The Nerd and The Jock

by xX_Duke_of_Yaoi_Xx

Summary

The story (and side stories) of two teens growing up in a world where everything seems to be against them. This is a story of one Eren Yeager, and one Levi Ackerman.... They meet in the oddest of way, and yet a relationship forms on the school grounds. They both learn to love around Eren's ailments, and learn to accept that family isn't always defined by those what are connected by blood.

~Disclaimer~
I do not own Attack on Titan, or any of the characters from that wonderful series, all credit for them goes to the creator.

PS: You don't really need to know anything about the characters for this fic! AND PLEASE COMMENT!!! I LOVE TO READ THEM AND WILL RESPOND WITHIN A DAY!

~Duke
A thing happened

So this thing happened, um, yeah....

Someone got into my co-author's account and deleted both the works we were working on, so I'm going to start uploading the chapters again.

I'm really, really, really sorry if anyone was really invested in this fan fiction.... but...

I won't be uploading for a bit, I'm still trying to get this all sorted out, I'm really sorry. The 57 chapters we have are split between 26 maybe 27 documents... I'm sorry but it might be a very long time until more comes out.... I hope you all understand.

Thank you

~Duke

Hey guys it's me again.... (3/31/17)

Hello, readers, this is Duke, I regret to inform you that I will be unable to continue writing this fan fiction.... that being said, someone has messaged me about continuing this on their own so please go check out TNATJ for the rest of their awesome chapters that they can think of! I hope you will forgive me for this... but it's been too much stress lately, and now I will get to read right along side you wonderful readers. Here's the link for the continuation from the posted chapters on....

TNATJ

EDIT: (10/1/18)

Everything above this is no longer true and this fanfiction is still being continued and edited by me

~Duke
Chapter One: The First Day

Chapter Summary

Well I'm gonna start re-uploading everything, please be patient

No wonder he was so popular, he could tell already.

Walking in between Jean and Erwin, Levi fit in perfectly. Though he was a bit on the short side, he acted the part of a jock, walked like one, and even talked like one. The faint smirk on his face was barely visible as he kept his head down in it's usual position. His steely eyes captured the gazes of every girl he passed, which wasn't a surprise. Meanwhile Jean, Levi's fellow athlete, slapped Mikasa--who was Levi's cousin--on the butt.

"I'd tap that," he joked as she turned around to scowl at him.

Who was watching all this, you ask? Can't you guess?

Eren Jaeger. He was well aware that he would never have a chance with Levi; he figured that out quickly, plus, Levi probably didn't even know Eren, with him transferring in today

Eren was a thin, weak, brainy nerd. His thick rimmed glasses hid his eyes, but it wasn't like he could take them off. Unlike stereotypical nerds, the glasses didn't have tape in the middle and he didn't possess any acne, but it was quite apparent that he was a dork. He didn't play any sports and often stammered out words when he was asked to answer something in class. He scored perfect on his tests, and most kids ostracized him for it. He hated being left alone at the lunch table, but he found it better than being shoved in a locker… that had happened a lot in middle school.

Maybe I should move on, he thought. In fact, I have to. God, is it bad to wish that someone is gay?

The bell rang above his locker, pulling him back from his thoughts. He dreaded first period, he liked the teacher, and the subject: chemistry, no doubt about that. What he hated about it was the people he sat next to, all of them. He was surrounded by jocks. Levi was to his right, Erwin was to his left, and Jean in front of him. The boys always talked about the upcoming pep rally for the football team, or how they aided to the huge lead they won by.

Before the teacher was able to enter the classroom, Jean harshly jabbed his fingers into Eren’s side. He flinched and looked over to the boy with slightly frightened eyes. “C-can I h-help you?” He asked and seemed to shrink as his voice squeaked out.

Jean simply snickered, “You coming to the Pep Rally later, Nerd?” Jean watched him with almost predatory gaze, like he would sink his fists into Eren without hesitation.

Eren took a few seconds to think about it, but knew that if he went he would be home past curfew, and for that his father would kill him. “No, I can’t go, I-” he was cut off with the teacher taking a textbook and dropping it onto his desk.

“Alright class, quiet down! Let’s get to learning shall we?” The eccentric teacher smiled. She was happy because today was a lab day and she simply loved experiments.
“Mrs. Hanji, are we going to have to pair up?” One student asked; her grin only seemed to get wider.

“Of course! So these will be the pairings …” Mrs. Hanji continued to call out the pairs. Eren’s heart sunk, as his name wasn’t called with any of the productive workers in the class. However, his worrying wouldn’t be in vain. He felt his heart skip a beat as he was called to be partners with Levi. Maybe this is a good way to get to talk to him? What should I say to him? OH MY GOD!!! Why am I even THINKING about this? He’s not even GAY! PULL YOURSELF TOGETHER, EREN!! His thought process was stopped when he faintly heard someone call his name. He snapped his head up and looked over to his partner with his vibrant green eyes.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Levi simply let out a “Tch”, leaning back in his seat more as he crossed his arms over. “Why do I have to get stuck with the Nerd?” he asked to no one in particular, his voice completely monotone with disinterest. He glanced over to see Eren seemed to shrink more once he heard those words. Why does he look so sad? I don’t want to be stuck with him! He’s going to try and get me to work too. Guess I’ll have to ask Mrs. Hanji-

“M-mrs. H-hanji?”

“Yes, Eren?”

“C-can I c-change my l-lab partner?” he stuttered out, looking very upset.

Oh good, he asked for me. Guess he doesn’t want to get stuck with me either. Well, I can’t really blame-

“No Eren, you and Levi will be lab partners ‘til the end of the year.” She paused for a second to raise her voice to get everyone’s attention, “That goes for everyone else too! You will be lab partners for the rest of this year! Better get acquainted with each other now!” She smiled devilishly as a majority of the class groaned.

Levi glanced over at his lab partner and noticed that the Nerd had simply paled and started to clam up. “What’s wrong with you, Nerd? Cat got your tongue?” he asked quietly, smirking a bit as he did so. He looks mortified; do I really scare him that much? I mean, I know it’s his first day as a freshman, but there was no need to be afraid of your upperclassmen. “Oi, say something, Brat!” Levi monotoned.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren looked down and then back up to his partner. “S-sorry, I-I’m just worried a-about the assignment,” he said honestly. They were going to be testing the colors of different substances as they were burned. That was Eren’s fear, FIRE. He swallowed hard; he didn’t want to tell Levi about why he was so afraid of it. Especially since they had only met a few minutes ago. He watched as Levi’s brows furrowed and he noticed the assignment as well.

“Do you have a problem with fire or something?”

Eren’s heart almost stopped and he paused for a moment, trying to rack his brain for something to say.

“Wait, nevermind, I do not want to know more about you than I already have to.”

Eren’s heart seemed to sink further. Alright, so his good looks is what makes up for his horrible personality. Dammit all, why do I always fall for those that can only hurt me more?

Eren took a deep breath and somehow he made it through the experiment without freaking out too bad. He was mostly in charge of writing down detailed observations. He waited until they were done, hoping that Levi wouldn’t speak to him. He didn’t want to stutter anymore, but at the same time he wanted Levi to talk to him and show him a smile on his normally stoic face. He had noticed that during the hour, Levi had a perpetually disinterested face throughout the class. He was writing down a few more notes when Levi spoke up.

“Brat, what are you writing down? I want you to send that to me. I am not getting a bad grade in this class because of your lazy ass not sending me shit.” he hissed at Eren. Eren nodded and simply looked down at his papers and handed them to Levi.

“C-can you write y-your email, or your ph-phone number up h-here?” He stuttered out. He knew Levi wouldn’t notice, but he was doing better with the fluidity of his speech, even after just speaking with him for a little bit. He watched as Levi hurriedly wrote down both his number and his email as the bell for the end of class rang. He was disappointed that he couldn’t stay with Levi any longer than this.

“Don’t forget to send me the notes, Brat.” Levi said before turning and leaving the boy to go into the crowded hallway.

Eren watched as he left and he got through the rest of his classes. He wasn’t picked on as much, as they were freshman classes that he was required to take as a freshman, not his accelerated courses, like chemistry. He made it to lunch without seeing the short jock at all, which seemed to calm his nerves a bit. No one really tried to talk with him or make any friends with him, and though he was lonely, he was grateful no one was trying to pry into his life.

At lunch, Eren took one glance over the cafeteria, losing his appetite as soon as he laid eyes on Levi’s table. Girls of all grades were crowded around the football team; there were so many of them Eren could barely see the other side of the cafeteria, let alone even walk by them all.

Shit! I can't get to the doors without walking past them. Eren resolved the conflict in his head. He could do it if he just didn't look up. He had to. I want to eat; I didn't eat dinner last night, or breakfast this morning… I need to eat!

Walking faster than usual, he made his way past the crowd. He'd almost made it, but his bag got caught on Annie Leonhart's bag, nearly knocking her off the bench.

"The hell, dork?! You try'na start shit?" Jean was quick to react, towering over the small brown haired boy. Giving him only another nickname to allow others to call him by.

"U-uh, no! I-I was j-just walk-" Jean pulled Eren up by the collar, bringing him so close that Eren could smell the strong man's breath.

"I fucking dare you to do that again, Jaeger." So they did know his name, and only after one class together, amazing.

"Oi, Jean. Put the kid down." Eren never thought he'd hear the words, but Levi Ackerman had just stood up for him. At this point, he didn't care what happened. He felt like turning his head to thank Levi, but that would have been too much.

"No! He's try'na steal my bitch~!" Jean quickly slammed Eren against the wall. Where are the teachers when you need them? In a matter of seconds, Jean had struck Eren across the nose, which was now bleeding and just refused to stop.

"The hell, Jean?" Other people from the football team were now crowding around the two, most of them taking neither boy's side and just watching it play out.

"The FUCK is wrong with you, Jean," Levi stood up confidently, crossing his arms and walking heavily toward Jean. "The Brat did nothing. He was just walking, and now you broke his nose."

Eren stood in shock, trying not to shake. He brought his sleeve carefully to his nose and touched it. It came away drenched in blood. Was it broken? No, he could feel it, it definitely was.

"You okay, Brat?" Levi put his hand on Eren's shoulder.

"FUCK. WHAT IS THIS. WHAT DO I DO. WHAT'S HE DOING. HE'S TOUCHING ME. HELP."

"U-uh, y-yeah," Eren answered and immediately regretting his stutter. Levi leaned in close to Eren's face, inspecting his nose. Eren blushed like mad, a bright sheet of pink decorating his cheeks. Why do you need to be this close to me! Stop! Seriously! I won't be able to take this!!!

"Why don't you come with me. That looks pretty bad," Levi offered.

"Um.." Eren stuttered, at a complete loss for words. Should he go? Or should he not go? He had no choice in the matter as Levi dragged Eren down the school hallway and into the bathroom. He shut the door behind them, made sure they were alone, and then turned to face Eren.

"Here," he handed the brown haired boy a paper towel to clean his nose off. Eren thanked him and took it, wincing at the pain when he touched his nose. Ya, it's definitely broken... Great, Dad's going to beat me.

He continued to think of excuses as to how he would explain this to his father on his first day of school. He thought of so many different excuses he could make up for the broken nose, but none sounded good enough for him to tell his father. Levi's stoic voice brought him out of his thoughts as soon as he started speaking to Eren again.

"So, what were you trying to accomplish back there, Brat?" Levi asked with his familiar smirk on his face. Eren stuttered as if he didn't know what Levi meant, and truthfully, he didn't. "Come on, when you caught Annie's bag? There had to be a reason. No one would dare to fuck with Jean, or his girl."

"N-no, I-I'm just really clumsy," Eren blushed and looked down at his fingers, hoping that Levi wouldn't notice the blush forming on his cheeks.

"You're shy, too," Levi blurted out, as if it were simply him stating facts, “You barely talked to me during Chemistry; I thought you were going to talk my ear off about being a Freshman in a Junior class.”

Eren couldn't believe it, Levi actually thought he would brag about himself? Sorry to ruin your party train, but I do not like people looking at me!

“And why is that, Brat?” Levi’s voice seemed to raise a bit as Eren realized his mistake. He had said everything out loud. Oh great, now he’s gonna beat me up too, and then I’ll really be begging Mrs. Hanji for a new lab partner.

“Oi, Brat! I’m waiting for a reply.” Levi’s voice made Eren look back up to see how his eyebrows were furrowed. Dammit, even when he looks angry he’s hot. Why does the world hate me and make me gay! God I hate this!
“Sorry, I-I..” Eren trailed off as he felt the warm tears start to pool at the corners of his eyes, “I-It’s because y-you’ll think I’m a f-freak.” Eren stuttered out, finally finding his words. He only saw Levi’s eyebrows furrow more, though this time he didn’t look angry, he looked confused.

“Why?” Eren couldn’t stop his own voice from saying what was on his mind.

" I-I’m gay, I-I think I’m in love with you.. and I’m terrified. "

Eren’s heart stopped again for the second time today. SHIT! I SAID IT! I ACTUALLY SAID IT! Why did I say that? It's not like he’s gonna actually do anything about it! This is gonna make my life miserable! He’s going to tell everyone in this school, and I’m going to get beat up by the entire football team. Ya, that’s probably what’s going to happen to me as soon as he walks out of this bathroom.

“Okay, sorry, but denying your offer, Brat. And stay away from me, I don’t need any of your homo-hormones rubbing off on me,” He spat back at the other and he left, but what he did do was keep Eren’s secret safe with himself.
Chapter Two : Grisha Yeager

Chapter Summary

Gore and violence, reader discretion advised

How the hell am I going to explain this to my father? Seriously! I can’t just tell him that a jock hit me for no reason…. He would never believe me. He groaned as he walked the 3 miles from school to the house he and his father just moved to from out of town. He couldn't say he didn’t like the town; it was beautiful in all aspects, even the houses that continued down the streets, it was just that everything is too far spread out for his liking. Why did he have to get a house that was this far from the high school! Does he think I'm fat? God, just another thing for him to be angry about.

Eren finally finished his long walk home, only to find that the house was completely empty. He heaved a sigh of relief, not knowing if he’d be able to face Grisha just yet. I wondered if he would even bother to ask if I had a good day at school. Or will he just start with the drunken beatings? Probably the latter.

The loud growl of his empty stomach was what brought him out of his trail of thoughts. That’s right, I didn’t get to eat lunch. Great. I should probably go and get something to eat… He tried to think of something that was most likely in the house for him to cook, but his mind drew a blank every time. Eren walked begrudgingly down the stairs, wondering if there even was any food he could make that wouldn’t be too hard to keep down if Grisha actually decided to beat down on him as soon as he saw Eren’s face.

He sighed again and just opted for pasta. That shouldn’t hurt my stomach too much, should it? Moving to get the pot, Eren winced as his wrists rubbed up against his long sleeved shirt.

I just opened them up again didn’t I?

He turned his sleeve over to see that he had in fact reopened the wounds he continued to give himself. He sighed again. Geez, I’ve been doing that a lot lately… Guess it’s just the thing that my poor little homosexual heart deems fit to do.

He lifted the pot up again, ignoring the burning sensation of the cotton shirt dragging against his now open wounds. He would just let them burn, he liked the pain, though he would never admit it to his father. That would be a death sentence. He liked the small dull ache there was on his wrists because it anchored himself to the horrible reality he found himself in all time. He absentmindedly watched the water fill the pot, just noticing how the bubbles came rushing in with the water, only to disappear milliseconds later. Eren then tried to take the now full pot from the sink to the stove and found that it was near impossible, but somehow laden with the heavy pot he managed to make his way to the stove.

Note to self: Don’t fill the whole pot with water next time.

He glanced at the clock on the stove as he reached to turn the stove top on. He turned it on as high as it would go, hoping to get the water to boil quicker. He didn’t want to have to deal with Grisha while he was eating… No. That had happened before, and he didn’t want to be throwing up all over his father just to make him more furious. The clock read 5:57pm.

Great. He’s going to be home soon--

Click

And now I realize why the world hates me.

Eren turned his focus from the pot to the front door, he could almost feel the alcohol coming off of his father in waves. It tempted to knock him down, but his father got to it before the stench could.
Eren didn’t have time to react as Grisha charged at him with the force of a bull, knocking his son down to the floor immediately.

“Get up, you worthless piece of shit.” Grisha shouted at the boy he had just knocked down to the ground. His eyes only darkened when Eren raised his head to look up to his father.

“What the fuck did you start a fight at school for!?” His mind immediately headed to the possibilities where Eren was the sole purpose of his broken nose. It didn’t help that Grisha was a doctor, and noticed right away. “ANSWER ME YOU LITTLE SHIT!!” He spat out and moved to kick his face, further shattering the already broken nose that Eren had.

Eren groaned and was at a loss for words when he got up and put a hand to his face, only to find that his hand was completely covered in warm, scarlet blood. He gasped when he saw it and looked at his father again. He started, “D-dad, I-I can e-expl-” but he was cut off with a sharp kick to the gut.

“DON’T call me your father! YOU ARE NOT MY SON! ” Grisha shouted at the top of his lungs, getting another well placed kick between Eren’s arms and on his chest, feeling a satisfying crack as he broke the weak boy’s ribs. “NEVER CALL ME YOUR FATHER EVER AGAIN.”

Eren nodded hurriedly and tried to back away already knowing not to talk back at his father. He was beyond drunk, and it would only get worse if he tried to fight back. He had already found out about that too. He gasped for air when he felt Grisha’s second kick land on his chest. He could feel the crack of his ribs, and couldn’t help but scream in pain. He coughed a bit and he noticed the specks of blood flicking out. Fuck that hurt... Did I puncture something? Eren could only question this for a few seconds before he felt a solid crack on his back. The pain was excruciating, though sadly, he was used the trademark sting of his father’s belt. He cried out in pain again as he tried to crawl away from his father hulking figure looming above him. “P-p-please...ahhh....s-s-stop...ahhh” Eren cried out in pain as he tried to reach for a chair so he could get up from his spot of the floor. His hand was covered in blood from his nose still, he wanted to desperately to get away from his father at that moment. His fight or flight response was kicking in and it was telling him to ‘get the hell out of dodge’. He struggled to reach for the chair again as he was pelted with the belt he so dearly hated. He could feel every welt across his back, he could count them if he wanted to, but to be honest, he didn’t want to count them right now in this situation. There’s at least 20 now, maybe more.... A few more seconds went by and he could feel that blood was starting to pool from his back. It’s definitely more than 30 by now, will I be able to get up?

Eren didn’t want to think about the what if’s at the moment and finally reached for the chair, only to have his father stomped down on his raised arm with such force they could both hear the sickening crunch as Eren’s arm hit the floor under Grisha’s boot. The poor boy screamed out in pain and tried to pull his arm back, out from under his father’s boot. That was a task in itself, since Grisha was determined to keep the boy down on the cold floor. Grisha reached over to the pot of boiling hot water as he kept his foot on the writhing boy’s arm.

“This should help with your wounds.” He smirked as he began pouring the scalding hot water all over Eren’s back.

All Eren could do was brace himself for the horrible pain that was about to ensue, but he didn’t realize the pain would be this extreme. The water felt like lava all over his back, searing the opened and ripped flesh so much that some of the flaps of skin on his back almost looked to be cooked. Eren let out a gut-wrenching scream for a long time, as the water had pooled in his lower back where a majority of his wounds were. Grisha had him pinned where he was and so he couldn’t move. Eren was forced to wait until the boiling water finally cooled against his skin. It was a good 5 minutes before Eren’s screams had finally died down and he noticed just how much blood was pouring out of his mouth. He coughed again and even more blood came out to mix in with blood and water that drenched the kitchen floor. He knew his father would make him clean this up until his fingers were raw from scrubbing with bleach.

“WILL YOU SHUT THE FUCK UP!?” Grisha roared as Eren began sobbing loudly, unbearably obnoxious in Grisha’s mind.

Eren tried to quiet his cries and plead for him to stop this brutal attack. Though Grisha seemed less than pleased at the boy’s pleas, and simply lifted him. Eren cried out again as his tarnished body was suddenly jerked up by his father’s hand. He gasped and sobbed weakly as Grisha easily hung his thin body in the air.

“I told you to SHUT UP!” He growled and dropped the boy to the floor and let him crumple into the wet mess. Sadly for Eren, he couldn’t hold in his cries, it simply hurt too much for him to quiet himself enough for Grisha to be pleased.

Eren gasped for air as he felt a large hand wrap around his bony neck and lift. He was desperate for air and trying to get away from his grasp. It hurt, he couldn’t breathe, his lungs felt like they were on fire. He tried to let out a plea for Grisha to stop but all that came out was a choked sob. He felt as Grisha’s fingers dug in close around his small neck. Is he trying to kill me? At this rate he will end up killing me... well, Levi will be pissed that he’s never gonna see those notes for Chemistry. Damn it, I won’t be able to stay awake for much longer--

And with that, Eren’s body fell limp in Grisha’s hand and was completely silent. “Good Boy” Grisha spat out, venom lacing his voice as he threw the broken boy at the floor. He could see that he was still breathing, he had just lost consciousness. Grisha took the opportunity to take a knife from the counter, searching for the sharpest one he could find. Once he located a paring knife, the pristine silver blade glinting, he began lacing Eren’s chest and arms with red lines upon red lines. He would have scars left over his already existing scars from previous encounters with Grisha. The mad man smiled at his handy work and then left to go and sleep upstairs.

Eren woke up hours later. He sputtered, and more blood flecked onto the floor. His whole body ached, like he had been hit by a speeding train. He tried to roll over and found it impossible. He finally managed to make his way to his backpack across the room on the floor. He slowly crawled over the tiles, an eternity to cross the ten feet he needed to. He fumbled his backpack open, getting blood everywhere, all over his notes and his phone. He tried to clean it as best he could, but found it to be in vain. He hesitantly drew a breath before he mustered the courage to dial Levi’s number. He tried to talk and noticed that it hurt more and he coughed out an even larger amount of blood. The phone rang until it hit voicemail. Eren hung up and tried again. Pick up the damn phone already short stack!

As if on command Levi picked it up.

“I Swear to God, Erwin! If this is you calling me to pick up your drunken ass, I will personally castrate you tomorrow before school!” Levi’s harsh tone hurt Eren’s ears as it was so loud. He let out a soft whimper and that seemed to have shut Levi up.

“Hello? Who the hell is this?” He hissed out into the phone. When he didn’t hear anything else, he continued in his rage. “I swear to god if you don’t answer me in-” he stopped as soon as he heard a choked out sob.

“L-levi” Eren choked out, it was no louder than a whisper

“Brat? Is that you?” he asked quietly and his anger seemed to diminish before it spiked again. “Why the hell are you calling me at 3 in the fucking morning!?” He screeched out into the phone, that was until he heard Eren whimper again.

“L-levi... I-I...” he cried as he tried to wrangle his voice, but he couldn’t his vocal cords were crushed. “I-it hurts” he managed out in the ghost of a whisper. He tried to sob but ended up coughing up more blood and it wouldn’t stop.

Levi heard it all. “Oi, Brat, hang up, it’s obvious you can’t talk right now. Text me where you are. I’m going to come get you.” he sighed as he got up out of his bed and went to go get his car keys, but he wasn’t sure if he should hang up on the boy. He heard another choked out sob and tried to hear what he was saying.

“I…..can’t......it....Grisha.....angry......no.....come” he strained to try and process the information. He sighed and closed the door to his apartment as he went to his car.

“Brat, stop talking, and send me your fucking address already or I won’t come!” he growled but he didn’t realize the line cut out in the middle of his sentence. He had no idea where Eren lived, and he didn’t get a text from the kid. He decided it wasn’t worth his time to go after the boy anymore and went back to bed at around 3:45am. He tried to sleep but found that he couldn’t sleep at all, especially since he almost couldn’t make out a word the Brat had said. He sighed. Brat, Are you okay?

Sleep finally found Levi later, but it was not a good sleep, his mind surrounded with the what ifs concerning Eren. Was he okay? Did he really need help? Was he dead? Wait... WHY THE HELL AM I THINKING ABOUT A STUPID BRAT!? I should be pissed off at him! He didn’t send me the notes for chemistry yet! Why should I be worried about his forgetful ass? He doesn’t deserve my attention! That damned brat is probably drunk off his mind and just called me to annoy the hell out of me. Hmmm...

Levi expected to see the Brat in his seat already since he knew the freshman wouldn’t dare to be late to Mrs. Hanji’s class. Only,

He didn’t show up.
No, he wasn’t even late. He didn’t come to school at all.

What the hell, Brat?
Chapter 3 : Peanut Butter

Levi expected to see the Brat in his seat already since he knew the freshman wouldn’t dare to be late to Mrs. Hanji’s class. Only,

He didn’t show up.

No, he wasn’t even late. He didn’t come to school at all.

What the hell, Brat? Why didn’t you come to Chemistry? Mrs. Hanji is going to be pissed!

“Mr. Ackerman,” Mrs. Hanji’s voice rang over the almost now silent classroom, “do you have any idea where Mr. Yeager is?” Hanji seemed incredibly calm, but Levi knew better than to make a wrong move now.

“No, Mrs. Hanji, I am not aware of where he is,” He told her, his voice a continuous monotone. Damn Brat, now I have to actually take notes in this class! God damn it! He’s probably just skipping class… or is he actually hurt? Levi shook his head as soon as the thought entered his mind. *No, why do I have to get worked up over some Brat? Nope. Nope. Nope. I refuse, that Brat means shit to me. I can get through this class by myse-

“Mr. Ackerman, take your phone out and call him, I want to hear what his excuse is for not being in my class.” Hanji’s voice had finally broke out into anger, “Go out into the hallway until you get him to answer his cell phone.” She smiled sweetly to try and hide her annoyance with Eren.

Levi swallowed hard, quickly nodding, “Yes, Mrs. Hanji.” he quickly got out of the room and went to the hallway with his cell phone. Once he made it outside the classroom and into the hallway, he pulled out his phone. He went through it and looked for the unknown number from 3:07am that morning. He clicked the number and called what he assumed was the Brat’s phone. He waited for someone to pick up, ring after ring, after ring. Levi was pissed off when it went to voicemail the first time, but nevertheless he left a quick message: “Pick up the damn phone, Brat” he growled into the phone. He hung up before trying to call again to get Eren to answer. Yet the boy didn’t pick up. He didn’t answer his phone, not for any of the 37 calls Levi had made to his phone trying to get him to pick up during first hour. He knew he couldn’t go back in the room without Eren on the phone to talk to Mrs. Hanji. The last kid that was in Levi’s position tried to cover for his lab partner being horribly hungover, and that didn’t end well for either of those stupid fucks.

He called Eren another 3 times, racking the total up to now 40 calls in the past hour. It was safe to say that Levi was beyond pissed off at this point. WHY IN THE EVER LIVING FUCK WON’T THIS FUCKTARD OF A BRAT PICK UP HIS FUCKING PHONE!? Why can’t he pick up his damn phone? I’ve literally called him 40 times! The bell is about to fucking ring and I haven’t even heard today’s lesson. When I get my hands on that fucking Brat, I will personally wring the life out of his body through that small neck of his! Even Levi’s thoughts growled inside his head.

The bell rang for the classes to switch periods. Where is that fucking Brat? Levi couldn’t answer that question, not even after he went back in his class to retrieve his book bag. He didn’t want to look at Mrs. Hanji, almost expecting her to give him a detention for not getting a hold of Eren. Sure enough the older woman spoke up, once it was just the two of them in that room.

“So did you ever get a hold of Eren?” She asked quietly. She seemed concerned; Usually, after a few minutes the students returned with their lab partners on the phone. Levi hadn’t come back in at all.

Levi shook his head and looked down. “No, I couldn’t get ahold of the damned brat.” His cold tone barely hiding the anger that laced his words.

Hanji sighed before writing him a pass, both for his next class and for his phone. “Keep it on your desk, if he calls back you’re allowed to leave to come see me during any class. If any of the teachers give you shit about it, show them this note.” Mrs. Hanji’s words weren’t as hard as they had been at the beginning of class this morning. She seemed almost worried, though that quickly diminished once she opened her mouth again. “Make sure he stays on the line, I want to hear his explanation as to why he wasn’t in my class.” The devilish glint in her eyes sent a chill down Levi’s spine.

Whatever she’s got in store for the Brat, it is not in any case good. Levi rushed out of the room to get to his next class. He made it on time and kept his phone out on his desk at all times. He was getting increasingly pissed off as the periods were by and he didn’t call, or even text back. Did the fucker break his phone? No, that’s not a possibility, it would’ve said the phone was unavailable right away, not ring for a fucking minute before going to voicemail. Levi let out a heavy sigh as the bell rang again for his next class.

Will you just answer any of my goddamn texts you fucking brat?

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

 3:16 am, Yeager House ***
Eren laid on the floor, bleeding out, going in and out of consciousness, trying to force himself to stay awake. I can’t sleep now. I NEED to stay awake. The injured boy tried his best to regain his consciousness every time his blacked out. It felt like minutes went by, but it was hours. He heard a faint noise, almost like a ringing coming from the outside. Though he couldn’t tell if it was his ears or something else. His eyes finally cracked open, trying to figure out what annoying sound he was hearing. The ringing filled his ears and he winced as he fully woke up, quickly finding the sound unbearable. His phone continued to ring, but it was too far over to reach at the moment.

Shit, who the fuck would be calling me right now? No one has my number except Grisha and…. Eren stopped his train of thought as he reached for his phone. He had to move, reopening nearly all of the wounds across his back. He looked at his phone and grabbed it with his hand, which was caked in now dried blood. He grimaced at the sight of his hand. Just how much blood did I lose? He asked himself before he looked at his phone, it had stopped ringing. Finally, the annoying sound is fucking gone! He praised for only a second before the notifications for missed calls, unread texts, and new voicemails… all of which came from one person- yeah you guessed it- they were all from Levi Ackerman himself. Eren groaned but soon found that it was hard to let out any noise out at all. He tried to speak but it just came out in as a air straining to pass by his vocal cords. Well, now I know my vocal cords are crushed, no point in trying to talk…. So I’m not even going to try and call Levi back. What the hell time is it anyways? It took Eren a bit to focus on the bright screen in front of him, which was his phone. When he was finally able to make out the time, he realized that it was around 9:27 am, give or take a few minutes, though he didn’t know if his phone was right or not. FUCK! I missed first period! Levi’s gonna be pissed! I didn’t send him the Chemistry notes, that’s probably why he was calling.

Eren hesitantly scrolled through his phone and opened up the 15 voicemails which Levi had so graciously left him. He tried to take in a deep breath, but found that it hurt way too much, even with the normal broken rib. No, something else is wrong, it obviously isn’t just a broken rib, I’m coughing up blood for god’s sake.

Eren finally clicked the first voice mail that Levi had left him and put it on speaker to listen to the little short stack furiously talk to him.

#1: Eren I swear to God, if you do not pick up this phone in the next 10 minutes, so help me God I will murder you myself.

#2: Brat, pick up the damn phone already! Jesus Fucking Christ!

Well, now I know he’s really angry at me, shall we go through the rest? Eren smiled at his own comment but continued to go through the rest of the other voice mails.

#3: Eren, pick up the damn phone.
Eren Fucking Yeager! Pick up the fucking phone now you asshole!!

Eren seriously, if you don’t pick up soon, the teacher is going to murder the both of us! I don’t know if you realized this or not, but I am too fucking young to die! DAMN IT!

Ahh, I see now, he’s just worried about missing practice due to a detention... well serves him right, he’s a cocky bastard. Eren tried to chuckle at his own comment, but it only ended up in his hurting a lot more than it should have. Damn, I think he might have shattered a few of them, I can’t feel the bones out of place. His thoughts trailed off as he felt the phone buzz in his hand again, the annoying ringing started up again. Eren knew he couldn’t talk though, so he let the phone continue to buzz. I swear to god, if this annoying phone rings again I will chuck it across the room without a care in the world! Eren sighed in relief as the ringing was silenced, and the annoying sound no longer hurting his already aching head more. He scrolled through his phone again and got to voicemail to listen to the others.

Eren, Mrs. Hanji’s pissed at you. I hope you know that!

Oi Brat, do you think it’s funny listening to all of these and not replying?

You better be on your deathbed right now, or I am going to put you on it tomorrow at school!

I hope you don’t think I’m kidding, you fucking Brat. I can’t wait to sink my fists into your stomach! HA!

Alright, enough with the games Brat, pick up the goddamn phone already!

I seriously mean it Brat, pick up the phone, call the school! Tell them where the fuck you are and to have Mrs. Hanji let me back in her class.

Brat! First Hour is almost over! ANSWER YOUR FUCKING PHONE!

I swear to God Eren, you are going to die tomorrow you bastard!

Congratulations, Asshole! You made me miss all of First Hour! I’m going to fucking cut your balls off tomorrow!
#15: Brat, will you at least call back? Or text me back? Mrs. Hanji seemed like she was gonna let you off the hook if you called back. I don’t think you deserve it!

He’s probably right though, I gotta bandage myself up for school tomorrow… Eren’s train of thought derailed as soon as he heard his stomach growl. I haven’t eaten in the past two days…. That’s fucking terrific. He slowly managed to pull himself up with one arm, quickly realizing he couldn’t use his left arm at all. He gently reached over to his forearm and felt the bump from where the bones were snapped in half. Well, at least it’s not my writing hand. Gotta look on the bright side, I guess… Eren finally managed to stand up and look at his surroundings. His whole body ached as he looked down at the floor. Blood was everywhere. It looked like at least 3 people had been murdered here, and their blood drained onto the floor. Eren couldn’t stop himself from gagging at the thought that this was all of his blood, and no one else’s. How much blood did I lose? One look at his pale skin gave him an answer. Great, I can’t even cut myself, or else I risk completely bleeding out. Fucking perfect. Eren sighed and limped towards where his father kept all the bandages. He expertly wrapped his whole torso, along with his arms, they needed to be wrapped. He looked at his left arm again and knew he would need to re-break the extremity himself. He looked around for all the things he needed to set his arm, placing everything on the counter top in the kitchen. He grabbed a large towel and bit down on it hard as he took his left arm and smacked it down on the countertop, strong enough to re-break the bones. He would’ve let out a horrifying scream is he wasn’t biting down on the towel, which was now becoming drenched in bloody saliva. He took a few deep breaths- well, as deep as he could manage- before he calmed himself down and set the broken extremity before he wrapped it skillfully so that it couldn’t move. So that it could heal. Ha, like it’ll heal. Grisha will probably just keep breaking it until my body doesn’t respond and try and heal itself again, ever. Eren then looked to the rest of him, set his smashed nose correctly and put tape of the bridge of his nose to keep it in place. He attempted to take another breath as he moved to wrap his severely injured neck, but found it too difficult to really breathe correctly. He tried again, only to earn him a coughing fit, which ended up turning into a hurling fit, coughing and puking up blood, mucus, stomach acid, and a few other things Eren would try and erase from his memory, but mostly blood. It was bright red, fresh, which meant he was still bleeding on the inside. Wonderful. He finally wrapped his black, purple, blue, red, green and all the other colors he didn’t dare to list, neck, finally feeling more in control of his body. Eren limped off with a jar of peanut butter and a spoon, deciding to take his phone with him as he hobbled up the stairs to his room.

Eren finally made it up to his room after what felt like an eternity on the stairs. His exhausted body laid down on the bed and he got a spoonful of peanut butter, carefully raising it to his lips. The first lick of the spoon let him taste mostly blood. Is that all I’m going to fucking taste for the next week? Blood? He seemed to sigh in relief as he finally started to taste the nutty spread. He felt the hot tears stream down his face before he was even realizing he was crying.

At least I can taste the Peanut Butter.
Chapter Four: The Return

Eren had cleaned up the mess of dried blood and water known as his kitchen before his drunken father could come home and see it. Though, what surprised Eren the most was not that he had actually cleaned the kitchen completely without reopening his wounds, but that Grisha had not come home that night. Does he feel bad that he hurt me this badly? No, probably not, he wouldn’t even bat an eye anymore... not after what I did. He sighed in relief as he slowly made himself a sandwich. He ate quickly, savoring the fact that he could finally eat something after two whole days. He looked to his left arm, which was starting to hurt like hell again, even with the splint around it. He flexed his fingers gently. Well, at least I can feel them. That’s good news. Eren looked over his battered body, trying hard not to break down right then and there. This was definitely the worst Grisha had done to him, only topping every other instance because Grisha had cooked his flesh. Eren shook his head as soon as the thought of what his backside looked like crossed his mind; He was not going to think about that. Nope, not gonna happen, I don’t want to know what the hell my back looks like. For all I know it looks like fucking pulled chicken... before you put the barbeque sauce on it... Or would my blood technically count as barbeque sauce... WHY AM I THINKING ABOUT THIS!?? Eren shook his head again, though he tried not to move his neck much. That would be like going to hell and back. He prayed to God that he would be able to talk in school at least a little bit. Sighing again for what felt like the millionth time today, the boy took his leave of the kitchen, making a stop at the closet to get the bandages and progressed to his room slowly. He was going to rewrap all his wounds before he passed out from exhaustion.

Eren had rewrapped all his wounds, nearly gagging when he saw how much blood had come off of his back. He was disgusted by the amount of blood he had lost overall. Just how much did I lose? He tried not to ponder the question too much as he stiffly got into his small bed. It only took a few seconds before he was passed out.

Eren woke up with a start, the alarm on his phone going off. He reached for the annoying device that was on his night stand. He carefully sat up, trying not to put too much pressure on his left arm or breathe too deeply for his chest. His phone was still going off, annoying Eren so much he was ready to throw the damn thing across the room...which is exactly what he did. The phone made a soft thud as it hit the wall, and then again as it hit the floor, though it didn’t shatter like Eren had hoped it would. No, the damn thing was still ringing. Eren tried to get up immediately and go after the blaring phone, only to find out that his legs almost refused to work. He got in a half step before he fell flat on his face, groaning at both the pain in his legs as well, now he realized it, the rest of his aching body. He felt like he had been hit by another train this morning, only to be allowed to walk among the living. He coughed as he struggled to get up, though his thin body allowed to it to be done easily. He got up, finally shutting his fucking phone off and then going to get changed. He wore black everything- even his hoodie was black- because he didn’t need people to see blood stains if anything were to open up. Though, if anything does open up, I’ll probably die anyways. The hallways are gonna be fucking horrible. Eren looked down at his feet and up his bruised legs, at the rest of his body and realized that there were more bruises showing today than there were yesterday. He gingerly reached up to touch his face, though almost instantly pulled his fingers back. He swallowed hard. Today was gonna be a rough day at school.
He had somehow made it to school with his backpack on his back, like a normal person, without opening anything up. He went hurriedly to first period, to hopefully get there before it got too crowded in the hallways. He went to Mrs. Hanji’s room and came in, going to sit down, hopefully without her realizing that he had just come in-

“Mr. Yeager! What a pleasure of you to finally come back to class,” Mrs. Hanji’s voice was dripping with sarcasm.

Eren jumped a bit from the harshness of her voice. He looked down before he put his bag down and got out his small white board and an expo marker. There was no way in hell that he was going to be able to talk today, and his hoodie was up to try and hide his face from the lights in the room. He came forward, putting the board on the desk by Mrs. Hanji. He started to write down his message in his beautiful script.

Sorry, I can’t really talk right now, my throat is a little messed up.

Eren kept his head down and erased the message after he knew that Mrs. Hanji had seen it.

I’m sorry I wasn’t in class yesterday.

Hanji took his apology and smiled softly. “It’s okay Eren, what’s wrong with your throat? Are you sick or something?” She asked softly and looked to him. “You also have to keep your hood down, it’s against the school rules.” Mrs. Hanji reached up and removed the hood from the top of Eren’s head. Eren looked down when he heard her gasp. “Oh my good science! Eren, what the hell happened to you?” She asked quietly, obviously more concerned, and all she saw was that his neck was bandaged.

Eren shook his head. It’s nothing to worry about, really, he wrote down, It just hurt too much to speak at the moment. Is it okay if you don’t call on me in class? Eren looked up and his face looked even more bruised; the tape on the broken nose was still there to keep it in place, yet his double black eyes were not given to him by Jean. Hanji came to that realization quickly. She nodded her head at his question that he had written.

“Yes, Eren, you don’t need to be called. I’ll give you and Levi both the notes that you guys missed yesterday, so don’t try and overwork yourself,” she said as she backed up to get the notes.

That was when Mrs. Hanji laid an eye on Eren’s broken arm in a sling. It was a hospital issued sling, but his arm was nowhere near as wrapped as it should’ve been. “Eren, do you need to seek medical treatment? I can write you a pass to go to the nurse first period…” The rest of her suggestion died down as Eren furiously shook his head. He had multiple emotions showing on his face. Fear, resentment, a few others that no one could really understand unless they were in in his shoes, but above all the emotions his eyes so blatantly displayed, pain. Eren looked like he was about ready to cry from the amount of pain he was in. Mrs. Hanji knew better than to comply with her motherly urges to scoop Eren up into her arms and hold him close to allow him to cry, and she wouldn’t. No, she couldn’t do that here at her workplace; it would seem unprofessional. She decided it was best to keep his hoodie up. “I’ll write you a note for your hood then,” she said quietly and went to write his note. Eren sat down before the class filed in along with an angry Levi.

Eren swallowed hard as he saw Levi’s eyes instantly darken with the intent to murder. There was no doubt in his mind that he was capable of such a feat. Honestly, he wouldn’t be surprised if Levi had in fact killed a man before. He watched in fear as Levi came right for him and instantly grabbed his hoodie and ripped Eren out of his seat. The boy whimpered as Levi’s right arm rose up, and Eren’s eyes closed as he braced himself for the impact of Levi’s fists. But they never came.

“Mr. Ackerman, I don’t believe it would be proper to hit your lab partner the very same day that he returns back to school,” Mrs. Hanji’s voice was ice cold, her eyes throwing daggers at Levi who, likewise, turned his death glare to Mrs. Hanji. He then looked back at the pain in Eren’s viridian green eyes. He almost felt sorry for the poor brat and threw him back into his seat, only Eren ungracefully fell from his chair and found his way to the floor. Levi seemed to smirk until Eren’s hood fell from around his face, showing off both of his black eyes, a ton of scrapes and a few more bruises lining his face. Eren saw Levi’s eyes widen as he stared down at the boy on the ground. Eren quickly flicked his hood up to cover his face again.

“Was that really necessary, Mr. Ackerman?” Mrs. Hanji asked him quizzically. But the steely eyed teen couldn’t answer her question.

_What the hell happened to him? He didn’t look like that two days ago! Wait... when he called me he said something about being hurt. He couldn’t have been asking for help, could he? I mean, it’s just his face that’s like that right?_ Though Levi answered that himself when he saw the small amount of white medical wrap, that he was all too familiar with, wrapped around the Brat’s neck. _Seriously, what the fuck happened to this Brat?_ Levi shook his head when he saw the pain in the boy’s eyes as he shifted from the floor to his chair. Levi watched as he sat down on the cold, unforgiving chair. Eren was so tense that it made Levi wonder how much more of his body was wrapped up as well; maybe it was all of him? _No, he can’t be that hurt. If he was that hurt, they wouldn’t have let him out of the hospital...Wait, did he even go to the hospital?_ Levi shook his head and peeled his eyes off boy’s battered body. _Why the FUCK am I thinking about him like he matters so much to me??_

Levi returned to his seat beside the brat, Mrs. Hanji had given them a packet to do which contained the information they both missed yesterday, as well as homework from last night that neither of them received. He grumbled his complaint about being behind the rest of the class but took the packet and did it right away. He looked over to Eren to see that the brat was doing the same. He was really glad that he hadn’t punched Eren in the face like he was originally going to, as the Brat looked injured enough. Wait… I should’ve punched him, he’s the reason why we’re behind in this class. I’ll make sure I give it to him later today. Levi went back to his packet and worked for the rest of class alongside the Brat. What he thought was strange though was that the Brat hadn’t spoken a single word, not even after he had tried to beat the crap out of him. What the hell? Is this brat actually giving me the silent treatment? Or can he not talk at all? Nope, not even gonna let that last thought through! He can definitely talk, and yet this fucker is giving me the silent treatment! This fucking brat! Who the hell does he think he is for ignoring me? Oh, I am SO gonna teach him a lesson when we are in the fucking hallway today! Levi held onto his pencil a little more forcefully as all his anger seemed to bubble up at those thoughts. He couldn’t wait to get his hand on him and beat the crap out of him. Oh yeah, I can’t wait! Levi seemed almost too excited at the prospect of beating the shit out of the Brat, yet some how his excitement went unnoticed.

The bell rang after first hour was over. A majority of the classmates got up and left to get to their next class as quickly as possible. Levi followed suit, and for the majority, he stayed outside the classroom waiting for Eren to exit. He waited for what seemed like forever as the hallways started to clear out. Levi watched as Eren came out and seemed a bit shocked to see the jock leaning against the lockers just outside of the classroom. He swallowed hard but coughed after. It almost sounds like he’s coughing something up. Damn, that’s gross, this sick Brat is fucking coughing up his damn mucus! That’s fucking disgusting! Levi’s scowl only grew more as he harshly grabbed Eren’s wrist, tugging him away from the classroom and towards a secluded place in the school. He felt the adrenaline already kicking in for what he was about to do to exact his revenge on the boy. His smirk that formed on his thin lips looked sinister, like he had the intent to kill.

Once they were in a spot Levi deemed safe from prying eyes, he slammed the already battered teen into the wall. Levi’s eyes were blazing in full blown rage. He looked down on the now shaking Brat like a hawk. Or maybe the correct term would be as a lion looks at it’s prey… Ya, that’s probably the right fucking one. Levi looked to the frightened brat and laughed. Which seemed to catch Eren off guard, it was a soft, dark laugh which almost resembled a loud chuckle.

“Do you know why I dragged you back here?” Levi asked sinisterly, almost as if he had a knife drawn to the other’s throat... But I don’t, DAMMIT! I could’ve really freaked him out! Then he would’ve done all of the chemistry work for me! How stupid can I be? He smirked as he watched the boy wearily shake his head. He looked rather pale, but Levi figured it was probably from the position he was in right now with the school’s resident badass. Yes, I just called myself a badass! I’m gonna live up to my own reputation! HAHA! FUCK YOU, EREN YEAGER! “Well, this better put some sense into your mind for not sending me the Chem notes from the other day,” he hissed at the other and pulled back his fist, he slammed his fist down onto Eren’s chest, but something was wrong. Why was there no crunch? I should’ve broken a few ribs at least! He stared down at his fist, which was still on Eren’s chest, with furrowed brows. He stood there, getting angrier by the second as he tried to figure out what went wrong there. Levi only had seconds to figure it out before he was confused yet again. There was blood on his fist. What the fuck? Levi looked up to see Eren’s look of pain slowly subside a way as he slumped down on the wall, his back leaving a bloodied mark on the wall as he slumped down. He was coughing up blood and a lot of it. Levi backed away from the other in shock before he swallowed hard. Memories flooding through his mind about his mother, dying in the same position as he saw Eren in now, a hole blown through her heart. NO! I refuse to let anyone die here! He shook his head before turning his head to try and find a way to get someone’s attention. He finally decided that since they were in a nearly unvisited part of the school, the best thing to hit would be the fire alarm and shout for help, which was exactly what he did. The sprinkler system kicked in as soon as he hit the alarm and muffled screams filled the hallway as Levi started shouting. “Somebody get your ass out here and help me!! Call 911!!” He shouted at a few teachers which had come out of empty rooms to follow him.

Levi saw that they were running in his direction before he went and kneeled by Eren. His eyes betrayed him, showing a mix of concern for the boy, along with panic. He watched as Eren grabbed his wrist and smiled softly, or at least tried to smile, he was coughing up so much blood it was almost draining out of his mouth like a waterfall. His lips moved but nothing came out. No noise, nothing. Levi just sat there in shock of the boy sitting in front of him, understanding what he was trying to say in an instant. Levi was soon pulled away by the teachers and he seemed to zone out almost instantly then. His own face becoming pale, finally taking in full realization of what he had just done.

Why thank me, you idiot?
Chapter Five: What Have I Done?

Why thank me, you idiot?

Levi couldn’t get the thought out of his mind. Nothing could distract him long enough to prevent him from thinking about those full rosy, red lips mouthing their final—No! They were not the final thing that Brat said! Why do I keep thinking about that!? Dammit! He’s in surgery now! He’s going to be fine DAMN IT!

Levi leaned down and cradled his aching head. He was in the same hospital as Eren was, they had taken them both of them in the same ambulance. He was currently sitting in a pristine, shiny white room. At least this fucking room is clean. Why am I here again? I don’t have anything wrong with me! Levi looked down at his bloody hands. The blood wasn’t his and that was what repulsed him. He rushed over to the bathroom in the small room, leaning over the toilet as he expelled the contents of his stomach for the third time today. He felt the sting of the stomach acid ripping across his throat. Why the fuck am I throwing up again, you ask? Well, I’ve been trying not to remind myself what the fuck I just did to my lab partner! Levi threw up again as he pictured the broken teen limp against the wall, barely hanging onto his wrist before he was pulled away.

Levi tried to calm his churning stomach. I am not fucking doing that again! I refuse to throw up! Levi’s body betrayed him for the fifth time today. He didn’t hear the nurse come in, who located him in seconds after hearing his loud hurling sounds from the main part of the room.

“Mr. Ackerman?” She asked kindly as she sat down on the floor with him, seeming unaffected that the teen was throwing up still.

Levi gave her a death glare as she got closer to him, and if looks could kill, she would be dead at least two times over. “Can I help you?” he hissed and sat a bit farther back from the toilet, which he had just been clinging to desperately.

The nurse smiled softly before she handed him a bottle of water. “I want to talk, but I want to know if you’re going to be okay if we talk about the accident…” She trailed off as she watched Levi lean his body over towards the toilet, violently throwing up what small amount of stomach acid was still in his stomach. She hesitantly reached forward and rubbed his back, trying to soothe the other and get him to calm down. “Should I take that as a no then?” she asked kindly and was expecting him to nod.

Levi shook his head. “No, I need to talk about it, I need to know what happened to the fucking brat” he said quietly. He sat back on his heels, still close to the toilet, though not close enough that he was hugging the toilet. No, he was trying to get his self-restraint back. “I…” He paused taking in a heavy breath, “I think I can handle it.” For Once Levi actually replied honestly, he did want to know more about what had happened to his chemistry partner. He took a few deep breaths and he calmed himself down.

“Do you want me to start asking questions? Or are you gonna tell me what happened?” The Nurse asked softly since no one really knew what happened to the boy at all. The police investigators were in the room in almost an instant. “Do you want to talk to me first? Or are you okay with them in the room?” She asked softly to the boy, knowing sometimes patients like trying to talk to someone who could comfort them through their distress.

The silver eyed boy looked at the police investigators, glaring at them before his gaze softened. “I’ll give you my side of the story, I wasn’t the one who hurt him before hand, you should know that… but I’ll only tell my complete side of the story if you’re completely honest with me about what’s happening to Eren.” He had the last bit of the sentence directed towards the Nurse. The nurse looked to him and she thought about it for awhile before nodding.

Levi took another deep breath before he nodded and looked to the nurse, then to the investigators, then back to the nurse again. He did not want to look at the investigators at the moment, no he couldn’t do that right now, he would throw up if he didn’t see any emotions, and he hoped the nurse would at least seem a bit concerned.

“The brat-.... I mean Eren,” The name felt weird, coming out of his mouth as he had only said it in pure moments of rage while on the phone trying to get a hold of him. “He was fine when I first met him on Wednesday, it was a lab day, so our teacher put us together for being lab partners” he paused to take in his breath and he looked up to the investigators who were hurriedly taking notes. Oh my god, I feel like I’m going to be sick again!

The nurse picked up on his distress almost instantly and helped him calm down, they did not need him going through another round of shock like he had before. She was really concerned for the teen as he recited the story back to them.

“I gave him my number, and my email so that he could send me the chemistry notes we took in class, he had written down all the data for the experiment….” Levi trailed off when he realized that he was rambling. “I didn’t see him again until we had lunch-” Levi stopped abruptly so that he could swallow hard as he thought about all the things that had happened. “Eren tripped over one of my friend’s girlfriend, so he picked the kid up and socked him in the nose. It was broken almost instantly, but that was all that he had when he left school on Wednesday.”

Levi looked up from his hands and locked eyes with the nurse who was gently holding his hand, encouraging him to continue with his account of what had happened. He calmed down even further when he felt her gently squeeze his hand. She was comforting, and he was thankful for that. I don’t
He closed his eyes as he thought about his conversation with the Brat over the phone.

“He didn’t send me any of the work at all, and I got really mad at him, but I couldn’t contact him because I didn’t have his number. So I went to sleep, thinking about how I would beat him up yesterday. He called me at around Three in the morning. I was angry still because I thought it was a friend calling for a ride from a party, but it wasn’t. All I heard were choked sobs, and whimpers. He sounded like he was in so much pain, but I didn’t know if it was physical or simply from drinking. I know a lot of people at our school get drunk off their asses and then get a friend to drag their ass home, but I didn’t think he would be the one to call me. I heard him tell me that “It hurt”, that the only thing I got out of him that I could really understand. I told him I would come pick him up, that he needed to hang up and text me where he was, but he didn’t. He had tried to tell me something else to, something like “don’t come, Grisha’s angry…” or something like that, I don’t remember the exact details at the moment. I got up to go and get my keys to pick the brat up from wherever he was, only he didn’t answer me. He hung up and then didn’t text me where he was. I waited a solid 45 minutes just in case he was having problems texting me, because I still figured he was drunk…. Levi didn’t know when he had started to cry, but he was a fucking waterfall now. He sobbed, his shoulders rising and falling harshly as his whole body shook. He knew that it wasn’t right, it hadn’t felt right to leave Eren and now he knew why.

“He wasn’t drunk, was he?” He sobbed out and cried harder as the nurse pulled him close to her chest and pulled him close into a hug.

“No, he wasn’t drunk on Thursday morning, do you know who Grisha is?” She asked him softly as he sobbed into her chest.

Levi again shook his head. He had no fucking clue who this Grisha was. Was he the man that had hurt the innocent boy? He felt absolutely horrible. Why didn’t I call him back? I could’ve got him to a hospital! I could’ve helped him before it got to this point! Levi sobbed harder when he thought about all the ‘what if’s that he could’ve done to help the boy. Yes he put up a front that he was an asshole at school, it was just the way everyone expected him to be, and honestly he was a little sadistic on the inside, but he would never wanted harm to befall upon Eren. He cried for what seemed like hours, but was only a few minutes before the nurse spoke up.

“Is there anything else? Like what happened today?” she asked quietly as she watched Levi pale, all the color draining from his face. The nurse pulled him into her lap, rubbing the teen’s back in small circles. She was trying to calm the sobbing teen down, she wondered if this was too much for him to handle, he did just come out of his state of shock. She had been worried about the shorter teen as he came in, not answering any questions. His eyes were glossed over, like he didn’t realize that there were people trying to talk to him. He had been like that for hours, and she continued to talk to him. The nurse rocked him back and forth, trying to console him more.

“I did this didn’t I?” He asked quietly after he had finally calmed down. “I’m the one who put him in this hospital.” He cried as he clung to the nurse’s now tear stained shirt. The nurse finally calmed him down all the way after a few times. She asked him again what happened today as Levi moved out of her lap to get closer to the toilet again, fearing he wouldn’t be able hold what little acid was left in his stomach.

“I got into first period and I was really angry at him for not sending the notes, don’t get me wrong, I am known in school for throwing a few punches here and there, but I didn’t want to hurt the kid, maybe give him a black eye to teach him a lesson, but my teacher stopped me before I even got the chance to hit the poor kid. I saw the bruises and cuts all over his face, and they weren’t there before, he had two black eyes… Who does that?” he asked quietly and looked down trying not to think about what he did, but knew he would have to. He took in another deep breath to calm down his shaky nerves. “I took him towards one of the quiet places in the school after we got out of first hour. I slammed him against the wall, yelled at him to never forget my to send me the chem work again.” He paused and looked down at his hands as fresh tears found their way to his eyes. “I didn’t mean for this to happen, I just wanted to frighten him a little, so I punched him in the chest… but something was wrong-” he paused and moved to throw up again in the toilet. He tried to calm down his stomach but found that another thought about what happened, sent him through another hurling fest.

He threw up a few more times, his throat burning with the acid from his stomach, which was the only thing his stomach held at this point. He took a few deep breaths and allowed for the nurse to get close to him and touch him comfortingly. He needed it it, this whole thing was reminding him of his mother’s death more and more. He sat back down and tried to resume his speech as best he could without his voice cracking, or uncharacteristically bursting into tears.

“I… I punched him in the chest, where his ribs should’ve been, but it felt like he was vulnerable, like there was nothing there, I would’ve maybe left him with a fractured, or even bruised rib, but there was no resistance when I punched him, like there was no bone there at all. I was so confused… Eren started coughing up blood more and more, until it was just running out of his mouth-” He gasped as his eyes widened and he covered his mouth. “Oh my god, he was coughing up blood during first period and didn’t tell anyone, I thought he was just sick… oh my God, what have I done?” he asked and his tears started their waterfall for his eyes. His tears looked so out of place on his normally stoic face. His eyes seemed to be the only way to look into his emotions, the tears fell from them, and the look of pure guilt and concern was gut wrenching. He sobbed, trying to calm himself down and failing horribly.

“I pulled the fire alarm to get help, I was pulled back from him by the teachers… but before the teachers got there, Eren reached out and grabbed my wrist” he said and looked to the bloody stain on his long sleeved shirt. “He tried to thank me… but nothing came out of his mouth, it was just cascading blood, why was he trying to thank me?” He sobbed out.

The nurse instantly glared at the investigators to get the hell out of the room. They left after curtly nodding to the two on the floor in the bathroom. The nurse seemed to be relieved that they left. “Well, now that you were honest with us, I’ll be honest with you.” Her words seemed to take a bit for the young man in her arms to process, but he soon enough nodded. She took that as her cue to continue her speech.

“Eren Yeager, 15 years of age, son of a wealthy doctor, Grisha Yeager, was brought in with you earlier today, from your school” She saw the young man instantly seeth at the mention of Eren’s father.

“You mean the brat’s own father was responsible for this!?” He growled, the rage clearly evident in his voice, along with his eyes. He watched the nurse with his steely eyes to get the answer out of her. However, she shook her head.

“We cannot make any assumptions as to how Eren acquired these injuries, but what I can tell you is that he’s lost a lot of blood, his back was severely injured, and it looks as though his ribs were shattered, and some splinters puncturing his lungs before you punched him. Though by the looks of how he had wrapped his own body, he seemed familiar with the injuries, which leads me to believe he was either hiding the injuries well to begin with, or he had received them on Wednesday after your school day. Though he did not seek any medical treatment, and we know this because his arm was broken, and not set with a proper cast. It seems as though Eren had set it himself, almost perfect without the use of pins and screws, that’s all I can tell you without going into detail and loosing my job.” Her voice was soft and watched at the teen took everything in that the nurse had told him.

“Thank you for telling me” he said quietly and he smiled that she was still holding him close. “He was pale, did he lose a lot of blood?” he asked quietly, looking up so that their eyes would meet and Levi would be able to tell if she was really being honest or not.

The nurse nodded and looked to Levi with concern. “Do you think you’ll be okay? You came with him in the same ambulance, but you don’t remember the ride, you probably don’t remember how you got to this room either, do you?” She asked quietly and he nodded to show that the nurse was very correct in her statements.

“I don’t remember much, I only remember being pulled away, and then thinking about my mother, and how he looked almost as lifeless as she did when she died like that…” he started before looking down. “The only difference was that she had a hole in her heart.” His tone had become dry and his tears stopped after that. “I feel much better now, thank you” he told her and tried to stand up, he was wobbly as she helped him up.

“Don’t be quick, take things slow, you just came out of shock, we looked in your files for a guardian, but we were unable to contact your legal guardian, do you have someone who can take care of the legal documents?” she asked softly and helped him to his bed so that he could calm down.
Levi shook his head. “No, that asshole Kenny hasn’t been around for years, he pays for all the shit I need, but he isn’t around” he said quietly. He sat down and watched as the nurse got up to leave. He quickly grabbed her arm again to get her to stop. He looked down and swallowed hard as she waited for him to speak.

“Can- um… can I see him, w-when he gets out of surgery?” he asked quietly, he looked really concerned as he met the nurse’s eyes.

“Of course you can,” she smiled and rubbed his hair. “Everything is going to be fine, he’s in the best hands.” She smiled, but it wasn’t as full as the Brat’s. No his smile, is wide, like he smiles from ear to ear. It’s so freaking white too. Her’s isn’t white at all! Does she brush them? I wonder how many whitening strips the damn brat uses…. Why am I thinking about this? She smiled at me, telling me everything will be okay, and the next thing I know I’m thinking about the damn brat? What the fuck is wrong with me!? I should be worried about the damn brats well being! Not his fucking smile! I can’t believe I did that! I should’ve known something was wrong with the brat! He comes in bruised and wrapped and I go and think he’s just sick… then I fucking put him in the hospital! What kind of a monster am I dammit! I mean I know I’ve broken a few bones before, but I’ve never put anyone in the hospital before have I?

His mind lingered on the disturbing thought before it drifted to the brat again. He should’ve known better, the brat looked so pale, he probably was bleeding when he slammed him on the wall. That’s why it was so fucking bloody when he slid down. I should’ve noticed that he was wearing all black! What the fuck is wrong with me! The brat wouldn’t be the one to wear all the fucking goth shit! Why did I pass it over like that? I should’ve noticed….

I should’ve fucking noticed… My head hurts so fucking bad… I wonder what he’s gonna feel like when he wakes up? I wonder if he’ll be able to feel anything, or if he’ll be too hyped up on the morphine to feel anything--- WAIT! Why the fuck am I still thinking about that brat? What the hell is wrong with me?

Levi shook his head so that he could try and dismiss the thoughts of Eren that surrounded his head. He wanted food, but he would wait for the nurse to return and ask her. He was not about to get lost in this shiny as building that they called Sina Central Hospital. He sat on his bed and looked around. At least the room’s fucking clean, I wouldn’t be able to stand it if it wasn’t.

Levi curled up on his bed, his thoughts swirling around Eren, no matter how much he tried to tell himself that he shouldn’t think about the brat. He found that the brat had consumed all of Levi’s other thoughts, and remained the center of Levi’s attention.

I am straight, right… but that brat’s fucking adorable. Wait, what?
Chapter Six : Explanations

Well, I’ve been suspended from school for three more weeks… that’s fuckin’ perfect.

Levi groaned as he got up from his hard bed. He stretched, looking at the clock on the nightstand. He sighed when he saw 3:07 AM. He couldn’t stop waking up at that time, not after the brat had called him that one night. Fucking insomnia… That’s the cause, not the fact that I’m worried about that damn Brat. Though Levi knew he was just trying to come up with an excuse, he knew the real reason. He was too afraid to have that happen to Eren again, and he would wake up and wait for a phone call, and wouldn’t be able to go back to sleep.

He got up anyways. These past 5 weeks were complete hell. Complete hell doesn’t even do it justice, it was like working under a dictator, in complete enslavement… yeah, that sounds better. Levi had been suspended from school for 2 months after what he had done to Eren, putting him into the hospital and all, yet he wasn’t the main reason for the Brat’s injuries so the administration had given him a break and didn’t expel him.

Levi got into the shower, and his mind was immediately filled with thoughts of the Brat, as it had been every day since he was suspended, there was a good reason for it too. He had been going to see Eren everyday. I wonder if he’ll be awake today? Awake. Levi wanted to see those beautiful viridian eyes again. He’d been wanting to see them for the past few weeks, though he would never tell anyone. No one will ever know, not even that damn Brat! I swear by it!

Levi had not fully accepted that he was gay yet, especially when the one he was slowly becoming attached to was in the hospital. Not only was Eren in the hospital, he was still unconscious from the surgery that had taken place over 4 weeks ago. Eren had needed multiple surgeries to correct his shredded back, shattered ribs and multiple other broken bones that they had found over the course of the first two weeks. Why won’t he wake up?

He shivered as the hot water ran out; He hadn’t realized just how long he was in the shower thinking about the damn Brat. He quickly reached for the soap and started to wash himself in the cold water. Levi came out a few minutes later, clean and dripping wet. He wrapped a towel around his built frame. No, he wasn’t one of those bodybuilders who had muscles-galore, but he was pretty well toned.

Levi walked down the hall to his room where he easily picked out some clothes that fit his form, yet he still chose to wear sweats over the shorts he wore. He was stopping at school - yes, he still went to school even though he was suspended - to get the things he needed for work, along with the work Eren needed to do from his teachers. It had become a habit over the past couple weeks. Wake up too damn early, take a long ass shower, eat a bland breakfast, go to school and grab the shit he needed to do, turn in the shit he already did, then drive over to the hospital to do his work in Eren’s hospital room. Today won’t be any different, though I guess I’ll be a bit better. His face finally healed up completely. Why do I have to like this brat? Why is he so fucking adorable to me? Why can’t he fucking wake the hell up? ...Though he’ll probably hate me afterwards… but yet why did he thank me? Did he think I killed him? Was he thanking me for that? Because if he was, he’s going to be fucking pissed as all hell that he’s not dead… Then again, why would he want to be dead? Had his father done this before? Levi’s mind was filled with so many questions that he wanted that damned Brat to answer.

He left his room after he was dressed, countless questions still plaguing his mind. Levi made himself a quick breakfast: toast and a few eggs. He ate in complete silence. He didn’t mind it as some other people would; He enjoyed the quiet of his home, actually. He got up to get the keys from their designated spot. He wanted to make this quick, because he didn’t like the teachers that much, and it couldn’t be said they liked him that much either. He quickly made the two-block drive to the high school before getting out of his sleek black car and entering the old building.

He walked quietly along the barren hallways to get to the teachers’ rooms. He didn’t make much conversation with the old hags, maybe a few “Good mornings” here and there, but nothing much more than that. He liked to keep to himself, yet for some reason Eren was all he could think about as he got the work he needed to do and dropped off a few things to various teachers. Once his classes were out of the way he went along to Eren’s classrooms and picked up more work to add to the growing pile in the Brat’s hospital room. It took a little over half an hour to get all the papers in order for the both of them before he walked out of the building, both glad to get out of the building that brought too many bad thoughts to mind, and glad he could go see Eren now.

Alright- To see Sleeping Beauty, we go.

Eren’s chest was throbbing as he woke up. Actually, everywhere was throbbing, just more so his chest. He knew why as soon as he tried to take in a deep breath, only to let out a groan in pain. He looked around to try and see where he was, but came up blank. Why the fuck is everything in this room….white? Then it hit him like a ton of bricks. I’m in the fucking hospital? His thoughts were only confirmed by the steady beeps of machines next to him. He looked around his body and he saw that he had an IV in his right arm, and his left arm was properly wrapped and casted. He reached his hand up to his eyes to try and rub any of the tiredness he felt away. His body felt heavy, like he was still exhausted from a running around all day. Yet, Eren knew from the kink in his neck that he had in fact been asleep for a long time. But how long? How long have I been asleep for? His mind wandered until he saw a nurse come into his room, and the way her face lit up at the sight of him awake gave away her excitement.

“You’re awake!” She beamed and smiled happily down at the boy. She looked to the many screens displaying all his vitals before helping him sit up so she could change the bandages on his back.
“How long have I been asleep for?” he asked the nurse quietly, noticing his throat didn’t hurt anymore at all. Is my neck healed completely? In only a few days? He expected maybe 2 or 3 days to be the answer. He nearly flipped his shit when he heard the exact answer.

“You’ve been asleep for four and a half weeks, Eren.” She told him as she gently and carefully removed his old bandages and looked over the healing skin. His back was making excellent progress—probably because he hadn’t really used it in almost 5 weeks, but all that aside— he was doing well. She carefully wrapped him back up, letting her words sink in as she finished up.

“M-my father….” he trailed off and looked down. He half expected that Grisha would’ve come in and killed him by cutting off his oxygen supply or something like that. Yet he was still alive, 5 weeks after the initial attack.

“We haven’t heard from your father, Eren, all we know is that he has disclosed a blank check to the hospital for your medical bills along with a note.”

“What did the note say?” He asked quietly, he was quite curious, and he hoped the nurse would be completely honest with him. It probably says something about leaving me here, and maybe disowning me completely. He couldn’t have been more right.

“The letter says that he’s moved away, but he’ll continue to pay for all the bills… there wasn’t a return address on the letter, so we don’t know where he is,” the nurse was speaking to him softly. She didn’t know if he was mentally okay after what happened. She glanced over to the clock near the white board, which held her name - Petra Ral- and the times when breakfast, lunch, and dinner would be served. It also held the amount of medication to be administered at certain times. “Oh, it’s almost time for your friend to come. I’m sure he’ll be happy to see you’re awake--” Petra was cut short as Levi dropped the things he was holding, workbooks hitting the floor with a loud smack.

Eren looked up to where Levi stood in the doorway. He smiled cheekily, “So, you decided to come see me?” he asked quietly. Levi wasn’t sure if his eyes were fooling him, but Eren seemed to blush when he said that. He was surprised Eren didn’t stutter, but then again, he had no reason to think Eren would be nervous.

Eren shared the same silent surprise. He looked down at his hands, the seconds feeling like hours as he heard Levi come closer to him. He felt the bed shift, and looked up to see Levi’s steel eyes gazing intently back into his own ocean-colored eyes. It’s like he’s trying to see into my soul... not that I would mind, but doesn’t he not really like me? Why is he like this? Eren was the first to break their eye contact as he looked down.
“Why are you here?” he mumbled out, unable to look the other in the eyes as he asked.

“Why am I here?” He paused to take that question into consideration as Eren nodded. “I’m here, because I’ve been waiting for you to wake up for the past 5 weeks.” At this Eren looked up into his eyes, trying to read any emotions within that could tell him if Levi was lying. Yet, he found no such things. He found only honesty and concern.

“Well, I’m going to go and get Eren’s breakfast along with his medication, you boys can talk to each other and catch up.” Petra’s voice turned Eren’s attention from the raven-haired boy in front of him to the nice nurse. He nodded and couldn’t find the courage to look into Levi’s eyes again.

Once she left, and closed the door behind her, Eren found the courage to speak again. “So is that really the reason you’re here?” He asked, his voice small, almost like he was frightened, yet it sounded broken, like he didn’t want to ask.

Levi was silent for a minute. His own eyes drifted over the bedsheets, over Eren’s arm wrapped tightly and slung over his shoulder, over the bandages he could see wrapped around his torso, and over the wires strung between him and the heavy machines that stood guard to Eren’s right. He sighed in resignation. “More or less.”

Eren almost instantly gave Levi the ‘you-did-not-just-fucking-answer-me-like-that’ look. “So you just came to drop off the papers you so graciously spilled all over the floor?” He asked, giving Levi an incredulous stare. Is that really the only fucking reason he’s been coming for the past four weeks? He probably wants me to think that I owe him something too…. Fucking perfect.

Fuck. He’s onto me. Quick, say something that doesn’t make you sound like a creep. Levi was very thankful he could school his expression into complete indifference so easily. Years of practice had its perks. “I was expecting you to be a bit more grateful, Brat.”

Eren huffed as he crossed his arms over his chest, or at least tried to. Called it. “Why do I need to be grateful to someone who put me in this immaculate hell hole they call a hospital?” Why the fuck am I questioning him further!? What the fuck is wrong with me? FUCK! I want him to actually like me, dammit! I should be glad! He put me here, and got me the fuck away from Grisha…

Levi’s steely glare finally drifted back up to Eren’s face. Eren wasn’t too sure, but he thought he saw some softer emotion past the annoyance. His voice dropped, and he quietly spoke. “I thought you thanked me for it earlier, Brat.” His eyebrow quirked up, the hard lines of his cool facade smoothed somewhat with confusion. “...Why.”
“W-why what?” Eren started to stutter again, a clear sign to the raven-haired teen that he was nervous. Or hiding something. Probably both. But for now, Eren was feigning innocence from Levi’s question. He doesn’t want to fucking know, he’s already fucking told me that. He doesn’t need to know either.

He’s really going to play the oblivious card. He’s not going to do that and fucking get away with it. His voice stayed low, and dropped an octave. If you can’t beat ‘em, threaten the little shits. “I know that you know exactly what I mean.”

“And what is it that you know I know what you mean?” Eren asked, raising a quizzical eyebrow at the shorter man, who currently sat on the left side of his bed. He tried to lean back onto the raised bed, only to find out his pain medication had long run out. He hissed for a short second before leaning forward again, acting as if nothing was wrong with his back. Yes, nothing is wrong besides the fact that my back feels like I’m being repeatedly stabbed with fucking knifes!

Levi definitely noticed the pain laced into Eren’s features, but kept his face stoic. He’s awful at pretending he knows nothing. Let’s jog his memory… “When I punched you in the chest, you started gushing blood.” Levi swallowed, face still devoid of emotion. Please don’t notice how distressing this is. “You were on the floor, barely conscious, and in pain. You had to be carted away in an ambulance. And yet I saw you mouth the words ‘Thank you’ to me. I’m not fucking blind, and you don’t have amnesia. So tell me.” His eyes narrowed, and he leaned in minutely closer, patience wearing thin. “Why.”

Eren looked down at his hands, like they suddenly were the most interesting things in the world. He couldn’t force himself to meet the other’s eyes. Does he really want to know? He looks like he’s ready to cry. Did he think that he had killed me? Well, I guess that would’ve put anyone in a weird situation of what if’s. But I can’t tell him why, that would be going way too far into territory that no one knows about. Not even the friends I had at my other school know about it… HAHAHAHA. Friends. That word is fucking hilarious. I have none. Not even Levi can be considered one. Eren just blankly stared at the familiar hands in his lap. He hadn’t said a single word, just mulling it over in his head. Should I really tell him my whole past? Maybe I can tell him about some things but I can’t tell him every-

“Oi, Brat, are you even listening to me? Answer the fucking question.”

Eren jumped at the obvious hostility coming from the teen sitting beside him.

“And you know what? I have another question for you.”
“W-what?” Eren’s voice quivered in shock. His eyes showed the fear he was feeling from Levi’s overbearing tone.

“I know my own strength. My punch should have broken bones. But it didn’t. Someone or something did that for me. Care to explain that?”

Eren visibly swallowed and looked down at those oh so interesting hands again. “D-do you r-really want to know?” He asked. He felt hot tears start to line his eyes, but the other couldn’t see them because of his overly long hair shielding part of his face. Why do I need to open up to him? Why does it need to be him that interested in what the hell my story is? No one needs to know. No one cares.

Finally, we’re fucking getting somewhere. “You think I’d fucking waste my breath asking if I didn’t want to know?”

Well he has a pretty good fucking point. Ten point to fucking Gryffindor. “Y-you need to promise me something though.” Eren stuttered out the words and felt the first tear drop. HOLY SHIT! I’m actually going to fucking tell someone! I hope you feel special you fucking Deuterostome.

He’s crying shitshitshitshitshit! How do I make it stop, dammit! I really, really want to hug him right now but I can’t because his back is shredded but he’s fucking CRYING and I CAN’T HUG HIM AND HOW DO I MAKE IT STOP AND YOU’RE GOING TO VISIBLY FREAK OUT IF YOU KEEP INTERNALLY SCREAMING CHILL THE FUCK OUT! Levi was an internal train wreck. But Eren didn't need to know that. Let’s keep it that way. He tried to keep the malice out of his voice. “What am I promising, now?”

Eren didn’t meet Levi’s eyes. “Y-you need to promise me,” Eren paused to sniffl and rub what he thought were hidden tears away from his eyes, “that you’ll keep this to yourself. You can’t tell anyone about any of this, and I fucking mean it, Levi.” Eren tried to hide the shaking in his voice through anger, but he was failing miserably.

Pleasepleaseplease stop crying, anything to get you to stop crying… Levi was very quiet when he spoke, sounding gruff, but almost… comforting. “…Alright, Brat. I promise.” And with the exception of his mother, Eren told him everything.

Chapter Seven : Detention

I’m finally back to fucking school. No more poring over textbooks and stalking Wikipedia to try and do my fucking homework. Levi felt the looks of some students as he walked the hallway to first period. He remained completely impassive to their stares. You’d think I had died and come back to life. Yes, be in fucking awe of my immortality. Sons of bitches.

He waltzed into Hanji’s class a minute before the bell rang. Unceremoniously dumping his bag on the floor and himself in his chair, he examined the still-empty chair next to him. How fucking long does it take to let someone leave the hospital? I'd've thought he'd be here by now. ...Whatever. He’s probably fine. His eyes wandered over to Hanji’s desk. She saw her looking at him just as the bell rang. A glint of disdain in her eyes, she looked straight at him, then pointedly at the empty chair next to him.

“Mr. Ackerman.”

If there was still any commotion in the classroom, her sharp voice silenced it. Levi stared back at her disinterestedly. The fuck does this bitch want now?

“Yes, Mrs. Hanji?”

A sickly sweet smile curled across her face. “Would you care to enlighten us as to the whereabouts of Mr. Yeager? Surely, given your, involvement with him,” her eyes narrowed at him, “you would know as much, would you not?”

Eren shuffled in as he heard the last of Mrs. Hanji’s cutting words, directed of course to Levi. “I- I’m sorry I’m late, Mrs. Hanji.” He stumbled over his words as he entered the room. He looked to be in far better condition that he did a mere eight weeks ago. His throat no longer wrapped, though his back was still healing, he could get through the day with medication. His arm was still in a cast however, and his chest was wrapped tightly underneath his clothing. He was wearing warmer colors, like he was happy to be out of the dreary hospital. His hair had been cut a bit shorter than it had been weeks ago, but he simply seemed to glow in front of everyone. Ignore the stares. Ignore the stares. Eren tried to remain bubbly in front of everyone as he went to go take his seat beside Levi. He handed an excuse note to Mrs. Hanji as he made his way over to the seat. He sat down carefully into the hard chair, and tried not to let his back touch the chair. That would hurt too fucking much. I wonder what the hell a busy hallway is gonna feel like?

With pursed lips, Mrs. Hanji stiffly took the note from Eren and followed him with icy eyes to his seat. “Very well. Good to have you back, Eren.” She tried not to make her irritation obvious. But with Levi, it was obvious. He miraculously resisted the urge to roll his eyes.

Levi looked over to Eren carefully perched on his chair, analysing the front he obviously fabricated. This kid’s pretending he’s totally fine. At least everyone else is too stupid to tell. He nudged Eren’s shoe with his foot. The kid nearly jumped out of his skin before looking at him for the first time that morning.

“W-what?!” Eren stuttered, looking at Levi with wide eyes, giving Levi full view of his ocean-like eyes.

Levi gave him a small smirk, and spoke just quietly enough for Eren to hear him. “‘Sup, bitch.”

Eren’s eyes widened more, if that was even humanly possible. His heart fluttered at the sound of his low voice, as if it was trying to elicit a response from him. He opened his mouth, showing off beautiful white teeth before quickly covering his face with his hands. He turned his head away from the other to tried and calm himself down. The tips of his ears burned scarlet, which meant his whole face was flushed as well. What the actual fuck is Levi trying to do?! Give me a fucking heart attack? Or is he just teasing me because I’ve basically cried on his shoulder for the past three weeks in the hospital?

Levi’s eyes were alight with silent laughter, his heart jumping in his chest. How the hell can he get even more adorable? That’s not even possible. It should be illegal to be that... cute. He tilted his head, casually asking, “Something the matter?”

Eren spread his fingers to look at Hanji, only to find that she was talking to the class, her back towards them, as she wrote notes hurriedly on the chalkboard. He then gave a sideways glance towards Levi’s laid back form. He simply gawked at the other’s abs underneath that tight shirt he was wearing. God, why in fucking hell - scratch that - Satan, why in your sweet hell is Levi this fucking gorgeous. He slowly composed himself before letting the hand that covered his face down. “You’re an asshole I hope you know that.” Eren’s voice was soft and angelic, only Levi would be able to hear him. He then busied himself with his notes, trying not to pay attention to the sexy demon next to him. God - Satan - I hope one day I would be able to know personally.

Levi’s heart was doing backflips. I’m going to go into cardiac arrest at this rate. Stop being so damn beautiful- wait no, please don't stop. “Funny, I get that a lot.”

“I’m sure you do, you king of asshats.” Eren smiled widely, but covered his mouth with his tan hand. He tried to keep his eyes off of Levi for the rest of the class as he took notes. Why Satan? Why do you hate me so? I can’t wait until I can get to my other classes and actually focus! FUCK!
"Must he be so gorgeous? I don’t even know what Hanji’s fucking talking about anymore, god dammit… Well let’s continue to examine Levi’s sculpted body. Eren tore his eyes away from Levi as soon as Hanji slammed a book down on the desk.

“You two! Mr. Yeager, and Mr. Ackerman! What in Satan’s great Hell are you two doing looking at on each other? Did you pay attention to this lesson at all?” She asked, anger clear in her voice.

Eren swallowed hard but nodded. I’m going to regret this aren’t I?

“Well then Mr. Yeager, please tell me what the difference between Hydrogen Bonds and Covalent bonds is!” She shouted at him and the whole class fell deathly silent again as they watched the exchange between their crazy teacher and the two students who had finally come back to class.

“U-uh… A hydrogen bond i-is um….” Eren trailed off trying to look at his notes for the answer but couldn’t find it to be useful.

“I’m waiting Mr. Yeager.” Hanji’s hostile tone reverberated in the room as she tapped her foot on the floor, her arms crossed over her chest. She was pissed as all hell.

“I-it’s uh…uh… I’m sorry Mrs. Hanji I don’t know.” He looked down with his defeated voice lingering in the air.

“Mr. Ackerman?” The hostility was now focused on him.

“I don’t know either Mrs. Hanji.” He deadpanned.

“Well it will be a pleasure to meet both of you in detention after school today.” Mrs. Hanji smile was sickly terrifying and she turned back to the rest of the class. “Now, would anyone else like to admit they didn’t pay attention in class? You’d be joining those two in detention later today!” Hanji seemed to singsong the last statement giddily.

No one volunteered before the bell rang, letting them all off the hook for now.

“Mr. Ackerman, Mr. Yeager, report to the lab after classes. You’ll be helping me set up and clean Eren looked to the door as he got his things together. He was really quiet, unable to look up at Levi. “Sorry” he whispered quietly and looked down. “I keep getting you into trouble...” he murmured and looked down. The mask had finally fallen, the happy glint in his eyes was gone, as if it wasn’t there to begin with. He started to make his way to the hallway, his shoulders slumped as he walked away from Levi.

“Oi, Brat.”

Eren looked over his shoulder at Levi. His eyes looked dull, “Yes?” He asked simply.

Worry was barely perceptible as it flickered past in Levi’s eyes. He raised an eyebrow at him, his mouth minutely pulled up at the corners. Why are you so hard on yourself all the time? Seriously, chill. “Don't worry about it; It's not the worst thing to ever happen.”

Eren only shrugged. “I’ll see you later,” the boy mumbled before turning and leaving, blending into the bustle of the hallways. He didn’t even cross Levi’s path until lunch, and even then he was across the cafeteria from Levi. Sitting completely alone as he scrawled into a small notepad.

Levi stared him down over his thermos of tea. Eren was completely oblivious to his surroundings and his spectator, of course, but that didn't stop Levi from willing him to Just fucking look over here before I have to uproot all my stuff and go over there, Brat. He set his thermos down with a bit more force than necessary, earning him some curious looks, particularly from the jocks around him.

“-evi. Levi.” Jean called for the fifth time in a row. “Are you back to reality yet?” He asked as he stared him down, then glanced at his white-knuckled grip on his thermos.

Levi snapped back to reality because of Jean’s annoying ass voice. The fuck does he want now? Levi glared at him, giving him the indication to continue.

Jean laughed it off and looked to Annie, who sat on his lap. “Annie did you hear the guy you tried to steal your bag that one time is back from the hospital?” He smirked a bit. “Apparently Levi put him there, I wonder how much of a wimp he is if one punch did him in for 8 weeks!” Jean laughed along with everyone else that had flocked towards their table. Anyone who wanted to appear cool naturally joined in.
Levi’s glare seemed to grow instantly darker. “Really, Jean? You think I got suspended for eight weeks for one single punch?” He asked, and seemed to smirk a bit. Though this smirk could instill fear into everyone at that table. “Mention it again and I’ll fucking castrate you, right here, right now you fucking asshole.” Levi’s voice dangerously levelled, the glare in his eyes turning ferocious.

Jean held his arms up in surrender. “Alright! Geez, I’m sorry man. Won’t mention it again!” He replied, wide-eyed at Levi’s obvious display of anger. “Who pissed in your cereal this morning?” He asked as a side comment, which caused Annie to snicker.

“Care to repeat that Jean?” Levi growled out, grabbing a few things, but mostly his lunch and his books. “If any of you dare follow me, you’ll be put into the back of an ambulance just like Yeager.” he snarled. He stalked off as most of the team tried to brush it off with nervous laughs. Levi definitely intimidated them all.

Eren hadn’t seen Levi stalk away from football table, though he looked up when a hush fell over the cafeteria. He didn’t see Levi anywhere and sighed. Why am I looking for Levi of all people. I mean I know I like him… Okay that’s an understatement, I fucking love the man. But, he doesn’t love me back. I wouldn’t be surprised if the hush was because he told the football team how he beat me to smithereens. ...I wish I didn’t tell him everything Grisha has done to me, thank god he didn’t question me about my mother’s role at all, or the lack thereof. Eren sighed heavily as he looked down at the book he was writing down in.

...Well, fuck. Levi shoved the metal doors to the outside open, storming across the courtyard to a picnic table in the shade. It was far enough from anyone else who decided to eat outside, but close enough for the fury he was radiating to be noticeable. Dumping his bag on the bench, he sat down and tried to resume eating his lunch. He studied the cafeteria through the windows, trying to look past the glare from the sun and spot Eren. He finally found him in the sea of students, still hunched over that notebook. He let his gaze drift back to the table he usually sat at, the jocks carrying on with whatever dumbass topics they thought were worthy of conversation. How the fuck is this going to work. While the adorable little shit is busy being lonely and depressing to look at, I have to feign indifference. And considering the fact that he tripped over Jean’s bitch’s bag, I’m expected to laugh at a major fucking mistake on my part like it’s the best thing since someone decided bread wasn't fucking easy enough to eat and had to cut it into pieces. Like fuck. This. His grey eyes settled back on Eren’s hunched figure. He’s damn fine...

And if anyone’s around, I have to pretend he's an asshole.
Eren finished up the rest of his classes, handing in a lot of work for most of his teachers. He continued on with a mask of happiness plastered on his face. His eyes were dull though, not gleaming as they should be if he was really happy. He grudgingly continued on to the ‘detention’ Hanji had spoke of. He sighed as his eyes laid on a very familiar figure down the hallway. God, he’s gotta hate me for this.

Levi leaned against the wall inside of the chemistry labs, bag slung on his arm and phone in hand. His foot made a quiet tapping sound on the hard floor. He looked up from his phone without moving his head much, raising an eyebrow at Eren’s slumped stature. He looks fucking miserable. We’re just setting up the lab, it’s nothing that awful...

Eren slowly got closer to Levi, the defeated look in his eyes prominent. He didn’t look towards Levi, and in fact tried to keep his gaze away from the handsomeness that he needed to work with. Don’t even look at him, he’ll probably just glare at you for this. Yeah, that sexy ass glare-- STOP! Do not think about his eyes simply undressing you, it’s probably his eyes trying to find all the places he can put a knife through my gut. He’s gotta fucking hate me at this point, he didn’t want to know anything, yet he knows almost everything.

“-at. Oi, Brat. You listening?” Damn, he’s miles away. What the hell’s he so caught up in?

Eren was completely oblivious to anything that was going on in the room. He didn’t even notice that Hanji had come in, given them instructions, and left. He was completely absorbed in his thoughts about Levi.

Shatter!

Levi hit the table with his fist in exasperation, his eyes holding no more patience as he seemed to look straight through Eren. “Okay, that’s it. There’s something hanging over you, and if it’s making you spread misery fucking everywhere and break beakers, I want to know what the fuck it is.”

Eren blankly stared down at the broken glass on the floor. Did I just break a fucking glass? Eren slowly shook his head, before he kneeled down to clean up the shattered glass, not caring if he cut his fingers, which- of course- he did. “It’s nothing, Levi.” he said quietly.

“You and I both know that’s a fucking lie.” Levi strode around the table and stopped a foot away from him. “You’ve been in a shit mood all day. Why.”

Eren simply continued to clean up the broken glass. “I’m sorry, I was under the impression that you didn’t want to know anything about my life.” His voice sounded so hurt and broken. He never looked up to Levi, and focused on cleaning up the glass, his hands now heavy with scratches that didn’t seem to affect him in the least. You don’t want to fucking know, Levi, really you don’t. Please don’t ask.

...The fuck? And why is he letting himself get so cut up with the glass? Does he not feel that shit? Levi’s irritated expression became one of concern, his brow furrowing. He sounds so broken up... if he starts crying, and please don’t make him start fucking crying, I don’t think I know how to stop him. Levi slowly crouched down level with Eren. Well fuck. Here goes nothing. He carefully reached out and took his wrists in his hands, making him open them and drop the glass he was picking up. He somehow managed to keep his voice level; “Will you stop that? Your hands look fucking awful.” He tried to get Eren to stand up and to walk him over to where the first-aid kit hung on the wall, behind the front desk.

“Levi. Let . Go.” Eren growled out every word to the shorter boy in front of him. Eren hurriedly snatched away his hands, which now were only slightly bleeding. “Don’t. Fucking. Touch. Me.” The anger in his voice was so apparent, it was unnatural, even for Eren. He then bent back down and picked up the glass again, all of it, and put it in the bin specified for glass.

Levi nearly froze in shock. He had never heard Eren speak with such pure malice, and it was pretty terrifying. Fuckfuckfuck what’d I do Satan please spare me- With wide eyes, he just watched Eren pick back up every shard of glass and dump it. When he turned back to look at him, he tried to speak, his voice betraying more regret than he had hoped it would. “Eren-”

“No!” Eren shouted and walked briskly past him to see what they needed to set up. “I’m not going to listen to your fucking nonsense anymore. I’m done, damn it! I don’t want you acting like you’re actually concerned about me just because I told you every fucking detail about what Grisha did to me!” He shouted out every word at him as he moved across the lab, gathering everything they needed to set up all the experiments. “Not one more fucking word, or I am fucking leaving! And you can do this shit by your sorry ass self!” He shouted at Levi, thankful that the door was closed and no one came to see if everything was alright. “Go to your fucking practice! I know you don’t want to be stuck with the fucking Nerd.” he growled at the other. He was seething and he continued to set up for the experiments.
Levi didn't know what possessed him to do such a thing that could potentially end with graduated cylinders lodged in his skull. But his feet moved of their own accord, and then he was right next to Eren, carefully pointing to the tray of things needed to be set up, then to himself. He willed Eren to understand. This is my own fucking fault. Let me finish this. You shouldn't have to be here, because I got us in trouble, and I'm sorry for that. Please.

Eren just stared at him. Though he gave up after a bit. “Just go to fucking practice, asshole.” he growled at the other and continued to set up beside him. He didn’t look up to Levi after that. Just go away, dammit. I wanna be alone, I want to cry from all the fucking stress. I wanna get this over with so I can go see mom. Eren sighed heavily, seemingly calmer than just a few seconds ago, but his shoulders were still slumped, and his eyes glazed over in defeat.

...I’m sorry, Brat. Levi saw the battered resignation in Eren’s eyes, and sighed softly. He reached out and carefully took the Petri dish from Eren’s hands. He didn’t even seem to notice until he went to put it down and found it gone. He looked up again, and Levi willed him to understand one more time. Let me take care of this mess I got you into. None of this is your fault. Let me do this. Please.

Eren looked at him with emotionless eyes. He honestly wanted to scream at the other again. It helps to yell at someone. I just wish it didn’t have to be him. He moved away from the lab tables before grabbing his bag. He gently put it over his shoulder and walked off. Leaving without another word. Why did I have to snap? Especially at him?

Levi missed practice, setting everything up alone.
Eren strode out of the shithole they called a fucking school. Yes, Eren strode out of that fucking building. There were a few fucking reasons for that too. He was royally pissed off, and honestly if you could see emotions, you would be able to see the dragons of fury emanating from his lanky body. He was so angry with Levi, yet he knew he wasn’t really angry at him in the slightest. No, I snapped… I didn’t mean to, but I fucking did. Eren sighed as he crossed the street and started his long way across town to get home.

I can’t believe I just left him there? I mean I want him to like me and actually care, right?.... WAIT, HOLD THE FUCKING PHONE. I am not going to admit that I want someone by my side. I will not give in to his antics, and fall so helplessly for him only to have him wipe the floor with my pride. Eren looked down, mostly watching where he was stepping, but he was pretty much oblivious to anything that was happening around him. No, I’m not going to tell him that I like him. I bet he’s just trying to get me to fall in love with him, like all those girls that drool all over him.... I bet he thinks about me as just someone interesting that would be a quick fuck. At that point Eren covered his face with his hands. “Why do I always think about that?” he asked quietly. He didn’t remember that his hands were bleeding until he felt the warm liquid on his face. Great, it’s probably all over my face now too… thank the fucking Lord I wore black. Eren looked down towards the ground as he used his sleeves to wipe up the blood from his face, as well as pull his sleeves down to prevent his hands from bleeding any more than they had to. He swallowed hard as he heard the footsteps of another person behind him, casually walking, but he didn’t dare turn to see who it was. Nopenopenopenope, just keep walking dammit!

Eren sped down the long street as fast as he could to get to his ‘home’. He did everything short of running; His back still wouldn’t allow for that. Can’t be fucking late tomorrow morning either, I won’t have an excuse for Hanji’s class, dammit! Eren finally made it into his house, the small two story home almost empty. The silence was oppressive, Eren now left in complete and utter silence, save for the frequent ticking from the grandfather clock that never fucking stopped. Why is it so quiet? It’s never bothered me before... why now? Eren looked down at his bloodied hands and he just started to sob. All the stress life had thrown at him was finally getting to him. He slowly slid down the back of the front door, finally making it to the ground. He pulled his knees close to his chest and hugged them like his life depended on it. Why did it have to happen today of all fucking days?.... I want to go see her, I miss her... I miss Mommy. Eren started to brutally sob as he started to think of his deceased mother.

Why didn’t I listen to what she said? Why didn’t I listen? All the guilt that had been forced onto him by his father finally pulled the last straw and came tumbling over Eren’s shoulders. He knew this wouldn’t be good… It never ended well, generally with Grisha beating him, then patching him up so he wouldn’t die, so that he could live with the guilt for what he fucking did. He sobbed more, he felt his chest tightening. It hurt, but he did nothing to stop himself. He did nothing to stop himself, nothing at all. His mother told him “No.” Eren was upset, and started to cry. Why can’t I have mac n’ cheese, mommy? Eren was a quiet child, never really voicing his thoughts, but they were there all the same. He watched as his mom left the confines of their small kitchen. It wasn’t a spacious kitchen, but it wasn’t like it could only fit one person within it. Eren followed her as she walked away to go upstairs, making sure that she was in fact gone.

Eren smirked as he went back into the pantry and grabbed the box of mac n’ cheese that he so desperately loved. He reached for it, standing on his tippy toes, and successfully grabbed the box of the coveted pasta. Eren smiled at his success, his whole face lighting up as he got up to put the hard macaroni in the pan, as he had watched his mother do so many times before, though he put the macaroni right into the pot, not adding water. I can do it! I can show mom that I’m a big boy! Eren smiled as he was able to hoist the heavy pot onto the gas stove. He tried to reach up into the pot, though soon found out he would need a chair from the table to get to the pot. The boy turned to get the chair, stopping only for a moment.

Eren felt more pain in his chest than he had ever felt before. His heart was beating at a hundred miles an hour, like it was trying to beat it’s way out of his chest. His eyes glazed over as he tried to claw at the uncomfortable feeling in his chest. He felt the fabric underneath his fingernails. He was gasping for air as his nails dug into the fabric, trying to make the tightness go away. Eren felt the warm trails down his hollow cheeks.

The boy grabbed the chair and dragged it silently to the stove top. He got up and perched himself on the chair, admiring the view of his mac n’ cheese. His small hands turned the knob on the stove in front of him. He smiled more as he heard the familiar repeated clicking noise until he heard the fwoosh of the gas igniting. He watched as the bright flames licked the bottom of the large pan. Eren let out a toothy grin as he hopped down from the chair, using the back of the chair and the counter to balance himself as he silently hopped down. His arm ended up knocking over the now empty box of mac n’ cheese, bringing it dangerously close to the open flames that licked the pot. He looked over as he heard another fwoosh. The box was burning.

At this point, Eren had fallen to the floor, crying and screaming. He was in so much pain, it felt like someone had reached in and crushed his lungs and was forcing the breath out of him. He was gasping for air, his chest burning just as much as it was tightening by the second. He tried to call out for help…. No one was there to answer him.

Eren stared at the burning cardboard box as it went up in flames. His eyes widened in interest as he picked it up, he was so curious of the fire that was slowly coming down the box, towards his delicate fingers. He made a small gasp, dropping the box when the bright orange flames licked his own fingers. He tried not to make a noise, mom can’t know I’m making mac n’ cheese. He hurriedly reached for the roll of paper towels which was on the countertop. He had to struggle on his tippy toes, reach over the counter and pull the towels from the roll. He pulled them down, sheet after sheet, still connected as he pulled it down to the floor, stringing it out. The boy’s eyes only widened at the next sight…. Fwoosh.

It took only seconds for the rest of the paper towels to be engulfed in flames. His eyes widened to the size of dinner plates, silently watching as the fire spread from old wooden cabinet to old wooden cabinet. It took only seconds for the fire to successfully engulf the perimeter of the kitchen, and by this time, the smoke was billowing in the kitchen, and around the house out of control.

“EREN!” Eren shrunk as he heard his mother’s frantic voice. “Eren where are you??” Her voice more and more frantic as she coughed from the smoke she was breathing in. Eren opened his mouth to call out to her, but what if she found out? What if she found out I was making mac n’ cheese? No, that can’t happen. I wouldn’t be able to have it anymore. The young boy went to the now burning pot of pasta and tried to turn off the burner, he was successful in extinguishing the flames, but not the gas. Did he notice? No.

Eren was screaming so much he felt like his throat was raw. He was trying to scream for help, but it didn’t come out into coherent words. His fingers were spazzing out, locking up in uncomfortable positions as he rolled around in a frenzied panic. His head had hit the ground, and the table leg more than it should have, and he probably suffered a concussion, but his head already hurt too much to try and figure that out.

Eren started coughing as the smoke rolled lower into the kitchen. He sat down on the floor, only to see that the flames were starting to make quick work of the floorboards as well. He watched as the flames licked his feet. It hurts! It hurts a lot! Mommy help me!! I’m scared! Eren was starting to panic. He couldn’t help but let out a shrill screech at the pain which he was experiencing. He quickly silenced himself as he heard his mother come close to the kitchen. He sat on the floor, tears were now quickly running down his cheeks as he watched his mother come into the kitchen after him. Part of the ceiling caved in as soon as she did, the exit now blocked from the both of them. She kneeled down and picked up the now panicking boy. “M-mom-” Eren managed to croak out as he was lifted into her arms, we’re trapped mommy, was what he couldn’t say. They were both coughing horribly. “It’s-” His mother started coughing again, “It’s okay, Eren, mommy loves you.” She told him quietly. I love you too mommy! I’m so sorry. Eren only watched in complete shock as his mother screamed for Grisha to come to the kitchen. His eyes widened at the sight of them. Trapped. No way out. Both of them. “Carla… I’m going to get you out-” He started, but soon he started a coughing fit as well. The thick smoke was burning their lungs every time they tried to take a breath. “NO!” Carla roared and changed the way she held Eren in her arms. Mommy, what are you doing?? Eren was so confused as he cried in his mother’s arms. “Carla, you can’t be serious.” Grisha managed in between coughs. Eren was frantically looking between his two parents to see what the hell they were planning. Mommy? What’s happening? I’m scared. Eren watched as his mother got close to the burning piece of ceiling which blocked their escape. She carefully held him, kissing his forehead. Why does it feel like the last time? Eren could only watch as his mother lifted him with all the strength she had and threw him over he burning obstacle, and into his father’s waiting arms. Mommy? Eren’s eyes were still wide and he looked up to his father. He looked so distraught, he hugged the boy close to his larger chest, smothering Eren’s face into his chest so he wouldn’t breathe in the smoke anymore. Daddy? Why can’t mommy come? Eren was held securely until they got outside of the burning house, neighbors had evacuated the surrounding houses. Eren watched in horror as the house they had just come out of had burst into flames. Huge ones. It was so hot to stand anywhere near the fire. He looked up to his father and just watched him cry for the first time in his life. Why is daddy crying? Where is mommy?
“No…. Mommy” Eren continued to sob as his limbs spazzed out around him. His chest hurt so much, he didn’t know that making the mac n’ cheese would set the house ablaze. I’m worthless… I killed my own mother, my father hates me for it, he beats me often for ever being born and killing his precious wife. He’s disowned me as his son, he’s come close to castrating me, Levi knows I’m gay…. He knows I like him- no, he knows I love him. Eren was panicking as he curled up to himself. He had opened up quite a few cuts all over his body. Mom died today…. Eight years ago, today…. I couldn’t go see her grave… Grisha couldn’t beat me for it…. I’m useless. Eren started to finally black out from the lack of oxygen from his quick breathing.

Why do I feel warm? It feels almost… comforting. Eren thought he was hallucinating when he felt a pair of strong hands gently pick him up. It’s my own hallucinations…. No one cares about me, I’m going fucking crazy….

Eren drifted off into darkness, letting his body go limp in those strong hands.

This is all a bunch of fucking bullshit. Levi ran down the street to where he thought the Brat’s house was, scanning street signs for any clue as to where he was going. Eren only had a five minute lead on him; He was sure to catch up. Finishing the setup didn't take so long, thank God I actually focused on what the hell I was doing. His feet pounded along the cement walk, the noise not really registering. But nothing makes any. Fucking. SENSE. The Brat was totally fine this morning, and I would swear on my fucking life he was flirting back, but then I get us a one-way ticket to detention-great job doing that, by the way, someone get me a fucking medal - and then he goes to the other extreme of being a brooding little shit and practically using a dark, looming raincloud as a hat. Levi flew past plenty of busy streets, narrowly missing passers by, none of their names familiar in the slightest. Levi passed- well, pushed- some ditz of a blonde on the sidewalk out of his way. Fuckers need to move, dammit!

Cement gave way to nothing but open asphalt, the winding road walling him on his right with trees, the empty fields to his left letting wind push against him and try in vain to slow him from his dead sprint. The leaves on the trees around him rustling, dead leaves skittering alongside him on the street, drowning out any other sound. A small eddy of wind pushed brown, crisp leaves up in a small tornado, only to seemingly take aim and shoot at him, catching in his hair and poking his legs. Nature fucking hates me. And there hasn’t been a house for a damn mile. He kept running. Rose Wall Avenue sounds familiar… fuck it, GO. Levi had no real idea where he was going; He hadghosted over directions to his house only once on his phone, and he was in the middle of nowhere as far as he could tell. I could use my phone… eh, fuck it, that takes too much time. He took a sharp right, barely hesitating in his mad dash.

Did he not even fucking feel his hands when he was picking up all that glass? What he did to himself isn’t pretty, that’s for sure. He started skimming the edge of the trees for a driveway cut into the line, setting his eyes on one a hundred yards up. There’s nothing wrong, my ass. I could understand not wanting to talk about it, but if he could at least admit something was bugging him to anyone, you’d think what with all he’s already told me... He stopped in front of the lone house, a dim brick facade staring him down. The three windows on the second floor, and the two on the first flanking the front door were dark. Old metal numbers hung rusting above the door frame. 104... That has to be it. His feet carried him up the cracking cement walk, eyes drifting over the shaggy, yellowing grass of the front lawn. A dying cherry tree hunched in front of the left windows, barren. The wooden front door was painted a dark red, the knob made of steel stained with the marks of hundreds of hands. He caught his breath for a moment and, poised to knock...

Wait, am I really expecting him to open the door after what just happened? Face, meet palm. Levi, you’re a goddamned moron. Pick a fucking window. Stealth mode activated, he crept up to the siding of the house, avoiding overgrown shrubbery as he went. None of the windows in front showed anything in the house, save inanimate furniture. But there was a sound…

The Brat’s... crying.

FUCK WHERE IS HE

Stealth be damned, Levi sprinted to the back of the house. He looked despairingly into each window, searching for anything, any sign of life and, from the window that sat opposite the front door,

Levi was given a clear line of sight past the kitchen, down the hall, and to the crumpled black mess Eren was, collapsed against the front door, shaking and clawing at his chest, looking to be in miserable hysterics.

... THAT’S FUCKING TERRIFYING. How am I supposed to get in there, dammit!?

Levi ditched his bag immediately and tried the back door, two steps to his left. Locked, of course. Wait... Levi jumped up, trying his best to feel at the top of the frame. He felt something, and soon heard something small and metal clang against the cement. Fucking duh.

He couldn’t scramble to get the key into the lock fast enough. He almost broke the knob off the door opening it, though bursting into the small hallway, he hesitated. Eren was on the floor, large tears spilling over his cheeks without interruption, shaking violently, breath ragged, bloody hands scrawling invisible script over his shirt. His eyes, glazed over and darting from spot to spot on the ground in front of him, could not see. Levi approached his form slowly, and though he was sure Eren looked at him, or at least his legs, his gaze passed through him.

Oh. My God. Eren.

Levi rushed the last few feet and knelt next to Eren, trying to get a better look at his face. Brushing some hair from his eyes, his chest tightened at the utter brokenness he saw, how wholly shattered Eren was. Eren, what… what happened? His voice cracked as he spoke quietly, laced with a softness he wasn't used to hearing himself speak with. “Eren, hey Eren, shhh… it’s okay, you're fine. Everything’s okay…”

Levi didn't know what to do except take Eren into his arms, shifting his arms around him, lifting him up from the hard floor, Eren’s bag sliding off his arm with little resistance. Damn, you're so light. The second I get my shit together we’re going out for cheeseburgers. That thought stopped there; there was too much else to ponder. He cradled him close, watching for a moment with light fascination as his breathing slowed, his eyes slowly closing. He felt a heavy weight settle in his chest, a face marred with ugly dreams. Careful of his head he slowly turned, looking for the stairs. We need to get you in bed, let you sleep…

He took the first of many steps with caution, looking so he wouldn't trip. Thirteen steps brought him to the landing, and it was obvious which room was Eren’s.

He treaded lightly on the carpet, picking his way over discarded clothes and books, before gently setting Eren on the bed. With a thought, he moved to untie his laces and pull of his shoes, setting them with a soft thunk at the foot of the bed. He reached over him to grab the covers, pulling them up to his chin. Eren reached up to their edge, grabbing at them. Levi’s fingers brushed Eren’s, and soon found his wrist caught by his hands.

Oh my God please stop making my heart melt with all this, you're so fucking adorable but you need sleep and I can't really stay too long but…

Brow knitted, his fingers weakly pulled at Levi and, when he didn't move, he made a small sound.

Warm… gimme… Eren tugged at Levi’s wrist, not about to let go.

Nooooo you're adorable and I want to but you don't even know I'm really here and this is gonna be hella awkward when you wake up and… He had practically no choice. Eren wouldn't let go, and resisting much more would wake him up sooner than later. And Levi didn't want that. Fumbling in his footwork to kick off his shoes, he lifted the covers and slid under without too much of a struggle.

Eren immediately made for the warm form that dipped his bed down, curling up close and bringing his arm over Levi’s stomach. Eren’s socked foot nudged at his, and nestled his cheek into his shoulder with a quiet hum. ...Warm. This is nice...

...What the actual hell is happening right now. Levi stiffened, so unsure of what to do with himself. But hearing Eren hum in content in his ear, he tilted his head to rest against Eren’s, curling his right arm up to hold Eren’s arm across him. He tentatively, softly kissed the top of Eren’s head, calmer about the way the day had gone, though he still worried about what was to happen. But I can’t worry about that now, I've got a Brat to look after.

Levi drifted for a few hours in a half-dreaming state, happy just to hold onto Eren for the time he has with him. With blurry vision, he gazed over to the electric alarm clock that glowed on top of Eren’s dresser. 7:54 PM. It had been four hours. That's when he felt the shift of heat. Shit, he’s waking up... This is gonna be awkward as fuck.

Eren’s eyes lazily cracked opened, confused at his surroundings. He looked around him, finding the new warmth at his side odd, yet comforting. He slowly blinked once, then twice… a third time, trying to rid himself of the heaviness of deep sleep. He moved a bit and felt a body next to him. His eyes widened immediately, his mouth releasing a sound of pure terror as his body moved away from Levi’s form, taking the blankets with him. What the fuck??
Chapter Nine : Food and Fluff

Fear. Fear is what he saw first. Confusion and shock, a flicker of anger, yes, but first and foremost, fear.

But it was the silent panic attack Eren was having that really hit him.

_Oh my God no not again please not again you've already broken down enough for one day calm down._

Eren looked at Levi with widened eyes. _What the fuck is Levi doing here? Why is he in my house… Why the FUCK is he in my room, in my bed!! And why in the ever present hell was I curled up to him? DAMMIT!!_ Eren felt his breathing become more and more sporadic as his chest started to tighten again. His eyes were full of terror as he tried to keep breathing, but was only managing wheezes. Eren looked over to Levi, pleading with him to do something… He was scared, and he didn’t want to black out again. He looked so scared, so helpless.

Levi knew what was happening. Concern crossed his eyes and he reached forward with care not to scare Eren even more. _Please don't freak out even more, cause if you do none of this is going to get any better._ He willed his voice to soften, “Oi, Eren, this is all a misunderstanding, don't panic please, I'll explain if you let me help you calm down.”

Eren looked to him, nodding with panicked eyes. He was tugging at his shirt. _It feels tight... It hurts._ Eren tried to take in a deep breath but soon found that his tightened chest wouldn’t allow for it. He started to cough, and it only freaked him out more, like he had breathed the smoke of that oh so horrible memory. His eyes bugged out a little more, he felt like he was choking… Yet it was all in his head. Levi needed to act quickly to calm him down, it wasn’t going to be an easy or fast process. “I-It hurts,” Eren finally managed to gasp out to the other as he tugged at his bloodied shirt, but you couldn’t tell- he was still wearing the black clothes from before. His clawing caused the wounds on his hands to open up a bit more and start to bleed again, adding to the mess on the poor kid’s chest.

Levi immediately shifted his weight forward, bringing Eren into his arms and getting him in his lap. _Levi, don't fuck it up now._ Leaning him back, he hugged him gently with his right arm, not caring about the blood that stained his sleeves as Eren hung onto him for dear life. His feet gently poked at Eren’s, and he tucked his head under his chin, mumbling softly. “It’s alright, nothing’s going to hurt you. It’s okay, I promise…” He rubbed his arm lightly with his thumb, tracing an invisible pattern up his sleeve.
The tension that once held Eren’s lanky body stiff, now drained from his whole being as he was gently cradled in Levi’s waiting arms. He started to cry once he was able to breathe a bit better, yet it was the pain from his chest that made him cry. He sobbed into the raven’s chest as he sputtered, trying to calm down. He was trying to get words out to him, but nothing but breathy sobs left his mouth. Eren clung to the other’s shirt, feeling Levi’s fingers gently trace up and down his overly thin arms. He tried to let out a whimper to voice his discomfort when Levi pressed a bit too hard on his sensitive skin, but nothing came out. It was like he was frozen in Levi’s arms; No matter how comfortable he was, he couldn’t move or say anything. He was starting to freak out all over again. I can’t move. I can’t move. I can’t move. I can’t move. All the sudden Eren was panicking and hyperventilating against Levi’s chest all over again. His eyes starting to glaze over again as they had when he laid on the floor by his front door. He was struggling to breath at this point, and his grip failing to maintain its strength. Levi, help… Please. Eren begged silently to the other in hopes he would be able to do something to help.

Something was not right. Quaking had become shaking had become quaking. Levi pulled back from Eren to look at his face, to see what was wrong. His eyes were shining, both from tears and loss of complete lucidity. Shit. “Eren, I'm so sorry, what’s wrong? Did I hurt you?” Please don’t tell me I hurt you. Levi shifted Eren carefully so he wasn't right up against him, so that he could see his face. He carefully held both of his hands, and decided talking to him was his best bet. What the fuck do you say to someone whilst in pain and in panic mode? Just… start rambling. ANYTHING. …just, don't yell at him. Don't. Be nice.  “Hey, I'm sorry if I hurt you, I'll be more careful.” Okay, so good so far... “...um.” The kid feels like shit right now, most likely. I know it's hard, but try something humorous! ...know any jokes? Anything? “...did you know you live in the middle of fucking nowhere?”

Woowooooooow. Fucking brilliant material. I can already hear the talent agents knocking. Try again, dipshit.

Eren looked up and his eyes seemed to soften and he smiled softly. He seemed to calm down a bit when he heard such an odd remark. Eren seemed to get back to reality a little more. “I…. I do?” he managed to ask the other quietly. He was still struggling to breath but having this conversation with Levi was starting to calm him down bit by bit.

Levi smirked just a bit. Wow. Eren thinks your brand of humour doesn't actually suck! This could work... Keep going! Levi lost the smirk. Deadpan them. It makes them SO MUCH BETTER. “So, these two guys walk into a bar. ...You’d think one of them would've ducked.”

Eren watched the other’s face don its usual emotionless expression. He was confused for only a second before a bright smile bared itself to Levi. He felt a little better, his chest didn’t hurt as much, and he could get a few deeper breaths in. He’s trying to make me feel better… Maybe he doesn’t hate me after all?
“Once, I heard this joke about amnesia, but I forgot how it goes…”

Eren looked at Levi and seemed to smile more. His chest was loosening up and his fingers were no longer locked into a tight grip against Levi’s clothes. He let out a weary chuckle, finding that he still had a sharp pain in his chest with deep breaths.

“Have you ever tried to eat a clock? It’s very time consuming.”

Eren chuckled a little more, not being able to really laugh at Levi’s idiocy like he wanted to. He ended up coughing again, horribly, as he tried to shake the pain from his chest. He coughed a little more, his eyes widening when his chest tightened right back up again. Two steps forward, six giant leaps back.

Oh my. Levi took one of his hands and brought it to rest on Eren’s upper arm, back to tracing feather-light patterns on the fabric, his other still carefully grasping his hands. Might want to tone down the jokes; the poor kid can’t laugh.

Eren watched as Levi moved, he seemed a bit fearful as his grip moved farther up Eren’s sensitive arm. His eyes almost instantly displayed fear. He was scared, Levi was hurting him, even with his grip so gentle. He honestly couldn’t feel Levi’s touch on his bleeding hand, but his thin frame gave way to very sensitive skin, easy to bruise… easy to harm.

Shit, that fear again… wait. It’s his arms. Levi snatched his hand back from Eren’s sleeve, looking with intense worry at him, at his arms. “What did I do? I’m so sorry, was that hurting you? Let me see, please…” Levi brushed his fingers over the cuff of his sweatshirt, asking.

Eren watched Levi hesitantly. He wasn’t sure if he could trust the other completely. Well, I mean he’s seen me in a panic attack, slept with me, and broke into my house… guess he can’t really tell anyone about this. Eren slowly moved his bloodied hands from Levi’s to the hem of his sweatshirt, moving it up again, meeting Levi’s eyes with his own weary ones. He swallowed hard before he pulled the hoodie over his head. Eren’s chest was littered with so many scars, a majority fresh, considering most still had their stitches in. He looked over to his severely thin arms, a bruise already starting to form in the shape of Levi’s hand. He looked to him with fear still, fearing he would do something else, so he shifted away slowly and carefully, but not completely leaving Levi’s warmth.

For the moment, seeing what damage he had done to Eren, and and what was already done to him, Levi shut down. …that handprint. Is mine. His eyes drifted over Eren’s chest. Those scars. So many of them. His gaze lingered on Eren’s hands. His scratched, bleeding hands… Eren.
Vision slightly blurred, he took hold of one of Eren’s hands. He turned it over to see the palm, the angry red of the pads of his fingers. I let him… no, I made him hurt his hands. He turned it back, carefully closing his own two hands over it, rubbing the knuckles back and forth with his thumb. His voice cracked, sound barely escaping his throat. “…I’m so sorry.” He carefully laced their fingers together, still tracing over his knuckles, the veins of his hands, the lines across his fingers.

Eren watched as Levi gently drew patterns across his thin skin. He watched in slight fear, though the fear in his eyes was quickly subsiding. His chest hurt still, but he was calming down again. His eyes seemed to dilate as he relaxed a bit more. He shook his head. “W-why?” His voice was shaky since his chest still hurt so much. He tried to read the other’s eyes to find out what he was really feeling, but he couldn’t read those steely grey lenses as much as he could hope.

Levi’s eyes looked to be made of glass. He was choking on his words. “I… that’s… that’s my hand on your arm.” His head bowed, bangs concealing part of his face. “I only helped to make your cuts worse. I punched you and got you in the hospital. And I didn't stop you, from picking up all that sharp glass. I let you get hurt.” A single, silent tear rolled down his cheek. “I’m… I’m sorry for that.”

Eren looked at Levi with concerned eyes. He tried to talk again but it immediately turned into a large coughing fit, immediately replacing his concerned eyes with fearful ones. “I-it h-hurts” he gasped out, clinging to the other’s shirt. His chest hurt a lot, he was trying to calm himself down before he freaked out. Eren’s eyes looked to meet Levi’s with his own pleading beg that was apparent.

“Don't try to talk, it’s fine. I'll get you a pen and paper in a minute. Just keep trying to relax. I've got you.” Holding his hand with reverence, he reached out and took his other, which had been resting on the bed next to him. Skimming his thumbs over the thin skin, he brought Eren’s left hand up, ghosting his lips over each of his knuckles. Bringing it back down, he let another tear stream down his cheek.

Eren watched in shocked stillness. He was simply staring at the spectacle before him. He would never imagine that Levi would actually like him back, care enough about him to come to put him in a warm bed, sleep with him, and try to get him to calm down from his panic attack. He swallowed hard and nodded quietly. He hoped the other would get that sheet of paper soon. He had so many questions that needed to be answered. After a few minutes of being in this position, with Levi holding him gently, his breathing was back to normal, and the tightness gone in his chest… I don’t want to talk though, I’ll just start crying again. Find some fucking paper, short stack, and then come back to hold me….. WAIT, I want HIM to fucking hold me? What kind of fucking pansy have I become?
Levi was… morose was the word. Following the outline of Eren’s hand with his eyes one last time, he remembered his promise. He slowly swung his legs over the edge of the bed, and as he let Eren’s hands go with reluctance, he spoke quietly. “I’ll get you some paper.” Hanging his head, he moved with deliberate steps over the things littering the floor of Eren’s room in his quest for paper. He stopped at the desk pushed against the wall, a notebook buried under a textbook and pens scattered about. He picked up a black pen and the book, turning to a clean sheet, and traipsed back to Eren, lowering himself back onto the bed and passing them both carefully into his hands.

Eren looked to the notebook wearily. He took a shaky breath before he grabbed both articles. He looked at the blank sheet of paper before he reached to start writing a few moments later. His handwriting was beautiful, perfect in every way, even with the slight quake that he had from his panic attack’s repercussions.

~ Why are you here?~

Levi looked at the paper, and was silent for a moment. He let out a sigh in defeat, and looked Eren in the eyes, his own filled with weariness and exasperation. “You were fine this morning, but after I got us detention- sorry about that, by the way,” he looked away and wrinkled his nose a bit, frowning, “you were so miserable, and when I tried asking you about it after school, you went off the handle. After you left, I… I finished setting up and ran after you, because I wanted to apologise and figure out what was eating at you.”

Eren’s eyes seemed too narrow a bit at the other’s explanation.

~ That doesn’t explain how the fuck you got in my house.~

Eren waited to see his reaction after he had written those harsh words. He was wondering how Levi had in fact gotten in when he knew that all the doors were locked, as he always tried to keep Grisha away, by at least a few seconds - if that.

Levi cringed at that. “When I got here, I... I realised I couldn't just expect you to open the door to me knocking. You would've pretended not to be home, you were so mad. I just…” He grimaced. “This is gonna sound really fucking creepy but the house was completely dark and I walked over to a window and I'm sorry I sound like a creeper but I heard you crying and I was really worried and I ran out back to see if I could spot you from there and I could see you up against the front door practically in a puddle of panic and anguish so I tried the back door and it was locked so I tried to see if you hid a key above the door and you did so I used that and you were in the middle of a panic attack and I didn't know what to do so I just picked you up and tried to calm you down and you started falling asleep and I brought you up here to your room and got you in bed and got rid of your shoes and when I pulled up the blanket you got ahold of my wrist and wouldn't let go and pulled me in with you and I don't know why I didn't just leave when I could have but you didn't let go so I just kinda ditched my shoes and you curled up to me and fell asleep and I just didn't want to leave you or make you wake up so I let you and then you woke up and started panicking and I…” Levi couldn't feel the tears running down his cheeks. “...I'm sorry. I was being creepy and weird and I broke into your house and you didn't even know I was here and I slept with you and I don't know why I didn't just leave and I hurt you and I let you hurt yourself and… I'm sorry, Eren.”
Eren watched as Levi started to cry silently. He timidly reached forward to Levi’s now damp cheeks. He gently cooed to him as he gently rubbed away the tears that trailed down his cheeks. He moved to curl up into the other’s lap, enjoying the warmth that Levi’s arms promised. He looked to the pad of paper and started writing again, though now situated on Levi’s lap.

~ It’s okay, it’s not really your fault. I don’t really mind, just try and wake me up next time... okay?~ Eren looked up to the other with concerned eyes as he waited for a response. Please don’t cry anymore, you need to be strong for me, for when I cry. Eren knew it was selfish, but the thought stayed all the same.

...Does this mean there’ll be a next time? Levi was stunned at Eren’s reaction to this whole mess. I expected him to throw me out... or smack me. Well...both. “Uh... o-okay.” His hands hovered awkwardly, unsure of where to go.

Eren watched him, trying to read what the other was thinking. He looked down at Levi’s hands; he seemed tense. Why is he so tense? Just hug me already. There’s a limit, you’ll be smart enough to know what it is, short stack. Eren sighed before he carefully took his hands, gently taking Levi’s hands into his own, then wrapping them around his bare torso to keep him warm again. His skin had become cool to the touch. He still couldn’t regulate his temperature well. He reached for the pad and pen once Levi’s arms were secure against him. ~Stay the night? Please? You’re warm, and it gets really cold... even with blankets~ Eren looked up to Levi to see his reaction to his words, he had such an innocent look to his face.

...He’s serious. He’s serious... Holy fuck, he’s serious! Levi’s eyes shone, a smirk settling into place. He nuzzled his nose behind Eren’s ear. “...Of course I will.” His gaze fell for a moment, and he mumbled into Eren’s hair, “I don’t want to hurt you any more though. I’ll try to be careful of course, but...” He tried to hide his face. Fuck. You're going to mess this up. I guarantee it.

Eren looked a bit confused at Levi’s words. He wanted to question him, but he knew that that would not go over well with his panic attacks and such. Why does he think he’ll hurt me? He can’t be that worried. I’m not a twig that’ll snap in half. Eren huffed and he started to scrawl out his thoughts to Levi, ticked off the other had worded his sentence that way. ~ We are doing nothing, Levi, I just want to fucking cuddle up to you so I can actually sleep tonight, asshole, get your mind out of the fucking gutter!~ Eren huffed again, crossing his arms. He obviously though Levi’s mind had strayed from the purer path in life. He almost growled in his throat at the mention of being hurt during the course of the night, especially during the sex.... Which they were NOT going to have.

Levi couldn't believe what he read. Damn I must've said that weird. Uh... “Nonononono I didn't mean anything like that Eren, I swear I didn't. I just meant I bruised you earlier without even thinking about it,” his fingers ghosted over the bruise from his hands on Eren’s arm, “and I just don't want to be responsible for anything like that happening to you again.”

~You're afraid about giving me bruises?~ The question was short, but Eren’s face was what brought the emotion out of it. It was a mixture of anger that the other was afraid that he was fucking twig, but also a sense of happiness that the other as worried about him.

“I know it must sound pretty mean… look, I know you're not made of tissue paper, but… yeah. The short of it is yes, but the longer of it is I just don't want you getting hurt, is all, because I couldn't even tell the first time with how tight I was holding you and… ugh. I really just don't want to hurt you.” Is that a vaguely concealed insult? That's a vaguely concealed insult. Dammit. See? I totally called it. ... Fuck.

Eren watched Levi with unamused eyes. He turned to scrawl out his next, and apparently longer, statement. It took him a few minutes to write it down, and he kept the message concealed from Levi. ~ First, I'm not a fucking twig, I'm not gonna fucking snap if you hug me… Second, YES, I FUCKING GET BRUISES! So what’s the big deal? Yes, it’s a bit uncomfortable, but I can fucking live with bruises, Levi. It’s not as bad as not being able to fucking breathe because your ribs aren’t even there anymore. So stop your bitching about hurting me, yes, SHUT THE FUCK UP, and I fucking mean it! Get fucking dressed too.~

Eren pushed the other back down on the bed, and slowly crawled off the bed, he got out of his clothes to get into some dark pajamas. His hands were still bleeding, but he didn’t seem to mind. He moved to get another pair of pajamas out for Levi and threw them at him, timing it so that they would've landed on Levi’s head while he read the last of the message. Eren moved to hide away all the artwork left around the room. Once it was all away he moved to go down stairs. He was fucking starving, and his stomach was growling constantly.

...damn. Eren’s right. I'll stop bitching about it. He smirked as he pulled the pajamas off of his head, holding them close to investigate their pattern. An intricate crest was sewn over the heart, a golden lion rearing up with a roar. Gold and red thread spun thick laced the cuffs of the sleeves and of the legs. Huh... Fitting. And they're pretty cool. He pulled on quickly, setting the paper aside for only a moment before taking it with him and following Eren down the stairs. What's he up to now?

Eren was making a few noises in the kitchen as he was searching for some food, though the kitchen was practically barren. There was good reason for that too, but Eren wasn’t about to tell Levi he was broke and basically only ate at school, if he did eat there at all. He looked around the pantry, trying to find enough pasta of the same kind to make for the both of them. He tried to reach for one that was up higher, and soon got it firmly in his grasp before he moved to make their sad excuse of a dinner. Please do not question the absence of food in this house. Eren silently begged as he got a pot filled with water on the burner.

Levi scanned the bare pantry. ...Does he not eat? Like, ever? He is pretty skinny, but still. That's
He watched as Eren filled a pot with water and put it carefully on the stove, a sadness in his viridian eyes. He studied the small box of pasta next to the pot. Damn. I mean, who doesn't have food in the house? He couldn't stand to see that faraway look. ...No, this isn't right. I need to fix this. He quietly padded over to Eren, carefully wrapping one arm around his waist from behind and leaning his chin on his shoulder, reaching over to turn off the burner with the other, passing by the unopened box. “Sorry, I appreciate you trying to make us something, but do you mind if I order us something? My treat.”

Eren looked at him then down at the pot, then back to Levi, then back to the pot, then back to Levi yet again before he nodded. As he struggled to lift the heavy pot off the stove and to put it back into the sink, he looked down at his reflection in the water and he swallowed hard. He had changed so much in the past two months. I don’t even look like myself anymore. Eren looked at Levi; He honestly didn’t know what was around to order from, and he didn’t have any money in the house at all, so he hoped Levi had enough money to feed the both of them. Well mostly Levi, I probably won’t be able to eat much anyways.

Levi smirked, letting out a small sigh. “Alright. I’ve got quite a few numbers stashed in my phone, and plenty of cash, so don’t worry yourself.” He retreated a bit, giving Eren room to face him. “What’ll it be- Pizza? Chinese? There’s plenty of places that deliver.” Come on, kid. We need to get some real food in you.

Eren looked at him and opened his mouth to speak before he closed it again. He held up his hand, motioning for the paper Levi had set on the counter. He reached for it, soon scrawling onto the white sheet. ~Anything light, I can’t really stomach much~ He showed it to the other, not really caring about the food; he wasn’t a picky eater, but his stomach couldn’t handle rich foods anymore, nor could it handle a lot of food.

Levi studied his script for a moment, brow furrowed in thought. That Italian place has salads, and lots of the good garlic bread rolls, and maybe if I just get a small plain cheese pizza he'll nibble at it... “Alright. I'll be right back.” Turning on his heel, he went to retrieve his phone, making the call for delivery quickly, before Eren could get suspicious and come get him. He’s going to freak when he sees what arrives... oh, what the hell.

It wasn’t an hour before someone came knocking. Eren was stunned at the grocery bag’s worth of food, and the pizza box that accompanied it. Levi was prepared for the worst of his reaction. Leftovers. He’ll be fine for a little while.

Eren stared at all the food, not noticing the amount that Levi actually paid for this much food, not that it actually mattered. He went to go get his pad and pen, furiously writing on it to try and get a message across. ~ What the fuck is all this food? We’re not gonna be able to eat all that. I can barely finish a salad ~ The last part had been scratched out. No, Levi did not need to know about that. But Eren didn’t know that it was still pretty legible.
Levi, though he was worried at the last bit of his message, still had a shining light in his eye. He responded cheekily, “What- you have something against leftovers, Brat?”

_Back at it again with the insults I see._ Eren sighed and he scrawled out another message. _~ I’ll never be able to eat one fourth of that in a fucking week, short stack~_ Eren smirked at the other knowing Levi hated being called out on his shorter height. He had found out from teasing comments in the hallways that ended up causing bloodied noses.

...Well then. _We have a traitor to the cause._ I buy you food and you insult my inability to vertically grow. _What. Even._ His deadpan glare was punctuated by a raised eyebrow when Eren looked at him with an odd expression, a mix of confusion, incredulity and joy. “What?” He watched utterly confused as Eren doubled over in silent laughter. “What?” _Waitwaitwait. Did I say that shit out loud or something?_ Levi’s eyes widened in alarm. _Shit I did WHAT THE HELL BRAIN!?_

Eren couldn’t contain himself from his continued silent laughter. He barely got through a few words on his pad of paper, trying not to piss his pants from laughing so hard. He hadn’t laughed in awhile. _Well, I can’t really call this laughter, can I?_ ...Eh, it was close though. Eren smiled in mischief as he gave the other the pad of paper. _~Are you a teenage girl? Because apparently you can’t even~_ Eren couldn’t stop himself from actually laughing, the sound was joyous and pure as he made his way to the floor, trying to hold his bladder in.

Levi could only stand there, his face blooming scarlet behind his hands as he mentally berated himself and sputtered weakly in Eren’s direction. _You’re a fucking idiot yes I am thank you me you’re welcome me-

Eren’s laughter soon died down, he had started coughing again. He curled up into his chest, to try and shield himself from the pain within, even while knowing full well that it would do nothing for his pain. He coughed a bit more, not yet freaking out, but the pain was making him whimper a bit.

Levi stopped himself for a split second. _Remember how this works, Levi. He’s not a fucking twig. He’s in pain. But he’s gonna be okay. Just keep him from panicking. That’s what you need to do._ Levi moved the two steps over to him, kneeling down in one swift movement and reaching out to brush at his bangs with one hand, the other out for Eren to grasp. He petted him gently, trying to guide his head onto his lap, his legs unfurling from under him.

Eren looked to the other’s open hand, he timidly reached out, squeezing it tightly from the pain he was experiencing, as well as reopening the scabs on his hands yet again. He curled up to the other, soon calming down enough that it didn’t hurt to breath anymore. When they got to that point, Eren sat up and wearily looked at the food before glancing back at Levi, then back at the food, as if to ask him what the hell he had actually gotten.

Levi seemed to understand his silent query, and perked up. Heaving himself off the floor and helping up Eren, he spoke. “Alright, dinner’s gonna be any mix of a Caesar salad, garlic rolls, and plain cheese pizza. I also may or may not have asked for a couple cookies.” He raised an eyebrow at Eren’s glare, raising his hands in surrender. “Oi, I got you food, didn't I? How about we enjoy it?” He smirked, a glint in his eyes.

Eren shrugged. Not much I can do about it other than accept it I guess. He nodded and went to get plates and silverware for them to use. He looked at all the food as Levi unpacked it all from the brown bag, and he seemed anxious to be near Levi while he would eat. Eat, yeah, I should say try to.

Levi caught his anxiety right away. Looking his way with concern, “You okay? It’s supposed to be a lot- that's kinda the point. I obviously don't expect us to do more than put a dent in it.” Come on, please just eat something. Then, it’d’ve been worth it.

Eren watched him carefully before he nodded and he reached for the salad to put a little bit on his plate. He knew he might not even be able to eat this much, depending on how thick the dressing was that he had never heard of. He made a very small plate before he turned to go and sit on the large couch. Eren picked slowly at his first piece of salad, though he quickly found out it was to his liking. That would pose a problem; He couldn’t eat too much, Nope, that would risk throwing it all up in an hour, no thank you.

Levi watched as Eren meandered dejectedly to the couch. Man, he wasn't kidding. He looked to his own plate, filled with pizza and a garlic roll. Well this is awkward. Um... Fuck it. Levi walked deliberately to the couch and sat carefully next to Eren. Balancing his silverware on the far side of his plate, he picked up his pizza and took a bite, watching Eren struggle with the salad. He put his slice down as he chewed, studying his plight. He picked up his roll, tearing off a quarter-sized piece, and timidly putting it at the edge of Eren’s plate. And then, he waited.

Eren looked to the small piece of roll and almost immediately shook his head. I can't eat that Levi, I won't be able to stomach the rest of this goodness if I do. He looked around for his pad and pen and soon found it with his eyes, back in the kitchen. He sighed, not wanting to get up and venture from his comfortable spot on the couch. He picked up the small piece of garlic bread and placed it back onto the other’s plate without another glance towards him.

Levi half-shrugged at Eren when he replaced the bread piece. It was worth a shot. Maybe later in the week. He nudged his foot with his own, letting him know everything was fine, before returning to his pizza.
Eren simply hummed softly in response. He managed to finish off the rest of his plate without feeling the need to throw up. He was able to hold it down, which was good. Eren got up to put his plate away before he came back to the couch to curl up to Levi, his head in the other’s lap yet again, feeling comfortable as all hell. I could get used to this. He yawned as he felt his eyelids become heavy. He was starting to fall asleep.

Levi lifted his unfinished plate above him as Eren forced it to vacate his lap. Well then. This is now a thing. Smirking, he reached far, trying not to uproot Eren, placing his plate carefully on the coffee table. He leaned back, his right hand dancing over to twine with Eren’s, his left hand playing with his hair. “Tired?”

Eren let out a soft hum of acknowledgement before he nodded slowly against Levi’s muscled thighs. He was tired from all the crying and panicking he had done today. His stomach was full, and it was nearing 11 pm, which meant that Eren would be knocked out for a good while before the nightmares would force him to stay awake for the rest of the night, but of course, Levi doesn’t know… fuck it, maybe I’ll be able to sleep while I’m cuddled up with him. Eren’s eyes closed completely as he finally passed out, his head resting on Levi’s lap still.

Levi let out a breath he didn’t know he was holding. He felt the tension drain out of Eren as he slipped into sleep, soft hair tangled around his fingers, hand braided into his own. He studied his peaceful face. He’s fucking gorgeous. How the hell did someone with your looks even spare a second glance at me… Feet outstretched, head comfortable against the couch, Levi drifted off. And for once, Nightmares did not plague Eren’s sleep.

Eren’s eyes cracked open at the brightness flooding into the room. He groaned and moved his head, against something warm. Why aren’t my window shades drawn? And my head is warm, but my body is fucking freezing! Eren blinked a few more times to dispel his drowsiness, looking around and taking in the familiar sight of his living room. The memories of what had actually happened last night poured into his mind. He looked up to see Levi still sleeping, sitting up on the couch. Fuck, do the gods fucking hate me? He’s gorgeous… even without my fucking glasses I can tell! Eren scanned the room for them. Okay, where the fuck did I leave them? Eren slowly got up from his spot on the couch, quickly moving to hug his arms around his chest. FUCK! It’s freezing! What the actual hell? He stumbled a bit but soon found his glasses had at some point last night found their way onto the coffee table. Weird, don’t remember doing that last night. The boy shrugged before going to get changed into warmer clothes, cleaning his hands and hoping that they wouldn’t perpetually bleed like they did yesterday. And apparently last night too. Joy. Eren looked down to his grey pajamas, now caked with dried blood in various spots from his hands. The spots were large, and no longer held the shape of his hand. They had bled a lot. How am I not fucking dead from blood loss by now?

Eren shrugged the thought off as he quietly made his way up to his dark bedroom, his shades drawn to ward off the sun. He fumbled along the wall for the light switch, finding it after a short struggle and flicking it on. He’d only been actually living in the house for a few days, if even a week. He wasn’t completely used to it yet thanks to being in the hospital for so long. He looked to his wardrobe and the selection of clothes it held, which was sparse at best. He picked out a pair of dark jeans which hugged his ass nicely, making it a sight to behold - Well, women’s jeans do that to any ass, but he wasn’t complaining. Hmm, maybe Levi will like it. That was all it really took, that thought alone, before he was slipping the jeans on. He savored the perfect fit; They were his favorite jeans for a reason. Eren scrounged around the room for a shirt, finding a dark long-sleeve shirt, and pulled it over his head. No way would people be able to see if his wrists were bleeding. The scabs hadn’t opened in a while, but he was still wary of the fading slits lining both his wrists. I’m honestly surprised that Levi didn’t see them yesterday, or even comment on them. Maybe he was just too damn focused on that fucking bruise. He shivered in his own room as he changed his shirt. Today is a hoodie day, and no bitch shall fucking deny me the safety of my hoodie! Eren looked around for a dark hoodie as well, finally finding the dark navy, almost black, garment and slipped it over his head. His hair ruffled as his head popped through the top. Running a shaky hand through his mane in his only attempt to tame his unruly locks for the day, he grabbed a pair of socks from his drawer, and put them on quickly.

He walked around in his new outfit, looking for his phone. Alright, I’ve looked for it in five rooms. Where. The. Fuck. Is. IT! He was losing his patience. He finally found it in the kitchen. How the fuck did it get in here? And it’s on the fucking charger? Eren only had to look at the phone next to his, also charging, to figure out just who had put it there. Levi. Of course. That was actually pretty thoughtful.

Eren looked around only to find that all the food was gone, no longer on the counter where it had all been last night. He furrowed his brow in confusion, finally looking to the fridge to find an answer. He found that Levi had actually put all the food away into containers, which of course would be easy to take for lunch. It was strange, seeing actual food in his fridge. Well, now Levi knows that I don’t have any food in this house. Wonder how he’s gonna fucking take it out on me when he wakes up... At that thought, nervousness swept over Eren. Is he gonna beat me like Grisha does? Is he simply gonna stare and walk away from me? Mock me for not eating in front of the whole school? God, is he just gonna insult me and then never come back? All these thoughts made Eren’s stomach churn in unease. He stood there, gripping the countertop and trying not to freak out as more and more thoughts raced around his head-

Levi’s warm form gently pressed against him from behind, one arm coiling around his waist, the other giving him leverage against the counter, his chin resting on Eren’s shoulder. “G’ morning, Brat. Sleep well?”

Eren practically jumped out of his shoes- well, he would, if he was wearing some. “Are you some sort of ninja?” He asked with wide eyes as he turned his head slightly to see Levi. How the fuck can he be this gorgeous at 6:30 in the morning? Geez… I need to step up my game.

Eren felt his face heat up almost instantly as he saw Levi’s face so close to his so early in the morning. He tried to say something else but he stumbled over his words too much to get even one sentence out. His stuttering had found a great time to come back up again. Fucking perfect. Eren hung his head in slight defeat, his eyes resting on the strong arm around his waist. God how much I would give to have him hold me all night…. Oh my god, did I really just think that? Stop, it’s not like he’s gonna stay with me… He’s just worried about his Chemistry homework, yeah. That’s probably it. Eren watched the arm quietly grow tighter around his vastly thin frame.

Levi watched Eren’s expression change from scared to flustered to defeated. He slowly rubbed his stomach with his thumb, trying to reassure him. He’s so freaking adorable, and he doesn’t seem to understand that. Levi, fix that. His voice was softened with a hit of concern. “...You doin’ okay, handsome?” He watched in amusement as Eren flushed red again.

Eren let his head down, his whole face flushed, right up to the tips of his ears. Honestly he didn’t know he could blush this much so early. He shuffled his feet, looking over to Levi for a split second before down at his feet again. “W-What…” Fuck me and my fucking stutter! “W-what do y-you want for breakfast?” He asked quietly and looked down. He knew how to make a lot, only he didn’t have the ingredients for half of his ideas. Damn, I really need to find a job…. One where people hopefully won’t come into physical contact with me…. Great... Nothing I can think of.
Perfect. Eren sighed and shook his head to clear himself of those thoughts before he gently pulled away from Levi’s strong embrace, knowing full well those arms were not meant for him.

Levi quirked an eyebrow at him as he pulled away, inwardly protesting the loss of contact. “We could always go out and get actual breakfast food if you’re not a pizza-for-breakfast kind of guy.”
The mischievous spark was back in Levi’s eye. Kid, just say yes so I can go spoil you rotten please.
Eren looked to Levi like he was some sort of alien. “Go out t-to breakfast… B-before s-school?” He stuttered and seemed completely bewildered at the thought of actually going out before school; that had never happened before in his life, not even with his mom around. He felt his chest start to tighten at that one singular thought… His mother. Levi still didn’t know, and he was surprised that Levi hadn’t pried for details yet. He thought about it, “I-I-I… It s-sounds o-okay.” He murmured and looked down at his feet again, unable to keep eye contact with Levi out of embarrassment. Fuck my stupid stutter, go to fucking hell already!

YES HE SAID YES HE SAID YES! “Alright, then it’s settled. I’ll go get changed and grab my stuff, and then we can go, cool?” Starting backwards, he turned and walked over to and up the stairs, grabbing his clothes from the floor and switching out of the pajamas, placing them neatly on Eren’s bed. Picking up his backpack from the foot of the bed, he stopped to think out of habit. We didn’t have any homework, did we? Survey says… No. Thank GOD. Levi hoisted the bag over his shoulder as usual and let his shoes clomp on the stairs on the way down, walking over to retrieve his phone from the charger. “So, do you care at all where we acquire food? Or not really?” He opened the refrigerator, picking a plastic container with salad and itty bits of garlic bread in it, handing it to Eren. “Lunch.”

Eren looked to Levi, looked at the food in his hands, seeing him in the clothes he had worn yesterday and shook his head. “I h-haven’t eaten breakfast i-in…. A l-long time” he stutter out, pausing to pack the food away before he told Levi something else. Something he probably doesn’t want to know, I almost told him how long it has been since I ate breakfast… I almost fucking told him. I need to be more careful around him, or I’ll say something I don’t want him to know. ...well fuck. Switch tactics! There’s a diner not too far from the school that makes the best waffles. Want to try there? This shit is getting very concerning. I didn't think this all could get more concerning, but it did. He’s talking as if he wouldn't know what waffles are.

“W-Waffles?” Eren asked, tilting his head to the side. “W-what are t-those?” He asked quietly and his eyes seemed to be filled with curiosity. He didn’t know what waffles were- he had never had them before, not at all. Would he be able to eat any? I’m not really that hungry, I’m down to one meal a day really… If I can even handle that on any given day. So what in Satan’s glorious hell are waffles? Levi’s talking about them like they’re the best thing in the world.

HOLY FUCK. Levi was silent for a moment, eyes widening minutely and considering this question for a moment. He watched as Eren shifted uncomfortably under his gaze, but paid it no mind. After a second, he simply said in perfect monotone: “You have not lived.” Snatching his phone and Eren’s bag, he ushered him out of the house and closed the door, locking it quickly with the key he snitched, all the while ranting “How have you never had waffles? They’re waffles. They’re the most perfect breakfast food to ever exist and you can put whatever you want on top of them and they’re sweet and made of fluffy goodness and my God, man- how have you never even heard of them?”

Eren felt his stomach churn a bit… Sweets, he’d never done well with anything that was sweet before, not for the past 5 years, it had always seen daylight again almost an hour later. Eren swallowed hard and backed away from Levi a few steps. “I-I…” Eren trailed off not knowing how to answer, trying to give himself some space. His movement gave away the fact he was getting a bit scared from Levi’s passionate outburst. His father had always been one to beat after asking questions like that, and it was now ingrained in his body to get away, and to get away quickly.

Levi stopped ranting when he noticed Eren had backed away from him, a solid five feet down the walk, eyes fearful. ...Shit. Think. What the could the problem possibly be? “Hey, I'm sorry if I scared you. Is everything okay? Would you rather we do something else instead? Just get right to school? It's really up to you.” Why is this going downhill so quickly? Dammit.

Eren watched with wide and frightened eyes. He nodded at Levi’s last statement. School. That sounded better than the onslaught of sweetness that was apparently waffles. He felt his stomach tighten at the thought of them again. He wanted to get to school. He wanted to be able to actually pay attention in class, and today he had music with Mr. Dieter, so it wouldn’t be so bad, right? Eren still didn’t trust his voice enough to talk at the moment and hoped that Levi got the message to go to school.

Levi shrugged, nodding. “School it is. Let's go, then.” I fucking scared the kid… It was either the rant, or the concept of food. He started down the walk slowly, giving Eren a respectable amount of space. “I think I have some random snacks in my backpack if you get hungry at all, by the way.” He tried to make his voice as calm as possible. He refused garlic knots last night very… emphatically, for lack of a better word, and in general has been through some shouty, rough shit, so... probably both, actually. Try not to fuck this up even more. Take this time to think of more shitty puns. He seems to enjoy those.

Eren hurriedly shook his head. He didn't want to be hit. He almost instantly reached into his sleeves and started to scratch at the scabs on his wrist, and when he felt the warm liquid etch across his fingers he gave a small sighed of relief. It felt better, to be able to get over this with the small rush his open wounds brought. I can’t believe I am a fucking Masochist... But I can’t stop... It feels so much better to open them. Eren proceeded to scratch at his wrists until both of them were open and bleeding and he felt slightly better, hoping that Levi hadn’t gone through his backpack the night before and found his razors. He swallowed hard remembering the last time he had cut his wrists. He started to get a bit antsy as they walked along the side of the road, nearing the next house over. We walked a whole fucking mile already? And it’s been completely fucking silent... He must be ready to blow a fuse, I haven’t heard anything if he was trying to talk to me...

...maybe I've tried too many shitty puns. Levi nervously studied his shoes, Eren’s odd gait, his fidgeting hands. Or maybe they were overly shitty. But not the good kind of shitty, not the kind that’s like ‘oh my god that’s so awful it’s great’ but the kind that’s like ‘why are you even trying, shut up.’ We’ve made it to the neighbor’s house and he hasn’t said anything. He hasn’t even grinned. …He’s probably off in LaLa Land or something, nearly stumbling off the road- probably his back, can’t be doing too well- fiddling with his sleeves… Why is he doing that, by the way? There’s no loose thread… at least, I can’t see one…

Eren didn’t see the two people exiting the nearby house.

“That’s the guy who knocked me over!” The small, almost girlish voice came from one of the two figures but Eren was too preoccupied with his wrists to look up to see the hulking figure rush past him and towards Levi. That’s when he looked up, to see none other than Erwin beat down on Levi, or at least begin to, in a blind rage.

A sickening crack split the air as a fist connected with Levi’s nose. He couldn't see who punched him right away, but knew they were in for it. Fuck. That was your FACE. If something busted … Stumbling back a few inches, he had no chance to retaliate before he was kicked in the gut, doubling over in pain before kicking into overdrive and full on tackling his attacker, not registering who he was before swinging his fist and nailing their jaw, bringing them both down.

Erwin looked down at the small body he was beating up only seconds ago. “Levi?” His smooth and rich voice spiked in question. He looked over to Armin. “Levi was the one who knocked you down?” He asked, rubbing his jaw with his left hand, getting his feet under him and picking up Levi without a second though with his right, raising the smaller teen at least a foot off the ground, turning the struggling mess towards Armin to allow him to confirm.

Armin confirmed with a small sound of assent, which came from right behind Eren. That of course scared the shit out of him and he jumped out of complete fear and landed wrong, falling to the floor without grace. His chest heaving and his pupils dilated in complete fear. When the FUCK did he get there?… Shit shit shit… I’m going to have another attack… Shitshitshitshit . Eren felt his chest tighten and he instantly grabbed for his hoodie, his breathing hitched and he tried not to choke on his lack of air. The signs were all there for Levi to see as he dangled in Erwin’s hand.

Levi watched as Eren collapsed on the ground, spinning into a panic attack. He’s having an attack. You need to get over there now and calm him down but not before you get this son of a bitch to put you back on the fucking ground. And trying to break his face isn’t going to help you do any of that. Your words, Levi. Use them. “Erwin.” So deathly calm, so stoic, it took Erwin, and Levi himself, by surprise. “I don't know why you decided to punch my nose, which I suspect is currently broken, but right now, that doesn't matter.” Levi let his murderous intent flash past his eyes, staring Erwin down. “Put me down, right the fuck now, and let me go help Eren, and your family might not find you dead in the gutter.” His eyes, dark with rage, spoke volumes: …Even I’m terrified of Levi. And I'm him! Listen to the guy!
Erwin watched the terrifying display without even flinching. He slowly lowered Levi to the ground, watching him, calculating Levi’s actions as he set him down. He looked over as Eren started to physically freak out. He was still on the ground, which had the hulking giant a bit concerned. He simply watched as Armin slowly stepped towards Eren in a submissive and calming manner, trying to get the kid to calm down a bit. Erwin also noticed that this boy was Levi’s lab partner. Why the fuck is Levi with his lab partner? Eh, I can ask him at practice later. He lowered Levi to the ground completely, letting go of his shirt as he did so.

Levi turned his full attention to Eren, switching from murderous to very worried in an instant, regarding the blonde trying to comfort Eren with immediate distrust. What the fuck does this mushroom think he’s trying to accomplish? Back. The fuck. Up. Levi tried to keep himself composed for Eren, trying to walk over with an even gait, kneeling down on the ground next to him and automatically wrapping his arms around him, gently rubbing his arm with his thumb. “Hey Eren, I'm sorry about that, we're all good now, you don't need to worry…” His voice was quiet. Please please please calm down I don't want you to panic it's alright I swear he’s got a shit ton of explaining to do but right now just be okay, okay?

Eren’s chest heaved as he watched Levi get put down and come close to him, brought to the warmth of Levi’s chest. He watched with wide and almost fearful eyes as he saw the innocent looking blonde come closer and kneel on the other side of him, though about two feet away which gave him space. Eren started to calm down as Levi held him, his breathing beginning to even out. It took a few minutes but soon he had calmed down completely and looked between the two of them kneeling beside him. He watched as the blonde spoke up first.

“You okay, Eren?” he asked quietly to the other and he seemed pretty innocent in Eren’s opinion. Wait… how does he know my name? Eren looked at him in complete confusion and leaned away from him a bit, and closer to Levi- if that was even physically possible- though Armin seemed to notice his confusion, his next words soft and caring. “Am I saying it right, Eren? I’m in all your classes, but I’ve only seen you physically in them for two days.” he explained, a small smile lighting his features. Eren seemed to visibly relax once he knew this small teen was in all of his classes. He nodded to answer the blonde’s first question.

“Wait, Armin, you’re telling me that you’re in all of the-kid-Levi-beat-up’s classes and you’re only telling me this now?” Erwin spoke up next. He still referred to Eren as the kid that Levi beat up, and it was certainly a shock to see him so protective of the Brat now, especially after what happened.

“He’s got a fucking name, Captain Eyebrows, and it’s Eren!” Levi had again taken less than a second to assume the position of a murderer. If looks could kill… You do not talk about him like that. He turned back to Eren, still tracing circles on his arm. “You doin’ okay? Can you stand up, or not yet?”
Eren looked between Levi and the ground and he nodded, using Levi for support to get to his own feet. He was wobbly at first, but soon found proper footing. He looked over to the blonde with curious eyes, and that seemed to get the mastermind’s attention.

“I'm Armin. I can understand you don't recognise me; I'm either on the opposite side of the room or behind you in all your classes. And I'm sorry for this whole mess…” He glanced at Erwin, at Levi’s crooked and bleeding nose, and at Eren’s shaky form. “…that got very out of hand very fast.” He sent a quick, sharp look to Erwin.

Erwin rose his hands in defeat and looked away. “I'll make it up to Levi at practice, we’re practicing hitting today anyways.” Erwin’s words practically meant he would let the smaller man tackle him for all he was worth as long as he fucking wanted to at practice.

Eren watched the two new members bicker as he moved to inspect Levi’s nose. He could tell it was broken from the awkward angle it was at. “I-I-I c-can set i-it for y-you…. B-but i-it’ll bleed i-if I d-do.” Eren’s stutter was far worse than normal and his face flushed from embarrassment as he gingerly touched the broken nose.

Levi snapped his eyes back to Eren, to the hand hovering near his busted nose. “Uh, that's probably best… But don't we need bandages or tissues or anything like that?” This is gonna hurt like a bitch, isn't it. Ah well... At least the nurse is cute.

Eren looked over to Armin who was already walking towards his house. He looked to the blonde curiously as he left, wondering if they should follow him to go inside. He watched as Captain Eyebrows followed him, so he assumed it was safe to follow the small blonde shroom. He clutched Levi’s wrist, fearful of being alone with the two ‘new’ people he had been introduced to just minutes ago. They soon made it inside and Armin put them in front of the large kitchen sink, before disappearing to find bandages. His large teal eyes turned to Levi’s steely grey ones. “A-are y-you r-ready?” He stuttered out his question, getting ready to set Levi’s nose. He hoped it would be easier since he had done it in a mirror countless times on himself. It seemed easier to do it on someone else in front of him. This is gonna hurt, I hope you’re fucking ready for it. Eren moved quickly, finishing in seconds and leaning back to appreciate his perfect set before the blood started to rain down like his nose was a fucking hurricane.

FUCK, THAT HURTS! Levi was braced for it, but the swift motions of settling the bone in place could not be over quickly enough. He resisted the urge to swat Eren’s hands away, to grab at his face, instead gripping the edge of the sink tightly, his knuckles going white. He felt warmth trickling down his face, and saw streams of crimson splatter in the sink below him. Surprisingly, he made little noise throughout the ordeal.
Eren watched and held Levi’s nose in place with gentle fingers. He took the bandages that Armin offered upon his return from wherever the hell he went in this house. Eren then wrapped LEvi’s nose expertly, and it wasn’t bulky, he pressed a wad of paper towels to Levi’s nose once the bleeding was starting to lessen, the pain shouldn’t feel that bad now, once the pressure of his fingers was gone. “B-better?” he asked quietly, watching him with wide, worried eyes.

Levi tried to even his breathing as the pain died down a bit, studying Eren’s expression. “Y-yeah, I’m doing as well as anyone could be in this situation.” That spark danced in his eye again. “Thanks, Brat.”

Eren watched the smirk form on Levi’s face. He wasn’t sure whether to regard the term ‘Brat’ as an insult or a pet name. It’s most likely an insult… fuck it all, he’s clearly enjoying insulting me. Eren’s eyes quickly looked away towards Armin. “We should p-probably h-head to s-school.” Eren stuttered yet again.

... there’s a pet name that could be easily mistaken for an insult if I ever heard one. “There’s still a lot of time until class starts. Would you mind if we talked for a moment?” Armin took a small step forward, resting his hand on Eren’s forearm. He gently pulled him away from the kitchen to the front room with little resistance, leaving Levi in the company of Erwin.

“So.” Levi’s expression was impassive, though… This is going to be a fun conversation. “What’s up with you and the shroom?”

Erwin watched Levi carefully for a few moments before he sat down on a stool which was found under one of the island counter spaces. He sat down before returning his gaze to Levi. “Armin’s my lab partner for chemistry,” his voice was cool and collected, “so sometimes I come over to do homework with him.” The burly blonde wasn’t lying but he wasn’t telling the complete truth either. So before Levi could question him he turned the topic around. “What’s up with you and the Nerd?” He asked and raised a questioning- manscaped- eyebrow.

Levi kept his expression neutral. “We're the same case, actually.” That... is pretty coincidental. Huh. But there wasn't even homework last night. But you can't mention that or you both lose your excuses... And he busted my nose because I knocked over his lab partner- which I don't even remember doing? ...Wait, he was that blonde on the sidewalk. Shit.

“Just a lab partner, huh? Did you come over to his house to harass him for your homework? Then become a ‘savior figure’ for him just so that he’ll continue to do it?” He asked quizzically, though his thoughts weren’t unlike what Levi’s reputation would lead anyone to believe. “He had hope in his eyes when he helped you, then you went off and opened your mouth.” Erwin was apparently way more observant that he let on. He had noticed the complete emotional exchange between the two of them since they arrived at the front of the house.

“You and I both know I wouldn't do something like that.”...but he’s noticed something else. Damn his perceptive ability. But what could I have said that... Oh. Eren thinks I'm still insulting him when I say Brat. Mental note: fix that.

Erwin only watched Levi. “I wouldn’t put it past you, I mean, you did put the kid in the hospital.” Erwin knew he didn’t know the full story on that. Rumors floated around putting that situation way out of proportion. He wondered if taunting Levi about the incident would get him to spill some information. Erwin knew Levi was no killer, but the small raven still had a pretty bad temper and attitude to boot.

Levi’s eyes narrowed. Don't fucking remind me about it. “ You don't know shit about what happened.” He practically snarled at him. Don't go too fucking far with this.

“Care to explain it?” He asked calmly and collectedly. He could see the apparent anger flash in Levi’s eyes; he was good at reading him, and had been since they came to school. “I mean if I don’t know, I can only assume you put him in the hospital, breaking all his tiny ribs with one punch.” Erwin countered Levi’s obvious displeasure with an unapologetic snark.

That fucking does it. “I may have only punched him once, but I wasn't the one who hurt him as much as he already was in the first place! His ribs were already broken, his back already shredded, he’d already lost a lot of blood, and all it took was one punch to open a lot of wounds and make him lose consciousness and end up in the hospital. And it's not like I wanted that to happen. But you know what? It did, and I feel awful about it, and nobody will shut up about it. So you don't have to remind me how much I fucked up, thank you.” Don't ask for more details. It felt really good to get all that out but if I really start saying too much I'm gonna be in deep shit with the Brat so just accept what you just got.

Erwin let Levi rant without much of a thought. He watched the outburst, picking up on Levi’s words. “So he was already abused? By his own family? Or did he get into a bigger mess?” He didn’t ask about the wounds themselves- he asked about how the Nerd had acquired said injuries- but he decided to push it further and ask anyways. “How did his back get shredded and his ribs broken? All of them?” He inquired, his eyes glinting with curiosity for a second.

Hoping for him to not ask for more detail was too much. Instead of dropping, bait, pretend there is no bait- play dumb. “You expect me to know the answer to that? Like he'd ever tell the guy who sent him to the hospital all his woes.” Sarcasm dripped from his words.
Erwin simply raise an eyebrow. “You expect me to believe that? You just hugged the freshman like he was your boy-toy to get him to calm down. You don’t like to touch people, and you fucking hugged the damn kid.” he stated calmly, like it was the most obvious thing in the world. “So do you care to explain the details, or shall I ask the kid himself, and maybe those questions will be enough to push him over, hmm?” He posed the question for the seething teen to answer.

Fuck this. “Erwin. It's not my place to say anything, and trying to get Eren to tell you would be a huge mistake. Do yourself a favor and drop it.” His eyes said plainly what he thought: I will murder you if you try anything. I don't care if we're friends. I will end you.

Erwin simply raised his hands in defeat. “Alright, well... Armin will probably know everything about the kid after today. We should get going, it doesn’t look like he can walk straight yet.

Damn, he’s very observant to notice Eren’s unnatural gait. “If Eren decides to spill what happened, that’s up to him. And yeah, we don't want to be late for chemistry. Wasn't it supposed to be a lab day?” I have a feeling today is gonna fucking suck.

Erwin simply nodded before calling for Armin. The two teens approached and Eren had a bright smile on his face, as did Armin. They had hit it off pretty well, and really quickly, by the way that Eren was no longer afraid of Armin, allowing the blonde to pull him through the house by locked hands. Which was good; Eren had not the slightest clue where anything was in the house.

“...notes stockpiled from pretty much every class, and there’s a couple websites with good instructions on how to do stuff for math. Nothing too hard has really been taught yet, so you'll be fine.” Armin’s rant on getting Eren up to speed in class slowed, and the four of them stepped out the door to the front walk, Armin locking the door behind them. He should be fine with schoolwork, at least. He looks worn out, though... I guess that's what Levi’s for. He’s alright.

Levi went to walk besides Eren as they made their way to school, Armin and Erwin’s conversation ahead of them quiet to him; he wasn't paying attention. He studied Eren as Eren watched the animated way Armin spoke. ...Just say it in a way where you can still be cool and just get it over with. “Oi, Eren.” When his eyes met his own softer ones, he spoke quietly, one brow quirked up, smirking. “You know me calling you Brat isn't an insult, right?”

Eren looked at the other either confusion. “Eh?” The small sound of questioning left though beautiful pink lips.

Fuck. Now you need to explain more. Check for witnesses. Armin… is actually distracting Erwin beautifully. This could work. Be casual. He shrugged, an odd look in his eye. “I guess you could call it a nickname.” ...that didn't suck... I'll take it.

Eren at first didn’t say anything. He looked down at his feet as they continued walking. “...a nickname, you say?” his voice held close to no emotion, and he didn’t look at Levi as he spoke. He just looked at the ground they were walking on. He was trying to decided whether he was okay with having Brat be his nickname, at least it's a nickname and not an insult... That's a good thing... Right? Eren’s mind was swirling with various thoughts and it seemed to put him back into Lala land. He was confused on what to think, was it good? Or should he be angry with Levi?

“...Eren? You alright?” Fuck. He doesn't like it. But it's fitting! But if he doesn't like it I'm going to feel bad every time I say it. What the hell has gotten into you?! I don't know!

Eren took a few seconds to acknowledge the other before nodding. “Y-yeah, i'm fine…. I-I guess that it’s okay” he murmured and he continued to watch his feet. His awkward gait was becoming more pronounced as they walked further. His back was starting to really hurt him, but he made no sound or movement of complaint. It fucking hurts, the pills don’t fucking help.... God fucking dammit! I don’t think I can fucking make it, I have to slow down to keep from hurting my back and ripping my wounds open. Eren slowed down and began walking slower than he was for the past couple minutes, his gait became even more awkward and it seemed very uncomfortable.

Wait. He doesn't just have an odd way of walking. That'd be his equivalent of limping. That explains a lot. Levi slowed to match Eren’s pace. “You're practically limping, Eren. Are you going to be alright making our way to school?”

Eren froze for a split second. How the fuck can he tell? ...Well, I mean, it's pretty obvious. “Y-yeah, I-I’ll be a-a-alright.” he stuttered out. He tried not to meet Levi's eyes because he knew that the Raven would be able to see the pain in his teal eyes. I should be alright for now, but the hallways are gonna be torture. Fuck my sorry existence.

...the kid both looks and sounds like he’s going through hell. And I can't really do a damn thing. I don't think I have aspirin in my bag or anything... Oh who am I kidding? The kid needs morphine or something with all the shit he’s been through. Just, uh... Levi brought his hand up to rest on his shoulder, moving his thumb, trying to be reassuring, ...that's all you can really do.

Eren tensed up and stopped for a second before he realized that it was Levi’s large hand on his shoulder. He looked over and calmed down a bit.

Armin noticed the hush behind him, looking back to see Levi and Eren moving slower than them, the former trying to comfort the latter. He caught a glimpse of Eren’s eyes. Oh. He doesn't have odd footing; he’s in pain. Don’t I have something for that in my bag? He motioned for Erwin to fall back with him, speaking gently. “Hey Eren, you don’t look like you’re doing too well. Do you want some aspirin? I have plenty on me.” Just say yes, because we both know you need it.

Eren looked up to Armin, the pain evident in his eyes. “That would be great, Armin, thank you.” he murmured. He finally allowed for the three others to see his horrible limp. Why the fuck did I let them see it? It feels so much better to limp like this, actually fully limping, but it looks horrible. I hope Levi won’t hit me for it, I know my father fucking would. Eren limped to Armin to get the pills from his blonde savior.

Armin dug in his bag quickly to retrieve a small white bottle. Armin, two things. How did you not notice earlier, and thank god you carry this with you. Armin turned the bottle to read the back, muttering the text he skimmed over. “Okay, take two pills every six hours, six every twenty four… eh, fuck it.” He unscrewed the cap and took Eren’s hand carefully, shaking three pills into his palm. He returned to rifling through his bag after the cap was back on. “I may or may not have water in here, too… Aha!” He drew a mini water bottle from the depths of his bag, handing it as well to Eren. “There you go. You should feel better soon with that.”

Eren let out a beaming smile, and he didn’t hold back once it was out. He was very grateful for Armin’s bag of mystery which apparently held everything you could possibly need. He took the three pills and swallowed them down, and sipped at the water. “Thanks, Armin.” He must’ve been really relaxed to be able to not stutter around Armin. The blonde had gotten closer to Eren in fifteen minutes than Levi had gotten in more than four weeks.

...okay. I appreciate everything you’re doing for Eren. I really do. But if you could kindly step off just a bit because he’s mine that would be great. Levi let his arm drift over to drape completely over Eren’s shoulders, though he was still careful not to hurt him. Levi caught Armin’s eye. You’re perceptive. It’s been fifteen minutes and it’s painfully obvious he likes you, and that you can read people. So thanks, but remember… MINE.

Armin seemed to understand a lot more as soon as he saw Levi’s possessive gaze. He had so many things to blackmail both of them with to get his way. He smirked slightly then scampered off with Erwin ahead of them. He smirked devilishly once his face was away from them.

Eren seemed to have visibly relaxed once they made it to their chemistry class. They were in the lab today, so Eren sat next to Levi and Armin and Erwin sat across from them. My back still fucking hurts. Eren let out a strangled whimper when he sat down on the hard chair. He closed his eyes and gritted his teeth to try to prevent himself from crying out in pain as he sat down. He looked around the room as he got a bit more comfortable. Where the fuck is Hanji? Shouldn’t she be here by now? She’s never late on a lab day.
The classroom was filled with the chatter of all the other students. Hanji’s desk up front was empty, totally cleared of every note and paper that usually cluttered its surface, even her shining gold nameplate.

They had been sitting for not a minute before a man walked in as the bell rang, signalling the beginning of class. He strode to the front desk of the classroom, a black messenger bag with a star insignia slung over his shoulder and a black pen twirling expertly in hand. The conversations of the class died down as he entered, dumping his bag unceremoniously in front of the desk and turning to face the students, leaning back against the desk casually and looking over the class, legs crossed at the ankles in front of him. His eyes stumbled over to Armin and, pointing to him dramatically with his pen, spoke. "You. Person."

Armin quirked an eyebrow as he was addressed, a grin cracking across his face. We got literally the best kind of substitute teacher you could hope for. "Yeah?"

His dark blue eyes were creased only minutely at the corners. He didn't let his arm drop just yet from directing all attention to him. "What's your name?"

"Armin Arlert." This is gonna be good.

"Well, Armin, you look very smart." The noirette declared this to him with no hesitation. "So tell me..." His voice dropped to a very grave tone, and his eyes narrowed. The entire class was at silent attention, unsure of what to make of this man. You've got 'em. Go for it! "...what class is this?" He said it more like a statement than a question. The class didn't have enough time to process this question to laugh before Armin replied.

"Chemistry."

"Okay." He spoke quietly and returned to a casual stance, twirling the pen expertly in hand once again, over the knuckles and behind the thumb, moving too fast to be possible. His gaze danced over the back walls of the silent classroom, then to the pen in his hand as he stopped its motions. With a shrug, he tossed it high over his shoulder. “Eh, won't be needing this.” He ignored it as it clattered to the floor, stepping forward to address the stunned room with a mischievous grin breaking across his face.

“My name is Lathe Autonomous Quo, you can call me whatever the hell you want, and I am going to be your substitute chemistry teacher. If you need to leave for any reason whatsoever, be it you need to go to the bathroom or get water or anything really, you can just get up and leave. But I'll be very suspicious if you're gone for more than ten minutes. If you decide to have a conversation while I'm doing something or think that this class is a good time to flirt with each other, just don't be too loud about it, and we're cool. Now before we begin, you.” He pointed to Erwin. “Your name. What be it.”

“Erwin Smith.” Okay then, this is happening.

“And yours?” He pointed to Eren.
“E-Eren Yeager.” Oh my God.

“And you,” He bust his nose? Looks pretty fresh if he did. “Mr. Thug Life?” The class collectively tried to stifle laughter at that, and at Levi’s very confused expression.

“...What.” ...What.

“Unless you want me to call you Mr. Thug Life for the duration of your time here at this school because of a busted nose, you'll enlighten me as to your name.”

“...Levi Ackerman.” Is this guy for real?

“Cool. And you are?” Lathe continued around the room, pointing to students and studying their faces.

“Alright! That everyone?” The class murmured in assent. “Just so you know, I'm probably not going to remember any of that.” He dropped his hand to his side. “But I thought you'd appreciate the sentiment.” Jk, I'm going to know your names and faces for at least fifteen years. I'm going to see you four lanes over at a grocery store checkout with a new haircut in another state and start talking to you as if we're besties. Fear me.

Eren watched shocked as the teacher went through everyone, then blatantly told them it was all for nothing. This guy is fucking awesome! What are we doing for a lab though? Nothing is set up for a lab… Like at all!

“So, Armin. What exactly is, or was, supposed to happen today?”

“We were learning how to balance chemical equations, and today we were going to write out the equations for various chemical reactions, and test them to make the connection between what is produced and what we wrote.”

“So, boring stuff.”
“Well-”

“There’s writing involved. That constitutes as boring. What’s in that big cabinet?” Lathe didn't wait for an answer before walking to the back of the room and opening the cabinet. He pulled out a random small box and read the back, an ecstatic grin splitting his face. “... I know what we're doing today.” He turned sharply. “Where are the watch glasses?”

All the students pointed to the drawers to his left. He opened the bottom one, taking out a dozen of them and placing them on the countertop above the drawers. He snatched an empty tray from inside the cabinet, placing the watch glasses inside. He returned to perusing the labels on the trays inside. “I don't know where the matches or the tongs are. Ah!” Add two boxes of matches, some tongs, a glass stirring tool and a beaker, and a pair of safety goggles and of course, a Bunsen burner and plate holder. He then drifted back up to the chemicals and compounds.

“Let’s see… I want…” His fingers ghosted over the many boxes and jars. “Ooh, this.” He grabbed a box of magnesium strips and plopped it in the tray.

“This looks interesting. That one is fun! I've never heard of this compound… oh well, we’ll learn! And this,” He regarded it a certain approval and respect. “is going to make it interesting.” He walked back with his tray to the front of the room, setting up quickly and efficiently, lining up watch glasses and bottles and hooking the Bunsen burner up to the gas in no time. The plate holder was lowered over the burner and, humming an odd tune, he donned his safety glasses. He looked down as the small creak of plastic was heard, picking up the pen he discarded minutes before. He skimmed the room with his eyes, locking onto something behind… “Erwin.”

“Yes?” Oh no please do not make me a Guinea pig in this...

“You might want to duck.”

Erwin slumped low in his chair, the side of his head against the table as Lathe’s pen whizzed overhead and hit the light switch dead on, bathing the windowless room in darkness. Murmurs of concern and flickers of fear floated around the room for only a second before they heard the scrape of a match and the soft whoosh of a Bunsen burner igniting, the glowing orange flame their only light. Lathe planted both hands on the desk in front of him, looming over the flame.

“What is about to happen, is I am going to stand up here and burn stuff. You don't have to take notes, and you don't have to really try and memorize anything. All you need to know is that lots of things burn. And they burn differently. Like this piece of paper.” He withdrew from his left front pocket a thick, folded up piece of paper. “I am first going to burn this sheet, given to me with instructions on how to run this class. It says on here that you have homework. As of now, that’s a lie. I am burning this not only to remind you that paper burns with an orange flame, usually, but also because they won't stop giving me these and I don't know what to do with all of them. Rebellion is very okay. Down with the system!” And with that, the paper was on the netted metal plate, quickly being consumed by the flame. ...oh my god. Lathe started to chuckle, soon consumed by laughter, concerning the class that was beginning to think he was nuts.

He barely managed to speak through his laughing fit. “H-How h-have they not f-f-fired me yet?”

The class erupted into laughter. Eren watched in complete fear. This madman had access to fire. His eyes widened at the sight of the bright orange flames and he almost immediately started to panic. Those bright Orange flames were too close to his fear. His whole body started to shake in honest fear, he didn’t want it to happen again. Something’s gonna catch, we’re gonna get trapped, Mommy’s gonna die. Eren’s thoughts were leading him into a panicked state.

Armin and Levi noticed Eren shaking like a leaf at the same time. Levi glanced at Armin, who looked at him deliberately. Levi slowly reached over to Eren’s hands, tight in fists on his lap, and took hold of one, trying to calm him down. Don't worry Eren, I've got you. We’re all the way in the corner. Nothing’s going to happen.

Lathe, coming down from his laughing fit, looked over to their table, sensing... something. He saw a worried Armin and concerned Erwin, Eren about to panic, and Levi willing him to calm down. ...Huh. Maybe I do need to give the spiel. Okay, do it. Straightening himself, he announced to the class, “If it does please the court, may I state my qualifications for running this current freak show. Since entering the room I have noted all three fire extinguishers behind Eren, next to the entrance, and-” He reached down and heaved one onto the desk. “-the one underneath this desk. I know how to use them, and if it is acceptable to present company, I shall keep it in sight to my left.” He moved it to the end of the table, ready to use. “There is a medical kit next to the chemical storage over there, much more complete than the one behind me,” he pointed to the wall next to the board. “yet incomparable with the one that is my messenger bag in front of this desk. I know how to use that shock thingy in that metal box nailed to the wall by the door, and I know how to treat burns and provide emergency medical help of pretty much any kind that does not require lots of equipment. I know how to control the flames we produce here, and remember that as long as the source of the fire does not leave this table, because laws dictate practically everything in this room be fireproof, you're going to be fine. You're far away from anything going on. So.” He moved to take a watch glass, placing it three feet to his right and opening a bottle of clear liquid onto it. He reached for the matches, taking one and striking it. “I promise I'm not a pyromaniac.” He tossed it casually onto the disk, sending a burst of pink-tinted flame close to the ceiling. “I just like to burn stuff.”

Eren watched, his hand in Levi’s as Lathe continued to speak, and the man's words helped to significantly calm the starting spikes of Eren’s panic. The teen took a few deep breaths before he finally just held tight to Levi’s hand to keep him calm. He looked to see Armin very worried, Erwin concerned and Levi with an expression like he was trying to will something onto him. What the fuck is he trying to do? Does it hurt for me to hold his hand? Eren looked down at his hand clutching Levi’s. He again thanked himself for wearing his black hoodie, his wrists were still bleeding- not that Levi could tell from his angle and the dark room. He swallowed hard and tried to calm down, hoping that Levi wouldn’t notice and beat him for it. Why do I keep thinking Levi will act like my father does? Maybe because he put you in the hospital? Well, yeah... but he didn’t mean to do that, at least I don’t think he did.... And he was there... Yeah, he was there because he had nothing better to do, he got suspended because of you. Eren’s own mind was a place of torment. He tried not to focus on the bright flames in the front of the room and only focused on keeping his eyes closed, and gripping Levi’s hand to keep his sanity at least for a little longer.

Levi tried just to focus on keeping Eren calm, switching the hand he already had to his other, going to clasp the other. It’s fine. You look like you’re about to flip, and I understand that, but please know you’re going to be fine. We all are. Our teacher might be slightly insane, but he’s no idiot. I’ve got you. I’ve got you. Levi carefully rubbed the back of his hands with his thumb, the fire in front, now a lingering green, forgotten.

Eren managed not to freak out during the class as Lathe continued to make horrible fire-related puns and small flaming explosions.

“You know, there’s a rule against bringing firearms onto school grounds. But we all know I like to break rules, so...” with a flick of his wrist, the flame on the match in his hand swirled around his arms insanely fast, clear across the back of his shoulders and off the back of his hand, dissipating into nothing. He winked. “...just don't tell anyone.”

With that, Lathe reached over to turn off the gas, leaving the room in darkness. “This drawer has a pencil in it. That’ll work. Erwin, hit the deck!” With a lighter thunk, the lights were back on, the pencil responsible skittering off under a table. With an impossibly wide grin, Lathe removed his goggles, setting them down before speaking. “And that is class. I hope that everybody learned something. Even if you just learned that fire is pretty. Or, something else.” He glanced at Eren and Levi. ...I ship it. “Now, two things. One, someone throw me that pen I had earlier.” It came spinning straight at him, and he caught it with ease. “Grazie. Two. Yeager, stay back, I’ve gotta speak with you. And everybody, real talk, if you're ever going to do something,” he smirked, “do it for the memes. Class dismissed!” The loud ring of the bell sounded through the room and the halls, and the class picked up their bags to head out; there was no real packing to do. Lathe moved to retrieve his bag from in front of the desk, and to clear a space on the front desk, moving the equipment he used to the left half quickly. He placed his bag on the table, and looked up expectantly to Eren as the rest of class filed out.

Eren watched as everyone scurried out of the room to get to their next class. Armin promised to wait in the hall for him. He swallowed visibly as he nervously neared the crazed teacher in front of him. “Y-yes?” he stuttered and looked up to him with wide eyes. His bag was in his hand, not across his back, since he couldn’t hold it there even if he wanted to. He looked up to Lathe with his unique viridian eyes, one that were so full of emotion, and in this case, fear, pain, and anxiety clouded those beautiful orbs.
Weathered grey stone lined the night sky, reflecting the craters of the moon. Moonsong eyes, what Lathe himself called them. They could read Eren like an open book. His entire demeanor switched, features softening and voice lowering in genuine concern. Elbows on the table, his shoulders came up nearer his neck. “I understand you weren't exactly comfortable with what we were doing today.” It was no accusation. It was just a statement.

“A-ah….u-um…..” Eren tried to think of a quick excuse before he hung his head in shame a bit for being found out so quickly. “N-no, S-sir…. I-I w-wasn’t.” Eren stuttered all his words in defeat. He looked down at his shoes, hugging his arms to himself, hiding away his open wrists.

...Eren, a few things. Do you think, as a person who declared their entire name to class and said to refer to them as whatever you want, that I care about titles? Please, call me Lathe. It’s alright.” His tone was calming, compassionate. “And it’s no crime to worry when someone’s setting fires like mad in front of you. I get that. I do.” His eyebrows turned up at the middle, a sadness of a sort making it’s way into his expression. “But if there’s something I think you need to know, it’s that doing what you've done to yourself has never helped anyone.” He pointedly glanced down to his arms. “I know what it looks like, blood on black fabric. With my profession, I'm no stranger to it. And you can see it in the way you're moving your arms, just holding yourself. In both senses.” He pushed himself off the edge of the table, standing without leaning, and reached into his bag for two rolls of bandages. He held out his hand gingerly. “Will you let me?”

Eren took a few weary steps back from the man as soon as he started to move. He watched as he had reached into the bag and pulled out bandages. He looked down at his sweatshirt and nodded. “Y-yeah” he murmured before he glanced at the closed door, making sure no one was coming before rolling up the blood-stained sleeves. So many opened wounds all over Eren’s wrists and hands, and so many scars that marred his otherwise perfectly tanned skin. He swallowed when he saw that he was still bleeding, quite heavily at that, and a few droplets of blood had managed to sneak their way onto the countertop. He looked down at the blood with dull eyes. He had scratched them open again this morning, and he had made them even deeper without realizing it, and not even Levi had smelled the blood coming from his sweatshirt. But it sure as hell was apparent when he rolled back the sleeves. Eren looked at Lathe with worried eyes. “P-promise?” he stuttered and then cleared his throat to speak again. “P-promise… n-n-not to t-tell?” he asked quietly. He was so afraid of anyone knowing and beating him up about it. His eyes reflected the pain he had endured at previous schools because of his wounds, his bruises, and the scars. He didn’t want it to happen again, not here. Not when I’m just starting to make friends… His eyes gave a silent plea for the teacher to comply, and hopefully he would.

...How many does that make? I think I stopped counting at twenty. ... It’s not easy for all of you, I know that. But this is... Lathe nodded slowly. “Wouldn't dream of it, kid. I think I have a better wrap for this…” He dug in his bag for wraps with thumb loops, carefully starting with his right hand around the palm, winding down to halfway to his elbow. He’s so bony... These bandages are way too long for his arms. That's not good. He found the scissors in his bag and had snipped three feet off the end before Eren could blink, cutting another two inches off the waste and leaving both on the table, putting the end hook in place. He quickly used the extra length to clean the drips off the tabletop. You can clean that properly later. He found the wrap’s twin, doing the same for his left. But as he started on his palm, he spoke. “...though, I’d need you to do something for me. A favor, if you will.”

Eren gave Lathe a weary glance. “W-what?” He asked, his voice small and he seemed worried at Lathe would ask something ridiculous from him. His left hand was more scratched up on his fingers and the cut on his wrist deeper. An angry red voicing all the pain from those lanky fingers. He had watched the teacher wrap his arms with precision, and with practiced speed, bringing this wrap up between his fingers as well. There would be no worry of the bandages becoming loose at all. A majority of the bleeding had stopped on his right hand and he knew it was because of the wrap. He wondered what Lathe’s favor would be and waited in silence, anxious “...Perhaps two, even.” He slid the hooks in place to finish Eren’s left arm. “I want you to try and stop. And I don’t mean just this,” he held Eren’s arm in his hands, weighing it, “but this, too.” He turned it over to the top, tracing with a finger the fact that you could see every ridge of his joints, his bones, his tendons. “...And the most important thing you need to understand,” Lathe looked Eren straight in the eye. “...is that you have friends here, and they all wish the best for you. I can tell you don't believe it. I can tell with some of them you believe the opposite of it. But they do. You have people here to talk to and to support you. I hope you'll let me be one of them.” He grinned. “We're here for you, Eren.” He crossed his thumb over his heart. “Swear it.”

Eren didn’t know when he had started to cry. He just felt the hot tears escape from his eyes unwillingly. He looked confused as he felt them fall down his face, he sniffled and reached up to wipe his tears away. “I-I’m s-sorry, L-Lathe” Eren quietly apologized to the teacher for crying in front of him. No one has ever said anything like that to me before- no one, not even the teachers who knew I was getting beaten before, not even the teachers who knew I killed my mom…. No one. I want to spill everything to him, just because of those words, but I fucking can’t. All I am is a fucking coward who goes crying to everyone they feel safe around, but is too scared to explain why the tears started in the first place. Eren tried to hide his now blotchy face because he couldn’t control his tears any longer.

Lathe reached for his back pocket, pulling out a red kerchief and pressing it gently into Eren’s hand. He closed Eren’s fingers around it. “You don't have to talk if you don't want to. But just know that wanting to cry, wanting to talk doesn't mean you're weak. I can tell that’s what you think it means. But it’s alright. ...Do you want to tell me?”

Eren looked between the red kerchief and Lathe. He wiped away his tears, letting out a strangled gasp for air as he tried to calm himself down. He kept his face covered as he tried to speak a few words to the kind teacher in front of him. “I-I-I…. I miss her” Eren finally managed before he broke out into sobs. Yesterday had been the 8th anniversary of his mother’s death, and he had had a panic attack and relived the very day he sentenced his mother to death. “And I’m the reason she’s gone.” Eren started to break down completely in front of Lathe. He hadn’t even told Levi as to what was really the problem yesterday. Well now someone knows, and I can only hope Lathe won’t tell anyone. Eren’s stutter had disappeared for now, but his sobs were quickly wracking through his whole body, and it was almost starting to hurt to breathe in. His chest was starting to hurt again. But he couldn’t stop. It felt so good to finally cry and let everything out after so many years of keeping it inside himself.

Lathe was on the other side of the desk in a second, ushering Eren carefully over to one of the lab tables to sit down next to him, pulling his chair close and putting his arm around him, murmuring to him. He looked like his heart had snapped in half. ...To drag that kind of guilt along with you... “Eren… It’s alright. ...What happened?”

For some reason, Eren’s crying form had the balls to tell Lathe about what had happened that fateful day 8 years ago yesterday. He looked like a mess once he was done, and he was wincing every time he drew in a wheezed breath. He was trying to ignore the pain in his chest, but the pain was so clear in his eyes it was striking. His fear of fire, whether safe or not, was confirmed, and given a fair reason to fear it. The kid had such a rough life leading to this, moving from Germany after the incident, trying to learn English, trying to hide his accent for fear of bullying... Eren told him everything, which of course made him way late for his next class, which was PE, but he was in no condition to even think of participating at the moment. Eren just clung to Lathe’s shirt and sputtered out everything in between his painful breaths and his sobs. He tried to find as much comfort in Lathe as he could, but it wasn’t enough to get him to stop crying- no, the waterworks did not shut off at all during this whole time of telling Lathe all the things that had happened to him in the past 8 years. Eren even went as far as to mention what his father had done to him in retaliation, all of it: the rape, the stabbing, the whipping, the burning… everything. He couldn’t stop, it felt so good to finally get it off his chest.

Lathe held onto Eren through his entire story, trying to comfort him as best one could comfort someone pained from the guilt of their mother’s death, reinforced by years and years of abuse and emotional torture. ...there has to be something I can do to help this kid… I'll talk to Spades later. She’ll know what to do. But for now... Lathe just held onto Eren, letting him hold his shirt in a white-knuckled grip. He noticed the pain in his eyes- beyond the emotional, but in the tremors of his body, the desperate gasps for air. Painkillers and water. Bag. But you're holding Eren! Just for a second- he needs it. You're still going to be here. Go. “Eren, let me get you something to help your pain, okay? You're shaking so hard… and you need water, too, alright?” Lathe brought his hand to Eren’s, gently coaxing him to let go for just a moment. He slipped out of his chair and snatched a bottle of pills out of his bag and an unopened water bottle, away for less than ten seconds before he was back at Eren’s side, his shirt immediately reclaimed. He struggled to open the bottle with one hand, the other around Eren, succeeding and addressing Eren. “Hold out your hand, okay Eren?”

Eren did as he was told and he looked at Lathe with confused eyes as he sputtered to take in a shaky breath. His widened in fear as he started to cough, retracting his hand partway, his grip tightening on Lathe’s shirt even more. He tried to take in another strangled breath, but the coughing is what scared Eren the most, he couldn't get a breath in.
Remember. You need to stay calm for the both of you. “Eren, I know you're really scared, but you need to try and focus for me on getting these two little guys down the hatch.” He tipped the bottle onto the table, two small magenta pills clinking out. “All you need to do is get these two down, and have a sip of water, and you should feel worlds better. Just breathe, and focus. You’re alright.”

Eren tried breathing, and it didn't work out again. He reached for a pill and struggled to even swallow it, his chest hurt with the lack of air, and he knew he needed to down these before his breath ran out. I'm going to fucking pass out because of this. Eren was scared as he fumbled for the next pill and got it in his mouth, He struggled to swallow, a shaky hand reaching for the bottle and trying to latch on without much success before finally getting it and sipping at the cool liquid which helped the pills down. His grip was loosening from Lathe’s shirt, he was starting to lose his strength from the lack of oxygen. It took a few moments before Eren had relaxed enough to take in a deep ragged breath and he seemed to take a few, no matter how much it hurt, just to calm himself down, his grip tightening on Lathe’s shirt once again.

...I knew there was a reason Sue insisted I carry morphine on me. Thank god he can breathe again. “Good job, Eren, I'm so proud of you. You'll feel much better now, I promise.” He ran his thumb up and down his arm, drawing him close. “I've got you.”

Eren’s eyes dilated. His body was responding well to the morphine, and at this point it was the only thing that could help him get by with his extensive chest and back injuries. He took in a few more solid, deep breath before he calmed down completely. He curled into Lathe’s embrace and relaxed further. “Thank you, Lathe” he murmured. His stutter seemed to have hidden away, and a much more confident voice had appeared before the teacher, and it was filled with gratitude.

He’s responding well to the morphine. Good… Good. Lathe himself felt tension drain out of him, knowing Eren was okay for right now. “You sound much better. The medicine should help you through most of the day today. If ever you need more, talk to me, alright? I actually think I should write you a prescription for some, seeing as you need it… you know what I will. Here, let me up, alright? I'll just grab my whole bag and bring it over here.” He stood and grabbed his bag, sitting back down and plopping it on the table. Holding his pen with his right hand as he rummaged with his left, he withdrew a pad of paper, switching the pen to his left and quickly filling in the blank spaces, tearing the paper off the pad when he was done. And they thought I was ridiculous for practicing writing with both hands. Placing it on the table next to him, he rummaged for another notepad, pulling out the small stack of yellow and scratching out a pass. “This doesn't mean you have to leave, it just means I don't want your 2nd period teacher getting too mad at you. What class are you supposed to be in, anyway?”

Eren looked up to Lathe from where his gaze lay on his prescription Lathe had written for him. “I’m supposed to be in PE right now…. Mr. Siss will probably understand my tardiness, I mean I did just get out of the hospital two days ago” he murmured quietly and started to pull his stuff together to head off to the gym. “Also… um, what do I do if I can’t afford it? The prescription?” he asked quietly and looked to Lathe with innocent and curious eyes, not a hint of pain left in them anymore.
Lathe thought a moment, then picked up the prescription note again, making sure of an odd symbol he had already scratched into the corner, and put it back down again. “Just take this to the pharmacy on Trost St., two minutes from here, and hand it to the pharmacist with the purple-ish hair. No charge. And please, sit down for another minute, kid. As for PE, which you're not attending, haven't you been given a note by the hospital that says you can't perform physical activity of that kind for a while? Or do you need one of those, too?”

Eren sat back down, leaning again into Lathe. “No, I didn’t get one, they might have sent it to….” he paused for a brief second. Lathe already knew everything, why couldn’t he tell him his father’s name was Grisha? “They probably sent it to Grisha, but he hasn’t come back.” His words seemed a bit smaller at the mention of his own father’s name. Lathe should’ve been aware of the widely renowned doctor from Germany. Grisha Yeager was a big deal around here, and everyone seemed to be overlooking what he had done to his own child in a drunken rage.

...Grisha Yeager. Is the father. Of Eren Yeager. The one I have in my arms right now. ...What the fuck happened to ‘Do No Harm?’ Lathe was silent for a moment. I met him before, didn't I? I thought something was off about him… I never really did like the guy. I thought I was being paranoid. He carded his fingers through Eren’s hair, his left hand going to rummage for one last pad of paper. He sighed heavily as he scratched out one more note, excusing him from physical education classes for… Well, make it until further notice. I don't know truly how bad he is, how long he’ll need to heal. “...Alright. You're now free from gym. It’s a bit more than half an hour to your next class, you know. However you want to spend it is up to you.”

“Can I stay here?” Came Eren’s immediate reply. He didn’t want to let go, not yet. He couldn’t let go since he had found someone he could rely on. Someone he could trust, someone who could help him thoroughly. “Please…” Eren’s small voice sent out a thousand emotions. The boy was relieved, hurting, anxious, pleased, angry, content, and so many more emotions had flooded his brilliant viridian eyes. He looked better already, much better, without his eyes laced with the pain from his back, which was by no means properly wrapped anymore either. Should I ask him to wrap it? It hasn’t been wrapped in a long time, probably why it hurts so much. Eren was contemplating on asking for his back to be wrapped, but that would mean showing him everything, showing him, showing him the damage. It would no longer be words- Lathe would see everything if he did, all the cuts he had put on his sides himself, all the stab wounds from his father, the scars from surgery to repair his splintered ribs, everything. Even his back, which thankfully had healed over enough that his spine was no longer showing.

“...You've got a question to ask. I can see it. What's bugging you, kid?” Lathe just kept fiddling with Eren’s brunette hair, studying his expression.

Eren took in a deep breath to gather his courage and looked up to Lathe, his expression showed that he trusted Lathe, even after only meeting him a class period and a half ago. “Um… my back hasn’t been properly wrapped since I left the hospital… um, could you wrap it for me?” he asked quietly to the older man as he sat up a bit to judge Lathe’s reaction. He trusted the other not to freak out at the sight of his hip bones and ribs showing clearly if he removed the oversized hoodie.

Lathe let his hand slip from his hair. ...everything he just told you is about to be put into proper context. Brace for that. Moonsong eyes softly smiled at him, recognizing the trust and courage asking that took. “Of course. Here, stand up and let me see if I have enough.” He let Eren uncurl his fingers from his shirt, standing and rummaging for all the bandages he had. A thought crossed his mind, and he looked to the doors, noting they were closed before returning his attention to his bag, removing three rolls. “This should be enough, but there are more in the other kits in the room in case we need more. So, Eren.” He nodded a bit, speaking quietly. “The hoodie has to go.”

Eren swallowed quietly before he started to lift the hem of his sweatshirt. Already Lathe could tell by Eren’s tiny waist that the sweatshirt was easily 5-8 sizes too big for the boy’s frame. Eren removed it, and the thin horror that his arms were, were nothing compared to the sickly thin and malnourished silhouette Eren currently stood in front of Lathe as. His shirt, which was much smaller that his hoodie, still hung loosely around Eren’s small figure. He slowly removed it from his body and almost instantly the outline of his hip bones were visible, poking at the bandages, his waist so slim, Lathe could probably put his hands around Eren and have his fingers touch. Lathe reached for the hooks holding the old wrappings in place, using scissors to cut them in various places and help them fall to the floor. The boy’s chest looked like the site of a massacre, scars and red, irritated lines, still held together by stitches from his last surgery, lacing across the brunette’s tan skin. It looked so out of place to see so many silvery scars imperfecting that beautiful caramel skin, yet Lathe hadn’t even seen the horrifying sight of the boy’s back. His ribs were jutting out as well, each and every one (that was there) could be counted. There were a few that could not be salvaged and were missing altogether from when they were pulverized. The boy looked like he should be dead, five times over, yet here he was, standing in front of his substitute teacher who he trusted the most at the moment.

...when I was holding onto his arm, how did the bones not snap in my hand? ...when he moves, I wonder if he can hear every joint creaking, so close to his skin, so without anything to protect them as they spin and swivel. ...when his heart beats, I can see his pulse, moving in fast waves to his fingertips, and I wonder if he ever noticed the veins in his hand move with his blood if he stays very still, or if he never did. ...when he walks, I wonder if he can feel every crack and pebble and abnormality in the cement. ...when he looks in the mirror, I wonder how long he spends just standing there, looking at himself with eyes trained to see only the ugliness of himself, focusing on one bit of skin that hangs looser than normal, while he drains his flesh away by ‘forgetting’ to eat and living the life of a skeleton with only threads of life left dangling, tied to rattling bones. My god. Let me fix you.

Eren watched at Lathe took in his whole being. He looked down a bit, feeling a bit ashamed of the way his body was, it honestly wasn’t his fault, more so his father’s than anything. He slowly turned around and his back gave off all sorts of shades of reds, pinks, and whites. His skin had not grown back onto the flesh which was still trying to heal from the horrible burning it sustained, and even a bit of the burns lingered after weeks of healing. The 3rd degree burns though, which covered the dip of his back, would remain as an ugly reminder. They had not healed at all, not even a tad. They still looked fresh, like the pot had been dumped on him only seconds ago. Eren knew the healing skin was irritated and dried out, it was cracking and even a few places has started to bleed again, probably from trying to walk to school. He was limping so horribly this morning too. He needed more than just having his back wrapped, he needed to be cared for. It was obvious that Eren could not take care of himself through the pain he was experiencing, and it was obvious that his back would never heal if the skin continued to crack and bleed every day.

...Time. How much time do I have? Lathe looked to the clock on the wall. Twenty seven minutes. That'll do. “Eren. Give me one second.” Lathe snatched his pen, writing down another prescription for medicine as quickly as he could, scribbling that same symbol in the corner. He reached into his bag and pulled out another bottle, flicking open the cap and pouring two larger, chalky-looking pills into his hand, giving them to Eren with the water bottle. “Down the hatch. I'm kinda going into full-on doctor mode, so I'm sorry if I'm scaring you, but I have work to do. We need to patch you up.” He gave him a reassuring smile.

Eren simply nodded and followed Lathe’s instructions, downing the chalky pills in a moment. He then waited for more instructions from the man examining his back.

Vitamins. He's going to need plenty of those. Lathe studied the cracking, bleeding skin of his back. They're not too deep, but the skin is so dry ... I might as well just dump the bag on the desk. But he did not, opting instead to keep the mess contained and removing a jar of Vaseline, opening the jar and studying the contents. I wish I had something better to work with here… Placing the container down, he ran over to the sink and washed his hands quickly, drying them with paper towels and rushing back to Eren, picking up the container and carefully applying the petroleum jelly on the skin between the cuts. He grimaced as he heard Eren hiss from the pain, trying to keep his touches as light as possible.

If your skin could stretch just a little, you might not hurt as much when you move. He worked quickly, tracing between every line of his back. Thinkthinkthink what else. ... Alcohol swabs. Oh, that’s gonna hurt like a bitch. But at the same time, Lathe eyed the angry reds of some of the cuts. ...infection is not an option. Lathe closed the cap, running back to grab the paper towels and bring them up, wiping the gel off his hands. He grabbed one more morphine pill, handing it to Eren. “You’re gonna need this. It’ll all be over soon, though.” His thumb crossed his heart. “Swear it.”

Eren eyed the pill before he again took it and got it to go down with a sip of water. He reached over to his bag, grabbing a towel he would use to silence himself when he was cutting at school. If this is gonna fucking hurt as much as he says it will I'm gonna need this. Eren put the rag in his mouth and looked to Lathe when he was ready, gagged to prevent him from making too much of a racket.

...that’s horrible that he has that. Lathe shook his head to clear it. JOB. DO IT. Lathe opened a plastic container filled with alcohol wipes. He picked one up, unfolding it and holding it so that it covered his fingers, he looked to Eren, who nodded. He pressed the wipe to the first of many red cuts, turning it and turning it to cleaner sides of the wipe. He made it to the end of the first cut when he simply dropped it on the floor and picked up another one, just keeping going as quickly as Eren would’ve screamed in pain if it weren’t for the rag muffling his pained cries. The pill took a bit to kick in and once it did Lathe was almost done with his entire back. Eren remained limp, bent over the chair as Lathe worked on his back. He had tears in his eyes, but they were subsiding. He would be okay, this was for the best.

It was killing Lathe to hear Eren in so much pain, but he knew it was a necessary evil. He could keep him from getting worse. He was especially careful to avoid the small of his back. ...that is what we’re really worrying about here. He dropped another alcohol wipe, closing the box and reaching for a small silver-coloured tube in the depths of the messenger bag, reading the label to make sure it was the right thing. “Eren, this is going to be the hardest part. I have burn cream with me. I’m going to use it. The morphine’s kicked in a bit more by now, I think, but it’s going to be the worst. You can do it, though. I know you can. It’s all easier after this, okay?”

Eren could only nod at Lathe’s words. He trusted the man to help, which was exactly what he was doing. He gripped the chair below him and gritted his teeth against the towel in his mouth, ready for the pain he would feel.

The cap snapped open, white cream pouring onto Lathe’s fingertips. With a deep breath, he reached out and smeared the cream over the small of his back, over every millimetre of skinless flesh. He cringed at Eren’s lurch, his sounds of extreme distress.

Eren’s whole body shook from the pain he felt as Lathe continued on his back, it was like he was touching his eyes with alcohol wipes, except like he had pulled the eyes out of the socket and filled the sockets with alcohol before putting his eyes back in. It burned, almost as bad as getting the burn to begin with. Eren’s eyes dilated further at the memory he had been trying to avoid, and Eren’s body began to shake for a new reason, his memories of the horrible incident and he was starting to cry and try to back away from the touch… From his father’s touch. Lathe could probably already tell that Eren had ventured off into his panicking stages. It was early; his panic could be stopped, but if not soon, it would result in a massive attack, that would probably lead him to lose his trust in Lathe.

...that’s it. That’s the whole thing. Lathe dropped the silver tube uncaring as he brought himself directly next to Eren, pulling him into his chest and running his hand not covered in medicine through his hair. “Hey hey hey, Eren, you did it- that’s over. It’s all so much easier from here. You’re very brave for letting me do all this. I really am so proud of you.” He rested his chin on top of his head, willing him to calm down.

Eren’s eyes flashed a feral look in them for a second before he realized it was Lathe who was touching him, and that he was safe. He calmed down after a few moments and leaned into Lathe’s touches, happy the morphine was working in full swing. He couldn’t feel anything but a dull ache now.

Lathe allowed himself a breather. He looked to the clock. Seventeen minutes. Okay. This works. He felt tension drain out of his shoulders, the worst over with. “Eren, I just want to make sure I have enough time. I need to do your front. Your back already looks much better.” And it did- the cuts had stopped bleeding, the skin slowly learning to stretch. Lathe untangled himself from Eren and reclaimed the alcohol wipes. “Alright, this shouldn't take as long as your back. Sit on the table so I can see better, okay?”

Eren nodded and tried to get up onto the table twice, and failed both times. He looked for help from Lathe. He couldn’t lift his own body weight with his arms anymore. He looked a bit defeated at the thought. How was he carrying a backpack then? It probably weight more than him…just how did he manage?

...how do you manage? Lathe reached down to hold him up by his feet, Eren guiding himself onto the table with his arms. He opened the container and took out one more of many. “Remember, this is the easy part. These aren't as bad as the ones on your back. You'll be fine.” Lathe set to cleaning his entire front and his sides, swiping over every cut, every scar, and every mark he saw, open or not. He studied the stitches he was given. Why didn't they stitch the rest of the cut while they were at it… Wouldn't have hurt… And my god, your ribs … you're missing so many of them… We need to get some food in you. I'm talkin’ to the lunch ladies later. And what was that drug called… He reached for the bandages when he finished, unrolling the first and fastening it over one shoulder and under his arm. He slowly spiralled downward, adding in hooks where he needed one bandage to connect to the next. ...Maybe I should just talk to that Ackerman kid. Have him check and make sure he’s eating. But there are plenty of antidepressants that can also help with weight gain and appetite too, god knows he’d need it... He left some extra space at the belly- not only for him to have room to breathe, but to move and eat as well. He finished at Eren’s waist with one roll of bandages only half-used, snipping off the extra and hooking it in place. “There we go. Done, with nine minutes to spare. How are you feeling?”

Eren let out a sigh of relief at he didn't know he'd been holding in. He slumped down in the chair a bit. He felt so much better now that his wounds and scratches had been cleaned and wrapped.
“Thank you, it feels much better” he said and he smiled softly, his bright teeth shining at Lathe.
Eren straightened himself and moved to put his shirt and hoodie on, covering himself to make it look like he was actually filled out and not a living skeleton.

Lathe smiled softly. We're getting somewhere. “Now Eren, I just have a couple of questions for you. Don't panic, some are yes or no questions, and some aren't, but they'll help me help you.
Alright? There's just a few of them.” Lathe moved to pick up the bandages scattered over the floor and table, the drying wipes, and the discarded medicine. He placed all except the latter into a paper bag, folding it closed and shoving it to the bottom of the trash. He turned his attention back to Eren.
Eren watched as the man cleaned up the mess they had created in only about twenty minutes. What questions is he going to ask? He said yes or no answers, but… What kind of questions? Do I have to answer them? …Well, probably. Eren swallowed hard before he nodded at Lathe, signalling he was ready for the questions.

Lathe looked thoughtful for a moment. “…Do you have nightmares occurring about once a week or more?”

Eren nodded. “Yeah, I didn’t have one last night, while I was with Levi.” he murmured quietly, feeling like he could trust Lathe with his sexuality as well. I hope he won’t tell anyone about this-if the school finds out I’m gay for Levi Ackerman, everything is gonna go to shit.

Lathe saw his insecurity, and chuckled. “Don’t worry yourself. I never really cared about that sort of thing. It’s cute, honestly.” He smirked. “But they’re pretty common, then? Every night, really?” His tone switched to something more serious.

Eren nodded. “Yeah, every night, I sometimes… No. I can only ever sleep from 11-3 then I’ll be up the rest is the night.” Eren said and he looked up to Lathe again. If Lathe looked closely he would be able to see the large bags underneath each of his eyes. It wasn’t because of how thin he was, but the fact he could only sleep four hours every night then function the next day on only those four hours. It was close to insomnia levels. “Sometimes I can’t sleep more than an hour before I’m woken up by the nightmares” he murmured. He looked down at his wrapped hands, wanting to scratch at his wrists in a nervous tick, but he knew he couldn’t, not with them properly wrapped.

Lathe wandered over to the table again, picking up the pad of stationery and scribbling notes on it. I can’t remember the name of the drug perfect for this sort of thing… eh, as long as Casper gets these notes he’ll be fine. Insomnia and nightmares. “Are the nightmares recurring? Is it the same thing happening every time?”

Eren looked to Lathe and shook his head. “Sometimes it’s Grisha raping me, sometimes it’s him beating me, sometimes it’s the fire-and I’m the one who trapped, alone…. Sometimes it’s my father forcing me to drink whole bottles of alcohol… They’re not real nightmares, not a figment of my imagination, they’re just memories which I would rather forget.” He explained to Lathe with his head down.

Recurring nightmares regarding abuse and pain, mainly involving Grisha. Some sleeping medicines make sleep relatively dreamless, but we need to stop the dreams altogether. If anything, this kid has PTSD. Lathe scribbled something under the title of ‘Sleep’ before looking up to meet Eren’s eyes. “You shouldn’t feel ashamed, Eren. Really. You’re going to be alright now.” Thinking for a moment, he spoke. “...Approximately how long has it been since you had three meals in one day?”

Eren seemed to laugh a little. “Three?” He asked quietly. “At least seven years.” he told the other and looked down. “An honest meal... the last one, I would say two.” he said honestly and looked down at his hands again.

Lathe stared at the floor over his pad of paper. *Prazosin for PTSD... Morphine for the pain... I need him to get the best vitamins we have around here because he’s not eating- or probably can’t eat... Yeah, I can’t do this alone. Lathe made a mental note to talk to Levi later. I’m gonna need to enlist a bunch of people for this. They won’t really know what’s up, though. I’m not cruel. I swore on it. He looked at Eren, continuing. “Is it that you can’t eat, or that you refuse to?” Please say can’t I can fix can’t

“I can’t.” he told the other honestly. “Levi tried to get me to eat yesterday, and I could barely finish a fourth of a Caesar salad. I can’t eat sweet things anymore either.” he told the other quietly, remembering Levi’s rant about waffles this morning.

...Casper’s smart. He’ll know what to do. Lathe scratched down ‘Best-working medicine you have to increase appetite or at least stimulate weight gain. Both would be wonderful.’ He made sure to add that same insignia to the corner. His eyes wandered over the floor. “Let me think... just on a general note, I’d start carrying water around with you. And you’re going to be taking a lot of pills for a while. I think that’s all I can write for you now, but it wouldn’t hurt-” he tore the sheet off the pad and handed it to Eren. “-to try some optimism. Hand everything I gave you to Casper at the pharmacy. He’s the purple-haired guy I mentioned. He should have it all on hand. I’ll call and make sure next time I have a few minutes. If he doesn’t-” He smiled brightly at Eren, stars whizzing about in his eyes. “-I'll track down what you need myself.”

Eren smiled. It was a genuine smile as well, one he hadn’t really showed in a long time. His teeth were perfect, surprisingly, especially with all the abuse he had gone through. He took the prescriptions and made a mental note to ask Armin to go with him. He thanked Lathe again and let him ruffle his hair before the next bell rang through the halls, and Eren got up to go to his next class.

“Have a good day, Eren!” Lathe called from his desk. He reached into his pocket, pulling out an old phone, and dialing a number without even looking at the keypad, holding it to his ear. It answered in two rings. “Hey, Casper! I need a favor from you...”
Eren made his way out of the room and into the filling hallway. He got shoved a bit by some of the jocks, though he tried to ignore them, since he wasn’t in pain anymore. Morphine is fucking MAGIC! He continued his way towards the music department. His class was with Mr. Dieter; He was a pretty laid-back kind of guy, as long as you did as he asked. Eren had only personally been in his class once, and it seemed like a pretty good atmosphere. He walked along, getting closer to the door before he turned his head, hearing a familiar voice call for him. He turned around and saw Armin waving at him, presumably coming from PE, since he wasn’t by the Chem lab door when Eren had left. Eren smiled softly upon seeing a familiar face, raising his arm to return the wave. He remembered that Armin had mentioned being in all his classes. A flash of scarlet caught his eye, and he looked at it in disbelief. ..I just stole Lathe’s kerchief. How did I not fucking notice I still had it? More importantly, how am I going to get this back to him? He doesn’t have set classes. He’d just be wandering around, fuck knows if I’ll even see him again today! But this is Lathe we’re talking about… He shouldn’t be mad. I’ll keep it on me, return it when I see him next. He folded the silk square neatly, tucking it safely into his pocket, waiting for Armin to catch up. “Hey Armin,” he greeted the shorter blonde once he had caught up with him. His voice sounded so pain free it was a complete flip from this morning.

“Hey Eren! You look and sound so much better than this morning. But how dare you leave me out in the hall for so long! I was almost late for PE! I hope your conversation with Lathe was reeeeeeally important.” Armin grinned, mock hurt dripping from his words. Lathe, you are a godsend.

Eren looked down a bit. “Yeah, it was important, sorry for making you late.” Eren apologized, and it seemed odd that he no longer had a stutter, and his voice sounded like it was from the heavens itself.

...Did his voice actually change at some point or is it just the stutter being gone? “Hey, it's cool. I wasn’t late, so no harm, right? At least we're on time for Dieter’s class.”

Eren nodded and he followed the short blonde in. He was surprised to see that people actually noticed him come in and sit down beside Armin. Eren looked up as a large binder was put in front of him already filled with sheets of paper.

“Welcome back, Eren,” Dieter’s voice was soft and kind. He was holding out everything they had gone over in the past 8 weeks without Eren around. “You think you can pick something out?” He asked him.

Eren looked a little shocked to see the teacher handing him the sheet music to over twenty songs. He stared at the index on the front page… “Um, pick… for the piano?” He asked; The first day he “No, anything you feel comfortable with singing, I would prefer any from the top five.” Dieter said and waited for a response from Eren before he started class.

Eren took in a deep breath, feeling no pain whatsoever. That’s good- maybe I’ll actually be able to sing, then. Eren looked over the five options, only finding one to be at least in his range. Yes, I know what my fucking range is, but does it have to be Halo? God!! WHY!?!?! It’s gonna make everyone think I’m a girl! Goddammit! “I can do Halo, Mr. Dieter.” Eren replied after looking over all the songs.

“So, are you ready?”

“Yes, I’m ready.”

“Great, thanks Eren, you can go warm up in the sound booth over there,” pointing to said sound booth, “ I’ll come get you when we need you.”

Eren smiled softly and then got up to go and warm his voice up quickly. He spent a good few minutes in the booth, letting his voice out. He swallowed hard as there was a knock at the door. Dieter was there to get him out and bring him out to the large music room. He looked at all the other students at various instruments. He nodded to Mr. Dieter signaling he was ready, then everyone else did as well.

