping like a fish for a long moment as he tried to find words. “U-Uhm, S-Scotty… I d-don't think an ambulance is necessary… but… his cuts are, for a lack of a better w-word… they're sewing themselves back up.” …what. The actual. Fuck.

“Wait… Did you just say they’re sewing up? By themselves?” What the hell? Scotty rushed in his car getting to the driveway and rushing in, he put in the new transfusion as well as another IV. His hands stopped as he spotted Eren’s arms slowly stitching themselves up. *The…. *Fuck … Is that?

Lathe shifted a bit out of Scotty’s way, still mindful of the mess under him as he kept the gauze pressed to Eren’s nose. “His nose is still bleeding heavily… if what we think is right, he better stop healing himself soon or he’ll run out of blood. I’d rather him heal at a normal rate than lose too much.” Come on, Eren. I’m getting worried- what you’re capable of because of what Grisha gave you is amazing but it’s scaring me with how much blood it makes you lose.

Eren’s eyes barely cracked open, his color still gone from his face. I feel like shit… What’s happening. “…..w….wa….warm…mm” My arms feel like they’re on fire!

Lathe dabbed at Eren’s nose, the stream finally dwindling to a trickle. “Eren, are you okay? Tell us how you feel.” …what are the immediate effects of this? Can you feel it? What does it feel like? …oh no. I’m turning into Scotty.

“H….h-h….hot....” Eren groaned as he tried to move, feeling his stomach tighten and moving his head, his body starting to lurch as he was throwing up all over again. *I feel sick… I’m exhausted....

… Woah…. Scotty had already taken photos and video of the miracle of Eren’s arms healing, and winced a bit as Eren hurled the rest of the stomach acid in front of Lathe. Well damn… He looks really sick. I wonder if that’s an effect he always has? Or is he just sick right now? Or is it because he’s healing skin for the first time? It looks almost alien what his skin is doing… And is his nose bleeding a signal that he’s healing something? How much blood does he bleed, and does the amount represent how much energy it takes to heal whatever it is he’s healing?

Lathe moved back, wincing and covering his mouth with his arm as Eren threw up. …it’s a good thing being a doctor for that long gets you used to this sort of crap. “…I’m going to get stuff to clean that up. ...but first, I’ll get an ice pack for you, you must have a fever…” Lathe carefully stepped back, going to the kitchen to make a ice pack for him and bringing it back, handing it to Scotty before going to get cleaning supplies from the laundry room, mopping up the mess and setting a bucket next to the couch. “That is in case you need to pitch again. At least try to aim.” I don’t want to have to clean up more puke than I have to.

Spades looked up to Eren worriedly, moving so she was behind his head near the arm of the couch, threading her fingers through his hair gently. “You do feel very warm… I’ll get you some water, if only to stop the burning, okay?” ...that's never a pleasant experience... She left for the kitchen and came back after a moment with a glass of cool water, carefully handing it to Eren, helping him sip it as his hands shook too hard trying to take it. You really are unwell...

Eren looked up to Spades, trying to croak out a few more words. “My... A-arms... T-they’re... Warm...” Eren whimpered, trying to touch the searing skin. They're so fucking warm... It hurts...

Spades gently caught his hands, trying to keep him from the healing skin. “Eren, the heat must be from the healing... don't touch it, let it do what it's doing. I know it might hurt but it’s important you don't mess with it.” We can't have you getting scarred or hurt any more ... wait. You cut. It finally clicked, having been distracted by the cut’s healing. You tried again... didn't you.

Eren whimpered more. “Mo~~mmy... It hurts.” Eren whined as she held his slow healing arms. It hurts so much why does the skin hurt so much!? It’s never hurt like this for broken bones! Eren started to cry from the pain radiating from his arms.

Spades brushed away his tears, murmuring to him soothingly. She snatched Lathe’s kerchief from his back pocket as he passed her, wiping at Eren’s cheeks and pecking his temple. “Eren honey, it’ll be over soon, I know it really really hurts but you're getting better... it won't be forever, don't worry... I've got you, Mommy’s right here...” You'll be okay when this is all over.

Eren looked to the red handkerchief, jerking his head away from her in fear, starting to cry even harder. “N-no... N-no m-mm-more... Pl-please...” Eren started to beg, moving away from everyone. They’re gonna tie me up! They’re gonna kill me! No! No more! Blake’s whining started to turn into small growls, trying to alert them of his beginning stages of panic. Eren had thrown up his PTSD medication...

Spades looked to him shocked for a moment that he was moving away from her. What... is it the kerchief? Spades dropped it out of sight behind her, murmuring calmly into his ear still. She rested a hand on his shoulder, her other threading through his hair, trying not to seem threatening. “Eren honey, it’s okay. Mommy’s here... I'm not going to hurt you... the kerchief will stay away if you don't like it, but you're okay, I promise...” ...Lathe’s gonna need to find a different one to carry around then. He sure needs it plenty of times.

Eren looked to her, leaning into her touch, but still freaking out, flashes of memories passing through his thoughts. No... No... Not again... His tears increased, Blake finally just jumping into the couch to ground Eren as he laid down to try and calm him down.

My human needs help... He’s panicking! I can’t stop it! He’s panicking! Bigger humans! HELP Blake whined at all of them, his full weight on Eren’s chest. He needs to calm down!

He threw up all of his medicine… don’t have to look that hard to see them… still really fucking gross… Lathe returned after the mess was cleaned up, assessing the situation, seeing his kerchief on the floor abandoned. apparently that’s no use anymore… Eren’s freaking out… Blake’s being surprisingly ineffective… yep. While he’s vulnerable to throwing it back up, shots it is. Lathe went to his medical bag, fishing out a small metal box of the PTSD doses in tiny bottles, also fetching a syringe. In a moment he had a dose added to Eren’s IV, packing up and kneeling down next to him, holding onto one of his hands. “Eren, you don't have to be so scared of us. We just want you to be okay- we don't want to hurt you.” Come on… we all love you too much. You've got all three of us around your finger, even if you- or Scotty too, for that matter- don't know it.

It took a bit, but Eren calmed back down, though Blake stayed on his chest, which meant that Eren was panicking a bit still. He looked over to Lathe, the tears having subsided. “It burns… Are they done healing yet?” Eren pleaded for an answer. I don’t wanna look!

Lathe looked to his arms, seeing the cuts had finally sealed all the way up his arms to his wrists, nodding. “Yeah, they are. And the burning will go away- it’ll be fine.” Eren stayed put on the couch until dinner, when they moved him to the table to try and eat. Lathe made sure Eren slowly nibbled at his food to make sure he could hold it down, giving him his pills when Eren ate without his dinner reappearing. After he ate, Lathe carried Eren over to the beanbag bed, not trusting Eren to walk as he sleepily swayed in his chair after finishing. He settled Eren in and pulled the covers over him, setting it over Blake as well as he came to settle next to him, and then making room as Salem followed Blake over. Eren has quite the moral support group. “Goodnight, kid. Sleep well.” Lathe pecked his forehead, standing and going back to finish the dishes, soon letting Spades drag him upstairs with her.

Scotty watched Eren sleep for a few minutes, running through the footage he took as Eren’s arms healed themselves. He went up to his own room about half an hour later, falling asleep as soon as his head hit the pillow.
Chapter 43: Seizures

It wasn't much more than an hour later that Scotty was suddenly jolted awake, flailing a bit in confusion as Blake pawed at him and tried to get his attention. “W-wha… what the hell, Blake? ...what’s wrong?” Scotty whisper shouted to Blake. What's going on? Why'd you wake me up?

Blake watched him, tilting his head a bit as Scotty spoke. My human is convulsing! I can’t stop it! And my Human’s big humans are moaning out in utmost pain! But they’re door is closed so I can’t do Jack shit about it! Get the hell up! Blake growled lowly, pawing at his chest, a few moans heard over him from the next room over.

Why the hell didn't you go to Lathe or Spades first? Scotty suddenly heard a sound over Blake, listening and trying to figure out what it was for a split second, suddenly turning crimson. ...that’s why… damnit. “I'm coming, I've got to make sure Eren’s okay… and need to get away from those traumatising noises…” Scotty swung his legs over the side of the bed, Blake jumping off the bed and racing down the stairs. Scotty followed him to where he sat next to Eren, his eyes widening as he saw Eren jerking. He's having a seizure. Fuck, how long has it been? Not a minute since I woke up, and god knows how long before that! Scotty moved next to Eren, getting him on his side as he seized, waiting out his seizure with anxiety. He glanced to the clock, making out the hands. If he goes over three I'm calling an ambulance. Scotty sighed in relief as Eren stopped an agonisingly long two minutes later, shaking. Oh my. Scotty shifted so he was laying down next to Eren, holding him close and feeling him cling weakly to his shirt.

Blake watched them, whimpering a bit as he moved to lick Eren’s frozen face. Why does my Human look like that? Why aren't his eyes moving??

Fuck… what do I do? I'm not getting any help from upstairs anytime soon, what the fuck do I do? Scotty shifted as he felt himself laying on something, pulling out Eren’s phone from under him. Right. Scotty looked up his number from the group chat, sending a text.

SO: Casper, it's Scotty, borrowing Eren’s phone- he had a seizure and is in shock and I don’t know what to do please can you come and help I know it’s late but can you?

CP: what the hell are you doing up at midnight for? And aren’t Lathe and Spades there?

SO: They're rather occupied with... Uhm... each other... and Blake went to me and woke me up when he started seizing CP: Alright, I'll be over soon... Did you guys give him his medicine?

SO: Yeah he was sick earlier so we gave him his PTSD stuff in an IV, and he held down his meds after dinner.
CP: Are you positive that he held it down? Because he’s supposed to be completely knocked out...

SO: ...there’s not another puddle of vomit visible...

CP: He didn’t like choke on it did he? Or did he get up to vomit? I know the beanbag’s close to the bathroom.

CP: Open the damn door…

Scotty quirked an eyebrow at that before he heard rapping at the door, getting up and opening the door for Casper. “I’m sorry for making you get up so late, I don’t think he was in any shape to walk to throw up his medicine in the bathroom, and he didn’t choke on it, there’s no evidence to see…” Scotty closed the door behind him, unsure of what to do at all. Fuck… and now I have to deal with two confusing circumstances… but it was my only choice.

Casper nodded, moving to Lathe’s bag and getting Eren’s medication. He moved to Eren’s limp body, injecting the medication into his system and then disposing of the syringe. “I’m gonna check something…” He quietly padded towards the bathroom turning on the light and sighing. He threw up… He only somewhat made it to the toilet… “Scotty.” He called softly for the taller man to come look at the development. We can’t give him pills right now…

Scotty followed him, shaking his head at the mess. ...points for effort... but no dice. “So he sorta made it in here… he’s still really sick… I’ll get the stuff to clean this… but he’s not going to be able to sleep much without his medicine.” ...by himself. “...at least not alone. I’ll probably sleep with him tonight. And I’m really sorry, having you come out here I keep thinking was just really unnecessary and ugh I'm sorry, forget it I can't words…” Scotty dropped his head a bit, turning to get cleaning supplies. I think I know where Lathe keeps them…

Casper watched him leave. Well... I don’t really mind... I mean, I got to see you, I would consider that trip not wasted. Casper moved back over to Eren, carding through his hair as Blake laid on his chest, trying to get him to calm down a bit. You’ll be on injected PTSD for awhile, until we know you’re not gonna throw up again. He watched as Eren started to fall asleep, a soft smile on his face. That’s it Eren, relax and sleep, Scotty and I will stay with you tonight…

It was awhile until Scotty returned to the beanbag bed, seeing a Eren curled up to Casper, who was on his side. ...how do I...? ...you know what. Fuck it. Scotty sat down next to Casper, pulling the blanket up and tentatively winding his arm around Casper's middle. ...mine.

Casper looked over to Scotty, a soft smile on his face, though he shifted over Scotty to lay on his other side. “You should be sleeping next to Eren… In case he wakes up and needs you.” You’re like an older brother to him…. Casper laid his head on Scotty’s chest, listening to his heartbeat, and his fingers playing with his shirt hem. Are Lathe and Spades actually doing it upstairs? And that’s why I was recruited to come?

Scotty sighed as Casper laid down on top of him, shivering a bit as he first started to play with the hem of his tank top, calming and feeling a warmth settle over him. …mine. “Y-yeah… and thank you.” I’m glad you came… Scotty drifted to sleep, deeply contented with life as Casper slept on his chest.

Lathe cracked open an eye early the next morning, yawning widely, looking over and smiling as Spades slept peacefully next to him, smirking. I love you. He pecked her cheek lightly, slipping from bed to slip on clothes and pad downstairs, rubbing the sleep from his eyes. He nearly missed the setup on the beanbag bed, stopping as he saw a familiar mop of violet hair. …when the hell did Casper get here? And Scotty’s there too… that’s adorable… but it also means something happened with Eren… and we were kinda busy, so we couldn’t be called for help… awk-ward… but good thinking. Lathe let it slide, trying not to wake them up as he went to get coffee.

Scotty cracked open his eyes after a few more minutes, looking around in confusion before registering the weights on his body. What the hell? Oh… Right… Eren had a seizure… And Casper is… Oh my god is he hard? Scotty blushed crimson as he felt Casper’s morning wood pressing against his leg. Oh fuck me…

Casper started to wake up as Scotty shifted a bit underneath him, letting out a small sound as Scotty’s leg rubbed a bit near his crotch, his face suddenly feeling like it was on fire as he realised he was hard. …oh fuck… Casper moved to push up from on top of Scotty, stuttering apologies, his gaze fixed anywhere but his face- when he felt Scotty’s own morning wood poking at his ass, looking up at him and flushing completely, a small spark of guilty lust in his eyes. I really want to take care of this… but I don’t know if you’d be okay with that yet...

Scotty didn’t miss the look Casper gave him. Fuck it… We can be quiet, and the bed upstairs doesn’t creak… Scotty carefully removed Eren’s hands from his shirt and moved Casper off of him, getting up himself before yanking on Casper’s arm and dragging him up the stairs quietly. I kinda want to take care of this… And now would be great.

Casper stumbled after him, letting him drag him upstairs, lazily grinning as he realised what was happening. Scotty had just gotten them inside his temporary room and shut the door when Casper pressed him against the door, hungrily kissing him, pressing flush against him. Please… if you want this… because I really want this...

Scotty kissed back just as hungrily, though he moved around to switch their positions, pinning Casper against the wall, and kissing him with vigor, moving his head down to kiss his jawline and then all the way down to his neck and collarbone. Fuck it… You’re mine right now...
Casper’s eyes widened as Scotty suddenly took the lead, gasping as Scotty trailed to kiss at his neck, letting out a quiet moan as he nipped at his skin. oh my god… His arms wound around his shoulders, keeping him at his neck, arching up to keep their bodies flush. He gasped as Scotty’s hands found his ass, panting and trying to keep his voice down. “S-Scotty… nnngh… p-please…” please… make me yours. His hands ran down Scotty’s back, trying vainly to keep quiet. Whatever you want, you can have it. I want to give it to you. Anything.

Scotty smirked at the response he got from Casper, easily lifting him up and walking over to the bed, practically throwing him down on the mattress, turning to the nightstand and pulling out a bottle of lube and a few condoms. I might need more than one with how pent up I am… Fuck… He grabbed a scarf that he had brought, pulling it taut. “Think you can keep quiet?” I’m gonna gag you if you say no…

There’s no way with you looking at me like that. Casper shook his head, giving him no resistance as Scotty then gagged him, his eyes hooded as Scotty then tied his hands to the headboard with the other end of the fabric, whining a bit. But I want to touch you too… His length strained against his boxers, trying to coax Scotty on top of him with his eyes. Get the fuck over here.

Scotty stood back for a moment, admiring his handiwork. He lifted Casper’s shirt over his head and left it there on his arms, looking to make sure the door was locked before he grabbed Casper’s boxers and tore them off in one go. Looking over his bare body, Scotty had no reserve as he touched him everywhere. God, he feels wonderful, and I’m not even in him yet. He reached out and flicked one of Casper’s nipples experimentally. How do you take that?

Casper let himself moan freely into the gag as Scotty’s hands travelled up and down his body, trying to roll his hips up and find some friction. Casper’s eyes raked up and down his body, wanting him to get rid of his clothes too. I want to see you, damn it… Casper let out a sudden loud groan as Scotty flicked his nipple, his hips bucking up. Please… my god, just fuck me already…

Scotty’s eyes darkened as he watched Casper’s body react under him. “I hope you're prepared… Cause I don’t exactly know how to be gentle…” He reached up behind him and took off his shirt and slipped out of his boxers, his own length dripping in precum. God damn… Well… Time to open him up. He grabbed the lube and condoms, moving in between Casper’s knees, a single finger going to teasingly poke at the hole, his other hand reaching up to flick his other nipple. I wanna have you shudder under me…

Casper spread his leg widely for him, his eyes darkening as he drank in the sight of Scotty’s impressive length and wide girth, precum dripping from the head. It really is true, what they say… Casper nodded as he spoke, trying to speak around the gag. “…don’t be.” I don’t want gentle. I want to be had, any way you want. Please. Casper thrusted his hips down when Scotty poked teasingly at his entrance, groaning as Scotty flicked at his perk nipple.

Scotty watched with hooded eyes, moving his hands and finally lubing a finger up and gently prodding at Casper’s pucker before inserting the finger in one go. I have no patience but I know you need to get prepped... Or I can’t fuck you...

Casper’s head fell back against the pillows, moaning as Scotty felt up his walls, thrusting back onto his finger. Please... I have zero patience... I want you...

Scotty’s one finger quickly became two, which just as quickly became three. His pace was almost merciless as he had located Casper’s prostate and teased all around it. I know exactly where it is... you will be mine .... His hands were almost a blur as he put on a condom and lubed himself up. I can’t believe I’m actually doing this... But it feels so right.

Casper moaned without shame as Scotty teased and prodded at his prostate, his hips meeting the thrusts of his hands, precum streaming down his length as he relished in the feeling of being stretched. He whimpered as the hand was suddenly gone, looking down to see Scotty putting on a condom, his legs spread very wide and hips moving down to encourage him to go forward as he lined up with his entrance. I don't know if you know just how flexible I am... and please... just take me already... Casper whined with need, the look in his eyes lustful and desperate. Please.

Scotty’s grin looked almost sadistic as he moved Casper up a bit, his knees tucked under his lower back, his length pointed to his entrance. All it took was one solid thrust and Scotty’s massive length plunged deep into Casper. Holy... Fucking shit... He’s fucking tight... And god this feels amazing. I haven’t even moved yet, either. That damn look should be illegal. He waited only a few seconds for Casper to adjust, then rolled his hips to force himself even deeper, a groan rolling off his tongue. He dipped his head down, biting at Casper’s collarbone, making sure his mark was hidable.

Casper panted with excited anticipation as Scotty propped him up a bit, gasping as he suddenly sheathed his huge length inside of him, feeling tears prick at his eyes as he was stretched to accommodate his girth and long length. “S-Scotty... h... HA!” Casper gave a sharp cry as Scotty rolled his length even deeper into him, letting out a long moan. Casper bared his neck to him, uncaring. Mark me. Please. I want everyone to know I'm yours. I want something to be damn proud of. He groaned as Scotty sucked hard at his collarbone, turning his head and trying to coax him closer to his throat. Let me have something to show off.

Scotty’s eyes lit up as he heard Casper’s muffled moans of his name, begging for a brutal pace, pulling only halfway out before slamming back into him, teasing his prostate with each thrust. His pace soon became quicker, and his head moved as Casper coaxed him, making his way up to Casper’s neck and biting the supple flesh until it gave way a bit, lapping at it in some sort of apology, tasting the metal tang of blood on his tongue. Mine.

Casper’s muffled groans became louder as Scotty thrusted faster into him, moaning wantonly as he teased his prostate. “S-Scotty… p-please…” Casper gasped as Scotty bit his neck and drew blood, sighing as he lapped at it apologetically. You… I haven't had too many people… but nobody ever would give me what I wanted… and then, thank fucking god, you get it right. Casper moved his hips to meet each thrust, completely surrendering to Scotty, his legs going to wrap around his waist and push him even deeper.

... Message received. Scotty immediately pounded harder and deeper into Casper, shifting just a bit to directly aim at his prostate. Let's see if you can come without me touching your dick at all… You certainly sound like you can…

Casper cried out as Scotty hit his prostate dead on, meeting it completely with every hard thrust. Oh my god… “S- Scotty… p-p- please, I can’t… mnngh …” Casper felt a hot heat pooling in his abdomen, his own length painfully hard and dripping onto his stomach, the slightly painful throb of neglect arousing him even further, drinking in the absolutely predatory look Scotty was giving him. I can't last much longer…

... Hot fuck. Scotty’s eyes glinted with pride as he continued to roughly pound into him. He was starting to feel that warm sensation beginning to form in his stomach. “Casper… I want you to cum for me… Okay? But we gotta cum together.” You’ll have to wait for me… Heh.

Is that an order? Casper tried to hold down the need to cum for a while longer, finding it immensely difficult as Scotty kept up his absolutely brutal pace, nailing his prostate with every thrust. I'm trying… Casper forced down the want for as long as he could, immensely aroused by the throb of his length as he kept from cumming, trying to speak. “S-Scotty… I-I c- can’t… mnngh… I h-have to cum… I w-want to so bad… j-just let me cum… p- please…”

Scotty smirked, moving towards Casper’s ear and nipping at it. “Then cum for me, Casper, cum for me.” His voice was dark and sultry as his thrusts grew erratic, feeling his own coil beginning to unwind. I’m gonna cum too.

“SCOTTY!” Casper cried out as he came hard, a large load decorating their chests as he panted and moaned Scotty’s name over and over like a mantra, going limp and letting Scotty use him until he came... that felt so good… Casper relished in the feeling of being filled, his eyelids fluttering as his gaze raked over Scotty's body. ...I’m yours.
Scotty could barely contain himself as he heard Casper’s muffled shout and felt his walls clamp around him. He gave a couple more erratic thrusts before leaning over him and emptying out his huge load into the condom. He didn’t pull out, simply laying there above Casper with Casper in his arms. That felt amazing, I haven’t been in something so right in a while.

Casper panted, loving of the feeling of Scotty still inside of him and on top of him, his eye sliding shut and head falling back, tired and letting Scotty hold his limp body, his hands working to try and undo the knot around them. I wanna touch… let me… please…

Scotty looked up feeling him wiggling in his grasp. Oh, you wanna be released… That can be done I think. He reached up helping to get his hands out of the scarf and then remove it from his mouth. “It worked great as a gag.” Which is awesome… I wonder when I’m gonna tell him that this is my house now?

Casper wasted no time in taking hold of him and kissing him deeply, his hands grabbing his shoulders, taking small breaks between kisses to speak. “Scotty… I’ve never… ever… been with someone… who gave me… exactly… what I wanted.” Casper looked up to him, his eyes full of pure adoration, a tear trailing down his cheek as he thought. …the fifteen year wait… at this point… it was worth it.

Scotty gave Casper a lopsided grin. “Well, I’m glad you enjoyed yourself… And there’s… Definitely gonna be…. More than that… Later on.” I can definitely say that. Well… I had fun! We’re gonna need to head back soon, Eren’s probably gonna wake up soon. He moved to kiss Casper’s marked neck. “I also didn’t mean to draw blood.” His licks were gentle as he remembered.

Casper sighed quietly, lost in the feeling. “T-that’s very okay… I was fine… I thought you were doing it on purpose, actually…” That was very okay. ‘S-Scotty, Uhm… I kinda want to say something else. I just… I love you.” Casper spoke quickly and quietly, not sure how Scotty would react to those words.

Scotty held Casper a little tighter as he spoke. “I… I-I can’t…. I can’t right now.” He told Casper softly into his ear before going back to lap at his huge bite mark apologetically. I can’t say that yet…

Casper nodded, one hand cradling the back of Scotty’s neck as he lapped at the mark, his other lovingly tracing patterns over his back, his shoulders. “That’s okay… you take your time saying it.” This was all a pretty quick development for you- but I’ve been waiting to say that for forever. I knew you’d need time. His eyes fluttered shut, and he would have been content to just lay there forever.
Scotty’s licks soon turned into sucking, getting focused as he started to mark Casper’s neck all over. … You are mine, and everyone will know that. Scotty could almost feel the blood rushing down to his length, getting harder yet again, still inside of Casper. I wonder if he’d be up for another round… I certainly can. Scotty moved teasingly, rolling his hips to gauge how Casper would react to it. They won’t mind if we’re gone… Payback from last night dammit. I won’t be able to last long with how tight Casper is right now, so it won’t take long...

Casper let out a long sigh as Scotty marked him, gasping as he rolled his hips again, his hips bucking up at the sudden action. More. “S-Scotty… m-more…” Casper was very aware that he was no longer gagged, trying not to get too loud. His arms wound around his shoulders, pulling him close, his legs coming up around his waist, starting to harden again. Please...

Scotty smirked, continuing to roll his hips into Casper’s tightness. Holy fuck… It feels amazing… Scotty moved around, moving Casper’s legs from around his back and flipping over so Casper was on top of him. I want you to ride me… I haven’t gotten ridden since college, holy shit…. Scotty let his large hands fall on Casper’s hips, letting him stay pressed against his chest, but moving him at an almost frantic pace.

Casper let Scotty move him on top of him, propping himself up for better leverage, rolling his hips and meeting every thrust of Scotty’s, flushed completely as he drank in Scotty’s pleasured expression, panting and gasping with every thrust. “S-Scotty… hah… oh my god… s-so good…” He dipped his head down, suckling at Scotty’s collarbone, leaving a trail of marks. Mine. Yours. Everything.

Scotty let Casper mark his collarbone, letting out soft moans as he did so. Fuck this feels great. His hands never left Casper’s hips, his grip tight as he forced Casper down onto him with each thrust up. God, your voice sounds wonderful, damn….

Casper’s voice heightened in pitch, no longer caring and moaning loudly with each thrust, gasping as Scotty found his prostate again. He could feel his own climax coming quickly, trying to speak clearly. “S-Scotty… ha… n-not… much… haaa… longer… c-can't l-last… nnngh…”

Scotty smirked pulling Casper back down onto him so he was flush against him, bending his knees to get leverage and then brutally attacking his prostate. “Cum for me Casper… I wanna hear you moaning my name.” God your voice is awesome… I want more ...

Casper’s head fell into the crook of Scotty’s neck, panting and moaning loudly, crying out as Scotty attacked his prostate. “SCOTTY!” Casper let his name fall from his mouth like his life depended on it as he came again, his hands everywhere on Scotty’s chest, becoming limp, putty in his hands as Scotty still pounded into him. ...you... you feel so good....

Scotty continued, his hands still had their iron grip on Casper’s hips, most likely forming bruises as he kept up his relentless pace for another minute before his own coil snapped. Fuck... That felt great... His breathing was harsh as he held Casper’s hips down, making sure he was buried to the hilt. Damn, that condom is fucking loaded... I can feel it oozing out, fuck, well it's fine, it's not broken at least... No messy clean up. Scotty’s hands moved to Casper’s back, keeping him pressed against his body. “Feel good?” He asked, his voice quiet and sensual as he spoke into his ear. Felt amazing for me...

“M- more than good… that…” Casper lifted his head, capturing Scotty’s lips in a deep kiss, tangling their tongues. Perfect... I really really like having you top... Casper broke their kiss after a long moment, dropping his head down again, resting exhaustedly on Scotty. “...I really don't want to move... but we kinda have to…” I don't wanna do anything that isn't me just holding onto you...

Scotty nodded, holding Casper close still. “Well, soon I’ll have a house… Hopefully.” If the paperwork goes right, which it should... And they’re already starting to move stuff over to the new house. I know Eren’s instruments were moved, along with almost all the art supplies... Scotty shifted under Casper, slowly pulling out of him, groaning as he did so, “Fuck, you're tight...” His length slipped out of his heat. “Hmm, we should get dressed, when do you need to be to work by?” I’m still very unfamiliar with your schedule....

Casper shifted at the odd sensation, rolling over. “Ugh, I think ten?” It's hard to think straight when that just happened... Casper went to stand, wincing as he stood up, shifting around his weight. Or walk straight... this is gonna be fun. What even is the time? Casper looked to the clock, seeing it was almost eight thirty. “There's plenty of time for me... when are you supposed to be at work?” Your schedule is new, so I don't know it. He looked around for his boxers, trying to locate his clothes. Dammit, where did all my stuff go?

“I’m on call this week... Then I’ll start having office hours, so I’ll be staying home with Eren today... Want me to bring you something for lunch?” I’m sure the Kid and I can figure something out between the two of us...

Staying home? “Uhm, if you want to, that'd be really nice... isn't Eren supposed to be starting his therapy soon though?” That's a thing that's happening... and where the hell are my clothes? Did something get left downstairs? I'm missing a jacket and pajama bottoms because I couldn't run over with just boxers on.
Scotty got up and got his clothes, helping Casper locate the rest of his clothes. “Your jacket’s downstairs… You took it off before we fell asleep.” I remember watching you take it off… “Yeah, he’s starting therapy, but I don’t know when or where that is…” I assume that Lathe is taking him?

Casper finally found his pj bottoms, donning the rest of his clothes. “Thanks- and yeah, I'd assume that Lathe would be the one on top of that… don't know how much he'll talk though, at least for the first few visits…” He’s still very quiet. Casper finished dressing, crossing over to Scotty and simply hugging him close, his ear resting on his chest, listening to the steady thud of his heart. Legitimately pondering calling in sick so I can be attached to you for the day… I'm such a clingy bastard… ugh, but I can’t just flake on James… “Dammit, work…” Casper finally forced himself to let go, standing on tiptoe to peck his cheek, swaying a bit as he came back down. Damn… I ache… not complaining, though. “Come on, let’s raid the kitchen.” Free food. Casper pulled Scotty along with him, not caring that a decent number of dark marks were very prominent on his slightly tan skin. I'm Scotty's. ...I like the way that sounds.

Scotty nodded, following Casper down the stairs, and towards the kitchen. He was immediately greeted by Eren slamming into him and holding onto his shirt, his whole body shaking. What...? What the hell happened here...? “E-Eren?” He gently ran a hand through the boy’s hair, looking up to Lathe. What happened?

Eren kept his head buried in Scotty’s chest, his whole body shaking as he clung to Scotty’s shirt. His eyes were wide as he was panicking, Blake whining behind him. I don’t wanna go to a therapy... No, that's scary... I don’t wanna go!

Lathe ran a hand through his inky hair, sighing quietly. “Eren’s first thing of therapy is today… I was trying to explain the whole thing of it to him, and he obviously doesn't want to go… but he really has to, and the school hasn't stopped calling and emailing me, they need me back to work, and today it's for the latter half of the school day. I would need to drop him off… but I think we can tell that's not going to work. ...Scotty, Eren adores you… could you maybe take him? His appointment is at eleven, and I'd give you the address…” He looked to him with a pleading look. You're not paying rent or giving me anything for food. I let you having your boyfriend over slide, and you do your duty as Eren’s honorary older brother. We’ll call it even.

Scotty looked down to Eren and sighed quietly, still running a hand through the mess of brown hair. “Yeah, I guess I can do that, when’s his physical therapy?” I can probably take him to that too, and that I know is at the hospital.

Eren looked up to Scotty as he agreed, a small smile on his face before he again buried it into Scotty’s chest and clung to him still. I don’t wanna go alone, that’s terrifying! What if they’ll think I’m a whore? What if they try to rape me?
“One- after lunch. Each is supposed to be an hour or so for his appointments. I'll give you money and you two can pick somewhere to eat out in between.” Lathe moved and gently rested a hand on Eren’s shoulder, sending Scotty a grateful look. “I'll make breakfast for everyone- French toast okay?” He smiled as Scotty nodded, moving to the kitchen.

Casper followed Lathe to the kitchen, stretching his arms above his head, sway in his step. “I'm helping- Need to make sure you don't do anything weird with your French toast.” He started rifling through Lathe’s cupboards, turning on the coffeemaker and. making himself right at home.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at him. “Since when can anyone make French toast weirdly? It’s all just tasty breakfast in the end.”

“Lathe, come on. Even though we both let our French toast swim in maple syrup, I still need to ensure the toast itself is made correctly.” Casper set a frying pan on the stove, and soon the two of them were locked in a staring match, silently judging the other. Casper quirked an eyebrow at the few marks not concealed by his dress shirt, and somewhat by his hair. “You have fun last night?”

Whilst Eren was sick?

“Couldn't have had more fun than you two minutes ago, if your screams were anything to go by.” Lathe immediately shot back. "...I've accepted too many heathens into this household...."

Scotty just shook his head. Change the subject before it gets out of hand. “I can handle lunch Lathe, I’m not some needy college student, I can at least do that. Do we need to do any shopping while we’re out?” Might as well get that out of the way too… Scotty ushered Eren into his seat, helping to calm him down along with Blake, getting up to get him his tea. I’ll take care of Eren… You two continue with your pissing match.

Eren looked up to Scotty, taking his tea and sipping at it quietly. {What are they doing?] Why do they stare at each other in almost hatred like that? Why does Dad hate Casper? I thought Casper was nice?

Scotty sighed putting his head in his hands, looking up as Spades walked downstairs and greeted them. “Morning… Everyone.” Her voice was unsure as she went up to Lathe, kissing his cheek. Well, now I know what the screams were… Those two… God, Casper’s loud as all hell. “Why do you two look like you’re having a pissing match?”

“Because we are, apparently.” Lathe kissed Spades’ cheek as well, his arm slipping around her waist. “And that’d be nice Scotty, if you've got time to. The grocery list is the orange list thing on the fridge.” Lathe went back to staring Casper down as the violet-haired man in question made breakfast. “Y’know, if you really think my cooking is that suspicious, I might as well just not cook anything for Scotty. I don't think you’d approve of me giving your boyfriend suspicious food.”

Scotty, I’m making you take one for the team. “You could just delegate cooking to Scotty instead- at least that’d be suspicious cooking I’d approve of. I'm just thinking about the children, Lathe.” Casper nodded back to Eren, continuing their roasting match.

Scotty sighed quietly, rubbing his temple. “Will you two knock it off and play nice for once? You’re freaking Eren out.” God, he was already clinging to me… And now he is currently curled up in my lap trying to hide. “Seriously… Think of the children, of which we don’t have.” I don’t know if we’re even going to consider it, you act like such a child sometimes.

Yet. Casper looked back to Eren apologetically, speaking. “Sorry Eren, it’s okay, we’re just being idiots and doing a thing where we just roast each other for five minutes. It just happens randomly. Everything’s okay though, we’re still friends.” Obviously. “Right, friend o’buddy o’chum’ o’pal?” Casper gave Lathe a shit-eating grin.

Lathe just stared at him before facepalming. “That last statement makes me want to disagree. But yes…” Lathe looked up between his fingers, seeing Casper still staring him down. He sighed, resigned. “…friend o’buddy o’chum o’pal.” …this is my life now.

Spades just shook her head, looking over to the coffeemaker. “Who else needs coffee? Given that exchange, it’s obvious you’ve had none.” Pouring myself a cup, Lathe’ll want one, and I’m not sure what you guys’ll want.

Eren slowly turned his head to look at them. “M-mom?” Eren asked quietly, setting his empty tea mug down. His voice was pretty timid and quiet as he sat in Scotty’s lap, looking like an oversized child.

Spades set down the mug she was holding, going over to him. “Yes, Eren? More tea?” Spades looked to his empty mug, her gaze warmly inquiring. …Scotty really does look like your older brother… he’s sure been acting like it.

“C-can I have hot chocolate?” He asked softly, his eyes large as he sat there quietly waiting for an answer. I haven’t had it in a long time.
I didn’t think you were one for sweets? But okay, of course! “Of course you can, hon. Just plain, or all the fancy stuffs?” She smiled as Eren held up two fingers, nodding. “Can do, Hon.” Spades went about making it after Lathe had helped take over coffee duty, soon setting a mug with the hot chocolate and marshmallows in from of Eren, a teeny bit of cocoa powder on top of some whipped cream. She pecked his temple as she set a spoon next to it. Just in case. “That okay, Hon?” “you honestly look like Christmas came early right now.

Eren looked over the hot drink with bright eyes, nodding, a small smile gracing his lips. They were becoming more frequent a sight, but not nearly as much as he had before the incident. He raised it to his lips, taking a sip and sighing quietly, staring at the drink, unbeknownst to him that he had gotten whipped cream on his nose. It’s really good.

Lathe looked to Eren, a spark of disbelief in his eyes. First the mac n’ cheese, now hot chocolate... next thing it’ll be him eating sugar straight from the bag with a spoon. Lathe stopped for an instant, knocking on the wood of the table before continuing to fix coffee, handing some to Scotty before going to his stash of chocolate in the cupboard, snatching a square and munching on it as Casper finished cooking. Eren wanting chocolate made me want chocolate. ...that is totally how this works.

Casper soon began plating French toast, Spades taking the plates he finished to the table. “I’m just making the entire loaf if that’s cool, because I assume at least someone here is going to eat like a starved wolf.” Which is a safe assumption. And if nobody else is the starved wolf if the pack, I will be happy to accommodate.

Scotty thanked Spades as she handed him a plate, setting it next to Eren’s on his right. He shifted a bit so he could try to reach around Eren’s middle, failing to reach a knife and deciding to just cut it up with the side of his fork. That works. “Thank you for the totally not suspicious French toast, Casp.” He took a bite, smiling and quickly going for another piece. ...I don’t understand how you’re able to actually cook shit. Scotty looked as Eren suddenly shifted in his lap, beginning to scarf down his food. “Whoa Eren, slow down, your food isn’t gonna grow legs and run away. Don’t choke on it.” Yeesh, you’re eating like your life depends on it. ...more than it normally does in human life.

Eren looked back and nodded, beginning to eat a bit slower than what he started eating at. But it’s good, and I like my food...

Spades elbowed Lathe in the side, staring as Eren scarfed down his food. He’s getting back to normal! Lathe look! It’s amazing!

Lathe looked to the table and watched in shock as Eren ate quickly, slowly shaking his head in disbelief. He’s been talking a bit more, being a bit more social… he’s healed physically, for the most part… we’ve gotten him the right medicines… and now he’s eating again… he’s getting better. Lathe smiled, sitting down adjacent to them with his own breakfast- of course- covered in maple syrup and butter.

Casper sat down across from Eren and Scotty, a mug of coffee done the way Lathe makes his in front of him, nudging Scotty’s foot with his own. You really are a good influence on him, I’m thinking. …you’d be great with kids. He winked to him as he looked up, enjoying the look of his face flushing before turning his attention to his food. Food.

Eren continued to scarf down his breakfast, finishing off his plate and getting more. I’m starving…
I threw up all my dinner last night.

Scotty smiled softly, helping Eren get more food when he wanted. This is working out well, Eren seems to have calmed down a bit. Scotty finished off his own plate, letting Eren stay in his lap.
He’s doing well, I’m not gonna complain.

Casper sipped at his coffee for a while, looking at the time and standing when he saw it was a bit before nine thirty. “I should get going- I have to be at work by ten, and I still have to run home to change and then book it to Trost.” That’s how this is going to work. “Thanks for putting up with me and my antics- sorry about that Eren, it’s just a thing that happens.” Our entire relationship is built on us roasting each other. Casper moved around the table to retrieve his coat and slip on his sneakers, staring at the door in all of his mismatched glory, commenting over his shoulder. “How suspicious do you think the neighbors would be to see me walk home like this in broad daylight?”

Lathe grinned, calling from the kitchen. “Casper, don’t worry. Nobody will notice your clothes what with that huge purple rat on your head!” Lathe noticed Eren look to him worriedly, curling into himself. He called to the front door again. “I still love you though Casp! No homo!”

“I’ll fuck you later, Casper!” Scotty shouted back, feeling Eren shift uncomfortably in his lap as he did so. Did I scare him with how loud I was? Hmm… But I’m not wrong… I would love to fuck him later.

Eren let go of Scotty’s shirt after a moment, moving to his own chair and just watching them all from where he sat. What the actual hell just happened…? Am I… What? I don’t know what happened…? Are they friends? Do they hate each other? Are they mad because of what I did? Are they mad I threw up last night? A million what-ifs formed in Eren’s head as he curled up to himself, only unfurling a bit to pet Blake, who took hold of his hands, making sure he wouldn’t scratch at his skin.
Lathe looked across the table to Eren worriedly, setting down his mug. “Are you okay Eren?” When Eren didn't even really look up to him, Lathe sighed a bit. “If it’s about everything that just happened, we’re sorry. Casper and I roast each other all the time because we just do and it’s probably not what you’re supposed to build a friendship on but it works. And then Scotty joined in on the asshattery. Point being, we were all being asshats, and we’re sorry. Except for Spades. She roasted me because I deserved it. ...which is also why she wouldn't apologise for it if asked to. And I respect that.” Get on topic again, Lathe. “Just please don't look so scared of us- we’re not about to yell at you, sarcastically or otherwise. No, I'm not mad.” Lathe immediately responded to the spark of doubt in Eren’s eye. “You didn't do anything. It’s fine. But we, in the words of Casper, didn't keep the children in mind, so.” Lathe reached an open palm across the table, facing Eren. Forgive me for that?

Eren barely looked up during Lathe’s spiel, keeping his hands to himself and his eyes down. He looked up briefly every now and then but he froze when Lathe reached out across the table. If… You said we were all asshats... except for mom... So does that mean I’m an asshat too? I… I didn’t mean to… Eren held a guilty expression on his face as he slowly reached up his own palm, placing it on top of Lathe’s, asking for his own forgiveness. Huh? “Why do you need forgiveness? You weren't being an asshat unlike the rest of us- oh. Oh, Eren, by ‘we’ I meant Casper, Scotty and I. You were just chilling with your hot chocolate not doing anything. You don't have anything to apologise for. From today, or ever.” Lathe moved his hand to close Eren’s hand, reopening his palm for him. “So… can you forgive me and the rest of us for being mean to each other?” ...There’s so much I should be apologizing for… Eren slowly ran his fingers down Lathe’s palm twice, carefully withdrawing his hand back and curling up to himself. I’m a failure as your son… You shouldn’t be apologizing to me…

Lathe drew his hand back, standing and walking around the table to Eren’s side, holding out his arms as he bent down to his level, gently wrapping them around him and studying his expression for permission to carry him. When Eren didn’t object, he lifted him and carried him to the couch, sitting down and carding a hand through his hair, trying to coax him to unfurl and calm down. I know it's stressful, having all of us around, loud and outspoken and sarcastic… and you've got therapy, and you must feel awful for everything you've been through and put us through ourselves… I'm sorry about that...

Eren let Lathe pick him up, his eyes never coming up to meet his, as much as he didn’t want to be touched at that moment, he put up with it. He's not gonna hurt me.... He's not gonna hurt me.... He's.... He's not.... I... I think... Eren stayed curled up in his small ball as Lathe tried to get him to unfurl. I'm a pain in the ass for him... Why doesn't he just throw me away? Why can’t he...give up? On someone as worthless as me... As traumatized as me?
Spades walked down the stairs, her uniform nearly put together. She walked into the piano room, instantly spotting Eren curled up to himself and Lathe trying to coax him to unfurl. He doesn’t look comfortable in the slightest right now. “Lathe… You need to let go of him…” Her actions were slow and steady as she came up to Eren and started to free him from Lathe’s grasp. I’m not necessarily sure that he likes being held anymore… Unless he says it's okay first.

“Huh- What? Why?” Lathe still let Spades take Eren from his hold, letting go of him and watching defeated as Eren shuffled away from him on the couch, curled to himself and tugging at the quilt on the back of the couch, trying to hide in the fabric. Oh. “I'm sorry, Eren… I'll let you be…” Not knowing what else to do, Lathe stood, going to the kitchen to do the dishes.

Spades followed him, her arms going to wrap around Lathe’s middle. [What do you think set him off? I think this is what we get to deal with now… Instead of panic attacks.] But….He ate today, which is progress, even if he did ‘run’ from Lathe. We still need to figure out his new list of triggers.

Lathe immediately felt tension drain from him as Spades’ arms wrapped around him, sighing and thinking. [It was Casper and I roasting each other, I think, and then Scotty’s comment… us being sarcastically mean to each other. He was suspicious of Casper and I and then after Scotty spoke he was scared of him too- he moved from his lap. I was just used to holding him to calm him down…]

Spades nodded, holding onto Lathe still. [I can imagine him being unable to do the touchy stuff you guys did before… I can only imagine what it makes his mind think of now.] She turned her head to look at Eren curled up into a blanket, trying to hide, the whole blanket shaking along with him. He must be going through so much… And he’s so quiet…. I wish he could just talk to us.

Scotty slowly made his way over to Eren, crouching down by the couch where he was ‘hiding’. Come on, Kid, we gotta get ready for your appointment. “Eren?” His voice was soft, trying to coax him out of hiding. “Eren, come on, we gotta go to your therapy sessions.”

Eren simply shook his head. I don’t wanna go, I don’t wanna be left alone with a stranger…. What if they’re one of the guys that raped me? What if they try to do it again? He hid himself under the quilts, or at least tried to.

“Eren, please. It’s going to be a lot of help, and I'm going to be with you the entire time. It won't be long, and we’ll eat wherever you want in between. You'll be okay.” I'm not going to just leave you there. I'm staying with you.
Eren stopped shaking, slowly removing the blanket from over his head. You’ll be with me? I won’t be alone. Eren nodded slowly, removing the blanket from around him. He sat there quietly, looking at Scotty, unsure of what to do. What do I do now??

Alright. We’ve gotten somewhere. You gonna get up and get downstairs to change and stuff? ...not by yourself, huh? “Alright, if you're not gonna go downstairs to change yourself …” Scotty went and scooped him up like a child, walking with him to the Scripting room. “I guess I’ll have to do it for you.” No fucks given. ...I feel like an embarrassing sibling right now.

Eren had wide eyes as Scotty picked him up, letting out a surprised yelp. What the hell?! Why’s he carrying me!? Eren looked around in confusion, though he started to figure out what was happening as he was set on his bed. Okay… Um… Are you getting me clothes?

You seem like you just want to hide from the world today... Scotty rummaged through the dresser that had been moved downstairs, soon handing Eren a long-sleeved shirt that wasn't too thin, a hoodie, and sweatpants, along with thick socks. “Here you go, kid. Get dressed, and then come on upstairs, okay?” You’ll be fine. Scotty smiled to him, leaving him to get dressed and going to make sure he himself didn't look like a total mess. Let’s go see how epically I can fail at looking like a functional human being...

Eren was upstairs in his clothes after only a few minutes. He was silent as he got upstairs, curling up to himself in his spot on the couch. So... Where are Mom and Dad going? He watched in silence as they were getting ready to go out. Where are they going? Are they leaving me here?

Lathe set his coffee mug in the sink, tugging at his tie as he walked to get his medical bag, stopping to press a kiss to Eren’s forehead, answering his inquisitive look. “I'm going to get back to teaching classes, Eren. They won't leave me alone.” He smirked. “You’ll be fine for today. Scotty’ll take care of you. Try not to worry too much, okay? I'll see you later, Eren.” You'll be fine. Lathe picked up his medic bag and laptop, slipping on his boots, blushing as Spades kissed his cheek goodbye and shut the door behind him.

Eren watched him leave, curling up to himself as he was left alone. When Spades came over to kiss his forehead as well, he timidly moved to lick her cheek before moving to hide again under the quilt. You two are leaving me... Are you going to come back? Is Scotty gonna be keeping me now? Why aren’t any of the instruments here anymore? Are you guys moving out.... But leaving me here??

Spades was long since used to being licked, and saw his worried look, smiling warmly. “I’ll be home later tonight, Eren. I’m on duty again starting today. You don't have to worry about anything. If there’s ever anything on your mind that's really bugging you, you know you can tell Lathe, Scotty or I. And your therapist, too. They need to know stuff to help you. We’ll all listen to you.
Okay?” She smiled as Eren timidly nodded. “Okay. Love you, Hon.” She pecked his forehead one more time before going to slip on her shoes, waving as she closed the door behind her. He’ll be okay.

Scotty came downstairs after a little bit, having taken a quick shower and attempted to make his hair slightly less cray with little success. “I guess I look functional enough. You ready to go, Eren?” Scotty walked to the couch, deciding to sit on the floor in front of Eren. He’s not going to get up easy, I don't think. Let's see if I need to talk him out of his cocoon.

Eren poked his head out of the cocoon, quickly ducking back into his safe haven after shaking his head. Nope… I don’t wanna go, I don’t wanna talk to anyone… I already told Lathe what happened… I don’t want to talk about it anymore…

Scotty reached out calmly after a moment, fiddling with the corner of the quilt, his voice quiet and tone soft. “Eren, I know you don't like talking about it… but you don't have to talk about everything today… little bits at a time… and you need to talk at least a little if you want to get better and move on… we don't want to judge you, we just want to help…” That's all we want to do right now.

Eren just stayed under the quilt, shaking his head repeatedly as Scotty spoke. No… I don't wanna go! Dad already knows what happened! And I don't want to tell anyone about it! I don't want people feeling pity for me! I don't fucking want that!

“…Eren, don't you want the nightmares to stop? It can help fix that… it can help you stop being scared of everyone, have a little more confidence in yourself… help you put everything behind you, and move on. I think it’s important you go… because of all that.” It's important.

Eren slowly crawled out of the quilt looking at Scotty tensely for a moment. {But… I’m not worth it though…} I wasn’t worth saving in the first place… I wish I would’ve died after the first day… Everyone would’ve been better off… Even Levi…

{Eren, you're more than worth it. Believe me. You've made a lot of people unbelievably happy and you're inspiration for a huge lot of people, and there are a lot of people that love you. Including me. Please don't think you're not worth it. Because you are.} Scotty sent him a warm smile, standing up and signing something else. {Ready to go?} He held out a hand for him, still trying to act as non-threateningly as possible.

Eren looked at Scotty, his eyes downcast in defeat. Okay… I guess you can take me. He gave Scotty a shaking hand as he finally came out of his quilt shell. I don’t want to go… But you’re gonna make me… Aren’t you?

Scotty eased Eren to his feet, resting his arm over his shoulder and guiding him to the door to put on a coat and get on his shoes, driving him to the psychiatrist’s office. It wasn't barely ten minutes until they had arrived, parking and bringing Eren inside without much resistance. He signed him in, and soon they were led back to see the psychiatrist. Scotty froze the second he saw the man as he turned to greet them, instantly recognising him. I know you… oh no. Eren… Eren drew you as one of his rapists. what a fucking coincidence.

Eren looked at the man, simply going pale and moving into the room very slowly, he curled up in a far chair, curling his legs to his chest, hiding under his hoodie and simply closing his hood off to try and hide. Blake quickly moved to try and help him. I don’t want him… I don’t want to be raped again… No… Scotty brought me here to be raped… I wanna hide.

The therapist got up from his chair, a soft smile on his face. “Hi, Eren. It’s great to finally meet you, and I hope you’re as excited as I am to get to know each other on a more personal level.” I know I can’t wait to have access to that ass of yours.

Scotty instantly stepped between the two of them, staring down the man with an icy look. ‘Finally meet you’ my ass. “I think you two know each other plenty already. I'm afraid we can't stay. We have other places to be. Cancel our appointment. And don't bother trying to reschedule.” I'm so fucking done. Scotty knew Eren wasn't about to move on his own and instead picked him up, carrying him out of the office, ignoring the receptionist except to snatch a business card from the holder and going to the car. He set Eren in the passenger's seat and buckled him in before slipping in the driver's side and calling Spades, looking at the card. “Hey Spades… I found one of the nameless men Eren drew at the hospital. And he’s got a name. He’s Eren’s psychiatrist, Grant Cartmann.”

Spades put her pen down as she furrowed her brow. “Are you sure?” That would leave us with only 15 left to find.. Instead of 16. “I need to make sure, I’ll send a cop there now with a warrant…” I can’t believe we sent him to one of his rapists… Oh my god, what if Lathe had to drop him off… And left him there… alone?

“Spades, if either Eren’s shutdown or my instant recognition are anything to go by, he’s one of them. I'm just damn grateful I was there to get him the hell out.” I'm staying put until the cops show up- I don't want him running or trying something stupid. “We’ll head home in a little bit, try to get Eren calmed down and fed… we’ll see if we have to cancel the physical therapy…” His mentality is really really fragile… and this isn't helping...

Spades nodded, talking for a few seconds before a policeman was on their way with a warrant.
“Call Lathe… He should know… He needs to, how’s Eren? Is he okay? Is he panicking?” Oh god, I can’t think of what would’ve happened if you weren’t there, Scotty.

“Eren’s…” Scotty looked over to Eren, curled up to himself in a small ball, Blake pawing at him and whimining. “…isn’t that great. I’ll call him. Thanks…” Scotty hung up after a moment, calling Lathe. “Lathe, I’ve got some not great news… Eren’s psychotherapist was one of his unnamed rapists… Spades has sent a cop over to get him, but I’m just glad I was able to recognize him and get him out. You had to know.” Not good.

Lathe stopped his speech to the biology class as his phone rang, motioning that he would soon be back and stepped into the hall, his eyes wide as Scotty spoke, one hand running through his hair in shock. “Oh my god… how is he? Is he holding up?”

“Not that great, he’s…” Scotty turned to look to Eren again, only to see him begin to jerk, his hands clutching at his chest. Fuck. “He’s having a seizure.” Scotty hung up the phone and dropped it, getting out of the car and going around to Eren’s side, unbuckling him and getting him into the back seat so he could lay down, trying to calm him, holding onto him as time passed, keeping an eye on the clock. It was a solid three minutes before Eren slumped into the seat, his eyelids fluttering, beginning to drool. Scotty grabbed tissues from the console and wiped at the drool, gently guiding Eren after a little while to sit up on the backseat so he could get them home. He managed to buckle him in, Blake soon claiming the spot next to him, and went to drive them home before he saw his phone on the floor of the car. He decided he shouldn’t call Lathe again during his class, instead sending a group text to the two of them.

SO: So, the breakdown of what just happened is we go in, we recognize the guy, Eren slowly sits down in the chair and just draws away from the world, the guy tries to introduce himself as if they’ve never met and was just being a suggestive creep, I pretty much tell him to step off and that I’m onto him, carry Eren out, and get him in the car. I call Spades who dispatches a guy, then Lathe, Eren starts seizing while I’m talking to Lathe, I hang up, wait out the seizure, Eren is now sitting in the back of the car, I’m texting this. We are going home, getting him lunch (something to nibble at), and we are cancelling physical therapy for today. He is in even worse shape right now and cannot go.

IQ: That’s fine, I’ll be home before dinner and Lathe should be home soon. I’m really glad you were there Scotty, thank you.

SO: Of course Spades- I’ll see what I can do to make sure he’s okay

LQ: Thanks Scotty- I’ll be home about three. Thank you so much for taking care of Eren. You're the real MVP.

SO: Go back to teaching your heathens, Lathe. ...and you're welcome.
Scotty looked up as he saw an officer, nodding to him as he passed. I can get going. ...yeah, I'm not staying to watch the show with Eren here. Scotty left before anything more could happen, getting them home and carrying Eren inside. He set him on the couch, bundling him up in a quilt in the piano room, where he could see him from the kitchen. “Eren, I'm going to make us something for lunch. What would you like?” Silence. To be expected. “...how about you just nod or shake your head for these, Eren. Hot or cold?” Give me something to work with, Eren. More quiet. you're predictable... “Mac n’ cheese?”

Eren slowly nodded, starting to curl up to himself, beginning to drool all over again. He was gonna rape me... He wanted to rape me... He... He was going to.... Eren’s eyes prickled with tears which he let overflow. He was gonna rape me again...

Crap. Scotty ran to the laundry room, snatching a blue kerchief from a clean pile and coming back, drying Eren’s tears and wiping up his drool. “Eren, hey, it’s okay, we got you out of there before anything could happen. We had no idea that’s who your psychotherapist was. If we knew we wouldn't be brought you there. But he was arrested right as we left, so now he’s going to be going away for a long time. One less person for you to have to worry about. It's okay, right now, we’re safe, and nothing more is gonna happen, okay?” We’re getting close to having this be all over with.

Eren could only nod, moving to grab Scotty’s shirt and cry more. I don’t want to be a play thing, I’ve had enough of that... Eren clung to Scotty, not wanting to let go at all, his grip white-knuckled.

Scotty held Eren close, letting him cry into his shirt, running his hand through Eren’s hair, trying to help his sobs to die down. You don't want to let go, do you. “Eren, if you don't want to let go, but you want food... do you want to watch me make mac n’ cheese? Help if you want to? You wouldn't be in the way at all if you wanted.” I don't want you to think you'd be a bother.

Eren calmed down after a solid 15 minutes of crying. He nodded to Scotty’s words before he shifted to hold onto him. I don’t wanna be alone... He’ll come back... He’ll rape me... He’s gonna find me... He's.... Eren sniffled as he clung to Scotty still, silent otherwise.

Scotty stood up, Eren walking along with him, his arms around his middle as they went to the kitchen. Scotty acquiring a box of mac n cheese from the cupboard, determined to get it right. Stovetop. Okay. Scotty tried his best to correctly make the macaroni, remembering to set the timer and stir it as he needed to. He panicked a bit internally as he read the second-last instruction. Strain it? Scotty remembered the cloud of steam from when Casper did it, though he went about getting pot holders, determined to do it. He carefully set the tap to cold and, bracing the pot against the edge of the ceramic sink, kept the lid in place on the pot as he strained the water from it, the steam warm but not hot as he thought it would be on his arms. In no time he was stirring the cheese and milk into it, getting out two bowls and serving some to each of them, giving Eren the bowl with more in it, along with a fork. “Here you go, kid. Lunch.” I really tried- I hope you like it. Scotty herded Eren to the couch, sitting down next to him to eat.

Eren looked to the bowl, slowly starting to eat it. He was very quiet, and stayed curled up to himself, his eyes never coming up to meet Scotty’s eyes. Eren stayed where he was, not even acknowledging the world around him. He didn’t notice Scotty come and take his bowl away, or Blake trying to comfort him. He didn’t even notice Lathe coming him hours later, he was just kinda there. I don’t want it to happen again… I don’t wanna be here anymore, I can’t live like this....

Scotty tried to get Eren’s attention after lunch, not getting anywhere with him. He's not there...

He's wrapped Eren back up in his cocoon of quilts again after taking his empty bowl, not knowing what else to do. He and Lathe talked quietly after he came home, neither of them really knowing what to do.

Lathe leaned his head on his hand, staring at his coffee mug. “There's not much art stuff left, his instruments were all taken over… I don't know… he needs some sort of distraction… ...how about I try and play some piano, see if he responds to that? If not, we rule out music and set up a movie?” He didn't talk to me when I tried to… I don't know what else to do.

Scotty shrugged. “Might as well try, I suppose. If not, then we’ll try that.” Go for it, I guess.

Lathe went to the Scripting room, picking up a binder from the middle shelves of the bookcase. He sat at the piano, picking out a few pieces and setting them up, beginning to play Ruins from Undertale. You were doing so well...we want our social Eren back...

... I don’t want it to happen... Is that music.... I hear music... Eren picked his head up slightly, starting to hear some of the things around him. Who’s playin music?

Lathe looked up as Eren moved a bit, switching to the Undertale theme. You can hear me! Well, the piano. Do you recognize it?

Eren picks up his head a little more. It’s the flower… It’s gonna hurt me… He wants me to suffer... Eren shifted back a little further into his cocoon. I wanna hide.

Lathe immediately switched tunes as he saw Eren shuffle a bit deeper in his cocoon, starting a bright rendition of Bonetrousle. Come on- everybody loves Papyrus. He’s the slightest bit cray and the sweetest thing ever. Don't hide, please.
Eren took a bit but poked his head out of his cocoon, finally peering around the room with dull eyes. What’s happening…?

Lathe smiled to him, slowing and faintly playing Dogsong, ending on a high note. “Hey Eren—” Lathe stood from the piano, slowly walking over to him. “…how’re you feeling?” Maybe we can get a word or two out of you...

Eren looked at Lathe with large eyes, but his gaze went right through him, he wasn’t completely there. What? It stopped? The music stopped? Why?

The music. Lathe immediately backed right up again, sitting down and starting to play Dummy!, keeping an eye on Eren and calling to Scotty. [Yo Scotty! Try and talk to him!] That would maybe work.

...it’s working. Scotty moved to the piano room, sitting on the floor in front of Eren, signing. {How’re you feeling, Eren?} Give us something to work with here, please...

Eren moved his gaze as everyone moved around in front of him. … What’s this?? His eyes were starting to focus as he was coming back to reality. … I like the music...

Scotty tried again as Lathe played on, switching smoothly to Ghost Fight and Spider Dance. {Are you okay, Eren? How do you feel?} You seem to like the music- isn't it from that game you played in the hospital with those YouTube guys?

Eren’s eyes were finally able to focus on Scotty in front of him. What’s he doing?? I don’t understand... Eren gave him a blank stare as he watched Scotty move his hands.

...does he not remember sign language? Lathe was thinking the same thing, having begun playing the song of the same title as Scotty tried signing again, mouthing the words. {Do you understand me?}

Eren looked at his hands, raising his own palm towards him, open and up. I’m sorry, whatever I did, I’m sorry...
...maybe you'll remember it like this... now how did it go... Scotty ran his hand down Eren’s palm before shifting up onto the couch next to him, signing through his hands. {Do you understand me like this? Are you okay? How do you feel?} Come on, work...

Eren’s brow furrowed as his hands were grabbed. ... Wait... I know this.... {Y?} I don’t remember much of it though. Eren let Scotty take his hands, feeling as his fingers were moved. Why does he need to know?

{Because we want to know how to make you feel even better, what we need to do to accomplish that.} Scotty smiled faintly to him. Temporary memory loss. He’ll be back in no time.

{Where’s... Mom?} Eren’s hands were a bit shaky, but he was starting to calm down with Lathe playing music behind them.

{Mom is at work right now, but she’ll be home before dinner.} Scotty smoothly signed, Death by Glamour starting up behind them. Just like she promised.

{Mommy’s with the cows?}

...that was a long, long time ago... {...Eren, Spades is at the police station. working.} I don't know what else to tell you.

{What’s Spades? I want Mommy…} Eren started to panic a bit as he looked around the unfamiliar surroundings. Where am I? Mommy I’m scared!

...what’s Spades? Lathe looked to Eren, knowing Eren’s memory temporarily wasn't intact, but it still stung all the same. He switched tactics, playing Moonsong. I remember I played this on the cello for you forever ago... we just need to keep you calm at this point. Anything to keep you chill and okay right now.

Eren looked up and away from Scotty, taking in Lathe’s presence at the piano. That... Song... What is it? Eren whimpered quietly, struggling to get up by himself from the couch to make his way to the piano. What is it... I want to learn it.

Lathe looked up as Eren made his way to the piano with Scotty’s help, scooting over a bit on the bench, his right hand still playing. “Do you want to play the song with me?” You don't look like you really know what a piano is right now... Lathe quickly went to snatch a different binder from the shelves of the Scripting room, coming back with the sheet music, the four-handed version and setting it up. Then again, you're acting like you would if Carla was alive, so... you might know. Lathe pointed to the top two bars, indicating they were his, and beginning to play. I wonder if you can catch on...

Eren looked over the music for only an instant before raising a shaky hand, though he instantly started to play along with Lathe. I like this song! I wonder if Mom knows it... Am I at Hannes’ house right now? Where is Hannes? His house looks different than the last time I visited.

Lathe keep flipping through the pages as they went through them, soon putting the binder on the stand and flipping from song to song, from Balcony to Quiet and everything that wasn't fast and intense. Lathe didn't know what else to do, simply letting him play along with him, taking over when Eren swayed tiredly on the bench more than an hour later, Scotty still faithfully there to scoop him up, softly playing Awakening as Eren started to drift. He made absolutely sure Eren was asleep on the beanbag bed, where Scotty had carried him, before finally stopping, burying his face in his hands and heaving a heavy sigh. ... what is Spades?

Spades opened the door not a few seconds later. “Where is he? Is he okay?” Her words frantic as she looked between the two of them. He looks like he’s asleep but he could be in shock...

Lathe looked up to her, his expression melancholy as he stood from the bench, going over to give her a hug, burying his face into the crook of her neck, mumbling a reply. “He’s okay, Scotty’s got him... as part of having a seizure, you can temporarily have memory lapse, which is what happened with him. He was unresponsive until I started playing the piano, and he... he asked for Mom and then didn't know what a Spades was and I played the piano with him for more than an hour, and he fell asleep not even a minute ago...” Lathe still did not let go of her, not wanting to. I'm just glad you're home...

Spades rubbed soothing circles into Lathe’s back, hoping he would calm down a bit. “Okay... But we should be thankful... It could’ve been much worse...” It could’ve happened again... He could’ve gotten kidnapped... And he could’ve gotten killed, it could be so much worse. “You said it’s temporary... Right? Well, we’ll just have to wait... Okay?” Spades felt the tears start forming in her eyes. He doesn’t remember me?

“Okay...” Lathe pulled back, trying to calm down, kissing her cheek and trying to keep her from crying. We’ll be okay... he’ll remember things soon enough. Lathe reluctantly let his hands slip from her middle, though he followed her like a lost puppy as she moved, not knowing what else to do and simply needing to be around her.

Spades sniffled, wiping away at the tears that formed in her eyes. “Lathe... What are we gonna do?
What happens if we can’t protect him? And we can’t stop it from happening next time?” Spades had led Lathe to the kitchen, her voice becoming increasingly higher as she spoke, turning so her head was in Lathe’s chest. That was almost disastrous… But what if we couldn’t stop it next time?

Lathe pulled Spades close, resting his cheek on her head, sniffling a bit before speaking. “…we’re just going to do the best we can to find the rest of these John Does so we don’t have to worry anymore… and until then, we need to be really careful… that’s all I think we can do.” I don’t know what other option there could be...

Spades nodded, sniffling as she held onto his shirt. I wish everything didn’t happen to him… I wish he was okay, and could be a normal teenager… “Why did this have to happen to him?”

“I… I don’t know… Eren just so happened to be one person to really get shortchanged by life, so to speak… it sucks… it really, really sucks.” Lathe pulled her along with him to the piano room again, sitting down on the couch and laying down, spooning Spades and just needing to hold onto her. Eren has some of the worst luck...

Spades made no comment, feeling better that Lathe was holding her. She laid down peacefully with him, Scotty having laid down with Eren. He really is a godsend… What are we gonna do when Scotty goes to work? Or when we move? Is he gonna be okay?

Eren shifted in his sleep, opening his eyes to stare at Scotty. Where’s Hannes? When’s Daddy gonna bring me home? Is mommy still sick?

Fuck… I can’t believe I’m thinking this, but damn, you’re awake… “Uhm, Lathe… he’s awake…” What do we do now?

Lathe wanted nothing more than to bury his face in Spades’ shoulder and hide, though he gave a resigned sigh and lifted himself over Spades and off the couch, crossing to the piano and sitting down, tired. Think, lullaby… Lathe had just rested his hands on the keys when he stopped, having heard a sound. ...did he say something?

<“When… When is… Hannes gonna… Be home?”> Where is he? He normally takes care of me… Where is he?

...who’s Hannes? He's never talked about him before…< “Uhm, Hannes will be home in a little while, Eren. Don't worry about it.”> I'll need to remember that… ask later… I had words written out for this forever ago, why can't I think of them…?

<“But… Hannes knows when Daddy’s coming to pick me up… Is mommy still sick?”> Where are they? Mommy promised she would be better soon.

<“…Hannes said he’ll be back before… before your dad comes to get you. And mom is getting a bit better, little by little.”> That son of a bitch doesn’t deserve to be called your dad… and… who the hell is Hannes? He took care of you… how often? Sounds like he did it often enough...

<“… Hannes and I need to make dinner together… Are you Hannes’ friend?... I’m gonna make dinner for him!”> It’s gonna be dinner time soon! Eren moved to get up from the bean bag and start towards the kitchen, looking around like a child. Wait…. <“Where’s the icebox?”>

...He doesn’t remember me… Lathe stood from the piano, trying to fight back tears, faintly smiling. <“I-I'm Hannes' friend, Lathe. It’s… it’s nice to m-meet you.’> Lathe went to give him a hug, just wanting Eren back. ...I want my son back...

Eren turned to see Lathe come up to him, a large smile gracing his face as he was hugged. He let out a small giggle and moved his arms to tickle at Lathe’s sides. <“Lathe… Do you know where the icebox went?”> This isn’t what I remember… Did Hannes move?

Lathe’s eyes widened in surprise, jumping back and laughing as he was tickled, holding out his hands in defence, his expression changing as he looked to Eren smiling to him, giggling. ...I can't remember the last time you were that happy… Lathe’s eyes were suddenly filled with torment, his mind racing. He ducked his head down to hide his tears, mumbling an apology and suddenly going for the stairs, speaking quickly to Spades as he passed. “Spades, I need a few minutes, I'm sorry…” He disappeared upstairs with his laptop, his face in his hands, trying not to break down right there in front of him. I can’t...

Eren watched Lathe leave, confusion clearly written across his face. <“Did I do something wrong?”> I didn't upset Lathe… Did I?

Spades watched him leave with worry, standing and going to Eren, smiling to him weakly and ruffling his hair. <“No, you didn't do anything wrong. He’s just been having a rough day, had something to do. It’s okay.”> She gently led him over to the fridge. <“Now, the icebox got an upgrade. It’s all new- all the food is in here now.”> We just have to play along...
Eren opened the fridge up after a few moments of contemplation, steeling his nerves as it opened. He looked inside with wide eyes. <“It looks different….“> It doesn’t look like the food I’m used to. <“Help?”> Eren turned his head towards Spades, a completely innocent look on his face. I don’t know what’s what...

<“Okay.”> Spades showed him the ingredients they’d need for chicken noodle soup, guiding him through everything and chopping the vegetables as he watched. Spades was directing Eren to measure out water as she heard Lathe quietly pad up behind her, wrapping his arms around her middle and rest his forehead on her shoulder, mumbling something inaudible. “What was that?” She turned to look to him.

Lathe picked up his head, looking to her with tired eyes. “Spades… I quit my teaching job. I just… I don't want to be away from Eren while he still needs so much help and guidance. It's not like I extended my hiatus from it. I flat-out quit. I… I felt like I had to. I don’t… Eren is happy right now. I don't want the only reason he’s ever happy to be that he can't remember all the bad stuff. I want to help him, and I need to be home, with him to do that.” Mike understood… I’m grateful for that. Hopefully all the students will too.

Eren looked up to them, like they had their heads cut off. What are they saying? I don’t understand at all… Eren moved to continue to cut the veggies like he was supposed to.

Spades pulled Lathe around in front of her, wanting to keep an eye on Eren while he had a knife in his hand, hugging him close. “I understand… that’s a big decision to make, and he really does need someone around, now more than ever. ...thank you. ...you really are the best father he could ask for.” Spades pulled him down to kiss him chastely, letting him hold onto her still after they broke apart, as she and Eren cooked together. He couldn't have asked for anyone more devoted as a father. You care so much… I'm lucky you're mine, too.

Eren didn't seem to mind that everyone around him talked in a different language that he didn’t understand. He was just his bubbly self as he ate his chicken noodle soup. When’s Hannes gonna be home. <“When’s Hannes gonna be home?”> I need to take care of my horsy.
Chapter 44: The Third Attempt

...it was like that all week... Eren was so bubbly and happy all the time, chattering away with us about everything and nothing... I thought his memory would've been back by the first day or so, but... no. We had to tell him that he was supposed to stay with us for awhile until his... Grisha, I'm not saying it to describe him... until he came back from a trip to some family. We had to tell him Hannes was gone too, at a wedding across Germany. He just nodded like it was nothing. ...I get the idea he wasn't raised by his family so much as family friends... that living with new people for an entire week and more is- well, was- so normal for him... I just... he was so happy... and... he never is anymore... I really, really want him to be that happy all the time... even when he's not mentally eight- or four, we can't tell... I just want him to be himself again and remember us and still be happy... I'm so torn, I love that he's happy, but... it's hard not to cry at night knowing your son doesn't recognize you as their dad... but as their... friend they met days ago. ...I can barely sleep... everything's been moved to the new house, which is where we're going today to show him everything, move in officially. I had to get registered as a hobby breeder so we could keep all the animals we have. I hope he likes them all... with his mentality right now... in the barn, it'll be as if he never left home. Lathe took a deep breath, trying to calm himself down before going downstairs, smiling to Eren amidst the largely empty room. <“Hey kid, you ready to go?”>

Eren looked up from his book of doodles. Huh? <“Where are we going?”> Are we going to meet Hannes somewhere? <“Is Hannes coming?”> I usually stay with him... So why am I not with him?

<“Hannes is still far away- it takes a long time to get across the country. And where we're going... it's a surprise.”> Lathe grinned impishly, offering him a hand from where he sat on the floor doodling. ...you'll like the barn the most.

Eren held a bright smile on his face as he took Lathe’s hand and followed him towards the door, Blake quickly following after. Is the doggie coming with us too? <“Doggie?”>

Lathe nodded, picking up Blake’s vest and leash from its spot near the door, helping Eren get his coat on. <“Yep, the doggie is coming with us. His collar has his name tag on it. He’s Blake.”> Lathe pet Blake, letting him and Eren go out the door first, taking one last look around the barren house, staring up and reading the golden script on the wall one more time, the last line two days old, before shutting the door and locking it, leaving it under the mat for Scotty when he came home. ...it's his home now. Lathe led them to the car, unlocking it and buckling Eren in up front, getting in to drive them to the new house. He remembered something as they nearly passed Armin’s house, pulling into the driveway for a moment. <“Stay here for a little bit, okay? I have to go get someone.”> Lathe walked up the drive after Eren nodded, knocking on the front door. He quirked an eyebrow as Armin yelled for him to come in. Why isn't he just answering? Lathe opened the door, walking in a few steps and looking around before seeing Armin, amusedly grinning at him.
Armin sat on the couch, perfectly still, his eyes wide and worried. “Hi, Lathe… Um… Is this normal for him?” Salem has literally been on my head since he first came here… I don’t want to move, and make him fall off though… What do I do?!

Lathe just stared for a moment before throwing up his hands happily, exclaiming “My cat hat is okay!” Lathe beamed, walking up to Armin and kneeling next to the couch, looking to Salem. Salem regarded him with interest, coming up from his laying position to stand up on Armin’s head, leaping off of him to Lathe’s shoulder, where he climbed on his head to sit, perfectly upright. My throne hath returned. He chuckled, looking to Armin and standing. “Purrr-fectly normal. He give you any trouble?” Hopefully not.

“Besides insisting that he had to be on my head, he was perfectly fine.” Armin stood up, a sigh of relief that he could stand without worrying about making Salem fall off. “I was worried he would fall if I stood up…” But I’m glad he’s used to it at least. “I’ll go grab his things…” Armin left him there for only a few minutes before he came back with his cat box, his bed and the food all neatly put together.

“Eh, the Saylay does what the Saylay does. If he was gonna fall off he’d either shift or jump off. But thank you so much for taking care of him.” Lathe gratefully took the box from him, Salem moving around his shoulders like a boa, his tail flicking back and forth contentedly. Should I tell him…? “Uhm, a heads up, if you see Eren around in the near future- his memory is kinda shot, temporarily. At least, we hope it’s temporary. If you see him and say hi and he doesn’t remember you… it’s not permanent. He’ll be okay soon.” Lathe smiled to him weakly. He doesn't remember me either. Lathe tried not to let a shadow cast over his face at that, not really succeeding. I'm still just a stranger, really…

Armin didn't miss the look on Lathe’s face. “He doesn’t remember anyone… Does he?” I can imagine what you would feel like… If that’s permanent…. Who would break the news to him? God… That’s horrible. “How old is he? Can you tell?” It could be really bad for all we know…

Lathe dropped his head, staring at the box in his arms, not really acknowledging Salem licking at his cheek. “…he asked me the other day what a ‘Spades’ was… he thinks I'm a friend of some guy named Hannes. He only speaks German, and he’s so happy and bubbly, endlessly chatty… we think he’s between four and eight… he thinks Carla, his mum, is still around… nothing bad had happened yet. I…” Lathe couldn't stop a tear from running down his cheek, trying to wipe it away quickly. “It’s been an entire week, and… we’re beginning to worry it’s… if it's not temporary.” It has to be…. I want to be his Dad again, Spades needs to be his mum again, he needs Levi to be his boyfriend… he’s my son… and he doesn't think so…

Armin nodded, moving to give Late a hug. “If you ever need to talk to someone, you’ve got a neighbor with a good ear and a lot of time.” I mostly work from home… So I’m here a lot. “I’m here if you need me.”
Lathe sighed heavily, weakly nodding. “...Thanks, really... I should get going, today’s moving day. I'm taking him to see the new house. He’ll like the barn, it’s got all the kinds of animals he used to have. You need to come over and visit, when things are a little more smoothed out.” Lathe smiled to him, looking to Salem as he whacked his mouth with his tail. “I know, I know, you're bored. Deal.” Lathe wearily chuckled. “I’ll see you around then Armin, okay? And I just might take you up on that offer.” God knows I might soon need it...

“Of course, whatever you need. I’m here.” Armin smiled warmly at him. “Go get him his horse.”

He should be happy.

Lathe nodded, trying to return his smile. “Alright.” Lathe left, Armin shutting the door behind him. He opened the door to the car, Salem jumping in off of his shoulder and making himself at home around Eren’s shoulders, purring. My other throne hath come to lavish me. <“Eren, this kitty here is Salem. He looks like he really likes you- he's always climbing all over the people he likes.”>

Lathe put the box in the trunk and got back in the car, letting Salem and Eren get acquainted on the drive over. It wasn't two minutes before they arrived, soon announcing they had arrived. ...this is home now.

Eren looked around, reaching up to pet Salem gently. He saw the house, looking at it with gleaming eyes. <“Woah… It looks so cool.”> what is this place? Am I staying here now?

Lathe smiled, getting him out of the car and taking the box with them into the house, setting it on the floor inside the door for that moment, looking around the large entryway with a staircase leading upstairs just off to the side. He walked them through to the kitchen, straight through the house and setting Blake’s vest and leash on a hook near the back door, opening it to the back porch and leading them down a path to a barn in the back. <“You'll see the rest of the house soon- but I wanted you to really see the barn first.”> Lathe opened the barn door, natural light filling the space. You'll love this.

Eren looked into the barn, curiosity quickly taking over as he ventured in. <“Charlie!”> Eren’s eyes lit up as he went over towards the horse stall where a nice Bavarian Warmblood Stallion stood. It’s my horse!!

Charlie? ...you must've had a horse that looked just like him. Lathe ambled up to them, patting Eren’s shoulder. <“Yep- we brought Charlie over from the house. He and you are going to be staying here for a while, and he needs someone to take care of him. His food and grooming supplies are in the next stall, if you'd like to give him his lunch and brush him?”> I'm glad you like him!
<“Can I?”> Eren asked excitedly, jumping up and down a bit. He brought Charlie! I can ride Charlie! Eren gave a very joyous squeal as he went to get the grooming supplies.

Lathe smiled as Eren scampered off to get the supplies, keeping a close eye on him for a bit before going to feed the chickens, checking he was doing well every couple of minutes. Salem had since jumped from Eren’s shoulder and was lounging on a wooden divide between stalls, looking at the rest of the animals with interest. He’s doing okay. Lathe returned after a little bit with the feed bag, storing it and coming up to Eren as he was brushing Charlie, ruffling his hair. “You come back up to the house after you finished brushing him, okay? Then I’ll introduce you to some of the other animals and where everything is kept.” Lathe left after he nodded, going up to the house to begin unpacking kitchenware. He’ll be fine- and it won’t be too terribly long until we can feed the rest of the animals.

Eren was still brushing Charlie, in the middle of the barn on the ties, Eren happily humming along. He had finished after about half an hour, but what he wasn’t expecting was for Charlie to bolt back into his stall and go right out into the open gate. He cried out in pain, as Charlie stepped on his foot, effectively crushing it under his weight. He hobbled in pain towards the door, closing it and locking it. It’s gotta be locked. He sat down on the floor looking at his crushed foot. It fucking hurts… He cried out in pain as he felt a heat start to form in his broken foot, his nose starting to bleed heavily. Oh my god… It’s… It’s happening again. Eren’s eyes were wide as he started to remember everything that happened to him. … I can’t live like this… This is horrible… Eren waited out the pain of his foot healing at an incredible pace before he wearily stood on it. It burns… But it doesn’t hurt anymore. He got up, looking around, soon locating rope and a bales of hay. I can do this, the rafters can support my weight…

Lathe looked up as he heard Blake barking in the distance, running to the house at breakneck speed and coming through the doggie door, barking at him. He nearly broke the glass in his hand as he dropped it on the counter, running to the barn as fast as he could, his eyes widening in terror as he saw Eren hanging from the rafters, blood streaming from his nose steadily. He’s alive. There’s time. Lathe reached for a saw on the wall, running over to him and jumping up onto a stall door swiftly, climbing the rafters over to where Eren hung. He wrapped his legs around the rafter, hanging upside down and looping an arm under Eren’s arms and lifting so as to take the pressure from his neck, sawing the rope from the rafter and tossing away the saw as it broke through. He loosened the noose and tossed it away, getting a better grip on Eren with one arm and shifting so he was dangling by one arm over the pile of hay beneath them, letting go and getting underneath Eren so he wouldn't be hurt by the impact, wincing as the hay poked harshly at his back and scratched at his bare neck, his skin through his clothes. Fuck. Lathe moved to lay Eren down on the hay pile, keeping him flat and pressing a blue kerchief to his nose to stop the bleeding. What the hell happened? ...you tried to kill yourself again, so… you remember. The Eren you used to be certainly wouldn’t have done that. What happened? Why is your nose bleeding so heavily? “Eren? Eren please, can you hear me?”

Eren shifted a bit, his eyes opening a crack and looked around in confusion. “D-dad…?!” Eren’s voice was hoarse from his neck being crushed. What is happening? My foot still burns… But my nose is bleeding… It burns… It’s healing again...
Lathe dropped his head against Eren’s shoulder, still keeping the fabric pressed to his nose. He lifted it back up after a long moment, a tear falling down his cheek as he nodded. “Yeah, it’s me… it’s Dad. Eren… w-what happened?” Tell me. Please.

Eren nodded, moving his head towards Lathe’s hands. “I named him Charlie… Didn’t I?” He asked softly, his voice still very hoarse as he started to curl up to Lathe. I don’t know what to do anymore...

Lathe nodded, shifting to pull Eren into his lap, laying down on the pile of hay and helping Eren curl up next to him. “Do you… remember anything from this week? What’s the last thing you really remember?”

“You don’t remember any of it… “Is your foot okay?” That… and other things… explains why your nose was bleeding...

Eren nodded. “It’s healed… It still burns though… I tried doing it again…” He mumbled the last bit, as if he didn’t want to tell Lathe that he had tried again, and failed. God, you must hate everything I do...

Lathe breathed heavily, trying not to completely break down. He pulled Eren on top of him, burying his face in his shoulder, trying to speak clearly as he all but sobbed. “E-Eren… I’m not m-mad, but p-please… running away f-from everything isn’t the w-way to f-fix things… if y-you l-left, S-Spades, Scotty, C-Casper, L-Levi… they… they’d all be h-heartbroken… I… I w-wouldn’t be able to live with myself i-if you left… ...I…” Lathe swallowed hard. “...I might try to f-follow y-you… please… g-give getting b-better another chance… p- please…” I don’t want you to die. You’d take me with you.

Eren started to cry at Lathe’s words, holding onto his shirt. “Why? Why would you even think… O-of following me?” Eren reached up to wipe some of his tears away. “Dad… I don’t- I don’t understand… Why you would want to… Y-you have M-mom… You h-have a-a-all your friends… And you’d have Blake… And L-Levi… But… I f-fucked everything u-up.” Eren sniffled more, trying not to cry, failing miserably. “I can’t sleep alone… I can’t sleep without medication to knock me unconscious… If I oversleep the eight hours, I still have a nightmare… I can’t think about Levi the same way anymore… I… I can’t do this Dad… And I’m scared… Because I can’t feel anything anymore… I can’t feel any emotions anymore… Everything is numb…
“Eren… you're the reason I'm not still just a t-teacher, alone with j-just a piano to k-keep me c-company… you're the reason S-Spades is m-mine, why we can afford the house and all the animals… y-you're my s-son. Everything that happened to you… everything that came from it can be fixed. We can fix nightmares, we can fix the sleep problems, we can fix the numbness… but even with so many friends… you can't fix a missing son. Y-you can't…” Lathe sniffed, staring up at the rafters above them. “Eren, I've done my best to fix you up when you get hurt, I've adopted you, fed you, drawn and made music with you, helped you adapt to the world with your PTSD, with Blake, done everything I could possibly do for you while you were in that damn hospital and then some, sleeping with you and reading to you, designed and built a fucking house with a barn of animals for you, and I quit my job as a teacher so I could be here to help you because I knew you'd need it. If you were gone… then it’d all be for nothing. I'd stop being a dad. ...I'd probably just do nothing besides feed and take care of the animals, having forgotten what else I'm good for. I wouldn't know what to do with my time besides just sit and think of how pointless it is. I'd get ideas. ...I might even think they were worth it.” Lathe held onto Eren tighter. “...I want it to all have been for something. I'm in too far… I care too much. If you leave… you'd have to take me with you.” ...I don't want to lose you.

Eren couldn’t help but cry as Lathe brought up every memory he had of Lathe teaching him to be a normal kid, even with all of his flaws. “I-It’s…. It’s not… W-worth it…. Is it?” Eren sniffled, trying to stop his tears. It’s not worth killing myself over…. It was two weeks… And I’ve had years of better…. And hopefully more to come...

Lathe shook his head. “Eren, you've got years and years of success and happiness to be had ahead of you. What happened is done and over. It’s not worth it. It never is.” Lathe took a deep breath, trying to calm down. “Please, stay… things will get better. You'll learn how to be happy again.
You will.” I'll teach you.

Eren nodded, still clinging onto Lathe’s shirt. “C… C-can I… Can I sleep with you… And Mom?”
I don’t wanna sleep alone tonight.

“Of course you can. Here, how about we go inside and get something to eat, then come back to feed the animals together?” Lathe slowly sat up, prepared to carry Eren inside if he wanted. We need to take a break, calm down a bit...

Eren nodded, moving a bit off of Lathe’s lap, moving to stand. He stood there, waiting for Lathe to take him inside, rubbing at his quickly bruising neck. My foot still burns… But I can walk… So that means it’s not broken right? He looked down at the bloody t-shirt he wore, sighing quietly. I gotta change too...

Lathe started to guide him to the house, concerned as he limped. “Are you okay? Do you need me
Eren nodded, quietly answering as he was guided to the house. “I’ll be fine, it just burns is all…” It really burns, a lot… How much of my foot did he crush? “We should probably call Scotty though… And make sure it’s still not broken…” I honestly can’t tell because I feel nothing but a burning sensation…

“Okay, that sounds like a good idea. He’ll definitely be able to tell; I’m rather out of practice.” Lathe opened the door for him, walking in behind him and closing it. He pulled out his phone and dialled Scotty as Eren looked around, finally hearing him pick up after two rings. [Hey Scotty. Eren’s found his marbles- and he got stepped on by his horse. Can you come over to look at his foot, see if it's still broken?] That’s obviously not the full story, but… yeah.

Scotty nodded on the other end. [Yeah, I’ll be over soon… You said he’s back to normal now? Make sure you don’t leave him alone…] Don't want him trying again. [But that’s great news, make sure you send the group a text.] The squad should know.

[Yeah yeah, I will. ...and I'll explain the rest of it when you get here. But for right now, I have to make food. Shit went down. But I'll see you soon, Scotty. Thanks.] Lathe hung up before Scotty could reply, stowing his phone and looking to Eren. “Whatcha in the mood for, kid? Anything you like. Doesn't have to be lunch food, either.”

Eren thought about it for a second. “Do we have stuff for burger bombs?” We haven't had those in forever. Eren was in the middle of looking around the large living room, including the moving couch and the piano, and the large flat screen TV. The windows are huge! They go from the floor to the ceiling! That's so cool!

“Maaaaaybe. Maaaaaybe not.” Lathe smiled mischievously, getting ingredients from the fridge. “Maaaaaybe I remember how to make them. Maaaaaybe not. You'd better help, make sure I don't accidentally do it wrong.” There'll be plenty of time for exploring the house. Right now, I want to spend time with you.

Eren looked up from the piano keys he was inspecting and went over to where Lathe was at the large kitchen island. “This place is huge…” He murmured, looking up at the very tall ceilings. “When were you gonna tell me?” You built a house! And if I remember correctly…. This is where my old house was...

“When it was done and everything was moved. We really wanted it to be a surprise. So, today.” Lathe opened his arms wide to the new house, smiling. “Surprise! And welcome home!” Home.
“There's still lots of unpacking to do everywhere, and all of the walls are white so they can be painted on, but it'll feel lived in soon enough. Oh, and a heads-up…” Lathe turned to look out the window to the back of the house, the barn in sight. “Charlie’s a trail horse, and there’s an ATV on the way, but they're for the more than 300 acres that is now the backyard. And the boundary is paved and posted, so you know where it is.” Yep. That's a thing.

Eren looked over the backyard, his face seeming to light up a bit. “Can we go riding after lunch?” I wanna go riding again… Eren perked up when the doorbell rang loudly in the house, looking around in confusion. “What was that?” I have no idea what that was… It's so loud!

“That is the obnoxiously loud doorbell that I will have to fix…” Lathe set down the bowl he was holding, herding Eren to the door. “...because otherwise it's going to scare the crap out of us every time someone uses it.” Lathe unlocked the door and opened it, smirking. “Hey Scotty, thanks for coming. Come on in.” Lathe let him enter, shutting the door and herding Eren to the couch. “He’s gonna check your foot to make sure it’s healing okay, so ditch the shoe and sock, okay?”

Eren nodded, sitting down at the couch and talking off his shoe and sock to show a swollen and puffy foot. It doesn’t look pretty…. And it burns…. Fuck.

Scotty came in, taking his shoes off and leaving them by the door. [So are you gonna tell me after I look at his foot… Or while I look at his foot?] I need to know what happened… You said shit went down… I can only imagine what happened.

[I guess while, can't hurt.] Lathe sat down next to Eren on the couch. [Eren was still not in his right mind this morning when we went to come here. On the way we stopped to pick up Salem from Armin, but nothing too eventful happened, Salem’s fine, and Armin’s okay. When we got here I led him straight through the house just so I could set down some stuff and brought him into the barn to meet the animals, and immediately he recognised the horse as Charlie, so I'm assuming he used to have one that looked just like him. I let him feed and brush him to get acquainted, I stayed long enough to feed the chickens to keep an eye on him, and then I came up to the house because I thought he could handle himself out there, and told him to come up after finishing with Charlie. ...soon enough, Blake was running up to the house barking like mad, and when I went out to the barn… he was hanging himself from a rafter. ...I managed to cut him down and get him down safely, and I knew he was alive because his nose was bleeding… and we had a real talk between the two of us, and there was a lot of crying involved… but I think we've reached an understanding. That it's not worth it, when all's said and done. So, we've agreed to have some lunch and chill for a bit, go and feed the rest of the animals, have him meet all of them…] He looked to Eren, switching tongues. “And the only thing that’d keep you from riding is how your foot is coming along. You kinda need it.” That's important, as much as I don't like telling you no.

Scotty nodded, taking everything in that Lathe had said. “Well, it feels alright, I don’t feel any breaks or fractures, and you're not hissing in pain every time I press somewhere, but it is swollen, and that’s probably from the blood rushing to heal everything, so I think if you keep it above heart level, and the swelling goes down, you can go out riding.” I don’t see a problem with it. [But… You got to an agreement about it yes? So you think he’s gonna try it again?] Scotty moved to look over Eren’s foot one last time to make sure he didn’t miss anything.

[I think he’s gonna really give this whole moving on thing another chance. But I don't think he’s gonna try and end it again… honestly, I told him he’d be taking me with him… and there are too many people he’d be leaving behind. We just understand each other a bit better, I think. And I hope this new house and all the new company is like a fresh start for him. He can start over.] He can learn how to be happy.

Scotty sighed, putting his head down for a minute before he reached his hand up, smacking Eren across the face, hard enough to leave a sting on his hand. “Don’t you ever think that it’s worth it. Do you understand?”

Eren’s head was tilted to the side, his eyes wide with shock as he reached up to touch his stinging cheek. He nodded, looking down as he lifted his other hand to try and hide his neck. I deserved that… Didn’t I? Because I’ve been ignoring them for weeks...

Lathe reached an arm around him, hugging Eren to his side, noting him ducking his head down. “Now don’t you go trying to hide on us again. Help us help you. Talk if you need to talk, and come find someone when you need help with anything. …or if you just want to talk about anything. The point is, we’re open ears for you, Eren. We only mean well. Now, let’s do what Scotty said before he decides to smack you again.” Lathe grinned, helping Eren shift and prop his foot up on the arm of the couch. [So, now for me to ask before I get smacked. Are you staying for lunch?]

Scotty nodded, dragging Lathe over towards the kitchen before smacking him across the face as well. [Don’t you dare even say that you would follow him! Even if he did everyone would be sad yeah, but if we lost you too? God I could only imagine what would happen to Spades! Don’t you ever say you would do something like that, got it?] I don’t want to have to tell Spades that she needs to watch you too… Scotty moved to rub at his eyes, trying to wipe the tears that hadn’t formed yet. [We can’t lose another friend…]

If he did try to end it… and succeeded… […]he’d drag so much of me down with him…] Lathe buried his face in his hands, trying to calm down. [I care too much… I’ve given him everything… and if it turned out to be for nothing…] I'd be half of a person… […]I'm scared… scared he’d still try…] I don’t want him to… to leave...

Scotty nodded and pulled Lathe close to him. [I know… We all are, which is why we need to be there for him now more than ever, okay?] He rubbed Lathe’s back in an attempt to calm him down.
... Come on, let’s make some lunch… I got some news of my own to tell you…] You should hear it… I think you’ll be happy about it…

Lathe pulled away from him after a moment, wiping at his eyes and nodding. He went to wash his hands and fetch aprons, handing Scotty one. [You’ve got news? What is it?]

Scotty took the apron, tying it around him as he spoke. [Casper’s moving in with me… and I wanted to ask if Eren could come paint the walls and ceilings?] I really hope that doesn’t sound rude… But I kinda want the galaxy to be in the master bedroom… And not in the study.

[We can only allow that to happen if first, we get a saw and cut out the old ceilings and walls that were already painted…] Lathe was obviously joking as he moved to set up the rest of the ingredients, finding a cookie tray and starting the oven. [-then put in new ceilings and walls and painted them solid white first, all at your own expense of course, and let us keep the old ones.] He gave Scotty a mischievous grin. [I'm completely joking. You'd have to ask Eren about that, see what he says. And one moment-] Lathe stopped for an instant, putting a hand over his heart and staring off dramatically into the distance, stage whispering. “My ship is sailing.” YAAAAAAAAS DOE [Oh! But actually, question- were you thinking of painting over the wall in the Scripting room on the right wall of the house? The one with everyone’s writing on it? The one with everyone’s writing on it? I mean, it has the club motto on it and all the inside jokes, I dunno…] I took tons of pictures of it, but I’d hate to see it go...

Scotty shrugged. [I was gonna talk to Casper about it, I’m not to sure about it in all honesty. But if we do decide to, I’ll take a bunch of pictures for you and I’m sure you can find a wall to paint it back on to in this giant place.] I’ll have to ask Casper about it though, see if he wants to keep it or not...

[Okay- I was just curious.] Everyone helped paint it when I had my housewarming… Everyone’s handwriting is on there. [So, how’s moving in going? Anything interesting happening?] Any drama to be spoken of?

Scotty shrugged, moving to help Lathe roll out the roll dough. [Well, we got new people coming in next to us, but we haven’t seen them at all… We’re hoping that it’s not gonna be a frat house, or a sorority… either of those would be a nightmare. Casper got called into the city to do some big interview on someone who’s coming in to try and work at the pharmacy… ] I’m still kinda surprised they called Casper in and not James… I mean, the head asked for one person from each branch…

[That would definitely make life more interesting. I didn't even know the house next door was for sale. That's what you get when you have quiet-ass neighbors. ...and why did Casper be the one to go down to the interview? I’d’ve thought they’d ask for James. He seems less… insane.] Yep. ...if it’s a sorority, I’m very sorry. ...sort of.

[You think I have any idea? I bet James just declined so that he wouldn’t have Casper holding down the fort alone…] Scotty shrugged. “So what exactly are we making again?” What involves the cooked meat you’re making… cheese, bacon… rolls? And Onions??

“Hamburger Bombs- one of the lunch-dinner things Eren actually likes. Because he’s just that picky.” Lathe joked lightly, looking up as the phone on the wall rang. Huh. Lathe wiped his hands on a towel and went to answer the phone. “H’yello?”

“Lathe, it’s me… I’m coming home in two weeks for Thanksgiving… but are we gonna be at your old house… or are we at the new place yet?” I literally have like two exams… And that’s it.

Lathe froze as he heard Levi speak. “Uhm, we just got to the new place, but… Levi, I think you and Eren really need to talk. A lot has gone down in the past week, and it needs to get sorted through. I'm not the one to tell you all of it.” That's Eren’s job.

Scotty looked over to Lathe as he froze. “Who’s on the phone?” Scotty continued to make the burger bombs, setting them on the tray once they were put together.

“It’s Levi.” Lathe looked around the corner to Eren, his voice soft. “Eren, it’s Levi on the phone. You two should talk.” Lathe walked over with the phone, holding it out to him with a reassuring look. You can do this.

Eren almost instantly paled, looking at the phone in fear. No… I don’t know what to do… I can’t talk to him, I’m in trouble.

Lathe sighed quietly, holding the phone against his chest. “Do you want to talk to him together?” It might work better for you. He nodded as Eren weakly nodded, turning the phone on speaker and setting it in the centre of the couch arrangement, sitting down next to Eren and shifting him so his head was in his lap, petting his hair. <“Okay Levi, you're on speaker.”> This’ll work a bit better for you two…

<“Okay… what happened? Should I be worried?”> What's going on?
Eren swallowed hard. <“I… I tried again… today…”> His voice was small, as he tried to hide himself away from the voice on the other end of that phone. He’s gonna be mad at me…

<“Oh my god Eren, are you okay? Eren, talk to me. Tell me everything. I’m not mad- I just want you to talk, tell me why. I want to understand.”> You've just moved to the new house… why now?

Eren doesn’t entirely know what happened… <“Scotty took Eren in for his first day of psychotherapy… lo and behold, the therapist was one of the unnamed rapists… he shut down, and Scotty got him out of there and called the cops to get him apprehended… but Eren had a seizure in Scotty’s car. When he woke up… it was as if he was still four years old. He was so bubbly and bright, and chattered about everything and nothing… he asked when someone named Hannes would be home, asked if Carla was getting better, when he would be back to get him… but… He asked what a Spades was… he didn't remember any of us. We pretended to be the people in charge of him for a week, and when we came to the house and introduced him to the animals, he lit up at the sight of the horse, naming him Charlie. I kept an eye on him as he brushed and fed him, and he seemed fine, so I went up to the house… but then Blake was barking and I ran down to the barn and Eren was… he was hanging from the rafters… I cut him down and landed him safe, he had gotten stepped on and his foot busted, his nose was bleeding pretty badly… we had a serious talk, and I think we better understand each other…”> Lathe gently nudged Eren to say something. Talk. You know what all happened now. Say something.

<“ I…. I asked where Hannes was?”> Eren swallowed hard, looking down at his hands as they began to shake. I haven’t thought about him in forever…. I haven’t seen him in so long too… Eren sniffled, <“I tried again… because I remembered everything that happened… and I thought that it was worth it.”>

Levi sighed, worry etched into his features. <“Eren… I know it’s never nice to think about… but it’s over. Everything that happened to you is over and done. You can’t change what happened. The only real other option… the only option left that’s worth it is to move on. If I lost you… Eren, I want someone to come home to. I… I love you, and… I want you to be okay… I’m going to be home in two weeks for Thanksgiving. I look forward to all the time I have to be home because I get to spend it with you… I’m glad you’re okay, and I’m glad another one of the guys got caught. Eren… please give learning to be okay a chance.”> I want to have someone to hold onto when I come home…

…. But…. Eren forced himself to nod in Lathe’s lap. <“I will… but I can’t promise anything when you come home….”> I can’t feel anything but numbness…. I don’t like being numb, but I can’t shake the feeling… and I don’t think I’ll ever be able to feel the same way about you ever again… Eren started to quietly cry as Lathe ran a hand through his hair, sniffling every few seconds.

[Levi… Eren’s having a hard time feeling anything that isn’t sadness or just numbness… there’s no quick fix for it either… it has to just be helped along. It doesn't mean it’s over- it just means it
Levi nodded, understanding. [I get it- he needs time to understand again what everything means… I'll be careful about that.] He needs time. <“Eren, you can take all the time you need to in doing things again. Just take your time learning how to feel again. It’s very okay- I understand.”> I'd be surprised if you didn’t need time

<“O-Okay…”> Eren sniffled, rubbing at his face as he sighed quietly. I don’t know if I can properly love anyone or anything… ever again…

<“I just wanted to know how things were going… I’ve been doing okay, training’s been alright. But I'll talk to you more around Thanksgiving, okay?”>

Eren nodded silently, moving to curl up to Lathe’s side, wanting to hide. He’s gonna be mad at me when he gets here… He’s gonna hate that I don’t love him.

Lathe hugged Eren close, speaking to Levi. [He’s going to do his best, Levi. I don't know how far he’ll get while you’re here, but he'll try. We have to help him learn. We’ll see you soon. Good luck on your exams.] Lathe smiled wearily as he ended the call, still threading his hand through Eren’s locks. “You’ll be okay… promise. Just focus on getting better.” That's what matters.

Eren nodded, curling up and burying his face into Lathe’s lap. I don’t want to feel nothing.

Lathe kept his hands threading through Eren’s locks, taking a deep breath. He was surprised a bit as a timer suddenly buzzed, Scotty waving to him with an oven mitt. ...did you really…? “I thought you couldn't cook? ...and I don't think either of us is gonna move.” I don't smell anything burning… huh.

“I can’t… you gave me the recipe awhile back… I found it in my phone.” Scotty located some plates and napkins and brought the food out for the two of them. “I brought food for the both of you, now come on and eat.” It’s not poisonous… I promise.

“As long as you didn't accidentally do something to poison it, okay.” Lathe joked, taking a plate from him and nudging Eren to sit up a bit, leaning against him still, but not wanting him to try and eat while lying down. He made sure Eren had a good grip on the plate before letting go, going to dig into his own food. “These are good Scotty- thanks for taking over.” Lathe shot him a thumbs up. I approve.
Scotty nodded, sitting down with the plate in his lap. “I didn’t accidentally put something in it, don’t worry about it.” He smiled softly as he took a bite into the first bomb. They taste pretty good.

Eren picked at the food he had on his plate, managing to finish it all off. It... It tastes the same as before... that's good. Eren sat there looking over the two of them with large eyes in relative silence. “How’s Casper?” He finally spoke up looking pointedly to Scotty. Someone should be allowed to be happy for once.

Scotty quirked an eyebrow for a moment, speaking after a second so he didn't choke. “He’s doing pretty well- he’s in the city today to do an interview for someone wanting a job at the pharmacy. Why he, the loose cannon, went instead of James is pretty odd, but it's what it is. ...you know, he’s moving in with me today. I'm honestly pretty excited about that.” ...we get to christen the house.

Eren nodded, moving to get up and set his plate by the sink. He looked down at his hands, his head ducked down a bit as he sighed quietly. I don’t know if I can be happy again… Am I gonna have to learn to fake it all over again? Eren reached for the soap nearby to start cleaning the dishes. Maybe if I can distract myself... I can do something about it.

Lathe got up and followed Eren to the sink, going to dry them. He watched as Eren looked to him and gave him a smile, one that almost believably reached his eyes. “Eren, you don't have to force it... I get that you're used to faking it... but you don't have to. Just let it happen. It's okay to not be happy all the time.” Don't force it... it'll make it harder to actually feel happy...

Eren looked down, nodding, letting the smile fall from his face. “So... can we go riding? It doesn’t burn anymore.” I really want to go riding again.

Scotty came up behind with his own plate and nodded. “Yeah, your foot looks like it’s back to normal, so it should be fine to go riding, just take it easy. I’m gonna head home, alright?” Casper’s gonna be coming home in an hour and I wanna make sure the bed is made.

“Alright-” Lathe set the last plate in the cupboard after a moment, walking him to the door. “Drive safe. And have fun~.” Lathe grinned impishly and laughed as Scotty facepalmed, sending him off and coming back to Eren. “Alright kid, you're gonna need your sock and shoe again, and we’ll go out. But we need to feed the other animals first, okay?” They need lunch too.

“Okay, so, besides Charlie… what do we have?” Eren moved back over to the couch to put his shoe back on. He then went over towards the back door where Lathe was waiting for him. “But we can go riding together right?” Eren asked quietly, looking up to Lathe with questioning eyes. I know I heard chickens… but what else do we have? Eren looked out the window to see another dog running around with Blake, his brow furrowing. “Did we get another dog?” Do I need two PTSD dogs now?

“Yep- she’s a Malinois. Her name is Maisie. I thought Blake could use some company; and the animals could use a bit of protecting if a random fox or something got any ideas. But we’ve got a small flock of seven chickens, two cows, and a pig. Let’s go say hi, shall we?” Lathe opened the back door, holding it open for Eren. I think you like Maisie. And all of the animals, really.

Eren nodded, stepping out and whistling loudly, which stopped the two dogs in their tracks and got them racing towards the door and up the stairs to meet them. “Can they have puppies?” THEY WOULD BE SO CUTE!!! I WANT THEM!!!

Lathe chuckled, kneeling down to pet Maisie. “They could- though I think that requires Blake taking Maisie out to dinner first.” He joked, looking up to him. “She’s nice- come say hi.”

Eren slowly knelt down, reaching a timid hand out to the dog, who sat down next to Blake by Lathe’s side. They look cute together. He gently pet her, a small smile creeping onto his face as she moved to lick his face. She’s really cute. “Have they been around Charlie?” I wanna take them with us when we go riding.

“Well, Maisie was raised on a horse farm, and Blake is generally chill- they haven't been around Charlie much yet, but I think they'll get along just fine. You thinking of bringing them with?” He watched as Eren nodded, smiling as he noticed the faintly happy look on Eren’s face. “I think we’ll be okay in doing that. Let’s bring them down to the barn.” Lathe stood up, starting them walking to the barn. He first brought them around the side of the barn to a henhouse, the flock of chickens inside the netted area contentedly clucking. “Here be the chickens! I haven't named all of them yet. I started running out of name ideas, and then all of them just started sounding weird.” Lathe entered the pen, the chickens swarming around his legs in interest. “Come on in if you want kid, the feathers are fine.” He chuckled. Best. Decision. Ever.

Eren slowly stepped in, closing the gate behind him and watching the two dogs sit down and watch the chickens all move around. He moved down to gently pick up one of the white hens, a happy smile on his face as she let him pick her up and pet her gently. “They’re pretty calm…” Eren let out a gasp and looked up to Lathe. “Can we use their eggs for breakfast?” Eren asked in pure excitement as he held the soft white chicken.

“What else are we going to do with them? Of course. And soon enough we might have a bunch of chicks.” He smirked at the roosters running around, one of them suspiciously looking at Eren from one side of the pen. What, did you designate that hen as your waifu or something? “They really do need names, though… how abooooout…” Just start naming them random historical figures or something. “Your name-” He motioned to the rooster half-trying to stare down Eren. “Is now Thomas Jefferson. Because why not. You can be John Locke because reasons-” He nodded to the other rooster in the pen, smiling as one hen tried vainly to lift from the ground, flapping her wings for a long moment. “…and you’ll be Amelia Earhart.”

Eren pet the chicken in his arms gently. “Can we name this one Carla?” He asked quietly, his voice a bit timid as he spoke. You seem to have a theme going on… but I like this white chicken.

Lathe looked to him, faintly smiling and tentatively going over, gently petting the chicken in his arms, his voice soft. “I think that’s a wonderful name.” She fits right in. “You can name the other three hens, too.” It’s a team effort.

“Umm…. I… Ieva?” Eren asked quietly. I’ve heard that before… but where? I don’t remember.

Spades’ name. “Ieva. As in Ieva Velanova Spade- your Mom’s name. I think she’d like that. It’s not really as if she ever uses that name much. Someone might as well- it’s pretty.” I always thought so. Besides me poking fun at it in the hospital… I don’t really remember the last time anyone really used it.

Eren nodded quietly, gently putting Carla down and picking up another nameless hen. “Um… can we call her… Gwynn? And the other…. Um… Thalia?” I like the sound of those names.

Lathe smiled warmly, bending down to pick up Thalia- or trying to, flapping her wings at him. He chuckled, reaching out to pet her, which she seemed to allow. “I think those are wonderful names.” Lathe stood after Thalia clicked and turned her head from him, petting Gwynn before Eren set her down. “How about we go meet the other animals? I already gave the chickens their lunch today.”

Eren nodded, moving out the pen and moving towards the barn. “Where’s Charlie?” He asked, looking at the empty stall, though going to see that the stall led out to the meadow where Charlie was walking around and eating. Oh… that’s where he is. Eren slipped into the stall, moving to whistle for Charlie, calling for him as well. “Charlie!” He called out, watching as the stallion picked his head up and started for the barn, picking up speed as he came close. He really is just like Charlie… he’s got the same patches in the same places too.

Lathe went to get a lead, approaching him as Charlie slowed and clipping it on. He led him into the barn in the open area of the centre, tethering him to the walls. “His tack and everything is in the next stall over; you know what to bring out?” Help please.

Eren nodded and went into the tack room first grabbing a rather large saddle and saddle cloth and situating it on Charlie’s back. He reached down to make sure it was secured, and pulled down on it to make sure it wouldn’t move on them. He went back and came out with a bridle situating it gently over his ears and smiling as Charlie nickered at him. He even sounds like Charlie… He made sure that everything was tight but not too tight. “Okay, I’m gonna ride him around for a few feet to make sure I know how he handles, before you get on. Okay?” I don’t necessarily know how fast he turns or how quickly he follows instructions. Eren unclipped the lead, dropping it as well as the tethers from the side of him, letting them swing back to the walls as he held Charlie by the bridle.

“Hold on for just a second, Eren.” Lathe went to the tack room to pick up a helmet, coming back and handing it to him. “You’re gonna need this.” He let Eren put on the helmet before backing up, following Eren out of the barn and around it as he rode. He looks like he never stopped riding.

Eren had a huge smile on his face as he walked Charlie, turning to Lathe. “Are the trails dirt?” They should be… He’s got shoes on, so I hope so… I wanna see how he trots.

“Yeah, they are. Whatever it is you’re gonna do, just be careful! I’m right behind you!” You're about to try something- let's hope I can keep up!

Eren nodded, getting a proper hold on the bridle as he shifted in the saddle, so that his butt was up a bit more, and he looked like he was a jockey, as he kicked Charlie into gear. First with a nice trot before picking up a Canter and pulling away from Lathe as Charlie picked up speed. Lathe would’ve still been able to hear Eren’s laughter as he continued. He can run! Oh my god! This is amazing!

Lathe gave up trying to run after them, watching Eren laugh happily as he and Charlie went down one of the trails in the large meadow. He beamed, watching them. He looks and sounds so happy… and he rides so incredibly well. It was a few minutes before Eren and Charlie began to make their way back, making sure they had room, grinning up to Eren. “So- what do you think?”

“He’s… He’s amazing.” Eren breathed out as he leaned down to pat Charlie’s neck. “He’s a really great horse too…” I missed riding. “He should be able to handle the two of us, so should we feed the rest of the animals?” He asked swinging his leg over and flawlessly hopping down, holding onto the bridle still.

Lathe nodded, impressed. “Yeah, we should, before they get too antsy. Come on.” Lathe led the two of them back to the barn, leading Eren to the far end where two cows stood, as well as a pig. He picked up a feed bag from one stall, as well as a few fruits and vegetables from a bin. “Alright-this guy here is Oliver.” Lathe led him over to a pig no taller than his knee, looking up to Eren and him with curiosity. He handed Eren a sweet green pepper, himself holding an apple. “He’s nice, don't worry. Here~” He held the bag of feed as he crouched down, holding out the apple to Oliver. He sniffed at it before taking it from him, munching happily on it. He patted him before standing, looking to Eren and nudging him forward a bit, his voice quiet and reassuring. “Go ahead.” He'll like you.

Eren leaned down to give Oliver the pepper that he held. “Is he just gonna eat?” Eren almost jumped back as Oliver came up to him to take the pepper. He just takes it from you? Okay… That works. He let Oliver take the pepper from him, looking up to Lathe, to make sure he did it right. Hannes didn’t let me play with or feed the pigs… So I’m not sure if that’s right.

Lathe smiled to him, moving to put some feed in his trough. “Well, I thought he’d be a nice addition. And eventually, well, breakfast. But not for a long time. He’s still very young.” Lathe patted his head as he ate the feed, putting the feed bag back and grabbing a different one, along with two cobs of corn, handing one to Eren. “Last, but definitely not least…” He led them across the way to two heifers, nodding to them. “These two are Gill, and Jill.” He set down the feed bag, breaking the corn cob into thirds, holding one on his flat hand and offering it to Gill. Gill looked to the food, then to him, then to the food again, then to him again, before stepping up to take the food and stepping back after taking it, munching quietly. Lathe smiled, looking back to Eren as he waited to finish feeding Gill the corn. “Do as I'm doing- Jill doesn't bite. I'm right here.” It's okay.

Eren took the corn and gently held the corn out for Jill, stepping close to her and letting her come the rest of the way before she moved with Gill to go towards the feed trough, continuing their munching. They want food… Eren giggled a bit as they mooed impatiently for Lathe to put their lunch in the trough.

Lathe rolled his eyes, chuckling. “Alright, alright, I'm coming…” Lathe poured the feed in the trough, also tossing in the rest of the corn he was holding. They immediately nudged forward to eat, Lathe putting away the bag of feed. “I've still got to get a fence set up around the property, but I think they're okay to graze while we're riding.” Lathe straightened out the stall and soon led the two cows out into the field, letting them graze on the tall grass. They're chill- they're not going to go running off, I don't think. He went to get a helmet of his own, fastening it and coming back to Eren. “Alright- you're gonna have to tell me what to do. I know how to take care of horses, but not how to ride them.”

Eren nodded, moving to get a tall stool, setting it on the left side of Charlie. “Alright swing your leg over, and stay in the back on the saddle, I’m gonna sit in front of you.” Eren moved to hold onto Charlie so that Lathe could get on.
Lathe nodded, tentatively standing on the stool, carefully swinging his leg over and settling in the back of the saddle, keeping his balance. “Okay… now what’s gonna happen?” This is all like Greek to me, honestly.

Eren smiled and held onto his bridle. “I’m coming up.” Eren stepped into the stirrup and vaulted over Charlie. “Okay, ya ready Dad?” I am sooooooo ready for this! Eren waited for his signal, moving his hands around his waist. You better hold onto me…

Lathe held onto Eren’s middle tightly, a bit nervous as Charlie shifted under him. “No, but go ahead anyway because that answer may never be yes…” This is so weird… Lathe made a small sound of surprise as Charlie started to walk, looking down at the ground, whispering in a nervous voice. “We’re moving…” Help.

Eren smiled more. “Yeah, we’re moving!” Eren said excitedly as they started down the trail towards the empty fields.

Eren had a huge smile on his face as they rode Charlie around the trails. “It’s pretty nice out for riding… Would you mind if I made jumps for us?” He would definitely be able to handle them.

“Uhm, you can jump him… I’m gonna pass though… I’m terrified enough right now as it is.” Lathe made a small sound of surprise as Charlie turned a corner rather suddenly, holding onto Eren tighter. He blushed in embarrassment as Eren laughed quietly, his voice small. “Stop laughing, this is new to me…” ...murr.

Eren smirked, turning Charlie around towards the barn once they were a decent ways away. “Hold on tight!” Eren called clicking Charlie into a nice trot which was only slightly faster than a walk, but still faster nonetheless.

Lathe held onto Eren tightly, yelping as Charlie suddenly sped up, burying his face into Eren’s shoulder. This is terrifying. “Slowdownslowdownslowdown pretty please…” Lathe pleaded with Eren. I didn't sign up for this!
Eren went a few more seconds before slowing Charlie down to a walk again. “You did great, Dad.” Eren turned to look at Lathe, a huge cheeky smile on his face. This is fun… I like this…

Lathe looked at Eren, annoyed and embarrassed, his cheeks flushed a furious red. “You could at least warn me if you’re gonna try something like that… not to say you can warn me and then just do it… I’m not exactly a regular horse rider… this is still really scary to me…” Lathe looked down to the ground, studying the grass. I have no idea why it's terrifying… maybe because it’s a huge animal that doesn’t speak English, can harm me and has a free will to do something other than what it’s told… that probably has something to do with it.

Eren chuckled a little bit as he urged Charlie into a gentle walk. “It’s okay, you stayed on! I’m really proud of you Dad! You’re doing great for your first time on a horse.” You’re doing great! I wonder… If I can make some jumps… Before dinner… “Is there any extra wood lying around? Or do I gotta take Charlie out to the forest and cut some branches?” Gotta be able to remove them if he hits them… But I know that his breed has great tact… He should be able to clear anything in his limit…

“Uhm, yeah, there’s a huge pile on the other side of the house from all the trees that were cut down from around the property border- why? What’re you gonna make with it?” …and the fact that I stayed on is an achievement isn't that reassuring…

“Some jumps… Do we have a sled somewhere?” I know there’s enough rope to get him to pull a sled full. I’ll have to move them all over here and make it. “I’ll also need a drill, and some screws… And paint…”

“There’s all that stuff in the garage if you need it, and a toboggan too, but I dunno if that's the right thing to get a bunch of wood over here. …unless it is. I don't know. I'll show you where everything is, and I'll let you use all of it if you're careful.” You sound like you know what you're doing…

“Okay, sounds good.” Eren led Charlie towards the barn. “So you wanna get off first? Or do you want me to get off first?” I mean, it doesn’t matter to me, if you want me to get off first that’s fine.

“Uhm, I'm gonna be too clumsy to properly manoeuvre off with you still on… you first?”