The sound started off soft in the beginning before a few more instruments joined the Grand Piano which some tall blonde was playing. Eren swallowed down the last bit of his remaining fear as he opened his mouth, letting his glorious voice let out the first couple lines.

“Remember those walls I built
Well Baby they’re tumbling down
And they didn’t even put up a fight
They didn’t even make a sound”

Dieter wasn’t the only one shocked by Eren’s obvious display of talent, in fact a few students had stopped their instruments altogether to hear this kid sing. He was like an angel, the way his voice drifted throughout the room. Eren opened his eyes again when he realized that no one had continued playing and all eyes were on him. He blushed immensely, not liking the burning sensation that the eyes caused him. He looked at the sheet… Did I do something wrong? Did I start on the wrong note? It’s been a few months since I’ve seen sheet music. SHIT! What did I do? I don’t want them to stare-

“Eren, where did you learn to sing? That was amazing!” Dieter’s happy voice sounded in the silence. A few other students voice their approvals as well.
“We didn’t know you could sing Eren!”

“Eren do it again!”

“Eren you are one lucky son of a bitch!”

That voice I know… that one is one of the… jocks. Eren turned around to see it belonged to the tall blonde situated at the grand piano.

“Thomas! Language!” Dieter’s tone had turned strict and unforgiving. “Sorry, Dieter!” Came a hasty reply before Dieter turned back to the rest of the class. “Alright from the top! You know he can sing now so let’s get this show on the road shall we?” He asked. The students gave a collective nod before they started it up again.

“I found a way to let you in
But I never really had a doubt
Standing in the light of your halo
I've got my angel now”

Someone screwed up and skipped over an entire line of music, so the second attempt was stopped in an instant by Dieter. “Come on! Work with me here! You guys can do it! Let’s go!” His encouraging words helped to raise all the students’ spirits. Third time's a charm . They got through the whole song without a hitch.

“It's like I've been awakened
Every rule I had you breaking
It's the risk that I'm taking
I ain't never gonna shut you out”

“Everywhere I'm looking now
I'm surrounded by your embrace
Baby I can see your halo
You know you're my saving grace”

“You're everything I need and more
It's written all over your face
Baby I can feel your halo
Pray it won't fade away”

“I can feel your halo halo halo
I can see your halo halo halo
I can feel your halo halo halo
I can see your halo halo halo”

“Hit me like a ray of sun
Burning through my darkest night
You're the only one that I want
'Think I'm addicted to your light”

“I swore I'd never fall again
But this don't even feel like falling Gravity can't begin
To pull me back to the ground again”

“It's like I've been awakened
Every rule I had you breaking
The risk that I'm taking I'm never gonna shut you out”

“Everywhere I'm looking now
I'm surrounded by your embrace
Baby I can see your halo
You know you're my saving grace”

“You're everything I need and more
It's written all over your face
Baby I can feel your halo
Pray it won't fade away”

“I can feel your halo halo halo
I can see your halo halo halo
I can feel your halo halo halo
I can see your halo halo halo”

“Everywhere I'm looking now
I'm surrounded by your embrace
Baby I can see your halo
You know you're my saving grace”

“You're everything I need and more
It's written all over your face
Baby I can feel your halo
Pray it won't fade away”

“I can feel your halo halo halo
I can see your halo halo halo
I can feel your halo halo halo
I can see your halo halo halo”

“I can feel your halo halo halo
I can see your halo halo halo
I can feel your halo halo halo
I can see your halo halo halo”

...Could there be more perfect blackmail material? His voice is flawless! Armin stopped recording and clapped and cheered with the rest of the class, watched Eren fidget at the loud applause, his face red and hung in embarrassment. ...he doesn't think he deserves it, does he?

Eren looked around the room with wide eyes. They were applauding for…. For me? No one’s ever done that before.. then again, I’ve never sung in front of people before.

Eren stiffened when Dieter came up to him and smiled. “Eren that was amazing! Where did you learn how to sing?” Dieter asked with bright eyes. Eren didn’t know how to respond to the man’s overly happy demeanor. He blushed out of embarrassment, and it went all the way up to his ears. Fact- He looked really cute when his blush covered his whole face. Eren instantly covered his heating face. OMFG!!! I am blushing! What the hell do I do!? “I haven’t learned from anyone…” he murmured and felt a pang of guilt strike his chest. He had to lie, they couldn’t be asking about his mother, no not like this. He didn’t want to think about it. “I didn’t learn from anyone, Dieter.” He said a little more firmly.

Dieter only nodded. “Well you have an amazing voice, even without training. You can read the sheet music pretty well too if I’m not mistaken?” He asked.

Eren remained quiet and nodded, he wearily stepped back a bit, not liking all the questions, but he hid his discomfort on his face pretty well.

...You’re so lying.

“And how long have you known how to play music/sing for?” he asked and sat down in a swivel chair… which appeared out of nothing but air. When the fuck did he get that chair? Am i fucking blind? How the fuck did I not see that? I want one of those spinny thingies! Eren looked around and soon located another chair and sat himself down, as did the rest of the class, interested to learn about the kid fresh out of the hospital.

“I’ve been able to play for years… Honestly I don’t know how long anymore.” He lied, no one but Armin knowing that he did. I know exactly how long... I started learning on my 5th birthday, and my mother taught me for the next 3 years…. only 3 and I’ve remembered every memory of it… Shit, I gotta stop thinking about it, I’m gonna start crying in class, and they’ll know something was up.

...that hit a nerve. Dieter, change of subject would be appreciated...

Dieter nodded taking it in. “So you signed up for piano too, can you play for us?” He asked quietly, he was hoping to see just how far this kid’s talent went.

Eren nodded and made his way to the grand piano, slowly to collect his thoughts and calm himself to brace for the rush of memories sitting in that damned stool would bring him. He sat down on the stiff black stool, looking at the magnificent ivory and ebony keys in front of him. He lifted a shaky hand to test out a few cords before he skimmed through a few pieces of sheet music. After a couple moments, Eren found a rather intricate piece of music. He took in a few deep breaths and then his shaky hands stilled. They flew over the keys with precision and fluidity. Eren didn’t skip a beat, not even when he had to turn the pages for the remainder of the song. He did the whole thing perfectly, without a single flaw. He knew he had let a tear fall as soon as he finished. It was mom’s favorite song, I know that by heart…. Eren quickly wiped his tear away before anyone could notice and was once again greeted by loud applause. Huh? Again? I’m not that good... Eren’s classmates didn’t seem to think that.

“That was amazing, Eren!” …you know it like the back of your hand. That was wonderful!

“How did you learn to sight-read that well?”

“That was absolutely beautiful! You play so well!”

Eren only shook his head. “No, no, no need for the applause, I’m really just a beginner.” he pleaded. He raised his arms in mock defense. “I’m really just a beginner at piano…” He trailed off and looked down. “I really don’t need the applause.” Eren was starting to show how uncomfortable he was with all the attention. Though of course, Dieter didn’t seem to notice.
“Nonsense Eren! You should be in the advanced classes! For either! Or private lessons! You could be going somewhere with that voice of yours.” Dieter said honestly.

Distress detected. Deflect. Armin kept his tone light. “Mr. Dieter, he just got back to school, don’t stress him out about taking fancy new classes already.”

Eren sent a look of thanks over to Armin when the blonde interrupted Dieter’s tangent. Armin, you are a fucking life saver! Thank the fucking Lord you consider me worthy of your friendship! Eren silently gave Armin a thousand thanks as the subject was lifted off of him and onto Dieter again. Soon enough the whole class was chattering about gossip around the school. Eren gravitated towards Armin to actually thank him for the distraction.

“Before you say anything,” Armin raised his hands in mock surrender, a victorious grin on his face. “... Know that I recorded your entire performance of Halo and that if you don't sit with me at lunch Levi gets to see the entire. Fudging. Thing.” We already know I've won. Just go with it.

Eren seemed to pale as soon as the words left Armin’s mouth. “You wouldn’t…..” Eren just trailed off knowing that Armin would gain nothing if he showed Levi the video. It would only be him at a loss… so he would fucking do it.... “Am I currently being blackmailed to have my presence known at your lunch table?” He asked quizzically and carefully, trying to read the situation at hand. I do NOT want Levi to know that I can sing... nope, just another thing that he’d insult me with, that I sound like a girl when I sing.... Fuck it, I’ll sit with Armin at lunch, I guess... and that means I’ll have to eat, which means I’ll be throwing it all up again 7th period. Joy. Eren tried to not look disheartened but he couldn’t get the picture out of his mind. He swallowed thickly. “I guess it’s okay” he muttered quietly.

...Normally, when people talk or think about food, they don’t get that morose. Armin quirked an eyebrow. “You alright, Eren? You look as if the thought of food disgusts you.”

Eren looked down at his hands. He shook his head. “It’s fine, I’m not going to be able to eat a whole lot though.” He told the other quietly. Do not fucking ask another question Armin, I swear to god if I need to open myself up to another person besides Lathe today, I’m going to fucking lose it!

Touchy subject… Okay. I'll file that one for later. “That's cool. My friends won't mind.”

Eren’s eyes widened a bit more. “Friends? Um... Who are these people?” He asked quietly, he was obviously nervous about being around other people.
“Connie Springer, Sasha Blouse, and Marco Bott. You'll meet Connie next period in German class. They're all really nice, don't worry.” Armin gave him a reassuring smile. We're all friendly people. Don't stress about it.

Eren nodded and looked at the clock. The bell rung almost instantly, making Eren jump a little in his seat. He got up along with Armin and followed the short blonde to their next class, where he would meet someone new.

Armin walked a bit faster than normal, throwing a glance over his shoulder to make sure he didn't lose Eren. “I just want us to get there a minute early so I can properly introduce you to Connie.” He's gonna like you, I can tell already.

Eren nodded and followed after quietly. He stood a few inches taller than Armin, mostly because he wasn’t slouched over… or limping because of his back pain. He headed inside the classroom with Armin as various people piled in. His eyes soon landed on the guy they were heading towards, a teen shorter than Armin. Or maybe they’re the same height? I can’t tell from here. Eren watched as Armin went up to the smaller, Yeah, at least an inch, man. He silently watched their exchange of a few words before Armin pointed him out to this ‘Connie’.

“Connie, this is Eren. Eren, this Connie. Connie’s on the football team, so he knows Levi.” Now do the thing where you become friends.

Eren watched Connie stretch out a hand towards him. He took it in his own larger, tanned hand. After that though, the teacher, Mr. Schultz, came in and greeted everyone. What should I do, they’re speaking my mother language…. What the fuck am I supposed to say that won’t tip it off? SHIT. Eren tried to stay quiet and let everyone else talk around the room. He didn’t know what to do so he just watched. This was basics to him, something easy, but he didn’t want anyone to really know he wasn’t from America, from a different country. Nope, they don’t need to know I’m different. I don’t need everyone to turn on me. <“Why does this have to be so hard?”> Eren muttered under his breath. He didn’t even realize he had let his fluent tongue get the better of him and speak in class. The teacher was on him in seconds.

<“Eren Yeager, you already know German?”>

That sentence alone had caused Eren to freeze up and swallow hard. How do I respond to that? I don’t want them to know… No, only Lathe knows… that’s too many people already. Eren opened his mouth to speak after a few moments. <“Yes, I know how to speak fluently.”> Maybe I can get by with just that?
<“That’s good to hear- a student who I can talk to in class, wonderful! I expect good grades from you, young man.”>

Did I just sign a contract to keep Mr. Schultz entertained during class?? Fuck me, that’s three fuck ups today and it’s only 4th period! Eren seemed to relax a bit though, no one really bothered with any prying questions. They understood that he was a fluent speaker, while the other students were learning basics. Mr. Schultz didn’t really bother him that much either, so Eren found the class relaxing for the most part. It went by pretty quickly, which led to the two of them saying their goodbyes to Connie and heading off to English.

“Hey Armin… What are we doing in English? I know we read Julius Caesar, but what are we actually doing besides reading?” He asked Armin quietly. English had never been one of Eren’s strong suits.

...um. “Eren, we finished Julius Caesar. We're doing theme discussion spanning pretty much the whole thing at this point.” He was quiet for a moment, before asking in a deadpan voice. “You didn't read it, did you.” It was more of a statement than a question.

“Wait, what?” Eren asked in complete confusion. I don’t even understand what happened! First there was a lion in the street... and they didn’t kill it! Next there were some crazy dreams from a wise old man apparently.... Then I think a guy refused a crown.... But I think he wants it at the same time? And he had this party-guy who was by his side the whole time.... Didn’t like 100 different important people stab this wannabe guy? Then his party guy friend rants about it to the crowds... When the crowds gathered I have no fucking idea, they just kinda appeared. Then the city goes into chaos mode as party-guy summons up wannabe’s nephew to fight one of the hotshot stabbers. Yeah then people are like “On my honour...” and end up with a bunch of swords in their own guts.... Then I guess we parade them through the streets in some type of funeral thingy?? What the fuck was the point of this damn book again? Anyways... Short, abridged version... now Armin, I hope I understand enough to get through class. Which of course, he did infact know enough to at least understand some aspects of the class, though as the class continued he found himself more confused. Too many fucking names that sound too fucking similar! Eren let out a gasp in relief when they were let out of this confusing class.

“You looked like your brain was about to implode five minutes in. You doing alright?” Armin grinned at Eren’s very confused expression. That's what you get for not really reading the play. Or for not bothering with shmoop. ...Both.

Eren shook his head. “No, I read the book like three times, and I still don’t understand what the point is... I don’t understand the way it’s written either, it’s too confusing for me.” He said honestly to the other. They walked to the bustling cafeteria, Eren looking for the bald head which would indicate that Connie was sitting somewhere.
Armin pointed across the sea of students, waving. “He’s already got us a table. We sit kinda far away from the bigger tables. I don't see Sasha or Marco yet… scratch that, Sasha’s coming. Let’s get to our seats first before we try to say hi, alright? I'm going to head to the lunch line. Did you bring one, or are you coming with me?” Lunch is going to be... interesting, to say the least.

Eren nodded and followed Armin through the crowded section of the cafeteria. They passed Levi and Erwin’s table, thankfully not grabbing a lot of people’s attention. Eren sat down with his small container of salad. He was very quiet as he watched the other occupants with wide eyes, slightly fearful of the new people he was going to meet. Not fearful of them… No, fearful. I’m gonna fuck up again and everyone is gonna laugh and point fingers… Then I won’t be able to sit with Armin at lunch again.

“Hey, Connie! Eren’s gonna chill with us today, cool?” Armin smiled. This should all go rather well.

Connie nodded, grinning. “Of course! Go ahead Eren, sit wherever you like.” He motioned to the empty table.

Eren quietly nodded and he sat down two chairs from the left of Connie. He hoped that no one would sit next to him and that they would sit next to Connie. He put his small container of caesar salad down onto the table in front of them and he opened it carefully. Wait. I need a fork. Where's the table with all that sort of stuff? Eren looked around for what would be any semblance to a utensil station of sorts.

Connie noticed Eren looking all over the place. “What are you looking for?” He asked and wondered what he could be needing after Armin left. Though soon noticed, He doesn’t have a fork. “Forks and all the other things you’ll need are over there” Connie said pointing towards the end of the lunch line. He was waiting for Armin and Sasha to get back so Eren wouldn’t sit alone, so that he could go get his mountain of food.

I don’t want to leave this table until Armin comes back, but it would seem really weird if I don’t get up now to get a fork to eat….. Dammit. Eren nodded and thanked him quietly, going off to find the table, locating it where Connie said, at the end of the lunch line. He tried to make himself seem as invisible as possible, weaving through people carefully and quietly. He finally reached the small table and grabbed a plastic fork, turning to look for Connie’s table again. Shit… where is it? I don’t see Connie anymore. Fuck, where is it? My bag’s over there… FUCK, where is it? I knew I shouldn’t have left until Armin came back! FUCK IT!

He doesn’t remember where the table is, does he? Armin held tight to the tray in his right hand, patting Eren's elbow with his left to get his attention. “Eren, I've got my food. We can get back to the table. Connie got up, but we're over to the left, kinda near the back. I'll lead.” Armin led the Eren watched Armin move and he followed after as close as he could. He fell behind a bit when they went through the crowd around Levi’s table. He stole a quick glance around, noticing that Levi was sitting beside Erwin chatting with him. Eren watched them for a few seconds before looking for Armin, soon finding the blonde and following after. He didn’t want to make too many people look at him. Just follow Armin. Just follow Armin. Eren followed the blonde and made it to the table a little bit after him. He sat down in front of his food, which happened to be next to Armin.

Connie left to go get his food since Eren was no longer alone at the table. “I’ll be back with food and Sasha.” he said robustly before he left to go to the lunch line.

Eren only watched before starting to pick at his already small salad.

“... that’s it? That’s a really small salad. If you're still hungry I have some extra fruit if you’d want it.” Armin gestured with his fork to Eren’s salad. How are you not starving like the rest of the school population?

Eren shook his head. “No, it’s really no big deal.” He tried to eat more than half of his salad, though soon found it close to impossible. “Thank you for the offer, but I’ll pass.” He tried to seem as calm as possible but he was panicking on the inside. Shit, he fucking noticed.

You're panicking. Huh. Armin nudged his elbow. “You look like you've just been caught committing a crime. It’s fine.” ...still, though. I don't know what to make of this... Armin spotted Marco from across the room, his light grey button-up as pristine as ever. Armin pointed him out to Eren. “That’s Marco in the grey shirt. He’s really nice. Quiet, though. You'll get along fine.” Armin tried to reassure Eren. I have a feeling this’ll be alright.

Eren only nodded and closed up his container and set it aside for now, he wouldn't be able to eat anything else, and he knew that. He watched as Marco came up to the table with his lunch in hand.

Marco slid into the seat across from Eren. “Hi, you must be Eren. It's a pleasure to meet you. I’m Marco. Marco Bott.” He smiled brightly at the both of them.

Eren smiled back, though it was a shy smile. “It’s nice to meet you too.” Eren said before he watched Connie and a girl return. They have so much food, they each have three trays of food...
How do they eat all of that? Eren stared at the two of them with wide eyes. Connie sat down next to Marco, in his original seat, and Sasha sat beside him on the other side. Eren watched with wide eyes as they started to dig into the huge amount of food they had.

“So, are you guys going to the football game this Friday?” Connie finally broke the silence at the table before shoving more food into his mouth. Sasha only nodded, but that was to be expected since the two of the eaters were a thing. But Eren didn’t know that. “There’s a pep rally after school in the gym before the game, if you can’t stay for the game.” Connie spoke after his mouth he was clear of food and he seemed insistent on Armin and Eren coming to either occasion.

Eren looked to Armin with wide eyes. The new people were a bit much to deal with, and very insistent… very insistent is an understatement, it’s like he’s pressuring us to go. Armin, help please! Eren silently begged to be helped out in a situation he had no idea what to do in.

Eren’s about to dissolve into panic if he doesn’t have an excuse. …Wait. That’s an excuse! “Hey Connie, Eren’s just getting back into the swing of things. I wouldn’t push it too much. He’d come if he wanted to and were up to it.” Armin tried to placate Connie. He can be overwhelming...

Connie nodded. “Alright, not this time, but we’ll drag him along sometime soon… Oh, I know! We can bring him next week to have him watch us kick some Sina ass!” Connie said excitedly.

Eren just watched as Connie and Sasha bickered about how their own team had in fact not beaten Sina’s football team in a number of matches against them. So Eren just remained quiet and watched. The two of them went back and forth for a long time. Sometimes Marco spoke up and brought a good point to the argument, and the two started off their bickering all over again. Eren didn’t really pay them much mind until Sasha looked over to his salad container. “Hey, Eren… Are you gonna eat that?” She asked and looked to his unfinished salad.

“Sasha! He’s new to the table! Don’t ask for his food yet!” Connie tried to reprimand his girlfriend. “Sorry, Eren, we were both cursed with bottomless pits as stomachs-” Connie stopped his sheepish rant when he saw Eren push his salad container towards Sasha.

“Ah! Thank you Eren! You’re awesome!” She said loudly, like there was no way to turn her volume down. She squeaked in joy as she got to eat the rest of Eren’s salad.

Eren took the contained back once it was empty and he didn’t speak again for the rest of the lunch period, which was pretty much done by that point. The bell to signal the next hour was coming sounded only a few minutes after that.
Armin stood, lifting his tray with one hand and bag with the other, pushing the chair back under the table with his foot. “To history! Mr. Hannes is teaching us about China. We're at the Han Dynasty. You should be fine.” Dumping his trash into a garbage can and leaving the tray, he led the way to class.

Eren nodded and stayed completely silent during class. Mr. Hannes didn’t even really notice the new addition to the class, he just started teaching once everyone was in a seat. He wrote notes on a whiteboard and answered questions, as hands were raised. Class was pretty quiet, and people took diligent notes, as expected from the honors class. Eren blended right in. He was silent, and he liked that he wasn’t noticed.

Before Armin knew it, the bell had rung, and they were already in math class. Geometry. Too many boring shapes. I know how to do proofs, it’s not that hard. He still took notes, though his mind wandered. Eren really shut himself out of lunch today, I think… how does one ask about something like that? ...Dunno. Right now, more shapes. Joy. The time passed too slowly for Armin’s liking. Eren’s not even trying to raise his hand. But he finishes each question really quickly… Armin practically sighed in relief when the bell rang. I’m so done with this class.

World religions and philosophy wasn’t exactly entertaining either, though Armin realized halfway through class that Eren had barely moved or done more than blink. What is up with him? He’s miles away, that’s for sure. But why? He was fine until lunch. Armin blinked. Lunch. ...I’m not letting this go. We need to talk after class or something. He’s totally drawn into himself, and we’re not having that.

The bell sounded, and everyone stood up to leave, ready to go home. Armin stood and picked up his bag, but Eren spoke before he could.

“Armin, could you come with me to the pharmacy on Trost? I don’t exactly know where it is.” His voice was as calm as ever. Please say yes, I don’t want to go alone... Please say yes.

Armin’s eyes widened a bit in surprise. “Of course. It's not that far from here. Let’s go.” This is now happening. Armin led him to a street to their left as they walked out the front door, walking down a street lined with small stores. Just ask. Couldn’t hurt much. “Eren, have you been doing okay? You seemed to clam up after lunch; You barely talked.”

Eren shook his head. “I’m not good with meeting new people... like, at all. I'm sorry if I worried you.” He hoped Armin would come into the pharmacy with him. They had gotten there pretty quickly. He looked at the door, swallowing hard, looking at the slips of paper in his hand. There seems to be a lot of them... Fuck it, I can’t do this, I’m sorry Lathe. Eren took a step back, like he was ready to turn around and bolt back home.
...That's a lot of paper. He needs that much stuff? Armin watched as Eren seemed ready to bail. Oh no no no no no, not happening. Armin gently put his hand on Eren’s shoulder, pushing open the door with the other and ushering Eren inside. “Well come on, we're not just standing outside and getting cold.” He made sure Eren got over the threshold, and crossed it himself, hearing the small chime of a bell over his head.

A man with short curly hair manned the counter, a coffee mug in one hand, typing on an ancient keyboard with another. He looked up as they entered, smiling brightly. “Hello! How can I help you?”

Armin brought Eren across the small store, pushing him in front of him. Do what you dragged me here for!

Eren tried to speak, find something to say. What do I tell him? Eren couldn’t think of anything to say, so instead opted for putting his stack of prescriptions on the counter for the man to see. He didn’t really know what to do or where to find the purple-haired male that Lathe had mentioned earlier in the day.

The blonde just stared at the small pile of papers. Isn't that handwriting… He noted the insignia in the corner. After a moment of silence, “Casper?” he called over his shoulder, past rows of boxes and jars.

A box hit the floor, followed by the man in question leaning out from behind one of the tall shelves. “Yeah?” He peered with dark eyes to the pile of papers on the counter, a light of recognition flitting past in them. “Right! One sec!” He quickly disappeared, soon bringing a brown bag with some things already in it to the counter, picking up the papers and shuffling through them. “I've got that, and that, that one’s on a shelf out front, I'll grab that in a second… oh, he mentioned one on the phone! I need that one too…” He turned on his heel to the shelf just behind him, skimming over the boxes and snatching one halfway down. Dropping it in the bag, the phone rang. The blonde picked up right away.

“Trost pharmaceuticals, how may I help you?” He listened for a moment. “He’s busy right now, helping someone with a pretty tall order.” The voice on the other end got a bit louder. “Okay, I'll get it then.” Another pause. “I won't let him, don't worry. I'll do it right now. Anything else while you think of it?” One more moment. “…that’s a very good idea, actually. Should I mark those as well? …Alright. Got it. And yes, we have the file, it’s open right in front of me. We did the math, adjusted the dosages, it’s all fine. Do you still need to talk to Casper, though?”

“Who needs to talk to me?” Casper took the phone out of his hand, holding it to his ear and ignoring the following protests. The blonde soon just gave up, and went to the back shelves. “Hello? Oh hi! Yeah, I'm doing the thing.” He held the phone against his shoulder, flipping through the note papers. “Pretty sure I got everything you wrote down, and James is getting whatever you told him to get. It’s all marked, don't worry.” A pause. “Yes, in both cases. Yes, it’s big letters… I was about to give him the spiel.” He grinned. “It’s all taken care of.” He watched as James dropped two more things into the bag. “…good call, by the way. Is the date on that?” He inquired to James, who nodded. “Good. Now, is that everything you could possibly think of?” A second of silence. “Cool. I'll do the thing. …Uh, yeah, there is.” He eyed Armin. “…Uh.” He pulled the receiver from his mouth, addressing Armin. “What’s your name?”

Who’s he talking to? “Uh… Armin.”

“Armin.” He went right back to the person on the line, typing quickly in the computer. Lines of text filled the screen. “…yeah, he is. …You want me to do what now?” His eyebrows disappeared under his hair, and he looked at Armin. “…Alright.” He slowly took the phone, handing it to Armin over the counter. “…it’s for you.”

…who calls a pharmacy to try and talk to me. That’s not a thing… Armin took the phone, eyeing it with suspicion. He held it to his ear. “…Hello?”

“Hey Armin! It’s Lathe. I was your substitute teacher in chem this morning.”

…Why are you calling me. “…O-kay. What do you need?” This is already the weirdest phone call I’ve ever received.

“I know you're probably standing there next to Eren staring at a bag filled with all sorts of medicines and pills and stuff, pretty concerned. I’d just like you to know, now that you're in on this, that it’s all for his own good. Try not to bug him too much about it, alright?”

“Alright. I won't.” Much. “Anything else?”

“Yeah. Lemme talk to Eren.”

O-Kay. This is happening. Armin handed the phone to Eren, looking rather confused and amused. “It’s apparently for you.” Casper snickered behind the counter.
Eren took the phone from Armin, giving him another glance to try and decipher who the hell was on the other end. He swallowed hard. “H-Hello?” He asked quietly and his voice seemed timid thanks to the stutter reappearing.

“Hey kid! I’m glad I caught you! You doin’ okay? I know there’s a lot of stuff on the counter for you but don’t freak out, it’s really not that bad. Just make sure to listen to Casper and everything he tells you, alright?”

“A-alright… I can do that.” Eren’s voice seemed to have calmed down a bit already, with just a few words from Lathe. He swallowed hard. “D-do I need to take all of them, Lathe?” He asked quietly, like a child who didn’t want to take his medications because they tasted bad. There’s so many, I’m going to forget to take them… Or I’m going to overdose… shit, well an OD wouldn’t be that bad I guess…. I mean, it’s just me now….. Dad wouldn’t care at all….. Eren’s thoughts started to go more towards a suicidal way out of things before Lathe’s voice snapped him out.

“…Don't think like that, Eren. It's daunting, I know, but you have people who care about you and want you to get better. Most them you have to take daily, yes, but the nausea one’s for whenever you may need it and the burn cream’s for every other day. It is a lot. But we want you to get better.”

“B-but Lathe….” Eren trailed off knowing that Lathe was right and he couldn’t really argue against it. If Lathe was attempting to heal him, he would let the young man try and fix his broken and battered body… It’s the mental part that can’t be fixed…. But no one knows that. Eren just let out a small sigh and nodded, even though Lathe couldn’t see it. “Alright.” Eren mumbled the last word into the receiver.

“Good! I’m still going to need to check on you in the morning and make sure the medications don't conflict with each other, but because I never really know what I'm doing until I get to the school… yeah, I’ll just have to find your house and check on you before you leave for school. I’ll probably be knocking on your door at eight. Besides, you stole my kerchief. That’s a good enough reason as any to hunt you down.” His voice was filled with mischief. If we're going to start you on this path to getting better, we're going to do it right. “That a plan?”

Eren took a moment to take in Lathe’s words. “Yeah, that sounds good then…” Eren trailed off and looked to Armin and Casper. He hoped neither of them could hear their conversation. It would be so fucking embarrassing.

“Alright! I'll see you then. Now hand me back to Casper, please.”
“Okay.” Eren moved the phone from his ear and held it out to Casper before going to stand closer to Armin. New people…. I don’t like them yet….

“Now what? You’re so high-maintenance.” Casper joked. He listened, laughing. “That works. Alright. I’ll talk to you soon. Bye.” He put the phone back on the hook, addressing Eren and Armin. “One sec.” He walked through a door to his left onto the floor of the store, grabbing a jar of vitamins, some extra wraps and hooks, and a pill container with the different days of the week stamped onto their seven caps. He went back behind the counter, placing it on the counter below, where the two couldn’t see them. Taking a sharpie, he scribbled some numbers on the bottom of the bottle. “Alright. I have a speech to give. Eren, pay attention. This is important.”

“I hope you know what this is.” He held up the long plastic pill container, grinning as he nodded. “There are a lot of pills in this bag, so it’s easiest to use it and refill it at the beginning of the week. The only pill you will not put in here, and instead carry with you,” He held up one of the larger containers. “…are these, for nausea, to be taken whenever needed. Other than that, it’s pretty simple. One of each, including the vitamins, every day in the morning when you wake up, with a glass of water, or as much as you can manage. These,” He lifted a bottle with a magenta label. “…are morphine tablets. You can take a second one at lunch time if you feel you need it, so I’d have these on you as well. And these,” The second-largest bottle of the group was lifted, a sky-blue label on the front. “Will also help with your nightmares. Take one a half hour before you go to bed. This cream in the silver tube is for any burns, and you really only need to apply it every other day or so, when you change your wrappings. There’s stuff in here too for dry skin, and for cleaning cuts...And don’t worry about memorizing all this- the bottles have big labels with exactly what to do on them, and there’s a sheet in here with everything I just told you.

Well, now Armin knows I’m in a lot of pain, I've got burns on my body, I have nightmares, and that I need nausea pills to eat... well, hopefully he won’t go around and tell everyone at school. When he doesn’t, I will be his best friend for longer than life.

...That’s a lot. That’s how bad it is? My god… Armin just brought his hand up to rest of Eren’s shoulder, seeing his distress. You can trust me to know this. I’m not going to go telling anyone all that.

Casper quietly finished packing the bottles and things back up, folding the top over twice and stapling it shut. He slid it over to Eren, smiling softly. “Here you go, Eren. You’ll be alright.” There was a reassuring light in his eye. Latre’s watching out for you. There’s no way you won’t be alright.

Eren nodded his thanks to Casper. He took the large bag of pills and he looked over to Armin. “Ready to go home?” He asked quietly to the other. He was really quiet, and he seemed to be a little on edge as they stayed there longer.
“Yeah, of course. Let’s go. Thanks Casper, James!” Armin waved goodbye to the two of them, thankful for their friendliness.

The two of them walked home in silence, Armin deciding to follow Eren all the way home and walk the extra two miles to make sure that Eren did in fact make it inside his house. Eren put his bookbag near his desk, pulling out the little homework he had. He finished it rather quickly before going to sort out his pills.
Chapter Twelve: Introduction Arc Part 3: To Enlist an Army

Chapter Summary

This chapter got screwed up when recovered... sorry guys

Lathe was a real songbird.

Whistling a sweet old tune, he walked across the parking lot to the field, his visibly metal-toed boots clicking quietly on the asphalt. His bag, put back in order after this morning's ordeal, bounced lightly against his hip, his left arm holding the strap at the front end. He watched the few remaining leaves on the trees sway in the wind, many more fallen leaves haphazardly flying with the wind across the lot, swirling around him before dancing off elsewhere. One hand came up to tug at his collar.

I'm going to need to bring my scarf soon- especially with it getting windy.

He ran his fingers through his hair, looking more unruly than usual with the wind. He soon returned to skimming the faraway faces of the football players, just starting to pack up.

It isn't going to be easy to tell the kid... but I need to. He deserves to know what's wrong, and how we're aiming to fix all of it.

He thought of his conversation with Casper, and with Armin.

That's one person enlisted for the cause, and technically Armin's in on it now, since he was there for the whole speech, so I'm going to be optimistic and make it two. Well, counting me, technically three. The lunch ladies would then make eight, and Levi...

Lathe found his face in the group.

...will hopefully make nine.

Lathe ceased his whistling on a low note, getting close enough to be noticed as heading for the group, and not for a car. Lathe stepped onto the field, studying the group as some of the jocks glanced up, watching him approach.
I don't want to attract too much attention. Play it cool, and don't be suspicious. Out of character equals suspicious.

Lathe grinned cheekily as he got close, noting some of the players finished with packing lingering, unsure if he needed them.

"At ease. I'm just here for Ackerman."

Levi looked up at his name, surprise scripted in his eyes.

Why me?

He zipped his bag, his eyes soon filled with worry.

...is it Eren? He was kept after class, so...

Levi hoisted his bag over his shoulder, trying to remain calm.

It's probably nothing.

"Yes, Mr. Quo?"

"It's Lathe. I'm not big on titles."

Does

everyone

think I say 'call me whatever the hell you want' for funsies?

"...Lathe. What do you need me for?"

Is it Eren please don't be Eren
"Come on, let's walk. Do you have a ride to catch?" Lathe ushered Levi onward, walking off the field and apart from the others, letting his thumbs catch in his pockets, still holding onto the front strap of his bag.

"...No, I don't. I normally just walk back to my apartment from here. It's two minutes away." Oh no.

"Alright. My bike's parked up here, we'll just wander over." Here goes nothing. "Levi, this is regarding Eren. Don't panic please, he's alright." He smiled reassuringly at him. "I know you two are involved, so I thought you had a right to know why I kept him after class and what I know from a medical standpoint."

...Involved? But, we're not... or are we? Levi stuttered, looking for the right words. "I don't really think you could say we're... involved, I mean... It's not like I'm his..." Levi gulped nervously. "...I'm not his... his boyfriend or anything..." ...why am I telling you this?

...this whole thing is too cute."Levi, even if you're not official, I saw you holding hands with him under the table for practically the entirety of class."

Levi could feel himself start to blush, on the defensive. "He was going to have a panic attack!"

"And I am sorry about that. I didn't know he had a thing about fire. But even so," Lathe watched Levi's eyes. "I know you spent at least last night at his house." Lathe grinned as Levi flushed scarlet. Gotta ch.

Levi hid his burning face in his hands, muffling his voice. Noooooooo... This is not okay... no one should've known about that. "...How do you..."

Lathe chuckled. "Levi, it's alright. It's cute, honestly. But that's besides the point. The point being," His tone softened. "Eren means a lot to you. And you mean a lot to him." Lathe took a deep breath. "Which is why I need your help."

...what."What do you mean?" Levi brought his hands away from his face, looking at Lathe with worry. What happened...

Lathe sounded very serious. "I kept Eren after class because I could tell he was in distress... and I could tell at least his arms weren't exactly doing very well." He studied Levi's blank face, returning his gaze to the ground. "He ended up staying for the entirety of second period in the classroom for an impromptu medical evaluation. And the short of it is, he needs help. A lot of it. Not only do you deserve to know about it, but I hope you'll help wage the war for Eren's well being."

The thing with a lot of teenagers these days is that they can be much more mature than they let on, so please, do me a favor and be one of them.

They stopped in front of a gleaming red Harley, classic and eye-catching. But Levi was too worried to appreciate the bike. "...What exactly is wrong?"

Lathe took off his messenger bag, placing it on the seat of the bike next to a black helmet, and turned back to him, leaning carefully on it. "A lot, and it won't do any good to dance around it all, so brace yourself. Eren has PTSD, is severely malnourished and an insomniac, mostly due to recurring nightmares as a result of said PTSD, which your presence last night staved off. He has depression, and countless physical injuries, which his depression... adds to." He looked at Levi's broken expression, knowing he understood. "I know he has some sort of knife in his backpack— one thing you should do is get rid of it. Or them. Any." Lathe shivered at the thought of Eren gagged. "But more importantly, he's going to be on a cocktail of drugs for a bit. Check and make sure he's taking them as he should, okay? The instructions should be rather clear on the bottles, and the pharmacist should have given him the spiel by now, but just make sure for me that they're not empty way before or after the date on the bottom of the bottles. Just shake them a bit and make sure something's left when you're around. And most importantly, food. He needs to start building up to eating three meals a day again. I don't care if it's breakfast time and he can't stomach more than one lettuce leaf. Make him eat the damn lettuce leaf. We need to train his body to recognize normal eating times again. Armin's kinda-sorta in on all this— well, all I really know that he knows is that Eren needs a lot of medications. He went with him to the pharmacy to get everything. I wouldn't worry about him spilling any of it. And the lunch ladies know to offer him light stuff, encourage him to eat something whenever he goes through the line. I'm going to be around for anything he needs— really. Anything. I just hope that everything works out. But you really do mean a lot to him, and he's being really hard on himself about all of this. Help him keep his head up. Can you do that?" Lathe ended his speech with a hopeful look.

...That is so much... Levi was silent for a moment, eyes skimming the ground, taking this all in. ...He needs to get better: “...Of course I can. I can do that.” He looked up from his shoes, looking Lathe in the eyes. If Eren trusted you enough and told you enough to determine all that, then I trust you.

Lathe gave him a toothy grin, relieved. This'll work. “Glad to hear that, Levi. And just in case, let me put my number in your phone. If something were to happen, I'm on call 24/7.”

That's a good idea. Levi reached into his pocket, pulling out his phone. Pressing a few buttons, he handed it to Lathe.

Lathe began tapping away. Okay, phone number... I'll just leave my name as Lathe in his contacts, it'll make things less confusing for times of emergency, God forbid there ever really is one... and... sent! Now I have his number in my phone. Handing the phone back to Levi, he smirked. “If it’s something dire, call me. If I hear it ringing, I'll drop everything and find you two. Text first for smaller stuff, alright? I'll let you go; You probably have homework to do.” He winked. “Good luck with the bf, by the way.” He snickered as Levi blushed again, turning to latch his bag in place near the rear wheel. He grabbed the helmet off the seat. “I dunno when I'll see you around again, because I never know where I'm going to be until I walk in. If you see me, make sure to say hi, cool?” He swung his leg over the bike, rifling in his pocket for the keys.
Levi took a step back, only now actually registering the fact his teacher rode a Harley. “S-sure, Lathe.” He gave him room to start the bike, getting one last smirk before the black helmet hid Lathe’s face, the kickstand going up. He waved as the bike moved from it’s space near the field, out toward the back exit. That. Is a kickass bike. His head still spinning with everything dumped on him, he headed to his apartment to ditch his stuff. To visit Eren or not to visit Eren…

That is the question.

Eren was quiet… Actually the whole house was quiet. He swallowed looking down at the mess of pills on his barren kitchen table. He had lined everything up, taking out his nausea pills separately. He put them aside, clear of the container he was filling up. Eren also separated his sleeping pills from everything as well. Don’t want to take those in the morning. He took the container and opened all the flaps for the container and started filling them with vitamins. He sighed once he was done, he looked at the morphine bottle. He slowly opened it. I could end it here, surely these are strong enough to kill me, I probably wouldn’t even need to take the whole bottle. I could do it… No one would care… Armin could show Levi the video, Levi could go back to hanging around with the popular crowd and get a new Chemistry partner. He really wanted that, I bet he would be happy that he wouldn’t need to bother with me. I’m being selfish in wanting him to stay with me. Eren watched with solemn eyes, all the brightness from before, leaving them. They were now a dull shade of teal. He watched as the pills rolled out of the bottle, he had way more than seven in his hand… He was filling it. Morphine’s magic… It’ll make me disappear… Eren’s shaky hand lifted the obscene amount of pills towards his mouth, only it never made it. He opened his closed eyes and looked up to see cold silver eyes staring down at him.

Fuck when did Levi get in here? Eren’s ears were ringing as he moved to snatch his hand from Levi’s grasp, effectively dumping the large amount of pills all over the clean floor. He looked down watching them. Shit, why is he so quiet? Why’s Levi not saying anything? Why is he here? Why did he have to stop me? Why? Eren swallowed thickly and got off the chair to start picking them up.

Now wait just a goddamned second. Levi stepped around the table and caught Eren in his arms before he could do anything more than stand up. He just pulled him into his chest, one arm around his waist, the other coming up to tangle in his hair, bowing his head and resting his forehead on Eren’s shoulder. I need you to listen to me first. “Eren.” His voice was very quiet. “... please.” It was all he could think of to say, but there was so much force behind it. Eren heard the force behind Levi’s words. “Levi, let me go” he said calmly. He was struggling weakly to get out of Levi’s grasp. “Levi, let go!” He struggled weakly. Levi was holding onto him tightly, and it made him feel cramped in a small space. His eyes had become fearful all over again. He knew Levi knew that he was trying to kill himself with the pills now. “Levi… Let… Go” his voice cracked, he had started crying, he didn’t want Levi to be here. How did he get in?

...I don't want to let go of you... I can’t... I just walked in on you... trying to... Levi softly ran his fingers through Eren’s hair. He... if I hadn't taken that key, he... Levi let out a shaky breath, loosening his grip in the slightest, but not letting him go. “Eren, I...” His voice broke, and he willed himself not to break down. No. You can't fall apart now. Stay with me here, Levi. He's okay now, you got here in time. For now, he's fine.

Eren started to shake in his arms. “Let go, let go” he begged and struggled more. He moved a little too much and he felt the skin on his back tear in a new spot. He let out a shrill cry of pain and almost immediately slumped down in Levi’s arms. He started crying profusely; It hurt so much more with the pills starting to wear out. He could feel the blood starting to soak into his bandages. He cried out in more pain, finally becoming completely still in Levi’s arms. He was crying heavily, it hurt more without the morphine because he could now feel every single crack in his back, not just the new one.

Shit. Levi moved to catch Eren’s limp form, trying to pick him up and avoid his back at the same time. The couch. I need to set him on the couch. Levi tried to move Eren to the living room, giving up on trying to half-drag him after a moment and finally just picking him up bridal-style. That’s gotta hurt, but I need to get you somewhere better than a kitchen floor. Levi saw Eren’s tears, wishing he had a free hand to wipe them away from his face. He made large strides to the couch, setting him down very carefully, moving the few pillows there so he could get Eren to lay down on his front. *Now what now what now what uh... didn't Lathe say earlier he had pain meds? Levi picked his way back to the table, avoiding stepping on pills and seeing the sheet on the table. He skimmed it quickly. Morphine in the magenta bottle... wait. He looked at the floor. That’s what those are. He quickly read what was next to it. Take as needed... so, one? Maybe? Better too little than too much; He can always have another. He snatched one from the floor, dusting it off and and moving to find a glass in the cupboards, filling the first one he saw with water. He moved back to Eren’s side again. “Eren, you need to take this. It'll help.” He held out the small magenta pill. Please, just this.

Eren held out a shaky hand and he took the magenta pill. He took it, and drank some water with it to help it go down. He was crying harder as he moved, and the smell of blood started to surface in the room. He was still crying out in pain every time he moved.

This is a lot worse than I think it is, isn't it. I need to know how bad it is. Levi ghosted one hand near the hem of Eren’s sweatshirt, asking. “Eren, I need to see how bad it is. We need you out of this sweatshirt, okay?” Remain calm. You need to be calm for the both of you right now.

Eren could only nod. He knew that it would be really painful to have it removed, but he knew he had been bleeding through his bandages and in one of the worse spots it was bleeding through his shirt, soaking it thoroughly.
Okay. You can do this. You can do this. Levi started by pulling his sleeves straight, making sure the hooks in his arm wraps wouldn't catch. He started from his waist and shifted it slowly upward and over his head, pulling the bunches smooth every few inches. It was slow going, and Levi could see the few flecks of blood on the pads of his fingers before he was hit with the smell. Levi swallowed hard. Oh my god. Levi finished getting the dark fabric over Eren’s head, barely able to see the dark outlines of large blood spots all over his black shirt. There’s so much blood and the pain meds haven’t kicked in yet and I don’t know if Eren can keep moving to get rid of his shirt and…

Lathe. Call Lathe. You have his number. He’s know what to do. He has to know.

Levi hurriedly reached for his phone, fumbling with it before finding his contact and pressing the call button. He held it to his ear, silently panicking. It picked up in one ring.

“I'm coming, kid. Sit tight.”

The call ended at that. Levi just looked at his phone, looked to Eren, looked back to his phone.

Fuck, did he just call Lathe? No, he’s gonna be pissed at me… He’s gonna yell, he’s gonna hit me. Eren was starting to freak out for another reason. He didn’t want to have Lathe beat him… No, he can’t… he can’t come…. No please anything but that. “Please.” Eren begged Levi. “Don’t let him in…” He begged, reaching out for the other teen, but he cried out in more pain. One of the outlines got even bigger on the back of his shirt. He cried out; It was a gut-wrenching noise, one that made you want to stop whatever you were doing and help the poor kid. Eren was crying profusely, the wound on his back was much larger than any of them, stretching from one shoulder all the way down his back to the third degree burns and opening them up as well. The tears kept falling, and the pain pills weren’t kicking in yet.

Levi turned his head towards the front of the house, hearing the roar of a motorcycle engine get closer and closer. It stopped abruptly in front of the house, hearing footsteps run to the front door, Lathe punching it with the side of his fist once, hard, before opening it and scanning the front rooms.

He saw the magenta dots scattered all over the floor of the kitchen, the cold of the inside, the darkness that seemed to loom over him, and the barrenness of the house. He heard shifting to his left, and swung the door shut behind him without looking back to it, bag in hand and rushing to Eren’s side in an instant. He unwound his scarf from his neck and tossed it behind him quickly, dropping his bag and rolling up his sleeves, walking swiftly into the kitchen to wash his hands. His shoes clicked on the tile, a pill or two scattering as he kicked them. He was done in an instant, back to rifling through his bag. He assessed the situation, and removed a pair of scissors from his bag.
He turned to Levi. He spoke with a gentle tone. “Levi, how about you clean up those pills from the kitchen? I've got him.” Lathe turned to Eren, carding his fingers through his hair. “You're going to be fine, Eren. Don't worry. Either of you.”

Levi could only nod and turn to find a broom, stunned at this development. ...He'll be... alright. Levi just swept the floor of the kitchen slowly, staring miles away.

Lathe addressed Eren, voice apologetic. “I can't let you move any more than you absolutely have to, kid. I hope this wasn't your favorite shirt.” Before Eren could question that, Lathe cut the back of the shirt off, removing it completely so he could get to his entire back. He quickly moved from his position to the kitchen, dropping the soaked fabric in the sink. He returned to do the same with the bandages, cutting off strip after strip to reveal his whole back, using the parts still relatively untouched to clear some of the blood and let him see his wounds better. That one long gash up his entire back is the real culprit here... He pressed the lump of bandages against the wound to hopefully staunch some of the bleeding. ...It's pretty deep, too... It clicked. He needs stitches.

Eren let out a shrill screech when his back was touched again. He was close to having another panic attack because of the pain. He was freaking out; this was not about to go smoothly. Eren needed to be calmed down. Eren screamed, again, his whole body shaking and trying to get away from Lathe’s touches.

“Levi, we need you in here.” Lathe called to him in the kitchen, hearing the broom immediately clatter to the floor. He watched Levi immediately fall to his knees next to him, looking at Eren’s wounds in terror.

...Holy fuck. “Eren...” Remember. Calm. He turned back to Lathe, swallowing down his fear. “What do you need me to do?”

You're quite the brave one. I admire that. Lathe looked him dead in the eye. “I need to give Eren stitches. I'll give him some more morphine and use a bit of numbing cream, but it's not going to be enough, and I don't want to knock him out. It's not at all safe. It’s your job to keep him calm, and still enough that I can work.” Lathe had a stony expression.

Morphine. “I already gave him a morphine tablet... right before I called you.” Please tell me that was okay

Lathe nodded. “They really can be taken on a situational basis. If he needs them, he can take them. I know he had three about... ten hours ago. I've got fresh ones in my bag. One more should be okay, and they'll start kicking in soon enough. Is that his glass on the table?” Lathe dug in his bag with his free hand, nodding to the empty glass sitting on the coffee table.

“Yeah. I'll get more water.” Levi stood, hurriedly going to fill it from the tap.

Lathe removed a small metal box, opening it and digging around, moving a spool of thread and a case with curved needles onto it’s lid. He reached into his bag for the fresh morphine pills, tossing it to Levi as he came back into the room. “One.” He looked to the small pile of blood-soaked bandages, moving his arm quickly off of it to thread a needle, tying a tight knot at the end. This isn't going to be pretty. Where's my gauze...

Levi knelt back down next to Eren, putting the glass on the floor before opening the bottle and taking out one of the pills inside. He coaxed Eren, trying to get him to swallow it, ready to help him drink the water.

Eren cried out and struggled to move away from Lathe’s hands. He was in fear. He was remembering all the times his father stitched him up, doing a horrible job so that the gashes got infected. Eren was so afraid, he looked to the pill and his mind thought of it as the anesthetic his father had used to knock him out to rape him. He started to cry even harder and struggled to move away, effectively opening his wounds further, letting a horrible sound rip from his throat in an attempt to stave off the pain.

You just need to work and get this done with. Levi has his job, and it’s something only he can do. Lathe reached for fresh gauze, taking the stained bandages and rising quickly to get rid of them in the sink. He returned, immediately putting gentle pressure back on his wound, rummaging for numbing cream. He found latex gloves in his bag, putting them on quickly and applying the cream around the wound with those on so that he could still sew, getting as close to the edge of the wound as he could. Everything besides Eren’s wound, he completely blocked out.

Levi looked to Lathe for help, finding none. He's gone into full-on Doctor mode. A chandelier could fall to the floor a foot away from him and shatter, and he wouldn't notice. He focused on Eren, seeing the panic in his eyes. ...Just do what you think is right. It doesn't matter that Lathe is right there. Just act. Levi brought his left hand up hold Eren’s hand closest to him, his right running softly through his hair, petting behind his ear, cradling the back of his neck. I've got you. You're alright. ...then tell him that because he's no psychic! “Eren, I've got you. Look at me.” Levi moved to lock eyes with Eren, seeing so much pain and fear. He wiped his tears away with his thumb. “We've got you. Lathe is going to sew you back up, and it might not be painless, but you're going to be only better after this.” Levi leaned forward, pressing his lips to his forehead. He mumbled into his hair. “I've got you.” Levi glanced to his arm as something red was draped over his arm. ... A kerchief. Huh. We may need that.
The kid had it in his pocket. He’s probably going to still need it for now. Lathe just put away the numbing cream, retrieving the curved needle and moving the topmost piece of gauze to reveal the beginning of the huge gash. This is not going to be pretty... but we need to. He nodded to Levi, and started the line of stitches, moving as fast as he could, pressing his arm down against the gauze to keep it pressurized as he went- and to try and keep Eren from moving.

Eren started to thrash as soon he understood what was happening. He started screaming. “No! Daddy! Stop! I promise I'll be a good boy! I promise!” He cried and he managed to get out of Lathe’s grasp, off the couch and scrambled across the room, leaving a trail of blood in his path, cut bandages falling from his stomach. His eyes had glazed over, his panic attack in full swing. “I'll be a good boy” he cried quietly and reached to hug himself in the corner of the room, so afraid of the two figures in front of him.

Lathe had somehow managed to catch the thread and the scissors as Eren passed him, snipping it In a flash of silver and catching the needle before it hit the floor. He couldn't let that complicate things even further. He put down his tools in the lid of the surgical box and spoke to Levi, his eyes not leaving Eren’s trembling form. “I really don't want to knock him out. He's lost too much blood for that, and at this point, he’d be so mentally scarred from that he’d scream in terror every time he sees me. Tying him down isn't an option either. But he needs to calm down. Do you have any ideas? I don't know much we can do with him cornered like that…” Lathe trailed off. Words aren't going to get through to him, I don't think. Then what…”

Levi just stared at Eren. “I… I don't think I have any.”

They just stood there for a moment, watching Eren fall apart.

That's when Lathe started to sing.

His voice was soft and deep, a gentle smile on his face, and he focused very intently on Eren’s expression, watching how it changed as the slow, foreign words left his tongue.

Der Mond ist aufgegangen,
Die goldnen Sternlein prangen
Am Himmel hell und klar;
Der Wald steht schwarz und schweiget,
Und aus den Wiesen steigt
Der weiße Nebel wunderbar.
Wie ist die Welt so stille,
Und in der Dämmerung Hülle
So traulich und so hold!
Als eine stille Kammer,
Wo ihr des Tages Jammer
Verschlafen und vergessen sollt.

Eren listened to Lathe with shocked ears. He listened, to Lathe singing his mother’s favorite song. He slowly started to relax as he heard the words he thought he would never hear again. He felt the rush of warm tears roll down his cheeks. He started to crawl towards them, crying softly. But he continued to sing the rest of the words Lathe had sung just moments before.

Seht ihr den Mond dort stehen?
Er ist nur halb zu sehen,
Und ist doch rund und schön!
So sind wohl manche Sachen,
Die wir getrost belachen,
Weil unsere Augen sie nicht sehn.

Wir stolze Menschenkinder
Sind eitel arme Sünder
Und wissen gar nicht viel;
Wir spinnen Luftgespinste
Und suchen viele Künste
Und kommen weiter von dem Ziel.

Eren had finally made it to Lathe and clung to his shirt like a panicked child. He couldn’t feel anything on his back thanks to the morphine, and he was finally out of his panicked state. He whimpered though and held onto him like a child. He couldn’t feel a majority of his back, but the throbbing sensation was still there. He wanted them to make it go away. He was much calmer now, his mind replaced with thoughts of his gentle mother, and he wanted more.
Lathe had slowly lowered himself to sit on the floor, feeling for the red silk Levi had dropped, pulling Eren into him, careful of his back. We need to finish this. Wiping his tears away gently with the red fabric, he spoke. “Eren, I need to finish getting your back fixed up, okay? It’ll all be done before you know it.”

Eren nodded but still clung to him like a child. “Mommy?” He asked with hopeful eyes. He wanted his Mom, his mind was still in shambles, and with the return of his mother’s favorite song, he wanted to see his mother again, only he couldn’t. Though that information had to be kept under wraps for risk of him losing it again.

Levi just stared at Lathe, cradling Eren and mumbling to him in a language he didn't understand. HOW THE FUCK DID HE DO THAT?! Eren goes from panicked and in shambles in the corner to a calm, crying mess in Lathe’s arms in two minutes! That song... What was it? It’s beautiful, and obviously not English... Where would he have learned that?

*Do you have to keep breaking my heart, kid? Mum's... “Mommy will be home soon, Eren. But we need to get you stitched up. Will you let me?” It’s the blood loss. I don’t have much time, do I? He held out his hand for Eren to take, to pull them from the floor. I don't know what else I'm supposed to tell you...

Eren nodded and released his grip from Lathe and turned his attention to Levi instead. He held onto him, expecting to be held back. He was completely unaware of how much blood he was in fact losing. His mind was still in complete disarray. Eren kept his grip on Levi’s shirt and sniffled as he curled up to him. “I want mommy...” He murmured and his tongue was slipping, showing off a thick accent of sorts.

Lathe motioned frantically to Levi. COUCH. NOW. Lathe moved with Levi to steer Eren back onto his stomach on the couch, letting him ramble on in either German or English so accented it wasn’t really English anymore. Lathe picked the needle back up and rethreaded it, stopping to tie off the loose ends he first left. He snipped the ends, and picked up the curved needle, sending Levi a pointed look before beginning once more, pressing gauze back down on to the gash with his arm and sewing as quickly as he could manage while still being accurate and neat. It was over in less than two minutes, the ends of the knot where the gash stopped and the burn began cut. Burns, you don't stitch that. I put burn cream on it this morning... I just need to wrap that carefully with extra gauze padding and leave it. That's all I can do for that. Lathe fished more gauze from his bag, placing it over the stitches before reaching for wraps. He needs to be off his stomach for this, but his back needs to be level... Hands and knees. Come on... “Help me get him on his hands and knees so I can wrap him correctly.” He moved to guide Eren’s waist up.

Levi just did as he was told, watching shocked as Eren quietly ranted, getting his chest off the couch. Lathe moved impossibly fast, hooking the bandages together over his shoulder quickly and pinning the gauze in place. He barely needed three rolls to finish it.

Lathe let Eren collapse back onto the couch giggling, hiccuping and looking around the room in drunken mirth, his eyes soon glazing over. They fluttered shut, his smile fading as he drifted into sleep.

Levi fell back on his heels, exhausted. It’s over.

It was not. Lathe, though he stopped for a moment, now had wide eyes as he studied Eren, asleep. Asleep. He’s asleep. Oh no no no no no… He immediately dug for a larger metal case, looking around the room frantically. He spotted a floor lamp across the room with a twist switch just under it’s globe. Perfect. “Levi, I need that floor lamp over here, about where you're sitting. Fast.” He clicked the box open, a plastic IV of isotonic saline solution sitting inside. He’s lost so much blood… He’s asleep, sure, but we need him to wake up too. He waited for Levi to set down the unplugged light before rolling Eren onto his back with his help, dangling the IV from the switch of the light and inserting the needle in Eren’s arm, padding it with gauze and taping it down. Only then did he stop, running his hands through his hair and letting out a ragged breath, trying to explain. “Isotonic saline solution. For the blood he lost.” He tried to process what just happened. ... Now. Answers. “Levi, we need to talk about everything that just occurred.” He sounded tired, much older than he really was. I need to sit down. Eh, it’s a nice carpet. …where it isn’t covered in blood. He sat down across from Levi.

Levi just looked at him with dulled eyes. I'm too tired… So much has happened… “Lathe, I-” his voice cracked, but he shook his head, trying desperately to clear it. This is important. You can handle this. He looked up again, meeting Lathe’s gaze. “...Yeah?”

“Why was there morphine all over the kitchen floor?” He spoke quietly, evenly.

The pills… so many of them… “He-” Levi gulped, trying to breathe. Just say it. Get it out. “He tried to take it all at once. I stopped him.” Levi felt a tear streak down his cheek, hiding his face in his hands. He took in a shaking breath.

... That was a lot of pills to give to one depressed, insecure teenager. Shit. I'll change around how many doses of what he has available to him later. But now… Lathe shifted over to be next to Levi, putting an arm around his shoulders. He rubbed his arm gently. “He’s going to be okay now. You getting here in time was an absolute miracle. He’s not going back to school tomorrow though, I know that much; He lost so much blood. He needs to stay put for a little bit. But he’s going to get better. Much better.”
Levi rubbed at his eyes with his sleeve, letting himself lean against Lathe, his head on his shoulder, staring ahead of him at nothing in particular. ...that song was lovely… what was it? “Lathe?” His voice was small. “That song… what was it?”

Lathe’s eyes roamed the floor, saddened. “Der Mond ist aufgegangen. It's German. Eren’s mother…” He trailed off, pondering a moment. He should know at least something. He started again. “Eren’s originally from Germany, I don't know if you know that. His mother, she loved music. She loved to sing, play instruments like the piano… Eren got his love of music from her. I knew only one of the more popular German songs that was slower than your ordinary pop song. I guess…” He watched Eren’s chest rise and fall. “...He must have heard it before.”

Levi’s brow furrowed. “If he knew German, why doesn't he have an accent? You'd never be able to tell…”

Lathe sighed. “That was the point. Coming to America, learning English, he didn't want to be teased for talking oddly any more than he already was for not knowing a lick of English to begin with.”

Levi understood that. He looked off into space, remembering one more thing. “His mother… he's never talked about her before. Where is she?”

Lathe was quiet.

...Oh. “...she isn't coming home, is she?”

The silence lasted a minute more, Lathe’s voice, heavy with fatigue, finally breaking it. “...No.”

Lathe just started talking, about the Mac n’ Cheese, his mother's death, blaming himself for it and being blamed by his father. Lathe ghosted over the specifics, but he got the idea.

“So that’s why Grisha always beat Eren? Enough to put him in the hospital? Just because he blamed his own child for murdering his wife?” Levi finally felt like all the pieces fit into place regarding Eren’s mysterious past. Now he knew almost everything about the boy. “I wish I would’ve got to him that morning… Maybe it wouldn't have turned out this way.” Levi’s voice was cracking as he thought of the ‘what if’s. He struggled to keep himself calm, but he knew better than to break down. No, I can’t risk waking Eren up, not when he’s gotten to sleep after this ordeal.

...more ‘what if’s. There are always so many of those. “What are you going on about, Levi?” Lathe quirked an eyebrow at his mumbling.

Levi looked over to Eren’s sleeping frame on the couch. “Well, he’s my lab partner for chem… So after class I gave him my number and threatened that if he didn’t give me the notes I would beat him up….” Levi paused closing his own eyes and running a pale hand through his dark hair. I sound like a complete douche… Well I guess I kinda was until I spent 5 weeks staring at his sleeping face. “I was pissed at first because he didn’t send me the notes we took for our lab- I didn’t get anything from him… I got a call at 3:07 in the morning that night…. I thought it was just Erwin looking for a ride home after getting drunk off his ass. I thought that because my phone didn’t recognize the number-” Levi’s voice cracked a little as the events of that night played over in his head. No, be strong… Lathe should know how much of an asshole you are… I mean, really. I don’t see how the Brat could trust me after what I did. “It wasn’t Erwin… It was Eren, and his voice sounded hurt… But I thought it might have been Eren who was drunk and looking for a ride. I didn’t realize that he needed to go to a hospital. And I yelled at him, because I was pissed at him for waking me up, I even offered to come pick him up from wherever the hell he was, but he hung up, and he didn’t text me again.” Levi ran another hand through his hair before he put it on the ground to straighten out his back a little. He noticed that Eren’s figure was shifting a bit. “Lathe, he’s gonna wake up soon.” He warned knowing Eren might panic as soon as he woke up. But Levi, that happened when you were in bed with him… He panicked be cause of that. Yeah, but it’s safer to prepare for it then be sorry later!

Lathe tucked his legs under him, shifting forward and placing a gentle hand over where the IV entered Eren’s arm. “We can’t have him freaking out and hurting himself with this; he needs to keep this in.” Lathe motioned to his right with his head. “Get on my other side, and hold his hand. If he starts freaking out as much as he first did with the stitches, pin his legs. I’ll get his arms and start singing again. Hopefully he won’t be delirious this time.” Lathe watched Eren’s face for shifting. “We all need to talk.”

Levi moved to his knees, getting to Lathe’s right and taking Eren’s hand. He ran his thumb over the knuckles lightly, waiting and ready to act.

Eren’s eyes started to flutter open a few minutes after he felt the pressure on his right arm. He felt someone holding his hand and he wondered what the hell was going on. He cracked open his eyes and felt like a ton of bricks had hit him. This is worse than the hangover from two bottles of vodka…. Fuck, what happened? Eren blinked a few times to get the hazy picture clearer. He first saw Levi and almost immediately began to relax, though when he looked over to Lathe holding his arm he shifted to move away from Lathe. He still wasn’t all that trusting of him after what he did. Don’t hit me. Don’t hit me. Don’t hit me.
Lathe immediately took his hands off his arm, holding them up in surrender and shuffling backwards a foot away from the couch. Anything to keep that IV in. “Sorry if I scared you, Eren. I'll stay over here for now. How are you feeling?” You don't look crazed; That's a plus.

Eren tried to shift his body over towards Levi, so he could curl up into his arms, though he soon found out that that was physically impossible, not even counting the tether attached to his arm. He looked to the IV with widened eyes. His head snapping between the bag, the needle in his arm, and Levi. He was ignoring Lathe’s question and giving Levi a confused look every time his teal eyes met Levi’s steely ones. He wasn’t completely back with them yet; His eyes were still dull, not carrying their usual vibrance.

He doesn't look completely... There. “It’s just for the blood you lost. Don't worry.” Levi saw him try to shift, understanding what he was trying to do. He moved a bit closer, to his left, letting his right hand hold Eren’s, his left going to cradle his neck, careful of the IV, to play with the hair at the base of his neck. Lathe’s just going to have to deal. “Everything went well. You're just going to need to take it easy for a while.”

Eren watched as Levi shifted. He felt more comfortable with Levi holding him, even if it was only around his neck, and not completely in his lap. He kept his eyes trained on Levi for a bit, but the vibrance never returned to his eyes. He slowly turned his head towards Lathe now that he felt more comfortable. “..... Happ.....en?” Eren tried to talk, but his throat felt so scratchy and dry. It feels like I’ve been screaming for a long time... Shit, why can’t I remember?

...he doesn’t remember that? He did have a panic attack, and he wasn't himself at all in that... and he sounds pretty awful. He needs water. Lots of it. “Let me get you some more water, Eren, and I'll tell you everything that happened, alright?” He slowly moved to take the glass from the table behind him, going to fill it from the tap. He was back in a moment, but for a moment, he hesitated. “Can you sit up more at all?” The glass was back on the table for then.

Levi moved to grab a pillow from near Eren’s feet, trying to gently prop Eren up. This is going to take a while... he might as well get comfortable. His hand left Eren’s to take the water, helping to hold it to his lips.

I'll just stay back for right now. Lathe's got that part of this whole mess under control. Lathe sat back down on the carpet, rubbing the back of his neck. He slowly tried to find the right words for everything. Where to start... “I got a call, about- I think, an hour ago. It came up as Levi in my phone, and I had just given him my number for emergencies, to call me without texting or anything else if something were to happen. I dropped everything, grabbed my stuff, and came over here. You were... On the couch, bleeding really badly. I had to cut you out of your shirt- sorry about that- and your bandages. You needed stitches, desperately. I think I gave you around, what, twenty at least? I did that, padded the cuts with gauze, and rewrapped you. That IV in your arm,” he nodded to it, “is what is called an isotonic saline solution. It’s intended really to replace the amount of blood you lost. There are no drugs in it, so it isn't going to do much more than maybe make your head clearer, hydrate you a bit more at the very most. Oh, and by the way, you're not going to school tomorrow. You are going to be chilling at home for a while. You can't move too much with the damage to your back. It's too risky.” Lathe sighed, his head bowed. This is too much...

Eren blinked a few times. He took sips of water as Levi held the glass to his lips. He sometimes coughed at it when Levi tilted it too far back, but he never complained. He was listening to Lathe, but it didn’t seem right. How the fuck do I not remember that? I would've panicked.... But Lathe isn't saying that I panicked or anything.... I feel like I did something that I haven't done in awhile.... But, shouldn't Lathe be angry with me? I wanted to end it all... How did Levi get in? I should probably ask. Eren lifted his left hand to get Levi to pull the glass away from him. Wait, did he just say I can't go to school? Well sorry Levi, you're not gonna have a lab partner to rely on. “-ho-w.....in?” He finally managed, his voice still scratchy and dry. His eyes still latched onto Levi’s; Lathe forgotten for the moment, he wanted answers.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow. This isn't working too well. English, anyone? Where's some paper... Lathe tugged his bag closer to him, fishing out a pen and some blank stationery. He nudged Levi’s elbow with the pen, holding his free hand out for the glass. “Let him write it down. He shouldn't speak.”

Levi gave him the glass, taking the paper and pen without moving his left hand from Eren’s neck. He gave them to Eren, watching him write.

~ How did you get in? I thought I locked the doors?~ Eren eyes looked even duller, if that was even humanly possible. He hadn’t wanted Levi to come in, he wanted to be alone and do it. To get his sorry excuse for a life over with.

Levi slowly shook his head. “The key I used yesterday to get in, the one over the back door, I kinda put it in my pocket as I ran over to you. And I was actually the one who locked the front door this morning. I guess you were too distracted by my ranting about waffles to notice.” Levi’s eyes fell. “I'm just really glad I had it.”

~ Why are you glad? I thought you wanted me gone ~ Eren’s hand was shaking, a good sign to see that he was crying, and trying to hide it. Though of course he failed miserably and started to hiccup and sniffle. ~ I thought you wanted a new lab partner.... I thought you wanted to hang out with the popular crowd again, not an outcast like me....~ Eren dropped the pad of paper and let it fall onto the ground along with the pen. He then took his now free hands and he covered his face as he sobbed. He finally let all his insecurities surface. It showed how much he didn’t trust people, and how much a few words someone said could mess with his mind.
...Eren… did I make you think that this entire time? Levi moved his foot under him, letting him come up and kiss Eren’s forehead. He mumbled into his hair. “I don't want a new lab partner. I've already got one.” Please understand I don't hate you. Please understand I really like you. Please just understand…

Eren kept his face covered with his hands. He continued to sob quietly. He didn’t know how to respond to that. He had never thought he was wanted by anyone. No, Grisha made it quite clear, that I won’t be wanted by anyone…. No one would love me, not after what I did to mom. Eren swallowed hard, his hand reaching up to hold onto Levi’s. Hold me dammit. I want you to hold me… please Levi, even if it’s only this one time. His sobbing was starting to subside.

Levi heard him loud and clear. I think I can maneuver around the IV… “Move over.” Levi nudged Eren to his left, helping him shift before slowly, and careful of his arm, he laid down next to him, one arm over his stomach and the other under behind his neck, curling up to play with his hair. He leaned his head on his shoulder, letting out a shaky breath. You mean too much to me...

Eren shifted and let Levi lay beside him. He curled up to the other and he sniffled as he held onto the other’s shirt. He leaned his head against Levi’s. They looked worse for wear, the both of them. Eren’s face was blotchy, his eyes bloodshot from crying so hard. He looked pale, but color was slowly returning to his tan limbs. Eren hiccuped every now and then, and the motion quaked through his whole body. He started to tremble a little bit as he felt Levi play with his dampened locks. He knew he was hot because Levi’s skin felt cool under his neck. I feel so cold though, that’s odd.

He's so warm… Too warm. Levi felt Eren’s forehead with the back of his hand. He has a fever. Of course. Levi turned to Lathe, who was trying to be quiet as he put his bag back together from being strewn across the floor.

He felt Levi’s eyes on him, and spoke quietly before Levi could. “I'm not ditching you, kid, I'm just making sure I didn't lose a needle or anything.” He looked up, noticing his concern. “What's wrong?”

Levi kept the back of his hand on Eren’s forehead. “He’s burning up, Lathe.” He tried to pull Eren a little closer to his body. He feels so warm…. Is this why he was out of it when he had a panic attack? How did I not notice it before? Levi looked over Eren’s body and watched as Eren took in weak and steady breaths once he had calmed down again. I know he’s staring at me… I can feel the Brat’s eyes following my face every time I move. Levi looked back over to Lathe to see how he would handle this. I hope it’s not from something being infected… that could turn out really bad. Eren doesn’t need that, he doesn’t need to go to the hospital anymore.
...think. Lathe watched Eren shiver. He declared after a moment of silence. “...It's probably not infection. My guess is with so much blood lost, he's just much more prone to getting sick at the moment. His body is torn between healing wounds, and fighting off germs. He's going to be sick for much longer than normal. I'd say... eh, I'd give it a week at most. Where’s a blanket...” Lathe looked around the room, seeing nothing. “I'm going to find one upstairs. Don't try anything funny while I'm gone. I'll be right back.” He had a glint in his eye as he walked to the stairs, boots clomping on his way up.

Eren turned his attention to Levi once again. “S...school....w...wor...k” He finally got the words out to Levi with a few tries and he tiredly put his head against Levi’s head. My whole body feels like lead, and I want to sleep... but I don’t think I can... and they probably want to yell at me for what I did. Fuck it, I want to believe these arms won’t yell at me... but that’s not possible is it? Eren’s eyes seemed to have a little more life to them. Even with his fever he was starting to come back to reality the longer he stayed awake.

Stop worrying about school for right now... You have plenty else to think about. “I'll make sure you get your schoolwork, and every note there ever was for your classes. Don't stress about it. As for chem, I'll just work with Armin and Erwin. Hopefully they won't mind.” He smirked. You're starting to look a bit more like yourself. Good.

Lathe descended the steps a bit more quietly this time, holding a thick black comforter. “This was all I could find. Sorry, Eren, I stole it from your room. Levi, will you be okay with this much blanket on you, or should I fold it or something?” I can't have two overheating students. One I can handle. But two? Na.

Levi nodded and he helped to situate the comforter over Eren and himself. He didn’t mind the extra warmth. It helped with how cold the house was. It was dark too, almost as if the lights hadn’t been turned on in ages. There was barely any furniture, some of it was broken, and some broken pieces had blood over them, no doubt it was Eren’s with how abusive his father was. The kitchen looked worse. The tile flooring had numerous slits throughout it's entirety, and if one was curious, they would find that it was the same size around them all.... The same knife... The marks also made an appearance on the walls around the floor, almost like they had been thrown with the amount of force it would take to penetrate the floor or the wall itself. Eren’s kitchen was also practically barren of food. There was almost nothing of nutritional value there, besides one container of salad and a few slices of pizza that the kid would never eat in a million years. The pills had scattered themselves on the floor, forgotten where they were, and one box of pasta sat on one shelf in the pantry.

Lathe left Levi and Eren situated on the couch, scanning the living room before slowly walking into the kitchen. He picked up the broom from where it lay abandoned on the floor, sweeping the pills and dust and dirt into a small pile in the corner. I'll deal with that later. He leaned the broom against the wall, going to open the fridge. Nothing of real use. He closed it quietly, and went to open the pantry. One box of pasta. He closed the door. No wonder you're so painfully thin. It's not only that you can't eat because it'd come back up, it's a bit that you can't because you don't really have any food. He turned back to look at the kitchen. The room was dark, grey. He moved to flick on more lights. One bulb above the stove flickered in yellow light, the rest in the room either burned out or missing. He shivered, really feeling the cold for the first time...This is too depressing. I need to fix this. Lathe walked back into the living room, stepping quietly over to the scarf he discarded, wrapping it back around his neck. He addressed Levi. “I won't be gone more than an hour. My bag's staying here in case you need anything from it, which you shouldn't, as long as Eren doesn't move much. My phone is always on for you two. Just stay calm, the both of you. Relax.” He ruffled their hair, sending the both of them a warm smile. “I'll be back soon. Stay out of trouble.” He walked to the front door, quietly shutting it behind him before striding over to his bike, picking up the old-fashioned riding goggles he’d dropped in his rush to get inside, donning them. They'll be fine. You've got shopping to do. Kicking up the stand, he started the engine and rode back to get his car.

Eren turned his head weakly towards Levi. “L….Le….vi” Eren managed with his scratchy throat. He moved to get his hand against Levi’s shirt to grab it again. He wanted to hold onto the other, even if he could only grab his shirt. He felt safe in Levi’s arms, and it was warm, he liked finally having something warm to hold onto after living in this cold house for only a week… but it was like this in all his previous homes, cold, unforgiving, dark…. So that if anyone looked in they wouldn’t see the blood when his father had beat him. Eren tried to nestle himself closer to Levi, but whined when he found that moving anything besides his arms and head was basically impossible.

Levi shifted a bit more to be on his side, allowing himself to be more fully pressed against Eren, kicking his shoes off the side of the couch and tangling their legs together. He pressed another kiss to Eren’s temple. I've got you. Don't worry. “Try not to speak too much, your throat doesn't sound up to it. Do you want the pen and paper back?”

Eren shook his head as he buried himself into Levi’s arms. His whole body was warm, alarmingly so. He was really quiet as he stayed curled up to Levi. You haven’t asked why yet... Are you waiting for Lathe to beat me? I know he’s going to.... Dad would do the same, patch me up, just to beat me again. Before he knew it, Eren was sobbing again.

“Eren, nobody’s going to hurt you anymore. We're not mad at you or anything like that. I promise. You're fine.”

“L......a......the.... M......ad?” He asked the other through his sobs. He sniffled and hiccupped. At least he couldn’t feel the pain in his chest because of the morphine.

“He’s not mad at you, he's just worried sick. If he was mad, he wouldn't have worked so hard to make you feel better.” Levi nuzzled his nose behind Eren’s ear.

He was right; Lathe wasn't mad. Somewhere, he was standing in a grocery store, metal-toed boots tapping on stone tiles as he tried to find lightbulbs, thinking how ridiculously crazy everything had gotten in less than one day.

Eren only nodded. “No…… Mad?” He asked, his voice finally starting to come back to him. Please say you're not mad, please say you're not mad.

...How else am I supposed to prove to you we’re not mad? I could never be mad at you. “Eren, I-“ Words did not come. ...just do what feels right. So he did. Levi moved his head,

And kissed him.

Eren’s eyes widened a fraction. He felt Levi’s soft lips against his own. He couldn’t believe his eyes. He was too shocked to do anything about it. He didn't know if he should continue, or pull away. What the hell is he doing? He’s kissing me!! What the fuck do I do!?!? Eren didn’t know what to do, so he just kissed back.

He's kissing back. He’s kissing back! Levi let his hand drift up from Eren’s waist to his cheek, tilting his head for a better angle. His lips moved slowly against Eren’s, his eyes closed, just letting himself revel in the feeling of Eren’s mouth moving with his own.

Eren soon had to pull back to breathe, taking in air harshly. His eyes looked better, and had completely turned back to their beautiful viridian green. He slowly moved a hand up to his lips. Holy shit! He just kissed me! And I kissed back! Holy shit! What do I do now? I don’t know what to do. So Eren just laid there with wide eyes… His face flushed completely red. Would it be bad if I asked him to do it again? “...C-can… you…?”

Levi took in sharp breaths of air, awestruck. Eren fucking kissed me back. And YES! He let out a breathy laugh, lights dancing past his eyes, before pressing his lips against Eren’s again, the smallest bit more forceful.

Eren’s eyes widened slightly, before he let them slide shut. He let Levi kiss him, basking in the glory that was a kiss from the hottest guy in school. This is happening… HOLY FUCK! This is happening! He’s actually kissing me! Holy shit! Kiss me more, please! It feels so good! Eren turned his head a bit and met Levi’s forceful kiss. He was a bit timid in the kiss, not really understanding how he should go about it. Of course Levi knows how to kiss, he’s probably been with half the girls in the school. ...Stop it, he’s with you right now… Yeah, but for how long? Eren’s mind again returned to shambles but he allowed for Levi to continue.
Levi ran his thumb along Eren’s jaw, slowing down as he noted how timid Eren was in kissing back. You feel so wonderful… How on Earth did I end up lucky enough to get to kiss you?

Eren gave a soft whimper into Levi’s lips as his thumb grazed a sensitive part of his jaw. He blushed all the way to his ears as he pulled back to breathe. His lidded eyes slowly opened and revealed his gorgeous eyes, complete with golden flakes around the iris. He giggled a little as he stared at Levi, not really believing what had just happened.

Levi breathed heavily, blushing as he met Eren’s eyes. Those beautiful eyes. I want to hear that again. Levi dove back in, his movements slow and languid. He lightly brushed his tongue against Eren’s lips. Please.

Eren felt something else brush up against his lip. Is that his tongue? What am I supposed to do? What is he even trying to do? I don’t understand. Eren slowly parted his lips, giving access to Levi, but Eren wasn’t exactly sure what the hell was going on. He did what felt right, pressing their chests up together as much as possible, and even their hips. Eren really didn’t know why he was reacting to a kiss in such a way.

Levi shifted, practically on top of Eren, though he leaned on his left arm, careful not to crush him. YES! He slid his tongue past Eren’s lips, gently beginning to map out his mouth, finding Eren’s tongue. You taste amazing, like cinnamon and vanilla…

Eren shuddered as Levi pushed his tongue into his mouth. He gave a soft moan when their tongues collided in the small space. This is fucking amazing… Holy shit, if he doesn’t stop I’m going to get hard, and I do not want to explain that! No no no! He’ll think I’ll be lusting after him…. No… He doesn’t know Dad’s raped me… He doesn’t know I’m a whore… Eren tried to close off his mouth, so unsure of what he should be doing right now. He didn’t know, having never experienced love reciprocated… Only hate.

...why are you…? Levi pulled back in confusion with a gasp for air, seeing Eren’s eyes clouded with hesitance, and shame. “What’s wrong, Eren? Did I do something wrong?” Levi braced for the worst. Oh god don’t tell me I suck at kissing.

Eren looked up to him completely confused. “N-no…. But why?” He asked softly. He wanted to know why Levi was kissing him. He thought his love was one sided on his part, but he had no idea. He’s kissing me like I’m the purest thing in the world… I’m not Levi… I’m nowhere near that.

...Words, do not fail me now. “Because you’re handsome, and wonderful to be around, and because I want to.” Levi bowed his head and kissed him again, slipping his tongue back into Eren’s mouth.
Eren shuddered again. He parted his mouth for him once he started to lean down. His tongue raised to meet Levi’s as it entered his mouth. He finally was able to savor the taste of Levi’s own tongue. He tastes so clean... Like mouthwash... Hmmm... Did he stop home after practice, before he came here?.... He said he wanted to do this, too. Does that mean he likes me? Or does that mean he just wants an interesting fuck before he tosses me aside?...Fuck it, we’re going to believe in him for once and let him continue, broken heart be damned! Eren raised his untethered arm up around Levi’s strong shoulders. He could feel the strong muscles flex under his shirt as Levi leaned down a bit more. Their kiss becoming hotter, neither of them realized what was going on around them.

“A-hem.”

Shocked, Levi pulled away, turning quickly back onto his own half of the couch, blushing scarlet to his ears. Oh my God, the man’s a fucking ninja... not okay. Levi covered his face with his free hand, looking through his fingers at Lathe, carrying a large paper bag in his arm.

Eren looked over at Lathe as soon as Levi pulled away. He slumped back down into the couch, his breath hitched and ragged as he attempted to calm himself down. Lathe, you saved me from an embarrassing story, thank you... But please refrain from using stealth mode... You’re gonna give me a fucking heart attack! Eren’s whole face was flushed as he looked over to the man standing there. “L...athë,” he called. His voice sounded much better, and his eyes had returned to their natural brilliance.

Called it. “Sorry for interrupting.” Lathe quirked one eyebrow, noting their embarrassment, smirking at their reaction. He looked pointedly at Levi. “Just making sure you're not causing our patient too much... distress.” He grinned devilishly, wagging his eyebrow. “Dinner in an hour or less.” With that, he walked to the kitchen through the hall, setting down his bag and going to retrieve more from his car parked outside.

Oh my God Lathe nooooo.... stop it... Levi shook his head slowly, so embarrassed by Lathe’s antics. If anything, his face had gotten a more vibrant shade of red.

Eren looked back to Levi. He raised his free hand and gently touched Levi’s cheek. He had a small smile on his face, and he seemed to be content with life at the moment. “T-thanks” he murmured quietly. His voice no longer as hoarse as it once was, though it seemed that his body had heated up another degree due to their make out session.

Lathe hip-checked the car door shut, carrying the last of the bags inside, walking through the hall.
to the kitchen. He fished for a box of soft yellow bulbs, squinting to see if he’d picked the right ones from the bag. That’s it. He scanned the ceiling quickly, looking for a free socket. He decided to start above the kitchen table, leaning over it to unscrew an old bulb, tossing it in the trash can under the sink before screwing in the new one. Light flooded the room, and Lathe looked around, thankful he was able to see more than he-

A black leather belt, stained with blood, sat coiled in a far corner, tiny shreds of skin still visible on the gleaming silver buckle.

Oh my God. Lathe covered his mouth with his hand in shock, thinking for a moment. I can't touch it. Spades would have my head. He forced himself to turn away, to finish putting lights in around the kitchen, so he could see what he was doing. He took a moment to enter the living room again, to remove the globe from the floor lamp and put in a new bulb, replacing it and plugging it into an outlet next to the couch. Soft yellow light illuminated the room, though it only made the brokenness of the furniture, the drips of blood in the carpet more obvious. I can try and clean all this up later. First, keep them both from starving. Lathe set celery and carrots on the counter, along with a bag of wide spiral noodles and a jar of chicken bouillon. Of course. He went about boiling a pot of water on the stove, adding the bouillon and chopping the vegetables into small pieces. He found three bowls in the cupboard, waiting for the noodles to finish softening before spooning the soup into them, carrying the first one with a little bit in it to Eren first, handing him a spoon. “You don't have to finish it, but I would like you to try to.” Lathe retrieved the bowl for Levi, before hesitating with his own. He decided to sit at the kitchen table and give the two of them some space, pulling out his phone and typing furiously.

Eren looked down at the small amount of chicken noodle soup in his bowl. That looks like way too much… Levi, I’m not even the slightest bit hungry. “L...Levi, I’m not hungry…” He said, looking down with a defeated look. He didn’t even want to try to eat any of that soup, because he knew it would just come right back up. I don’t want to eat… Please don’t make me, I’ll just throw it right up. Eren shifted from where he was sitting up. Levi had sat him up when Lathe had mentioned food, so now he rested with his back against the couch. He looked down at the bowl of soup in his lap, and he felt disgusted just by looking at it. It made him feel nauseous right away with the rich smell that was wafting off of the homemade soup. Lathe, I can’t, even though you went to the trouble of making this… I can’t…. Eren clutched at his stomach, starting to feel sick already, and not wanting to throw up with nothing in his stomach. No, that is much worse, pure stomach acid is a bitch.

Lathe looked up from his phone and his soup as he waited for a reply, studying the abandoned setup that once was Eren sorting his pills. He looked at a container set aside, absentmindedly reading the label. ...Nausea pills. I forgot. Lathe snatched the bottle from the table and walked back to the couch, opening the cap and taking out a pill as he spoke. “I’m sorry Eren, I somehow managed to forget you needed these to eat, take this and I'll get you a glass of water to sip from and you should be able to eat some of that soup in a couple minutes.” He handed Eren the pill, going to grab a glass of water. You're an idiot, you know that?
Eren looked at the pill and then down at his food. He swallowed the pill, he waited patiently for his water. I hope I’ll be able to eat, this looks delicious. Eren looked down at the warm bowl in his lap before looking over to see Levi eating beside him. I wonder if it's good?

Lathe returned with a clean glass, handing it to Eren and letting him drink before Eren handed it back. “Just give it a minute or so. Then, you should be able to eat.” Lathe smiled warmly, leaving them to their own devices. He sat back down at the counter, sorting the pills on the table into the pill calendar as he waited for text responses.

The teen nodded, sipping every so often from the glass in his hand. He was quiet and he watched Levi eat, before glancing towards the kitchen table where he saw Lathe moving pills into the container, before looking at his phone and typing quickly, his thumbs flying over the tiny keys. I wonder what he’s texting so feverishly about? He turned his gaze back to Levi. “Um… Can you tell Armin I won’t be at school tomorrow?” He asked quietly with his head down. “So, I won’t be able to sit at the lunch table with him….” Eren trailed off and looked down at his food, feeling the nausea subside a bit so he slowly sipped at the food, letting out a soft groan, his tastebuds were flooded with goodness. He hurriedly moved to get another spoonful of food. His mouth was watering at the taste of a home cooked meal. He felt tears fall onto his hands and didn’t realize he was crying. It tastes incredible… I want more. Eren continued to eat the whole bowl and looked towards Levi for more, knowing that he couldn’t get up.

Levi looked up, stunned that Eren had eaten so much so quickly. He saw the look in Eren’s eye. Message received. He leaned forward, putting his bowl on the table before taking Eren’s empty one to the pot, filling it as much as Lathe had for him. He looked to Lathe, who had noticed him get up.

Lathe pointed to Eren and mouthed, ‘For him?’

Levi nodded, and Lathe beamed, returning to his pill sorting. He carefully walked back and handed Eren the warm bowl.

Eren thanked him quietly and started eating from the bowl, but it wasn’t as rushed as before. He was still eating like he hadn’t eaten in forever. He was still crying, not really caring. It's too good to fucking care if Levi and Lathe see. It's so good… I haven’t eaten something like this in years.

He's crying. And eating like a starved wolf. Which is great, since he's so thin… which I guess also explains the crying. Levi nudged his foot with his own, smiling at Eren between spoonfuls of soup.

Eren finished up his bowl, and sat and watched it. He was starting to feel full for the first time in a long time. It felt so good to actually be able to consume food. He looked up to Levi again. “C-can I have a little more?” He asked quietly.

...More? Wow. Those things Lathe gave him work. “Of course.” Levi took Eren’s bowl in his right hand, his own finished one in the other, and went back into the kitchen. About to put his bowl in the sink, he stopped at the sight of the bandages and fabric in the left half of it. ...right side of the sink it is. He placed down his bowl, putting one more spoonful into Eren’s and handing it back to him, reclaiming his spot next to him.

Lathe watched Eren eating from his place at the kitchen table, shocked. How is he eating that much? He’s so tiny, and if he hasn't eaten an actual meal in years, how can he manage it?

Eren thanked him and finished off the bowl, soon handing it back. “It feels good to eat” he murmured and smiled from ear to ear for the first time in a long time. He knew he wouldn’t be able to hold the food down if he ate much more, so he didn’t request another bowl. He struggled to move back to make himself comfortable on his ‘bed’, wincing when he tweaked his back. He didn’t know what the hell to do without Levi or Lathe helping to move him.

Levi saw Eren’s expression change as he shifted, putting the bowl down and helping guide Eren so he was laying down. He picked the bowl back up, placing it in the sink and looking over to Lathe.

Lathe’s phone was face-down on the table, and he just stared ahead, looking at nothing in particular. He noticed Levi looking at him, and smiled. He spoke quietly, moving from his chair. “I’ll clean up. The soup will make a nice leftover. He’ll have plenty for tomorrow.” Taking his own bowl to the sink, he thought. “Eren can't do much by himself. That includes moving around.” He put his bowl on top of the pile, looking pointedly at Levi. “You know you're going to school tomorrow, right? You're not getting out of classes.” He stepped back a bit, addressing Eren from the kitchen. “Eren, you're going to have to deal with me being around tomorrow, cool? Great!” He didn't even give him a chance to respond, let alone protest. He spoke to both of them. “I'm going to clean this all up, and then I'll leave you two to yourselves for the night. I'll be back at around eight tomorrow morning, alright?”

Levi nodded. Thank you so much! “Thank you, Lathe.” That’s exactly how you thank the man that saved your bf’s life. ...Wait. What.

Eren looked up from his couch. “You’re leaving, Lathe?” He asked quietly. He seemed to have a defeated look. He wanted to talk with him some more, because he knew he could tell him anything… like how he couldn't remember earlier.. And he should’ve freaked out.. I know that I should've had a panic attack, there’s something they’re not telling me.
Lathe looked back over to Eren and smiled. “I can stay awhile longer if you want me to. It’s barely nine. Just let me clean up before I do anything else, okay?” We still have talking to do, I guess.

“Okay.” He nodded, he would be okay with that. We need to talk, because I know you're lying. I need you to be able to tell me the truth, even if it means telling me I had an attack and don’t remember.

Now, the bandages seem to have dried for the most part… Lathe picked up an empty brown bag from the floor, quickly moving the bandages and fabric from the sink into it, popping his head into the living room to see if he got the others off the floor from earlier. He didn't; he swept those up with his hands, dumping those inside as well and folding the top over many times. He shoved it to the bottom of the trash bag. He turned the tap back on, reaching for the soap and scrubbing the bowls clean. The bowls dried and put away, he turned the stove off from it’s low heat to keep the soup warm, finding a large bowl in the cupboards below and filling it. He looked for plastic wrap, finally finding some and stowing the soup in the fridge. He walked over to where Eren and Levi were sitting, unsure of what to do with himself before just punching the coffee table back a bit and sitting on its edge across from them. “Alright. What’s up, Eren?” This isn't going to be a fun conversation, is it?

Eren took in a deep breath and got into a comfortable position against Levi. “Can we agree not to lie to each other?” He asked quietly and looked to Lathe. That pretty much gave away the fact that Eren knew they were hiding something from him. Don't run away from this conversation.. Please Lathe... And you too, Levi. I want you to agree too.

Lathe sighed, running a hand through his dark hair. His voice was grave. “…Alright. I'm sorry, Eren. I ghosted over the truth earlier.”

Levi returned Eren’s expectant look, nodding. I guess he should know what really happened...

Lathe leaned forward, resting his elbows on his knees, starting over. “I got a call from Levi a couple hours ago, around five thirty, and I knew since he didn't text first or anything it was an emergency. I rushed over, and you were face-down on the couch, bleeding heavily. I had to cut through your shirt and your bandages to see what had happened to your back. A huge gash had opened for your shoulder to above the small of your back. You were losing a lot of blood, and needed stitches, fast. That’s… when everything started to go wrong.” Lathe brought a hand to the back of his neck, studying the carpet. “…I threaded a surgical needle while also trying to staunch the bleeding and you started to freak out about everything happening, and Levi was trying his best to calm you down, but I barely got two stitches in when you had a full-on panic attack. You scrambled off the couch, and I don't know how but I cut the thread to keep you from bringing the needle with and you ran over to that corner of the room behind me, and you looked so scared. We didn't know how to calm you down until I remembered everything you told me about…” Lathe swallowed. “…about your mother and Germany and music and I just started singing this one song I heard years ago and you just started crying and… you crawled back over to us and… and asked when your mum would come home…” Lathe glanced up to Eren’s face. “…and I said she’d be home soon because I didn’t know what else to tell you and if I told you that she wasn't coming home you’d go completely insane… but we managed to get you back on the couch and you started to get all giggly from the blood loss and I somehow finished stitching and wrapping you up before you passed out and I was so worried when you fell asleep because you had lost so much blood and I put an IV in your arm because we also needed you to wake up…” Lathe let out a heavy breath. “And that’s about when you should’ve started to remember things.” Don't you start crying, too… Today has been an absolute mess, my god...

I asked for my own mother…. I must’ve been completely crazy, for me to do that. “I’m sorry, I panicked when Levi grabbed me…” He trailed off and looked down. He knew that was the reason they were all here in this room. He panicked after Levi found him trying to take all the pills, he had struggled to get away, only to have his back rip open. Eren swallowed hard and looked up to Lathe with guilty eyes.

“...Why did you do it?” Lathe’s gaze was piercing. “Why’d you try to end it?”

Eren, if you aren't honest like you promised, he’ll never be kind to you again…. But I’ve already destroyed the trust we’ve built… So you’re going to lie to him again?.... No, I won’t do that, he deserves the truth... They both do. Eren looked up, he looked like he was ready to cry. “I didn’t want… No one wanted me… Why stay?... That’s what I thought when I tried to take them. I thought Levi would be happy that he could get a new chemistry partner, and that he could hang out with the cool kids once I was gone… And I thought that maybe it would be a way to please my father after so many years....” Eren stopped as he hiccuped from his tears. He sobbed for a few moments… “When you’re left alone for so long, when no one cares, it hurts… And with my past I thought no one would love me anymore… I’m broken beyond repair at this point… I’ll always be on pills, if I could even afford them… I can’t get a job, I don’t like new people, and I can’t do anything physically demanding… I can’t get enough money to feed myself properly… I’ll no longer be innocent in anyone’s eyes, not after what my father did to me… I was afraid… So afraid that everyone would leave me, and when you’ve been alone and beaten and outcasted… You never want that to happen. So I wanted to leave first, so that no one could try to pick up the pieces, only to find they can’t and throw me away to let the pieces shatter more for the next person… I have so many trust issues because of that, and so everyone’s words stick with me… Everything, no matter what, and they always haunt me to no end…” Eren sobbed out. He was going through so much, and he was finally letting it out to the both of them. His rant was all over the place, just saying whatever was on his mind, and it felt so good to actually tell someone and get it off his chest.

...Eren... Levi brought his arms around him, letting Eren rest his head against him. “Eren, nobody could ever hold what your dad did against you. And you need to have a little faith. You're going to get better, and you're going to become successful, and it's not like the friends you have now are planning to leave anytime soon. We all care about you. And we all want to help you. Trying to end it… that isn't worth it. It is never worth it, no matter how awful things might seem to be.” Levi pressed a kiss to his temple. “You mean a lot to a lot of people, and to me. It's not worth it.”

Eren sniffled. He didn't know what to say… I can’t believe I have to tell him this. I have to…. I can’t trust them… No, not after what my father and so many others have done. “I… I can’t trust you though… I can’t… Not after what I’ve been through for the past 8 years… All the lies, the torment, the bullying, the backstabbing… I can’t believe your words. I’m sorry but I can’t, and I know it might seem rude to say this after what you two have done for me, but I can’t… I can’t trust someone to not leave… I tried that once, then I promised never again… I tried to trust that my dad wouldn’t do more than yell at me… And look where that got me… Underneath him, with him yelling at me to be a good whore and take it… I tried making friends before I really did, but I can’t do it… No, not after it got out that I was gay, and I was almost lynched at my last school… If others find out I’m gay, they’ll try to make my life a living hell… My only place of solitude is school… And if that becomes hell, life becomes unbearable…” Eren’s spiels were starting to really jump from topic to topic. His body starting to shake as he sobbed. His breathing started to worsen a bit but only a little bit, he was starting to lose it again.

Levi felt him shuddering in his arms. Another attack. He's about to have another attack. Levi looked to Lathe with panicked eyes. Sing. The last time you did it it calmed him down. He's in his right mind so he might not go insane so just try it, please.

Lathe looked from Levi to Eren, and drew in a shudders breath. Just focus. He began to sing, his low voice quiet at first, slowly, slowly becoming louder.

Eren listened to Lathe sing softly. He started to calm down. His body stopped shaking, and he watched Lathe with large eyes. He slowly moved to curl up to Levi, and hold onto his shirt. Soon he opened his mouth to start and sing along with the other. They were going back and forth. Lathe would sing a line, then Eren would sing the next. He seemed to calm down more as he got to sing in his own language. It had been such a long time since he had sung in his own language… the last time… It was with mom… Wasn’t it? Yeah, it was, I was singing this song with mom last… Before I wanted to make Mac n' cheese. Eren just continued to sing along with Lathe as he slowly curled up to Levi more. Calming down completely.

Levi gently pet Eren’s hair as he curled up to him, listening to the unfamiliar words, sweet though unknown to him in meaning. It’s a wonderful song… and Eren’s voice… he watched Eren’s lips move with the words. He sings so well...

Eren and Lathe soon finished the song, Eren looking like he was going to pass out soon. He needed to take his pills for his PTSD, to try and stave off the nightmares. Lathe knew what he had to take. He was in much need of a good night's sleep, especially after six years of sleeping only four hours a night.
Lathe got up from his perch on the table, going to the kitchen. “I'll get your medicine for tonight.” He moved silently, picking up the dark blue bottle from the table. I should probably get him a sleep aid, too... he’s not used to a normal sleep schedule, and he has to kick that ugly habit of getting to bed so late as fast as possible. Ten is better than eleven, I guess. He took the glass from earlier from the counter as he passed it, filling it. He fumbled with the locking cap on the pills, taking one out and offering it Eren with the glass, smiling lightly. “Last one for today. Down the hatch.”

Eren nodded and he took the pill along with the glass of water. He looked to his comforter laid out on the couch. “Are we sleeping here... Or upstairs?” He asked sleepily to Levi. He knew that Levi would most likely stay the night after what had happened today. He looked to him with lidded eyes. He was ready to fall asleep.

You can't move too much... “Here. It'll keep us from unnecessarily dragging you around.”

Eren nodded and he winced a bit as he tried to move to lay down. He wanted to be in Levi’s arms when they fell asleep.

“Hold still for a second, Eren.” Lathe rested his hand on Eren’s right arm, near his elbow. He scratched at the tape end, unraveling it a bit to remove the needle. He immediately replaced the tape and gauze. “The IV’s empty for now; You won't have to worry about that getting in the way as you sleep. I'll make sure you get a new one tomorrow.” He reached up to unhook it from the lamp switch, coiling it back up and placing it in its case in his bag.

Eren watched the dark haired man work. He didn’t move as Lathe requested and let him pull the IV out without a hassle. It felt good to get the stiff needle out. He looked to Levi with tired eyes, knowing he wouldn’t be able to stay awake much longer, but the house needed to be locked. I'm still afraid Grisha will come back... I want the doors locked...

Lathe retrieved his phone and scarf from the next room, looking to the mess of pills still on the table. Tomorrow, I'll clean all this up. Wrapping the thick red fabric around his neck, he spoke with a grin. “I'll get out of your hair.” Lathe picked up his bag from the floor, the odd star insignia shining up at him. “Levi, make sure you lock the door behind me. We don't need burglars throwing any more wrenches into our plans for today.” He stepped forward, ruffling Eren's hair. “Goodnight, kid. Remember Eren, I'll be here at eight. No later.” He looked to Levi as he stood, smiling and making his way to the door.

Levi followed him to the front door, his fingers digging in his pocket for the key. He's done so much... how am I expected to thank him? Levi watched him step over the threshold, sending him one last grin.
“Alright, goodnight Levi. Don’t cause too much mischief.” Light whizzed past his eyes. He turned to head to his car, when a hand on his elbow stopped him.

“...Thank you.” Don’t cry now. Don’t do it, Levi. No.

Lathe chuckled, sending him a warm look. “Of course. You’re very welcome.” He patted his shoulder. “I’ll see you both in the morning.”

“...A-alright. Goodnight.” Levi let his hand fall, watching Lathe step down from the front stoop, walking to his car. He shut to door softly, locking it behind him. He went to stow the key in his pocket again, before deciding against it and leaving it, and his phone, on the coffee table. Sleep would really be nice right around now.

Eren reached for the hem of Levi’s shirt. He whimpered a bit when it forced him to stretch out his body for the other. He tugged on the fabric gently, wanting to sleep curled up to Levi. He was still pretty feverish, so the more sleep he got the better. His pillows and comforter were already down there, so it would be easy for them to get comfortable on the large couch.

I’m coming, I’m coming... Levi helped Eren shift to lay down, slipping under the covers with him and automatically going to wrap his arms around his thin frame, resting his head on his shoulder, tangle their feet.

Eren whimpered a bit but managed to snuggle up to Levi and get into a comfortable position. He closed his eyes, and didn't opened them again... He was out cold, the events of today finally taking their toll on him.
Chapter Thirteen: Introduction Arc Part 4: Spades

Levi cracked open one eye, warm and content. He squinted against the light in the room. Ugh, someone needs to close the shades... what’s on top of me? Levi looked down, registering the weight on top of him, seeing a messy head of brunette hair. ...oh yeah. That’s right... Levi smirked, kissing the top of his head. He mumbled, trying to rub the sleep out of his eyes. “‘Morning. You awake yet?”

No response. Levi shifted, hoping to reach his phone and figure out what time it was. He caught it, glancing at the time. 7:46 AM. Lathe will be here soon. And you have classes to attend. Levi carefully tried to untangle himself from Eren, maneuvering oddly in an attempt to let him sleep. It’s more than four hours. That’s great! He finally made his way onto his feet, fixing the covers and padding to the kitchen. Breakfast. Do I have time to... Levi saw the unpacked bags at the feet of the table, a yellow cereal box visible in one. He pulled it out. Cheerios. He quickly opened the fridge, seeing a half-gallon of whole milk. Lathe, you thought of literally everything. Levi hunted for the bowls, eating quickly at the kitchen table, stealing glances to Eren as he slept. Today should go well. Lathe will be around, so... it’s pretty much a given. He rinsed his bowl in the sink, going to take back the house key from the table. He stepped back into his shoes, scattered on the floor.

A light pattern of knocks on the door shook him from his thoughts, walking over and looking through the front window to see Lathe’s car. He opened the door, greeted with the smiling teacher.

“Good Morning, Levi! Judging from the fact my phone was silent after I left, can I say all is well?” His blue and grey eyes were bright.

Levi chuckled a bit as he opened the door for their teacher. “Yes, you can rightly assume so, Lathe... Come on in.” He motioned for Lathe to come in as he held the door open for him. His voice was still quiet, as not to wake Eren up since the Brat was still out cold.

Lathe unwound his scarf from his neck, bowing his head a bit as he crossed the threshold, looking up to skim the living room for Eren. He saw him still curled up under the blankets, his eyes widening in surprise, matching Levi’s quiet voice. “Did he really sleep this entire time?”

Levi nodded, catching up to Lathe after closing the door. “Yeah. He didn’t even move last night; he was in the same position this morning until I slipped out from under him. I figured we should let him sleep, since he hasn’t been getting much.” Levi told Lathe, looking over Eren’s sleeping frame with a small smile on his face. The boy looked so much better than he did hours ago.

“Ten solid hours of sleep, assuming he conked out as soon as I left, about, is absolutely fabulous.
However, you have classes to attend, and I think,” Lathe nudged his elbow, smirking. “that he would appreciate being able to say goodbye to you.”

_Lathe, you are a sly son of a bitch._ Levi’s face heated up a bit as a blush tinted his cheeks. He shook his head and looked towards Eren. “If me moving out from under him didn’t wake him, I don’t really know what will.” Levi really didn’t want to shake the poor kid, not when his wounds were only just starting to heal on his back.

“Well, us being quiet isn't going to help at all with it.” Lathe suddenly switched to talking at a normal volume. “Come on, stop being shy and get him up. I don't care what you have to do as long as it doesn't put him in pain and/or mortal danger. ... Go on.” Lathe pushed Levi forward. Just do it, I don't want him to wake up and be upset that he didn't get to see you.

Levi leaned forwards to get himself to balance out after the playful shove. He carefully walked over to where Eren’s head was and sat down by his sleeping figure. “Oi, Brat, it’s time to wake up… I gotta go to classes, ya know.” Levi spoke a bit louder as he carded his fingers through Eren’s long brown locks. “Come on, Eren, wake up, I gotta go soon.” His voice was soft and he gently shook Eren by the shoulders.

Eren finally stirred after a few minutes of prodding by Levi. He cracked his eyes open slowly. His back felt like it was on fire, and it introduced him to a world of pain. He let out a pain filled cry, his motions jerky and he whimpered. _Levi, you’re here…. _Despite his back, Eren smiled softly at the other.

_Shit._ Lathe dropped his bags, rushing into the kitchen to retrieve the pill calendar sorted out on the table. _Thank god I put this together last night…_ Grabbing a glass with water from the tap, he was at Eren’s side in a moment, kneeling next to the both of them and dumping the day’s worth of medicine into his hand. He handed him the magenta tablet first, trying to keep their moods light, as best as one could while someone was in extreme pain. “Good morning, Eren. ...I think. Here, this’ll help.” He helped him with the glass of water, handing him a few others after.

Eren watched from his spot on the couch as Lathe went into Doctor mode, studying the pills he had in hand. He looked to the small magenta purple tablet offered to him, taking that first and foremost with a swig of water. He then followed suit with the rest of the pills handed to him.

Levi gave a small smile as he watched Eren down the pills without a fuss. _That’s good, just take your pills like you’re supposed to. At least with Lathe here I don’t need to worry about you overdosing._ Levi ran his fingers through Eren’s hair as Lathe finished up with the pills. “Eren, I need to go, okay?” He asked and leaned over to kiss the boy’s forehead. _Remain stoic, do not show emotion, if he sees it he’ll want you to stay… and Lathe would not have that._
Eren looked up with a blush to see Levi’s lips twisted up into a small smirk. He nodded softly rubbing into that hand which was caressing his head. “Okay. Goodbye, Short Stack… Have a good day at school… Don’t forget to tell Armin, and bring me back my work” Eren mumbled in between yawns. He felt like he could sleep for eons. I still feel so tired… It’s like I can’t wake up… Do I have to? Can’t I just fall back asleep?

Levi chuckled and ruffled his hair a bit. “I won’t forget, Brat.” He sighed and got up. “Don’t sleep the whole day away,” he murmured and got up to grab his forgotten bag. “Bye, Lathe… I’ll see you guys after practice.” And with that Levi left the house and started making the 15 minute walk to school. Did I have homework? Survey says….. No, thank fucking Satan!

Eren watched him leave and whimpered as he struggled to get up, making sure Levi was gone before he even tried to move. He wanted to be able to do it himself, though he was finding it impossible very quickly, especially with his morphine not kicked in yet. He let out a pain-filled cry as he tried to push himself up. I need to do this myself; I need to, I need to, I don’t want to need to rely on someone to help me up in the morning… Shit, my arm is gonna snap if I try to do this any longer… Eren whimpered as he slumped down into the makeshift bed again. Looking over to Lathe with his mop of hair way out of order due to his bed head, he silently pleaded for help, along with a small whimper.

Lathe rested his hand on Eren’s arm, trying to still his movement. “You took a morphine pill a second ago, give it a chance. Then we’ll see if you can sit up. For right now, just stay put. It won’t be long.” He gave him a reassuring smile, standing and mumbling to himself. “I’m going to need my bags back…” He walked over to where they were on the floor, leaving his scarf on a hook next to the door, and letting his medical bag rest on the floor next to the couch. The other, black with a sharp blue and yellow spark symbol, he placed on the kitchen counter, starting to set up a laptop. He logged in, pulling up seemingly random files, and a long list with some groups of small icons on a purple screen filled the page. He grinned, turning and walking back to Eren. “Feel any better yet?”

Eren looked up to him and tried to push himself up. He whimpered a bit as he struggled. He could feel his elbows protesting against the movement. He let out a shrill sound as one of his elbows gave out, and he slumped back down. He put his head down in defeat. Fuck it, I can’t do that… Not even with the morphine can I push through it. Fuck, Lathe, help me dammit! Eren looked up to him with pleading eyes. His back felt much better, but he was too weak to actually do anything. He felt a wave of dizziness go through him as soon as he slumped down. Shit… Am I still sick? Fuck… I don’t think I can lift my head right now.

...how’s his fever doing? Lathe reached out to his forehead, feeling with the back of his hand. He might as well be on fire. “You’re really burning up, Eren. But we need to get you to sit up so you can eat. Here, I’ve got you.” Lathe gently took ahold of him, guiding him up and into a sitting position. “Do you have a preference at all for what you’d like me to make you?”
Eren let himself be moved by Lathe, and his head felt like it was ready to implode from the dizziness alone. He waited to even try and reply until he could put his head back on the couch. He waited for the dizziness to subside a bit. “No, I don’t… But I’ll need another pill” he murmured to the other and got comfortable in his spot.

His head probably feels awful. “Alright. One sec.” Lathe opened the bag at his foot, opening the top and handing Eren one more morphine pill. He took the half-empty glass from the table, handing that to him as well. “Your head should stop spinning soon. I’ll start on breakfast, okay? Do you want me to get you anything? A book or something?” It’s going to be a pretty boring day, honestly. The only thing really happening is Spades coming over. And even then, that’s not for long. Or entertaining. But that’s to be discussed after breakfast.

Eren thought about it for a few seconds. “Can you get my sketchbook…. And a few pencils? It’s on the desk in my room” he said quietly.

“Of course. I’ll be right back.” Lathe stood, going up the stairs and turning left to the room he remembered was Eren’s, where he found the comforter last night. He looked to the desk pushed against the wall. A thick sketchbook lay in the center, surrounded by various colored pencils, as well as some sketches. More drawings littered his room, with various subjects and mediums. These are all really good drawings. On closer inspection of his desk, there were various watercolor containers, some tins of paint…. A couple charcoal pencils and quite a few other random art supplies lying all over the surface. Nice setup. Should I get him graphite or charcoal… Eh, I’ll give him charcoal. That’s always fun. Carefully picking up the charcoal pencils and a small box of sticks, as well as a small sharpened and the sketch pad, he picked his way back over to the door, careful not to step on anything, and returned to hand the supplies over to Eren. “Is today a charcoal day?” His eyes were bright.

Eren gave him a small smile. “Charcoal will be good today” he murmured with a smile as he saw his small box of pencils. “Thank you” he said and smiled softly. He started out with one of his harder charcoal pencils, so it was a little softer than graphite, but it was good for sketching, which is what he started to do.

You can enthuse about how wonderful drawing is later. Just make breakfast, and try not to burn it. Lathe called from the fridge, perusing the new contents. “Eren, do you want tea or coffee to drink, or is milk okay?” He picked out some vegetables, and some ham and eggs. Omelets, don’t fail me now!

Oh… What does coffee taste like again? “Um… What does coffee taste like?” He asked quietly back to the kitchen… It had been too long to know what any of that tasted like… “And tea… What does that taste like?” He asked quietly. He felt embarrassed for not knowing.
...You have not lived. “Here, you must have a coffee maker, and I know I saw a kettle in one of the cupboards. I'll make both and have you try some, and we'll see what you like. Sound good?” Lathe put the ingredients on the counter, going to dig for the small box of tea bags and the tin of coffee grounds. I'll just make sure I put plenty of cream and sugar in the coffee; He'll hate it otherwise.

“O-okay.” He agreed quietly and went back to sketching, he was almost done sketching already. “I think the coffee maker is in the pantry… But I'm not sure” he told Lathe quietly. If he’s making both which would I like? He must like both then? If he's making it and I don't like it...

“Okay. Hopefully it works. If not, I'll make it work.” Lathe walked over to the pantry, finding it shoved into a corner on the floor. He picked it up, carrying it over next to the sink. Plugging it in, he filled it with water and put in a new filter, filling it with the grounds. He pressed the switch, and was relieved when the red light came on. “It's ali-ve!” He jokingly called to Eren. He went to start the tea, setting the kettle on the back burner with water to boil.

It's alive? What the hell is he talking about? I don't understand… “What’s alive?” Eren asked into kitchen and he had stopped his sketching for now because he was so confused at the moment. Is he just crazy?? I don't understand… Like at all…

Lathe looked at him, one eyebrow raised. Frankenstein, anyone? “The coffee machine works. Have you never heard that quote from Frankenstein? Even if you haven't read the thing?”

Eren shook his head slowly. “No... What is Frankenstein?” Eren looked to Lathe with large beady eyes, expecting an explanation. “I don’t understand.” What the hell is Frankenstein???

...How to describe the really terrifying story of Frankenstein in two sentences or less... Lathe shifted to lean against the counter with one hand, thinking. “Frankenstein is this book by Mary Shelley about this crazy Doctor guy obsessed with the idea of immortality. He digs up a dead body and performs these experiments using electricity, eventually bringing the corpse back to life and naming it ‘Frankenstein.’ It all just goes downhill from there.”

“Oh… Were you talking about the coffee maker then?” Eren seemed to pick things up pretty quickly still, despite his fever. He soon returned back to his sketching, approving of the explanation he got.

“Indeed I was. I'm just glad I didn't have to re-wire the thing. Now I want coffee.” Lathe started chopping carrots and an onion quickly, cubing the ham. “You’re getting a ham omelet, by the way.
Where did I put the cheese…” He went back to hunting in the fridge, soon returning to scramble the eggs and add all sorts of things on top, waiting for it to cook before flipping it over. The kettle started whistling, so he turned off the burner, letting it sit while he plated the omelet. He went to get Eren a nausea tablet before handing him his plate. “I'll get you tea in a moment when it steeps. The coffee will be a few minutes. I'll get you a fork and knife.” He returned with the silverware in a moment.

Eren took his pill quietly and he waited for his food to cool while the pill kicked in. He only had to wait a few minutes before he didn’t feel nauseous while looking at the food. He slowly started to eat, smiling when he found it to his liking. He wasn’t eating nearly as fast as he was last night though; he was taking his time to eat.

Lathe watched the tea steep in a plain white mug, finding the small carton of cream in the fridge shelf where he put it, hunting for the mini bottle of honey in the paper bags at the table. He mixed a little of both into the cup, taking out the teabag and walking over, handing it carefully to Eren. “It's alright if you don't like anything I give you. They're both more or less acquired tastes.”

Eren nodded and carefully reached for the cup. He sniffed it and smiled softly. “It smells good.” Eren slowly raised the mug to his lips. He took a small sip of it, taking in the tea. He crinkled his nose a bit. “It’s really sweet.” I don’t like sweetness, it reminds me too much of when I used to eat something sweet and immediately see it come back up. “Is there anything less sweet?” As he asked he looked up to Lathe with his large viridian eyes.

You don't like sweet? Huh. I would've thought you'd hate it if I left it bitter. “Here- Let’s try that again.” He held out his hands for the mug. He went and dumped it down the sink, quickly rinsing it and refilling it with more hot water from the kettle. He put in another teabag. Give that a good minute to steep. Hearing the sputtering of the coffee maker, he grinned and turned to it, switching it off, fetching another mug and pouring some with room at the top, deciding to leave it black. If he wants cream or something, there's room for it. He brought him the dark tea first, handing him the mug. “Try this.” Personally, I'd probably spit it out that strong. But, whatever floats your boat.

Eren noticed the darker color of the tea. “Thank you.” He slowly rose the mug to take a sip. Ah, that’s better, I like this. Eren smiled and it was quite a big smile. “It tastes good” he said quietly. He smiled and rose the mug up to his lips again, taking another sip, his half-eaten omelet forgotten for now.

Lathe smiled, turning to pour himself some coffee, using plenty of cream and a pinch of cocoa powder from a small jar. How can he not like sweet? It's crazy. He studied the plain white mug. It could use some color. I'm all for white, but... Eh. Not important. He returned his attention to his laptop for a moment, scrolling through rows and rows of large icons and thumbnails. I'll let him finish his tea before giving him his coffee. It'll let it cool down in the meantime, anyway. He put down the mug, reaching over to start putting away the food left strewn about on the counter. I should probably unpack all those bags, too… wait. Lathe looked to the pantry, the door still ajar, looking at the one box of pasta near the top. … Leave it for now. Spades could do something with that. He settled for washing the pan and the cutting board and knife, putting them away and glancing back to check on Eren every once in awhile. …Spades. Better tell him.

Eren had eaten a majority of his omelet, and was finishing up with his cup of tea when Lathe came back in. His sketchbook showed the beginning of an outline for a person. The charcoal gave for a really nice shading material, and damn did Eren know how to fucking use it.

“Eren, I have a mug of coffee for you if you want it, or you can have more tea if you really love it. But I also have something important to tell you.” Lathe flicked his left arm, moving his watch on his wrist so he could see the face. “In about ten minutes or so, I’m having my good friend Spades come over. She’s going to be working on the case against your father for everything he put you through.” He watched Eren’s eyes shift, quickly speaking to stop his fear. “She’s not going to ask for testimony or anything just yet. She just wants to map out the house, take pictures, collect anything incriminating. And since she has your medical file, it’s not like you’re going to be forced through a long proceeding. She’ll explain it more when she gets here at nine. But she’s very friendly, and she wants to help you get away from your father for good, so he can't hurt you any more.” Lathe rested a hand on his shoulder. “We're going to make this all as painless as possible. Don't worry yourself about it.” He smiled softly.

Eren watched Lathe… “But he ran…. He ran away… No one knows where he is anymore” he murmured and looked down at his nearly-empty tea mug. He tipped it back and finished off the last bit. He looked to his plate. “I can’t eat anymore than that, sorry.” He mumbled his words with his head down. “- and I’ll try some coffee.” He looked over to his sketchbook to pick it back up. He was grateful he hadn’t seen his father at all since he had returned from the hospital. I probably would’ve been dead already if he came back….

Lathe traded mugs with Eren, picking up the plate, balancing the silverware on it. “You're actually eating, which is good enough for me, as long as you like it. And your father can't run forever. Do you know what everyone in this world needs at some point?” He started walking back to the sink.

Eren watched him leave. “What?” He asked quietly. He returned his focus back to his sketchbook. He was still sketching something random.

“Money.” Lathe talked to Eren over his shoulder, scrubbing the plate. “Spades already had enough from your medical file to talk to a judge. She has tabs on all of Grisha’s bank accounts, watching for any withdrawals so they can catch him and drag him to court. He’ll be on the map soon enough.”

Eren swallowed hard. “They can’t catch him if he’s in Germany…. His passport is gone.” Eren brought up the information quietly, his voice cracking again. He knew they wouldn’t be able to do anything once Grisha had left the country... It was too small of a case, nothing could more could be done. I don’t think they can do anything more... My father just sent a check to the hospital... He might’ve sent it from Germany.... Shit.

“Eren, there are charges pending against your father, and there’s always a paper trail. I'll make sure she checks recent purchases under his name, checks with airports nearby. International withdrawals will still come up with dates and times... Locations.” Lathe furrowed his brow. “I’m sure she knows someone at the American embassy in Germany. She knows a lot of people.” Lathe looked over to Eren. “A lot of people.”

Eren looked up to him and nodded. “Okay.” He continued to sketch until he heard soft raps against the front door after a few minutes. He looked over to watch Lathe move from the kitchen over to the front door. Is she here already?

“Lathe! It’s good to see you again. May I come in?” A sweet voice with an unplaceable accent sounded from the door.

“Hey Spades, thank you so much for coming. Of course. Eren’s over there, on the couch in the living room.” Lathe motioned to Eren, stepping back to let her enter.

She carefully walked over to Eren, surveying the room with sharp grey eyes. Her hair was the color of fire, pulled high into a ponytail, loose wavy locks tucked behind her ears, falling around her face. A large camera hung from around her neck, and she carried a heavy-looking case in one hand. She caught Eren’s gaze, and smiled sweetly, putting the case by the coffee table and offering her hand. “You must be Eren. You can call me Spades. I'm going to be helping with the case against your father.” Her eyes shone.

Eren watched her with wide eyes. Swallowing hard, he didn’t necessarily trust her yet, and to be honest, he was still trying to take in her bubbliness. He looked to her hand outstretched for his and he panicked a bit. What do I do? I’m so unsure.. “H-hi” Eren stuttered and moved away from her a bit, very wary of her.

She raised her arms in surrender, taking a small step back. She still had a small smile. “Fair enough. A total stranger, and a morning person. I'd be suspicious too.” She had a glint in her eye. I hope he doesn't mind my brand of humor. Eh, he's hanging out with Lathe. He should be used to it by now at least a little. “In all seriousness though,” she dropped her hands, her thumbs in her pockets. “I'm the person in charge of finding your father and dragging him into court. Me being here today is important, not because I need testimony- that’s a whole other ball game- but because I need to take pictures. Anything incriminating, I need to photograph, collect if I can, take DNA and fingerprints from if I can, and file it all for analysis later. I just need you to let me know I can do that.” She looked Eren in the eye. “Eren, yes or no- will you trust me to lead the proceedings against your father?” You can trust me, kid. You really can.

Eren looked over to Lathe for a second before he nodded. “Y-yes.” He said quietly and he reached to his comforter to curl up under it. “What do you need to know?” He asked quietly. Does she need to know where to look? Does she need to know what he did? Does she need to know what knives he used? Eren started to shake just thinking about opening up to someone else.

_Oh my._ Lathe crossed over to Eren, sitting next to him and running a hand through his brown locks. “It’s alright, Eren.” He looked to Spades. “Am I allowed to talk on his behalf for some of this?”

Spades shifted her weight to one side, studying Eren’s shaking frame. “While I’m walking around, for the bigger picture, I think so. But if there’s something specific I should look into- a specific place or object or room- he needs to tell me that himself. It’s something only he would know.” Her eyes softened. “Can you do that, or should I just start my sweep?”

Eren swallowed hard. He curled up to Lathe’s touches and shuffled as close to him as possible. His shaking subsided a bit. “T-the basement… The kitchen floor…. And his bedroom at the end of the hall upstairs.” Eren whispered the words into Lathe’s ear before burying his head into his shoulder. He didn’t trust his own voice to go higher than a whisper. I don’t want to talk anymore… No more, please. He silently begged Lathe to understand as his shaking hand clung to the teacher’s shirt.

Spades tilted her head to one side, a lock of hair falling from next to her ear, a small earpiece visible. ‘What?’ She mouthed to Lathe, knowing better than to speak.

Lathe looked torn between speaking and just holding onto Eren, his right arm wrapped around him, his head tucked under his chin. His eyes focused on his raised left hand, slowly and with deliberation trying to spell out what Eren said. He dropped his arm as Spades nodded, taking her case with her up the stairs. He just held onto Eren, trying to get him to stop shaking. He murmured. “It’s alright. That’s all we need. I’ve got you.”

Eren sniffled quietly, nodding and curling up to Lathe’s chest. He was warm, and his hot forehead was rested against an open patch of Lathe’s skin between his neck and his collarbone. The boy made a soft noise and nuzzled his hot forehead into the relief his cool skin gave him. He was starting to stop his shaking, calm down a bit as his arms wrapped around him. I like being in someone’s arms… It’s so much nicer than a fist.

Spades slowly moved to the end of the hall, looking over her shoulder to Eren’s room. That’s his room. It looks like any normal bedroom, nothing really important to the case there… She stopped in front of the closed door at the end of the hall, putting down her case and pulling on gloves. I'll need these. Holding her camera ready with one hand, she slowly turned the knob with one hand. ... what? It's locked. She dropped her camera, studying the knob, where the bolt slid in place against the frame. It's an old house, so… She fumbled to grab her wallet from her pocket, fishing an old ID card out and prodding at the metal. It immediately opened. Of course. Putting it away, she held onto her camera, pushing the door slowly open.

The stale stench of alcohol hit her first. Broken bottles littered the floor, all the dark glass from beer bottles, the clear, tall necks from cheap vodka, the thickest glass from scotch. She took pictures of the whole scene immediately, turning the flash on, and studying what showed up on the screen. The pictures showed what the darkness had hidden from her—just how much blood coated everything in sight. She retrieved yellow tags and right-angled rulers, snapping picture after picture of jagged bottles, their bottoms broken off or shattered entirely, dusting everything she could for fingerprints, swabbing the blood from their edges and anything from their mouthpieces, labeling them with extreme care. Picking the tags back up after photographing the entire scene with them one last time, she packed the multitude of samples she already had in a drawer of her heavy case, descending the steps carefully, not seeing much else on the top floor. She paused in the living room, seeing the blood spatter on the ground and in the corner, catching the maroon drops on the dark wood of some of the furniture. She looked to Lathe, still holding onto Eren as he drew.

Lathe felt her looking at him, meeting her gaze. He watched as she pointed to the drops in the corner. He read her lips. ‘Last night?’ He nodded, silent. He watched as she worked, taking photos of the broken furniture and the dark spots, swabbing the blood. He subconsciously held onto Eren just a little bit tighter. She knows what she’s doing.

Eren’s steady breathing sounded underneath Lathe’s chin. The boy had his eyes focused on the sketchbook in his lap, his back pressed against his chest. He enjoyed that Lathe kept his strong arms around his thin body. It was comforting to be in the man's lap as he drew. He had already finished his first sketch of a waterfall and started to work on a deer now. He was constantly switching the hardness he was using to get different colors in the fur. It already looked amazing.

Spades tried her best to be quiet as she worked her way down the room, the click of her camera the loudest noise she made. She stopped at the entrance to the kitchen, setting her things down and leaning down to closely study the tiles. There are so many slits cut in the tile… Haphazard… Uniform. With purpose. She placed down another ruler, taking photographs of how long each cut in the tile was, practically the same across the five or so she checked. It was the same knife. So… but I don’t know if I want to ask him which. It’s thick enough to be a knife I’d find in the drawer with the rest you’d use for cooking. She opened some of the drawers, finding one with sharper knives inside. A large butcher knife lay near the top, the front corner of the cutting edge especially scratched and nicked, slightly bent. The money I’d put on that being it… She snapped a photograph, carefully picking it up and taking special images, one of it held directly above a cut, a scratch line where it would stop cutting through the tiles visible on the blade, and one with it sunk into the tile, stopping exactly where it bent. It’s a fit… She removed it from the floor, dusting for any prints left. Nothing. It’s been washed… wait. She noted a small speck of blood, stuck in the crack of where the metal was mounted onto the heavy plastic handle. That. Taking a swab, she then placed the knife in an evidence bag, careful not to have it cut through the thick paper. She looked over to the corner, seeing the bloody belt coiled up, the dark leather bloody, the metal behind the scraps of skin shining. Oh my god. She passed the pantry without a glance, placing a yellow tag next to it. This is awful... all of it. The grey dust stuck to fingerprints, many overlapping. There are good prints on this one. But that’s Eren’s skin... She picked it up carefully, placing it in a large evidence bag. She walked back to her kit, passing once more by the open pantry, finally seeing it. ...There is literally nothing in that pantry. She brought her camera up, disheartened by the lone box of pasta on the shelf. No wonder he’s so sickly... She stowed away the bags in her case, almost full with everything she collected. I’m going to need to stow this in the car soon... She picked it up, carrying it to the door in the hall, close to the kitchen. She thought a moment, and set it down. The basement. Let’s see what the damage is first... Taking a breath, she opened the door, reaching over to flick on the lights.

Cold white lights took a few seconds to flicker on, dim. The stairs creaked underfoot, the handrail ready to break off of the wall. It was much colder than the rest of the house, the grey cement floor full of cracks. A steel surgical table was drilled down into the floor, gleaming in the center of the room. Leather straps with steel buckles lay open, short ones for wrists and ankles, others for the chest, the legs, the head... Metal hooks stuck out from the ceiling above it, meant for equipment to hang... A metal cabinet drilled into the wall was ajar, showing jars labeled with spidered handwriting. Another next to it was closed, the key hanging from the lock. A file cabinet was in the corner, a few papers and old electronic equipment stacked on top of it. Wires connecting from the back of the biggest piece were nailed in place up the wall, strung to video cameras, their lights out, all pointing to the metal table in the center. The file cabinet labels were yellowing, their words barely legible:

The Effects of Organ Removal on Response to Various Illnesses and Their Combative Medicines

She had to stop reading after that.

Spades strode back over to the stairs, taking a shot of the basement as a whole before walking upstairs. Her face was blank as she picked up her case, walking out to her car and opening the passenger’s side door. She moved the two bags of evidence and the numerous DNA swabs for testing into a metal box on the floor, before leaning against the side of the car, taking off her gloves and putting her head in her hands. This is... After a moment, Spades dropped her hands, pushing herself off her car. Come on. You need to finish this. Picking up the heavy metal case up from the seat, she slammed the door shut, walking back through the door.

Lathe looked up from Eren’s drawing, concerned. She doesn’t look too good... is it really that bad? Lathe tensed, ready to get up and investigate for himself. I need to know.

Spades saw Lathe shift, and held up her hand in an imperative ‘Stop.’ She spoke quietly. ‘I’m fine.
You stay put.” She flashed him a quick smile. I'm not letting you see this.

Eren looked up when he heard her speak. He put his drawing stuff away for the moment and got up on wobbly feet, making his way towards the bathroom, sensing that Lathe wanted to get up and he needed to use the facilities himself. He used the wall to help him get around, and soon found himself in the bathroom.

Lathe stood, making sure Eren could walk without too much trouble before crossing the room quickly, putting his hand on Spades’ arm. His voice was low, urgent. “How bad is it?”

Spades looked to him with sympathy. “If you must know…” She pressed a button on her camera, showing him the last photograph she took.

The color drained out of Lathe’s face. That’s sick... terrifying. “What…” He swallowed hard, pointing to the cabinets.

“...I don't know yet. I haven't gotten that far. I only took this for now. Lathe…” Spades took the camera from her neck, giving Lathe a hug. “He’s fine now. He’s going to be even better soon. This is all behind him now.”

Lathe willed himself to stop shaking. You can't. You won’t. Stop it. “T-thanks…” He weakly returned her hug, pulling back after a moment. He swallowed. “H-how long do you think you need, still?”

Spades checked her watch. “It’s ten thirty now… I'd say noon. There’s an entire file cabinet down there that seems to be in relative order… I'm probably going to drag that back to the station. It'll take days to sort through, most likely.” She smiled softly. “You’ve done wonderfully, Lathe. I'll keep doing what I can. We can talk after I'm done. Right now…” she trailed off, watching Eren shambling back to the couch. “...you have a job to do.” She gave him a light nudge, a reassuring look in her eyes. We’ll get through this. Somehow, we will.

Eren shuffled to the couch and slowly made his way to a comfortable sitting position, wrapped up into a giant cocoon via his comforter. He seemed happy to be swaddled in warmth. He had gathered his sketches again, putting the finishing touches on the deer before he started to doodle on a clean sheet.

Lathe walked slowly back to the couch, his footsteps heavy. The things he’s done to Eren...
When he got to the couch, he hesitated, not sure what to do with himself. He shuffled his feet for a moment, not wanting to uproot Eren after he just got situated. Ugh. I suck at this.

Eren noticed Lathe shuffle on his feet. He reached over and pulled him down onto the couch before he curled up to Lathe again, laying his head on his shoulder as he situated himself in his lap. He’s comfortable…I like it. I wonder if Levi would be this comfortable…Hmm, I’ll have to see when he gets home. I’m also going to assume Lathe has seen the pictures from the basement, so he probably knows almost everything now…. Fun.

Lathe silently watched Eren doodle. It’s awful what happened to you. I just hope I’m doing an okay job trying to get you through this, out of your own personal Hell. He wrapped his arms back around Eren’s middle. We’ll get you out of this. Swear it.

Spades walked back to the basement door, letting out a breath, steeling herself. Her eyes hardened. You need to finish this. Stepping down the stairs, she placed her case on the bottom step, putting on a new set of gloves, removing rulers and tags, and getting to work.

The file cabinet was first. She took pictures of the equipment on top, studying the wiring. The cameras feed into this big piece, which I think burns it into CDs. …That’s fucked up. She dusted over the buttons for fingerprints, finding plenty and taking pictures of them before setting them on the ground, out of the way. She took pictures of the ancient labels on the drawers, dusting over the handles. More prints. She carefully took hold of the top handle, pushing the button and opening it.

Rows and rows of Manila folders stared back up at her, each dated and filled with papers, sticky notes, diagrams, descriptions… he was so systematic about it… It’ll take days and days to get through it all. I'm not going to be getting much sleep for a while, am I. But how could anyone do this, so many times, to their own son? She slid it back shut, letting it click back in place. Before anything else, you need to get it out of here. I should’ve brought the truck. Do I go get it now, or later… Later. Finish everything else. She moved over to the file cabinets, snapping images of the ajar doors, the key dangling in the lock. Prints. Prints. More prints. There’s no way he can get out of this. She opened the first cabinet slowly, and if she hadn't had her camera on a strap behind her neck, it’d’ve busted on the floor.

The top row of the cabinet, at her eye level, were jars filled with a dark liquid, masses of flesh still and floating inside them. Masking tape peeling at the ends labeled them, the pencil lines too smudged and faded to be legible. Spades swallowed hard, dusting them. They've been picked up so much-there isn't an untouched millimeter on them. She took pictures of their labels, faded though they be, and the labels on the rows of jars and boxes of medicine below them. The names were odd, ones she had never heard, and the few she did… these were all banned as anaesthetics. They… didn’t work. Twenty or more containers and labels, all with dates and notes underneath their names.
Twenty minutes after beginning the procedure, effects were apparent

Failed to completely render patient unconscious, allowed for continual movement of limbs.

No observable effects on patient, rendering them unconscious or otherwise.

Spades stopped seeing the labels as words. She refused to register what they said. She took the ones she knew were banned and illegal to possess, sealing them in paper envelopes. I'll need to ask Lathe about which other ones are illegal. He'd know. She looked to the jars again. ...I'm not touching those. They're a biohazard and I'm not equipped to deal with that right now. She cast her eyes to the right cabinet, sighing. ...One more cabinet. It's almost done. She turned the key, slowly opening the metal doors. Her eyes were greeted with the sight of various kinds of ropes. Ropes? She looked further down to a cardboard box, closed… It appeared as though it had been taped shut and opened many times, and it was just falling apart now. The outside was marked with that same wispy handwriting, only this time it was legible, done in a permanent marker: Personal. What could be in here? Spades reached forward and after snapping a few photos of the whole cabinet, she opened the box and almost immediately dropped her camera again. Leather whips, Nine-tail whips, gags, handcuffs… The list could go on, but Spades had to look away almost instantly. The smell from the box was putrid, a combination of blood and sex. She had to stand up and turn around to collect herself again. And to think it could get worse. Calm down, you need to finish this, this will just help drive the nail into getting him a lifetime sentence. She steeled her nerves, slowly returning to the box and opening it once again. She almost gagged at the smell that wafted from that box alone. Spades lifted up her camera, and took pictures before pulling each and every small piece of equipment out of it. She bit her lip as she picked up a majority of the objects. They were caked with a sickening combination of blood, lube, and semen. She went back to her bag to grab the yellow tabs and her rulers, taking careful pictures of all the… ‘instruments,’ before getting DNA samples from a majority of them, and placing them all in their own Manila envelopes. She then hurriedly put everything back in the box and put it back in the cabinet before hurriedly slamming it closed. I'll come back for that later. She let out a heavy sigh, her feet dragging on the floor as she walked back to her case, putting away her tags, swabs, gloves… She shut the top with more force than she needed to. When we find that man someone better hold me back before I kill him myself. How fucked up can you get?! She walked up the stairs, shutting off the lights and closing the door quietly behind her. She looked to her watch. Eleven forty-two… I should have everything back at the station by one or so. She peered in at Eren and Lathe, the latter holding the former protectively. He’s such a nice kid… It's awful how this had to happen to him.

Lathe glanced up to Spades, wishing to speak to her. He spoke quietly to Eren. “I need to get up for a sec, Eren, alright? I need to talk to Spades.”

Eren looked up to the man and nodded after a few seconds. He slowly and carefully got off of Lathe’s lap and curled up in the corner of the couch to doodle again. He didn’t mind the loss of warmth for now. He’ll come back… I know he will, he’s got to.
Spades didn’t set her case down. “Come with me.” She led him to the top of the staircase, opening the door again and flicking the light back on. She looked back at him, bringing him down the steps and slowly over to the file cabinets. She turned to him, a fearful look in her eyes. “There are some… jars in this cabinet, and I don’t know what they are. I need you to… identify them for me.” She set down her case and took up a pen and paper, nudging the cabinet open with the end of her pen.

Lathe’s eyes widened, his face as white as paper. Those are… “That’s… um, they’re all human organs… either whole, or in pieces… That first one is… A gall bladder.” He swallowed. “The second is probably sections of a liver. The third through the fifth are all pieces of a kidney… Only one. And the sixth and seventh…” He shivered. “…that’s a spleen. They can’t be anything else.” His eyes drifted down to the boxes of sedatives, his eyes widening. “Those… I don’t see one that isn’t illegal.” He skimmed over their labels, grimacing. “He used these…” He looked at one, his state miles away. “These were all banned because they either didn’t work at all, or all they would do is paralyze the body… and the patient could feel everything. They wouldn’t be able to tell you until you were done…” He ran a hand through his hair, shutting his eyes. Why. “Is that all you needed me for?” He turned his sad eyes to Spades. Please say yes so we can leave.

Her page was filled with numbers and notes. She nodded. “I need to collect all these boxes of medicine, and take them up with me. I have to collect the file cabinet and… Other things…” She tried not to shudder. “So I need to leave and come back with the truck. When I do, it shouldn’t be too hard to get that thing up the stairs and in it. And then, we can have a better discussion on this, if you’re up to it.” I don’t think I’d be able to talk too well about this at this point… But if you need to, we can.

Lathe studied his shoes, shook his head. “I- I can’t. Not right now.” I need to think more on this. It’s so much…

Spades offered him a small smile. “It’s fine. I’m not exactly doing too well with all this myself. I think you should go back up, stay with Eren. He’s probably worried about what happened to you being gone so long.” A small light flickered in her eye.

Lathe sighed in defeat. “Thanks. For everything.” The gratitude in his eyes was obvious, immense. He shuffled over to the stairs, listening to Spades put on gloves again and pick up the boxes. He felt exhausted, for it being only noon. You need to clear your head for awhile. You have a sick teen to attend to, and he’d probably appreciate it if you made lunch already. …I need to stop being so hard on myself. Chill. Lathe walked over to his laptop, scrolling through a long list of icons. He looked over to Eren. “I’m going to make us something to eat. Do you mind if I play some music? I won’t set it too loud.” Please be okay with it.
Eren looked up from his work to see Lathe. He nodded but his face gave away a look of discomfort before his body started to shudder as he coughed horribly. He coughed a few times before putting his sketching stuff away and curling up into a tighter ball. “You can play it” he told him, his voice sounded really hoarse after coughing.

Lathe winced at his hoarse voice. “Do you want a cough drop? I think I have some.” He walked to his bag after pressing a button, letting the first chords of a song play.

Eren nodded and moved to get up to follow Lathe to his bag. He was still wrapped in his large black comforter. He smiled at the song… It was Shooting Stars by Bag Raiders, so of course he started to sing along, taking the cough drop from Lathe.

“It’s late I’m awake,
Staring at the wall
Open up my window
Head floats out the door”

Lathe looked at Eren with surprise. He knows this song? More importantly, he can sing? His voice is amazing!

“No one else around
A shimmer takes my eye
I lift my head
Blinded by the sky”

Lathe shook himself from his stunned state of mind, grinning and standing back up, moving to start cooking. I'm not the only music enthusiast around. That's great! He dug in the bags for bread and tomatoes, fetching mozzarella cheese and fresh basil out of the fridge.

“Feel my weight in front
Following the sound
Moves away so fast
Fall to the ground”
Lathe nodded to the beat of the song, quietly adding his lower voice to Eren’s as he started cooking, shredding cheese and slicing tomatoes. He saw Spades come up from the basement, and at his inquiring look, she shook her head. ‘Thank you, though.’ Guess it’s just me and Eren for lunch, then.

“I know there's more to come
Jump back to my feet
Now I only see ahead of me
Chasing down the street”

Lathe assembled the soon-to-be-grilled cheese sandwiches in a hot pan, covering them and letting himself sing a little louder to match Eren’s volume. It's nice that it isn't just my voice singing along for once...

“Gave my love to a shooting star
But she moves so fast
That I can't keep up
I'm chasing”

Eren smiled as he sang. He came into the kitchen to look around for his nausea pills, he wanted to take them so he would be able to eat when the food was ready. The smell was making his mouth water already. Ah, found them! Eren lifted the bottle, so Lathe could see him take them before he put it back and got out a glass for water.

“I'm in love with a shooting star
But she moves so fast
When she falls then
I'll be waiting”

Lathe flipped the sandwiches and covered them one more time, waiting for them to finish browning. He kept a careful eye on Eren as he took his nausea pill. Just making sure... He took off the lid, avoiding the small cloud of steam and sliding them both onto their own plates, handing Eren one. “Here you go, Eren. Do you want something to drink? More tea? We have milk if you just want that.” You really liked the tea earlier. You didn't seem to be a huge coffee fan, though.

Eren looked to his plate and smiled softly. “I would like some tea, if there is some” he said quietly and he sat down carefully at the kitchen table, still wrapped in his blanket. His fever still high. I would love tea, it would probably help my throat.
“There’s still plenty. I’ll make sure to get more later.” He set the kettle on the back burner. “Do you want any honey in it? I know you’re not a big fan of sweet but it’ll help with your throat. I’ll make sure it’s still very strong.” You really don’t sound good, and losing your voice sucks.

Eren thought about it. If it’s not too sweet it should be fine… “as long as it’s not too sweet you can put it in” he told the other and carefully lifted his steaming sandwich to take a bite.

*...Have I not had napkins around at all? Ugh. He dug into one of the bags near Eren’s foot, opening a small package of them and placing a small stack in the center of the table. “I swear this isn’t some passive-aggressive message. Just if you need one.” He grinned, turning back to the singing kettle, finding another mug and letting the tea steep. He put his own plate across from Eren, handing him his tea before nudging some bags out of the way of his chair and sitting down, biting his own sandwich. I hope he likes it. This is one of my favorite things to eat when I’m sick.

Eren was already chowing down on the delicious sandwich when Lathe sat down across from him. *This is good, but I don’t think that I can eat much more… Eren took two more bites before setting half the sandwich down. He couldn’t eat it… fuck… and it was good too. Eren slowly reached to his tea and drank it slowly.

Lathe saw the guilt lacing Eren’s eyes, setting his sandwich down and swallowing before he spoke. “You don’t have to eat it all. You just started eating on a regular basis. You got through half. That’s wonderful progress.” His eyes glinted. “And they make good leftovers. It’s fine.” Lathe smiled, returning to his own food, studying the bags by his foot as he chewed. I should probably put all that away when I’m done. It’s kinda getting in the way.

Eren nodded in understanding. He liked that the tea was still strong even with the honey. He sighed from the relief the tea brought from his scratchy throat. *Feels better, I can probably sing better. My head is throbbing though, a lot more than before… Fuck it hurts. Eren reached up to rub his throbbing head, he gasped when he felt just how warm his forehead was compared to his cold hands. He whimpered a bit and tried to curl up to himself. He coughed again, and his throat became scratchy and dry in an instant. His whole body shook as he coughed, he looked even paler than before. *I feel like shit... God, I’ve never been so sick before... Fuck... I feel dizzy again.

He’s getting worse. He needs to lie down. Setting down his last remnant of sandwich, Lathe stood and swiftly stepped around the table, his arm across Eren’s shoulders, rubbing his arm lightly. “I think you should lie down, Eren. You sound worse than before. Here.” Lathe offered his hand, letting Eren lean on him as he stood up, dragging the blanket behind him on his way to the couch.

Eren stood up with Lathe’s help and immediately knew it was a bad idea. Shit, I see fucking stars.
Eren reacted sluggishly, trying to grab for Lathe’s arm as he started to keel forward. He missed though and gave a yelp as he crumpled on the floor. Fuck, too dizzy to fucking stand… My body feels like lead… Goddammit. Eren coughed again, curling into the fetal position to keep the pain at bay as his body shook violently with every cough.

Lathe dropped down next to Eren, brushing his hair out of his face and feeling his forehead again. He’s burning up even worse than before. I need to get him off the floor. Lathe carefully snaked his arms under Eren, slowly lifting him and the blanket up, stepping to the couch deliberately, trying not to trip on the blanket near his feet. What do I do we need to break his fever and it sounds simple but I don’t want anything else I give him to react against the other stuff I already gave him...

Lathe set him down on the couch, tugging the blanket to his chin before rummaging in his bag, finding an orange bottle and reading the back. I know it’s for colds, fever, head congestion, dizziness and chills, blah blah blah, active ingredients… It should be okay. Two of them? That works. …may cause drowsiness. Lathe looked to Eren’s curled form. He could use the rest. Lathe opened the top, shaking two of the tablets into his hand. He handed them to Eren. “One sec, I’ll grab your tea.” He walked quickly to retrieve it from the table, coming back to hand him the warm mug, helping him lean up to sip from it.

Eren swallowed the two pills. When he was lifted to sip at the tea he felt like his head was going to roll off his neck. It took a few moments for him to rid himself of the dizziness. He took a sip of the tea and was able to wash down the pills. Once he was put down he began to cough horribly, and it sounded almost that with each cough he could very well throw up whatever was in his stomach. Fuck, it hurts, Lathe, help…. Please. Eren whimpered and grabbed at his head when he finally stopped coughing.

Oh thank god the coughing’s over, I thought for a minute he wasn’t going to keep lunch down. Lathe pet Eren’s head lightly, murmuring softly. “It’s okay, your head will feel better soon. Just give it a moment and you’ll be alright.”

Eren whimpered a bit and reached out a shaking hand out. He weakly grabbed hold of Lathe’s pants and tugged on them. He wanted to curl up to something. He couldn’t sleep without a body beside him. I don’t want to have a nightmare if someone’s not with me…. His eyes looked a bit fearful as he tugged onto his pant leg, fearful he would leave.

What is this thing that is now happening “Uh, what’s…?” Lathe let Eren tug him onto the couch, helping him shift so his head was in his lap, tucking the blanket back in place. He tangled his fingers into Eren’s hair, softly petting him and playing absentmindedly with his locks. … Alright.

Eren had closed his eyes, his breathing evening out rather quickly. His small body curled up to as much warmth as he could. He slept soundly, though his coughs every now and then would jostle him a bit before he would fall back asleep again. He didn’t pull his head away when Lathe ran his fingers through his hair. It feels nice. Don’t stop, Lathe….. Eren drifted off into deeper sleep.
Lathe kept softly carding his fingers through Eren’s brunette hair, his gaze miles away. His mind wandered, though he made sure to check every once in awhile to see how his fever was doing. The pills I gave him have always acted fast. He’ll be much better soon. He looked up as a silver truck pulled up outside, Spades retrieving a trolley from the back. She quietly opened the door, fastening ropes hanging around the back of her neck, looking in at Lathe and Eren.

She smiled at him, mouthing ‘It’s cool; I can handle one file cabinet. I'll try to be quiet.’ She wheeled the trolley in, closing the door and lifting it down the basement stairs.

Lathe kept his attention on Eren, hoping he wouldn't stir. I hope she can handle that cabinet. It didn't exactly look light... Five minutes passed, and he heard shuffling by the basement door, which had been left wide open. A creak, and a quiet thunk. Another creak, another quiet thunk. Eleven more, and she was visible, carefully guiding the cabinet into the hall. She flashed Lathe a smile. She’s got this.

Eren’s whole body shivered. He let out a soft whimper because of it, and attempted to curl closer to the other and cocooning himself more into the blanket. The house was still pretty cold, and his fever showed no signs of breaking yet. But the boy went back to sleep as soon as he was comfortable again.

Waitwaitwaitwaitwait. Lathe picked up his hands, waving to make sure he had Spades’ attention. He wracked his brain for the right movements, spelling out the half of the words he didn't know. ‘It’s freezing in here. Did you see a furnace downstairs?’

Spades parked the trolley so it wouldn't move, signing back, mouthing the words. ‘I think it was on the other side of the stairs. I’ll go check and see if it’s working at all. I should probably call the gas company. It might just be shut off.’ She left the trolley, padding down the stairs. My money's on the latter. Looking at the furnace, it appeared to be in one piece. She went back upstairs, signing to Lathe. ‘Most likely, the gas was shut off. Let me take stuff to the truck, and I'll call around, get that going. Has there been any mail?’

Lathe shook his head. ‘There isn't even a mailbox here. There must be a PO Box that everything is going to. How else would they be getting billed?’

Spades nodded. 'I'll call the post offices in town. We’ll get all this sorted out.’ She hesitated, her fingers slowly feeling the air as she thought of the right words. She sighed, determined. ‘We can't forget that Eren is still a minor. I'm hoping I can find them as I go through the files, but we need to find Eren’s papers. His passport, his birth certificate… Lathe, we can't let him go through the system.’
Lathe’s eyes widened, his fingers twitching, before signing back rapidly, barely having to think about how the words moved. ‘No no no, I don’t think I’m the right kind of person to be responsible for Eren. I’d do an absolutely horrible job taking care of him all the time, and he’d probably get sick of me really fast and I don’t know if I’m up for something as important as that, it’s barely been a day and how could he ever trust me enough for that after one day?’

Eren’s body shook violently as he coughed again, his grip immediately going for Lathe’s shirt as he was startled from sleep. His body continued to shake even after his coughing fit. He was shivering; his fever had subsided only slightly, not even a whole degree yet… His eyes were wide in full blow fear as his body shook even more violently with a second, much longer coughing fit, he was struggling to get air in as his coughing continued. The sounds getting worse and worse as he continued, clinging onto Lathe.

Lathe’s attention immediately switched to Eren, dropping his arms to pet his hair and rub his shoulder, murmuring. You can’t panic now, that’ll make it worse. “It’s alright, Eren, you don’t have to panic, it’s just a coughing fit, it’ll be over soon…” Come on, this sickness has to give sometime. His fever’s barely gone down. It’s so slow going… But it’s going nonetheless.

Eren’s grip struggled to remain on Lathe’s shirt as a third longer fit ripped through Eren’s body. His shudders were violent for each cough, and he was a bit wheezy when if finally ended minutes later, his whole face was flushed red, and he was simply exhausted after going through that. He had still managed to keep his food down too, which was good. He exhaustedly slouched down into Lathe’s lap again and curled up to him. He was awake now, and too scared to go back to sleep at the moment. No, I don’t want to wake up not being able to breath like that again. Though, he was starting to calm down in Lathe’s arms with his soft murmurs.

Lathe sighed, relieved that it was over for then, smiling at Eren reassuringly. He looked up to Spades, leaning in the doorway, her arms crossed and one eyebrow raised. She mouthed silently to him. ‘you were saying...?’

Lathe blushed, turning his head away a bit and frantically spelling words with his left hand ‘Let me think about everything, okay? It’s a lot to take in all at once.’ Dammit Spades. Stop being... kinda maybe not wrong about everything.

Eren was completely oblivious to their conversation. He just started to mumble nonsense in German to calm himself down, his hands still firmly grasping Lathe’s shirt.

...That isn't English… Lathe listened to the odd words, bringing his hand back down to gently rub Eren’s shoulder. He considered his shoes as he saw them out of the edge of his sight, shrugging and kicking them off. I’m going to be here for awhile. He crossed his feet on the coffee table, careful not to disturb Eren too much as he petted behind his ear, red still splashed across his cheeks. ...I honestly can't tell how right she may or may not be... I've got the giving-you-this-when-you're-sick-to-make-you-better part of it down, but this part right now, I guess... Kinda? He hasn’t hated anything I've cooked so far... I dunno. Maybe. The decision’s on him, really. I'll have to bring it up sooner or later. He barely noticed Spades continuing to move the cabinet out the door.

Eren’s murmuring soon died down and he rested his hot forehead against Lathe’s cool skin. “I’m cold” he mumbled quietly and weakly reached for his blanket, trying to pull it closer to his body; It wasn’t helping to keep the warmth around him much anymore. The boy was starting to shiver, his forehead so warm, showing off his fever, while his fingers and toes were icy cold.

How else am I supposed to... Lathe, you know damn well what this situation calls for. Just fucking go with it. “Watch out, kid, I’m coming in.” What am I even doing?! Lathe lifted his legs off the table, shifting so he was lying parallel to Eren, who was more or less on top of him. He pulled at the edge of the blanket, bringing it around the both of them. “That alright?” I have no fucking clue what's going on Eren gave a soft giggle as Lathe moved them. He almost instantly curled up to Lathe’s warmth under the blanket, his cold fingers still gripping the man’s shirt weakly. He gave a soft hum of agreement as he curled closer, burying his head into Lathe’s chest. It was amazing how warm his body could be, yet how cold he felt... He felt like his extremities had passed the coldness to the rest of his body. I’m fucking freezing, thank fuck for Lathe. If I was alone I don’t know what I would’ve done. Eren burrowed into Lathe without a single complaint, grateful for the added warmth.

Lathe wrapped his arms around Eren under the blanket, rubbing his sides with his thumb. He was still in total panic mode. Somebody help me please. He heard a click from the front doorway, looking up sharply to see Spades with her camera pointed at them, grinning like a madman. That's not what I meant by helping. Spades quietly chuckled at his glare and went back to retrieving things from downstairs.

Eren felt Lathe’s warm arms around him and he mumbled something again in German, incoherent to Lathe because of the way Eren’s face was buried in the man’s chest. The boy soon fell fast asleep in Lathe’s arms again, feeling safe in them. He’s warm... And I’m fucking exhausted. Lathe, *I hope you’re comfortable, you’re gonna be here awhile....

He’s out. I'm not going anywhere anytime soon. Apparently. Lathe smiled softly at Eren, letting his head fall back against the pillows. How did I get myself into this? Lathe felt the full force of the day's activities hit him, overwhelmed with exhaustion. Well, while I'm here... Lathe yawned, and let himself close his eyes, drifting in and out of sleep.
Chapter 14: Introduction Arc Part 5: Lathe's Humble Abode

Levi walked in the front door of Eren’s house, overnight bag slung over his shoulder, shouting out.
“I’m ho~me!” Why isn’t the door locked? I thought Lathe locked it behind me. And why isn’t anyone responding? It’s so quiet… Levi shut the door behind him, scanning the front rooms and down the hall. The bags still aren’t put away… Lathe had mentioned something about that earlier. Dumping his bag next to the door and kicking off his shoes, Levi looked to the couch, seeing Eren on top of Lathe, both of them peaceful in their sleep. ...I won’t wake them up. Levi walked over quietly, putting the back of his hand to Eren’s forehead. It’s way down from where it was earlier. It’s not gone, but almost. That’s good. He looked over to the kitchen, at the paper bags surrounding the table, at the plates from lunch still sitting on the table. I’ll get all this put away.

Levi spent the next twenty or so minutes storing boxes and jars in the pantry, the fridge, and on the counter. He stood back, admiring his work. The house actually looks lived in for once. He looked over to the table once more, the two dirty plates and uneaten sandwiches, the mugs and the pan on the stove. I’ll do the dishes. Carrying the plates over first and scraping them into the trash, going to turn on the water. It sputtered for a moment, and stopped.

...Huh. Placing the dishes on the mat in the sink, Levi walked to the bathroom, turning on the tap. More sputtering. That’s not good. Levi tried the faucet upstairs. Did they shut off the water? They shut off the water. The shower refused to work. The toilet wouldn’t flush. This is bad. Coming down the stairs, he turned to the couch, to where Eren and Lathe were sleeping. Lathe. Problem. Help. Levi walked straight up to him and did the first thing he thought of- he brought his hand up and smacked Lathe straight across the face. Wake up, dammit. He saw Lathe wince, still half-asleep, and smacked him again, his eyes barely starting to open. Come on wake the fuck up! Levi went to smack him one more time, but lathe caught his wrist in an iron grip an inch from his face. He was met with a stone-cold glare.

“What the fuck are you- oh, shit. Sorry- excuse the swearing.” Lathe let Levi go, registering the weight on his chest and glancing down at Eren, still asleep. He looked up to Levi, smirking.
“Jealous?”

Levi felt his cheeks start to turn red. Lathe you need to stop nooooo....

Lathe chuckled, his gaze softening, rubbing his sleep-heavy eyes, though they sharpened as he saw Levi’s concern. “What’s up, Levi?”

“They shut off the water. None of the taps work. They sputter at best, before they just run dry.” Levi shifted. “What should we do?”
Lathe studied Levi’s face for a moment, before looking down at Eren, still fast asleep on his chest. He ran his hand through Eren’s brown hair, scanning the grey living room, blood stained into the carpet and on the dark wood furniture, busted and old, the kitchen tiles slashed. Fuck it. “Levi, help me get everything packed up. We’re going to my place.” I’m so done with this. Lathe carefully shifted out from under Eren, trying to let him sleep. He wouldn’t be able to pack much, and the kid’s going to be exhausted for the next week no matter how much or little he does. With some odd footwork, Lathe was free, tucking the blanket back around Eren and putting a pillow under his head. He turned to the kitchen, noting the lack of paper bags. “You put everything away. Sorry you wasted your time, kid. We need everything back in the paper bags, wherever you put them. You do that- I’ll deal with packing the stuff in his room.” I know how to deal with all the drawing supplies.

“Cool.” Levi moved to retrieve the paper bags from the pantry, packing up everything from the shelves. Fridge last.

Lathe slipped on his boots, leaving them loose and unlaced as he walked to his car, getting a cardboard box out of the trunk. He took them off as soon as he walked inside again, padding up the stairs quietly and slowly entering Eren’s room, looking around and trying to decide where to start. Sue first. Everyone could use some dinner after all this. Setting down the box, he took out his phone, quickly tapping away at the keys. Dinner for four. Enough to feed a small army. She can handle that. Lathe put his phone back, awaiting a response. I’d do the desk first- get heavier supplies packed up, then drawings and paintings and such, and then clothes if there’s room left. I can always just have a pile of them loose in the trunk if need be. Lathe set the box down, organizing the desk first before starting to put away palettes, watercolors, dozens of acrylic bottles, oil pastels and pencils of many hardnesses, graphite or charcoal. Books and books of sketches and good drawing paper, into the box. There are at least seven totally full… and a lot of it’s the good kind of paper. There are a couple empty ones, too. That’s so much… I approve. Lathe picked up the drawings scattered around the room, running downstairs for napkins from the table to shield the ones in charcoal, in pastel. I’m not letting these smudge. They’re too nice. Sweeping the room with his eyes, Lathe nodded in satisfaction with his upheaval before turning to the wardrobe for Eren’s clothes, pulling it open.

There was barely anything inside- a few black shirts, nearly all of them with long sleeves, and dark hoodies. He only ever wears black? Well, considering… Lathe took one of the hoodie sleeves in his hand, tracing the faint outlines of blood stains with his eyes. Eren, the second you feel up to going out I’m dragging you to the mall. You need more than just this. Dropping the sleeve, he took ahold of all the hangers in one hand, lifting them with ease and walking down to slip his shoes back on, taking them to the car with them. He carefully laid them in the trunk, rolling the bottom half of the stack up and pushing it to the side. He returned for the box, noticing the bookshelf and the books he’d just kinda nudged out of the way. He’s probably gonna want those. Lathe packed those up, careful not to crush any of the drawings. Percy Jackson, good choice… That’s a good Sherlock Holmes one… oh thank god it was Harry Potter, I don’t know how the hell I saw the cover and though it said Twilight… Shouldering the box, he carefully walked down the stairs back to the car, placing it carefully inside. He returned to the kitchen, taking up some of the bags Levi had finished packing. Lathe returned for the last of the foodstuffs, addressing Levi. “You know, we’re almost ready to go.” Lathe nudged Levi towards the couch. “I think out of us, whoever woke him up, Eren would be less likely to maim his boyfriend.” Lathe grinned at Levi’s scarlet face. This is too adorable. “I’m not about to stop, Levi. Now go.” He gently pushed him forward, taking the last bag to the car.

Why did Lathe have to be the shipping type? He’s going to be the death of me… Levi padded over to Eren, kneeling down and petting his hair. “Eren, we need to go. It’s time to wake up. We’re headed to Lathe’s place. We need you at least semi-conscious for the ride.” Come on… wake up, please.

Eren groaned softly before he shifted his head away from Levi’s touch. He then proceeded to snuggle up into his blankets further, his breathing evening quite quickly. This would be a challenge; it was almost like Eren was a bear in hibernation, and you do not want to wake one of them up…. Never. Never wake up a bear.

Levi sighed. Okay, you're being adorable as fuck, but we need you awake. “Come on Eren, I’m all for letting you sleep but we’re moving over to Lathe’s place for now. You can keep resting once we get there. Seriously. Up.” He gently shook Eren’s shoulder. Come on.

<“What the fuck are you doing trying to wake me up, you fucking bastard. I was having some decent sleep until you fucking woke me up asshole! You can suck a bag of dicks for all I fucking care! I don’t want to fucking get up! I am comfortable and warm! So fuck off you fuckwad!”> Eren’s angered voice came out piercing the air as soon as Levi touched his shoulder. He was speaking in fluent German, much more complicated than either of them would’ve been able to understand. <“Give me one good fucking reason not to tear your fingers off one by fucking one, or so help me Satan you will die if I need to get up from this fucking spot!”> Eren’s words came out laced in pain, The morphine fucking wore out, and I am NOT getting up from this couch until my back is numb and I can’t feel it, dammit!

“Damn, kid’s got a mouth on him.” Lathe had an amused look on his face, watching and listening from the doorway. That’s some very... colorful language. I don’t know half of what he said, but I know all the swear words. If he was in class he’d have detention. Lathe crossed the room to his bag, digging for morphine after noticing his pained tone, still smiling. ...but he looks like a puffed-up puppy, so it’s okay. “Here you go, Eren. Morphine for the pain.” He handed him a water bottle. “You’re going to be awake for a little while though. Sorry about that.” Lathe looked honestly apologetic. Sleep is beautiful, I get that. But you can’t keep staying here. There’s nothing really left to use- and my place is cool, so you’ll forgive me later.

Eren raised a shaky hand and took the water bottle, grumbling some German under his breath, low enough that the two of them couldn’t make out a word. He took his pills quietly and then laid back down, waiting for the burning sensation to leave his back. I’m not fucking moving, and you better not pick me up. I will hit you until you are black and blue like a fucking newspaper.
Lathe raised his hands in surrender, backing away. “Okay, okay. Five minutes. Five minutes and then we’ll get you in the car. That’ll be plenty of time for the pills to kick in.” Lathe kept one hand in the air, the other reaching into his pocket to check his phone. One new message. He opened it, grinning. “Let me pack my stuff, then I have some news to tell you.” Lathe moved and quickly took apart his laptop setup, packing it back in its spark case. He took his medical bag and brought both out to the car, soon returning. “Okay, so here’s the thing.” He addressed both Eren and Levi. “I’m currently boarding this one college-age woman from Tokyo who’s here studying abroad to work in the medical field. She has an internship at the hospital in the town nearby, but her term here’s up in about a month. Her name’s Sue Litagana, and she’s cool with just being called Sue. I just want you to not be surprised that someone else is home when we get there. She’s making fish for dinner, so we should be able to eat when we get there. Just letting you all know.” He smiled, looking to Eren. “You ready kid? The pills kick in yet?”

Eren’s eyes gave away everything that Lathe needed to know, basically giving away that his body was, in any sense of the word, ‘drunk’ off the morphine. Eren tried to roll over and push himself off the couch, only to realize that he in fact could not perform such a maneuver without help. He gave a soft groan as a plea for help and reached out for Levi’s arm, missing completely, and the arm falling limply towards the floor. Pick me up you fucker, you’re the fucking bastard who woke me up, so you get to fucking pick my sorry ass up!

Levi sighed, moving to wrap his arms under Eren, making sure he wouldn’t drop the blanket as well as he lifted him carefully from the couch, using the comforter as a protection against his back. “Alright, Levi’s got you, let’s make sure I don’t trip on this thing and get you in the car. Levi slipped his shoes by the door back on, carefully balancing on one foot for a moment, before walking to the passenger side of Lathe’s car, a 1955 Ford Thunderbird, black and sleek, in perfect condition.

Lathe watched amused, running over to open the door for them, Levi sitting down with Eren in his lap. “Sorry it’s only got two seats. I didn’t think I’d be chaperoning two kids around. At this rate, I’ll be shopping for a minivan next month.” Lathe cackled, watching Levi’s expression. This is great! He moved to pull the top over them, locking it in place and getting in, starting it with little trouble. “I promise I’ll drive like a responsible adult and less like a maniac than normal.” Lathe looked over his shoulder, carefully backing up into the road and shifting into drive, carefully accelerating. “We can’t risk getting pulled over with you carrying Eren like that.”

Levi braced his feet against the front of the floor space, holding Eren protectively. “That’s not very reassuring.”

“I know how to drive. Be nice and maybe I’ll let you borrow it sometime.”
“In that case, you drive like a fucking God.”

Lathe laughed, his eyes bright. “Thanks, kid.”

<“He better fucking drive like a god, I am forced to be in this asshole’s lap for the time being and I do not want to go through that fucking window.’”> Eren’s voice was soft as he spoke, but he still managed to sound pretty angry as he involuntarily snuggled up into Levi’s chest, looking for warmth. He was still freezing, and being forced outside had completely ruined what heat he had had in his blanket on the couch.

“...I caught the words god, for the time being, and multiple curses. You take German, Levi? Any clue what he’s saying?” Lathe had a smile on his face, smoothly turning a corner, passing Armin’s house.

“Yeah- I think he just doesn’t want to end up through the window. So, be careful is what he’s saying. I think.”

<“What he said, I’m not fucking repeating myself”> He grumbled and shivered again as he curled up more into Levi’s arms. Hmmm.... Short Stack feels just as comfortable as Lathe does... good.

“We’re almost there, no need to get so bent out of shape about it. Two minutes.” They turned down Maria Avenue, soon pulling into a driveway. Lathe shut off the car, opening his door. “Welcome to mine humble abode.” He grinned widely. “It’s been so long since I’ve been here.” Sarcasm dripped from his words.

<“You were just here this morning you fucking asshat… Get me inside, I am fucking freezing!”> Eren was not pleased with how the temperature had dropped outside in the recent days, and the strong wind tousling his long hair was not appreciated in the least.

“Fiiiiiiiiine. Yeesh.” Levi grabbed the door handle, opening it with his foot all the way and stepping carefully onto the stone driveway, the surface the slightest bit uneven, made of large, flat stones. He lifted Eren out, careful of his head before he hip-checked the door shut, following Lathe to the front door. He looked up the facade of the two-story house, ivy climbing up the red-brick front. An oak tree cast shade over the lawn, and the garden, lined with stones, flourished with red and white flowers, many of them roses. It’s already a beautiful house... very nice. He stepped carefully over the threshold, slipping his shoes off on the front mat, taking in the cozy atmosphere.
The first thing anyone saw coming into the house was a grand piano, polished and shining under lights in the further half of the living room. A couch was pushed against the wall opposite of it, two small dark end tables on either end, with plenty of small pillows. The floor was dark wood, the walls scarlet, and there was gold-colored inscription at the top of the walls in a hand Levi couldn’t read. A large open doorway into the kitchen was to the couch’s left, stone tiles visible, the accents on the dark cabinets a shining gold color. The stairs in front of him were covered in dark brown carpet, leading upstairs and out of sight. The room to the right had a large wood table in it’s closer half, sheet music in the process of being composed scattered all over it, pencils and erasers in various places. Words written in that same slanted hand, this time in black, covered the entire right wall, various insignias and scripts dotting the uniform look.

Levi slowly moved to lay Eren down, letting him sink into the dark cushions and moving to get a pillow under his head. He could smell the fish cooking in the next room. It smells great- dinner should be good.

Lathe likewise toed off his still-loose shoes, walking past Levi and into the kitchen. He smiled at the young woman at the stove. “Hey, Sue. Thanks for cooking for us tonight. It smells great. I’ve brought company, like I said.”

She looked at him with dark green eyes, grinning back at him. Her dark brown hair dusted her shoulders, nearly hiding her right eye as she grinned. “It’s nothin’ I can’t take care of, and thanks. The way you texted makes me think I’ll see a lot of these two while I’m here, yeah?”

Lathe nodded. “Yeah. Eren’s going to be living here, pretty much. And Levi- he might as well, with how much he’ll be around.”

Sue glanced to the doorway, a thoughtful look on her face. “Are they…”

“Yup.”

“Ah.” She smiled, turning her attention back to her cooking. “Just curious.”

“Well, don’t tease them too much about it. That’s my job.” Lathe beamed. “I have to get a bunch of groceries out of the car- can't have them rottting out there. How long until dinner?”

“Ten minutes, give or take.” Dinner needs to hurry up and finish cooking. I’m hungry.
“Cool.” Lathe left the kitchen, passing Levi and Eren on the couch. Eren had somehow wrangled Levi into laying down with him, his face buried in his shoulder. “Ten minutes. Don't fall asleep on me- I'll feel too bad to wake you up again and let you go without dinner.” Lathe put his boots back on, beginning to fetch bags and place them on the counter of the far wall. After the sixth was inside, he put everything away, rearranging the fridge and pantry for room.

Eren nodded as he found himself curled up to Levi again. He murmured something in German again softly before he stopped and just looked around at the room they were in. The food smells good, really good. I hope that it’ll be as good as it smells. Eren shifted a bit but waited patiently curled up to Levi silently.

Levi played with Eren’s hair, studying the inscription on the wall. He tried to make out the lettering. I doubt it's English. ...or even an actual language. I can't tell.

Lathe walked to the car one last time, retrieving Eren’s things, Levi’s bag in the crook of his arm and his laptop and medicines over his shoulder. He slipped off his shoes at the door. “I'm going to put your stuff upstairs, Eren. I'll show you where you’re staying after we all eat. I might as well put your stuff in there too, Levi.” He sent him a pointed look, smirking before disappearing up the stairs. He turned the corner and opened up the guest bedroom, setting the box at the foot of the full-size bed, hanging Eren’s clothes in the closet. He set Levi’s stuff next to the box. Eren’s room.

His face shifted, really looking hard at the room, one he barely entered regularly. He spoke quietly to himself. “This is Eren’s room now.” It was… odd to say. I’m not going to be used to that for awhile... He turned, leaving to go back downstairs and see if Sue had dinner ready, hanging his bags on the end of the banister of the staircase.

She turned to him as he entered. “You can call everyone in for dinner.” She turned off the burner, a kettle singing on the back burner, and started to set plates on the table, waiting on setting out glasses or mugs.

Lathe stuck his head into the piano room, meeting Levi’s eyes as he looked behind him. “Food.” He grinned, returning to help Sue.

Levi nodded and helped Eren get into a sitting position. His steely grey eyes following Eren’s wobbly movements as he tried to stand up in his slightly sedated state. He still looks like he’s drunk out of his mind. “Are you gonna be okay, Brat?” He asked quietly, his voice full of concern.

Eren nodded. “Yeah, I’ll be fine, just give me a minute.” He told him and pushed Levi’s hand away when he tried to offer help again. I can do it myself, dammit!
Levi watched as Eren swatted his hands away but he didn’t complain, only raising his arms in surrender before going to go find the food in the kitchen. It smells incredible… I want it. I’ll trust Eren that he can move himself around, he does seem to be standing well on his own. Levi gave one look back at Eren before entering into the kitchen alone.

Lathe looked up from the counter, smiling at Levi. He turned to Sue, ushering Levi over to her.
“Sue, this a student of mine at the high school, Levi. Levi, this is Sue, my boarder from Tokyo.”

Sue offered her hand, smiling brightly. “It’s wonderful to meet you, Levi.”

“Likewise.” Levi accepted her handshake. She seems nice.

Lathe noticed Eren hadn’t followed Levi in. He might be using the bathroom… I dunno. I’ll give him a minute.

Sue gestured for Levi to sit at the table. “Please, sit. Would you like something to drink? We have milk, tea, coffee, water, whichever you like!”

Levi sat down as directed, finding a seat closest to the far wall. He looked up at Sue after thinking for a moment. “If you have Earl Grey Tea, that would be great, if not water is fine.” He said, his stoic face reappearing, trying to prepare himself for Lathe’s banter.

“Of course! One moment.” She turned to open a cabinet, removing a small box of teabags and a mug with a conceptual sketch of a train on the side. She addressed Lathe as she went about making Levi’s tea. “Lathe, have you heard anything about Dr. Yeager’s disappearance? It’s still in all the local magazines and nobody seems to know anything.”

Lathe froze, setting his coffee mug on the counter from where he was pouring some, looking at Sue and slowly shaking his head, a dark look in his eye. If Eren hears anything about his father, he’s going to flip. “A-actually, Sue-”

“You too? You worked with him. Surely you must know something about why he would've left so suddenly.”

Lathe glanced worriedly to the other room. Where’s Eren. And she needs to stop talking about Grisha. He spoke hurriedly. “Sue, I met him once. A-” Lathe, over the singing of the kettle and Sue’s movements, heard something from the scripting room. “Hold that thought.” He quickly padded past the piano, the staircase, to the wall covered in lettering.

Eren slowly walked away from the doorway that led to the kitchen… He heard Sue’s question, his father’s name. No, I…. I can’t go there….. No…. not dad….. Eren felt his chest tighten at the thought of his father. He slowly backed away from the kitchen… the sounds becoming more and more muffled as he was brought away from the source of the voice. His breathing was already starting to become erratic as he turned to run into the other room. His eyes were starting to glaze over as he was taken back into those awful memories. Nononononononononononono…… Please no more……I don’t want you to poke around inside me anymore..... Please it hurts..... Please stop, daddy please.... I’ll be a good boy..... PLEASE.... “…make it stop...” Eren’s voice was soft as he spoke to no one in the empty room. He had curled up into a small ball in the far corner of the room. The tears had already started falling as Eren pulled at his long brown locks, managing to tear out quite a bit of it. He was starting to claw all the bandages off his arms and wrists as well. Take it off… Daddy did something to it.... Take it off..... I need to take it off... I need to scratch it off.... I want him to stop... It hurts..... I’m gonna die.... He’s gonna kill me! He’s gonna kill me! He’s gonna kill me! Eren got his wraps off after much clawing, reopened a few of the slits on his wrists and he had managed to scratch at his arms until a few of the trails were bleeding. Nonononononono! I can’t have the wrap on! I can’t! I can’t! Daddy did something to it! I saw him drench it in something! Eren began to claw at the bandages under his shirt. He was starting to wheeze as his chest tightened up more and more. I’m gonna die… It need to come off.....I’m gonna die.... Daddy’s trying to kill me.... Daddy’s gonna kill me..... It’s gotta come off.... Eren was freaking out more and more, his shirt had made it off of him, and he started to scratch away at the wraps on his chest, covering them in bloody fingerprints from the small trails running off of his arms as he scratched those as well. Eren’s breathing so wrecked that he was starting to choke as he tried to breath.

Lathe stopped dead, seeing Eren in the corner, scratching like mad at his chest, his arms. Shit. He heard Sue. He sidestepped the table quickly and immediately knelt down next to Eren, taking both of his hands in his own and refusing to let go, looking him in the eye and humming Der Mond ist aufgegangen softly. Come on, Eren. Stay with me. We need you to be okay. It’s fine, I swear.

Eren’s eyes were wide, and glazed over. He wasn’t there with them anymore, he had left so long ago. He was crying horribly, his whole body shaking. He was still struggling to breathe. It hurts… It hurts… daddy’s gonna kill me.... He’s gonna kill me... I’m gonna die.... Eren continued to try and pull his hands away to scratch himself. I NEED TO GET IT OFF!!! Eren’s fists clenched and he struggled to pull away.

Lathe’s grip on Eren’s hands remained steady. He let his humming become singing, still quiet, yet loud enough for Levi and Sue to hear from the kitchen.

“What’s wrong? Did something happen?” Sue started to follow Lathe, before Levi stopped her.
Levi’s eyes widened and he immediately grabbed her by the wrist. “No, stay here, Eren’s having a panic attack. If he sees you he might freak out more.” He explained, before rushing over towards where Lathe and Eren were on the floor in the corner of the room. His bandages were unraveled, surrounding him. At least he’s not bleeding as bad as last time, but I can tell this is worse…. Much worse…. The song’s not even getting to him anymore. Think Levi…. What do I do?…….. German….. Speak German to him! Levi sat down on the floor by them and he was gentle as he brushed a few of Eren’s locks out of the way of his eyes. <“Eren, can you speak?”> Levi’s voice was soft and gentle as he spoke the hard language. He knew he could only say certain things, but hopefully it would be enough.

Eren’s struggling became worse as soon as he heard those words. No! Dad! Get away from me! Please! Get away! I don’t want to talk! I don’t want to! No, you can’t make me! Eren had finally struggled to get one single fist away from Lathe’s grasp, his body taking over as his fist made contact with Lathe’s nose with adrenaline-filled strength.

Lathe turned his head with a grimace. Fuck. That’s definitely going to bruise. He kept Eren’s one fist in a death hold, trying to grab back Eren’s free hand.

Levi watched what happened and almost instantly knew that Eren was no longer in control with himself. He hurriedly made a reach for Eren’s free arm and with that Eren struggled even more. Eren, you’re not yourself anymore… What happened? What are you going through?

Eren struggled against the two of them, even trying to kick the two of them away from him, until he had to be pinned down to the ground by both of them, Levi on his right side, while Lathe was forced to handle his left. Though this only led into Eren starting to scream and cry harder. “NO! No more! Please! I don’t want it out! I don’t want it out! Daddy stop! Please! I’ll be a good boy! I’ll be a good boy I promise! I don’t want it out!” Eren was screaming, and it was a horrid sound as he struggled to breath and scream at the same time. His body was starting to still under the two of them. He was becoming unconscious from the lack of oxygen as well as from the exertion of having his panic attack. He was still struggling to get out from under them. Get out from the restraints… Get off the table… Be a good boy for Daddy…

Levi’s eyes widened. What the fuck is he talking about? He doesn’t want it out? He doesn’t want what out? This isn’t going well. Levi was able to pin Eren’s right half with relative ease thanks to his pure muscled body. Lathe, the more we pin him the more he’s struggling. What the fuck do we do?. Levi looked to Lathe, only to see the man focused on Eren’s eyes, he still hadn’t come back to them yet. “L-Lathe, what do we do? He’s still panicking…. And he’s struggling to breathe.” Calm down Levi, you don’t need to freak out, this has happened before, Lathe will know what to do. Levi tried to remain as calm as possible.

Lathe hadn’t had much trouble either in pinning Eren down, his foot on Eren’s ankle and hand on his wrist. He threw a look over his shoulder, to a bookcase filled with music books and binders. Do
I have it? I think I have it. I printed it out after I heard it, so… “You,” he spoke decisively, “are going to keep him from following and attacking me. Try not to let him maim you. I have an idea. On my mark, I'm going to let go. Ready?” Lathe looked Levi in the eyes, waiting.

Levi nodded, keeping his eyes locked on Lathe’s. I need to trust him, he knows what the fuck is going on with Eren. He can help, I need to trust him. I can do this.

An instant of silence. “Mark.” Lathe let go and immediately moved to the bookshelf, pulling out a white binder and flipping quickly through it, skimming the titles of piece after piece of sheet music. Where is it where is it where is it HERE! Snapping it open, he snatched the music before moving to the piano in the other room, sliding onto the bench and arranging the music on it’s stand and flipping the cover over the keys up. His hands stilled over the ivory, the ebony, and began to fly.

Levi was still struggling as Eren realized that Lathe had moved away from pinning him. He gave out a sharp cry and his left fist had connected with Levi’s jaw. FUCK. That’s gonna fucking bruise! He’s fucking strong when he needs to be, holy shit! Levi was struggling as Eren tried to force him off. It’s like someone lit a fire under his ass! Lathe hurry the fuck up and do someth- Levi watched as Eren slowly stopped struggling.

Eren was listening to the music, it was pulling him out of his horrible twisted memories of his father pinning him to the table and opening him up in so many sick ways. Music? Where is that coming from? Eren’s body began to relax as he heard the song continue. Mom? Is that you? Where are you? I want you mommy. “M-mom?” Eren’s voice was so much quieter now, not the screaming mess that he was before. He was starting to come back to them, his eyes showed it, and his breathing started to come easier for him.

Lathe continued to sway over the keys, remembering how the piece went, barely reading the music in front of him. He saw Sue watch him from the kitchen, though his eyes wandered back to the scripting room, noticing the screams had quieted. Good... good. Lathe let himself immerse in the sound, still attuned to the quiet tone of feet shifting next to the stairs.

Levi watched in relief as he could slowly release his grip from Eren’s wrists as the boy finally came back to them. That’s it Eren, come back to me... come back to us. We need you back. Levi watched as Eren took in a deep breath and his head moved around. “Eren.” Levi said his name with a breath of relief.

Eren’s eyes were wide, but he was finally back to the real world. “L-Levi?” He asked in a quiet voice, his body totally drained of energy. He reached out to Levi’s shirt, only his arm never made it and he passed out from exhaustion right then and there.
Fuck. Lathe should know he’s okay now. Levi slowly picked Eren up, bridal style. It was easy to pick him up because he was so light, despite his tall frame. He slowly walked with Eren towards where Lathe was. Don’t hit his head on something, Levi. Lathe will not forgive you for that. Levi was very careful with Eren and soon was beside the piano where Lathe played. Eren limp in his arms. “Lathe?”

Lathe snapped from his trance, seeing Eren unconscious and immediately ceased playing, his eyes going from faraway to sharp in a second. “Oh my god. Did he pass out while he was still crazed, or was he… back?” Lathe moved to stand, sliding from the bench.

Levi looked to Eren. “He was back…. Where’s his room? He needs to rest, he passed out pretty quickly.” Levi held Eren gently against his chest. He needs to sleep, that as his worst one yet.

“Top of the stairs, turn right, door’s on the right wall, two feet from the corner. I think it’s open. I need to talk to Sue.” He glanced to her in the kitchen. “You go. But remember, you need to eat. Come right back after you tuck him in, okay?” Lathe rested his hand on his shoulder, before letting him go, and walking to talk to Sue about what had happened.

Levi nodded and he went off carefully up the stairs. He was holding Eren gingerly as he followed Lathe’s instructions to go into the large spare room. He gently put Eren down on the bed, helping get him underneath the covers as Eren shivered.

Okay…. In bed, check….. Tucked in, check…. Fever, gone…. Thank fucking Satan. Levi removed the back of his hand from Eren’s head before going back downstairs. He was quiet as he came into the kitchen, sitting down in his spot before, without another word. He was seething from what had happened in only a few seconds after Sue had mentioned Eren’s father.

Lathe had stepped into the kitchen, resting a hand on her arm and looking at her intensely. “I’m sorry about what just happened, it's not at all your fault. You didn't know.” Lathe took a breath, speaking quickly. “Eren’s father is Dr. Grisha Yeager. It’s something we don't mention. I know it’s a huge topic in the local news, but speaking about him will really set him off like he did. A lot of awful, awful things happened. I’d ask you refrain from mentioning him. Alright?” He accepted her worried nod, sighing and running a hand through his hair, turning back to the counter to finish making himself coffee. That was the most stressful ten minutes of my life. He sat back down at the table, watching as Levi walked back in, radiating anger. Lathe glanced at him, worried, before carefully nudging Levi’s foot under the table. He hoped his look was enough.

Listen Levi- we’re all worried about Eren. But Sue didn't know, and now she does. He’ll be fine. Eren getting better is not the flick of a switch; It’s a slow gradient. But we’ll get there. Swear it.

Levi looked up to Lathe when he was nudged. He nodded, getting the unspoken message before starting to eat quietly. He wondered if Eren would want him to stay tonight. I wonder if he’s okay.
My jaw is starting to really hurt now. Fuck it. Levi reached up to rub his jaw to keep it from locking up.

Lathe understood. He tried to ignore the pain in his nose, running up to around his eye. Eren can really be strong if he wants to be, god damn.

Levi looked to Lathe. “Do you have pain medication… like an aspirin or something? An Ibuprofen would work too. Eren’s fist fucking hurts.” Levi let himself swear because he was in pain and he knew Lathe was pretty chill.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow. “Levi, you do know how to make a wonderful impression.” He tilted his head towards Sue. “And sure. I know I could use one too.” He set his silverware down, getting up from his spot to rifle through his bag at the stairs, touching his nose. It isn't broken, thank god. That'd be fun to deal with.

Sue watched Lathe leave, turning to Levi with a meek expression. “I apologise. I did not know I should not speak about Eren’s father. I will not mention him again. You have my word.”

“Good” Levi muttered looking down at his tea mug. He held it around the rim by his fingers, not caring for holding it by the handle. Levi looked up as Lathe entered the room again, this time carrying a small bottle of aspirin.

“Aspirin for days. Here.” Lathe opened the top, handing Levi two tablets. He took two himself, closing the bottle and stowing it in his pocket for the time being. He took his place back, sending Levi a deliberate look. I heard Sue apologise. I hope you can at least try to be nice.

Levi gave a small smile in thanks. He took the pills and swallowed them down with his tea. He was no longer radiating fury as he was a few minutes ago. Levi raised his fork to his mouth, taking in the wonderful taste. It’s really good Sue, thank you.” He said and smiled softly to her before returning to his stoic appearance and returning his attention to his food.

She gave him a small smile. She spoke quietly. “Thank you.” She turned to her food as well, the air between the two of them calm.

Lathe sighed into his mug, his messy hair hiding his weary eyes. Let’s see... Actual music is now required to calm Eren, who is now passed out of exertion after laying the smack down on myself and Levi, who almost ended up totally hating Sue, who didn't even know what she was talking about would have such a twisted effect. All in ten minutes or less. ...I need to get out less. He chuck tled to himself, neither of those in his company noticing. Who am I kidding?

=================================----------------------------------

Eren’s life had become a living hell for the next two weeks after that singular panic attack. His nightmares had returned in full force, and whenever he had tried to go back to sleep he would wake up more distressed than the first time and refuse to try again. He had also started having panic attacks at school, in almost all his classes. Though his attacks were the talk of all the school kids now, no matter how much Armin had tried to shield him from them for the past week, words were always thrown at him in the hallways. Everything from fag to crybaby-bitch. Eren had tried to pull through, that maybe it would get better, but it got even worse when he had a panic attack in the middle of the lunchroom on the Friday of the second week. He was forced to spend the rest of the day with the nurse, who did absolutely nothing for his condition. It was like no one cared. Levi was getting concerned because Eren wasn’t talking to him or texting him, most of the time locking everyone out of his room as soon as he got home until it was time to go to bed, when he would slip in with Lathe to sleep for around 3 hours each night.

This Friday was like no other. He immediately came home, those horrible name following him for a long time as he left the school premises. He was close to tears as he came home and took his bag off and slumped down against the front door, his face in his hands as he cried. His whole body shuddering. “I can’t fucking do this anymore,” Eren cried to himself. Little did he know that Lathe had been home for half the day, and was on the phone with Spades for a majority of the day as well.

“All of them?” Lathe had the beginnings of a grin cracking across his face.

“All of them!” Spade’s voice sounded from the earpiece of the phone. “It took me ages to go through everything, tally up videos and procedures, but it’s all here! His passport, birth certificate, Social Security information, everything! We just need to get you down to the courthouse and fill everything out, and he’s home free! Of course, you've decided?”

“Well, yeah. I have. It's a yes. I think I can handle him. I certainly have the medical expertise to take care of him, and as for the more personal side of it, I sure hope so. I think everything is really going to be okay.”

“That’s great to hear! I'll bring everything down tomorrow. You know where to go, you've been around the building before. I'll meet you in the lobby say, nine tomorrow morning?”
“You got it. I'll tell Eren when he gets home.” Home. “Thank you so much, Spades.”

“Of course! I'll let you go. Tell Sue I said hi!”

Lathe heard the door shut, grinning from the desk in his study, leaving piles of medical books and papers to descend the stairs. He stopped short, looking down at Eren’s slumped form, worry taking over his features as he quickly came down the stairs, kneeling next to Eren, pulling him into a hug. “Eren, what’s wrong? What happened?”

Eren pushed Lathe away as soon as the man tried to hug him. “I can’t fucking take it anymore!” Eren shouted at him, his voice drenched in anger and sadness. His fists were balled and he was seething as he stood up. “I CAN’T FUCKING DO IT!” He shouted and he grabbed at his head, tugging at his hair a little bit. “I’m not taking another one of those fucking pills Lathe! You can’t fucking make me do it!” He growled out and stormed off up the stairs and the slamming of his bedroom door sounded only seconds after. He locked himself in again as he went on an angry tangent. Throwing things across the room and screaming to release his pent up fury which was already overflowing.

Lathe rushed up the steps after him, turning the corner as the lock clicked, trying to turn the knob as he heard things start to crash against the walls. FUCK. Lathe felt his pockets, not finding what he needed. He stood and walked to the frame of his room, jumping to feel the top of the frame. He grabbed an odd-looking pin on a key ring, no bends in it. He went back to Eren’s door, fitting the pin into a small niche at the base of the knob handle, feeling it move the bolt aside belfry pushing open the door.

Eren’s room was a complete disaster. His artwork was thrown all over the room, some of his pictures torn apart. There was a singular pillow destroyed and remnants of fluff all over the room’s floor. Eren had picked up any pencils he had on hand and thrown them across the room, leaving marks on any of the walls they hit. He was curled up to himself by his nightstand, clutching onto a pillow as he cried heavily.

Lathe looked at the wreckage, and looked at Eren. Maybe I’m not right for this... Stop thinking that. It's not you, it's got to be the PTSD pills he's taking. “Eren, I don't think what you have now is enough.” Lathe slowly moved forward, sitting across from Eren on the floor, a respectable distance from him.

Eren watched him come closer, tears still streaming down his face. “I’m not taking any more pills, Lathe. I refuse wholeheartedly.” He repeated and looked away from the other as he sniffled, holding the pillow closer to his chest as he tried to calm down.

Lathe’s eyes wandered the carpet between them. You did something wrong in prescribing them, then. And you thought you had the expertise. It’s a case-by-case reaction to certain medicines sometimes! There’s got to be one that’ll work right somewhere. “...That's not what I mean. I understand your PTSD pills haven't been working well at all; I admit, they're not the ones you need. I won't let you take those specific ones anymore, but you need something else for it. But I'm not talking about giving you more pills.” He looked him in the eye, his features soft. “I'm talking about getting you a service dog.”

That seemed to get Eren’s attention. “A service dog?” He asked quietly and he scooted closer towards Lathe, trusting him a little more right now, as soon as he said he could stop taking those fucking pills. “Will they let me come to school with it?” He asked quietly. He had no idea how one would work at all, and he was calming down more as he thought about a dog. A dog can’t judge me… It can’t call me names either.

He's calming down. Good. Eh, it won't last long. God knows you'll do something to fuck it up. No I won't. We need to talk about this and I'm trying to be careful with it. “They definitely will. A service dog can come with you pretty much anywhere you go. They’d make sure to keep you away from anything that can hurt you, and can tell right away when you're uncomfortable so they can calm you down. They can ground you during a panic attack if they have to. They can be trained to perform certain tasks, too. I think one would really help,” Lathe smiled gently.

“You’ll let me keep one here?” He asked quietly as he curled up to Lathe’s side, he was completely calm again after his little meltdown. He was talking about how this wasn’t really his house at all, that he didn’t really live here, would Lathe really be okay with him getting a dog?

Lathe, for an instant, looked incredulous. How would I not? For you, “Eren, this is-” Home. Lathe swallowed, starting again. “Eren, I've been on the phone with Spades all day. She found your papers- passport, birth certificate, everything. I have the opportunity to go to the courthouse tomorrow morning… and if I filled out some paperwork, I would be your legal guardian by this time tomorrow. This would be your home too, then. Not just mine.” He held onto Eren’s middle protectively, resting his chin on his head. “I want to know if you’d trust me enough to be your guardian.”

Don't do it Eren. I'm no good at this…

Please say yes, I'll do my best to keep you safe and happy!
It's a bad idea, I wouldn't listen to him.

Come on, I'm not that bad!

Yes, you are. For all we know you'd forget to feed him and let him starve.

Come on, I'm a great cook!

Riiiiiiight, so you wouldn't force him to eat burnt macaroni for the rest of his life. I totally believe you.

...That's just cruel.

So is boring him to death. You're not exactly an interesting person.

What? That's ridiculous! We can do any crafty or musical stuff or whatever he wants, you name it! And I'll help him take good care of his service dog.

You're lying.

I'm not!

Say no, Eren.

Eren, say YES!

Eren moved his head and stared at Lathe for what felt like hours. He was still trying to process everything Lathe had said. He’ll take me in? He’ll let me stay? I’d have a real home? He would let me get a dog? Eren was very quiet before he nodded slowly, putting his head back under Lathe’s chin to curl up to him again. “I trust you, Lathe” he spoke quietly with a small smile on his face as he leaned his head against Lathe’s chest. I get a home, with an awesome…. Would I call him ‘Dad’ now? Or would that freak me out?
Lathe felt as if he had shrugged a lead jacket off his shoulders. He sighed, relieved and ecstatic, resting his cheek on Eren’s head. Thank you. “That means a lot, Eren. Everything that I have, it’s yours, too.” Don’t fucking cry, you sap. Quit it. “That means I now expect plenty of piano music. And you’re going to have to deal with a lot of awful puns. I hope you’re prepared for all that.” Lathe grinned, allowing one tear to trail down his cheek, his eyes shining. Oh my God how did he say yes.

Eren smiled as he curled up to Lathe there, in their own moment. Perfectly content.
Eren had eaten dinner silently after their conversation. He was still thinking about everything Lathe had said. He’ll let me have a dog? What happens when I have a dog? Do I need to walk it? When do I feed it? Eren finished up his plate and looked over his phone. He had gotten a text from Levi saying that he wouldn’t be able to come sleep with him tonight. They were in Sina county for a late night game. ...I wonder if I can stay with Lathe tonight. He slowly walked up to Lathe as the older man was cleaning the dishes. He slowly tugged on the man's shirt waiting for his attention, still so much like a small child.

Lathe turned to him, stopping the tap and reaching over for a towel to dry his hands, smiling warmly. “What’s up, Eren?”

“Umm…. Can I-” Eren’s face flushed red all the way to his ears. “Can I sleep with you tonight? Levi’s in Sina… For football.” He looked up to Lathe with innocent and hopeful eyes. By now Lathe must’ve known that he needed to sleep with someone to actually fall asleep.

_Eren… “Of course you can. It’s cool.” He gently ruffled Eren’s hair. “Let me finish with the dishes, and I'll come upstairs, alright? You get ready for bed. Tomorrow’s a big day, you know.” He had a glint in his eye. _There’s a lot going down tomorrow. Hope you're up for it all, Eren._

Eren didn’t release his grip yet. He shuffled his feet as he looked down at them.

…”that’s not all you had to ask me, is it?” “There something else eating at you, Eren? I've got answers.” Lathe let his hand rest on Eren’s shoulder. _You don't have to be afraid to ask me something._

Eren swallowed hard before he looked up to Lathe’s gaze again. “Do I need to take the pills tonight?” He asked quietly, his voice sounding very conflicted.

Lathe barely had to think about it before he shook his head. _Those were awful._ “Those weren't right specifically for you. We need to find you something better, but until we do, you don't have to take another one of them.” _Awful._

Eren gave out a sigh of relief before hugging Lathe hurriedly. “Thank you!” Eren let go soon after and then bounded off to go get into his black oversized pajamas that he always wore. He grabbed a pillow that he always slept with and headed towards Lathe’s room, leaving behind the black comforter.

Lathe chuckled, finishing the dishes quickly and loading the dishwasher before heading upstairs. He grinned as he saw Eren sprawled across his bed, padding over to a dark wood dresser, fishing for sweatpants and a tank top. “Give me a sec, Eren. I'll be right back.” He walked to the bathroom, quickly changing and brushing his teeth before returning, dumping his clothes in a laundry bag.

Eren watched Lathe come back and his eyes locked on Lathe’s left arm. He has tattoos? They look cool, I wonder when he got them? Eren’s curious gaze followed his soon to be new father figure.

Lathe noticed Eren’s wide-eyed look, glancing to his arm. “Oh, the tattoos? Pretty cool, huh?” He grinned, inspecting them. “I dunno, I always wanted to get one when I was younger, and I just ended up getting a bunch of them.” My only complaint is covering them with long sleeves in the summer. Damn you, professionalism! He moved back the red quilt on his bed, hopping up and reaching over to turn off the light on the stand next to his bed.

Eren watched him climb in bed and he curled up to Lathe’s side as he got comfortable. “Thank you, Lathe.” Eren said and buried his head into Lathe’s chest, smiling.

Lathe smiled. “Of course, Eren.” He wrapped his arm around him, rubbing his arm with his thumb. I got you.

Eren smiled, quickly falling asleep. He slept the whole night for the first time in two weeks, though the only downside was that he woke up at around 5 am, still curled up to Lathe. He stayed still, not wanting to wake him up.

Lathe cracked open one eye about a half hour later, trying to make out the time on the clock on the wall opposite them, reading the hands. I'm on school time, obviously. Eren’s probably still dead asleep. He carefully shifted away from Eren and out of bed, padding over to the stairs. Coffee first. Then maybe I can do something downstairs before I have to get ready for the courthouse.

Eren watched Lathe get up and got up as well, though he was quiet as he stepped quietly to his room to get dressed in dark wash jeans, a black t-shirt, and a black hoodie as well. He put on some socks he found in his box of clothes before silently creeping downstairs and towards the kitchen. He’s probably making coffee. I wonder if I can have some tea?

“Want something to eat, Eren?” Lathe looked over his shoulder at him. I have ears like a bat.
Eren stretched as he walked into room, letting out a small squeak as he did so. “Breakfast would be great.”

...that’s the single most adorable sound I have ever heard. “Alright. Do you want tea? We have at least three kinds in here.” He opened the cabinet above him, showing a small collection of boxes.

“What’s the tea I had at my house?” He asked quietly and examined the different boxes. He just said it was tea, I didn’t know there were different kinds of tea…. So what did I have last time? That was really good.

Lathe tapped a light grey box. “This is what you had last time. There are a bunch of different kinds and brands, but this one is honestly my favourite. There are kinds like green tea, and they can come with different flavours, like mint… but you can always try others later if you just want to stick with what you like.” As he spoke, he set a kettle with water on the back burner.

Eren thought about it for a little bit before taking the light grey box and opening it carefully. He pulled out a tea bag from the box and looked at it carefully. “How do you get tea from this?” He asked and looked to Lathe with a curious gaze. He was quite the curious one.

Curious? Lathe grinned, picking the bag up by its tab. “What you do, is when you pour hot water into a mug, you put the bag in and leave this little tag on the outside. The tea leaves are in this little bag, and the water draws its color and flavour from the leaves, and the flavour gets stronger the longer you leave it in. It’s in the little bags so you don’t have bits of leaf floating in your tea.” He found a mug as the kettle started whistling. “Here, let me show you.” He filled the mug with hot water, placing it on the counter. He handed Eren back the small teabag. “Now, just dunk it it and let it sit for a minute. Don’t let the tab fall in, though.”

Eren nodded and put the tea bag in, not letting the small tab fall in, holding it tightly between his thumb and his forefinger. He watched as color slowly began to spread from the teabag into the surrounding water. Eren quickly became entranced and watched the tea steep curiously.

Lathe watched Eren out of the corner of his eye, smiling at his curiosity. He studied the fridge’s contents, looking for something he could make. He decided eggs and bacon would be fine. He placed them on the counter, noting the time on the clock. Sue would either just be getting up now, or… He listened intently for a moment, hearing small footsteps upstairs. Yep. There she is. He set two pans on the stove, one for eggs, and one for bacon, covering the latter with a lid so it wouldn't spit. “You can take out the teabag whenever you think it’s strong enough.”
Eren nodded and waited until the tea was as dark as he remembered it last time, so he pulled the tea bag out and looked around for a garbage, quickly finding it under the sink so he went for it and tossed the used bag out. He blew on the steaming liquid before raising it to his lips, letting out a soft sigh and going to sit in the same seat Levi had sat in for dinner the first night.

Lathe turned the bacon, letting everything finish cooking before sliding three eggs and two pieces of bacon onto their own plates. He set one in front of Eren, one in his place, and one where Sue normally sat, glancing up to the doorway as she quietly stepped in. “Good morning, Sue.”

She responded with a yawn, going to pour herself some tea as well. “Good morning Lathe, Eren.” She smiled sweetly at Eren. “Did you sleep well?”

Eren nodded as he stayed where he was. “G’mornin’” Eren slurred a bit as he sipped at his hot tea, more focused on it than any conversation really. Though Sue was probably used to it by now, Eren barely talked at home, and he was almost always sitting around the piano, either doing his homework on the floor or sitting on the stool and playing various songs that he knew like the back of his hand.

Sue sat down at her place at the table, thanking Lathe as he handed her silverware. She was relatively quiet as well.

Lathe broke the quiet. “Sue, when’s your shift at the hospital over?”

“It ends at around five, but I'm going to be out doing research at the library for awhile. I'll be home, say, nine?”

“Alright. Well Eren, you've got the place pretty much to yourself for the day. I'm going to be out at the courthouse for quite a while, so I won't be back until around four. I'm sure you can handle holding down the fort.” Lathe grinned at Eren, and then a thoughtful look overtook his features. ...He hasn't been downstairs at all, has he?

“C-can I call Levi over?” He asked quietly looking up to Lathe from his plate. He didn’t want to stay in this house alone… But if Levi can’t come over I can just play the piano until my fingers hurt… That always keeps me busy. Eren looked down at his food again and took another bite, he was getting better at eating his meals thanks to his pills, but he still couldn’t eat everything.

“‘Can I call Levi over’ he says. Of course you can. That’s not even a question at this point. He practically lives here anyway.” Lathe took another drink of coffee, amused.

Eren nodded, finishing up what he could of his plate before taking his dish and starting to wash the dishes. He was a really good kid, cleaning up after himself and even the mess from the task of making breakfast.

Lathe finished soon after him, taking his plate to the sink and putting the ingredients away helping Eren dry the dishes. “Thanks for helping clean up, Eren.” Lathe set the last of the plates in the cupboard. “There’s a lot of time before I have to be anywhere. Do you want to see the workshop downstairs?”

“D-downstairs?” He asked, his eyes showing a bit of fear. He swallowed hard. He means the basement…. He’s talking about going to the basement…. “T-the b-basement?” His fear causing him to stutter as he slowly backed away from Lathe. But who could blame him after what had happened to him so many times before.

Lathe saw his fear, trying to placate him before he could panic. Think. It’s getting harder and harder to bring him back when he panics. “Eren, it’s nothing like what you might think. It’s an artists’ playground. There’s just a lot of crafty stuff to do. I’m not going to make you if you don’t want to go downstairs.” He raised his hands in surrender, staying put.

Eren watched Lathe and he stood his ground as well, he seemed to visibly relax once the word ‘crafts’ was mentioned. Does he mean like macaroni and little kid things? Or like paints all over and easels? “C-can y-you turn on a-all the lights, f-first?” He asked quietly. He really wanted to see it. I want to see what he considers crafts.

“Alright, I will. The door’s in the scripting room.” Lathe walked past Eren to the scripting room, opening the dark door and flicking on five light switches on a panel just at the top of the stairs. He turned to Eren, who had followed him and stopped at the staircase. “They're all on. I'll go down first, okay? You take as much time as you need.” Lathe slowly descended the wood steps, hand ghosting over the railing as he made his way to the bottom.

Eren took the stairs one step at a time, sometimes having to calm down his breathing between each step, finally reaching the bottom of the staircase before he peered in cautiously.

The far wall was entirely a chalkboard, covered in schematics and various sketches, some samples of different writing styles, and random insignias. A large table was centred in the closer half of the room, piles of variously-sized paper in the centre, a mix of stools and chairs pushed underneath to save space. A large shelf on the wall to Eren’s left held boxes and boxes of pencils, graphite and charcoal, professional markers, and oil and chalk pastels, as well as smaller stacks of professional paper. The wall opposite it had a similar-looking shelf, this one with all colours of acrylic and oil paints, watercolour palettes, and many kinds of brushes. A few small boxes of baking clay and unopened models were among them, lined by tiny glass bottles of enamel paints. An easel was set up, a few blank canvases leaning against the wall. A simple quilting sewing machine was pushed in the corner, a box in front of it filled with scissors, pins, spools of thread and bobbins, measuring tapes and scraps of fabric ready to be sewn together. Various sketchbooks were left around the room at random, many of them nearly full.

Eren looked around the room with amazement flooding his wide viridian eyes. He checked out all of the boxes of pencils, all the markers in nearly every color imaginable. Eren was blown away by just how much was down there. He was careful with everything he touched, still unsure about using anything in this house, like Lathe told him he could. Does he mean even all of this? I can come down here whenever I want?

“You can pull out some of the boxes if you want, set up and work if you like. You don't have to be skittish about using what I’ve got down here. I meant it when I said what’s mine is yours. As of now, you have free reign down here.” Lathe’s eyes were bright, light flickering past. Go ahead. I can tell you really want to.

Eren gave him a look that simply asked, ‘Really??’ The boy maneuvered carefully through the room, collected a box of chalk pastels and some pieces of good paper before he set up at the table and started to make a mess of his hands and arms. So many colors clashed against each other as he enjoyed himself over his artwork. He looked happy, and he would probably be spending a lot of time down here too.

Lathe smiled as Eren began working so enthusiastically. He looked to the clock on the wall. 7:30. Is that too early to call? Eh, probably not. Eren’s involved. Levi won’t mind. “Eren, I’m going to run upstairs, call Levi and invite him over, alright? You're kinda…” He motioned to Eren’s already chalk-covered hands. “…occupied.”

Eren looked up at Lathe once he started speaking then down at his hands. “Yeah, you can call him for me.” His attention immediately going back to his art work. This paper is such high quality! And he has almost all the colors for this brand!! Lathe you are the fucking best!

Lathe walked up the stairs, going to the phone in the kitchen. Now what was Levi’s number… eh, let's see if I remember. Lathe pressed the buttons he thought were right, holding it to his ear. He grinned victoriously as he heard Levi’s sleepy voice.

“…Hello?” Who the fuck are you and what the fuck could you possibly want.
“Hey Levi! It’s Lathe- I'm calling from the house. Eren wants to know if you could come over for the day- I’m going to be gone for a while and he’d like your help holding down the fort.” We all know the real reason, but that works too.

Levi rubbed his eyes, swinging his legs over the edge of his bed. Yes! “Sure, that sounds good. I'd need a little while to eat something and get changed. Give me about half an hour, okay?”

“Sure! Try not to keep the bf waiting too long, though.” Lathe laughed at Levi’s exasperated sigh on the other end. “No, I'm not going to stop.”

“Laaaaaathe…”

“Never.” Lathe grinned, chuckling. “I'll see you soon.”

“Course. Bye.”

Lathe pressed the end button on the phone, placing it back on the hook. He walked back over to the scripting room, pausing as Sue passed him from the foot of the stairs, dressed for work. “I'll see you later, Sue. Oh, and Sue,” he caught her arm. “You don't have a problem with dogs, do you?”

She looked at him with confused eyes. “No, I don't. Why, may I ask?”

“Eren’s getting a service dog really soon, possibly today. I just had to make sure.”

“Oh, well I wouldn't have any problems with it.” She smiled brightly. “I’ll be home at nine.” She turned back to get to the garage. “Goodbye, Lathe!”

“Bye, Sue!” Thank god, no problems. It'd only be two weeks, but I'm just glad we won't have any immediate issues to deal with. He turned to run up the stairs and retrieve his phone, stowing it in his pocket before he went to walk back down the stairs to the basement, going over to the shelf and skimming over the many boxes. He picked a box of markers, selecting a medium-sized piece of paper and setting up adjacent to Eren.
Eren didn’t seem to either mind or notice really. He was too engrossed in his beautiful mountain scene. There were a lot of colors everywhere, and it made the picture all the more vibrant. He had a small smile on his face as he continued to draw and color.

Lathe had many maroon and copper and gold-coloured markers scattered around him, paying careful attention to his drawing of the mechanical insides of a watch. He looked up to Eren’s work, soon just opting to watch him work. He’s so good… Damn. Lathe looked up as he heard the doorbell ring. “I’ll get it.” He stood from his stool, quickly walking to let Levi in. He slid across the wood, unlocking the door and opening it for Levi, grinning. “‘Morning, Levi. Come on in.” He stepped back to let him in.

Levi toed off his shoes, a bag slung over his shoulder, his eyes catching Lathe’ arm. “Damn, nice tattoos.” He looked up at the piano, surprised Eren wasn't playing. Huh. “Where’s Eren? He’s always playing the piano.”

Lathe smiled, closing and locking the door behind him. “Thanks. And Eren’s downstairs in the workshop, going to town with chalk pastels. He’s crazy good.” Like, seriously good. Like, god level good.

_He has a workshop? And it’s in the basement? And Eren went down there voluntarily? “You have a workshop? That’s a thing?”_

“It is indeed a thing. He’s probably going to insist on chilling there for awhile. I hope you like art!” Lathe beamed, leading him to the stairs to the basement. He called to Eren as he clomped down the wood steps. “Eren, bae’s here!”

_Stoooop… “Hey Eren.” Levi walked up behind Eren, leaning over his shoulder. “What are you drawing?”_

Eren looked up and his smile grew a bit as he saw Levi. He smiled and showed off the beautifully detailed picture. The picture was so good, people would probably pay to have it framed in their home. “The mountains” He leaned back a little and poked Levi’s nose with a pastel-dusted hand, effectively leaving six colors all over Levi’s nose. Ohh, I got six on him. Eren couldn’t help himself from starting to laugh at the oddity of the color across Levi’s face.

..._there’s pastel all over my nose, isn’t there._ Levi blushed, trying to brush the stubborn dust off his nose, only managing to spread it around. _And now there’s dust on my hands._
Eren giggled more as he turned around and put both of his hands on Levi’s cheeks and just laughed at the multiple bright colors it left in the shape of his hands on Levi’s cheeks. The boy couldn’t stop laughing. This is too good, Oh my god can I take a picture please?? Lathe! Help! Picture!! Get a picture of him!