Eren nodded, easily maneuvering off of Charlie and holding onto him so he wouldn’t move while Lathe was getting off. “Swing your leg over this way again.” Always stay on the left side of a horse.
“Okay…” Lathe held onto the saddle to keep balance and swung his leg over, shakily stepping down. “...I'm sorry, but it's going to take plenty of convincing to get me to do that again.” ...I'll brush and feed them and take care of them. But you can ride them. ...not me. Lathe watched as Eren led Charlie back to the tethers, putting back his helmet and helping Eren switch out equipment, carrying back the saddle as Eren fastened on harnesses. “This is for dragging around wood, yes…?” It's a good thing Charlie is pretty much an everything horse… he can wear all these hats you're putting on him to an extent.

“Yeah, evenly distributes the weight over him.” Easier for him to pull. It didn't take Eren more than five minutes before he moved to get rope and a crop. I need to do something with him too make sure he can do commands. “Do me a favor and close the barn door.” Gotta try something, there's enough space for him to do this.

...well this is suspicious. “Okay.” Lathe went to close the barn door, the space still illuminated by lights hanging overhead. He backed up, watching to see what was about to happen.

Eren let Charlie off of the tethers getting the crop out and gently tapping it onto his hind quarter to get him to walk. He stood with him shoulder to shoulder, turning right along with him. He was walking him without using a lead. He seems good off of a lead.

Lathe shied further away from Eren and Charlie, worried. He's not on a lead... oh my... Lathe watched Charlie's movements intently, looking ready to scamper up a beam at any moment.

Eren stopped walking a few times, Charlie stopping right away and backing up with him to stand shoulder to shoulder, needing only a slight tap of the crop again to get him moving. “Okay, Dad! Let's go get the wood!” Eren stood excitedly side by side with Charlie who just looked up to Lathe, an ear towards Eren, and one towards Lathe. “You can open the door up.” I got the rope... And the sled is in the Garage...

Lathe slowly went to the door, never taking his eyes off of Charlie as he opened them again.
“Okay, t-this way…” Lathe decided to walk backwards showing them to the garage, very wary of Charlie being off of a lead. I don't like this... but he isn't acting up... yet... Lathe brought them around the side of the house, going to punch in a code to the door opener and walking in to first retrieve a toboggan from the wall, carefully bringing it outside. “Now you'd better be careful with this- don't break it and we'll be okay.” I've had this toboggan for forever. He set it down behind Charlie where Eren could hook it up, going to fetch a drill and screws for him, finding the tool and a box of screws after a few minutes, then locating leftover white and red paint from the painting of the house. He set them on the sled. “Okay, the logs and stuff are obviously on this side of the house,” He optioned to the wall of logs leaning against the house. “-but there's even more wood and branches and bigger logs on the other side. The huge pile is visible from the road- and it's a lot bigger than you'd expect. Though a bunch of it is firewood now.” Lathe warily turned around, judging how Charlie would follow back around the house. I still don't like this...
Eren let Charlie over towards the first section of wood, finding the right size that he needed and starting to load up the toboggan. He lashed the wood together well, getting a sled-full. He got up towards Charlie’s front and tapped him with the crop, getting him to move and pull the sled along quite nicely. That’s it! He’s doing it!

Lathe watched as Eren had Charlie pull the sled full of wood, keeping distance. He glanced to his watch. It’s been about two hours… Lathe checked over his shoulders, Gill and Jill still rather close to the barn in the meadow. Good. Lathe looked back to Eren. “Uhm, if you're okay out here, is it alright if I go inside to do some unpacking? There are entire rooms that are still boxes right now…” Mostly the kitchen… and the bedrooms.

Eren nodded. “Yeah that’s fine- I’ll start building jumps!” Eren said and he took care of everything he needed too.

Chapter 46: Progress

Levi’s home! I wish we could've given him a bit warmer of a welcome- kinda hard to do that when Eren shied away from a hug when he got home. Lathe was writing in loopy script in a notebook, lists of names and dishes, and an even longer list of ingredients. Levi really wants to spend time with Eren, doing stuff or just talking or not even talking and just being, but I get the feeling Eren’s been kinda trying to avoid him…. he’s been avoiding talking to anyone about what happened like the plague. He’s holed up in the barn half the time, and the other half is spent riding Charlie. He’s really good- I got a bunch of videos of him jumping to put onto YouTube because something has to go on there… today’s really no different. He’s been taking care of the animals all morning… he’ll be back inside for lunch in a little while though. I have pigs in a blanket in the oven- he’ll be out of the painting room to eat soon. Levi and Erwin are out, shopping for Turkeys. We’re hosting even more people this year than we have been in past years- now that I think of it, I need to see if we have a long enough table for everyone… Lathe was counting guests as the doorbell rang, looking up and setting down his pen, padding to the front. He opened the door, looking down to the woman standing there. “Hello, can I help you?”

You don't look like a salesperson- what's up?

Hannah looked up to Lathe as he stood a full foot above her. Holy shit! Casper! You never said he was a giant!!! “Um… I-I…” She stumbled over her words, looking down as she played with her hands. “I… I heard through the grapevine… that you have a space in your barn for another horse… a-and I was… I was wondering if um… maybe I could board my horse here? I… I can pay you for the space she uses….” Oh god… please tell me he’ll be okay with it? Even if I pay $500 a day to him… I’m saving from where she’s being boarded now.

...you look terrified. Probably because I'm tall. That's a thing. And who would’ve told you about the barn? Probably either Scotty or Casper, really. ...probably Casper. He can't keep his yap shut about anything. ...okay, let’s see if we can convince you I’m not about to attack you. Lathe kept a perfectly straight face, not shifting or wavering in his response. “I wouldn't be adverse to you boarding a horse here, but it'll cost you your first-born child.”

Hannah’s eyes widened to the size of dinner plates, her face instantly paling. “That’s not funny…. That’s really not funny, Mr. Quo, my wife is pregnant!” This man is either crazy, or has a weird sense of humor…. Either way that was not the right way to say anything.

...wait. Lathe paled a bit, recognition crossing his face, immediately and profusely apologising. “Oh my god, I'm really sorry about that, I’d heard about you but I didn't recognize you- Hannah I'm sorry about that, I wasn't trying to be mean or scare you or anything.” He gave her a sheepish smile. “Casper had told me plenty about you and Sharon- I didn't mean that. Having you board your horse here would be very doable. Come in and we can talk?” Lathe offered her to come inside. I hadn't seen a picture of you- I didn't know who the hell you could be!

Hannah stood there, frozen for a few moments before nodding. “Uh… yeah, that sounds good- I’m not interrupting anything am I?” Oh god… I knew I should have asked Casper about calling you first to make sure you weren’t doing anything. She followed Lathe into the large home, looking around with wide eyes. “It’s gorgeous.” She almost didn’t notice Eren peeking around the corner of the wall until he started to talk a bit.

“Oh….” Eren’s voice died off as Lathe led in a woman he’d never seen before. Who is she? Is she gonna yell at me? What is she gonna do? Why is she here? She’s not gonna try something is she? Is she nice? His mind was racing as he stared at the two of them with large eyes.

“Not much, you're fine- and thank you, my wife and I did most of the designing.” We haven't actually done the wedding thing yet... but fuck it. Close enough. He smiled, noticing Eren peering around the corner. He smiled softly to him, looking back to Hannah for a second, holding up a hand for a moment before going over to Eren, his voice soft as he tried to coax him out from behind the corner to meet her. “Eren, let me introduce the two of you, okay? She’s very nice- you don't have to be worried.” He gently led Eren out a bit by the arm, gesturing to Hannah with one arm. “Eren, this is Hannah Laskowski. She’s Scotty and Casper’s neighbor, and soon will have her horse boarding with us. And Hannah, this is my son Eren.” I hope you can understand he’s really shy...

Hannah smiled softly, her eyes almost seeming to close as her large cheeks rose to show off a large smile. Ah, you’re Eren, I’ve heard a lot about you too. You’re quite the interesting fellow and I swear we only listen to your music while we work in the lab, Casper insists on it... “It’s okay, Eren. If you want to stay there where you're comfortable, it’s fine! I completely understand.” I know exactly what you’re going through kid.
Eren looked over from Lathe to Hannah and then back over towards the door which led to his painting room. She’s…. She doesn’t mind that I wanna hide? Hmm…. that’s a first… usually Dad’s always trying to find me around the house, I like hiding in random spots… I don’t like being in a room with people in it anymore. Eren nodded, looking down to his bare feet. I could go ride Charlie… Wait… didn’t Dad say she’s gonna board her horse here?

Thank god, she gets it. Lathe smiled gratefully to her, turning back to Eren. “Lunch is in the oven, and it’s almost done- how about you clean up a little and then come out to eat, okay?” You’ve got paint all over your hands. He let Eren scamper off, nodding for Hannah to follow him to the kitchen, going to the oven. “I just need to get him lunch, and then we can properly talk. Do you want anything to drink or anything? And there’s plenty of food to go around if you'd like.” It’s lunchtime- It'd be rude not to ask.

“Ah… Um… If you have any tea, that would be great, but you don’t have to hassle yourself. And thank you for the offer, but I really shouldn’t.” It’s kind of you to ask, but I can’t… I wonder what Eren was painting? His mural videos were always pretty cool.

“It’s no trouble really- and Eren only drinks tea, so he’s getting some too.” He nodded to the kettle, which had long since been set on the stove, fishing in the cupboard for two mugs and teabags. “Earl Grey okay? We have other kinds if you’d like one better.” He looked to her as she nodded, going ahead and making the tea, handing her the two mugs. “Could you please do me a favour, take this to the painting room over there? Eren needs to come out and eat.” He pointed to the door of the painting room. He needs to pretty much be bribed into coming out of hiding...

Hannah nodded carefully taking the two mugs towards where he was pointing. She walked over quietly, gently kicking the door with her foot in mock knocking. Don’t want to scare you. “Eren… Your Dad says the food is ready?... I brought you tea. Which one do you want?” I don’t know if you have a specific mug that you use all the time, but I’m hoping that you’re not feeling threatened that I’m in the doorway.

Eren looked up from where he was setting the paints away. His eyes watched her every move and watched her stop a fair distance from him in the doorway. Well, she’s friendly… And she understands… Eren timidly got up, making his way over to her and grabbing the mug from her left hand. This one is mine… It’s nice she let me pick which one I wanted.

Hannah smiled faintly to him, moving out of the way and slowly shepherd Eren out to the living room, sitting a fair distance away from him on one of the couches. ... you were all the internet was talking about a bit ago. There’s still buzz, but I remember reading a couple snippets about what was happening… I’m actually one of the few people working on refining the serum found in one of the syringes… we think it’s what Grisha gave you… I can’t just dump that on you right now, though. But, I get it. More than you’d think. She spoke after a long moment of silence, her voice soft. “Eren, I just wanted to tell you that I understand what you’re going through, and… if you ever want to talk to someone about it, I'm here. But I'm not gonna force it on you… because I know how hard it is to talk about it.” ...just putting it on the table...

Eren picked his head up from staring at the tea in his hands. … Huh? “H-how? How do you know?” Eren asked quietly, his voice wavering in uncertainty. How would you know how I feel? Of wanting to hide from everyone? Of not wanting to be touched…? Of not being able to feel anything?

“It happened to me, too… I was on my college campus, miles and miles away from any family, because I was dorming… I didn't want to tell anyone, I just wanted to forget it ever happened and never have to bring it up, pretend nothing happened. But, it had happened, and when I called or Skyped any of my friends they could tell something had changed… it was really really hard to tell anyone, and I just felt so disgusting and awful about myself… I haven't even told my own parents about it yet, and it's been a really long time… but when I finally told my inner circle of friends, and when I told Sharon, from then on it was small steps towards understanding I was still someone deserving respect, and that not all human interactions have a malicious intent… that that awful thing can happen and you can still be liked and respected and wanted… I've had my share of days where I’d just hide by myself, where everything is numb and I wouldn't even be able to stand someone touching my shoulder or even being in the same room as me… but, it gets better. It took a long time, and my way of figuring things out may not be your way of doing it, but I got better. I've been there. If you need to really talk to someone about it, someone who understands your situation immensely well, call or find me.” I understand, kid… I've been there. And nothing about getting better was much fun besides the fact I was getting progressively closer and closer to being normal.

Eren sat there and listened to everything Hannah was telling him. She’s been through that? She knows… She knows what it feels like… Maybe I do need to talk to someone about it… And you seem to understand. “Umm… Well, my biological father… Was the one that started it. He had been watching the house until he knew I would be home, popped the lock, and came into the house…. He beat me...He used his fist, he threw chairs as me…. He took rope and tried to drown me in the bathtub… And he got the knife out... And he started to cut things off… He cut parts of my ear off, patches of skin… And he boiled water and threw it on me to burn everything up. He didn’t let me sleep, at all, he wouldn’t let me take Blake out of the cage, and he was in there suffering and whining…. And I couldn’t do a damn thing about it...” Eren paused as his voice wavered a bit, looking up to find Hannah still intently looking back at him. She’s listening... She’s not judging me about it either.... Hannah’s pretty nice... “I… Uhm… I probably said too much already, you don't want to talk about it....” I'm probably reminding you of something you'd rather forget.

...that’s horrible… Hannah shook her head, giving him a reassuring look. “No, really, it’s fine, I'm listening- you can keep talking if you want to.” If not, I understand. But don't think I'm just tuning you out.

Eren looked up from twiddling his fingers, his eyes looking to her for only a moment before looking around the room at anywhere but her. He took a few sips of tea, trying to collect his thoughts. “Um… H-He took my phone… And he held a knife to my neck… And he told me, that I wasn’t allowed to tell anyone that he… That he was beating me… He said if I told Dad… That he would bring Dad into the apartment… And he told me that he was gonna take him, and tie him up…. and that he was gonna beat dad…. And do everything he had done to me to him… And he said he would let me watch him bleed out…” Eren had to stop talking as he tried not to cry, his mind bringing up horrible images of Lathe covered in blood lying broken and battered on the floor in front of him. No… That can’t happen…. He can’t die… That can’t happen.

Lathe stopped with a plate in his hands, looking around the corner to Eren and Hannah. He's talking… and… he used me to keep Eren from talking…. Lathe quietly rapped on the wall, wanting to get their attention for just a moment, his voice quiet as he patted over to them. “I'm sorry for interrupting… here…” Lathe made sure a Eren had a good hold on the plate before leaning down to peck his forehead. ...should I leave you two to talk? “...do you want me to stay for right now?” If you want to keep talking, without me here, I get it.

Eren looked up to Lathe, shaking his head as he picked up a piggy and ate it quietly. No… You don’t need to know yet… You don’t understand how I feel…. But Hannah does… And she’s letting me talk…. She’s not judging me. He looked over to Hannah as she sipped at her tea. I think I can talk to her about it…

Lathe nodded, ruffling Eren’s hair a bit before leaving them to be, out of sight around the corner.
However, he stopped and leaned against the wall to listen to Eren speak, wanting to know more about what exactly had happened. He doesn't talk about any of it; I need to know more about what happened… I knew it wasn't good, but… it was so cruel...

Eren spoke quietly in between bites of food. “Ummm…. After I agreed that I wasn’t going… To tell Dad or Mom that he was there…. He let me go try and do my recording day at Dad’s old house… And umm… He told me that he was gonna kill me before… Before Levi got home… And I didn’t know what else to do… Except try and tell him, and I ended up crying during my recordings....” Eren looked down at his plate, suddenly feeling full, unable to eat another bite.

Hannah gave him a sympathetic look, listening intently. She noticed Eren had stopped eating after a little while, speaking up softly as Eren’s words lulled. “...do you want to talk any more?” You look like you don't want to much- you probably want to go back to hiding… She watched as Eren paused for a second before shaking his head, setting his unfinished plate on the couch before scampering off upstairs, bringing his tea with him. She let him go, getting up and picking up his plate. She padded to the kitchen, handing Lathe the plate. “I'm sorry, he didn't finish…”

Lathe nodded, taking the plate from her. “That’s alright, as long as he kinda ate it he’s okay. But he had breakfast. He'll be okay.” Lathe shrugged and set it down leaning against the counter and snitching one of the piggies, deciding not to waste them. “So, I'm cool with you boarding your horse here, obviously. I take you out to see the barn in a bit if you like, but before I do that, let me say this.” Lathe looked to her with a serious expression. “Eren hasn’t known you for more than fifteen minutes and he’s told you more about what happened than he has to anybody else. Even me. For you to board your horse here, $300.00 would be more than fair, and it would be amazing if you could come over occasionally to just talk to Eren. ...he refuses to go to therapy and for a good reason, and it would be such a help. It’s the most he’s talked in weeks....” Lathe silently plead with her. “How does all that sound?”

...I think you could really help Eren...

Hannah smiled gently, her smile a bit smaller as she nodded. “I think that would be good, that would definitely let me save a lot from where she’s boarded right now.” That would help a lot! And she’ll have someone to get along with. She put her tea mug down on the counter, looking back up to Lathe. “Um, could we go see the barn so I know where I’m gonna bring her tonight?”

Lathe nodded, motioning for her to follow him. “Of course- oh, we’re gonna need our shoes.” Lathe led her to the front door, stepping into his boots while she slipped her shoes on, leading her through the house and out the back door. He wolf whistled out in the direction of the fields, not seeing Blake or Maisie. It wasn't a second later he heard a bark, both of the dogs running down the trails to them. They slowed as they approached the two of them, looking at Hannah with curiosity. “Hannah, this is Blake and Maisie. Blake’s Eren’s service dog.” He does lots more of derping around than servicing now it seems. Eren never really leaves the house except to go to the barn... that’s probably why. With a nod of his head, Lathe had Blake and Maisie following them as they ambled to the barn. He opened the barn door, flooding the inside with natural light. “Welcome to the barn!” He led her further in, saluting to Salem as he lounged on a rafter above their heads. “The stalls are here on the left- there’s plenty of hay and grains, fruits and vegetables to go around. And we’ve got heaters in here so the animals aren't freezing in the winter.” That would be bad.

Hannah nodded looking up all around to inspect the rafters to see if there were any more cats. Hmm... So many spaces and no horses? “You only have one horse here?” Luna should fit in here... Hopefully. But Bavarians are known for being docile around others.

“Yeah, just the one. We decided just to start with Charlie and see how well Eren could take care of him and the rest of the animals. Though, he is taking very good care of all of them. We’re thinking of getting one for jumping.” He put a finger to his lips. “-but you didn't hear me say that.” That's gonna be a surprise. “Tell me a bit more about your horse- all I know at this point is that they exist.” He chuckled quietly.

She chuckled softly as she looked around a few of the other stalls. “Well, I have a Bavarian Warmblood mare, she’s 6, her name is Luna and very well trained, we do jump often… Does Eren know how to jump?” I’m curious…. I did see some painted poles but those could just be for walking around and getting the gait right.

That's Charlie’s breed. “Yeah, Eren does- he built a bunch of jumps and set them up around the backyard. Charlie’s a Bavarian Warmblood too, oddly enough, and he can jump with him really “It’s really impressive, actually. “He hadn’t ridden in over a decade and yet he picked it right back up like it was nothing…”

Hannah nodded, completely understanding. “Once you learn to ride, you never forget… And I meant to ask you… But do you know where the closest riding center is? I usually ride Luna where she’s boarded but it’s becoming too expensive at the one in town.”

“Hannah, come here real quick.” Lathe led Hannah back outside, stopping her where she could see the meadow and the trees. “Just look for a second. Every bit of land that you can see right now I own- there are plenty of trails and open spaces and jumps to go around. You're very welcome to ride your horse here.” That’d be very okay.

Hannah stepped out with him to look at the land around where he motioned. It’s… That’s all yours? Holy shit! “Oh… Wow… Um, that’d be really nice, thank you very much.” I would love riding here. She looked over towards the field, seeing a dark bay horse. “Is that Charlie?” She asked pointing over to him. “He’s beautiful.”

Lathe nodded, grinning. “That’s him, alright. He really is something. And don’t worry, the area they’re fenced into right now isn’t permanent. We’re trying to find a company that can put up enough fencing to go completely around the property, and get fencing at least for a decent bit of the front of the house before winter. We just can't have them wandering off in the meantime. That would be bad.” Yeah, no.

Hannah nodded, watching as he trotted around the fence, as if looking and expecting something. “I know this is kinda off topic but…. Is he gelded?” I wonder if they would be up for breeding them? Bavarians are hard to come by in the States...

“No, he’s not.” Lathe thought a moment, quirking an eyebrow at her. “Why, whatcha thinkin’?”

“Well… Bavarians are hard to come by in the States… If you wanted to… We could breed them, I wouldn’t mind. It would probably pay decently for a colt or a filly, though we would probably need to get permission from Germany to do that so they would be official….” Hannah started to trail off as she thought of the possibilities they could have with the two Bavarians. It would definitely make a lot of money somewhere… And around here, people are crazy about their horses...

...they would be worth a lot… hmmmm… “That’s definitely a thought…” He thought a minute before nodding. “I’m alright with that- we’d need to get permission like you said, and then have pedigrees made, things like that- but I think that’s a fine idea.”
Hannah nodded. “Well, I’m gonna head out and go pick her up and then bring her to see how they get along with each other, is that okay?” I hope it is… The quicker that they know each other... The better...

Lathe nodded. “Of course- I understand you'd need to move her as soon as you could. And yeah, we’ll see how they get along.” We’ll introduce them soon, then. “I’ll write up a contract while you're out getting her. Can I just get your contact information before you go?” Lathe offered her his phone, a new contact pulled up. In case stuff happens.

Hannah took his phone, taking only a minute to put in her contact information and texting herself so that she had his number. “I’ll be over around 6ish if that’ll work?” Need to take the truck to get the trailer and then go get her and then load her in, and drive her over here... And maybe pick up Sharon on the way here...

“That’d work just fine-” Six-ish... “-Since it would be so close to then, what do you think about maybe joining us for dinner? You and your wife, of course.” I'd like to meet her, too.

…. That could work, I'll tell Sharon while I'm picking up the trailer at home. “That sounds good, um, can I ask what we’re having? Sorry but I’m just curious.” Sharon’s been having really weird food cravings and it’s kinda freaking me out a little bit. She rubbed at the back of her neck as she kicked a pebble around on the ground.

...oh, right. That's to be expected. Lathe chuckled, understanding. “Chicken cacciatore- whole chicken cooked slow, over pasta with mushrooms, onions and peppers. ...and you're not asking for you, are you?” I'd bet not.

Hannah shook her head. “No… I mean yes… but not really. Don’t be offended if I don’t eat all the fancy stuff you put with the pasta… but I was asking for Sharon, she’s been getting really weird cravings as of late.” Just so she knows what she’s getting into.

Lathe nodded, shrugging. “I figured. I'd be surprised if she wasn't. And that’s fine- I know not everybody likes all foods. I have to feed Eren, so believe me. I know.” He chuckled. I'm laughing because it hurts. That was a struggle, finding out what stuff he likes. ...would anything I'm saying sound weird because you probably don't know I was a doctor? ...maybe. I maybe sound kinda creepy... dammit. “Uhm, side note, in case any of that sounded weird or creepy, I used to be a doctor.” I've talked to too many spouses of pregnant women- I understand the struggle. ...that sentence just made it more awkward fuck “...I'm sorry, I can't words…” Lathe facepalmed. Good job.
She let out a light-hearted laugh as the two of them walked towards the house again, and towards her truck. “That’s completely fine, I can’t words either… it’s completely fine, um… if you could give Eren my number too, that would be great so he can text me whenever he wants.” *I know I wanted to talk about it at the randomest times when I finally got the strength to talk about it."

He’ll actually talk, maybe. “I’ll make sure to do that. ...and really, thank you for that.” Lathe gave her a grateful look. It would mean a lot. He slowed as they approached Hannah’s truck, his tone light. “I’ll see you, Sharon and Luna around six then.” He waved as Hannah pulled out of the driveway, going back into the house. He grabbed his laptop from it’s place on the banister, setting it up on the kitchen island to type up a contract. He sat down, pulling out his phone. Eren’s hiding again somewhere… this’ll be easier.

LQ: Hey Eren, I have a couple things to tell you

LQ: Hannah wanted you to have her cell phone number, and text or call anytime you need to or want to talk. It’s XXX-XXX-XXXX

LQ: She’s going to be boarding her horse Luna here, and she’s bringing her over around 6 o’clock. We’ll introduce her to Charlie; they’re the same breed, and we want to see how well they get along. She’ll be riding her here too, taking advantage of the trails and jumps.

LQ: Hopefully you're willing to share grins because I'm joking around

LQ: Also, I invited Hannah and her wife Sharon over for dinner tonight. Mom is going to be home by the time they get here, you seemed to like Hannah, and I'm sure Sharon is nice- I don't think you have to worry. We're not gonna force you to talk or anything.

LQ: Does that all sound okay?

EY: … Yeah… That sounds okay, what are we having? For dinner?

EY: And I saved her phone number… Thank you…

EY: Her horse is the same breed as Charlie!? gasp we could have a foal running around in a year!

LQ: We were literally thinking of that- we're going to see how the two of them get along

LQ: And we’re having chicken cacciatore

LQ: It's the chicken over pasta with the fancy vegetables in it

EY: okay… Is that the one you made like two weeks ago that I liked?

LQ: the one where when you ate the bits of vegetable I silently cheered?

LQ: because if so, yes.
EY: yeah… No mushrooms please? Blake didn’t like them...

LQ: ...I didn't know Blake ate the chicken with us

LQ: He wouldn't have, because there are bones in the chicken.

LQ: …you know what, that’s 3:3 dissent against vegetables

LQ: You veggie-haters win-no mushrooms.

EY: … You’re not mad…. Right?

LQ: Of course I'm not mad. It’s fine, really!

LQ: Anything to make you and the guests happy :)

Lathe nearly dropped his phone on the counter in surprise as Blake suddenly rushed in through the doggy door, running up the stairs. Maisie wasn't far behind him, running up to Lathe and standing up on her hind legs, licking at his face. What the hell? Lathe held up his arms to get her away from his face, wiping his mouth on his sleeve. “Whoa, down Maisie, chill.” What happened? Lathe stood from the island, letting Maisie lead him up the stairs to Eren’s room. He looked around the large bedroom, seeing Blake’s tail sticking out from the closet. Oh my… Lathe went over to the closet, pulling the door back a bit and seeing Eren huddled on the floor, his phone pulled to his chest, hiding under a pile of clothes. “Eren, are you okay?” Remember… he doesn't really like being touched. Lathe sat down on the floor opposite of Eren, giving him a few feet of space. He needs space.

Eren shook his head, barely able to reach out to pet Blake, who was whining for attention, trying to distract Eren. Come on human! You can do it! You can pet me! You can’t panic right now… The really big doge is looking for you… He wants you to take him for a walk too! Calm down, think about me. Blake moved to force his head into Eren’s hands and allowed Eren to pet him rather awkwardly.

... you don't like talking... me being your dad changes things a bit... Lathe pulled out his phone from his pocket after a minute, able to type without having to look at the keypad.

LQ: ...do you want to talk about it? ...type about it, if that would be better?

Eren looked down at the text from Lathe who sat down in the same room as him. I… I guess that would work. Eren’s left hand petted Blake, while his right held his phone, typing with his thumb.

EY: He told me that you would always hate me….
LQ: Eren, none of what he told you was true… I could never hate you.

LQ: You're my son. I'm always going to love you.

EY: …. I’m not really your son… I’m his… And he made that quite clear.

LQ: Eren, so much has happened since we met.

LQ: I took you in and did my best to fix what I could

LQ: I /officially adopted/ you

LQ: And I've given you everything I could to try and make you happy

LQ: You're my son, not just because a bunch of papers say so

LQ: But because I love you and treat you like one of my own

LQ: ...and why else would I ask you to call me ‘Dad?’

EY: …. He told me not to tell you… I couldn’t do it… I couldn’t, he said he was going to....

LQ: ...Eren, it's okay… I understand. You were scared of what would happen. I can't hold it against you.

EY: he told me he was gonna get you too… And he was gonna beat you, rape you, cut you open, play with you while you were awake, let the other men do whatever they wanted to you…

EY: he told me I would watch it all happen, and then they would come to me once they had killed you, let you bleed out and lost interest in your dead body…

EY: that image has been haunting me for /weeks/.

LQ: ...Eren, is it okay if I give you a hug?

Eren looked to the text, slowly propping himself up, shedding the clothes from on top of him. He moved timidly and slowly, still quite afraid that the image would become reality in a matter of seconds. I don’t want this to be a dream…. I don’t want you to die… Eren sat there in the closet, wanting Lathe to hold him and tell him it was okay more than anything, yet so afraid to have those arms wrap around him, in fear of them becoming cold and limp.

Lathe shifted forward, moving some clothes out of the way for just a moment as he moved next to Eren, pulling him and his nest into his lap, holding onto him tightly, his forehead resting against his shoulder. “Eren… I know it’s a horrible thing to think about… but I’m right here, and I'm in one piece, okay… you don't have to be scared that it could still happen.” Because it won't.

Eren started to sob as Lathe’s arms wrapped around him, shifting a bit so that he could curl up to Lathe a bit better, abandoning his nesting material for now to feel Lathe’s skin, warm to the touch. It’s not gonna happen… It’s not gonna happen… It’s not… Happening.… He’s not cold.… Eren just continued to sob in Lathe’s arms as he was hugged. I don’t want it to happen.

Lathe carded a hand through his hair, helping him shed some of the nesting material and keeping him close, trying to to cry himself. He murmured soothingly in his ear, rubbing his side comfortingly. Nothing is going to happen… I’m okay; you’re okay, we’re all okay. And for what we can see, that’s not going to change for a while. Lathe leaned back against the pile of clothes, waiting for Eren’s sobs to subside.

Eren’s fingers shakily gripped onto Lathe’s shirt, sobbing still and creating multiple wet marks on the shirt. “It… It… It could still happen though… He… He… H-he… He told them a-all about y-you… I’m s-scared… They’re g-gonna f-find you… W-When you l-leave the h-house…” Eren started to sob harder, he was starting to let Lathe in, to know his fears, starting to open up to him. I don’t want you to leave me alone… They’ll find me and kill me too…

Lathe cradled Eren to his chest, willing him to calm down. “Eren, we have the pictures of the men you drew; I’ve memorised their faces by now. I wouldn’t give anyone the opportunity to try anything while I was out and about. And if anyone tried anything, I know Judo. It is scary to think that there are still these people out there, but we know what they look like and we’re doing what we can to find them. It’s not going to happen; I wouldn't let it. I’d fight tooth and nail against any of them- after all, I’ve got a family to come home to.” There’s so much I have to live for.

Eren nodded, his sobs starting to subside a little bit as he finally started to feel even the least bit comfortable in Lathe’s arms. He’s really here… This isn’t a dream.… He’s real… Dad’s right here…

Lathe pecked Eren’s temple as he started to calm down, his arms still wrapped around him. “I’m not going anywhere. Swear it.” Lathe crossed his thumb over his heart. I’m not. Lathe held onto Eren for a while longer, soon murmuring. “I have to get things ready for when Hannah and Sharon come over- want to help me cook?” It’s okay to say no.

Eren stilled as he thought about it for a moment before nodding. Okay… I don’t wanna let go of you though. Eren shifted a bit, still holding onto his shirt, and sniffling.

…of course. Lathe sighed good-naturedly, smiling and shifting his feet under him, stepping out of the closet with Eren in his arms. He kept Eren’s head tucked under his chin as he padded carefully down the stairs, setting him down once they were in the kitchen, raising up his arms as Eren immediately clung to his middle, behind him. He chuckled. “Alright- you can just watch me cook, then.” That’s fine. Lathe went to the fridge and started to get things ready to put in the crock pot, conscious of Eren right behind him, content. *I haven't gotten a hug in weeks from you… This is okay. Making up for lost time. Lathe looked down as he was chopping vegetables for the sauce, seeing Blake and Maisie sitting and staring up at him, waiting patiently for him to drop something. He smirked, cutting a carrot in half and dropping the pieces. I don't have anything else to give you that you'll like or that won't make you sick.

Blake looked to the thing dropped in front of them. What the heck is that? Is it edible? He stood up to sniff at the odd food. Can I eat it?

CARROTS !!! Maisie instantly laid down to start chewing on the long piece of carrot, gnawing on it like a bone. Sooo good. I haven't had one in forever.

Blake looked over to Maisie, seeing her eat the carrot in front of her with vigor. He laid down to pick up the carrot, starting to gnaw on his as well. I guess it's edible... You're not dead.

Eren held onto Lathe, completely silent for a long time until he heard the key in the door, which could only be Levi coming back from shopping at this hour. It was only a few seconds more before Eren had let go of Lathe and went to go find another good hiding spot. Nope... He's gonna be mad at me for hugging dad...

Levi opened the door, announcing he was home loudly. He walked to the kitchen, setting a cardboard box on the table. I've got the three turkeys. That should be plenty for the bunch of us.

Lathe let Eren run off, looking after him with a sympathetic look on his face. He looked with wide eyes to the cardboard box. Holy hell, that’s got to be at least 85 pounds of bird! That’s a lot of turkey!

Levi just looked at him with a straight face. Yes. Yes it is. He looked around, quirking an eyebrow. Do you know where Eren is? I want to try to say hi...

Lathe looked back down to Maisie, seeing her gnawing on Blake’s abandoned carrot. Eren ran off... he’ll be hiding somewhere upstairs. Just look and see where Blake’s tail is sticking out somewhere. I just went through this, so a bit of advice. Lathe looked up to him, leaning against the counter. Let him have his space. Wherever he is, don’t try to talk to him right away. Sit down a few feet away, and text him. Talk to him like that. He needs to talk to you, but he can’t easily do it in person. He’ll open up a bit. Just... give it a try. It worked for me.

Levi just nodded, leaving the cardboard box on the island and traipsing upstairs, checking each room and listening for any sounds. He heard Blake whining down one hall, walking down to Lathe and Spades’ room, looking in and seeing Blake’s tail sticking out from the closet. He went to the left door of the split closet, seeing Eren huddled on the floor in the corner, wearing one of Lathe’s midnight blue sweaters, a few sizes too big for him, other sweaters in green and red, purple and black tugged off of their hangers and draped around him. Oh my... Levi gave Eren a few feet and sat down on the floor, texting him.

LA: Hey Eren... do you want to talk about anything?

LA: It’s okay to type it...

LA: If you want.

EY: .... Were... were you there.... When it happened?

LA: No, I wasn’t. I was miles away, still in classes...

LA: I know you thought I was there, but Eren, it was the drugs they gave you.

LA: The things that you thought happened to you, they were mostly real.

LA: But not all of it.

LA: Like me being there.

EY: You... you didn’t encourage them to do that?

LA: Eren, if I were there I’d’ve been busy castrating all of those assholes for laying a damn /finger/ on you.

LA: They’d have to kill me before I’d encourage them to do the horrible things they did EY: You didn’t hit me? Or strangle me? Or tie me down and cut me?

LA: ...Eren, I didn’t do any of that... it happened, and it was horrible that it did...

LA: But it wasn’t me.

LA: I’d never, /ever/ want to do that to you.

EY: You didn't say anything to me? You don't hate me? You don’t think i’m a whore? You don’t think you can never love me again?

LA: Eren, I could /never/ hate you, or think that of you, or say those awful things to you...

LA: ...and I never did stop loving you.

EY: How can I trust that it wasn’t you? He told me you're a liar...

LA: ...how can you think that the man who's done nothing besides beat you and hate you is telling you the truth?
LA: You can check with everyone in my classes. I was there when it happened.

LA: I wouldn't lie to you about something like that.

EY: Levi... In my mind, you’ve hurt me worse than he ever did...

EY: You took my trust... And you, you hurt me inside... You made me bleed more than any of the other men who raped me.

EY: you ripped me apart Levi.

LA: …Eren, =none= of that was me...

LA: The drugs they gave you fucked with your head, made you hallucinate

LA: And I get that since you think I did all that crap, because that's the way you remember it happening, you don't want to let me in again.

LA: I get it.

LA: But it //wasn't// me that did those awful things.

LA: I was really far away

LA: ...and I miss just being able to //see// you because every time I'm home you're holed up somewhere hiding from me

LA: I can't even sleep in the same bed as you because you freaked out when I tried...

LA: ……..I just miss everything……..

EY: You won’t do it again? You won’t hurt me anymore?

EY: You won't force me to be your bitch...

LA: ...Eren, I'd never do that.

LA: I care about you too much.

LA: ...I won't.

LA: The way you remember it... I won't.

EY: You promise?

LA: I promise.

EY: Okay....

Eren moved a bit to poke his head out from the closet, looking at Levi sitting across from him. Will he hold me? Eren crawled out of the closet and sat near the door, huddled in Lathe’s oversized sweater. I wanna stay in this though, it’s warm.
Levi set down his phone, slowly shifting forward, holding out his arms, his voice a quiet murmur.
“...is it okay if I hold you?” I really really want to... I haven't touched you at all since I can home...
I miss not having you to hold on to...

Eren slowly nodded, moving to curl up into Levi’s chest. His knees pulled up under the sweater as he sat down in Levi’s lap. You can hold me... You promised... But if it happens again... I-I wouldn’t be able to do it again... I wouldn’t give anything another chance.

Levi wrapped his arms around Eren, holding him close to his chest, burying his face into his shoulder. Finally... I missed you... I missed you so damn much... I'll be okay with this much... baby steps... Levi sighed heavily, his thumb gently running over Eren’s side, trying to hold back sobs.

Eren huddled into Levi’s arms. “You’re home...” His voice was quiet as he nuzzled himself closer into Levi’s arms. You’re warm...

Levi nodded, his voice cracking a bit as he spoke. “...I... I-I'm home.” I missed you... I missed home...

Eren nodded and stayed curled up to him quietly, his body was still a bit tense but he was beginning to relax around Levi. He won’t hurt me... He promised...

Lathe was downstairs, typing away at his laptop as the chicken cooked. He was a few lines in when his phone rang, answering it and knowing who it was at the ringtone. “Hey Scotty- what’s up?”

“What time should we be over for dinner?”

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at the question. “Uhm, on Thanksgiving, you can be here at five.” It's been the same for the past three years...

“No, I meant tonight. What time should we be over tonight?”

Lathe blinked. “...since when are you coming over tonight? Why?”
“Uh... Because free food... And Casper called you earlier... Or should have.”

“Well... he didn't call me. Although I understand the free food reasoning... and we are having Hannah and Sharon over anyway as well... screw it, you two can come. Be here six-ish, okay?”

That'd work. I think.

“Alright, sounds like a plan, see you at six!”

“Okay, see you two.” Lathe hung up, staring at his phone for a minute, speaking to the empty kitchen. “What just happened?” ...we now have more people coming over for dinner. ...I might have to add to the pot I've got cooking now... Lathe stood up to add more chicken to the crockpot, looking over his shoulder as he heard heavy footsteps. He smiled gently as Levi padded down the stairs, cradling Eren in his arms. I see things worked out a bit. He let Levi traipse to the living room uninterrupted, laying down with Eren on top of him. ...I'm glad things are starting to work out... He finished adding more meat to the pot, going back to finish typing up the contract. He was scrolling through old sheet music he had saved to his laptop when another key turned in the front door. Lathe glanced to the clock. Five-ten. Right on time. Lathe stood, going to the door to meet Spades.

Spades opened the door kicking off her heels and rubbing at the arches of her feet. I swear I can never get used to wearing them all day... They still hurt. She picked up her head as Lathe came in, smiling as he got closer. “Hey, babe.”

Lathe swept her close, kissing her sweetly with a soft smile. “Hey Hon- welcome home.” He broke from her after a moment, still holding her close and leaning their foreheads together. “Eren actually let me hug him today... and he let Levi hold him too.” It's a real improvement...

Spades smiled even more at the news. “That’s amazing!” She leaned her head against his forehead, chuckling a bit. “At least your day was better than mine. So anything else happen today while I was gone?” Has Levi acquired the turkeys?

Lathe nodded. “Levi got the turkeys with Erwin, that's a thing. And we’re having people over for dinner. Casper and Scotty’s new neighbors have a horse they're going to board in the barn- Hannah came over today to talk about boarding. I invited her and her wife over for dinner, and apparently Scotty and Casper are joining us too. So that's all a thing.” Things have happened. He pecked her cheek, murmuring in her ear. “And I'm sorry you didn't have a good day... I'll try and make it better.”
Spades turned her head to look at Lathe, a smirk creeping across her lips. “Are you suggesting what I think you are?” You probably are… and I certainly wouldn’t mind doing anything tonight… and maybe Eren wouldn’t need to sleep with us, and we can be alone. “My feet hurt… I was standing around in heels all day.” I hate press conferences. “Alright, so we have a full table tonight, that’s alright, the more the merrier.”

Lathe smirked, trailing down to lightly nip at her neck. “Maybe I am… at least you won't need to stand for what I'm talking about.”...nope. Lathe chuckled as Spades made a tiny sound, pressing small kisses to her neck. “And yeah- we’ll have plenty of people to talk to tonight. Hannah’s very nice, and I would think Sharon is too. That is, if she's coming. She’s pregnant, so it all depends on how she's feeling.” I'd understand not wanting to come- not liking what we're having or just not feeling up to it.

Spades nodded, letting out a large sigh as Lathe held onto her hips. “Lathe? Should we move to another room? I'd rather not… um… in the doorway.” Not to mention that Eren and Levi are in the other room!

Lathe nodded, kicking the door shut and locking it behind them. He kept an arm around her waist as he brought her upstairs, leading them into their bedroom. He kicked the door shut behind them before pulling her flush against him, kissing her passionately, his hands running over her sides. I want to make you feel good...

Spades leaned into his touch as he kissed her, moaning a little as his hands touched over a sensitive area. Hmmm… I like this… I like this a lot. Spades was shifting uncomfortably on her feet as she held their kiss.

Feet. Lathe picked Spades up, carrying her over to the bed and setting her down, lightly pecking her lips as she got situated. He went to sit down with her feet in his lap, beginning to massage one. You really need this, I can feel how tensed up you are.

Spades groaned as his fingers ran over her arch. “Lathe…. Ah, thanks…” She laid down and relaxed, letting him work out the soreness in her feet. She would let out a hiss every now and then, signalling he found yet another painful area on her foot. God they fucking hurt… I need new shoes.

“I think you need to start wearing something other than heels to work every day if they hurt this much…” That'd probably be a good idea. Lathe worked out the knots in her feet, careful with each painful spot that made Spades hiss. He had moved on to her other foot, looking up to her expression, smiling faintly as he saw her eyes closed, her breathing even. She's asleep… Lathe finished massaging her feet, sliding out from under her and kissing her forehead. It's five thirty… I need to get ready for people. He left to go back downstairs, shutting the door quietly behind him and going to the kitchen. He washed his hands before starting to make noodles, the water in a pot
He had a large bowl of noodles ready to be cooked when the doorbell rang, hanging up his apron and going to the front door. He opened the door, smiling to Hannah, Sharon standing next to her. “Hello you two! You must be Sharon- it’s wonderful to meet you.” Lathe smiled to her, looking over to where her truck sat in the driveway, a trailer hitched to the back. “Is that her?” Must be.

Hannah nodded. “Yeah, Luna’s in the trailer, do you mind if we take her out? She gets temperamental when she gets cooped up in them for too long.” Don’t want her to get antsy while we’re here, that could get bad quickly.

Lathe nodded. “Oh yeah, of course! We’ll introduce her to Charlie.” Lathe stepped into his boots and closed the door behind him, following Hannah as she led them to the trailer. He held open the door of the trailer after she unlatched it, letting her lead Luna onto the driveway. He studied her, her black coat shiny, two white socks on her back legs and a white star on her forehead. She turned her head, an ear pointed to him, her blue eyes holding a flicker of curiosity. “...She’s a beautiful horse.” She really is.

Hannah smiled as she let Luna look around at the surrounding area. “Yeah, can you climb in and grab her equipment for me? You can just drape it on her back, she can handle it.” She looked over to where Sharon stood in the doorway, smiling widely. She’s got a permanent home for her... hopefully.

Lathe went into the trailer, picking up her equipment and carefully draping it over Luna’s back. He looked up, seeing Sharon still next to the porch, watching warily. Is something wrong? “Are you alright? Something wrong?”

Sharon looked to him suddenly, shrugging and chuckling nervously. “I’m still really nervous around her... or any animal that’s bigger than a cat, really...” She smiled sheepishly as Lathe looked to her in disbelief. “Yeah, I know we own a horse, you’d think with the three dogs at home I'd be over it. I'm trying.” ...I knew how much Hannah wanted a horse. ...and even though dogs scare me to death sometimes, I actually wanted one. And then Hannah made sure we got three.

...huh. She’s terrified of animals, and she’s putting up with three dogs and a horse. ...Hannah, you're damn lucky. “Then I'd best warn you, we've got a couple animals around- two dogs, two cows, Charlie who's our horse, and a pig. And then Salem, who's our resident barn cat. ...and the chickens, but they're about the size of a cat and in a different pen. You'll be okay.” We’ll help you be chill around them.

Hannah smiled as she saw Levi and Eren come up behind Sharon, Levi inviting her inside and out of the cold as Eren came outside.
“Time to get them to meet?” Eren asked quietly as he came up to Luna, immediately seeing the ‘B’ stamped into her left hind leg, surrounded by a crest. She really is beautiful, and from Germany no less...

Hannah nodded, following Eren as he led them to the barn, Luna followed after her with perked ears, prancing a bit, her knees coming up high as her ears flicked all around, not knowing what to focus on. She’s getting antsy... But not too bad.

Eren went into the barn, getting Charlie from his stall and putting him on a lead to bring him out to meet Luna. Once the two saw each other their focus was put on the other. Well... so far so good. He led him towards her, hearing him nicker as he tried to pull to get closer to her.

Luna did the same, stepping up and tugging at her lead, Hannah keeping control of her as the two of them inspected one another, seeming to understand that they would be staying together a lot. Hannah sighed as Luna flared her nostrils, Charlie doing the same and the two of them not showing any aggression towards the other. “Well, they certainly get along, that’s good.” This also gives us great chances for them to do something favorable during her next heat.

Lathe smiled, petting Luna’s neck after a moment. “That is good- they'll be just fine.” It wasn't long before they led the two of them into the barn, Lathe looked up to the rafters for Salem. Huh. “I don't see Salem- eh, he’s probably off being a wild cat somewhere. He’ll be back soon enough, I suppose.” He can take care of himself. Lathe helped situate Luna’s equipment in the tack room, leading the two of them back up to the house. He nodded to Levi, who was talking quietly with Sharon on the couches in the front room, a mug in both of their hands. They all looked to the front door as the bell rang again, Lathe nudging Eren and Hannah over to the front room. “That’s Casper and Scotty. You two go sit, please- dinner won't be too long.” I just need to boil the noodles. Lathe went to the door, opening it to the two of them. “Hey you two-” Lathe stopped as he saw what Casper was carrying, quirking an eyebrow at him. “...why the hell did you bring beer?” Because of course you did.

“Because we knew you wouldn’t have any, and we wanted something to go with dinner.” Scotty almost instantly responded as the two of them stepped inside. Oh... right, he did say Hannah and Sharon were coming over. He took off his coat, hanging it up on the coat rack and taking Casper’s coat from him.

Hannah and Eren went over to where Sharon and Levi were sitting on the couches and talking quietly to each other. “How are you, Hun? You okay?” She carefully slipped behind Sharon on the couch, her arms wrapping around her and gently resting on her large abdomen.
Eren moved to curl up into Levi’s lap, putting his head on his shoulder quietly. I’m surprised that I can still fit in his lap like this. It’s really comfortable…

Red dusted Sharon's cheeks as Hannah wrapped her arms around her, letting her own hand rest on top of hers and keep them in place, leaning back against her, chuckling quietly. “I’m fine Hannah, don’t worry.” She sipped from her mug, smirking as Eren curled up into Levi’s arms. I'm surprised he fits- Eren’s so tall, and Levi’s shorter than me!

Levi couldn't help but be a bit surprised as Eren made himself at home in his lap, though he wrapped his free arm around him, letting him nestle into his shoulder. ...I like this. He saw the knowing look Sharon was giving him, quirking an eyebrow at her. “You got something to share with the class?”

Sharon tried to conceal a wide grin, a chuckle breaking up her words. “N-nothing. Nothing at all.” You two are adorable. She looked up as Scotty and Casper sat down near them, nodding to them with a small impish grin. “Hey party crashers.” She looked back to Eren, deciding after a moment to speak. He looks really shy… and I've heard he doesn't talk much… can't hurt to try… if it's about horses, maybe it'll be okay. “How are Luna and Charlie getting along so far?” Her tone was soft, smiling faintly to him.

Eren looked up, peering over to Sharon as she spoke to him. Is she nice? Dad said she was nice… and she’s really big… is she far along? Or is she carrying twins? He stared at her trying to figure it out before giving up and simply answering the question she asked. “They… they get along well….”

Sharon quirked an eyebrow as he stared long at her stomach before answering, smiling, I'm really big because I'm so far along- that's probably why. “That’s good to hear. And I'm eight months along- I can see you're wondering.” Kinda hard not to. But that's great that the two horses are getting along so far- Hannah told me you might be interested in breeding them. I know they cost quite a pretty penny- that's an idea.

Eren looked to her and nodded, curling closer to Levi. What happens if he wants children? I can’t do anything about that… what if he leaves me because we don’t have a family? Does he want a family? Would he definitely come back to me if I had his kid? Eren’s mind was racing, seemingly staring off into oblivion.

Sharon suddenly heard a sound from the kitchen, then the familiar pitter-patter of paws on the floor as Blake trotted in and straight up to Eren, coming up onto his hind legs, his paws on the couch, nudging Eren. My hooman is stressed- stop being stressed! Wait. Blake looked around, tilting his head as he saw Sharon. New hooman. And second-newest hooman is behind hooman. Is hooman stressing my hooman?
Sharon and Blake seemed to have a staring competition, Blake with curiosity and Sharon with a tight grip on her mug. ...dog. She put her hand on Hannah’s leg as she moved to shift, keeping her in place. ...you know what? I need to try. She carefully extended a hand for Blake to sniff, trying to keep her expression neutral. “H-hello, there.” She warily let Blake sniff her hand, after a moment looking back up to her and seeming to nod in approval and turning his attention back to Eren, deciding it would be easier just to jump onto the couch and sit next to him, nudging him and whining for attention.

Levi’s hold shifted a bit on Eren, a hand carding through his hair. “You doing okay?” You look really worried.

Eren was still internally freaking out and Blake was beginning to pull on his shirt, trying to drag him off of the couch right away. He... He’s gonna leave me... Levi’s gonna leave me.... Grisha was right... nonononononononononononono. NO!

Levi moved with Eren and Blake, letting the both of them be dragged to the floor. Levi spoke to him worriedly and quietly, trying to get and keep his attention. “Eren, talk to me. What’s wrong?” You started freaking out after she mentioned how far along she was- what could've triggered you to panic? Why’d you... oh. “Eren, is it about having a family?”

Eren looked up to Levi with worried eyes. You want one... don’t you? Doesn’t everyone? But I can’t give you one. His eyes widened as Blake grounded his chest, whining and trying to get his attention. His hands could barely pet Blake in attempts to calm him down, they were shaking horribly. Oh fuck... I can’t calm down...

...we need to talk by ourselves... too many witnesses. “Eren, I’m going to pick you up for a second, okay?” Levi shooed Blake off of Eren for just a moment, picking him up and carrying him upstairs to his room. We need a second for you to just calm down and to talk... Levi sat down on the bed, laying down with Eren on top of him, his hand running through his hair, speaking softly. “Eren, are you worried about having a family with me? ...about not being able to give me one?” Eren was quiet for a long moment, and so he spoke again. “If that's what it is... first of all, we’d cross that bridge when we came to it. We’d have a way to go before we really talked about that. But there are options for couples like us- it isn't as if we could never have a family if we wanted. You really don't have to worry about it.” It's okay...

Eren started to calm down at his words, his frantic heart beat starting to slow as he took everything in. He’s not worried?.... So he won’t leave me then... Oh thank god... Eren started to calm down, Blake jumping up on the bed with them and licking at his face, but he didn’t seem to mind as Levi held him close.

Maisie moved to give everyone space before she ended up jumping on the couch and sniffing around Sharon’s enlarged abdomen, her ears point forward in curiosity before she leaned forward to lick her hands and then up to her face, her tail whipping around in excitement. This human has a tiny human inside of her.

Hannah watched as Levi hurriedly picked up Eren and left after only a moment. “Um… Mr. Quo, is Eren gonna be okay?” Did we trigger something? Is he having a panic attack?

Lathe watched as Levi left with Eren in his arms, sighing. “I think so- things have been stressful lately with everything going on. I’d say Eren just needs a bit to talk to Levi and calm down. He’ll be okay.” He pointed a wooden spoon at her, smiling faintly. “And it’s Lathe- we’re all a-dults here.” Lathe then looked to Casper, his expression shifting a bit. “Well… most of us.” You are a child. This is a well-established fact.

Casper put a hand over his heart, gasping dramatically. “You wound me, sir. How dare you. I am a well-edjamacated big person, and I deserve to be treated as such.”

Scotty sighed quietly, shaking his head. “Could you act like a normal adult for once? Hannah’s acting more like an adult that you are and she’s almost 10 years younger than you.” I can see why she feels the need to call you by your last name Lathe, she’s trying to be polite, let her be polite…

“Excuse me? What was that word?” Sharon leaned forward a bit, mischief well-disguised with an imploring look. “I don't understand that word you used, the really big one- what you say, ‘normal?’” She kept a poker face as Casper snickered, keeping eye contact with Scotty. “Could you please explain to me what this ‘normal’ of which you speak is?” Her eyes shone as she spoke. I think I get it- this is how these people function.

Scotty’s eyes widened as Sharon spoke up. Huh? She’s generally quiet, normally Hannah’s the one coming up with the ‘define this’ shit. “Oh you know… Normal, the epitome of wrecks and shambles which is life, which clear away to form a functioning and pitiful adult.” Scotty’s eyes instantly met Casper’s. You are all mine, I hope you remember that when we get home.

Sharon pretended to ponder this, soon nodding in an approving and understanding way. “…Pretty accurate description of my life. Except for the pitiful part. …well, at least I like to pretend I’m actually fabulous.” Sharon did a dramatic hair flip, her expression deadpan. …literally the story of my life. …I like these people.

Hannah sighed, leaning her head down on Sharon’s shoulder, just listening to their conversation, hiding her face. *I wonder which category I would fall under… Wrecks? Or shambles? Hmm… Probably both… I don’t know how you agreed to anything like this… Like me… God I wish I could do more amazing things for you… Fuck. I forgot to get a damn turkey today… I was so giddy about getting Luna out of that stable that I completely forgot...

Sharon looked to Hannah on her shoulder, her brow furrowed and attention split at the moment between her and Maisie as she nudged at her stomach. Sharon shooed Maisie away from her for the moment, turning a bit and murmuring into her ear. “Are you okay? I can hear you worrying over here… what’s wrong?” Something’s up.

Hannah shook her head slightly. Nope, I don’t want to know the answer… “I forgot to get the turkey today, that’s all…” Still can’t believe I fucking forgot about it…

That’s not all. Is it. “Hannah, that’s fine- Thanksgiving is still a day away. I know it's late in the game but you can still get a turkey. That’s okay.” She pecked her temple. There’s something else. “Hey Hannah, guess what.”

“No-” Sharon pecked her lips lightly, smiling brightly and enjoying the sight of Hannah slightly stunned. “I just wanted to tell you I love you.” I just thought you needed to hear that.

Hannah nuzzled her head gently against Sharon’s once she had regained her composure. She held her closer, her hands resting over Sharon’s large stomach.

Scotty had ventured towards the kitchen, seeing Lathe starting to strain pasta from where it was boiling. “Hey Lathe, is Spades working late?” I haven’t seen her yet.

Lathe shook his head. “Nope- I was a ninja and went upstairs before I came in here to cook the pasta. She’s been taking a nap upstairs; she had a rough day at work. She’ll be down soon.” After she gets out of her uniform and stuff. Lathe carefully finished straining the noodles, setting the pot back on an unlit burner, getting out large bowls for everyone and beginning to put noodles in each of them. “Food is pretty much ready- could you do me a favour, actually, and find Eren and Levi for me? They're probably in either Eren or Levi’s rooms upstairs. …which you don't know where are. …just look for them please.” That would be great. …and Eren needs to eat. Levi too obviously, but Eren can't be skipping meals.
Scotty nodded. “Roger that.” He padded off, going towards the stairs and making his way up as Spades made her way down. He went on to locate the two boys.

Spades came down in a nice navy blue long sleeve sweater with black dress pants, her hair pulled back into a loose pony as she went to the kitchen. “Hun, you gotta introduce me to our guests.” I have no idea who’s who.

Lathe nodded, finishing dishing out noodles. “I will- as soon as I get the food on the table, we'll call everyone in and all introduce you, okay?” It wasn't another minute before the table was set, Lathe padding into the living room with Spades, where they were chatting happily. “Uhm, Hannah, Sharon, I’d like you to meet my wife Spades. Spades, this is Hannah and Sharon, Casper and Scotty’s neighbors.” He quirked an eyebrow as Spades gave him a look. “...oh come on, close enough.” You're literally still my fiancée, but close enough. It's been awhile.

Sharon stood, Hannah right behind her as she smiled to her, offering her her hand to shake. “It’s very nice to meet you.” ...cool. “I like your hair- it’s very pretty.” It literally looks like fire- that's pretty cool.

Spades took Sharon’s hand nodding. “Thank you, and it’s a pleasure to meet you.” Wow, she is very far along… I can see why Lathe wasn’t sure if she was coming or not. “And it’s a pleasure to meet you as well, Hannah.” Spades offered her hand to Hannah, who took it after a moment. “The pleasure is all mine, Mrs. Quo.” Hannah shook her hand politely. So... Is she Eren's Mother? I don’t want to ask a personal question but Eren’s last name is different than Mr. Quo’s and Eren looks more like the Mrs.

Scotty came down after a few seconds of silence. “I found them, god your house is like a fucking maze, Lathe.” It took me forever to find them! I looked into like 16 separate doors!

“It really is.” Levi came down the stairs, his steps heavy as he carried Eren on his back. I like the clinging thing- after so long not being able to, it's nice.

“Scotty, watch you mouth for once.” Lathe lightly chided him, pointing to Sharon’s stomach and tapping his ear. “Tiny ears.” I don't think they'd want their kid to come out cursing. “And Hannah, you really don't have to worry about titles. Lathe and Spades is fine.” ...it's too formal at a thing like this. I get the feeling because the two freeloaders showed up things are gonna happen.
Hannah looked up to Lathe, silently nodding, not sure what else to say at that moment. Okay… Umm…. I can try, I guess, I mean I still call Casper Mr. Pandreivitch. He doesn’t seem bothered by it at the lab whenever he drops by.

Scotty looked over to Sharon, realizing what Lathe had been pointing to. “Oh, I’m sorry, I tend to run my mouth, I’m going to apologize now if I say anything else tonight.” I can’t keep it shut… Just like Casper.

Casper raised his hand. “I'd also like to apologize in advance- I kinda can't keep my trap shut sometimes.” That’s a thing.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at him. “Sometimes?”

“…okay, all the time. I'm trying, stop judging me!” Casper glared at him for an instant before grinning. I'll try not to be too loud-mouthed for once.

Lathe chuckled, taking a small step back, his hands raised in surrender. “Alright, alright- how about we all move to the kitchen to eat before dinner gets cold?” A sound of assent passed through the group, all of them moving to sit at the table, each pair sitting across from the other. Lathe went to get everybody drinks, Levi helping Lathe with tea after he set Eren down, next to Hannah and at the end of the table.

Levi set down a mug of tea in front of himself and Eren, sitting down across from him. He quirked an eyebrow as Eren stood right after he sat down, moving his bowl and mug next to his, walking over and pushing him back. Eren made himself right at home in Levi’s lap, shifting so he could comfortably hold him and still use both hands to eat. I actually need two hands for this. …this is gonna be a slight struggle.

Eren had no problem with eating as he sat between Levi’s legs on the large seat, which made it more comfortable for the two of them. He ate quietly, not really looking up to anyone, just enjoying that Levi had an arm around him, even if he was trying to eat with it. He’s holding onto me…. He’s not gonna leave… I don’t want him to leave anymore…

Levi half-listened to the chatter at the table, focusing on eating and keeping Eren pulled close to him. He sipped at his mug of tea, resting his chin on Eren’s shoulder. …what's he gonna. Be like when I need to leave again? ……that's in months. Just focus on the now for awhile. You can worry about that later.
Eren ate silently, not taking in anything that happened in the table conversation. He was just in his own little world as he ate his chicken and noodles. It’s good…. What happens if Levi can’t come back… And I lose him? I don’t wanna lose him. I can’t I can’t lose him. It would be like losing my mom all over again… Would Lathe beat me? If he doesn’t come back? Would Dad turn into him?

Levi set down his silverware, picking up his mug of tea, simply staring at the dark liquid for a short while. I do need to leave again… I guess… Levi pressed a tiny kiss to Eren’s shoulder. …all I can do is hope you’ll be okay after I do…

Eren lifted his head slightly as he felt Levi put a kiss on his shoulder. Where are you going? He turned to look at Levi with worried eyes. “Are… Are you leaving?” Eren asked quietly, a hint of fear clearly present in his small voice. I don’t want you too…

Levi quickly shook his head, setting down his mug. “Nonono, I’m not going anywhere now. I just… I just wanted to… was that okay?” If that’s still way too fast I understand...

Eren looked down, shaking his head and burying his face into Levi’s chest. I don’t want you to yet…. I don’t want you to go anywhere… Why can’t you stay here?

Levi cradled him close, noticing the room had become strangely quiet and looking up. everyone left. He looked around, pushing the chair back and scooping Eren up, carrying him into the kitchen from the dining room. Hannah was at one or the counters, making cocktails for Spades, Casper and Scotty. …well if that doesn’t look sketchy I don’t know what does. But where’s Lathe and Sharon? He immediately knew as piano music started up, four-handed and familiar. …why do I recognize it?

Eren picked his head up a bit. “Goat thingy….” It’s that goat…. Thingy…. From the game…. Eren turned his head to the side a bit to listen a bit better.

Levi smirked, chuckling quietly and bringing Eren into the living room, Lathe and Sharon sitting at the piano, playing. He went to sit down with Eren in his lap, watching as Sharon looked to Lathe and said something, the song shifting to something Levi didn’t recognize easily, the music from the Core. I think it’s from that game Eren couldn’t stop babbling about forever ago… she’s a video game enthusiast too? …I get the feeling she and Lathe are gonna be best friends after this. He nodded to her as she looked over her shoulder, still playing flawlessly without looking at her hands, smiling faintly as she saw Eren intently listening. ….she’s pretty nice.

Eren watched the two of them play, his eyes focused on their hands as they flew across the keys. However, his eyes widened in shock as he heard a loud goose-like noise followed by laughter.
What the fuck was that!? Eren moved to hide in fear, his face buried into Levi’s shoulder.

Hannah laughed loudly, sipping at her cocktail with Casper as the two of them laughed about one of the idiots that worked at the lab and thought he was superior to Hannah, even though Hannah was way more capable at doing his job.

“And there she goes.” Sharon looked over to Lathe as he himself turned to the kitchen, his hands pausing in their dance across the keys. She spoke both to him and Eren, noting him burrowing into Levi’s shoulder. “Hannah kinda sounds like a dying whale when she laughs- or a goose. Or maybe a walrus or seal. I love teasing her about it.” She chuckled lightly, looking to Eren. “But everything’s okay- someone just made Hannah laugh. It’s all alright.” She listened as the other three in the kitchen started to die of laughter, making her laugh louder. “And that made everyone else laugh, which means now she’s gonna laugh harder; give it a few minutes for everyone to calm down.” It’s always the same cycle- and it never stops being amusing.

Eren looked up a bit still shaking in fear as it continued. That’s normal? That thing is normal!? Eren was still freaking out as Eren huddled closer to Levi to hide.

“Casper…. Can I just… Take his job? I mean I do my projects and his projects… So can I just take over? He doesn't know what the hell his underlings are doing…..” Like seriously… He thinks he’s sooo superior to the rest of us.

Casper thought for a minute, thinking. Let’s see… I have seen a few filed complaints against him… he does talk to people like they’re idiots, yelling at everyone even though he’s the one never returning results… I didn’t think he’d do well, but he was okay on paper at the time… but everyone just seems to hate the guy. “He’s inefficient, condescending, and you’re way more qualified… you know what, yes. I’m making you supervisor- and I’ll personally hand him his pink slip the next time he’s supposed to go to work. He’s had a long enough chance to do his job right, and you’ve barely needed a month.” Casper sipped his cocktail, smirking to her. “Congratulations.”

Hannah raised her glass. “Cheers! Let's do some shots!” Hannah called out loudly, rummaging through the cabinets and pulling out shot glasses. I know Casper will be up for them… What about the other two?? She got some vodka out and filled shot glasses for herself and Casper. “I guess I’ll be seeing you at work on Monday then?” Cause we have off until after Thanksgiving… “Derek’s not gonna go in until after Thanksgiving, is he? I should probably head in and take care of the cultures.” Yeah, I will, and I should.

Casper grinned, shaking his head at her last statement. “Nah, Derek’s obviously not going to try to take care of anything. That’d be for the best. Thanks.” Casper accepted the shot she slid over to him, nudging Scotty with his elbow, smiling mischievously. “Are you just gonna let us be the only ones doing shots?”

Sharon quirked an eyebrow towards the kitchen, shaking her head exasperatedly. “Well, she’s not going to be driving anybody home… and I get the feeling Casper and Scotty aren’t either.” Crap, who’s gonna drive us home?

Lathe’s brow furrowed, looking back to her. “And you really shouldn’t be driving… y’know, how would staying overnight sound? We’ve got more than enough space, even if everyone had their own room- you’re very welcome to.” …you said you had dogs at home, didn’t you? “I also get the idea it’d be much easier for me to drive your three at least semi-obedient dogs over here than to drive you and three drunk adults over there.” I’d be fine with retrieving them… heh. Puns.

“A-are you sure?” She looked to the kitchen again as she heard a cheer, hanging her head for a moment. That’d be for the best… “That’s very kind of you… I’ll give you a key to the house when you go. They’re three American Black Labs, named Rico, Tove, and Spencer. They’re very good off of leashes and will follow you if you let them sniff you and then declare you’re taking them to the park.” That’d do the trick.

Lathe nodded, standing from the piano bench. “I should probably do that before it becomes midnight. Could I have the key?” Lathe accepted the key from Sharon after she got it off of her keyring, going to the door when she stopped him by the elbow.

“Uhm, you should be careful with Tove. She’s the only girl out of the three, and she’s expecting a litter soon. Coincidentally.” She smirked. “None of them should give you trouble. They’re all good in a car.” They’ll love you after five minutes.

Lathe smiled, nodding. “Alright- duly noted. I’ll be back within a half hour. Otherwise, send a search party.” He joked, stepping into his boots, waving as he shut the door behind him.

Spades picked up her glass of water, retreating from the drinking match which had started, and joining the others in the piano room. “Sharon… If you wouldn’t mind, could I talk to you for a bit?” She came to sit where Lathe had sat a moment before. I wanna know about this… Because I know Lathe wants this… he wants small children… And I don’t know if I’m prepared for that…

Sharon smiled, moving over on the piano bench. “Of course! What’s on your mind?” Something’s bugging you- what is it?
“What did you do? When you found out?” What happened while you were pregnant. Spades gently rested a hand on her abdomen. How am I supposed to tell him that I’m afraid of having children?

Sharon smiled faintly, her eyes sparkling a bit. “...probably cry in happiness before going to tell Hannah. We really wanted to have kids.” Her expression softened. “Are you and Lathe thinking about maybe having kids?”

Spades smiled softly. “I know Lathe really wants to… But…” She trailed off as she looked down to her hands. I don't know if I can.... “I’m afraid... Of having my own, I don’t know how to tell him...”

Eren picked his head up. Would I have a brother? Or a sister? Eren listened in more intently as he felt Levi card through his hair.

Sharon tilted her head a small bit, shrugging slightly. “...well, it’s a really big decision. It’s not something you can decide your answer to quickly. Has Lathe asked you about it specifically?” She watched as Spades nodded. “...and what did you say?”

“I said I would think about it... but, I’m afraid... I don’t know if my body can handle it... But I don't want to disappoint him.” I’ve had so many surgeries... My doctor said it would be next to impossible to get pregnant...

“Well, you’re obviously going to need time to mull it over... you can’t leave him hanging on ‘I’ll think about it.’ I’d say you should tell Lathe exactly what you just told me, except maybe the last part- but he should understand how big of a decision it is especially since you'd be the one carrying the child. You need time to think and figure out if you'd be physically able and psychologically ready to have one.” Lathe seems endlessly kind- I think he'd understand. But you really need to tell him that. He’s not psychic. ...Blake is. At least when it comes to Eren. But you two need to talk again.

Spades nodded. “What’s it like? To carry a life inside of you?” She asked, her tone soft as she looked over Sharon’s enlarged abdomen. I would give anything for Lathe... But I’m terrified that it’ll come down to me or the baby... And that Lathe’ll be forced to choose...

Sharon smiled faintly, her hands coming up to rest on her large stomach. “...there’s no word for it... it’s wonderful, and scary, and the best thing to have happen to you, and it can be stressful sometimes... but I wouldn't hesitate to do it again.” She glanced to the kitchen, smirking. “We both knew for a really long time we wanted a flock of chick’lins. I guess that makes it a little less taxing on the mind... but Spades, if there’s a legitimate concern that you couldn't handle it... if there's a good chance if you do decide to carry, it’ll be you or the baby… don’t put yourself in that situation. That would be an awful decision that you… and Lathe… would have to make. There are other options.” She rested a hand on Spades’ shoulder, smiling reassuringly. “Talk to Lathe, and get him to understand you need time. It’s going to take plenty of soul-searching. Just try not to let it overwhelm you. It’s a big decision- but whatever you do decide to happen, I have faith you’ll make the right choice.” You know you better than anyone. Just listen to yourself. You’ll figure things out.

Lathe parked in front of the house, stepping into the cold winter air. It's gonna finally start snowing soon. He walked up to the front door, unlocking the door and hearing dogs patter to the front door as soon as he started to turn the lock, a dog barking from inside. He took a deep breath, slowly opening the door and keeping the two dogs that greeted him from running out, shutting the door behind him. “Hey you two- don't worry, I'm not a burglar, I'm a friend.” Lathe bent down slightly and extended his hands to them, trying to remain neutral.

Rico was the first to step up to Lathe, being the bigger of the two, leaning forward to cautiously sniff at his hand, his tail smacking hard against the wall and he licked it before running off somewhere into the house. I approve- he’s chill, gotta go back to Tove to make sure she’s alright.

Spencer looked to Rico as he ran back over through the house. Going back to Mom I see… He was a bit more timid as he stepped forward to smell him, before his own tail wagged. He’s a good human… Spencer sat down looking up to Lathe, unsure of what to do with him since he wasn’t Hannah or Sharon. Where’s my Humans?

Lathe gently petted Spencer, looking around the house for a moment. It’s nice- whoa. Lathe looked with disbelief at a player piano in the living room, boxes of rolls next to it and a detailed painting of ice crystals on a windowpane above it. ... very nice. Lathe looked back to where Rico had gone, remembering his objective and following him to where Tove lay, acting submissive as Rico stood when he approached, defensive. …Oh. He’s obviously gonna be protective of her, then. Lathe crouched down to kneel on the floor, slowly coming closer, trying to act as nonthreatening as possible. He slowly reached out a hand for Tove to sniff, very aware that Rico was watching his every move. ...please don't bite me… that would be bad...

Tove picked her head up wearily as the door opened. She didn’t move from her very plush bed however, staying down when Rico came back to her side. Who’s here? Are our humans home? She perked her ears as Lathe came into the room. Who is that? She let Rico stand up as if guarding her, though when he kneeled down and reached a hand out to her she sniffed at him. He smells like our humans… He’s okay… Tove laid her head back down, her puppy belly obvious. She was massive, and stayed laying in a very comfortable plush bed, not seeming to want to move. It’s almost time… and it hurts... I don’t wanna move from here...
I can't just let you walk around while you're so far along- you look much too far along for that… hmmm … Lathe stood, looking around quickly, soon finding what looked like an art room not a few steps away, some heavy cardboard stuck behind a shelf. Right. Lathe picked a correctly-sized piece, coming back and carefully slipping it under her and the bed, speaking with a soft smile to all of them. “I'm gonna be bringing you all to the park, okay?” That's how this is going. He gently and carefully lifted Tove, padding to the front door so he could get her safely in the car. You're carrying lots of teeny puppies- I need to be extra careful.

Rico and Spencer instantly followed Lathe as he carried Tove to the door. Rico came out to sit by the car door. To the park! We're all going, even Tove! Yay! We get to go play.

Mommy's coming! Spencer went and sat down right by his father, his tail wagging even more. I wanna go to the park!!

You're not reacting to this much... you seem especially tired… Lathe thought as he gently set her in the backseat, moving the cardboard in a way that it wouldn't slide around and retrieving a blanket from the trunk to keep the bed from sliding at all, and to keep Tove comfortable. ...you're ready to have your pups any day now, aren't you. You're big enough, and as far as I know you're acting it too... well, it's a good thing I've delivered kids before and Casper used to work for a vet. Just in case. Lathe let Rico and Spencer hop in after her, shutting the car door and getting into the driver’s seat. ....it really is convenient that there are gonna be five doctors in the house. ...two of which whom are guaranteed to be sober. ...well, one. Lathe carefully drove home, conscious not to brake too hard or turn too fast, pulling up to the house not too much later. He carefully tucked the blanket around Tove before lifting her from the car, carrying her to the front door and kicking it a few times. Let me in- I can't reach the doorbell!

Spades heard the knocking, picking up her glass and going to the door. Is it someone else? Or is Lathe too occupied with leashes to open the door? She opened it, gasping in surprise as she saw Lathe carrying a large dog with a large abdomen. “Lathe! Good heavens! Put her down! She's much too heavy to be carrying!” She looks like a full grown dog! And she’s carrying a bunch of other puppies too! She must weigh a ton!

Rico and Spencer came into the house not two seconds later, Rico staying with Lathe and Tove, Spencer running off towards the kitchen and quickly locating Hannah and whining to her. Mommy's having my brothers and sisters!

Lathe nodded, walking her inside and setting her and her bed near the couches, gently petting her. He looked with worry to her as she looked at him with slightly glassy eyes, Rico immediately nudging Lathe, licking Tove. He looked over as Spencer whined to Hannah, putting the pieces together. “It's a good thing I went to get them when I did- I think Tove is gonna have her puppies.
soon.” As in ‘let's hope Casper is still sober’ soon.

Hannah bent down to pick up Spencer, petting him with a smile on her face. “There’s my big baby! You’re gonna be an older brother soon! Aren’t you baby?” Hannah’s voice was loud and obnoxious, a clear indication that she was no longer sober. My babies are here! Yay!

Scotty looked over to Hannah finishing off his shot, his eyes looking almost bloodshot as he watched her pick up the large puppy. “Are you… Gonna get yours done? Or do I win?” I wanna Win! Maybe Casper will let me fuck him tonight if I win?

Lathe just looked at Hannah for a moment. ...well she’s not sober. “Casper, where are you?” Lathe stood and moved to the kitchen, retrieving a box of clean rags from the pantry a few steps away, rolling up his sleeves and washing his hands as he finally located Casper, who ambled up to him. ...please be coherent. “Casper, I hope you’re capable of thinking straight- you need to remember everything from your time working for the vet and help me deliver puppies.” Duty calls.

“Well shit, that escalated quickly… Um okay, water, rags or towels, we’ll need a bulb syringe, um… And I hope you realize I am not driving Scotty’s drunken ass home… He’s had way too much to drink already and they’re still at their pissing contest.” Casper sighed quietly rubbing his temples. I swear to god if he’s throwing up all night I’m not gonna stay up with him.

“Oh I know, you two are staying over because I’d have to drive Hannah and Sharon home as well- can't let Sharon drive, and you- well, you've just said so that you can't be driving.” Lathe dried his hands, going again to the pantry to get a basin from where it was stored on the floor, rinsing it out and filling it partway with warm water. “Okay, you're gonna have to talk me through this. That box has the clean rags and stuff in it. Carry it over please.” Lathe carried the basin over, setting it down near Tove and moving the blanket off of her, realising both how heavily she was panting and that the dog bed underneath her was soaked. ...think. Lathe’s demeanour seemed to switch a bit, understanding that he was more or less alone in this. He gently pet Tove, quickly pulling out his phone and tapping away into google, skimming quickly through one of the first articles he found. “...okay. I think I know what’s happening.” Lathe set his phone down, the page still open next to him, moving to get clean towels under her, patiently waiting. It’s gonna be a while- you'll be okay by the end of it.

Casper came into the room with the box of rags, moving close to Tove as she whimpered a bit. “Her contractions are starting… Okay, who else here is sober?” Casper picked his head up to look at the room seeing Levi, Eren, Spades, and Sharon. “Come here and help…. Once the first pup is born, it’s usually pretty quick after that…” She’s doing well, which is good, I wonder if she’s done this before? She’s definitely ready to pop.

...things just got very real very fast. Levi stood with Eren, making their way over to where Lathe and Casper knelt next to Tove, Sharon and Spades behind them. “How do we help?” I don’t know anything about this...

Casper looked at them, a very serious air over taking him. “Alright, everyone grab either a small towel or a rag, I’m gonna show you how to stimulate a puppy to breathe.” He waited for them all to grab a towel before grabbing one himself. “Okay, so you gotta have a gentle hand when holding them, you don’t want to crush anything, but you need to rub them, rub them one way on their back and the opposite way on theirs stomach… Like this.” Casper took hold of Lathe’s wrist and demonstrated how to wrap the pup and rub them to stimulate breathing. Now it’s a waiting game, of when and how many...

Eren watched Casper with interest as he was taught how to help, taking Levi’s arm and practicing quietly on him before offering his own arm for practice. I get to see puppies! Yay! He was still mostly silent, but he had a gleam in his eyes as he waited patiently.

I knew she was far along… but not far along enough to happen today! Sharon listened and watched Casper intently, fiddling with the towel in her hands. “…and now, we wait.” More teeny puppies… we had to do this a couple months ago. I remember how this went down, more or less.

Spades had also sat down to help get the pups situated. It wasn’t even an hour later before Tove stretched out, looking much smaller than she had when she arrived. Seven healthy pups nuzzled against her side, but the eighth was in Eren’s arms, struggling to breathe even with an open airway. Dad… Help what do I do?? Eren looked up, worry and panic clearly etched on his face as he held the struggling pup. It’s the runt… I don’t know how to help it...

Casper looked up to Eren, looking to the runt and gently taking him, his hands a little tougher which was what the pup needed to warm up properly and start to sneeze all over the place. The small pup tried to curl up to itself in his hand as it was finally able to breathe. “It’s okay… Here, you wanna hold him Eren?” We’ll let him suckle in a second.

Eren nodded, gently taking the pup and holding him in his arms. He’s so cute… I’m worried… He’s so small. Eren held him gently, a soft smile on his face as he pet the soft black puppy.

Sharon gently picked up one of the pups from the bed, smiling and carefully holding her close as she squirmed a teeny bit in her arms. …you’re so tiny… you’re too adorable… She gently let her behind an ear, thinking. Just think…like Tove… I’ve got teeny life inside of me too. …it always seems so unbelievable every time I think that. Sharon let out a surprised sound as she suddenly felt the baby kick, placing a hand over her stomach as the baby kicked, her expression a mix of joy, nervousness and fear. “H-he surprised me, the baby’s kicking…” She chuckled nervously. …and it sounds more and more amazing and terrifying every time you remind me.
Spades went over to her side. “Do you want me to take you upstairs to rest?” I know it’s getting late, and I don’t want you to be too uncomfortable if the baby’s kicking.

Sharon nodded, gently setting the pup back in the bed with its mother. “T-that’s probably a good idea.” I could use the rest.... Sharon stood up with Spades’ help, leaning on her a bit as Spades led her upstairs.

...they’re so small… Lathe gently pet one of the pups behind the ear, smiling faintly, lost in thought. ...such tiny life… ...how long has it been since I asked? ...I really, really want kids… ...she said she’d think about it… but I think we need to have that conversation again… He looked up as Spades came back downstairs, standing and going over to her, his voice quiet. “Uhm, Spades, after everyone’s upstairs, I think we really need to talk.” I don’t want it to be dismissed completely and never brought up… it’s too important to me.

Spades nodded motioning him to the kitchen where Hannah was finishing up a shot and Scotty was passed out on the floor. “Hannah, come on, Sharon’s waiting for you upstairs.”

“Huh?” Hannah wobbled on her feet for a few steps, giggling as she bumped into things. “Where’s my…. Wai-fu.” Her speech was slurred, definitely drunk.

Scotty groaned a bit, moving his head as Hannah giggled. It’s so loud, hmmmm, but my face is cold… It feels nice…

Lathe looked between the two of them. “...I’ll take the otaku. Scotty might still listen to reason, but don’t count on it.” Lathe stepped over to Hannah, tugging on her hand. ^I know where your wife is. Follow me- we can’t make her wait.^ ... maybe throw in some words she’ll still recognize? ^...your wife is very cute.^ ... You’ll still understand what kawaii means.

Hannah groaned a bit as she was dragged. “I-I know… MUR… What cate-gory am I in?” She asked as they somehow made it up the steps. I wanna know… Sharon won’t tell me, but you must know Lathe...

“...what are the options?” What the hell are you going on about?

“Wrecks… Or shambles?” Hannah was still trying to figure out what category she fell under in Sharon’s life. She won’t tell me even if I ask… I gotta know though… She always deserves better.
Weren't you all talking about life being wrecks and shambles earlier? “Neither- you're neither a wreck nor a shamble.” ... while sober. “I think you're fine, no need to think of yourself like that.”

Lathe pulled her down the hall, towards the nearest guest bedroom, the door ajar. Closest to the stairs; the shortest walk.

“If… If her life is wrecks and shambles… Which one am I? I gotta be one? Right?” Hannah stumbled a bit just outside the door, her voice loud enough for Sharon to hear her from inside the room. She won't tell me… Maybe you will...

“Heard every word.” Lathe didn't entirely know how to respond as Hannah asked him, hearing Sharon shift on the bed inside and pad to the door. He sighed in relief as Sharon opened the door more fully, gently pulling Hannah in with her. I heard every word. She smiled sheepishly to Lathe, mouthing ‘Sorry-and thank you.’ before quietly he closing the door. She hugged Hannah close, murmuring close to her ear. “You are neither a wreck,” She kissed her neck. “-nor a shamble.” Another light peck.

“You are the best damn thing to happen to me. Now, before you run your mouth,” Because you do that when you drink... She gently started to steer her to the bed. “-meander your way over here and get up so you can start to try to rest.” Because sleep kinda always hates you.

Hannah nodded collapsing on the bed and completely knocking out as soon as her head hit the pillow. The smell of alcohol was heavy on her, but bearable.

...oh. No drunken rant this time. Sharon sighed, her nose crinkling a bit at the smell of alcohol, though she simply decided to deal with it and got in the other side of the bed, dead asleep before long. ... you always worry. Worry that you’re not good enough. And I always worry-worry that I don’t tell you I love you enough. ...we need to fix that.

Spades sighed, rubbing her temples as she came out of the kitchen. “Casper, it’s your turn to get his drunken ass up off the floor, he’s too unreasonable right now.” I'm not even gonna try and lift his dead weight either...

Casper sighed exasperatedly, gently setting down the pup he was holding and padding to the kitchen, nudging Scotty with his foot. “Okay Scotty, party’s over. Get up.” I'm not heaving you off the floor if I don’t have to.

Scotty groaned, moving his head to the other side to look up to Casper. “Uhm... Did I win?” His voice slurred as he tried to lift his head, his whole body swaying as he struggled to his arms. I hope I won...
“Scotty, Hannah did two shots for each one that you took. So, no. You lost. Miserably. Now get up so I don't have to carry you.” You're heavy.

Scotty groaned rolling over onto his back, stretching his large body out as he yawned. “But… I can’t get… Ahh… Laid tonight…” Scotty’s yawn seemed to cut off a majority of the words he attempted to slur out, but he was still trying to get up, managing to get on his hands and knees, his body dangerously swaying, even though he was so close to the ground. If I had won… I would’ve gotten laid...

Casper facepalmed, sighing exasperatedly. “Scotty, even if you had won you'd still be way too drunk for that. You're literally wasted right now. You're gonna have to wait until you're at least sorta sober.” Yeah, no. Casper bent down and begrudgingly slung one of Scotty’s arms over his shoulder, heaving him to his feet, trying to keep steady as Scotty leaned his entire weight on him. “My god man, at least try to use your feet.” Casper started their slow journey upstairs, trying to keep them from falling and getting hurt.

Scotty had somehow managed the staircase, moving his other arm around Casper’s chest and clinging to him as he whined. “But Casper…. I wanna get laid….” He began to hump Casper’s side, trying to get the least bit of friction to get off. I wanna fuck...

...he’s a horny drunk… Casper kicked the door open to their guest room, kicking it shut and locking it behind them before moving to dump Scotty on the bed. “Scotty, you’re unbelievably drunk and not going to remember any of this in the morning. No.” You're way too drunk to give consent.

Scotty let out a soft ‘umph’ as he was dumped onto the bed. He felt the soft mattress under him, his arms and legs barely moved as he struggled to roll over onto his stomach. “Casper…” Scotty continued to whine, trying to hump the nothingness around him in attempt to get Casper to let him get laid.

...this is just weird. Casper moved to Scotty’s side, trying to get him out of his clothes and at the same time keep him placated. “Come on Scotty, you need to sleep so you need to get out of this…” Please just work with me...

Scotty let Casper get him out of his clothes, his eyes steadily closing as he was starting to give in to exhaustion. “Casper?” His voice was pretty slurred, but his eyes were almost shut, he’d be out in a few moments.

“Yeah, Scotty?” Now what? Casper had finished getting Scotty undressed to his boxers, his clothes laid out on the bed near the footboard. He was tugging off his own shirt, leaving him in his boxers and an undershirt. Please let it not be creepy.

“I… I love you.” Scotty’s words somehow weren’t slurred as much as his previous speeches before he passed out. Liquid courage….. Nighty night…

Casper froze as he was getting into bed, his eyes wide. I really really hope he actually means that… Casper smiled faintly, slipping under the cover and turning off the lamp next to the bed, shuffling over to Scotty and kissing his cheek before curling up to him, listening to his heartbeat. …liquid courage indeed.

Eren had rearranged the couch in the other room so that he could lay in the middle with the runt on his chest, gently petting it. He’s adorable. It didn't take long for Maisie and Blake to come right up and jump on the couch to surround him, Spencer having some difficulty, but soon following both of them over the back of the couch. Eren had fallen asleep surrounded by fur, the runt still safely tucked on his chest.

Levi sighed as he saw Eren asleep surrounded by dogs, padding to the stairs. I guess I'm sleeping alone tonight… Levi disappeared upstairs, silently going to his room and shutting the door. I'd hoped for once I'd be able to hold you as you slept… there's tomorrow, I suppose.

Lathe faintly smiled as he saw Eren sleeping, though his expression soon changed to one of sympathy as Levi walked upstairs alone. there's tomorrow. Lathe carefully stepped over onto the couches, gently going to where Eren was in the centre, picking up the runt from his hand without waking him. He belongs with his mother. He went to set the pup in the towel-laden dog bed with his seven brothers and sisters, Tove sniffing him and licking his head before shifting her head again, letting him nuzzle close to her chest. this is too cute. Lathe stood and quietly walked to where Spades still stood waiting for him, shutting off the lights before walking with her upstairs, his arm around her waist. He pulled her into their room, shutting and locking the door quietly behind him before turning to her, taking hold of both of her hands and walking her over to sit at the edge of the bed. “Spades, we really need to talk about this, and I don't want it just dismissed and never brought up again just because it's a hard decision because it's really important, at least to me… I really, really want to have kids, and I've known for a long time that I did… I just want to hear what you have to say about it because it's been so long since I've asked about it, but it's not just about me. It's even more about you.” Lathe kept staring at their joined hands, patiently waiting for Spades to speak. I don't want to be selfish… but it's a huge decision and it's really important to me… but even more for you... you'd be the one carrying if that what we decided… and I don't know what you want. Tell me.

Spades took a deep breath, trying to put together her thoughts. What do I tell him?? “Lathe… I’ve been thinking about it… But we’re not even… We’re not even married yet.” I can’t believe I’m trying to hide my fear of reality with the ‘we’re not married yet’ shit…. Oh my god…
Lathe seemed to imperceptibly flinch at that, trying not to cry. “Spades, talking about it now doesn't mean we start trying now or start thinking about names or where to adopt or anything this instant… I just want to know for the future because I've been so straightforward about what I want and I have no idea what you'd want… and at least twice tonight I've introduced you as my wife… why didn't it matter then?” Lathe whispered the last part of his sentence, not able to look Spades in the eye, almost expecting to be smacked for that. ...I don't like talking back to you like that… but I need answers...

Spades bit her lip, feeling the tears start to prickle in her eyes as she sniffled, trying her best not to cry. I don’t want to tell him I'm afraid… He wants his own kids… I can’t deny him that… I should've thought about that in the beginning…. Shit… “I’m sorry… I just…” Spades’ voice wavered a bit. “I’m just…” scared....

......maybe I was too pushy about it... Lathe lifted his head a bit, lacing their fingers together and looking Spades in the eye, a single tear falling down his cheek. “...can you just… please be honest?” I know there's something you have to say… that you don't want to. “I've been really blunt this entire time about what I want and I don't want you to think that everything has been a mistake if you can't give it to me. I want to hear what you have to say.” What you really have to say. Lathe pressed a kiss to the back of her hand, his head dropping back down, trying to stop more tears from following.

Spades let out a shaky sigh. “I’m scared… With my job, it’s an occupational hazard but… I don’t want to do that to you, if there was ever a case where I didn’t come home, and I left you, alone? With a child to raise?” She took in another shaky breath as she let go of his hand for only a moment to wipe away some tears, taking it back after she did so. “And I’m not necessarily sure about being a parent… Lathe I never really had a parental figure in my life… I don’t know how a mom’s supposed to act…” I can’t tell him… He’d be so upset if he can’t have his own... I’m hiding it with my childish fears of losing my mother after a car accident... The same one that caused all the surgeries... I’ve never told anyone... That it'd be next to impossible for me to conceive in the first place...

Lathe thought a moment, picking up his head and giving her a teary reassuring look, trying to speak evenly. “Spades, I know that with your line of work it’s always a worry, that something will happen and you won’t come home… but if we followed that train of thought, why be attached to anyone, if you could be taken away?” He pressed a kiss to her knuckles, mumbling against her skin. “I hope to God nothing like that happens, but you're smart, and you've got a lot of people behind you. Honestly, it’s a scary thought, but I don't think that's gonna happen.” He looked back up to her. “As for knowing how to be a mom- Spades, I don't think any parent knows exactly what they're doing. As far as I understand it, the experience of being a parent is scary and stressful and awesome and you don't know what to do so you just do things and hope they're the right decisions. No matter how much or how little you think you're prepared, I know you'd be a wonderful mom.” You really would be...
Spades nodded, leaning forward to start sobbing. “I’m sorry…I just didn’t know what to tell you.” I still don’t… How do I tell you? “I think we can do it…. Just… Not right away, okay?” She asked quietly as her voice wavered. I can’t bring myself to tell you this...

Lathe pulled Spades close, one arm around her middle and the other around her back, tangling in the hair at the nape of her neck. His voice was a quiet murmur, gently pecking her cheek. “Of course, we can wait… we can wait as long as we need to. ...thank you.” I can understand being scared… we can hold off as long as you need. “Let’s get to sleep, okay? We both need some rest.” ...it's been a long day...

Spades nodded, shifting to strip out of her clothes. She got into the bed, under the covers, waiting to pull him close to her. I want you to hold me…. Cause you might hate me for this later...

Lathe similarly undressed, slipping under the cover and moving behind Spades, pulling her close to him on his side, flush with her and nuzzling into her shoulder, lightly kissing her shoulder blade, his voice low and quiet. “Goodnight Spades- I love you.” Always will.
Chapter 45: Side Story 2: Scotty and Casper (The New Neighbors)

Scotty came home after going out grocery shopping for both him and Casper. Who knows if we’re even going to eat tonight? Scotty was in the middle of pulling groceries out when he saw a car pull in next door. Ah... The new neighbors... Wait... Is that a college student? Fuck...

I swear, that chick from the interview followed me all the way here- Casper pulled in not two seconds later, having stopped on the way home to get gas. Wait... Casper got out of the car, cheekily calling over to her. “And now you're telling me you live next door?” Since when were they making Inception starring my life? This is just weird.

Hannah jumped a bit from surprise, dropping her car keys, letting out a worried chuckle as she crouched down to pick them back up. “Mr. Pandreivitch, what a surprise, I... I didn’t expect to see you here.” Oh my god... What the hell do I do? Sharon’s home right? Her car is still in the driveway.

Scotty looked over to Casper as he spoke up. Wait... You know that girl? “Casper, you know our new neighbor?” Wait? So is she a college student?

Casper looked to Scotty, nodding. “This is the woman I and some colleagues interviewed today.” He looked back to Hannah, smiling. “And since we’re apparently neighbors, I’m not going to even try and remain professional. I’m honestly quite terrible at it. Just call me Casper. And this—” Casper went to pull Scotty over, his arm around his middle. “Is my boyfriend Scotty.” Yeah, anything you thought you knew about me is now out the window. I'm not professional. Like... ever.

“Is person home?” Someone looked out from the front door, a woman who was pregnant and showing, looking with curiosity to Casper and Scotty, smiling and waving. “Hello!” She carefully made her way down the front steps, ambling over. “Welcome home, Hon. And hello!” She nudged Hannah lightly. Aren't you going to introduce me? I don't know their names...

Hannah smiled leaning over to kiss her cheek gently. “Sharon, this is Casper and Scotty... Casper was one of the men who interviewed me today.” She said with a soft smile, an arm wrapping around her waist. “And this is my wonderful wife Sharon.” Yeah, formalities are now out the window.

Sharon blushed, speaking softly, her accent a bit tilted. “It’s wonderful t’mee you two.” I think we’ll get along okay.
Casper nodded, smiling. “It’s very nice to meet you too; we were honestly a bit worried we’d have a sorority or fraternity moving in when nobody showed up the first few days.” now all we have to do is hope you don't have excessively loud friends. ...or party too hard.

“Ah sorry, actually Sharon was home, since she works from home. I was coming in from Family then going straight to the interview today… And um.. Sorry to ask you this, but I don’t do well speaking to large groups.. But did I do okay?” She asked, looking up to Casper with a slight blush across her cheeks. I wouldn't expect Sharon to go anywhere with the baby kicking around like he’s been lately.

Casper chuckled. “Don't do well speaking to large groups? You could’ve fooled me. You seemed very collected the entire time- honestly, I was impressed. You're very qualified for the position.” And since in the end, it's my call... He winked, grinning. “I have a feeling you'll get the job.” ...because you will.

Hannah smiled, nodding. “Thank you, I really appreciate it… Sharon, let’s get you inside, it’s getting cold out… It was very nice meeting you and your boyfriend, Casper.” I really hope you're right, I’m hoping that you are… I don't have a fall back plan… fuck why didn't I think about that?

Sharon nudged Hannah again as she spaced out for a second. You're doing the thing again- the thing where you worry too much. I agree with him- you'll probably get it. You're more than capable of taking up the position. She smiled to Casper and Scotty, bidding them farewell and leaning on Hannah as they walked back up to the house, going up on tiptoe to kiss her cheek. Hooman is home.

Hannah smiled, humming in response as she was kissed. “Alright, let's get you something to eat..”

Scotty grabbed the last of the bags from his car before going to grab Casper and almost drag him into the house. Good thing I made sure the blinds were already closed. And I’m off tomorrow, and I’m gonna make you call in sick tomorrow...probably... You won’t be able to walk when I’m done.

Casper stumbled up the walk after him, shutting the door and helping Scotty move everything that needed to stay cold into the fridge. Why the hell are you so antsy? What the hell? Casper hadn't shut the door to the fridge for a second before Scotty was all over him, feeling his back meet the edge of the counter as Scotty suddenly kissed him, melting into it. He broke for an instant, panting. “Y-you're so eager… I could tell the second we got inside…”

Scotty nodded. “You’re catching on.” He ducked his head down, his hands getting rid of Casper’s shirt in only a second. His hands were all over Casper in an instant, his mouth finding his collarbone and biting hard on it. New house… Gotta fuck in all the rooms…

Casper gasped as Scotty’s mouth met his collarbone, tilting his head back and running his hands all over his back and chest, tugging at his shirt as his leg wrapped around Scotty’s. “I-is… are we… christening the h-house?” If this is how they do it these days… yes please.

Scotty let out a deep chuckle. You caught on pretty quickly. “It’s a good thing my hips can reach the counter space.” He had a huge smirk on his face as his large hands went down to cup Casper’s crotch. You are mine...

Casper let out a needy whine as Scotty cupped his hardening length through his dress pants, tugging his shirt off. Too many clothes… “Damn tease…” Casper ran his hands down Scotty’s chest, playing with the hem of his pants before pulling him closer, massaging his ass. Mine… and yours.

Scotty smirked even more, his eyes twinkling with delight as his ass was grabbed. “Hmm, getting a bit handsy are we?” He moved to nip at Casper’s perk nipples, looking up to him with dark eyes. It appears as though we’re starting with the kitchen.

“Y-you…nngh, started it… what am I supposed to d-do…” Casper moaned quietly as Scotty suckled at his nipples, his hands going to fist at his hair. I really like where all this is going...

Scotty smirked his hands quickly finding the buttons on Casper’s pants, in doing them and quickly moving them down along with his boxers. You are now mine… I hope you understand what that means! Scotty reached down, starting to gently rub Casper’s hard-on as he moved all over his chest, biting and sucking, bruise after bruise forming on his skin. His own pants became tight as he heard the sounds Casper was making.

Casper let Scotty get rid of his pants, moaning as Scotty’s hands found his length, his grip on Scotty’s hair tightening as he licked and suckled down his chest. “S-Scotty…. ha… w-what about y-you?” Casper pulled Scotty up from his chest after a moment, kissing him roughly and letting his hands drift to his side, fiddling with his belt buckle. He suddenly broke the kiss, smirking, dropping down to his knees, staring up to Scotty with dark eyes as he tried to undo his belt buckle with his teeth, unzipping his pants and pulling them down agonisingly slowly, along with his boxers. He pressed light kisses and licks around the base of his length, teasing him before finally dragging his tongue up the underside in a long streak, never breaking eye contact.

“Oh… Fuck me…” Scotty watched Casper drop down to his knees, his own eyes darkening with lust. Holy hell… I want him. Scotty moved a hand to gently grab at Casper’s hair, trying to guide him to the tip of his length. I want you to take the whole thing... You did it before, you can do it again.

Casper grinned devilishly, seemingly reading Scotty’s mind as he kissed the tip of his length, the tip of his tongue swiping over the slit before he took the head in his mouth, bobbing his head and moving further and further down his length, his tongue pressed flat against the underside. His nose was soon pressed against Scotty’s stomach, and his hands moved, one going to gently massage his balls, the other massaging his ass. He hummed on his length, casting his dark gaze up to see Scotty’s reaction.

... Holy shit... Casper. Scotty’s hands came down both gently tugging at Casper’s purple locks for the moment. I wonder if he would let me? That would constitute this room as Christened... And we could move to a different room.

Casper bobbed on his length, soon coming up to suckle on the tip of his length, teasing the slit with his tongue before growing impatient, his length painfully hard between his legs. He drew off of his length with a lewd sound, standing and backing himself up against the counter, pulling Scotty flush against him and murmuring in his ear. “I'm getting impatient... just take me already.” I want it... I want it really really badly...

Scotty's eyes darkened a fraction more. “Your wish is my command.” That ass is mine. Scotty lifted Casper up onto the counter, spreading his legs apart to get a good view, licking a few fingers and trying to at least loosen him up a little. Don’t want to tear anything, that would be bad, I wanna get the christening done without major problems...

Casper linked his arms around Scotty’s neck as he prepped him, his legs spread wide for him. He moaned as one finger became two, then three, his hips thrusting back on his fingers. I want it... I want you so badly... have me, please...

Scotty soon removed his fingers, moving to lube himself up as much as possible. “I’m not getting a condom, Casper... I want your everything.” I wanna actually feel you, I wanna feel how soft you are...

I know you're clean. And I'm clean. Casper pulled Scotty close, kissing him deeply. “I want to give you everything.” I want to really feel you... please... Casper broke their kiss, his legs pulling Scotty’s hips closer. Please.

Scotty smirked, taking hold of Casper’s hips and thrusting in to the hilt in one large thrust, letting out a loud groan as he felt Casper’s tightness encase him in heat. Holy fuck I could get used to Casper groaned as Scotty sheathed himself in him, feeling himself stretch, tears pricking at his eyes as he adjusted. You’re so fucking huge… Casper sighed as Scotty nipped at his ears, soon rolling his hips against Scotty, hoping for him to take the hint. You can move.

Scotty started off a bit slower, but his thrusts were still forceful, and deep, his teeth coming down to bite at the skin on Casper’s collarbone. You’re gonna have a lot of bite marks… I hope you know that. He lapped at the blood he drew, but made sure to keep his steady and forceful pace.

Casper let out a long moan as Scotty started to thrust into him, his hands running over his back for purchase as Scotty bit at his skin. He gasped as he felt Scotty draw blood, then apologetically lick the wound. I’m going to have plenty of those by the time we’re collapsing, aren’t I? Casper panted, stuttering. “S-Scotty… h-ahaah… f-feels r- really good…” More… you can go faster.

Scotty shifted a bit so Casper hung off the edge a little bit, his hand took one of Casper’s legs and put it over his shoulder, allowing him better access to squeeze Casper’s plump ass cheeks. Hell YESH… Scotty began a brutal pace, thrusting in multiple different directions to tease Casper around his prostate, and then finally hit it head on after a little bit. You feel so tight.

Casper slung his leg over Scotty’s shoulder, his other wrapped around his waist, groaning as Scotty grabbed at his ass. He started to get louder as Scotty began to pound into him, gasping and trying to move his hips to meet his thrusts. “S-Scotty… hah… s-so good… m-my god… f- fuck me…” I want everything… His voice began to get higher in pitch, moaning unashamedly.

Scotty groaned when Casper called out to him to fuck him. Damn that voice… Just that sound… Should be highly illegal. Scotty’s right hand was gripping tightly onto Casper’s ass cheeks, using them as leverage to thrust up into him. I fucking love this. “C-Casper… Y-your… So… F-fucking… Ngh… Tight… Haa…” Scotty moved at just the right angle to begin to just tease Casper’s prostate. I wonder if he’ll move… To get it to be on his prostate? Scotty’s left hand trailed up to grip Casper’s length, teasingly rubbing his hand up and down the shaft and rubbing his thumb over the slit.

Casper whimpered, his eyes clouded with lust as he reached up to link his hands behind Scotty’s neck. He used him as leverage to shift, gasping and moaning with every thrust that finally landed dead-on on his prostate, feeling a familiar warmth pooling in his abdomen. “S-Scotty… haaa… I can’t l-last… l-long… nghh… t-too good …” Casper pulled Scotty down to suckle at his neck, leaving dark marks up his neck. Mine.
Scotty nodded, moving at a quicker pace as he felt his own coil start to form. You feel so fucking good, I want more. I'm so glad that you're mine. His large hands were gripping onto Casper’s hips with enough force to start leaving bruises as he rammed into him, letting out soft moans as Casper marked his neck. Damn, it feels wonderful.

Casper’s back arched as Scotty abused his prostate, whimpering against his skin, leaving trails of marks and sucking bruises onto his neck. He murmured against his neck, overwhelmed with pleasure. “S-Scotty… I…” It's so much… Casper gasped, crying out against his skin. “SCOTTY!” Casper came hard, white decorating their chests, clinging to Scotty like a lifeline, panting heavily. Yours.

Scotty let out a loud cry as his own coil snapped, starting to fill Casper with spurt after spurt of cum. Holy fuck he’s tight. “Casper….” He leaned down to kiss Casper sweetly. “You’re fucking tight…” His voice was deep and dark as he held Casper close to him.

Casper kissed him back fervently, holding Scotty flush against him, moaning softly as he was filled. “You’re fucking huge… and I love it.” Casper smiled into the kiss, breaking away to catch his breath after a moment. He looked up to Scotty with lidded eyes, smirking. “That’s one room down…” His hands trailed down Scotty’s back, firmly squeezing his ass. “-with plenty more to go.”

Scotty nodded, his hands coming down to cup his ass, picking him up off the counter and walking towards the large empty room which used to hold a piano. I kinda wish the piano was here… that would be great to bend you over… the couch will have to do. Scotty kept himself lodged into Casper as he moved him around, so that he had him bent over the arm of the couch. “Ready, Casper?” His own length twitched within Casper as he held him down over the couch, a large hand firmly placed on his hips.

Casper whimpered as he was pinned to the arm of the couch, Scotty’s chest pressed to his back. He shifted, feeling the rough fabric of the couch arm rub against his length. He shifted his head and bared the back of his neck to Scotty, silently pleading with him to suckle and bite his skin. “R-ready.” He made a small sound as Scotty pulled out, and suddenly thrust back into him, moaning and dropping his head against the cushions.

Scotty started off at a very abusive pace, making sure to fully pull out of Casper before ramming back into him. He leaned down, deciding to stay buried to the hilt within him. He started kissing and biting around Casper’s neck and shoulder blades. I want you to beg me to keep going. “I wanna hear you beg Casper.” You’re gonna have to beg a shit ton for me to keep moving.
What? Casper lifted his head a bit as Scotty stopped, gasping and groaning as soon as Scotty started to nip and suck at his neck and shoulders harshly, his back arching as he attacked the joint of his neck. “S-Scotty… please, you can't stop… I-it feels too good, you need to keep going…” Casper’s legs were spread wide for him, pushing on the floor with his toes and on the arm of the couch, rolling his hips back into Scotty. “I-it feels too good to stop, please, my God, you can't stop… Scotty, fuck me, please…”

Scotty smirked, teasingly rolling his hips once before keeping Casper pinned. Oh, I love the sound of that. “You’re gonna have to do better than that.” Scotty’s voice was heavy as he kept Casper still to make sure he couldn’t move back to him. I want you to really beg for it.

Casper made a frustrated sound as he was pinned and unable to move, shivering at his deep voice in his ear. Fuck… “S-Scotty, d-don't tease me, please… my god, please, just fuck me… fuck me until I can't stand or walk straight or even think straight. Please, I need you, I want you so badly, just move… take me hard or any way you want, but please have me.” I need you… He dipped his head down, panting and frustrated, completely at Scotty’s mercy. My god, you can't stop now…

Scotty smirked picking Casper up off of the arm of the couch. He took him and sat down with Casper on his lap, buried even deeper now. “Good, boy.” He shifted Casper around, so that they were face to face with each other. “You're handsome, you know that?” Scotty’s voice was much softer as he pulled Casper close to him. I want you to enjoy it as much as I do.

Casper flushed scarlet at Scotty’s words, making a small sound as he was shifted, Scotty buried even deeper in him. He panted, looking to Scotty with dark eyes, twining his fingers behind his neck and pulling him close to kiss him deeply, feeling the mood shift and slowing down. …I love you… I love this… I want to keep you.

Scotty leaned his head up to deeply kiss Casper just as passionately back. Damn… Slowing it down… We haven’t tried this before. He pulled back to breathe, gently kissing Casper’s neck, leaving gentle kisses everywhere he could reach. You are mine… His large hands still rested on Casper’s hips, gently moving him up and down slowly. “You feel wonderful…”

Casper sighed heavily as Scotty kissed up his neck, letting out a long breathy moan as he moved up and down Scotty’s length. He gently threaded his fingers into Scotty’s hair, holding him to his neck before they moved to slide down his shoulders, sensually feeling every inch of exposed skin. “Y-you…you feel really really good…” Casper’s voice was soft, letting out quiet moans as he was moved, mewling as Scotty nibbled at his neck. I like this, taking it slow for once… It's nice just to feel …

… Damn that voice . Scotty nibbled gently at Casper’s neck, his head dipping down to suck gently at Casper’s collarbones, infatuated with the soft skin underneath his teeth. His hips barely moved, his hands gently caressing Casper’s ass as he lifted him slowly. I wanna keep a slow pace and enjoy this. I want to make sure Casper is feeling everything.

Casper’s breath was soft and heavy, his head tilted back a bit to let Scotty get to his skin. He rolled his hips slowly and smoothly with every thrust, his hands wandering down Scotty’s front and back, ghosting gently over his sides. He felt slightly overwhelmed with the soft touches everywhere on his body, his eyes shaded with lust and love. “Scotty…” Casper quietly whimpered, loving every second that Scotty was kissing at his neck, gently bouncing him on his length. It feels so good… too good… I love this… I love you.

Scotty let out breathy sighs as Casper rolled his hips. “Casper… Hmm… It feels good…” His hands slowly loosened their grip, giving Casper more control with his actions. Go ahead… You can ride me all you want… Whatever pace you want.

Casper’s eyes sparked as Scotty loosened his grip, moving so his fingers were laced behind Scotty’s neck, pulling him up from his neck to kiss him. He slipped his tongue into his cool cavern as he lifted his hips, still going slowly, until barely his tip was inside before going back down, grinding down deeply onto him. He lowly, faintly moaned into his mouth, holding him close. …mine.

Scotty moaned alongside him, gently rolling his hips up into Casper as he grinded against him. Holy fuck…. Casper… So fucking good, you feel amazing… And you can take in my whole length…. Scotty let Casper move at his own pace, moaning loudly as Casper continued to grind with him. He pulled back from their kiss to breathe, looking into Casper’s eyes with his own lust filled ones. I… I think I can say it…

Hot damn… Casper took a deep breath as they broke apart, drinking in Scotty’s expression, lazily smiling after a moment, leaning their foreheads together, still rolling his hips. “...do you know how hot you look right now?” Casper kissed his cheek, the corner of his eye and his lips, playing with the hair at the base of his neck. He pulled back a bit to look into Scotty’s eyes, his cheeks red and eyes a mix of love and lust. “...I could get used to seeing you like this...” I want this to be mine.

Scotty smiled softly, closing his eyes slowly as he leaned in to peck Casper’s lips. I can only imagine what I look like. “I-I-I… I…” Scotty could barely get over the lump in his throat as he tried to speak, quickly getting frustrated as his words wouldn’t come out. I can’t…. I can’t say it… Fuck !

Casper’s brow furrowed minutely for only an instant, leaning in to kiss his lips, pressing butterfly kisses over his jaw, his hands soothingly cradling his neck, his voice a soft murmur. “You don’t have to do say it just yet… it's okay. Take your time.” I understand- it's an important thing to say.

Scotty nodded, keeping his eyes closed as he took in a deep breath. Okay… “Casper…. I want…. M-more….” His hands slid up and down Casper’s thighs as he sat in his lap. You feel wonderful… I want it all.

Casper smirked, locking their lips in a deep kiss as he slid up his length before falling back down, rocking against him as their hips met. He let his tongue explore Scotty’s mouth as he pushed him further back against the cushions, his hands on his chest giving him more leverage over him as he picked up the pace a bit, moaning into the kiss. You make me feel so amazing… I can do more.

...Holy fuck… you are so fucking tight. Scotty moaned loudly, pulling away from the kiss as he thrusted his hips up to meet Casper’s thrusts. He looked up to him with hooded eyes, his hands moving to rest on his hips, rubbing his thumbs across the soft skin. “You’re so soft…. C-Casper… hmm… so tight…”

Casper thrusted his hips down to take Scotty in deeply, feeling warmth beginning to pool in his abdomen. “Nnngh… s-so big… haaa…” His eyes raked over Scotty underneath him, drinking in his image. “S-Scotty… I’m not… nnngh… gonna last m-much… haa… longer…”

Scotty shook his head, leaning his head back on the couch, feeling his coil starting to form as Casper continued to work on him. ...Holy crap… It feels so good. He’s riding me…. I want him to do this more often. Yup. It’s gonna happen a lot more now… and I like doing it without a condom. He feels so warm. Scotty groaned, his body shuddering as he felt Casper start to tighten around his length.

Casper whimpered as pleasure flooded through him, arching over Scotty’s chest as he kept moving, having him pound into him. He gasped, crying out in pleasure as his coil finally snapped, clamping down on Scotty’s length still inside of him. He panted, his head dropping into the crook of Scotty’s neck. I love you…

... Holy fuck! Scotty took a few more thrusts before he came inside of Casper’s tightness. “C-Casper !” His voice was full of pure joy and lust as he pulled Casper close to his body. You… are mine… Scotty picked up Casper after a few minutes of regaining their energy, moving to the next room, and the next room, and the next room, finally ending up in bed hours later, exhausted, relieved, and in each other’s arms.
Lathe was humming as he worked in the kitchen, rolling out dough for a pie crust. I can't do this while Eren and Levi are in the house- I'll have at least one of the two snitching something every ten seconds and then the pie's eaten before it's been baked. Lathe snatched one of the apple slices from the bowl without a second thought. ... but I'm the chef, so I have special privileges. He had just placed a pie dish upside down on the flattened dough when the phone rang, going to rinse off his hands quickly. ... it better not be those window salespeople again. Ten times in a week, my God... Lathe picked up the phone, seeing the number wasn't recognised and picking it up. “Hello? If you're selling windows we don't want any.” Our windows are perfectly fine.

A soft chuckle was heard on the other end of the phone. “No, I’m not selling windows, Lathe, it’s me, Marcus.”

Lathe’s eyes widened a fraction, blushing faintly. “Oh, hello Marcus, I'm sorry, I had expected it to be telemarketers again- how are you?” We haven't heard from you in awhile.

“I’m doing well, how has Kansas been treating you guys?”

“Probably better than New York’s treating you- we haven't gotten any snow yet, and I'm sure it's all just going to hit us at once. It’s absolutely freezing though. You’re buried under a foot or two, I've heard. Very early this year.” ... living up in New York has that side effect. Lathe grinned. “But we’ve been doin’ alright down here. More than enough open space for everybody.” Huge backyards for the win.

“That’s good, and try 5 feet, then you got it right. Is Spades home? I was hoping about talking to her. I’m stuck in my house, so I at least wanted to say Happy Thanksgiving before... the power might get cut soon.”

“Oh my- and no, she isn't. She’s working today, but she’ll be home after six and then hopefully tomorrow if she doesn't get called in. I'll tell her you called, of course. You know, you need to come down here sometime, get away from the polar bears you call neighbors and your North Pole of a city for a little while. At least down here you don't have to ski to the store if you run out of milk.” ... you ski to the barn instead!

“Maybe I’ll come down to visit one Winter season, but I like my house up here, you get used to the snow after a while.” He chuckled. “How are you treating my daughter down there? And I’ll be there for the wedding, I can't send out an RSVP cause of the snow.”
Lathe smiled, leaning against the wall. “It’s good to hear you’re coming! I’ll make sure you get on the list. And I’d like to think pretty well. Things have been crazy lately, but we’ve been keeping it together okay. You still need to come down here and finally meet Eren though- I’m not letting you get out of coming to visit.” Lathe grinned. You have to now.

“Alright, alright, I will, don’t worry. How’s my future grandson doing? Is he out of therapy yet?”

“...he never actually went to physical therapy… he didn't need it. Everything healed spectacularly, and it didn't take long at all for him to be back on his feet again. It really is perplexing, how that works. But it did.” ...I don't know if I'm at liberty to tell you the specifics. ...so I'm not going to. We need proof and a finished serum first.

“Well that’s good, have you two filed for adoption papers yet? Or are you waiting until after you’re married for that?”

Lathe’s brow furrowed. ...huh? “Uhm, we’d decided that we were going to have kids in the future, but we weren't looking specifically to adopt- could I ask why you ask?” ...I'd think you’d assume the other way around?

“Lathe... Spades can’t have children. How drunk was she when she said she would have children?”

Lathe tried not to drop the phone, stunned, stuttering a bit. “S-she… she was completely sober, and so was I… s-she can’t have kids?” ...what...?

“No, she can’t. It’d be physically impossible for her. She can’t since she had surgery after the car crash, years ago... The one that I lost Darlene in…”

“I-I thought… I thought she’d been in the hospital for her broken legs… w-what…” Lathe was almost afraid to ask. “What h-happened?”

“The seat belt cut into her abdomen, and they couldn’t correct it completely. It would be near impossible for her to even conceive with it. She’s had so many complications that she’s been on birth control for years. The doctors told us she’d never be able to have children without risking her own life.... I don’t think she told anyone at school, but I would’ve thought she would tell you.”
... if Spades and I had our own children... it'd be her or the child, wouldn't it... that's not worth it. Lathe looked down, the hand not holding the phone shaking. She didn't tell me... she was going to knowingly put her own life on the line just so we could have a kid together... but... it's not worth it. If you didn't call and tell me that... would I have ever known? ..."I'd been so straightforward about what I wanted, I suppose... I knew I wanted kids, and a lot of them, for a long while, and I told her that... but..." Lathe gave up and sat down on the floor against the wall, still holding the wireless phone to his ear. "...she agreed to it knowing that it could end up being... her or the kid... I... if I never knew... how could anyone be forced to make that decision?" Lathe tried not to cry at the thought, rubbing at his eyes. "...thank you for telling me... she and I need to really talk when she gets home... I'm just glad I know now." It's not too late... nothing's happened yet...

"Well, I know that she's had a few more surgeries since she's moved out... So, maybe there is a chance that she can have a child, but I think you two should really talk."

..."we'd both need to talk to her doctor about that... someone who could tell us the risks... "O-Okay. I'll make sure we do... and I'll make sure that we talk to a doctor first about all this... I don't want her to carry if there's too high a risk for something to go wrong, with her or the baby... I don't want anyone getting hurt, or worse..." ...I don't want to have to make that choice... I could never choose...

"Alright, well I'll call later, and if the power gets cut I won't, so I wish you guys a happy thanksgiving and my love, talk to her Lathe... She has problems with telling the truth after what happened with Darlene.... But it's not really her fault, it's more my fault... I'm sorry."

Lathe shook his head slightly, even though Marcus couldn't see it. "I-It's okay... we'll talk, and we'll make it okay.... th-thank you, and h-happy Thanksgiving." Lathe hung up, staring long and hard at the phone. ...she'd rather lie and risk her life trying to give me what I wanted... than tell the truth and not put everything on the line. Lathe pulled his knees to his chest, trying for a long few minutes to pull it together. ...calm the fuck down, you don't have to make that hell of a decision, it's okay, this'll get figured out... just finish cooking, distract yourself until she gets home... Lathe stood, putting the phone back on the hook and reading the digital display. ...3:37. Lathe sighed heavily, going back to continue making pies, his mind only half on what he was doing. .......I don't want Spades to die.......
Levi immediately shook his head, his arms wrapped firmly around Eren’s middle, keeping him flush with his front and resting his cheek against his shoulder blade. “They're never gonna forget about you, Eren. Them having another kid wouldn't mean they’d have any less love to go around. You're their son- they adore you, and would give anything in the world to make you happy. And it doesn't matter that you're not their flesh and blood- they still love you all the same.” They really do- They’ve bent over backwards for you on so many occasions. They give a ton of shits about you.

Eren nodded, staying silent for another moment as he guided Charlie around one of the jumps he had left on the trail. “What happens if… if they adopt? Do I have to leave? What about you? Don’t you want a family too?” I can’t give you that.

Levi still shook his head, mumbling against Eren’s shoulder. “No matter how Lathe and Spades end up having kids, they’d always have room for you. That much is obvious- they love you to death. And I do want a family, but I know you can't exactly give me that. When we’re ready, we could always adopt. That’s always an option. But we are definitely in no rush to take ‘us’ further.” We need time. Lots of it.

Eren nodded quietly. “Don’t you want your own family though? From not having one yourself?” I know almost everything about your childhood now…. Grisha went through your files, how… I have no idea… but I feel horrible for not being able to give you what you wanted… If you ever wanted one.

Levi’s eyes widened at that. “H-how’d you… how’d you know? …how you know doesn’t matter… Eren, even if we adopted kids, they'd still be ours. We’d raise them like they were our own flesh and blood. It’d give them a home, and we’d have a family. …and if I were going to have a family, I'd want you to be a part of it.” …I don't know how you knew about me not having one… but I know that any family I'm going to have has to have you as a part of it. …I really want it to.

Eren nodded, taking another few minute to think of a few minutes. “What happens… if you find someone else in the marines… will you stay with them? If they make you happy?” Leave my sorry ass? Isn’t the joke always on me? Even Grisha said you would leave me… or love the marines so much that you wouldn’t want to ever come back.

Levi thought for a moment about the road ahead of them- the short months he was home, his coming four-year tour in Afghanistan, and how far they had been set back in their relationship. …then he thought of everything they were before, when Levi could do more than just hold onto a Eren. “Eren, nobody could make me as happy as much as you've made me happy. I don't think I could look at anyone else like that. …Eren, you're the one I want to come home to. …I love you.” Levi barely whispered his last sentence, his head resting against Eren’s shoulder. …I'm not sure if I wanted you to hear that last bit or not... if I can't even peck your shoulder... how would you react to that?

Eren was quiet for a long time, leading Charlie around a few fallen trees. What do I tell him? Should I tell him to find someone else? I don’t think I could ever love him anymore.... Eren let the silent sting of tears overflow from his eyes, rolling down his cheeks. “Levi....” His voice was shaky as he started off, trying to think of things to say. “Um.... I don’t.... I don’t think I can do it again...”

...you don't think you can love? Levi ran his thumb soothingly up and down Eren's side, trying to keep it together himself. “Eren, I know with everything that happened it's hard to feel anything besides numbness... I understand... but with enough time you'll be able to piece things back together... there are some things only time can fix.” It's not gonna be easy, but I think you'll be okay... I think we'll be okay.

Eren shook his head. “Time’s a bitch Levi... I don’t feel numbness anymore either... after I talked about a few things, I feel.... Well, have you ever been in a pit before? Where when you make up your mind, you try and get out, yet the walls are too steep to climb out of... and the edges crumble under your fingers and you're forced back down onto that unforgiving floor? Have you ever felt that? You tell me if you’ve ever had that happen. Because that’s exactly what it feels like...” Eren took in a deep breath to try and calm himself down from raising his voice. “I’m trying... I really am Levi, but every time I try and grab that ledge, it crumbles, and I never have enough time to pull myself up out of that goddamned pit!” Eren shouted the last few words, finally able to get his frustrations and anger out of his system, which he had kept bottled up for who knows how long. “Time’s a fucking bitch... cause she always reminds you how everyone else can move on and you’re stuck in the same damn day that it fucking happened! That pit is stuck in fucking time, and trying to get out is like having the weight of the world on your fucking shoulders! I hate when people are trying to say that they understand what I’m going through, when they don’t understand shit!” Eren took a deep breath, his eyes wide and tears quickly rolling down his cheeks as he realized he had been shouting at Levi for more than a minute or two. “Fuck I’m... I’m sorry...” his voice a mere whisper now.

Levi’s head still rested on Eren’s shoulder, silently taking Eren’s shouting. Tears trickled slowly down his face, trying to speak evenly after Eren apologized, his voice quiet. “...you're right. I only know so much about being stuck in a pit like that, but nowhere near that extent. I don't understand, but... I guess we all mean we’re trying to understand. Because we want to help you get out. And yes, time is a fucking bitch sometimes, but just because it’s going to take a while doesn't mean that I should just give up on you. Just because it's going to take a while doesn't mean that you should just give up on yourself, either. I...” Levi buried his face into Eren’s shoulder, tears staining his shirt. “...I just want you to be okay again... no matter how long it takes or what we have to do to get you out of there.”...I love you too much to just give up on you. I could never.

Eren nodded, silent for an excruciatingly long time, having turned Charlie around to start going back to the house. He hadn’t really spoken to Levi on the way back, softly starting to mumble to no one in particular.

“ There was a time when I was alone
Nowhere to go and no place to call home
My only friend was the man in the moon
And even sometimes he would go away, too”

Levi picked up his head a bit, sniffling. ...he's singing again... Levi tilted his head a bit, listening to him.

“Then one night, as I closed my eyes
I saw a shadow flying high
He came to me with the sweetest smile
Told me he wanted to talk for awhile
He said, "Peter Pan, that's what they call me
I promise that you'll never be lonely, " and ever since that day”

“I am a lost boy from Neverland
Usually hanging out with Peter Pan
And when we're bored we play in the woods
Always on the run from Captain Hook
"Run, run, lost boy, " they say to me
Away from all of reality

Neverland is home to lost boys like me
And lost boys like me are free
Neverland is home to lost boys like me
And lost boys like me are free
He sprinkled me in pixie dust and told me to believe Believe in him and believe in me
Together we will fly away in a cloud of green
To your beautiful destiny
As we soared above the town that never loved me
I realized I finally had a family
Soon enough we reached Neverland
Peacefully my feet hit the sand
And ever since that day

I am a lost boy from Neverland
Usually hanging out with Peter Pan
And when we're bored we play in the woods
Always on the run from Captain Hook
"Run, run, lost boy, " they say to me
Away from all of reality

Neverland is home to lost boys like me
And lost boys like me are free
Neverland is home to lost boys like me
And lost boys like me are free

Peter Pan, Tinkerbell, Wendy Darling
Even Captain Hook, you are my perfect story book
Neverland, I love you so
You are now my home sweet home
Forever a lost boy at last
Peter Pan, Tinkerbell, Wendy Darling

Even Captain Hook, you are my perfect story book

Neverland, I love you so

You are now my home sweet home

Forever a lost boy at last

And for always I will say

I am a lost boy from Neverland

Usually hanging out with Peter Pan

And when we're bored we play in the woods

Always on the run from Captain Hook

"Run, run, lost boy, " they say to me

Away from all of reality

Neverland is home to lost boys like me

And lost boys like me are free

Neverland is home to lost boys like me

And lost boys like me are free”

Eren was quiet for a long moment. “Pretty accurate representation of my life… don’t you agree? If Dad was Peter?” At least that’s what I think.

Levi nodded, thoughtful. He murmured against his shoulder. “That sounds about right…” He forced himself not to give into impulse and peck Eren’s shoulder, so used to being able to do things like that when he wanted. ...I miss being able to do that...

Lathe was quiet as he stood near the barn door, a small basket of fresh eggs in one hand a bucket with milk in the other. ...Eren’s shouting at Levi… Lathe strained to hear, staring at his feet as silence fell. ...he’s depressed, sounds like... ...we can fix that... Lathe’s head picked up again as he suddenly heard Eren beginning to faintly sing, stepping a bit out of the barn, out of sight yet able to hear him better. ... he hasn't sung since it happened... ...he needs to reacquaint himself with music again...

Eren fell into a calm silence, feeling a bit relieved that he had gotten everything out of his system that he needed to. He stopped Charlie outside of the barn, letting Levi hop off before he hopped off as well. He didn’t look up to Lathe, feeling too ashamed to even meet his gaze. I need to get Charlie back in his stall and feed the two of them... He brought Charlie in, not saying another word as he started to untack him and brush him, his eyes dull, simply going through the motions. The pit’s too tall.

Levi went to put his helmet away, hesitating a moment and coming up next to Eren, resting a hand on his shoulder. “...are you okay taking care of everything out here yourself?” He watched as Eren silently nodded, letting his hand slip away as he went out the barn door, joining Lathe walking up the house, watching his feet, silent. ... you heard everything. I don't know what to tell you...

Lathe had just opened his mouth to speak when Blake suddenly came out of the doggy door, running past them and to the barn. Hooman is distressed. Why is hooman distressed? Hooman!

Levi picked his head up, watching Blake run by them, Maisie quickly following after him, though stopping when she got to the two of them and whining for pets. “You think he’s okay?” Levi’s voice was worried as he knelt down to pet Maisie, allowing her to lick his face as he watched the barn.

“...I'm not taking chances.” Lathe turned right around, going back to the barn. If he's doing something he shouldn't be we need to know about it. Lathe stopped right outside the barn door, hearing Eren talking to someone. ...huh?

“No... I know that he really wants me to love him again... but I don’t think I can.”

“No... I don’t, I can’t tell if he really thinks about me anymore.”

“Yeah... I know Mom can’t have any kids... but what if they adopt and they forget about me?”

“Even if you say they won’t how do you know?”

“Even I can’t tell anymore... I’m losing my fucking mind...”

“I can’t even sleep anymore... I haven’t slept in over a week...”

“Yes, over a week, I meant it... no I was not asleep while you and the mistress were asleep last night.”
“What do you mean you saw me asleep? Yes I was laying there on the couch, but you were passed out right along side Maisie!”
“Don’t you fucking lie to me too right now! I can’t deal with that shit right now.”

“No calm down… geez I’m not gonna fucking try again.”

“Stop insinuating that I’m gonna do it again!”

“I already told you, I got thrown into that fucking pit again… and I can’t get out…”

“I need some fucking pixie dust again.”

... is he high? Lathe listened with an incredulous expression, thoroughly confused. “...he just had a full-blown conversation with Blake…” Lathe mumbled to Levi, thinking hard. “A couple of notes-who the hell gave him drugs; was he seriously faking sleep last night, and how the fuck did he know Spades couldn’t have kids? I just found out today…” “...did they talk about it? ...she’d tell Eren and not me?”

Levi looked at Lathe with shocked eyes. Spades can’t have kids? “Eren seemed to know a lot about my past too… maybe Grisha told him everything about us… he could’ve easily looked into all of our files if he knew someone… and freaked Eren out with it-” Levi stopped talking as he heard Eren start to pick up conversation again.

“No, Blake, I am not talking about cocaine… as much as that would make me feel better, that gives me worse side effects than a fucking bottle of vodka.”

“No, I’m not about to start drinking either at night, Dad would have my head, and you know it takes two bottles to get me drunk… for some god damn reason… so even if I did want to drink away my sorrows, I would need to drink everything in the liquor cabinet.”

“... No, why would I try and do that? You honestly think I’m that stupid? I haven’t tried to do anything to myself after Dad cut me down from the damn rafters. No bodily harm… I’m pretty sure I promised that somewhere along the lines of ‘If I go, Dad goes with me!’”

Luna let out a loud whinny, right along with Charlie a few seconds later.

“Oh my god, give it a rest you two! Breeding with Levi makes no difference in this situation! It’s already complicated as all fuck!”

Yet another whinny from Charlie.

“NO! God no! I will not be doing that, you’re out of your damn mind if you think I’m ever gonna touch a chick… I don’t even think I have the willpower to touch myself anymore.
“Charlie, shut the fuck up, this discussion is not about you, it’s about me, so shut it!”

Blake barked at Eren, whining as he stood up.

“Oh god, not you too, Blake. I am not going to ‘breed’, it makes no difference... because I can’t do it anyways... I can’t even sleep with him in the same bed because of the fucking nightmares.”

“Luna, I’m already on a cocktail of drugs, I don’t want to be on any more, thank you very much.”

Lathe listened with wide eyes, his mind in overdrive. “...there's no way he’s neither insane nor high right now... also, I need to give him stronger medicine for nightmares... and depression meds that won't interfere with stuff...” ...this is the most insane conversation I've ever eavesdropped on.

Levi nodded, intent on listening in. “Is he.. Like actually talking to the animals... are they giving valid responses to him?” It sounds like they are... but I have no idea how his mind is interpreting things anymore.

“Oliver... I can’t just throw myself and Levi into a mud pit and roll around, as much fun as that sounds. I don’t believe he’d be pleased with it.”

“No, Blake, I am not going to tell Dad that I haven’t been sleeping... I swear to god if you fucking tell him that I’m not sleeping... BLAKE!” Eren shouted as Blake came outside the barn and stopped, barking at Lathe very hurriedly. Eren followed out only a few seconds later. Fuck... they heard... They heard everything. “Um... I’m going to pretend that I didn’t see you, you’re going to pretend you heard nothing and I’m going to put Charlie back in his stall.” Eren instantly scurried back into the barn to put Charlie into his stall, or at least tried to before he was caught.

Lathe had since set down the bucket of milk and the eggs, and reached out quickly to catch Eren’s arm, tugging him back to them. He pulled him into a hug, speaking. “Eren, a few things. I’m not going to forget that just happened because what just happened was important. I’m going to strengthen your PTSD meds so you don’t have nightmares, find you antidepressants that work, and give you the sedatives to knock you out again so you get some sleep at night.” Lathe pulled back from him, taking a good look at his eyes. He rubbed gently at the skin under them, makeup smudging away to reveal dark circles under them. “...Eren, you can't hide stuff like this from us. We’re here to help you.” He pecked his forehead, smiling to him faintly after a moment. “...and I want you to know I'm proud of you for keeping your word.” Baby steps. “...you can go take care of Charlie now... it's okay.”

Eren sighed. “They’re all gonna yell at me to go to sleep... But um... do I need to be on drugs? Can I stop taking them... please?” I don’t want to take them anymore... Blake even suggested I stop taking them to see if I’ve improved any...
“That’s not how this works, Eren. No. I know you don’t like it, but it’s for your own good. They’ll help you get better. It takes time- don’t try to rush it.” Lathe smirked faintly, looking down to Blake. “And you tell the others to tell me if I should be worried about Eren, okay? I need you to be my eyes and ears.” He smiled, looking back to Eren. “Go take care of Charlie, then come up to the house, okay? Dinner will be soon.” Lathe gently nudged him into the barn.

Eren looked down a bit as he was nudged towards the barn. “But Dad…. I don’t want to take them anymore… Even Blake suggested that I stop taking them for a few days…. To try and clear my system… before I go back on them.” I wanna try and sleep without them… I haven’t been able to sleep with them… how about we try without…

Lathe just looked at him, then down to Blake. “Since when did you come a doctor?”

Blake looked up to him and made a low noise. Longer than you were born.

Lathe looked to his hand, counting on his fingers and shrugging after a minute. “Okay, technically I guess…” Lathe thought hard for a moment, turning to Eren with a stony face. “One week. One week you’re off the drugs, and if all you do is get worse you’re going back on. If you're doing horribly by the fourth day, we’re cutting it early and putting you back on. Just this once. Okay?”

Eren nodded hurriedly, racing up to hug him tightly for a moment, letting go of him and running back into the barn to take care of Charlie. I don't have to take pills anymore!

Lathe was surprised as he was hugged, letting Eren run off into the barn. “...maybe it's a good thing he’s off the pills. ...if he’s having full-on conversations with the animals, I think he needs a refresh of the system.”...and we're going to pretend that second bit about breeding never happened… Lathe turned from the barn, picking the bucket and basket back up. “I’ve got things in the oven- let's get back up to the house.” Eren’ll be okay. He started their trek back up to the house, Levi walking with him at his side.

Levi nodded. “We’re not gonna mention that to Spades… Are we?” Levi helped Lathe with the baskets, watching Spades pull up in the driveway through the front window. Yeah no… We’re not telling her that Eren just had a mental lapse...

“No, we’re not.” He looked to the clock, then to the timer on the oven. I’ve got about forty minutes for that to finish... “Levi, do me a favour and watch the pie so it doesn't burn. And can you put these away? Spades and I need to talk.” He left the bucket on the table, walking to the front door.
We need to. Lathe opened the door before Spades had made it up to the door, taking a deep breath as she stepped onto the porch. “Spades, your father called today.” His face was blank, biting the inside of his cheek. “...you lied.” ......you knew how dangerous it would be. And you didn't tell me.

Spades just stared at him with wide eyes, frozen on the front stoop. He... he told you... “L-Lathe, I...” Her eyes became glassy. “I-I'm sorry…” I was so scared to tell you...

Lathe simply moved forward to sweep her inside, his arm encircling her waist and locking the door shut behind her. He led her upstairs, quiet until they were in the quiet of their room, the lock turned. He leaned back against the door, pulling Spades flush to his front, his face buried into her shoulder as he hugged her tightly, a hand moving to let her hair down from her ponytail and tangling into her long locks. “Spades... I don't want to have to choose. I... I understand that I've been so upfront about really wanting kids and that you don't want to disappoint me... but you shouldn't try to give me what I want if what I want would kill you...” Lathe started to sob into her shoulder, feeling her shake a bit in his arms, both of them clinging to the other. “...I d-don't want you t-to try to carry i-if when it come t-time... I h-have to decide whether y-you or the b-baby gets to l- live... i-if that's what having kids would come down to... it's not worth it. I don't want anyone getting hurt just because of something I want. I don't want you to be pressured into it and have to pay for my ignorance...” Lathe kissed Spades’s neck, just wanting to hold her as if he’d never see her again. “W-we can always adopt, give a kid a home... but if the risk is too high for you to carry, then absolutely not.” Lathe nuzzled into her neck. “...I want you to be okay... I want you to live...” I care so much about you.

Spades clung to Lathe starting to cry right along with him. “L-Lathe... Honey... It’s not the carrying that’s the problem.... I had a surgery that corrected a majority of what would’ve cause complications... I’m sorry... I didn't know what to tell you... I know you wanted children... But...” It’s the factor of if I can even conceive in the first place.

...Marcus did say you'd had surgeries after that... “...so is it conceiving that’s the problem?” Lathe gently ran his hands over her back, trying to soothe her. “If the risk is still too high though, we shouldn't risk anything...” I don't want to lose you...

“It's conceiving... I can talk to my doctor.... I don't know if I have any more eggs left.... I’m sorry Lathe... I want you to be happy, and I can't give you that....” I’m so sorry Lathe... And I knew you wanted to have children... And I didn't tell you right away. Spades started to sob all over again at that thought. I didn’t want to tell anyone.... Because I was so afraid that no one would love a barren woman. “I-I’m so sorry.”

Lathe gently kissed her neck, nuzzled into her shoulder and embracing her, murmuring to her. “Spades, giving me children isn't the only way to make me happy... it's not as if I'm going to stop loving you because of this. It's okay.” He gently carded a hand through her hair. “I-if you really are okay with it... I think we should talk to your doctor before we do anything... but would you still want to try?” "if there's a chance, and only you want to…

Spades looked to Lathe, nodding as she lifted her head a bit. “Y-yeah.” Her voice was still shaky, her face red and blotchy from crying so much, her makeup running. I’m sorry….

I don't like seeing you cry…. Lathe gently pecked her lips, her cheeks, still holding her and trying to get her to calm down, his voice quiet. “…thank you.” He pulled back and looked to her seriously. “Spades, if you ever change your mind, you tell me. Okay? This is even moreso about you than it is me.” He pecked her nose, her forehead.

Spades smiled softly before nodding. “O-Okay….” She sniffled, moving away from his embrace, covering her blotchy face as she made her way towards their bathroom, knowing that she would need to get her makeup off. I probably look like a wreck… Fuck...

Lathe let her go to get off her makeup, wiping at his eyes as he left to go back downstairs, smiling to Levi as he came back into the kitchen. “Thanks for holding down the fort- did you let anything burn?” Lathe joked, looking to the timer on the oven. …twenty minutes. Lathe turned to Levi again, looking around a minute. “…is Eren back up from the barn yet?” He didn't have much left to do… if he's caught up in a crazy person conversation I swear...

“Um… No, he hasn’t... I didn’t hear the door open, nor the dogs come in.” Is he still in the barn? Levi closed the fridge he had been inspecting, turning his head to Lathe. What if he…?...

Lathe paused for an instant before walking to the back door at a decent clip, Levi at his heels as they marched to the barn. What is it now. Lathe looked with wide eyes at the scene they came upon, Eren passed out on the floor of the barn, Charlie without his tack, still tethered to the posts in the centre of the room and sniffing at Eren’s head. “What happened?” Lathe rushed up to Eren, dropping to his knees and immediately feeling for a pulse. “…he’s alive- did he get knocked out? I don't see any bruising or marks on his head… ...he hasn't slept in a week… exhaustion, maybe.” ...that seems plausible. “He’s not crazy, he's just been sleep deprived.” Lathe looked over his shoulder to a worried Levi. “Levi, get down here and retrieve your boyfriend so we can get back into the house. I'll get Charlie in his stall.” You do that. ...and I'll wait so he doesn't get stepped on.

Levi nodded, carefully leaning down and picking Eren up gently, as if Eren weighed only a few pounds. “Okay… Um… What do I tell Spades if she asks?” I kinda don’t wanna lie… But this is kinda suspicious...

...the truth. “Tell her Eren hasn't slept all week- he's been faking it all week, and he passed out from exhaustion in the barn. He’ll probably be sleeping all day tomorrow.” Lathe led Charlie into his stall, closing the door and following Levi, shutting the barn door. It'd be no use lying. Also it'd be a dead giveaway if and when he slept through till dinner tomorrow.

Levi nodded, taking Eren carefully up the stairs to the house and following Lathe inside the open door. “Well, maybe I’ll get to sleep with him tonight.” Though that might be stretching it a bit.

Eren had done just that, and slept right through the next day and up until Thanksgiving evening. A fresh blanket of snow had covered the ground around the property, all the way up to Eren’s knees, which would’ve made it impossible to drive unless one had a truck. Hmm… My body’s sore… My neck feels weird. It took a few moments before Eren realized that a familiar warmth swaddled him. What the hell!? Don’t tell me that I… That I was….? Where the fuck am I? Eren only calmed down when he turned his head to the side, seeing the barrenness of his room and sighing quietly. Oh… I'm home...

The downstairs was loud with many voices talking and laughing, Lathe fretting in the kitchen with Armin enlisted to help him. Let’s see, we have our squad, we have a large herd of teenagers that I refuse to call adults because they most certainly are not, a shit ton of food set out on the table… we’re missing the most important thing. “Armin, I’m going to run upstairs and wake up Eren, okay? Just don't let that soup boil over and we'll be okay- everything else is pretty much taken care of. Only because the turkey is not our job. Lathe left upstairs, having to wade through a crowd of people and going to Eren’s room, knocking lightly on the doorframe and peeking in. “Hey Eren-oh, you're awake!” Lathe’s voice was soft as he looked in, stepping in and watching Eren, who had sat up in bed, looking around confused as all hell. “You passed out in the barn last night, slept until now. We’re just about to have Thanksgiving dinner.” Lathe held out a hand, cheekily smiling. “Care to join us?” It’s food. You're coming downstairs.

Eren stared at Lathe in confusion for a few silent minutes before he slowly flopped back down into his bed and pulled the covers up to go back to sleep. My body… It feels like it can sleep forever...

“Oh no you don’t.” Lathe padded forward, tugging back the quilt from where it hid his head. “Eren, all of your squad is here and my squad is here and there's a ton of food downstairs… come on, don't leave the spot next to Levi empty…” Lathe tugged on his sleeve. “Pleeeeeeeeesease?” Lathe gave him the puppy-dog eyes, pleading with him. …. pretty please? With sugar on top?

“But I’m tired….. And I’m not hungry…..” Eren muttered, closing his eyes and weakly trying to pull the blankets up from where they were. His whole body was weak from sleeping for so long, it’d be impossible to probably walk downstairs himself or even get dressed. Fuck... I feel so weak....

Lathe sighed. “They brought Tove and all of her puppies.” Her puppies are all on the now-dry puppy bed with the cardboard, and they’re just the cutest damn things.... they’re so teeny...

Eren picked up his head curiously. Puppies?? I guess I can get up for puppies... He slowly rose from his spot on the bed, stretching out with a whimper and whine. “I’m sore....” Eren swung his legs over the edge of the bed, slowly getting up on shaky limbs. He walked over to the banister, stripping out of his clothes and changing into some new clothes. I wonder if I’ll get to pet the puppies? Eren didn’t notice Lathe leave from his room until he had turned around fully dressed. He shrugged it off, moving to make his way slowly down the stairs. What he didn’t expect was the amount of people that were being herded towards the large table. What the fuck? There are so many fucking people here.... What the actual fuck? Eren was silent as he made his way to the front room where Tove laid with her puppies nuzzled against her, all of them except for the runt of the litter who was swaddled in cloth to keep warm. Are you gonna eat too little buddy? Eren picked him up gently, cradling in his arms, using a gentle finger to pet his soft fur. He didn’t notice anyone coming up behind him, not even taking in the fact that people were trying to call for him. He was in his own little world. That was until a hand came around him to give him a hug, all eyes watching as Eren immediately panicked. No! It can’t happen again! It can’t happen again!!! Eren’s jaw closed right around the hand trying to go around him, instantly locking it in place. It can’t happen ever again! He didn’t hear anything around him until the person behind him let out a horrifying scream. Jean let out a humiliating scream as Eren’s teeth closed around his hand. “EREN!! WHAT THE FUCK!? LET GO!!!” He tried to pry his hand from Eren’s mouth, only to realize it was locked in place and Eren was biting him even harder, still holding onto the pup gently in his arms. It hurts! HOLY FUCK!!! “SOMEBODY DO SOMETHING!!! IT HURTS!!!” Jean was reduced to tears in a matter of seconds as blood started to spill from under Eren’s pearly whites.

Jean let out a humiliating scream as Eren’s teeth closed around his hand. “EREN!! WHAT THE FUCK!? LET GO!!!” He tried to pry his hand from Eren’s mouth, only to realize it was locked in place and Eren was biting him even harder, still holding onto the pup gently in his arms. It hurts! HOLY FUCK!!! “SOMEBODY DO SOMETHING!!! IT HURTS!!!” Jean was reduced to tears in a matter of seconds as blood started to spill from under Eren’s pearly whites.

Lathe was still for a moment, hiding his laugh behind his hands. ...you deserve that. Soon enough he was moving, going to his medic bag and bringing it over, letting Eren keep holding the pup as he saw how gently he still held him. He murmured to Eren soothingly as he rifled for a moment in his bag, soon enough producing a metal box and opening it, preparing a relaxer as he tried to calm Eren down, Blake having leapt to his hind legs and resting his paws on Eren’s chest and side, wary of the pup. “Eren, hey, it’s okay, it’s just Jean, and I know he’s a scary asshole sometimes, but he’s trying to be nice so just calm down and let go.” Lathe looked up in surprise as Jean screamed bloody murder, Eren chomping down harder in his hand the instant the words left his mouth. ...oh fuck, forgot saying that has that effect.... “Okay Eren, here we go, just breathe...” Lathe administered the relaxer to Eren’s jaw, stowing his things away as Eren’s jaw began to relax, Jean pulling his hand from his mouth and holding his wrist, staring at his bloody hand in horror and shock. Lathe just looked at him, handing Eren his kerchief to stop any drool and bringing Jean over to the sink. “Come on, let’s wash out your hand.” He turned on the water and washed out his hand, rolling his eyes as Jean made a sound of pain as he used the soap. Come on, it’s not that bad... it’s worse than Levi’s, but not that bad. “Alright Jean, couch. I need to give you your rabies shot.”
Lathe started to herd him in the direction of the couch.

Jean was struggling to hold in cries as Lathe wrapped his hand with gauze. “I-I’m sorry… W-What did you just say?” Rabies shot?!? That fucktard has fucking rabies?? “No! No shots!” Jean immediately tried to pull his arm away from Lathe. I will not be getting shots!!

“Well, Eren does spend a lot of time in that barn… Casper, Scotty!” In two seconds flat Casper had Jean’s arms, and Scotty had his legs, lifting him and carrying him to the couch, ignoring his kicking and girly screaming. Payback’s a bitch, bitch. “We’re doing this because we care, Jean. He broke skin. Better we do it rather than not.” Lathe rifled in the same metal case, preparing the shot as he knelt next to the couch, Scotty and Casper effectively pinning him to the couch. He quieted an eyebrow as Jean tried to arch up off the couch, pulling up his shirt just above his navel and holding down his stomach with his left arm effectively, looking to Jean. “…and remember you’re gonna have to do this once a month for the next six months. Ready?” Lathe didn't give him a chance to reply before sticking the long needle into his stomach, keeping Jean firmly pinned as he administered the shot. ...this is really gonna hurt.

Jean’s screams could’ve curdled milk. That two-toned asshole was writhing in pain as the needle entered his abdomen. “LATHE YOU MOTHERFUCKER!!!” His body struggled ineffectively against Casper and Scotty, not noticing Connie and Sasha had gotten cameras out.

Eren watched quietly, blood still running down his cheeks, looking almost like a vampire. “Yes… Yes he is.” Eren looked down to the puppy, gently petting him. I hope that asshole didn’t hurt you.

Lathe flushed completely at Eren’s comment, embarrassed. “...shut up.” Murrr…. I’m getting you revenge, at least don’t work against me! Lathe soon drew the needle out, putting a small pink princess bandage over it just to rub it in. “Okay Jean, you can stop screaming like a girl, we’re done for now.” Lathe looked up to everyone in the room, seeing all of them laughing at their antics. “Casper, Scotty, you can let him go. And Eren, you need to wash off your face. You’ve kinda got something everywhere.” ...I don't think we want to stare at that while we're eating.

Eren simply nodded before disappearing with the pup in his arms silently. Everyone was again herded from the living room to the dining room and sat down before Eren returned with the pup and a syringe full of milk for the pup to help it feed. I’m not hungry anyways little guy...

Lathe moved up and down the table getting everybody drinks with Armin and Levi’s help, soon enough sitting down and just taking in how many people were at the table. “...there’s a lot of you.” ...I’m doing this every year. “Alright, before we eat- Jean I’m looking at you, put the fork down.” Lathe pointed to him and waited until he begrudgingly set it down, returning to addressing the table. “How about we all go around and say something we’re thankful for?” A general murmur of assent was heard around the table, Lathe smiling. “Alright, I'll start us off then. I'm thankful for my family.” He nudged Spades’ foot under the table. “-all of my friends, and the fact we get to live the way we do.”...we really do have it made... Lathe glanced between Spades on his left and Scotty at his right. “Which of you wants to go next?” Which of you is braver?

Spades blushed a smile crossing her face. “I’m thankful for my husband, and all the wonderful food around us.” She looked over to Marc. I'm glad you guys could make it...

“I’m thankful for Eren being out of the hospital” Marc’s voice was soft and kind as he looked down to the distracted boy.

Larry nodded, looking down to Eren. “I’m thankful for Eren’s quick recovery.”

Erwin smiled softly. “I’m thankful for a safe return.”

Armin was up next. “I’m thankful we could get everyone together again.”

Sasha and Connie both nodded to each other before speaking in unison. “We’re thankful for this glorious meal.”

Eren was completely silent, still helping the pup eat with the small syringe, having tuned everything out.

Lathe smirked, looking down the table to him. “You gonna participate down there?” Lathe watched as the pup moved its head away from the syringe for a moment, making a tiny, adorable sound. “...close enough.” That was way too cute. And Eren's in his own world right now- I guess that's okay. He can do his thing.

Levi looked down a bit, his voice even but quiet. “...I'm thankful that everything’s starting to be okay again.”

Jean glanced up to Lathe, looking down quickly as he met his eyes. “...I'm thankful you're giving me another chance...”...you're still awful, though.
Marco slightly nodded approvingly, blushing as he fiddled with his fingers. “I’m thankful to be right here, where I am.” Next to you... Because I haven’t seen you in over a year.

Sharon smiled faintly, looking over to Hannah shyly. “...I'm thankful that our kid couldn't have a better mother...” I’m glad it’s you.

Hannah was quiet for a moment, her eyes slightly downcast. She’s talking about herself isn’t she? Hannah tried to think of something, her expression less happy, though any words she tried to use caught in her throats as she was nudged in the side, looking over to Sharon, who gave her an inquiring look.

Sharon tilted her head a bit, her cheeks dusted pink as she spoke, still lid enough for the whole table to hear. “You do know I'm talking about you, right?” She chuckled quietly as Hannah looked away and flushed red, leaning over to peck her cheek. “You're next, Hon.” You're gonna be an amazing mom. I just know it.

Hannah smiled faintly and soon shook her head, clearing her thoughts to try and come up with something. “Sorry, my brain is fried... Like that turkey, anyways I’m thankful for finding a place to board Luna reasonably and that my son will be born soon.” I can’t wait to see Maverick... He’s gonna be fucking adorable.

Brooke grinned, looking around to the group of people on her right. “...I'm thankful that I get to see all of you guys again in one place.” ...We need to get the entire group together again sometime...

Casper nudged Scotty, grinning. “I'm thankful that this one here will actually put up with me and my antics.” ... seriously. You deserve an award.

Scotty blushed faintly, nudging him back. “...I'm thankful that this one here will put up with my being a completely oblivious blockhead sometimes.” He watched as Casper just gave him a look, blushing and looking away. “...okay, a lot of times.” ...yeah... but thank you.

Lathe nodded approvingly, grinning. “Alright- everyone, you have proven that you possess the Thanksgiving spirit. Dig in!”

Eren didn't reach for any food, his plate totally empty as he focused on the pup in his hands. That’s it.... You're eating it! I wonder what color your eyes are gonna be when you open them...
Blake, Rico, and Spencer all sat behind Jean’s seat as if waiting for him to drop something, knowing he would be a slob when eating. Dumb human will drop food. Spencer moved to squeeze himself under the table as Jean in fact dropped some of his turkey. Called it! Spencer sat there, waiting for more food as Blake and Rico stared him down.

Your kin fits under the table…. Yet we’re too big to fit, this is completely unfair… And shouldn’t you be with your mate? She’s with her pups isn’t she? Blake carefully nudged at Rico, standing and trotting off towards Eren, getting up on his hind legs to see what Eren was holding. He’s small… Much smaller than the rest of their kin…

Eren didn’t really look up at the table, helping to finish feeding the pup in his hands. He’s so small… I hope he’ll be okay… he’s not even half the size of the other pups. Eren’s brow furrowed as he got up from the table, having not even touched his plate as he walked by everyone. You’re done eating… you probably wanna be put down… and you’re awfully quiet.

Lathe stood, trying to catch Eren’s attention. “Eren, you haven’t eaten anything- do you want me to maybe cut up some strawberries for you or something?” Lathe was surprised as Eren didn't even acknowledge he existed, walking right past him. …well then. “Love you too, Eren!” Lathe spoke with mock indignance, jokingly scoffing and grinning. …eh, if he’s hungry he can raid the fridge. He sat back down, still working on his plate.

Eren seemingly disappeared into the house, the pup gently put by Tove’s side, the other pups huddled close to each other. Blake followed Eren back up to his room to go and hide away from the loud people at the dinner table.

Jean sighed quietly as Marco forced him to help bring plates in once everyone was done with their dinner. “Marco why??”

Marco looked at him, an eyebrow quirked. “Why what?” …what’d I do?

“Why did you make me come here… I mean I know food… but Eren’s Dad is a bit sadistic towards me.” I would like to leave with all limbs attached… including my balls.

…well, I can understand kinda where Mr. Quo is coming from… “I made you come because everyone else was coming. I thought you’d like to see everyone again- it’s been more than a year since we all got together, after all.” ...and I kinda wanted to see you again...

“Well, that’s to be expected, you guys are all in college. You left to go 5 hours away for God’s sake! Don’t blame me you guys didn’t go to the same college.” Do not put the blame on me... I did nothing... literally... I like where I work at the moment. Jean held the plates, carefully setting them in the large sink.

“I'm not blaming you.” Marco similarly set his stack of plates in the sink, moving the silverware in a pile next to them. “I'm just saying... I wanted to see you, and everyone again...” I'd have been happier if the college where I fit in the best was a bit closer... It's been a really long time since I've seen anybody... or you...

Jean snickered a bit. “You? Wanted to see me? Yeah right... you just wanted to see Lathe beat my ass because I tried to be nice for fucking once.” Jean started up the sink after a few minutes of pondering how the hell the thing worked. What the hell is this thing? How the fuck does it..... Oh.... that’s how it works.

Marco’s expression seemed to falter a little, feeling his cheeks burn in embarrassment. “I-I certainly didn't... just as a note, if Levi and Eren are barely on hugging terms themselves, I can understand Eren’s surprised reaction to you... even though it was pretty extreme.” Marco tried to hide his burning cheeks, taking a plate from Jean to rinse and set in the drying rack. “...and is it a crime to want to see you?” ......I'm awful at this.....

“Well... You don’t text or call me, it was kinda unexpected... But thanks, you saved me from buying a plane ticket to God knows where for the big gathering...” Jean shook his head, sighing as he gave Marco another plate. I honestly didn't want to see them... It’s been rough without Annie...

...I'm allowed to do that? “I need to fix that, then.” Marco’s voice was quiet, accepting the plate. “I thought you'd want to just eat dinner and chill, and that's guaranteed here...” I know things have been kinda tough for you in that department... He shrugged a bit. “...I thought you'd need it.” You don't have to act proper here- I know that can get tiring quickly, for you at least... for lots of people.

Jean nodded. “Yeah, it’s a good distraction.... When were you thinking of leaving?” We came in your truck, so I don’t want you to think I want to stay just ‘cause... “I don’t mind if we leave early.” I’ve been given a fucking shot... And I already got bitten by the fuckwad.

I don't want to leave too soon... that means you have to go too soon...“I know things haven't gone amazingly for you so far, but don't be so eager to get going… we’ll stay awhile, and if things fall flat we can leave. But if we stay long, I was thinking nine or something like that, since it's seven right now… but I suppose it depends… I want to spend time with you and everyone while we’re all here in one place.” ...we're all so far apart, and have fallen way out of touch... we need to start a group chat or something...

Jean nodded. “As long as Short Stack and Captain America don’t beat the shit out of me before I leave I think I’ll be okay…” Jean sighed as he gave Marco the last plate. I guess it'll be okay to catch up...

Marco nodded, smiling a bit. “Don’t worry, I’ll fend them off- just don't hunt for Eren and you'll be okay.” Yeah, no. Marco set the last dish in the rack, about to go with Jean into the living room when Casper passed the two of them, a mischievous grin on his face. ... purple hair, evil grin, he brought alcohol... oh no.

“Who wants a drink?” Casper called into the next room, opening the liquor cabinet with a small gold key. Lathe is waaaay too easy to pickpocket. He set a couple bottles on the counter, going to fetch glasses as well from a cupboard. He glanced over to the two of them, quirking an eyebrow to Jean as the two-tone looked to the bottles, seeming to think hard. “What’s up? You old enough?”

Jean nodded, coming up to look at the bottles. “Hmm… I’ll take a Jack on the rocks with a shot of Fireball.” That’ll help me calm down, that’ll be loaded with alcohol.

Casper’s eyebrows shot up. “O-Kay, I'm taking that as a yes.” You don't sound like this is your first drink. Casper poured what he wanted into a whiskey glass, getting crushed ice from the fridge and handing him the drink. “Just don't gulp it, that shit is strong.”

Jean gave him a strange look as he lifted the glass to his lips and drank half the glass in one go, letting out a deep sigh. That's better, it helps to unwind, fuck your purple hair and not gulping it… It's the only fucking way to drink it…

Casper just stared at him, his expression going from incredulous to simply done, turning to Marco. “I hope you're gonna be able to handle this one when he’s drunk.” He looked back to Jean. “Just try not to get too drunk too fast- if you're the only one drunk it’s just gonna be awkward. Wait an hour, then go nuts.” He shrugged to Marco. “I'm no babysitter, kid. Just the barkeep, apparently.” He looked up as Scotty, Brooke and Marc meandered over.

...I didn't know you drink. That's some serious stuff he just gave you. “...Just come on.” Marco tugged on Jean’s arm, trying to herd him into the living room towards the others, half the couches taken over with Lathe and Spades’ group, the other half with Levi and Eren’s. He sat down next to Armin, very conscious of Jean sitting down next to him as he listened to a heated debate between Sasha and Connie. He looked up as Lathe went over to Sharon, guiding her to stand and move to the piano. She had a nervous expression, seeming to stutter as she talked to him. …? What’s happening?

“N-No Lathe, really, I’m not that good, and there are a ton of people…. I-I dunno…” Sharon sat down at the bench nevertheless as Lathe guided her, staring at the keys. ...Uhm...

Lathe smiled reassuringly. “Come on, you sounded so excited when you were telling me about it- go ahead. Please?” It'll be really cool.

Sharon seemed jittery as she nodded, looking to the keys. She shuffled a bit, her hands resting on the ivory and ebony and letting out a deep breath as the room fell quiet behind her. She stilled, her nerves seeming to disappear as she began, playing a smooth melody that seemed to pick up as she went, traveling up the keyboard and taking a deep breath as she hit a higher note, starting to sing with a smile.

I'm the star tar of the navy
I'm the hit Miss of the sea
When the ocean's getting wavy
Leave those handsome sailors to me
I'm the swellswab on the poop deck
I'm the ship-shape shipmate in the hold
I'm the star tar
I'm the tar star
Of the navy blue and gold- Heave Ho!

I'm the top gob in the crow's nest
I'm the big bell sailors love to ring
In the foc'sle I get no rest
In the captain's cabin I'm the thing
I'm the sweet salt of the mess hall
I'm the true blue jacket to behold
I'm the star tar
I'm the tar star
Of the na~vy blue~ and~ go~ld.

She's the star tar of the navy
She's the hit Miss of the sea
When the ocean's getting wavy
What a prudent sailor that she'll be!
She's the swellswab on the poop deck
She's the ship-shape shipmate in the hold
She's the star tar
She's the tar star
Of the navy blue and gold- Heave Ho!

She's the top gob in the crow's nest
She's the big bell sailors love to ring
In the foc'sle she gets no rest
In the captain's cabin she's the thing
She's the sweet salt of the mess hall
She's the true blue jacket to behold
She's the star tar
She's the tar star
Of the navy blue and gold!

I'm the star tar
I'm the tar star
Of the na~vy blue~ and~ go~~~ld!

Hannah picked her head up as she heard Sharon singing. She’s beautiful…. I can’t believe she’s mine… But what happens if…. I don’t even want to think about what I’d do… Hannah got up and moved to stand by the wall looking at her with warm eyes. God I love you. She looked around after Sharon had finished, seeing multiple adults with drinks. God dammit, I can’t have any… Fuck… Hannah smiled anyways. “You sang beautifully.” Much better than I ever could...

Sharon blushed, her head dropping down a bit. “Thanks… I've been obsessed with that song for forever…” She turned a bit on the piano bench, seeing many adults with drinks in hand, turning to Hannah. “Hon, you're driving three people home. And since one of them is me make it four.” She placed a hand over her stomach, smiling sheepishly. “I'm sorry- but it’s just the one night. You'll live.” She just looked to Hannah as she gave her a look, reaching a hand out for here. “Come here a sec.” She waited for Hannah to get close before gently tugging her down to peck her cheek. “Love you, Hon.” I just wanna get home in one piece.

Hannah blushed, nodding. “I know, I love you too.” I really do. She help moved Sharon back to the couch, starting to talk with Marc about Tattoos. I gotta finish up the tattoo on my arm, it’s not done yet… But I don’t think anyone here has seen it yet.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Marco covered his mouth, trying to hold back laughter as Levi read each of the cards completely deadpan. The group had located Cards Against Humanity on a shelf in the room near the TV, and had talked him and Armin into playing. ...this is awful… and great at the same time... Marco turned from Levi and Erwin roasting each other to Jean as he suddenly leaned on his shoulder with his hand of cards, his newly empty glass in the other. ...isn't that like... your sixth glass? “Uhm, Jean… are you okay?”
Jean barely moved, his speech slurred as he set the heavy glass down. “Y-yesh… I’m perfectly oka…ie…” He moved his head into Marco’s neck. “Hmm… you’re purty….” Holy fuck… you’re hot… and I didn’t notice for four years on the football team.

Marco froze, a shiver running through him as he felt Jean’s breath on his neck. ... he's drunk… he... he can't mean it... “…not as much as someone else I know…” ...okay, you're pretty hot, I'm just going to put it out there right now. Marco didn't know what to do with himself, not moving away but unsure if he shouldn't move at all. What do I do someone help

Jean chuckled as Levi repeated the winner of the round, picking his head up a little faster than he intended, almost crashing it against the table. “M-mine… card…” Jean moved the cards to his other hand, his now free hand moving to grip Marco’s thigh to steady himself, his fingers dangerously close to Marco’s crotch.

Marco flushed as Jean’s hand gripped his thigh for balance, trying to hide his red face and willing himself to stay cool. Nope don’t do it don’t you dare... Marco took a breath to calm himself, his arm moving to Jean’s side to pull him back a bit from where he swayed over the table, keeping him more or less steady as he reached to get his card from Levi for him and put it on his pile. “Careful, you're going to hit the table if you don't watch it…”

Jean shook his head, rendering him incapacitated for a few moments. “I’m fin…” Jean somehow managed to pick up a black card, chuckling to himself as he read the card. “Vhat... do... As-e-ans h-ave? hehehehe…”

...huh? “Here-” Marco leaned over a bit, his arm still around Jean as he read the card. “Only Asian people have......” hmm... He rifled through his cards, hearing everyone else shuffling through theirs. What to use... Uhm, this word sounds Asian... Marco collected everyone else’s white cards from them, handing them and his card to Jean. This is gonna be good...

Jean could barely get through a majority of the cards, finally getting to the last one. “Vha’s wired ten-ankles hen-tie?” His brows furrowed in confusion as he read it. What the fuck is that.

Levi quirked an eyebrow. ...did he just...? He reached across the table and plucked the card out of Jean’s hand, reading it to the table. “Weird tentacle hentai.”

Jean looked at him in confusion before finally figuring out what the hell he was talking about. “OOOOoooooooo..... Hat one.... Def... hat one…” Jean moved closer to Marco, leaning into his chest. Hmmm.... I like that... I wanna watch some... I wanna go home... I haven’t since Annie.... Fuck... Jean had tears prickling in his eyes in a matter of seconds.
Marco let Jean lean into him, flushing red as his hand slipped to his crotch, forcing down the jolt that ran through him, chuckling nervously. “Uhm, o-okay, that’s me…” He took the black card, about to get a new one when he noticed Jean’s eyes becoming glassy. “J-Jean, you sure you’re okay?” ...I’m kinda not... well, if there weren’t as many witnesses... and if you were more sober than not...

Jean shook his head. “I vanna go hum…” I wanna go home... I wanna cry in peace. Jean got up rather quickly, stumbling out of his seat and going towards the door. I wanna go home... I’ll walk...

Marco immediately set down his cards, quickly apologizing to the group as he went to catch Jean from stumbling, slinging one of his arms over his shoulders. He turned to the group. “I’m gonna take him home- Connie can go for me.” He looked around, seeing Lathe amble up to them. “I’m going to take Jean home Mr. Quo. Thank you for having us, really. It was a great dinner.” He smiled to him. I enjoyed this...

Lathe smiled, nodding. “I’m glad you had a good time. Drive safe, okay?” He nodded to Jean. “And take good care of this one, okay?” ...he’s kinda in shambles. Lathe opened the door for him, waving goodbye as Marco led Jean to the car, locking it behind them.

Marco nodded, helping Jean as he struggled into his shoes and leading him to the car, getting him in the passenger’s seat before getting in the driver’s seat, buckling the both of them and starting the drive to Jean’s house. ...what do I do? He’s crying... I don’t know what about, or what to say... help. Someone. Anyone.

Jean just quietly started to cry, his eyes quickly getting blotchy. I miss her.... She didn’t even tell me she was leaving... she just... left... He leaned his head against the cold glass next to him, closing his eyes, trying to stop the sting of tears. “Mmmm..... Cold....”

The ride was rather short, Jean not that far away from Marco. ...I don’t know what to say... Marco pondered quietly for a long time, soon finding himself parked in front of an apartment complex, shutting off the car and looking to Jean. ...you’re not gonna be able to make it up the stairs... or in the elevator... or out that door... Marco got out of the car, opening Jean’s door and helping heave him to his feet. “Come on, let’s get you inside. What’s your apartment number?” I dunno which one is yours...

Jean started to laugh, stumbling along with him. “Hahaha... 420... blaez it... “
Marco rolled his eyes, walking to the front lobby and stopping as he saw he needed his key card to even get in. “Jean, where's the keycard?” He looked to Jean, who could only laugh while mumbling about 420. ...whatever. Marco kept his left arm around him to prop him up, his right rummaging through his jacket pockets, and then his jeans pocket, pulling out his wallet and inspecting it, soon producing a keycard. He stuffed it back into Jean’s pocket, swiping the card and somehow managing to prop open the door and half-carry Jean inside. He nodded to the bored and tired man at the front desk, getting Jean to an elevator and hitting the button for the fourth floor. It wasn't a minute until he was swiping the card to get into Jean’s room, shutting the door behind him which automatically locked and going to dump Jean on his bed. He stopped as he heard Jean start to sob. “Jean, hey, it’s okay…” Marco knelt down at the edge of the bed, looking to Jean worriedly. “What's wrong?” Talk to me.

“She… s-she… Just lef….” She didn’t tell me anything. Jean started to sob even more. I haven’t told my mom yet... And I don’t know what to tell her because Annie’s not here anymore… “she doons anver me….”

Annie... “Jean, I… I’m really sorry about that… I’m sorry…” Marco’s hand hovered unsure for a moment, soon resting to card through Jean’s hair. She just up and left... no goodbyes, no explanation, nothing. ...we don't know anything about where she is, what she's doing... anything... You took it so hard... obviously, the pain hasn't gone away...

Jean looked over to Marco as he started to comb through his hair with his fingers. “Stay?” Jean’s eyes looked so pained as he looked to Marco. I don’t want anyone else to leave me….

“Okay.” Marco’s mouth spoke for him before he could think about it, standing up and kicking off his shoes. I've got nowhere to be... He left his jacket on the floor, quickly folded on his shoes before tugging at the blanket, getting it out from under Jean and slipping in with him. He didn't know what to do then, suddenly feeling overcome by nerves.

Jean sniffled as Marco came into the bed with him. “...hanks...” He started to calm down, snuggling into Marco’s side. Warm...

Levi stayed downstairs as the crowd dwindled, only adults left by ten. He waited until Hannah had left holding up Scotty and Casper, Sharon right behind them, before heading upstairs, yawning. That was fun... we all need to stay in touch better... Levi walked to Eren’s room, peeking in and seeing him curled up to himself on the bed. He quietly walked in and shut the door, padding over to the dresser and changing into a tank top and sweatpants, trying not to seem threatening at all. ...I just want pajamas, no panicking please... He soon turned and climbed into bed, pulling up the blanket and shuffling over to where Eren laid, resting a gentle hand on his arm. “...is it okay if I
Eren opened his eyes, hearing Levi’s soft voice before he turned his head to look at him. He nodded, moving to roll over, his long sleeves pulled up a little showing off a few fresh marks he had made on his skin. You can hold me… I feel normal now… For some reason… Cutting made a big difference… My head’s a lot clearer now.

Levi saw the cuts, his eyes widening. “E-Eren, you… you cut. …you promised you…” You’d give it a chance… Levi bit the inside of his cheek, his expression dark. We thought you were making progress…

Eren pulled his sleeves up to show him just how far up his arm he had in fact cut. “I needed to clear my head, I feel a lot better.” I really do, my head is fucking clear as day right now. He moved to curl up to Levi, putting his head on his chest. I want you to hold me.

...I need to tell Lathe... Levi instantly relaxed as Eren curled up to him, one arm snaking around him to hold him close. ...if you heal by morning I won't remember... and Lathe needs to know now... but I don't wanna leave... Levi reached blindly for his phone on the nightstand, Eren seeming to pass out after barely a minute. He snapped a picture of Eren’s arm, showing the extent to which he cut.

LA: picture of Eren’s arms

LA: Lathe… it happened again

LQ: …….well fuck

LQ: tomorrow we're starting him on antidepressants.

LQ: whether he knows or wants it or not.

LQ: we can’t let this happen.

LQ: ...that's what he's been doing while he was hiding upstairs from the party, wasn't it… all this time

LQ: I'm so fucking dumb thank you for telling me

LA: There are so many faint scars... they're from him rapidly healing... the new ones won't even take an hour to close...

LA: And that would be for the best...

LA: I'll see you and Spades in the morning
Levi tossed his phone back on the nightstand, his other arm going to pull Eren more fully on top of him, grateful for the grounding weight. I...I get to hold you again... thank god....

Eren slept the whole night, their bed becoming Blake and Maisie’s resting place as well for the night. His eyes cracked open at around 9, looking down, feeling an odd warmth. He almost freaked out as he saw Levi underneath him. Calm down.... It’s just Levi... It’s just Levi... I need to calm down. He looked around to both dogs and smiled softly. Good... They’re not talking to me anymore... Yay! I’m not fucking crazy!

Levi woke as he felt Eren shift on top of him, smiling faintly as he saw Eren with adorably ruffled hair. “G’morning.” Levi leaned up a bit as if to peck his forehead, though he caught himself and stopped, his eyes widening and leaning back a bit, quietly apologizing. “I’m sorry Eren, I just forgot for a second, I’ll step off...” Levi looked a bit defeated as he spoke, his head dropping back against the pillows. ...I miss being able to do that...

Eren looked down to Levi, his voice quiet and a little hoarse. “Um… It’s o-okay.” He watched Levi’s every movement though, making sure he wasn’t about to try anything else with him. I like you holding me... But... You might do something...

Levi held Eren close to his chest, leaning on one of his arms as he shifted them to sit upright, Eren facing him in his lap. He stepped from the bed, carrying Eren with him. “Breakfast?” There are tons of leftovers downstairs.

Eren shook his head. “I’m not really that hungry… But we can go downstairs...” Eren clung to Levi as the two of them made their way downstairs. Is the puppy here still? Or did they leave?

Levi carefully picked down the stairs, bringing Eren into the kitchen and setting him on a stool at the island, going to open the fridge. He soon filled a plate with dark meat and gravy, as well as a smaller plate. He heated them in the microwave, setting the small one in front of Eren with a fork. “Before you say anything- You haven't eaten anything in more than 36 hours. I can understand that at this point it's hard to tell if you're really hungry or not. Just please. Try.” You're already so skinny...

Eren looked up to him with soft eyes before nodding reluctantly. He made it look like he was picking at his plate, but really all he was doing was moving the food around. He kept his head down, and made sure that his sleeves were rolled down as well. I wanna go cut.... My head’s getting fuzzy again.

Levi gently nudged Eren’s foot, having watched him closely. “Eren, you actually have to lift food into your mouth in order to eat.” ... that’s how it works. “I know you don’t want to, but please. I didn’t give you much.”

Eren’s eyes blazed in anger for a bread second, calming down after he grumbled, picking up his fork and biting into the turkey, keeping his face turned away from Levi. Stupid ass… I’m not fucking hungry, if I throw up later it’s your fault!

Lathe had just padded down the stairs, fetching a bottle from his medical bag and looking up before he drew it out, seeing the cloud of fury hanging over Eren’s head. ... fuck. This isn’t gonna be easy. Lathe took two pills from the bottle, getting a glass of water and setting both in front of Eren. “Eren, Hon, can you please take these? They’ll make you feel better.” ... please don't hit me...

Eren shook his head. “You said I could have a week off the pills… I’m not taking them.” His voice was hard as he moved to push his plate forward, leaving it practically untouched. I’m not taking those damn pills.

So that's how we're gonna do this. Lathe’s face became stony, his tone even. “Eren, remember what else I told you about taking a week off? If you started doing horribly I’d start you back up again. You haven’t eaten in more than 36 hours and refuse any food, you’ve cut yourself, and excuse me, but you’re irrationally furious. I’m cutting it short, but this is all you’re going to be taking for the moment. Now please, do yourself a favor and take them.” I’m not going to let you get out of this.

Eren immediately shook his head, moving to hop off of the stool, turning to go back upstairs to get warmer clothes on. I’m gonna go outside with Charlie. Fuck you all.

Lathe caught Eren by the arm, his hold firm, not even budging a centimeter as Eren fought to break free. “I think...” Lathe’s eyes hardened as he looked to Eren. “-that you should listen.”

Eren froze the instant he heard Lathe’s tone. Fuck.... I can’t move... I can’t move... Why can’t I move...? I can’t move... Eren’s eyes were wide, frozen in place, too afraid to turn around to see Lathe.
Lathe tugged Eren backwards in front of the glass and pills, hyper aware of Eren’s terror. His voice was much softer as he spoke, picking up the pills and holding them out to Eren. “Come on- it's okay. I'm sorry…” Eren didn't move, so Lathe turned Eren to him, sitting him on a stool. “Eren, I'm sorry… please, work with me…” Lathe sighed as Eren stared blankly ahead, opening Eren’s jaw without much resistance and dropping in the pills, getting the water glass and putting it to Eren’s lips, thankful that Eren swallowed down the whole thing. He set down the glass and pulled Eren into a hug, gentle as he nestled into Eren’s shoulder for a moment, murmuring as he carded a hand through Eren’s hair. “I'm sorry for scaring you like that, Eren. I'm just worried and wanted you to get better… please don't be scared of me, I got carried away a bit and frustrated… I love you…” I'm really sorry for being scary... He pulled back a bit, his hold still very light on Eren, his expression worried. ...you can smack me now if you want...

Eren just stared at Lathe with wide eyes. No….it's gonna happen again. Eren barely thought about it, bolting from Lathe’s grip as soon as it loosened and running away from the both of them.

...well then, scary Lathe mode activated. Levi looked at Lathe, fixing him with a glare. “Wooooow, good job you asshat, now he’s more scared of you than he is of me.” That's an accomplishment. But shit got very real very fast.

Lathe let Eren run off, running a hand through his hair. “...I... I got mad… fuck...” Lathe buried his face in his hands, trying to think. “I got frustrated and I've been trying really hard for everything to work out and then he hasn't been eating and he cut and he was furious and didn't listen and… I got mad… fuck...” ...I don't think he's ever seen me mad... I'm never mad... but I know I get scary as hell... fuck...

Eren came running down the stairs a few minutes later, freezing in his spot as he saw Lathe in the kitchen. Fuck.... I can't move... I can't move.

Lathe put his hands up as he looked up to see Eren, shrinking and looking meek as he stepped to the front, giving Eren a good dozen feet at least as he moved. “I'll get out of your way, you can go to the backyard, I know you're gonna want to ride Charlie or take care of everyone... I won't bug you... Eren, I'm really sorry... I really do love you...” I don't hate you... I promise...

Eren looked down and nodded before going off, mumbling an apology. He made it outside, going off to the barn and getting Charlie saddled and brought the camouflage things out. I saw deer outside...

Lathe sighed, going to the fridge to make breakfast. He had just gotten a glass for juice, dropping it and letting it shatter as he heard a gunshot from outside, frozen. ... how did he get the gun.
Chapter 47: Understandings

Lathe leapt over the glass shards and ran for the back door, in his boots and out the door with a jacket in seconds, running across the field and following Charlie’s tracks in the snow. “EREN!!!!” Lathe shouted, looking for him with wide, terrified eyes. He darted into a path in the woods, still following the tracks and soon sliding to a stop as he looked down a path to his left, Eren tying a fourteen-point buck to Charlie for him to drag back. “Eren…?” Lathe walked down the path with caution, trying to keep Eren calm as he saw him look to him fearfully. “Eren, please don't freak out, just hold on, don't do anything…” Lathe slowly reached for the gun slung across Eren’s back, quickly clicking it on safety and lifting it from Eren’s shoulders. “A few things Eren, first off-how. Did you get. This gun.” Lathe looked to him, feeling a bit betrayed. “There was a trigger lock on it, and you'd need the safe key and combination for it too. Where the hell did you get it from??” Spades doesn't even know what the combination is. Who… wait… Casper pickpocketed my keys yesterday… did he… “... there was a metal tag attached to them with the combination… you took them off my key ring after Casper snitched them for the liquor cabinet key, didn't you.” …...why did I not just give Casper the damn key like he asked?

Eren looked down at the deer with a clean gunshot to the heart. “Umm… It was downstairs… I found it when I was hiding…And yeah… I took it off the key, because I saw a bunch of 10 to 14 tip bucks in the backyard.” He moved to continue tying the back hooves together with tough string. I got a big one… I wonder if Dad’l let me keep the antlers… “And… Um… Grisha… He um….” Eren’s voice faltered a bit as the memories started to pop up. I don’t wanna panic… Eren’s hands began to shake, not from the cold, but from his PTSD.

Lathe bent down and hugged Eren, rubbing small circles into his back. Don’t panic please… I know saying it stirs up stuff… “How did you get into the storage room? That's where it was…” You never knew how it worked at the old house- and that key's not on the ring, because it's a keycard.

“It… It was open… I was hiding in there….” Eren told him quietly. It was a good spot too.

“I-it was open?” That doesn’t sound right… I'm sure I closed it last time I was in there, getting out the table extensions and chairs... I'll have to check, and if it's not fitting right, I'll get that fixed. “Okay, that's not your fault… but Eren, you can't just shoot deer because you want to. You need a license, tags for a buck- because I wasn't out here something could’ve gone wrong. You didn't even put the safety on the gun while it was slung on your back. You're just damn lucky it’s actually deer season. Look, if you wanna hunt, you're gonna need more than just a gun and a target. There are a bunch of regulations. I have a license and tags, so I'll just tag this one as mine, but you can't hunt without the licenses and stuff. And it’s not quick- but you'd be able to hunt next deer season. Finish tying him up and we can drag him back home, okay? But if you're gonna do this sort of thing, ask. At least tell me- we heard the gunshot, and I didn't know what to think…” I was worried… “But it’s okay.” Lathe pecked his temple.
Eren nodded, finishing up tying the buck in silence. When I was young… I got to hunt all I wanted… And Dad let me… Eren moved to hop up onto Charlie, still mindful of where Lathe was at every moment that they walked back. He’s gonna hit me…. He’s angry at me… He’s really mad at me… Eren swallowed hard, trying not to shake, failing horribly, and his whole body shaking in fear of an angry Lathe again.

Lathe walked by Eren’s side as he rode Charlie back to the barn, noticing his shaking and reaching a hand up, gently patting his arm. “Eren, it’s okay. I’m not mad- just worried. You didn't know about any of this hunting regulation stuff, and I didn't know you had the shotgun. ...and I wasn't trying to be so mean earlier… I got frustrated, and then got carried away… I'm really really sorry about all that…” Lathe offered his palm to him, his eyes pleading. “…forgive me?” I'm sorry… I feel terrible…

Eren looked down to Lathe as he spoke, jerking a bit when he was touched, causing Charlie to move a few feet away before back into place. Eren timidly reached out to run his fingers across Lathe’s palm. I don’t want you to be mad at me… “Um… Can I cut up the deer? I haven’t had venison in awhile.” I really want some… I think the last I had was after hunting with Hannes…

Lathe nodded, smiling faintly as Eren forgave him. “Of course you can- and if you share at least a little, I don’t have any problems with it. Would you need help?” It's a big project, it'll take a while.

Eren shook his head. “I just need a really sharp knife…. And about 30 minutes.” Hannes made sure I knew the inside of a deer like the back of my hand… I can cut up filets… But that’ll take a bit longer…

Lathe thought, nodding after a minute. “Okay- while you're doing that, I think I'll make sure everyone gets their breakfast. Give Charlie a good brushing too, I think he needs it.” I'm not leaving you unattended with a fucking filet knife. “I'll get you something for the job when we get to the house.”

Eren nodded silently, the two of them getting closer and closer towards the house. Where am I supposed to untie it? This buck weighs a ton, and I know because Charlie was pulling hard. Eren opened his mouth to speak, still afraid to speak up. I don’t want you to yell at me…

Lathe looked up to him, gently tapping his arm again, running his thumb over his arm and trying to calm Eren. “You can say stuff… I'm not going to yell or get mad or anything. Swear it.” He crossed his thumb over his heart. I won't let that happen again.

Eren nodded. “Where do I put it? Once I untie it… It’s not moving…” I don’t know where the hell
I’m supposed to chop this up where I can clean it up after.

“Just inside the front bit of the barn would be okay, string him up by a rafter. If we put down a big enough tarp and wait until Charlie’s in his stall we shouldn’t have a problem. We’ll keep the barn door open, allow for fresh air.” And you won’t be too far away from me. Just in case.

Eren nodded, bringing the deer into the barn and using Charlie to help lift the massive beast and let him start to hang, tying him off and getting a tarp under the buck. Once that adventure was done, he started to untack Charlie. After he had gotten Charlie untracked he got out the brushes to give him a good brush over.

Lathe went to the house, getting the wood-handled fillet knife, still sheathed in it’s wooden block on the counter from the night before, and hunting in a cupboard for a large metal pot, bringing them out to the barn. He set them down on the tarp, going over to Charlie’s stall and holding out his hands for the brushes, nodding to the buck. “Take care of the buck awhile- I’ll take care of Charlie and everybody, okay?

Eren looked to him for a moment before he handed over the brushes. Okay… Time for deer… Eren quickly picked up the knife, able to cut through the stomach and remove the internal organs with relative ease, making sure to bag the bladder, then hosing it down, then he got up on his toes, slicing near the base of the neck to start to skin the deer. Hmm… He’s really big, the meat looks really good… But I should let it hang for awhile. Eren looked around, his brow furrowing when he couldn’t find a saw or a hook. “Um… Lathe… Where do you want me to hang it?…. And um…. Where is the saw?” It’s gotta sit so the meat is tender… We kinda can’t leave it in the barn…. But I get to eat the liver!

“The saw’s hanging on a peg on the wall over to your right, and um… will the garage work? It should, there's an open space.” Lathe set down the bag of feed, ambling over. “If you just get Charlie to drag the tarp with our friend here on it we’ll be good, and can hang him up for a while, no problem.” That could work.

Eren nodded, moving to set all the organs he wanted to keep into the large pot Lathe had given him. He then proceeded to grab a shovel and started to dig a bit away from the barn getting a decent sized hole, staging the tarp over there and dumping the rest of the organs in there and burying them. He dragged the tarp back to clean it off with the hose making sure that he had every bit cleaned off. Alright… This tarp looks clean.

Lathe helped Eren position the tarp back under the buck, going over to where the rope keeping the buck suspended was tied, carefully untying it and hanging onto the rounded hook with one hand, slowly lowering the buck onto the tarp, his arm shaking. Fuck it's heavy… He went to lead Charlie back out to drag the buck to the front of the house, getting a metal hook from the wall of the barn and following as Eren walked Charlie up front, helping him get the deer into the garage and hanging it from a steel support beam that ran the length of the garage. “Okay- leave the tarp under him, and he’ll hang for a while. We can’t forget about him, though. You’ll have to finish the job after lunch. I’ll tag him when we get inside.”

“I’m gonna make the liver for lunch.” Eren told him before taking Charlie back to the barn. I can’t wait to eat it... Eren disappeared for a few moments before coming back into the house with the pot of organs. I haven’t made liver in a long time....

Lathe was filling in the tag at the kitchen island, crinkling his nose a bit at the pot. “...at least regarding me, just make enough for yourself- not a fan of liver.” Ugh. “I need the filet knife back- did you bring that in too?” *I’m not leaving it unattended.

Eren nodded, moving the wooden box out from under the pot. “Okay, I’ll make sure that I make enough for myself... Where’s Levi?” Eren seemed to shrink a bit as he came closer to Lathe.

Lathe looked to the floor, the tiles surprisingly absent of glass. “...I don't know… He cleaned up the glass I broke, but I have no idea where he went after that. We'd been gone awhile, so…” He looked up as he heard footsteps, Levi coming straight up to him, seeing the fury in his eyes. He stood from the stool, worried. “L-Levi, wait-” Lathe was about to worriedly explain when Levi backhanded him hard across the face, his cheek stinging from his hand, and his eyes beginning to sting with tears. *...maybe I deserved that...

Levi’s eyes blazed in silver fury. “You didn’t even tell me you had a fucking gun! Yet you let Eren go off and hide without watching him! You gave him the fucking opportunity to find the gun and use it!” Levi grabbed him by the collar, shaking him as he stood. *You really are an asshat.

Lathe weakly scrabbled at Levi’s wrists to pry him off, tears beginning to stream down his face as he stuttered a response. “I-I n-never thought I w-was gonna want to u-use it, and I d-didn't want t-to l-let you know about i-it b-because...” ...if Eren knew where it was... “I-I’ll do b-better... I-I’ll get a new l-lock thing f-for the storage r-room sliding d-door... I-I’ll keep b-better track of my k-keys, and keep them on a lanyard tied to a belt loop so Casper e-can't pickpocket them... I’ll even get a new t-trigger lock i-if that’ll be okay... I-I can do better... I... I’ll do better...” Lathe’s legs started to slide out from under him, slumping to the floor, tears falling freely down his face, muttering and beginning to curl up to himself on the floor. “I'll... I'll do better...” *I fucked up... Everything I did wasn't good enough... I'll fix everything... I'll... I can do better... I'm not trying hard enough... Anyone else could do so much better... I... I'm not fit for this...

Levi sighed, letting him go, moving over to Eren and encasing him with a strong hold, tears threatening to spill. “Do you dare do that again, or I swear.... You scared me, Eren. Don’t do that…” please never do that again.

Eren watched with wide eyes the scene that came before him until Levi came to wrap his arms around him. What is he doing? Is he gonna hurt me? What’s happening? Eren flinched as he was almost crushed in the strong hold. “L-Levi… Let go…” Eren pulled out of his grasp, moving to get cooking the liver, cutting it up into small pieces and putting it on the burner. Forget what just happened… Forget what just happened…. Forget…. Forget everything….

Levi sighed letting go of Eren and moving to where Lathe was on the floor. “Lathe?” Fuck… I yelled at him… Shit he’s not talking. “Blake!” Levi shouted for the dog, noticing his vacant state. Shit this isn’t good… Maybe I said too much… Fuck...

Blake came down the stairs quickly, coming into the kitchen and moving to sit beside Lathe. He licked his face, hoping to get him to snap out of his trance. Hooman come back to us… Big Hooman…

Lathe weakly leaned away from Blake, his hand limply swatting at Blake as he licked his face, mumbling. “s-stop it…” Lathe’s brow furrowed as Blake kept nudging at his, trying to get him away from licking his cheek. “Stop that…” Lathe’s eyes suddenly became incredibly sharp, his face turned to the floor, furious as he suddenly shoved Blake away from him, roaring. “STOP IT!!” Lathe breathed heavily, staring hard at the floor before the anger drained from his face, tears streaming down his cheeks. “...I… I-I’m…” Lathe covered his mouth with his hand, looking horrified, his face flushing with shame as he stood and fled upstairs, going to hide in his room. ...I want it to be enough… I want giving everything I have to be enough… why isn't it enough...

Levi’s eyes widened and he followed Lathe up the stairs, knocking quietly on the door. “Lathe? Lathe I’m sorry…. I didn’t mean to yell at you, and I got frustrated… Can I come in?”

“...sure…” Lathe was sitting on the bed, surrounded by a quilt and fiddling with the tag as the door’s lock clicked, Levi coming in quietly. He studied the small patch sewn by hand into the quilt, a familiar spark insignia done in shades of red and gold. “...I'm sorry for snapping… I just…” Lathe sighed, a tear streaking down his cheek. “You didn't know at the old house or here, but in the basement with the chalkboards there was a seam between the three bits of wall. You could open them with a keycard and there was a bunch of stuff stored in there… one of the things was the gun. ...it hadn't been shot in years… but I always get hunting tags anyway… it was my grandpa’s, so I always was careful with it… it was in the safe, with a trigger lock on, and the ammunition was hidden in a metal box on the other side of the room… an old instrument case, I think. But… I thought I did enough to keep it out of anyone’s reach… It’s hidden somewhere else right now, with the trigger lock on it… but… apparently the door doesn't shut right, probably because it's so cold, and Eren got his mitts on the keys when Casper pickpocketed me yesterday and the combination was engraved on a metal tag as just a line of numbers… I… I thought it would be enough… it clearly wasn't… it's all my fault, I'm really fucking sorry Levi… I fucked up…” I want it to be
His voice was incredibly small, hoarsely whispering as he started to cry into his hands. “When is it going to be enough?” ... never... isn't it.

Levi shook his head, going to lay in bed with him, looking up to the ceiling. “No, it wasn’t your fault....” Levi let out a sigh, moving a hand to cover his face. “I just got so worried... I mean....” He let out another heavy sigh. “I just thought of what if that asshat shot himself... And I...I-I....” Levi trailed off, trying hard not to cry. I could’ve just lost him... That was scary as all hell...

Lathe looked over to Levi as he laid down next to where he sat, heaving a sigh before laying down side by side with him, sharing some of the quilt, fiddling with a corner of it. “...you weren't the only one scared that that was what happened... I'm going to see if I can change the combination on that safe at all, and if not, oh well... but...” Lathe brushed at his eyes. “...that was terrifying... but he's okay... but he's not going to get his hands on a gun for a looong while. He wants to hunt... depending on how he's doing next year... and I'd go with him... but, well, now you know the rifle exists. I'm still not telling where it is... but I'm going to check all the time that it's still there...” ...yeah, he's not going to hunt unless he's much more sane. And okay.

Levi nodded, still keeping his face covered. “I’m sorry for snapping at you... I didn’t know what to do... I knew I couldn’t yell at him..... I actually got to sleep in the same bed as him last night...”

This was a terribly eventful morning... I want to take back so many things...

*“...it’s...” ...you know what? No. “Actually, it’s not okay. I didn't get a damn chance to explain all the crap I had done to prevent something like this, and the thing that caused Eren to find the safe in the first place wasn't my fault. I had it under lock and key and it’s not my fault that Casper learned how to pickpocket from me so well that now even I can't feel it. I couldn't control that Eren knew what keys to snitch off the key ring. I had no clue there was any chance of him getting it and much less finding the hidden ammunition and using it. And I'm done with saying everything is okay when it's clearly not. I'm giving everything I can to keep things in order, and it's not enough. I don't need more people reminding me that I could be doing a better job, because I know. Because it’s all I hear in my head- the only thing my inner voice constantly screams at me. It’s not okay... but I get it. We were both terrified when we heard that shot, and you got scared, then those nerves became anger, and you snapped at me. I get it. So I'm going to just forgive you and be done with it because I just want this whole thing about this morning to be fucking over.”

*Levi nodded. “Agreed... I'm really sorry though, I let my anger get the best of me...” I didn’t want to lose someone else. Levi let out a deep sigh. “Should I take Eren out to town?” Get him away and try and get him to calm the fuck down. “I could take him to go see Armin... Or maybe the puppies, I remember Sharon saying she works from home...” I want everything to be alright, and I know that’s a lot to ask for... And I know you're struggling... And we all know it... And I can’t believe I snapped at you...

Lathe nodded. “Any of those sound okay, just know if you're going to visit Sharon call ahead- see if it's a good day or not.” Who knows how she’s doing, since it can be so random- and if she feels like crap she probably won't want to be bugged, but at the same time won't want to turn you two away… “But getting him out of the house would be good for him… and my sanity…” I need peace and quiet for a while… ...or a nap… ...both.

Levi nodded, uncovering his face to look over to Lathe. “Is he making food?” I can smell the spices from here… It smells pretty good, I hope he doesn’t burn it… He sat up, stretching a bit before rubbing at his eyes. He pulled out his phone to pull up Sharon’s contact information. I should probably call the house.

Lathe nodded. “Yeah, he's cooking the buck’s liver- what even are his eating habits anymore… Nobody knows. He nodded to Levi’s phone. “Defaulting to visiting puppies? If so, call the house. She won't be listening for her cell, because she wouldn't be able to hear it, because it's apparently always on silent.” That's a thing- Hannah ranted about it a bit yesterday.

Levi nodded, getting up to head towards the door. “I’ll call her, and get Eren out of the house…. I'll make dinner, so why don't you relax for the day?” God knows you need the day to yourself.

Lathe sighed in relief, letting his head drop back down onto the bed. “Levi, you are the best- I could really use it, thank you…” He burrowed further into the blankets, his eyes sliding shut. “I'm just going to take advantage of this chance to nap… and then maybe we'll see if I can be mildly productive. ...or not. Whatever happens. Oh, and tell Sharon I said hi. ...wait, that reminds me... where's…” Lathe slapped the nightstand looking for his phone, finding it and texting Sharon, relying heavily on autocorrect as he sleepily misspelled every other word. “I'm just telling her that with the music-sheet-sharing site she's on, I granted her access to my library… she has all my arrangements, and I asked to stumble around some of hers. ...she'll see it eventually.” Lathe tried to toss his phone back on the nightstand, missing and hearing his phone thud on the floor, his arm dropping on the mattress. “...I literally cannot bring myself to care right now.”...sleep sounds nice...

Levi chuckled, coming back to pick up his phone and put it on the night stand. “Alright, you nap, I’ll have dinner ready by 6:30.” Better get to calling her and then figure out plan B… If we need one.

“Thank you Levi… you're the real MVP…” ...me not having to cook is new… that sounds nice too… Lathe sleepily mumbled, and within a minute was knocked out, worn out from the already long morning.
Lathe woke up an hour later, blinking awake. it's really quiet… Lathe rolled out of bed, dragging the quilt with him downstairs and looking around, seeing a post-it on the small table near the door. Sharon's, huh. Okay. He went to the kitchen to get something to eat, seeing lots of leftovers. ...we don't have anything besides leftovers though… which is a problem if we want something besides stuffing. ...I should probably go grocery shopping. Lathe looked out the window. It's sunny for once, ...that actually sounds like a good idea. Lathe ate and got dressed with no real hurry, driving to the grocery store and beginning to meander the produce section. He was barely five minutes into the trip when he looked over a display of apples, his eyes widening as he recognised someone. ...I know your face. ...you're one of them. Lathe immediately turned away from the man, doing his best to blend in with the crowd and pulling over in the next aisle, getting out his cell phone and calling Spades, trying to act casual to the people around him. “Hey uh, Spades- we've got a problem. One of them is at the grocery store right now.” Whatever happens, don't cause a scene. Crowd panic can work against you.

Spades had picked up the phone almost instantly. “Okay, I’m sending Dave over, what’s he wearing?” Dave is the closest to that grocery store right now…

“Green winter jacket, blue jeans that look faded and dirty on the front, dark boots that look like work boots, and he’s got gloves in his pockets. Grey shirt underneath the jacket, I think it’s solid.” Lathe’s eyes widened as he realised the man didn’t have a cart, confusedly picking up a bag of apples and beginning to walk to the checkout. “Got to go I need to stop him from leaving too soon kaybye” Lathe hung up, immediately abandoning his cart and running quickly down the aisle where the man couldn’t see him, picking up a casual gait as he approached the man from in front of him, nodding to the bag of apples as he got close and speaking. “Those are a lot of Granny Smiths- you do a lot of cooking?” You didn't look like you knew anything about apples. Talk about cooking.

The man lifted his head up, a confused look on his face. “Huh?” He looked down to the bag he was carrying. “Ah… You mean these? Umm… I'm sorry, what did you say?” He looked up, his bright blue eyes locking onto Lathe’s. Who the fuck are you?

“You're buying more than a bushel of the most bitter apples they have here- I'd be surprised if you were planning on just eating them raw. What're you planning to make?” He shrugged. “Just curious is all.” ...you don't recognize me. ...huh. You'd think you'd've at least seen a picture...

“Ummm… A snack…. For my truck?” He worriedly looked down at his dirty watch. “Look, I gotta go back to work, so it was a nice chat… But I gotta go…” The man started to walk away, holding the apples tightly still. I’ll get yelled at… Since we’re short on staff as of recently...
Lathe let the man pass him, thinking hard as he meandered back and watched the man enter a checkout lane. He suddenly met eyes with the cashier, immediately making the sign for ‘Silence!’ ...That’s Olivia! Thank fuck! {Olivia, stall him. Police are coming. Call a manager. Act. You have to.} I’m counting on you.

Olivia looked up as the man came to her lane, nodding hello and looking up for a split second, seeing Lathe and immediately recognising him, confusion flitting past in her eyes as he signed quickly, immediately pretending not to stare and tap at her register keyboard for a moment as she let Lathe finish signing, watch out of the corner of her eye. Got it, Lathe. She tapped in a certain string of numbers, hitting enter and letting the screen change minutely before bringing the bag of apples over the scanner, feigning a confused look as it didn't scan after a few tries. “I'm sorry sir, let me key it in and see if that works…” She moved the bag to see the tag, taking her time to enter in the numbers, the system not even letting her type in the item code. She reached over to flick on the switch at her register, the light above her blinking. “I'm very sorry sir, I have to call a manager—my system isn't responding. It should be an easy fix, though.” She smiled apologetically as the man grumbled, a manager soon coming over to her register. “My register isn't responding. I don't know if you know what’s wrong with it.”

“Alright, let me have a look.” The manager stepped around her, tapping at the keyboard for a moment when Olivia tapped his shoulder.

“Oh, you'll need my employee key. Here.” She handed him a post it, the writing on it not visible to the man.

...huh? The manager took the note and read it, soon understanding. ...he's wanted. Stall for cops. The manager pretended to copy off an employee key from the note, the system still unresponsive in the mode it was in. He soon turned to the man. “I'm very sorry sir, but this register is frozen. It’ll have to be rebooted. You can remain here for the few minutes it is powered up again, or go to another lane.” He nodded to the other registers, all of them having at least one other person in them. Thank god we only have this express lane open today.

The man grumbled, shaking his head, burying his hands in his pockets. “It’s fine… Just hurry up with the reboot.” I really don't have time for this but I'm not gonna yell at them for technology reasons...

Dave came into the front of the grocery store, looking around for the man he was supposed to find. Alright, Lathe said he was leaving, check out lanes first.

Lathe saw Dave as he entered, meandering over and shadowing the man at the end of the lane, leaving him with nowhere to go to leave except closer to Dave. He waited until Dave was only two empty lanes away, picking up a plastic cup from a nearby display and dropping it, making a loud clattering sound, but not breaking or cracking it. He went to pick it up, noticing that Dave’s footsteps seemed to become a bit faster as he and the man were spotted. Here we go. “Look, friend-” Lathe put the cup back, stepping forward and blocking the man in the lane, soon enclosed on both sides by him and Dave. “-I think it’s best you go without a fight.”

….huh? “I’m sorry what?”

“Sir, come with me please, put your hands where I can see them.” Dave’s tone was unforgiving and heavy as he spoke. I do not want to taze or shoot you.

“Wait… What? What’s happening?” The man backed up into Lathe, his brow furrowing as he saw Dave.

“Sir, I need you to put your hands where I can see them.”

“Why? What did I do wrong, I’m trying to buy apples! I’m not even causing a scene!”

Fair point. “Sir, You have to the count of three to comply, put your hands where I can see them!... One…. Two….” Dave stopped stepping forward as the man turned around and put his hands up. He cuffed him in seconds, pulling him out of the store to the cruiser, telling him his rights as he did so. I more down… 14 to go…

Lathe followed so he could talk to Dave, fistbumping Olivia as he passed her. “Nice acting, kid. I'll see you around.” Lathe nodded to the manager and went on, waiting for Dave to shut the man in the cruiser before speaking. “Y’know, he didn't recognize me, which is weird as hell because I know that's one of them… and I'd think they'd know my face by now…” Maybe he's just really dumb. After all, he was buying Granny Smiths as snacking apples. Who does that?

Dave shrugged, moving towards the driver’s seat. “Well… Spades said if you wanted to come, you can come watch the interrogations.” You might wanna come… But you also might not wanna come.

Lathe immediately nodded. “I'm coming- I need to see this.” I want to hear what this guy has to say. “I'll follow in my car- I'll be right behind you.” Lathe went to his car, following Dave to the station and he was soon standing just outside the interrogation room, looking in as Spades sat the man down to question him.
The man watched Spades sit down opposite him; he was relatively quiet, not sure what to think about this. Why am I here? Is it that illegal to buy green apples?

Spades settled across from him, her hands folded in front of her on the table. Her expression remained neutral for the most part, a sharp glint to her eyes. “How are you? Could I get you something to drink?”

The man shook his head. “No, but thank you, ma’am, I’m alright for now. But I would like to know what a pretty little thing like you is doing in a place like this?” Shouldn’t a guy be interrogating me? She’s gorgeous!

...Ex cuse me. “Sir, you’re talking to the Police Commissioner of this county. I’d appreciate it if you showed some respect.” She shifted her hands, her ring visible on her left hand. I’m kinda taken. And I’m not exactly into raping minors, so.

Lathe’s expression shifted, scowling a bit and turning his head to Dave next to him, opening his mouth.

Dave caught Lathe’s arm immediately, cutting him off. “No murder.” Yeah, no. I like you. I don’t want to have to testify against you as a witness.

Lathe’s mouth snapped shut, pouting a bit and crossing his arms, muttering. “But that's my wife…” She’s mine, fucktard. Don't fucking hit on her!

The man looked down at the ring. “Oh, I apologize ma’am, I wasn’t aware. But, could you answer me as to why I’m here?” I have no idea what the hell I’m doing here. I don’t understand...

“How about you answer a few of my questions first, and you'll figure it out from there.” She quirks an eyebrow at him, her gaze cool. “Do you know a young man by the name of Eren Yeager?”

... Eren Yeager? “Do you mean the singer?” Is that who you’re getting at…? Are you his fan? I can see you liking his music. “Do you like his music, ma’am? I could agree it’s quite good… Especially his last cover album.” It was all songs about sex…. Hmmm… Are you a frisky woman?
...okay you can stop hitting on me now. “That is the person I'm referring to, yes... but do you personally know him?”

“Doesn’t he live in like... Los Angeles... With all the big shots?”

“Uhm... no.” Spades pretended to think about it, deadpanning her answer, judging him. ...you don't look like the sharpest tool in the shed. “What do you do for a living?” You look like a far shot from all the other lawyers and doctors on the list...

“I um... I reroof houses...” why does this have to do with anything? The man sat a bit uncomfortably in the seat across from her. “Can I ask why, ma’am?”

“No.” Spades spoke matter-of-factly, going through the Manila folder on the table, producing a picture. “Can you identify this man for me?” She showed him a picture of his own likeness.

“That would be my brother... It's even got the damn scar on his head.. But I believe that I’ve got better features than him... Wouldn’t you agree?” The man waggled his eyes, looking pointedly to Spades. You are damn fine.

“...that fucking asshole...” Lathe gritted his teeth, his eyes flashing dangerously as Dave still gripped his arm. The second you're out of there, I don't care about the assault charge. I really need to rearrange your face a bit.

Spades glared icily at him. “I can't say I agree. And I don't think my husband would approve of what you're implying. I certainly do not. I hope you can respect that.” Just shut the fuck up. “Now if this isn't you... what's his name and what is his profession?”

“He’s my twin... His name’s Clyde Blochefski... He’s a realtor... Though he screws a lot of people over... Is that what this is about?” Am I in here to eat my brother out?

“We're going to need to see your ID for a bit. You'll get it back in a few minutes.” I've heard the twin brother act too many times.

Chris nodded, moving to pull his wallet out and handing over his ID. “My name’s Chris... It’s Clyde that’s always fucking people over.” Not that I would mind fucking someone else over...
Spades nodded, her expression neutral still as another officer came to collect his ID. She pulled out photocopies of the drawings of the other men, starting to set them out as she spoke. “While your ID is being run, perhaps you can help identify these men for me. Recognize anyone?” She took out a pen. Hopefully you’ve got a few names for us to check out.

Chris nodded moving to scrawl out a few names in slightly messing handwriting. “Yeah, these are all Clyde’s asshole friends… Except for that guy… I dunno who that guy is.” Chris proceeded to fill out full names and occupations. That’s all of them…. Wow, I wonder how much trouble they’re in… What company did they screw over?

This is good. But we've still got one loose, and he could be dangerous. “Thank you very much for your help.” The officer came back, handing her the ID and a sheet of paper. “You're who you say you are, not wanted, things check out. Okay, this yours.” She handed him the ID. “We've got no reason to keep you here- you're free to go.” …you giving us all these names sorta makes up for the fact that you're a dense fucker.

“Of course, Ma’am… Um… Where do I go now?” I hope my boss will understand…

“The door- where else?”

“Um… Don’t I have paperwork to fill out?” ’Cause I wanna stay and see you get up… And follow you, to see that magnificent view…

“The only one around here who'd have to fill out paperwork is me. There's nothing else for you to do here. You can go.” And Lathe can go pound your face in.

“Ah, okay, thank you ma’am, have a wonderful day.” Chris got up from his seat took his ID and the paper and headed for the door looking around to try and figure out where to go. Now what do I do?

Lathe had no sooner tugged his arm from Dave’s grip than he had Chris by the collar, suspending him from the ground by nearly a foot. His eyes bored into Chris’s, fury written into all of his features. “You. Stay the fuck away from my wife.” Lathe punched Chris straight across the face, breaking his nose and dropping him to the floor where he crumpled in a heap. “Learn some damn respect.” Lathe kicked him sharply with his heel, flipping him over onto his back and stormed out of the room. Fuck you, man. That's my fucking waifu.
Chris stayed in a crumpled heap on the floor, looking up to Dave. “Did you see that!? Go get him!”

_He punched me in the face! It hurts!_

“I saw you trip up the stairs, sir… Now I’ll have to escort you out…” Dave reached down to pick him up to his feet, and shoving him forward. _That’s what you get for messing with Spades… Wait… Is she still a Spade? I’m pretty sure it’s Commissioner Quo now… Damn… Now what?_

Chris somehow kept his footing as he was dragged outside by Dave. “Well… That was eventful to say the least.” He went back to his truck, which had been towed to the station and headed back to work. _I got to see a fair maiden…_
Chapter 49: New Beginnings

Fuck, that hurts like a bitch… Lathe rifled through his medical bag with his left hand, his right gingerly holding it open. I probably bruised it. …where’s all my aspirin? Lathe looked for a brand-name aspirin, then another, and then moving on to any generics he could have had. …where are they? Lathe’s brow furrowed. …I think there’s some other stuff missing too… inventory check. Lathe took the bag to the kitchen island and dumped out the contents, lining them up neatly on the counter, many plastic boxes with organised bottles of pills, all lined up by main ingredient and dosage strength in their slots. Except, some bottles were very light, and some missing altogether. …I’m missing nearly all of my aspirin, if the empty bottle counts as anything… the morphine bottle is empty, thankfully it was the lowest dose and only had like four left, I needed to replace it… oh my. The small bottle of hydrocodone is missing. …Fuck. None of this adds up to anything good. Lathe thought for a moment, weighing the empty bottle of aspirin in his hand. “Maisie!” Lathe called up and through the house, soon hearing the click of nails on the floor and the clink of tags, Maisie sitting obediently at his feet in a moment, her tail whacking against the island, expecting to be pet. Lathe scratched behind her ear, offering her the open end of the aspirin bottle he held and letting her sniff it. “Find this, Maisie. Find the aspirin.” Where did all of it go? Lathe followed as Maisie immediately got up and trotted off, following her downstairs and into the theatre room, sifting through a nest Eren had set up on one of the small loveseats they had down there, producing one of the larger bottles of aspirin. …he’s been taking drugs from my bag. “Good Maisie- where else? Find the aspirin for me.” There’s more… Lathe followed Maisie back upstairs and to the art room, seeing her paw at the sliding downstairs storage door. …oh. Lathe slid the door open, seeing the safe was still open, empty, and a box in the far corner was opened, an old wool blanket with a dark brown and tan design left on the floor with a person-shaped space in the middle of it, another aspirin bottle left underneath a corner of it. …now the last of it, the hydrocodone… “Maisie, find pills.” He looked to her, tapping the smallest bottle he had in his hand. “Find.” Please understand. He sighed a bit in relief as she seemed to nod and left, following her one last time upstairs, walking into his bedroom behind her, seeing her poke her head and nudge something inside. …he was here? Lathe went to the closet, his eyes widening a bit. …he is here. Lathe dropped to his knees, worried as he watched Eren peacefully sleep, passed out in the closet with the small bottle of hydrocodone clutched in his hand, Lathe’s oldest and favourite midnight blue sweater a few sizes too big for him hanging loosely off of his figure, more sweaters draped all over him. …fuck. “Eren? Wake up, Hon. Come on, Eren. Can you?” He gently shook Eren’s shoulders, to no response. …okay. “Here we go, kid.” Lathe nudged the other sweaters off of Eren, letting him keep his blue sweater on as he gathered him up into his arms, carrying him to the bed and tucking him in, the quilt pulled up to his chin. He brushed the hair from his face, smiling faintly, worry still visible in his features. …your body is obviously strong, and by that I mean capable of taking all this damage and turning out good as new. …you’ll be okay. …I need to keep my medic bag either on me or hidden now… I can’t just have you taking stuff… if you’re trying it all over again… no. Not again. Lathe left him to be, the lights dim and closing the door quietly, about to finish packing his bag back up and hide it.

Levi came inside the front door, kicking it shut as he brought in two large brown bags full of food. “Eren! Lathe! I’m home!” Levi called, coming into the kitchen and his silvery eyes spotting Lathe after a moment in the kitchen. “Oh you’re down here, do you know where Eren is? Blake’s downstairs, barking at Charlie still…” It’s as if they’ve been talking to each other this whole time…
Lathe nodded, staring into his cup of coffee, a blank sheet of music next to him, his hand on the table with a pencil. “Yeah… Eren’s upstairs, in my room… sleeping off an overdose of hydrocodone…” Lathe’s left hand moved to hold down the sheet of paper as a thought came to him, keeping it in place as he drew a solid line across the top row and every other, curving up and down and simply acting to show the flow of the melody before he wrote down the specific notes. “…he’s been taking pills from my bag, mostly aspirin, but he’s downed entire bottles… Maisie helped me find them, they were in all of his little nests scattered around the house… I… I don’t know how I missed it… The pill bottles I have are all in plastic organisers, I should’ve seen some slots were empty earlier…” I could’ve stopped this earlier...

Levi stood there in shock as Lathe spoke. “He said he was going to take a nap… What the hell happened that he’s sleeping off an overdose?” Levi asked and moved to set the large bags down on the counter. How did that happen? I thought he would be okay for a bit by himself, cause he wore himself out with the puppies. “Is he… Is he alright?” Levi asked worriedly, his lip seeming to quiver a bit.

Lathe shrugged, nodding a bit. “I think he'll be okay… he was passed out when I found him in my closet, he made a nest out of my sweaters again… but… I was gone for a while, wanted to go shopping for groceries because all we had was leftovers… Uhm… when I was there, I right off the bat spotted someone who looked exactly like a man Eren had drawn, called the cops and distracted him and held him up until Dave got there… I followed to watch the questioning, and it turns out this guy was the twin of one of the men… he named almost all of the others involved after he was shown the pictures, except for one. But, it took awhile… I never really got anything to bring home, and I maybe broke the guy's nose after he left the room of interrogation because he was being a serious creep and hitting on Spades and showing no damn respect that she's kinda taken… but that's why I wanted aspirin, for my hand… and then I had none and got worried… and that's what happened.” ...this is what happens when I try to take a day off... “I stashed my bag in the closet down here for right now, I'm going to keep it hidden away upstairs from now on though, but while Eren's up there I'm not taking it up…” Lathe read over the squiggles on the page, the sweet and sad sound clear in his mind, his mood reflecting it as he shifted, laying his head on his arms, his coffee untouched, the piano playing on in his mind. ...is one day where nothing horrible happens and I don't have a heart attack and Eren is more or less okay at least for a little bit too much to ask for…? ...I think I know what to ask for for Christmas, then...

Levi paused for a moment as he took out the groceries. “Where did you find the aspirin bottles?” I don’t understand…. He was always asleep in his nests.

“I said they were stashed in his nests… the empty bottles were hidden in the blankets or between cushions, just sitting there… he was doing more than just chilling or napping…” Lathe didn't care that he was being a bit snippy, his head still on his arms. ...just one fucking day...

Levi opened the fridge, putting the perishables in. “Was he using them to go to sleep? Since we took him off everything? I know when I slept with him the night he cut his arms… He was waking up a lot, and shifting…” I woke up with him but he didn’t seem to notice.

Lathe was quiet for a little while, thinking. “…maybe. We should talk to him when he wakes up, and if he says that's why, we should probably start him on sedatives again.” That would make sense...

Levi nodded. “I think we need to call Casper and talk about him about it. He needs his PTSD meds, and sedatives… And keep him on the anti-depression.” I think that would help, discussing this now.

“Okay, might as well talk to him now and just do it…” Lathe lifted his head from the table, rubbing at his eyes as he pulled out his phone. “M’sorry, today has been a mix of an okay and seriously shit day and I'm just so done with life right now so if I'm snippy you know why…” It's not even three and I'm just so over today already… He had Casper set as one of his speed-dial options, setting the phone on speaker and waiting for him to pick up. Pick up the phone, dammit.

Casper took a few moments to pick up his phone. “Hello!” He picked it up with a cheery voice as he saw who it was. Okay… What did we forget at your house yesterday? I gotta be quiet though, Scotty's still asleep from last night… Or would it be this morning? Eh… Oh well..

Lathe’s expression shifted a bit as he heard Casper’s bright voice. Too cheery… ugh… “Casper, hate to dump this one you, but you're not going to be that happy for too long. I found a little earlier that I was missing a few bottles of aspirin, and one of hydrocodone… Maisie led me around the house and showed me that all the empty aspirin bottles were in Eren's nests around the house, and we found him upstairs sleeping off a hydrocodone overdose… we took him off of his meds for a few days to clear his system, but now it's apparent we have to put him back on something… besides antidepressants, what should we give him? We think he's been overdosing to get to sleep, so sedatives too, and we learned he had cut yesterday too, then… but what else should he be put on again?”…help.

“... So did his PTSD work? Have you tried a higher dosage?” I think he might not be getting enough…. So we might change his two pills to three...

“I haven't thought about that… we should probably do that, it might get rid of his crazy… he'd been having total conversations with the barn animals while he was on that dosage, so we'll see how that all goes… if he starts talking to walls though I'll let you know.” That might be it...

Casper nodded, pulling his feet under him on the couch, holding the phone to his ear. “Okay, that sounds like a plan… And um… If we kinda did it… All night… And Scotty’s still asleep… I shouldn’t be worried… Right?” Casper blushed furiously as he thought about it. But I’m really worried… It’s three already!

“Casper, the first thing is that you’re on speaker and Levi can hear everything you’re saying. Secondly, combine the fact that you were ‘busy’ all night with the fact that Scotty and you were pretty much drunk when you left, add in that Scotty is not one known to be bright-eyed and bushy-tailed when he wakes up after a night of drinking, and the answer equals only worry if he doesn’t wake up by eight. He’s probably fine.” …probably.

Casper blushed even more when he heard that Levi could hear him. “Oh my god.. I’m so sorry Levi… And Uhm, thanks... I think you'll be good with giving him that much… And you should have all that on hand right? Or do you need me to run to the pharmacy?" I need to know if you need it, cause we won’t be going until Monday.

“I’ve got plenty of all of it on hand, though you'll see me Monday anyway for stuff. I'll need to get refills on things, especially aspirin… and some others… but yeah, we’re set for just the weekend. That's all I needed to ask. Don't worry about Scotty until around seven, and call me in a panic at eight if he's dead asleep still. But smack him first either way. Have you tried actually waking him up yet? Smacking normally does the trick.” Believe me- I know.

Casper nodded. “Okay… I will, and I haven’t… Cause he didn’t really fall asleep… Until like… 6 ish… But I woke up around noon…” I'm still worried… “Call me if anything gets worse…”

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Sharon tapped away at the keyboard, a music stream playing in the background as she had a word document, photoshop, and a 3D-animation window pulled up all at once. *It's a good thing this computer can handle everything I force it to... the quiet in the house is good for productivity, but it is kinda lonely when there's nobody around for productivity except a flock of dogs. Even though they all are totally adorable and I love them, they're not great for conversation. And since Hannah has a bigass truck, she can still get to work even with the ton of snow outside. We really got hit hard overnight with snow, it's ridiculous.... wait ... did I eat breakfast? She thought a moment, setting down her drawing pen and tablet. Eh, I could eat. She made a small noise of surprise as she began to stand up, feeling her baby kick a bit. She nervously chuckled, placing a hand over stomach as she got to her feet. “Okay, okay, I'll go get some food. I understand, you're hungry....” She meandered to the kitchen, only making it halfway before she suddenly swayed on her feet, catching the island in the middle of the kitchen for balance, feeling incredibly strange. ...what... She suddenly felt an incredible pain, collapsing to the floor and letting out a loud, pained sound, her hands on her stomach. “Fuck that hurts...” She swore loudly, hearing Rico’s nails click on the floor as he came over to her. Fuck, it's time, isn't it. She let out another loud cry as she felt as if she was kicked hard in the abdomen, suddenly feeling a wetness, her jeans becoming soaked. ...*my water just broke… fuck it's happening. I need an ambulance, something. Sharon fumbled in her pocket, drawing out her phone. Thank god, I never have my phone on me usually. She tried to turn it on, only for a charge screen to light up faintly at her. ...it's fucking dead. She looked around angrily, trying to lean up on one elbow, throwing her phone at the wall phone. It made contact, the phone falling off the hook and clattering to the floor. At least I can throw. “R-Rico, here boy…” She fell back down, reaching up to pet Rico as he came near to her, sniffing at her stomach. She whistled to catch his attention, pointing to the wall phone on the floor. “Fetch.” I need that give me that.

Rico picked his head up at her voice. Human is hurting… Why is human hurting? Rico’s ears perked up a bit, looking over to the phone on the floor before moving to get it and setting it down beside her before moving to sniff at her large abdomen again. Are human’s pups coming? Are they coming now?

“Good boy, Rico…” Sharon let him sniff at her stomach as she picked up the phone, immediately dialling 911 and speaking to the operator. “H-hello, I need an ambulance right away, I’ve just started labour… my address is 413 Maria Avenue… w-when can someone get here?” Sharon tried to bite back a pained sound as she felt another sharp pain.

The man on the other end winced a bit. “Ma’am, we can’t get an ambulance out to your location until the plows get out of the yard and get the ambulances out of where they’re kept.” Shit… It could take hours… “It could be hours ma’am.”

... well fuck. “Do me a favour and as soon as they can get one out, here, send it. Thank you- I'm calling in backup.” She promptly hung up, her heels digging into the floor as she shifted to get a better look at the fridge, the entire thing covered in chalkboard paint, Casper and Scotty’s home number scrawled near the top. Thank fucking god I have that number- he'll know better what to do. Sharon dialled his number, setting the phone on the floor on speaker so she didn't have to hold it, breathing heavily as she waited for someone to pick up. She didn't even wait to know who had picked up before she spoke. “It's Sharon, I'm in labour, and an ambulance might not get here for hours. Do me a favour, call Lathe and tell him to get his ass the hell over here, and while you're at it get Casper to call my wife because I can't remember her cellphone number for shit, and then you and your boyfriend get the fuck over here because I'm in a fuckton of pain and I NEED. HELP. ” I'm not giving birth on this damn floor by myself.

Scotty’s eyes widened. “Casper! Call Lathe!” He shouted and moved hurriedly to run upstairs. “And get dressed! We need to go next door!” He put the phone back against his mouth. “We’ll be over in a few minutes, where are you in the house… And how far along are the contractions?” I need to know cause Lathe is gonna ask…

“I’m in the kitchen on the floor, the contractions started about five minutes ago- fuck, the door’s locked. Uh... okay, when you walk up the front porch, there's that railing on the left between the patio and the garden... near the post on the left, it's hollow. There's a key on a hook underneath. Just please, hurry... fuck, it hurts...” Someone better have something for this damn pain... Sharon hung up after a minute, waiting for what seemed to be a long time in agony. FUCK they said this hurt but this is so much worse than what I thought they meant... my GOD...

Casper lifted his head as he heard Scotty shout, setting aside his laptop from where he sat on the couch. “W-what? Why? What happened?” Casper called back to Scotty, following him as he heard him thud up the stairs. “Scotty, what the fuck is going on? Why do we- oh.” Casper stopped as it suddenly clicked. “- oh. Oh fuck okay, I'm calling Lathe.” He pulled out his phone, calling Lathe and moving to get better dressed. Shit just got real. “Lathe, we have a huge fucking emergency. Sharon just went into labour and an ambulance isn't going to get there anytime soon with the snow. You need to somehow get your ass over here because if we need to deliver her fucking child it should probably be done by someone who knows what the fuck to do.” HELP.

Lathe picked up the phone as he puttered around the kitchen, his cheeky greeting dying in his throat as he heard Casper explain the situation. ... fuck. Spades has the truck with her, how the hell would we get there? I can't walk, I'm too far away... if worse came to worse, we could use a snowblower... but there is a better option... “Hey Eren!” Lathe called into the living room, locating Eren. “Could Charlie make it from here to the old house through the snow with two people and a bag of stuff on him?” Please say yes.

Eren moved off the couch and to the window. “Umm.... Yeah, it looks like he can... It might take a bit but he can make it... Your car... Not so much, why? What did my dumbass brother do now?” He's a fucking idiot sometimes... Did he accidentally chop off a finger?

“Scotty didn't do anything- Sharon just went into labour and if an ambulance can't get there in time, she’ll be giving birth in her house. I'm the only one here who's done it before. So get ready for a long, cold ride, kid- we’re taking Charlie over.” He turned back to the phone. “It might take a bit, but I’m going to get appropriately dressed and head on over with stuff we’ll need- we’ll be there as soon as we can. ...how far along is she? Do you know? How long has it been?” I need to know this.

“It hasn't been more than ten minutes. Hurry- I'm a pharmacist-slash-vet dammit, not a general surgeon who knows how this shit goes down. Run, man! And bring all your medical crap!” Casper hung up, running to get dressed and calling Hannah on the way back down the stairs, assembling a bag of medical things he thought he would need as he held the phone to his ear with his shoulder. Come on, pick up you asshat, your wife is in labour and needs her support system now more than ever. “Hannah, I don't care what you're in the middle of, you need to drop it and get the fuck home now. Sharon went into labour minutes ago and needs help because an ambulance sure as hell ain't getting here soon. She needs you, to keep her calm and talk her through with this- now more than ever. Fuck the cultures- just get here now. ”
Hannah’s eyes widened, dropping the pipet she was holding in shock. “What!? She’s in labour!? For how long? I’m on my way!” Hannah hurriedly moved to pick up everything she had brought out and put the cultures away before moving to the door and rushing down the stairs. “Are you with her now?”

“We will be in about two seconds- and it's only been about ten minutes, not even. Just hurry- and we’ve got Lathe on the way too, so he’ll know more of what to do. But get here quick as you can- you signed up for an important job at the beginning of this. Own up to it. We’ll talk soon- got to go!” Casper hung up, slinging his bag over his shoulder and stepping into a pair of boots, getting his coat on before running out the door behind Scotty, shutting it and practically swimming their way to Sharon’s through the snow, the snow to their waists. He clambered up the steps after him, seeing Scotty tear off a glove and fumble underneath the railing, producing a key and opening the front door, greeted by Spencer. Casper ditched his snowy boots and coat the second he was in the door, shutting it and running to the kitchen, sliding to a halt on his knees next to Sharon, his eyes wide and worried. “Sharon, we’re here, don't worry. Hannah is coming, and Lathe is on his way, he might take a bit, but he’s coming. How are you doing? Deep breaths, Hon. Talk to me.” Casper offered her a hand, which was quickly taken with a vice-like grip. Fuck, I take it not well.

Sharon spoke through gritted teeth, smiling sarcastically, pain obvious in her features. “...just… dandy.” FUCK THIS HURTS. She let out a pained cry as she felt another contraction, her shoulders and heels digging into the floor.

Scotty got out of his snow laden clothes after a few seconds to struggling with them. He followed Spencer to the kitchen where he kneeled down on the other side of Sharon, watching her cry out in pain. Pillows… “Sharon… Where do you guys keep your extra pillows and blankets?” We should support your back during this…

“L-living room, next to the couch in the corner, just take stuff from there…” Sharon breathed heavily, trying to focus on that as Scotty left, looking up as he returned. “W-why…”

Scotty gently lifted her head up, his arm gently snaking down her back and taking a pillow and propping her up off the floor, he put quite a few more under her and then laid her down on them. “Back support… I'm gonna get you some water to drink, we need to keep you hydrated.”

Eren stumbled a little bit, coming down the stairs in layers upon layers of clothing. “Isn’t it early for Sharon’s child to come?” I thought she said 8 months a few days ago?
“Yep!” Lathe called from the closet nearby, having donned snow pants, his boots and a winter jacket, wearing a sweater underneath and wrapping a scarf around his neck, black gloves on his hands. “But when it happens, you just go with it, because there isn't any prolonging it at this point. Her water broke- it's happening, and there ain't no stopping it.” Lathe got Eren to come over to the closet, helping him into his boots and coat, getting a scarf on him and pulling a hat on himself and Eren, getting him earmuffs. “Keep your ears covered with it- we’ll just have to ditch any helmets.”

Oh well. “We’ll need to see- go get Charlie tacked up and ready for the cold. I'll be right back.” Lathe shut the closet and ran to the garage, grabbing his old-fashioned motorcycle goggles and then going to the wall of the garage to snatch a pair of ski goggles he commonly used as safety goggles. Eh, they're better for keeping out wood shavings. ...and perfect for snow. He ran to grab his medic bag from upstairs, running back to the garage on second thought to snatch up two pairs of snowshoes just in case, getting the wool blanket from downstairs and grabbing a second bag to put them in, running across the backyard to the barn. “How's it coming along, Eren?” He made sure he spoke loud enough for Eren to hear him with the earmuffs on. We need to get going the second we can.

Eren was almost done putting Charlie’s tack on, though he was in the middle of tying another set of stirrups in. “I’m almost done!” Eren called back, not looking up, but making sure that he had a place to tie down any bags they had and Charlie’s two blankets for wherever they were going to keep him. Almost ready. “What bags are we taking?” Eren looked up once the stirrups were attached and got the straps at the end of the large saddle ready to hold whatever Lathe had to give him. Let's hope you're not gonna freak out but Charlie’s gonna be almost jumping through this stuff...

“My medic bag, and then this one has a wool blanket and snowshoes for us just in case.” Lathe handed them both to Eren to tie onto Charlie, taking a deep breath to steady himself as Eren helped him clamber up, making sure he had a good hold on Eren as he led Charlie to the door of the barn and into the snow, heaving the door shut behind them from his precarious perch on Charlie. “Okay, that should keep everybody from freezing… I need to call Spades, tell her what’s happening, since we're not gonna beaaAAAAA!”Lathe let out a terrified shout of surprise as Charlie suddenly jumped into the sea of snow, immediately forgetting about trying to call Spades and clinging to Eren, trying to hold on as tight as he could both to him and Charlie. Fuck “Eren, he's jumping, Charlie's jumping, I don't wanna fall off why is he jumping ?!!?” Make it stop this is terrifying!!!111!

Eren turned his head slightly. Why the hell is he screaming now? He asked for it! “So we can get through the fucking snow! It's up to just under his stomach! Put your feet in the damn stirrup and straighten your legs out a little bit.” Eren’s feet were firmly planted in his own stirrups and his legs straightened so that his butt was off of the saddle, giving him ample amount of space to move as Charlie jumped around in the snow, whinnying in happiness as he did so. Charlie's happy.... For some damn reason....

Lathe realised that Eren was off of the saddle and moving with Charlie, kicking his feet into the stirrups and and straightening his legs, still holding onto Eren for balance and letting out another shrill yelp as Charlie jumped again. I thought when I bought Charlie I signed up for a horse not a fucking kangaroo. Lathe struggled to keep his balance as they jumped to Maria Avenue, soon able to keep in his sounds of distress and focus on moving with Charlie, still terrified of the animal under him, yet slowly becoming more and more able to keep his balance independently. ...it's getting kinda easier the more you do it... but I'm no jockey... I'm fucking exhausted... Lathe sighed in relief as they made it into the driveway after nearly fifteen minutes, though he let out a surprised sound as Charlie suddenly stopped jumping, having moved as if Charlie would jump again. He ended up flying from the saddle and collapsing into the two and a half feet of snow below, the sparkling snow collapsing on top of him and leaving nothing but white. ...well fuck. Which way is up again?

Eren looked around as he heard a soft umph. “Dad?” Where the fuck did you go? Eren swung his leg over Charlie as he pranced around, itching to jump around in the snow more. He hopped down and landed right on top of Lathe, letting out a yelp of surprise and hurriedly stepping off of him. “Oh my god… Dad!” Eren looked down to the man buried in snow with worry. His hair is completely white. “You look like an old man.”

Lathe just glared playfully at him, standing up and shaking his head with mock indignance. “Well then, I think the white hair is rather becoming on me.” He flipped his hair, scattering the snow. “Eren, go see if the gate in the back is unlocked, and if it is, get Charlie back there. We need to keep him contained.”

Eren nodded, taking Charlie with him and letting him out into the backyard. Yeah, go play in the snow. Eren took his gear off before following Lathe back up the front steps and into the warmth of the house, setting the gear near the front. I put the blanket on him, and Lathe took the bags from me. Eren cringed as he heard another scream of pain come from the kitchen, followed by frantic swearing.

Lathe dumped his coat, snow pants and boots by the door, running with his medic bag to the kitchen and stopping next to Sharon, switching into doctor mode. “I'm here, Sharon, don't you worry. We’ll take good care of you. Just breathe.” He rifled through his bag, knowing already what the situation was, but turning to Sharon after a moment. “I don't have anything to make the pain stop- morphine would only make it worse, and I'm no anaesthesiologist… I can't really do anything for that… I'm sorry Sharon. We'll try and have this over safely and as soon as possible.”

Sharon gritted her teeth, a resigned look on her face. “So what you're telling me… is that I'm giving birth on this kitchen floor without anaesthetic?” She let out a grim chuckle as Lathe nodded. “Just my damn luck. As long as we both come out of this in one piece. I'm trusting you. Oh, and before I forget-” She looked up to Scotty and Casper, gripped their hands tightly as they knelt on either side of her. “Hannah and I wanted to ask you two to be the Godparents- Casper as the Godmother, of course.” Might as well tell you now before I pass out from exhaustion, from pain, or blood loss. Any.
Casper’s eyes went wide. ...you're asking us? They dysfunctional sort-of family? What the hell are you thinking? ...might as well give it a shot. Casper placed his free hand over his heart, looking into the distance and speaking, trying to defuse some of the tension in the room. “I've always wanted someone to call me Mom…”

Scotty looked at Sharon in surprise. What!?... When the fuck did I sign up for that shit? Am I going to be responsible for a child? Casper what the fuck did you get me into!? Scotty could do nothing more than stare blankly at the conversation going around him. What do I do?... Casper’s always wanted to be a mom? What the fuck Casper... You’ve never said a damn thing to me about this.

Sharon looked up to Scotty, wincing as she laughed faintly. “If you need a minute to process that, just let me know if you're onboard before the day’s over. It’s kinda a decision we need to make.” She breathed deeply, suddenly letting out a loud swear as another contraction started, here back arched a bit. “Fuck... Lathe I hope you know what the fuck you're doing… and you'd better promise me damn good drugs by the time this is all over.” Paaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaiiin....

Eren watched in worry as Sharon started to swear like a sailor as he stood in the room opposite the kitchen. She’s giving birth.... What’s happening....? Why is she swearing... Does it hurt? Eren seemed to cower a bit as Sharon really started to scream and yell. Is she mad at me? Eren hid behind the wall, his head peaking out from behind the doorway, his eyes wide with concern.

Sharon looked over to the doorway, seeing Eren peeking out from behind the wall, trying to speak clearly, her expression softening as much as it could in her pain. “Eren... I-it's fine, I'm just.... In a lot... a lot of pain.... d-don't worry, it's okay.... P-please excuse the swearing...” She dropped her head again as more pain tore through her, cursing sharply. “Fuck, this shit hurts...”

Casper looked up as Sharon addressed Scotty, realising he had a shell-shocked expression, his eyes widening. ...we never discussed kids. Ever. “Scotty, don't panic, we can talk about this all later, okay? Let's just focus on making sure this goes smoothly for now.” Casper reached around to grab Scotty’s other hand, squeezing it tightly. We obviously need to have that talk today.

...you can't exactly be completely dressed for this, you sound like it's happening very soon. Lathe looked over his shoulder, addressing Eren. “Eren, go play with Spencer and the pups.” This isn't gonna be pretty. Lathe stood, going to the kitchen sink and washing his hands, wringing his hands and drying them with a clean dish towel, going back to Sharon. “I know this isn't ideal, but you're gonna have to do your best to work with it, okay? We’ll talk you through this.” ... It'll be okay.

Sharon nodded, shifting her mindset and preparing for long hours of labour. She had Casper and Scotty in a death grip for more than four hours as her cervix dilated, panting and focusing on her breathing with every contraction. They were just at the four and a half hour mark when she felt the urge to push, looking to Lathe with slightly panicked eyes and telling him. When he nodded and moved to monitor everything, telling her to push when she felt she needed to, she nodded, taking in deep breaths and pushing hard when she felt the urge to. Lathe occasionally told her to fight the urge, give her more time to stretch, though it wasn't much more than an hour before Lathe was handing her her baby, washed gently with warm water and wrapped in a small, warm blanket.

“Congratulations, Sharon… it’s a boy.” Lathe smiled as he handed her the baby, a wondering, adoring look obvious in her eyes.

...you're gonna be a great Mom. “What were you and Hannah thinking of for names?”