Lathe answered his thoughts with a flash of movement and a click, catching Levi by complete surprise. He chuckled as he looked at his phone screen, seeing Levi’s image. “That is the best picture I have ever taken.” Oh, yes.

Oh no. “Lathe, give me that.” Levi held out his hand imperatively, taking a step toward Lathe.

Lathe stepped back, holding his phone protectively, wearing an impish grin. “Nope!”

“Lathe.” Demandng.

“Levi.” Defiant.

“Eren!” Eren called out his own name and basically attached himself to Levi. He had cleaned his hands off with wipes he found laying around, so now he was on Levi’s back his arms around Levi’s chest and his legs wrapped around his waist. He giggled and smiled at Lathe, tempting him to take another picture. Take it! Take another picture!! DO IT NOW!!

This is too perfect! Lathe quickly took at least five pictures, grinning like a madman.

Levi caught Eren’s legs, stepping to keep his balance. “Oh my god Eren! I liked this shirt.”

“I cleaned my hands, thank you very much!” Eren pouted when Levi accused him of having dust all over him. “It comes out too! You don’t need to worry” He pouted rested his head on Levi’s shoulder, making a whimpering noise. That’s it Eren, entice him to apologize to you.

How can you be this fucking adorable so early? Alright, alright... “Fine.” He spoke quietly. “Sorry.” He looked to his left, away from Eren’s pouting face. Happy?

Eren smiled again. He reached around Levi further, his wraps were only slightly covered in dust as he pulled his arms around Levi’s chiseled chest. He nodded and then buried his face into the crook of Levi’s neck. Well at least he’s not mad. I wasn’t lying when I said that it comes out. Eren’s arm wraps would probably need to be changed after he was done as well. He smiled softly again as he felt Levi’s strong muscles under his shirt. I wanna draw it…. It would look heavenly…. That one would go in my bedroom. Yup, it’s decided, I’m fucking drawing him when Lathe leaves. You can’t say no either, Levi. HA!

Lathe tapped furiously on his phone, sending the pictures to his laptop. He glanced up to Eren, noting the glint in his eye. The kid’s got an idea- that could mean a lot of different things. He looked to the time on his phone. “I’ve got to start getting ready upstairs.” He moved to pack away the markers quickly, replacing the box and putting his unfinished drawing on an open shelf. “I’ll be out of your hair soon enough.” He walked up the stairs, heading for the bathroom to wash up.

Eren smirked evilly and looked at Levi. “You wanna help me with something?” His voice was innocent but his eyes were anything but. He almost had a full cheshire grin on his face as he looked at Levi. Please say yes… Please say yes!

Levi swallowed hard, looking at Eren. Fuck. “Uh… s-sure.” That’s not intimidating in any sense of the word at all. “What do you need me to do?”

Eren slowly slipped himself off of Levi and stepped back a bit to get a few boxes of charcoal pencils and a very large sheet of paper. “Take your shirt off.” Eren muttered to him as he tried to look around for a good lighting source for what he wanted to draw. This is gonna be awesome!

...Oh. “O-okay.” Levi hesitated for a moment before lifting his shirt over his head, showing off his toned muscles, his abs well defined. He tossed his shirt onto the table, rubbing the back of his neck.

Eren turned to look at Levi and he stood there in shock for a few seconds. I knew he was buff, but…. Holy SHIT! How does he not have a girlfriend right now?? I mean, really? He’s got to be the hottest guy in school. Oh well. “Come sit over here.” Eren motioned to the chair directly underneath a light fixture. He needed to position Levi the way he wanted to draw him. I’ve got him now.

“Um, okay.” I’m not sure about what’s happening. Levi sat down, waiting patiently for Eren’s next instruction.

Eren smiled softly and carefully positioned Levi so his arm was hanging over the back of the chair, his muscles nicely displayed. His other hand was positioned with his thumb hooked on the hem of his pants, showing off his v-line before Eren stepped back and nodded. He scampered off towards his paper and charcoal pencils. “Don’t move.” Those were Eren’s only words before he started to draw Levi’s immaculate body.

This is quite the compromising position to be in whilst also not being allowed to move. Uh... Levi studied Eren as he worked, whose eyes moved over his chest before carefully picking different pencil after different pencil to outline and shade his form. I wish I could see how he was doing...

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

“Spades, I'm beginning to think you've handed me the same form three times just to annoy me.”

“I have not. And be patient. There’s not that much left to do.”

Lathe grinned at her, twirling the black pen expertly. “You said that more than an hour ago.”

Spades rolled her eyes, a light smile on her face. “Well, I mean it this time. These last two aren't as long as some of the other forms.” She slid him the last two papers, leaning back in her chair. “This is a big thing you're doing.”

Lathe looked at her, giving a breathy laugh. “I'm just glad he won't have to worry about his father anymore.” The pen danced quickly over the page, the same information for what seemed to be the seventeenth time. “I just hope I know what I'm doing.”

“You'll be fine.” She cocked her head, studying him. “You were talkin’ earlier about something like his pills not workin’ right?”

Lathe sighed. “Yeah. His PTSD and nightmare pills were doing the opposite of what they were supposed to. He’s off them for the time being, until we can find him something that’ll actually do what it’s supposed to. I actually kinda wanted to ask you about that. You know lots of people.” He looked up to her. “Do you know anywhere we could find a good service dog? Specifically for PTSD, I mean. I really think Eren would benefit from having one.”

Spades tucked a fiery lock behind her ear, her blue plastic earpiece visible. “I do know a guy for that, actually. He’s paired a lot of service animals with the victims of cases I’ve dealt with before, a wonderful trainer. His name’s Moblit Berner. I'll text him, see if he has one.” She pulled out an iPhone, tapping away.

Lathe continued writing as she waited for a response, finally moving on to the last page. One more. One more and he’s home free.

Spades beamed. “He’s got one.” Her smile fell a bit as she kept reading his messages. “They’ve tried to match him with someone three times already… There hasn’t been a good fit.” That’s not exactly good. He’s more likely to not be a good match for Eren…

That’s not the best thing you could hear, but it’s a possibility. “We’ll just have to hope.” Lathe had a determined look in his eyes. Eren needs to get better. No matter what.

Spades grinned. “That’s what I like to hear. He’s about an hour from here, pretty much in the middle of the city. That’s where they get most of their training done, around so many people. I’ll have him know you're interested. You going to go over today?”

Lathe thought a moment. He’d definitely be up to it. “Yeah, tell him we’ll come on down later today, no later than six, if that's alright.”

It's about four now... cool. “Fabulous. He’ll be expecting you.” Spades looked as Lathe signed the last page, sliding the papers from him and handing him the envelope with Eren’s papers in it- his passport, his birth certificate, everything. “That’s it. Congratulations, Lathe. You're now Eren’s legal guardian. Try not to kill him, will you?” She joked, her grin a mile wide. You’re going to do great.

Lathe dropped his arm, the pen in his hand hitting the table with a final-sounding clatter. “That’s it.” He laughed. “That is it, isn't it?” I just did that.

Spades pushed her chair back, standing. “Come on, you can skip to the excited stage of this any minute now.” She walked with Lathe out of the office they were in to the hall, the lobby, the parking lot. When she next looked over, Lathe was beaming, running both his hands through his hair in disbelief.

Lathe paused at the bottom of the steps, looking at her intensely. “Spades, thank you so much.” The gratitude in his eyes was powerful.
She chuckled. “Of course, Lathe. I’m just doing my job. But thank you, for doing something wonderful.” She patted his arm. “I’ve got to get going, and you’ve got things to do, right?”

“Right. I’ll see you later, Spades.”

“See you.” She turned, walking off to her car.

Lathe walked back to his car, only able to think about what he had just done.

Eren had not left the confines of the workshop downstairs. He was so engrossed in his art that Levi had to physically take his pencils away to get the boy to eat anything. Eren had created a beautiful picture of Levi’s built body; he didn’t include Levi’s head though. He had focused on the contours of his body and damn, did he do it justice. Eren was pleased when he had showed Levi the picture to get his shocked reaction out of it. He had been in a good mood all day, which of course Levi was curious about but he wasn’t about to ruin Eren’s mood asking him what was up. However, soon he was compelled to ask as it drew later in the evening and Eren had done nothing but draw.

“Oi, Brat, you’ve been in a good mood all day, and besides finding out that you can draw all day, what’s up?” He asked as he wrapped his arms around the bubbly brunette. What’s he drawing now? He’s gone through like seven sheets of paper in the last hour.

Eren lifted his head and looked up to Levi and saw his curious gaze. “Lathe went to the courthouse.”

The courthouse, what the fuck is he doing there? “What, he get a speeding ticket or something? That sounds like something he would do.” Levi snickered as he watched Eren return his focus to the colorful paper.

“He’s becoming my legal guardian.” Eren was completely calm as the words left his mouth.

“Really? When did you find that out?” Usually he would’ve told me something like that right away!

“I found out yesterday… but you were at football, so I didn’t get to tell you. Sorry.” Eren looked back up at Levi for a few moments, his eyes full of guilt.

_Not the damn guilty eyes again! Damn this Brat! He’s too fucking adorable! I’ve lost control. You did this to yourself, brat!_ Levi shook his head as he moved to lean close to Eren’s face. “There’s nothing to apologize to me for.” Levi smirked as he watched Eren’s face flush from the how close they were to each other. He leaned in closer and kissed Eren gently at first, but he had already lost himself in his eyes, so in no time he was kissing Eren quite passionately.

Eren made a small gasp as Levi leaned in to kiss him. _Wasn’t expecting that, but I’m not complaining._ Eren’s eyes fluttered shut as he kissed Levi back, just like he had so many nights before. _I wonder how long he’ll be kissing me for? I wonder when he’ll get tired of me and go get a girlfriend…. Stop thinking like that, he’s with you right now, so fucking enjoy it!_ Levi had no intention of stopping anytime soon. He coiled his right arm around Eren’s waist, his left carefully pushing the paper and pencils back. He leaned over Eren, deepening the kiss, swiping his tongue over his lip. _Please._

Eren let him lick there for a moment or two before he opened his mouth to let Levi’s tongue enter. He wrapped his tongue around Levi’s, slowly coaxing it into his own mouth, tasting the mouthwash Levi had used after eating lunch. _Always so fresh and clean, I like it._

Levi quietly groaned into Eren’s mouth, his other arm coming up to tangle in Eren’s hair, pressing their chests and hips together. _You feel so wonderful…_ He continued mapping out Eren’s mouth, lost in the feeling of Eren’s lips moving with his.

Eren let out a soft moan every now and then as Levi either found a sensitive spot along his skin, or his tongue made him shiver. He was like a puddle, melting into Levi’s hands. _Oh, Levi…. Don’t stop, please._ Eren felt his knees finally give out, but when his back hit the table, he wasn’t concerned about it at all. He willingly let Levi align their bodies together, enjoying the feeling of Levi’s hips on his own thinner ones. _He’s strong, and I like it. Levi, you lose any of your muscles and you are dead to me._ Eren slowly brought a hand up to Levi’s head, carding through his hair before pulling him down to kiss him deeper.

Levi bent over Eren on the table, curling his tongue around his, letting his hands roam his chest, his waist, his hands seldom brushing the waistband of his jeans. He cupped Eren’s cheek, swiping his thumb over the spot he remembered made Eren shiver. _That sound… And you feel so good…_ Levi pressed himself as close to Eren as he could, without crushing his smaller frame.
Eren pressed himself up against Levi’s strong chest. He pulled back from the kiss to breathe. His eyes seemed to blaze with a fire, brightly shining. He was breathing harshly from kissing Levi so feverishly for so long. “L-Levi?” He stuttered out his name in embarrassment as he looked up to the shorter teen over him. Why did he kiss me like that again? And he’s touching me all over….

Eren let out a soft moan as Levi traced a sensitive spot along his side, causing the boy to shudder in pleasure under him. Fuck, he’s definitely experienced in this…. And it feels so good...

My god, if he keeps making sounds like that… Levi gazed back with hooded eyes, smirking. “Eren?” His voice was smooth and deep, like melted chocolate. He let his hands continue to wander over his chest, running up his sides.

Eren let out a high pitched moan as Levi grazed over his sensitive chest. He raised his hand to cover his mouth. Completely embarrassed by the noise he had just made. “Why… Levi?” Eren asked in between heavy breaths. He then tried to prop himself up with his elbows to look at the other straight in the eyes. He was smiling softly as he gazed intently into Levi’s steely eyes.

...I can't English! How do you put something like that into words? “Because you’re adorable, and talented, and you sound sexy as hell.” He pecked his lips before wandering over to his neck, nibbling at his earlobe. Crisis averted. Now. Let’s hear that again.

Eren let out a string of moans as Levi pinpointed every sensitive spot Eren had from the top of his ear down to his collarbone. Eleven, I counted eleven, god he must think I’m such a whore by now… Levi… Ah! Eren let out an even louder moan, writhing in bliss under Levi as his adam's apple became Levi’s target. He found the fucking motherload…. Shit, I’m gonna get hard soon… Then he’s surely gonna know I’m a fucking whore… Fuck, I need to stop this! Eren shifted, moving his hands to the sides of Levi’s head and brought his lips up off his neck and back to his own. Kiss me for all you’re fucking worth, Short Stack.

Message Received. Levi wasted no time in deepening the kiss, his tongue desperately going to coil around Eren’s, tasting him and exploring his mouth. So good…

“A-hem.”

Levi broke their kiss, jumping in surprise at their interruption. Fuck. His face blazing scarlet, he turned to Lathe, covering his face with his hand. This is so fucking embarrassing. A second time??

Eren’s eyes were wide as he turned his face to see Lathe standing at the end of the staircase, his arms crossed as he lounged against the wall. How long has he fucking been there? OMG did he hear me moaning?? Oh god I hope not! That would be mortifying! Eren gently pushed Levi off of him so he could get up off the table, his face completely flushed all the way to his ears.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at them. “Apparently I need to knock to go anywhere in my own house.” He studied their flushed faces. I should probably get used to this happening. “Eren, we’re going to head out pretty soon. We’ve found you a doge out in the city. We’re expected.” He looked at Levi pointedly. “As long as that’s okay with present company.” Levi, you’re now going to have to deal with a protective parent. I hope you’re up for that.

Eren looked at him for a moment processing what he had just said. I’m really getting a dog??? And we’re going now!!? Eren looked down at himself, covered in various colors as well as charcoal, but of course that didn’t really show because of his black clothes. “U-um…. I’m gonna need my arms wrapped again if we head out.” He said and displayed his very colorful bandages for Lathe to see. Eren then turned to Levi to see if he was alright with them going.

“Oh… yeah, I was supposed to tell you that too, sorry…. I’m getting a service dog for my PTSD.” He said quietly and rubbed the back of his neck as his face heated up in embarrassment all over again. “You’re not mad are you?” He asked quietly and he stepped back a bit from Levi. He didn’t know how to react, it looked like Levi was really angry with him. Please don’t be angry… I need the dog…. I need it Levi I hope you’ll understand.

Why in the world… “Eren, I’m not mad, that’s great! I love dogs. And it’s good that you’re getting one to help you. I know it’s been rough for you lately. A service dog like that might be just what you need.” Levi wrapped one arm around him, rubbing his arm. I can't be mad at you. Stop assuming that.

Eren seemed to sigh in relief when he heard Levi’s words. His hand which had crept to his other wrist and started to scratch out of nervousness stopped and returned to his side. He felt much better already with Levi’s words.

Lathe noted Eren trying to scratch his wrists. That’s what the dog is for. “Good to hear. ‘Cause if you’re going to be seeing as much of Eren as I think, you’re going to be seeing just as much of his dog. FYI.” He looked to Eren. “As much as the color looks nice, I don’t think we want that dust getting everywhere. I’ll rewrap your arms, and we can get going, alright?”

Eren nodded and scampered off to go get changed into new clothes, wearing black jeans, and a black t-shirt. He had removed his bandages, bringing them down for Lathe to dispose of since they had a bit of blood on them. He had also brought down one of his hoodies and waited for Lathe to come wrap his wrists again in the kitchen.

Lathe saw off Levi, before grabbing his bag from the banister and expertly rewrapping Eren’s hands. The bandages, instead of their usual flesh color, were a dark green. “We need some color on you.” He grinned, sliding the hooks in place. “Come on, let’s get in the car. You can have free reign of the radio. There’s an aux cord too, so anything on your phone is fair game.” He stood, leading Eren to his car, locking the door behind them.

Eren smiled and he already started to pull his phone out to create a playlist for the two of them. He walked to the passenger side of Lathe’s car and got in quickly since it was nippy out, even with a sweatshirt on. He quickly closed the door behind him and got comfortable in his place, his focus then turning to his phone again. What to play? What to play? What to play! OH I KNOW!! Eren began to hurriedly go through all his music and tap a few to add them to a playlist.

Playlist: Car Ride Jams

- Wake Me Up : 2Cellos
- Fix You : Coldplay
- Carry On : Fun.
- Halo : Beyoncé
- Grand Piano : Nicki Minaj
- Tennis Court : Lorde
- One Grain of Sand : Ron Pope
- Ride : Twenty One Pilots
- Riptide : Vance Joy
- Heathens : Twenty One Pilots
- Once Upon a Dream : Lana Del Ray
- Piano Man : Billy Joel
- American Pie : Don McLean
- How Far We’ve Come : MatchBox Twenty
- Sail : AWOLNATION
- I Bet My Life : Imagine Dragons
- Rap God : Eminem
- Primadonna : Marina and the Diamonds
- Mama’s Broken Heart : Miranda Lambert
- White Winter Hymnal : Pentatonix
- Home : Daughtry
- Don’t Let Me Down : The Chainsmokers
- Kanye : The Chainsmokers
- Everybody Talks : Neon Trees
- Flaws : Bastille
- My Songs Know What You Did In The Dark : Fall Out Boy
- Pumped up Kicks : Foster the People
- Stars : Fun.
- This Love : Maroon 5
- Young Volcanoes : Fall Out Boy
- Boulevard of Broken Dreams : Green Day
- Don’t You Remember : Adele
- Cake By The Ocean : DNCE
- It’s Time : Imagine Dragons
- Polaroid : Imagine Dragons
- Bleeding Out : Imagine Dragons
- Sunday Morning : Maroon 5
- Sledgehammer : Rihanna
- Chandelier : Sia
- Don’t You Dare Forget The Sun : Get Scared
Eren immediately put the playlist on shuffle, right away coming up with ‘Piano Man.’ Eren smiled and started to use his lap as the piano board and played along, waiting for the words to come to sing along.

Lathe nodded his head as it played, recognizing the first few chords. Nice. Carefully backing from the driveway, he put it in drive, beginning their hour journey into the city.

Eren was singing basically the whole entire car ride there, surprising Lathe with how well he could rap when ‘Rap God’ came on a few songs in. He just smiled and continued. I hope I’m on key, I haven’t sung for this long in years.

...Damn he can sing! He’s got rapping down to a science! And for this long, he’s keeping up really well! Lathe was beaming, careful in looking for the place. Parking isn’t going to be too easy, but eh. We’ll find somewhere. He pulled up outside a nice-looking building, thankful there was an open spot two doors down. He let the song finish before killing the engine. “Come on kid, let’s find you your doge!” Lathe smiled mischievously before opening his door, careful of other cars.

Eren smiled and unplugged his phone before he followed after Levi. He put his hands into his hoodie pouch. It was colder in the city, so he followed Lathe as quickly as he could. It’s fucking freezing here!! I want to go inside! MURRRRR!!!

Lathe stepped ahead of him, opening the door and ushering him inside. How could I forget to bring my scarf? It’s so cold. He followed Eren, grateful for the warmth of the inside.

Eren went immediately to hide behind Lathe as soon as he heard someone rushing down the stairs, a tall man came clomping down the steps at high speed. He was across the long hall in a second and coming towards them, his large steps making quick work of the space between them. “Hi, I’m Moblit Berner… You must be Lathe, Spades told me you would be coming… and are you Eren?” He asked leaning his head to the side to see Eren holding onto the back of Lathe’s coat peering out from behind him.

Eren slowly nodded behind Lathe, not courageous enough to come out from behind the safety of his foster parent.

Noting Eren’s fear, Lathe straightened himself to his full height, a head taller than the other man. “Yeah, that’s me… Spades said you have a dog?”
Moblit looked up at Lathe and nodded. “Yeah, Blake’s upstairs. I can bring him down, or we can go up to meet him, whichever you prefer.” His voice was gentle and kind as he noticed Eren’s distress and knew to back up a few feet.

Lathe looked to Eren, smiling gently. “Feel like going up some stairs, kid? That’s your call.”

Eren looked at Lathe and hurriedly shook his head and hid behind him fully. He didn’t want to wander. Nope, I don’t like new people, I can hear people moving around upstairs… No, no way…

Moblit nodded and led them to a door a few feet away down the hall towards the stairs. “You can wait in here while I go get him.” Moblit opened the door and motioned for them to enter the bright white room, flooded with natural light. It had a bunch of seats in it, lining the walls. “You can sit wherever, but you’ll probably want to keep the chairs against the wall. We’re going to make sure you guys can be paired, and that requires going on the floor… sorry, but it’s gotta be done.” Moblit apologized quietly before he went to go and get Blake from upstairs.

Eren went to go and sit down on the far side of the room. His right hand almost immediately reaching for his left wrist to scratch. He was really nervous and he couldn’t help himself.

Lathe caught his hand immediately, his grip gentle but firm. “Eren, don’t worry. I’m going to be here the entire time. This dog is trained to help you, not to hurt you. I’m sure in no time you’re going to be bff’s.” Lathe smiled.

“You think so?” Eren asked and put his hand by his side, his middle finger scratching gently against his dark jeans.

“I know so.” Lathe looked to the door. “I’ve got a good feeling about this.” He watched as Moblit entered, a dog in a vest at his heels.

Eren watched as the mahogany Belgian Malinois came into the room, stopped and stared at Eren for only a split second before he started to carefully and slowly come towards Eren. Eren watched him, his hands coming close to himself as he sat back further in his seat. He wanted to scratch, he was agitated… The dog could tell. He walked right up to Eren and put his paws onto Eren’s hands and moved to lick them. He moved to get his attention and licked Eren on his face. What am I supposed to do with him? Am I supposed to pet him? Eren shakily reached out to pet the dog half in his lap. The dog enjoyed the pets and Eren’s smile started to slowly come back as he started to visibly relax and pet the dog more confidently.
Moblit stood at the door and watched, he smiled, already knowing this would work out well. “He’s never responded to someone so keenly before, this is a good sign.” He said and closed the door behind himself, getting closer to them so Moblit could go over how Blake was trained so he wouldn’t freak out when the dog acted in response to Eren’s movements or demeanor.

They’re already bff’s. What’d I say? This is going to work out just fine.

Moblit came forward and told him all the commands he needed to keep Blake still during a class or such: “Sit”, “Stay”, “Down”, “Heel”, “Lay”, and “Follow”. Eren knew exactly what each of those words would do to Blake and was asked to walk around the room with him and repeat the motions so Eren would know how Blake would react. Next came the fun part: showing how Blake reacted to panic attacks and how he prevented them.

“Okay so I know this is a personal question, but I need to ask so Blake won’t freak you out. Do you have urges to do any self-harm… Cutting? Scratching? Anything?” He asked seeing the boy nod he got him to sit in a chair in the room and sat Blake beside him. Eren was asked to start scratching like he normally did and was told not to freak out, Blake would not harm him.

Eren nodded and started to scratch and he almost let out a scream as Blake moved in an instant and he had Eren’s right hand safely between his jaws. It was to stop Eren’s motions and the dog put no pressure on his fingers, just holding them there as the dog put a big paw on Eren’s left hand. Eren watched and he reached out to pet Blake with his left hand, which was when Blake released his grip on Eren’s right hand and reached up in the chair to lick Eren’s face, signalling a job well done to Eren.

Lathe had to keep himself from reaching out to intervene, though as he kept studying the dog’s behavior he himself relaxed and let the dog do their job. That’s a good thing for him to know- how to stop Eren from scratching. It’s a bad tic to have.

Moblit then ushered Blake away from Eren’s lap and sitting beside him again. “Okay now you know what he does when you try to scratch yourself. I need you to think of something that either makes you want to punch something or run away and hide… can you do that for me?”

Eren looked down at the dog then back at Lathe. Well, Lathe’s here if I really freak out. Eren nodded and then started to think about his father. His chest started to tighten almost immediately as a sense of dread washed over his whole body. He had to close his eyes. I don’t want to go that deep. No no, not that far! Eren felt Blake grab onto his hoodie and carefully drag him to the floor, so that he was sitting down in a curled up to ball. Blake instantly went to work and got Eren to uncurl after a minute or two and got him out of the ‘mini attack’ as Eren pet Blake back again, and Blake can get him out of a small attack like that, before it really escalates. That’s good. I hope to god it never comes to that, but if it did… But what if one time it isn’t enough?

Moblit then looked to Lathe. “Lathe, are you prepared to work with an attack if he has one here and Blake can’t pull him out of it?” He asked quietly to the man sitting at the back wall.

Lathe looked him in the eye, responding without hesitation. “Yes, I am. I’ve had to do it before, and I’ll do it again. Every time he needs me to.” I just hope I don’t have to. It’s important that Blake can stop one before it happens, but there’s no way I’d just let Eren suffer in an attack...

Moblit nodded. “Okay, Eren I need you to stay on the ground, do you know what happens when you go into an attack? The actions you do?” Seeing the boy shake his head, Moblit turned to Lathe again. “Can you tell me what he does while he’s having a panic attack? Does he go somewhere specific in a room, is he in a certain position? Does he scratch or cut during his episode?” He asked, he needed to know so they could mimic an attack for Blake to show what he would do.

Lathe swallowed, remembering the two attacks he’d had to deal with. “Eren tends to run for a far corner of the room, away from people. He’d scratch at any bandages he had on, his arms especially. He’d curl in on himself, on the defensive. He’s turned violent, but that was only when we couldn’t get through to him…” It’s awful, what Eren goes through...

Moblit nodded and turned to Eren. “Do you think you can do that? Just the motions so you know how Blake with react and help you, so you don’t freak out more during an attack?” He asked Eren softly and pet Blake. This was the best he had done in about a year with anyone.

Eren nodded and he went off towards the corner and curled up in a ball, his back to the wall and he was faking scratching at himself. Blake followed right after and he grabbed Eren’s hoodie again and he moved Eren to lay out on the floor, away from any objects before he started to rub his body against Eren’s thin framing, finally getting a majority of his weight on Eren, effectively pinning the boy as he licked Eren’s chin and face to calm him down. Eren reached up to pet the dog like he would to calm himself down.

Moblit smiled at them. “He’ll only get up off of you if you tell him to “Rise”. Okay, Eren?” Moblit asked.
Eren nodded and pet Blake for a few more seconds. “Rise.” Eren watched as Blake slowly got up off of Eren, careful not to hurt him. And stayed by his side, gently pawing his hands and chest and licking his face. Blake’s tail was wagging side to side and sped up as Eren giggled. So that’s what he’ll do if I’m having an attack. I think I’ll be okay with that, he can’t pin my wrists and feet so it shouldn’t push me further in… I think I can do this. Eren looked over to Lathe with gleaming eyes as he sat up and allowed Blake in his lap to be pet.

That would work. I think this is it! “So, kid, what’s the verdict?” Lathe grinned, his shining eyes matching Eren’s.

“Can we keep him?” He asked as he moved to hug Blake and the dog didn’t seem to mind, licking Eren’s face vigorously. Please say yes, I wanna keep him...

“You got it.” He turned to Moblit, smiling. “We’ll take him. I’m assuming there’s plenty of paperwork to fill out?”

“There’s only three sheets, you’ll be fine! I’ll need you guys to follow me, we need to get Eren’s handler ID card done and Blake’s ID card is already in his vest, so that’s taken care of. Eren gets to pick the badges that’ll go on the rest of Blake’s vest so if you come to my office, we can get this all sorted out in 15 minutes.” He told them and motioned them to follow.

Lathe stood to follow, offering his hand to Eren, pulling him from the floor. He let Blake sniff his hand. He gently scratched him behind the ear. “Hey Blake. You’re going to be seeing plenty of me, too. It's nice to meet you.” He grinned, following Moblit. I like him. This is going to be alright. We'd better stop and get dog food on the way home. Can't forget that.

Eren smiled as the four of them walked to Moblit’s clean and orderly office to get his picture taken, his ID card printed and put into Blake’s vest. Eren then picked out all of the badges he needed. “Do Not Separate from Handler”, “Working Service Dog Do Not Distract”, “All Access Dog”, and “PTSD Service Dog” were the 4 patches which covered Blake’s camouflage vest. While all this was being done Lathe was busy filling out the three sheets of paperwork which were going to be filed. So Eren sat with Blake and pet him happily. He’s mine! He’s really mine!

“Before you go I should also tell you a few things about Blake. He’s a Belgian Malinois, so he’s gonna stick by Eren’s side 24/7. Eren’s going to need to walk him, a lot… And not just around the block every other day, I mean like go on a mile jog with him every day. He doesn’t really need a big back yard. He's also not friendly towards others that he doesn’t trust getting close to Eren. But as long as Eren introduces them to the dog, it’ll all go over fine. He’s very protective of his handler. Blake’s breed is known for their hypersensitivity as well, so if he jumps on you in class, don’t be alarmed, he’s trying to calm you down way before any panicking starts. And that’s about it. Oh, and he’ll sleep wherever you do… in case you have an attack at night, and if he can’t get you to wake up he will leave your side to find someone he trusts to come and either wake you up or call for medical assistance in other cases.” Moblit explained to the two of them as Eren continued to run his hand through Blake’s soft fur.

Lathe simply nodded. Alright, so I'm guessing Blake’s just going to sleep on Eren’s bed, near his foot. Okay. And I'll make sure I leave my door open in case Blake needs to come get me... I dunno how well the exercise thing will go over. He’ll get used to it, I hope. Lathe signed the last page.

“That everything?”

“Ya, that’s everything, if you need to bring him back, call me first.” He said and gave them his card before he saw them off. He had given Eren a leash for Blake, so Blake walked at Eren’s side, the leash clipped to his collar.

Lathe watched the dog as they walked back to the car, smiling. “Alright, kid. He’s gonna have to sit in your lap while we drive. We’ll be stopping at the pet store on the way back too, picking up food and whatnot. Cool?” He glanced at his watch. We’ll be home... seven? Ish? Yeah, that sounds about right.

“Okay, that sounds good.” He went to the car and hopped in first, the dog hopping in after him. Eren put his phone on the aux cord, pressing play before settling into the seat. Blake found himself comfortably sprawled across Eren’s lap as Lathe drove.

Lathe stopped about fifteen minutes into the drive, pulling into the parking lot of a pet store. “We need food, and bowls, and all sorts of stuff. Ready?” He got out of the car, shutting the door. Dry run. Let’s see how Blake acts. He should be fine.

Eren looked around at all the cars, swallowing hard at the prospect of just how many people were in the store. Eren got out with Blake jumping out beside him. The dog stayed glued to Eren’s side; he didn’t really need the leash, but it was required in public. Eren followed Lathe into the pet store, which was crowded with adults, kids, and so many different kinds of animals. That being said, this was the only pet store for quite a few counties, so it was to be expected. Eren swallowed hard and started to reach for his wrist without even realizing it. A second later his hand was surrounded by Blake’s teeth. Was I gonna scratch? I didn’t even realize it... Blake let go once Eren had calmed down and pet him. He let go and walked beside them, keeping his ears perked towards all the different people around.

So far, so good. Lathe kept a careful eye on the two of them, slowing down when Blake acted in response to Eren’s nervous move to scratch. He waited for Eren to walk next to him, skimming the signs on the aisles and hanging from the ceiling, an empty basket in his hands. Dog stuff... Dog stuff... There! He turned a corner, facing a wall of different kinds of food. He started reading over the labels, looking for something that would be good for a dog of Blake’s size.
Eren walked further down the aisle to get some toys. Balls. If I can get him to play fetch in the park, I can exercise him that way. That sounds easier than going for mile long jogs every day. Eren moved and soon found a good sized ball bag and held it out for Blake to sniff at. Which of course he did and then pawed at it, almost like he was trying to get it out of the mesh it was in. Does that mean he wants to play with it? Well I’ll get these ones then, he seems interested in it. Eren came back to Lathe’s side and put the balls into the basket Lathe was holding. A few other dog owners had come in with their dogs, but upon seeing the vest on Blake, kept their dogs as far away as possible, as not to distract the service dog with their own dogs.

Lathe tapped a large bag of food. This one should be good. He moved the basket to the crook of his arm, picking up the bag with ease. “I think this should be enough for awhile. He needs bowls for food and water still. They’re further down, I think.” He let Eren walk ahead of him. Go ahead. It's alright.

Eren looked to Lathe before down at Blake and held onto his leash tightly. They walked down the aisle without incident and got to the bowls. Eren’s grip shifted on the leash again, gripping it tight enough to make his knuckles white. Blake whined and pawed at his hands and got him to release his grip, letting him pet him to relax. Eren smiled softly as he scratched behind Blake’s ear, calming down a lot. The people had moved away from this section of the aisle, so he felt more at ease again.

Lathe nodded his head at a set of metal bowls. “Pick something that’ll last a while. Those look alright? It’s your call, Eren.” Pick whichever you want.

Eren looked at the large bowl selection and picked out two large metal bowls, a bit bigger than the ones Lathe had pointed out. “Do you have paint that’ll stay on metal?” He asked quietly to Lathe, he was gonna paint on the bowls to customize them, that’s why he wanted the bigger ones, more space.

“I like the way you think. I’ve got lots of enamel paints. They’ll stay on well.” Lathe grinned. Good idea. “Can you think of anything else? We might need to get him a dog bed, unless you’re cool with him taking over the space near your foot or something like that.”

“I’m okay with him on my bed. It shouldn’t be a problem, it’s big enough.” Eren told him and smiled as he pet Blake more. The dog seemed really happy even with his ears swiveling around whenever someone either walked by, or even talked pretty close to them.

“Alright. Let’s get going, then.” Lathe walked ahead of them, shifting the bag in his arms. He made sure he could hear Blake’s paws behind him, making sure they didn't get separated. So early on,
Eren held onto Blake’s leash. The dog seemed relatively calm even with everyone around, as long as they didn’t come within a few feet of Eren he was completely calm. He only bared his teeth once at a dog who had gotten too close to Eren for his liking, but he didn’t growl. Well, he didn’t growl… so that’s good I guess? Eren smiled and softly pet Blake when the other dog had left.

After Lathe paid for the food and everything else they had gotten, they walked out to the car again, storing everything in the trunk. Lathe hopped back in the driver’s seat, a thought occurring to him. “Eren, you don’t have a driver’s license, do you?”

“A Driver’s license? I can get that?” He asked as he sat down in the passenger seat. Eren allowed for Blake to get on his lap. Eren closed the door and reconnected his phone to the aux cord. I can get one of those?? Does that mean I can drive?

“Well, you take a test that’s pretty much common-sense and get a permit first, and then you have to practice and take a road test, but yeah, you’re old enough to start working for one. If you want to, that is.” Lathe grinned. How could you not want to be able to drive wherever and whenever you want?

Wouldn’t that require having a car? “But I don’t have a car Lathe…..” Eren was confused. His father’s car was the only one he had seen, and even that wasn’t around anymore. How would I even learn it?

“Kid, would you kindly inform me what it is you are currently sitting in?” Earth to Eren. Come in Eren.

“Yeah, but it’s your car, I can’t drive your car!” Eren immediately protested the thought of driving this classic car. Nope, can’t do it, I cannot drive this thing! What if I crash it? Or even put a scratch on it? Lathe would be pissed with me! Absolutely not! Blake’s mouth clamped around Eren’s hands and he stared at him with his bright blue eyes. Okay, so I was starting to freak out a bit there, thanks Blake. Eren took in a few deep breaths before moving to pet the dog currently in his lap.

Lathe’s features softened. “It’s fine Eren, really. I’ve got insurance if you’re worried about anything happening, and that actually reminds me, I’ve got quite a few calls to make when we get home. But it’s something you should really think about getting. I’d be more than willing to help you learn and get ready for a road test. I think you should really consider it.” Don’t worry. I can’t be too mad about anything happening to this car unless you were trying to wreck it.

Eren looked over to Lathe for a few seconds, completely silent as he tried to gauge Lathe’s features. Is he telling the truth? I know my father hated being in the same room as me for more than a few moments…. And he never had the patience to teach me any real life skills. I’ll think about it I guess. Eren nodded to him and turned his attention back to Blake who was hurriedly licking his face. Probably because he could sense the agitation of thinking about his father.

Lathe smiled again, starting the car and carefully starting again for home. Alright. I won’t bug him about for a little bit, let him mull it over. He’s got plenty of time to get one. He pulled into their driveway a little more than half an hour later. “Alright, let's get this stuff in the house, and then I'll start dinner.” Lathe hopped out, opening the trunk and picking up the bag of food.

Eren climbed out and unclipped Blake’s leash. The dog didn’t run off, instead staying right by Eren’s side as Eren went to the back to grab the bowls and balls and the few other things they had gotten for him. So he won’t run from me, that’s good… Do I need to keep the vest on him at home? “Lathe?” Eren called out as he came into the house behind him.

“Yeah?” Lathe was in the kitchen, fitting the bag of food in a large cupboard under the sink. “What’s up?”

“Does he have to wear the vest in the house?” He asked and looked down at Blake by his side. The dog was very curious of the room. His head looking all over the place, but he stayed by Eren’s side, without budging.

Lathe thought for a second before turning and shaking his head. “I don't think so. You're pretty much going to just be chilling here for the rest of today I think. He should really only need the vest when you're leaving the house.”

“Ohay,” Eren then went off to get the vest off of Blake and put it near the front door, along with leash. They then went around and inspected all the rooms that Eren was usually in: The Piano room, the Scripting Room, the Kitchen, his bedroom, the bathrooms, Lathe’s room and study, and the workshop downstairs. Eren smiled at his artwork that he had done earlier. He brought everything upstairs and took it to the kitchen. I want Lathe to see it… Even Levi’s torso too, that one’s my favorite. I wonder if he’ll be able to tell that it’s Levi? Even without Levi’s face in the picture? Eren set out all 12 pictures he had cranked out in so many different mediums that it was impressive. He then turned to Lathe to see if he could interrupt whatever he was doing to show him.
Lathe had been setting a pot of water to boil, some tomato sauce in another pan to heat up. A box of bowtie pasta sat on the counter. “It’s pasta tonight, alright Eren?” He looked over his shoulder, his face going slack at the drawings on the table. So that's what he's been doing all day? Lathe turned from the stove for a moment, studying the wonderful drawings, paintings. “These are all… Eren, they’re great! You really do have talent.” He took particular notice of the charcoal torso, tapping the bottom of the page with his nail. He looked at Eren out the corner of his eye. “Is this who I think it is, dare I ask?”

Eren smiled and blushed as he looked down at his feet. “Dare,” Eren simply responded. Yup, he knows it’s Levi, but I don’t want to tell him, he can say it. Eren looked over the largest picture with him, smiling down at his work, it looked really nice, and almost life-like, like it would pop off the page at any second. “Can I put it in my room?” He asked quietly and looked up to Lathe. His eyes were still full of innocence.

Damn, is he smitten. Lathe rolled his eyes in mock exasperation. “Well, if you reeeeeally want to, I might just tell you that the sticky squares you need to hang stuff on the walls are downstairs in the shelf in a box labeled ‘Poster Hanging,’ but of course I’d only tell you that if I was in a good mood. Maybe.”

Eren let out a high pitched squeal of joy before racing off downstairs, with Blake following closely behind as he rushed down the stairs in search for the box of supplies.

Lathe chuckled, turning back to the stove to make sure nothing was boiling over or burning. He stirred the sauce, dumping the pasta into the water. The ship is sailing sooooo far!

Eren came back with the small box of stickies and he went to carefully hand it up in his room. He found the perfect spot by the entrance of his closet. He smiled as he put it up. He gently touched it and smiled more. Damn it, if only I could touch those wonderful abs right now... but that would classify me as a whore, so that’s a no go. Eren admired the picture before coming back down to the kitchen, Blake at his heels. “What do you want to do with the other 11?” He asked quietly and curiously as he looked at them.

“Well, whatever you do with them is up to you. I think you should keep them all. There’s plenty of wall space in the workshop, but I may or may not have some space in my study if you’d let me have one…” Eren, go nuts. I'd actually really like having one up there. “Could you maybe pick one for me, hang it upstairs?”

Eren nodded and he took all the pictures back, disappearing upstairs to see what would fit in Lathe’s study. He walked into Lathe’s room and wandered towards the room adjoined to it. It doesn’t have a door? Weird... Eren walked in and looked at the massive amount of medical books across different shelves. One was completely attributed to medical articles, and another to a bunch of different magazines collected over a few years. Another shelf was rather miscellaneous, with the top full of leather-bound law books, another shelf with boxes of wires and small tech devices, letters and cards and stamps in another box, articles regarding new technologies, from new additions to hospital care to video game advancements and coding scripts. So many shelves… So many books too, has he had time to read them all? I wonder, there should be enough space in between a few of these shelves for a couple pictures. The wood desk in the further half of the crowded room had his laptop set up and opened, a tablet plugged in in front of it. The blue-and-yellow spark insignia was alight. Hmm. I’ve never seen that brand before… I wonder what it is? The screen lit as Eren walked behind the desk, showing an odd login screen. It’s not Windows, or a Mac. Huh. It went back to sleep after a few moments of no input. A desk lamp next to it was off. Eren turned on the light, showing pages and pages of written text, some parts scratched out, things added, arrows redirecting the reader from one part to the next, all in practically unreadable script. It’s the same as downstairs, I wonder what it says. Hmm. Well, let’s see what fits around the walls. Eren went in between a majority of the large bookshelves and the shelves hanging around the room. He measured out a few places, and found that he could fit five of the landscapes around the room. He’ll like this! I hope he’s not mad, but I’m gonna make more and invade his ceiling!! HAHAHA! Eren smirked before going to hang to up his elephant picture in his room before taking the rest of his random animals downstairs to the workshop.

Lathe grinned as he heard Eren run downstairs, draining the pasta. Dinner in about a minute. He scooped out some in bowls for the two of them, drowning them in tomato sauce and placing them on the table. Taking a deep breath and cupping his hands around his mouth, he shouted in the general direction of the scripting room. “Food!”

At first there was no movement to be heard from that general direction before Blake’s hurried steps sounded on the staircase. He showed up first, Eren trailing a few steps behind him into the kitchen. His eyes had a very mischievous glint in them. I know how many pictures I need to cover his ceiling now! Heh! He will be so surprised.

Lathe went to fill Blake’s food dish. “I know that look, kid, and it can't mean anything good. But I hope you’re not too busy being mischievous over there to fill Blake’s water dish.”

Eren smiled before he grabbed the dish and then went to fill it in the tap. He waited until it was pretty full and put it down for Blake, who was already chowing down on his food. He eats really quickly…. Is that normal? I hope it is… I don’t want him to get sick.

“Yeesh, he’s really hungry.” Lathe scratched behind Blake’s ear, smirking. He fits right in. He stood, going to get them both forks. He handed one to Eren, before he turned back to the counter for a moment, filling a mug with hot water. “Feel like trying something new?” He tapped the rim of the mug, looking at Eren.
Eren took the fork to the sink, reaching for his nausea pills. He still needed them to eat his meals, and he was starting to finally pack on some of the pounds again. He downed them and looked to Lathe. “Sure, I’ll try a new one.” He walked off to go sit down at his usual spot on the table.

Hmm, which one… Lathe’s finger skimmed over the small assortment, picking a green tea. He might like this one. He dipped a teabag into the mug, waiting for it to steep as he retrieved his own mug for coffee. It’s never too late for coffee. Never! He handed Eren his mug as he sat down. “That’s a green tea. It might not be as strong as the other tea you’ve been drinking lately.”

It’s got a weird color to it. Eren stared at it for a second before he gingerly picked it up and took a sip. He wrinkled his nose at first before taking another sip to make sure and put it back down. Not strong enough, it doesn’t taste that great either…

Lathe watched his nose crinkle in distaste. “Nope?”

“Nope.” Eren repeated and got up to wash his mug out. He was gonna stick with ice water for today, so he reached up to grab a glass and filled it with ice from the freezer and water before he sat down. I’m not even in the mood for tea anymore… well, food then. And it looks amazing. Eren started to eat the bowtie noodles covered in sauce.

Lathe kept quiet for most of dinner, simply caught up in pondering who he had to call later, now that he was Eren’s guardian. He has to go on all the insurance, stuff like that. I’ve got plenty of emails to send, too. Lathe finished quickly, taking his bowl to the sink, filling the dishwasher.

Eren got up a bit after him. He had eaten a good majority of his bowl, but still couldn’t eat it all. Well, almost, I guess he can’t be too mad with that. Eren cleaned up the rest of the dishes for Lathe, trying to be as good as possible for him.

Lathe smiled at Eren as he helped with the dishes, ruffling his hair with a dry hand. “Thanks for helping clean up, Eren.” He looked down as Blake nudged his leg, petting him as well. “I didn't forget about you.” Blake likes me! He’s been doing wonders for Eren today.

Eren watched them and smiled happily as the two of them interacted. “Okay, Lathe, you’re not allowed in the workshop until I say so, okay?” He asked quietly. I need to make sure he doesn’t come downstairs, I don’t want him to see it too early.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at that, the look in his eyes jovial. “Got some super-secret project going “Yup!” Eren giggled before he ran off to the basement again. He was in the middle of pushing things away to make a huge space for him to work. Moving things carefully, and making sure that he had all the supplies that he needed.

“Eren, I promise I'm not looking, but could you please hand me the gold paint from the box labeled ‘Wall Paint’ and a medium brush?”

He better not be looking at all. Eren looked around and soon found said box and found the gold paint. He picked up the paint and a brush and went back up to the top of the stairs to meet Lathe. “Are you painting the walls?” He asked quietly.

“Ma–ybe.” Lathe grinned, taking the paint and walking towards the piano room. One more line. I've finally got what I want written down.

Eren watched him leave and he retreated back down the stairs. He finished moving the furniture and took out the 48 sheets of paper he needed to cover Lathe’s study’s ceiling. Heh, this'll keep me busy! Mwahahahaha!

Lathe decided the phone calls and emails could wait. He fetched a chair from the kitchen, moving it and standing on top of it, the lid of the gold paint on the kitchen counter. He carefully moved along the wall, writing in that same, unreadable hand. When he learns how to read my writing, he can know what it says. For now… Lathe looked at the row of script, running the length of the longest wall, ending behind the piano. ...Me knowing is enough.

Eren carefully laid out the papers in a 6 x 8 fashion, leaving enough room in between so he could bend down and paint on the thick paper. Eren had found the glow-in-the-dark ‘essence’ that needed to be mixed into the paint so it would glow in brilliant colors at night. He smiled, knowing exactly what he would do with it. He picked up a bunch of blues, purples, reds, oranges, yellows and whites. I hope he’ll like this!

Lathe went to wash out the brush with soap, putting the lid on the tin of paint. Now I'll just leave this on the counter, since someone banned me from entering the workshop until further notice. He smiled, padding up the stairs with a fresh mug of coffee. Emails and such. Things must be sorted out. He walked into his study, his eyes shining as he saw the drawings on the walls. He really does have talent. He sat down at his computer, logging in and tapping away.
Eren set to work, pulling his hoodie off and setting it aside. I'm going to get paint everywhere, good thing I put the crappy jeans on. Eren started off with mixing various colors, adding different amounts of ‘glow’ to the paints. He smiled at his work and made sure it worked by going up, checking the room around to make sure Lathe wasn’t around before putting it in a corner to see that it was working just the way he wanted it to. Eren smiled and he continued paint, effectively getting paint all over his bandages, but he was in too much of a trance to really realize that. It was working quickly, he would probably be done way before Lathe fell asleep. Maybe I can get Levi to help me get him in the kitchen and keep him there, or maybe even Sue? Hmmmm... Maybe I can get Blake to keep him in the kitchen. I need him out of his room and his study. He looked around and started to examine how the blues meshed with each other, starting to add purples into the back drops. Eren began to mix it into the pain that was still wet making beautiful colors bloom forth. He looked down at his work and smiled happily. Okay Purple’s done. Where’s the time? It’s already 10!?!?! The Fuck!!! I’ve been down here for 2 and a half fucking hours already??? And I still have to add in a majority of the top layers.... Fuck it, I’m pulling an all nighter!

Lathe looked to the time stamp on the emails he was sending. It’s nearly one. And since I’m supposed to act as an at least semi-functioning human being tomorrow, I should probably sleep. Lathe logged off his computer, shutting it and standing, stretching his arms over his head and letting his spine pop. He padded back into his room, moving down the hall and glancing into Eren’s room. He’s still downstairs? Well, when art calls... And he can sleep in as late as he wants tomorrow... well, today. It’s Sunday. He’ll either come upstairs when he reaches a point where he can stop or fall asleep working. Either. Lathe walked back to his room, changing and washing up before falling asleep.

So Eren set about to layer it with his mixes of reds, and whites mostly, adding a tint of yellow in a few spots. Eren stood back and looked over his work. “This looks awesome!” Eren said excitedly to himself. Looking over to the clock again. Now it’s 1 am.... Hmmm, I don’t remember hearing Lathe call for me. I was probably too engrossed into this to hear him and I still haven’t done the top layer of pure white yet. ...Fuck it, I’m finishing this beauty!

It was close to sunrise when Eren finally finished with his pure white final layer. He sighed in relief and looked over to Blake sleeping in the corner. “I need a shower, it should be open since it’s 4:30.” Eren smiled and he left his work on the floor to finish up the drying process. Blake followed him up the stairs and then made his way to the bathroom upstairs, trying not to touch anything with his paint-stained hands. He washed his hands off as best he could before he turned the shower on and started to strip off his paint splattered clothes and lastly took his bandages off, which were completely caked in dried paint. Eren looked to the water, feeling just right on the back of his hand. It’s not too hot, that’s good. Eren stepped into the shower and he immediately falling from the shock. The pain was shooting up his back with every droplet that landed on his unwrapped back. Eren hissed out in pain, struggling to grab onto something that would hold him up. Shit! Eren’s body crumpled to the ground in complete pain, struggling to get his back away from the pain of the hot water. Am I fucking showering in glass!? This hurts too much! Fuck, Lathe... I need Lathe... Eren whimpered and put a hand out of the shower.

That grabbed Blake’s attention. The dog went up to Eren and licked his hand, looking over him and trying to decide if he was having an attack. When he realized Eren wasn’t having an attack he whimpered, he didn’t know what was ailing his handler. He whined in frustration, pinning his ears back looking at Eren for instructions. “Help.” That’s all Blake needed to hear before he bolted out of the room and to Lathe’s room and instantly jumping on the bed. The dog was frantically pawing at Lathe’s chest and whimpering, growling even, so close to barking to wake this human up.

Lathe’s eyes shot open, taking a moment to register Blake’s frantic pawing, growling. Eren. Lathe quickly swung his legs over the bed, Blake jumping off of him and running to stand by the bathroom door. Lathe followed, hearing the shower running. Eren trying to take a shower with his back not entirely healed… not good. Lathe stepped in, keeping his eyes up and rushing to shut off the water, grabbing a towel from behind him and opening the shower door, covering him and carefully drying his back, running a hand through Eren’s hair, trying to comfort him. “Eren, I've got you, don't worry. Are you hurt? Did you hit anything when you fell?”

Eren shook his head. “It’s not…. bleeding….. again…. is it?…. It felt like…. Like glass….. was ripping through….through my back.” Eren sobbed, putting his head down against the floor of the tub. His back still felt like fire. “It… hurts.” He cried out and his tears continued to fall.

Lathe looked at the edge of the towel he was patting his back with, sparse red stains on the white cloth. “I don't think you are. The water may have loosened some from in the wounds, but nothing new, which is very good.” He laid the cloth over his back again. “I'm going to get you some morphine before I try and move you, alright? I'll only be gone a second.” He wiped his thumb over Eren’s cheek, brushing his tears away.

Eren sniffled and nodded, trying to stop from crying more. It hurts so fucking much, hurry, please. Eren’s eyes were full of pain all over again, and his tears made those Viridian eyes glisten more than they normally did. Blake came up to lick his face when Lathe went to get his morphine. He let Blake lick away his tears without much complaint.

Lathe moved down the stairs quickly, grabbing his bag rifling through it on the way up. Morphine. Two tablets. He poured them in his hand, dropping the bag and bottle on the ground as he came back into the bathroom, reaching for a cup next to the sink, filling it and kneeling next to Eren. He handed him the pills and the water, helping him drink.

Eren took the pills gratefully. He struggled to lift his head up enough to drink from the glass, even with Lathe helping him. He gave out a loud cry of pain when his head was lifted more than two inches from where he laid on his stomach on the tiled floor, his head turned to the side. The pain shot all the way down his spine. Fuck! It hurts. "Make it stop!" Eren cried out in pain and his hands starting to clench. Blake whined, he wanted to get close to Eren, but he knew better than to touch Eren’s back and lay on it. He whined louder when he knew Eren was going to start to panic. He tried to get as close to him as possible without hurting him.
Lathe snatched the other towel from the rack behind him, using it in part as a pillow for Eren, and using half of it to carefully dry his hair, trying to keep him from panicking. “Five minutes, Eren. Five minutes for the pills to kick in, and you’ll feel okay. The pain will be gone soon. Swear it.” He kept gently drying Eren’s arms, not caring about the paint that stained the cloth when he went over Eren’s fingers. He finished patting dry Eren’s back, the wounds, including the stitched gash, were an angry red, but they were not bleeding. His burn stills looks bad… better, but not healed. I’ll take care of that later. Lathe ran his hand through Eren’s damp hair again. “Has the morphine kicked in yet? Can you move?”

“I think you’ll need to pick me up.” He said quietly to the other. Eren eyes were still filled with pain, but he was calming down with Blake laying down by his head, licking his face. He never left and never stopped licking him. If he picks me up, he’s gonna see everything…. Not that I really care, a lot of people have seen it….. Especially the men my father… No, don’t think about that… Lathe’s different, he would never do that to you. You never need to be used as a slave ever again.

Oh my. “Alright.” Swallowing, Lathe took Eren’s hands and slowly brought him to sit, helping his arm over his shoulder and bringing him to his feet. He held onto Eren’s arm with one hand, keeping him balanced and his eyes elsewhere while he picked up the towel fallen on the floor, quickly wrapping it around his waist. …Awkward much? He let Eren lean on him as he walked him down the hall to his room, setting him on the edge of his bed. “I'm going to get more wraps for your back, alright?” He didn't wait for an answer before going to retrieve his bag, his face a vibrant red, concealed in the darkness of the upstairs. Nope nope nope nope nope not cool He took the bag and discarded bottle with him back to Eren, taking more flesh-colored wraps and quickly securing them over Eren’s shoulder, wrapping his entire torso before hooking it in place again near his waist. He picked out more dark green wraps for Eren’s arms, hooking the loops over his thumbs and spinning them to his elbows, sliding on the hooks. “Alright, you should be okay. I’d try staying out of the direct line of water. Maybe, showering with the torso wraps on? If your back itself isn't in the water it shouldn't hurt. Then you could always ditch the old wraps and have me re-wrap you. But you do need to shower sometime. Try tomorrow, after you sleep?”

Eren nodded. “Okay, I will….. And Lathe….you don’t need to be embarrassed about me being naked around you….. A lot of people have seen my body…. And I don’t mean Levi either…..” Eren trailed off and looked down. He swallowed hard and got up, hanging onto Lathe’s shirt to keep himself from falling over as he crossed the room. He got into his pajamas and then leaned heavily against Lathe to make it back into his bed. You don’t need to be embarrassed about it…. If I collapsed in the shower again, you’ll need to do it again…. And you’re not the only one who’s seen it… Hmm, if Levi knew….. He would think I’m a whore. Blake jumped up onto Eren’s lap and whined to calm him down.

Oh my god, Eren… Lathe shifted uncomfortably, letting Eren use him as a crutch. “Eren, even with everything you’ve gone through, none of it means that you should…” What’s the word…. “It shouldn't make you think that everything you have and are is any less personal and important. Our bodies aren't something we can throw around, no matter how much we might have before. I just hope you understand that.” Lathe let his eyes wander over the walls of his room, making out the drawings from earlier in the dim light. “Your body is something you need to respect, is all I’m saying.”

Eren started to cry again, gripping onto Lathe’s shirt more. Respect my body? “How can I respect the defiled piece of shit that my father left behind?” he whimpered and cried as he curled up into Lathe’s arms. He cried hard, letting everything loose after so long. How can I, Lathe? You’re the first person to suggest it in 7 years….

Lathe held onto Eren, slipping onto the bed next to him. “Eren, the first thing you need to do, is to know that no matter what may have happened to you, you are always worthy of respect. Always. And that means you need to understand your body is not a ‘piece of shit.’ You need to know that, and you need to believe that. You deserve respect.”

“How do I deserve something like that? Lathe…. I’ve been raped by so many different men….. I’ve become a fucking prostitute in the last three years….” He cried and clung to Lathe as he cried more. He hadn’t told Lathe about that yet. “How can I be respected when I’m no better than a whore?” Eren asked, tears streaming down his face. “How can Levi love a body that’s been used? I’m too scared to tell him… I want him to like me…. But it’s only a matter of time before he finds out and leaves because I’m a whore…” Eren cried, the real reason for his tears finally surfacing. He was so afraid to be left alone.

...If I know anything about Levi... “Eren, I don't know how well you can tell, but Levi is so utterly smitten with you I can't even begin to describe it.” Lathe tucked Eren’s head under his chin. “And I know that if and when you two get to that point in your relationship and you feel it's time to give him that part of you, he won't run away knowing the truth. If he has any respect for you- and believe me, he does- he will understand, and still love you all the same.”

“Lathe… He can’t love me though…. Do you know how much of a living hell that would make his life? I don’t think he would want to be bullied at school all the time like I am….” He trailed off, realizing what he just said and buried his face into Lathe’s chest again.

...Like what now. ...Didn't he mention something like that Friday? It would explain his behavior... How infuriated and fed-up with everything he was. Lathe rubbed Eren’s arms, bringing up one hand to card through his hair. I'll address that in a moment. “Eren, love is a really weird thing that makes people want to do all sorts of things and brings out sides to people you may not know exist. I think with Levi, what happens at school because of you two being together is either trivial to him, or he’s going to make it trivial to the rest of the school.” Meaning, my money’s on him flaunting it at some point and daring the student body to tease a pissed-off jock who’s extremely protective. “And I think any teasing is going to die down regarding your panicking. You have Blake now, and he’ll help keep you calm.” Lathe smirked. “And he’ll chase away the haters for you.”
Eren was quiet for a moment… He wasn’t sure if he should tell Lathe how Levi and them had really seen each other for their second time…. Fuck it, he needs to know. “Lathe…. Levi told me that he was a homophobe when I confessed to him first…. And now he’s been kissing and touching me… I can’t help but think that the most popular kid in school is just gonna stab me in the back and laugh about ‘a good fuck.’” Eren sniffled as he told Lathe exactly what had happened when Levi helped him with his broken nose, before his father had beaten him for it. I can’t help but fear that’s going to happen every time I get closer to him.

Lathe was quiet for a moment, running his hand through Eren’s drying hair. “You two barely knew each other at that point. So much has happened between then and now. So much time has passed, time for you two to really know each other, work together in class and grow close. I don’t think, now that things have gotten to where they are, that he’s going to betray you like that. I can see it in his eye when he looks at you. He’s completely sold. He really loves you, Eren. I really do think so.”

Eren swallowed hard and sniffled against Lathe’s chest. “He still insults me when we work together in chemistry, even when it’s just the two of us working together.” Eren’s words were slow… He was starting to fall asleep against Lathe’s chest, in his arms. Blake had made himself comfortable at the end of the bed, watching them.

What? “Stay with me a little longer, Eren. How so?” That doesn't sound right.

“He calls me Brat with such a cold tone… Like there’s nothing but anger behind it… He’s joined in calling me a crybaby bitch and a fag…. He does it all the same….” Eren said and he yawned. He was exhausted, but struggling to stay up to please Lathe.

...the next time I see Levi… “I don’t think you’ll have to worry about that for much longer. I’ll talk to him, okay? See what I can find out is going on. But you shouldn’t worry. It'll all sort itself out.” Lathe smiled at Eren. “I'll let you sleep, okay? You really need it, and I wouldn't object to a couple more hours.” He slowly untangled himself from Eren, stepping onto the floor and pulling the covers up. “Goodnight, Eren.”

Eren made a soft noise before he curled up to Blake as the dog went to curl up to him once Lathe left. Eren’s arm wrapped around Blake and the two of them slept peacefully.
“Hey Levi, it’s Lathe. What’s your address?” Calling Levi at nine in the morning, Lathe tried to keep his anger contained for the moment. He’s not going to give it to you if he knows you’re going over to kill him.

I know where that is. It’s two blocks away. “I’ll be there in five minutes. Be decent.” Lathe didn't wait for a response before shoving the phone back on the hook, grabbing his keys off the counter and closing that door quietly behind him, locking it and passing by his car, opting instead to walk quickly down the street, seething. We need to fix this.

He found the apartment complex, walking in without being stopped. He stormed up the stairs, going to 104. He inspected the lock. Basic. Could probably use the keycard trick if I needed to. But let's try the old-fashioned way for now. He straightened to his full 6’2 height, knocking solidly on the door.

It only took a few moments for Levi to open the door up. He looked up at the impressively tall man standing in front of him. Did this guy fucking grow since the last time I’ve seen him? Tell me your secrets! “Hey Lathe, come on in, I can make some tea for you since it’s still early.” Levi ushered him in and into the studio apartment, the kitchen situated to Lathe’s right, and the dining room table to his left while the apartment extended out and to a balcony. In between the balcony and the kitchen was a nice living space. The TV was shut off and the couch across from it in was in pristine condition; actually, everything was in pristine condition, like it had all been recently cleaned. The walls were white as was most of the furniture, unless it was darkwood or greys. Levi had disappeared only for a second to close a door, which most likely led to his bedroom, and was starting on his way back towards Lathe. He had no idea what the man was even here for. “Did something happen to Eren?” He asked and sat down at the table, motioning for Lathe to do the same.

Lathe sat down begrudgingly, his eyes, normally warm, were very cold. “Sort of. I need to talk to you about your relationship with Eren.”

Levi’s eyebrow quirked. What does he mean? As in like the thought of me over Eren? Or… “Um...what?” Levi didn’t really know how to answer and the confusion spread across his face quickly.

Lathe leaned on the table, his arms on top in front of him. His eyes were dark as he spoke. “Levi, I was talking with Eren last night, and he told me about how he’s getting pushed around at school because of his panic attacks. It’s the frustration from all of that that caused him to pretty much break down Friday when he came home. What’s worse, is he tells me you've been joining in with everyone in calling him a ‘crybaby-bitch’ and a fag. I can kind of understand the fact you have an image to keep as a jock, but it’s messing with Eren’s head to an extent where he’s afraid you’re going to stab him in the back, leave him and not turn back. He’s smitten, and he’s fucking terrified. And you need to cut the shit and sort this out.”

“But I would never do that to him. Lathe I’ve been trying to get that across to him for two weeks. I’m sorry that I have to go along with it and insult him during Chem class. We sit next to two fucking other football players… You expect me to call him anything but an insult and then the new rumor will be that Eren’s a seductress whore who’s banging the hottest guy in school… Yes, I am the hottest, and no that is not a self-proclaimed title, and quite frankly, I don’t give two shits about how the school sees me! I’m doing it for Eren so it’s only the name calling and the small shoves in the hallway, and not something more severe! If people knew he was a whore, do you know how many frustrated asshats I have in my class that would bang him just to get a load off? At least 20 and that’s not counting the girls…” Levi trailed off, his arms crossed in front of his chest, right hand grabbing onto his left bicep in an effort not to throw a punch at Lathe for accusing him of even thinking about stabbing Eren in the back. Fucking Lathe, know both sides of the fucking story first God Dammit.

Lathe kept his face stoic, his eyes flashing dangerously. ‘If people knew he was a whore?’ Check your fucking wording. Yet, he tried not to lose his head. Think. “If you’re not worried about how the school sees you, I actually have a suggestion on how to fix this.” Lathe smirked. “Show Eren off. Flaunt it. Shove it in their faces, and dare them to say shit. You're a jock. Play the part of a possessive, pissed-off boyfriend. Nobody will try anything, knowing they'd face your wrath.”

“Did the mentioning of the ‘asshats of my classmates’ go completely over your head? If I declared that I was dating Eren his chances of getting jumped in the hallway and raped increase tenfold. Especially when I’m not with him, which for your information is every period but two, and one of them’s fucking lunch! You expect me to believe showing Eren off will do any good? People will actually have a reason to call him a fag, the bullying will get worse if I do that… I can put up with it, I don’t think he can though.” Levi let out a shuddered sigh and leaned over his lap, putting his head in his hands. What the fuck do I do?

I think you can cut it out with the rage. Lathe sighed, his features softening. “Here, who’s in all his classes? Anyone he trusts?”

I’m going to assume that he trusts Armin enough since they eat lunch next to each other every day and I see them talk to each other in the halls. “Armin… He trusts Armin. But Armin goes through the same hell Eren does… They both get picked on for being in advanced classes.” Levi mentioned, looking up to Lathe to see how he would take the new information.
This is problematic. The politics of classes are tricky… I wonder what classes I'll be taking over tomorrow. Lathe looked thoughtful, speaking after a moment of quiet. “At least he'll have someone to lean on for the time being.”

“So you’re saying that I should go around flaunting Eren still?” He asked and looked up from where his head was in his hands. I can’t think of another way Eren would believe me, that I won’t stab him in the back and run away.

“Levi, there’s this thing called ‘popular opinion.’ It's the general consensus about something or someone. As far as I know, popular opinion on me, is that I'm pretty much the best teacher most of the students have had. That being said. I substitute a lot of classes, and see a lot of students every day. And not just the same ones. Everyone. If I hear shit going around about you or Eren, I know how to flip the switch from chill to do NOT fuck with me.” He grinned. “So yes. Flaunt it. Be prouder of it than an Olympic gold. And I'll bury anyone who stirs up shit for you.”

Levi heaved a sigh in relief. At least we’ll have one teacher on our side tomorrow, who knows how any of the other teachers will take it. Levi dropped his head back into his hands, still leaning over his knees on his chair. “Thank you Lathe… I didn’t know what Eren was so afraid about, but now I do, thank you, really.” Levi told him, but he didn't want Lathe to see his face at the moment, so he kept it hidden in his hands.

Lathe smiled. “I just want what's best for the both of you. Expect to see me in ‘protective parent mode’ quite a bit for a while. And Eren will have Blake, too. He'll be okay.”

Wait a minute… “Blake? Who the fuck is that?” Levi immediately got on the defensive of another man being around Eren that he’s never met before. His eyes were burning with passionate fury to eliminate all those who stood between him and his Brat.

The possessive boyfriend. He doesn't even have to act. Lathe studied the table, acting casual. “Oh, y’know, someone who’s going to be hanging around our house for awhile. Just moved in.” All technically not lies. Sweet. “You’d like him; He and Eren get along really well.”

“What?” Levi stood from his chair, his glare directly focused on Lathe. “Who the fuck does he think he is? Getting close to my Brat?” Levi growled. He looked like he was ready to rip someone apart limb from limb. And I feel like I’ll be ready to do it in about two seconds… Damn the charges for murder… Eren is my Brat and mine alone!
Lathe remained unfazed. “I dunno, I guess he thinks he’s Eren’s new PTSD service dog or somethin’, but that’s only my best guess. He doesn’t really say much other than ‘woof.’”

Levi’s fist clenched even more, his knuckles white, his anger now completely directed towards Lathe. “What the fuck!? You had me worried about a fucking dog? Are you trying to turn me into a motherfucking fool?” Levi growled, his eyes turning into slits again as he stared down Lathe. You could almost feel the rage radiating off of Levi as he stood there clenching his fists.

Lathe looked him in the eye, unaffected. He suddenly had this wondering look to him. “Have you told him yet?”

Levi stopped at stared at Lathe in confusion. “Told him what?” What was I supposed to tell him? I don’t understand? I don’t do this lovey-dovey shit… I don’t fucking know what to do.

“That you love him.”

Levi’s eyes widened and he stared at Lathe in shock. “How am I supposed to tell the Brat that? He barely understands the fact that I like him… I’m not the romantic type, I don’t know what to fucking do.” Levi sat back down in his seat. I’ve already managed to fuck it up somehow, haven’t I?

“With Eren, he’s not going to understand that you really do unless you tell it to him, straight to his face. I can't tell you how to say it, or when, but you need to say it at some point. Otherwise, he'll have to try and draw conclusions by himself, and we all know how that does.”

“But how do I tell him that I love him? I can’t just go out there and say it. He’d never believe something like that! I need to think it over Lathe… I can’t do it right now, I… I need time to think about how I’m gonna say it… God, it’s gonna be so awkward when we’re in the same room and I can’t look him in the eye because of this…” Levi ran his right hand through his hair, ruffling the inky locks. I don’t think that I can actually tell him something like that without defaulting to my straight face… He wouldn’t know what to think of that… I need to think of the right time to do it. When? And how? How the fuck am I supposed to tell him? He deserves to know… But he deserves to be told the right way.

Levi looked back into Lathe’s eyes. “Is that all? We’ve been talking for awhile.” Levi looked at the clock. Already, 2 hours had passed between them bickering about how Levi should tell him. But I can’t do it, I can’t do it yet… Nope, I can’t tell him I love him, not right now!
Eren had woken up around 9 a.m. when the front door was slammed shut. He groaned as his eyes opened to sunlight flooding into his room. He felt something warm and wet come across his cheek. Well Blake’s up, I guess I should let him out and feed him. Eren slowly propped himself up and looked at Blake, petting him gently before he swung his legs over the side of the bed. Well, that was the first time I’ve actually got decent sleep without holding onto someone. Eren stretched feeling the satisfying pop sound from his neck as it rolled. He sighed in relief before getting up and getting dressed, noticing how eerily quiet it was inside the normally sound-filled house. Hmm. I wonder where Lathe is... Eren ventured downstairs and found a note from Sue on the kitchen table. Okay so Sue’s gone until further notice, got it... but where the hell is Lathe? Eren shrugged before giving Blake his food and fresh water. He waited for a few minutes, the only sound the clinking of Blake’s collar against the metal bowl. He sighed quietly looking around for something to eat though finding that he couldn’t bring himself to actually eat anything. I’m not hungry anyways... I’m going to check the Study to make sure he’s not up there... then I’ll put his new ceiling in. Eren let Blake out to let him do his business before he ran upstairs to find Lathe’s room completely empty, along with the study. “Where is he?” Eren asked himself as he walked down the stairs. He didn’t leave me did he? He’s going to come back right? Eren swallowed hard, letting Blake back inside and heading down to grab the pieces he needed. They dried beautifully! I really hope that he’ll like it. With that Eren got to work balancing himself on a few chairs and had covered Lathe’s ceiling with the surreal galaxy picture. He was so proud of himself, so he opened the blinds so that the paint would get plenty of light. Eren then put the room back in order before he left the room to go down by the piano. He passed the clock and anxiety washed over him. He’s been gone for 2 hours? Where is he? He didn’t text me... or leave a note... Did he leave me? Is he never coming back?? Eren had headed towards the corner of the room without a thought to it, and curled up in a ball. Blake instantly went to work and he pulled Eren into the middle of the open space by his shirt before he started to ground the other, putting his full weight onto Eren’s chest to calm him down as he licked his face. Eren was breathing hard as so many thoughts raced through his mind. “Eren!” Lathe ran to him from the front door, closing it without looking as he quickly knelt on the ground next to him, running his hand through Eren’s brunette locks and moving around Blake to hold onto his arm with the other, rubbing his thumb over his shoulder. “Eren, I’m here, it’s all alright. You don’t have to panic about anything.”

Eren’s labored breathing started to calm down. “L-Lathe?” Eren asked and looked up to Lathe with widened eyes. Blake continued to whimper and lick at Lathe’s face to keep him from going into a full panic. He did not remove his full bodyweight; no, he was trained not to, even with Lathe at Eren’s side again. “I’m here Eren, stay with me. You’re okay. I promise.” Lathe searched Eren’s eyes. Is it his memories of his father? Or is it because I left without telling him? Probably because I left without telling him. Shit.

Eren finally had tears in his eyes as he reached out to hold onto Lathe’s shirt with an iron grip. “Y-you left…” Eren started crying as he held onto Lathe’s shirt. Blake leaned up a bit and reached for his tears and licked them away.

Lathe reached to help Eren sit up, pulling him close in a hug. “Eren, I’m sorry. I forgot to leave a note or anything, and I should’ve. I’ll make sure I do next time I need to go out.”

Eren calmed down when he was in his arms and so Blake eased up on his lap, sitting on his legs, his full weight still there to ground him until Eren told him to get off. Eren clung to Lathe’s shirt as he cried into the man’s shoulder. “Don’t leave me…. Please” he sobbed out and let his body shudder as he did so.

I fucked up. “I won't leave you Eren. I'm not going to leave. Swear it.” Lathe rested his cheek on Eren’s head, holding him tightly. He traced invisible patterns on Eren’s arm, trying to calm him. I'd never just walk out on you like that. I would hope you'd know that...

Eren just sobbed for a long time. He finally gave Blake the instructions to get off of him so the dog got off and sat beside him to lick his face. I was so scared…. You were just gone… I didn’t know when you’d be back. “I didn't….I didn't know…. When you'd...be back.” Eren hiccuped as he put his head against Lathe’s chest. “I was so scared you left…. And leave me all alone… Sue left a note that she wouldn’t be home until further notice… But you… You were just gone… I was so scared.” Eren tried to calm himself down.

“I'm so sorry Eren, I really should've left a note. I'll make sure I do from now on. I really didn't mean to scare you like that. I'm so sorry.” I should've left him something… Lathe kept his arms solidly around him.

Eren just stayed in Lathe's arms as long as he calmed down. Please don’t do that again. “You just slammed the door and left. I thought you’d be back in a few minutes but then that turned into an hour… And an hour turned into two and I started freaking out… I was so afraid.” he told him, still shaking.

“I'm sorry about that… I was mad, and I lost my head a bit. I wasn't thinking things through too well this morning. But you never need to be scared that I’m not going to come back when I leave for something. I'm always going to come back.” Lathe let out a shuddery sigh. This is all a mess.

“Where did you go?” Eren asked softly and gripped Lathe’s shirt a little more. He’s not mad at me right? Did he leave because he was mad at me and didn't want to be in the house with me? Eren’s mind started racing, his hands going to scratch, letting go of Lathe’s shirt. Blake instantly went and snatched his hands into his jaws.
Lathe sighed, swallowing. If you're anything other than honest, not only will I not forgive you, but I don't think he would either. “I went to talk with Levi. I was just really mad from when you said Levi joined in the name-calling at school. I needed to see if I could straighten some things out.”

Eren’s eyes widened immediately at the statement. “You what?” Eren’s eyes were overtaken by pure panic. He backed away from Lathe and removed himself from his lap. “You went to go talk to him?” He asked quietly again. “Why? Why did you go talk to him? I don’t want him to hate me any more than he already does…” Eren sat back stunned at what had just unfolded in front of him. “Lathe… What if he doesn’t talk to me again?” He asked and he looked so heartbroken at the mere thought. Blake instantly dragged Eren away into the center of the floor and he climbed up and sat in his lap. He was preparing to ground Eren; he could sense another attack coming on and was trying to get him to calm down now.

...Now that you mention it... Fuck. “Eren, trust me when I say that Levi doesn't hate you.” Lathe, though he did not go to hug Eren again, moved closer to lay his hand on top of Eren’s. “He isn't about to totally stop talking to you.” He better fucking not, I don't want to have to deal with the guilt of knowing I fucked over their entire relationship

Eren looked at him before he looked down again at Blake and pet him. “There’s no way you can know that….” Eren trailed off and burrowed his face into Blake’s fur to calm himself down. He hugged Blake and he tried not to cry as he thought of a world without Levi... I wouldn’t be able to sleep with him anymore…. What if the nightmares come back? Eren swallowed hard as Blake whimpered and whined to get Eren’s attention to calm him down and focus on the dog.

Lathe took his hand back, his head hung. He stared at the floor. ...did I ruin so much? I just... Wanted them to be happy. And everything at school was messing so much with Eren's head, I just... Maybe, we should have Levi over for Thanksgiving. It's in a few days, and I think Eren could do with seeing him then. His voice was soft. “How about you give Levi a call, and invite him over for Thanksgiving? It’s in a few days, and I think we could do with some extra company.” Lathe offered him a small smile.

Eren thought about it for awhile. “Okay, I’ll call him with the house phone, and while I'm talking... You should go upstairs and check your study…” Eren trailed off as he got up and off the floor and started to head to the kitchen. I hope he says yes, I really want to see him again. I didn’t even get to say goodbye to him yesterday.

Lathe just let Eren walk to the kitchen, standing to go up the stairs. ...What did he do to...? Lathe walked into his study, and looked up at the soft light of the ceiling. Stars shone down on him, and Lathe felt that sensation of weightlessness if for only a moment, the kind one would feel while adrift in a dream. Space. He... He painted all this. It's beautiful. Beaming, Lathe ran down the stairs to the kitchen. “Eren, thank you so much…” He stopped in his tracks, his eyes suddenly full of concern and worry.

Eren stood looking at Lathe with pure heartbreak, his arm and hand holding the phone at his side, his other hand covering his red, tear-stained face.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

After Levi denied the invitation for Thanksgiving at our house…. My body decided that I couldn’t eat another thing. I couldn’t find the stomach to eat anything at all… Even after I had taken the nausea pill, I still had to throw everything up because the nausea was so bad. I’ve been feeling like shit since yesterday… and I can’t even bring myself to tell Lathe that he shouldn’t cook for me anymore… I know it’s not going to go down well. I know it won’t be staying down, even if the food goes down. Eren curled up into his bed and just laid there. Blake had been whining for him to get out from under the covers and actually move for the whole day, and it was almost time for dinner. I have no intention of moving. If Blake wants to eat, he can go down and eat like he normally does. I’m going to stay right here and stay in my own room.

He’s been in there the whole day… I know it hurts, I've been there too, but he needs to come out of there sometime… Lathe stood outside the door, quietly knocking on the doorframe. He didn't try to enter, his gaze downcast and searching the floor. His voice was soft. “Eren, there’s food downstairs for whenever you want it.” He stood there, listening to the silence. I can't help but think this is all my fault. If I hadn't gotten so overprotective, overbearing, letting myself lose my head like that… Maybe things would have been better and they would have solved this on their own. He stood there, hearing Blake’s whimpers. He's too worried about Eren to leave… Lathe left after a moment, coming back to place Blake’s food and water dishes quietly on the carpet inside, next to the door. He stood, looking up to Eren’s curled-up form. Poor kid… It would've meant a lot to him. Lathe struggled with himself, unsure if he should go over and console him. Thinking of himself, he decided against it, turning to leave for downstairs, quiet, his head hung. I hope Levi gets it together soon. For both their sakes.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

I ruined everything. I ruined absolutely everything. Two weeks, and they haven't spoken, haven't looked at each other, haven't said each other’s name. Eren isn't keeping anything down anymore. I can hear him pad to the bathroom, vomit, and go back to bed. It's the only sound left in the house since Sue left for home. I don't know how Levi is doing. I can only imagine what he must be thinking, somewhere, maybe at home, about how everything went all wrong somewhere. Probably with me, and the way I talk. Too much. Me? Heh. I've been alright. I can handle the guilt of knowing you wrecked a wonderful relationship. I’ve just been sitting here, staring at the piano keys. I think it’s time for breakfast. I don't know. Time passes oddly when you're sitting at the keys, even if their sound isn’t making you sway. I don’t have a watch on me. I have no real way to tell, whether the six on the clock is am or pm. I closed the blinds. Maybe I should move. I don’t want to, though. Don’t want to disturb the missus. I have to take care of him. Myself. And Blake. Of course. I stand, and my phone is still on the counter from yesterday. Was it yesterday? Before is fine. It’s… Saturday. Six in the morning. I’m not hungry. Maybe Eren will be, after so long. A plastic cup of food, a plastic cup of water for Blake. That first, up the stairs. Eren’s plate is clean. I know he pitched it last night. Blake’s following me to the kitchen again. He’s at the glass door to the backyard. It’s cold out, but he’ll be okay. Let him run around. Let someone maybe be happy. Scrambled eggs are easy. Two minutes. They’re on his dresser if he wants them. I think he has a new pill calendar for the week.

I’m sorry, I was called away. I have nothing else to do today, miss, besides watch ghost hands fly over your keys. I’m watching them play ragtime, the blues, something that doesn’t exist yet, perhaps. No, miss, I never said that. Never. It’s as if music is reinvented every time it is played. It could never… What is it, one would say, ‘jump the shark?’ I could not stomach the thought. I could forever move over your ivory, hearing what is yet to be in shatterable silence, simply being and creating without movement, hearing without being and creating without movement, living without hearing without being and creating without movement. The papers? They, they are from my tilt. I haven’t played them yet. But they sound absolutely wonderful, I assure you, Madame. I’ve worn down so many pencils writing them for you. I apologize for the drops on them, the tear marks… I have not been myself. I did something… awful. I have taken from two people what it is easiest for millions to sing about, either not knowing what their words written by others mean or speaking in tongues, their souls singing for them. I must sound so odd… Is not the right word. A romantic sap. Is perhaps accurate. I must sleep soon, miss. I have a puppet to tote come Monday.

Blake is back in the house, he’s trying to tell me something. I do not need you, Eren does. Go to him. He has a heart to mend. More important than fighting the burden of Atlas. Go- I will hold this Boulder. You are as lovely as ever, miss. I do not know what to play. I have written for you, and I have sung in my head for you, but to play… I cannot. I do not know what to do with such an honor. I am willing myself for you not to wilt, it is all I have to give you, my presence. I have left the mail to wait, you have asked my attention. I forget myself… And I need to remember, for the sake of many.

Blake is pawing at my leg. It is night. I must remember, soon, intention.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

It’s the only way to get him back… I need to do this. Eren stood behind the backstage curtain on their last day of school before Christmas. He’d entered the talent show. Everyone at school would be at this talent show, and it was mostly just some wise cracks making jokes… I guess they’re supposed to be funny? I don’t know anymore. Eren waited for his turn to get on stage; He still had to wait for three more people to ‘perform’ before him. I don’t know if you can call it a performance, no one has actually sung or danced at all. Eren clenched Blake’s leash as the line in front of him dwindled down to two. He was nervous, of course. Who could blame him… He was trying to win back Levi’s favor. Win it back… More like try and get him to acknowledge me. again… If he would talk to me… even at school, I would feel so much better. Even if it’s just as a friend… I can bear with it… I want to be by his side again. I want him to be worried about me… I don’t want him to ignore me anymore… I don’t want to have this empty gnawing feeling in my stomach anymore… I want to be able to actually enjoy the things Lathe makes me to eat… I want to not have to feel acid burn my throat every time I try to eat. Eren pet Blake to calm himself down and to steady his thoughts before he got on the stage. The line had vanished in front of him and he watched as two buff Stage Crew guys pulled out the Grand Piano. It was attached to a mount with wheels so that it would be moved by two people easily. Eren took in a few deep breaths as the microphone was positioned for him to sit at the stool. Not even Lathe knows I’m doing this… Fuck, what will Lathe think? I’ve been wanting to practice… But he’s been hogging the piano lately, whenever I come down to see him… I don’t think he’s noticed me come to see him at all these past two weeks. I’ve been wanting to talk to someone other than Blake… Someone I could really talk to, but Lathe wasn’t there when I called out for him. He was physically sitting in front of the piano… But he just wasn’t… There. Eren took slow steps across the stage with Blake, giving him small commands to lay down and stay. He dropped the leash beside the dog, knowing he wouldn’t run off. His head turning briefly to look out into the crowd. Everyone was staring, surprisingly quiet, but then again, no one would’ve expected the most bullied kid to stand up and show himself off in front of the whole student body. Eren swallowed, or at least tried to. Levi’s in the center section, 10 rows from the stage, and sitting on the end. His face looks as blank as ever… Lathe’s in the back with the rest of the teachers. He looks a bit surprised. Probably didn’t expect me to give one more shot at this… One last arrow in the quiver before this hunter starves in the winter. Eren slowly took his seat, sliding down the long bench in front of the piano itself. He looked over the keys and then at the microphone in front of him. He didn’t bother to introduce himself, everyone knew who the fuck he was. He tried to clear his throat as he spoke into the microphone for the first time. The sound of his own voice echoing in the silent auditorium. “Well, I’m doing this for the two people I hold dear to me. For the first, I just want you to come back to me… I really want you back, and the second… Won’t you let me in again? I can’t deal with this loneliness anymore….” Eren trailed off his ‘intro’ and let the crowd of teens murmur about who they thought he was talking about. The people were only able to murmur for a few seconds before Eren’s fingers flew expertly over the keys in front of him. He closed his eyes as his glorious voice left his lips… Leaving a majority of the student body in shock.

“Am I just a fool?
Blind and stupid for loving you
Am I just a silly girl?”

…He’s talking about me. Does he really want me back after… after everything I did to him? I’m a coward who can’t say the most important thing I need to and… he still wants me?

“So young and naïve to think you were the one who came to take claim of this heart Cold-hearted, shame you’ll remain just a frame in the dark”

He’s still trying for him. He’s got a spectacular voice, and he’s giving everything he’s got. If anything would get through to Levi that he loves you so get over it and say it…
“The people are talking, the people are saying
That you have been playing my heart like a grand piano
The people are talking, the people are saying
That you have been playing my heart like a grand piano.”

...I'm sorry, Eren. I didn't know what to do. I wanted to keep you from getting hurt even more by staying away from you, not giving anyone more reason to hurt you and... I forgot about the most important thing. How you felt about this... Us, I should say...

“So play on, play on, play on
Play on, play on, play on
Play on, play on, play on
Play on, play on”

“Am I queen of fools?
Wrapped up in lies and foolish jewels
What do I see in you?
Maybe I'm addicted to all the things you do”

...I need to say it. I need to get all of this out of my head. I need to tell you. I love you and you should know that.

“Cause I keep thinking you were the one who came to take claim of this heart Cold-hearted, shame you'll remain just a frame in the dark”

I'm going to do it. The second he's done singing on that stage, I'm going to get up there and fucking tell him. And I am going to make him believe it.

“The people are talking, the people are saying
That you have been playing my heart like a grand piano
The people are talking, the people are saying
That you have been playing my heart like a grand piano”

I really fucking love you, you Brat. Any moment.
“So play on, play on, play on
Play on, play on, play on
Play on, play on, play on
Play on, play on”

Here goes everything.

Levi was out of his seat in a moment, before the last chords had faded from the piano, before anyone had raised their hands to clap or to boo him off the stage. He was running down the aisle, leaping onto the stage, and at Eren’s side in a second. He knelt his left leg on the piano stool, pushing the microphone out of the way. He took Eren’s face in his hands. “Eren, I’m really sorry, and I love you.” And he smashed their lips together, willing him to understand and to believe.

Eren leaned into the kiss immediately. His arms wrapping around Levi’s broad shoulders as he kissed Levi back. Tears were streaming down his cheeks as he kissed Levi. I missed this so much, I don’t care what people think anymore, I just want him back! Eren didn’t even take into mind that a majority of the student body was in fact applauding at their display of genuine affection. Levi, thank you so much.

Levi, albeit reluctantly, pulled away after a moment. He leaned his forehead against Eren’s, breathing heavily. “Eren, I was such a fucking idiot this entire time. I didn’t want you getting hurt any more than you were for your panic attacks so I tried to keep up my image of not being involved with you but I totally disregarded how it was messing with your head and I just couldn’t get over myself and tell you that I loved you and I was so scared to say it so I pushed you away and… I’m so, so sorry for being an asshole and an idiot. I really, really hope you can forgive me for that.”

Levi pulled from him, reaching for the cordless mic and yanking it from it’s stand. He stood, addressing the crowd. “I, Levi Ackerman, hereby declare that this Brat, Eren Yeager, is my boyfriend from this moment forward… Anyone who so much as says a fucking word about it to him, you’ll have me, and the rest of the fucking football team to deal with! Are we clear?” Levi growled out into the microphone, almost expecting an objection just so they could shut him down. “Because Surprise, Motherfuckers, I’m Gay and Taken.”

...a pissed-off, possessive boyfriend, flaunting it like an Olympic gold. And he doesn’t have to act.
Chapter 17: IT FINALLY FUCKING HAPPENED!!!!

Eren smiled as he looked into his locker. No one’s calling me any names… It’s great! ...Where’s Levi? He said he would take me home to Lathe’s after school. I want him to kiss me again. I want to show him Lathe’s study too! Eren grabbed all the things he needed, not noticing that Blake was currently sniffing at Levi… He’d almost barked at Levi when he had first met him, jumping on the stage to get close to his handler. Only now he was curious.

Levi slung an arm over Eren’s shoulders. “Hey Brat. Is this Blake?” Levi kept trying in vain to pet him. Just let me pet you. I know your vest says I’m not supposed to, but I’m an exception here. Come on. ...Please?

“Oh, hold on, he won’t trust you yet…,” Eren bent down and took Levi’s hand and put his own hand under it, then offering Blake to sniff at the outstretched hands. Blake instantly went to sniff at the hand that was attached to his person’s. His ears perked, moving all about as people walked by and lockers slammed shut. Blake scrunched his nose up a bit before going up to him and sniffing all over Levi to make sure that he got all of Levi’s scent. The dog soon sat and wagged his tail as he stared at Levi, now expecting to be pet. Eren chuckled and let Levi’s hand go. “He trusts you now.” Eren smiled at that and he looked so happy, for the first time in a long time.

Wait, what? “So first you refuse to let me pet you, and now you’re demanding I do it? I’m not sure that’s how this works.” Levi told Blake sarcastically, still going to pet him, scratching behind his ears.

“Levi, I’ve only displayed you to him and, like, one other person. He knows that I trust you with my life… And will look for you if he can’t find the other I’ve entrusted it with. You and Lathe are the only two he trusts completely.” Eren smiled and stood up, grabbing Blake’s leash and motioning Levi to get up as well. Blake got up as soon as Eren did so; he was very attuned to Eren’s body language and how he reacted to certain things.

...you trust me with your life? Levi shook himself out of a daze after a second and quickly followed Eren. “...you really trust me with your life?”

“Well… You’ve already saved it twice.” Eren blushed and looked at his feet for a moment. He’s got me wrapped around his finger and he doesn’t even fucking know it. Face, meet palm. He needs to know that I still trust him… And I want it to stay that way. I want to be able to live again.

...stopping him from overdosing… And sending him off in an ambulance. Levi walked to get alongside Eren, reaching out to twine their fingers together. “...that means a lot.” *I’m still no good Eren smiled and he leaned over and put a quick peck on Levi’s cheek. He waited until they were far enough away from the school to take Blake’s leash off of him and put it in the pack attached to his vest. He only took his hand away from Levi for a moment before returning it to the pale skin he so desperately loved. I hope we can get along, all three of us… Eren smiled as Blake seemed unfazed by the removed leash, and stuck to Eren’s side like glue. The rest of the walk home was short and peaceful. Eren climbed up the stairs first, jiggling the key into the lock until the door swung open. Eren ushered them both inside, Blake waiting patiently to get his vest removed as per usual. So Eren did just that and let Blake go get his water. So how do I get you to kiss me again? Hmm… Eren pondered as he shut the door and led Levi down to the workshop, which was still in the same order he had left it in 2 weeks ago.

...back here, are we? I didn't exactly have art in mind... “There something specific you were… thinking of doing, Eren?” Levi smirked, his eyes running Eren up and down.

Eren blushed a bit and got out some large paper and the charcoal pencils again. “Your back, I want to see how your shoulders meet your neck, so strip your shirt off.” He told him and was busy preparing for a day of drawing.

...yeah, see- we’re not going to have that, exactly. “Alright…” Levi slowly pulled his shirt over his head, tossing it onto the table. He sat down on a stool directly next to where Eren was setting up. He tugged lightly at his sleeve for a moment. “I can understand you wanting the shirt off…” He reached over, pulling Eren facing him into his lap. “…but I had other things in mind.” He rested his hands on Eren’s waist, looking at him with shaded eyes.

Eren let out a soft gasp of surprise as he was pulled close to Levi, his eyes instantly taking in the glorious sight of his wondrous abs. Fuck… He’s too fucking hot! Eren just stared at them, unable to pull his face away from them to actually look Levi in the eye again. His hand timidly reached out to touch Levi’s cool skin and feel how solid he actually was.

Levi tilted his head, leaning into Eren’s touch, their lips only a few inches apart. He hovered there for a moment, before pressing his lips against Eren’s, their kiss starting slow. He pulled Eren a bit closer, letting one hand wander slowly up Eren’s side. It’s okay to touch- I’m certainly not complaining.

...back here, are we? I didn't exactly have art in mind... “There something specific you were… thinking of doing, Eren?” Levi smirked, his eyes running Eren up and down.

Eren smiled as Levi was gentle with him. He slowly reached out his fingers gently touching Levi’s warm skin. Huh… It’s not cool like the rest of them? I can feel the muscles moving under his skin. Eren slowly put his whole hand on Eren’s abs, letting the palm of his hand touch the warm skin. He shivered as Levi’s hands had found a sensitive spot along his sides and he let a small moan escape his lips, pulling away from the ginger kiss for a second, to look into Levi’s eyes. His own eyes were full of happiness, and a hint of lust if Levi could detect it.

Is that… Levi quirked an eyebrow, a small smile on his face. His own eyes mirrored Eren’s, and he let his other hand begin to wander as well. His eyes traced Eren’s outline. You feel… thinner. And you were thin to begin with… “Eren, were you eating while I was gone?” His voice was weighted with worry.

Eren kept his hand on Levi’s lower abs, a few inches from the hem of his jeans. He looked down at his feet for a second before he nodded. “I was eating…… But I couldn’t keep anything down.” He told the Levi the truth; There was no point in hiding it from him. No point in hiding it, then he’ll know why I’m still throwing everything up if it comes to that… Eren slowly raised his other hand, feeling Levi’s warm skin under all his fingers now. Hmm… I wonder how far this’ll go?

Oh my. We need to fix that. But we can deal with that later. Right now… He cupped Eren’s cheek with his hand, kissing him again with more force, his tongue swiping over his lip after a moment. …I’m a bit occupied.

Eren felt Levi’s lips against his own. He moved slightly, pulling away from the kiss for only a second, but there was a mischievous glint in his eyes. He started to clear room on the table beside the two of them, after a moment clearing it from all the clutter so he could lay down on it, with Levi over him again. Eren jumped up onto the strong table and he motioned with one finger for Levi to come to him. He had almost a seductive air to him as his legs were a spread apart as the hung over the edge of the table. I hope he likes this, I want our last kiss to happen again, I don’t care if I get hard from it anymore. Levi won’t leave me because I get hard from it… I wouldn’t be surprised if he’ll be trying for it.

What are you…? Levi watched Eren climb from his lap and onto the table, seeing him beckon him on top. Levi swallowed hard. Fuck. Levi stood, starting with one knee on the edge of the sturdy table and lifting himself on top of Eren, careful still not to crush him. His eyes dark, he dove in again, taking advantage of Eren’s surprised gasp to enter his mouth, immediately tangling their tongues together. So good…

Eren felt Levi’s tongue dance around his own after the shock of Levi kissing him so quickly subsided. His own tongue danced around Levi’s, taking in the warmth of the muscle within his own mouth. Eren slowly wrapped his hands around Levi’s broad shoulders, moving his fingers across his chiseled back. Goddammit Levi, touch me already… Don’t make me wait. Eren became a little more forceful in the kiss, trying to get his message across as his fingers gently dug into his shoulder blades.

Levi seemed to hear him, shifting carefully to lean on one arm, the other cupping his cheek, thumb brushing his jaw, before letting it slide lower, over his shoulders, splaying across his chest and Eren let strings of moans out as Levi’s hands wandered over multiple sensitive spots. At least they’re somewhat muffled by our kiss. God I wonder if he’ll find out my inner thighs will almost immediately get me hard, and I know that one… He’s finding ones I’ve never had touched before. Eren pulled back and let out an extremely loud moan as Levi’s fingers grazed his hips.

Levi, his eyes dark, let his mouth wander again to Eren’s neck, nibbling and licking and suckling, remembering the sensitive spots from before. I want to hear you sing. His hands trailed along his sides and to the hem of his jeans and up again, wishing to go further, but he knew to wait until he knew he could.

Eren moaned out even more as both of his hands were now at his waist. Fuck Levi, this feels amazing…. I want more… But the doors still open upstairs. “Hmmm… Go close the door upstairs… Then you can” Eren moaned out as Levi’s fingers grazed more spots. Lathe would be home soon, but hopefully he can get the door closed means at least knock, or think before you enter… Hmm, he’ll be cool about it.

...*Right. Door. Levi, with one last butterfly kiss to his neck, lifted himself off of Eren and touched down on the floor, hurrying himself up the stairs to close the door. No more interruptions, please. As he reached out to grab the doorknob and close it, his eyes glanced to the base of the stairs, where he saw Lathe. Fuck. Levi stood there a moment, unsure of what to do or say, when Lathe just quickly gave him a thumbs-up and disappeared up the stairs. …how are you an adult. He closed the door, descending quickly and crossing back over in two steps to Eren, vaulting back onto the table. He gazed into Eren’s viridian eyes with his own hooded steel ones, kissing him fervently. Now, where were we? He carefully lowered his hips against Eren’s, gauging his reaction.

Eren gave a soft groan into their kiss. Levi, if you continue... I hope you are prepared to deal with my hardon. Eren pushed his hips up against Levi’s, giving a slow motion to grind his own hips into Levi’s. Damn, this actually feels great when it’s not some random guy… Fuck, Levi… Eren could feel his length starting to harden in his jeans.

Levi felt Eren’s length against his hips, grinding down against him, groaning into his mouth at the friction. His hands traced along the denim hem, wishing to go further. He brought his hand to toy with the button of his jeans, pulling back from the kiss for a moment, his eyes asking for permission. Let me… help you with that.

Eren leaned his head back a bit, looking at Levi with lustfilled eyes. Oh don’t stop Levi. Eren spread his legs wider for Levi and let him undo the button of his jeans. Hmm, I wonder if he’ll know what to do? Well, if he doesn’t I can always direct him on how I want it. Eren gave a slight nod as well, in case opening his legs weren’t enough for his approval.
Levi undid the button, gently kissing him as he unzipped his jeans and tugged them down his hips, fingers ghosting over the waistband of his boxers before tugging them down, letting his erect length spring free, hand hovering unsure for a moment, before gently taking him in hand close to the base, pumping in a slow rhythm.

Eren let out a loud moan and his head shot up as soon as Levi began his slow rhythm. “L...Levi.” Eren moaned out his name, moving to grip onto the other’s shoulders. I haven’t felt this good…. Since I don’t know when… Fuck, please don’t stop Levi.

My god, you sound so fucking sexy… Levi sped up his movements, going to suckle again on Eren’s neck, running his thumb over the slit of Eren’s head.

Eren’s whole body shuddered from the intense pleasure. Beads of precum started to seep from his head. Eren’s whole face was flushed. “Fuck… Levi…. G-good.” He moaned out as Levi kissed his neck. Is he gonna leave marks on me? I wonder if he will… I kinda want him to.

Levi twisted his hand as he pumped Eren quickly, biting Eren’s soft flesh. Mine. He held Eren’s length with more pressure, his movements becoming more erratic.

Eren gave out a sharp cry of pleasure as he felt the pressure increase on his length. Shit… Levi…. He felt the warmth start to coil in his stomach. He moved his head to the side, giving Levi more room on his neck. “L-Levi… I’m… Close.” Eren’s breathing hitched more, his length leaking precum, effectively lubricating Levi’s hand on his dick.

Levi pulled away from Eren’s neck, noting with pride that he would surely have plenty of hickeys to show off. He leaned up next to Eren’s ear, his voice smooth in quiet command. “...Then cum for me.”

Eren felt the coil that had been tightening in his stomach snap. He cried out in pleasure as he felt his whole body shudder and felt rope after rope of come leave from him. The pearly white covering Levi’s hands and his stomach. Eren was still moaning underneath Levi as he was milked for every last drop of his come. He was still panting hard, his chest heaving litany of Levi’s name rolling off of his tongue. Fuck.... I want him to do that again. “Levi....” Eren finally opened his eyes again and he looked at Levi with hooded eyes.

I will never get tired of hearing that. “Eren…” Levi gazed at him with dark eyes, a red streak across his cheeks. He shifted a bit, his hand reaching blindly for the box of wipes he knew were somewhere on the table to clean himself, feeling his own length still straining against his jeans.

Eren shifted a bit under him. “Levi….. Let me…” Eren moved out from under Levi and he grabbed the box, handing it to Levi before slipping off the table. He put himself together quickly before he looked at Levi’s jeans… “C-can I help you?” He asked quietly, his hand grazing over Levi’s length in his jeans. It’s so big…. Holy shit...

Levi, having cleaned himself, shivered at Eren’s touch. ...Fuck. He tossed the box on the table behind Eren, letting out a shuddery breath. “... please.” His hands hovered unsure, before cupping Eren’s cheeks and pressing a quick, forceful kiss to his lips.

Eren kissed him back. His slim fingers making quick work of Levi’s jeans and pulling them down, his fingers gently tracing the outline of Levi’s monstrous length. He pulled back to breath, putting his forehead against Levi’s. “Well, now I know why someone’s popular.” Eren smiled and palmed his length. “It’s so big.” Eren moved down to kiss the outline in Levi’s boxers, teasing him. I wonder how long he can take this for?

...Tease. Levi forced down a moan, his fingers going to tangle in Eren’s hair. “Eren, please. ” I’ve lasted this long, but don't make me wait too much more...

Eren smirked for a second before he grabbed hold of his boxers with his teeth, pulling them down all the way to his knees. He smiled more as he saw Levi’s length spring free. “It’s really big…” Eren trailed off as he slowly trailed a finger from the base all the way to the head, going over his slit. Oh, he is so getting teased… I don’t care, he’ll thank me later.

Levi let out a low moan, his fingers threaded through Eren’s hair tightening their grip. Eren. Please.

Eren gave a soft moan as his hair was pulled. He smiled softly, gently bringing his lips to kiss the head of his length. “Big and thick.” His lips opened and Eren slowly started to engulf his length into his mouth. Thank god I’ve done this before, otherwise I wouldn’t be able to do this. Eren took his whole length in all the way to the hilt, mindful not to hit his teeth against him. I wonder if he’ll pull my hair again… He’ll be in for a surprise if he does. Eren began to suck on Levi’s whole length, and looked up to see what his face looked like. Wonder if anyone else was able to take his whole length in and suck it?

Levi groaned loudly in bliss, his face completely flushed, eyes hooded, trying to keep his hips from thrusting forward. Oh my god, Eren… It’s never felt this good… He fought to keep his knees from buckling, giving out. He tugged on Eren’s locks again, lost in pleasure.

Eren moaned as Levi tugged on his hair again, sending vibrations down Levi’s length. Eren looked for his reaction, wondering if Levi would come from that stimulation alone. Eren moved his hand up to fondle Levi’s balls as well, gently massaging them in his hands.

Levi felt his coil tightening, shuddering at the vibrations around his length. He let out a long moan. I can't hold on for much longer… “E-Eren… I… I can't…” His breath hitched, looking down at Eren with lust-filled eyes, overwhelmed.

Eren slowly moved back, sucking on Levi’s sensitive head, his tongue darting around the tip, before nudging his slit with it. Cum then, Levi. Eren brought his other hand up to start to pump the base of Levi’s length. Cum for me, I want to taste you. Eren was eager to have Levi come in his mouth, and he was doing everything he could to prolong Levi’s climax, but knew it would happen soon, even with his grip on the base of his length.

Meeting Eren’s eyes, taking in the sight of him, Levi felt his coil snap, unraveling as he came in Eren’s mouth with a loud moan, Eren’s name rolling off his tongue, a mantra, his knees threatening to give out from under him. Eren…

Eren swallowed every drop of Levi’s cum, not letting a single one get away. It’s salty, almost sweet…. I like it, it’s not terrible. He continued to rub him to milk every last pearl of cum from Levi’s length, before he rose his head again, his mouth coming off of Levi with a seductive ‘pop’. Eren looked up to Levi and moved to kiss him again, the salty flavor still on his tongue, but Eren had swallowed everything down.

…He swallowed… Damn. Levi kissed Eren fervently, not caring that he could taste himself, pulling himself together before pulling Eren close and tangling their tongues. I really fucking love you. He wrapped his arm around his waist, his other hand cupping his cheek. He pulled back to whisper, “I love you.” before diving in again, a streak of red across his face.

Eren didn’t care that Levi had pulled him up onto the table with him. It made it easier for their bodies to press against each other with Eren on top, so of course he did, pressing their hips and chests together, Eren’s nipples still perking up through the bandages wrapped around him. He continued the kiss, tilting his head to deepen it more. This is fucking amazing… I don't want to stop…

Levi kissed Eren lazily, his hands running slowly up his sides, over his back. This is so wonderful… I don't want to have to stop… Levi pulled away after a few moments, looking to Eren’s neck and smirking in victory at the small bruises blooming there. Mine. Contented, Levi just held onto Eren, nose buried in his hair, feeling his breath on his shoulder.

Eren smiled as he laid there contently. “You were pretty good at the handjob… I would’ve thought that you would’ve been bad… didn’t you have girlfriends like, all the time to do that for you?” Eren asked and giggled as he moved his head to set his gaze on Levi’s eyes. He was trying to poke at Levi to see just how experienced he really was with this. “I also know why all the girls would be so interested in you.” Eren playfully palmed at Levi’s crotch, a smile forming on his face.

Levi blushed furiously at Eren’s movements, his insinuation, shoving down another groan and swatting at Eren’s hand. He quirked an eyebrow at him, opening his mouth and trying to find the words. There were none. “…shut up.” Dammit Eren. Levi pecked Eren again on the lips, a spark of amusement dancing in his eye.

Eren smiled and let Levi peck him on the lips. He giggled and put his hands on Levi’s chest as he pulled himself up. “I think you would need to make me shut up… So when we go farther… Do you know what you’re doing?” Eren asked as he slid his hands down Levi’s bare chest towards his hips, where Eren’s bubbly ass was currently resting.

Levi swallowed. “Uh… y-yeah, I do.” He watched Eren’s hands move down his torso, propping himself up on his elbows.

“You don’t sound too sure… I’m going to assume you’ve never been in a gay relationship, since you so proudly announced that you were gay today at the talent show…” Eren smiled more as he traced the pronounced v-line on Levi’s abdomen. “…so I’m going to assume I’m going to need to teach you what to do.” Eren leaned down and kissed Levi’s chest. God, he’s so beautiful. Eren started to bite at the white skin under his tan hands. He was starting to leave marks of his own.

Levi let his head fall back, groaning at the feeling of Eren’s mouth all over his chest. “W-well… I guess so…” Levi shuddered, his heels digging into the table, trying to keep still. Oh my god...

Eren smiled. “Oh, so you’ll let me teach you then?” He asked quietly as the smile escaped from behind his plump lips. He leaned down again and marked Levi’s chest again on his right pec.

The thought finally registered, a dominant look flashing in his eyes. “Actually…” He purred, one hand going to trail up Eren’s inner thigh. “…I think I know what to do…”
“Fuck!” Eren let out a high-pitched wail as Levi touched his inner thigh. His jeans instantly got tighter. Shit… And I just came not too long ago too… Fuck… It feels too good. “Levi, are you sure?” He asked his voice filled with lust, trying to cover himself from Levi’s eyes, only to force his ass onto Levi’s crotch more, as his hands went to immediately cover himself and Eren’s whole face flushed completely.

Levi’s features softened, his hand leaving Eren’s thigh to bring his face closer to his, kissing him softly, drawing out some of the heat. He pulled back for a moment, speaking quietly. “We don’t have to now if you don’t want to.” He rested his forehead against Eren’s, meeting his eyes. I can wait.

“I don’t want to… but that’s fucking embarrassing” He whimpered to Levi as he buried his face into Levi’s neck. I can’t believe I got hard again... am I some kind of insatiable demon? “I’m sorry, I should probably go take care of this.” He murmured quietly and moved to pull away.

Levi stilled his movements, holding onto him. He murmured into his ear. “Let me.” He carefully switched their places, Eren underneath him as he undid his jeans, pulling them and his boxers down once again, kissing Eren slowly. Let me take care of you. He slowly pumped his length, twisting his hand and running his thumb over the slit of the head.

Eren became vocal all over again. His back arching off the table from the pleasure. “Fuck… Levi…” Eren squirmed a bit under his grasp. Fuck it feels good... Do it more. Eren could already feel the coil starting to tighten in his gut, but that was probably because he was still sensitive from the first orgasm he had only a little while ago.

Levi tangled their tongues together, speeding up his strokes. He moaned into Eren’s mouth. You’re so vocal… And I love it.

Eren moaned into their kiss. His back arching even more as only a few moments went by before he felt the coil snapped yet again, releasing a wave of pleasure. Fuck... that was good. Eren was close to passing out from the pleasure he had just experienced. Levi, if I fall asleep, you better fucking carry me upstairs. Eren curled up into Levi’s arms before he passed out and became limp in his arms.

Levi reached over to the box of wipes, cleaning them up and discarding the used wipe. He carefully maneuvered onto the floor, donning his shirt before picking Eren up bridal-style and walking him up the stairs, watching that his head didn't hit anything. He opened the door, keeping his hold on Eren solid, stepping up and immediately being met by Blake, who has been lying patiently under the scripting table. He stood and trotted over to him, sniffing at his leg. Levi kept walking over and up the stairs. He glanced over to Lathe’s door, seeing the man in question leaning against the frame with an odd smirk. He wagged his eyebrow at him, laughing at Levi’s flushed face before descending the steps. Levi went to tuck Eren in on his bed, climbing in next to him and pulling him close, pressing a kiss to his forehead.

Blake jumped up and stared at Levi laying with him for a second before he went to curl up at the foot of the bed. Eren curled up to Levi to get a few hours of sleep, safely in Levi’s arms again.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Levi woke up to a hand smacking clear across his face. FUCK. Still in a sleepy daze, he could not avoid a second smack, now fully alert. What the hell? Levi looked up, arm shielding his face, to see Lathe looming over them, his hand still raised. Levi sputtered. “What the fuck was that for?!”

“That.” Lathe dropped his hand. “Is payback.” He grinned. “Dinner’s ready. Come downstairs while it’s still hot.” He sauntered out the door, back down the stairs. Still too fucking adorable.

Levi looked to Eren, miraculously still asleep. He smiled a little at his peaceful face, and gently shook his shoulder. “Eren, there’s food downstairs. Come on, I'm hungry.” I require sustenance!

Eren’s eyes cracked open. “I'm not hungry.” Eren whined and tried to roll over to go back to sleep. Blake as already up and sitting at the end of the bed, watching the two of them. I don’t want to throw up again… I really don’t want to, I don’t want to eat and have it happen again. Eren pouted as he snuggled under the covers. “You can go eat, I’m staying here.”

“Oh no, none of that. Come on- you're going to eat something whether you like it or not. I promise we'll do everything we can to help you keep it down. Don't worry about that.” Levi moved so that he was half-standing on the floor, hooking his arms underneath Eren and lifting him from the bed. You're obviously not going to walk down there willingly, sooo...

Eren didn’t complain much as he was lifted off the bed. I wonder if he’s noticed I like him to carry me yet? Eren whined a little and held onto the sheets but once he let go he was easy to handle. He watched as Blake followed them down the stairs. Though he sighed when they got to the kitchen. “Levi, I’m really not hungry…” He trailed off and put his head against Levi’s chest again.

“You're skinnier than the last time I held you, and you were too skinny then! We're getting some food in you.” He carefully set Eren down, pulling out a chair for him at the table and sitting down
“I don’t want to eat though…” Eren complained until he saw that Lathe had made the chicken soup that he so dearly loved. He swallowed hard knowing he wouldn’t be able to resist the temptation of chicken noodle soup. He took his nausea pill and waited for it to kick in. This is bad, I’m gonna eat too much, then really be throwing it up.

Lathe was beginning to act much more like himself, getting out bowls and placing one full of soup in front of Eren. He rested his hand on his shoulder for a moment. “I think you'll find you'll feel much better eating.” He went to hand Levi his bowl, setting down with his own. The problem wasn't you in throwing it all up, per se... I think what caused all that is mended.

Eren looked down at the soup in front of him for a long time. Fuck... Lathe always does things like this... I wanna cry again... I’m so happy he thought about this. Eren slowly picked up a spoonful and lifted it to his mouth. He smiled softly as he savored the taste. Dammit, I'm starving... And so after a few minutes, Lathe was filling his bowl again, with a smile on his face.

Good to know everything's working out. Eren can eat, and this one got his shit together. Lathe beamed, handing Eren his bowl back. He pretended not to notice Eren and Levi playing footsie under the table.

Eren ended up eating the whole bowl before he called it quits on the food. He didn’t want to over eat and throw up because of that. Eren gave up after Levi won a majority of the footsie challenges the two shared. He looked down at his empty bowl and smiled softly. Maybe it’s for the better... that I can eat again. Eren looked to Lathe, “I can shower with the wraps on my back right?” He asked quietly. He’d never tried to take another shower by himself again after that experience, he would always just fill a bucket with water and dump it over himself to wash.

“You can. It would be best if you took them off to clean, but you’d have to stay out of the direct stream of water, and we don't know how well you’d do then. You'd need help with that.” Lathe tried not to look at Levi. Don't give them more ideas. ...I already did, though. Shit.

“Levi, can you help me shower?” Eren asked innocently as he looked to Levi, across from him.

Lathe just put his reddening face in his hand, focusing on his soup and trying to ignore their conversation. Eren, why would you ask that when I'm right here?

Eren followed along, though the sudden jostle didn’t bode well for his stomach. Eren gripped Levi’s wrist to make him stop moving, if only just for a second. Fuck I feel like i’m gonna throw up again.

Levi immediately stopped moving, moving to hug Eren and still him, seeing his face twist with nausea. Fuck, I forgot. He held onto Eren, hoping it would pass.

Eren stood stock still, the nausea swelling in his stomach. No… Stay down, food. Stay down… I want to shower with Levi… Stay down… Please. It took a few minutes but finally the nausea passed to where Eren could move around without worry.

Thank fuck. “Sorry about that…” Levi started them moving to the shower upstairs slowly, letting Eren take as much time as he needed. Maybe he needs stronger nausea pills… Lathe must’ve picked up on that. He saw the whole damn thing. I’ll mention it later.

Eren took about 5 minutes to get up the stairs. He looked around for new clothes and found that Lathe had put a bunch of clothes in a basket, folded by his door. Lathe did laundry while we were asleep? Eren shrugged and grabbed underwear and sweatpants knowing he really shouldn’t grab a shirt until his arms, back and chest were wrapped. He took Levi to the bathroom, closing and locking the door. “I’ll have to show you Lathe’s study after this… I snuck in and kept the blinds open all day, so that we’ll be able to see the stars.” Eren smiled and struggled to get his shirt off for a few seconds before finally getting it off.

…Does he want help with those bandages? I can see some of the hooks are on his back. Levi put them on even ground, taking his shirt off and placing it on the counter. “Do you want me to help you with your wraps? There are hooks on the back.”

Eren looked to Levi for a moment, thinking about it. “Yeah, that would help, thanks.” Eren turned around and displayed his back for Levi. His hair has gotten much longer since they had first met, it needed to be cut again.

“Your hair’s really long…” Levi noted absentmindedly, unpinning and sliding hooks out of place and carefully peeling them away from his healing back. He looks so much better than the last time I saw his back… That was when he first got the stitches, wasn’t it? They should be taken out soon, it looks like. “Your back looks much better, Eren.”
“Does it? It still feels like something’s ripping through it every now and then.” Eren told him. “My chest is almost completely healed though, which is good, only scars left.” He smiled softly and turned so that Levi could see his chest scarring over in so many different places. You could still tell where he was missing a rib.

Levi dropped the wraps out of the way, kicking off his shoes. He looked at Eren’s chest, tracing every scar with his eyes. He did so much… No. You shouldn’t think about that now. Just focus on helping Eren get clean. He pulled Eren close to him, giving him a gentle peck on the lips before he nudged him, a soft smile on his lips. “Come on, let's get you clean.” He continued to undress, stepping out of his jeans and placing them on top of his shirt, ditching his socks and boxers.

Eren ditched all his clothes and turned the shower on, but didn’t step in. He didn’t know if he should let Levi in first. His ass was currently facing Levi, but Eren didn’t seem to mind. He can control himself.

“Should I go in first?”

Eren looked to him and nodded quickly.

Levi slowly moved past him and into the hot spray, adjusting quickly to the temperature. He held out one hand to Eren, smirking. “Come on in, the water’s fine.” I'll catch you if anything happens. Don't worry.

Eren took his hand and looked at his glorious body. God, I knew he was hot, but this is ridiculous. Eren blushed as he stepped in and he felt the heat of the water starting to steam the room. “It’s warm” he said and smiled. Some of the water was coming off of Levi’s shoulders and splashing only his chest gently.

Levi reached to his right for a washcloth, holding it into the stream of water for a moment and rubbing soap onto it, turning Eren around and beginning to wash his back, taking extreme care not to harm him. He went over the healing wounds with a ghost of a touch, and he entirely avoided the long gash and the burned skin underneath it. “Tell me if I start doing something that hurts.”

“Okay.” Eren was quiet until Levi pressed a little too hard and he hissed in pain. “That hurt.” He tried to calm down, moving away from the pressure. He looked back at Levi to see if he understood.
“Sorry, I’ll be more gentle.” Levi rested a hand on Eren’s arm, holding him still as he finished with his back, moving on to his sides, coming up to his shoulders, his arms. He turned Eren around to face him, starting on his chest. He swiped over his neck, smiling a bit at the marks there.

Eren moaned when Levi brushed over his neck. He snapped his eyes open and looked at him with hooded eyes. “How many did you leave?” He asked and eyed Levi up and down. He had only left 5 large marks over Levi’s flawless chest.

Levi counted. “…Seven.” He allowed his eyes to skim over Eren’s naked frame. Beautiful. His redirected his attention to his eyes after a moment, then again to Eren’s chest as he washed him.

“So I get two more then? I get to mark you two more times?” He asked, almost eager to do it again to Levi, just to see his reaction. Eren looked down slightly to meet Levi’s eyes. He’s not that much shorter than me… Maybe a few inches.

So that's the game we’re playing, is it? Levi moved the washcloth to the small shelf next to him. “If you want to be fair about it…” He smirked, eyes shaded, his head slightly tilted and neck further bared in invitation.

Eren’s eyes lit up like a fucking Christmas tree. He smiled before coming closer to him, bending his head down to get at the perfect skin of the other’s neck. He kissed it gently at first before he bit the supple flesh under his teeth. He made one large possessive mark that had almost broken skin, but was strong enough to leave a huge bruise there. He gently moved to Levi’s other side and he bit down on the other side of his neck. Mine. He's mine, bitches. No one else’s. Eren smiled and was pleased with his possessive work.

Levi groaned as Eren marked his neck. “Damn, you don't have to bite that hard, Brat.” That actually kinda hurt. He went with it anyway, eager to let Eren mark him. And I should get to mark him again later, too… definitely. Mine. Levi took his face in both of his hands when he pulled away, kissing him fervently for a moment before pulling away, reaching for the washcloth and putting more soap on it. Shower. Clean. Right. He carefully worked down Eren’s torso, making sure not to miss any spots.

Eren just giggled. “Yeah, but now if anyone sees you now, they know you’re taken.” Eren smiled and reached up to kiss him, reaching for the cloth. “Shall I wash you?” He asked seductively.

Levi felt red streak across his face, swallowing. “…please.” He smirked, handing Eren the cloth.
Damn, that voice.

Eren looked at him and smirked. He slowly washed Levi’s solid form with the washcloth. “Levi, where are you dirty?” He asked again in that seductive voice, his hands already starting to wash around Levi’s neck.

Fuck… um. Levi quirked an eyebrow. “Everywhere.” That’s a valid answer. …right?

Eren smirked and leaned down to peck his cheek. “Even your nether regions?” He asked and his seductive voice could bring even the most honest-minded men to their knees. Oh the ways that I can get you to blush… Talking dirty is definitely one of my favorites. “I’m not sure, you’ll have to tell me.” Eren was currently washing his arms and smiling as he did so, touching an asscheek to Levi’s hips as he got close to him.

God… Levi searched for his voice. “Uh.. S-sure.” He’s such a fucking tease, dammit.

Eren smirked and washed everything on Levi’s front, taking special care around his crotch. Eren bent down to give Levi a show at his ass when he washed his legs. He felt around Levi’s strong legs. So much muscle… Fuck it’s so hot.. I wonder how he’s finding my ass… God I love teasing him.

Levi couldn’t help but stare. His ass is damn fine. Levi smirked, enjoying the show.

Eren soon moved and turned Levi around, his hands going down his muscled back. Holy shit, it just gets better.

Levi shifted his shoulders, the muscles rippling across his back with the movement. He sighed as Eren washed his back, leaning into the touch. This feels really nice, actually.

Eren smiled and washed the rest of him before handing it back. “Can you wash it out? I can do your hair if you can do mine?” He asked quietly his arms wrapping around Levi’s broad shoulders. He smiled and kissed Levi’s left ear happily.

“Of course.” Levi rinsed out the washcloth, putting it back on the small shelf and reaching for a black bottle of shampoo. He poured some into his palm, setting it back down and beginning to massage it into Eren’s hair.
Eren let out a soft sigh of pleasure. “That feels good, Levi.” Eren’s voice was soft and his seductive tone forgotten for right now.

Levi gave him a small smile, moving his fingers in small circles from the nape of his neck to the crown of his head, careful to brush any bubbles away from his eyes.

Eren leaned into his soft touches, his back flush against Levi’s chest. He left out a bunch of soft whimpers when Levi found a sensitive spot. He was in complete bliss with Levi’s hands running through his hair.

Levi was content to stay in the warm water, fingers threading through Eren’s brunette locks, his face peaceful. After a few minutes, however, he moved to carefully rinse Eren’s hair out, brushing away the bubbles before taking the white bottle of conditioner from the shelf and resuming his motions with that, before Eren could protest. When he was sure he had gotten it everywhere, he kissed Eren’s shoulder blade, speaking softly. “We’ll leave that for a moment, alright?”

“Leave it? Don’t we need to wash it out?” He asked quietly to the other. Don’t we need to get it out?

“We do, but if you leave it to sit for a few minutes, it makes your hair even softer. We’ll rinse it out in a few minutes, then. I won't forget.” He pressed another butterfly kiss to his shoulder. Don’t worry about it. He handed Eren the black bottle. “Will you do mine?”

Eren smiled and he nodded. “Okay.” Soon he had his hands lathered in the shampoo, working their way through the Levi’s inky locks. “Your hair's getting long… Your undercut isn’t shaved all the way anymore.” He was really gentle with Levi’s hair.

Levi hummed, leaning into Eren’s touch. “That makes two of us. We’ll get Lathe to drag us out of the house and get haircuts.” Levi let his eyes close, enjoying the feeling of Eren’s fingers threading through his hair.

Eren smiled and he rubbed it in a little more. “You can probably wash it out, then I can do your conditioner.” Eren told him and brought his hands back. He was starting to get cold from the lack of warmth. His fingers were pruning and his lips starting to turn a purplish color because he was getting so cold.
Levi looked over his shoulder at him, his eyes flashing with worry, seeing his purple lips. He immediately set the bottle he was holding down. “Eren, you don't look very good. Are you alright?”

“I’m cold,” he murmured and he curled up to Levi’s skin for warmth. He couldn't get directly into the water, so he was freezing the whole time. So fucking cold… Can he rinse my hair out now?

Levi wrapped one arm around him, the other going to turn up the water as high as it would go, adjusting to the temperature and rinsing his hair quickly. I hope the steam warms him up. He reached for the washcloth again, soaking it and carefully running it over his shoulders, his arms, trying to warm him. He moved to rinse out Eren’s hair, carding his hands through his locks. “Any better?”

Eren nodded a little bit. “I’m still really cold though.” Eren looked at him and his lips were almost a shade of blue. “Can I get out?” He asked and started to shiver.

Oh my, Eren. “Of course.” Levi quickly shut off the water, opening the door and stepping over the small frame, snatching a clean white towel from the rack. He held it open for Eren, wrapping it around him and carefully drying him off. He pulled him into a hug. You’re freezing… He rubbed most of the water out of Eren’s hair, patting his back dry without incident. He grabbed a towel for himself, drying his hair and wrapping it around his waist. He led Eren by the arm back to his room so he could change, leaving him for a moment to retrieve and don his own clothes.

Eren slipped on clean boxers and he got out a new pair of sweatpants. He was still shivering. “Levi, can you get Lathe? He needs to do my bandages.” Eren moved to grab a blanket to wrap around himself as he shivered.

Levi, though his first thought was to wrap himself around Eren and keep him warm, was trumped by Eren’s need of wraps for his back. He nodded, descending the stairs fully dressed, finding Lathe in the scripting room, studying a huge shuffled mess of sheet music, all in pencil and in varying states of completion. Many were wrinkled or torn. He looked up as Levi entered. “Eren needs new wraps.”

Lathe nodded, straightening himself and moving to the bag on the banister, removing three new rolls. He led Levi back up the stairs, finding Eren in his room, his brow instantly furrowing with concern, noting his purple lips. “You okay? Are you cold?” He immediately set to work, having Eren stand and turn so he could see his back.

Eren nodded. “I’m really cold…” He told Lathe and shivered as he turned and showed him his back. His back looked better after the dried blood had been washed off. Hurry, I’m fucking freezing!! Lathe please hurry I wanna curl up to Levi. “Oh… C-can I s-show Levi the stars?” He shivered, his teeth chattering.

Lathe wrapped him in record time. The stitches can come out in a couple of weeks. It won't take too long. Good. Lathe smiled. “Let me see your arms first.” He took his forearm, scrutinizing the thin scars that remained. “You don’t really need the arm wraps anymore. Unless you want me to do them anyway, if you're afraid of scratching, still. Or if you just want to look tough. Both are valid reasons.” He grinned.

Eren shook his head. “I don’t want them wrapped. I can take him then?” He asked, still shivering, but now swaddled in his large blanket.

“Of course. Go right ahead.”

Eren smiled at him and reached out to grab a bunch of pillows and blankets happily. “Levi, we’re going star gazing!” He called happily from the room, he went and made a nest of sorts in Lathe’s study, he brought a bunch of blankets and pillows into the room, almost intent on watching the stars until they fell asleep. He’s gonna love this! Eren smiled, it was getting dark outside so the paint would really glow tonight.

Levi let out a breathy laugh, following Eren into Lathe’s study, looking curiously around the cluttered room, down to the nest Eren had constructed on the floor. He quirked an eyebrow, but nestled in nonetheless, looking up to the ceiling after a moment, his eyes going wide, his jaw slack. Oh my god. “Did.. Did you do that?” It looks so real...

Eren smiled and got close to Levi and snuggled up to him, wrapping them in all the blankets. “Yeah, I did, and wait until the sun goes all the way down… It’ll look really cool!” He said excitedly and started to finally get warm next to Levi.

Levi wrapped himself around Eren, tangling their legs together. “It already looks so real… you did an amazing job.”

Eren smiled and when the sun went down completely, the painting lit up the whole room. “Do you like it?” He asked as he turned to see his opinion. I hope he does.

Levi looked to the ceiling in awe, feeling like he was staring at the sky. “It’s absolutely wonderful.
It’s realistic and bright. Amazing.” Levi kissed Eren’s temple. You have real talent.

Eren giggled and snuggled into his chest. “I could stare at it forever…” Eren trailed off and smiled as Blake came in and laid down by them. “Thank you for today, too. I really mean it… Thank you for… For telling me…” Eren said, a red tint across his cheeks.

Levi pulled Eren closer, burying his face into the crook of his neck. “I’m sorry I didn't tell you sooner. I was… I was scared that things would get worse and not better.” He pressed a soft kiss to his cheek. “I'm so glad I told you. I… I really do love you, Eren.”

Eren smiled, propping himself up. He looked over to Levi, swallowing hard. “L-Levi?” He asked quietly. His stuttering giving away that he was nervous. Blake was instantly by his side and grabbing his hands to get him not to scratch at the scabs that were there, but almost gone. Fuck, he knows I’m nervous now…

Levi’s eyes widened a bit, at Blake’s intervention, and at Eren’s nerves. “Yeah, Eren?” It’s okay, you don’t have to be so scared to tell me anything.

“Um… Well… I… I … I…” Eren freed his hands only to have them snatched again in Blake's jaws. The dog growled at him… Wanting him to calm down before he even tried to take his hand again. “B-Blake?” Eren’s attention immediately pulled to the growling dog. Blake’s never growled at me before?

Levi carefully reached out, tentatively petting Blake behind the ears and talking to him softly. “Blake, it’s fine, don’t worry about him, let me.” Levi talked Blake into letting him hold onto Eren’s hands, sitting upright. He twined their fingers together, trying to calm Eren, his voice smooth and low. “Now, what did you want to tell me?”

“I… I… <I love you Levi>” Eren looked down at his hands in Levi’s. I couldn’t tell him… I couldn’t tell him in English… I couldn’t tell him…. Fuckfuckfuckfuck… Nononononononononononononononononononononono….

<“I love you too, Eren.”> All those German classes, for the best reason there is.

<“You… They taught you that in school?”> he asked quietly. His eyes wide, his face flushed completely. Stop panicking… Stop panicking… Stop panicking… You’re fine! You told him… And he fucking understood… You’re Fine Dammit! Eren let Blake grab his shirt and lay him down on the ground and whine constantly. Blake was so worried about him, and getting ready to ground Eren before he really freaked out.

Levi moved down with Eren, thinking about his words and doing his best to translate, unused to speaking it. He leaned over Eren, his voice quiet. <“Yes, they did.”> He pressed his lips lightly against Eren’s. It’s alright. You said it, and I understood you, and you’re alright. Everything is alright.

Eren watched Blake get on his chest and start to lick at his face trying to calm him down. Eren’s heart was beating a mile a minute. He was trying to calm himself. Levi told me he loves me… And I told him back… Holy Shit… I didn’t want to tell it to him in German… And for fuck’s sake he fucking understood it. He probably thinks i’m a fucking coward for not being able to tell him in English. Fuck… Blake whined and kept his full weight on Eren to calm him down.

Levi kissed him sweetly, his hand coming up to cup his cheek. He told me he loves me! He loves me! I wouldn’t have cared if you’d written it down, signed it, or said it in a language I would never understand. I know you’re panicking about that. I couldn’t say it at all at first. You actually said it. That’s what matters. You’re fine, Eren. It’s all fine. Levi shifted his grip on Eren’s hands, running his thumb over his knuckles.

Eren looked to him and his eyes were starting to show fear. I can’t calm down.. I can’t calm down… Levi help me please! Eren’s fingers moved to grip Levi’s hand in a vice-like grip. He was afraid of panicking again, and he didn’t want to. Blake was already grounding him and he wasn’t calming down.

He’s going to panic…. You keep forgetting he isn't telepathic. Maybe if you told him all that… “Eren, I promise you're going to be okay. I know you're beating yourself up for switching to German, and you shouldn't. You could have said it in English or written it down on a piece of paper and handed it to me and it would have meant just as much. There’s no reason to be so scared, so frustrated with yourself. You said it, and that’s what’s important.” …that works. Maybe. Levi gazed into Eren’s panicking eyes with his own calm ones. “Believe me.”

< “You don’t think I’m coward?” > Eren asked quietly. He started to calm down little by little, Levi’s deep voice calming him down.

Levi thought for a moment, the words registering. He likes to speak German. Do that, still. He pondered his response, finding the words. <“I do not think that. I was a coward… I did not think about how you felt, and refused to tell you at all for too long. I think you are brave. Braver than I was.”>
< “You really think so?” > his voice was showing how much he was calming down. Blake started to wag his tail knowing he was starting to calm down.

A quiet voice spoke from the doorway. “Are you two doin’ okay? I heard Blake whining from downstairs.’ Lathe was mostly a dark silhouette, the lights behind him off. The stars above them showed his face, concern over the features not hidden by shaggy black hair.

Eren looked up to Lathe and nodded. < “we’ll be okay… I’m calming down… Levi’s calming me down.”> Eren looked back to Levi and took a few deep breaths to calm himself down more. Blake’s tail continued to wag.

Lathe, though he did not know much German, understood by looking at the three of them that all was well, or soon to be. This is all too sweet. He smiled and nodded. “I’ll leave you be, then.” He quietly slipped back downstairs, still keeping an ear out for them.

Levi sighed in relief as Eren calmed fully, still running his thumb over his hands. He kissed his cheek, pulling Eren close.

Eren smiled. <“Thank you.”> Eren called Blake off and leaned over to kiss Levi fully. I want you to fucking kiss me for that!

Levi kissed back fervently, pulling Eren close, letting their tongues tangle together. I love you. He let his hands lazily wander his chest, his sides, finally settling on running through his hair.

Eren let them kiss passionately, though soon asked for entry into Levi’s own mouth. I want to feel you too. He timidly licked at Levi’s lips.

Levi’s tongue retreated, allowing him in.

Eren slowly slid his tongue into the other’s mouth, his tongue going around to every point, mapping out the inside of Levi’s mouth gracefully. His hands roamed over Levi’s chest.

Levi quietly moaned into Eren’s mouth, tilting his head further to deepen their kiss, one hand going to rest on his waist. You taste wonderful...
Eren moaned back as well. His tongue slowly sliding over all of Levi’s teeth, counting each one as he did so. Always so clean and fresh… Levi, you feel so damn good. Eren didn’t mind Levi’s hands on his waist, he moved his leg bit, so that his body could move closer to Levi, his chest coming up to press against Levi’s. This feels so right, Levi… Eren pulled back for a few seconds to breathe, giggling when he gazed into Levi’s eyes with his own happy ones.

Damn, he’s gorgeous. Levi gave him a small smile, joy flitting past in his eyes. This feels… Right.
Levi leaned their foreheads together, the both of them falling back on the pillows, Levi tucking Eren’s head under his chin. He looked up to the ceiling.

Eren smiled and he curled up to his chest. He laid flush on Levi’s chest, their legs tangling together. “Levi… If I go to sleep…” Eren yawned, it had been a long day and he was falling asleep already.

Levi ran his hand through Eren’s hair, his own eyes becoming heavy with sleep. “Yeah?”

Eren nuzzled his head into the crook of Levi’s neck, under his chin. <“Stay with me.”> Eren’s voice was soft barely audible as he drifted off to sleep. Blake went off and padded downstairs probably to be let outside. Eren’s breathing had evened out as well, with Levi’s hand running through his hair.

Levi instantly recognized the words, smiling. <“Of course.”> Levi let his eyes shut, and he too surrendered to the calm of sleep under the stars.
Chapter 18: Christmas Woes

Lathe was back with them by Christmas. He went shopping, restocked the fridge, doted on Eren and Levi, poked fun at their couple-y antics, tried to deal with his nerves from pondering Christmas and everything that had happened by painting scene after scene of metal and gears, but the only thing that brought him back was sorting through the sheet music on the table, fixing and finishing it all, transferring it all in clean dark ink to fresh sheets, playing them on the piano until his fingers hurt, singing their odd lyrics that weren't always English and putting it all away on a shelf under the binder label ‘Tilt.’ He got back into the swing of cooking, that mischievous glint returning to his moonsong eyes, his voice going from quiet whispers to it’s loud tenor. Another golden line of script crawled over the wall behind the piano. He remembered to sleep and eat. He beamed. He was himself.

Eren had progressed nicely over the past week and a half. He slept snuggled up to Levi every night, actually slept. He no longer woke up to nightmares and could actually sleep longer than four hours every night, catching up on some much needed rest. Eren’s eating habits had started to return to normal once again. He was no longer throwing up everything he ate, and was actually keeping it all down. He had gained a few pounds since Lathe started cooking again for them all. He was back to three meals a day, and the meals were small, but hey… it’s progress. Eren had found that his nausea pills did little to help him open up his stomach, so Lathe gave him stronger ones, which did the trick beautifully. He was able to eat larger portions of the delicious food Lathe made again. Lathe had also allowed Eren and Levi to go out and get a Christmas tree along with ornaments and some other random decorations for around the house, but due to his past experiences with Christmas, Eren insisted upon getting almost every decoration available and decorating THE WHOLE HOUSE… Even going as far as painting some Christmas scenes and hanging them around the house. He was overly bubbly when it started to snow outside 3 days before christmas, leaving a white sheet out on the grass in front of the house. Eren had stayed out for way too long since he was so excited to see snow on the ground again. That had ended with Eren needing to drink many mugs of tea, sitting in front of the fireplace wrapped in blankets and surrounded by Levi’s arms. Though Eren didn’t really mind; He got to kiss Levi as much as he wanted as they laughed in front of the fireplace. Eren didn’t leave the house when Levi left to go back to his apartment every few days, he trusted that he would come back as soon as possible. Eren wondered why he didn’t just stay here with them, but was given the spiel about how his Uncle paid for the apartment and wouldn’t reply to any of the mail Levi had sent him about renting with his own money, so Eren just let him go. He had finally gotten Levi to let him draw his whole body, almost completely naked, but he allowed him to wear his boxers for that picture, which was immediately hung in his room. Eren was much happier after that week and a half, and he was eagerly waiting to open the presents that started to accumulate under their tree.

It was relatively quiet for those one and a half weeks. Most of the time I would be curled up with Eren, keeping him warm, or supervising his decorating the house, or acting as his model when he wanted to draw. I have no real room to complain- I get to hold Eren, have as many hugs and kisses as I want. Lathe’s been stress-cooking to ease his nerves, apparently. At least, that’s what I think it is. But can cook really well, so… nothing to complain about. It was odd, seeing him so quiet. I’m just glad that joyful look in his eye is back. And Eren’s filling out nicely- he can keep food down. I have to check on the apartment from time to time of course- make sure nobody’s broken in, and at this point quite a bit of the food in the fridge is either gone bad or becoming suspicious- though it’s easy to forget I have to. I practically live here at this point. It’s wonderful to not have to sleep alone. Lathe… he takes good care of us both. Christmas is coming so soon… so is… I don’t want to make a big deal out of it. It’s a day for everyone, not just me. I’ve been studying German a lot more lately, because Eren seems to switch to it often, and likes to use it. I’m not too sure what to get him for Christmas. I have ideas, but… I dunno. I’ve never been a good gift-giver. I need to fix that. Blake’s really been enjoying the snow! He’s been running circles in the backyard, confused and excited but mostly excited. He likes sitting in front of the fireplace especially. It’s nice… not having to spend the holidays alone.

Eren cracked his eyes open earlier than he had planned. It’s fucking 6:30… The fuck… I won’t be able to fall back asleep… But I don’t want to wake Levi up. Eren looked up a bit, shifting his head to confirm that Levi was, in fact, still asleep. He looked at his peaceful face as he slept. I really really really want to go downstairs and open presents… But he’s so fucking gorgeous sleeping, and I don’t want him to be grouchy if I wake him up to early… Eren decided just to lay there for the next hour and a half until he couldn’t take it anymore. He got up slowly, moving to straddle Levi’s waist before bending down to bite at the fading bites he had left on Levi’s neck a week and a half ago. Wake up… I wanna open presents, and I want you to open the present I painted for you… Come on… Please wake up. Eren bit down a bit harder on the sensitive skin to get him to wake up.

Levi groaned, cracking his eyes open at the unexpected biting. “Ngh… Eren… What are you…?” Levi rubbed the heel of one hand against his eye, his other gently pushing up on Eren’s shoulder. As much as I enjoy it… “Come on Eren, I’m up.”

“No… You made me wait….” Eren leaned down and bit at his neck again, leaving a fresh mark. His eyes were full of mischief. “You made me wait so you get bit.” He said and leaned down and bit his neck again. You are really gonna have to push me off to get me to stop… Eren rested his hands on Levi’s bare chest and smiled. He was happy that Levi never slept with a shirt on.

“E-Eren… Come on…” Levi gasped. I just woke up and part of me doesn’t want you to stop but it’s Christmas and I want to go downstairs…presents. “…Eren… Downstairs… Presents.”

Eren’s head instantly shot up. “PRESENTS!!!” Eren was off of Levi in a second and racing downstairs without Levi, Blake following quickly at his heels. You could hear the squeals of joy coming from downstairs everywhere in the house. If Lathe was still asleep, he was certainly up now. There’s so many presents!! Yay!!!

“Hey Brat, wait for me!” Levi reached over and tossed on a shirt before running down the stairs after him. “Don’t start opening presents without us!” Don’t do it, Eren! Control yourself!
Lathe lifted his head as feet thundered down the stairs. What the hell... His eyes widened, beaming as he got up to follow them. It's Christmas!

Eren was already by the presents. He was putting them into four separate piles one for each of them and a pile for Blake as well. So many presents... So many!!!

Levi quirked an eyebrow at the pile being made for him. Is all that... "Is that all mine?" It can't all be for me... Is it? He knelt down, looking at the tags. They all have my name on them... "That's all mine." He looked over to Blake’s pile, grinning. Even Blake gets lots of presents.

“Yup, those are all yours! And look- Lathe’s got just as much as us!” Eren beamed, his voice was so loud as he finished sorting out the presents.

“I do?” Lathe’s eyes widened in surprise as he descended the last few steps. “...I-do.” I didn't think I was going to get so many... that's so much... He crossed over to them, petting Blake and ruffling Eren and Levi’s hair on his way to sit next to his pile at the Christmas tree. He beamed at them. “Now, although I think we all know the answer...” He eyed a very excited Eren with amusement. “...who wants to go first?”

Eren opened his mouth before he closed it for a second. His excitement seemed to die down a bit. “C-can I?” He asked quietly, still pretty unused to having presents to even open. Can I? Is that a thing? I am the youngest here... When mom was around I used to always open presents first. But she's not here.

“Youngest first? Wait...” Lathe counted in his head. He looked over to Blake with a grin. “Blake in human years is actually the youngest, but if you go by dog years, he’s 35. He’s technically the oldest one here.” His gaze returned to Eren. “But yeah. You can go first.”

Eren’s smile brightened and he started to go through his presents. He mostly got some more hoodies from Blake, in literally every color he could ever ask for. Yes! I have more hoodies!!! Yes!!! Eren still had quite a few more presents from Levi and even one from Lathe. Eren opened one of his small boxes from Lathe and he looked at the small dark green calligraphy pen. What is this? Eren looked up to Lathe with confusion at first as he lifted the pen carefully from the case it was in. He looked at the top of the case, now looking for clues as to what this was, seeing countless small bottles of all the colors of the rainbow and everything in-between... is this a pen? A fountain pen? “Is this a pen?” He asked Lathe quietly and looked at it with curiosity and happiness.
“It is indeed a pen. A dip pen, specifically for calligraphy- Fancy writing. There’s a row of other tips for it in that box, so you can make lines of all widths. Or they all just look really cool. Both. The book in there shows you how to do fanciful lettering, including cursive, which you should know how to do anyway.” You’d better let me borrow that on occasion.

“Cursive? What’s that?” He asked quietly as he looked down at the case and saw the different tips Lathe had mentioned. There’s so many...

“Cursive is that writing old people do where you write all the letters of words together with one line. It’s faster and generally nicer-looking than printing once you get the hang of it.”

“Oh cool, can you teach me? I don’t learn that well from books… More from experience.” Eren carefully put the pen back before closing the case and looking up to see his answer.

“Of course I'll teach you! As long as you're willing to occasionally share.” Lathe grinned. I shall teach you the ways of script.

Eren smiled. “Okay, that's fine with me.” Eren’s smile got wider as he started to open his present from Levi. He opened a small box and his eyes widened at what was before him. “Are you serious??” Eren looked up to Levi, almost expecting him to say that they were fake. They had two tickets to go see Nate Ruess at a venue downtown. Is he serious?? Nate Ruess?? Like the real thing? Really I get to go see him in concert?? OH my fucking God YESSSS!!!!

“I'm very serious. Those are two tickets to see Nate Ruess perform live at the Town Ballroom.” Levi smirked. “Is that alright?”

Eren instantly tackled Levi in a huge hug. He was squealing the whole time. “Oh my god! I am so excited!!!!” Eren was so happy. I get to go see a concert with him!!

Levi caught Eren, trying not to let them topple over, laughing. “I'm glad you like it!” Yes! That is going to be an amazing concert, I know it!

“Wait will I be able to bring Blake?” He asked and almost instantly started to worry.

Levi thought for a moment, unsure. He looked to Lathe over his shoulder.
Lathe also looked uncertain. “It's going to be really loud, very crowded, you're going to feel the beats of the songs in your chest, there's probably going to be smoke or something… I would honestly say it’s not the best place for Blake. I'll email Moblit a little later, get his opinion, but I think you'll have to leave him home.”

Eren swallowed hard.  I need to leave Blake here? What if I panic? What happens then? Eren's face gave away his fears and worries.

Levi held onto Eren a bit tighter, kissing his temple. “I'll be there with you. I'll make sure we don't get separated, and if you do start to panic or feel too uncomfortable, we can bail whenever you need to. I'll make sure you're fine. Sound okay?” I won't let anything bad happen.

“Okay.” He said quietly he rested his head into Levi’s chest. “It’s your turn now…” He crawled out of his lap but stayed right next to him, holding onto his shirt with one hand and petting Blake with the other.

“Alright.” Levi reached forward, taking up a large, flat, thin package. He carefully tore the paper off.

Eren smiled when Levi was greeted with a painting of the picture of Eren clinging onto Levi when he had pastels all over his hands. Levi looked completely surprised and Eren had a toothy grin plastered on his face. I hope he likes it, it took me five tries to get everything right.

“Eren… It’s amazing! You painted it so well!” Levi smirked at the memory, looking to Eren with happy eyes. “Thank you so much.” He leaned over and pecked his cheek. I love it!

Eren smiled and blushed. “I’m glad you like it.” He was blushing a lot. I really hoped you would like it. And I’m glad you did, you seemed so opposed to the picture...

Levi carefully set it down, looking at the two boxes addressed to him in Lathe’s script. Why is one wrapped in birthday wrapping paper? He couldn't have found out... He reached for it, only for Lathe to stop him.

“Open the other one first.” You can see what’s in that one after. He grinned impishly.
Well that’s suspicious. Levi took the other small box in hand, carefully tearing open the bronze paper and opening the lid, seeing a row of small brown bottles. What are they? They smell weird. “Lathe, what are these?” Levi sent him a confused look.

Those are bottles of henna. The good kind, too, and plenty of them.” He grinned. “What you do, is you take one of them, and you draw on your skin with the paste, and you leave it to dry and crack off. It dyes your skin, and the tattoo lasts for up to two weeks if you take good care of it.”

“So I can give Levi tattoos??” Eren asked and looked over the bottles. “Really? I can give his whole chest and back tattoos?” He asked and his eyes gleamed with mischief.

I knew that was the perfect idea. Lathe grinned, recognizing that spark in Eren’s eye. I'm rubbing off on you. I'm not sure how good of a thing that is. He replied before Levi could. “Yup. And you can do it as many times as you like.”

Eren’s eyes glinted more. “I’ll do your back today… And I’ll do your arms before the concert.” Eren’s smile widened from ear to ear. Oh you are so getting tatted

There is no way out of this. You’re Eren’s new canvas. Accept it. “I better look so badass, you can’t even imagine.” He smirked, setting the lid back on the box and putting it aside. “Now…” He reached for the birthday-paper-wrapped box, looking at Lathe suspiciously. He tore at the paper, opening the lid of the box, which had a note taped to it. ‘Levi- you are now 18. I’m not telling you how I know that. But happy birthday all the same! Take good care of Eren~’ What? Levi moved aside the tissue paper hiding the contents of the box, blushing furiously at it’s contents, putting the lid back on the box and glaring daggers at Lathe, who was trying very hard not to laugh. ...Really? Condoms and lube? REALLY? What kind of adult are you?? “Lathe…”

Lathe gave up and laughed, quickly taking a picture of his furious and embarrassed expression. That is the greatest reaction ever! “There a- problem, Levi? You look kinda mad.” Lathe grinned like a madman.

“What’s in the box, Levi?” Eren asked and moved to reach for the box and open it, getting his hand on the lid. What’s in here that Lathe gave Levi to make Levi give him a death glare?

Levi smacked Eren’s hand away lightly, holding the box out of his reach. He fixed Lathe with a death stare as he spoke, deadpan. “You don’t want to know.”
“Why can’t I look, Levi?” Eren whined and reached for the box again. “It can’t be that bad if Lathe’s laughing.” Eren got his hand on the lid again.

NOPENOPE “Eren, if Lathe is laughing, it’s possibly something awful that he orchestrated. And this is one of those times.” Levi scooted away from Eren, trying to keep it out of his reach. “Lathe, you are horrible.”

“But why?? I’m so confused!” Eren threw his hands up in exasperation. What the fuck did Lathe even get him??

When in doubt, encourage the mayhem! “I dunno Levi, if he really wants to know what I got you, why don’t you show him? He has a right to know.” It does involve him.

“Stop encouraging this!” WHY? Levi facepalmed. I’m so done with you.

Eren took this moment to grab the box and pull it into his lap. He slowly opened the lid, his face paled when he saw what was inside. Oh my god Lathe… That is fucking terrible… We’re not even having sex! Did you need to go ahead and do that?? Eren put his head down, his long locks hiding his eyes as he gave Levi the box back. Does he think we already did it? Does he really think I’m that loose?? Eren shifted to move away from Levi now… Completely embarrassed now. How can he do that?

Lathe sobered from his mirth when he saw Eren’s reaction. His expression shifted. “I’m sorry Eren. It was just supposed to embarrass Levi. I didn’t mean to upset you.” Dammit, Lathe. Learn to tone it down.

Eren swallowed and looked down at his wrists. He was trying desperately not to scratch. Blake picked up on it and took his hands into his mouth. He whined a little but waited for Eren to calm down. Lathe… I do not forgive you… Not yet… You’ll need to earn it… “Don’t do it again.” Eren failed to keep his voice steady as it began to quiver a bit. You better not fucking do it again, Lathe.

Goddammit. “I won’t. Swear it.” Lathe had a sheepish look on his face.

Levi handed him a small wrapped box. “Come on. The sooner we eat, I think we’ll all feel better.” You better like that.
Lathe took the small box from him, opening it and lifting out a small bronze gyroscope compass on a stand. He tilted it, watching it swivel. “...How…”

“All you’ve been doing for the past week and a half is paint scene after scene of metal and gears. I thought you’d like it.”

Lathe beamed. That’s really cool. “I do. It’s wonderful. I know exactly where it’s going on my desk.”

Eren moved and gave Lathe another small box. “Here, this is for you too.” Eren said and smiled softly, though he still couldn’t look Lathe directly in the eye.

Lathe took the box from him gingerly, taking off the lid, carefully removing a shining bronze watch, the numbering around the face in Roman Numerals. Oh my god. “Eren, this is beautiful!”

He turned it, the metal glinting in the light. “I love it! Thank you so much!”

Eren smiled softly and looked down at Blake, petting him to calm himself down. He looked back at Blake… “So who got him all the oddly shaped presents?” Eren asked. He had gotten Blake a huge rawhide bone, with a bow on it, but there were many more wrapped things. They look like bones… Hmm, I wonder how many he’s gonna get…

Lathe rubbed the back of his neck. “I got him a couple… but not as many as there are there.”

“I got him… I dunno… five? Ish?” Levi was kind of impressed with Blake’s pile. He got so much stuff. I’m kind of jealous.

“Alright well, we’ll give him this one first.” Eren picked up the largest one, which he had gotten him. He took the bow and ribbon off of it before he gave it to Blake who got up and struggled to put his jaws around the whole thing. It was huge. Heh. It barely fits, that’s actually kinda funny.

Levi smirked, watching Blake attempting to bite around the bone.

Lathe chuckled, taking a picture of Blake struggling with the huge bone. That’s really funny! He eyed the pile. I think we all know who really won this Christmas. ...Lucky. Lathe shifted to his feet, leaving his presents under the tree for the moment. “I’m going to go make breakfast, alright?” He ambled to the kitchen, getting out ingredients for quiche, deciding after a moment to make Levi tugged Eren into his lap, wrapping his arms around him and studying the Christmas tree with bright eyes, resting his chin on his shoulder. “You really went all-out. You did a great job on the tree especially.”

Eren smiled softly and snuggled into Levi’s chest. “Yeah, I guess I did.” Eren smiled and he reached for the box with the tickets in them. “So the concert…it’s on New Years?” He asked quietly and looked up to him. “January 1st?” He asked making sure he was reading the date on the ticket right.

“That’s right. I thought it would be neat to spend New Years out and about. We can make a day of it if you want.” It’d be fun!

“But we wouldn’t be able to take Blake with us.” He was curled into a small ball on his lap and looked up to his silvery eyes. What am I gonna do without Blake there with us?

“I’ll be there the whole time. I don’t think that because Blake isn’t there, we can’t go and have a good time. I won’t let anything happen to you. But if you don’t want to, say the word, or we can figure something else out. Maybe take Blake around until the concert and have Lathe come get him or something.” Whatever we decide, it’ll work out fine.

Eren nodded and curled up into his chest. “You’re getting a tiger on your back by the way.” Eren told him finally deciding what he was going to do first.

“Am I now?” Levi smirked playfully, kissing Eren’s temple. That’d be really cool. “You’re practically going to cover me in tattoos, aren’t you?”

“Is that even a question?” Eren snickered and reached up to kiss Levi’s neck, where he had bitten him this morning.

“You’re right. Why did I even ask?” Levi gave a small smile, holding onto Eren tighter as he kissed his neck.

“Hmm. You’re not getting anything after the stunt Lathe pulled…” He trialed off as he moved to bite at Levi’s neck again since Lathe couldn’t see them. “If he honestly thinks I’m that loose he is sorely mistaken.” Eren’s words were laced in venom as he muttered them; he bit Levi’s neck a little harder as he did so.

Levi stifled a groan, pulling his head back to bare more of his neck. He struggled to speak normally. “I do admit, that was… crossing the line, a bit.” Dammit, Lathe.

“So you need to be a good boy before your lips are allowed to touch mine.” Eren growled a bit as he moved to bite down on Levi’s collarbone.

Waitwaitwait “Am I… n-not allowed to… to kiss you?” Levi sounded surprised. Is that what he said? No no no no not happening “Nope. You’re not allowed to, you can thank Lathe for that.” Hmmm, I wonder how long he’ll be able to take it? He’s been kissing me non-stop basically for the past week and a half.

...God fucking dammit, Lathe. If I wasn’t occupied right now you’d be dead meat. “Y-you can’t… be serious…” Levi gasped, trying to control himself as Eren trailed little bites over his neck, his shoulders.

“Oh, I’m completely serious.” Eren’s tone told Levi that there was basically no room for discussion. “Nope, I’m not even gonna give you your birthday present anymore. I had it planned, too. Shame.” Eren bit hard enough to leave a good bruise forming on the top of Levi’s shoulder.

How did you know it was my… what? “W-what… did you h-have in… in mind?”

“How did you know it was my… what? “W-what… did you h-have in… in mind?”

“Hmmmm… let’s see, I made sure to pull the air mattress down to the workshop yesterday too… guess we don’t need it there anymore.” Eren bit down again, leaving another good mark. Hmm, I wonder what he thinks I had planned. I did take the air mattress downstairs for a reason, but I wonder if he knows that reason…. Or is his mind in the gutter? Well we’ll just have to see.

He doesn’t mean… does he? Or does he mean for art or something… I can’t just fucking sit here much longer. “E-Eren… p-please… let me…” Levi could barely talk coherently.

“Let you what?” Eren asked, pulling back from Levi’s shoulder and looked to him with a quirked eyebrow. His eyes basically telling Levi he had no room to argue in this so what the fuck do you want now? So his mind is in the gutter now?
Levi was breathing more heavily than normal. “Let me kiss you please.” I don’t want to be punished for Lathe’s dumbass antics. Please. “You shouldn’t do this to me because of what Lathe did.”

“Nope, you don’t get to kiss me. I’m going to go put my stuff up in my room.” Eren crawled out of Levi’s arms and then went to go take all his hoodies and such upstairs into his room, leaving Levi alone downstairs. I wonder if he’ll be bickering with Lathe when I get back?

Levi sat there for a moment, stunned. … what. Furious, Levi got to his feet and stormed to the kitchen, trying to keep himself from shouting. “Lathe.”

Lathe jumped, dropping the knife on the counter and spinning around, his arms raised in defense. “Don’t come closer- I know Judo. And I didn’t think it would get that sort of reaction out of Eren! He wasn’t even supposed to see what I had gotten you!” Lathe looked worried that Levi would explode at him.

“Well he was obviously going to want to know what you had given me! What else was I supposed to do? He would’ve been mad if I didn’t let him see.”

“You could’ve… I dunno, lied? Okay, not one of my better ideas.”

“Really? You really think so? It’s occurred to you that maybe it wasn’t the best gift to give after it makes Eren refuse to let me even kiss him?”

“What now?” Lathe dropped his arms, apologetic. “I’m really sorry, Levi. I’ll try and make it up to you. I’ve already got cinnamon rolls in the oven; I’m going to try and win him back over with food.”

“Apology only kind-of accepted. And how the fuck did you know it was my birthday, anyway? How did Eren know, too?”

“Armin knows literally everything about everyone. I just kinda asked him at one point if he knew when your birthdays were. I need to know these things.”
“How did Armin know that?”…wait. “Fucking Erwin told him.”

“How’s he on the football team, right?”

“Yeah. And don’t try changing the subject! …Actually, when’s Eren’s?”

“March 30th. Three months. His is real close to mine.”

“Really?”

“The Ides of March. I can never get tired of saying it.”

“…we literally just read the fucking play and I can’t even remember what the hell that means.”

“The middle of March, Levi. The fifteenth.”

“Oh, right… how the hell did we start talking about that? I’m supposed to be mad at you! If Eren doesn’t cut out the ‘no kissing’ thing quick, you’re dead meat.”

“I’m sorry!! I don’t know what to tell you… besides not listen to him and just do it anyway. He’d probably give up trying to stop you after ten seconds.”

“He’ll be castrated if he even attempts it.” Eren’s voice sounded as he came into the room to get a mug out and pour water in the kettle. “Wouldn’t want that to happen, now would we?” Eren’s tone still deathly serious.

Lathe spoke up first. “Eren, I admit, what I did wasn’t exactly a great idea. But do you really have to take it out on Levi? Just ban me from the basement! Steal my laptop! I’ll deal with it.”

“You’re already banned from the basement for the next week. Have you forgotten that already?” Eren asked. He did ask Lathe if he could have the basement a week and a half ago and Lathe of course had said yes. So he doesn’t remember doing that at all?
“I meant extend that. Like, a month. I don’t know! But I didn’t forget about it. I know I already have to keep away. You can still steal my laptop if you want!” This is reaching dangerous levels of ‘not cool.’

“Hmm, maybe I’ll consider it, but Levi’s still banned from kissing me, he’s also not getting his present either, and you are banned from the basement for the next two week.” Eren said and waited until the kettle was singing to fill his mug and start to steep his tea.

I feel like a fucking hostage negotiator. Shit. “Eren, I’ll give you the password for my laptop, and Steam remembers all my credit card information. I’ll stay out of the basement for as long as you want me to, but I think you should at least let Levi have his present.” Lathe gave his words a moment to sink in. “It also has Netflix on it.” Since when did Eren get put in charge?

“Hmmm…. Netflix… I’ll consider it, but everything stays the same for right now.” Eren said sitting down in his seat as he sipped at his strong tea. “That’s literally the only thing in that offer that entices me, Lathe. You should know I don’t play video games.” He murmured and sipped at his tea more. “Levi, there’s more water in there if you want a cup too.” Eren told him, knowing he would probably want some tea.

“It has more songs on it than 200 CDs could store.” Lathe turned back to chopping vegetables. “Pandora and Bandcamp, Synthesia… you can have the drawing tablet too, if you want to use Photoshop… just sayin’.”

Eren looked curiously at Lathe. “Hmm, this revelation entices me… Okay. Levi can have his birthday present if you are both good for the rest of the day. No fighting, either of you. Lathe you are banned from the basement and Levi you’re still banned from kissing me.” Eren told them and looked to Lathe. “I’m taking the computer downstairs then…” Eren’s voice was again firm, there was no more negotiating going to happen at all.

I’m going to do absolutely nothing to upset this careful balance. Good thing I have all those magazines stockpiled. “Go right ahead. The drawing tablet should be with it. I’ll write all the passwords down in a moment, after I get breakfast in the oven.” I get the notion I’m a prisoner in my own house.

But I still can’t kiss you… I’ll deal for now. This is an… odd situation we’re all in. I won’t mess with it.  Levi nodded, going to make himself tea. He glanced at Lathe, who just shrugged.
Eren smiled when he smelled the cinnamon. “hmmmm….Cinnamon Rolls.” He sighed in pleasure as he put his head down on the table. Ten points for Lathe towards forgiveness. Blake came up behind Levi and pawed at the back of his legs. He whined, wanting to go outside, chase the snow around.

Levi moved over to the sliding glass door, opening it and letting Blake rush past him outside. He closed the door and picked his mug of tea back up, sitting at the table as Lathe opened the oven and removed the cinnamon rolls, drizzling them in icing and putting one in front of them.

“One to start. There’s always more.” He grinned, returning to fuss over the quiche. He put it in the oven, setting a timer and turning to them. “I'm going to run upstairs and gather up all the cords on the desk, write down passwords and such. You're going to need a couple notes on the operating system; it’s nothing like Windows or whatever you're used to. Don't let the house burn down while I'm gone.” He smiled and left, going to do just that.

Eren nodded and he reached for his first large cinnamon roll. He loved the ones Lathe made. He took his first bite, his eyes rolling back from the explosion of flavor in his mouth. Lathe, I expect you to make them more often now.

Levi watched Lathe leave, turning to his cinnamon roll. He took a bite of it. It tastes even better than it smells! Where the hell did he get these?! Levi finished his quickly, bringing his plate over to the tray to get another. He turned to Eren. “Do you want another one?” Play nice.

Eren had set his cinnamon roll down on his plate half uneaten… Fuck, I forgot my pill, I’m gonna fucking throw up… don’t move, don’t fucking move. Eren’s other hand was resting on his stomach and his face was pale. SHIT… Levi get me my fucking pill… I want to eat the deliciousness and not have to see it in a few seconds. Read the fucking situation Levi.

*He’s about to freak out. Why…food. Nausea pill. Where.* Levi set his plate down, reaching for the bottle they kept on the counter. He opened it and handed Eren one of the pills. “There, that should help.”

Eren nodded slowly, taking it, sipping from his tea. “Thanks.” He was able to say a few words after a few moments. It took quite a few minutes to kick in before he picked his cinnamon roll up again. “Thank you, really.” He said quietly. I can fucking eat again.

“Of course. It'd be cruel not to let you enjoy cinnamon rolls.” Levi smiled, taking his place back at the table, sipping his tea. They really are good. I'm just glad you're not going to be sick.
Eren nodded and he ate the rest before getting up to grab another big one.

Lathe padded back into the kitchen, looking over to Blake outside running in circles and chuckling. He checked the quiche, deciding it was ready and bringing it onto the stovetop. He cut a piece for each of them, setting one and a fork at their places before sitting down himself with more coffee.

Eren looked at the quiche with curiosity. “Lathe… it looks great… what the hell is it?” He asked and looked over to the man sitting to his right.

“It’s called a quiche, a fancy word for breakfast-food pie. There’s a bunch of cheese in it, and ham, and onion, and fabulousness. I think you’ll like it.” He took a bite, the cheese still hot and melting.

Eren looked at it for a second before his fork stabbed into it. He lifted it to his mouth, eating the single piece before proceeding to scarf down the rest of this glorious breakfast pie. Eren then turned to his roll to eat that as well.

It's good I haven't made anything they don't like yet. They love whatever I give them! Lathe smiled and kept eating, turning to check if Blake wanted to come back in. He let him in again, white from the snow coming down heavily outside. It's a good thing I put this towel here for this exact reason. He quickly rubbed Blake dry, hanging the towel on the handle of the oven for the moment. He filled Blake’s metal bowls, reclaiming his place at the table.

Eren heard Blake’s tags clink against the metal bowl, smiling as he took his last bite of cinnamon roll. He took his plate to the sink and started to do the dishes again out of habit. Hmm… should I give Levi his present before or after I do his back? “Levi?” Eren asked quietly for his attention, without turning his head, mostly focused on the dishes he was doing and loading in the dishwasher.

“Yeah?” Levi looked up from his quiche, turning in his chair. “What’s up?”

“Do you want your present before or after I do your back?” he asked quietly. He was still doing the dishes, not paying much mind for anything else besides Levi’s voice.

Lathe nudged Levi’s arm. “You're not going to be able to move for a while after your back is done, giving the henna time to dry and crack off. It'll take an hour at least after he’s finished. I'd say before.”
Levi nodded, turning back to Eren. “Before.”

“Alright. Meet me downstairs when you’re ready then, and close the door behind you.” Eren then left with his mug of tea, grabbed the box of henna bottles and retreated downstairs. Blake stayed in the kitchen after he had eaten, still struggling to eat the rawhide bone.

Lathe stood after a moment, taking the rest of the dishes to the sink. He was quiet for a moment. “I really do want to make it up to you. Anything you need, tell me, alright?”

Levi slowly nodded. “Okay. At least you know how to bargain with him. Thanks for breakfast. It was great.” He handed Lathe his plate, walking to the scripting room. He looked to the boxes under the tree. ...The henna is gone, but so is the box with the condoms and stuff in it... Did Lathe move it or something? He quirked an eyebrow, but did not stop walking to the stairs, closing the door behind him and descending the steps.

Eren was in the middle of lighting a bunch of candles around the room, all the lights were off otherwise. Both missing boxes were on the table to the side, which still hadn’t been moved back in the past month. There was a large queen sized bed which had a bunch of pillows and blankets on it. Eren finally finished up with all the candles and he looked around to see Levi at the end of the stairs. He motioned him to come forward as he crawled onto the air mattress himself. He was wearing his sweatpants as well as a white tank top he had gotten today. The only thing white he actually owned. So he sat cross-legged in the middle of the bed, waiting for Levi to join him.

Levi was speechless, stunned at what Eren had put together. He swallowed hard, crossing the room and climbing onto the bed next to him, watching Eren with unsure eyes. ...What is all this...?

Eren moved and soon had Levi in the middle of the bed. He reached for the hem of his shirt and pulled the loose cloth over Levi’s head and threw it away, not caring in the least where it landed. Eren crawled onto Levi, straddling his waist, his ass cheeks on Levi’s crotch. He swallowed hard and ran his hands down Levi’s chest. Closing his eyes as he took in a deep breath. “You ready?” He asked quietly… but Eren didn’t look happy, he looked almost remorseful.

He looks as if this is the last thing he wants to do... “Eren… are you sure? You don't look too sure yourself.” Levi spoke softly, propped up on an elbow, brushing a lock of hair out of Eren’s eyes.

Eren looked down. “I… I’m scared. But I need to do this... I need to tell you.” Eren said and he moved his face into Levi’s hand as his face was shown again to Levi. I need to tell him, I want to tell him... I want to know he won’t leave me before we go any further with this.

Levi gave him a soft smile in reassurance. “What do you need to tell me?” You don't have to be afraid to talk to me.

Eren kept his head against Levi’s hand, not wanting to move it. “I’m not pure Levi… I’m a whore…” Eren let the first few tears drop quietly. He was putting all his trust in Levi not to leave after knowing how broken on the inside he was.

Levi’s face twisted in confusion, concern. His thumb brushed Eren’s cheek, wiping away his tears. “Eren, don’t cry, please. What in the world makes you say that?” How could you call yourself that?

“Levi... I’ve had sex with so many men, I lost count after 50... I even let my dad have sex with me... I’m a filthy incestuous whore...” Eren cried more, but tried to keep his voice as steady as possible, finding comfort in Levi’s hands. Well now he knows... that I’m a whore, a slut, a bitch, a prostitute, a toy for someone to play with... And now he’s gonna leave because I’m not anything like he thought I was. Eren reached out to his wrist and started to scratch at it, close to opening his small scabs up again, but he wasn’t there yet.

Levi brought up his other hand to catch Eren from scratching, his mind running in overdrive. His own father... That must have been part of what the basement was all about. Wasn't it. No no no, that wasn't any of his fault! “Eren, don't call yourself that.” Levi looked into Eren’s viridian eyes, hoping he understood. “None of what your father, or anyone, forced upon you is your fault. You don't have to be so hard on yourself for it. If you're worried about me being mad, I'm not. It doesn't change the fact that you're wonderful, and that I love you.” How did I ever find that hard to say? “Please, don't think of yourself as a whore, because you're not one.”

Eren sniffled and looked down to his hands in Levi’s hands. “So... you’re.... You’re not gonna leave me?” He asked quietly through tears. He was so afraid to be left alone after he had finally found someone to latch himself to. He had been brave enough to tell Levi what had happened, telling him was supposed to be his present, but Eren was tempted to allow him to go a little further if Levi would stay. Please say you'll stay... Please don't leave me.

Eren sighed in relief and just laid down on top of Levi and let himself get over his fit of sobs as he held onto Levi, wrapping his arms all the way around his chest. “Thank you, Levi...” He trialed off and nuzzled into his bare chest, loving the feeling of his warm chest on his cheeks. Don’t let me go Levi.

Levi instantly wrapped his arms solidly around him, one arm snaking up to tangle in his hair, slowly carding his fingers through his Brunette locks. He quietly mumbled to Eren. “Of course I'm going to stay Eren, I love you, I'm not going anywhere anytime soon. It’s all alright.”

Eren smiled and moved up a bit. “I’ll let you have a little brief from your ban.” Eren’s moves would’ve left Levi very little time to comprehend his words before he crashed his lips against Levi’s, his arms coming out from around Levi’s chest and wandering down his bare chest.

Levi kissed back fervently, one hand going down Eren’s side, the other cupping his cheek. He tilted his head to deepen the kiss, soon swiping his tongue across Eren’s lip in a request for entrance. Please.

Eren opened his mouth instantly, arching his back and grinding his hips down on Levi’s crotch a little bit. He was still a bit timid to do so, but he feverishly kissed Levi, meeting his passion. Dammit Levi... Kiss me, I've already had enough without you.

Levi groaned into his mouth, his hips coming up to meet Eren’s, tangling their tongues together instantly. He still tastes like cinnamon... I love it. He swiped his thumb over Eren’s jaw. I hope you don't reinstate the ban after this... Barely an hour with it in place, and I've already missed you more than anything.

Eren moaned into the kiss as Levi’s thumb ran over a sensitive part of his jaw. His hips grinding against Levi’s, moving in a slow circle. Eren’s hands getting closer to the hem of Levi’s pants. Remind me, never ban Levi from kissing me again.

Levi pulled back for an instant to take a deep breath before immediately diving back in, his lips moving forcefully against Eren’s. His fingers toyed with the hem of Eren’s tank top.

Eren moved his hands to help Levi take his tank top off, pulling away from the kiss only to take it off. “Hmm… Levi.” Eren moaned and looked sexy as all hell where he was, straddling Levi and grinding down a bit harder as his length started to get erect. Fuck Levi, touch me please. Maybe if you’re lucky I’ll be calm enough to actually do it with you.

Levi smirked, his hand going to run over the bulge in his sweatpants. “Yes, Eren?” His voice was low and smooth, his steel eyes hooded.
Fuck. Eren let out a loud moan as his hand grazed over his hardening length. “Fuck, Levi… more” Eren ground his ass into Levi’s crotch and his own crotch against Levi’s hand as he was palmed, his eyes full of need. Fuck, I never want to miss this… He’s not allowed to fucking leave me. Ever.

Levi leaned up to kiss at Eren’s neck, nibbling at the soft flesh as he palmed Eren’s length, one hand running along the waistband of his sweatpants. Too much fabric. Levi pulled at the fabric, moving them down from Eren’s hips, running his hand over his length through his boxers.

Eren gave out a string of moans. “Fuck, Levi… Ahhh… More… please…” He moaned out and tried to get as much friction from Levi’s hand as possible. He was still holding back on how much noise was making; He was still really shy, but allowed Levi to do more. It feels good. It feels really good.

Levi moved to switch their positions, suckling at the flesh of Eren’s neck, leaving small bites and kisses. He played with the hem of Eren’s boxers before pulling them down and helping Eren kick them off, taking his length in his hand and slowly pumping. Damn, his voice… Fuck.

Eren’s back arched off the bed as Levi took his length into his hands. “No… I’m… supposed… to please… you…” Eren tried to get out his words in between moans. He wasn’t wrong, either. It’s his birthday, I’m supposed to do this to him… not have him do it to me.

Levi pulled back from Eren’s neck, speaking lowly into his ear. “Eren, I want to make you feel good. Let me.” You deserve it.

Eren shuddered as Levi’s rich voice flooded his ears. He let out a louder moan as Levi squeezed his cock a little tighter. Fuck… Levi… So good. Eren moved a bit and wrapped his arms around Levi’s shoulders. His fingers digging into his shoulder blades. “But… Levi…” Eren knew that he should let him do something else today, not just get a blow job. “Not all the way… ahh… you can do… haaa… whatever you… agh… want besides… haaa… that…” Eren moaned out as he bucked up into Levi’s hand wrapped around him. Fuck, he can do whatever he wants… just not all the way yet.

Levi nibbled down Eren’s neck to his collarbone, intent on leaving many small marks. Mine. He twisted his hand as he pumped Eren’s length, his other hand moving to gently fondle Eren’s balls.

Eren let out a high pitched wail of pleasure. “Levi!” Eren gasped out feeling pleasure consume his whole body, his nipples beginning to perk under the bandages around his chest. His eyes were lidded. “I… I can’t… Much longer….” Eren moaned out to him, stringing along his name within the moans. He could feel his coil beginning to tighten very quickly.

...Not yet. Levi tightened his grip around the base of Eren’s length, slowing his ministrations and kissing his collarbone lightly, waiting for Eren’s shuddering to stop.

Eren whined when he wasn’t allowed to cum. “Leee~viiiii.” Eren whined, wanting release.

Levi leaned up to Eren’s ear, his voice soft. “Not yet… I want all of you Eren.” Levi moved in a blur of motion, flipping Eren over so he was resting naked under him. He drank in his lithe body under him, sitting back on his knees and reaching to gently trace his hands down Eren’s sides, noting where Eren moaned and writhed under him. Fucking perfect. Levi smirked as his hands finally came to rest on Eren’s bubbly asscheeks. Holy fuck. They’re so soft… and bubbly… no ass can match this one! HOLY FUCK! I want it… I want it bad. Levi noticed how his pants almost instantly got tighter as he saw Eren’s ass, his mind imagining just how good it would be to fuck him right then and there. No. I can’t do that until he says I can… He’s trusting me right now.
That’s enough of a birthday present. Levi slowly started to massage Eren’s perfect asscheeks, gentle and rhythmic.

Eren moaned out and moved to present his ass more to Levi, moaning more as Levi pulled his ass cheeks apart. I can almost feel him staring at my hole… damn, does it look that fucking good. Eren gave a small gasp as he felt something poke at his puckered hole.

Levi smirked as he let a finger trace the twitching pucker. Fuck, I want this… Eren seems to enjoy the touching too, fuck, look at his eyes. Levi watched as Eren turned his head to look back at him.
Hmm, I wonder if he’d let me…

“No.” Came Eren’s instant reply.

“But-”

“No. I told you we cannot go all the way, I am not ready for that yet. No fingering either.” Eren’s voice was firm but he didn’t move his ass away from Levi’s grip. He slowly turned his head back to rest it down on the bed, trying to focus on the pleasure.

Well, if I can’t finger him, I got something better. Levi moved a bit so that he could more easily access Eren’s ass before he bent down, his head going immediately to Eren’s puckered hole. His hands were stretching his cheeks as far apart as possible, his tongue darted out to lick at the hole. Fuck he even tastes good too, he tastes like the rest of his sweet skin... Fuck, I want more.

Eren gave out a high pitched sound as he felt Levi’s wet hot tongue against his asshole. “Fuck... Levi...” Eren moaned out even more as Levi continued to vigorously lick away at the hole, slowly trying to get his tongue further. Eren let out loud moan after loud moan, his whole body shivering from pure delight. His length dripping precum already, a line dripping down to the sheets below them. Fuck, Levi, I won't be able to do this any longer. “L-Levi.. I.. I can’t- hyahh!” Eren moaned out before letting a loud gasp out. His throwing his head back as his orgasm finally struck him and he shot rope after pearly rope down to the sheets below them.

Well, I found a new spot for Eren. That felt great, his ass clenched around my tongue almost instantly... Fuck, he’s gonna feel so good, when we get there. He held Eren up letting him get off his post orgasmic high, setting him to lay down by the pillows as he stripped the bed of the soiled sheets. Nope not getting dirty. Levi got off the bed and pull his own pants and briefs off, letting his own length spring free of its restraints before he climbed back onto the bed with Eren.

Eren smiled as he came in and went to curl up to him. “Can I help you out now?” He asked his voice seductive, playful as well. Fuck, that felt great. Shit, I didn't think getting rimmed would've felt so good.

Levi smirked, settling next to him, pecking at his lips, moving down his jawline to his ear. “Hmm, I guess you can.” Levi smirked softly and he watched Eren shift to move so that he was in between Levi’s legs. Fuck his ass looks perfect...

Eren went to Levi’s length, slowly running a finger from base to tip, watching the beads of precum seep from the slit on the head. Eren leaned his head down, licking the beads away from the slit, and rolling his tongue around Levi’s head, listening to him groan in bliss. He slowly but surely let his throat relax on Levi’s length, taking in his whole length at once.

Fuck, I forgot he can deepthroat me... Shit, I am not going to last long at all. Levi’s hand grabbed at Eren’s long hair, pulling on it roughly. Eren, fuck, I can’t take this! Levi felt the vibrations run up his whole body as Eren moaned from the tugging.

Eren began to bob his head up and down, letting Levi pull at his locks every now and then. It took only a few minutes of his movements until Levi was really starting to crumble underneath him. Only a few more seconds. Eren lifted his head up to the tip and increased the pressure tenfold.

“FUCK!” Levi shouted out as his orgasm hit. His body jolted, hunching over Eren’s head from the sitting position he was originally in. Levi let out more moans than he cared to. Fuck, I didn’t want him to hear me moan like that!

Eren smirked, his mouth coming off of his length with a seductive pop before he pushed Levi down and crawled up into his chest. “Can we sleep for a bit?” he asked quietly. Stretching his whole body before snuggling up to Levi, he shivered a bit, but didn’t make a move to collect his clothing from the floor.

Levi smirked, pressing a kiss to his temple. You’re shivering… And I ditched the sheets, so… “Let me up for a moment, get your clothes. You’re shivering.” Levi, albeit reluctantly, slipped out from under Eren, picked up Eren’s clothes from where he discarded them and handed them to him, finding his own and putting them on. He climbed back onto the bed, pulling Eren into him, running a hand through his hair, murmuring. “Better?”

Eren nodded curling up to him to sleep, getting warmer wearing of his previously discarded hoodie. “I wanna sleep for a few hours, then I’ll do your back after we wake up, okay?” Eren asked as he gave out a loud yawn and climbed onto Levi’s chest again, wanting to be in his arms and warm.

-----------------------------------------------------------------

Levi opened his eyes to solid knocking on the door at the top of the stairs, Lathe calling down through the wood to them.

“I’m not allowed to come downstairs, but I made lunch and am obligated to tell you to wake up and get the hell up here to eat, dammit!”

Eren shifted on top of Levi, groaning as he did so. “So loud…” Eren whined and buried his head further into Levi’s chest, not willing to get up quite yet.

Levi called out in Lathe’s general direction, “Give us a few minutes, and we’ll be up!”

Eren whined more. “Too loud…” He moved and rolled off of Levi, surrounding himself in the mound of pillows a few feet from Levi. He closed his eyes to go back to sleep. They’re so fucking loud… My head hurts… I don’t wanna move…. Fuck it I’m going back to bed.
Levi stretched his arms over his head, smirking at Eren’s adorable bedhead. He’s too fucking cute. Levi moved to catch Eren around his waist, pulling him closer to him. He spoke quietly. “Sorry for yelling… but you can’t fall back asleep. It’s the middle of the day and I want food.”

Eren swatted lazily at Levi’s arms. “Murr… Go then… I’m tired and my head fucking hurts.” Eren proceeded to grab a pillow and pull it to his chest to curl around.

Levi let his arm drift to Eren’s waist, pressing a kiss to his temple. “Do you want me to get you some aspirin or something then? It would be nice if you did come upstairs to eat with us.” You require sustenance; admit it.

Eren gave a soft whine. “I’m staying here… I want another blanket though, it’s cold down here…” Eren clutched the pillow more, turning away from Levi’s arms a little bit. I wanna sleep, I can eat later….

Levi pressed another kiss to his temple, shifting to get up from the bed. Fiiiiiiine. “I’ll go get you blankets, then. But you really should come up and eat.” Levi padded over to their stairs, careful to pick his way up in the darkness. He left the door slightly ajar, going up to Lathe’s study where the nest of blankets and pillows remained from more than a week ago. Draped in the blankets and carrying a multitude of pillows, Where Eren got all these I do not know… he stepped down the stairs, careful not to trip over anything dragging on the ground. He returned to Eren, dumping the pillows on the bed and tugging the blankets in a semi-neat fashion over him. “I really think you should come upstairs…”

Eren grumbled something from under the covers, moving around to get comfortable before closing his eyes and going back to sleep. I want to sleep. Leave me be… sleep is not my best friend at the moment… I want to make it happen though… Fuck… my head hurts…. Murr.

Levi sighed, leaving him to sleep. The Brat’s more stubborn than I am! He went upstairs and snagged the aspirin bottle from Lathe’s bag, ignoring lunch and Lathe’s inquiring look as he got a glass from the cupboard and filled it with water, returning to Eren and gently nudging his shoulder. “I have aspirin for you if you want it…”

Eren slowly moved out from under his hoard of blankets. He took the aspirin and chugged down the glass of water. “Thank you.” He mumbled before retreating underneath his mound of blankets. Go away, I wanna sleep.
Levi ran a hand through his hair before returning upstairs, taking a seat at the table and finally looking up to Lathe’s odd stare. “...What?”

Lathe smirked, setting down a plate of grilled cheese in front of him. “Eren doin’ alright?” He nodded his head to the aspirin bottle still in his grasp.

Levi quirked an eyebrow, placing the bottle on the table in front of him. “...Yeah, he just had a headache.”

“...Really?” Lathe looked unimpressed, setting a mug of strong tea in front of him as well. “Alright.” He picked up the bottle, moving to put it back where it belonged. That really all?

...What are you insinuating. “Lathe, don't. You don't exactly know what’s between Eren and I.” His voice was cold as he talked over his shoulder.

I probably should lay off a bit. Lathe winced. “Sorry. I'll lay off for a while.” Lathe moved back to the table and sat down next to Levi, quietly starting to eat his grilled cheese. Dammit.

Levi sighed. Just... “Just don’t joke about that, please.” That’s territory you're not allowed into. Also you're kind of like our dad and that just makes it weird.

“...Okay.” Lathe was silent for the rest of lunch, getting up to do the dishes and taking Levi’s plate and mug without comment.

Levi stood, about to turn back to the scripting room, but he stopped and walked next to Lathe at the sink, silently drying the dishes and putting them away. An understanding passed between the two of them as Levi took a grilled cheese on a plate and a mug of tea, balancing the bottle of nausea pills next to the sandwich and leaving to rejoin Eren downstairs. He descended the stairs, closing the door quietly and turning on the lights of the stairwell and the front quarter of the room. He set the food on the table, moving to Eren’s sleeping form and gently shaking him awake, speaking softly. “Wake up, Brat. Food.” You need to eat!

Eren groaned. Slowly coming out from his nest of blankets. “Do I have to?” He asked quietly, looking at Levi with almost a death glare. I want to sleep... Why’d you fucking wake me up?

“Yes,” Levi leaned down and gave him a peck on the lips. “-you do. Lunch today is very good, so please try and eat.” He retrieved the nausea pills, handing him one and his mug of tea as he sat up. Come on, we need to make you eat!

Eren took the pills and took a sip of his tea, sighing as he felt the warm liquid run down his throat. “Why… I’m not really that hungry…” Eren was still giving Levi his own death glare, though it started to soften as he saw the grilled cheese sandwich. Ten more points to Lathe and his apology.

“Our might not know how hungry you are, and because you should.” Levi placed the plate in Eren’s lap. “Just try, and if you find you really can't I'll take it back and stop bugging you about it.” Please at least try.

“Fine.” Eren reached for the food after a few minutes of intense staring. My head hurts too fucking much to stare at him for too long. Fuck. Eren picked up the grilled cheese from the plate, taking a bite before taking a few more.

Levi internally sighed in relief as their staring contest of sorts ended. Thank God he looked away, I wouldn't be able to hold it for much longer. ...He has a headache, though… Shit, he could probably hold it for much longer. Levi watched Eren nibble at the sandwich. Good. He's eating.

Eren ate the rest of the sandwich and downed the tea before he set it down and slithered back into his cocoon of blankets. I'm going back to fucking sleep.

Levi swiftly placed the dishes on the table before crawling back onto the bed and under the blankets, turning Eren onto his back and straddling him, brushing a lock of hair out of his face. “You don't think I'm just going to let you go back to sleep, do you?” Of course not.

Eren curled closer in on himself. “Go away, I have a headache. I wanna sleep.” Eren growled at him and tried to grab at the covers.

Levi leaned down and gently nipped at the bruises littering his neck. “Well, while we're waiting for the aspirin to kick in…”

Eren let out a loud moan, his face flushing in complete embarrassment. What the fuck is he doing? Is he trying to get me hard? Eren moved and swatted at Levi, pushing him away. “No, Levi, don't do that.” Eren whined and moved away from his grasp.
Levi shifted and followed Eren’s motions, suckling harder at his neck. You’re not getting away that easily. He ran his hand down Eren’s chest, tracing over his sides.

Eren moaned out again. “Levi! No, I have a headache!” Eren let out a huge moan as Levi sucked on a very sensitive spot along his neck. “Levi, stop…. I’ll get horny again!” Eren whined as he squirmed under Levi’s hold as his sides were touched.

“That’s the plan, Brat.” Levi kept Eren in place as he kissed and licked at Eren’s adam’s apple, one hand drifting south and ghosting over the front of Eren’s sweatpants.

Eren moaned out more. Fuck, if Levi does this again… I don’t know how long I’ll last. Eren struggled to move away from Levi, but found it next to useless as he felt Levi’s hand already starting to tease him through his sweatpants. Eren’s breath hitched immediately, his back beginning to arch up off the air mattress.

Levi brought his head up to meet Eren in a heated kiss, tongue prodding at Eren’s lips for entrance, his hand palming Eren’s length with more pressure. My God, your voice… you sound so damn sexy…

Eren let out another loud moan only to have his mouth sealed off by Levi’s lips. Levi… Fuck… Eren ground his hips up into Levi’s hand, wanting more of the friction as his length slowly got harder.

Levi moaned into Eren’s mouth, his hand moving against Eren’s clothed length before drifting to the hem of his sweatpants and pulling them down over his hips, palming Eren through his boxers. Levi pushed his tongue past Eren’s lips, tangling with his. Just let me.

Eren soon gave into Levi’s touches, his head pounding from both pleasure and the damned headache. Eren’s hips moved more vigorously as he was palmed through his boxers to full erection. Fuck.

Levi’s tongue danced with Eren’s, his hand for a moment playing with the hem of Eren’s boxers before pulling them over his hips and helping Eren kick them off. He gently took his length in hand, stroking him slowly.

Fuck… Levi, you bastard, rub me harder. Eren bucked his hips up, groaning as Levi’s hand slid down to the base and then back to the tip. Eren’s hands gripped the blankets under him, his knuckles white. Fuck, don’t tease me. “Please Levi… Faster, don’t tease me…” Eren begged, letting his seductive voice take over of his vocal cords.

Fuck, that voice. Levi obliged him and sped up his strokes, gripping him more firmly and twisting his hand.

Eren moaned out more, throwing his head back in bliss as Levi did as he asked. His moans were incredibly loud; he wasn’t trying to suppress his voice anymore. “L-Levi!” Eren gasped out feeling that sensation start to coil in his stomach. He growled and continued to buck his hips up in time with Levi’s motions, trying to get as satisfied as possible.

Levi gasped for air, going to attack Eren’s neck, sucking and biting hard as he pumped Eren’s length quickly. He groaned, his own length throbbing as he heard Eren moan loudly.

Eren reached down for Levi’s hand, getting him to stop. “Hold on, together… Please…” Eren begged him and a hand moved to pull Levi’s sweatpants down. I wanna feel you too. Eren pulled Levi’s sweatpants and boxers down in one pull, reaching out to grab Levi’s length and move him closer.

Levi stopped, moaning as Eren took his length into his hand. Fuck. Levi lowered his hips, letting their lengths brush against each other. “E-Eren…” Levi gasped, leaning to kiss him hungrily.

Eren kissed him roughly, biting at Levi’s lips teasingly. He soon had his own length in his hand, rubbing both his and Levi’s together. “Fuck!” Eren cried out as he felt both the warmth of Levi’s length against his own and the pressure of their hands running over them. “Levi… Levi… More… I want more” he moaned out and his whole body began to quiver under Levi.

Levi shuddered, feeling his own coil tightening, ready to snap. I can’t hold on for much longer… Levi leaned up to Eren’s ear, willing his voice to be smooth and low. “Eren… cum for me.”

Eren’s eyes widened as he cried out loudly in bliss. He almost clamped down on their two lengths with a vice like grip, only to stop himself when he felt the coil snap, his pearly cum shooting out, messing the sweatshirt that he wore. He was in complete bliss in his after-orgasm high, slowly jerking the both of them trying to get as much cum as possible out. His eyes hooded as his head rolled to the side, staring into Levi’s silvery orbs with his own green eyes, darkened with lust.

Levi groaned as his own cum decorate Eren’s chest, his steel eyes shaded as he leaned down to kiss him, the fire in his chest burned down to a glow. Fuck, that felt amazing… He shifted, pulling back to help Eren remove the soiled sweatshirt, dropping it on the floor to be washed later. He laid down next to Eren, straightening himself out and content to lazily kiss Eren, pulling them flush together.

Eren kissed him lazily back… It took a few minutes for him to get out of his daze. “Did we just cum on my new hoodie?” He asked, moving to reach for his boxers and sweatpants. He didn’t seem too pissed off about it right now. “And twice? In one day Levi? Twice in only a few hours… Fuck my head is pounding.” Eren sat up and put his head in his hands, rubbing his head. Fuck the pills better kick in soon. I feel kinda dizzy… I need water. “Levi… Get me some water… please, my head hurts.”

Levi’s brows furrowed in concern, pecking Eren on the forehead and immediately slipping from the bed to take their dishes upstairs. “Alright. I’ll be back with water in a minute.” He quickly walked upstairs to the kitchen, the smell of Lathe’s cooking hitting him as soon as he stepped into the scripting room. Damn, it smells good up here… He walked to the kitchen, seeing Lathe fussing over three pans and a cutting board all at once, in full-on chef mode. He put his dishes in the left side of the sink, grabbing and filling a water glass and studying the stove. “You've got a lot going on, and it all smells great.”

Lathe beamed, chopping onions. “Thanks! There’s going to be a feast tonight, given it’s Christmas. I'm planning on having plenty of leftovers, which is always a good thing.” He scraped the contents of the board into a pan, going for the carrots. “Feel free to snitch anything. I don't mind if you want to steal a cookie or two.”

“Nah, thanks. I'll let you have the kitchen to yourself.” You seem really into it, I don't want to get in the way. Levi smirked, turning and going back downstairs, taking the bottle of aspirin with him. Just in case what Eren took wasn’t enough. He closed the door behind him, walking down to Eren and handing him the full glass. “Here you go, Brat.” Hope this helps.

Eren made a soft noise of acknowledgement before reaching for the glass. He took slow sips before he was chugging the whole thing. Shit my throat is dry… “Can you carry me upstairs? I don’t think I’d be able to fucking stand, I want to drink a fucking gallon of water too. Upstairs. “Of course.” Levi pocketed the bottle of aspirin, reaching under the blankets and curving his arms under his legs and back, lifting him in one smooth movement from the bed. He traipsed over to and up the stairs, careful of his head. He opened the door and nudged it wide with his foot, following the scent to the living room and setting Eren down on the couch, arranging a pillow under his head. He didn’t drag anything up with him, and he was freezing earlier… “Do you want me to grab you a blanket from downstairs?” He held out his hand for the water glass.
“Yeah, please. Levi… Um… I’m sorry… About earlier… your present… I didn’t explain it properly…” Eren said and looked down at his fingers, twiddling with him. I can explain it later… If you want me too, so you can understand it… But I can’t keep my fucking head up right now. Eren gave him the empty glass and hoped he would fill it and come back with a full one.

Levi’s expression changed to one of worry, going to fill his glass again before he asked anything, avoiding an in-the-zone Lathe as he did so. He handed him the glass full of cold water before asking, “What did you need to explain about it?” I don't understand… What do you have to explain?

Eren drank the full glass in a few seconds… “What it meant was that I’m giving you complete trust… So I told you about my past… That was your birthday present… My complete trust in you… Even though I was so worried you would leave me.” He told him and held out his glass out to be filled again. I hope you understand… Please do.

Levi looked at the glass in Eren’s hand for a moment, reaching out to take it and twining their fingers together with the other, bending down to kiss him passionately, though soon pulling away. “I’m really glad that you trusted me to know all that. You don't have to worry about me leaving anytime soon.” He winked, smirking as he went to refill his glass again. He was back in a second, handing him back the glass. “I’ll go grab you a blanket.” Levi left for the basement, sifting through the many blankets on the bed before picking out a thick red and gold quilt, folding it so it wouldn't drag on the ground and returning to drape it over Eren, sliding under it next to him.

Eren smiled as Levi came to lay down with him, curling up to his side. He had already downed the water, and was intent on keeping himself flush against Levi’s sculpted chest. “Thank you, Levi.” Eren said and smiled happily. “I’m really happy.” Eren’s eyes closed again, his aspirin kicking in a little, as he closed his eyes to sleep.

Levi pried the glass from his hand, placing it and the aspirin bottle on the floor next to him. He brought his arm around Eren, leaning his cheek on the top of his head, looking over and noticing Blake asleep under the piano. That’s adorable. He closed his eyes, rubbing invisible patterns on Eren’s arm. But not as adorable as Eren.

Eren was dead to the world until Lathe announced that dinner was about ready, and to start waking up. He groaned, his head still pounding as he woke up in Levi’s arms. Fuck… my head fucking hurts… My back is starting to hurt too… The fucking morphine’s wearing out… Shit. Lathe, I need another pill.

Levi noted his discomfort, rubbing the sleep from his eyes. “Eren, do you need more aspirin?
“Morphine… ran out.” He whimpered, even though his back was healing, if he didn’t have morphine, he could still feel all the stitches and the large burn on his lower back. Hurts like a fucking bitch!

“Got it.” Levi slid out from under the blanket, bending down to grab the aspirin and glass, switching the pills for the magenta bottle. He filled the glass with cold water, handing it back to Eren along with one morphine pill, as well as a nausea pill. “Here. This should make you feel better.”

Eren thanked him, taking the pills and downing the glass. He sat up, feeling his head spin a little less than it had before. Eren moved to shift his leg over the side of the couch, getting up to slowly pad to the bathroom to relieve himself from the numerous glasses of water.

Levi sauntered into the kitchen and sat down at the table, looking back at the counter lined with a multitude of dishes of food. Leftovers for days.

Lathe looked over his shoulder at him, smiling. “We’re going about this buffet-style, Levi. You can grab a plate at the end unless you want to wait for Eren.”

“I’ll wait. He’ll only be a minute. He’s been drinking water like crazy today, so…” That is kinda weird.

Lathe’s expression shifted. “That explains the million times you’ve come to get water from the tap. Is he doin’ alright?” That’s not exactly a good thing to hear, considering he isn’t out running a marathon…

“He had a pretty bad headache all this afternoon, still does.”

Lathe’s brow furrowed. That doesn't sound too great. “I’ll check up on that when he gets back. Speak of the devil…” Lathe set down the pan in his hands on a potholder, pulling off his oven mitts. He walked over to Eren, around the table. “How you feeling, Eren? I'm hearing not too great.”

Eren shook his head immediately regretting it and putting it down on the table to stop the dizziness swirled in his head. “No…. My throat’s dry… and my head fucking hurts.” He whined and he reached up to rub his temples. “I’m hungry… and thirsty.” He mumbled, making things even odder, he never admitted to being hungry.

Lathe’s eyes widened in surprise. “From a medical standpoint, this is the first case in which I’m concerned someone’s hungry.” He felt his forehead. “You’re just a bit warm, if anything. I’d say you’re just dehydrated. We’ll make sure you eat and drink plenty, and you should be fine in no time. Sound alright?” Lathe smiled. “It’s serve-yourself for dinner. I’ve got a whole feast laid out for us. Take as much as you like. I’ll get you some tea, if you like. There’s hot cocoa too, if you feel like something sweet for a change.”

Eren shook his head slowly. “Tea, please.” He said before getting up and loading his plate, at least doubling what he was normally served… and he never finished what he was normally served. I’m cold. “Levi, can you get the blanket from the couch?” He asked quietly as he took his plate to sit down in his normal spot.

Levi set down his plate, not believing the amount of food Eren had taken. There’s got to be something wrong. “Uh, sure.” Levi swiftly walked to the couch, picking up the quilt and helping to drape it around Eren before reclaiming his spot.

Lathe set down Eren’s tea, his eyes widening at the sight of all the food Eren took. That’s more than I took- and I’m starving! “I guess we should be glad you’re eating!” Lathe joked, setting down and sipping at his cocoa before starting on his plate.

Eren wrapped up in his blanket finally started to eat. What was incredible was that he had finished the whole plate, and actually went up for seconds to get another decent sized plate. Eren’s skin looked a bit pale, but other than that he seemed fine. Eren finished his glass of tea, getting up to get more, leaving his food at the table for the others to stare at. My head still fucking hurts. And I’m fucking cold to top it off.

Lathe studied Eren’s plate, thinking hard. What the hell? He normally has the appetite of a fucking ant. ...If something were really wrong, he’d still be out of sorts tomorrow. We’ll wait and see. He returned to eating his mashed potatoes.

Levi was thinking along those same lines. He eyed his boyfriend- he would never get tired of thinking that, his boyfriend- with a mix of worry and curiosity. It’ll probably blow over, whatever’s gotten to him.

Eren sat back down and finished up his second plate and his tea before he got up to start the dishes.
like he normally did. Fuck… I feel dizzy again. Eren gripped onto the small ledge to keep himself standing up. Shit… Dizziness, kindly go fuck off.

Lathe was on his feet in a second, his hand on Eren’s arm to steady him. “You okay? You need me to walk you to the couch?” Dizziness getting up. Dehydration. Sudden increase of appetite. Add blurry vision and you’d get… Is it that?

Eren turned his head, feeling his head ripping with a new pain. Fuck… I can’t see anything. What the fuck? Eren felt so disoriented as he fell forward a little bit, everything in front of him a blurred grey. “Y-Yeah.” Eren’s voice sounded both pained and confused, like he didn’t know where Lathe was anymore. Fuck… go away… my head fucking hurts.

Lathe caught Eren as he lurched, half-dragging him to the couch, speaking so Eren could tell where he was. “I’ve got you Eren, I’m getting you to the couch, you're going to be just fine. I know what’s wrong now.” He carefully set Eren on the couch, letting him lie down, exposing his right arm from his quilt cocoon. “I never put that other saline IV in nearly a month ago; It slipped my mind completely. You didn’t show too many negative signs of all that blood loss, until now. You haven’t been eating too much, the low blood pressure and not enough salts- yeah, it all lines up. I’m going to put that IV in now, alright? I’ll find a stand for it upstairs and we can get that going; you’ll feel much better after it.” Lathe went up the stairs to retrieve a metal stand, hooking an IV from his bag onto it and inserting it into Eren’s arm, taking it down. “It’ll be less than an hour, but I’ll probably get you a second one. I'll go find one.” He left, disappearing upstairs.

Levi watched this unfold with worried eyes, setting his silverware across his finished late before coming to kneel next to Eren. He brushed his bangs from his eyes. It’s worse than I thought, huh. But you’ll be okay soon. Levi didn't know what to say, instead just pressing a kiss to Eren’s cheek. Feel better.

Eren moved to take his hand. “Can you stay?” He asked quietly, his vision had finally returned back to normal. His head still felt like it was splitting. “Please?” And just talk to me… about anything, please, I don’t want to be reminded about what’s in my fucking arm.

Levi gave him a small smile, standing and slipping next to him, careful of the IV. He slung his arm across Eren’s shoulders, chattering about things happening in his classes and on the football team, noticing Eren’s uncomfortable looks to his arm. Be distracting. That’s easy enough. Neither of them noticed when Lathe walked past and changed the bag hanging from the thin stand.

Lathe started on the many many pots, pans, and dishes that had piled up, stashing the many leftover plates in the fridge. I'm not going to have to cook for awhile- sweet! He looked down when he felt Blake nudge his leg, smiling and setting food and water in his bowls. He’s finally woken up. He’s got the life.
Eren smiled and chuckled every now and then. His color was starting to return, and his headache starting to subside a little bit. “Levi, you’re so cold to everyone else except me, it sounds like.” He murmured and smiled curling up to him as best as he could. He was shivering against him, he needed another blanket, but he didn’t want Levi to leave him alone on the couch. Don’t leave me, I don’t care if I’m cold.

You’re still shivering... “Do you want me to get you another blanket? You're still cold, I can tell.” Levi tensed to get up.

“I'll get one for the two of you.” Lathe approached them, a dish towel over his shoulder. “Eren, let me take that IV out, okay?” He took his arm gingerly and removed the needle, leaving the tape and gauze in place. He disposed of the empty bag and tubing. He disappeared upstairs and returned with another quilt, twin to the one already thrown over them. He spread it over them, returning to the dishes. Let them be as they are.

Eren curled up into Levi’s arms. “I wanna sleep downstairs tonight.” He told Levi before he closed his eyes against the man’s chest. Eren slept peacefully as his headache faded to oblivion.

Levi kissed the top of his head, letting his eyes close, already heavy with sleep. “Of course. ‘Night Eren.”’ He mumbled, fading into unconsciousness, content.
Chapter 19: Nate Ruess

Eren’s health had improved after a few good nights of rest, plenty of food and drinks as well as some much needed movement. With his dizziness and headaches gone, Eren dragged Levi to his ‘nest’ downstairs, opening the box of henna bottles. He took over 5 hours to complete Levi’s intricate back and he was very proud of his work. Even the shading looking excellent! It took Eren a few more days to convince Levi to get his arms done, finally resorting to a staring competition, which Levi had no hopes in winning now that Eren’s headache was gone. His arms took another 5 hours, each containing intricate detail. Eren had practically moved into the larger basement, sleeping on the larger air mattress with Levi almost every night now. He was fiddling with Lathe’s odd computer whenever he wasn’t either playing the piano or painting. Eren still hadn’t completely understood how the damn thing worked even with the notes Lathe gave him, so he found himself more occupied with painting and playing piano than singing, though as the week wore on Eren was becoming obsessed with learning every song he could from Nate Ruess. Eren had been singing his songs non stop- that was, until Levi had practically gone mad from Eren singing all day; and apparently his voice was a good way to get Levi horny. Eren, being the tease he is, didn’t allow for a single touch other than a kiss that day. Lathe had spent a great deal of time with Eren at the kitchen table, attempting to teach him the ins and outs of cursive handwriting. The lessons had been going well, but Lathe had decided Eren was not prepared for his calligraphy pen yet, so they were practicing with normal pens. Eren and Levi stayed inside the warm house for the most part, which left Lathe to go outside and play with Blake to get his pent-up energy out. The crazy dog would run laps around the large yard, waiting for Lathe to finish building a snowman before running at it full speed and knocking it over completely, effectively turning Blake white while he was still outside. Lathe seemed to enjoy his time outside with the dog a lot, seeing as he was constantly singing songs from Frozen, which was also driving Levi up the wall. Eren watched most of the time recording the whole scene on his phone, smiling as he sent it to Armin. The two of them had become regular texting buddies over the course of the past week, and if he wasn’t laughing because of something Levi said, it was definitely about something Armin had texted him about. It was nice seeing that Eren was actually happy now, his real personality coming out. Eren had become stubborn, both Levi and Lathe agreed, yet they could do nothing to stop Eren from challenging them to staring competitions they couldn’t dream of winning. It was their fault for agreeing to something they had no hope of winning. The time flew by on their winter break, the week passing by quickly, along with their New Year’s celebration. Eren had become a happy camper about the idea that they would stay up to watch the ball drop on livestream only when Lathe told him he would make fresh cinnamon rolls the next morning.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

So there they were, sitting down eating cinnamon rolls at noon on a friday afternoon. Eren had already eaten 4 cinnamon rolls and was getting up to get another. They are too fucking good to give up. I feel like I’ve gained ten pounds in the last week from Lathe’s cooking. Well, ten pounds would probably do me some good. I wonder if I have been gaining weight. I wonder if Levi can tell? I’ll have to ask him.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at Eren, smiling as he sipped at a mug of hot chocolate, his features still with a reddish tint from so much time spent outside. He’s still eating like a starved wolf. Getting some meat on his bones will surely do him good, given how thin he was at first. I need to get him on a scale soon, see how he’s doing weight-wise.

Levi was thinking similarly, his eyes tracing Eren’s outline. I don’t have a clue as to how he could flip the switch from ‘never hungry’ to ‘constantly dying of starvation’ in a day. Well, he’s filling out nicely. Levi smirked, biting into his second cinnamon roll. Very nicely.

Eren sat back down at his seat, digging into his beloved roll before he spoke up. “So, where is the concert again? And what do I have to wear?” He asked quietly and he took another bite from his cinnamon roll.

“It’s at the Town Ballroom, in the city. You’d probably want to wear jeans and a hoodie over a long-sleeve shirt if that’ll keep you warm enough. Two if you think you'll need it, I dunno. I'm not sure what footwear you have that will work…”

Lathe spoke up, putting his mug down. “Eren, I know you don't have a winter coat or boots or anything like that of your own right now, so until we get you some, you can borrow some of my stuff. You'll fit anything in my closet, really. My metal-toe boots have good treads for the snow and ice, and I have a couple jackets you could pick from.”

Eren looked up to him with wide-open eyes. I get to wear those awesome boots? I REALLY GET TO WEAR THEM?? YES!!! Eren’s eyes shone with even more excitement than before. “Thanks, Dad.” Eren didn’t even realize he let the word slip.

Lathe froze, his eyes wide, looking intensely at Eren, before a smile overcame his face. Did he really… He rested his chin in his palm, his head dropping down to look at the table, trying not to cry. He did. He tried to keep his voice even. “Of course.”

Eren smiled. He finished off his fifth cinnamon roll before taking his dishes up to the sink, starting to wash them. “Levi, help me take a shower after you’re done eating.” Eren’s voice was stubborn, meaning no room for argument. Eren also didn’t care Lathe was there; Lathe knew they’d showered together before, so he didn’t really care anymore.

Levi smirked, finishing his tea. Is that an order? “Alright.” He stood, bringing his dishes to the sink as well, drying the plates Eren handed him and putting them away.
Eren and Levi finished up the dishes pretty quickly, Eren heading off upstairs first, towards his room. I should pull out what I want to wear… Hmmm… Long sleeves, I’ve only got black so I guess i’m wearing that, my dark green hoodie, the jeans that Levi likes… He says they “make a perfect ass look more perfect”… Which I don’t care about, but I guess if they make my ass look nice for him… So that’s good I guess, right?

Levi walked into Eren’s room shortly after, eyeing Eren’s choice of jeans with a smirk. Nice choice. Levi sifted through the selection he added to Eren’s closet, pulling out a Nate Ruess wife beater, a dark jacket, and dark jeans. Going with the black, aren’t we? At least we’ll sorta match.

Eren picked up some towels before scampering off to go get in the bathroom. He turned the water on and stepped back to strip a bit, waiting for Levi to help with his wraps. I wonder how it looks under the wraps now.

Levi was in the bathroom a moment later, stripping off his shirt and jeans, kicking off his socks and stepping out of his boxers. He turned Eren around and slid the hooks out of his bandages, letting them unravel onto the floor. His eyes swept over Eren’s back, the cuts across Eren’s back almost totally healed, the burn in the small of his back looking much better than at first. The long gash down Eren’s back, held together still with a neat row of stitches was healing well. Those can come out really soon. After our shower, Lathe should have a look and see when they can come out.

Eren stripped the rest of the way down. He waited for Levi to step in first, and reached to give him the cloth so that he could wash his back. He waited patiently and quietly, happy that he was going out on an actual date with Levi for the first time today. I wonder if we’ll go out to eat…. Hmmm...

Levi stepped into the warm stream of water, adjusting the nozzle above his head so it was a gentler spray, like a mist. Maybe he can actually get under the water now. He reached for the cloth, taking Eren’s hand gently. “I think you can get under the water and not have it hurt. I also don't want you to be freezing again. Give it a try?” I don't want you to scare me with being so cold- your lips were fucking blue! Not good.

Eren thought about it for a few moments before he shook his head, thinking back to the time when he had tried to shower alone. Eren shook his head more and backed away out of fear, moving his hand from Levi’s hold and backing away until his back reached the cold tile wall behind him and he jumped out of surprise. No… I don’t want that to fucking happen again… No, absolutely not. Eren was too afraid to step under the direct stream of water still, and probably would be for awhile.

Levi sighed, smiling. Soon enough he won't be freezing to death every time he wants to take a shower. He held out his hand for Eren’s again. “Alright, then at least come over here so I can wash your back.”
Eren slowly got closer to Levi, slowly turning to him and allowed for his back to be washed. He was still pretty on edge. Don’t you dare take the head off and put it on my back. I swear you will be kicked in the balls, and Lathe will take me to the concert if you do!

Levi washed his back, still being very careful of the scars and especially of the huge gash running up from his burn, which he avoided completely. He’s seriously tensed from my suggesting he stand under the water... I just don't want you freezing. Levi moved to wash his sides and arms, turning him and starting over his chest. He made sure he held the cloth under the water every minute or so as he washed him all over, trying to keep Eren warm. We’re not having a repeat of last time. No.

Eren noticed and stood closer to Levi, letting himself press against his warm skin. He’s warm... Which is good, I don’t want to be cold again. Eren let himself be washed, giving a small gasp as Levi grabbed his ass, quickly smacking his hands away with a glare and let him return to washing him.

Levi let out a breathy laugh, bending over to wash Eren’s legs and feet. Enjoying the view up there? He glanced up for a moment... yup, he definitely is. He stood to his full height, drenching the cloth and handing it to Eren, smirking. “Your turn.”

Eren smiled softly. “Okay.” He said quietly. He got the cloth and started with Levi’s chiseled chest, admiring the feeling of the stone hard muscles under his hands as he washed him. God, I fucking love his body... Is that a bad thing?

Levi leaned into his touch, his eyes wandering over the fading bruises on Eren’s neck. He smirked. They suit him. But they're fading... I need to fix that. He looked up and met Eren’s eyes, a possessive glint in his eye. I wonder how mad he’ll be if start fixing it now...

Eren met Levi’s eyes, noticing the possessiveness in his look. Levi? What the hell are you thinking? Eren quirked an eyebrow as he got closer. “What’s your problem, Levi? Think I’ll find a guy hotter than you?” Eren asked teasingly as he poked his chest with a smirk forming on his lips.

A spark of mischief danced past in Levi’s eye, and he took a small step forward, closing the space between them, their chests flush. He muttered against his neck. “No... Just making sure everyone else knows you're already taken.” He started sucking hard at the skin near the joint of his neck, kissing and nibbling across to his adam’s apple. Mine.

Eren gave a moan, pressing his hand against Levi’s chest, trying in vain to push him away. “Levi!”
He gasped, trying to push him away. Fuck, I'm gonna get hard! I don't want to! “Levi! No! Stop! Not there! Anywhere but there!” Eren called moving his head away from Levi head to get himself out of the sticky situation which was going to ensue if this continued. If you continue I will kick you in the balls, and not give a damn. Eren’s eyes were hard, but he was giving Levi permission to mark him on his neck anywhere but there.

Alright. Not there. “...Alright then.” Levi moved back to the joint of his neck, suckling and biting the skin, leaving a ring of bruises around the base of his neck. He trailed up to nibble on his earlobe.

Eren let out strings of moans but he knew he’d be able to keep his arousal down. “Levi… Fuck, so many, I get to do it later…” He told him and clawed at his skin as Levi bit particularly hard.

Levi pulled back for a moment, satisfied with his work. That'll let everyone know he’s mine. “Of course.” He leaned in to kiss him fervently, soon pulling away.

Eren let Levi kiss him, pulling back with him. “Hair, then can I get out? I'm starting to get cold.” He told Levi honestly and pressed his back to Levi’s chest to stay as warm as possible.

“Okay.” I'll try to keep it quick enough- no blue lips. Levi reached for the black bottle of shampoo, massaging some into Eren’s brown locks. He helped him rinse it out, still staying out of the direct stream of water before running conditioner through his hair and rinsing it out right after. That should be fine.

Eren got out once he was done and wrapped himself in the warmth of towels. He went back to his room, putting on new boxers and his nice jeans before going to get his back and chest wrapped by Lathe again. His back was doing extremely well now that he was actually eating things.

Lathe grinned as he wrapped Eren’s back, studying the stitches. “I’d say you have no more than a week left to keep in those stitches. And the rest of your back and that burn and doing very well.” Lathe thought a moment, sliding the last hook in place. “Is it alright if we weigh you? See where you're at? There's a scale in the bathroom under the sink.”

“Okay, the upstairs bathroom? Or is there one down here?” He asked quietly, knowing Levi was still in the shower. I wonder how much I’ve actually put on in the past week… Actually, when was the last time I was weighed?
“There’s one down here. Come on.” Lathe led the way to the bathroom, rifling in the cupboard for the scale and pulling it out, giving Eren room to step on it, looking at the number. He grinned. “You’re at 98 lbs, up from your original 80. That’s still really light for someone your height, but it’s great progress for two months. Keep that appetite of yours and you’ll be where you should be in no time.” Lathe joked, stowing the scale back in the cupboard.

Eren smiled and nodded. “Thank you Lathe, for everything.” Eren went right up to him and hugged him tightly, probably surprising Lathe from the amount of strength his body was able to produce.

‘Dad.’ The word still rang in his head. Lathe hugged Eren back just as tightly, his cheek resting on Eren’s head. He let out a shuddery sigh, trying to keep his voice even. “...Dad.” You can call me that if you want...

Eren’s eyes widened, his head craning back to look up to Lathe’s eyes. “Really? I can call you Dad?” Eren’s voice was quiet, yet full of excitement, just as his eyes were. “Can I really call you Dad?” He asked just to be sure, and seemed to hug Lathe even tighter.

Lathe smiled, his eyes hopeful. “If you want to.” He swallowed, trying to push down the lump in his throat. Dammit, don’t cry, you sap. Quit it.

Eren’s eyes brimmed with happy tears almost instantly. His shoulders shuddered as he started to cry against Lathe’s chest, grabbing onto his shirt. “I finally have a Dad again.” Eren said, crying happily in his arms. I can finally say that again... I have a Dad... I have a much better Dad. I have one that won’t leave me, one that won’t hurt me. One that that wants me. I’m so happy. Blake sat at the door watching them with perked ears.

Lathe pulled Eren close, rubbing his arm and resting his chin on Eren’s head, tears trailing down his cheeks. It makes me so happy to know you trust me like this... There’s no way I’ll ever let anything happen to you. Swear it.

Levi stumbled down the stairs, hearing sobs from upstairs, turning to the bathroom with worry etched across his face. Eren’s crying. Why. What’s wrong? “Eren, are you-” Levi stopped short, his worry gone as he saw Eren latched onto Lathe’s shirt, both of them crying in happiness. It’s been two minutes. What did I miss? Levi stepped back awkwardly, walking back to the stairs to go up to finish changing. ... They need a minute.

Eren held onto Lathe for a few more minutes, crying happily until the tears subsided, giggles now breaking free. “Thank you.” Eren giggled. Thank you so much, you have no idea how much I appreciate being away from that home.
Lathe let out an airy laugh, rubbing at his eye with his sleeve. “Of course, Eren.” Lathe beamed. You really do mean too much to me.

Eren smiled and laughed for a good bit before he pulled back, reaching up on his tippy toes to kiss Lathe’s cheek before giggling and dashing off to go glomp on Levi upstairs, tackling the two of them to his bed. Eren was still laughing and giggling; he was so happy, and it showed in his whole demeanor. “Guess what! Guess what! Guess what!” Eren was talking really fast, his smile from ear to ear.

Something big must have happened. “Whatwhatwhat?” Levi’s quick speech matched Eren’s, a small smile on his face as they fell onto the bed.

“Lathe said I can call him ‘Dad’!” Eren said excitedly. He looked like a happy puppy, and if he had a tail it would be wagging back and forth. “I finally have a Dad again!” Eren said happily and giggled as he curled up onto Levi’s chest. He shivered a bit, realizing he was just in his jeans and his wraps. I have a Dad again!

Levi’s eyes widened, his arms wrapping around Eren’s shivering form. That… For Eren to have someone like Lathe, someone like him to call Dad after the first ‘Dad’ he was given… It’s amazing. “Eren, that’s wonderful. You’re really lucky, you know… Having someone like Lathe as your father. I’m really happy for you.” Levi kissed the top of his head.

Eren smiled, happy. “When are we gonna go?” He asked quietly, shivering in Levi’s arms. “I’m really excited!” Eren said, his smile wide. I’m so happy, and I’m really excited to know what we’re doing… Levi said we had reservations downstairs.

Levi looked to the clock on the wall. “It’s around four-thirty now… So we should probably leave in about a half hour, no later. We have reservations at six, so we should probably finish getting dressed.” Probably.

Eren nodded and moved to get his longsleeve on, slipping it onto his slender frame. He looked really hot in the all black attire, shoulders wider than his waist and he was tall. He looked almost like a girl with how long his hair was. The bite marks were still clearly visible even after Eren had donned his dark green hoodie. He looked to Levi, looking for his approval in his clothing choice. Hmm, do you like what I’m wearing?

Damn. Levi looked Eren up and down, nodding in approval. “You look damn fine.” He smirked at Eren’s blush. Hey, I'm being honest here.

Eren’s blushed flushed his whole face, all the way to his ears. “Okay, I wanna look to see if Dad’s boots and jacket fit, come with me.” Eren pulled on his hand and pulled him downstairs to the closet the coats and shoes were in. I wanna wear the steel toed ones!!

Levi let Eren drag him downstairs, smiling just a bit at the happiness in Eren’s eyes as he spoke. He really is pretty fucking lucky. Levi stopped with him in front of the closet, helping him look for a jacket that’d go well with his outfit.

Eren picked out a nice heavy black jacket. The jacket had strips of teal green, which matched Eren’s eyes, bringing them out nicely. The strips were where all the seams should’ve been and covered them, fitting him nicely and Eren smiled as he put it on. Eren dug into the back of the closet, finding a smaller pair of Lathe’s steel toed boots. Probably an old pair. Eren slipped them on finding that they fit him perfectly, his smile running from ear to ear. Perfect fit. “How do I look?” Eren asked Levi in an almost seductive purr as he showed off his outfit.

Levi smirked, studying Eren’s form. “...Perfect.” Damn does he look good. “Let’s get going, cool? We’re taking Lathe’s Thunderbird.” He nodded to the door. “I’ll grab the keys.”

Eren nodded and carefully went outside, the snow had even gotten onto the porch, forming a good layer of ice on the steps. He carefully took his first few steps down the icy driveway, getting closer to the car, looking up for a moment to look at the darkening grey sky, seeing the snow fall. It’s pretty.

Levi looked over his shoulder as Lathe tapped him on the arm, pressing the keys into his hand.

“Have fun, Levi. But be careful driving- you have my son in the car.” Lathe looked to him with a proud grin, turning and walking back upstairs. They'll be fine.

Levi quirked an eyebrow, smirking. “I will be, don’t worry.” He walked out the door, closing and locking it behind him, unlocking the car for the both of them. He started it, carefully backing out of the driveway before heading for the city, Eren fiddling with the music on his phone, plugged into the stereo. With their singing along to every song, time flew, and in no time they pulled up to the curb two doors down from Between the Walls. Good parking space. That’s luck right there. Levi killed the engine, pointing and announcing to Eren, “We’re here!”
“What’s this place?” He asked as they got out. Eren was still unfamiliar with the downtown area, having only been there once to pick up Blake. Well, it certainly looks crowded and popular… I guess that’s a good thing then?

“This is the restaurant Erwin insisted we have our football party at last season, and I thought it was pretty nice. I think you'll like it.” I hope so.

“Okay, sounds good.” Eren said, taking Levi’s hand and twining their fingers together. The tips of his fingers were already cold from being outside for only a few moments. They were the only thing not covered. His nose got a bit red as well, and it made him look even cuter. It’s cold, I wanna go inside. Eren noticed that they could see the wispy steam from their own breaths in the cold air.

Levi smirked, pulling him to the doors of the restaurant and holding it opening for them, immediately greeted by the loud chatter of people and a neatly-dressed hostess. “Reservation for Ackerman?” They were led to a table in the back corner of the restaurant, away from most of the noise and handed menus.

“Your server will be right with you. Can I get you two any drinks to start?” She pulled a pen and paper out of her apron.

“I’d l-like a hot tea please, Earl Grey if you have it.” Eren said and shed his jacket, rubbing his hands together to warm them up, breathing on them to try and see if that helped. They don’t feel any warmer.

“The same.” Levi looked to Eren, noting how cold he was after just a moment outside.

“Alright, I'll bring those right over.” She scribbled their drinks onto her pad and walked off, disappearing into the fray.

Levi looked over to Eren’s red nose, then to his hands. Without another thought he reached over the table and held them, rubbing them to try and warm them. You’re freezing already. How does that even work?

Eren smiled softly and thanked him, letting Levi warm his hands up before the hostess came back with their teas. Eren took his tea in his hands, warming them the rest of the way up. “Okay, now I haven’t been to a restaurant in a while… so… I don’t know what anything tastes like.” Eren reached into his jacket pocket and pulled out his nausea pill, taking it and sipping his tea to help wash it down. How does this thing work? I mean I know they serve you, but what do I do?

_Hmmm…_ Levi quickly skimmed the menu. 90% of this or more, Eren isn't familiar with. “Well, first I'll just give you a rundown of how this all works. The waiter or waitress, whichever, will come over, introduce themselves, ask if we need more time to decide what we want, and we’ll probably say yes. They'll come back again after a few more minutes, and whenever we’ve decided what we want, we just tell them, they take the menus, and it’s all a waiting game from then on. As for what the different foods taste like… I can't exactly describe all that for you. I think you just have to pick one and hope for the best, though I think anything you can choose will be good.” Yeah, I dunno how to tell you what to get.

“_Hmmm… can you just get me whatever you think I’d like? I’m not really that picky of an eater… just nothing too sweet._” He told the other and smiled behind his mug, sipping at it quietly. There’s too many things to read, and I don’t exactly know what everything is in the descriptions either… It's better just to let him decide. I have no idea what the fuck we're doing.

*Or that works._ “Okay…” Levi trailed off, reading over everything and skipping around. *There’s plenty to pick from… But of all the things to get, on your first real date, steak never fails._ “Got it.” He set it down, picking up his tea and drinking, skimming the crowd for a moment. I forgot how many people come here.

Eren looked around with him and almost seemed uneasy, seeing such a big crowd around them. He watched as someone came forward, a tall man had dark hair which was slicked back. He looked really buff, and smiled as he came up to them, almost instantly undressing Eren with his eyes as he came up to them.

“Hello, my name’s Gustav, I’ll be your server for this evening. Have you decided on what you would like to order? Or should I give you a few minutes?” The man’s voice was smooth and his smile close to intoxicating.

Eren swallowed hard and looked away from the man who was clearly trying to hit on him. He was really uncomfortable with the man undressing him with his eyes, looking up to Levi for help, he had no idea what to do. Levi, help! Please! Get him to leave!

Levi had the man fixed with his coldest glare. “Yeah, my boyfriend and I would both like the steak, medium rare with a baked potato, butter only.” Levi rattled off their order quickly and thrust their menus at him, trying to get this over with so the man could leave.

“Of course sir,” Gustav took the menus after writing down the quick order. “Could I interest you in an appetiser to start with?” He asked, his eyes flickering over to Eren’s lithe body every few seconds.

“No, thank you.” Just leave so you can stop making Eren uncomfortable.

“Alright, I’ll put this in for you guys, would you like waters with your teas?” He looked at Eren completely when he asked. He was ignoring Levi completely, trying to get Eren’s attention.

“Umm… yes please.” Eren said, looking down at his hands, trying not to scratch at his wrist with this man staring at him.

Gustav left after that, but he was certain to return. Eren looked up to Levi, putting his hands across the table and looked to him with pleading eyes to get him to hold them firmly so he wouldn’t scratch at his arms. Blake’s not here, I need you to fucking hold them, so do it dammit!

Levi immediately took his hands, holding them firmly and giving them a quick squeeze in reassurance. “I’m sorry, that guy’s being really creepy.” We’re on a fucking date and he’s just going to creep all over this. Ugh.

“It’s okay… there’s a lot of people.” Eren said, trying to keep his eyes locked onto Levi’s as the creep came back with waters for them. Eren completely ignored the man, his hands shaking in Levi’s hold. Fuck, calm down, Levi will beat him to a pulp if you freak out. Don’t freak out, calm down.

Levi’s hands didn't leave Eren’s, thumbs running over his knuckles as he looked to the man setting down their water, obviously staring him down. I hope you’ve decided to fucking quit it.

“Is there anything else I can get for you?” Gustav asked with his persistent smile plastered to his face. He was trying not to back away from Levi’s stare, struggling to hold his ground.

“No, thank you.” Levi answered for the both of them, unblinking. Give up.

Gustav visibly swallowed hard before leaving. Eren seemed to calm down once the man left. I hope he doesn’t come back. I don’t want to see him again.
Levi kept his hold on Eren’s hands, hoping the same thing. I wonder how long it’ll take for him to pass us off to another server. Or become mute. Or stop looking at Eren like a fucking pervert. Any would work. “You know, it’s going to be crowded at the concert, more so than this. And you look uneasy… are you going to be alright, do you think?”

Eren thought about it and nodded. “Yeah, I just want you to be next to me, I don’t want another person trying to force themselves on me.” He murmured quietly to the other. I’ll be okay. I’ll be okay. Eren calmed down after a few more moments and was able to pull his hands away from Levi and sip at his tea.

Levi mirrored his actions, watching Gustav come out from the kitchens, tensing. What’s he up to. Levi followed him across the the room, stopping a waiter with sandy hair on their way to the kitchen, speaking to them quickly and quietly. They looked over to them, and the blonde nodded. They both carried on with their duties. Levi smirked triumphantly.

Levi: 1. Fuckwad: 0. He returned to his tea.

Eren smiled down at his tea. “So, how close are we to the stage?” Eren looked up to Levi with curious eyes, still not knowing much about the whole ‘concert’ thing.

“We’re in the pit, meaning we’re in the area directly in front of the stage. So, really really close. But the pit is very crowded and loud. And there aren't any seats to be had.” Is that okay? I thought it'd be okay.

Eren watched him, his eyes filling with more and more excitement if that was even possible. “Really? That’s cool, do you think we’ll be close to him? Oh my god that would be so cool!” Eren said and smiled more as he squealed quietly in excitement.

Thank god. Levi smirked. “We’ll be pretty close, most likely. I'd say no further than… Thirty feet at most? Like, no further than that wall over there.” He pointed to the other side of the narrow restaurant. So, pretty damn close.

Wow, we’ll be so close, I wonder what it’ll be like? Levi’ll be able to see from between people… Right? Oh well, we’ll figure it out. I wonder what it will be like? He said it was gonna be loud, how loud? And how crowded? Eren nodded, he watched as a new server came up to them with their perfectly done steaks. He smiled kindly after setting them down in front of each of them.

“Is there anything I can get you? Refills for your teas?” He asked softly and sweetly.

Eren shook his head. “No, thank you.” Eren’s response was quiet, the mostly because he was distracted by the food that had been placed in front of them. What is this? How does one even attempt to eat this? “Uh… How does… Umm… How do you eat this?” Eren asked and looked up to Levi with a curious glare. What even is this? Is it meat? I’m assuming it’s edible…

Levi quirked an eyebrow, a surprised look in his eyes. He doesn’t know how to eat a steak? Um… how the fuck do you explain how to eat a fucking steak? “Uh, here. Watch me.” Levi picked up his fork in his left hand, his knife in his right, starting to cut off a piece slowly enough for Eren to follow. He stabbed the small enough piece with his fork, showing Eren. “You just kinda cut it into small enough pieces to chew, like this.” He popped it into his mouth. “And then you can eat it.”

“Huh?” Eren stared at the odd knife and for a few more seconds, “Wait, what? Why are you holding your fork in the wrong hand?” Eren asked. He was overly confused about this. Why are you holding the knife in your right hand? That’s where the fork goes… Eren put the knife down and tried to cut the large piece of meat with the side of his fork, quickly getting frustrated when the action did nothing to break apart the steak.

That’s not exactly effective. “No, look, pretend you’re holding a pencil instead of a piece of cutlery. So do that for the knife and the fork, and you hold the steak in place with the fork while you move the knife back and forth to cut the steak.” He showed him his grip on the knife. “Look how I’m holding it, and give it a go.”

Eren picked up the utensils as directed. How is this supposed to be any better? Eren had picked up the knife in his left hand, effectively holding the steak down with the fork in his right hand. He struggled to cut it, trying in vain to maneuver the knife over the meat. He makes it look so easy… What the fuck!

Levi watched his plight for a few moments. Have you never used one of these things in your life? It’s so fucking easy. …Fuck it. He leaned over the table, tapping the spot on his plate next to the steak with his knife. “Here, let me.” He quickly started cutting up Eren’s steak for him, careful not to elbow their tea or water.

Eren watched Levi cut his steak. It only took him a few seconds to do the whole steak…. Well then… So I must look like a complete idiot in front of him then… that’s wonderful. Eren stared at his plate with a sullen look, his eyes no longer seeming to glitter as he slowly took his fork and stabbed a piece, raising it to his mouth. His eyes brightened back up again and he smiled happily. This is fucking delicious!

Levi returned to his own steak, not missing the sad look Eren had before eating the steak. Huh. “I’ll teach you how to use a knife later. It’s kinda important to know. We’ll fix that.” He smirked. This steak is great!
Eren nodded, his focus now completely shifted to the steak in front of him. He managed to clear his plate in a good amount of time, sipping at his tea occasionally. He finally finished and shifted his gaze to look up at Levi with his bright viridian eyes. He had a big smile on his face too. “That was delicious!” Eren said and smiled happily, taking another sip of his tea.

Levi looked up from his near-clear plate, smirking at Eren’s bright expression, staring into his eyes for a moment. He looks so happy! His eyes are shining. You know, they're really pretty… It was a great idea to bring him here. “I’m really glad you liked it, Eren.” He blinked, leaning back and sipping at his tea. “I'm full. As soon as I spot the waiter I'll wave him down…” Levi trailed off and looked over the restaurant, seeing their waiter a few tables over. He caught his eye, nodding. He came over to their table.

“Is there anything I can get you?”

“The check, please.” He watched him leave with a nod, checking his watch. 6:43. Plenty of time. Levi studied Eren’s happy expression over his mug, inwardly ecstatic. This was a wonderful way to start off the night. How is this our first date? You think we’d’ve done something before this. Dunno. This is an unconventional relationship. I’m not going to question it.

Eren smiled down at his tea. “Thank you… I really mean it, this is fun.” Eren said and blushed looking at the bottom of the mug. I wonder what the rest of the night is going to be like? I hope there won’t be any other guys hitting on me… god that guy was a creep.

He’s too fucking cute when he blushes. Levi nudged his foot under the table. “Of course. I’m glad you're enjoying it.”

Eren smiled more and watched the blonde waiter come back with the check. I hope it’s not too expensive.

Levi picked up the check, opening it and trying to figure out the tip. Fuck, I’m absolute shit at math. That Gustav douche better not be getting any of this. But that other guy is cool. What was his name, anyway? He never really told us, I don’t think. How the fuck do you figure fifteen percent? Meh. That looks about right. Levi scratched down a number to leave the total at an even number, fishing out his wallet and setting down three twenties, shutting it and placing it back on the table. He pushed out his chair a few inches. “You ready to go?”

Eren reached for his jacket and nodded, shrugging it back on, zippering it up and waiting for Levi to lead him out of the crowded restaurant. “Ready.” Eren’s voice was soft, and he was already shoving his hands into his coat pockets to attempt to keep them warm. I don’t want to be cold… but I’m gonna be fucking freezing as soon as we step outside... fuck.

“Alright.” Levi rose, pushing his chair back in with his foot and stepping to lead them from the restaurant. “Do you want to walk to the Ballroom? It’s not too far and I don’t know if I’ll find a parking space if we try and drive down.”

Eren thought about it. “We can walk, if we’re not too far.” Eren said and zipped his jacket all the way up as they neared the entrance and could feel the cold air coming in as the door was opened.
Fuck did it get colder outside? I mean the sun went down... but it feels like it took twenty degrees with it!

Levi led their way, turning right as they exited. “It’s at absolute most a ten-minute walk. And we already have tickets so we won't be stuck waiting in some long line.” I hope. It’s fucking freezing.
Levi stopped them at their car, opening the passenger door quickly. “Hold on a sec.” He reached in the space between the seat and the trunk, pulling out a green scarf and tossing it to Eren. He took a grey one for himself. And I thought Lathe was fucking crazy for bringing backup scarves everywhere. He wrapped his around his neck, slamming the door shut and locking it, continuing on their way.

Eren’s thank-you was soft, mostly muffled from the scarf he hurriedly wrapped around his face.
He looked at his hands, already red from the cold air. Fuck... they’re already so cold.... I won’t be able to feel them soon... fuck! Eren hurriedly buried them into his pockets, trying to get them to warm back up again. He followed Levi, only two steps behind.

Levi looked over his shoulder, quirking an eyebrow. What’re you doin’ all the way back there? He reached back and tugged at Eren’s left sleeve, pulling his hand out of his pocket and twining their hands together, slowing to walk alongside him. Fuck, your hand is cold. It’s been all of a minute!
He held on to his hand tightly, hoping his grasp brought him some warmth.

Eren shivered slightly as his hand was taken. He let Levi’s warm hand hold his own. He’s so warm.... It feels nice. I wish I could stay warm like that.... I don’t know if I’ll be able to feel my hands after this.... Eren stayed mostly quiet during their walk to the Town Ballroom, his hands still icy cold as they entered the venue. Fuck, I can’t feel my fingers... Shit, don’t let Levi know...
shitshitshitshitshit.

Levi let go of Eren’s hand once they got into the lobby, looking around at the people waiting around. He nodded over to the coat check, taking the tickets out of his pocket and making sure his jean pockets still had his phone and wallet before handing his over, the scarf in a sleeve.
Eren followed Levi around like a lost puppy. He could hear one of the opening bands already playing through one of the open doors at the end of the large hall they were in. Eren tucked his scarf into a pocket before he took it off and handed his jacket over as well. He looked adorable in his hoodie, and his bruises around his neck were still quite visible. So why are we giving them our coats? And is that the room we’re going into? With the loud music? Eren’s eyes wandered around the room looking at the many doors around the hall, adorned with musical paraphernalia.

Levi smirked at Eren’s collar of bruises, making sure to keep an eye on him as they stepped around swarms of people to the door. He handed the man guarding the door their tickets, taking the ripped stubs and holding his hand out to be stamped. He turned and waited for Eren, making sure he got his stamp before walking any further in.

Eren followed after quickly, seeing the room that they were entering, brightly lit worth various colors, the sound was immense, flooding his whole body, not just his eardrums. It's so loud... This is a concert? Eren made sure his grip was locked onto Levi’s wife beater, which nicely showed his badass tattoos. Well, they do make him look like a badass... Eren smiled softly and followed him through the thrum of people towards the front. So many people, and apparently I’m an eye catcher... Eren looked around as they entered, seeing various guys with their eyes all on him, his grip tightening on Levi’s shirt in an instant.

Levi looked around as they headed for the pit, sending cold glares to anyone he caught ogling his boyfriend. We don’t need repeats of what was going on at dinner. Keep away; He’s obviously taken. Levi guided Eren towards the pit, enjoying feeling the thrum of bass in his chest.

Eren felt the vibrations pound through his chest. It feels weird... But like in a good kind of way. Eren let Levi guide him, only to have his other hand tugged on, bringing them to a screeching halt. Eren’s head snapped back to see the owner of the hand currently wrapped around his wrist- a tall brunette man who seemed way too old to be looking at Eren was staring at him with a heavy look of lust.

“Are you from Tennessee? ‘Cause you're the only 10 I see. The name’s Nile. Nile Dok.”

Eren paled a bit at the man’s cringe-worthy attempt at flirting and struggled to pull his arm back from the man’s grasp. Levi, help, he’s got my wrist, it hurts! He’s grabbing it too hard...

Levi turned to see why they stopped, barely able to keep from cringing at the godawful pickup line. Who the fuck does this bitch think he is? He fixed him with a deathly look, staring him down. Hey. Dipshit. He’s taken. You can let him go now.” I don’t want to have to wreck you. I'd get kicked out for that.
The message didn’t seem to get across. Nile was still trying to hopelessly flirt with Eren. “Do you have a map? I just keep getting lost in your eyes.” Nile attempted to pull Eren closer, feeling the small wrist in his hand and wanting to get him away from the smaller man. He looked at the hickeys with distaste but it didn’t deter him.

That was so unbelievably shitty... Just stop. “Stop fucking hitting on my boyfriend. And let him go. He obviously doesn’t want your fucking hands on his wrist. Back the fuck up.” If I have to I obviously will. But I also don't want to get blood on this shirt. Getting the stains out is a bitch.

Eren’s eyes widened in pain when Nile’s hand closed even tighter around his wrist, he whimpered, his eyes fearful. He tried to get the attention of one of the security guards, finally getting one, and the burly man started to walk over.

Nile held his wrist tighter. “Which is easier? You getting into those tight pants or getting you out of them?”

Eren’s eyes hardened almost instantly, his other hand coming up and connecting with Nile’s nose with a sickening crunch, knocking the man down with the solid blow. Eren then fearfully retreated behind Levi as the security guard came to assess the situation. Fuck, what if Levi’s angry I punched him? Are they gonna make us leave? I think my wrist is bruised… I don’t think it’s broken, but only time will tell for that one.

Levi was caught between anger and complete confusion. He’s gonna fucking die. But he’s unconscious on the floor. But... Did Eren fucking break his nose?! Levi watched as blood started streaming from Nile’s nose, stepping between Eren and his unconscious attacker, not even noticing the security guard until he spoke.

“Okay, calm down, what happened? I saw you punch this guy… But I don’t think I really need to escort you out, do I?” He asked and looked at Nile as the man was slowly coming back to reality.

Levi looked to Eren behind him, turning to address the guard. “This guy had my boyfriend by the wrist, and was making him seriously uncomfortable. He wouldn’t let go or stop harassing him no matter how much we both asked him to step off.” ...the fucking asshole. People need to stop making passes at Eren. It’s getting really fucking irritating.

“Ah alright, so this guy’s at fault.” The guard easily picked Nile’s stunned form from the floor, throwing him over his shoulder and dumping him outside of the venue.
Eren watched the guard leave with him and sighed quietly, his attention back to his wrist. It’s already starting to bruise... Fuck, I hope it’s not broken. Eren’s finger slowly ghosted over the forming bruise, hissing from pain when he pressed too hard.

Levi gingerly took his wrist, inspecting it. “I don't think he broke it. It’s just a bad bruise. You gonna be okay?” I’m gonna need to really fucking watch for this sort of thing. I’m not letting you wander off.

Eren nodded slowly. “Yeah, I’ll be okay.” Eren leaned down a bit and kissed Levi chastely on the lips. “Thank you.” Eren’s eyes were happy as he leaned forward to kiss Levi again, hopefully to get the other prying eyes to look away. Hmm, hopefully this will get them to look elsewhere.

...Fuck it at this point. Levi kissed him back feverishly for just a moment, deciding that everything was already odd enough to warrant it. Maybe everyone will get the message and step off. He still broke their kiss early, turning their attentions back to the stage and getting as close as they could.

Eren followed Levi closely until they got right to the front of the crowd, keeping his backend pressed against Levi so he wouldn’t be grabbed. We’re literally right in front of the stage! He’s gonna be right in front of us!! Holy crap!

We’re right in front! I'm surprised everyone let us pass them. He shifted, feeling Eren’s ass pressed against his hips. If that's what it takes to keep him from being groped, go right the hell ahead. Levi smirked, his hands drifting to hold Eren’s hips possessively, waiting for the opening bands to finish their set.

The opening bands were pretty good. Eren smiled as he saw the stage crew starting to put up the set for Nate Ruess. “Levi how long do you think it’ll be?” He asked turning his head to look at him.

Levi thought for a moment. “...five minutes? Ten at most.” It won’t be too long. I wonder what song he’ll open with...

Eren waited patiently, excited once he started to hear the Introduction of Grand Romantic He hummed along, tapping his foot. He’s coming out!! He’s coming out!! Eren jumped up and down excitedly as Nate Ruess stepped out from behind the curtain singing ‘AhHa’, so of course Eren had to sing along with him.

Levi jumped with the beat, the energy Nate had instantly infectious. He moved against Eren, feeling the bass in his chest and singing right along with the words, not even able to hear his own voice with the sound so loud. He’s right fucking there! He’s not even ten feet from us!!

Eren was having the best time of his life, he wasn’t panicking at all. This is so cool! Eren was so happy that he actually got to reach out and touch Nate’s hand as he kneeled down to touch a few people’s hands. He was so happy, singing song after song after song.

Nate ended ‘Slide,’ swaying as he took another drink from a red solo cup, going to the mic and holding onto it tightly, the audience quieting in an instant. “So, I never originally wanted to do a duet with Pink. She had written a wonderful song and I kinda liked it, but I didn’t think I was the right voice for it. She wouldn’t stop asking me to at least give it a shot, and I had walked into the recording studio singing something I just came up with in the car on the way there, because I had been listening to the radio and ‘We are Young’ had come on and I was so fucking sick of it at that point that I turned it off and just started thinking of random shit to sing so I was singing something and her expression let me know she was not going to let me get out of singing. We recorded it and it went alright, but the thing is, it’s a duet. I want to know if anyone wants to come up here and sing with me.” He grinned, licking his lips and scanning the now screaming crowd in the pits, more rushing into the back. He looked as near dead center a noirette was waving the arm of the smiling, embarrassed brunette in front of him. He looks thin enough to lift up here. “Come on up here, kid.” He knelt to the edge of the stage, helping him up onto the stage and leading him back to where another microphone had been placed next to his on the stage. He looked over to him, beaming. “What’s your name?”

Eren’s face was completely flushed, his whole body shaking in excitement. “E-Eren.” His voice stuttering from his adrenaline running through the roof. Holy shit, you’re gonna sing with him, calm the fuck down! Eren’s gaze landed back on Levi, seeing him smirk and his phone already out and recording the whole thing. Well I guess Lathe is gonna see this in the morning, wonderful.

“And how old are you, Eren?” Hope you don’t stutter like that too much. You gotta sing!

“I’m sixteen.” Eren smiled as he was able to calm his voice. He looked really hot standing there too, a feast for all eyes, and the girls were screaming for him too.

“You having fun, I hope?”

“Yeah, this is awesome, I’m having a lot of fun!” Eren seemed to brighten more as Nate continued to talk to him. His voice sounded throughout the whole venue, sounding like an angel’s.

I get the feeling you’re gonna do just fine. An easy look came over Nate’s face. “Well Eren, I think you’re about to have even more fun. Would you do me the honor of singing the part of Pink in ‘Just Give Me a Reason?’”

Eren’s eyes widened. “Really? I get to sing it with you?” Eren asked and he looked absolutely adorable as he asked that question even though he was already onstage. Oh my god is this really happening?

“Hell yeah! You ready?” He nodded to the pianist behind them, the room immediately going silent as the first few chords thrummed through the speakers.

“Right from the start

You were a thief

You stole my heart

And I your willing victim

I let you see the parts of me

That weren't all that pretty

And with every touch you fixed them”

Nate turned from the mic, shouting to the backstage crews, still audible to the crowd. “Someone get this kid a record deal!” He’s fucking amazing! I should be listening to you on stage!

Eren blushed as he heard Nate’s words, but continued to sing the rest of Pink’s part beautifully, the crowd going completely wild.

“Now you've been talking in your sleep, oh, oh

Things you never say to me, oh, oh

Tell me that you've had enough

Of our love, our love…”

_Fuck waiting, I wanna sing with him._ Nate joined Eren in the refrain, smiling wide.
“Just give me a reason
Just a little bit’s enough
Just a second we’re not broken just bent
And we can learn to love again
It’s in the stars
It’s been written in the scars on our hearts
We’re not broken just bent
And we can learn to love again”

“I’m sorry I don’t understand
Where all of this is coming from
I thought that we were fine
Oh, we had everything
Your head is running wild again
My dear we still have everythin’
And it’s all in your mind
Yeah, but this is happenin’”

“You’ve been havin’ real bad dreams, oh, oh
You used to lie so close to me, oh, oh
There’s nothing more than empty sheets
Between our love, our love
Oh, our love, our love”

“Just give me a reason
Just a little bit’s enough
Just a second we’re not broken just bent
And we can learn to love again
I never stopped

You're still written in the scars on my heart

You're not broken just bent

And we can learn to love again”

“Oh, tear ducts and rust

I'll fix it for us

We're collecting dust

But our love's enough

You're holding it in

You're pouring a drink

No nothing is as bad as it seems

We'll come clean”

How the fuck did he hit that note?! I can’t hit that note! HOW?!

“Just give me a reason

Just a little bit's enough

Just a second we're not broken just bent

And we can learn to love again

It's in the stars

It's been written in the scars on our hearts

That we're not broken just bent

And we can learn to love again”

“Just give me a reason

Just a little bit's enough

Just a second we're not broken just bent
And we can learn to love again

It's in the stars

It's been written in the scars on our hearts

That we're not broken just bent

And we can learn to love again”

“Oh, we can learn to love again

Oh, we can learn to love again

Oh, oh, that we're not broken just bent

And we can learn to love again”

Eren took in a deep breath as they both finished the song without incident. Holy shit, I just did that! Eren looked over at Levi, who had an actual smile on his face as he recorded the whole thing.

Nate just looked at Eren as the audience exploded with applause. Holy fuck. He took a step closer to Eren so he could hear him. “After the show, do you think you could come backstage? I want to talk to you.” He grinned as Eren nodded. “Cool. You with anyone? I'll get you passes.”

“Yeah, with the guy who was raising my hand before, he’ll be standing with me.” He said and smiled, his whole face completely flushed. “Did I do okay?” He asked after and he seemed genuinely concerned that he would’ve sang horribly. I hope that was okay, I really don’t want to tarnish his image in the least.

Are you serious? “Eren, I'm pretty sure you did better than me.” He shouted over to the crews again. “Can we have two backstage passes please? Do we have those?” He watched his guitarist take them from a stagehand and bring them over, taking them and giving them to Eren. “That voice of yours is going to get you places, Eren. Thank you so much.” He beamed.

Eren smiled even more. “Thank you, Mr. Ruess.” Eren said bashfully, clutching the back stage passes as he headed towards the edge of the stage to slide back down to Levi’s side, his eyes filled with happiness. “Levi, that really just happened, OMG!” Eren slipped down and hugged Levi close. Holy crap, that really just happened!

Levi grinned, returning Eren’s tight hug. That was fucking amazing! “Eren, you were great! You sang beautifully! You're so lucky! And he gave you passes backstage! I can't believe it!” I can't fucking wait to tell Lathe all of this!

“He said he wanted to talk to me after the concert…. Is that okay?” He asked, reclaiming his place against Levi as Nate began to sing again.

Levi pulled Eren close to him possessively, a small smile still on his face, his eyes bright. “Who the hell would I think I am to tell you no? Of fucking course! It’s Nate Ruess! It can only be good!” You are so fucking lucky.

Eren blushed and smiled happily as Levi wrapped his arms around him. The concert lasted a long time; some people had started to shuffle out around 11pm. Eren waited excitedly for them to go back stage. I wanna see what he wants to say to me… I'm really curious…. What could it be?

Levi watched as Nate finished his second round of encores, disappearing off the stage for good. I wonder what he wanted to talk to Eren about. We'll just have to see. He kept one arm wrapped around Eren’s waist after Nate walked off, nudging him gently in the direction of a door to the right of the stage, guarded by two members of security. “Come on, let’s go say hi to Nate. Get out the passes so they let us through.” Levi smirked. That really was the greatest thing that could have possibly happened.

Eren took out the passes, his hands shaking in nervousness as he did so. Shit, I need to calm down, I need to calm down… Levi help, I need to calm down dammit!

Levi took the passes from Eren’s shaking hands, tossing one of the two lanyards over Eren’s head, then bringing one around his own neck. He’s shaking with nerves… Levi rubbed Eren’s side with his thumb, sending him a reassuring look. “You don't have to freak out. I can only think that whatever Nate wanted to tell you is something good. Who knows what he has to tell you? But you did fabulously on stage, you know. Maybe it’s something about that. We’ll have to find out.” He lifted the tag on his lanyard to show to the guards, recognition crossing their faces as they saw Eren, moving to let them pass. He slowly guided Eren into the busy, dim halls of backstage, people running around with headsets and drapes of wires and binders of papers.

Eren held onto Levi with a shaking hand. One of the people running around spotted them and took them back towards a smaller room, where Nate was waiting for them. It’s okay Eren, don’t freak out, Levi’s here… Yeah but this is Nate Ruess we’re talking about- that is freak-out worthy!

Nate grinned when he saw Eren, getting up off a stool and moving to greet them. “Hey, Eren! I'm glad you could come back. I need to tell you something very real. Your voice,” Nate Ruess sounded absolutely sure of his words. “...is going to get you places. I know it. You sang your half of the duet better than I did. If it’s cool, I’m going to talk to my producer, see if I can get you a contract if you're interested. He’d need a video of you singing though, so… I'll just give you my number.” He patted his pockets for nonexistent paper, then just reached out his hand. “Can I borrow your phone for a sec?”

Eren nodded hurriedly. He fished his phone out of his pockets, fumbling with the passcode a few times before handing him the phone with a blank contact space. Is this really happening? Like really? Levi I swear to god if this is a dream I don't know what I'm gonna do.

“Thanks.” Nate turned it sideways and tapped quickly, putting in his name and number. He handed it back to him. “Cool. If you could at some point send me a video of you singing- preferably with the best microphone you have on hand- I'll pass it on and see if I can get you a contract with someone. Alright?” He grinned easily. He'd definitely interest someone.

Eren could only stare. He's serious... I can’t believe it... He thinks I can sing that well? Eren looked down at his phone in disbelief, still unable to really process just what Nate was saying. Earth to Eren, he's talking to you! Eren swallowed hard, opening his mouth, but finding himself at a loss for words. He nodded and looked over to Levi with wide eyes, as if asking him if this was really happening.

This is really happening. Levi’s arm tightened around Eren’s waist, practically beaming. His grey eyes were bright as they met Eren’s viridian ones. Holy fuck this is happening! I don't know how today went from creepy waiters to this, but it's all real!

Eren watched his reaction for a few seconds, quietly shifting his gaze in between the two of them. So does this mean I can trust him? Can I really trust him to do everything he says? Eren’s trust issues were quickly resurfacing as he pressed against Levi’s side.

He doesn’t look like he believes this is all happening. Or trusts me to do it. Either. “I'm serious, Eren. You've got talent and I don't want it to go to waste. I'll do what I can to get you started.” Nate shifted his gaze to Levi, addressing him. “I'm sorry, I never got your name?”

“Levi.”

“Well Levi, do me a favor and make sure Eren gets around to sending me a video, cool?” His eyes were amused, looking between the two. When they both nodded, he beamed. “Alright. I'll talk to you guys later, maybe? There's still a ton of stuff we all have to do to clean up.”
Eren nodded and his shaking hand still had not left Levi’s shirt at all, he stared down at the phone with Nate’s contact information on it, his cellphone and email… did this really just happen? Or am I dreaming? “O-Okay.” Eren stuttered and his face flushed all the way to his ears.

“Thank you so much! Really, it’s a great thing, what you’ve just promised to do for Eren.” Levi spoke softly, his voice heavy with gratefulness. He rubbed Eren’s side, reassuring him. This just happened.

Eren’s eyes still held disbelief. Can I really trust him? Levi must think I can… But I don’t understand. I can’t sing that well… do I? Grisha always said I had a horrible voice. What will Dad think? I don’t have any recording equipment or anything to even attempt to try this. Eren looked down at his hands, hiding his face, swallowing hard as he tried not to scratch at his wrists again. He was so nervous about this. And Nate probably fucking knows that I’m a freak…. Gaeh, I want to scratch, Levi, I don’t know what to do.

“It’s all up to you whether or not you go through with this. I think you could get a contract. Easily. But if it freaks you out, you don’t have to send me anything by tomorrow, say. That’s not how this works. Whenever you want, send me something. Or not.” He raised his hands in surrender. “Either way, it’s your call. But I’d give it a shot.” He smiled. “I’ll talk to you later, alright? I shouldn’t keep you any longer. It’s late as fuck.”

Eren looked up to him. “I… I don’t have a microphone or any recording equipment at home.” His voice was quiet, his hand still clutching onto Levi’s shirt.

Levi spoke before Nate could. “I’m pretty sure Lathe could either dig something out of that office of his, or get you something new. With that voice, you were bound to want or need one at some point anyway.” He smiled. I know Lathe would have no problems spoiling you with the best recording equipment you wanted.

Eren thought about it and nodded. “Okay, that sounds good.” Eren nodded and leaned against Levi’s side. It's really late, and I'm exhausted. I hope Levi’s okay to drive. It's probably freezing outside too… Great.

“Alright, we’ll get going. Thank you again, so much.” Levi gently tugged Eren to the door. You’re exhausted. Let’s get home. They walked back through the halls, past the stage and to the coat check, Levi paying the man and helping a very sleepy Eren put his coat on and wrap his scarf around his neck. He put on his own before they walked outside, the air cold as ice. Fuck it’s cold. He kept one arm securely wrapped around Eren’s waist, opening the car door for him after their ten-minute walk and hopping into the driver’s seat, immediately starting up the heater.
Eren looked at his hands. They’re frozen again. “Levi, I can’t feel my fingers…” He trailed off as he flexed them, touching his own fingers and feeling nothing but numbness. That can’t be good.

Levi, about to pull from the curb, put the car back in park in an instant. He reached over for Eren’s hands, rubbing them to try and warm them up. Your hands literally feel like they’re frozen. He waited until they didn’t feel like ice, running his thumbs over the knuckles and kissing the top before letting them go, returning to pulling from the curb, setting off in the direction of home. He grew more and more curious about the silence of the car, accustomed to Eren’s usual singing or chitchat. He’s probably just thinking about everything that’s happened. A lot has gone down in not too much time. He pulled into the driveway a half hour later, looking over to Eren. … Aaaand he’s out. He’s not gonna wake up, is he. I need to carry him. Ugh. Levi opened the door and closed it as quietly as he could, going around to unbuckle Eren and lift him from the seat. He hip-checked the door shut, keys in hand as he approached the front door, about to try and open it when Lathe opened it for them, smiling fondly at Eren asleep in Levi’s arms.

“I take it everything went well?” Lathe stepped aside to let them enter, closing the door behind him and leading them to the door to the basement. He kept his voice down, wanting to let Eren sleep. That’s the most adorable thing I’ve ever seen.

“I’ll tell you about it later. Right now I’m tired, and Eren is getting heavy.” Levi stepped down the first step, turning to look at Lathe over his shoulder. “I need to talk to you in the morning, cool? A lot of stuff went down. And thanks for letting me borrow the car.” He gave him a small smile, turning to watch his feet as he picked his way down the basement stairs.

“Of course. G’night.” Lathe shut the door behind them, padding upstairs to his own room, stretching his arms over his head with a yawn. It’s half past midnight. I need sleep.

Levi walked over to the bed, setting Eren gently down. He went to unlace his boots, placing them on the floor at the foot of the bed. He slid him out of his jacket and unwound the scarf from his neck, pulling his hoodie over his head and unbuttoning and pulling off his jeans, leaving him in his shirt and boxers. He didn’t even stir. He’s out cold. Levi himself stripped to his shirt and boxers, sliding under the covers next to him, wrapping around him.

Eren curled up to the warmth, his body was still oddly cold, especially his hands. The boy hadn’t moved besides getting closer to Levi, and he slept like that the whole night, not moving at all. He didn’t even wake up first, and didn’t even move when Levi slid out from under him in the morning.

Levi untangled himself from Eren, trying not to wake him. He stood and looked at Eren for a moment, smiling gently. I’ll let him sleep. He walked over to his side of the bed, pressing a kiss to his forehead and walking to the stairs. He closed the door quietly behind him, padding to the kitchen where Lathe was skimming through a book, coffee of course in hand.

Lathe looked up, placing his chocolate coffee on the table and closing his book, turning to Levi. “You wanted to talk to me?”

Levi nodded going to fill the kettle with water to get tea ready. “Yeah…. We need to get Eren some good recording software, along with a really good microphone.” Levi sat down at the table to wait for the water to heat up.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at him. “What are you getting on about? Why the sudden interest?”

“Well, after getting hit on by two creepy ass guys, and I’m pretty sure Eren broke the second guy’s nose… ‘Cause he was on the floor before I could touch him… we got pretty close to the stage and Nate Ruess ended up singing that duet he did with Pink… And long story short, Eren was pretty much picked up and he got to sing it with him… So now Nate wants Eren to send him a good video of him singing so that he can talk to his producer about it.” Levi got up when the kettle whistles and began to pour it into his mug quickly.

Lathe was deathly silent, his eyes wide. He looked at Levi, then over the floor. What. The. Fuck. “...are you serious?”

“Completely.” Levi said and sat back down with his mug filled with tea. “You wanna see?” Levi was already fishing for his phone in his pocket. He’ll probably wanna see this. I don’t know if he knew Eren could hit that high note.

Lathe watched the video with wide eyes, his gaze impossibly intense. That’s… that’s Eren on stage. And he sounds amazing! He can hit a note that high?! He watched as he was handed backstage passes, the crowd absolutely wild. “You two got to go backstage and meet Nate Ruess??” Lathe looked ecstatic. That’s the greatest thing ever!

Levi nodded. “Yeah, so Eren’s gotta get recording things to send to Nate, he gave him his number, so he can send it to him. He said to use the best mic he had available to him.” So I take it Lathe’s on board with this already?

Lathe looked up at him, then off in thought. “Well, the only mics I have are attached to headphones I bought years ago… It’s a good thing amazon exists!” He grinned. He’s getting whatever he needs. Or wants. Both. We haven’t really been using Sue’s old room anyway...

“Hmm, you’re going to spoil him rotten again aren’t you?” He asks quietly before sipping at his drink. Wonder how much he’s gonna get him this time.

“Oh yeah.” Lathe grinned, picking up his mug. “Can I go stalk the internet for microphones and stuff now?”

“Am I allowed to join you? Also you should probably make cinnamon rolls, it’ll get you back in the basement quicker, I’ve learned.” Levi smirked as he set his cup down.

Lathe put down his mug, standing. “That’s a great idea! Cinnamon rolls! And then we can go on the internets!” Lathe rifled through the fridge for cinnamon rolls, and in less than half an hour they were eating rolls over Lathe’s laptop at the kitchen table, scrolling through amazon and reading description after description of microphone specs.

Eren had woken up alone on the air mattress downstairs. He groaned, looking around for his clothes. Did Levi bring me down here? I remember... falling asleep in the car? I don’t remember getting home. Eren found his pants and shimmied them on after he heard footsteps upstairs and smelled cinnamon rolls. “Ten points to Lathe.” So Eren wrapped himself in a blanket and came upstairs, rubbing his eyes at the bright light pouring into the house. Fuck it’s bright. I want cinnamon rolls though. Eren yawned as he walked to sink to get his nausea pill. “Mornin’” Eren yawned, taking the rest of the hot water to make his own tea.

“Good morning!” Lathe grinned, eyeing Eren’s bed head with amusement.

Levi smiled, getting up and wrapping his arms around Eren’s waist from behind, leaning his chin on his shoulder. “Good morning Eren.” I’m smiling more than I ever really have. Huh.

“What the hell, why are you guys so happy… It’s too fucking early… Levi, you’re smiling, you never fucking smile what the hell is up with you two?” He asked as he picked up a large roll, smiling as he took a first bite.

Levi stood on his toes, pressing a kiss to his cheek. “I just had a lot of fun yesterday. Last night was really nice. And you sang wonderfully and we met Nate Ruess… and you could really go somewhere with your voice. It was great!” So much has happened, and it was all wonderful. How can I not be happy?
“Levi, it wasn’t that good, and I don’t have any equipment to even make a video. I wouldn’t even know what song to pick!” Eren said pushing Levi away playfully with both his hands only to pull back his left wrist immediately. “Shit.” He whispered quietly, cradling his bruised wrist. Eren looked down at his wrist. I think it actually might be broken… Shit…

Lathe glanced over as Eren swore, noticing the way he gingerly held his wrist. Uh oh. He turned from the laptop to better face Eren, holding out his hand. “Eren, your wrist hurt? Can I see it?”

“Ah… Yeah.” Eren slowly and carefully held out his horribly colored wrist, he hadn’t noticed how much his wrist had swelled up, giving it an odd look around his thin limbs.

Lathe looked stunned and immensely worried, cradling Eren’s wrist and looking at it for barely a second before he stated, “It’s busted. To bruise and swell that badly, it’s not going to be an easily set break, either. Let me run and get changed. We’re going to get you to a doctor who can set that for you. You’ll be fine dressed the way you are, but have Levi help you with shoes and a hoodie. I’ll be two seconds.” Lathe let go of his wrist and got up to rush upstairs, changing quickly and grabbing for the car keys from the dresser… which were not there. Lathe froze, thinking. Oh. Right. Levi had them. He scampered down the stairs, looking for Levi.

Levi and Eren were in the front room, getting Eren into his boots, and he was now wearing a hoodie, though the boy didn’t look happy. “Is this really necessary?” He asked, quickly getting irritated, which led Blake to hop up onto the couch and calm him down. “It doesn’t really hurt that bad!” Eren persisted.

“Eren, it looks horrible. We need to get you to someone who can help.” Levi tied the laces tightly, moving to sit next to him on the couch, wrapping an arm around him. “I don’t know how you didn’t even notice it.” Seriously. How did you not notice? It looks ridiculously painful.

“Levi, it doesn’t hurt, really, I don’t want to go to the hospital to get it checked out, it doesn’t really bother me! Please! I don’t want to go!” Eren pouted, petting Blake with his right hand. I don’t want to go to get it set, because it’s probably too broken to set… I don’t want it to have another surgery… God no.

Lathe sat down on Eren’s left, looking at his wrist with extreme worry. “Eren, your wrist is busted very badly, probably dislocated, and I’m not about to let you go without at least a cast. Whether or not you feel it doesn’t matter. We need to get you to a doctor, now. Please. Let’s go.” He patted Eren’s knee, standing. “Levi, you have the keys?”
Levi reached into his pocket with his right hand, tossing him the keys. “Here.” He gently leaned over and gave Eren a peck on the lips, pulling him to his feet. “We just want you to be okay. It’ll be fine. We’ll bring Blake with us.” He let his arm slide from Eren’s waist, going to the kitchen to retrieve Blake’s vest, securing it in place. He took Blake’s leash in his right hand, immediately pulling Eren back against him with his left, feeling protective of him. “Come on, let’s go, okay?”

Let us make sure you’re okay.

Eren sighed, “Alright, fine, let’s get this over with.” Eren let them all pile into the car. Eren found himself in Levi’s lap, shivering from the outside cold air. Blake sat between Levi and Lathe, and the car ride was fairly quick to an Orthopedics Building about 15 minutes from their house. Which of course, when they entered, Lathe just had to know the lady at the front desk.

“Hey ‘Desce! That’s my son Eren and his boyfriend Levi. Eren busted his wrist and someone needs to check it out.”

She stared at Lathe with wide brown eyes, a dark brown lock of hair with the ends dyed purple falling into her face. She was deathly silent for a few seconds, her face neutral until she exclaimed “What?” ...You have a SON? Since when?!

“WHAT!? ” Eren’s eyes were wider than dinner plates. Did he just call me his son?! Is that really what he just fucking said!?

Lathe looked back to Eren, smiling mischievously. “What? You two are obviously together. I wouldn’t think it’d be a problem to say it.” He turned back to Iridesce. “I adopted Eren a few weeks ago. I thought I’d told you?”

She quirked an eyebrow, still shocked. “...You most certainly did not mention it in your Christmas card. I haven’t heard it from anyone. But that’s great!” She beamed, tucking her long hair behind her ear. “So Eren’s wrist is broken?”

Lathe’s smile dimmed, his mouth a serious line. “Shattered would probably be a better word for it. Most likely dislocated too. It needs at least to be set, or more if that’s not enough.” He leaned on the front counter, watching as Desce tapped quickly on her computer keyboard.

“Alright. I know you know what you’re talking about. I’ll see how soon we can get an x-ray done… I think we have a place in… less than an hour? Someone cancelled an appointment, and if everyone else was at least sort of on time, you’ll get in without too much of a wait.” She smiled. “You can have a seat over there. There’s a bunch of magazines everywhere, so you should be pretty occupied for a bit. If anything earlier comes up I’ll call you up first.”
“Thank you so much. Don’t I need to fill something out? I mean, Eren hasn’t been here before yet or anything.”

“Yeah, let me print out the forms you need.” She tapped on her keyboard, clicking away and handing him forms on a clipboard in no time. “Do you need a pen? Or do you still carry ten around with you?”

“I’ve got it.” He grinned, reaching into his coat pocket and ushering Eren and Levi into the waiting area. “Let’s sit down. It might be a while.”

Eren nodded and looked to Lathe as they sat down. “So why were you guys all happy go lucky this morning?” He asked, shifting his gaze over to Levi before reaching out to pet Blake and turning his focus to the dog. I couldn’t have sung that well… I don’t understand why Nate would even offer me something like that. I can’t even record anything. All I would be able to do would be a phone recording.

“Levi showed me the video of you singing with Nate Ruess onstage last night.” Lathe beamed at him. “You were so fabulous up there I can’t even tell you. It was seriously impressive. I heard that he’s going to try and get you a contract. That’s huge!” He split his attention between the papers in his lap and Eren. That… I can’t even begin to believe it!

“Lathe, I can’t really sing that well…. I can’t really…. I don’t know why he said that…” Eren trailed off, keeping his attention on Blake as he pet him. He looked around and he saw two young women sitting across the room from them, whispering and point at him. When the women noticed he was looking, they blushed and giggled. Why are they giggling and blushing? I don’t get it.... Eren watched as one of them came over to see him.

“You aren’t by any chance Eren? The guy who went and sang with Nate Ruess last night?” She asked quietly, her eyes full of hope.

“Uhh…. Yeah, I am…. Can I help you?” Eren asked, confusion clearly written across his face, his confusion furthering when the woman squealed and waved the other woman over.

“Could we get a picture with you? And maybe an autograph?”
Wait, what? Eren was at a loss at how to respond as the other woman came up to them. “Oh My Gosh! It’s really you! I can’t believe it!” The woman was so excited to even see him. Wait, are they serious right now? Eren looked over at Levi. What do I do?

Levi just nodded, his eyes bright. He’s famous already. That’s really cool. He nudged him, standing. “Go ahead- I’ll ask Desce for paper.” She should have enough to fork some over. He walked to the front desk.

Eren stood up and he got in between the two young ladies, who preceded to take pictures with him, mostly selfies, though they did ask Lathe to take a few pictures of them together. Blake was in those pictures, with his leash in Eren’s good hand. The women were smiling and excited the whole time, already voicing their plans to post the pictures of facebook. Facebook? What is that?

Levi came back from the desk and handed them two sheets of paper, Lathe letting Eren use the clipboard to sign his name.

Eren signed his name neatly on both sheets of paper and the ladies giggled happily giving him one last hug before they were called back for their appointment. Eren just watched from where he stood, completely stunned. “Um… what’s a facebook?” Eren asked innocently as he stood there. And what just happened? Do they think I’m a celebrity or something? If they do, they are sorely mistaken.

Lathe took back his clipboard, but had to consciously make an effort not to drop it at that question. ...HOW? “How… Facebook is this website where people put up photos of themselves and little snippets about their daily lives, and pretty much anyone can see what you put up on your profile, or ‘Wall,’ as it’s called.” I need to get you a PC you can actually use, dammit.

“So… they’re going to post those pictures of themselves with me…. And other people will be able to see it?” Eren asked and sat down as he tried to process everything that was currently happening. “But why would they want to post about me? And why did they ask for my signature?” He asked. Eren knew close to nothing on social norms or even what fangirls were… but he obviously had two already.

Levi looked at Eren incredulously. “You got up on stage last night and sang a kickass duet with Nate Ruess. They wanted your signature and a photo to post because they obviously attended the concert and loved your singing. That was a big thing that went down yesterday. You already have fans!” I just hope I don’t have to fight off too many fangirls in the times to come.

“Okay… but… is it already on this facebook? Did people post videos or pictures of me already?”
He asked quietly, Facebook was his only concern for right now… but what he really needed to worry about was Youtube and Twitter. Especially Nate Ruess’s twitter.

Levi already had his phone out, checking YouTube. Lathe got his out to check twitter. His eyes widened. “I typed in your first name and there are hundreds of results coming up. Twitter, Instagram, YouTube, Facebook, Tumblr… everything.” Holy Shit.

Levi looked up from his phone. “Someone from Nate’s crew got the whole thing on video and put it up… it’s got 2 million views and climbing.” Levi just stared at Eren in complete disbelief. …oh my god.

“Wait… WHAT? 2 million people have seen it!?!” Eren’s eyes were widened in shock. “And what is a twitter? And a youtube? You said a couple more, but what the hell are they?” Eren asked his eyes switching between the two of them to get answers from either of them.

Lathe started to rattle them off, counting on his fingers. “YouTube is a website where people post videos of all sorts of stuff, like music, home videos, anything, really. Instagram is this app where you post pictures of stuff from your day with captions explaining what’s going on. Tumblr… the pictures you post can be drawn or taken and pertain more to fandoms and followings of people. A fandom is the term for the fanbase of a specific thing, like a show or person. There are a few more, but those are the big ones. And you’re an absolute hit! The internet has officially gone cray.”

Ummm…. What? People are actually talking about me? Eren seemed at a loss for words… one of the technicians came to get him for an x-ray, pretty early, but things were going quickly, so the room was free. Eren stood quietly, Blake at his side.

“I’m sorry hun, but your dog needs to stay out here. If you need to bring someone with you, you can, but the dog can’t go in the x-ray room.” The old woman watched as Eren gave Lathe Blake’s leash and brought Levi back with him.

Eren followed quietly behind the woman, answering questions about the pain he was feeling so Eren told her honestly. “It’s just annoying when I put weight on it or pressure behind it, but besides that I didn’t even notice it.” I don’t think Lathe was right when he said it was shattered.

The old woman nodded and got his wrist ready for the x-rays, after putting the lead aprons on them. She wasn’t prepared for what she saw on the first picture. Eren’s wrist was dislocated, completely separated from the point it should’ve snugly fit into… and his wrist really was shattered. She sighed, going to reposition his wrist to get a few more pictures so she could get an accurate picture of all the pieces of shattered bones above the dislocation. The lady took the pictures and moved them to his file, telling them to go back out to the waiting room. “You’re wrist is horribly dislocated, and the bones above your wrist are completely shattered, hun. You’re most likely gonna need surgery, and probably some pins.” She told them as she led them out of the room.

Lathe had finished the paperwork by the time they came back out to the waiting room, and was showing Desce the video of Eren singing on his phone. He looked up, immediately addressing them. “How bad is it?”

Eren looked down, his face was still pale as he cradled his shattered wrist, still distraught about the outcome.

“Well, you were right. It is shattered, and his wrist is completely dislocated… I don’t know how you can’t feel it Eren.” Levi shook his head as they reclaimed their seats.

Lathe winced, taking his phone back and stowing it in his pocket. “Desce, work your magic for me. Can you get us an appointment to fix up Eren’s wrist?”

“I’m already on it. There’s an opening later today. I’ll put this in as a procedure to be done as soon as possible.” She clicked twice, a grin cracking across her face. “Oh, you’re going to like this. Guess who’s open today?”

Now what? “...who?”

“Dr. Scott Octavian.”

“You’re joking.” Lathe’s eyebrows disappeared behind his black hair.

“I am not. He’s got nothin’ going on at around two this afternoon. I’ll put you in. That alright?”

“Oh, of course! I heard he decided to become a doctor, but I didn’t know what the specifics were.”

“He’s a surgeon.” Desce booked the appointment and looked up to Lathe’s worried face. “It’s a shattered wrist. I’d be shocked if they put a cast on it and left it. He’s at the hospital a couple miles down the road, further south. You know the one?”

“Yeah.” Lathe pushed himself off the desk. “Thanks Desce. And someone needs to tell me these things. I thought that was what the whole Christmas card exchange was for.” Apparently that sort of stuff isn’t note-worthy. Apparently.

“...Just like how you didn’t mention you have a son now?”

Lathe blushed, glaring at her. ...Roasted. “It had been a month, Desce. It was a weird, intense, I-don’t-even-know month. But I probably should have mentioned that.”

A few hours later, the four of them had piled back into the car to head to the hospital where Eren’s appointment was. They were called into Dr. Octavian’s office a half hour before Eren was scheduled for surgery so he could talk with them about how the surgery would go.

Eren was nervous, gripping onto Blake’s leash as they walked through the white hallways. Why did I need to have surgery? Why? I don’t want to have them open my skin... It’ll bleed.... What if I bleed out? What happens if they can’t be fixed? Millions of thoughts were running through his head as they got closer to the doctor’s office. What happens if I can’t use it again? What happens if I can’t play the piano. Eren stopped in his tracks as the thought crossed his mind. No! That can’t happen! I need to be able to play piano! I can’t do this! I can’t! Eren was starting to freak out until Blake got hold of his good hand to bring him back to reality. I can’t do this Blake, I’m too scared! Eren took a few steps back from the direction they were heading, and Blake whined as he held Eren’s hand in his mouth still. No, I can’t do this Blake... Lathe I can’t do this... I don’t want to go into surgery.

Lathe turned as he heard Blake whine, taking in the panic on Eren’s face, flitting past his eyes. This isn’t going to go over easily. Lathe walked back to them, putting his hand on Eren’s shoulder and gently pulling him along, speaking softly. “You don’t have to worry, Eren. Scotty’s a great doctor and you’re going to come out of surgery as good as new. Swear it. Let’s just go to talk to him right now, and we’ll know exactly what’s going to happen and if there isn’t anything we can do to make this go smoothly, okay?”

Eren swallowed hard but nodded. He was quiet, sticking mostly to Lathe’s side since he knew that Lathe knew about what Grisha did to him in the basement. He knows... He can help... Lathe can help, he knows the doctor... Eren was struggling to calm himself as they entered the room and Blake was still whining about it as they sat down.

They hadn’t been sitting for more than a minute waiting when a wiry man with light brown hair walked in, skimming over a paper on a clipboard and consciously avoiding the top of the doorframe. He looked up to them and grinned, beaming when he spotted Lathe. “Hello!” He put the papers on the counter, coming over to shake their hands, giving Lathe a fistbump. “I’m Doctor Scott Octavian, and you two must be Eren and Levi? Desce told me a bit about you two. It’s nice to meet you.” He looked to Lathe with a mock accusing look. “How dare you not tell me you had a son?”

“I’m sorry! Yeesh, it’s been a cray month, but yeah. That’s a thing. And you need to stop being taller than me.”

“Can’t do much about that, Lathe. Sorry.” I’m not really sorry. He smiled good-naturedly, returning to business. “Alright, so I was told Eren’s wrist was shattered. Could you tell me how that happened?” His looks softened as he addressed Eren.

“Ah, we were at a concert last night… And there was this guy… He grabbed my wrist and tried to get me away from Levi, and his grip kept getting tighter and I felt it snap, but I didn’t think it was shattered, ‘cause it didn’t hurt that much…. But I knocked him out and gave him a bloody nose for it.” Eren had to pet Blake to keep himself calm as he told Scott, and it was the first time Lathe knew what exactly happened too. Hmm, he deserved the bloody nose, he didn’t even have good pick up lines.

Levi reached his arm over Eren’s shoulders, trying to keep him calm. Please don’t freak out. Please don’t. We need to go through with all this and get you better.

Scott picked up on Eren’s discomfort and studied Blake for a moment, understanding. Ah. This isn’t going to be easy for anyone here, is it? “That would definitely do it, with a strong enough grip. I can’t really explain how you didn’t feel the pain from the bone breaking, though. I hope I can alleviate some concern; this is a very run-of-the-mill procedure you’re asking me to do. Plates and pins are definitely necessary, but there’s very little risk of complication. Recovery will be a breeze as long as you don’t rush it. You’d be in a cast for about six weeks, then after two more you would be 100% good to go. Do you have anything specific you want to ask me about how everything will go?”

“Do I need to be knocked out?” He asked and held onto Blake tightly as the dog jumped up into the chair to calm him down. If he does… I won’t be able to do this… I’ll have an attack… I can’t…. I don’t want to have another one.
“You do. We need to keep you from moving during the procedure and from feeling any discomfort or pain.” He looked to Lathe, who had a very worried look on his face. There’s something I don’t know… It’s not my business, though. Not in it’s entirety. “I’m sorry, but it’s necessary. And I can’t let you bring your dog into the room during surgery. It could compromise our ability to perform appropriately and the sterile environment.”

Eren’s grip tightened around Blake. The dog knew that Eren was gonna have an attack if this persisted so he was already clambering off of Eren’s lap and pulling the boy to the floor and getting ready to ground him. Nononononono…. I don’t want it out! I don’t want it out! Eren’s mind was in a complete wreck at the thought of being put under again. Blake had already started to ground Eren, a sure sign that this was not going well with Eren, and already starting to bring up painful memories. I don’t want it out!

Lathe leaned forward, about to go down with Eren and help him, but Levi was already there, cradling him and muttering in his ear. What could we do? His eyes widened as a thought crossed his mind. “What if I was there with him?” Lathe looked at Scott intensely, who had backed up to give Eren room. “I could be of use. And I could help keep him calm. He needs to have this done.”

Scott looked to Eren, to Levi, and back to Lathe. “It’d be a crime not to try and fix his arm. And we could use an extra set of hands. Alright. I’ll show you where you need to go and get properly dressed later. Right now, um…” He looked to Eren again. I don’t know how to properly deal with this… Um… I’ll just let Levi and their dog handle it, I guess…

Eren calmed down after a few minutes of Blake and Levi by his side. He seemed a little lethargic after his attack, but that was to be expected. I’ll be okay if Lathe’s with me… I won’t freak out if he’s there. Eren was soon taken by nurses to get dressed for his operation and was helped onto a stretcher, waiting to be called into the operating room.

Eren, though he was still out of it from his earlier attack, felt overcome with worry when a surgical team came to wheel him into the operating room. What are they doing? Where are we going? I don’t see Lathe and I want him to be here and he said he’d be here for me where is he… Eren felt one of the team tap his shoulder, looking up behind him to his left to see Lathe, grinning from behind a blue mask, wearing scrubs.

I didn’t bail, don’t worry. I’ve got you. Lathe kept pace with the rest of the team, acting as the Operating Room Nurse. When they entered the dark room and positioned Eren under spotlights, he saw fear bloom across Eren’s face again. He rested his hand on Eren’s arm. “You don’t have to worry about a thing, Eren. We’ll take good care of you.” He helped drape Eren and sterilize his arm. He watched as Scott spoke to the anesthesiologist, giving them permission to put in the IV. Lathe stepped to Eren’s other side for a moment, holding onto his hand. You’ll be fine. Out like a light before you can count to ten.
Eren barely felt the IV being inserted into his arm. His gaze was focused on Lathe for all but three seconds before his eyes started to close. This stuff works quick…. Eren was knocked out without incident for the whole 1 hour procedure.

Everything went off without a hitch. Lathe handed Scott everything he needed and called for, putting in metal plates and pins, reassembling Eren’s bones and stitching the wound back up. Eren was taken to a room where they waited for the anesthesia to wear off, Lathe getting out of his scrubs and sitting by his bed with Levi on the other side with Blake. They were both on their phones looking up recording stuff and debating their findings when Eren started waking up.

Eren’s eyes cracked open slowly. Shit… What happened? My body feels like lead. Eren looked up to the white ceiling and almost instantly started to freak out because he didn’t know where the hell he was, struggling to sit up. Blake jumped up on the bed and licked at his face to calm him down.

Lathe immediately put down his phone, taking hold of Eren’s right hand. “Eren don’t you worry, it’s Lathe, and you’re in the hospital. You just woke up, and the operation was a complete success. You don’t have to panic.” He rested his other hand on his shoulder, prepared to hold him down if needed. You can’t move too much. The medicine is still working it’s way through your system and we can’t have you overdoing anything.

Eren looked up at Lathe and around the room silently. He opened his mouth to try and speak, but his mouth was too dry to even get a few words out, so he opted to nod. He laid back down on the hospital bed and let Blake come and lay right up with him. So my wrist is okay then? Eren lifted his left arm to find it wrapped in a white cast. Huh…. I would’ve picked green but oh well. I’m making him get me a pack of Sharpies then.

He could use water. Lathe reached over to the bottle of water and the glass on the table next to them, filling it and handing it to him. “I didn’t know what color you’d want your cast, so I got you white. Easier to doodle on.” He gave him a mischievous grin.

Eren sipped at the glass and nodded. “Sharpies.” Eren croaked out before sipping more at the water. I need sharpies to be able to do that Lathe… What will people think at school? Eren looked over to Levi to see what he was doing, finding him engrossed in his phone. What’s he doing?

“I’ll get you plenty of Sharpies. As long as you let me help you decorate it.” He followed Eren’s gaze. Riiight. We haven’t done much talking about recording stuffs. “Earth to Levi, the bf’s awake.”
Levi put down his phone, giving him a small smile. “Sorry ‘bout that. We were both looking up microphones and such for you while you were still out. How’re you feeling?” Hopefully not like shit.

“ Weird.” Eren said quietly as he sipped at his water. “Why… Microphones?” He asked quietly. He had no idea what the two of them were doing. Microphones? Why are they looking for microphones?

“Remember meeting Nate Ruess last night?” Levi smirked. “Anything about sending him a recording sound familiar?”

Levi pulled out Eren’s phone from a bag next to him with Eren’s clothes in it, pulling up his contact and showing him. “Pretty sure.”

“That’s…. He gave me his phone number?” He asked in disbelief and he had a huge smile on his face. That actually happened!! OMFG!

How do you not remember this? “Yeah, he did! He asked you to send him a sample of you singing and he’d try and get you a contract, get his producer interested.” Okay, he did seem pretty out of it and it is hard to believe. But it happened!

Eren looked up to Lathe to see if Levi was actually telling the truth, because he couldn’t believe it. “I can’t sing that well though…” Eren said, his confusion clearly etched across his face. “And I don’t have any recording equipment…” Eren trailed off looking back at Levi. Oh, that’s why he’s looking for microphones.

“Yet.” Lathe grinned, picking his phone back up and handing it to Eren, the video of him singing onstage. “And you sang so unbelievably well last night! I think you could really do something with it. The recording stuff and your voice. You could make it into a career if you tried hard enough, I think. But do you hear yourself? You were better than Nate!"

“I was?” Eren asked and looked down at the phone and at the YouTube video that was from Nate’s channel. The video already had two and a half million views. “Is this really me?” He asked quietly and he pushed play and he was surprised by himself. That’s me singing?
Lathe watched Eren’s expression shift. “That’s really you.” How can you not remember something like that?

“How can you not remember something like that? Everyone was going absolutely wild! Nobody could believe their ears when you hit every single high note there was. It was really impressive!” Levi tapped on his phone, showing it to Lathe. “What about these specs?”

“Nice. Put it on the watch list.” We’ll sort through the rest of our options with that later. “So, since you’re awake, I think we can leave after we fill out paperwork. I’ll go see what I can find out about that, alright?” He stood, pushing the curtain aside and looking for a nurse.

Eren nodded looking over to Levi. “What kind of camera have you found?” He asked quietly. I really want to try this. What song should I do?

“There’s this camera called a Canon EOS Rebel T4i that has really good quality for taking still photos as well as video, which is good, and we’re probably going to need a couple extra memory cards, maybe, I dunno. But the microphone… there’s an Audio Technica AT2020 which looks pretty good, regarding the specs and reviews of it. And obviously as for headphones, you need a pair of Beats. And don’t try and say no to any of this.” He looked to Eren and stopped him before he could protest. “At least with the headphones, you love music so damn much you were bound to end up getting a pair eventually. The Studio ones are wireless… and this pattern with the white pixels on it looks so cool! Yep, it’s settled. You’re getting these. But the real thing we have to worry about is the computer. You hate Lathe’s laptop, so we need to get something with an operating system you can use.” He scrolled down, looking at the list of options.

Lathe came back, sighing and running a hand through his hair. “Ugh, I don’t like having to argue as to the mistakes on the damn bill. Half the time there’s so much wrong on it. Levi, remember we can always add more hard drive space and memory. If it has a damn good processor, it’s being considered.” He grinned, plopping back down next to Eren, smiling gently at him. “Whenever you’re ready to get up, you can change and we can get going.”

“I’m thinking a Cyberpower, or an Alienware. They’re both really really good.” He read further. “This Cyberpower has a better graphics card.”

“That one, then. I have a feeling you’ll want to use it for drawing and photography, too.” He looked back to Levi. “See if there’s a good printer on there, actually. I don’t have one. One with a big scanner.”
“HP Printers. Got it.” He typed quickly, handing it to him. “That good?”

“We don’t need the industrial one.” He tapped one next to it. “Better.” Well, I know what we’re doing with Sue’s old room now.

“Cool. We can finish checking stuff out later. But we should probably get going.” Levi stowed his phone in his pocket, reaching to the bag of Eren’s clothes. “Do you need help?” You still seem kinda loopy.

Eren nodded. Oh yeah, I don’t think I can do this myself. Eren was able to swing his legs over and the side of the hospital bed. “Yeah, please.” He said quietly, reaching for Levi’s shirt so he had something to grab when he stepped onto the cold floor. His legs shaking already. Holy shit, the anesthetic is… Holy shit! I can’t feel my legs… Eren was holding onto Levi trying not to let his knees buckle out from under him.

Levi caught Eren right away, lifting him back up to sit on the edge of the bed. “Oh my. Let’s just focus on getting your shirt back on for right now. He helped Eren shift and get the light blue cloak off, leaving him in just his boxers. He handed him his shirt.

Lathe smacked his forehead. “We’re in fucking hospital. Of course. Do you want me to wrap your back again, Eren?” Ugh, and I was about to let him go without them because I thought I didn’t have any to wrap him with. Well, he doesn’t need them as much as he used to, but still.

Eren looked down at his torso, now finally noticing that the wraps weren’t there. “Yeah…. When did they come off?” Eren asked. When did they….? I don’t remember taking them off either… What?

“The nurses who helped you get into that gown probably took them off for you. You were really out of it from your attack, and with the anesthesia, I’m not surprised your memory’s fuzzy. I'll see if I can't get you some. Hopefully they won’t tell me I'd need to pay a hundred bucks for it.” He muttered under his breath and walked behind the curtain again, looking for anyone who could get him some.

Levi reached into the bag and retrieved Eren’s jeans. “Let’s give this another shot.” Levi helped Eren put his feet through the legs of the jeans, reaching to hold him up so he could step down and finish getting them on.
Eren carefully stepped down, holding onto Levi as he knees buckled out from under him. “I still can’t feel my legs.” Eren’s voice was still a bit groggy, his arms wrapped around Levi’s shoulders. But at least the jeans are back on… Are these my ass-hugging jeans? They feel tight...

Levi heaved Eren back onto the bed. 100 pounds of dead weight. Lovely. He reached back into the bag and knelt down to help Eren with his socks and the metal cap-toed boots, lacing them up tightly. He looked up as Lathe came back with three rolls of bandages.

“Look what I found. I passed Scott in the hall and he nicked me these. Two seconds and we should be good.” He worked quickly, going over some places with the wraps twice before hooking it off. “I don’t have scissors so we’re just going to go with it. You can put your shirt on now. I’ll take those stitches out next week, I’m thinking.”

Eren nodded and he was able to get the shirt over his head without any trouble. “So I can go now?” He asked quietly. He left the hospital band across his right wrist, not really minding that it was there. “I would like to go… But I still can’t feel my legs…” Eren told them and looked up to Lathe.

Lathe looked pointedly at Levi.

Levi sighed in mock exasperation. “Okay, here we go.” He carefully snaked his arms behind Eren’s back and under his knees, lifting him up and holding him close. He smirked at Eren’s reddening face. Dammit stop being cute.

“Cool.” Lathe stepped around them to grab Blake’s leash and the bag next to Levi’s chair, moving to hold the curtain open for the two of them.

Eren buried his red face into Levi’s neck, hanging onto Levi with his arms around his shoulders. “Thank you.” Eren whispered quietly to him and held on as they left the building and started to shiver as they stepped outside into the cold air. “It’s cold outside.” He whimpered and tried to press himself closer to Levi for warmth.

Lathe led them to the car, unlocking it and opening the passenger door for them. “Hop in and I’ll turn on the heater. It’s too cold for this…” He let Blake hop in and situate himself on the seat in the middle, going around to get behind the wheel and start it.

Eren shivered, his teeth chattering as he clung to Levi. I'm fucking freezing again. I need to get warm. “I’m cold..” Eren shivered and trembled in his arms. Levi I’m really cold, seriously, hurry
Levi quickly situated himself in the passenger seat, buckling the seatbelt and turning the heat on high the second the keys were in the ignition. He held Eren on his lap, his back pressed to his chest, tangling their legs and holding his hands, trying to rub some warmth into them. They feel like fucking icicles already. You really were not made for the cold in any way shape or form. Not good.

Eren pressed himself against Levi. So fucking cold. He shivered for a majority of the ride. Eren sighed as he felt the warmth against his chest. The warmth feels good.

Lathe pulled into a craft store a few minutes later, shutting off the car. “I’m just going to grab a bunch of Sharpies. I’ll only be a few minutes.” He left the keys in the ignition so the heater would keep running and walked in, scanning the signs above the aisles for Sharpies. He stopped dead as he looked down one aisle to his right, seeing the wall. He walked quickly over and saw a five foot stretch of wall covered entirely with cups and cups of individual sharpies in all colors. He picked one up, inspecting it. They’re the double-ended kind, with the ultra-fine tip... I want all of them. He looked around for a basket of some sort, walking down two aisles and picking out a plastic bin, filling it with three of each Sharpie from the wall. Everyone’s gonna think I’m insane. But whatevs. He walked to the front of the store and set the bin down on the counter, smiling at the very surprised cashier. “I’d like all these, please.” It took nearly ten minutes to scan everything before he could pay and traipse back to the car, putting the bag in the trunk and reclaiming his place in the driver’s seat, trying to close the door quietly when he saw Eren completely passed out in Levi’s arms, smiling. He resumed their trip back home, pulling into the driveway in a few minutes and shutting the car off. “I’ll get your door.” He hopped out, Blake’s leash in hand and opened their door.

Levi carefully shifted Eren in his arms, careful of his head as he lifted him out of the car. He followed Lathe as he opened the door to the house for them, toeing off his shoes on the mat. He spoke quietly. “I’m gonna take him downstairs again. Can you get the door?”

Lathe closed the door behind them, unclipping Blake’s leash and moving to the scripting room. “Of course.” He opened the door and turned on the stairwell light, letting them pass. He checked his bronze watch. “It’s about two right now. I’ll make us a late lunch if you’re hungry.”

“Sure, that’d work. Then we can figure out exactly what we’re getting him and where we’re going to put it in the house.” Levi disappeared down the stairs before reappearing with Eren’s boots and his pants. He set the boots by the door before going to get his sweatpants upstairs, disappearing downstairs again to put them on Eren, tucking him in the nest. Where he found all these pillows and blankets, I still have yet to know. Once he knew that Eren was comfortable, he came upstairs, pulling his phone out as he sat at the kitchen table going through the Amazon watch list.
Lathe’s laptop was still set up on the kitchen table, and he was scrolling through all the options they had added to the Amazon watch list. “We’re probably going to put all this stuff in Sue’s old room, which has pretty much just been there for a month. There’s a desk, of course. I'll need to see if I have another power strip for all the things we’d need to plug in. There’s a wireless set of headphones here which I like. The wired ones would just end up tangled in something.” He skimmed through the specs for the computer. “It has four USB things, which is good. He could use a hard drive, too, now that I think of it. I need paper or something to write this down. Eh, I'll just pick one from on here while I think of it.” Typing, and four more clicks. “That’s a good camera, that Canon one you have picked out. A tripod would be a good thing to have…” Two more clicks. “Cool mic.” He skimmed through the specs. “This is the most important bit. It looks pretty good. The only problem… Is that you picked the grey one when the chrome one looks way cooler.” He grinned. Another click. He leaned back and looked to Levi. “Did you find anything else you’d want to take into consideration? Or is that okay? You can keep looking on here while I cook if you want to.”

Levi nodded, skimming through more on Amazon. “Hmm… Should we get him some recording software? There seems to be some really good stuff to make good YouTube videos.”

“Is any of it from Adobe?”

“There’s two… But most of it’s not.”

“Adobe has really good stuff, and it’s all easy to learn. I'll sign in and look into it when my hands aren’t full.” Lathe was in the middle of making hot sandwiches, frying beef and onions.

“Alright, what we having?” Smells good whatever it is.

“I found some shaved beef in the fridge, and I'm frying that with onions and we can put it on bread for hot sandwiches. There’s mozzarella cheese too, if you want.”

“Sure, that works….. What kind of drawing tablet should we get him? You know he’s gonna want one sooner or later.”

“...oh what the hell was it called… It had a hella long name… I think it was a Wacom Cintiq… 22HD Drawing Tablet thingy… about 19” by 11” or something like that? See anything like that? I saw it not too long ago. I was pondering whether or not to get it.” Lathe sprinkled mozzarella on top of the meat and set a lid on it, waiting for it to melt.
"I got it… It says that it’s compatible with Microsoft processors, so I guess we’re going with that then?" Levi asked as he pulled up the expensive tablet and put it on the watch list.

"…that’s the question, actually. I think we’ll have it run Windows. I don’t think Eren’d want to mess with Linux or anything like that. But really any processor would work."

“That probably would be best.” Levi went through to make sure he was getting the best of the best. “This one is really expensive Lathe… Are you sure about it?” He looked at the price tag which doubled the price of the entire watch list.

“Go for it. Money's no object.” A flicker of sadness passed his eye, but Levi didn't catch it. “As long as he lets me borrow it sometime, we’re good.” He grinned.

“Alright. Then on the watch list it goes.” Levi said and he looked around Amazon a bit more. “Does he play anything besides the piano?” He asked quietly, looking back over to Lathe.

“Y’know, I don't know. I don't think so- he’s never mentioned any other instruments.” Lathe slid half the contents of the pan onto one slice of bread, the rest on another. I wonder if he’d want to learn another one. He handed Levi one of the sandwiches, sitting adjacent to him. I still have it downstairs… I wonder if he’d want me to teach him how to play it? It would be kinda neat… I think. At least, I think it would be neat…

Levi thanked him as he took his first bite. “So, since we’re remodeling Sue’s room, where are we gonna put the bed? He’s gonna want it out of that room, so it’s just free space… I mean he moved the table out of the center downstairs… So there’s a lotta space to move around.” Levi thought about how they would go about redoing the room. “Think he’s gonna wanna paint the walls?” He took another bite. Maybe Eren’ll want a YouTube to post all his music videos… And maybe he can do time lapses of him drawing… The camera can handle that.

“If he doesn't paint the walls, I will.” Lathe beamed. “He’s definitely gonna want to. And I’m not sure where the bed will go. We might just end up donating it.”

“You could probably throw it in his room, since we’ve been sleeping in his nest downstairs for the past three weeks.” Levi took another large bite of sandwich. “We might need to set up a YouTube and Twitter for him, maybe even a Facebook while we’re at it.” Levi rattled off the things Eren would need to get himself out there in the world.
Lathe was content to just listen, though he barely touched his sandwich. “He’s definitely going to need social media accounts with all this attention he’s getting. While he’s still a big topic we should get him up and out there.” The sooner the better, with everyone talking about him.

“I can do that once we have his computer… So when he wakes up should we make sure he likes everything?” He took another bite of his sandwich. Why isn’t he eating?

“Yeah, we should make sure he likes the colors, the styles, etcetera. Until then, just leave them on the watch list.” Lathe’s eyes wandered over the table. He should like what he’s getting.

So… How do get a recording from the camera to the computer? Eren asked Lathe again as they set up the camera, just to make sure he was going to do this right. I have all the paint I need to this right? Eren looked over at the various different cans of paint colors and brushes.

Lathe smiled, pointing to the cord connecting to the computer. “The camera is connected to the computer here with USB. When you hit record, this program,” He pointed to the program running up on the screen. “Will understand that you want to record and save it under the title ‘Wall Painting Time Lapse’ which you can always rename later, too. When you're done you can just hit the red button again, and the entire thing will come up here, ready to edit. Easy.”

“Okay that’s easy enough… Thanks for going to get the paint earlier, I’m gonna start it soon, so I’ll be down for dinner when I’m done.” Eren smiled and started to open quite a few cans of dark green paint.

Alright. Don't make me drag you down for dinner, even if you're still not done. Have fun.” Lathe beamed, walking over and closing the door behind him. I wonder what he’s gonna do with all that free space on the walls… I'll see soon enough.

Eren smiled and started to record on the camera. He took 7 hours to paint a beautiful scene of a small stream running over rocks in a colorful forest. He had also used glow paint in the flowers so that they would flow in the nights, and the detail was incredible as he smiled back at the camera and finished the recording. Well I finished before dinner, I better wash my hands before I touch anything else. Eren then scampered off to go and wash his hands. “It’s Finished!” Eren yelled down the stairs on his way to the bathroom.
Lathe looked over his shoulder, setting down his potholders and noting the time left on the oven. Two minutes. I want to see it! It's done! He scurried over to and up the stairs, coming into the room, careful not to touch the walls. His jaw dropped. Oh. My God. He walked up close to the far long wall, studying the detail of a flower. He got so much detail in... it took him seven full hours to do all this.

Levi had been at the kitchen table, following Lathe up the stairs with curiosity. His eyes went impossibly wide at the beautiful scene that ran the length of three walls. ...it’s amazing. It looks so pretty, and there’s so much detail... Levi slowly walked the length of the painting. Oh my God.

Eren, you have some serious talent.

Eren came back into the room seeing them look around the three walls. “So what do you think?” Eren asked them and smiled. “What other rooms am I gonna do after this?” He asked in a sarcastic tone thinking this would be the only room he was actually do this to. Surely Lathe won’t let me paint anywhere else, but that would be cool, I could do something different in other rooms, put you in another part of the world.

“Y’know, I was thinking the hall could use some sprucing up. Or if you wanted to you could try doing metal and gears on the ceiling in my room.” Lathe had his hand on his chin as he studied the wall, seriously considering it. “I wonder if the staircase would look good like a desert or a sandstormy thing...”

Eren looked at him with wide eyes. “Are you serious?” Eren asked him quietly, his eyes gave away his disbelief. I didn't think he would consider it.

“Now I really want a sandstorm somewhere.” He looked over to Eren. “Oh, I'm dead serious. That’d actually be the neatest thing if you wanted to paint the house different things like this. Desert scenes, fields, rain, I don't know. Anything! But if you want to and they turn out half as good as this,” He spread his arms wide, beaming at the impressive mural. “Go right ahead.” You really did do an amazing job. I love it!

“O-okay.” Eren blushed and raced out of the room when the oven chimed signalling dinner was ready. “FOOD!!” Eren screamed as he ran down the stairs, going to take his nausea pill.

Oh my. Lathe went after him, going to reclaim his oven mitts and take the pot roast out of the oven, setting it on the stove next to a pot of mashed potatoes. He had the table set in a minute, handing Eren and Levi a plate and a mug of tea, sitting down with his own. I wonder if I can actually get him to do the ceiling. That would be the greatest thing in the history of ever.
Eren loaded his plate, happy with the food Lathe had made. “Pot Roast!” Eren’s voice was full of excitement. He sat down at his spot and he looked like the happiest teen in the world. He had paint smeared all over his forehead too.

...did he not notice in the mirror? Lathe tried to suppress a chuckle as he watched Eren dig into his food, having been taught over the past week how to use a knife.

Levi smiled at Eren’s enthusiasm, quirking an eyebrow at the paint on his face. He nudged his feet under the table, amused. Stop being so cute. ...Wait, actually, please don’t.

Eren dug into his food and smiled happily. “I think I figured out what song I want to send to Nate.” Eren announced and looked up to see if the two of them would show any emotions on their faces. I wonder what they’re thinking.

...this is gonna be good. “Which one?” Lathe looked to him with interest, curious. Levi’s expression mirrored his.

“Bohemian Rhapsody by Queen.”

Lathe had to make a conscious effort not to drop his fork in surprise, his eyes wide. “That’s a really difficult song. Your voice is going to go all over the place; recording it right, you’d have to do it four times over to get the individual pitches in. Though, I think you could do it. And it’d sound amazing if you did it right. If you're up to it, that’s a great choice.” It’d sound fabulous- every executive out there would be fighting to snatch you up hearing it.

Eren nodded. “Would you be able to help me get the pitches recorded smoothly on top of each other?” He picked up another fork full of food, smiling wide.

“Of course! It’ll be easy enough to do from a technical standpoint, putting the recordings on top of each other, which I’ll make sure you know how to do too, for later. And I’ll help you figure out how high or low you need to sing specific parts of the song, if that’s what you mean.” That’s a thing that needs doing. It'll be simple, most likely. Hopefully.

Eren smiled, finishing off his plate, and started to do the dishes.
It took four days to get the video of Eren singing perfectly aligned so it sounded perfect. His voice was close to rivaling Freddy Mercury’s by the end of editing the video and he didn’t use anything to mess with his voice at all. So there Eren sat, in front of his computer about to upload the video onto YouTube. “Lathe… Does it really sound okay? We don’t need to edit it anymore?” He asked worriedly. I don’t want it to be horrible and then Nate will think I’m complete trash.

“We’re done editing it and Eren, it sounds too perfect. It can’t get any better. Really.” He beamed, running a hand through his black hair.

“O-okay.” Eren stuttered for a second before he started to upload the file and titled it: Eren Yeager: Bohemian Rhapsody Cover. “How long is it gonna take to upload?” Eren asked curiously since he hadn’t uploaded a video onto his YouTube account yet since Lathe had not finished recording all his piano music yet for the time lapse.

“I heard it takes a couple hours. This is a good computer, sooo… Four? Ish? It'll be awhile for rendering the video.” They had recorded video of Eren singing the individual parts, the screen split in four so you could see him as he sang in the four individual pitches. It turned out great! This is going to drive the Internet crazy, I think. Everyone's still waiting to see him.

Three and a half hours later the video was posted onto his account. Eren was nervously staring at his phone.

~Hi Mr. Ruess, it's Eren

-It’s Nate, Eren. And hi!

~ So… I kinda made a YouTube account and posted the video on there, is that okay?

-Does it have the video of you actually singing?

~ Yeah, that’s all it is...

-Okay I didn't know if you'd just have a random clip art or what but that's great! What’s the link? Or actually, what's your username?

~ Eren_Yeager

- Cool I'll look it up gimme a minute

-YOU DID BOHEMIAN RHAPSODY!?!?!?!??!

-YOU /NAILED/ IT OH MY GOD
~ That’s good… Right?

-Everyone I know is going to be tripping over themselves trying to get a contract to you first that’s how good it is

~ Do you need another one? Or… Is that one okay for right now?

-I’d say you're good for right this moment as for me and what I'm doing for you over here but you should probably think about other songs to cover and put up

-Start up and keep up a good YouTube profile

~ Okay, I will, umm… Should I text you again when I post something? Or are you just going to follow me on YouTube… Or whatever you do on that site.

-I'm officially your third subscriber. But I'm gonna text you every time I see you put something up probably and just gush about how great it is FYI

~ You really don't have to push yourself for that…. And I have 3? Already? I just uploaded that video like 5 minutes ago...

-I need to tweet about this hold on

~ I got a Twitter too

-YAS is it the same username or what

~ No underscore

-Cool I just tagged you

~ What’s a tag?

-It means when I wrote my tweet I specifically mentioned your profile, and people could click on your name and go to your profile

-I also put in the link to the video so you're about to get a lot of views ~Wait… You can do that? Sorry, i’m new to the tech scene… I have no idea what the hell I’m doing.

-That's totally okay and yeah, you can do that! Seriously, I’d give this ten minutes to really start to explode

-People still will not shut up about how fabulous you were at the concert and I understand their enthusiasm

~ it was weird… I had two women come up to me and ask for pictures and an autograph at the Orthopedic center.

-Already being swarmed by fans. And what you doin’ at an Orthopedic place?

~ Ah… Yeah… There was this guy at your concert… And he wouldn’t let go of my wrist.
~ He ended up shattering a part of my arm, and dislocated my wrist…

~ I knocked him out though, and gave him a bloody nose.

~ sends picture of decked out cast

-Please tell me you broke his nose that’s fucking terrible I'm really sorry

~ I think I did… I felt something move under my fist… And he was bleeding pretty badly before the security guy came and dragged him out.

~ And it’s not like you did anything wrong… My bones are just easy to break I guess.

-Did all this shit occur before you came onstage or am I blind

-By the way that is the coolest looking cast I've ever seen

~ No it was before, and thank you for pulling me up by my good hand.

~Thanks! Me and my Dad did it!

-An artist /and/ a singer! Next thing you tell me is you have a book on the bestseller list ~ Oh no, I’m not a big writer but you see the forestry thing behind me in the videos?

-Yeah you get a green screen or something? It's really cool

~ I painted that.

-...You've got to be fucking kidding you painted that?!

~ yeah, my Dad isn’t finished recording the piano music that we’re going to put in the video, but I’m putting up a time lapse of it.

~The video will be at least an hour long.

-How long did all that take? Must've been ages and ages. And your Dad plays the piano? Does he write stuff or just do covers ~ Seven hours… I did it a few days ago, looks pretty cool huh? I’ll need to send you a picture of my Dad’s Study’s ceiling.

~ He does both, let me get a picture hold on.

~ Sends picture of Galaxy ceiling

-That is the coolest thing ever. And seven hours is a really long time

~ Nah, it’s not that long… It takes longer to do a ceiling… I’m working on my Dad’s bedroom ceiling, but it’s just outlines right now, since I was recording the past few days.

-So you're just taking over the entire house with paintings

~ Yup, and I got actual drawings hanging up too. Mostly in my room too… Mostly Levi. :P
-I completely approve. Just take over the entire house with paintings and drawings ~ Oh! You wanna see my favorite?

-Yes you need to show me

~ sends picture of Levi’s shirtless abs, from the beginning of Christmas Break

-It looks like you took an actual picture and didn't even draw it that is amazing

~Thank you! Oh and I meant to ask you… Do you mind if I tinker with a few of your songs?

-Like the ones from fun. Or just my stuff from Grand Romantic

~ Both

-the songs from fun. I'd need to talk to the whole crew about, so I dunno but you can go right ahead with messing with Grand Romantic songs

-But like what would you do with them mess with the lyrics mostly or the music

~ No the pitch and the pace mostly… I want to slow a few down and play them on piano and put them in a higher pitch.

-That's what YouTube is for! As long as you're not trying to sell them or anything you're good ~ No… I would never! That would be like blasphemy to me!

-Lol good no blaspheming here! But yeah it'd be cool to see you cover my songs you'd do a wonderful job of it ~Awesome! Could you see what the video’s at now? I’m not in the computer room, and I’m tired as all hell, so I don’t want to climb two flights of stairs.

-Let’s see, at the fifteen minute mark, ten thousand views and climbing by the hundreds.

-Wait like an hour and check it'll have at least a million guaranteed

~You really think so? People don’t really know that I’m the guy who sang with you though….

-That's why I tweeted it I literally said ‘We found the guy who sang at my concert! He sings like a pro and he just got a YouTube! Check him out as Eren_Yeager @ErenYeager!’

~ Oh… Thank you, also can you thank the guy in your crew who posted the video? Of me on stage with you?

-Eren he got raises for days so he’s good, and I'll pass that along

~ Oh cool. I’d love to sing with you again :D It was REALLY cool

-The next time I don't have twenty things happening in one day I'm taking you up on that because that was legit the most fun I've ever had performing ~ Alright, I gotta go, Levi’s pulling me to go to sleep… So Good Night Nate!

-‘Night Eren! Say hi to Levi for me

Eren smiled as he turned his phone off for the night, curling up to Levi’s side. “Nate says ‘Hi.’
And he thinks that I’ll have a million views in an hour…” Eren murmured sleepily against Levi’s chest. That's awesome… He thinks it sounds great.

Levi wrapped his arms around Eren, one hand carding through his hair. He hummed in assent.
“You'll probably have twice that many in the morning at least.” Levi yawned, finding it hard to stay awake.

Eren nodded, though soon his breathing evened out, signalling that he was deep asleep, his internet popularity climbing through the roof.
Over the past two months, a lot of things happened. Eren had posted the finished timelapse of painting his recording room. That video alone boosted his subscribers from 350,000 that came with the cover of Queen to well over half a million. Eren was still getting the hang of Twitter and Facebook, and with Levi’s help was able to link all of his accounts together, even getting Twitter verified pretty quickly. Eren decided to lift Lathe’s ban from the basement after about a month, given the condition that his ‘nest’ of blankets and pillows on the air mattress would not be touched. So of course, Lathe agreed to that and was allowed downstairs again. Eren had also done nothing sexual with Levi since getting the cast on his left arm. Nothing, but he figured Levi would be able to hold out. Eren continued to post more videos of mostly him singing different songs and maybe playing the piano along with it, and the internet was going crazy for him. Producers from all over the country had started to call the house and leave messages on the house phone, one after another after another. It seemed like for the past month the phone hadn’t stopped ringing. Everyone was getting sick of it, Eren especially since a majority of the callers were producers he’d never even heard of hoping to make it big. Eren also couldn’t go anywhere in town without people recognizing him and wanting pictures or autographs, especially school. The girls went crazy about him, especially whenever he posted a new video, and the same ones would ask for autographs to send to their cousins... or other relatives who apparently wanted his autograph. Eren had also moved with the rest of his table to join with Levi’s table, so he mostly sat either next to Levi at lunch, or completely on his lap. He enjoyed sitting on his lap more. After a few days of that arrangement Jean had come around and apologized for breaking Eren’s nose on the first day of school, and that was what began the bickering. The two of them always ended up fighting about something, most of the time it was about something small, and not worry of being fought over, and most of the time it just led to the two of them duking it out to see who could come up with the best insults.... Eren always won, ‘cause he’d start roasting Jean in German, and just making everything sound like a horse insult to everyone else. As it got closer to Lathe’s birthday, Eren finished up his ceiling, even making a timelapse out of it. He closed the door and put a bow on it and smiled as he went to go and get Lathe to see his early birthday present. Eren was happy when Lathe almost hugged him to death for it.

Levi chucked his book across the room as the phone rang for the third time in an hour. They never. Fucking. Stop. It’s great that Eren’s getting so popular, and if we were getting called by bigger producers, that’d be a whole other thing. But these are people who have no idea what they’re doing, really. We don’t want that. The attention he’s been getting at school is pretty cool, though. So many girls keep coming up to him for autographs, giggling like maniacs. He finally moved to our lunch table, and he brought Armin and the rest of his friends with, the former part of which I think Erwin appreciates. He keeps getting into roast battles with Jean, which is actually pretty impressive, given how much he wins. His German insults are actually better than his English ones most of the time. It's kinda cool, kinda scary. But it seems like all he’s been doing lately is art and music and singing. It’s pretty neat, a lot of the artsy stuff that he’s been doing, and his voice still sounds fucking amazing and sexy as all hell... But he’s been fucking ignoring me in certain departments. I get a kiss sometimes. That’s really been it. He hasn’t needed much help in the shower anymore since Lathe took the stitches out of his back... His cast came off, too. That’s good... I mean it’s good that he’s healing up and able to shower by himself again and not have to worry about pain or freezing to death, but really... I miss being able to hug him and kiss him whenever I want. He’s locked away in his recording room or some other room he’s painting half the time, or we’re bid to be silent while he’s playing the piano. I’m trying not to practically jump him at this point, but if he keeps me waiting for much longer, I just might. We need to fix that.
Spades came to visit on Lathe’s birthday.

It had been a relatively quiet morning, a school day, but Lathe took the day off. He was still up way too early, sipping chocolate coffee at six in the morning, greeting a very sleepy pair of teens who wished him a Happy Birthday, Eren demanding a hug. Levi handed him a small present, and Lathe opened the lid of the box to a Swiss Army Knife, with small saw blades and scissors and screwdrivers. He beamed. That's really cool!

Spades had come over at around eleven that morning, holding a rectangular package wrapped in plain brown paper, the masking tape yellowing and no longer sticking together. Lathe invited her inside, and she was ushered into the kitchen, where she set the package on the table. She insisted it was a present of sorts, something found buried in the attic of an old high school. Lathe paled, and pulled back the aging paper, revealing an ancient wooden box, an unfolding chess set with the carved pieces and a set of aging cards inside. A stack of papers laid on top, outline-style notes in messy handwriting with that familiar spark insignia drawn and redrawn in the margin, the official one colored and circled. A picture of a dozen high school students, a club with a black-haired teen in the center, a redhead on his left and a platinum blonde on his right, was paper-clipped to a note in the box, signed ‘Mom.’

He cried.

Levi and Eren had come home to Spades and Lathe playing chess, a mass of cards on the table besides them. They were talking about everything and nothing, and both of their eyes were red.

Eren worriedly put his bag down by the door. “What’s wrong?” Eren asked and hurriedly took Blake’s vest off, leaving it where it was, rushing over to Lathe. I’ve never seen his eyes this red before. What happened? Why is Spades crying too? It’s his birthday! He’s not supposed to cry.

Lathe gave him a sad smile. “Spades here found my old chess set, buried in the attic of my old high school. There’s just... a lot of important things with it.” His eyes wandered back over to the picture, studying the girl on his right.

Eren followed his gaze to the picture and picked it up. “Is this you in high school?” Eren was gentle with the picture, as if it would tear easily. “You look the same still... Is this you, Spades?” Eren asked and pointed to her beside Lathe in the old picture.
Lathe pointed out the people in the picture. “That’s me, and that’s Spades on my left. Scotty’s all the way on my left, he was a freshman so he’s still shorter than me, and Desce is right next to him, but she hadn’t dyed her hair yet. She was thinking about it. I don’t think you’ve met anyone else, but the sandy-haired one is Ryan…”

“Wait… I’ve seen that guy before….” Eren pointed at Ryan and tried to think about it. “Hey Levi… Where have we seen this guy before?” He asked him as he came back from letting Blake outside into the backyard. I remember him from somewhere… But where?

Levi looked at the photo, thinking hard. “Wasn’t that… He was our second server before the Nate Ruess concert, when we went to Between the Walls. The first guy passed us over to him.” Levi moved to fish through his backpack.

“Oh yeah! That guy was really nice.” Eren said and made himself comfortable next to Lathe. I wonder who everyone else is?

Lathe beamed. “I heard Ryan was still around, I just didn’t know where he worked. But that sounds like him, alright. Total sweetheart.” He moved over the line. “That’s Marc, he has his own tattoo parlor in the city. He did some of my sleeve, actually.” He moved to the other end of the photo. “That’s Phoebe. She’s… is she in Washington State now?” He looked up to Spades, who shrugged. “She’s somewhere in the west coast states, doing coding, I think. Damien… I think he’s a bounty hunter or something like that. And that’s Brooklyn, who actually married Marc a couple years ago. She does tattoos with him. They’re both really good. But… yeah, that’s everyone. Everyone from the club.”

“But who’s that girl?” Eren asked pointing to the girl standing next to him in the picture. “You didn’t mention her.” Eren said quietly. Why’s that?

Lathe was silent for a moment, and swallowed hard. “That’s… that’s Viola. She… she used to be my girlfriend.” Lathe rubbed at his eye. “…we were together for quite a while after we graduated. About five years. I actually…” Lathe wiped tears away from his eyes. “I had actually gone out and… I had been ready to propose to her after college. I… I had a ring picked out and everything, and I knew where I wanted to take her to ask… to ask her to marry me… but…” Lathe buried his face in his hands, his voice shuddering. “She… s-she died in a car crash before I could ask.” Lathe laid his head in his arms on the table, sobbing. I miss you...

Eren immediately regretted asking the question. “Lathe… I… I’m sorry, I didn’t…. I didn’t know.” Eren looked down at his feet. Shit… I shouldn’t have asked, I should’ve figured he didn’t mention her for a reason…. Shit. Eren’s hand immediately went to his wrist, scratching at the pale skin, which had been hidden under the cast for so long. I shouldn't have asked... I'm sorry. The guilt flooded into Eren’s eyes, and Blake was outside, not there to stop his scratching. “I’m sorry... I... I didn’t mean...” Eren stepped back a few feet away from him, feeling absolutely horrible.

Lathe looked up, wiping at his eyes. “It’s...” His eyes widened as he watched Eren scratch, leaning forward to catch his arms. “It’s okay Eren, you didn't know. It’s not your fault.” He sniffled, trying to smile. “Don't feel guilty. You... You didn't do anything wrong.” It’s okay, you wouldn't have known. I never mentioned her...

“I'm so... I'm so sorry, Lathe... I didn't know... I'm so sorry.” Eren began to cry as Lathe held his hands. He felt too ashamed to call him his Dad at the moment. “I’m sorry.” Eren sobbed, still moving to scratch at his left wrist, the red lines already starting to form from his nails, Eren’s face littered with tears.

No you shouldn't cry... “Eren...” Lathe pulled him into a hug, leaning his cheek on his head, rubbing circles into his back. “You couldn't have known. I never said anything about her. You don't have to cry...” Lathe let out a shuddery breath.

Eren continued to cry in Lathe’s lap, where he was pulled into his arms. “I’m sorry.” Eren said quietly and shakily wrapped his arms around Lathe’s torso. I feel horrible... I made him cry... I'm a horrible son... Shit...

Lathe brought one hand up to card through Eren’s hair, holding onto him tightly. “It's fine, Eren... Really, it is.” You don't have to cry, please, don't...

Levi stopped in the doorway of the kitchen, watching Eren and Lathe cry with wide eyes. He looked to Spades. Why are they crying? What’s wrong? Spades just had her face in her hands, not even noticing Levi next to her. He looked to Eren’s arms, seeing the ends of small streaks of red. He’s been scratching. Levi slowly padded to the two of them, unsure of what to do. Lathe never cries... what happened?

Eren just continued to cry. “I’m so sorry, Lathe, I’m sorry...” Eren continued to apologize like a broken record. “I'm so sorry.” Eren's whole body shuddered as he cried into Lathe's chest.

Lathe hadn’t even noticed Levi next to them. He kissed the top of Eren’s head. “Eren, please... it’s Dad. An you don't have to cry... Please, don't cry... It’s okay, I promise.” You shouldn't cry you should be happy so please don't cry...

“I’m sorry.” Eren said quietly as he sniffled against Lathe’s chest, hiding his blotchy face from everyone else. “I didn’t mean to, I’m sorry.” Eren’s grip on Lathe’s shirt tightened. “I’m sorry, Dad, I didn’t want to make you cry more on your birthday.” Eren said quietly and curled up to Lathe in his arms more.

Lathe let out a breathy laugh, his eyes glassy. “It’s okay, Eren. You were bound to either find out or ask soon enough. I really miss her… but it’s okay. I’m okay. And I don’t want you to feel guilty about asking. I’m just happy I have my chess set back… The card, the notes…” He swallowed, smiling. “It’s all alright.” It really is. Don’t worry yourself.

Eren nodded slowly but kept his head buried in Lathe’s chest still, feeling safe in his arms. I feel bad… I hope he won’t cry anymore, I don’t want to see him cry any more.

Lathe just held onto Eren, rubbing absentminded patterns into his back. He opened his eyes and looked to Levi, who he hadn't noticed. Oh… Right. Lathe’s tears subsided, and he did his best to send Levi a smile. I'm okay. Eren’s okay. Don't you go worrying about us. Lathe looked to Spades as she rose, sending him a reassuring smile, her eyes red.

She spoke quietly. “I think I'll get going, okay Lathe?” She nodded to Eren. You're a bit preoccupied... She picked up her bag from the floor, leaning over the table to rest a hand on his shoulder. “Take care of yourself. I'll see you soon.” She turned to leave, closing the front door quietly behind her.

Eren sniffled still. “I’m sorry.” He said quietly, finally brave enough to raise his face to look at Lathe.

Lathe smiled softly. “Eren, you sound like a broken record. It’s okay. I haven't ever really let myself cry about it… I think I needed that.” He pressed a kiss to Eren’s temple. “Come on. I’m not gonna let us stay sad. How about the two of us make dinner?”

Eren moved to wipe his tears away from his eyes as he nodded. “Okay, that sounds good.” Eren sniffled and shuffled over to get onto his own feet. Levi looked to the glass door as he heard Blake paw at it, looking up to him with a ball in his mouth.

Levi looked down and smirked. “Okay, okay… I’ll go play with you outside.” He walked over to the sliding glass door, opening it and letting Blake run ahead of him. So much energy… Yeesh. He followed Blake into the yard, shutting the door behind him.
Lathe stood from his chair, stretching his arms over his head. “O-kay. I should probably move all this to the scripting room… let me do that and we can start.” He nudged the chair into the table with his foot, moving the pieces off the board and flipping it over, gently placing everything inside and closing the latch. He carried it to the scripting room and set it down, rolling his sleeves up as he walked back to the kitchen. He quirked an eyebrow at Eren, smiling. “You haven't done too much cooking with me… Have you?”

“No.” Eren answered as he was looking through the fully stocked fridge. “What are we going to make?” He looked up to meet Lathe’s eyes as the tall man walked into the room.

“Hmmm… how many eggs do we have?” Lathe went to the cupboard, looking for flour.

Eren reached for the carton of eggs, opening it. “We have 8.” Eren responded. “How many do we need?”

“Four.” Lathe brought out the bag of flour and set it on the wood kitchen table. “We’re working over here- we need the space.” This is gonna be fun.

Eren nodded and careful pulled out four large eggs. He gently set them down on the kitchen table, making sure they didn’t roll off. “What are we….” Eren trailed off as he saw the massive amount of flour that was now on the table.

Lathe grinned, grabbing a measuring cup from the cupboard. “We are making pasta.” He set it on the table. “...But we can't do anything until we wash our hands.” He nodded to the sink. “I'll get aprons- this can get messy.”

Eren giggled as he moved over to the sink. He washed his hands, noticing just how red the scratches on his wrist were now. I didn’t think I could do that much damage in just a few seconds… He washed the soap off of his hands before he dried them off, waiting patiently for his apron.

Lathe handed him a dark green apron with a blue and white pattern on the pocket, tying an autumn-patterned one behind his back. “You need me to tie it? Or do you have it?”

“Can you tie it?” Eren asked him, a blush forming across his cheeks when he couldn’t tie it himself.
Lathe grinned. “‘Course.” He turned Eren around, tying a knot in the back. “Now I'll just wash my hands and we can start.” He did so, drying his hands and holding part of the towel under the water for a moment, moving to clean the table a bit before drying it and tossing the towel on the counter. “So. Pasta. You really only need eggs and flour to make it, so here’s the flour and a measuring cup.” He slid them in front of Eren. “Could you put one cup of flour in a little pile in front of you, and one for me?”

Eren nodded, measuring out the cups. “Just put them on the table?” Eren asked with a questioning glance towards Lathe.

“Yep. On the table.” You'll understand soon enough where this is going.

Eren just shrugged and he did as he was told, putting the two cups of flour in front of them.

Lathe grinned, moving the flour on the counter behind them, out of the way. “Okay, now just take your hand and make a hole in the middle of the pile.” He moved to carve out a space in the middle of the flour.

Eren carefully mirrored Lathe’s motions and did as he was told. “Like this?” He asked quietly, showing his work to Lathe.

“Yep! So once we’ve done that, take two of the eggs,” He picked one up from the middle of the table. “And crack them into the middle of the flour, into the space you just made.”

Eren took the eggs and did as he was told. He was good at following the simple instructions. “So how does this make pasta?” Eren stared down at his volcano-type structure filled with egg instead of lava.

“We’re getting there. Now we're just going to use our hand and whisk up the eggs, taking some of the flour from the walls with it and mixing that into it until we start getting a ball of dough.” I haven't done this in forever- it's great to make it again!

Eren nodded, silently following the instructions. After a few minutes Eren started to get a ball of dough and looked up to Lathe to see if he was doing it right.

Aaaaandaand.. Lathe flicked a small bit of flour at Eren’s nose, grinning at his surprised expression.
“I think you're getting it!” Success!

Eren’s jaw dropped. “Traitor!” Eren called, picking up flour in his hand and throwing the small handful at Lathe’s face.

Lathe shook out his hair, flour dusting his shoulders. “Oh it is on.” Lathe took some from the bag on the counter and threw it at Eren, getting him in the shoulder. That escalated quickly.

Eren soon grabbed another handful of flour and made sure that he got a direct hit to Lathe’s chest. “Bring it!” Eren shouted, already reaching for more flour.

The bag tipped over, and Lathe hit Eren with a handful on his forehead, effectively getting it all in his hair. He grinned like a madman. This is war.

Eren gasped from the shock, shaking out his long locks of hair; he still hadn’t gotten it cut yet. His shoulders were covered from the flour, and he reached to get another fist full, chucking it to effectively cover Lathe’s black hair and turn it white. Eren couldn’t stop laughing. “You… You look like an old man!” Eren continued to laugh and point at Lathe, happiness completely filling his eyes again, making them shine bright.

Lathe beamed, speaking in mock indignation. “Since when does being thirty-five count as old?” He took another handful and hit Eren square in the chest, his eyes shining.

“You are soooo old!” Eren mocked him. “You're more than double my age!” He called and he ran around the kitchen table, avoiding the fistfuls of flour Lathe was chucking at him. The kitchen was quickly becoming filled with flour, everywhere.

Lathe stopped for a moment in mid-throw, thoughtful surprise taking over his face. “Wow, I am getting old.” He grinned and resumed throwing. “At least I still have my hair.” He joked. Stop moving already!

“Wait! Are you saying that I don’t have any!?” Eren screeched, throwing another fistful at Lathe, hitting him square in the crotch before he ducked out of the way of another handful from Lathe. Neither of them noticed Levi come in with a very muddy Blake, holding him in place with a towel, trying to get the most of it off of his fur.
“Maybe I didn't say that exactly…” He grinned, teasing Eren. He didn't notice the surprised looks they were getting.

Levi just surveyed the scene, taking in the flour-coated everything in the kitchen, Eren yelling about hair and Lathe egging him on... yep. Totally normal. Levi tried to just towel Blake off and scurry out of the war zone, not wanting to get involved. Nope nope nope not my problem

Eren saw Levi trying to sneak out of the kitchen. “I have longer hair than the both of you!” Eren shouted throwing more and nailing Levi right across the face, getting a bunch of it in his hair, and then nailing Lathe across the face again.

Levi put his hands up in surrender. “I said nothing.”

Lathe put the bag down, putting his hands on his head, stating with a look of mock guilt, “I have the right to remain silent, anything I say can and will be used against me in a court of law…” He tried to keep from grinning.

Eren just shook his head. “Alright, fun’s over. Dad… Pick up the mess, and make us food… Levi… Come with me.” Eren said and managed to untie his apron setting it down on a chair, and motioning Levi to follow him towards the stairs.

Lathe just smiled, looking for the broom. “This is gonna take a while.” Totally worth it though.

...Huh. Okay. “Sure.” Levi trailed after him up the stairs.

Eren pulled him into the bathroom, along with their towels, closing and locking the door behind them. “Did you do what I said… Not get a present for me… Right?” He asked quietly. Just want to make sure. Eren started to strip off his clothes, hoping Levi would get the idea that they would be showering together.

Levi raised his eyebrows. This is a nice change. “Uh, yeah. Right.” He started to take off his own clothes, stepping out of his muddy jeans. I still don't know why you don't want me to get you anything…

Eren noticed the mud. “Well, at least he’ll be tired out for later on then. Ready?” Eren asked, checking the water. It feels like a good temperature… Hmm, all my hickeys and bites are gone on him, I gotta fix that… Eren stepped into the shower first, relishing in the warm feeling of the water on his body.

Levi finished removing his clothes and took a moment to appreciate the view. Damn… I haven’t seen that ass in forever. He smirked, stepping behind Eren and closing the glass door behind him, enjoying the warm steam. He turned Eren around, his eyes traveling over his neck. All the bruises are gone… I need to do something about that. Levi wasted no time in pulling Eren close to him, leaning up to kiss him hungrily. I’ve missed you. I’ve missed this.

Eren wrapped his arms around Levi’s shoulders, moving so his chest was flush against Levi’s. He tilted his head, deepening the kiss, giving him access to his mouth. God, we haven’t done this in forever… I wonder if he can wait until spring break?

Levi’s tongue moved against Eren’s, his hands drifting from his waist to hold onto his ass. You still feel amazing, you still taste sweet… why haven’t we done this in so long?

Eren moaned into their kiss as he felt Levi’s strong hands grab his ass cheeks. He pulled back to gasp for air. “Levi…” Eren moaned out his name, ducking his head down to the crook of his neck and moving to bite the skin between his shoulder and his neck. God, your hands feel like magic on my ass, fuck, don’t stop Levi.

Levi groaned loudly as Eren bit the skin on his neck, leaning his head back and giving Eren more room. He massaged Eren’s ass in his hands, relishing in being able to feel him. Please. “E-Eren…”

Eren pulled back, giving Levi a hooded glare for a few seconds before moving his head to the side and opening his neck for Levi to attack. Fuck yes. Bite me.

Levi traced his neck with shaded eyes, smirking possessively before moving to press Eren against the wall of the shower, attacking his neck, licking and sucking hard on the skin at the joint of his neck. Mine.

Eren gasped as he felt Levi lick at his neck. “Ahh… Levi… More…” Eren moaned out Levi’s name with every bite mark he left. Fuck, it feels so good after so long without it.

I’ve missed hearing that damn sexy voice… Levi left a ring of bite marks around his neck, moving to suck on the skin next to his adam’s apple. Please, I want to hear you sing.
Eren let out a high pitched wail as Levi attacked the extremely sensitive area. He let out a string of moans along with Levi’s name, his nails digging into the back of Levi’s shoulders from the pleasure he was in. “Fuck Levi, I’m gonna get hard, Levi…” He groaned as he felt his erection start to rise.

Levi nibbled at his neck, one hand drifting from his ass to his length, running from the base to the tip, gently taking hold of the base and slowly pumping. That’s the idea.

Eren moaned out louder from the extra sensations. “Levi… You too.” He moaned and moved a hand to give Levi’s length some attention as well. Fuck we haven’t done this in forever… I wonder how pent up he is.

Levi moaned loudly, a red streak across his face as he moved to bite the spot under Eren’s ear. It feels so good after so long… God fucking damn it, I’ve missed you…

Eren let out a litany of Levi’s name as he was bit. “Fuck Levi… I can’t… I can’t much longer…” Eren cried out as Levi moved to put both of their lengths together and rub them in unison. Fuck it…

Levi felt his own coil tightening, moaning loudly. “I… Eren… Fuck, I can’t…” He sped up his movements, biting down hard under Eren’s ear.

Eren’s coil snapped instantly. “Levi!” He cried out in bliss, clinging to his shoulders as he came all over himself. His whole face was flushed red, and his chest heaving a litany of Levi’s name.

Levi came as he heard Eren cry his name, his own chest covered with white droplets. He moved to kiss Eren, tangling their tongues together. I love you I love you I love you

Eren let Levi kiss him as they came down from their highs. “Levi, we gotta wash ourselves. No more.” Eren told him, gently pushing him away, the water starting to wash their cum away.

Levi reluctantly pulled back, reaching for the soap and a washcloth. He washed their chests before turning Eren around, to wash his back, still careful of the long scar that ran down his back. It’s been so long but I still don’t want to hurt you… He pecked his shoulder blade before attending to his arms and his legs, turning him back around to hand him the cloth. He smirked. “Your turn.”
Eren smiled softly as he took the cloth, putting a bit more soap on it. He went over Levi’s entire chest, taking in every curve and contour. “So handsome…” Eren leaned forward and kissed his neck gently before he moved to go and did Levi’s back. He’s so hot… I can’t wait for my birthday. Dad knows he’s banned from the basement from my birthday through to the end of Spring Break.

Levi smiled, sighing happily as Eren kissed his neck, enjoying the feeling of Eren’s hands tracing all over his back. We need to do this more.

Eren soon finished up and stood under the water with him. “Shampoo.” Eren reached for the bottle, handing it off to Levi.

Levi turned and poured some shampoo into his hand, reaching up to massage it into Eren’s hair. “Your hair is so long… I think we all need to go get haircuts.” My undercut isn’t exactly shaved anymore. We need to actually go and fix that.

“You don’t like the long hair?” Eren sunk into Levi’s hands as he was massaged, closing his eyes and enjoying the feeling.

“I didn't say that… It’s kinda nice. But the ends should get cleaned up, at least. If you like the long hair, I certainly don't have a problem with it.” He smirked. It does look good on you.

“Hmm, I might just get it trimmed… Also are we gonna need to give Blake a bath? I didn’t see how muddy he was.” Eren said, still leaning into his touch. It's getting to the muddy season.

“Yeah, we are. He got really muddy, but I cleaned up his paws so he doesn't track up the house.” Levi rubbed at the nape of Eren’s neck. Oh yeah, that’s a thing that needs doing. “At least he doesn't give us hell when he needs a bath.”

“Yeah, I’ll give him a bath. Can you help Lathe clean up the kitchen… He probably won’t be done.” Eren moved to get shampoo in his own hands to start on Levi.

Levi nodded, guiding Eren under the stream of water to rinse out the soap. “You two really did a number on the kitchen.” He leaned into Eren’s touch, retrieving the bottle of conditioner. Everything was so white… You two really got into it.

Eren nodded. “Yeah, we got into a little bit of a war… It went well though, we laughed it out.”
Eren reached to get Levi’s hair shampooed, tangling his fingers in the long inky black hair.

All in the name of good fun. Levi sighed happily, rubbing conditioner into Eren’s brown hair. “That’s good to hear.”

Eren smiled and was happy while they both massaged each other’s head, getting clean. Well we can do this now, and not have to worry about me freezing my ass off.

After a few minutes, Levi steered Eren back under the water, rinsing the conditioner from his hair. He stood on tiptoe and pecked Eren’s lips. “Alright, you’re all done.” He gave him a small smile, moving so he could get everything out of his hair before shutting off the water. He stepped out of the shower first, taking a towel from the rack and holding it open for Eren.

Eren smiled and he wrapped himself up in the towel he was given. “Thank you. I’m gonna get dressed then get Blake and wash him.” Thank you, for showering with me again.

Levi pulled Eren close and kissed him sweetly for a moment before letting him go. “Okay, I’ll get dressed and help Lathe clean up that disaster zone we call a kitchen.” Thank you for letting us do this again.

Eren smiled softly. He went and got dressed before going to get Blake from where he was sitting by the front door like a good boy. There he is, time for your bath. Eren picked up the dog. It’s getting easier to pick him up. Eren took him upstairs and put him in the shower and waited for the water to get to a good temperature to start with his bath.

Levi quickly dressed in clean clothes, dumping his muddy ones in the laundry hamper before heading for the kitchen, careful where he stepped on the wet floor. There’s still flour nearly everywhere, though at least it’s not on the floor…

Lathe looked up from where he was trying to get the last of a small pile of flour off the floor. He sighed in relief. “Backup’s finally arrived. I’m just going to finish getting this off the floor. Can you clean up the counter and the stovetop and stuff? Anything except the kitchen table. That’s where dinner is being made.” Help! There’s so much flour…

Eren gave Blake a long bath, and the dog seemed to like it. After about half an hour Blake came downstairs and he looked and smelled better than before.
Levi was wiping down the counters as Lathe resumed making the pasta noodles, lumping everything together and using a rolling pin to spread the dough thin with practiced movements. In no time he had a pile of noodles growing on the table next to him. He glanced over his shoulder, setting down the knife he was using to cut the noodles and getting out a pot to boil the water, another to heat a thin pasta sauce. He piled the noodles on a plate, waiting for the water to boil. He got out three bowls, placing them on the now-clean counter. He added salt to the water and glanced at the clock, dumping in the noodles at the top of the minute. They barely took two minutes to cook before he put them into the three bowls evenly, pouring sauce over them. He beamed, looking over to Levi as he quickly cleared the table of the mess, setting them down at their proper places, petting Blake as he trotted in and nudged his leg. He untied his apron and hung it from a peg on the wall, next to Eren’s green one.

Eren came down a few moments later. “Well he’s clean now.” Eren said and groaned at the smell of the food.

Levi smirked. “He certainly looks better when he’s not covered in mud.” He scratched Blake behind his ears when he came over to sniff at his leg.

Lathe chuckled, setting down silverware and mugs of tea. “I really hope you like the pasta- It’s my favourite.” He grinned, going to fill Blake’s food and water bowls before taking his place at the table. I really hope you two like it.

Eren nodded, going to take his nausea pill by the counter. I wonder how much longer I’ll be needing to take these.

Levi went to sit at the table, twirling a noodle around his fork. It looks really good. He lifted the fork to his mouth, his eyes wide as he looked at the pasta still in his bowl. “That’s literally the best pasta I’ve ever had.” Teach me your ways.

Lathe grinned. Thank god at least one of you likes it! “Thanks- I’m probably going to make it more often.”

Eren took a large forkful. “Yes, please do.” Eren smiled and he started eating his whole bowl.

That makes two. Yes! He chuckled. “I will, but maybe with a little less war involved.” Flour literally got everywhere. It’s not the easiest stuff to clean up. Lathe was quiet for most of dinner, getting up to wash his dishes, cleaning the pots on the stove and putting them away.” Is it alright if I have the piano, Eren?” You've been using it so much, I feel like I've got to ask!

“Yeah. That's fine, I’m pretty tired, so I’m gonna try and sleep…” Eren said quietly rubbing his head, thinking about the school work he needed to do before he goes to sleep. “Well I got work to do… So I’m going upstairs to do it.” Eren set his dishes in the sink before going upstairs to do his homework.

Levi got up a few minutes after Eren left, handing Lathe his dishes and helping to dry them. “Lathe… Eren asked me not to get him a present for his birthday. Do you have any idea why?”

Lathe was silent, his brow furrowed in thought. “…all I know, is that I'm not allowed in the basement between Eren’s birthday and the end of spring break.”

Levi quirked an eyebrow, though a certain thought made him blush furiously. He ducked his head, putting the last bowl away. “I have to go do… something.” He walked from the kitchen, running a hand through his hair. *

does that mean..?

Eren was having the worst day at school. Chemistry had him screaming… The lab basically exploded in his face. Gym saw him slipping on the concrete and busting his lip open. Third period… was study hall, but no one seemed to acknowledge him, Armin nowhere to be seen. Fourth period was no better, neither was fifth… And Eren had lost the gleam in his eyes by lunch time. Eren put his bag down by his usual spot at the lunch table and he took Blake up to the lunch line to get his tray of food. His eyes looked downcast. Today sucks…

“Happy Birthday, Eren! Why’re you looking so glum?”

Eren just shook his head. “Thanks.” He murmured quietly, not even looking up to meet Lathe’s gaze, just taking the tray from him, reaching for a few other things to add to it.

Lathe looked a bit worried, his eyebrows going up as he caught a glimpse of Eren’s lip. “You busted your lip? Ouch. Rough day, huh.” It’s your birthday, dammit. He switched places with the other ladies on the line, following Eren, determined to cheer him up. Think. How to get him to smile… food puns. Of course! “Hey Eren, what do you call a fake noodle?”
“An impasta.” Eren’s voice was so monotonous, it rivaled Levi’s. I really don’t want to deal with this, Lathe.

Lathe’s smile faltered a bit, but he kept following Eren. “Why don’t eggs make good comedians?”

“They always crack up at their own yolks.”

“...where do pancakes live?”

“In a flat.”

“What’s it called when someone steals your coffee?”

“A mugging. Are you done?” Eren’s glare was ice cold.

Lathe’s hopeful smile was completely gone, a hurt look in his eyes. “...yeah, I'll stop. I'm sorry.” He walked back to his proper place in the line. ...I'll let him be. He must be having a really horrible day...

Eren paid for his lunch, sluggishly going to his spot at the table and he set his tray down. He didn’t look anyone in the eye and didn’t say anything before he put his headphones on, ignoring everyone. He didn’t even yell at Jean for commenting about his busted lip.

Levi walked in a minute after Eren, going through the lunch line, not missing the small sad look Lathe gave him, nodding over to Eren. He looked over, and could practically see the dark cloud hanging over him. Well, shit. He nodded, paying for lunch and going to sit next to Eren, putting down his bag and nudging him. “Hey, Eren. Happy Birthday.”

Eren didn’t even make a move to acknowledge Levi or the four words he said. He just kept his headphones on, his eyes looking like stormy waters, his focus on the food he was barely eating. I just want to be left alone right now... I want to get my homework done. Eren soon just pulled out his homework and pushed his unfinished tray over towards Sasha and Connie who gladly accepted it. Eren got to work on his homework, finishing a good portion of it.

...what? “Eren, come on. Anything?” You're not even fighting with Jean. The universe is practically ready to implode. Levi watched Eren just start on his homework. ...Nothing. Levi, bracing for the worst, carefully plucked the earbuds out of Eren’s ears. “I’m sorry, but are you doing okay?” He gave him a worried look. Today has apparently been awful… You can rant if you want. Or punch me for taking away your music, which I would probably deserve at this point.

Eren looked up to Levi with sullen eyes. “Yeah… I’m fine, just a shitty morning.” Eren said quietly returning his gaze to his work.

“You could say that again Fagger!” Jean called from across the table.

“Shut the fuck up, Secretariat! No one fucking asked for the horse’s opinion!” Eren shot right back, his gaze hardening as he stared Jean down into his seat. I am angry, and I swear to god, I will fucking kill you if another word comes out of your fucking mouth! Eren heard Blake growling, taking his hands into his mouth instantly… Only to see the shocked expressions surface on everyone’s faces. I said that out loud… Didn’t I? Eren just sighed and sat back down from his angered outburst and went right back to his work.

...Well fuck. Levi’s eyes widened in shock, handing him back his earbuds. Don't poke the bear…
“Here, if you still want them…”

Eren just shook his head, taking them back but not putting them on. “Only a few more fucking hours before break… Just drop it.” Eren returned his attention to his work, finishing it up about halfway through lunch, so he just put his head down on the table and watched the conversation continue around the table. He learned that Armin was out sick, and probably would be out tomorrow as well. Well, no help for me during Shadis’s class.

Levi kept glancing to Eren as they talked, trying to think of how to make him feel better. He did say to just drop it, but I want him to feel better… But I might just end up making him more mad.
Levi just nudged his foot, hoping he understood he wanted to help him, but didn't know how.

Eren just looked over at Levi, soon shifting to sit in Levi’s lap and resting his head against his shoulder. “You better be fucking ready for tonight.” Eren whispered in his ear before curling up into him. Closing his eyes to rest for the few minutes left in lunch.

Levi quirked an eyebrow at this, holding Eren around his waist and trying to listen to the conversation, though he was soon lost in thought. ...what’s tonight?

Eren was asleep against his chest for the rest of the lunch before he woke with the bell. Him and Blake went through the rest of the day, Eren getting angrier and angrier as the day went on. He waited by his locker for Levi to come get him, he sat down with his back against the lockers, trying to calm himself down by petting Blake.

Levi walked to Eren’s locker, smirking and pressing a kiss to his cheek. “Hey Eren. You ready to go home?”

Eren smiled softly as his cheek was kissed, seeing as the hallway was barren. Eren stood back up and they walked home next to silent. “Sorry for my outburst at lunch.” Eren sighed quietly, intertwining their fingers. It's still fucking chilly outside.

Levi squeezed his hand reassuringly. “You weren’t exactly having the best day, and Jean was being an asshole. It was warranted.” No harm done.

“Yeah… You think Dad’s home? I need to apologize…. I was kinda a dick to him at lunch.” Eren sighed, leaning his head against Levi’s shoulder.

Oh. That’s why he didn’t look so happy… “I think so… but you know he’ll forgive you. Things got off to a bad start today, and just went downhill. It'll be alright.” He’ll understand. He’s probably already forgiven you.

Eren nodded. “Okay… Is that Spades’ car?” Eren looked confused as he saw the other car in the driveway. “That’s definitely not Dad’s car.”

Levi quirked an eyebrow at the car, recognising it. “That’s Spades’ car, alright…” What’s she doing here? “I wonder what she’s doing over…” They walked up the driveway, Levi opening the unlocked door.

Eren was thinking the same thing as they walked in. “DAD!” Eren yelled out hoping to get a response from Lathe to see where he was in the house. I gotta apologize to him. Eren took Blake’s vest off and let him outside, walking quickly through the piano room and through the kitchen to the back yard.

Levi just stared at the object set in the middle of the piano room, Eren walking past it without even noticing. “Um, Eren…” You kinda missed something...

Eren turned around after letting Blake out. “Levi do you see…” Eren stopped in his tracks as soon as he saw the cello sitting in the middle of the piano room with a huge bow on it. …. How did I
“Is that for me?” Eren smiled as he kneeled down beside it to admire the cello. “It’s beautiful!” Eren’s full smile back on his face as he carefully touched the cello, as if it would break at the slightest touch.

Lathe popped his head from around the corner of the scripting room wall, Spades not far behind him. “Happy Birthday!” They both beamed at him, Lathe walking over to give Eren a hug. “I thought you might want to learn an instrument besides the piano, and I used to play the cello so I can teach you how.” Yes he likes it!

“I haven’t seen a cello since mom died.” Eren said softly and smiled more before getting up and rushing Lathe, giving him a huge hug. “Thank you.” Eren smiled as he hugged him tighter. “I’m sorry about earlier too, I didn’t mean to snap at you.”

Lathe caught Eren, letting out a breathy laugh. “It’s fine, you were having a bad day and my trying to cheer you up wasn't what you needed. It’s all good.” He pressed a kiss to the top of his head.

Spades tentatively stepped forward, an envelope in her hands. “I have something for you, Eren. I was talking to the folks at the American embassy in Germany, and they told me… Your old home had collapsed from disrepair. It didn't have much in it, and the basement was the only thing left, but I asked them to send me anything left to give to you, and they gave me this. I didn't know what it could be used for, so… I had it made into a pendant. I hope that’s alright…” She held out the Manila envelope to him.

Eren slowly reached out and he took the envelope from her. He opened it and saw a familiar bronze key turned into a necklace, thanks to a thick leather string. Is this… It is, it has to be… Eren couldn’t hold back the tears that started to overflow from his eyes. “How…?” Eren looked up to Spades as the tears fell from his eyes. How did you get this? How did they get this?

She shifted to her other foot, not knowing how to respond entirely to Eren’s crying. “..The ceiling of the basement caved in, and a troupe of people had to go in and salvage what they could of the estate. That was the only thing they found that wasn't rubble, in a smaller room of the cellar that hadn't fallen in on itself.” You'd think I'd know how to comfort him but I don't, oh crap I suck at this...

Levi walked up behind Eren and hugged him, resting his chin on his shoulder. He rubbed Eren’s side gently. It’s okay...

Eren started crying as he heard that. “None of the instruments survived?” Eren started sobbing as he put it down. This is all that’s left of home? This is it?
Spades’ brow furrowed. Instruments? None of the reports mentioned... “...there were supposed to be instruments in the house? There wasn’t anything like that in the reports I read, or the pictures I saw...” She thought. “They could have been moved beforehand by another member of your family... but they weren’t destroyed. I would know about it.” They could be anywhere... but they’re most likely still in one piece.

“No... This key... It’s to the room with mom’s instruments... I always used to hide in there... Playing everything she taught me until my fingers bled... I haven’t seen a cello... For a long time...” Eren said and started to cry all over again. “Mom taught me to play almost all of them in the room... I haven’t played them in years.” Eren slowly looked at the key by his chest and smiled sadly, his head resting against Levi’s chest. “Thank you Spades.” Eren said and wiped away the tears on his face.

To hide away and be able to play music, which would probably be loud enough to hear from the basement, at least... I can't help but feel I'm missing something. “Eren, I hate to keep pressing... But, how did you get into the room with the instruments?”

“You had to move the rug in the basement... And you had to use the key to unlock the trapdoor and climb down the ladder to the extra room... Did that cave in too?” Eren sniffled, calming down completely again, the tears completely forgotten.

“...They didn't even know it was there.” Spades’ eyes were wide, locking onto the key. “...I may need to send that back.” Or take it with me and do their job for them. ...Fuck it, this one thing I'm going to make sure they do right. “Eren, now that I'm thinking of it, I should probably head over and see what I can do about getting into that room. It hasn't caved in or they would've seen it as a huge hole in the floor... Don't get your hopes up too much, but you might be getting all those instruments back.” I swear to fucking god if they're not there I'll murder somebody

Eren looked down at the key. “You're going to Germany?” His fingers graced over the bronze key, noting every single scratch on it. She can get mom’s instruments back? I would be able to play her violin again? And her guitar?

“I don't think I trust a well-trained team of people who missed an entire room of stuff to try and get into it and mail everything overseas.” Yeah, that has sketchy written all over it. No. She grinned. “I’ve been looking for something interesting to do, anyhow.”

Eren ran up to her, his arms wrapping around her torso. “Thank you, Spades.” Eren hugged her tightly. I'll have more memories of mom then... I can give the key up for now. “Can you bring the key back, please?” Eren asked as he reached to take it off of his neck again.
She hugged him back, surprised. “O-of course I will. I’ll make sure you get everything.” She gently took the key back, placing it back in the envelope for safekeeping. She smiled brightly. I'll make damn well sure this goes over smoothly. It’s the least you deserve.

Lathe beamed, patting Eren’s arm. That’s wonderful news! He could get so much back that’s really important… “In the mood for cake, Eren?”

“What kind of cake?” Eren asked curiously. What kind of cake would I like? He knows I don’t like sweet things.

“Black Forest Cake.”

Eren froze, eyes slowly meeting Lathe's. “No... Are you serious?” Eren asked in complete disbelief. “Did you make it?” Eren was bouncing already. I haven’t had that cake since my 7th birthday… That was 10 years ago...

Lathe smiled brightly, slowly leading them to the kitchen. “Y-yeah, I did. I tried to find something that wasn’t too sweet and I tried making that…” Though judging by your giddiness I made a good decision.

Eren followed eagerly and he saw the huge cake Lathe had made him. “Dad this is awesome!! Does it have the cherries in it and everything?” Eren asked quietly, his head moving between Lathe and the cake. I wanna eat it! I’m so excited!! I can’t wait!!!

“Now what’s a Black Forest cake without cherries? It has plenty in it, don’t worry.” Lathe laughed, going to retrieve plates and a knife to cut it.

Eren happily bounded to the kitchen table, planting himself in Levi’s lap even with the four chairs. He’s gonna deal with it. “You’re gonna have to give me a refresher on the cello… I haven’t played it in 9 years.” Eren said quietly, waiting for his slice of cake.

“I'll dig mine out from the basement- hopefully the termites didn't get it- but yeah I'll gladly help you with it.” He smiled to Eren, catching the odd look Spades sent him. “...we don't actually have termites, Spades. I can see you thinking about reporting me for neglect.” He handed Eren the first piece of cake, listening to their laughter.
Eren looked from Levi back to his cake, digging in and groaning in bliss at the taste. It tastes just like at home. God I love this. Eren savored each forkful, though found himself getting up from Levi’s comfortable lap to get another piece. “It tastes great Dad.” Eren quickly got a second slice.

Lathe beamed, still working through his first piece. “Thanks- I'm really glad you like it, Eren.” All that fretting over it was worth it.

Eren smiled wide, sitting back in Levi’s lap. “Spades are you going to stay for dinner? Or do you need to go?” Eren asked out of curiosity. He had no idea what Lathe had planned for him.

Spades smiled sheepishly. “I have a couple things to attend to… I'm sorry, but I can't stay.” There's also not much room- well, there is, but…

Lathe looked to Spades. “It’s alright, I actually have something planned for Eren, given he’s cool with it.” He looked to Eren pointedly, putting his fork down. “Eren, what's your opinion on tattoos?”

“They’re fucking awesome… But I can’t get any yet, I'm not 18.”

“That’s for getting them by yourself. But if, say, you had permission from a guardian of some sort…” He grinned.

“You’ll let me get a sleeve?” Eren asked immediately.

“I’ll let you start a sleeve if you want. You couldn't get an entire sleeve done in one day, it’d take forever and they kinda hurt for a little while.” He beamed.

“Dad… I shattered my wrist and it didn’t bother me… I think I’ll be okay.” Eren said and looked to his left arm. “Think they’ll be able to cover the scars?” He asked quietly and looked down to his arms.

“Definitely, as long as there’s plenty of color.” He glanced over to Spads to see her reaction to this, her face in her hand.
“Lathe, sometimes I forget you're not still a juvenile delinquent.”...why do you encourage this? Tattoos look really cool, that's a given, but he better be damn sure of what he wants.

“Hey, I'll make sure he chooses something really good.” He looked back to Eren. “They’re kinda permanent, so you’d better be in love with whatever you want to get. We don't have to go today if you don't know what you'd want to get, but I'm letting you know you now have tattoo privileges.”

Eren squealed in joy, running out of the kitchen, and to the basement. He came back up a few minutes later with a sketchbook in hand. “I’ve been sketching this for a few weeks… I started coloring it in, but I don’t know if I want just cool colors, or just hot colors, or a combination of both.” Eren laid the sketchbook down, smiling as he watched for their reactions. “Does it look good?” Eren asked quietly.

Lathe’s eyes widened, studying the picture. He tapped at certain places in it. “…I’d say the flowers should be hot colours, the area right around them warm and the other sections should be cool colors. The linework should stay black.”

“That's what I was thinking, so I can get it?” Please say yes, please say yes, please say yes!

“...It does look hella cool, and you've obviously worked really hard on it. Sure! You might want to start picking colors, though.”

Eren thought about it for a second before racing off and grabbing a bunch of different color Sharpies. He dumped them on the kitchen table and went to town on his sketch. He finished it as everyone else was cleaning up from eating their cake. “I like it like this.” Eren showed off a finished sketch with vibrant greens, blues purples, reds, and oranges, the picture looked wonderful. I hope he likes it, cause I do.

Lathe looked back as he finished washing their plates. “That looks really good, Eren. That’ll work wonderfully!” Since you've filled out to a normal weight, it won't likely stretch out. He dried his hands, placing the towel on the counter. “Levi, do you think you’d want to come with, maybe get something?” I dunno if you've thought about this as much as Eren obviously has.

“I'll come with, but I don't know what I'd want, so I'll hold off on that. Another time, though, after I've really thought about it.” Like he said, they're permanent.
“Cool. I should probably change my shirt, something where Brooklyn can get at my arm.” He grinned. I've been thinking...

“Wait, you’re gonna get a tattoo today Dad?” Eren asked with surprised eyes. Lathe’s getting one? Eren looked to his own long sleeves… “Do I need to put a different shirt on?”

“Well, we can't let you have all the fun.” Lathe joked. “And yeah, I've been thinking about what else to put for my own sleeve. And a tank top would be best, make it easy to get at your arm. The less of a struggle in getting at it, the better.”

Spades smiled, standing. “I should get going, let you all get ready to go. I'll probably be heading out within a week for Germany. I'll make sure everyone’s extremely careful with whatever is found. And don't go too crazy with the tattoos, Lathe.” She jokingly warned him. Nothing too cray.

Lathe chuckled. “Don't worry, Spades. And thank you.” He beamed, moving to walk her to the door.

Eren went off to go and get a tank top on, quickly realizing he didn’t have any clean, so he grabbed one of Levi’s tank tops and then moved to slip on a coat on top to keep himself warm. He watched as Spades drove out of the drive way from his bedroom window, talking to Lathe as he walked up the stairs. “Where will we keep them all?” Eren asked Lathe. “If they’re all there?”

“We’ll put hooks in the walls. Move around tables. We’ll make room for them.” He smiled. “We obviously have to keep everything she finds.”

“Even Mom’s piano?”

“Especially the piano.”

Eren smiled and went to get Blake to put his vest on him. “I can bring Blake right?” Eren asked quietly, looking back to Lathe as he walked towards Levi and Blake in the kitchen.

“Oh yeah, Blake’s coming with.” Lathe grinned as he followed Eren down the stairs, riffling through the downstairs closet for a jacket, finding a dark leather one. Might as well.
Eren smiled and fit Blake with his vest, getting his leash. Eren hadn’t zipped up his jacket so Levi’s Nate Ruess tank top showed through. Wonder if he’ll say anything.

Levi noticed Eren’s tank top choice, smirking. It suits him. Then again, he looks good in anything he wears… but especially when what he wears is mine. “Nice shirt.”

“Thanks, ready to go?” Eren leaned down to kiss Levi on the cheek and pulling him off the kitchen chair. I wanna get it started. Eren reached over for a second, grabbing his sketchbook and leading Levi to the front door. Eren put on the smaller pair of metal-toed shoes, and he was ecstatic as he zipped up his coat the rest of the way.

“As ready as I'll ever be.” Levi followed Eren to the door, watching him lace up the boots. He really loves those boots- he wears them practically everywhere now.

“Alright, Eren has his sketchbook, that’s kinda important; we’ve got Blake; we’re wearing tank tops; I’d say we're all ready. Let’s go!” Lathe opened the door for them, locking it behind them as they walked to the car. “I really need to look into getting a car where driving you both around isn’t illegal.” Oh my God, if I got pulled over and ticketed Spades would have my head…

“Well, don’t drive like a maniac and we won’t get pulled over.” Eren said slipping in and situating himself on Levi’s lap. I wonder if he’s caught on to what tonight is? Well if he hasn’t he’ll be willing anyways. Eren made sure that Blake was comfortable between them and Lathe.

Lathe spoke sarcastically. “No promises.” He started the car and carefully backed out, driving with an extra air of caution into the city, luckily getting a parking spot right in front of their destination. “We be here!”

Eren chuckled before he slipped out and waited for Blake to follow Levi out of the car. He held onto the leash in his right hand, the sketchbook tucked under his left arm as he looked up at the parlor’s neon sign.

Lathe locked the car, holding the front door open. He grinned at the man at the front desk, walking up after them. “‘Sup, Marc.”

Marc smiled widely as he saw Lathe come in behind the two teens. “Hey, Lathe! What’s up?
Brooklyn’s finishing up with her last appointment today, then she can take a look at whatever the hell you’ve drawn up for your arm... but first. My name’s Marc, what can I do for you guys?” Marc stood up and shook their hands, smiling. He was shorter than Eren, yet taller than Levi, which put him at roughly the same height as Armin.

“Um… I wanted to get a sleeve started.” Eren started out and pulled his driver’s permit out from his pocket.

Marc took the permit to inspect Eren’s date of birth. “This says you’re 17 today, so Happy Birthday, but I can’t let you get started without your parent in attendance, sorry Eren.” Marc shrugged and handed him back his permit.

“Uhh… That’s what Lathe’s for… he’s my legal guardian.”

Marc’s eyes instantly flew to Lathe. “You are not fit to be an adult! How did you end up being this kid’s legal guardian? And when the hell did that happen? You didn’t say anything about it in your Christmas card! Or did it happen after that?” Marc’s interest was piqued as he moved out from behind the desk to stand with Lathe and give him a solid punch in the arm. “You’re so forgetful sometimes you know that? I’m surprised the kid hasn’t starved yet!” Marc turned back to Eren seeing Blake sitting down by his feet. “Oh…. What’s his name?” Marc asked, instantly distracted by the dog in the room. Marc was completely over the place, but he was a good guy, and god did he end up loving Blake the moment Eren let Blake be pet.

“It totally slipped my mind to mention it, it was a month and a half before Christmas and things were cray when I ended up adopting him and yeah… I’m sorry I didn’t mention it, but yeah, it’s a thing.” Lathe beamed, rubbing his arm where Marc punched him. Good to see you, too.

Eren looked at Marc, watching Blake enjoy the petting session. “So, um... am I allowed to get started?” Eren shuffled his feet, feeling his face heat up from his blush.

Marc looked over to Lathe. “You approve? And are you gonna sit there with him? Or get a tattoo? Technically he needs someone 18 or older with him to get it…” Marc waited for a response.

Lathe looked over to Levi. “Levi, you’re gonna have to chill with Eren as he gets his tattoo.” He looked to Marc. “He’s 18, don’t worry. And as soon as Brooklyn’s free, I’d like to show her what I'd want done.”
“I just finished up.” A tall brunette with her hair in a high ponytail walked from a room further back, taking off a pair of latex gloves. “I'm just gonna grab paperwork and send this last guy on his way, so…” She looked up, stopping dead in her tracks as she spotted Eren. Holy fuck that's him. “Oh my god. You're Eren Yeager.” She quickly dropped the gloves into a trash bin, grabbing a pad of paper and a pen. “Can I have your autograph please? A photo maybe? I saw you at the concert and the videos you've put up, you're absolutely amazing!”

Eren was shocked to see her reaction, so of course, he turned a darker shade of red, all the way to his ears. “Y-Yeah… We can do that.” Eren said and took the pad of paper and pen from her, putting it down on the desk to sign the first blank sheet he found. He didn’t know how she wanted to take a picture, so he just kinda stood there awkwardly. This literally happens wherever I go…

Marc just watched the exchange with fascinated eyes. “Oooohhh, you’re the kid Brook never stops talking about… got it.” Marc nodded his head in understanding. “You got a pretty good voice, kid.”

Brook handed Marc her phone, turning to Eren. “I'm sorry, this probably happens literally every time you leave the house, but I had to ask.” She stood next to Eren as Marc held up her phone, smiling. She took it back after he took the picture. “Is it okay if we put this on the parlor’s Facebook?”

Eren thought about it for a moment. “Yeah, that’s completely fine. I don’t have a problem with it.” Eren was still holding his sketchbook wondering when Marc was going to lead them back.

“Alright! So if that’s done I’ll take you two back and Eren you can show me what you got for me to work with!” Marc had an excited air around him as he almost skipped down the hall towards his studio room, which had a huge chair in the center of it, along with a bunch of stools, which of course had wheels and could spin.

Brooklyn put her phone away. “I need to give my last guy paperwork and then I'll come fetch you, cool?” She snatched a small stack of papers and disappeared into the back, a man following her out a few minutes later. She escorted Lathe into the same room, setting him down and situating herself on a stool. “Now what in the world do you want this time?” She joked.

Eren opened his sketchbook to show Marc the designs and coloration he wanted on his left arm. “Just a fair warning… I have scars that run all the way up my arms… Don’t be too alarmed, I don’t do it anymore.” Eren told him before shedding his coat and showing off his scarred arms.

Marc only nodded before he looked at the left, which was obviously worse than the right, with the number of scars it had. “So the left arm, yeah? We looking to cover these up?” Marc looked over the arm, turning it around and seeing that his arms were quite thin, but a small bit of muscle was starting to form under the skin.

Eren nodded looking at his picture. “You think you could do it?” Eren asked him, carefully fingering over one of the designs.

“Our course I can do it. We’ll start with some of the outlining today, and we’ll see how long Lathe takes and how much pain you can take today.” Marc said and started to get everything ready, getting out a pen and paper to transfer the design over, pulling a light box close.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

A few hours later saw Eren’s upper arm completely outlined and filled. Marc worked fast and was surprised that Eren was actually able to hold a conversation without the slightest hint of pain in his voice. Is he one of those guys who’s nerve endings are gone and they can’t feel anything? Or does he have an extremely high pain tolerance? I can’t tell… He was laughing in my chair… I’ve never had anyone laugh… I’ve had people cry, and even pass out, but never laugh… Is this kid okay mentally? Hmmm…. well, something’s wrong somewhere, he’s Lathe’s kid… Marc didn’t want to do any more on Eren’s arm, knowing that he would probably hurt for a long time, and that he would show him how to properly take care of it, and he would wrap it up for the first day.

Lathe popped his head around the corner, his arm dressed and carrying his jacket. He raised his eyebrows at the immense progress on Eren’s arm. “You got plenty done for one day. I didn't think you’d get so much so quickly.” Well, Marc does work fast. Go figure.

Eren giggled. “Yeah, it tickled a lot.” Eren got himself up off the chair after Marc had thoroughly wrapped his arm.

“Yes, he was laughing in my chair…. That’s certainly a first I will not forget.” Marc got up to lead them to the door. “So we gonna see you guys in 4 to 5 weeks?” Marc asked pulling out his appointment book.

“Yes. Definitely. A Saturday, preferably.” Lathe looked over the calendar, pointing to a spot.

“May 8th? I got a spot in the afternoon I can fit Eren in for the rest of the outlining. Brook’s got a space at the same time too if you want to come in. Larry will be in too, if you want to have a go the same time as the other two nut jobs you came in with.” Marc said and filled in for Eren and Lathe’s appointments.

“Sure, put me in. I'll think about what I'd like.”

Marc nodded putting Levi in for an appointment at the same time as well. “Alright, anything else we can do for you guys?” Marc asked as Brook came back to the front to see them off.

Lathe reached into his back pocket for his checkbook. “Just tell me what the damage is, and I'll sign your forms.”

Marc got out the paperwork for the both of them, and gave him the total for the day. He made sure to keep everything organized as the papers were handed back to him and he let them leave after he made sure Eren knew how to take care of his tattoo. “You guys are all set then, have a Happy Birthday Eren!” Marc called.

Eren thanked him quietly and led Blake outside towards the car, his jacket loosely hanging over his shoulders to keep him somewhat warm outside.

Lathe unlocked the car, hopping in and turning up the heat immediately, tossing his jacket behind the seat.

Levi opened their door and let Blake in before him, sliding in and pulling Eren onto his lap, careful of his arm. “You are going to look so badass when that’s done.” He kissed Eren’s cheek. I’m seriously impressed.

Eren smiled widely. “Thank you Levi… but it won’t look as good as the tiger I put on your back with Henna.” He said quietly, snuggling up into Levi’s chest. “What time is it? Are we gonna actually eat something for dinner? Or another helping of cake… I could go for either.” Eren stated as he made himself comfortable.

Lathe looked over. “We could stop at this place nearby that has really good chicken wings, or we could head home. It’s about nine thirty right now, so it wouldn't be busy, but it’s up to you.”

“Home. There’s leftovers in the fridge too.”
Lathe nodded, smiling. “Aye-aye, Cap’n.” He pulled away from the curb, starting their trip home.

Eren sang along to the radio the whole ride home, keeping his ass pressed against Levi’s crotch. He knew he was being a tease, but at this point he couldn’t care less. For all the times you’ve been trying to grope me in the past two weeks, here is your punishment.

Levi swallowed hard as Eren sang, trying not to practically attack Eren with Lathe in the car and driving. Nope not now chill be cool. It was only barely working, Levi allowing himself only to wrap his arms tightly around Eren’s middle.

Lathe pulled into their driveway a half hour later, hopping out. “Home!” _And it’s ten at night and I want sleep. Or food. Both._

Eren clambered out of the car first, Blake following suit, climbing out over Levi, and going directly for the door, scampering after Lathe inside. Eren went right to the fridge and started to heat up a lot of chicken noodle soup, knowing everyone would probably want it and Lathe had made a ton earlier.

Levi shut the door behind him, kicking off his shoes and plopping down at the kitchen table, his eyes tracing over Eren’s outline, resting on the wrapped tattoo. He smirked. *That is going to do the impossible and make him look even more sexy. What the hell._

Lathe took a bowl of soup from Eren graciously, sitting down at his place at the table with a sleepy look. “It's been a really long day… After dinner I'm just going to head up to bed, cool?”

“Cool, just remember that you're banned for the next two weeks from downstairs.” Eren told him as he handed Levi a bowl of soup, turning to go and dish his own bowl. _Levi, you are going to thank me later..._

“Just so you know. I might have to go down once just to get my cello, because you don’t know how to get into the storage behind the chalkboard if you want me to teach you something over break…”

“That’s fine, you know the rules about my ‘nest’, they still apply.” Eren told him, sitting down and digging in, finding that he didn’t need the nausea pill to eat, which was progress.
Lathe was too tired to notice. “No touching any blankets or pillows unless I want to get shanked, yadda yadda yadda. Promise I won’t.”

Eren nodded, feeling full after one bowl of soup so he got up to start the dishes and put them in the dishwasher, too lazy to actually wash them at the moment. Nope, it’s time for Levi to give me my birthday present.

Lathe handed him his bowl, giving him a hug before yawning, padding his way to the stairs. “‘Night, you two.” He was gone in a moment.

Levi got up from the table as he finished his bowl, putting it in the dishwasher and closing it. He turned to Eren. “So, we’re downstairs tonight?” And what was that whole deal about birthday presents and me not getting you one…. And what is tonight, exactly?

Eren nodded. “And for the next two weeks, the basement shall become our little bunny den.” Eren’s seductive voice came out as he got closer to Levi, moving to kiss Levi’s neck gingerly, just doing enough to arouse him, but nothing more.

Levi swallowed hard, sighing as he felt Eren’s lips on his neck. I like where this is going… But does that mean… He blushed furiously. He doesn’t… Does he?

Eren pulled on Levi’s arm, leading him downstairs to his nest. The only thing difference was that he had put the box of condoms and lube in the middle of the bed. Well, if you weren’t sure yet, you’ll know what we’re doing now.

Levi’s eyes widened as he recognised the box on the bed, letting himself be pulled along. “E-Eren, are you sure…?” This is really important… I hope you’ve really thought about it, because I’ve been waiting but if you aren’t sure I can keep waiting if I have to.

“I’ve been waiting long enough, I want my birthday present.” Eren said and laid down seductively on their bed, pulling out a bottle of lube from the box, as well as some condoms, moving the rest of the box to the floor. “You ready, Levi?” Eren asked. God please say yes, I’ve been waiting all day for this.

Levi barely hesitated before he grinned, a predatory look taking over in his eyes. He climbed onto the bed, looming over Eren. “Yes.” He leaned down to kiss Eren fervently, his hands immediately tracing over his lithe body.
Eren groaned into the kiss, opening his mouth, coaxing Levi’s tongue in. His own hands ran over Levi’s chest, forgetting about the bottle of lube for the moment.

Levi tangled their tongues together, reaching down and toying with the hem on Eren’s shirt. Too much clothing. He broke their kiss for just a moment, taking off his own shirt and helping Eren with his, quickly coming back down to start kissing at his neck, suckling at the soft skin there.

Eren moaned out, not caring how loud he was since he knew Lathe was completely asleep. Fuck, I don’t care if I sound like a wanton whore, I want him. Eren’s hands reached down, tugging on the hem of Levi’s pants. Too much, I want them off. I want them off now.

Levi got the message, unbuttoning his jeans and kicking them off, his mouth not leaving Eren’s neck as he unzipped Eren’s jeans, sliding them over his hips and letting him kick them off the bed. He nipped and bit at the skin nearing his adam’s apple, remembering something he had done once before, tracing one hand gently up his inner thigh.

Eren gave a loud moan as Levi’s hand pressed against his inner thigh, and when his fingers dragged across his leg, he let out a shrill cry of pleasure, his whole body writhing under him, his cock instantly hardening. “Levi… Fuck…” Eren moaned and pushed on his chest to get him to look him in the eye with his own lustful ones.

Levi groaned against Eren’s neck, hearing him cry in pleasure. That voice… He pulled my away from Eren as he pushed on his chest, smirking at the lust in Eren’s eyes. “Something… the matter?” He purred, one hand ghosting over the front of his boxers.

“Levi… Touch… Me… Please” Eren moaned out his sentence, hoping to get Levi to pull down his boxers and reveal just how hard he really was. “Fuck… Please… Levi.” Eren begged, bucking his hips up into Levi’s hand as he was ghosted over. More… I want more… Touch me more Levi.

Levi’s eyes glinted. “Because you asked so nicely…” His voice was low and smooth, his hand sliding off Eren’s boxers in one movement, tossing them off the side of the bed, uncaring where they went. He watched as Eren’s cock sprang up against his stomach, painfully hard. He took him in hand, stroking him gently, moving to kiss down his chest, leaving a trail of bite marks as he went.

Eren was a moaning mess under him. His whole face was flushed with a dark shade of red, and his hands were clutching the first layer of blankets underneath him. “Levi… Ahh… Levi.” Eren was completely vocal, bucking his hips up into Levi’s hands to get more out of it.

Levi refused to move any faster, leaning up next to Eren’s ear, his voice even. “Yes, Eren? If you want something… You need to tell me.” He gave particular pressure on Eren’s length as he spoke.

Eren gave out a soft groan. “Levi… Touch me, please…” He gave a soft gasp as the pressure was increased. “Touch me, touch my ass, please.” Eren begged for Levi to switch his focus already. But his begging body looked stunning as it writhed under Levi. Dammit Levi, I’m supposed to be the tease not you!

Levi refused to completely accept that answer, his unoccupied hand moving to squeeze Eren’s ass. “Is that really all? Don’t you want… Anything else?”

Eren let out a few short pants, his breathing hitched. He moved a bit under Levi, giving him better access to his ass. He spread his legs seductively, reaching down to touch himself. “Touch me Levi… Finger me…” His whole body was screaming for attention, which he was crazing for.

Levi grinned, his eyes raking over Eren’s lewd pose. My god. He moved his hand from Eren’s cock to his mouth, looking Eren in the eyes, commanding him. “Suck.”

Eren’s eyes lit up instantly. He lifted his head up, taking the three fingers into his mouth instantly. He was able to suck on them pretty hard before he swirled his tongue around them, coating them with his own saliva. He let his eyes lock onto Levi’s as he continued to suck and lick on his fingers. Oh my god, I love this.

Levi suppressed a shudder at the look in Eren’s eyes, watching him suck on his fingers. Fuck. He pulled them away from his mouth after a moment, a thin string of saliva connecting them to his lips for a moment before he moved his hand to Eren’s entrance, tracing it with his finger before he pushed one digit in past the tight ring of muscle up to the first knuckle, feeling Eren move under him, his ass closing immediately at the intrusion, clamping down on it. Tight. “Oi, Eren, you gotta relax.”

Fuck… It hurts… It actually hurts again… well shit. Eren hissed slightly at the intrusion, almost closing his legs, but keeping them open for him. He took a few deep breaths, feeling Levi slowly insert more of the single finger into him. “Fuck.. Levi…” Eren moaned out quietly at first onto his got used to it, starting to relax and let Levi move his finger freely. Doesn’t hurt… Feels good.
Well, he’s relaxed, time for the next one. Levi slowly thrusted in the second, feeling Eren tighten right back up around him. Relax Eren... I'll make sure you’re only feeling pleasure by the end of tonight. He slowly thrusted them in and out, until he felt Eren relax again on them. Fuck, it’s like he’s sucking me right in... He feels so soft.... Levi started to scissor his fingers, trying to get him to open up. He heard the litany of curses come from Eren’s mouth as he scissored the pucker itself, added his third finger.

Eren cried out, shaking underneath Levi as he felt his third finger come in. He was moaning out Levi’s name as he clung to the sheets below him. Fuck... Levi... Fuck that feels.... Good. Eren quickly got used to the full feeling of having three fingers in him. Fuck he hasn’t found my pros-- Eren let out a pleasure filled scream as Levi curled his fingers up, hitting the bundle of nerves right on.

Ah, there it is. Levi watched as Eren arched his back off the mattress in pure pleasure, the precum leaking out of his cock in heavy streams. The corner of his lips slowly hooked up, giving a smirk as Eren moaned on his fingers, fucking himself to get off. Nope, can’t have that now, can we? He slowly drew his fingers out, hearing Eren whimper from the loss.

“Levi…” Eren whined, begged, and moaned out his name in the span of a second. “Levi… Please…” Eren shifted, turning so he was on all fours, and his ass in the air, easy to grab onto, easy to fuck from behind.

Damn. Levi shifted to kiss up Eren’s spine to his neck, one hand cupping his ass as the other reached for a condom abandoned on the blankets next to them, tearing the packet open with his teeth and rolling it on, dropping the wrapper. He nibbled up Eren’s back as he felt for the small black tube of lube, the cap snapping open as he poured a generous amount into his hand, tossing the tube aside as he slicked himself up, making his way up to the nape of Eren’s neck as he positioned himself at Eren’s entrance. He leaned up to Eren’s ear, his voice low. “Eren… tell me… what do you want me to do?”

Eren gasped feeling Levi’s tip at his entrance, ready to come in, but not pushing. He reached his arm around, tangling his fingers in inky hair, moaning out as he pushed his hips back. “Levi… Fuck me…. Please.” Eren begged him, moving back to start to get Levi’s tip pushing against his entrance. Fuck, he's big... I want him.

Levi smirked. As you wish. He slowly pushed forward, the tip of his cock pushing past the tight ring of muscle, groaning at the pressure. You’re so fucking tight, my god... He dropped his forehead against Eren’s shoulder, waiting for Eren to tell him he could continue.

Fuck. Eren took a few moments to get used to Levi’s massive size. “You’re so big… Levi… Go further.” He moaned and cried out more as he did so. Holy shit he’s fucking huge!
Levi slowly pressed forward, inch by inch, trying not to move too fast. Oh my god, Eren… He stopped as he was buried to the hilt, pressing kisses and nibbling at Eren’s neck. Whenever you say...

Eren stayed still for quite a few moments before his grip on the sheets below them loosened. His voice started to come back out. “Levi…” Eren moaned out his name, pushing back on him, giving the go ahead to move. God, this feels amazing.

Levi pulled back until the tip was the only thing still inside Eren and thrust forward, building a slow rhythm. He groaned against Eren’s shoulder, biting down on the soft skin. Fuck, you feel perfect...

Eren let out a loud moan, moving back in time with Levi’s thrusts. Holy shit…. It feels great. Eren continued to moan out Levi’s name, moving his head to the side a little and giving him space to bite his neck. “Levi, fuck me…. Faster…” Eren moaned out as he felt the coil beginning to form from the pleasure he was feeling.

Gladly. Levi moved faster, thrusting deeply into Eren, biting hard at the base of his neck, moaning loudly. Holy fuck, you feel so good...

Eren continued to let out string of moans, moving slightly under Levi to get a better angle, crying out in pure bliss when Levi thrusted directly onto that coveted bundle of nerves. “Fuck! Levi… Fuck… Right there, haaa- harder.” Eren begged him and his moaning filled the whole basement.

There it is. Levi aimed for that same spot, his hard thrusts becoming more erratic as he felt his coil tighten from the pressure. He moaned into Eren’s neck, biting hard.

Eren came right then and there. “Levi!” His cry came as he clamped down around Levi’s cock. Fuck, fuck, Levi… Fuck... Eren’s arms were shaking a little from his high that he was getting over. “So good, Levi.” He moaned out and tried to relax so Levi could finish.

Levi moaned loudly as the pressure increased tenfold, Eren’s cry music to his ears. Levi groaned as his coil snapped, his movements slowing as his high set in, giving Eren’s neck one last kiss as he slid out of Eren, dropping the used condom in a wastebasket next to the bed before flipping Eren over, kissing him passionately, cupping his jaw with his hands. Oh my god, Eren...
Eren moaned into the kiss, pressing up to Levi, his own hands moving up to go through Levi’s inky locks. Fuck, that felt amazing. Eren’s whole body shook a bit from the aftershocks of pleasure coursing through him, pulling back to breath. “So good… Levi.” Eren panted to him, trying to form coherent sentences but failing horribly. Fuck it… “Levi.” Eren moved to pepper Levi’s neck with gentle kisses, not leaving any marks, just content with kissing the pale skin, the pearly white cum forgotten on his chest for now.

Levi sighed happily, shifting to lay down next to Eren, wrapping his arms around his waist and pulling him close. “Eren… I- I love you.” _I really really do_

Eren smiled, leaning up to peck Levi’s lips. “I love you, too.” Eren then leaned in to kiss him deeply, his arms wrapping around Levi’s neck, pulling himself closer.

Levi pulled Eren on top of him, their chests flush, kissing him lazily and letting their tongues tangle. _I don't think I'll ever get tired of hearing you say that._

Eren continued to kiss him lazily for a while, pulling back to rest his head on Levi’s shoulder. His voice was soft in his ear, and he was close to sleep. “That felt great… We have the basement the whole break.” He told him and kissed his ear gently, resting his head back down to close his eyes to sleep.

_So that's why Lathe was banned from down here again._ Levi smiled softly, tugging a blanket over them. ..._the whole break._ Levi leaned his head back, his own eyes heavy with sleep. “You felt so amazing… and the whole break…” _No complaints here._

“I said that this would be our bunny den.” Eren yawned, snuggling into his side, feeling warm from the blanket. “Wanna shower together tomorrow?” He asked softly, his eyes closing quickly. He was gonna be asleep soon.

“Is that even a question?” Levi smiled, letting sleep wash over him.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren woke up first. He slowly peeled himself up off the bed. My back’s sore… But it could be worse so I’m not complaining. He looked around at the articles of clothing thrown all over the room, picking them up, searching for his boxers first. Where the hell are they?? Ah, found them! Eren swiftly put them on before he moved to pounce of Levi. “Good morning, Sexy Demon.” _Eren_ leaned down to kiss Levi awake.

Levi cracked his eyes open, smiling into the kiss, pulling Eren flush against him. That’s a nice way to wake up. I can get used to that... “G’morning.”

Eren smiled back, shifting when he felt Levi’s morning wood poke his clothed asscheeks. “Mm... Shower, I wanna get clean.” He told him and he pulled back to kiss Levi’s cheeks. I would love to fall asleep like that all the time. “That was probably the best sleep I’ve had in my life.” Eren’s voice was soft as he pressed ghost-like kisses on his jawline, trailing to his ear and down his neck.

Levi sighed contentedly, smirking. “You took the words right out of my mouth.” He gently pulled Eren back up to peck his lips, sitting up to swing his legs over the side of the bed. “Let me find my clothes and we can head upstairs, okay?” His eyes skimmed over the room. Now where the hell did half of my clothes end up?

“Okay.” Eren threw his clothes at him from the pile he had collected. He was already slipping into his sweatpants and Levi’s tank top he had worn last night. “I’m gonna go and get clothes out for us upstairs. We should go get our hair cut after breakfast!” Eren suggested, scampering off the steps. He looked much happier than he did yesterday, almost as if he was glowing. He saw Lathe in the kitchen and went and kissed his cheek. “‘Morning, can you make some breakfast pie while we go shower? Thanks!” Eren scampered off before Lathe could argue with him, running quickly up the stairs.

Lathe watched Eren scamper off with surprised eyes. ...what the hell? Okay. Lathe just grinned, chuckling and setting down his coffee, going to start breakfast. Someone’s in a good mood.

Eren had gotten out another of Levi’s tank tops for himself, and some nice jeans as well. He had set out similar clothes for Levi, though he got a t-shirt. He’ll think I’ll look good in his clothes. They fit me better now that I’ve filled out a bit more. Eren went off and started the shower right away, waiting for it to get up to temperature, and waiting for Levi to get upstairs.

Levi ascended the steps a moment later, walking into the bathroom and shutting the door behind him. He started to strip, running a hand through his messy hair. Haircuts... That’s a good idea.

Eren got into the shower, going to stand under the water, letting it run down his whole body and sighing as he felt the warm water relax his whole body. Fuck, I could get used to morning showers.
Levi stepped in after him, closing the glass door behind him, enjoying the warmth of the water and the steam. He smirked as he traced over Eren’s front, counting the many bruises and bites that peppered his skin. ...A couple more wouldn't hurt... With a glint in his eye, Levi closed the distance between them, nibbling at an unmarked patch of skin near his collar.

Eren gasped as he felt Levi’s teeth against his skin. “Levi… Isn’t there enough?” He asked, but didn’t really protest or push him away. I don’t mind, I just like teasing him… Hmm, I wonder how far this’ll go. Not that I really care… Levi’s already ready to jump me. Eren looked down to see Levi was still sporting his morning wood.

Levi bit at the base of his neck, wandering slowly to his adam’s apple. “Nope… You could always use more…” Levi smirked, licking and kissing his soft skin. Just making sure everyone knows what’s mine.

Eren let out a soft moan. “Levi.. We just… We just… last night…” Eren wasn’t really complaining about him and even lifted his head to let him go crazy on his adam’s apple, already starting to get aroused by Levi’s actions.

Levi looked up to meet Eren’s eyes, his hands going to cup his ass. “...Are you saying you want me to stop?” I’d much rather continue...

Eren gave out another quiet moan. “Levi… There aren’t any condoms up here. I don’t mind, but I thought you would.” His voice quiet, yet seductive as he moved his head to the side to kiss Levi’s ear, nibbling on it softly. No, I would much rather have you continue, but if you don’t want to because we don’t have a condom that’s fine... Though I know I’m clean… Grisha always made sure of that.

Why would I... Oh. “I don't mind at all.” Levi moved to press Eren against the wall of the shower, one hand coming up to wander over his chest.

Eren nodded and let Levi push him against the wall, groaning as Levi ran his hand over a nipple. His cheeks flushed immediately. I’m still fucking sensitive there... Great. He knows, and he’s gonna leave so many bites on my chest now. Eren moaned, pressing his hardening cock against Levi’s hips, trying to get friction to get him even harder.

Levi leaned forward to kiss Eren hungrily, tangling their tongues together, groaning as Eren’s length rubbed against his own. Fuck. He reached on hand down, trailing a finger from Eren’s base to tip, running over the slit.
Eren let out a loud moan, gasping before raising a hand to his mouth to silence himself. We can’t let Lathe hear us.

Oh that won’t do… Levi reached up to move Eren’s hand, kissing him hard before pulling away, looking at him with hooded eyes. “I’d much rather hear you.” He moved to attack his neck, beginning to loosely pump his shaft. Go ahead.

Eren let out a loud moan. Shit, this isn’t good, I’m still weak from last night… Eren reached up to cling to Levi as he felt his knees start to go weak. God, Levi, please don’t stop. Eren moaned out his name, hanging onto him tightly.

Levi wrapped his arm around Eren’s waist, holding him up as his other hand reached blindly for the shelf, glancing over for a second to see he picked up the white bottle. That’ll do. He flicked the top open, tipping some conditioner into his hand before setting it back down, covering his fingers. He kissed and licked his way over Eren’s collarbone, his hand going to prod at Eren’s entrance, slipping his first finger in to the knuckle.

Eren let out a loud gasp, moaning into Levi's neck as he felt Levi’s first finger. “Levi… Haa, more… More, please.” Eren begged him as he tried to move his hips down to get more of his finger in. Fuck it feels good. I’m still really sensitive from last night. Eren cried out in bliss as he licked over a sensitive spot. Levi… You fucking tease, you know my nips are sensitive!

Levi smirked, holding Eren up as he pressed in a second finger, his head ducking down to suckle at the small buds on his chest, switching between the two. Damn, I will never get tired of hearing that voice...

Eren moaned out in a higher pitch. “Levi… Ha… Please, I can’t… Don’t tease me…” Eren begged and writhed in his hold. Levi, fuck, I want you, hurry please… I want you. His fingers feel amazing but his cock feels so much better, I want it!

I can’t wait any more. Levi drew his fingers from Eren’s hole, reaching back over to the shelf and pouring more conditioner into his hand, coating his length. He took hold of Eren’s shaking legs and pulled them over his hips, holding Eren above his shaft. He slowly lowered Eren onto his cock, pressing past the ring of muscle, groaning into his shoulder. So tight...

Eren gasped as he was lifted up, his arms immediately tightening their grip around Levi’s shoulders, bringing his chest right to Levi’s face. Holy shit, I feel so full. He feels so big. Eren moaned out, his head close to Levi’s ear as he did so. His whole body was still shaking, his back pressed against the wall to help keep him up in the air in Levi’s arms.

Levi moaned into Eren’s shoulder, slowly lifting Eren up and letting him fall back down on his length, his thrusts deep. Oh my God, you feel so good...

“Levi... you’re so deep...” Eren shifted only a little, crying out in pleasure as Levi hit that wonderful bundle of nerves. “Fuck, Levi... There...” He moaned out, his cock twitching against their stomachs.

Levi sped up his motions and aimed for that same spot, hitting it over and over, one hand coming up to pump Eren’s neglected length in time with his thrusts.

Eren was a writhing mess in Levi’s arms as pleasure coursed through him. “Ha... Levi... I can’t... Much... Longer...” Eren moaned out his hands coming up to run through Levi’s long hair. “Fuck me.” Eren’s seductive voice sounded softly before he moaned out again, loudly, honestly not caring if Lathe would hear them or not. Fuck me... Fuck me good Levi.

Levi tried to hold on, thrusting hard into Eren, his hand tightly jerking Eren’s length. He sucked on the skin at his adam’s apple, moaning. Message received, holy fuck...

Eren moaned, his legs wrapping tighter around Levi’s waist. “Levi!” Eren cried as he came to Levi’s motions. He was shaking, his ass tightening around Levi, feeling him hit his prostate repeatedly, prolonging his orgasm. Oh fuck! Levi... Shit... So good, I’m gonna be weak for a while... Holy shit that was great! Eren was panting from the intensity of their activities.

Levi’s coil snapped as Eren clamped down on his length, his movements slowing after a moment. He slowly lifted Eren off of his length, still keeping a firm hold on his waist as he set him on shaky legs, kissing him deeply. You felt so wonderful...

Eren groaned as he was set down, his knees shaking. “Hmm... You filled me up pretty good.” Eren said quietly, resting his head against Levi’s shoulder as he tried to catch his breath back. It feels warm... I feel full. I need to clean that out though. Eren reached around to finger himself, trying to get it all out.

What do you think you're doing. Levi gently swatted Eren’s hand away from his entrance, pressing three fingers into his still-slick hole, kissing down his jaw. Let me.
Eren gave out a loud gasp. “Levi… fuck…” Eren moaned louder as Levi found his prostate right away. Are you serious? You found it that quickly? Fuck… You better get it all out! Eren’s knees felt weak as his cock was starting to harden right back up. “Levi…” Eren moaned out his name again.

Levi’s fingers brushed over Eren’s prostate, coaxing out drips of white. He felt Eren’s length hardening against his hips, though he didn’t let go of his waist. We can’t let you fall. He pushed down his own arousal, pressing soft kisses down his neck.

Eren cried out in bliss, feeling Levi’s soft touches all over him. “Levi… I can’t… you better… have everything out….” Eren gasped, feeling the coil start to tighten quickly. I’m so fucking sensitive, it’s incredible.

Levi smiled against his neck, his lips ghosting over his collarbone as his fingers worked out the last few drips of white, curling and pressing against his prostate. Don’t worry about that.

Eren cried out Levi’s name as he came again, his own cum landing all over Levi’s chest. Eren’s legs trembled as he clung to him, panting quickly. “No more, please… I want to be able to stand.” Eren slowly regained the use of his jello legs before the two of them washed themselves off and washed their hair thoroughly, Levi being careful of Eren’s tattoo, Eren getting out of the shower first and going to get dressed, walking to his room with just a towel around his waist. His chest was lined with fresh hickey and bites. Well, Levi found his new favorite spot. Eren took a deep breath in the hallway. Breakfast smells fucking amazing!

Levi followed him soon after with a victorious smirk, quirking an eyebrow at Eren’s choice of clothing for him. Nice. He quickly dressed, giving Eren one last peck on the cheek before they headed downstairs to the kitchen. I’m starving… and breakfast smells good.

Eren quickly got dressed using the towel to dry his hair out completely. Eren took the towel downstairs as he continued to dry it. He walked into the kitchen with a smile on his face. “Breakfast smells amazing Dad!” Eren seemed to glow even more as he sat down at the table waiting patiently for his food.

Lathe looked over his shoulder from the stove as he cut the quiche, smiling, a barely noticeable red streak across his face. Don’t do it, Lathe. Don’t you fucking dare. I don’t care that they were so loud that you could hear them, if you so much as say one word about it I don’t care that I’m you. I will murder you. Lathe handed Eren and Levi each a plate and a mug of tea, sitting down with his own piece and sipping at his coffee. “Either of you have any plans for today?”
“We’re gonna go for haircuts after we eat, we need them.” Eren said, digging into his meal without needing the nausea pill. Eren sipped at his tea between his bites. I hope he didn’t hear us, god that would be so embarrassing, but he hasn’t said anything... so maybe he didn’t? Anyways... I think I’m gonna cut my hair short again.

Lathe studied Eren’s plate, his gaze flicking to the counter where the small bottle of pills sat untouched. “...since when did you not need the nausea pills to eat?” Well this is a new development.

Eren looked up to Lathe with a smile. “Well, I tried a few times, but I was finally able to hold it down yesterday, so I’m gonna try and stay off of them.” Eren said finishing off his plate and his mug and going for refills for both. Maybe it’ll stay that way.

Lathe beamed. Progress! “That’s great to hear! Hopefully you won’t have to take them anymore.”

Levi gave Eren a small smile. That’s good. He can hold food down for right now.

Eren beamed as well, taking another piece of the quiche and filling his mug up with more tea. He took a few more minutes to finish off the extra food he took and he sat back to wait for Levi so they could go. Levi still needed to drive them everywhere in the Thunderbird. He got up, putting his dishes in the sink before letting Blake out to make sure he didn’t need to go when they were out. Haircut, that gives Lathe time to calm down if he heard us... it’s also a mini-date! Which is great!

Levi had finished a few minutes before Eren, and had gone downstairs to retrieve his coat, padding back to the kitchen with Eren’s coat and boots in hand, placing the latter near the door, handing Eren his jacket.

Lathe turned in his chair, pulling his wallet from his pocket and handing Levi a credit card. “Just because I’m giving you this does not mean you can go cray with it. Just for haircuts. Unless I end up texting you two a grocery list or something, alright?” He grinned.

Levi smirked, tucking the black card into his wallet, his voice deadpan. “No promises.”

Lathe chuckled, turning to Eren. “Is it alright if I dig out my old cello from the basement? I won’t touch anything else.” Yeesh, I haven’t gone behind the chalkboard in forever...
Eren thought about it for a second. “Yeah, that’s fine, the blankets might be all over the place, but just leave them where they are or put them back on the bed.” Eren told him, letting Blake back in and putting his vest on him, clipping his leash to him as well.

“Cool. Have fun, and try to resist dying your hair green!” Lathe called jokingly as they walked out the front door, the lock clicking behind them. He stood after a moment, reaching again for his wallet, drawing out a steel card with a few holes punched in the end. He traipsed down the stairs, turning on all the lights and padding past the bed. He picked up a blanket that had fallen on the floor, tossing it on the bed, hearing something clatter to the floor. He looked down, seeing a small black tube of lube. He blushed furiously, face in his hand, deliberately stepping over it and continuing to the chalkboard wall, looking for the seam in the wall between two of the panels. He slid the card through part of the seam near the top, hearing the click of a lock and pushing it in, sliding it a bit to the right. He felt for the light switch, stepping into the small storage room. A hard black case leaned against the far wall, and he picked it up, carrying it upstairs first before returning for the small amp and the pedals that went with it, switching the light off and closing the panel behind him. He avoided the small tube on the floor and walked quickly back up the stairs, shutting off the lights. ...Well, it's official.

It was only a few minutes after Eren and Levi left that there was a knock on the door.

Lathe looked up from where he was setting up his cello. Who the hell is that? Levi and Eren should be at the salon by now… He stood, placing the electric instrument in it’s stand before walking to the front door, cautiously opening it.

“Hello, is this Eren Yeager’s residence?”

Lathe studied the young man in front of him, seeing an older man walking up the driveway. I know your face. “…Aren't you Nate Ruess?” Lathe blinked, grinning sheepishly. “Oh, uh, yeah, it is. He’s not here right now, though.” He offered Nate his hand. “I’m Lathe, Eren’s father.” He looked to the man behind Nate. “And you are?”

“Ah, sorry, I’m Nate’s Producer, Jeff Bhasker. It’s a pleasure to meet you.” Jeff held his hand out for Lathe as well. “I was hoping that I could talk to Eren, I’m willing to wait, since we’re in the area anyways.” The man smiled softly, seeming like a kind man as it was.

Lathe stepped back a bit, opening the door wider. “Then won't you come in? I can get you some coffee or tea if you like, and we can talk until he gets back. He and Levi are just out getting haircuts; it won't be long.” Eren is going to freak out when he hears Nate’s here!
Nate gave him an easy smile, stepping over the threshold and kicking off his shoes. “Thank you, though is it alright if I just have water?” He looked around their living room, fascinated by the dark wood cello and the piano, the gold script on the wall. Wow. Classy.

“I’ll take a coffee if you would be kind enough.” Jeff slipped off his boots, setting them next to Nate’s Converse and stepping in, out of the way of the door. He looked around, eyes immediately drawn to the Grand Piano and Cellos. “Very nice set up… Is this where he records?” Jeff asked, looking to both Nate and Lathe. Nate probably knows the answer; he’s been ranting about the kid the whole drive here.

Lathe nodded, moving to the kitchen. “Yeah, Eren records his piano pieces down here, but most of the vocal stuff he records upstairs.” Lathe handed them both their drinks.

“I see, thank you, Lathe was it?” Jeff asked, taking the mug, sipping from it cautiously. Want to make sure I’m saying it right. This coffee’s really good, I need to find out what brand it is.

Lathe smiled and nodded, retrieving his own mug from the table.

Nate studied the piano, fascinated, lost in thought for a moment before looking to Lathe. “Eren said something once about you writing your own music. I have to ask, did you write the piano music in the videos he put up of him painting?” I'd certainly never heard anything like it.

Lathe smiled. “Uh, yeah. I did. I tend to just compose stuff randomly… I have a binder full of stuff, if you want to see it.”

Nate grinned. “It was really interesting music. I'd like to see it, if you'd let me.”

Lathe beamed, walking to the scripting room and pulling the binder from the shelf. He set it on the closed top of the piano, opening it to the clean sheets of music.

Nate skimmed over the notes, remembering the music from the video, reading over the words, his brow furrowed. He tapped the cursive lyrics. “...how would these work? Like, how low or high do you sing them?”
Jeff glanced over his shoulder and looked over the music, and the lyrics quiet to hear Lathe’s answer. I wonder if he can sing… Did he teach his son to sing this way?

Don’t be a pansy, Lathe. Do it. Nate Ruess is right fucking there. Do it! “I think it would be easiest if I sang it.” He went and put his coffee down on the kitchen table, taking the music out from the binder, spreding it over the stand. He was still for an instant before he began to play, singing his best.

Jeff closed his eyes listening to the sweet melody, smiling as Lathe continued to sing. Ah, I see… so he fluctuates between high and low, no wonder he wanted to sing than try to explain it to us. He sounds great, I like it. I hope his kid is just as good if not better.

Nate’s eyes followed Lathe’s fingers over the piano keys, his eyes bright. He must have taught Eren how to sing. He has such a good range- he makes it look easy to move that quickly up and down the scale.

Lathe had a small hopeful smile on his face as he played the last few chords, looking to the two of them. “…Was that any good?” Dammit if that sucked I might as well get hit by lightning right now.

“Your range is really good; I’m impressed. I hope you taught Eren the same thing. It was done beautifully, and I can see how it was easier to show us, your voice fluctuates a lot to keep the lyrics flowing nicely. It was very well done.” Jeff was short and too the point as he sipped at his mug still.

“I really like where you used vibrato- it really added this emotion that you could feel really strongly. And yeah, you can go from the really low notes to high ones like it’s nothing. You’re Eren’s father, alright.” He grinned.

Lathe laughed oddly, not knowing what to say to that last comment. Um. How does one respond to this… “…um, that’s really kind of you, but you should know that Eren’s not mine. I adopted him about five months ago.” He rubbed the back of his neck. At least I know I didn’t suck. That’s good.

Jeff’s eyes widened. “Really? Did you teach him how to play the piano? Or anything? I can see that there’s two cellos up here… are you teaching him that?” Jeff asked and shuffled over towards the cellos. “Who taught him how to sing like that, if it wasn’t you?” Jeff asked curiously. This is a very interesting development.
Lathe’s gaze traced the outline of the instrument. “...his mother did, a long time ago. She taught him everything he knows about music, about playing the piano and singing. I'm just kind of letting him and helping him with it a little, I guess. I got him the cello for his birthday, I thought I'd teach him that...”

Nate paused in his perusing of the binder full of music for a moment, looking up to the silent electric cello. It looks a bit dusty... “You play the cello much?”

Lathe smiled, moving over to it. “Not as much as I used it. I just brought it up from the basement.” He plugged in the amp, turning the volume down so it wasn't overwhelmingly loud. He sat on the black stool he brought up with it, drawing it up to him, thinking. What to play, what to play... He smiled. I know. He thought about the notes before drawing the bow smoothly across the strings, playing the familiar chords of Secrets.

Jeff picked up the notes after a bit. OneRepublic, nice choice Lathe, it sounds great on the Amp. Jeff sat down on the nearby couch, appreciating the notes flying through the air, though his head snapped towards the kitchen as he heard a blaring ringtone.

Lathe nearly dropped the bow in surprise. “That’s Levi. I need to see what’s up.” He put the cello in the stand and quickly moved to the kitchen, picking up his phone from the table, skimming over the texts.

=Yo, we’re almost done with our haircuts, about to head home

=Need anything from the store or what?

Lathe glanced up to Nate and Jeff, typing quickly.

)Yeah, we're going to need plenty of food. I'll send you a pic of the grocery list sends picture of said list

)Btw we have company over )Guess who it is =...John Cena.

)No

)Good guess tho
Is it those people from the tattoo place yesterday

Just tell me who the hell’s in our house

Nate Ruess and his producer guy Jeff what’s-his-face

You're serious.

Levi, trust me. I'm being super cereal right now.

Just stop

But that’s great!! Nate Ruess is in our fucking house!!

Yeah he’s staying for lunch and stuffs and he wants to do some musical stuffs with Eren

So don't keep him waiting too long okay?

Roger. I'll make sure we don't take forever in the store.

Oh, and pick up a bunch of chicken for dinner.

Enough for five people

I'll think of something fancy to do with it

Alright. Talk to you later

Same

Lathe set down his phone, turning the tone volume down before coming back to the living room. “Levi and Eren are going to get some groceries so I can make lunch for all of us, is that alright?”

Jeff nodded. “That would be great, we figured we’d be here awhile since Nate wanted to record with him so badly.” Jeff finished off his mug before following Lathe’s lead, ushered into the kitchen.

Nate smiled. “Thank you so much, that sounds great.” He picked up the binder of music, following Jeff and Lathe to sit at the kitchen table with them, skimming over the dozens and dozens of pieces and asking about their titles, their words.

Lathe looked up as the front door’s lock rattled, Levi pushing it open with his foot and kicking off his shoes, taking note of the new shoes and boots on the mat. Nice Converse. He walked into the kitchen to set the bags on the counter, greeting Nate and Jeff, moving to put the groceries away, Blake at his heels. He turned around as he noticed Blake’s defensive stance in the doorway, trying to stare Nate and Jeff down. “Oh yeah, that’s Blake. He’s just really protective of Eren, it’s kinda his job. Here.” He went to take off Blake’s vest.
Nate saw the patches sewn onto the vest. He's a service dog. PTSD, maybe? He isn't deaf, or blind... He read the red lettering on one of the patches. *...PTSD. He was really nervous and jumpy when he came backstage, practically clinging to Levi for dear life...* Nate stood, maintaining a calm, neutral demeanour as he moved around the table, stopping a few feet from Blake. He noticed Jeff rise behind him, doing the same.

Levi put the vest next to the couch, retrieving a bag of dog treats from on top of the fridge. He handed a couple to Nate and Jeff. “Here, if you give him these he’ll know you’re not any danger to Eren or anyone else around here.” He put them back, watching over his shoulder as he put the groceries away.

Nate took a small step forward, holding out his hand with one of the treats, watching as Blake slowly moved forward, sniffing at his hand before licking it up from his palm. He grinned, giving him the other two, scratching him behind the ears. He’s nice. I like him.

Jeff slowly came up to Blake, coming down low and having his hand out with a treat like Nate did. Blake slowly came up to him, sniffing him, slowly taking the first treat and hastily accepting the two that followed. He lay down in between the two of them, wagging his tail lazily as he was pet. He’s pretty chill. So Eren’s got PTSD... I wonder why? What happened to the kid with the golden voice? Jeff picked his head up as he heard a few chords coming from a cello in the other room.

“I REMEMBER!!!”

Eren shouted from the other room, which prompted Blake to get up and hurriedly rush to Eren’s side in the piano room, only to find that he was okay and playing the cello like he had been born to do so. Blake came back soon after and sat down by Nate, expecting to be pet. The music steadily getting more difficult as Eren continued to play the cello.

Nate leaned over to pet Blake, quickly giving up and sitting down next to him. Nate smiled to himself, his thoughts joking. So demanding of attention. He had no problem with giving Blake attention.

Late quirked an eyebrow at Eren’s shout, listening to the music growing more and more complex. He looked over to Levi. “What’s up with Eren?”

“He started thinking about how he hasn’t played the damn thing in almost a decade and became determined to remember how to play his mother’s favorite....” Levi let out an exasperated sigh as he closed the now fully stocked fridge. I just had to ask... And he went on a fucking rant... A huge-ass fuck-mothering rant.

You sound so done with him. “I get the idea whatever he said was extremely long-winded.”

“You have no idea... He went on a rant of instruments that his mom taught him how to play... thirteen... Thirteen instruments he knows how to play. ...I don’t think we’ll be able to fit them all here if Spades can get them all. We’d be trying to get another Grand Piano in the piano room. But anyways, just let him get it out of his system for right now. Once he’s played it until he’s satisfied he played it just like his mother taught him, he’ll be over. I didn’t tell him Nate was over here, figured it was a surprise.” Levi was short and to the point as he acquired a cup of tea and sat back down at the table in Eren’s usual spot. God, that was such a long car ride...

“We’ll figure something out in getting everything over here...” He froze as what he said clicked. “...did you say thirteen instruments?”

“Technically twelve because we can’t necessarily take the organ from the church he grew up near.” Levi said and took a long swig of his tea. At least his music sounds wonderful. Levi watched as Jeff returned to his seat at the kitchen table since Blake was preoccupied with making sure Nate was giving him a belly rub.

Lathe’s eyebrows shot up, and he turned to start on lunch for all of them, pondering how Eren could have learned thirteen instruments and where the hell they would put all of them. We could donate the piano I have right now to my old high school. They didn't have one last I checked- then again, that was years ago. I'm sure there's a school around here that would love to have it. And we could put hooks up in the walls, or something... We'll make room for everything.

The music in the other room had finally stopped and Eren was coming closer to the entrance. “Hey, Dad, are we having Marc and Brook over for dinner-” Eren froze when he saw Nate sitting on the floor with Blake. His eyes lit up like a fucking Christmas tree as he squealed in joy, running over and dropping onto his knees to give him a hug. “Oh my god! Nate you’re here!” Eren’s excitement was clearly evident in his voice, a bit higher because of it.

Jeff chuckled quietly as he saw Eren race to tackle Nate all the way to the floor in a huge hug.

Nate laughed as Eren glomped him, falling back onto the floor with a huge grin, ruffling Eren’s hair. “Good to see you again too, Eren. Nice to see your cast is finally off-” He gasped as he saw Eren’s tattoos, careful of them. They look really new, as in I-just-got-them new. “You got tattoos?!” They look so dope what even!
Eren smiled, pulling himself off of Nate so they could both sit up again. He seemed much more comfortable to be around him in his own home. He looked at his tattoo and nodded. “Yeah, this is only the start of the sleeve, I gotta get the rest outlined and then colored in… I got it yesterday, looks cool, huh?” Eren smiled even brighter as he showed Nate the whole upper arm. I wonder if he likes it? I hope he does… I’ve been doodling it for quite a long time.

“That. Is so cool! Did you design it, or did someone else?” Given you painted the upstairs room, my money’s on you.

“I did… That reminds me. Dad you got a tattoo yesterday too, I haven’t seen it yet!” Eren said and looked over to Lathe by the counter, he hadn’t even really noticed Jeff quietly watching them. What did Lathe get?

Lathe looked over his shoulder, chuckling. He stopped to pull his loose sleeve up to the top of his left shoulder. “I already had the hand of cards on it, and the roses… But I had Brook put in the gears at the top left corner yesterday, and the chessboard.” He motioned to the checkered pattern underneath the red roses. I thought she did an amazing job of it.

Eren’s eyes widened. “They look awesome! What are you making for lunch?” Eren turned his head to Nate. “How long are you staying for?” Eren asked quickly, wanting to know how long he got to spend with Nate and see if they could do any recordings together. Please say you’re staying at least a little bit after lunch! Please please please! I wanna sing with you again!

“We’re having pasta and some Caesar salad for lunch.”

“And I was hoping I could stay for a while, record some music with you.” Nate beamed at Eren’s excitement.

“You’ll sing with me again? You really will?” Eren asked, Blake moving to take hold of his hand to get him to calm down. Too excited? Well, Blake picked up on that pretty quick.

Nate watched as Blake took Eren’s hands into his mouth, pushing down concern. He’s trained to do that, remember. Let him do his job. But I should probably help him chill out a bit. He rested a hand on Eren’s arm, an easy smile on his face. “Course. It’ll be fun! And we can sing whatever you want.” That really would be cool! Nate suddenly looked up to Jeff, remembering his quiet presence. “Oh my God, how could I possibly forget? I’m sorry, Jeff. Eren, this is my producer Jeff Bhasker. Jeff, this is Eren Yeager, the kid who sang at my concert that I refuse to shut up about.”
Eren turned to look at Jeff, his eyes growing to the size of dinner plates in pure surprise. Holy shit! That’s really him! That’s really Mr. Bhasker! Eren didn’t know what to do, or say since nothing came out of his mouth when he opened it to speak. Eren felt Blake climb into his lap and lick his face to bring him back out of his thoughts and to reality. Alright calm down... He’s only here because Nate’s here... That’s gotta be the reason right?

“Hi, Eren, I wanted to stick around and hear you sing with Nate to see if you're as good as he says you are before I make a contract with you.” He said and smiled easily, sitting back in his chair watching as Eren was slowly petting Blake in his lap, trying to process everything.

Nate nudged Eren’s arm, his tone light. “Now don't you go and get all nervous on us here.” He looked up as Lathe started to set the table, moving the binder of sheet music to the counter. “Come on, I get the feeling lunch is ready.” He smiled, standing and offering Eren his hand.

Eren looked up to Nate’s hand for a second, still trying to process exactly what was happening. He ushered Blake off of his lap, giving Nate his good hand to pull him up. Probably harder to do than when he picked me up from the crowd to get onstage. I have gained 40ish pounds since then. Eren got up quickly and thanked him quietly, noticing that there were five spots at the table being set and four chairs. “Hey Dad? Where’s an extra chair?” Eren asked, turning to Lathe for an answer. I mean, I would just make Levi’s lap my chair, but this is Jeff Bhasker we’re talking about... I don’t know if he would think I’m weird for being gay.... I wonder if Nate told him?.... Oh shit.... All the hickeys and bites.... They can see them!! Shit! Eren felt Blake’s mouth on his hands again to stop him from freaking out more at the new revelation.

Lathe’s brow furrowed as he saw Blake catch Eren’s hands. What’s wrong? He reached for the punch card in his wallet again. “Basement. I'll be right back.” He sent Eren a reassuring smile before he walked to the scripting room, quickly reappearing with another chair, setting it next to Levi. He stepped around the table and handed everyone a plate with salad, plenty more in the large salad bowl he set in the middle of the table, and a bowl of pasta, sitting across from his usual place where Nate now sat.

Eren sat down across from Jeff, who was where he usually sat with Levi to his left and Nate to his right. He swallowed hard looking to the food. I don’t think I can eat without a pill.... Eren slowly got up and went to the counter to take his nausea pill before coming back to sip at his water and wait. Blake had reclaimed his hands as soon as he sat down and he whined a little, forcing Eren to focus on him and not anyone else. Shitshitshtishriftshrift.

Lathe sent him a sympathetic look as he took his pill. Nerves do that to you... but he’ll be okay.
Levi nudged his foot with his own. You don’t have to be worried about anything, Eren. It’s alright.

Jeff noticed that Blake had pushed Eren back, away from the table a bit and was almost practically standing in the chair to try and calm him down. What’s got him like this? God… Is it me? He doesn’t need to be worried about me.

Nate looked at him worriedly, leaning to rest a hand on his shoulder, giving him a small smile. “You don’t have to be worried about anything, Eren. We’re not gonna attack you or anything. It’s fine, promise.” He’s probably worried about Jeff… but Jeff’s really nice. You don’t have to worry about him.

Eren looked down and the hand that wasn’t petting Blake went up to cover a large number of hiccups on his neck. He couldn’t bring himself to look anyone in the eye, not even Levi. Shit… There’s so many… I can’t cover them all up. Though Blake seemed to pick up on it. The dog leaned his head against the other side of Eren’s neck, hiding the rest of the hiccups. Shit… I need something to cover them up… A hoodie? Yeah but those are upstairs…. Shit Lathe suddenly rose, understanding. “I’ll be right back.” He quickly excused himself upstairs, digging a dark green hoodie from their closet. I’d probably be that embarrassed if I were Eren… He traipsed back down the stairs and tapped Eren’s shoulder lightly, handing it to him. That should make you feel less self-conscious.

Eren sighed in relief and moved to put it on, quickly covering all the hiccups and bites that littered his body. Thank you Lathe. Eren calmed down a lot after that and Blake laid down by his feet at the table, waiting for food to drop to eat. Eren slowly started to eat again, finishing up his salad first before moving to the pasta. Well it certainly is good… But then again Lathe hasn’t made anything I don’t like yet… And it’s been almost five months too...

Jeff seemed to be relieve when Eren calmed down with his hoodie. Wonder if it’s a special hoodie for him?

Nate relaxed, returning to his food when he saw Eren mellow out, a knowing look in his eye....oh. That makes sense.

...These are important people. I’ll let it slide. Levi smirked, though he kept nudging Eren’s foot under the table.
Eren sent Levi a huge glare before he looked back to his food. He finished off his plate and worked on finishing up a second one. You are in so much trouble... Well it’s not your fault they showed up... But God, you are getting a punishment dammit! It almost looks like I got strangled with how many there are!

Nate finished eating first, addressing Eren as he ate his last few bites of salad. “So, Eren, is it cool if we record some stuff? We can sing whatever you like, or we could play the piano. It’s your call.” He grinned. They're both really fun to do.

“All the recording stuff is upstairs, so singing would be better. I don’t want to have to drag it down here...too much work.” Eren stood up taking the dishes from everyone that was finished and put them in the sink, motioning Nate to follow him. Blake came as well, stretching as he appeared from under the table.

Nate followed Eren up the stairs, glancing to the left and seeing the ceiling of Lathe’s room, recognising the bronze and gold cogs and gears. That is really cool. He saw the numerous drawings on Eren’s walls as they passed his room, finally stepping into the recording room. He slowly walked the length of it, taking in the amazing detail of the jungle-esque scene. “You really went all-out on this. It’s amazing.” He turned to Eren as he set up the camera, grinning. “What were you thinkin’ we should sing?” Anything you have us singing will turn out fabulous, honestly.

“Well, I’ve been thinking about doing another duet with you…. If that would be okay?” Eren asked as he moved to set up his computer, which was already loaded with a multitude of Recordings, pictures, and videos. “It’ll take me a minute to sort through everything… Do you have any ideas?” Eren asked looking over as Nate inspected his room. I wonder if he likes the room? “If you like this, we should ask Dad if I can show you his study, that’s probably the best one I did so far.” Eren returned his focus back to his computer and it started up with a picture he had been working on taking up the whole screen. He quickly closed out of it before he started up the software for recording and made sure everything was connected where they should be. “Would you be interested in doing country by any chance?” Eren looked up to Nate as he asked. I wonder if we have a guitar around.

You did Lathe’s study too? Lucky. “Country music would be cool. And yeah, we have to do a duet.” Jeff brought his guitar. “Do you happen to know how to play the guitar?” If you do, we’re going all out with this. Nate walked over to Eren, inspecting his setup. Nice computer.

“Yeah I do, but I don’t have one…. Did you guys bring one?” Eren asked moving to make sure he was signed into his YouTube account. Hmm... I’ve never tried to live stream yet... That could be interesting. “Have you done a livestream before?” Eren sat down and clicked a few things and already had a live stream set up and ready to go.
“Yeah, Jeff did. I'll go get it. And… I think so? I mean, I know what they are obviously, but I only did one once. It was really cool actually, getting to see people comment and ask questions in real time. We could do one for our jamming, if you want.” That would be really neat, seeing people talk and comment. It’s also not as much of a pain to edit if you post them!

“Alright, then I’ll start it up and get it tweeted out… You wanna go get the guitar?” Eren asked and got his phone out to tweet about a live stream. Hmm, should I say Nate’s with me? Or keep that a surprise until they click? Well I might as well start the live stream then link it.

“Same. I’ll go grab it.” Nate disappeared down the stairs, pulling out his phone to tweet about the livestream. He popped into the kitchen. “Hey Jeff, can I borrow the keys to the car for a sec? I need to grab something.”

Jeff looked up with a raised eyebrow. “Uhh, yeah… I guess.” Jeff dug the keys out of his pocket and handed them over to Nate. “What are you grabbing? I thought you didn’t want anything from your luggage?” He questioned turning away from the two at the table with him. And Lathe was just getting to the point of where he found out Eren could sing too…

“Something.” Nate grinned and left for the car, opening the trunk and grabbing the guitar case, slamming it back shut and locking it. Going back inside, he tossed Jeff the keys, and ran back up the stairs before he could protest, tapping away on his phone. “Thanks!”

“What does he need my guitar for?” Jeff asked to himself as he watched Nate run up the stairs. “Does he know how to play?” Jeff asked either of them.

Levi nodded. “Yup, that would be one of the thirteen he can play.” So many… And he told me about all of them.

Nate walked back into the room and closed it with his foot, placing the case on the ground and opening it, taking the guitar out and handing it to Eren. “Here ya go. It’s Jeff’s, so don't break it or anything.” He grinned. You're not gonna break it and we both know that.

Eren smiled as he took it. “You wanna tweet it out and see what we’re playing first while I get used to the sound and tune it to the song?” Eren asked as he slipped the strap over his shoulders, adjusting it so it fit nicely in his lap as he sat on the stools he brought out in front of the camera. “It’s recording and we’re live just so you know.” Don’t swear… Don’t want to be responsible for that.
“Oh, we're live?” Nate looked into the camera, beaming. “Oh, we're live. Hi! And yeah, I'll finish tweeting this out now.” He plopped down onto a stool next to Eren, typing quickly on his phone. “Alright, I'd give it five minutes to explode.” And I'll try my best not to swear like a sailor. He pulled up the comment section next to the screen of their stream, skimming over the many greetings and excited keyboard smashings, reading over the fan suggestions of songs to sing. His brow furrowed in thought. What should we sing first? “What to sing, what to sing...” He kept reading as multitudes of people suddenly latched onto the same idea. “Hey, how about we do ‘Just Give Me a Reason’ again? Everyone wants to hear it, and it sounded amazing the first time.”

Eren looked up to see Nate by his computer. “Sure, let me tune the guitar, give me a couple seconds.” That would sound really nice with the guitar behind it. Eren smiled as he finished up after about two minutes of screwing with the notes before he played a few cords of the song. “I’m ready when you are... oh I’ll move the mic out so they can see us both.” Eren got up and moved the microphone and stools back so that they could be seen by the camera at full body length. There that should be good. Blake seems interested in being in the shot too, apparently. Eren watched as Blake sat down in between the two stools, looking up to Eren as he leaned down to pet Blake behind the ears. “Hey Blake... you’re on camera... wanna say ‘Hi?” Eren giggled as Blake growled a little bit looking straight at the camera before right back at him.

Nate smiled, petting Blake’s head, seeing the comments rush with greetings to Blake. “Everyone’s saying hi to Blake.” He is adorable. It’s understandable. He noticed some people commenting about his collar, asking who’s service dog it was. Oh yeah, the lettering on his collar. “Uh, a lot of people are asking who’s he is, they can see the lettering on his collar.” He looked to Eren.

Eren looked up from the guitar and down to Blake’s collar. “I completely forgot his collar said that... oh well.” Eren turned to look at the camera. “Blake’s my doge... He’s a PTSD service dog, so don’t be alarmed if he bites, that’s his job.” Eren smiled and turned over to Nate. “You ready?” He asked quickly. Change the subject, I don’t want people asking why I need a service dog.

It’s cool to skim over it. It shouldn’t be so important that Eren needs him as people might make it out to be. “Ready when you are.” Nate gave him an easy grin, listening as Eren started the familiar first few chords.

Eren played the first few chords of the song with a happy smile on his face. Eren opened his mouth first, singing beautifully. The comments section continued going wild. At least they like it... now focus on the song. Eren sang beautifully, even going so far as to hit the high note perfectly. Hmm, will I be hitting high notes like that again today? I mean I can go higher... but Nate doesn’t know that.