Sharon just silently stared at her baby, who stared right back at her with eyes as blue as the sky, squirming gently in her arms. “...he looks like a bruised potato.” Well, birth isn't exactly a comfortable thing. She smiled faintly, pecking his forehead. “But he's my bruised potato.” She looked up to Lathe, shrugging one shoulder. “Hannah and I had agreed that if they were a boy, she would name them. I don't know yet what his name is…” She looked back to him, pecking his forehead again, a finger brushing over the wisp of hair on his head. “...but he's mine. ...oh my god, I'm a Mom.” She laughed airily, not believing it. “...I'm actually a Mom now. ...what the heck... I get to do Mom things now, like feed him and then soon enough I'll be making lunches and driving him to hockey practice… but for now, all I have to do is hold you.” She beamed tiredly, pecking his temple and his nose. “I'm going to be the best mom I can be for you, ya hear?” She murmured to her son, relaxing and soon feeling the exhaustion of her entire body, her hold on her son slipping. “Oh no, uhm, someone take him, I somehow don't even have the physical energy to hold him anymore. Yeesh, I'm too tired to do the first job I'm given…” Help I don't wanna drop him! Sharon smiled as Eren suddenly stepped out from hiding behind the wall, going to carefully pick up the baby and gently cradle him in his blanket. “...someone take a picture of that, it's too cute.”

Eren looked down at the bright-eyed baby in his arms. He's fat.... And pudgy... But his eyes are like ice.... He's not crying either... is he okay? Eren sat down with the small child in his arms, cradling him, the two simply seeming to have a staring contest. What do I call him? Does he have a name?

Lathe smiled at the sight, doing as Sharon said and sneaking a picture of the adorable scene before returning his attention to her. “You're not completely done- though it's obviously gonna be much easier from here on in. You still need to deliver the placenta, then we’ll get you cleaned up and relaxed until the ambulance shows up. That sound okay?” He nodded as she murmured assent, the next hour passing rather uneventfully, the kitchen soon cleaned up and Sharon having been very carefully moved from the floor to the couch wearing a comfortable robe, finally feeling a bit more able to hold her son, letting him suckle as they waited for the ambulance. It finally came down the street, following a snowplow as it cleared Maria Avenue. She was brought out to the ambulance, everybody following her inside to go to the hospital, Charlie still gallivanting in the backyard.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~
Oh my god, it’s as bad as Buffalo… Holy crap! It took me three hours to shovel my car out of the snow! And then I could barely get out of the fucking parking lot! Sharon! I’m coming!” Hannah finally got home about half an hour later, pulling into the driveway, and hurriedly hoping out of the car. She came in right away, looking around in confusion to an empty house. What the hell? “Rico!” Hannah yelled out, hearing the patter of paws on the hardwood floor. “Rico, where’s Mum?” She asked him quietly and he whimpered and ran to the window, looking around for the car. She left? Where is she? Hannah went to the kitchen, looking outside as she heard a whinny. What… The… Fuck… She looked out the window, seeing Charlie running around backyard. Okay.. So I see that my wife has been abducted to the hospital… And Charlie is running around my backyard. She sighed, picking up his gear and going out to get her car. She got his bridle on him and got into her truck, she rolled the window down, pulling Charlie up to the side of her truck. Come on, taking you home… Hannah drove Charlie home, him walking on the outside of the truck. She got him settled into his stall, dropping off his tack and then getting back into her truck, she rushed to the hospital. I swear I hope he was born alright, and I hope you’re okay. She rushed into the hospital not a few minutes later, sighing in relief as she came across Eren sitting near the door of Sharon’s room, the baby in his arms. His small fists waved around, burbling as Eren smiled softly. Holy crap, that’s adorable… “Eren? Eren, can I have my son?” I really want to hold him.

Eren looked up from the child as Hannah spoke. I don’t wanna let go though, I wanna hold him… I want one… Eren looked down a bit as he gently shifted the baby and held him out to Hannah, who took him, gently holding him and walking into the room. Eren got up and followed her, going towards Lathe and moving to hide a bit in his shoulder. I want one…

Sharon looked up, smiling sleepily and cheekily as she saw Hannah come in holding their son, her voice soft. “Nice of you to show up, Hon. -Hey, ‘m kidding. It’s as bad as Buffalo out there. You’re here now.” She held out a hand to their son as Hannah came up and sat on the edge of the bed, a tiny hand grabbing her finger tightly, burbling happily. “…and I’m glad you’re here, and that he’s okay. I’m never going to be able to look at that kitchen the same way again. …now, we agreed. What’s his name?” That’s your call.

Hannah smiled softly, moving to sit down on the edge of the hospital bed. “His name is Maverick Kegan Laskowski.” He’s here… He’s really in my arms. Oh no… What happens if I’m not good enough? What happens if he comes out hating me? What if he doesn’t love me? A bunch of thoughts ran through her head as she held his small body.

Eren watched as Hannah sat down near Sharon with Maverick in her arms. What do I tell Levi? Does he even want one yet? He’s so soft… And fat… He’s cute… Eren gently tugged at Lathe’s sleeve, peering over his shoulder at the display in front of him. Would they be mad if I want one too?

Lathe smiled warmly at the scene in front of them, looking to Eren as he tugged at his sleeve. “What’s up, kid?” His voice was soft and warm. Today has been very eventful… …oh wait. We never called Spades. …crap, we need to do that in a minute.
Eren looked up to Lathe with large eyes, pondering everything around him. “Home… Charlie?” He asked quietly, moving to huddle close to Lathe as he shivered a bit. It's cold… And I think Charlie would be cold too…

Lathe nodded, wrapping his arm around Eren and keeping him close, picking up the second bag he had brought with him to the house and then dragged into the ambulance, taking out the wool blanket. Thank god there was room enough for everyone and then stuff… He wrapped it around the both of them, keeping Eren close as he rifled for his phone. “Here, let me call Spades and see if she can come retrieve us. She should be out of work by now…” Lathe looked up to Hannah after a second of thought. “Hey Hannah, you went back to the house before coming here, right? Did you see Charlie in the backyard?”

Hannah nodded. “Yeah, he’s back at your house, I walked him beside the truck, so he’s back home and safe.” I took care of that… Shit, should I have come here first? Is Sharon mad at me? That I took care of a horse before I came here to see her? Hannah froze for a moment, looking down at Maverick as he gurgled. Don’t be mad at me…

Sharon smiled. “Good- he’d been prancing around the backyard for hours. Can’t have him freeze outside.” She easily caught Hannah’s conflicted train of thought, struggling to sit up somewhat and leaning on an elbow, reaching her shoulder and rubbing it soothingly, her voice quiet. “Hey, what’re you beating yourself up about now? Charlie’s now home and warm, and you’re now here with us. And you picked a very nice name- I appreciate that his first name is one of my favorite words.” She lightly chuckled, her eyes tired yet bright. “Hey Hannah, guess what.” She gently booped her nose, a pink dusting over her cheeks. “Maverick and I love you. And you’re gonna be a great mom. I’m sure of it.” We do. And you will be.

Hannah blushed softly, a small smile creeping across her face. She nodded, a finger gently running over Maverick’s cheeks. He’s cute… I wonder how long we’re gonna have to stay here… Cause he was born early… But he seems perfectly healthy.

Eren looked up to Lathe, tugging on his sleeve again. I wanna go home… I wanna tell Levi… I want one. He had large pondering eyes as he stared at Lathe intensely, hoping to get a reaction from him.

Lathe quirked an eye at Eren, seeing the pondering look in his eyes. “What’re you cooking up?” He’s got that same look he’s had all day, holding Maverick. …are you… “I’m going to call Spades and have her come to get all of us- and you and Levi are going to have to really talk and think about it.” Lathe murmured the last bit in Eren’s ear, speed dialling Spades and holding the phone to his ear. “Hey Spades! Busy day, we’ll be able to explain in a bit. Are you free to pick Eren, Casper, Scotty and I up from the hospital?”
Spades’ eyes flew open at the statement coming from him. Pick up from the hospital. “Yeah, I'll be there in a few minutes. You’ll have to squeeze since I have the truck.” Doesn’t have much of a cabin…. And I’m not even gonna fucking ask what the hell happened…

“Thanks hon! We’ll explain what happened when you get here. Love you, tell Levi we said hi!” Lathe soon hung up, looking to Eren. “Alright kid, you don't have to wait too long, she'll be here soon.” He looked over to Scotty and Casper. “That includes you two- Spades is coming with the truck. We'll get you home.”

Sharon looked between all of them as they nodded, settling back down as she grew tired of keeping herself propped up. “All of you- thank you so much for everything you've done. I owe you four a million. I don't want to think about what would’ve happened if I was alone…” She shook her head at the thought, looking over to Scotty and Casper, seeing Scotty was still in a bit of a daze, thinking. Her voice softened immensely as she spoke. “You two do some serious thinking and talking about it, okay? We’d really like to know soon.” I hope you’re okay with it, Scotty- Casper seems all over the idea. You…. not so much. She looked back to Hannah as Maverick started to make small sounds that didn't seem as happy, his tiny arms flailing a bit. She chuckled, reaching for him. “Let me guess- he’s hungry.” …you are too adorable for my mortal heart to handle.

Casper nodded at her statement, looking to Scotty with a worried expression, who hadn't responded to her at all. …this whole thing has really thrown you for a loop, hasn't it... we really need to talk, then... I eventually want kids... and if you're dead set against them... ...that could end up being a deal breaker… Casper gingerly moved to lace their fingers, squeezing Scotty’s hand…. it won't come to that... we’ll work this out... he just wasn’t expecting it to be dropped on him so suddenly... that must be it... ...please, let that be it...

Hannah smiled softly, giving Maverick over to Sharon, moving to hug all of them. “Thank you… Really, thank you a lot.” I don’t know what would’ve happened if Sharon had to give birth by herself.

Eren giggled as he was hugged before moving to hide behind Lathe again, swaddled in a blanket. I wanna go home!

Scotty looked up a bit when Casper squeezed his hand, his eyebrows raised a bit, before he looked back down at his feet. I have no idea what to think about this. I mean... Casper hasn’t even mentioned kids... And I know he always knew he would adopt... But... That’s a big responsibility, a kid...

Lathe hugged Hannah warmly, beaming. “Of course- I'm just glad everything went as well as it did.” No real complications. ...as long as you don't count giving birth on a kitchen floor as a thing that makes the process more complex. He looked to his phone after a moment, Spades having texted him. “Spades is here- I’ve got to get these two and my popsicle of a son home. Sharon, take it easy and feel better. Hannah, don't worry too much. I know you do that. And Maverick-” Lathe grinned. “...keep being adorable. We’ll see you.” With a wave, Lathe left the room with Eren, Casper and Scotty not too far behind. He led them down to the parking lot, sliding into the passenger seat of the truck he found waiting for them, pecking Spades’ cheek as he clambered up inside, his bag nestled at his feet. “So, big news- Sharon had her baby! The short version of the story is that she was a month early, and because of the snow an ambulance couldn't get to her house, and she called Casper and Scotty who called me and to abbreviate things I ended up delivering him on her kitchen floor after Eren and I rode there on Charlie. His name’s Maverick, by the way. Total cutie. In Sharon’s words, he did kinda look like a bruised potato. But he’s an adorable bruised potato. She’s doing okay even though she didn't have anaesthesia at all during the whole thing; everything went very smoothly. Hannah was snowed in at work, that's why she wasn't there until we’d already made it here. ...so yeah, that was a thing. How was your day?” ...that all just happened. Okay then. Apparently so.

Spades was quiet as she took everything in that Lathe had just rattled off, making sure everyone was squashed in before she started the truck. Okay… Well congrats to them, I hope they're doing alright. Spades pulled out of the parking lot, driving carefully to their old house to drop off Casper and Scotty. “Alright, out of the car yeh hooligans.” Eren’s curled up to Lathe still… I wonder what happened? “My day was pretty good… Had to help shovel the plows out today… That was fun.”

Lathe held Eren close in his lap, chuckling a bit at the way Spades kicked Casper and Scotty out of the truck. “It was freezing today- and I understand the struggle. Literally Charlie had to leap over the snow in order to get anywhere. ...oh, that's a thing we have to do. Feed the animals. That's kinda important.” ...that kid was too cute… ......I want one...... Lathe had a faraway look in his eyes, carding a hand through Eren’s hair absentmindedly.
Chapter 50: Progress Part 2

Lathe heard Eren’s teeth chattering, reaching over to turn the heat in the cabin all the way up, tugging the wool blanket closer around him. “My god, you're freezing. How are you so cold?” We were inside for hours after we got off of Charlie. Were you outside the whole time? “Were you with Charlie for a while outside?” That would explain it...

Eren nodded, showing his cold hands. “I b-built a fort.” I'm cold… My fingers…. I can’t feel them. Eren’s fingers had almost started to turn purple, his hands shaking. I hid inside with Charlie.

“Well damn. I wasn't paying attention. I was kinda occupied with Sharon giving birth. My god you're freezing…” Lathe held Eren’s hands, trying to bring warmth back into them. “The first thing we’re doing when we get home is everything we can to warm you up.” They were soon home, Lathe carrying a frozen Eren up to the front door, the blanket he was wrapped in becoming damp. ...his snow pants must be soaked… how did I miss that?

Eren shivered as he was brought outside, his teeth beginning to chatter as the cold wind whipped him in the face. “D-Dad…I-I’m cold…” I’m really cold… Eren coughed a bit, curling into the small amount of heat that Lathe’s body was giving off.

Spades parked the car, concerned as Lathe rushed towards the door. “Lathe? Is Eren okay!?” He can’t be with how fast you're trying to get in the house.

Lathe kept Eren balanced on his hip as he unlocked the door, quickly getting Eren inside. “He’s nearly hypothermic!” He called back to Spades, rushing Eren inside and kicking off his boots, setting him on the couch for just a second as he ran off to the basement, going over to a metal box affixed to the wall and opening it, turning a dial. Might as well- you'll need it. Lathe came back upstairs, going over to Eren for just a minute, brushing the hair from his eyes and layering more blankets over him. “Ten minutes, Eren. In ten minutes we’ll be able to warm you right up, okay?” He pecked his forehead and went to the kitchen, getting things out for soup as the ten minutes passed, soon retrieving Eren and carrying him blanketless out the back door, across the patio. He set Eren down on a wood bench, taking the cover off of a hot tub, steam curling up from the water. He set it aside, going to gather up Eren. “Work with me, kid. You'll thank me for this.” He set Eren into the tub quickly, holding him down by his shoulders in the hot water.

Eren had continued to shiver in his thoroughly soaked apparel, barely caring that Lathe had picked him up. His eyes widened as the searing pain of sudden heat surrounded him, letting out a loud screech. “Let me go! It hurts!” Eren cried out, struggling against Lathe’s hold. It feels like fire! NO!
I wanna get out! It hurts! It hurts! Let me go! I don’t want it to happen again!

Lathe kept a firm hold on Eren, wincing at his pained screech. “Eren, I know it hurts but give it a minute, please, you'll feel a hell of a lot better soon. Promise, just calm down, and give it a chance!” Stop fighting it- you need to be warmed up somehow.

Eren cried out in utter pain, shock setting in and the added weight from the water settling into his clothes causing him to stop his frantic fighting to get out of the hot tub. It... it burns.... My hands burn... so do my toes... it hurts.... Eren had tears quickly rolling down his cheeks. “Daddy… it hurts…” He whined, turning his head to look up to Lathe. It hurts... let me go.

Lathe let go of Eren’s shoulders as he stopped fighting, laying down on his stomach near the edge of the hot tub and reaching to wipe at Eren’s tears. “It’s okay Hon, I know it hurts, but you can't be a popsicle forever. We need to warm you up, and this is one of the best ways to do that. Please, you'll feel worlds better in just a minute. I swear.” Three minutes. Tops.

Eren whimpered a bit as he was touched with warm hands, his whole head icy still, though starting to warm up. “It’s... It’s warm...” Eren murmured, feeling like his body was made of lead. I feel so heavy.... But I don’t want to move either.... It’s warm...

Lathe smiled faintly. It's working. Lathe dipped a hand into the water, running it through Eren’s cold locks. “You'll be all warmed up soon- I'm going to be inside making soup for dinner. Don't worry- I'll send out a lifeguard.” Lathe winked mischievously, standing up after a minute and going back inside. He saw Levi at the counter, moving as if to get more tea. “Hey Levi, here's the thing.
So, Eren was outside a lot today and pretty much became a popsicle, so now he's in the hot tub. He kinda needs a lifeguard, so-” Lathe blushed as it seemed Levi had immediately stripped to his boxers, his clothes now piled on a stool. Lathe just covered his face with a hand, pointing out the door. “To the right on the patio, can't miss it...” He just shook his head as Levi padded to the door, going to continue making soup. ....my god... you two are both equally nuts...

Levi padded quickly across the shovelled patio, slipping into the hot tub next to Eren, sighing quietly at the hot water, soon relaxing into it. He looked over to Eren and smirked faintly, shifting a bit closer to him. He reached out to toy with Eren’s long hair, suddenly realising how cold his head still was. “Yeesh, you're still freezing. Here.” Levi shifted over a bit, bringing up handfuls of water and pouring them over Eren’s head, gently massaging his head. You're so cold up there still.

Eren whimpered a bit at the sudden rush of warmth before he leaned into the touch of Levi’s gentle fingers. Fuck... I never really realized what muscle he has.... That he has the ability to rip me apart, yet he’s gentle as all fuck with me. Eren moved a bit closer, trying to get closer to the body heat, still surrounded by only lukewarm soaked clothing.

Levi soon felt Eren’s soaked snow pants brush his leg, noticeably cooler than the water. “Your clothes are still really cold- I think we need to get you out of them… okay?” He gently tugged at the zipper of Eren’s snow pants as he nodded, helping him out of his clothes and heaving them onto the patio until Eren was similarly left in just his boxers, Levi going back to massaging his head. ...why am I not allowed to kiss you…? I mean, I know why… but it's not fair… Levi sighed quietly, deciding to push it a little bit and shifting to put Eren in his lap facing him, his warm hands still tangled in his long hair. ...please don't freak out or be mad...

Eren looked down to Levi as he was shifted, a slight blush forming across his cheeks. Holy fuck… Thank the lord for my meds… and his glorious body. Holy shit…. I…. I… fuck it… I’m going to enjoy myself. Eren leaned down slowly, his lips barely pressing against Levi’s, testing the waters as he closed his eyes. I hope you won’t be too rough.

Levi’s eyes widened as Eren leaned down and kissed him, his eyes soon sliding shut and kissing him back, his hands still tangled in his hair. ...don't fuck it up, Levi. Levi kissed Eren back slowly, after a short while letting his tongue brush Eren’s lips, soon then retreating. ...fuck, I don't know how far you'll let me take this, I don't want to mess everything up.... A hand drifted from Eren’s hair down his back and side gently to rest on his hip, pulling him a bit closer.

Eren kept his head down, letting out a soft sigh as Levi’s hand ran down his side, feeling an electrified twinge as he was touched. Fuck…. I missed this sooo fucking much. Eren moved down to kiss him, his mouth open and waiting for Levi. If you’ll be gentle, you can do it. I don’t mind at all.

Levi took the cue to slowly press his tongue forward, exploring Eren’s mouth and tangling their tongues together, sighing into his mouth. ...fuck I've missed being able to do this... Levi’s other hand moved from his hair to his back, pulling him flush against his chest, shivering a bit as Eren’s hand tentatively reached up to tangle in his hair and play with his undercut. ...I missed you... Levi felt a pulse run through him as Eren made a small sound into the kiss after a while, breaking their lip lock and looking to him, his gaze serious, his thumb lightly brushing the hem of Eren’s boxers. “Eren… how far are you going to let me take this? I don't want to overstep anything…” I don't want this to end up with a huge setback...

... You don’t want to push it... that’s good. “I’ll…. I’ll let you do it… but you need to promise me something…” I really want a kid... and I know this is a backhanded way into getting one... but I want to hold a little cute monster again.
Levi looked to him with soft eyes, his voice warm. “Mmm? What do you need me to promise?” Levi’s hands ran soothingly over his side. Anything.

Eren took a deep breath, burying his face into Levi’s shoulder as he spoke up. “Can we…. Can we have a kid?” Eren asked his voice quiet, but loud enough for Levi to hear. I want someone to hold onto... cause I know you’re going to leave me....

Levi was quiet for a little while, simply holding Eren, lost in thought. A kid? Already? ...but I haven’t even proposed yet... but, at the same time... I have always wanted a family. ...it doesn't have to be this exact instant... ...and I already know I want to spend forever with you... Levi tilted his head, kissing Eren’s neck lightly, murmuring. “...I think that's a wonderful idea.” A teeny human... Levi faintly smiled against Eren’s skin. ...I approve. Levi kissed and gently nipped at Eren’s neck, moving to the joint of his neck, his hands playing with the hem of his boxers.

Eren made a bunch of small groans and gasps as Levi’s gentle hands ran over his sensitive skin. It feels so weird... but I like it.... I haven’t been touched in a long time... Eren moved a bit so that Levi’s thumb caught in the hem, tugging them down a bit. Come on, I know you want it too.

Levi quietly moaned as Eren began to make small sounds in his ear, humming against his skin and taking Eren’s cue, slowly dragging down his boxers from his hips, discarding them and letting his hands drift back to his hips, one hand holding his ass, the other trailing across his leg to his length, tentatively grasping his length and slowly pumping it. I'll be gentle, don't worry...

Eren shivered as he felt Levi’s hands move across his skin. His hands are warm... holy fuck... he’s touching me... what do I do? Eren took in a deep breath, letting out a heavy sigh as Levi continued to gently stroke him, his face lifting a bit as the pleasure set in. Fuck it feels good... We haven’t done this in over a year.... Fuck.... I haven’t done this in almost a year.... Fuck I want more...

Levi let his hand drift up from Eren’s ass, taking gentle hold of one of his wrists and placing it on his shoulder, murmuring in his ear. “You can touch too…” It's okay. Levi stroked Eren’s length firmly, his thumb running over the slit and continuing to kiss down to the joint of his neck, attacking with licks and nips. ....no marks. ...well, maybe a teeny one... Levi suckled gently on his skin, leaving a small dark mark. ...okay, that's it. He felt his own length beginning to harden as Eren panted in his ear, his eyes shaded. Fuck... it's been too long...

Eren nodded, his breathing becoming slightly heavy as he was touched more. His fingers warily found the hem of Levi’s boxers, tugging them down and off, leaving them somewhere in the water. He gently touched Levi’s hardening length, letting out a small gasp as his fingertips brushed against the warm organ. “F-fuck.... Levi... ” Eren shuddered as Levi’s thumb ran over his sensitive slit, his legs widening a bit, giving him better access. I really want this....
Levi hardened at Eren’s voice and at his touch, his eyes shades darker as he pulled back to look at Eren, smirking faintly at Eren’s pleasures expression, his cheeks scarlet. You look so damn perfect. Levi slowly shifted Eren closer, his hand dipping underneath him to gently prod at his entrance, pushing past the ring of muscle as he gauged Eren’s reaction. I don’t want to hurt you… I need to prepare you for this.

Eren shifted a bit, a little uncomfortable with the feeling of being opened after so long, but quickly becoming accustomed to it. His eyes were shaded as his hands continued to stroke Levi’s twitching length. “L-levi…. Hmmm…. More…” He moved his hips a bit to get more of Levi’s fingers inside of him. I want you to feel good too…. His hand timidly wrapped around his length tighter, squeezing gently as he stroked him.

Levi quietly moaned, his hips rising a bit subconsciously into Eren’s touch. Please… Levi soon added a second finger, feeling up Eren’s walls and curling, scissoring him to open him up. He kissed at Eren’s neck, trying to get him to relax as it soon became three, slowly thrusting in and out of him. I want you to feel good…

Eren let out a soft whimper as he was stretched farther than he had been in a long time, but the pain that he felt was quickly overridden. It feels… it feels good… I feel full… Eren soon started to move against the three fingers within him. “L-levi…. Mmmm…. M-more…”

Levi smirked, his eyes glinting a bit as he drew his hand from Eren, his hands going to lift him up, squeezing his ass a bit as he lined him up, his tip at his entrance. He slowly pulled Eren down and onto his length, moaning as he was sheathed inside of Eren, the pressure on his length threatening to overwhelm him. Holy fuck I’ve missed this… Levi stilled as their hips met, his head resting in the crook of Eren’s neck. “T-tell me when I can move…” You probably need to adjust…

His breathing was hard, and his eyes were wide, his nails starting to dig into Levi’s shoulders as he was penetrated. “Holy fuck… Levi… shit…” His voice was loud at first, pain quickly setting in as he was stretched before it quieted. It stings… He’s so big… Eren held onto Levi tightly. “Not yet… don’t move…” It fucking hurts…

Levi nodded, nibbling at Eren’s neck and shoulder as he waited, keeping himself from shifting for a short while. After a little he held Eren’s hips, grinding gently up into him, murmuring. “Can I move?” Please?

Eren took in a deep breath, nodding as he tried to weakly lift himself on Levi’s length. He dropped back down on it with a soft whimper. It still burns… but it’s a good burn… Eren’s arms were wrapped around Levi’s shoulders, his legs shaking like leaves as he could barely control himself.
Levi’s hands cupped Eren’s ass, lifting him up on his length and pulling him back down, moaning at the delicious friction. He somehow controlled himself and kept the pace steady but slow; at least, until Eren began to moan in his ear. He picked up the pace a bit, panting heavily as he thrusted deeply into Eren. ...mine.

Eren cried out in bliss when Levi found his prostate, his toes curling in the warm water. His hair still chilled from the outside chill, though the steam from the hot tub helped to ease the bite from the windchill. “L-Levi… h-harder…” Eren moaned out as his arms tightened around Levi’s shoulders, feeling his large hands rest on his thin hips. I’m gonna have bruises tomorrow.

Levi switched their positions, Eren sitting on the bench as Levi got on even footing, holding him tight as he pounded into him, moaning into his shoulder. “Y-you feel really really good… you're so tight…” I love it. Levi suckled on Eren’s neck a bit lower, leaving a dark mark. Yours. Mine. Anything. He tried not to grip too tight, but he couldn't help it, his hold on Eren’s hips strong.

Eren gasped in shock as Levi flipped their positions. “Ha….. Levi… R-right there…. Ngh…” Eren shuddered as he felt the increasing warmth beginning to pool in his stomach and the feeling of being stretched increasing tenfold as he closed around Levi’s length. “Levi… I… ngh…” I can’t hold it… I wanna come…. Eren let his chin touch the water, trying not to freak out that he was so close to the water. I don’t wanna go under…

Levi brought his head up, kissing Eren fervently as he rammed into him, tilting Eren’s head back from his point above him as he tangled their tongues. He felt his own coil beginning to tighten, whimpering as Eren began to clamp down on his length. “E-Eren, I can’t… m-much longer…” Levi gasped as Eren suddenly clamped down tightly on his length, moaning into his ear, letting out a pleased groan as his coil finally snapped, still pounding into Eren as he came. Fuck… so good...

Eren’s cries rang out as he came into the warm water, the friction becoming too much between the two of them, his head falling slack as he passed out from the exertion of having sex. His body became limp, and his hair now finding the warm water, his face finally becoming warm from his close proximity to the water. Warm….

Aaaand he’s out. Levi withdrew from Eren, finding his boxers and tugging them on, getting Eren’s on him as well while keeping his head above the level of the water. He picked him up, cradling him in his arms as he stepped from the hot tub, scurrying quickly to the backdoor and into the house in two seconds flat. Fuck it's cold as balls out there… Levi kept Eren pressed to his chest, wiping his wet feet off on the carpet so he wouldn't slip and he began to move to the staircase, nearly jumping out of his skin as Lathe appeared seemingly from nowhere, looking between Eren passed out in his arms and him, his expression neutral.
“Where you running off to, Levi? Something… happen?” Lathe nodded to Eren, smirking a bit as Levi sputtered for a second. “I’m just messing with you. I can see the mark. Now get upstairs, dried off, and in warm clothes. Both of you. Soup will be ready in about an hour.” With that, he turned to go back to the kitchen, a pot with vegetables sizzling on the stove and bowls of more vegetables closeby.

Levi blushed, nodding and walking past him, getting Eren upstairs. He snatched a towel from the closet, getting them both out of their boxers and hanging them to dry, drying them off and getting into a tank top and sweatpants before dressing Eren warmly, getting him into a pair of sweatpants and thinking as he looked for a sweatshirt. …you know… Levi disappeared down the hall for a moment before reappearing, getting Eren into Lathe’s midnight blue sweater. …it seems to be his favourite. …and he looks hella adorable in it.

Eren laid there limply on his bed, moving a little in his sleep, murmuring soft incoherent ramblings. Warm…. It feels nice… I wanna stay here…. Eren’s fingers twitched sporadically, a side effect to his increased PTSD medication. I feel like I’m floating…. Why do I feel like I’m floating? Eren tossed his head to the side a bit as the rest of his body twitched and jerked. …Uhm, that’s a very vivid dream you’re having there… Levi slid into bed next to him, worried as he gently wrapped his arms around Eren, moving him so he lay on his chest, his hands resting on his back. …I kinda want to nap until dinner… though this is kinda disconcerting… side effect of the drug increase? Maybe? …he should be okay. …I think.

Eren’s body continued to twitch and jerk until his muscles seemed to lock in place, his whole body beginning to shake, his head lifting up and back arching down into the bed as he began to seize. Blake’s barks alerted to something wrong as he raced up the stairs, sliding into the room and jumping up on the bed with the two of them. Human is seizing…. Human smells weird… something’s wrong…

Fuck. “Oh no, Uhm…” Levi slid out from under Eren, shifting him so that he laid on his side as he seized, hearing Lathe soon run into the room as well. He kept Eren in that same position as time passed agonisingly slowly, Eren finally ceasing his shaking after two and a half minutes. Levi slid back onto the bed when it was just Eren’s fingers still twitching and locking up, on his side facing Eren and pulling him close, pecking his forehead and pressing kisses all over his cheeks. …please be okay….

Eren’s eyes barely opened, his eyes looking so completely broken as he looked around. Fuck…. I feel like I’m gonna be sick…. Eren struggled to get up, though he realized that both Levi and Lathe were holding him down. “….ugh…. Off… sick….” Eren felt his fingers twitch again, locking up in odd positions, causing him discomfort and his stomach to churn all over again. I feel like I’m gonna Lathe’s brow furrowed, wincing a bit at Eren’s fingers locking up. Lathe moved from his hold on Eren, going to the hall and quickly returning with a bucket and towel, setting them on the floor next to the bed. “You need to try and get some rest... This will be here for if you need it.”

Lathe looked to Levi and nodded his head to Eren, letting him curl around him as he left the room, immediately pulling out his phone and dialing Casper as he went down the stairs. “Casper- it's Lathe. Eren had a seizure, and now his fingers keep locking up. He feels nauseous too. Any comment to make on that?”...anything?

Casper’s eyes widened. “I’m sorry what? Did you just say he seized? Is he okay? Did he hit his head?”

Nausea... What the hell?

“What pills did you give him this morning? Has he had them yet?”

He could be having withdrawal.

“He had his anti-depressants, and a higher dose of his PTSD meds like we’d talked about. But that was it. And no, he didn't hit his head while seizing. He’s okay, except for the nausea and the locking joints in the fingers of course, but he's okay besides that. He's been acting a lot more like his normal self today. Oh, hum... Pretty sure he had hypothermia when we got home. He was outside while we were taking care of Sharon. We got him in the hot tub to warm up, and apparently he and Levi were a bit, ahem, occupied with each other... But then they came inside to dry off and take a nap.” Up until now he’s been more like himself than ever.

“Okay... um... How high did you hike his meds? A half pill or a whole one?” He could have been having a bad reaction to the increase. Casper drew up a chart on a spare sheet of paper. “What’s his height and weight again?” I know you have it memorized.

“A whole pill... And he’s 115 pounds, 5’9.” He's getting tall. “...you're drawing out the entire chart right now, aren't you.” Yes you are. “Oh, you're gonna want all the actual compounds in the things, aren't you. Uh...” Lathe started listing off compounds, giving him the names of everything in the meds Eren had been and was currently taking. “...so is any of that pointing to anything?”

Casper hurriedly scratched everything off as it was listed, getting through the chart in a matter of minutes from having done it so many times before. “Yeah... I think he’s overdosing... But on the PTSD meds... You have a pill splitter, right? I think you should take him down to two and a half pills instead of three whole ones.” He’s not overdosing by too much, but I can see what his body’s reacting too.

Lathe nodded. “Yeah, of course I have one... I'll do that. Maybe that'll help somewhat. Thanks... We’re all worried.” We want him to be okay- and him taking that huge step with Levi again after so long is a real improvement.
Casper nodded at the other end. “Try that for right now and if he persists… Call me again.” I hope it's just half a pill too strong… Otherwise I have no idea what we’re going to do with him.

“Alright, I will. Talk to you later.” Lathe hung up, going back to the kitchen to continue making soup. We’ll all eat, and everyone should feel a bit better after that. ...we’ll try the new dosage in the morning when he takes them again, and hopefully he’ll do even better.
Chapter 51: 12 Days of Fucking Christmas Part 1

Day 1

Lathe stared at the large box sitting near the piano, assessing the situation. A picture of a fully assembled tree was printed on the outside of the box, though Lathe knew better as he mentally prepared for the mess of faux branches inside. "This is going to be a struggle." Lathe sighed, cracking his knuckles before getting to work, building the tree in sections, beginning with the base and setting it in place before working on the top half. He spent more than an hour sorting through the branches, finally going to attach the top part of the large tree to the base, looking over his shoulder as Eren came down the stairs, smiling. "Hey Eren! Going to feed the animals?" He watched as Eren nodded. "Okay- make sure the heater in there is on. We can't have anyone freezing out there. It's really really cold." He went back to screwing the two parts of the tree together, extracting himself after a minute and admiring the tall faux tree. "After Eren's back inside, I'll call everyone down to help with the decorations." Lathe busied himself vacuuming up the stray fallen needles, putting away the box and getting out the boxes of decorations. He had just begun to open the boxes of ornaments when Eren came into the room, holding a tiny black kitten, peppered with teeny white socks and a white ear, small patches of white and grey all over him. Lathe froze, staring at the kitten. "Eren… where did you find that?" "We never had Salem neutered. Is it his?"

"The barn… The others are frozen…" There were five of them… Just laying there completely cold. And this guy was abandoned in the hay, squeaking in the cold… "Salem brought the other feline… She’s in the barn with him…" Eren moved to go make some formula for the small kitten and starting a syringe so that the kitten could eat something, which soothed his squeaking. He’s so small… He was smaller than all the others…

...the others? Frozen?! Lathe immediately set down the box he was holding, running out to get on his boots and coat, going over to the barn and looking around for Salem and the other cat, seeing them up in the rafters. Lathe went to a post with pegs drilled into it, climbing up to the upper loft. He saw a pile of loose hay clawed out from a bale, scattered a bit from where Eren had gotten the kitten, five other kittens laying motionless in a small heap nearby. Oh my… Lathe moved over to the pile, seeing two of them had tried to drag hay over to them in an effort to keep warm, the others not completely physically developed. Three of them were stillborn… The others… Lathe gingerly picked up one of the two, his expression falling as he realised how cold they were. They froze. The kitten Eren picked up was definitely the runt of the litter… she rejected them… Lathe sighed, taking off his coat and tenderly piling the small kittens in the hood, bringing them down from the loft and setting the coat near the front door of the barn. He went to the wall of the barn and retrieved a shovel, going up the path dug from the barn to the porch and digging near the back steps to find the garden, nothing yet planted there. He was eventually able to dig a deep enough hole, going back to get the kittens and burying them, taking a carved stepping stone from underneath the patio and settling it on top of the dirt. I hope they didn't suffer long… Lathe went back to the barn to get his coat on again, going back up the loft and looking out to where Salem lounged on a rafter with another cat, white with some black spots on her head and neck, a black sock on her left front foot and a spot on her right hind leg. Lathe tried his best to act non-threatening as he carefully climbed out on the rafter, studying the cat. I don't see a collar, or an ear tattoo from where I am. Is she a stray? Lathe made it to where she and Salem lay, Salem keeping a close eye on Lathe and the cat hardcore judging Lathe as he slowly reached out a hand to pet her, getting her to slightly turn her head. No tattoo. I'm going to need to bring you to a vet then, see if there's a tracker in you or if you've got any diseases. And get your kitten their shots and stuff. I'd better do that as soon as possible. Lathe took off his coat again, offering his arms with the coat across them to her, to carry her to the house and keep her warm, as well as Salem. Come on, please work with me. Salem soon understood and stood, moving over the cat and clambering into the coat and making himself right at home, looking to the other cat and seeming to convince her to climb in as well. He carefully climbed down with the both of them, getting them into the house. Salem climbed up onto his head as he approached the couch where Eren was feeding the kitten, setting the mother down for a moment and gently lifting Salem onto the couch, going to get his wallet and keys from the side table. “Eren, we need to get these two to the vet and checked out. You up for a ride?” He went to gently pick up the cat, having coaxed her off of it to get his coat on, looking to Eren and hoping it didn’t get annoyed and scratch him. ...be a nice kitty and not hate me please...

Eren watched the white cat come up to the small kitten he was feeding and sniff it. So you’re the mommy? Why did you let them all die? He shifted to look at the kitten again. “Can we go after I feed him?” Then I’ll put him in my shirt when we go, so he stays warm.

Lathe nodded, letting the cat roam over the couch, keeping an eye on her as she sniffed the runt and Eren. ...why’d you let them freeze? Couldn’t you do anything? Lathe went upstairs for just a moment before reappearing with a smaller blanket. He waited for Eren to finish feeding the kitten, scooping up the mother in the blanket as Eren cleaned the syringe in the sink. “Alright, let’s get them to the vet then, shall we?” Once they had their coats and boots on Lathe led them to the car, the cat bundled up in the backseat, Eren holding the kitten in his shirt as he drove carefully to the vet. Thank god it's not that busy- today is really snowy, and that paired with the fact it's Wednesday morning means not many people have appointments.

“Alright… Let’s see… Mr… Quo? Is it really you? Holy crap never thought I’d see you again! Mike told me that you quit from the high school. Eren, honey, how are you doing?” Hanji’s loud voice sounded in the small space. They seemed so much more energetic than they had years ago during Chemistry. “And who are these little munchkins you got here?” God the cats are adorable.

Eren’s eyes widened as he saw Hanji come up to him in quite a loud and obnoxious voice. Huh? What’s happening… Why is Hanji here??? Eren instinctively moved to cover the kitten in his jacket. Nope… I don’t trust you…

Lathe stood up as he heard Hanji speak, grinning to them. “Hey Hanji! It’s good to see you again! And about who the cats are, that’s actually what we’re here to find out. My cat Salem had kittens with what we think might be a stray, and we didn’t know until today. We need to see if there’s a tracking device in the Mom, and they both need their shots up to date.” Lathe looked over as Eren seemed to shrink a bit, stepping back and gently tugging his sleeve for him to stand up. C’mon Eren, it's fine. They’ll be okay. Promise. Hanji is slightly maniacal… but they won't hurt them.

Eren nodded, slowly finding the courage to follow the two of them into the back. Please don’t tell me they're crazy still… they're the reason the lab blew up in my face that one time during freshman year. Eren gently pulled the kitten out, clutching him in his hands. I want to make sure you’re safe… Your eyes aren’t even open yet.

Lathe followed Hanji, making sure Eren was behind him as they came into an exam room, setting the cat on the table and taking back the blanket. She sniffed around the table a bit, looking up as Hanji came close, immediately switching to sass mode and judging her every move. “I didn’t see any tattoos on her ears and she didn’t have a collar. And the kitten’s only two days old, so.” Lathe shrugged a shoulder. That's a thing.

Hanji nodded, moving to get something that almost resembled a small metal detector, moving it all along her body. “Well good news is, she’s now yours. Bad news is… That was her first heat, and she took, so she’s only around a year old.” Hanji moved their thumbs around towards her mouth, seeing the small incisors and judging her age. Quite young. “So, only the one kitten? Or did she reject them? He looks quite small to not be rejected.” Hanji rambled as they looked over the white cat with interest, and moved onto the kitten and inspected him as well. They both need their shots.

Eren nodded. “She rejected all of them… The other five died… Three were stills, and the other two froze… I don’t think she had them in the barn…” His voice was pretty quiet, gently stroking the kitten as he was inspected by Hanji. They're not gonna hurt him right?

Lathe shook his head a bit. “She wouldn’t have bothered moving the three stills into the barn a long way… or any of them if she rejected them… and Salem didn't look much like he was trying to keep them warm either. She had them there, alright… and I'd thought she’d be much older than just a year. And now she’s part of the family. Guess she needs a name…” Lathe pondered it, seeing Hanji try to examine the kitten while Eren still held it. Lathe gently nudged him. “They’re not going to hurt them. Let Hanji have a proper look, okay? They’ll be fine.” This is their job. Hanji wouldn't keep it long if they were hurting animals all the damn time.

Eren looked back to Lathe before he nodded and let go of the kitten. He moved to take the new cat, picking her up and gently holding her, seeming to purr as she was picked up. “Does she not know what to do with them? I mean they’re both first time parents….” That’s the only thing I can think of when I see her acting all cuddly…

Hanji nodded, looking over the kitten a bit more before she moved to get the shots and started to give the kitten all his shots, causing him to squeak. “It’s okay, little guy, you’re almost done.” Two more… And…. Done. Hanji gently picked him up before switching out the cats that Eren was holding and giving him the kitten while they began to give the white cat her shots, which she severely disliked, even managing to claw at Hanji in disdain.

“Hey, be nice to Hanji. We can't have you getting sick.” Lathe moved to pet the cat as Hanji finished giving her the shots, calming her down somewhat. He picked her up after Hanji had finished, petting her under her chin, smiling as she purred. “We really do need a name for you, we can't just call you ‘cat’ or ‘Mom’ forever… Eren, can we name her Abigail Williams for the memes?” You read the Crucible. You'll understand. ...probably.

Eren looked to the white cat, thinking about it. “I… I guess Abby is fine…” Eren nodded, moving to put the squeaking kitten back into his shirt to keep him warm, which led to the kitten quieting down once he was encased in warmth. “Can we go home now?” Eren asked quietly, looking up to Lathe with curious eyes. I wanna hold him a bit more… And I want Levi to hold me again…

He nodded to the kitten tucked into Eren’s shirt. “You get to name the kitten anything you want. And we’ll go home soon- I need to acquire paperwork and allow Hanji to steal my wallet I mean pay them.” Lathe glared at Hanji for a split second before grinning. ...lol.

Hanji giggled, shaking their head. “Hmm… I do remember stealing your coveted wallet on more than one occasion while we were coworkers… Meet me out front and I’ll get your paperwork.” Hanji seemingly disappeared, leaving them in the backroom with the cats. Those were some good old days... teaching chemistry to students... and giving them a really hard time about everything because why not! HAHAHAHA!

Eren watched them leave with wide eyes before looking down to his shuffling feet. He’s being quiet... I wanna go home... Eren gently stroked the kitten through his shirt, trying to distract himself.

Lathe gently took Eren by the arm, holding Abby carefully and bringing them out front to the desk, setting Abby on the counter so he could sign things and write Hanji a check. She stayed put until Lathe picked her back up, curling into his arms as they made their way back to the car and to the pet store, looking around at the new surroundings. ...we're at another place now. Why this one?

“Come on, Eren. We need more food bowls, more food now that we have two more mouths to feed, and collars.” That's a thing. He went to retrieve Abby, holding her wrapped in the blanket. As long as she doesn't hiss at the collar we pick we're good.

Eren nodded, taking the small kitten with him and he got out of the car. He wasn’t really paying attention to where he was going, just making sure that he was warm. He jumped as a car slammed on it’s horn, freaking him out, and bringing him back to reality, his heart pounding in his chest as he quickly hurried back towards the safety of the car. I almost got hit.... That car almost hit me...

Lathe looked over his shoulder as he heard the car horn, watching Eren as he scurried back to the locked car. You were behind me for two seconds ... “Eren! Come on, kid, it's okay!” Lathe made his way back to the car, gently tugging Eren along by the arm. “You're in on this too. I know what just happened was scary, but you're okay. I'll keep you right next to me while we walk, okay?”

Lathe led him to the front doors of the pet store, making sure to watch for all cars. He let him go when they came in, looking around for the cat aisle. “Here we are, safe and sound. Now, let’s go pick out something nice for your kitty, okay?” He gently petted the kitten’s ear with his finger before continuing on, Eren right behind him as they looked at the collars they had for sale. They're all nice. “He’s your kitten, so you get to pick the collar for your kitten. I'll see if there's anything her highness here approves of.”

Eren nodded, timidly moving around the practically empty aisle. What to get, what to get... Eren moved to touch one of the small collars, his eyes widening as he saw how shaky his hands were. “D-Dad...” I'm fucking panicking. Eren’s eyes widened even more as he started shaking more. I don’t have Blake with me... fuck... no...nonononono....

Lathe immediately had an arm wrapped around him, murmuring soothingly into his ear. “Eren, it's okay, please don't panic, you don't have anything to worry about. I promise, you're fine, nothing bad is going to happen. Just breathe.” Even Abby reached out a paw and booped Eren on the shoulder, looking at him with curiosity. ...you look weird. Why?

Eren’s breathing started to worsen as he started to freak out in full blown panic. “I... I almost got... h-hit...” His lip began to quiver as his body locked up, not allowing him to move. I haven't panicked in a long time and I don't have Blake with me... fuck ...

Fuck we don't have Blake what do we do...?! Lathe looked up as he suddenly heard a dog trotting up to them, looking up as he saw Moblit following a dog with a bright vest on. ...he's training another PTSD service dog. Lathe backed up a bit to give space as the dark-furred dog went up to Eren and gently tugged him to the floor, grounding him and being very careful of the kitten he cradled, licking his cheek and whining quietly to get his attention. Human needs help. I can help human!

Eren felt himself being tugged down to to the floor, his breathing becoming ragged as he heard the whimpering and whining. Blake?? No... I don’t have Blake... Eren’s fingers spazzed a bit, trying not to lock, but ending up locking anyways, his movements jerky as he struggled to pet the dog on top of him.

Moblit had let go of the leash, knowing Eren needed to be grounded. How long has he been like this? “Where’s Blake?” He asked quietly, his voice filled with worry as they watched Eren struggle to calm down.
“Uh, he’s h-home… I know we shouldn’t’ve left the house without him, but… honestly, Eren and I never really go places much anymore… it slipped the mind. We’re just really damn lucky you were here.” Normally Blake just runs in when you need help and then leaves… because he’s psychic… but he hasn’t been brought with us in forever…

Moblit nodded, watching as Eren took his time to slowly relax with Felix on top of his chest. “How often… Does this happen often? Or did something trigger it?” Should keep him away from triggers… And Blake should know better then to let him leave without him. Moblit watched as Eren slowly began to regain the use of his fingers. At least he’s getting better.

“It doesn’t happen too much… but Eren kinda almost got hit by a car in the parking lot… it pretty much just got through his head right now… it freaked him out.”

Moblit nodded, kneeling down next to Eren, gently touching his shoulder, seeing that he was starting to calm down. “Eren, this is Felix, Blake’s younger brother.” Wonder if he remembers me… Try and act non-threatening.

Eren looked to the darker dog laying on his chest. His name’s Felix? This is Blake’s brother? I want Blake. “I wanna… Go home…” Eren’s voice was quiet, his eyes feeling heavy. I’m tired…

Lathe nodded, shooing Felix off of Eren and setting Abby in Eren’s lap. He rearranged the blanket so that the kitten was also secured in the fabric, setting them in Eren’s lap and scooping him up into his arms. “We can do his another day. Right now, we’ll get you home. Moblit, thank you so much. We’ll get better about bringing Blake with us places.” Yeah, we have to. We’re not always gonna have something like this happen.

Eren nodded, moving to curl into Lathe’s arms, his hands shakily going to cover Abby and the kitten. Home… I need Blake… I’m tired…

Lathe nodded goodbye to Moblit, walking Eren out of the store and through the parking lot, being especially careful. He got Eren into the car and then home safely, unlocking the front door first and propping it open before going to carry Eren inside and set him on the couch, whistling as he went to shut the door. He heard the tell-tale click of nails on the floor as Maisie and then Blake came downstairs, sitting by his feet and then following him as he went to the couch, jumping up and curling up next to Eren on the couch, neither of them minding having a cat with them. They’re getting along with Abby so far- and by that I mean they haven’t mauled her yet.

Eren laid down on the couch where Lathe had left him. “Dad… L-Levi?” I’m gonna fall asleep soon… and I at least want him to know where I am… Eren moved a bit, feeling the animals shift around him and Blake start to ground him, careful of both cats he was with. He felt the calming sensation wash over him as he felt the familiar weight on his chest. It’s Blake…

Lathe nodded, running upstairs to retrieve Levi from upstairs. Of course.

Levi soon was padding downstairs, having been told everything and approaching the couch, carefully trying to maneuver onto the couch next to Eren without crushing anyone. He soon succeeded, pressed against Eren’s side and pressing a kiss to his cheek. I’m tired anyway… I could do with a nap...

Eren barely had enough energy to weakly grab onto his shirt, but he managed before his eyes closed completely, and his grip loosened as he passed out from exhaustion. Blake was hurriedly sniffing at his chest and his neck. Human still smells really weird… He doesn’t smell right… Blake continued to sniff at him, sniffing at Levi for a moment to make sure it wasn’t his scent which it wasn’t. That alone confused Blake into stubbornly whining. He doesn’t smell right… It needs Lathe quirked an eyebrow as Blake began whining, coming back over to the couch and seeing Blake furiously sniffing Eren. oh. Right. “Blake, you probably smell your brother on Eren- Felix had to help calm Eren down. It's okay.” Lathe scratched Blake behind the ears. Eren might smell weird, but he's okay.

Blake continued to whine, moving to pull Lathe’s hand to Eren’s neck. Hooman smells weird… He’s smelled like this before… It’s not right… I can smell Felix too… But… It’s not him…. Blake continued to whine, trying to lick at his neck as if it would take the scent away. He smells… Like something that’s dead…

Lathe quirked an eyebrow, murmuring confusedly as Blake guided his hand to Eren’s neck. “What are you going on about…?” Lathe didn't know what to do besides cup Eren’s jaw, trying to figure out what Blake was so scared about. What could you possibly smell that’s so weird?

Blake whined even more when Lathe’s fingers moved across Eren’s skin, releasing the pheromone into the air. His ears pinned back all the way, trying to lick at Eren’s neck to get the repulsive smell off of him. He shouldn’t smell like this… He shouldn’t… Why does my human smell like this? And he tastes salty…. Fuck… Why? Why big human! Why?

Lathe’s eyebrows shot up at Blake’s reaction. …what the hell? He just feels clammy to me. I dunno, does Eren not sweat and I've never noticed or something? “Blake, he’s just sweating. People do that. Chill.” Lathe petted Blake to calm him, trying to get him to stop licking his skin so fervently. “Let the guy sleep, he’s had a long day. It's okay.” …what is up with you?

Blake whines got louder as he was dismissed. No! Something is wrong with my human! He needs to be looked after! His nose buried deep into his neck, licking more, and sniffing, trying to see if he got rid of the scent. It's not going away… Which means there’s more… It’s coming from the water he’s leaking… This isn’t good. Blake’s ears stayed pinned as he licked Eren’s face and neck. Wake up… You need to be okay…

…is there something weird about his sweat or something? Do you smell something you don't like? …what the hell could yo- …oh. He glanced up, seeing Eren completely knocked out and speaking quietly. “Blake, Eren took a lot of medicine he wasn't supposed to… maybe that's what you smell. It's normal to sweat it out when there's so much.” He gently petted Blake, trying to get him to stop still. “Don't worry- human is fine.” Promise.

Blake’s ears perked up a bit as Lathe spoke, his licks still continuing around Eren’s neck. His whining quieted and he laid still, licking where his head could reach. It smells like death… And chemicals… The lethal ones my first human made me watch out for. He said they were dangerous to all humans… I don’t like it…

Lathe smiled faintly, still petting Blake for a short while. …he does a good job taking care of you, Eren. A really damn good job. Lathe soon moved back from them, nodding to Levi who looked up to him with one sleepy eye cracked open and turning to go continue putting together the tree, getting out a very large box and beginning to set up train track around the tree, spiderwebbing around it and taking up a decent amount of space, areas left untouched between them so you could easily step over and around them. He set up a small village of painted houses and trees, the tree skirt white, making it look like a snowy landscape. He spent the better part of an hour carefully setting an ancient-looking train on the tracks, attaching the correct wires to the track and slowly beginning to run it, flipping the right switches on the control box he held to make it switch tracks or blow the whistle, which was quiet as it went slowly around. He parked the train under a tunnel behind the tree after a little bit, wanting it to stay safe. …we can decorate when everyone is home
Eren woke up about three hours later, finally feeling awake enough to actually open his eyes.

God… My body feels like lead… But I’m wide awake… Fuck… Eren groaned as he shifted, feeling a familiar weight on his chest. His hand slowly made its way to pet Blake, and close his eyes for a moment as he felt the soft fur under his fingers. I had a panic attack…. Eren gently shooed Blake off his chest, looking around for the kitten in a slight panic, but feeling him nuzzled against his ear on his shoulder. Oh thank god, he’s okay… Eren let out a sigh of relief, moving to pick up the kitten, and slowly getting up. Fuck… I’m sore… I hate those fucking attacks, my body feels like I grew ten years older…. Eren winced as his body creaked and cracked as he walked towards the kitchen, knowing he had to make formula for the now squeaking kitten. “I know, I know… Food…” Eren looked up, noticing that the house was relatively quiet. “Where is everyone?” Eren’s gentle padding sounded in the kitchen as he made his way to the fridge, making the formula in a few quiet moments. Gotta feed him…. He’s gotta be really hungry… How long was I asleep for?

Lathe was tapping at a laptop, trying to connect the Xbox to the projector they had wirelessly. It’s supposed to be able to do this… but it doesn’t want to…. ...what was the projector password? ...we have one of those? Lathe just stared at the screen in confusion as Levi looked through the options menu on the Xbox, finally hitting something that allowed the two to connect, the image on the television they’d brought down to test with finally mirrored on the screen. “Aaaaayy!” Lathe happily exclaimed as the two connected, grinning. “Video games and Netflix just got sooo much better.” Lathe looked to the staircase as he heard a small sound, and then the hum of the microwave. “Eren’s up, finally. His attack really wiped him out. Maybe he’ll be up for a movie or something, helping us test-drive the setup.” He stood, setting down the laptop with the projector application still pulled up. He went up to the kitchen, smiling as he saw Eren sitting at the kitchen island, feeding the tiny kitten. He was silent as he got out his phone, taking a picture. That’s too damn adorable. “Hey Eren- how’re you doing? Feel okay?” Lathe went to sit down next to him, watching him feed the kitten.

Eren still had his focus solely on the kitten in front of him, not really doing anything to acknowledge that Lathe was there. It took a few silent moments for him to speak. “Sore…. I feel fucking sore, and my head hurts…” I have a fucking headache…

...I’d offer you aspirin, but y’know…. Lathe gave him a sympathetic look, patting his shoulder. “After you finish feeding…. he doesn’t have a name yet, so kitty… maybe you should take a nice hot shower, it might help. We’re setting up stuff for movies downstairs, we got the Xbox hooked up to the projector. When you're out you could come watch something with us. That sound okay?”

Eren nodded slowly as he focused on the small kitten in his hand, meowing as he ate from the syringe. “Okay… Um… Could you make me food? I’m starving…” Even if it’s toast, I’ll eat it… Fuck… I slept way too long. Eren’s hands were steady as he gently held the kitten, making sure he didn’t squish him.

Lathe nodded, standing to go get the leftover ingredients from his grilled cheese, soon setting an assembled sandwich in the frying pan and then on a plate in front of him. “It’s a bit before four right now, so I’ll understand if you don’t eat much dinner. ...yeah, you slept for about three hours. You were exhausted.” He spoke as he saw Eren’s surprised expression. Yep. You were out.

Eren pulled the syringe away from the kitten’s mouth, looking to Lathe with wide eyes. “I was asleep… For three hours?” God no wonder my body feels so stiff… “and I had Blake on me the whole time?” Unless he jumped on me when I was asleep, which I did not feel… And didn’t Levi sleep with me? “When did Levi wake up?” I didn’t even feel him move. Eren gently set the kitten down on the counter, letting him look around since his eyes were now open, and showing off strikingly light baby blues. He’s not really into crawling away yet, just staring at everything that moves... Eren picked up the grilled cheese, biting into it cautiously, and simply groaning as the cheesy goodness erupted in his mouth. It’s so good... I haven’t had one of these in a long time.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow and smiled, chuckling faintly and shaking his head a bit. Of course. Lathe went to gently pick up the kitten, staring at it with warm eyes as it looked curiously up to him. “Hello, kitty.” He gently nuzzled their noses. “You’re quite the adorable one, aren’t you?” Lathe watched as the kitten stared at him for a long while before nodding once, holding the kitten to his chest as he looked to Eren, smiling proudly. “I connect with this kitten on a spiritual level.” He thought a moment. “You still need to name him. Y’know, eventually.”

Eren put his food down to look up at the sight in front of him. “Can we name him Lucifer?” He picked up his food, subconsciously eating as he waited for his response. This is my kitty... Why are you holding him? I guess it’s okay though... Eren took only a few more moments to wolf down the rest of the food.

Lathe just stared at Eren, surprised for a moment. “Uh... Suuuuuuure?” Lathe quirked an eyebrow at him, nuzzling the kitten gently against his cheek. “Even though he’s still teeny enough to be practically made of sugar, okay. But, why?” I like this one.

Eren looked up, his voice quiet as he responded. “We... We could always name him Krampus....” He looks like a ghost cat... So he should be named after something undead.

Lathe’s eyebrows disappeared under his long black hair. “...Lucifer is fine.” ...Well then, I wasn't entirely sure if you knew what a Lucifer was. ...apparently you do. But we're probably going to name another addition to the family Krampus soon enough.

Eren nodded, moving to put his plate in the sink. “Can you watch him? I’m gonna shower... With Levi.” Eren added quietly to the end of that sentence. Yeah, no I am not showering alone... Eren meandered over to the basement, calling down to him. “Levi... Come on, I wanna shower...” and who knows? Maybe we’ll get a little frisky while we’re at it...

Levi picked up his head at the sound of Eren’s voice, smirking. Shower? I get the feeling that's not all that's going to happen. “Coming!” Levi stepped over the Xbox and went up the stairs, a glint in his eye as he caught Eren staring. “Hmm? See something you like?” Levi leaned forward to peck his lips, a mischievous look on his face as he shed the rest of his clothes, turning on the shower and waiting for the water to get warmer, soon tugging Eren into the walk-in shower with him under the hot spray, careful that neither of them slipped. He reached for the bar of soap and a washcloth, beginning to wash Eren, letting his hands wander. ...I missed this.

Eren’s body shuddered under Levi’s touch, more often than not on a location that was heavily scarred, or anywhere on his back, where new skin was finally starting to heal over his wounds. It feels weird... when someone else is touching it... He swallowed hard, watching Levi’s hand get lower on his sides. He’s gentle... Which is nice, this shower is much too big to use alone.

Levi’s hands drifted lower and lower, stepping a bit closer to him as his hands drifted to his nether regions, one hand cupping his ass as his other hand cleaned his crotch, going to gently nip at his neck and nibble at the soft skin. He dropped the washcloth after a moment, the suds rinsed away and letting his hand ghost over Eren’s length, lightly pumping it and gauging Eren’s reaction.

...would you let me?

Eren’s breath hitched as he felt Levi’s hands on his length, gently teasing him. He’s touching me...

He’s actually touching me... So it wasn’t a dream... In the hot tub? And it wasn’t my misunderstanding to expect this... Eren pulled his head forward a bit, trying to evade the gentle kisses out of habit from the two weeks of torture. Not my neck... Anywhere but there...

Levi frowned a bit as Eren moved, deciding to switch tactics and moved his head to the joint of his neck before he could move out of the way, dragging his tongue up his neck and leaving a long wide stripe before going to suckle at his ear, nibbling the shell and sucking on the spot right behind and below it. His hand stroked his member a bit more firmly, stepping so a foot was between Eren’s, his other hand squeezing Eren's ass and pulling him close, their fronts nearly flush as Levi stood on tiptoe to reach his ear. I want to make you feel good... you should enjoy this.

Eren calmed down a considerable amount as Levi moved where his head was, the tension on his body draining as he felt the warm wetness trail up his neck and then to the shell of his ear, only beginning to panic a bit when Levi kissed all around his ear, but took no move to touch his missing earlobe. He's not... Repulsed... That's it gone, is he? Eren’s mind clouded a bit as his body moved against Levi to try and get more friction.

Levi moved to suckle on his lower ear as he sped up his strokes a bit, his hand twisting around his length as he slowly began to back Eren against the wall of the shower, the tile heated and switching to the other side, suckling at his other ear, nipping at where the lobe would be. I can tell you're kinda worried about it... I don't mind at all that they're not there. You're still the hottest damn thing I've ever seen.

Eren simply melted against the warm wall as Levi pushed him up against it. He doesn’t care... He doesn’t care... Does he? Eren let off a small whimper when he nipped too hard at a sensitive area on his ear, but besides that he was starting to become undone with Levi handling him like this. Shit... I think I’m gonna cum soon too. Eren could already feel the heat starting to pool in his abdomen as his length was teased skillfully. He’s so fucking good at this...

Levi lapped at his ear gently in apology, his eyes shaded as he saw Eren’s pleasured expression. He slowed his strokes, nuzzling against Eren’s skin until Eren was panting heavily. He pulled back a bit to look into Eren’s eyes, keeping eye contact as he slid to his knees, his hands slipping down his sides, cupping his ass as he licked a long stripe up the underside of his length, taking in his tip and beginning to suckle, bobbing his head to take in more of his length. I want to taste you.

Eren’s eyes blew wide as he watched Levi take in his length, feeling the warm walls closing around him. Holy fuck.... That's hot.... He watched, his length throbbing inside Levi’s hot cavern, his eyes unable to look away from the look of pure adoration Levi held on him. He was completely entranced, feeling the heat pool once more in his abdomen. He’s so fucking good at this...

Levi let one hand trail down from Eren’s ass to his front, gently massaging his balls as he bobbed further and further down Eren’s length, struggling a bit but finally managing to take the entire length in, his nose pressed against his abdomen. He hummed, his eyes full of adoration and lust as he watched Eren’s expression of bliss. He could feel his own length rock-hard and throbbing from lack of attention, pulling back on Eren’s length to suck hard at the tip, his tongue running over the slit in the head as he squeezed his ass. I want to see you fall apart.

Eren let out a soft groan as he felt his coil tighten uncontrollably. Fuck…. “Levi… Levi please… Haa…” Eren shivered as he finally let his coil snap. Holy fuck… Levi… Eren watched Levi struggle to take his whole load. His hands moved from the wall, where they were previously clenched, to his hair, gently going through his locks. “L-Levi…” Eren's cheeks were flushed, and his eyes full of bliss.

Levi quickly swallowed, trying not to let any of his release escape, licking up every last drop and licking the corner of his mouth where some tried to escape. He moaned quietly as Eren fist ed at his hair, coming off of Eren’s length with a lewd sound. He pressed a kiss to his hip, standing and letting his hands run up Eren’s front, wrapping around Eren’s middle and pulling their fronts flush, one hand trailing up his back to tangle in his very long hair, kissing him fervently. …I want you… His length ached between his legs, pressing forward against Eren’s leg, wanting some kind of friction.

Eren kissed Levi back just as passionately, his hands shakily coming up to wrap around Levi’s waist. “Y-You too…” Eren let his hands fall from Levi’s waist, moving to turn around to press his chest against the tiles, his ass moving towards Levi’s crotch. I want you too….

Levi’s expression shifted, his eyes hooded as he pressed against Eren from behind, reaching again for the white bottle on the shelf and coating his fingers with the slick liquid, his hand drifting to Eren’s entrance and pressing a finger past the tight ring of muscle. He let his other hand drift around to Eren’s front, running teasingly over his stomach as he nibbled and suckled at his back gently, careful of the new skin growing over his wounds.

Eren couldn't stop moaning as Levi started to stretch him out. “L-Levi… Please…” He continued to pull forward as Levi sucked at sensitive skin, his back feeling like knives as he was touched. Gentle… Please… More gentle…. It’s starting to hurt.

Levi realised Eren was in pain as he moved away and whimpered, very gently lapping at the small marks he’d left in apology, trailing his tongue over his back. He soon enough was stretching Eren with three fingers, thrusting in and out and searching for his prostate, curling his fingers. I want you to enjoy this.

Eren calmed down a bit when Levi stopped sucking at his back. Soon the whimpers subsides, and moans replaced them, though Levi still couldn’t locate his prostate. You are nowhere near it. He moved his ass back onto Levi’s fingers, gasping as he got further down, and the tip of his finger finally grazing over the sensitive spot. There.

Levi smirked as Eren let out a pleased gasp and a long, loud moan. There. Levi pushed a bit deeper, teasing the spot and brushing the bundle of nerves, pressing butterfly kisses all over Eren’s back and standing on tiptoe to nip a bit harder at the joint of his neck, his eye lidded as he heard Eren’s surprised and pleased gasp. I like that sound. Levi pulled his hand from Eren after a long moment, slicking his length and lining up with Eren’s entrance, pressing light kisses to his back as he sheathed himself inside of him, groaning loudly as he finally felt Eren’s warm walls around him. “Holy fuck, Eren…” You feel really really good… ” T-Tell me when…”

Eren shivered quietly, moving his head forward out of the way from Levi’s mouth. Not the neck… No… You can’t… Not there… Eren whimpered for a moment before keeping his head down, out of the way of Levi’s reach. “Y-you can move.” Eren’s voice was quiet as he spoke up. Don’t bite my neck… Or my back…
Levi finally got the hint as Eren moved his head and neck away, pressing light kisses and licking across his shoulders and his back in apology, his hand splayed across Eren’s hip and dragging up lightly and teasingly, avoiding his length. His other hand went to hold his hip as he drew out of Eren and slowly thrusted back inside, beginning a slow and steady rhythm. He let out small moans as he moved, careful not to suckle or bite his skin at all. He doesn’t like that… temporary or not. …you feel really good…

Eren slowly became a moaning mess, his legs shaking a bit from the complete and utter bliss he felt. I feel warm…. He’s so big… How does he fit? Eren moved his head back up to rest his forehead on the tiles as Levi started to pick up speed. Fuck me…. “Ngh… Right there… Please…” Please…. It feels so good. You’re being gentle… And I like it.

Levi nodded, his right hand trailing up to Eren’s length, his thrusts picking up speed and beginning to go deeper, aiming for his prostate as he began to stroke him firmly. His other hand kept a gentle yet strong hold on his hip, keeping him from falling if his legs gave out. I want to hear you… you make such amazing sounds… I love it.

Eren couldn’t help it as he got progressively louder over the next minute. He struggled to press back into Levi’s thrusts, though found it hard to keep himself on his legs as they wanted to buckle out from under him. Holy fuck. I can’t keep myself upright…. Fuck… Levi… So good.

Levi felt Eren leaning on him more and more trying to stay upright, stopping after a moment and drawing from him, turning Eren so his back was against the warm tile and lifting him, helping his legs wind around his middle as he lined up again with him. He brought Eren down onto his length again, soon finding his prostate again and bouncing him on his member, moving to lick and nibble at his adam’s apple. I know this would drive you insane… does it still?

Eren let out a soft scream as Levi hit his prostate and bit at his adam’s apple. Holy fuck! Levi! “Ngh… Levi… Please…” holy fuck… I can’t say anything else other than that, this is too good … “Nngh, m-make me y-yours.” Eren’s arms wrapped around his shoulders, pulling him close.

Levi moaned loudly as Eren let out that delicious sound, sucking at his adam’s apple more roughly and practically pounding Eren into the wall. He could feel warmth pooling in his abdomen, letting the pleasure flood him. “E-Eren… y-you feel so good…” I love it. His hold on Eren’s hips threatened to leave bruises as he rammed into him.

Eren let out a sharp cry of bliss as his coil suddenly snapped, leaving them covered in pearly white drops. Fuck…. It’s everywhere… Eren moaned as Levi continued to pound his prostate, prolonging his orgasm. “Fuck… Levi.” Eren let his head rest on Levi’s shoulder, letting him finish off. I feel like jelly.

Levi moaned loudly as his own coil snapped, filling Eren, his thrusts slowing, lifting him off of his length and gently setting him back on his feet, making sure he could still stand. He helped him stay balanced, bringing him back under the spray of the shower and kissing him sweetly, rinsing them off. …I really, really love you.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Day 2

Lathe looked around the kitchen, trying to find the rolling pin again. …today has been a day. There are gonna be a million different people coming around at different times over the next two weeks, so of course I’m just making Christmas cookies enough to feed an army. Spades has been very distracting the entire time… she’s always either right behind me or I turn around and she’s right there. Obviously handsy. I don’t mind it- if I would we’d have a problem- but I was so caught up with her and with baking it wasn’t until Blake was sitting in the kitchen staring at me for a good fifteen minutes that I finally figured maybe Eren wasn’t entirely okay. Levi was out on a run thing with Erwin- in the fucking dead of winter, I’ll never understand them, though it kinda makes sense given they’re kinda marines- so he wasn’t around to tell me that Eren was sitting with his back on the floor and his legs crossed on the wall in front of him, having a conversation with the wall, the painting on the wall, Maisie, and Lucifer. Not the demon, the cat. ...he’s probably been there for a while. I just kinda picked him up and put him in front of a tray of cookies with frosting and icing tubes, telling him to go nuts. I let Lucifer munch on part of a candy-cane-shaped cookie that broke. And Eren is just going hardcore decorator on those cookies, they look fucking fabulous. It wasn’t until we had eaten dinner around five that we all finally were home to decorate the tree. The tree is amazing, though Salem and Abby decided it makes for an excellent treehouse and like to hide in it. They've broken seven ornaments so far, one of them whacked by Salem’s tail only to go sailing and break against the wall. ...yeah. Lathe laid on the couch, sprawled under a warm blanket, a Santa hat Eren had found and insisted he wear a bit over his eyes as he lay watching the polar express with everyone. ...my feet hurt… I’ve been standing baking all day… Lathe smiled faintly as the hot chocolate scene came on, his eyes sliding shut, slipping into a peaceful sleep.

Spades sighed a bit as she watched the ending to the movie. Well, Eren and Levi went upstairs… And I’m pretty sure they’re occupied at the moment… So I guess we’re safe for right now. Spades moved to turn down most of the lights, and shut the blinds before quietly coming over to the couch where Lathe lay sleeping. She moved down to her knees, bending over the couch and silently and carefully unbuttoning his jeans and pulling them down. Good… He’s still asleep, he should’ve seen everything coming… He wore the red flannel! That’s my favorite! How could I not? Spades carefully got his pants down enough that she could pull his flaccid length out, quietly taking it into her mouth. Damn… He’s asleep and already getting hard.

Lathe made a small sound, his head feeling a bit fuzzy as he blinked awake, feeling a heat between his legs. ...wha...? Lathe lifted his head a bit, feeling a pulse run through him as he saw Spades’ head bobbing over his hips, his full weight going back onto his elbows as he fully became conscious, his head dropping back as he felt every motion of Spades’ tongue, moaning deeply and trying to speak somewhat clearly as his length fully hardened in her mouth. “...That's some way to wake up.” ...it feels really good...

Spades smirked, making a lewd slurping noise as she bobbed on his length again, pulling off of him with a pop. “Does it feel good?” I hope it does… It’s really hard to take your whole length in. She went back down to take in his whole length, gagging a bit on the sheer size of him. Spades had a hand down between her legs, rubbing herself through her jeans. Damn it… I really wanna try...

Lathe’s eyes darkened as he saw Spades rubbing herself, trying to keep his hips from bucking up into her mouth and choking her. His voice was low and rough, having just woken up and being seriously turned on by the sight before him. “It feels really good…” Lathe leaned up on one arm, gently bringing Spades off of his length and up onto the couch straddling him, his hand rubbing her through her jeans as his other undid the button on the front, soon getting rid of them and rubbing her through her panties, leaning up to kiss and suckle at her neck, leaving some small marks that could be more or less hidden. Mine. “I want you…” Lathe murmured near her ear, his tongue dragging up the shell of it, careful of the blue earpiece.

Spades groaned as he rubbed her through her panties. “Lathe… Don’t tease me… I want it.” She groaned as she rubbed herself against his hands, trying to get more friction for her soaking hole. Fuck… I’ve been horny since lunch. She shivered under his touch as his large hands left burning trails down her skin. “I want it all…” I want your everything. Spades’ eyes were dark with lust as she pulled his head down and taking his head in both her hands, smiling softly before leaning down over him and kissing him heatedly. She ground down her hips on his, being gentle with his hardon, making sure not to hurt him as her juices coated his exposed length.

Lathe gasped as she rubbed herself against his length, feeling himself getting slick as she kissed him passionately. He kissed her back with just as much fervor, if not more, hand hands trailing up to the hem of her panties, smirking a bit into the kiss. “They're the dark blue ones… you know I like those.” Lathe soon pulled them down her legs, dropping them unceremoniously on the floor. “…but we don't need them right now. They're…” He slid a hand between her legs, brushing over her clitoris and teasingly dipping his finger into her entrance. “Mine.” Lathe moved Spades, his length rubbing her exposed rosy folds, feeling himself slicken up. He lifted her up, positioning her over his length, though he let her put her hands on his chest to steady herself, wanting to let her go as fast or slow as she wanted. I'm a lot to take… Lathe nipped at the spot under her ear. “…Take your time.”

Spades nodded, closing her eyes as she gently moved down on Lathe’s huge size. She had her hands on his chest, struggling a bit not to moan out from his mouth nipping all over her jaw and around her ears. She let out a higher pitched moan as he found a very sensitive spot, her insides squeezing around him from the pleasure. Fuck… That feels really good… She moved down slowly, struggling to fit in all of his length, but managing to get his whole member in after a moment. “Fuck… You're huge…”

Lathe groaned as Spades’ heat completely enveloped him, kissing and licking down her neck, getting frustrated when her shirt got in the way and quickly taking it off of her and dropping it to the floor. He smirked as he went to nip at her breasts, hidden by the matching dark blue fabric. “You know you love it.” He gently ground up and into her, his eyes darkening further as she let out a moan above him. He kissed and licked at her soft skin, his hands going to hold her hips, lifting her up on his length until only the tip remained inside her, bringing her back down and starting a steady rhythm, leaving marks all over her chest. You feel amazing...

Lathe suddenly took on a predatory look, his hands moving from her hips to her back, deftly unclipping her bra before flipping their positions so that he loomed over her on the couch, dipping his head down to suckle on her breast and tease her other bud as he picked up the pace, moaning quietly. You feel really, really good… oh my god...

“F-fuck… Lathe… Mph…” Spades groaned and her legs moved to his waist, pulling him in closer. Holy fuck… This is amazing. “So good…Lathe, don’t stop.” I don’t wanna go to work tomorrow… Spades moved her arms to around his shoulders, keeping him pressed up to her.

Lathe moaned against her chest, littering her smooth tan skin with love bites and suckling at the underside of her breast, switching sides to mark the other as he pounded into her, his eyes lidded as he looked up to watch her expressions. “You look and sound so fucking hot… my god…” He murmured against her chest, his eyes blown wide with love and lust as he pounded into her.

Spades gasped in utter bliss, letting out a ragged sigh. “Lathe… Holy fuck… Ha… So… Ngh… Big….” She moved to hold onto him, pulling him flush to her. “Lathe… I love you…” Spades moved to pull her feet together, hooking them in place as she pulled him closer. Harder... Deeper...
Lathe’s eyes filled with love and adoration, moving to kiss Spades deeply, their tongues immediately tangling, pulling back after a moment to speak against her lips. “I love you so fucking much …” I really really really do. He immediately tangled their tongues together again, pressing flush against her as he rammed into her, his thrusts even faster and harder. Mine.

Spades kissed him back just as feverishly, pulling him close as she started to tighten around him. She pulled back to breathe, her eyes full of lust as she met his gaze, unable to break it as he pounded into her. “Lathe… Lathe… I’m gonna…. Cum with me…. Cum inside…P-please…” Spades began to beg as her fingers scratched across his back. I need you… I need you now… Please .

Lathe’s eyes were nearly completely black, barely any color still there as he refused to break eye contact with Spades, his arms snaking around her to pull her flush against him, arching her off of the couch a bit as he dipped his head down, sucking a large dark mark onto her neck as he felt his own coil snap, moaning loudly into her skin as he released inside of her. Yours.

“Lathe! ” Spades cried out in pure bliss as she came around him, holding him close to her naked body as she felt him fill her to the brink. I can only hope at this point…. She held a soft smile as she turned her head to peck gently at his head and his face, giving him a lot of pampering, keeping him locked in place there with him above her on the couch. I don’t want you to move… Even though I know it’s not gonna happen right away, on the first try… I just… I want you to be happy.

Lathe turned his head to kiss Spades sweetly, blushing as she placed butterfly kisses all over his cheeks. He finally caught her lips, a hand moving to cradle her cheek as they kissed languidly, still hovering over Spades. “I love you.” Lathe broke their kiss to whisper against her jaw, taking his turn to leave small kisses all over her, nuzzling into her shoulder. Really… I really do...

Spades smiled softly and let out a soft sigh, her hands tracing lazy patterns in his back. “Hmm, we should head upstairs soon, I think the boys are occupied… Still.” And I need to make sure that I take those pills, to help. “Shall we, love?” She asked softly, a hand coming up to run through his hair.

Lathe nodded, slowly pulling back and drawing out of her, stepping off of the couch and handing her the clothes he’d more or less flung a decent bit from the couch. He shimmied into his boxers, not even bothering with his jeans and soon pulling Spades upstairs by the waist, shutting the door to their room behind them and gently nipping her neck, his arms lovingly wound around her middle. …I… I just… I just really fucking love you. Lathe let her go after a moment, going to the dresser to find something comfy to sleep in.

Spades walked over in her undergarments to the bathroom connected to their room, turning the light on and reaching for her new pills. Okay... What are the instructions again? Two after? And once daily? But never more than three a day? Or 15 a week… Okay… That works. She took out two more pills and downed them with a sip of water from the sink. Spades set the pills down by the corner of the sink and moved back into the bedroom, getting out pajamas and slipping into bed beside Lathe. I really hope that it’ll help.

Lathe watched her after he donned a tank top, quirking an eyebrow….aren’t those her birth control pills? ...don’t you normally take those in the morning, and not night? Lathe shrugged after a moment, dismissing the thought and slipping into bed, immediately curling around Spades and pulling them flush, letting himself relax, though the thought still stuck in the back of his mind.

Spades nuzzled up to him, smiling in her sleep, what she hadn’t expected was to be roused from her sleep early in the morning. What the fuck? It’s like 5 in the morning? And I’m supposed to be off today? She reached over blindly for her phone, groaning at the brightness of the screen as she opened. “Goddamnit… Lathe… I gotta get up, you go back to sleep, alright?” It’s five in the morning and I need to go and look over another fucking accident…

“...huh?” Lathe blinked, squinting as he was assaulted by the brightness of her phone, his head dropping back onto the pillow as he finally registered her words. “…I'll try, Hon. And, um….”
Lathe caught her before she got up from the bed, gently tugging her back down to give her a small peck on the cheek. “…just, stay safe, okay?” His voice was quiet, flushed a bit red at his sudden overprotective action. …I want you to come home in one piece, please… He let her go after a moment, tiredly watching her walk to the bathroom and reach again for the pills, his brow furrowed a bit. …two? As opposed to one last night? …what the hell are those?

Spades finished up what she needed to, getting dressed rather quickly before leaning over the bed to peck his cheek. “By Love, I’ll call you if anything makes me later than lunchtime.” Definitely don’t wanna be though.

…I like being called that. Lathe gently smiled, his eyes sparkling a bit. “Okay Hon. And try to stay warm.” It’s the middle of fucking winter. And to be called out so early, it’s probably something that’ll involve a lot of standing outside. He lay on his side for a few silent minutes after Spades had gone, heaving himself to his feet after a minute and padding to the bathroom. I'll try and sleep after I...
...those don't look right. Lathe stopped in his tracks as he saw the small container of pills, reaching to pick them up from their place on the sink, reading over the label on the back. His eyes grew wide as he read everything, setting them back down on the sink when he was done. He stared at the faucet, trying to process it, speaking quietly to the nothingness around him. “…we’re trying.”
...she decided to start trying? …when was she gonna tell me? Lathe was soon enough going back to bed, laying silent under the covers, warm, his thoughts jumbled. …was she ever gonna tell me? I would’ve wanted to know, for fuck’s sake… …does she ever tell me anything…? She kept everything about her operations quiet, and now I wasn’t even aware that she’s trying to conceive…
……are there more things she isn’t telling me? Lathe drifted in and out of sleep, troubled by what he thought was the answer.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Day 3

The last thing Casper remembered was falling asleep in front of the fireplace. He’d had a long day, and was glad he’d had the next day off, drifting to sleep in a small nest, a mug of hot chocolate abandoned just out of reach. But when he woke up…

Casper tried to blink awake, confused when all he saw was black. ...the fuck? Why can't I see?
Casper moved to try and rub at his eyes, only to realize his hands were bound, as were his ankles, and when he tried to make a sound of confusion, he finally felt the ball gag in his mouth, snapping out of his sleepy state. …what. He shifted, feeling wooden flooring underneath his completely bare form, blushing furiously as he realized he had no clothes on at all. …what the fuck is happening?
He tugged at his restraints, finding he couldn't move his hands or his feet nearly at all, chained, blind, mute, and completely exposed to everything he couldn't see around him.

Scotty’s heavy footsteps sounded across the wood flooring, drawing closer towards him. “It seems you’ve finally woken up sleeping beauty.” He moved passed Casper, ignoring the man lying naked on the floor for now to poke at the fire place and add more wood to it to keep it going. I can already tell we’re gonna have a lot of fun.

Casper became suddenly aware of the fire crackling next to him, feeling the heat on his side. He tried to shift towards Scotty, finding he couldn't move much and letting out a sound, muffled by the gag. His mind immediately shifted to overdrive, his imagination beginning to run away from him. ..what are you going to do with me? ... plenty, I hope. Casper arched a small bit from the floor, whining quietly and pleadingly.

Scotty moved to squat down between Casper and the fire, watching over him as he struggled against the restraints. Letting out a dark chuckle at Casper’s whine, he reached forward and grabbed one of his nipples, pinching it tightly before tugging it harshly and doing the same with the other, barely giving him enough time to react. You are mine, and nothing can change that... And I really hope that this doesn’t scare you off like it did everyone else...

Casper whined as Scotty harshly tugged at his perked buds, whimpering and shifting, still straining against the restraints. ...damn tease, at least give me more than a damn second!

Scotty’s eyes darkened at the display moving to unlatch the gag from Casper’s mouth and letting him spit it out. Well, now I can hear him, which’ll probably be much more enjoyable. “First off, you’ll address me as Master, and I’m going to call you whatever the hell I want, got it?” Scotty’s large hand harshly grabbed Casper’s chin and pushed it up and back, leaving his neck exposed, a gentle finger running down his adam’s apple torturously slow.

Casper’s eyes went wide at Scotty’s statement, a violent shudder running through him as Scotty dragged a finger down his throat, feeling overwhelmingly vulnerable- and incredibly turned on. “Y-yes, M-master…. m-master, please, don’t tease me...” Going at this pace the entire time... agony....

“Does my little slave want some relief?” Scotty’s tone was mocking and demeaning as his hands slowly moved down to his chest, flicking at the perk nubs before moving down to his hardening member. “If I get too rough, or do anything that makes you uncomfortable, the safe word is ecosystem.” Hopefully you won’t be needing it... Scotty’s large hand made it’s way towards Casper’s length, gently teasing it for a moment or two before drawing back, getting up and walking out of the room, and venturing elsewhere in the house.

Casper stuttered a response, feeling arousal pulse through him. “Y-yes, Master…” Understood. Casper moaned as suddenly Scotty’s hand was on his length, wanting so badly to buck up into his hand, regretting his decision not to as suddenly the pleasure was gone, hearing Scotty’s footsteps as he wandered the house. “M-Master… where are you…” Get the fuck back here and just do anything and everything you want... please...

Scotty tsked from across the room, his voice a bit hard as he slowly got closer. “A Slave knows how to beg it’s master, come on now, beg properly for what you want…” I wanna hear this... I can only imagine what the hell is going on inside your pretty little mind. And now, I've got all the toys I wanted to play with... Scotty looked down to the cock ring and a few candles he had in hand. This should all work out nicely.

Casper panted, words starting to stream from him, speaking without shame, something afforded by his desperation. “S- M-Master, please, I don't care what it is you do, just please, give me something that lasts more than just a torturous five seconds. Anything, and everything that you want. P-please. Whatever it is, I... I can handle it.” Casper swallowed hard, not knowing exactly what he had just agreed to, though he let his legs spread a bit further apart, turning his legs out to more fully expose his erect member. ...I can. I'm not made of tissue paper.

Scotty’s eyes darkened dangerously before he got a few things and set them down near Casper, setting everything within arms’ reach of himself. Well, this is gonna be really good, I get to see just Scotty took out two clips, attached by a thin chain and clamping them onto Casper’s outstretched nipples, making sure that when he tugged on the chain it agitates both nipples. Alright, that chain is all set, now to start with the buttplug. Scotty had his fingers slicked in almost an instant and started to stretch out Casper, his fingers not bothering to go deep, just getting him used to having the plug in his ass, then once he had it in, he slipped a cock ring on him and say back admiring his work and playing with the chain to elicit a response from him.

Casper whined as his nipples were clipped, gasping as Scotty tugged on the chain, squirming a bit in the binds. He tried to thrust himself down onto Scotty’s fingers as they began to open him up, silently pleading with him to go deeper, letting out a heavy sigh as Scotty inserted the plug into his entrance. He made a sound of surprise as Scotty suddenly moved to put a cock ring on him, feeling it squeezing the base of his hard length, already aching from such little friction. ...this is going to be torture. Casper gasped as Scotty began to tug at the chain again, his back arching a bit and thrusting his hips up an inch or two on reflex, wanting more stimulation. “M-master, more, please…”

Scotty smirked, his hands hovering with a lit candle over Casper’s chest. “That’s a good boy, you’ll get your reward soon, I promise.” You can suck me off later, don’t worry. Scotty let the first drop of hot wax his Casper near the left nipple, watching for his reaction. I can only do this if you’re interested.

Casper gasped as the hot wax dripped near his sensitive bud, his hiss soon becoming a shaky moan, taking a deep breath and speaking after a long moment of silence passed. “M-Master… why’d you stop? P-Please, Master, keep going…”

Scotty’s eyes were blown wide as he followed Casper’s begs for more pain. “As you wish…” His voice was deep and husky as he bent down to get closer to the bud, layering it with more and more hot wax, moving ever so slowly off of it and to the next perk nipple. He looks so hot squirming underneath his binds. I can’t wait to see him with me lodged inside, fuck that’ll be hot. Scotty let his left hand fall down lower towards Casper’s hard length, gently teasing it and rubbing all over it as he poured the wax over his body. Might as well give you something to enjoy.

Casper gasped and whimpered as the hot wax poured onto his nipples, writhing under him. Fuck, it hurts... and it feels so good... Casper gasped as Scotty’s hand suddenly brushed over his length, bucking his hips up a bit and moaning as he teased his member. He whined as the cock ring stayed firmly around the base of his length, keeping him from release. “M-Master… f-feels good…”

Scotty smirked, moving to stop the hot wax from over his nipples. “Is my Slave enjoying his treatment?” I really hope he is... Scotty moved his hand to completely wrap around Casper’s length, pumping it slowly and watching his reaction as he bucked up into his hand. Ah, that’s a great reaction...

Casper shuddered as Scotty’s hand fully enveloped his length, trying to buck up his hips in time with Scotty’s strokes, trying to speak somewhat clearly. “Y-Yes M-Master, it feels r-really good, m-more please…”

Scotty moved his hand away from Casper’s length, letting it fall against his stomach in all its hardness. “Of course you can have more.” Scotty moved the wax right above his balls, letting it spill slowly and started to move up the base of his long length. God, I wonder if he’ll say anything, this would normally be where the girls would all leave and never talk to me again... Fuck... Should I even be doing this to him?
Casper gasped, a high-pitched sound of mixed pain and pleasure obvious as he panted heavily, trying to speak. “S-Scotty- Master, I'm sorry, Master, b-be careful, please…” fuck.

Scotty shuddered at Casper’s cry of pain. Shit… Is it too late to…. Fuck.. Scotty took the candle away after blowing it out, moving quickly and grabbing something from the kitchen, his hand holding an ice cube against the hot wax, quickly cooling it down and gently picking it off, trying to cause him the least pain. His brows were furrowed a bit, gently cleaning his body of the wax. Fuck, I shouldn’t have done that… What if he’s too scared to say the fucking safe word? Does he think I’ll be mad at him?

Casper quietly whined as he felt the cold ice against his skin as Scotty cleaned the wax off of him, panting and sighing as the wax was peeled from his skin. He lay rather still, still squirming a bit, his member painfully hard and aching for release. “M-Master… l-let me cum… Please…”

Scotty was moving the wax away from where Casper lay on the floor so that it wouldn’t need to be picked up later. His length instantly hardened to it’s fullest as he heard Casper’s cry. Well, I’ll let you off easy, so I guess I can do that. Scotty came over silently, having already removed his pants long ago, kneeling down straddling his shoulders and moving the tip of his head so it pressed against his lips. “You need to be a good boy to me before I give you any rewards.” I wanna see what you can do to me…

Casper shuddered at Scotty’s words, immediately taking his length into his mouth and swirling his tongue around the tip, licking the slit before flattening his tongue against the underside, sucking on his length as Scotty pushed more into his mouth, trying not to choke as his nose finally pressed against his lips. “Fuck… I love the way you taste…

Scotty smirked and moved to pull out of Casper’s mouth a bit before moving back in a steady rhythm. This feels amazing. Scotty continued to push his length in all the way to the hilt and even a bit farther when he deemed Casper had recovered from his last thrust in. He got a bit rougher a few minutes before pulling out all the way. He moved off of Casper and pulled out the plug without warning, uncapping the lube to lube himself up. He should be stretched enough for me by now.

Casper did his best to not choke on his length, even beginning to bob his head upward and meet Scotty’s thrusts. He choked as Scotty tried to thrust particularly hard, coughing around his length and struggling to breathe, a tear that would’ve streaked down his cheek being caught by the blindfold’s fabric, coughing as Scotty drew out of him, gasping for breath. He jerked in surprise as the plug was suddenly pulled from him, trying to spread his legs wider as he heard the cap of the lube snap open, his back arching and panting with want, his member weeping with precum. “M-Master, please… I want you… I need you… fast, hard, please Master… I want you so fucking bad.

Scotty nodded, moving to thrust right into him, sheathing himself in an instant. Fuck, he feels so fucking good. He rolled his hips to get even further in before starting at a brutal pace. “I wanna hear you scream for me…” I wanna hear all the sounds you make. Scotty reached down and took off the cock ring, pounding into him still and once his hands were unoccupied they grabbed at his hips with bruising force.

Casper let out a loud cry of pleasure, feeling himself quickly approaching the edge. “Haaaa, oh my god Scotty, I-it… so good… Sc… Scotty!” Casper cried out as he came, his entire chest littered with white, feeling bliss wash over him and hit him like a tidal wave, blacking out. When he woke up an hour had passed, feeling sore and tired, moving a bit and finding his hands weren't bound, and he could see. It's warm… Casper shifted a bit and realized he was being carried up the stairs bridal-style, wrapped in a warm blanket and in Scotty’s arms. He brought a hand out from the folds of the blanket, weakly clutching at his shirt. That… That was wonderful… He didn't loosen his hold on Scotty as he was set on the bed gently, a thought occurring to him. ...I don’t remember you finishing,… We are not having that. Casper suddenly felt more awake, tugging Scotty onto the bed and taking advantage of his surprise to roll over, stopping on top of him, smirking faintly and staring into his eyes. “What? Do you expect me to not repay you for everything you did?” He leaned down, his hands running over Scotty’s torso as he began to suck dark marks onto his neck, murmuring into his skin. “That… That was amazing. I loved it.”

Scotty groaned as he felt Casper mark his neck, and shifted his head back exposing more skin. His eyes held a hint of surprise though it was quickly changed into lust. “Casper… Aren’t you tired?” *I don’t want you to push yourself… I can deal with being blue balled. My hardon’s already gone down… What are you planning on? Scotty moved to put his elbows under him, and moving to wrap an arm around him to pull him off to get him to lay down.

Nope. Casper moved out of Scotty’s hold as he was almost pushed back onto the bed, snatching both of Scotty’s hands and holding them above his head. “No, I'm not. Let me… repay you.” Casper suddenly realized how naked he and Scotty were when he suddenly felt their crotches rub against each other as he shifted, himself completely bare and Scotty only having a shirt on. ...well then. Casper looked up at the bedside table, slightly ajar. He was sure he saw the glint of metal inside, grinning as he remembered what it was. In a second he had Scotty handcuffed to the headboard, kissing down his neck as his hands ran down his chest, tugging at his shirt and pulling it over his head and far onto his arms, all lips and tongue and a bit of teeth all over his torso, his hands holding down his hips as Scotty tried to buck up. “Scotty, please. Let me take good care of you.” You deserve it.

Scotty’s eyes were wide as he watched Casper loom over him. Holy fuck. “C-Casper… You don’t have to… You just… We just… You should be resting, I don’t want you to overexert yourself.” And that’s a real concern, especially with what I did...

Casper huffed a bit in frustration as his mouth wandered over Scotty’s stomach, his one hand splayed across Scotty’s hip to keep him still. “Scotty…” His other hand closed around Scotty’s slowly hardening length, firmly and agonizingly slowly pumping it. “...just enjoy it.” I’ll be fine.

Scotty nodded, groaning as Casper’s slow ministrations found all the sensitive spots on his length. “F-Fuck… Casper…” Scotty grunted as he curled his toes, bring his knees in a little as he dug his heels into the mattress. Is this payback for what I did? If you wanted me to stop you could’ve said the word...

Casper grinned as Scotty swore, his hand still pumping his length as he reached up with the other to the end table again, getting a small bottle of lube out and holding it asit as he went back to loom over Scotty. He kissed down Scotty’s chest, snapping the cap of the tube open and coating his fingers liberally with lube. His hand drifted down to Scotty’s entrance, tracing the pucker with his finger and looking up at Scotty from his place over his chest before pressing past the muscle, feeling up his soft walls. I want to feel you. I haven't since the first time we had sex…. and that was forever ago...

Scotty’s eyes filled with lust, blowing wide to only have a thin rim of color around the pupil. Holy shit… He’s gonna top now... He let out a loud moan, moving his hips a bit to try and get more of Casper's fingers into him. I want more… Fuck… But I don't want to push you.

Casper’s eyes glinted as he saw the lust in Scotty’s own, soon adding a second finger, and then a third, thrusting in and out steadily and curling, searching for his prostate. He smirked as Scotty let out a cry of pleasure, brushing again over that spot to get the same reaction. There it is.

Scotty curled his toes as another wave of pleasure washed over him. “C-Casper… That’s enough…” I don’t want just your fingers… I want you….

Casper grinned, withdrawing his hand and going to slick himself up, lining up with Scotty’s entrance and plunging forward, biting his neck and sucking a dark mark at the joint, beginning with a steady pace, quickly going faster as his thrust went deeper and deeper, moaning into his neck. “You're so fucking tight… my God…”

Scotty’s arms tugged against the headboard, pulling on the chain linking the cuffs together. “F...F-Fuck… Casper… It feels good.” His words were low as he moaned between them, trying to get it out in one go as Casper withdrew from him and then went right back to his quickening pace. Fuck… He’s gonna hit my pros- Scotty let out a loud yell as Casper finally thrusted to his prostate. “There! Casper!”

Casper left dark mark after dark mark up Scotty’s neck and collar as he pounded into him, aiming for his prostate and hitting it dead on. His other hand still stroked his member, quickening his strokes and firmly twisting his hand. He moved up to near Scotty’s ear, murmuring in a low, smooth voice. “I want to hear you scream.” I want to hear you.

“Casper! There! Fuck me there!! Please ! I need you! I want you! I want you so much! Casper! Fuck me as hard as you can! Please !” Scotty started to scream as he felt the coil starting to quickly tighten in his gut. Fuck… I won’t be able to last much longer, shit.

...now that is how to beg for it. Casper’s eyes became dangerously dark, stroking and twisting Scotty’s length as he rammed into him, pulling up his legs to wrap around his waist and get a better angle, feeling his own orgasm creeping up on him as he abused his prostate. I need to last as long as you do…

Scotty continued to moan, his arms tugging against the cuffs with added effort as he tried to break free of his restraints, wanting to be able to feel Casper’s back. He let his long legs wrap around Casper’s waist, opening up his hips for Casper to grab, feeling the sensation of being filled to the brink and being pummeled, the weight of his whole body down as it forced itself to arch off the mattress. His orgasm hit, and it wasn’t long before cum was splattered over their chests and Scotty’s frantic breathing sounded. Holy. Fucking. Shit.

Casper saw stars as he hit his own orgasm, watching Scotty fall apart underneath him as he filled him, slowing his motions and drawing out of him, weakly moving to unlock the handcuffs before collapsing next to Scotty, pulling him close to him and tangling their limbs, not wanting to get up or let go. ...you’re warm… and I’m sleepy… Casper yawned, slumping into the mattress as he fell asleep.

Scotty let his arms down from above his head, one wrapped around Casper as he looked over him, noticing how red and irritated his skin had become. Shit… I burned him… I should probably wrap them at least for today… I shouldn’t’ve done that to him in the first place. Fuck, he’s gonna have those marks for a long time.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Day 4
Spades groaned as she stepped through the door, quietly turning on the light. “It’s so fucking late… I wonder if Lathe’s awake?” Her words were quiet as she leaned over to carefully take off her heals. What time even is it? It’s past 10 I know that much… But I haven’t really looked at a clock since I left. Spades picked her head up as she heard the soft music on the piano in the other room. He’s up? She dropped her things by the stairs, quietly padding to the piano and leaning on his shoulders as she hugged him from behind. “It’s late Lathe, you could’ve gone to bed.”

Lathe’s hands slowly moved over the keys, graceful and quiet, playing a simple yet moving melody, tilting his head as she hugged him from behind, nuzzling against her ear. “I could’ve…” His hands left the keys, turning and latching his lips to her neck to gently kiss and nip at her tan skin, his hands going to rest on her hips and guide her onto the piano bench, and into his lap. “…but I think this decision was better.”

Spades giggled as she curled up into his lap. “Oh, do you now? What were you expecting from this decision exactly?” I can only imagine what you would do… I know you love my uniform. She moved her hands to cup his cheeks and pull his head up to leave soft pecks all over his face. You are mine, and I’m happy that I still get to say that.

Lathe reached forward to close the lid of the keys, letting Spades lean back against him facing him in his lap as he let one hand drift lower and lower down her back, his other hand cradling her neck, his eyes lidded a bit, glinting with love and lust. “…why don’t you just let me show you?” His voice was low and smooth, kissing her passionately and tangling their tongues, hot and slow. Mine. Lathe let his hand move to Spades’ ass, squeezing and leaning forward, flush against her.

Spades smiled as Lathe leaned her back against the keycover. Oh wow… This is actually a really nice surprise. Her hands moved from his face down his front, feeling his abs underneath the shirt he was wearing. She pulled back from the deep kiss to breathe hard a few moments later. “Lathe… baby please… take me already, don’t tease me any longer.” Spades begged for him to pick up his pace as he moved his hands. I want a good fucking to get me to fall asleep tonight.

Lathe smirked, his hands wandering to her front and undoing the buttons on her blouse, bringing it off of her shoulders and ducking down to nip at her still-clothed breasts, dropping her blouse and moving to the zipper of her skirt, his hand running up the inside of her leg and thigh as he dragged the zipper down agonizingly slowly, soon pulling it down her legs and similarly dropping it, his eyes raking up her form. He himself moved to tug his own sweater over his head, his tank top not leaving much to the imagination. He dipped back down to nip at her chest, one hand under the small of her back, his other dragging up her leg to her panties, rubbing her through the thin fabric, murmuring against her skin. “You’re already soaked… just for me.” He grinned, nipping a bit rougher where her nipple hid underneath the flesh-colored fabric.

Spades let out a high pitched gasp, her leg slowly coming up to wrap around Lathe’s waist. “Lathe… I’ve been wanting you all day… don’t make me wait any longer, please…” Her voice was sultry as she leaned closer to him, her head dipping down to latch onto Lathe’s collarbone and starting to gently suck. I want to keep trying with you… I want you so much.

Lathe nearly stopped his movements as he remembered the pill container sitting neatly on the sink upstairs. ...enjoy this. Ask later. Lathe let it go for the moment, sighing as Spades sucked a mark onto his collarbone, his hands moving up to play with the hem of her panties. He slid them down her legs, revealing her rosy folds and dragging a finger up her bare warmth, smirking as she gasped. He moved to undo the button on his jeans, shifting to bring them and his boxers off of his hips, kicking them off under the piano bench and pushing the bench back a bit as he stood, Spades’ legs still wrapped around his waist and holding her up to practically lay on top of the piano, grateful for how sturdy it was. He teasingly brushed his head over her slick hole, slowly pressing forward and sheathing himself completely in her, his head dropping onto her chest, overcome with the initial sensation, moaning quietly. He slowly pulled back until only the tip was still inside of her before thrusting back in, starting at a slower pace. You probably need to adjust at least a little...

Spades let out a high pitch cry as Lathe entered her fully in one fluid motion. Her long hands moved to curl up into his shirt, grabbing it as she felt the tears sting her eyes for a few moments. “Fuck you’re huge... Lathe... Mmh...” She moaned as her back arched up off the piano a bit, toes curling in as she started to stretch out around him. “Fuck... L-Lathe...” Her body seemed to move on it's own, her hips rotating until she let out a loud gasp again. “Holy shit... Lathe... H-honey... Right there... Ahh, feels-Ngh- good...” Spades struggled to keep her words coherent, trying to keep her eyes on him as his pace steadied. Hot fuck... Did you get bigger since the last time?

Lathe nodded, his eyes glinting as he picked up the pace a bit, one of Spades’ legs thrown over his shoulder as he thrust deeply into her, aiming for that one spot that made her gasp and shudder, moaning his name. “S-Spades... you... f-feel so good... and you look so damn sexy like that...” Their eyes met, the electricity between them tangible as Lathe thrusted harder, his free hand wandering her torso and moving to unclip her bra, not removing it, but making it easier to hold and tease her breasts, pinching the bud between his fingers.

Spades pushed back into each of his thrusts as much as she could manage. “Lathe, fuck me... Please... I want your everything. I want it all.” It feels so good, I don’t think I’d be able to last a lot longer. She struggled to keep in her moans as they got louder with each thrust that made her melt. Fuck... Spades threw her head back as she felt the familiar wave of pleasure wash over her yet again. “You like that? You like that I’m sexy? And that... That I’m wet for you?” Her voice was feigning innocence as she shifted to pull him closer with the leg wrapped over his shoulder. “I want you to fuck me... Please.”

Lathe’s eyes were nearly black, dipping down to suck hard at her neck as he pounded into her, moaning as she spoke. ...holy fuck... “You're so fucking sexy... and you're dripping... just for me.” Lathe lifted his head a bit, a possessive look in his eyes as he murmured against the shell of her ear. “And I'm going to fuck you until you can’t stand up.” He thrusted hard into her, deep and fast, feeling warmth pooling in his own stomach. I'm getting close...

Spades’ whole body shuddered as he almost growled in her ear, she groaned, putting her head down on the top of the piano as she felt her orgasm starting to surface. “Lathe... I... I’m gonna... Ahh!” Spades barely had enough time to warn him as she clamped down around him. You feel so good... Fuck, Lathe! She curled in on herself, riding out wave after wave of pleasure as Lathe continued to ravage her. She tightened around Lathe’s huge member, making him seem even larger than he already was. “Fuck... Lathe... Ha... That felt... So good... No... It was more than good... It was amazing,”

Lathe groaned loudly into her shoulder, still thrusting into her as he came, leaving a large dark hickey at the joint of her neck and not caring that it would barely hide under her collar. Mine. He slowed his thrusts, his hands going to hold the small of her back as he drew out of her, kissing her chastely, in a way that made Spades blush and her stomach flutter. “I really love you, Spades...” He gently lifted her from where she lay on the piano, sitting her in his lap and reclining her bra, helping her find her clothes strewn about and his own under the piano bench. He patted the top of the instrument before moving with Spades to go upstairs, looking up with a sheepish look for a moment. ...hope you didn’t mind, Carla... sorry... kinda.

Spades wobbled a bit as she made her way slowly up the stairs, swaying on her feet. That felt... wonderful… But I can no longer walk straight… What the actual hell… Spades had to stop halfway up the stairs, holding onto the wall, almost expecting to fall over if she took another step. Fuck, that did a number… A piano underneath… Not a very suitable bed… She had to wait for Lathe to help her up the rest of the large staircase, walking down the long hallway to their room. Levi and Eren’s door was open, their naked bodies sprawled out against each other. Awe… That’s cute… Spades first went to their bathroom and opened that bottle of pills and took another two pills. Two after sex, one daily.

Lathe shut the door to Eren and Levi’s room silently as they passed it, helping Spades to their room and letting her go into the bathroom, letting her pick up the pills and take the two of them before he padded up behind her, his own hand closing over hers as she still held the pills in their container, his other arm wrapped around her middle. He murmured quietly in her ear, his voice calm and quiet. “Those aren't birth control pills, are they?”

Spades sighed quietly shaking her head. “No… They’re not… Do you want me to go back on them?” I asked… My doctor said it was okay, that I could try… She shifted to look up to meet his eyes, her eyes portraying her uncertainty as she tried to read his expression. “I don’t know what you’re thinking anymore about this…. My doctor said we had to start trying now to ever even have a chance of getting a child in the next five years.

Lathe was expressionless for a moment, before he faintly smiled and shook his head, leaning down to peck her lips gently. “No, not if you don’t want to. I… So much of this is your decision… But I really do want kids, and if it’s hard for you to conceive… Might as well start trying.” Lathe turned Spades around, setting the pill container on the sink as he rested their foreheads together, one hand cradling the back of her neck. “Spades, I really, really love you, and… if you want kids…” Lathe smiled warmly, his eyes bright. “And since I do… I’d love to try.” He patiently waited for her to respond, quiet, a steady presence.

Spades watched his expression turn into one of happiness, relief washing over her whole body in an instant. Oh thank god, he’s not mad at me. “Um… My doctor told me that… Um… Every few days is best to try… But we looked to see how many eggs I have left. And there’s not a lot… Um… If I can’t conceive in… F-five years…. We won’t be able to try again…” I feel horrible bringing this on you right now… But, you were bound to find out eventually.

Lathe nodded, kissing her sweetly, willing her to stay peaceful. “It’s okay, Spades.” He pulled back, smirking faintly and wagging his eyebrow a bit. “We’ll just have to try until then.” But his expression soon softened, brushing a lock of hair out of Spades’ face, his tone morose as he murmured. “…when were you going to tell me any of this?”

Spades paled a bit as she looked down. “I wasn’t gonna tell you originally…. I um… I wanted it to be a surprise, and I was hoping that maybe- and I know this is being really hopeful- but maybe I would take earlier than expected…” I wanted it to be a surprise for you. She moved to put her head against his chest, taking on a deep breath of his scent. “Can we lay down? If we’re gonna talk more? I don’t think I can stay standing much longer.”

Lathe nodded, moving to slip his arm under her knees, lifting her from the floor bridal-style and carrying her to bed, slipping under the covers with her and pulling up the quilt, holding her against him. “Spades… I understand that you’d like it to be a surprise, but with things the way they are… You need to let me know. You need to tell me stuff. I… I don't like not knowing about things so important.. It… It really really means a lot to me… I’ve known I wanted a kid and a family since high school… I… It’s a big decision… Please, when it comes to big things like that…” Lathe gently held her hip, a thumb running over her stomach. “Tell me.” We’re talking about a tiny living human! …I’ve always wanted a tiny human… I'd like to know when we're trying...
Spades nodded, curling up to Lathe’s side. “Okay… We’ve been trying for about a week.” She nuzzled her head into his chest. “I have off tomorrow, we can talk more then okay?” She asked quietly, her eyes already starting to close. I'm tired.

Lathe nodded, his nose buried in her hair and taking a deep breath of her scent, relaxing into the bed. It hasn't been too long… He sighed quietly, beginning to drift to sleep. …tiny humans… He fell into a peaceful sleep, his dreams full of the pitter-patter of tiny feet.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Day 5

Eren curled up to Levi a little more in the large recliner chair. His legs were tangled with Levi’s, his head buried into the shorter man’s chest as he had lost interest in the movie a long time ago. Why are we still watching this? Is it because I was talking with Norman?

Levi was watching the movie with disinterest, not even registering what was on the screen. ...*he was talking to the wall again. He fucking named it Norman. He wasn't even fucking listening to me when I tried to talk to him the first time around! Something with his meds is whack. Should probably tell Lathe. But he'd rather talk to a wall than cuddle with me… murr…. Levi buried his nose in Eren’s long brunette locks, kicking up his feet up and pulling Eren even moreso on top of him, sighing as Eren's full weight rested on him. …my human…

Eren watched Levi move him from the where he was sitting before. What are we doing now? I don't understand? "Levi?" Eren's voice was quiet as he shifted to look up at Levi's eyes. "Are we still watching the movie?" It doesn't seem like either of us are interested... I should go talk to Norman again... I didn't get to finish my talk with him. He moved to sit up, inadvertently grinding against Levi's crotch.

Levi whimpered as Eren ground against him, turning scarlet as he realized how much that small action had turned him on. Fuck... I want it. Levi looked into Eren's eyes, his hands reaching out to pull him on top of him again by the hips, letting his left thigh grind up between Eren's legs. I want to hear your reaction to this.

Eren's whole body shuddered, his eyes closing as he whimpered in sudden need. He let a small moan escape as he ground back into the raised thigh. Fuck... The friction feels really good.... "Levi..." Eren whined as he continued to grind on his thigh, his whole face starting to flush. Fuck... It feels really good...

Levi's eyes began to look hooded, shifting to grind up against Eren and please him at the same time. Levi pulled Eren down so their chests were flush, his hands roaming his back before one settled on gripping his hair, the other slipping into the pocket of his jeans as they moved. Fuck... It feels good...

Eren let out a soft whimper as his hair was pulled, which he moved his head away from Levi's grip. Don't pull... Please don't pull... Eren's grinding stopped as he moved his head away from Levi's hand to the other side of his chest. No... I don't want you to grab it... Eren seemed to settle down once Levi's hand was no longer in his hair, and his hips moved down to grind against him again. I wanna be better about this... But you can't do a lot.

...right. Okay. Levi let his hands instead trace patterns all over Eren's back, moaning as Eren ground particularly hard against him. Fuck... I... Levi switched their positions, sitting on top of Eren's crotch and rolling his hips, shuddering at the delicious friction the new position gave him.
...I. I want it. "E-Eren... C-can I... can I ride you?" Levi blushed crimson as he stuttered out the question, his own want to be taken a bit odd to him himself. I normally always top... But I don't want to this time.

Eren looked up to Levi with surprise, not sure what to say about it at the moment. He wants to bottom? But he never bottoms... Eren looked down at his hands, his voice quiet as he stuttered a bit. "Y-You don't... H-have to... I can r-ride y-y-you..." Eren trailed off, looking away with a blush across his cheeks. Don't you want to top? You always top...

Levi shook his head, his hands running down Eren's chest to play with the hem of his pants, leaning over to murmur in his ear. "Please, Eren... I want to." He ground again onto Eren's clothed half-harden, sealing his lips over Eren's to silence any protests as he began to undo the button on Eren's jeans and pulled them and his boxers down to his knees, soon letting his mouth trail down to his exposed member, kissing his clothed chest as he went. Holding the base in his hand, he breathed over the head before taking the tip into his mouth, looking up to Eren with shaded eyes.

Eren gasped as Levi started to undress him, watching him kiss down his whole body. He's.... He's serious...Eren watched with amazement as Levi took his length into his mouth and started to suck at his head. "F-Fuck... Levi...." He threw his head back against the recliner as he closed his eyes, enjoying the feeling of Levi's mouth around his hardening length. It feels good...

Levi bobbed his head as he took in more of Eren's length, taking in Eren's pleased expression and flattening his tongue against the underside of his length, not able to take in his entire member, his hand pumping the base and what he couldn't take in. I don't exactly do this a lot... I'm probably not that good at it... He hummed on his length, sending vibrations down his member.

Eren groaned, his hands trying to find something to grab onto, finally deciding to grip at the hem of his shirt. ...I.... I don't know... It feels weird... I'm not usually getting this done to me. "L-Levi..." He gripped the hem of his shirt like his life depended on it as he tried to curl in on himself, feeling waves of pleasure already starting to wash over him. Levi.... I'm not used to this...

Levi moved his hands to gently guide Eren back down, slowly coming back up to pull off of Eren's length, now slick with his saliva. That'll have to do. Levi shed his own pants and boxers, pulling his shirt up and off of him, showing off his chiseled torso. He leaned down to lightly kiss at Eren's neck, testing the waters with tiny closed-mouthed pecks as he went to pull Eren's own shirt up and off. He nipped gently at his Adam's apple as he positioned himself over Eren's length, his knees on either side of Eren's hips as he slowly began to sink down on his length, having to stop and adjust every few inches, so unused to the stretching. Soon enough their hips met, Levi panting hard as he was filled, pleasure soon taking place of the pain. Fuck... I really like this.

Eren's eyes were blown with lust, watching Levi sink down on his length and feeling his heat invading him. "L-Levi.... Haa..." He didn't know what to do with his hands, so unsure of where to put them. They first tried to find his shirt to grip on, but it was thrown out of reach, and he had nothing to hold onto on his stomach, inadvertently scratching at himself, trying to find something to hold onto and grab. What do I do? What do I? I don't know what to do! Levi... What's happening...

Levi's eyes widened a bit with worry as Eren scratched at his stomach, taking hold of both his hands and draping them over his own shoulders to grip at his back. "You can touch me all you want. Don't worry or be shy..." Levi ground down, Eren's length going even deeper into him, groaning. "...just feel." Fuck... It feels good... Levi slowly began to draw up on Eren's length and slip back down, starting a slow and steady pace, becoming particularly vocal, his moans becoming louder and louder. It feels really good...

Eren's face was as red as a tomato, watching Levi start to get a rhythm on him. ... He's riding me... Levi's actually riding me... His fingers gripped onto Levi's shoulders, shaking a bit in nervousness. "L-Levi...." It feels... So surreal... Like it's not actually happening... But it is... Eren let out a few soft moans, trying to stifle them knowing that Lathe was upstairs making dinner. I can hear Dad moving around... Fuck... What happens if we get caught? Eren's face got even redder from the embarrassment that situation posed. He didn't know what else to do besides silently watch Levi move on him, watching as his muscles contracted under his skin, glistening from a soft sheen of sweat. *He's warm... It feels nice..."

Levi pouted faintly as Eren seemed to clam up, sucking gently at his Adam's apple. "Please, Eren... I want to hear you." Levi began to bounce a bit faster on his length, rolling his hips with every downward thrust. He suddenly gasped as Eren's length hit his prostate, rolling his hips hard so his member firmly brushed it over and over. *Fuck, Eren, it feels too good..."

Eren finally let out a loud moan as Levi sucked at his Adam's apple. "L-Levi... Ha..." He felt Levi tighten only slightly around him and whimpered a bit. It feels so good... "T-tight..." Eren couldn't help but begin to moan in pleasure as Levi increased his pace. He still didn't really know what to do with himself and stayed where he was, still as Levi did all the work. What am I supposed to be doing?

Levi dropped his head into the crook of Eren's neck, still licking and suckling at his neck as he spoke, his voice a bit shaky. *"E-Eren... Y-you can... Haaa... Move too..." Please... I want more."

Eren moaned a bit, though when Levi got too rough he pulled his head away from him, his hands nervously trailing down his chest and to his hips and holding them. ...How am I supposed to move? I don't really remember what I did before... I'm not used to this... His eyes were shaded as he timidly rolled his hips up, feeling himself penetrate Levi even further. "What am I supposed to be doing? Is this alright?" His voice was a bit shaky as he tried to keep rolling his hips on Levi.

Levi moaned as Eren's length brushed harder against his prostate, thrusting downward to meet Eren's thrusts in time. "E-Eren... Y-Yes, do that, please keep going, it feels really good... H-harder, if you can... J-just don't stop... My god, please, don't stop..."

Eren wasn't sure what to do with Levi acting the way he was but decided that he was okay. His hands gripped a little harder at Levi's hips, rolling up at the same angle with as much power as he could muster, which was not as much as Levi could put behind a thrust, but harder than him just rolling his hips. His face flushed a bit more when Levi moaned more. He looks really hot... I kinda like this... Even though it feels really weird... Eren's eyes were wide open, taking in every moment that Levi was bouncing on him, his toes beginning to curl as the sensations started hurling him towards the edge. He started to clam up, so embarrassed that he was getting close to cumming so soon. *Fuck... This is so much..."

Levi moaned and gasped loudly as Eren's length abused his prostate, bouncing hard on Eren's length and reveling in the bliss as Eren's length managed to pound even deeper into him as Eren thrusted up. He noticed Eren had quieted, leaning down and speaking lowly and smoothly into his ear, feeling his coil just beginning to tighten. "Why are you so quiet Eren? You know..." He moved to suck at his Adam's apple, pinching Eren's nipples between his fingers, his legs spreading wider so he could sink further and fully meet Eren's hips, rolling his hips hard. He smirked faintly, switching tactics. <"-you sound so fucking hot when you scream."> I want to fucking hear you. "I swear, your moans are the sexiest sounds I've ever heard. My god, you turn me on... And your cock feels so good, buried inside of me, I love it... I don't know how you don't know, I'd beg you for it and do anything for you, I'd be your slut and love it. I'm harder than a rock for you, my length is just dripping with want for you. Please... Give me everything... I want everything... I want to make you feel good... I want to hear you."

Eren's eyebrows raised as he listened to everything Levi said. His hold on Levi's hips becoming stronger as he thrust up exceptionally hard, drilling Levi with a few widened thrusts. "L- Levi... I... I can't h-hold..." Eren had to stop thrusting to keep himself from coming too soon. His words... They went straight to my dick. He let out loud whines and whimpers as Levi continued to move on him, struggling to hold it in. I... c-can't...." Eren's body started to curl up on instinct, his toes curling, and bringing his knees up as he buried his face into Levi's chest. All the motions and words brought him over the edge with a shrill cry of pleasure coming from his lips. I'm coming... I'm coming... What if he didn't want me to come inside? Eren swallowed hard, the whines and whimpers dying down, but his head never came up to look Levi in the eye. What if he's mad? That I came so early?