Nate sang his best, again joining in at the first refrain. He sounds so much better than I do. And I still don’t understand how he can go that high! It’s seriously impressive. He laughed as Eren strummed the last few notes. “You somehow sound even better than at the concert, and you were singing perfectly then!"

Eren smiled sheepishly. “Nah… My voice was wavering a lot when I was on stage with you… It probably sounds better because I’m not as nervous to do that again… So have you guys decided what we’re doing next? We’re doing duets!” Eren called to the camera before going to look at the comment section as it blew up. Their twitters were just as bad, their phones continuously vibrating from all the tweets. Well I can have Nate pick the first one.

I call BS on that- you were going all out with it on stage and it was great! He scrolled through the comments, finding a suggestion he recognised. “Do you know ‘Need You Now’ by Lady Antebellum?”

“Do I know…. Of course I know… I’ve been looking at country songs for the past three days… But I need to retune the guitar if we wanna do that one… The question is do you know it? Or you gotta study the lyrics?” Eren giggled a little as he made a jab at Nate. Would you know it? I don’t think there’s a seriously high note… but we’ll see.

Nate put his hand over his heart in mock hurt. “Well, I never!” He grinned, lightly smacking Eren’s arm. “Of course I know it.”

Eren could only laugh as he was playfully smacked. “So… did you know I could go even higher… I can basically sing like a girl if I really wanted to.” Eren told him and he proceeded to turn the guitar in his lap. Wonder if I’ll be going that high today… I know I can, it’s not that hard to hit it, but it’s a lot of strain on the throat.

Nate quirked an eyebrow. “We can sing whatever is comfortable for your voice. But, like, what’s the highest note you can hit? Do you know?”

“I can hit a C8.” Eren replied without even needing to think about it. Yes, I can hit the highest note in the world… I know… but I can’t go that low though, I wish I could, but I can’t.

Holy fuck. “Are you serious? That’s the highest note anyone can hit. And now I really want to hear you hit it, if you want to.” He laughed sheepishly. Please please please I need to see this! Well, hear this. Please!

“I’d need to sing ‘Say Something’ at least two pitches higher than normal to even attempt getting that high, songs aren’t made to get that high.” Eren said and finished messing with the guitar.
“We’ll do that one later, let my voice warm up some.” Eren said and he texted Levi to bring them up a couple of bottles of water so that they could have something to drink. Hmm… I kinda want to show you off… You’re kissing me when you get up here.

“‘Course, I don't want to be responsible for killing your voice. That’s not cool.” He quirked an eyebrow at Eren’s phone. “More tweets?”

“Nah, I texted Levi to bring us up some water bottles for in between songs.” Eren said and put his phone down as he heard the door creak open and he waved Levi over.

Levi walked over, setting a couple bottles of water on the desk, handing one to each of them. He walked in the view of the camera, still wearing his tank top that showed off his muscular arms. “I just brought you a bunch, there’s like four for each of you if you want it…”

Eren smiled and took his hand, pulling him close and pecking his cheek. “Thanks Levi.” Eren moved and kissed him chastely on the lips before he turned back to his water bottle, opening it to take a long sip of it. And there goes the comment section. “Levi you’re popular… Hmmm, sorry but no, he’s mine.” Eren announced to the internet which just caused both of their phones to go off with more tweets and comments, and the boy could only giggle.

Levi turned to the camera, his cheeks tinted red as he spotted the red light on. He looked at the screen with wide eyes. “Wait, you’re livestreaming this?” Well that’s a thing apparently.

“Yup, but don’t worry. It’s gonna get posted as a regular video too, and there’s only…” Eren squinted to look to see how many people were viewing the stream at that moment. “Only a little over a million and a half people watching.” Eren smiled back at Levi’s flustered face. Well, punishment given.

Levi felt himself flush red to his ears, hiding his face in his hands. “You know… You could have warned me.” He gave a breathy laugh, turning to hit him lightly on the shoulder. “I’ll be downstairs if either of you need anything, okay?” He didn't wait for an answer before he left, closing the door behind him. Yeah I’m out

Eren burst out into laughter as Levi left the room. “God, that reaction was great! He didn’t even notice me take pictures! HAHA, oh well, back to the music. You ready?” Eren asked putting his water bottle down to pick up the guitar again and get ready to play Lady Antebellum. Well, Nate, now you know I don’t care anymore… Wonder how many of the tweets are hate for being homosexual? Oh well, I’ll think about that later.
Nate beamed. Well, he obviously doesn't mind showing Levi off. Hopefully there's not too much hate about that. “Ready!”

Eren smiled and he started to strum the first few cords of the song, opening his mouth first, taking over the Lady’s voice. Eren’s voice was a little lower and fuller; he was definitely into this song a lot, putting his whole being into it, and it showed in the comments how much the audience loved it. He sounds good with me... It’s funny how this song is mostly us singing together... We sound pretty good together.

He’s really getting into this. And our voices do sound really good together. We need to do this more often, seriously!

Eren continued to play the guitar, singing beautifully, not messing up in either department, even though he had no sheet music in front of him. This song went over well, in my opinion at least.

Nate took a large swig of water from the bottle in his hands, looking through the comments for suggestions and good instrumentals, insisting that Eren go solo in singing Heroes by Alesso. The Sweet Escape by Gwen Stefani, Love the Way You Lie by Eminem… He’s doing absolutely fabulous. And he can rap! Damn! For a really long time, too. The comments were flooded with exclamations and praise for Eren’s skillz. He sang No Air by Jordin Sparks with him, beaming the whole time. Because of course we need another love song in there. Nate suggested What Hurts the Most by Rascal Flatts, watching as Eren picked the guitar right back up. He doesn't have any sheet music to go off of and he’s nailing it! Nate and Eren got really into Worth It by Fifth Harmony, moving on their stools to the beat. They sang Say Something by A Great Big World beautifully, Nate beaming with an astounded look as Eren finally hit the C8 note. Oh my God HE CAN HIT THAT! Nate found himself on the receiving end of Eren’s puppy-eyes, giving in as Eren picked the guitar up one last time to play Boulevard of Broken Dreams by Green Day. It’s so obvious this is one of his favourite songs ever. And he’s playing it really well! Nate suggested that they lastly sing another song by Queen, everyone watching the stream typing Somebody to Love over and over, finding an instrumental and singing their best. Yes! That’s a great way to end a singing session.

Nate glanced at the time on the lower corner of the screen. We've been singing for 45 minutes... We could do something else for the stream, maybe a Q&A? “Eren, question. We’ve only been streaming for about 45 minutes, and I was thinking we could have people tweet at us using some random hashtag to ask questions and we answer some of them. Lots of people do that in videos and streams, if you want to do that.”

Eren thought about it for a minute. That sounds like a great idea, the only problem is I don’t know how hashtags work yet. “That sounds cool… You’ll have to do it though, I’m still very unfamiliar with Twitter.” Eren got up, crossing the room to put the guitar in it’s case safely. Well, I didn’t break it, or damage it... That’s good.
“It’s really easy, you just kinda make something up. So, people watching this stream, go on Twitter using #askYeager and just start asking all the random questions you have floating around in your heads.” He turned to Eren. “Literally you can just make up a random hashtag like that and then look it up and everything tagged with it will pop up. So…” He looked to his phone, searching for it. “I announced that about twenty seconds ago, and there are already dozens of questions coming in, though a bunch are either repetitive or… not actually questions.” He quirked an eyebrow. To be expected. Which ones are any good… Hmmn…

Eren pulled out his phone, typing in the hashtag… There’s so many! Which one should I pick first? “What’s your favorite home cooked meal?” Eren made a small noise of thinking before he looked up from his phone. “I would have to say my Father’s Pot Roast would be my absolute favorite for dinner, and lunch would be his homemade chicken noodle soup. What about you Nate?” Eren asked turning to him. What’s your favorite?

“Oh, God, um…” Nate laughed. Do I even have a favourite? Most of the time I just eat out… “Ugh, I just end up eating out so much, I don't really have a favourite food that you would make at home… Sorry, I have to pass. Not applicable for me.” He skimmed further down the list. “Have a favourite city?”

“Hmm… I would have to say Munich. And for anyone who doesn’t know where that is, it’s in Germany.” Eren scrolled through his phone. What to ask? What to ask? What to ask? Oh here’s a good one! “Have you ever gone traveling somewhere?” Eren had a raised eyebrow in question.

“Is that even a question? I've been on tour all across the states! I've been to Europe a few times, too. But yeah, of course. I travel a bunch. It gets really annoying when you keep forgetting time differences or what state you're in, which tends to happen. ...Where are you originally from?”

“I’m from a very small town in the German countryside.” Eren answered and smiled, rubbing the back of his neck, embarrassed by the fact that he wasn’t American. He’s gonna ask about my non-existent accent isn’t he? Or ask if I’m fluent?

“Oh that’s really cool! Can you still speak German fluently, or not really?” He doesn't have an accent… I never would have guessed!

“Yeah, I can still speak fluently, our high school actually requires us to take a German class, so I end up speaking it most of the week in class. But that was my first language, so I won’t forget it soon.” Eren’s blush had spread to a light dusting across his cheeks. God, this is embarrassing. Where are you from?”
“Iowa City, Iowa. I’m American born and raised in the states.” He kept reading. “What’s your lifestyle like? So, like, what’s a normal day for you, I guess?”

“Well, let’s see, I get up between five and six in the morning, come upstairs from where I sleep in the basement and wait for my Dad to make breakfast, go to school, come back home, do my homework with Levi, and then I’ll either take over the basement, which is our all our artsy things are, or I’ll record stuff on the piano, or I’ll record stuff up here, or I’ll draw on my computer… It really depends how many videos I’ve already recorded, or what mood I’m in.” Eren swiped through his phone. “What do you guys think about each other's singing careers?” Eren looked up, thinking for a bit. “Well, I really liked when you were singing with Fun. That was probably the best music I heard, but then when you guys split up, and you started singing on your own I really started to like everything you did. I think it’s really impressive how well you’ve done over the past couple years, and you were successful enough to go on tour, which I loved being a part of by the way.” Eren laughed a little as he mentioned himself in Nate’s tour. That’s my favorite part.

Nate ran a hand through his hair, a wide grin and a faint blush on his face. “-I just think it’s absolutely insane how I just kinda got you up on the stage and everything just snowballed from that. You have an amazing voice and I honestly felt so inadequate when you were singing at the concert with me, and you’ve just been kinda shoved into the spotlight and rolling with it from there. The song covers you've been doing are absolutely fantastic for the difficulty of the pieces you keep choosing and I can't believe all that just kinda happened because I picked you to come up because you looked like I could pick you up easily enough to get you onstage.” That is the weirdest thing I've ever been responsible for.

Eren chuckled. “That’s certainly very kind of you… So you picked me because you thought you could pick me up?” Eren asked, giggling. “That’s really funny, you probably can’t lift me up as easily anymore.” Eren couldn’t stop giggling as he sat in his stool.

“Is that a challenge?” Nate joked, slowly rising from his stool.

Eren’s grin went from ear to ear. “Oh yeah! Try it! I dare you!” Eren laughed as he stood up as well. Come on! I wanna see if you can lift me like Levi can!

“Fine! I will!” Nate took hold of Eren and tried to lift him, unable to budge him. What the hell? “What? Come on! You sure you don't have bricks in your pockets this time?”

Eren nodded, laughing so hard he was practically crying. “I…. hahahaha… I told you …… hahahaha… I told you, you couldn’t do it!” Eren was dying as Nate continued to struggle to lift him. This is fucking hilarious!
“This is so unfair, you need to stop growing.” He joked, giving up, throwing up his hands in defeat. “I give up.” I don't know what that Dad of yours is feeding you...

“Oh I haven’t grown at all! I’ve only filled out… that’s really all I’ve done, gain a couple pounds.” Eren got back onto his stool. “Anyways, I told ya so!” Eren laughed and had a shit-eating grin on his face. I told ya so!

Nate sat back down, beaming. “I don't know what it is you've been eating, but now I look inadequate and that’s not cool.” He joked, going back to skimming through his phone. Oh. Can I ask that? “There’s a person here asking about your mom, cause you keep mentioning your Dad but not really your mom…”

Eren looked down a bit. “Ah… yeah… I don’t have one anymore.” Eren’s demeanor became quite somber before skimming through the phone. That one’s harmless… “Can we see Blake again? Yes, I’ll call him upstairs.” Eren raised his right hand to his mouth whistling loudly for a few seconds before they heard Blake bolting up the stairs. Blake came in between them and was wagging his tail as he sat down. “Good boy Blake, can you say ‘Hi’ to the internet again?” Eren smiled as Blake growled a little before sitting to get pet by the both of them. Twitter adores him… I should post more pictures of him then.

Nate scratched Blake behind the ear, looking to Eren with sympathy. It can't be easy… He looked to his phone again. “Am I going to sing with Eren more often?” He looked up, smiling, “I really really want to. We need to drag you and everyone out to LA sometime to record a bunch of stuff, both stuff just for you and us both. That would be really neat.”

“That would be awesome, I’ve never been to LA before.” Eren said and smiled, a blush forming across his face again. “Do either of you have any siblings?... Well I don’t, I’m an only child.” Eren looked up from his phone and back over to Nate.

“Yeah, I have an older sister. Her name’s Libby. What’s your favourite flavour of jelly beans?”

Eren gave an awkward smile. “I don’t like sweets… so I’ve never tried jelly beans… I know it’s weird… but I’m weird to begin with. Are you ticklish?” Eren said and posed to tickle him. If he says yes, I am sooo going for it!

Nate raised his arms defensively, leaning away from him and wincing. I'm going to regret this. “I'm so ticklish it’s not even funny but if you so much as move-"
Eren pounced on him immediately. “TICKLE WAR!” Eren got to his side and started to tickle him, laughing a lot. If he tickles me, oh my god, that’ll be hilarious! Eren finally got Nate on his sides and laughed almost manically.

Nate tried to tickle him back, laughing loudly, trying to get away from him. “No! N-not my sides, please!” He finally reached for Eren’s sides in a last-ditch effort, beaming as Eren let out an adorable yelp and started giggle, stopping and vulnerable to attack. Yes! Nate took his opportunity and immediately went for Eren’s sides, laughing.

Eren giggle struggling to push his hands away and failing completely. “Nate! No! Stop! PLEASE!” Eren begged him, a blush forming across his face, all the way to his ears. NOO!!! I’m gonna pee! STAHP!

Nate stopped, beaming as he retook his seat on his stool. “I totally won.” He let Eren manage his gigging fit before he asked him another question. “Who is your best friend and how did you meet?”

“Ah, my best friend. Well I met him when I was walking to school, I used to live like three miles away, took forever to walk there, and it turns out Armin was my neighbor… A good mile down the road, so we walked to school together, found out we were in all the same classes, so he helped catch me up in all the classes I needed to be caught up in. But yeah, Armin is my bestie, and he’s awesome. Now let’s see… Next question… Ah! The artsy one! Do you prefer pens or pencils?” Eren asked putting his phone down and looking at him with curiosity sparking in his eyes. I wanna do a picture of him for his birthday… In which ever he says he prefers.

“Hmmm… probably pencils. My handwriting can get really scratchy and I tend to misspell things. Like a lot.” He laughed. “It’s best for me to be able to erase stuff and try again. Now… This one’s kinda artsy, I guess. Do you like your handwriting?” We kinda already know my answer. You can barely read it sometimes!

Eren smiled. “Yeah I really like my handwriting… Armin and I exchange notes a lot, and he always says mine are easy to read… Compared to his own handwriting. I guess I like that aspect of it, that it’s clean and everyone can read it.” We’re running out of good questions… “When was the last time you visited a zoo? I don’t think I’ve ever been to one.” Eren put his phone back down, waiting for an answer. Is that a bad thing? I’ve never seen one before.

“...It was a couple years ago, in the fall. Yeah, I think it’s been three years. And how have you never gone to a zoo? If you don't go soon, I will personally drag you to one.” He grinned. “sweet treats or salty treats? I have such a sweet tooth, it’s crazy.”
“I would rather have salty, I love pretzels!” Eren looked back down to his phone. “Oh this is a good one! Have you ever sung in the shower? I know I have!” Eren giggled happily.

“How can anyone not sing in the shower? Like, it’s weird not to. Which family member do you most closely resemble?”

“Ah that would be my mother… I have her eyes, I was always told that.” Eren said with a small smile. “What color clothing do you like to wear?” Eren asked. Change the subject quickly...

“I don't have a huge preference like that, but I typically wear really dark clothes and then there’s a bright splash of color somewhere. Like, dark jeans and a black jacket, but I’ll have a shirt with a bright design on it and light shoes. Which family member are you most like?” So many family questions, and I get that he doesn’t like to talk about his mum… I dunno...

“Ah… That would be my Dad right now… He adopted me about five months ago. So he’s the only family I got now. But we’re so alike it’s incredible. He likes to paint, draw, sing and play the piano. He’s an awesome dad and I am picking up way too many of his quirks and habits… Like his old boots, I practically live in those now. So yeah, I would say I’m most like Dad… And I call him that because he is my Dad and I see him as family… So I don’t call him by his first name anymore.” Eren explained quietly before he looked at the time. We’ve been talking for almost half an hour... Yeesh.

Nate smiled. He’s really lucky. “Do you want to end the stream there? That a good place to stop? We've been online for a while.”

Yeah this'll do. “So then I guess this is it guys! I’ll be posting this later in the week! So once it’s up you can show it to your friends who missed it!” Eren said with a smile before turning to Nate to see if he had anything he wanted to say. You wanna close us off or…?

“Alright, so we’ll see you guys later! Bye!” Nate beamed at the camera, leaning forward to stop the recording and the stream. “That was epic.” He leaned back to look at Eren, grinning like a madman. “Oh, and I was dead serious. This is going to happen more, and I don't care if I have to drag you out to LA. This is too much fun.”

“Really?” Eren asked and his eyes brightened up even more. He was being serious? Eren watched as Blake took his hands, glancing down at his dog, letting out a nervous laugh. “Sorry, I’m still really nervous whenever I’m with you..” Eren was honest and he sat down on the floor and Blake sat beside him, licking his face to calm him down. Calm the fuck down Eren!
“Eren. We had a tickle war ten minutes ago. You don’t have to be nervous around me!” Nate got off his stool, feeling too tall and going to sit down next to Eren, petting Blake.

Eren could only give by a nervous chuckle… “There’s a reason I have a PTSD service dog… I’m really bad at trusting people… I’m surprised I can even trust Lathe… And he’s my Dad now… It’s just a thing I have… Major trust issues…” Eren took deep breaths to calm himself down. Eren this is good, ‘cause Nate needs to know I don’t trust people… I don’t trust people to follow through with their words. Eren was brought out of his thoughts when Blake started whining horribly and climbed onto his lap, nosing him to the floor. Am I freaking out that much?

_What- He’s trained to do his thing. Let him if he needs to._ Nate brought his hand back from Blake’s head, sending Eren a reassuring smile. “It’s okay, it really is. I understand. Thank you for telling me.” He watched with worry as Blake brought Eren to the floor. _Should I do something…? What though? _ “Uh, I’ll be right back.” Nate stood from the floor and quickly walked downstairs, hearing movement in the room to his left. He poked his head around the corner, catching Lathe’s eye. “Uh, Blake just did this thing where he gets Eren on the floor and sits on his chest and I’m kinda worried but I don’t know what to do…” _Well then, what a help I am._

Levi stopped Lathe with his hand for a moment before moving around the table. “I’ll go.” He looked to Nate, leading them back up the stairs. “He’s either panicking or overexcited. He’ll be okay…” Levi walked into the recording room, pushing the ajar door open and kneeling next to Eren. He rested a hand on his shoulder, his voice soft. “You okay? You with me, Eren?” _He doesn’t look like he’s having a full-on attack, which is good…_

Eren looked at Levi with scared eyes. <“I can’t trust him Levi. I can’t… I can’t…. Why can’t I?”> Eren started to cry a little, Blake quickly licking the tears away from his face. He wasn't anywhere near a full attack; Blake had kept him from that. _Why can’t I? Why can’t I trust that he’ll follow through with his words? Why can’t I Levi? Why can’t I say it out loud in English? Why can’t I?_

Levi looked to him with worry, his other hand cupping his cheek, softly rubbing his jaw, trying to translate what he wanted to say. _How am I supposed to answer that? _<“…Eren, it’s okay. So many bad things have happened to you, and I understand that you are… wary of the people you meet. We all can understand that. It’s okay to not put your complete trust in everyone right away. It isn’t something you should be upset about, that you don’t completely trust people immediately. It isn’t smart to. It’s okay. Don’t cry, please. It’s alright.”> _I don’t know how I’m able to remember all those words, but thank God I can. It’s never a good idea to trust everyone wholeheartedly right away. We all understand. We do._

Eren took a few deep breaths, nodding. He calmed down quickly. <“Thank You.”> Eren was soon calm enough for Blake to get off of him and go to Nate and paw at his legs. He whined a little bit to get his attention. Eren sat up and leaned his head against Levi’s shoulder, taking a few more deep breaths to calm down completely.

Nate hovered near the door, unsure of what to do with himself and listening confusedly to the two of them speaking. ... The hell are they saying? He sighed in relief as Eren sat up, Blake coming over to him and demanding attention. He reached down to pet his head. Good job Blake. I have a feeling it could have been a lot worse than it was.

Levi wrapped his arms around Eren, kissing the top of his head. Don’t worry. I’ve got you and we all understand. I think you’ve been up here and away from everyone else maybe for a bit too long. He pulled back to look at Eren’s face. “Want to head downstairs? Jeff and Lathe are picking through music for the cellos.” Maybe that’ll cheer him up.

“Really? I haven’t seen sheet music for a cello in a decade… Pretty sure.” Eren said quietly and he got up stumbling for a second before finding proper footing. Okay, I think I can play the cello for a bit. Eren looked over to the guitar case. “Can either of you carry that? My arms feel like jello right now.” Eren looked down to his shaking hands. They really do… And it feels weird...

Nate nodded, moving to pick up the case, following the two of them down the stairs. How is he going to play the cello if his hands are shaking that hard? He set the case down in the Scripting room, leaning it against the wall near the door.

Lathe looked up as they entered, picking up a small stack of papers and moving around the table to Eren, resting a hand on his shoulder. “You doin’ alright?” He gave him a small smile. “We can play some music on the cellos if you want.”

Eren looked over at the cellos in their stands. “That sounds good…” Eren glanced down to his horribly shaking hands. “Can I see the sheet music first?” He asked, his voice soft as he glanced at the small stack Lathe had brought over. Hopefully my hands will stop shaking after that.

Eren looked at the first song, recognising the notes on the sheet music. “Is this Beethoven’s 5th Sympathy? I can play this without the sheet music.” He said quietly and put the 3 pages back on the table in front of the couch. Wake Me Up by Avicii? What does that sound like again? Eren felt himself tapping away the first few chords on the paper to try and get the rhythm down. Oh it’s that one. These two work. He studied the music before putting it down. First two memorized. Onto the next. Eren shuffled through the 12 pages for the next 3 songs, memorizing all the sheet music. “Okay I can play them.” Eren told him, picking up the sheets he had put down and gave them back to Lathe. I don’t need them anymore.

Lathe blinked, stunned. “D-don't you need the music on the stands?” There’s no way you could know them already. I don’t need them because I've practiced too much, but…

Eren shook his head. “No, I memorized them. I don’t need them anymore.” Eren’s hand no longer shook as he still held the papers out. I don’t need them. Is that strange? Mom always taught me to memorize it in one go… So…

Lathe took the papers, placing them on the table. I need to see this. “…Alright. How about we sit down to play? Do you want to record this, or just jam and go for it?”

“Would we be able to take them upstairs? Everything is still connected for recording, so it’d be easier to record up there.” Eren moved over towards his cello sitting there on the stand with the bow by it’s side. Hmm, I might need to tune it though, I’ll definitely need to screw with the bow for a bit. “I’ll need to adjust the cello for the songs but yeah, I can do that while we set up for recording. There should be enough chairs up there for everyone.”

“Alright, that works.” Lathe walked over to his cello, unplugging it from the amp and coiling the wires, holding the amp with one hand and his cello and bow with the other. He looked to Nate for a moment. “Can you carry up the stand for me, please? My hands are kinda full.” He smiled a bit sheepishly, following Eren up the stairs. This is going to be interesting. “Did you catch the words while you were reading over the music? Or no?” You took next to no time at all looking it over.

Eren looked back over to Lathe. “Huh? Oh... yeah I did… why is that weird?” Eren asked and seemed to shrink back on himself a little as he moved some of the chairs around, so he got chairs he and Lathe could sit in. The stools left for Nate, Levi and Jeff. Is it weird that I did that?

Lathe talked as he plugged in the amp. “Eren, have you ever heard of sight-reading competitions? They’re these big events where people, particularly who play piano, come together and see who can best play their instrument using sheet music they’ve never seen before and are not allowed to practice until they do the actual judging. If you can play as well as you feel and as well as you tell me, you’d probably win first place in every competition you entered. It’s not exactly easy for most people.” Lathe sat down, pulling his cello close, leaning forward to take hold of the mouse. “Oh, you were livestreaming earlier? That explains why you were trending on Twitter a bit ago.”
“Wanna livestream? I can put it out on twitter?” Eren moved to take his phone out again, ready to start the stream. “I can just post it later, and while we’re waiting for all the viewers to come back on I can tune this cello to what it needs to be.” Eren suggested and looked to Nate. He looks excited just to see me play… Jeff seems to want to know if I can really play without the sheet music. I wonder what Levi would think about it?

If the Brat can pull this off I’m going to be seriously impressed. And maybe a bit concerned. Both. Levi studied Eren as he tweeted out to his followers, Lathe clicking to start the stream. This is gonna be good.

Lathe looked to the camera to make sure the red light was on, hearing Eren pluck at the strings of his cello, tuning it. He turned on his amp, nudging a small board of buttons near his foot. Just if I need them. I think I will for Thunderstruck.

“So which song are we doing first? I want to make sure I’m tuning this right.” Eren fiddled with his cello a little more before moving on to his bow, tightening the strings a bit more, and making sure the hairs were in good condition. They’re absolutely perfect. He must’ve gotten me a new one.

Is that how you start a live stream these days? “What, you're not going to introduce me? You're just going to let all these people out here see Eren Yeager and this other guy? Is that how this is?” Lathe joked, a hand over his heart in mock hurt.

Eren started to laugh right away. “I was gonna wait a few minutes to let the view count get to a million or so, then I was going to introduce you… Chill fam!” Eren laughed a bit, looking to the comment section blow up. “WELL, Now they want to know who ‘the other guy’ is... But now you get to wait! HAHAHAHA!” Eren laughed and it only took two minutes for the live stream to reach well over twice the number of viewers as before. “Nate, you’ve been overtaken by ‘the other guy’.” Eren joked and smiled turning towards him to see his reaction. Don’t worry Dad, I’ll introduce you, chill.

Lathe rolled his eyes, beaming as he glanced to Nate, who just quirked an eyebrow back at him. Sorry not sorry Nate. He looked back to Eren, checking his watch. “Anytime this millennia, Eren.” That familiar mischievous glint had returned to his eyes. I love messing with you. And the fans are waiting…

“Oh my good god! Will you chill out? Okay anyways! Hello internet! Welcome to another live stream. I know what you're probably thinking… Another one? Already? Well yeah! Nate and I got to sing, but since you guys are soooo interested in my family affairs… I want you guys all to meet Lathe, this is my adoptive father for anyone who happened to watch earlier’s livestream, but we can just call him ‘the other guy’. So since Nate and I sang already, ‘the other guy’ and I are gonna play some good music on our cellos! Okay now that introductions are over… What song are we “doing first?” Eren turned to Lathe with a replica of Lathe’s mischievous glint in his own eyes. I like messing with you just as much as you like prodding at me.

So that’s how it’s gonna be, huh. What to do, what to do… His last name translates… Yes! Lathe inspected his bow with purposeful indifference. “Well, little hunter, I was thinking “Wake Me Up” by Avicii would be a good one to begin with.” Two can play at this game.

Oh… So we’re crossing those lines… Oh fun, that’s wonderful. I could swear at him in German, but I don’t want to be responsible for that. “Okay Mr. Quo…. Have you checked your Status ’cause I think it’s being ruined.” Eren threw back at him, finishing up tuning his cello.

…that one was actually pretty good, even if it made no sense. Dammit! “Is that so, peasant? The people in the comments seem to adore me with their caps-lock keyboard smashings.” He grinned. The comments are going pretty nuts.

So he’s insulting my birthplace now? In the middle of nowhere in Germany. “Hey, I at least had a house to begin with, your mom had to pick you up from the industrial block.” Hahaha, got you! Eren played a few chords on his cello to make sure his bow was tightened the way he wanted it to be.

Hey, I like my name, dammit! “Well, for a blockhead, at least you have some idea how to tune that thing.”

Did he just call me a blockhead? “I am the smartest person in my class right now, you should know that by now Dad… And at least to a foreigner my name isn’t two ways on how to say ‘the’.” Thank you Middle School Mandatory Spanish classes!

…Roasted. Lathe sputtered, trying to think of a good comeback before dropping his head in defeat. It’s no use. My name is such good roasting material. He put up his hands in surrender. “Fiiine, you win. This time.”

Eren gave a cheerful “Woot-Woot!” as he did a little fist pump in the air. “Good thing I practice roasting Jean every day!” Eren said almost a little too excitedly. “And I always win those, right Levi?” Eren asked looking off camera to see Levi perched on a stool. He’s so hot… Mental note: Levi must be drawn on a stool.

Levi had a hand over his mouth, trying very hard not to bust out laughing.Oh my god, Eren just totally roasted Lathe… That was great! Levi nodded quickly, not trusting himself to speak without laughing too hard, though looking at Eren he lost it and burst out laughing, doubled over on his stool. “Oh my God that was perfect! Where- where do you even get this stuff from?” Teach me your ways.

Eren could only laugh along with him. “Well, I’ve learned from the best!” Eren’s hand came to smack Lathe on his back. Eren had a huge Cheshire grin across his face as he turned back to Lathe. “Okay, Dad, you ready?” Eren asked and got his bow ready to play the music.

Lathe’s grin matched his, his eyes bright as he shifted his feet, for the moment holding the bow in his teeth, his foot hovering over a button on the panel. He nodded, clicking it and strumming the strings at the neck of the instrument. With another click he had his bow in hand, ready to join in for the chorus.

Eren started to play the few chords perfectly before he opened his mouth to sing. He had changed it up a bit, so now it was a pitch higher, and more suited towards his voice, but it sounded great all the same. He was able to sing beautifully, even while playing the rather difficult half of the song.

“Feeling my way through the darkness
Guided by a beating heart
I can't tell where the journey will end
But I know where to start”

Jeff couldn’t believe his eyes. He can really do it? And he’d never seen this song before? This is amazing! I’m sure as hell convinced!

“They tell me I'm too young to understand
They say I'm caught up in a dream
Well life will pass me by if I don't open up my eyes
Well that's fine by me”

Lathe softly began to add his deeper tenor voice, drawing back his bow and playing his part of the chorus. He really was able to memorise all that. It’s amazing how he did it, but the real question is whether he can do it for all of them...

“So wake me up when it's all over
When I'm wiser and I'm older
All this time I was finding myself
And I didn't know I was lost”

…it’s so odd to think of the things that led to this exact moment. If Nate hadn't picked you up onto that stage, I wouldn't be playing this song with you. Lathe grinned as they began to play the instrumental part of the chorus, closing his eyes and letting his fingers fly over the neck of the cello, his head nodding to the beat, his hair sweeping over his eyes.

“I tried carrying the weight of the world
But I only have two hands
Hope I get the chance to travel the world
But I don't have any plans”

“Wish that I could stay forever this young
Not afraid to close my eyes
Life's a game made for everyone
And love is the prize”

Eren smiled taking a breath, his eyes landing on Levi as he sang the last words. Yes love is the prize, so love me Levi!

“So wake me up when it's all over
When I'm wiser and I'm older
All this time I was finding myself
And I didn't know I was lost”

Eren was even able to hit the high notes at the end of this song, without missing a single beat on his cello. His fingers were flying and his bow moving rapidly to keep up with the quick pace of the song.

“Didn't know I was lost
I didn't know I was lost
I didn't know I was lost
I didn't know (didn't know, didn't know)”

Jeff sat amazed for a few moments before he raised his hands to clap, Nate and Levi soon joining him in his actions. *That was amazing! And Eren memorized that just now? And shifted the scale to fit his voice? That incredible... Where? Where and how did he learn to do that?

That’s really cool and really concerning at the same time. He looked at the sheet music for two fucking seconds! I'm not exactly a music expert but I know that playing something doesn't work like that.

How could he possibly remember how to play it after looking at the music for barely a minute?
And for not playing the cello in so long, he sure plays it well! It’s really impressive.

Eren moved a bit to open a water bottle to soothe his dry throat. “So what are we playing next, Old Man?” Eren showed off a Cheshire grin as he put the water bottle back down. Which one will I be singing?

Lathe clicked a button at the end of the panel, his game face on. This is war. “If it’s not too difficult for a rookie such as yourself, Thunderstruck sounds good right about now.” And I’m not old!

“That sounds fine, have you gotten all the termites out of your cello though? Don’t want it to break in your hands.” Eren countered thinking of the obscenely long time it had been since Lathe had probably touched the thing. That amp is older than I am.

“Oh, I wouldn’t worry about me if I was you. After all, last I checked, termites don't eat metal.” It’s an electric cello, dur. I was joking earlier.

“Thanks for the info Captain Obvious, but what about your bow? That’s wooden.” Eren pointed out a huge grin on his face as he reached to tune his cello a tad to get what he needed. Not everything on your cello is metal… As much as you may think it is.

“Don’t go giving any termites any ideas. Eating a thin stick of wood that’s been polished too many times? They'd have to be trying to get poisoned.” Not tasty. Ew. Lathe reached for his own water bottle, taking a small sip.

“Well you better watch for the carpet bugs, eating away at the hairs, you look like you’re missing a few… And maybe in a few other places.” Eren couldn’t help the growing smirk on his lips. That’ll set him off, talk about his hair. Just a few more seconds and I’ll be done tuning and ready to go.

Lathe turned to look at Eren, stretching his neck to the side with a small yet sharp crack. “You really about to insult the hair of a guy that knows Judo?” You’re not going there. Naw.

“Naw… I wouldn’t do that! I’m insulting a guy that’ll definitely lose some hair because of me in the next few years.” Eren gave him a shit-eating smile, raising his bow to signal that he was ready whenever Lathe was. You think I’m afraid of you? Grisha beat the shit out of me… Daily. I’m not afraid to get hit, you’ll just lose my trust for forever, I hope you know that. Eren’s smile disappeared a bit, Blake coming over to sit next to him, sensing he was starting to get a bit agitated.
No Blake, I’m fine, don’t worry.

Lathe just dropped his head and sighed in defeat again, raising his bow, muttering with a small smile. “…ugh, I’ve created a monster.” At this rate I’ll be going gray twenty years sooner. He drew his bow back, slowly beginning to build up the pace of the piece, his foot poised over the buttons of the panel.

Eren let him start up, knowing he wouldn’t be needed until the bass of the song was acquired. Eren finally started to join in, bringing into the song a higher pitch, and a higher difficulty of notes on the cello. It was only a few more moments before Eren began to sing, nailing the whole song easily, without missing a beat. Shit, I need nail clippers, I broke a hair. Eren looked around the room for some clippers before he sighed. “Levi, can you get me some nail clippers? I snapped a hair.” Eren said resting his cello against himself as he examined his bow. That song requires you to play hard, and geez, I haven’t snapped a string since my mom yelled at me when I was six… That was eleven years ago…. Oh wow… Has it been that long already? Eren’s eyes looked a little downcast as he remembered his mother yelling at him as if it was only yesterday.

Lathe watched as Levi left to find nail clippers, turning to Eren with another comment of his tongue, though he stopped for a second as he saw Eren’s eyes downcast. What’s he thinking about? …should I keep roasting him, or… I don’t know what even anymore. “I guess you’re one to talk, on about me taking care of my bow while you go and break one of the hairs on yours.” He joked, a small smile on his face, his eyebrow quirked. Please tell me that didn’t make things worse, cause you don’t look too happy.

Eren’s lip twitched up into a smirk for a few seconds. “Yeah… I guess you’re right.” He took the nail clippers from Levi, carefully removing the damaged hair from the rest of them. I can’t believe I did that…. God, he must think I’m such an amateur. <“ I’ll be more careful Mom, I promise.”> Eren’s voice was soft as he spoke the phrase, turning to Lathe and putting on a smile for the camera, though it didn’t follow in his eyes. “What we playing now?” Eren asked quietly, reaching down to pet Blake as he got closer to Eren’s knee.

Lathe’s eyes widened as he picked up one word from his sentence. Mom? …oh. And what? You’re going to give up that easily? Lathe leaned toward him a bit, a look of disbelief on his face, trying to hold back a grin. “…what? That’s it? You’re not going to keep insulting my weird name? My hair? Anything?”

“Nope, you’ll know why after the next song, Hypocrite. So what we playin’?” Eren gave him a small smirk. His bow is too tight, he’ll snap a few seconds into this next song…

Lathe searched his face, suspicious. …what do you know that I don’t. “They Don't Care About Us. MJ.”
Eren nodded, shifting to tune the cello a tad bit, only taking a couple seconds. “Ready.” Eren replied, bow at the ready. He’s gonna snap it, isn’t he? And he says I can’t take care of my instrument! You can’t even notice how tight your strings are!

Lathe brought up his bow, suspicious as he began to play the first few chords, a small frown on his face after a few seconds. Something’s not… He nearly jumped out of his skin as the bow snapped in his hand, dropping it with a shocked yelp. Fuck! He stilled, staring with wide eyes at the broken mess of wood and hair. Oh my God. Did I really not notice it was going to bust? ...Eren could fucking tell. Couldn’t he.

“Told ya so, ya Hypocrite.” Eren shook his head before he picked up his bow to play out the whole song, singing well as he did so. Once he finished he turned to Lathe. “Never insult me on taking care of my instruments. You couldn’t even tell your bow was going to snap!” Eren’s eyes blazed with anger for a few moments before it died down. <“Mom always said to take care of them, otherwise you won’t be able to play again.”>

Fear flickered in Lathe’s wide eyes, quickly putting his cello in it’s stand and getting up, wanting to get away from Eren if just for a moment. ...He’s never been so angry. And he’s angry at me.

“Ohm, spare bow. I’ll be right back.” He quickly headed out the door for the basement, his face in his hand. ...sorry. Fuck, I need to pay better fucking attention. He brushed at his eyes as he retrieved a spare bow from the room behind the chalkboard, coming back up, torn between taking his time to let Eren cool and hurrying for their audience. He took his seat back next to Eren, afraid to look at him as he inspected his bow and re-tuned his cello, his voice quiet as he finally spoke.

“...I’m sorry.”

Nate glanced to his phone, texting Levi, Jeff reading over his shoulder.

NR: What’s Eren saying? It’s not English and I know you know it LA: You’re right, it’s German. Eren apologized to his mother for breaking a hair on his bow.

LA: Then he said his Mom said something about taking care of the instruments or you don’t get to play them.

<“Lathe, you don’t need to apologize, I should be the one apologizing. I could tell they were too tight from the beginning, and I didn’t tell you. I’m sorry. You don’t need to apologize to me, you’re not at fault”> Eren’s tone was cold, still avoiding eye contact with Lathe, focusing on Blake as the dog rested his head on Eren’s knee. It’s okay, I calmed down… I’m sorry Blake, I let my anger get the best of me. Eren pet Blake, taking in a few deep breaths meant to calm himself down.
Lathe forced his face to remain stoic, his hair covering his eyes as he studied the bow in his hands. Whatever it was he said… it certainly didn't sound nice. He tried to keep his voice even. “...You can pick what song we do next.”

Eren nodded and quickly came to a decision. “Hmm, the 5th sounds like a good one to go by.” Eren smiled softly, his voice no longer cold. Then I can rest my voice a little bit.

Lathe raised his bow to the cello strings, his gaze switching between his fingers and his feet. “...Ready when you are.”

“Alright!” Eren beamed a bit as he started to play. I can make Mom proud… Playing her favorite.

Lathe drew his bow against the strings, his thoughts of the piece near constantly being interrupted and his attention pulled back to the flash of anger Eren’s eyes directed to him. He fingers slipped, he played the wrong notes, and he even skipped nearly an entire line of music, his focus drowned in guilt, his eyes red. He was so mad at me, and now he’s probably furious I can't even play this one fucking song right.

Eren soon put his bow down, looking over to Lathe. He put his cello in it’s stand, grabbing Lathe’s wrist to get him to stop. When he looked up to see Lathe’s red eyes, he felt a pang of guilt strike across his chest. Oh… Mom was mad at me… I did something wrong. “I’m sorry, Dad, I didn’t mean to yell at you before, I just let my anger get to my head, I’m sorry, I didn’t mean it.” Eren’s voice was quiet as he spoke, but he had soft eyes as he looked over Lathe’s new bow. “Please don’t be worried, I’m not mad at you, I just get angry sometimes, and I don’t really mean what I say, so please don’t take it personally.” Eren bent down a little to kiss Lathe’s knuckles gently, his back facing the camera, which hid the action, making it seem as though he were inspecting the new bow. Please don’t be sad…. I don’t want to make you feel bad. Eren gasped in shock a little as Blake growled, grabbing his hand, only then did he realize he had started to scratch at his pants…. And his hands were shaking as well.

Lathe’s eyes widened, watching Eren’s hands shake, his free hand moving his cello to it’s stand, putting the bow down and pulling Eren into a hug, letting out a small sigh. I worry too much sometimes… Now don't you go worrying about making me feel bad. We're not going full circle on this. He pulled back and grinned. “It’s okay. I'll just have to think of better roasting material.” He thought for a second. Eh, screw it. He suddenly moved while Eren wasn’t expecting it, tickling his sides with a huge grin.

Eren gave out a squeal of surprise before he turned to try and get out of Lathe’s hands, but to no avail. Dammit! His arms are too fucking long! “Let go of me! You giant!” Eren growled playfully and twisted to try and avoid another attack on his sides. His laughter was beautiful as it rang through the room. The comment section apparently loves Tickle wars... Or us roasting each other... I can’t tell.

Lathe finally decided to have mercy, releasing Eren from his grasp, his mischievous grin back in place. Better. “So, are we going to try and play that symphony again in the hopes that I don’t slaughter it, or the last on our list?”

“The last on the list is fine.” Eren reclaiming his seat and setting up his cello. He glanced over at Levi and the other two sitting behind the camera, all three of them looking really worried. Well shit, I probably have some explaining to do after this. “Nate, tweet out to the people to see what songs we’re playing after this!” He called out to the man beside Levi.

Lathe reclaimed his cello, leaving his bow in the stand. “Not gonna need that for this.” He tuned it slightly, his fingers hovering over the neck. “Ready?”

Eren nodded letting Lathe take over the first few chords of I Will Wait by Mumford & Sons before he started play, his cello started as his voice did. Hope Lathe’ll sing with me, I can’t go that low, I hope he knows that! Eren just continued to sing the lyrics with his higher pitch.

Lathe near immediately joined him with his deeper voice, singing low. He strummed the strings loudly, the movements familiar, a smile on his face. I always really liked this song. But you need a lower voice in there somewhere to sing it.

Eren’s playing sped up and slowed as the notes called for it, never missing a beat for the entire song. God, we sound fucking incredible! Mental note: Record with Dad more often.

Jeff listened in fascination. Their voices compliment each other so well, you would truly think that they are really a father and son pair with the way they can harmonize like they’ve been practicing for years.

Nate watched Lathe’s hands fly over the neck of the cello, listening intently, his brow furrowed. ...They sound so good together. And I don’t know what weird dynamic it is they have going on, but they obviously work together very well.

Levi watched the both of them, studying them with concern written across his face, turning into confusion before he turned stoic all over again. What the fuck was that? Eren was scratching again... He hasn't done that since... Since Lathe cried... Was Lathe crying again? They seem to be back to normal whatever it was... But what the fuck happened?

Lathe steadily finished strumming out the last few notes of the song, wringing out his hand after, beaming. That was great! He inspected his fingers before reaching over to pick up his bow. “That was a fun one! Any good requests?” He glanced up to Nate.

Nate looked up from his phone, Twitter going nuts. “Royals by Lorde is a popular request.”

“What’s that song?” Came Eren’s immediate reply. “I’ve never heard of it.” Who’s Lorde?

Lathe gasped dramatically, a hand over his heart in shock. “You have not lived.” He immediately leaned forward and typed on the computer, pulling up a copy of the sheet music. “Now do the thing where you become an more of an expert in this song than Lorde, who wrote it, in under a minute.” He joked, leaning back.

Eren rolled his eyes. “I don’t become an expert on it, I just memorize the whole thing.” Eren took the sheets once they were printed, he only took about ten seconds to look at each sheet before he had memorized the whole thing. “Sounds like a good song.” Eren put the papers down where he couldn’t see them before tuning his cello again.

Memorize it and play it flawlessly the first time. That and being an expert on it are practically the same thing. Lathe plucked at the strings, finding they were in tune for the song and raised his bow, ready to set the beat. “Alright. On your mark.”

“Mark.” Eren called and he waited only a second before opening his mouth to start to sing. This is like the lowest I can go, thank Lorde this is the lowest in the song. Eren picked up his bow as well and started to play beautifully. Hmm, I wonder why Levi looks so worried? Is it that weird that I can do this? Eren continued and he was happy that a few of the lines were a bit higher in pitch.

…. Where did he learn to do that? Has he always been able to do that? Levi watched in amazement as Eren continued the song word for word without messing up on the cello at all. It’s amazing that he can even sing while playing... I wonder what Jeff thinks of all this, he seems so interested in Eren now. Levi watched as both Nate and Jeff watched Eren with wide eyes. Hopefully he’ll be able to get a contract... Eren would be set for a long time then.

Nate watched Eren’s seamless movements, not understanding. ...There’s no way he can play all that without having heard it once… could he? Is he? I think he is…

He must have heard all these songs before, there’s no way that he can do that! No way at all. Jeff watched with a look of complete disbelief. What is this kid trying to pull? Jeff watched as Eren finished off the song and drank a lot of water, rubbing at his throat a little. He has been singing a lot, a sore throat is reasonable.

Levi noticed Eren’s actions as well. “How about we call it a day? Give you a break Eren. We don’t want you to lose your voice.” Levi suggested getting up to go to the computer to turn the livestream out, waiting for Eren to sign off.

“Okay then this’ll be a wrap guys! I’ll post the two live streams later on this week! Bye!” Eren waved as he finished, watching as the red light on the camera switched off signaling they were no longer recording. Thank god… It’s over.

Jeff stood first. “Eren, how can you do that? You played the song and sang it perfectly without looking at the sheet music for more than a few seconds. What gives?” Is this kid trying to pull a fast one on me? That’s not cool, bro.

Eren looked down at the cello. “My Mom taught me to memorize everything right away… Cause if Grisha ever found the sheet music… He tore it up. He never liked that I was a ‘music rat’ as he referred to me as.” Eren’s fingers twitched as he mentioned his father… Blake growled at him almost instantly grabbing for his hand. Eren was thinking about how his father had hit him for reading the sheet music. He was five at the time, and Eren was mortified as his father ripped up the sheet music his mother had given to him for his birthday. You memorize it right away so Grisha can’t do anything to it. His focus wasn’t turning to Blake no matter how much Blake whined and pawed at him. Finally the dog got him out of the chair and got him to sit on the ground. Being moved around is what snapped Eren out of his thoughts. Tears quickly welled in his eyes and he reached out to hold Blake close to him. “Sorry… I just remembered something.” Shit… I almost didn’t come back for that one.

Lathe knelt on the floor next to him, pulling him close, rubbing his arm. It’s okay. He’s not here. Don’t you worry. “I think a little bit of a break is exactly what we all need. Here.” He stood, holding out his hand for Eren to take.

Eren let Blake off of his lap, reaching out a horribly shaking hand to Lathe. His eyes filled with fear when he saw how badly shaking he was. Shit… Am I really shaking that bad? Will I even be able to stand? Eren swallowed hard and looked up to Lathe with scared eyes.
Lathe took hold of his hand, though he bent down to pick Eren up around his middle and set him on his feet, making sure he could stand. You’re shaking terribly… Are you okay? “You alright? Can you stand?”

Eren tried to step away but soon regretted it as he almost crumpled to the floor. He shook his head, fear clouding his eyes. No I’m not okay… Not at all. I can’t even stand without falling down. Eren’s shaking hand struggled to hold onto the side of Lathe’s shirt.

Levi rushed over when he saw Eren’s fearful eyes. “Hey, it’s okay, it’s alright, you’re okay, Eren… You’re fine, you’ll be okay. I promise, it’s okay, you don’t need to be scared.” Levi helped keep Eren on his feet, talking to him softly to calm him down.

Eren’s hands were grabbed… Blake had growled at him, he had tried to scratch again. “What if he comes back… What if he finds out about me… Levi… He’ll kill me for this.” Eren freaked out a little bit more as thoughts of his father took over his mind. His eyes were blown wide with fear.

Kill. The only word Lathe understood. He kept his hold around Eren’s middle, holding him up and close, his cheek resting on his head. Oh no, no no no… That’s not going to happen. “Eren, nobody’s going to hurt you. We’re not going to let anything bad happen to you. You're safe here, I promise. I swear it.” You're okay.

Levi moved away a bit and looked to Jeff and Nate. “Can you two go downstairs… Please?” Levi asked and he looked back to Eren. “We might be here awhile.” He told them, watching as the two of them left the room and closed the door behind them. They went down the stairs quietly, and waited in the kitchen.

“No… He’s gonna come back! Grisha’s gonna come back… And he’s gonna kill me!” Eren’s whole body was shaking in Lathe’s grasp. He was starting to panic, not there completely, but getting there.

Levi looked to Lathe. “Sit down with him, it’ll help with his body shaking that much.” He hasn’t really started to panic yet, we need to calm him down… Blake can help with that, but I don’t think Lathe will let go of him. Levi cleared a space for them just in case Eren did end up panicking.

Lathe eased them down onto the ground, holding Eren in his lap, carding his hand through his hair. I'm not letting go of you. I'm not. And I'm not sorry. He murmured in Eren’s ear. “Eren, Grisha isn’t going to hurt you. He’s gone. He’s gone, and there’s nothing here that I'm going to let hurt you. You don't have to go through that pain anymore. Please Eren, stay with me. Don't panic. You don't have to.”
Eren cried in Lathe’s arms. “I don’t want it to happen again…. I don’t want him to rip up the sheet music…. I don’t want him to kill me.” Eren cried as he was held close to Lathe. I don’t want it to happen again…. I don’t wanna die. He’s gonna kill me because I’m a useless music rat. “I don’t want to… I’m a useless music rat.” Eren cried to Lathe. He had switched over to English once he knew Jeff and Nate were gone. He hadn’t noticed that Levi had left as well, to probably talk to them about what was happening.

“Eren, you’re not useless. The music that you play is absolutely wonderful. And please believe me when I say nobody’s going to rip up your sheet music anymore. And nobody’s going to hurt you.” They’d have to go through me first. “You're safe, Eren. You really are.” He pressed a kiss to Eren’s temple, holding him tightly, rubbing circles into his back.

Eren sobbed into his chest for awhile. “No… One?” Eren looked up to Lathe with teary eyes, calmer after he cried. “No one… Will?” Eren asked again, tears still falling from his eyes.

Levi came down the stairs looking around for Nate and Jeff. He found the two of them in the kitchen, in complete silence. Geez, it’s like they think Eren’s dead or something. “Don’t worry, he’ll be fine.” Levi moved to put on the kettle to make some tea, and turned the coffee maker on for Jeff. Lathe’ll drink it if Jeff doesn’t want anything.

Nate followed Levi with his eyes, worried. I’m almost afraid to ask… “Uh… Levi? I-if it’s okay for me to ask… why did Eren start shaking so badly? And… who’s Grisha?” He gulped, quickly correcting himself. “I-if it’s too personal you don’t have to tell me. I'm just worried.”

Levi took in a deep breath, letting it out after a moment. “No, It’s okay, you guys should probably know.” Levi waited for the water to heat up making tea for himself before he started this. “So, Eren’s from Germany originally… You know that right?” Levi asked as he poured the hot water in his mug. Does he? Cause we should probably start from the beginning.

“Yes, he mentioned it during the stream we did earlier.” He didn’t seem to like talking about it…

“Well, let’s just say his Mom taught him a shit ton of instruments between the ages of 3 and 8 ½… His mother loved music, taught him everything she knew. Their house burned down that year, he was almost 9, his mother died to save Eren’s life… Grisha never forgave him for that.” Levi took a big swig of his tea. “Grisha is his actual father, his biological father…” Levi trailed off waiting for Nate and Jeff to motion that the understood so far.
Nate’s eyes were wide, tracing over the table. He glanced up to Levi, giving him a small nod. I don't like where this is going...

“Eren started the fire… Trying to make himself some Mac n’ Cheese, his mom had come back into the kitchen to get him out because he was screaming from the burns he was getting. She yelled for Grisha to get down to the kitchen. The ceiling had caved in so she threw Eren over the fire… And Grisha and Eren got out… His mom never made it.” Levi took another swig of his tea, steeling himself as he retold the story.

Nate leaned his head into his hand, his eyes still wandering over the table, though they didn’t really see it’s top. ...that’s horrible... He again slowly nodded.

“Grisha moved over to the States… Got his license to practice here… I think it was a few states over, but he never forgave Eren for his mother’s death. He started getting violent, hitting him mostly, sometimes he would take away his dinner, and just beat him more.” Levi got up to get more tea after finishing his mug. They should know, especially if they’re going to stay. “Grisha didn’t respect him as a son, and because of the difference in education from moving, and because Eren didn’t know a lick of English, he was put into kindergarten when he arrived in the states, which is why he’s a freshman and 17 right now. But… Grisha was a horrible father… No you probably couldn’t even use father to describe him.” Levi turned back to them, leaning against the counter as he glanced over to Jeff. He’s been silent this whole time... It is a lot to take in, but I’m honestly surprised Grisha didn’t kill him before high school.

Nate had his head in his hands, trying to process everything Levi was telling them. That’s terrible... Eren didn’t deserve any of that...

“Grisha started to find that Eren wasn’t begging for him to stop his beatings after he got used to it… So Grisha moved to worse punishments. He started to use his belt as a whip against Eren, and when Eren got used to that, he began to rape him. He broke Eren… Repeatedly, even being sick enough to invite other men to come and rape Eren as well.” Levi paused knowing that one paragraph was a lot to take in alone. I wouldn’t wish that on anyone. Not even my worst enemy.

Nate was deathly silent, slowly shaking his head. No no no no no... That... oh my god...

Jeff swallowed hard. Levi looks like he has more to say... How could this get any worse? Jeff had his head against the table, trying not to think about how this man had affected Eren enough to leave him a panicking mess.

Levi took a deep breath before he started yet again. “But once Eren wasn't screaming anymore...
He got even more sinister…. He put in an operating table with restraints in the basement of their home, he gave Eren pills that were banned anesthetics. They were banned because they didn't work, they didn’t stop people from feeling pain as they were operated on or they would work for only a few minutes. He operated on Eren, taking out various organs as he was on the operating table. The sick bastard recorded each and every procedure… He kept a record of everything, as if Eren was his test subject.”

Jeff’s eyes widened. “Please tell me this guy’s in prison now! How could he do that to his own son?” How? How could he do that?

Nate swallowed hard. Please please please tell me he’s locked up and gone forever.

Levi shook his head, seeing their shocked expressions. “No one knew… Eren never said a word about it, the bastard had threatened to kill him if he did. So Eren put up with it. And he had almost been lynched at his old school… They found out he was gay… Eren tried to get over the pain of everyone calling him names, he started to cut himself… And Grisha encouraged it until it got really bad. His arms are covered in scars.” It gets worse, I hope you're prepared.

Nate’s expression was stony, though worry and sympathy flashed past his eyes. He brought his hands back onto the table, still nodding his head. Your own son… Why.

Jeff’s eyes widened. “Is he dead? Please say he’s dead… He can’t still be out there… Is he?”

“He is, he left as soon as Eren got put in the hospital… He had transferred to our high school a few days in, and we were paired for chemistry. One of the guys broke his nose for tripping over his girlfriend’s bag… So when Eren got home, Grisha beat him, he shattered 4 of his ribs beyond repair, and broke every single other one. He whipped his back, with his belt, until his back looked like it was shredded meat. He dumped hot water over his back, giving him horrible burns, and broke his left arm. Eren missed the next day of school, only to come back the day after on Friday… I was pissed at him because he never called me back. I punched him in the chest, but there was no give, no crack, nothing. I punched his organs, protected only by his skin. His back opened up, and he was coughing up blood. He was rushed to the hospital, and I was suspended for 8 weeks, he was in the hospital in a coma for 5 of them… And I brought him his work and spent every day with him. His father hadn’t come to the hospital to work since he had beaten Eren… His passport’s gone, and his bank accounts emptied, and everyone just turned a blind eye to what he had done to Eren. He’s probably back in Germany.” Levi told them and took a long sip of his drink.

Nate studied his hands for a moment before he spoke quietly, his voice even. “…do you think he’s going to come back?” He better not. He better stay the fuck away from Eren, that's for damn sure.

“We can’t be sure…” Levi sipped his tea. “Eren’s freaking out that he’ll come find him now… But he hasn't made any appearances and he’s been the hot topic of the Internet for awhile… And he hasn’t showed. I don’t think he’ll come back, he must know by now that he would be put in prison for life. That’s basically what happened to him, and so when he remembers either of his parents, it starts to set him off… He was really close to panicking before… It was probably a lot for him… He’s got a lot of trust issues because of everything that happened to him.”

“So that’s why he needs Blake around?” Jeff asked quietly, seeing Levi nod.

“Yeah, we haven’t found any PTSD pills that help him, they all just make it worse. He needs to sleep with either me or Lathe to actually fall asleep. It’s gotten better with Blake around.” Levi’s voice was still even. I need to stay calm, cause of what they’ll ask. So they ask me and not Eren. Don’t be alarmed but he’s gonna be really out of it, if not asleep when they come down. He turned to the fridge and brought the chicken out. We should get started on dinner.

Nate looked over to the staircase as he heard quiet footsteps, watching Lathe carefully descend while carrying Eren, the two of them talking quietly and smiling.

Lathe walked over to the table, nudging Eren’s chair out with his foot. “He’s just got jello legs.” He explained, setting Eren carefully down in his seat, moving to don his apron and start cooking.

Eren thanked him as he was set down. “Sorry about that.” He apologize to Jeff and Nate.

“It’s okay Eren, we understand.” Jeff told him instantly, shaking his head. “You don’t need to apologize, really.” Don’t apologize, it was my fault for bringing it up.

Nate gave him a small smile. “It’s alright. You don’t really need to apologise.” It’s understandable.

Eren could only nod. “Still though… It was probably a shock to see.” He put his head down and looked at Blake between his legs, petting him with a soft smile.

“Eren, really it’s fine, but after all that, I got a few questions for you… Would you be willing to sign a contract with me for the next few albums you make?” He asked with a wide smile as he saw Eren’s smile grow.

“Really?” Eren asked. Is he being serious? That’d be awesome!!
Levi gave a small smile seeing Eren’s happy face. That’s better you should be happy, not always in fear of your father. Levi sat next to him, slipping an arm around his waist and pulling him close. “Do you want some tea Eren?” He asked quietly. Don’t get too excited, Blake will worry. He watched as Eren nodded to his question before returning his attention to Jeff. Levi quickly got up and got his mug, filling it with tea, trying to stay out of Lathe’s way as he started with dinner. He sat back down beside Eren, pulling him close still, letting him sip at the tea. He’s arms are still shaking. But that’s to be expected, he’s probably exhausted.

Lathe looked over his shoulder and beamed at Eren. That’s great! You need to let me write some songs for you. That’d be really cool!

Nate grinned at Eren’s elated expression. I knew Jeff would be sold the second he heard you sing.

Jeff nodded. “I’m completely serious, but I want you to think about it, this is an important decision, and I’m assuming Nate’s already said he’s hauling you over to LA? So you can see the recording studio. Have you Nate?” Jeff asked turning to see him.

“Now what kind of friend would I be if I don't drag him out there?” He looked over to Jeff with a raised eyebrow. He laughed a bit, looking over to Eren. “But yeah, don't rush yourself into a decision. We’ll bring you around LA, have you see the recording studio and all that good stuffs.” And do all the important kinda boring stuff, talk numbers, talk about who should write your songs if you don't write them... He glanced over to Lathe. ...though I think I already know the answer to that.

Jeff nodded. “Yeah, Nate you know that song we’ve been working on? ‘Pieces?’” I want to see if Eren can really do that.. Though what we have is on the piano... But Eren can play that.

Nate nodded, looking at him suspiciously. “Yeah, what about it?” We haven't finished writing it, so... Oh.

“I wanna see if he can do it.” Jeff said and smiled. “Cause then I know he’s not lying when he says he hasn’t see it.” Jeff turned to Eren. “Will you be willing to play the piano after dinner for me?”

Eren nodded. “Yeah, I can do that.” He told him quietly.
Nate grinned. It’ll be really cool to see if he can really do it. Not to say I think he’s been pulling us along, but it’ll be neat to hear him sing it.

Lathe shut the oven turning to them. “It’ll be a little bit before we can eat.” He suddenly looked over to his binder, producing a pen out of seemingly nowhere and walking over, flipping to the back and scribbling words down on a blank page. While I think of it I need to write it down. He closed it after a second, taking off his apron and smiling sheepishly. Eh.

Eren looked to them. “I can do it now… But someone will have to carry me, I can’t really move my leg-” Eren didn’t get to finish before he was scooped up by Levi. He was careful as he held him, an arm snaked under his knees and the other around his lower back. Eren watched as Nate and Jeff got up, following Levi to the Piano room.

Nate motioned for the keys from Jeff, running out to the car to grab the sheet music. He brought it back, handing the sheets to Eren. “Here you go. Now do the thing.” This is gonna be interesting.

Eren took the sheets and looked over them carefully. He gave them back a minute later before starting to play the beautiful melody on the piano. Gotta bump the pitch a bit higher so that I can sing it.

“Look at you
Confused and Misunderstood
One day you’ll see
It just wasn’t meant to be
You will remember that day Life goes on
As they always say
The pain won't last very long”

“Pick up the pieces
That he tore apart
Pick up the pieces
From your broken Heart
If there was anything
That I could change
I would help you
Make him feel the same”

“Questions unanswered
Lies have been mastered
Unsure what holds truth
Looking for the proof
That it's all a sick joke
All in your head
It's all a big hoax
That you're better off dead”

“Pick up the pieces
That he tore apart
Pick up the pieces
From your broken Heart
If there was anything
That I could change
I would help you
Make him feel the same”

“One day he will see
What he truly missed
One day he will see
How you are truly happy
Without him around
Without hearing his sound”
“Pick up the pieces
That he tore apart
Pick up the pieces
From your broken Heart
If there was anything
That I could change
I would help you
Make him feel the same”

Eren’s brow furrowed as he finished it. “... This isn’t the end of the song is it? I feel like it should keep going...” Eren looked back over his shoulder to see four shocked faces. “What? Did I play something wrong?” Eren asked worriedly, reaching to see the sheet music again. What did I screw up? I thought I did it fine...

“Holy fuck.” Nate just stared at him with wide eyes, running both his hands through his hair, completely stunned. ...How. HOW.

Jeff just stared. “You weren’t kidding then? You can really play anything you see... That was perfect Eren, higher than Nate, but that’s to be expected with your range... That was perfect!” Jeff had wide eyes, still staring at him in disbelief.

Lathe looked from the sheet music to Eren, back to the sheet music, and back to Eren. He blinked. He was dead serious. “Oh my god.”

“What? Did I play it wrong?” Eren asked quietly, his eyes showed that he was really worried. Did I do something wrong?

Levi shook his head wrapping his arms around Eren and kissing his temple quickly. “No, that was amazing Eren, but they’re just surprised you can do that and remember.” Levi hugged him close to his chest. That was amazing... And your mother taught you to do it.

“You totally nailed it.” A grin began to crack across Lathe’s face. “You sang it perfectly. You didn't miss a word or skip a single note.” He beamed, his eyes flickering happily. “That was Eren smiled softly. “Umm… Can I show them the study?” He asked quietly, looking up to Lathe with hopeful eyes, he smiled as Levi held him close to his chest. He’s warm… It feels nice. “I never got to video it… And Nate’s curious.” Eren said quietly, nuzzling back into Levi’s arms.

“Now how could I possibly say no?” Lathe grinned. “You worked really hard on it, and it’s beautifully done.”

Eren smiled and turned to Jeff and Nate. “You wanna go see it?” Levi’ll carry me upstairs. I like when he carries me.

“Hell yeah!” Nate replied immediately, a large smile on his face. This is going to be really cool!

“Wait, what’s the study?” Jeff asked confusion crossing his face. Nate hadn’t told him that Eren was an artist as well. He figured they had hired a professional to paint the recording room.

“Oh, Eren painted the ceiling in what’s pretty much my old office upstairs. He did an amazing job on it. He also did the ceiling in my bedroom and his walls are literally covered in drawing. In the most literal sense. There is no space left on his walls. He did the recording room too, if you didn’t know.” Didn’t Nate tell you?

Jeff’s jaw dropped, his head snapping to Nate. “You didn’t tell me he was a freaking artist! OMG! I thought you guys had a professional muralist come in and paint it! That room is amazing!” Jeff quickly rattled off and hit Nate playfully on the shoulder. “Can’t believe you let that one slip your mind!”

Eren blushed at the compliments coming off of Jeff’s tongue. He gasped a little when Levi picked him up and blushed fully. “Well then let’s go.” He said and smiled.

Levi nodded talking him up the stairs. So if he think’s that room was cool he obviously has not seen the other rooms. “Lathe is your room clean enough to show off?” Levi asked in playful banter.

“Don’t worry, I keep my room clean. Unlike some people.” He joked. Go for it!
“Hey, just ‘cause Eren likes to load the bed with hundreds of pillows and blankets does not make the basement a messy place!” Levi called back before Eren could and led them all into Lathe’s room, looking up to see the ceiling bring them into a piece of machinery. There were so many gears, so many details, and if one stared long enough it looked as if the gears moved.

Nate just stared up at it, his head craned back, unblinking as he followed the illusion of the moving bronze and gold gears. That. Is. So. “...Cool.” He just looked up in awe, tracing over the complex mechanics of the ceiling.

...Are they... “Are they moving?” Jeff asked in disbelief looking around the room. This is amazing.

Eren giggled and moved to wrap his arms around Levi’s shoulders. “They’re not moving, but it does look like it, I made sure of it.” Eren giggled happily.

Lathe grinned as he looked back up at the shining cogs. “It really is the coolest thing. Best birthday present ever.” Seriously.

“Should we move on to the next room?” Levi asked, watching Eren nod. So the group moved to the open door at the side of Lathe’s room. “Did you put more pictures on the walls in here?” Levi’s voice sounded from the room and Eren could only giggle more.

Lathe followed them in, looking over to his left, his eyes widening as he noticed the entire left wall had suddenly transformed into an African Safari, animals standing tall in the landscape. What... “...When did you... How did you do this without me noticing?” His smile widened. Oh my god!

“I... May or may not have woken up in the middle of the night last night, snuck into your room and put it up.... Whilst you were sleeping like a rock.” Eren told him and smiled happily.

Jeff’s eyes were wide. “That looks so real! Like we’re in the Safari right now...” Jeff trailed off, not even noticing the ceiling yet.

Nate beamed, his eyes wandering up from the African landscape to the ceiling. “Hey Jeff... Look up,”

Jeff looked up after a few seconds. “Holy Shit!” His eyes as wide as his mouth was. This is like you're in fucking space! It looks so real!
“Dad, shut the lights off, it looks cool on both of them.” Eren knew the stars would glow, but he also added glow paint to all the animal’s eyes that were looking directly at the group as well as stars across the sky. Eren had even made a moon out of the glowing paint, and figured out how to make it translucent so nothing could be seen with the lights on.

Lathe reached not to him and flicked the switch on the wall, his eyes immediately drawn to the eerie glow of the animal’s eyes, staring at them in the dark. The moon shone, it’s small craters visible. ...Whoa.

Nate looked up, immersed in the stars sprawling above them. That is absolutely amazing.

Eren smiled but a thought soon came to mind. “Oh, Dad, we’re out of glow paint too.” He said and watched as Jeff turned to look at the Safari scene and almost jumping out of his skin when he saw the eyes. Does it scare people that much?

That’s fucking terrifying! Jeff backed away from the picture a little bit. “The eyes are glowing…” Jeff just stated the obvious, trying to get over his nerves.

Nate grinned, poking Jeff’s arm in jest. “What, you scared?” Oh my god he totally is!

“That’s so unnerving though! It looks like they’re intent on coming out of the wall to eat your face off!” Jeff punched Nate in the arm. You say anything about this to anyone I will personally murder you!

Nate just laughed, his eyes shining. “Whatever you say, Jeff.” Oh I’m so telling everyone about this.

Lathe decided to have mercy, switching the lights back on. “Want to show them your room, Eren?” You’ve got so many drawings to show off.

“Well Levi’s the majority of what’s hung up so as long as he’s cool with it…” Eren looked up to Levi who only smirked.

“I’m fine with it Brat, otherwise I wouldn’t have been your model.” He picked Eren back up from his feet and took him to his room, setting him gently down on the bed. Pictures filled the room, and he was right, a majority of the drawings were Levi.

_They look like pictures... Are they really drawings?_ Jeff looked around the room in awe. “You're so good Eren, and Levi have you ever thought about modeling?” Jeff asked with a chuckle as he saw the picture Eren had drawn of Levi’s abs during Christmas break.

_You’d seriously think Eren had gotten into photography. ...He has a camera. He should try it sometime._ Nate smirked at Jeff’s comment. _If these drawings are the real thing, it’s not too bad of a suggestion._

Levi’s cheeks had a rosy tint to them as he shook his head. “Nope, I don’t work well with people for long periods of time.” Levi ran a hand through his hair. Watching as they looked around to all the pictures of himself on the wall. _God, maybe I should’ve said no… This is embarrassing!_

_Lathe grinned mischievously as Levi shifted from one foot to the other, giving his elbow a nudge. “Something the matter? You’re not embarrassed or anything, are you?” He tried to keep from laughing at Levi’s expression. Oh my god that look on his face is priceless!_

_“Lathe. Stop.”_ Levi growled and pushed him playfully away since he had put Eren down. “how long until dinner’s ready anyways?” Levi asked looking down to see the time on his phone. _That went by quick... It’s already 5, damn._

_Lathe glanced at the time on his phone over his shoulder, his eyes widening a fraction. “Three minutes ago.” _Nope I don’t want anything to burn._ “Let’s head downstairs, shall we?”

Jeff followed Nate and Lathe downstairs to the kitchen and sat in the seats they were in for lunch. Levi followed after, a little slower because Eren was leaning on him to walk, but they made it down when Lathe was setting plates at the table.

_“It smells amazing.”_ Eren watched Levi get everyone a glass of water, then get him his pill bottle. “Thanks.” He took his pill giving him the bottle to put back in it’s place on the counter.

_Levi came and sat back down besides Eren. “This looks amazing Lathe, what is it?”_

_Jeff nodded. It smells and looks like a 5 star meal._
Lathe smiled sheepishly, a barely noticeable red dusting across his cheeks. “Roast chicken with onions, potatoes, carrots and celery. There’s plenty left if anyone wants seconds.” He took his place opposite Nate, smiling. I hope they like it.

Eren took the first bite and smiled. “You need to make this more!” Eren announced, taking another bite. Now you’ll know how I gained so much so quickly, Nate.

Levi chuckled before digging in as well. “I second his statement.” Levi continued to eat silently, not really focusing on anything except for the food in front of him.

“I’d third that statement, but it wouldn't do much because I don't live here.” Nate grinned, taking another bite and watching Lathe laugh. This is awesome!

“Well, I’ll fourth the statement, even though we don’t live here, and we’ll call ahead next time and request this!” Jeff laughed and continued to eat. I haven’t had food this good in forever!

Lathe chuckled, sipping at his water. “I'm really glad you all like it.” He glanced over to Levi and Eren. “I'm surprised I haven't made anything either of you don't like yet.” That’s seriously got to be some sort of miracle that I didn't get stuck with picky eaters.

“Well as long as it’s not sweet I’ll pretty much eat anything…” Eren trailed off and just looked down. Shit... I need to keep my mouth shut... I haven’t been desperate to eat for 5 months... He swallowed hard, not picking up his head to look at anyone, not finding the courage to do so, but he still ate, quietly, not sure what to do. They don’t want to know what I went through... It’s bad enough that Lathe, Spades, and Levi know everything... I don’t want people to pity me... I don’t want them to think about what my father did to me every time they see me... Eren reached down to pet Blake behind the ears, under the table.

Levi nudged Eren’s foot, patting his knee under the table. He sent him a reassuring look. I don’t know what it is that’s you’ve got going on up there, but you don’t have to worry about anything now. Just eat and be happy. Enjoy this.

Eren looked over to Levi, smiling a bit before he started to eat normally again. Whatever he had been thinking about had seemingly vanished for now.
Levi took a deep breath as he walked out of the counselor’s office. The hallways were barren except for a dog and his brown-haired owner, whom of course Levi walked towards, slowly and quietly, coming up to Eren to wrap his arms around him, leaning up a bit to kiss the back of Eren’s neck. “Sorry about that, but I have permission to bring you as my date to prom.” He told him and smiled. But that wasn’t the only reason I was in there. That can wait until later though. Levi took Eren’s hand on their quiet walk home, stepping over the threshold and going through the usual routine of letting Blake outside, throwing their bags at the end of the stairs, not caring because none of the teachers were assigning homework anymore. They were all in the dreaded ‘Review Mode’. It was just another day of studying… It’s getting soooo boring. It wasn’t long until Eren had reclaimed his seat at the piano. I swear he gets better each time he sits in front of the damn piano.

Lathe leaned on the banister of the stairs, looking over to Eren with a purposefully indifferent look. “Before you get into the piano, I thought I should tell you that you got something in the mail today.” Oh he’s gonna love this.

Eren’s hands stopped from their graceful dance over the piano keys. “I did?” His voice sounded hesitant. I don’t get mail though… what could I have possibly gotten? I’m too young to be getting college stuff, Levi’s been getting a lot of that lately… but he just keeps throwing it out…

Lathe showed him a decent-sized and suspiciously-shaped package, reading the label with apparent disinterest. “Yeah, dunno why. You might have a fan or something from a town in Germany that just so happens to have your old address, but then again it could just be cleverly disguised junk mail. You know, I guess I might as well throw it out for you if it’s nothing special which it surely isn’t.” Lathe moved as if to really go pitch it in the kitchen, holding back a grin.

“WAIT!!” Eren instantly got to his feet and quickly snatched the box from Lathe’s hands. He went and sat down in one of the beanbags which he had convinced Lathe to get him. He opened the cardboard first-class box carefully to reveal an old black case. Eren cried almost instantly. It’s the violin… It’s actually here… Oh my god, thank you Spades. Eren cried happily as he pulled the case out from the box and hurriedly opened it, his fingers going over each and every curve of the polished wood within. God, I haven’t played this thing in years. “Spades sent this?” He asked and looked up to Lathe with tear filled eyes, but there was a smile on his face as he cried.

Lathe just nodded, picking up the sturdy cardboard box from where Eren had dropped it on the floor, picking up foam peanuts. “Yeah, she did.” He looked to an inside flap of the box, turning it and squinting. “She wrote something here.” His smile grew. “‘One of many, many more. Eleven more in pristine condition getting ready to go!’” YES!
Eren cried even harder, holding the case in his lap. “Oh my god.” Eren didn’t know what else to say, and he just cried happily. I get to have Mom back...

Levi looked up from his place next to Eren’s beanbag, shifting to get next to him and coil his arms around his waist, smiling. That’s amazing! You get all of them back!

Eren turned from a crying mess to a ball of laughter in a matter of seconds. He curled up into Levi’s arms and smiled happily, closing his eyes as he was held. God... I don’t want this to end.

Levi watched Lathe disappear with the box, leaving them for the moment. He turned to look at Eren, pressing a gentle kiss to his lips. “Want to try and play something? I’d love to hear it.”

Eren nodded wiping away the tears on his face with his sleeve. He smiled and brought out the violin from its case. “I can’t believe I get to play this again.” Eren smiled as he held it under his chin in his left hand. He picked up the bow and began to play a wonderful melody, a happy smile plastered on his face the whole time. I missed this violin so much...

Levi had shifted Eren so he wouldn’t get poked with the bow, watching Eren’s fingers glide over the strings, listening intently. He plays like he never stopped- and it’s been so long...

Lathe reappeared from the basement, the box stashed away, stopping in the doorway of the scripting room, listening to Eren play. He’s got such amazing talent... Lathe smiled and shook his head, walking quietly to the kitchen to start on dinner, half his attention kept by the wonderful music that floated in from the piano room.

Eren took his bow away from the instrument once he was finished with the melody. “It’s still tuned to me playing it years ago.” Eren smiled softly, leaning back so that he was against Levi, the violin situated in his lap as he relaxed. “I miss her.” He murmured quietly, his voice uneven as he spoke.

Levi held onto Eren just a bit tighter, pressing gentle kisses against the back of his neck. I know you do. You know... Levi spoke quietly, his voice nearly a whisper. “She’d be proud of you.”

“You think so?” Eren asked as he put the violin back into it’s case, putting it beside the bean bag before curling up into Levi’s chest, nuzzling his head into the crook of Levi’s neck. “Do you really think so?” His voice a whisper. Do you really think she would be proud of me?
Levi pressed a kiss to the top of his head, resting his cheek on his head and closing his eyes. “I do.” I know she would be.

Eren smiled, his whole body relaxing in Levi’s arms. His breathing evened out pretty quickly, and his 156 pounds of muscle - thanks to finally getting back into the weight room for gym class - lay on Levi’s chest as dead weight. Eren was exhausted after the week of review they had, and was studying out of his mind to make sure he knew all the answers to everything, so he’d barely gotten any sleep at all in the past few days.

Levi smiled softly as he felt Eren relax, letting himself drift in and out of sleep, burned out from the intensive studying of the past few days.

Lathe quietly padded into the piano room a bit more than an hour later, smiling at the sight of the two of them asleep on the beanbag. That’s so adorable… He quietly took out his phone and snapped a picture, sending it to his computer before gently shaking them awake. “Hey, dinner’s ready. It’s time to wake up.”

Eren let out a soft groan and simply swatted at Lathe before nuzzling back into Levi’s chest. I’m too tired to eat… Sooo tired…. I wanna sleep for days...

Levi cracked open his eyes, yawning and stretching out his legs, waking up fully as he smelled dinner. …is that lasagna. He looked down to Eren as he tried to go back to sleep, his arms shifting under him. Yeah, no. “Eren, it’s lasagna. I’m getting up, and that means you have to get up too.”

“But I’m tired!” Eren whined and tried to put as much of his body as possible on Levi. He can lift me up, who is he kidding? He’s been working out like crazy, I’m surprised he hasn’t asked to use me as a weight yet.

Levi rolled his eyes, one arm now under his legs, the other keeping its hold on his waist as he shifted their weights forward, standing to carry him to the table. “Well, stop being tired so we can eat.” He pecked Eren’s lips in apology, setting him down carefully at his usual place at the table. His eyes lit up as he saw the dish on the stove. Yes!

Eren groaned a bit and rubbed at his eyes with a huge yawn that ended in an adorable little squeak. He put his head down on the table. “Do I need to wake up early tomorrow?” Eren’s voice sounded exhausted, just as exhausted as he felt. I wanna sleep till noon, and I’m probably going to bed at 6 tonight.
“Judging by the fact that you're falling back asleep at the table…” Lathe set down a plate of lasagna and a water glass next to his arms. “I’m guessing you waking up before eleven tomorrow isn't likely.” He set a large piece in front of Levi. He seems rather enthusiastic about lasagna. He sat down with his own, studying Eren amusedly.

Eren nodded. “You're damn right it’s not likely.” He slowly lifted his head, picking up his fork and not hesitating to dig in. I love food a little more than sleep though, so I’ll eat and then sleep.

Levi ate quietly, thinking. Is it a good idea to bring it up while Eren’s so sleepy? I don't know how well he’s going to react... He seems like he’s in a good mood though, so... You need to sometime, Levi. Do it. “So, uh… I think I figured out where I'm going to college.” He studied Eren’s expression, trying to gauge his every reaction. This isn't going to be easy, is it.

Lathe looked up from his plate, smiling. That’s great! What’d you have in mind?” I've never heard you talk about it yet.

Now or never Levi. Do it. “Marine Corps. University. They have a good program for me to go through ranks while I’m in college, as well as help me become an EMT after college, so I’ll be trained as a medic for the field as well.” Levi watched as Eren slowly put his fork down, suddenly disinterested in his food. He doesn’t like the sound of that does he?

“Where is it?” Eren asked with worried eyes. I don’t want him to leave me.

He hates this doesn’t he? “It’s in Quantico, Virginia. About 10-12 hours from here, four hours by plane.” Levi told him and watched Eren’s eyes flicker with so many different emotions.

He wants to be a marine... He’s gonna be gone for four years for college... And then even longer after that when he gets sent overseas... What if he never comes back? What if he comes back to me in a box? Eren looked down at his wrists; he hadn’t realized he had already started to scratch, and he didn’t even feel Blake biting his hands to get him to stop. Blake... He’s going to come back to me in a box. Eren stayed silent during the rest of the conversation between Lathe and Levi. He simply listened, never looking up, or touching his food again, just petting Blake under the table to keep himself calm.

Lathe’s eyes lit up instantly. “You want to be an EMT? Oh that’s great! You’d be doing a lot of good out in the field. You’re welcome to look through any of the medical stuff I have up in my study if you want to.” That’s a great career to look into!
Levi smiled. “Thanks Lathe… But I gotta do a tour in Afghanistan before I can come back… I’ve been going back and forth with the counsellors at the university, and they’ve helped me decide. They work with a community college in the area which trains the EMTs… And I’ll be getting my field medic training there, along with getting a few ranks under my belt before I get deployed.” I wonder if Eren’s pissed off at me for not mentioning what I wanted to do sooner? I gotta tell him I need to go for basic trainings throughout Senior year too… That’s part of our application of sorts.

A small flicker of worry passed Lathe’s eyes, though his smile barely wavered. “I’m sure you'll be fine. If you're dead set on it, and it sounds like you are, believe me, I understand what it’s like to want to help people who need it.” You can take care of yourself. And God knows they need all the help they can get.

Levi smiled. “Yeah, I need to go to basic training sessions though… They start on the last week of August, and run for the whole year, the last week of every month.” He told Lathe and smiled softly. “They need your body to build up endurance and all that jazzy stuff.” Levi said and picked up another fork full of food. Neither of them had noticed that Eren had left the room, his food untouched from when he had set his fork down.

Lathe smiled, patting his arm. “You'll do well. Just make sure someone collects the classwork you miss for you.” He quirked his eyebrow and went to resume eating, only to stop as he noticed Eren had left, nearly dropping his fork, putting it down, his brow furrowed in worry. How did I miss that? “Where’d Eren go?” His ears strained to hear footsteps upstairs or in the basement, hearing something downstairs.

Levi looked over to Eren’s seat. “I’ll go find him…” Levi got up, putting his fork down and moving to go look for him upstairs. He probably locked himself in his recording room.

Lathe called to him before he could disappear up the steps. “He’s downstairs, in the basement. I can hear him… He doesn't exactly sound happy.” He sounds like he’s crying...

“What do I tell him? I really want to do this, and I’ve been thinking about it for awhile now, how do I get it across to him that I want to do this? That I’ll be fine?” Levi looked to Lathe as they both stood in front of the basement door, hearing Eren sobbing and Blake whining to calm him down.

Lathe ran one hand through his hair, a look of worry on his face, his other hand resting on Levi’s shoulder. “...I think you’ve just got to tell him that. And if I were you, I'd make the most out of what time left you two are guaranteed before you leave.” He sighed. “It’s a lot to take in for him… but hopefully he’ll be willing to wait for you. I can't imagine him not.” Lathe let his hand slide from Levi’s shoulder, sending him a reassuring smile. “Good luck.” He padded to the kitchen to start dishes, leaving him alone.
Levi took a deep breath, beginning his descent into the basement, closing the door behind him and moving to the bed, the lights dim. He saw Eren curled up and shaking in his nest on the bed, Blake pawing at him and nudging him, trying to stop his ragged sobs. Levi walked the side of the bed, climbing up and shifting to pull Eren into his lap, holding onto him tightly. I'm sorry, Eren. It's not easy to tell you, but I really want to do this.

So I have no choice? I can't make him stay... Lathe agrees with him. He think's what Levi wants to do is great. I'm the only one who doesn't want him to leave... Eren sobbed as guilt raked across his chest. "Do you... Do you really... Really want... To do that?" Eren sobbed as he clung to Levi's shirt, burying his face into his chest.

Levi's hand traced over Eren's arm, and he slowly nodded. "Eren... I know it's not easy to hear, and it's not easy to tell you either... It's going to be a long time that I'm gone, and, I really really feel like it's what I need to do... I-I hope... That you'll... That you'll wait for me..." Levi searched for the right words, pressing kisses to Eren's forehead and temple, wiping away his tears. Please don't cry...

I have no choice... I have to let him go... I can't tell him to give up on what he wants for me... I can deal with the pain... Eren sniffled, struggling to keep himself from crying, taking a few deep breaths as he nodded. "O-okay." He said with a shaky voice, sniffling as he reached up to wipe away the tears with his shirt sleeve.

Levi gave him a small smile, his hand cupping Eren's cheek as he kissed him chastely, his voice a small whisper. "...Thank you." I love you.

Eren let Levi kiss him, struggling to force himself to smile for him. "Promise me... Promise me you'll come back for breaks?" Eren asked quietly and looked up to him with hopeful eyes.

Levi leaned their foreheads together, his expression soft. "Of course I will. Promise." He pressed feather-light kisses on his lips, holding Eren snugly against his chest. I'm really gonna miss you, believe me...

Eren nuzzled his head under Levi's chin, calming down slowly but surely. He let silent tears fall, taking a long time for his whole body to relax against Levi. He had cried himself to sleep in Levi's arms.

Levi sighed, shifting so he could comfortably lay down with Eren on top of him, wrapping protectively around his form. We are going to make the most out of the time we know we have together.

---

Lathe quietly padded down the basement stairs at three in the afternoon the next day, stepping over to the bed and gently shaking Eren’s shoulder. “Come on, Eren. It’s real late to be sleeping still. You gotta wake up.” We have things to do today!

Eren cracked open his dull eyes, looking as if he had no will to do anything at all. “I just wanna sleep…” He mumbled, turning over to the other side of the bed, completely forgetting that they had to go get tattoos today.

Lathe moved to the other side of the bed, still trying to get Eren up. “Have you forgotten what we had planned for today?”

Eren grumbled, trying to bury himself under a multitude of blankets. “What… I thought I could sleep today.” He curled up into a tighter ball to make it harder to pull the blankets away from him. I wanna sleep.

Lathe grinned. “It’s three in the afternoon. You’ve slept. Now don’t make me tickle you to get you up; I want us to be on time for our appointment with Marc and Brook.” I refuse to be late. And we still need to get food into you and stuff.

Eren slowly crawled out from his blanket fort. “Shit… I forgot about that.” Eren yawned as he sat up to rub his eyes. I need to get up then… Fuck.

Lathe smiled. “Yeah, that’s a thing that’s happening. If I can trust you to actually get up and get dressed, I'll go fix you something to eat. Alright?”

“I’m not hungry.” Eren replied instantly and got up slowly, stretching for a few seconds. He slowly padded towards the stairs to go upstairs to get dressed. It was so unusual, normally Eren was always hungry, and always snitching since he could eat without the pill and had been doing so for a number of weeks. I don't think I'll be able to eat even with the pills.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow, following him up the stairs. “You sure? There are strawberries all cut up in the fridge.” Come on. Something? Anything? You skipped both breakfast and lunch. You didn't finish dinner last night either. “You need to eat something. At least try?”

“I’m not hungry, Dad.” Eren quickly disappeared upstairs, going to change into his tank top.

Lathe sighed in defeat, a flicker of worry in his eyes as he crossed back into the kitchen, hovering again over the sketch he and Levi had worked on for the past few hours: White and navy blue wings crossed. He smirked. It does look really cool. He went over to the coffeemaker, talking over his shoulder to Levi. “No more changes? That okay?”

“Yeah. I really like it. The linework is really all I’m going to be getting done today, yeah?” Levi’s eyes wandered over the outline of the feathers.

“Yep, probably. Depends how quickly this Larry guy works, and how much pain you can take. You are getting it on your back, and if you want it as big as you say it’ll take a while, and it won't exactly feel too nice.” Nope.

Levi nodded, looking up as Eren came back down the stairs, a small smile on his face. He held out the sketch. “Lathe and I sketched out what I want to get tattooed. What do you think, Eren?”

Eren looked over to the picture. Wings… They look cool. “They look good…. Where are you getting them?” Eren said and went to get one of the travel mugs that he’d gotten for his tea. He filled the kettle up and put it on the stove, waiting patiently, he still couldn’t look either of them in the eye.

“My back; they're going to be pretty big.” Levi quirked an eyebrow at Eren. He seems a bit off...

Eren nodded. “That’ll look really cool when it’s done.” Eren turned back to the kettle, waiting for it to heat up before he went over and put two tea packs in it. I need this to be strong as all hell… Otherwise I don’t think I’ll get through today.

Lathe picked up his own sketchbook up from the table, placing his soon empty mug in the sink, not missing the two tea tags that dangled from the side of it. “Whenever you're ready, Eren.”

“Let me get my sketchbook, then we can go.” Eren put his large travel mug down, letting it steep with the two tea bags. That should get it strong enough… I wonder if Lathe noticed? Eren shook his head a bit as he walked down to the basement, grabbing his sketchbook and coming back upstairs to see how strong his tea was. Eren cautiously took a sip. That’s really strong…. Good. He took them both out before closing the cap on the travel mug again. “Ready.” He murmured, going to put his boots on, as well as his loose jacket.

Lathe watched Levi stand to slide his own shoes on and head out to the car, moving to lace up his own boots. He looked to Eren’s face, trying to gauge his expression. “Are you okay, Eren? You know you can talk to me if something’s bugging you.” If you need to talk about Levi going away, that’s why I’m here.

Eren shook his head. “I’m fine, really Dad, I’m just exhausted from school this past week.” Well, I’m not entirely lying… But that’s not the whole reason. Eren led Blake to the car and let him hop in before getting in and sitting on Levi’s lap. He took another sip of his tea, looking a little more lively now.

Lathe accepted that answer for then, locking the door behind them and sliding into the driver’s seat, starting the careful drive into the city, turning on the radio. “So if you really do decide to accept the record deal, does this mean I’ll hear you on the radio?” He grinned. That would be really fucking cool.

Eren thought about it. “I guess so…” He rested his head back onto Levi’s shoulder. <>“How long have you wanted to do this? To move away for college?”> Eren took another careful sip of his hot drink. You never said a word to me… But you’ve been going to the counselor a lot more lately.

Levi thought a moment, sighing and resting his cheek on Eren’s head, speaking quietly. <>“I’ve thought about it for a few years. I decided on the Marines last month, and everything was… Finalised yesterday.”> Eren nodded after a few moments, taking everything in. <>“I’ll let you go on one condition…”> I hope you don’t… I want to keep you here. Eren smiled softly as he felt Levi wrap his arms around his midsection, pulling him flush against Levi’s chest.

Levi held onto Eren tightly, his nose buried in Eren’s hair. “Mhm?”

Eren took in a deep breath, tracing Levi’s muscles on his arms. <>“You need to be completely fluent by the time you leave… Completely, and you can’t forget a damn word while you’re gone.”> I don’t want you to forget about me. Eren was struggling to keep his voice even, taking a big swig of his tea after he told Levi the condition that he wanted him so desperately to fail at.
Levi nodded. <“I'll do my best…”> It's the forgetting part I'd have to worry about...

<“I mean it, Levi. You can't forget a fucking word… Not at all, I’m going to call you, and talk to you in German… And if you forget something… I want to be able to talk to you over the phone… I don’t want to have you worry about your bunk mates knowing that you’re talking with your boyfriend.”> Eren turned in his grasp, moving his arm to hold onto his shirt. I know you don’t like to talk about certain things with people around… I can’t believe I’m stooping so low, as to make up excuses to try and keep you here...

That’s a good reason. Levi pressed a kiss to his forehead. <“Good idea. I'll make sure I know every word. All of them.”> He smiled. All of them.

Shit... Eren felt his heart break a little. I didn’t.... No! I don’t want you to learn every word! You can’t stay if you do! Eren’s eyes darkened a bit, he somehow kept his breathing even and didn’t burst into tears, which he wanted to do so much. He reached over to pet Blake and plastered a smile on his face. Levi can’t know I want him to stay… Fuck… I screwed myself over.

Worry flitted past Lathe’s eyes, as if he could hear Eren’s heart cracking. He glanced over for a moment, though he knew he needed to keep his focus on the road. ...nothing about this is going to be easy… Is it. They pulled up outside the tattoo parlour half an hour later, Lathe smiling and trying to keep the mood light. “We’re here! Let’s go.”

Eren hopped out of the car, quickly followed by Levi and Blake. He took Blake’s leash and led the dog inside the parlour, taking a large gulp from his ridiculously strong tea, trying to wake up a little more. Eren rubbed at his eyes to make it seem believable that he was extremely tired. Make it believable… Marc’ll probably talk your ear off while he’s working.

Marc looked up from the front desk as the door chimed from being opened. “Hey guys! Welcome back!” Marc got up and went to go and greet everyone again, he even had a large rawhide bone for Blake this time. Eren smiled and hugged him and Blake wagged his tail as he was given the bone. Marc then went to give Lathe and Levi a hug. “I’m in the hugging mood, so go along with it.” Marc’s smile was wide as he squeezed the both of them in one go, letting go and turning towards the hallways. “Brook! Lar! Your appointments are here!” He yelled back and went over to Eren. “Ready?” He asked. I can’t wait to do the rest of his outlining, his design was awesome!

“Oh no, I haven't had my aspirin yet.” Brook spoke sarcastically as she approached them from the back room, grinning and addressing all of them. “It’s good to see you all again. Been doin’ alright?”
Eren shrugged and nodded, going off to follow Marc into the room he was in last. “See you guys later.” His eyes were still dark, but he tried not to look anyone in the eye, or they would notice.

Larry poked his head out of his room. “Is this the crazy guy you were talking about Brook?” He asked finally stepping out of the room. The man was pretty tall, but not as tall as Lathe. He was a bit on the heavier side, but not by much, and his hair was a good mix of blonde and ginger. He was wearing jeans and a plain dark shirt, which happened to be splattered in paint. “Hi, I’m the new guy, Larry.” He gave both of them his hand to shake, a large smile on his face.

Lathe subconsciously straightened up, shaking his hand, grinning. “That kinda sounds like me. I'm Lathe. It’s nice to meet you.”

Larry chuckled a bit. “At least he admits to it.” He smiled as he gave Levi his hand to shake as well. “I take it you’re with me? Since Brook’s been complaining about working with Lathe- AKA the crazy guy- since this morning?” Larry joked, a cheeky smile crossing his features.

Levi shook his hand and nodded, his face stoic as he studied him. He seems alright. “Yeah. I'm Levi.”

Larry smiled and motioned him to follow. “Do you got a design in mind? Or we gonna draw something up?” They passed Marc working on Eren, Blake laying down in Eren’s lap as Eren pet him with his right hand, a small smile on his face. Larry led him to the next room down the hall. “Welcome to mine humble working space.”

Levi quirked an eyebrow at his words, scanning the room that was very similar to Marc’s, though much cleaner. “I drew something up at home, and I know where I want it.” He handed Larry the drawing.

“Awesome! Then Let’s get started shall we?” He flicked the switch to turn on the light box, smiling as he quickly transferred the picture over.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe reached forward to catch Eren’s shoulder, one hand carefully prying the fork from his hand, sighing in worry and defeat. That’s the third time he’s fallen asleep at the table this week. He pushed his chair back with his foot, moving to scoop Eren up from his chair, carrying him upstairs, turning left into his own bedroom and setting him down on the bed, pulling the red quilt over him. He’s burning himself out, studying for exams. If he isn't reviewing for math or whatever it is he has an exam on next he’s passed out in the beanbag chair in the piano room… Or nodding off over food at the kitchen table. Lathe moved to put away the leftovers downstairs, quickly filling the dishwasher and returning to get ready for bed, Blake following at his heels. He reached down to scratch behind his ears. He can’t fall asleep if he’s trying to, though… Levi’s been at his apartment studying in the silence, and Eren’s so used to having Levi next to him… He had a nightmare the night Levi wasn’t here with him. He’s been sleeping in my bed with me since then. Lathe dumped his clothes in the hamper, sliding under the covers next to Eren, who curled right up to him. He wrapped his arms around his middle, staring up at the seemingly shifting gears, worry in his features. I really hope he’ll be okay soon… He’s driving himself into the ground.

Eren woke up at around 4:30 in the morning, carefully getting out of Lathe’s arms, and letting him fall back asleep as he went downstairs to study for Geometry a little more. Last exam… Then I can sleep next to Levi again… Eren made himself some toast and ate quietly as he went over his notes at the kitchen table. The bags under his eyes were visible, but he didn’t care ‘cause he had aced all his other exams and now only Math was left.

Lathe stumbled tiredly down the stairs at seven, yawning. I'm supposed to proctor an exam today… I think. Eh. He ruffled Eren’s hair as he passed him on the way to make coffee, giving him a smile. “G’morning. Already studying hard, and it’s so early. What is it today you're taking?”

“Math… And I’ve already been up for three hours.” Eren told him quietly, moving to make himself some tea. He had progressed from two bags in his cups to three and sometimes four. “Last exam today.” Eren told him as he yawned, waiting for the water to heat up.

Lathe looked over to him with wide eyes, wide awake though he hadn't even taken a sip yet. He put down his mug and turned to Eren, not missing the fact he had three teabags in his hand. Now wait just a damn second. “Eren, are you sure you're not stressing out too much over these exams? I know you want to get a good grade and everything, but your sleep schedule is all out of whack and we’ve been going through so much tea it’s like you're afraid they're gonna stop making it.” He nodded to his hand. “I get the feeling your exam studying has a lot to do with all the stress you've put yourself under, but I also get the feeling it's more than that. If you're not going to do anything else, if you don't want to talk or anything, can you at least promise me that after this exam is over you'll try and at least start with getting some actual sleep at night? I'm really worried.”

Eren nodded. “Yeah, I’m probably gonna fall asleep as soon as I get home. I promise I’ll try and get back on track… We need to go get a tux still… Prom’s in two weeks.” He reminded Lathe as he rubbed his eyes, waiting for his tea to steep.

“We’ll get you fitted for one after you're not in danger of passing out on the spot. And we need to get you back to just using one teabag. Seriously, that’s crazy strong tea you've been drinking
“Yeah, I had some toast around 5:30…”

It wasn’t two and a half hours later that a loud bang sounded in Eren’s exam room. His head had smacked against the desk as he passed out, his exam finished and put in a neat pile at the top corner of the desk. The loud sound startled the other students in the silent room who all gasped as they saw Eren passed out in his seat.

A loud, quick clicking filled the room as Lathe strode to Eren’s desk, gently shaking his shoulder. Come on… Wake up. He gave up after a moment, knowing Eren wasn’t about to wake up anytime soon. He sighed, picking up Eren’s packet and flicking through it, checking to see if he completed everything. Scantron’s entirely filled out and the free responses, all in ink… Good… He signed the ‘I-didn’t-cheat’ thing… Yep, he’s done. He looked up to the front desk of teachers, a woman walking up to them. He handed her the exam, his voice quiet. “He’s done, but he won’t wake up… Should I just…?” There’s no protocol for this...

She took the exam from him and shrugged. “There’s only a half hour left, we’ve got plenty of proctors, and since he’s done… You and he can get going. It’s fine.” She sent him a warm smile.

Lathe smiled gratefully, picking up the pencils and sharpeners from his desk, quickly walking to the front of the room to grab Eren’s backpack, dropping them in the front pouch and slinging it over his shoulder. He walked back to Eren, carefully bending down to wrap his arms around him, lifting him from the chair without too much trouble. He glanced around, noting with an indifferent face that all of the students were watching, stunned. Yeah, they’ll get over it. He walked to the door, thanking the woman as she held it open for him, walking through the silent halls to get to the car, get Eren home. Of course… At least it’s over. He sighed, Blake at his heels as he manoeuvred the door open, Eren leaning against his arm as he drove them home. For now, it’s over.

Eren woke up at around 8am the next day, head throbbing. He groaned as he got up, looking around to see what room he was in. I’m in Lathe’s room? Where’s Lathe?…. Wait, what happened?… Fuck my head hurts. Eren swung his legs over the edge of the bed, looking at the clock on the wall, the small hand pointing to the eight in Roman Numerals. “…I slept for 11 hours?” Eren then noticed the light filtering in through the window. “…Nope… I slept for the whole day… Holy Shit.” Eren slowly got up on shaking legs before he went to go down the hall to shower. He came out after about 15 minutes, looking much better than he had in a long time. I feel so refreshed… I can’t believe I slept that long… Eren walked into his room and donned a pair of sweatpants and a hoodie before making his way downstairs. He was greeted first by Blake at the end of the stairs. He sat down to pet him a little before he heard his stomach growling, getting up to walk to the kitchen. “Dad… What’s for breakfast?” Eren asked as he walked into the kitchen, going to put the kettle on the stove. I think I’ll only need two to wake me up…

Lathe turned from the stove and sighed in relief, giving Eren a hug. “You look so much better, you slept forever… Good morning. I’m making omelettes. I didn’t know what you’d want in yours, so I just made what I usually do for mine.” He slid one from a pan onto a plate, handing it to Eren. You don’t look like the undead now… Much better. He glanced to his mug. Two tags. Progress.

“I feel better, thanks… As long as it’s got cheese in it, we’re Gucci.” Eren took the plate and went to go sit at his spot on the table. “Levi’s finishing his exams up today…” He trailed off and ate a forkful of the omelette, sighing in relief. My head still fucking hurts. “Please tell me I finished my exam yesterday.” Eren’s eyes were wide with fear at the thought of an unfinished exam. Shit, I don’t remember if I did or not!

Lathe sighed as he remembered carrying Eren out of the exam room. “Yeah, you did. I don’t know how you hit your head on the desk that hard and could still sleep like the dead. I had to carry you out of there. Literally all of the students looked at me like I grew horns or something. Fun.

“Is that why my head’s killing me now?” Eren groaned as he reached up to rub his temple where his head had smacked against the desk, a decent sized bruise forming. At least I finished it.

“That’d do it. I’ll get you some aspirin.” Lathe set down his own plate, going to his bag and returning with two white tablets. “Here.” He sat down adjacent to him, lost in thought for a second. “I was talking with Casper earlier. I need to go over and help him look over some of the research he’s been doing later. We think we’ve found some PTSD medication that won’t make you worse.” It’s a good thing, too.

Eren thanked him quietly for the pills, taking them and nodding after. “How long do you think you’ll be? I’m gonna have Levi over once his exam is finished.” He told him, taking another bite of his omelette. Will he be out long enough to do something? Or just an intense make out session…? God I haven’t seen him in forever.

Lathe took a bite, eyeing Eren’s expression. “It’s gonna be a while, most likely. As in you’ll most likely be on your own for lunch. I’ll text you and let you know if I’m going to be much later than that.” If what Casper’s found doesn’t check out, I have a few compounds we can look through…

Eren nodded. “Okay.” He finished off his plate before going to go downstairs and pull out some drawing supplies. Levi gets out at 10… And he’s coming over after that… And Lathe won’t be home until after Lunch… That would give us enough time. Eren blushed as he looked over to the box they had tucked away in a shelf near the mattress. I gotta wait for him though.
Lathe watched Eren leave with a raised eyebrow, finishing up breakfast and doing the dishes before heading out, opting to take his bike. They better not get in too much trouble.

Levi practically kicked in the door two hours later, dumping his bag on the front mat and kicking off his shoes, scanning the front rooms. Where are you… He closed the door behind him and listened, deciding to try the basement first, walking quickly to the scripting room and down the stairs, looking over to see Eren sitting on the mattress, doodling. Perfect. He crossed the distance quickly, climbing onto the bed and carefully moving the pad of paper and the pencil from his hands to the floor, leaning up to kiss him fervently, pulling him close. I missed you…

Eren gasped in surprise at first before he wrapped his arms around Levi’s shoulders, kissing him back just as feverishly. God, I miss this… Don’t leave me… Please… Eren moved his head to the side, deepening the kiss as he opened his mouth to allow Levi access.

Levi immediately took the invitation, his tongue moving to coil around Eren’s. You still taste so sweet… He shifted until he was practically laying on top of Eren, their chests flush, his hands wandering familiarly over Eren’s sides.

Eren moaned into the kiss as he felt Levi’s hands all over him. He pulled back from their kiss to breathe, his eyes filled with yearning and lust. “Lathe won’t be home until after lunch.” Eren purred into Levi’s ear, moving his hands to the edge of Levi’s shirt. We haven’t fucked in a while… And I’ll probably be able to sleep for a bit more after.

Good. Levi smirked, getting the message and pulling his shirt quickly over his head, showing off his chiselled abs before attacking, biting and suckling at the skin of his neck.

Eren groaned in bliss as he felt Levi’s lips on his neck. Fuck it feels good. Eren moaned, feeling his arousal already starting to form, his hands running down Levi’s chest, making their way to his pants, making quick work of the button and zipper and tugging them down.

Levi kissed up Eren’s jaw, kicking off his jeans and and letting his hands slide down to tug at Eren’s sweatpants, quickly realising he wasn’t wearing boxers. He’s not wearing anything under these… Damn. He grinned, pulling the sweatpants over his hips and tossing them off the bed, letting his fingers run down the inside of his thighs as he did so.

Eren moaned as Levi touched his inner thighs, his cock twitching at the stimulus. “Fuck, Levi… Don’t tease me… Please, it’s been long enough.” Eren whined as he spread his legs for Levi, reaching down for his sweatshirt and pulling it off, revealing his filled out form. Fuck he’s hot... I want him... I want him now.

Levi pulled away from Eren’s neck for a moment, his eyes raking down his lithe form before he quickly reached for the nearby shoebox, taking out a small black tube and a condom, dropping the latter onto the bed as he went to kiss down Eren’s chest, leaving small bites and bruises. I won’t make you wait too long. He poured some lube into his hand, setting the tube aside and coating his fingers. His hand drifted to his entrance, slowly pushing one finger past the tight ring of muscle up to the knuckle.

Eren moaned out loud, not hiding his voice at all as he spread his legs a little further. ... It feels... So good. Eren was moaning out Levi’s name left and right, moving his hips to try and accept more of his finger.

Levi soon added a second finger, gently scissoring him to get him to loosen up. You're so tight...

Eren groaned in bliss. His face completely flushed out as he felt Levi’s fingers loosen him up. His fingers... God they’re like fucking magic!

Levi quickly tugged off his boxers, letting his length spring free as he added a third finger, curling his digits and searching for his prostate, nibbling across his collarbone.

It took a while for Levi to find the bundle of nerves, but once he did, Eren’s back arched high up off the mattress and his cries of pleasure filled the whole basement, his cock leaking precum in streams onto his chest. “Fuck... Levi!” Don’t tease me, please... God it feels good.

Levi withdrew his hand, moaning into Eren’s shoulder as he heard Eren cry out, reaching for the condom and tearing the wrapper with his teeth, rolling it on and flipping their position, kissing Eren deeply. He reached for the small black tube again, pouring a generous amount into his hand and slicking himself up, his hands going to hold onto Eren’s hips, positioning him over his length. I want to try something...

Eren was confused when Levi suddenly changed their positions. What is he..? Eren watched him slick up and knew instantly what he wanted, his blush darkening and going all the way to his ears. “L-Levi?” Eren’s voice stuttered in embarrassment. We’ve never done this position before... It’s really embarrassing... God, and can I look any more like a whore? Eren looked down to his dripping cock as more precum escaped from his slit. God, to have him stare at me like this... It’s embarrassing, but exciting all at the same time... Shit... Eren slowly lowered himself down onto Levi, inch by inch before he had Levi in to the hilt. Fuck he’s huge. Eren moaned out a string of Levi’s name and praises to his great body.

Levi groaned as he watched Eren with hooded eyes, blushing scarlet as he took in his pleasures expression, listening to his litanies of his name. Holy fuck... he’s gorgeous. He moaned, his hands tightening their grip on Eren’s waist.

Eren sat there, panting with Levi’s length fully embedded in him. “You're so fucking big… Levi.” Eren groaned as he timidly rolled his hips, gasping out when he found his own prostate in that fluid motion. Holy shit... That felt amazing. Eren then rolled his hips again feeling the brush of pleasure against Levi and groaning in bliss. “Feels good.” Eren moaned out, leaning over Levi a little, his hands pressed against Levi’s chest for support as he slowly raised his hips until Levi’s tip was the only thing before thrusting himself back down with a cry of pleasure as he did so. Holy fuck, this is great!

Levi groaned loudly, his heels digging into the mattress, his hands cupping Eren’s ass. Oh my God, you feel so good… Levi gasped, feeling pressure slowly building in the pit of his stomach. “E-Eren…” He let his head fall back, losing himself in the pleasure. Please.

Eren groaned in bliss as he found a steady rhythm which had him both fucking himself on Levi and rolling his hips with every thrust. God, I can make him hit my prostate every time.. Holy fuck, it feels so good. Eren had felt the warmth building in his stomach as his pace quickened. “Levi, more, please… Fuck me…” Eren knew he couldn’t get a quicker pace than this going, but he wanted Levi to pound his ass into orgasm. Please Levi.

Levi rolled them over, looming over Eren as he went to attack his adam’s apple, his hands wandering to Eren’s length as he quickened the pace, pounding deeply into Eren. So good… I want to hear you.

Eren cried out in bliss as Levi pounded into him. He shifted a little, giving Levi an easier angle. “HOLY SHIT! ” Eren cried out, back arching off the bed as Levi pounded into his prostate. Holy shit… I’m not gonna last… Fuck… “..Fuck me.” Eren whined as his hands went up to Levi’s shoulders, his nails digging into the skin. He let out a louder moan, his toes curling as he wrapped his legs around Levi, forcing him to stop deep inside of him, right on his prostate. Eren came hard, his whole body shuddering in bliss as he called out Levi’s name in ecstasy as stream after pearly stream of cum landed on his chest. Holy fuck…. That was the best one yet… Fuck!

Levi moaned loudly into Eren’s neck, his coil snapping as Eren’s legs wrapped around his waist, his voice loud in his ear. Oh my God, Eren… You felt so amazing… Levi leaned up to kiss Eren passionately, slowly pulling back and shifting to lay next to him, his arms around his waist. He pulled back after a moment, out of breath, leaning their foreheads together, speaking quietly. “I
Eren smiled, pecking Levi back. “I should probably clean up before this dries.” Eren moved to get up, his body shuddering as he did so. Fuck I can still feel him... God, that was awesome... Eren looked over to Levi laying there, his eyes running over his whole body. I should clean him up too. Eren got up and retrieved the box of wipes from the shelf next to them. He cleaned his chest and ass until he didn’t feel sticky anymore. He put the wipes in the trash before going over to Levi. He took his condom off, tying it and throwing it away before getting between Levi’s legs. His hand grabbing Levi’s length by the base and slowly leaned his head down to suck off the cum that was left on it from the condom.

Levi’s eyes widened in surprise before he moaned loudly, trying not to buck up his hips. It’s been all of two minutes and I’m already gonna get hard again... “Eren... Hah...”

Eren looked up to him with hooded eyes. He pulled his head up with a lewd ‘pop’. “Should I stop?” Eren’s seductive voice coming into play as he slowly ran his hand up and down Levi’s length, toying with his slit. Do you really want me to? You haven’t gotten blown in forever.

Levi gasped, shaking his head quickly, pleading with him. “N-no, Eren, please ... don’t stop...” Please... don’t stop.

Eren smirked. “Good boy.” He lowered his head and began to suck away at Levi’s large length and sucked the whole entire time, all the way down to his base, able to deepthroat him. I wonder how long he’ll last? He’s gotta be sensitive after cumming that hard... The whole condom was full.

Levi moaned, his voice filling the entire basement, feeling his coil quickly tightening, his toes curling. I'm not usually so vocal... But it’s been two minutes and I'm still so sensitive...“E-Eren... I can't... Ha... much longer...” He soon felt his coil snap, groaning as he felt Eren sucking him dry. My God...

Eren made sure he had gotten each and every drop before he came off of him with another ‘pop’. He slowly crawled up to lay on his chest. “Feel better?” Eren asked with a cheeky smile across his face, the bruise completely visible now that the hair was out of his face.

Levi’s smirk and cheeky remark disappeared and eyes widened, one hand coming up to brush his hair away from his forehead, hovering over the bruise. “Eren, what happened?” That looks like it’s gotta hurt...
Eren looked down at Levi’s chest a small smile on his face. “Well you know… I’ve been studying like a madman for exams…” Eren trailed off and kissed his chest a few times before continuing his story. “I haven’t had the greatest sleep schedule in the world… But after my Math exam yesterday… I kinda passed out and my forehead smacked against the desk really hard apparently…. I didn’t wake up until this morning… And it was the morning exam yesterday too… So I slept the whole day yesterday according to Dad.” Eren told him in between peppering Levi’s collarbone with kisses.

Levi sighed, though he suddenly spoke quietly in shock. “That was you? I heard someone mention what had happened this morning before the exam, but I didn't catch a name. Lathe had to carry you out of the exam room.” That explains it.

“Yeah… Then I guess he tried to wake me up a few times to get me to eat, but I was out… Like out out… I was so hungry this morn-” Eren was interrupted by his stomach growling. Looks like I’m still hungry.

Levi smirked, leaning up to peck his lips. “And I guess you still are. Come on, lunch sounds good right about now.” He shifted out from under Eren, looking around for where his clothes went, picking them up from the floor and dressing.

Okay.” Eren pulled his sweatpants on and his hoodie, slowly making his way upstairs. “I think that was probably the best sex we’ve ever had.” Eren told him honestly as he walked up the stairs slowly, waiting for Levi to follow him.

Levi blushed red to his ears, smirking as he followed him up the steps. “Took the words right out of my mouth.” He winked, trailing behind him to the kitchen, immediately going to put the kettle on the stove.

Eren sat down before he got up again. “I’m gonna go put some boxers on… It feels weird now.” Eren scampered off to race upstairs quickly followed by Blake. He came back a minute later without a hoodie and just a tank top, one of Levi’s of course, and boxers on under his sweat pants. “I’m still waiting for you to fuck me hard enough that I’ll be limping for the next day.” Eren purred as he wrapped his arms around Levi’s waist, hugging him from behind.

Levi blushed even harder, looking over his shoulder with a quirked eyebrow. What the hell? ...That’s probably the sex talking. He needs to sit down. Levi smirked and went along with it, turning to face him, one arm snakeing around his waist and pulling him to the table, gently kissing his cheek and letting him sit down. He let him go, turning to the fridge, scrutinising its contents. Hmmm... What to make that isn't a sandwich... Ah. He carefully lifted out a large bowl of soup, setting it on the counter and fishing in the cabinet for smaller bowls, placing two in the microwave. He turned to the kettle as it whistled, setting two mugs to steep with tea. He soon handed Eren his mug, soup and spoon, sitting across from him and nudging his feet, a small smile on his face. I really missed this.

Eren had a huge smile on his face as he ate the whole bowl of soup and drank the whole mug of tea, his head finding the table as he yawned. “I’m tired..” Eren stretched a bit in his seat, struggling to keep his eyes open.

Levi sighed, leaving the dishes at the table as he stood, walking around the table to scoop Eren up, carrying him into the piano room, his eyes landing on the couch. He walked over, carefully laying down and shifting so Eren was on top of him, pulling the quilt on the back of the couch over them, his nose buried in his hair, arms loose around his middle. He hummed contentedly. I could use some sleep... His eyes drifted closed, surrendering to peace after the weeks of exam stress.

Lathe opened the door a few hours later, untying his boots and catching himself from loudly announcing his presence as he saw Levi and Eren asleep on the couch, smiling fondly. Back to normal. He quietly took a picture of them, glancing at the clock. It’s about three now... I’ll organise my notes and start dinner. He went to grab a mug of coffee, doing the dishes before disappearing upstairs, starting dinner an hour later. He padded back to the couch, gently shaking the two of them awake. “It’s time for dinner, you two.” Hopefully they’ll stop being nocturnal soon... But then again this is too adorable so I’m personally not complaining.

Eren groaned a bit opened his eyes, his mouth opening wide as he yawned ending with a squeak. He rubbed at his eyes and pushed himself up off of Levi and moved to get up, stumbling a bit before he woke up fully. “Fo~od.” Eren called and headed straight for the kitchen, Blake following at his heels. I’m starving.

Levi rubbed at his eyes, trailing after Eren and sitting down at the table, thanking Lathe as he handed him a plate of meatloaf and a mug. He smirked as he watched Eren immediately scarf down his food like a wolf. Yeesh, you'd think he hadn't seen food in years.

Lathe sat down with his own plate, smiling. Thank God Eren’s eating. It's better than the completely random snacking he's been doing for weeks. “Eren, I was thinking that after dinner you and I go get you fitted for a tux.” That still needs doing. And the place I've in mind will be open late anyway.

Eren nodded and smiled. He finished off his plate, going up to the counter for seconds and beginning to scarf those down as well. “Sure, Levi can hold the fort down for a bit.” He sipped from his mug every now and then. I can sleep with him from now on.
Levi quirked an eyebrow at him, smirking. Alright. “Yeah, I'll fight off all the burglars for you.” He looked to Lathe, watching him chuckle.

“Good to know the house’ll be safe.” Lathe stood, moving to wash dishes. “If you want to get changed before we leave, Eren, you can, and we can go whenever.” He kicked the dishwasher shut, scratching Blake behind the ears as he nudged his leg.

“Um… What should I wear?” Eren asked him quietly, looking down at his feet as he shuffled towards the doorway to go upstairs when he had an answer. I’ve never been fitted before…

“Hmmm… Well, something that’s comfy and form-fitting at the same time. You'll have something, I'm sure. Don't worry about it too much, though. Just nothing real baggy. So lose the sweatpants and you should be good.”

Eren nodded going off, coming back with his ass-hugging jeans, as well as a t-shirt that fit him nicely now that he had filled out to a normal weight. “Okay, ready.” Eren said with a smile on his face, he had his metal-toed boots on and a jacket on his arm. He had Blake’s vest, which Eren put on him as soon as the dog saw it.

Levi’s eyes ran him up and down, getting up from the table to give him a hug and a peck on the cheek before they left. “I'll see you later.”

Eren giggled and leaned up to kiss him properly before pulling back. “We’ll be back soon.” Eren smiled as they left and he slid into the passenger seat of Lathe’s car, Blake hopping in and sitting in between them. He knows his place… That’s good.

Lathe smiled, driving them about a half hour into the city, killing the engine outside of a smaller shop. “We’re here.” He got out, looking through the window to see if he recognised the person behind the counter. Yes! Jack’s here tonight. He locked the car, opening the front door and holding it open for Eren.

The man at the front desk looked up, his emerald eyes shining behind black-rimmed glasses. He spoke happily, his words accented. “Hello! And hello, Lathe. Can I help you two find anything?”

Lathe ushered Eren forward a bit, nodding. “Hey Jack! This is Eren. He needs to get fitted for a tux for prom.”
Jack smiled brightly, stepping around the desk and holding out his hand for Eren. “It’s nice to meet you, Eren. I’m Jack, as Lathe said.”

Eren watched him hold his hand out. He swallowed hard before reaching a shaking hand out as well. Blake whined and pawed at Eren’s legs, succeeding in diverting Eren’s attention from Jack back to his dog.

Jack’s features softened, letting Eren go and gesturing for them to walk with him further into the store. “The fitting rooms are further in the back, if you’d follow me.”

Eren nodded and followed slowly. He reached down to pet Blake to calm his nerves as they got to the fitting rooms in the back of the store. What is he gonna do? Wait… Does he need to touch me? Does he need to see me without clothes on?... shit...

Jack led them into a side room, guiding Eren to stand in the centre. He walked over to a small desk and picked up a clipboard and pencil in one hand, a measuring tape in the other. He wrote down Eren’s name at the top, then walked over to Eren with the tape. “You don’t have to take anything off, Eren, and this won’t take too long.” He watched Eren shift, wary of him. He glanced over to Lathe. I know he knows how this goes… “If you want, I could have Lathe do it if it would make you feel better.”

Eren swallowed hard, his gaze focusing back on Blake, as he tried to calm himself down. He nodded at his statement. “P-please.” Eren stuttered and he had a hint of fear in his eyes as he looked over to Lathe. Please don’t be mad at me...

Lathe nodded and took the measuring tape from Jack, giving Eren a smile. “It’s fine, don’t worry yourself.” He looked to Jack. “What first?”

It wasn’t even ten minutes before the small chart on Jack’s clipboard was filled out, him going out on the floor to see if there was something in Eren’s size, leaving Lathe and Eren to debate what color tie and pocket square would look best with a dark green dress shirt.

Eren looked over the ties and pocket squares… “What about the light blue?” Eren asked quietly as he looked up to Lathe, Blake sitting down in between them. I kinda like that… Blue and green… those are my favorite colors.

Lathe tapped a darker shade with his nail. “If it’s too light it won’t look as nice, but I like the idea of a blue. What about this one?”

Eren looked at the sapphire blue Lathe was pointing too. That would look good with an emerald green shirt.… “Is emerald green considered dark?” Eren asked quietly as he looked at the satin tie.

“I would say so. It would certainly go with a tie this color. We’ll see what they have that’s closest to emerald. Would you want your pocket square blue too, or would you want it to match your shirt?”

“Blue… I like this blue,” Eren said as he carefully picked up the nice tie. It would look really nice with black…oh… I don’t have any shoes either.. Shit. Eren glanced around to see that this store did infact sell dress shoes in a multitude of different colors and styles.

Lathe followed Eren’s line of sight. “We'll get you shoes too, don't worry.” He stepped to their right, picking up a pocket square the same shade of blue. He glanced up as Jack approached them.

“I have a suit waiting in the back for whenever you're ready to try it on, Eren. But take your time.” He smiled warmly.

Eren looked up and over to Lathe. Should I go put it on? Or…?

Lathe gently nudged Eren’s elbow, handing him the handkerchief. “Come on, let’s see how it looks.” This is going to look amazing!

Eren nodded, taking the sapphire cloth from him. He felt awkward as he stepped out of the changing room a few minutes later. He had a heavy blush on his face. “Umm…. Dad? I-I don’t know how to… To tie a tie.”

Lathe gave him a soft smile, chuckling. “I should’ve figured. Here.” Lathe stepped forward, taking the tie from him and throwing it around his neck, being careful not to tie it too tightly. “That okay?”

Eren watched him tie it with fascination. “Um… Y-yeah… I think so?” Eren was confused on how everything should go and had put the pocket square in oddly. This is so embarrassing… I’ve never worn anything like this at all...
Lathe rolled his eyes good-naturedly, clarifying. “I mean, it isn't choking you or anything, is it? It shouldn't be too tight.” He reached for the pocket square, tugging it out and folding it neatly, tucking it back into his jacket. There.

“No, it’s not tight.” Eren told him, not really knowing where to put his hands, so he let them stay at his sides. What do I do with this? Where do my hands go?

“I really do like this color blue with the green shirt.” Lathe looked to Eren’s hands, picking up his wrist and tapping it, thinking. “Right. Cuff links. You need a pair of those. Something silver-coloured would go well.”

Jack quietly approached, seeing Eren had come out of the changing room. “Does everything fit alright? Nothing too tight or too loose? Anything you want to change, as in color or anything?”

Eren shook his head. “At least… I think everything fits… I’m not really sure….” Eren looked down, feeling ashamed that he didn't even know how clothes were supposed to really fit him anymore. I really don’t know...

Hey now, none of that. “Here, first try just walking in a circle around this room a few times, and stop if anything pinches.” Lathe let his arm go, letting Eren walk.

Jack followed Eren’s movements, looking down to his socked feet. His brow furrowed. “The pants are an inch or two too long. You’d end up tripping after a while.”

Eren walked a bit more before he stopped. “Umm… Should I stop now? Or should I keep walking?” He reached a hand to rub the back of his neck, still completely embarrassed about this.

“You can stop. Be completely honest, does anything feel weird? Can you not bend your knees comfortably or without meeting resistance, is your shirt too loose anywhere…?”

“It feels weird where I have my shirt tucked in… ‘Cause I feel like I need to tuck a lot of it in.” Eren unbuttoned the jacket to show just how skinny his hips were compared to his broad shoulders. God, I’m still a fucking twig. His eyes darkened a bit at the thought. Even after gaining a lot...
Jack simply nodded in understanding, scrutinising the excess fabric. “It’s too wide at the waist; an easy fix. If that’s the only thing you’re having trouble with, you can change out of it, I’ll make the alterations, and we’ll try it one more time, okay?”

Eren nodded, feeling Blake grab his hands as it started to shake. He bent down easily and pet Blake between the ears. I need to calm down... Blake’s worrying.

Lathe went to untie Eren’s tie, resting a hand on his arm and gently pushing him back to the changing room. When Eren had finished changing back he handed the shirt and pants to Jack, the jacket and tie draped over his arm as they looked at cuff links, Eren deciding on a circular silver-coloured pair, one with an E etched into it, the other etched with a Y. They walked back to the change rooms where Jack waited with the altered garments, sending Eren back off to change again, Lathe not really needing to retie his tie.

Eren came out of the room a minute later with the altered clothing looking much better on him. “Does... Does this look better?” Eren stuttered as he saw the two waiting for him to exit the room. Blake whined a little and went to sit next to him.

Lathe smiled brightly. “You look great, Eren!” He looked to his feet. “But I don't think they’d let you go to prom with just socks on.” Pretty sure that’s against some dress code.

Eren looked down at his feet. “...uh... Yeah... I need shoes.” Eren said sheepishly and looked down to hide his flushed face at his statement.

Jack smiled at Lathe’s remark, his voice warm. “Don’t worry, we’ll get you shoes. You can leave the suit on for this, just follow me.”

Eren swallowed hard and followed Jack, Blake following closely at his heels. Is he gonna question my feet? I’ve been hiding them in Lathe’s boots for so long.

Jack led Eren to a small stool, having him sit and place his foot on a measuring plate. “Alright, these are the kind of socks you’d wear with dress shoes, which is good. You’re around a five and a half. Is there a specific style you’d want to look for, or would you let me see if I can find you something you’d like?”

Eren thought about it for a second. “Um...do you have any... That are a metal cap-toe...?” Eren asked and looked up to meet Jack’s gaze with hopeful eyes.
Jack grinned. “Of course. Silver-coloured, I'm guessing?” He watched as Eren nodded, leaving for a moment and returning with a pair of shining black shoes, helping him fit them on and lace them up. “Stand up, walk around a bit. Tell me if they feel too loose or tight, or odd at all.”

Eren got up and he walked around raising on of his feet in pain. “That hurt.” Eren said and furrowed his brow before walking back over to take them off. “They hurt a lot.” His eyes clouded with disappointment as he sat down to relieve himself of the pain.

Lathe stopped Jack after he took them off, about to take them away. “Can I see that?” He inspected the inside, a thought coming to mind. He tapped the inside bridge. “The shoes he normally wears have arches in them, and these are rather flat. Do you either have something that already has arches in them or inserts he could use?”

Jack nodded, disappearing for a moment before reappearing with a small package, slipping supports into the shoes before re-lacing them on Eren’s feet. “Now try that.”

Eren stood back up and smiled. They feel much better. He took a few more steps and was happy when he didn’t feel anymore pain in his feet as he walked. “They feel a lot better, thank you.” Eren said, a smile on his face, but it didn’t follow to his eyes. But Jack wouldn’t be able to tell the difference.

Lathe noticed, sending him a reassuring smile, placing a hand on his shoulder as he sat back down to take them off. It’s alright. We’re almost done.

“Okay, if that’s everything you're looking for, I'll take these shoes up to the front, Eren, you can change out of the suit and I'll have it and everything else ready for you soon, okay?”

Eren nodded and he took the shoes off, giving them to Jack before going off with Blake to go get changed.

Jack looked to Lathe with a raised eyebrow, grinning. “I didn't know you had a son. You’ve never mentioned him before.” He calls you Dad all the time. How could you never talk about him at least once?

Lathe rubbed the back of his neck and shrugged, following Jack up to the front desk. “Well, I adopted him in November, and I haven't been in for a while, so…”
Jack beamed at him, writing out a receipt on his clipboard, passing it and a pen to Lathe to sign. “That’s wonderful! I wish you’d have come around and told me sooner. But that’s great! I’ll go grab his things.” Jack walked off to the back, Eren returning with Blake and Jack in tow, who carried the suit in a zippered garment sleeve, handing it to Lathe and taking a cheque from him in return. “Thank you so much.” He turned to Eren. “I hope you enjoy prom, Eren.”

Eren smiled. “Thank you very much.” Eren followed Lathe out of the store and towards the car. “So… Why did my feet hurt the first time I tried the shoes?” Eren asked him, not having heard their conversation before.

Lathe held the shoebox under his left arm, fishing for his keys, speaking. “My old boots which you have claimed as your own have arches built into them for support. When you tried on the shoes the first time, they had next to no arch. Jack put in supports, which you need, and voila! Nicely-fitting shoes. And the first pair, too. That’s luck right there.” Metal cap-toe, too. I'm rubbing off on you too much. Lathe found the keys in his pocket, his wallet hitting the sidewalk with a dull thunk, a receipt fluttering out from it in the breeze. Dammit. “Eren, catch that paper, can you?” Lathe unlocked the car, bending down to pick up the leather wallet.

Eren went after the fluttering piece of paper, finally catching it after a few moments, his eyes scanning over it. His eyes widened as he saw the huge figure at the bottom of the sheet. “D-Dad…? D-did you… J-just pay $2,000 f-for my tux?” Eren asked with wide eyes. Shit! That’s so expensive, Lathe! What the hell! I didn’t need you to break the bank for this! I would’ve been fine with something much cheaper and simpler than this! This is too much! Eren looked down at the paper with worried eyes. “That’s too much Dad…” Eren trailed off with a saddened look in his eyes. “... You didn’t need to spend that much!”

Lathe sighed, opening the trunk and carefully draping the suit in the back, setting inside the shoes and shutting it. I knew he’d end up asking sooner or later. He turned to Eren, holding out his hand for the paper, a soft look in his eyes. “Here, let me have that. Get in the car, I’ve got a thing to explain.”

Eren looked down and gave him the paper before getting into the car silently with Blake. You didn’t need to do that Dad… “I don’t deserve something that expensive Dad…” Eren thought about how much the purchase would put Lathe under, and he felt his chest tighten up a bit at the thought, Blake instantly reacting to try and calm him down. I don’t deserve that...

Lathe slid into the driver’s seat, shutting the door and leaning back, a thoughtful look on his face. He was silent for a moment. “I don’t know what it was. I really don’t. But my mother was absolutely terrified that one day she would run out of money. I know how lots of people have that kind of concern, it’s something you’re supposed to worry about and keep in mind, but this was an extreme fear. She ended up scaring my dad into the same mentality as hers. Literally, if it didn't do anything to keep us alive, we didn't get it. I had... what, three outfits during grade school? Four maybe? There was absolutely nothing superfluous in the house. No TV in the tiny apartment we had. Very simple meals. No decorations. And both of my parents had full-time jobs too! They hoarded every penny they could.” His eyes flickered with sadness. Sometimes I wonder if mom ever saw me as something other than another unnecessary expense. “It finally clicked when I was about ten that if I wanted anything, I would have to get it myself. I wasn't going to go to the high school I wanted unless I got a full scholarship, so I did everything I could to. And I did, somehow. I filled all my free time with books from the library, because reading was the only thing to do where I lived that was free.” Lathe’s face fell. “When I was about sixteen, my dad went to sleep one night and didn't wake up. None of the doctors knew why. He wasn't seriously old or anything... But it was the stress. The stress my mum put on him. I know it. ...when I was eighteen, I had a full scholarship to a state university, thank god, and barely a week after I told mum I was thinking about becoming a doctor she had a heart attack. Probably thinking about the cost of medical school.” Lathe’s face darkened. “No family was left other than me, so I got everything. I was barely a teenager, and Eren, with the money they had stashed away I could have done absolutely nothing for the rest of my life and had plenty to spare. I don't know what the hell she was scared of. But I didn't know what to do with it. I just… I just went ahead with medical school, became a general surgeon, decided teaching was better, got a house… and just left most of the money alone. I guess…” Lathe sighed, dropping his head. “I guess I'm trying to make sure you don't go through what I did. I had nothing, really... and I guess I just want you to have everything. I... I just want you to be happy and have nice things.” Like I didn't...

Eren let a single tear fall down as he listened to Lathe’s story. “I-I’m Sorry…” He fell silent after that, not facing the other as he tried to comprehend his words, his shaking hand slowly petting Blake. He had it worse than me... Dad at least got me things to get me out of his hair...

Lathe looked over to him and smiled, his eyes glassy. “Thanks… it’s alright.” He rested his hand on his arm. “I guess I just feel I need to spoil you with stuff. But you don't have to worry about me, or money, really. I'm not that reckless.” He grinned, starting the car. “It’s been a long day. Let’s get home, alright?”

Eren nodded. He was quiet the whole trip, which was unusual for him, he didn’t look up at all either. He kept his focus on Blake, and his shaking hands petting him too to try and relax before Lathe noticed how much he was freaking out internally. I don’t deserve something that expensive though... At all...

Lathe glanced over, sensing Eren’s internal turmoil. He sighed, smiling softly. “Come on, aren't I allowed to spoil my own son?” Chill, Eren. I wanted to.

“But... But...” Eren shot his head up hearing Lathe’s words before looking back down and speaking so softly, Lathe almost didn’t hear him. “I don’t deserve something like that.” His hands were still shaking as he pet Blake, who had moved into his lap to calm him down.
Naw. “Like hell you don’t. Eren, if anything, it isn't enough. You’re immensely kind and talented and brilliant, and I couldn't have asked for anyone better to call my son. Just enjoy it.” Just go with it.

Eren nodded, waiting for them to get home, in relative silence until one of his favorite songs came on and he was softly singing along, seemingly back to normal; however, his hands never did stop shaking.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren smiled and blushed a bit. “Really? Does my hair look okay?” Eren asked trying to flatten the brown locks which never seemed to comply. Come on, work with me hair... Oh, who am I kidding? I’m just glad I don’t have anything sticking straight up today... God that's always embarrassing.

Lathe rolled his eyes, chuckling. “Your hair looks fabulous, now quit it or you'll mess it up.” He gently swatted at Eren’s hands. “You have your phone in your pocket, your wallet if you need it… Unless you want a watch I'd say you're good.” Your phone could function as a clock though so it's a trivial matter.

Eren thought about a watch for a second, looking to Lathe and he was instantly reminded of the straps Grisha used on his wrists. His eyes flashed with fear for a split second before he backed away, hurriedly shaking his head and holding his wrist, rubbing at it as if he had just gotten free of something too tight on his wrists.

Lathe’s eyes widened a fraction, holding up his hands in surrender, staying put. “Okay, you don't need to have one, just thought I'd offer.” He grinned as the doorbell rang. “I think that’s for you.” Be glad I didn't sign up to chaperone this year.

Eren nodded, his focus moving towards the door. “Okay… Umm… Well, I’m going to let him in… Don’t somehow pull out a shotgun between now and then. Please.” Eren scampered off to open the door. I think he was joking about that... But I’m not completely sure.
Levi stood tall in the front door, dressed in a black suit with a white dress shirt, a silver tie and pocket square faintly reflecting the light from inside. He looked up to Eren, a red rose affixed to his lapel and another in his hand, trying not to let his jaw hit the floor. Holy fuck is he handsome. He smiled, taking a small step forward. “Eren, you look… Amazing.” Hot damn.

Eren’s eyes widened as they landed on Levi. Holy shit… He’s fucking hot… God, can I take his clothes off right now? Please? “You don’t look too bad yourself.” Eren purred with a smile on his face as he stepped forward to kiss Levi’s cheek, a blush on his face as he pulled back and pulled Levi inside the house.

Levi blushed, following Eren into the house, intent on claiming his lips when a flash of silver stopped him dead in his tracks.

“Now I don’t think I have to go through the entire speech as is traditionally given, but I will let you know that as long as he’s home by one, you're fine, and if he comes back alone and crying I will kill you.”

“DAD! Are you serious right now? I thought I told you no shotgun spiel!?” Eren said with exasperation, finding his head in his hand quickly, the other hand on his hip. I can’t believe I put up with his antics.

Lathe quirked his eyebrow, holding out the wide-bladed, hooked sword for him to see. “What? You said I couldn't use a gun, so I got out the sword instead!” Technically I did nothing wrong.

“Was it necessary to threaten him?” Eren asked with a twitching eyebrow, quickly getting irritated by Lathe’s banter. I am so done with you. He sighed looking back over to Levi. “He doesn’t mean it, don't worry.” He stepped closer and gave him a soft kiss on lips.

Levi gently kissed him back, pulling back after a moment, surprisingly unfazed by Lathe’s antics. “It’s Lathe. I kinda expected something like that.” Could see that coming a mile away. He held out the small box in his hand, a red boutonnière resting inside. “I have something for you.”

Eren blushed as he looked at the box. “I swear to God if this is a ring, I will murder you myself.” Eren joked before he opened it and gasped softly when he saw the beautiful rose within. This is beautiful.

Levi smiled, carefully picking it up and handing Eren the box so he could affix it to his suit jacket, pinning it in place. “Now we match.” I like that.

Eren smiled and turned to Lathe once it was securely fastened to his jacket. “Alright, you can take all the pictures you want, so are we going to be on the stairs? Here? Outside?” Eren asked, a hand snaking down to intertwine with Levi’s. I promised him he could take a bunch.

Lathe grinned, leaning the sword against the wall and producing a camera out of nowhere. “Those are all good ideas, but let’s get my one really good idea out of the way and have you two at the piano.” That’d be adorable.

After an absurd number of pictures, Levi found himself in the driver’s seat of the Thunderbird, and in the midst of prom. The music is really fucking loud. But it’s okay to dance to, and Eren’s been practically grinding against me this entire time, so I really can’t complain. It’s a good thing Blake stayed home, he’d be going nuts with everybody here… Well, going nuts. I kinda wish they did something more with the food… Lathe could have done a better job running the catering. But then again, Eren is gorgeous as fuck and grinding against me for the seventh song in a row, so again. Can’t complain. Levi looked up as a slow song began to play, people filtering off of the dance floor and leaving the couples to dance. He watched as Eren turned to face him, holding out his hand, the ghost of a smile on his lips. “May I have this dance?”

Eren blushed furiously. Slowly reaching out to take his hand, Eren stepped closer. “I hope you know how to do a proper Waltz.” Eren moved to put his other hand at Levi’s shoulder just as Levi moved a hand to his waist. So, waltzing… Hmmm, can he do it? I’ll let him lead.

Levi nodded, stepping forward and to the side, slightly surprised as Eren smoothly stepped back with him. He knows how this goes, not being the lead? Hm. Levi slowly moved them around the floor, pulling Eren closely against him. His voice was quiet, only Eren able to hear him. “You’re really handsome, you know that?”

Eren’s face flushed a deep shade of red, all the way to his ears. “Really?” He asked softly as the two of them swayed in time with each other. I like dancing with him, it’s comfortable.

“How the hell did I get so lucky?” Levi smirked, pulling their chests flush, studying Eren’s viridian eyes.

Eren smiled wide, happy they were dancing together for the rest of the song. “So we have to stay for the after party?” Eren asked with a seductive purr as he wrapped his arms around Levi’s neck. Everyone had started to pour onto the dance floor after the slow song ended.
Levi suppressed a shiver, his arm tightening around Eren’s waist. “I wouldn't say that…”

_Something tells me I don't want to._

“So then we could go after?” Eren asked, his lips brushing over Levi’s ear gently as he slowly ground against Levi. The music had returned to its blaringly loud volume and the body mass of grinding had formed again. _I want to get you out of those clothes._

Levi moved against Eren, smirking, a glint in his eye. _I do like that suit on you… but it might look even better on the floor._ His voice dropped an octave. “I think I like that idea.”

Eren smirked. “Good boy.” Eren praised as he kissed his cheek and proceeded to focus on grinding against Levi even more, no one caring that Eren’s ass was against Levi’s crotch. _Hmmm, only a little longer, then we can go._

The rest of the night passed in a flurry of loud pop songs and explicit dance moves, and before Levi knew it he and Eren were stumbling out of the gymnasium and towards the parking lot, struggling to keep their hands to themselves as Levi drove them quickly home, opening the front door and pinning Eren against it the second they were inside, claiming his lips and demanding entry, pressing against him. _I want you I've wanted you all night … I need you now._

Eren opened his mouth instantly, groaning as his tongue slipped against Levi’s. _Fuck… It’s so warm…_ Eren was already seductively picking up his left leg to wrap around Levi’s torso. _I’m going to make him go wild tonight._ His hands traced over Levi’s chiseled chest. _So much clothing… We should go downstairs… but we’ll need clothes for tomorrow morning… Shit._ Eren pulled back, panting to catch his breath. “Levi… We need clothes for tomorrow… But we can’t wake Lathe up…” Eren leaned his head down a bit to nip at Levi’s left ear. _How we gonna work that out?_

Levi thought for a moment, placing his hands on Eren’s shoulders, reluctant to break away from him, if just for a minute. His voice was quiet. “Give me a second. I’ll grab us both something and try to be quiet about it.” He gave Eren one last kiss before pulling back and initiating stealth mode, sneaking up the stairs, close to the walls, keeping an ear out if Lathe shifted, ducking into their room and snatching up sweatpants, boxers and tank tops for the both of them before descending the steps, sighing in relief as he hit the bottom step. He crossed the scripting room quickly, seeing Eren had already gone downstairs, turning the corner and dropping their clothes on the table, kicking off his shoes and pulling Eren into a heated kiss, backing him up to the bed. _Now…_

Eren let himself be led to the bed and fell back on it with Levi on top of him. He had kicked off his shoes and socks, unbuttoning a few buttons as well as loosening his tie to make himself even more seductive. His tongue tangled with Levi’s as his arms wrapped around his broad shoulders.
Levi’s hands moved over Eren’s chest, immediately working to undo the buttons of his jacket and unhook his cuff links, pulling it from his shoulders and tossing it with a bit of care off the bed, immediately going back to attack his neck, sucking hard at the skin of his neck he could reach, fumbling to undo his tie. I don’t want to tear any of this but I want it all off now.

Eren noticed his fumbling and reached to get it loose enough for them to pull the tie off over his head and discard it along with his jacket. You’re so hot. Eren’s eyes were hooded as he slowly lifted himself up off the mattress to kiss the corner of Levi’s mouth again before moving to stake his own claim on Levi’s lips. So fucking hot.

Levi moaned into the kiss, shrugging off his jacket and tossing it aside, unbuttoning Eren’s shirt and throwing that over the edge of the bed as well, his tongue coiling around Eren’s. Why the hell are there so many clothes they need to get the fuck out.

Eren smirked at Levi’s persistence in getting his clothes off. He groaned into the kiss as Levi’s hands grazed one of his nipples. Fuck I’m sensitive. Eren reached up, making quick work of Levi’s tie, and moving onto his shirt, fumbling with a few of the buttons as Levi trailed over sensitive spots all over him. Fuck… He knows where it feels good.

Levi slid quickly out of his dress shirt, throwing it behind him and attacking Eren’s chest with his mouth, his hands running over his sides, one drifting to toy with the button of his dress pants, unbuttoning it and pulling down the zipper teasingly slowly.

Eren whined impatiently as his body was played with. “Levi… Please, I want you.” Eren told him, reaching down to palm Levi’s growing erection before making quick work of Levi’s button and zipper.

Levi moaned against his chest, tugging Eren’s pants and boxers over his hips, letting him kick them off, one hand dragging a strip from the base of his throbbing length to the tip, thinking for a moment. …should I? He decided, kissing his way down Eren’s neck, his stomach, shoving down every unsure thought as he licked a stripe up Eren’s length, his tongue playing with the slit. It’s time I return the favor.

Eren head shot back into the mattress. “Ahh… Levi… You… You don’t… Haa… Have to…” Eren moaned out to him, his breath starting to hitch as his both hands let their fingers tangle in his inky locks… It feels good… But I should be the one… “I… Haa… Should… Be… Fuck… The one… Who… Does that…” Eren moaned out, digging his heels into the mattress as he spread his legs to give Levi more access. Fuck… He’s just toying with me… And it feels fucking amazing…
Levi looked up to him with hooded eyes, smirking, his voice deep and smooth. “Do you want me to stop?” His tongue circled his tip teasingly. I want to.

Eren let out a string of moans, hands rifling through Levi’s hair. “N-no… D-don’t stop.” Eren finally managed to moan out. Fuck it feels good… I’ve never been on the receiving end for one of these... Eren continued to let out strings of moans whenever Levi’s tongue found an especially sensitive spot. Holy fuck… It feels so fucking good.

Levi suckled on his tip before beginning to slowly bob his head, taking in more of his length and pumping the base with his hand. I can’t get as much as he can, I’d choke... He flattened his tongue against the bottom of his length, careful not to let his teeth scrape against him.

Eren was a moaning mess. “Levi... Haa... Fuck... Feels... Good...” Eren moaned out more and more, his body jerking when Levi sucked hard enough to get a good reaction out of him, his left hand had moved down from Levi’s hair and to the sheets below them in a white-knuckle grip. Shit.... Levi’s pretty good at this...

Levi sucked hard on his length, twisting his hand and letting his tongue swirl around his tip, teasing his slit. He bobbed his head faster, his hand putting more pressure near the base of his length. His other hand held Eren’s hips in place, keeping him from bucking up. He moaned as Eren tugged at his dark hair.

“Holy Fuck… Levi... Haa... Levi... Please... Can I?” Eren asked quietly. I’m gonna cum... I don’t want you to choke.

Levi looked up to him with shaded eyes, suckling on his tip harder in answer.

Eren felt his coil snap as Levi sucked even harder. His body curled up around Levi’s head as he cried out in bliss. Holy fuck! That was fucking amazing! Eren continued to fill Levi’s mouth with his cum. “Fuck... Levi...” Eren cried out as Levi sucked him dry.

Levi quickly swallowed Eren’s load, not letting any escape. Salty... It doesn’t taste too weird... I kinda like it. Levi pulled up from Eren’s length with a seductive ‘pop’ and leaned up to kiss Eren heatedly, kicking off his pants and boxers, his cock straining against the front. His hands wandered up Eren’s chest, pushing him gently onto his back. He broke away for an instant to fish in the shoebox on the nearby shelf, immediately coming back to attack Eren’s adam’s apple, leaving small bites up and down his neck. Mine.
Eren moaned in bliss, his own length starting to harden all over again. “Levi… Haa… Don’t tease me… Please…” He begged to him, shuffling a little under him and moaning louder when their lengths brushed against each other. “Levi… You’re so big…” He moved a hand to ruffle through Levi’s dark locks, his eyes hooded as he watched Levi move over him. Fuck, I can’t believe he just did that...

Levi smirked, slowing to press butterfly kisses over his collarbone as he snapped open a small tube of lube, coating his fingers and setting it aside. His hand drifted down to Eren’s entrance and a finger pressed past the ring of muscle.

Eren cried out in pure bliss as he was stretched open. One hand tugging gently as his noir locks. “Levi… More… I want more…” He moved his head so that he was kissing Levi’s jawline and nipping at it gently, playfully. I want your everything... I want you... I want you now.... But what if I lose you?

Levi pressed in a second finger, gently scissoring him and searching for his prostate. He quietly moaned, nibbling at the skin under Eren’s ear. Don't worry, you'll get more.

Eren moaned, his hips moving against Levi’s fingers in want. Shit... They feel good. “Levi… Mhm… I need more.” Eren begged and tugged at his hair a little harder. Fuck… I don’t know what I’m going to do with him gone. Eren took in a deep ragged breath, trying desperately not to cry at this point in time.

Levi withdrew his fingers, reaching again for the small black tube, pouring some into his hand and tossing it aside, slicking himself up as he kissed over to Eren’s lips, his touches feather-light. He moved to align himself with Eren, kissing him deeply as he slowly pushed forward, burying himself to the hilt inside of Eren, groaning into his mouth. So tight... you feel so wonderful...

Eren gasped as he felt Levi enter him, pulling back a bit from Levi’s kiss. No condom?.... God he feels so warm. “L-Levi!” Eren moaned as he thrusted into him all the way to the hilt. “Levi… huh… You feel…. So… so warm…” Eren’s breathy moans took over the room as he slowly wrapped his legs around Levi’s waist, pushing him in further.

Levi moved to suckle on Eren’s adam’s apple, building a deep, steady rhythm, one hand running over Eren’s chest, the other tangling in his hair.

Eren groaned as Levi started to thrust in him. “Levi… Ha… Harder… Give me everything!” Eren begged as he writhed under his touch. Everything feels so good. His length jolted as Levi sucked a bit too hard at his adam’s apple, already starting to leave a bruise, and his suckling just furthered it. Eren’s wanton cries of pleasure rang throughout the whole room. I can’t believe we’ve never woken Lathe up...

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe’s eyes cracked open with a loud sound from downstairs, immediately shutting them and flushing a bright scarlet as he noted the time. It’s the middle of the fucking night. After prom. And Eren doesn’t exactly sound like he’s in pain. Lathe covered his face with his hands, knowing no amount of listening to loud music with earbuds would drown out the sound, resigned to a night without sleep. At least he didn’t come home alone and crying.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren’s voice rang in Levi’s ears, and Levi pounded hard into Eren, leaving bitemark after bruise around his neck, feeling his coil tightening in the pit of his stomach. You feel so damn perfect, my God...

Eren moved his hands to rest on Levi’s chest, pushing him back a little. “Not yet...” Eren moved Levi back, pushing him up so he was sitting back on his heels, moving to his side and stretching a leg over Levi’s chest, happy that he got the message when he felt strong hands grab onto his thigh and felt Levi ram into him… Straight into his prostate. Eren let out a scream of pleasure in response to his actions, his body on display for Levi as he shook from the pleasure. Holy fuck.... This is amazing! “Oh my god! Levi! Right.... Uhh... There!” Eren cried out in bliss as Levi went to town on him.

Levi let his eyes rake over Eren as he pounded into him, his face flushed as he watched Eren writhe under him with hooded eyes. He moaned as he felt that same pressure building inside of him. “E- Eren... I... Hnn, can’t...” Holy shit, Eren...

Eren cried out Levi’s name as his coil quickly snapped and he found himself spasming under Levi as he was pounded continuously. “FUCK!” Eren shouted loudly, his voice traveling throughout the room and the rest of the house. Shit, so good! Levi don’t stop! Eren moaned louder, his body tightening against Levi as his thrusts became quicker, harder and more erratic. “Cum inside me… Levi... Fill me up! ” He cried out, reaching an hand to touch his pecs. So hot... I love it!

Levi felt his own coil instantly snap, moaning loudly as he felt Eren milking him dry. Oh my god, that voice… Damn… Levi pulled out of Eren, lowering his leg and diving down to kiss him fervently, his hands running over every curve and line of his body. You feel so amazing and you sound wonderful and you're mine.

Eren panted for a few seconds before his lips were smashed against Levi’s. Holy shit… I think I could go another fucking round… My hardon’s not going down! Eren moaned and shifted to cup Levi’s face with both hands as he opened his mouth to let him in. Indulge me please . Eren moved to raise his hips against Levi’s showing off his painful erection. Fix it… Please.

Again? Levi smirked into the kiss, coiling his tongue around Eren’s. Not that I'm complaining. Levi shifted, bringing Eren with him close to the edge of the bed, suddenly moving to step down onto the floor, breaking their heated kiss and flipping Eren over to stand between his legs, kissing up his spine to nibble at the back of his neck, his hands running over his sides. He suckled on the skin of his shoulder blade as he lined himself up with Eren’s entrance, suddenly thrusting forward to the hilt.

Eren gave a sharp cry in complete bliss. HOLY SHIT! “Fuck! Levi… Hnn… There… Give me everything… I want it… Hard… Fast… Deep.” Eren’s seductive voice floated around the room, intertwined with moans. His hooded eyes looking over his shoulder to see Levi’s response. Please… I want you to fuck me...

Levi groaned at his words, biting into his neck, his grip tight on Eren’s waist as his pace picking up as he rammed deeply into Eren, looking up to meet his hooded eyes with his own, full of lust. Mine.

Eren's body pressed back against Levi, strings of cries, moans, and even the occasional scream left Eren’s swollen lips. “Fuck! Levi! Fuck… Fuck me… Please.” Eren begged, his right arm reaching around to pull Levi’s head to his neck, moving his own to the side giving him unrestricted access. Fuck me please! I can’t take it much longer! Eren could already feel his coil beginning to tighten in the depths of his abdomen.

Levi took advantage of the skin offered to him, suckling hard on the soft flesh, his thrusts becoming erratic as he aimed for Eren’s prostate, groaning loudly as Eren moaned in his ear. He felt the pressure build in the pit of his stomach, but he refused to let himself go just yet. His mouth wandered up to Eren’s ear, his voice deep and even. “Eren… cum for me.”

Eren’s eyes widened in an instant as he let out a loud scream of bliss, his voice ranging through three octaves in one go, his ass tightening around Levi with no remorse as his whole body shook, his cum shooting to cover his stomach with pearly white. Eren’s body almost crumpled from the state of his blissful high after his orgasm. Holy shit… Best sex… ever. Eren was too weak to keep himself up, so he sunk down into the mattress, thankful Levi’s grip on him was strong as his knees gave out.

Lathe winced in embarrassment as he heard Eren scream, but in the moments after, hearing nothing else, he sighed in relief, his hands falling from his red face. Thank God, they’re finally done! Maybe I can finally get some sleep. Hoping those sounds don’t haunt me. Lathe shifted to his side, only to throw his pillow across the room as he heard another cry. Are you serious?!

Levi felt his own coil snap, moaning into Eren’s shoulder as he spilled into him. My god, so good… He pulled out of Eren, leaning up to kiss him before pressing butterfly kisses down his neck, his shoulders, his back, kneeling between his legs and pulling Eren’s asscheeks apart, leaning forward and letting his tongue dart out, tracing the red entrance and pushing past the muscle.

Eren let out a sharp cry in bliss. “Levi…” Eren whined as Levi’s tongue entered him. “Levi, no more…” Eren begged quietly. I’m so tired… That felt great… But I can’t get hard again...

I know you can't handle much more... but I won't be too long. Levi pressed on, his tongue able to go further into Eren as he was already so loose, not caring that he could taste himself as he licked up his soft walls.

Eren let out a series of soft whimpers as he gripped the sheets below him. His whole body shaking all over again with the repercussions of his multiple orgasms. “Levi…” Eren still whined his name and he struggled to reach a hand to his ass, to shoo Levi away from it. No more… Levi...

Levi decided to have mercy, pulling himself away from Eren’s hole and kissing lightly up his back again, turning him over and shifting them both back fully onto the bed, cupping his cheeks and kissing him passionately. He moved to lay down next to Eren, their legs tangled together. I love you.

Eren sighed contentedly as he snuggled up to him, his body still shaking every now and then from the aftershocks of his massive orgasm. Fuck, I can still feel it. He slowly reached for multiple blankets to cover their naked bodies, his fingers already starting to get cold without warmth surrounding him in the basement. Hmm, thank Satan you’re warm. It wasn’t long until Eren was deep asleep curled up next to Levi.

Levi wrapped his arms protectively around Eren, pulling him close and tucking his head under his chin, relaxing as he felt Eren’s breath even out. He let his eyes flutter shut, surrendering to sleep. I really do.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

So summer’s been going pretty well so far. Dad got Levi and I the books we needed to read for summer… Yeah, I’ve had them done for three weeks already and Levi’s just finishing up the last one. But I guess that’s to be expected since he’s completely packed for our two week… Vacation? I think that’s the right word… I’ve never been on one, I don’t know what it will be like, but we’re going to LA. Which means we need to get there by plane. Eren sighed at the thought of being dragged onto a plane for the second time in his life. I’ll be completely honest… I am not looking forward to that. I hate airplanes. They remind me about the incident… I didn’t like that we had to move… And I did not like being forced onto that metal death trap! Dad’s been trying to calm me down for days saying that it’s not that bad… But we can’t drive there, we don’t have a big enough car for the four of us to safely drive there. Yes… I’m counting Blake because apparently he gets a seat as well on the plane. Eren folded up another tank top, a few shorts and some t-shirts. New clothes… Yeah that was a fun time. As soon as Nate had called saying he had the last two weeks in July to show us around, get a flight, Dad went nuts. He took us out shoe shopping, clothes shopping, and we even went out and got my violin bow re-haired….That reminds me, I gotta ask Dad how the packing process for that goes. Eren looked down at his suitcase filled with shorts, his usual ass-hugging jeans, a bunch of tank tops and t-shirts, boxers and his socks. Oh yeah, twelve pairs of socks for the win! No one will deny me the pleasure of my socks! He made sure that he had enough clothes for a two weeks, and a little more as per Lathe’s instructions. I’m really excited to go… But I have no idea what to expect… Like at all. What are the people gonna be like? Is Nate gonna take us to the zoo? Are people gonna recognize me? Oh god, I hope not… That would be so embarrassing, especially if I’m having a panic attack on the fucking plane… Shit. I don’t want to go, but I really want to go see Nate again! Fuck it! I’ll be fine tomorrow, I’ll be able to sit next to Blake without a problem… Hopefully.

Lathe went over a checklist of things to do in his head, rifling through the fridge for anything that would spoil while they were gone. I don’t want to come home to the smell of rotten eggs. Two weeks in LA… That’s great! How the whole ‘flying in on a plane’ thing will go down is really the only thing I’m worried about… Well, not the only thing. But I just need to make sure Eren doesn’t totally freak out on the plane. I called the airline and asked about Blake, and since we’re boarding before everyone else with the people who need special assistance, we’re going to sit together near the front. That’s guaranteed. I’ll make sure we have aspirin, and the flight’s not long enough to give him anything to have him sleep… I never understood how people could sleep on airplanes… besides the point. I guess we’ll just make sure he has lots of music or a pen and paper if he wants to try and draw or compose something… I dunno. And… I’m just kinda worried about wasting our welcome with Nate. He’s offered to just let us crash at his place, which is really nice of him, but two weeks is a long time. I just don’t want us to be a burden. …They better be finished packing their stuff. I took them out a little bit ago and they both got a bunch of new clothes and shoes for the trip.
Eren still hasn't stopped living in my old boots though... Like he doesn't even bother really taking them off in the house sometimes. He really likes them. But he's got a bunch of other shoes now too, which he kinda needed, so I'm hoping he wears the others at least once. But yeah those two better be packed. We leave at three in the morning and I'm forcing everyone to get to bed early. And that means after dinner no drawing, no internet, no... Lathe blushed. ...other things. My noise-cancelling headphones should be coming in the post any minute now. I'm so done with them. Every damn night? Ugh. They're all the way in the fucking basement and I can still hear them! Lathe moved to pitch a carton of eggs. I'm so done.

Levi sat at the table in the basement, trying to finish reading his summer reading book, continually glancing up at his suitcase packed and shoved in the corner by the staircase. Two weeks in LA. It's going to be a really cool vacation. I can't believe Nate's gonna show us around... I wonder where we're going? What we're gonna do? I just hope we get there okay. I'm really worried about Eren... He's already freaked out about being on a plane. And Blake gets the seat next to Eren, so, I can't sit with him and be there for him if he starts to panic. I mean, I'll be there, but I'll be behind him. I just don't want him to freak out on the plane or in the terminal. Or at all! I just want this to go over okay. We get to get up way too fucking early tomorrow so we can drive places and catch our plane. Fun. Lathe took us out to get a bunch of clothes and stuff for the trip a few days ago. So we'll be at least somewhat fashionable walking around LA. He glanced to the staircase. I still just want us to get there okay.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren swallowed hard as Lathe packed his car in the Long term parking Area of the Wichita Dwight D. Eisenhower National Airport. This is the airport? Eren had a strong grip on Blake's leash as Lathe and Levi got out to unpack their suitcases from the back of the car. I need to get on a plane?

Lathe placed his suitcase covered in sharpie doodles behind him, easily pulling out Eren's suitcase and offering it to him, pulling up the handle. He gave him a warm smile. "Here you go, Eren." He lifted out Levi's, similarly placing it next to him and shutting the trunk, locking the car. "Alright. Let's drag our stuff in there and see how this all goes down." They shouldn't give us too much trouble at customs... Well, except for me, maybe. He shifted around the large messenger bag on his shoulder. I'm pretty much bringing a modified medical kit... the only real difference is thanks to technicalities, my laptop's in here too. ...Dammit, I'm a doctor, not a drug dealer. Hopefully it won't take them more than ten minutes of rifling to know the difference. He grinned, pocketing his keys and leading them through the dark parking lot to the lobby, heading to the Southwest Airlines desk, waiting in a nearly nonexistent line. He spoke sarcastically as he looked pointedly around the very quiet lobby with a smirk, trying to keep Eren's mood up. "Huh. I wonder why it's so quiet." It's five in the fucking morning. That's why.

Eren swallowed hard as they came through the front doors, with his luggage in tow, and his backpack slung across his shoulders. This place is smaller than the other ones I've been in... He followed Lathe warily, his eyes darting towards every sound in the barren facility. Blake whined at him when they finally got to the desk and a nice old man greeted them.
“Mornin’ Sonny, what flight we got you fella’s takin’ out?” His voice was a little rough as he started clicking a few things on his computer. His dark blue shirt held his nametag, which told Lathe this old man’s name was William. “Three checked bags? One for the each of ya’?” He asked in clarification as Levi set the suitcases on the scale, one by one as Lathe handed him their passports.

“7AM flight out to LAS. And yes.” Lathe leaned easily on the counter, watching him type and swipe their passports. He smiled and thanked him as he handed them their flight tickets. He handed Eren and Levi their tickets and passports back, tucking his own in his bag.

Eren looked down at his ticket, Blake pawing at his shaking hands. Well, they’re not shaking too bad… That’s always good. Eren pet Blake behind the ears before following Lathe through the airport. Where are we going now? Eren’s eyes still darted everywhere and he jumped a foot in the air when a loud bang sounded through the hall when one of the doors closed. Everything… Sounds so loud….

Eren turned his head back to see where they were headed, down a large hallway loaded with TSA people, machines, roped in lines, and people waiting to get through security. Eren froze almost immediately, staring at it with wide eyes. No… I don’t wanna go through it….

Levi immediately picked up on Eren’s panic, putting his arm around his waist and gently pulling him to the line, murmuring to him. “Don't worry Eren, nothing bad’s gonna happen. We'll make sure you're okay. The TSA people are nice, and they just want to make sure everybody on the plane is safe.” He followed Lathe to a line separate from the rest, for people with disabilities, watching as he glanced over his shoulder every few seconds. Levi took off his backpack from his shoulder, placing it on the belt behind Lathe’s bag, taking Eren’s bag from him as well, his hand not leaving Eren’s waist.

“I have to declare that there’s a lot of different medicines in here, so yeah.” You're going to search this. And I had it all organized, too. Dammit. Lathe took his laptop from the bag and similarly took off his watch, emptying his pockets into a bin. He took off his boots, setting them in one as well. There’s metal on them. That’s a thing. He sent Eren a smile. “It’s easy. You don't need to worry.”

He stepped into the large machine, his hands over his head as it scanned him, grinning as nothing came up abnormal and went to talk to the agent rifling through his bag. They all assume I’m a fucking drug dealer. Chill.

A lady in a dark blue shirt looked at them, her shirt adorned with the TSA badge. “Alright guys, I need to see all your IDs, I need to see the Dog’s ID, the Handler ID, everything…” She trailed off as she saw Eren visibly shake against Levi, it was then that she noticed the PTSD badges on Blake’s vest. “Do either of you have any metal on you?” She asked curiously. He’s not gonna wanna go through the machine… Is he?
Eren just backed a few steps away, so unsure of what was happening now. No… I don’t want to… I don’t want to go… Eren’s eyes were wide with fear as Blake pulled at his hoodie sleeve to get him to the floor. He didn’t even notice until he stepped in front of him, breaking his gaze frozen on the lady at her podium. Eren was already breathing hard. I don’t wanna go on the plane with him… I don’t I don’t I don’t!

Levi knelt down next to Eren, wrapping his arms around him. Fuck what do I say? He ignored the woman at the podium, set on getting Eren calm and back to his feet, picking up on what her question implied. “Eren, it’s okay. You're not going to go through the machine. The nice lady just wants to know that Blake is yours, and that you don't have anything you're not supposed to. It’s fine, I swear. Lathe and I won’t let anything happen. I promise.” Please. The sooner we get you through here the better.

Lathe looked over from the desk, his eyes wide and full of worry. Fuck it. He left the counter and walked straight back through the machine, kneeling on Eren’s other side, his hand on his shoulder and voice quiet. “Eren, you don't have to worry. Levi and I are going to be right here the entire time.” Hmmm. Maybe bargaining will work to some extent. “I know you're scared, but after all this is over we’ll be in LA! I’ll make chicken noodle soup and we’ll let you relax. It’s going to be a lot of fun. What do you say?” The sooner this is over with, the better.

Eren swallowed hard, looking to Blake, reaching a shaking hand over to Blake’s vest and removing the two ID cards it held. His breathing seemed to show how he slowly calmed down, going from hurried pants to slow breaths after a few minutes. His whole body shook as he tried to stand up, using Levi to help him stand up. He held the ID cards out for Levi, reaching towards his backpack for his passport. Chicken noodle soup… That sounds good. “P-Pasta?” Eren asked quietly, looking over to Lathe to see if he would make his pasta. I want the homemade stuff.

Lathe nodded quickly, smiling warmly. “Pasta. Of course.” He kept his arm on Eren’s shoulder, looking to the woman again as Levi handed her the ID cards. “Now what was that question? I didn't catch it.”

“You have any metal on you guys? You don’t have to go through the machine, you can put what’s in your pockets in the machine… And then my colleague will wand you.” She said and pointed towards the guy holding the wand-like metal detector.

Eren looked up to Lathe. What the hell is in my wrist? Eren slowly put his backpack on the line, along with his phone, wallet and he slowly took his shoes off and put them as well. I don’t want to go through that thing.

“Eren had metal plates and pins in his wrist from when it was broken. But that should be it.” I don't think Levi’s busted anything… And I certainly haven't.
The lady nodded and pointed them over to the man who was motioning them over to him. He started off with Levi to make sure Eren knew what he was doing first before he ran the wand over Eren’s whole body. When they came up clean he checked Blake’s vest for anything before swiping it, everything coming up as normal. Their bags were waiting for them by the counter and the man pointed towards them. “Your bags are ready, have a nice trip.” He smiled before focusing on the next group that came in.

Levi walked next to Eren to the counter, shouldering his bag and pocketing his phone, retying his shoes. He stood, waiting patiently for Eren to lace his boots before moving his arm around his waist again, following Lathe as they moved to find their terminal. Now that that train wreck is over… we have half an hour before our flight departs, ish. He glanced at an overhead screen. Yep. We’ll just chill and kill time, I guess. He kept a close eye on Eren’s expression, guiding him through the sparse, albeit loud, groups of people. You'd think that at six in the fucking morning people would be quieter. But apparently not.

Lathe stopped them at their terminal, scanning the seats for three open spaces. He led them to seats facing away from the window, sitting down on one end and putting his bag in his lap. “For right now it’s just a waiting game. We won't board for about ten minutes at least, given the flight isn't too delayed.” A thought occurred to him, and he moved as if to stand again. “If either of you want to grab a snack from somewhere in here or something, we can, now that we know where our terminal is.” That’s probably a good idea, actually.

Eren hurriedly shook his head and he sunk down from the seat to sit at the floor, his bag at his side, and Blake coming up to sit in his lap. His arms wrapped around his dog instantly as he buried his face into Blake’s soft fur. “I don’t wanna.” Eren whined as he clung to Blake. I don’t want to walk around... I don’t want to see any more planes!

Levi sat on the floor next to him, dropping his bag and wrapping his arms around his middle, holding him protectively. “You don't have to walk around anymore, then. It’s okay. Do you want me to maybe go get you something? I can see if any of the places around here have tea.” That might calm you down. Make you feel better.

Eren looked to him, an eye peeking out from Blake’s fur. “O-okay.” Eren said quietly and his arms stayed wrapped around Blake. Tea... That sounds good. I want tea.

Lathe stood, slinging his bag back over his shoulder in an instant, his voice soft. “I'll go; your hands are kinda full.” He nodded to Levi. “You want tea as well, I'm assuming?” He grinned as Levi nodded once. “Alright. I'll be back really soon.” He walked off, skimming the names of the businesses lining the walls. He was back in a few minutes, handing Levi a hot cup of tea, careful in passing one to Eren’s shaking hands. “Be careful, the cup and the tea are both reeeeally hot.” I almost burned my hands holding them before they gave me a drink tray. ...I feel too tall standing here. Lathe sat down on the floor next to them, leaving them with some space as he sipped carefully from a cup of hot chocolate. He glanced up to the screens overhead, noting their flight was still on time. Alright. Soon enough we'll be boarding.

“Good morning, Folks, the plane’s already in for this morning’s 7am flight to LAS McCarran Airport, we will be boarding all those who are in need of assistance as well as families with small children first, then we will proceed with the A, B, and C seating numbers. This is flight 7893, destination LAS McCarran, leaving from Gate 10, now boarding all those in need of special assistance.”

Eren looked up from his cup of tea to Lathe. Is that us? Am I considered needing special assistance? Eren noticed that they had sat down in the handicap area, away from the rest of the people who would be boarding. Shit… I need to get on it now? Eren started to instantly shake as he saw a man walk towards them, noticing the dog. “We’re all ready for you guys to board.” He said kindly and reached out with a treat to offer Blake. Blake perked his ears but didn’t dare to move from Eren’s arms.

Lathe shifted to his knees, his hand resting on Eren’s shoulder. “Come on, Eren. That’s us.” He didn’t stand yet, waiting for Eren to move. I’m right here. Don’t worry. We're both here with you.

Levi put his bag on his shoulder, his arm moving back around Eren, gently beginning to guide him to stand. “It’s okay, Eren. Don’t worry. I’m right here.” He shifted one foot under him, moving as Eren moved. Easy does it... Please don't worry, don't panic... You don't have to panic. Really. I promise.

Eren slowly got up from his sitting position, Blake staying by his side, curiously looking at the treat from the man before taking it. Eren’s shaking hands gripped onto Levi on his left side, his right elbow, his hand trying not to crush his tea, feeling Lathe on his right. “Can.. Can I close my eyes?” Eren asked when they got near the long hallway leading down to the plane. I don’t wanna look... I don’t wanna look...

Lathe moved his arm over his shoulders, nodding. “That’s okay. We’ll guide you.” He and Levi carefully nudged him along the hallway, telling him of any uneven spots in the floor. He sent a look to the crew that greeted them, hoping they understood. “We’re almost there, Eren. There’s a little step, and then you're in the plane.”

Eren nodded, eyes still tightly shut as he was led into the small plane and sat down in the first aisle seat to the right. Blake entered there as well, hopping right up into the chair comfortably, taking the window seat. Eren was seated before he opened his eyes and his clutch lessened on Levi so he could get to his own seat. “Thank you.” Eren said with a small smile, looking to his tea as he took another sip. That was much easier...

Lathe moved to shut the shade on the window, beaming. “We got you on here in one piece. That’s good.” He glanced to Levi. “I’ll let you have the aisle seat.” I’m not about to go anywhere, really. Also if anything happens you’re more or less better at calming him down than I am. He settled into his seat, shutting the shade and leaning up to pet Blake over the headrest. You keep him happy up there, you hear me?

Levi dropped into the aisle seat, sipping his tea and patting Eren’s arm, smirking. There. Should be smooth sailing from here. Hopefully. ...someone get me some wood to knock on.

It didn’t take long for the 30 other people to come into the airplane and take their seats. Blake had his head in Eren’s lap and sprawled out over the seat he was assigned. The plane was taxied over to the runway and took off quickly as they were the first flight out for that morning. Eren surprisingly didn’t freak out at all, he had fallen asleep from the lack of it last night, as well as from his mini-attack he had at security. Blake bared his teeth at anyone who got too close to him and it was a short three hour flight, Eren jolting awake when they landed a little roughly on the runway in LAS.

Levi had long since pried the empty paper cup of tea from his hands, leaning over to look at Eren. “We’re here. Have a nice nap?” He teased lightly, petting Blake as he looked at him from Eren’s lap. No incidents to speak of. That’s great!

Eren looked to Blake, who still laid in his lap. “We’re here?” He asked, his voice groggy, showing just how tired he actually was. “How long was I...” Eren gave a soft squeak as he yawned, “...was I asleep?” I feel exhausted.

“How about three hours. The whole flight, really. You were out like a light. It’s actually kind of impressive.” Sleeping on a plane is impossible. How?

“It really is. I had to take a twelve-hour flight a couple times and I don’t even try anymore. It never works.” Lathe looked over the top of the seat. How the hell does the person terrified of planes have the insane skill of being able to fucking sleep on them? Unfair. He grinned as he felt the plane slowing. “We’re about to get off. Our layover is about an hour, so we have time to kill. It’s 9AM now... so we can either go get something random to eat if anyone’s hungry or we can see if Eren also possesses terminal-sleeping abilities.” I dunno. I can just keep derping around on my laptop.

“I’m tired…. But I’m fucking starving… I want food!” Eren whined as he rubbed at his eyes, trying to wake up. *My body feels like lead… I fucking hate having a panic attack... Even a small
Levi fought back a grin. He’s too fucking adorable. “Alright, food it is.” He looked up as the pilot came back over the intercom, standing from his seat with Lathe right behind him. “Are you okay going down to the terminal?” If we need to do the guiding thing again that’s okay.

Eren thought about it, nodding as he picked up his bag, putting it on his back as he took Blake’s leash, the three of them allowed to get off the plane first, Eren still gripping onto the both of them as they walked up the long hallway to the loud and busy terminal, where Eren freaked out a little from the noise, along with just how many people were around. Holy shit… This place is busy…. Fuck.

Lathe stood tall as they walked to find their terminal while looking for some place to eat on the way, deciding looking intimidating was a good way to keep a small circle open around them, not wanting anyone to jostle them. Eren’s on edge enough as it is. So- sorry, but don’t. He looked up at a familiar sign, grinning. Starbucks. Thank God, something I recognise. “Starbucks okay?”

Eren nodded, still clinging to Levi as they followed Lathe through the busy terminal and towards the counter for the coffee shop. Do they have any food that’s not sweet? Eren looked around to see what they had in the case. Banana Nut Bread…. Yum… I want that, and tea…

Lathe smiled at the woman at the counter, ordering coffee and a croissant for himself and letting Levi and Eren ahead of him to order. He frowned a bit as he watched Eren yawn again, speaking to the woman after Eren spoke. “Can you just make sure everything’s full strength? No decaf.” Eren’s falling asleep on his feet here. He swiped his card and moved them down the counter, taking hold of everything as it was finished for them and leading them to their terminal.

You’re about to collapse. Dammit, stop getting heavier. Levi practically held Eren up as they walked to their terminal, sighing in relief when they claimed a full row of empty seats without armrests, sitting next to Eren and taking his food from Lathe. “Once you eat, you can go back to sleep if you want. I think I’d make an okay pillow.”

Eren nodded, picking up his Banana Nut Bread and starting to chow down on it. It didn’t last long, and neither did his tea before Eren was laid out on the bench, his head in Levi’s lap, completely passed out yet again. Blake hopped up at the end of the bench and sat there as a guard, baring his teeth when people got too close to the bench, but he didn’t move other than that.

Lathe glanced up from his notebook, smiling at Eren asleep in Levi’s lap. They win the cutest-couple olympics. His gaze moved to a small flash of light, noting one of many slot machines scattered throughout the airport, dozens of which they had already passed. He quirked his eyebrow, watching the roulette animation. ...I do have some spare change I'd like to get rid of... “Levi, I'm going to go get rid of some loose change on that machine over there. I'll be like two seconds. Guard my stuff.” He stood, walking over to the machine, grinning as he heard Levi jokingly warn him not to gamble away the house. He sat down at the stool, tapping at the screen and rifling through his wallet, dropping coins into the slot. His hand hovered over the display for a second. Eh... 13 as a lucky number is a thing, right? He placed his entire bet on 13 black, not really paying the pot any attention as he watched the animation play out, the small ball swiftly circling the roulette wheel, slowing and finally landing... On thirteen black. The machine made a loud sound and Lathe nearly jumped in surprise at the noise, looking over to the attendant in a red uniform approaching him, smiling.

“Congratulations! You just won on a Progressive Pot!” Her voice was cheery as she pressed a few buttons to get the machine to print out a ticket. “We’ll have to run through some paperwork, stay here, pull out your license, and I will get all the paperwork and your check.” She took the ticket and disappeared for only a few minutes before reappearing with a large check in hand and a few sheets of paper for paperwork.

Lathe handed her his license, taking the papers and a pen from her and filling them out quickly. He handed them back to her after a few moments, a slightly puzzled look on his face. ...how did that just happen.

She smiled and returned his license once she confirmed with her own signature that Lathe was in fact the winner and above the legal age for gambling, and began to fill out the check for him. “Congratulations Mr. Quo, here’s your check, have a nice day in Vegas.” She handed him his check along with his license, before she was whisked away by another man having difficulty printing off the ticket for his winnings.

Lathe thanked her, an eyebrow quirked as he put his license away, looking to the large check in his hands, his eyes going wide at the sum. How the fuck did I win thirteen grand with pocket change?! He stared at the paper for a moment before just shaking his head in disbelief, folding it and placing it in the inside pocket of his jacket, walking back over to sit next to Levi, still with an odd expression. ...huh.

Levi studied his expression, a surprised look in his eye. Can I ask? “They seemed to make a big deal out of you winning.” His fingers absentmindedly ran through Eren’s hair.

Lathe glanced over to him, speaking quietly. “Thirteen thousand six hundred and fifty-seven dollars.” On lucky number thirteen. Thanks to quarters I wanted to get rid of.

Levi’s eyebrows shot up. “You were over there for ten seconds before you won! How the hell did you win that much on your first try?"

“I don't know. But I do know trying to do better than that is a horrible idea.” His voice quieted as he looked back to Eren, stirring in Levi’s lap. “And I also know that speaking that loudly in shock is a good way to wake up sleeping people.”

Eren groaned quietly as his eyes cracked open. Why the fuck did he wake me up? Eren brought a hand up to his face to try and rub the tiredness away, that was until they saw people flooding out of their Gate. “Is the… Is the plane early?” He asked, watching as people walked by them, Blake baring his teeth to everyone, which gave them a bit of a bubble. Fuck... I don’t wanna get on another one... I wanna sleep.

“Only kinda. They still need time to clean up the plane before we can board, so we've got a couple minutes still.” His eyes wandered out the window for a moment, landing on a familiar building past the runways. He grinned. “Hey, it’s that casino I'm banned from.” ... That was fun.

“Why?” Eren asked, sitting up as he rubbed his eyes more. “Why were you banned from a casino?”

Eren’s hands moved away to show his tired eyes, along with a spark of curiosity.

“Okay, story. So you know that picture that came with my chessboard? That was a picture of this club thing I led in high school, and it was just the most random-ass club ever. We at one point were all learning how to play lots of different card games, including the ones they play in casinos. It kinda became habit after a while to count cards, and we were all really good after a few months. A couple years ago the entire group got together here in Vegas and we were in that casino, and we kinda fanned out and ended up dominating the card tables. We all got caught counting cards, which was pretty impossible for us not to do, and so we’re all banned from going there ever again. The look on the dealer’s face though as we practically wiped the floor with everyone was totally worth it, though.” He beamed. That was priceless!

Levi smirked, trying to sound serious. “It’s nice to know that the club you founded was teaching impressionable teenagers such important life skills.” Good going. You’d think you’d also spend a couple minutes in your club meetings talking about how you need to hide the fact you’re counting cards.

Eren nodded. “Remind me never to play a card game with you, no matter how good I think I may be.” Eren said and he looked to Blake as he bared his teeth at the attendant coming towards them. “You guys can get on now if you would like, before everyone else.” The man smiled softly before returning to the podium to announce that their gate was getting ready for boarding.
Lathe chuckled, standing. “Fair enough.” His voice softened as Eren shifted from Levi’s lap. “Do you need us to guide you up to the plane again?”

Eren nodded quickly. Yes, there is no way I will be going in that fucking thing without you two hanging onto me. Eren picked up Blake’s leash and allowed him to go farther in front as his right hand gripped Lathe’s arm and his left gripped Levi’s. Eren closed his eyes as soon as they got to the tunnel, shutting them tightly just as he had before. Eren was slowly guided onto the larger plane, the staff clearing the way for them as soon as they saw Blake. Eren was seated in the middle of the first row of seats. Blake taking the aisle seat as Eren pulled Levi to the window seat before he opened his eyes again. He looked at the large amount of space in front of him, surprised. So much room. Eren watched as Lathe took the aisle seat behind them, slowly starting to get even more panicky as more and more people got onto the plane, his grip getting tighter on Levi’s shirt to a point where his knuckles were white. Blake got up and started to whine and paw at Eren’s other hand, making sure he didn’t scratch at his pants. A few people throwing looks at the three of them, sometimes even stopping and staring before being pushed along. No… So many people…. He’s gonna be here…. No…

Levi took hold of Eren’s hand with his left, prying his fingers from his shirt so he could hold onto his hand, his arm snaking behind his waist, speaking to him quietly. It’s the people. “Don’t worry Eren, I know it’s a lot of people but they’re not going to hurt you or anything. You're safe. Lathe and Blake and I are watching out for you, and we're not going to let anything happen to you. You don't have to worry. We’ve got you.” You don't have to panic. I've got you.

Eren’s white-knuckled grip started on Levi’s hand. “Too… Many…” Eren whispered as he buried his face into Levi’s chest. He’s gonna be here… No… He’ll kill me… “Levi…. I can’t…. I can’t do… This…” Eren’s eyes were full blown with fear, widening more as he saw one of the crew close the door and lock it. There’s no way out… We’re all gonna die… Blake got up from his seat and moved Eren away from Levi and sat down in his lap, pressing against Eren’s chest and into the seat. His whines grew louder as Eren’s mind got further and further away from them. No… We’re gonna die! I’m gonna die! His whole body started to shake, his grip lessening from around Levi’s fingers.

Levi turned in his seat feeling Eren’s grip slacken, watching Eren’s eyes. He’s not entirely there, is he. Shit. “Eren. Eren, you there? Can you hear me?” He studied Eren’s expression with worry, squeezing his hand tightly and moving his hand to his shoulder. “Eren, come on, stay with me. It’s alright, nothing’s gonna happen to you. Really. You're safe. It’s okay.” He glanced up to Lathe, watching them with concerned eyes, ready to get up and help.

“Sir, do you need us to call a doctor for him? We can hold the plane for a few minutes, the line for take off is long right now…” One of the attendants was at the aisle, watching as Blake struggled to pull Eren back.
That’s it. “A doctor isn’t going to help him. Excuse me.” Lathe stood and moved around the attendant, shifting to sit next to Eren in Blake’s vacated seat, holding onto Eren’s right hand tightly and speaking to him quietly, gauging his expression. How far gone are you? “Hey, Eren, it’s me, Lathe. You don’t have to worry about anything, really. Levi and Blake and I are right here for you, and nothing bad is going to happen. We’re just going to take off in a little while, have a smooth short flight, and we’ll be in LA. Nothing’s going to go wrong, alright? We’ll make absolutely sure you’re safe. I swear it.”

Eren’s breathing hitched a little. His eyes looking right past them as his whole body shook. <“He’s not here? He’s not here, right?”> Eren’s voice was laced with panic. I don’t want to be trapped with him… I don’t I don’t I don’t!

Levi immediately shook his head, his voice reassuring. <“No no no, he’s not here. He’s nowhere near us right now. You don’t have to worry about him, Eren. He’s not going to hurt you anymore.”> Levi ran his thumb up and down Eren’s arm, trying to comfort him. He’s gone. He’s not going to come back anytime soon.

I really need to brush up on my German. I can barely understand him, and that’s simple. Shit. “Eren, you don’t have to worry about him anymore. He’s not on the plane, and we’re not going to let him hurt you anymore. He’s gone. Don’t worry, please.” Lathe pleaded with him, his eyes wide with worry. Wherever he is, I don't think he’s about to come back. Please don't panic.

It took a few moments before Eren’s eyes were finally looking at the two of them. He had calmed down enough that his breathing had returned to normal, but his whole body was shaking. Tears formed in his eyes and spilled over before Eren could stop him. “I’m sorry…” He mumbled to the two of them, Blake never left his lap, and kept him pinned to the chair, knowing full well he could still freak out completely. I almost didn’t come back… I was so close...

“Sir… Can we ask you to return to your seat, we’re being taxied to the runway. We need you to get back to your seat.” Her voice sounded apologetic as she got out of the way for Lathe to return to his seat.

Lathe nodded and released his tight grip on Eren’s hand, sending him a small smile as he pressed his red handkerchief into his hand, reluctantly moving back to his seat and buckling his seatbelt, still keeping an eye on them as the plane started to move. I hope he doesn’t freak out again... You’ve got to keep him with us, Levi.

Levi held onto Eren as he rubbed at his eyes, pulling him close to lean on his shoulder. Sleeping. That could help… You won’t have to worry if you’re not awake. “It’s okay, Eren. You don’t have to apologise for anything. It’s not your fault. Do you want to sleep, maybe? Or something else?” I’ll Eren nodded. My head feels like lead… His head slowly found Levi’s shoulder, passing out before they even left the ground. I have a headache. Eren woke up when they landed, Blake still very much in his lap, making sure he wouldn’t freak out when they landed. Where the fuck am I?!! Eren’s grip tightened on Levi’s hands as his eyes shot around the plane. “Where the fuck am I?” Eren freaked out until he saw Levi was sitting next to him and he calmed down.

Lathe looked up to him, concern crossing his features. He’s still talking in German? Not good. He’s still on edge. Lathe leaned forward, deciding against tapping his arm and possibly scaring him. “We’re here! I hope you slept well. Nate should be waiting for us at the baggage claim when we get off.” He noticed Eren wincing and rubbing his head, his brow furrowing. “You want some aspirin, when we get off?” I don’t have a water bottle and there are always water fountains everywhere, so…

Eren nodded rubbing at his head. It didn’t take much longer for them to get off of their plane once it had finally stopped moving, the attendants helping to get the three of them off the plane and give them time to get away. My head fucking hurts. Eren was fine as they walked up the long tunnel, leading to the terminals. “So many people… What if he’s here?” Eren’s voice was quivering as Levi pulled him along and towards the throng of people.

Lathe handed Eren some aspirin, pulling them over to a water fountain for a second, the crowd a bit thinner at the sides of the large halls. His eyes wandered over the halls, studying the multitudes of people. There are way too many people in here for comfort. He quirked his eyebrow as the crowd parted for a cart carrying older people towards the baggage claim, watching it slowly approach. Bingo. He tugged on Levi’s sleeve, nodding to the cart as he walked out closer to the centre of the hall, waving to get the driver’s attention. “Excuse me!” He grinned as the driver slowed the cart, speaking to him and looking over his shoulder for Eren and Levi. Our ride’s here!

Levi got the message, gently pulling Eren from the water fountain after he was done drinking and back into the waves of people, leading them to where Lathe had stopped the cart. Lathe, you’re a fucking genius. He helped Eren climb into the back of the cart, Blake hopping into Eren’s lap, taking a seat next to him and watching them start to move, heading for the baggage claim. It’s better than wading through tons and tons of people. He looked to Eren and smirked, his voice soft. “You doin’ okay?”

Eren shook his head. “No, what if he’s here… He’ll find me Levi… He’s gonna kill me…” Eren’s voice was shaking as he held onto Levi. He closed his eyes and buried his head into Blake’s fur. I don’t want to be here…. I don’t want him to be here… I want to go home… Eren was still clinging to Lathe’s red handkerchief, holding it firmly, not wanting to let go of it… He didn’t want to open his eyes either. No… No more people… Please!
Kill. Lathe rested his hand on Eren’s arm, his voice quiet. “Eren, he’s not here. He’s gone. He’s most certainly not about to hurt you. There are a lot of people here, and none of them want to or will hurt you. Really. It’s alright.” At this point if anyone so much as looks at you the wrong way I might have a hard time not castrating them, you’re so on edge.

Eren only nodded. He was silent until they were dropped off at their baggage claim, waiting for their luggage to come around the carousel. <“I wanna go home.”> Eren’s voice was quiet as he sat down on the ground to pet Blake. He tried not to cry, his face already clearing up from his tears before.

“Oh my God! It’s Eren Yeager!” A voice cried out from one of the other baggage carousels.

Eren barely had time to whip his head around before a bunch of screaming girls came over towards them, Blake quickly getting on the defensive and standing up, baring his teeth, getting ready to lunge at the girls if they got too close and freaked him out. What? Blake no. Eren pulled him back on his leash, but he just sat there wide eyed as the girls came running up to him, taking countless photos and the crowd kept getting larger and larger. What the fuck is happening? Eren just looked up to Levi. <“What the fuck is happening? What the fuck are they doing? Why are they taking pictures of me?”> Eren’s voice was full of confusion.

“Can we get a picture with you?”
“Can I have your autograph?”
“Oh my gosh!”
“It’s really him!”
“I can’t believe I’m meeting a YouTube icon!”
“Eren will you marry me!?”
“Eren smile for the camera!”
“Eren Yeager! He’s really here!”

Ah. Fangirls. Should’ve expected that. Lathe looked to Levi as he shifted next to Eren protectively, noting the murderous look in Blake’s eyes. An oppressive group of fans isn’t good when Eren’s still so nervous. Get them to step off now. Lathe projected his voice, trying not to sound mad. “Alright, a little room, okay? You're making Blake nervous.” He looks ready to kill someone. He glanced down to Levi, speaking to him. “I’ll try and keep up some space. Can you grab our suitcases?” We need to get Eren away from all these people. The sooner, the better.
Levi nodded, standing from his place next to Eren and walking quickly to the carousel, walking it’s length in search of their bags, picking up two and setting them next to Lathe, still warding off a crowd. Damn, he really does have a shitload of fans. He quirked his eyebrow as someone asked him to marry them, glaring at them. Oi. He’s kinda taken. Bitch. He walked back to the carousel one more time to retrieve Eren’s suitcase, rolling it behind him and stopping next to Eren. “Alright. Where’s Nate supposed to be?” He spoke to Lathe, standing on tiptoe and trying to scan the crowd. Where are you…

“I’m right here…”

Levi quickly turned around at the familiar voice and watched Nate raise his eyebrow at him, waving from directly behind him. People need to stop engaging stealth mode.

Eren looked up to see Nate and a smile showed on his face, the crowd went wild, trying to get around Lathe to get to Eren to get better photos. <“um… Can we go now… I wanna go… There’s too many people here…”> Eren backed up as a man with a camera started to come towards him to take pictures. “Levi!” Eren called for Levi in shock as the man got closer, his eyes so unused to the bright flash from the professional camera. Shit… My head hurts… Blake growled at the man, tugging at his leash, hard enough for Eren to let go and the dog bolted a few feet to quickly chase the man with the camera away, and managing to scare the crowd away after a few seconds. He returned to Eren’s side afterwards, his leash in his jaws, Eren scooping down to get it. I wanna leave…. I’m tired as all hell, and I want chicken noodle soup.

Nate raised his eyebrows, impressed at Blake’s effectiveness in fending off the photographers. Handy. “Hey Eren! Glad to see you all got here in one piece!” Nate pulled him into a one-armed hug, leading them out of the baggage claim. “Jeff’s got the car waiting outside.”

Eren nodded. Good, get me out of this fucking place. His whole body was still shaking, especially when Nate pulled him close, he would be able to feel it. <“No more metal death traps… Please.”> Eren’s voice was quiet.

Levi watched the two of them walk out, Blake following at Eren’s heels. Well… That went… Well? Would you consider that going well? Levi took his suitcase along with Eren’s, looking over to Lathe. “He doesn’t like planes… Or airports.”

Lathe just gave him a deadpan look. “Really, Sherlock? What in the world gave you that idea?” Was it the multiple mini-attacks? The not-so-mini attack? Seriously… Eren and anything to do with airports and planes should not mix. It’s too bad it’d take a solid twenty hours non-stop to drive out here. Lathe pulled his suitcase behind him, following Eren and Nate, sending pointed looks to any photographer he thought stepped a foot too close. That’s right. Keep your distance.

Nate led them out of the baggage claim to a small covered drive, a black Mercedes waiting at the curb. Nate waved to Jeff, grinning and moving to open the back door for Eren, letting him step in and Blake hop up. He left the door open as he opened the back gate, taking the suitcases from Levi and Lathe and easily fitting them in back, climbing in next to Jeff in the passenger’s seat. “Alright, well, welcome to LA! Was your flight okay?” Nate turned in his seat to look at them, an easy smile on his face. Kinda worried about Eren… He hasn't said anything in English yet.

<“No, I’m not going in another one of those fucking flying death traps!”> Eren was seated in the back seat, his body leaning onto Levi’s as his vision started to get cloudy. Fuck… My head hurts… Eren passed out as soon as the car started to move, going limp.

Levi sighed quietly. “Well, we’re gonna have fun getting him back into the airport in two weeks.” His left hand reached up to tangle in Eren’s locks after he situated him laying across the back seat and his head in his lap. He needs to sleep. He barely got any last night from freaking out so much.

Jeff watched the whole ordeal take place. “I-is he okay?” He turned his attention back to the road getting on the highway, directing the car out of the city and towards the suburbs.

Lathe sighed, running a hand through his dark hair. “Well, the short of it is that Eren and airports do not get along well. He had a couple mini panic attacks, almost not coming back from one… And he’s just been exhausted all morning because we got up at like three in the morning our time and because of said attacks… I kinda had to bribe him through security with food. That being said, is it cool if we stop at a grocery store on the way?” Lathe grinned sheepishly. It got him through security without a complete breakdown, so it’s worth it.

Nate just raised his hands in mock surrender, smiling. “Hey man, if you want us to stop and get stuff so you can cook, don't expect me to stop you. As long as there’s enough for everyone.” He added with a grin. ... and by everyone I mean me. Go right the hell ahead! “You heard the man, Jeff. To the grocery store!” Nate whisper-shouted, trying not to wake Eren up.

“Yeah yeah, I get it, but let’s get to Pasadena first shall we?” Jeff made quick time on the highway, getting off in a very nice suburb. “Lathe do you have a preference on where we get the food from? Like there a specific grocery store you like?” He asked as they headed towards the shopping areas.

“…is a Whole Foods nearby? That's the only place I can think of that you'd have out here.” Lathe looked out the window with a raised eyebrow, not recognising a number of the stores.
“Whole Foods? Yeah, give me four minutes.” Jeff turned a few corners, using only three to make it to the store. “I’ll go with you, Nate stay with the two of them.” Jeff offered, parking the car pretty close to the door since it was so early on a Monday, stepping out but leaving the car running for them since it was hot and humid outside. “We’ll leave the air conditioning on for them. What you making for Lunch?” Jeff asked as he swung around the back of his car to meet Lathe on the other side.

“Well, I offered Eren chicken noodle soup and then he had to up the ante and ask for homemade noodles in it so that’s what’s for lunch, apparently.” Lathe stepped down the from the car, turning as Nate addressed him.

“Y’know, feel free to grab as many things as you want to make food. There’s plenty of room in the fridge for stuff if you plan on cooking a bit while you're here… just sayin’.” I expect you to cook in return for a place to sleep.

Lathe chuckled, his hand on the door. “Alright, I get it. I’m gonna be put in charge of food for a bit, aren't I?” He rolled his eyes good-naturedly as Nate shrugged and nodded. “Fiiine. I'll grab a bunch of stuff. Promise we won't take forever.” He shut the door, walking with Jeff up to the store. “Is it cool if you drive the cart so I can move around easier? Get to the displays?”

“Yeah man, that’s cool.” Jeff went off and grabbed a large cart, quickly returning. “Gotta warn you though, Nate’s got literally nothing in his house foodwise…”

Lathe shook his head, sighing. “Are you serious?” At least one of everything it is, then! ...it’s gonna be a long two weeks. He walked slowly down the rows of produce, inspecting all the vegetables before setting anything in the cart, which started to quickly fill up. “We’re about to fix that.”

“Good; Nate’s been raving about your cooking since we left… God, it’s almost as bad as the time he talked my ear off about Eren… That was a nightmare… But he still does it! He doesn’t know when to shut up… But his girlfriend’s away for a month in France… He’s probably lonely in that huge-ass house all by himself.” Jeff chuckled. “Eren’s latest music video was a great cover of Grand Piano… Has he sung it before?” His voice was quiet as he watched the cart quickly fill.

Lathe stopped for a moment, turning over a tomato in his hands, a small smile on his face. “Yeah, he has.” And it was probably the best decision he ever made, singing it. He set the tomato and a few others in a bag in the cart, moving on to potatoes. “It’s been seven months since I heard him sing it last. He did an amazing job of it then.” It was enough to get Levi on that stage and kiss him like his life fucking depended on it.
“Was he playing the piano with it? Or the violin? I saw him doing both in the video; it looks really good, and his videos are getting better now that he knows how to put them together.” Jeff complimented Eren, continuing to watch Lathe.

“Piano. His violin… He didn’t have it with him at the time.” It was kinda in Germany. Which we also kinda didn’t know. Lathe wandered over to fruits, careful as he picked out three containers of strawberries. Eren fucking loves these. And so do I. And most likely everyone else because strawberries for the win. …they're not gonna last long.

“Strawberries… Good choice.” Jeff smiled as he watched the 3 five pound containers enter the cart. “Those aren’t gonna last… Are they?” Jeff chuckled, looking around to see if he saw anything else. “Oh yeah… You can probably pick a lot of fruit at Nate’s house too. He’s got oranges, lemons, limes…. And I think… Yeah they didn’t get rid of the avocado tree yet… So everything is ready to get picked about now.” Jeff told him. Just so we know we have room in the cart instead of filling it with produce which he can grab off the back porch.

Lathe looked at him like Christmas had come early. Seriously?? That’s awesome! “That’s great!” He glanced over to a table of melons, one eyebrow raised. “Don’t tell me I could get one of those from the porch, too.” If you could I’m going to be even more jealous and that’s nearly impossible at this point.

“Nah, you should probably grab two if either of the teens like it… Nate could eat a whole one by himself. Trust me… I’ve seen him try and succeed.” Jeff said, his hand finding his forehead, though a smile was on his face. That was the stupidest bet he ever won.

Of course. Lathe grinned widely, weighing two in his hands before moving things in the cart to set them down, careful not to crush anything. He also picked up a watermelon, making sure it was seedless. “You make Nate sound like he stopped growing up after sixteen.”

“Try ten and you describe the little shit perfectly.” Jeff looked around. “On to the deli? Or going right for the whole meats?” Jeff asked him, guiding the cart after him. I’m learning a lot from this guy, he’s pretty chill.

“That depends. Do you happen, on some odd chance, to have a panini press?” If so that changes literally everything.

“I’ll text Nate… Knowing his girlfriend he probably does… But we’ll never know.” Jeff pulled his phone out sending a quick text out to the car and getting a reply in a few seconds. Jeff immediately started to laugh. “He thinks it’s still in the box… But they have one.” Jeff continued to laugh for a good while. “God, his girlfriend gets the randomest things sometimes.”

Lathe chuckled, leading them to the whole meats. “In that case, we don’t need the deli. And that’s about to change very quickly.” Lathe mentally critiqued the packages of chicken, putting plenty of packages in the cart and moving on to beef, looking at the labels carefully and picking out some of the heavier packages. I need to make steak at some point... ooooh, Pot Roast! Yes! Lathe moved on to pork, selecting a few before looking for the shelves for cheeses. “Another question. Does Nate have any soup crocks lying around?”

Jeff shrugged and sent out a text message to the car, again receiving a reply quickly. “He wants to know if they’re big ceramic things that take up way too much room in his shelves?” Jeff looked up to Lathe for an answer. “He says they look like giant bowls.” Is that what he’s talking about?

Lathe laughed, perusing the shelves for mozzarella and Swiss. “Yeah, that’s it. How many, dare I ask if he remembers?”

Jeff went back to his phone, “He says at least 8… And that they take up too much room. Which I think is hilarious because I haven’t seen him use them at all.” Jeff chuckled, putting his phone in his pocket.

“Then I’m breaking them in for him. Metaphorically speaking. Those things wouldn’t break if you tried. I don’t even have to see them to know that.” Lathe picked up a small wedge of cheese and picked up a loaf of French bread, carefully setting it on top in the cart. “Okay, so I’m assuming he doesn't even have milk or eggs or butter or whatever.” Those are all things that need acquiring. “At this rate, I’m going to need another cart.” Lathe added two cartons of eggs to the cart, pulling down the small metal seat and setting milk and juice inside it. “And then, the most important things…” He set down multiple small grey boxes, a large tin, and a small jar. “Coffee and tea stuff.”

“Do we need another cart? I can go run and get one.” Jeff said, straightening himself from behind the cart. I just hope you won’t magically disappear on me.

“...That’s probably a good idea. I’ll be in the baking aisle.” Lathe grinned, taking the heavy cart and steering it to look over the bags of sugar and flour.

Jeff went off, coming back with the new cart within a minute or two, quickly finding Lathe. “It wouldn’t hurt… He probably doesn’t have anything in his fridge besides drinks… Knowing him. Also… Make sure he doesn’t drink himself to sleep. He doesn’t hold his alcohol well… And he tends to get into really bad betting habits while drunk… Don’t be offended if he dares you to do something you don’t want to do… He’ll forget by the morning.” Better tell him now before Nate even tries another drinking Olympics.

Lathe easily shrugged off his worries, smiling. “That’s alright. I’ll make sure if and apparently when he gets drunk that he doesn’t get into too much trouble.” He lifted various bags of baking supplies into the new cart. I’m not too much of a drinker, so I’m used to being the ‘designated-driver’ type friend in those kinds of happenings. Lathe tugged along the still near-empty cart, taking a few bottles of olive oil from the shelves and grabbing small jars of bouillon and sauces with near-unpronounceable names. “Worcestershire. Say that three times fast.” Lathe grinned.

“that will be the kind of thing Nate will be trying to get you to do once he’s drunk… And he will be, especially if you’re home tonight… Which I’m guessing with Eren still speaking German you will be?” Jeff asked, following along, pushing the fully loaded cart. “I must say though, that man has never once had a fucking hangover… He can’t hold his liquor for shit, but he never once had a problem the next morning.”

Lathe rubbed the back of his neck, picking up small cans from time to time. “Nate actually offered to let us crash at his place for the entire time we’re here. And apparently I’m paying him back in food.” He raised an eyebrow at the very full cart and the slowly filling one he pulled along. “And at least I won’t have to deal with a hungover Nate while we’re here.” Having to deal with people dealing with hangovers sucks. Lathe looked to the cart, thinking hard if he’d forgotten anything, tapping his boot in thought. “As long as he doesn't challenge me at cards, we’re good…” Don't want to practically rob the guy...

“I’ll hide the deck when we get home.” Jeff told him. “Got enough stuff to feed them for at least a few days?” Jeff looked to the massive amount of food. It looks like you have enough to feed a large army.

Lathe looked to him and shrugged. “I'm feeding two teenagers at heart, two actual teenagers, I don't know how often you're going to be around to eat, and…” Lathe snapped his fingers. “Dog food. Right. They have that here?” He looked to the signs overhead, seeing the pet aisle a few rows over. “Cool.” He led the way to the aisle, skimming over the labels on the bags. “Just curious, how often do you think you'll be around?” Need to know to make enough!

“I think I’ll stay for lunch… But then I gotta go back to work, and I believe if Nate keeps to his schedule you guys will be over at the studio on Friday… So I’ll come home with you guys probably then… But I got work, so I won’t be around often, maybe a lunch here or there, possibly dinner every now and then, but I’ll make sure Nate tells you beforehand.” Always tell the cook before you come so there’s enough and not any surprises.
Lathe nodded, smiling. “Alright, sounds good.” He heaved a smaller-sized bag of food on the cart under the basket, thinking for a moment before nodding. “I think we have maybe just enough to pull through.” He joked, his eyes bright. “We’ll have to be careful though, ration it carefully. We might even have to come back.”

“I dunno, Nate’s got you guys going on a bunch of trips around town, I don’t see you guys being around for lunch a lot… But hey, you never know… Especially with him.” I believe Nate said something about going to a bunch of parks.

“I foresee myself lugging a picnic basket around at some point. Picnics notwithstanding, and I’m not even sure if I used that word right, I think we can check out now. God, the cashiers are about to hate us.” He led them to the front of the store, stopping dead in his tracks as he glanced to the shelf to the right of him, studying the label on the small red boxes. He thought for a second before grabbing five boxes and carrying on, smirking. Pockeys. And they’re the bigger boxes, too. Here’s to hoping one of the two of them know what they are. He picked a lane at the front, making sure the cashier’s tag did not say ‘trainee.’” That would be a nightmare for everyone involved. He set down the divider and started unloading things, asking for paper in plastic. It took quite a while for everything to scan, even with the cashier moving quickly. Lathe swiped his black card, barely glancing at the total before signing and accepting his receipt from the cashier, thanking her. He walked with Jeff back to the car, stopping at the back. “Now how the hell are we gonna fit all this food in that car?”

“You’d be surprised how much space is actually in front of the seat next to you… And the seat folds up too… So we can just load the car up. We’ll be home in five minutes, we’re only really around the block.” Jeff walked around opening the car door and widening as he saw Eren’s body practically convulsing in Levi’s arms. “Shit…” Jeff just motioned for Lathe to come, shooting a look to Nate and he seemed just as shocked as Jeff was. What the fuck happened?

Eren’s eyes were blown wide, his whole body shaking, his head thrown back, and shoulders arched. He was crying, tears streaming down his face, his mouth open almost like he was screaming, but nothing was coming out. Eren wasn’t there, his eyes glassy and unfocused.

Lathe abandoned the cart immediately, clambering up into the car and quickly assessing the situation. That's not a panic attack. “He’s having a seizure.” He moved to carefully shift Eren onto his side, looking up to Levi as he moved out of the way, deathly calm. “How long has it been?”

“Thirty seconds… Not even… His eyes just snapped open and his body started to shake… I didn’t-I didn’t know what to do… It just happened all of the sudden.” Levi was struggling to keep his composure as he saw Eren’s spasming beginning to lessen.

Lathe just nodded. “Good, it hasn't been too long, then. It must have been all the stress…” Lathe tugged at Eren’s sweatshirt in places, making sure it wasn’t too tight around his neck where he lay on the backseat, brushing the hair out of his face and picking up the red kerchief from where it was dropped on the seat, wiping away his tears. “He should be fine, just give him a few minutes to get his bearings back.” Lathe studied Eren’s face as he relaxed and slumped into the seat. At least we don’t have to get you to a hospital...

Jeff watched, slowly taking the seat next to where a lathe had sat before and folding it down to make room on the floor. “Will he be okay?” Jeff asked, his voice filled with as much worry and concern as his eyes were. I hope this doesn’t happen to him too much... He should be able to enjoy himself.

Eren’s eyes slowly closed, his breathing evening out and his body becoming slack in the seat.

“Can I move him? So his head’s in my lap? Or will that start another one?” Levi looked up to Lathe. I don’t want to start another one, that was fucking terrifying. Don’t ever scare me like that again, Brat.

“You can move him so his head is in your lap, just be gentle. But you're not going to start another one. He’s been so stressed out by flying in, and that stress caused his seizure. He’s just going to need to relax for a little while, sleep a bit, and hopefully getting some food in him will make him feel better.” Lathe folded up his kerchief, leaning forward from where he knelt on the car floor to peck Eren’s forehead before moving, letting Levi have his seat back. “He’ll be right as rain in no time, though. I can assure you all of that.”

Levi gently moved Eren’s head into his lap, his hands softly carding through his hair. Scared the shit out of me, you Brat.

Jeff loaded up the car in record time before he got in his seat to go home, making sure everyone was safely buckled, Levi reaching over to buckle around Eren’s waist. Once that was over they drove to Nate’s house down the long driveway and parking near the huge ass porch.

Nate opened his door, looking back with a weary smile. “We’re here. Let’s get everything inside.” It’s too early for all this to have already happened... He stepped out of the car, moving bags out of the way for Lathe and Levi, carrying Eren, to step down. He slung quite a few bags over his arm, carrying them to the back door and unlocking it, stepping inside. “Welcome to my house! Make yourselves at home, I guess.” He looked to Levi, an unsure look on his face. “The living room... If you go through that hall there, to the dining room, go past the stairs and there’s the living room, okay?” Eren needs to rest... And you're probably- definitely- going to want to stick around him and make sure he’s okay.
Levi nodded, toeing off his shoes on the mat and carrying Eren carefully through the house, looking around. It’s fucking huge… And really nice. He looked up at the chandelier that hung over the dining table for a moment, turning left and passing the stairs before looking over the living room, making a beeline for the couch. Levi sat down gently with Eren still in his arms, shifting so he was laying on top of him with his head on his chest, moving pillows around underneath his head and pulling a blanket draped over the back of the couch over them. He wrapped his arms around him protectively, listening to the sounds coming from the kitchen. I hope you’re alright, you really fucking scared me. Maybe rest and food will do you good.

Lathe helped Jeff and Nate make multiple trips to the car, getting all the bags and scattering them around the kitchen on the floor and the counters. “Alright. I'm going to put stuff away, and then I'll start on lunch. Where’s the pantry?”

“The cabinet to the right of the fridge.” Nate said and pointed towards the large cabinet. The only thing it had in it was various canned goods and boxes and bags of snacks.

Lathe studied the contents for a moment before turning to the fridge. He pulled open the door, looking over the shelves. Gatorade, soda, ugh, beer, and water. Do you never eat at home? Lathe moved and began to organise what drinks there were in the fridge, succeeding in moving them all to one shelf near the middle. You've got your work cut out for you. “Alright. You just need to show me where everything is, I’m gonna need an apron, and find that panini maker.”

Nate nodded, moving around opening cabinets and drawers showing him everything he needed. He pulled out the panini press, still in the box, setting it on the island, going off towards the mudroom and pulling out a maroon apron. “This good?” He held it out for him.

Lathe took it, tying it behind his back. “Yeah, of course. Now unless either of you want to be pressed into service, someone needs to keep Levi company.” He moved to start unboxing the panini press and set the box aside, lifting bags up onto the island.

“Alright! Let's go see how much space Levi and Eren took up on the couch!” Nate ran off to go to the large living room.

Jeff chuckled, “I’ll leave you alone in the kitchen.” Jeff went off to go chill in the living room as well.

Lathe sighed, watching as the pantry and fridge slowly filled, lost in his own thoughts.
Nate sat down at the far end of the couch. “So… How long will he be asleep you think?” Nate's voice was soft.

Jeff nodded, sitting down at the other end.

Levi ran his thumb over Eren’s side, thinking. “I’d guess he’d sleep for a couple hours if we didn't wake him up. With all the stress and… And him having a seizure, he’s got to be exhausted. But we should definitely wake him up for lunch.” I hope Lathe was right about you being alright.

Jeff nodded. “How you think the airport going home is gonna go?” Eren looks really pale.

“Not well. It was a nightmare for him, getting here… A more direct flight home would be best at this point, where you only have to be on one plane. We would have driven, because we knew it wasn't going to be easy the second Lathe first mentioned a plane and Eren had a mini-attack, but we don't have a car to fit all of us properly for a trip that long… and it'd be twenty solid hours without stopping. It just had to be done.” Maybe Lathe has something to give you to keep you calm... I hate the idea, but I don't want to see you stressed out enough to have a fucking seizure because of it again.

Jeff nodded. “So he’s got a bad memory with planes?”

Levi nodded. “The first time he was on a plane, his father- Grisha, forced him to. He didn't want to leave Germany, leave his home, and come to America… He was scared and didn't know too well what was happening, and Grisha didn't exactly help comfort him. Grisha threatened him if he hesitated, and he was terrified. ...Eren and planes just do not mix.” His hold around Eren’s middle tightened just a little.

Eren shifted in Levi’s arms, twisting so that he was laying on his stomach… His mouth wide, open, drooling onto his chest. He whimpered a bit, curling up close to him.

Levi quirked an eyebrow at Eren, his eyes softening. Since when do you drool? But you're cute enough that I don't mind. Levi tangled their legs together, holding Eren close, rubbing circles into his back.

Jeff watched as Eren’s body shuddered in Levi’s grasp. “Is he okay?”
Levi’s brow furrowed in worry. “He doesn’t… I don’t know.” Should I wake him up? He could be having a nightmare… Or it could be something else… Oh God, please don't tell me the seizure did anything terrible to his head.

Jeff got up and ran to the kitchen. “Lathe… It's Eren…”

Lathe set down his knife, abandoning the noodles on the table and wiping off his hands as he followed Jeff back to the living room, kneeling next to Levi. “He’s shaking, I can see that. What else isn't normal? Was he muttering?”

“No, but he’s drooling, and he’s never done that in his sleep before…” Levi ran his hand through Eren’s brown locks. “Should we wake him up?” I don't think this is too good…

Lathe nodded, his eyes fixed on Eren’s expression. You have to gauge whether or not this could be a temporary thing. Be careful. Lathe gently shook Eren’s shoulder, his voice quiet. “Hey Eren, it’s Lathe. You should wake up.” We want you to be okay.

Eren barely moved, his mouth still drooling a large amount. His body was still shuddering, and Lathe’s quiet voice causing him to whimper. What’s happening? It’s so loud.

Lathe reached into his back pocket, pulling out his red kerchief, his voice still quiet. Are you scared of me? He could just be disoriented. “Eren, are you okay?” He wiped away Eren’s drool, careful not to startle him.

Eren jumped back from the touch, his eyes barely cracked open as he whimpered. So loud… Why is he so loud? Eren’s body was still shaking as he moved away.

Lathe kept his eyes sharply trained on Eren as he brought up his hand, telling Jeff and Nate silently not to move. You're about to get up. No. He drew back his hands, looking Eren in the eye as he brought up his hand and tapped his ear in questioning, mouthing ‘Am I too loud?’

Eren watched him, slowly nodded, still moving away from Lathe. He’s screaming at me… I don’t want him to scream at me… Eren’s eyes showed a hint of fear. I don’t want him to be mad at me. Please don’t be mad at me. Eren whimpered as he backed away, his back going flush against the back of the couch and he almost jumped from the contact.
His ears are seriously sensitive… He must think I'm screaming my head off at him. I doubt he knows sign language… And I don't have paper. Mime this out. Lathe shook his head, raising his hands in surrender, though he didn't move from his spot. He mouthed his words slowly so Eren could read his lips. ‘I'm not mad.’ He held out his hands a small distance in front of him, his expression apologetic. ‘Hug?’ You look really scared, but it's okay.

Eren watched him, slowly moving off the couch and towards the floor, he sunk down to his knees cautiously crawling towards him, slowly coming up into his arms. I'm scared, what's happening? Why is everything so loud? Why are my ears ringing?

Lathe gently wrapped his arms around Eren, not wanting to spook him. One hand resting on Eren’s back counted his heartbeats, and he listened as his breathing calmed. He’s calming down. Good, so he definitely recognises me, but his ears are a bit worrisome. He looked pointedly at Nate, miming writing with one hand and mouthing to him. ‘Pen. Paper.’ He watched him slowly get up, returning after a very short while. He pulled away from Eren gently, taking the pen and paper and printing neatly, handing it to Eren. ‘Your ears are hypersensitive right now. I was whispering a moment ago, not shouting or anything. It should pass.’

Eren watched him, his ears hurting as he heard the pen scratch the paper. He jerkily reached out, knocking the pen away and out of Lathe’s hands, quickly moving to cover his ears and started to cry. It hurts… It's too loud.

Lathe watched, stunned for half a second before a thought occurred to him. He slowly stood, raising one finger and walking to the kitchen, digging into his bag. He pulled out his noise-cancelling earbuds, leaving the iPod behind and returning next to Eren, handing them to him, showing him they were unplugged. He tapped his ears. That should help.

Eren looked to the earpieces, slowly putting them on, crying in relief when he didn't hear anything besides the ringing in his ears. It still hurts… It still hurts… Blake whined, following Eren and grabbing for his hand, sensing he was agitated, only the action made him scream and back away in fear. Quickly finding himself running away throughout the house, being chased by a confused dog… Screaming the whole time. Why’s it chasing me!? It wants to fucking bite me!! Eren ran in circles around the first floor, shooting past the group as he ran through the living room in a panicked frenzy.

Jeff just watched Eren screaming and running through the house being chased by Blake, who obviously didn’t know he was the reason Eren was freaking out more… he’s so loud… And he sounds like someone’s chasing him with a gun… Intending to kill him. “Blake… It’s Blake… Levi… Get the dog.” Jeff watched as Eren ran full speed through the house, knocking into walls and he tried turning corners, slipping a few times only to scream even more as Blake got close.
“MAKE IT STOP!!!” Eren’s voice laced in panic as he tried to get away from Blake. Blake didn’t understand and tried to get close to him, wanting to get him to the floor and ground him. Whining and barking for him to stop running, but of course Eren didn’t hear anything… Not even his own screaming… He only heard ringing, and that scared him even more.

Levi stood from the couch and waited for them to run past again, lunging for Blake’s collar and moving with him to catch him and keep him from choking on his collar. “Blake, he’s confused and scared of you. Heel!” Levi tried to keep him from pursuing Eren and scaring him even more.

Eren ran straight into Lathe’s arms, a crying and screaming mess. <“Make it stop! Please!”>

Blake whined pulling against Levi until he was told to ‘Heel’. He stopped and sat down in front of Levi with his ears perked, whining still when he heard Eren’s cries from the kitchen.

Let’s get him away from everyone. Lathe picked up the pen and paper quickly before leading Eren into the kitchen, his arms wrapped around him, trying to comfort him. He sat Eren down at the counter, pulling over a stool so he could sit and see him. He kept his arm around him, rubbing his back as he finished writing and let Eren see the notepad, adding ‘Blake was just really worried about you, he didn't know he was scaring you. Don't worry; you can stay here with me if you like.’

...are you fucking serious. This is bad. Really really bad. Lathe wrote quickly, his left hand flying across the paper. ‘Blake's your PTSD service dog. Don't you remember him? You didn't recognise him?’ I don't know if this is short term or long term… It's kinda looking like the latter… Fuck. Please let me be wrong.

Eren shook his head. No… Why do I have a dog? Where the hell am I? Eren’s eyes darted around the room. < “Where are we Dad?”> Eren’s voice was still full of fear as he spoke.

Keep calm, Lathe. Think. Nate’s house is a new environment, so that could possibly be chalked up to short-term memory loss post-seizure, which is normal. Same with the general confusion, and the hypersensitivity of his ears is normal. He remembers me, and he didn't freak out when he woke up on top of Levi, so he remembers him too, but Blake… That’s not good. That’s not good at all. ‘We’re at Nate Ruess’ house, in Pasadena.’
“Where the fuck is that!?" Eren backed away from Lathe a little bit. “Why are we here?”

Lathe scratched down his response quickly, keeping his hand on Eren’s arm, showing him the notepad. ‘We’re in the state of California, a little outside of Los Angeles. We’re here because you and Nate are friends, and he wants to show you around and sing with you.’ Has he forgotten all these recent developments? Next thing he’ll be telling me he doesn’t know he’s famous. I think he needs to sleep or do nothing too mentally straining, give his mind a chance to mend. If this is his first seizure this would make more sense. ‘Please don't be scared, Eren. You can trust him, and his producer Jeff too. They’re all really nice.’

Eren nodded, accepting that explanation. “Um… Can… Can I draw?” Eren asked softly, his hands starting to scratch at his wrists. I wanna draw… I wanna forget about it… I wanna calm down.

Lathe caught his wrists gently, nodding. He let go of his hands after a moment, holding up one finger and retrieving Eren’s discarded bag from the mud room, placing it on the kitchen table and setting out some of his drawing things where he could keep an eye on his from the counter and stove easily. He gave Eren another war, hug and kissed the top of his head before letting him draw, moving to finish cutting up the pasta.

Eren sat where he was on the chair and pulled his feet up to come in a cross legged position under him, his pencil starting to move over the paper.

Jeff looked down the hall and saw Eren and Lathe in the kitchen. “Did you catch any of what he said? He was pretty loud… Probably from the headphones…” Jeff’s voice was quiet as he looked over to Levi. That was terrifying, I can’t believe that all just happened.

Levi looked down to Blake, petting him. “When he was running, he said he wanted us to make it stop, make Blake stop chasing him. And… In the kitchen…” Levi swallowed hard. “He… He didn't know who Blake was. And he didn’t know… Where he was, or why we’re here.” That’s… That’s not… No… Levi walked back over to the couch and dropped down onto it, rubbing at his eye and trying to keep himself together. Maybe it’s just a temporary thing. We can hope.

Nate held his head in his hands, his elbows on his knees and eyes full of worry. That’s not good, that's not good at all, who am I kidding that’s fucking terrible … terrifying. “…maybe it’ll pass. Maybe it’s not permanent. I think… I think Lathe would have told us by now if he thought it was so abnormal that it couldn’t be reversed.”
Lathe’s hands moved deftly as he made lunch, studying Eren out of the corner of his eye. He stopped for a moment, fishing again in his back pocket for his kerchief, coming over to Eren and handing it to him. He pointed to Eren, then to his mouth. ‘You’re drooling.’ That shouldn’t be permanent.

Eren watched him, staring at the handkerchief in his hand for a few moments before slowly and with jerky motions raising the cloth to his mouth. He wiped around his mouth, pulling it back to see that he had drooled a lot. But… I don’t drool… Eren swallowed hard, his grip tightening on the red cloth, looking up to Lathe with scared eyes. Eren’s confused response was loud enough for Levi to hear in the other room.

Blake whined as he heard the agitation in Eren’s voice so he got up to go and get to him, only to be pulled back by Levi’s firm hold. He whined, looking back at Levi and trying to tug away from him.

Lathe reached for the paper and pen again, his other hand on Eren’s shoulder, giving him a reassuring smile. ‘It’s nothing to worry about. It’ll pass soon enough.’ His head slightly turned as he heard Blake’s whining, his thoughts consumed by Eren’s lack of recognition of him. Think. Is there any particular reason Eren wouldn’t recognize him? Does he look the same? …did he? He wasn’t wearing his vest… maybe that’s it.

Lathe held up one finger, moving to the mudroom and picking up Blake’s vest, walking to the hall and calling to the living room, still where Eren could see him. “Levi? Come here for a sec. And bring Blake with you.” He stopped Levi as he rounded the dining table, tossing the vest to him. “Put this on Blake again. I have an idea.” I hope this works.

Levi caught the vest easily, raising an eyebrow at him and kneeling down to put it on Blake, standing after a moment. “Do you want me to lead him into the kitchen, then? See if Eren recognizes Blake now?” I can kinda see where you’re coming from with this...

“Yeah, follow me. But don’t go too fast, I don’t want to spook Eren.” Lathe turned and walked over to Eren, wrapping an arm around his shoulders, writing quickly. ‘Someone wants to say hi to you. They’re nice, don’t worry.’ He smiled softly and pointed to the doorway where Levi walked in slowly, Blake in tow.

Eren watched as Levi walked in with Blake. He couldn’t hear his whining, but he could see that Blake was straining against Levi’s grip. Eren moved down, out of his chair and sat down on the floor across from them, watching him with wide eyes. He’s so big...

Blake noticed Eren’s agitation rise, so he laid down, slowly creeping forward, his whining quite loud when he came near Eren across the room, still on the ground. He waited there, waiting for Eren to allow him to come closer.
Eren’s face slowly changed and he slowly started to reach out towards Blake, his hand shaking and timid before he pet him and his face seemed to instantly change, into a softer expression. “Blake.” Eren called his name and watched as the dog came up to him and lick his face, Eren giggling in response, a large smile on his face. My Blake.

Lathe let out a huge sigh in relief, his head in his hands. Thank the fucking Lord, Eren recognizes him. He looked up to Levi, whose expression mirrored his own. “So that fixes that. Everything else that’s been going on will pass, without a doubt, now that we know that his memory loss is temporary and can be jogged. But he’s not going out at all today. And that’s not a suggestion, it’s an order.” Enough shit has gone down for today. “We all just need to relax.” He leaned down and ruffled Eren’s hair gently, smiling. “I’ll finish making food, and then we’ll just all hang out for today.” He walked back to the stove, stirring a large pot and fixing up cheese sandwiches for the press.

Levi sat down on the floor next to Eren, petting Blake with him and sorting through his thoughts. If this is how he reacts to planes, I don’t think I’d drag him into an airport ever again. How else could we get you back across the country that isn’t driving, and isn’t a plane? His eyes widened, a thought occurring to him. “Hey Lathe, what if we took a train back to Kansas?”

Lathe stopped, thinking hard, slowly beginning to nod his head. A grin began to crack across his face. That’s fucking genius. How didn’t we think of that sooner?! “That’s it. That fixes everything.” He beamed at Levi. “I’ll cancel our flight back to Kansas, and look up trains heading back to Wichita later. Good thinking!” This could work! Yes!

Jeff stood in the doorway watching as Eren giggled happily, seeming as though nothing had happened to him before. He glanced over at Nate, standing on the other side of the doorway. Lunch smells great… And Eren looks to be back to normal. I really hope he is, and that nothing major is wrong with him.

Nate stepped into the kitchen timidly, still wary of Eren. I don’t want to set him off, but he does look somewhat okay right now. “You really did a number on the table, Lathe.” He quirked an eyebrow at the island, flour dusted over quite a large part of it. “Are we anywhere close to eating? You’re killing us over here, with food smelling that good.” He grinned.

Lathe looked over his shoulder at the two of them, chuckling. “Yeah, lunch is pretty much ready.” He turned the burner on low, fishing a stack of bowls out of a cupboard, filling one and turning to Levi. “Food, Levi. Make sure Eren knows… and Nate, wait there for a second.”

Levi tapped Eren gently on the arm, catching onto Lathe’s train of thought. He pointed over to the doorway, at Nate and Jeff, turning back to Eren and giving him a thumbs up. Hopefully you recognize them... they're nice.

Eren looked up at the two of them, his face contorting in confusion for a few moments before everything clicked. Eren was up off of the floor in only a few seconds and his arms wrapped around Nate’s middle. “Nate!” Eren’s voice was happy and excited, but he still couldn’t hear anything aside from the ringing in his ears due to the headphones. Nate’s here... Wait... Didn’t Dad say we’re at Nate’s house? Are we staying here?

Nate smiled easily, returning Eren’s hug, rubbing his arm. Thank god, I’m not a stranger. He seems surprised to see me, though. Nate spoke quietly, even though he knew Eren couldn’t hear him. “Glad you’re okay, Eren.” He pulled back after a moment, looking over to Jeff with a smile. He nodded over to him, directing Eren’s attention. Need to make sure you remember him, too.

Eren looked over to Jeff, whom he stared at blankly before he slowly got closer. “J-Jeff?” Eren was a bit hesitant around him, not trusting of him yet. He slowly reached out to Jeff’s hand and poked at it. Does he hit? I don’t want to be hit.

“What’s he doing?” Jeff looked around to Lathe, feeling Eren poking at his closed fist again. He slowly brought it closer to Eren to see him inspect it, only to have him hurriedly shuffle back and almost hide behind Nate. Wait am I scaring him?

Nate looked quickly between the two of them, recognition flashing past his eyes. “Oh no, no, Eren, Jeff’s nice. He’s not going to hurt you.” Nate reached around to slowly bring Eren closer to Jeff. “He’s not going to hit you, I promise.” Nate moved to stand next to Jeff, resting his elbow of Jeff’s shoulder. “See? He’s cool.”

Eren watched Nate move closer to Jeff, but he shook his head, his eyes still glancing down at Jeff’s hands at his slightest movements. <“Fist... Hurt me...”> Eren timidly pointed at Jeff’s closed fist still.

Jeff's brow furrowed in confusion. “What’s he saying? Does he want me to do something?” Jeff was so confused. What the hell is he thinking? Does he still think I’ll hurt him?

Levi stood from his spot on the floor, approaching them slowly. “Your hand is in a fist; he’s afraid you’re about to hit him.”
Jeff looked down to his hand, slowly unclenching his fists and saw Eren relax visibly. “He thought I was going to hurt him?” Jeff slowly reached out a palm towards Eren. Will this freak him out more?

Eren watched him and timidly reached a hand towards the outstretched palm and brushed his fingertips down the length of his palm twice before pulling his hand back, moving to return to Levi’s side, looking at Lathe to see his wide eyes. Did I do something wrong?

...That means forgiveness. Lathe was stunned for a moment, and looked to his own hands, lifting them and beginning to slowly sign to Eren. Start with something simple. {You know sign language?}

Eren watched the words… Moving up to Lathe and reaching for his hand, spreading out his palm before he moved his own hand on top of it. He pinched his pointer and thumb together, placing it slowly on Lathe’s open palm. {A little bit.}

He’s talking through my hands. It’s probably how he learned it. Lathe moved his hands, Eren’s following his motions. {I didn’t know. It’s time for lunch. I’ll get you some, okay?}

Eren watched his hands move, feeling them under his fingers. His brow furrowing for a few moments before he nodded, his fingers light on Lathe’s palm as he signed the letter ‘T’. Eren looked up to him with hopeful eyes. Can I have tea?

Lathe studied the letter for a moment in confusion before it clicked. Right. Lunch. Tea. {Okay. One minute.} He drew his hands away from Eren, going to set a kettle full of water onto the stove. He picked up one of the bowls and filled it with soup, placing a spoon in it and handing it and a plate with a cheese panini on it to Eren. He made sure he had a grip on both before signing. {Sit at the table, and I’ll bring you T.} He made sure to use the letter T, gesturing to the kitchen table where Eren had been drawing.

Eren stood there for a few seconds, looking behind him to the table Lathe gestured to and went to set his food down amidst all his coloring supplies. He came back though, and waited to take Lathe’s hands back. I want two tea bags… He doesn’t know that though. Eren took his hands when Lathe returned his attention to him. {2 T.} Eren stood there, hoping Lathe would get the message. He hadn’t realized he had started to speak in English as well… Actually asking for two tea bags out loud… But of course he couldn’t hear himself and thought he was only moving his lips for Lathe to better understand him.

Lathe immediately nodded, smiling. Aaaaand back to English! He turned as the kettle soon started to sing, grabbing a mug from the cupboard and filling it, dunking in two teabags and placing it on the counter next to Eren. {You decide when it’s ready.} He turned back to fill more bowls with soup, handing them and plates one by one to the rest of them.

Eren watched the mug Lathe had out on the counter. He waited for a few minutes, letting the tea steep for a long time. Strong… Good. Eren took the two tea bags out and looked around in confusion. Where’s the garbage? I don’t know… Eren stood there awkwardly.

Jeff looked up to see Eren looking around in confusion with the two used tea bags, he slowly approached Eren with open hands, and gently took them from him and showed him where the garbage was. He returned to his seat after Eren sat back down and began eating. He still picked up his pencil to work on his sketch of a lion.

Levi moved with his own bowl and plate to sit adjacent to Eren, watching him draw as he ate. He nudged his foot with his own, smirking at him. We’re back to English. Good.

Nate sat down across from Eren, speaking after a few minutes as they contentedly ate. “So, the thing is, tomorrow it’s supposed to rain. And not just rain, it’s supposed to pour. So, I’m thinking we go to the Zoo tomorrow, when nobody’ll be around, and the animals will be out because it’ll be cool out. If he’s up for it.” Nate looked to Lathe. Do the sign language thing… Eren can’t hear me.

Lathe nodded. “Sounds good to me.” Lathe looked up as Levi mirrored his actions, and tapped Eren’s arm, spelling some of the words. {Zoo tomorrow? It’ll rain, but not many people will be there.}

Eren watched the words Lathe signed to him, picking up his sketchbook and tapping at the picture of a lion showing it to him. Zoo? Lions? Eren tried to think about his next word. Camera… Did we bring one? {C-A-M?} Eren made the motion of taking a picture and tilted his head. He still asked if they had it, but he was unaware as he tried to get the sign language across. Does he understand?

{Yes, and we have the c-a-m-e-r-a. We’ll bring it with us.} I made sure we had it with us. It’s still in your bag. That’s not the kind of thing you check in your suitcase.

Eren’s smile went from ear to ear as he nodded, but then his face darkened a bit. He pointed down to Blake, asking if he could come softly. Can he come? Or do we need to leave him here?
Lathe looked to Blake, thinking for a moment. {I don't think he can come with. He might stress the animals.}

Eren gave a small pout and a soft noise of disapproval. {No people?} He spoke softly in hope that there wouldn’t be a lot of people. I don’t want to be surrounded again.

Lathe shook his head. {No people.} People tend not to go outside during pouring rain.

Eren nodded. {Okay.} Eren returned to eating, mumbling softly every now and then, sometimes is was curses when he broke a pencil tip, or if he made a stray mark. Eren had eaten his whole bowl, three times over, and had managed a second sandwich… Not realizing that Jeff had left after he had finished eating… So the other three were just staring as he swore every now and then.

Lathe stared in surprise as Eren ate so much, tapping his elbow, amusedly signing. {Had enough to eat yet? And watch your language, Eren.} You're swearing all over the place.

Eren nodded before his brow furrowed. {What? Why language?} Eren was really confused as he stared at Lathe. Why is he asking to watch my language.

{You’re talking. You keep s-w-e-a-r-i-n-g.}

Eren’s face went completely flushed and he covered his mouth, his eyes wide. Fuck! Eren looked down, slowly holding a flat palm out. Will you forgive me?

Lathe recognised the gesture, running his fingers down his palm twice. I forgive you. It’s not like you could hear yourself talking. Lathe picked up his dishes, walking them and the other empty plates and bowls from the table to the sink, starting to clean up.

“He swears more than Cartman!” Nate joked, eyeing Eren amusedly. Pretty colourful vocabulary you've got there.

Levi turned to him, raising an eyebrow, smirking. “Are you kidding? Just wait until he’s back to speaking German, and make it Kenny.” It’s really bad when he’s talking in German, you would not believe.
Levi nodded, standing up from the table. “Sounds good. Let me grab a mug of tea first.” He sent a small smile to Eren before grabbing a mug, soon disappearing with Nate back into the living room.

Lathe washed the counter of the flour and egg, sitting back down next to Eren as he finished his drawing, his pencil hovering unsure over a clean page. {Want to go sit outside on the p-o-r-c-h? We can work on your sign language a bit.} You need to learn a bit on how to do it by yourself, not on someone else’s hands all the time. Especially since you switch from English as much as you do.

Eren watched his hands, moving in his seat to point to the door at the end of the mudroom leading to the back porch. Out there?

Lathe nodded. {Yes. That okay? You can keep d-r-a-w-i-n-g if you want.} Whatever you want.

Eren nodded, putting the pencil down, taking his hand and leading him outside to the porch. {How...I… Sign… Myself?} Eren took time between each word to make sure he was doing it right on Lathe’s hands.

Lathe moved them over to a table in the shade of an orange tree, sitting opposite Eren. {Yes. You can sign on my hands, but you should learn to sign by yourself. We can start with the a-l-p-h-a-b-e-t.}

The afternoon went by quickly after that. Eren made wonderful progress with signing by himself; he got the alphabet down, the most important thing he could learn for sign language, and he’s getting lots of words down, if he takes his time with it. He started speaking normally after a few hours, and we took out the earbuds without any problems. We had to go back inside after a while to make dinner, and Eren wanted to help me make pasta. We somehow kept from having another full-on flour war, which I’m actually kinda thankful for, because Nate’s kitchen is huge, and I don’t know if I’d be up to cleaning up that mess. Eren started humming when we were rolling out the dough, and I just had to start singing, and soon enough we’re just going through song after song together, just whatever came to mind. I hadn’t gotten any pasta sauce while we were out earlier, so we tried making it from scratch, which actually wasn’t as hard as I thought it would be. We’d end up hearing Levi and Nate roaring with laughter every once in awhile from across the house, which was pretty amusing. It was kinda difficult to get them to come and eat when dinner was actually ready, but they forgot about TV as soon as they sat down at the table. Which was good, because knowing them, or at least Nate, they’d take their food into the living room and drop the bowl laughing, and tomato sauce stains. But Eren was himself. I’m really relieved... I was so worried that the memory loss was permanent. It’s definitely not, though. Nate actually had the gall to hide an ice cream cake from us. Who does that? I understand not wanting other people to steal your sweets, but seriously! “Were you ever going to tell us you had that, Nate?” Lathe grinned impishly.

“I wanted to make sure there was still some left for dessert, yeesh. You’d probably inhale it all if you got the chance.” I'm surprised you didn't check the freezer, honestly. Nate went to get them all clean plates, handing each of them a slice and a clean fork.

Eren looked at the foreign food with curiosity. “What is this?” Seriously... What is it? It looks so weird... Eren took a timid fork full before instantly shaking his head and pushing the plate towards Levi. “No thank you…” He murmured and grimaced at the sugary taste the creamy food left in his mouth. That's gross... It was so sweet.

Right. “He’s not a fan of sweet stuff, I don't think it ever came up…” Lathe grinned as he remembered something, standing and grabbing a box from on top of the fridge, tossing it gently to Eren. “Here; you might like these instead.” He sent a pointed look to Levi, wagging his eyebrow. You better know what those are.

Levi tried not to choke, a blush spreading across his face. Pockeys. At least that’s not the worst idea you've ever had. Levi looked back at his plate, less interested in his cake than he was before. He looked back to Eren. I'd much rather share some of those with you...

“What are these?” Eren looked at the package with curiosity, slowly opening it and taking a bite of the first stick, finding that he liked them. “They’re good.” Eren said and picked up another to eat. “Can I have the rest?” Eren asked Lathe, his voice full of innocence.

Lathe grinned mischievously, glancing over to Levi. So he does know what they are. “Yep. And there’s four more boxes of them, too. ...Just remember to share.” His grin widened as Levi blushed furiously. Oh, get over it. We all know how much I ship you two.

Levi swallowed hard, abandoning his cake and standing, tugging on Eren’s sleeve. “H-how about we grab our stuff from the mudroom and head upstairs, okay?”

Eren nodded and followed Levi to grab their things and head upstairs. “Did Nate show you upstairs already?” He asked quietly.

“Yeah, he did.” Levi led Eren along, turning left at the top of the stairs and opening the door directly in front of them to a large guest bedroom, an armoire next to the queen-sized bed. He locked the door behind them quietly and rolled his suitcase against the wall, holding his hand out for the small red box as Eren did the same. “Can I see those for a second? I promise I won't steal them all.” He smirked, a glint in his eye. This is gonna be fun.

“Uhh… Yeah?” Eren seemed unsure of himself as he handed Levi the large box.

Nate watched them leave. Well, he needs a drink just as much as I do so… “While it’s just us adults…” Nate slipped out of the room, coming back with a large bottle of Jack Daniels and two heavy glasses. “I think we need some liquor after what we went through today.” Nate set the bottle and the glasses down, going into the freezer to grab his large ice cube tray. Picking out two, he set them in his glass looking over Lathe. “On the rocks? Or straight?” If you’re cool with it being room temperature, that’s cool man.

Lathe eyed the bottle warily before letting out a sigh, running one hand through his hair. I could do with a drink for once. “On the rocks.” It has been a hell of a day. “Thanks.” He took the glass from Nate, feeling the slight burn of the alcohol as he sipped from the glass, swirling it around in his hand, his fingers around its rim. One drink isn't about to kill me.

“You okay? Like, you’re not gonna break down on me after what happened to Eren today?” Nate deadpanned, raising his glass to finish it off, lifting the large bottle and filling his glass again. *God,
I definitely needed this, and Lathe probably does too.*

Lathe laughed under his breath, sliding his now-empty glass over a bit, letting Nate refill it. “I'm honestly surprised I haven't yet.” His face fell a bit, studying the ice in his glass. “He worries me to death sometimes. He’s got so much plaguing him… it’s not always a walk in the park to deal with.”
But. “But I'm going to be there for him with all of it. I mean… I'm his Dad.”

Nate sipped at his drink, motioning for him to move down to the table instead of standing around the island. “Do you wanna talk about it? You seem like you could use someone to vent to.” He said and sat down at the table. This burn feels good, if he needs to rant, I’ll let him… I know what it's like to keep it pent up...

Lathe sat down next to him, leaning his elbows on the table. He let out a heavy sigh after a moment, dropping his head. “…I really could. Thank you.” He took another sip from his glass, leaning his head on his hand.

“Well, I’m here… So you get to spill, the liquor isn’t gonna run out anytime soon, so if you need more, by all means…” Nate motioned to the bottle, sipping at his drink, leaning back. *Spill... I Lathe finished off his glass, setting it down and letting Nate refill it, not caring that the ice was nearly gone. He let out a shuddery breath. “I…” His voice cracked, and he swallowed hard, his voice shaking a bit as he spoke. “I just… Eren’s been through hell and back. He really has. And as much as I want to protect him from anything that could hurt him… I can’t protect him from his own memories. He… You don’t know what could send him into an attack. He could see one thing, whether it be a gesture or an object, or say something specific, and all of a sudden he’s… He’s terrified of everything and can’t remember English, crying maybe, on the floor scratching… Sometimes, he—” Lathe swallowed hard, taking a long drink from his glass, a tear running down his cheek. “—he won’t even recognise me, and… and I can’t do anything about that. I just…” Tears started to fall in streams, rubbing at his eyes with his sleeves, sniffling. “Sometimes I have to con-convince him that I’m not going to hurt him and just h-hold onto him, and I’m a stranger to him trying to c-comfort him… I…” Lathe let the tears fall, finishing his glass and sliding it over to ask for another. “I never feel like I’m doing a good job… I really just want him to be happy, and… and I don’t t-think I’m good enough…” He dropped his head into his arms, sobbing, his empty glass still in his tight grasp.

Nate filled his glass again not as full, rubbing at his shoulders in comfort. “Lathe… How can you say that? You’ve given him so many opportunities he would’ve never had without you. Lathe, have you seen how happy he is with you? He’s smiling practically whenever he’s around you, Lathe. He wouldn’t’ve survived without you… You’ve done so much for him… You’re more of a father than his actual one ever was… your doing great Lathe! You need to believe in yourself a little more.” Nate finished off his glass, pouring another for himself. “Do you really think he’s not happy? He found another piece of his mom again in his sign language with you…” He seemed so happy to have another part of her in his life at dinner.

Lathe lifted his head, tears still tracking down his cheeks as he downed the whiskey in one gulp, setting it down in silent demand for more. “I c-can’t give him e-everything, though… I c-can’t always b-bring him out of an attack. S-sometimes L-Levi has to h-help, and it still barely g-gets him back to us… And what i-if I’m not around and… And something h-happens? What if I’m at the store a-and he has an attack? What if I’m not t-there a-and… And G-Grisha comes back?” Lathe downed another glass, feeling it burn down his throat. “I—I’m n-not going to be there w-when he re-really needs me, and… w-what good is my s-sign language then w-when he… When he’s…” Dead. Lathe shook, burying his face in his hands, his expression contorted with misery.

Nate sighed quietly, filling the glass just halfway again. I know you needed the fucking drink, but you are way too insecure… Like, you are worse than Eren at this point. “Lathe, you’ll always be around for him… You need to be, especially with Levi going away… He needs someone to be there for him when Levi’s at college. You’re the only one who can do it…. Grisha’s not gonna be able to come back, people would know if something happens to Eren, he’s starting to get a regular schedule down… Nothing is going to happen to him without people noticing… Don’t worry Lathe, you’re doing great with him. He’s so happy with you, and I wish you could see that.” Nate moved his glass to fill it again. He’s so happy with you and Levi by his side. “He trusts you, Lathe… Blake trusts you… You are the best person for the job of raising him out of that hellhole he was in, and giving him everything he wants. You, Lathe. You’re the only one who can do it.” Believe in yourself will you?

“B-but I… I’m not always going to be r-right next to h-him… I c-can't drag h-him everywhere, and if something h-happens and he c-can't come to get me, I… I w-won't always be able to h-help, and I w- want to always be there to h-help…” He dropped his hands, picking his glass up again. “E-even if he i- is happy… I can't h-help but think I could be b-better… I'm t-trying, I r-really am, but I c-can only do… s-so m- much…” Lathe looked up to Nate, his eyes glassy. “D-do you r-really think I'm d-doing okay?”

“Lathe how could you even ask that? You’re doing better than anyone else could! I know if I tried I would never be able to do this! You're doing fabulously.” Nate filled his glass, picking it up and finishing it in one swig, a heavy blush forming on his cheeks. That one burned… But it’s a good burn.

Lathe’s face was red from the tears and the whiskey, sipping at his glass, staring into the amber liquid. “I h-hope so…” He finished his glass setting it down, covering the top with his hand as Nate moved to refill it. “N-no thanks… I've h-had enough.” He leaned his head in his hands, trying to even out his breathing, his tears finally stopping. “T-thank you, N-Nate… It m-means a lot…” I never have anyone to listen...

Nate smiled putting the large bottle away, his steps a bit swayed. “You okay to wake up early tomorrow?” Nate asked slouched against the doorway. “I can take you up to your room if you want. We’ve all had a long day.” Nate hadn’t noticed Blake come downstairs and begin to paw at Lathe’s knee, wanting to be let out.

Lathe sighed heavily, standing on unsteady legs, holding onto the table. He slowly made his way to the back door, opening it for Blake. He turned back to Nate, trying not to let his legs give out from under him. “Y-yeah… Please.” I can’t fucking stand, what the hell.

Nate nodded. They waited for Blake to come back in before they all went upstairs. Nate led Lathe past the first guest bedroom to the second, opening it to show him the Queen bed. “Here’s your room. They boys are next door… Yeah, and the bathroom is over there.” He pointed across the hall from the first guest bedroom. Then pointed to his own room, directly across from Lathe’s. “That’s my room… I’ll see you guys tomorrow morning.” Nate sauntered off to his room and closed the door behind him. The first guest bedroom was completely silent, the door locked, but as soon as Blake whined, it was opened and he was allowed in and the door closed and locked right away.

Lathe let out a quiet laugh, stumbling into his room and shutting the door behind him. He didn't bother undressing at all and climbed into bed right away, instantly falling into a dreamless sleep.
Chapter 22: Summer Continues

Eren woke up at five the next morning, looking over and seeing Levi and Blake still very much asleep. He smiled, getting up and silently getting dressed before slipping out of the room and going down the stairs. This house is so big... Does Nate live here alone? Eren made his way to the kitchen, smiling as he saw his drawing stuff all over the kitchen table, but he moved out to the porch, breathing in the fresh morning air. It’s beautiful outside. Eren looked around at the trees lining the area, adorned with fruits up in the high branches. Oooohhh... Those look really good. He had his sights set on the large blood orange tree in far corner of the back yard, before one would pass beyond the garage. He looked around for anything to try and grab the beautiful fruits from the tree. How do I get up there? Eren’s eyes lit up like a Christmas tree and he moved to start clambering up the trunk.... This looks cool from up here. Eren reached up, grabbing quite a few of the large blood oranges and tucking them into his shirt. After he got enough to satisfy himself he had a good aerial view of the area, his eyes drifting towards the space behind the large gate.

What’s that blue thing? Eren slowly and carefully clambered down from the tree, only a few small scrapes on his hands and bare feet from the bark, but he didn’t seem to notice as he got closer to the gate, going on his tiptoes to try and see over it. What’s that blue thingy? It looks really cool...

What is it? Eren figured out how to open the large white gate after a few frustrated attempts at opening it. He watched the gate close, but made sure it didn’t close completely. I wanna be able to get out of here... Once he knew that the gate wasn’t going to close on him he warily padded towards the large rectangular blue object which took up most of the space behind the garage. What is it? Eren’s curiosity was completely piqued, leading him to slowly reach down to touch the glassy surface. It’s water! What the fuck? Why does Nate have so much water in his backyard? Does he know? Is it clean? Eren raised his hand up to his face. It smells weird... And it tastes weird... Eren contemplated the reason this amount of water existed in the ground in Nate’s backyard. He put his hand back down into the water realizing it was quite warm, he shifted positions and soon had his feet down in the water, sitting at the edge of the deep end of the pool without realizing it. He reached into his tied off shirt and pulled out an orange, starting to expertly peel the orange and bite into the juicy fruit.

Levi grumbled in his sleep after a few minutes, his arms searching for Eren at the loss of warmth. Finding nothing but empty sheets, Levi cracked his eyes open, suddenly awake as the house was silent, Eren nowhere to be seen. Don't freak out, he's probably just downstairs. Yeah, for breakfast or something. He sat up and swung his legs over the side of the bed, pausing as he saw Blake still asleep at the foot of the bed. That's not good. Levi left their room, padding down the stairs, quietly calling for him and looking over the rooms. “Eren?” Levi walked to the kitchen, his eyes wide with worry. “Eren!?” His voice started to fill with panic. Where is he?! He ran upstairs, pounding on Lathe’s door loudly. “I can't fucking find Eren!” Fuck.

Lathe’s eyes shot open, ignoring his pounding headache. He lifted his head to the door, scrambling to get up and straighten out his shirt before quickly opening it and taking in Levi’s scared expression. Shit. “What’s wrong, Levi?” He placed his hands on his shoulders, giving him his full attention.

“I-I don't know where Eren is! He was asleep with me last night, but when I woke up he wasn't in bed and I looked downstairs and he’s not there and Blake was still asleep…” He looked down at Blake who had woken up, pawing at his leg and whining.

“Blake.” Lathe looked at Blake, thinking. “Here, how about we use Blake to find Eren? He should be able to track him down. Come on, Blake.” Lathe crouched down, looking Blake in the eye. “Find Eren.” I hope you know what the word find means. Lathe followed Blake as the dog immediately left to go downstairs, Levi jogging behind him as Blake sniffed at the floor and walked them directly to the back door, pawing at it. I was sure I locked that… Lathe opened the door, following as Blake trotted over to a far corner of the yard, sniffing at the base of a tree. Lathe looked up. Blood oranges… Eren does like oranges. “Eren? Are you up there?” Lathe circled the tree, trying to get a good look past the branches. I don’t think he is, but… “One sec. I need a better view.” Lathe looked for a good handhold and quickly scaled the tree, pushing a branch aside and looking out over the backyard. Where are you… His eyes fell on a sparkling blue pool on the other side of a gate, barely ajar, small ripples across its surface. Lathe felt his stomach drop as he blinked and saw Eren floating upside down in the centre, his face going white as a sheet, his grip slackening. Oh my God. He nearly fell out of the tree, the near fall jerking him back to reality. He looked up in terror, letting out an immense sigh of relief as he blinked again, the image gone.

Eren’s not dead. He’s not drowning. Relax. He studied the water for a second, his eyes wide as the ripples kicked up a bit. But he still might. Lathe clambered down from the tree in an instant, passing Blake and Levi as he hurried to the gate, opening it and stepping onto the concrete, a hand over his heart as he saw Eren perfectly fine near the deep end, still eating his oranges, peels in a neat little pile next to him. “Eren.” Lathe walked over to him, his voice shaky. Don’t scare us like that. “Eren, please be careful. The water’s really deep there.” Lathe tried to hold back a worried sob, his mind still the smallest bit hazy from the night before. “Don’t scare us like that. We were so worried something had happened to you…” Lathe sat down next to Eren, pulling him into a tight hug, burying his face in his shoulder. I don’t know what I would do if you had fallen in, and...

Eren looked up when his name was called, giving a cheeky smile to his father, kicking at the water with his feet. “It’s not deep… It doesn’t look like it is…. Why were you worried? I didn’t want to wake you guys up so early….” Eren trailed off but picked his legs up out of the water and leaned back into Lathe’s arms. What did I do? I’m confused… And how deep is the water? It only looks like it’s a foot and a half feet deep. “Daddy? What’s wrong? Why are you crying?” Eren asked, his voice full of concern as he turned to see Lathe better.

The same image of Eren floating in the water flashed in Lathe’s mind, causing him to shudder. His voice was choked, trying to calm himself down. “T-the depth’s p-painted on the ground… It’s t-twenty feet deep… I-if you f-fell in a-and we didn't get h-here in time…” No no no no no please no Lathe held onto Eren even tighter, trying desperately to pull himself together. He’s okay, you’re here. Calm the fuck down.

Oh… That’s what I did… It’s cause I can’t swim… Eren turned away from the pool, leaving his unfinished orange on the cement beside him. He shifted so that he was hugging Lathe back. “I’m sorry Dad, I didn't mean to scare you…. It was so early… And I was really hungry… I’m sorry…”
Eren wrapped his arms around Lathe still and held on.

Levi knelt down next to the two of them, resting his hand on Eren’s shoulder. “How early is early? It’s barely 6:30 now…” You can’t get much earlier than this...

“F-five…” Eren told them and looked down. “I had trouble sleeping last night…. I couldn't stay asleep.” Eren moved so he rested his cheek on Lathe’s shoulder and moved a hand to hold onto his shirt. I don’t want Dad to worry, I’m okay. That’s a really long time… But he’s fine! You’re holding him in your arms right now. He’s okay. But what if he had fallen in? He’d have drowned and you would’ve just slept on like nothing fucking happened. You’re holding onto him right fucking now. He’s fine. You’re fine. And now he knows to be careful. You can teach him to swim sometime. Lathe nodded in understanding, carding his hand through his hair, resting his cheek on his head. For now, he’s fine.

Levi gave him a small smile. “It’s fine, Eren. It’s been an odd twenty-four hours, to say the least. I just got concerned when I couldn't find you straight away. But we understand.” Just don’t make a habit out of scaring us, Brat.

Eren smiled as he felt Lathe’s fingers card through his hair, his head tilting into the gentle hand. I didn’t think this through did I? Eren smiled at a thought, moving back from Lathe a little and reaching into his shirt he pulled out two more oranges. “Oranges anyone?” He had a large smile on his face, his hands were scraped up a bit, but nothing major. Lathe probably had the same damage on his own. I wonder if this’ll make Dad laugh? I want him to be happy too! We’re going to the zoo today! Eren gasped in shock as he felt the first large raindrop across his skin. What the hell? Eren looked up as the clouds broke loose, rain starting to come down, not as hard yet, since it was only the beginning, but the clouds were so dark it almost looked like night this early in the morning.

Lathe let out a breathy laugh, looking up to the sky as it started to rain. Oh yeah, I forgot about that. “The forecast called for rain. Here, let’s pick up your orange peels and get back inside, okay?” Lathe pressed a kiss to his temple before letting him go, picking up the pile of peels next to him and standing.

Levi helped Eren stand, making sure he didn't fall in before wrapping his arms around his waist and giving him a quick kiss, pulling him along with them to the house. I was really fucking worried… But you’re okay. That’s what matters.

Eren let Levi pull him inside the house, shaking his head and the water coming out of his hair like a wet dog. Blake did almost the same action of shaking off in the mudroom, but it went through his whole body and not just his head. Eren smiled as he saw Lathe come in, his eyes widening when the rain really started to come down. It's pouring out… Are we gonna be able to go? Eren looked towards the kitchen as he heard footsteps coming in.

Nate came down and smiled at all of them. “Mornin’!” Nate seemed pretty cheery, not knowing in the least what had just gone down between the three of them. “Did you guys get caught in the rain?” They’re soaked at their shoulders.

Eren smiled widely back at him. Reaching into his shirt and pulling out another two oranges. So that’s four that I haven’t eaten yet… “Dad?… Can you make cinnamon rolls? I’m still hungry.”

“I guess you could say that.” Lathe looked to the mountain of peels in his hands, then to Eren. “You’ve eaten nearly all the oranges from Nate’s tree back there and you’re still hungry?” He grinned. “Yeah, I’ll make cinnamon rolls.” He brushed off the peels from his hands in the garage can, going to peruse the fridge. “It’s a good thing I bought a couple of these.” He had a tray of cinnamon rolls in the oven in no time, leaning on the island and watching it really start to pour. “I made sure to bring all of our rain stuff, luckily, so we’re still set for the zoo today.”

“I didn’t get to eat all the ones I picked…” Eren trailed off as he sat down at the table with Levi and started to play footsie as they waited. Blake just laid down on the floor by Eren’s chair, watching as Nate made coffee in the coffee maker.

“Lathe, you want a cup of joe? Or are you a tea fanatic like the two crazies you brought here?” Nate turned to him after he filled his own mug but had gotten three more out incase all of them wanted tea or coffee. Please tell me I am not the only coffee drinker here.

“Coffee sounds amazing right now. Thanks.” Lathe gratefully took the mug from him, adding cream and a bit of cocoa from the small jar on the counter. He walked over to where his bag hung in the mudroom, fishing for the bottle of aspirin as his headache came back full-force. This is why we don’t drink six glasses of whiskey in one night. “You need any aspirin, Nate?” Jeff said you never get hangovers, but I find that hard to believe…

Nate shook his head. “Nope I’m good, you drank more than me last night anyways.” No he didn’t, but we’ll see if he remembers that… Surely Jeff told him I don’t have hangovers… Can’t hold my liquor… But I don’t have hangovers. “You guys are up awful early too… I thought I’d be waking you guys up at seven-ish.”

Levi quirked an eyebrow at Lathe. Didn’t take him as the drinking type. He looked back to Nate. “Eren was up at five this morning, and Lathe and I got up at six-ish. But in Kansas time it’s about nine or ten right now.” Jet lag and a hell of a day will do that to you. ...kind of explains the drinking thing, actually.

Nate’s eyes widened a bit. Five? Well, taking into consideration that Kansas is two hours ahead of LA does mean that he was really up at seven then... I guess? “Okay, so Eren was up first, and I see he raided the blood orange tree.” Nate chuckled and got out the box of tea bags for Lathe since he was near the kettle as it started to whistle. I don’t know how many they’re gonna want.

Eren gave a cheeky smile. “Yeah, they’re really juicy and really good.” Eren said with a smile on his face, putting the four uneaten oranges in a bowl in the center of the island. Well if anyone else wants to eat them they're there.

Lathe chuckled, dropping two teabags in a mug for both of them, waiting a few minutes for the tea to really strengthen before throwing the bags out and handing them to Eren and Levi. “In that case…” He picked one up from the bowl, peeling it expertly. “I think I'll have one.” He peeled off a wedge, biting it and smiling. “Those are really good. Maybe we should see if any fruit trees could live in our backyard. That’d be really cool. He set down the orange as he looked to the oven, opening it and snatching an oven mitt, lifting the cinnamon rolls onto the stove. He took plates from the cupboard above him, icing the rolls and setting one in front of the two at the table.

Eren let out a soft squeal of happiness as the cinnamon rolls were put in front of them. Cinnamon rolls!! Eren happily dug into his food, sipping from his tea every now and then. “When are we leaving?” Eren got up to get more rolls. I'm happy I don't need to use pills to eat anymore.

Nate smiled, eating his own rolls standing at the island. “Well it opens at 10… And it only takes 15 minutes to get there, but it's raining, so I’m not gonna drive as fast on the highway. But really it's up to you guys... We could spend all day there if we wanted to, I just hope you brought enough space for your camera...” Nate lifted up his mug, finishing off his coffee before moving to fill it again. I’m cool with whatever...

“Oh don’t worry, we have plenty of space on the camera. There’s a 64-GB chip in the camera right now, and there’s four more where that came from. Lathe looked over to Eren and Levi. “It’s really up to you two when you want to leave. I’m fine with anything, really, whenever you two want.” He sipped from his mug, wincing. Fuck I hate hangovers… this headache sucks. Hopefully the aspirin kicks in soon.

Eren nodded, thinking about it. If we went early then maybe we can see all the animals awake from sleeping... “Right away, I wanna go right away… How many animals do they have there?” Please tell me they have lions! PLEASE!
Nate grinned. “Too many. There’s really anything you could think of. Seriously, name something.”

“Lions?”

“Yes.”

“Giraffes?”

“Yes.”

“Giant Anteater?”

“Yes.”

“Chimpanzees?”

“Yes.”

“African Painted Dog?”

“Yes.”

“Tigers?”

“Yes.”

“Asian Elephants?”
“Yes.”

“Speke’s Gazelle?”

“Yes.”

“Gorillas?”

“Yes.”

“Hippos?”

“Yes.”

“Jaguars?”

“Yes.”

“So, we’re going on a Safari.” Lathe joked, grinning at Eren. All those animals are there? That’s gonna be really cool.

“YES!” Eren through his arms up in the air like an excited five year old. I get to see all my favorite animals to draw! Ohh!! I can get pictures for more drawing!!

Levi gave him a small smile, sipping on his tea. “Well, we have plenty of time before the place even opens. We should leave right around ten so when we get there we have plenty of time to walk around. Judging by your enthusiasm, we’re going to be there for a while.” This is going to be really cool, seeing all those animals.

Nate chuckled. “Alright that sounds good, so we got two hours to kill… I would take you outside to see the pool, but it’s raining pretty hard out right now… Sooo… Yeah.” Nate had no idea the three of them had already seen the huge pool behind the large garage. Wonder what they'll come up with.

“What’s a pool?” Eren looked up at the mention of something he had no idea about. What the fuck is that?

Lathe suppressed a shudder, still a bit on edge. “That big pit full of water you were chilling near this morning. That’s a pool. You can swim in it for fun.”

“S-swimming?” Eren stuttered and looked down at his hands a little. “You’re supposed to swim in those? “But… I-I-I don’t know how to…” Eren looked up and he looked scared that he would see their angry faces for mentioning that he couldn’t do something.

“We should teach you. It’s something you should know how to do.” Lathe gave him a reassuring smile.

“Yeah, not knowing how to swim isn’t good. But it’s never too late to learn. It’ll be fun.” Levi sipped his tea, patting his arm as he recognised Eren’s fear. “Don’t worry yourself about it. We’ll make sure you know how to swim soon enough.” Maybe by the time summer ends we could go out once and help you at least learn to tread water. We can't have you drowning.

Eren looked down to his hands and nodded. I… I don’t know how…. Because Grisha never taught me… He just threw me in… Eren reached down to pet Blake to calm him down. “Okay…” Eren smiled softly. But Dad and Levi will help me swim, they won't throw me in the lake. They won't yell at me to die… Blake whined loud enough to snap Eren back to reality. “Sorry…” Eren swallowed hard. I wonder if I would freak out… If I went in the water with them?

Nate gave him a small smile. “It’s cool, Eren. Well, we have two hours until we can leave, so we should probably go over exactly what I’m dragging you to while you’re here. It’s gonna sound like a lot, but for the most part we can do two to four in one day.” He started counting off on his fingers, thinking. Probably should’ve written this down. Eh, if I forget anything I'll eventually remember over the next week ish. “The LA Zoo of course, Universal Studios in Hollywood, the Hollywood walk of Fame, TCL Chinese Theatre, Griffith Observatory, Walt Disney Concert Hall, the Hollywood Sign, Los Angeles Museum of Art, Santa Monica Pier, Olvera Street, The Grove, Sunset Boulevard, Farmers Market, Little Tokyo, LA Live, Dodger Stadium, Universal City Walk, Natural History Museum of Los Angeles, Runyon Canyon Park, Los Angeles Convention Center, a bunch of random beaches, Recording Center, and finally, the YouTube Space LA, where some people you know may or may not be.” He finished, grinning. Oh you're going to love the last one, especially.
“What’s the YouTube Space… Thingy?” Eren asked with confusion. It sounds like we're gonna be doing a lot in this trip. Eren looked up from Blake and looked at any of them for an explanation. What is it? Is it for YouTubers?

“It’s this space where YouTubers with more than 10,000 subscribers can go and record videos and use any of the things or sets they have there. It’s really cool, I've been there a few times. And because it’s open to any YouTuber who wants to use it, you might run into someone you recognise.” It's really really cool.

“I have over 10,000 subscribers?” Eren asked quietly. The last time I checked… Was when Nate told me he subscribed… And that was 3… How many do I have? I don’t even know how to check it!

Lathe stopped Nate before he could pull out his phone, his own already in hand. “I got this. You have…” His eyes went wide, grinning widely. “...5,947,306 subscribers.” That’s a ton of people. “Yeah, you're kinda a big deal, Eren. I'm surprised you haven't checked the count in that long.” You didn't even know you had ten thousand? Try 594 times that.

“I do? I don’t know how to check it… The last time I knew… Was 3 people.” Eren blushed a lot at the thought of that amount of people actually watching his videos. “Do they all watch the videos?” Eren asked curiously. I don’t know how to check that either.

“Eren, your last video, the Grand Piano one, was viewed 13 million times already. It’s been four days.” Lathe deadpanned. Four. Fucking. Days. “You've got a huge following! People who are subscribed to you receive notifications every time you post a video. So yeah, they most likely see at least a majority of your videos. ...We really need to go through this whole social media thing again.” You're not really a tech person, I get the feeling. But you're so popular right now you need to at least pay it some attention!

“Wait… It works like Twitter does?” Eren asked seeming to blush an even darker shade of red. I don’t get this at all! “How can I have more views than followers?” Doesn’t it go away after the first time you see it?

Lathe sighed, reaching for a clean piece of paper and a hard pencil. “I'm borrowing this paper. Look. Explanation time.” He sat down next to Eren, the pencil moving across the paper, drawing out little boxes and insignias and arrows. “You put videos up on YouTube for the whole world to see. When you put up a video, anyone who is subscribed to you receives a notification on their phone or computer that you put it up. They can go to it, and watch it as many times as they like. You also have a Twitter, where you can post pictures and little notes about your day, and announcements. People who follow you on Twitter will receive notifications whenever you put something up on there. Now, stay with me here. Your YouTube…” He drew an arrow across the page. “...is connected with your Twitter, which means that whenever you post a video, Twitter knows that you put it up, and sends out an announcement message to all your followers, so that they can go and see it. You can have more views than subscribers because you don't have to be subscribed to someone to watch their videos. Make sense?” Do I have to explain Instagram now? Is that where we're heading with this?

“Wait… Doesn’t the video disappear after you watch it?” Eren’s brow furrowed in confusion. “How many followers do I have on Twitter?” The last time I asked... I was at 400…

Lathe tapped at his phone. “About 14 million, a little over. And you're thinking of Snapchat. With Snapchat…” He drew the ghost icon. “You can take photos and send them to people, like text messages. Those go away after a while so they can't save them for later if you're sending something you don't want a bunch of people to accidentally see. You could also put photos up on your ‘story,’ which is pretty much just a collection of stuff you want others to see as much as they want. Like a mini slideshow of what you do with your time, kinda. Instagram is pretty much one big Snapchat story, but you can put videos on there too. I think. Yeah. Pretty sure. They all start to sound similar after a while, honestly. But each of these are meant to do practically the same thing: connect you with other people, whether privately between you and one other person, or between you and the whole world. People who are subscribed to you or follow you, they're people who are specifically interested in the stuff you do, and say. Did I miss anything?” Facebook is just kinda there at this point, so I don't think I have to go over it much.

“Ummm… Yeah… I think? So I should be more active on those apps on my phone then?” Eren asked as he pulled out his own showing off that all the apps were in a small cluster with thousands upon thousands of notices for each of them. What are those numbers over the apps?

“You haven't even opened half of them in weeks, I see. And yeah, you probably should. It’s important to talk to your fans.” He grinned, no malice in his words. “Here, pick one to start with. Twitter might work best, since you have the most followers on there. And all those numbers in the red ovals? That’s how many notifications you haven't responded to. They could be any number of things: how many people messaged you, if people you followed did anything while you were gone…” This is going to be an uphill battle, getting you into this, isn't it?

“The one with the 2 million is Twitter right?” He asked pointing to the icon of the small blue bird. “I get so confused on which one's which.” God this is so complicated. “Can you post pictures on Twitter?” Eren asked. I think you can…? Can I post a picture of Blake? Everyone loves Blake.

“The blue bird’s Twitter, and the names are under all of them in white for you to read if you forget. And yes, you can. Tap it.” ...now I really want us to embrace our inner white girls and take a selfie all together and post that. “The pen thing up at the top right corner? Tap that, and then tap the camera.” He watched as the camera app opened. “Now, what do you want to take a picture of? You can take more than one, if you want to post a couple.”

“You can post more than one? Can we take a picture of Blake… And then all of us together? Ooh! Can we take a picture at the Zoo too?” Eren asked his eyes sparkled with endless ideas dancing in his head.

“Yes, yes, and definitely yes. Twitter is good for the occasional picture. But if you want to put up a bunch of them, Instagram is best, because that’s all pictures. Here.” Lathe went back to the home page, showing him the Instagram icon and opening it, tapping the camera and the same app opening. “You can put up as many as you want. Twitter is more for random comments about life or things or people. But go ahead, go nuts!”

Eren’s smile brightened and he took a shit ton of pictures of Blake, posting them happily, all in one post but in a template he found. “Like this?” Eren asked as he put the caption: ‘Pics of Blake!’

“This gets posted?” Eren asked quietly looking up to Lathe. His pictures were a great quality and highlighted Blake’s features, some were even filtered, giving Blake a glowing appearance. He looks cute.

Lathe beamed. Well, you caught on quick. “Yep. Hit the post button, and sit back and watch the people fawn over how adorable Blake is.” He took out his phone as Eren posted it, the first to like it and deciding to comment on it because he could. ‘Omg he looks so cute! ^u^’ He looked up to Eren as he hit the post button.

Eren watched the number of likes explode and his eyes were wide. He smiled as he read the first comment. “I completely agree with this person.” Eren said and read the comment about him being cute, having not the slightest clue who it was. “Can we take a picture together? Can we? Can we? Can we?” Eren jumped up and down out of his seat as he thought about it. The likes and comments continued to climb, all of his followers really did love Blake. So many likes…

Lathe chuckled, his eyes bright. “Of course we can. Get over here, Nate. You're not getting out of this.” Lathe tapped the icon to turn the camera around. “Here, I have long arms. Let me, okay?” He carefully took the phone from Eren, holding it up high.

Levi moved over to get in the photo, his arms wrapping around Eren’s waist, giving the camera a faint smirk. Sorry, Fangirls. Mine.

Nate laughed, speaking in mock exasperation. “Fiiiine, if I have to.” He rolled his eyes good-naturedly, moving in on the other side of Eren and Levi, beaming at the camera.
Lathe grinned as Blake looked up to see what he was doing, snapping the picture and looking it over, posting it with the caption ‘Look who we’re hanging out with! @NateRuess’. “Alright, it’s up! And I tagged you, Nate.” Lathe looked to Eren’s confused expression. “Tagging someone means you referenced them in your post in some way, and you put a sort of link to them in your post so people can go and see their stuff, too. You put the at symbol, and then whatever their username is.” Lathe handed his phone back to him. “You can take more if you want. As many as you feel like, really. You're free to go completely overboard with this.” Everyone's going to love whatever you post.

Eren looked at his phone with a mischievous grin. He raced off into the house with Blake, everyone’s phones going off as Eren took professional-grade photos of random things around the house, making Nate’s house look amazing. This is so cool!

Levi quirked his eyebrow at the seventh picture of Nate’s stuff in two minutes. “He’s just finding random stuff and making it look really good.” It's actually pretty impressive, making a stack of DVDs look artistic. “Just wait until he gets his hands on the good camera.”

Lathe shook his head slowly, laughing at Eren’s enthusiasm. “I've created a monster.” He tapped away, posting little comments of his thoughts on every picture he put up. He didn't recognise my username. Huh. I thought he would.

Eren finally finished after he took a really flattering picture of Levi, leaned forward with his elbows against the island as the others made small talk. Eren posted the picture with a smile the caption reading: ‘The Best Boyfriend Ever’. He looks so fucking hot… Holy crap.

Lathe tapped at his phone, thinking of what to comment. Just don't be creepy. ‘He looks great; all your pictures do!’ He smiled as people liked it, keeping his comment near the top of the listings. He’ll be sure to see that one.

Eren smiled at all the comments coming in. “That’s weird… This person’s comments are all at the top of my posts.” Eren scrolled through the many he posted and the comment was always at the top. “It’s at the top of all of them? People like this person’s comments that much?” Eren showed Levi the comments and how this one person was always at the top. “Are they someone popular I have no idea about?” Levi would know… He’s more of a social media guru than me.

Levi looked over the name. coffeegodsAutonomous? Isn't that… He struggled to keep a straight face, glancing over Eren’s shoulder at Nate and Lathe, both barely keeping it together. I can either mess with Eren, or roast Lathe. Hmmm… payback time. Levi sent Lathe’s a pointed look, near imperceptibly nodding to his phone as he responded, feigning confusion. “I dunno who that is… I haven’t heard of them before. They must have a lot of followers.” Give him a cue, Levi. Think. “I wonder what their favorite kind of coffee is, if they must love it so much.” Levi held back a grin as a sub-comment popped up. “Huh. Strong, with cocoa, cream, and sugar.”

Eren smirked. Just like Dad. “Hey Dad! Look! This person has the same quirky tastes as you! They put chocolate in their coffee too!” Eren smiled as he showed Lathe the sub-comment. I wonder which chocolate is his favorite. Eren types out a response to the comment, asking yet another question. He waited for a response, going back over to Levi’s side across the island.

‘Vahlrona Bittersweet cocoa powder in a 9 oz jar purchased from Whole Foods yesterday and expiring in August of 20XX.’

Eren’s brow furrowed at the comment. “Hey Dad? Don’t you like Vahlrona Bittersweet Chocolate mix?” Eren asked quizzically. “Are you sure you don’t have a twin brother?” This person’s tastes are so much like Dad’s…. That’s kinda weird…. No one I know other than Dad likes Chocolate in their coffee...

‘I’m pretty sure I was an only child, Eren.’

What the hell? “That’s weird… They say they were an only child.” That’s pretty cool though. ‘Ah, that’s cool, I’m an only child too! It’s so weird… You have tastes just like my Dad. :P’ Eren waited for a response again. It’s kinda scary how close he is to Lathe.

This is too perfect. ‘I know! We even have the same taste in boots! Metal-capped toes all the way ^u^’ He quietly and quickly reached over and snapped a picture of the mudroom, zooming in a little on the boots and sending it.

Wait…. How would they know that? Those look like my boots... What. The. Fuck. Eren turned around to see Lathe moving back into his original spot and then everything clicked…. Finally. ‘Oh… Thanks for posting a pic of our shoes Dad.’ I am sooo done with you. Eren looked down at his phone. “You could’ve just told me! I actually thought there was someone else out there as weird as you! Do you know how scary that is?” Eren asked and he turned back to look at his own pictures and their comments. That’s scary… Because you’re basically a lunatic. That’s terrifying… What if there was actually someone out there like that? Would that mean that Dad had a stalker? What if it was….Grisha? Eren didn’t feel Blake bite his hand until he was trying to pull him to the floor. Reality came flooding back in and Eren kneeled down by Blake to pet him and calm himself down. No… He’s gone…. He’s not going to come back...
Levi knelt down next to Eren, pulling him into a hug from behind, his chin on his shoulder. He gave him a small smile, his eyes apologetic. “Sorry we scared you, Eren. We were just trying to have a little fun, not make you freak out.” Levi pecked his cheek, standing up with him.

Lathe smiled sheepishly at Eren. “Sorry. We were just messing with you, Eren. Though how did you not catch on that it was me earlier? I have my middle name in my username! ‘We’ like coffee the exact same way- with an exact expiration date! I was hoping you'd actually check the jar to see when it expired. I've thought you'd be much more suspicious sooner.” He grinned. “But this was too perfect, so I'm not complaining. But,” He walked over to where their backpacks hung in the mudroom, rifling through Eren’s. “If you're going to be posting so many pictures on the ’gram, you might want to use this.” He pulled out the camera they used to record Eren’s videos, showing it to Eren. “Do you know how to use this?”

Isn't that what I use for recording? “Umm… You plug it into the computer… And hit the record button on the computer?” Eren said and looked at the multiple other buttons on the sides of the camera. “But we don't have my computer….” Eren trailed off as he looked over the strange buttons. What do those do?

Lathe grinned, moving so they could both look at the display. He tapped a small slot at the side. “Well, yes, you can do that. And no, we don't have your computer, but you don't need your computer to use this. This camera has a small chip in it, which lets you take 64GB worth of photos and video, and you can upload all of that to your computer later. The most important buttons on here you should know… This button,” He pressed a button, which showed a black screen. “Will show you the last photo you took. But we haven't taken any pictures yet, so it doesn't have anything to show us. You can keep pressing this button to go further and further back with the photos you've taken, and the one right next to it to move forward through all of them again. This one just gets you out of whatever special menu you're in and sets you back up to take more pictures. This button turns the flash on and off, so if it’s dark you turn it on, and a light will flash when you take the picture so if it’s dark you can see it. And this, the very most important button, is right by your finger here. You press that, and it takes the picture. All these other buttons aren’t too important right now. Get it?” He handed Eren the camera. “There’s a strap to hang it around your neck, which I'll get out in a little bit so you don't have to hold it the entire time we’re at the zoo today. But go ahead, try it out! Don't mess with too many settings, though. I'm not a total expert on how that works.”

Eren held the light camera in his hands. What the hell do I do with it? Eren looked around for things to take pictures of. What do I take a picture of? He soon walked out of the kitchen and around the house looking for things, soon finding that a close up picture of the patterned pillows looked really fascinating, which led to him taking pictures at multiple angles. Is this what I do with it? Eren came back to the kitchen a few moments later. “Umm… how do I look at them again?” Eren asked and held the camera back out to Lathe. I can’t remember this for the life of me.

“This one under the screen, the one on the left goes back, and the one on the right goes forward.” Lathe pressed the back button once, nodding at the picture. “Nice angle on that one.” He pressed the button again, looking at the different angles Eren took the pictures from. “You're already finding really good angles. Once we find you a better subject matter you’ll be doing wonderfully. I’d suggest the backyard if you want, we’d need to get into our rain gear soon anyway and the camera’s waterproof. It’d be interesting, if you knew where to look.”

“Okay, that sounds good... um... can I wear my boots today?” Eren looked down as he shuffled his feet. I know he got me a bunch of shoes to wear... but... He gently put the camera down on the island, his eyes still not directly meeting Lathe’s, but they never did when he asked questions like these. I don’t want him to be mad at me.

He knows he can ask questions and not be terrified, right? Lathe rested his hand on his shoulder, smiling warmly. “Of course you can. They're fine for in the rain, they should keep your feet dry. Just because you have a lot more shoes now doesn't mean you have to stop wearing the ones you already like. Whichever you want.” Come on, I practically live in my boots. I can’t not understand.

Eren smiled and nodded. “Okay... and um... what am I supposed to wear?” Eren asked and looked up to meet his eyes for a split second before looking down at his shuffling feet. An improvement of sorts, but he was still healing mentally. That’s a really stupid question... but I have no clue.

“Well, let’s see. It’s a bit warm out, even though it’s raining, so, not a sweater.” Lathe joked, his eyes bright. Progress. “You have a light raincoat in your suitcase. It’s thin, dark green, and feels like plastic. You’ll know it when you see it. Thick socks, a thin long-sleeve, and pick a pair of shorts, because long pants would get soaked with the amount of puddles you're going to end up stomping in.” He’d better bring dry backup everythings, knowing him. “I dunno when we’d be home next, so bring down a dry change of clothes, for if and when you’re completely drenched, okay? And I have umbrellas, so I've got that covered. That pretty much goes for you too, Levi, word for word, except your rain jacket is a steel grey color. You have waterproof boots in your suitcase, we made sure of that, so wear those. Questions?” He looked between the two of them, smiling as they shook their heads. He ruffled Eren’s hair. “Good. Let’s all go get ready, then.” He looked over to Nate, who shrugged.

Nate grinned. “Alright, I'm coming, I'm coming.” He followed Lathe and Levi and a very excited Eren up the stairs, changing quickly and rifling through his closet for a rain jacket, finding a dark brown one. He poked his head out of his room as Eren scampered back down the stairs, an amused expression on his face. You’d think he’s never seen rain before.

Eren was giggling the whole way down the stairs, racing off to the mudroom to lace up his shoes. He looked really cute as he put on the oversized rain coat and picked up his camera. Picture time! Eren then went outside, flipping his hood up as he raced off to take more pictures. So Dad said he has a strap for this? That’s cool! Eren took over twenty pictures of the various fruits in the different trees, figuring out how to change the zoom on the camera pretty quickly. This is so cool!
Levi picked up his own change of clothes after tugging on his rain jacket, picking up Eren’s pile of clothes from where he forgot them on the end of the bed. He went down the stairs with his boots also in hand, placing the clothes on the island where Lathe would see them, pulling on his boots and going outside to supervise Eren. You’d think he had a triple espresso this morning, yeesh! Levi hovered underneath him as Eren clambered partway up a tree, ready to catch him if he fell. “Oi, Eren, be careful up there.”

Lathe walked over to them, wearing a long maroon raincoat and toting a green umbrella, a camera strap in his hand. “Hey Eren, I have that strap for the camera-” He stopped as he followed Levi’s gaze up into the orange tree, seeing Eren snapping a picture, not holding onto the branches. He swallowed hard. “Eren, I don’t think climbing up there while it’s so wet is such a good idea. You should really be hanging on…” He moved next to Levi, worried that he’d slip.

Eren took quite a few more pictures. “I’m fine Dad, I used to climb trees all the time in Germany.” Eren told him and he shifted a little more to get a better picture, changing the focus. A bright flash, quickly followed by a loud crack of thunder made Eren jump out of fear, knocking him off balance from the branch he was laying against, his eyes widened as he tried to wrap his free hand back around the branch. Shit! Eren felt the tree bark scrape against his arm as he slipped off the branch, the water not helping him stay attached to the rough surface.

Lathe immediately dropped what he was holding, moving as Levi brought up his arms, both of them catching Eren easily, one on either side. Lathe was white as a sheet, his eyes wide. “I think that’s enough tree climbing in the rain for you.” He and Levi set Eren down, pulling him into a tight hug before going to retrieve his umbrella, handing him the strap. “Here, so you can have both your hands free when you’re not using it.” His eyes were still heavy with worry. He could've gotten really hurt, he could've broken his leg or his arm, hit his head and gotten a concussion...

Eren nodded, his eyes still wide from the shock of actually falling out of the tree. That… That just happened. Eren jumped again, grabbing onto Lathe’s coat immediately as another clap of thunder sounded, he let out a high pitched screech in fright as he grabbed for Lathe. It’s so loud… Holy fuck. Eren’s hands were shaking from the shock… His whole body was. That was scary.

Lathe wrapped his arms tightly around him, holding him close and slowly starting them for the house. “It’s okay Eren, you’re alright. Let’s just chill inside for a little bit, you’re a bit shaken up from falling like that. It’s okay, let’s just get in the house.” I could use a minute, too. He let out a small sigh of relief as they entered the dry kitchen, closing his umbrella, taking the camera from Eren’s shaking hands and putting the strap on it. He hung up his coat and kicked off his boots, grabbing his bag and moving towards the island. “I’m just… gonna put our dry stuff in my bag. I’ll put my computer and stuff upstairs. Can’t chance that getting wet.” He padded over to the stairs, passing Nate on the steps. “I’ll be back down in a minute, but we’re gonna stay inside until we leave, okay? Eren scared us to death for the second time in two hours and fell out of a tree. He’s okay, we caught him… But yeah.”
Nate nodded, his expression one of understanding. “It’s cool. Wait, the second time? What was the first?” What happened to compete with falling out of a tree? Another question—why was he in a tree while it’s raining?

Lathe ran a hand through his hair, letting out a heavy sigh. “This morning, before any of us woke up, he went outside and was eating oranges by the pool, sitting at the edge of the deep end. Twenty feet deep, and he can’t swim… Scared the hell out of me when I saw him over there. If he fell in…” Lathe’s face was stony, ignoring the image that flashed past his mind. “It’s been two hours max and Levi and I are already worried sick.” He tried to keep his tone light, but it didn’t follow too brightly to his eyes.

Nate gave him a sympathetic look, patting his shoulder. “Well, he’s okay right now. That’s what matters. You go and do what you need to, and I’ll make sure to keep an eye on the both of them.”

He smiled faintly, going down the stairs to the kitchen. That’s too much stress for everyone already, and it’s not even noon… He stopped short in the doorway of the kitchen, his eyes wide as he watched Blake pressing on Eren’s chest as he laid down on the floor, whining loudly. Levi, though he speaking to him and trying to get his attention, wasn’t getting anywhere with him. Fuck. “Lathe!” Nate called over his shoulder loudly, moving forward and kneeling next to Eren, his hand on his arm. Think, what do I say? He looks far away...

“Eren, can you hear me?” I don’t think he can… I can’t tell. “Eren, everything’s alright. Please, be okay.” I don’t know what I’m doing… “Eren, you’re fine. If this is about falling from the tree… Lathe and Levi caught you, and you’re okay. They’re not going to let anything happen to you. We all won’t let anything hurt you. Come on, please don’t panic. It’s okay.”

Levi was on the floor, his arm wrapped under Eren’s head and rubbing his left arm. “Come on Eren, talk to me please… Tell me what’s wrong.” Shit… He just slid right down to the floor as soon as Lathe left. Levi watched as Eren made no move to talk, his eyes still wide from the shock. He’s not there anymore… Fuck. “LATHE!” Levi picked his head up and screamed for him. “Come on Eren, fight it… Don’t panic please… You’re okay, you’re in my arms now… Talk to me, please!” Levi’s eyes were wide as he saw Eren’s body tense up from a loud crack of thunder which shook the house. He can hear us… He can hear the thunder… He’s still scared of it...

Lathe’s head shot up as he heard Levi shout from downstairs, abandoning his bag as he ran down the stairs, his socked feet sliding across the tile in the kitchen, his eyes wide as he took in Eren’s prone form. He’s in shock. He immediately moved to kneel next to him, looking him in the eyes and brushing hair away from his face, one hand on his arm, the other holding his cheek. Fuck. He’s barely there. “Eren, it’s me, Lathe. It’s all alright, I’ve got you. You don’t have to worry about anything, I swear. You're fine.” He felt Eren tense as another rumble of thunder sounded…oh. “Eren, you don’t have to be scared of the thunder. I know it sounds really scary, but it’s nothing to be worried about. It’s just a sound. Don’t worry, please. You're okay.” Please be okay.

“......fall....” Eren’s lips barely moved as he spoke. Blake was whining still but he noticed Eren’s Eren's body started to calm down and his large blue eyes looked up to Lathe. Eren’s body started to shake again at another loud rumble.

Fall? Is he scared because it made him fall? “This isn’t an attack is it?” Levi asked Lathe, his hand still gently rubbing Eren’s arm to get him to calm down. His heart rate isn’t as rapid now… The thunder’s getting quieter…. “It’s the thunder….” Levi whispered and moved his hand down to lace his fingers with Eren’s.

Lathe shook his head in response to the first question, his voice quiet. “He’s in shock, and yeah.” He spoke up, giving Eren a faint smile. “No no no, Eren, the thunder isn’t going to make you fall anymore. It just surprised you the first time. You did fall, but we caught you. It’s not going to do anything like that again, put you in danger. It’s a loud noise, and it just caught you off guard the first time. It’s all okay now. We’ve both got you. Don’t worry, please.” He pressed a kiss to his forehead, pleading with him. He’s calming down the littlest bit… That’s good...

Eren blinked a few times, his pupils dilating to the amount of light in the room. His eyes moved to start focusing on Lathe. “.....D-Dad…?” Eren’s voice was quiet, and Blake stopped whining completely, knowing that Eren had come back to them. What happened…. His whole body shook as he heard another crack of thunder, his eyes instantly clouding with fear as he looked up to Lathe, but he couldn’t tear his gaze away from those moonsong eyes.

Lathe nodded quickly, his voice even and reassuring, relief in his eyes. Thank God. Now keep him out of shock. “I’m here, Eren. I’ve got you. The thunder isn’t anything to be afraid of, I promise. Come on, don’t focus on it. It can’t hurt you. I’ve got you. You’re okay.” Don’t leave us again, Eren. Don’t run yourself into the ground with fear.

Eren kept his gaze locked onto Lathe’s eyes, his hand wrapping around Levi’s hand. His other reached up to grab onto Blake’s fur. Blake’s on my chest… He’s grounding me… “....Zoo….?” Eren asked quietly, the fear fading from his eyes as he put his trust in Lathe’s words. He’s got me… It won’t hurt me.

Lathe slowly nodded, relaxing a bit as the fear left Eren’s eyes. He gave him a weary smile. “Yeah, the zoo. You’ll be okay? We’re going to be outside for the most part… If you don't think so we can always go some other time this week.” I don’t want you to be terrified the entire time… You won't enjoy it, and I don’t want you scared at all...

Eren slowly shook his head, his eyes still locked onto Lathe’s. “No… I wanna see the lions.” Eren told him and pouted a little bit. I wanna go… I don’t want to be scared...
Levi chuckled a little, keeping his fingers intertwined with Eren's. “Of course you do, Brat.” Levi smiled softly. At least he’s back to himself again. He wasn’t there…. For a long time.

Lathe chuckled quietly. How am I supposed to argue? “Okay, if you're sure, we can still go. Of course.” Lathe moved to sit back on his heels, helping Eren sit up. “I still need to go and finish packing up my bag upstairs, but then we can go, okay? Make sure you're all ready. I'll be back in two minutes.” Lathe stood, pulling Eren, and subsequently Levi, up with him, letting him go and moving back to the stairs. That makes it three...

Eren nodded and he stayed glued to Levi’s side as he waited for Lathe to come back. He seemed better, still like a six year old with how much he was talking their ears off about the pictures of the fruits. “They look really cool!” Eren said and showed them off to Levi multiple times. I wanna take a bunch of pictures. He looked a lot better after his shock left him, and he wasn’t freaking out, the thunder had passed.

Lathe reappeared after a moment, his bag slung over his shoulder. He went to put on his rain jacket again, lacing his boots back up. “Alright, we can go whenever you're ready.” He listened to the rain for a moment. The thunder’s over with for now… Good.

Eren nodded and moved to show Lathe the various pictures. “Dad look! Look at the oranges! They look so pretty!” Eren smiled, his camera securely attached to him thanks to the strap. They look so cool! Even after falling…. It was worth it. They look so good.

Lathe looked at the pictures with a warm smile. They do look really good. I dunno if it was worth the worry though… “They’re really good, Eren. But I don't think you should climb any more trees while it’s so wet and rainy. There’ll be a lot of good photographic material where we're going, too, so don't hesitate to take pictures of anything. Including things that aren't the animals.” You dunno when you'll see something and want a picture; lots of odd things make for great photos.

Eren nodded and he turned the camera off as he got his phone off the charger. “Okay, I’m ready!” Eren said happily, a huge grin on his face. I wanna see the lions!!

Nate smiled, fishing the car keys out of the pocket of his rain jacket. “Alright, let's get going then!” He grabbed an umbrella as he walked to the door past the hooks on the wall, unlocking the car and hopping into the driver’s seat. It was a short drive, and Nate pulled into the empty parking lot, turning off the car right near the front. “We’re here, and apparently no one else is. We must be the only people around here crazy enough to do this.” Nate grinned, slamming his door shut behind him and sauntering up to the ticket window, his umbrella keeping him mostly dry. “Hello! Four adult admissions please.” He turned to Lathe and Eren before they could interject. “I know what you're about to say, and no, they're not going to give you a kid’s admission because you're internally six years old.”
Lathe beamed, a glint in his eye. You know me too well already. “You sure? Maybe if we asked nicely.”

Levi just shook his head sighing. “Lathe… Just give up, you know it’s not gonna happ—”

“But Leeeeviiii!” Eren jumped onto Levi’s back, catching him by surprise as he did so. Eren was giggling the whole time. This is so much fun already! Eren’s smile was huge as Levi held him up.

Levi looked up to Eren, rolling his eyes. “Nevermind… I guess you can ask for the brat.” He made sure to keep a hand on his umbrella as well as Eren to make sure he didn’t fall. He’s starting to get heavy… Fuck.

Lathe nudged Nate over the littlest bit so he could talk to the woman at the desk, smiling and polite. “Excuse me Miss, I hope it’s not too much trouble, but my son and I both happen to be six-year-olds at heart. Could we both have a child’s admission, please?” Just be nice about it. You never know.

The woman at the desk quirked an eyebrow at him, trying to stifle her laughter. Did he really just…? “That just made my day. You know what, alright.” She tapped at her keyboard, printing four tickets and handing them to him. “Here you are. Have a nice day, and enjoy your visit!”

Lathe beamed and thanked her, handing out the tickets as they walked past the window. He looked to Levi. “Y’know, all I had to do was ask.” A little humour and manners can get you a long way. It gets you a kid’s admission at the zoo. That’s a plus!

Levi just watched with a furrowed expression. “I can’t believe that actually worked.” He made sure Eren was aware he was going to put him down before he did so. I can’t believe he just did that… And got away with it.

Eren raced in through the gates and looked around as various employees walked around in different directions towards different exhibits. Where are they going? He kept his eyes trained on the woman walking to the right-most walkway. “What’s that?” Eren asked, walking towards the kid section of the zoo, following the lady with long brown hair.

Nate studied Lathe with an incredulous look. “I don’t know how you just got away with that, but okay.” He kept an eye on Eren as he scampered away into the kid’s section of the zoo, following him and making sure not to lose sight of him. You’ve gotten into enough trouble for one day. We’re not letting you get lost, too.

Eren followed the lady with the long hair as she walked through the kid’s section towards the back to the Ranch exhibit.

She turned and smiled as she saw Eren. “Hi there! You wanna come and pet some of the goats?” She asked kindly with a wide smile, her hand motioning to come towards the gate. They’re the first ones here… and I need to feed the goats, maybe he’ll want to feed one?

Eren frozen, unsure if he should follow this strange woman. What do I do? Eren looked back towards the three following him, his eyes showed a slight trace of fear. What do I do? She wants me to pet the goats? Is that okay? Can I do that?

Lathe walked up to Eren and nodded, nudging his elbow. “Go ahead if you want. We’re right behind you.” You’re fine, don’t worry.

Eren slowly crept towards the gate, which the kind lady was holding open for him. He was instantly greeted by five goats, coming right up to him and sniffing him. Eren froze in a second, unable to move as he was slowly surrounded by the goats. What are they? Their eyes look so weird. Eren reached up to grab his camera, turning it on and starting to take pictures as more and more goats surrounded him as the lady looked for food.

“I know, I know, I’m getting your food! Don’t worry.” The lady responded to the constant bleats of the goats that followed her towards the food. Must they be so noisy so early?

Levi just chuckled as Eren picked up the camera. “You’ve certainly made a monster.” He followed Eren into the pen, the goats surrounding him as well before the lady put out the food, all of them running away towards the filled containers. “Enjoying taking pictures, Brat?”

Eren nodded, moving with the goats to take more pictures of them.

Lathe grinned as he followed them into the pen. I certainly have. Good thing it has an insane amount of space on it. He walked closer to the goats, petting one on the head as it looked up from it’s food at him. “You’re allowed to pet them, Eren.” Go ahead! They’re nice.
Eren looked up from his camera, slowly reaching out towards one of the goats, jumping back in surprise as it quickly lifted it’s head and licked his fingers. What the hell!? Eren watched the goat, moving a hand to pet it’s head, giggling as the goat leaned into the pets. “It’s cute… Why’d it lick me?”

Lathe chuckled as more goats started to sniff at his legs. “That means he likes you.” His eyes were bright. They’re all too cute...

Levi watched Eren pet the goats that came up to him. “Pet them all you want, but you are washing your hands as soon as we leave this pen, Brat.” Levi crossed his arms as he looked to Eren’s hands, blackened from petting them. He looked to see Lathe and Nate petting the goats as well. “Correction, you are all washing your hands.” Levi kept his arms crossed even as the goats bleated, trying to get him to pet them. They won’t shut up either… Good god, but I can put up with it, Eren’s giggles are worth it.

Eren watched the goats try to get Levi to pet them. “Levi, be nice and pet them… They’re asking kindly!” Eren pouted and squatted down to pet two more goats that bounded up to him, giggling as one of the smaller ones fell over. Oh my god, that was adorable. “Come on Levi!” Eren whined as he gave Levi a pointed glare.

Levi only sighed, reaching down to pet the persistent goat. There. You happy now? You’re lucky, the only reason I’m petting you is cause I can’t refuse that pout, or that angelic voice… Fuck, I am way too into him.

Eren picked his head up as a sharp whinny sounded through the ranch. Eren watched as the lady let out a miniature horse. “What is that?” He asked as he picked up his camera again to take more pictures, completely interested in the new animal. It’s so small… It looks so cute!

Lathe looked up at the sound, smiling. “That’s a miniature horse. Regular horses would be about as tall as you if not taller, and people ride them. Usually littler kids ride on miniatures, though.” His expression shifted. ...something tells me he’s going to ask...

Eren’s eyes lit up in fascination. “Can I ride one?” Eren asked, his eyes shining with curiosity and happiness. I wanna ride a big one!

Called it. Lathe smiled, nodding to the woman. “It’s okay with me, but you should ask the woman nicely.” I dunno if he’s able to, if he’s too big or what...
The woman chuckled shaking her head. “No, no one’s allowed to ride the miniatures. I’m sorry, maybe if you convince your Dad you can ride a bigger horse when you go home.” The lady smiled kindly and let Eren take a bunch of pictures of the small horse in front of him.

Levi sighed. “You do realize he’s going to ask to ride one as soon as we step foot in our own house… Right?” Levi asked Lathe as he went to stand by them, letting Eren have his photo op with the horse and the goats. We should take him away to see the rest of the zoo… So he doesn’t run out of space for things he really wants to see.

Lathe ran a hand through his dark hair, smiling and shaking his head. “I know. I’m never going to hear the end of this until I get him on a horse, am I?”

“Nope.” Levi responded before he turned to Eren taking even more pictures. “Eren, don’t you wanna go see the lions?” He smirked as Eren’s head shot up. That got his attention.

“Lions?” Eren asked, getting up and abandoning the goats and miniature horse to go by Levi. “I wanna see the lions!” Eren said excitedly, jumping up and down. I wanna go see them!

“It makes sense now, why he got the kid ticket.” He’s jumping around like he ate pure sugar for breakfast. Nate laughed, leading them out of the pen. “I think the lions are in this direction.” He walked them down a little ways, stopping to watch the meerkats. He noticed a shuttle nearby, the driver just chillin’ behind the wheel. “One sec.” He nodded to Lathe, moving to talk to the driver. “Excuse me, sir? Is it alright if you drive us to a few exhibits?”

The man looked up from his iphone. “Of course, where you looking to go Mr. Ruess?” The man gave a kind smile, looking over towards the direction Nate came from. “If I may ask… Is that Eren Yeager?” He asked as he saw a hood come down, revealing brown shaggy hair.

Nate looked back at them, giving the man an easy smile. “Yeah, it is. And we were thinking of heading to see the lions.” I didn’t take you as the type to recognise either of us. “I’ll grab them, one sec.” Nate walked back over to the group. “Our ride’s here!” He nodded to the shuttle, leading them onto it.

The man turned to face them in his seat a map in hand. “Alrighty, I know we’re going to see the lions, but what else do we wanna see? I can make a good route for us.” The man smiled more as Eren came up to point out a bunch more exhibits for the man to circle and make a route for them. “Alright, so then to the aviary first!” The man waited for them all to sit down and he started the shuttle to go through the empty no wet pathways. The man noticed that it was fairly quiet in the back. That’s not right, you’re at the zoo! You’re supposed to be excited! “So Mr. Yeager, how long are you guys going to be in LA?” He looked over his shoulder for a split second before turning back to the pathway in front of him.

Eren looked up as he heard the man refer to him as if he were his father. “Umm… just Eren is fine, please… and um we just got in LA so we’ll be here awhile.” Eren smiled softly, leaning his head into Levi’s shoulder, gripping his hand. I don’t want to think about my father right now.

Levi noticed Eren’s shift and knew exactly what had caused it. “It’s okay Eren, I’m right here. Nothing is going to happen to you.” His voice was a soft whisper, ending with a kiss on Eren’s temple. We don’t need you to panic here. No, that won’t do.

Eren nodded, waiting only a few moments before they stopped in front of a large glass building, which looked almost like it housed an entire rainforest inside.

The kind man turned off the engine after parking the shuttle. He picked up his walkie-talkie “Hey Martha?” “Yeah?” “What count are we at for guests?” “Four, Two adults and two adults with six year old mentalities.” “Ah, okay, great, thanks. Call me if we get any more.” The man smiled and hopped off the vehicle to join their group. “I hope you don’t mind me joining, but no one’s here, so I can walk around with you guys. My name’s Andy by the way.” He held his hand out for them to shake.

Lathe shook his hand, grinning. “I’m Lathe. And it’s fine, you can join us. Doesn't sound like there’s much else going on to do.” ... This place is completely empty. I thought it would be sparse at best, but not like this!

Nate similarly shook his hand. “Call me Nate, please. And yeah, I didn't think it’d be this empty. I’d expected a smattering of people at most, but not just us.” Getting the whole zoo to ourselves is really neat, though.

“Yeah, well it was thundering pretty bad earlier-” Andy was cut off as the rain decided to downpour even more on them. “Well, let’s get inside, shall we?” He asked and opened the door for everyone. Grace would so flip about me meeting these guys.

Eren smiled and scampered into the building. It just started to downpour… what the actual hell? Eren looked at the glass that separated them from the hundreds of birds that flew around and adorned countless tree branches. They’re so cool! He instantly stepped forward and started to snap photo after photo.
Levi chuckled a bit. He does realize that we can go walk around in there right? He moved in towards Andy, holding his own hand out. “Levi, it’s nice to meet you. I’m Eren’s-” Levi was cut off before he could finish.

“Boyfriend, I know. My daughter, Grace, doesn’t stop talking about how adorable you guys are. She makes me watch every video he posts, he’s got quite the voice.” Andy’s smile was kind, and he watched Eren snap photos through the glass wall, completely ignoring the wall. I wonder if I can take a picture with him? Grace would flip.

Lathe eyed Eren with amusement, stepping over to him. “Eren…” He pointed to the door a little ways to their right. “Would you like to go inside?” That’s a thing we can do, ya know.

Eren looked up to see the door. “YES!” His reply was immediate and he was inside the door in second and already taking a bunch of photos of different birds at different angles. They’re so pretty. He smiled widely as a red macaw landed near him and stared right into the camera. AWESOME!!! Eren’s camera constantly clicking as he took more and more pictures.

Levi followed them inside, keeping pace with Andy, a barely perceptible blush on his face. Oh no, I never thought about the fact that people probably ship us now. One is plenty… He glanced to Lathe and then to Eren, smirking at his enthusiasm. “That’s very nice of you to say. It’s odd to think sometimes that Eren has as many fans as he does.” I wonder if Eren’d give him an autograph for his daughter? She sounds like she’d love one.

“Well Grace has been a fan since he put up his first video, she followed Nate, she loved his concert that she went to about a week ago in LA. We had a good time… do you think they would take a picture with me? Grace would never believe me unless I gave her proof…” Andy trailed off as he rubbed the back of his neck, watching as a large bird flew down to land on Levi’s shoulder.

Eren instantly turned his camera to take a bunch of pictures of the colorful bird on Levi’s shoulder. “Don’t you dare move.” Eren told him, snapping a shit ton of pictures, from various angles. It’s so pretty… and it looks cool on Levi’s shoulder.

Levi stood deathly still, warily eyeing the bird on his shoulder. He flinched when it turned it’s head to look at him, shutting his eyes. Eyes are shiny, don’t peck at my eyes or anything, thank you very much. He opened his eyes again after a moment, trying to relax and giving Eren a small smile. ...Okay, it is a pretty bird, I give it that. “...it’s kinda heavy.”

Nate chuckled. “Yeah, I think a bird as big as your head would weigh a little more than nothin’.” That is really cool. Where’s my shoulder bird?
Lathe looked over from a quiet conversation with the parakeet perched on top of his head, grinning widely. I wonder if he’d do a pirate impression if I asked him to. Or I could photoshop those pictures later. ...both. “Hey Levi, say something pirate-ey!”

Are you serious. “...arg?” What the hell do you want from me?

Eren pressed a few buttons on the camera. “Do it again!” He called excitedly and zoomed the video onto Levi with the large Red-lored Amazon on his shoulder. He smiled as the bird spread its wings out, flapping them a few times before settling again on Levi. It gave a quiet squawk as Eren came a bit closer. I got that on Video! That’s so cool!

I’m on video now, aren’t I? ...Better make it count. Think, what’s something pirate-ey to say? Levi gave the camera a tough look, his voice deep and menacing. “Arrrrrgh. Trying to steal me booty, ar ye?”

“Aaargh, tryin’ to steal me booty, are ye?”

Levi practically jumped out of his skin, nearly tripping over his own feet as the bird jumped off from his shoulder, away from his stumbling form. Oh my god it can talk. “Did it… Did it just… Really?” Levi had a hand over his heart, trying to calm down. Nearly gave me a fucking heart attack.

Eren’s laughter filled the whole place as he kept the camera trained on Levi’s face, looking at his reaction. “Oh my god… That was priceless!” Eren stopped the video before doubling over in laughter.

Andy lost his composure when he saw Eren start to roll around on the floor from laughing so hard. So Eren’s one of the six year olds? “That was pretty good, and yeah, it did just talk.” He wiped a single tear from his eye as his own hearty laughter died down.

Lathe laughed loudly, nearly joining Eren on the floor, the parakeet flying from his head as he doubled over. “Oh my god, Levi, the look on your face… That was too perfect!” That was the greatest!

Nate laughed, following the bird’s flight back up to the trees. “That was too good! You looked absolutely terrified!” He composed himself after a second, looking over as a bird flew past his face. “Whoa!” He stepped back a bit, following the small blue bird as it landed next to Eren’s head, looking at him with curiosity, as if to say ‘Why are you on the floor?’

Eren’s laughter stopped almost immediately as he slowly moved his camera to take a picture of the small bird, his eyes full of amazement. Holy shit, it’s so close. Eren set the camera on the ground, reaching his right hand to get a picture of the bird on the floor.

The small bird leaned in to inspect the lens quizzically, hopping over and jumping up on top of the camera, inspecting it. It looked to his finger frozen on the button, slowly walking onto his finger.

Eren’s eyes were wide as he watched the bird. “Ummm… D-Dad?” Eren watched the bird with wide eyes. It’s touching me… What do I do?! Do I keep it on my finger? Or do I get it off? Wait… How am I supposed to get it off?

Lathe slowly approached, so as not to startle the bird. He knelt down on the floor, sliding the camera from his grasp and positioning himself, adjusting the zoom. “Smile, Eren.” He took multiple pictures of the bird on his finger, Eren smiling in the background with his eyes still set on the bird, full of wonder. These are so going online. He made sure he had at least one of the bird looking at camera as well before he spoke again quietly. “Here, let's stand you up. Easy now, don't want to scare him.” He helped Eren get to his feet, smiling at the bird. That is really cool. “You okay with him there, or do you want to let him go?” You need that hand for pictures. “We could always see if he'd move to your shoulder.”

Eren watched as Andy came up to him, sticking a finger out for the bird to grab onto, which it did and he moved his finger slowly to Eren’s shoulder. The bird hopped off onto his shoulder, moving closer towards Eren’s neck, snuggling into the fabric of Eren’s hood. “Ummm…. Okay then.” He shivered as he felt the light feathers against his neck. It feels weird, but the bird seems comfortable… I think? “Can I have my camera?”

Lathe handed it back to him, slowly moving the strap back around his neck, trying not to disturb the bird. “Careful with the strap; don't yank it off while your little friend’s still there.”

Levi studied the bird on his shoulder, his face expressionless. “He really likes you.” He watched as it nuzzled into Eren’s jacket, his hair. ...Lucky.

Andy nodded. “Yeah, those little guys are social birds… They like to stick around other birds, but they also find ways to land on people and make themselves comfortable.” Well I guess being a tour guide for them isn’t really that bad I guess.
Nate nodded. Explains why one was making a nest out of Lathe’s hair a minute ago. He looked to Levi, catching the odd look in his eye. He nudged his arm, his voice quiet, one eyebrow quirked. “Is that jealousy I see, Levi?”

Levi blushed furiously, stuttering a bit as he quickly responded, his voice hushed. “W-what? Why the hell would I be jealous of a damn bird? Yeesh.” He glared at Nate. Not cool, man. And it’s a bird. It’s not exactly like it counts as competition.

Lathe looked up, a mischievous grin on his face. He had heard their exchange, watching Levi’s embarrassed expression. “What’s wrong, Levi? Afraid you’ve got some competition?”

Eren picked his head up looking over to Lathe. “Dad… Do you really need to tease him?” Eren asked before turning back to walk a little farther in, another small blue bird coming towards him and landing on the other side of his head, nuzzling up to his neck. Their feathers are so soft… It feels so weird against my neck. Eren spent the next half an hour snapping photos and videos of the birds, coming back to the group, wanting to go see the next exhibit. The only problem was he now had five blue birds on him, one on his head and two on either shoulder. “How do I get them off?” Eren asked and looked at his shoulders.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow, moving his hand and letting one step onto his fingers. “I don't think scaring them off is a good idea. Maybe if…” He brought his hand down and carefully lifted it straight up quickly, effectively helping the bird take off for the trees. “That works.” He grinned at the one on Eren’s head, reluctant to leave for Lathe’s hand. “Come on, I know his hair has serious nesting potential, but he kinda needs it.” He helped the rest of the birds take off, smiling and brushing off his hands. “Alright, where to next?” This is great!

Andy pulled the map out of his pocket. “To the big cats, ready?” He asked and they all made it outside without the birds chasing them out of the doors. He pulled his hood up as he stepped outside to get the shuttle started up again.

Eren’s hurried nod as he jumped into the shuttle made just about everyone chuckle from his childlike excitement. I wanna see the big cats! I wanna take more pictures! All the pictures!! Eren couldn’t keep himself still, always shifting in his seat, even though it was a quick ride to see two of the four big cats in the park. The snow leopard and the tiger enclosures were basically right next to each other, so they stopped at the former first. Eren didn’t even wait for the shuttle to stop, he hopped off while it was still moving, seeing the white fur of the leopard from where he was. It’s outside!! Yay!

Levi smirked, waiting for the shuttle to stop before going after Eren. “Oi, be careful, Brat.” He gave him a small smile, going right up to the edge of the enclosure, watching as it started to walk towards them. Huh. I kinda figured it’d ignore us. It seemed to look directly at Eren, tilting it’s head.

Lathe sauntered over, looking over and studying the uniforms of the people working there. Green, green, and more green. “Y’know, I didn’t really notice it before… But all the animals seem to love Eren. It’s probably the green coat, actually. They recognize the color from all the other workers here.” That’d help get him some reeeeeally good photos.

Nate grinned, watching the snow leopard’s movements. “That’s great! Now they won’t just ignore us and come up to say hi.” He nudged Eren’s elbow. That’s really cool!

Andy chuckled. “Well, that’s certainly a safe assumption, Charlie probably wants his food, he’s getting fed soon, so he’s probably asking for it.” He watched as Eren crouched down to take more pictures of Charlie just as the leopard moved with him, wondering what the black box was and if it contained food for him or not. Yup, he’s always got food on his mind.

Eren giggled as Charlie rolled over and Eren got some really good pictures of him. “He’s so pretty… And he’s really big… He’s bigger than a house cat!” Eren said in complete amazement. He’s staring right at the camera too! His eyes are gorgeous!

...okay, I admit, that is pretty cute. Levi quirked an eyebrow at him. “You know there are cats way bigger than this too, right? He’s downright tiny compared to some of the others they have.” You think he’s really big? Just wait.

Eren paused, his head slowly turning his head to Andy. “You have bigger ones?” Like… Much bigger? Or only slightly bigger?

Andy smiled and nodded. “Yes, Zeus is at least three times bigger than Charlie.” So he doesn’t know how big a lion is… Well this’ll be fun, Zeus likes to come right up to the glass when we’re around. He’s a big show off.

Eren’s eyes widened with curiosity. “Really?” His eyes lit up like a fucking Christmas tree for the third time today. I wanna see it! “Can we go see Zeus?” He asked and started to get up, ready to run back to the shuttle again, completely missing that Charlie was being fed by a keeper.

Lathe reached out for Eren’s shoulder, his eyes bright. “Slow down a sec, Eren. We’ve got time.
We’ve got nothing but time. We’ve got time to kill!” He grinned wider. There was a reason they gave me a child ticket. “Let’s stick around and watch the keepers feed Charlie a bit, okay? I want to see this.” We don’t know the next time we’ll be back- which we probably will be at some point, given how much we’re going to be in LA now.

Levi rolled his eyes, still smirking. “Really Lathe?” Well, him being internally six years old as well isn’t exactly wrong… He shook his head, watching the keepers feeding Charlie. That is really cool.

Eren watched as Charlie was given a large piece of meat and he grabbed it in his mouth, scampering away from the keeper and running up one of the tall ‘trees’ and lounging on it as he ate. That’s so cool! Eren touched a few buttons on the camera before he started to take a multitude of pictures. He was so engrossed in taking pictures he didn’t even realize that Nate and Levi both pulled their phones out to take pictures of him. Charlie’s so pretty. His coat looks cool even though he’s soaked.

Levi tapped at his phone, adding a caption to the picture he just took. *‘That moment when a snow leopard is bigger than a housecat GASP’* He smirked as he added it to the growing collage. Tumblr is going to love this: An excited Eren looking so damn adorable it shouldn’t be legal. He smirked, walking up next to him and nudging him after Charlie had eaten and decided to simply lounge on the tree. “If you want, we can go see Zeus now.” Charlie’s just chilling, and you have a hundred pictures of him.

Andy chuckled. “We’ll get to see Zeus soon, we’re closer to Zelda. Let’s go see her first, let’s get back to the shuttle.” I wonder what he’ll think of Zelda? Knowing her… She’s gonna run up to the glass when she sees me.

“Who’s Zelda?” Eren’s curiosity was instantly spiked as he hopped off to follow Andy, stomping in all the puddles on his way. Good call on the shorts Lathe! I get to stomp in all of them!!

Nate smiled, trying to avoid the splashes. “Zelda’s a tiger, and she’s expecting Cubs soon. She really likes people, so you’ll get a good look at her.”

Andy nodded in agreement firing up the shuttle as Eren excitedly hopped in. “Come on, Levi! I wanna go see Zelda!” Eren bouncing up and down in a seat. I wanna see how big she is!

Levi rolled his eyes with a small smile as Lathe practically skipped over to follow Eren onto the shuttle. You two are such children. “Alright, I’m comin’.” He stepped onto the shuttle and took the seat next to Eren, his eyes brightening as he took in his excited expression. ...seriously, though.
Andy drove them around a short bend and around another large enclosure, getting close to another glass viewing area that was sheltered. “Alright, well, gonna warn you, she can’t break the glass, but she gets excited around people.” Hope she doesn’t scare the shit out of any of them.

Lathe walked up to the glass next to him, peering around the enclosure. “Huh. I don't see her.” She’s gotta be around here somewhere...

Levi walked up on Eren’s other side, looking around, noticing that Nate had hung back just a bit, an expectant look on his face. What...

Andy stayed back where Nate was. She’s gonna scare the shit out of them... Isn’t she? She loves doing that. He watched as Eren turned his head back for only a split second missing where she had come out of hiding from, turning it back to the enclosure, seeing the large tiger burling towards them at full speed and jumping up onto her hind legs, her front two paws situated on the glass near Lathe’s head, her whole body stretched out right in front of Eren.

Holy... Shit... Eren pretty much fell back, his whole body shaking at the sight of the large tiger staring him down through the glass. It’s so big... It’s so fast... Eren could only watch with wide and frightened eyes as Zelda whipped her tail around inspecting the five men who had come to visit her. I can’t get up... My legs feel like jello.

Levi jumped, bringing his arms up defensively as he looked up to the huge tiger staring at them. Holy Fuck! His head turned as he heard Eren fall to the ground, immediately moving to help him up. Smooth catch, Levi. Smoooooooth. Get him the fuck up. “You okay, Eren?” He knelt next to him, taking his hands and tugging him gently to his feet.

Eren had to regain his bearings before he turned his head back over to Levi and nodded, he slowly got up, watching as Zelda slowly came down on all fours, this time looking up at them, not down. She came right up to the glass brushing her large side and head against it. “She’s pretty...” It took only another second for Eren to get his hold on the camera and start to take striking pictures of her posture. She’s beautiful!..... But terrifying... Why did she do that?
Lathe could only stare at her with wide eyes, perfectly still as her large paws hit the glass near his head, studying her face as a grin slowly cracked across his face. ...Cooool. He turned as he saw Levi move to help Eren up, concerned as Eren stumbled for a second on his feet before he was back to taking pictures. ...aaaaand we’re back to normal. Zelda really is something, isn’t she? Lathe’s eyes traced the curve of her stomach. Yep, she’s definitely got quite a few tiny tigers in there. Any day now, huh?

Nate had his phone at the ready as Eren and Levi jumped in shock, snapping the picture quickly and typing away. ‘Scaredy Cats’ He chuckled, posting it and putting his phone back before approaching the glass, a wide grin on his face, joking with her through the glass. “Now was that really necessary, Zelda? This is why I can never bring anyone with, you always scare them off. Even if it is hilarious.” That was great!

Andy started to chuckle at his comment. “She loves to see the shocked faces… It’s quite common.” He went up to the glass and put his hands on the glass near her. She sat down, balancing on her back haunches and putting her large paws right on top of Andy’s hands. “Well she’s still a playful tiger at heart.” As she was when she was bottle fed, always jumping all over the place.

Eren moved closer towards them, snapping countless photos of her as she ‘played’ through the glass with Andy, a smile across the man's face as she played along. She’s really cute. He spent a good amount of time getting her at just the right angle to give her large sides the spotlight, especially when she laid down in front of the glass on her side, stretching out fully on the ground her tail whipping around as Eren took even more pictures.

Levi could only watch as Eren constantly moved around, either giggling or in complete concentration as he was taking photos. “You do realize that card is going to be full in like.. An hour… If not sooner right?” His arms were folded across his chest as he sent an incredulous look towards Lathe. He’s taking like a thousand pictures of everything!

Lathe watched Eren for a moment, both his eyebrows raised as he heard the rapid click of the camera. “I brought four of those cards for the entire two weeks, and apparently that much space isn't enough. Somehow- someway- you're managing to fill them up really quickly. Eh, I can always back stuff up onto my computer and then wipe the chips, if need be. At this rate, I'm going to need to get you a better lens for that.” He chuckled, shaking his head as Eren barely seemed to hear him. He’s too busy taking pictures of the beautiful tiger. Understandable.

Levi just shook his head, finally managing to convince Eren to move along as Zelda laid down for a nap five minutes later. Andy continued to drive them around the large bend, stopping to allow Eren to take pictures of the momma and baby hippo for literally a solid twenty minutes. Well at least he can’t fall in with them. He whipped out his phone as he saw Eren leaning over the rail to take more photos. ‘Don’t fall in!’ He smirked as he posted the beautiful captioned photo to Tumblr, which of course was loving every bit of Eren as he took picture. God… He’s got to at least be breaking some sort of law for being that adorable. Levi kept a watchful eye as they continued to proceed throughout the rest of the zoo, spending around three more hours in the rain as Eren took thousands of pictures of everything. Eren had a practical field day with Zeus laying right in front of the glass. He’s gotta be so happy seeing the lions, he’s been standing there, waiting for Zeus to turn his head just enough to get just the right angle. They had successfully gone through the Safari section of the zoo getting great pictures of the Chimpanzees, Okapis, Giraffes, Gorillas, Orangutans, the Elephants and lastly the Zebras. I swear to god, Eren has found his spirit animal.
They were running around their entire enclosure… Eren was running back and forth with them, snapping pictures the entire time, and of course Lathe just had to join in with him. I thought those two were going to break their necks… Do you know how slippery it was around the exhibit? Levi had finally gotten Eren away from the animals and they started towards the exit, Andy driving them and was pretty happy since he got a picture of all of us together, even selfies with us, which of course Eren was all into. Of course he was. They were just about to get off the shuttle when Andy’s walkie-talkie went off. What? Is he needed back? Have people finally joined us in the rain? Levi wasn’t really paying any attention to the conversation until they turned in the opposite direction from the exit and back towards the big cat enclosures, stopping in front of Zelda’s enclosure, and Eren bolting off of the shuttle and towards the crowd of green jackets standing at the glass of the enclosure. … What? Levi was the last to follow everyone from the shuttle as they all went to join the mass of green. What the hell? I don’t get it…oh… Oh!

Eren was on his knees taking pictures of five small fluff balls. OH MY FUCKING GOD THEY ARE SO FUCKING ADORABLE!!! His eyes were wide in fascination as he took picture after picture of the small fur balls. “Dad… Why are they so small?” Eren eyes didn’t leave the small bodies that were curled up to Zelda’s side. They’re so cute… Why are they so small? They weren’t here earlier… Were they?

Lathe knelt down next to him, his eyes sparkling as he looked at the tiny cubs. … Oh my god they’re so CUTE!!! Lathe quirked an eyebrow at the question, thinking for a second. … how do you explain that with words? “They’ve just been born, Eren. They’re so teeny because they’re pretty much as young as you can get, and because if they were much bigger it’d be a lot harder for Zelda to give birth to them safely.” They’re so tiny and fluffy and adorable and EEEEEEE! They’re too cute! Lathe beamed at the tiny cubs, watching as they sniffed around at each other and shifted next to their mother.

Eren was silent for a few moments. So … “Was Zelda that small?” Eren asked, continuing to take countless pictures. So tiny… But their mom is so big … How the hell does that work? “How long do they stay small?” Eren finally pried his curious gaze from the tiny cubs to look up to Lathe, his eyes shining, which would’ve led him to believe Eren was the happiest he had ever been before, and seemingly unafraid of anything, even to look Lathe in the eye.

Lathe’s eyes were bright as they met Eren’s. … He looks the happiest he’s ever been! He nodded.
“Zelda was once that tiny, yeah. All of us were once tiny, and we grew up to be big and tall. It’s the same with tigers and lions and elephants and all animals. The cubs won’t stay that small for very long, because they would need to be big enough to hunt soon and then have cubs of their own.
After a couple years, maybe five ish, they'd be pretty close to how big Zelda is now, or even bigger for the male cubs. But they'll be small for a few months, but they'll be as big or bigger than a housecat after two months at most.” Tigers in the wild have to grow up fast, become independent and mature quickly. They don't have as long a lifespan as we do as humans.

Eren nodded, taking countless pictures, though soon he backed his head away from the camera a bit and stared at it with a furrowed brow. Why won’t it take anymore? Eren clicked a few buttons, trying to figure out why the camera wouldn’t take anymore. Eren looked up to Lathe with a confused look.

Levi sighed, shaking his head. “Did you fill the card in four and a half hours, brat?” Levi let a small smirk spread across his lips.

“You managed what?” Lathe gently took the camera from Eren, conscious of the strap still around his neck as he looked at the display, pressing a few buttons, his eyes wide, speaking under his breath. “Well shit.” He looked up to Eren, handing it back to him with a joking tone. “Congratamalations, Eren. You managed to take 45 thousand pictures over the course of four and a half hours.” I'm gonna need to buy terabyte hard drives while we’re out here to back up all those pictures, aren't I?

“Is that really how many he’s taken?” Nate looked over Eren’s shoulder, his eyebrows shooting up as he saw the ‘memory card full’ message across the screen. That’s… actually kind of impressive that you could manage that many pictures. “I knew you were taking a lot of pictures, but you took that many? Wow.” He looked up to Lathe, smirking. “You’re probably going to need to get more of those things to last him for the entire vacation.” He’s still going to find reason to take nonstop pictures of literally everything.

Lathe sighed and nodded his head, grinning as he slowly shook his head in defeat, his tone sarcastic. “I wonder what made me think 180,000 pictures was more than enough for a two-week vacation.” ...I wonder.

Eren looked up to him and shrugged. I’m hungry… We haven’t had lunch…. “Can we go home?” Eren asked softly, his eyes barely meeting Lathe's for more than a second.

Lathe tilted his head a bit, wearing a confused expression. Huh? “Mind if I ask why you suddenly want to leave? I was just joking you know, it’s totally fine. I’d’ve thought you’d want to spend more time around here, maybe look at something we missed or keep adoring the cubs.” He grinned for a moment. What’s with the sudden mood switch?
Eren was quiet as he looked down. “.... I'm hungry.” I'm really hungry ... It's 2:30~ish... And we ate at like 8 this morning... Fuck I'm really hungry.

Lathe was quiet for an instant before he shrugged, smiling warmly. “Oh, alright. We can go get something to eat. Do you want to go home and eat there, or we could always see what places to eat at around here look good if you like?” Food does sound good right about now. We can go out, but I certainly don't mind making lunch for everyone.

Eren nodded. “I want food.” He was on his feet in a second going to cling to Levi. “I want food Levi!” He whined, which just got him an eye roll. I want food! How can you not be hungry?

Levi sighed, moving to hold him a little better. “Brat, be careful.” His voice was only slightly cold, but his expression soft all the same. Don't randomly jump on people.

Lathe watched him cling to Levi with an odd expression for an instant, chuckling as he stood. “Eren, don't worry, we'll get you food. The question still stands: Eat at home or out in a restaurant?” You gotta pick something.

Levi sighed as he felt Eren’s body go slack against his back. He didn’t just..... He fucking did. “Home... He’s out... Like a fucking light.” How you managed to fall asleep in two seconds I will never know. He shifted so that he wouldn’t drop Eren’s limp form.

Nate looked at Lathe, then back to Eren, his eyes wide. “...is he really?” He looked to Eren’s face, his eyes shut and breathing even. “...oh my god, he is.” How do you do that? He was quiet for a moment. “Is that a thing for him that happens, or...?” ... Or should we be concerned?

Lathe just shrugged, dumbfounded. “...He’s had a very exciting morning, and he’s been hyper for pretty much all of it. I kinda figured he’d at least fall asleep in the car at some point. But right now? ” Falling asleep at the drop of a hat? ...that's actually kinda impressive. “Eh, home it is. You got him, Levi?” Can't have you dropping him.

Levi nodded, his hands reaching around to hold Eren’s ass, to keep him on his back. Yup... Can’t complain, even though he’s getting heavier. Levi managed to hold him fine all the way to the car, and gently put Eren down on the seat, noticing as he sat him back. He’s still drooling... How long will that take to go away? “Hey, Lathe? Can you come look at Eren?” His voice held a hint of worry as he buckled Eren into his seat.
Lathe stepped back to look at Eren, looking concerned to Levi as he reached for his kerchief, wiping away his drool. “The drool? Is that what you’re worried about?” He shrugged as Levi nodded. “It’ll take a little bit for that to go away. A couple days, tops. Then it’ll stop. But it’s a matter of days and not hours, because his seizure was as short as it was. But he’s fine.” Thirty seconds was far from a bad seizure, as far as seizures go... So yeah, a few days max.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Well... This has definitely been a fun two weeks, if Eren’s excited face is anything to go by... And how can it not be? I mean look at it! It’s incredible! Goddammit how can he look so damn sexy yet so fucking innocent at the same time? We’ve basically gone everywhere Nate told us he was going to take us. Eren didn’t care much for the ocean, but that was to be expected since he can’t swim and he refused to go into Nate’s pool the entire time, even though he can stand in the shallow end.... Correction, I can stand in the shallow end. But as we paraded around LA, Eren got even more accustomed to actually sending tweets out, posting pictures on Instagram, and Lathe of course made sure tumblr knew exactly what we were doing... So guess what all that equals... Guess yet? It means fangirls... a lot of fangirls. You have no idea how popular this kid is! I swear we almost couldn’t go anywhere without Eren being stopped and asked to take a picture with him, but I’m pretty sure Nate Ruess and the service dog are a dead give away for Eren.... I can’t really complain though, he didn’t panic and actually enjoyed taking pictures with girls... And some of the guys... Okay, that part I will complain about. Lay off! He’s taken, asshats. Eren also had the camera around his neck the entire time we were out, unless of course he was going on a ride or something, then he would seldom take it off. That being said, you can only imagine how many pictures he had taken...no? Well, let’s see, Lathe had to go shopping for a terabyte worth of storage for his computer, and he comply maxed it out... He filled all four of the 64GB cards... Thrice. In two fucking weeks.... I can’t really complain though, Eren’s having the time of his life, and he seems to feel more comfortable asking questions around all of us which is good, he usually isn’t able to look us in the eye for more than a second, but now it’s more than a few seconds. It’s progress. Nate. Oh god, where do I begin? Nate Ruess: The fucking legend. Yeah, that sounds about right. Damn, he has been the absolute best fucking tour guide ever, like literally ever. He answers all of Eren’s questions, which I feel has been a big help in Eren maintaining eye contact a little longer, but the best is when he brought us to the recording studio, and he took Eren into one of the rooms and showed him how everything worked. We were there for hours, especially after Eren pulled out his violin. I swear he recorded at least 10 violin solos... And they were masterpieces, you have no idea how much I had to hold back that night last week. Eren went right to bed, leaving me hanging, not even a single kiss goodnight. Lathe’s also been messing with his computer and trying to book us some train tickets to get to Wichita... the closest so far he can get us is Topeka... Which isn’t that far of a drive, but then again, our car is in Wichita. He also freaked out for absolutely no reason whatsoever and changed some of our planned day trips around, so instead of staying home and relaxing on the last day of our vacation... We went to the YouTube Space LA. Yeah, Eren’s been pretty excited about this for awhile, but he has no idea what it would be like. We got here, and the place is fucking massive. But... Why the fuck is it so empty?

Eren’s eyes darted around the large open space as they were let in the doors by the receptionist.
“Hello, can I have your Account name please?” She asked kindly to the four of them as they walked in.

Blake following Eren at his side, his eyes also wandering around, sniffed at the floor a few times before seeming to give it his seal of approval. “Ummm… Mine?” Eren asked, rubbing the back of his neck. Why do they need it?

Lathe nudged his elbow. “The maker spaces are for the Youtubers who have at least 10,000 subscribers. She’s just checking if you can be in here.” He looked up. “With so many of us, do you need ours, too?” I know Nate and I both have enough… But mine are really just from instrumentals and the fact Eren’s my son, so…

Nate shook his head. “I gotta go run a few errands, stay as long as you guys want, I’ll be back when you call me. Don’t call for a taxi, I’ll come get you.” Nate smiled softly, disappearing back behind the glass doors towards the parking lot.

Eren watched him leave. Oh… He did say he needed to do a few things today… Oh well. “Um… It’s Eren_Yeager…”

The woman’s eyes widened as she looked up at him. “Are you really him?” She asked almost in disbelief. Is it really him!?

Eren nodded, wide-eyed, unsure how to respond, and slightly moving to hide behind Lathe as the woman came around from the desk to greet them. What do I do?

Lathe looked to Eren, sending him a warm smile, his voice quiet. “Eren, it’s okay, don’t worry. You’ve been swarmed with fans pretty much these whole two weeks, and I’d thought you were cool with all the attention.” If not, you’d certainly fooled me. She seems nice, I wouldn’t worry.

Eren nodded and he came out a little to greet her, slowly reaching out to take her hand and shake it as she introduced herself to him as Margaret. He stayed mostly to Lathe’s side as she walked them through to show them where all the rooms were, and it was basically dead silent, no one really in the building walking around “Why’s it so quiet?” Eren asked as the woman opened the door to the biggest editing room in the Space… Markiplier and Jacksepticeye both looking up as the door was opened.

Lathe froze as he saw them, trying not to completely freak out….oh my god that's them. What do
Mark stared at them for a few moments before he recognized Eren. “Oh my god! Are you Eren!?”
Mark instantly got up and bounded over to Eren and gave him a huge hug, the red tips of his hair moving around with every step he took.

Jack stood to follow him, grinning as he moved to them. “Calm down, Mark, you’ll give ‘em a heart attack.” He looked to Eren and beamed, running one hand through his green hair. “You’re Eren Yeager? It’s really nice to meet you! Is it cool if I have a hug?” He held up his arms, though he waited for an answer. Unlike some people I don't want to terrify everyone I meet with over enthusiasm. But at the same time he’s Eren Yeager!!

Eren carefully pried himself from Mark’s arms, moving over to Jack to give him a hug with a smile on his face. Blake stared at Mark, sniffing over him with hard eyes, almost as if he had picked up his glare from Levi himself, who currently had his eyes trained on Eren hugging Jack.

Blake. The perfect excuse. Lathe stepped over to Mark, scratching Blake behind the ears as he spoke, keeping his voice from straying an octave too high. “Sorry ‘bout that, he’s always wary of new people. I'm Lathe, Eren’s dad. Um… Can I have a hug please?” He held out his arms timidly, a hopeful look in his eyes. Please please please!

“Hugs for Days!” Mark said so loudly you would almost consider him shouting as he glomped onto Lathe’s waist. I will always give hugs… They’re awesome.

Eren slowly moved out of Jack’s arms. “Hi… Um… Jack?...or…umm… Sean?” Eren asked, his hands shaking a little as he kept his gaze trained on the floor. I can’t meet him in the eye… I don’t know what to call him… What the hell do I call him? Blake came up to Eren and pawed for attention, getting Eren’s shaking hands to pet him.

Jack gave him a soft smile, understanding. Blake’s for his PTSD. Just be chill. “You can call me whatever you like, Eren. Jack and Sean are both fine, whichever you prefer.” They're both my name, really. Either works just fine.

Eren nodded and glanced over to Lathe and Mark squealing like school girls as they hugged each other. Umm… dad? Are you okay?

Levi just shook his head, watching Mark and Lathe. Lathe’s such a two year old… Or he's just a huge fanboy. It would explain why literally every liked video on his YouTube channel is related to video games, many of which are let's-plays. Isn't he the guy nearly half of them are from? He deadpanned to them. “I get the feeling you two just became best friends in the past two seconds.” That’s legitimately what it looks like.

Mark slowly pulled away from the hug. “But hugs are awesome!” Mark practically yelled again, moving quickly over to Levi and hugging him around his midsection. I don't feel so short against this guy.

What the hell? ...He’s Lathe all over again. Levi froze, his hands hovering for a second before he lightly returned the hug, just going with it. Just roll with it... I guess.

Eren looked up from his hug with Jack. “Um... What are you guys doing here?” His voice was quiet, keeping his eyes trained on Blake, his hands shaking. They're major YouTube stars.... Like... I'm pretty sure we're in the ..times more’ subscribers section with these two.

Mark’s head swiveled around back to Eren. “Well, I’m showing Jack around LA, and one of the stops was to bring him to the YouTube Space, because he’s never been to one before.” He removed his arms from around Levi, walking back to where they were working originally and shutting down the computer. “What are you guys doing here?” Same thing I would imagine?

Lathe shrugged a bit. “Well, this is our first time in LA, and Nate was showing us around for the past two weeks. This was our last stop before we head back home tonight. Nate just dropped us off really, had some stuffs to do, but we thought we’d check out what was here since Eren and the rest of us are definitely going to be seeing more of LA in the near future, see what’s available for use and such, see if we ran into anyone we recognized...” Lathe rubbed the back of his neck, shifting. They're both literally right the fuck there. Chill. Just don't make it obvious that you pretty much stalk their social media. That could be off-putting. Pretend you're normal. “It’s really cool to actually meet you guys! I just didn't expect this place to be so empty, though. It sounds like it’s just you two around, judging by the fact I can hear the clock ticking two rooms over.” He quirked his eyebrow at the far doors, scanning the room for a second. Seriously, it’s so quiet!

Jack smiled, looking to Eren, his voice warm. “Oh yeah, I heard Nate was showing you around. It’s literally everything Twitter talks about these days, I've seen so many random pictures of you guys floating around. I take it it’s been fun going around? What’ve you been doing all?” ...and yeah, why the hell is it practically abandoned up here?

Eren’s eyes met Jack’s for only a second or two before snapping back to Blake as he whined. I know, I know, I need to calm down. “Well we went to the Zoo, we went to the astronomy place… A bunch of museums, we got to see the Hollywood sign… Um... We went to a...um… A theme park?...” Eren’s voice was quiet as he spoke, slowly making his way to sit on the floor and pet Blake to calm himself down. *I think they were theme parks.... I don’t know though...

Jack watched as Eren sat on the floor, shifting. I feel too tall now... I don’t like standing while he’s down there... “That all sounds really cool! Do you remember which park you went to? Universal Studios or Disneyland, maybe?” He’s really nervous, but that’s okay. Let’s just try and see if we can get you to open up a bit. Jack gave him a small smile.

Eren continued to pet Blake as the dog sat in his lap. “Ummm.... Both... We went to both.” Eren looked up to Jack for a few more seconds, feeling only slightly more comfortable with him. Will he sit down with me too? He keeps asking questions... What if I can’t answer?

...Yeah, me standing while he’s sitting isn’t gonna work. Jack decided to move to the floor as well, still giving him his space as he sat across from him. “You got to go to both? That’s awesome! Did you go to the Harry Potter portion of Universal Studios? We haven't gotten around to seeing it yet.” Lucky!

Eren looked over to him as he got down on the floor. “Y-yeah.” His voice was still quiet and his eyes met with Jack’s for a few more moments before he focused on Blake again. “It was cool... I-I got a cape and a wand and a lot of candy.” Eren’s smile was slowly starting to creep on his face as he remembered walking through it. It was really cool.

Lathe looked to Levi, and they both shrugged, moving to sit on the floor next to them, making a small circle with an opening for Mark.

Mark followed suit, sitting between Lathe and Levi, watching as Eren seemed to calm down more with everyone around him at his level and not standing above him. Well, that’s good, he seems more calm with the rest of us sitting down with him instead of standing up.

Jack grinned, his eyes shining. Cooooool. ...now I want a cape. He looked to Mark, his tone leaving no room for argument. “Mark, we’re going to Universal and checking out all the Harry Potter stuff. I want a cape.” This is now happening.

Mark’s grin widened to his ears. “Of course we’re going to Universal! We just didn’t get there yet!” His peppy voice carried through the large room, almost as if he were shouting but not quite. We’ll get there eventually, don’t worry! I wanna go again too!
Eren watched them with wide eyes. They all followed me to the floor... They didn’t need to, oh god are they doing it just because I’m on the floor.... Fuck. Eren kept his eyes locked on Blake’s vest, not meeting anyone in the eye, not even Lathe.

Jack beamed. “Good, because I would have dragged you there anyway.” He looked to Eren again, his voice and features softening as he noticed Eren’s unease. “What else have you been doing around LA? I remember seeing a lot of pictures of you at the Zoo floating around tumblr.” I saw a couple of the photos you took of the little tiger cubs- they were so adorable! “Those pictures you took of the little tiger cubs were really good, the cubs were too adorable!”

Eren slowly turned his head to meet Jack’s gaze. “T-thanks.” He stuttered at first before he opened his mouth again, a smile forming across his lips. “They were really small, and really cute.” I wonder if we’ll be able to see them when they’re bigger?

There it is! He’s smiling. “What other animals did you see while you were there? What were your favorites?” The conversation carried on for a few more minutes, Jack asking Eren about his time in LA, Eren slowly opening up more and smiling more as time went on.

As the conversation lulled, Lathe spoke up. “How about we go around, see the rest of what’s in the space? I want to know what kinds of sets and recording setups they have around.” They better have some electronic instruments around... At least a keyboard or two around. I'm probably going to be spending just as much time here as Eren is.

“Yeah! Come on! Let’s go! I’ll show you guys around!” Mark was to his feet in an instant, waiting for everyone else to follow. This is gonna be awesome!

Lathe stood to follow him, Jack shaking his head with a grin on his face as Levi took Eren by the hand to pull him up, walking behind him as he gave them a tour of the space. These are really nice computers. There are a lot of really nice sets around... Really good cameras and rigs in some of them... They walked through a room entirely covered with a green screen, and he looked up the the lights and the camera hanging from the rigging above. Sweet. He glanced into some of the smaller rooms as they passed, computers and microphones set up inside. Those are good for individual recording... Yes! He grinned as they entered a smaller room with various electronic instruments set up, a keyboard set up next to a desk with a computer, already online and running a recording program. They lingered for a moment as Mark talked a bit about the instruments, moving to inspect the buttons over the board and sitting at the stool. This is a nice keyboard... He switched it on, glancing up as a small dialogue box recognized the keyboard was on. And it's already hooked up. He studied the screen as Mark fell quiet, the ticking of the clock suddenly deafening in his ears. His head tilted to the side. That’s it. He suddenly reached out, his hand flying over the keyboard and starting an audio recording, the room deathly silent behind him as he stillled, the microphone picking up the ticking behind him. After a bit, he held up his watch to the mic, tapping the screen and looping the soft sound. He suddenly brought his wrist against the desk, the metal making a harsh sound against the hard desk, a loud rhythm. He looped it and started tapping his nails softly against the desk, moving left and right, further and closer to the microphone. He tapped at the screen one more time, the sound not unlike that of working, moving gears. He leaned on the desk, humming soft and low next to the mic, tapping his throat with a finger, letting it loop after eight beats. He sat back, letting it play as his hands hovered over the keys for a moment, waiting for a good place to begin. His hands came down softly over the keys, the notes staying towards the left of the board, his right hand quickly drifting to glance over the highest keys before immediately returning to the lower notes. He moved over the keys, his eyes hidden behind his dark hair as he began to softly sing.

“If you ever see me

Not as myself

Do this world a favor

And take what I've wasted away

I'm sure he wouldn't mind if you let this bronze

Touch the floor again, in frustration

The only thing in this life that I regret

‘Let me bend, never break.’

If you can, I'd surely love

If you took just a moment

To piece all this rose-tinted glass

Back together

For these metal bones will not melt, pinned together

Lasting, rusting away at my joints

And I, in quiet deprivation

Have no will to move them

But they'll come, maybe see me,

But they hear, and they sway

And I can do no more than watch
As they pitch from the peak to the bottom

They stand at the platform, the steam all around
And they sway, sway, sway on their toes
They let themselves fall, in the darkness no more Wrapped in gold where nobody here knows
They sway, sway, sway on their feet
And they hope they will land where the bronze and gold meet
And they sway, sway, sway and they'll fall
Released from what nobody knows at all.”

Lathe looked up from the keyboard, a hand slowly moving to stop the recording, suddenly hyper aware of the silence behind him. ...where the hell did any of that come from? Really! What the hell?!

Eren moved up to him, tugging on his shirt sleeve to get his attention. <“Are you okay?”> His voice was full of worry and his eyes full of concern as he looked up to Lathe. You look like you’re going to break down or something…. Please please tell me you’re okay.

Lathe looked to Eren, the weariness that had taken over his features immediately dissipating, giving Eren a sheepish smile and taking gentle hold of his hand. “Yeah, I'm fine, just got kinda carried away I guess. I've been able to hear nothing but the clocks ticking in the background, it’s so quiet, and my head just got away from me. But hey, when music calls…” He gave him a reassuring smile. “It’s all good. Don't worry.” ...seriously though, where did any of that come from? Any ideas, anyone? He let Eren go for a moment, reaching over to title the piece and email it to himself quickly. That’s good… That gets posted later. I like it. He soon turned back to the rest of the room, noting their looks and smiling sheepishly again, rubbing the back of his neck. Musical outbursts. That’s a thing… apparently.

Oh my gosh. “That…. That was awesome!” Mark’s enthusiastic voice barreled through the room as he went up to Lathe. “How did you do that?” Mark asked curiously, his eyes looking over the keyboard. I didn’t know that’s what you used that for....

Lathe just shrugged, looking over the screen at the many layers he had created in the audio file. “I just… I heard the ticking of the clocks, and got inspired. I've been obsessed with gears and mech lately, and I just kinda started layering sounds. Next thing I knew there was a rhythm going, and I thought it needed something smooth to go with it and I was humming, then the piano was a good touch and… I don't even remember the half of what I said. I just started singing… Sometimes, for me, music just happens. It’s a random event, and you just gotta roll with it. But whatever just happened was really cool, and that’s going home with me to edit and mess with, and post. That was fun!” He grinned. …that’s always really cool when it happens. It should be interesting, knowing what the hell I just said.

Jack stood behind Mark, studying the computer screen and looking to Lathe, a look of awe on his face. How the hell did you just do that?! His voice was quiet, growing louder to its normal volume as a grin cracked across his face. “…what even just happened. That was so cool! I can't understand how you could come up with all that on the spot! That was really good!” …just… Wow.

Levi moved from his place leaning against the wall listening to use Lathe’s shoulder as an armrest, wrapping his other arm around Eren’s middle. He looked at the microphone, to where Lathe was sitting. “…I don’t know what the hell just went down, but that was pretty fucking awesome.” You just... sat down and did the thing. That's seriously fucking impressive.

“C-can I do one?” Eren asked, his voice a little shy. My violin is in my bag… I wanna play. It’s too quiet, I don’t like it, it reminds me of that horrible house. He shrugged off his bag, pulling out the violin case and brandishing it for the group to see.

Lathe nodded immediately, moving the microphone and standing to let Eren have the stool, leaning on the desk next to the keyboard. He pulled up a new file for recording, clicking the record button. “Whenever you're ready, Eren.” He and the rest of them fell silent, taking the case and his bag from him. What’re you going to play?

Eren nodded, his focus on his violin as he tuned it for the song. He made a small noise to show he was about to start, and started to quickly start on the first few chords of Secrets. I know Dad likes this song, I wonder if he’ll sing?

… this song. Lathe beamed, his eyes following the bow as it moved over the strings, his look beginning to go further and further away. He counted the measures in his head, his voice low and full of emotion as he began to sing, his head moving from one side to the other as the song went on. He barely noticed Levi, Mark and Jack joined him for the chorus, his gaze miles away. For him, it ended too soon, Eren drawing out the last notes and letting silence fall before snapping out of it, clicking to stop the recording. He had a small smile on his face, and beamed as he looked up to Eren. I love that one.

Eren’s smile was wide, as if he was feeding off of Lathe’s smile, he looked really happy and relaxed. “You guys sounded great!” Eren’s cheeky smile returned again as he shuffled from foot to foot. I wonder if Mark or Jack will want me to play something?

Oh my god. Jack stood silently for a moment, quickly moving to glomp Eren, careful not to hurt the violin in his hands. “That was amazing! Oh my gosh I loved that! You play so well!” That was great!!

Eren giggled as Jack hugged him. “I didn’t do anything, you guys were the ones who were singing.” Eren countered but couldn’t stop from giggling. Jack’s hugging me again!

“Are you kidding me? You played the violin like a boss. That was really good! Seriously, I loved it!” How can you say you didn’t do anything?

Eren blushed at the compliment. He thinks I did good? Eren’s smile was genuine as he watched Mark come over to hug him as well.

“Do it again! I wanna hear another song!” Mark was basically jumping up and down around Eren and Jack, hugging him when ever he had two feet planted on the ground, the rest was a fangirling mess. It was totally awesome!

That was really good! Levi flashed Eren a small smile, an amused look in his eyes as he followed Mark’s movements. ...he must drink espresso like everyone else drinks water.

Lathe chuckled as Mark hopped around, his eyes sparkling. “You up for another song, Eren? Got another one on your mind?” Hmmm... What would he pick? I dunno...

Eren nodded, thinking about which song to pick. ... No can’t do that one, no one besides Lathe would know it.... Can’t do that one, only I would be able to sing it... Um... Oh! I know! P’nk! Eren looked around the room, his eyes finally landing on what he was looking for. “I got an idea.” His eyes held a mischievous glint as he put his violin in the open case and went to get the electric guitar from the wall, along with an amp. No let's see how this baby sounds. I haven’t played an electric guitar since middle school... eh, can’t be that bad...

Lathe quirked an eyebrow as he watched Eren retrieve the guitar from the wall, slightly suspicious, his expression mirroring Levi’s. ...the hell is he doing? He hasn’t used one of those before... Pretty sure. What’s he up to...
Eren turned the amp on very low to make sure the guitar was tuned to where he wanted, his smile quickly going ear to ear. Oh yeah. “Ready?” Eren asked his eyes gleaming with happiness. All hail the queen, P!nk. His hand flew over the neck of the guitar, the start to P!nk’s ‘So What.’ His voice accompanying the guitar confidently.

Mark’s eyes widened immediately, struggling to hold in an excited squeal. YES!!! Within only a few moments Mark was going right along with him and singing just as confidently with him, surprised Eren didn’t miss a single beat.

Lathe, Levi and Jack all nodded along to the song, singing with them for the chorus. Lathe and Jack beamed, a small smile on Levi’s face as the song went on, jamming in their spots as Eren strummed expertly at the electric guitar.

Eren really put everything he had into the song, and he ended off the song with a loud laugh, a smile still etched across his face. “That was awesome!” He breathed out, returning to melodious laughter as he turned the amp off.

It was Lathe’s turn to beam and glomp onto Eren, careful of the heavy instrument he held. “That was great! I didn't know you played the electric guitar before! You did amazing!” He laughed, ruffling Eren’s hair a bit. You did a great job of playing that! That was really cool!

Levi chuckled quietly as Lathe glomped Eren, a small smile on his face as he moved as well to wrap his arms around Eren, giving him a quick peck on the cheek. “That was really good, Eren! You played really well!” This has all just snowballed into a huge jam session, hasn’t it?

Eren looked up to Lathe, his eyes bright as they met Lathe’s excited eyes. “I did? I haven’t played it in a long time.” Eren told him honestly. It’s been 4 years already....

Lathe laughed, his eyes bright. “You played as if you never stopped! That’s really cool, how you can remember how to play any instrument you ever learn for so long! It’s an amazing talent to have!” That’s really cool!

Eren smiled as he leaned into Lathe’s arms. “It wasn’t as long... It’s only been four years since I last played this.” Eren told him, looking down to the guitar in his hands. That was really cool. Mark was so into it!
A huge jam session was underway at that point. They played and sang at least five more songs before we wandered back into the computer room, and Lathe brought one out of sleep mode and started to freak out as he saw a heart icon or something on the screen. Next thing I knew Marc Jack and Lathe had Eren sitting down to play some video game... Under-something, I dunno. They were going to be there all day, and the dialogue was really funny, but I had to call Nate after two hours of really bad puns to get out of there and over to the train station. It wasn't easy dragging them out of there, but I managed. Somehow. Not before Lathe asked for more hugs and a picture, of course. Eren was really cool on the train, he didn't freak out the slightest bit. He just thought it was really cool, if anything. It took a while to get us back over to Kansas, nonstop. We slept on the way back, and Lathe had managed to get us a private room on such short notice somehow. He had to call Marc, ask him to drive us up to Wichita from Topeka so he could get his car back from the airport. Eren had nearly flipped when he saw the airport, even when we explained we just had to retrieve Lathe's car. He was okay when we left, though. It's been only two days that we've been home, and of course, Eren didn't shut up about the miniature horse from the Zoo until Lathe took him horseback riding. ...my God, I'm really struggling not to just jump his bones every time I see him... It's been two weeks since we had sex and I'm dying... Seriously, something needs to happen soon, before I go away in a week...

Eren was sitting in his recording room, doodling on his computer. He was already starting to draw some of the characters from Undertale. I wanna play it again... I wonder if Lathe will let me? It seemed so cool. Eren was pretty much silent as he continued on his tablet screen. They're starting to look alright... I guess? I dunno, Lathe would have to be the judge on that.

Lathe knocked on the doorframe of the recording room, poking his head in. “Eren, for the third time, dinner’s ready. You doin’ alright up here?” You're drawing... You must be really into whatever you've got going on. He walked up next to him, looking at the screen with a huge grin. “Oh. My god. Yes!” Lathe’s eyes shone. Now I know the kind of games you’d like! Thank god you like Undertale! ‘I love it! Oh my gosh, you're drawing all of them too perfectly!’ Lathe was practically bouncing on his toes. Yes!

Eren looked up to Lathe, putting the stylus down for a moment. “You think so? They’re not too animated or anything?” I really hope they look okay... Cause I’ve been letting the software record the screen... So that I can post a video of it. It took a moment for Lathe’s words to finally catch on to him. “What’s for dinner?” He was on his feet, making sure everything was saved, pausing the recording and exiting out to go downstairs. I didn’t even hear him call me for dinner... I was so engrossed in drawing.

“French toast. And Eren you took them from being 2D and gave them so much dimension and personality and I LOVE IT!” Lathe laughed, his hands covering his mouth as he looked over the image with wide eyes. I LOVE IT!!!!!!!!
Eren’s eyes widened in a fraction of a second before he was bolting down the stairs at a very high rate of speed. “FRENCH TOAST!!!! ” Eren screamed as he slid across the floor in the kitchen, almost knocking into the table. “French… Toast… Lathe, I fucking love you so fucking much right now!” Eren called as he moved to load his plate with food. I’m sooooo hungry, I skipped lunch… well damn.

Lathe laughed, his eyes sparkling as he scampered after him, trying not to slip on the hardwood of the piano room. “Love you too kid, now watch your yap and try not to crash into anything!” Yeah, we don't want you breaking your other wrist or hitting your head on anything. The floor in the kitchen’s stone! He followed Eren in filling a plate, grabbing a bottle of maple syrup and sitting at the table, picking up the butter cup as well. Breakfast for dinner!

Levi poked his head out of Eren’s room, heading down the stairs after them. “WHAT THE HELL ARE YOU TWO YELLING ABOUT?” He slid across the floor, stopping next to the table and leaning on it in one smooth motion. “I’m all for sliding to the kitchen and being cool about it, but I don't think pursuing a career as a crash test dummy is something you want to do, Brat.” He smirked, winking at Eren as he moved to grab a plate. No crashing into things and hitting your head on the edge of the table, please.

Eren wolfed down the first slice after buttering each and every single one. Oh my god… I love this so much! His eyes followed Levi as he slid into the room, following him as he walked to the counter for food. “Hey…. I didn’t crash into the table, and neither did you, so sliding is perfectly okay!” Eren retorted stubbornly, filling his mouth with another slice of toast.

Levi quirked an eyebrow, pouring maple syrup over his French toast and offering it to Eren after a moment. “I said I'm all for sliding, but as long as you don't come as close as you did to crashing.” He nudged Eren’s foot under the table. Just as long as we're good.

Eren gave a glare of disgust at the syrup offered to him. “You and I both know, I hate syrup, stop trying to offer it to me already!” Eren growled for only a moment before he was nudging Levi’s leg just as playfully. We’ve gone over this soooo many times already.

Levi raised his hands in mock surrender as Lathe nearly dropped his fork in shock. “Well excuse me, I just thought it was impossible to eat French toast without maple syrup. But apparently not.” He smirked, his feet nudging Eren back. I'm just joking, don't think I'm being mean.

Lathe looked to Eren in surprise. ...how are you eating French toast without maple syrup?! It's practically not even French toast without syrup! ...oh wait, yeah, you can't stand sweet stuff... We still need to fix that. He shrugged, returning to his toast and keeping his feet clear of their playing footsie.

Eren continued to play footsie with Levi as he was finishing off his fourth and final plate of french toast. Yeah... there are no left overs.... That was what the fourth plate was.... The rest of the french toast no one else was going to eat. He got up to put his plate in the sink and start the dishes. “What time is it?” Eren asked the other two as he moved to take their plates. I honestly have no idea anymore.

Lathe stretched his arms over his head, seeming to droop. “Ugh, time for me to get to bed. I think it’s like eight or something, and I'm fucking exhausted.”

“You hypocrite! You just fucking swore, don’t yell at me not to when you just fucking did it!” Eren laughed as he turned his head to look Lathe over his shoulder. Don’t yell at me for doing something you just did.

Lathe just looked at him, confused. ...wha? He looked to Levi, his hair falling in his eyes as he spoke, a slight stutter to his words. “D-did I really just…?” Did I actually swear?

Levi nodded, an amused look in his eye. “Yeah, you kinda did.” Can you not even tell?

Lathe looked at him for a moment, then to the floor, thinking hard. He shrugged after a moment. “Eh, it’s too fucking late for this. I'm going to sleep.” He shambled over to the staircase, ready to collapse into bed. Sleep... Sleep sounds fucking wonderful right about now.

Eren watched him for only a few seconds before he returned to his dishes quietly humming. Hmmm…. Lathe’s been getting to sleep a lot earlier lately… I wonder if LA wiped him out?

Levi walked next to Eren, drying the plates he was handed and stowing them in the cupboards above them, wrapping his arms around Eren’s waist from behind after he was handed the last one. He purred into Eren’s ear. “Is it alright if we head downstairs?” I don't know what the fuck I'd do if God forbid you said no... Murder, actually, is probably what would happen. Just say yes so I can fuck you already!

Eren shivered as Levi spoke in his ear. His voice is so deep, God that was hot. Eren’s head slowly turned, his hooded eyes meeting Levi’s, his head giving a barely discernible nod before he leaned in to kiss him, softly at first. Yeah, we haven’t done this in a while, have we?
Yes! Levi turned Eren around so he could press their chests together, tilting his head to deepen their kiss, pressing Eren against the counter for a moment before pulling him to the scripting room, his arms still tightly wound around him. Downstairs. Just make it downstairs, and he’s all yours.

Eren followed him, a large smile creeping across his features. This is gonna be fun, we haven’t done it in a long time. Eren let himself be led down the flight of stairs before he broke free of Levi’s grasp and moved to get what they needed from the shoebox hidden in the shelves. I should take out some more condoms, just in case we do more than round one…. Which we’ve been doing a lot lately.

Levi let Eren rifle through the shoebox for a moment, immediately pulling him back to kiss him, pulling him to the bed and gently pushing him onto it, looming over him as his tongue pushed past his lips, coiling around Eren’s. His hands wandered over Eren’s chest, brushing the waistband of his jeans. My God, it’s been too. Fucking Long.

Eren’s warm hands ran up Levi’s chest, his thumbs rubbing teasingly across Levi’s exposed collarbones. He let his hands slowly drag down his chest, taking in every contour under his fingers, finally tugging at the hem of Levi’s shirt. I want it off. I want it off now.

Levi broke their kiss for an instant, quickly lifting the shirt over his head, the defined muscles of his chest rippling as he moved before he threw it to the side, moving to attack Eren’s neck, leaving small bitemarks and bruises in his wake. He suckled at the soft skin, his hands drifting to the hem of Eren’s tank top, tugging at it after a moment. Off. Now.

Eren lifted his arms up to let Levi pull the article off easier. I missed this… I missed this so much. Eren’s arms wrapped around Levi’s shoulders, pulling himself up off the bed to latch himself against Levi’s warm body, his lips locking onto Levi’s, kissing him hungrily, more passionate than before.

Levi’s hands ghosted over his exposed chest, exploring every curve and line, slowly finding their way to the hem of his jeans, teasing playing with the button for a moment before undoing it, unzipping them and tugging them over his hips, letting his fingers run lightly down the inside of his thighs as he did so. His lips moved to kiss at his adam’s apple, sucking on the soft flesh. I want to hear you.

Eren let out a soft gasp, his breath beginning to hitch. “Levi...” His name rolled off Eren’s tongue with a breathy moan, a hand slowly carding through Levi’s inky locks, and tugging a bit. God, don’t stop please. Eren’s erection strained against his boxers as he wiggled his hips to help Levi get him out of his jeans. His other hand reached down to tease at Levi’s pants, slowly working through the button and zipper before tugging to get it just over his hips to be able to see his growing bulge. Fuck, he’s already hard... I can’t complain though. His hand found the bulge, palming it as he let out a series of breathy moans.

Levi groaned against his neck, his hand lightly running up over Eren’s growing erection through his boxers before finding the hem, tugging them down and over his hips and letting Eren kick them off. His hand teasingly ran from the underside of the base to the tip, running over the slit before loosely grasping his length, slowly pumping his shaft. His other hand reached over blindly on the sheets, searching for the small black tube before finally grasping it after a moment.

Eren let his moans get louder, arching his back off the mattress as he moved his head against Levi’s, his mouth by the shell of his ear as he moaned and hissed in pleasure. His body was all the more open for him as he shuddered underneath him. Fuck, it feels so good. “Levi… More, please.” He begged, the hand in Levi’s hair pulling him to his neck, and offering it to him to mark the tan skin as much as he wanted. Mark me... Make people know I'm yours.

Levi smirked possessively, biting and sucking harder on the skin of his neck, leaving a ring of bruises blooming around his collar, his hand quietly flicking open the cap of the small tube, coating his fingers and setting the tube aside. His other hand still slowly ran up and down his shaft, teasing the head with his thumb as his fingers drifted to his hole, tracing it before pressing one finger past the tight ring of muscle to the knuckle. ...you sound so damn sexy and you're mine and I need you... I need you now...

Eren let out a high pitched cry, his body relaxing instantly at the familiar intrusion. “Fuck, Levi… Hurry, don’t make me wait.” I want you... I want you so bad. Eren’s teeth gently rubbed at the tip of his ear as his seductive voice wafted through the room. I don’t wanna wait.

Levi pressed another finger inside him, scissoring him and searching for his prostate, feeling the soft walls as he nibbled at the other side of Eren’s neck, wandering over his collarbone. I don't want to wait much longer either... I can't. I need you now. Levi drew his fingers out of Eren, his other hand snatching a condom from the sheets, tearing it open with his teeth and rolling it on. He grabbed the small tube and slicked himself up, tossing it back aside as he aligned himself with Eren, his hands tracing over his sides as he kissed the spot below his ear, slowly pressing into Eren until he was buried to the hilt. ...oh my God, I've missed you... I've missed this... I've missed everything about you...

Eren’s hands reached around Levi’s broad shoulders as he felt him come all the way in to the hilt. So fucking big... “Levi… You’re so big, it feels so good.” Eren whispered into his ear, kissing it gently, moving to suckle at his jaw, leaving a few visible marks before trailing back up to his ear, his left hand moving to mess with his hair again. It feels so good, and you haven’t even fucking moved yet.
Levi groaned against his soft skin, beginning a slow deep rhythm as he purred into Eren’s ear, his voice low. “Eren, you’re so tight… You feel so amazing … I love all the sounds you make, they’re sexy as hell …” His grip tightened on Eren’s hips, speeding up a bit. ...so good…

Eren’s moans grew louder as Levi sped up his rhythm. “...ugh, Levi...” Eren’s moans took over the basement, his body pressing against Levi’s, his breaths coming out in pants against Levi’s neck. So good... So fucking good. His eyes held a mischievous glint in them as he thought of something, slowly squeezing his insides, adding pressure to Levi’s entire length that was embedded in him, sending a shiver down his spine. Holy fuck.... That felt fucking great.

Levi groaned loudly against his neck, his thrusts becoming more erratic as he felt Eren’s walls clamp down on his length, the coil in his stomach tightening quickly. I’m not going to last too much longer... Levi’s hand drifted down to tease at Eren’s length as he dropped his head onto his shoulder, moaning loudly after a minute as his coil snapped, biting down on his collarbone. ...holy fuck you feel so good...

Eren gasped loudly, his whole body shuddering, and his coil snapping from the sudden bite to his collarbone. Holy fuck... I came, I came hard... Eren thought he saw stars as string after string of pearly white littered his chest and abdomen. Fuck. Eren tilted his head away, his eyes focusing on the strip of cloth at the edge of the bed. Well... It’s certainly worth a try...

Levi moved to kiss Eren hotly, his tongue still mapping out his mouth as he drew out of him, removing the condom and dropping it into the wastebasket next to the bed. He stood for a moment to retrieve the box of wipes from the table, cleaning both of their chests and discarding the wipe before climbing back on top of him, kissing him passionately, his hand cupping his cheeks. Now... We can take our time, go slow...

Eren kissed him back, his tongue licking against Levi’s bottom lip, asking for entrance as he moved to switch their positions, managing with some effort to flip Levi over. My turn now... He used Levi’s surprised gasp to let his tongue slip inside, gliding over his teeth and swiveling around his tongue. His hand reached out to the black cloth and pulled at it, looking at it for only a second before returning his attention to Levi’s mouth. A long-sleeve’ll work for this... I just need to get him tied down first.

Levi gasped in surprise, his eyes fluttering open for a split second as Eren flipped him onto his back, catching a glimpse of black fabric out of the corner of his eye. What are you...? His eyes opened as he felt Eren grasp his hands, widening as he moved them above his head and tied them with the shirt. Wait what. Levi broke their kiss, his voice breathy. “E-Eren, what...?” What are you doing?
Eren’s eyes held a seductive flare in them, a fire burning so brightly, one Levi had never seen before. His body dipped down as he craned his neck to nip at Levi’s ear, gently tugging before releasing it. “It’s my turn…. I promise I’ll be nice.” His voice was an octave deeper than it usually was, a seductive purr as he rolled his body back into a sitting position, giving him an erotic air. My turn, I’m gonna make you go crazy…

Levi swallowed hard, his member twitching as Eren tightly tied his hands together, tucking them behind his head. His eyes raked up Eren’s form looming over him. …holy fuck he’s hot… My god… He looked up as Eren reached to draw the fabric over his eyes, panicking for a split second that he couldn't see. …He just blindfolded me. What the hell do I do? I don't know what to do about this… Shit, what’s happening? He felt the bed dip as Eren moved to stand, hearing the familiar sound of the crinkling of condom wrappers in the shoebox on the shelf. …he plans on doing what. Oh my. This is happening. Shit I don't know what to do… He listened as Eren padded back to the bed, feeling Eren take his place again in front of him, feeling very exposed at his position, unable to see and so completely open. He shivered a bit in his nervousness, and in anticipation.

Eren leaned down, setting aside the lube and condom for now. You are so fucking hot, and you’re on display for me. He slowly leaned down, his tongue starting at the top of Levi’s coarse pubic hair and trailing up his stomach and over his chest in one large strip. Oh god, he tastes great too. Fuck me … Well no, I’m going to be fucking you this time. He lifted his tongue off the skin for only a moment. “Tell me where it feels good Levi, I wanna know, everything.” His seductive purr was right near his ear before he latched onto one of Levi’s nipples, sucking hard at the pink flesh and teasingly biting the small nub. Moan for me.

Levi moaned loudly, his face blushing crimson under the dark fabric as his back arched, his heels digging into the mattress. [Eren, right there, please…] Levi’s moans became louder as Eren’s hands wandered his chest, his face red to the tips of his ears, French rolling familiarly off his tongue. …Oh my God… … What the hell is he saying? It sounds so weird. Eh, whatever, it’s probably jibberish . Eren sucked even harder on the pert nipple, biting on it, and pulling a little roughly before releasing it and moving to the next, letting his slender fingers abuse the one he had just released. I want you moaning for me. <“Does it feel good Levi? Does it feel good to be played with?”> Eren let his rough German tongue take over as he grinded gently against Levi’s thigh, still completely entertained with Levi’s perky nips.

Levi’s moans filled the basement, whimpering as Eren moved to suckle on his other nipple. That damn voice… [My God, Eren, yes, don’t stop, please don’t stop. Holy fuck, I love you, please…] His member throbbed as Eren purred into his ear, his hips grinding back against Eren’s, searching for friction.
Eren smirked, moving away from him, only a few inches but enough that Levi wouldn’t be able to rub against him. You’re definitely answering me… But what are you saying? He stopped his sucking, choosing to bite his nipple and pull just as he had done with the other, his tongue slowly tracing down his body, coming to the coarse hair above his crotch, but avoiding his length at all costs. <“No no, you’re not allowed to cum yet, I need you to wait.”> He purred, a cheek against the inside of Levi’s thigh as he backed up onto his heels, raising the leg over his shoulder. He’s so fucking hot, holy shit… Why did I not do this sooner? He kept the kisses gentle, but soon progressed to bites and bruises, moving down towards his crotch but not too close before switching to the other leg. I’m gonna tease you until you’re ready to come with just me kissing you. <“You need to tell me what you want Levi, or I won’t be able to please you.”>

Levi writhed under him, whimpering as Eren touched him everywhere except the place he wanted him to the most. [E-Eren… Please…. Touch me, finger me, God, touch me please…] I’m going to go insane if you don’t touch me… I need you, I need you badly… I need you now.

Eren watched the words tumble from Levi’s mouth with ease. … The. Fuck . Is . He. Saying? He gently set Levi’s leg down before reaching for the small bottle of lube, silently uncapping it and covering two digits with a generous amount of lube. He moved closer to Levi, grabbing his hips and pulling Levi up closer and onto his own knees, sitting back on his heels and letting his own length tease Levi’s twitching hole before he swirled a cool finger around it, gently pushing in to his knuckle, looking up to gauge his response. <“Levi, moan for me, I want to hear you moan my name.”> Slowly Eren had his whole finger inside of Levi, feeling his inside twitch with every slight movement. He’s so sensitive, and he doesn’t even fucking know it… Shit .

Levi felt Eren pull him onto his knees, his lower back off of the bed as his legs found their way over Eren’s shoulders, shivering in anticipation as he felt Eren’s finger trace his hole, hissing a bit at the intrusion, trying to relax as his finger felt up his walls. He moaned loudly as Eren purred, no longer caring about how loud he was. [Eren, my God… Please , don’t stop, I need… I need you, I want you so bad… My God…]

<“Patience Levi, I’ll give it to you soon, I need to make sure you’ll feel nothing but pleasure.”> His voice rolled off of his tongue as he gently inserted another finger into Levi’s quivering hole, leaning his head down to kiss Levi’s inner thighs again. Fuck, I wonder if this feels as good for him as it does for me?

Levi shifted at the intrusion, hissing quietly as Eren stretched him out, whimpering a bit in pain. Fuck, it hurts… Shit . He groaned as he felt Eren’s lips ghosting down his thighs, his member painfully hard against his stomach. He forced himself to relax, sighing after the fingers inside of him became less painful and he could feel the pleasure growing. [Eren… Please, more… I need you…]
Eren nipped gently at his thigh, tracing his tongue down the side as far as his body would allow him, his fingers curling up and moving around gently. Come on... Where is it? I want to know where it is first...I don’t want to put the third in without having found your prostate. Eren’s fingers were gentle as he added a bit more lube to make sure Levi felt as little pain as possible.

Levi suddenly let out a breathy gasp as he felt Eren’s fingers ghost over his prostate, his back arching further off of the bed. He let out a strangled yelp as Eren’s fingers pressed against the bundle of nerves, writhing under him. [Fuck, right there, Eren, please, right there... I need you...]* Oh my God, don’t stop, please don’t stop...*

Eren inserted his third finger into Levi as he felt him writhe under him. <“Fuck that’s hot.”> His free hand coming to gently caress Levi’s thigh until he got to his crotch, slowly taking hold of his member and holding his base, making sure that Levi wouldn’t be able to cum just yet. No... Not yet. His fingers abused Levi’s prostate as he stretched him out the rest of the way.

Levi groaned as Eren pushed a third finger into him, moaning loudly as Eren’s fingers pressed at and teased his prostate, whimpering as Eren took hold of his length at the base, shifting and hoping for friction. [E-Eren, please, I-let me... I need you now, please... I can't take it, make me cum, please...] I need you so bad...

Eren gently took his fingers out of his twitching entrance. God he looks so lewd. It’s wonderful. <“Tell me what you want me to do Levi.”> Eren kept his grip tightly around the base of his cock, making sure he didn’t cum and getting him down from his high. I need you to last as long as I do. So you can’t come yet.

Levi whined as Eren withdrew his fingers, bucking up his hips as he spoke, slightly stuttering. [E-Eren... I want... I want you to fuck me, please... I need you in me, I need you now... My God, Eren, please.] Keep me waiting any longer and I don't know what I'd do... I need you, I want you so bad...

Eren smirked, slowly positioning himself at Levi’s entrance and teasing it with the tip of his cock, leaning over Levi’s body and taking in one of his nipples to suck at. <“Good Boy.”> Eren praised as he pushed into Levi slowly to allow him to get accustomed to his length quicker. You sound so fucking hot, I wonder what the fuck it is you’re saying... It’s probably something sexy as all hell...

Levi shivered at the praise, whimpering as Eren’s length stretched him out, his head back as he arched up off of the mattress, his heels pressing against Eren’s back. ...It feels so good , but it hurts so much all at the same time... I don't think I'll ever get tired of hearing that damn voice of Eren stayed as still as possible, his mouth continuing to bite and suck at the smooth white flesh across Levi’s chest. <“Tell me when I can move, I’ll wait until you’re ready, Levi.”> Eren continued to litter his chest with bite mark after bite mark, waiting for Levi to adjust to the intrusion. I want to fuck you into oblivion...

Levi took in a ragged breath, relaxing as he felt the pain fading, feeling strangely filled with Eren’s length inside him. He nodded, shifting his hips and trying to press back against Eren’s hips slowly to get him to move. [Y-You can move… S-Slow, please...] We don’t have to rush anything, and you feel so good already… Take all the time you want, please...

Eren slowly pulled out until the only thing left was his tip before gently easing himself back in. He kept his slow pace, feeling Levi’s tightness start to fade a bit. That’s good, he’s relaxing, I’ll wait to get faster or harder until he’s begging for it. Eren kept his teasingly slow pace for a long time, sometimes going as far as to lightly brush against his prostate but never hit it head on.

Levi moaned under him, curling up a bit and nudging forward with his head, finding Eren to kiss him, his tongue languidly moving into his mouth and wrapping around his own. He broke the kiss for only a second, breathing a word against his lips before reclaiming them, nibbling his lip. [...Harder, please.] He pushed his hips against Eren’s, meeting his thrusts as he kissed him heatedly. You can go faster... I’m going to lose it if you don’t.

Eren’s hands moved from his nipples down to Levi’s hips, his grip tightening as he picked up his pace and thrusted even deeper into Levi’s warmth. Pulling his lips away from Levi’s for only a moment <“Tell me what you want Levi… You need to tell me.”> His grip still strong on Levi’s hips as he thrusted into him, still teasing him with close thrusts towards his prostate but never hitting it directly. Oh no, that’s for later, I want you begging for it, I want you to beg for me to let you cum.

Levi panted, moaning loudly as Eren quickened the pace, thrusting deeper into him, his breathing ragged against his lips. [E-Eren… Please… Fuck me, let me cum, please... L-let me cum, you’re driving me insane, stop teasing me and let me have everything, please... ] Let me cum, please.

Eren smirked, moving a hand to remove the blindfold from Levi as he pushed him down to the bed, his grip on his hips increasing tenfold as he went to town on him, thrusting quickly, deeply and directly on his prostate. <“Cum for me… Cum for me, Levi.”> Eren’s eyes were hooded as he stared into Levi’s silvery orbs. Fuck he is so fucking hot.
His hands still bound behind his head, Levi let out a strangled scream in bliss as he looked Eren in the eye, Eren’s voice all he could hear and his back arching off the mattress as he came hard, clamping down on Eren’s length as streams of pearly cum decorated his chest, moaning and panting, going limp against Eren. [Oh my God, Eren...] ...Holy fuck, that felt amazing...!

Eren watched as Levi’s face gave away his pleasure. Holy shit... He’s so fucking hot... His coil snapped as he heard Levi let out a strangled scream, and in an instant he climaxed. So fucking tight, I wonder if I felt this tight for him? Eren slowly pulled out, his breath ragged from exertion. He tied off the filled condom, and threw it away, moving to grab the wipes and clean the both of them off, his eyes full of contentment. “Levi...” Eren’s voice had once again returned to his usual soft voice, hoping to get his attention. I wanna know what it was you were saying...

Levi struggled to untie his hands, tugging at the knot with his teeth and pulling free, letting the shirt fall onto the floor, uncaring as he tugged Eren on top of him after he had cleaned them up, holding him gently, one arm around his waist, the other buried in his hair, softly murmuring into his brunette locks. “Hm? What’s up, Eren?”

Eren slowly reached down to pull the covers up over them, his hand coming up to gently finger over the many marks he left on Levi’s chest. “What were you saying?... It sounded like you were answering me... But I have no idea what it was you said.” His smile was just as soft as his eyes as he traced every mark.

Levi’s eyes widened. If I was speaking something, and it wasn't English or German... Shitshitshitshitshit not good... I fucking let it slip... He sighed, a defeated look to him for a moment. “I- I was talking in French, I guess. I said a lot of things- you made me beg for it, among other things; I’ll let you piece together the rest.” He smirked. “But yeah, French... I know it from a really long time ago...”

Eren nodded, curling up to him to hide his growing blush. “I-I didn’t hurt you... Did I?” Eren asked timidly as he looked up to Levi’s eyes. I’ve never necessarily topped before...

Levi dipped his head down, pressing their foreheads together, looking Eren in the eyes, his voice quiet and warm. “No, you didn't. You were amazing.” He pressed a chaste kiss to Eren’s lips, before pulling back and giving him a small smile, his eyes bright. “I love you, Eren.” I really do.

Eren smiled, happily curling up to him, his lips finding Levi’s neck to press a few feathery kisses to the pale skin. “You’ll be sore tomorrow, I hope you know that.” He murmured quietly, his eyes already starting to close as Levi pulled him towards his body. I’m tired... That’s exhausting.... How do you manage?
Levi sighed as Eren kissed his neck, settling into the mattress. His voice was sleepy, his head resting on top of Eren’s. “Mm. I'll just make you carry me around if I can't stand up.” ...I seriously might.

Eren didn’t respond, his soft and even breathing letting Levi know he had fallen asleep. His head was tucked into Levi’s shoulder, his arm draped across his chest, and his breath warm against Levi’s neck.

Levi chuckled softly, his thumb rubbing lightly against his side, his eyes sliding shut as sleep overcame him.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe padded over to the scripting room from the kitchen. It’s ten in the morning and they’re still asleep? They never sleep this late. He opened the door to the basement, going halfway down the steps so he could lean over the banister. Hey, since I'm technically not banned from the basement… Yet… “Breakfast!” He chuckled as they started to shift on the bed. Yeah, time to wake the hell up already! I can't eat all those pancakes by myself!

Eren was the first to sit up, his bed head going every which way as he stretched. He had what almost looked like a collar of hickeys and bitemarks around his neck. His chest was littered with similar marks, especially his collarbone. The fuck? I'm still tired. Eren rubbed his eyes as he yawned, trying to wake himself up. “It’s too early…” He whined, not wanting to get up out of the comfort of the bed, the sheets thankfully hiding his naked lower half.

Lathe shook his head, his gaze moving over to the clock on the wall. “It’s ten in the morning. You two never sleep in this late. And I’m not about to let you start. Come on, pancakes are waiting. And could you shake Levi awake for me? He’s not moving.” You two need to get the hell up and eat something. I didn't just make breakfast for what would normally feed six for nothing!

Levi grumbled, reaching blindly next to him and trying to tug Eren back down next to him, his arm curling around his waist and refusing to let go. “M’ tired. M’ going back to sleep…”

Eren lazily lifted Levi’s arm off of him. “Come on… It’s Pancakes… I want food.” Eren groaned at him, still in a tired haze as he shook Levi until he was awake enough to sit up. “I wanna eat.” He pestered, his voice sounding like a child’s. I'm gonna eat your share if you don't wake up, and you know I will.
Lathe looked between the two of them as Levi begrudgingly sat up, quirking an eyebrow as he saw handmarks on Levi’s hips. Huh. Usually it’s Eren with those marks… Eh. He pushed off the banister. “Okay, now that you’re awake, I’ll get going back upstairs. Get dressed and come right up, alright?” He padded back up the stairs, closing the door lightly behind him.

Levi rubbed the sleep out of his eyes, looking at Eren. “Do I really have to get up? I know it's pancakes, but…” He sighed as Eren immediately cued the puppy eyes. Dammit. “Okay, okay, breakfast.” He smirked, pecking Eren on the cheek before swinging his legs off the side of the bed, hunting for his clothes and dressing as he found them.

Eren had a little more difficulty locating his clothes, but soon found sweatpants and stole Levi’s shirt before he found it and scampered upstairs with it hanging loosely around his frame. No shirt for you, ha!

Levi watched helplessly as Eren scampered up the stairs with his shirt, looking around and knowing he wasn’t able to do the same with Eren’s shirt. He’s too small for me to do that. Maybe I'll just retrieve one from upstairs… Or is that too much work… He looked down at his torso, the many bruises littering his chest. I’d rather try and avoid as many teasingly judgemental looks from Lathe as I can. Shirt from upstairs it is. He donned his sweatpants and padded upstairs after him, disappearing up to their bedroom for only a moment before padding into the kitchen wearing a grey tank top. He thanked Lathe as he was handed a plate of pancakes and a mug of tea, sitting down at his usual place at the table.

Eren was already in the middle of scarfing down his first plate, his eyes brightened as he thought of what happened last night. “Oh yeah! Dad guess what? Levi can talk in French! He was talking-” Eren tried to continue the rest of his sentence, too muffled by Levi’s hand to get any actual words out. What?… Oh… Yeah, right….don’t tell Lathe about sex… Forgot about that… Oopsie!

Lathe looked up in shock as Levi moved so quickly to cut Eren off, before the thought registered. Wait… You speak French? A grin cracked across his face. [I didn't know you could speak French. Everyone from the club still speaks French too, you know, Spades and everyone in the photo I showed you a while ago. That’s really neat! When did you learn it?] …this could probably be useful at some point in time, speaking with Eren not knowing what the hell we’re saying. …kinda evens out the field, Eren and I knowing sign language.

Levi’s eyes widened in surprise, his hand dropping from Eren’s mouth. What? [You know French? And I… I learned it from when I lived in Canada.] He said the last half of the sentence coldly, sending Lathe a quick glare. Don't ask.
Message received. ...well, one joke. [Canada, eh? And yeah, in the club that I led everyone took French, and we all studied like mad trying to become fluent. We all remember everything pretty well, mainly because our group chat’s in French. Can’t have peeps reading out phones over our shoulders.] He grinned, sipping from his mug of coffee. It is a pretty good way to keep people from reading it, and for keeping on top of new words.

Eren watched their exchange. The fuck are they saying? {You guys are horrible…. The fuck are you saying?} Eren’s glare was directed at the two of them as he signed, knowing only Lathe would be able to tell, but he didn’t care at the moment. I am soooo fucking lost, and you better not fucking say to watch my language.

Lathe laughed, raising his right hand to spell out one word. {Stuff.} This is great! He beamed as Eren glared at him, setting down his mug and signing. {Just a bit about how everyone in the squad knows French from high school. Nothing too big.} We’re not doing too much hardcore gossiping, don’t worry, you’re not being left out of much. And I would tell you to watch your mouth… But you look done enough with my antics already.

Eren gave a soft huff, getting up to fill his plate yet again with more pancakes. You guys suck. He flipped them the bird, as he glared at the both of them, before turning to his food again, a smile gracing his face at the delicious food. Go ahead, speak all you fucking want. Both of you suck.

Levi chuckled, pecking his cheek in apology before sitting back at his place across from him, nudging his foot with his toes as Eren sat back down. He picked up his mug of tea, sipping it before returning to his syrup-covered pancakes.

Lathe spoke again after a moment, a spark in his eye. “If it makes you feel any better Eren, since we all know sign language too we can keep Levi from knowing what we’re talking about. Evens the score.” You’ve been getting random anger flares. We’re getting kinda used to it, but that doesn’t mean we don’t notice. Eh.

The glint in Eren’s eyes matched Lathe's as he picked up his head. {Oh that sounds much better.} Yes, let him feel as out of the loop as me. He put another forkful of pancake in his mouth. {Let him suffer!}

Lathe laughed, signing back. {Oh my gosh, you're going to make me sign to you all day now just to annoy Levi, aren't you?} Pretty sure that’s what's gonna happen all day today. Apparent payback, even if I'm the one enabling this.
{Yup, that’s exactly what is happening, it’s pay back for me not being able to understand him last night.} Eren’s face instantly flushed. Shit….

Lathe covered his face with his hand, spelling quickly with his left hand as his cheeks tinted red. {Oh my God Eren, too much information.} Stahp, you’re not supposed to tell me that kind of shit… Nooooo……

Levi looked between the two of them, confused. “What the hell did you say? Eren, what did you say?” Why the hell do you both look so flustered all of a sudden? Was it… Dammit, did you slip up and say something embarrassing? He did, didn’t he. That’s exactly what happened. Levi buried his face in his hands, sighing loudly, his voice teasing as he shook his head, a small grin on his face. “Eren, I’m so done with you.” Did you really?

Eren looked down almost shamefully, slowly lifting his hand palm up to Lathe. I didn’t mean to say that… Fuck… I fucked up. His eyes lost their glint when he heard Levi’s words, however teasing they were, they still struck a chord for him. …Is…is that why you’re leaving me? I fucked up…didn’t I? But…you’re done with me?

Levi looked up, the grin falling from his face in an instant as he saw the shame in Eren’s eyes, reaching over to take hold of his hand, lacing their fingers together and tangling their feet under the table. He took his other hand after he saw Lathe quickly run his fingers down his palm, his voice quiet and warm. <“Eren, I’m sorry, I didn't mean it like that. I was just trying to be playful, I didn't want you to get upset. I didn't think about what I said. It’s okay.”> He gently pressed a kiss to the back of his hand, trying to get Eren to look him in the eyes. It’s okay, I said that wrong… please don’t be upset.

Eren slowly pulled his hands away from Levi, trying to take another bite of the food left on his plate but quickly finding that he couldn’t. He slowly got up, his eyes still downcast as he put his plate in the sink. {I’m sorry, I’ll be upstairs.} Eren signed towards the table, not really seeing if Lathe was watching as he went to go lock himself into his recording room.

Lathe looked to Levi, his voice quiet. [He’s going upstairs. Are you…?] He nodded as Levi stood, a worried look on his face as Levi went after Eren. ...Damnit.

Levi went up the stairs after Eren, knocking lightly on the recording room door a moment after it shut. “Eren, can I come in?” He tried the doorknob. …aaaaaand it’s locked. Damnit. I don’t want to have to get the key… “Eren, please unlock the door, I want to talk to you.” We need to sort through some things…
Eren was quiet, moving to put his headphones on his head as he sat down at his computer, pulling up the picture he had been working on last night as well as the video as he continued with it, letting the music blare in his ears to drown everything out. …. He’s done with me?

Levi could hear the music from the other side of the door, sighing in defeat. Yep. Key. He turned to Lathe’s door, jumping up and running his hand across the top of the frame, letting the thin metal hit the ground before picking it up, moving back to the door and feeling with the end of the thin rod at the base of the doorknob, feeling it push the tumbler aside and pushing open the door. He closed the door behind him and set the key on the table, moving to wrap his arms around Eren, gently taking the stylus from his hand and turning him to face him, turning off the music. “Eren, talk to me, please.” He hooked another chair on wheels with his foot, pulling it close so he could sit next to him, twining their fingers together. “I said that wrong, I didn't... Please tell me what’s wrong. I'm really sorry…”

Eren didn’t look up to him, his eyes trained at his feet. {No, I’m not going to tell you because you’re not going to stay... No matter what I say.} Eren was struggling not to cry. You're just waiting to leave...

Levi shifted, his hands resting on Eren’s arms, gently trying to guide him closer to him. I can barely catch some of those words... I think one of them was ‘stay’... I need to hold onto you... But you don’t want me to touch you... And it’s not like I'm leaving because I don't love you... < “Eren, come here, please. And I'm not leaving because I don't love you. I love you so much, but I really feel that this is something I have to do. I'm not leaving for long this time, it’s just a week, but of course I'm going to be back for you. I'm really going to miss you, but I need to do this.”> I really really love you, but... it’s just, this is something I can't pass up.

Eren listened to him, looking up to meet his eyes, his own welling with unshed tears. I don’t want you to leave… I know it’s just a week... But… I don’t want you to leave.... Eren could only nod, leaning forward to rest his forehead against Levi’s shoulder.

Levi gently pulled him into his lap, carding a hand through his hair and his other wrapped around his waist, resting his cheek on his head. <“Eren, I know it’s not going to be easy… It’s not easy for me either, believe me… But it’s something I have to do. I really do love you, and I’m not trying to get away from you, that’s not it at all… I want you to be happy… And I just hope that for while I'm gone, and it’s... longer than just a week, you’ll wait for me.”> He pressed a gentle kiss to his temple, his eyes glassy.

Eren only nodded, holding onto him. I’ll wait for you... But will you be there to come back? What if something happens?
Levi sighed, holding onto him tightly, his fingers running through his dark brown hair. For now… We’re alright.

Eren’s been really distant all week. He’s a lot quieter than he normally is, when he’s not singing love songs upstairs or at the piano or under his breath when he’s just lost in thought… I asked him how he was holding up earlier, and he smiled and tried to tell me he was doing okay, but it didn't follow to his eyes. He’s really broken up about Levi leaving… I don't know how he’s going to react, seeing Levi leave for the first time today. It’s only for a week this time, but it’s going to be hard on him. It’s going to be weird, not having him around for a solid week… But he’s just going to train this time around, so he’ll be okay, come home in one piece. Eren… I swear, sometimes I catch him with this look in his eye like he’s a minute away from breaking down. I’d hate to see how he is when Levi’s gone for months and months at a time… Lathe looked to the clock on the wall, reading the Roman numerals. Erwin’s going to be here soon to get Levi… He walked downstairs to the piano room, where Eren and Levi sat on the couch, Eren’s head on Levi’s shoulder. His voice was quiet. “You sure you have everything, Levi?”

Levi nodded, his arms wrapped around Eren, gently rubbing his side. He was wearing the digital camouflage the academy had sent him. He looked up as he heard the low hum of a car pulling into the driveway, looking to Eren curled into his side. ...Eren... His voice was gentle and low. “Come on Eren, let’s stand up, okay?” He gently guided Eren up with him, his arms not leaving him as they stood to their full height. He pulled Levi close to him, one hand coming up to cup his cheek, pressing a soft kiss to his lips. Don't you worry about me or anything. “I love you, Eren. I'll be home before you know it.” He sent him a small smile. I'm gonna miss you… But I'll be home soon.

Eren kissed him back just as softly. He nodded and leaned his head into Levi’s hand. “Okay…. I’ll be waiting.” His voice was very quiet, jumping when he heard Erwin’s hard knock at the door. He’s really leaving….

Levi’s head turned as he heard the harsh knock, looking back to Eren and pressing one last kiss to his lips before letting his arms slide from him, picking up his pack from the floor next to the couch. “I'll be home soon. I promise.” He gave Lathe a quick hug before opening the door to Erwin, looking back and giving a small wave as he shut the door behind him, following him to his car.

Eren watched him leave, going towards the window, walking right past Lathe, as if he weren’t there, and standing at the window. .....No.... Don’t go.... Don’t leave me, I don’t want you to leave me.... Eren could only watch as his heart shattered, the car pulling out of the driveway and down the street towards the highway. I don’t want you to leave. Eren just stood there, staring at the road, as if they would turn around and come back, and he stood there, Blake whining at him to do something other than stare blankly at the road. … Come back....
Oh my... Lathe slowly padded behind him and rested a hand on his arm, rubbing his shoulder with his thumb, his voice quiet. “It’s okay, Eren. He’ll be home soon. ...do you want to come upstairs and write with me?” We need to get you to do something other than stare out the window... “Eren, you can’t just stand here… let’s do something, please.” ...something to distract your mind... Otherwise, I don't think you'd be able to do anything except break down inside...

Eren barely heard him, he could only watch the road, bringing his hands up to scratch at his wrists, which of course warranted Blake jumping up to grab his hands in his jaws. Eren didn’t even flinch, he just kept his eyes trained on the road, his head leaning forward to press against the glass. ... Don’t leave me... I don’t want you to die...

Lathe sighed wearily, taking hold of Eren’s hands and guiding him over to the couch gently, sitting down and holding onto him tightly. His voice was quiet in his ear. “It’s okay Eren, he’ll be home really soon. He’s gonna be okay, I promise. Don't worry. You can talk to me if you want… You can cry if you need to.” ...you look like you’re about to....

Eren was quiet for only a few second before his grip tightened on Lathe’s shirt and he started to sob. “I don’t… I don’t want him to leave…” Eren sobbed and curled up into his arms.

Lathe rubbed soothing circles into Eren’s back, moving to wipe away at Eren’s tears with his kerchief. “Eren... It’s something he just has to do. I know it doesn't feel like it’s fair, that he has to leave like this, but he’s going to come back for you. He’ll be okay, it’s just training he’s going through right now. He’ll come home in one piece, and he’s going to come home every time he has to leave because he loves you. He’ll be home again soon. It won't be too long… And it’ll get easier, as time goes on…” This isn't the only time you have to say goodbye to him...

Eren continued to sob as he gripped onto Lathe’s shirt. “I don't want him to leave!” Eren shouted loudly, the loudest he had been in a week. His fists gently beating against Lathe’s chest, not really hurting him but beating against him in his anger. “I never wanted him to leave!” Eren screamed as he cried in his lap. I don’t want him to go!

Lathe looked lost, not knowing what to do as Eren shouted, sobbing into his shoulder. He shifted so Eren was in his lap, trying weakly for a moment to stop hitting him before just letting him. ...it’s not like he’s hurting me... Just let him let it out, I guess... I don't know what to say for any of this, what to do... What else can I tell him? ...nothing, really. He tried to keep his arm out of the way of his fists, wiping the tears from his eyes with the soft red fabric as he held Eren against him, murmuring into his ear, trying to calm him. It’s okay... Just... that’s all you need to know. That it’s all gonna be okay.
Eren shook his head, his fists getting harder on his chest until he practically punched him in the chest, moving away from him. “No! It’s not alright! Levi’s leaving me! He doesn’t want to stay with me anymore!” Eren shouted at him, getting up and staring at him as he cried. “Levi’s leaving me! This is just the beginning!” His voice rose high enough that he didn’t even notice the door opening.

Well shit. Spades looked quickly between a defeated Lathe and a furious Eren, unsure of how to intervene. He looks like he’s about to punch his face in. Fuck. “Eren, hon, calm down, please.” She walked to him, trying not to startle him as she rested a hand on his shoulder. Her expression softened. Levi must’ve just left… I was hoping to catch him before he left. He looks so… Broken. “Eren, it’s okay, please. He’s going to come home soon.” You don’t have to shout… You look so furious ...

Eren just shook his head, beginning to sob and break down. “But he left… And he’s gonna leave me again.” He sunk down to the floor, curling up to himself, letting Blake fret over him as he cried harder, his angry facade crumbling right before them to show just how broken he was. I want him back already…. I don’t want him to ever leave.

Spades knelt down next to him, Lathe on Eren’s other side as she gently rubbed his arm, her voice quiet. “Eren, I know you don’t like it, but Levi’s leaving because he feels that he has to. It’s something he feels called to do. But I know that every time, he’s always going to come back. He might leave, but it’s only ever temporary. He’ll be back for you soon. He really will be. He’ll come home in one piece, and just because he was gone for a while doesn’t mean he ever stopped loving you.” …I know it’s hard, but you have to learn to handle it… For right now, though, it’s okay to feel sad, and angry, and broken all at once… I understand… But you can’t be like this every time he has to go...

Eren just sobbed, his head buried in his hands, as Blake tried to lick away his tears. “Why didn’t he ask? Why does he want to go so m-much? I d-don’t want him to go! I-I …n-never wanted him to g-go!” Eren cried, looking up to them, shaking his head. “I don’t…. I don’t want him to leave like… Like mom did…” Eren cried, letting Blake push him down into the ground. I don’t want him to leave like Mom did… I didn’t get to say good bye!

Lathe murmured quietly, wiping at his tear-stained face. “Eren… Levi felt that there was no way he couldn’t do what he’s training to do. It’s not as if he would be okay with knowing he could have been a Marine and not going through with it. It’s just… What he’s going to be training to do, is to help others and try to save lives. I felt the exact same thing when I was looking for a profession… It’s not as much of a choice as it is a calling. And Eren, he’s just going for training right now. He’s not in any real danger right now. And even when it does come time for that, I know that he’s going to do everything he can to come home to you. He really will.” He has to.
Eren struggled to stop his sobs. He let Blake force him to the ground, laying down on his back and the dog quickly laying down on his chest to keep Eren from freaking out anymore than he already was. His eyes looked so broken. What if he likes it so much he wants to stay? What if he finds someone else to love?... And he’s really done with me?

Lathe ran his hand through Eren’s hair, trying to get him to calm down. “Eren, Levi loves you too much to spend any more time than he has to away from you. He’s going to come home soon, and I promise you that if anything, he’s going to love you even more than when he left. He adores you, and he’s not going to stop at anything to get himself home to you. I swear it.” He’ll be home in a week. It’s just a week. ...wait. Spades is back from Germany. Lathe’s eyes suddenly snapped up to Spades in recognition, though his attention soon returned to Eren. We can all talk when Eren is calmer...

Spades was silent as Eren cried and started to quiet down, gently rubbing his arm. Her voice was soft as Eren’s sobs finally stopped. “Eren, there’s something I want you to see. It’s outside right now… I think it’ll make you feel a bit better.” It took forever to get it overseas... And then getting a truck to drive it here was unnecessarily a nightmare… But it’s here. Finally, it’s all here!

What’s outside? Eren slowly calmed down with Blake resting on top of him, grounding him until he knew that he wasn’t going to panic anymore, or freak out anymore. His voice was still pretty shaky, even with how much he was trying to keep calm. “W-What’s… out-outside?” Eren looked over to her, letting Blake stay on his chest, reaching up to pet him to try and calm himself more. I didn’t want him to leave....

Spades smiled warmly. “I want you to see for yourself. There’s a if truck out in the driveway, but it’s what’s in the truck that you should see. Come on, can you get up for me?” She brought her feet under her, slowly guiding Eren to his feet. Oh you're going to love this. She kept one hand on Eren’s arm as she guided him to the door, letting him slip on his boots untied and opening the door, walking him to the back of a large truck, one you would see movers use. She reached into her pocket for the keys to the back, unlocking a large padlock and stepping back. “The doors swing open, so watch out.” She took hold of one of them, holding it open and Lathe pulling the other open, letting Eren get a clear look inside.

Eren’s eyes widened at the sight, his mother’s grand piano situated in the far back corner of the truck, securely tied down, and padded to prevent any nicks. He felt new tears start to fall from his eyes and stain his cheeks all over again. <“Mom.”> His voice was a hoarse whisper as he quickly jumped up into the back of the large truck and inspected all the cases that surrounded the piano. <“They’re all here…”> His voice was soft as he spotted the double bass case. I have my mom back…. I can play the music she liked… Eren let his tears fall as he sunk down to his knees, and hugged the case and sobbed with a small smile on his face, memories flooding into his head. I miss you so much.... Can you come back Mom?
Lathe looked with wide eyes over the cases of instruments, his gaze landing on the piano. “Hey Spades? Did you call the old school yet or do I need to call?” We don't have enough room to keep both of them. And we obviously know which one has to stay.

Spades nodded. “Oh they know, they've got people there ready for it anytime today. The office is still open during the summer. They've got maintenance at the ready. I know you have the rolling stand thing in the basement, and dismantling the back sliding door won't be too hard.” Switching the two out won't be a problem. She looked to Eren with a soft smile. “He has more of his mother back.” ...this is why I do this.

Lathe nodded, smiling. “Spades, thank you. You've done too much.” He hooked the door in place so it wouldn't swing shut on him, hopping up and picking over to where Eren was, gently patting his shoulder. “You can take them all inside, Eren. They're yours. Put them where you like, but keep them clear of the kitchen or the piano room. Spades and I need to move stuff around a bit.” This shouldn't be too hard.

Eren nodded, sniffling as he slowly stood up, picking up the large case with relative ease, like he’d always been carrying it. He had a huge smile on his face as he carefully hopped down to the ground and went off in the house to bring the case upstairs and to the recording room. I wanna play this one later.... Eren smiled softly, scampering between the truck and the recording room and managing to neatly put them all in the far corner, and he moved to finally open the double bass case. You first...

Spades and Lathe set to work, Lathe and Spades heading to the basement to retrieve a toolbox and the rolling stand for the piano, taking the back sliding doors out of their frame and leaning them against the house. The kitchen table and the chairs were next, and between the two of them they managed to lift the grand piano onto the stand, rolling it out the back and around the house to the driveway, switching it to the piano in the back of the truck. It’s a damn good thing I made sure there was a ramp on this thing. If not we’d have a problem. They were carefully positioning the ornate piano inside when they heard music coming from upstairs. “He’s already playing… And it’s like he never stopped.” Spades beamed. He’s got so much raw talent...

Lathe smiled as they carefully lifted it to the floor. “Hopefully it’ll keep him occupied for the week...” I just hope it helps him cope... He carried the stand back to the front after they moved the kitchen table back and replaced the glass doors, helping roll the piano up and locking the wheels, helping Spades secure and pad it. He closed the doors to the back with her, watching as she locked it again. “Spades-” He swallowed as she smiled at him, so grateful to her for bringing back everything Eren had left of his mother. He pulled her into a tight hug, his head dropping onto her shoulder. “ Thank you.” You’ve done so much ...

Spades looked surprised, returning his hug. “Of course, Lathe. Of course.” She pulled back after a moment, patting his arm. “I'll get this to the school. Oh!” A light of recognition flashed in her eye, reaching into the inside pocket of her jacket, showing Lathe a Manila envelope. “Can’t forget to give him this! Come on.” She led Lathe back into the house, walking upstairs and slowly pushing open the door of the recording room, greeted by very complex classical music. ...wow. She held up the small envelope where he could see. I've got something for you.

Eren looked up to them as they opened the door, slowly bringing his bow down from the neck of his instrument and putting it in it’s stand, getting up off the stool to see what Spades had for him. What is that? It looks familiar…. The key! Eren’s eyes had a hopeful look to them as he came up to her to look at the envelope. <“Mom’s key?”> His voice was soft and his eyes full of hope, the pain he felt earlier only a small trace now.

Spades opened the envelope, taking the small key out by the leather string. <“Your mother’s key. It’s all yours.”> She set down the envelope, clipping it around his neck. ...Better.

Eren let her clip the leather strap around his neck and looked at the metal key in his grasp. <“Thank you…. Thank you so much, Spades!”> Eren’s arms instantly went around her waist as he buried his head into the crook of her neck and cried happily. I have everything I could ever want from her back… But I can’t bring her back… I never can, and it’s my fault...

Spades smiled, returning his hug, gently rubbing his back. <“Of course, Eren.”> She held onto him tightly, letting them gently sway as he cried into her shoulder. ...You have everything you could have back. ...I think she’d be really proud of you, of everything you’ve done.

Eren just sobbed at that and held onto her tighter. <“I miss her….I miss Mom so much.”> Eren just broke down again, clinging to her. I want her back… but I can’t have her back… not after what I did… I can’t… I can’t have her back… I didn’t want her to leave me...

Spades held him tightly, one hand coming up to card through his hair, resting her cheek on his head. She let out a shaky breath, keeping her voice even and low. <“...You know, Eren, I think she’d be really proud of you, seeing all the things you've accomplished.”> I don't know how anyone couldn't be more proud.

Eren just cried more, his grip loosening from her shirt a little. <“You think so? I’m not a useless music rat?... She’d be proud of me? Even after what I did to her?”> Eren let the guilt he still held surface. I want her back, but I can’t have her back.

<“Eren, I know that your mother, wherever she is, doesn’t hold what happened against you. I don't know how she couldn't be so proud of you, the talent you have, the skills you've developed and the friends you've made… You're not useless. Nobody could ever think that. I know that right now, wherever she is, she still loves you more than anything.”> She loves you, Eren. I know she does.

Eren sniffled as he buried his head into her neck. Lathe…. He’s not married… I don’t think I’ll ever have a Mom again… <“I still regret everything that I did… I killed her…. I killed my own mother… everyone hated me for that.”> I’m going to have to live with that fact… that I’ll never have a mom again, because of what I did.

<“Eren, nobody in their right mind could hold what happened against you. You were so young, you couldn't have known that what you would do would cause everything it did to happen. It’s okay to regret it, but you don't have to hold it against yourself. It was a tragic accident, and it was unfair that she was taken away from you, but it was not your fault. Nobody in their right mind could hate you for what happened.”> Spades forced her voice to stay even, her eyes a bit glassy. It’s terrible, what happened… But by no means was it your fault. It was unfair, and horrible, but an accident, and not your fault.

Lathe hovered in the doorway a step behind them, not sure how to help calm Eren down. Spades is keeping up so well with the German, half of which I still barely understand… It’s his mother… I… She has him. If I need to help, I’m right here, but I think he’ll be okay with Spades. But I’m not moving. He stayed put, watching as Spades spoke quietly to him. He’ll be okay, Spades has him.

Eren just sobbed against her neck. <“Why…. Why did I have to do it… Why did I have to make the Mac n’ cheese? Why didn’t I listen to her… She wouldn’t be dead! Grisha wouldn’t have beat me… None of this would’ve happened! She wouldn’t’ve died… Why couldn’t it have been me? I’d just be the one that’s dead… not Mom… I wish I had killed myself…”> None of this would be happening… I wouldn’t have fucked with Lathe’s chance at getting married… having a family of his own. I wouldn’t have fallen in love, and Levi could’ve had a normal family…. And maybe he could do what he actually wanted to and be a Marine for life… I’ve ruined so many dreams… I wish I would’ve died…. It would’ve been so much better for everyone.

Spades pulled back from Eren for just a moment, brushing the hair away from his eyes, trying to stay composed. You can't break down too. <“Eren, please don’t ever say that. Never wish that you were dead. I know it’s absolutely horrible what happened, and everything that followed it wasn’t the best, but things are the way they are. It’s unfair…”> She sniffed, trying to keep tears from falling. <“And I know you regret every bit of it. But wishing that it had been you instead of your mother… Eren, please don't think that things would have been better if it was you and not her. All we know is that with you still around, you’ve made a lot of people happy. You, with the songs you sing and the pictures you paint and the things you say and do, you've made so many people, so many that you don't even know, happy. Please, don't think like that. There are so many people now that would be devastated if you left their lives…”> She looked to Lathe for a moment. <“Eren, you have a boyfriend and a father who love you more than anything in the world. Please, don't forget that. Don't think that you being gone would have let them live a happier life. I don't think they could even imagine being happier now. They love you so much. And your mother loves you, too.”> Please. Don’t forget that.
Eren only shook his head. &lt;‘I’ve ruined their chances for so much…Dad can’t have a family…He won’t be able to get married with me here, and Levi… We can’t have a family either… I’ve ruined his chances of having kids.’&gt;

Spades looked up as Lathe stepped forward, letting Eren go for an instant before he was enveloped in Lathe’s arms, her hand still on his arm.

...I’m terrible with speaking German… English for me will have to do… “Eren, you haven’t ruined anything. As for me, all I know for sure is that I couldn’t ask for a better family- I have you as my son, and that means so much to me. You've brought me so much happiness, and I can’t even begin to tell you how much I love you…” He sniffled, trying to keep his voice even. “And as for Levi… I don't know if it’s too much for you to think about right now, but it is possible for you two to have children of your own. Or you two could adopt… The point is that you being with Levi doesn’t take away his chance at having a family of his own. You haven't ruined anything, Eren. You've made things so much better.” Lathe pulled Eren close, running a hand through his hair as he tucked Eren’s head under his chin, a tear trailing down his cheek. ... How can you say half of that? ...I don’t know how you could believe it...

Eren could only nod and snuffle, moving his arms from around Spades to around Lathe and clinging to him. “.... But I can’t bring back mom….” Eren cried and clung to him. ... And I feel horrible about that. “And I’ve ruined my chances of ever having one again… I'm sorry Dad.” Eren told him and he sniffled. I’m so sorry, I really am.

Lathe swallowed hard, his voice a bit shaky. “Eren, you don't have to apologise for anything. Whether or not I would have married… You wouldn't be responsible for it, either way. You being around has done nothing except make me the happiest man on Earth…” He let out a heavy sigh. “...I know you can't bring back your mother, and you can't undo what happened, as much as you want to… But having you as my son has neither helped or hurt any chance I have at finding someone I’d want to marry. Eren, you don't have to apologise for anything. It’s okay, really.” Tears kept trailing down his cheeks, trying to keep himself composed. ...you being around, being my son, hasn’t done anything to keep me from finding someone I would want to marry... you have nothing to apologise for.

Eren nodded, his cries starting to wane as he held onto Lathe. “Dad… Can… Can I…?” Eren trailed off, his grip still tight on Lathe’s shirt. I don’t want to be alone tonight...

Lathe’s brow furrowed, rubbing small circles into his back, his voice quiet. “What is it, Eren? You know you can ask me anything.” Whatever it is, I've got answers. Go ahead.
“Can… Can you stay with me today?... The whole day? And… And can… Can I sleep with you tonight?” Eren asked, his voice shaky as he held onto Lathe. I know Spades needs to go soon…. But I don’t want you to leave me too…

Lathe glanced up to Spades for a split second before he pressed a kiss to Eren’s temple, his voice warm. “Of course I will. I’m not going anywhere. Don’t you worry.” Spades said the maintenance people were on standby… She’ll have all the help she needs. The piano’s already in the truck, so…

Spades spelled with her free hand quickly to him where he could see. {I'll be fine taking care of the piano. You have your own things to do.} She murmured quietly to Eren, her hand still gently rubbing his shoulder. “Eren, I'll get going, is that okay? We’ve both still got the day ahead of us.” And I can't leave the maintenance people at the school forever…

Eren nodded, gently reaching out to her to cup her face gently, a small smile on his face. “T-that’s okay.” He leaned his head back against Lathe’s chest and sniffled as his tears finally stopped. You can leave… I just want Lathe to stay with me… I don’t want him to leave me soon.

Spades smiled, reaching up to brush the hair away from his face. “Alright. I'll see you two later then.” As Eren’s hand fell away from her face she sent a smile to Lathe and moved for the door, disappearing downstairs and closing the front door silently behind her. He’ll be okay. I hope.

Lathe looked back to Eren, pressing a kiss to his forehead. “It’s getting to be around noon… Want to help me make lunch?” I think you'll feel better after we get some food in you.

“Grilled cheese?” Eren’s voice was hopeful as he braved a glance to meet Lathe’s soft eyes. He’s not angry… Right?

Lathe smiled warmly. “Grilled cheese.” He gently pulled Eren over to the stairs, keeping an arm around him as they made their way to the kitchen, in no hurry. After they made and ate lunch, never more than a few feet apart, Eren brought him back up to the recording room, and Lathe got a good look at just how many instruments there were. There are so many of them… He can play all of them? He sat down on a stool as Eren brought out the instruments from their cases, one by one, playing every song he could remember. He plays like he never stopped… He’s got such amazing talent.

Eren looked over to Lathe’s cello. “Can we play together?” He asked quietly, though still not looking into his eyes. I wanna play with you, we haven’t done that.
Lathe smiled. “Of course we can.” He stood to move the cello and amp closer, turning it on and inspecting the bow for a moment. Can’t have this breaking. After the last one, I haven’t got any more backups. “Anything in particular you want to play?” I have some random sheet music if you don’t know what you’d want to play.

“U-um…. I don’t know… But um… What should I play with you?” Eren asked and looked over to the many cases in the corner… If he’s doing his cello, I should stick with strings, so I have the other cello, the double bass, the violin, and the viola… Or I have guitars….

“Hmm… Something with a higher range than a cello… Violin, if you want, or whichever you think would sound the best. And I have some sheet music on here…” He placed his cello back in it’s stand, typing quickly on the computer, soon logging into an odd-looking file-sharing website and pulling up a long list of sheet music. He skimmed the long list, picking one with the name ‘Garden.’ That’s a good one, one I haven’t played in a while. “I think you’ll like this one. It’s fast, and complex, and it sounds amazing.” He printed it off, handing the many sheets to Eren. “It is pretty long, though. You’ll still probably manage memorising all of it in minutes anyway though.” He grinned. “The higher bit starts with the first line, and then every other.”

Eren took the sheets, going to sit down on his high stool, perching himself as he skimmed through the sheet music. It has a wonderful rhythm to it. He was gently fiddling his fingers against his thighs as he went through all the sheets, his eyes widened as he reread one of the lines. … Is this? It is! “Is this from Undertale?” Eren asked quietly, a glint in his eyes as he finished reading through the music.

Lathe grinned. “Yeah, it is. It’s from the Flowey boss battle. I hope I don’t mess it up too much. It gets insanely difficult very fast, and there are too many beat changes to count…” He brought his cello back from it’s stand, his bow at the ready. “I start… Whenever you’re ready, Eren. The violin is perfect to hit the notes I can’t.

Eren nodded, picking up his bow. “I’m ready.” So ready…. Wait we should record this. “Wait!” He got up and went to set the computer up for recording it. We need to record this.

Lathe grinned widely as he saw the red light start to flash on the camera, the recording program pulled up. He waved to the camera. “Hello! We’re doing a thing!” He chuckled as Eren sent him an odd look. “Okay, the song from Undertale we’re playing isn't actually called ‘Garden,’ it’s called ‘Your Best Nightmare’ and the Finale’s written into it.” He shrugged, a glint in his eye. “Close enough.” He picked his bow back up. “On your mark, Eren.”

Eren smiled and started out the first few cords expertly. He stayed perched on his stool, a small smile on his face. I like this song.
Lathe’s hands flew over the neck of the cello, the movements familiar as he drew his bow quickly over the strings, mostly playing the lowest notes his instrument allowed him to. He grinned, Eren keeping in perfect time with him. It took forever to arrange this piece so it was playable... And you’ve got it down to a science in two minutes flat. That’s great! It was a long song, his grip on the bow beginning to loosen as they let the last melody fade, his smile wide. That. Was amazing!

“Eren, I don't know how you pick up the melodies so fast... That was great!” You played it perfectly!

Eren smiled and put his bow down. “That was a rather long song… But, you know I just memorize everything right away.” I really like the Undertale songs… We should do more of them. He moved to finish the recording.

Lathe tapped his arm after he hit the stop button. “Y’know, I have a ton of Undertale songs arranged, and a bunch more from games you might like to play sometime, if you want to make an event out of it.” He shrugged. “It’s your call, though.” We could do a stream if you wanted. But, I dunno if you're up for it or not.

“Hmm… Well, today is my recording day… But...” Eren trailed off as he looked at his violin. If I record everything today... I won’t be able to distract myself... Eren’s eyes became dull as he thought about Levi. He’s gone... I don’t know what to do without him...

Lathe tapped his arm again, his eyes soft. “Here, how about you just listen, okay? You can turn on the camera if you want so you have something other than Garden to post, but I just want you to just listen, okay? You don't have to play.” ... We need to get you out of the house. But for right now, we need to just have you relax.

Eren nodded, moving to go set up the recording stuff for Lathe and moved away his stool, and went to sit in the corner of the room. What’s he gonna play? He made sure everything was recording.

Lathe looked up to the camera and waved. “Hi! It’s Lathe. I know you may or may not be wondering where Eren is, but you're just going to have to deal with me.” He grinned. “I've got no real plans for what is about to happen, all I know is I have a list of different songs I've memorised from video games on the computer screen next to me for inspiration, and nowhere to be. So, enjoy this, whatever this may end up being.” He shifted a bit, pulling the pad of pedals closer to his foot and clicking the first one, drawing his bow slowly over the strings. He started with slower songs, glancing up every now and again to the list, thinking what to play next as he switched from melody to melody for nearly a half hour, jumping from calm to eerie, to intense and to sweet, and back again. He smiled as he played, his hands moving of their own accord. I need to play this thing more often... I certainly don't do it enough, even with such a setup here... Yep, it's official. I need to do this. The melody faded, slowly returning to the one he had begun with, ending on a long, low note. He was silent for a moment, looking up to the camera and grinning. “Thanks” was all he said before he leaned over and stopped the recording, looking over to Eren as he set the cello back in it’s stand, his features soft. “How was that?” His smile faded a bit as he took in Eren’s distant look, staring at him from his corner of the room. He stood, pulling his stool behind him as he sat next to Eren, wrapping an arm around him. “You doing okay?” You look so sad…

Eren snapped out of his daze and looked up from where he had trained his gaze, simply nodding before getting up. “Yeah, I’m fine.” His voice as dull as his eyes. I'm fine… I need to get through this.

Lathe stood up with him, his hand on his arm. “Hey, how about we get you out of the house? We can go do something. Stalk the mall, go anywhere you like, how about? Anything you want!” He tried to keep the tone light, his smile bright. Hmm… what's good to distract you with… Ah! “There’s a bookstore not too far from here if you want to go have a look around.” You do have a thing with books, you have a lot of them.

Eren picked his head up, giving Lathe full view of his dull eyes, nodding silently. Books... I’ll be able to read everything away... maybe I’ll even be able to escape the loneliness inside... Ha! Yeah... right, because that will actually happen... I need to put on a smile, to get Lathe to think nothing’s wrong... yeah, that should work out. Eren ran a hand through his shaggy hair, plastering a soft smile on his face, but it barely reached his gaze as he went towards the door. “Bookstore… that sounds like a good idea.” Eren tried to keep his voice light. Act normal... you need to act normal. They can’t know you're hurting inside... Hide it. Hide the pain. You’re good at hiding it... Keep it up.

Lathe sighed, seeing clear through his facade. ...after so long, you think I can't tell when you're upset? He followed Eren down the stairs, lacing his boots with him, his voice quiet as he saw Eren fight to keep a smile on his face. I don't know how the hell to say this... I'm not trying to tell you to be sad, but forcing yourself to look happy when you're so obviously not... I can't stand it. It makes you look even more miserable. “...Eren, you don’t have to force yourself to look happy. It’s okay to just... emote, and not force yourself to look otherwise.” ...I'm not sure whether or not that was a roundabout way of telling him to be sad... I really hope it wasn’t. Shit.

Eren stopped for a second as he stared at his laces. ...I feel like I can’t hide anything from him... fuck... well, I guess I’ll have to try a bit harder... tone the smile down a bit, and just let it seem natural. Eren let the smile he held fall from his face, the corner of his mouth turning up a bit as he finished tying his boots to his feet. “Got it.” Was all he said before moving to grab his bag, along with Blake’s vest as the dog stood at his heels.

Lathe sighed wearily, standing and picking up his keys. Okay, A, by admitting that you were faking in the first place and still smiling after the breakdowns of today, it’s obvious you’re still faking it.
And B, just… Emote! It’s not a crime to look sad, it’s not your job to look happy all the time if it’s just for my ‘benefit.’ If you feel sad, that’s okay! It’s justified! Just… You look even more miserable when you’re trying so hard to hide it… His eyes widened. …wait. I just said that, didn’t I? Shit. He looked up to Eren, standing.

Eren looked down, his eyes not meeting Lathe’s as he walked with Blake towards the car. I look even more miserable when I’m trying to hide it, huh? Well… I guess we’re going for the depressed out of my fucking mind look today, I hope you’re happy. He waited patiently for Lathe to unlock the car, letting Blake in first and sitting down beside him, not looking over to Lathe as he got in the driver’s side.

Lathe shut the door behind him, fiddling with the keys for a moment before he held out his right palm to Eren, his head bowed, mumbling quietly. “I’m sorry, Eren, I was thinking out loud, and that was really mean… I’m really sorry…” He swallowed hard, his glassy eyes tracing over the floor of the car. You really did it, Lathe. Good fucking job.

Eren glanced over, a twitch in his lips as he raised his hand, gently tracing his fingers down the length of Lathe’s hand twice. “It’s okay, you did nothing wrong.” Eren’s voice was quiet, yet oddly emotionless. You didn’t really, you just told me I gotta spend more time remembering what my facial features feel like when I’m around Levi… when he comes back… if he… no! When, it needs to be when. He barely noticed as Blake shuffled to paw at Lathe’s lap once they started driving.

Lathe glanced to Blake as he drove, a flicker of guilt still in his eye as he looked to him quickly, keeping his eyes on the road, his voice soft. What’s up, Blake? “What’cha tryin’ to tell me, Blake?” Eren’s not freaking out or anything right now… He focused for an instant, trying to gauge Eren’s demeanour. …he still looks pretty depressed… No changes there, sadly… At least he’s somewhat calm. He’s a bit tense, though. Again, understandable. He sighed. …Today has already been too long of a day. He pulled into the lot of a two-story bookstore, shutting off the engine. This’ll be a good distraction for a bit. “Eren, we’re here.” He sent him a small smile, getting out of the car and locking it behind him.

Eren snapped out of his daze when Lathe spoke, looking around to see that their surroundings had infact changed, and they were indeed at the bookstore. Fuck… He stepped out of the car, clipping the leash on Blake and letting him sniff around the car. What are you trying to do? His eyes were still pretty downcast as Blake led him to Lathe’s side and continually pawed at him, but he wasn’t whining, it was almost like he wanted attention, but he’d never done this when his vest was on him before. He had always waited for his vest to be removed before he was an attention hog. Why are you acting so weird today? “Come on, Blake. Leave Lathe alone.” His voice was still emotionless as he gave a gentle tug on the leash, pulling Blake away from Lathe and back to his side.