Levi moaned loudly as Eren came, Eren's sound of pleasure driving him over the edge. "E-Eren, my God, please, fill me up..." Levi cried out in bliss as his own coil snapped, grinding down on Eren's length as he decorated both of their chests with white, dropping his head into Eren's shoulder, panting hard and not wanting to lose the blissful sensation of being filled just yet. My god... I like being the bottom.

Eren still stayed curled up to Levi's chest, his head buried in it, his knees brought up almost touching Levi's back. "L-Levi... I... I... It... f-feels really w-weird..." Your really tight and I don't know if I stopped yet... It feels so weird. It's like I'm still cumming... But I can't tell. Eren shuddered as yet another way of bliss ran through his body and he released even more cum than before. "W-what's happening?" Why am I still cumming?

Levi gently tried to ease Eren down, pecking the skin of his neck as his hands lightly ran over his chest, lowly sighing as he was still being filled, adoring the sensation. "It's okay Eren, you don't ever really top so it can feel weird... Mmm... But you're still filling me up... Nnn... I-it feels really good to m-me..." Levi tried to get Eren to calm down, as his legs curling up were nearly trying to force him off. You're still cumming... And im not trying to be selfish, but I don't wanna give this up yet... Levi let his hands go to Eren's thighs, gently pushing them down and coaxing Eren to be more or less flat again, willing him to be calm and pressing butterfly kisses all over his jaw and neck and face as he was filled. "Eren, it's okay. It's normal, what's happening. I swear. Dont worry."

Eren whimpered when Levi pushed his thighs down, feeling his dick move inside of Levi's tightness and another wave of pleasure washing over him yet again. "Fuck... T-t-tight...." Eren whined as he felt Levi's hole clamp around him, as if trying to get him to spill every drop of his being. It feels really weird...Eren moved his head away when Levi tried to kiss at his neck, but laid flat, his eyes still locked on Levi's body.

Levi laid his head on Eren's chest, stilling and just resting for a long moment, beginning to feel worn out. He waited until his breathing had more or less evened before finally shifting up, drawing Eren out of him. He moved a bit so he was curled to Eren's side. I feel sore... Sooooo worth it.

Eren watched Levi come off of him with a squelching pop as he let his length fall. He laid his head back exhaustedly, closing his eyes, his hands beginning to scratch again because he was so unused to being curled up to. What am I supposed to be doing? I still don't know... He felt his body starting to come down from his blissful high, and starting to recognize what happened around him, and just how much cum was all over him. How are we gonna get upstairs with all this?

Levi shifted and caught Eren's hands as they scratched, beginning to understand what it meant. "Eren, there's no specific way to do any of this. You could hold onto me with one or both, or just do what feels right. I know you're not used to it... But..." He looked away from him, embarrassed, his voice quiet. "...I'd like to be the bottom a bit more..." Levi tried to ignore his burning cheeks, suddenly realizing how sticky everything felt. "We really made a mess... It's a good thing that Lathe had a shower put in with the bathroom in the art studio just next door. After the painting incidents with you completely covered in paint, he learned it could be useful. And it will be." Levi shifted to move from the couch, feeling very sore and trying to shift his weight around to where it didn't hurt. He offered a hand to Eren, hurling him stand and guiding him to the shower in the next room, bringing their clothes with them. Levi locked the door and started the water, stepping in when it was warm enough and leading Eren in under the spray. Staring at Eren for a moment, he stepped forward a bit and wound his arms around him, resting his forehead against his chest, yearning for closeness. *I don't know what's gotten into me... But I just wanna stand here... *...if you held me, it would be nice... "Eren... I just... ...can you take the lead... Please? Just for right now, at least..." Levi's voice was quiet, letting his hair hide his eyes.

Eren followed Levi along, favoring the warmth that the water brought them. I... I guess I can do that. Eren's arms slowly came out to wrap around Levi's back and pull him close. "It's... Um... It's o-okay." He soon began to trace patterns into Levi's skin, soon tracing over his large tattoo, a soft smile on his face as he held them under the warm spray. This is nice... He fits in my arms nicely. Eren reached for the soap, starting to wash the two of them, humming softly to calm down his nerves. What if I do something wrong?

Levi leaned into Eren's touch, calm and quiet as Eren washed them, listening to Eren's heartbeat and his humming. He sighed as Eren traced over his back, his hold on him gentle, murmuring into his chest, his eyes shutting as he enjoyed his touch. "This is nice..." I like this... Eren was softly singing a few songs as he continued to wash him. His hands wandered easily as he watched Levi close his eyes. Good... He's calming down... I think... Eren hummed quietly to Levi, gently bringing the wash cloth across his softened length, his hands shaking a bit. Be gentle, be gentle... Levi quietly whimpered as Eren washed his nether gently, his hold on his middle tightening just a bit before relaxing as he moved on, nestled into his chest. He listened to his soft voice, not letting go when Eren stopped washing, softly sighing when after a few moments Eren's hands threaded through his hair to shampoo his noir locks, lifting his head a bit so Eren could reach better, his eyes still shut as he enjoyed the feeling of being washed.

Eren leaned against the warm tiles as he took in the scent that the shampoo left of the two of them. He was gentle as quick as he finished washing the two of them off, gently getting the suds out of Levi's hair before working on himself. He shut the water off once they were done. "Levi... Um... Dinner should be ready soon..." He watched Levi nod, taking them out of the warm shower and drying them off. Eren helped Levi get dressed before the two of them walked upstairs to the delicious smelling food.
Day 6

Lathe tapped away at his laptop, filtering through emails. ...today has been a better day than others as of late. Eren isn’t talking to walls today, which is nice. I heard through Levi about that, and put him on a lower dosage of his meds, so it’ll hopefully be a bit better for him. So far so good, I guess. I haven’t caught him having conversations with ‘Norman’ yet today, so it’s a start. Even if it isn’t much past lunchtime yet. It’s progress. We’re getting close to where he needs to be.

Eren was seated in his studio room, softly humming every now and then as he watched Luna and Charlie prance around in the winter snow. His eyes were glued to the window overlooking the backyard, his hand moving ever so slowly as he carefully drew the two horses. I wonder when they’re going to have a foal? Will they get there eventually? I know Charlie’s been staying with Luna a lot more, and always staying around her… I wonder if she already went into heat? Or is she going to be soon? A million questions were floating through his mind as he sat and distractedly drew the beautiful scene in front of him. Eren was in his own little world, completely oblivious to everything except the window and his drawing.

Levi quietly padded to the studio room, lightly knocking on the doorframe and trying not to spook Eren. He chuckled faintly when he saw Eren’s concentrated look to the window, walking up behind him quietly and wrapping his arms gently around his middle, flush with his back as he nestled his nose into his hair. He looked down to the paper in front of him, speaking quietly. “What’re you drawing?”

Eren jumped a bit, gasping as he felt the arms wrap around him, his muscles tensing as he thought of the worst case scenario. He had been so concentrated on drawing, he didn’t hear Levi’s knock. But once Levi’s voice left his lips, Eren relaxed, sinking back into his embrace and feelings his warmth radiating into his back. “T-The ho-horses… Y-Y-You scared me… I d-didn’t hear y-you…” Eren looked up to Levi with wide eyes. Stay calm, stay calm…. It’s just Levi...

Levi gently rubbed Eren’s side with his thumb, his expression a bit sheepish. “I’m sorry… I knocked, but you were concentrating so much on drawing you didn’t hear me. Sorry I snuck up on you.” He gently pecked at the side of Eren’s neck, up to his ear, gently nibbling at it. “T-The ho-horses… Y-Y-You scared me… I d-didn’t hear y-you…” Eren looked up to Levi with wide eyes. Stay calm, stay calm…. It’s just Levi...

Levi gently rubbed Eren’s side with his thumb, his expression a bit sheepish. “I’m sorry… I knocked, but you were concentrating so much on drawing you didn’t hear me. Sorry I snuck up on you.” He gently pecked at the side of Eren’s neck, up to his ear, gently nibbling at it. “It looks really good so far. I like it.” You’ve obviously already spent quite a while on it.

Eren tenses a bit as Levi nibbled at his ear, his breath hitching as he tried to relax. It’s just Levi… He said he doesn’t mind that my ears are like this… Eren swallowed hard, trying not to think about how his ears had come to be as they were, the extra skin cut off around his ear, leaving damaged cartilage behind. He swallowed, his hands beginning to shake as he tried to rid his throat of the large lump it held. Shit… “Th-Th-Thanks…” His voice quiet and timid, trying to hold off his nervousness.

Levi pulled back from his ear, his brow furrowed a bit in worry as Eren’s hands began to shake. Huh? …is it still your ears? Levi reached out to catch Eren’s shaking hands, studying his ear for a moment. He noted the small curves of the cartilage where the lobe was missing. His eyes widened. …how did I never fucking notice they were bitten off? He twined their fingers, his eyes closing as he gently lapped at his ear. “Eren, you don’t have to worry about how your ears look. It’s okay. I don’t mind anything about them. They’re part of you.” He pressed a loving peck to the spot where the lobe would be, willing Eren to be calm. They’re fine. Please don’t be so conscious about them… at least with me.

Eren pulled his head away from Levi, whimpering a little bit. “D-don’t bite…. Please.” Eren’s eyes turned a little fearful as his eyes finally met with Levi’s. I don’t want to be reminded about that… They bit off a lot more than you know… Or have realized… Eren swallowed hard, his courage to speak out finally failing and his gaze returning to his shaking hands which were in Levi’s hand.

Levi nodded, pulling away from his ear and moving down to the joint of his neck, pressing light kisses to the spot. He gently moved to turn Eren in his stool around, moving to sit facing him in his lap, kissing up his jaw to his lips, his arms slung over his shoulders. I’m sorry for making you scared all over again…. and I just want a little bit of attention… God, why the hell am I so clingy lately? I’m weirding myself out.

Eren timidly wrapped his arms around Levi’s waist as his stool was spun to face Levi, still shaking as he gripped his shirt. Eren softly kisses back, still a bit unsure about how everything was going to go. Thank god, he understands… Hopefully he won’t do it again. He felt a few tears sting his eyes as they bubbled up. Thank god… I don’t know what I would’ve done if he didn’t understand.

Levi let his hands move to Eren’s shoulders, feeling Eren’s face grow warm and letting his eyes flutter open as he pulled back a bit, seeing him on the verge of tears. He gently pecked at the corner of his eyes, his hands lightly trailing down his front, murmuring softly. “It’s okay, Eren, I’ll be really careful about it now. I promise.” His hands wandered to his waist, brushing the hem of his shirt. I don’t want to do anything if you’re not really up to it… I don’t want to make it ever feel like a chore or anything, like you have to…

Eren nodded as Levi spoke, sniffling as he let the tears fall over the edge and trail down his cheeks. He looked up a bit to Levi, feeling his hands on the hem of his shirt. “… Only if I get to draw you naked after…” That’s my offer. I don’t mind if you let me draw you all over again. I need to learn your body all over again, because I haven’t drawn it in so long, I can’t draw it without you in front of me…. That scares me…
Levi immediately stopped, his hands feather-light on his waist as he pulled back to look at him.
“Eren… I only want to if you want to. I don’t want it to feel like you’re being forced to… I’d let you draw me either way, but we don’t have to…” I’d feel fucking awful if you felt forced at any point… I don’t want it to be like that...

Eren shook his head, resting it on Levi’s shoulder, his cooler hands coming under the hem of his shirt and feeling the smooth muscle under his fingers. “I wanna draw you after sex…. I might need to take a few pictures though.” I can only imagine how hot that would look. “I need something to keep me company for when you leave again.” He had a soft smirk on his face as he looked up to meet Levi’s gaze with his own becoming lustful.

Levi was stunned a bit after he spoke, so unused to him speaking like that. After a moment though, he smirked, his own expression shifting to match Eren’s, shivering a bit as his hands began wandering over his abs. He rested their foreheads together, his tone smooth and low. “…then what do you say we take this upstairs?” It’s too bright… and a bed is much better for this.

Eren squinted his eyes as if he were thinking about something. “Hmmm… I dunno, I don’t really wanna walk… May~be… If you carry me?” Eren asked him, a twinkle in his eyes as his chilly hands reached up to teasingly tweak a nipple under his shirt.

Levi nearly let out a whimper as Eren teased the hardening nub under his shirt, flushing red. He stepped off of the stool, Eren’s hands moving from under his shirt and moving to pick him up bridal style. “Deal.” He smirked, moving to the stairs and wasting no time in taking them to their bedroom. He kicked the door shut and locked it behind them, the lights dim as he went and laid Eren on the bed. He clambered on top of him, immediately latching their lips together, though a want still tugged hard at him from the back of his mind. …fuck, I don’t wanna ask… that’d be too embarrassing… But… I really wanna be under you for once… please?

Eren felt a heat pooling in his lower abdomen, his hardon starting to form, and soon enough his courage swelled right along with it. His hands moved to push Levi off of him, and moving on top of Levi. My turn… I wanna please you some more.

Levi swallowed hard as Eren suddenly loomed over him, becoming hard at the lustful look in Eren’s eyes, trying to speak. “E-Eren… u-uhm…” Fuck…. Use your fucking words for once! “E-Eren… I, uhm…” He couldn’t manage to speak, flushing scarlet and looking away, embarrassed. I want it… but I’m too chicken to tell you… of fucking course.

Eren stopped his motions for a moment. “You what…?” Eren prodded for him to speak up, his hands making quick work of his shirt and Levi’s, throwing them away before his tongue met Levi’s chest. He managed to keep eye contact with Levi, trying to coax him to speak still. Come on, I want to know what’s on your mind...

Levi opened and shut his mouth, trying hard to speak, and finding it even more difficult as he shuddered under Eren’s skilful tongue. “U-Uhm… I…” He took a deep breath, shutting his eyes and forcing out his words. “I want to be had.” He immediately turned an even deeper red, scared of what Eren would say. ...dammit... you stole all my confidence...

... Well, that was unexpected... I was planning on riding you, but I guess I can do that. Eren nodded and continued with his ministrations, his hips grinding down a bit roughly onto Levi’s crotch. I want you to feel good too. Eren groaned at the sweet friction between the two of them, nipping around his chest as his hands wandered down to his pants.

Levi moaned as Eren ground down on his quickly hardening clothed length, his hands about to grip at his hair, though he quickly remembered Eren didn’t like it and instead gripped at his sheets under him. He bucked up his hips a bit, whimpering softly as Eren’s hands brushed over his dark washed jeans. “E-Eren… d-don’t tease me, please...” Fuck... I want it.

Eren smirked as he quickly got Levi free of his pants and boxers, leaving him there in his naked glory. “Get the bottle of lube.” His voice was husky as he moved off the bed to step out of his own jeans, taking them off and watching Levi’s muscles ripple as he moved to their nightstand. He’s so beautiful. It was only a moment later he fished out his phone and started to take pictures. I have something to draw now... I’m excited about that...

Levi nodded, moving to the nightstand and fishing through the drawer, retrieving the small black tube and turning back to Eren, seeing him taking pictures of him. He instinctively drew his legs a little closer to himself, feeling very exposed. He willed himself to unfurl a bit though, trying to relax a bit and splay himself out on the bed. He found it a bit easier as his eyes drifted to Eren’s naked lower half, unable to help from staring from a moment and finding it easier to give the camera a lustful look as he begged Eren to get back on top of him with his eyes.

Eren soon put the phone on the other nightstand, crawling into the bed and resting himself between Levi’s spread legs and simply enjoying the view. His hands moved from the inside of his thigh and down to his hardened length. “Levi, it’s twitching with such a simple touch... Are you excited?” Eren’s voice deepened to a much richer level as his eyes started to burn with satisfaction with the sight before him. He took the bottle from Levi, pulling his hips closer and teasing his hole with his thumb gently circling around it. It’s so beautiful... He’s beautiful... Once he had gotten the lube on his fingers he gently poked his first digit into his quivering hole. His other hand, once unoccupied, gently fondled his balls before curling around his length and pumping teasingly slow.

Levi whimpered quietly as Eren teased his entrance, sighing deeply as Eren pushed a finger past in and felt up his walls, beginning to pant as Eren pumped his length. “E-Eren… m-more, please…” He tried to move his hips against his hand, desperate for more.

Eren grinned, slowly inserting the second finger into him. <“Someone’s eager I see.”> His voice became instantly huskier as he almost growled the words out. His hand kept a steady pace on his length, making sure he was enjoying every second of this, and soon enough he had three fingers, twisting and curling inside of him to try and find his prostate. Where is it? I want him to fall apart under me… I know I won't be able to last long…

Levi breathed hard as Eren stretched him, relishing in the waves of pleasure that began to wash over him. <“C-Can you… blame me…?”> He let out a quiet moan, suddenly letting out a loud gasp as Eren finally hit his prostate, brushing firmly over it and making his back arch. <“R-right there, my God Eren, please, there….”> He slumped into the bed, letting Eren move, letting out a loud, long moan. <“I-it feels really good… haaa… p-please, I want you … d-don’t tease…”>

<“Very well then, I think I can manage that.”> Eren moved his hand from Levi’s hole to slick up his own length, moving Levi’s legs over his shoulders putting Levi’s hips rest in the perfect spot for his length to slide between his cheeks for a quick tease before he nudged his tip into the right warmth. Holy fuck… This is amazing…

Levi flushed as his legs were slung over Eren’s shoulders, pouting a bit as Eren teased him before his expression shifted as Eren pushed his length past his entrance and sheathed himself fully in him, his head falling back to expose his neck, moaning loudly. <“F-fuck, Eren… please… h-hard… I want you so badly… please, my God move….”> Levi pushed his hips against Eren, already feeling warmth pooling as Eren pushed even deeper into him, his tongue getting looser. <“F-fast, deep… please… I don’t want gentle…. M-make me yours.”>

Eren followed his instructions well, pulling out until only the head was left in before he snapped his hips back into Levi, burying himself even further than before. His pace quickened as he grabbed at Levi’s hips and almost immediately knew that it would leave bruises on his skin. I wonder if they'll be there by the time I’m ready to draw him?

Levi gasped and became a moaning mess nearly immediately under Eren, his hands scrabbling for hold on the sheets under him, his heels digging into Eren’s back as he cried out in bliss, relishing in the burning stretch he felt. His back arched, his neck bared to Eren in invitation, yearning to be marked. I’m going to have marks all over my hips… more. He didn’t know how to ask for Eren to attack his neck, resigned to quietly whimpering and silently pleading he would get the message.

Eren stopped for a moment when he heard him whimper, fearing that he had gone too roughly. Shit did I do somethin- Eren’s eyes lit up like a Christmas tree as he saw Levi’s neck bared, moving to mark him up leaving large marks all over his neck and collarbone in a matter of a few minutes, his pace coming up full stride all over again. <“You like that Levi? You like me pounding you into oblivion?”> Eren’s deep voice was right by Levi’s ear as he pounded into him, searching for his prostate.

Levi let out a deep sigh as Eren littered his neck with dark marks, his eyes nearly black as Eren growled into his ear, shuddering. <“Y-Y-Yes, my God Eren, please don’t stop, my God, don- HA!”> Levi gasped loudly as Eren pounded straight into his prostate, his back arching and angled so he rammed into it over and over again. <“R-Right there, my God right there, it feels so good, please don’t stop… h- harder, anything, just please, my God, don’t stop…”> Levi turned his legs out a bit, feeling his own release creeping up on him as Eren sank even deeper into him, warmth pooling in his gut. Deeper… please.

Eren continued to pound into that one spot, sucking hard at the joint of Levi’s neck. He groaned, feeling the coil beginning to tighten in his own gut, his thrusts becoming more forceful and sporadic. <“Levi… I want you to cum for me, cum for me.”> He’s getting fucking tight… I want to last longer than him though.

Levi cried out in bliss as Eren pounded deeply into him and hit his prostate head-on, his voice low and predatory in his ear. His orgasm hit him like a tidal wave, Eren’s name a mantra, slipping endlessly from his tongue. He panted hard as he began to slump into the bed, their chests littered with white, still angling his neck up and encouraging Eren to leave dark marks, groaning as he suckled another large one on a sensitive patch of skin, mewling. His hands finally came up to hold his shoulders, his legs angled wide and heels clamping Eren in place as he felt him cum inside of him, pressing him even deeper into him. He breathed hard, his hips moving and grinding against him, not wanting to lose the feeling of being filled so soon, clinging to him like a lifeline.

Eren moaned out loudly as his coil snapped, feeling Levi absolutely milk him for every drop he was worth. <“Holy fuck … Levi…”> Eren moved to steady his hips, trying to get him to stay still, his length overly sensitive from the tight heat and having just cum. <“Don’t move… Please don’t move.”> It’s too sensitive. Eren dipped his head down to rest on Levi’s shoulder, his arm reaching out on the nightstand to grab his phone and flicked it up to open the camera. I want pictures so I have references for drawing.

Levi stilled, a needy sound catching in his throat as Eren dropped his head into his shoulder, feeling his warm breath on his collarbone. …I don’t want to let go…. He looked up as Eren leaned up a bit, seeing the phone camera hovering above him, his eyes still shaded as Eren snapped the photo. He weakly smirked to the camera, knowing he most likely had a necklace of bruises very visible. …at least looking at them you’ll remember who I belong to. He sighed as his head dropped back against the pillows, exhausted. His hands weakly tried to pull Eren back down on top of him, making a small sound as Eren resisted to keep snapping photos. Dammit… as long as I get to cuddle at least a little bit after you take your pictures…
Eren soon moved a bit, setting the phone down as he gently slid out of the other. He moved to get up off the bed, grabbing his phone and taking a bunch of pictures of Levi laying on the bed, completely nude and watching him. Hot damn, I need to draw this… Definitely in charcoal.

Levi whimpered as Eren drew out of him, too tired to do anything besides watch as Eren circled around the bed and snapped picture after picture of him completely exposed, his own release decorating his chest and weakly reaching across the bed for him, wanting to hold onto him.

“Eren… please… I want to hold on to you… please?” I miss you already… damn, what is up with me? All of a sudden I decide I want to bottom instead of top… all of a sudden I turn clingy and you steal all the confidence I ever had. What the hell? …I’m not gonna complain though. …I still need someone to hold onto though… …please...

Eren nodded after a bit, turning to plug his phone in. “We should really go shower Levi.” I want to spoil you, I think I know how to do it… And I wanna draw you… It definitely needs to be charcoal. It’s a good thing Dad got the big sheets for me. Eren moved to scoop Levi up, though had some difficulty actually trying to pick him up due to how unbalanced the weight distribution was. Fuck… He’s heavy… “Levi, come on, we need to shower, and I can’t lift you to save my life.”

Levi pouted a bit, shifting to stand and moving his weight around as he winced. …I’m beginning to understand ‘fuck you until you can’t walk straight.’ Levi swayed a bit as he followed Eren to the shower, his arms wrapping around his middle the second he got the chance as they stood under the warm spray, his face nestled into Eren’s chest, wanting closeness. …fuck it. I want cuddles, and I’m getting my damn cuddles.

Eren gave a soft chuckle, moving to pull him close under the spray, his lips resting on Levi’s temple. “Thank you… For understanding…. I know it’s hard…. That-That you can’t really do anything to me, but… Thank you, for understanding that I can’t handle a lot, and respecting that. It means a lot to me.” He gently started carding his lean fingers through Levi’s undercut and enjoying the warmth they shared together. I kinda like cuddling in water better than the sheets, and I get to wash you.

Levi sighed against his chest, mumbling. “I-I’m just… I’m just glad I have you back somewhat. That we get to do stuff like this again… I’m trying to be careful, but I can actually touch you, and kiss you and love you… I get to hold onto you… and I know I’ve been acting kinda weird and clingy lately… just… thanks for going with it. It… it means a lot to me too.” I love you.

Eren smiled more and leaned down to peck at Levi’s nose. “Why don’t we get you cleaned up?” I know that you need to be cleaned inside too, that was…. I came a lot…. Eren blushed a bit as he reached to grab the soap and the washcloth, letting Levi hold onto him still. I don’t want to let you go, but I know you’ll need to leave soon.
Levi let his hands lightly rest on Eren’s waist, sighing and letting his eyes flutter shut as Eren began to wash him. He leaned into his touch as Eren’s hands washed him, going further down his chest and back, taking a steadying breath as Eren washed his nether. He took in a small breath as Eren’s hand seemed to hover near his entrance, his eyes opening as he felt a prod. Round two? He rested his head against Eren’s chest, standing on tiptoe and burying his nose into his shoulder, making it easier for Eren to reach. If you want, okay… I’m certainly not complaining, and I’m not gonna stop you...

Eren’s touch was gentle, not going that far and making sure that he was stretched out enough to accept two fingers before trying to clean Levi. His free hand came to rest on the back of Levi’s head, pulling him close as he managed to get the first few drops. I don’t want to hurt you. Eren’s breathing stayed even, his fingers gently running over Levi’s scalp in a soothing manner.

Levi quietly whimpered as Eren began to clean him out, it finally clicking what he was doing when his fingers stayed shallow. He panted quietly as the first few drops left him, his hold on his middle tightening. He felt his blood rushing south again, trying to force himself down in vain. He flushed, still very sensitive from earlier and buried his burning face into his neck.

Eren moved his head down to kiss at Levi’s neck, his hand trailing down to Levi’s sides and down to his length. “Need a little help?” Eren was really quiet as he was gentle with him, making sure that he was comfortable as he cleaned him out. I really don’t want to hurt you when I’m doing this.

Levi gasped quietly, his knees shaking a bit under his weight as Eren began to pump his length, clinging to Eren as he felt his tongue lapping at his neck. He whimpered and mewed quietly as Eren cleaned him out, tilting his head back a bit to give Eren room. “Y-yes please…”

Eren smiled more, his grin soft and inviting as he gently stroked his hardening member. “Alright, just let it out, okay? Don’t hold back.” His voice was soft, his hands gentle as he stroked him, his fingers going a little further up into him and curling his fingers to help please him. I can please you too.

Levi breathed heavily, his hips moving down a bit to help Eren’s fingers curling in him, moaning quietly. His hands moved up around Eren’s shoulders, trying to stay on his feet as he felt Eren all over him. “E-Eren… ha… f-feels good…” He gave a needy whine as Eren seemed to keep missing his prostate. “Y-You’re m-missing it…”

Eren nodded, moving to pin Levi against the wall so he wouldn’t move. He was gentle, moving him so that he had a better angle and almost immediately finding his prostate and rubbing it gently. “Did I find it yet?” I really hope I did.
Levi let out a heavy gasp, trying to stay standing as Eren brushed his prostate. “Y-Yes, right there… please, right there… j-just d-don’t stop.” Levi had his arms slung over his shoulders to keep himself up on his feet, moaning as Eren suckled more and more marks onto his porcelain skin. He whimpered as Eren’s hand on his length sped up a bit, tightening.

Eren continued to mark up his skin, his hands working to get Levi to his high. “Hmm… Cum for me Levi, I wanna see you fall apart again.” His voice was husky, his hands slightly rough as he handled him to get him over the edge. I wanna make sure you’re feeling good.

Levi’s eyes widened as Eren spoke, crying out softly in bliss as he came again in Eren’s hand, his knees weak and hanging onto Eren so he didn’t collapse onto the floor of the shower, whimpering as Eren milked every last drop from him. “E-Eren… fuck, I’m tired… t-that felt great, my god…” I’m gonna collapse… fuck...

Eren made sure to keep Levi up. “I want to start drawing you… Is it alright if I take you back to bed?” Eren asked quietly, his lips finding his skin again to kiss him sweetly. I really want to draw those eyes… They were beautiful.

Levi nodded, trying to stand up somewhat as Eren turned the shower off, leaning heavily on him as he was dried off and led back into the bedroom, letting Eren help him tug a pair of boxers onto him before he was splayed out on the bed, tired from his two releases. Levi weakly tried to tug Eren back into the bed with him, wanting something to hold onto while he rested. I need a nap… and I want you to stay...

Eren sighed quietly, leaning over to kiss his head gently. “You’ll be okay Levi… I’m gonna go downstairs to the studio.” He kissed Levi’s forehead again before getting up with his phone and almost racing down the stairs.

Lathe was looking at a list of people with a pen in hand as he paced around the first floor of the house, tapping it with the end of his pen and thinking. I need to think of something to get these people besides gift cards… dammit… ....I wonder how hard it would be to ship Damien a bucket of bullets… He barely even heard Eren as he raced down the stairs, catching Eren and swinging him a bit so neither of them fell over, setting him down, grinning. “Whoa, watch out where you’re going-” Lathe quirked an eye at him, an odd look in his eye. “...is there a reason you’re in only boxers? You’re not the only one who lives here, kid.”

Eren shrugged, “I need to draw something… Oh um… can you go check on Levi? I just.. I’m worried about him.” Eren was gone as quickly as he came, shutting the door to his studio and getting a huge sheet of paper out and putting it on the wall to mount it so he could draw, uploading the pictures to his computer so he could blow them up. I really need to draw him while I’m this hyped… And my blood’s pumping out of control.

Lathe let Eren run off, standing there confused for a moment. ...huh? Lathe went up the stairs to their bedroom where the door was ajar, knocking on the frame lightly and hearing Levi grunt from inside. He opened the door warily and saw he had managed to drag himself under the sheets, obviously tired. “Uhm, Eren asked me to check on you… so. You okay?” ...it looks like Eren took good care of you this time around. You look worn out is all.

Levi’s nod was slow as he let out a breath he didn’t realize he was holding. “I feel worn out… He’s a Brat…” He’s my Brat, and he’s coming home to me… He’s coming back to me. My Brat… I missed his snarky ass comments about everything, even all the innuendos…. Levi tried not to let emotions get to him as his thoughts trailed all over the different aspects of Eren that he missed.

Lathe chuckled a bit, leaning against the doorway. “Well, you’re not exactly wrong. He nearly plowed me over on his way to the studio. ...he looked really happy.” Happier than he normally is...

“I-He…” Levi struggled not to let the waterworks flow, weakly turning over to face the door and almost whimpering at Lathe, not knowing what else to do that wouldn’t put much strain on his already exhausted body. I need to tell you…. I think he’s really starting to come back...

Lathe’s brow furrowed as he heard the tiny sound, walking in and sitting on the edge of the bed, smiling faintly to him. He didn’t stick around for cuddles. Shame… “What’re you trying to say?” ...I don’t see that expression on you often… what’re you thinking?

Levi struggled to swallow the lump in his throat. “He came back… He… When I went to the studio earlier to see what he was doing… He… He opened up to me a little, telling me what he wasn’t comfortable with anymore… But he also… He was so snarky, and he was making innuendos just like… Just like before everything happened all over again.” Levi had to pause every once in awhile to take a deep breath and calm down. Nope, I don’t want to cry. He moved to put his head in Lathe’s lap, seeking the comfort of another warm body. He didn’t stay though.….

Lathe was stunned, moving to card his hand through Levi’s noir locks, his mind kicking into overdrive. ...he’s really coming back. Lathe smiled, blinking back tears of happiness. We’re on the right track… with everything that happened… what we’re doing now to fix it… it’s working. ...I’m going to get my son back. Lathe rubbed at his cheek as a tear fell, nodding. “...I’m so happy we’re getting him back… we’ve come a long way… and after all the worry and effort and everything…. We’re getting him back. You’re getting your boyfriend back… and I’m getting my son back…” He chuckled faintly, trying to stop himself before he started to really cry.
Levi nodded his head weakly, feeling the exhaustion start to really settle in on him. “I’m getting my Brat back.” Levi’s eyes started to close, a small smile gracing his lips as he passed out in Lathe’s lap, his newly formed collar proudly on display.

...he’s out. Lathe quirked an eyebrow at Levi’s collar, just shaking his head and faintly chuckling. Of course. He gently moved out from under Levi and tucked him in, softly ruffling his hair a bit before turning to leave, turning the lights all the way before quietly shutting the door. We’ve come a long, long way...

And it’s been worth it.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Day 7

Casper stared ahead through their dark bedroom, his arms still wrapped around Scotty’s middle, sighing quietly. Damn insomnia... what the hell… even Scotty is asleep by now. Casper pressed a light kiss to Scotty’s bare shoulder blade, mumbling against his warm skin. “I really love you, you know… but I get the feeling you’re really scared to hurt me… you’re always gentle, and gentle is nice sometimes, but when it’s rough… it’s not rough. You always seem to tone it down the second I’m feeling pain… and I hate that…” He sighed, studying Scotty’s peaceful expression over his shoulder, pressing another light peck to his neck. …I really need to tell you that in the morning… I’m going to. I can’t words but I’m going to do my best when I wake up.

Casper stirred only once during the night, thinking he smelled something weird before he ignored it and passed out again, his sleep deep and dreamless. He blinked awake hours later, his vision blurry, beginning to register that he felt a bit cold, no longer laying down. He tried to move, jolting awake as he realized he was hanging by his wrists in the living room, looking up to see his wrists bound above him and chained to the ceiling above him. He was on his tiptoes on a box, looking ahead of him and swallowing hard as he drifted, the weight temporarily lifted from his chest. I need to really tell you that in the morning… I’m going to. I can’t words but I’m going to do my best when I wake up.
Scotty was practically silent, moving his foot and dragging the box out from under him. “Pleasure for you to finally join me.” His voice was chillingly calm, and once the box was removed Casper’s full weight was on his arms, the chain giving him no help or give. His face was still angry, but he stayed behind him, making sure that Casper could only see his reflection. If you hate me being gentle… Fine, I’ll show you what pain is.

Casper moved his arms a bit, his shoulders feeling a dull ache already from his full weight being on them. …fuck he’s mad. He swayed the smallest bit, though the way his arms were chained, he did not spin. He could only see Scotty in his reflection, a bit scared as Scotty’s expression remained mad. “S-Scotty, if this is about w-what I said… uhm… i-it’s not like I m-meant I didn’t like anything… I-I…” He bowed his head, feeling a bit of shame. “I-I’m sorry…”

“Shut it.” His words harsh as he turned to get a large leather whip from just out of view of the reflection. Well, maybe he’ll beg for me to stop… And then he’ll know why I don’t go this hard on people… Especially not right away. His hand gripped the soft leather before he turned back, his eyes looking almost cold and heartless in the reflection, his hand coming up and forcefully smacking the first of many lashings across Casper’s back, leaving multiple red lines across his back in a matter of seconds. I don’t care if you scream… Or cry… You’re not getting out of it.

Casper’s eyes widened as he saw the whip in Scotty’s hand and the unforgiving look that accompanied it, tensing and stuttering. “S-Scotty, please…” Hold the fuck up. His words fell on deaf ears as Scotty lashed it against his back, gasping in pain. Fuck it hurts … He moved a bit as he hung, but in vain as the whip lashed across his back again, his head hung and staring at the floor under his feet as he was whipped, though small jolts of something besides pain began to shoot through him every time the leather cracked across his back. …fuck… “S-Scotty… I-I’m sorry… p-please…”

Scotty shook his head. “I’m not about to stop, and you can stop begging for me to stop.” His voice continued to be hard before he put the single whip down and picked up a nine-tail whip, striking him expertly across his already welting skin. Maybe if you’re lucky, I’ll stop before you’re bleeding…. Or maybe I should give you a taste of what Eren went through… But boiling water is a bit extreme, even for me…

Casper cried out in pain, tears starting to well in his eyes as he jerked with every crack of the whip, breathing hard. Fuck… I didn’t think when I told him he’d take it I’d want something as extreme as this… fuck it hurts… but at the same time… Casper whimpered, his length slowly hardening from the small jolts of pleasure that ran through him with every lash. …if you’re going to be this unforgiving… I’m going to take what pleasure I can get… I… what the hell...

Scotty continued his lashings for a long time, finally opening his skin and seeing the warm blood trail down his back in thick lines. Well, he can put up with it. He put the slightly bloodied whip down, where it used to be. “Don’t struggle too much, you’ll dislocate your shoulder and I’m not gonna let you down for that…” Scotty went off to get more rope for God knows what. I'm gonna clean your ass out…

Casper simply made a small pained sound of acknowledgement, wanting to shift but deciding to put up with the ache as he was told. He hung still, turning his head a bit as Scotty left, his thoughts running quickly through his head. Fuck, now what? What else is he getting? He heard a tap running in the kitchen, relief running past in his eyes for a second. Is he gonna clean my back? I know I'm bleeding, but I don't know how badly... ...no, he's not. He still looked furious with me... Casper swallowed hard as he saw him return with a coil of rope hanging from one arm, a bag of water in his other arm. *...what the fuck is that for. If you’re gonna try to fucking drown me you're seriously mistaken. ...is it too much of a stretch to hope the safe word is still a thing?

Scotty put the bag of water down around where the whips were on the coffee table which had been dragged out of the way. He moved to unlatch the chain, letting it clink as he let Casper down to his feet, his arms still taut above him. Don’t dislocate your own arm, I’m not done with you yet. Soon enough Scotty had the rope tied around another stable hook in the ceiling before he moved to tie a bar between Casper’s legs, keeping them outstretched, the rope being tied to the bar, and raising it so that his chest faced the floor which he was now parallel to. “If you’re a good boy, this’ll be over quick.”

Casper felt a bit of arousal pulse through him as his legs were tied apart, his eyes widening as he was brought up off the floor again, looking around the floor. “W-what are you…” He made a surprised gasp as something prodded at his entrance, pushing past the muscle. What the fuck is that? It feels weird... and it’s not going that deep... what the hell... Casper shuddered as he suddenly felt something cool begin to run into him, Scotty emptying the bag of water through the tube in his ass. Fuck... it feels weird... He shivered as Scotty spoke again. “H-How…” I can’t keep so much in... I can’t... He winced as the tube was finally removed, fighting the urge to relax and keeping in the water. Fuck this is gonna be harder than I thought...

Scotty made sure he was holding it all before going off for multiple minutes and coming back with a bucket in hand. “Alright, you get let it all out now.” I needed to make sure you were clean before I did anything else to you. He held the bucket in place, waiting for Casper to decide when he was gonna let it all out.

Casper felt his face burning with shame as he relaxed his muscles, shaking as he felt the water leave his system, wincing as he heard it flow into the bucket. ...this is so fucking embarrassing... He hung his head as Scotty left with the bucket after it had all left him, speaking quietly as he came back, sounding overwhelmingly defeated, a tear trailing down his cheek. “...now what are you going to do to me?” ...I fucked up... if this is really what I signed up for... ...I want this to be over with already... I didn’t mean this...

Scotty’s eyes seemed to soften a bit as he hunched over a bit so that they were at eye level with each other. “That depends, heads or tails?” Scotty showed him a coin, giving him a few seconds to give him an answer. If you’re lucky I’ll let you go. He nodded, as Casper told him ‘Heads’ throwing the coin up into the air, catching it and putting it on his flat wrist, seeing heads. “Well, today’s your lucky day.” You’ll probably want me to be gone after this… he moved to slowly put him down on the floor, removing the bar between his legs. He loosened the chains in his arms so that he wasn’t forcing them above his head still. He left him chained still but his eyes were softer now as he came back with a small medkit and a basin of warm water with a wash cloth. He was gentle as he started to clean up his back and put ointment on his cuts and scrapes, gently wrapping up his torso before he unchained his hands, half expecting to be punched as he picked him up carefully to take him back upstairs. You’ll need rest.

Casper rubbed at his shoulder as he was let down, unable to stop more tears from following as he let Scotty clean his back, grateful that he was being let out of his bounds. He let Scotty wrap his back and let his wrists out of the cuffs and before he knew it Scotty had picked him up, carrying him up the stairs. …I want my Scotty back… Casper clung to his shirt, a mix of thoughts and emotions running through him as he buried his face into his shoulder, not wanting to let go of him as he inhaled his scent, trying to calm down. …I was getting impatient, and I exaggerated… and you went too far… I just… I just want what we already had back… I don’t want that to be the new normal… He opened his eyes as he was laid on the bed, though he didn’t give up his grip on his shirt, tightening it as Scotty tried to pull away and leave. No you fucking don’t. We need to talk.
Casper pulled Scotty into the bed with him, curling up to his side and burying himself into his shoulder. “S-S-cotty… w-we n-need to talk… j-just give me a m-minute…” I can’t talk and sob at the same time… fuck, I can’t stop…

Scotty sighed quietly. “Remember, back in college, when I would date a girl, for like two weeks, before she would break up with me?” I know this sounds really off topic but it helps explain everything. “Just answer the question and I’ll explain.”

... it happened all the time… I hated seeing you with so many people… I wondered why it went up in flames every time… “…it’s b-ecause of this sort of stuff… w-wasn’t it.” Casper sniffled, trying to speak clearly. “I remember it happened all the time… you’d take someone home, and then it was over the next day. It was practically guaranteed… we’d figured out something was wrong by girlfriend twelve…” I hated it…. You were going after so many people…. …none of them me. It was infuriating...

“Yeah… They never expected me to be a complete sadist, so even the slightest show of rope and they were gone… Some could manage it… And stay a few days, but when they told me to do what I want with them, which ended up between what I started with, and what I did today…” He swallowed, an arm wrapping around Casper and carding through his hair. “They always left….”
Except for you .

Casper shifted so he was more or less on top of him, holding him tightly. “I… I don’t wanna leave… I just…. I got impatient, I didn’t mean that we could jump to that so quickly… I wasn’t clear… or realistic… I just meant… I guess I meant you could progress with me just the littlest bit faster… that when I mewl in pain it doesn’t mean stop… I liked the littler stuff… but it was just too much too fast… I just…” He shook a bit, trying not to cry even more. “...I just want what we already had back… I’ll be able to take it eventually, but… it was too much… ...I don’t want this to be the reason I lose you, though… I’ve loved you and gone after you for too long to give it up without trying to work this out… we can work this out...

“I know, and you can punch me later, but I did it on purpose because I knew it would freak you out.” He took a deep breath and sighed quietly. “I did it to show you what a real Sadist enjoys, to show you what I’m capable of. It hurts when you say that I’m going soft on you, and that you hate it. I’m trying to ease you into this. Because I know you’re not used to this… no one is…” He paused again taking another deep breath to try and calm himself down. “I’ve been…. How do I put this, trying to make sure that I don’t go to fast too quickly with you, and that means taking it really easy for everything at the start. And I know you might not like it that I’m not all rough n’ tumble like you want me to be, but I can’t risk losing someone else. I don’t want to lose another chance at a great relationship.” He held Casper a little bit closer. “I was going easy on you, to remind myself that you’re not used to everything…” Scotty shifted to pull him to his chest more. “I don’t ever wanna do something that would hurt you more than you could handle. Today was my fault but…” Scotty shook his head running his hands through Casper’s purple hair. I was an ass.

Casper shook his head, sighing as Scotty threaded his fingers through his hair. “I was an idiot…. When I said all that I didn’t know what I was signing up for… but now I know. Just…” He shifted up a bit, gently kissing and lapping at his neck. “Thanks… for being so careful with me… I want you to be happy too… we can go back to the progression… I’ll get used to it. I’m sorry…” Casper kept them completely flush, wanting closeness as he suckled a small mark at the joint of his neck. “I love you… thank you… for taking good care of me.” You don’t want me to be hurt more than I can take… thanks… for putting things in perspective.

Scotty nodded and moved his head to peck his forehead. “Thank you for understanding… but it hurts, when you say that you don’t like it… When you hate that I’m trying to be gentle with you for your own sake.” Scotty’s voice sounded hurt as he spoke, moving to bring Casper into his lap, sitting up against the headboard. I don’t want to lose you, but I let the anger get the best of me… I probably should go stay in a hotel for a few days… and let myself calm down so I don’t flare up in anger again. Scotty ran his hands through his hair for a moment. “I’m gonna go soon, okay?” He asked quietly, his voice soft and gentle.

Casper moved into Scotty’s lap, still clinging to him. His eyes widened as he spoke, looking up to him, shaking his head, sounding desperate for him to understand. “N-No, please don’t leave me alone. You don’t have to. Please Scotty, stay. I didn’t know what I was getting myself into when I said all that. I might’ve thought you were going way too slow, but I didn’t know what I really meant. It always felt amazing, everything you did, I always enjoyed it. It’s not like I didn’t like any of it. We can go back to that, but I…” His hands tightened their grip on his shirt, his emerald eyes pleading with him. “...I don’t wanna sleep alone anymore… please… I want you to stay…” I’d honestly break down, probably… I’d end up convincing myself that I’d gotten what I wanted and then fucked everything up… I want you to stay… Please, don’t leave...
Scotty held him close, running a hand through his hair. “Are… Are you sure? You’re not scared of me? You’re not afraid I’ll hurt you?” His voice was quiet and unsure as he held Casper to his chest. “I don’t want to hurt you… I really shouldn’t’ve let my anger get the better of me… but I did, and… fuck.” Scotty swore, moving to put Casper on the bed, getting him to let go as he started pacing the room. I fucked up….

Casper made a small sound of protest as Scotty pried him off of him, getting up after Scotty and trying to catch him as he paced. His eyes flickered with something when Scotty shook him off the second his hand brushed his shirt, marching up to him and spinning him around to face him, pressing them together and pulling him down by the collar, sealing their lips to stop his panicked muttering, his hands roaming his sides, murmuring against his lips. “Scotty, I know you’re going to be careful… I know you’ll take good care of me…. And I know you love me… and I love you, so let’s give ourselves a chance to fix this. Please. It’s okay.” Casper kissed him sweetly, pulling him along to the bed, pulling his shirt off before dumping him on the bed, crawling on top of him and running his hands down his chest, his lips trailing down his jaw and neck. His hands soon were playing with the button of his jeans. “If we make love… I just might forgive you.” At least this once… I still want you, but slow… please… then we can go back to what you like. Promise.

Scotty watched him, letting him push him onto the bed. Make love? I think… I think I can do that. He shifted to be on his elbows, looking up to Casper as he fiddled with his jeans. “I can do that.” Scotty picked his hand up and cupped his cheek with a gentle hand. I’ll make sure that I don’t hurt you. He moved his hand down his neck gently and over the bandages around his torso and down to his hip. “We can do that.” Shifting again, he sat up so Casper was straddling his lap and his hands cupping both of his cheeks. Simply gorgeous. Scotty leaned in to kiss him, his lips soft against Casper’s.

It was a light and loving kiss, the kind that made Casper blush scarlet and his stomach flutter. He melted into it, their lips moving languidly and slowly, in no rush as his hands decided to drift up from his jeans to run over his chest, tracing over his skin familiarly, up his sides and back and pulling their chest flush. His fingers played with the hair at the nape of Scotty’s neck, their tongues tangling, putty in Scotty’s hands as he felt gentle touches all over him. …I like this… just the once… I want gentle…

Scotty closed his eyes as he relaxed, his hands finding Casper’s hips and gently rubbing his thumb against the warm skin. He pulled back a bit, his lips grazing against Casper’s lips. “I’m… I’m so sorry about earlier…. His hand moved down a bit to rub his length gently, trying to arouse him even the slightest. I want you to feel nothing but pleasure. No pain… nothing… even if I’m just pleasing you. Scotty didn’t make a move for his entrance, knowing that he might just be comforting Casper. Honestly, I don’t care if he doesn’t touch me, I’ll be okay with that… I’d probably deserve nothing in return.

Casper gasped quietly, sighing airily as Scotty rubbed his length. “I-It’s o-okay… w-we’ll work t-things out…” His hold on Scotty tightened a bit, his head dipping down to suckle again at his neck and collarbone, leaving small marks as he nibbled his way across his skin. He moved so both of his hands were on his chest, his lips never leaving him as he gently pushed him to lay down on the bed, his knees on either side of his hips as he started to trail his tongue down Scotty’s chest. He whimpered quietly as his thumb ran over the slit of his length, having to stop and pull up from his chest, breathing hard, his face flushed. “F-feels good…” ...I don’t wanna be on top... Casper moved, taking hold of Scotty and rolling them over so he loomed over him, cupping his cheeks and kissing him lovingly. If you’re gentle... you get to be on top.

Scotty watched him roll them over, kissing him just as gently. He pulled back only a bit before he moved to get off the bed, slowly unbuckling his belt and pulling down his pants all the way. He kicked them off before coming back into the bed with him. Scotty spread Casper’s legs, gently picking them up a bit and kissing the inside of his knee and working his way up towards his inner thigh. He felt a pang of arousal run through him, though pushed it down, knowing only to try and please Casper for right now. Only if he says I can will I....

Casper made a small sound as Scotty got up, though he watched him as he kicked off his jeans, his eyes darkening as he climbed back onto the bed. He swallowed hard as Scotty moved between his legs, easily letting him spread them and trying not to squirm as Scotty began kissing up the sensitive skin. His head dropped against the pillow, watching Scotty and drinking in his entire form, his eyes stopping on his clothed nether. ...are you getting anything out of this? “S-Scotty…” Casper leaned up on his elbows, reaching out and lifting his head closer to his by the chin softly, his eyes holding a flicker of concern. “I don’t want to do this if you’re not enjoying it at all…” Casper leaned forward, his other hand moving to palm at his clothed length. “I want you to feel good too.”

Scotty groaned as Casper started to palm his length. “I thought this was about you?” His voice was soft as he moved his head back down to kiss at his inner thigh. His hand came up to grasp his length gently. “I want you to enjoy at least something today.” I can handle watching.... But if you want me to, I can do more than just pleasure you.

Casper’s protest caught in his throat, leaning back on his hands as Scotty again nibbled at the soft skin, shuddering at the attention he was receiving. “S-Scotty… even w-with what h-happened… nngh… it’s never just about o-one or the other… i-it’s always the both of us or nothing. I don’t want something like this to feel like… like work… t-that you’re obligated t-to do… y-you deserve attention too… even if that all happened. Especially because of it, a-actually… I’m n-not gonna up and l-leave because of things even like that… I still l-love you as much as I always h-have… but y-you expected m-me to want you gone… I guess I don’t t-tell you enough how much I really fucking love you….” I need to fix that...

Scotty smiled softly, nodding before moving to take his boxers off and letting his length spring free. “Okay.” He shifted a bit, spreading his legs, and even his ass cheeks to get a good view of his hole. “I think I can give you a special treat though.” I don’t think I’ve ever rimmed you yet. Scotty buried his face in almost instantly, his tongue prodding at his entrance. You taste wonderful.
Casper’s expression changed to one of confusion as Scotty moved him, his face becoming scarlet as he ducked down. He’s- Casper’s head fell back, sliding back down so he was laying on the bed, his hands tangling in Scotty’s hair and back arching to give Scotty better access. Fuck… it feels weird… but I like it… “S-Scotty… mm…” He gasped as his tongue started to push past the ring of muscle a bit, trying not to move too much. “D-don’t stop… haa…”

Scotty’s large hands came under him to hold his cheeks apart, giving him better access as he licked him, his wet muscle invading him, gently lubing him up, a finger soon following to help stretch and the wet muscle entering even further. He groaned as Casper’s hole twitched in closed around his finger and tongue. God that was hot…

Casper mewed and panted as his tongue invaded him further, his heels digging into the bed. “Haa… f-feels r-really good… mm….” He tried not to tug too hard on his hair as Scotty rimmed him, unable to help from squirming a bit under him, so unused to the feeling. Damn tease… but it feels really good… but I don’t want to be teased forever… fuck…

Soon Scotty pulled away from his quivering rim and inserted two fingers into him gently, making sure to stretch him out as he reached into the nightstand for their lube. “Feel okay?” He asked, his voice a bit rough, and his eyes watching his movements, his ears listening to everything coming out of his mouth. I’m glad you didn’t want me to leave…

Casper’s expression flickered for an instant, reminded of the rough voice he’d heard nothing but downstairs before it passed, nodding shakily. “F-feels more than okay… r-really good…” He thought he caught a glimmer of a predatory look, swallowing hard but too scared to say anything. Please let it be my imagination…. Please stay gentle for this… Please don’t get carried away…

Scotty nodded, pulling out and adding some more lube to his fingers before slowly inserting three fingers, making sure that he didn’t push him to fast. His eyes watched Casper closely, feeling his body go rigid for a moment, clearing his throat before he spoke, his voice must softer. “Sorry… I didn’t mean…” He swallowed the lump forming in his throat. Shit… I scared him again… Scotty looked down and away shamefully, his hands slipping from Casper’s entrance to his length, unsure how Casper would let him continue anymore.

Casper’s expression became a bit worried, smiling faintly and leaning forward, catching Scotty’s face in his hands and softly brushing his lips against his own. “It’s okay… I’m just kinda on edge… your voice started to sound kinda rough and I thought I saw that predatory look again, and I kinda freaked out for a second… it’s okay… j-just…” He pulled back and hung his head a bit, ashamed. “I’m just paranoid, kinda… I know you’re gonna take good care of me… j-just… I can’t deal with anything rough right now… I’m sorry…” I know that that’s exactly the thing you like and want… and I can’t let you have it… fuck…
Scotty nodded, releasing his member and moving down to lay down beside him quietly, wrapping his arms around him and pulling him close in a spoonlike fashion. “I won’t do anything… I promise…” I don’t want you to be scared of me… this is exactly why I went easy on you… I didn’t want to fuck up… but I let myself get angry… Scotty held him close, trying to ignore his hardon poking into Casper’s thigh. If you don’t want to do anything, that’s completely okay, and I would understand.

Casper’s heart sunk as Scotty simply laid down behind him, though his eyes widened a bit as he listened. ...like fuck I don’t want to do anything. He huffed, looking over his shoulder. “You know what, apparently if anything is gonna be done here…” He turned and soon loomed over Scotty, his tongue trailing down his chest. “I’ve just gotta do it myself.” I’m not letting nothing happen. He pressed a kiss to his navel, lifting his head and moving further down, holding Scotty’s hips in place as he licked a long stripe up the underside of his length, breathing over the head teasingly before taking it into his mouth, beginning to bob his head, keeping eye contact with Scotty. I want you to feel good.

Scotty’s eyes widened as he was pushed down. “F-Fuck… Casper… What are you-” He froze as Casper breathed over his length and began to bob up and down on him. [Fuck, Casper… ] He started to whine, knowing not to grab at his hair. Nope, that might scare him off. So instead, Scotty was grabbing the sheets below him as he felt warmth starting to pool in his gut.

Casper moaned onto his length as the French rolled smoothly off of his tongue. Fuck… I like that sound. His tongue was pressed against the underside of his length as he bobbed further and further, trying not to choke and finally meeting the base of his length. He kept his hands firmly on his hips as he hummed, sending vibrations down his length. Feeling good up there?

[Casper… fuck…. Don’t… no… no no… stop, I-I… ] Scotty groaned, his mind trying to make itself up as he had mixed feelings about what Casper was doing to him. He reached out a hand on instinct to grab at his hair, almost getting a handful before he looked away with a blush of shame on his face, instead grabbing again at the sheets under him. I’m afraid that if I touch you you’ll take it the wrong way… fuck… Casper this is torture!

Casper’s eyes widened, immediately drawing up off of him, his hands running soothingly up and down his sides. His expression was one of worry as he spoke, not even noticing he’d reached out to grab his hair. [What? What’s wrong? Did I do something? Fuck, what’d I mess up?] Casper shuffled forward a bit, half-laying next to him, worried. Fuck… what happened?

Scotty reached a timid hand towards Casper’s abdomen, though he didn’t touch him, keeping his hand a few inches away. [Can… Can I touch you?] Scotty’s eyes looked almost thoroughly broken and worried that he would say ‘no’. [Please ?] He almost whimpered out the last word, wanting to be able to have his hands all over him, but completely afraid Casper would take it the wrong way and bury the nail further in their relationship.
Casper’s expression was one nearly of heartbreak as he asked. You look terrified… Casper nodded, taking gentle hold of his hands and placing them on his chest, letting them roam unsure. He leaned forward, his eyes fluttering shut as he hovered not even an inch from Scotty’s lips. [Scotty, it’s okay to touch… you don’t have to be afraid of messing anything up. If you let it get to you so much… it’s not going to get better. It’s okay.] He pressed loving pecks to his lips, his cheeks. [Scotty, you’re forgiven. And believe me… you’d have to be trying really hard to mess up what we have. All relationships need work. We’re not exempt from it. Nobody is.] Casper smiled softly to him, his emerald eyes sparkling a bit. [We’re going to need to learn and be okay with loving each other all over again, aren’t we. …that’s okay. We’ve got time.] He pressed their lips together, cradling his jaw. We’ve got plenty.

Scotty seemed to visibly relax with Casper’s words, his hands moving to Casper’s hips and holding him close. He kissed him a bit roughly, but gentle all the same, his hands moving to cup Casper’s soft globes. Scotty pulled back a bit to breathe, his eyes soft as he looked into Casper’s orbs. [I’ll be gentle, I promise.] He began to message the two globes in his large hands, watching for Casper’s reaction, his erection nesting between his two cheeks.

Casper sighed and seemed to melt at Scotty’s touch, feeling a pulse of arousal as Scotty’s length rubbed up between the two cheeks. [S-Scotty… t-thank you… j-just don’t tease… I… I want you…] His hands planted on Scotty’s chest, he lifted himself up, over Scotty’s length, asking silently for permission. I need you...

Scotty nodded, moving his head to gently kiss Casper’s neck. His hands gently pulled apart his cheeks making sure he would have an easier time to penetrate himself. [Go at your own pace, I can wait until you tell me to.] He sighed quietly in bliss as he felt Casper take his head into his tightness.

Casper gasped as Scotty finally kissed at his neck, baring more of his neck to him as he slowly began to sink onto him, slowly adjusting until their hips met, stopping to get used to being filled for a minute, one hand coming up to hold Scotty’s head to his neck, his voice sounding a bit desperate. [M-my neck, please, t-that feels r-really good…] Casper was painfully hard as he slowly began to slip up and down his length, moaning in bliss as Scotty lapped at his skin. Dammit… you think you’d’ve learned by now anything involving my neck and your mouth I’m a fucking slut for…

Scotty took the command and laid gentle kisses all over his soft skin. No biting, I promised him I’d be gentle with him. I can hold back. He gently moved his hips up to meet Casper’s groaning as he felt himself go even further, his voice a mere whisper against his skin. [Fuck… you’re tight.] It feels wonderful.

Casper felt Scotty sink even further into him, heaving a heavy sigh and rolling his hips, whimpering as his length came dangerously close to his prostate. He picked up the pace a bit, his voice heightening a bit in pitch. [S-Scotty… fuck… my god.. Nngh….] Casper bounced up and down on his length, his voice getting louder as Scotty began thrusting up in time with him, going deeper and coming close to his prostate. He let his legs spread a bit wider, leaning forward and became a moaning mess as Scotty began pounding into his prostate, panting hard and clinging to him like a lifeline. [S-Scotty… haaa…. I-I don’t know how long I’m gonna last… f-fuck, it feels so good…]

Scotty nodded and moved the two of them, Casper now laying on his back with Scotty looking over him. His thrusts were slow and deep, directed at his prostate, and his head was on the other side of Casper’s neck, filling it with soft kisses and gentle licks. I want to make sure you’re feeling nothing but pleasure. [Don’t hold back… Casper, tell me what feels good.] I wanna hear more of that voice.

Casper moaned quietly, trying to speak, his voice low and quiet. [I-I-It feels r-really good, the pace you’re going at… haaa… a-and I love the attention you’re g-giving my neck… nnngh… y-you can mark me a bit, i-if you want…] His arms wound around Scotty’s back, his fingers splayed across the warm skin, his legs coming up to wrap around his waist. [M-my god, Scotty… haa… t-this feels r- really good… ahh …]

Scotty groaned as he heard Casper’s voice, liking the way that his legs wrapped around his waist. God, you fit around me perfectly…. It’s like you were made for me… As crazy as that sounds. He continued his slow pace, making sure to be aware of everything that was going on with Casper. He was aware of everything, his lips gently locking on his collarbone, listening intently to every sound he made. Hot damn.

Casper sighed deeply as he felt Scotty suckling gently on his neck, one hand drifting up to gently tangle in his hair. Yours. [Scotty… haa… I-I’m not gonna… l-last…] Casper could feel his coil slowly tightening in his gut, his voice shaking a bit as he bared more of his neck. [Y-you feel so good… you’re so big… J-just right for me… haaa…. You know just how to make me feel amazing, my god… d-don’t stop… anything but that… p- please…] Don’t stop. Just don’t stop.

Scotty nodded, gently nipping at the new flesh that he was presented with. [So sweet.] He kept his pace steady knowing that Casper was getting close to his release. That’s it…. [Cum for me.] He could feel his own coil starting to tighten in his abdomen. Fuck it feels good.

Casper gasped and tightened his hold on Scotty, his back arching and crying out quietly as he released, Scotty still thrusting into him and prolonging his orgasm. He breathed hard as he was milked of every last drop, their chests decorated with pearly drops, clamping down around Scotty’s length, his name slipping from his tongue like his life depended on it. He shuddered and moaned in bliss, slumping into the bed and mewling as Scotty still lapped and nipped at his neck. [S-Scotty… oh my god, Scotty…]
Scotty groaned as Casper tightened around him. [Fuck… Casper… ] He watched Casper slump, slowing his pace, his cool just about over the edge but not quite. I can’t do that… Like I’m using him… Scotty groaned as he started to pull out, so close to the edge.

Casper’s expression changed to one of confusion as Scotty drew out from him, still painfully hard. [S-Scotty… why’d you stop…?] …….wait. Casper knew he wasn’t going to get anywhere with him, instead finding the strength to flip them over, again moving down so that his lips hovered over his length. You telling me to stop I don’t think was that you didn’t like it… it was that you were scared or something like that… Casper pressed a kiss to the head of his length, keeping his hips still with his hands as he sealed his lips over the tip, sucking on it and bobbing his head, sucking on his length like a lollipop. I wanna taste you… and you fucking deserve to cum too. Don’t think you need to deprive yourself of it.

Scotty’s eyes widened, throwing his head back as Casper sucked on him like a lollipop. [Fuck … Casper… Ha… I can’t…] He came, filling Casper’s mouth in a matter of seconds, and his loud moan sounded through the master bedroom. [Casper… Ha… So good…] Fuck that felt amazing… He laid back, breathing hard as his body began to resemble jello.

Casper swallowed down every last drop of his large load, coming off of his length with a lewd ‘pop’ and licking his lips as he came up next to Scotty, collapsing next to him and pulling him close. [Scotty… you were amazing… my god, I love you…] Casper moved to kick a sheet further up and pulled it over them, shifting to kiss him languidly. I love you so much...

Scotty smiled softly, kissing him back, helping him pull the sheets up to their shoulders. He moved to wrap his arms around Casper and pull him fully into his chest, not caring how messy they got. I love this… I think this is nice… Maybe we should do this more often… It’s certainly better for him than my sadistic tendencies. He looked to the white bandages around his torso, sighing quietly moving to kiss his neck. [I’m sorry.] His voice was a bit rough before he cleared his throat, a gentle hand running up and down his back.

Casper nestled into his shoulder, flush on top of Scotty and burrowing into his warmth. He found it a bit easier to relax again after Scotty spoke, reminding himself that he wasn’t going to try anything. He mumbled into his shoulder, wading through his post-orgasm glow. [It’s okay… it really is. I forgive you.] He sighed, enjoying the soft touches of his hands running up and down his back. [….I know being so gentle isn’t exactly your thing… but… can we do this a little more often…?] …I’m a total sap… of course I get paired up with the sadist. ….but this is really nice… and we don’t really do it much… I sometimes get the feeling we go too fast with it too often… we need to slow down sometimes...

Scotty nodded letting his head back down against the pillows underneath them. His hands continued to draw aimless patterns against his back. [I can do that… I can stop, and hold back… If you want me to.] His voice was soft, yet he struggled to swallow the lump in his throat. I don’t want to hurt you like that again… I like to see crying faces… But yours… I don’t think I would want to see that ever again. I’d be giving it up for you, but I think I can do that… I could do that for you, Casper.

Casper shook his head, looking up and seeing Scotty trying to hide a pained emotion. [I don’t mean all the time… what you’d been doing… before today… it was wonderful… I really enjoyed all of it. It was a good kind of pain. I’m not forcing you to give it up in order to keep me, that’d be cruel… just… occasionally, this would be really nice… but certainly not all of the time…] Casper pressed lightly kisses up Scotty’s jaw, trying to comfort him. That would be an awful deal… you get me, minus being happy in an important department… yeah, no. That’s not how it works. Compromise is how it works.

Scotty let Casper kiss his jaw. [No… I can give it up… I don’t want to see your crying face again.] It reminds me… Everyone before was always crying when they left… I… I saw you crying… I don’t want to see you crying again. It hurts too much. [I can deal with it, I promise, I won’t do it again… I won’t go that far.] That would be cruel…

Casper shifted up so he and Scotty met eye-to-eye, resting their foreheads together. [For the time being, not that far… but Scotty, what you were doing before today, going easy on me, I liked that. I want that. That can stay. I’m not making you give it up entirely. I’m not going to make you ‘deal with’ anything. I’m not going to let you be unhappy in this, thinking that you’re not as happy as you could be. I want you to enjoy this too. I really do. …so can we have what was normal back? Please?] His emerald eyes gleamed, pleading with him. I don’t want you to be unhappy. What we had, I thought that made us both happy. It did. …I want that back.

Scotty looked up into Casper’s green orbs, seeing the pleading look in them. [Alright, we can go back… But please, tell me when it hurts, so I don’t push you too far.] He moved to cradle the back of his head, and pulled him down for a kiss. I can do that, what I was doing before. If that’s what you want me to do.

Casper immediately nodded, his eyes sliding shut as Scotty kissed him, their tongues tangling and sliding against the other. Casper felt his heart flutter as Scotty ran his hand through his violet locks, warm and happy. …we’ll make this work. We’ll be okay.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Day 8
...seventeen. Before lunch. Lathe swept up the shards of yet another broken ornament off the floor, trying to remain level-headed. The cat hasn’t been in an actual house for that long. A stray wouldn't know what does and doesn’t make the homeowners mad. Just chill. They’re just ornaments. It’s stuff you can replace. Lathe finished sweeping up the mess and dumped the thin shards into the trash, deciding to leave the broom out in case of another ornament accident. He made lunch, taking it upstairs and trying to filter through things on Amazon, attempting to figure out what to get the seven people still on his list. He stopped when five hours later he’d only figured out presents for three people, annoyed at life as he traipsed back downstairs to make dinner, fixing mistletoe that had gotten torn down on the way. ....how the hell did the cat get up there? He just decided to ignore the scratch marks on the doorway for the moment, getting a mug from the cabinet first and foremost to make coffee, turning from it for a moment to start the machine. His stomach dropped as he heard a scrape and the sound of ceramic cracking, turning slowly to see Abby glaring at him from the counter, the yellow mug with train schematics on the floor. ....that. Is the only fucking thing I got from my father when he died. You fucking broke it. Fuming, Lathe up the cat, marching out the back door and to the barn, setting her down inside and shutting the door. You’re a barn cat. You’re not allowed in the house anymore. He went back inside and picked up the mug, carefully inspecting it. It’s just a hairline crack, thank god…. they made things really well back then... it can be fixed and used again... He carefully set it back in the cupboard behind the other mugs, turning to the coffeemaker and shutting it off, sighing heavily. ...you know what, people can deal with foraging for leftovers tonight. I need a break… Lathe padded upstairs to change, heading outside soon with a towel for the hot tub. He slowly stepped in, relaxing against the side of it and tipping his head back, his eyes closed as he felt his muscles loosen up. I just need to calm down… everything’ll be fine.

Spades got home a bit late, smelling something amazing as she locked the door behind her. Dinner smells amazing. Lathe must’ve pulled out all the stops. “Lathe… Honey I’m Hom-” She stopped when she saw Eren covered in a black soot-like substance, and in simply boxers. “Eren! What are you covered in?! You left a trail all over the house! And how can you be in just boxers? It’s freezing outside!”

“It’s Charcoal…” Eren replied nonchalantly, stirring at the large pot on the stove. “Dinner’s not gonna be done for a bit… Um, if you're looking for Dad… He’s in the hot tub, he’s been in there for a bit.” I’m making one of Hannes’ favorite. His eyes flashed with a sense of regret and sadness before he shook his head, looking back over to Spades as she nodded. “Welcome home, Mom.”

Spades smiled. “I’m home Eren, but make sure that you clean up your mess, you left a trail from the Studio room to here!” She turned to go upstairs and change into a revealing swimsuit and grab a towel. Might as well join him and relax, today was a long day. Spades was almost silent as she slipped outside and to the hot tub, slipping in beside him and calling softly to him. “Lathe? Are you awake, sugar?”

Lathe’s eyes opened, looking over to her, surprised. “Y-Yeah, I didn’t hear you…” He blushed as he noticed the swimsuit she was wearing, trying not to stare. ....well then. That’s new. “Welcome home, Hon.” He moved a bit closer to her to kiss her sweetly, his red face a bit hidden with the steam curling up around them. He leaned their foreheads together, sighing heavily. “...today’s been kinda awful, so I'm sorry I didn't cook anything for dinner… it’s foraging for once… I'm honestly really starting to hate having Abby in the house, she broke seventeen more ornaments and cracked my Dad’s mug… she’s in the barn for now. She’s not staying in the house anymore.” And that’s my life right now. Just giving you the update. He looked up to her, his voice a bit brighter, sarcastic. “And how was your day?” Better than mine, most likely.

Spades’ face seemed to darken a bit, before she looked down, sinking in next to him, her face on his shoulder. She was quiet for awhile, trying to formulate a response. “I… I’m glad that… That none of Eren’s attempts worked…” She closed her eyes. “Much worse than yours… And Eren took it upon himself to make dinner, so you’re fine.” She kissed his cheek, moving to sit in his lap and rest her head on his shoulder trying not to cry. We responded to three today…

Lathe’s expression shifted as she spoke, understanding after a moment. …oh. He pulled Spades close, his hands running soothingly over her back as he cradled her to his chest, his cheek lightly resting on her head. “Spades, that’s awful… I’m sorry…” ...I'm so glad Eren didn't end up being one of the many who succeeded… it’s got to be really, really hard, doing what you do… my doing what I do can seem like a cakewalk in comparison to what you’re overseeing… He pressed light kisses to the top of her head, not knowing really how to comfort her. Fuck… please don’t cry...

Spades sniffled a bit, curling into him, her hand coming up to card through the hair at the back of his neck. There was an overdose… A hanging… And another… Stabbed themselves 27 times… “Lathe… All I could see was Eren’s face…” She hiccuped a bit wrapping both her arms around his shoulders. “I’m so glad… That he’s home… And safe… And that he has both of us…”

Lathe’s arms wrapped around her middle and held her close to his chest. He let one hand tangle in her hair, trying himself to ignore the memories of him trying to stitch Eren back together after he nearly overdosed on morphine, of the numerous times he was caught with razors, of seeing him hanging from a rafter in the barn that prodded at him from the back of his mind where he’d shoved them away. He couldn’t help it when a tear streaked down his cheek, his voice a quiet murmur, swallowing down the lump in his throat before he spoke. “…y-you know…. Levi told me two days ago… Eren’s been so much more like himself…. all snark and confidence… so much happier… h-he’s doing so much better… all of that… the attempts… we’re past it. We’re so close to being home free.” Lathe sniffled, moving his head to kiss her temple. “He got out of it all in one piece…. and he’s okay. He’s got me, the most understanding boyfriend…” He kissed her ear lightly, his voice quiet. “And a wonderful mother.” …he’s really lucky… we’re really lucky...

Spades sniffled as Lathe told her that Eren was getting better. “He’s… He’s getting better?” Her face lit up in happiness, a bright smile making it’s way out. “That’s awesome, I’m so proud of him.” She pulled back a bit, cupping his face, her gaze intense. “What do you say we try and add someone else that support group?” She giggled, grinding her ass on his crotch, whimpering a bit to try and entice him. I want to have at least something go right today.
Lathe blushed fiercely, a sound catching in his throat as she ground down against him. Well that escalated quickly. “U-Uhm…” Lathe seemed to back down a bit under her intense gaze, slightly put off by her intensity. ... kinda too quickly... Lathe could still hear the sound of a gunshot faintly playing over and over in the back of his mind, unsure. He couldn’t seem to speak, not sure if and how to say no, not even sure if he wanted to say no. How the hell did you switch from sobbing to so damn eager.... I can't exactly do that...

Spades watched his reaction and gently leaned down to kiss his nose. “Sorry, I don’t want to push anything on you, I know I just got home and unloaded a lot on you.” She moved her head down to his shoulder again, gently kissing his neck. I just wanted a distraction from everything that happened at work. She held him close, slowing down her advances on him. “If you don’t want to do anything, I completely understand.”

“T-that’s okay…” Lathe’s hands came to rest on her waist as she kissed at his neck, sighing quietly. “Just... that dug up a few choice memories I shoved away... Uhm...” He chuckled for an instant, shrugging a shoulder. “Honestly for lack of a better way to say it, just slow the hell down... that just escalated really quickly...” He tried to focus on Spades’ lips on his neck, letting tension slowly drain out of him. “It’s not like I don’t want to... sorry, I can’t words... just...” His thumb gently rubbed her side, baring more of his neck to her, his voice soft and quiet. “…Slow down, okay?” I can't be as enthusiastic as you apparently can when I've got too many memories prodding at me...

Spades made a small noise in acknowledgement, gently kissing the skin bared to her. “I’m sorry, I just wanted a distraction....” She paused to kiss his neck more. “... When I want to forget something, I block it off, I’m sorry, honey.” I want you to enjoy something as well. She was gentle, waiting for him to settle before doing anything else with him.

“It’s okay...” Lathe tried to relax at Spades’ soft touch, the sounds fading from his mind as Spades gently suckled at his neck, shifting to better pull her into his lap after a long moment, straddling his hips and letting one hand drift down from her hair to play with the knot tied neatly at the back of her bikini top. He nudged her a bit, pecking her cheek and meeting her eyes with a soft smirk. “...I think we could use another member of the support group...” His other hand moved lower from her hip, cupping her ass and pulling their hips flush, slowly grinding into her. I can give you quite the distraction.

Spades let out a soft moan as Lathe ground up on her. “Hmm.... I’m glad you ... Aghn... Agree.” She moaned out more feeling his hands roam all over her curves. “Mhm, you like.. The new bikini?” Her voice sultry and soft by his ear, gently nipping at his pale lobe as she ground down to meet his hip. I really want this... I want us to build our family.

“I do. I was wondering why you hadn't given me the pleasure of seeing it yet... although...” He kept their hips flush, feeling himself begin to grow hard as he tugged on the bikini string, slowly beginning to undo the knot. “I think I'm going to like it even better off.” His voice was low and smooth, undoing the bow and letting both of his hands travel up to cup her large globes, the fabric easily moving from her skin and off her shoulders, his thumbs running teasingly over her pink buds. ...it is nice... and you can see plenty with it on... but I'd prefer everything.

Spades let out a loud mewl as he gently fondled her large breasts. “Mmn, Lathe... That feels really nice...” She ducked her head down, licking at his collarbone, and sucking at the sensitive skin. Spades still kept rolling her hips, making sure that Lathe was getting aroused as much as she was. Fuck... This is gonna be hot, I can tell... You're already stripping me, and we haven't done much foreplay yet, I wonder if he'll let me ride him? I really want to ride you, Lathe.

Lathe shuddered a bit as Spades kept up the friction against his clothed length, quietly whimpering as she suckled at his neck and licked over his collarbone. He moved them a bit, pushing away the dark blue fabric and ducking his head down, keeping her chest above the water and taking one of her buds into his mouth. He traced it with his tongue and lightly nibbled at it, grinding up into her as she arched back, though made sure to keep her head above the water. Hearing aids... those can't get wet... but something else ... The strong hand not supporting her back moved south, dragging agonizingly slowly up the fabric of the bikini hiding her folds. ...most certainly can.

Spades let out a flurry of groans, moans, and whimpers as Lathe attacked all her sensitive areas with utmost care. “Fuck... Lathe, d-don’t tease...” She tried to roll her hips against his fingers, trying to get him to touch her covered folds. I want more, you’re going so slow ... It’s... It’s unbearable. Her hands trailed their way down Lathe’s chiseled chest, happily tracing down his v-line and giggling as her fingers played with the hem of his swim trunks. I want these gone just as much as you do...

Lathe moaned quietly as her hands dragged down his chest, rubbing her through the thin fabric as his tongue trailed to her other breast, giving it the same attention. He suckled harder at the bud before trailing up to her neck, shifting her so she was more in the water and freeing a hand. He smirked as she tugged at his trunks, nipping at her neck as he shifted a bit, slipping them off and kicking them away, shuddering at the odd feeling of the churning water on his exposed length. His hands trailed up her legs to her hips, tugging the bikini bottoms down and soon enough they were gone, grinding against her, his length rubbing her folds and moaning into her neck at the friction. Fuck... it feels good...

Spades’ breath hitched, throwing her head back at the wonderful sensation of flesh on flesh. “Fuck Lathe... I want you... I want you now.” Her voice held an air of urgency, and seduction, wanting him to be drawn to her. I feel hot, everywhere he touches... It feels like it’s on fire ... She tried to quiet herself down knowing that Eren was in the kitchen, and quite possibly Levi as well. Honestly... I really shouldn’t give a fuck at this point...
Lathe smirked, his eyes darkening a bit as he lifted her up over his length, the tip brushing her entrance as he murmured into her ear. “Let me hear you.” He slowly sank into her, his lips latching onto her neck and suckling a dark mark onto her tan skin, groaning as he was slowly sheathed in her heat. Their hips met, Lathe speaking shakily against her skin. “Fuck, Spades… so tight…” I love it. He stayed still, waiting for her to adjust and give a cue to move. “Whenever… whenever you're ready…”

Spades cried out in utter bliss as Lathe sheathed himself into her, her legs shifting up to give him a better angle, and to give herself the ability to lift herself up. Fuck, he’s so big. She stayed still for a few moments before raising herself up and slowly coming back down on him, trying to find a rhythm, her pace progressively getting faster as her hands roamed his sides. I want to feel every bit of you.

Lathe’s hands held her hips firmly and helped her begin a steady pace, moaning as she began moving and moaning in his ear. “You sound so fucking sexy, my God… I love it.” He thrusted deeply into her, matching the pace she’d built up to. He pulled back from her neck, his eyes raking up her form, drinking in her curves greedily as she bounced on his length. Fucking hell… how the hell are you mine?

Spades looked over to him as he was looking over her body, keeping up with her pace as she slid her hands all up and over her body. “Lathe… Do you like what… You see?” Her voice had dropped a bit, trying to sound as seductive as possible as her own hands wandered over her body, as if highlighting specific curves. I wanna hear your answer to that. How do you really think I look? You look like you’re ready to devour me whole… Spades continued to moan, starting to move her hips in a circular motion, gasping and tightening around him when she found her sweet spot.

Lathe grinned as she gasped, steadying her and grinding up into her, aiming for that one spot as he drove deeply into her, tracing the lines of her body with his eyes as he spoke. “I don’t think like is nearly strong enough a word… let me put it this way…” He drew out of her, picking up the pace and aiming for that one spot that made her gasp for air, keeping eye contact. “I love how perfectly your hips fit against mine… I love how your hips and all of your curves feel in my hands and the sounds you make whenever I touch somewhere sensitive… I love your skin’s perfect smooth caramel color, and…” He moved so his mouth was next to her ear, his breath hot against the shell of it. “I love the way you taste.” He nibbled at her earlobe, his voice holding a hint of mischief. “So yes… I like what I see.”

Spades let out a high pitched cry as Lathe picked up on her pleasured state and moved to increase it tenfold. His words were like honey to her ears, rich and full of life against her skin. That was a perfect answer. “Haa… L-Lathe… It feels… It feels really good… Ugh… Right… right there…” She whined as he found her sweet spot all over again, letting his thrusts overtake her movements. It feels so good… I just wanna bask in it forever.
Lathe pounded up into her, hitting the bundle of nerves over and over again as Spades became a moaning mess above him. He could feel his own coil slowly beginning to tighten, his forehead resting in the crook of her neck as he thrusted into her hard. “Y-You feel so good…” Lathe knew he could still last a while, lapping at her neck and leaving small dark marks down her collarbone. Mine.

Spades’ arms wrapped around his back, her nails digging into his skin and leaving long scratches. “Ngh… L-Lathe… Fuck…. Ahh, f-fuck me…. H-harder..” She began to beg for more, struggling to move her hips up and down, trying to get him to go even deeper, and faster. I want it… I really want it. Spades whimpered quietly in his ear, licking it and nipping it, trying to entice him to continue and speed up his pace. “I… I really want you….”

Lathe got the message, his hands on her hips nearly leaving bruises as he rammed up into her, abusing her G-spot and thrusting deeply into her. He moved up to her ear, his voice smooth as he felt warmth pooling in his abdomen. “Cum for me, Spades… I want to hear you scream.” I don’t give a fuck who hears.

Spades groaned, already starting to tighten around his large length. “F-Fuck…. Lathe… !” She screamed out his name tightening around him further as she reach her climax. Holy fuck… That was really good...

Lathe’s hold on her left bruises on her hips as he stilled inside her, grinding deeply into her as he released, moaning into her shoulder. “Fuck, Spades…” So good… He nipped and sucked up and down her neck, switching to the other side as she milked him of every drop. He drew out of her, still pulling her flush against him, his touch becoming more gentle as his mouth wandered back up to her lips, kissing her deeply. ...tiny humans…. ...I really love you...

Spades smiled into the kiss, her eyes closed as she slowly wrapped her arms around him. “I love you…” Her words were soft, and her eyes even softer as she looked over his face. I love you so much… She settled on his lap still, enjoying being flush with him, and wrapped in his arms. Spades closed her eyes, enjoying the silence until the door opened to the house.

Eren poked his head out of the door. “If um… If you’re done…. Um… Dinner’s ready…” He had a huge blush on his face before he hurriedly disappeared back behind the door. The window in the kitchen is open, that’s embarrassing...

Lathe immediately turned scarlet, his eyes wide as he heard Eren speaking. “…well that’s embarrassing…” He chuckled weakly after a moment, pressing another kiss to Spades’ lips. “…he’ll get over it. Now…” He looked around the water. “…where the hell did our stuff float to.” ...we kinda need those things. Especially that swimsuit. I like that one. Spades slipped from his lap, fishing around in the water for their things, helping her retie her top on (albeit reluctantly) and putting on his own trunks. He stepped from the water first, picking up Spades’ towel and holding it open for her as she stepped out of the hot tub. He grabbed his own and walked with her inside before either of them froze, smiling sheepishly to Eren, who was pointedly trying not to stare at the dark marks up their necks. “Uhm, we’re going to go dry off…” He pulled Spades along with him, calling over his shoulder. “Dinner smells really good!” Thanks for impersonating me and making food. ...and for putting up with our shenanigans. ...not that I’d ever apologize for them. Lathe and Spades went upstairs to dry off and get dressed, not without their fair share of teasing kisses before padding back downstairs, Lathe’s green sweater only somewhat hiding the marks darkening on his neck, the rest hiding behind his long black locks. He had an arm around Spades’ waist, only letting go to take the bowl he was handed, taking a moment to look Eren up and down. “...mind explaining why you’re in nothing but boxers and a stolen sweater?” I’ve been looking for that.

Eren looked at him, a glint in his eyes as he flashed a cheeky grin. “It fits.” He turned back to ladle more soup into some more bowls for Spades, Levi, and himself. Once everyone had food, he sat down with them at the table, making sure that the stove was off but that the soup was warm enough to stay warm. It’ll be okay… I hope everyone likes it.

...there it is. Lathe looked as if he pondered this for a moment, flashing a grin to match his. “Fair point.” He went to sit at the table, immediately tangling his and Spades’ legs as she sat down across from him. Lathe looked at the bowl with a curious expression, taking a small spoonful and eating it, his expression changing quickly. “Eren, this is great! Who taught you to make this?” It wasn’t me. Or Levi, he doesn’t cook. I mean he does, but not soup. Or Spades, she’s not home long enough. You haven’t camped out at Armin’s long enough… so who?

Eren paused, his head down a bit as he resumed his spoon’s path to his mouth, eating the first bite. He swallowed it down, remaining quiet for a moment. Should I tell them about him? I don’t know how well they’ll take it. “Umm…. H-Hannes did.” His voice was quiet as he kept his head down. I don’t… I haven’t seen him in forever.

Lathe’s expression softened as he recognized the name, his voice quiet. “You… when you were out of it, you talked so much about him… always asked about him. ...do you want to talk about him?” He was obviously important to you when you were really young... but I don’t know much about him, for all your babbling about him...

Eren swallowed the lump in his throat, trying to pick up his spoon again. He felt his stomach turn as the words left Lathe’s mouth. I’ve never told anyone about him… I don’t know if I can start. Eren put his spoon back down, putting his hands under the table, already feeling Blake take his hands. Fuck... I don’t know what to do… Grisha never knew that Hannes taught me everything.

Levi moved his chair a bit closer to Eren, wrapping his arms around him and murmuring soothingly to him. “You don't have to talk, Eren… but if you want to, we’d like to hear about him.
You don't have to be real eloquent about it... you can just start talking if you want. But we understand if you'd rather not yet.” He and your mom and dad were the only ones you knew for more than a week... I'd like to know about him. We all would.

Eren nodded. “He…” He trailed off, trying to find the right words. “He taught me how to cook, um... He gave me Charlie... And he... He taught me how to shoot a gun, and take care of myself...” Eren closed his eyes starting to relive all those memories from when he was a small child. I miss him... I miss him a lot. “It was like... Like he was my real father...”

Lathe’s expression was soft, his eyes warm, his voice quiet. “He’s the one that took care of you for the most part when you were really little? He certainly did a good job.” You’re a good cook, a great jockey, a perfect shot- he really did. Lathe smiled softly, the gears in his head turning. ...I wonder if he’s still around...

“He... He was really nice and kind... But, he hated... Um, he hated my father... And would always take me whenever he got he chance to.” Not that I ever knew why Hannes hated Grisha... Eren swallowed the lump in his throat, trying to clear it, his eyes still hadn’t looked up to anyone. “He... He... He taught me a lot, because he didn't have his own son...”

...before the fire and anything started? I wonder why? Lathe smiled to him, his eyes tracing over the table, not sure what to say. “He taught you a lot of things really well. Was he the one to teach you how to ride horses?” He watched as Eren faintly nodded. “He really did teach you well. And you’ve got good aim, and you can cook this well...” His voice was low. “You really were lucky to have someone like him to teach you all this stuff.” He did a damn good job.

Eren nodded, becoming silent as he ate, not wanting to talk much anymore. I miss Hannes... I never got to say goodbye, I never thought about going back... Because... That airplane terrified me... He moved to get seconds on his bowl, still in his own world as his mind reeled at the thought of his substitute father.

...it really does sound like it. Levi rested a gentle hand on Eren’s shoulder when he sat down again, giving a small shrug and a reassuring look. He turned back to his own bowl after a moment, looking up across the table as he ate another spoonful. His brow furrowed when he looked at Lathe, practically able to hear the gears in his head turning. Now what are you thinking?

The rest of dinner passed relatively quietly, Lathe picking up Eren and Levi’s dishes after Eren padded away, still in LaLaLand, followed by Levi who tried to get his attention. He really misses him... Lathe finished cleaning up downstairs and went upstairs after putting the pot of leftovers away, going to a file cabinet in his study and pulling Eren’s files, his laptop open next to him. He waded through websites in German, trying to find the man he was looking for. Hannes... Hannes... ...there’s one here. Lathe scrolled down the page, reading the minimal information. He’s not that... far from his old house… he’d be around the right age, I think… there’s a phone number here. Lathe stared at the screen hard for a moment, deciding it was worth a shot. He checked what the time difference was before going to find Spades as she scrolled through Netflix, leaning over the back of the couch behind her to talk to her. “Hey Spades? You know German. Can you help me with a thing please?”

Spades looked up to see Lathe above her. “Um, sure…” She stretched as she got up and turned the TV off for now. I have no idea what you’re doing… But if it involves German, you better have me with you. “What are you planning Lathe?” I’m curious as to what you’re doing… You usually don’t ask me to help you with German.

Lathe fiddled with the cell phone in his hands. “.I think I found Hannes… I wanted to talk to him a bit… and if it really is him, catch him up on a lot of things… and I know Eren really wants to see him… and ask if maybe he’d like to come to the wedding…. If that’s okay with you too…” I want to at least try to find him…

Well… It’s not a terrible idea. “Sounds like a plan… Is he going to know? Or are we keeping this a surprise?” Her lips pulled back in a lazy smile, thinking about how excited Eren would be to see some semblance of family again. “It would be good for him.” I’m not going to stop you.

“I was thinking surprise… I thought he’d really like to see a familiar, friendly face… he’s important to him. I think it’s worth a shot.” He pecked her cheek, pushing off of the back of the couch. “It’s one in the morning there right now… they’re six hours ahead of us. We’d have to call tomorrow morning… you get up around six, right? Is it okay if we make it four? I know it’s asking a bit but to catch him up on things if it’s really him would take a while and I’m not the greatest at German but we can get to sleep early… please?” ...please?

Spades smiled softly. “Well, I take it you’ve forgotten that I took tomorrow off for my doctor’s appointments… And I was planning on binge watching Netflix with you, but… I think waking up at 4 is okay too… So why don’t we go upstairs to go to bed?” She moved to peck his cheek. I wouldn’t mind going to bed, as long as you’re holding me…

Lathe smiled sheepishly. “Uhm, you’re kinda not wrong… sorry, I got kinda caught up in this… but we can still watch plenty of Netflix, don’t worry.” He grinned as she pecked his cheek, sweeping her upstairs with him. He was curled around her as they slept, antsy and unable to sleep for a bit. Before he knew it it was a bit after four in the morning, a mug of coffee in front of him as his fingers drummed on the desk. His cellphone was on speaker in front of him, Spades sitting next to him, going over what he was going to say in his head over and over. He quickly cleared his throat as the line was picked up and he heard a greeting in german, speaking clearly. <“Hello, may I please speak to Hannes?”>
<“This is Hannes… May I ask who this is?”>

<“My name is Lathe Quo. I have to ask you… do you happen to be the same Hannes that cared for a boy named Eren Yeager more than a decade ago?”>

There was the sound of a breath catching in someone’s throat, and a rough swallow. <“Eren? I haven’t seen him in a long time… Do you know where he is? I haven’t been able to contact him since he was forced to move away twelve years ago.”>

“It’s him! <“Hannes, that might be because… well, he hasn’t been in Germany for twelve years. His father Grisha forced him to move to America with him. He’s in Kansas, one of the states here. I’m his adoptive father. There’s… a lot has happened in twelve years.”> You’ve probably been expecting him to be in Germany, not so far away…

<“Adoptive Father? Did someone finally report Grisha? Please tell me he’s locked away for a long time… How’s Eren? He’s 20 now… He’s been gone for so long…”> <“Eren’s doing well, there’s a lot more to it, but he’s okay. And not exactly… first and foremost, Grisha’s not alive anymore. I don’t know if you know, but Carla isn’t either… she died in a house fire. But there’s a lot to everything I’m going to tell you… I don’t want to be keeping you if you need to be somewhere, this’ll take a long time to explain…”> You deserve to know what happened.

<“No please, I need to know about Eren, he meant a lot to me, and he still does. My horses are in their pastures, they’ll be fine… The whole town knows about the fire, it was tragic… Please explain what happened… And thank god that filthy son of a bitch is dead.”>

Lathe looked to the phone in surprise. <“I have to agree with you… but, and excuse me for asking, if you didn’t know much of anything about Eren after he came here to America… what exactly makes you say that?”> I thought the abuse started after Carla died… That’s not the beginning of it, in a way, is it.

<“Grisha was a horrible father. He never cared for the boy, he wouldn’t leave money for Carla, bless her soul, she couldn’t feed the both of them, so she sent him to my house. When Grisha found out he would often beat her before leaving Eren in my care for weeks if not months. She never fully healed from her beatings either…”>

Lathe ran a hand through his hair, stunned. ..what the fuck was wrong with him??!!?? <“I’d only heard Eren mention once that his mother was always ailing… that was what that was. That’s horrible… and to begin, he kept that awful habit when he brought Eren to America. The house fire… if I’m just repeating what you know, bear with me… but Eren was trying to make Mac’n’Cheese and the box tipped onto the gas stove. It started the fire, and when Carla came into the kitchen to get Eren, the kitchen had already begun to collapse. She tossed Eren to safety with Grisha, but she herself couldn’t get out. Grisha… he blamed Eren for Carla’s death. He… he began taking out his frustrations on Eren. He… it’s grotesque and cruel, everything he did… he would beat Eren and lash him with his belt, and it would escalate to stabbing and whipping and burning… he… “Lathe swallowed hard. “He raped him… and he performed multiple operations on him using illegal anaesthetics and drugs, removing a kidney and bits of flesh and recording his reactions, all written, and all of them on tape.”

He took a deep breath to steady himself, continuing. “I didn’t meet Eren until his freshman year of classes at High School, when he was 16. He’d just gotten out of the hospital… He’d been whipped and his entire back burned with boiling water, and a small altercation at school ended up opening a lot of wounds and he needed an ambulance… his arm was broken, and all of his ribs… he’d set his arm himself. He said he was used to doing that sort of stuff… it obviously wasn’t the first time it’s happened. He’d built up a really high pain tolerance by then… Grisha left without a trace while he was in the hospital recovering. I ended up as his substitute chemistry teacher the day he got back to classes after that… I’d been a general surgeon, but I decided teaching was a better way to identify and help kids like him. I held him back after class, because I’d noticed blood stains on his shirt, from cutting… it wasn’t even two weeks before I’d adopted him, started him on meds for things from the pain he was in to his PTSD, and called in the Police Commissioner to start a full-fledged search for him and the other men involved in his abuse…”

“What other men? It wasn’t just that asshole that was hurting him?”

Lathe shook his head, even though Hannes couldn’t see it. “N-No… Grisha would… he’d bring hosts of other men who he apparently knew through his position in the medical world, and they’d all… they’d all help Grisha torture Eren, beating him, and drugging him… r-raping him while he couldn’t fight back…. Grisha’d recorded all of it… he had cameras set up around his operating table in the basement… we’ve found all of them except for one, but we have his portrait. Eren had memorized all of their faces, drew each one of them and gave all the names he could remember… but he’s nameless and hasn’t turned up yet.” We’re really close.

Hannes was silent for a long while. “Is he… Is he okay? He’s… He’s doing well, yes? And getting the proper help?”

“He really is. I pulled a lot of strings near the beginning of all of this… he’s nearly back to his snarky, happy self after so long of struggling with PTSD and depression. He has a service dog, Blake, who’s been a huge help in keeping him calm when he’s about to panic or drawing too far into his memories. A friend of mine, Casper, is a pharmacist, and he and I actually created a completely new PTSD medicine for him while he was in the hospital. The ones he was on weren’t right for his system, and he was on so many other drugs that conflict was inevitable with anything else already in existence. Oh, uhmm… we were still on the lookout for Grisha three years after he disappeared… by that time, Eren had had a boyfriend Levi for a solid three years, and was living in the apartment Levi still owned so he had a quiet place to do schoolwork while Levi was in college, training to be in the marines. Grisha had broken into the apartment and tied up Blake so he wouldn’t be in the way, stabbing him to keep him under control… he ended up being okay, but Eren… he picked up where he left off. He whipped him and had men over to rape him, and the on the day before Levi was supposed to come home for a break, he planned to have him killed. He’d stabbed Eren seven times and was about to stab him an eighth time when Levi showed up, having come home a day early to surprise him. He was dead before he hit the ground… Levi had shot Grisha through the heart and the head multiple times. Eren was rushed to the hospital, and was out in a coma for more than three weeks… I, Casper, and another friend of mine Scotty, who was a doctor at the hospital, were doing everything we could to figure out how to bring his heart rate up, stimulate him, get him to respond… we wrote up new medicines until we found one that might work, fought tooth and nail to get them past the medical board for the hospital and in two days had it administered to him… it helped with nightmares and seizures he’d been having. He finally woke up after three long weeks, and it took forever for us to get Eren to even look at anyone besides at their feet, be okay with anyone getting close to him, even communicate in the simplest way… the entire ordeal, I don’t think I slept more than four hours at a time.”> He chuckled a bit, his eyes melancholy. < “I always had him in my lap, telling him everything that was happening outside and letting him know what’d happened while he was out and the details of the attack, keeping him calm when new people came into his room in the ICU, when he needed blood drawn or to be fed, to be cleaned up… but he’d been getting all of the help he needed. We… well, we tried getting him to a therapist, but that went downhill when the therapist turned out to be one of the men Eren drew in the hospital….one of the men involved in his abuse. We kinda skipped that then, just focusing on getting him the right balance of medications and helping him open up to us. Oh, when I say us, I mean myself, my fiancée Spades, Eren of course and Levi. We recently moved, had a new house built with a barn in the backyard, full of animals… he named his new horse Charlie. He’s been so happy taking care of all of the animals. He picked up riding again like he never stopped- amazing at riding and jumping. It’s amazing, the progress he’s made. It’s been really hard… he’d been on suicide watch for the longest time… it was heartbreaking when we found out he was cutting again… and… it was horrible… Blake ran up to the house barking, and I found him… hanging himself on a rafter of the barn… I had him cut down the second I could, we talked… we came to a sort of understanding, but… there was also that thought when I heard a gunshot from the backyard, when I didn’t know how the hell he could have possibly gotten to it when it was under lock and key and he didn’t even know about it… that he was shooting something other than a buck he saw in the backyard and just decided to go shoot. But he’s so much better than how he was. He’s a brilliant musician, picked up all of his mother’s instruments and played them like he never stopped. He’s got a real golden throat too, he’d put a couple songs covers up on the internet, gained a massive following and got signed to a record label. He’s a wonderful artist, too. He’s painted entire murals on the walls at the old house, realistic scenes of forests and jungles and safaris… it’s why we made nearly all the walls in the new house white, so he can paint and draw all over them all he wants. As long as he shares some of the space with me, of course.”> He chuckled quietly. <“But his personality is really beginning to show, all sarcasm and bright eyes. He’s gone from severely malnourished to eating us out of house and home, he’s healed from his physical wounds amazingly, and that’s a whole other thing in itself, and mentally he’s gotten so much better. He’s not scared of his own shadow anymore. He’s really pulled through all of this, and he’s got a great support system in place, he’s got a whole bunch of friends… he’s doing so well.”> Lathe was quiet, hearing a quiet sob from the other end. < “…He really misses you. He ended up in charge of dinner last night, made a venison stew that you taught him to make… it was the first time he opened up about you, you could tell it wasn’t easy for him to talk about… but he said it was like you were his first real father. You taught him to ride, to shoot, to cook and take care of himself… you did a wonderful job of it. You really did.”> Lathe stared at his hands, his voice soft. <“Spades and I were wondering, since we’re getting married in June… if you’d like to come to the wedding, see Eren again. We’d love to have you come over and meet you.”>
Hannes struggled to keep in his sobs. <“My boy... He’s all grown up... And without me...”> He paused, collecting himself as he listened to Lathe’s offer. <“May I come earlier? I would like to see my son again... I would love to meet you as well... You sound like you’ve given him the world.”> I wish I could’ve been there for him, and shielded him from all the beatings and brutal treatment.

Lathe smiled. <“That and a kidney… literally. There are a lot of weird gaps in detail, but the short of it is he’s gotten the help he needs, and he’s okay. But of course you can- you’ve done so much for him when he needed someone to act as a father for him, and you’ve been a great role model for him. You’re welcome to come as soon as you can and want to- we’ve plenty of space. We’ll even help you fly here, if you need us to.”> You and Eren haven’t seen each other in forever. It’s high time we fix that.

Hannes’ sobs got even louder, now that he knew he was presented the opportunity to see Eren again. <“I’ll need help getting plane tickets... I’ll be free in January, and I can leave my horses with my neighbor, he knows them well. I thank you for your kindness.”> Hannes took in a deep breath, wondering what Lathe would say about it.

Lathe nodded, grinning. <“Of course. I’ll get you tickets- or a ticket, we might not know for a bit how long you’d like to stay. And you can stay with us as long as you wish. It’s the least we can do. ...that is, depending how long your neighbor is willing to put up with your horses.”> Lathe lightly joked, his eyes bright. <“I’ll look into it, see what there is available on such short notice. We’d need to stay in touch about it- email would be easiest. If you gave me your address, I’ll get you a ticket here and let you know the specifics, and we’ll work out details? Does that sound okay?”>

<“That sounds wonderful... My email is LDZ@bavarianwarmbloods.org”>

Lathe’s hand stopped from where it was poised over a post-it, a pen in his grasp. <“...I bought Charlie from you. I had to get the authentication papers through you earlier this month. We’d talked and I hadn’t even realized it was you.”> Lathe chuckled, running a hand through his hair. <“That’s so weird of a coincidence. And my boarder got her horse from you too- she’s the one who gave me your email address in the first place. ...I guess this means I'll get in touch with you again. I'll see what we can do, alright?”> What the hell! That's weirdly coincidental and cool.

<“Ah, so you’re the American bidder that bought my stud. You said Eren named him Charlie, yes?”>

<“Well, funny story… after Eren went to the meeting with the therapist who turned out to be his abuser, he had a really bad seizure… when he woke up, he had the mentality of his five-year-old self. He was so bubbly and happy, asking where his dad and mom were, where you were, if Charlie was okay… it was heartbreaking when he didn't recognize anyone, and when he was showing more of his personality than with all of our effort. We were moving into the new house that week… when he saw the horse in the barn, he just lit up and threw up his arms happily, so happy to see Charlie… it's what he named him. It was a temporary amnesia though… he snapped out of it later that day.”

“I see… That stud… Is actually the ‘real’ Charlie’s son. The two of them are spitting images of each other. Charlie was the only horse I let Eren ride because he was definitely the most docile of the bunch, so I can see why he would name it as such.”

...motherfucker. Lathe was simply stunned to hear this. <“...this is like something out of a movie. I can't believe any of this! It's just so weird… and really cool. But if he’s Charlie’s son, then I can understand why Eren would think he’s not a completely different horse. And he’s like his father too- he’s a wonderful horse for all the riding and jumping Eren does. And for dragging wood around- he set up a whole thing of jumps in the backyard. He really is all that and a bag of chips.”>
Lathe silently hoped he used the last phrase correctly. ...phrases and random figures of speech are hard...

“He certainly is, well, I don’t want to keep you for much longer than I need to, but, keep me updated on how Eren is doing, please?”

“Of course I will. I have plenty of links to send to you; you’ll want to see quite a few things. I’ll be sure to fill your inbox with all sorts of stuff.” Lathe was only half-joking. Thank god I can do random phrases like that. <“Take care, Hannes. We’ll see you soon.”>

“I will, thank you."

“Goodbye.” Lathe pressed the red button to end the call, looking up to Spades, his expression of wonder and disbelief matching hers. “…it's really him. We found him.” … how . Lathe grinned, staring at the silent phone. “Sounds like I’ve got a plane ticket to book. But first…” Lathe stood, guiding Spades to stand. “...we can have our us time.”

Spades quirked an eyebrow. “A) When the fuck did you become fluent in German? B) When is he coming? And C) It’s 5:45 in the fucking morning..” What us time?

“A) I honestly don't know. I think it’s from having to constantly switch between German and English because Eren constantly switches and it got annoying, and real… B) I don't know yet, I haven't looked up available flights two seconds after hanging up. And C), time is an illusion constructed by the governments of the world, now just say yes so we can go watch Netflix.” Lathe rested their foreheads together, giving her the puppy eyes. Pleeeeease? ...I want to have someone to hold on to...

Spades smiled softly, leaning into his touch. “Alright, let’s go.” She held a gentle hand on her abdomen, smiling softly. I can only hope...
Chapter 54: 12 Days of Fucking Christmas Part 3

Day 9

Levi walked to the barn, his hands stuffed in his pockets as he went in his search for Eren. He knocked on the frame of the barn door, walking over to where Eren was feeding Oliver in the back of the barn and wrapping his arms around him from behind, wanting closeness. “Eeeeee…” I’ve got less than a week… I want to have a little more time just with you...

Eren put the bag of feed down to pry Levi’s arms off of him. “Not right now, Levi… I gotta do chores.” Eren brushed by him to put the bag of feed away, closing up Oliver’s stall. I have to groom the horses and feed everyone.

Levi watched as Eren just walked past him, his expression shifting a bit as he walked up behind him again before he could open the stall for Gill and Jill. His hands moved to his waist, pulling him flush with his front and mumbling into his shoulder. “…please?” I love you… and I’m not gonna be here for much longer...

“Levi… If I neglect to do anything for any of the animals… Their schedules get thrown out of whack…. Yes they have schedules, and will you let go of me? I gotta do shit.” Eren’s voice sounded a bit aggravated as he pulled out a stool and a clean bucket to start milking Gill as she ate. They’ll be uncomfortable if I don’t.

Levi pouted a bit, though he refused to leave Eren completely alone, hovering just behind him, craving attention of any kind. ......you’re kinda cute when you’re mad. Sorry, but I just really want your touch. I don’t know when I turned into such a pansy, but I do.

Eren’s shoulders stiffened again as Levi hovered behind him. “Can you leave? I need to concentrate on this…” He trailed off trying to focus on milking the cows without pulling too hard. I need my undivided attention on them right now.

Levi sighed quietly, not wanting to piss Eren off, but really not wanting to leave. “...do I have to?” I don’t wanna leave… I wanna be around you...

Eren’s eye twitched as his resolve finally snapped. You want attention? Well, you’re gonna have to wait. He stood up without scaring the cows and grabbed Levi’s bicep, pulling him out of the stall and almost threw him into the hay pile. His eyes darted around looking for anything he could use... before finding a long rope, smirking as the glint in his eye surfaced. Oh I know what I’m doing...

Levi stumbled backward, surprised at what Eren was doing, falling a bit onto the hay pile and watching as Eren seemed to suddenly loom over him, rope in his hands. ...well fuck. Levi swallowed hard, not trying to get away from him. ...I think I'm gonna like where this is going.

Eren’s movements were quick, getting Levi’s wrists bound behind him, and tied to his waist before he tied his ankles together in front of him. He pulled on a section of the rope, smirking when it pulled Levi with it. That’s better. “If you want attention you’ll need to wait for it.” Eren tied the rope to the post behind Levi deftly before he got back up and turned away from him, going back to their two heifers.

Levi let Eren roughly tie him up, smirking, his eyes darkening as his hands and feet were bound. His expression immediately shifted to one of surprise when Eren simply turned and left him there, moving as if to follow and stopping when he realised he couldn't get up or untie the rope from the post. “...dammit...” He muttered under his breath, not struggling against his binds and instead watching Eren quietly from where he was tied. He lazily smirked, not bothering to hide the fact he was slowly undressing him with his eyes whenever he was visible and not hidden in a stall or behind an animal. Dammit… when are you gonna be done? I want you over here already… murr...

Eren completely ignored Levi while he was working with the animals, his hands gentle as he groomed around Luna’s ever sensitive sides, Charlie being as loud and obnoxious as possible. His face lit up, a beautiful smile making its way into view, and it stayed on his face for a majority of the next hour as he took care of and fed all the animals. Hmm… I wonder how Levi’s doing? Eren made his way back to where Levi was, a calloused hand grabbing at Levi’s chin and lifting it as he looked into his steely eyes. “Still want that attention?” He practically purred as his voice dropped an octave.

Levi seemed to perk up a bit as Eren finally approached him, a bit stunned that Eren was being so forward, unable to tear his eyes away from Eren’s. “Y-Yes please.” He smirked faintly, suddenly hyperaware of just how much leverage Eren had over him, tied up as he was. ...this is gonna be interesting.

Eren smirked, reaching into his back pocket and pulling out a switchblade and opening it with an easy flick of the wrist. This’ll work. He slipped the blade between Levi’s wrists before he cut the rope binding them, keeping his hands pinned behind his back, his other hand grabbing his shirt and forcing him to his knees. Eren took the rope and tied his wrists in front of him to the pole near the bottom, forcing Levi on his knees as he tied the knot, unless he would straighten his legs, forcing him to be bent over. That looks nice. He had a large grin as he cut the rope tying his ankles together and forced Levi to his feet, his body almost bending in half. “Think you can hold that?”
Levi tried to move his hands up the pole, soon realising he couldn't, staring at his shoes, feeling very vulnerable. “U-Uhm, I guess I can…” He tilted his head down and glanced back at Eren, realising how close his hips were to his ass. ...oh my. This is now a thing.

Eren smirked, his hands grabbing at Levi’s hips and grinding his tightening jeans against his Levi’s jeans. He let out a soft moan at the delicious friction as he rolled his hips. “Fuck Levi… This is tempting…” I just wanna pull you out of your clothes and fuck you now.

Levi gasped quietly as Eren ground against him, feeling Eren hardening in his jeans, his own slowly beginning to grow tighter. His knees locked, taking a bit of a wider stance and grinding back into him, wanting more. He let out a tiny whimper as Eren rolled his hips into him, the hour of waiting making him a bit desperate, his voice nevertheless smooth. “…then give in.” He was glad Eren couldn't see his face clearly, his face flushed a bit from his position and a bit of embarrassment at how badly he wanted to be taken. Fuck… I want it… I really want it...

Eren’s eyes were dark as he swiftly pulled down Levi’s jeans after unbuttoning and unzipping them. He pulled them completely off, picking up Levi by the hips to get them off of him. He got out of his own jeans, moving to play with the elastic on Levi’s boxers. “I dunno… should I? Will you be able to take it?” He leaned over Levi's body, nestling his hard-on between Levi’s still-clothed cheeks. Fuck, he’s perfect...

Levi immediately nodded, moving his hips back against Eren’s length and wanting their boxers gone. “Y-Yes, yes, please, Eren, don't keep me waiting… it’s been an hour, I want you so badly… p- please…” He felt a shiver run through him as Eren bent over his body, feeling his warm breath on his shoulder blade. I want to be made yours... please...

Eren leaned down, nipping at the skin at Levi’s shoulder blade. That’s what I like to hear. He complied, his hands moving down the curve of the raven’s spine, taking in every electric pulse that ran through him from the warm skin under his fingertips. He pulled the boxers down, all the way to the floor, pulling his own down as well, kicking them aside without care. Before he even knew what he was doing, he had already created a large red mark in the shape of a hand on the alabaster skin of Levi’s toned ass. Holy fuck… His eyes darkened with absolute lust, the noise he made was just short of a predatory growl.

Levi shuddered as Eren dragged his own boxers down, tilting his head down and watching without shame as Eren freed his own length, though he let out a surprised sound as Eren smacked his ass hard, wincing a bit at the sting. He felt a shiver run through him as Eren practically growled near his ear. ...fuck… Levi swallowed hard, shifting a bit to better present his ass to Eren, his hard length hanging between his legs. Give me something... please...

Eren’s hands moved to spread Levi’s cheeks apart, his thumb curiously circling his entrance, though he raised an eyebrow as he dipped his thumb in, feeling nothing but slickness. Lube... Levi lubed himself up…. Holy fuck. He couldn’t stop the growl that left his throat. “You’re really asking for it if you already prepared yourself.” This seems almost too good to be done.

Levi’s legs spread apart even more, at the perfect height to meet Eren’s hips. “I-I don’t want anything more r-right now… I-I… I want you to make me yours… I want it really badly… please…” He tried to push back onto Eren’s finger, making a small sound of protest when it drew out of him. “E-Eren… please, have me…”

Levi’s hips were soon held with a bruising grip as Eren moved directly behind him, poking his leaking erection at his hole. All it took for Eren to sheath himself was a fluid and hard thrust of his hips forward. His hands holding onto Levi so he stayed upright, and his own body leaning over Levi’s to incase him in his heat and sink further in. “F-Fuck… tight…”

Levi gasped loudly as Eren was suddenly buried in him to the hilt, the momentary pain giving way to pleasure, his head dropping down, moaning loudly and pressing his hips back, moaning even more as Eren ground against him and went even deeper inside of him. “F- fuck, Eren… p-please, move… d-don't be gentle about it…” He was grateful for Eren’s hands on his hips, holding him up. Go as fast and hard as you want… I want it. Please.

Eren nodded against his shoulder, leaning his head down and arching his back so that he could position himself better. His teeth sunk into Levi’s white skin, quickly lining his back with bruises as he began to thrust at a frantic pace. Fuck, he wants everything… Hmm, I can handle that. Though I want him to hold me after this… Eren pulled back until only the head of his length left buried in Levi. His hips snapped forward and he repeated the motion, picking up speed to match his original brutal pace. He feels wonderful… Maybe I should do this for him?

Levi groaned as Eren left bitemarks and bruises all over his back, letting out a shuddery cry as Eren nearly completely drew out of him and rammed back inside of him deeply, thrusting his hips back to meet Eren’s merciless thrusts. “M-my God, Eren… s-so good… I-I… haaaa…..” Levi’s momentary train of thought derailed as Eren found his prostate, his relentless thrusts pounding into it. He breathed hard, moaning louder and louder with every breath. My God … there's no way I can last very long like this… it feels too good...

Eren’s grip tightened on Levi’s hips, lifting him up off the ground a few inches, enough that he was able to hold him still as he pounded into him. “L-Levi…. Ngh….” Eren’s eyes fell to the work of art that he left on his back, a small smile forming on his lips. I… I think I can let him mark me again… His breaths were starting to become erratic, moans leaving from his throat, ranging between several different octaves.

Levi couldn't thrust back as he was lifted, his legs turned out so Eren could easily meet his hips, his toes curling as Eren abused his prostate. He felt a warmth pooling in his abdomen, his length aching from neglect, yearning for friction so close to the edge. “Eren... I-I can't m-much... haaa... longer...” He had no idea how to ask for what he wanted, his moans quieting just a bit, his head hanging as Eren ravaged him. It feels so amazing... my God... why have I never bottomed? I really like this...

Eren nodded, not trusting himself to speak any higher, as it was sure to come out a jumbled mess. Fuck... So good. His thrusts started to get more erratic and quicker, his nostrils flaring for more air, leaning down a bit to get the best angle into Levi’s warm hole. “Hnhg... Le-agh fuck... Cum... Cum...” Eren’s tone was demanding as he continued to give Levi everything he had. I wanna be in your arms again.

Levi cried out as he released at Eren’s words, decorating the wood boards underneath them with white, feeling a deliciously overwhelming heat between his legs as he orgasmed, letting it wash over him. He panted hard as Eren came inside of him, grinding back hard into his hips, wanting to be completely filled. “M-My God, Eren, please, fill me up... I want everything...” I don't want this to be over yet... just a tiny bit longer, please...

Eren let out a loud moan as his coil snapped within Levi’s warm heat, another groan leaving him as Levi ground against him. “Fuck, Levi...” He held his hips punishingly tight, keeping him against his hips. “L-Levi?” Eren’s voice was staggered, still trying to catch his breath back. I really want you to be possessive of me again...

Levi breathed hard, relishing in the sensation of being filled, sighing deeply as Eren finally drew out of him, tugging at the rope binding his hands. “H-hands...” He struggled a bit to stay on his feet as Eren cut him free, immediately turning as Eren put the knife down and pulled him to the floor with him, pulling Eren into his lap, his hands wandering his chest and sides, going to kiss and nip lightly at his neck, mumbling quietly. “...you wanted to ask me somethin’?” Anything.

Eren was taken by surprise as he was pulled down to the floor and into Levi’s arms. His face flushed red with embarrassment, instantly clamping up about what he wanted to ask. No... I can’t ask you... You seem to like me topping. He leaned his head down after shaking it a few times, his eyes finding an empty spot on the floor as Eren curled into Levi’s chest, enjoying the strong arms wrapped around him. I don’t want you to let go though...

Levi’s expression shifted a bit, his hands tracing patterns over his back, kissing up to Eren’s ear, his voice a quiet murmur. “Eren, you know you can ask me anything... right?” It's not good if we can’t ask for what we want... which I didn't do just two minutes ago... eh, gotta start somewhere... talk to me. Please.
Eren seemed to shrink a bit, what was left of his mangled ear as red as a tomato. “I… I um….” Eren stammered, trying to say the right things, but his mind unable to find a way to say anything properly. Fuck it… I give up… And you're probably gonna ask me to do it again… I don't like it…

Levi brought up his hands to cup Eren’s cheeks, kissing him sweetly, his eyes fluttering shut as Eren’s lips shakily moved against his. When they broke apart he leaned their foreheads together, his eyes still shut. “It's okay. You can tell me. Whatever it is, I swear I won't get mad or anything like that. I just want you to be completely happy with everything we do.” If there's anything you want to change- I'm certain we can work with it.

Eren let out a shaky breath, still trying to catch his breath from the exertion of their previous activities. “I um… I… I d-don’t like….” Eren’s words caught in his throat again, his eyes starting to show how much he was starting to panic. I can’t tell him… I can’t do it… He likes it… I can’t do that to him…

Levi opened his eyes, seeing Eren’s beginning panic. Uh oh. He kept Eren’s face in his gentle hold, pressing soft kisses all over his cheeks and the corners of his lips, his forehead and nose, his voice quiet as he tried to calm him. “Eren, it’s okay, it’s really okay… you don't have to tell me… but if you want to, take all the time you need. It's okay, it’s just me. It's just Levi. It's okay.” He pressed a line of butterfly kisses to his jaw, pecking the spot under his ear before crossing back to his cheeks. “…I love you. I just want you to be happy.” I really, really, really do.

Eren turned his head away, looking down in shame. “I… I don’t like being on top…” His voice was barely more than a whisper before he moved out of Levi’s grasp, ruffling through the clothes spread out on the floor and starting to cover himself, feeling completely vulnerable while he was naked. But now you like being the bottom…. Fuck… I screwed up… I didn’t like doing this from the beginning… It feels so awkward… I don’t like it… Eren kept his head down as he pulled his clothes on, as if hiding himself. Will you be mad? That I don’t like it?

Levi followed Eren up a bit as he moved to dress, pulling on his own clothes alongside him. He caught Eren before he could leave, though, sitting down on the floor and keeping him in his lap, pecking his cheeks softly. “...Eren, please, you don't have to run away every time you need to say something... let’s just talk a bit. I understand it feels really weird topping when you've only been the bottom pretty much for this entire time… we can go back to the way it was, but… is it okay if we maybe try again sometime? I really like being a bottom, not all the time… but we should compromise. We both deserve to be happy. And I really want to make sure that you are enjoying yourself.” I don’t want to force you into anything. I refuse to.