Lathe looked confused at Blake’s actions. Huh. He always sticks to business when he’s got the vest on. He’s never done that when he’s working… What’s with that? He shrugged, keeping a careful eye on Blake as they walked to the large bookstore, Lathe holding the door open for them. You’re not speaking with any emotion either... Hmm. He followed them in, letting Eren guide them around the store, looking at the tables they passed. He picked up a hardcover with a gold insignia on the front, looking up, his eyes widening. ...aaaaand he’s gone. Well then. He looked to the back of the book. XX year anniversary? Then they’ve got to have the box set for this somewhere... He took the book with him, moving to grab a basket from the front of the store again, picking titles off the shelves as he walked. The Invention of Hugo Cabret is a good one, Aristotle and Dante Discover the Secrets of the Universe he should like... A Tree Grows in Brooklyn, Life as We Knew It, Eragon, Hush Hush... He laughed as he picked one up. The Girl With the Lower Back Tattoo... My god, that was a riot... Coraline... I should find the movie for that, that was a good stop motion animation... Come to think of it, Eragon was a good movie too. Where are they... He wandered over to the far right wall, covered in DVDs and box sets. Jackpot. Coraline, Eragon... True Grit, of course... Jumanji was great... The Great Gatsby, obviously. Frankenstein, because he didn't even get the most classic of all references. Casper was a really good one... Here... He picked up a heavy box set. ...Is that Star Trek set. Oh my God, it’s literally everything!! He beamed, setting it in his basket. He looked over to another set. Oh. My God. Monty Python. GIMME! He chuckled, moving over to the animated section. O-Kay, we need an anime in here somewhere, see if he likes anything like that, which he probably will... He stopped, looking over a pink case dotted with red roses. ...Ouran High School Host Club. I was obsessed with this!! He snatched it up, looking around to the shelves behind him. Oh, but I'm making him read the manga before he gets to watch it. There’s more in the manga than the show, anyway. And if he doesn’t read it... He grinned, picking the entire series from a high shelf. ...I will. He suddenly looked around, worried. How the hell could I forget the time? It’s been a while, and Eren’s just been wandering around... And Blake was acting so strangely... He walked quickly up an aisle that ran the whole length of the store, looking down each aisle for him. Where are you... Upstairs? He walked over to the escalator, taking a moment to survey the first floor from his vantage point. Nope, he ain’t down there. And he couldn’t have left, obviously. Pretty sure he wouldn’t. He walked down an aisle, passing a table of comics and finding him in the nonfiction section. “There you are Eren, I’m sorry we got separated-” He stopped as he saw the huge stack of books in his arm, reading the title of the book he was pulling out from a shelf. ...When Bad Things Happen to Good People? ... NAH. He looked down the spines of the books in his arm. Thirteen Reasons Why, The Perks of Being a Wallflower, A Monster Calls, My Sister’s Keeper, Men We Reaped, Me Before You, The Absolutist, Eleanor & Park, Of Mice & Men, The Fault in Our Stars, The Outsiders, Wonder, ... The Time Traveler’s Wife. Like hell I’m letting you walk out of here with nothing but tearjerkers. “Eren, put it back.” Lathe shook his head, his shoulders drooping a bit.

Eren was about to turn and walk to look for his next book to pick when Lathe spoke up. Wait... What? “Huh? Why do I have to put it back? I wanna read it...” Eren protested, and his eyes still seemed distant. Blake had come up to Lathe again and pawed at his pant leg until Eren pulled him back to his side, the dog looking up to keep eye contact with Lathe. Why is he acting so weird? I don’t understand!

Lathe looked to Blake, just beginning to understand. I know, he’s depressed and there’s not much we can do about it besides try and distract him. It sucks. Lathe looked back up to Eren, setting his heavy basket on the ground and moving over to him, pointing from one book to another. “Let’s see, depressing, depressing, and very depressing. Half these books made me want to cry when I read them, Eren. The Time Traveler’s Wife? Really? That could make literally anyone on the planet burst into tears. The point in coming here was to get you something to make you feel better, not pile more sadness on top of you. So, you are going to give me these,” He took the pile from Eren’s hands, setting it on a nearby shelf. “...Sorry bookstore employees, and look, I did my best to pick out things I thought you’d really enjoy, so we can keep going around and you can try and pick out something that’s not going to make you cry, or we can give what I’ve got a shot. Do you want to keep wandering, or no?” I’m not letting you get any of that. ...even if they all were really good, they’re nowhere near the kind of thing you need to be reading right now.

Eren looked down, his eyebrow furrowing for a split second before defeat crossed his features. “N-No… I’m done looking.” His voice was soft as he stuttered, and Blake just kept his eyes either latched onto Lathe’s, or staring at Eren. ...So I’m not allowed to get those books?... Well I don’t see any point in staying any longer,... I just wanted something to… to… I don’t even know anymore... why did he need to leave?

Lathe pulled Eren into a hug. “Eren, they're just not the kind of thing you need to be reading right now. I'm not trying to be mean, I just want you feeling better. Let’s head home, okay then?” He gave Eren a soft smile, his face falling a bit as he took in Eren’s expression, bowing his head and offering his palm. I'm sorry, I'm just worried about you.

Eren just shook his head. “There’s nothing to apologize for… It’s fine Dad.” Eren murmured quietly as he started to walk back down the aisle towards the escalators, expecting Lathe to follow him, Blake whining and biting at his hands as he tried to bury them into his pockets. He only sighed and let Blake take his hand. Fuck it... you’re being so weird today.

Lathe was stunned as Eren simply ghosted past him. ...I thought it’s always gone without saying, even if you don't think someone needs forgiveness, you’d give it to them. What the hell? Lathe was perplexed as Eren walked to the escalators, swallowing hard and unable to suppress a small wave of guilt. ...I can't help but feel guilty... I said he could get books and stuff, and then I come along after he’s been picking them out for a long time and just nix the whole lot of it. He picked up the basket, settling it in the crook of his arm as he followed Eren, his eyes a shade darker than normal, his shoulders slumped. Dammit, and he doesn't forgive you for it, either... His eyes widened as Blake suddenly bit Eren’s hand. ...but he hasn't done anything yet, and Eren doesn't even care... You’re acting really off today, Blake. Or... Well, Eren’s acting really off, and then again Levi did just leave... So you’re just reacting to that, then. Makes sense. He studied Blake. But then again it doesn't entirely explain your pawing at me. ...What do you know that I don’t? He moved behind Eren to the line for checkout, near totally silent as the woman at the register rung up his things and handed him a receipt with a mumbled “Thanks.” He carried the bags to the car, unlocking it and setting the things in the trunk, sliding into the driver’s seat and shutting the door. He turned to Eren again, holding his palm up again in a silent plea for forgiveness. Please, I feel like I was being way too mean about it when I didn’t let you get those books... I was a complete asshat. Just... Please?

Eren looked over to his outstretched palm, sighing as he reached over to stroke his fingers across his palm twice. “I already told you, there’s nothing to apologize for, it’s fine Dad, really, you don’t need to make a big deal out of it.” … I’m already over it…. He turned his gaze back out the window, missing the fact that Blake moved to latch his mouth around Lathe’s outstretched palm, and giving him a complete stare down.

Lathe’s eyes were wide as he stared straight back at Blake, trying not to panic. What the actual hell are you doing? What am I doing? Do I really look like I’m about to hurt myself or something? What is it? He brought his other hand up to pet Blake gently behind the ears, glad that after a moment he had his hand back. What’s wrong? It’s something about Eren, obviously. He’s probably confused that Eren’s so depressed, and keeps trying to get me to help Eren because he doesn’t know what the hell else to do. He scratched gently at his ears. Don’t worry Blake, I’m on it. He gave the dog a small smile as he licked his hand, moving to start the car and drive home. ...hmmm, straight home? He glanced over to a plaza as they approached it, seeing a small coffee shop. A memory tugged at his mind, and he grinned. Nope. He pulled into the parking lot, killing the engine in front of the small shop. “Alright, Eren, let’s go.” He hopped out of the car, a mischievous grin on his face. This always worked for us- hell, why not for him?

Eren looked around seeing they were in a plaza parked in front of the local coffee shop, which was pretty dead considering it was two in the afternoon on a monday. He brought Blake out and following Lathe inside, only to groan as a familiar stuck-up voice sounded through the almost empty cafe.

“Well, well, well, look what the cat dragged in. How’s your summer been, Fagger?” Jean called from behind the counter, the smirk on his face faltering a bit as he noticed how dark Eren’s eyes were.

“I’m not in the fucking mood Secretariat, now shut your hay chute and do your fucking job.” Eren growled as they got closer to the cash register.

“Ooohhh… No need to be sassy, suicidal bastard, I was just asking how your summer was, chill the fuck out…. What can I get you?” Jean looked at Eren, watching as he shrugged. “Then don’t waste my fucking time, I’m doing important shit.”

“Yeah, prancing around all day in an empty field like a retarded horse… yup, that’s sooo important.” Eren’s voice dripping in obvious sarcasm as he looked through the glass display case to look over the treats.

“Hey! At least I was trying to be nice, fuckwad. You’re the one who had to lose the apeshit.” Jean spat right back. “So did you finally break up with Levi? This your new boy toy-” Jean visibly swallowed as he looked up to Lathe’s hulking figure standing a solid 6 inches above him and staring him down. Nope... Not a new boyfriend... Shit. “M-Mr. Quo.”

Lathe stood tall, his expression dark, staring at him, his eyes flashing dangerously. *...you did not just say all that. “You happen to have anything else to say to my son, Mr. Kirstein?” You're lucky I haven't hit you for that. What the fuck makes you think you can say that shit?*

Jean’s eyes widened to the size of dinner plates, and he cowered under Lathe’s glare. Fuck.... He’s pissed ... wait, did he say son? Eren is Lathe’s son? “N-No Sir, um... I didn’t know that Eren was your son... I didn’t think the rumors were true...” Jean stared at Lathe like he had grown an extra head in the span of a second, not even realizing Blake was here as well, and had pawed at Lathe during the entire banter Eren and him held.

Lathe ignored Blake for the moment, quirking an eyebrow, his glare still icy. “Well, now you know. And are you sure you don't have anything else to say? An apology, perhaps?” That was some awful shit you said.

Jean just gaped at Lathe, unable to break from the glare he was currently cowering from. He didn’t see Eren snap a picture of his frightened form.

“Eh, this is enough of an apology, look at his face, he looks ready to pee himself! I could just send it to the football team...” Eren’s glare was just as dark as Lathe’s when Jean finally snapped his eyes away from Lathe’s and to his own.

“You wouldn’t...”

“Oh you know I fucking will, Seabiscuit.” Eren countered just as quickly.

“Eren, no please, not the football team... I’m sor-”

“Done.” Eren chirped with a smile on his face as he showed Jean the group chat, which held the picture with an excellent caption: ‘Looks like the majestic stallion finally figured out what being castrated feels like’. “I fucking did it, apology accepted horseface.” He only smirked as Jean’s phone and his own buzzed off the hook with comments from the whole team. Payback.

There it is. Lathe grinned as Eren’s face lit with a smile, nodding. “I approve. Now.” He looked to Jean, setting his face stony again. “Are you going to do your job and take my order, or are you just Jean hurriedly went back to the counter. “Y-yeah… what can I get you, Mr. Quo?” Jean asked, his voice lacking all sarcasm.

Lathe looked up to the menu board above him, his tone unamused, intentionally garbling a few words and making one up. “I’d like a medium grarblefla with two droblefluh and a vriska, please.” His voice was still cold, reaching into his back pocket for his wallet. He was internally smirking. ...wonder how much those are going for these days.

... What? “I-I’m sorry, Mr. Quo, but could you… could you repeat that to me again?” I don’t think a word you said is on our menu… unless I completely heard you wrong… which I could have.

... Well, I’m getting the camera out now... Eren just started recording as non-suspiciously as possible. This is gonna be fucking great and I can already tell.

Lathe glared at him, sighing loudly. “I said, I’d like a miniature coffee with extra puppy, two shots of riboflavin, Glory to Arstotzka.” He fished in his wallet for his credit card, looking up as Jean made no movement, his unamused facade never faltering. “Well?”

... Did I hear him right? Jean started to punch in for a medium coffee. “I’m sorry… D-Did you say extra puppy?” Jean asked, his eyes concerned. What is in his sick and twisted mind to want puppy in his coffee? A, we don’t do that shit, and B, we still don’t do that shit.

Lathe brought a hand up to pinch at the bridge of his nose, his eyes shut in frustration. “Are you deaf?” He shook his head, muttering. “Cant get a simple order right….” His tone was angry as he dropped his hand, leaning on the counter and fixing Jean with a cold glare. “Now you listen and you listen well, okay? I’m not repeating myself again.”

“O-Okay…”

“For the last. Time. I’d like a double triple bossy deluxe, on a raft, four-by-four animal-style, extra shingles with a shimmy, and a squeeze, light axle grease, make it cry, burn it, and let it swim.” He managed to keep a perfectly straight face, waiting for when Jean recognized the order. Any minute now...
It took only a moment until Jean was glaring at Lathe with a perfectly straight face. “Well, Mr. Quo, glad to know you keep up with SpongeBob, but I regret to inform you that this is not the Krusty Krab and I cannot fulfill such a tall order.” I am so done with you, and you’ve only been here for five minutes, not even. You’ve been messing with me this whole time haven’t you?

“Well, if that isn’t a shame, Squidward. I was hoping you'd serve food here. But I guess we could just order off the menu.” His tone was still cold as he glared at Jean. “Medium coffee, double-double. What do you want, Eren?” He turned to Eren, his entire demeanor instantly shifting as he looked to him.

Eren held his smile for another moment before shaking his head. “I’m good, I don’t want anything.” He told him quietly, his smile already starting to fade as Jean got serious and started to get Lathe’s coffee together, pouring in half the coffee before he added two creams and two sugars and topped it off, using a stir stick to make sure everything was evenly distributed. He watched as he put a lid on the cup as well and a sleeve around it, sliding it to Lathe.

“Anything else I can get you?” He asked, his voice clearly showing his disdain for Lathe at the current moment.

Lathe handed him his black credit card, picking up the coffee. “Just a receipt, and an explanation.” He sipped from the cup. “Where did you get the idea you could say that kind of shit to Eren? I’m curious.” Furious is a much better word, but that'll do.

Jean took the credit card, silent as he did his job, handing it back with a receipt. “I’m sorry Sir… I-I…” Jean couldn’t find the words to describe the situation.

“Dad… Can we not do this here?” Eren asked, his voice breaking only a little as he rubbed his forehead. His fucking presence annoys the shit out of me… I just wanna leave.

Lathe looked to Eren and nodded, his features softening for an instant before he walked them to the door, speaking to Jean over his shoulder. “I'll see you in class, Mr. Kirstein.” He turned his attention back to Eren as they left, his voice quiet as they walked into the parking lot. “You okay?”

“I’m fine, Dad. It’s not like he hasn’t said any of that before.” But it still… Eren had a sad smile on his face as he let Blake in and sat down in the passenger seat. It’s nothing I should be worried about… But he was right…
Lathe studied Eren’s expression, setting his cup in the holder and placing a hand on Eren’s arm. “Eren, it’s not fine. What he said was absolutely terrible. Don’t listen to him. I’ll see if I can do something about it, okay?” He hasn’t heard the end of this. He started the car, beginning the drive home. ... awful.

Eren shook his head. “It’s fine, really, it’s not like he’s never said it before…. He says that every day. We always fight with each other at lunch.” He told him, what sliver of a good mood he had thoroughly obliterated. I’m not that worried about it. “I’m just surprised he hasn’t come up with any new material… He’s had all summer, and the best he’s got is combining faggot and Yeager together… At least I have a ton horse insults for him.” Eren’s voice was cold, and almost a little heartless. It shouldn’t bother me.... But he’s fucking right ....

Lathe sighed, worry written into his expression. ...The first thing I do when classes are back in session is hunt him down ... “Just because he says it all the time doesn’t mean it isn’t still awful. I guess for the meantime, you have my permission to thoroughly roast him. But I’ll see what I can do. I really don't like that, the things he said… But let’s not focus on that. Just be prepared that the second we get home we’re watching Jumanji.” He smirked, though his mouth soon returned to a neutral line, thinking. It wasn't long before they pulled back into their driveway, Lathe killing the engine and opening the door. “We be home! I'll grab our stuff. Here, so you can unlock the door.” Lathe handed him the key ring, moving to the trunk to gather up the bags. This is gonna be an... Interesting week. He slammed the trunk shut and looked up, surprised. He opened the passenger door, Eren still sitting inside, staring at the keys in his hand. He shifted so the bag handles hung in the crook of his arm, gently shaking Eren’s shoulder. “Come on, Eren, let’s get you inside, okay?” He pulled gently on Eren’s shoulder. Do I have to carry you inside? You look so completely out of it...

Eren jumped a bit in his seat, looking around, his eyes darting every which way. He took in a deep breath, following Lathe out of the car and towards the door, realizing that he had the keys after a few moments and stepped up to unlock the door. Why can’t I focus on anything? This is so unlike me.... Fuck.... I need to act normal dammit... Dad won’t have to worry then… He slipped inside, taking a bag from Lathe and going to set it down in the scripting room, on the coffee table in front of the large TV. What even did he get me? I’m gonna be forced to read them aren’t I? He let his shoulders slump a bit. Well, just smile I guess? Say that you like the books? Even if you can’t focus long enough to actually read them?.... We’ll get there when we get there... But I need to show Lathe some gratitude, he did buy me books... Not the ones I wanted... But he did buy me some...

Lathe took the keys from where Eren had left them in the lock, shutting and locking the door behind him and toeing off his boots. He followed Eren after setting the keys on a hook by the door, setting the bag on the coffee table in the further half of the scripting room, starting to unpack its contents. “I tried my best to pick out the things I thought you would like. They're all great stories, and a great deal of them have really good humor. There’s plenty here to make you laugh, I assure you.” He tapped the Ouran High School Host Club disc set. “You're not allowed to watch this until you've read the manga, which you've already found in the bag you have. There are a couple movies here, including the entirety of Star Trek: which I assure you, you will love. But Jumanji is first. But here, let’s see… it’s 3 o’Clock now, so, how about we make popcorn and grab something to drink, watch this, and then make dinner, okay?” He gently patted Eren’s shoulder after everything was scattered over the table, nudging him to the kitchen.

Eren barely looked up to Lathe, but moved in the direction he was prodded towards. Is it sweet? I don’t think I’ve had it before… Eren waited, his head tilted enough to have his eyes hidden from view thanks to his shaggy bangs. You need to hide it… Hide it...

Lathe moved to the cabinets, rifling to the back for a small bag of unpopped kernels. He dumped a decent amount into a saucepan on the stove, adding butter and salt and setting a glass lid on top, turning on the heat. “Eren, watch this.” Lathe turned, his small smile gone in an instant as he saw Eren curled up on his beanbag in the piano room. He quickly walked over, kneeling next to him and carding a hand through his hair, his voice soft. He’s got the thousand-yard stare… He’s so out of it… “Eren…” Lathe struggled to find words, after a moment deciding there were none. He simply shifted to wrap his arms around him, leaning his head on his shoulder and rubbing his arm. I just want you to be okay… He looked over as the kernels started popping, reluctantly letting Eren go to attend to the popcorn, soon moving a large bowl to the scripting room and retrieving a mug of tea and one of hot chocolate for himself, setting them on the coffee table before moving back to Eren, kneeling next to him. “We’re all set up, Eren.” He studied his blank face, offering his arms after a moment. “Want me to carry you?” You look so far gone and I can’t stand it...

Eren’s eyes finally snapped out of their stare and looked over to Lathe’s outstretched arms…..Levi would be the one to carry me… But he’s not here… Eren silently shook his head, getting up on his own and walking over towards the Scripting room with Lathe, Blake following at his heels. What are we doing again? And what did you make?... It smells good.

Lathe dimmed the lights as they passed the switches, the DVD already in the player. He picked up the remote. “The mug on the far side is your tea. And popcorn… Well, a movie’s not a movie without a good snack.” He grinned, sitting down and hitting play, holding onto the bowl so they both could easily reach it. “I think you’ll like it. The movie and the popcorn.” He popped a few kernels into his mouth, kicking his feet up onto the table. You should. ...I hope.

Eren watched him, taking a few sips of his tea before he timidly sunk down to the couch. Slowly creeping over, he curled up to Lathe’s side and stuck to it like glue. He watched the movie with mild interest, his eyes not immediately going to a long away stare. It took a few minutes, but Eren finally tried the popcorn, and after the first few pieces he was eating it by the handful. It is good.

Lathe set the popcorn in his lap, holding it with his left hand and letting his right arm rest over Eren’s shoulders, rubbing his arm lightly as his focus flickered between the movie and Eren. Well, he definitely doesn’t hate the popcorn, that’s a plus. He’s still got his appetite… He’s at least kinda okay. I sort of expected him to lose any appetite he had. He doesn’t look like he’s staring off into space, bored… That’s good.
Eren watched the movie silently, curled up to Lathe. It's weird…. Why the hell is that kid turning into a monkey? Why are there animals in the streets? I still don’t understand this movie. He reached for another handful of popcorn, only to come up empty.

Lathe looked to the bowl of popcorn, surprised as he saw it empty, a few unpopped kernels the only things left. ...wow. That was a lot of popcorn, too. And we've still got a ways to go!“Want me to go make more?” He looked to Eren, his voice warm and expression soft. I already know how it goes; I don't mind making more if you want.

Eren nodded, silently, his eyes still latched onto the TV screen, as if he couldn’t pull away. What the actual hell is this movie? How much longer is this madness? Eren stayed curled up to his side, not really knowing that Lathe needed to get up and leave him.

Lathe brought his feet down from the coffee table, bringing up his arm from around Eren’s shoulders. His brow furrowed as Eren’s hands were still latched onto his shirt. “Eren, I have to get up if I’m going to make more… You’d have to let go of me.” ...did you hear and understand what I said, or no? It’s a legitimate question...

Eren looked up to Lathe when he spoke and then down to his hands, everything finally clicking, that he had to let go. He swallowed hard, his hands slowly letting go of the fabric under his fingers. I need to let go... I need to act normal. He let go, turning his attention back to the movie after he curled up into a ball on the couch.

Lathe pressed a kiss to Eren’s forehead before he stood with the bowl, ruffling his hair lightly at Eren’s melancholy and walking swiftly to the kitchen, immediately setting more popcorn into the saucepan, trying to will it to cook faster. Come on, I don’t like leaving Eren alone when he’s that depressed... The few minutes it took for the popcorn to cook seemed agonizingly long, and he sighed in relief when the kernels finished popping, dumping the popcorn into the bowl and shutting off the stove, moving the saucepan off the burner and returning to the scripting room, sitting down next to Eren again and wrapping an arm around him immediately, pulling him close as he kicked his feet back up. He gently rubbed Eren’s arm, trying to get him to unfurl from his tiny ball, deciding to shift and pull him into his lap, both his arms around his middle and letting Eren hold onto the metal bowl of popcorn, resting his chin on his shoulder. He gently rubbed Eren’s side with his thumb, not able to pay too well attention to the movie. I'm really worried about you...

Eren let Lathe move him around, not really putting up a fight. His face was blank enough to make someone think he was a life size doll. Why’d he put me in his lap? He looked down at the bowl in his lap, slowly reaching in and starting to eat the popcorn again, leaning back against Lathe’s chest. He must be really worried…. Fuck... I'm the one making him worry so much.
Lathe was soon lost to his thoughts, suddenly realizing the movie had ended as the credits began to roll. He reached to the arm of the couch for the remote, hitting the stop button and looking up to Eren, a small smile on his face. “So, how’d you like it?” He gently took the bowl from Eren’s hands as he began to shift them apart. I hope he didn't think it sucked.

Eren shrugged, his focus going towards the floor, that thousand yard stare coming back. He was still silent, trying to stay curled into Lathe’s chest as much as he could, wanting to stay in his arms. I don’t want him to let me go… Not like Levi let me go… He didn't let me go! Yes he did and you know it!

Lathe realized Eren wasn’t about to let go of him, leaning forward to place the bowl on the table amidst the books and disc cases and wrapping his arms back around him, tucking Eren’s head under his chin. …I don't know what else I can tell you… You've been so distant and miserable… And if I ask if you want to talk about it, I'm afraid you'll either become furious or… Or we’ll just go in circles… I don't know what to do. He sighed quietly, letting himself just hold onto Eren for a moment, trying to get him to relax. He spoke after a few silent minutes, quiet. “Do you want to help me make dinner, Eren?” *…or we could do something that doesn't require too much thinking, and just order takeout and watch something else… “We could order out instead, if you want.”… or. Lathe suddenly grinned widely. I know what we can do. “Actually… feel like going out to eat, Eren? I know somewhere great we could go.” They shouldn't be too busy, it’s Monday night.

Eren looked up to meet Lathe’s eyes with his own broken ones. “…o…okay.” Eren spoke quietly, turning his head over towards the books on the table in front of them. What are those? He was staring at the large boxes amidst the piles of books.

Lathe smiled as he followed Eren’s line of sight, leaning forward and tapping the largest box on the table, a gold insignia gleaming back at them. “That, is the entirety of Star Trek, if you happened to be wondering. That’s Ouran High School Host Club next to it, an anime. Those are really the only box sets I got, everything else is pretty much stand-alone. Here, let’s get up, okay? We’ll take our dishes to the kitchen, and then we can go.” He gently nudged Eren to stand, picking up the bowl and his untouched mug of hot chocolate, which had gone cold. He padded to the kitchen with Eren following him dazedly, carrying his mug of tea, dumping out the bowl of the unpopped kernels into the trash and rinsing their mugs in the sink, placing them in the dishwasher. “If you don't need to go to the bathroom or anything, we can just get our shoes on. It's not too terribly far a drive.” It’s only twenty-ish minutes away. …and you're going to love it.

Eren nodded, disappearing down the hall and towards the bathroom, shutting the door behind him, locking it out of habit. Blake followed him to the door, sitting down and pawing at it, sensing Eren’s high level of distress. He whined before going to get Lathe and sat down in front of him and pawed at him, whining, as if he were trying to tell him something.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at Blake, gently scratching behind his ears, sympathizing with Blake’s worry, speaking quietly. “Yeah, I know, he’s really upset that Levi left. It’s not going to last forever, though. He’ll be okay soon, and he’ll hopefully learn to cope. It’s not stopping either of us from worrying ourselves to death though, is it?” He chuckled a bit, petting Blake for a few minutes, waiting for Eren to reappear.

Eren turned the sink on, he cleaned off the bloodied blade expertly and made sure the room was spotless. He gently slipped the razor back into where he had hidden it from Lathe two weeks ago.
He can’t know… He’d be really mad at me… Eren looked over his thigh, two more fresh streaks lining his inner thigh. Well, they’re done bleeding… He wrapped it up, though he knew they wouldn’t bleed anymore, and fixed his appearance a bit in the mirror. Eren walked out, Blake instantly going to his side and whining. It’s funny how you pick up on it after awhile… A smile formed on his face, and for once it followed to his eyes, for all the wrong reasons.

Lathe smiled at him, seeing a small flicker of light in his eyes. For once, your eyes have something in them besides sadness, thank god. “You ready, then?” He walked them over to the front door, tyling on his boots and opening the door for him. A nice dinner out should help.

Eren nodded, slipping into his boots and putting Blake’s vest on him, the two of them walking out.
Eren seemed less dazed than he was earlier and Blake even more stressed. I know… I’m sorry Blake, but it makes me feel better.

Lathe unlocked the car, sliding into the driver’s seat and shutting the door behind him, looking over as Blake hopped in through the passenger-side door and pawed at his leg a bit harder than before, still sitting obediently between him and Eren. …what? Did something happen that I didn’t catch? Lathe just petted Blake for a second before he started the car, trying to keep his attention on the road ahead of them as Blake nudged at him. What is up with you? I know, Eren’s not the happiest camper since Levi left. I know! Believe me, I understand that. …I’m not sure, though, if you’re trying to say I’ve missed something… Lathe shrugged off the eerie thought, the radio filling the quiet between him and Eren until they pulled up in front of a restaurant, shutting off the car and turning to Eren, a small mischievous spark in his eye. “We’re here.” This is gonna be cool.

Eren looked at the large ornate building with a gleam of fascination. It looks cool… What is it?
Eren got out of the car without much prodding, Blake right at his heels as they stared at the large building.

Lathe locked the car, moving to nudge Eren along to the front door, holding it open for him before leading them up to the hostess station, where they were greeted by an older man.

“Hello! Two? Would you like a regular table or a hibachi table?”
Lathe nodded, grinning. “Hibachi table, please.” He glanced over to Eren, chuckling at his perplexed look. Just trust me on this. He followed the man to the right side of the restaurant, sitting in a stool at the counter lining a flat stainless steel grill, a large vent above it. He thanked the man and accepted a menu from him, skimming over it as Eren sat next to him, staring confusedly at the grill, and at the selections. ...yeah, this is a thing that's happening.

Eren’s brow furrowed. What the hell is all of this? Why does it only list meats and nothing else? “Is… Is it just this?” Eren asked quietly, his voice timid as the other stools around them were filled. What if he’s here? What if he sees me with Lathe? What if he tries to hurt Dad? Blake whined, standing up and taking Eren’s hand before he could think of scratching.

Lathe shook his head. “You're going to get rice and vegetables and some other stuff with it, too. But they just need to know what meat you want, which is really the only thing that changes. So, pick anything you want.” He looked down as Blake took Eren’s hand, gently patting Eren’s shoulder. “You don't have to be nervous about anything, it’s all okay. I’m right here, don't you worry.” He gave him a reassuring smile, looking over his menu. Hmmm… Steak and Scallop sounds good...

Eren nodded, petting Blake as watched a waitress come up to take their orders. He was timid as he told her but he finally had a small smile on his face. Blake still had his hand in his jaw, and seemed unwilling to let go, no matter how much Eren pet him. Well, I guess I deserve this, I mean you finally picked up on everything...

Lathe handed her his menu after he ordered, looking to Eren and seeing Blake still attached to his hand, worried. He hasn’t let go yet, and Eren’s been petting him… What the actual hell are you going on about? I’m starting to get suspicious. Lathe scratched behind Blake’s ear, trying to get him to let go of Eren’s hand, finally seeming to convince him to let him go. He looked up as he saw the chef approach with a cart, grinning widely. Here we go.

Eren watched the man greet them all and turn on the large fan above the flat grill, turning on the grill as well. Why does he need a fan? He watched in mild fascination as he spread around a clear liquid on the grill, leaving the large mess be for the moment while he picked up his two utensils and he started to do a bunch of tricks. What…? How is he doing all that? It looks so cool! He swallowed hard as he watched the man pick up a lighter from the cart behind him, his hand going to Lathe’s shirt sleeve and gripping onto it. What is he doing with a lighter? Why does he have a lighter? His eyes widened as the chef added more of the same clear liquid to the grill and ignited it, almost letting out a scream of terror as the liquid caught aflame and burned bright and tall for a period of two seconds. What. The. Actual. Fuck. His eyes held a trace of fear as his grip moved from Lathe’s shirt sleeve to his wrist, and latching onto it.

Lathe moved to hold onto his hand tightly, rubbing his knuckles with his thumb. ...shit. I forgot about that. Eren’s scared to death of fire. ...he might be okay for the rest of this, more or less. He Eren nodded, his eyes still wide with fear, but it quickly died down as the chef showed off more of his skills. He brought out three eggs, spinning them on the hot surface, picking one up with his flat spatula, and bouncing it until it got to a good height that he turned the spatula, letting the egg crack over it and onto the hot grill. He did the same with the other two eggs, turning back to dump the large pile of rice on the grill and start to add various spices and sauces, finally adding the eggs once they were done. He made a show out of putting a large portion on everyone’s plate, to which Eren just stared at his plate unsure how he should go about eating it, or if he should even start, as the man started with the vegetables, setting aside some pieces of broccoli. What the heck is he doing? Eren’s grip was still on Lathe’s hand as the chef cut up some of the florets. What is he trying to do? Eren watched as he used his flat spatula again to pick up a small piece of broccoli and flung it at one of the people surrounding the table in an arc. Why is he throwing food at them? The fuck? Eren stared at the sight with complete confusion.

As it came closer to their turn, he looked over took note of Eren’s confusion. He leaned over and spoke quietly. “Eren, what he’s trying to do is throw the broccoli at your mouth and you have to try and catch it in your mouth. It’s fun!” He smiled, looking up as the chef turned to him, watching him flick a small piece of broccoli at him and easily catching it in his mouth, chewing with a bright light in his eyes. This is always fun! He sent Eren a reassuring look as the chef turned to him.

Eren opened his mouth, watching as the chef arced the floret at him. He moved his head to just the right angle to have it bounce off his nose. His face was priceless, completely bewildered and a flush of embarrassment crossing his cheeks. Blake was able to catch the piece of broccoli that fell. I didn’t catch it...

Lathe chuckled as he saw Eren’s expression, squeezing his hand lightly. “Hey, it’s cool. Blake gets a snack, and you can try again, you know.” He nodded to the chef, grinning. Come on, you got this.

Eren opened his mouth once more, watching the broccoli come close to him, smack him on the forehead, and bouncing off to be caught by Blake. What the hell? Why can’t I catch it!? He furrowed his brow, and the chef tossed him another piece only for him to fail miserably, and Blake get another snack. He looked over to Lathe, a pout on his face and defeat clearly written across his face. I wanted to catch it...

Lathe shrugged and sighed as Eren pouted, squeezing his hand tightly. He smirked and spoke to him quietly as the chef moved on to the next person, trying to cheer him up. “‘Twas a valiant effort, though it was in vain...Hey, it’s okay.” He nudged his foot with his boot, looking down to Blake as he wagged his tail. “At least Blake got something to munch on.”

Eren smiled softly, and nodded, watching as the chef finished off his rounds of throwing food. He soon had a steaming heap of various veggies on his plate and everyone’s food was cooked. This is a lot of food… It looks really good too.

Lathe beamed, letting his hand go and picking up his chopsticks, beginning to eat. Eren’s actually showing some emotion, other than looking distant and blank or miserable. …He looks the littlest bit happy. That’s great! He watched with an amused look as Eren fumbled with the chopsticks for a moment, deciding to have mercy and tapping his arm. “Here, look at this. Just hold this one chopstick in the joint of your thumb. It’s not going to move from there. Now just hold this chopstick like you would a pencil, and move that around to pick up the food. Like this.” He showed Eren how he held his chopsticks, showing him how to pick up a vegetable, and scoop up a decent bit of rice. “Give it a go, see how that works.”

Eren watched him, picking up on how to use the chopsticks properly with ease. “Thank you… Dad.” Eren was quiet as he mostly focused on his food. He had managed to eat the whole plate, but he didn’t feel full at all. No… It’s like nothing will fill me up… Why?

Lathe looked over as Eren quickly finished his plate, quirking an eyebrow. …You seem to be even more of a bottomless pit than usual. “If you want, you can steal some of my rice. I still have a ton left.” He nodded to the huge mound still on his plate. There’s no way I can finish all this.

Eren showed another soft smile, picking up his chopsticks again and helping Lathe finish up his massive mound of rice. I still don’t feel full at all… what the hell is wrong with me? He distracted himself by petting Blake as they waited for the waitress to come back around with everyone’s checks.

Lathe finished his plate, setting down his chopsticks and looking up as the waitress came by, taking his check from her and fishing for his wallet, leaving it with the amount due and a decent tip in cash on the counter. He smiled to Eren, stepping down from the stool. “You ready to go, Eren?” He nodded towards the door.

Eren nodded, hopping down from the stool and sticking to his side like glue, Blake following quickly at his heels. I don’t want you to leave too… Please don’t… Eren was patient as they got out to the car and started to drive back, humming along with the radio, petting Blake since all Blake wanted was to be pet, as he literally laid across Eren’s lap, hoping to get his attention. He’s still wearing his vest… Why is he doing this?
Lathe furrowed his brow at Blake’s actions, though he kept his attention on the road. ...something bigger’s going on here, and I need to figure out what it is. He pulled into the driveway, shutting off the car and unbuckling. “We’re home! Let’s get you inside. You look kinda tired. ” Understandable, given the way today’s gone...

Eren nodded, stretching as he got out of the car and stepped over the threshold, shedding his boots and taking Blake’s vest off. .... Dad’s right though, I’m fucking exhausted... He moved upstairs to go and get changed, removing the makeshift bandages he had made before as the cuts had already scabbed over. They’ll heal in a few days... So I won’t do it again... Probably...

Lathe kicked off his boots, padding upstairs to his bedroom and shutting the door behind him, quickly changing into a tank top and sweatpants. He stretched his arms above his head and yawned, opening the door and waiting for Eren to vacate the bathroom.

Eren opened the door from the bathroom, his eyes starting to close.... I’m tired... Fuck I can’t stay awake... Eren tried to take a step forward, but his knee buckled out from under him. My whole body feels like lead...

Lathe was immediately at his side, catching him as his legs gave out from under him. “Yeesh, I didn't think you were that tired.” He shifted his hold on Eren, sweeping him up bridal-style. “Let’s get you in bed.” He walked him back to his bedroom, laying him down in the bed and sliding in next to him, pulling the quilt up over the both of them and shutting off the light, wrapping his arms protectively around Eren and holding him close. ...you’ll be okay. ...at least, I hope so.

Eren curled into Lathe’s warm embrace, his head finding itself happily nuzzled into Lathe’s shoulder, and his hands holding onto the fabric of Lathe’s tank top. He had a small smile on his face, for all the wrong reasons.
Lathe slammed the car door behind him, his bags lightly bouncing off his hip as he walked up to the school building two weeks after classes had begun. First time anyone’s needed a substitute- to be expected, it’s the start of the school year. Eren hasn't said much about how classes were going, though. I asked him about it and he just kinda brushed me off... I have no idea why. Dunno. It’s probably nothing. He pushed open the door, walking down the halls towards the main office, noticing the hall immediately quieting considerably. He kept his poker face, quirking an eyebrow at some of the looks the kids were giving him. ...the hell? Why’s a majority of the kids here staring at me? You’d think I got a tattoo on my forehead. He glanced up as he heard hushed whispers from an adjoining hall, the crowd in front of him parting slowly enough that he could hear the better part of it. His full attention turned to the conversation as he heard Eren’s name, trying to look as if he wasn't listening. He watched as a very short blonde out of the corner of his eye talked, her words sharp.

“I really don't think it’s a good idea for you two to be hanging out with that Yeager kid.”

“Why do we need to stay away from Eren? He’s so adorable, and he gives us his extra food.”
Sasha’s tone started as worried, but turned into excitement as she mentioned food.

“Because, haven’t you heard? He’s a seductress, a whore, the damn Quo Hoe even got himself a spot in Mr. Quo’s Registry. He’s sick and perverted… why would you wanna hang around a perverted hooker like that?” Jean immediately replied. Maybe I can get him worse than the picture he sent to the football team… I just need to switch everyone’s focus from me to him.

Lathe’s face darkened instantly, his face stony and expression cold. He strode directly over behind Jean and Annie, his boots clicking menacingly on the floor, his tone that of ice. “Mr. Kirstein. Ms. Leonhart. I need you two to come with me.” This is why Eren wasn't talking about school.

Jean’s eyes widened, his head snapping up to see Lathe’s face. He looks ready to murder someone... fuck . He slowly got up from his seat, completely afraid of being hit. “Y-yes Sir?” He asked, his eyes showing a hint of fear for only a moment. No, don’t act scared, you can get away with it.

Don't even try playing dumb. “Don't act surprised I’m asking for you. I heard every word. You and Annie. Follow me.” He turned on his heel, walking for the main office, keeping an eye on the both of them that they were right behind him.
Annie stood from the bench, her face clear of any emotion. What the hell now? What’s he even going to do? This is just a waste of time, we all know nothing’s gonna happen.

Lathe led them into the main office, bringing them straight to the principal’s office, rapping on the wood door. He looked up as a blond man his height opened the door, looking at him silently before leaning forward to sniff him. Lathe seemed completely unfazed, his stony expression unwavering. “Hello, Mr. Zacharius. There’s a problem regarding these two students I think we need to address.” He looked to Jean and Annie. He looks only slightly terrified, and she just looks bored. ...well then.

Mike glanced over the students motioning to the seats in front of his large desk. He remained mostly quiet aside from a soft grunt which would signal for Lathe to continue. Mike sat down in his own seat and watched the students with cold eyes. What did Jean do now? Was he being... indecent with Annie in the locker room? It wouldn’t be the first time for that to happen.

Lathe stood next to the desk, his glare moving between the two of them, trying to keep his voice level. “There’s apparently been a gross misunderstanding, regarding my adopting Eren Yeager, which you are aware of. I happened to overhear these two speaking to Eren’s friends in the halls, using rather choice words to describe him. They called him, and pardon the language, a seductress, a whore, and a perverted hooker. I don’t think convincing a student’s friends and the school body that another student is such is going to be tolerated.” Fuck. That.

Mike sighed quietly, a hand coming up to hide his raging eyes. “Has Eren voiced any complaints?” He turned his gaze, a bit softer towards Lathe. I would need a complaint from him to do anything, but having already dealt with him, I don’t think he’ll want to open up and complain about it.

Lathe shook his head. “He hasn’t, but it rather does explain his unwillingness to discuss anything related to school with me.” ...It explains a lot.

Mike nodded, getting up to make an announcement for Eren to report to the principal’s office before he sent the two out of the room to wait in the chairs outside the office, making sure that they were marked absent from their classes. He looked to Lathe after the two of them left. “There’s really not much I could do without Eren voicing a complaint… and through past experiences… I don’t believe he will voice one.” Mike told him, sitting down in his chair and motioning for Lathe to sit down in one of the two in front of his desk.

Lathe moved to sit, nodding silently. ...I know. I just hope that maybe this will be an exception, see if he’ll actually decide to say something about how terrible Jean’s been to him. I can't stand the thought of him being called all that to his face... He looked back as someone lightly knocked on the door, Eren slowly entering. “Hey, Eren. Sit down, okay? You’re not in any trouble.” Far from Eren looked to Lathe and instantly stopped where he was. Fuck... it's about them... isn't it? “Can you…. Can you leave, Dad?” Eren asked, looking down and rubbing the back of his neck. Blake whining and pawing at him to calm down. Fuck... Dad knows everything... Shit, I didn’t want him to know...

Lathe looked surprised, standing and moving to the door, letting Eren enter. He patted his arm for a moment, sending him a reassuring smile. “I’ll be right outside if you need me.” He left into the hall, shutting the door quietly behind him and standing guard, trying not to eavesdrop and failing miserably.

“Eren, do you have anything you want to tell me about Jean and Annie?” His voice was soft, along with his eyes as he stood and went to sniff Eren’s head after he sat, then looping around the desk and sitting back down. He smells agitated.

Eren looked down at his hands, the tears starting to well in his eyes. “How did Dad find out? I didn’t want him to find out.” Eren said, his voice remaining surprisingly steady as he let a few tears fall. Blake took his hand so he didn’t scratch at himself. I didn’t want him to know.

“He overheard them in the halls, talking to your friends. Why wouldn't you want your father to know?” His brow furrowed a bit, thinking. Why not?

Eren felt his chest start to tighten. He’ll leave me.... If he thinks I’m a whore... He’ll hit me... just like Grisha did.... He’ll do those things to me. Eren’s eyes were wide as he felt his chest tightening more, spiraling quickly into a panic attack. Blake starting to whine louder and try to drag him out of the seat, but Eren was firmly placed, so Blake started to really freak out when he realized he couldn’t pull Eren down to the floor. He whined loudly, trying to get Eren’s attention, but when that wasn’t enough he moved to the door, jumping up on his hind legs, scratching at the door handle until he was able to turn it down and push it forward like he was trained to do. His ears were perked, looking around finding Lathe on the other side of the door and jumping up and barking at him, hoping Lathe would get the message. Eren was far gone, Mike trying to keep his head upright, and his airway clear as he struggled to breathe.

Lathe was stunned as the door suddenly opened, Blake suddenly jumping up on him and barking. ...Fuck. He never barks. Lathe immediately moved to the office, seeing Eren in the midst of a panic attack and Mike trying in vain to help him breathe. Fuck. He strode to Eren’s chair, Mike moving out of his way as he walked in front of Eren, trying to get his attention and gently pry him from the chair, moving him to the floor and pushing the chair back with a foot to give them room. He’s not there. ...first, we need space. Lathe sat down on the floor with him, looking into his eyes, thinking hard. What do I do... Think, you've done this before... Sing? Yes? Eh, Zacharius will just have to deal.

Der Mond ist aufgegangen,
Die goldnen Sternlein prangen
Am Himmel hell und klar;
Der Wald steht schwarz und schweigt,
Und aus den Wiesen steiget
Der weiße Nebel wunderbar.

Wie ist die Welt so stille,
Und in der Dämmerung Hülle
So traulich und so hold!
Als eine stille Kammer,
Wo ihr des Tages Jammer
Verschlafen und vergessen sollt.

This isn't doing shit. Lathe hadn't noticed much shift in Eren’s expression, worry written into the lines of his face. ...Here, just think about it. Use your words, and try to be at least semi-articulate. If you have to, you can switch to English. ...which you'll probably have to. Go! <“Eren, can you hear me? Talk to me, please. I want to know if you're okay.”> You're so far gone... I can't stand it! <“Come back to us, Eren, please. Say something. Anything. It’s okay.”> ...I don't think he can hear me at all... Lathe sighed as he didn't respond, once again beginning to sing.

Seht ihr den Mond dort stehen?
Er ist nur halb zu sehen,
Und ist doch rund und schön!
So sind wohl manche Sachen,
Die wir getrost belachen,
Weil unsere Augen sie nicht sehen.

Wir stolze Menschenkinder
Sind eitel arme Sünder
Und wissen gar nicht viel;
Wir spinnen Luftgespinste
Und suchen viele Künste
Und kommen weiter von dem Ziel.

“.... Und kommen weiter von dem Ziel…” Eren’s lips barely moved as he spoke the last line with Lathe. He still had that thousand yard stare, but he could hear them. I don’t want you to know....

<“Eren? Can you hear me? Talk to me, please. It’s okay.”*> Thank god he said something. He can hear me at least a little. Just talk. Stay with us now that you're here.

<“....Yes…. It’s not….”> Eren spoke quietly, his eyes still wide and his pupils dilated. He felt Blake move to rest on his chest and ground him, tears quickly running down his face. I don’t want it to happen to me again. <“... Not again….”>

Lathe held onto his hand, squeezing it tightly and trying to catch his eyes. <“Eren, we’re not going to let what happened happen again. Talk to us. Tell us everything. Just let it out. I’m right here, and you don't have to panic about anything. It’s over. Just tell us. Take all the time you need.”> As long as it takes, let’s hear it. <“Can you switch to English?”> Mike kinda has no fucking clue what's going on.

Eren tried to take in a deep breath, he struggled, and it almost sounded like his lungs had constricted, and that’s exactly what it felt like. <“... No…. No more…. I don’t want you…. To know…. No more….“> Eren cried, though his eyes started to reach to the light which was flooding in through the window, he was slowly starting to come back to them. It hurts, my chest hurts…. Why can’t I breathe?

Lathe reached for his kerchief, gently wiping Eren’s tears and keeping his tight grip on his hand, rubbing his knuckles with his thumb. <“Okay, that’s okay, just calm down for now. Don't try too hard to take a deep breath, just relax. It’s okay.”*> Lathe followed his line of sight, noticing where his gaze had landed. The light. He’s getting there, he’s calming down a bit… He just needs time. <“Give it time, Eren. Don't rush. Give it time.”>*

<“... No, you can’t know… You’ll think it’s true… You can’t know what they said…”> Eren’s voice was slowly getting louder, and his arms moving to try and get whatever was suppressing him off, he was only seconds away from getting violent. His hand already starting to turn into fists,
I'm not articulate enough to say this in German. Lathe leaned back a bit, raising his hands in surrender, though he didn't move from his spot next to Eren. “Eren, listen to me. I heard what they said, but I don't think anything could be further from the truth. I could never believe something that horrible. It’s all lies, and I know that. I would never think something terrible like that were true, really. Please believe me.” They're wrong. It's all a bunch of bullshit lies. They don't know anything.

Eren blinked a few times, his eyes finally adjusting to the light coming into the room. His head move around, taking in his surroundings, fully coming out of his panic attack. Where the fuck am I? He took in the unfamiliar surroundings, finally recognizing he was in Mr. Zacharius's office after a few moments. He looked down to his chest, feeling Blake grounding him, making sure he couldn’t get up. Was it that bad?... Dad was singing... Eren moved his head over to Lathe and just started to sob all over again. I don’t want you to believe them.

Lathe shifted forward and helped Eren to sit up, wrapping his arms around him as Eren cried. “Shhh…. It’s okay, Eren. I've got you. I know that everything they said was just a bunch of terrible lies. What they said was absolutely horrible, and I don't believe a word of it. Right now, you're okay. And if you can tell us about it, in English, then we can stop it from happening again. You just have to tell us that you didn't like it, and want it to stop, and we can take action, okay?” Lathe gently rubbed circles into his back, his voice and features soft. I've got you. We're going to stop this crap in it's tracks.

Eren hiccuped as he tried to stop his sobbing. Blake getting off of his chest and allowing him to curl up to Lathe’s side and cling to him. “Jean… he-he... he said that… that I was a Quo Hoe.... He called me a perverted freak for…. For… for seducing you…. He told me that I was a whore... and that I would do anything... for... for good grades.... I didn’t want you to know... I didn’t want you to know that they were teasing me.... I didn’t want you to know... because I was afraid you... you would get mad... for me ruining your name....” Eren sobbed into Lathe’s shirt and curled up to him, Blake moving to lick away his tears.

Lathe held onto him tightly, his voice quiet. “Eren, why would I be mad at you for something you didn't do? It’s not your fault those awful rumors got started. You didn't do anything wrong, and I'm certainly not mad at you. I could never be.” He looked up to Mike. “Is that enough for us to take action?”

Mike grunted softly. “I’ll deal with the proper punishments, you can take him home, I'll get teachers to fill in, don’t worry. Let him calm down, I take it that it was particularly bad if you had to sing to him in German and he was speaking back to you in his native tongue for such a long time. I understand, let him relax.” Mike said softly and walked out of the room to give them time. You could just barely hear the furious tone of Mike's voice from beyond the wall directed at the two students sitting outside.

Lathe nodded, his hold around Eren’s middle firm and protective as he helped Eren to calm down to completely, murmuring in his ear and rubbing his side. It’s okay. Mike’s taking care of this. You’ll be fine, and this won’t happen again. After a few solid minutes, Lathe spoke quietly. “Can you stand up? We can get home, let you relax. If you still need a minute that’s okay too.” There shouldn’t be too many students out in the halls, considering classes already started.

Eren shook his head, gripping onto Lathe’s shirt. “No… I can’t feel them.” Eren murmured and cried, not realizing just how much his body was shaking. I feel numb… I’m exhausted…. I wanna go home. “I wanna go home.” Eren murmured quietly, sniffling, and letting Blake lick his face clean.

Lathe nodded, his eyes widening as he saw him shuddering. “Eren, you're shaking like a leaf. Let me get that.” He reached out and grabbed Eren’s discarded backpack, slinging it over his shoulder and wrapping his wrist around Blake’s leash, shifting his feet under him and scooping Eren up, making his way to the door and carefully opening it. He kicked it closed after Blake exited, walking down the hall of the offices past Jean and Annie, Mike barely batting an eye at them. Thank god he understands. His boots clicked in the otherwise silent halls, walking to the parking lot. He wove his way to his car and carefully set Eren inside, moving to the driver’s side and starting the short drive home. You just need a chill day, and you’ll be better for tomorrow.

Eren stood at his locker, a blank stare on his face. Well, this week’s been better… but Levi and Erwin left this morning… I don’t know what to do anymore, I don’t like that he left. Eren picked up his head and skimmed through his locker, picking up the book he was currently working on, which was Eragon, a bookmark halfway through the large novel. Just this... for this weekend... No homework... and I've already recorded for this week. Fuck. Eren slammed his locker closed, the sound echoing through the barren hallway, leaning forward and resting his forehead against the cool metal. What the fuck am I supposed to do?

Armin was quiet as he walked down the hall, a bit of sadness in his eyes. ...right. Levi’s not here to come get you, walk you home… Armin leaned against the locker next to Eren, his voice quiet. “You want me to walk you home?” You look like you could use some company. ...I kinda could too, honestly.

Eren looked over to Armin as he spoke up, his eyes a little more hopeful as Armin finished, a smile crossing his face. “Yeah, that would be great.” I think that would be great, you're probably just as lonely as I am.
Armin sighed, giving him a weak smile and pushing off of the locker, walking with him down the hall to the doors, starting the short walk back to Eren’s house. They were quiet the whole way there, simply enjoying the other’s company as they ambled down the sidewalk, Armin stopping as they reached his driveway, his front door, hesitating. I kinda want to stay, but I can't just invite myself in… ugh. I can't words for this...

“Come on in, it’s just me and Lathe.” Eren told him, noticing his small hesitation. I don’t want to be alone, it’s too quiet with just the two of us in the house. Eren stepped up to the house, opening the door and calling out to the silence in the house. “We’re home!”

After a moment of hearing footsteps upstairs, Lathe poked his head out from next to the stairs on the second floor, his eyebrow quirked. “What’s this ‘we’ of which you speak? Oh hi Armin! I take it you're gonna be chillin’ here for a while?” He moved to pad down the stairs, his smile warm. “Y’know, if you're still here, you're more than welcome to stay for dinner.” You and Eren both could use each other’s company… You can sympathize with each other. And God knows Eren could use it.

Eren nodded. “Hey Dad, can Armin stay over night? I can go drive him to pick up some stuff.” Eren almost begged him. Please, I don’t want to sleep alone…

“Of course he can, if that’s alright with his Grandfather. But you just got your license last week…” He looked to Armin. “I guess if it’s okay yyou, and if you promise not to distract him, he can drive you both to get stuff.” You two need to stay in one piece. Otherwise, I'd have two marines after my blood...

Armin smiled, relief obvious in his eyes. “Thank you so much. And I won't distract him from his driving, I promise.” ...it’s so weird, when I wake up and someone’s not next to me...

Eren smiled and he dropped his bookbag by the stairs, and turned to Armin. “You wanna leave your backpack here? Or take it home? I know we don’t have any homework so…” Eren kept a smile on his face as he plucked the car keys from one of the hooks by the door. Dad’s letting me drive the car! Blake stood there, his head going between Lathe and Eren, unsure if he should whine for his vest to be removed or if Eren was going somewhere.

“I guess take it home, I don't have anything really important in it and I'd like to grab some stuff if I'm staying overnight, pj’s and whatnot.” Armin shrugged, looking to Blake as he looked around at them. New developments- Eren no longer requires Lathe to operate a car.
Lathe grinned at Blake’s questioning look, petting him. “Eren’s doing the thing and driving Armin around. It’s just gonna be you three.” He pulled Eren into a hug. “Now please be careful driving, we want you two to come back in one piece, okay? I mean it.” He let Eren go, a faint flicker of worry in his otherwise bright eyes. You'll probably be okay- I mean really, it’s Armin - but nevertheless be careful.

Eren nodded and ushered them all outside and into Lathe’s car, Blake situated between Armin and himself. Blake moved to paw at Armin, he knew what was going to happen now that Levi was gone and he was trying to warn him. Eren made sure everyone was buckled before he started to back out of the driveway expertly. This is a lot easier than when Lathe was first teaching me.

Armin looked to Blake a bit confused, petting him. He probably just wants some attention. But he’s on duty, so… Something else? What’s up, Blake? What’re you trying to tell me? He watched as Eren drove to his house, his turns smooth and paying careful attention to all traffic and signs. He grinned as he soon pulled into his driveway, unbuckling as Eren shut the car off. “Even if you just got your license last week, you’re a pretty good driver. I’m impressed. Now,” He pushed the door open. “...I’ve got stuffs to retrieve. You can come on up.” He let Blake hop out behind him, watching as he immediately moved back to Eren’s side. He walked up to the front door, pulling a key from his pocket and unlocking it, calling out to the quiet house. “Grandpa! I’m home! I brought a friend!” Armin beckoned Eren inside, closing the door behind him and kicking off his shoes. He padded into the living room, Eren in tow, greeting his Grandfather with a bright smile. “Grandpa, this is Eren, he’s a good friend of mine from school. Eren, this is my Grandfather.”

Mr. Arlert smiled as he slowly got up from his chair. “Ah, you’re the boy Armin talks about, it’s a pleasure to meet you.” His smile was soft, and stretched his arm out to Eren, shaking his hand, and seeing Blake, who stared at him questioningly. “Well, you must be Blake, it’s a pleasure to meet you too.” He smiled brightly, bending over to outstretch a hand to him and watched Blake sniff his hand and wag his tail before sitting beside Eren’s legs. Finally he stood straight again and turned to Armin. “Of course you can go, Erwin’s not here, so I’d feel better if you were with Eren and not alone this time around.” He smiled softly.

Eren’s smiled widened happily. YES! He can stay! I can sleep with someone besides Lathe again! Eren was happy that Armin could stay. “Thank you very much, Mr. Arlert.” He was being completely honest.

Armin smiled widely. “Thanks, Grandpa. I’m going to get some things from upstairs, then. I need pajamas and that kind of stuff.” He walked back to the staircase with Eren in tow, ambling into his room, shedding his backpack and retrieving an empty spare one from his closet. He walked to the dresser and grabbed a pair of pajamas, thinking for a moment. ...I kinda get the feeling I'm going to be spending more than just the one night. He shrugged and grabbed a few extra changes of clothes, grabbing his phone charger from near his desk and his toothbrush and a hairbrush from the bathroom. Is that it? I think that’s it. “Alright, that’s everything.” He walked back downstairs, going to give his Grandfather a hug goodbye. “I'll call and let you know when I'm going to be home or if anything changes, okay?”
“Okay, sounds good, have a good time.” His voice was soft from the other room.

Eren stayed near the door, waiting for Armin to come back with him. Blake whined and pawed at his leg, not wanting Eren to do what he was going to do once he was home. Eren squatted down and gently pet him behind the ear. “What are you so persistent about?” Even though I know what you’re worried about… how can you tell that I’m doing it?

Armin returned after a moment, noticing Blake’s pawing at Eren’s leg, his insistence on getting his attention. …what is it? There’s something you know that I haven’t picked up on. What is it. Armin slid on his shoes. “Let’s get going, okay?”

Eren nodded and stood back up, opening the door and leading them out. Blake followed closely at his heels but waited for Armin at the passenger side of the car to get in. Eren got in the driver’s side and started the car up, waiting for Armin to get in. I wanna go home… I need to cut again… I need too, it’s been too long.

Armin slid into the passenger’s seat after Blake, buckling up, quiet as Eren drove them to his house, sensing… Something. He looked down as Blake again pawed at his leg, trying to get his attention. …seriously. What the heck are you trying to tell me?

“Don’t mind him, he gets weird once Levi leaves… it’s just from me being a bit depressed about it… Just pet him and he’ll be fine soon.” Eren told him taking care to take them home, parking in the driveway as if he had been doing it for years. “So… if you would like to comment on my oh so reckless driving you can tell Lathe.” Eren smirked, cutting the engine and getting out, Blake following Armin out the passenger side.

Armin laughed, hopping out with Blake close behind him. He had his bag slung over his shoulder as they entered the house, speaking to Lathe as he spotted him in the kitchen, cooking. “Eren’s seriously an amazing driver. I’m very impressed.” He slid off his shoes, looking down as Blake nudged his leg. …so he only acts out when Levi’s gone and you’re depressed, huh.

Lathe looked behind him and grinned. “Good to know you two got out of it unscathed. Just make sure you put the keys back on the hook, Eren. And judging from your bag, I take it it’s alright for you to sleep over?”

“Alright!” Eren shouted by the door, putting Blake’s vest by the door and heading upstairs. “I’ll be down in a minute! I’m getting changed!” He called and Blake’s ears perked and he whined even louder, going over to Lathe to paw at his legs, whining consistently, like he had the first time Levi had left.

Lathe’s brow furrowed. Huh. Again? You get to acting all antsy when Levi’s gone. He petted Blake behind his ears, thinking. What is it. Eren’s rather depressed every time Levi leaves, so… That’s probably it. I shouldn’t worry too much, I don’t think. …Maybe I should get that guy Moblit’s number from Spades. I need to stop putting that off.

Armin looked worried as Blake pawed at Lathe as well. …even with the vest off, that’s concerning. What is it… He looked up the staircase worriedly for a moment before moving to the kitchen.

Eren locked himself in the bathroom, pulling out one of his hidden razor blades, and set it on the counter. He shuffled out of his clothes and put them in the hamper before picking up his razor again and drawing five thin lines on the inside of his thigh, making sure it was in a new spot. Can’t have anything scar… Levi might be tipped off from that… but that should be okay there. Eren wrapped his thigh tightly, slipping into his sweatpants and a sweatshirt. He took in a deep breath, a smile forming on his face. God, that feels so much better now. He unlocked the bathroom and raced down the stairs and walked into the kitchen, sitting down on the ground and letting Blake come up to him and basically attack him with licks and whines, his tail wagging happy that he was back in the room with everyone. God… you make it so obvious that I’m cutting…. I need you to calm down.

So now he’s happy he’s down here again with us? So, Blake was trying to warn us about something you just did upstairs? What could he have done? If Blake’s so worried about him while he’s so depressed, by himself… Is he…? No, why would he start? And I haven’t seen anything on his wrists. Probably nothing. My mind’s getting away from me. Armin smiled, shifting his weight to his other foot, feeling too tall standing next to Eren sitting on the ground. “So, what’cha want to do?” I have no idea what you people here do for entertainment. …music stuff? But I’m no musician...

“We could watch a movie, what ones did we not watch yet Lathe?” Eren asked, petting Blake until he calmed down enough that he was chill having Eren with people.

“Coraline’s the next one, I think. It’s really nice, you’d like it, Armin.” Lathe grinned, keeping his attention on his chopping vegetables on the knife in his hand. No knife mishaps, please. “Want me to make you popcorn and something to drink?”

“Popcorn!” Eren said excitedly, his eyes widened in excitement. “Can you make popcorn? Please??” Eren asked, giving Lathe the puppy dog eyes. I want popcorn! It’s so good!
Lathe rolled his eyes, setting down the knife and wiping his hands on his apron. “You don’t need to break out the big guns and go all puppy-eyed on me, I offered to make it. Mercy!” Lathe laughed, grabbing the skillet and setting popcorn to pop, setting a kettle on the back burner. “Armin, question. Do you like tea, coffee, or hot chocolate? Or something else?”

“Hot chocolate, please.” Armin looked to Eren, shrugging and sitting down next to him on the floor, petting Blake with him. Why not?

Very polite. Lathe retrieved two mugs and went about fixing their drinks, the popcorn popping under the glass lid. Soon enough, a large metal bowl was filled with hot popcorn and Eren and Armin had mugs in their hands. “Alright, now shoo and enjoy your movie. Dinner should be ready or close to it when it’s over.” He grinned, a mischievous glint in his eye as he nudged them to the scripting room.

Eren smiled scampering to the scripting room and giggling as he put the movie in. “Armin, sit down on the couch.” Eren told him, and waited for the movie to get set up. I wonder what this one is like?

Armin took a seat, his eyes wandering over the assortment of books and movies all over the coffee table. ...Star Trek, Casper, ...anime? “You’ve got quite an assortment of stuff here.” It wasn’t as much of a question as much as an observation. ...lots of seemingly random stuff... Huh.

“Oh yeah, Lathe takes me to the bookstore and we get a lot of stuff… I’ve been reading a lot, so a lot of stuff is scattered all over the place.” He explained with a large smile on his face. I’m getting better at hiding it… Well, Armin’s here… So I guess it helps.

Armin read the titles of the disc cases. “Just curious, who’s idea was the anime and the piles of manga?” He glanced down to a rather tall stack next to the leg of the coffee table. ...that’s a lot.

“Dad’s. I haven’t finished the manga and I’m apparently not allowed to watch the anime without finishing the it first, so I need to read 8 more volumes.” He said quietly, getting up to join Armin on the couch.

... kinda figured. Eh, at least it’s not Star Wars he has everywhere. “Well, reading the manga first only makes sense.” Armin shrugged and sipped his hot chocolate, careful not to burn his mouth as Eren sat down next to him, situating the bowl of popcorn between them. His attention was turned to the title screen of the movie, immediately recognizing the style. It’s stop-motion? Cool. He listened intently as the opening scene played out, an eerie, sublime feeling to the entire scene, completely enraptured. ...I can tell right now this is gonna be cool.
Eren watched, eating the popcorn diligently, and he paid attention to the whole movie. Wait.... What? What the fuck just happened? I'm so confused.... What the actual hell? Eren looked over to Armin. “Um... Armin.. Can I ask you something weird?” Eren asked quietly. I don't want to sleep alone.

Armin looked over to him, noting Eren’s uncertainty. His brow furrowed minutely, gauging his expression. “Uh, sure, go ahead. Ask away.”

“Um... I know this might sound weird... But... Will you... Will you sleep with me tonight?” Eren asked him quietly, his eyes giving away his depression for a few moments.

...I don't think I'd want to wake up alone, either. Armin’s features softened, sending him a weary smile. “Sure. It’s fine, Eren.” He patted his arm lightly for a moment. ...I miss Erwin, and you miss Levi... We’re in the same boat here.

Eren smiled and leaned over to hug him. “Thank you.” He whispered quietly and curled up to Armin. I don't want to sleep alone... I wonder how Lathe will take it...

Armin gave him a soft smile, letting his right arm draped over Eren’s shoulders after a moment, lightly rubbing Eren’s shoulder as he returned his attention to the movie. ...Would Mr. Quo be okay with that? He’d probably be suspicious... I dunno, he seems like he’d understand... Armin kept his arm around him until the movie ended, letting Eren go when he shifted to grab the remote. “Should we go see if dinner’s ready?”

Eren nodded, standing up and moving, causing Blake to get up and follow him. He shut the DVD player off and then turned towards the kitchen. “Alright, come on.” Eren said softly. I want food.

Lathe looked up as the two of them ambled into the kitchen, smiling. “Perfect timing. The stew’s done, so I'll get you two bowls. Let me guess- more tea, and more hot chocolate?” He took the long-since empty mugs from them, setting a kettle back on the burner and handing Eren and then Armin a bowl of stew.

“Thank you, Mr. Quo.” Armin took the bowl from him and sat down opposite Eren at the table, looking for silverware. ...hmmm. I need a fork or something. He looked up as Lathe handed them both silverware.
Lathe shot Armin a grin. “Armin, do you remember what I said the first time you were in any of my classes?” He turned as the kettle on the stove started to sing, setting Eren’s tea to steep and finishing a mug of cocoa for Armin.

Armin’s brow furrowed as he thought, taking the warm mug gratefully from him. “Um… That I looked very smart?”

“Well yes, I did say that. What else?” He turned to serve himself a bowl of stew, sitting at the head of the table. “Something about my entire name being Lathe Autonomous Quo, and to and I quote, ‘call me whatever the hell you want?’” He smiled warmly to Armin. “Please Armin, call me Lathe.”

Armin nodded, giving him a small smile. “Alright… Lathe.” Armin set down the mug, picking up his fork and taking a small bite of stew, his eyes bright. “This is really good, Mr.- Lathe, sorry, Lathe.” Armin rubbed the back of his neck. Well, it’s not the worst habit to have.

Lathe chuckled. “Thank you, Armin. I’m glad you like it.” He was rather quiet though most of dinner, his mind sorting through many miscellaneous thoughts.

Eren ate his large bowl of stew, going up for seconds and finishing that off too. Why do I still feel so empty inside? You know perfectly well dumbass! But… No Buts. You know why, and it’s because Levi left you! He hasn’t left me yet! No, but he’s going to be leaving you soon! Ha! Just think of what your pathetic little existence will do without him…. No I can’t…. You’re right, you can’t. Eren's mind was in inner turmoil as he sipped from his tea mug, his eyes showing off more depression than they had in the last few days. I don’t want him to leave me alone. He wiped away the tears forming in the corners of his eyes before they fell. No no no, I can’t have them worry. Eren looked up from his mug towards Armin to see how he was faring. I wanna go to bed, I’m tired, I feel like I could cry myself to sleep though.

Lathe looked to Eren with worry, noticing how he was trying not to cry….what’s wrong? Lathe glanced to Armin for an instant, gently patting Eren on the shoulder and giving him a small smile. I can’t very well ask while Armin’s right there and you're trying to hide it… I just hope you'll be okay.

You look miserable, and exhausted. Armin set down his fork, finished with his bowl and speaking quietly. “Want to head upstairs to bed, Eren? You look really tired.” He glanced to Lathe, looking for any reaction. ...Huh. Nothing?

Eren nodded, standing up and taking their dishes away to the sink to wash them. I wanna sleep.
Eren wiped at his eyes again as he struggled not to cry… No, I gotta be strong, like nothing's bothering me… He motioned for Armin to follow him out of the kitchen and towards the staircase.

Armin followed him, picking up his bag from where he had left it by the front door as they passed it, looking around and catching sight of the metal works painted on Lathe’s ceiling. ...cool. He watched as Eren ambled into his own room, looking a bit further down the hall and spotting a bathroom. “Eren, I’m just going to change and stuff in the bathroom, okay?” He walked over and shut the door behind him, locking it out of habit as he quickly changed and brushed his teeth. He returned to Eren’s room, waiting outside the door for Eren to finish changing.

Eren soon opened the door, he was wearing baggy sweatpants and a tank top, showing off his tattooed arm, almost completed but not quite. He sniffled, wiping at his eyes as he stepped out of the way to come into his room, his walls lined with pictures and drawings of Levi.

Armin set down his bag at the foot of the bed, looking up to some of the drawings. “These are all really good drawings, Eren. Very realistic.” They almost look like pictures…

“Thanks… I just wish the real thing were here.” He mumbled, sitting down on the edge of the bed and burying his face in his hands, hunching over his knees to rest his elbows on them as he struggled not to cry. No, don’t do it now, don’t lose your composure. Lose it? You've already lost it, a long time ago. What? No I didn’t… Yes you did, the moment he said he was going to be a marine you’ve been thinking about it! No I haven’t! Yes you have, just fucking admit it you fucking dumbass.

Armin sighed, sitting next to him and leaning his head in his hands, letting out a shuddery breath. “M-me too… I really miss Erwin…” He tried to force down tears, though a few began to escape, trailing down his cheeks. I know it’s something you have to do… And I know that right now you're not gone for long… But that doesn't change the fact that I really fucking miss you.

Eren nodded, moving to curl up to him. I don’t want to be alone. He barely heard Lathe walk upstairs and shut his door. He let out a soft sob, burying his face into Armin’s side once he laid down. I don’t want him to leave me…

Lathe padded silently up the stairs, hearing the quiet sound of crying from in Eren’s room, his face falling. ...they really miss them… Lathe decided to leave them be, closing his door quietly behind him. They need their space…

Armin shifted to lay back on Eren’s bed, pulling Eren close and tangling their legs together, tears silently streaming down his cheeks, his cheek resting on Eren’s head. ...I really really don’t want to wake up by myself… But you feel nothing like Erwin… I still feel so alone...

Eren wrapped his arms around Armin’s waist. He feels different… It’s nothing like Levi… He’s not sturdy enough. Eren let his tears fall freely, not afraid to hide them anymore. Even though we’re trying to help each other… It’s not working is it? Eren sat up after a bit, tugging on Armin’s wrist to pull him up, his eyes shaded from his shaggy bangs.

Armin looked up to him confused, sniffling quietly. “W-what is it? Where are we going?” Armin let Eren tug him along, tears still falling as he followed him down the hall, resisting just a bit as they approached Lathe’s room. What are you doing? “E-Eren, what…?” Armin followed him in as Eren silently opened the door, his eyes worried as they approached Lathe on the bed, completely knocked out. What are you doing?

Eren pulled him into the bed and crawled over to curl up to Lathe’s other side. I don’t want you to sleep alone… And we can all fit. Eren curled up to him instantly and started to break down and really cry, sobbing so profusely that his shoulders shuddered with every breath.

Lathe blinked awake, confused for an instant as he felt Eren curl up to him and cry, immediately moving his arm to pull him close. He looked to his other side, Armin hesitantly shifting closer to him. He didn't miss the tears streaking down his cheeks, his shaking shoulders. He gently brought his other arm around him, letting him curl up to him and cry into his shoulder, feeling his small arms wrap around his torso. It’s okay… I understand.

The second he felt Lathe’s arm wrap around his shoulders, he clung to his shirt, sobbing heavily into his shoulder, his legs tangling with his and Eren’s. …you feel like Erwin does… He buried his face into Lathe’s shoulder, not trying to hide his sobs. I miss him so much ...

Eren cried himself to sleep after around 15 minutes of solid crying. His body stilled, his head heavy on Lathe’s chest as it had been the last time Levi left. His face was stony, but his expression changed every so often as he went through various different nightmares. I don’t want him to die.

Lathe sighed as he felt Eren and Armin still in his arms after a while, looking up to the ever-moving gears on the ceiling. …they really miss them… It took an hour, lost in his thoughts, before Lathe finally let his eyes slide shut, overcome with sleep.
Armin’s been staying over this whole weekend, and Lathe let me extend his visit until Erwin and Levi get back. He knows I don’t want to sleep alone, and we did better after Friday night, and we were able to sleep by ourselves in my room since then. It’s Tuesday…. 9th period…. Ugh, I don’t like having English last period… I hate it, but at least Armin is with me. They’re not coming home for a few more days, and Mr. Arlert has let Armin sleep over the whole time, which is nice… I don’t have such an urge to cut with him here, and Blake’s noticed, and calmed down… I really hope Dad doesn’t notice, I don’t want him to be mad at me for cutting. Eren was jostled from his thoughts as the bell for last period rang. Time to go home. “Ready Armin?” He asked quietly, his voice was soft, and his eyes a bit brighter than they had been on Friday.

Armin looked up from packing up his bag and grinned, slinging it over his shoulder. “Yeah. Let’s go.” Armin led them out of the classroom, walking down to their lockers and switching out some of his books quickly, waiting patiently for Eren to do the same before they headed out, walking to Eren’s house in companionable silence.

Eren smiled softly, reaching out to hold his hand as they walked along, getting close to his house. I wonder… I haven’t really done it with Levi in a while…. It’s been awhile, shit… I shouldn’t be thinking about this… He’s my best friend, I don’t want to lose him over this!

Armin looked down to their hands, a small flicker of uncertainty in his eyes. ...I don’t know what to make of this… Is he…? I think he is… But I’ve got Erwin, and you’ve got Levi… I know it sucks that they’ve got to leave so much, but… I promised him I’d wait. Armin however didn’t pull his hand away, lightly squeezing his hand as Eren brought him up the driveway, letting him go to unlock the door.

Eren let go to unlock his door, throwing it open and dragging Armin in by the wrist. “Dad! We’re home!” He called, bending over to remove Blake’s vest and put it down by the door. I’m hungry…. God, I feel like I can never be full, and now I feel like I can’t even be fucking satisfied with what Levi did with me…. Fuck….

Lathe looked up from his writing at the scripting room table, grinning at them. “Hey you two. Just let me finish scratching down this thought and I’ll be out of your hair.” He joked, writing quickly before shuffling papers together, walking around the table. “How did school go today?”

“It was alright, boring… No homework, as usual.” He told him, throwing his bag down by the staircase and going towards the larger pile of movies. “Armin, what you wanna watch today?” He called as he crossed the room to said pile. Well, there was homework, but we got it done during Lunch, sooo…. Damnit, why can’t I stop thinking about it? You shouldn’t ask him…. You promised Levi you would wait.

Armin skimmed over the titles on the coffee table. “What about Eragon? I know you finished the books by now.” That looks pretty cool.

“Awesome, it’s decided! Hey Dad?” Eren threw him the puppy dog eyes as soon as Lathe looked to him. I want popcorn again.

Lathe looked up, immediately sighing in defeat, smiling. “I know, kid. Popcorn, tea and cocoa coming right up.” He left the papers on the table and walked to the kitchen, soon returning with mugs, and a moment later with a familiar metal bowl. “Here you go, I’ll be upstairs for a bit if you need me, but I’ll be down in an hour to make dinner.” He took his papers on his way upstairs, disappearing up the steps.

He got the TV and DVD player set up to play the movie, coming back with the remote. Eren smiled and pulled Armin into his lap. “Can I ask you something?” He asked softly.

Armin had only a second to settle in Eren’s lap before his soft voice next to his ear made a barely perceptible shiver run up his spine, a faint red dusting over his cheeks. ... He’s so obviously flirting with me… “W-what?” Do I want to know what you're going to ask?

Eren swallowed hard, leaning his chin down on Armin’s shoulder. “I’m… I don’t feel satisfied…. Waiting for Levi…. I don’t know who to ask…. I’m sorry, but if you don’t want to do anything I completely understand… I just don’t know how to take care of it really…” Eren’s whole face was flushed. I’ve never had to take care of it... Levi’s been taking care of me enough to keep me satisfied.... But… fuck… I don’t know how to say this...

Armin flushed scarlet to his ears, his eyes widening a fraction. ...How do I even respond to a request like that? I know it’s really hard, without Erwin here for me or Levi for you… and even if I could use someone else’s touch… I’m supposed to wait for him. I told him I would, and... wouldn’t that count as cheating? Armin kept his eyes glued to the floor as he tried to formulate a response, feeling Eren’s hands gently holding onto his waist. ...I don’t know... I guess it wouldn't, technically? I’d just be... Teaching him how to deal with it? I... I guess...? “U-Uhm… I-I’ll show you… If t-that’s okay…” I don’t know what the hell I just agreed to.

Eren nodded, hugging Armin’s waist tightly, as he had so many times before in the halls. “Thank you, really… You’re a life saver.” Eren sighed in relief and reached to bring the popcorn bowl close and letting be Armin go so he could get out of his lap if he wanted. I just... I don't know how to deal with it... And it fucking hurts without Levi around...

Armin watched Eren let go of his waist with a small frown. ...I kinda don't want to get off of your lap... is that selfish or...? Armin took the popcorn bowl from Eren’s hands, placing it in his lap and carefully leaning back against his chest, glancing up and gauging his reaction. If it looks like you're not okay with me sitting here I'll get off.

Eren smiled, wrapping an arm around Armin and pulling him close, using his other arm to eat popcorn. He returned his focus to the TV and watched with wide eyes as the large blue egg started to crack. It's so big, holy crap...

Armin rested his head against Eren’s shoulder, following the movements of the knee-high blue dragon with fascination, watching as it grew bigger and bigger quickly through the movie. She’s getting very big very fast... And she looks so cool. He sipped from his warm mug, completely enraptured.

Eren smiled, sipping from his mug as he was entranced by the whole movie, completely missing when Lathe had come in to see how they were doing, and to start on dinner. This is pretty accurate to the book... I'm surprised.

Lathe peered around the corner over to them, quirking an eyebrow at Armin situated in Eren’s lap. ...the hell? He shrugged after a second. Eh, they're best friends. They have the right. He glanced down the bowl in Armin’s lap. Yep, still set on popcorn. He smiled faintly, moving silently to the kitchen to start dinner. He returned soon, leaning against the doorframe, smiling softly. “Dinner’s ready, you two.” He left as they both nodded, moving to set the table.

A soft frown crossed Armin’s face for a moment as Eren’s hands slipped from around his middle, standing up with the nearly empty bowl in one hand, his mug in the other.

Eren stood up after, Blake quickly at his heels as he led them to the kitchen. The wonderful smell had already wafted to the Piano room, which once Eren took a deep breath of he smiled widely. “TACOS!” He cheered and moved quicker to slide into the kitchen, just barely missing the table. Tacos!! We haven't had Tacos in a long time!!!

Armin laughed, close behind him. His eyes were bright as he spoke. “Yeesh, be careful. Can't have you slipping.” He set the bowl on the counter, rinsing his mug in the sink before Lathe took it. “Thank you. It really does smell good, Lathe.” It stills feels kinda weird saying your first name- I'm not used to doing that with adults.

Lathe grinned. “Thanks.” He turned to Eren for a moment. “You heard him- again with the sliding, chill! Even if you arrived a few seconds later, there’d still be plenty left, I assure you.” He joked, handing Armin a full mug and taking Eren’s empty one. He soon handed Eren back a fresh mug of tea, setting a taco in front of Eren. “Armin, I don’t know what you’d want on yours. Lettuce, tomato, sour cream, cheese? All of the above?"

“No tomatoes, please.” Armin sipped from his mug, taking his place at the table. “Everything else is fine though, thank you.”

...finally, someone who’s picky. Literally everyone else I’ve cooked for in this house just inhales whatever I put in front of them. Lathe nodded, quickly fixing a taco for him and handing him the plate, sitting down with his own and beginning to eat quietly. I’ve got another song pretty much completely written out. I just need to tweak the actual music to it when I have a chance at the piano, and it’ll be done.

Eren practically inhaled his first taco, moving to fill his plate again and came to sit back down with two large tacos on his plate. Those two didn’t last much longer. I’m hungry…. I don’t want to be hungry, it scares me… But why can’t I feel full?

Lathe looked to Eren’s clean plate, surprised. It’s like he won’t stop eating… Huh…. Maybe it’s the stress of Levi being gone. Probably. Or a growth spurt, or something like that. Yep. That’s likely it. Lathe chuckled, standing with his empty plate and mug, going to wash his dishes before returning for Eren and Armin’s. “Alright, I’m going to clean up. You two can do… Something. Whatever it is you kids do these days.” He joked, looking over his shoulder to them. “But just letting you know, I'm going to be using the piano. I won't be playing obnoxiously loud, but you might not want to try and put on another movie. And if my playing sounds weird, that’s because it’s a work in progress, so deal.” He moved to put the clean dishes away, smiling.

Eren nodded, tugging at Armin’s wrist, a pleading look in his eyes. Can you show me? “We’ll be upstairs in my room then.” He told Lathe, his voice even. Good, he won’t be able to hear us…. I think… we should be okay if we keep the door closed… I really don’t know how to deal with this though.

Armin followed him, letting his blonde hair fall into his face and hide his crimson face from Lathe. ...oh no, he means now, and I don't know what I'm supposed to do… My god, this is embarrassing… He shut the door behind them, Eren reaching to lock it, swallowing hard. “Uhm...” Armin shifted from one foot to the other, hearing Lathe faintly playing the piano downstairs. He at least won’t be able to hear us… My God, if he hears us… No, he won’t… He won’t. Armin let out a breath he didn't know he was holding, leading Eren over to the bed and gently pushing him to sit on it, sitting next to him, unsure of where to start. ...I don’t know if I can do this...

“Um… I know this sounds really weird… but… I don’t know what to do… How do I get off without Levi? I’ve never done it myself b-before… is that strange?” Eren asked softly, a large
A flash of relief passed Armin’s eyes. Oh my god, he had me thinking he wanted sex... Thank god it's not that... This is still seriously embarrassing, but... I can do that, I guess. Show him... Armin furrowed his brow a bit. “I guess kinda, since you’re seventeen and never felt like you had to.”

Armin swallowed hard, trying not to lose the shred of confidence he had. “But I can show you. It’s easier with lube, if you have any up here...” Which you probably do, given you and Levi have had sex...

Eren nodded, getting up off of the bed and going to the drawer towards the top of his dresser, rummaging through a few things before pulling out a good sized black bottle of lube. “Why do you need this? I don’t really want to have sex Armin... I just... I don’t know why it hurts so much... I promised Levi I would wait for him to come home...” Eren’s words were soft and his eyes trained on his feet as he held the bottle in his hands. We usually only use this for sex... so it would be really weird to do this with Armin... I just... how do I get it to stop hurting in the morning?

Armin shook his head quickly, immediately speaking. “No Eren, I didn't mean for sex, I was worried that that was what you meant but it’s not. It’s just easier with it. Here, it’s... It’s okay. Come back over here.” Armin held out a hand to him, trying to catch his attention from the bottle. We’re not going that far. That’s not happening. Armin took the bottle as Eren handed it to him, getting him to sit next to him, trying to find the right words. How the actual hell do I say this... ‘Um, you can take it out...” ...I guess that counts...

Eren stared at Armin where he sat at the edge of his bed for a few moments. Take it out? Take what out? ..... Oh, Oh, Oh. Eren nodded his hands moving down to where the zipper was on his jeans. He unzipped his pants, trying to shimmy them down past his hips, finally getting free of them for at least a little bit, then pulling down his boxers as well. Okay... what the hell happens now? Eren looked over to Armin with curious eyes. “O-okay... now what?” He asked quietly, looking down at his half-harden. It fucking hurts.... Shit.

Armin snapped the cap of the lube open, taking Eren’s right hand and pouring a small amount into his hand. He closed it and put it aside. ...He’s given me all the initiative in this... Just go with it. Armin moved so his right rested on the back of Eren’s hand, his fingers lined up with Eren’s, guiding his movements. He moved his hand to spread the lube over Eren’s hand, his fingers. He tentatively guided Eren’s hand to his length, closing their hands around and it and slowly pumping. ...I can’t believe I’m doing this...

Eren let out a soft gasp as he touched his erection with the cool lube on his fingers, which warmed quickly. He looked up towards Armin, a look of lust in his eyes. “Okay... What- what else... ahng...” Eren let out a shuddery moan as his thumb grazed over his sensitive head. ...It.... It feels good.
Armin shuddered slightly as he met Eren’s eyes, his face scarlet as he felt his own length twitch in his boxers. Dammit… He started to quicken the pace, his thumb guiding Eren’s to run over the slit in his head, gently twisting their hands, unable to break from Eren’s gaze.

Eren let out a much louder moan, his body shaking a bit. “Ar-Armin… haa… It…. It feels…. Good.” He gasped in between moans. It feels really, really good. Why haven’t I figured this out before?

Armin felt his blood rush south from Eren’s moans and his movements, the lust in his eyes. Armin shuddered, feeling his length straining against the front of his pants. Shit, I'm hard… what do I do?

Eren looked down towards Armin’s pants, seeing the tent pitched in his pants. Armin’s hard… well… I should probably do something, since he’s helping me out. Eren shuddered and arched his back a bit as he tightened his grip on his own length. He reached over with his left hand to Armin’s pants, gently cupping his erection. “C-can I… help you too?” Eren asked, letting out another moan as he hit a particularly sensitive spot down his shaft. I don’t want to be the only one that gets help… you should be able to let it out too… I know how hard it is.

Armin’s eyes immediately widened as he felt Eren palm his erection through his pants, trying to suppress a moan. ...it’s been too long … He tightened his hand on Eren’s length, his fingers by now coated with lube, replacing Eren’s hand as he nodded, his left hand moving to unbutton and unzip his jeans, pulling them down along with his boxers, gasping as his throbbing length met the cool air of the room.

Eren grabbed the bottle, adding a little more lube to his right hand before gently grabbing Armin’s length, just as he was shown earlier. Fuck… his hand feels really good. Eren moaned, gently rubbing Armin’s erection. He kept his eyes looking into Armin’s eyes, his own full of lust and wanting as they rubbed each other. It feels really good.

Armin moaned loudly as Eren’s hand started to pump his length, his free hand immediately coming up to cover his mouth, biting onto his sleeve. My god, I can’t be so loud … but it feels too good … Armin softly whimpered as Eren started to speed his strokes, his pupils blown wide with lust, looking from Eren’s eyes to his lips and back again. ...damn. His thumb played with Eren’s slit, his hand tight around him as he pumped him faster.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~
Lathe ceased his scratching at the sheet music with a pencil as he heard an odd sound from upstairs. He sat completely still on the piano bench, listening intently, his eyes widening. That… Are they… Is Eren cheating on Levi?! Lathe blushed as he heard a soft sound, his eyes wide and showing confusion and panic. He can't be cheating on Levi. He can't be. Even if Levi and Erwin aren't around to… satisfy them, and even if they are really good friends, comfortable with sitting on each other’s laps… Even if the sounds they're making up there… No, Eren swore… he can't… He wouldn't. He wouldn't do it by himself. …what if Armin made him do it. I could’ve misjudged him completely, even if he always seemed so kind and polite. I could have been all wrong. I can't help but think that Armin talked him into it. He seemed so much more consistently composed than Eren through all of this, and Eren’s so vulnerable… He can't. Lathe held his head in his hands, covering his ears and trying to block out the faint sounds, letting the words swimming in his head drown out the quiet noise. …He can’t.

Eren’s body shook as he let out a strangled moan. “A-Armin… haa… I can’t…. I can’t much longer…” I’m gonna cum soon… Fuck, it feels so good. Eren moved forward, his eyes still locked onto Armin’s lust filled ones. Fuck it, I need to do this. Eren leaned forward, pressing his lips to Armin’s, still wary and unsure how Armin would take it.

Armin’s eyes widened in shock. It feels like him… Armin let his eyes slide shut, kissing Eren back and twisting his hand around Eren’s length hard, shuddering as Eren’s grip on him tightened. …it feels too good …

Eren groaned into their kiss, soon pulling back to pant, his whole body shuddering. “Armin… fuck!” Eren cried out in bliss as he came into Armin’s hand, his body shaking in bliss with each spurt of cum. … Fuck…. That felt great. Eren leaned forward to reclaim Armin’s lips, twisting his hand around Armin’s length and toying with his slit. You need to cum too.

Armin moaned loudly into Eren’s mouth, shuddering as he released in Eren’s hand. …oh my God… That felt amazing… His hand slowly pumped Eren dry, his hands coming up, his dirty hand slung over Eren’s shoulder, the other holding the back of his neck as he kissed him. That felt so good… He began to feel tired, caught in the post-orgasm glow. He hummed into Eren’s mouth.

Eren moved back, pressing a quick kiss to Armin’s forehead. “Thanks, Armin.” He murmured happily, moving to get off the bed, going to the wipes he had around and cleaned their hands up before putting the both of them back together. “You wanna put your pjs on? I don’t mind if you stay in here with me… I’m going to change into mine.” Eren told him, turning to return the bottle of lube to the drawer and then fish out his pjs and change himself.
Armin nodded, standing from his spot at the edge of the bed. He reached for his backpack still at the foot of Eren’s bed, deciding changing in Eren’s presence wasn’t a big deal considering what had just happened. He changed quickly, soon tugging Eren to the bed and shifting to pull the blanket up over them, holding onto him tightly. He sighed contentedly, his entire body relaxing.

Eren pulled Armin close, holding onto him tightly, his arms wrapped around his waist, his chest flush against Armin’s. He has a soft smile on his face as he fell asleep rather quickly with Armin in his arms. .... Good night, Armin.

Lathe couldn’t sleep. It had been deathly silent in the house since ten, and Lathe could do nothing except lay awake staring at the ceiling, drowning in a sea of tormenting thoughts before he gave up. It’s four in the fucking morning. I’m not getting any sleep at all, am I. Fuck it. Lathe tossed off the sheets, getting up and padding downstairs, picking up a clean sheet of music and starting to write, the weight in his mind, if anything, getting heavier. He decided at six thirty to start making breakfast, dark circles under his eyes as he set about making pancakes, something that required his focus. He tried not to think about Eren and Armin… Cheating on their boyfriends… Doing… He snapped out of his thoughts, shaking his head to clear it and flipping the pancakes before they burned. He placed the finished ones on a nearby plate, covering them with a skillet lid as he made more, finishing off the batter. He nearly jumped out of his skin as he suddenly heard Eren’s voice, immediately looking over to him, trying not to drop his mug. Fuck. He forced a smile onto his face, hoping his tiredness didn’t show. “Mornin’, Eren.” His smile faded a bit as Armin trailed after him, rubbing the sleep out of his eyes. You. “Good morning, Armin.” Lathe’s words had a sharp edge, though he tried to act as if he wasn’t furious as he sent a quick glare to Armin, redirecting his attention to the pancakes, fixing plates for the three of them. He set the table quickly, sitting down rigidly, slowly beginning to eat and stopping after barely three mouthfuls. I'm not hungry. He stared into his mug, his eyes hidden by his shaggy noir locks.

Armin looked confused as Lathe spoke with an icy tone, surprised as he glared at him. What? What'd I do? Was it… His eyes widened, trying to force down a blush. Don't fucking tell me he heard us. No no no please don't let it be that, he’d have the completely wrong idea, because it’s not cheating... Technically...

Eren barely noticed their exchange, as he was enraptured by his stack of pancakes, starting to inhale them. Maybe I’ll be able to actually get full now? Eren had a hopeful look in his eyes as he continued to eat the rest of his plate.

Lathe glared into his coffee, trying to contain his sadness, his disappointment, his confusion, his anger. ...I can't stand to sit next to you right now. Lathe stood from the table, bringing his coffee with him, his tone leaving no room for argument, terse. “If you'll ex cuse me.” He immediately left for upstairs, his door shutting loudly behind him, trying to distract himself getting dressed for work. I can't do this.

Armin watched his barely contained rage in shock, hearing him slam his door upstairs. ...whatever it is, it's bad. ...He heard us. He must have.

Eren watched him leave, looking over towards his plate which he left almost untouched. “I wonder if he spilled something on his music last night?” He’s usually not like this... But I know how his music is spur of the moment a lot of times... so if it got ruined, I wouldn’t be surprised if he was pissed and couldn’t remember how to write it again.

Armin shrugged a shoulder, his worried eyes tracing over his plate. “Maybe…” He heard. Suddenly, he didn't feel so hungry anymore.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe stormed through the halls silently, students moving quickly out of his way as he walked to his next class. Well, today is turning out to be shit. I broke a watch glass and a beaker during chemistry, I nearly shouted at three students, and everyone’s looking at me as if I want their blood. I'm so fucking tired I can't believe I'm still standing. The class immediately fell silent as Lathe walked into the room, dumping his bag in front of the desk and turning to lean on it, rubbing his temple with his hand, the other bracing against the edge of the wood desk. Eren and... He are in this class. He closed his eyes, waiting for the bell to ring before speaking loudly enough for everyone to hear. “Okay, so here’s the thing. I'm pretty sure I've had all of you, so I don't think I need to introduce myself again. First, I'd just like to say sorry right now, I'm not in the best of moods and the language part of my brain is refusing to function in an eloquent manner.” He glanced up, glaring at Armin for a moment. “But that’s what happens when you don't get any sleep.” He looked at the desk, only a stack of textbooks on it to the right and a globe near his left hand. He picked up the globe and started to unscrew the top of it, practically scowling at it. “So what exactly are you supposed to be learning? This is American History, yes?” He looked around to a sea of nodding heads. “Okay, so that means I have to rant about America. Easy enough. The thing is though, that right now I can't properly words. So.” He removed the sphere from its stand, leaving the stand on the floor to the side of the desk and hopping up onto the desk, slinging his legs over the textbooks and laying back, spinning the globe on his finger absentmindedly. “What time period are we talking about? Give me two years to work between and I'll just start ranting.” He watched the globe spin, listening to the stunned silence. He kept the globe spinning on his finger as he propped himself up on one elbow, turning to face the class. “Look, it’s been a long day. If someone doesn't tell me what time period you're learning about, I'm going to either make one up or assume you want to know about everything.” Silence. They're still fucking terrified of me. Joy.

“Alright. We’re going to talk about Richard Nixon, because why not.” Lathe kept sending Armin pointed looks as he spoke. “So, Richard Nixon was a member of the Republican Party, the 37th President of the United States, and should not under any circumstances have been trusted to run a nation. A bunch of stuff went down while he was in office, and I'm just going to start listing stuff. This thing happened called the My Lai Massacre, a slaughtering of the women and children in the village of My Lai in March of 1968, located in the northern part of South Vietnam. Troops were on a search-and-destroy mission to root out members of the Viet Cong. They ended up decimating the people of the village, all unarmed, their bodies mutilated and some women gang-raped before they were killed. It was just a huge mess, and the public didn't hear about it until November of 1969, and the press attention caused public opinion to sway more in opposition of the war. ...You know what?" Lathe stopped the globe, jumping down from the desk and picking the globe stand back up, screwing it back together. "I'm sorry, I really am, to all present company minus one. But I can't do this." He set the globe back on the desk, slinging his bag back over his shoulder. "There's a half hour left in this class. If you all could do me a favor, just read from your textbooks or just goof off, I don't even care anymore. Just don't leave or cause trouble. I'm done." Lathe walked out of the classroom, slamming the door shut behind him and striding to the main office to sign out, a dark storm cloud trailing behind him.

What is up with Lathe? I don’t understand... why did he glare at Armin whenever he saw him... Why? I don’t get it? What did Armin do that was wrong? I just... Why? And why couldn’t he sleep last night? We even went to bed early last night! I don’t get it... Is he mad at me? Is he trying not to freak me out by taking it out on Armin? Oh god... what if he’s angry at me? No... I can’t have him be angry at me... What if he doesn’t let me bring Armin home again? But... I liked sleeping with Armin, he’s closer to Levi’s size than Lathe is... and he’s fun to watch movies with, he’ll let me hold him, and I like that... I don’t want to be stuck hugging a pillow while I watch a movie by myself... Will Lathe watch movies with me? I don’t want him to stop... I don’t want him to leave me too, what if it’s because he’s mad at me? He didn’t even talk to me at all today... Why? What did I do? I’m so confused... Why did you walk away from me in the hallway? Why are you avoiding me? Do you hate me? Do you hate Armin and because I’m friends with him instantly hate me too? What did we do? I don’t understand... We didn’t do anything wrong! Eren’s mind was flooded with so many thoughts, Blake whining as his eyes got darker. He slipped a few binders into his locker, staring at the dull backing, barely noticing that he started scratching. His nails dug into his skin, allowing for large red streaks to cross his wrists, Blake whined, trying to get his attention but failed. He whimpered as he saw Armin coming closer to him.

Armin gently put a hand on his shoulder. “Hey, Eren... are you okay?” He asked quietly, his eyes running down his arms seeing Eren scratching. That’s not good, that’s what Blake is worried about. He reached to grab his wrists, finally snapping Eren out of his trance with a slight gasp.

Eren jerked his head back a bit, his eyes searching the area, trying to figure out where the hell he was, he calmed down when he instantly recognized Armin’s blonde bowl cut. He let out a sigh he didn’t know he was holding in, leaning forward and resting his temple on Armin’s head. “...When are they coming back?” I keep asking... but the answer won’t change will it?

Armin sighed, letting go of his wrists, knowing he wouldn’t scratch again. “Eren, I’ve told you five times already. They’re not gonna be home until Friday... Eren, you need to calm down, I’m gonna go home today and make sure that my Grandpa is alright... okay?” He asked, pulling Eren into a hug. I don’t believe that going home with you is a wise decision… Lathe has only glared at me all day… I think he heard us. No, I know he heard us yesterday. I wonder if he’s going to have a talk with Eren about that… Otherwise he’s gonna think something completely different. God dammit… That means I have to figure out sleeping alone for the next two days.

Eren’s eyes widened a fraction at the new information. He’s not coming home with me? Well… I guess that’s okay… but… Are you leaving me too? Levi’s leaving me…. Lathe hates the both of us… and now you’re leaving me too? Eren tried not to cry as he pulled away, hiding his face as he closed the door to his locker with a slight slam, his eyes dark and downcast, completely ignoring Blake’s whines as they walked towards the door. What the hell? Why the fuck is there so many people standing around outside today? What the actual hell? Eren sighed in frustration as he moved to the doors, holding them open for Armin, not really looking to see why people were crowding outside the doors in the front of the school.

Armin was curious as they got to the doors, seeing the massive body of students outside. What the hell? It’s not a Pep Rally, right? We should’ve left from the side not the front… Wait…. Is that?… Oh my god! It is! Armin dropped his bag where it was and raced to Erwin, standing there in his digital camo, holding his arms out for him. He didn’t care that he was crying as he launched himself into Erwin’s arms, wrapping his own around his shoulders, his legs finding away around Erwin’s middle. “You’re… You’re back… Oh my god, You’re back!” Armin smiled as he tried not to cry.

“Oi, Brat!” Levi called over to Eren, trying to get him to look up. Stop looking so sad and get the hell over here! I want my hug!

Eren’s eyes widened a fraction, frozen for a second before he looked up slowly. L-Levi? Eren stood there, staring at him for moments, time seeming to freeze as he took in the sight of Levi wearing his digital camo, standing there, waiting for him to come running up to him… But Eren stood there, so unsure of what to do, the tears quickly starting to fall…. Please tell me this is real… Please… Eren covered his face as he started to sob, letting go of Blake’s leash and allowing the dog to go and race to Levi and paw at his legs uncontrollably, like he was trying to get his attention. Eren took the first few shaky steps towards him before moving his arms from his face and his steps getting quicker until he was wrapping his arms around Levi and sobbing. … It’s real, thank god… he’s actually here. He came back to me.

Levi held onto Eren tightly, gently rubbing circles into his back, his voice quiet near his ear. “Hey Eren, I really missed you. I’m here, don’t cry. It’s okay.” He buried his face in his shoulder, a small smile on his face. It’s good to be home.

Lathe watched through one of the windows of the main office, seeing Armin and Eren run up to Erwin and Levi without much hesitation. Levi’s home already… and the way Armin and Eren are going up to them, it’s like nothing between them happened at all. How could you cheat on your boyfriend like that and look like there’s nothing weighing down your conscience? Surely they must feel something… Lathe looked down to his hands, having accidentally crumpled the papers he was holding in his tight grip. ...should I go out there? I have no reason to chill in here, and it’s Levi. But… I’d say something. Lathe looked to the sheets in his hands, pitching them in the recycling bin and walking out the side door, moving to his bike and driving off away from the house and the school, needing a bit to clear his head before he could even try to go home.

Erwin held Armin with ease, a happy smile across his face. “Did you miss me Armie?” He asked quietly, a deep chuckle leaving his throat. I certainly missed you.

Armin buried his face into his neck, smiling widely. “Too much. I’m really glad you're home.” Armin leaned up and pecked his cheek, grinning broadly. You're home! You're really home!

Erwin smiled and kissed his cheek in return. “You wanna head home? My car’s in the lot.” He murmured quietly into Armin’s ear, kissing the shell of his ear gently. I missed you so much.

Armin nodded quickly, smiling as he unwrapped his legs from around Erwin, stepping onto the ground and grabbing his hand, twining their fingers together and pulling him to the parking lot, a spark in his eye. I think we could do with being alone for a little bit.

Erwin nodded, looking over to Eren still clutching onto Levi like his life depended on it. “Do you guys want a ride home? There’s enough room in the truck and you’re two blocks away.” Erwin offered the ride, rubbing a thumb over Armin's hand. I saw that spark, Armie, you can’t hide that glint from me, but I’m a proper gentleman so you always offer the car ride.

Levi shook his head. “No thanks, we’ll walk. Like you said, it’s two blocks.” He glanced to Armin for a split second. Besides, I kinda have the feeling Armin wants you all to himself as soon as possible.

Erwin nodded, leading Armin out towards the parking lot and to his large black truck.

Eren looked up to Levi, his hand coming up to rest on his cheek. “Can we… Can we go home?” Eren asked quietly, shooing Blake away from Levi’s legs as he continued to paw at them, just as he had done to Lathe and Armin the first day they left.

Levi nodded, his head leaning into his touch for just a moment before one arm slid from around his middle, still keeping an arm around his waist as he guided them home, walking next to him quietly, comfortably.

Eren had his head leaned over against Levi’s shoulder, his right hand holding onto Levi’s shirt tightly. “I missed you… You know, it’s getting better when you leave… But, it’s still really hard.” He mumbled quietly, his eyes still a bit downcast, but not as much as before. Blake was walking in front of them, happy to be off the leash but he stayed within five feet of them.

Levi kept his left arm tightly around his middle, pressing a kiss to the top of his head. “It’s good to know that it’s getting easier… thank you for being so willing to stick around for me through this.” His eyes wandered up the street, Eren’s house already visible. Home. After it being that for so long it still sounds really nice. He let Eren push open the front door, letting him close it before turning him around and pressing him gently against it, one hand coming up to cup his cheek, kissing him deeply. I really really missed you...

Eren shed his backpack, tossing it towards the staircase before wrapping his arms around Levi’s broad shoulders…. Fuck I missed you so much. Eren tilted his head to the side slightly, trying to get even deeper with his kissing.

Levi broke their kiss, smirking and looking into Eren’s eyes as he practically dragged him into the basement, a possessive glint in his eye. ...Mine.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

It was late. Lathe knew that much. He didn't expect Eren and Levi to get up until the morning, and he knew he wasn't going to be working the next day, yet he still waited until nearly midnight to dig into the highest-up cupboards, way in the back for a new bottle of whiskey, picking a heavy glass and shutting the cabinet. He dropped some ice into his glass and sat down at the kitchen table, breaking the seal of the bottle and leaving it on the table, pouring himself a glass and trying to mute the endless thoughts of Eren cheated on Levi, and Armin made him. He poured himself a second glass, a third, a fourth, a fifth until tears were streaming down his face, resigned to the loud voices shouting in his head. I can't believe Eren would do that… But I can't tell Levi… It'd fuck everything up. He rested his head in his hand, letting out a shuddery breath. He barely even noticed someone walk into the kitchen, looking up and instantly speaking, his voice cracking, his eyes full of misery. “L-Levi.”

Levi walked past him quietly, quirking an eyebrow at him. “Yeah?” He asked, stretching out as he yawned, more hickey and love bites lining his collarbone. How much have you drank… Levi looked back as he pulled out a glass for himself, looking to get water. Wait… Is that the seal? He’s drank half a bottle of Crown Royal right there? Is he out of his damn mind?
Lathe thought hard for a second, suddenly shaking his head. “N-nevermind… I shouldn't tell you… I don't want to mess anything up…” Lathe hid his face in his hand, his eyes screwed shut. I'm going to make it worse if I open my mouth about it… Lathe took another sip from his glass, which was nearly empty.

Levi sighed, bringing his glass of water over to the table to sit down with him. “Lathe, you know you won’t mess anything up, you’re clearly distraught about something, just spill.” Levi insisted raising his own glass. I really hope you don’t have to work tomorrow.

Lathe sighed heavily, his eyes tracing over the table. *Maybe I should believe you… Just tell you… It’s… So Armin was here most of the time you and Erwin were gone, okay? He and Eren just kinda kept each other company, watched movies, just chilled… But last night… I know I heard them both up in Eren’s room, moaning… I think Eren was cheating on you, but I didn't want to think that because he promised to wait for you and I can't help but think maybe Armin forced him into it maybe… I didn’t want to mess anything up and tell you, but I guess you deserved to know.” Lathe sobbed into his hand, tears flowing freely down his cheeks. I didn't want it to be like that… I wanted the two of you to be perfectly okay as a couple, for Eren to be able to cope without you, without… Without that…

Levi swallowed hard as he took in Lathe’s words. That… That doesn’t sound like Armin… But if what he heard… And Lathe’s got ears like a bat… Well fuck. He drained his glass before reaching for the bottle of alcohol, filling his glass, offering to fill Lathe’s as well. I need a drink after that.

Lathe quirked an eyebrow at him, though he nodded and slid his glass over. “Since when do you drink?” Last I checked you were 18, not 21.

Levi sighed, just shaking his head, filling up Lathe’s glass and setting the bottle down with ease. “I started when I was nine, and no, you’re not getting the whole story, I refuse to tell anyone.” His tone was cold as he picked up his glass and drained it with practiced ease. That burned… I haven't had a drink in over two years…

Lathe raised both of his eyebrows looking at him, his attention soon returning to his glass. “I won’t ask… And at this rate, I’ll probably forget, too.” Lathe just shrugged, his eyes dull as he sipped from his glass, soon emptying it and setting it down, resting his head on his arms on the table, trying to calm himself down from sobbing.

Levi nodded. “You should probably head upstairs before you forget to do that too.” His tone was soft as he filled his glass again, taking a sip from it. This won’t be enough to give me a hangover, I’ll be fine…
Lathe let out a shuddery sigh, bringing his head up and and standing, taking his glass to the sink and throwing the broken seal from the bottle away. He capped the bottle and shoved it back into the highest cupboard, turning to Levi for a moment. “You didn't see where I put that.” He rested a hand on his shoulder lightly for a moment, sadness in his eyes before he let it slip away, walking to the stairs with a bit of sway in his step, leaning on the railing as he walked up to his room to collapse on his bed, the door shut and locked behind him.

Levi followed suit closely after, finishing his glass, returning it to the sink and walking past the stairs and to the scripting room and to the basement. So…. Eren was cheating on me? I don’t think he’s honestly capable… Not Armin… Well we’ll have to see. He slipped downstairs and slipped back into bed with Eren, feeling him curl up to him immediately, closing his eyes and sighing as he fell asleep.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Eren woke up a little later than he expected, stretching in the bed, reaching his arm over to nudge Levi awake, only he was met with an empty bed. Huh? Eren quickly started to freak out. Oh my god, did I have a dream about that? Levi’s not actually home, is he? He reached over to feel the empty bed, feeling the warmth that a body left behind and sighed in relief. No… He just woke up before me. He’s really here. Eren smiled at the thought, slipping out of bed and scrounging around for his clothes and slipping them over his body. Well, Levi didn’t notice the cuts on my thighs, so we should be okay. I hope. He slowly sauntered up the stairs, ruffling his hair with a hand running through it. Why the hell didn’t he wake me up? He opened the door at the top of the stairs, closing it behind him as he walked around the empty house to find both Lathe and Levi sitting at the table. Lathe was drinking coffee, and a bottle of aspirin near his mug and Levi drinking tea with two tea bags instead of one. What? Why are they like this? Wait…. What did I do? Eren’s face was full of concern as he stepped in and looked over them. “D-Dad?” He asked quietly, his voice a little hoarse from last night.

Lathe looked up, his face weary and eyes set. I need to figure out what the hell is going on between you and Armin. Lathe stood, leaving the bottle of aspirin and his mug behind. “Eren, we need to talk. Now. Please, follow me.” His voice was lower than normal, rough, his head still a bit foggy from last night. We’re getting this straightened out now. Lathe walked over to him, gently pulling him along by his arm to the basement, shutting the door behind him and walking down the stairs. He pulled two stools out from under the table and sat, guiding Eren into the other next to him. His tone was grave as he spoke, looking up to Eren with tired eyes. “Eren, we need to clear up what happened with Armin two nights ago. I heard you two upstairs, doing… Questionable things. It’s been hanging over me that you could've been cheating on Levi, and whether I'm wrong or right, you need to explain it to me. What happened with Armin Tuesday night?” Lathe just let the words tumble out, rubbing his temple and trying to will away his pounding headache. ... drinking that much was not that great an idea...

Eren eyes were wide as he was more or less dragged down. Wait… What’s happening? Why do we need to talk? Eren sat down beside Lathe his eyes wide and showing a hint of fear. ... He heard us?
He thinks I'm cheating on Levi? Why?... I would never do that! Does he think I'm a whore? Oh my god... He does... But I... I didn't want to ask him how to take care of it, it's embarrassing, and even Armin said it was weird that I didn’t know. Eren looked down, his hair covering his face, hiding his darkened eyes, not speaking to him, only shaking his head. No... I wasn’t cheating. Eren felt the tears well into his eyes. He thinks I’m a whore... He thinks I’m cheating on Levi with Armin.... Oh my god... He heard us. Oh god no, please don’t make me say this... It's embarrassing, we didn't do anything! He was teaching me dammit!

Lathe let out a shuddery sigh, his eyes glassy as he stared at the floor, holding his head in his right hand. “Eren, please. You can tell me. I just want to know if you... I just want to know if what you did with Armin was cheating. I just want to tell me if I'm wrong, tell me if I'm right... And let me know what you two were up to. ...I’ll try to understand.” Please, just tell me I’m wrong. Tell me you didn’t cheat on Levi, that nothing like that happened, that it was a huge misunderstanding. I wouldn't care that you worried me sick for nothing, I'd be fucking relieved! Just tell me.

Eren just shook his head, starting to stand up off of the stool. No... I don’t want to tell you... You think I’m a whore... You think I was cheating.... You don't trust me! Eren let a few tears fall. Are you gonna make the rumors true? The rumors that I’m a seductress and a whore? Are you gonna rape me like Grisha did? No... I don’t want to tell you, I regret even trying it now! I just needed help and I was too embarrassed to ask!

Lathe’s hand suddenly hit the table loudly, nowhere near Eren, his fingers threaded through his hair and tears streaming down his face. After a tense moment of silence, he spoke, his voice cracking and quiet as he gently reached out a hand to Eren’s shoulder, lifting his head a bit, his bangs shifting from in front of his broken eyes. “Eren, at least tell me he didn't force you to.” I swore I'd never let that happen to you, my God please don’t tell me it happened again while I was right there.

Eren’s eyes widened and he snatched his shoulder out of Lathe’s reach, stepping back a few feet. “No!” Eren snapped at him. “Armin didn’t force me to do anything! He’s my best friend! He would never do that! Dammit !” Eren’s fists were clenched as the tears streamed down his face. “Why would you think that?” Eren asked, tears falling freely down his face. Why would you think that? Armin is nothing but nice... Why? Is it because you don’t trust me around anyone else other than Levi?

Lathe let his hand fall, looking forlornly down to the floor. ...so does he mean they did...? “Eren… But did you two...?” He glanced up through his dark hair, swallowing hard. ...did you...?

Eren’s eyes filled with momentary rage. “NO! Why would you think that I was cheating on Levi?” Eren almost screamed at him. He lifted a hand to rub away his tears. “No... I asked Armin to help me.... God this is too fucking embarrassing... But do you not fucking trust me enough to be alone with my best friend?” Eren asked, the anger faded from his voice leaving just pain.

...oh... what?... whatever that means, I fucked up. His voice wavered as he spoke, rubbing at his red eyes, trying to stop the tears. “Eren, all I knew was I was playing the piano and I suddenly heard you two and I could do nothing but assume the worst... I just... I didn't know how the hell to say anything to you then and when you two seemed totally fine the next day, I was wondering if it was because nothing happened or... A lack of remorse.” He sniffed. “I was just so worried that something like that had happened and believe me, I was hoping against hope that it wasn't like that... I... and then I didn't know how to deal with that weight hanging over me, knowing that something could've happened and that I probably shouldn't tell Levi that you... What was it that you were doing, exactly?” ...please, just let me be wrong. Tell me I'm wrong.

I'm gonna have to tell him... Aren't I? Eren heaved a sigh, moving to sit back down on the stool. "I... I... This is embarrassing... Even Armin said it was weird that I didn't know." Eren couldn't find it in himself to look up to Lathe.

...what. You're not making sense. "What do you mean...? What didn't you know?” Lathe looked to him with confusion.

How could that make any sense?

Eren's face flushed completely. "I... I didn't know how to take care of it... It was starting to hurt... Levi and I hadn't done it in a long time..." Eren told him, bringing a hand up to cover his face. This is so embarrassing! "I was too embarrassed to ask you... So I asked if Armin could show me... Cause I didn't know what to do with it." Eren moved to keep his face covered. Will you still think I'm a whore? Are you mad at me for making you worry? You probably are... fuck ... What do I do? I didn't know what to ask, or who to ask... Dad... Did I do something wrong? Am I... Am I a whore? Eren swallowed hard at the thought, his eyes holding nothing but shame. ... He must've told Levi... Fuck... I don't think I can explain it to him without Armin's help.

Lathe flushed scarlet, holding his head in his hands. Even if that does kinda make sense...... that's not something you normally ask your best friend, is it? Lathe spoke quietly, trying to sort through his thoughts with his muddled mind. "...Eren, two things. First, there's the internet for that. And second... I'm sorry. I was an idiot to immediately assume the worst, and doubt your commitment to Levi... but you need to tell him, because... I told him, last night." He immediately held up his hands in defense. "Not a great move, and I'm really sorry, but I wasn't thinking straight." I was too drunk to keep my mouth shut. Lathe sighed heavily. "Eren... you need to tell Levi. And Armin needs to tell Erwin, too. Together, if you have to. But... come clean about it. Levi already knows something was up between you two. Just... get it over with after school or something." Lathe tried to send him a reassuring look. ...if you two come clean, they might not be as mad as if you kept secrets from them.

... So he did tell Levi?... Come clean, tell them that I didn't know what to fucking do? Yeah, that sounds like a great idea. Eren only nodded looking down at the floor, unable to turn to Lathe. "Um... Can you... Can you call the four of us in sick? I think we need to talk together... and the sooner the better, I don't want Levi to tell Erwin anything and screw up their relationship too...” Eren's eyes held so much remorse for his actions it was unbelievable. Only, Lathe couldn't see it, he never found the courage to look Lathe in the eye, or even up enough to let his eyes see anything but floor. I fucked this up major... Shit... I should've known... I should've known he doesn't trust me... I should've... but I put my trust in him... Why did I do that? I was too embarrassed to ask him about why it hurt so much when Levi and I didn't do it for a long time... He automatically thought I was a whore? That I would drop my pants for my best friend? Does he think I'll drop my pants for him too? Eren felt the need to scratch, so he began to, his nails digging into his skin, leaving long red streaks in their wake. ... Fuck... I can't trust him... he doesn't even trust me... He think's I'm a whore... Eren continued to scratch, enough that he had opened his skin up in a few places where the larger red marks crossed paths. He just started to break down, letting his tears fall freely down his cheeks, trying not to shudder with every sob, trying to contain it but failing miserably. Eren stood up from the stool, slowly heading towards the staircase. ... I don't want to be a whore... He was still scratching his wrists when he got to the end of the steps, waiting for his response as so many voices flew through his head, calling him names and bringing forth his worst fears. I regret everything.

Lathe stood, crossing the room in two steps and gently catching Eren's hands to stop his scratching. He pulled him into a gentle hug, softly rubbing circles into his back, his voice quiet. "Alright, I will. Eren, please don't cry... I'm not mad or anything, if that's what you think." I won't let you scratch over this... and you don't have to cry. It's okay, you plan on coming clean about it... that's not going to be easy for any of you, but it's necessary."...Eren, it was a huge misunderstanding on my part, and I'm so sorry for overreacting like I did." Lathe pulled back from him, one hand still around his middle, his head bowed and holding up his palm to him. I hope I didn't cause any more harm than can be repaired...

Eren looked at his outstretched palm. ....I should be the one apologizing. Not you.... He gently raised his hand to place on top of Lathe’s, asking for forgiveness as well. You don't need forgiveness.... I do.... Eren let out another shuddery sob as he saw the scratch marks had left nasty red lines across his tan skin. I look ugly.... I wanna cut.... But I can’t. Eren sobbing continued, even though Lathe had told him not to cry. .... This is all my fault... I couldn't wait until Levi got home... I'm a motherfucking whore and Lathe agrees... He thinks I am too.

Lathe moved his hand under Eren's, closing it. "Eren, you don't have to apologize to me for anything. It was my fault for assuming the worst, not trusting you wouldn't cheat, and telling Levi. I'm the one at fault." He reached to his back pocket, wiping away Eren's tears with his kerchief. "Please, don't think I'm mad at you. You don't need to scratch, or apologize. I understand. It's okay." He pulled Eren close, tucking his head under his chin. "It's okay."

Eren tried to swallow down his sobs, nodding. He gently pushed away from Lathe. "I need to go..." He turned without looking at Lathe again and ran up the stairs. Blake going nuts as soon as the door was opened. He lifted his arm to wipe away the tears that continued to fall down his cheeks. He ran from the top of the stairs towards his room, and the sound of the door slamming shut rang through the house. ... He still thinks I'm a whore... He's trying to hide it, but he still thinks I'm a whore... Eren drowned out the sound of Blake's whines, which quickly turned into frantic barks in front of the locked door. He fumbled around for his phone, finally locating it on the foot of his bed and calling Armin, continuing to scratch with each dial tone.

Lathe ran up the stairs after him, at Blake's heels as Eren slammed the door shut, jumping a bit in surprise as Blake barked after him. He never barks. Lathe turned, reaching for the key on the doorframe to his room, sliding the pin into the base of the knob and pushing it open, holding Blake back by his collar so he wouldn't rush Eren. He walked over to Eren on the bed, silent as he took hold of Eren's free hand to stop his scratching as he talked on the phone, letting Blake jump onto the bed and lick Eren's face. Just not the scratching.

Eren talked quietly with Armin as he sobbed. "Dad found out... We... We need to tell them... Cause Levi knows... And... And..." He paused as Armin spoke softly to him. He nodded after a few tense moments. "Okay..." Eren hug up, struggling to scratch at his wrists, he was close to opening them.
"They're coming to get us... We're not going to school." Eren sniffled, leaning back into Lathe's arms.

Lathe sat down on the edge of the bed, pulling Eren into his lap, keeping his hands away from his arms. "That's okay, I'll call in, tell the principal. I'll get you four excused from class. I'm not going to be able to do that every time though, you know." He carded a hand through Eren's hair. "Eren... I really don't want you scratching, and you're so close to opening them up... let me wrap them up for you. Please? Then I'll let you get dressed to go over." *I don't want you opening your arms while you're there..." You and Levi need to be back before dark at absolute latest, though. Is all that okay?"

Eren nodded, still never looking up to his eyes. "I know... Just this once please..." Eren's voice cracked for the lasts part of the sentence. He thinks I'm a whore, doesn't he? Eren's sobs starting to fade. Blake was trying to get his hands into his jaws, whining the whole time. "Can you get him outside... Please?" Eren asked, looking away from Blake and pulling his hands away from him. *No, Blake will tell him I want to cut... That's why he was barking at the door, he knew..."

Lathe nodded, shifting out from under Eren, taking Blake by the collar and walking him downstairs. He grabbed his medical bag, turning as he let go of Blake who started going right back up the stairs. "Blake. Heel." Lathe pet him as he sat down, leaving him downstairs and listening to him whimper as he walked back upstairs quickly, shutting and locking the door behind him so Blake wouldn't come back inside. He took fresh dark green wraps out of his bag, sitting down next to Eren and carefully putting the loop over his thumb, winding the wrap down his arm and pinning it in place, doing the same to his other arm with practiced ease before he pulled Eren back into his arms, pressing a kiss to his forehead, his temple. "It's going to be okay. I'll let you get dressed, okay? I'll tell Levi he needs to change." He stood, striding to the armoire and grabbing some of Levi's clothes, shutting the door behind him as he marched downstairs to inform Levi of their schedule.

Eren nodded, sniffling until his tears stopped. He's probably mad at me... I did the worst thing... I fuck everything up... Levi's gonna leave me for this... He knows... He thinks I cheated... He got dressed in a daze, not really looking anyone in the eye. He went downstairs, Blake instantly running up to him as he stood near the door, in a complete daze of thoughts.
Levi approached him after a minute, his pajamas in his hands, having changed in the downstairs bathroom. His expression was stoic, his voice even. Too even. "Eren, what's this thing about Erwin and Armin coming over to get us?" ... is this about you two cheating? Are you two going to apologize and explain why you two decided to cheat when you both swore to wait for us? I don't know how you two could run up to us yesterday and not feel anything... not look guilty in the slightest.

Eren barely acknowledged him, his eyes trained on the floor. Levi thinks I'm a whore... Everyone thinks I'm a whore... Everyone's gonna leave me... His shoulders slumped, as fresh tears sprouted and he struggled not to scratch, Blake going as far as to get his mouth around one of Eren's hands. He just stood there, crying quietly as they waited for the low hum of the truck coming into the driveway, and a few quick knocks on the door signaling that Armin had arrived to get them from the truck. Eren reached for the door and pried Blake off his hand. "Heel, Blake, be a good boy Blake." He sniffled, looking up finally to Armin with broken eyes, and completely breaking down in his arms. I fucked up... They're all gonna leave me.

Armin held onto Eren tightly, rubbing his back lightly, worry and sadness in his own eyes. Lathe's glares make sense now... He looked up to Levi over Eren's shoulder, at the hardness in his eyes. He looks really mad... shit. Armin looked away from him, gently pulling Eren along to the truck, opening the back door and helping him up, letting Eren curl up to him and wrapping his arms around him, finally letting out a ragged sob... please, don't let this ruin everything.

Levi walked out behind them and shut the door, hearing Lathe lock it behind him as he crossed over to the passenger's side door, sliding in next to Erwin. He stared ahead, his eyes cold as he thought. you cheated.

Erwin watched them clamber into the back, his eyebrow raised. What? His attention was stolen by Levi almost slamming the door as he got in the passenger seat. What the hell is Levi angry for? He's not even looking at Eren, much less acknowledging that he's crying. I need to know more about this. "Levi... Why?" Erwin looked over to him for a split second as he turned to back out of the driveway and to the street.

Eren was clinging to Armin as he curled up to him. His words were whispers into Armin's neck as he sobbed. I'm so sorry... I fucked everything up... I'm so sorry Armin. He sounded like a broken record as he cried.

You better not swerve and get us in a fucking wreck if I tell you right now. "They cheated." Levi's eyes stared straight ahead, though he watched out of the corner of his eye if Erwin reacted at all to it, in case he had to snatch the wheel. They fucking cheated. He ignored the sobs from the back of the truck.
Armin's grip on Eren tightened, sobbing into his shoulder. ...maybe they'll understand if we explain...? At this point... He looked up as they soon pulled into the driveway, swallowing hard as it really hit him what they had to do. I don't know if they will.

Erwin only nodded, silent as he held the wheel, driving them to his house, thanking his parents for getting early jobs. ... Well Armin wasn't kidding when he said we needed to talk... They got home only a little later and he parked the car in his driveway. "Alright, let's head inside." He killed the engine and led them all inside the large house.

Levi nodded, stepping down from the truck and trying not to slam the door too hard, not looking back as Armin and Eren clung to each other and trailed behind them trying to control their sobs. You two have a lot to answer for. He followed Erwin, kicking off his shoes before marching to his bedroom with him, sitting at one end of the bed with Erwin next to him, finally letting his eyes land on Armin and Eren. "Alright. Start talking." You better have a damn good explanation for this shit.

Eren eye's looked so broken as he looked up to meet Levi's glare for a few seconds. "It.... It's my fault... Don't blame Armin..." He tried to stand up straighter, as if he was trying to shield Armin. This isn't your fault... You don't need to bare the brunt of this.

Erwin quirked an eyebrow from where he sat. ... So Eren's taking the blame for whatever they did? What was it that they did? Cheating.... But.... Armin promised to wait for me, didn't Eren do the same? I think he did....

Armin hung onto Eren still, trying to force back tears, though his hand kept a white-knuckled grip on his shirt. "I-it's my fault, too... I can't let Eren take all the blame." I was involved... I agreed when I could have said no...

Levi looked between the two of them. They're both trying to take the blame for… what, exactly? "What did you two do?" I thought you both swore to wait for us. What happened to that, huh?

Eren shook his head. "Armin... No, I asked... I'm to blame. You were just helping me..." He told him and stood in front of him, shielding him from everything. "I asked Armin if he could help me... Levi, we hadn't done it in awhile... It was starting to hurt, and I didn't know why and I didn't know how to take care of it... And and... And... Armin taught me how to take care of myself... That's it... That's all we did." Eren told them, his whole body shaking as he sobbed. Well now they know... "I'm sorry, but... But... It was starting to hurt a lot... And I didn't know what to fucking do to make it stop " Eren brought a hand up to cover his face, still shielding Armin.
Levi was silent, a barely perceptible brush of pink over his cheeks as an image of Eren and Armin jerking each other's lengths flashed past his mind of it's own accord, suddenly speaking frankly after a moment. "That's pretty hot." ...damn. First off, I didn't know you didn't know how to take care of yourself, and that actually is a pretty good reason, even if it's not something best friends normally do, and second... damn.

Erwin listened, his pants tightening a bit at the thought of Armin jerking Eren off, nodding at Levi's statement. That would be fucking hot... Holy shit, but at least they didn't cheat. Where did Levi get the idea that they cheated on us? It seems what they did was purely educational... So it was harmless? Well... Now that this is cleared up and we're off for the whole day... I have an idea. "Alright, well since Eren so clearly announced what actually happened, Armin... Would you show us how exactly you taught Eren to take care of himself?" He smirked as he saw Eren's face instantly flushed, and his sobs stop from surprise.

Levi smirked, a predatory look in his eye as he studied Eren's expression, feeling his jeans tighten. I definitely wouldn't mind watching the show.

Armin sputtered for a second, his face flushing red to his ears. You're serious. Memory flashed in his mind without his consent, remembering the lust in Eren's eyes, the curve of his lips, his hands on his length... He felt his length twitch in his jeans, letting his hand slide around Eren's waist, pulling him closer and letting his other hand toy with the hem of his pants, looking him in the eye, his own shaded. If you're sure you'd like to watch... He grinned, purring in Eren's ear. "Want to give them a show, Eren?" I certainly don't mind.

Eren's eyes widened, his body shivering as he heard Armin's words near his ear. "Are... Are you sure?" He asked quietly, dipping his head down, giving Armin full view of his sultry gaze. I wouldn't mind... I kinda owe Levi at least that much. He swallowed hard, his hand moving to reach for Armin's crotch, feeling his bulge already there, his own length twitchin from the sensation. Holy shit... It's gonna be so hot with them watching us... Damn..

Armin let out a quiet moan as he felt Eren palm him through his jeans, tugging Eren to the end of the bed, opposite Levi and Erwin, though turning him and pushing him down, straddling him and unbuttoning the denim, giving Erwin and Levi a good view of his actions. He locked eyes with him, unable to tear away from those lust-filled orbs. His voice was low, his eyes only flitting away from Eren's for a split second to trace over his lips, soon caught again in his gaze. "I'm sure." He tugged Eren's jeans over his hips, palming his erection through his boxers.

Eren watched Armin's actions, letting himself be pushed down onto the mattress. He kept his gaze locked with Armin as he let out a soft moan from his actions. "Armin... You too." His hands reaching up, sliding down his body, coming to the hem of his shirt and slipping his hands under him to feel his warm skin. He let out a soft hiss as Armin traced a finger over his sensitive head, as the fabric rubbed on him. Fuck, this is hotter than last time... His lanky fingers made quick work Armin's jeans, rubbing his erection through his boxers as well. He was letting out soft moans every now and then, his gaze not even moving from Armin's as Levi and Erwin moved to get a better view of the two of them.

Armin groaned softly, his eyes never leaving Eren's as he finally trailed up to the hem of Eren's boxers, pulling them over his hips, letting his fingers splay across the tan skin and trace down to his length before letting one finger run up the underside of his already fully hard length, teasing him and rubbing over the slit before taking him in hand loosely, slowly beginning to pump him. He whimpered quietly as Eren's hands teased his length through the fabric of his boxers. My God, this is even better than when we first did it...

Eren let out a soft mewl of pleasure as his breath hitched. "Haaa... Armin..." Eren moaned out his name, his eyes darkening with even more lust as he moved his fingers to the hem of his boxers and moved them off of Armin's hips, teasingly slow, letting his length spring free of his cage. His hands moved to his asscheeks, moving to grab them gently at first, kneading them together, pressing down on his skin roughly as his fingers trailed to his hips, pulling him closer, so he was flush against his own thighs. You're skin's so soft Armin... He let out another loud moan as Armin toyed with his length, his thumb grazing over a certain spot. His right hand traced down from Armin's hip to his length, gently palming his length and fiddling with his balls. I didn't touch your balls last time... I wonder... Eren reached above his head to grab a few pillows to help prop himself up, so he could get a better angle to watch Armin work.

Erwin watched both of their actions. He reached down to relieve some of the pressure built up in his pants, so he unzipped his pants and pulled them down a bit so his own length wasn't restrained. ...Well this is certainly a good show. His eyes flickered over to Levi who sat beside him adjusting himself as well. And Levi's still really hard... Well, we could all get off like this. His hand reached to Palm himself slowly, waiting to turn his full attention to their boyfriends.

Armin moaned, his legs spreading a bit wider as he loomed over Eren, his free hand wandering under the hem of Eren's shirt, feeling the warm tan skin as he twisted his hand around Eren's length, his thumb playing with the slit of the head. It feels too good... He glanced up for barely a second, his eyes glazed over as he saw Erwin and Levi both palming themselves, watching their display hungrily. His eyes held a spark of pride as he returned his attention to Eren, blocking out their audience again as his free hand wandered further south, gently massaging Eren's balls, letting a finger brush over Eren's entrance, carefully gauging his reaction. ...would you let me...?

Eren whimpered from the teasing treatment, his eyes hooded, only to widened as he felt Armin poke at his sensitive entrance. "Armin... I... I want more." He moaned out, biting his lip after he did so, his hand loosely surrounding Armin's length and beginning to pump slowly down his length, varying the pressure every so often. Do it Armin... Tease me... It'll feel really good... fuck I want you to kiss me... Eren's left hand snaked up Armin's shirt, feeling around, and finally locating one of his perked nipples. He pinched and twisted the bud, his eyes glued to his face to watch his reaction. ...if you'll let me, the shirt is coming off.
Armin whimpered as Eren teased his nipple, feeling him roll the bud between his fingers. He watched Eren's silent plea for a kiss, moaning unabashed as Eren started to pump his shaft. I can't take it. Armin's hands left Eren for a split second, quickly lifting the shirt over his head and revealing his pale, soft, unmarked skin before he leaned down to kiss Eren greedily, his tongue swiping over his lips. His left hand returned to pumping Eren's shaft, breaking the kiss after a long minute and holding three fingers of his other hand up to Eren's mouth, looking him in the eyes as he quietly, lowly demanded "Suck." I want to make you feel good.

Eren looked a little breathless as Armin pulled back from the kiss. His hooded gaze moved for only a moment to Armin's fingers in front of his face, which flushed all the way to his ears a dark scarlet red in a matter of seconds. He leaned forward with an open mouth, taking in his three fingers with ease, suckling on them, his tongue rolling over them. His hand never stopped its motion around his length, squeezing and twisting, a finger glossing over the slit. His other hand occupied with abusing his nipples, flicking, pinching, and pulling at them to get Armin to moan. His body shuddered as his hand returned to his waiting length. Holy shit... It feels so good.

Levi watched with hooded eyes as Eren moaned under Armin, his own length painfully hard in his boxers. Holy fuck, that's hot. Levi forced down a moan as he palmed his length, soon deciding that wasn't enough and shifting to push his boxers over his hips, letting his shaft spring free and taking it loosely into his hand, pumping slowly and playing with the slit, his eyes glued to the erotic display in front of them. Oh my god...

Armin quietly groaned as he watched Eren suckle on his fingers, moaning in pleasure as he felt Eren's hands all over him, soon drawing his fingers back from Eren's mouth, coated with saliva. He shifted to kiss Eren fervently, his tongue again prodding at his lips asking for entrance as his hand drifted to Eren's entrance and traced the pucker with one finger, slowly pressing past the ring of muscle, feeling up the soft walls. You're so warm and soft, so tight... Damn.

Eren let out a gasp, his lips parting, and allowing Armin's tongue to enter his mouth. He whimpered as he felt his finger enter him and run around his walls, moving his hips down to get more of his finger in. His moans were silenced by Armin's lips over his own. Eren still abused his nipples but soon moved the hand to let them go and he started to focus completely on Armin's erection. A hand on his shaft, pumping slow, but steady, and his other on the head, teasing and poking at the slit. ...You should feel just as good as me.

Armin groaned into his mouth as his tongue mapped out the cool cavern, tangling their tongues together as he felt both of Eren's hands on his length, shuddering at the stimulation. So good... He pushed his finger in to the knuckle, waiting a moment before adding his second finger, thrusting slowly in and out of him, stretching him out and searching his walls for that bundle of nerves.
Eren moved his hips against every thrust of Armin's fingers, his body giving off an erotic look as it rolled to take in more. ... It's right... "There."
Eren pulled back from the kiss as he arched his back off the bed. Armin's fingers pressing directly onto the bundle of nerves, sending a jolt of pleasure through his entire being. "Haa... Armin... Don't tease... Me..."
Eren moaned out, his hands continuously pleasuring his length, feeling the precum start to drip between his fingers. It must feel good for him... That's fucking hot. Eren leaned his head forward, his temple resting on Armin's as he let out loud moans, a shril cry of ecstasy here and there as Armin teased his prostate. ... Fuck Armin... He could already feel his coil starting to tighten. I want my shirt off... I want it off now... He pulled his hands back from Armin for only a few seconds as he removed his shirt, showing off his hickey-ridden chest, tossing the shirt away before his hands returned to Armin's length.
"Armin... I won't be able too... For much longer." He warned with a cry as he was traded again.
And he's only got two fingers in... It feels really good...

Armin groaned, Eren's voice loud and arousing in his ear as his eyes raked down Eren's chest, noting the many, many hickies scattered over his chest. All Levi's... that won't do. Armin ducked his head down to suckle at the skin at the joint of his neck, a patch of unmarked skin turning red under his lips and teeth as he slowly added his third finger, thrusting deeply into Eren and aiming for that bundle of nerves, pressing at it and brushing over it relentlessly. His hand around Eren's length tightened, twisting his hand and toying with the slit. Then cum. I want to hear you.

Eren moaned a little more as his coil tightened, finally snapping as Eren almost screamed from the pleasure. His body convulsing from the pleasure of being touched. Eren's body went almost slack under Armin as he was marked more. He panted as he looked to Armin with lust filled eyes, his hands moving to his shoulders to push him down to the bed. Moving so that his face was only inches from Armin's length, and his breath warm against it. His hand continued to pump him, picking up the pace. "You too, Armin." His voice was seductive as he purred against his thigh.

Armin shuddered as Eren screamed in his ear in bliss, some of Eren's cum painting his chest and going lax under him as Eren flipped their positions, a shiver running up his spine as he felt Eren's breath against his shaft, moaning loudly as Eren's hand moved faster up and down his length. "E- Eren.... please ." Armin pleaded with him.

Eren's eyes held a hint of mischief to them, as he leaned his head down, giving a few teasing licks to Armin's length as his hand continued at a fast pace. "Cum for me Armin, cum for me..." He trailed off as he licked over his slit, his eyes begging for his release. I wanna see your face when you cum.

Armin let out a strangled cry in pleasure, his eyes not able to leave Eren's as his coil finally snapped, releasing over Eren's face. Oh my god ... Armin panted heavily, sitting up and gently pulling Eren's face up to his by his chin, his voice quiet. "Let me help you with that." He lapped up his seed from Eren's face, taking care to get every drop and not caring that it was himself he was tasting, before pulling Eren into another heated kiss, languid as he wrapped his arms around his neck, only remembering their audience as they broke away for air, looking over to the two of them.
"Enjoying the show?" He quirked an eyebrow at them. You two look rather flustered there, jerking off to our little display... so, I'd say yes, you are indeed.

At the sight of Armin climaxing, and his cry of pleasure, Eren's length twitched back to full hardness. He let Armin lick his face clean, kissing him back just as heatedly. Once they pulled apart he looked over to Levi and Erwin as they sat in some bean bag chairs in the middle of the room, watching the two of them on the bed. Eren moved away from Armin's touches, sinking down to the floor and crawling between Levi's legs, biting gently at his inner thighs before moving to take his whole length in one swift movement. ...Do you understand now? That I didn't cheat on you? That I'm not a whore? Eren sucked vigorously, even going as far as to deepthroat him.

Erwin watched Eren crawl off the bed, crawling over to Levi. He moved quickly, getting out of his jeans and getting on the bed with Armin. Moving to hurriedly kiss him passionately, his hard length poking against Armin's lower thigh because of the height difference. That was so fucking hot... Holy shit! ...

...that was the hottest damn thing I have ever seen. Levi's eyes widened a fraction as he watched Eren crawl over to him, groaning loudly as the heat of Eren's mouth enveloped his length, forcing his coil not to snap then and there. He brought his hands up to fist in Eren's hair, gently tugging and moaning as Eren's tongue flattened against the bottom of his length, as he suckled at the tip. *

Armin wrapped his arms immediately around Erwin's shoulders, feeling the muscles flex under his hands. and kissing him back with equal passion, grinding up against him, slowly getting hard again. "E-Erwin... Haa... P- please. J-Just take me already." Please... I want you. I need you bad and I want you more than anything right now...

Eren moaned onto his length as his hair was pulled. Levi... Fuck, we haven't done this in forever. He sucked as hard as he could, bobbing his head up and down as he did, going all the way to the tip, swirling his tongue around it before deep-throating him yet again and his nose touching Levi's abdomen. His body shuddered, his picked clenching from the loss of fingers, wanting to be filled again. ... Levi will you still...love me? Eren looked up to him with lust filled eyes, his erection twitching at the sound of Armin's moans. We're all gonna fuck right here aren't we?

Erwin nodded, reaching into the nightstand and pulling out their bottle of lube and pouring a decent amount on his fingers as he prepped Armin with practiced ease. "I can't wait any more Armin... So I hope your ready." Erwin's voice was deep beside his ear as he slowly leaned forward, pinning his arms above his head and thrusting his whole length into Armin's twitching hole in one fluid motion. He's fucking tight... Must be from all the excitement, God, his eyes look amazing ... He risked a glance over to the two at the bean bag chairs. They won't mind, they'll probably be fucking soon anyways...
Armin threw his head back, his eyes locking onto Erwin's as he pushed back onto his length, moaning loudly as Erwin thrust deeply into him, his toes curling. "E-Erwin... haa... h-harder, please..." I missed this so much... He tilted his head, better exposing the pale skin of his neck in silent invitation. Mark me. Make me yours.

Levi moaned softly, his fingers still threaded in Eren's brunette locks. If he keeps this up, I'm not going to last... Levi tugged Eren off of his length and flipped him onto his back on the beanbag chair, quickly reaching back onto the bed where Erwin had discarded the bottle of lube, pouring some into his hand and dropping the bottle. He leaned up next to Eren's ear, purring. "Do you know how hot the two of you looked?" He slipped himself up, lining himself up with Eren's entrance and suddenly thrusting deeply into him, starting a relentless pace. He sucked more bruises up the side of his neck, groaning lowly in pleasure, a possessive and absolutely predatory look in his eyes. I don't mind too much sharing you with Armin... but doing this... Levi thrust deeply, aiming for his prostate....this is mine.

Erwin watched Armin writhe under him with darkened eyes. Lowering his head to the crook of his neck, he licked the pale skin, gently before taking a good amount in and sucking on him, letting go after a minute, leaving a large mark on his neck. He hummed gently against his neck as he followed Armin's pleas, thrusting harder than he had and keeping up a brutal pace. "You're... Beautiful Armin" His deep, rich voice was a whisper against Armin's ear, his teeth gently grazing the shell and kissing it gently. So beautiful for me.

Eren let out a small shriek as Levi entered him forcefully. "Haaa... Levi... So good... Ha.... You're... You're not... Mad?" He moaned out his shaking legs moving to wrap around Levi's waist. ...I don't want you to leave me because of this... His hands coming up to to wrap around his shoulders scratching at them every time he cried out in bliss, his prostate being brutally nailed. Please don't be mad at me... I love you. "L-Levi!" Eren cried out at a particularly hard thrust to his prostate. ...*Fuck...I can't tell if It was pure pleasure or if it hurt enough for it to feel good... Holy fuck. *

Armin arched his back, moving his hips to meet every thrust, moaning as he felt Erwin mark his neck. His thrusts were hard, and with his touches light and his voice quiet, it was driving Armin insane. "E-Erwin... I can't... haa... much longer... s-so good... " Armin felt his coil tightening in the pit of his stomach, his length leaking precum in streams onto his chest.

Levi nibbled on the lobe of Eren's ear, his voice low and rough as he spoke. "No I'm not... that was the sexiest damn thing I've ever seen." His hands wandered over Eren's chest, his fingers splayed over his skin and trailing low, running over the insides of both his thighs. His head ducked down to suck hard at his adam's apple, feeling his coil tightening. My god... "So good..."
Erwin smirked and picked up his pace a bit, feeling the heat start to pool in his stomach. "Armin, I love you... You're so beautiful..." He praised, his fingers playing with one of his nipples, as he continued to kiss and suckle on the skin, leaving small marks, trailing down his collarbone. Beautiful... And Mine...

Eren screamed as rope after rope of cum landed on his chest. "Levi!" Eren's cry of bliss was followed by a soft moan, he tightened around Levi's length, his body growing limp under him in his post-orgasm bliss. ... Fuck... I don't think I'll be able to walk straight. Eren's hooded eyes locked onto Levi's steely ones. ... You're not mad... That's good.

"Erwin!" Armin cried out in bliss, Eren's cry and Erwin's praise and touches that left fire in their wake driving him to release, pearly cum decorating his chest. He fell limp under Erwin, letting him use his body, his walls tightening even further around his length. My god...

Levi groaned loudly into Eren's neck, shuddering as Eren cried out in his ear, thrusting deeply and releasing, his movements jerky as he dropped his head against Eren's shoulder, his hands coming up to cup his cheeks as he pulled out of Eren, lifting his head and bringing his lips close. "I love you." He breathed over his lips before kissing him passionately, his tongue snaking into his mouth and tangling with Eren's, his eyes sliding shut. I really fucking love you.

Erwin gave a few more frenzied thrusts, before biting down on his collarbone gently and cumming inside of Armin, filling him to the brink. He let out a loud moan as his body shuddered, panting once he was finished. He raised his head to gently peck Armin's cheeks, slowly trailing to his lips and claiming them. You feel perfect. He didn't pull out of him yet, happy to stay in Armin's warm and full hole. I filled you to the brink.

Eren's lips parted to let his tongue in, his own dancing along with Levi's. He groaned as he felt Levi fill him. That's a lot, and it's so warm... He whimpered a bit into Levi's kiss, wiggling his hips a bit, trying to get his attention. My body is so fucking sore. I need a break Levi or else I'm gonna pass out.

Armin's fingers gently threaded into his hair, whimpering into the kiss and relaxing in his arms, his eyes fluttering shut as they kissed lazily. You feel so warm... I feel so sore, and so full... I love it.

Levi pulled back from their kiss, his eyes shining as he looked into Eren's. He shifted to sit on the beanbag, pulling Eren gently into his lap, his arms wrapped around him protectively. Levi buried his nose into Eren's hair, content just to breathe in his scent, murmuring quietly. "I really love you." I really do. He looked up at the sound of Armin and Erwin kissing, remembering suddenly their company. ...now what?
Erwin pulled back a bit from their kids to breath, moving to sit up, pulling Armin with him so he was situated in his lap, his length still buried deep inside of him. He glanced over to Levi looking over to them. "Well, that was certainly interesting." He commented flatly, reaching up to tease Armin's nipples again. I could go for round two... But let's see what you think first... His eyes running over his facial expression, gauging his reaction.

Eren's body was stiff as he was pulled into Levi's lap, his length pushing a little further in and he let out a soft whimper as Levi moved under him. If either of us move... He'll rub up against my prostate... Shit... I'm still sore... Eren's hands moved to splay over Levi's chest, his head leaning against his shoulder. I'm tired too...

Armin shifted, his face scrunching a bit in discomfort as he pushed Erwin back a bit, weakly swatting his hand away. "N-no more... I can't..." He lifted himself off of Erwin's length, turning to look between Levi and Erwin with a devious smirk. Eren looks really worn out too... "Eren and I gave you two a show..." He stepped down from the bed, keeping his gait even as he moved to sit in the beanbag next to Eren and Levi's. "I think it's time the two of you return the favor." I want to watch.

Levi blushed lightly at the thought, looking up to Erwin, his eyes tracing over his defined muscles, his strong jaw... That could work. He smirked at Erwin, lifting Eren gently off his length and setting him in the beanbag chair, standing and striding over to the bed, lifting himself onto it and straddling Erwin's hips, purring into his ear, his hands lightly tracing down his chest. "What do you say, Erwin? Shall we?" He nipped at the spot under his ear lightly, beginning to nibble and suckle down his neck. Objections? He felt Erwin shiver under his touch. None?

Eren laid limply where he was placed, slowly starting to curl up to himself and whimper from losing what had filled him. He watched from where he was on the beanbag, trying to keep his hole shut so he didn't leak Levi's cum everywhere. I'm really tired, but this is already hot... Fuck. Eren couldn't turn his eyes away.

Erwin smirked, his large rough hands coming up to land on Levi's hips. "I think we could give them a show." He murmured, his deep voice soft near Levi's ear, his large hands moving to grab at Levi's ass as he was marked. Hmm... We just gonna rub each other, or is someone's ass gonna see fingers?

Levi's eyes sparked, leaving purpling bruises down Erwin's neck as one hand trailed further south, the other pushing him down onto his back. He let one finger teasingly trail up Erwin's length before loosely taking him into his hand, beginning to pump him agonizingly slowly. He let his other hand drift down to massage his balls, moving to kiss and lick and suckle on the other side of his neck, his collarbone. *How's this going to go? I have a feeling you're going to fight my being on Erwin hissed a bit at the soft touches Levi left on his length. Oh.. We're going for that game are we? He gripped Levi's asscheeks, spreading them wide apart, his finger teasing the pucker. "Levi." Erwin's deep voice rang as he called to get his full attention. I gotta get you under me… With his grip on Levi's ass he moved quickly to have Levi pinned under his body weight. "Should I?" He purred on Levi's collar bone, his teeth sinking in to an unmarked area, as his finger continued to poke at his twitching hole.

Levi shivered as he felt Erwin's finger trace his hole, his deep voice in his ear, his eyes widening as Erwin flipped him onto his back. I knew it… Levi stifled a moan as Erwin massaged his ass, his length hardening against his stomach as he moved back against Erwin's finger. His voice was quiet. "P-please." Levi leaned his head back, giving him all the room he could want to mark him. Go ahead.

Erwin smirked, his hand reaching for the lube and lubing up his fingers teasing his hole before thrusting a finger in, all the way in. Let's see how you take that. His other hand closed around Levi's length, shifting so he had better access to the two objects of his attention. So... Are you as vocal as Eren is? I think he trumps all of us…

Levi gasped, his hand tightening around Erwin's length as he felt his finger plunge inside of him, not easily able to focus on anything besides the feeling of his hand on his length and his finger up his soft walls. He let out a loud moan, blushing bright scarlet as he heard how loud he had suddenly become, trying to keep in his moans as he pushed back against Erwin's hand. "M-more, please... " He groaned as Erwin's thumb brushed over the slit of his head. My God…

Erwin was quick to comply, slowly thrusting in a second digit. "You like that Levi?" He asked, his Husky voice looking over him. You certainly look like you're enjoying it… He smirked as Levi clamped a hand around his length, letting out a loud moan, moving his hips to encourage Levi's hand to move.

Levi's eyes were clouded over with lust, his toes curling as Erwin pushed in a second finger,his hips moving down to meet his thrusts. He pumped Erwin's shaft, his pace speeding up and his hand twisting. He let his head fall back as his free hand reached up behind Erwin's neck and pulled him closer to him, a silent desperate plea for him to either attack his neck or Fucking kiss me already. "Nngh, Erwin, yes, please… my God, so good… " Levi let go, letting himself moan unabashed, his hooded eyes locked onto Erwin's. Fuck, it feels amazing…

Erwin let out a loud moan as he felt Levi's hand start to ravage his length. Holy fuck. He leaned his head down locking his lips over Levi's and swallowing his moans, his tongue forcing itself past Levi's lips into his mouth to explore his cavern. He worked in a third finger, curling them up against his inner walls and looking for his prostate. Come on, it can't be that hard to find... He continued to thrust his hips against Levi's hands to get even more of his actions. His own hands occupied pleasing Levi.

Levi curled their tongues together, moaning loudly into their kiss as he felt Erwin add a third finger, his hand roughly jerking Erwin's length. His eyes suddenly went wide and he broke their kiss, his back arching and letting out a strangled yelp as Erwin found his prostate, gasping for air. "T- there, right there, my god Erwin, please... " Levi pleaded with him, crashing their lips back together and taking advantage of his surprised gasp to force his own tongue into his mouth, tasting him greedily and mapping out his mouth.

Erwin let their tongues tangle with each other, his fingers continuing to abuse that coveted bundle of nerves. That's it Levi, cum, you know you want to... You can feel it. Erwin felt the heat start to pool in his stomach, Levi's hand working magic on his length. He glanced over at their boyfriends, who watched with wide eyes as they went at each other. A smirk formed on his lips as he pulled back to breath adding to the many marks on Levi's collarbone. So I guess Eren is into marking just as much as Levi is?

Levi broke their kiss, letting out a strangled scream of bliss as Erwin milked him dry, cum painting his chest as he panted, a thought suddenly occurring to him. He quickly squeezed the base of Erwin's shaft, preventing him from releasing as he flipped them over. I have an idea... He let his lips drift down Erwin's chest, breathing over the head of his impressive shaft. His hand was firm around the base, his other hand holding his hips down to the bed, preventing him from moving. He teasingly licked the slit at the head of his length, his eyes locking onto Erwin's. Let me make you feel good.

Erwin gave a soft chuckle as Levi flipped him over, his hand reaching down to tug at Levi's noir locks. Holding me so I can't cum... You cheeky little bastard. He moaned as he felt the heat on his length from his breath, and he let out a warbled cry as Levi teased his slit. Fuck... I won't last...

Levi suckled on his tip, taking in as much of his length as he could, flattening his tongue against the underside. He's not going to last long... I'll have mercy. He hummed, sending the vibrations down his length and pulling up, still teasingly licking his slit as his hand firmly and quickly pumped him, his eyes shaded as he looked to Erwin. Cum, then. I want to watch you fall apart.

Erwin's face contorted to one of bliss. His body arching, and his length pulsing as he fell apart. A loud moan escaping his lips as he covered Levi's hand and face with a rather large load. Fuck that was hot... I wonder where he learned to hum... That felt amazing. He leaned up to help clean Levi's face off, his eyes dark as he licked him clean just as Armin had done to Eren before.
Damn, you're so fucking hot... holy shit. Levi shifted forward and let him clean his face, soon lacing his fingers behind his neck and pulling him into one last kiss, tangling their tongues together before breaking away from him, panting and sitting back on his haunches, looking over to their audience. "Enjoy the show?" He smirked at their expressions, an all-over ache setting in. My god, that was great... and I feel so sore now... but it's a good ache, at least.

The day was a pretty good lazy day, we had curled up together on the large couch and went through a bunch of movies, Armin and I eventually venturing off to make some food before returning to it. I don’t really remember what time we got home, but Levi and I were home before sundown, like Lathe had asked, in much better spirits than we had been before. It felt like only seconds went by, but it was another three weeks... Levi and Erwin left again, Lathe had let Armin stay over again, but he only stayed one night before going back home to take care of his grandfather. We got to celebrate Halloween, which of course Lathe helped me with making a Undertale costume, Lathe dressed up as Sans while I was Asgore. We ended up stealing the show in our high school, which wasn’t surprising, we had spent hours on them to get my mind off a Levi being gone. He came back for another three weeks following that, only to leave again. Armin didn’t stay over, but him and his grandfather came over for Thanksgiving. It was lonely without Levi and Erwin there, but when there was a knock at the door, I was surprised to see that Nate had come with his girlfriend, Charlotte, along with Jeff, Spades arriving soon after. I was happy that there were a lot of people around to distract me from Levi’s absence, and believe me they tried their best.... But nothing ever really felt right... I was depressed. Blake knew, but he had calmed down since I was able to sleep by myself now, and I hadn’t had the need to cut at all for the past two months so he was pretty chill. Festivities were over before I realized it and people were leaving all over again, so I slept downstairs and cried myself to sleep that night, trying to convince myself that Levi would be home soon, but I knew that was hopeless. Two more weeks of school ensued, nothing really amazing happened, I got all my work done the first day of break, even when Lathe insisted I take a break... I couldn’t, I knew I couldn’t…. If I did I wouldn’t be able to hold my depression down. I wanted to spend every minute I could with Levi before he left. Levi’s last day home was Christmas... I was happy that we got to spend his birthday together, and let’s be real here, it ended up with me under him in the basement and I believe at least a blindfold and some fuzzy handcuffs... Anyways, Lathe got me a car! My own car! And it’s big enough that we can all legally fit inside of it! WOO! I was happy for only a few hours before I realized what I would be using it for when Levi left.... Absolutely nothing. And that hurt. He wasn’t around a lot, and it was starting to really get to me again, I kept eating, Lathe said I was eating him out of his house, which only made me feel worse… I was getting fat again, I shouldn’t be eating anymore… but I can’t stop, I always feel like I’m starving… It’s… I can’t feel full anymore… Levi returned after new year’s and we were thrust right back into school, only together for lunch... and that didn’t help much either. We were in that dreaded review mode all over again, so I would raid the fridge whenever I was studying, cause Levi always went to his own apartment to study for tests... What made it worse, was that I couldn’t sleep with him after... Our last exam... It was today... And Erwin and Levi left right after... I feel so useless, like he can just throw me away and not feel a fucking thing. I let him in... and he’s leaving me... I can’t help but think that everything that he’s told me has been a fucking lie this whole time. If he loved me why is he leaving me? It’s because I’m getting fat right? Levi pointed that out at the kitchen table before our review mode kicked in, and I felt horrible. I hate how I look, the fat goes right to my thighs and my stomach, I’ve become ugly... I fucked it all up didn’t I? So here I am... Crying in the upstairs bathroom, relapsing... horribly after my last midterm… Cutting across both of my thighs, multiple times over… I don’t care anymore… Maybe it will help me look better? I’m a scarred piece of shit anyways… and when I’m fat… it only makes everyone want to leave anyways. I can hear Blake whining on the other side of the door… but I’m not about to open it, nope I can’t… I’m useless, even Blake should know that… well It looks like he does, he left too.

Eren let out a shaky breath as he added red line after red line to both of his thighs, the blood dripping down his legs to the tile underneath him, already starting pool under his feet, yet he didn’t seem to notice.

Blake had been scratching at the door for minutes, leaving visible marks as he whined at the door. He paused to sniff around the door, trying to paw the locked door open, to no avail. His whines got louder as he smelled the faint trace of blood. His ears flattened as he raced downstairs to find Lathe in the kitchen, going up to him and jumping on him to get his attention.

Lathe looked down in surprise as Blake jumped onto him, setting down his mug. Shit. "Where is he?" Lathe stood, setting down his coffee mug and running after Blake as he went up the stairs to the bathroom door. His eyes widened at the obvious, long scratch marks at the door, a small pile of wood shavings scattered on the carpet…. Fuck it. Lathe turned and reached for the spare key above his door, using it to shove the tumbler aside in the knob and pushing open the door, dropping it on the ground with a clatter in shock. He froze, looking over the long, heavily bleeding cuts on the insides of Eren's thighs. …that's what Blake's been trying to tell me this entire time. Eren's been cutting. He reached forward and took hold of Eren's wrist, prying the razor from his hand. "Eren, what are you doing? I need to get you bandages. Stay put." Lathe let go of Eren, motioning with his hand for Blake to sit at attention at the door as a guard, running downstairs to find Lathe in the kitchen, going up to him and jumping on him to get his attention.

Blake started barking at Eren as he grabbed for another razor he had hidden in the bathroom, starting to slash at his thighs again, not even really paying attention as Blake tried to get his hand in his jaws, but he just pushed Blake away. His eyes were emotionless as he started to cross the lines, the blood flowing freely down his legs, the pool getting larger from those actions alone. Blake barked without reserve, trying to tell Lathe to hurry the hell up, cause he had gotten another razor. …I'm worthless... I'm something to throw away, I'm broken...

Lathe snatched his bag from the bottom of the stairs, stopping to grab red towels from the closet and racing back into the bathroom, carefully snatching the second razor out of his hands and throwing that one away as well, moving the trash can out of Eren's reach. "How many of those do you have? Eren, please stop, it's not worth it. It doesn't do anything, please. " Lathe set down his bag and went to run two towels under hot water, ringing them out and putting one under his feet to soak up the pooling blood, using the other to wipe up the red streaks running up his legs, carefully cleaning the cuts and holding one of Eren's wrists with his free hand, Blake holding onto the other as he worked. He reached into his bag for gauze, pressing it carefully against the cuts to staunch the bleeding, letting go of Eren's wrist to grab a roll of bandages. He lifted Eren's now-clean foot to rest on his leg as he knelt in front of him, so he could slide the bandages under his leg and begin to quickly wrap his right leg, soon doing the same for his left. ...Why? It doesn't do you any good... All it does is cause you more pain... He slid plenty of pins into place, leaning up to pull Eren into a tight hug, burying his head into his shoulder, trying not to sob. You need to stop... I know it hurts for Levi to be gone but you can't cope by doing that...

Eren put his hands on Lathe's chest pushing him away, his state still blank. "Why.... He's just gonna leave me... He doesn't care... He's throwing me away... He's not here anymore.... Why... Why does he have to throw me away? Am I useless? Have I really gained that much in the past two months... Am I a nuisance?" Eren's eyes still emotionless and his tone cold as he ranted about everything that set him over the edge. Why can't I cut? It helps clear my head... It's so foggy... He pulled his hand away from Blake and started to scratch his own wrists again, opening up the lines he had made only a few minutes before he had started on his thighs... Why can't I? He's leaving me... He's throwing me away....

Lathe immediately grabbed his hands, trying to catch his eyes. "Eren, I don't know how else to say it without sounding like a broken record, the same explanation. Levi loves you so damn much and it's the most adorable thing I've ever seen, and you can tell in the way he looks at you, in the way he kisses you and hugs you all the time just because he can and in the way he holds onto you right before he leaves because he's going to miss you so much and in that instant after he shuts the door he already knows he will. Him leaving does not, by any means, mean that he thinks you're just something to play with and throw away. He has something he feels called to do, but the fact that he comes back home every time and that the first thing he does is find you means that he still cares so much about you. Cutting yourself is just going to bring you more pain... it doesn't bring Levi back, and it doesn't make the heartache go away. You need to stop. I..." Lathe swallowed hard, tears welling in his eyes. "I just want you to believe that, and... and be okay." His voice cracked, looking away and busying himself with cleaning and wrapping Eren's arms to his elbows, sliding more pins in place and pulling Eren close once again, switching places with him to pull him into his lap, nestling his head into his shoulder and trying to control his sobs. ...you can't do this to yourself... you can't.

Eren just sat there, his eyes still emotionless. "Lathe.... I'm sorry..." He murmured, his voice cold, and almost heartless as he leaned back into his arms with a blank stare. ...I just can't help but think that's what really is going on... I can't... Not after what he did to me... Eren just started to break down, tears starting to finally fall from his face as he grabbed onto Lathe's sleeve, holding it in a white-knuckled grasp. "...I don't know what to do... I can't... I... I don't feel full anymore... And I... It's been harder to enjoy anything anymore... Even when Levi's here..." He told him honestly. His head nestled under Lathe's chin as he curled up to him.

Lathe held onto Eren tightly, trying to get his emotions back under control and think. .....it's stress eating, and he can't enjoy anything, and he's cutting... depression. I think I can get you something for that... Lathe carded a hand through Eren's hair, pressing a kiss to his temple and speaking slowly, quietly. "Here, I think I know what might help. I think I know what's wrong." He reached over with his foot and hooked the strap of his bag, pulling it up without letting go of Eren and fishing through the many many small bottles, finally pulling one out with an orange label. He skinned the back. It's still really early in the day... yeah, we can start him now, see if anything happens. He opened it and poured one into his hand, capping the tiny bottle and pressing the pill into Eren's hand, reaching over to fill a glass on the counter with water from the tap. "Come on Eren, down the hatch. It'll make you feel better after a little while." It should.

Eren looked to the small pill with broken eyes, lifting his hand to his mouth and swallowing it. He's trying to fix it... Maybe he can... But. You're too afraid ask you little shit? Why didn't you just cut your wrist and be done with it?... I... I can't do that... Yes you can! Why haven't you!? Eren could almost see the little devil version of himself talk on his left shoulder. Why do I have to listen to you?... Because I'm always right, and you fucking know it. Eren just hung his head in utter brokenness.

Lathe handed him the glass, helping him lift it to drink before setting it back on the counter once it was empty. I have to find all those razors and get rid of them. He pressed a gentle kiss to the top of his head, resting his cheek on his hair. But I need Blake for that to help me, and I don't want you out of my sight. Lathe kept one hand firmly wrapped around his waist as his other fished in his pocket for his phone, pressing one of the keys to speed-dial Spades, holding the phone to his ear as she picked up one ring later. [Spades, we have a very serious situation.] The french flowed easily from his tongue, not wanting Eren to know what he was saying to whom. [I caught Eren cutting, and I need to sweep the house with Blake and find any razors he has around the house, because I know they're hidden around. Could you... come keep an eye on him for me? I don't want to let him out of my sight but if you're busy I totally get it...] A pause, and Lathe sighed in relief. [Oh my god, thank you so much... alright, see you soon them. Bye.] Lathe ended the call, stowing his phone away and returning his arm to hold Eren's middle. "Eren, Spades will be here in a little bit to say hi... I just want to let you know before she gets here. She'll make sure you're occupied... she'll help take care of you. She adores you... and she wants you to be okay.

Eren swallowed as he held onto Lathe nodding slowly. His eyes were dull, sitting in Lathe's lap in completely silence, picking his head up as he heard the front door swing open, and close loudly right after. Levi? Eren's eyes widened and he rushed out of Lathe's hands and started for the stairs, racing down them stopping by the door, only to see Spades... The smile on his face fading as his shoulders slumped. His eyes returned to their dull color, and his eyes trained down to the ground as he tried not to cry. Why would you expect him to come home? You honestly think he loves you? Nope, that's a lie. The voice in Eren's head rang loudly. He stumbled a bit, his body feeling numb as he walked into the piano room and curled up on the large bean bag. Because you're a fat, worthless, seductive piece of shit.

Spades immediately set down the bag she was holding, quickly crossing the room towards Eren and kneeling down next to him, pulling him into her arms. ...He thought I was Levi, didn't he. He misses him so much, it's all he wants... for him to come home. Her voice was soft as she spoke. "Eren, hon, it's okay. Come on, look at me. It's all alright. I've got you." *Please don't be so miserable... being miserable never did anyone any good..."
Lathe let Eren go, standing and leaning over the banister to look as Spades went to comfort him. She'll take care of him. He looked over to the bag she brought with, recognizing a movie case inside of it. I knew there was a reason you came to mind first. He took hold of Blake's collar, bringing him back upstairs with him, cleaning the bathroom and holding up a razor for Blake to see, tapping it. "Find these." He started his sweep, searching everywhere Blake led him to and throwing out every razor he showed him. There's so many... He tried not to break down as the number of razors in the wastebasket he took with grew, though tears still fell when he found the blades that had dried blood on them.

Eren just laid there, letting her hold him, not really refusing her as he was moved around. He didn't protest at all. I thought it was him... How could I be so stupid...

Blake whined once they got to Eren's room, he started pawing at five different drawers... And finally at his closet he clawed at the wooden door, wanting Lathe to open it...

Spades shifted to pick Eren up, carrying him into the scripting room, stopping on the way to also pick up her bag, laying Eren on the couch and brushing the hair from his eyes. She picked up one of the movies from her bag, setting it in the DVD player and picking up the remote, moving back to the couch. "If you need me to get you anything you tell me, okay?" She sat down and shifted so Eren's head rested in her lap on a thin pillow, pulling a blanket over them and starting the movie, running her fingers through his hair gently. I just want you to feel better...

Lathe pulled out each of the five drawers before he forgot which ones they were, turning his attention to the closet as Blake scratched at it, opening it and going to rifle through the bag that Blake pawed at, taking out a small metal kit full of razors and a towel for stifling any sounds of pain... has he been taking this thing to school? That's horrible... Lathe pitched the entire thing, closing the closet and going through the drawers for every last sharp blade he found. He followed Blake down the stairs, hearing the sounds of Harry Potter playing in the scripting room. That'll keep him occupied for a while... He followed Blake into the bathroom, finding too many blades hidden in too many niches, some in spots he didn't even know they could fit. He trailed after Blake lastly to the basement, quietly walking to the door with him and sparing a look to the couch. Eren was half-asleep, and Spades had since shifted until he was practically laying on top of her, herself looking sleepy as she still threaded her fingers through his hair, the movie quiet background noise. He smiled weakly to her, gratefulness apparent in his eyes. He watched as she sent him a tired smile, soon returning her attention to Eren, petting the spot behind his ear and murmuring soothingly into his ear. She's got him. He turned to the basement door, opening it and flicking on the lights, closing it quietly behind him and padding down the steps, waiting for Blake's lead.

Blake went up a few of the stairs and started to paw at the corner of the rug, looking back to Lathe, his ears perked, waiting for him to come and grab the ones under the rug on the stairs. He whined, smelling the blood that was dried onto the blades hidden away. There were at least ten there under the rug.
Lathe quirked an eyebrow, walking up the stairs and lifting the end of the carpeting, swallowing hard as he picked up the blood-stained razors laying flat on the wood. ...and to think I've walked down these stairs a thousand times… He looked up to Blake as he took the last one, following him around the basement and retrieving the many blades scattered around, despair growing in his eyes as he saw the number in the bottom of the wastebasket grow. He watched as Blake led him to one of the art shelves, pawing at a box in the back with no label. I don't remember having a box like that back there… Lathe moved the boxes in front aside and removed the box, opening it. The package for the razors was inside, only three left. ...It says there were a hundred in this thing... damn. Lathe moved the box to the table, counting every last razor from the wastebasket…. five of them are missing . Shit. Where would they be? Blake's done leading me around... where would he have them? School, maybe? Or he could have thrown them out... I dunno. But we have to find them. Lathe went to one of the shelves and retrieved a large piece of very heavy paper, placing all the razors on it and folding it over, duct-taping it all over and heading back upstairs with it, petting Blake. He slowly opened the door, seeing Eren asleep on top of Spades, his expression troubled as she gently ran her fingers through his hair. He went outside to throw the package away in the dumpster, returning the wastebasket to it's place upstairs and coming back down, standing at the foot of the stairs with suddenly no idea of what to do with himself. He sat on the bottom stair, burying his face in his hands and letting Blake lick at his hands, trying to get his attention. He simply sat there and pet Blake, his head on his hand as he thought.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe hasn’t let me out of his sight… He thinks I’ll try to do it again, and he’s completely right… but what he doesn’t know is that I still have five…. I brought one home with me in February… He found it right away after Blake barked at him, and he’s taken the door off of my room and the recording room so I can’t hide anymore. He’s also jammed the lock on the bathroom door so I can’t hide. Levi came back… I couldn’t look at him for a week, and Lathe didn’t want me to leave his sight still, so I slept in his room, just as I had been for a long time. February went by quickly, and it seemed in the blink of an eye he was leaving yet again… What do you say when the one you love is gone for long periods of time, only to come back later, then to leave again? I don’t understand how Lathe can say goodbye without batting an eye. But when it was my turn… he had to pry me off with Erwin’s help, I don’t think I cried so much in one day before. I didn’t want to see him leave. Lathe tried everything to keep me happy, and when his hopes looked like they were crushed, he changed my pills, they don’t do a damn thing, but I’ve become a good enough actor for Lathe not to notice that my smiles a completely fake one. Levi bought it just as quickly when he came home. It’s March now… Lathe’s birthday passed, we had a fun time at the park and then went out to a good dinner. I feel like the days don’t last long enough.... I mean, he already left again… My birthday was today, and I couldn’t even bring myself to step away from the window at all. How could he miss my birthday? Well, he doesn’t love you that’s why! ...There it is. That little monster that continues to fester inside of me, and it just continues to grow. I can’t stop it… I’ve tried… but I find out everything he says is right… It hurts. It really fucking hurts, and I’ve made the mistake of bringing home three more razors, which of course Lathe found. So now I’m down to one, and I can’t fucking get to it, I left it at school today. I figured Levi might surprise me for my birthday, but I was wrong… and he was right yet again.

Eren slowly slipped out of Lathe’s grasp, making sure not to wake him up as he tip-toed down the stairs, arriving in the kitchen in a matter of a few silent seconds. He looked up to the clock. ...It’s four in the morning... I should be able to drink it all... Eren silently moved the chair and boosted himself up to the tallest cabinet, opening it silently and digging into the back, pulling out the bottle of Crown Royal. He closed the door to the cabinet and silently put the chair back, taking the whole bottle with him. It's a little less than half... I should be okay, it's not straight up vodka... and it's not the whole bottle. Eren padded without a sound to his beanbag chair, unscrewing the cap and taking a long swig straight from the bottle. It burns... But it's a good burn. He curled up in the plush chair, drowning out the monster inside without a second thought.

Lathe stirred two hours later, feeling the now-familiar warmth next to him gone. He squinted at the clock across the room. It's too damn early for him to be getting up for school. His eyes widened. ...given that school isn't till Monday. He kicked off the quilt, quickly descending the steps downstairs and turning to the piano room. His eyes widened as he saw Eren on the beanbag, curled around the empty bottle of whiskey. ...for once in my damn life I'm glad Levi and I... well, mostly me... drank more than half of that. He'd have drunk the whole damn thing! ...There's no way he's going to be coherent. Lathe slowly approached him, acting in a submissive manner. I have no clue how he acts when he's drunk. Hopefully he doesn't get violent. His voice was quiet, slowly kneeling next to Eren. "Hey Eren, what are you doing up so early?" Don't provoke him. Just play it cool.

Eren's head turned over towards Lathe, his eyes dilated, showing just how drunk he actually was. But the amazing thing was that he was completely coherent, and his voice even as he spoke. "I couldn't fall asleep." He mumbled moving the bottle and lifting it again to try and get the last drop, even though it was already empty and had been for quite some time. My body feels numb... good. Eren still hugged the empty glass bottle to his chest, refusing to let go of it.

He's coherent... that's surprising. But that doesn't change the fact that half a bottle of 80-proof whiskey will get you incredibly drunk. Lathe slowly reached forward an open hand for the bottle. "Eren, there's nothing left in that bottle. Give it to me, won't you?" Lathe's fingers had barely touched the neck of the bottle as he spoke. "Eren, there's nothing left in that bottle. Give it to me, won't you?" Lathe's fingers had barely touched the neck of the bottle as he spoke.

Eren growled at him and pulled it away. "No!... Mine!" He tried to move away, rolling off the beanbag with a soft thump to the floor. He whimpered, struggling to coordinate his body enough to flip over to push himself up. "It's mine!" Eren's voice was childish but the anger was clearly present. It's mine, you can't take it!

Lathe recoiled a bit, not knowing how to deal with Eren's anger. Shit. "Eren, it's empty, it's not doing you any good. If you really want to hold onto it, okay... Here, let me help you." Lathe bent down next to him, taking careful hold of Eren, trying to help and lift him onto his feet.

Eren hissed at him, his free hand moving to try and pry his arms off of him. "No! Let... Me... Go! I can do it myself..." Eren whined, his arm trying to weakly push Lathe away but he couldn't do much with the way he was struggling to even balance himself. Don't touch me! I can do it myself! I can fucking do it! Don't baby me! That's all you fucking do! Eren didn't realize that he had actually said all those things out loud, his hands starting to ball into fists.

Lathe let Eren go, taking a small step back, trying to steel himself and taking a deep breath. ...He's drunk... He's not thinking straight... Or is he? He's coherent... do I really baby him? ...maybe I do... Stop thinking that, he's drunk! Take it with a grain or ten of salt. Lathe eyed his fists warily, raising his hands in surrender, ready to catch Eren as he swayed on his feet. But look at me, ready to catch him the instant he stumbles... am I really that overbearing and protective? "Eren, come on, please sit down..."

Eren shook his head, immediately regretting the decision as it sent him stumbling to the floor, the bottle surprisingly not breaking when it hit the floor, forgotten for now. He growled harshly, swatting away Lathe's hands as he got up. “Why do you need to be so overprotective of me! I don’t want you to be over my shoulder every fucking second of every fucking day! Why can’t you just let me be!? I want to be alone dammit! You took my fucking door off of my room! I can’t do anything anymore without you knowing! This house is too fuckin quiet for me to even try to think about anything…. I HATE IT!” Eren shouted, stumbling forward, pushing Lathe away as he came close to him. His whole body swayed dangerously from side to side as he stumbled towards the bathroom, slamming the door shut and beginning to riffle through all the spots he had hidden his razors. ...Goddammit! Did he fucking take all of them? Eren flung the door open and stormed back into the piano room, anger pouring off of him. “LATHE! You fucking took all of my razors! I can’t fucking cut until Monday! What the fuck is wrong with you!? You just had to take the only thing I had as a fucking security anymore and throw it away? Do you even realize how overbearing you are? You keep taking things away from me! I can’t do anything on my own anymore! You don’t fucking trust me anymore!” Eren’s words were laced with anger. “You won’t even let me lift a fucking finger around here! You literally do everything! Is it that you don’t trust me enough to do anything to your standards?? Is that what you think? Cause that’s what it fucking feels like. I don’t want to be babied and have everything handed to me! No! I don’t want to pity me! But you obviously can’t even fucking realize how much I hate it! You can’t even notice that the new pills you gave me haven’t done jack shit! You don’t understand me at all, Lathe! Yet you pretend that you can and do everything in your power to try and belittle me! The music you write… Do you write it to try and keep my range as small as possible? You know I have a fucking massive range! I hate that you write it like that! I can’t take it anymore! You don’t understand ANYTHING!” Eren roared at him, getting closer and closer to him with every point he made until he was only a foot away from Lathe, looking like he could murder anyone in a second.

Lathe swallowed hard, his eyes glassy with unshed tears as he raised his hand, one palm up asking for forgiveness. His voice was small and shaky as he spoke after a moment, careful not to speak over him and make him even more furious. "E-Eren... I-I'm really sorry... p-please don't be mad..." "He hates me. Doesn't he. He's completely right.... I'm so overbearing and overprotective and I baby him so much... but... I don't want to believe that... but... you look like you're ready to kill me... I... Lathe let out a shuddery breath, his voice breaking. "E-Eren, I..." "I'm sorry I misread you... I don't deserve to be your father......"
Eren’s eyes turned murderous as he watched him cry. "You can't fucking apologize for that!" He shouted, smacking his hand away, grabbing at Lathe's shirt with his left hand while his right came up... It found it's place... Lathe's nose broke with a sickening crack and the force only an adrenaline-filled punch could contain. Eren pushed him down to the ground and backed away. "I hate you!" He screamed moving surprisingly fast towards the door, managing to slip his boots on, grab his keys and remember his coat before slamming the door shut behind him as he walked out, the hum of his Kia Sorento fading as he drove away, in which direction Lathe had no way of knowing. I need to get away from him...

Lathe crumpled to the floor in misery and shock, his face contorted in pain as he heard the car drive away. ...the two minute rule, Lathe. You can't break down yet... Eren's furious, and drunk, and driving. Lathe brought a hand up, tenderly prodding at his nose. ...it's busted. First things first. Lathe heaved himself to his feet, taking his medical bag from the banister and moving to the bathroom, getting out bandages and setting them aside, resting his fingers on his nose and mentally bracing for the pain. He deftly set his nose, swearing loudly as it set in place and streams of blood dripped to his chin, stuffing it with gauze and bandaging it in place. He stumbled upstairs for his phone, leaving the mess behind as he walked to his room, mistyping Spades' number three times before holding it to his ear, his misery obvious in his voice. His voice was tiny when she picked up. "S-Spades?"

Spades picked up as soon as she read the caller. ... It's 6:15 in the morning, I gotta get to work... She paused, taking a deep breath, noticing the absolute misery in his tone, her eyes widened and she stopped in her tracks. "Lathe? Lathe, what's wrong?" Why do you sound so... Eren.... Don't tell me he relapsed...

Lathe swallowed hard, trying. to keep his voice even. "E-Eren found the w-whiskey I had hi-hidden... he got really m-mad at me and s-stormed out, and he's driving on h-half a bottle of it. I d-don't want him getting h-hurt or h-hurting someone else..." ...mad is the understatement of the century... he broke my nose, and if everything he said is...... I deserved it......

"He what!?" Spades was put the door in a second and moving to get into her car, thankful she had it outfitted with sirens and lights. Did I hear him right? Eren drank half a bottle of whiskey... And is trying to drive?? "Hold on Lathe. I'll be right there okay, you need to stay calm, alright?? She hung up, throwing the phone in the passenger seat as she got in and peeled out of her driveway taking off at a high rate of speed towards Lathe's house.

Lathe held the phone to his ear until it beeped at him loudly, finally tapping to end the call with his thumb and dropping it, not caring as he stumbled back down the stairs, staring at the glass bottle on the ground. He picked it up, moving as if on autopilot to the kitchen, the letters of the label blurry... ......I deserved it. He crumpled to the floor, clinging to the bottle as he broke down, tears streaming down his face as he curled into himself, not hearing the pounding on the front door, or it opening.
Levi finally got the door open, his eyes full of worry. Did I miss him? I wanted to wake him up. He stopped in his tracks when he heard sobs coming from the kitchen. He walked through the piano room, coming into the kitchen and seeing Lathe in the corner clutching an empty bottle of whiskey. "Lathe? What's wrong? Where's Eren?" He asked his voice growing worried as he stepped up to kneel by Lathe, hearing him mumbling something, but not understanding any of it. What the hell is he talking about? His eyes widened when he heard the blaring sirens come closer to the house. What happened? Where the hell is Eren? His questions were unanswered as he heard someone pull into the driveway and the sirens immediately stopping, Spades running into the house not a moment later.

Spades rushed towards the sounds of sobbing, stopping for a second when she saw Levi in his digital camo gear kneeling by Lathe. "Levi... You're back?" She questioned knowing he wasn't supposed to be back for more than a few days considering it was break. She turned her head towards Lathe as he rambled on, curling up closer to himself. She kneeled in front of him, finally getting a good look at the damage Eren had done. "Lathe... I'm here, Levi's here, you need to tell us what happened... How did Eren find the bottle?" She asked softly, reaching to grab his free hand. I need you to calm down for me, I need to know everything, we need to find him, and find him soon.

Lathe's eyes locked onto her as she grabbed his hand, not noticing Levi or completely registering what she had said as he struggled to breathe evenly, trying to speak clearly, his words heavily accented to the point that they were nearly impossible to understand. "H-he was h-hiding razors around the h-house in the places you'd n-never l-look... h-he must've found it like t-that." His knuckles were white as he gripped her hand, suddenly looking over to Levi as he really recognized his presence for the first time. ......I was absolute shit to your boyfriend... you're gonna want to kill me too... Lathe scrambled back from Levi, clutching the bottle tightly and letting go of Spades, fear obvious in his voice and eyes as he struggled to speak clearly. "I-I'm sorry Levi, don't be mad at me, I d-didn't know I was doing such a b-bad j-job... I-I'll do b-better, I swear! Don't hurt me!" Tears fell down his face as he backed into the corner of the kitchen, sounding like a broken record as he apologized over and over.

Spades watched him move away from Levi in fear. Well, this is gonna be fun... Okay, Levi, Sorry, but you gotta leave... I need someone who can actually understand what the hell it is he's saying... Spades reached into his pocket pulling out his phone and grabbing Levi before he could get closer to him. "Call Casper, tell him we need him here now, it's vital." She practically pushed him out of the room. "He's afraid of you, I'm gonna try and calm him down, but stay out of the room unless absolutely necessary... Eren ran... He's driving drunk I believe but I need to be sure. Work with me." Her voice was low so Lathe wouldn't be able to hear her. She slowly approached Lathe to seem as nonthreatening as possible. "Lathe... It's okay, take a deep breath, I need you to calm down." She held her arms out, as if she were waiting for a hug. Come on, you need to calm the fuck down now.

Levi nodded, heading towards the door as he found Casper in Spades' contacts. He pushed it and waited for Casper to pick up. "Casper?" His voice a bit broken as he spoke. Eren ran away? What happened? Why would he run?
Lathe shook as he pressed against the wall, sobbing as he watched Levi leave the room. His attention snapped back to Spades, and he watched as she lifted her arms to him. He stared at them, slowly shifting forward and setting down the glass bottle, wrapping his arms around her and burying his face into her neck, his hold on her tight as he fell apart. "I'm a terrible father... I couldn't even figure out what Eren wanted, even when everything I did he hated... I've been breathing down his neck this entire time and I never thought that maybe he needed space... I deserved to have my nose broken... I've done such a shitty job of taking care of him..."

Spades pulled him close, rubbing reassuring circles into his back, cooing to him softly in reassurance. "Lathe, it's gonna be alright... You don't need to cry we'll find him." She told him softly. Trying to rock him slightly from the awkward position they acquired on the floor of the kitchen floor. I can't understand a word you're saying, and I need to... How the fuck did you break your nose? Don't tell me Eren did it while he was drunk? Oh no.... I don't know how you'd take that.... What else did Eren say that's making you break down like this?

Casper was still in bed when his phone rang, and he planned to ignore it until he recognized the ringtone. He reached blindly for it on the end table and finally pressed answer. He froze in rubbing the sleep out of his eyes as he recognized the broken voice on the other end, any sarcastic remark about waking him up dying on his tongue. What? You're definitely not Lathe... "Um, who is this and why are you calling from Lathe's phone?"

"Casper it's Levi, I'm Eren's boyfriend, I need you to come- we need you to come to Lathe's house, now. We can't understand a word he's saying and Spades is trying to calm him down now. We need to find Eren before he gets into an accident, we need all the information we can get, please, get over here." Levi's voice pleaded from the other end.

"Casper, come on! We need to hurry up! Eren is drunk and driving!"

So you're Levi... Fuck, if he's talking in korean it must be bad. Casper kicked off the covers, fully alert. Spades is there too? My god, what happened? "Hang tight, Levi, I'll be there as soon as I possibly can. Seven minutes. I'll see what I can do then." Casper ended the call to change and grab his backpack, snatching his keys and trying not to drive like a maniac with worry, parking next to Spades and hopping out, running to the door and knocking once before coming in, dropping his bag and kicking off his shoes as he walked to the kitchen, dropping to his knees next to Lathe, who had moved to Spades' lap, quietly sobbing and muttering in korean. =Hey Lathe, it's okay. Spades and I are here, and we're gonna make sure Eren's safe and everything turns out okay.= ...why would Eren get in an accident driving? How are you so sure? He glanced over, seeing the empty whiskey bottle abandoned on the floor. ...that's how.

Lathe looked up as he brushed the hair from his face, tears streaming down his face. He stuttered as he spoke, his arms still tightly wound around Spades. =B-but you don't know where he is, a-and he’s driving drunk and he’s gonna get hit and… =Killed. =I-I just want him t-to be okay so… H-he can come home a-and we can fix everything he was m-mad about a-and I can t-tell him…= Lathe dropped his head, his shoulders shaking violently. =...I don't w-want the l-last thing he told m-me to be that he… That he h- hates me… = I need you to come home so I can tell you I love you…

Spades was distracted by her phone going off, immediately recognizing the ring tone. “Lathe, I’m gonna get up it’s Dave.” She slowly got Lathe to let go of her and stood picking up the phone call from her partner. “What you got for me?” She asked, trying to steel herself for the worst possible outcome.

“There was a fatal car crash 15 miles from where you are right now”

Eren. “Are you at the crash scene now?”

“Yes, car heading southbound crossed the double yellow line and crashed head on with a semi… The driver side of the car was partially ripped from the rest of the it and flattened, the driver didn’t survive.”

… No, that can’t be Eren…. Spades leaned against the counter, putting the phone on speaker, as she set it down and swallowing hard. Both her hands moved to clutch the counter’s edge, tears trying not to fall from her face. “Dave… What’s the make and model?”

“It’s a black Kia Sorento… Last year’s model…”

…That’s Eren’s car. She put her head in her hands and took in a shuddery breath.No… He can’t be dead… He can’t be… Spades looked over to Lathe where he was clinging to Casper and sobbing uncontrollably.

Lathe was inconsolable, his entire body shaking as he clung to Casper, sobbing into his shoulder. He tried to speak, overcome with grief and misery. =H-he c-an't be... H-he can't... T-that can't be h-him... H-he... He was supposed to... He can't b-be d-d- dead ...= For an instant, Lathe's expression became one of rage, shouting, his voice furious and broken. =HE CAN'T BE DEAD!*= Lathe shuddered violently, his eyes screwed shut as he cried into Casper’s shoulder. He can’t be dead... He was supposed to graduate... He was supposed to write songs and be happy and maybe... He swallowed hard. But he can’t... He was supposed to live and instead... He's gone and the last thing he ever said to me is that he hates me and... I didn't even say anything when he left... if I knew he would have left and this would have happened I... I'd have at least said goodbye... told him how much I love him... and I can't.
Spades shook her head, picking the phone back up, turning speaker off. "Where are you, Dave? I'm coming." She waited for only a moment before she hung up again. "Lathe, I'll call you when I find out more okay?" She asked quietly, leaning down to kiss his mop of hair before she picked up her keys, going out to the door. "Levi, I'll call you too once I know something... I'm- I'm sorry." She spoke quietly before going to the door and leaving in her car, the sirens blaring into silence. He can't be dead. No, I can't let that happen to Lathe twice.... She sped off towards the scene of the horrible accident.

Levi's eyes were downcast, walking across the room to sit down against the wall beside Lathe and Casper. "I'm sorry, Lathe, I didn't get home in time...." Levi's eyes were like a dull storm, and his face completely blank, not knowing what to think. Eren's dead? He's gone? Why... Why couldn't I have gotten here earlier.... I wish I was earlier, maybe we wouldn't be in this mess... He was supposed to graduate, he was supposed to be with me after.... No... he can't be....

Lathe sniffled, slowly shaking his head as he let go of Casper, sitting back against the wall. His eyes were faraway as he spoke quietly, his voice rough as he forced himself back to English. "...no, Levi, it's not your fault. Please, don't think that. Never think that." Lathe reached for his hand, rubbing his thumb over his knuckles as he tried to speak. "L-Levi, I.." His voice broke, staring hard at their hands, not knowing what to say. He's... He's really... I couldn't keep him safe... I swore I'd keep him safe and he went to drive away drunk and I fucking let him... He... He was... Lathe looked up to Levi, swallowing hard. He was supposed to... to...

Levi only nodded, understanding in the silence between them. "...I didn't get here in time." His voice emotionless as he leaned over his head in Lathe's shoulder staring blankly at the floor.
Chapter 24: All the Wrong Things That Form The Perfect Relationships: Part 2

It was an hour before Lathe's phone started to ring. Spades on the other end, tapping anxiously on her steering wheel as she waited for Lathe to answer, a small smile on her face.

Lathe heard his phone ringing upstairs, none of them having moved for the past hour, silent. He squeezed Levi's hand, his voice quiet. "That's Spades. I have to get that." He let go of Levi, heaving himself off the floor and mechanically walking to his room, picking his phone up from the floor and pressing answer, slowly walking back downstairs. "S-Spades... Please, don't tell me..." Lathe's hand shook, setting the phone on speaker as he sat back down against the wall of the kitchen, setting down his phone and gripping Levi's hand tightly, staring at his phone as if to will Spades to tell him it wasn't Eren, he wasn't dead, he was alive... Somewhere, alive...

"It wasn't Eren, this isn't his car, it took a bit to piece together the registration with only half of a license plate... sorry, but we still haven't found him, there are a bunch of road blocks around the county and the surrounding counties on the main roads. We'll find him Lathe, I promise." She told him, feeling a heavy weight lift off of her chest as she spoke. He's not dead... He's alive, he has to be, this wasn't his car.

Lathe buried his face in his hand as a few tears fell down his face, shaking as he sighed in relief. ...he's not dead. "...oh my god... thank you, Spades." Thank you for doing so much to find him... For getting to us so soon... He's still okay... But we're not out of the clear yet... "Are y-you coming back, or are you n-needed out there?" I want Eren found so I can tell him everything... but at the same time, you have a job... but I really need you here too...

"Yeah, I'm gonna keep looking for him and checking up on a bunch of other things. Okay, I gotta go, but I just wanted you to know that it wasn't him... He's still alive, that we know of right now." She smiled softly, hanging up and setting her phone down before starting to drive to the station and call a bunch of districts to see if they had pulled anything up from their road blocks. Where are you, Eren? Please tell me you're not in a ditch somewhere in the middle of farmland... I need to find you, you need to be alive.

Levi let out a shuddered sigh of relief, a soft smile forming on his face. "Thank god... He's alive..." Levi finally let the tear fall, sobbing quietly, trying to pull himself together. "He's alive... but... he's still driving isn't he?" He asked quietly after the line cut out. He's still in danger... He could still get into a crash.

Eren kept his eyes on the road in front of him. I... I need to get away from him... He's gonna be mad at me... I yelled at him, and I didn't mean to. It all just came out. He kept his grip on the wheel, driving a bit slower than he normally would out of precaution, his head surprisingly clear to an extent. He was getting away, far away, already three counties away from Lathe's home, the road blocks starting to become less frequent as he learned to take the side streets. I can't let them find me... Lathe would be pissed if I got caught driving as drunk as I am... Eren turned down a road, regretting the decision immediately as he saw more cop cars. Fuck... just act normal, they're not ready yet. Eren was almost to make it past the roadblock before it had been formed, and continued towards the open fields. Well, traffic certainly isn't a problem out here. He picked up the speed a bit to get farther away, hating that he had to waste that much gas going in circles in side streets to avoid the cops. His head grew a bit fuzzy as a loud noise sounded within the car, wincing from the high pitch it had. Fuck... What the hell was that? I'm out of fucking gas!? Wait... I thought I filled it last night?.... shit no I didn't people came over, and I couldn't. He looked around, nothing but fields for miles on end, the road barren, not a car in sight. Well, looks like I'm stuck here for a bit.... I can clear my head a bit more I guess. Eren sighed quietly, slowing the car down as it ran out of the last bits of gasoline. He ended up on the side of the road, far far away from any help at all. He slowly got out of the car, sitting down against the front wheel, curling up to himself to cry. I shouldn't have yelled at him... It all came out without me thinking about it.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe could do little more than pace around the house with his head in his hands, jumping every time Spades' phone rang and nearly becoming consumed with worry only for it to be a false alarm every time. Casper eventually steered him to the piano to occupy his mind, rifling through all the sheet music he had and handing him stacks to play, though he played many of them too fast or too slow, missing a few notes and skipping whole lines, his fingers stumbling over the keys until Casper stopped him, letting him go back to pacing as much as he wanted, his hands tangled in his dark locks. It's been more than five hours and they haven't found him yet... He's still alive... He must be, he can't not be... He... He can't... He nearly jumped out of his skin as Spades' phone rang, watching with fear flickering in his eyes as she picked up the phone, answering it.

Spades reached into her pocket, her brow furrowing from the caller ID on her phone. Why the hell is Deerhead calling me? That stations two hours away.... Don't tell me Eren actually drove all the way out there? She answered the phone. "Hello, this is Commissioner Spade, to whom am I speaking too?" She kept her voice strictly professional during the call. Unless there's been problem with the highway again?

"This is Greg Dunham, the Sheriff in Deerhead. I'm calling concerning the call you've sent out earlier today."

"Eren? But Deerhead is more than 2 hours away from here, and he's severely intoxicated...."

"I wouldn't say intoxicated, he's irritable, and won't let anyone come near him. He was found half an hour ago, by a farmer, his car's out of gas, and in need of a tow, but he hasn't moved from beside his car."

"Are you sure it's him?" Her voice sounding even more hopeful as she moved to the kitchen to grab her car keys.

"Yes, one of my troopers ran his plates, and he fits the image associated with the owner's license. It's a Black Kia Sorento... Last Years model I believe? License plate number: TITAN104."

It's HIM! " Was he in any accidents? Is he injured? Is the car damaged?" Her voice was frantic trying to get as much information as possible. I need to know that he's not hurt!

"No, the car doesn't appear to have any damage, and the teen is fairly aware of his surroundings, and he's coherent, no signs of pain... One of my troopers is staying with him right now, making sure he's alright and to keep him from running."

"Don't let him leave, I'm coming to get him now!" She told the man on the other end, quickly going towards the door. "Lathe, I'm going to go get him, he's okay but we won't be back for awhile, maybe around 5, distract yourself... please, make some dinner for him, he's probably starving..." She went up to hug him, a happy smile on her face.

Lathe was stunned for an instant as she hugged him, recognition flitting past his eyes. He's okay. Lathe pulses her into a crushing hug, his head dropping against her shoulder, thanking her over and over, tears of relief falling down his face. He's okay!! Lathe pulled back from her, smiling widely, his eyes shining with gratitude as he nodded. "Okay, I will." He let her go, allowing her to run to the door, hearing the sirens fade into the distance after a moment. He looked to the kitchen after a moment, his brow furrowed.

It's too early to make food now... I'll make pasta in a bit. His face suddenly fell, losing himself to his thoughts. Is he still going to be that mad at me? If he was clear-minded enough to drive that far and not get killed... Was he clear-minded when he was yelling at me earlier? ...does that mean he still hates me? Lathe buried his face in his hands, trying to force down a sob, his mind violently rejecting the thought. He... he hates me... he hates me...... He hates me. Lathe's shoulders shook, unable to keep his emotions under control as his mind spun in circles.

Levi came right up to him and hugged him around his waist, crying right along with him, but for a completely different reason. "He's coming home Lathe! He's coming home! He's okay! " Levi cried happily at his statements, Spades closing the door behind her as she left. "What should we make for dinner? Should we make some pasta, I'll be happy to help...." He trailed off, realizing Lathe didn't have a happy expression on his face. No... why are you crying and not happy? Why can't you be happy? It's Eren! He's coming back home... "Lathe? Do you want to talk about it?" He asked softly, his arms still tightly wrapped around Lathe's waist.
Lathe struggled to speak clearly, his voice trembling. "I-if Eren w-was clear-m-minded enough to get that far without getting h-hurt... He must've been clear-m-minded enough t-to know what he w-was saying earlier... that he h-hated m-me... that I'm too overbearing and overprotective and that I refuse to let him do anything around here and he hates all of that and maybe he's right... M-maybe he really m-meant it... H-he h-hates m-me..." Lathe's knees threatened to give out under him, tears streaming anew down his face. He's coming home... And he's still going to hate me... I... He can't ...