Eren was quiet, curled into Levi’s chest. “N-Not… not now….” Eren told him quietly. I don’t want to do that for awhile. He whimpered a bit, feeling the cold air come into the barn as the door was nudged open, Blake whining and coming into the barn. Shit… I need to calm down. Eren struggled not to completely freak out as he thought about topping again. I don’t want to do it again….”
Levi immediately nodded, pulling Eren closer to him and shifting to get them closer to the hay pile in an attempt to keep him warm. “No, not now, of course not now… whenever you feel comfortable, no matter how long that might take. It's okay.” Levi gently kissed across Eren’s cheeks, his hold on him gentle yet strong, shifting a bit with even Blake nudging at the hay and helping to pile it up around them, a bit of a help against the cold air coming into the barn. When you're calm again, we'll go back inside, and I'll make tea and make sure you're warm... I want you to be okay. I just want you to be warm, and happy, and okay.

Eren nodded, his hands coming to Levi’s shirt and clinging to him. “’M sorry…” He was quiet as he let Blake curl up around his back, feeling the warmth radiating from both of the bodies around him. Warm... His heart was still racing and his body shaking a bit from the after effects of panic.

“It's okay…” Levi mumbled into his hair, staying with Eren in the warmth for a while until he was sure Eren had significantly calmed. “’M going to carry you back to the house, okay? We can have tea and cuddle on the couch if you want.” He smiled faintly as Eren nodded, pecking his lips sweetly before shifting his hold on him, picking Eren up bridal-style and carrying him to the barn door, carefully closing it with his foot after Blake trotted out and bringing him to the house, setting him on the couch and pushing a few pieces of the couch together. He helped Eren settle into a couch corner and build a nest out of blankets and pillows, soon joining him with two mugs of tea. He curled up in the warmth with him, pecking his cheek. “Feeling better?”

Eren nodded, holding the tea close to himself as he leaned his head to Levi’s chest. He calmed down completely as he sipped at the warm drink, feeling the warmth spread through his body. This is nice... I like this... Eren finished off his tea before his eyes closed, his breathing starting to even as he fell asleep.

Levi took the mug from Eren’s weakening grasp as he fell asleep, setting it and his mug out of the way and shifting so Eren was laying on top of him, feeling Eren steadily breathing on top of him. Warm... and happy... He felt himself start to drift to sleep, his hands weakly holding Eren’s shirt under the pile of blankets. ...and okay.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Day 10

Jean sighed as he stared at the boiling water in front of him. That was a fucking disaster... why did I think that I could make anything more than pasta... and that’s just throwing the shit into the water and letting it boil. Jean ran a hand through his lighter hair as he sighed again, pouring the pasta into the boiling water. “How did I think I could make anything other than easy shit?” Jean yelled at nothing in particular, just trying to get his frustrations out of his system. I don’t have a single fucking clue how to do this romantic shit... Jean grabbed at his hair, trying to think as he pulled at the short strands. I still have no idea what to do after thinking about it all day.

It wasn’t long before a key turned in the lock of the front door, Marco tiredly opening it and shutting it behind him. He kicked off his shoes and dropped his bag next to them, quirking an eyebrow as he smelled something weird. ...did something burn? ...is Jean trying to cook? Marco padded into the kitchen, seeing Jean looking stressed out and seeming to glare at the pot in front of him. Oh my. He is trying to cook. “Hey there, handsome.” Marco walked up behind Jean, resting his chin on his shoulder, his hands resting on his hips. “Things going okay?” You’re looking at that pot like it just insulted your mother.

“Hey Babe… um, well I was trying to make chicken…. Chicken… what the fuck was it called again? I don’t know but fuck it… I tried to make chicken something… but I ended up burning everything… so I’m sorry but we’re having pasta for dinner.” I couldn’t even handle a simple chicken dish. He smiled as he felt Marco’s hands on his hips. “How was work? Is your Dad still working his ass off?” Old Geezer should retire already and give the shop to Marco…. Then he would have to stay.

Marco chuckled quietly, burying his nose in Jean’s shoulder, breathing in his scent. “Pasta is just fine- you’re using the ones with the fancy shape. It's forgiven.” He nodded to the box, smiling faintly. “Work was work… Dad is still giving that bakery everything he has. I mean, baking is great, and fun, but doing nothing but that and having to interact with people who sometimes don't even understand that the person behind the counter is a person when they get mad, and with my feet hurting from standing and doing stuff all day… eh, it’s been a long day. But an okay day, I guess. It’s getting better.” Marco moved his hands to wrap completely around Jean’s waist, innocently pulling them flush, watching his movements as he cooked. “...are we having plain noodles and butter or is there going to be tomato sauce involved?” I don't see sauce out... you probably forgot. You look frazzled enough.

“With butter… I wasn’t feeling the sauce and I was thinking about adding some garlic oil to it to give it a bit more flavor.” He put the utensil down after stirring the pasta, moving over to grab the bottle of garlic oil that he had gotten forever ago. “I mean… um… if that’s okay with you?” He flushed a bit as he flicked his eyes towards the boiling pot.

Marco smiled, nodding and moving to softly peck his cheek over his shoulder. “That sounds fine to me. You know you’re gonna have to drain it first… right?” Otherwise that just kinda defeats the purpose. He chuckled as Jean turned an even darker red, his hands slipping from his waist and going to the pot, picking up a fork from nearby. He stabbed one of the pieces of pasta and popped it into his mouth, nodding and turning off the burner. “It’s done. Let me do this part…” He went to turn on the sink, the water running cold. “If you don’t drain the water out, the oil won’t stay on the pasta.” He grabbed two oven mitts from a drawer, setting the lid on the pot and easily picking it up, going to the sink and resting it on the metal edge as he held the lid firmly in place, straining out the water, careful of the steam curling up around his arms. He set the pot back down on the cooling, yet still-hot burner, nodding to it. “You can put in as much butter and garlic oil as you want, and just mix it all in. Parmesan cheese, too, if there’s any in the fridge.” He smiled warmly to him, putting things away around the kitchen from the earlier culinary disaster. He stepped on a piece of paper, picking it up. chicken cacciatore? Tasty… but if you’ve only ever cooked instant ramen, advanced.

Jean only added a little bit of butter and oil to the fancy pasta, also sprinkling some cheese on top and mixing it thoroughly before getting out two bowls. I can at least do this much. “Do you want any wine, Marco?” He turned his head, looking back to the pasta as he scooped it into the white bowls. I’m going to be having some.

Marco thought a moment before nodding. “Sure, please.” You sound like you’re going to have some either way. He smiled faintly at that thought, taking the bowls from Jean as he finished scooping out pasta, pecking his nose and enjoying his embarrassed look before setting them on the table, going to get silverware. He soon sat down at the kitchen table, thanking Jean as he set a wine glass in front of him, nudging his foot with his toes as he sat down opposite him. “Thank you for making dinner. It looks really good.” He speared one of the noodles with his fork, lifting it to his mouth. He smiled. “And it is really good.” I’m glad I didn’t have to come home and cook… instead I can just come home, and only sorta micromanage as someone else makes it....you really tried. I appreciate that.

Jean blushed a bit before shrugging. “It’s just pasta… it’s nothing fancy, I’m sorry it’s not chicken-whatever-the-fuck-its-called…” Jean sighed quietly, running a hand through his hair in frustration yet again. I can never do anything remotely close to cooking… and I feel like you cook all the time. He sat down and poked at the pasta, still a bit frustrated with himself.

Marco covered his mouth with the back of his hand as he quietly laughed, tangling their legs under the table and smiling to him. *Chicken cacciatore isn’t something I’d start my culinary career by making… I’ll help teach you and we’ll work our way up. How about tomorrow we learn how to make a proper scrambled egg?” He lightly joked. “But either way, Jean, it does taste good. You did a good job.” He ate another forkful of the pasta, sipping at his wine. You did. …and we’ll fix your cooking ability in no time.

Jean felt the corners of his lips turn upward, a small smile forming on his lips as he started to pick at his own food, but mostly nursing the glass of wine that was perpetually in his hand. I needed a drink… and I don’t feel like getting drunk off the hard stuff. He ate quietly, his mind still going back to what a few of his coworkers had told him earlier in the day. All fucking retards, they don’t know shit…

There it is. Marco returned to his food, sipping at his glass occasionally. It didn’t take long for him to notice how quickly Jean was draining his glass of wine. “…how was work today? Things going Okay? "You look much more interested in the wine than in your actual dinner...

Jean shrugged, staring down at his wine glass, face flushing all the way to his ears. “I work with a bunch of assholes… It was alright I guess…” He picked the fork back up and started to eat a bit more of his food, slowing down on the wine intake, but not by much. He emptied it in only a few more moments, getting up from his seat to pour himself another glass.

... doesn’t sound like it was alright. Marco stood after a few minutes, carrying his empty bowl to get more pasta, his hand lightly brushing Jean’s shoulder as he passed. He picked at his pasta, a small flicker of worry in his eyes when Jean poured himself another full glass of wine. “I really don't want to press… but are you sure everything’s alright at work?” If your co workers have got you trying to get drunk on wine… that's not good.

“Yeah, it's just the usual asshats that are making a fuss over any little detail they find out about your life.” I work with such bigots. Jean sat down with his full glass of wine, picking up his fork to stab angrily at the pasta, still trying to get his frustration out from earlier in the day. I get hounded for being a fag at work, then I come home and try to cook… And I’m fucking useless in the kitchen…. And I can’t take it out on Marco… That’s... That wouldn’t be fair. “I might go to the dojo after dinner.” I can fight off my frustrations there.

Marco’s brow furrowed. “They know about…?” He motioned between the two of them, sighing quietly when he stiffly nodded. Asshats indeed. I understand why that would make life hell... but... don't... “It's kinda late in the day... I'm not gonna stop you, but are you sure you don't just wanna stay home, let me help you chill out?” Pretty sure if you go, you're gonna get your ass handed to you... not unlike every time you go.

Jean shook his head. “No, I should really go to the gym....” I don’t wanna snap at you, I have a feeling that was why Annie left... and I don’t wanna be alone. Jean finished off his food, setting the fork down in the bowl, raising his glass to his lips to take a sip again. I really need to calm down.

Marco silently nodded, setting down his own fork as he finished off his pasta and his wine glass, standing with his dishes. “Okay, just please be careful.” You always come home with plenty of bruises... He went to wash his dishes, going then to the table, pecking Jean on the cheek as he took his empty bowl. I know you need to run off your steam. It's fine.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe shook out his shoulders, stretching his arms a bit more. It's nice to get out of the house. It's definitely doing Eren some good- and me, too, I've been barely anywhere else if it wasn't for an errand. And it's nice to actually have a good sparring partner for once. Lathe went to pet Blake as he laid guard next to the mat, picking up his water bottle from next to him. He didn't even have to turn around to feel the anger emanating from the person who walked in, Blake coming up a bit from where he was laying, his lip curled back to show his teeth. He looks ready to kill somebody. “Easy, Blake, easy.” Lathe went to catch his collar, turning and seeing Jean storming into the dojo. ...well then. He turned to where Eren was at the other end of the mat, seeing his eyes were locked onto Jean in a cool glare, stretching his leg straight over his head. ...well, he's doing his intimidation stretch… I need to get this on video.

Jean made his way straight to the mat that Eren was stretching at. “Wanna fight, asshat?” I could take you... you can’t be that good. And I need someone to beat. Jean put his bag down by the side of the mat, stepping on the cool surface, stretching his arms.

In two seconds, Lathe was at the edge of the mat recording on his phone, Blake chilling next to him. “Ten bucks on the guy who isn't the idiot.” He held out a hand, Blake instantly giving him his paw, shaking hands. “Wow, he apparently understands human language. And has ten dollars. Sweet.” He grinned, watching Eren immediately get into a ready position, seeing the intense look in his eyes. Jean is about to get whipped.

Eren kept a steady stance, his arms raised in front of him, waiting for Jean to make the first move. He didn't have to wait long; Jean immediately charged at him, aiming a punch for his head. He stepped a bit to the side, catching his arm and flipping him easily onto his back on the mat, jumping back and giving him space, still at the ready. “...that it, Secretariat?” Is that really all you've got? I expected a fight.

Jean groaned a bit as his back hit the mat. Fuck... I chose the wrong person to fight... “Fuck no, you illegitimate bastard.” Yes, I fucking went there. Jean quickly got up to his feet, taking on a ready stance, his arms raised towards his face. What’s your move gonna be? I need to think of everything you could do... I gotta be ready.

Anger flashed in Eren’s eyes, approaching him and deciding to really mess with him, quickly picking him up by the middle and easily backflipping with him in his grasp. He pinned his torso with his shoulder, letting him hit the mat hard, his feet landing neatly on either side of him. He sprung up after a moment, his weight on the balls of his feet. “You gonna get up, you disgrace to the family name?” Yeah. I went there.

“At least I’m not a… Suicidal fuckwad” I almost called him a faggot... But that would make me just as good as any of my bastard coworkers. He struggled to get up on his feet, pain shooting through his back for an instant.
“There's no shame in giving up!” Yes there is. Lathe called to Jean, grinning widely, still filming. “You can just tap out!” Kinda look like you want to.

Jean’s eyes flashed in anger. “Shut the hell up, ya geezer!” He shouted, moving as if to grab Eren from around the waist, but instead grabbed his shirt and lifted Eren with it, coming down hard on the mat with him. At this point a lot of people had gathered around their mat to watch, many of them with their phones out. I can’t lose.

What the hell did you just call Dad? Eren easily rolled with him, taking strong hold of Jean’s arms prying them from his shirt, pinning him face-down on the mat. He held one of his arms twisted behind his back, the other loose, uselessly trying to lift behind him to get Eren off of him, though his knee digging into Jean’s back kept him down. “Just tap out, Jean. You can't win.” Dad taught me too well for that.

Jean grunted and got his free hand under him, struggling to lift both himself and Eren, though once Eren dug his knee into his lower back to keep him in place Jean let his head fall to the mat in defeat. Fuck… I’m not good at this. His tight fist soon loosened and he tapped the mat, closing his eyes as his mind raced. This isn’t helping to clear my head, it’s just giving me other shit to process.

Eren got off of him when he tapped out, releasing his arm and standing. He offered a hand to Jean when he turned on the mat and looked at him. Dad was really adamant about being a good sport when it came to Judo… “That was a good match, Jean.” He gave him a half-smile for an instant. Eh, I don't blame you if you refuse my help. You probably will.

Jean looked to Eren’s outstretched hand, then up to his face, his eyes giving away some of the torment in his mind. “Fuck it…” He muttered under his breath as he took Eren’s hand, pulling himself up and check over the bruises that lined his sides. “Rematch?” God, that sounded hopeful as all fucking hell. Jean pulled his shirt back down, jumping a bit, feeling the strain of his muscles already beginning to set in.

“Can I call in my second? If so, sure.” Eren grinned as Jean nodded confusedly, stretching his arms over his head and stepping off the mat. He took Lathe’s phone as he stood up, high-giving him. “Go get ‘em, Dad.” This is gonna be good. He sat down next to Blake, filming still.

Lathe cracked his neck with an intimidating sound, cracking his ankles as well. “Alright, kid, you and me.” He laughed as Jean just gave him a ‘what the fuck’ look, explaining. “Oh, Eren can call me in to fight you in his stead. We’re the other’s second, so.” He smiled, taking a ready stance. “Whenever you're ready, kid. And don't worry.” He winked, grinning impishly. “I'll go easy on you.” This won't take long.
Jean seemed to go instantly pale before visibly swallowing. Wait… Didn’t Lathe teach Eren this shit?? Jean stood still, his weight on the balls of his feet as he waited for Lathe to make the first move. If I move first, it might be to run away.

Lathe just dropped his arms when he realised Jean wasn't gonna move. “Really? O-kay, I'll go first.” He grinned, an intense look in his eye as he suddenly moved, a blur before he had Jean on his front again, his arm twisted and pinned with one foot, able to keep him down as he stood over him, inspecting his nails, seemingly uninterested in the sparring match. “You gonna keep trying, or…..?” Probably not.

Jean let out a low groan, tapping the mat after only a moment of being pinned. I couldn’t even see him moving… Holy fuck… He picked his head up once Lathe stepped off of him, his arms shaking as he pushed himself up. That’ll definitely give me bruises for awhile to think about.

Lathe sighed, smiling good-naturedly before moving to help Jean up, heaving him to his feet. “Oh, and that reminds me, actually…” He poked his stomach, tilting his head a bit, just quiet enough for the two of them to hear. “You're gonna need your rabies shot next week.” *That's a thing. “And good match, by the way. You really kept trying. I respect that.” His expression shifted a bit to one of worry, easily picking up on the torment swirling in Jean’s eyes. His voice was low and quiet, full of concern as he rested a hand on his shoulder. “Jean, you look miserable. Do you need someone to talk to?” I know you think I have it out for you which I do low-key but you look like you really need to talk to someone. ...did something happen with Marco?

Jean looked up, trying to mask the uncertainty in his eyes, shaking his head. “No… I’m okay… I’ll be fine, just sore, I’m gonna get going.” I need to leave… I can’t cry in front of them, that'd really put me below the bar.

Lathe watched with uncertainty as Jean turned and picked up his bag, slipping on his shoes to leave. ...no. Lathe moved off the mat and over to one of the instructors who had gathered around the mat, pushing him forward a bit. “Do me a favour and practice with Eren please Kay thanks!” Lathe stepped into his shoes and grabbed his jacket, going after Jean. He caught him as he was stopping near his car, catching his arm. “Jean, really, I can tell something is seriously off-” He turned him around, stunned as he saw tears streaming down Jean’s face. ...oh my. “…Jean, what happened?” He pulled Jean into a hug, his hand running soothingly over his back. Talk to me.

Jean shook his head, pushing on Lathe’s chest, his voice shaky as he spoke in tears. “N-no… I’m fine… I-I can deal w-with it…” Jean sniffled as he brought his arm up to rub away his tears roughly. I’m not good enough… At anything…

Lathe’s expression became a bit stern. Yeah. No. “Jean, you are going to talk to me right now or I'm gonna call Marco and have him pick your sorry ass up.” You're talking. And not getting out of it.

... He’s not wrong... Wait... “Wait... H-how did you... How did you k-know?” I didn’t think that anyone knew about it... Not even the asshats at work know... Jean sniffled more, trying to collect himself and not cry. I can’t cry... I’ll look so weak in his eyes.

Lathe’s expression softened. “I go to Marco’s dad’s bakery all the time, and we talk a lot. He’s told me all about you two. All good things. ...did something happen between the two of you?” You look so broken up... ...oh my god, don't tell me Marco walked out on you too....

Jean shook his head. “No, it’s really just something stupid I’d rather not talk about... It’s stupid... I’m sorry that you got pulled into this...” Jean straightened himself, reaching for the driver’s side door, his hand shaking. I can’t believe I let it get to me.

Lathe leaned a hand against the door, keeping Jean from opening it. “Jean, I know you think I have it out for you, and I know you don’t want to look weak or vulnerable on any level, but you look so broken up and miserable that I’m not gonna let you leave until you tell me everything. I’m not gonna tell anyone or anything. Hell, Eren doesn't know you two are a thing, and I've known pretty much since day one. You can trust me. Really.” Spill already. You know you'll feel better if you do.

Jean sighed, closing his eyes as he started to recount what happened at work. “Well, I work with all the asshats from school... Basically, and everyone knows that Marco was gay then... And they started talking shit about him, and I couldn’t... I couldn’t say anything back... They called him so many horrible names... And I couldn’t do anything... They also brought up Annie leaving... Leaving me in particular... They ratted on me next... Saying that I was... That I was a sorry excuse for a man... And that I was probably worth as much as a scrap of meat thrown at a dog for dinner. I couldn’t say anything.” I couldn't stand up... For either of us... I can’t be considered good enough for my freckled beauty.... Now could I? Jean’s eyes were filled with sadness, stormy, and lacking any of the usual brightness. It fucking hurts.

Lathe just looked at him, shrugging a shoulder. “Well, karma’s a bitch, isn't it?” He watched as Jean just hung his head, his expression sympathetic. “I’m sorry, Jean, but you can’t let it get to you. They'll find something else to squawk about soon enough, and when it comes to Annie... none of that was your fault. No matter what you might've done, nothing excuses her just walking out like that. You might have been an asshat, but with how you acted on Thanksgiving, trying to be nice and civil with Eren, and with every glowing word Marco has been saying about you, I know that you've become a wonderful young man. I don't want you to question that. Nobody is without imperfections, but you are more than anything the people at work say, and you are more of a man than them themselves. I know it kills you to have to hear what they say and not be able to say anything back, but it'll pass. Be the bigger person here, and don't let them get to you, as hard as they may try. It'll be okay.” He rested his hand on his shoulder, smiling warmly. You'll be fine.
Jean simply shook his head. No It's not going to be…. I'm being harassed… But I guess I deserve it for what I put Eren through. Jean chuckled a little bit at his own thoughts. “Karma certainly is a bitch…. Goodnight, Mr. Quo.” Jean’s voice sounded a even more broken as he pulled his car door open. I don’t know how Marco even likes this broken piece of shit that I am… Or maybe he’s gonna make me think he’ll stay, and then leave just like Annie, and pretend that nothing happened.

“Hold on a second, Jean.” Lathe held the door, keeping Jean from getting in and pulling out Jean’s phone from his pocket. He quickly tapped at the screen, handing it back to him with a new contact. “You dropped your phone. And Jean, please. If you need to talk, call or text me. Whichever you need to. I’m here for you. There are so many people here for you. It'll be okay.” He let Jean take the phone and get into his car, pulling out his phone as he traipsed back into the dojo, texting Marco quickly.

LQ: Marco, we has a sitiation

LQ: Jean kinda came to the dojo where Eren and I were sparring, Eren wiped the floor with him and then I got called in to fight him… he looked so broken up when he left and he’s got a lot troubling him

LQ: His coworkers are being assholes… they were talking smack about him and pestered him about how Annie walked out on him… and then they were talking crap about you…

LQ: He's really broken up that they won't stop talking terribly about you or him and he can't speak up about it…

LQ: He was crying when he left… expect him home soon, in shambles…

LQ: He’s not gonna want to open up about anything…

LQ: But he needs to know someone gives a shit and thinks he's worth something…

MB: ...got it. Thank you Mr. Quo, I’ll see what I can do.

LQ: Good luck, Marco

Jean arrived home a few minutes later, setting his phone on the charger in the kitchen and going towards their bedroom without really realizing that he was home. He was on autopilot as he undressed in the bathroom and stepped into the steaming water he got going. I need to calm down… Marco can’t know that I’m upset… Fuck… I'm horrible… In all fucking aspects of my life.

Marco was quiet as Jean came inside, following him as he went to the bedroom without him noticing. He opened the bathroom door when he heard the water running, leaning against the wall near the shower curtain, his hand moving to nudge at the curtain, smirking a bit as he spoke, his voice echoing a bit off the walls. “...mind if I join you?” Y’know... saving water and all that crap.
Jean jumped a bit, his face flushing in embarrassment as he looked over his shoulder towards Marco. “Uh… Y-yeah, that’s fine… It’s hot though.” His voice was quiet, his eyes hastily turning away from Marco, turning back to face the spray of water. You’ve never showered with me before.

Marco smirked, able to hear his embarrassment. He stepped forward a bit to undress, knowing Jean could probably see his silhouette through the curtain, stripping and leaving his clothes on the counter. He moved to pull back the curtain and stepped into the shower behind Jean, adjusting quickly to the very warm spray. He moved behind Jean, his hands drifting to his waist and pulling him back against him, kissing softly across his shoulder blade and up his neck, seeing him turn scarlet as they became flush. “Welcome home, Jean.” His voice was quiet and smooth, lightly nibbling at his neck. I think I know how to get the point across….

Jean felt the heat that crossed his cheeks move right up to his ears and down his neck. “I-I… I’m home…” He shifted a bit on his feet as he was pulled back. “M-Marko?” He moaned a bit, a hand coming up to stifle the noise as he let escape as his neck was nibbled at. Oh my god, that was so embarrassing.

...I want to hear that again. “Hm? What was that, Jean?” Marco moved to suckle the joint of his neck, looking up at him innocently, his hands wandering a bit on his hips, agonisingly slowly brushing a bit closer to his front. His hand came up to move Jean’s hand from his mouth, nibbling and suckling a small mark on his neck.

Jean groaned, feeling a pulse of heat run through his body. “M-Marko… What are you doing?” Fuck… Does he wanna…? But we’ve never… God dammit. Jean continued to moan, struggling to stifle his sounds, his other hand going down to his crotch to hide his growing erection. Fuck… Marco…

Marco blushed as Jean spoke, trying to find the right words, his hand retreating back to his side. “Uhm… I just think you’re wonderful… and… i-if it’s okay with you, I know this is kinda sudden and I might be going fast, b-but… if you trusted me… would you let me have you?” ...I just… I want you. And I want you to feel wanted. He pressed a closed-mouthed kiss to the mark he left, his voice quiet. “You can say no… I understand it's kinda out of the blue…” ...but everything that happened today just kinda gave me the teeny push I needed to actually be brave and ask…

Jean’s entire face flushed, his hands dropping down to his crotch still. “If… Um… If you're… If you're gentle…” I can let you do that… I mean, I’m less than a man as it is, but… Are you gonna leave after this? Jean kept his eyes away and on the white tile, trying not to give away his uncertainty.
Marco instantly picked up on his uncertainty, lightly kissing across to the other side of his neck, his thumbs running soothingly over his hips. “I don't want this unless you do… and if you do, I promise to be gentle, and we can always stop whenever you say… but if you're not comfortable sharing yourself with me, I really understand. It's an important decision.” I don't want you to regret this, if you say yes when you don't want to...

“M-Marco…. I don’t want you to leave after…” Annie always left after. He moved to turn his front towards Marco, his semi-harden in his sight now. He leaned his head against Marco’s shoulder, taking in his scent. “I don’t mind…” He gingerly kissed his shoulder. I wouldn’t mind fulfilling my destined role in life.

Marco sighed deeply as he kissed his neck, his hands coming up to lace behind his neck. “Jean, I'm not going anywhere. We'll take things slowly, and if you're uncomfortable, tell me, okay?” He smiled softly as Jean nodded against his shoulder, lifting his head up from his skin and pressing their lips together in a reassuring kiss. I'll take very good care of you. “First, however…” He pecked across his jaw, reaching for the soap and a washcloth. “...let’s get you cleaned up.” He rubbed the soap into the soft cloth, pulling back a bit and beginning to clean Jean’s shoulders and chest, admiring his body, being gentle on his sides. “You've got a lot of bruises…” Eren didn't go easy, did he...

Jean nodded. “Lathe didn’t go easy on me either…” I kinda needed that though... He let Marco touch around his otherwise built body. He blushed as he took a glance at Marco’s length, quickly turning his eyes away. He's fucking huge... That’s... How's it gonna even fit?

Marco blushed as he glanced to Jean’s lower half, leaning forward to kiss across his collarbone, his hands gingerly moving to wash his nether. You're a lot smaller than I am... by a lot... He suckled gently on his skin as Jean shuddered as he washed him, his hands moving further down, bending over to wash his legs, his cheeks a furious red as he realised how close his head was to Jean’s lower half. He stood straight up after a moment, putting the cloth back and reaching for the shampoo, kissing Jean sweetly before beginning to wash his hair. ...you're so hot.... my god...

Jean felt himself harden even more as Marco washed his slowly hardening length. Fuck, Marco... He kissed Marco back just as gently, groaning as his hands ran through his short hair. He pulled back a bit to breath. “Marco...” He breathed out the other’s name, his lips brushing against Marco’s. Your hands feel nice.

“Jean...” Marco sounded just as breathless, smiling as he pressed their lips back together, his fingers threading through Jean’s hair, washing it and playing with the strands at the nape of his neck as they kissed. He broke from him and moved Jean back a bit into the stream of water to rinse his hair, pulling him back to massage conditioner into his hair, their lips locked in a slow kiss. I really like this... we need to do this more often...
Jean kissed him back, moving a little closer to him, pressing himself against Marco’s front, wanting some friction. Fuck, Marco, your hands feel so good, massaging my scalp like that. He moaned quietly into their kiss, wanting Marco to take the lead. I have no idea what I’m doing.

Marco let out a small sound, cupping Jean’s cheeks and walking him back into the stream of water, rinsing Jean and pressing against him, letting out a shuddery moan into their kiss as he felt their lengths rub together. ...I really, really want this... Marco decided to take the lead as Jean didn’t, tentatively running his tongue over Jean’s lips. He slowly deepened their kiss as he was granted entrance, tilting his head for a better angle, the hot water running over their bodies. He soon enough reached behind Jean and shut off the water without breaking their kiss, trying to guide them from the shower to dry off. Bedroom.

Jean followed Marco, getting out of the shower with him, grabbing at the towels in the cabinet near the door. He dried off himself quickly, breaking their kiss as he wrapped Marco up in the towel, blushing as he looked into Marco’s chocolate eyes. Holy shit... Why didn’t I see him like this sooner? He felt the blood from his blush rush down to his groin, and causing it to twitch to full erection.

Marco kept his gaze as Jean wrapped him in a towel, drying his hair quickly and drying himself off. He let the towel fall to the floor, uncaring as he walked right up to Jean, walking him back to the bathroom door and opening it. He blushed deeply as he walked him backwards to the bed, one hand cupping his cheek, the other on his waist, eyes full of adoration and lust as he backed him up to the bed. He gently pushed him onto the mattress, letting him shuffle up completely onto it and clambering on top of him, his knees on either side of him. He leaned down to kiss him, their tongues immediately tangling, moving his hips down and rubbing their hard lengths together experimentally. I want this to feel good. I want you to feel good.

Jean moaned without restraint, his hand coming up to gently touch Marco’s chest, feeling the muscle under the skin. “M-M-Marco...” His name was a moan off of his tongue. It feels really good.

Marco moaned into the kiss, running his tongue against his one more time before breaking their kiss, his hands running down Jean’s chest as he kissed down his neck, his mouth wandering over his chest, nibbling at every spot he found that made Jean squirm and gasp on his way down, kissing gently at his navel, his lips lightly trailing down his stomach to the base of his length, his face scarlet. I want this... and I want you to know how much you’re wanted. He nipped lightly at the skin just next to his base, moving his head and licking slowly up the underside of his length, tasting him and beginning to suckle on the tip, his hands on Jean’s hips and daring to look up to his eyes as he slowly bobbed his head.

Jean’s eyes were wide as he propped himself up on his elbows. “F-Fuck... Marco... Shit...” His hand came down to run through Marco’s short hair. You look amazing… And it feels wonderful. You have so much fucking confidence too… I’d never be able to do this…

Marco moaned onto his length as he felt Jean's hand tug at his hair,发送delicious vibrations down his length as he slowly took in more and more of him. You look like you're enjoying yourself… and you most certainly sound like it. He pulled up from his length for just a moment, sending him a seductive look. “I don't think you know just how damn sexy you sound.” He moved again to take in his length, making his way closer and closer to the base as Jean gasped and moaned, soon nuzzling his nose into the hair at his base. I have no idea how the hell I'm not a stuttering, embarrassed mess… I guess that's Jean’s job. He quietly chuckled on his length, his hands running over his hips, keeping him in place.

Jean moaned even louder with the vibrations going through his throbbing length. Oh my god… “Marco… I… I won’t be able to…. Fuck!” Jean grabbed at his hair more, his toes curling as his coil was starting to tighten. I won’t be able to hold it much longer… It feels too fucking good, and I haven’t had a blow job in so long.

Marco moaned loudly onto his length, a knowing glint in his eye as he sucked on his length even harder, one hand moving to massage his balls. Come on… He moved up on his length, his other hand pumping his shaft as he suckled hard on his tip, keeping his lustful gaze. I wanna taste you. ...and we’ll see if you’re up for round two.

Jean let out a loud cry of bliss, his eyes closing as he threw his head back into the pillow under his head. “Fuck… Marco.” His toes were still curled as he left a massive load in his mouth. Holy shit… His hand loosened it’s grip on Marco’s hair, looking down to him with lust-filled eyes.

Marco struggled to swallow his load, some of his release dripping down his chin as he pumped Jean’s length, lapping up every last drop and popping off of his length, his finger moving to scoop up the white from his chin, licking it clean and crawling back up to him, caught in Jean’s intense gaze. “Enjoying yourself up here?” You sure sound like it. …and you're still really hard. Round two for you it is.

Jean groaned. “Fuck Marco, that felt great…” He sat up fully, his member still hard between his thighs. Shit… I need to take care of this… His face had a blush on it as he looked away. “I um… I should go take care of this…”

Marco placed both of his hands on Jean’s chest, pushing him back onto the bed and smiling softly, his eyes shaded. “Whoever said I wouldn’t?” You look like you're up for more. Marco dipped his head down, suckling a mark on the other side of Jean’s neck, lapping at the spot and nibbling up to his ear, his hands wandering over his toned chest. ...I've done enough snooping to know where you Marco looked up to Jean, his expression serious and eyes hopeful. “...can I still have you?” I want to make sure you're really okay with it... Jean looked down at Marco, watching his hands as they wandered up his battered chest. “Y-Yeah... Just go easy on me...” I don’t know what being taken feels like... But I should probably get used to it is what I’m guessing. Jean turned, moving a hand to the nightstand and pulling the drawer open, giving Marco another full view of his taut ass cheeks.

Marco let his eyes run without shame over the lines of his lower half, letting one hand slide down to cup his ass, giving it a bit of a squeeze and leaning over to help Jean get a condom and lube, shutting the drawer and shifting back, giving his cheek one last playful squeeze before he moved to kiss Jean, his hands fiddling with the tube of lube in his hand. He snapped the cap open, pouring a generous amount into his hand, putting the tube out of the way and coating his fingers with it. He knelt between Jean's legs, slowly coaxing him to spread them apart for him. He let his hand trail down to his entrance, tracing the pucker and keeping leverage over him with his other hand on the mattress. He kissed across his chest, murmuring. “I'll go slow, and you tell me when to stop if it starts to hurt for me to move, okay? Just relax.” He slowly pressed his first finger past his entrance, feeling his soft walls tense around him. “Just relax, Jean.” I'll go very slow.

Jean closed his eyes, trying to focus only on Marco’s soft words. I need to calm down, I need to relax... It didn’t take him much longer to force himself to calm down, and begin to relax around Marco’s finger. It... It feels weird... Really weird... Jean was silent save for a few ragged intakes, but other than that he showed no discomfort.

Marco took his relaxing and lack of discomfort as a cue to continue, adding a second finger and slowly thrusting in and out of him. His mouth wandered over his chest, his lips latching onto his perk nipple and beginning to suckle on the pink bud. “It's okay to make noise if you want to.” He pecked the bud, flicking over it with his tongue, lavishing him with attention. I wanna hear you make those sounds again...

Jean made a soft whine as one of his nipples was teased. “Ngh... Marco...” He moved his hips a bit in discomfort, trying to ease his tensed muscles as the two fingers thrusted into him. Fuck... It feels really weird... He whimpered a bit as his fingers stretched him out especially far, feeling the subtle burn of being opened up.

Marco slowed his movements as Jean whimpered, thrusting into him carefully, gently beginning to scissor him. His mouth moved to his other nipple, teasing it with his tongue as he patiently thrusted into him, waiting for Jean to adjust. “Jean, I know it burns a bit but it'll go away... trust me, it'll start to feel good. Just stay relaxed.” You're doing just fine- you'll feel good soon.

Jean nodded, shifting a bit under Marco’s fingers. It... It still feels really weird.... His eyes widened, and a sudden whine escaped his throat as he felt his fingers brush up against something, a large wave of pleasure washing over him from his toes to his fingertips. Holy… “F-Fuck…”

Marco grinned against his skin as he suddenly shuddered with pleasure. There it is. “What? Did something feel nice? Maybe… this?” Marco spoke innocently, brushing firmly over the bundle of nerves deep inside of Jean, smirking as he let out a strangled cry. Thought so. He added his third finger after a moment, thrusting a bit more deeply into him, curling his fingers. I wanna hear everything.

Jean whimpered a bit, spreading his legs further apart. “F-Fuck… Marco… Please… Don’t stop… It feels good.” He whined as Marco abused his prostate, his length dripping at a fast rate, Jean’s moans becoming louder. Fuck it feels really good.

Marco grinned, pulling his hand from him after a long moment. “Don't worry, Jean…” He worked to slick himself up and roll on a condom, his length rock hard and throbbing from neglect. He lined up with Jean’s entrance, nibbling at Jean’s earlobe, his voice smooth. “...I won't stop until you can't walk straight.” He suckled at his ear as Jean shivered in anticipation, very slowly pushing forward and sinking into Jean, shuddering as he was completely sheathed in his tight heat, wanting so desperately to move, but staying still and waiting for Jean to adjust. “...w-when ever you're ready… j-just say…” My god, I haven't even moved and it already feels too good...

Jean’s eyes snapped open, his hands gripping the sheets under him as he tightened around Marco in discomfort. He’s huge… Fuck… It burns… He whimpered, a few tears starting to form in the corner of his eyes. “M-Marc…”

Marco pecked at his cheeks, kissing at his tears and pressing their lips together, trying to distract him from the pain. “It'll stop burning soon, trust me… you'll stretch, and it might take just a bit, but it'll feel good soon. Just give it a bit of time.” You'll think it was worth it soon enough.

Jean nodded, not trusting himself to speak anymore. I don’t want it to hurt this much… Fuck… is it gonna feel like this all the time? He kept his eyes closed, trying not to whimper as he moved only slightly and the pull of his movement causing pain to shoot up through his spine.

Marco let his hands wander over Jean’s body as he adjusted, trying to distract him from the pain. One hand moved and closed around his exposed length, slowly pumping it as they kissed. He waited until Jean had significantly relaxed around him before he even thought of moving, both his hands moving onto the mattress and very slowly pulling out of Jean and thrusting back in to the hilt, starting a steady and slow pace. I hope you know to tell me if I'm way too much...
Jean let out a strangled cry as Marco shifted and started to move. “M-M-Marco… Hngh….” He groaned as Marco created a slow pace and was gentle with him. It… It feels weird….

Marco kissed up his neck, whispering near his ear. “You feelin’ okay up there?” It feels really good to me… I kinda wanna go faster, but I know right now you want slow… you’re still adjusting to this…

Jean nodded, soft moans starting to fill the room as his hands shifted from gripping the blankets at his sides to wrapping his arms around Marco’s chest, pulling him closer. “Mnn… Marco…” He whined as he shifted his hips a bit, suddenly letting out a loud cry and even louder moans. Fuck me….

A strong pulse of arousal ran through Marco, the heat between his legs becoming unbearable as he deeply thrusted into Jean, aiming for that spot that made him cry out louder and louder. That. My God, you sound so damn hot… “Haaa… Jean… c-can I… s-should I go f-faster?” He kept his steady pace, his stance on his knees shifting so he could have a better angle to thrust even deeper into him, their hips fully meeting with each movement. Please say yes… pretty please…

Jean tried to open his mouth to speak, only to release a loud whine in response, taking a bit, though Jean finally collected himself, his grip stronger against Marco’s broad shoulders. “Y-yeah… Fuck…” He moaned out, his hips moving against Marco’s.

Thank you. Marco’s hands drifted to Jean’s hips, holding onto them tightly as he picked up the pace a bit, thrusting more deeply into him and moaning into his chest. …it feels so good… nnngh… J-Jean… s-so… good…”

Jean moaned even more, his hands moving back behind his head and grabbing at the pillow, leaving his whole body open for Marco to see. “F-Fuck… Marco… Fuck me… Please…” It feels really good, right where you are… It feels really good.

Marco pulled back, his eyes greedily raking up his exposed form, lust settling in his gut. So much for being gentle. “I don’t how how you could’ve expected me to be gentle, with you looking like that.” Marco’s hold on his hips tightened a bit, nearly leaving bruises as he lifted him a bit further, beginning to pound into him. “…J-Jean… so… haaaa…. so good…” Marco has breathing hard, watching hungrily as Jean bounced on his length, a moaning mess under him. … how. Are you mine?

Jean’s eyes widened as he heard Marco’s sultry tone, his hips rolling more as he continued to move in him. He felt a warmth beginning to pool in his abdomen, his length, laying painfully hard against his stomach, leaking profusely. It feels really fucking good… Why have we not done this before?

Marco could feel himself nearing the edge, still pounding into Jean and aiming for his prostate as he leaned over him, his mouth ghosting over his neck. One hand moved from his bruising grip on his hips to his length, pumping it agonisingly slowly. “Jean…” He paused in his words, smirking as he heard his breath catch in his throat. “I want to hear you scream.” You sound so damn hot … I want to hear you.

Jean cried out loudly as his length was finally given the attention he wanted. Holy shit… I can’t… “Mar…. Marco!” Jean’s cry became a heady scream as his coil snapped, starting to cover himself in his own pearly white beads of cum. He was breathing hard as Marco still pumped his length, prolonging his release. After a long moment, when Marco began to slow his ministrations, he started to come down from his high. His face was completely flushed, his hair tousled every which way, his body shaking as more bruises bloomed around his hips and around his neck. I've been thoroughly fucked….

Marco let out a shaky cry into his chest, releasing into the condom inside of him, his hand pumping Jean’s length and milking him for everything he was worth. He drew out of him after a long moment, tying off the condom and tossing it to the wastebasket near the bed. He sat back on his heels to admire his work, grinning lazily as he saw Jean in all his unashamed, well-fucked glory, the image burning into his mind. “……Jean…… holy fuck, that was great… you look sexy as all hell…” He leaned down to lap up his release from his chest, hungrily tasting him and licking his lips before nearly collapsing on top of him, suckling dark marks onto his neck possessively. … mine.

Jean let out a soft groan before shifting out from under him. “Let me up… I gotta use the bathroom…” My ass is sore as all hell, I need to get some pain meds… and I might as well stake a claim on the couch… I don’t wanna wake up to an empty bed again… Jean swung his legs over the edge of the bed, hissing from the pain in his lower back as he went to his dresser grabbing a pair of boxers before venturing out to the hallway and down to the bathroom, his eyes not looking much higher than the floor as the last thought in his mind tormented him.

Marco kissed his cheek and let him go, retrieving his own boxers and settling in under the covers, waiting for Jean to come back to bed. When fifteen minutes passed and he didn't, he stood, dragging a blanket with him and venturing for him, easily finding him on the couch, poking his shoulder. “Jean, what are you doing. Come to bed, please. I wanna sleep with someone else. You're warm. ...and it's mean to just make you sleep out here for no reason.” Please? Why’re you out here, anyway?

Jean moved to hide his face and quickly moved his hand to rub away the small tears that had formed. “No… It’s okay… I-I think I’m gonna stay here… Tonight.” I don’t wanna wake up with Marco’s expression shifted, remembering what Jean had said earlier. “...Jean, I'm not going to leave. I wanna stay. ....and I don't wanna sleep alone... or wake up without you next to me... what we just did was really important to me... I really want you to be there with me for the night... please ...” I want you to stay with me...

Jean stayed quiet for a few moments before turning his teary face towards Marco. “You... You’re... You’re gonna stay?” He sniffled a bit, rubbing at his eyes, no longer trying to hide his fearful eyes. I don't wanna be broken again...

Marco immediately nodded, kneeling down next to him, cupping his cheek softly, kissing his cheeks. “I'm gonna stay. I'll always stay.” He kissed his face sweetly as Jean tried to hold back a quiet sob, putting his blanket on top of him and scooping him up along with the blankets he'd buried himself in, cradling him and bringing him back to the bedroom, laying him on the bed and crawling under the warm blankets with him, pulling Jean’s back flush with his own front. His arms wound around his middle, pressing kisses to his shoulder blade. “I promise I'll always stay, Jean. I wouldn’t’ve given you what I did if I wasn't serious about you. I...”...should I say it? I mean.... I know I do.... Uhm... “...I... I l-love you... I'm n-not gonna go anywhere...” Am I going way too fast with this? It's only been a month... crap I messed up didn't I...

Jean shifted in his arms, turning towards Marco’s chest and burying his head into it. His ear pressed against his heart, the steady beating calming him down. He had a soft smile on his face, along with it being flushed to his ears. I can’t say that right now... Not when I’m still hurt but... I appreciate it. Jean wrapped his arm around Marco, keeping his ear above his heart and calming down more. He’s warm.

Marco pulled Jean on top of him, finding his weight grounding. He wrapped an arm loosely around his middle, the other playing with his short hair. It's fuzzy... I like it. He smiled softly as he felt Jean's breathing even, sighing quietly, completely understanding. You take as long as you need to say it.... you've been hurt. It could take some time. He began to drift to sleep, warm and content, overwhelmingly happy. ...I love you.

Day 11

Armin clicked away boredly on the computer, his head resting on his hand as he read through work email after boring memo. ...this has got to be the seventeenth email I've gotten about that damn ‘meeting’ next week. I hate the conference calls; nothing ever gets done and it's in the same monotone every time. He stopped for a moment, looking around for the umpteenth time for a distraction, finding none. ...Erwin is out getting shit, and I've got nothing to do here besides read boring-ass text and twiddle my thumbs. This gets waaaay too repetitive. He huffed, eventually just staring blankly at the screen, his mind wandering.

Erwin came through the garage door soon after holding two large bags of groceries and setting them on the kitchen counter, going back to the car and bringing in the flowers he got. “Armie! I’m home!” His deep voice reverberated against the walls as he put the flowers into a vase before touching any of the food. I finally have all the holiday shopping done. Erwin smiled to himself, putting away the food in the proper drawers and shelves.

Armin snapped out of his trance as he heard Erwin call through the house, a thought occurring to him, smirking. ...I know a good distraction... Armin stood from the computer, putting the monitor to sleep before ambling to the kitchen, leaning against the doorway and watching Erwin putting away the foodstuffs, simply admiring the way he looked for the moment. Tall, strong and handsome... and mine. He smirked, letting the feeling of want in the back of his mind control him, stepping forward as Erwin turned from one of the counters, his hands moving to the counter on either side of him, effectively trapping him there. He looked up to him with a glint in his eyes, one hand moving to his waist, the other going to pull him down by the collar, taking him by surprised as he closed the height difference between them, kissing him heatedly. Be my distraction.

Surprise was the first thing that showed on Erwin’s face before he melted into the kiss with Armin, his arms coming down to rest on his hips and pull him close before he got tired of craning his neck. He lifted Armin up by the ass cheeks and set him on the newly cleared counter and began attack at his mouth again. You are mine... But you usually wait for me to start... Feeling a bit horny are we?

Armin wrapped his legs around Erwin’s waist and ground their hips together without shame, tangling their tongues and running his hands all over Erwin’s chest, feeling every chiselled muscle. He tugged at the hem of his shirt, pulling it over Erwin’s head and throwing it to the floor uncaring, going to attack his neck with nips and harshly sucking marks across his collarbones. Mine. “I really want you...” Ugh, everything else has just been so monotone in a way and I can’t help it when my mind wanders and it wanders to you and all of the things you do to me... damn it, my mind has been in the gutter all day... of course it has been.

Erwin smirked at Armin’s words. “Hmm… I can tell… I think anyone would be able to tell.” He ground against Armin’s crotch, letting himself start to become aroused as he looked to Armin’s eyes, having pulled him back to rid Armin of his clothing as well. He dipped his own head down, sucking roughly at Armin’s collarbone, leaving a heavy bruise on a matter of a few seconds. Everyone will know that you are mine.

Armin immediately tangled his hands in Erwin’s hair, moaning as he was marked, his head tipped back in a plead for more. “D-don't be smart with me… j-just fuck me already… I'm sorry, I'm not feeling too patient.” I want you to make me yours.

Erwin chuckled at what Armin demanded of him. “I guess I could do that.” He helped get Armin out of his pants, leaning over to the sink to lather his fingers in some soap, coming back over to Armin and gently tracing his puckered hole, his hips grinding into Armin’s hand as the other reached to undo his belt and unzip him. Fuck, you’re so needy… And it’s turning me on.

Armin began to clumsily undo Erwin’s belt and jeans, tugging them down and rubbing his still-clothed erection. He let out a deep sigh as Erwin plunged a finger inside of him, spreading his legs a bit more for him, lowly moaning for more as Erwin prepared him, soon feeling a second finger opening him up. I want it… I really want you…  “E-Erwin… please…” Armin was aching with need, his eyes pleading with the man looming above him. I need you.

Erwin caught his gaze, gently scissoring Armin’s entrance. “Easy, Armie, I don't wanna hurt you. Remember what happened last time when you wanted me right away and you weren’t prepared properly?” He leaned down to kiss his forehead. “Should I go get a condom?” he asked. I know sometimes you would prefer I wear one… But I don’t know if you want me to. Erwin easily got a third finger into Armin’s tight heat, his clothed length twitching against the fabric, wanting to be freed.

……it hurt to move …… sooooooo worth it though. I got you to carry me everywhere. Armin shook his head, tugging at the elastic of his boxers, snapping them against his skin a few times, a playful look to him. “I’d rather you didn't… nnggh…” He panted quietly as Erwin stretched him, looking up to him with lust in his eyes. “I’d much rather you fill me up.” I want this too much. ...there isn't ever ‘too much,’ is there. ...not to me there's not.

Good. Erwin grinned, pulling out his three digits and using his clean hand to pull off his pants and boxers completely, his erection standing proud and tall in salute to Armin’s glorious body. He reached over for the soap again, lathering his length in it. You are going to be the end of me with the way you’re looking at me. Erwin grabbed his hips gently, pulling him close to the edge of the counter and poking at his entrance teasingly. “Tell me what you want Armin.” I wanna hear that sexy voice again.

Fucking tease. Armin reached up to lace his fingers behind Erwin’s neck, staring into his eyes as he spoke. “Erwin, my God, just fuck me, please. Fuck me until I can't walk straight, fast and hard, until I can't even remember my own name, please. Erwin, stop teasing and just take me already.” He turned his legs out a bit more, giving him easier access to his hole. I need you so badly… please…

Erwin let his lips curl up at the corners and leaned down to kiss Armin’s neck as he moved his hips... forward, burying himself into Armin’s tightness. “Hmm… Armin, you’re as tight as ever.” You’re as tight as the first time I remember having you… Hmm, it’s wonderful. Erwin gripped at Armin’s hips, starting a brutal pace of pounding into him, his lips still taking over the smaller blonde’s neck.

Armin gasped loudly as Erwin suddenly sheathed himself inside of him, any pain from stretching quickly melting into pleasure as he pounded into him. Armin let his head fall back, trying to move his hips and meet Erwin’s thrusts. He moaned without restraint as he was marked up and down his neck, bouncing on Erwin’s length. “E-Erwin… m-my God… haaaa… f-fuck me… p-please fuck me….” Everything.

His large hands traveled down Armin’s sides, down to his hips, lifting him up a bit to better position them so he had better access. His hands stayed on his hips, grunting as Armin’s fingers pulled at his short hair. Erwin continued to snap his hips into the warm delicious heat in front of him that simply sucked him in and latched on, trying to keep him inside. God, his little hole’s so greedy… I love it…

Armin tugged Erwin down to suck hard at his neck and collarbone, littering his skin with hickeys, his hands tugging at his short blonde hair. “E-Erwin… f-feels really good… haaa… AH!” Armin’s back arched as Erwin found his prostate, pounding into it with every thrust. “R-right there, m-my God Erwin, d-don’t stop… please just don’t stop…” He moaned loudly, lapping at his neck and trailing his tongue up to his ear. You barely make any noise when you’re on top… “Erwin… I’d love to hear you too…” You sound so fucking hot when you moan...

Erwin groaned, shuddering as Armin lapped at his ear. “A-Armin… Fuck….” He moaned out his name, moving to kiss his forehead as he tightened his grip on Armin’s hips, continually ramming into him. So good, he’s really tight… And he looks so hot… Erwin looked into Armin’s eyes with his own lustful ones. I’ve always wanted to fuck you on the counter top. He tried to be a bit more vocal to appease Armin as he let go of a hip and ran a hand through his hair, ruffling the bowl-cut.

Armin couldn't break the lustful gaze Erwin had caught him with, seemingly able to read every lustful thought he had, breathing hard as he felt warmth beginning to pool in his belly. “E-Erwin… haaa… c-can't last l-long… f-feels too g-good….” Armin’s moans became higher pitched as he felt himself nearing the edge, gasping as Erwin’s large hand trailed down from his hair and over his chest to his length, pumping it. “M-My God, Erwin… p-please….” Armin let out a loud cry as he came hard, decorating their chests with white pearly drops, Erwin still pounding into him and prolonging his high. Fuck… Erwin...

Erwin watched in awe as Armin cried out his name, his lithe body beginning to shake. You look absolutely wonderful… He continued to thrust, hitting his prostate full force. “Armin… You’re so beautiful…” I don’t know what I would do without you. His coil was tightening at a fast rate. “I can’t… For much longer…” Fuck you got tighter…
Armin let Erwin’s name fall from his tongue like his life depended on it, overly sensitive as Erwin milked him of his cum. His hands ran through Erwin’s hair, staring right at him, his orbs full of love and lust, trying to speak clearly. “T-then cum for me, Erwin. Fill me up, please.” He panted breathlessly, still bouncing on Erwin’s long length, drinking in his expression. I want to see you fall apart.

Erwin moaned out Armin’s name like a mantra, his coil finally snapping and his thrusts becoming sporadic as he rode out his orgasm. “Hmm… Armin… You feel wonderful, so warm… So beautiful…” His voice only a bit breathless as he stayed buried balls deep inside of Armin. I love this… You’re milking me for all I’m worth. Erwin kept Armin trapped in his large arms, both of them on either side of Armin, planted firmly on the counter. I wanna stay like this…

Armin sighed deeply as he felt Erwin’s release filling him, his legs pinning their hips completely flush, relishing in the feeling of being full. His eyes were full of adoration as he dragged Erwin’s head closer to his, kissing him deeply and tangling their tongues. His arms wound around his broad shoulders, feeling the rippling muscle under his fingers. I love this… I love you… and you’re mine.

Erwin groaned into the kiss, holding Armin close by the ass cheeks. Hmm, you feel so good. He pulled back to breathe, keeping their foreheads pressed together. “What got you all horny, hmm?” His voice was rough as he spoke, his eyes showing mischief, as he watched Armin’s face finally flush.

Armin looked away, feeling his cheeks burn. “U-Uhm… work is a bitch… and boring as hell… and my mind kept wandering… and wandering… and then you came home, and I couldn’t help myself…” He let out a small sound of surprise as Erwin gave his ass a playful squeeze, glaring at him half-heartedly for a moment. ...dammit Erwin...

Erwin smirked, continuing to massage his bubbly ass. “What, am I not allowed to play?” I really want to… He picked up Armin off of the counter, keeping himself sheathed inside of him. You feel wonderful, I don’t want to leave your heat. His large hands were cupping Armin's supple cheeks, keeping him well seated on his member.

Armin blushed scarlet, stuttering a bit, letting out a stifled moan as he was shifted on Erwin’s length, his legs still keeping them flush. “...I-I never s-said that…” Armin dropped his head against Erwin’s shoulder, marking across his other, unblemished collarbone. There's nothing over here... we need to fix that. He slowly ground his hips further against Erwin’s, wanting more. I'm up for more if you are...

Erwin smirked, leaning his head back to let Armin mark him up more. We could go for another round. Erwin got a good grip on Armin’s ass, picking him up and starting to bounce him on his length. “Fuck, you feel great Armin…” His voice was heady with lust.

Armin moaned loudly as Erwin started the pace up again, feeling himself hardening again as Erwin thrusted into his sensitive heat. “Haaaa… my God, Erwin… You're so long and thick… just perfect…” Armin moved to nip at Erwin’s Adam’s apple, lapping at the skin higher-up, though not marking it. You kinda shouldn’t have too-visible hickey’s when you go back… but you’ve got plenty you can hide.

Erwin groaned at Armin’s praises. “And you’re so tight…. And hot… You feel great…” He let out a loud moan, holding Armin close to him and making sure that he had a proper hold on him. “Tell me if it hurts, okay?” I can tell that I’m going deeper...

Armin nodded, breathing hard against his shoulder. Fuck... I love it when I can actually hear you... “I-It doesn't hurt… you're going deeper… a-and… haaaa…. it feels really good… my God, you know how to make me feel good… and you sound so fucking sexy… nnngh…. I love it…” Armin let out a sudden loud cry as Erwin started to hit his prostate, even harder than the first time, letting out moan after breathless moan. “T- there … please, Erwin… d-don’t stop… anything, just don't stop…” It feels too good ...

Erwin nodded, letting his moans become audible to the rest of the quiet house as he continued to thrust up into him. “Hmm, Baby… You feel so good, you can fit… Everything in… Ngh… God, so good for me…” He moaned, feeling warmth run right to his abdomen, the pleasure clouding his mind until he was thinking solely of Armin.

Armin could feel his coil quickly tightening, every sound Erwin made making the heat between his legs more and more overwhelming. His grip on Erwin’s shoulder’s tightened, feeling himself teetering on the edge. “E-Erwin… haaa… I can't last…” He rolled his hips hard against him, gasping as Erwin hit his prostate over and over. Oh my God… Erwin...

Erwin nodded, a few grunts escaping him as he continued his thrusts. “Fuck Armin… I’m gonna… Armin! ” He cried out as his coil finally snapped again as he bounced Armin on his length. That felt absolutely amazing... Total bliss.

Armin’s own coil snapped when he heard Erwin cry out in his ear, his own cry muffled in his shoulder as he came onto their chests, feeling Erwin again filling him, feeling some of his release leak from his hole. “E-Erwin… m-my God… that felt r-really good…” He tried to catch his breath, still clinging to him. Thank god you’re this strong... I dunno if my legs could hold me up right now... He sighed deeply as Erwin drew out of him, still holding him. He nestled further into his shoulder, feeling sleepiness begin to wash over him. “…m’tired…” His eyes fluttered shut, enjoying the feeling of Erwin’s strong arms still holding him.

Erwin smiled softly, keeping Armin close as he walked upstairs and to the master bedroom. He walked almost silently through the house, turning the water on in the adjoining bathroom and waiting for the large tub to fill. We haven’t had a bath together in a long time… And you’ll wanna wash off.

“Hm?” Armin lifted his head up as they passed the bed and entered the bathroom, watching as Erwin turned on the water to fill the bathtub. He smiled, his head going back to rest against his shoulder as they waited for the tub to fill, humming happily, his voice quiet. “A bath together would be nice…” I approve. …and I’d like to get cleaned up… I’m kinda sticky. He unwound him legs from Erwin’s waist as the tub filled, stepping in carefully with his help and letting Erwin pull him into his chest as they sat down in the warm water. He lazily wrapped his arms around Erwin’s waist, nestling into his shoulder again, wanting Erwin to take the lead. “…the water feels nice…” I like this. We need to do this more.

Erwin smiled more, taking the white washcloth and filling it with soap before starting to caress Armin’s skin gently. “I agree, how much work are you gonna have tomorrow? It’ll be Christmas Eve…” I hope you don’t have anything to do… Levi asked if we could all go out… Apparently Eren’s been cooped up in the house for a bit and is getting restless.

Armin shrugged, sighing quietly as Erwin washed him. “Not much, if at all… I’ve been finishing all of my work pretty quickly, getting kinda ahead on stuff. Why? Are there plans?” Are we doing stuff? I’m up for stuff if it’s not boring myself to death working. Armin began to lightly kiss and lap at Erwin’s neck, his hold on his waist gentle.

Erwin nodded. “Levi wants to get Eren out of the house… He’s been doing nothing but draw for a bit apparently… Or take the animals riding… He needs to get out.” We all need to get out. Erwin’s hand was gentle with the cloth as he rubbed Armin’s skin clean of all the sticky cum splattered on his chest.

Armin nodded, his hands gently running over Erwin’s sides as he nipped at his neck, gently lapping at the marks he’d left. “Yeah, we need to get him out of the house. Even with all the stuff to do there, anybody would go nuts staying in one place all the time.” Armin leaned back so Erwin could more easily clean his chest, letting his hands run over Erwin’s own chest, tracing over the defined muscles, smirking faintly. “…damn are you hot.” He chuckled quietly as Erwin faintly blushed, pecking his cheek. “Just reminding you.” I’m never gonna stop telling you that. Because damn.

Erwin’s deep chuckle sounded against the walls. “Levi also told me that he’s trying to find a ring… And a good time to propose…. They’re… How should I put it, cause Eren’s the one who wants one, and Levi’s asking for help to find a good company…” Erwin trailed off in thought as he gently moved Armin to scrub and his back and his arms. I wonder if you’ll be able to help research too?

…… well, Eren’s not exactly the only one… “I might be able to help with that… but that’s really good to hear, that they both want to tie the knot… I’ll have that in the back of my mind.” Armin’s hold on Erwin tightened, burying his nose into his shoulder, breathing in his scent. ...I wonder if you’ve got any plans like that… I really kinda hope so...

Erwin nodded and gently cleaned off the rest of Armin’s body, a hum of contentment sounding as they basked in the warm water, relaxing. I like this... I like this a lot, and I need to go back with Levi soon... Thank God it’s almost over.

Armin began to nod off, Erwin’s hands washing his hair calming him and helping him drift in and out of sleep. His eyes fluttered open as he was shifted, Erwin having rinsed him off and picking him up from the water, letting him set him on his feet, immediately finding himself wrapped in a fluffy towel. He smiled tiredly as they helped dry the other off, padding with him to the bedroom to change. Armin clung to Erwin’s waist after they were in warm clothes, suddenly embarrassed by how much he just wanted to hold onto him, feeling like he needed to explain himself. I’m really clingy today… well then. “U-Uhm… I just… I just really love you…” He buried his face in his chest, trying to hide his blush.

Erwin leaned down to kiss the top of Armin’s head gently. “I love you too, Armie… Why don’t we go downstairs and I’ll make food, so we can cuddle on the couch?” That sounds like a wonderful plan to me...

Armin nodded, letting go of Erwin, smiling shyly up to him. “That sounds really nice…” More like perfect to me. He blushed as Erwin took his hand to walk with him downstairs, feeling warm, his mind swimming with the idea of tying their own knot.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Day 12

We were out all day… It was nice to see Armin out and about on the town with Erwin as well, it was warm which was nice, so I got to put my hair up into a bun to get it off of my neck. It’s getting long, but I don’t want to get it cut… I’m still very afraid of people with scissors and knives near my face. Dad tried to cut my hair the other day and I panicked almost instantly, Blake wouldn’t let anyone near me with scissors again for the next few hours... even if they were just wrapping presents... It’s Christmas EVE! That means tomorrow’s CHRISTMAS! I’m so excited! I’m one hundred percent sure that Blake and Maisie tied the knot... literally, she’s so laid back now. I wonder if anyone else will notice? Eren looked at the clock in the studio as he finished up with the picture of the horses out in the field. It’s already this late? I mean, I know we were out on the town for quite a few hours... and then I came back to draw, cause the horses were out... but it’s already past 10... and I didn’t even fucking notice... wow. Eren got up from his stool, stretching as he picked up the picture. Well, I get to go put it upstairs in the attic. Eren’s feet were quiet as he padded through the dark household and towards the stairs, making his way up the first flight before walking past all the rooms and to the staircase down the hall that led to the attic. He opened the door silently, walking into the large area and trying to find where he put the rest of the drawings of their horses, finding them in a little bit of a walk. I’ve been filling this place up with drawings, paintings and everything in between.... The few piles I made need to get organized again... I made at least 8 paintings of the two of them in the field. Eren pulled them apart smiling to himself as he looked over all of them.

Levi sat in bed, scrolling through a website on his phone when he heard Eren coming up the stairs, smirking as the footsteps got closer. Coming up to bed, are we? His expression shifted to one of surprise as Eren walked straight past their bedroom, carrying a painting. Oh come on. I’ve been waiting here forever. Levi’s brow furrowed a bit before he tossed his phone onto the end table, swinging his legs over the edge of the bed to get up and follow him. ...yeah. I’m not waiting any longer. Levi padded out the door and followed him upstairs, hearing Eren moving the next floor up. He clambered up the stairs, seeing Eren a small ways away, looking through the paintings he’d recently made. You’ve been doing a lot of painting... but you can do that whenever you want... Levi knocked on the doorframe, walking up to Eren when he turned to look at him, a bit surprised. I don’t want you freaking out like last time. Levi sauntered right up to Eren, getting him to turn from the pile of paintings leaning against the wall and wrapping his arms around him, one at his waist and the other tangling in his hair, his eyes a bit shaded as they looked into his viridian orbs, his voice low and quiet. “Weren't you planning on coming to bed? I've missed you.” You’ve been giving the damn horses more attention than me while I've been home- and they're always here!

Eren chuckled a bit as he set the painting and drawings down. “We went out earlier today... aren’t you sick of me? I thought you were asleep? The lights were off in our room....” He trailed off as he turned back to organize the drawings, putting them in a few different stacks before putting the stacks on top of each other, seeming content with how they were organized now. I thought you were asleep... it’s past ten... His head turned to look into Levi’s silvery eyes. “Should we go downstairs? And get to bed?” We’re gonna be up all day tomorrow....

Levi looked a bit stunned as Eren remained perfectly oblivious as to what he was insinuating, watching in silence as he went right back to organising his works. ...wow. “I don't think you understand... of course I could never get sick of you...” He pulled Eren back into his chest, flush with his front, murmuring into his ear as one arm wandered his chest, the other brushing low over the waist of his jeans, lightly running over his nether. “But it was dark because I was just waiting for you... I miss you. And although I’d love to take this downstairs...” He gently palmed Eren through his jeans, suckling the spot under his ear. “...I'm not exactly feeling patient.” I've missed having this kind of attention... I'd like us to fix that.
Eren let out a loud and strangled gasp as his eyes widened, a blush streaking across his face. “L-Levi… R-Right now?” He asked, his voice sounding completely innocent. Are you going to…. Right now? Eren wasn’t sure what else to think as he began to harden in Levi’s palm.

Levi smirked, kissing his ear. “...you know, that’s a good idea.” His voice was smooth and deep, palming Eren a little harder and taking advantage of his surprise to guide him to the floor, rolling on top of him, kissing him deeply and letting the hand not teasing Eren’s clothed length wander across his chest. He slipped his tongue into Eren’s cavern, tangling their tongues, a faint pink tinge to his porcelain cheeks. I want you so badly… and I’ve been so damn jealous of the attention you’re giving the horses. And pretty much every animal here. ...we have to fix this.

Eren let out a moan into their heated kiss, still not entirely sure where Levi was going to take this. Is he going to make me top again? He pulled back a bit to breathe, resting his head down on the hard floor, his eyes lidded and full of lust. Hot… He looks sexy as all hell. He let out another soft sound between a whimper and a yelp when Levi found a sensitive spot on his side, his eyes seeming to flare open a bit, his hands going immediately to Levi’s chest as if to push him off. Fuck… I… I did it again… I… Eren’s hands were shaking as he slowly brought them down and away from Levi’s chest. I couldn’t… No, Levi’s nothing like them.

Levi immediately picked up on Eren’s discomfort, stopping his movements and breaking their kiss, looking to Eren worriedly. “I’m sorry, Eren- do you not want to? Am I doing something wrong? ...would you rather not do this on the floor?” If it’s anything like those… or any other reason… I’ll stop. We’re doing this only if you want to.

Eren blinked slowly, trying to take everything in, shaking his head as he propped himself up. “N-No… I just… Slower please… and not too rough….” I don’t want to be reminded about what happened 7 months ago… He swallowed the lump that formed in his throat, looking up to Levi’s concerned eyes, a hand coming up to cup his face. “I want to be held gently…” Eren’s voice was barely above a whisper, his lips barely moving as he became entranced in Levi’s silvery orbs.

Levi nodded, giving him a faint smile. “...I think I can do that.” He slowly leaned forward to press their lips together again, their lips moving languidly, every movement much calmer and much less rushed than before. Levi guided Eren to lay back down, his hands slowly tracing over his chest, running lovingly over his sides as their tongues moved around the other, letting out a quiet sound. ...slowing down. I think we really need to, this time around.

Eren’s rigid body seemed to relax once Levi started to slow down his pace. He’s slow… He doesn’t want to hurt me… He wants to hold me… He started to melt into the soft kiss they shared, his tongue moving lazily, but the same heat carried between the two of them. He was slowly getting harder, shivering whenever Levi’s gentle hands found another sensitive area. He had a lot more now, do to the fact that he was used so much 7 months ago… and that they had brutally tortured his body. I’m so sensitive now…
Levi’s hands drifted to the hem of Eren’s shirt, looking up and asking silently for permission before lifting it over Eren’s head, slowly kissing across his jaw and pressing gentle kisses down his neck. He lapped at his collarbone, slowly beginning to trace every line and curve of Eren’s chest with his tongue, his hands holding his sides gently and lightly nipping at the spots that made Eren squirm, which were many. He's got so many scars… they're everywhere… but even so. “Eren, you're so beautiful…” Levi murmured against his skin, pressing a kiss below his navel before slowly making his way back up, worshipping every inch of skin. You really are.

Eren blushed across his cheeks, and all the way up to his ears. His fully formed ears… Eren hadn’t noticed them at all, but they now appeared to be in better shape than they were before Levi and Eren met. He whimpered a bit when Levi kissed over a few sensitive scars, but otherwise squirmed from the pure enjoyment of Levi’s soft lips teasing him. It feels nice…

Levi chuckled when he saw Eren completely flush, lapping up his chest before a mischievous look sparked in his eye, looking up to Eren as his lips latched onto his nipple, gently sucking on it and teasing the bud with the tip of his tongue. I need to relearn what is and isn't open territory.

Eren moaned out more, his breathing hitching as he found the act sending waves of pleasure across his body. “F-feels… Good…” Eren’s words were soft and in between moans. It feels nice, I like this slow pace…

Levi smirked, his hands roaming his sides carefully as he teased the bud, taking a small step further and nibbling at it gently, gauging Eren’s reaction. Tiny steps; I need to know what I can and can't do.

Eren’s breathing stopped, his body going rigid once again as he shook his head, pleading eyes looking down at Levi. No… Don’t bite… Please don’t bite… You’ll bite it off… Just like they did…

Levi lapped the bud in apology, looking up to him and trying to calm him back down, his hands tracing patterns over his sides. “I’m sorry Eren, I’ll be more careful…” His eyes cast back down to his chest, tracing his way to his other bud, noting some of the scars on his chest. Some look kinda indented… like some skin was taken away… they look familiar… kinda like… bites. He had skin bitten off of him. Levi lapped in silent apology at every one of those scars he saw on his way to his other bud, gently taking it into his mouth, his tongue tracing around it. That's horrible… I'll be really careful with you. I just want you to feel good.

Eren sighed in relief as Levi stopped biting his sensitive flesh. He continued to let out a litany of soft noises, wanting nothing more than to feel the pleasure that was in his system. It… It feels nice… When he’s gentle… Eren’s body became slack again after Levi continued his ministrations for a bit. I want this… You’ll be careful.

Levi teased his other bud for a while, his hands on Eren’s hips as he kissed back op his neck, softly kissing his adam’s apple as his thumbs hooked in the waist of his jeans. “…can I?” Levi waited for Eren to nod before tugging them off from his hips, pulling them off and setting them aside. He paused to pull his own shirt over his head, shimmying himself from his sweatpants to even the playing field. He caught Eren in another kiss, straddling Eren at the moment, sitting on top of his hips, agonisingly slowly rolling his hips against Eren’s, his hands wandering Eren’s chest. I like this… I need to really be careful though…

Eren let out a soft sigh as Levi moved him around, watching with slight worry as Levi straddled him. Wait… I’m not topping again am I? I don’t want to. Eren was about to tell Levi to get off of him, but he let his head tilt back as soon as Levi rolled his hips, rubbing their two erections together. That feels wonderful…

Levi kissed up and down Eren’s exposed neck as he rolled their hips together, quietly moaning into his skin from the friction. He very lightly nipped once at the joint of his neck, lapping at the spot before he looked up to Eren, his voice quiet. “Is it okay if I mark you?” I have to ask so you don’t freak out…

Eren was lost in thought for a moment before he nodded, moving to show his neck a bit more. Please don’t bite…. His heavy blush followed down his tan neck and up to his ears. I don’t want you to bite… I don’t want you to be like them.

Levi smirked, moving to carefully suck small dark marks at the joint of his neck, up his skin, a ring of small bruises showing around his collar, even marking his adam’s apple, his hands slowly trailing over his chest, teasing his pink buds between his fingers. He quietly moaned into his skin, listening to every whimper and mewl Eren let out as his mouth wandered. “…you sound wonderful…” I like those sounds… Levi pulled up from his skin, looking for permission as his hands moved to play with the hem of Eren’s boxers. Please?

Eren wiggled his hips, allowing for Levi to grab at the fabric, giving a small nod incase Levi needed more prompting. His bright eyes were watching Levi’s every move, and although they were heavy with lust and want, there was still that inkling of fear in them. It was just the drugs… He never actually did any of those things to me…

Levi pulled Eren’s boxers off of his hips, tossing them out of the way before his hands moved to hold his hips, his voice a quiet murmur. “You let me know the second you don’t like something, okay?” Levi began to kiss down Eren’s chest when he nodded in reply, seeing a flicker of worry in his eyes when he reached his navel. “…I’m not making you top, if that’s something you’re thinking. I just want you to feel really good. Tell me if this isn't okay.” Levi took Eren’s quiet nod as a cue to continue, his hands holding his hips in place as he kissed down to the base of his length, gently nipping the base before licking a thick stripe up the underside, beginning to suck on his head. I want you to trust me, and I want you to feel really good.

Eren tensed up a bit at first, though his worries soon faded as the overwhelming sense of pleasure pulsed through his whole being. He moaned without restraint, letting his back arch up off the wooden floor, his body beginning to feel warm as he was aroused even further. Ngh... fuck... Levi. Eren squirmed a bit as Levi’s tongue ran over a particularly sensitive spot on his length. “L-Levi...”

Levi’s head was bobbing further down his length, pulling off of it for just a moment to speak, smirking as he looked up to him and saw the arousal in his eyes. “Feelin’ good up there?” I hope so. He let his tongue drag over the head of his length, playing with the slit as he kept Eren’s gaze, his own silver orbs shaded.

“Mmhmm...” Eren didn’t trust himself with words at the moment, the heat in his body beginning to pool into his abdomen, a large surge washing over his body as his slit was toyed with. “Ahh... T-There..” Eren whined, his hips moving up to get Levi to take in the rest of his head, enjoying the pleasure as his fingers twitched at his sides. It feels nice... It feels really good... Nothing like what they had ever done...

Levi took in Eren’s head again, paying it particular attention as his hand went to pump the rest of his length, his tongue swirling around the sensitive tip. His other hand remained splayed across his hip, humming on his length, his own hard length beginning to throb a bit from neglect. I wanna taste you... love you... remind you how different this is from everything that’s happened to you in the past...

Eren moans got louder as he got closer and closer to climaxing. Levi... It feels... I’m gonna cum soon... He whined as he felt his coil tightening even more, on the verge of snapping. His elbows coming up under him to prop himself up to get a better look at Levi. He looks so fucking sexy... Fuck... Eren didn’t have enough control over himself, finally allowing the sensations to overtake him. “Levi...” His words were heady, full of lust and adoration.

Levi sucked a bit harder at his tip when Eren spoke, his eyes telling him how much he wanted him as he pumped his member more firmly, wanting to drive Eren over the edge. His tongue toyed mercilessly with his slit, moaning onto his head as Eren cried out, swallowing every drop of cum and licking him clean, slowly coming off of his length, a strand of saliva connecting them for an instant before he came up to kiss Eren, his hands trailing all over his chest. His voice was a seductive murmur against his lips, his smirk audible. “...up for more?” I want to have you... if you’ll let me.
Eren’s eyes were shaded as he stared into Levi’s orbs just a bit away from his own. He opened his mouth slightly, at a loss for words for a few seconds before he pressed himself up to kiss Levi all over again. I want more… I want more of this… this is wonderful.

Levi brought up a hand to cup Eren’s cheek as they kissed deeply. More it is. Levi pulled back from the kiss after a long moment, letting Eren catch his breath a bit before lifting a hand to his lips, his voice quietly demanding. “…suck.” …please.

Eren had a completely fucked-out look on his face as Levi pulled back from the kiss. His actions were immediate, moving his head a bit forward and sucking gingerly on his fingers, letting his tongue run around them in silence. His eyes were closed as he focused on what he was doing, beginning to bob his head on Levi’s outstretched fingers. He felt a shiver run up his spine as he bobbed a bit farther than anticipated, a sudden urge to cough taking over as he gagged on Levi’s fingers. What the hell? I’ve never gagged on… on anything before? Why now? Eren’s eyes were wide as he continued his ministrations.

Levi drank in Eren’s expression as he sucked on his fingers, feeling arousal pulse through him as his tongue swirled around his fingertips. His brow furrowed as Eren’s mouth constricted around them a bit and his eyes showed a bit of fear, pulling them back and out of his cavern, worried as he coughed. “I’m sorry, Eren, I should’ve been more careful.” …but you’ve never gagged on anything before… even when you deepthoated me… you never gagged. And this is just my hand. …huh. Levi pecked his cheek, his now-slicked hand drifting lower, his other moving to spread Eren’s legs apart as he moved between them. This’ll do, though. His finger traced his entrance, looking to him for permission. You might need a second… I dunno, I just really wanna be careful about this…

Eren had finished his coughing fit, and was catching his breath as he spread his legs wide open for Levi, leaning his head into his chest. “Hmmm…” He moaned when he felt his cool finger trace his warm entrance. I want it… Levi’ll be gentle…. But that was weird…. I’ve never gagged on something before… what if I can’t give Levi a blow anymore? Eren fidgeted as he felt a digit enter him, but he soon calmed down and curled into the feeling of being filled, even if it was small.

Levi nudged him a bit, catching his lips with his own and gently coaxing him to lay back down. It’ll feel better if you’re not so curled up, I think. …also, I just wanna kiss you. He pushed a second finger past the ring of muscle after a moment, searching his heat for the bundle of nerves inside of him, curling his fingers and scissoring him to stretch him out. He smirked as Eren suddenly let a loud moan into the kiss, brushing that same spot again with the same result. There it is.

Eren moaned heavily into the kiss as Levi traced over his prostate more than a couple times. He found it… It feels really nice. Eren’s length was slowly getting harder as he got more aroused, his hips following suit and moving against Levi’s fingers to get more of him inside. I want more.
Levi smirked at Eren’s slow eagerness, pushing in his third finger and curling them into his prostate, relishing in the sound of Eren’s moans. He drew his hand from him, running it over his own length to slacken it with his dripping precum before lining up to Eren’s entrance, breaking their kiss and nestling into his neck, wanting to be able to hear every sound. “Don't be afraid to let me hear you…” Levi murmured as he slowly pushed forward, burying himself to the hilt before stilling, waiting for Eren to adjust to the intrusion. “W-Whenever you say…” Levi let out a shuddery moan as Eren shifted under him, the friction feeling amazing after going as long as he did without any. It feels good… you're always so tight… just perfect.

Eren groaned loudly as Levi entered him fully. Shit… it feels really good… His arms wound around Levi’s broad shoulders after only a second, his nails starting to dig into the cream-colored skin. He let out a soft whimper in protest as he shifted a bit, pain from being stretched again after so long finally catching up to him. It hurts too… dammit.

Levi held onto Eren’s hips, still as he lapped at the hickeys on his neck, waiting for Eren to adjust. It was a long moment before he felt Eren shift again with a quiet moan, trying to take in more of his length, taking it as a cue to move. He pulled out until only the tip was still inside of him, thrusting slowly back into him with a shuddering groan as he started a slow, deep pace. “...mmm… you feel really good, Eren…” I've missed this so much...

Eren shuddered more at the feeling, his back arching off of the floor in need, a moan ripping from his throat in want. “Levi…. More…” His body was begging for more as it melted under him, his soft touches oh so tempting to him, his body beginning to heat up all over again. Eren’s breathing was in pants as he felt Levi fill him up and leave him over and over again, a soothing feeling starting to overpower any other sense that he held towards the raven above him. It... It feels like home... I want him...

Levi picked up the pace, smoothly going faster and deeper into him, small whimpers and moans escaping him. “E-Eren… haahh… f-feels good….” Levi shifted his legs to get a better angle, lifting Eren’s hips a bit from the floor, their hips meeting much more fully. He shifted his angle bit by bit, searching for that spot inside of him. He gasped quietly as Eren suddenly let out a loud moan, shuddering at the delicious sound. “...I love hearing you moan like that…” He aimed for that spot, hitting it over and over. Let’s hear that again.

Eren’s moans grew steadily louder, his legs spreading as far as they could in his hold. He instinctively tried to wrap himself around Levi’s body, hooking his legs around his back by the ankle and holding them together, pushing Levi in further as they rested on his lower back. Eren’s body arched off of the floor again as Levi found that coveted area, his moans raising in pitch and loudness. It feels amazing...

Levi sucked at Eren’s skin, a large dark mark blooming under his lips at the joint of his neck. He took Eren’s hold on him as a cue to give him all he was worth, ravaging his hole, trying not to bruise his hips as he held onto them, pulling him as he thrusted forward and pounded into him. He could feel heat pooling in his abdomen, groaning into Eren’s neck. “....nngh, Eren… so good…” He kept his lips latched to his skin, one hand moving up from his hips to stroke him, his thumb teasing Eren’s heavily leaking slit. I need to last longer than you… and I can't last for forever...

Eren’s cried out in bliss as Levi touched his weeping length. “L-Levi… There… Please… D- don't stop…” His voice was a whine, his nails digging into Levi’s shoulders as he held onto him. I want it... I want your everything... “I... I’m… Cum… Cumming… Levi !” Eren cried out as the pleasure finally exceeded what he could take. His whole body shook with bliss, his cum covering their two chests with pearly white. Holy shit… That felt amazing.

“E-Eren… h-haaa… Eren!” Levi let himself go as Eren cried out, cumming hard deep inside of him, Eren’s legs pinning his hips in place, buried in his heat. He shuddered and breathed hard as he rode out his orgasm, feeling Eren’s walls tighten around him and milk him dry. They stayed like that for a long moment, trying to catch their breaths. My god… you feel too good… Levi drew out of Eren finally, his arms winding around him and pulling him into a deep kiss, his voice a whisper, full of emotion. “Eren… I love you… so fucking much.” I really really really do… I don't wanna be without you… ...going back is gonna suck… eh, I have lackeys to take it out on. ...think about that later, Levi. Right now, you've got someone to hold. Levi pressed kisses all over his cheeks and his jaw, not knowing how else to tell him that he loved him as much as he did.

Eren giggled a little in satisfied mirth. “I love you too, Levi.” His voice was soft as his hands came up to shakily cup Levi’s cheeks as they kissed. His back was still arched off of the floor, trying not whimper from the strain he was feeling in his legs and back from holding this position. It felt absolutely amazing ... He's nothing like them.

Levi could feel Eren shaking a bit as his hands drifted to his waist as they kissed, not breaking their lip lock as he sat back on his heels, bringing Eren with him. He got a foot under himself, standing up with Eren in his arms, helping him stand, embracing him tightly as their tongues tangled. He broke away panting, nestling into his chest, not wanting to let go, his face flushed. “I-I… I just really, really love you…” And I'm working on how to make you mine... for as long as we’re both around... He felt himself flush scarlet as Eren chuckled at that, finally breaking from him and going for their clothes. “I don't think your parents would appreciate us running around nude.” He handed Eren his boxers, studying for a moment the white drops across his-correction, their chests. “...you look a bit messy… want to shower together when we get back downstairs?” Levi smirked to him, openly admiring his body. You've certainly got plenty of hickeys... and I'm sure you wouldn't mind a little more attention...

Eren blushed as he slipped on his boxers. “Okay… And um… That sounds nice…” He wobbled on his feet for a bit, though he sank down to his knees, his legs unable to keep him upright anymore. “Fuck… Levi.” He whined as he grabbed out for him, clinging to his boxers almost pulling them down. I can't stand up… My legs are too shaky.
Levi immediately turned as Eren grabbed for him, bending over and wrapping his arms around him. Can't stand up, huh? He smirked at that thought, his voice smooth and quiet. “Alright, I've got you.” Levi picked Eren up bridal-style, walking him to the stairs and carefully descending them, padding past the other bedrooms before nudging their own door open, kicking it shut behind them. He carried him to the adjoined bathroom, shutting that door as well before gently setting Eren on his feet, letting him sit for a moment as he turned on the water. He waited for it to get warm, shedding his boxers again and helping Eren out of his, a crutch for Eren as they finally stepped under the warm spray. He reached for the cloth and soap, beginning to clean Eren off, his hand not washing his chest freely wandering his sides and playfully squeezing his ass. I like this. We should do this more... it's warm, and there's plenty to see.

Eren let out a loud squeak as Levi grabbed at his ass cheek. Huh? Why are you grabbing me? His eyes were wide and full of innocence as he shuffled a bit away from him. “W-What are you doing?” He was leaning into the wall in confusion. My legs are so weak. What are you trying to do?

Levi was surprised as Eren moved away from him to lean on the wall, his face falling a bit, blushing and looking away. “M'sorry... I'm kinda getting carried away, maybe... I've just... I've kinda missed being intimate with you... I like being able to hold you... and I'm just subconsciously making up for lost time...” He let out a deep sigh, deciding to simply speak his mind. “You've spent a ton of time while I'm here painting and drawing and stuff, holed up in the studio, and you get mad when I try and bug you... and most of the company I've had has either been Netflix or sometimes Lathe but... I missed just being able to be around you... and I want to take advantage of actually being here... because I have to leave again so soon... and I just love you and I wanna be able to hold onto you and touch you because I can't do that while I'm gone... I barely hear your voice while I'm away... and I'm just kinda upset that that hasn't changed much since I've come home this time around...” Levi wanted to just melt into the wall, his head hung as he admitted everything he’d been thinking. My God, I sound so fucking needy... I miss you more than anything... and that hasn't changed much since I came home for Christmas... you're so busy doing art stuff, and when you shoo me away it hurts... ...and now I can't even try to initiate anything intimate or just be intimate without it seeming weird... Levi’s face became stony, his cheeks burning with shame as he rubbed roughly at his eyes. Don't fucking cry, you pansy. It's just intimacy. It's... it's just...

Eren watched Levi finally speak everything that was plaguing his mind, his shaking legs protesting as he took the small steps to Levi’s smaller frame. His hands were a bit shaky as he moved Levi’s arms away from his face. “I... I’m sorry... I really am... I... Levi, just... I don’t want to make any excuses, but I’ve been thrown for a loop, and I’m trying to get better at it... and I think I finally am... I just... I’m so scared... that anything you do will make me think of what happened... and I don’t want that. I want to know you for you... and I don’t want to think of you as a heartless monster... No. Not anymore... and not again...” Eren’s arms had shakily wrapped around Levi’s shoulders, holding him close to his chest, and leaning on him a bit. His head was buried into Levi’s inky locks, hiding his tears as he choked on his own words. I was so afraid of being intimate. “I was afraid... and I’m sorry that I tried to push you away because of it... but I didn’t know how to tell you... And I know that I should’ve but... I-I...” Eren started to sob as he held onto Levi, Levi tentatively wrapped his arms around Eren as he was pulled into his chest, his ear pressed to his chest, listening to the steady thud of his heartbeat. He traced patterns over his back with a light, gentle touch, trying to soothe Eren as he started crying into his hair, a tear streaking down his own cheek. “I-It's okay… you’ve been through so much, and I knew you’d need time… I just hated that it was taking so long… and I thought… t-that you weren’t ever really going to be as interested in m-me… b-but now I kn-know… it’s o-okay…” His hold on Eren minutely tightened, a few more tears falling. “I just… I want to make the m-most out of the time I’m guaranteed to h-have with you…” If something happens to me when I’m out of college… stationed somewhere… “…I… I really l-love you… and I want to make sure you really kn-know that… and sometimes when I come back h-home from being gone… it’s so h-hard to believe that y-you're actually there… that I actually get to hold onto you again… just… let’s make the m-most of what we’ve got… okay?” I want you to feel loved… but I need someone to make me feel loved too… and there might only be so much time for any of that… I don’t want to waste it.

Eren nodded and moved Levi’s head tilting it up, kissing his nose and kissing his cheeks heavily, his hands still shaking as he cupped his face. “I know it’s hard Levi… But we can make the most of it.” He sniffled as he leaned down to kiss Levi’s lips gently for a second. “I know you’ll come home to me… and I’ll be right here waiting for you to come back to me… and who know? Maybe I’ll have a little one waiting with me…” Eren smiled softly, even though he was still crying heavily. I really want you to be safe when you go away… I want you to come home to...

Levi’s expression changed as Eren spoke, his hands coming up to hold Eren’s on his cheeks, faintly smiling. “Eren… I think I’d love that.” You and me… having kids. My God, since when did we stop being awkward teenagers? Levi stood on tiptoe to kiss Eren’s tears away, soon capturing his lips in a soft kiss, his mind spinning a bit. …if I had a ring and we weren’t in the shower having this conversation, I'd propose right the fuck now. ...but neither is true. So… Levi’s hands moved to cup Eren’s jaw, gently tilting it and deepening their kiss just a bit, pouring all of his emotions into it, all of his reeling thoughts and the fluttering in his chest. I love you so damn much...

Eren simply melted into Levi’s touch, loving the feeling of Levi’s soft lips against his own lips. His hands had drifted down his neck and to around Levi’s shoulders, happy that Levi understood everything. I love you so much… you have no idea how much I was afraid that I’d never be able to do this again.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Christmas
Levi smirked, reaching around Eren and tearing off another piece of cinnamon roll, holding it up to Eren’s mouth, feeding him breakfast. I so approve of this. Levi was sitting at the kitchen table with Eren in his lap, a plate of cinnamon rolls in the centre of the table, along with a large plate of chocolate chip pancakes covered by a lid to stay warm. He had a mischievous look in his eye when he saw some icing by the corner of his mouth. “Eren, you’ve got something there…” Levi leaned forward and kissed his lips clean, not giving even half of a shit about the fact Lathe and Spades were at the table. Eh, Lathe moved his chair so he and Spades are closer together. They probably don’t even notice half this crap.

He was right- Lathe at least was caught up in eating his pancakes, though he seemed to stop partway through, his head in one hand as he simply watched Spades, a loving look in his eyes. He blushed darkly as she looked up at him with an odd look, returning his attention to his plate, mumbling embarrassedly. “...you're just... r-really pretty…” Pretty doesn't even begin to cover it… Dammit... what the hell is it about Christmas that makes me such a sap…

Eren’s face completely flushed up to his ears as Levi kissed his lips right in front of his parents. Oh my god… He really just did that… Not that I’m complaining though… But… Eren looked over to Lathe and Spades to see them completely engrossed in each other. Eh, oh well, I guess I can let him do that. Eren leaned his head down into Levi’s shoulder, a large smile across his face. He opened his mouth, waiting for Levi to feed him the next piece of cinnamon roll. I want you to keep feeding me, it’s nice.

Spades blushed as she bit into her cinnamon roll. “T-thanks…” She trailed off as she kept her glances directed towards Lathe. I can’t wait until tonight, I've got a surprise for you! She smiled as she locked her gaze with Lathe’s, looking into his moonsong eyes with happiness held within her own emerald orbs. Though, when she remembered the present Lathe still had yet to open, her gaze changed to one of mischief.

Lathe couldn't help but turn bright red as she caught his gaze, quirking an eyebrow as he saw a familiar spark in her eyes. “What’re you thinking?”...I get the feeling I should maybe be scared. ...suspicious will have to do.

Spades had a small smirk on her face as she continued to eat her cinnamon roll, ignoring his question for a few moments. “Hmm.. tonight… that’s what I’m thinking about…” Definitely tonight…

Tonight?...did we make plans for tonight? He had a bit of a confused look to him, thinking as he looked down to his plate, then back up to her. “...am I losing my mind, or did we make plans or something?” I don't remember anything like that… Christmas our and Eren and Levi's squad all agreed we’d not try and get together here… just chill with the fam… so there's no big dinner… huh.
Spades simply smiled. “You’ll just have to find out.” She leaned over to kiss his nose before reaching over the table and getting herself pancakes, buttering them sufficiently. She picked up a forkful and happily ate. If he asks I’m not telling him and no one else knows… Lolz.

Lathe looked a bit stunned as she pecked his nose, simply shaking his head a bit and returning his attention to his food, the day passing in a calm blur. *Today was a good day- breakfast was good, and I’ve been able to just have a day off of writing stuff and fussing over housekeeping. One of the presents I got for Eren in the gym- okay, mostly me, but I'm sharing- was a balance beam, and that was fun messing with. ...my first try didn't go so well. Nor the five after that. Eren did a back handspring on it, no trouble, and Levi could manage a cartwheel… but I'm still getting acquainted with it. I'm still convinced my staring it down for fifteen minutes while I was still salty from falling off did the trick. Spades came in to watch after lunchtime- I was mostly doing handstands on it, splits, random stuff… okay, I might've fallen off and hit the mat pretty hard trying to show off, but that’s besides the point… but I still can’t figure out what the hell we’ve got going on tonight! She won’t tell me, and Eren and Levi have no damn idea what plans there are, and it’s bugging me that I don’t know. But other than that, today has been super chill. ...and I appreciate this. Dinner was really nice- I made mussels for the first in forever, and I actually got Eren to try them. ...pretty sure it was because Levi fed it to him, but he liked them! The lamb, too. Everything just tasted better given we some of the ingredients fresh now, too. Lathe was at the kitchen sink after dinner was done, washing a pan before the bits stuck to it dried. This’ll be a bitch to clean if I leave it for later. And it’s already a bitch to clean. He put it away after it was finally rinsed and dried, looking around to see if everything was done. Mussel shells are thrown out, table cleared, roasting pan away… yep, that’s it. He hung the dish towel over the handle of the oven to dry, turning and seeing Spades ambling up to him. He shifted his weight with one hand on a hip, grinning as he spoke. “Now will you tell me what plans for tonight are?” I need to know! It’s been driving me crazy not knowing what’s going on.

Spades shook her head, coming up to him to peck his cheek. “Nope, you’ll have to find out.” Her voice was a bit deeper, more seductive as she pulled at his earlobe. She giggled a bit as she walked away from him and towards the stairs, scampering up them quickly. I wanna see if you’ll come up with me.

Lathe stared after her as she sauntered away, suddenly blushing crimson as he realised what she meant. ... oh. She has plans for us. ...apparently me. Lathe didn't even need to think about it before he was following her up the stairs, swallowing hard as she disappeared into their bedroom, walking up to it and coming in, knowing to shut the door behind him. He leaned back against the door as he saw Spades right in front of him, eyeing him like a tiger would a fresh piece of meat. ...this is gonna get real, isn’t it. He stood completely still, not even knowing if he was allowed to move.

Spades smirked a bit as she leaned up to kiss his lips chastely before pulling back and giving him a wrapped box. “Merry Christmas, Tiger.” She bit her lip seductively, itching for him to open it. Come on! I wanna use it on you! PLEASE!
Lathe looked to the box in his hands, starting to tear at the paper as Spades waited for him to. The paper fluttered to the floor and he turned it over, flushing to the tips of his ears as he realised what it was. ...oh my. You bought a strap-on. Lathe opened his mouth as if to respond, but no sound came out, not knowing what to say, nervously looking up to her. I'm not exactly opposed to the idea... “S-Spades... I hope you know when it comes to this I have no idea what I'm doing, so I hope you do…” ...I just hope you're willing to completely take over...

Spades smirked and nodded as she took the box from him, setting it on the nightstand, coming back to him as she started to pull off her clothing, slowly and making sure that he could see all her curves as she showed them. You will be mine. She went up to him, pressing him to the door as she locked it, making sure that they would be left alone.

Lathe watched as she slowly pulled her shirt over her head and tossed it aside, letting her push him to the door, swallowing hard as he heard the lock click. His hands hovered over her waist, not knowing what to do with himself, a bit intimidated. I've never been a bottom before, so I have no clue how to act... what should I do differently? Do I do much differently? Crap.... He shakily held her waist as she nipped up his neck to catch his lips in a heated kiss, trying to calm himself down. She knows what she's doing... maybe.... calm the hell down!!

Spades noticed his nervousness as they kissed passionately, her feet moving towards the bed, and taking him with her to the bed. She pulled back to breathe as she pushed him back onto the bed, crawling on top of him to straddle him. I'm so excited.

Lathe shuffled back completely onto the large bed, sighing deeply as Spades straddled him, trying to calm himself. ...it's just Spades. Calm the hell down, and whatever goes down, enjoy it! Lathe reached up to pull her down for a kiss, letting himself melt into it, his hands wandering over her curves, cupping her large globes, massaging them gently. He smirked as she made a small sound, a finger drifting up to one of her bra straps, pulling it a bit and giving it a light snap. Y'know what? Just go with it.

Spades let him have his fun, letting out a soft gasp as the strap snapped back at her. Her hands trailed down to his own clothes, teasing the hem before she lifted his shirt up over his head. Her unoccupied hand gently cupped his crotch and felt him harden under her palm. He sounds so wonderful...

Lathe gasped as she teased his clothed member, whimpering quietly as he felt his blood rushing south, instinctively lifting his hips into her hand, wanting more friction. His eyes silently pleaded with her, his hands running over her back, ghosting over the clasps of her bra. He moved to unhook it, managing after two tries, embarrassed a bit as he slid the fabric from her shoulders. He nipped at her neck, his hands moving to shift her further up, cupping her ass as he nipped at one of her large breasts, beginning to suck on the bud, tracing it with his tongue. I love the sounds you make... wonderful...

Spades moaned out as she felt him take in one of her sensitive buds, her free hand making quick work of his pants and tugging them down and off of him. She palmed at his bulge through the loose cloth hiding it. Damn... He’s really hard... She palmed his length a little harder, wanting to illicit a response from him. I wanna hear you too...

His lips broke their contact from her globe, letting out a deep, breathy moan as she palmed his growing member. “F-Fuck, Spades...haaa....” He lapped at her tan skin, trailing his way to her other nipple, sucking a bit more roughly on it, one hand slipping down from her ass to run over the fabric between her legs. He soon tugged the offending fabric down, leaving her in just her panties, rubbing her through the lace, smirking. “You got all dressed up... and you’re soaked...” Just for me.

Spades let out a soft groan as she spread her legs a bit wider, a blush crossing her cheeks as Lathe’s sultry voice graced her ears. “Hmm, I've been waiting all day...” She whined as he rubbed her through her soaked panties. Fuck his fingers feel great. She moved around a bit, pulling away from his reach even though her body screamed for her to stay. Her fingers curled around the hem of his boxers, pulling them down to view the sight of his engorged length, dripping in heavy streams. Hot damn... Her body acted fluidly as she grabbed for the black tube on the nightstand moving to set herself near his thigh, her nose almost touching his length, her body splayed over his right leg as she coated her fingers with lube. I want you to feel nothing but pleasure...

Lathe watched her move to get the lube, tense as he watched her settle between his legs and coat her fingers liberally with the lube. He gripped at the sheets nervously, crimson as he stuttered a bit. “J-just be careful, okay? G-go slow...” I don't know what to expect... He willed himself to relax, though it seemed rather futile when she pushed a finger past his entrance, whimpering at the strange feeling. Fuck... I can't relax...

Spades had expected Lathe to tense up around her finger, not trying to move it anymore than he would allow. “It’s okay honey, just breathe...” I got you, don’t worry. Her lips found their way around his length, gentle as she sucked, trying to get him to calm down and relax. Come on, Tiger, you can do it... I know you can, I’m going slow for you.

Lathe gasped as she took his length into her mouth, letting out a deep moan and forcing himself to breathe as her finger slowly felt up his walls. It's okay. Breathe. Lathe quietly panted as she sucked on his head, his fingers gripping the sheets, slowly relaxing around her finger.

Spades made sure that Lathe was adequately relaxed before she gently and slowly added a second finger. She hollowed her cheeks out, sucking on his length with vigor. You’re doing well so far…

Lathe whimpered quietly as she bobbed further down his length, feeling a slight burn as she stretched him out, breathing and trying to stay calm. He moaned quietly as she slid up and down his length, her fingers pushing deeper into him. “I-It feels really weird…” Lathe made a quiet sound as she scissored him, suddenly yelping as she brushed over a certain spot inside of him, the sudden feeling odd. “W-what…” He suddenly felt himself immediately relax as she brushed over that spot again, his head falling back as he let out a deep moan, his hips subconsciously thrusting back onto her hand. ...that feels really good….

Spades’ eyes widened with mischief as she came off of his length with a loud pop. “Hm, you enjoying yourself up there?” She watched him as her fingers graced that bundle of nerves over and over again. Good, you’re finally feeling it.

Lathe nodded enthusiastically, his moans getting louder as she ran her fingers over his prostate, his hips moving in time with her strokes, wanting more. “Y-yeah… f-feels really good… haaa…. p-please…” I want more. He barely registered the burning of the stretch as she added a third finger, moaning and speaking without shame. “P- please , Spades… I want it… I really want it…” It feels too good…

Spades smirked, adding a third finger into his warm heat, curling her fingers and gently stretching him. She let him move his hips back on her fingers, loving every sound he made. “God, Lathe… You are just begging for it…” I wanna put it on.

Lathe was panting hard, his length dripping precum in heavy streams, stuttering. “W-would me actually begging… haaa… make y-you stop teasing?” I want it. I really want it.

Spades smirked, slowly pulling her fingers out of him and crawling over him to kiss him roughly. “Oh you know it would.” Her voice a bit husky as she reached over for the strap on, starting to slip into the halter around her thighs and adjust to her stature. I really wanna do this.

Lathe’s hands immediately went from the sheets to around her back, trailing over her skin, mapping every curve as they kissed heatedly, speaking in between rough kisses. “My God, Spades… it feels so amazing… fuck, do you turn me on… please, f-fuck me… I want to feel everything … d-don’t hold back with it… please, just don’t tease me…” He spread his legs wide for Spades so she could easily access his entrance, looking up to her with love and lust mixed in his eyes.

...how the hell Eren was tucker ed out from doing absolutely nothing all day I’ll never know. Levi padded down the hall, rubbing at his eyes as he traipsed to the attic. He's asleep already- I don't really remember seeing any of his art that he made of the horses, so I'll actually look at those... He meandered past Lathe and Spades’ bedroom, stopping dead in his tracks as he heard Lathe’s heady voice, blushing crimson as he heard what he said. ...wait what. He just shook his head after a moment and picked up the pace, walking to the attic with his red face hidden in his hands. I don't wanna know, I'm not gonna ask, I never even heard it...

Spades blushed more, lubing up the toy before getting between Lathe’s legs. She let the tip of the dildo nudge Lathe’s quivering hole, slowly pushing into him. Her eyes were locked on Lathe’s as she pushed fully into him. “Tell me when I can move... Okay?” Her voice was soft as she laid above him, holding still as she waited patiently, watching his features and the sounds that escaped from his throat. I want you to feel everything... You deserve as much.

Lathe panted hard, tears pricking at his eyes as he was stretched, feeling the burn as he was filled, the sensation strange. He gripped Spades’ back tightly, his legs coming up on instinct to wrap around her waist. He was still for a long moment before he shifted, whimpering at the pleasure that began to pulse in him. “Y-you can move...” His hold on her tightened a bit as she drew out of him, his hands tangling in her hair as she thrusted back into him, moaning as she started to build a steady pace. ...fuck ... it feels good...

Spades grinned softly, her head dipping down to Lathe’s chest, starting to leave bites and hickeys in her wake. She picked up a slow rhythm, waiting for Lathe to get used to the feeling of being filled. I wanna make sure your feel okay before I do anything else. She made sure that she was listening for every noise that Lathe made, making sure he was moaning and not in pain.

Lathe sighed deeply as Spades began to mark his chest, slowly growing used to the feeling of being filled as the burning sensation faded. His moans became more and louder, trying to move his hips back against Spades’. “M-More... nnngh... please....” You can go faster....

“Of course...” Spades started to improve her pace, getting a bit quicker, as she pulled out about halfway before snapping her hips back and sinking into Lathe’s heat again. She tried to aim where the dildo would hit Lathe. I hope I can find that spot again. Mmm, you sounded so wonderful.

Lathe moaned loudly, his hands roaming Spades’ back as she quickened her pace, trying to speak coherently. “H-Haaaa... S-Spades... feels... r- really good... f- HA!” Lathe gasped loudly as Spades suddenly hit his prostate, clinging to her tightly as she began hitting it dead on over and over. “R-Right there, please right there, my God Spades don't stop...” Lathe’s back arched, trying to move his hips to meet Spades’ thrusts more fully, gasping for air. “E-everything... please ...”

Spades smiled more as Lathe melted under her. She shifted a bit to give her better access to his hole, and giving her a better angle to hit his prostate dead on. Holy fuck... You look so hot Lathe...
Spades grabbed at his hips, using them as leverage to really go to town on him, ramming into his prostate. “Fuck… Lathe… Does it feel good? You look so sexy.” She purred close to his ear, nipping at the joint of his neck and shoulder and waited for his response as she went all out on him.

Lathe whimpered as she purred in his ear, tilting his head back and baring his skin to her in invitation. Mark me. Please. “F-feels really good… too good…” Lathe let out a breathless gasp, feeling his own release creeping up on him as she pounded into him. He moaned wantonly, without any shame. “I-I’m not…. haaaa… gonna l-last for much l-longer… nnngh… so good….” I love this.

Spades kept up the solid pace, his hands gripping his hips with brutal strength as she latched onto his neck and his collarbone, marking all around him. “Then cum for me Lathe… Don’t hold back.” I want you to feel like you're on cloud nine... You certainly sound like you are.

Lathe cried out loudly as Spades purred seductively in his ear, his grip on her tightening and his legs hooked around her hips as he came hard, gasping and panting heavily as Spades still pounded into him, his entire chest decorated with pearly white drops. His head dropped back against the bed as he came down from his high, Spades slowing her ministrations before pulling out of him. He tugged her head up to meet his in a fiery kiss, immediately tangling their tongues, his hands roaming her body. “That…. my God.... That felt wonderful…” Thank you.

Spades smiled as she was pulled in close to him, liking the sensation of his strong arms on her body. “I'm glad you enjoyed it, you looked like you were having fun...” She trailed off as she took the strapon off, getting off the bed as her hips swayed side to side as she walked towards the bathroom. I need to wash this off... You probably wanna sleep.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow as she left his hold, stepping from the bed and following her, catching her around the waist. “Whoa whoa whoa…” Lathe smirked, purring into her ear, one hand dipping down to slowly and teasingly run over her clit. “Where do you think you're going?” He nibbled at her neck, walking her back to the bed. “I need to take care of you still…” You deserve to feel really good too.

Spades let out a soft whimper as she felt his hand reach around to her clit. “L-Lathe… Aren’t you tired Hun?” She moaned out loudly as his finger finally found her clit, rubbing it in gentle circles. Fuck… She could already feel herself getting wetter than she already was. If he keeps this up I won’t be able to say no... “You’re tired, Hun, you should really get some rest.” Spades moved to get out of his grasp, her eyes full of worry. “Really, that was for you, because I know you’ve had it rough lately with everything that’s happened, I’ll be okay, just lay down and rest okay?” She asked quietly, stepping up on her tiptoes to kiss his cheek.
Lathe wrapped his arms right back around her as she went to kiss his cheek, looking her dead in the eyes, his own shaded. “Maybe I'm not as tired as you think…” His hands moved to cup her ass, pulling her flush with his front, not caring that they were sticky. He leaned his head down, his lips grazing her earlobe as he spoke smoothly. “...and maybe I think you deserve to feel as good as I did.” He pecked at her ear, walking backwards with her to the bed, his strong arms unyielding as she weakly struggled. “...things have been hell… but you've been right there with me this whole time. I never got to properly thank you… consider this part of that. Because I could never, even with all the time in the world…” He picked her up and laid her on the bed, clambering up on top of her, his gaze predatory. “...even begin to give you what you deserve.” He leaned down to kiss her heatedly, soon pecking down her jaw and neck, his tongue trailing south between her mounds, his hands massaging her globes as he kissed below her navel. He smirked as he glanced up to see her completely flushed, returning his attention to her nether, dipping down to drag his tongue up her rosy folds, parting them and beginning to tease her clit with the tip of his tongue. I wanna taste you... and you make the most beautiful sounds when I do this...

“Haaa… Lathe… Oh god… Lathe …” Her words came out as moans, her body arching off of the soft mattress under her. “Fuck… Lathe … oh my god… There … Haa… Right there…” Spades moaned out with no intentions of holding back her voice as his tongue played with her clit and along her folds. Her hands moved down her body, grabbing his wrists, following Lathe’s arms down to his shoulders. Her hands ran across the strong shoulders, moving in to reach his head, her fingers tangling in his hair, tugging as he found all her sensitive areas. Oh my god… It feels so good...

Lathe smirked faintly as she started to writhe in pleasure under him, his lips latching over her clit and sucking gently on it, his tongue nudging it quickly as Spades’ hold on his noir locks tightened, moaning quietly. He lifted his head from her folds for a moment as her legs slung over his shoulders, grinning a bit. “...is there something you want me to do?” Any requests? His tongue dragged back up over her clit, broadly licking it firmly over and over, still looking up to her for an answer. Anything?

... I want you to fuck me... But you're too tired for me to ask that... She whined a bit when he kept his gaze locked on hers. “Ahh… N-no…” Her voice was shaky, giving off the uncertainty she held in her thoughts. I want you ... But...

“...are you sure? You wouldn't want…” Late dipped his head a bit further down, his tongue dipping into her entrance, as far as it could reach before retreating, staring up at her. “...something more?” I'm most certainly up for it if you are.

A loud moan ripped from her throat. Spades flushed instantly, pulling her hands away from his hair, moving them to cover her face. I really... Really want something more... “I... I... I um...” Spades opened and closed her mouth, trying to find the right words but unable to do so. She started to closer her legs up a bit, embarrassment flooding through her body.
Lathe smirked as she moaned as loudly as she did, his hands moving to her thighs, coaxing them to stay open as he shifted to face her properly, his eyes shaded. “May I take that as a yes?” He shifted his hips, his own hard length teasingly brushing over her slick folds, wanting nothing more than for her to accept. Please? I want to... repay you...

Spades moaned out when she felt the hot heat nudge at her entrance. “L-Lathe… Please…” Her cheeks were completely flushed, her entrance completely wet. I really want you... I want it bad. She moved her head back into the pillow under her, his hair splayed out as she felt his large hands on her hips. “Fuck, Lathe … I need you…. Please …”

Lathe’s hold on her hips tightened, leaning down to begin to suck dark marks on her neck as he lined up with her entrance. He slowly pushed forward, sheathing himself into her tight heat, stilling inside of her for a long moment as she adjusted. He pulled out until only the tip remained inside of her, thrusting forward and beginning a decent pace. I want you to feel amazing.

Spades let out a strangled cry as Lathe sheathed himself in her. She felt his warmth filling her, electrifying her body as he started his pace. “Lathe… Oh baby… Fuck… Fuck me… Please …” Her legs wrapped around his waist, pulling him in deeper. I want your everything... Give me everything you can...

Lathe grinned against her caramel skin, picking up the pace until he was soon pounding deeply into her, leaving hickey's all over her collarbones, kissing up her neck and roughly nipping at the sensitive skin he knew he couldn't mark. “Mmmmm… Spades… you’re so tight… and you can take everything… you're perfect for me…. I love it.

Spades was a moaning mess under him as he pounded into her, feeling her insides churn with every thrust of need. It feels so warm... I want it... She shifted her hips, crying out loudly when Lathe finally hit directly on her wonderful bundle of nerves. “Holy shit… Lathe … Right there baby, please…” Spades started to beg, keeping her back arched off the bed to hold her hips in that position. It feels so fucking good… She tilted her head to the side, offering her neck for him to nibble and lick. I need you Lathe...

Lathe lapped at her skin, kissing up and down its sides and completely ravishing her, aiming for that bundle of nerves inside of her and hitting it directly. His hands left bruises on her hips as he pulled her into him with each thrust, feeling himself inching closer and closer to the edge. He nestled next to her ear, his voice smooth. “Feeling good up here, Honey?” He suckled at the spot under her ear, chuckling quietly. “You sure sound like it.”
Spades nodded, her moans still loud as she started to bounce on his length in time with his thrusts. Her arms came up behind his back and gripped at his shoulder blade and behind his neck, pulling his head closer to him as she wrapped her body flush to his.

Lathe lifted her hips a bit, getting a better angle and pounding even deeper into her, moaning lowly into her ear. I'm not gonna last. “Spades…” Lathe lightly nibbled at her earlobe as he spoke, his eyes dark as she gasped faintly just at the sound of his voice. “I want to hear you scream.” I want to watch you come undone.

Spades whimpered a bit in bliss, her whole body shaking as the heat overtook her. “Lathe!” She held onto his body like her life depended on it, pulling him close to her chest as she closed around him. She felt the surge of pleasure wash over her, screaming out in bliss as she came around him. “Lathe…. ” Her voice was breathless as she clung to him, not wanting him to move from buried deep within her.

Lathe let out a muffled cry into her shoulder, cumming hard inside of her, pinned to her, their hips flush, completely buried in her heat as he rode out his orgasm, pleasure washing over him in waves. “S- Spades… my God, Spades…” Lathe moved his head to kiss her passionately, his hands tracing over her curves, worshipping every inch of skin they could reach. How the hell did I get so lucky? To have someone like you? Lathe held her close, eventually shifting to draw out of her, his brow furrowed a bit as she clung to him even tighter. Huh? “Spades… I don't think I can manage a round three…” I'm really sticky… and so are you… “Let’s shower, and then get dressed in something warm, okay?” When we’re clean and warm, we can come back and lazily make out until we fall asleep. It sounds great to me, at least.

Spades shook her head, holding onto him even tighter. “N-No… Not yet… Please…” Her voice was hoarse, and barely more than a whisper in his ear. I don't want you to leave me… I don't want you to pull out… No… It won’t happen… I can’t… I can’t get pregnant… Her body was shaking a bit as she held onto him, trying not to let the burning tears fall. I don’t want you to be disappointed in me…

Lathe could instantly tell she was on the verge of tears, a look of worry crossing his face as he looked to her, cupping her cheeks and pressing butterfly kisses to her cheeks, his voice a quiet murmur. “Spades, talk to me. What’s wrong? ...is it about getting pregnant?” He pressed chaste kisses to her lips when he saw her cheeks burn in embarrassment and from wanting to cry, his voice a reassuring murmur. “Spades, Honey, I know it’s going to be hard for you to get pregnant, and I know it’s going to take time. But please, don’t worry yourself too much. Talk to me, please. It'll make you feel better.” Come on, talk. You look like you really need to.

Spades nodded, moving a bit to nestle her head in his shoulder. “What happens.. I-if I can’t get pregnant… W-what happens then? You want kids…. I-I ….I can’t deny you that.” I don’t want us to fall apart because I can’t give you what you’ve wanted since you became a teacher.
Lathe gently ran his hands through her hair, trying to comfort her. “Spades, listen. I've known I wanted kids since I was in high school. I've put plenty of thought into it- and I'd long decided that if I couldn't have my own children, I'd be more than willing to adopt, from anywhere in the world. But Spades, there's still time left. We can try, and maybe we'll get lucky. If not, I'm still going to love you just as much. Nothing could make me stop loving you. It's not as if you're denying me children- we're really trying, and you're taking the pills to help conceive. You're trying so hard to give me what I want- and what I hope you really want too- but it's okay if we run out of time before conceiving. If we end up adopting, we raise them as our own. No question about it. I'll call you Mom, and I'll love you as much as I always have. I'll kiss you on the cheek every chance I get, hug you from behind and steal little pecks because I can and not care that any little kid we have running around will blanch at us because they'll know their Daddy loves their Mommy and I'm never going to be ashamed of that.” You mean too much to me.

Spades had started to cry around halfway into his talk. “I-I… I’m s-sorry..” She sniffled as she slowly unraveled from him, holding him weakly as she lay under him. “I… I’m just so paranoid… That I’ve done something horrible to you…” I’ve not given you the proper chance at a family. And I never told you… Even after you proposed to me… I feel absolutely awful.

Lathe kissed away her tears, quietly reassuring her. “It’s okay Honey, I really do understand.” He kissed her chastely, his hands cradling her jaw as he slowly withdrew from her, laying down next to her and pulling her close. “You're doing what you can to give me what I want- and I love you for that. It's okay.” He held her until she stopped shaking from her quiet sobs, pecking her cheek. “...how about we get cleaned up and get into bed, okay? It's been a long day.” We need to sleep on things.

Spades nodded, not necessarily trusting her voice at the moment, though she finally found the courage to speak again as she shifted to sit up. “C-Can you walk o-okay?” I know having anal for the first time can hurt... She looked down at her hands as she twiddled with her thumbs, trying to force down the blush on her face.

Lathe nodded, shifting from the bed and standing, smiling faintly as he held out his arms for Spades. His hand slid around her waist as she stood shakily, his voice quiet as he blushed bright red. “‘M fine. ...You took good care of me.” Thank you for that. Lathe walked with her to the shower, turning on the hot water and waiting for it to warm up, keeping Spades close as they waited, his hand running lightly over her stomach. ......I know it can take a while. But hopefully it won't be forever. He led her into the water when it started to steam, reaching for a cloth and soap to wash her gently off, his hands tracing over every curve with reverence. You're wonderful. ...and I hope that I get to call you Mommy sometime soon.

Spades smiled softly as she leaned into his touch, letting him wash her all over. She hummed in approval as he held her from behind under the warm water, his hands gently rubbing her abdomen. I really hope that it can happen soon. I really want it to happen...
Chapter 54: Heart Attack

Lathe walked through the living room, picking up shreds of wrapping paper and ribbon, bows scattered around from the present unwrapping that had happened the day before. There hadn't been any time yesterday to pick up... I was... occupied. Lathe picked up a small figurine from where it sat under the tree, turning it over and studying it with a small smile.

“What the fuck is this?”

Lathe felt a cold wind blow through him, his eyes wide as he heard an eerily familiar voice behind him. “W-what...” He slowly turned, meeting the hard moonsong eyes of a teenager, long black hair kept somewhat under control with an old cap, wearing a suit patched over too many times to count. The teen held his gaze, holding out a vase at arm's length, suspending it over the floor by the lip of it.

“I asked you a fucking question.” He shook the vase in his precarious grasp at him, his eyes glinting with anger. “What the fuck is this?! You finally have money and you're spending it on fucking paperweights?!” He threw it onto the floor, shattering it into small pieces. He stepped through the shrapnel, his thin-soled cheap dress shoes crunching over the glass as he took Lathe by the collar and shook him, not caring that tears were streaming down Lathe's face as he barked at him. “For the first time in your fucking life you're living off more than the pennies you find in the street and all the shit you're buying is USELESS!!” He kicked him hard in the shin, looming over him and holding his shirt tightly as Lathe fell to his knees in pain, shouting, a mad and furious look in his eyes. “Did you forget everything you learned?! You're spending like a dipshit on everything and I don't even see the people you're giving your fucking soul to so much as nod in acknowledgement! Does it not bother you that you don't get a fucking 'thank you'!?”