Levi's eyes darkened a bit. No... Eren would never say that intentionally. "Lathe, Eren doesn't hate you... He can't, it's impossible for him to, he loves you, a lot, he calls you his Dad doesn't he? He could never hate you.... He drank almost 25 ounces of Crown, there's no way in hell that he was clear minded.... I doubt he'll be angry at you when he comes home, and you have to believe me on that, he doesn't hate you, I think the liquor was talking for him, not himself." Levi told him, feeling more of Lathe's weight on his body and starting to slowly guide him to the couch. Nope, you're not gonna be on the floor again, I need to you sit down and be calm, you need to be okay for Eren... cause Eren's probably gonna come back crying into your arms.

~~~~~~~~~~

Eren was curled up to himself, his back still against the front wheel, a man in a uniform sitting beside him. At least this one isn't as talkative as the last one... I don't want to talk to anyone... I wanna go home... I wanna apologize to Dad, I shouldn't've said any of that. Eren keeps his head on his knees, staring at the gravel surrounding him, his black jacket wrapped tightly around him. I'm surprised this guy hasn't tried to offer me food... The last guy wouldn't stop... He kept telling me I need to eat something, but I can't do that... I can't! What I did was horrible! I should've never left... Dad'll probably be really angry at me for doing everything... I think I might've broken his nose, shit... I don't want him to hit me...

Spades drove with the sirens on all the way out to Deerhead County upon checking in with the station, hearing Eren wasn't about to move from his spot next to the car. It's a damn good thing he's okay... If Lathe lost you, I swear he might have never smiled again... She turned off the sirens as she saw the number of police cars ahead, parking the cruiser and getting out, walking up past rows of policemen and weaving her way to the Sorento. She nodded to the officer next to Eren, cuing him to leave and slowly approaching him, a small smile on her face. "Eren?" She knelt down next to him, resting a gentle hand on his shoulder. "Eren, it's me, Spades. I'm here to get you home." Lathe's worried sick... and the first thing you're doing when you get home besides get glomped by Lathe and Levi is eat.

Eren looked up to her, his eyes shaded with regret and misery, slowly nodding, his gaze returning back to the gravel beside him. His lips slowly moving. "Is he..." He coughed, shivering from the end of March chill. "Is Dad mad?" He asked, looking back up to Spades, his eyes completely broken. *Please say he isn't... I don't want him to be mad at me... I didn't mean what I said! Eren sniffled, trying to hold back his tears from the mere thought of Lathe hating him. Lifting a frozen hand out of his pocket to wipe away the tear. He sat back a bit, uncurling a little bit from himself, and shivering as he did so. I've been sitting out here... Since 9 I think.... And it's 2:30... I think? He swallowed, his eyes puffy from sobbing for a majority of the five hours he sat outside in the cold.

Spades shook her head, giving him a small smile. "He's not mad, Eren. He's been worried to death that something might have happened to you while you were driving. ...speaking of which, wait here." She stood and returned to her cruiser quickly to retrieve a breathalyser, bringing it back and holding the mouthpiece close to Eren. "Eren, can you just blow into this for me?" She read the small screen as he did, giving it time to calculate BAC, and her eyes went wide. You're completely sober. But it's not like Lathe would lie about how much you drank... How the hell... "...well, technically since you're completely sober right now, I can't do anything about you driving under the influence..." She brushed some of the hair from Eren's face, suddenly realising how cold he was. "Eren, hon, you're freezing! Here, let's get you in the cruiser and heated up. I'll call a tow truck to get your car, and then I'll take you home, okay? You have a worried boyfriend and a very worried father waiting for you." For Lathe, grief-stricken is more like it. Let's not keep them waiting much longer. You and Lathe need to talk...

He's worried?... He's not mad at me? Eren let out a small sigh of relief, finally standing up, stumbling on his feet for a bit, trying to regain his balance from sitting in the cold for so long. His whole body felt like it was frozen, and his shoulders shuddered violently as he coughed. I feel like shit... He reached out with a frozen hand, touching her cheek, in silent greeting before leaning into her, almost his full weight as he shivered and coughed from the cold. He smiled softly as he leaned into her body, happy for her warmth. You're warm... It feels good...

He hadn't really looked to see just how many troopers had come to stay here and watched their exchange, some of them with their jaws agape. None of them had even gotten a single word out of Eren, let alone actually got him to get up and abandon his car. The poor kid had refused all jackets and food too, and he had to be freezing sitting in the cold air for more than five hours.

Spades shifted his weight around to pick him up, cradling him close as she carried him to her cruiser, his cold forehead resting against the warm skin of her neck. She strode past the rows of stunned officers, one of them opening the door to her cruiser for her as she set Eren inside gently, quickly grabbing a blanket from the trunk and tucking it around him, shutting the door. She turned and dismissed the multitudes of officers, moving to the driver's seat of be cruiser and immediately turning on the heat. She first called for towtruck, looking over to Eren as she hung up. She reached over to card a hand through his hair, speaking quietly. "We're not going home right away Eren, I need to bring you to the station first, okay? Then we can go home." That breathalyser's got to be broken. She drew back as he nodded, silent for a moment before her tone became angry. "... why did you drink so much? And then even think to try driving? We thought you'd get yourself killed! " Her features immediately softened, leaning over to hug him, rubbing his arm with her thumb. "...but you're okay now, and that's what matters. You had us scared half to death..." She heaved a heavy sigh, letting him go. "But you're okay. Right now... You're okay. But, really... Why?" She started to drive them home after the truck appeared, keeping her eyes on the road.

Eren slowly looked over, curling up in the blanket, coughing horribly for a few moments, his eyes widened a bit when Spades yelled at him for those slim three seconds, his eyes downcast as he tried to swallow the lump in his throat. "I... Levi wasn't home.... And he promised me he would be...." Eren's voice was hoarse, struggling to say more than a few words before a coughing fit ensued. Levi promised... And he's not home. His eyes stayed glued to the floor, simply broken. I want him to be home... But he won't be... He sniffled, trying not to cry, but more than a few tears escaping, his numb hands finally starting to warm up.
Spades sighed, glancing over to him. "Didn't you hear me earlier Eren? Levi came home minutes after you left. He and Lathe are home and worried sick right now about you. He kept his promise." He's waiting for you.

He's home?...He kept his promise?... Eren's eyes closed slowly, as he curled in on himself, starting to sob. I can't believe I did that.... Why did I react like that right away? I did it without thinking...They probably thought I died... I fucked up. Eren sobbed quietly, curled up in the passenger seat, swaddled in a large blanket, finally getting some warmth around him.

Spades reached over to pet his arm, though she soon just had to keep her hands on the wheel, albeit reluctantly. When his sobs started to wane, she spoke. Alright, I hope you're up for questions. "Eren, the breathalyser came up completely clean, and I've had that thing for years and it's never acted up. How much did you drink?"

Eren let out a shuddery breath. "Umm.... Half a bottle.... Of Crown..." Eren told her, his voice quiet, a coughing fit ensuing after his sentence. I drank the rest of it.... It worked only for a little bit...

Spades was quiet, thinking. That's what Lathe told me... Then either my breathalyzer is busted or you're stone-cold sober, and I don't know whether or not you are. "...Eren, why did you get into Lathe's whiskey like that? Half a bottle is too much... For anyone."

"It hurt... And I... I couldn't. I couldn't cut, Dad took away my razors... And I didn't know what I... I didn't know what to do anymore.... I just... I wanted to feel numb again," Eren told her softly, trying not to sob anymore. I wanted to get away from it. It was yelling at me, I wanted it to go away.

Spades looked over to him, her voice soft. "I know you must have heard this so many times, but I'll say it again... Cutting and drinking to feel numb doesn't make the pain go away. It just hurts your body, and then the pain feels so much worse when it's been gone and comes back again. It's all in your head... and you can't outrun it. I would have done the same thing Lathe did. I wouldn't be able to stand seeing you mutilate your body. You're supposed to respect yourself... I'd have thought Lathe would have told you that. I can't tell you exactly how to cope... But if it's about Levi being gone so much... I think it would help to know that he's going to be fighting tooth and nail the entire time to come home to you. He really loves you... And he's not going to leave you without a plan to come home." He loves you so much... And I can tell he wants nothing more than to be there for you, and to make you happy...

Respect... That's what Dad always says...

You can't listen to him, he tells lies. He's leaving you.

No! He...H-he can't!

You're damn right he's leaving you.

I don't want him to leave me though!

But he is, that's what people do, they leave.

No, he can't leave me!
But he does, and he is!

No!

Yes!

"No! I don't want to listen to you anymore!" Eren shouted, covering his ears, and started sobbing all over again. I don't want to listen to him!

... Ha! You can't get rid of me!

"Get out of my head!" His fingers grabbing at his hair. "Get out of my head... I don't want to listen to you anymore!" Eren sobbed.

You don't want to listen to me? Well news flash! I'm you! Dumbass!

"No! You're not me!"

Yes I am!

"No, you always say Levi's leaving me!"

He is!

"He's not and you fucking know it!"

What are you talking about?

"I have nothing to worry about!"

Y-yes... Yes you do...

"NO! I don't!"

Eren cried softly, curling up to himself, sighing quietly as silence ensued thereafter. He just continued to sob, happy that the voice had finally shut up.

Spades was silent as he struggled with his thoughts. *...he and his internal monologue don't sound like they're friends. ...but he's getting there, if he's as sure about Levi coming back as he sounds. Spades sent him a worried look, relaxing as she spotted a tiny smile of his face. He'll figure out how to cope. I'll get him and Lathe to talk if they don't open up on their own, which I doubt I'll have to. Maybe a small change of pace at home is what he needs. Spades looked over as she heard him start to sniffle, seeing his nose was still red and his cheeks held a pink tint. "You okay, Eren? There are tissues in the glove box if you need them." He looks like he's coming down with something... "You feeling under the weather at all?"

Eren nodded, a shaking hand reaching out to the glove box and pulling out all the tissues, starting to go through bunch of them. "Yeah... I feel like shit... I'm sorry, Mom." Eren murmured quietly, picking up another tissue and trying to blow his running nose. My whole body hurts.... He curled up tighter as a coughing fit started, lasting for a whole minute, his body shuddering. I feel horrible.... mentally and physically.
...did he just... Spades looked over to him, smiling warmly. She spoke quietly, her voice light. "It's okay, Eren. Sitting outside in the cold that long would do that to you." She looked back to the road, her mind wandering a bit. If he called me Mom, and Lathe is his Dad...... huh. Y'know... Memories she had of Lathe started to flit by in her head, his humor and kindness, optimism and compassion, his honesty and natural charm... Eyes to get lost in and a warm, real smile every time he saw her... Spades lazily grinned. ...that's not too bad an idea, actually... I wonder if he'd be interested...?

Spades was quiet for the rest of the drive to the station, music faintly playing in the background as Eren lightly dozed in the passenger seat, her thoughts rather consumed by a certain noirette. ...how the hell has it not occurred to me before? She parked in front and shut off the car, gently reaching over to wake Eren. "We're at the station, hon. We just need to double-check your BAC, it's just a quick blood test. Nothing to worry about, okay?" She gave him a soft, reassuring smile. "In and out, and then we'll be home in ten minutes."

Eren jolted awake, his body becoming rigid after a moment. Shit, I feel like complete Shit .... He nodded, slowly starting to untangle from his blanket, shivering as he stepped out into the cold air. Fuck, it's freezing . Eren tried to take in a deep breath, a coughing fit was the result. He curled up over himself, trying not to throw up with every cough. Fuck.... my head's starting to hurt too... Eren swayed to lean on the car, trying to regain himself after coughing horribly yet again. "Mom... It hurts." He whimpered to her as he looked over to Spades, on the other side of the car. He looked like an over sized 5 year old, whining while he was stuck in bed with the flu. My chest hurts.... everything hurts.... I'm starving....

Spades was on the other side of the car in an instant, retrieving the blanket from the passenger seat and wrapping it around Eren's shoulders, carefully manoeuvring to scoop him off his feet. She held him close, her voice soothing. "I know it hurts right now, but we need to get this over with and then you'll be home, and we'll get some dinner in you and Lathe will help with whatever it is you caught and fix you up good as new. Just stay calm for me, just breathe. It'll be done in no more than five minutes, I swear it." She murmured to him, carrying him to the front doors of the station where officers in the lobby held open the doors. She went down one of the halls after nodding to them and the people at the front desk, entering a smaller room and gently setting Eren down in a chair, retrieving a small needle and vial. She took gentle hold of Eren's arm, cleaning the area at his elbow with an alcohol wipe. "Just one small vial. It's okay. It's not much." Spades picked up the needle and had a small vial drawn before Eren had realised it, labelling it and handing it to a passing lab tech in the hall. She came right back to Eren, brushing the hair from his face. "Home sound good?" She lifted him from the chair as he nodded, bringing him back to the cruiser and setting him inside. She turned the heat on again as she slid in, starting the short drive home. It was barely ten minutes before Spades shut off the car in Lathe's driveway, looking over to Eren. "You ready, Eren?" You're going to get glomped the instant you set foot in there.

I hope he's not mad.... I really hope he isn't. He swallowed hard, nodding as he got out, still wrapped up in the blanket tightly. He followed Spades to the door, watching with wide eyes as she opened the door, and stepped in with her, the house smelling of homemade pasta. ... Dad made Pasta... I'm hungry. Eren slowly took his shoes off, Blake instantly coming up to him and whimpering and whining, as if yelling at Eren for leaving without him.

Lathe turned from his place at the stove next to Levi, his attention shifting from the pot of thin sauce to the door, his gaze locking onto Eren's. He swallowed hard as they all went absolutely silent, setting down the spoon he was holding and slowly stepping around the table, his eyes worried and relieved with a tiny flicker of fear passing by them, and he stopped a few feet from Eren, tentatively holding his arms out to Eren. His voice was tiny as he spoke, breaking after a moment as tears welled in his eyes. "E-Eren, I..." I was worried you wouldn't come home...
Eren ran right up to Lathe, his cold limbs latching onto him, his body starting to shake as he sobbed violently. "I'm so sorry... I'm so sorry, Dad." Eren cried and clung onto his shirt as he cried, burying his face into Lathe's chest. Even though he had been in the warmth of a car for a long time he was still freezing. "I'm so sorry, Dad.... I didn't mean any of what I said. I don't want you to be mad at me for this."

Eren continued to repeat that phrase like a broken record as he clung to Lathe, his knees starting to weakly give out from under him, a coughing fit soon following as he leaned more of his weight onto Lathe.

Lathe was stunned, his eyes becoming glassy as he wrapped his arms tightly around Eren, one hand holding the back of his head as he started to break down, feeling Eren leaning on him and slowly lowering them both to the floor, Eren in his lap as he sobbed into his shoulder. "E-Eren, I... I though t-that... s-something happened and... and I w-was so w-worried, I..." "I was so scared that maybe you were dead... "I-I'm sorry... W-we can fix w-whatever it is y-you think n-needs fixing... Just l-let me know w-what I can d-do to m-make this better... T-Tell me. I can change." Anything Eren just shook his head, clinging to Lathe as much as his weak grip would allow for, he continued to cry uncontrollably. "N-no... It was...was my fault.... I didn't -" Eren was cut off again as a much longer coughing fit raked through his entire being. Eren whimpered as he curled up into Lathe's strong arms, sobbing, trying not to talk and risk another coughing fit. He slowly let go go his grasp moving his hand, palm up, for Lathe to forgive him. Eren stared at him with pleading eyes. Please forgive me... I went too far, and I don't know what I would do if you didn't..."

Lathe immediately brushed his hand down Eren's palm twice before cradling him again to his chest, pressing kisses to the top of his head, his temple, his voice worried. "You sound so sick... Are you okay? Did you get hurt?" Lathe shook his head to clear it, trying to sound less frantic. "J-just point to where it hurts if you can't speak. Or sign it. Help me help you, please..." Lathe pulled back, giving Eren room to use his arms.

Eren shook his head, leaning his body against Lathe's chest as his body shook again in another long coughing fit. It hurts... Eren kept a hand on his chest as he continued to cough, sounding like he was about the throw up any second. Why do I feel like shit? I was fine before... I can't even get warm. Eren lifted an icy hand up to Lathe's cheek, to try and get him to understand just how cold he was. I'm freezing, and I can't fucking breathe without coughing immediately.

Lathe's eyes widened, his hand coming up to hold Eren's, feeling his fingers like ice against his skin. "My god, did you get hypothermia? How long were you outside to get that cold? We need to warn you up." He brought a hand to Eren's forehead, not as cold as the rest of him. "And you're going to have one hell of a fever after you stop feeling like a popsicle." He pecked Eren's forehead. "Do you feel well enough to eat anything? I can get you something for that cough, and any nausea that might be with it. But we need to get something in you food-wise, you haven't eaten really for 24 hours." Lathe looked as his medical bag was suddenly set next to him quietly, sending Spades a grateful look as he returned his attention to Eren, fishing for aspirin and cough medicine along with a small water bottle. He handed two small white tablets to him with the water bottle, pressing them into his palm. "You know the drill Eren, down the hatch. And then..." He poured a small capful of cough syrup, handing it to him after the pills went down. "This too." I promise it doesn't taste awful, and it'll make your throat feel much better."
Eren nodded, struggling not to cough and actually ingest all the medicine that Lathe was giving him. His eyes were starting to close. I'm exhausted too... Fuck, Dad, you're warm. "Since... Nine..."
Eren whispered quietly, snuggling his head into Lathe's chest, his body shivering in his hold. He managed to actually take all the medication and stay awake while Lathe continued to hold his cold body. I feel frozen.... It's so weird.

Spades looked to Eren, shivering in Lathe's arms. "I got there at 2:30ish, and the chief at Deerhead said that he hadn't eaten at all, and he wouldn't move from his spot, or accept a blanket at all.... He was out there for a long time." Lathe's probably right, it's too cold for someone to stay outside for long periods of time right now. He probably does have hypothermia... Shit, I should've called to make sure he was put in a cruiser, at least for warmth.

Since 9... Until 2:30?! It's way too damn cold out for that! Lathe thought for a moment, keeping Eren close and trying to warm him up. "How about, then, we get some pasta in you, and then get you straight upstairs into bed and do everything we can to get you warm, okay? I'm not going to let you go an entire day without food. And if you don't think you can eat, if you're too tired, a vitamin at least should be sort-of okay until tomorrow. It's up to you, Eren." You look ready to fall asleep right here... I don't know if you can stay awake long enough for food or not.

....I want food. I'm starving... I didn’t eat much dinner last night... “…food…” Eren whimpered curling up to Lathe, trying to keep himself awake. I want food, I’m hungry.... I want pasta.... Eren’s body started to quake as he went through another large coughing fit.

Lathe nodded, shifting his feet under him and scooping Eren up. He carried him to the kitchen table and hooked his chair with his foot, setting Eren at the table and pressing another kiss to his forehead. "Alright, food's ready. I'm guessing you want a big plate?" Lathe smiled as he nodded, his hand sliding from his shoulders as he went to help Levi serve everyone, an extra chair having been brought up from the basement.

Casper thanked him as he was handed a plate, and as Lathe turned back to get a plate for Spades, he didn't see him purposefully take Lathe's usual place at the head of the table, nodding Levi towards the spot across from Eren. He looked to Spades and winked, grinning. Come on, it's way overdue. I want this damn ship to sail.

Eren watched as Spades sat down next to him, he smiled even though he was starting to sweat, his fever finally coming into full force from all the blankets wrapped around his body. "...Mom... I... I can't..." Eren started another coughing fit, weakly curling up to himself, his whole body felt like lead. I don't think I can move.

Spades looked over, sitting beside him and moving her chair closer to him, "It's okay, Eren, I'll help you eat, don't worry." ... You said it again... Not that I have any problems with it. She had a soft smile on her face as she helped Eren eat his pasta, smiling as he slowly ate forkful after forkful, his head a little to the side, almost leaning on her.

Lathe looked over to Eren as he spoke, his eyes widening a fraction. Mom? He calls her Mom now? ...that would mean... Lathe blushed a bright crimson, his eyes focused determinedly on his plate and flickering with a hundred different emotions. No, that's not realistic, she'd never be interested... Would she be? She's done so much for Eren and I... She hasn't ever hesitated to be there for us... No way... ...way...? Would she? I mean, I'm just kinda... Lathe... And she's Spades... Brilliant, and strong, practical and kind, generous... Really pretty... Wait. What.

Levi looked up to Casper as he snickered, quirking an eyebrow at his amused expression. ...Now what? Is this about Eren calling Spades Mom? She definitely acts like it enough. He watched as Casper met his inquiring gaze, motioning a bit for him to look over. He turned to look at Lathe, whose entire face was flushed scarlet. Wait... So if Spades is Mom... oh. Oh. Levi looked between Spades and Lathe, catching Spades' eye. He watched as she grinned at him, resuming her feeding Eren, and he didn't miss her nudging Lathe's foot under the table, nearly making Lathe jump out of his skin. ...that. Is the most adorable thing I have ever fucking seen. ...I ship it.

...I act like it enough, it's warranted, I feel like he's my kid, I worry about him enough. Spades continued to feed Eren slowly, helping to get the sauce off of his face when he happened to slurp a noodle and it went all over his face. Oh, now you are just asking for it!

Eren giggled like a little child as Spades fed him, his eyes brightening up. It's so good, and I'm starving. He looked down to notice his plate almost empty and Spades picking at her own food as he ate slowly. I want more.

Lathe picked at his own plate, tensing as Spades nudged at his foot. What. He stared at her for a long moment before he let his foot creep forward and push back at her, a tiny smile on his face as she hooked their ankles together. He rested his head on his hand, looking between his pasta and Spades much of the time, watching her feed Eren. ...she cares so much about Eren... she really does act like his Mom. ...I wonder... He had a bit of a dreamy look in his eyes as he pondered the concept, looking over to Eren's plate. "Do you want more pasta Eren? There's still plenty left." He stood as Eren nodded, lifting his plate and turning to the stove to get him more.

Casper immediately began to sign frantically to Spades as Lathe turned away, and she practically signed over him, both of them grinning widely. They both gave each other a thumbs up after an instant, and dropped their excitement the second Lathe turned back around, Casper sending Levi a pointed look. You're going to have to deal. He looked over to Eren, seeing his eyes flickering with happiness. He just nodded, smirking. You're going to have to deal with this now. I'm not sorry.

Eren looked to his second large plate with a wide smile on his face. ...It looks so good, I'm still starving! He lifted his head up a bit to let Spades give him the next forkful, his eyes watching her as she moved to eat from her own plate. He watched everyone eat with a happy smile. Well... maybe I helped him out I guess? I mean.... actually I don't know... does Spades even want me to call her mom? He closed his eyes for a second, trying to take in a deep breath but his whole body shaking violently as a coughing fit started. It fucking hurts... Shit, it really fucking hurts. Eren tried his best not to cough everything he had just eaten up.

Spades' eyes widened, shifting to help sit Eren up. "Shh... Eren, it's okay, don't freak out, we're right here." She glanced over to Lathe with a worried expression. It sounds like he's going to throw up with each cough.... What do I do? Lathe... help! Now! Before Eren throws up!
Lathe stood immediately, moving to Eren's other side and rubbing small circles into his back, his voice a quiet murmur. "It's okay Eren, don't try to breathe so deeply, just focus on getting little breaths in and out. Little breaths. Just relax. It's okay, you just need to relax." We can't have you throwing up everything you just ate... you need to keep it down since it's been so damn long since you'd had food last. He kept his hand on Eren's back, his other arm loosely around him as Eren's coughing fit began to subside, relief in his eyes as it stopped. Thank god, dinner didn't make a reappearance. He noticed that Eren had started sweating, holding a hand to his forehead. "You're really warm. As soon as you finish dinner you're going upstairs. But for right now, focus on eating and taking calm breaths and just chill, okay?" Lathe gave him a warm smile, slipping back to his place across from Spades. He looked up as Spades immediately tangled their feet together, blushing lightly. ... she is really great... He caught himself with his head in his hand staring dreamily at her, suddenly blushing furiously and trying to get his hair to hide his red face as he picked at his plate. Dammit, stop being so obvious... Shit. I'm already in way too deep...

Oh thank god it stopped. Spades kept her feet tangled with Lathe's helping to move Eren closer to her to help feed him once he looked to her for food again. I know, I know, I'm getting it, hold on. She watched as Eren gingerly took the next bite, his eyes brightening back up again, asking for more, and he soon finished off his second plate. ... God, he must've been starving... how did he not crash? He drank half a bottle of crown... on an empty stomach and my breathalyzer was completely zeroes... I don't get how that's a thing. Her eyes flickered over to Lathe's direction, his hair barely covering the pink dusting across his face. I gotta say... teasing him is fun... but, I wonder if he'd actually be interested... I mean, we basically grew up together, and here we are fawning over his adoptive son.

Eren whimpered a bit as he struggled to move, his body aching as he leaned back in his chair, moving his head towards Spades' shoulder and watching as Levi got up to start doing the dishes. He's really home... and he's still wearing his digital camo... When did he get here? It must've only been a few minutes after I left... Wait... I broke Dad's nose... shit! Terror flashed in Eren's eyes as he turned his head to look at Lathe, his face already starting to bruise. Fuck, he's gonna be mad at me for hitting him... shit... Will he even let me sleep with him anymore after I pulled this shit in a drunken rage? Fuck.

Lathe looked up as he felt Eren's eyes on him, meeting his terrified gaze. Why do you look like you expect me to kill you? ...well, given everything that's happened... "Eren, you don't have to be afraid of me. I'm not mad about anything that happened, I swear." He gingerly, and very lightly prodded at his nose. That's gonna hurt like a bitch for a while, though. He nevertheless grinned at Eren, speaking with an accent. "'Tis but a flesh wound!" ...I had him watch that, right?

Eren's terrified eyes slowly softened as he remembered Monty Python and the Holy Grail. That was a great movie. He chuckled, which led to another short coughing fit, leaving Eren completely exhausted and sweating profusely as his body started to finally warm up, his high fever finally showing up to it's fullest. I'm sick aren't I? I feel so cold... and wet. That's gross. He whimpered softly, nuzzling into Spades' shoulder a little more.

Spades could only smile softly, bringing a hand up to gently run through his soaked locks. His fever must be high... his hair's completely soaked, but it's okay, if it makes him feel better that's okay. She continued, listening to Eren mewl at her soft touches, her fingers gentle against his warm head. He even feels warm... Lathe will take care of you, you don't need to worry. You'll never need to worry. She placed a gentle kiss on the top of his head, letting him lean into her more after she finished eating, not really noticing that Levi had taken her plate and started on the dishes with Casper.
Lathe thanked Levi as he took his plate, helping to put plates and silverware away until the kitchen was clean. He walked around the table, feeling Eren's forehead again. "We need to get you upstairs to rest. It's been a hell of a day." He chuckled quietly, glancing up to Casper next to him.

Casper smiled easily to him. "I'll get out of your hair, you've had plenty to deal with for one day. And thanks." He stepped forward a bit and hugged Lathe, patting Eren gently on the shoulder. "I'm glad you're okay, Eren." He looked to Levi, his eyes warm. "It was great to finally meet you, Levi." He sent Spades a knowing look, soon slid on his shoes and left, his bag slung back over his shoulder.

Levi moved forward a bit, gently coaxing Eren off of Spades' shoulder. "Here, how about I get you upstairs? I'm guessing you want to sleep with Lathe?" He gave him a soft smile as he nodded, gently lifting him and hesitating for a moment. "Um, Spades... Thank you." His voice was small, looking to her with gratitude.

Spades smiled softly, watching as Levi took Eren's almost limp body up the stairs as he started to move his hands a bit more, the numbness in his body starting to fade. She felt her phone buzz in her pocket and she furrowed her brow.

What the hell?.... Email? Oh, the toxicology report... 0.02, so he really did drink... but did he drink all of that. "Lathe, I'm gonna get going, okay?" She turned, walking up to him, her hand coming up to reach for his collar. Well... I mean, maybe I should get him to look my way... this'll work. She tugged him down by the collar, on her tippy toes as she placed a small peck on the corner of his lips, pulling back with a large smile on her face. "Bye Lathe! Make sure you talk with Eren tonight!" she called as she walked out, turning away from him, a huge blush forming on her face.

I can't believe I just did that... It felt so right...

Lathe barely heard her as she spoke, his eyes wide as her lips softly pressed against the corner of his mouth, completely stunned. ...she... she's... All he knew was that it felt so unbelievably right, and he watched as she smiled, and before he knew it she had gone, the door shutting behind her. He stood in place, still feeling the ghost of her lips on his skin. ...she... Lathe flushed scarlet, a dreamy smile taking over his expression, his eyes full of stars. ...she did. He stood in the quiet for a moment before her voice seemed to catch up with him. ...Eren. A sense of foreboding pushed aside his weightlessness, and he looked to the stairs, swallowing hard. He walked up to his room, seeing Levi had already tucked Eren in, and he grabbed pajamas from the armoir, changing quickly in the bathroom and retrieving a glass of water, snatching a small bottle of pills from his bag downstairs and checking the door was locked (not without another moment of daydreaming) and going to Eren's side, pressing two orange tablets into his hand and handing him the glass. "This should help somewhat with your fever." He propped Eren up with pillows, taking the glass once he was finished and sliding in next to him, his arms around his middle. "Eren, we need to talk about what you said all this morning. Know that I'm not mad at you, I just want to know if you really meant some of it. I can change, we can fix whatever it is that you don't feel that great about... Just tell me, please. You don't have to keep it to yourself and try to cope with it. Please, I'm listening." He pressed a kiss to his temple, gently running his hand through his damp locks. I need to know what's getting to you, fix what needs fixing...

He... he wants to fix it?.... I was just ranting really... I don't know if I could do that... I don't know if i could actually ask him to change. I'm the one who's supposed to bend. Eren looked down at his hands, coughing a little bit, and his damp locks falling in front of his face. So I have to tell him? He swallowed hard, his eyes coming up to meet Lathe's eyes, his eyes heavy with emotions, regret, fear, sadness, and guilt laced across the pools of ocean color. But... I'm afraid to ask. I... I like the way you are... and I don't want you to change. It just, everything got to me and I snapped.

...You should probably tell him that.

Eren almost jumped in his skin as he heard the voice come back. His grip on Lathe tightened, and his breath hitched in almost fear.

What are you doing here?

Eren, I already told you...

No! I don't want to listen to you anymore!

...Fine, you don't have to.

I'm not gonna!

But you should tell him that much at least.

.... Okay...

See, you still listen to me...Ha

His eyes closed shut at the mocking tone that entered his mind. His grip still tight on Lathe's shirt, struggling to move, but managing to lean his head onto Lathe's shoulder. "I..." Eren started but shut his mouth, so unsure of how to actually tell Lathe that he just snapped...

Lathe kept his hold strong around Eren, brushing his dark locks from in front of his eyes. "Eren, I can tell there's something in your mind you want to say... And whatever it is, if you don't know how to say it, just start talking. Just say it and get it out. It doesn't have to be eloquent or make grammatical sense, just get it out of your head where it's doing nobody any good and out here where we can do something with it. Just pick a word to start and let it all tumble out. It's okay. I'm all ears, Eren. Please." He pecked his forehead and looked into his eyes, his small smile warm. You can tell me things. No matter what they are.

Eren nodded, slowly curling up to Lathe. "I-I just... I feel useless in this house, you give me everything I could possibly ever want, and I-I'm happy about that... but... you don't let me do anything around here... You haven't even let me do the dishes in awhile... you always do the cleaning, I haven't even touched my...my clothes in...in..." Eren drew a blank for the last time he had actually done his own laundry. I can't even fucking remember...Fuck... I must sound like such a fucking brat.

...oh. Lathe nodded, understanding. "I'm sorry I made you feel useless like that. You're definitely more than capable of doing stuff around here... I guess I've just been so used to doing all of it by myself and I didn't want to seem like I was asking too much of you. We can delegate stuff, write down a list of who's in charge of what on certain days or something like that, keep it on the fridge and stick to it. ...after you get better, of course, which I sadly don't think is going to be too soon, it doesn't look like it... But would that work? And I don't even know if I've ever dragged you with on errands, let alone had you run some for me... If any of that would help?" I could use an extra set of hands... That'd be really nice, actually.

...That would work, it should at least. "O-okay.... That sounds good.... I-I...." Eren trailed off trying to reign in his courage all over again. ".I didn't mean w-what I.... what I said." Eren buried his face into Lathe's chest, struggling to move into his lap to get more comfortable in his arms. ".I-I.... I don't hate you... I never- never meant to yell at you... I just... I couldn't take it a-anymore." Eren started to sob into his chest, coughing periodically as he cried. His warm body violently shaking in Lathe's arms.

Lathe shifted Eren into his lap, one hand tangling in his hair and the other rubbing his side gently. He pressed small kisses to the crown of his head, his heart heavy as he spoke, his voice soft. "I understand, Eren. And I want you to not be afraid to tell me stuff like this. If you keep it all in like that, then this exact sort of thing will happen. I... Even if I sound too much like a broken record I'll say it again because I can't say it enough. I love you, Eren. And it's okay. I forgave you the second everything happened." Lathe held onto him, waiting a bit for his sobs to subside before carefully shifting pillows around, laying down with Eren on top of him, gently rubbing circles into his back. "Let's get some sleep, okay? It's been a very long day." We could both use plenty of sleep after what all happened.

Eren sighed in relief at Lathe's words. He forgives me... Thank god... Eren nuzzled his head into Lathe's chest, his eyes shutting in only a few seconds....I'm exhausted... Eren's breathing evened out, with the occasional coughing fit, which happened to wake him up every so often, but he stayed curled up to Lathe in his arms.

Lathe drifted in and out of sleep, grounded with Eren’s weight on top of him. He jolted awake with each of Eren’s coughing fits, rubbing circles into his back and murmuring lowly until the fit passed and his breathing evened out. Neither of them slept for more than an hour at a time, Lathe waking up in the middle of the night and fishing for tissues in the nightstand as Eren started coughing up mucus, wiping his mouth and waiting for his breathing to even out again. He carded his fingers through his damp locks, feeling him relax with his ear to his chest, listening to his heartbeat. He stayed in bed with him late into the morning, his eyes heavy as he gently pet him in the dim light. He looked up to the clock, reading the hands. It's nearly noon. We should probably get up... Lathe quietly spoke, his voice rough with sleepiness. “Eren, I need to get up, do things… and we both need to eat.” ...and we kinda abandoned Levi... ugh.

Eren moved his head with a small groan. “Cinnamon rolls…” His voice was hoarse, another coughing fit soon ensuing and reaching for the tissues to spit out the mucus in his mouth. That tastes like shit... Fuck. My body is so sore... I don’t want to get up. Eren struggled to move, his whole body stiff as he slowly got off of Lathe, his clothes almost completely soaked through from his sweat. That’s gross, I’m fucking soaked, and it’s making me feel even colder.
Lathe helped guide Eren to his feet, rubbing at his tired eyes. ... I need coffee... “Eren, we don’t even have any cinnamon rolls downstairs. I didn’t buy any more.” He helped him stand, letting him lean heavily onto his side as he started them towards the bathroom. You need a bath. Badly.

Eren groaned. “I want cinnamon rolls... You’re just gonna have to make them.” Eren’s words were childish as his fevered body somehow made it through the hall and to the bathroom without collapsing. “I feel gross.....” I feel so fucking tired too.

Lathe smiled, rolling his eyes in mock exasperation. “Fiiiiine, I’ll make you cinnamon rolls after you have a bath. You certainly need it- no offense. But you are kinda soaked.” He led him into the bathroom, turning to Eren. “Are you okay to do this by yourself, or...?” He sighed as he felt Eren put nearly his entire weight on him. Why did I even ask? He smiled, gently sitting him down on the toilet seat and starting the water in the bathtub, rolling up his sleeves and letting it fill with very warm water. He turned to Eren, coaxing him out of his soaked pajama top and bottoms, leaving him in just his boxers as he stopped the water, feeling it and nodding. Just warm enough. He moved to Eren, lifting him up and gently lowering him into the water, grabbing the shampoo bottle and pouring some into his hand, setting it aside and beginning to massage it into Eren’s hair.

Eren seemed to almost purr as Lathe started to wash his hair. It’s warm... I like it.... He had a soft smile on his face, coughing every once in awhile, his eyes coming up to see Lathe’s heavily bruised face. ...I did that... Fuck, he’s gotta be really mad at me. He avoided eye contact, looking down at the bubbles in the water, his fingers poking at a few and popping them. His head came to rest against Lathe’s hand as he worked. His cheeks completely flushed as his eyes closed, his breathing evening out as he fell asleep to the calming motions and the warm water surrounding him. It feels nice.... Really nice.

Lathe smiled, his hands rubbing his scalp in small circles, brushing away the bubbles from his eyes, lost in thought. ...do we even have enough stuff to make cinnamon rolls? I don’t know... dammit. Uh... Lathe looked to his soapy hands, to Eren’s sleeping face, to his pocket. ...My phone’s in there... He quickly rinsed a hand off and reached his hand into his pocket, dropping it on the rug before he could get it any more wet than necessary. He moved his foot, tapping out Levi’s number and putting it on speaker, letting it ring. Come on, pick up dammit!

Levi looked to his phone on the table as he ate his sandwich, quirking an eyebrow at the 16-bit ringtone Lathe had set for his contact. Why the hell are you calling me? You’re literally upstairs. ...like, literally thirty feet away. Levi took his sweet time putting down his sandwich and getting up as his phone continued to ring, sauntering up the stairs and turning the corner to Lathe’s bedroom, looking confusedly at the empty bed. “Where are you guys?” He asked the quiet, looking into Eren’s room, also empty. Where’d you go?

Lathe looked over his shoulder, whisper-shouting. “Bathroom- come in quietly, though.” I really don’t want to wake Eren up- he’s sleeping without coughing for the first time since he came home.
Levi quietly opened the door, looking in with a furrowed brow until he spotted Lathe gently rinsing shampoo suds from Eren’s hair as he slept soundly. Ah. That explains it. “Sorry I didn’t pick up, I thought you were being lazy or something. No offense.” He smirked at Lathe’s playful glare.

“Wooooow, Levi, glad to know you think so highly of me. I’m flattered.” He turned his attention back to Eren as he started to rub conditioner into his locks. “So, the thing is, Eren’s demanding cinnamon rolls, and we both know he’s not going to leave us alone until he gets his damn cinnamon rolls. So because I’m such a pushover, I’m delegating that to you. My wallet’s on the counter, keys are on the hook by the door, please take the car and get stuff for cinnamon rolls from the store. Oh, and let Blake out into the backyard to run around. I’ll wash him later, don’t worry about the mud.” Lathe moved to pick up a damp washcloth, rubbing a bar of strong soap into it and starting on Eren’s shoulders.

Levi nodded. “If you really want to deal with the aftermath of Blake being let outside during the muddiest season of the year, by all means. I’ll look up what you need for cinnamon rolls. I’ll assume we need at least a double batch, with extra icing.” He chuckled quietly as Lathe looked at him over his shoulder.

Lathe had his eyebrows raised, grinning. “No shit, Sherlock. Now shoo, yeah? I need to finish giving Eren a bath and then start on food before I die of hunger. ...sorry for pretty much abandoning you, by the way. The way things have been... I feel we haven’t really been paying you much attention.” He gave him an apologetic look. You’ve come home after a long time... this is a really weird way to welcome you home.

Levi just shrugged, a faint smile on his face. “It’s fine, really. The way things have been, paying Eren so much attention is warranted.” He studied Eren’s peaceful face, his eyes warm. “He’ll get better soon. He just needs lots of rest. And I don’t think he’s going to want to leave you at all during the rest of break. It’s completely understandable.” His face resumed a neutral look. “I’ll get the stuff from the store, let Blake out. I won’t take long.” He quietly closed the door after Lathe nodded, walking down the stairs and nudging Blake outside into the backyard, letting him run in circles while he went to the store, looking up cinnamon roll recipes on his phone.

Lathe gently scrubbed Eren clean, trying not to tickle him awake as he washed his feet, setting the soap down and moving to rinse out his hair, cringing a bit as he saw the streams of mucus draining from his nose. ...gross... at least he can breathe now... He wiped off his face gently, soon letting the tub drain completely, and before Eren could get cold he wrapped him up in a towel, drying him off and retrieving fresh pajamas for him, quickly switching his soaked boxers for a clean pair and dressing him, picking him up and carrying him downstairs to the couch, setting a pillow under his head and tugging a thin blanket over him, feeling his forehead. You’ve still got a really bad fever... I need to get those pills back down here. And clean up the bathroom. Lathe was gone for no more than three minutes, the bottle and his phone in his pocket, the bathroom straightened out as Levi unlocked the front door, a small bag in his arms. He took the paper bag from him, thanking him and confusedly taking his phone as well as Levi handed it to him. “What are you giving me your phone for?”

Levi pointed to the title. “It’s a cinnamon roll recipe, the one I used to figure out what to buy. It looked pretty legit.” He looked over to Eren sleeping on the couch, a faint smile on his face. “He’s still sleeping.” He walked over, running a hand through his drying locks, leaning down the press a gentle kiss to his forehead. Get better soon, Brat. He turned when he heard Lathe chuckling and walking past him to the kitchen. “There a problem?” He smirked.

Lathe quietly laughed, skimming the recipe. “Nope. Not at all.” He grinned at Levi. You two are just too damn cute. ...though you and another OTP of mine are completely tied… He suddenly blushed furiously as he thought of what had happened the day before, a dreamy look starting to take over his face as he thought of a certain redhead, slowly making the cinnamon rolls.

Levi snickered and poked at Lathe's side. "Having fun over there? Caressing the cinnamon rolls, and enjoying it?” His face blank as he deadpanned his words. You'll either bust out laughing or you'll blush even more, either will work. He pulled out his phone as it buzzed on the counter, he picked it up reading the text. "Apparently Armin's sick too... it's amazing how similar the two of them are." He texted Erwin back, asking if he was taking care of him or not.

Lathe's scarlet blush crept to his ears, focusing intently on what he was doing. " No ... I'm not even thinking about the cinnamon rolls.” Lathe spoke, internally wincing. Dammit, I'm practically asking you to ask what the hell's occupying my thoughts... Change the subject and hope he doesn't prod at it. "That is weird, that they're both sick at the same time. Do you know if Erwin's taking care of him? Or is his Grandfather?” It kinda sucks that both of their boyfriends are sick when they come home... Scratch that, it really sucks.

Levi picked up his phone as it dinged again. "His grandfather... And if you weren't thinking of Cinnamon Rolls... Would you be possibly thinking about a certain someone?” Levi smirked, wiggling his eyebrows at him a bit. Come on... It was like you were daydreaming! You need to spill!

Lathe made the grave mistake of looking at Levi as he spoke, immediately looking back down and hoping his hair covered his red face at least somewhat. ... dammit . "...only maybe..." ... there's only a very slim chance that I was thinking about Spades... ... Spades ... Lathe had a faraway look in his eyes as his thoughts again were consumed by her, still able to feel a wisp of a kiss on the corner of his lips. ... She's wonderful... He seemed to forget entirely that Levi was still there, though he jumped as he cleared his throat, dropping his eyes to stare at the floor, embarrassed. ... how could I not? She kissed me when she left... it was so light, but it was a kiss nonetheless... and she's just... she's Spades... She's done so much for Eren and I and she's been way too kind and she's got such a strong character and she's really, really pretty... He looked up as he heard Levi snickering, his eyes going wide. ...I said that out loud, didn't I. Fuck.

"Oh! So she did kiss you? That's awesome, you're going in the right direction then.” He smirked, watching as Lathe's face got even redder. "Alright well, I'm gonna go see what Erwin's doing... I'll be back before dinner, and don't forget that Blake's outside." He told him, standing up from where he was leaning against the counter. Maybe Eren'll have a Mom again if Lathe plays his cards right.

Lathe watched as Levi walked to the front door, stopping for only a moment to run a hand through Eren's hair in goodbye before opening the front door and locking it behind him. He stared after him, still embarrassed beyond belief, tugging a bit at the collar of his shirt. ...I thought I was the only shipper in this household... Apparently not. He continued on with the cinnamon rolls, soon sliding a tray full of them out of the oven, tracing plenty of icing over their tops. He let himself daydream about red hair and emerald eyes, a smile on his face. He jumped as he heard a loud, dull thunk, putting down the bowl of icing immediately and moving around the table, seeing Eren on the floor, tangled up in the blanket. Shit.

Eren groaned as he splayed on his back, starting to cough horribly. He tried to weakly curl up to himself, whimpering from the pain shooting up his back and his head throbbing. Fuck... That hurt. Eren whined when he couldn't roll over to push himself up without the pain stopping him. "...Dad..." Eren's voice was hoarse, a coughing fit starting right away.

Lathe immediately knelt down next to him, brushing the hair from his face. "I'm right here Eren. I'm here. Just stay calm. Focus on breathing." He held onto Eren's hand as he coughed, sighing in relief when his fit soon subsided. "...I'm going to try and get you back up on the couch, okay? If it hurts when I do that, I'm really sorry. But you being on the floor isn't doing you good." He slid his arms under Eren, lifting him and quickly setting him back on the couch, tucking the blanket snugly around him, pecking his forehead lightly. "You're still burning up, so I'll get you a cinnamon roll after you take your medicine, okay?" He retrieved a water glass, handing it to Eren along with two orange pills, waiting with liquid cough syrup in hand for him to finish the glass of water.

Eren nodded, taking the pills and the liquid medicine without complaint and trying to drink from the glass of water, only to start coughing and nearly choke on it. He struggled to sit up, whimpering as he continued to cough. The fit finally subsiding after awhile, leaving Eren curled up to himself and whimpering horribly from his back. My back... It hurts... And so does my head... Fuck. He grabbed at his head, rubbing his wet locks and whimpering continuously. He's got to be in a lot of pain... From his throat, and his head must hurt like hell right now. Aspirin for right now, the strong kind. Lathe moved to his medical bag, drawing out a small white bottle with a yellow stripe running across it, pouring two pills into his hand and giving them to Eren, making sure he didn't spill his glass of water. "Eren, come on, two more. These will help with the pain." I don't want to give you morphine if I don't have to... That's tricky stuff to work with... He pressed them into his palm, helping him sip at the glass of water, rubbing his back soothingly as he tried to get them down. He took the glass from Eren when he had finally emptied it, pecking his temple and taking the glass from him. *You'll feel better soon, Eren. Swear it. Do you want to try and eat, or do you want to give it a while?"

Eren looked to him with hopeful eyes. Food, definitely food, I'm still starving... And it smells amazing. "...I'm hungry..." He whined with an adorable little pout, and he curled up to himself, laying on his side to try and give his back a break. What the hell did I do to it? It fucking hurts!

Lathe was no match for the most adorable puppy eyes Eren could give him, and immediately caved, his smile full of warmth as he ran a hand through Eren's drying locks, nodding. Food it is. Lathe stood, going to the stove and setting two rolls on a plate, bringing it over to the couch and helping Eren to sit up, placing the plate in his lap. "Try not to get crumbs everywhere, okay?" He soon came back with his own plate and a bunch of napkins. sitting next to Eren and starting to eat, his mind still drifting through his favorite memories of Spades. ... I'm in too deep already... And I kinda don't care.

_Hmm... What's he thinking about? ... I wonder if he would be okay with Mom coming over for dinner? I wanna see her again._ Eren was close to stuffing his face with the cinnamon rolls, the only thing stopping him was a long coughing fit. It only lasted a few tense moments before Eren stuffed his face, the icing dribbling down his chin as he ate hungrily, groaning as the magnificent taste filled his mouth. ... _it's really good... I want these more often... I don't care what you say Dad._ He ate the two rolls quickly looking to Lathe to get him more food, clearing his throat, looking down a bit, still not meeting his direct gaze, to afraid to still. "Um... Can um..." His eyes flickered up to meet Lathe's once he got his attention, "Can Mom come for dinner?" He asked quietly, his voice timid. _I want Mom to come over, it reminds me of when she used to sit next to me and feed me when I was little._ A small sad smile crossed his face at the thought.

Lathe's mind was immediately filled with the memory of a bright smile, and he blushed, nodding. "I-I'll ask her, see I'd she can come." He looked up, grabbing a napkin and wiping the icing off of Eren's chin. His eyes seemed to shine as he thought, wondering how he would ask, what he would make... What he would wear... _I need to calm down, yeesh it'd just be inviting her over for dinner... "What should I make, do you think?" But of course it needs to be something really nice..."

"STEAK!" Eren's answer was immediate, and he gave the puppy dog eyes just as quickly. _I want meat! We haven't had it in forever! And I want it!_ Eren tried to move his stuff body to get up. _But I want more cinnamon rolls... Like now..._

Lathe's eyes widened a bit at his enthusiasm, his hands coming up to keep Eren on the couch. ... _steak. Perfect._ "That's a great idea! And stay put, please. I'll get you more cinnamon rolls if you want more cinnamon rolls." Lathe took his plate and retrieved two more for him, setting it in his lap again. _You've got me wrapped around your finger, and you know it, too..._

Eren sat back on the couch, his head leaning back and resting against the back. ... _YAASSSS we're having steak! I'm so excited!_ Eren tried to move his legs a bit, whimpering as his joints popped every few seconds as he struggled to stretch on the couch. _My body feels so sore..._ He thanked Lathe as he came back, another fit of coughs attacking him, though it wasn't long before he was stuffing his face again. _These are so good!_

Lathe grinned, his voice bright. _"Yeesh, slow down a bit, you're eating them like you're afraid they're going to stop making them."_ Lathe looked at the clock, thinking. _She'd still be having lunch right around now... I should call her while she's not busy and I have the chance. "I'm going to call and invite Spades, okay Eren?"_ Lathe gently ruffled his hair before walking over to the kitchen, taking the phone on the wall off the hook and dialing her cell phone number, suddenly feeling very nervous as it started ringing. ... _what do I even say?_

_Spades looked up from her food as her phone buzzed in her pocket. ... _Is that?... It is!_ Her hand couldn't move fast enough fumbling for the phone and she smiled more as she looked at just who was calling. _Shit... What do I say? What if it's not even about the kiss? Fuck it..._ She set all her nerves aside and picked up the phone. _"Hi Lathe.. What's up?"_ Her voice was soft, trying not to blush too much.

_Lathe tapped nervously against his leg, leaning against the wall and trying to keep his voice even, his cheeks slowly turning bright red. "Hey Spades... Um, Eren and I both wanted to know if... if..."_ you'd like to come over tonight for dinner?" Please please please say yes...

... he's asking me over for dinner? Would this be considered asking me out on a date?... No it can't be... Eren probably asked cause he wants his new 'Mom' around... But maybe... Lathe's asking? "Um.... What time?" She asked, struggling to keep her heart from pounding out of her chest, reaching for her book to see what she need to get done. I'm literally gonna be here until like 7 tonight... Shit ... They eat dinner early... But I wanted to go see him again.

Lathe glanced to the clock, thinking. *She's probably working late... "When do you get out of work? I know you have a lot to do as commissioner... we have no problem eating a bit later than we usually do, if you're worrying about that."

Spades looked up at the clock, tapping her fingers against her desk. "I believe I can get to your house by 7:30, if that’s okay?" I really hope it it, I wanna see you again.

Lathe smiled, his bangs swept over his eyes. I really want to see you again, even if that meant you could only come over at one in the morning... and you deserve a proper kiss. "That's more than okay. I-I mean," Lathe blushed furiously. "-uhm, yeah, that's fine. Seven thirty. Got it. We'll see you then, okay?" Dammit, stop sounding like an overexcited puppy.

*He sounds excited... Maybe he was asking me on a 'date' of sorts. Spades gave a light laugh as he changed his excited tone to try and hide it. "Okay... I'll see you then, bye." She hung up and started to work again. I need to get this shit done.

Eren had struggled for a good few moments and managed to stand up on shaking legs. His steps were small as he made his way to the kitchen, leaning on the wall, holding his empty plate, looking for more cinnamon rolls, but he stopped when he saw Lathe in dreamland. "Dad?" He asked, taking a wary step towards him.

Lathe's hand with the phone hung by his side, his other hanging onto the back of his neck, leaning back against the wall and staring off into space with a dreamy smile on his face. She said yes... She's coming over Lathe jumped a bit at Eren's voice, surprised as he saw him leaning against the wall with his plate in hand, putting the phone back on the hook and moving to make sure he didn't fall. "Eren, you look like you're about to fall over. If you wanted more cinnamon rolls you could have asked when I got off the phone." Lathe took Eren's plate, guiding him back to the couch and off of his shaking legs. "Oh, and Spades said yes. She'll be here around seven-thirty, though, so we're eating a bit late." Lathe grinned as he turned to get Eren more cinnamon rolls, his cheeks tinting red a bit as his mind wandered. I wouldn't mind her coming in the dead of night... Lathe handed Eren back his plate, going to start coffee and grabbing a roll for himself, soon coming back over with his own breakfast and sitting next to Eren. He handed him a mug of tea, nibbling at the treat and soon losing himself in his thoughts. It'll be a while until she's here... there's plenty of time to get stuff ready... Eren sat back on the couch, munching on his cinnamon roll. He turned his head over to Lathe to ask him about something, but seeing the way his gaze was far off, Eren stopped short. ..... Oh...never mind then... I can probably find something. He got up to put his dish away, before slowly making his way towards the scripting room, and towards the closed door, Blake following him down into the basement as he looked around for things to do. ... What should I do?
Lathe stared off into space, only realizing he had been daydreaming for so long when he went to sip at his coffee and it had gone cold. Damn, was I really out of it for that long? ...totally worth it, though. He looked to over to his right, about to speak to Eren when he realized he wasn't there anymore, his eyes widening. How the fuck did I miss that? He stood and went to the kitchen, putting his dishes in the sink and starting to look around the house, calling up the stairs, to be met with silence. ...the basement? My god, he looked like he could barely walk... What the hell is he doing trying to manage stairs? What if he fell down all of them? He walked over to the basement stairs, padding down and looking over the banister, seeing Eren studying his collection of art supplies, sighing in relief. "There you are, I'm sorry I was so out of it. I hadn't even realized you left." He gave him a sheepish smile, walking over to him. "I'm going to go take a shower and then run out to the store to get stuff for Eren nodded. "Do you have any bigger canvas?" He asked point towards a 18x20 canvas. "Any bigger than that?" He asked curiously, pulling out a bunch of paints. I have something in mind... But it needs to be bigger... Or I'm gonna need to use 4... Or more...

Lathe stared at the canvas, thinking hard. He turned to look at the far wall behind the sewing machine, suddenly getting an idea and moving forward, carefully and steadily pushing the bookcase shelves aside and and turning to the fresh patch of wall, looking back to Eren and gesturing to it with both of his arms dramatically, humor in his voice though he was completely serious. "Is this an adequate amount of space?"

Eren looked over to him, and his eyes downcast at Lathe's words. Does he not want me to paint anymore? I mean... . "I...I don't have to paint. I've done a lot of walls upstairs already... I can just do charcoal." I don't want to make him mad... I can do something different...

Lathe was a bit confused at Eren's response, moving forward a bit with worry etched into his features. "No, it's more than okay for you to paint the walls. I'd really like it if you did. I was being sarcastic, I do that a lot." He pulled Eren into a hug, trying to get him to smile. "Please, go right ahead. Enjoy yourself. I'm certainly not stopping you." I moved the shelf for you! I'm encouraging this. He pulled back and held him at arm's length, meeting his eyes and smiling. How have you lived here this long and still not know my language of sarcasm?

... You're not mad that I asked? Eren's eyes looked up to meet Lathe's for a brief moment, fear clearly held in them. Grisha... He would've never done anything for me after I did something like that... He would've strangled me... Eren's gaze flickered to Lathe's smile and his fear started to subside a bit. He'll let me do it?

Lathe caught the flicker of fear in his eyes, sighing quietly and pressing a kiss to his forehead. "You don't have to be afraid that I'm mad or that I'm not going to let you do stuff because of what happened yesterday. I meant it, you're forgiven. Completely, no hard feelings whatsoever. As long as you don't make it a habit." Lathe joked, his smile warm.

Eren swallowed hard. "But... But your nose... Should you be mad about that?" He asked quietly, a timid hand coming up to touch a bruise on his face, his eyes still holding a hint of fear. "It's a big bruise now...." Eren trailed off. I fucked up...

But he said you're forgiven.

I still fucked up.

You shouldn't be so hard on yourself.

I can't help it... I grew up used to beatings... It's honestly odd that he hasn't even yelled at me for drinking...

Or punching him... Or driving away...

You're not helping.

Sorry, I'm gonna shut up now.

Lathe shrugged, pulling back a bit from his hand when he touched his face. "Ow..." He finally registered the dull ache in his face. Oh yeah, that... He smiled faintly, his features soft. "I'm not mad, Eren. You're sounding as if you want me to be mad. Yeah, it hurts, but being mad isn't going to fix it, and it definitely won't make either of us feel better. All I know is that I'm not keeping any more alcohol in this house where it isn't locked, and that to any strangers I now look really tough." He chuckled. "Don't worry about it. It'll heal. And you know I'm not capable of being angry at anyone for more than five minutes max." ...with two exceptions. But that's beside the point.

Eren nodded, pulling his hand back and grabbing some large paint cans, gasping quietly when he realized something. "Umm... I forgot that we're out of glow paint...." Eren trailed off with a sheepish smile, rubbing the back of his neck. ... Well there goes that idea... Fuck.

Lathe shook his head, laughing. "Well then, it's a good thing the craft store isn't too far from the supermarket. I'll get a bunch more while I'm out. So, just do without until I get back, okay? It won't be much more than an hour." There are things that need doing. Lathe grinned, waving as he ascended the steps to go and quickly shower. He locked the door behind him and stripped, turning on the shower and stepping under the hot spray, just standing there and letting the water run over him for a moment. His thoughts immediately drifted off, only able to think of what Spades' lips felt like on his, what her hands might feel like behind his neck, his shoulders, in his hair... He immediately flushed in embarrassment as he felt a pulse through him, trying to force it down. Nononono that's creepy, get your fucking head out of the gutter, yeesh... He snatched the shampoo and just tried to focus on getting clean, hopping out of the shower and inspecting his nose in the mirror. He tilted his head, nodding in approval. ...this totally earns me infinite cool points.

He quickly dressed, his hair still a bit damp as he snatched his car keys and drove out to the store, acquiring groceries and paint. He stopped at a florist after a thought occurred to him, carefully setting a red-tipped dark orange rose on the seat next to him. He set it in a vase with water in the center of the kitchen table as soon as he got home, putting the food away and bringing the bucket of paint to Eren downstairs, smirking. "Delivery for one Eren Yeager!"

Eren looked up from where he was, he already had a dark background, along with a mountain starting to take shape, he had a brush in his mouth, the paint dripping down to his shirt, but he didn't care since he had changed into his crap clothes. His right hand was occupied with getting the shape down, his left free as he dropped the brush on the drape under his feet. {Did you get at least a gallon of it?} He barely glanced over his shoulder as he continued, wanting to get the mountain shape perfect. I'm gonna need at least that much...

Lathe set the large tins on the table. "I literally got two of the biggest things of it they had. So, yes. Many times so." He studied the beginning outline of a mountain, nodding. "Nice. That's gonna look fabulous when you're done." His expression suddenly shifted to one of worry as he felt the dull pain in his nose. ...Is Spades going to think I look awful with a black eye? Shit, I look terrible, don't I? Fuck. He reached up, one hand ghosting over the bruised skin, his eyes cast to the floor. ...what if she thinks I look ugly with it and won't kiss me?

Eren was oblivious to Lathe's inner torment, finally spitting out the brush. "When's Mom coming over?" Eren's voice was quiet as he tried to jump and paint the top of the mountain. Fuck I can't reach it... Dammit. Eren struggled to reach for the tip of the dark grey shape. Eren turned his head back, giving him the puppy dog eyes, "I can't reach... Help.." He whined, a pout forming on his face.

Mom . Lathe felt a small wave of panic run through him, looking to Eren, and then to his hands, which had begun to shake. "I'll get you a stool." Lathe retrieved one of the short stools from the table, setting it next to Eren, his brain working overtime to make sense of the nervousness that threatened to take over. ...Eren sees Spades as a mother figure... but if Spades and I don't work out, or if we never really even start anything official in the first place... I'd be denying him that... Lathe swallowed hard, trying hard to keep his composure, unable to keep from stuttering. "S-she'll be here about s-seven th-thirty."

Eren thanked him, slowly getting up on the stool, and able to reach the point he wanted and started to paint down to the floor. "Okay, I should hopefully have the mountain done... You should wear something flannel... Maybe red and black? If you have a shirt like that?" He asked quietly, continuing to focus on his painting as he started to add more brainy within the outline. This'll look really cool, I think Lathe and Levi will like it.

Lathe nodded, taking a small step back. "G-good idea, I do have one like t-that. I need to go do... S-something." Lathe turned and raced up the stairs, shutting the door behind him and fleeing to his room, closing it behind him and burying his face in his hands, leaning back against the door and sliding to the floor, trying to get his erratic breathing under control. Calm down, it's okay, calm down, it's nothing... You just have to either marry Spades or fail your son. Lathe tried to force down tears, his head shooting up as he heard scratching and whining from behind him. Blake... Lathe moved forward a bit from the door, opening it and letting Blake come up to him and nudge him to lay down on the floor, sitting on his chest and licking his cheeks, seeming to know to avoid his bruised nose and eye. He pet him with shaky hands, letting out a shudderey breath and shutting his eyes, not able to stop a few tears from sliding down his face. This is too much pressure to put on me so soon... We haven't even started a real relationship yet, and I already know that with what happened, if I don't marry her... I could lose her completely... Eren would lose her, too... I... I don't know if... If it will work, and... And yet Eren finally has someone in his life to act the part of a mother... I... Lathe had one hand covering his reddened face, the other a tight fist near his side, barely even recognising Blake's weight anymore.

Levi opened the locked door, hearing almost nothing but a few noises coming from the basement as Eren moved around. He smirked going into the scripting room and down the stairs, he leaned over the banister to find Eren completely entranced in his painting. Not gonna bother him, guess I can go find Lathe right now... He headed back up the stairs and finally finding the first floor completely empty. Guess he's upstairs? He started up the stairs, hearing Blake whining about half way up. Blake's with Lathe? He went into Lathe's room, finding him on the floor with Blake grounding him and licking his cheeks. "Lathe?" Levi walked slowly over to him and kneeled down at his side. "Lathe... Can you hear me?" He asked carefully. Assess the situation, we don't want him to panic, find out how far gone he is...

Lathe was sobbing into his hand, hearing Levi next to him and trying to speak. "L-Levi... I c-can't... I-if I don't m... marry S-Spades, t-then Eren w-won't have a m-mom... but I don't e-even k-know if we'll w-work out... I d-don't know w-what to d-do... S-she's coming o-over f-for dinner a-and I don't k-know if I should c-call it off... I d-don't think I c-can do this......" Lathe let out a choked sound, tears falling down his face. I can't... I'm sorry Eren, I need to stop this now before anyone gets hurt... I... I can't do it. I can't.

Levi looked down on him, gently cupping his cheek as he cried. "Lathe... What's got you so worried? I mean yes, Spades is a Mother figure for Eren, but that doesn't mean you need to marry her. Even without her being married to you he decided to call her Mom on his own. That doesn't mean you need to marry her... But I think you guys would be really cute together, you don't have to call it off, aren't you excited to see her? And wasn't she the one to kiss you first? And that was with your broken nose, so I think she'll love you no matter what your face looks like, and in my honest opinion it gives you multiple badassary points... So... Can you calm down? And I'll help you make dinner?" He asked trying to get him to calm down. Geez, you would think he would be more confident since he's known Spades for years.

Lathe struggled to take deep breaths, trying to calm down as he processed everything Levi had said. ...I guess maybe Eren calling Spades Mom is just a thing he does now... maybe I don't have to marry her if it doesn't work... because Spades is Spades... she wouldn't cut all ties if we didn't work, we'd just go back going being best friends... and my nose must have been pretty bruised by then too, and she still kissed me... ...we would make a pretty cute couple, wouldn't we... but only because Spades is too damn gorgeous for her own good. ...you know what, fuck it. I'm going to make this work. Lathe let out a slow breath, his hand gently petting Blake as he faintly smiled. "...thanks, Levi. I... I could use the help." He brushed at his eyes with his sleeve, looking up to him. "Can you give me a little bit to get dressed and stuff? An then we can get to work?" I need a minute to get composed...

Levi nodded, getting up with Blake. "Okay, I'll be downstairs then, Eren's preoccupied." He took out a bit of the food Lathe had brought home and started to get things ready for cooking. Steak... Nice choice Lathe.

Lathe sighed heavily, heaving himself off of the floor and walking down the hall to the bathroom again, taking a washcloth and gingerly washing his face, trying to will away the uneven redness. He stared at himself in the mirror for a long moment, scrutinising his black eye. ...she kissed me while I had that... He tilted his head, grinning. ...in that case, I'll stop complaining. He sipped from a water glass before going back to his room to change, grabbing his red flannel and wearing it over a plain white tee, the buttons undone. He donned a pair of deep blue jeans and a brown belt, trying in vain to make his hair look presentable, and only succeeding in making it look even messier than it already was. Dammit. He gave up and padded down the stairs, grabbing an apron and tossing one to Levi, forcing down his nerves and going into chef mode. "Alright. The thing is that right now it's just about five, and Spades won't be here until seven thirty ish because she works late. That being said," Lathe grinned, a determined look in his eyes. "We have just enough time for an apple pie." They both set to work, the next two and a half hours passing quickly for them. Lathe was grateful for the extra set of hands, the help in cleaning up as they went and keeping an eye on the multiple pans going at once. He had just turned off the grill outside and set a lid over the pan of steaks as he heard the doorbell ring, immediately looking up to the clock. Seven thirty on the dot. She's right on time. Lathe untied his apron and hung it on the peg on the wall, taking a deep breath as he crossed the piano room to the door, unlocking it and pulling it open, looking to Spades, a blush immediately crossing his face, his eyes widening a fraction as he took all of her in, his voice seemingly breathless. "...Spades." ... How the hell have I never realized how damn fine she looks in that uniform? He studied her eyes, noting the red tint in her cheeks, something inside of him screaming at him to move. His nervousness seemed to vanish, and he let go of the door, taking a small step forward, his hands moving to gently rest on her waist as he pulled her close. He kept her gaze as he simply held her against him for a moment, before he leaned down to press his lips against hers, his eyes sliding shut as they kissed, chaste and sweet. ...you actually came.

... He's wearing a flannel over a white shirt, holy shit... He's sexy as all hell. She watched as he wrapped his arms around her, her cheeks flushing as she looked up to him, her eyes a bit lidded as Lathe leaned down to kiss her. She smiled softly, moving up to her tippy toes to meet his kiss, her arms slowly wrapping around his shoulders as she tilted her head to deepen the kiss a bit. ...God damn you're a great kisser.

Lathe's arm wound tightly around her middle, his other coming up to cradle the back of her neck, his thumb lightly grazing over her jaw. ...Spades ... Lathe suddenly jolted back as Spades shifted their kiss, accidentally jostling his nose, breaking their kiss, his hand moving from her neck to hover over his nose, trying hard to fight the immediate urge to touch it. "Ugh, that hurt." ...Damn it, and I was kinda in the middle of something. He still sent Spades a wide smile as he saw a bit of worry flicker in her eyes. "Don't worry, I'm fine." He gave her lips a light peck before he let his arm loosen around her, gently pulling her inside by her waist and shutting the door behind her, reluctantly letting her go so she could take off her shoes. He gave her some room, stepping back and allowing his eyes to trace her up and down, his eyes sparkling. ...she's so wonderful ...

Spades watched with worry as Lathe pulled back, seeing him try not to touch his nose. ...Right.... That's a thing... Note to self: already have the head turned for making out before we start to make out. She gingerly took off her shoes and looked around the room, Levi had his back turned, padding into the kitchen and Eren was no where to be seen. "Thanks for inviting me over... Where's the rascal at?" Her voice was soft and playful as she went back towards Lathe and picked up his hand, twining their fingers together, her eyes widened a bit when she heard a large bang coming from downstairs and Eren shouting in another language. That's German... we should go make sure he's alright... "Downstairs?" Her voice a bit questioning as she started towards the scripting room, her hand never leaving Lathe's, so she just pulled him along with her. What the hell is he doing in the basement?

Lathe smiled as Spades laced their fingers together, giving her hand a light squeeze and about to speak when he jumped at the loud bang, hearing Eren swear loudly in German. ...he was standing on that stool to paint. ...Shit. He followed Spades at her heels, carefully descending the steps and turning with her to the far wall where Eren had been working when he left.

Eren was on the ground, the stool he had been using under his legs, he looked as if he had been sitting on it. His mouth was flying with curse after curse, as he kicked the stool a bit away so that he was able to sit up. <"Motherfucker! You would think you'd be able to fucking lean back an inch to pick up the fuck mothering brush, but instead the damn stool drops like a ton of fucking bricks!"> Eren continued to swear heavily as he slowly sat up, rubbing at his lower back. <"Is today hurt Eren's fucking back as much as you fucking can day?!?"> That fucking hurt!

This time Lathe was the one to pull Spades forward, moving up next to the drape on the floor, wary of the paint in various drying stages splattered over it and Eren. ...that shit stains... And I like this flannel. ...oh my, if he tried to hug Spades, she'd need a whole new uniform. "Eren, are you okay? And I think eight swear words is a bit of overkill." Nevertheless his features were etched with worry.

Eren nodded, rubbing at his back. It still fucking hurts though... He looked back towards where he had heard Lathe's voice, and his eyes widened when he saw Spades. "Mom!" He said happily, moving to slowly get up and stand, almost covered in paint. Well, can't really hug her... Fuck. "Do I have time to take a quick shower? Or no?" Eren's voice was still a bit timid as he asked Lathe, but his eyes held onto Lathe's gaze without moving away.

Spades smiled as she saw him get up. Well someone's excited to see me... Awe, he looks like he wants to hug me so bad right now, but he can't cause he's covered in paint. She squeezed Lathe's hand gently still. He's okay... That's the good thing, and he doesn't seem to be in that much pain. She looked up to Lathe as Eren asked him a question, not knowing what time they were actually eating.
He's so excited to see Spades, and thats too damn cute... and he looks like he's okay. That's good. "Well, because of the ridiculous amount of paint you've succeeded in getting onto yourself, and because we can't have paint getting everywhere and staining everything, you can. But be quick, it isn't going to be very long before the rest of the food is ready." He grinned at him. "It won't be more than ten minutes- mainly because the potatoes are being stubborn and refuse to cook. So if you're that fast..." His tone was light-hearted. He actually looked at me when he asked! That's great!

Eren nodded, starting from his spot and sprinting off to the stairs, Blake at his heels as they made it upstairs to start and take the quickest shower of his life.

Spades watched him run up the stairs without another word. "Well, that seems to be taken care of. So, Lathe, what are we having for dinner?" She asked and looked up to him, a small smile on her face and a faint blush. My hand fits perfectly inside of his...

Lathe looked to her, a red dusting over his cheeks. Damn, can I just kiss you again now? Please? "Steak, potatoes, asparagus, apple pie and all the works..." He took his hand from hers, sliding his arms back around her waist and leaning their foreheads together, looking into her eyes. ...Levi can take care of the potatoes. He tilted his head and kissed her again, feeling a fluttering in his stomach as she kissed back, his eyes sliding shut. ...I'm now rather... occupied.

Spades put her hands on his chest, pushing him back against the wall, deepening the kiss as she leaned up to meet him. This feels so right... It's amazing, and he's such a good kisser too...

Lathe let Spades back him up, feeling himself hit the wall, Spades pressed against his front and making his cheeks flush. ...This is quite the interesting development. He let one hand travel up her back, holding the back of her neck, his fingers weaving into her long fiery locks, pulled into a high ponytail that reached her waist. He tentatively swiped his tongue over her lip, not sure how she would react to his asking for entrance.

Spades leaned against his body, slowly opening her mouth for him to enter, her hands running slowly down his chest and then back up to wrap her arms around his strong shoulders. ...I never knew that you would want to do this again... Especially after what happened...

Lathe seemed to hear her thoughts, and he nearly froze, his brain running into overdrive. It's been years since... Lathe for once didn't shut down at the thought, and instead just held onto Spades a bit tighter, his tongue slowly beginning to map out her mouth. ...... It's been so long...... I want to be happy. I want to love again. And I'm going to let myself have what I want for once. He whimpered quietly into her mouth as their tongues rubbed against each other, coiling his around hers. Lathe's strong arm was still around her waist as he stepped forward, off of the wall and gently tilting her back onto her heels, pouring so much affection into the kiss. You taste so sweet... I love it.

Spades let Lathe tilt her back, her arms still tightly wrapped around his shoulders, a hand coming up to weave through his inky locks, moaning into the kiss as their tongues grazed against each other's. You feel so good, and your hair's so soft ... I can't believe I didn't consider this before... How could I be so oblivious? Spades tugged gently at his hair, moving to get her own tongue into his warm cavern. I wanna taste you too. She pressed her hips closer to his, feeling comfortable in his embrace, like the two of them fit together like a mold, it felt so right for the both of them.

... in all the years that have gone by, how did I let myself miss out on so much? Lathe softly moaned into her mouth, his tongue retreating and letting hers into his mouth. He let her press up against him, pulling her flush against him, blushing heavily as Spades moaned, the sound music in his ears. He soon had to break for air, staring into her eyes, his own shining with love and awe. this... this feels right... I think..." Spades sounded breathless and blushed furiously, suddenly scared to say it so soon. *...It hasn't been long... but I just..."

... Is he trying to... Spades leaned her forehead up to his and flashed a smile full of pearly white teeth. She pecked his lips softly, her soft emerald eyes staring into his moonsong ones. "You don't have to say it... If you're not ready to... I'll wait..." She whispered, leaning up to kiss along his jaw gently. Her left hand tangled in his hair while she was pressed right against Lathe's chest, running her other hand down to feel the curve of each and every muscle under his white shirt. I'm surprised you've allowed me this much, but I can't complain at all, you're a wonderful kisser, and it's a good thing you're strong. I've fallen ages ago... Spades continued to kiss his jaw up to his ear and kissing that as well, though she had to pull him down over her so that she could reach. I'm gonna need to get some higher heels so I can kiss him better.

Lathe sighed as she kissed along his jaw, shivering as she nibbled at his ear, dipping down so she had better access, nibbling lightly at the skin under her ear, trailing down slowly, though not hard enough to leave marks, kissing the underside of her jaw, his voice small. "T-thank you..." He smiled faintly against her skin, not wanting to ever have to let go.

"A- hem..."

Lathe pulled his head back from Spades, though his arms didn't give up their hold as he looked over to the stairs, glaring at Eren. "Ex-cuse me?" He brought Spades up from her tilt so she could stand, though he still held her middle protectively. Just because I did it doesn't mean you get to do it.

Eren smirked and motioned them to come upstairs. "Come on, Levi said the potatoes are done..." He then turned and left but not after taking multiple pictures of them with a smile on his face. He went to help Levi set up the table upstairs, and he had a happy smile on his face. ... Maybe I will have a Mom again?... I hope so.

Spades watched him leave with a cheeky smile, letting out a soft chuckle. "I can only imagine what he's gonna do with those pictures." She turned her head back to Lathe, a heavy blush settling across her cheeks as her eyes raked over his appearance. *I gotta say... You look great in flannel... And if I'm being completely honest the busted nose gives you even more points on your sex appeal... But ya know, I think the abs that I just found out about today did that too..."

Lathe just shook his head and grinned. "All I can think is that the whole group isn't going to be in the dark very long." He watched as Spades' eyes traced him up and down, smirking. "See something you like?" I certainly do. Damn, do you look good in uniform. Lathe chuckled as she blushed furiously, nodding to the stairs and gently tugging her along. "Come on, let's go eat." Lathe kept his hand in the small of her back as they ascended the steps, only letting go of her once they had entered the kitchen, pulling out her chair for her.

Spades blushed, moving to sit down, but before she could, Eren came up to her. She felt his hand gently cup her cheek, a smile spreading across her face. "Hello to you too, Eren." Stepping up to him, she wrapped her arms around him in a tight hug. So this is how you greet me now? Not that I mind... Not at all, I'm happy you greet me in a special way.

Eren had a happy smile on his face as he wrapped his arms around her as well. "Hi Mom!" He sounded so much better than he had earlier, but he was still a bit nasally, signalling that he was still pretty sick. I probably shouldn't get Mom sick though. Eren pulled back and motioned for her to sit.

Lathe pushed her chair in after she sat, moving to help Levi set down potholders and serving dishes on the table, starting the coffee maker and setting a kettle on the stove. "Let me guess- you two want tea?" He smiled as Levi and Eren nodded. He turned to Spades, asking. "Coffee, tea, or something else? I know you drink both." It's not like I don't pay attention to these things.

... Well, I've been drinking coffee basically all day so... "A glass of water's fine." Her eyes scanning the food that Lathe had made, and apparently Levi as well. "It all looks amazing!" I wonder if he remembered that asparagus was my favorite? Or did that never come up?

Lathe set a glass of cold water in front of Spades, handing Eren and Levi both a mug of tea and setting down coffee for himself. He made sure everyone had silverware before he sat down, immediately feeling Spades nudging against his feet with her toes. He nudged her right back as they started passing around the dishes, taking as much steak, mashed potatoes, and asparagus with lemon as they wanted. Yes, I remembered that asparagus was your favourite. Don't underestimate me.

Levi passed Eren the dish of asparagus, smirking and starting to play footsie with him. You're starting to look less sick, though you still sound like it. You'll be fine soon enough, though.

Eren made sure he had a good amount of everything, passing off the dish towards Lathe. He picked up his fork, starting with the asparagus, but as soon as he took a bite, his face distorted with disgust for a moment. He put the asparagus back down on his plate, starting with his steak and finding that it was to his liking. I don't like the asparagus... I still don't... Eren continued to eat without touching the asparagus he had taken, not really looking over to Lathe. I don't want him to be upset that I don't like it...

Eren couldn't look over to him and just didn't touch the food. He finished up the rest of his plate, still wary of looking over to Lathe. ...I've never liked asparagus... Or a lot of things... But I've eaten them for you, I didn't want you to be mad at me... Or upset that I didn't like everything you made... Eren wasn't sure what to do with the asparagus on his plate as he just reached for more steak and potatoes, though when he looked back to his plate he found the veggies gone and his brow furrowed. Huh? They were right there... He looked up to see Spades grin.

I got it Eren, don't worry. She had a large grin as she ate the asparagus Eren had pushed off to the side. It's so good... I could get used to Lathe's cooking more often. I wouldn't mind coming here after work for dinner.

Lathe smiled as he watched Spades snitch the veggies off of Eren's plate, easily noticing how off-put Eren seemed. His tone was gentle as he spoke. "It's okay to not like something I make, you know. Everyone doesn't like something when it comes to food. For example, if someone offered me broccoli I'd probably laugh in their face. Well, I'd actually just say no, but it proves the point better. Either way, it's not gonna happen. Which is why I never make it." Lathe chuckled, his expression suddenly falling. ...maybe it's not just the asparagus. "Eren, answer me honestly. Have you just been eating everything I give you so I don't get mad?" *...It sounds like something you'd ... Fuck. Eren's shoulders slumped as he nodded, putting his fork down and putting his hands in his lap. Dammit... Now Dad knows... I don't like a lot of what you make... But I eat it all anyways... He just stared at his food, feeling suddenly full for the first time in months... I don't want to eat anymore than that.

Levi watched in surprise as Eren nodded, reaching his left hand over the table and tugging on Eren's sleeve, coaxing one of his hands up onto the table and twining their fingers together, giving him a small reassuring smile. You know Lathe would bend over backwards to make sure you liked the stuff he made... He wouldn't be mad. He'd probably feel better knowing the stuff he made you really enjoyed.

Lathe sighed, one foot unhooking from Spades' for just a moment to nudge at Eren's, giving him a faint smile as he spoke, his voice and features warm. "Eren, you don't have to do that. You don't have to be afraid that I'll be mad of you don't like something. I'd rather know I made something you genuinely liked rather than not knowing I made something you hated and thinking the opposite because you ate it anyway. If you don't like what I'm making, you can just not take any or ask for something else. I'd be happy to accommodate. You just need to tell me, okay? We can tell each other things. It's the only way we can solve problems, if everyone talks to one another. Please, mention this stuff." It's okay to not like things. And in my position, I want to know this so I can make sure you're happy.

He's not mad at me? Eren looked up to meet Lathe's eyes. "...it's.... It's okay?" Eren asked timidly, his gaze latching onto Lathe's, his eyes timid. It's okay to be picky? He sighed a bit as Levi grabbed his hand and smiled reassuringly at him. At least Levi's okay with it... But is it really okay?

Lathe smiled brightly at him. "Eren, I'd be totally cool with it if you were picky, vegan and avoided gluten like the plague. It's totally fine. I'll make to sure to ask now what you want to eat instead of just handing stuff to you. And just start telling me this stuff. A meal isn't supposed to be dreaded, it's when we're all at the table. We're supposed to enjoy it. Help me make sure we can do that, okay?" Lathe kept his gaze as he spoke, his features soft. It's okay to ask, to tell me all this. To look at me while doing either. It's all fine. Swear it.

So... He's okay with it then? I don't have to force myself to eat everything he puts in my plate? His eyes seem to brighten at his words, a small smile forming on his face. "O-okay." He said and smiled softly, his fingers twining further into Levi's hand. I guess it really is okay.

Progress... I think he was actually looking Lathe in the eye and telling him... I wonder how much he's forced himself to eat for Lathe? It can't be that much... Can it? It seems like he's enjoyed most of the food Lathe's made for him in the past year and a half, and he seems to have filled out nicely since then as well. She smiled softly and continued to eat as Eren continued to hold eye contact with Lathe.

He's actually keeping eye contact with Lathe. This is great! Levi gently squeezed Eren's hand, using his free hand to pick at his plate. He soon set his fork down, his right hand moving to twine with Eren's other hand, their feet still tangled under the table.

Lathe's eyes were bright as Eren held his gaze, only returning his attention to his plate and his girlfriend— ...this is official isn't it. Spades is my girlfriend...I don't think I'd ever get tired of saying that. - after Eren turned his attention back to Levi. He brought his left foot back to push against Spades', finishing his plate shortly and setting down his mug, noting everyone else was finished. "Would anyone like dessert? Apple pie, and vanilla ice cream if anyone wants some?" He looked to the three of them. I have to remember to ask now.

That just sounds sweet. Eren shook his head, his hands still holding onto Levi's. "No thank you." His voice was still very nasally. I still sound sick.

Eren still sounds sick. "I'll have some, more pie though, I haven't had it in forever." Her smile was very wide as she got up to help with some dishes. I can at least do that much...

Levi nodded. "Just a small piece, please." He didn't move to get up, not wanting to unlace his fingers from Eren's.

Lathe nodded and stood, getting ice cream from the freezer and turning as he heard the sink, seeing Spades starting to wash dishes. Spades, you really don't have to... He just lightly chuckled as she looked at him, nodding her head. She's not giving up anytime soon. He set the carton on the counter, noting where the plates were with a mischievous grin. They're above Spades. He stepped behind her, one hand deciding to rest on the counter edge next to her as he reached overhead to the cabinets, lightly pressing Spades against the counter. "Excuse me." His voice had dropped an octave, his lips ghosting over the shell of her ear and winking at her as he too soon had to move aside with the smaller plates, cutting up the pie and scooping ice cream.

Spades blushed heavily, her eyes trailing over Lathe's relaxed form. He looks really good, that shirt... It makes his arms pop out, along with that mop of hair he's got. It just... Holy shit, he's sexy... How did I never realize this before? Her eyes trailed down to Lathe's hands as he worked to delicately place plates at the table with ice cream and pie. His hands... God, what would they feel like? Gentle, heavy, large... Shit! You need to stop thinking about that, Spades! You know he's a complete virgin! He'd think you're way too pushy! Spades' face flushed completely, her gaze focusing on the dishes and finishing them up, trying not to sneak looks at Lathe and failing miserably. Let's see, his hands... They'd probably feel amazing... Who am I kidding? I'm in way too deep already and he hasn't so much as led onto the fact that he'll really be comfortable with me... I mean, he did have someone that he was with before... Viola, bless her soul... but I don't want to make him think I want to take her place... But it just feels so right being next to him. She put the dishes away, trying to calm herself down, her cheeks almost matching the same shade of her hair. Her smile widened a bit as she noticed the large amount of pie in front of her seat. She sat beside Eren picking up her fork and letting out a quiet moan as she tasted the sweet pie. He hasn't made me one of these in forever.

Eren watched the three of them sit down and eat the sweet desserts. I... What if Lathe gets angry with me when he realizes I don't like a majority of the food he makes? You'll be fine... Don't worry!

But how can I not? I've been forcing myself to eat everything he made for a year and a half...

Well, you must've figured out what you don't like by now, right?

But won't he get tired of making me something different everytime he makes food that he likes?

Probably not... But you should probably ask him. Eren nodded, taking in a deep breath, regretting it as he started to cough horribly, whimpering when he had enough time between coughs to breathe. It still fucking hurts. He curled up in his chair, trying to alleviate the pain in his chest everytime he coughed.

Lathe smirked as he felt Spades’ eyes on him as he worked, noticing her heavy blush. ...*Did just a bit of teasing really make her face the same shade of red as her hair? Or is her mind getting away from her? ...Probably the latter. Lathe set down his own plate and immediately tangled their feet together again, blushing as he heard her quiet moan. ...I don't think I'd mind hearing that again... maybe a bit louder... Lathe Autonomous Quo, stop that right now! It hasn't even been a day and you're going to start fantasizing? Naw. Chill. He stared intently at his plate, but when he heard Eren roughly start to cough he was immediately at his side, rubbing small circles into his back and trying to get him to relax. "It's okay, Eren, just stay calm, it'll pass..." Lathe murmured to him until his coughs died down, retrieving cough medicine from his bag and handing him some. "Your throat is getting a bit better it sounds like, but we can't have you coughing yourself awake so much overnight again." That was fun. Lol no it wasn't, that's a lie and everyone knows it.

Not that stuff again... Eren looked at the medicine with a hint of disgust in his eyes and he tried to swallow it down like a trooper. He got halfway through the medicine before his eyes widened and he struggled to keep in a coughing fit, coughing horribly, enough that he coughed the syrup like medicine all over his shirt. He continued to cough, his whole body shaking as he gripped onto Lathe's arm. His eyes now full of fear from almost choking on the coughing medicine. No... I almost choked on that stuff... His fit lasted much longer than the previous one, dying down a bit after Eren was already completely exhausted, his hand weakly reaching out for the napkins on the table.

Spades stood up and moved to help clean Eren up. That must've taken all his strength to keep his food down... He looks completely exhausted. "It's okay Eren, we're right here, don't worry." She took the napkins from him and wiped at the drool from his chin along with the medicine from his shirt and helping to try and calm him down, letting Blake get close to him and lick his face. That probably scared him, when he almost choked on that... Dammit Spades! This is not the time for you to be thinking like that! Get your mind out of the fucking gutter!

Lathe set down the medicine on the table and held onto Eren, which was all he could do while waiting for the fit to pass. He carded a hand through Eren's hair, gratefully looking up to Spades as she helped to clean him up, pressing a kiss to his temple. "I guess we'll wait

Eren shook his head, struggling to breathe without starting another coughing fit. No! Not again! No! His eyes had fear laced in them as he looked up to Spades as if asking her if he really needed to take them and risk choking on the water. It hurts ... I don't want to do it again. Tears were quickly forming in the corners of his eyes as yet another fit started though thankfully this one wasn't as long as the previous, but it left Eren utterly exhausted. I'm fucking exhausted... And my body feels like frozen lead. He leaned back into Lathe, his whole body ridiculously warm, yet he felt as cold as ice, his eyes half-closed, and the sweat already starting to form from all of this. I wanna go to bed.

Levi stood and stepped around the table, Lathe moving out of his way as he caught Eren, pulling his chair out and scooping him up. He cradled him close to his chest, looking to Lathe. "I'll get him in bed, don't worry." He looked to Spades, not sure of what to say and simply nodding, giving her a faint smile and turning to go upstairs to tuck Eren into Lathe's bed. Lathe needs to say goodbye to Spades... and I get the feeling they're not just going to use words.

Lathe looked back to Spades after Levi had disappeared, not sure of what to say or how to say it. ... she has work tomorrow... And she has to go, but I want to hold onto her just a little bit longer... Crap, I'm no good at this ... Lathe nervously took a step forward, blushing as he took gentle hold of her waist and pulled her close. He rested his forehead against hers, enjoying the feeling of her pressed against him before he tilted his head and kissed her, sweetly and deeply.

Spades blushed, her lips meeting his with added vigor. His lips are so soft, it's amazing... She pulled back a bit, her hands moving to his shirt collar and pulling him towards the door taking him into the piano room only a few feet. She moved to push him down on the couch, giggling at his slightly confused expression. This is gonna be great. She kneeled on the couch, straddling his lap, her hands coming up to cup his face. So gorgeous... She closed her eyes, leaning in to kiss him deeply. Couches are my favorite, cause his damn legs aren't in the way... And I can kiss him without either of us craning our necks.

Lathe's eyes widened a fraction as Spades straddled him, blushing scarlet as she seemed to loom over him, his head in her hands. He swallowed hard, though he relaxed when Spades kissed him, his tongue swiping across her lip and tangling with hers as she granted him entry. He moaned softly into the kiss, his hands moving of their own accord and slipping into her back pockets. ...it's a good thing you're this forward, because I'm sure as hell not. You feel so amazing... I... I can't help it... But I know you're definitely interested that way... Lathe smiled faintly into the kiss. Can't exactly say I don't feel the same...

Spades let out a soft gasp as his hands moved into her back pockets, gently cradling her ass. Fuck his hands are huge... I swear to god... This is probably the best I've felt in a long time, and I've never fucking realized how close it was to me. She moved to kiss him deeper, happy that his tongue tangled around hers in a sweet dance. So soft... So wonderful. Spades pressed herself down a bit onto his lap as his hands stayed in her pockets. Her own hands left his cheeks and wandered from his collar to slowly trail down his abs over the white shirt he wore. Her eyes closed as she felt every inch of Lathe's trunk.

Lathe quietly whimpered into her mouth as her hands moved down over his sides, feeling a small pulse run through him as she pressed herself further into his lap. ...but it's only the first date, technically... Dammit. Lathe pushed the feeling down, breaking the kiss and moving to suckle on Spades' neck, leaving tiny red marks in his wake. His hands gently massaged Spades' ass as he kissed and licked and nibbled down to the soft skin at the joint of her neck. ...I want to hear you...

Spades let out a quiet gasp, her hands coming up from his abs to tangle in his black hair. A soft moan escaping from her lips as she felt him nibble at her neck. "Lathe." She let out a soft sigh as she moved her hips with his hands, inadvertently grinding onto him. "Lathe... Not too dark okay?" She asked quietly, her hands carding through his soft hair. His mouth feels so good... Everywhere...

A shudder ran through Lathe's body in double time as Spades ground against him, forcing down the feeling of arousal and shifting her back just a bit, humming in assent and being careful not to leave a mark that would bruise. Right, she needs to look professional tomorrow... and I don't want to go much further than this for right now... Lathe's hands slid from her pockets, having a mind of their own as they moved lower to cup her ass, running down her thighs and up her front, wandering freely all over her as he kissed to the other side of her neck, tugging her collar aside and deciding to attack a spot well hidden by her uniform shirt, sucking harder at the skin. I need to hear you... please.

Lathe! Spades blushed as she moaned out a little louder than she intended to. "Ha... Lathe..." She looked down to him with hooded eyes. You feel so good. Her hands traveled down to the hem of his shirt, slowly letting her hands travel underneath to his warm skin. "So good..." She moaned out quietly in his ear, letting him move her around. Lathe... I want more... His hands felt like fire, leaving a trail of sensation wherever he touched her body. No man has ever made me feel like this... None of them have... This is amazing... And he's been right here... This whole time.

Lathe shivered as her fingers brushed over his skin, melting under her touch as she traced the lines of his chest. He moaned into her neck as her voice became a bit louder in his ear, biting her neck one last time and pulling away as a thought occurred to him. ...she can't read minds... I still need to do some thinking before I decide if I'm okay with going further... If I'm okay with bending my rules for you... Because I've... I've never done this before... Lathe gently placed a hand on Spades' chest, his eyes pleading with her to understand. "Spades, I... I really like this, but.. I don't want to go further than this just yet... I need to think about it. I'm sorry..." Lathe looked away from her, embarrassed. I probably got her hopes up too much to only let her down... Shit...

Does he think I'm upset with him? Spades chuckled softly, moving her hands from under his shirt and gently holding his cheeks. She made sure he was looking directly at her and leaned her forehead against his, looking into his eyes, her own soft. "That's okay.... I told you I would wait." She smiled softly, leaning down give him a chaste kiss before sitting up a bit. "I should probably start heading home though." She murmured against his lips.

Lathe's eyes shone as she spoke, leaning up to meet her chaste kiss with quiet fire. Thank you. He broke away from her, pulling back and studying her flushed face, a look of awe on his face as he brushed stray strands of hair from her face, his fingers ghosting over her cheek. Beautiful. He suddenly spoke, his voice laced with hope. "Do you want to come over again tomorrow?" His hand drifted from her chest to her waist, a gentle weight. You can always come over. All the time.

Hmm... That's tempting. She smiled softly as he kissed her. "7:30?" She asked quietly. I'll probably have time to change tomorrow though, I need to get out of this uniform though... She slowly clambered off of him to standing, a frown on her face as she had to get away from his arms. I kinda really don't want to leave.... But.... I'm assuming that Eren's gonna be sleeping with Lathe today... So I should probably head home.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe looked up to the clock, noting the time. She'll be here soon. Spades and I have the house all to ourselves today... Eren was doing absolutely awful for three days after she first came over, able to hold pretty much nothing down. The flu passed, though, and his fever finally broke. He's finally doing much, much better, and Levi dragged him over to his apartment earlier today to spend the night. Finally, he and Eren can have their time together... He set the table for the two of them, a fresh red rose in a vase in the center of the table, the lights dim with a small candle burning next to the flower. Faint piano music could be heard in the background. ...hopefully I didn't go too overboard... I just want this to be special... I've done so much thinking, and... I want to bend my rules for her. I'm okay with it. And I know she's been holding herself back, she's been so understanding... I want to make this about her. She's been too wonderful... She deserves it. He had just finished setting everything up when the doorbell rang. He looked up, tugging on the collar of his dark red dress shirt- he figured out quickly Spades loved him in red, and decided the red dress shirt with a black tie and dress pants would be perfect, given she was always in formal uniform- and padded over to the door, opening it and smiling warmly to Spades, sweeping her inside by the waist and sweetly kissing her, pushing the door shut with his foot behind him and cupping her cheek with his free hand. He breathed against her lips, his eyes sparkling as her looked into her eyes. "Hello~" His voice had dropped an octave, looking into her eyes.
Spades had a wide smile on her face as she kissed her, the smallest blush already across her cheeks. You look sexy as all hell, then again, you are in red, sly bastard... Spades smiled as she put her bag down by the staircase, blushing a bit at what she had actually brought. Maybe a tank top is too revealing for him?... Well not that I'm bragging or anything, but no tank tops fit well with my rack. She smiled as she saw that the lights in the kitchen were turned down and the house relatively quiet save for the piano music in the bathroom. "No kids today?" She asked with some surprise. I would've thought at least Eren would've been home... But that's fine, it'll be nicer for the both of us then.

Lathe smirked, a light in his eye as he responded. "Nope, they're spending the night at Levi's apartment." He stepped forward, catching Spades by the waist again and purring into her ear. "We have the house ~all to ourselves."

Spades had a huge blush on her face. *Did he just...? Did he invite me to spend the night because the house was empty? .... Does that mean...? I mean it could, but I shouldn't get my hopes up, I know his rules that he's abided by. She turned her head, pecking at his cheek. "So, what's for dinner?" She asked quietly, leaning over to get out of her high heels. Feels great to finally get out of them... I've been in them all day. Once she got out of her heels she stood up, now a full 8 inches shorter than him, and smiled softly at him. I'm really looking forward to whatever it is that your brilliant mind decided to make me.

Lathe chuckled quietly as he saw her heavy blush, smiling as she pecked his cheek. "Shrimp scampi over homemade pasta. Dessert..." Lathe trailed off, grinning devilishly. "-something sweet." I can only imagine... He gently pulled her along to the kitchen, pulling out her chair for her. "What would you like to drink?"

Spades' face flushed completely and she sat down at the table. "U-um... just w-water please." She smiled softly, trying to hide her face with her fiery hair. Wait... hold on... Am I being considered dessert? Wait, does he actually want that? I mean, I'm happy about it, but I don't want to push him. She watched as she was served and thanked him starting into the food and smiling widely. "It's really good Lathe, thank you." She blushed, her face showing just how happy she was to be alone with him. It's really good... Fuck it, I'm in too deep, and I love that he cooks.

Lathe smirked as he saw her go scarlet to her ears, setting a generous plate in front of her along with a glass of cold water. He immediately tangled their feet together after he sat down, smiling as she spoke. "Thank you, I'm glad you like it." He let his eyes wander over her soft tan features, following the curve of her lips with interest before returning to his food, trying his hardest not to stare and set her too on edge. I can't help it... She's just too damn gorgeous. They ate quietly, enjoying the solace and the other's steady presence, the soft ambient sound of piano music keeping away the stress of a need to fill the otherwise complete quiet with some sort of chatter. Lathe waited until Spades had finished to take their plates to the sink, simply setting them in before padding back to the table, his nails tracing over the wood as he spoke, the flickering of the candle reflecting in his eyes. "So then, Spades..." He pushed her chair back a bit with his foot, one leg coming up to kneel next to her as he cupped her face gently, his eyes shaded as his head dipped down to rest their foreheads together, his voice a low and quiet purr. "...are you ready for dessert?... I know I'm being really forward, but I can't get you out of my head... I really, really want this..." He's serious? Spades watched him get closer with wide eyes, but she put her hands on his chest gently pushing him off of her, her eyes glancing away from him. "L-Lathe... um... how do I say this... Isn't this against your rules? I don't want you to feel like you need to do this... I don't want you to be pressured to do anything. So please don't force yourself to do this..." She trailed off as her eyes came up to meet his. He looks so sure of himself... But... Isn't this against his rules?

Lathe let his hands slide down to her shoulders as he pulled away a bit, giving her a soft shrug and smile. "Spades, believe me, I wouldn't be so forward if I wasn't sure I wanted this. By 'this,' I don't mean all the way; that part of my rules isn't breakable. But everything else... well, you know me." He gave her a small grin. "I tend to bend rules. If it's for you... I think it'd definitely be worth it. I really, really want this." His eyes held a hopeful look. "-so may I?" Please, say YES!

So he is completely serious... So that means... Oh wow ... Spades blushed and bit her lip in an almost seductive manner, standing up to wrap her arms around his shoulders, pulling him down to her height. "If you'll let me..." She purred playfully into his ear and kissed the shell of it. He's really hot when he's like this... I like it... I didn't think I would, but it's great when he's this confident.

Lathe shivered as she spoke, his arms moving around her waist and tugging her with him. "Upstairs." He pulled her to the staircase, snatching her overnight bag as they passed it and bringing her into his bedroom, the lights inside dim as well, setting the bag by the door and kicking it shut. He kissed her deeply as they made their way to the bed, gently pushing her back onto it and climbing over her, able to keep his weight majorly on his knees as his hands wandered over her figure freely, tracing her curves, tangling their tongues together and tasting her greedily. He didn't try to force down the pulse of arousal that ran through him, for the first time allowing the sensations to take him over.

Spades allowed him to take her through the house, happy that he grabbed her bag. He always thinks of everything... She let their tongues tangle together when he pushed her down on the bed and climbed over her. His hands left trails like fire down her body, making her shiver under his gentle touch. She pulled back with a gasp, looking at him with hooded eyes. "L-Lathe..." She stuttered softly as she saw the lust in his eyes for the first time. "Fuck he's sexy as all hell... and he's with me... Her smile grew as she lifted a hand up to cup his cheek, her hair splayed out under her on the bed. Her other hand went down to his buttons and started to slowly undo them. Damn you for wearing red... you know it's my favorite color.

Lathe relished in the lustful look Spades had in her emerald eyes, tugging at his tie and loosening it, dipping his head down as he lifted the loop over his head and discarded it on the floor next to the bed uncaring and letting his mouth wander over her jaw towards her neck, himself starting to undo the buttons of her uniform jacket and shirt. "Stop being a damn tease already." He murmured against her skin, shuddering and not feeling too patient, starting to leave small marks down her neck as he kissed and licked and suckled on the soft skin. He shrugged off his shirt as she finally finished unbuttoning it after an agonizingly long moment and tossed it aside, pulling back from her as he tugged at her now unbuttoned uniform top, wanting her to help him get rid of it. This is coming off now. But I don't want to tear it. But it has to go.

Spades smirked, slowly sitting up and moving to discard her uniform shirt, leaving her in a white tank top, which was barely able to hold itself with her curves every which way, though she would let Lathe explore that, along with the black lace bra she wore under it. She tilted her head to the side, giving him a show of her bare skin which was now exposed. Come on, I wanna see you go crazy ... Spades was already playfully reaching down to unbuckle his belt, and got it off of him, tugging at the hem of his dress pants, staring at his ripped torso with hungry eyes. How did I not notice you before? She let a hand come up to splay down his chest, towards his defined v-line. I can only imagine what awaits me down there.

Lathe grinned, looking down at her almost predatorily as her hands ran down his chest, studying the skin clear of any mark except one nearly faded bruise. ... Now that just won't do. He leaned down and immediately began suckling at the soft, sweet skin, leaving a collar of hickeys in his wake. His own hands wandered from her shoulders down her chest, feeling the soft flesh through the thin fabric as he cupped her breasts, sliding lower over her stomach to tug at the waistband of her pants. He felt Spades pulling at his own, and he murmured against her skin. "Please." He unbuttoned her own, tugging down the zipper and letting her kick them off. His hands played with the hem of her tank top before pulling that over her head, pulling back and drinking in her form, blushing heavily as he noted her choice of lingerie. ... holy fuck. He shifted to kick off his dress pants after Spades unzipped them, unable to keep himself from staring in awe at her. ... my God, you're absolutely stunning ...

Spades visibly swallowed as her eyes scanned over Lathe's toned body, both of her hands coming up from where she lay on the bed and sliding over his skin. He's so handsome... Her hands had minds of their own as they trailed down Lathe's muscular arms, back up to his shoulders and starting to go down his chest, relishing in the muscles rippling under the sweet skin. She let out a loud moan as he gripped her sensitive breasts and she allowed him the full sight of her in black lingerie. I wonder if this was a good idea? I was hoping for this... So I decided with the black. Her hands felt each and every muscle in his chest, slowly coming down to meet with his boxers, her thumbs fooling with the edge, one hooking in and pulling them down, but not enough to reveal his length. No no, not yet, I want to tease you first. Her sly smile faded to a look of pure surprise as her hand cupped his bulge, feeling just how large Lathe really was. ... Holy shit! The saying's not lying in his case... Holy crap... He's fucking huge! Spades' face was full of wonder, surprise, awe and excitement all in one, and completely there for Lathe to see. "Well you certainly are packing."

Lathe moaned quietly as her hand cupped his length through his boxers, not trying to hold back from the pleasure. At her words, it was the first time in this entire encounter that Lathe felt a flicker of nervousness, breathlessly chuckling as his own hands ran down her skin and toyed with the lace hem of her panties, one hand running up the piece of slightly damp fabric that covered her folds. "Well you certainly look like you hoped this would happen." ... why else would you wear that? ...You're too damn good to me.

Spades shivered as she felt his hand run up between her legs, letting out a soft moan. "Trust me... I've been waiting long enough." She murmured seductively, her hands trailing back from his bulge to the hem of his boxers, beginning to pull them down. She bit her lip seductively as she watched his massive length spring free from it's confines. Spades moved a bit closer to him, sitting up to lean up and kiss him as her hands ghosted over his throbbing muscle. He's fucking huge... Not that I'm complaining... But will I be able to show him a good time too? She tilted her head a bit to get a deep kiss, moaning as she felt his hands roam all over her, mostly on her lace lingerie, and toying with them.

Lathe shifted to kick off his boxers, whimpering quietly into the kiss as he felt Spades' hands tracing over his length, his toes curling at the sensation, the pleasure completely uncharted territory for him. I'm not going to last very long, I hope she realises that... I've never done anything like this before, and that includes touching myself... but she knew my rules... and this isn't all about me.
This is about her. Lathe coiled their tongues as one hand slipped behind her back, feeling the latch of her bra and tracing down it, deftly undoing it. He slipped the lacy bra off of her shoulders, dropping it on the floor next to the bed. His hands moved to gently massage her breasts, his thumbs teasing her hardening nipples.

Spades moaned as soon as his hands touched her sensitive globes. Her head pulled back from the kiss as she moaned even louder when her nipples were teased. Dammit Lathe.... Her back arched a bit as he continued to message her soft flesh. "Ha... Lathe.... Ha...." She moaned out his name, her hands letting go of his length and favoring the sheets underneath her. His hands.... Holy shit.... It's almost like he's done this before.... But I know he hasn't... it feels so good.. Her cries came in loud strings as Lathe's thumbs continued to graze her now completely hard nipples, but never focus on them completely. Tease.... But I don't care....

Lathe dipped his head down to suckle on her neck, his mouth drifting below her collarbone to her chest, his hand running down across her stomach to play with the lace hem of her panties as he began to suckle on her breast. His tongue circled the hardened nub as he rolled the other between his fingers, lightly grazing it with his teeth before switching to the other, his hand tugging her panties over her hips, helping her kick them off and dropping the dampened lace off the bed. His hand lightly ran up her folds, rubbing her clit experimentally. He was deaf to the rest of the world, his full attention on Spades, every sound she made, every arch of her back and curve of her body. You sound so damn sexy ... I could listen to you forever ... The way my name sounds from your mouth, holy shit...

Spades let out a sharp cry as Lathe's finger rub her clit, moans escaping from her plump lips without restraint. Her legs moving a bit farther apart to give him access to her folds, moaning as his hands continued to rub over her sensitive areas. "L-Lathe.... ha... right there.... ha, give me more.... Please." Spades' body writhed under his magical hands, letting him work her body, steadily getting hotter and her whole body flushing as he continued. His hands.... they're so good. They feel like fire ... everywhere he touches feels so hot. Spades let out a soft mewl as his hand continued to massage her large breasts, his mouth like magic on her nipples.

Lathe's mouth released her abused nipples, kissing down her stomach, his hand moving from chest to run down her hip and up her inside thighs, pressing butterfly kisses to her hips. He kissed and nibbled down her inner thigh, coming up slowly and teasingly, switching between the two sides as his hands roamed her stomach. He slowly kissed upward, tentatively reaching her folds and forcing down his nerves, licking the rosy skin.

Spades let out a loud gasp as Lathe's warm, wet tongue trailed across her folds. Holy shit... She couldn't help turf curling up to him, her legs roaming over his shoulders, her heels digging into his back. " Holy shit ... Lathe... Right there! God Yes! " Her back arched off the mattress, giving him a good angle to see her whole body as she shuddered under his touch. So fucking good.... I haven't felt and like this in a long time... She continued to moan, her left hand coming to cup her abandoned breast and tease herself as he continued, the other making it's way to his inky locks and tangling her fingers in them.
Lathe looked up her with hooded eyes, his gaze raking over her body, a panting moaning mess. Shit, that's hot... He watched as she teased herself, his length throbbing at the sight, her moans reverberating in his head. ... That sound, holy fuck... ... How have you been right in front of me this whole damn time and I haven't noticed?! And about that... He reached his hands up to massage her globes, pinching and rolling her nipples between his fingers. His tongue trailed up to her clitoris, suckling hard on the nub. His teeth accidentally slipped, lightly biting the nub. His eyes widened, pulling back a bit and looking up with a flicker of worry, though he was slightly confused as Spades' moans got even louder, recognition suddenly passing over his features. He dipped back down, licking the small nub in apology and lightly biting it again, listening intently. He smirked as she let out loud strings of moans and his name, deciding to move and teasingly nibble along her folds, his broad tongue licking long strips up the abused skin. So that's how you like it...

Spades almost screamed from the pleasure she was experiencing. That's it! Do it like that! Holy shit! Lathe you feel amazing... Oh my god do it more! Do more to me! I wanna feel everything, go harder! Her thoughts everywhere as she felt his tongue and teeth graze her sweet folds. It's so warm... I feel so hot... Lathe... You make me feel... Amazing... and I fucking love it.

Lathe shuddered at her voice, his length throbbing almost painfully from neglect. He barely noticed, his fingers twisting harder at her nipples as his mouth moved back up to suck roughly on her clit. He brought one hand down from her breast, fingers splayed and trailing down her stomach, bringing one finger to her entrance, swiping over it teasingly before he pressed his index finger in slowly, feeling up her soft wet walls and thrusting in and out, soon adding a second finger as she quickly loosened for him, his fingers slick with her arousal and his pace speeding up as her hips tried to move against him. He moaned against her as her hand tugged sharply on his dark locks, looking up and meeting her eyes, his own filled with lust.

Spades gasped out of shock as he entered her, moaning even louder that she already was, her frantic cries filling the room. Lathe... It feels so good! Your fingers... they're like fucking magic. Dammit... I want you to do more... God, I want more, I'm obsessed... god dammit. Lathe..." Give me more, Lathe! Haaa... It feels.... Haaa... It feels really good!" Her voice was high, as she arched her back. It feels so good...But he hasn't found my- Spades let out a soft scream when Lathe's fingers finally grazed her g-spot. "There! Right there Lathe!" She shouted out to him, her back arching further up, and her heels digging even more into his back to try and rock her hips to get more of his fingers inside of her. "Fuck! Please don't tease me Lathe! Fucking shit... Her body started to curl in on itself, trying to feel as much pleasure as possible, the pleasure starting to build as Lathe continued to find spot after spot which made her go wild. *

Lathe moaned against her, sucking hard on her clt and slipping a third finger inside of her. He decided to have mercy and aimed for her g-spot, his other hand tweaking her nipple as he abused the spot deep inside of her, licking long streaks up her folds, tasting her and letting his teeth graze the sensitive skin. ...You taste so sweet... I love it. His eyes were hooded as he looked up to her, her flushed skin and dark eyes, the soft curves of her body and her lips as she moaned unabashed. He curled his fingers inside of her, hitting that spot dead on with relentless thrusts. *I want to hear you Spades moaned out loudly, her body continued to shiver. "L-Lathe... R-right there.... ughh... I can't... much longer..." Her moans were loud as he whole body throbbed. It feels good... It feels really good... Lathe you're a fking sex god, dammit... How have you never done this before? Her hips moving of their own accord, rocking back in time with Lathe's fingers. Her own hands were tangled in both his hair and the sheets below her and gripping relentlessly as she felt the pressure start to build in her lower regions. "Lathe... I'm almost..." She couldn't continue as she moaned out from the continued pleasure.

Your voice, my God... Lathe's hand thrusted into her fast, deep and hard, aiming without hesitation for that same spot, nibbling her clit and toying with it with his tongue. He caught her gaze with his dark eyes, not pausing for an instant in his movements as he held her sight. His eyes were dark, his pupils blown wide with lust.

Then let go. Let go and let me hear you.

Spades let out a very loud scream of ecstasy, her whole body shuddering from Lathe's movements, and his mouth flooding with her juices. "L athe!" She cried out in complete bliss as the orgasm continued to it's finish, her body starting to go limp in his hands, her arm coming up to hide her flushed face. Holy shit... I don't think I've actually had an orgasm like that before... Her body heaved, trying to get her breath back from the extreme bliss.

Lathe drew his hand from her, lapping up her juices before he leaned forward, her knees sliding from his shoulders as he reached to move her arm from her face, his hand cradling her cheek as he pressed butterfly kisses to her jaw, his length painfully hard against his stomach as waves of arousal coursed through him, from hearing Spades moaning and screaming his name. His touch was gentle, his other hand resting on her side as he let her catch her breath. His voice was a low whisper near her ear, kissing the lobe. "Do you know how damn sexy you looked? My God, you're gorgeous ..." He played with the fiery hair at the nape of her neck, his thumb rubbing lightly over her side. Take all the time you need...

I can only imagine what the hell I looked like... Spades chuckled softly, her eyes soft as her hands came up to push Lathe off of her and beside her. "Yeah, that felt amazing ...but..." She moved slowly up to sit between his legs on her knees, a soft smile on her face as her hair came over her shoulders to cover her breasts. Her hand came up to gently grasp his throbbing length. "You could use some... attention ..." She smirked, moving to lay down between his legs, her face close to his exceptional muscle, her breath warm on the base. But I'm gonna tease you first.

Lathe's eyes widened as she flipped their positions, blushing as she moved between his legs. He moaned as she took hold of his neglected length, fluttering completely as he felt her breath on his shaft. ... Please ."S-Spades... I won't last l-long..." He panted, nervous and excited. I've never... It feels so good already... But it's not going to be long... He fisted at the sheets, his eyes hooded and latched onto Spades. *Please .

Oh... I know you won't! She smirked and teasingly licked a stripe up the base of his member, licking from base to tip and swirling it around his massive head. "L ateh... You're so big... I love it." She whispered against the hot skin, kissing him from base to tip until she took his whole head in her mouth, sucking gently. I know you won't last... But you make up for it in size .

Lathe groaned loudly, his head dropping back against the pillows, his toes curling and heels digging into the bed as Spades sealed her lips over the head of his length, flushing at her words. He quietly whimpered, loud moans and fragmented words tumbling from his mouth. "S-Spades... Nngh... D-don't stop... S-so good ..." ... this is worth bending those rules a thousand times over.

Spades smirked and came off of him with a seductive pop. Hmm... I wanna tease him. "I dunno, I think I should stop." She watched him with a mischievous glare. Her hand grasping him tightly at the base to hold him off. Lathe... I wanna see you beg for it... "That is, unless you decide to beg for it..." She told him softly, with a sweet smile.

Anything. Lathe was breathless as he responded, his words running together in desperation. "N-No, Spades, don't stop, please don't stop, it feels too good, you have to keep going, please ..." I don't care if I have to beg just for the love of god don't stop.

That worked. Spades returned her mouth around his monstrous length, nearly choking as she tried to take in more than a few inches. I can't even fucking give him a proper blow, he's too fucking big... She had a gentle hand on the base, stroking whatever she couldn't fit and struggling to suck whatever she could fit inside her mouth. So fucking big.... I can only begin to imagine what it would feel like inside of me. Her whole face flushed as bright as he hair with just the thought, though she knew better than to get on top of him without his consent, knowing she'd need to have a ring on it to be with him. She hummed gently on his thick prick. Come on... I wanna see you when you cum. Her eyes stayed glued on his face as he watched her.

Lathe moaned loudly as she took as much of his length in as she could, unable to tear his eyes away from Spades as she sucked him, feeling a pressure quickly building in the pit of his stomach. "S-Spades, I-" Lathe tried to warn her, though he let out a loud moan of *Spades' name as she hummed on his length, his expression one of pure bliss as he finally came and came hard, becoming limp on the bed and letting Spades suck him dry. ...Oh my God... Lathe felt Spades leave his length, trying to find the strength to lean up on his elbow somewhat and gently pull Spades closer to him by the chin, kissing her deeply and cupping her cheek. He rested their foreheads together, looking warmly into Spades' eyes, his voice a quiet whisper against her lips. "...I love you... Ieva." The name, so often unused, sounded so familiar in his voice, warm and full of awe.

Spades smiled softly, moving to get closer to him, so that she could lay down beside him. That was a huge load... he wasn't kidding when he said he's never touched himself... "I love you... Lathe..." She smiled more, leaning her body against his, her head ducking down to his neck and starting to suckle gently at his skin, leaving a few light marks across the skin. Even his skin tastes wonderful...

Lathe sighed contentedly, leaning his head back to give Spades more room to mark him. He pulled her close to him, his hands a steady weight on her waist. He glanced down and hooked the blanket with his foot, one arm reaching to pull it up over their still naked bodies. He was too happy to have Spades marking him, his eyes suddenly feeling heavy with sleepiness. He nudged Spades to pull away after she had given him plenty of marks, turning her away from him and wrapping his arms around her middle, pulling her flush against him. He pressed butterfly kisses to her shoulder blade, soon burying his nose in her fiery red hair and mumbling quietly and sweetly against her neck, a small smile on his face. "G'night, Spades... Sleep well." ... Thank you.

God... He's so comfortable. Spades murmured something softly, but the words so soft, Lathe wouldn't've been able to make it out. Her body pressed flush against his under the covers, molding together as if they were meant to be together. Her eyes fluttered shut and it wasn't long until Spades had fallen asleep in Lathe's arms. I would do this a hundred times over... It feels so right...

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

Lathe was the first of the two of them to wake up, his eyes taking a moment to focus before he recognised a shock of red hair, a soft smile coming over his face, his eyes holding so much affection as they traced her shoulder up to her face, hidden from him. He glanced to the clock, deciding ten was late enough and started to lightly nibble up the back of her shoulder, her neck, pressing light, feathery kisses to her skin, his hands keeping her close. "~Spades..." He quietly whisper-sang against her skin, his nibbles moving to the back of the joint of her neck. Time to wake up...

Spades shifted a bit under his arms, feeling something pull her close to warm skin. Her eyes fluttered open as she yawned, widely, humming as she took in the new surroundings. Where the fuck am I? ..... oh... Oh... Oh, I'm in Lathe's room... I'm in his arms. She shuffled around a bit under the sheets, a blush creeping across her face. And the both of us are completely naked... We certainly did that last night, it wasn't just a hopeful dream on my part... it actually happened! A smile spread across her face as she leaned her head to the side a bit, giving him even more access to her neck. "Mhmm, 'morning..." Her voice was a bit rough from having just woken up, but she looked like the pinnacle of beauty as she looked back to Lathe with sleepy eyes.

Lathe had stars in his eyes as he gazed up at her, feeling like he was falling in love with her all over again. He softly kissed up her neck, moving up to cup her face, his words quiet against her lips. "Good morning." He kissed her sweetly and chastely, his other hand remaining at her waist as she shifted to face him more. Their legs tangled together, warm and content in their embrace. ... I would mind waking up like this more... or all the time...

... This is nice... I like this, his arms fit perfectly around me... She smiled, rolling closer to him and kissing him lazily on the lips, giggling softly as she batted her eyelashes at him. "It certainly is good... Isn't it." She didn't seem bothered in the least that she was completely nude in front of him, she knew he wouldn't mind and that he had the decency to not grope her so early in the morning. Not that I would care... Last night was hot... I kinda want round two...

Lathe hummed in agreement, and couldn't help smiling, brushing a stray lock of hair away from her face, his voice a quiet whisper. "...with you here it is." He pecked her lips one last time before he spoke quietly, his thumb running lightly over her jaw. "Can we get up? Have breakfast?" ... I would never ask to get up from this if I didn't have to... but I'm hungry...

Spades hummed in acknowledgment, moving closer to him to kiss his ear. "Only if you make pancakes." She purred into his ear and kissed it before moving a hand down to remove his hands from around her waist. I think that was probably the best sleep I've had in awhile... Especially if I slept in until 10... I don't think I've ever done that. Spades gently removed herself from his arms, burying herself in the sheets, as if she were nervous about her bare body around him. "You get dressed first, I'll meet you downstairs..." She murmured to him, placing a gentle peck on his nose.

Lathe smiles, pecking her cheek before shifting to get up. "Okay, pancakes it is then. Take all the time you want." If you're not down when they're done I'll bring them upstairs, why not? He stepped down from the bed, crossing the room to the armoire and donning a pair of clean boxers, sweatpants and socks, He slipped on a white tank top before ambling to the door, sending Spades a wink before quietly closing the door behind him. He descended to the kitchen, the dishes from last night still in the sink. A bit of cleaning up first is in order. He washed the dishes and had them quickly put away, perusing the fridge for what he needed. His eyes landed on the large containers of strawberries, remembering something. She loves strawberries on her pancakes, yeah? That's how it always was in high school. He picked up the container and shut the door, setting everything on the counter and starting to mix the batter. He retrieved a can of whipped cream out of the fridge as an afterthought. Sweet stuff for breakfast. Perfect.

Spades groaned quietly, moving to get out of the bed, heading towards the bag Lathe had dropped near the door. Better get dressed... hmm... what to wear? Oh... I know. Spades quickly slipped into the extra set of deep red lace lingerie, before slipping on another white tank top which still didn't fit her properly. She shrugged, moving slowly back into the comforts of Lathe's warm bed. So warm,,. But I want him back upstairs... but I want pancakes... Oh well, he'll come back upstairs to wake me back up. She slipped under the covers, closing her eyes to get a few more minutes of sleep before Lathe would come and wake her up for breakfast.

Lathe plated the pancakes, arranging plenty of strawberries and whipped cream on top before standing still, listening for anything from upstairs. .... nothing. Breakfast in bed it is! Lathe quietly chuckled, searching in the pantry for the food trays meant for it, carrying two plates of pancakes with silverware, two mugs of coffee and a glass of juice upstairs, easily balancing it on one hand and lightly knocking on the door, quietly opening it and smiling as he saw Spades still nestled in the sheets, padding over to her and setting the tray on the armoire for a moment, gently shaking Spades' shoulder and pressing a kiss to her cheek. "Come on, Spades, wake up. I brought pancakes and coffee." It's practically noon already, and I don't want the food getting cold.

Spades murmured something about being woken up again before she smelled the pancakes and her eyes instantly snapped open, her eyes searching the room for her beloved pancakes, gasping in happiness as she saw them. "You remembered I liked strawberries?" She asked from where she lay, moving up a bit, her tank top pulling down a bit, revealing dark red lace as she sat up. Strawberries... you are perfect Lathe!

Lathe glanced down as he saw a sliver of red, swallowing hard as he saw it was another lace bra. ... Damn. Lathe looked back up to her, trying to restrain himself and smiling. "Of course I remembered. How could I not? You were always crazy about them." Food first. Ravishing later. He gave her lips a light peck before moving to retrieve the tray, setting it carefully in front of her and climbing onto the bed next to her, starting on his own plate of pancakes and trying hard not to stare at the red lace teasingly showing from underneath her tank top. He blushed nearly every time he looked to Spades as they ate, forcing himself to keep his hands off while they were still eating. If I try anything with this tray here, God knows it'll get kicked off the bed and things will break, including the mood.

They look amazing! Spades had a happy smile as she quickly engrossed herself with her pancakes, groaning in bliss as her mouth filled with strawberry and cream pancakes. Her plate didn't last long as she giggled, not really noticing that her tank top had slipped a bit, allowing her bra to show; she was so used to it that it didn't bother her. She picked up her coffee periodically as she ate, smiling more after she finished her plate and picked the mug up as she looked up to Lathe. He looks so hot... just in a tank top and sweatpants... god, how did I not even consider you before? Really? You've been so good to me.

Thank god. Lathe set down his knife and fork, sipping from his coffee mug and waiting for Spades to set hers down again. When she did, he set down his own mug and picked up the tray, carrying it back the armoire and setting it down, turning back to Spades with a predatory grin, his eyes shaded. He sauntered back over to the bed, climbing on top of Spades and letting one hand gently tug at the hem of her tank top. "What did you think you were doing, teasing me with lingerie like that?" He purred, a finger slipping below her tank top and brushing the lace hem of her panties. His other hand cradled the back of her neck, tangling in the fiery locks there. I've been going nuts not being able to do anything...

Hmm... So he did notice then? She had a large grin on her face as she felt his hands all over her. "Well... I was hoping that my tank top would keep it a secret, but it seems as though it's failed me... " She moaned softly as his hand tangled into her fiery hair. She leaned up to kiss his cheek. "But... was I really teasing you? You seemed so well behaved." She purred into his ear, a hand coming up to cradle Lathe's head. "And the pancakes were delicious, thank you." She murmured and started to slowly kiss down his jaw, her legs coming to tuck themselves under her for support as she sat up with him.

Lathe hummed as she kissed down his jaw, feeling her fingers threading into his hair and leaning his head back in invitation for her to bite down his neck. His hand moved from her neck to her hips, whimpering quietly as her lips moved across his neck. His hands cupped her ass, squeezing as he pulled her against him to straddle his lap, deciding too much fabric was in the way and sliding her loose pants down over her hips and tossing them off the bed, feeling the lace under his hands as he massaged her ass. ... This is worth the wait.

Spades moaned loudly against his skin. "Lathe..." Her lips ghosted his skin as his large hands grabbed her ass which sat nicely in his lap. "Your hands are so big... they feel so good." She murmured to him and smiled softly, her gaze returning to his skin and biting down on his shoulder after moving his tank top aside. He's really good to me... I should really be good to him. Her hands wandered down from around his shoulders and splaying over his toned abs. "You're so fit too, I love it." Her voice soft, yet full of lust as they finally made it to the hem of his sweatpants, one pulling it away from his skin and the other snaking in to grab his member and stroke it teasingly. You should feel just as good as I did last night.

Lathe's cheeks darkened at her words, groaning softly as she bit his shoulder. He flushed completely crimson as her hand closed around his length, letting out a loud moan as she began to stroke him. He felt himself hardening in her hand, his grip on her hips tightening, nearly leaving small bruises. "S-Spades... mng... f-feels good..." His hips tried to move in time with her strokes, yearning for more friction. "M-more... please ..." I need more... Please.

Well, I guess it's only fair. She smiled as she pulled her hand back to pull down both Lathe's sweatpants and his boxers, letting him kick them off before shoving him down on the bed, grabbing onto his length again and gently stroking him, waiting for him to get hard. "Does this feel good?" She asked quietly, her voice near his ear as she laid beside him, her leg tangling over Lathe's as she continued, twisting her wrist to give him more sensations. I hope it does... I wanna hear you beg.

Lathe gladly let her push him onto his back, moaning as she purred in his ear, his length hardening as she twisted her hand. He fisted at the sheets, stuttering out some of his words. "M-my God , Spades, yes .. P- please ... D-don't you dare stop. I-I'll beg as m- much as you want, j-just don't stop." He panted, hismember soon becoming fully hard in her hand, one hand reaching up to tug at her tank top. "... Off ." His hands reached to pull it over her head, his eyes raking over her curvaceous form, clad in dark red lingerie that made her look very appealing in his eyes. His head dropped back against the pillows again, his eyes hooded as they traced her body. You look so damn sexy ...

Spades smirked, leaning down to kiss as his collarbone, her hand continuing to rub up his large length. "I think I can do that... but I don't know what feels good Lathe... you'll need to tell me... Tell me everything." Her breath was warm as she continued to mark his collarbone, thankful he had skin open which would easily be able to be hidden. She stopped her motions for only a seconds, lifting his tank top off of his chest and kissing down his toned flesh, leaving multiple bites and bruises all over him. "Tell me Lathe, or I won't know." Her mouth came close to his length, but never touched him with her lips, only slowly handling him with her soft touches.

Lathe moaned loudly as Spades marked his chest, trying to speak and stammering, unable to keep strings of gasps and moans from interrupting his words. "I-it... hng... It feels g-good w-when you b-bite m-me... aghhh... w-when you twist y-your hand... w-when you... haaa... w-when your thumb r-runs over t-the slit... Nnnh... P-please, don't tease m-me..." Lathe felt her breath against his length, his hips moving under her seeking more friction.

"Hmmm... well you're being a good boy, I guess I can stop my teasing..." She trailed off moved to kiss his entire length, her index finger teasing his slit as her hand abused his sensitive head. Her kisses were wet, allowing for some lubrication for her hand as she held him a little tighter. "Should I bite here, Lathe?" She asked gently, her tongue trailing up Lathe's member in one motion, like it was a giant lollipop. I want you to crumble ....

Lathe's eyes widened a fraction, shaking his head and moaning unabashed as Spades' tongue dragged up his length, her hand abusing his head. He tried to speak coherently, somewhat succeeding. "N- no , d-don't bite there, j-just do w-what you're doing n-now, please ." His knuckles were white as he gripped the sheets, his toes curling and heels digging into the mattress, trying to keep his hips still.

Spades giggled like a school girl as she removed her hand from his head, trailing it down to his base and clamping it. "You're not allowed to cum yet... Lathe." She breathed out his name, taking in a deep breath as she licked her tongue around his abused head, flattening her tongue as she took whatever she could in and sucked gently on him, trying to get him to get as close to the edge as possible. Then I'll stop completely until the feeling's not there anymore... Then go right back to starting it all over again... Hahaha! He'll be a fucking mess ... I love doing this to him, his face is priceless, and he's sexy as all hell... Holy shit...

Lathe whined as her hand clamped down around the base of his length, groaning as she started to suckle his length. The pressure in the pit of his stomach was building, and he so desperately wanted to let go and release, though he couldn't with Spades' hand where it was. "S-Spades... I-I..." Lathe's body began to shake from the pleasure, too overwhelming.

Spades lifted her head, her mouth coming off with a lewd pop, her hand still holding the base of him to make sure that he wouldn't cum. "What's wrong Lathe? You can tell me..." She purred innocently, waiting as she felt his body tremble. Come on down from that... I'll let go when you're not gonna cum the second I do...

Lathe shuddered as she spoke with mock innocence, whimpering when he realized she wasn't starting again. "W-why... why'd you stop? Spades, please ..." Lathe tried to move in vain, Spades effectively pinning down his hips. He became limp on the bed as he felt the pressure slowly uncoiling, pleasing with Spades, his stammer gone. "Spades, please, have mercy. I want to cum... please, do something, anything ..." Lathe sounded resigned, whimpering and looking down to her with desperate eyes. Please, I need you to keep going... my God, and don't stop....

... Not until I know you won't. Spades shook her head, holding him without moving her hands as all. "I'll continue... But I want you to wait ..." Her words were seductive as she stayed by him, waiting until he had started soften a bit in her hand before letting go of his base, attacking the head with her mouth. He'll thank me later... She flattened her tongue and took in as much as she could, gagging when she went too far and having to come back up to breathe, a trail of saliva connecting from her lips to his head. Her darkened eyes gazed over his appearance. Probably should try not to choke on him... I dunno, he may like it though....

Lathe shivered at her words, trying to keep his breathing under control as he forced himself to lay still, knowing better than to do anything other than what she said. He gasped as Spades suddenly attacked his length, moaning loudly as he hardened again in her mouth, panting as she sucked hard on his tip. He groaned as Spades choked on his length, trying his hardest not to buck up his hips, lifting about an inch from the bed, his back arching up. ...it feels too good... He looked down to Spades with dark eyes, his pupils blown wide with lust, a flicker of worry passing them by. Is she okay...? I don't want to hurt her...

Hmm... He seemed to like it a lot... She licked a trail up his entire length, before trying to take the whole thing in her mouth and sucking until she gagged on his massive length yet again. So fucking big. She tried to stay on him as long as possible before doing up with a lewd pop again, panting herself from keeping down on him even when she was gagging on him. "So big... Lathe..." She purred against his length, licking him up and down before she proceeded to choke herself on his thick prick again, getting progressively farther down his length.
Lathe was getting louder and louder as her lips progressed further and further down his length, panting and moaning and gripping the sheets until his knuckles were white. He tried to keep from moving under her, bucking up no more than an inch at a time as she bobbed on his length, going lower and lower. "...nnngh... S-Spades... s-so good, my God..." Lathe moaned out strings of Spades' name as he felt her nose press against him, her lips at his base. His entire body was flushed, his back arching as she suckled on his shaft. "S-Spades... I-I can't..." He felt his coil tightening quickly, overwhelmed with the sensations.

Spades hummed as she pulled back from his base, sucking the entire time. I actually got the whole thing in... That's awesome! ... Thought technically I was choking on him the whole time... but he seems to like that. She pulled back till her lips were closed over his head, sucking hard as she ran her hands down the inside of his thighs, her tongue teasing at his slit. I want you to cum, I want to taste you again. So cum for me... She wiggled her ass teasingly as she sucked on his swollen head, hoping to finally set him over the edge.

Lathe let out a strangled cry of bliss, litanies of Spades' name rolling of his tongue and his eyes raking over her erotic form as he came hard in her mouth, his back arching off the bed as he gripped the sheets tightly. He let her suck him dry, falling limp on the bed and breathing hard, his entire body flushed and falling into a post-orgasm glow, pulling Spades up to him and kissing her deeply for a moment, holding her close while he tried to get his breath back. He flipped her onto her back, remembering the night before and kissing her roughly, his touch firm as he traced her chest and her sides, his hands coming up to massage her breasts, whispering against her reddened lips. "...now, let me." Lathe gave her one last deep kiss, tangling their tongues and gently biting her lip before he moved to the base of her neck where her uniform hides her skin, biting and sucking marks over her collarbone, his hand going to trace up the inside of her thigh teasingly.

Spades gasped as she was flipped over. "Lathe, ngh... you don't need too." She murmured softly, a blush quickly forming on her face. Her body shivered under him as his hand grazed her thigh, getting teasingly closer to the deep red lace which surrounded her. You really don't need to... I wanted you to feel good... And you already gave me an orgasm yesterday... Her hands splayed across his chest, pushing up against him.

Lathe pulled up from her collarbone, looking up to her with shaded eyes, moving to kiss her passionately and purr into her ear. "No... But I want to." Lathe kissed back down her neck, one hand slipping behind her back to unhook her bra, slipping the garment from her shoulders and dropping it over the side of the bed, kissing and nibbling down to her chest, taking one of her nipples in his mouth and suckling hard, tweaking the other nub and rolling it between his fingers, lightly biting the one between his teeth. My God, for everything you've done for me, you deserve it.

Holy shit, Lathe... Your tongue is like magic. She whimper as he nibbled at her sensitive bud, gasping in pleasure as he tugged at it with his teeth. "Lathe... Haaaa... There..." She mewed as he continued to please her sensitive body. Your hands feel so good... I want more.

Lathe gave the bud another light bite before switching to the other, his fingers teasing the one he had just abused. He tugged gently on the nub with his teeth, suckling hard before he moved further south, nibbling and suckling down her stomach, leaving small bruises until he reached the deep red lace, his hands massaging her globes as he pressed teasing kisses along the hem of her panties, pressing a kiss to her folds through the thin fabric before teasingly trailing gentle bites down and up the insides of her thighs. If you got to tease me like that...

...You're gonna tease me now? Spades groaned as he passed right over her sensitive area, her panties already starting to dampen, and her thighs trembled as he bit lightly up and down their sides. "Lathe... M-more..." She started to beg, stuttering quietly as her hand gripped the sheets under her.

Lathe had a small smirk on his face as he heard Spades starting to beg, his bites becoming a bit harder as he trailed back up her thighs, his hands trailing down to play with the lace hem, pressing kisses to the edges before pulling them over her hips agonizingly slowly, tossing them off the bed and pressing butterfly kisses to her hips, wandering closer to her folds and away again, his hands running up and down her body with feather-light touches. He decided to have mercy as she shuddered under him, licking a broad stripe up the rosy skin, nibbling up to her clitoris, suckling on it and paying it extra attention with his tongue, lightly biting it and licking it in apology, his hands cupping her ass. How are you mine?

Spades was a mess under his teasing touches. "L- Lathe ... ngh... More p- please ...haaa..." She moaned, her hand coming up to hide her blushing face from him as her other moved to his black locks, pushing his head down a little further towards her entrance and away from her abused clit. No more there, otherwise I'll cum too quickly. Her gentle hands tangled into his hair, tugging at it when he found sensitive spots and her legs curling up around his head, and pulling him closer to her. I want you, Lathe.

Lathe's eyes darkened even more at the sound of her voice, letting her nudge him to her entrance. His tongue darted out to trace the opening, pressing forward and licking up her soft walls before he pulled back, one hand coming up from her ass and pressing a finger past her entrance, which soon became two as she became slick. He broadly licked up her folds, relishing in the sounds she made.

Her back arched up off the bed, both hands coming down to Lathe's head and gripping onto his hair as she felt his mouth all over her. "Haa... Lathe... right there... oh my god..." Her breathing was ragged as Lathe continued to please her, which made her voice a bit higher as she moaned out his name. "More Lathe... mhn... give me more!" She cried out to him as her legs crossed over his shoulders her toes curling at the pleasure.

Lathe moaned against the sensitive skin as she cried out his name, adding a third finger and picking up the pace, searching for her g-spot and finding it quickly. He brushed over it, never hitting it directly as his thrusts became harder and deeper, tasting her sweet skin. His other hand gripped her
Oh my god Lathe! Spades was a panting mess as he started to get a bit rougher with her. "L-Lathe!" She cried out his name, her cries resounding throughout the room. It feels so good, it feels even better than yesterday... and yesterday felt amazing! She could already feel the pressure starting to build in her abdomen as Lathe continued.

Lathe kept up his relentless pace, aiming for her g-spot as he thrusted deeply into her, moaning at her cry as he sucked hard on her clit. He bit the small nub as his grip became even tighter, his hand pounding into her. Let's hear that again.

Spades screamed out his name as she tightened around his fingers, his hands flooding with her juices as a massive orgasm hit her. "LATHE!" Her whole body shook from the intense pleasure she felt with his fingers buried into her, moans leaving her lips as she tightened her legs around him, keeping him there. She shuddered with each aftershot, her back still arched off the bed, and her hair sprawled all over the place. "...so good..." She mewled out to him, in her blissful state.

Lathe shuddered as she screamed his name in bliss, lapping up her juices and drawing his hand out of her. His touch was light as her legs fell limp from his shoulders, climbing up to lay next to her and pulling her flush against himself, pecking her lips sweetly and pressing light kisses to her jaw as she caught her breath. "I really, really love you, Ieva." You're too good to me...

Spades let out a soft chuckle. "You haven't called me by my real name in a long time..." She murmured quietly to him and kissed him back just as sweetly, catching her breath after a few long moments and curling up to him. "So... are we considered more than boyfriend and girlfriend now... or are we still going to keep that title?" She asked curiously. Would we be considered friends with benefits? Or... Just leave it as we are? I think we would leave it as we are. She pecked his nose playfully. "I would love you either way, I hope you know that." She told him and pecked his neck before sitting up, straddling his lap and giving him a good view of her body, not giving him a chance to reply. "I feel gross though, so we're going to take a shower, now." Her words were firm as she stepped off the bed, her hips swaying as she did so.

Lathe lay on the bed, an answer on his lips before Spades straddles him and demanded they go shower, stunned for an instant. He got off the bed, needing to speak his mind and gently grabbing Spades’ arm, turning her around. He looked in her eyes, swallowing hard and trying not to stutter too badly. "S-Spades... I’ve given you so much... I don’t want it to be for nothing... Only for you to not be the one... "...is it okay if w-we’re exclusive?" His eyes were hopeful, though already crestfallen, as if he expected her to say no. ... but would she really be okay with just me?

... Exclusive? I think I could pull that off for you. Spades had a smile slowly spread across her features, tugging him closer to her as she held his gaze. "Of course it it, I would've expected you to ask earlier, I kinda figured we would be, but I wasn't sure." She smiled as she stood on her tiptoes to kiss his cheek, and tugged him towards the door again. I don't mind being your's, especially if you make me feel like that all the time.
Lathe felt as if a huge weight had fallen from his shoulders, relief in his eyes before it was overtaken by a dreamy look, letting Spades tug him along to the shower, one thought on loop in his head. ... She’s mine.

Spades had a wide smile on her face as she pulled Lathe into the shower with her and looked over him with happy eyes. You look so perfect, and you're all mine... I hope you know I love every bit of you.
Chapter 25: Shit Happens

Lathe looked through his cookbooks, a website full of recipes pulled up on his laptop. He sighed, narrowing his eyes at the ingredients lists. I don't know how the hell Eren was surviving eating everything I put in front of him... hell, I don't know how I'm going to survive making stuff he'll want to eat. He hates everything! Fish, onions, tomato, celery, sweet potatoes, sweet pickles, a ton of cheeses with a few exceptions, barbecue sauce, mustard, relish... And how the hell can he like broccoli? That stuff's awful, and he loves it! He eats it frozen for dessert! Who does that!? And he's been obsessed with peanut butter and strawberries, and it's the weirdest damn thing... He went through two jars of peanut butter in a week, so I have to buy the big jars wholesale. And of course, I know exactly when we're out- when Eren just walks up to me holding an empty jar with a spoon in it and giving me the puppy eyes that he knows will make me drop what I'm doing and go to the store every damn time. At least with the strawberries he leaves the bowl just empty on the counter after he's finished going the through the five pint's worth. What even are his eating habits tho... I don't understand. He loves the grilled cheese sandwiches, and those have tomato, so it's the only time he'll eat it. He'll eat literally anything you put in pasta, though. I see lots of scampi in our future. I gave Eren this whole cookbook with a pencil and just told him to circle everything he would eat and there are only ten things circled in it. Mainly in the pasta section. And this thing is more than two inches thick! ...well, at least he's not vegan. Lathe immediately knocked on the wood of the kitchen table. That would be even worse. He hates anything sweet, except fruits and cinnamon rolls. My God, he adores fruit. He's in the midst of this craze for apples, and it's actually getting pretty ridiculous- he comes with me to the store nowadays, and we leave every time with a bushel of apples. I ended up getting a cider press for him, and now we buy even more apples. ...really? ...it's some pretty impressive dedication, though. Eh. At least breakfast is easy. Scrambled eggs and toast, or french toast and cinnamon rolls every time. But lunch or dinner? Yeah, I don't know what I'm doing.

Eren was sitting with a book open with headphones on his ears, blocking out the noise in the room as he did so. He was oblivious to whatever Lathe was doing as he was engrossed in the large novel, a peanut butter jar and a spoon in hand. Hmm... I gotta do some more recordings... Put I think Jeff called Lathe the other day about something... I dunno, maybe it wasn't Jeff.

Lathe looked up as the phone rang, standing and glancing to where Eren sat on the couch as he walked to the phone, looking at who the caller was before answering, his tone bright. "Hey Jeff! What's up?"

"Hey...I talked with Nate, and he's cool with you guys coming over for a week to record, and I believe with the way his YouTube videos are going... We could do a deluxe edition. Would you have enough written by then? I hope you do... I really would like to get Eren out there... He's getting more popular with the constant cover videos.

"Hey...I talked with Nate, and he's cool with you guys coming over for a week to record, and I believe with the way his YouTube videos are going... We could do a deluxe edition. Would you have enough written by then? I hope you do... I really would like to get Eren out there... He's getting more popular with the constant cover videos.

Lathe nodded, leaving against the wall. "Yeah, we actually probably have at least that many songs written out from Tilt. We'd need to tweak a bunch of them, because half of them kinda aren't English... Yeah, lapses of Korean or French are a thing... Eh. "But we'll have plenty for you. That sounds amazing, thank you!" Lathe beamed, moving over to the scripting room and picking up the binder, flipping through the many many songs inside. "There's literally at least fifty here to pick from. It's a good thing there are so many, because now that I'm rereading some of them, half don't even make sense. But that kinda happens when you go from English to Korean to French and back again every sentence." ... that's not how language is supposed to work.
Jeff nodded at the other end of the phone. "Alright, So we'll see you guys the last week in September then? And make sure Eren brings whatever musical instruments he wants because we've really only got a bunch of guitars here at the studio." He told him, going through a list of things he needed to talk about. "We also need to give over how the money situation would be handled." I don't know if Eren's set up for his own bank account, I mean he should be, right? He should get enough money from his videos, I would imagine at least.

"Yeah, that sounds about right." He moved back to the kitchen, looking to Eren as he passed him on the couch. "And I'll get back to you hopefully sooner rather than later about the latter part of that statement. I need to talk with Eren about the money situation first." Yeah, he's been getting plenty of money from YouTube and from Full Tilt... We need to do some discussing about money later. "But yeah, we'll bring all the instruments we need to. Which may be a lot." I'll need to make sure we can get all that over there by train.

"That sounds like a plan, call me back as soon as you got dates and times for the train and we'll see who's picking you guys up from the station... We'll see the three of you then, bye!" Jeff hung up on the other end of the phone, before Lathe could respond, returning to his work.

The three of us... but Levi's in college. ...and if they're expecting three of us...Lathe looked to the phone as Jeff hung up, his brow furrowed. He looked to Eren, then to the door, an idea occurring to him. ... Could I bring Spades with? He glanced to the clock, seeing it was table after he hung up the phone, scrolling through blogs with lists of dinner ideas for picky eaters, finally settling on one. This looks like Eren won't hate it. ...close enough. He went to the fridge and fished for ground beef, onion and cheese, and a few rolls of crescent rolls.

Eren sat up, putting his book down after he finished up with the chapter he was reading. His steps were quiet as he went to find Lathe. I need to ask him... because... Well... He might actually want me out... I mean, he's got Spades now.... so... Eren took off his headphones, setting them on the kitchen table silently, turning towards Lathe and tugging on his sleeve as he made food. "Umm... Lathe...um... Are you gonna kick me out now?" He asked quietly, his eyes glued to the floor, his hair hiding his eyes, waiting for a reply.

Lathe looked up confusedly, reaching for a towel to wipe off his hands and turning to Eren, a questioning look on his face. I haven't heard you call me anything besides Dad in a long time... this isn't good, is it. "Wait, what?" Kick you out? What the hell are you talking about?

Eren kept his gaze on his bare feet, his voice quivering a bit as he spoke. "Are you... Are you gonna kick me out of the house? Since I'm 18... You don't need to keep me anymore..." Eren's voice sounded broken as he lifted his head, his eyes reflecting as much brokenness as his voice. I don't want you to kick me out.... I like it here.

Lathe's entire demeanor changed, setting down the towel and pulling Eren into a hug, a hand tangled in his hair. "Eren, what on Earth gave you that idea?" He looked to the kitchen table, recognizing the title of the novel. "...it was the book, wasn't it? Eren, just because you're 18 doesn't mean I want to kick you out. I love having you around, and I'd probably go mad with the house being so empty after it's always had someone besides me in it for so long. I don't really want you to leave so soon... of course, I can't stop you if you ever do want to leave. But you can stay here as long as you want. You're very welcome to."

Eren kept eye contact with him as he was pulled into Lathe's arms. "O-Okay..." Eren trailed off and looked over towards the balls stuffed with meat on the pan which was on the counter. "What's that?" Eren asked, his interest piqued. They look really good... Is that hamburger meat?
Oh thank god he doesn't hate it on sight. Lathe let him go, turning to the counter. "That, is dinner. Cooked hamburger meat and cheese rolled up in crescent rolls, soon to be baked." You better like it- if not I'm just going to give up.

Eren nodded. "When's dinner done?" His eyes went right back up from the food to lock onto Lathe's, feeling more comfortable to keep eye contact with him. I want to ask more questions....

Lathe smiled warmly, leaning on the counter. You're getting better at asking questions. "I'd say about seven minutes after they go in the oven, and I want to wait a bit until Spades gets home. Any more questions?" You can ask anything.

"Can you curl your tongue?" Eren asked quizzically, his eyes still locked onto Lathe's. I'm going to bombard you with randomness.

...Random. I like it. Lathe grinned and stuck out his tongue, curling it into a clover-leaf. "Yep."

Eren's eyes widened a fraction as he saw the display. What. The. Actual. Fuck. "Are you right handed or left handed?"

"Ambidextrous. I kinda got my right hand broken when I was in high school and had to learn to write with my left. It's convenient to know how to write with both hands if one ends up occupied or indisposed." Yeah... that was a bitch to hide from mom.

"...Indisposed?"

"Broken. Shattered. Punched to bits. Y'know. Unavailable to write with." ... it was still worth it.

"How did that happen?" Why would you're hand be broken in high school?

":.. I kinda got into a fight in high school... I punched incorrectly and without protecting my fist, and I had to do it multiple times... my hand was a wreck by the time it was over..." Lathe looked really sheepish, rubbing the back of his neck, uncomfortable with talking too much about his past. ...It wasn't the best time of my life... but it was necessary. And worth it at the time. I'm just grateful as fuck I set it correctly... I probably wouldn't've been able to play piano if I didn't.

Eren nodded. "So... Did you win?" Please tell me you did... that would be awful if you lost and had to put up with a broken hand.

"Oh, I kicked their sorry asses. They never bothered Phoebe again." Lathe's eyes widened a fraction, his hand coming up to cover his mouth. Fuck... I'm saying too much... I don't like talking about it... His eyes seemed to fall as he thought. ...There's a lot I'm not proud of when I was a kid...

...He doesn't look like he wants to talk about that... "Uhh... Sorry... I- I didn't mean to..." Eren looked down at his feet, slowly backing away from the other and disappearing away from the kitchen. I made him say something he didn't want to... shit... I hope he's not mad at me... He might be though, if he didn't want me to know. Eren moved to go up to his room. He probably won't want to answer anymore questions.

Lathe looked up as Eren started to leave, moving to grab his arm, his eyes downcast to his feet. "I- I'm sorry, Eren, it's okay. I just don't like talking too much about..." He swallowed hard, looking up to Eren with steely eyes. "A lot of stuff happened when I was a kid that I'm not too proud of. I just... It's not the nicest thing to think about sometimes." He gave Eren a weak smile. "Don't worry about it. Please."
Eren looked up to meet his smile. "O-Okay... um... W-Which is y-your favorite P-Pokemon?" He seemed a bit hesitant to ask, but his curiosity got the better of him.

Lathe looked a bit surprised at the sudden change, though he suddenly became thoughtful. "...It's a tie between Charizard and Gardevoir." Breathing fire or the best psychic abilities... quite the contest.

Eren nodded, looking around the room a bit, struggling to keep eye contact with Lathe for more than a few seconds. "H-Have you e-ever milked a cow?" His voice still timid as he asked his random questions. I don't want you to be mad that I brought something up....

*Where the actual hell are you getting these from? *"...Yes. School field trip, they decided to take us to a farm... we went to go see the cows, and the farmer guy asked if anyone wanted to milk a cow, and everyone else in the class was too chicken to say anything, and I just kinda raised my hand slowly after a moment. So, yeah. ...y'know, you lived out in the middle of nowhere in Germany. Have you ever milked a cow?"

Eren looked up to Lathe, his face completely blank. "We owned three." A small smile spread across his face as he thought of another question. "Do you know how to Yo-Yo?" I can only do a few tricks.

"I am the yo-yo master. There's probably one buried in my closet upstairs..." That was always fun!

"Can you erect a tent?" Eren asked, complete innocence on his face.

What the hell did Eren just say? Yes... YES he can... but you don't just ask that! He's mine! Spades came into the room, looking utterly confused, Eren's back facing her.

Lathe flushed completely red, face palming. "...yes, I can pitch a tent..." I'm so done with you. He looked up and saw Spades, swallowing as he saw her, arms crossed and staring him down. ...shit. "Uh, h-hey, Spades! Welcome home!" He turned and put the tray in the oven quickly before turning back to her, shuffling his feet a bit. Eren's here... I can't exactly shove my tongue down her throat... that'd be awkward. Dammit, but she's mine...

Spades smiled softly as she watched him shuffle around a bit. "Eren, why don't you go wash up for dinner?" I want to kiss Lathe... like now... but I know he won't kiss me unless Eren's out of the room.

Eren nodded and he scampered off, going up the stairs, Blake stretching in the doorway, finally having woken up from his nap and going to sit by his food bowl.

Spades watched him stretch and smiled softly, unfolding her arms and taking two steps to Lathe before pulling him down by the collar and locking lips with him. I really like kissing you... I wish I could do it more often.

Lathe immediately melted into the kiss, wrapping his arms around her middle and thumb brushing her side gently as he kissed her fervently, his tongue brushing against her lips as he pulled her flush against him. I missed you... I wish you were around a little more... You always work late...
You feel so good... Spades wrapped her arms around him, her hand curling up into his hair a bit as he pulled her close. She pulled back to breathe, a small smile on her face as she looked into his eyes.

Lathe leaned their foreheads together, a smile on his face and lights dancing in his eyes as he met Spades' emerald ones. "I'm glad you're home." He whispered against her lips before he gently kissed her again, his tongue making its way into her mouth and coiling around hers. I love you.

"It's good to be home, Lathe." She smiled as she cupped his cheek with her hand. It smells good, what did you put in the oven? "What's for dinner?" She asked softly, looking over towards the oven as the timer got closer to zero. It certainly smells delicious.

Lathe turned to the oven, one arm still wrapped around her middle, sighing and running the other through his hair. "I've been going through forum after forum to find something that Eren'll eat... They're called hamburger bombs, crescent rolls wrapped around cooked hamburger meat and cheese. I swear, finding something he'll eat is a nightmare.

Spades smiled softly rubbing his back. "You're doing fine Lathe, you've survived 5 months so far, I think you're doing great... And dinner's always good. They smell amazing!" She smiled as she heard the timer going off, going to get plates for the three of them. I hope Eren'll like them.

Eren came into the kitchen and went to put the kettle on the stove to start water for himself. "They smell good." Eren told Lathe as he saw Lathe pull them out.... "They look really good too!" Eren said excitedly. I wanna try one!

Oh thank god. Lathe set them on the stovetop, shutting the oven and grabbing a spatula. "Let's hope they taste as good as they look." He grinned, putting two on each of their plates and handing Eren his. He picked up his coffee mug, sitting down across from Spades at the table with his own plate. He cut off an end piece of one of the rolls, biting it and nodding in approval. This is good- Though maybe I'd use it as more of a weekend lunch thing. But I like it.

Eren took the first bite, his eyes widened as he dug into it. It tastes really good... Eren finished off the first one pretty quickly before reaching for the second one. "Have you ever walked into a wall?" He asked quietly, looking up to the two of them. I wanna know.

He likes it! Lathe's brow furrowed at his question, his cheeks tinting red as he thought. "...a couple times, yeah..." He looked up as Spades looked at him questioningly. Dammit, you know why. I'm not telling him. TMI.

Spades snickered. "Oh yeah he has... Lathe likes to sleepwalk and when he does he walks into all kinds of things." There is no way he wasn't gonna find out.... Your probably gonna do it again eventually.

Eren's interest was piqued, his eyes full of curiosity. "Why do you sleepwalk?" Eren asked, taking bites of his burger bomb. I wanna know...

Oh you are in for it... "I'm not gonna handle that one, that's all you." She giggled a bit getting up to get more bombs for Eren and herself. That's all you, Lathe.

Dammit. Lathe rested his face in his palm, looking over the table. "...well, here's the thing- as you may or may not know, things happen in college." He glared for an instant at Spades as she snickered, playfully speaking to her in a stage whisper, a small grin on his face. "Hush. As if you were unaware." He looked back to Eren. "So, a bunch of peeps from the squad would drag me to parties off campus, and they'd try to get me drunk, because apparently I wasn't any fun sober. Then again, they were all drunk when they said that. But they'd try to get me to drink, and the only real problem I had with it was that I hated the taste of beer. It's awful, I can't stand it, but that's what they'd always have and they'd somehow get me to drink it. Or they'd have whiskey and I'd be much easier to convince. And when I went to sleep later, still drunk, it was pretty much guaranteed I'd sleepwalk. I would do the most random shit sleepwalking- I've made terrible sandwiches out of things that aren't exactly food, lined up all the silverware on the counter, painted, and I accidentally tried to steal Casper's cellphone once and I remember none of it. I'd only wake up when I tripped over something or walked into a wall, or y'know, when Casper smacks me because I'm trying to steal his cellphone. But if I don't try and tie a foot to the bed when I'm about to go to sleep when I'm drunk I sleepwalk." Lathe shrugged, taking another bite of food. "I'd rather wake up after hitting the floor than accidentally order $100 worth of Chinese for delivery again.

That's impressive... Note to self: never let Lathe get drunk and do random shit. He nodded, thanking Spades as she set more food in front of him and taking a bite into the bomb. "Have you ever owned a goldfish?" He asked quietly, taking another bite. He was actually opening up to them, and he was holding eye contact with the both of them.

Spades smiled and nodded. "I had a whole tank full of goldfish once, they were adorable, and I would come home from school and tell them all about my day, so I've had hundreds over my childhood." Her eyes turned over to Lathe's as Eren's gaze moved. What about you? Have you had a goldfish?

Lathe shook his head. "I've never really had any pets. I fed the fish in the park pond every day for years after school, if that counts for anything." It was nice... nobody bothered me at the park... I talked to the fish and the ducks all the time.

"Snowy or Rainy Days?" Eren asked, his focus on Lathe as he ate his bombs, Spades continuing to bring him more food as he needed it, which was pretty quick cause they were a decent size but Eren was going through them like mad.

Spades happy that he was at least eating something of nutritional value, and let him eat as much as he wanted. I know Lathe's been struggling to find more food you would like. "Definitely Rainy, less accidents I need to oversee."

He's really looking at us and talking, asking all these questions! This is great! "Snowy for me, I love building snowmen, though I haven't gone sledding since I was a kid. But some of my best- and worst - memories are from during winter." He smiled faintly, sipping from his coffee mug, losing himself in thought for a moment.

Eren nodded, thinking about a few things. "Have you ever had a surprise party?" He asked quietly, his eyes a bit downcast, guilt clearly across his face as Lathe lost himself in thought. I didn't mean to make him remember.

Lathe nodded. "The group threw me one my senior year in high school for my birthday..." He smiled, his gaze faraway, looking past the coffee in his mug. "It was really well thought out, and everyone had a great time... But I'm more of the kind of guy to plan out the surprise parties."
Eren sighed looking down at his plate and pushing it forward, not wanting to eat it anymore. "Umm... Can you juggle? Or solve a Rubix Cube?" He asked softly, his eyes looking down at his hands in his lap, his self-esteem starting to drop as Lathe continued to stare almost blankly back at him. I didn't mean of you to remember, I'm sorry... I know you don't want to think about it.

Lathe! Put yourself together... Eren's stopped eating already! She kicked him under the table to get him back to reality. "I know I can't do either of those things, how about you Lathe? Can you juggle or solve a rubix cube?" I know you're listening to me now, so I repeated what he asked, make it look like you were listening to him or he'll close in on himself! Dammit!

Lathe winced minutely as Spades kicked him, nodding and trying his best to look and be present. "Yeah, I can juggle up to five things at a time, my record was eight in the air one time I remember, and I used to solve rubix cubes insanely fast, but it's been awhile. Pretty sure I still could, though." Stop thinking about it... you can't wander off and shut him down now, Eren's been doing so well...

Eren looked up to him, a little more hopeful that he had answered. "A-Are you a good a-actor?" His voice was small, his body curled up into a ball, his plate still pushed into the center area of the table, food uneaten on it. I... I didn't mean it... I promise...

I'm fine. For an unseeable instant, Lathe's eyes were flooded with pain, remembering the broken hand he couldn't either afford to have set or have his mother notice, the dozen markets and shops he was banned from for stealing food from in a fit of desperation, hypothermia in winter on top of the hunger that never went away, his collapse on the sidewalk senior year the eve before Christmas and his utter resignation that that was how he dies, trying to pry someone he at that moment couldn't recognize off of him until he blacked out, saying 'I'm fine, I'm fine...' ...but an old switch flipped. Lathe shrugged, giving Eren a warm grin and standing to help with the rest of the dishes. "I know I'm a horrible actor, I can't hide my emotions very well, but I guess that's okay..."

Spades sighed softly, helping to clean up the dishes. "I know I'm a horrible actor, I can't hide my emotions very well, but I guess that's okay..." No Eren, don't close up again...

Spades smiled softly. "Eren it's okay to ask questions, we're here to answer for you." Come on... Open back up to us.

Eren visibly swallowed before looking back at the two of them. "H-have you e-ever had a-an egg... Fresh from the c-chicken... For breakfast?" His voice small as he finished off his bomb reaching for the last one on his plate. They're really good, from what I remember.

Lathe nodded, moving to wash his own dishes at the sink. "A few times, yeah. They're really good if they're that fresh."... it's too bad you stole all of them... Lathe handed his dishes to Spades, who started to dry them, his expression one of practiced ease.
Spades was surprised at Lathe's answer but shrugged it off as Eren brought up his plate, taking it and washing that as well, a soft smile on her face. "I've never had the pleasure of having fresh eggs." Who knows, maybe Eren will beg Lathe to get a chicken.

Eren looked at the kitchen table as he stood behind the two of them, finally seeing the mark on Lathe's neck. "Dad... What's that mark on your neck?" He asked, completely oblivious to the fact that Spades and Lathe had gone a step beyond kissing. Why does it look like a bruise? Where would you have gotten a bruise there from?

Lathe's act was forgotten in an instant, his eyes widening a fraction as he felt Eren staring at his neck, reaching up subconsciously to the fading mark and blushing furiously, looking to Spades, lost for any words. "Uhm... Dammit. His voice was small as he looked back to Eren, wearing a sheepish expression. "...i-it's kinda called a hickey..." . .awk-ward...

So.... Spades is really gonna be my Mom? Eren's face lit up with excitement, moving to wrap his arms around Spades waist and giggle as he hugged her from behind. "Mom..." He said softly and put his cheek against her back so he looked back at Lathe, still holding onto Spades. "Have you ever planned or built your own dream house?" He asked, his eyes filled with happiness. So I have a Mom again? Since Lathe has only been with Spades....

... He's hugging me... And giggling... So he's happy then? Spades' heart melted at the sound of Eren's childish giggle, a large smile creeping across her face as she looked to Lathe. I've gained his approval, that's good at least. He probably thinks I'll become Mom for him, which I wouldn't mind in the least... But Lathe would have to do something about that... Hmm... I wouldn't mind being a Mom... Spades finished up with the dishes, leaving Eren's arms around her. "I have not thought about a dream house, but I know if I had one I'd have a theater room, with those cool recliner chairs."

Lathe watched as Eren's expression became one of excitement, clinging to Spades and looking to him with happy eyes. He looked to Spades as she smiled, a thought passing through his head, drowning out everything else in his mind. ...I kinda want to marry you... Lathe smiled, suddenly feeling the overwhelming urge to kiss her, stepping forward to peck her lips sweetly. He spoke after he pulled back, the new question bouncing around in his head. "No, I haven't really given it too much thought." ...that's actually a really good idea. It's a bit crowded with the four of us here, and if... if we ever have kids running around the house... He blushed at the idea, putting the rest of the dishes away. ... don't get too far ahead of yourself... whether they're yours or Eren and Levi's... someone has to get married first. ...and the idea sounds more and more appealing every time I think of it...

The realtor opened up the house, the door swinging open into the dreary surroundings. "This is it... A bunch of broken furniture... I believe it's been on the market for awhile, but no one wants it because it was the scene of an investigation for a crime." He clicked on a flashlight and looked around the house, still the same as when they had left it two years ago. "If I may ask... What do you plan to do with the house when you buy the property?" He asked, carefully stepping around the debris of broken furniture and broken bottles.

"Knock it down." Lathe looked around the familiarly barren house, scanning the rooms for anything important, a large cardboard box in hand. "It's old, and there's not much here really to salvage. Build from the ground up. There's tons of land around it up for sale as well, so there'll be plenty to work with." Lathe stepped in behind him, the door shutting behind him. Still as awful as I remember it... but there's still a bunch of Eren's stuff upstairs we never took when we left. I need to take all that.

The man followed Lathe as he walked through the house, and up the stairs. "If you're going to knock it down... Why are we looking through the house?" I don't understand this man... He just wants to knock it down... So why are we going through the trashed house?

Lathe entered Eren's old room and was about to speak as he heard a crunch underfoot, looking down and bending over, picking up a pair of busted glasses. He looked through the lenses, seeing how strong the prescription was. ...he needed glasses, and didn't tell me? He turned to the realtor, looking to him with a deadpan expression. "This is why." He set them on the desk. "I adopted the kid who used to live here. I want to get all the stuff we couldn't when we left." He set down the box on the bed, opening the blinds and starting to gather up all the drawings from the floor, the walls, the drawers. He began filling the huge box with books from the bookshelf, speaking. "So yeah, I'll take the house. That I know for sure." He watched as a picture fluttered out from one of the books, picking it up from the floor, his breath catching in his throat as he studied it. Eren, no more than two or three, held in the arms of a woman who looked strikingly like him, beaming to the camera as Eren giggled and clung to her. ...that's his mom. They look so much alike... Lathe carefully set the picture in the front cover of a hardcover novel, protecting it before he set it in the box. "I-I'm sorry, there's a lot in here to get together..." I want to do a good job, get all this stuff home...

Oh... I see. That's why he came up here. "No no, take your time, I'll get the paperwork together by the car for the the property." He told him, leaving quietly down the stairs and out the barren house, doing as he said he would and getting the paperwork together, informing the bank that there was someone taking the house.

Lathe watched the man leave, sighing heavily and packing up everything that was left of Eren's room, not missing a single book or piece of paper, finding everything on top of the tall dresser or hidden in the mattress, not bothering to look anywhere else as he came downstairs with the heavy box, ready to be done with the house, and to sign whatever papers the realtor had for him. It wasn't very long until he parked the car at the side of the road on Trost, his green scarf still wound around his neck as he stepped back into the autumn air. He waved as he passed the pharmacy, Casper and James visible behind the counter and grinning to him as he walked by, turning back to look down the street, seeing the small corner grocery store a few doors down, looking in the windows he passed as he walked. He stopped and stepped to the side, out of the way of foot traffic as he saw a display of rings glinting back at him, thinking. ...I want to marry her. Lathe had a bright light in his eyes as he stepped to the door, walking inside. He left a while later, waiting the only thing left to do before the custom ring was finished. His step never felt lighter as he did the grocery shopping, going home and setting the grocery bags and the large box on the kitchen table, going upstairs to find Eren and show him his busted frames. "Eren, I didn't know you needed glasses! Why didn't you tell me?" How have you managed with such awful vision?

Huh? Eren looked up from his drawing, turning off the recording. He glanced over to Lathe, seeing him holding his busted glasses. "Umm... I've... I've been managing." Eren told him looked back towards the computer, enjoying the clearer image in front of him. "I... I didn't want you to be mad at me... Cause I didn't know where I left them." He told him honestly, his cheeks tinted red from embarrassment. I figured you'd be mad that I would need new ones...
Lathe set the glasses down on the table next to him, sitting on the chair next to Eren and pulling him into a sideways hug, smiling warmly. "Come on Eren, you know I'm not capable of anger. Especially when it's you. And they're glasses, you need them to see! So, even though that's a really cool drawing you've got going on, you're stopping and coming with me. We're getting you to the eye doctor." Lathe stood, lightly tugging on Eren's sleeve. "Come on, this is important! You're really straining your eyes...

... Well, at least he's not mad. Eren let Lathe tug him downstairs and slipped on his metal-toed boots, and his large dark green jacket that Lathe got him a little while ago. He followed him out to the car, shivering as the cold air hit him full force. "Why's it gotta be so cold! It's the second week of September!" He whined, waiting for Blake to hop into the car before he hopped in as well. Too fucking freezing... But being able to see would be really nice... I wouldn't need to copy Armin's notes in class anymore...

Lathe shrugged, tugging on his thick scarf and sliding into the driver's seat, starting the car. He suddenly froze, looking over to him. "Last time you checked, what was your prescription?"

Eren thought about it for a few seconds, scratching his head trying to think. "I think 4.25 and 5.75..." He trailed off not sounding to sure about that. I think that's what it was... But I don't remember.... My Dad was furious that I needed them, I remember as much.

Lathe just leaned his head in his hands, his voice small and shaky. "...how the hell could I let you drive... and you had Armin in the car too... how could you think driving blind was a good idea?" ... losing Viola was bad enough... if you hadn't asked that question and I didn't go through to find your glasses, and you drove again...

Well... I learned to drive blind... So I figured it was okay. "Umm... I took my drivers test like this, and I've been driving fine, it doesn't really bother me anymore, cause I can tell where things are, cause the colors are different...

Lathe cleared his throat and pulled himself together quickly, starting towards the optometrist on Trost Street. "Well, you're going to have to learn to drive not-blind. You being able to see details at longer distances can mean you don't hit a deer or can avoid debris, or notice something about to happen that you need to be careful of." It was barely five minutes before the car was parked outside the optometrist, Lathe shutting off the car and getting out, his hair getting in his eyes from the breeze. He held the door open for Eren and Blake, leading them up to the receptionists' desk.

The receptionist smiled at the two of them as they came in. "Hi! Welcome to Trost Optical! My name's Krista. How can I help you?" The small blonde with baby blue eyes greeted them with a cheery smile.

Eren looked up to Lathe, not really sure what to tell her as they got closer. I don't know how this goes... I haven't had my eyes checked since we moved... And that was years ago... With... Him...

Eren shivered at the thought, Blake whining until Eren bent down to pet him and calm himself down.

Lathe glanced worriedly to Eren for a moment, before looking back to Krista. "My son Eren here needs an eye exam. We don’t have an appointment, but we can wait for the next available spot or make one now if we need to. He really needs glasses.” Or contacts. Glasses might get in the way. We could get him a pair and keep them as backups if he wants. I’ll ask him in a second.

Krista clicked a few times on her computer. “We actually don’t have anyone scheduled right now, so I can slide him in now, if that works?” She asked sweetly pulling out a few books and papers. “Does Eren have a file with us?” She asked, getting ready to pull a few sheets out for Lathe to sign while Eren sat down on the floor, and let Blake lick his face.

Lathe furrowed his brow. “Actually, I don’t know...” He looked to Eren on the floor next to him, chuckling at the sight. “Eren, do you remember coming here before?” I dunno where you got your first glasses...

Eren thought about it for awhile before nodding. “Y-yeah... Umm... H-He brought m-me.” Eren stuttered his eyes downcast, Blake whining and licking his face. He was really mad that he had to bring me here...

Lathe gave him a sympathetic look, leaning down a bit to gently ruffle his hair before looking back up to Krista. “That’s a yes, then. Eren Jaeger, spelled E-r-e-n Y-e-a-g-e-r.” ... at least you don’t have to worry about him anymore.

Krista nodded and typed in the information. “Okay, Eren’s six years over due for a check up... And he lives at 104 Rose Wall Ave. So you must be his father, Mr. Grisha Yeager?” She asked to make sure all the information was correct.

Eren froze when his father’s name was said, Blake continuing to whine as Eren clung to him. Eren’s eyes were wide and full of fear as he looked up to Lathe.

Is he here? Is he gonna hurt me?

I’m not that piece of shit. Lathe suddenly looked down to Eren as he stared up to him terrified. Fuck . He got down next to Eren, pulling him into a hug and carding a hand through his hair, his low voice soothing in his ear. He glanced up as Krista peered over the edge of the desk confusedly until she registered Blake, the look in her eyes apologetic after an instant. Lathe spoke quietly. "N-no, I recently adopted Eren... a lot has changed... could you just give me whatever forms I need to fill out for all the new information?" I can’t exactly get up right now... A clipboard works if us sitting here for a second until I get him calm and into a chair in the waiting room is okay...

Krista nodded, printing out a few papers and coming around the desk and giving Lathe the clipboard. "I'm sorry..." She apologized quietly, though she backed up when Eren's grip tightened on Blake and Lathe.

Eren's grip tightened on Lathe as Krista got closer to him, though he was starting to calm down as Lathe held him and talked calmly in his ear. Blake continued to lick his face to keep him calm, which was definitely helping to get him calmed down again.

Lathe nodded, taking the clipboard with his right hand and giving her a look that it was alright before he turned back to Eren, his voice still a calm murmur. "It's alright Eren... how about we go sit in the waiting room? It'll be more comfortable than the floor.” Lathe rubbed his arm with his thumb, thankful that Eren was calming rather quickly.

Eren looked to him and nodded, using Lathe to help get into his feet, and able to walk to the waiting room and sit down next to Lathe. He's not here, you need to calm down... I really need to calm down. Eren sat down, hunching over his knees, petting Blake to help calm him down.
completely, Lathe's arm a grounding weight over his shoulders. It was only a few minutes until the doctor came to take him back and they went to a back room with Blake at Eren's side.

Krista came up to Lathe after that. "I'm sorry, I really didn't mean to bring up something that would do that to him, will he be alright?" She asked softly, her hands out to take the completed papers to put them into Eren's file.

Lathe handed her the clipboard, a weary smile on his face. "It's okay, you wouldn't have known. And yeah, he'll be okay. He just needed a bit to calm down, but he's fine."

Meanwhile, an optometrist was handing Eren a plastic eye cover, a projector showing large letters on the opposite wall. "Alright Eren, cover your left eye for me and read the line of letters."

Wait... That paper thing over there has letters on it? "I... I um... Can't read any of them... It's just white...with some black blurs in a line..." He told the doctor honestly removing the cup and looking to the chart again, this time the lines a little darker black instead of the blur, but he still couldn't read any of the letters. Is... Is this normal?

...Seriously? The optometrist nodded, moving instead to the machine next to Eren, moving a large set of interchangeable lenses in front of him and starting him on a -6.00 in each eye. He moved so he could see the chart. "Is that any help?"

"A...a little... I can see the b-black lines now." He told the man and continued to pet Blake to calm himself down. Is it bad that I can't see it? What is he trying to get me to read?

He nodded, adding more lenses to bring him up to a -7.50 in each eye. "Any letters yet?"

I think I can see that... "Is that letter a C? Or a G?" He asked, his gaze focusing on the first letter on the second line. I think it's a C.... But I can't tell.

"Here, let's try this. We'll just work on your right eye." The optometrist blacked out the left eye, bringing the right up to an -8.00. "Is that still blurry?"

"Um... A little but not too much. It's a G..." Eren told him and continued to pet Blake still a little on edge from before. Am I really that blind? I wonder how blind I am... Actually, I don't want to know because Lathe'll probably kill me for driving while I'm blind...

The optometrist turned a dial, switching slowly between -8.25 and -7.75. "Which is better? This first one? Or the second one?"

"The second one, that one's a lot better." He had a smile on his face, actually being able to see something far away for the first time in two and a half years. It's so cool...

The optometrist gave him a small smile. "Alright, is that perfectly clear then?" He blacked out that eye as Eren nodded, switching to the left and bringing that up to a -8.00. "Better at all?"

"It's still kinda blurry..." He told him honestly, trying not to squint to see what the letters were since the doctor made them smaller so he could read them. So I'll be able to see after this?

The man again turned a dial, switching between a stronger and weaker view. "The first or the second one? Which is clearer?"

"The first one." Eren said with a large smile on his face. I can see!!
The man nodded, letting Eren see through both eyes and changing the projection to small letters. "Read the bottom line for me if you can, Eren."

"Z-R-T-C-U-G-A-Y" Eren said happily, getting all the letters right without skipping a beat. "I can see!" He said happily, a huge smile on his face, as he giggled happily. I can see! I'll be able to see the board in school! Cool!

The optometrist couldn't help but beam, sitting down at the computer to type his prescription for glasses in quickly, speaking over his shoulder to him. "Alright Eren, that seems to be the best script for your eyes. Have you thought at all about whether you're going to get contact lenses?" We'll need to measure your eye if you do plan on getting them.

"Um... I think contacts would work... But, I really want glasses too." Eren told him, looking down, as if he would be told he wouldn't be getting glasses. I kinda really want the glasses... Will Dad let me get them too? I hope so.

"Well, nearly all people who get contacts keep a spare pair of glasses at home for backups, in case they run out of contacts or decide to leave them out for a day. We actually recommend you keep a spare pair of glasses around. It's your choice, so if you do want contacts and glasses we can do that."

"O-Okay..." Eren stuttered but nodded all the same. "That sounds good." Eren still sat in the chair, not wanting to move until the man wanted him to do so. I don't want him to be angry at me though, I hope it's okay.

The man pulled up a new screen, standing from his stool and moving the large glasses from in front of him. "Alright, just come with me for a moment, Eren, right this way." He led Eren down two doors and had him sit in a chair, a machine sitting on a table in front of him. "Alright, just rest your chin on this stand and rest your forehead against the top bar. Look straight ahead for me."

Eren rose from the chair and followed the man into the next room, sitting and looking ahead as the man turned on the machine, a small barn slowly coming into and out of focus. What? Why am I looking at a barn? Why does it look so weird? Where are the animals? ...I kinda miss the animals from back home...

The man read from the small screen, a small slip printing into his hand. He skimmed it, turning to a large cabinet full of organized contact lenses in all strengths and brands. He picked out two boxes near the very top, reading the sides of them and handing them to Eren. "We have your prescription on hand, as we do for every script available, but since you need something so strong it's rare they do anything besides sit around until they expire, so we can give you these."

Eren nodded, taking the contacts from him and going towards a mirror. He struggled to get the first contact in after nearly dropping it on the floor a thousand times, but after a few tries he finally got it down and moved to the next one to put it in his eyes and he looked around the room, his eyes wide as everything was finally put into perspective, and clearer than it had been in a long time. Everything is so clear.... It's awesome!

The optometrist smiled to him, closing the boxes and throwing away the small plastic containers from the lenses. He grabbed a box with contact lens solution and a lens case in it, handing it to Eren. "Alright, I'll explain what everything in this box is when we get out front, so your father can hear all this too." He led him out front, Lathe coming over to them from the waiting room.

Lathe looked to Eren and grinned, his voice warm. "So, how'd it go?" He's holding a box of contact stuff... is he wearing them now, or...?

Eren's focus turned to Lathe and he stopped in his tracks, taking in Lathe's whole features, his eyes widening more as he stared at him, not sure what to do. "So... that's what you look like...." Eren's words barely more than a whisper as he took in every inch of his features. I can finally see him...

Lathe's face became blank, staring back to Eren, his voice small. "...you... you didn't know what I looked like?" It's been two years and you... didn't know? Lathe swallowed hard, stepping forward and pulling Eren into a crushing hug, one hand tangled in his hair, trying not to cry into his shoulder. ...I'm just glad you can see now... that's what's important.

"No... um... I-I'm sorry... I was scared to tell you at first.... and I just figured out how to get around it... and then..." Eren started to sob as Lathe pulled him into a hug. I wasn't sure that you wouldn't be mad at me...

Lathe let out a shuddery breath as he held onto Eren, trying hard to keep himself composed and brushing a single tear away from his eye. He smiled, light dancing in his eyes. "I'm just happy you'll be able to see everything clearly now. How strong of a script did you end up needing?" If you didn't know how I looked... probably pretty damn strong.

The optometrist spoke for Eren. "He needed a -7.75 in the right eye, and a -8.25 in his left. He's very near-sighted, and everything more than a foot or two away from his face is blurry." It's terrible vision- most people don't need anything much stronger than a -5.00.

Lathe swallowed. That's fucking terrible vision... His grip on Eren tightened a fraction more, his head dropping onto his shoulder, his voice quiet as he cried. "...how did I let you drive..." You could have gotten killed. You've driven with Armin in the car... and drunk. ...really drunk. ...You could've ended up like... "...you could have ended up like Viola..." I don't want that to happen again... you need to see and I need to make sure you're okay...

...I'm sorry... Eren stopped sobbing and looked up to Lathe, looking at him through teary eyes, but he was finally able to see Lathe's pale face clearly. "...I-I'm sorry..." Eren sniffled and curled up to him. I'm really sorry, don't be mad at me please...

Lathe murmured into his ear soothingly, trying to stop the tears from falling down his ashen skin, composing himself. "I-It's okay, Eren. You can see now, and that's what matters." Lathe pulled back from him after a long moment, wearily smiling. "So, you've got contacts- I'm guessing you need backup glasses too. And did he give you the spiel, or...?" Lathe tapped the box of fluid Eren was still holding. "These are a big responsibility, you know. You need to take good care of your eyes."

"Okay..." Eren trailed off and shook his head turning to face the optometrist. "No... Not yet." He murmured and rubbed his eyes to get the tears away.

The optometrist smiled softly. "Okay, so these are a big responsibility. You need to clean these gently every day after you take them out, always wash your hands when you handle them or touch your eyes. When you wash them you put a bit of the solution in your hand and gently rub the contact with some more solution. When you put them away, put them in the case that I gave you and make sure that there is enough solution in each side of the case that the contacts float in it." He smiled when Eren nodded in understanding. "Good, now you can pick out some frames, and we'll order them."

Eren nodded, going around and soon finding some frames that he liked and putting them on to show Lathe. "How do these look?" He asked putting on thick black frames which fit nicely on his face. I hope he likes them. His tears had since dried and Eren had a hopeful look in his eyes.

Lathe grinned, studying how he looked with the frames on. "Those look really good on you, Eren. But that's just me. Don't go too fast picking out some frames; keep looking I'd you see something better. But I'd say that's a definite maybe." They do look really good on you.

Eren nodded and went around the room for a few more minutes, before coming back with the same frames in hand. "I like these ones." Eren told him, holding them close, the thick black frames, which were relatively cheap compared to other frames. I like these ones... And they aren't that expensive either...

Lathe nodded, smiling warmly. "They do look good on you. You can get those, of course."

Eren smiled and nodded. "I'll get these ones then." He held them out to the man standing there with them and looked over to Lathe. "Ummm... What do we do now?" Eren asked quietly, shuffling his feet under him, his eyes meeting Lathe’s for a few seconds. What do we do now?

The optometrist took the frames, inspecting them and nodding. "Alright, you guys are set for now, try out the contacts see if you like that brand before we do anything else, we’ll call you when everything is in, then we’ll have you pay for everything. So you guys are all set for now.” He told them with a soft smile on his face.

Lathe thanked him, shaking his hand before turning to Eren as they moved to leave. “Alright then, it’s time for lunch. How about we walk down Trost, see if there’s a place that looks good?” He led Eren out the door, walking past their car and ambling down the street, stopping in front of the pharmacy and looking through the window to the back counter, waving to catch Casper’s attention. {Hey Casper! How’s life going?}

Casper looked up as he saw furious waving in his peripheral, waving back. {Fan-fucking-tastic! How about you?} He smiled more as Eren poked his head from behind Lathe’s shoulder. {Sup’ Little Shit?}

Eren’s eyes narrowed as he watched Casper’s hands move, lifting his own hand with the bird flipped, continually glaring at him until he saw Casper double over in laughter.

Lathe laughed, signing once Casper was looking back up to him. {Are you seriously just going to call him Little Shit now? Is that now a thing?} That does sound like something you would do.
Casper nodded. {Oh yeah! That is so a thing now! So what’s up? Just walking up and down Trost for the hell of it? Or are you looking for something for a date? I know you got one! Spades has been raving about it all day.} Casper had a huge smile on his face as he signed quickly.

Lathe shook his head, a pink dusting over his cheeks. {No, I already know where we’re going. But yeah, that’s a thing that’s happening tonight. But we’re looking for someplace nice for lunch. Eren can finally see now, we’re hungry, and I don't want to cook today.} Why does literally everyone in our group ship us so much? ...if Casper is this enthusiastic, I don't even want to know what’s going through Scotty’s head...

Oh, that’s too perfect… Wait… What? {Eren can see now? What’d the fuck you do to his eyes now?} Casper rolled his eyes as James shouted at him for swearing. I can swear as much as I fucking want!

“Why are you swearing?”

“He made me!” Casper instantly pointed to Lathe through the front window.

James walked down the hall to look at who Casper was pointing to, his eyes landing on a waving Lathe. “Oh no, not this fucker again.”

Lathe read his lips, instantly raising his arms wide, jokingly speaking loudly. “You wanna go, bro? Cause it looks like you want to.” He straightened himself up as Eren shuffled even further behind him.

Eren watched the new figure come into view on the other side of the glass. Who’s that? Will they be mad at me… Wait. Why does he want to fight Dad? Eren’s grip on Lathe’s shirt tightened as he slowly peeked over his shoulder. Blake whined, starting to paw at Lathe's pants in a hope to get him to calm Eren down.

Casper watched as Lathe straightened up, hiding Eren completely from view. Wait… He never straightens himself out… something’s up… What is it?.... Eren ...he looks terrified. “James, don’t be a threatening asshole, you’re probably scaring Eren.” He informed him and nodded to the brown mop of hair as it slowly became visible over Lathe’s shoulder before disappearing in only a second.
James looked towards Lathe, at his full height. “Well shit… who pissed in his cereal this morning?” He slowly moved towards the counter in full view.

Casper glared at James, and shoved him a bit. “I said ‘You’re probably scaring Eren! The Little Shit’s clinging to Lathe like his life depends on it.’ His glare didn’t lift as he crossed his arms. It’s probably because Lathe spoke so loudly as soon as James was visible.

He looked back at the door, finally seeing Eren’s mop of brown hair before it disappeared in an instant. “Sorry… I didn’t mean to frighten him… also… why doesn’t he just come in like a normal human being?”

Lathe moved forward and pushed open the door, Eren still right behind him as he locked eyes with James and spoke. “Hey, this {fucker} can read your lips, ya know.” Lathe signed the swear, still at full height as the door swung shut behind them, looking behind him to Eren. “It’s okay, Eren, don’t you worry. James was just being mean again. But he’s cool. ...come on, Eren.” Lathe let Eren cling to his arm, bringing him a bit more into view as he slowly approached the counter, still a bit wary of James as he recognised how scared Eren was of him. He’s cool. But letting Eren know that no matter what he’s okay is more important than my being chill.

Eren slowly moved from behind Lathe to his side as they got to the counter. Why are we here? Isn't this the drugstore?... I think I came here with Armin, to get my morphine... Eren swallowed as he saw Casper's dark purple hair, the features of his face finally visible and he stared at him in curiosity, his eyes wide as he took everything in.

Casper raised an eyebrow as Eren stared at him. Okay, that's a little unnerving... Why the fuck is he staring at me like I'm something he's never seen before? He's seen me before! Many times!
"What's up with you, Little Shit? Why're you staring?"

James sighed, smacking his arm. "Is that really any way to talk to him?" Really, how much of a child can you possibly be?

Eren snapped out of his trance, raising his middle finger at Casper. "Sorry... you look... different..." Much different than what I expected you to look like.

What the hell is he talking about? What I 'look 'like? You've seen me before though! You literally cannot mistake my hair for anyone else's! Casper turned a questioning gaze to Lathe. You did say something about Eren being able to see now... enlighten me.

Lathe nudged Eren's side gently with his elbow as Eren's other hand still clung to his arm. Even though Casper pretty much deserved that... ...honestly though, I can only see this being normal between the two of them. "So, apparently Eren's needed glasses for a really long time and never told me. He lost his old pair and never mentioned that he couldn't see for shit for more than two years, until I found the old pair when I accidentally stepped on them. He didn't even know what I'd looked like this entire time! He's around a -8.00. It's that bad. But we just got him contacts, which he's currently wearing, and ordered him glasses, so don't be suspicious that he's staring. He didn't know what you looked like, probably besides being the blob with the purple blob on top."

Eren nodded, slowly feeling comfortable enough to let go of Lathe and look around the pharmacy for the first time and he wandered a bit, Blake at his heels.

James watched him look around and shrugged. "You must look so weird to him Casper." I mean really, purple hair?

Casper shrugged. "He probably thinks everything looks weird, not being able to see in two years... And something has me believing that he hasn't been able to see for longer than that." He shrugged, Eren had finally disappeared from their view, presumably looking around. "So... He couldn't even see you?"

Lathe shook his head, letting Eren wander around the short aisles. “Nope. He had his contacts in when he came out of the back rooms in the optometrists’ place, and just stared at me like ‘that’s what you look like.’ I can't believe it was that bad! And he’s been doing so well in all his classes without even being able to see the damn board! I don't get it.”

Casper nodded. “Wasn’t he driving too?” God, I can only imagine how you'd take that... Especially after Viola.

Eren wandered silently through the aisles, managing to slip past all three of them without notice as he stared at everything. Many colorful bottles of high-strength opioids lining the shelves, his eyes set on the magenta bottles in front of him. That’s morphine... Hmm... Eren continued to look around, finding more of the magenta pills on a counter, obviously in the process of being counted. He reached his hand out on instinct and picked up a small pill.

A pencil whizzed through the air towards his hand, knocking the pill out of his grasp before skittering off under a shelf. “Eren! What’re you doing?” Lathe looked to him with wide eyes, worry and disbelief flitting past. How the hell did you get back there and we didn't even fucking notice?!

Eren gasped sharply, jumping back a bit in surprise as Lathe stared him down. “Is... Is that what morphine looks like?” His voice was small as he spoke, slowly coming closer towards them and out from behind the back counters. I was just curious.

Casper’s eyes widened and he straightened himself, moving to herd Eren out of the back area. “Come on, Little Shit, you need to stay out here, not back there.” That could’ve gotten dangerous really quickly.... I don’t think the local hospital has Narcan... He could’ve overdosed with just a few pills.

Lathe gently tugged Eren by his sleeve back over next to him, not letting go, his voice worried yet gentle. “Yeah, that’s what morphine looks like, but that’s not for you. You can't just try to take medicine if it’s just laying around. And there was a sign on the door- don’t try and go back there anymore, okay?” That’s not a good idea, to let you just chill back there...

Eren let Lathe pull him close, nodding as he curled up to his side. “Okay.” He murmured quietly, looking around the room from the safety of his arms. Everything looks so clear… Is so cool.

Casper looked at Eren and shook his head. “Eren, you realize that if you took those pills… Any more than three would’ve killed you, the hospitals around here don’t have Narcan yet, we never would’ve been able to pull you out of that, do you understand?” He asked, holding James back from screaming at the kid. H’ll scare the hell out of Eren, maybe even give him a panic attack…. Can’t have that happen.

Eren looked up to Casper as he spoke. So they we worried I would take it? Eren nodded and shuffled behind Lathe as he saw the glare on James’ face. He’s angry at me…. No, I don’t want to get hit. Eren’s hand gripped Lathe’s shirt as he tried to hide himself, Blake starting to whine as he started to panic about it.

Lathe wrapped his arms around Eren protectively, shooting James a look. “Chill out, James, he’s already terrified of you.” He understands, you don't have to glare at him like he broke twenty laws and murdered your dog. Calm the fuck down. He tucked Eren’s head under his chin, speaking and trying to change the subject a bit. “But yeah, he was driving without anything correcting his vision. I wouldn't've let him if I knew. The good thing though is that it’s possible to correct it, and he has glasses on the way as well as contacts in right now. It’ll probably take awhile for him to stop looking at everything with awe.” He gave them a small smirk for an instant, though it disappeared as most of his attention went back to Eren, rubbing his arm with his thumb lightly. James better not lose his head… No more panic, please...

You need to calm down, Dad’s here… He’ll protect me. Eren buried his face in Lathe’s neck, taking in a few deep breathes to calm himself down. I don’t want him to be angry…. He’s angry at me… He’s gonna hit me. Eren’s hand shakily found Lathe’s and started to move his fingers to sign on them. {Can we go?} Eren was scared, and didn’t want to stay in the same place as James anymore.

Lathe nodded, looking up to Casper and speaking, his arms moving back around him. “We’re gonna get going. We could both do with something to eat, and you two are on the clock.” He sent a quick glare to James before he shrugged to the both of them. “See you two around, I guess.” He let Eren cling to his arm as they left, leading him down the street and past small shops. “Sorry about James, he can be kinda intense sometimes. Got a bit of a temper.” He skimmed the signs. “See some place that looks good, Eren? It’s your choice.” All these places look alright for lunch, really. But that’s me, and I’m not a picky eater.
Eren stopped in his tracks as soon as he saw something through the bakery window. What are those? They look really good. Eren kept his eyes trained on a fresh batch of cinnamon rolls before looking to Lathe with questioning eyes. What... Are those magnificent things?

Lathe stopped as soon as Eren did, looking in the bakery window and following Eren’s sight. Those look really good... He watched as Eren looked at him quizzically, grinning. “Eren, those there that you're staring at-” He pointed to the tray. “… those are cinnamon rolls.” As in, the things you can't stop eating when I make them.

Eren’s smile widened. “I want one.” His voice was quiet though a he continued to stare through the window, not really sure about how he would get to the cinnamon rolls, but now his interest was piqued.

Lathe chuckled, tugging Eren along, whose arm was still hooked around his. “Then we can get cinnamon rolls for lunch if you really want. That's a thing we can do.” He nodded to the door, leading him inside. He grinned widely as he recognised the person behind the counter. “Hey Marco! Long time no see!”

“Mr. Quo... You substituted my PE class yesterday... We literally just tried to punch each other all class.” He told him, his voice soft and his smile kind as he saw Eren by his side, still holding onto his arm and Blake agitated on the floor. Is he having a panic attack? Or did he have one?... Wait, why is he staring at me?

“Yep!” Lathe chirped brightly, looking over everything in the case at the front. “Well, I wouldn’t just say that … I'd say you were learning how to properly defend yourselves without a weapon all class. But that’s just me.” He looked to Eren. “See anything specifically you want to try besides the cinnamon rolls?” There’s a lot here that looks really good... But I don’t think you've ever had any of this kind of stuff...

Eren shook his head, but kept his eyes on Marco as he brought up a few suggestions, never leaving his face. He’s got freckles! He looks cute!

Lathe nodded, looking back to Marco. “O-Kay!” He noted the slightly uneasy flicker in Marco’s eyes. “Oh, Eren got contacts not even fifteen minutes ago, and he can actually see for the first time in like two years. But let’s see…” He started counting off on his fingers, skimming the labels of the baked goods in the case. “It’s a lot, so be warned- six cinnamon rolls; a dozen croissants, half chocolate; and one of every muffin that you own.” That sounds just about adequate.

Marco took the order with disbelief. “Wait... Mr. Quo... That’s thirteen muffins, are you sure that many?” He asked softly, going to get started on the cinnamon rolls. So Eren’s been blind this whole time? … How is he valedictorian of our class if he’s blind!?

Lathe just looked at him with a blank expression, looking around before speaking. “…and your point is…?” … I want my muffins. Is that a problem?

Marco nodded. “Muffins coming up.” He set a large box with cinnamon rolls on the counter in front of them before he went off to get another box for the croissants as well as a bag for the muffins. He filled both and set them all on the counter. “Alright, Cash or credit?” He asked and got it all set at the register.

“Credit, please.” Lathe handed him his black credit card, taking it and a receipt from him a moment later. “Alright Eren, help me carry all this stuff?” He picked up the box of croissants, the bag of muffins on top.

Eren nodded and grabbed the cinnamon roll box and followed him out. I wanna eat one of these, like... now. “Home?” He asked quietly as they made their way outside, Blake at his heels.

Lathe nodded, balancing the box on one hand as he fished for the keys in his pocket, unlocking the car as they got close. “Home.” He helped Eren situate in the passenger’s side with the many baked goods, driving them the two minutes home and helping Eren get everything inside, setting the boxes on the kitchen table and opening the one of cinnamon rolls first. “You get first pick, kid.” Lathe grinned. They all look way too good…

Hmmm… Eren finally picked up one of the large cinnamon rolls and put it on the plate and sat down to eat it in silence. He seemed to stay quiet, even with Lathe around, and just took everything in. It looks really cool in here…

Lathe got a plate for himself as well, picking on of the cinnamon rolls and sitting across from him, quiet and letting Eren simply look around at everything. He’s going to be so confused as to what everything is, probably. If he didn’t recognise a cinnamon roll, he’s not going to recognise a lot. I’ll let him inspect the house, figure out what everything is. ...I have a feeling he’s going to cry when he sees his mom’s instruments…

Eren finished up his first cinnamon roll, picking up another and taking it with him as he stared at the croissant box. “What the hell are these?” They look sooooo weird, like really weird, what the fuck are they? Are they even edible?
Lathe gasped and placed a hand over his heart dramatically, grinning as he spoke. “Are you insulting the croissants? The wonderful croissants which you need to have one of?” They're awesome.

Eren nodded. “I’ll eat one after.” He moved towards the cabinets, pulling out random shit. Literally what is all of this??

Lathe just shrugged as Eren started to pull the kitchen apart, finishing his cinnamon roll and setting his plate in the sink. He looked to the clock, his brain kicking into overdrive. Think, it’s about two right now… I need to shower, shave, fret about what I’m wearing… Red of course… Do I have any of my red shirts washed?… Shit. Lathe went to the staircase quickly, going upstairs and scrutinising his closet. He came back downstairs with a basket full of red laundry, Eren catching his arm and holding up a whisk with an inquisitive look. “…Eren, that’s a whisk.” He watched as Eren simply nodded and continued to stare at the utensil, going back to laundry mode after a second. He left the small hall that led from the piano room to the laundry room and garage, Eren catching him again on his way to the shower, holding up another utensil. “Eren, that’s a potato masher.” He looked into the kitchen, seeing everything on the counters and table. “Can you put all that back after you're done? I really need to get ready for my date tonight.” He continued on his way after Eren nodded, showering quickly and shaving carefully, making sure not to cut himself before scampering back downstairs as the washer buzzed, moving things either into the dryer or onto hangers to air-dry.

Eren cleaned up the kitchen, and was now staring at the Grand Piano in the piano room. That… That’s mom’s… They weren’t lying to me… I thought they just bought me a bunch of instruments… But… This is really Mom’s. Eren let his fingers gently trace over the dark edges, memories instantly flashing through his head as he looked at the stool in front of it. His Mom sitting with him in front of the beautiful keys, giggling and singing as they played, moving then to when he was older and actually learning the keys instead of just mashing them playfully. He started to cry as he remembered everything that happened. This piano started it all… This is Mom… She’s here with me again.

Lathe walked through the piano room with an armful of clean laundry, stopping as he heard and saw Eren sobbing. He understood as he watched Eren stare at the keys, walking over and patting his shoulder.

Eren continued to cry as he gently touched the piano, moving to sit down in front of it, his fingers gently grazing the ivory. “Y—you… Weren’t I-lying…” Eren cried as he gently started to play the first song his mother had taught him. He could almost hear her encouraging him from behind. It’s really here… but why can’t she be here too? Eren’s tears continued to fall as he played beautiful and slow music, slowly starting to sing in German, his voice soft and melodic. I want her back…

Lathe’s hand fell from his shoulder as Eren sat down to play, standing next to him and listening to the sweet music, watching Eren’s fingers move with practiced ease over the keys. He immediately had understood what Eren meant. no, I wasn't.... It's really her piano.

Eren continued to play beautifully before he started to slow down his playing, his mouth opening again as he steeled his nerves. His voice was deeper than it’d ever been before while he sang his favorite song, the way it was supposed to be sung. His voice was loud, reverberating against the walls, his eyes closed, his fingers slowly moving over the ivory keys. The way Mom taught me.... Eren continued to sing that familiar song, Der Mond Ist Aufgegangen, in a lower octave than he’d ever sung before. His tears subsided as he finished, a small sad smile on his face. I really wish you were here.... You’d love Dad... And my new Mom.... You’d like both of them.

I've never heard him sing that low... Usually his voice is so much higher. Lathe listened intently, Eren’s lower voice sweet and unfamiliar. He still sings so well that low... He was silent as Eren’s fingers slowed their movement over the keys to a stop, not knowing what else to do besides step a bit closer to the piano bench and rest a hand on his shoulder, his thumb moving over his arm comfortingly. ...she’d be so proud of you, of everything you've done.

Eren looked up to Lathe as he felt his hand over his arm. He swallowed visibly before moving to get up. “So... What are those croissant-thingies?” Eren asked softly, trying to keep his focus off the piano, so that he wouldn’t break down right then and there. I need a distraction... I need it...

I understand. Lathe gave him a small smile, his free hand leaving his shoulder as he got up, knowing Eren wanted a distraction from the piano. He led him into the kitchen, his voice quiet and light. “Croissants are this awesome pastry thing- they're flaky, and they taste amazing, and you need to try one.” He opened the top of the box with his free hand. “Some croissants have things baked into them, like these six, which have chocolate chips in them. Or the rest are plain butter; pick whichever you like.” Either is delicious.

Eren watched Lathe open the box up and point out the different kinds of pastries. His hand timidly reaching forward and grabbing a butter croissant, staring at it with confusion as it started to flake in his hands. How the hell do you eat one of these?

Lathe quirked an eyebrow in amusement as the pastry completely puzzled Eren. “It’s gonna flake, I warned you. It can get kinda messy. But just take a bite out of the end.” Lathe shrugged. There's kinda only one way to eat a pastry, you don't have to look at it like it's a rubix cube that needs solving, as amusing as seeing that may be.

Eren continued to look at the flakes on the croissant for a bit longer before taking a bite and his eyes opening up a bit more. This is really good. I like it. Eren took another bite and another until he was licking the flakes off of his fingers, not really caring that Lathe was right there while he did it. I wonder when he'll leave with Spades? I get to see Mom too! Yay!"
Lathe just shook his head good-naturedly as Eren finished off the pastry quickly, taking a step toward the stairs behind him. “I really need to keep getting ready for tonight. Feel free to on tinge attacking the croissants. We have a lot of them, and they’re not really going anywhere.” He grinned, ruffling Eren’s hair before turning to cross the piano room and ascend the steps, fretting in the mirror over what he wore and how his hair refused to do what he wanted it to. He finally surrendered and let his hair stay as wild as it always was, deciding his dark red dress shirt and black tie, dress pants and polished shoes would do fine. ... would a suit jacket be too much? Probably... I don’t know though... It’s dinner and a movie, I’ll skip the jacket then. He looked to the his door as the doorbell rang, immediately moving to the stairs, his shoes clicking quietly on the floor as he stepped onto the wood, pulling the door open. His warm expression changed to one of awe, his words of greeting dying on his tongue as he took in Spades. ... holy fuck she’s gorgeous.

Spades stood in the doorway, her hair down for a change instead up in a ponytail, letting the long hair fall down her back. Her dark blue sleeveless dress suited her curvy body well and ended at her knees. She smiled as she took in Lathe’s dress outfit. You look handsome... Damn.... Do we have to go out? I kinda just want to strip you now. “Hello, Lathe.” She smiled widely, moving up to kiss his cheek, her arms wrapping around his shoulders as he stared at her still. “You like what you see?” She whispered quietly in his ear, a mischievous glint in her eyes.

Eren came in from the kitchen, slowly padding close to them. His eyes glued to Spades as he finally got to see her for the first time. She’s so pretty.... She looks so beautiful, Dad’s lucky... He seemed to hide a bit by the stairs behind them, watching them as they greeted and kissed. That’s my new Mom? That’s Spades?.... Nice... Eren had a soft smile on his face, but kept his eyes on Spades’ face, taking in her details.

Lathe blushed, his hands going to rest on her waist, his voice quiet against her lips as he turned his head. “Definitely.” He pressed a kiss to her lips, full of quiet fire. He beamed at her after he pulled away, keeping an arm around her waist as he turned to look to Eren at the stairs, smirking. “You have our cellphone numbers, and there’s plenty of food in the kitchen. We’ll be home pretty late, just warning you. Try and get to sleep at a reasonable hour, alright?” Just two minutes, and Spades is all mine for the night.

Eren nodded, still keeping his eyes glued on Spades as he spoke, “Good pick.” He moved his hands up to give Lathe two thumbs up before scurrying up the stairs and into his room, Blake following him up the stairs.

Spades watched him leave quickly with furrowed eyebrows. “What was that all about exactly?” Her arm pulling on his to take him outside. I wanna go so I can get you home sooner.... If that’s even possible.
Spades stepped into his black car, her eyes wide. He… He couldn’t see anyone. “Wait… How could he even drive? Let alone drunk… How the hell could he drive?!?!” Her voice raised a bit as she buckled in. I can only imagine what you felt like when you found out… How bad are his eyes? If he’s just seeing me for the first time. “Did he… Did he see you for the first time?”

Lathe slid into the driver's side of the car, shutting the door and shrugging before he nodded. “I taught him to drive while he couldn't see, so I guess he just got really good at driving blind while at least I was in the car with him to help guide him… And yeah… He came out of the back room of the optometrist with the contacts in and just stared at me, and he even said ‘that's what you look like.’” Lathe buckled in, looking over to Spades. I don’t get it… But he managed, and he’s okay now, and that’s what matters.

Spades nodded, letting him drive. I can only imagine how broken you felt after that… “So you’re going to have to teach him to drive all over again aren’t you? Think he’ll be alright in the house by himself?” Her voice was soft as she looked out the window, her left hand coming up to her hair, her fingers twirling with the long locks. So that was the first time he saw me?

Lathe nodded, keeping his eyes on the road ahead. “Yeah, I need to teach him driving all over again. And he’ll be okay by himself, it’s not like we’re leaving him alone for a week. And he has our cell numbers and Blake with him. He’ll be fine.” It wasn't a very long drive until they reached a small, fancy restaurant as they got a bit further into the city, parking the car and slipping out, smoothly moving to open the car door for Spades.

Spades smiled as she stepped out, her heels clicking on the concrete underfoot. Italian… Nice choice. She hummed, hooking their arms together as they walked towards the door, smiling as they were welcomed with warm air rushing by. Italian… Hmm, seafood and pasta, probably red wine, that’s a great start to the date.

Lathe beamed as they entered, making their way to the hostess stand, his eyes bright as he spoke. “Reservations for Quo?” He followed the woman at the stand as she nodded and led them further into the restaurant, setting menus at both of their places and leaving to send over a server. He unlinked their arms as they reached the table, pulling out Spades’ chair for her before sitting opposite her, looking up over the small candle that flickered in the middle of the table.

Spades smiled as she sat down, looking up to meet Lathe’s gaze. The two of them talked quietly as they waited for their server, finally ordering after a few minutes and wine being brought out for the two of them. She had a smile on her face the entire time they were at the restaurant. The food was good, the atmosphere light and enjoyable, conversation easily flowing between the two of them. Once dinner was done Spades was led back out to the car, Lathe driving them further into the city and to a large movie theater.

Lathe had parked the car and led Spades up through the front doors, speaking to the man in the ticket booth. “Two for the next showing of ‘The Great Gatsby,’ please.” He soon had two tickets in hand, giving one to Spades as they went further into the theatre. It wasn’t long until they had reached their theatre, able to get seats near the middle, a good view of the wide screen. Lathe couldn’t help but glance over to Spades every few minutes as the movie played, grinning as he saw her expressions change as the story unfolded. He didn’t care it was way too cliched as he yawned, stretching his arms over his head and letting one fall over Spades’ shoulders, holding her a bit closer to him as an armrest didn't separate them, pushed up and out of the way.

Well that was sly, cheeky move Lathe. Spades simply smiled as she moved closer to him, leaning her head against him as the movie played out. She blushed as Lathe took her hand and led her back out towards the car, it was already late and they still had an hour or so drive until they got back home, once they were situated in his car, she leaned over the center console and kissed his cheek. “Thank you for tonight.” She murmured softly, moving slightly to kiss him directly on the lips. Lathe kissed her back for a moment before pulling away, brushing a stray lock of hair from her face, smiling to her. “As much as I would like to continue that right now, wait until we get home, okay?” Lathe pecked her lips one last time before starting the car, the drive home in his mind impossibly long, one thought running back and forth in his head. ...she’s been so wonderful to me... and I just know she’s the one... she’s going to stay... I kinda want to break that last rule of mine...

It was nearly an hour until they got home, Lathe unable to wait any longer after he shut off the car, unbuckling and leaning over to Spades, kissing her fervently, his hands wandering from her shoulders down her sides, letting her tangle their tongues together. ...if that’s what you want... if you ask, or... if I ask and you say yes... I’ll break it. I know you're not going anywhere.

Spades kept her head tilted to the side a bit, her hands coming up to cup Lathe’s face as she kissed him deeply, moaning into the kiss as she felt his hands over her sides. She pulled back to breathe, resting her forehead against his. “Should we... Should we go inside?” Her voice was a bit breathless as she spoke. I wouldn’t mind spending the night here... I planned on doing so.

Lathe looked into her eyes, his own shaded as his voice dropped an octave, a small smirk playing over his lips. “Please.” He pressed one last kiss to her lips before they broke apart, getting out of the car, Spades immediately coming around to press herself close to him, Lathe kissing her deeply as they walked to the front steps, his arm wound tightly around her waist. ...I want to break it. I really really want to. Lathe was searching for the right key on the key ring when he suddenly broke away from Spades, wide-eyed and staring hard at the door for an instant. ...did I just hear... Lathe listened intensely, instantly letting go of Spades as he heard Blake bark, all of his emotions replaced with worry. ...did someone break in? Is Eren having an attack? What the hell happened?
... is someone trying to hurt Eren? Lathe had the door open in a second, his face set and stony as he scanned the first floor quickly, spotting Blake moving in circles at the top of the stairs, his fur discolored with large patches of drying paint. He took the stairs three at a time, his fists raised defensively until he saw Eren’s door shut, resisting the immediate urge to kick it open and trying the knob, gasping at the sight of Eren laying lifeless on his side on the bed, staring blankly ahead of him and cradling an empty jar of peanut butter to his chest, his chest barely moving as he breathed. He was covered in seemingly random smears of paint, small shreds of paper surrounding him and littering everything in the room, the drawings from his wall all taken down and nowhere to be seen. Fuck. Lathe strode over to him and brushed the hair from his face, trying to get Eren to look at him as he cradled his cheek. “Eren, can you hear me? You still there? Please, give me something.” The light’s gone from his eyes…

Eren didn’t move in his arms, he wasn’t there, his eyes wide and glassy, his body limp and lifeless. This was definitely the worse attack he had ever had. Eren couldn’t hear Lathe talk to him, couldn’t feel him as he was moved, forced to remain in his broken state.

Spades had followed Lathe upstairs in an instant, gasping as she saw the state of Eren’s room and Blake as he climbed up in bed with Eren whining horribly, yet Eren didn’t move at all. She looked down to the paper littering the floor. Is that...? Are those all his drawings? Did he rip them all up? She looked at the carpet, seeing smears of paint underfoot, following them to the recording room. She gasped as she saw what the room was now. In the center of the room, all of his instruments were perfectly arranged into a circle, in the middle a space just big enough for someone to sit in, which currently held another empty peanut butter jar. Wait… He was holding one? How much did he eat? She finally looked around the room, spotting all the paint cans thrown into the corner of the room, looking at the large wall opposite the camera. She… she looks like Eren. Spades looked at the wall, all the detail that must’ve gone into painting it, turning to get Lathe and seeing the red light flashing on the camera. It’s recording… “Hey Lathe!” Spades called for him, stepping carefully back into the hallway towards Eren’s room.

Lathe barely heard Spades as she called for him, speaking to Eren in stuttery German as he searched for the right words, pleading with him and trying to reassure him that everything was alright, hoping that he would come out of it soon. He looked up from his spot as he knelt on the floor next to Eren’s bed as Spades walked in, her heels clicking quietly on the floor. “W-what is it?” What more is there…?

Spades licked her lips, looking down to try and formulate the right words. “I think he painted a picture of his mom… The instruments are all laid out on the floor and he’s got a jar of peanut butter in the other room…. But his camera….” She trailed off, her eyes landing on Eren’s still form. Eren you need to come back to us… Can you hear Lathe?

... well, fuck. Not good. Lathe nodded, pressing a kiss to Eren’s forehead and standing, looking to Spades and giving her a hopeful look. “I’ll take care of that. …talk to him, please, see if he’ll listen to you… I don’t think he can hear me, but… maybe it’ll be different if it’s you. And you know more German than I do.” He kissed her cheek before moving to the recording room, seeing the striking image of Eren’s mother painted on the wall. he must have found the picture… She really does look just like him.

Spades nodded, moving Eren as she sat down on the bed above his head, gently picking his head up and moving to place it safely in her lap. <“Eren? Can you hear me?” Her voice was soft as she carded her fingers through his paint stained locks. <“Eren… I need you to be strong, you need to fight it, you gotta come back to us, please. Dad’s really worried about you, I’m worried about you too. Can you hear me Eren? It’s Mommy.”> Come on kid, you need to wake up, you need to come back to us. She watched as Eren’s fingers let go of the empty jar of peanut butter, letting it fall to the ground.

Mommy? Is that you? Is that really you?… No…. It can’t be you…

You’re right, it can’t be her.

Why not?

Because you killed her-

I didn’t kill her!

Yes you did, you fucking retard.

No I-I didn’t…

Uh huh, just keep telling yourself that… You know you did it though.

But she’s there… I can hear her!

No you can’t, that’s not your Mom. You killed her, and you can’t have another one.

But…

No. You can’t have another one, because you’ll just end up doing the same thing.

But-

Did you not listen to anything I just said? You stupid piece of shit, you don’t understand anything do you?

I just…

No, you can’t do anything about it.

I can hear her…

That’s not your Mom, that’s a fake you tried to make into your own. She doesn’t love you, she can’t… you’re not her own, you’re in the way… She can’t have her own kids with you here.

...She told me she loves me…

She doesn’t.
Eren’s body started to shake as his mind tormented itself, shaking in Spades’ arms as he started to come back to reality. I want Mommy to love me.

Spades continued to talk with Eren in a soft voice, hoping to get even the slightest movement out of him, though when he started shaking she called for Lathe in a panic. What if he’s having a seizure? I don’t know what to do! He just started shaking all of the sudden… Spades looked into Eren’s eyes, realizing that his eyes were starting to focus again. Is he coming back to us? Or is he getting worse? I can’t tell… Dammit, Lathe! Get your ass in here! "Eren, honey, can you hear me?"

Lathe immediately set down the violin case he was holding as he heard Spades call for him, noting the panicked tone in her voice. He was still careful with the case’s contents before he rose to quickly move back into Eren’s room, seeing Eren shaking in Spades’ lap. Is he having a seizure? Lathe knelt down next to him, studying Eren’s eyes for a moment. “He’s not having a seizure if that’s what you were worried about. Eren? Come on, say something, please. It’s Dad… let us know if you can hear us, please…” We’re really worried about you… come back to us, please…

Eren’s eyes were still wide but he was finally able to focus them on Lathe… Daddy? “…D-D-Dad?…” Eren’s voice was hoarse, like he’d lost it from screaming or something of that nature. He tried to move his fingers, able to claw a bit at his chest, but any more movement besides that he wasn’t able to do. My head hurts…. I…. I thought I wasn’t gonna make it back….

Lathe let out a sigh of relief, one hand going to carefully clasp Eren’s and keep him from trying to claw at his chest, the other going to thread into his paint-matted hair, cradling his head. “I’m right here Eren, it’s okay.” He glanced up to Spades for an instant, trying to find the right words, though they came easily after a moment. “Mom’s here too… We’ve both got you, Eren, we’re right here. Just relax.”

Eren looked up towards Spades, feeling her hand card through his hair gently. Mom…? But… Doesn’t she hate me? Eren swallowed visibly, his eyes showing a hint of fear. Does she hate me? For killing my first one? Does she think I’m gonna kill her too?

Spades looked down at him with soft eyes, seeing his eyes lined with a hint of fear. "It’s okay Eren, Mommy's got you."> Her voice was soft as she gently rubbed his head to help calm him down. You don’t need to be afraid of me.

Lathe kept Eren’s hands firmly in his grasp as he petted him reassuringly, understanding Spades’ German easily. She really does feel like Eren’s Mom, then… when the hell is that ring going to be in? Lathe pushed the thought back a bit in his mind as Eren coughed hoarsely, his voice warm and quiet. “Do you want me to get you some water, Eren?” …as soon as you’re feeling up for it, you could use a bath… there’s paint literally everywhere… and I kinda really hope it didn’t stain Spades’ dress, I like this one...
Eren looked over to Lathe and nodded slowly as his body shuddered, another round of coughing got through him. Water sounds really nice. Eren looked back up to Spades as she started to softly speak to him in German again, getting completely sucked into her soft voice as she spoke and told him some stories to calm him down, and it worked wonders.

Lathe was back with a glass of cool water in a moment, gently guiding Eren with Spades’ help to sit up, helping him drink the water as Eren’s hands shook terribly as he tried to take the glass from him. Lathe couldn't help but be drawn in as well by Spades’ voice. …she’s so perfect for this… she knows how to calm Eren down, and she treats him like her own son… Dammit, the second I get that ring, you are mine.

Spades sigh in relief a bit as Eren started to talk softly back with her, Blake finally calming down enough to paw at Lathe and look at him like he expected to be bathed. Well, they could both use a bath… She ran a hand through his hair. <“Eren, why don’t we get you into the bath? We’ll help you wash up… Okay?”> She watched him nod, turning to look at Lathe. Alright you’re gonna have to help out with this one… I’m in heels, I can’t carry him.

Eren scratched at his chest while he was moved from his room to the bathroom. He didn’t even realize that he was scratching at his chest, all he knew was that he was trying to move his hand around. Move, dammit… I’m fucking exhausted.

Lathe lifted Eren from Spades’s lap and the bed, nodding to the nightstand and addressing Spades. “Grab his contact lens stuff please.” He carried Eren to the bathroom, gently sitting him down on the toilet seat so he could start the bath, unbuttoning his dress shirt and taking it off, a white tank top underneath. That’s just going to get soaked and/or stained with paint otherwise, and that’s between you and Blake. Lathe thanked Spades as she handed him the contact lens case and the bottle of fluid, dumping out the case and adding fresh solution before handing it to Eren. “Eren, I know for a fact you're going to fall asleep in the bath again, so take out your contacts now before you're too sleepy to.” No eye infections please.

Eren looked to Lathe as he spoke to him, still absentmindedly scratching at his chest. Contacts… Right… That’s why I can see right now. Eren’s hands shakily moved to take them out, struggling for only a few moments before he finally got them out. I'm tired, I wanna sleep…

Lathe capped the small case, setting it on the counter near the sink and beginning to move to undress Eren, though he stopped short as Blake pawed at his leg, looking back up to Spades. He was at a loss for words and looked down, not really knowing what to say or how to say it. “U-um…” I don’t know what you want to do now that all this has happened… There’s no way I can let Eren sleep alone after this… I feel like I need to say something, and I don’t know what…
Spades smiled softly, leaning down to peck his cheek. “I’ll go grab my overnight bag from my car, get changed and then get some pajamas for Eren, okay?” She asked softly, ruffling Eren’s hair before she turned to leave. I know you won’t let Eren sleep alone tonight, but you have a king bed… We should all fit on it…

Lathe’s eyes widened a bit as she kissed his cheek, watching her leave. you’re wonderful … He smiled faintly before turning back to Eren, nudging the door more or less closed before helping Eren out of his clothes, leaving his boxers on before lifting him into the tub filled with very warm water, reaching for the shampoo and a comb and starting to carefully work the paint out of his hair. ...it honestly looks as if you just dumped a bucket of paint on your head… This might take a bit. He brushed the colorful bubbles away from Eren’s eyes, massaging his scalp gently before finally being able to rinse his hair, working conditioner into his locks before grabbing a washcloth to gently scrub the color from his hands. He looked up as Spades tapped at the doorframe lightly before entering, setting fresh pajamas, underwear and socks nearby. He thanked her as she left, his attention soon returning to getting the stains of color off of Eren.

Spades smiled and slipped out of the bathroom, closing the door as she went to Lathe’s room, changing out of her dress and slipping into sweatpants and a tank top that fit her a bit better. Well… I wonder what that camera recorded? Now I’m completely curious…

... it feels nice. Eren let Lathe message his head as he was bathed, not putting up a fight, though his left hand came up to scratch at his chest, leaving long marks on the skin. He continued to scratch and claw, like he couldn’t stop. Does mom hate me?

Lathe tried to get to stop clawing at his chest, stopping his motions to hold onto Eren’s hands. “Eren, please, stop scratching at your chest. It’s okay.” It’s okay, you don’t need to be worried anymore. It’s all alright now.

Eren slowly lifted his head, his weary eyes meeting Lathe’s after a few moments. “Does Mom hate me?” His voice was hoarse as he asked, his hand stopping its motion and as he leaned to the side, his head resting back in Lathe’s hand.

Lathe’s eyes widened as Eren spoke, his thumb soothingly running over his knuckles as he responded. “Eren, she doesn’t hate you. Trust me on that.” He gave him a small smile, his eyes twinkling. “I think she loves you very much.” She does.

... Does she really? “But… Aren’t I in the way?” He asked softly, his eyes closing to rest as he listened to Lathe speak. She can’t have any kids… She’ll want to get rid of me… So she can have her own…
Lathe’s hand carded through Eren’s now-clean brunette hair, his voice soft. “Eren, you're most definitely not in the way of anything. Please don't think that you being around is getting in the way of either of our lives. She loves you like her own son...I certainly don't think she minds you being around. She loves you, Eren. She has no reason to be mad.” You being here isn't about to stop our lives from going on. Whatever happens- you'll be there to see it.

Eren opened his eyes, coughing a bit, his voice still very hoarse. “But won’t she want to get rid of me? So she can have her own? Won’t she hate that I’m around?” He asked quietly. I know Mom always wanted me to have siblings before the fire....

Lathe blushed at the idea of Spades and him having kids, almost able to hear the pitter-patter of tiny feet on the floor behind him. ...I've never thought about it too much... But I do like the idea... But I don't know if Spades would want kids... Dammit, I need to marry her first, then I can think about that. “...Eren, there’s always going to be plenty of room for you and for any kids. She’d never want to get rid of you- she’s done so much for you. She adores having you around, and I don’t see that changing anytime soon.”...kids...

Eren nodded, but his head grew limp after a few seconds, signalling that he’d finally fallen asleep in the bath yet again. I’m tired...

Lathe quietly chuckled as Eren fell asleep, gently finishing cleaning the paint from his skin and rinsing his hair before draining the tub, scooping him up with a towel and drying him off, changing him into his dry clothes and carrying him to his bedroom. He smiled warmly to Spades as she laid on his bed reading a book from next to his nightstand. He set Eren down next to her as she pulled back the quilt for him, his voice a quiet murmur as he spoke to her. “Let me clean up Blake, and then I’ll be back for bed, okay?”

Spades nodded, shuffling closer to Eren to card through his hair, murmuring softly to him as he slept, a smile across her face.

Blake had already hopped into the empty tub, waiting for Lathe to get back to wash him. His tail wagging with his ears perked, the paint all over his back and sides like Eren had tried to paint a vest onto him.

Lathe filled up the tub again, getting a sturdier brush and a blue bottle of shampoo out from under the sink, the water quickly changing from clear to murky with the many colors of half-dried paint. He soon drained the bathtub again, grabbing a fresh towel from behind him and drying Blake as best as he could before he hid behind it as Blake shook out his fur, grinning and cleaning up the bathroom quickly before following Blake back to his room, Spades holding onto Eren and looking up as Blake hopped up at the foot of the bed. Lathe shrugged, untying his dress shoes and taking off his dress pants, rifling for a pair of sweatpants in the armoire before clambering into bed next to Spades, curling up behind her and pressing a few kisses to the back of her neck. He murmured against her soft skin, his voice sleepy. “Thank you, Spades…” You do too much for the both of us...

Spades smiled softly, leaning back a bit into Lathe. “You’re welcome… mm… We should get some rest, and tomorrow we need to look at his computer…. It was recording from the time we were gone to the time we got home.” She told him quietly, carding another hand through Eren’s hair as he slept peacefully, curled up to her. He looks so peaceful now… I wonder what happened? He covered his jungle scene up with paint… I wonder if he’s gonna do something else on the walls?

... we’ll be able to see exactly what happened, then… Lathe hummed against her shoulder in assent, his arms wrapped around her waist as he tangled their legs together. …you’d be a wonderful mom...

~~~~~~

Well, we figured out what’s wrong with Eren… Sort of. He had a mental break down along with a panic attack yesterday. He went crazy is basically what I’m getting to, so Lathe’s been all over him today, trying to get him to stay calm and not freak out about what he did. Paint is literally everywhere, it’s gonna take awhile to clean and he’s paranoid for some reason that we’re gonna hate him for it. I don’t like seeing him cry, and he was getting upset with being cooped up in a room all day so I offered to take him to the kitchen and teach him a few things, and what did he ask to know how to make… Grilled Cheese, the way I make it… with a tomato… Spades was getting out the ingredients they needed to make some sandwiches through trial and error, letting Lathe and Blake scurry around the house cleaning up. I’m actually really surprised how much of a help Blake is… It’s like he was tried for being a blind service dog as well… Hmm… Maybe he was.

Lathe was carrying a bucket of hot water and soap, a rag in his hand as he tried to scrub paint off of the floor and out of the carpets, having given up on the random smears on some of the walls. …Let’s see, for the walls Eren hasn’t painted yet, I’m going to need to paint over them again…. The sheets on his bed and all the ones downstairs are pretty much ruined, which sucks, I spent a hell of a lot of time on some of those quilts…. Lathe tried in vain for twenty minutes to get the stains of blues and yellows out of the carpet, though he gave up and took the bucket back downstairs and started on the hardwood at the base of the stairs, Blake following him. Downstairs is a total war zone, I’ll work my way down there… But it looks like he was just dripping with paint as he went back upstairs, there’s so much of it… He looked up as Blake nudged at the bucket of water, picking up one of the soaked rags and dropping it on the floor, moving it around with his paws, trying to copy Lathe. He chuckled, letting Blake help him as they worked their way to the scripting room stairs, propping the door open and starting to clean down the stairs. …there’s so much red paint splattered everywhere, it looks like there was a mass murder ten minutes ago… Lathe looked around the basement with weary resignation, boxes of sharpies tipped over, things thrown across the room and bottles of paint open everywhere, the walls and some cabinets smeared with color and the notes to German music, their lyrics slanted and spotty. ...he got the chalkboard too… I’ve had those diagrams up since I first bought the damn place. Ugh… Hopefully it didn't get in the crack and dry in the mechanism. Lathe started with cleaning up the many many paint bottles, capping the ones still good and pitching the ones too dry to save, rinsing them off in the sink in the corner and replacing them on the newly-scrubbed shelves. He cringed as he realized there were unopened condom packets scattered around the room, quickly dropping them back into the shoebox that still resided in the room, shoving it back onto the shelf, then moving to strip the bed of the ruined sheets and blankets. He cleaned the floor before going over to his sewing machine, spending the better part of an hour cleaning out the mechanism and trying to save it before he gave up, dropping his head on his arms on the table, exhausted from trying. It’s wrecked. God fucking dammit. I liked this machine, it’s a really good one. Well, was. Lathe looked up as Blake nudged his leg, sighing heavily and standing, taking the cleaning supplies back upstairs after a few solid hours of cleaning had passed, tossing the many rags in the laundry and putting the bucket away. He traipsed into the kitchen where Spades and Eren had since finished making lunch, Lathe going to ruffle Eren’s hair and noticing he was shaking like a leaf when he moved away from his hand, his eyes trained on the sandwich in his hands. Oh no... Lathe sat down adjacent to Eren, his voice warm and quiet, trying to get Eren to look at him. “Eren, you doing okay?” I don't want you to be scared of me...

Eren nodded slowly, his eyes still trained on his sandwich, bringing it up to his mouth and barely taking a bite of it before he set it back down on his plate. He swallowed hard, still unable to meet Lathe’s eyes. He’s mad at me... He has to be... paint is everywhere... He probably wants to hit me.... That's why he came up to me...