No... ...no........nononononononononononono.............. Lathe sobbed silently, unable to look away, nearly crushing the figure in his grasp. “I-I...” He was cut short as he was backhanded hard across the face, feeling the sharp sting of a rough iron ring cutting his cheek, warm blood dripping from the wound.

“I don't know how the fuck you've done it. But you did. You've gone soft. You've forgotten every last damn thing about how to not end up dead in the gutter. Good fucking job. But unluckily for you...” His face hardened even more, one hand letting go of his shirt. “...I didn't. Rule number One.” He pulled back a fist, his eyes shining with unshed tears. “Only help yourself.”

......I thought you'd be proud of me. I... I thought I'd be proud of me. Lathe screwed his eyes shut as he watched the fist looming above him, feeling it connect with his temple and feeling something crack before he hit the ground, unconscious. The house around him was deathly silent, the vase shattered, but the room around him empty.

“Trust me. You'll thank me for this.”

Eren grumbled a bit as Charlie wouldn’t stay still in the tethers. “I swear to god Charlie! The quicker you let me do this the quicker you get to go back with Luna!” Eren grunted as Charlie finally gave in. He could hear Levi pouring feed into various bowls through the barn. It’s so much easier with two people doing this...

Levi chuckled, looking up from where he was walking around with a large feed bag to seeing Charlie endlessly fidgeting. “He's really protective of her. Of course he's gonna pretty much ignore anything that isn't her when they're close. He doesn't look like he wants to listen.” Nope. He put the feed bag down, going to a different sack with fruits and vegetables in it, giving one or two apiece to the different animals. This is nice- they're actually starting to recognize me. I'm not out here much.

Eren sighed, getting out his crop and tapping at his sides to get him to straighten. “Well he’s gonna learn to pay attention.” He smirked when Charlie finally stood still and allowed him to groom him. I really like having Levi out here… And Luna seems to like him. He winced a bit as Charlie whinnied loudly right into his ear. “I swear he’s trying to make me deaf.”

Levi quirked an eyebrow at Charlie, setting the veggies back in their place as he was done. “You stop making my boyfriend go deaf.” He’s oblivious to shit enough as it is. He meandered closer over, smiling faintly as Luna turned and tried to nudge him with her head, petting her gently. You sure do like me. ...don't tell the others, but I think you're my favourite. He nodded as Eren motioned for him to open the gate, unlatching it and opening the stall door wide for Charlie. He watched as he walked right in without a problem, nuzzling Luna and staying right at her side. ...that’s pretty cute. “Alright, anything else around here need doing?” Levi stepped up to Eren, pecking his cheek. Charlie and Luna are groomed, Gill and Jill are milked, everyone's been fed, we checked the coops for eggs... I think that's it.

Eren shook his head, blushing as Levi pecked his cheek, leaning over to peck Levi’s as well. “Nope… why don’t we go inside? Then I can start making lunch, and Mom should be home soon…” She said she’d be back before lunch was over.

Levi nodded, his hand slipping around Eren’s middle as they went to the barn door, shutting it before making the short walk to the house. Levi kicked off his boots when they came inside, meandering over to the living room.
Eren had already walked further into the house, calling for Lathe. “Dad?” There was a quiet pause before a loud scream and a bang in the family room across the house. “LEVI!” Eren shouted, his voice sounding overly panicked. “Dad! Dad please! Wake up!” Eren looked down on Lathe’s still form on the floor, surrounded by broken glass. Dad wake up! What happened?

Levi put whatever he had in his hand down on the coffee table before making his way across the house in only a few seconds. He stopped for a moment before rushing over, immediately pulling Eren away from him and looking for a pulse. He’s alive, but it’s irregular... heart attack. Levi looked over the large gash on his cheek that was bleeding. Glass maybe? “Lathe? Can you hear me?” His voice was loud, and even as he went over everything to make sure Lathe’s vitals were in order.

Lathe’s eyes cracked open after a long and tense moment, beginning to mumble incoherently, his hands fidgeting in front of him as if turning something over and over in his grasp. He started to curl in on himself, his eyes unfocused and staring ahead at the floor feet away, not responding to anything Levi or Eren said.

Levi sighed quietly. I don’t want to do this but it looks like I have to. He turned to Eren, his voice even as he made sure Lathe still held a pulse and was breathing at least somewhat normally. “Eren, call Casper, I need to know what medication he’s on, and you need to take these…” He took the keys off of Lathe’s belt loop. “Take these, go grab his medical bag in the closet downstairs… He needs aspirin… run.” Levi watched as Eren pulled out his phone with the keys in his hand. Levi turned to Lathe, smacking him hard across the face. “Lathe! Can you hear me?” Come on… I can’t lose you too.

Lathe was immediately struck with clarity, hyperattentive to everything around him. His eyes snapped to Levi, not recognising him. As if on instinct, his features hardened, his left hand hitting the floor and moving upward, his right fist connecting hard with Levi’s nose with a sickening crack. He rolled over with that same momentum, deftly picking up a large shard of the vase without getting cut and moving backward, on his feet and backing away from Levi, on the defensive and ignoring the pain in his chest. What the fuck was that for?

Levi watched as he recognized what was going on. You’ve gotta be shitting me... “Eren! Tell Casper he’s hostile!” I have no idea why, but you need to be resting... Levi took up a position as well, to come after him. “Lathe… My name’s Levi… I wanna help, you just had a heart attack, and it’s weak right now, I need you to put down the glass and stand down. I don’t want to hurt you.” His voice was calm and he showed open hands, almost in surrender. I need to make sure that you’ll be okay. He ignored the burning sensation in his nose, though he felt the warm blood, roll down his face in heavy streams.

Casper. Lathe ignored the majority of what Levi said, locking onto that one thought. “What the fuck did you do to Casper.” His gaze flicked to his open hands, not buying it for a second. “And I'm not standing down. I know how this works.” We fight. You give in. I give in. You take me down. I start over with what little I had taken away. Repeat.

Levi’s eyes were calculating as he watched him, he raised his shirt up to his nose, soaking up some of the blood from his lips. “You got a strong punch… should’ve expected that. And I didn’t do anything to Casper… Eren’s calling him right now, to see if you’re taking any medication that could be messing with your heart. You had a heart attack Lathe, you need to calm down and stand down, I don’t want to use force, I want to take you to the hospital to get you help. You’ll be with Scotty, it’ll be alright, and we’ll make sure Spades comes and meets us there after she gets out of work.” Eren I swear to go if you come in now… and he doesn’t recognize you… we’re gonna have a problem.

Lathe laughed humourlessly, his eyes cold. “As if you'd be able to force me to do jack shit. And I'm not going anywhere.” Do you really think someone like me can afford aspirin, let alone a hospital visit? “Just stay the fuck away from my friends or we’re going to have a major problem. Oh, excuse me- you're gonna have a major problem. One question, though- who the fuck is Eren? Another one of your gang?” He looked over as he heard something clatter to the floor, not recognising the brunette. “You're Eren?” He chuckled grimly, looking back to Levi. “Yeah, I feel soooo threatened. You just stay the fuck away from me before I make you.”

“D-Dad?” Eren’s voice quivered as he stared at Lathe, tears starting to form in his eyes. “Y-You don’t remember me?” He felt like his heart had been ripped in two, his face looking so broken.

“Too many people have tried seriously hurting me and my friends. Faces blur together.” It took a second for the first word to click, his expression becoming one of shock, gears turning. “Wait, what?!” That's not possible! Before he could speak again Levi had lunged for him, Lathe turning his attention back to him and fighting hard. He lost the piece of glass in the scuffle, though he landed kick after merciless punch every chance he could before Levi finally ceased, Lathe breathing hard but much less hurt than Levi, not wiping at the bleeding cut on his cheek. Don't touch it. You'll look weak. He grinned lazily, almost casual as he spoke. “That really all you can-” He suddenly turned to the door as he heard a gasp and a clatter, recognising the woman in the doorway, in uniform with her keys on the floor where she'd dropped them. ... Spades. “Spades, run.” Lathe looked deathly serious, keeping an extra close eye on Levi and Eren’s body language, fixing them with a cold glare. “You two get anywhere near her I swear to god I won't hesitate to kill you.” I won't regret it either.

Eren’s eyes widened as Spades walked through the door, scared of the cold glare that Lathe fixed the two of them with. He had just watched Levi take a beating without trying to hit Lathe back. “M-Mom…” Eren’s tears finally fell as he put his head down, moving towards Spades to go and hide behind her as she came fully into the room. What he wasn’t expecting was to be pulled back with an arm around his neck, instant panic beginning to set in and the furious clicks of Blake’s nails against wood coming from the other room. Mom... Mom what's happening!?
Lathe looked quickly between Spades, Levi and the dog, his voice a bit frantic. “Spades, what the hell are you doing?! Run!” My God, I know you can be stubborn but get the hell out of here!! He looked to her again as she didn't move, registering the expression on her face as one of horror. “…what?! What’s wrong? Why aren’t you moving?” Don’t just stand there- do something!

Spades eyes darked in horror as she saw Eren’s panicked eyes and Lathe’s hand around his neck. “LATHE ! Let go of your son!” Spades shouted at him as she came up to him and pulled Lathe’s hands off of Eren and watched him run away in complete fear to the far corner, Blake whining frantically. “What the fuck were you thinking? Grabbing your own son by the neck? You could’ve choked him!” She watched Levi stand from his spot of the floor, seeing his bloodied face and battered body. “What the hell happened to Levi!!?”

Lathe looked scared as Spades shouted at him, backing away from her, his hands raised in defence. “I-I… W-what? I don't get it, Spades, since when do I have a son?!” He felt his back hit a wall, shrinking against it, his hands coming up to cover his head, recognising her uniform vaguely, terrified. “N-not you too… d-don't hurt me, please…” I know I couldn't bring myself to fight back...

Spades watched as Lathe cower against the wall, things clicking as she looked down at her uniform. “Levi… get him the aspirin, make sure he’s stable enough to move to the hospital… I’m going to get changed…” I need to get out of this… you’ve forgotten so much... You probably forgot about me too…” She walked upstairs, watching Eren cower in the far corner hugging Blake to his chest. Shaking her head, she changed quickly before coming back downstairs.

Levi sighed quietly, getting up and getting the medical bag and quickly locating the aspirin. “Lathe, I need you to cooperate with me… and your chest won’t hurt anymore, alright?” His nose was still bleeding, but he chose to ignore it as he slowly got closer to Lathe, so tempted to throw him the pills and go comfort Eren’s sobbing form. I let you beat me without throwing a single punch at you… I hope you can at least let me help you get better.

...I can't get in trouble... Mom will literally kill me if she has to get me from the station again... she's been itchin’ for a reason to get rid of me... Lathe silently and reluctantly nodded, holding out a shaky hand as Levi handed him two pills, inspecting them before swallowing them dry. “U-Uhm… I’m sorry… m-maybe I got carried away…”

Please don’t press charges I'll be doomed if you do… He relaxed a bit as Levi tensely nodded before immediately moving to Eren’s side in the far corner. He however began to panic a bit as Spades came back downstairs, looking up to her, his wide eyes full of fear. “D-don't take me to the station, please… Mom will kill me…” He shied away from her, his hands drawn close to his chest. ...I wanna still be able to go home when there are blizzards....
Spades moved down to her knees, opening her arms out to him and pulling him close. “No Lathe… you’re fine, you live here now… with Eren and Levi… You just had a heart attack, we’re going to take you to the hospital, okay? I called Casper to make sure he’ll be waiting at the hospital with us, how are you feeling?” She was so worried about him, completely forgetting that she still had her ring on her hand as she held him close to her. You forgot about me… You forgot about us…

Lathe weakly clung to her, trying hard not to cry. “C-confused as hell… I have a s-son now, apparently… w-wait.” He looked to Spades, panicking. “I can't go to the hospital; I don't even have fifty cents on me… I can't go…” He shook his head, suddenly realising she was wearing a ring. “I-I have a son, I live with him and this guy named Levi, and…y-you're married? To who?” Help me understand what the fuck is going on!!

Spades looked ready to cry. “I’m married to you… Or at least we’re engaged… We’re getting married in June of next year… and Lathe, you have more than that in your pocket… You even have an insurance card.” She was struggling not to cry as she pulled him close and ran a hand through his black hair. You… You don’t remember…. Oh my god, this is my fault… I pushed you too hard last night.

Lathe’s eyes widened, looking down to his own hand, slipping the gold band off of his finger. “W-We’re…” He read the inside inscription, looking to the floor, the gears slowly turning. “…I'm the King of Hearts… and yours is the Queen of Spades… and we had to cancel the wedding w-when… Eren was…” He buried his face in his hands, sobbing. “H-How come there are s-so m-many blanks? I-I'm so sorry, Spades… I-I-love you…” His voice was hoarse, letting out ragged sobs into his hands. I want to understand... help me understand...

Spades nodded and kissed his forehead. “Okay, we’re gonna go to the hospital… okay?” She asked quietly as she got up to see that Levi had moved Eren to the floor, and Blake was grounding him. “How is he?” It doesn’t look good.

Levi shook his head. “He should go too… I… I hope it didn’t trigger anything too serious, but…” He trailed off as he picked Eren up, moving him to the couch to wrap him in blankets. “Let’s get going, the quicker we get there the faster he can get help… Can you grab his medication?” He’ll need the PTSD Meds…

Spades nodded, gathering what they needed, and herding Lathe into the front seat of her large truck as Levi was holding Eren carefully. He’s normally so tan… and he looks like a sheet of paper… He’s not… He’s not coming out of that anytime soon.

Lathe kept his head down as they went to the car, staring at the floor of the truck as he was shepherded inside the cabin, drawn in close to himself. He looked up when Levi carried Eren into the backseat with him, his eyes immediately falling to the floor again, guilt beginning to weigh him down. He cast a look up to the house, finally taking it in. ...that house is huge... I... I live there? He looked out the window silently as they drove, walking into the hospital with Spades’ hand on the small of his back, seeing Casper… talking to Scotty in his stark white uniform. ...what… Lathe’s hands shook, turning his gold ring over and over as they approached them, on the verge of tears. He shied away from Scotty, trying to choke out words. “...w-what’s happening to me?” I want to understand….

Spades kept her hand on the small of his back, turning to him as he almost started to cry. “Lathe, you had a heart attack, you’re 39 years old, and you live with me, your son, Eren, and his boyfriend, Levi. We’re engaged, and Casper is in charge of Eren’s medications, and Scotty is in charge of everything that happens when he comes to the hospital.” Spades started to explain as she saw Levi come in holding Eren in his cocoon of blankets, Casper going right to them and taking Eren’s pill bottle and shuffling them down the hallway towards a room. “Come on Lathe, we need to get you checked out… Okay?” Spades was trying to be strong as she spoke to him, struggling not to cry, but unable to keep the tears back. Her cheeks were glistening with the tears she shed. I did this… This is all my fault… You had a heart attack because of me…

Scotty slowly approached the two of them as he saw Spades turn to explain. “Lathe? It’s me, Scotty, I want you to come with me so we can take a look at your heart, okay?” He asked, trying to look as nonthreatening as possible and pulling it off. We can’t have you panicking if you don’t know anything...

Lathe looking scared as Scotty took a few steps forward, nodding slightly as he spoke. Scotty... you’re a doctor now? Lathe took a shaky breath, trying to calm down a bit. “O-okay… just don’t h-hurt me…” I don’t know if we can afford any of this… Lathe took a tentative step towards Scotty as Spades gently nudged him forward, his head ducked down, latching onto Scotty’s arm. “I want to understand what’s happening to me…” I don’t get it… why is everything so weird? Everything changed… Lathe let Scotty lead him along, looking like a lost puppy as they meandered down the hall to a room with two beds in it. Lathe’s eyes widened as he heard a bed shaking, looking up and seeing Eren seizing on the other hospital bed. Lathe’s eyes widened as he heard a bed shaking, looking up and seeing Eren seizing, beginning to panic, his hold on Scotty tightening. “W-what’s happening to him? What’s wrong?” ...did I make him like that?

Spades watched as Eren seized on the other hospital bed. “Lathe, honey… Sit on the hospital bed, let’s let Scotty do his work…. And remember how you grabbed him by the neck before? Well, Eren’s got PTSD and it’ll give him episodes like that if he’s handled roughly.” She led Lathe to the hospital bed, getting him situated and keeping him calm as Scotty got him on a few monitors, mostly heart monitors that were gauging his heartbeat. Come on Lathe, you can do it… She watched, tuning out everything as Lathe was given an IV. How far back is he? He’s acting like we were back in high school...

Casper had kept an eyes on the clock as him and Levi held Eren down as his body shook violently. 30.... A minute.... A minute 30.... Two... Two 30... Three... He’s not stopping. Casper looked down at Eren with worry, looking over his shaking features. “Levi, hold him, I’m getting Scotty.” He turned around when Levi nodded, getting Scotty’s attention in less than a second after he put the IV in. “He’s still convulsing…” He felt the tears already starting to form in his eyes. He’s never gone past 3 minutes before...

Scotty’s eyes widened and he moved around Casper to get to Eren’s side and take the seizing boy’s vitals. “Casper, watch Lathe… I’ll take care of Eren…” It’s been at least 2 minutes, Levi’s watching the clock, but I can’t do much until he stops.

Lathe held his head in his hands, looking distraught as he watched Eren convulsing, Casper and Levi hovering over him in worry. I did that. ...I did that. Lathe curled into himself on the bed, his legs tucked close to him. He looked up in terror as Scotty held a needle in one hand, reaching for his arm, unable to fight back as Spades tightened her hold on his other arm, letting Scotty roll up his sleeve and put in the IV, taping it in place. He looked to the clear bag with worry, his other arm hugging his legs close to himself. What’d you give me? ...I don't wanna die… He was stuck in his own mind as Casper sat next to him on the bed, letting him wrap his arms around him, letting out a choked sob when he tried to speak. “W-What’s happening?” I don’t get any of it and I hurt that man and I shouldn’t’ve and I’m sorry and what’s happening to Eren… I did that… they’re giving me drugs… but I don’t wanna die yet....

Casper held him gently, knowing to be careful of all the machine wires Lathe had attached to him. “Lathe, you had a heart attack, and sometimes if you have a really bad one, you can forget a lot of things… How old do you think you are right now? What year is it?” I need to know so that I can help you, and try and get you to talk a bit.

“...I turned seventeen in the spring… h-how old am I actually?” Lathe braced for his answer, his mind in overdrive. “It’s winterey out, and that seems about right… isn't it, like… December something? Christmas was supposed to be in a week or two...”

Casper nodded thinking about a few things. “Senior year… Well, Lathe, I hate to break it to you, but we got a lot to catch you up on, your 39 years old…” You don’t remember much… If you don’t know Eren or Levi… Or that Scotty’s a doctor...

...I'm 39 years old. “...bullshit.” Lathe didn't know how to respond, shaking his head. “There’s no way… I can’t be…” Lathe watched in confusion as Casper dug into his pocket, pulling out something made of metal that lit up. “...the hell is that?” It looks weird. His eyes widened as Casper somehow tapped it, making it into a mirror and thrusting it into his hands. He stared back at himself, much older than seventeen, his hand brushing at his long hair. ...I look so much older. There’s not dirt on my face… I’m wearing clothes that don’t have holes.... “...I’m 39. I’m 39, I... had a heart attack… and I don’t remember stuff past senior year of high school…” He looked over as Spdes suddenly stood and moved to the hall, her hands covering her red face, wanting so much to follow, though the IV and Casper tethered him in place. “...Spades and I are engaged... I have a son... and I live in a big house.” ...what the fuck drugs am I on... “Casper, if this is seriously a thing... if I really am 39, and I've been doing stuff that long that I don't remember... help me remember.” Spades looked destroyed...

Casper nodded, looking at his phone in Lathe’s hands. “Well, first off, you graduated high school!
Congrats! You got into that college you wanted to go into! Congrats! And you got your bachelors in Pre-Med, applied for Med school and got in! Congrats!” Casper waved his hands in a jazz hands type fashion, wondering if small tidbits of information would be better than just laying it on Lathe.
Better let him adjust slowly.

Lathe’s eyes widened, gaping like a fish. Hold on, what. “I-I got into Med School?! Does Mom know?! Oh my God, she’d have my hide... ugh, it's like I can hear an echo of some rant on how expensive college is... did I graduate and stuff? ...am I supposed to be taking classes now or something?”

“You graduated... but... your Mom... She’s been-” Casper paused for a moment trying to think of how to break it to him. “Your mother’s been dead for as many years as Eren’s been alive... You were a General Surgeon for a few years before you decided you didn’t like it... and you went back to college...” Let’s let that sink in for right now...

Lathe stared at the floor, thinking. “...Mom’s gone... I... I know I should feel bad... but I feel more relieved than... than anything...” He looked back up to Casper. “Why didn't I like it? And did I really choose surgery?” ...huh.

“It’s okay Lathe we get it... And you really chose Surgery... you were working in a children’s hospital... but you told us you never felt like you were doing enough for kids that were really hurting... so you went back to get a masters in teaching and adolescent counseling.” You went to a lot of colleges... but you found your happy place I guess, and moved back after to continue teaching.

“...I'm a teacher?” Lathe just looked over to where Scotty pulled a dividing curtain across the room, glimpsing a limp Eren before he was hidden from view. “...Eren’s my son? So, like... my and Spades’ kid? But what happened to... what about Viola?” What happened with her? We broke up?

Casper looked down, noticing the feet at the doorway before they shuffled away. Of course he asked about her.... And right when Spades was gonna come back in too... Fuck... Casper finally raised his head, a clouded look in his eyes. “Car accident... She died instantly... Right after you got out of med school... You were going to propose... But... she died before she got to the restaurant...” I know this is a lot to take in, and this is a lot to tell you.
Spades had finally made it to the door after composing herself, though as soon as she heard Lathe ask about Viola, her heart sank deeper than it’d ever sunk before. She sniffled, looking down at her hand and taking the ring off of her left finger, a obvious tan line from where the ring had stayed on her left ring finger. I’m sorry… I can’t do this. She turned away and walked off towards the waiting room, wanting to be left alone at the moment.

Lathe looked at his hands, still turning over the gold band in his fingers. “......I think I vaguely remember hearing someone tell me... because I feel like I've already mourned... I just kinda know now... it sounds kinda terrible to say I'm not broken up, I mean, it's sad... but...” ...I feel like I've long since moved on. He turned his head as he heard footsteps, not knowing how he recognised Spades’ footfalls. “I wanna talk to Spades, but... she probably wants to be alone... is Eren our kid?” We have a family? ...we’d’ve had to have sex for that to be a thing... the kid’s, like, twenty. ...well then. “Have we really been together for that long? But... that doesn't make sense when it comes to time... she’d’ve had him at, like, twenty... I would've had to cheat...” I wouldn't do that.

Casper chuckled a bit, shaking his head. “He’s yours... legally speaking... not biologically... He was born the day your mother died.” I remember her funeral... we all went, even though you looked so relieved... you looked lost. “You adopted him when he was sixteen... five years ago now... He was a freshman in high school.”

...that sounds like something I would do... “...freshmen are sixteen now? Since when?” That's not a thing... at least, not in America...

“They're not... Eren was 8 when he was introduced to the American schooling system, and he was held back to kindergarten...” Casper explained, trying not to think about what Grisha had done to the boy to get him to move to America. I can only imagine the sick things in his mind....

Lathe couldn't make out the hushed voices behind the curtain, leaning into Casper’s reassuring hug. “...this isn't the first time something like this has happened... is it?”

Casper shook his head. “He’s got PTSD... It’s bound to happen more than a few times...” Casper’s tone was hushed, quiet, as it pleading for him to understand so he didn’t need to elaborate. I can’t tell you with him there... I don’t know if he’s awake... Casper was running a hand through his hair when Scotty pulled the curtain back and looked worriedly at the two of them.

“Do you have the WOF104?” He needs a lot of it... It was bad... really bad...
Casper nodded, letting go of Lathe for a moment before digging out the strange pill bottle with Lathe’s symbol clearly on the side of it. “Here… Is he alright?” His hopeful face fell when he saw Scotty shook his head.

“No… His seizure was well over 5 minutes… I’ll need to admit him… He needs a lot of tests done to look for damage…” This is alarming… Scotty turned back and entered the curtained area to give Eren his pills.

“That-” Lathe’s eyes were fixed on the sharp insignia on the bottle, a blue and gold spark. “…Casper, why is the club’s insignia on the bottle?” The second bit of what Scotty said suddenly clicked, shrinking a bit. “...I can’t believe I put him in a choke hold… I made him freak out that badly… I-I’m sorry… I’ve caused so much trouble and pain…”

Casper looked down a bit, going over to hug Lathe again. “I’m going to warn you, that Eren’s going to most likely be very fearful of you for the next few days… and probably not talk a lot… but you didn’t know… you couldn’t remember.” I just hope he won’t have to stay here long… Levi’s leaving soon.

Lathe hung onto him, sighing quietly. “...I'll try to be careful around him… I really wanna remember everything… I don't know if I'd understand the first thing about functioning in a house. As a sorta husband. ...I hope I'm not the one in charge of cooking…” I can make ramen. ...that's kinda it.

Casper sighed quietly, holding onto Lathe a bit tighter. “You…” Casper tried not to cry himself. You’ve forgotten so much... and you... You want to remember... but everything is so painful... maybe it’s best if you forget? “You’re generally the one in charge of cooking… unless it’s Thanksgiving… then Erwin and Levi are in charge of the big birds…” Casper felt the warm rush of tears stream down his cheeks. You don’t remember all those family dinners... You don’t know Scotty and I are a thing... You don’t remember Hannah and Sharon... You probably don’t even know that Levi’s a marine...

Lathe looked over to him with worry, suddenly finding himself with a kerchief in his hand. ...where did I get this from? ...probably a reflex... Lathe pressed it into Casper’s hand, his hand running soothingly over his back as he began to sob. “Casper, please don't cry… I'm really sorry I don't remember everything right now… I'll get better, though! I'll remember everything soon enough! I-I know it hurts that there's probably a shit ton of really important stuff I don't know that I should… but I get the idea I'll wake up sometime real soon and it'll all just hit me right in the face and I'll know what the hell I've done with my life. This can't be permanent.” ...I've lived a longer life than I think. I just know that. I'll snap out of it.
Casper took the handkerchief and nodded, wiping away at his tears. “Okay… You’re rich by the way… and so is Eren…” You both have acquired a small fortune.

“…huh?” there's no fucking way. “Casper, the last thing I remember I had fifty cents in my pocket. Money and I are… were… never mentioned in the same sentence except to say I don't have any. What could I possibly have done to get rich?” Okay, now you're talkin’ crazy.

Casper nodded and picked up his phone again, getting out earbuds and giving them to Lathe. “Don’t worry I won’t put it on too loud, it’s music…” I bought the album… and you sang a song with Eren… and it’s really nice… I like it… and maybe you’ll remember it.

Lathe looked at the things Casper handed him with confusion, letting Casper help him put them in his ears, watching as he pressed a button under a picture. ...is that me? His eyes widened as the first notes across the keyboard played, seeming to immediately recognize them. “...why do I remember this song…” He listened, his jaw dropping as he recognised his own tenor. “…that's me… and… is that Eren…?” It sounds really good… He started humming to the song, silently mouthing the words to the song. ...I know this one… “...Echo of the Rocks… right?” ...something about a myth or whatever…

Casper nodded. “Yeah, you write almost all of Eren’s music… but he hasn’t sung recently…” His expression fell a bit as he spoke. He’s got it bad… I wanna tell you, Lathe… but he’s probably awake.

Lathe didn’t miss his look, his voice even and hushed. “Casper, tell me. What all has happened to Eren? There’s got to be more that's happened to him than this… than what you've told me.” There's no way there isn't.

Levi came out from behind the curtain, a weary look in his double black eyes, his nose bandaged as he looked at the two of them. “He’s asleep… you can tell him about Grisha…” Levi kept the curtain drawn, watching as Scotty was paged to the ER. “You can tell him about that monster…” We had to knock him out…

“I-I'm sorry about your nose… Mr. Thug Life.” Lathe’s eyes immediately widened, covering his mouth in embarrassment. “I-I'm sorry, I don't know where the hell that came from… I really am sorry…” ...fuck, can't you do anything right?!

Levi’s eyes widened. “Mr. Quo… 1st period… You were substituting for Hanji’s Chemistry class. Do you remember that?” His voice a bit hard, but not as hard as one would think it would be after that comment. “And I told you I didn’t want to use force, count yourself lucky you don’t look worse than me… Your fighting style was sloppy.” It wasn’t graceful at all.

“Well, I'm sorry I didn't take lessons. Forgive me.” He spoke a bit sarcastically, thinking. “…..I think I do… chemical equations… fire… something about anarchy… …I…” Lathe's eyes suddenly hardened, looking Levi dead in the eye. I bandaged Eren up. “Please. Tell me someone got Grisha’s ass thrown in jail.” He was emaciated… torn up, his back in shreds… …I was the one who determined he had PTSD.

Levi shook his head. “Grisha came back 7 months ago… I killed him when I came back from school… I loaded him with 11 bullets… He was dead before he hit the floor.” Levi was quiet after that, looking to Casper as he watched them. What else does he know?... And you've been crying, so I take it not much.

...what. “Uhm, I'm glad he's not around to get to Eren anymore, but isn't killing him kinda… very illegal?” That's kinda called murder. ...I'm missing something.

Levi shook his head. “I had probable cause… He was about to kill Eren, he had beaten and broken him… raped him, and invited all his sick friends to rape Eren too… The sick bastards are behind bars now.” His arms crossed as he sat at the end of the bed. “Maybe that’ll refresh your memory…” His voice hissed a bit in anger, seething as he kept his eyes burning holes into the wall. “He was in a coma for three weeks… You were gonna pull the plug the next week… because we thought he was brain dead.” Levi got up, his body forcing him to pace, his hands in fists.

“I didn't sleep.” Lathe picked up his head, swallowing hard. “You all had to force me to do anything besides read to him or research anything that could help him. I wasn't eating, and I didn't leave for those weeks… I was furious when Spades dragged me to a hotel after I passed out. I… we, Casper, Scotty and I… we were working on PTSD meds that worked… because nothing else did.” ...there was a lot of drama between you and Scotty... Lathe looked over to Casper, thinking hard. “...you and Scotty… are a thing?” *I think I remember hearing something like that.... “You were distraught when you were rejected… but I… I saw you on a date like, a year later or something… right? The date from hell where Eren cut and you had to rush over with IVs on your lunch break?”

Casper nodded, pulling Lathe closer to him. “What else do you remember?” His voice a bit hoarse as he gave him back his kerchief. I wanna know what else you remember...

Levi continued to pace, though soon left the room and went to walk away, towards where Spades had walked off to. Spades needs to know...
Lathe chuckled a bit, beginning to ramble. “Lots of things… I had a boarder from Japan for a while… Eren ended up moving in like a week later, his house a logistical wreck… he and Levi were the most adorable thing, he ended up practically living with us too… Spades was making the case against Grisha… went to Germany, getting stuff from the embassy and finding a key to the second basement they didn't know existed… Eren got his instruments back… we got Blake in there somewhere… I Uhm… I remember her leaving me shocked in the doorway after she kissed my cheek… I couldn't think about anything else for a week… I crossed the line when I found out Levi had been going with the crowd and bullying Eren, Eren and Levi were apart for a while… Full Tilt happened, I was so distraught… They got back together after Levi pulled his head out of his ass and admitted he loved him…. lots of music and art happened, Spades and I were dating… I bought the house, Spades found out and we designed everything… brought Eren to see it, with a barn and everything… shit went down really fast… but progress was made… and… and I took Spades out one night for dinner and dancing… and I walked with her through the park, sang, and… I asked her to marry me… and she said yes …” Lathe dropped his head into his hands, trying all over to comprehend the emotions nearly overwhelming him. “I love her so fucking much… and I fucked up a ton of stuff… I made Eren seize, I beat Levi up, I made her cry… I don’t want things to be like that… I love them all to bits… I just want everything to be okay… y-yesterday was Christmas… a fun day off with cookies and good food and just everyone happy… really happy… I want things to just go back to that…” Tears started to stream down his cheeks, burying his face in the cloth Casper handed back to him. “I love them all so much…”

Casper nodded soothingly rubbing his back. “Do you remember Hannah? And Sharon? Maybe Maverick?” My Godson?” Casper was cooing to him gently, rocking them a bit to help calm him. Your heart’s been doing good.

Lathe nodded, smiling. “We board Hannah’s horse, and she’ working on the serum… and my God, delivering Maverick… on a kitchen floor in the dead of winter. That was a thing that happened… a bit of a nightmare… not exactly how you’d prefer to give birth, but y’know, it happens…. apparently.” He looked to Casper, smiling. “Maverick’s your Godkid. You and Scotty have a former bruised potato as a godchild.” He chuckled, feeling some of the tension dissipating.

Casper nodded and smiled, cupping Lathe’s cheeks and leaning his forehead against Lathe’s. “Oh thank God…” He let out a sigh of relief as he started to cry again. He didn’t notice Spades leaning on the doorway, watching them, Levi standing slightly behind her. You remember….

Lathe pulled him into a tight hug, his face buried into his shoulder. “I’m so sorry for scaring you like that… it’s okay…” He opened an eye as he heard someone shift in the doorway, pulling from Casper as he saw Levi and Spades. “…excuse me.” Lathe stood from the bed, pulling the IV from his arm carefully and letting go of it uncaring before walking around the bed, straight up to Spades. He stopped a foot away from her, suddenly not knowing what to say. “S-Spades, I….” He looked to her fidgeting hands, her ring gone. Huh? “Spades, where’s your ring?” He looked up to her eyes, catching her hands in his own, pulling her close to him, leaning their foreheads together. “...I’m so sorry for scaring you… it was temporary… it really was. I remember everything.” He thought a second, smirking as he leaned by her ear to whisper. “I remember last night…” He pecked her ear, chuckling as she turned scarlet. “Thanks for that, by the way. But really, I’m so sorry for losing it and scaring you like that… I… I love you.” His eyes silently pleaded with her, wanting her to believe him. I’m sorry. I love, and I’m so fucking sorry.

Spades looked down towards the ground, guilt settling heavy on her as he stopped walking towards her. She fidgeted with her now ringless hand, trying not to cry as she felt the tears prickle when he noticed her ring was gone. You asked for Viola… For all I know you still want her… Spades blushed for a moment before paling, and her eyes unable to meet his. “I… I-I’m sorry… I… I’m going to do your paperwork…” She turned away before he could see her cry. I made it happen… What I did caused this… this is all my fault...

Lathe didn't hesitate for an instant to follow her into the hall, catching her not a dozen feet from the door, turning her around to face him. His expression turned to one of worry when he saw her tears, pulling her close and hugging her tightly, his hand running over her back. “Spades, talk to me… please… it's okay. Tell me what's wrong.” All I want is for you and everyone else to be okay and happy. Talk to me. You agreed to marry me, you can talk with me!

Spades started to cry, still unable to look at him. “I’m so sorry Lathe… I shouldn’t’ve pushed you… This is all my fault…” I been pushing you since the beginning... To give up on your first love, Viola… and then last night…. I pushed you too hard… and you had a heart attack... and everything is my fault.

Lathe’s brow furrowed, speaking after a moment. “Spades, none of this is your fault. ...if you're talking about last night, let me assure you I've never heard of something like that making someone have a heart attack. It just happened. I don't know why, but it did. Don't try to apologise… you've been nothing but wonderful to me the entire time we've been together. It's okay.” It really is. I don't blame you for anything.

Spades shook her head and pulled out of his grasp. “No… I pushed you away from her too.”

Spades looked so broken and so distraught as she went back to the desk and asked for his release papers, beginning to fill them out without a problem. Maybe… I was too hopeful… Have you always been thinking about Viola?

...what. Lathe was stunned. He shook his head clear, his determination set as he marched after her. He saw her filling out papers at the front desk, slipping behind her unnoticed and simply winding his arms around her middle, leaning his chin on her shoulder, murmuring into her ear. “Spades, listen to me.” He swallowed, speaking with conviction. “I asked about Viola because I was confused hearing Eren was my son. Relative to time, nothing made sense. I didn't remember anything much at that point. But Spades, when you were working on Eren's case, yeah. I was still hurting a bit. But I’d had a decade to accept that she was gone. It's not like you forced me to chose between the two of you. You helped me do something I needed to do- recognize that I was still a person even without her, and that I should after ten years accept it and live for once. You didn't force me into a relationship. You didn't make me do anything. I thought you were the most amazing thing with everything you had done for me and for Eren, and I wouldn't have kissed you, let alone asked you to marry me if I didn't want to spend the rest of my life with you. I love you. I trust you. I want you to be happy. Please. Don't doubt that.” You mean so much to me...

Spades had stopped writing, her hand shaking, dropping the pen as she turned in Lathe’s arms to bury her face in his chest. “I... I... I'm so sorry, Lathe... E-... He’s...” This last one was so much worse that any of the ones he’s had before... She started sobbing, so many things affecting her overly hormonal body. The added hormones I'm taking aren't helping this. “I... I believe you...” I was so scared that you would want to call it off...

Lathe tangled a hand in her hair, keeping her close to him. “What about Eren? ...how bad was it?” He quietly cooed to her, his hands gentle as he comforted her. I didn't catch a time...

“Five minutes and fifty four seconds... He’s got a tube down his throat... Scotty had to really knock him out...” He's technically in a medically induced coma right now... but it's not very deep. Spades couldn’t stop her crying as she clung to Lathe’s shirt.

Lathe felt a harsh pang of guilt, cradling her close to him. “Shhh... It’s gonna be okay... he's a tough kid... here, let’s get this stuff filled out, and then we can go back with the others, okay?” He waited a long moment before she nodded, sniffing as they returned to the papers, turning them over soon and walking back to Eren’s room, Lathe keeping an arm around her waist, stopping her just before the door. “Oh, and another thing...” He picked up her left hand, suddenly producing her ring. Sorry, picked your pocket. ...it was necessary. He slid the ring onto her finger, leaning forward and lightly brushing his lips against hers. “I still really want to get married... that certainly hasn't changed.”

Spades blushed as he put her ring back on her finger, sighing a bit in relief at the familiar weight it held there. “Okay...” She waited for Lathe to turn and open the door, gasping when she saw Eren in his clothes, sleeves rolled up, and steam rising from where the needles were imbedded into him, beginning to heal. She saw the instant fear in his eyes, and Eren starting to step back away from them. Shit... He’s afraid of Lathe.

Lathe immediately took a step back when he recognised Eren’s fear, moving behind Spades. “Eren, I'm so sorry about what I did. Please, understand. I had had a heart attack... I couldn't remember anything after when I was seventeen. I didn't remember anything- being a doctor, a teacher, nothing. I felt threatened, and I did what I did on instinct; I thought I was being protective... I was out of my mind. I’m okay now, and I know you're not gonna trust me for a bit, but I’m telling you that you shouldn't be terrified of me. I made a huge mistake, and I'm sorry for that. But Eren, I love you. I would never, in my right mind, want you hurt. It was a huge fluke. Please... forgive me.” He used Spades as a sort of human shield, one arm around her middle, the other extending past her in offering to Eren, palm-up. I'm so fucking sorry.
Eren shook his head, backing up a bit. <“I wanna go home.”> His voice was shaky, laden with fear. He jumped back as Scotty raced in, his pager having gone off, telling him Eren’s heart monitor had flatlined. What’s Scotty doing here… Where am I? I wanna go home!

Scotty sighed in relief as he saw Eren up and walking, seemingly okay, aside from the fear in his eyes. He’s afraid of Lathe… isn’t he?

Lathe silently nodded, retracting his hand, his eyes glued to the floor. <“E-Eren… I know this probably won’t do anything, but… think of when you had woken up from your coma… you didn’t trust anyone except me, really… you bit everyone else, and even then you did end up biting me… that and this, what happened then and today… they’re very alike. Just… keep that in mind. Please. But we can go home once we know you’re okay. You had a bad seizure… you were nearly at six minutes, I'm told…”> It wasn't pretty...

Eren watched them all with skeptical eyes. <“I had a seizure?”>All I remember was you putting me in a choke hold… And then waking up here… What happened to me?

Lathe nodded. <“Yeah, you did. This is what I'm talking about. A bad enough heart attack, a bad enough panic attack and seizure, you forget things. But after I put you in that choke hold, Spades pretty much screamed at me to let you go. I did… you ran terrified to a corner, crying. Levi gave me aspirin while I was too scared to do anything- Spades came home in uniform, when I realised it terrified me- and we drove you here. I… you started seizing when you were brought in here, pale as a sheet of paper. You stopped after nearly six minutes, and you were knocked out for a bit… I got my memory back, we left to get me discharged and to talk, came back and here we are.”>* Lathe looked really scared at the idea Eren wouldn't believe him, insisting quietly. <“...I'm so sorry… I was out of my mind. I don't want you to be scared of me… I wouldn't ever hurt you on purpose if I knew what I was doing. I thought I was seventeen… Eren, please believe me… I'm so sorry…”>* Lathe tried to hide in Spades’ shoulder, still looking at his face. I want you to feel okay around me… I'm so, so sorry...

Eren watched them, Scotty coming up to him to look over his vitals, making sure Eren didn’t feel threatened. He instinctively let out a hiss as he was touched, though calmed down once Scotty checked for his pulse. Why’s he touching me… I wanna go home! <“I wanna go home! Daddy! I wanna go home.”> Eren whined like a spoiled child as he pulled away from Scotty, not liking the physical touch. I don’t wanna be touched. His steps were a bit shaky as he neared Spades and Lathe, moving to curl into Spades arms, seemingly okay with the proximity to Lathe. I wanna go home… I don’t wanna be poked and prodded.

Lathe was careful with how close Eren got, acting passive as he slowly untangled himself from behind Spades, pressing a kiss behind her ear as he pulled away, smiling faintly to Eren as the brunette tugged Spades along. <“We’ll go home, don’t you worry. We’ll fill out paperwork and get you back where you can draw or eat or just do stuff. I know you two probably missed lunch.”>

Eren nodded into Spades chest, keeping Spades in between them. I trust you with Mom between us... I don’t wanna be touched by anyone else... Eren picked his head up as he heard the familiar sound of Levi’s voice down the hall, looking to see Casper walking with Levi. What happened to his nose? Why is it bleeding?

“-a real bitch of a childhood, that’s for sure, it was all just dormant reflex… but thanks for not beating the legitimate crap out of him, he’d fight ‘til one of you were dead…” Casper had his thumbs hooked in his pockets as they walked, chatting with Levi about what happened. “…he doesn’t like to talk about it. Unless you're really curious and careful, I wouldn't ask.” Casper shrugged, smiling to them and waving when he caught sight of the group of them. “Hey y’all- Eren, you doin’ okay?” Casper took note of the fact Eren seemed withdrawn, stepping kinda near him and walking backward as they went to the front lobby. You're walking, and Lathe is within five feet and you're not panicking. That's good.

Eren watched Casper with wide eyes. <“What the fuck does he want?”> He turned his head towards Levi, looking for an explanation as to why Casper was asking if he was okay. I don't want him to poke and prod at me too.

Levi quirked an eyebrow, mirroring Casper’s demeanour, though he walked in the proper orientation, looking back to him. <“...Eren, Casper’s your friend and you just had a bad seizure he witnessed. He wants to know you feel okay.”> ...if you forgot Casper so help me...

Eren looked at Casper, his eyes narrowing, anger visible. <“Is he that asshole that shoved the tube down my throat?”> His words came out in an angered fury, though only his grip was tightening on Spades’ shirt. Eren’s anger was a mask for the fear that he was experiencing from everyone being so close to him. I wanna go home...

Levi’s eyes widened, turning on his heel to face Eren. <“Eren, no he’s not. That tube was put in your throat because you were knocked out after your seizure. We wanted to make sure you could breathe. Don’t be mad at him, seriously. It's fine.”> He didn't do anything. <“...Eren, do you know what his name is?”> ...probably not.

<“His name is……”> Eren trailed off, his anger dying down as he realized he didn’t remember, his long hair hiding his eyes as he looked down. I don’t remember... why am I here again? I had a seizure? Dad was choking me... but he said he didn’t mean too... were we fighting? I think Dad was hitting Levi too... am I not good enough anymore? Does Dad hate Levi? Eren seemed to shrink as silence fell between the group.
Scotty stepped up, speaking first while filling out a few sheets on his clipboard. “Temporary memory loss, he’ll be fine… He recognizes everyone else that close to him, he’ll be fine… You can take him home, but if he panics again, I suggest sedating him and letting him sleep it off.” He’s probably gonna pass out as soon as you get him in the car.

Eren felt nothing but relieved once he was released from the terrifying white that was the hospital Emergency Room and it’s surroundings. When they had gotten home, Eren refused to stay in the same room as Lathe, often hiding in the corner, or not coming into the room at all. He was skittish around him. He had taken over the kitchen, hissing at anyone who got close to him, and if they didn’t leave almost immediately, they received a faceful of flour. Eren had gone about and turned all their flour and fresh eggs into pasta which covered the huge island, he was relaxed for the most part in the silence of the room. His voice was quiet as he muttered to himself in broken english, german and hebrew. Though he had taken over the kitchen to produce the noodles in mass quantities Eren cooked it all, all 7 pounds of pasta. When he didn’t know what to do with it he washed off his hands, and found Spades tugging on her sleeve, and bringing her to the mess of a kitchen where all the noodles were made. That had resulted in many people coming over for dinner that night, including a very certain someone came in babbling and his small arms outstretched down around Lathe. The next two days passed quickly, Erwin coming to pick Levi up to head to the airport yet again for college. Eren was a bit freaked out now that he was left alone in the house with Lathe for a few hours a day if Spades got called in. He stayed away from Lathe really, but he often watched him, sneaking away whenever Lathe called out for him to come into the room. Though soon Eren got comfortable, stepping into the room with him, watching what he was doing over his shoulder. He was basically mute, not even talking to Spades for the next five days before he finally broke his silence, pulling on Lathe’s navy blue sweater and pulling on the hem. A simple word to finally show that he trusted Lathe all over again.

“Have?”

Lathe turned to look at him, immediately understating from where he sat composing. He smiled warmly, tugging the blue sweater over his head leaving him in a dark green button-up and handing it to Eren. “Have.” You trust me. ...and this is too adorable.
Chapter 55: Misunderstandings

Lathe walked the length of the airport, looking for the correct gate. where are you… there! Lathe stopped at the correct gate, waiting for the plane to taxi close enough and for the passengers to disembark before holding up the sign over his head. ‘Hannes’ was written in looping calligraphic script on the white poster board, skimming the crowd as they ambled from the hall. He saw a tall man with blonde hair walk from the plane, looking around uncertainly before he saw the sign Lathe was holding high, meeting his brown eyes. He started walking over to Lathe, and Lathe set down the sign so it rested against his leg for the moment, extending a hand to him, his expression warm. <“You’re Hannes? It’s wonderful to meet you.”> You’re at least as tall as me. Huh.

*<“I am. Thank you.”> His words were short and his voice a bit rough as he ignored the outstretched hand and continued at Lathe, immediately wrapping him in his arms. <“Thank you so much for letting me come see him.”> It really means a lot to me.

Lathe was a bit surprised as he ignored his hand, walking straight up to him. huh? What- Lathe’s eyes widened a bit as he was met with a tight hug, chuckling a bit and hugging him back. *<“Of course- it’s the least we could’ve done for you. He’s going to be so happy to see you.”> Lathe let go of him after a long moment, guiding him through the airport to the baggage carousel, asking him about his flight and chatting with him as they walked to the car in the parking lot. It wasn’t a very long drive, and Lathe was easily able to keep up with Hannes’ German, his eyes bright as Hannes looked around with curiosity as they drove. He soon pulled up the long driveway to the house, parking in front of the house. *<“This is the new house. The barn is out back, and there’s a lot of neat stuff inside. Eren should be home still.”> Lathe beamed as Hannes nodded, getting out and retrieving his suitcase from the back of the car and walking with him up the shoveled walk to the front porch, unlocking the door and opening it, looking around. *<“Eren! There’s someone here to see you!”> Lathe looked around after he shut the door behind Hannes, looking around the quiet house and setting his case by the stairs. *<“He’s probably out back with the animals. We can check there.”> Lathe started with him to the back door and opened it, his eyes going wide as he saw Charlie out in the field, tacked up and prancing around in the snow without a rider. Fuck. “EREN!” Lathe ran down the dug-out path to near Charlie, stopping and scaling a pile of wood near the wall of the barn, looking down at the snow. He saw a large patch where it looked like Eren had fallen off, but thrashed and scuffled before… Someone dragged him off Charlie. He’s been kidnapped. Fuck. Lathe immediately pulled out his phone, a self-written app pinging Eren’s phone and placing a red pin on a map. He’s not that far. He’s the next town over, a warehouse near the woods. Lathe came down from the pile and went to bring Charlie into the barn where he was would be warm, Hannes having walked down to the barn to see what the matter was. *<“It’s Eren. He’s been kidnapped and dragged a town over. Here, help me get the tack off of Charlie Jr.”> They quickly got Charlie in his stall, Lathe sending the information of Eren’s location to Spades with an SOS message and looking around outside, holding out a hand for a moment. …it’s not that cold. But it could take time for the police to get there… Lathe turned to Hannes, sounding worried. <“I’m sorry this is your welcome to America- but I need to grab my bag from inside… you up for a ride on an ATV?”> The son of a bitch who took my son is going to pay. He smiled as Hannes nodded, running back to the house and getting his bag, fastening the clasps on it extra tightly before running back out, getting the ATV from the back of the barn and driving it to the front door of the barn. He closed the door behind them, getting on and waiting for Hannes to get solid footing and hold onto him tightly. He handed Hannes his phone, having him tell him to bear more to the left or right as Lathe started them down one of the many paths through the woods, going at a pace where he still had plenty of control. It took a while, but they soon were out of the bounds on the property and on the grounds of a swamp, thankfully with sparse trees. Lathe locked onto the silhouette of a warehouse in the near distance after a while of driving, driving them out of the swamp and around the edge of the clearing to the front, his eyes wide as he saw a squad car he recognized. That’s Dave’s car. Lathe killed the engine next to it, hopping off and motioning for Hannes to hold back a bit, approaching the warehouse door warily. He immediately dropped his guard and headed for Eren and Dave at a dead sprint as he saw them in the center of the warehouse, Dave trying to coax Eren gently into a more comfortable position, Eren trying hard not to scream in pain. Lathe dropped to his knees next to them, his eyes wide as he studied Eren’s leg, the worst of his injuries. His femur had been broken, the jagged bone sticking out a solid two inches from his flesh at a sharp angle. FUCK. “Eren, my god, kid… don’t worry, we’ll get you fixed up as soon as we can.” Lathe ran a hand soothingly through Eren’s locks, looking to the officer next to him. “Dave, how are you the only one here? Where’s the ambulance? He needs one!”

“That’s Dave’s car.” Did they only send you?

“It’s on its way, I was closer, Spades sent me because we didn’t know if the attacker would be a problem to deal with… Eren only said he knocked him out. We didn’t know if he would wake up so I came here first.” He winced hearing Eren starting to scream out in pain. Fuck… I know it hurts… But I gotta make sure the other guy’s okay… He hasn’t moved.

Eren screamed bloody murder, holding onto Lathe as he knelt down next to him. He could feel the heat starting to grow around the leg and the burning feeling starting to surface as he cried more. “Dad! Make it stop! It’s starting to heal!” Eren was screaming in panic as bone started to regrow itself, his nose starting to bleed in a heavy stream. “It hurts! It hurts!” It’s growing down… My body can’t tell the other half of the bone is still there! It’s trying to make another one! Eren’s throat continued making that horrific noise as he gripped Lathe’s shirt, feeling the bone begging to solidify bit by bit.

What . Lathe looked to his leg, his eyes wide as the bone slowly began growing downward from inside, healing and seemingly unaware that the other half of the bone was still there. Not good not good not good…. Lathe went to his bag, knowing he had to at least get some of Eren’s pain under control, handing him two of the strongest morphine tablets he had. He got out a metal case as Eren swallowed the pills, murmuring to him and trying to keep him calm. He reached for his kerchief, folding it over and giving it to Eren, his expression apologetic. “Bite this… I’m sorry kid, but this is going to hurt like a bitch.” Lathe went back to his case, taking a scalpel out and running an alcohol wipe over it’s blade carefully, looking to Eren’s leg, the skin and flesh struggling to cover the protruding bone. “It’ll be over soon, Eren. Stay strong for me- and as still as you can manage.” Lathe quickly made deep incisions in his leg, cutting back the forming flesh and skin to see his bone half-mended, the bone sticking out much longer than what would fit. His stomach dropped as he realized something. …I’ve got no choice. There’s no time to wait for better conditions to do this in. “Eren, shut your eyes. You’re not going to want to watch this.” Lathe swallowed hard, blocking out the rest of the world, his only focus Eren’s leg and the skin and flesh spiderwebbing across the incisions to stitch them back together. He forcibly blocked out Eren’s screams of pain as he cut the entire way down his leg, pulling back flesh with a grimace to reveal his leg bone in place in it’s joint. He set down the scalpel after he cut tendons free, praying to whatever God would listen he would be able to heal from this. He breathed deeply, taking firm hold of Eren’s busted bone with one hand and holding his knee in the other, firmly twisting and pulling the bone free in one movement, setting it down and coaxing the flesh back into place, immediately going to calm Eren and hold onto him as it began to mend, cradling him closely. “Eren, Eren you did such a good job, I’m really proud of you… it’s okay, I did what I absolutely needed to, you’re going to be able to heal properly now. It’s okay, help is on the way… help is coming. You won’t be in so much pain soon enough.” ...

That was the most horrible thing I’ve ever had to do… Lathe took the kerchief from his mouth, wiping up the streams of blood that came from his nose. You’re gonna need a transfusion
Dave watched the scene before him unfold, his eyes wide as he saw Eren’s skin actively trying to heal over the protruding bone and then Lathe take out a scalpel and cut him open even further until the bone was out of his body. His gut wrenched as Eren’s bloodcurdling screams rang in the warehouse, the sirens starting in the distance and getting louder as they got closer. “Lathe… What… What did you just do? You just pulled out half of his bone! What do you think you’re doing?” Dave looked over Eren’s bleeding nose and then back to his leg which was starting to mend itself all over again. I think I’m gonna be sick.

Eren’s screams stopped as soon as Lathe removed the lower half of the broken bone. His nose was still heavily bleeding, his eyes lidded and voice raw. “Dad… It hurts…” He cried as he clung to his pant leg weakly, starting to feel the effects of blood loss. My head hurts, I feel really dizzy. His eyes started to close, struggling to keep his focus on Lathe as he was cradled. His focus broke when the sirens blared from the entrance and two EMTs were running with a stretcher out to the 4 of them, having been pointed in by Hannes. Who are... They? Eren saw a dark shadow in the bright doorway as he looked to the EMTs racing to them. His consciousness was fading quickly, and his breathing was a bit shallow. His leg started to produce steam as it hurriedly tried to mend itself.

“Ay!” Lathe called to the EMTs as they ran in, seeing the recognition on their faces. ...I hang out at the hospital too much. “He needs a blood transfusion, he’s lost a lot and needs it fast. I don't know about any other injuries, but his leg is mending itself. Don't ask, keep it straight and just let it do its thing.” Lathe moved out of their way and let them get Eren onto the stretcher, looking back and unsure of what to do with the broken femur still on the floor. “U-Uhm, what should we…” Lathe just pointed to the bone after a minute and hoping someone had an answer, switching slowly out of doctor mode and realising that was his own son’s fucking leg on the floor.

Dave tried in vain to hold his stomach as the EMTs picked up the bloodied half of Eren’s femur, pitching onto the floor. His mouth held the acidic burn for a while, turning back to the man leaving before him. “When’s the second ambulance gonna be here? He’s breathing on his own again…” I don’t know if he’ll wake up.

The EMTs looked over to Dave, wincing a bit as he hurled the contents of his stomach out. “It’s on it’s way, we need to take him back now. Lathe, come with us, make sure he stays awake. You should be in the back for it, making sure he’s calm. Scotty’s getting an OR ready…” The EMTs rushed Eren into the back of the ambulance, Hannes having a wrecked face as he watched Eren get loaded in, blood everywhere on him.

<“Lathe… What happened to Eren? Why is he so bloodied? And why is his leg smoking? Is he burned? Is he going to be alright?”> Hannes was becoming frantic as Lathe got closer to him. Is he going to be okay?

<“Hannes, I'm going with him, and therefore you need to come with. There’s a lot of stuff that needs to be explained. You up for it? Or do you want to go with Dave, the Police Commissioner?”> It's kinda gruesome...

Hannes thought about Eren covered in blood and shook his head. <“I’ll go with Dave…The policeman.”> He watched as another ambulance came barreling in and the stretcher being taken in, Dave coming out as the EMTs got to the unconscious man’s side. <“Is this Dave?”>

<“Yeah, one second.”> “Dave!” Lathe quickly ran up to him, pulling him away from the other man on the stretcher and over to Hannes, looking to one and then the other. “Dave, this man is Hannes, who cared for Eren a lot when he was much younger.” <“Hannes, this is Dave, the Police Commissioner of this county and a good friend of mine.’” “Dave, Hannes doesn’t speak much English, it’s mostly German. But he needs to come to the hospital as well, and can’t stand to be in the ambulance. Can he ride with you?” Just say yes so we can get this show in the road.

Dave nodded. “Yeah, get in that ambulance and go!” Dave pushed Lathe towards the ambulance and motioned Hannes to come to the cruiser with him. He ushered him into the passenger seat before getting in himself. Once he was in, he got his foot on the gas and got ahead of the ambulances to create an escort for the two of them, making a beeline to the hospital.

Lathe turned and hopped into the ambulance without another thought, moving where the EMTs ushered him and running a hand through Eren’s hair, gently shaking his shoulder. “Eren, come on, stay awake, please. I know it’s hard but you really need to. Here, talk to me. Does anything hurt besides your leg?” We need to know.

Eren looked to Lathe, struggling to nod, before giving up. “S...s-side…” He tried to move his left arm, struggling to move to touch his side.

He kicked me really hard…

Lathe nodded, lifting the edge of the shirt to inspect his side, his hand resting over Eren’s to keep him from moving too much. He saw a bruise beginning to bloom. “It’s internal, not a cut of any kind. Anything else hurt, kid? Come on, stay with me here. We need you awake for this right now.” Stay with us.

Eren tried shaking his head, his eyes beginning to close. “....n-no….” Soon his eyes were closed yet again, his focus waning.

Lathe snapped loudly in front of his face, trying to catch his attention. “Come on Eren, we can’t have that much further to go. Stay with me, open your eyes, force it if you have to. Please, stay awake.” Lathe shook his shoulder, Eren no longer responding. “He’s out- Crap, not good…” Lathe kept trying to get Eren to wake back up as they raced to the hospital, resigned as the ambulance finally stopped and letting the EMTs take him in on his stretcher, his leg steaming still. Lathe hopped from the ambulance and went to the squad car parked nearby, meeting Dave and Hannes. <“He’s in good hands now- Scotty does his job extremely well. But all we have now to do is wait, which shouldn’t take too long. They need to run scans and stuff, but I’d be surprised if much is going to happen.”>* Scotty knows what the deal is, so I think they’ll just need to run scans and check that his body finished healing, then discharge him. Easy. Lathe walked with him inside, going to sit with him in the waiting room. Hannes picked up a magazine after a bit in curiosity, and they decided to pass the time with Lathe helping teach him the more important words of the English language. His brow furrowed when they hit the three-hour mark, staring up at the clock. They’re taking an awfully long time… what the hell is going on? <“I honestly don’t know why they’re taking so long… but it’s past lunch, are you hungry? The cafeteria’s just over there.”>* Lunch and three more hours, and Lathe was slightly panicking, finally going up to the front desk. “Uhm, hi. Is there any word on Eren Yeager? He’s in the OR right now, and it’s been six hours… we don’t know why.” Someone tell me something or I’m going to march in there and ask Scotty for a status update personally.

The woman frowned a bit, going to type a few things into her computer. “He’s still in the OR, apparently his surgery has been graded as emergency, so it’ll be updated once he’s stable and out of surgery. I’m sorry, I don’t have much more that at the moment.” Her smile was small as she went back to her desk job.

Hannes was waiting in his chair, watching as Lathe walked back to him. <“Is Eren out of surgery yet?”>* I hope he is, I wanna see him be okay.*

Lathe shook his head, looking defeated. <“No, he’s not… and the woman at the desk can’t tell me why it’s taking so long… I don't understand. It’s been graded as an emergency surgery… whatever it is, it’s taking awhile, and it's necessary. We just have to be patient.”> Lathe sat down next to him, patting his shoulder and sending him a reassuring look. <“He’ll be okay. He’s been through worse and come out just fine.”> Eventually. ...nah, he’ll be okay. He’s a tough kid.

Scotty came up behind him, running a hand through his hair. “I didn’t realize that you were now fluent in five languages.” Scotty patted his shoulder, looming over him and looking over to Hannes in confusion. “Who’s this?” Scotty was still dressed in scrubs, a mask hanging around his neck. I’ve never seen you before.

Lathe nearly jumped out of his skin as he heard Scotty from right behind him, looking over his shoulder and chuckling, standing with Hannes, looking between the two of them. “Scotty, this is Hannes. He was the man who took care of Eren for much of his early life while he lived in Germany.” <“Hannes, this Dr. Scott Octavian, or just Scotty. He’s an old friend of mine, and the doctor that’s been in charge of most of Eren’s medical procedures.”> Lathe looked back to Scotty, looking to him pointedly. “Now would you care to explain just what the hell was going on for six hours?”

Scotty sighed, nodding and motioning them to follow. “Well, the bone that you so wonderfully pulled out started his body in a frenzy of wanting to eradicate his body of all the metal it had in it… Thank you for making my job a living hell.” He led them to Eren’s room, the boy completely healed, but his body still steaming under multiple ice packs. “The only downside… He’s got a internal body temperature of 126 degrees Fahrenheit.” He should be dead.

“What the actual fuck?!” Lathe swore without even thinking, his eyes wide. “The process of him healing from all of that made him that hot? Oh my God…” I'm surprised he doesn't look well-done by this point. ...and I'm also surprised that he doesn't look more dead. Lathe went up to him, his voice quiet and soft. “Eren, Hon, my god, how are you feeling?”

Eren’s eyes cracked open a little more, looking at the three figures with uncertainty. “Dad?” His voice was a bit hoarse and his eyes opening more as he finally came to. I see… Lathe… Scotty… And is that…? No, I must be imagining things. “When are the drugs gonna wear off?” He reached up to rub his eyes, yawning as if he had just woken up from a deep sleep.

Scotty shook his head, laughing. “You're off the anesthesia, you already woke up.”

Lathe looked over his shoulder to Hannes, and then back to Eren, hiding a bright smile behind his hand as he stood there, watching Eren’s expression. Yep, he’s real. ...but I'll let you figure that out.

Eren’s eyes widened, moving to rip all the IVs and monitors off of himself, not caring if they bled, as they immediately closed up. His first steps were shaky as he got off the bed, before finding his footing and running into Hannes’ arms. “Vatri!” Eren’s excited voice rang through the room as he gripped onto him, his whole body steaming. It’s really you!

Hannes smiled more. “Kleiner Jäger.” He smiled, ruffling Eren’s hair. <“You’ve grown so much since you were last with me.”>

Lathe’s eyes widened as Eren got out of bed, ripping out the IV drips and not caring as he let ice packs fall to the floor. “Eren, my god, chill for a split second. Hate to break up the moment, really, but you need your IV and ice packs so you don’t, y’know, become well-done.” Lathe went and gently tugged on Eren's shoulder, his voice soft. “He’s not going to dissolve into thin air, kid. He’s staying at our place for about two weeks. You have plenty of time for hugs. But right now you need to get better.” Work with me, kid.
Eren looked down at the ice packs littering the floor, feeling the prickle of heat under his skin. “How hot am I?” He watched the steam roll off his arms in fascination, though he complied and moved to sit back down on the hospital bed. It looks so cool.

“Well, I guess it depends on who you ask. Me, I’d say you’re 126 degrees Fahrenheit. But if you asked your fans on Twitter, you’d probably get at least a solid nine out of ten. Levi, perhaps, you’d get a response somewhere along the lines of very.” Lathe responded with a mischievous grin as he piled the ice packs back onto him, carefully reininserting the IVs and taping them down. “Now don’t pull these out, okay? They’re important.” …yeah. That’s not a thing you want to do.

Eren grumbled about something before looking to Lathe. “Were you not home?” You didn’t answer any of my shouts for you… He pulled me off of Charlie with ease.

Lathe shook his head, his look apologetic. “I was picking up Hannes from the airport. I didn’t tell you because I wanted it to be a surprise- and I certainly didn’t expect this to happen…” How the hell could anyone predict this sort of shit?

Eren nodded, looking down at his hands. “Is he dead? He wasn’t breathing when I called Mom.” He looked over to Hannes a smile on his face. <“Daddy, I’m so glad you’re here!”>

Hannes smiled happily, moving to sit down by his side and run a hand through his hair as he used to do forever ago. <“You’re doing so well, I’m… I’m really proud of you, and all your accomplishments.”>

Lathe shook his head, speaking evenly. “The other man isn’t dead- he’s alive. You really did a number on him.” I can’t have Hannes asking what that word I’m using all the time is- but what I really mean is ‘you fucked him up.’ “Did a damn good job of it, too. I’m glad I taught you Judo- and that you were willing to learn. I’m proud. You really held your own.” I really am.

“Aside from letting him kick me in the side and the leg… Hurt like a bitch… Um… Is Mom coming? I called her first… And she sent Dave… And the ambulance…” I’m not really sure if I was screaming on the phone or not. He leaned his head into Hannes’ gentle touch, appreciating the affection he was given.

Scotty looked over to him. “You forgot to mention you called me screaming on the other end… You must’ve broken it pretty bad for your body to ignore it, and make a new one to heal.” You’re lucky your kid is some sort of quickly-healing wizard...

Ouch. “Scotty, his femur was sticking a solid two inches out out and away from his thigh. It was worse than bad; I don’t just go yanking out people’s bones for no good reason. That’s mean. And could get me sued.” Yeah, we don’t want that. “I’ll text Spades, see what’s going on on her end.” Lathe switched the keyboard mode on his phone, typing the French quickly and waiting patiently for a response, reaching for Eren’s hand and lacing their fingers. “…was he the last one from the drawings? I never got a good look at him.” I was kinda occupied. Also his face was covered in blood, so…

Eren nodded, his mood seeming to instantly shift as he pulled his hands back and curled up a bit on himself. “… He… He was gonna do it again…” He started shaking as he tried not to think about what happened, his arms moving to begin to scratch until a weight landed on his bed and Blake came up to bite one of his hands to get him distracted and calmed down. I’m here human…

Spades came into the room not a moment later, smiling as she saw Eren petting Blake to calm himself down. Oh thank god… He’s alright… She let out a sigh of relief, going to wrap her arms around Lathe. [I’m here, I was getting Blake… Sorry, I just got out of work a bit ago.] She kissed his cheek, a soft smile on her face.

Spades. Lathe stood, smiling and pulling her close, gently nipping her neck as they embraced. Mine. He stepped back from her after a moment, looking over to Hannes. <“Hannes, this is my fiancée Spades. And Spades, this is Hannes.”> He kinda got swept up into all of this crayness. ...eh, he agreed to come. Welcome to America.

Spades turned fully to him and smiled softly. <“It’s nice to finally meet you in person, there’s a lot that you’ll probably be asking the two of us in the next few days… So don’t hesitate to ask us.”> She held her hand out for him to shake and instead was pulled into a warm embrace. ... Okay… This is a thing that is happening…

You people are wonderful. Hannes pulled her close, happy that he could actually be here and see Eren more often now. <“Thank you for giving me this chance, it means a lot to me.”>

Spades smiled as she returned the hug, moving to pull Eren into it as well. <“Anything for our wonderful son.”> He’s been through so much, even today… But it should all be in the past behind him. When Hannes and Eren finally let go of her, she moved back over to Lathe. [Scotty said Eren broke half the guy’s ribs and dislocated both of his shoulders.] He tried to flip him, multiple times it appears.

Lathe just stared at her for a second, soon nodding in approval. [...Sweet. He did a real number on him.] Lathe tugged her down to sit in the chair next to him, scooting his own over so he could wrap his arms around her middle, resting his head on her shoulder tiredly. [Eren’s got an internal temperature that’s at 124 degrees Fahrenheit right now… but all his vitals are okay and he’s healing well.] Lathe nodded to the screen showing his pulse and other figures. [...people normally die past 105 degrees.] It's really weird. And scary. And cool.

Spades looked over to Eren’s monitors seeing the red 124 number flashing as if trying to warn them of something. [Is that why his body’s steaming?] She watched the red number flash down to 123 and smiled softly. He’s getting there… That’s good.

Scotty came into the room not a minute later with two clearly chilled IV bags. “Alright, Kid, time for the liquid coolant.” He set up the IV’s on both of his arms, squeezing the bags a few times to get the liquid to start running into Eren’s system. This’ll help… He looked up to the monitor, letting out a sigh of relief as it dropped down to 120 after a minute or so. “As soon as your core temperature is back down to normal, you can go home.”

Eren nodded, looking over to Hannes to start up their conversation again. <“Vatri, can we make dinner together tonight? And then sing? It’s Friday.”> I haven’t sung with you in awhile.

Hannes’ smile seemed to grow impossibly wider. <“Of course we can, but you need to get better first before we do anything else, alright?”> Hannes chuckled as Eren nodded with a sparkle in his eyes. He’ll be okay… He’s a fighter.

...hmm? Lathe watched their conversation, still nestled into Spades’ shoulder, shrugging a bit to himself and letting his eyes slide shut. They probably have a bunch of customs and stuff we don’t know about. To be expected, really… I need a nap… wait. …Eren hasn’t sung in months. At least, nothing I’ve heard or that he’s recorded, really. …he’s still getting there. Thank god.

That’s wonderful to hear…. He hasn’t sung in so long. Spades gently ran a hand through his hair, coaxing him to sleep. You get to sleep, I heard Dave didn’t take to well to whatever you had to do to Eren. She kissed his forehead, being gentle as they waited for a few more hours, Eren’s body temperature finally back down to normal. Spades nudged Lathe awake as Scotty was taking Eren’s IVs out of his arms and giving him scrubs to go change into since his clothes were filled with blood and thrown out.

Lathe made an annoyed sound as Spades tried to wake him up, trying to nestle further into her shoulder and go back to sleep. He made a louder sound of protest as she slid out from under him, weakly and sleepily glaring at her before standing. He looked to the screen, seeing normal reading and smiling faintly, rubbing the sleep from his eyes. As soon as he’s changed, we can get going. Eren soon was changed, all of them bidding Scotty farewell before they could go to the front and have Eren discharged.

Eren had changed into a bit oversized scrubs and a pair of spare sneakers. Once Lathe was done with the paperwork, they all piled into Spades’ truck, and made the short drive home. “Vatri have you seen Charlie yet? He’s really pretty and he looks just like the Charlie I had before I came here!” > He’s so beautiful… and Luna is definitely carrying his progeny… I can tell by the way he acts around her now.

Hannes chuckled, thinking about the conversation he had with Lathe over the phone. “I heard that you called him Charlie… but did you know that your first Charlie is actually your horse’s father? They look almost identical, it was amazing that you happened to get him. And I’m glad you’re the one who got him.”

Lathe smiled as Eren made a happy sound and talked with Hannes, though he made sure he changed from the scrubs before letting them take advantage of the full fridge of ingredients and make dinner. His eyes were wide when they were called to the table, seeing so many different dishes ready for them, none of which he recognised.

...wow. <“Oh my gosh, this all looks amazing.”> ...it looks so good, I'm not even going to classify it as going overboard. Because I approve. Lathe sat down next to Hannes, an impressed Spades still opposite him and Eren looking over the table with pride. He had no idea where to begin. ...there’s soup, rolls, some kind of sauerkraut I think… and that might be schnitzel. Lathe took some of everything as the dishes were passed around the table, his eyes bright as he tried the schnitzel and the sauerkraut. “Eren, Hannes, this is really good! Thank you for cooking.”

Eren beamed, taking his own plate and filling it along with a bowl of soup. “I haven’t made those rolls in forever… I’m sorry if they’re not the best.” > He sat down, waiting for everyone else to eat before he started picking at his own food. I haven’t had this food since.... Since... Eren tried to stop his train of thought, hearing Blake’s nails click in a hurried rush against the floor to get to him. No Blake... It’s okay… I’ll be fine.

Hannes patted him on the back. “They’ll be fine Eren, you always made wonderful Brotchen.” > You really did, and Yahweh have I missed this boy in the kitchen with me.

Spades picked up the roll that was on her plate, tearing off a piece and popping the fluffy roll into her mouth, smiling. “Eren, the Brotchen are great! You did a very good job.” > Spades smiled to him warmly, chuckling quietly as Lathe nodded enthusiastically from across the table, beginning to look like a five-year-old on Christmas morning. Hannes really did teach you well.

Eren smiled softly, petting Blake from under the table and eating the rest of his plate. Dinner was relatively quiet… but I can see why though. Mom and Dad don’t really know Vatri… Eren seemed to be absent minded as he started putting things into containers and into the fridge after labeling and dating them. He was working next on the dishes, barely recognizing the shake in his hands, and was in his own world when Blake started to whine and paw at his pant leg in vain, trying to get his attention.

Hannes watched Blake with a confused stare. *What is that dog doing? Is it trying to get his attention? Why is Eren ignoring it? Does it want food? Did it not get fed? His brow furrowed but he thought nothing of it.

Spades stood to help Eren, her brow furrowed as she saw Eren ignoring a concerned Blake, Lathe tapping Hannes’ arm and explaining quietly what a service dog did. She went to the sink and gently took the plate from Eren’s shaking hands, drying his hands and holding them reassuringly, her voice quiet. <“Eren, you're shaking. Is everything okay?”> Talk to me. Eren didn't even seem to acknowledge she existed, and she shook him by the shoulders a bit, getting him to snap out of it and finally look at her. <“Eren, Hon, you're shaking. Talk to me.”>

Eren gasped a bit as he was shook. What... What happened? I’m... I’m not in the warehouse anymore... I’m home.... I’m not there... Eren struggled to swallow the large lump in his throat. <“It was gonna... He was gonna....”> Eren didn’t realize that he had started to cry until his throat tried to release a choked sob. He began crying all over again, starting to think about how that last man had gotten him off of Charlie with a gun forced to his head… I struggled… Why did I struggle? He never got the gun back… He didn't care. He was gonna have his way with me… Eren started to sob harder, sinking down to the floor where Blake could reach him and lick at his face.

Hannes listened to Lathe, starting to understand what Blake was there for and trying to understand what was happening to Eren. He turned his head to Eren, listening to him cry. <“What’s he talking about? What was gonna happen to him?”> Why is Eren crying? Did he injure himself?

<“The man who kidnapped him was one of the men who had.. used him in the past. He was afraid he was gonna do it again.”> Lathe watched with sad eyes as Spades sat on the floor with Eren, cradling him and murmuring in his ear. He rested a hand on Hannes’ arm when he made a move as if to stand, looking to him. <“Hannes, Eren has Post Traumatic Stress Disorder. There's a lot you don't know about it that you should.”> Lathe began to describe what PTSD was to Hannes, trying to explain how he had it as best he could to him and what he was going through as he cried in Spades’ lap, petting Blake and trying to control his tears. His voice was soft as Eren’s crying slowed to sniffs, petting Blake who still lapped at his cheek. <“...it’s really hard for him, because the memories are so clear… they just try to drown you, and it’s hard to not get caught in the past… but it’s not as bad as it was before. He’s been getting better, learning to put it behind him for good. It’s slow, but it’s real progress.”> He’s getting there. Lathe gave Eren a small, warm smile when he and Spades stood, getting up and moving next to them, a hand on his arm. <“Today’s been a long day. How about we get you upstairs to sleep?”> You look like you need the rest.

Eren nodded, his sobs having been subsided for now. <“Vatri… We need to sing…”> his voice a bit rough, but he cleared it soon enough, using the arms offered to him to help get him on his shaky feet.

Hannes nodded, coming to help support Eren. <“I know, let's go to your room, we can do it there… Yahweh has no preference, as long as it is done.”> Hannes helped Eren get to the stairs, Blake following quickly behind them, looking back and forth with confusion between Lathe and Hannes. I haven’t sung with you in awhile...

It’s a thing. Okay. Lathe let Eren go, turning to the dishes and waiting until they were out of earshot before looking to Spades. “So what does ‘Vatri’ mean anyway?” Eren’s been using it to refer to Hannes all day.

Spades shifted her weight as she dried the dishes Lathe handed her, looking to him. “...it means ‘Daddy.’” Eren would've called Hannes that all the time as a kid.

…… Lathe was quiet after she spoke, his expression faltering a bit. …of course it does.
Eren had finally managed the stairs with Hannes, showing him the guest room and then his own room where they moved to get Eren in his pajamas and then into bed. Hannes kneeling by the side of his bed. <“Ready Vatri?”>

Hannes nodded, letting Eren start the first few notes before he started to sing right along with him.

“Shamor vezachor bedibur ehad hishmi’anu el hameyuchad hashem echad ush’mo ehad leshem uletif’eret velitehilah

Lechah dodi, likrat kalah
penei shabat nekabelah

Hitoreri, hitoreri, ki ba orech, kumi uri,
uri, uri, shir daberi,
kevod hashem alaich nig’lah.

Lechah dodi, likrat kalah
penei shabat nekabelah

Boi beshalom ateret ba’alah, gam besimchah uvetzahalah
toch emunei am segulah, boi kalah, boi, kalah;
toch emunei am segulah,
boi kalah, shabat malkah.

Lechah dodi, likrat kalah
penei shabat nekabelah

Lechah dodi, likrat kalah
penei shabat nekabelah

Lechah dodi, likrat kalah
penei shabat nekabelah

Lathe was quiet as he heard the singing from upstairs, not really saying anything to Spades even as they finished with the dishes, meandering over to the couch and making a nest of blankets, not even turning on the TV. He simply stared at the floor, not really acknowledging that Spades came over to sit next to him.

...oh my. Spades sat down next to him, not really knowing what to do. She spoke quietly after a moment, trying to get Lathe to respond. “I didn't know Hannes was Jewish.” Did you know anything about that?

Lathe simply shrugged, not even looking up. He simply burrowed further into the quilts around him, his eyes melancholy.

Spades sighed quietly. “Alright, why don’t we go upstairs and get some rest? It’s been a long day, even without the hospital visit… I’m sorry Babe, but Eren hasn’t seen Hannes in forever, and I feel like he’s opening up a bit more with him around.” She patted his shoulder, moving to get up from the couch, giving him an arm to lean on.

Lathe slowly nodded, standing and holding onto her arm as they padded upstairs, on autopilot as he got changed and slipped into bed, thankful that Spades understood somewhat and pulled the quilt up to their chins, wrapping her arms around him from behind. He leaned back into her warmth, his mind still running in circles as he drifted into a black sleep. *of course it does.

Lathe slept fitfully until three AM, jolting awake as Blake pawed at his chest, whining. what. He completely forgot about Hannes for the moment, hopping out of bed and following Blake quickly down the hall, his eyes wide as he heard a scream of terror.... we didn't give Eren his PTSD medicine. Fuck. Lathe slid to a stop in front of Eren’s door, quickly crossing the room and crawling onto the bed as Eren thrashed, gathering him and his blanket into his arms and trying to get him to wake up, running a hand through his hair as he spoke calmly. <“Eren, wake up, it’s just a nightmare. Please Honey, it’s okay, I’m right here, Dad’s right here.”> It's okay.

Eren’s eyes snapped open, his body covered in a cold sweat from the nightmare. His breathing was shaky as his head snapped around the room, trying to figure out where he was. “He… He had a gun… He was gonna kill me after…. For putting everyone in jail… He was gonna rape me again… He tried to pull my clothes off… H-He touched me…” Eren started sobbing as he slowly and jerkily turned into Lathe’s arms, his whole body shaking from the ordeal. I don’t want it to happen again.

Hannes was at Eren’s door a few moments later, watching Eren cry and curl up to Lathe. <“Is everything alright?”> His voice rough from having just woken up and worry clearly written across his features. I don’t like that you’re screaming from nightmare… I haven’t seen you this terrified in… In a long time.

Lathe looked up, his expression neutral as he nodded to him. <“He’ll be okay, he just needs a bit to calm down…”> Lathe’s expression immediately softened when he turned back to Eren, cradling him close to his chest, murmuring softly. “It’s okay Eren, he didn't get very far, we stopped him before anything too awful happened… all of the pain is over, we found everyone. It's all done with, and you won't ever have to worry about that happening ever again. You're okay. I've got you.” You're gonna be alright.

Hannes nodded, watching Eren sob a bit more before deeming that Lathe would be able to calm him down without intervention and so went back to sleep. He'll be okay… He’s a strong kid… And has an unbeatable will.

Eren shook his head, tears still running down his cheeks. “He tried to choke me… He held me down… And I couldn’t get him out of my mouth… He… He kept doing it and I couldn’t breathe. I couldn’t knock him off, or get it out… It was disgusting… I was terrified….” Eren’s voice was broken as he told Lathe what exactly had gone down after he was brought to the warehouse. I was so scared… I couldn’t knock him off… And he kept thrusting even further in… Even when I couldn’t breathe.

things escalated. Lathe threaded his fingers through his long locks, trying to calm him and murmuring. “Eren… I'm so sorry you had to go through that… we tried to get there as quickly as I could when we thought you'd been taken… Eren Hon, I'm so sorry… but it's okay now. That's the end of it. It really is.” Lathe wished he had some wood to knock on, reaching behind him to lightly rap his knuckles on the wood bed frame. I really fucking hope so.

Eren nodded, continuing to sob, his grip weak on Lathe’s shirt. “I don’t wanna… I don’t wanna leave…” His voice was in tatters as he struggled to pull himself together. I don’t wanna leave… You'll always hold me… Always… I don’t wanna be taken from here…

Lathe spoke softly into his ear, tracing patterns over his back and coaxing him to just let it out. “You don't have to leave… Eren, you can stay for as long as you want. You don't have to go. I'm Eren’s cries continued for a long while. “I... I don’t wanna be different anymore... I don’t wanna be some freak that can’t be hurt... I don’t wanna be an abnormality anymore... I don’t wanna be made fun of... I... I... I don’t wanna be a plaything anymore.” Eren cried even more as he let out every insecurity he held within him, finally starting to really open up to Lathe. I wanna be normal again... I wanna be someone who can live through the day without fear of the past crawling up behind me.

... you're really talking to me. “You're not going to be anymore. With all of them put away, you don't have anyone to be scared of. You won't have to look over your shoulder in fear anymore, and you won't be used like that ever again. You'll learn to be okay again.” You will. It'll take time. But you will.

“Why did it have to be me?” Eren cried his fists balling up into his shirt. “What's so wrong with me that Grisha had to inject me with that fucking serum!” Eren shouted. “Why do I have to do this!? Why does my body hurt so much? Why does my nose bleed a lot... I don’t want this anymore ...” I don’t want to be a science project anymore...

Lathe let Eren shout in anger, only able to think of how lucky he was to have that serum in his system now, but how horrible it was that it made him withstand so much unforgivable abuse. “Eren... all I can say is that out of all of what he did to you, that serum has got to be the best thing. It's horrible he used it so you could live through everything he did to you... but that serum is why you walked up the stairs today. That serum is an incredible thing, and I know it makes the pain seem even worse, but it grew back a kidney and resolidified your ribs and sewed up your cuts and mended your bones and it just might be the key to helping people all over the world whose bodies break before their time mend and live. We can extend human life by years with this, potentially. I'm just... it’s something wonderful that came out of all the shit you went through... he was a horrible and inhuman being, Eren, but he was brilliant. And he just gave us something to help stop suffering.” ...how ironic.

Eren shook his head. “Why am I the only one? Why couldn’t he pick someone else from the hospital he worked at? Why did he have to do it to me? Am I so different?” I don’t wanna be different... I want to be normal again, I don’t want people to look at me like I’m some sort of freak. “Dave... He didn’t see my busted hand... They...” He sniffled as he thought about what the man did to him, curling up to Lathe more. “They were broken and bent in so many directions.... They healed before you guys got there... But he was... He was ready to take something out of me too... He wanted whatever was in my system... They know... They know that Grisha put something in me...... I don’t wanna be an experiment...” I don’t wanna be cut open again.

Lathe held him against his chest, shifting to lay down with him on top of him, still playing with his hair as they talked. “...You were his son. Grisha blamed you for Carla’s death... and you were always around. ...A ready target. But Eren, we’ve already found the serum from a syringe and isolated it. It's being duplicated, and we already have reports and evidence of its effects. Scotty had filmed your arms when you had cut, of your skin stitching itself back together... and there are bits of where Scotty is removing the metal from your legs, and the flesh is steaming up, but the steam is fanned away so the camera catches the rapidly growing flesh and bone and skin. I signed the paperwork for the videos when we were getting you discharged. It's going on the pile of evidence that this stuff needs to be created en masse and put out for the benefit of the world. They're going to start testing on animals later this year, ones with mental or physical abnormalities, see what happens. And if good things happen... who knows how long the people who receive the drugs will go on to live. ...they're also going to test it on animals that have tumours. ...if this turns out to be. able to cure something as serious as that… Eren, it doesn't reverse all the shit you'd gone through… but…” It would make it more worth it. “It could help so many people. That's what we're hoping.”

Eren nodded and sniffled. “Who’s making it? Are they gonna need to run more tests on me?” Am I gonna be a Guinea pig again?

Lathe shook his head. “They're not going to need more tests from you- they'd just need formal medical reports if you do get injured again, detailing what all happens. But you remember Hannah? Who’s boarding her horse here? She’s working with the serum, reproducing it so that it can be used for testing. She’s the one in charge of all of that work. Casper, Scotty and I are all working on a formal medical journal on the serum and its effects. We’re very serious about all of this. It could do so much good.” It really could… I could only imagine… a world without disease…

Eren nodded. “What if… What if people can’t handle it? What if their bodies give out?” Eren looked a little horrified at his own words, sniffing as he clung to Lathe’s middle. “What am I gonna do? What happens if… If I get hurt again… And the serum doesn’t do anything? What if it never works again?” Eren started to panic as more and more what if’s gathered in his mind, Blake coming to paw at the both of them. I don’t wanna die… But what happens if I cut my finger… And it overreacts? And heats my whole body up? What happens if I die? What happens then?

Lathe gently shook Eren by the shoulders, trying to bring him back to reality. “Eren, that's what clinical trials are for. It could be years before we have enough data to determine if the serum is safe enough for the general public. And if the serum stops working, or works the way it isn't supposed to… then there's normal medical help for you. Either way, we’ll take good care of you, no matter what happens.” He pressed a kiss to his temple, trying to calm him. You'll always be well taken care of. I'll make damn sure of it.

Eren swallowed hard before nodding again, moving to nestle his head into Lathe’s chest, holding onto him still. “Don’t leave… Please.” I don't want you to go.

Lathe shook his head, adjusting the blanket so it better covered them, his voice quiet. “I won't.” He pressed a kiss to the top of his head, one reassuring hand on his back and his other carding gently through his hair, slowly lulling Eren to sleep, letting himself drift after Eren's breath had evened for quite some time. I'm not going anywhere.

Eren slept for the rest of three hours, waking up with a start as Blake pawed at his chest. He realized quickly where he was before releasing Lathe silently from his grasp and without disturbing him. He got dressed and ushered Blake out as he went out into the silent house. I need to relax, I'm fine… I'm fine… It's not gonna happen again…

He took a deep breath, steeling himself as he went outside, getting Charlie tacked up and riding him towards where he had gotten pulled off, finding the lump in the snow in a very recognizable shape.

It's the gun… His body froze as memories of yesterday's events started to flood through his mind. I won’t be able to get away from them forever… They'll meet me eventually. Eren struggled to swallow the building lump in his throat, his hands beginning to shake as he dropped down off of Charlie with a big dust cloud of snow surrounding him before being carried off by the wind. It's still here.. It's really here… He moved to pick it up, though what caught him by surprise was Blake taking the gun and looking at him for only an instant before bolting back into the house with it, faster than Eren could grab for his collar or the gun.

No human! You can’t have it! I’ve seen that look in your eyes before! No! I need to give this to big human! Blake ran through the doggie door, his paws thundering up the stairs, his ears perked, looking for Lathe. Where did big human go? Did he not go back to sleep with other big human?
Lathe stirred a bit as Eren slid off of him, though he didn't wake up, shifting a bit and going back to his sleep. His eyes cracked open, however, as he heard Blake making a racket coming up the stairs and opening the door, sitting up as he trotted in with something snowy in his mouth. ...huh...? His eyes went impossibly wide as Blake looked up to him with a gun in his jaws, slowly moving to take the gun from him and turning the safety on, holding it carefully to not cover it in prints. I need to show Spades. Where the fuck did you get this? ...the guy must've dropped it in the snow. Well shit. Wait...where's Eren. Lathe’s question was answered as Eren suddenly appeared in the doorway, Lathe standing from the bed and holding up a hand. “Eren, it's okay. Is this the gun the man used?” Otherwise... shit.

Eren looked down and nodded, shuffling his feet. Are you gonna be mad at me again? He backed away a little bit, turning to walk back down the stairs to go back outside. I don't want him to be mad at me... What if... What if he gets rid of me because of this? Because he doesn't want to deal with this shit... Eren’s head was down as he made his way back outside, tryiing not to slam the backdoor. He felt the hot sting of tears already starting to bubble. Oh my god... Why am I crying?

Lathe’s eyes were wide as Eren shuffled away, looking miserable. Crap. Lathe walked out after him, looking to the gun in his hand and marching back to his bedroom, shaking Spades’ shoulder and setting the pistol on the dresser in a safe direction. “Spades, this is the gun the guy used to kidnap Eren. He found it outside in the snow. Guard it for me kay thanks.” Lathe spoke quickly enough before going back downstairs, following Eren and hearing the back door shut loudly, slipping on his boots before following Eren outside, who had his face buried in his hands. “Eren, Honey, come back inside, please. It's cold.” Lathe gently took Eren’s arm to lead him back, though he picked him up when he saw he didn't have any shoes on. He let him curl into his chest as he got them back inside, setting him on the couch and pulling blankets up around him before going to get his medicine from upstairs, coming back with his pills and a glass of water. “Eren, these will make you feel better. Take them, please.” Lathe offered him the both of them in turn. You need your meds.

Eren took the pills, swallowing them without hesitation before he drank the whole glass. He moved to curl up into a ball under the blanket, as if trying to hide. “Dad... Why can't I stop crying?” He sniffled, trying to hide away still. This is embarrassing... I can't stop...

Lathe sat down next to him, giving him a bit of space and answering. “You didn't have your meds last night. You were bound to be a bit more emotional than usual. It'll pass. Promise.” Lathe gently patted his shoulder, not sure if Eren wanted closeness or space. It could be either with you... and I don’t wanna overstep anything because then you won't tell me that I am, but you'll ask if I'm not doing enough to help calm you... I dunno...

Eren nodded, staying curled up and hidden under his blanket, feeling a bit more security. “Can... Can I stay here... Please...?” I don't wanna get kicked out... Even though you said you didn’t want me to leave... “I don’t wanna get kicked out...” I don’t wanna be abandoned as some worthless piece of trash...

Fuck it. Lathe moved to climb into the nest with Eren, sharing the quilts and pulling him close, his nose buried in his hair. “Eren, I would never kick you out. I love having you around- Levi too. You both are welcome here for as long as you could possibly want. You're more than welcome.” Stay. Please.

Eren hiccuped, nodding as he turned to curl up into Lathe’s chest, his hands still shaking a bit as he held onto his tank top. I don’t want you to leave... I don’t want anyone to leave anymore... I don’t want... Well... What I don’t want. That’s really a problem isn’t it? What I don’t want to happen always happens... Maybe I should... No. I can’t give up, I promised Dad... And Vatri would be upset too.

Lathe hugged Eren tightly to his chest, his hand running soothingly over his side as he listened to Eren speaking freely. "Eren, I'm not going anywhere. I can promise you that. I'm not leaving on my own accord. And Eren, please… don't give up. Hannes and I want you to keep trying to get better… we want you to be okay. And sure, nobody ever gets what they want all the time… but things are going to start going in your favour, I just know it. Have a little faith. It'll be okay.”

Really.

... Faith... Something I never believed in... Eren only let out a soft sigh before hiding his swollen, tear-stained face away from the rest of the world, though his body jumped when a solid knock at the front door freaked him out. Who... Who's here?

Spades came down the steps, in shorts and one of Lathe’s shirts which hung off of a shoulder. “Thanks for coming, Dave, I know it’s early, but it’s evidence.” She led him upstairs to get the gun into an evidence bag. I really want to lock them all up forever... Then Eren will be able to move on.

Dave grunted and pulled on latex gloves, carefully handling the gun. However, when he opened the magazine to inspect the cartridge his brow furrowed. “There are three rounds missing... Any idea where they would be?” Generally criminals go around with loaded guns until they shoot.

Lathe calmed Eren down as he saw who was at the door, smirking a bit as he noted Spades wearing one of his shirts. ...I like them better on her. Lathe simply held onto Eren, leaning back with him in his lap, letting his eyes fall shut, resting with him there. His eyes opened as he heard Spades thunder down the stairs, pulling the blanket off of him and Eren and searching for something on Eren’s body. “Whoa whoa Spades, what’re you doing?” Lathe asked her, surprised, his first instinct to pull the quilt back around a nervous-looking Eren and stop Spades. What're you trying to find?

Spades continued to search Eren’s arms and legs, completely removing him from the quilt and lifting up his shirt. “Where did you shoot yourself Eren?” Spades was frantic trying to find the wounds, carefully looking for healing skin. He had to have done it today... He didn’t have any bullets yesterday in his body. She was continually looking over him, no matter how hard Eren tried to push her away he was no match.

... what. Lathe looked between Spades and Eren for a split second, his gaze finally settling... on Spades. What. “Spades, what the heck? Calm down, you're freaking him out.” Lathe stood with the quilt on his shoulders still, his hands catching hers and moving them from their hold on Eren’s shirt, letting go to wrap him back up in the warm blanket. His hold was gentle, trying to ease Eren’s obvious nerves as he spoke to Spades, his tone cool. “What in the world makes you think he did that?” Do you have, I dunno, evidence he did?

“Lathe, listen to me, there are three rounds missing from that gun, and there were no bullets in his body yesterday! If he found the gun, then the next logical thing to think is that Eren shot himself since it’s got missing ammunition!” Spades’ voice grew as she turned to Eren to get him out of the blanket again. I need to find where you shot yourself! We can't have you doing this all the time!

Lathe’s gaze hardened as she went to again inspect Eren for bullet holes, discrepancies in her argument glaring at him. He immediately shifted so Eren was wrapped in the blanket himself, Lathe putting himself between Eren and Spades, holding her gaze. “Spades, excuse me for saying so, but there’s a bit of a problem with your logic there.” Lathe didn’t know what possessed him to, only knowing his tone had become cold. “First of all, the walls in this house are not soundproof. If the gun was shot, because it obviously didn't have a silencer on it, we easily would have heard it, especially if it was fired multiple times. That being said, the gun would then have to have been shot yesterday, when it was in the possession of the maniac who kidnapped Eren. Secondly, the gun can do this amazing thing—be fired at the ground or sky to scare people, or even better miss. Neither of us were home yesterday when he was kidnapped to hear anything. Thirdly, Eren wouldn’t’ve had enough time to even think about shooting himself because Blake was the one who brought the gun to me in his jaws and I can only imagine he picked it up the second he recognised it. And fourth: If Eren really did shoot himself, then the serum would kick in to heal his wounds. And the side effect that never fails to show when that happens? His nose bleeds. And Spades, his nose isn’t bleeding. And I hate how you look over any other possibility and automatically assume that Eren must’ve tried to off himself again even when he’s been doing so much better and he’s been showing his true personality so much. He knew there was a gun, went to find it, found it, and Blake took it the second he got the chance and gave it to me. That’s when I gave it to you. There’s nothing. Else.” Lathe’s expression didn’t falter, smouldering. “That’s some faith you have in him.”

Good fucking job.

Spades watched him, her eyebrow twitching in anger, her arms crossed against her chest, not stepping down from this argument. “Eren never told us that he shot at him, or tried to scare him! And you know what? I’m fucking scared. I’m scared he’s gonna try it again! He’s already tried three times! For all I know he could still be thinking about the fourth chance that he gets!” She shouted back at him her voice rising even more. “You’re right I have great faith in him. Blake was the one to bring the gun back! I can only imagine that Eren had either shot himself with the three rounds or that he was gonna shoot again! And who knows? Maybe we were too deep in sleep to hear the damn thing!” Her gaze was hard as she brought up a basic fact. Blake brought it back… Not Eren… He was gonna do it again….

Hannes cleared his throat, trying to get their attention as they hadn’t seen Eren move behind him to hide in fear. <“I’m sorry to bother your little disagreement… But you’re scaring Eren.”> He could feel Eren’s hands shaking into the back of his shirt as he hid from the two of them.

Lathe looked over from Spades, the anger immediately disappearing from his expression, slowly stepping over to Hannes and Eren. <“Sorry about that- Eren, I’m sorry, I got mad… please, don’t be scared. We’re not mad at you. It’s okay. …Is it okay if we just talk for a bit?”> We need to know exactly what happened… you were there, so you would know.

Eren looked down, shuffling his feet, unable to lift his head to meet Lathe’s eyes. <“Y-Yeah…”> His voice was timid and he didn’t seem like he was going to move away from Hannes’ protection anytime soon. They don’t believe me… Well, at least Mom doesn’t believe me… But she’s not wrong… The bullets weren’t in at the hospital…

Lathe sighed quietly as Eren made no real move to unlatch from Hannes, feeling a bit guilty for letting… whatever the hell emotion it was get away from him. He looked to Hannes, quietly asking. <“Hannes, he’s scared of Spades and I right now… can you sit with him for this please? You should hear what happened too, anyway.”> You should know.

Hannes thought about it for a second, looking behind him to see Eren shaking before he nodded, turning to pick Eren up and sit down with him on the couch. Well, you’ll want the blanket… Cause you’re cold, and I know you never liked the cold weather back at home. He reached for the blanket in the middle of the couch to wrap Eren in beside him only Eren shifted instantly into his lap. Well… That’ll work I guess.

Eren kept his head down, not meeting anyone’s gaze. He followed Hannes as he was led to the couch, feeling Hannes shift to grab something. I don’t want to be left alone… He crawled up into Hannes’ lap, curling into his chest, his eyes still focused down at his own feet. They’re gonna ask Spades watched Eren crawl into Hannes’ lap, looking over to Lathe to see his reaction. How are you gonna start this? You certainly believe that he wasn’t trying to do anything with the gun, even when Blake was the one who brought it back to you. She kept her arms folded though the anger had for now disappeared from her demeanor.

Lathe looked over to her, his expression apologetic and reached a careful hand to her arm and bring her with him to sit on the couch, giving Eren two feet of space. He nodded to her arms, defensive and a bit nervous as he quickly signed to her. {Body language.} I don't want him to think either of us are mad at him… Lathe looked back to Eren when she uncrossed her arms, speaking quietly, his tone soft. <“Eren… what was the first thing that happened when the man showed up?”> Did anything happen before he tried to get you off Charlie?

Eren looked over to where their hands were, still not looking up to anyone's face. <“He came looking for you. He asked if I knew where you were… And he got mad, and he pulled the gun out.”> … And he shot me…

<“…Did he end up using the gun?”>

Eren nodded, slowly. <“He shot me.”> That was all Eren said at the moment, looking down at his own hands as he was starting to remember what happened, yet Blake wasn’t tipped off at it, he was sniffing at his feet, as if he could smell something.

Lathe’s eyes widened, his voice still soft, though worried. <“…how many? And there weren’t any bullets in your body while you were at the hospital… were they clean through shots, or did something else happen?”>

Eren was silent for a bit. < “Three… He shot me in the forehead… The abdomen… And my throat…”> and I honestly have no idea what happened to them… All I know is that they were gone… And they didn’t go all the way through… I was choking on my own blood… But it wasn’t going anywhere… I had to stop struggling after that. He was silent for a bit before speaking up. <“I thought about it… Again, taking my own life… But then I realized he shot me…… And it did nothing… I barely bled at all, and I’m forced to wonder at this point if I could even try anymore? Would it ever be successful? He shot me in the gut, I struggled, he shot me in the head, I struggled… Then he shot me in the neck and I had to stop… I was choking on blood, but I think it healed before blood got anywhere…”>

<“Your body could have forced the bullets out… we do that with foreign objects… and honestly, at this point… probably not.”> Lathe said the last part quietly. <“I hope you never seriously try anything like that again… and not just because you don't think it'll work… but because you'd rather live instead.”> Lathe fell silent, looking at his hands in his lap. <“So that’s why he was able to drag you off of Charlie… how did he get you to the warehouse?”>

Eren reached a hand up to run at his neck. <“While I was struggling to breathe… He tied up my hands and dragged me to his car… And then threw me in the trunk… We got to the warehouse and he threw me to the ground and tried to choke me with his dick… And then… He untied me so that he could get my clothes off… And that’s when I tried to fight back…”> Eren was still subconsciously rubbing at his neck as he was talking, his eyes glazed over a bit. It all happened so fast…

<“…You really fought like hell. I'm really proud of you for that. After he was down, what did you do?”> I know you ended up calling people.. but did anything else notable happen?
Eren looked down at his hands. <“I called Mom… Cause I was scared… I didn’t know what to do… And...and-and then I called Scotty, cause my leg was broken… It wasn’t healing for the longest time… I was really scared…”> Eren whimpered as he curled up to Hannes a bit more, feeling his hand run through his hair.

Spades’ face paled a little at the memory. He was screaming into the phone... As soon as I answered. It was terrifying, I didn’t know what to do except send Dave to go get him help until the ambulance came. He told me he needed to call Scotty, cause he wasn’t healing... He was terrified, and I was stuck in the office. Spades tried not to cry as the feeling of helplessness washed over her once again, moving to get closer to Lathe. It felt like I couldn’t do anything to help him... I was scared for him. ....... Shit, I shouldn’t’ve doubted him.

Lathe sensed Spades’ distress, timidly wrapping his arm around her middle and holding her close to him, grateful that she didn’t move away from him as he did. His thumb ran over her side as he spoke quietly. <“Hannes and I came home from the airport and went looking for you… when we saw Charlie out back without you on him, I panicked and went to find you. You didn't answer when I yelled for you, and I climbed on the wood pile to see if I could see anything… I saw a big patch where it looked like there was a bit of a scuffle and something got dragged away… I immediately pinged your phone and drove with Hannes on the ATV to find you… Dave was already there, obviously. You know the rest...Eren, I'm really sorry… we’re both still so worried about you… it can get away from us... we’re scared, I guess is the way to put it. We just really want you to get better. We’re sorry for yelling.”> Lathe reached out his other arm to him, his palm up, asking for forgiveness.

Eren looked over to the hand that was presented to him, reaching his own timidly to run down his fingers. <“I’m sorry…”> Eren moved out of Hannes’ lap, moving to curl up to the two of them. “I don’t know where the bullets went.” Eren curled up to the two of them, not minding that he barely fit in either of their laps.

Blake whined and pawed at Eren’s feet, smelling the small shells that he had stepped on and not realized stuck to his bare feet when he went outside. Does that hurt human?

Spades’ brow furrowed as she looked to where Blake was pawing, gently taking Eren's still frozen feet and pulling a few small and crushed bullets from between his toes and under his arch. Wait... These are? The same as the ones in the gun... Didn’t Eren say he got shot in the head? Shouldn’t he have died? “Lathe…” She showed the crushed bullets with worry clearly written across her face.

Hannes watched Eren curl up to the two of them smiling softly. He seems to have calmed back down again.

Lathe looked to the bullets she was holding with surprise. <“...Eren came up to the room while Blake was bringing up the gun- he must've gone outside to get it and Blake followed. After I had the gun, Eren wandered back outside for some reason... he must've stepped on them and not realised it...Dave is gonna need those.”> Yeah. Kinda important. Lathe looked up to the staircase as he heard footsteps. “Speak of the devil- Dave, we’ve got the bullets that were shot. You probably want those.” He watched as he nodded, getting another small envelope and letting Spades drop them in, sealing it and writing on the front of the envelope. “Thanks…” Lathe didn’t know what else to say, his gaze falling from him and to the floor, overwhelmed with the new information, and suddenly very aware of Spades right next to him. His voice was quiet enough that only she could hear him, sounding nervous. <“U-Uhm… I'm sorry for yelling at you... I didn't mean to sound so cold... I just didn't like that you dismissed every other possibility... that maybe Eren didn't want to... I just got really protective... I'm sorry...”>
Spades smiled softly, rubbing her head against his shoulder, curling up to his side with Eren. <“It’s alright… You did the right thing… I just… Fear got the the better of me.”> She curled up, smiling softly as Eren stayed where he was, comfortable with the two of them around him. At least he’s not terrified of us anymore.

Eren tugged at Lathe’s tank top, his eyes a bit big, though an unrecognizable emotion filled them. “Can we have cinnamon rolls?” I’m getting hungry.

Lathe smiled warmly, nodding. “Of course we can. I’ll go make us all food.” Lathe pressed a kiss to his forehead, also nudging Spades a bit and pressing one to her cheek before shifting out from under Eren, standing and beginning to meander to the kitchen, stopping to look at Hannes. <“Are cinnamon rolls alright for breakfast? Well, actually, a better question. I didn’t know you were Jewish. Is there some specific way I’m supposed to be cooking things so you can eat? I don’t know all of the kosher laws, so…”> I don’t want to only make stuff you can’t eat.

Hannes shook his head, waving his hands a bit. <“Oh no, don’t worry about it, I am only Jewish at heart… I think the prayers are lovely… You don’t have to worry about any food, I only follow normal prayers and when they’ll be sung.”> I’m not really Jewish… I just like the prayers when we sing them...

Dave smiled as the tensions in the room seemed to fade. “Alright, I need to get back to the station, so I’ll be going now.” Dave collected everything he needed before heading for the door. They’ll be alright.

Lathe nodded, understanding. He waved to Dave as he left, speaking after a moment. <“In that case, what would you like- tea, coffee, juice? Something else?”>

<“Do you have orange juice by any chance?”> Hannes moved to get up to help with making breakfast. I can help.

Eren watched Lathe talk with Hannes and smiled, curling up into Spades with a blanket, trying to warm up his cold feet. They’re cold… Why are they cold again? Oh yeah… I forgot shoes...

Lathe nodded, letting him follow to the kitchen. <“Of course- it’s the same all the time for us all, though. I’m obsessed with coffee, Eren’s obsessed with tea, and Spades just drinks water.”> Lathe fished the orange juice jug and the cinnamon roll dough out from the fridge, pouring Hannes a glass before going to start the coffee maker and set the kettle on the stove. <“Could you turn the oven on please? 350 will do it.”> As long as you’re right here, you’re helping. …which I’m pretty sure you signed up for, so.

Hannes nodded, looking at the oven and starting it at 350. I can help out with food, I know Eren probably eats a lot. I wonder if we can go riding today?

Lathe got out a cookie sheet, he and Hannes setting the cinnamon roll dough on it before sliding it into the oven. It wasn’t long before he went to retrieve Eren and Spades, calling them to the kitchen for breakfast. He had set Eren’s mug and Spades’ glass at the table, handing them plates to let them pick which rolls they wanted. He sat next to Spades so Eren could be next to Hannes, sipping from his mug and munching quietly. Food.

Eren loaded his plate with cinnamon rolls, sitting down and looking a bit better than he did this morning, the pills starting to really take effect again. I need to call Levi today… Crap… I don’t know if Hannes would say something about that… He hasn’t seen Levi either… What if he doesn’t approve? Fuck… And we usually talk in German cause not a lot of people know it. Eren contemplated possible options as he ate. Does he even know that I’m gay?
Lathe noticed Eren seemed to be thinking hard about something, speaking after he finished his first cinnamon roll, joking lightly. <“I can hear you thinking from all the way over here. You don’t okay over there?”> ...now that I think of it, Hannes doesn’t know you’re kinda famous. ...should probably explain that later, show him stuff. Is that what’s on your mind? <“Y’know, you still kinda need to explain the whole ‘being famous’ thing. That’s something that needs doing.”> Lathe looked to Hannes, smiling. <“He could probably talk your ear off about all of that. It’s really remarkable.”> I’m really proud of him.

Eren choked a bit on the bite of cinnamon roll that he had just tried to swallow, struggling to cough but finally just reaching for his tea and drinking it down. His whole body shook as he coughed, finally regaining his composure. <“Dad.”> Eren whined as the subject was brought up. <“Vatri doesn’t need to know… I’m just a damn music rat.”> That’s all I’ll ever be… I can’t ever make music for myself... I always copy others. But I can only imagine what he would think about me if I told him I was gay… Yeah no, no thank you… He’s here, I get to see him… I can try and keep Levi under wraps…. Fuck, I still need to call him… Maybe he can deal with my call being a day late? I need to get back to riding with Charlie and doing jumps. Eren continued to eat, trying to drown out the conversation around him at the table.

Hannes sighed looking over to Eren as he looked away. He still thinks about what Grisha always yelled at him. <“How is he famous? I mean… I don’t see him going to school, so has he finished college yet and pursued a degree of some sort which got him famous?”> My guess would be that he followed a musical path in college, is he a pianist? He always loved the piano we got him… And I’m pretty sure that’s it right there. Hannes looked over to the grand piano sitting in the family room, waiting for a response from Lathe.

Lathe gave Eren a sympathetic look, before his gaze turned to Hannes, smiling. <“He’s far from being ‘just a music rat.’ He isn’t going to college, and didn't, so no, it’s not as if he got a degree and what he did with that is what made him famous. Eren has got a real golden throat- he can sing like nothing I’ve ever heard before. He had gone to a local concert where this man Nate Ruess was performing, and for one of the songs, which was a duet, he picked someone from the audience to sing it with him. And that person he picked just so happened to be Eren. The video of them singing went online, and people fell in love with him. They found the covers of songs he had put on the internet, and things just snowballed from there. He also started putting up videos of him playing the piano, and there were a few of him painting beautiful murals on the wall. Those were at the old house, and we don’t have any new ones around yet, so there are just the videos of those. But he put up a bunch of art and songs, some of which I wrote, and he ended up getting signed to a record label after his online popularity just exploded. He’s got two albums out right now, and honestly, he’s a way better singer and musician than I could ever hope to be. He’s met a lot of famous and important people, and… I’m really proud of him.”> It’s been wonderful.

Hannes nodded, understanding Eren’s gift of music. <“Carla tried to teach him everything she knew… She couldn’t often because of her illness, but that never seemed to get him down, and he’s got two albums out? Do you have them? I want to listen to them eventually.”> I would love to listen to them. He turned his head to see Eren still looking away from all of them and thinking hard. <“We’re not going to get him to talk anytime soon are we?”> I also remember that you were a stubborn little child that put up with a lot, and always tried to find the bright side of things.

Lathe shook his head. <“Nope. He’s off in LaLaLand. ...but she taught him extraordinarily well. He picked up every one of the instruments we brought back from the house like it was nothing. That’s her piano-”> Lathe turned and nodded to the instrument in the next room. <“-And the other instruments like the violin and stuff are downstairs. That reminds me…”> Lathe reached across the table and gently nudged Eren’s arm, speaking to him only when their eyes met. <“I’ve been writing more stuff… when I get the draft recordings done maybe you’d like to pick some to do? That’s still a thing that needs to happen eventually.’” > You need to keep up your musical endeavours to keep the label… that’s how this works.

Eren looked back down again after he was finished speaking. “I’ll look at them…. But I’m not promising anything…” Eren mumbled before he went to go put his plate back and walk to the door, intending to go outside, barefoot and without a coat, again for the second time today. “I’m gonna go feed everyone… Oh… and um… Luna’s carrying…” He then turned and walked out the back to the barn, disappearing from all eyes as he entered. She acted all finicky when I was grooming her… Especially her rear and her stomach… And Charlie was hella pissed at me for touching her too. Sure I get the protective one out of the stallions… fun.

The last comment didn’t register with Lathe as he stood and went after Eren jumping quickly into his boots before going to catch him and bring him back inside. He just ended up picking him up and setting him back down on the mat. <“Eren, for God’s sake, if you’re gonna go outside at least bundle up so you don’t get hypothermia first.” > He chuckled a bit, helping Eren step into boots and getting a coat on him, ruffling his hair. <“We can’t have you catching cold. Now you can go.”> It finally clicked, Lathe’s expression changing, grinning. <“Luna’s carrying? Oh that’s great! We’ll have to have veterinarian come out to have a look at her soon, make sure everything’s going well. But okay, you go feed everyone. And be careful if Charlie gets protective, okay?”> Lathe smiled as Eren nodded, letting him go to the barn. Lathe came back to the table, clearing away dishes. <“If you’d really like, we can show you some of Eren’s artwork and musical pieces. Eren’s gonna be awhile feeding the animals; I get the feeling he just needs some time to think and clear his head.”>

Spades shooed the two of them out of the kitchen. “Go show him… I’ll take care of the dishes… and um… then we need to talk after you two are done… okay?” She asked, a soft blush tinting her cheeks as she thought about it. I don’t want to take the test without you there with me… She had already started cleaning up the dishes, leaving a plate with the rest of the cinnamon rolls on the counter in case Eren came back hungry.

Hannes watched the exchange between the three of them and smiled. He really does fit in with the two of them here… I’m glad that he’s finally away from that bastard. <“I’d love to see it, it seems that it’s brought him far, yes?”> I’d love to listen to the reason why you’re famous.

Lathe smiled as Spades shooed them away, nodding. <“Of course.”> I wonder what’s up. “And yeah- his talent has gotten him really far. He’s been selling lots of prints through this one website we found, he did murals in celebrities’ houses while we were in Los Angeles, where he records songs, and his albums hit no. 1-” > Lathe pushed open the door to the studio where art was hanging on the walls, a computer on a desk against the wall having tabs always open to all of Eren’s social medias. He froze, however, when he saw a new picture tacked to the wall, a huge sheet of good drawing paper with graphite pencils of all sorts of hardnesses scattered on the table. He blushed furiously as he realized who the object of the nude drawing was, tangled up in the sheets, his nether in full view and bruises littering his neck and collar, handprints on his hips. Fuck. <“Oh my God Hannes, hold on, please.”> Lathe quickly ran to the other side of the room, unsure what to do with the drawing. Eren’s going to have a fit if I untack it… but there’s no room above it to hang a cover without piercing other pieces unnecessarily… fuck. <“Uhm, Hannes- I’m sorry, but Eren’s got a work in progress on the wall that’s a bit… indecent… just warning you… but come in, there are plenty of other drawings and paintings on the walls.”> …Well then… Eren decided to draw Levi in the nude… post-sex… of course. …..oh fuck. Hannes doesn’t know Eren has a boyfriend. I can’t out Eren for him! That’s not a thing!

Hannes entered after a few moments, looking around the bright white room that was flooded with natural light and the linoleum floor which made for easy clean up. Wow… this place is amazing.
He looked around, surprised at the talent that Eren had hidden within himself for so many years, his eyes finally landing on the naked man in front of him on the wall. <“Lathe… is that Levi?”> I remember you saying something about Eren having a boyfriend… I wonder if he’s completely gay? Or is he bisexual? Hannes stood there, staring at the picture that captured his sensuality. It really is a well done piece.

...me and my big mouth. I already outed him, didn’t I. <“U-uhm, yes it is. That’s Levi.”> Lathe blushed and let his gaze instead wander over the other drawings on the wall. <“He certainly is doing a good job of it- it’s not done, though. He hasn’t signed it yet.”> It feels weird to look at. Considering it’s Levi.

<“It’s almost like you can pull him out, and bring him into the room. He’s so life like… speaking of which, where is he? I remember you saying something about him being in the marines, is he currently stationed anywhere?”> I could understand if Eren didn’t want to talk about him if he was overseas… Maybe that’s why he hasn’t mentioned him at all while I’ve been here? Hannes looked towards the computer, to the countless tabs that were open. <“Oh yeah- Eren needs to stay on top of social media and how well his art and videos are doing. Though a great deal of the time it’s been me hovering over it. I don’t post stuff for him, though. I just do bookkeeping. I have my own websites for that.”> It’s a thing. <“We can pull up even more of his artwork- he’s got a bunch of photographs and digital artwork there. And you can hear him play and sing- even if you might not understand it.”> Lathe followed Hannes’ line of sight to the computer and to the dozen tabs open. <“Levi’s at a military college out on the East Coast, training to be a marine. He’ll be graduating in May. Hopefully he won’t be stationed anywhere before the wedding.”> Lathe watched the video in fascination, completely entranced by Eren singing. Wow… He has such a good voice… and he hasn’t been singing competitively… I know Grisha would’ve had my head if I entered him in any… He sounds so good. Hannes could already feel the tears start to prickle his eyes, starting to become overcome with emotion.

Lathe nodded. <“Nate has had his fair share of songwriting, singing, and bands- he was on tour across the country after deciding to go solo. So yes- he’s one of the professionals.”> Lathe watched the screen, his eyes flicking also to Hannes’ expression. He’s really good.
Hannes took off the headphones once the song was over. "That’s what got him started?">That was beautiful… How are there not more people here… I’m surprised he doesn’t move out and live with other famous people… He sure has it made.

Lathe nodded, smiling. "Yeah- everything snowballed from there. It’s gone from him recording in a spare bedroom at the old house to having a record label and going out to California to record stuff, and being asked to paint celebrity’s houses. It’s gone so far. It’s amazing." Lathe turned as he suddenly heard a loud doorbell ring through the house, standing. "I wonder who that is? You can keep looking at videos or his other websites if you like." Lathe went to the front door, opening it and instantly nearly being tackled to the floor in a bearhug, a mop of red hair obscuring his vision. “What the hell?” It took a second for Lathe to recognize the man hugging him, laughing and his expression changing a bit to disbelief, hugging Mark back. “Hey you crazy- I wasn’t expecting you.” He looked up as Mark finally let him go, seeing Jack just facepalming in the doorway. “Hey Jack! Come on in- are you kidding me.” Lathe went to the front door, opening it and instantly nearly being tackled to the floor in a bearhug, a mop of red hair obscuring his vision. “What the hell?” It took a second for Lathe to recognize the man hugging him, laughing and his expression changing a bit to disbelief, hugging Mark back. “Hey you crazy- I wasn’t expecting you.” He looked up as Mark finally let him go, seeing Jack just facepalming in the doorway. “Hey Jack! Come on in- are you kidding me.” Lathe’s eyes widened as he saw two other figures behind him. “…you just brought the whole squad with you didn’t you.” Lathe stepped forward a bit, inviting the two behind Jack inside and shaking their hands. “It’s nice to meet the two of you- I’m Lathe. Come on in!” He shut the door behind him, rubbing the back of his neck a bit nervously. "I’m still in PJs. Dammit. “Sorry, I didn’t know you all were coming over… what’s the occasion?” Explain.

Mark smiled almost evilly. “We came to abduct your son for the day!”

Jack sighed, pinching the bridge of his nose. “…What he means to ask is if we can borrow him to play a few games? And do a few vlogs around town?” Do not go and ask people for their son as if we’re kidnapping the boy!

Wade looked around at the large house, a look of awe and amazement overriding his ability to speak and just forcing him to stare.

Lathe’s eyes widened, stuttering just a bit. “M-Mark, that’s not funny… Eren literally was kidnapped yesterday.” … This is what it must’ve felt like when I made that joke with Hannah.

“And uh, I’d have to ask him… but his… well, sorta-father from Germany is here for the week, and I just dunno how apt he’s be to leaving and going around town… he’s fine, just I dunno… he sounded like he really needed a bit to himself when he went to feed the animals.” Yeah… dunno how this is gonna work out.

Bob looked to Lathe with worry, his expression sympathetic. “Oh my god, that’s horrible… I’m really sorry to hear that. But it’s good that he’s still in one piece.” He looked to Mark and just shook his head a bit, sounding exasperated. “Mark, why didn’t you just call ahead like any normal person? It doesn’t sound like this is the best time. How Eren feels and is doing comes first.” He looked back to Lathe. “Sorry about intruding- I thought you knew. We’ll understand if it’s not a good day.” Yeah… dammit, Mark. I thought you were being responsible for once.

Lathe ran a hand through his hair, giving him a grateful look. “Thanks, really. I'll have to go and ask him- he's in the barn, so it'll take a minute. And by the way Mark-” He punched him half heartedly on the arm, tilting his head a bit. “- call if you're gonna come over, okay? We need a heads-up. Shit goes down too much. Oh, and if you see a blonde guy wander out of the studio room, he doesn't speak English. One minute; make yourselves at home.” Lathe went to the back door, stepping into his boots and getting a coat on, trudging out to the barn. He heaved the barn door open, seeing Eren feeding Oliver in the back of the barn. “Hey Eren? I've gotta ask you something.” He tramped to the back of the barn, his expression soft. < “Mark and Jack came over to see if you want to play video games, make vlogs around town. They brought Bob and Wade too. They didn't call ahead, I had no idea they were coming. They want to know if you're up for it; they totally get it if you're not though, what with everything that’s been going on lately. They understand.”

> It's good that at least one out of the four of them is sane.

Eren looked up and sighed. “Mark’s an idiot sometimes…” He took a deep breath, exhaling after a few moments. “Tell them to meet me out back, and to bring a camera and a sense of humor.” He then moved to pull Charlie out of his stall, tying him up and brushing him to put his saddle on him. “None of them have ridden a horse I don’t think…” And I don’t weigh enough for Charlie to be affected by two riders.

Lathe grinned mischievously at that, nodding. “Yes, indeed he is… I'll pass your message along.” ...now that sounds like Eren. He turned on his heel and went back up to the house, stomping the snow from his boots and hanging up his coat. He shook his head as he saw Mark rifling through a cupboard, Jack embarrassed and trying to stop him. <“Mark, I said ‘make yourself at home,’ not ‘go snoop through my stuff.’”> He missed the confused look he was given for a moment and just removed Mark from the cupboard, closing it before the look registered, his brow furrowing. <“What?”> Why the hell are you looking at me like that?

Jack tilted his head a bit, one eyebrow quirked. “Uhm, Lathe… you're not speaking English. ...is that German?” You said the sorta-dad was from Germany, so I can only assume...

Lathe’s eyes widened, chuckling a bit. “Oh, sorry- I’ve been speaking pretty much nothing but it all day and for a good deal yesterday. It’s automatic at this point. But anyway, Eren wants you all to bundle up and meet him in the back. Bring your camera and your sense of humour, because it’s gonna get real.” This is gonna be fucking hilarious.

Mark’s brow furrowed a bit, but shrugged it off after a bit and motioned for everyone to get their coats and boots back on. “Lathe do you know what your son is planning for us?” Mark asked as he shuffled into his own boots, Wade and Bob following his lead. You actually know the kid, but I have no idea what the hell to expect.

Jack shrugged, giving him a look. “You expect me ta know? I have no idea what we’d be doing unless snow or something was involved. Here, let me put it this way. You asking me is about as useful as me asking Wade. Hey, Wade!” He turned to where he was standing and just staring up and around the house, not tearing his eyes away from anything as he responded with an absent minded ‘wha?’ “What are we doing?”

Wade just looked to him, immediately confused. “...what?” ...I wasn’t part of this conversation. I know nothing. ...besides the fact that this house is huge.

“See?” Jack gestured to him, looking to Bob. “Now let me demonstrate a better way to do this. Lathe. Gracious host who is putting up with us and our asshattery. What could Eren want to do with us in the backyard when it’s currently freezing and snowy?” He asked him, patiently waiting for a response. ...by the way, sorry for the asshattery. ...I need to learn that Mark never plans stuff. ...you'd think I'd know this by now.

Lathe grinned, looking to the door as Mark stepped back inside with a camera. “...let’s just say it involves Mark, a big horse, and snow too high to normally walk through.” Oh he’s gonna learn to plan stuff.
Mark’s eyes widened when he heard his name. “I’m sorry did you say a horse!?” I’ve never ridden a horse before? How would I even be able to ride one? Why does Jack look like he’s about to piss himself from laughing??

Bob’s eyes caught the glint in Lathe’s eyes. Oh... I see, this is gonna be hella fun to watch. “Alright, well let’s get going, we don’t want to keep Eren waiting since he agreed to do this...”

Lathe shook his head, his eyes nearly sparkling. “Yes, I did indeed say your name and ‘horse’ in the same sentence. Now we don't want to keep him waiting- he really wants to see how you'd do.” Lathe let Mark make an excited sound and move to the back door as everyone got their coats and boots. “Have fun!” He waved as the door shut behind them, going back to the studio where Hannes was clicking away at the open tabs.

Eren was waiting already outside the barn and on top of Charlie already, though he wasn’t wearing a helmet. “Come on, you slow-pokes! You guys are taking forever!” Eren whined and moved to walk Charlie to keep him warm. Gotta keep you warm... since we don’t have an indoor arena yet...

Mark’s eyes widen at Eren’s whine. “Eren! How you been buddy!?” He called excitedly, racing down the steps and towards Eren, taking the camera with him.

Is that the horse I’ll be expected to ride on? It’s huge! How does Eren even get on it?

Bob looked at the impressive horse which Eren sat on regally. “He looks like you took him out of a winter magazine... Someone forgot to mention that we were coming to meet someone who rides horses.” His horse is huge! His eyes flickered towards the yard outside the fenced in area, seeing the area cleared out of snow and jumps in place. Can he really ride? That would be interesting to see.

Jack’s eyes widened as he saw the horse, grinning. “I can't believe you haven’t gushed about horse riding before, Eren. And it’s really good to see you! Is horse riding really what we’re doing?” This is gonna be good.

Wade looked to Jack, his eyes wide with surprise and a bit of worry. “Whoa whoa wait- are we expected to get on that!?” Wade pointed to the horse Eren was riding. “...dude. Just... no... that’s a huge animal and I don't know if I wanna mess with that. You know me, I'll do something horrible and it'll all just go downhill very fast.” He just shook his head. Yeah, no.

Eren sighed, swinging his leg over and jumping off of Charlie’s back. “You guys were the ones who came uninvited...” He turned his head giving a pointed glare towards Mark.

“Why are you glaring at me? I didn’t do anything!” Mark cried. Okay... Well maybe I didn’t call earlier.

Eren shook his head. “Bob, take the camera. Mark’s going first.” I don’t give a crap that you didn’t do anything yet, I kinda hope you fall off though. That'll teach you to come over without calling ahead...

Bob nodded, taking the camera from Mark’s clutches and turning it on. This is gonna be good I can already tell, and the horse seems really calm, he hasn’t even raised a hoof at us yet.

Mark’s eyes widened as the camera was suddenly wrangled from his grasp. Bob turning it on him and pressing a button, a red light blinking at him. And they’re recording. Mark chuckled nervously, addressing the camera. “Uh, hi everybody! Markiplier here, along with Bob, Wade, Jack and the awesome Eren Yeager-” His tone suddenly became very nervous, getting a bit louder as Eren suddenly began tugging him over to Charlie. “-who is now forcing me to ride a horse someone help!” Mark weakly struggled against Eren, looking helplessly to everyone, all of whom were busy watching and trying to control their laughter. “You all are horrible.” Mark turned and kept his eyes on Charlie, scared as he was suddenly right next to him, the animal plenty taller than him. “Oh, um, Eren, I just remembered-” He turned to Eren, patting his pockets and giving him an apologetic look, pretending to look for something that wasn't there. “-I left my helmet at home, so I can't go riding today. Sorry, guess we'll just have to not go riding-” He tried to step away casually, only for Eren to firmly catch him by the arm. ...Fuck. I'm doing this, aren't I.

Eren finally picked him up almost too easily and helped him into the saddle. “Now stay, he won't move, just get used to being on the horse.” He disappeared into the barn for a few seconds, handing a helmet up to Mark. “Alright, have you done anything stupid to Charlie?” I swear if any of you freak him out, I'm gonna have a panicking mare to figure out too...

“W- WHAT?!” Mark began to internally panic as Eren lifted him up and somehow got him on the saddle, staying completely still as the animal under him shifted slightly, his expression one of terror and afraid to even breathe on top of Charlie, who in reality had simply acknowledged his existence and was chill with it. “...I'm on a horse...” Mark looked up from the horse, pleading with his eyes for any of the three to get him down. His eyes ended up wandering to the studio windows, glaring as Lathe and a blonde man looked on with wide grins. ...fuck you, this is terrifying. “Stop laughing, I'm about to die!” Mark looked down as Eren suddenly handed him a helmet, thanking him sarcastically. “Oh thank you very much, O torturer, for the thing that will not prolong my life for anything more than five seconds. And no, I don't think so- wait, did I and that's why you're asking? Fuck what did I do?!” Mark immediately put on the helmet and latched it, making a distressed sound as Charlie shifted under him again. “...it's moving…”

Eren chuckled and rounded Charlie as he shifted on his feet. “He’s getting cold, we gotta move him around.” He nonchalantly hopped up on Charlie, in front of Mark. “And no, you didn’t do anything wrong, Charlie just can’t panic...” I don’t want him freaking out... He took the reins and started to walk Charlie around at a good pace, making sure that Mark was holding onto him. He’s shaking, and it’s shaking the saddle. “Mark... Calm down, ya overgrown pansy.”

Mark was grateful that Eren was now in the saddle as well, letting out a surprised sound as Charlie began to walk, immediately going to cling onto Eren for dear life. He stared at the ground, which began to look a lot further than just a few feet. “...this is how I die...” He tried to glare at Eren as he spoke, unable to really look anything other than scared for his life. “...I'm not a pansy... I'm just...” He nearly lost his train of thought as Eren turned Charlie, making them sway to one side a bit. “...fearing for my life, is all...” Nope nope nope let me down please ...

Eren smirked, taking Charlie over towards where Bob held the camera. “Come on Mark! You gotta smile to the camera... Oh don’t be laughing Wade, cause you’re next!” Eren’s smile brightened towards the camera as they came close. You are all gonna pay for not calling first!

Mark chuckled nervously as a loud ‘WHAT?!’ came from Wade, trying to smile to the camera, though he obviously mouthed ‘help me’ to the lens, Bob grinning as he held the camera steady and simply shook his head. Damn you. “...how much longer is this gonna be?” ... Someone needs to stop this kid...

Eren smirked, moving in the saddle to turn around, smirking at Mark. “Learned your lesson yet?” You gonna come over unannounced again? His arms were crossed as he sat backwards on the saddle. I wonder if I should get Charlie to walk around. His smirk was completely evil, kicking Charlie into gear while he was facing Mark.
Mark nodded immediately, his expression one of serious fear as Charlie started going even faster, any real handhold for him gone. “YES! I learned my lesson! No coming over completely unannounced! I'll call ahead! I'll make sure it's all planned just my god STEER THE HORSE or better yet MAKE IT STOP!” Please!!! Fuck I'm gonna die!!!

Eren smirked, moving to turn back around, taking the reins and moving Charlie towards the large snow pile, Charlie picking up some speed and getting ready to jump. This is gonna be fun...

Mark immediately clung to Eren again, his eyes widening as Charlie picked up speed. “E-Eren wait-” He let out a shrill shriek of terror as Charlie jumped into the snow, leaping around in the white flakes and having a ball. He spoke in terror, his words drowning out the nervous cackles behind him. “EREN PLEASE! MAKE IT STOP! I'M SORRY! I SWEAR I WON'T JUST SHOW UP ANYMORE! I SWEAR !!” Mark’s eyes were screwed shut, his face buried in Eren’s shoulder.

FUCK MAKE IT STOP!!!!

Eren smirked, settling Charlie down to walking out of the snow. “Alright, you had enough.” I've had some fun. He took them over towards where Wade stood almost shaking in his boots. “Alright Wade-y it’s your turn!” Eren halted Charlie, moving to get off before getting Mark off as well. “Did you have fun Mark?” Eren grinned as he leaned over a bit to look at him at eye level. That'll teach you a lesson. “Next time call so I don't plan on doing jumps with Charlie before you come...”

Mark immediately nodded, shaking like a leaf before backing up and latching on the closest person, burying himself into Jack’s shoulder, sounding traumatised. “...it was horrible...” His voice was muffled as he spoke into his hoodie. I'll always make plans now... His grip was a little tighter as Jack’s arms came around his shoulders, his cheek on his shoulder as he watched Wade being escorted to his doom. Have fun. Nice knowing you.

“Nononononononononono……..” Wade helplessly pleaded with Eren as he was dragged over to Charlie, being handed the helmet Mark had worn and heaved up onto the saddle. “Eren, please I'm begging you, I'm just a lowly idiot who didn't have any say in the plans... don't make me ride this animal, please, I have a serious new respect for horses, just let me come down, man, I'm sorry! I'll bug Mark and make sure plans are made correctly whenever we all do stuff, just don't make me do this!!” Noooooo....

Eren smirked and shook his head. “Don’t worry, Jack’s after you.” Eren got Charlie to start walking around, keeping him out of high snow. “So do you wanna go jumping? Or... Should I make him go faster?” I could do either right now, pick your poison.

“Mark, you're my least favourite person right now!” Wade held onto Eren as tightly as he could, scared to death of the horse under him. “Oh fuck, this is a decision I have to make? Fuck, uh... f-faster... anything but jumping...” Yeah, no thank you... “...mercy... my god, you played Undertale, I think you'd understand the concept a little better... please... be like Frisk and have some, will you?!” I don't wanna die...

Eren’s glorious laughter rang through the cold air, something no one has heard in a long time. Oh it feels good to have the guys back with me. “You do realize my favorite part of that game was the genocide run... Right?” Eren chuckled at Wade’s cries at Mark for putting him in this situation. He moved to pick up speed on Charlie, still making sure that they didn’t come close enough to step on anyone as he got fast and moved in a circle.

“Wait WHAT? You did a genocide run? You're EVIL!!” Wade was torn between being scared beyond fear and shocked at a Eren, deciding on mostly the former. “Oh my god someone do
Eren finally slowed Charlie to a stop, getting off before helping Wade off. “Alright Jackaboy, you’re up.” His grin was wide, and probably wider than it had ever been since he left the hospital after his coma. I like having these guys around! I might have to get Bob the stool for Charlie though… I dunno if I’ll be able to lift him. Eren shrugged, waiting for Jack to come up to him.

Jack nervously extracted himself from Mark, handing him his cap and slowly walking up to the horse, trying to be calm about it. He let Eren help get him up onto the saddle and put on the helmet he was given, hyperattentive about the animal under him. He swallowed hard as Eren mounted in front of him, holding on as they started to move. He looked around, surprisingly quiet. ...this is actually kinda cool... Jack seemed to actually calm down as time went on, looking around. ...this is okay.

Eren smiled a bit. “You seem like you’re enjoying it more than one would normally take to riding.” Eren let Charlie pick up from a walk to a slow trot. I wonder if he’d be up for jumps? “Wanna do a jump? I got a few out back that are small in the clearing.” Eren pointed towards where he had shoveled all the snow out from around his jumps.

Jack’s hold on Eren tightened a bit, though he moved with Charlie as he trotted along, not as stiff as a board like Mark or Wade. “Uhm… s-sure, why not? This is… this is kinda fun, actually.” Jack’s hold was tight on Eren’s hoodie as they trotted further down the path and to the jumps, bracing for when Charlie jumped and making a small noise of surprise and fear as he leapt over the lower jump with ease, smiling a bit nervously. “T-that was actually pretty cool… this is so weird… I’m riding a horse...” He chuckled airily. I can’t believe this is happening.

Eren laughed right along with him, turning Charlie around and doing the small jump again before bringing him back to the others. “I’m actually surprised you enjoyed it. Bob do you wanna get on? Or can I do the jumps with Charlie while he warm?” I got the bigger jumps to do... And you guys can come watch.

Bob shook his head as Jack got off of Charlie and handed his helmet back, immediately getting his sweatshirt reclaimed by Mark and wrangling his cap back from him. “No that’s fine, you go ahead and have your fun. I’ll just watch from here on the nice solid ground and record all of this.” He chuckled faintly as Mark whined something about him having a choice in the matter, Jack shushing him as Eren rode off back to the jumps. They all watching in awe as Eren picked up speed, going over the tall jumps with ease. ...he looks like he could be on an Olympic team. He’s amazing.

Eren kept up the speed as he and Charlie continued to go through the many jumps he had laid out with practiced ease before slowing down to a trot to get into the heated barn. “Come on into the barn so we can talk about recording while I untack Charlie.” I love riding... It’s awesome.

“Come on, ya pansy. Charlie’s not gonna kill ya.” Jack kept an arm wound around Mark as they meandered to the barn, smiling as Eren tied Charlie to a post to get the tack off of him. “That really was cool, Eren.” He ignored the dissenting mumbles from next to him, continuing. “So, recording. About that- we’ve got most of our stuff in the hotel room we booked about twenty minutes from here. We were thinkin’ we all go back there and do recording. We’ve got a few games in mind, but the only obvious definite so far is Prop Hunt. Because Bob and Wade. It’s pretty much mandatory we play it at this point.” Would You Rather is also probably gonna happen.

Eren groaned a little bit at the suggestions. “Oh my god…” He groaned rubbing his forehead.
“We’re gonna do that drunk… Aren’t we?” I can already see getting grounded for drinking… Fuck... wait, has Lathe grounded me before?

“Hell yeah we are.” Wade turned to Bob as he was punched in the arm, rubbing the spot and listening to him.

“At least the four of us are, for that matter- Eren might end up staying sober. It's his decision of course, but he’s not 21 yet I don't think. If he is it's not by much.” Bob looked to Eren, the camera hanging from his neck on the strap, his hands in his pockets. “You 21 yet Eren? If you're not, there is that law about supervised drinking, which means you could as long as we’re in the general vicinity. But y’know, it's your call when it gets there.” We're not forcing you to.

“If I’m gonna be playing with you guys… Especially Prop Hunt, I’m going to be drinking… I’ve only got two months until I’m legal.” I really don’t care... And I don’t think I can get drunk anymore.. But we’ll see.

Jack looked to him, unsure. “Sorry for sounding like a stick in the mud… but we might want to check with your dad… he might think it’s sketchy or something… I dunno…. I just don't want you getting in trouble with Lathe, is all. Or Mark, for that matter.” He looked over to him, his hand still clutching his hoodie. “…that was apparently traumatising. But it would suck if you got grounded or something.” That's a thing that might happen.

Eren shrugged. “Well, I know we need to take at least Blake… And that… Um… You guys are prepared for anything that might happen…. With my PTSD.” He swallowed the large lump in his throat and lifted the saddle off of Charlie and put it in it’s proper spot. Who knows, maybe a drink would be good for me… Maybe I need it after what happened to me yesterday...

Mark looked back at Eren as Charlie shifted a bit as if to follow him. What’s he doing he’s moving! “Uh, Eren?”

Eren looked up as Charlie moved and looked to where he was going, seeing him try to get closer to Luna. “Charlie… Knock it off! You’ll get back to her in a second!” Eren got a crop and tapped his hind quarters to get him to behave until he was groomed. You can go back to Luna. I guess we need to talk to Dad… He put Charlie back into the large stall with Luna and closed it as they nuzzled each other. That’s nice...

...that’s adorable. Jack smiled as the two horses nuzzled each other, nudging Eren a bit. “What’s the other horses’ name?” She looks a bit like him- same breed, maybe?

“Oh, that’s Luna, she’s Hannah’s horse. ...but you don’t know who Hannah is… But she’s in charge of making sure my blood looks like it’s supposed to…” …Not really sure if I’m even allowed to say what I’m really have going on... I-I’m not sure.

Jack nodded, not pressing at that more sensitive subject. “So she’s boarded here. ...is she carrying Charlie’s foal?” He looks like he’s being protective enough for that to be the case.

Eren nodded. “From what I’m guessing they bred about 10 or 12 days ago…Let’s go inside, shall we?” Gotta explain to Dad why I won't be spending the night. Eren led them all back to the house and took of his jacket and his boots. “Dad! We need to talk!” Eren’s shout was directed towards the rest of the house, not really sure where Lathe was at the moment. I wanna go record with these asshats.

Lathe’s head poked out from the studio, Hannes following him to meet the group, wearing matching grins. “Hey you all! Have fun riding Charlie?” Lathe laughed as Mark and Wade blushed to their ears while Jack nodded, smiling. “Good to hear. Oh, uhm, everyone, this is Hannes, who took care of Eren while he was really young and still lived in Germany. He gestured to the man behind him. < “And Hannes, this is Mark, Jack, Bob, and Wade. They all make videos and put them on that YouTube website, but they mostly play video games and do funny commentary, or do funny stuff in general. They’re some of Eren’s more famous friends.”> Everyone knows who these are. At least. He looked to Eren as hellos were said, smiling. “What’s up, kid?”

“Can I go record Prop Hunt with them?” Eren’s voice was quiet as he looked down at his hands as he fiddled with his fingers. I really wanna record with them. “I...I’ll bring Blake… And my meds…” I can be alright... and I think you know what Prop Hunt entails.

“Well of course you~” It suddenly clicked, looking over to the group of slightly-guilty-looking YouTubers suspiciously, crossing his arms. “...Prop Hunt is always recorded drunk. Isn’t it.” His mouth was a thin line, looking between them as they nodded a bit and Eren, thinking. ..........technically it's not illegal. On the other hand... you'd all end up seriously drunk. And if something with his PTSD happens... “Eren, I’m not sure how your PTSD would be affected by alcohol… I dunno if it’s a good idea for you to drink…”

Jack spoke up a bit, trying a bit to reason with him. “Lathe, we’d make absolutely sure that Eren takes the medicine he needs to, and he has Blake in case something goes wrong. And he has the four of us there to try and keep him calm. ...he’s been doing much better lately, I can tell just with the half hour in the backyard. I think he’ll be okay. And we’ll try and cut him off if things get excessive. We’ll be careful about all of it. We’d really like to be able to record with him while we’ve got the four of us at the same place at the same time. It doesn't happen too much.” We're all busy really often. It'd be nice to have five of us just chilling and playing hilarious video games.

Lathe looked to Jack, honestly listening to him and looking to the floor, shifting his weight as he pondered this. ...... “Eren, a few things, and I need all of you to hear this too.” He looked to the group behind Eren, and then looked him in the eye, counting off on his fingers. “One: you're taking Blake with. Two: you’re setting at least one phone alarm, properly labelled, to remind you to take your medicine at midnight. Maybe another five minutes later for if you don't see or hear it. Actually, yes. That’s also required. Three: you carefully watch what you're drinking. We can’t have you getting too drunk; it could react with your PTSD unpredictably after a certain point, most likely. And four: if anything, and I mean anything happens that none of you can deal with properly, you call me as soon as you can, and I'll come to help. I want you to be okay. And you have help readily available 24/7; you should know that, what with having the numbers of at least four doctors who you have wrapped around your finger in your phone.” He sighed, smiling. “But if you can do all of that, and have fun... okay. You can.” ...I'm still gonna worry though. He looked to the group, an eye narrowing. “But don’t think I don't still find this slightly suspicerous.” He mispronounced the word on purpose, grinning. “I'm his Dad. It's my job.” To worry. Because of course. Someone has to.

Eren finally picked his head up to meet Lathe’s eyes. “R-Really? I can go?” Eren asked with bright eyes and a huge smile breaking across his face. I can go! I can go!! Blake came up to Eren, his ears pointed towards the two new faces, as if trying to decide if he had to pull out the teeth. Maisie had followed quickly after and jumped up onto Lathe’s side, as if trying to stretch out.

Mark jumped in joy as Lathe said yes. “Awesome! We have two adjoining rooms and four queens so you can sleep with one of us... Or we can call up a cot, but I would get a bag ready so we can go.” Mark said excitedly, moving down to pet Blake as he stepped away from Eren to pet him. You’re still so protective of him.

Wade grinned, his attention immediately getting caught by the two dogs as they trotted in, tapping Bob’s arm. “Bob, look- puppies.” Omg.

Bob just shook his head, chuckling. “Wade, those are full-grown dogs. And yes. I see them.” Bob carefully extended a hand as Blake moved from Mark when he decided he was sufficiently pet, gently scratching behind his ear. “So, is this one Blake? I think I remember seeing him in the videos you had uploaded from the hospital.”

Lathe nodded, petting Maisie as Eren scurried off to pack an overnight bag. “Yep, that’s Blake. He’s Eren’s service dog. And this one who’s trying to get up here and have a staring contest with me is Maisie.” He looked at Bob, his expression deadly serious. “And Bob, understand this. It doesn't matter how old or big they get. ...they will always be puppies to me. ...and Wade.” He pet down her sides, noticing they she seemed a bit bigger around the stomach. “...wait.” Lathe knelt down on the floor, getting Maisie to stand still and he gently felt her stomach, now noticeably bulging a bit. “...no way. I don't think she can count as a puppy herself… if she’s full of teeny puppies.” He grinned, looking over to Blake. “I should've guessed. They've been inseparable since day one.”... puppies!!!

Mark’s eyes widened a bit. “Really? She’s gonna have puppies!?” His voice got a bit higher as he kneeled down to pet Maisie gently, as if fearing the protective wrath of the dog that was watching his every move. Blake’s very protective… Of everything… It appears.

Eren came racing down the stairs, sliding straight into a wall with a soft thud. “Ow… There’s a fucking wall there...” He whined as he rubbed his side, coming to see what they were congregated around Maisie for. “What’s wrong? Did something happen?” He asked worriedly. I don't want her having complications...

Lathe shook his head, nuzzling Maisie for a minute before looking to Eren, brightly smiling. “Maisie’s fine- I just found out she’s carrying Blake’s puppies!” More teeny puppies! I'm so excited!

Eren shrugged, looking unexcited. “Oh, okay, got it, yea… She’s gonna have them soon… She went into heat at the beginning of December… And it's towards the end of January now… So… Next week maybe?” Eren trailed off as he moved to put Blake’s vest on him. I knew… And I thought you would’ve known.

Lathe just stared at Eren, his expression incredulous. “You knew we were soon gonna be swarmed with teeny tiny adorableness machines and you didn't tell me? I've gotta keep a better eye on her now, make sure she looks like she’s doing okay.” He watched as Eren put Blake’s vest on him, remembering something. “Uhm, Eren, are you gonna call Levi still? ...if you are, I think Hannes would like to say hi. ...he knows. I apparently said something over the phone but I don't even remember… I’m sorry. But you shouldn't make Levi worry.” You really should call...

Eren froze the instant the words left Lathe’s mouth. He knows?... He hasn’t come back out of the room... Does he... Does he think I’m a fag? Eren instantly felt the blood drain from his face as his legs grew numb and he slipped down to the floor, his face buried in his hands as Blake moved to lick at his face to try and calm him down. He knows... What if he never wants to see me again because of it? Does he want to see Levi just to insult him and then walk away forever.

...fuck. Lathe immediately moved to where Eren sat on the floor, pulling him close and reassuring him, his voice quiet. “Eren Honey, Hannes doesn't think any less of you for it. He really doesn’t. He's so glad to hear that you're happy. He... he saw the picture you were drawing on him, and asked if it was Levi. He was really curious about him. I don't think he’s opposed at all to the fact you've got a boyfriend... Eren, I don't even remember telling him... it must’ve just slipped out as I told him so much about what happened. It's hard to write that fact out of the story, I suppose. ...but that was seriously uncool of me. I'm really, really sorry… forgive me…” Lathe offered him his palm, looking to the floor. Damn me and my big mouth...

Eren was silent for a bit, unmoving as his mind reeled. Forgive? After giving me a fucking heart attack that I would never see Hannes again? Eren kept his head down, his gaze on the floor, his hand shaking a bit as he gently touched his palm, running his fingers down it. I... I.... Eren looked away from him a bit, his eyes still glued to the floor. “I’ll call Levi tomorrow, I’ll text him that I’m with these four asshats… I’ll call him later…” I don’t wanna tell him what happened yesterday… Not yet...

Lathe nodded, understanding as he pulled Eren close for a hug, his head on his shoulder for a long moment, mumbling. “That’s fine… I really am sorry for scaring you like that. You can wait if you need to.”...dammit me.

Hannes looked between the four of the group fussing over Maisie, and then to Lathe and Eren sitting on the floor and talking quietly. He looked back to the group giving Lathe and Eren a minute, his eyes fixing on Mark. He quirked an eyebrow as Mark looked up, his eyes glinting as he spoke. <“You scream like a girl.”> It’s very amusing.

Lathe and Eren just burst out laughing at that, Lathe adding to his comment. <“He screams like a yandere.”> Eren laughed even harder at that, Hannes giving him an odd look and Mark trying to figure out what they just said. He waved to Hannes. <“It’s a video game reference. I'll show you later.”> He chuckled as Mark looked between the three of them, trying to figure out what they said and only understanding the word ‘yandere.’

Eren could barely contain himself as the conversation continued. Oh my god… This is awesome. He got up and moved away from Lathe, their conversation seemingly forgotten. “Alright… Well, Vatri… That’s certainly one way to put it… Come on guys, let’s get going so we can get setup for recording.” I brought my own camera with me for a face cam…. And my laptop that should be good. I made sure to bring the charger for both too.

Lathe stood as well, grinning widely and looking to Mark, who had a very confused look on his face. “Oh. Hannes said you scream like a girl, and then I said you scream like a yandere. Which you do. It’s a very impressive vocal range.” Lathe nodded as if genuinely impressed while Mark just buried his face in his hands, going ‘noooooooo….’ This is too good. He ruffled Eren’s hair after he picked up his backpack, grinning. “Don't get in too much trouble. And keep an eye on that one. If he starts playing yandere simulator drunk I can only imagine what would go down.” He seems fine now. ….where did all that sadness go? Is it just his personality? ...no, that doesn't seem right… I dunno.

Eren nodded and collected his things, Blake following them out the door. The five of them packed into the large car, letting Blake lay across the laps of the people in the back seat. I can do this, it’ll all be okay. I got everything.

Lathe shut and locked the door behind them, going back into the studio and speaking to Hannes. < “Here- there are a lot of Mark’s videos I think you’ll like. And Eren’s too. Let me just…”> He quickly clicked away at the screen, creating a playlist of about a dozen videos. < “I need to go talk to Spades- something important, apparently. I’ll be back soon. You can watch these if you want, they all have subtitles, or there are so many sketchbooks in here filled with drawings you could take forever flipping through them. Whatever you like.”> Lathe smiled to him as he nodded, going to look for Spades, hearing the hum of the dryer downstairs and going down to where she was putting things into the washing machine, his arms wrapping around her middle, kissing her neck gently. “What was it you needed to talk to me about?” Something important.

Spades smiled softly, turning in his arms to kiss his cheek. I don’t really know how to tell you though.... She nodded, taking his wrist and pulling him back up the stairs and towards their bedroom. Hopefully you’ll know once you see the box. She pulled out the large box of testers, looking down a bit, a little unsure of his reaction.

Lathe let her pull him upstairs, confused for a moment until he read the label on the box. ...oh. Lathe nodded, stepping forward a bit to press a gentle kiss to her cheek. We can hope.

Spades smiled softly, taking the box and going into the bathroom for a minute or two before coming back out with the test in her shaking hands. I don’t know if it’s gonna work… We’ve been trying… And I’ve been taking my pills.

Lathe stepped up and slid behind her, his arms winding around her waist, nuzzled into her shoulder, his eyes on the test in her hands, trying to ease her nerves. She was pressed flush to his front, silent for an agonisingly long moment until the results finally showed. ...negative. Lathe murmured soothingly in Spades’ ear as she began to shake, walking with her to the bed and trying to kiss away her tears, sitting on the bed and letting her curl to him. “It’s okay Spades… it’s okay, we’ve still got time. It’ll happen eventually, it really will. We can hope. Please, don’t cry.” There is time.

Spades shook her head, continuing to cry, her whole body shaking. “I’m… I’m s-sorry…” She let him kiss her face as she continued to cry. I got my hopes up... What if I can never be pregnant? What happens then?

“It’s okay, Love… we still have time… it’s not going to be easy… but it’ll happen. I know it will. We just need to be patient. It's okay.” Lathe pressed sweet kisses to her cheeks, holding her close to him.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

“And I will see all you dudes, in the next video!” Jack grinned widely as he threw up his arms for the outro, picking up the empty bottles next to his laptop. I'm on six... I need to get more for over here and get rid of these. Jack walked to the table where the cases of beer were, leaning on it as he set in the empty ones and took out two more, looking to where Eren was set up, his own area littered with bottles. “Want me to take some ‘a those?” Jack stopped short, counting them as he picked one up. ...there's a lot here... ........................ten? “Eren, you’ve had a lot. Maybe… knock i’ off for a bit?” Jack placed a bunch of the empty bottles in the cases, clearing away Eren’s space. “Seriously… don' want yer Dad gettin’ mad.” ........nope. That's bad.

“...how many?” Bob looked over his shoulder as he heard Jack speaking, studying the bottles Eren had gone through. “....dude, I'm only on six. You drank a lot.” ......those are lots of bottles.

Wade waved at them, sipping from his bottle before speaking. “Eh, he’ll be fiiiiiine. It’s not like Lathe can ground ‘im or anything.” .........that's illegal.

Eren sluggishly looked back over towards Jack and shrugged. “I feel fine… I got a good buzz going right now… It’s really nice…” Eren giggled a bit and moved to get up and go to the bathroom. Blake came over to his seat and sniffed around, as if trying to make sure there wasn’t anything Eren could hurt himself on. Hmmmm... Human smells fine...

Mark got up from his chair, stretching. “Alrighty boys… I sugges’ a livestream.....” He moved over to their cooler, picking up another bottle and gingerly sipping at it. “I’m a’ six too…” But Eren looks fine, he’ll be okay...
Wade grinned widely and stupidly, raising his bottle in agreeance. “I secon’ that motion. Let’s do ‘dis.” They all ended their current recordings, starting up a live stream and struggling to split the screen into six sections, everyone in their own section with their face cam and screen, the last showing the people watching and also decorated with a fan-sent animated sprite of Mark dabbing infinitely. Mark’s computer surprisingly could handle it, and they began the introductions, trying to go in order and instead stumbling over their words and trying to interrupt other’s intros.

Eren sat down between Jack and Mark, Blake making sure that Eren felt comfortable. “Are we… Still doing PropHunt?” He had a new bottle in his hands, sipping at it every few minutes as they started to play a few rounds. “Bo~b I see you!” Eren was starting to immediately shoot the moving chair, finally getting him with blood splatter everywhere.

Bob groaned. “Aww, nuts… Goddamit Eren… Now let's see where are you Wade?... Wade you're fucked…” He was laughing hysterically not two seconds later following Eren’s takedown of a stuck trash can. That was awesome, we need Eren in on these PropHunts more often.

A new round began, Mark fanning out with Jack and Eren to try and take cover. He immediately became a huge shelf, staying alive for a surprisingly long time before he was discovered. “Oh come on! I had the best spot! Where are you two? Jacks still alive, right?” He switched views, chuckling as he saw what he was hiding as. “Jack, your Irish is showing.” He laughed as he saw the other players run past the lone beer can, though he kept laughing louder as Bob or Wade approached him, nearly giving him away.

“Mark, shut the hell up, you're gonna blow my cover!” Jack was nevertheless grinning as he eventually booked it from his spot when neither Bob nor Wade were looking, trying to get somewhere else. “Eren, I have no damn clue where you are, so if we end up in the same room I'm only sorta sorry. ...actually I'm not sorry. Just deal with it.” He sipped from his beer as he waited to be noticed, his eyes widening as the prop directly next to him got shot, revealing it as Eren. He kept absolutely still, Bob and Wade looking in circles for him, timing out. “Ay! I win! Yay for non-mediocrity!” He grinned as Eren just started talking, making comment after hilarious comment as they played. …...

Eren smirked, more snarky comments rolling off his tongue as they got up to get a few refreshments after a couple rounds of playing. He was flicking through his phone, giggling like a child as he read the comments. “Heh… Guys… They say that I’m better at this game… Than all you asshats…” Eren picked up another bottle as it was handed to him, though the drinks were starting to slow as the guys let their alcohol settle. It’s getting late... What number am I on? I can’t remember… I stopped counting after 8 and that was a long time ago.

Mark grumbled a bit. “Alright you asshat, thanks for… Bringing tha’ up… Now… Rrreeee we gonna keep playing?” I wanna kick this kid’s ass, I don’t know why we don’t add him into the calls when we do this kind of stuff… He’s awesome! He turned his head watching Eren down yet another bottle. “Eren… You’r cu’ off.” Mark moved to take the bottle away from him and was successful in the attempt. Nope, I don’t need Lathe to ground you from the computer…

Jack waved at them, trying to shush them as he called down to room service. “Shut yer faces, I’m trying to order food from th’ nice lady. I don’ trust us ta go anywhere ta get food.” He dialed the number slowly, trying to speak clearly and ordering a list of food the others pointed to on the menu they had in the room. “Y’all need ta give me money for what ya ordered, cause I’m sure as hell not footing this bill.” …it certainly isn’t cheap.

Wade just looked over his shoulder to him, handing him a bill. “When’re my fries gon’ be here…?” He whined as Jack simply said ‘soon,’ grumbling when he didn’t say anything else. …I want fries.
Jack took the money, though he was surprised as Eren placed a black credit card in his hand before moving to grab another beer. “...I guess we’ll just give you the money and put it on this, if tha’s easiest?” He handed him the bills he had rounded up, his brow furrowing as he saw the beer in his hand. “…just how many have ya had?” … lots, obviously. But you’ve drunk more than any of us here.

Eren shrugged, picking the bottle up again. “Um…… I don’…. I don’ know…..” He finished the bottle, putting it down, Blake coming right to his side and whining at him. I’ve had a lot… But the buzz feels really nice, I feel light headed...

Jack’s brow furrowed as Blake whined at Eren, taking away the empty bottle. “Eren, seriously, we’re cutting you off. Ya don’ look too good.” He put away the empty bottle, lightly smacking away Eren’s hand as he tried to reach for another. “Food will be here soon, Eren. If you’re thirsty, there’s water in the mini fridge. Don’t gimme tha’ look.” He stood his ground as Eren pouted at him. “We’re in charge of takin’ care a’ ya. And that entails me becoming mom and cuttin’ ya off when ya had enough.” He even went and got a bottle of water for him, taking the beer he had just tried to open away and putting it in his hand instead. “Come on, it won’ be no fun if yer passed out.” …….mom mode activated.

“Jaaaaack…. I wan’ my fries…..” Wade still whined at Jack, watching his exchange with Eren. ‘I’s tha’ time a’ the night wh’n Ja’ mother-hens ev’ryone… is i’ tha’ late a’ready…?’ Wade looked to the clock on the wall, trying to read the time upside-down. “...wha’ time ‘s i’?”

Bob looked up to the clock, staring at it for a long time before turning to Wade and proudly announcing: “....late.” ...I’m not wrong. “...late enough for me t’ not be able t’ read the clock.”

“Uuuuuuuugh……” Wade made an exaggerated groan of exasperation, spinning a bit in his chair and mumbling about fries. ...foooooooood......

Mark whined as he saw Jack fawning over Eren. Why does Eren always get all of his attention? Why can’t he look at me? Why can’t he look at me? Mark whimpered moving to wrap his arms around Jack’s waist. Whyyyyyyyy? Eren do in’ t nee your help…” Mark whined and clung to Jack’s hoodie, dropping to his knees as he whined incessantly.

‘I want attention.

Jack looked down as Mark clung to him, sighing and rolling his eyes good-naturedly. “Get the ‘ell up here, ya big oaf.” Jack bent down to help heave Mark onto his feet, letting him cling to him and keeping an arm around him, rubbing his back to pacify him. “‘M just makin’ sure nobody ends up in trouble with Lathe is all.” He chuckled a bit as Mark’s head dropped onto his shoulder, his hands tracing over his back as he took up his attention. “Attention-hog. You always get so damn clingy.” He had a smile in his voice as he said it though, going to sit on the edge of one of the beds as Mark leaned heavily on him. “Well, until Mark decides to let go of me I’m kinda out of the game. ...as well as Mark, obviously.” He chuckled a bit nervously as Mark nestled further into his neck. ...dammit...

Eren groaned, returning to his chair in front of his laptop, his stomach growling. Fuck…. I’m starving… what time even is it? Are we being too loud? Fuck… my head’s starting to hurt a little… He shoved off the discomfort and played the game with Bob and Wade, easily finding and killing the two before hiding in the perfect spot as a roll of paper towels on a lower shelf. “You guys are never gonna fucking find me…” Eren put his controls down, pulling out his phone as it blared annoyingly. What the fuck is this? Why is my phone alarming?? He shook his head, turning the annoying alarm off and going to look through the comments page.

‘Eren, the alarm went off. Take the things you’re /supposed/ to this time of night like every other night and cool it with the drinks, okay? I need to make sure you can see this…. #Coffedad’ comments page immediately picked up on it, resending the message and redirecting Eren to the first one. He needs his meds, and my god is he gonna be hungover in the morning...

Eren’s brow furrowed as he tried to think about what he was supposed to be taking. What am I forgetting? What did I do last night? Pray? Well yeah, I guess that’s alright. I have them running around looking for my spot. “Guys… I godda do som’thin’.” Eren got up and moved over away from the camera towards the empty bed that Mark and Jack were not occupying. I can pray here really quickly.

Mark had pulled Jack onto the bed and held onto him, nuzzling his forehead into Jack’s chest. Why do you always pay attention to everyone else… and not me? Mark held him a bit tighter, a pout clearly on his face. “I wa’ addension….” His mumbles were a bit giggly as he heard Bob and Wade actively cursing Eren out, struggling to find out where his hiding spot was. This kid knows everything… damn…

Jack let Mark practically lay on top of him, chuckling a bit at his words and letting one hand card through his red hair, staring up at the ceiling and listening to Bob and Wade’s curses. He soon heard Eren begin to speak at the edge of the bed behind them in Hebrew, praying. …he’s Jewish? Jack patiently waited for Eren to finish his prayers, speaking as he stood. “I didn’t know you were Jewish.” I’ve never noticed anything to point to it before.

Eren shook his head looking towards the computer as he won the round. “No I’m not, are you guys gonna come back? I need some help…” Eren staggered a bit but found his footing after a bit, shaking his head. I drank a lot… fuck… I didn’t even really realize that I was drinking that much. He moved to sit down at his seat, waiting for the new round to start.

“NooooooOOOO!” Wade shouted from the other room. “Don’ help Eren! He don’ nee id!” Wade’s voice was a bit hoarse from shouting as him and Bob found hiding spots. I wanna actually beat him!

Mark finally let go of Jack, moving back to his computer. “Com… on… tim’ fur more!” Mark got to his seat safely, getting his headset on and immediately starting on Eren’s side to try and find Bob and Wade. We need to help Eren Jack… I don’t care what Wade’s complaining about.

Jack watched him, making sure he made it to his chair without incident before sitting up, getting out his phone. “Give me five minutes- I’m going to do a bit of chat room monitoring because we’ve kinda ignored it for the most part.” Not cool. Jack opened the chat and began to scroll, immediately seeing a flood of comments with the same hashtags.

‘#MotherHenSepticeye make sure Eren doesn’t take the L and takes the Ps instead! #theyrephysicalobjects #iwasnntalkingaboutprayers #yesisawthat #doitorhesgrounded’ …my god, think! Use that pickled brain to understand! He needs those meds!

Jack’s brow furrowed, thinking hard. “…I’m a mother hen now. …well they’re not wrong…. what…” ……………he’s supposed to take the pills or he's in trouble. Jack stood, saluting to the camera behind Wade who was closest and going to rifle through Eren’s bag, getting the bottle before going and poking him. “Eren, you need to do a thing.” He quickly read the label, getting Eren to stop playing for a second as he pressed the small white pill into his hand and opened his bottle of water for him. “Come on, your Dad stormed the comments to make sure you do this. Don't make the effort be for naught.” He grinned a bit. Everyone knows who he is on YouTube-otherwise, he would’ve just gotten drowned out. Good thing he didn’t.

Eren looked at the pill with confusion for a few seconds before taking the pills and chugging the whole water bottle down with it. I’m thirsty… hmmm… Eren looked back to the game, finally finding Bob and killing him off quickly. “Oh Wa~de.” His voice was singsongy as he looked around for Wade. “Where… are youuuuu?” He kept his eyes glued to the screen, though a few people commented on how drunk Eren looked, and how bloodshot his eyes were, and how slow he was to respond to most things. Fuck they’re catching on…. Murr..

Jack looked back to the comments, mentally agreeing with the ones about how Eren looked. He went back to his seat to respond, looking to the camera for a moment and speaking. “Sorry Lathe, you're gonna have to deal with Eren tomorrow. It's not gonna be pretty.” Nope.

“Roasted.” Wade grinned, looking over to Eren before he heard a knock at the door, his arms coming over his head as he cheered. “My snacks!” Food!!

Okay, okay, I'll get yer damn food. Everyone wrap it up, we’re calling it quits after this round.” He left it at that, shrugging at the chorus of ‘awww’s and going to retrieve and pay for all the food, nodding as he was told they needed to keep the volume down a bit more. He set down the snacks, letting everyone do their outros before doing his own. He grinned widely, going to pick his snack from the pile before it got attacked. “Alright now, it's really late. Keep the noise down, people are trying to sleep, okay?” He handed Eren what he'd asked for after everyone collectively nodded, making sure he safely moved to a nearby bed to eat. He plopped down opposite him on the other queen in the room to eat, munching quietly. He does look really drunk… dammit. …when we all end up drunk, we forget how to be functional humans. …eh, but apparently I'm sober enough to mother hen people. …this works.

“Friiiiiies…..” Wade immediately picked up the decent-sized basket, sitting down and happily stuffing his face. Tasty. He looked over the table, trying to sneakily reach for a mozzarella stick that had been left unguarded before his hand was smacked away by Bob, the two of them bickering as to who deserved what snacks.

Eren looked down to his boneless chicken wings, his mouth watering as he sat down cross legged. His fingers instantly became covered in the garlic Parmesan sauce and the mouth watering taste filled his mouth as he quickly made it through his designated snack, wobbling a little bit on his feet as he threw out his trash, barely getting back on the bed before collapsing. I'm tired…

Mark jumped up a bit taking his Onion rings and slowly munching on them, slowly starting to get over a portion of his drunkenness. Well, Eren enjoyed his wings… Wait… “Eren are you asleep?”.... No answer… That’s wonderful …

Jack just looked at Eren, speaking matter-of-factly after he swallowed his bite of pizza log. “He’s out cold. Of course. Well, that means two of us are gonna have to share.” He looked up, watching as Bob and Wade looked at each other before taking their snacks with them to the next room and claiming the other two beds. “…welp. Guess they left me with you. Eh, you don't starfish. That's good.” Jack grinned a bit, nudging his shoulder as Mark’s expression shifted. “I'm joking. It's fine.” Of course it is.

Mark nodded, moving to close the door between their rooms. “I don’ wan them to wake Er…” He then went to go change into a tank top and some shorts. I wanna get some rest too, I probably sleep… I’m gonna have a hangover tomorrow…

Jack nodded, finishing his food before quickly changing into a white tank top and green flannel pajama pants, hopping into bed and stretching before settling under the covers, leaving plenty of room for Mark. I should get to sleep… and I can already tell even though I'm not exactly drunk, I'm not gonna feel too great tomorrow. …eh. That's the price you pay.

Mark curled up under the pillows after shutting off all the lights and saying good night to Bob and Wade. Hmm… I wanna hold onto something. Soon enough he was scooted over to Jack’s side, pulling him close. I wanna hold onto you.

Jack’s eyes widened a bit as Mark suddenly had him pulled to the middle of the bed, curling up on top of him and burying himself into his shoulder. He chuckled a bit, one hand coming up to card through his hair, looking up to the ceiling as Mark hummed. His voice was a quiet whisper, smirking. “Clingy bastard…” I don’t remember you getting this attached when you’re drunk… eh. His expression shifted as Mark nuzzled into his neck, letting out a tiny sound as he felt his breath on his skin, blushing absolutely scarlet before coughing, trying to play it off as nothing, embarrassed. What the hell, Jack? Calm the fuck down!

Mark grumbled in his tired state, possessively holding onto Jack. “Mmmmmine.” He quickly fell asleep, the buzz from alcohol lulling him into a deep sleep, still clinging onto Jack, though his grip was a little looser now. Mine.

Jack didn't respond, thinking for a long while as he looked up to the ceiling, petting Mark long after he fell asleep. He sighed quietly, his voice barely audible as he drifted to sleep a long while after. “...yours.” He slept lightly, blinking awake whenever Mark shifted on top of him, always helping guide him to resettle on his chest, his fingers still threading through his hair before falling back to sleep himself. It was nearly four in the morning when he woke up to a small sound, Mark laying still on his chest, and his head turned to where it came from. He saw Eren’s silhouette through the dark, shaking like a leaf. He suddenly seemed more awake, the thought clicking. ...he’s having a nightmare. Jack slowly shifted out from under Mark, giving him a pillow to cling to in his absence and padded to the edge of Eren’s bed, facing him and gently shaking his shoulder, trying to wake him. “Ere- oh my god!” Jack snatched his hand back, tender from nearly being burned by his skin. “What the hell?” Jack reached for the nightstand, turning on the lamp and gasping as he saw Eren steaming, trying not to panic. “E-Eren! Eren wake up you're steaming! Eren, come on!” Jack grabbed a pillow and began to hit Eren with it, not wanting to get burned but needing to get him awake.

Eren wasn’t waking up, his mind at the mercy of his PTSD. His eyes were frantically moving around under his eyelids as his memories continued to surface under them. No… I need to get away… I need to get away from him! Eren’s whimpers got louder, his body beginning to thrash and Blake getting on edge, moving to ground his chest, which only made his nightmares worse, seeing the man sit on his chest, struggling to get him to do vile acts. NO! Eren’s arms forced Blake off of his chest, clawing at it, ripping at his loose shirt. I want it off! He needs to get off of me! Eren could barely feel the pillow smacking his head, his whimpers turning into screams as he was finally staring down the barrel of a gun. He launched himself into a sitting position as he finally woke up. His breathing was ragged, hiccup forming as soon as the tears did. I... He was gonna kill me… Eren still hadn’t really noticed that he wasn’t in his own home, though he looked completely sober, his body sweating more than any normal person would, and the steam coming off of him in waves. Fuck… Where am I? Why am I sizzling? Eren watched as the sweat formed, only to disappear as steam a few seconds later. His eyes widened in panic, looking to Jack who stood there staring at him in disbelief. Fuck... He knows... He knows... His eyes looked behind Jack, seeing Mark start to get up, after hearing him scream. No...no no no No NO NO! Blake whined, wanting to get close to him but knowing better than to try and ground him again.

...I'm not prepared for this. “Eren, I'm calling Lathe, I don't know how to help you.” Jack reached for Eren’s phone, quickly finding the list of contacts and scrolling for the right one. You’re steaming and panicking and I can't help… fuck… I didn't know any of this was a thing.

Eren’s eyes instantly widened. “No!” Eren shouted at him, trying to knock the phone out of his hand. “No! Not Dad… Please not him… Don’t call Dad…” No… Dad can’t freak out... He can’t… He’ll never let me do anything with you guys again… Fuck, what if he never lets me drink again…

Jack held the phone away, nodding. “Alright, alright- but we need to get you help.” He looked through the rest of the contacts, stopping on one with a picture of an adult. This one is an adult person, not just some teen or something… “…what about this Nate guy?” He looks semi-responsible.

“Can’t help…. He’s in LA… Haa Fuck it hurts…. Call Casper….” Eren was struggling to hold back the pain in his voice, the steam starting to get much worse as his body was heating up even more without anything to cool him down. It hurts… Fuck! I need to cool down… I need to cool… Now… Eren struggled to his feet, falling down in exhaustion as he tried to get to the bathroom to get into the shower.

Jack called the contact, putting the phone on speaker and going to grab the blanket from the bed, using it as a sort of oven mitt and helping heave Eren to his feet, helping him stumble to the bathroom when the line was picked up.

Casper rolled over as he heard his phone, begrudgingly breaking away from Scotty’s tender hold behind him to reach his phone, rubbing the sleep from his eyes as he stared at the name on the screen. He answered it, holding the phone to his ear, his voice rough. “…Eren, it’s four in the fucking morning and I have work. What’s going on?” Should I be worried? …Probably.

Jack winced as Eren began to scream from pain, speaking into the phone. “Casper, Eren’s in pain. He’s steaming and woke up from a nightmare- he drank a lot of alcohol last night, that might be the cause of it. We need help- I have no clue what to do. We’re at the Marriott on Trost, room 401. We’re gonna try to cool him down, he’s burning. Please, help!” Please be competent!

Casper just stared ahead hearing this, speaking matter-of-factory after a second. “I’m bringing Scotty. I’ll be right there, Jack.” He hung up before there was any other reply, turning and shaking Scotty. “I’m sorry but when did we become his legal guardians… I didn’t sign up for adopting a kid…” Scotty groaned as he finally got up, stretching a bit and moving to get dressed knowing it was an emergency. What’s up with the freak show?

Casper froze as his feet hit the floor, sighing quietly before going to get dressed as well. ...that conversation is for another time. You've got a job to do now. They were dressed within two minutes, scampering downstairs and grabbing their general medic supplies before going out to the car. It took fifteen minutes before they were walking down the hall to room 401, the door propped open to allow for circulation. Walking in, it was noticeably much warmer, and he smiled a bit to Jack when he spotted him. “Hey, you're Jack, right? I'm Casper, and this here giant is Scotty.”

They shook hands, Scotty doing the same. He nodded to Mark before looking to the bathroom. “Is that where he is?” Casper walked forward and opened the door before he could reply, steam billowing out and immediately warming the room further. “...I'll take that as a yes.” He stepped in, seeing Eren fully clothed and in the tub, cold water continually flowing into the bath and hot water draining out at the same time. “...well shit.” He grabbed a washcloth and held it under the cold water for a moment, draping it over Eren’s forehead. “Jack, is there any ice in that mini Fridge?”

Jack stepped forward a bit, shaking his head from the doorway. “No, there's no freezer in it. Bob and Wade took the cooler to go get ice from the ice machine, though. They'll be back soon, though.”
Casper pondered this, grinning knowingly and speaking again. “Got any water bottles in it?” He watched as he nodded. “Get them over here.” He continually tried to cool the towel over his head, chuckling quietly as Jack made a surprised noise, bringing back completely frozen bottles of water. “Uncap them, and toss them in the bath.”

Jack did as he asked, getting a good dozen bottles in. Unsure of what else to do, he went as if to leave, Casper catching his arm at the last second.

“MotherHenSepticeye,” Casper began, grinning. “Eren likes you. Can do help me and make sure he stays somewhat calm?” He needs the reassurance right now.

Jack nodded, kneeling down next to Eren’s head and starting a cold tap behind him, continually wetting and switching out cold towels on Eren’s head. The two of them stood as they heard heavy footsteps, Wade making a beeping noise as he walked into the room backwards, Bob holding the other end of the cooler, now full of ice. He and Casper motioned for them to dump the whole damn thing, helping pick up the few stray ice cubes.

Casper helped smooth the ice all over Eren’s body, looking up to them, his eyes unapologetic. “Go get another.” He smiled as they made an exaggerated sound of exasperation, still going off to get ice. It's melting too quickly...

Jack took some of the ice and gathered it up into a soaked towel, pressing the impromptu ice pack to Eren’s exposed forehead. “Don't ya worry, Eren, we'll getcha cooled down…” Jack seemed to realise how panicked Eren looked, holding the bag to his head and moving so he was in his line of sight, speaking and trying to calm him down. “Eren, please, don't panic… uh, it's all going to be okay. Casper and Scotty are here and they're helping cool you down, and you're gonna be absolutely fine. It’s okay. Please, believe me.”...it's like he can't even see me... this is bad. This is very very bad.

Eren’s eyes were wide with blatant fear. I don’t... I can’t see…. I feel so hot... Eren tried to lift an arm up out of the ice, but as soon as he did the steam increased tenfold, his head laying on the cool porcelain that was quickly warming with the heat of his face on it. I'm too hot… fuck… it hurts.

Eren was freaking out more, feeling his body begin to shake and start to seize. “F-Fingers… Lock…. His breaths were ragged, he was struggling horribly, his eyes beginning to close, freaking him out more. He could barely hear Blake’s whines as he paced the hotel room and the bathroom which filled with steam, almost like a sauna. Jack.... I can’t calm down... I can’t, it hurts!

Scotty kneeled down by Jack’s side, looking over the quickly melting ice, trying to see how much was left over the steam wafting up from the tub. “Alright Eren… I’m going to do something to take your temperature… and you’re going to hate it right now… but it needs to be done.” He words were loud as he struggled to peel the clothes off of his body, finally managing and taking them out of the tub. He got a thermometer out and sighed quietly as he snapped on some gloves, moving towards Eren’s rear and inserting it as he screamed, the cool instrument foreign in his body and uncomfortable. “Work with me, Kid…” Scotty made sure Eren kept the thermometer in before he looked to the alarming equipment. ....120...140....150... How much hotter? He’s still climbing.... 160... 170...175...183.... 183…. How the fuck is he alive?

Eren groaned struggling to keep his eyes open, his body refusing to cooperate with him. It hurts... I want Dad… I want Lathe... Eren had begun to cry, the tears clouding his vision as his body started to convulse, not approving of his abnormally high temperature. The only problem was that he couldn’t be turned to his side in the tub, the water too high to safely move him, but his head unprotected as he thrashed. It hurts.
Lathe suddenly appeared in the doorway, holding a heavy-looking bag of rock salt, his expression neutral. “I’ve got the stuff. Move.” Lathe brushed respectively past a confused and alarmed Casper and Jack, kneeling by Eren and opening the bag, dumping a few decent handfuls over the melting ice, cooling it further. “Fancy seeing you all here- Eren, Eren Honey, look at me.” Lathe dipped his hand in the ice water for an instant before brushing away Eren’s hair from his face, trying to get him to calm and stop thrashing. “Eren, it's gonna be okay, just stay calm… please, try not to move so much, you'll hurt your head. More ice is on the way, just stay calm for now, please. I'm here. We’re all here. It's gonna be okay.” It should be soon.

Scotty looked over to Lathe as he dumped the salt on top of the ice that was already melting quickly. Salt? Lowers the water temperature… Before freezing… Well shit that works. “He’s still at 182 degrees…. And you’re not supposed to be here I was told…” I believe that was why Casper and I got called. So how did you find out? This steam is getting fucking everywhere.

Eren felt the cool hand against his face for an instant, his body continuing to thrash without his control as he panicked, his head following suit, thrashing against the hard bathtub surface. Dad’s here… Fuck… It’s bad… I can control my arms… They hurt. Eren felt another searing jolt run through his body as he hit his wrist hard enough against the tub. He could barely make out Scotty’s alarmed tone as his head started to feel light. I can’t stay awake… No no no… I can’t fall asleep!

Lathe ignored Scotty’s second statement for the moment, wincing as Eren’s wrist cracked against the ceramic tub. He grabbed for a towel and dunking it into the water, filled it with ice and tied it shut, moving it under Eren’s head quickly as a temporary guard as he thrashed. He reached into the ice water for his other hand, clasping it and speaking to him. “Eren, you can’t fall asleep on us. Please, you need to fight it and stay awake. I know it must really fucking hurt but you have to. We’re trying to cool you down the best we can. Just be strong. Stay strong.” When the hell are they gonna get that ice here?!

Bob and Wade came in a few seconds later another fully loaded cooler of ice coming into the bathroom. The two heaved it over Eren’s still thrashing body. It’s melting still… Holy crap… What’s happening to him? Wade watched in worry as Eren’s eyes rolled into the back of his head, his head tipping back, shoulders and back arching, his body beginning to spasm in a full on seizure brought on by his panic. Oh my god… What the fuck is happening?

Eren couldn’t hear them anymore. All he heard was a high pitched ringing in his ears, so painful he thought he was screaming, but nothing of the sort was leaving his mouth. I can’t see… I can’t hear anything… My body feels like lead… And I’m exhausted. His seizure kept his whole body shaking for a solid minute before his fingers started to lock up, no longer shaking. It hurts. I wanna go to sleep… If I fall asleep… It won’t hurt anymore.

Lathe glanced up to the two of them, calling past them. [Casper! Talk to the four of them, be moral support. We’ve got this.] And it’s not too pretty… they don’t need to see this… “Bob, Wade, one more, please. Then I think he’ll be okay.” He spread the ice over Eren’s body as they nodded and left, dumping more salt on top before dipping his hand in again, doing it multiple times and running his then-cool hand through Eren’s locks, trying to keep him calm. “Eren, please stay with us. You must be tired, but it'll be over very soon. Just stay strong. You're doing great.” You'll be okay. I hope.

Eren’s eyes closed, his lungs still struggling to function with his body being so damn hot. His extremities fell limp at his sides, his wrist making yet another sickening crack as it snapped back in place. His temperature beginning to drop down a bit due to the below-freezing water.
Eren felt the heat beginning to surround his small body, looking at the bright orange flames slowly licking the wooden surfaces and crawling towards him. He heard his mother’s cries to come to him, could hear someone calling for him… But the voice changed, the boy getting more confused as he tried to figure out who was looking for him in the thick smoke. Mom?… No, too rough…

Grisha?… No, too gentle. Eren could feel the heat increase as his eyes looked over to the flames getting even closer to him. They’re gonna burn me. He picked his head up. Another voice, yelling for him, screaming for him… Pleading with him. He could almost feel the distress coming from the voice on the other side of the smoke. Vatri?… Eren opened his mouth to try and let out his response, to tell whoever was trying to find him that was in the kitchen, but his words couldn’t leave his throat. Why can’t I talk? The smaller child was quickly beginning to feel the panic set in, his flight instinct urging him to leave the safety of the kitchen, no longer a safety, and more like a mortal danger. His small wobbly legs carried him out of the smoke filled house, trying to locate the voice, only they were coming from every direction, throwing him off, he didn’t know where to turn, ambling around in a room quickly filling with smoke, his lungs about to choke on the smoke as the burning sensation filled his lungs. I inhaled it… It hurts…

Lathe kept pouring the icy water over his head, his eyes widening as Eren started to mumble. “…he’s dreaming. Shit.”…burning… inhaled something that hurts… Mom and Grisha… he’s dreaming of the burning house. “Scotty, tell me his temperature is dropping at least somewhat.” It better be…

Scotty looked back down to the thermometer, groaning as he saw it. “We’re only down to 180…. He should be dead.” His voice was a bit lower as he said the last bit. His heart should not be beating… His whole body should be cooked…. How is he still alive? Scotty turned his head as another rush of steam emanated from Eren’s limbs. And the steam’s so fucking hot. What is he talking about?

Lathe turned his head, the coils of steam warming him. “If this is what a hangover for Eren is, I don’t think he’s ever going to be drinking again…” He went back to moving ice around, spreading salt on the newly revealed layer. “…and I don’t know how he’s alive. …it’s insane… and I don’t understand a bit of it.” Lathe switched the ice in the towel under Eren’s head, obviously unable to submerge his head. “….he’s dreaming about the house fire… I don’t think this is gonna keep being this easy…” If he starts panicking again… he already had a seizure… I don’t know how much worse this can get...

Scotty looked over, trying to make out Lathe’s face through the heavy steam. “What happens when he normally thinks about it?” It can’t be much worse that this? Can it? He’s already had a seizure, and he’s passed out from his panic attack… Fuck this isn’t good, he’s not cooling down quick enough. “Lathe… I might need to go get some IV’s and run cold liquid in him.” That’s what got his temperature down last time…

Lathe immediately nodded. “Do it. The mini fridge is gonna be a freezer, most likely. If it worked before, it just might work again. My god, I’m never letting him near alcohol again. It’s not worth this shit.” Nope.

Eren’s small and weak body began to choke on the thick cloud of smoke that was quickly filling the inescapable room. His body was forced to the floor, trying to get away from the toxic fumes.
trapped in his lungs. He closed his eyes, his chest no longer feeling weighted by the thick smoke, and he could breathe again. He opened his eyes to blinding white lights placed over his body, trying to move, only to find his body restrained with thick leather straps. No... No please… I don’t want it out… Eren tried to move, struggled to get out of the thick straps. Daddy… No please… I don’t want it out… Please don’t take it out. His begging was frantic until he felt the searing pain shoot through his body, his father having used another useless anesthesia on him. It hurts… Daddy please stop... I promise I’ll be a good boy… I won’t fight back anymore… I’ll let them do anything… Please stop... Tears were streaming down his cheeks to the sides, his restraints continuing to hold him down.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Lathe’s eyes were wide as Eren started screaming with tears running down his face as he cried out loudly. He’s having a nightmare about Grisha. Lathe knew the others were listening in confusion and worry, not knowing what any of his screams meant. I need to get him to stop. He needs to wake up. “Sorry, kid.” Lathe took off his ring and raised his hand, backhanding him hard across the face to snap him from his dream. He immediately brushed away Eren’s hair, apologising profusely as his eyes snapped open, tears still streaming down his cheeks.

Eren’s eyes finally snapped open, finding that he was struggling to breathe in the cold surrounding his extreme heat. Fuck…. What… What happened? Eren whimpered as he felt the right side of his face start to swell up, the blood beginning to rush there to start healing. Fuck it hurts. “Dad… Hurts…”

Lathe’s eyes widened as he saw his cheek swell, though he suddenly realized something, looking over his face. ... he's not bleeding. “Eren, Honey, I'm sorry, I had to wake you up, you were screaming…” He watched in awe as his cheek began to slowly retract, the bruise fading and his cheek taking its time returning to normal. “...I will never understand any of this crap. And why isn't your nose bleeding?” Lathe reached behind him and knocked on the wood cabinet. “Normally that happens when you're mending…. But you're not. ...Huh.” I don't get it. “But we've got a new plan of attack- Scotty’s going to put a chilled IV in you, and that'll hopefully do the trick. It did last time, so we're gonna hope it'll do it again.”

Jack came out of the bathroom as Casper ushered him into the bedroom, his eyes immediately locking onto Mark, a bit angry. “You. You called Lathe, didn't you. Eren asked us not to and yet you did! Why?” You heard him ask us not to! Why? He might never get to hang out with us ever again!

Mark raised his hands in defense, his voice going considerably higher-pitched than it was before. “I didn’t know what to do! None of us knew what to do!” He squeaked at the end, fearing that Jack would smack him across the face. Lathe knows how to deal with this! “You know how much he drank! It’s our fault to begin with!”

Eren groaned, struggling to shift his body to look up to Lathe’s hand. “I'm too hot.” I feel so fucking warm… It’s horrible, I don’t want this to happen again… I’m not drinking that much again ever ...

“Well maybe we didn't know what to do, but the person we called ended up being a doctor and brought another one with him! He would've gotten here so quickly, did you really call while they were already here? They knew what they were doing! Scotty and Casper aren't exactly what you'd call incompetent. They sure look like they knew what was going on a hell of a lot better than us.”

Mark stepped back a bit, looking down at his hands. “He was still screaming… Even when they got here… And I didn’t… I don’t want him to be hurt! I don’t care if we never get to drink with him again… I don’t want to put him at greater risk for something else happening!” Lathe never told us why Eren was in the hospital in a coma… We never knew until that one news article came out… I know that Eren shut up about everything after that… I didn’t want him to be exposed again… What if he would never crawl back out of his shell? Mark swallowed hard at the thought. “What if he wasn’t… What if they couldn’t do anything? We’re not his legal guardians… We couldn’t make a decision about anything for him…” I would have no idea what hospital to take him to… Or if this was normal… none of us know… And Blake was freaking out just as much as Eren was.

Jack watched him, his voice quieting a bit, trying not to put him so much on the defensive. “I guess you do have a point… Lathe really would know how to best take care of him with something like this happening… I just thought… I don’t know what I thought. I guess this was better than trying to hide it… ‘m sorry for yelling…” Lathe really should know when all this crap is happening… ugh… I dunno…

Casper looked between the two of them, spinning on one of the chairs at the desk, looking at the ceiling and making an exaggerated, exasperated sigh. “My god, will you two lovebirds just kiss and make up already?” He grinned widely to them, the look in his eyes mischievous. I have been blessed with an advanced gaydar… you two are huge blips on the map.

Jack looked to him, his eyes wide and blushing scarlet, stuttering. “W-what? W-we’re not… no, we’re not…” He couldn’t find the words in his embarrassed state, just deciding to stare at the floor, trying to hide his furious blush. …It’s not a thing. ……damn it……

Mark blushed as well, looking away from everyone. Stare at the wall… Don’t blush… don’t blush…. Fuck… Mark couldn’t help but blush anyways as Bob and Wade started laughing from Casper’s comment. Oh god, they’re back…. They’re not gonna let that go are they? “‘S okay.” Mark still wouldn’t look at anyone, trying to calm his face. Fuck… Casper figured it out…

Eren groaned, whimpering as more ice was poured onto him, steam curling up from his limbs. He kept his head against Lathe’s hands, finding comfort in his cold hands. “M sorry… I… I …” Eren’s voice was hoarse from screaming, trying to find the right words to apologize to him. I don’t want you to be mad at them… I can take you being mad at me… I can get an apartment… Or sleep in the barn… I… If you never wanna see me again… Umm…. Eren’s eyes looked at the ice covering his body, unable to meet his gaze. He didn’t pay much mind as Scotty came in and took his arms, putting cold IVs into his arms and hanging them on the curtain rod. It’s cold… It feels nice…

Scotty sighed in relief as he looked down at the thermometer once the liquid had been give to him. “He’s dropping, 180…179………178…. It’s slow… But he’ll make it…” Scotty got up and moved to the mini fridge, throwing 6 extra bags of fluids into the top to chill them. It’s quiet… What happened…

Casper looked to him, his legs swinging as he sat, trying to low-key diffuse some of the tension in the room. “So, I hear he’s gonna be okay?” He watched as Scotty nodded, shrugging a bit. “Alright. We’re gonna have to stay until he’s back to normal, though.” He looked over the four of them, speaking mostly to Bob and Wade. “Eren’s gonna be just fine. Try and get back to sleep- it’s still hella early to be awake. We’ll make sure he’s a-okay before we even think of leaving.” Casper stood as Bob and Wade nodded, leaving for the other room and shutting the door behind them. He walked to the bathroom with Scotty, closing the door behind them to give Jack and Mark a bit of privacy and to quiet their talking from inside. I get the feeling I hit it on the head. …they’re gonna need a bit to figure all that out.
Jack turned away from them, nodding as Wade and Bob left for the next room, thankful that Casper was gone for the moment. “...Eren’s probably not going to be staying the night at this rate... you can have the other bed... you don't have to sleep with me...” ...I want you to... but you won't... you don't swing that way. Jack tried not to sound too miserable as he spoke, but he clammed up at that thought, getting into bed and turning on his side away from Mark, trying to fall asleep. ...it's never gonna happen...

Mark’s gut clenched as he heard Jack’s words.... He... Oh... Okay... Um... Well this is a predicament that I’m not really sure how to... Fuck, you sounded miserable ... Mark swallowed the large lump in his throat before he moved, the bed dipping as he slipped in behind Jack, his arms snaking around his waist. “...I don’t wanna...” I don’t wanna sleep alone...

Jack’s eyes widened as he felt Mark clamber up onto the bed, his blush returning in full force as he was gently pulled back into his chest, feeling Mark tangle their legs together. “...y-you're...” ...you're serious. “U-Uhm... okay...” Jack became incredibly nervous, his arms curled in front of him, his head ducked down a bit, afraid to shift or do anything to disturb Mark and hyper aware that he was right behind him because he wanted to be. ...I don't know how to do this... crap what do I do...

Mark sighed as Jack stayed in his arms. “Jack... Get some sleep, they’ll wake us up when Eren’s better... Then we need to apologize to CoffeeDad.” Mark’s words were mumbled as he nestled closer to Jack, loving the warmth he felt against his front. He’s so warm... I want to keep holding him...

Jack felt a tiny shiver run through him as Mark mumbled into his shoulder, trying to relax, nodding. “...Okay.” That needs doing... Jack took a deep breath, sighing quietly and letting himself simply relax into Mark’s gentle hold, feeling himself drawn to the warmth behind him. ...I like this... He could swear he felt him press a tiny kiss to his clothed shoulder blade, his face flushed, content as he began to drift in and out of sleep, always aware of the calm presence behind him. ...I like this.

Mark slept peacefully, holding onto Jack’s lithe form with strong arms. Mine...

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren was starting to become more and more awake by the time his temperature dropped from the 170s down to the 120s. The ice had been refilled twice over the six hours he’d been there, and he had gone through four packs of IVs to cool him down. Dad hasn’t said much to me... He must be so furious with me... Fuck... Eren hadn’t looked up to any of the three men making small talk in the bathroom quietly. They’re all probably mad at me... I fucked up... I fucked up horribly . He didn’t try speaking again over the past six hours, often just left alone to his own thoughts.

Lathe chuckled quietly at one of Casper’s comments, looking over to Eren where he lay still and quiet. “You doin’ okay? You’re very quiet.” He shifted a bit where he sat on the floor, brushing Eren’s drying locks from his eyes. “...you all couldn’t have known that this was how your body reacts to alcohol. It’s not like I’m mad. But I certainly think that you drinking is now a very bad idea, especially so much... but nobody’s in trouble.” It's okay. You all reacted the only way you knew, and did well.

Eren kept his gaze down in submission. You... You keep saying you're not mad... but... He moved his head to the side a bit, letting the hair cover his eyes again. You’ll get mad eventually... And I keep pushing the limits... I don’t wanna be a bad kid. Eren didn’t even pick his head up when Mark came in to check up on him. I fucked up... They probably don't wanna see me ever again after this. He let out a soft sigh, closing his eyes as they grew warm with unshed tears. They must think I’m a freak.

Mark knocked before opening the door, his voice a bit rough from having just woken up again even though it was 10 in the morning. “Is… Um… Is Eren better?” It’s definitely not a sauna in here… Which is good, I wonder if he’s getting any sleep at all? His head’s down… Maybe he is asleep?

Scotty picked his head up from where he had been resting it on his knee. “He’s at 118… So he’s doing much better, but he’s not out of the woods quite yet.” He could probably use another IV...

Lathe looked up to him, giving him a weak smile. “I just want to let you know that absolutely none of this is your guys’ faults. We didn't know what would happen, and now we do, but you all acted very well to try and fix the problem. The only change is now Eren really shouldn't drink. I'll still let you kidnap him occasionally. That's fine.” He flashed him a mischievous smile. We're cool.

Mark seemed to heave a sigh of relief, simply moving down to sit where Scotty had been once the large man got up to get a new pack of IVs. “Is he awake?” He voice was quiet, hoping he wouldn’t wake him. He needs sleep. I know he does… That nightmare must’ve been horrible. He ran a hand through his red fringe, pushing it out of his face.

Lathe nodded, shifting forward a bit and running a cool hand through Eren’s hair, trying to get his attention, his voice soft. “Eren, Mark’s here to say hi… you feel like talking a bit?” Lathe waited patiently for a response, not entirely surprised when Eren took a long moment before shaking his head slowly, understanding when he didn't look up. He looked back to Mark. “Not really talkative… it’s a thing.” He kept his hand gently running through Eren’s hair, trying to comfort him. ...but even if he's not talking to you… I kinda think he might like to hear something from you. I can only imagine what’s going on in his head… he must think we all think he’s some freak of nature… he needs to hear something reassuring. “...but if you want to talk… I get the idea he’s listening.”

Mark nodded shifting a bit to let Scotty in to change his bags. “Eren… I know you may not want to talk about this with us… But we’re here for you… All of us are. We’re really worried about you.” His voice was soft, full of warmth as he spoke. I want you to open back up to us about things. Did I say the right things?

Lathe smiled warmly to him, nodding. “...it's those kinds of things he needs to hear more of.” He doesn't believe it unless you tell him. “...he’s just not up to being too social right now, understandably… it's okay, though. Really.” I'm sure he appreciates hearing it.

Mark nodded. “We’re gonna head downstairs to the breakfast area… Do you guys want anything to eat? We’re gonna bring it back up.” Jack’s getting dressed now... So yeah... I needed to distract myself with Eren... There are too many people here...

Lathe shrugged a bit. “I'm not really hungry, but if you can find me coffee, that would be really nice… lots of cream and sugar, if it's not too much trouble.” ...coffee.

Casper gave Mark a one-shouldered shrug. “If they have bagels, a plain one with cream cheese would be cool. And thanks.”

Scotty tilted his head a bit, glancing over to Casper. “Well, they're not going to have what I normally eat for breakfast down there, so coffee like Lathe’s would be alright, please and thank you.” ...too many witnesses.
Mark raised an eyebrow before nodding, looking over to Eren. “Eren do you want anything to eat?” He seemed to perk up when Eren picked his head up a bit. That’s it Eren!

Eren looked over to Lathe, not trusting his voice at the moment and struggling to move his own fingers. I need you to go through the alphabet. His eyes were trained on Lathe's hands, trying to get the message across.

Lathe looked to him, seeing him stared intently at his hands. “Hm? What's up? …do you need me to sign for you?” He watched as Eren nodded. “…alphabet? Your fingers look pretty clumsy right now.” He smiled as Eren nodded, slowly going through the alphabet and starting over every time Eren nodded at a letter.

Eren nodded for every letter he needed. E.G.G.S…. A.N.D…. T.O.A.S.T…. T.W.O…. T…. Eren turned his head away once Lathe had everything he wanted. I want food… I’m starving… He flinched a bit, turning his head back quickly, looking to his hands again. I need my Pills…

Lathe looked to Mark, smiling faintly. “Eggs and toast please, and a cup of black tea with two teabags in it… he likes it strong.” He looked back to Eren as he jerked a bit, still petting his hair. “And I have my bag with, so you'll get your morning meds too, don't worry.” I can practically hear you thinking from here.

Eren sighed in relief, letting his head roll to the side and letting out a pained yelp as his head smacked against the porcelain. Fucking that hurt… Eren whined, his limbs struggling to move, completely sluggish as his body cooled down the rest of the way. It’s nice and cold…

Lathe winced as his head hit the porcelain, going to put a dry towel under his head as a sort of pillow, murmuring soothingly to him just trying to coax him from his shell a bit. “Scotty, what are we at?” He doesn't feel too warm anymore…

Scotty looked at the thermometer. “We can take him out of the ice now… I’d go get his clothes first.” Scotty reached in and pulled the thermometer out of his rear, wincing as Eren hissed at him in pain. I know kid, I’m sorry…

Eren hissed, moving to try and scramble out of the cold tub, but his body refused to work. Fucking I can’t move… I need to get up… Eren was still trying to struggle in the ice, his limbs wobbly under him.

Lathe snatched one of the towels behind them, reaching to let the tub begin to drain of the water and melted ice. “Hold up your arms.” He waited until Eren got his arms up, moving the towel around him and lifting him from the water and ice with one strong movement, carefully setting him on his feet and keeping the towel around him. “Well, your clothes are completely soaked still… you kinda ended up in the tub with them, so they're just full of salt water still, haven't had a chance to really dry… Mark, can you find Eren’s bag please? He might, should actually, have pjs to wear.” He kept Eren on his feet, the towel around his chest and covering his hips while Mark fetched the clothes, setting them on the counter. Lathe gave Eren a quick peck on the forehead. “Get dressed-then, we’ll eat and get you home, okay?” He and the three of them left after Eren nodded, leaving him to himself for a bit.

Eren nodded, though he ended up on the floor with his clothes half on struggling to move. Dammit Dad… I can’t move... He managed to crawl to the door, weakly banging on it. I can't feel my legs… Dad!

Lathe opened the door, looking down to where Eren was struggling with boxers on, his pajama pants only halfway up his legs. “Oh my, I've got ya, kid.” Lathe bent down and scooped Eren up, setting him on his own two feet and letting him lean heavily on his shoulders as he got his pants up to his hips. He sat him down on the toilet seat while he handed him a shirt, glad that he was able to pull it over his head and helping him with socks. “Alright, so you're not gonna be able to walk much, I take it.” He chuckled faintly as Eren shook his head, moving to pick him up bridal-style and carry him to the bedroom, setting him on one of the empty beds. “Well, you're obviously staying up here for food. Are you tired much? How do you feel?” You didn't get too much sleep, I take it.

Eren looked down at his hands, his brow furrowing when he struggled to move his own fingers. His shaky hands took hold of Lathe’s as he signed. {I’m fucking exhausted… and I can’t feel my legs… I.... I’m sorry.} He let go of Lathe’s hands to show him his open palm, his head down in submission again.

Lathe reached slowly, closing Eren’s hand, holding his fist in between his hands. “Eren, you don't have to apologise. Everything that happened couldn't be predicted. It was in no way your fault. And even if it was, which it isn’t, you'd be immediately forgiven. It's okay, really. A: we both know I can and will carry you out of here eventually, and B: I understand the exhaustion and not feeling your legs. It got very real very fast. I understand.” He smiled wearily. “Now when they all get back up here, we have to discuss what happens after breakfast.” I dunno if you're staying for anything afterwards or if I'm carrying you to the car right after.

Eren let those tears finally fall from his eyes, hurriedly shaking his head before taking his hands again. {I… I kept drinking…. I felt myself getting warm…. I didn’t want to stop… Too much shit has happened… I don’t want to lose them too… I’m so sorry!} Eren’s tears fell down his cheeks quickly. I felt so warm when I passed out… I know something was wrong… And I didn’t want to call you. I was so afraid… But now they’ll think I’m a freak.

Lathe pulled Eren into his lap, his hand carding through his damp locks and he murmured quietly to him. “Eren, it's okay… you didn't know how out of hand everything would get… and you're not going to lose them because of this. They were worried, and maybe they don't understand what happened exactly, but that doesn't mean they're going to dismiss you and think you're weird or anything. They care about you a lot. I can understand not wanting to call me because you didn't want to get them in trouble, but you need to take care of you first and foremost. That's all I ask. They're not in any trouble, and you're not in any trouble. It's fine. Really.” He crossed his thumb over his heart. I swear.

Eren sniffled, wiping away the tears for a moment. “But they're…They know now… They know I’m different… People don’t like different, they call it names, they kick it around, they throw it away… They don’t pay attention to it…” He sniffled more, burying his face into Lathe’s shirt. “They’re not gonna call me again… They’ll never wanna do anything with me after this…” I've just lost friends… I... Eren’s tears were fresh again, trying to calm himself down, but failing miserably.

Scotty had made himself comfortable with Casper on the opposite bed, watching the floor, listening to Eren cry. I thought he was getting better... He sounds so insecure, like he's expecting people to turn around and stab him in the back. These guys are his friends, aren't they? He should be able to trust them. “Lathe… We’re gonna have to have him tell us his story…” I need to record this for Hannah, she’ll think it's interesting.

Lathe nodded. “It'll help, instead of having him tell it over and over again. It can be draining…” He looked up as the door clicked, Mark and Jack coming into the room with food, followed by Bob and Wade. “Hey-- after breakfast, we need to do a thing. Just a heads up, we're gonna need borrow your laptop for it.” He nodded to Mark, who gave him a quizzical look before shrugging. He thanked him as he was handed coffee, sipping from the mug and shifting so Eren could sit and eat in his lap, a cup holder for his mug of tea. ...this has got to take so much out of you. And you're dealing with it alright. Serious respect.

Eren’s movements were slow and weak, eating in utter silence as Mark tried to start up a conversation. They’re all gonna stab me in the back… They don’t wanna come back after this… They’ll all hate me...

Mark sat down with Scotty and Casper along with Jack, Wade and Bob over taking the table. “So what is your relation to Eren? I know that you guys are doctors… But…” I wanna try and know a bit about you guys… I really only know your names...

We should record this. Casper pulled out his phone, starting an audio recording and setting it on the nightstand. “Well, if that ain't a story. See, I was a freshman at my high school when this one was a junior.” He jerked his head to Lathe. “And Scotty was a year behind me. We all ended up in this club thing Lathe put together Junior year, and like the dozen people who attended every single meeting became the squad. We are members of such squad, obviously. But I don't understand why more people didn't ever show up, in retrospect. It was intended to be some art club and all we did was maybe doodle while playing cards or checkers and roasting each other. It was great.” Casper grinned. Quite the fair meme.

“That just really explains why we know Lathe. Because we all ended up going into a medical field, it made it easier to stay in contact because we all went to the same college. Though this one-” He nodded to Lathe himself. “-decided that being a general surgeon wasn't what he wanted to do after two years of actually being one.”

Lathe shrugged, speaking. “I always had this idea that being a doctor meant that you were helping the people who really needed help. It’s true that the people in hospitals obviously need medical help. But I realized two years later that the people who really need help are the people that refuse to seek help- teenagers who are self-harming, at risk of suicide, have a history of abuse or domestic violence in the family. Those were the people I wanted to help. I went to get degrees in teaching, studying as many subjects as possible so I could be an effective substitute teacher. I knew I wanted to do substitutions because I’d always be seeing different faces, not the exact same every day. I met Eren during one of my Chemistry classes. ...he’d been cutting, and I could recognize the blood on the black fabric of his sweatshirt. I went to wrap it, he emotionally unraveled, and the next thing I knew I was cleaning up so much damage from his biological father’s abuse, starting a case against him and trying to keep him in one piece, physically and mentally. ...it only took a week for me to decide to adopt him. Ever since then, I've been doing what I hope is at least an adequate job of impersonating a parent.” He shrugged, smiling. “I think I'm doing maybe okay.”

Eren piped up a bit, sipping from his mug. <“You’re doing better than that asshole ever did.”> He kept his voice quiet, leaning into Lathe’s chest as he sipped at his tea still. It's okay... It's not the same brand Dad gets... But I’ll live.

Lathe chuckled, pecking the top of his head. “Thank god. But then again, when it comes to being a Dad, you can't get any worse than him.” Really tho.

Eren's reply was instant before he quieted down again. <“You’re doing better than Vatri…”> You are... You know me so well, and you accept everything that happens with me...

Lathe smiled, seeming to relax, his cheek resting on Eren’s head. “...I didn't know what it was. But everything was just screaming at me to do anything and everything you can to keep him in one piece. To make sure he stays okay. ...apparently I'm doing a good job at that.” He blinked, glassy-eyed, his gaze going to the floor. I'm really glad I listened.
Eren timidly grabbed at his shirt, tugging on it to get Lathe’s attention. “You… You have my permission… To… To tell them… About what they saw… They’ll probably want to know… You can tell them about… him ….”> Eren’s voice was a bit shaky as he spoke, but collected his bearings after a few moments. They deserve to know how much of a freak they allowed in their company for the last time…

Lathe nodded, setting down his empty cup and shifting to better hold Eren as he spoke, his thumb running over Eren’s side. “…Eren’s biological father, Grisha, was a monster. He would beat his wife Carla on a regular basis, and his destructive front turned to Eren after he tried making mac-n-cheese when he was eight and accidentally set the kitchen on fire, accidentally killing Carla in the process. He forced Eren to come with him to America, and they’d lived in a house on this plot of land that ended up destroyed when we needed a bigger house. But Grisha did horrible things… be beat, whipped, and burned him… he drugged him with illegal drugs that didn't work right… and he’d have groups of men over… to rape him… or he’d perform operations on him and take out organs or flesh… he'd recorded so many of those… but when Eren got sent to the hospital because of his wounds opening during school, Grisha seemingly disappeared. From that incident with his father, Eren’s back had been whipped to a point where the spine was showing, before it was cauterized with boiling water, and Grisha had broken his left arm, and broke all his ribs. Eren was put into drug induced coma, the doctors having to put him under to treat his mangled back, and help his broken ribs heal. The man disappeared without a trace and Eren was finally released from the hospital, I was his substitute teacher the next day, and I kept him after class because I had noticed blood marks on his black sweatshirt, and he just dropped an emotional bombshell on me. I found out about what Grisha had done to him, and I called a friend who is now my Fiancée to lead the investigation against Grisha. It wasn’t a week later that I adopted Eren and started trying to fix him up. He was slowly getting better, and after a month, he got introduced to Nate Ruess… You’ve all seen the video, I’m sure… and it all just snowballed from there. We were asked to go back to LA to get Eren familiar with where he would be recording… We found out he has a horrible fear of planes, so much so that he had multiple panic attacks at both the airports we went to, even leading to his first seizure. I was afraid that after the stress of the first one, that he would have another one, I put him on Anti-convulsants to try and stop them. Due to that he developed a form of juvenile selective osteoporosis… And we didn't know for another year, when Eren had almost drowned in a pool and I had given him CPR. We took him back home to come see Scotty at the hospital here… Scotty, Casper and I were really involved in Eren’s recovery from that, and it was the oddest thing… the scans of his chest when he first got to the hospital was of him having that form of osteoporosis in his ribs, which caused almost all his ribs to break or fracture and show up as very pale in his X-rays. But it wasn't even a month before another scan showed his chest was completely solid, every fractured and broken rib healed and showing up as strong. We were still looking into Grisha’s whereabouts, but we didn't see or hear anything for three years. We thought he was gone or dead, but he came back a while ago… nearly killed Eren as he was studying and holding down the fort in Levi’s apartment. Grisha was there for two weeks before Levi came home from college a day early as a surprise, interrupting Grisha’s stabbing and cutting Eren, shooting him dead in an instant. He was rushed to the hospital… but he fell into a coma. That's what the three-week coma was. A majority of his bones were shattered, which made for a lengthy surgery he should’ve never survived… but his bones mended insanely quickly, and then it was his organs, and then his skin… when he woke up he just pieced himself back together. It wasn't easy being in the hospital… photos got out, and stories of all the crap that happened while he was still really out of it from everything that happened. At the time he’s lost memories, he had sensory and trust issues, and would get extremely defensive… he had seizures, was harassed so badly by a police officer, who's no longer on the force, thank god, for a statement on the attack not even a day after he woke up and when his coordination was still awful and he couldn't even speak… anything that wasn't posted to my tumblr or Twitter didn't have the right context. He wouldn’t talk to anyone, barely looked anyone in the eye either. Even it was me, he still didn’t talk, he also struggled a lot with the fact that he was on a feeding tube, and couldn’t really move around. He had multiple seizures over the course of the three weeks he was in the hospital after he woke up. He was on the suicide watch list at the hospital, leaving anything sharp around him was a no go, and all his medications had to be injected via IV… That included his pain medications, he kept his IV kinked, and none of us noticed, thinking that the other was changing out his IV bag, so when Eren unkinked it… He overdosed from the amount of morphine that was going through his system. He got better after that, starting to try and talk about what happened to us… He still had a lot of sensory and trust issues, understandable, but coming home from the hospital… that wasn’t any cakewalk either. He ended up attempting to commit suicide again, cutting his wrists, all the way up to the inside of his elbow. He was bleeding horribly, but his body… It began to heat up and his nose began to bleed, almost as bad as the cuts he had on his arms… I finally got his arms to stop bleeding, and they began to close up by themselves, the skin and muscle beginning to weave together… We knew that something was causing it… and we’re still trying to figure it out… but we knew for sure that his body reacted a bit negatively towards the almost instantaneous healing.
He was exhausted for a few days but agreed to go to psychiatric therapy… He needed it, so Scotty took him since I was called in to substitute, which went pretty horribly and ended with him having a seizure when it turned out the therapist was one of the men who’d raped him before… we obviously got the guy, Eren had spent his free time in the hospital drawing them and writing out their names and occupations as best he could… but… it wasn’t easy when he woke up after falling asleep from exhaustion after his seizure, only to not recognize anyone… not even me. He had reverted to the mind of what we think was his four- or five-year-old self, asking when Grisha, Carla, or Hannes would be back, and we had to lie and say they were either sick at home or across the country at a wedding… we were waiting for him to remember who he was. He didn’t until I took him to the new house here, when he was in the barn. He seemed to immediately recognize the horse as Charlie, the actual Charlie incidentally being that horse’s sire. I showed him the animals, showed him how to feed them, and I left him alone for not too long to make lunch, I think… but his foot got stepped on by Charlie Jr, and he remembered everything, and… Blake came to the house barking, and I ran out… it’s never going to stop haunting me, the image of Eren hanging motionless from the rafters, slowly swaying… I cut him down the instant I could, and we talked for a long time after that… about how it wasn’t worth it, to try and end it… he’s been getting better… he’s scared me to death, when he somehow got to my Grandfather’s gun and decided to go hunting without telling me… I ran outside so fast, and I was in complete panic, but he’d shot a deer…. and to his credit, it was a really nice buck, but it scared me to death. He’d been getting better with the pills we put him back on… Antidepressants, his PTSD medication… but we tried to keep him off the sleeping pills… I didn’t want him to get addicted to him, so we cut him off of them. I hadn’t realized, because he hid it so well from us that he wasn’t sleeping. I didn’t know about any of this until I found him overdosing on hydrocodone that he got out of my medic bag… I couldn’t help but feel my gut retch when I thought that he was trying to try killing himself all over again. But after he woke up and we talked, he finally told us he was having problems going to sleep and staying asleep, and he’d been using pain meds to knock him out… often he had to resort to a full bottle, which would normally kill someone, to get the desired effect. He got all the drugs from my medic bag, which is why that’s now hidden and I don’t keep as much as I did in it, the rest is under lock and key… which I have on a tether now so I can’t have my pocket picked again.” He playfully glared at Casper, who raised his hands in defense, trying and failing to look innocent.
“But we didn’t get everyone right away… we didn’t get the last of all of them until about a week ago. I recognized one of the men Eren drew while I was grocery shopping, and I stalled him until the police showed up. As cliche as it sounds, he was the twin of one of the men, and could name pretty much everyone who Eren drew except for the one. That one man…. he was the one who kidnapped Eren a few days ago. It was bad… he got shot three times, once in the head, abdomen and neck, dragged off of Charlie Jr. and brought to a warehouse a town over. He tried to do all of those horrible things again… he nearly succeeded, and did with some of them… but Eren decided to seriously layeth the smack down on him, using all of the Judo I taught him. The guy was collapsed on the floor, broken and battered, nearly unable to breathe. Eren… it got very graphic…
his femur, the big bone in your thigh, it was sticking out of his leg by a good two inches, seriously broken. I could see into his leg where the bone was growing back already on the inside, and I knew that soon enough his leg would completely heal back, but I needed to do something fast, or it would grow over the old bone… I had to cut open his leg and… I had to rip it from the socket… it was the most horrible thing I'd ever had to do, I pray to god I never have to do something like that again… but then, the bones Scotty had put back together with metal plates tried to grow over the metal, which is not good. Nor a thing that happens, really. But Scotty also went ahead and removed the metal plates from everywhere- and the wounds and bones just healed themselves back over while he moved onto the next one. He… when Eren didn't remember anybody, he was always so bubbly and chatty, open about everything he was thinking. And right now, he’s all snark and wit and sarcasm… everything we've done has paid off so much… I'm just… It's been a hell of a time, but it's been worth it.” Lathe stared at the floor, resting his cheek on Eren’s head, speaking quietly so only Eren could really hear, mumbling into his hair. “…I'm really proud of you.”

Mark was silent as he listened to Lathe speak for a solid twenty minutes, pausing every time Eren fidgeted when he got to a touchy topic. He’s such a good Dad… And I can’t believe what just…
Eren’s gone through so much shit… He’s got a full hand of cards… But half of them are horrible selections.

Scotty reached over to Casper’s phone, ending the recording. “Well, now that we’ve got that recorded, I’ll make sure to send it to Hannah and yourself too, so you have a copy…” It’s good Casper let it record… Now it'll be easier to get through things… And tell more people.

Lathe nodded, smiling faintly. “Thanks, and yeah, send it to her. It's a good thing we have that abridged version of everything, because otherwise I'd have to sift through Eren’s medical file, which is kinda…” He held a hand up over the floor, at least a solid three feet up, looking a bit skeptical. “Yeah… that wouldn't exactly be easy.” He shifted, taking Eren’s empty plate from his hands and setting on the table for right then, adjusting his hold on him and looking to Eren, noticing his eyes drooping. “Tired, kid? Wanna go home?” Last night would've really taken a lot out of you.

Scotty sighed quietly. “When I have a day off, we need to go through his files and you need to do the unabridged version of all of that.” He made a note in his phone, making sure he had the day off before texting Lathe the day. “Keep Eren awake, I wanna record his statements first.” That needs to get done.

Mark nodded going to set up the camera for everything that needed to be set up. I can at least handle that… The other guys look like they’re still trying to process everything.

Lathe nodded, shifting Eren around a bit, talking to him quietly and trying to keep him awake.
“Eren, how about we get this done while we're here and able to, okay? You've got to talk to a camera and say a bunch of stuff when we ask you questions… but just pretend you're telling me everything, okay? It needs to be done, and it'll be over before you know it, okay? Then you can sleep.”

Eren nodded, letting Lathe move him against the headboard on the wall. I wanna sleep… But I need to tell them everything…

Scotty waited patiently for Mark to set up the camera, moving behind it with Lathe and looking to Eren, beginning to speak when Mark gave him a thumbs-up that they were recording, looking to his watch. “It’s January 26th, 11:07 AM right now, just for the record. You were playing video games and drinking last night, right?” He watched as Eren nodded. “How much did you drink?”
Eren looked at his thumbs. “I was cut off at 16…” I know how much I drank… And I drank too much…. “It wasn’t as much as I’ve had before. When I was forced to drink.”

“What was it that you were drinking?”

“Lite Beer…” I don’t know why I kept drinking it.

“When did you start feeling the effects of all that alcohol?”

Eren rubbed the back of his neck. “I started feeling my body heat up after about 8 beers… But I kept drinking… Cause I wanted the feeling to go away… But it never did.”

“Did it affect your consciousness at all?”

Eren’s brow furrowed. “No… I was able to think so clearly… It was like I hadn’t drank a drop of liquid in my life…” it was so weird. “I felt warm… But I didn’t feel almost any real buzz that you usually get when you drink.”

“…when did you start feeling warm?”

“I think it was around… Around 10:30…” That’s around when I had had at least 8….

“Did you notice anything else that seemed out of the ordinary with your body?”

“I felt… Like I was high almost… it was weird… Everything was clear… Like I understood everything that was going on.” I don’t remember anything else being weird…

“Was your nose bleeding at all?”

Eren shook his head. “No, it wasn’t bleeding at all… And I really don’t know why…” Why wasn’t it bleeding?

“What caused you to wake up from your sleep?”

“Jack woke me up… He kept hitting me with a pillow. I couldn’t feel it at first but after I woke up, I felt like I was on fire… It hurt everywhere, like I was being continually burned with hot coals stuck under my skin.” I tried to move… It hurt so much. “The pain was excruciating… Jack had to help me into the bathroom and into the tub… I was steaming, that’s how hot I was… Jack had to wake me up, cause he knew something was wrong when he touched my skin and he almost burned himself.”

“Can you tell us again, everything that happened?”

Eren nodded again, closing his eyes a bit as he fiddled with his fingers all over again. “I had been drinking with Mark, Jack, Bob and Wade… We were playing video games, and it was getting late so we decided to do a live stream. I was cut off at 16 beers at around 12:30 this morning… I took my PTSD medication and ended the live stream with the guys… I ate some chicken wings for our little midnight / early morning snack… And after that I curled up in bed and fell asleep. The pills didn’t work at all, and I… I… I felt my body heating up subconsciously… And what did my mind immediately go to? The damn fire.” Eren’s shoulders had begun to shake as he sobbed. “I was stuck in the burning building again… I couldn’t get out… No one came to save me… I was whimpering and shifting in my sleep… Blake couldn’t ground me because he would’ve gotten burned…. I woke up because Jack was smacking me with a pillow, I got up… I told him to call Casper… Cause I didn’t want my Dad to come. I felt like my skin was crawling… we managed to get me into the bathroom and get me under cold water… Mark woke up Bob and Wade and they went to go get ice from the ice machine down the hallway…” Eren paused as he reached a shaking hand up to wipe away the tears that had formed. “The water hurt against my hot skin, it felt like I was being stabbed with needles as ever droplet hit my body… The steam was almost instant, it filled the room, quickly raising the temperature. I was freaking out. It hurt, and it didn’t stop hurting… And the steam was so thick… Billowing off of my body… But nothing was happening besides my body being obscenely hot. Casper and Scotty came, I was laid down, and ice dumped on me until Dad came in, he brought rock salt which cooled down the ice water even further. The steam lessened a bit, but it was still thick in the air, and our room was so warm… It still is…” Eren swallowed hard, his hand coming to scratch at his wrist until Blake jumped up onto the bed, grabbing his hand and making Eren pet him as he spoke. “Scotty left to go get IVs… And when he came back they put one in each arm… I was freaking out, I was starting to seize… My dad was there, I was afraid that he was gonna be so mad at me, and my body couldn’t handle it… I seized, my whole body starting to thrash, giving me no control… I smacked my wrist so hard on the tub, that it snapped… And it snapped me out of my seizure… But I was exhausted and couldn’t keep my eyes open… I was stuck in that burning building yet again… I could just barely hear your voices calling for me to wake up… But I couldn’t, and the smoke around me was building to a point where I was suffocating in my dreams… But that was just my own body, struggling to breathe correctly due to the heat… After the burning building… I was strapped down to a cold metal table, a bright light above me… I was begging… Begging for Grisha to stop… I felt a searing pain in my abdomen… I associated it with a scalpel being dragged across my skin… And forcing it’s way in to take yet another organ out of my body.” Eren’s whole body was shaking, tears quickly running down his cheeks. “Dad smacked me across the face, it woke me up from my horrible nightmares… It… My cheek started to bruise instantly, taking over my right cheek, before it started to swell again, the side of my face growing even hotter than the rest of me… It healed in a matter of seconds before my face went back to the way it originally was…” He paused, taking in a shaking breath. I need to calm down.

I need to take my fucking pills...

Lathe immediately shifted once Mark gave the nod that they had stopped recording, moving forward and gathering Eren up into his arms, his fingers threading through his hair. “You did a really good job… you really did…” He looked up to Mark, his voice quiet. “You’re going to need to send that to Scotty, Casper and myself…” He looked to Scotty gratefully as the taller man moved to give Mark their emails, focusing on comforting Eren, murmuring in his ear. “Now this is on the record… you did a great job staying strong. You really did. It’s okay, it’s over… please, don’t cry, it’s over and done. You're okay.” You held up very well.

I’m so fucking emotional. “I need my pills…” He whimpered as he weakly curled up to Lathe’s chest, happy he still somehow fit into his arms. I... I just wanna lay down... Eren’s eyes were already starting to close from exhaustion.

Lathe nodded, looking up in surprise when suddenly Casper had his bag set down beside him, opening it and getting out the calendar from the top where he’d shoved it in his rush to come help. “The blue and the grey ones.” Lathe held out a hand as Casper picked them from the calendar, stowing it away and going to get a cup of water. He took the paper cup from Casper, thanking him and looking to Eren, shaking him a bit. “Eren, come on Hon, you need your pills. Then you can sleep all you want, m’kay?” He held them out to him, waiting patiently for Eren to take them. You'll be a bit out of whack if you don't get back on them.

Eren nodded weakly, his hands shaking as he took his pills. He struggled to swallow the small amount of water down, giving the cup back as his vision blurred. I’m exhausted. His body went immediately limp, his head rolling down, and hair covering his face as he blacked out from exhaustion. I’m tired...

Lathe kept a strong hold on Eren with one arm, looping his messenger bag strap over his head with the other and flipping it shut, scooping Eren up and standing, Eren’s head nestled into his neck as he slept. “I’m going to get him home- he obviously needs lots of sleep. Thank you for doing what you could to fix all this… at least now we know what happens when he drinks. You were ten minutes away from doctors always on call for him.” He smiled to Casper and Scotty. “-and I’m grateful for that. And Mark, tell me. Whenever you want to visit- and I hope you do again, and drag people with you- what do you do first?”

“I call ahead or risk being put on a monster with four legs.” Mark’s reply was almost instant, moving to stand behind Jack as if suddenly fearful. Not again please… I don’t think I ever wanna do that again.

Lathe chuckled as Mark went to hide behind Jack, grinning as Jack looked over his shoulder, good-naturedly muttering ‘pansy’ but letting him cling to his sweatshirt. That’s adorable. “That’s right. Call ahead. Just not when it’s likely we’re all dead asleep. …but call ahead.” He nodded, shifting his hold on Eren a bit, his weight not especially burdensome. “I’m going to get this one home. Take care, all of you. And send me those recordings.” He kept a steady hold on Eren as he left, walking to the elevator. Yeah, I’m not doing three flights of stairs carrying a human. You don’t do that.

Casper stretched his arms over his head, yawning. “Ugh, you’d think being awake for seven hours I’d be over wanting to go back to sleep. …but I’m not.” He stood, kicking Scotty’s shoe lightly. “Let’s go home, huh?”

“Oh cry me a river…” Scotty got up, twisting his back a bit and cracking it a bit. Ah, that felt great. “Let’s get going Casper… I’ll drive, I’m not trusting you to drive…” Nope, you’re half asleep as it is...

Casper looked like he was about to argue, though he stopped and simply looked at him, shaking his head a bit. “…I wouldn’t trust me to drive us home either. …thdat’s probably end badly…” Yeah, no. Casper meandered over to pick his bag up from the desk, slinging it over a shoulder. He went to Scotty, immediately taking hold of his arm and weakly pulling him to the door, making a quietly demanding sound. “…murr.” Home. Sleep. …please.

Scotty sighed quietly, shaking his head before following right behind him and taking the keys from him as they walked out and to their car. He watched Lathe put Eren into the passenger seat of his car, before getting Casper into the car. Come on… In the car.

...there’s no way they’re not a thing. …I mean, Casper could tell with me. …I dunno. Is that mean? Maybe it is. …sorry. Jack just shook his head a bit as Casper led Scotty from the hotel room, looking around at all their stuff strewn about. “We should clean up all this crap. …and we’re gonna need more water.” Yeah, those kinda got used.

Mark nodded, moving towards the bath and turning the water on to help get rid of the salt. “Do you wanna take the car? Or… Actually… Bob and Wade went back to sleep next door.” That won’t be an option.

Jack’s brow furrowed. “Yeah, I’m not used to driving on the other side of the road… you’d have to drive. Walking isn’t an option, it’s January … Uhm… I dunno, I can clean up while you go get some more…?” I feel like I’m just pushing it on you instead though…
Mark nodded. “Alright, um… Do we need anything else while I’m at the store?” I can’t think of anything else… Maybe a few bags of chips? I mean I could get sandwich meat and we can all just recoup… And get better after what happened today… And we can all upload what we need to.

Jack looked at the cases for empty bottles stashed under the desk, looking up, thinking. “…why don’t I just come with you?” His cheeks tinged pink, immediately thinking he needed to explain himself. “Y-y’know, help you pick stuff everyone will want, and we can return all these damn beer bottles… if it’s cool with you…”

“That works… Why don’t we do that?” Mark and Jack collected all the bottles that could be returned and got them in the car before going to the grocery store.

Five days. It's been five days. Five completely insane, nerve-wracking, tense days. Lathe walked up the stairs, carrying a warm bowl of soup in his hands. Eren's barely been awake for the past five days, just sleeping and getting his strength back. Whenever he woke up, I'd have to feed him because his limbs are really weak, and then he'd pass out again until the next time he required food. I just add crushed vitamins to his food now, because one meal a day isn't cutting it... but he doesn't have any idea what happened. That video, the one of him explaining everything… I don't know how it got passed over and added to the livestream compilation thing… but it did. It's not like I blame Mark, there was a lot to splice together, it just happened… but it was first the comments on the introductory video of his channel, calling him terrible things… a freak of nature, a psycho… and then the subscriber counts started to drop. I'd look at Twitter, and then I'd go onto tumblr, then when I return to Twitter a thousand followers are gone. There are too many videos us to take down anymore... and the news has picked up on it, so there's no going back... he's been labeled as completely insane… I'm just... I'm really fucking worried about what this all is gonna do to his career… we hadn't gotten anything official published... so there's nothing to back up this stuff... Hannes don't understand what all is going on, and Eren’s oblivious… I've been losing followers too… a bunch of compositional requests from out West were retracted… I'm scared that something is gonna happen to him staying on the record label… Hannes has been teaching me to cook German stuff, which has kept my mind from it a bit… but there's not much that can help right now… I can't help but get the feeling things are only going to go downhill from here. Lathe quietly padded into Eren’s room, gently shaking his shoulder.

“Eren, wake up, please. You need to eat.”

Eren’s eyes cracked open a bit, struggling to try and lift himself up, his eyes watching as Lathe moved to help sit him up. “No... I wanna do it...” His words were weak as he struggled for a few minutes, finally managing to sit up in his bed, a tired expression across his face. I did it... I actually did it! He took in a few deep breaths, looking over to what Lathe had brought him. Mnhmm… Potato soup… With venison… Thank you Jesus.

Lathe smiled widely as Eren heaved himself up to sit. You’re getting your strength back. This is great! Lathe sat down on the edge of the bed, picking up the spoon and scooping up some of the soup, holding it up to Eren’s mouth. You still don’t have the energy to eat by yourself, but small steps is more than fine.

Eren smiled a bit as he ate the soup heartily. “It's really good.... Did Vatri teach you?” Eren asked in between mouthfuls of soup. I really miss eating German food... Vatri always made everything right... Well, he couldn’t bake to save his life, so that was my job.... But everything else he was able to teach me really well.
Lathe nodded, smiling. “Hannes has been showing me all of this stuff in the kitchen, teaching me how to make all sorts of stuff. It's been something different every time, and I've been writing down all of it. I think I'll make them more. We all certainly enjoy them.” They all turn out really well.

Eren smiled, his eyes a bit lidded as he took in another rich spoonful. I can’t wait until I can actually use my arms to feed myself… But sitting up took everything out of me. He winced a bit as his phone made a shrill tone, then continued to make it as it rang. “Can you get that? It’s been ringing for hours… And I can’t use my arms…” I don't know who it is…

Lathe nodded, setting down the bowl and spoon for the moment on the table next to it, picking up the phone and looking at the name. ...it's Jeff. Fuck. “Eren, let me take care of this.” Lathe went into the hall, shutting the door behind him and walking the length of the hall, answering the phone and holding it to his ear, his voice steady. “Hello?”

“Eren? Your voice sounds different…” Jeff's voice was cold as he criticized the boy who wasn’t even aware of him calling.

“I'm not Eren. It's Lathe.” He immediately picked up on his cold tone, trying to keep his even as he spoke, ready for anything. “I'm sure you can tell me anything you needed to tell Eren.”

Jeff sighed quietly. “ Your son belongs in a mental institution…. I’m not going to accept any of that shit working under my label.”

Lathe’s eyes became cold, his tone sharp. “And I don't think we’d want to work for someone who thinks that. Feel free to drop us as soon as possible. We’ll send you the journal when we finish with it. Is that everything? Anything else you'd like to say?”

“You are dropped from my label, our contract is retracted from this point forward, all royalties from previous albums will still be distributed as it's still on contract, but I will not be producing anything to do with your freakshow you call a son. It's disgusting… Has he filled your mind into believing all the shit that comes out of his mouth?”

“I wouldn't believe half of this shit if I didn't rip out his leg bone and watch it heal back myself. Just wait for the journals and the files to come out. It was a displeasure working with you. ...asshole.” Lathe hung up, fuming. He needed a long moment to calm down enough to come back into Eren’s room, setting his phone back on the nightstand. “…Eren, there's some stuff you need to know…” He settled back onto the bed, staring at his hands. “The video of you explaining what had happened… it accidentally got edited into the livestream YouTube posting. It was taken down after an hour, but it was too late… people were reposting it, it got to the media… we couldn't stop it… you've lost a lot of followers and subscribers, people have been saying terrible things… Jeff dropped you from the label. That was who was calling. He… he said terrible things. I don’t… I don't know what we can do except work like mad on the journal and publish it as soon as we can. I think that's the only hope we have of fixing this now… more than half of your fans, and of the country, think you're insane…” This isn't good…

Eren simply looked down as he tried to take everything in. .... Everyone thinks I'm insane… That’s fucking wonderful…

Lathe’s expression shifted to one of sympathy, moving to pull Eren into a hug when the doorbell suddenly rang loudly throughout the house. “...oh great, now what?” Please don't be the news, please don't be the news… Lathe went to the door and down the stairs, his eyes wide as he saw three squad cars in the driveway through the window. fuck. Lathe opened the front door slowly, seeing Dave standing in front, flanked by five other officers. “...Dave… what's going on?” *Please
Dave sighed quietly. “I really don’t wanna do this, but we have been given probable cause to come detain Eren and bring him to the psych ward in the hospital.”

“I want to see the paperwork.” He took the warrant Dave handed him, his eyes wide as he read everything over. “…that's the seal of the governor… ...you're taking my son away…” Lathe’s eyes became glassy as he shakily handed the paper back too him, his eyes wide as Dave simply brushed past him, following him and the other officers upstairs, leading with him. “D-Dave, please, wait, we need five minutes, he’s barely awake. Please, can't you give us a tiny bit of time?”

Dave shook his head. “I can’t…. Lathe, get him a bag of clothes.” Dave moved to Eren’s room opening the door, finding the boy passed out with tears streaming down his face.

Dave heaved Eren up from the bed, confused and not knowing what was happening. He didn't speak, knowing he would fall apart if he tried to, getting a backpack from the closet and packing converse, jeans and shirts from the closet, dragging his favorite hoodie over his arm. He thought a moment, not hesitating to run back to his room and take down his blue sweater from its hanger, putting it on top and zipping the bag shut. He slung it over a shoulder, following them down the stairs and watching, broken as Eren was ushered into a squad car, Dave coming back up to him and taking the bag and hoodie from him. He tried shakily to speak as they were taken. “…a-and I thought… things c-couldn't get w-worse…”

Lathe walked with him to the door as he nodded, starting the car and following the cars as they turned around and drove to the hospital, rubbing the tears from his eyes to see clearly as they made the short drive there. He parked, getting out and following them as Eren was escorted inside, looking more awake and scared. It wasn't until they were inside the hospital’s psych ward and Eren was finally let go that Lathe was allowed to come up to Eren and hug him tightly. “I'm really sorry… there's nothing I can do… the governor ordered you stay here for a while… but I promise, we’ll get the journals written up and the tests we need to done and everything will go okay and we'll get you out of here, okay?”

Eren was quiet as he was hugged tightly. “I’m being out into a mental ward… Well that’s wonderful… He stayed silent as a nurse came up to them and took Eren away to go get his own room. I’m being forced here…

Lathe followed the two of them like a lost puppy, Hannes at his side as they stepped into a small room without much in it besides a bed, a small table, and a TV in it. It needs color… it's too white… Lathe sat on the edge of the bed with Eren, pulling him to his side, silently holding him. …this can't be really happening… I don't want this to really be happening…

Eren was quiet as he looked at the bracelet that was now attached to his wrist. … Everyone thinks I’m a fucking nut job… He didn’t pick up his eyes, seeing Hannes feet at the edge of the bed, and feeling Lathe's arms wrapped around him. No one understands shit…

Lathe didn't let go for a long time, shifting so that his bags sat on the floor nearby and he and Eren could lay down on the bed. He pulled out his phone, texting the group chat.
LQ: [So……]
LQ: [...The governor ended up seeing the video of Eren describing what happened to him last night…]
LQ: [...they went to a judge and got a warrant…]
LQ: [He’s in the psych ward… and there's nothing I can do about it…]
LQ: [He’s been dropped from his record label, everyone is saying he's a complete psycho… and that I'm psycho too for believing him…]
LQ: [.....and I can't do anything to keep him from staying here for at least a few months until he’s either released by the doctors or the journal gets published……]
LQ: [...just giving you all the update…]
SO: [I’m coming down I'll be there in a minute.]
LQ: […]thank you…]
DR: [I saw the video… it was only up for a hour and already everybody had copies of it]
DR: [I'm really sorry about that, it's /horrible/]
DR: [If there's /anything/ you need, call me]
PB: […if I was physically able to I'd smack the shit out of your record producer guy, and then everyone who posted that video with shit talk in the comments]
PB: [But I can't… and I don't know what to tell you]
DR: [If he acts completely normal from here on out you all could maybe get him released]
DR: [Say that he renounced his ‘madman’ phase and get him out on good behavior]
BF: [Or we could start a riot.]
MF: […]Brooke, we’re not starting a riot.]
BF: [But I'm mad.]
BF: [And we own pitchforks, so]
PB: [I CALL CARRYING A TORCH]
CP: [Wow okay this is all happening]
CP: [Excuse me while I ‘quit’ and go help Hannah in the lab]
CP: [Oh crap real quick]
CP has added HL to the chat “We’re all fucking idiots”
CP: Welcome to the club

